The Ark: Three of the teachers at the Gifford Elementary School in Northville are slated to appear at the Ark in Ann Arbor this week as part of "Old Home Week."

To celebrate its 25th anniversary, the Ark has invited every performer who ever played there back for a return engagement. "Old Home Week" started Friday and continues through this weekend.

The Gifford contingent at the Ark consists of Matt Watroba, host of WDET radio's "Folks Like Us" program, appearing Wednesday; Jim Perkins, a professional musician, also appearing Wednesday; and Betsy Beckerman, also a professional musician, appearing Thursday. Music starts at 8 p.m. each night.

The Ark is located at 637 1/2 S. Main Street, above the South Main Market, in Ann Arbor. Tickets, available at the door, are $6.50 for weekdays and $7.50 for weekends. For more information call 761-1451.

Council to review library: The Northville City Council will review the status of the community library as part of its shared services review at its meeting tonight, June 4.

The library's overcrowded conditions, level of use, and its potential relocation are likely topics of discussion. But, said City Manager Steven Walters, "There's not a whole lot that we'll be able to talk about really, without township participation, in terms of future site locations."

Also on the council agenda are discussion of the planned parking area at the Scout Building, a report from the recreation commission, renewal of the city's liability insurance, and amendments to the 1989-1990 budget.

The council also plans to discuss leasing the former site of the Phil's 76 service station at the corner of Main and Wing streets for temporary public parking.

Grief seminar: Bereavement counselor Michael Meyer will be speaking about the stages of grief in a mini-seminar to be conducted over the radio Wednesday, June 6, through Friday, June 8, at 5:50 a.m. on WQRS-FM (105.1). His talk is geared for both those who are grieving the death of a loved one and for those who would like to better understand how to deal with grieving people.

Schoolcraft volunteers: Schoolcraft College honored approximately 90 volunteers at its 15th Annual Volunteer Appreciation Luncheon. The college acknowledged volunteer contributions and appreciation of volunteer support.

Volunteers from Northville are: Mary Baughman, Paul Dawson, Dorothy Flattery, Dorothy Gray, Betty Griffin, Glenna Grosh, Betty Hancock, Doug Hansford, Barbara Jackson, Frances Johnson, Suzanne Kaley, Rita Ketterer, Robert Ketterer, Margot Pearsall, Mary Perna, Jackie Simpson, Kim Whit and Elizabeth Willerer.

Volunteers from Novi are: Anita Lumpkin, Marie Byron and Myrtle Locke.

DARE fundraiser: Card exhibitors and dealers are being sought for Novi's first trading card show scheduled for 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., July 7, in the Novi Civic Center. There will be a small fee for participation and entry, with all proceeds benefiting Novi's Drug Abuse Resistance Education program.

Former Detroit Tigers Mickey Stanley and Larry Pashnick, as well as other sports celebrities, will be on hand to sign autographs.

Interested dealers or collectors should call Novi Police Officer Bob Gatt at 347-0534.

Sports Briefs

Mustang Sports Wrap-up: Expectations did not meet reality when the Northville boys track team competed in the Western Lakes Meet on May 30 at Livonia Churchill. The Mustangs — who finished 5-2 in the conference — were looking for a top-half finish in the 12-team event but wound up all the way down in 10th place with 37 points. First place honors went to Westland John Glenn with 148 points. The team's top finish was a pair of thirds in 400-meter relay and the mile relay. . . . The Mustang girls placed 11 out of 12 at the WLAA Meet on May 30. The locals scored 18 points, which was 136 points out of first place. Northville's top finisher was Ris Fleming, who placed third in the 300 hurdles.

Sports Physicals: All Northville High School students who plan to participate in athletics during the 1990-91 school year can get their physicals on June 5 at TRACC. The girls physicals will be held at 4 p.m. and the boys at 5 p.m. There will be a $5 charge.

For more information, call Mustang Athletic Director Dennis Colligan at 344-8403.

Wildcat Sports Wrap-up: Both the Novi baseball and softball squads headed into action last weekend just two victories away from a district title. The baseballers were scheduled to take on South Lyon in the semifinals on June 2 (after deadline) with the winner to battle the Brighton-Milford survivor in the finals later that day. The Ladycats were to tackle Howell in the semis with the prospect of taking on the Brighton-Lakeland winner in the finals.

(Road) Rallying for a cause

Racers join fund-raising drive for kids

By MAUREEN NASZRADI
Staff Writer

Several area residents recently participated in a three-day road rally to raise money for an organization that benefits Michigan's troubled children and families.

The Grand Tour for Children raised more than $30,000 to benefit the Michigan Association of Children's Alliances, according to preliminary estimates.

The MACA is a non-profit organization committed to improving and protecting the quality of life for children and families, according to Steve Purdy, organizer of the rally.

The association is based on the belief that all children and families have the right to opportunities and services which strengthen and encourage a child's physical, social, emotional and intellectual development.

To this end, the group provides training and other programs to public and private member agencies, and individual members throughout the state, explained Barbara Steencken, a Northville resident and rally participant.

The group also monitors the development and implementation of laws

and policies affecting children and families.

Steencken said she participates in the rally to show her support for the group's efforts.

"The kids in the state need all the help they can get," Steencken said, "whether it's a latchkey program or a substance-abuse problem, anything to make their life less threatening."

Steencken and approximately 48 other entrants paid $600 — personal contribution or raised through sponsors — to join the rally, sponsored in part this year by Uniroyal-Goodrich and Buick.

Departing from the Novi Hilton on May 18, the drivers covered 800 miles before their return two days later. The tour stopped in Flint, Lansing, Jackson and Adrian as well as other cities where some of the the association's member agencies are located.

Thorton House needs a home

By JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writer

With any luck, the pioneer-era Thorton home may be entering another phase of its nomadic existence. Or 1990 could be the end of the line for the 150-year-old structure.

Novi Historical Society president Kathy Mutch is hoping that members of the community will care enough to join her newly-organized "Friends of the Sally Thorton House." The group's first meeting is on Thursday, June 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the Novi Civic Center.

"When I think about the Yerkes house — so many people passed by and said something should be done — if the Thorton house is ultimately saved, it could be the oldest existing house in Novi," Mutch said.

The elegant late-Victorian era Yerkes house fell prey to an arsonist in fall 1989.

Built circa 1838, the two-story frame farmhouse now sitting behind Home, Sweet Home restaurant was owned by Sally Thorton, a widow who came to Novi in 1827 with her five teen-aged children. The house, apparently located at the northeast corner of Novi and Nine Mile Roads, was an upscale move for the family, who previously lived in the frontier settler's standard log cabin.

A hundred years later, the house was moved for the first time — several hundred feet south — to make way for the construction of the Rogers mansion, now the Home Sweet Home restaurant. Owner Charles Rogers was married to Harriet Thorton, great-granddaughter of Sally Thorton.

In 1988, it was transferred from its location behind Arkin Distributing Company at 43100 Nine Mile Road closer to the corner of Novi Road to clear space for the company's expansion. Today, the small building stands to the left and rear of Home Sweet Home.

Two years ago, company president Irwin Arkin sought to sell the house but with no offers coming in, he relocated rather than razed the 2,000 square foot structure.

Now Arkin said the land the historic home sits on is needed once again. But it seems as if he can't give the house — which is in sound condition — away.

"I'd like to see the city use it somehow. I'd like to see it be saved, in a park as an office building. I just hate to see it destroyed," he said. "It can't stay there."

"All they have to do is pick it up and take it away."

While Arkin declined to say what the land the Thorton house is sitting on is needed for, he'd like to see the home moved "as soon as possible" or it will be leveled. However, Home, Sweet Home has been meeting with the city's planning concepts committee to discuss a proposed banquet and catering addition to their building, as well as a parking lot to the west of the site.

But Novi City Manager Edward Kriewall said that at present the city has no plans for the house.

Arkin has unsuccessfully offered the Thorton home to neighboring historical groups. Livonia's Greenmead won't accept structures from outside that city. Northville's Mill Race Village also has refused custody of the quaint building but will strip it for doors and frames to use to repair houses already in place in the village, Arkin said. But that's a last resort, he added.

And the most logical choice, the Novi Historical Society, simply doesn't have the funds to take over and restore the Thorton home, Mutch said, or for that matter any available land. Mutch also serves on the Novi Historical Commission,

Suburbs could bear brunt of funding bill

By TIM RICHARD
S.C. News Service

LANSING — The state House of Representatives is facing a proposed constitutional amendment requiring "equal opportunity for education" amid fears it will hurt affluent suburbs in the name of helping the poor.

The measure also would raise the proportion of the state budget spent on all education — from kindergarten through the doctorate level — from the current 45.6 percent to 52 percent in five years.

"Educational opportunity has been determined by property wealth," the sponsor, Rep. Kirk Proffit, D-Ypsilanti, told the House Education Committee last week.

The committee reported out House Joint Resolution Q on a vote of 13-4 with two absent and sent it to the House floor.

Among supporters were Rep. Susan Grimes Munsell, R-Howell, who voted yes without comment, and chairperson William Keith, D-Garden City.

Among opponents were two members from out-of-formula suburban Wayne County districts — Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, and James Kosteva, D-Canton. Their largest school districts get no state aid and are fighting Keith's efforts to eliminate their categorical aids.

The measure requires a two-thirds vote of both chambers to go on the Nov. 6 ballot and majority approval by voters to become part of the state constitution.

HJR Q would:

- Require the Legislature to provide "equal opportunity for education for each public elementary and secondary school pupil." (Currently, the constitution requires only "free" K-12 schooling without racial or religious bias.)

- Dedicate all lottery profits and interest to the school aid fund.

- Mandate the Legislature to raise spending for elementary, secondary, community college and higher education to at least 47.5 percent of available state revenue in fiscal 1991-92, then to 49, 50.5 and 52 percent by 1994-95.

"Available revenue" is defined as the general fund budget plus the dedicated school aid fund.

First-year improvement would be $179 million, a co-sponsor said.

Profit said his proposal would provide "a constitutional foundation" for equal opportunity — "not dollar for dollar; it would allow local school districts to enhance their programs."

Bankes said poor school districts which want to sue the state for more aid found their case was badly harmed because the state constitution currently fails to require equal opportunity.

"This would allow a judicial opportunity to override the Legislature and local control," said Bankes, pointing to court rulings in Kentucky and Texas.

"These 100 poor, in-formula school districts need 'equal opportunity' for their lawsuit to be successful," Bankes said after the meeting.

Another suburbanite, Rep. William Bryant, R-Grosse Pointe, said earlier the measure practically invites a lawsuit against the state.

Keith said it's wise to lump all education funding into one budget category because "if you have a bulge (population boom) running through the system, you need the flexibility between higher education and K-12."

Another supporter, Rep. Joe Young Jr., D-Detroit, agreed, calling the measure a "holistic" system. "I'd want heavy emphasis on K-12," Young added.

Bankes, however, feared the money will be dispersed too broadly. "It can be dispersed without paying for social security, retirement or categoricals," she said.

"If there's a recession, maintaining 52 percent for education could mean cuts in social services and mental health."

"It was a philosophical vote and not a practical vote. Philosophically, I'm for it, but this is the real world."

A business group opposed the measure, but three education groups supported it.

Steve Young, lobbyist for the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, objected to the "trigger language of equal opportunity . . . We don't need the buzzword language of equal opportunity." But he liked the section raising the state budget's percentage for all education.

Lobbyist Al Short said the Michigan Education Association, the state's largest teachers union, "fully supports it. Public education has to be priority number one for state government."

Ellen Hoekstra, representing the Michigan Federation of Teachers, said that union "strongly supports" the measure. "If we look at other states' court rulings, we see 'equal opportunity' is more than an educational buzzword, as the State Chamber says."

Tom White, lobbyist for the Michigan Association of School Boards, said local elected officials "support the general concepts. 'Equal opportunity' provides a useful constitutional policy statement."

OCC's latest budget debuts

Oakland Community College's Board of Trustees has approved a $6-million budget increase for the 1990-91 school year.

The $62-million budget includes a $2-per-credit tuition increase to help pay expenses that frugal state appropriations and depleted millage won't cover, officials said.

"There are no major new initiatives in the budget, just a lot of enhancements yet to be completed," college budget chairperson Anthony Jarson said, noting the purchase of a $441,000 mainframe computer to join systems on five campuses.

Careful planning, reduced staff, and unexpected investment returns totaling $200,000 allowed OCC to preserve $300,000 in its general fund, Jarson said. But impending needs, he added, soon will sap reserves if outside funding declines further.

"Our facilities are nice, but eventually they'll begin to disintegrate," he said, citing needed roof repair at Orchard Ridge and parking lot expansion at Southfield.

Board member David Hackett said financial pressures soon will cut into teaching. "If these trends continue," he said, "the quality of education is going to suffer."

Salary expenses will drop 5 percent, due to computerized over-the-phone class registration, but salaries still command 80 percent of the budget.

"With technology the hope is to reduce staff and cut overtime," Jarson said. "But we're still very labor-intensive."

Seventy-five percent of OCC's faculty are full-time, outgoing Chancellor Steven Nicholson said.

"That multiplies our labor costs four times," he said. "We have the smallest part-time group in the state. We believe full-time faculty relates to quality education."

Board members said the school has spent carefully — averaging $10 real increases on students annually — but that the state has spent even more carefully on the school, with real funding up 2.2 percent from last year.

"OCC is the most underrepresented community college in the state," board chairperson Sandra Ritter said, urging school officials to lobby the legislature for increased funding.

According to Jarson, the state will allocate OCC $15.3 million, 24.7 percent of the school's funding, far short of the state's projected 50 percent ideal.

"It's not a thrilling amount," Jarson said. "The amount the state has given us in real dollars has not kept up with enrollment."

Property taxes will produce 34.7 percent of OCC's funding, a fraction the board also viewed as less than optimal.

Historic Thorton house needs a home

which is interested in the house's plight as well.

"The biggest problem isn't the money. You can raise it. You have to have a place to put it," she said.

"We have people on the commission who are all for 'let's have another Mill Race.' At the present, and especially after the last parks and recreation millage election, that's just not possible."

There's no room to place the house next to the historical Novi Town Hall, which sits on the library's property, she added.

That's why Mutch is getting together a "special interest" group. The group's first priority, she said, would be to have an architectural expert examine the house and determine if it is both salvageable and of architectural interest.

She has already arranged to have artist and designer Bob Hover evaluate the Thorton house's potential. Hover took first place in 1989 in the National Trust for Historic Preservation's annual Great American Home Awards for his restoration of his 1888 Troy residence. The trust has a charter from the U.S. Congress to encourage the public to preserve historic buildings.

"What's unique about Bob Hover is his advice will come from someone who knows the pitfalls and also what's possible," Mutch said.

If Hover has a good prognosis for this old house, the fundraising could begin, she added. Mutch is currently trying to find any descendants of Sally Thorton and documentation of the house's history, including photographs. Alternative relocation sites for the building are also needed.

"Any site that anybody wants to offer is worth considering," Mutch said. "My concern is in finding a place, even a temporary one."

Meanwhile, time is running out for the modest farmhouse.

Planners approve PUD rules

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

A zoning ordinance designed to set guidelines for large tract developments was approved last week by the Northville Township Planning Commission.

The commission May 29 recommended to the Township Board the adoption of a planned unit development (PUD) ordinance, which would allow developers of 600-acre or larger tracts to negotiate with the township for alterations to standard zoning ordinances.

The proposed ordinance will likely be reviewed by the Wayne County Planning Commission June 20 and then by the Township Board at its July 12 meeting, township Planning and Zoning Administrator Carol Maise said Friday.

Planning Commission Vice-Chairperson Karen Woodside said the PUD ordinance was devised with the township and potential developers in mind.

"We tried to draft an ordinance that was beneficial to both the developer and the township," she said.

"We tried to draft an ordinance that was beneficial to both the developer and the township. . . . The PUD is intended to allow more flexibility and be an innovative land-use tool."

Karen Woodside
Vice-Chairperson
Northville Township Planning Commission

"The PUD is intended to allow more flexibility and be an innovative land-use tool."

Woodside, who chaired a planning commission subcommittee that has studied the proposed PUD ordinance since February, said the PUD is an option for developers — not a mandate.

But most developers would be attracted to the PUD idea, Woodside said, because of the potential to vary from the stricter confines of township ordinances.

Under the PUD option, developers could incorporate mixed uses such as research and development facilities within their property, Woodside said. Large office buildings — previously banned — would be allowed under the PUD, as would areas for cluster developments and attached and detached housing.

Developers could also be granted more flexibility in lot sizes and setbacks areas, she said.

The township in turn would have greater control over recreation space, open areas, and have stricter control over woodlands areas within the development, Woodside said.

"The idea is that these developments would be a microcosm for what the township is," she said.

Conditions of the proposed ordinance include single ownership or control of at least 600 contiguous acres; residential use of not less than 40 percent of the gross area; open space in not less than 25 percent of the gross area; and not more than 25 percent of the gross area dedicated to research and development use.

The sprawling 930-acre Wayne County plot purchased in January by the R.A. DeMattia Company is expected to be developed under PUD guidelines.

The DeMattia firm has unveiled a concept plan for the property, which extends north from Five Mile Road to Six Mile between Beck and Sheldon and east of Sheldon covering the site of the former Wayne County Training School.

The concept plan proposes roughly equal land uses of residential, open space and research and development areas.

"The county land has many beautiful features," she said. "The PUD would allow more preservation than traditional zoning (and) could preserve more wetlands and woodlands areas."

Fire hits kitchen at Crawford's

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

A kitchen fire at Crawford's Restaurant, 160 E. Main St. in downtown Northville, cleared the restaurant and closed Main Street late Thursday morning until firefighters succeeded in stopping the blaze.

The fire was apparently caused about 11:25 a.m. when a propane gas line to a kitchen stove ruptured. Firefighters wearing oxygen tanks and masks quickly entered the restaurant to battle the blaze.

Fire and police officials finally shut the gas off to the entire building, a procedure Patrolman James Marks described as "customary in any fire."

Tim Goxem, a dishwasher who was in the kitchen when the stove ignited, said the staff's own attempts to put the fire out met with no success. "We tried to put it out with two fire extinguishers and it wouldn't go out," he said.

Sue Foster, one of the restaurant's owners, was working across the street at Crawford's Bakery Connection on Mary Alexander Court when the fire first began. "We'll be open again in a couple days, I'm sure," she said. "Maybe we'll get a new stove out of this."

Suspect charged in kidnap attempt

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Gary Joseph Standridge, the 32-year-old LaSalle man arrested by Northville City police last week during an apparent kidnapping attempt, has been arraigned on those charges.

Standridge was charged Thursday, May 31, with two counts of kidnapping and two counts of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder, in front of First District Court Judge Terrence Bronson. Standridge stood mute at the arraignment rather than enter a plea. Bronson set bail at $500,000 cash or surety.

The suspect was arrested early on the morning of May 27 by Northville City Police Officer Anthony Tilger, who was enforcing the city's overnight parking ordinance at the time. Standridge had allegedly kidnapped two young women at knifepoint from outside a Monroe bar and ordered them to drive him to California.

Tilger saw the car parked on Horton Avenue just north of Rayson Street when he stopped to investigate.

A knife allegedly used by Standridge was recovered during the arrest.

Standridge was on parole from breaking and entering charges when he was arrested.

The court has set a preliminary examination date of June 5 at 10:30 a.m. on the kidnapping and assault charges, in front of First District Court Judge Patricia Costello.

Oakland to count noses with county dog census

Oakland County recently began a census that requires non-compliers to pay a fine, possibly in court.

The census counts dogs, not people, and charges a $20 late registration fee to pet owners who have not purchased a 1990 dog license.

Licenses normally cost $5.50 for spayed and neutered dogs and $8.50 for those that aren't. The late fee, for all dogs, officially began Friday, June 1.

But Oakland County Animal Control officers started to knock on neighborhood doors two weeks ago to issue $20 tickets, 100-150 already, for unregistered dogs that violators must pay in 15 days to avoid a day in court that could cost an extra $100.

"We're mandated by state law to do a census every year," Carl Anderson, county animal control manager, said, noting their first census was in 1985.

The tickets, followed by court citations if unpaid, will be issued slowly but surely.

"We'll go to every house," Anderson said. "But it will take three to five years to cover Oakland County."

Ten census-takers this summer will comb Novi, Commerce, West Bloomfield and Farmington Hills weekdays from noon to 8 p.m. and some weekends, he said.

Last year the census team covered 25,000 households and issued 5,000 tickets.

"Over 95 percent of the people got a registration filled out in 15 days," Anderson said. "Few people ended up in court."

The county has 64,000 dogs, he estimates, averaging one in every other household, but only 33,000 were registered in 1989.

Anderson hopes the marathon census will close the gap.

"Hopefully the public will be educated so that we only have to do a census every other year," he said.

Registrations, which require a photocopy of the animals' vaccination record, are the only proof dogs have of rabies shots, Anderson said.

"The World Health Organization says in order to prevent a rabies epidemic at least 70 percent of the dogs must be vaccinated against rabies," he said. "We don't have that yet."

Dogs also must be registered, which entails wearing a license, so the department can return lost ones to owners.

"We don't get 50 animals a year that are registered," Anderson said, adding he received 13,000 lost dogs and cats last year. The animals that are not adopted, 75 percent last year, are destroyed.

Residents can obtain dog licenses at township treasuries, city clerk offices, or at county animal control at 1700 Brown Road in Auburn Hills.

Police News

Officers seize drugs, paraphernalia

NARCOTICS VIOLATION: A 25-year-old Milford man was arrested and ticketed by Novi police for possession of marijuana early the morning of May 19.

After making a traffic stop on the man's vehicle, which pulled into the Novi Road Kroger parking lot at 12:28 a.m., the officer ordered the suspect out of the car.

After frisking him, the officer discovered a bag of marijuana in his right front pocket. Upon searching the vehicle, a pipe and joint were found in the ashtray of the car, a film container with pot residue was sitting on the front seat, rolling paper was in the glove box, and a plate with drug residue was found under the seat.

WINDOW SHATTERED: A second-floor Northville Township apartment window valued at $400 was shattered by a pellet sometime between 3 p.m. May 16 and 4 p.m. May 17, according to township police. The apartment was located on Cedar Lake Circle.

TRAILER STOLEN: A utility trailer value at $597 was stolen from a site on Woodcreek sometime between midnight and 10 a.m. May 3, according to Northville Township police.

DRUNKEN DRIVING: A 53-year-old Inkster man was arrested May 26 and charged with operating under the influence of alcohol. Northville Township police said the man was observed driving 20 miles per hour under the posted speed limit and crossing the center line on Hines Drive north of Six Mile when he was arrested.

WHEELS STOLEN: A tire and wheel were removed from a 1989 Ford Ranger parked in front of an apartment on Innsbrook sometime between May 18-23, township police reported.

VEHICLE DAMAGED: The left front tire of a 1989 Buick Reatta was slashed May 26 between 3:05-4:45 p.m. while it was parked in the driveway of a Scenic Harbour residence in Northville Township, according to police reports. A neighbor told police that he saw someone near the vehicle around the time of the incident. According to the witness, a young black or dark-complexioned male wearing a black T-shirt with a skull printed on the front, black pants with holes in the knees, and black high-top tennis shoes was near the car before running into a nearby wooded area. A pocket knife, suspected of being the object used to slash the tire, was later found in the woods, police said.

MEIJER LARCENIES: A 25-year-old Novi man was arrested and charged with larceny after attempting to steal a fifth of brandy from Meijer, 20401 Haggerty, May 20 at 7:20 p.m.

WINDOWS SHATTERED: Three suspects were seen fleeing a River Oaks Construction site in Novi May 28 between 1:30-2 p.m. after two windows and one sliding glass door were shattered.

Two witnesses unsuccessfully attempted to catch the suspects, who ran across Novi Road into a wooded area and were last seen heading to Orchard Ridge.

The suspects are described as three white males approximately 15 years old. One was wearing black shorts and no top, while the other two suspects were wearing white tops with shorts.

LAWN TRAILER STOLEN: A trailer valued at $2,400 was stolen between May 25 and May 29 from a lawn care business on Twelve Mile near Beck in Novi.

The trailer was locked with chains on the side of the building when the theft occurred.

No evidence of either locks or chains were left at the scene of the crime.

CONSTRUCTION SITE VANDALISM: Windows, mirrors and lights of four trucks were smashed at the Chase Farms Construction site on Eight Mile Road in Novi sometime between May 25 and May 29.

This is the second incident of vandalism on the site during the last month.

JAPANESE TREE LIFTED: A Japanese tree valued at $700 was lifted over the fence of a landscaping company on Beck Road in Novi and into an awaiting vehicle with the aid of the company's forklift.

A company official returned to work the morning of May 27 to find its forklift still running and parked up against the east gate.

The stolen tree, which was approximately four feet tall with dark red leaves, was originally sitting over 100 feet from the fence.

The owner told police that the keys had been left in the forklift's ignition over night.

STOLEN VEHICLE: A white Pontiac Bonneville four-door was stolen from the Novi Hilton the night of May 27.

The vehicle was leased from a Madison, Wis., auto dealer and the victim did not know the license plate number.

MONDAY FOOD

Take a meal on the wild side

Does sauteed alligator or braised wild boar get those glands salivating? No, huh? You'll take the hamburger, fries and a Coke?

Diners really aren't as bland as burgers, but even the area's top chefs scoff at exotic foods just for the sake of being exotic.

"We had alligator and rattlesnake on the menu before, but we don't go too far into exotic," said Milos Cihelka, who presides over the kitchen of the Golden Mushroom in Southfield.

"For one reason, the (meat) is already cut up — you don't know what you're getting. It could be donkey or horse," he said. "For another, I like to serve food I like to eat myself, not just to be spectacular or exotic."

At the Golden Mushroom, exotic translates into white Italian truffles, at $400 a pound, and Beluga caviar at the same price.

"We do a tremendous amount of game each night for dinner and two or three times a week for lunch — buffalo, venison, pheasant and wild boar," Cihelka said.

The game is most likely to be roasted for dinner and served in stews or pot roasts at noon. Cihelka claims that rattlesnake tastes like chicken and alligator like turtle.

"It needs to be braised to make it tender."

Most folks probably haven't tasted 25-year-old balsamic vinegar from Italy, but it's one of the specialties for sale at Zingerman's Deli in Ann Arbor. There's also Michigan strawberry preserves from the Leelanau Peninsula (early-glow variety grown for flavor only), dried wild blueberries, air-dried Swiss beef and raclette from Switzerland.

"Raclette is a cheese from Switzerland that's melted and put on boiled potatoes, to be eaten with pickled onions and cornichons, which are little pickles," said Ari Weinzwieg, who owns the deli at 422 Detroit St. at Kingsley.

Zingerman's has 100 varieties of cheese, including some from Ireland, England and handmade goat cheese from upstate New York. The varieties of sausages include Spanish chorizo (the kind used in paella) and Mullard — not Mallard — duck pate.

"It's a French delicacy, the best you've ever tasted," Weinzwieg said. "It's handmade by a woman whose father is a chef in southwestern France where this is a real delicacy. Another related product she makes and we carry is rillettes — cooked, shredded duck blended with duck fat and spices."

Zingerman's also carries a wide variety of old-fashioned beans and chiptoes — smoked, dried jalapeno peppers from New Mexico.

At MacKinnon's in Northville, smoked leg of wild boar is offered, with an emphatic recommendation by Chef Tom MacKinnon.

"It tastes like wild pork, but the smoking takes away some of the wild taste," MacKinnon said.

Opah, a 200-pound fish from Hawaii, is being sliced into steaks which are then charbroiled.

MacKinnon's pet gripe on trendy foods is arugula, a salad green he dismisses as "a bitter weed."

"It tastes like endive," he said. "Who wants to eat an endive salad?" For MacKinnon, a product has to go beyond trendiness and taste good to be accepted. Wild turkey tenderloins would qualify.

"It's the piece right on top of the bird's ribs," he said. "It's juicy and tender, but very different — it doesn't taste like turkey."

A new twist on pastas is four-color striped noodles. MacKinnon's offers a ravioli with one spinach side and one tomato side of pasta. Another exotic offering is sauces laced with cherry pepper — the peppercorns come from Michigan's cherry capital, Traverse City.

"It adds sweetness with a hint of sour," MacKinnon said.

His new place, the Macomb Inn in Utica, offers a chicken ballantine, chicken breast stuffed with chicken and cherry raisins and wrapped in a puff pastry. The inn, a renovated 130-year-old house, is on M-59 and Van Dyke near the Palace of Auburn Hills. MacKinnon commutes the 32 miles between his two establishments daily.

Keith Famie, proprietor of Les Auteurs in Royal Oak and former chef at Chez Raphael, doesn't prepare much in the way of exotic foods.

"I detest alligator," Famie said. "Lion tastes more like cat. I think some things are better looked at than eaten."

Famie does prepare a good amount of game "grouse, pheasant, buffalo — grilled and sauteed, depending on the cut of meat."

Michigan has always been big on game, particularly during the harvest and hunting seasons, Famie said.

New on the fruit scene and Les Auteurs menu is four-inch baby pineapples grown in California. Famie fills them with a pineapple mousse and offers them for dessert.

An exotic — make that eccentric — twist at Les Auteurs is the so-called Crayon Club. Diners are encouraged to draw, doodle or sketch while they wait for dinner. An entire wall is devoted to the results.

"We had one artist from New York in here who drew the entire scene of the Berlin Wall coming down with the east meeting the west," Famie said. "You have to come in and see it."

New cake more savory than gooey

Lately I've been on the proverbial bandwagon heralding the "lighter" side of food. Everyone talks about getting in shape for summer but I, for one, have no doubt that clothing manufacturers are designing waistbands different this year because, for some odd reason, mine seems to be somewhat lower than my navel.

Now I could continue with what we should and, unfortunately, shouldn't eat but...

- a) I've already mowed the lawn three times.
- b) I've tilled and planted the garden.
- c) I've already planted the flowers around my house.
- d) I redid the bathroom (by myself).

I want some cheesecake.

Ah, but before you get all fired up thinking that these pages will be filled with gooey, creamy, New York style varieties of cheesecakes, look again.

Savory cheesecakes are a whole new variety of exclusive cheesecakes that seem to be gaining in popularity in the Detroit area. Perfect for lunch, brunch, casual suppers or buffets, these do-ahead treats combine a creamy taste with a smooth, velvety texture. They take the same form as their sweet counterparts, but the flavorings are a real surprise.

From the exterior, they look like cheesecakes. Instead of a graham cracker or cookie crust, these crusts are formed by combining toasted bread crumbs, grated cheese (which helps the crust brown and crisp) and melted butter.

The essential filling remains the same: cheese. Soft and delicate cream cheese is the common denominator in these cases. Fresh cream cheese, which has a slightly tangy flavor and contains no preservatives, is preferred, but the packaged bricks available at the supermarket are acceptable. (Fresh cream cheese can be purchased at specialty food stores and cheese shops.) Cottage cheese and ricotta can be added to lighten the taste and calories.

Other than a melange of fresh herbs, filling and great cheese, the only other staple really necessary to prepare these delectable goodies is a good quality springform pan. If you have yet to invest in one, it can be purchased at all gourmet and kitchen shops, with the lesser-quality pan coming in at under $5, to non-stick all-aluminum varieties at well over $30.

If you're thinking about taking the cheesecake to a function, you might also want to invest in the same-size cardboard-bottom insert. These are about 10 cents each, and you will never have to worry about leaving the bottom of your springform pan in someone's kitchen again.

To my friends: I think I have about eight different-sized bottoms in my cellar. Call me if you want them.

All the recipes call for pretoasting the bread crumbs. If you have never toasted bread crumbs you can use fresh or prepacked varieties. Sprinkle them on a cookie sheet and toast them in a moderate (350-degree) oven for 5-10 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Contrary to popular belief, you cannot toast bread crumbs from crumbling toast. Of course, if you thought that, you really have no reason to even try to attempt these recipes.

These cheesecakes can be made as much as two days in advance and then refrigerated. Before you start, be sure the springform pan has a tight lock and seal to avoid water leaking into the cake. The finished cakes are at their peaks within 24-36 hours of baking. If you must refrigerate them, allow plenty of time to bring them to room temperature before serving.

CRAB CHEESECAKE (easily serves 12)

- 1 1/2 tablespoons butter (for pan)
- 1/2 cup fine French breadcrumbs, lightly toasted
- 1/2 cup fine grated Gruyere or Swiss cheese
- 1 teaspoon minced dill, or 1/4 teaspoon dried
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1 medium onion, minced fine
- 1 1/2 pounds cream cheese, room temperature
- 4 eggs
- 1/2 cup fresh grated Gruyere or Swiss cheese
- 1/2 cup half-and-half
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 pound crabmeat, coarsely chopped

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Butter a 9-inch springform pan. Mix bread crumbs with 1/2 cup Gruyere or Swiss cheese and dill. Sprinkle into pan, turning to coat. Refrigerate. Melt butter in heavy skillet over low heat. Add onion, cover and cook until translucent, about 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Mix cream cheese in blender or processor until smooth. Add eggs, remaining Gruyere or Swiss cheese, half-and-half, and salt. Mix well. Stir in onions and crabmeat. Filling should retain some texture. Pour into prepared pan. Set pan in roasting pan. Add enough hot water to come halfway up the sides of the springform pan. Bake for 1 hour 20 minutes. Turn oven off and cool cheesecake for 1 hour with oven door ajar. Cool to room temperature before removing from the pan.

Note: smoked salmon can be substituted for the crab, if desired.

PESTO CHEESECAKE (easily serves 12)

- 1 1/2 tablespoons butter (for pan)
- 1/2 cup fine bread crumbs, lightly toasted
- 1/2 cup Parmesan cheese, grated
- 2 1/2 cups fresh basil
- 1/2 cup parsley, stemmed and chopped
- 1/2 cup olive oil
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 clove garlic, halved
- 1 pound fresh whole milk ricotta, room temperature
- 1 pound cream cheese, room temperature
- 1/2 pound Parmesan cheese, grated
- 4 eggs
- 1/2 cup pine nuts, lightly toasted

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Butter the bottom and sides of the 9-inch springform pan. Mix bread crumbs with 1/2 cup Parmesan cheese. Sprinkle mixture into the pan, turning to coat completely. Refrigerate.

Combine basil leaves with parsley, oil, salt and garlic in blender or processor and process until a smooth paste forms, about 2 minutes. Transfer to a large bowl. Add ricotta, cream cheese and Parmesan to a blender and mix until smooth, about 2 minutes. Mix in eggs. Blend in basil mixture. Pour into prepared pan, sprinkle with pine nuts. Set pan on a baking sheet and bake 1 1/4 hours. Turn oven off and cool cheesecake for 1 hour with oven door ajar. Transfer to a rack. Remove springform. Serve at room temperature.

Style more important than grape variety

"Fundamental to matching wine to food is an understanding of the differences in styles of wine because style can be more important than the variety," said Karen Keehn, co-proprietor with her husband Richard of McDowell Valley Vineyards.

"Any wine grape varietal can be made in a range of styles, each on emphasizing a different combination of fruit, tannin, acidity, sweetness and oak complexity. Style is the sum of various components, and a range of styles offers the cook unlimited flavor choices."

The Keohns probably have the oldest plantings of syrah in California on their ranch in Hopland. Their winemaker, John Buechsenstein, is a leading force in a merry band of winemakers, the Rhone Rangers, who specialize in producing wines from varieties native to France's Rhone Valley.

"Syrah is often described as plummy with wild currant flavors," said Keehn. "We make a puree of ripe plums (canned plums also work), add a few dried currants and simmer this with Syrah as a base for a sauce, wine jelly or sorbet, creating a delicious flavor complement for wild game, pork, liver or pate — especially when served with the same wine."

"As a rule of thumb, this preparation will work well with any smoked, roasted or grilled foods with stronger flavors. For syrah, the herb of choice is rosemary."

McDowell Valley Vineyards has designed a Rhone-style label for its California versions of these wines. The label carries the brand name Les Vieux Cepages. After tasting the 1988 Les Vieux Cepages Syrah ($15), it's easy to understand how Keehn's concept of similar flavors can also guide the matching of traditional seasonings to the fruit flavors perceived in a wine.

Many red wines have a decidedly berry flavor — such as raspberry, blackberry, cherry or plum. These fruits are traditionally seasoned with sweet spices such as cinnamon, nutmeg, allspice and clove. Basil, tarragon, mint and anise also have many of the same sweet, hot, spicy characteristics and will make superior complements to the food and wine selection.

The Keohns live in the middle of their winery vineyards and have the distinct California advantage of raising their own vegetables, herbs and

Is life safer in the suburbs?

Not for wild animals and their babies

Suburban living can be treacherous, especially if you're an animal at the mercy of traffic and other dangers of human life. At this time of the year, the result is a lot of orphaned baby animals.

While statistics aren't available, an increasing number of Oakland County residents are stumbling upon orphaned raccoons, squirrels and birds — the result of the growing clash between suburban growth and wildlife.

"It's becoming more apparent. I don't know if I'm becoming more well-known for what I do, but more and more people are calling for help with baby animals they find," said Farmington Hills resident Beverly Cornell.

Cornell is one of many licensed by the state Department of Natural Resources to care for wild orphaned animals. The rehabilitators raise the young and release them back to the wild when they are old enough or healthy enough to be on their own.

The season for wild animal babies generally runs through the end of May. Squirrels generally have babies in the spring and fall, and so do certain types of birds. Raccoons have their young in the spring, as do ducks, Cornell said.

She is already caring for 13 or-

What you can do . . .

Here are some steps that can be taken to help orphaned wildlife babies and newborns:

- Immediately call the state Department of Natural Resources Oakland County office, 666-1500, to have the babies placed with a rehabilitation specialist.
- If the animal does not feel warm, its temperature must be brought back to normal immediately. Animal temperatures are higher than humans. Keep the animal warm with a heating pad wrapped in layers of toweling to prevent burning. A hot water bottle will work.
- If the animal's skin tents when pinched, it is likely dehydrated. It should be given a small solution from an oral syringe every 15 minutes for an hour. The solution consists of 1 tsp. of salt and three tbs. of sugar in a quart of warm water.
- Housing the animal is simple. You can place it in a small box or kitty carrier with newspaper and soft flannel or towel.

Heat, either from a heating pad or protected light bulb, should be provided.

- If it will be a couple of days before the animal can be placed with a rehabilitation specialist, the animal must be fed properly. Ignorance about feeding can be deadly to the baby. If you are uncertain about what you are doing, call a veterinarian.
- From any pet store or veterinarian, you can get Easilac Power or liquid. That should be mixed with bottled spring water and baby vitamins that do not contain iron. Raccoons must be fed with an oral syringe, pet nurser or baby bottle. Squirrels can only be fed with an oral syringe.
- Healthy baby animals can be fed every 2-4 hours.
- Baby animals must have their bellies rubbed with a warm cloth to help them eliminate wastes. This must be done after every feeding until their eyes open. Raccoon eyes open 18-24 days of age and squirrels, 35-42 days of age.

partment of Natural Resources Lt. Cliff Johnson advises against that. "If you don't see their mom, leave them alone. If you pick them up and take them home immediately, then you have orphaned them."

"The mother won't be around if people are around. Animal mothers are not like human mothers. They will leave their babies if they sense danger," Johnson said.

Cornell suggests leaving the animals alone for several hours to be sure the mother is not returning. "Parents will come back if people aren't around. Guard the babies, but don't stand over them. Nine out of 10 times, the babies' parents will come back."

If the mother is dead or has not returned after several hours, Johnson said, the Oakland County DNR office (the phone number is 666-1500) should be called to have the animals placed with one of many DNR wildlife rehabilitation specialists.

Orphaned animals should be given to a rehab specialist within 24 hours of being found, particularly if their eyes are still closed. If the eyes are closed, that means the animals are unable to eliminate wastes on their own and could die from uremic poisoning, Cornell said.

phaned animals, including squirrels and raccoons. That's not including the five bunnies she had, the result of Easter and parents' desires to make their children happy — for a short time.

Some believe that orphaned wildlife should be left solely to nature's ways. But Cornell disagrees.

"That may be nature if we all lived in a big rural area," he said. "But we don't. People are encroaching on the animals. Some animals, such as raccoons, have become adaptable to suburban living."

The reaction of many people is to immediately pick up baby animals when they see them, but state De-

Rehabilitators will not retrieve animal babies or their mothers if they need to be taken from a chimney, porch or attic, for example. While calling the DNR for a rehabilitator, residents also should call a licensed control company that can live-trap the animals and release them to the wild if the animals are old enough.

Saving the Great Lakes is essential

Most people will agree that keeping a drinking-water source for 26 million people free of pollution is important.

Most people will agree that an important resource to 75 percent of Canada's agriculture is worth preserving.

Most people will agree that they should be able to eat Great Lakes fish without wondering if they'll be risking their health in the process.

"What we're doing to the Great Lakes we're also doing to ourselves," said Sally Cole-Misch, director of public affairs for the International Joint Commission, Great Lakes Regional Office. "We need to take action now or we are threatening the health of future generations."

Cole-Misch spoke about the state of Michigan's most prized asset recently at an Oakland Community College environmental seminar at the Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington Hills.

She recited the litany of problems the Great Lakes have been more and more beset with as technology and progress march on.

Two aquatic creatures trans-

"What we're doing to the Great Lakes we're also doing to ourselves. We need to take action now or we are threatening the health of future generations."

Sally Cole-Misch, International Joint

ported inadvertently to the lakes by ships arriving from the Baltic Sea are multiplying faster than they can be dealt with. The river ruffe, a small fish threatening to take over Lake Superior, is what Cole-Misch calls "the rabbit of fish species."

The zebra mussel is also causing problems. Of primary concern is the mussel's tendency to attach to water intakes, a practice that could lead to expensive irradiation operations. Buys in Lake St. Clair, Cole-Misch said, have been known to sink, weighed down as they are by zebra mussels.

Both the mussel and the river ruffe "multiply incredibly fast (and are) changing the food chain tremendously," Cole-Misch said. "We don't yet have a predator for (either of them)."

The lakes' most pressing problem, however, is toxic contamination. Scientists have found more than 1,000 chemicals in the Great Lakes that shouldn't be there in the quantities they are. "Most of these are extremely persistent chemicals that may last for years," Cole-Misch said.

Arsenic, DDT, PCB and cadmium are just four of the harmful chemicals found in Great Lakes fish. Deformities are becoming more common in Great Lakes animals, from tumors on fish to malformed turtles and sea gulls.

However, Cole-Misch said, the contamination must affect people directly to engender the groundswell necessary for change. "It's only studies on humans that will change our behavior," she said.

One study of children born to women who ate Great Lakes fish turned up some startling results. The children showed a greater tendency to have smaller than normal heads, lower intelligence quotients and slower development rates. Children of women who did not eat Great Lakes fish were healthier on average.

Cole-Misch said her organization works mostly through the governments of the United States and Canada, but big government can't solve all our problems.

"Government can help, but I think the citizens are the keys to the success," she said. "We can all play a vital role in how we educate each other and how we educate ourselves."

Although Cole-Misch told her audience of perhaps 20 people the time has come for "drastic action," she stopped short of advocating civil disobedience a la Earth First! and Greenpeace.

"For my professional life, I'm going about as far as I can today (by giving this lecture)," Cole-Misch said. "In my personal life I may go past that."

Fallen logs hide treasure trove of critters

Exploring a woodlot or meadow employs the use of all your senses. Taste may not be used too much, unless one knows what can and cannot be eaten, but listening, smelling, feeling and seeing should be used regularly.

While exploring, it is fun to actively investigate some objects or areas. Looking under pine trees for owl pellets, undigested fur and bones, will require one to actively seek out such areas to explore.

Another area to actively explore is under a fallen log. Many small creatures rely on the cover, protection and moisture found under a log. Small millipedes and centipedes, ants, fungi and, if you are lucky, a salamander can be spotted.

Not many logs have salamanders hiding under them, so when you find one consider yourself for-lunate. A few weeks ago in Hines Park, we found one under the first log we rolled back. My son and daughter were thrilled.

It turned out to be a gray phase of the red-backed salamander. This one was not particularly big, only about 3 1/4 inches long. They can get up to 5 inches long.

When I first picked it up it was motionless. Cold temperatures caused its repose. But in a few minutes, the warmth of my hand heated the salamander enough to make it move actively from my hand to the anxiously awaiting hands of the children.

Continued handling and exposure to the drying air could kill the salamander because they supplement respiration by "breathing" through their skin. Mucus-coated skin helps oxygen dissolve and aids absorption through the skin.

Red-backed salamanders have red, yellow, orange or gray backs. They feed on small animals found under logs, such as sow bugs (roly-polys, pill bugs), spiders and a great number of ants. Unlike some salamanders, red-backs do not have to lay their eggs in water. Females protect their egg clusters attached to moist surfaces under logs.

After examining the creatures under a log, be sure to return the log to its original position. Those animals are under there because they need the moisture and darkness.

Matching wine to food takes special care meats. However, Michigan's growing season is not all that short, and a small herb garden, started about now, will provide fresh herbs all summer long.

"When I begin to create a dish or plan a menu, the wine is an integral part of the over-all flavor concept, when it is used only as a complementary beverage or as an ingredient," Keehn said.

"We want the taste relationship between food and wine to be flavor-enhancing, a synergistic pleasure, not a competitive battle for dominance. We use wine as a significant seasoning ingredient primarily for its contributions of fruit and acidity."

"A wine's acidity can provide a structural backbone for building sauces, fruit or vegetable butters, salad dressings and stocks. Wine acidity enhances food flavors."

Keehn also observes that in addition to acids, alcohol in wine is a natural tenderizing agent. Therefore, she suggests using wine as a marinade to tenderize as well as to add flavor.

For foods that are lighter in color (such as veal and pork) and where discoloration would adversely affect visual appeal, Keehn recommends using white or rose wines with good fruit and acidity.

If you would like to try these suggestions with McDowell Valley Vineyards white wines, you might consider either the 1988 Fume Blanc ($9) that contains 14 percent Semillon in the blend, or the 1988 California appellation Chardonnay ($9).

The Fume Blanc has fruity undertones and broad palate feel. With this wine, Keehn also suggests foods with high texture levels such as swordfish, chicken, crab, veal and rabbit. The seasoning of choice is mustard and/or curry. "Asparagus, artichokes and spinach, which devastate some wines, work well with the Fume Blanc," she said. "The herb affinity is fresh marjoram, not oregano."

Food can be easily and elegantly tied to the wine through the seasoning. Make it fun, experiment, and remember that there is not a right or wrong way. With this attitude, eating can be elevated to a dining experience.

"We refer to seasonings as the ties that bind. These seasonings may be an herb or spice combination or another food that contributes flavor, such as tomato or garlic."

Keehn also notes wines that are high in acidity seem to be enjoyed more when combined with foods high in fat content, such as butter, cream or cheese. In addition, high acid wines can be balanced by foods having some sweetness, such as a tart chardonnay served with scallops in a tarragon cream sauce. Also, acidity and alcohol in wine serve as a solvent to cleanse the palate.

Older wines, with fading acidity, are better enjoyed with foods having restrained flavors and less fat content, so as not to mask the more subtle wine flavors. With an older cabernet sauvignon, Keehn suggests a lean tenderloin roasted with fresh vegetables like potatoes and carrots, a simple sauce using the deglazed pan juices, a splash of wine and restrained seasonings — a little thyme and a pinch of salt and pepper.

This tree died of a heart attack.

Carving hearts on trees seems harmless enough.

But the fact is, it cut short the life of this majestic oak.

By gouging into the bark, vandals crippled the tree's vascular system. So, like thousands of other innocent victims each year, the tree slowly died.

But the fight against vandalism is gathering strength from the example of Lynn Brauer and Carol Eichling.

When vandals girdled a 300 year old Chinquapin Oak near their Marthasville, Missouri home, they wrapped the wound in sphagnum moss and tended the tree daily, despite blizzard conditions.

If not for the severe winter, arborists feel the Chinquapin might have survived.

We believe miracles can take root. When people care enough.

Green Alerts make their mark on environmental programming

By Donna Gooch

The environment is a very hot topic these days, and it never hurts to keep the kids informed on Earth issues. Just as youngsters should cultivate a healthy body, a healthy planet is just as necessary.

Toward that end, The Discovery Channel is definitely doing its part. Although not specifically geared to children, Discovery has always offered conservation, nature and ecological programming. Green Alert Updates are part of the plan.

Every two weeks Americans throw away enough glass to fill the twin towers of New York's World Trade Center, enough aluminum to rebuild the entire fleet of commercial airliners and enough paper to build a solid wall 12 feet high from New York to Los Angeles.

The above facts are typical of the information and other news offered in The Discovery Channel's Green Alert Updates.

Discovery created the Green Alert symbol to identify and support the network's environmental programs.

The symbol appears on air three ways: as identification for programs dealing specifically with the environment, as environmental bulletins which enhance information in a program and as Green Alert Updates, or vignettes which explain the status of our environment and offer practical information on how to support conservation and preservation efforts.

The updates notify viewers about issues such as acid rain, recycling, pollution and global warming.

By offering the name and phone number of specific environmental organizations, Green Alert Updates also invite viewers to find out more about these issues.

The updates, which will be aired for an indefinite length of time, are hosted by Charlotte Nichols and Dave Durian, who appear regularly on Maryland Public Television.

BITS AND PIECES

'Newhart's' silent Darryl No. 2 to finally say a word or two

John Volstad, who had not spoken in his role as Darryl No. 2 for eight seasons on Newhart, will say at least two words on Saturday, June 16— "I Do!" That's the day he marries Kellye Fowler in her hometown, Gadsden, Ala.

John Ritter has been named host of The American Red Cross Emergency Test, an informative special designed to enhance the average American's ability to survive and to save lives in natural disasters and accidents. This hard-hitting interactive program, featuring many notable guest stars, airs Thursday, June 7, on ABC. Guests include Richard Dean Anderson, Julia Child, Patrick Duffy, Harry Hamlin, Don Johnson, Michael Landon, Joan Lunden, Al Michaels, Phylicia Rashad, Tim and Daphne Reid, Josh Saviano, Alan Thicke and Betty White.

Eric Clapton, the British-born rock singer, guitarist and songwriter whose credits include the hit recording "Layla," has been named recipient of the "Living Legend Award," to be presented during the telecast of The 2nd International Rock Awards, to air Wednesday, June 6, on ABC. The program is an industry event established to honor the world's greatest rock performers.

Katey Sagal, star of Married ... With Children, says, "There are simple things that people can do every day to help save the planet. When I go to the grocery store, I take paper bags with me—and I yell at people who use plastic. I say 'What are you doing with those plastic bags?' And you know what? Now they're using paper. You can make a difference."

A letter of support on the broccoli issue was mailed to President George Bush from Hollywood by Lick Broccoli, the hot new vegetable character who has joined the California Raisins. "I want you to know I stand foursquare behind you on the broccoli issue," wrote Broccoli. "I, too, abhor its consumption." Broccoli says he supports the President because "he doesn't eat broccoli and I don't eat Presidents."

John Voldstad

Donna Mills, former star of Knots Landing, has come to an agreement with CBS for two telefilms. Mills will executive produce and star in the projects under the deal, World's Oldest Living Bridesmaid, currently in production in Toronto, and Runaway Father, now in development.

Leaping to the big screen for the first time, Scott Bakula of NBC's Quantum Leap landed two feature film roles during the spring hiatus of the acclaimed series. He will make his movie debut starring as a workaholic doctor with an unfaithful wife (played by Kirstie Alley) in Sibling Rivalry. He will then appear as a boxer in L.A. Stories with Steve Martin. Both films are currently in production.

Linda Bloodworth-Thomason, creator and executive producer of Designing Women says, "each of the Designing Women represents a side of me. Suzanne (Delta Burke) is the Southern belle in me, Julia (Dixie Carter) expresses my outspoken views, Charlene (Jean Smart) is my country girl side and Mary Jo (Annie Potts) my wild and wacky side."

VCR owners may be happy to hear of a "paperback videocassette" designed to be thrown away after five to 10 playbacks that will be on the market soon. The tape can hold up to 60 minutes of programming in the extended-play mode, weighs four to six ounces and will sell for $1.30 each.

SOAP TALK

Writers need to heed backgrounds

By Candace Havens

Dear Candace: I am a longtime watcher of Days Of Our Lives and today I heard Julie refer to herself as Scott Banning's grandma.

Well, if my memory serves me correctly, Julie is actually Scott's real mother. She was pregnant with Scott, but wasn't married. She let the Bannings adopt him and then when Mrs. Banning died she married Mr. Banning so she could be with Scott.

I think the writers need to reread some of Days before they write the new storylines. —Susan Hester, Burlington, Iowa

Dear Candace: I'm really getting tired of practically every eligible male on the soap One Life To Live falling all over themselves to have Brenda fall in love with them. I mean Larry and Michael should try and find someone a little closer to their age and I really feel sorry for Dan, he should just give up on Brenda. A few years ago Dan was in love with a girl named Allison Perkins. Until she was hit by a car and put in a coma, they were quite an item. I think OLTL should have her come out of the coma so that Dan could have his love back. That would teach Brenda not to be so picky in the future. —Joan Siehndel, Waukesha, Wis.

Dear Candace: I am so happy that Bo and Hope (Peter Reckell and Kristian Alfonso) are back on Days Of Our Lives. I sure missed them when they left. When they were on before it seemed like one big happy family.

I also love Patch and Kayla, too. I would like to see Jack and Jennifer, Roman and Isabella and Adrian and Justin, get together. I feel like Days is a part of my own family. I've been watching since 1964 and I hope NBC never takes it off.

Thanks for letting me tell you how I feel. Even though the ratings are down a little on Days, I'll never stop watching. —A faithful watcher, Cooperstown, Pa.

I want to hear from you! If you have a favorite soap scenario you would like to sound off about, or a question about the soaps, write to Candace Havens, Soap Talk, P.O. Box 17748, Fort Worth, TX 76102-0748.

Robert Urich enjoys family, outdoor outings off screen

By Polly Vonetes

Q: I was wondering what Robert Urich is doing now. Is he going to do anymore TV shows or movies? Also, could you tell me a little about his personal life and hobbies? Is he married? Did he go to college or take drama? Why is your column only published every other week in The Advance in Vidalia, Ga.? —P.L. Landers, Savannah, Ga.

A: Robert Urich starred in the NBC miniseries, Blind Faith, during the February sweeps. Currently, I see him frequently "banging back" his headache on a television commercial. Urich was born on Dec. 19, 1947, in Toronto, Ohio. He attended Florida State University on a full football scholarship and majored in drama "because it was fun." He is married to actress Heather Menzies. They and their two children reside in North Hollywood, Calif. They ski, backpack and hike together. He also enjoys hunting and fishing. My column is sent to our newspaper clients every week. Check with your local paper as to why it is only published every other week.

Q: Several years ago, maybe in the '40s or '50s, I saw a movie with Frank Sinatra and I believe his co-star was a gal by the name of Mary Peach. I would like to know the year it was made, name of the movie and whatever happened to her? —H.C.M., Menominee, Mich.

A: Sorry, I cannot find a movie listing Mary Peach and Frank Sinatra as co-stars. Her credits begin in 1957 and include: Follow That Horse, Room At The Top, No Love For Johnnie, A Pair Of Briefs, A Gathering Of Eagles, Ballad In Blue, The Projected Man and Scrooge. Born in 1937, she was a British leading lady. I haven't any information on her today.

Q: My friend and I have recently had a disagreement about Peter Lawford.

We were watching one of his movies on TV, and I mentioned that he was dead. She argued that he was not. Who's right? Is he dead or alive? —June Williams, Big Spring, Texas

A: It would be tacky of me to say, "I am happy to inform you you are right. Peter Lawford is dead." So, reading from his obituary I quote: "Peter Lawford died Monday, Dec. 24, 1984, at 8:45 a.m. of cardiac arrest at Cedars-Sinai Hospital." That should settle the disagreement.

Q: My husband and I saw the movie Big and wondered if there was more than one ending. In the theater it showed Tom Hanks returning to a normal 12 year old, going to school and grinning at a new female student, leaving the audience with the impression that his girlfriend also returned to childhood. On TV, Hanks returned to being 12, but his girlfriend remained an adult. Was there more than one ending or are we confusing it with another film? —John and Vicki Curny, Clinton, Tenn.

A: There was just one ending—his girlfriend remained an adult.
