Police decide patient death an accident

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

State police have determined that the Aug. 16 death of a Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital patient was accidental.

Police investigating the death of William Gibbons, 46, ruled out the possibility of foul play when they could find no evidence that the patient was involved in a fight or was struck before he died, Sgt. Robert Silva said Tuesday. Silva is the officer in charge of the investigation.

"All we were concerned was that nobody beat Mr. Gibbons over the head," Silva said.

Silva said his investigation indicated that Gibbons fell during a seizure Aug. 13 and lay in a hallway at the Northville hospital for five hours before he was transported to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia. The patient had a history of seizures.

Gibbons was comatose on his arrival at the Livonia hospital, and remained in a coma until he died there three days later.

The Wayne County medical examiners' original report found that Gibbons died from a trauma to the back of the head but the medical evidence did not indicate whether the trauma was accidental.

Dr. L.J. Dragovic, the medical examiner who performed the autopsy on Gibbons' body, said last week that the lack of prompt medical attention may have contributed to the patient's death.

"It certainly would have enhanced the development of the problems in his head because he did not get any immediate medical attention," Dragovic said.

Three Northville Hospital employees remain suspended during the hospital's own inquiry into the death, because of their roles in the incident.

"We don't think think they're at fault in the death per se, but we believe there may have been some procedures that weren't followed," said Hospital Director Dr. Walter Brown.

Wallendas to highlight Victorian Festival fun

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The internationally acclaimed Wallendas will perform feats of daring on the high wire at Northville's second annual Victorian Festival.

The Great Wallendas — Enrico and his wife, Debbie — are among the last performing members of the world-renowned high-wire troupe that first came to America in 1928. As the Flying Wallendas, the family performed for 16 years with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus as part of the Greatest Show on Earth.

Debbie and Enrico, Karl's eldest grandson, bill themselves as "the only authentic heirs of Karl and Helen Wallenda," founders of the original troupe.

Enrico also successfully completed the skywalk that claimed his grandfather's life in 1978.

The Great Wallendas will present the first of their shows Friday evening, Sept. 14 at 7:15 after the Victorian Parade, performing their breathtaking high wire act on Main Street near the gazebo. The thrills continue Saturday at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. with dazzling wire acts by the performers, and climax 4 p.m. Sunday with their celebrated swing pole act. The Wallendas are sponsored by Dick Scott Buick/Dick Scott Dodge.

The Wallendas are scheduled to perform six shows, but festival organizers had not decided on all of the acts by press time.

Ginny Hathorn placed a ribbon in front of her home to show support for soldiers' families

Military families find local support

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The sons and daughters continue to troop away to foreign bases in Saudi Arabia and throughout the Middle East, to join the growing multinational force opposing Iraq's military takeover of Kuwait.

But what of their families — the mother or father whose worry grows with every empty mailbox, the wife who wonders when her husband will return, the children who ask "Where is daddy going," and "Why?"

Northville resident Ginny Hathorn is helping soothe the fears of those left behind. She has a special empathy for military families with children overseas. Her eldest son, Thomas Strickland, is a 33-year-old data processing engineer for the Navy.

Strickland was stationed in New Orleans with his own family until his skills were needed on the USS Eisenhower, the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier now cruising the Mediterranean.

His departure for the Mideast brought the rest of Hathorn's family closer.

"We were just on the phone constantly with one another," she recalled. "We were calling long-distance to each other two or three times a day — we just needed to talk."

"My children were raised in a military family so they knew what it was like. And we could talk and have somewhat of an understanding. But it's still not the same as when you talk to another mother."

That need to communicate has inspired Hathorn to set up a communications network for other families. The answering machine at her home phone number — 349-0996 — has become an electronic mailbox for families searching for information or just looking for a friendly voice.

So far, Hathorn has received calls from nearly 100 such people.

Hazardous cleanup almost done

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

A cleanup project neared completion Tuesday at an abandoned building where two police officers were injured by toxic fumes, township Assistant Fire Chief Rick Rosselle said.

Rosselle said a firm contracted by Wayne County was working to secure decaying batteries and barrels of caustic agents that produced acidic fumes in an abandoned power plant north of Five Mile and east of Sheldon Road.

"As far as I know, it's under control," Rosselle said. "They're not done yet, but they're doing what I asked them to do Friday (Aug. 24, the day the fumes were discovered)."

Environmental Protection Agency representatives — at Rosselle's request — scoured the power plant site Aug. 29 and concluded that toxic emissions were present.

Ralph Dollhopf, on-scene coordinator of the EPA Emergency Response Section, said "caustic and corrosive-type materials" were found in the building.

Dollhopf told county representatives that an immediate site cleanup was needed, as well as a strategy to provide security during periods of on-site storage for the potentially dangerous materials.

EPA air monitor test results were inconclusive, Dollhopf said, but he assured county officials that toxins were present.

"We didn't pick up any readings, but if you stick your head in there, the fumes are irritating (to eyes and respiratory system)," he said. "We perceived this as a potential emergency."

The county contracted K & D Industrial Services, Inc. of Romulus to handle cleanup chores. K & D began work last Thursday, and removed 59 cracked and leaking batteries and numerous barrels of boiler cleaning agents from the basement of the power plant.

Dollhopf said the batteries were the primary suspect in sulfuric acid emissions that caused minor injuries to township police officer Matthew Mayes and Wayne County Sheriff Cpl. Michael Brogan.

Cleanup is expected to be completed this week, Rosselle said.

Rosselle criticized county handling of the toxic materials incident. He said the county was slow to react to township fire department requests that the site be cleaned.

"As far as I'm concerned, Wayne County didn't do their job until I called the EPA," he said. "When I called the EPA in, the county did everything I had asked."

Stanley Wyre, director of Wayne County's Department of Public Services, was on-site with the EPA Aug. 29. Wyre agreed to an EPA cleanup strategy and said security would be provided while the hazardous materials were removed.

"We'll do whatever is in the best interests of the people in this area," he said.

Wyre bristled at Rosselle's suggestion that the county was lethargic in its response to reports of dangerous fumes emissions.

"I'd say that is totally false," he said. "We want to know the answers as quickly as anyone else. We had a contractor out here (Aug. 24) and had someone out here today."

"We will certainly do whatever is necessary to guarantee the health and safety of the residents," he said. "We'll deal with whatever they (EPA) tell us."

Committee is set to cut township budget

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

A work schedule for members of a committee charged with trimming the 1991 preliminary township budget will be set "within the next week or two," a township official said Tuesday.

A 1991 township budget review committee will begin a month-long study of the proposed $3.7-million township budget within the next two weeks, said Finance Director James Graham.

Supervisor Georgina Goss last week picked township residents Wes Henrikson, John Sassaman and Frank St. Louis to a review committee to be chaired by Treasurer Betty Lennox.

Goss told the township board Aug. 30 the proposed budget did not meet balanced budget requirements and mandated unspecified cuts prior to a Nov. 1 budget adoption deadline.

She said those named to the committee demonstrated an interest in township finances.

"I looked for residents that have indicated an interest in serving the community and an interest in the budgetary process," Goss said.

The preliminary budget lists a deficit of more than $100,000 for 1991 and the township intends to build a fund balance of $300,000-$400,000.

To reach that goal, the budget review committee will need to schedule between 15-20 hours of meetings, Graham said.

Members of Northville's marching band liven things up at the season-opening football game

Marching On

Band kicks off another season

By MAUREEN NASZRADI
Staff Writer

The Northville High School marching band and flag corp took to the field Friday for their first performance of the 1990-91 school year.

The pregame and halftime performances of "Back to the Future II," the national anthem and Northville's fight song culminated two weeks of intense practice under the direction of Mike Rumbell.

"We're off to a great start," Rumbell said. "I can hardly wait to see how the year develops."

Rumbell, who began his 18th year as band director, said the 75 band members practiced their marching drills and music three-hours-a-day, five-days-a-week for the last two weeks.

"This is probably the first time the band had to be prepared to perform at a football game before they were even in school," Rumbell said.

The flag corp and percussion section held even more practices to perfect flag routines while marching, said Mary Rumbell, who has served as assistant director for three years.

Bill McCulloch, a 1990 Northville High School graduate who is studying musical education at Eastern Michigan University, serves as percussion instructor.

Drum majors for the 1990-91 school year are Dave Garry and Sheri Abramovich. Assistant drum majors are Tim Magers and Vicki Madaus.

Once school starts, the flag and percussion students will practice twice a week, Rumbell said. Band practice will be in band class, in which all band members are enrolled for regular credit.

In order to enroll, students must have some previous instrumental musical experience and be recommended by their middle school band director, Rumbell said. Students new to the district can audition, he added.

Rumbell said the band continues to grow.

"Seventy-five is the most we've had in several years," he said. "It's been 55-60 in previous years."

"Hopefully that will continue." Slightly under half the band members are freshmen this year, the director said, which he credits to middle school band instructors Beverly Schellhase and Roxanne Minch.

"We're encouraged with the incoming people," he said. "The enthusiasm in general has been very good."

Rumbell said the band members have been easy to work with and take criticism well.

"They've been easy to give direction, which is really important to the success of the band," Rumbell said.

The marching band plays at all the home football games; the number of

Man flashes car wash patron on Five Mile Road

A female patron of National Pride, 39780 Five Mile, told township police that an unknown black man exposed himself to her Aug. 27 at approximately 10:15 a.m.

The woman told police she was vacuuming her car when she noticed the man watching her. She told police she pulled her vehicle into a car wash stall and began washing her car. The man then got into his vehicle and parked it behind hers. The complainant said the man then grabbed a vacuum hose and began to rub it against his crotch.

The complainant then noticed the subject had bent over and his pants were lowered. He appeared to be fondling himself, she said. The woman then drove away in her vehicle and contacted police. Police checked the area and found nothing. The case remains open.

$150 damage to its hood after someone struck it with an egg sometime between 7 p.m. Aug. 24 and 10:30 a.m. Aug. 25, police said. Police have no suspects or witnesses in the case.

LARCENY AT MEIJER — A 20-year old Pontiac woman was arrested and charged with larceny after attempting to steal sunglasses from Meijer, 20401 Haggerty, Aug. 29 at 3:45 p.m. The woman tried to hide the sunglasses in her purse, according to police.

BAR BRAWL — No arrests were made following a bar fight involving a Livonia man and a Southfield man at Sheehan's on the Green, 39500 Five Mile, police said. Police said one of the men suffered a gash in his forehead after an argument over a shuffleboard game. The incident occurred at 1:22 a.m.

BICYCLIST INJURED — A 57-year-old Northville man riding his bicycle on Seven Mile Road Sept. 3 was hurt after the front wheel fell off about 8:20 a.m. He was treated for an injured shoulder and cut above his eye by an emergency medical technician from the township fire department.

A 16-year-old Northville girl turning from Lexington onto Eight Mile Road struck a car stopped on Eight Mile Road. The other driver reported the accident at the city police station, and no citations were issued.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

TIPS FROM TUCHKLAPER

Novi Dental Center

A. Allen Tuchklaper
D.D.S.

HOW OFTEN SHOULD YOU SEE THE DENTIST?

If you are married to a dentist, you will probably see him every day. For patients it used to be every six months. Today, most dentist believe it should be "as often as necessary".

I know there are more pleasurable things to do than making a dental office visit when there's "nothing wrong", but at the very least, no one can clean his own teeth perfectly and it allows the dentist to keep track of developing problems.

Even if you are certain you have no decay or gum condition, the dentist will probe the gums to make certain that periodontal disease, which can affect everyone, is not quietly developing and will minutely check your teeth with an explorer, or take X-rays to find and treat any hidden cavities. He may find that the potential for trouble is there and want to see you in three months - or may feel that seeing you twice a year is sufficient.

Billions of dollars are spent each year on dental restoration rather than prevention. Regular visits to your dentist are tiny investments in comparison.

Congregationalism came to New England with the Pilgrims in 1620, and is a fellowship of seekers who believe that religion should be part of the fullness and joy of life. We are an open, non-creedal church, allowing for wide diversity of thought and respecting all denominations in their search for the way. We recognize the Lordship of Christ in personal and church life, and seek to support one another in a community that shares His purpose and His love. We cultivate the arts, worship, friendship, seminars, and community service as ways to explore and to celebrate the wonders of God's creation.

News Briefs

PTA CALENDAR AVAILABLE — The popular Northville PTA Coordinating Council Calendar has been published again this year.

This is the sixth year the calendar has been compiled by PTA members as a service to the community. It contains community and school meeting dates, lists school personnel telephone numbers, and includes dates on which classes will not be in session. The calendar features students' artwork.

The volunteer time to typeset the calendar by Cheryl Byerly allowed it to continue to be published at $3. The calendar is available at school open houses and at each school office. Supplies are limited.

VICTORIAN HAT SALE AND CONTEST — Get in the mood for the upcoming Victorian Festival with a custom-made Victorian hat.

Parents and students from the Odyssey of the Mind teams — a problem-solving program for K-12 students — have been busy making hats to sell at the festival. Help is still needed in making the hats, and workshops are scheduled next Tuesday and Thursday, Aug. 11 and 13. If you are interested in buying a hat before the festival or to volunteer in making them, contact Sharon Romine at 420-4451 or Valerie Ernst at 348-8335.

Then, no matter where your hat came from, you may want to match it up against everyone else's in a Victorian Hat Contest slated for noon Saturday, Sept. 15. Awards will be given to the most impressive toppers. Festival organizers ask that everyone who wants her hat judged please walk in the Friday evening parade if at all possible.

VICTORIAN COSTUMES FOR SALE — Having trouble with just the right attire for the second annual Northville Victorian Festival Sept. 14-16? The Northville Community Chamber of Commerce has the answer to your problems.

The chamber is selling Victorian costumes for both day and formal evening wear — so you can even get two outfits, to be seen about town during the daytime hours and to look sharp at the Victorian Ball.

For an appointment to see the clothes, call the chamber at 349-7640.

Ford plant focus of preservation

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The Northville Valve Plant has been the focus of several preservation efforts since its closure by the Ford Motor Co. last year, and a local resident is involved in the latest such effort.

Mark Cryderman briefed the city council on a recent organizational meeting for the Ford Heritage Association, a fledgling organization he called "potentially national in scope."

"The idea . . . is to preserve the history of Henry Ford and his properties," he said. "The building in Northville is particularly significant because it's the end of the trail, the discovery trail."

Cryderman is involved in the formation of a local chapter of the association. "We believe that because of this association we may be able to get some leverage with (Ford family elder) Edsel Ford," he said.

Though the association has not yet approached the Ford family, Cryderman said he believed the plant would be a good candidate for dona-

Local residents recommend uses

A local citizens organization is urging the city to explore potential funding alternatives to purchase the Northville Valve Plant.

"Concerned Residents of Northville" is also encouraging the city to obtain the property even without a specific development plan.

"Our point is simple: whether there is a complete plan for its use right now or not, the Ford Plant and its 14 acres in the center of our town is a choice package for a huge variety of public and civic uses," the group wrote in a recent letter to the city council.

Some of the possible plant uses suggested by the organization include a public meeting space, a teen center, conference space for business people and others, and future parking lot space to ease downtown parking.

The group mentioned several possible funding plans, including securing a one-year option to purchase the plant, obtaining funds through historical foundations and other Federal and state grant programs, and getting the plant listed on appropriate historical registers. The group also suggested setting up a Greenfield Village museum satellite at the plant.

tion. "If it was presented to the Ford family and the Ford Foundation for some kind of public use, possibly a historic use."

Cryderman also emphasized the need for a "unified effort" between the new group and the city.

The association held its introductory meeting in July. The group hopes to stimulate public interest in the life and works of Henry Ford and foster the preservation of Ford landmarks like the Northville Valve Plant.

The historical trail itself will follow the path of 20 village industry mills built by Henry Ford between 1918 and 1944. The plants were built along the Rouge River, and used the river to generate power for Ford's "village industries."

The trail is being developed by the Wayne County parks department with help from the state Department of Transportation and the Henry Ford Estate in Fairlane, "to recognize the automobile pioneer's contributions to water-powered mills."

Queen to reign over Victorian Festival

The queen for the second annual Northville Victorian Festival has been chosen, and the honor goes to Judy Kohl.

Kohl, of Springfield Drive in Northville, was selected through a lottery system. As this year's "Queen Victoria," she will preside over the second annual festival, planned for Sept. 14-16.

The queen's subjects will get their first official glimpse at the monarch during the parade which kicks off the festival festivities. The parade is scheduled to wind through the streets of downtown Northville starting at 6 p.m. Friday, Sept. 14.

State spurs mainstream process

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

LANSING — Handicapped students must be educated in general classrooms as much as possible, under a proposed clarification of State Board of Education policy.

"There was a time when every visually impaired child was automatically sent to the School for the Blind," said Donald Bemis, superintendent of public instruction. "Now they (School for the Blind) are not the only player. Decisions must be made individually."

"I dissent," said state board member Barbara Dumouchelle, a Republican from Grosse Ile. "It's an additional burden to the classroom teacher — a terrible burden."

The state board discussed the proposed policy Aug. 16 and is scheduled to vote at a later meeting.

The policy was suggested by a 28-member committee with representatives from associations for the blind, speech and hearing impaired, autistic, retarded, emotionally disturbed, hispanics, school boards, teachers unions, psychologists, principals and social workers.

Marilyn Lundy, a Republican board member from Grosse Pointe, asked what input parents had.

"They are to be involved," replied Dr. Teressa Staten, a Department of Education staffer. But she said groups like Michigan Society for Autistic Citizens and Michigan Association for Retarded Citizens sent their executive professionals rather than parents of affected students.

The policy proposal said handicapped students should be given "inclusive education" in "age appropriate classes, as determined through the individualized educational planning committee under the full-time supervision of general education teachers with assistance from special education and support services."

Barbara Roberts Mason, a Democratic board member from Lansing, said supervision should be joint — "general and special education teachers," rather than by the general ed teacher.

The policy says the state believes "all children should have the opportunity to be educated together, regardless of handicapping condition, in the school he or she would attend if not handicapped unless otherwise determined appropriate."

Planners table hardware store

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Township planning commissioners hope they hammered home a few points during discussion last week on a proposed hardware store in the Highland Lakes Shopping Center.

Planners Aug. 28 tabled developer Thurman Autry's proposal to build an 11,993-square-foot building south of the National Bank of Detroit office on Seven Mile Road, citing problems with several factors of Autry's combined preliminary and final site plan.

The primary concern in Autry's plan is a township ordinance that the Highland Lakes Shopping Center developer complete a looped sewer system is required in an 11-year-old consent judgement.

Autry's township planning commission has offered to pay 50 percent of the sewer loop, but the township wants him to shoulder two-thirds of the cost.

"I have repeatedly offered to pay 50 percent of that loop," he said. "The loop goes approximately 1,000 feet off my property across Seven Mile. I figure that's a common project."

Township attorney Ernest Esad said in a letter to the commission that Autry's refusal to finance the project could provide just cause to block further development on the site.

"Even if Mr. Autry is not ordered to complete the loop or to pay for its cost, the township can still require the looped system prior to any further development of the property," he said.

Planners sent the looped sewer problem to the Water and Sewer Commission. A decision on the loop must be reached before Autry's site plan can be pulled off the table, Planning and Zoning Administrator Carol Maise said.

Maise said the Water and Sewer Commission will review the looped sewer conflict this month.

In addition to the looped sewer, planners questioned the shopping center's dead end parking layout. Building and fire department officials requested sprinkling systems be added to the site plan and commission Karen Woodside asked for clarification on outside storage of materials.

Planners also wanted a clearer picture of building materials intended for the site. Many voiced displeasure with the aesthetic quality of Highland Lakes Shopping Center.

"We have several issues here going from major down to minor," commission Chairperson Charles DeLand said. He asked Autry to come back to the planning commission with changes as advised after the Water and Sewer review of the looped sewer.

Main Street tool store may move

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

The owner of a city business said last week he may be considering moving the tool store to Northville.

Bob Black, owner of Black's Hardware in Northville, said it was "possible" that he would be the owner of a new tool store proposed for the Highland Lakes Shopping Center on West Seven Mile Road.

A proposal to build an 11,993-square foot hardware store behind the National Bank of Detroit building on Seven Mile went before the township planning commission Aug. 28.

Planning commissioners tabled the site request pending the outcome of a Water and Sewer Commission review of a looped sewer proposal.

Black was non-committal about his plans, saying he is only two years into a 15-year lease at his present 139 E. Main location. He would not say if he will attempt to break his lease or is simply looking to open another store.

"I heard an Ace Hardware is going in there," he said of the township location. He said he would not lease the Seven Mile site.

Asked if he was to be the building owner, Black said, "It could be an option."

But Thurman Autry, owner of the Highland Lakes Shopping Center properties and developer of the new hardware store site, told the commission the building would probably be leased.

"The tenant's willing to go in with a 10-year lease," he said.

Black and the City of Northville are

New law attempting to improve schools

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

The state has $2.4 million to help local schools develop new long-range improvement plans, said education chief Donald Bemis.

"We think it will be $500 per school building," the superintendent of public instruction told the state board of education on Aug. 21.

The new law, Public Act 25, requires local and intermediate districts to do four things: develop school improvement plans, distribute annual reports to the public, adopt a core curriculum and prepare for accreditation.

"Local boards are concerned about how to accomplish quality improvements," said Dr. Anne Hansen, a Department of Education official in charge of school program services.

State officials held dozens of regional meetings in the last month to acquaint local boards, administrators and parents with the new law and how to get money.

"I went to four of these," said Dorothy Beardmore, a state board member from Rochester, citing a pair in Oakland County and Wayne Westland.

This is the legislation that mandates quality PA 25 pulls in a lot of directions to change education — change from counting the number of books to who reads the books, from a focus on input to a focus on results," Beardmore said. "It (the meetings) invited comments from the field as to what really is core curriculum."

"It's a very important piece of legislation," Bemis said.

PA 25 also sets up conditions under which high schools may hire non-certified teachers in such areas as computer science, foreign languages, math, engineering and robotics.

The annual reports are to include student achievement test results, retention/dropout rates, accreditation status and parent participation rates.

The new state budget provides $2.4 million in categorical state aid to districts which apply.

The money apparently will go to "in formula" districts which receive general state aid, not to "out of formula" districts. Out of formula districts are considered wealthy enough not to need state aid.

In a highly controversial move this year, Gov. James Blanchard and the Legislature cut categorical aid to out of formula districts — about 30 percent of the state. Both Northville and Novi districts are out of formula.

The budget puts $1.6 million into grants to applying local and intermediate districts. Another $800,000 will go to intermediate districts to provide support services and technical assistance for quality planning. Still to be approved by the State Board of Education is a final document called "Core Curriculum Outcomes."

Rather than specifying how many hours of instruction a class needs, it will allow schools to measure whether students are attaining "essential skills areas which will prepare them for effective adult living."

They are due to be approved this fall. PA 25 and the $2.4 million in grants are the latest state efforts in a larger effort to improve school quality without necessarily pumping in large amounts of new money. The effort began with "A Nation at Risk," a 1983 federal report.

In Michigan, a state "Blueprint for Action" came in 1984 followed by quality standards studies in subsequent years.

Families call for support

Families have phoned from as far away as Port Huron, and she's gotten calls from Farmington Hills, Troy, Ferndale, Warren, Auburn Hills, Canton, and others in Northville.

Hathorn has even found five other families with sons on the Eisenhower. "We found people with children on all the different aircraft carriers and battleships, and then we found Marines, and then we found poor moms with children in the 82nd Airborne, who are scared to death — they haven't even heard from them," she said.

"It's just overwhelming, the whole thing. But it's wonderful — some mom calls and if you can just tell her a little bit she's so thankful."

Hathorn said her program should prove a real source of information to families that have not heard from their relatives lately.

"We figure by the time we get this all set up and computerized we'll be able to give them a phone number or a name of a person who has a son in the same outfit, or a daughter," she said. "If you're not getting letters, you'll be able to talk to somebody who is."

The deputy director of Navy support in Washington is also sending Hathorn information on the crisis, including the phone numbers of U.S. military bases all over the world, "where we can be able to get in contact with people," Hathorn said.

Hathorn added that families not familiar with the military system often do not know where to turn for information. "There's more unknown than there is known," she said.

Hathorn also urges military families to tie red, white, and blue ribbons on their car aerials or in their yards. "That way we'll all know each other," she said. "It's just a feeling that there's someone else in the same situation."

The military support group that Hathorn has started will meet next Monday, Sept. 10 at 7:30 p.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 201 Elm St. The meeting gives worried family members a chance to learn ways to deal with their anxiety, and learn more about what it means to be stationed overseas.

"I have a psychologist from Birmingham that's volunteered to speak for me free of charge, and we have a young man that just came off of the (aircraft carrier) Saratoga who will be able to really explain to these moms how it is," Hathorn said.

"We're contacting all kind of different people with the expertise to help us understand."

Coincidentally, Hathorn's home has an extra connection to the situation in the Persian Gulf: the previous owners of her Northville Township house were Kevin and Dawn Bazner, who have become internationally known as being among the Americans being held against their will in Iraq. Dawn Bazner and the couple's two children were included in the hostages released over the holiday weekend, after Kevin Bazner was shown on Iraqi television asking Saddam Hussein to release the women and children. The Bazners now make their home in Malaysia.

Alcohol charges may follow crash

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Alcohol probably played a significant role in a bloody Friday afternoon collision involving a 21 year old Plymouth, township police said Monday.

The Plymouth man — whose name police are withholding pending results of a blood test — reportedly crashed into the rear of a tractor trailer parked on the side of Beck Road just north of Seven Mile Road, police said.

Township police Sgt. Clyde Anderson said the man was northbound on Beck and was partially thrown through the windshield of his Pontiac T 1000 upon impact with the trailer.

Broken windshield glass badly lacerated the man's right arm, Anderson said. He said the man was treated for lacerations and other injuries at Botsford General Hospital in Farmington Hills.

Anderson said police will seek operating under the influence (OUI) charges against the man if results of a blood test indicate alcohol use. He said police should have test results in two weeks.

The man had no prior drunken driving arrests but was driving on a suspended license, Anderson said.

The accident occurred just after 6 p.m. Friday. The man struck a tractor trailer owned by T & G Excavating of Howell. The driver of the truck was not injured, police said.

County starts site cleanup

Dollop said the EPA would not take part in an extensive hazardous chemicals search of the entire county land area, despite suspicions that other abandoned buildings could contain harmful fumes or liquids.

Rosselle stressed the potential danger to anyone entering buildings or tunnels on the county property.

"We're worried that someone is going to get hurt out here," he said. "I'm going to ask the county to sweep the premises again."

Budget review board set

"The process may take a little longer this year," he said. "Things will have to be looked at very carefully."

Graham said he will contact members of the review committee to determine a meeting schedule. The township would like to conduct day meetings, he said.

"Preferably, we'd like to have some meetings during the day if members are available," he said. "That's usually the best time to meet with department heads."

During her comments to the board last week, Goss invited residents and the press to attend budget review meetings. Graham said dates and times of meetings would be determined by Goss and Township Manager Richard Henningsen.

Standard procedure for a committee meeting includes department heads describing to review members the function and duties of their specific department, Graham said.

"Meetings with department heads are informational only," he said. "They give the rationale for the items in their budget and no decisions are made [at that point]."

Meetings vary in length and depth, Graham said. Police and fire department reviews generally take longer to complete because of the amount of money involved, he said.

The police department's proposed 1991 budget is just over $1.6 million. The preliminary fire department budget is $348,160.

Graham said the review committee usually works between mid-September and mid-October. Although the question of where and how much to cut predominates, other issues will confront the committee, he said.

"Obviously, numbers are the biggest priority," he said. "But they also have to look at other projects, including the five year capital improvement plan."

Marching into new season

songs depends on whether the choir or soloists also perform.

After football season, the marching band splits into the symphonic and jazz bands.

During the 1989-90 school year, the two Northville High School bands earned the highest possible ratings at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association symphonic and jazz festivals.

"We're looking forward to continuing that this year," Rumbell said.

The director said a good year for the band would be one in which they brought home more honors from festivals. Equally important, Rumbell said, is pleasing the home crowd.

"We try to please the crowd with the music and entertaining routines," he said.

Aside from football games, the band has regular performances scheduled throughout the school year.

The next event outside school where the band will perform is the Sept. 14-16 Victorian Festival. They are practicing a number of marches for that, Rumbell said.

The band will perform at Northville's Santa parade in November and the Band-O-Rama in December will feature both the symphonic and jazz bands.

Money generated by the bond issue approved by the voters last October for new instruments and acoustical panels for the high school auditorium, Rumbell said.

New site may house Black's presently entangled in a lawsuit over outside storage of hardware and garden materials. Township planners told Autry outside storage is not allowed in a district zoned B-3.

"I know the city got into litigation over (outside storage)," said Commissioner Karen Woodside. "I hope it doesn't happen here."

Autry said his potential client was asking only for a nine-foot wide garden display. The display would be taken into the store each evening, he said.

"This gentleman wants to come out where there is more room," Autry said. He did not say who his proposed client was.

Black was tight-lipped about a possible township hardware site, but he sounded like a man with irons in the fire.

"We came in two years ago with the impression that we'd be here a long time," he said. But business is not always strong in the city, he said.

"In some months it's good. Other times, it's not," he said. "I couldn't say exactly what is going to happen (at the Seven Mile site)."

Surviving Mr. Hader are his wife, Florence (Errair) Hader; his son, Jerald Hader of Farmington Hills; his daughter, Marilyn Goss of Highland; his sister, Angeline Schenck; and four grandchildren.

Services were held Tuesday, Sept. 4 at the Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home, the Rev. Terry Nelson of Cross of Christ Lutheran Church in South Lyon officiating. Burial was at Glen Eden Cemetery in Livonia.

Memorial contributions of choice would be appreciated.

Our Opinions

County should move on Beck traffic lights

The recent word from Wayne County officials is the dismaying news that the county plans to deal with the problem of accidents at the Seven Mile/Beck corner by turning the intersection into a four-way stop. That action will be woefully insufficient.

The intersection now is a two-way stop. Drivers on Beck stop, facing a stop sign and a flashing red signal. Drivers on Seven Mile do not stop, but proceed through a flashing amber "caution" light.

The intersection has had a streak of accidents recently, including one involving a car and a bicycle. No one has been seriously hurt, but it's only a matter of time before that happens.

Traffic on Beck is increasing because development in the area is increasing. The paving of Beck from Six Mile to Seven Mile reflects this growth, and so does the placement of the flasher — and the upgrade to a four-way stop.

But the area is growing faster than the county is reacting, and it's going to continue to be a problem.

We're not traffic engineers and we don't have any counts of how many vehicles use the intersection. But gut feeling tells anyone who uses the intersection regularly that it deserves full traffic signalization.

No one knows this better than the people at Northville Township Hall, and they asked the county for a light. For two, in fact; they also lobbied for a light at Beck and Eight Mile. We'd add Beck and Six Mile to the list as well.

Pull out a map of the area and take a close look at what Beck means. It's the only surface road which runs between M-14 and I-96 with an interchange at each end. It's the only way to travel that distance in a straight shot between I-275 and US-23. It's the only good way to travel between the Plymouth area and the Novi area west of Haggerty Road.

The only thing stopping Beck from becoming another Haggerty is the lack of paving from Seven Mile to Eight Mile, and it won't be long before that's taken care of.

Meanwhile, the whole area around Beck will continue to grow with new housing and industry. And it will all bring more traffic.

In short, Beck Road is a traffic disaster waiting to happen, and the county doesn't seem to recognize it. Full traffic lights may be considered down the road, the county says, if traffic volumes materialize to justify them.

Those volumes will materialize; it's just a matter of time. Probably not much time, either. And meanwhile a few stop signs are expected to handle the situation safely and efficiently.

That just doesn't seem possible. Beck is fast losing its status as a quiet country road, and the county has a responsibility to keep up with the changes. Beck Road needs lights, and it should get them now — before a tragedy hits.

Abandoned facilities must be cleaned up

Workers this week are scheduled to complete a cleanup of toxic materials in the power plant of the old Wayne County Child Development Center on Sheldon Road north of Five Mile.

That's the good news. The bad news is that it took Wayne County so long to remove from the site broken batteries, open barrels of caustic agents and other chemicals deemed hazardous by representatives of the Environmental Protection Agency.

Assistant Township Fire Chief Rick Rosselle has made little effort to hide his displeasure with county bureaucrats since the toxic fumes were located Aug. 24.

Rosselle's concerns with the power plant site specifically — and the sprawling county-owned land in general — were pointed out by the manner in which the fumes were first noticed. Two police officers — professionals trained to react to emergency situations — were temporarily overcome by searing sulfuric acid-based fumes trapped in the building.

Ironically, the officers were investigating a broken door lock on the power plant — an indication that someone had attempted to gain entrance to the oft-vandalized building. If the person had managed to get inside, Wayne County's wrongful death litigation squad may have had a new case on its hands.

Rosselle is rightly concerned about the dangers of the county property. Vandals, thieves and kids out for a thrill converge on the site like it was a sanctioned after-hours playground. Fires are set with regularity. Buildings are decaying and footing is treacherous. Open bags of asbestos are commonplace.

And most of the people that frequent the place are not the kind you'd want to meet in, well, a dark 1,000-acre clump of uninhabited land.

The threat of hazardous chemicals on the property is not hyperbole. It's not likely the toxins found Aug. 24 were merely an isolated danger. No one really knows what manner and number of contaminants are hidden or buried on the county land. But the county knows they want as little to do with the site as possible.

The county would love to finalize a deal with proposed buyer Robert DeMatia that absolves it of any responsibility for site cleanup. In fact, the county is now looking for ways to make the state pay for the lion's share of the cleanup.

But the deal isn't done and the county ultimately is responsible for the happenings there. We suggest county agencies inventory and secure or remove all potentially hazardous materials now stored on county land.

The county says it will do whatever is necessary to protect the health and welfare of area residents. It should follow through on those words by securing the site.

Such action would not be inexpensive. But then, neither would a negligence or wrongful death lawsuit.

Band stands up to stiff competition

You want to know about competition, ask the Novi High School Jazz Band.

These kids took part in the Montreux-Detroit Jazz Festival on Labor Day, playing some of their hottest licks in the shadow of the Renaissance Center on Detroit's waterfront. Earning a spot on one of the three performing stages at the festival is no easy task.

I happened upon the Novi band because I was in the neighborhood to see Dizzy Gillespie play. That's right; the Novi crew was scheduled to go on at 4:45 p.m. on the Pylon Stage, while Dizzy Gillespie, a pioneer and master showman of jazz, took center stage at the Hart Plaza Auditorium at 4:15.

Playing opposite a legend like Dizzy is like trying to schedule a television show opposite Cosby. Actually, it may have worked out to the Novi band's advantage, though. Dizzy drew far more people than the Auditorium could accommodate, so many people, like myself, headed off to see the acts at the Pylon Stage or the Pyramid Stage, where there was more seating space.

I watched the start of Dizzy's show, and decided to stroll around the plaza, figuring I could hear him anywhere I walked.

Just up the street, under the blue Cadillac balloon, the Novi Jazz Band blasted their tunes into the crisp riverfront air. The longer the band played, the bigger the crowd got. When I arrived, I was able to find a spot on the lawn close to the stage. But after the rousing finale, Maynard Ferguson's "Chameleon," I had to fight through a crowd.

According to band director Craig Strain, the band was quite a special one for Novi.

"We don't often have a band that good, so it was nice to get them back together for one last performance," said Strain. "Twelve of those kids have gone off to college, and seven of them are on music scholarships."

The highlights included vocalist Candi Lewis, whose versatile voice was alternately fire and honey. Just a junior, she transferred from California when her father became pastor at the Nazarene Church here. Her sister is a well-known Christian singer, with a couple of CDs to her credit.

"Candi's going to develop into quite a singer," said Strain.

"There are about 200 bands in the state, and I think they invited four to play at Montreux," said Strain. He said the band earned the invitation based on performances in the MSBOA state competition, and elsewhere.

Stumbling upon the band was one of the best accidents I've ever had. The Novi Jazz Band's performance at Detroit's biggest jazz extravaganza was all right-eous.

Is myth finally put to rest?

Items from our catalog:

• The secret's out, again. Yesterday's Detroit News had a feature story about the "Silver Springs" well in Northville and how people come from all over to fill jugs with the famous product.

I'm hoping that the wide circulation that article got will help dispel one of the most pesky myths about life in this area: that the well is hooked to city water lines, offering simple tap water. The myth has made it into print, both in a recently published guidebook to southeast Michigan and in a local newspaper in the area.

And it's not true; the well has indeed been hooked to city water during at least two points in its history, but it's not now. Although it hasn't been spring-fed in decades, it's still a real, live well, maintained by the Northville Rotary Club.

And if anyone needs further convincing, just go and take a drink from it. It really is particularly good water — and it definitely doesn't taste like it came from a tap.

• An Oakland County mediation panel recently made an offer of $400,000 in damages to be paid by the City of Novi to a development partnership which wants to build a shopping center on the northwest corner of Beck and Ten Mile roads. It will be particularly interesting to see whether the developers accept the judgment or proceed in court.

The ongoing zoning dispute between the Briarwood partnership and Novi got particularly sticky when voters overturned zoning on the parcel in question, under a provision in that city's charter allowing special elections for such things. Briarwood sued to get its strip mall built.

Not to wish anyone any ill will, but frankly I'd like to see the whole thing proceed with litigation. There are interesting issues here which won't be addressed if Briarwood takes the mediation and runs.

Chief among them is the validity of the clause in the city charter which allowed Novi voters to overturn the zoning on the parcel in question. This particular case aside, I think that provision is a great little facet of local government — and if it won't stand up in court, the city needs to know about it.

• The second annual Northville Victorian Festival swings into downtown Northville next weekend, Sept. 14-16. If you made it to the first event last year, you'll recall Jon Oliver, the escape artist/magician billed as "Houdini's successor" who provided some of the high points of the festival.

This festival may have gone one better this year: the headline entertainment is the Wallendas — as in flying — the famous family high-wire act. The Wallendas will perform a series of stunts as part of the festival — but that's only one part. Don't miss out on the fun.

Many thanks

To the Editor:

It doesn't get any better, either at the amateur level or the professional level, than the baseball played at Northville High School July 26-28 and Aug. 2-5.

Once again Northville Junior Baseball co-hosted with Little Caesars Amateur Baseball Federation the National Amateur Baseball Federation (NABF) sophomore and junior division world series. Two tremendous tournaments, outstanding talent, very competitive games, and awesome performances. All teams entered the two tournaments as winners, and all teams left as winners. The positive philosophy and environment provided throughout the tournament was greatly appreciated by all concerned and the community of Northville, and all the people involved in the running of the tournament received many plaudits for the outstanding tournaments.

Two teams from Ohio went home as the world champions. The sophomore division champion was Eldridge Construction from Beaver Creek, Ohio (just outside Dayton), and the Manchester A's from Akron were crowned the junior division world champions. Both teams were extended to the limit before they were able to claim victory. Eldridge Construction came back from an early tournament loss to Birmingham, Mich., beating them two straight games on July 28 to become the sophomore champion.

Junior division champion Manchester A's were also taken to the limit, by the 1989 champion, Lexington Dixie, before they could be awarded the championship trophy. Manchester went into the final day undefeated until they played Lexington for the championship, a team they had beaten earlier in the tournament. Lexington Dixie beat them 2-1 in 10 innings to force one more game to determine the 1990 winner. Manchester was equal to the task, winning the game 4-3 in eight innings.

Our visitors this year came from Redmond, Washington; Staten Island and Long Island, New York; Restertown, Maryland; Birmingham, Michigan; Tecumseh, Ontario; Beaver Creek and Akron, Ohio; and Lexington, Kentucky.

Once again the tournament committee did an awesome job, for all phases of the tournament, in the planning, organizing, and running of both tournaments. There are some very special people that I would like to recognize, to express my gratitude, appreciation and thanks for their dedication and work that each one did to make the tournaments so successful:

Kay Kehoe, Lloyd McKee, Judy Walsh, Charlene Frelick, Dennis Nielsen, Jim Bright, Dan Bastian, Steve Frelick, Bruce and Sue Christenson, and Celeste Busard in their roles as committee chairs.

And all the committee members: Joe O'Doherty, Chuck and Debbie Appligan, Bob Kehoe, Helen McKee, Bev Bastian, Suzanne and Bill Kaley, Joe and Barbara Staknis, Tim and Malinda Cain, Tom Busard, Sandy and Mike Yackie, Scott and Sue Baldwin, Lynn and Mike McComb, Bill Rice, Jay Johnson, and Rick Kelley.

Special thank-you and appreciation are extended to the Northville Sandy Koufax and Mickey Mantle coaches, players, and parents for all their help prior to, during and after the tournaments in all aspects of tournament responsibilities. Participation this year was the highest that it has ever been and it was greatly appreciated.

Northville Parks and Recreation Department, John Anderson, and his staff were very involved and supportive throughout the tournament and we thank them very much.

We also want to thank John Osborne, Novi High School and Novi Parks and Recreation for the use of the high school facility, preparation of the diamond and their continued support of the program.

The Northville school system was once again very supportive of these tournaments and we thank them for the preparation and use of their facilities and continual involvement and follow-up.

Very special thanks to the Northville High School pompon squad for participation in helping make the opening ceremonies the meaningful ceremonies that they were. The pompon squad and cheerleaders were a vital and meaningful part of the banquet.

We want to thank city and township officials once again for their continued involvement and support of the tournaments. Thank you to the First Presbyterian Church of Northville and our guest speakers at the banquet: Gordy Tyson, head basketball coach at Siena Heights College, and Jim Newman, principal of adult education at the Bentley Center in Livonia.

Once again, a deep gratitude and thank-you is expressed and extended to John and Toni Genitti for their direct involvement in the program, their continued support, and generous donations to the program.

Thank you to all the businesses and residents who have supported this program, Metro Detroit Shell Oil Dealers for the field decorations and bunting, Absopure for their donation of bottled water, and TRACC for their medical coverage.

Thanks again to the Little Caesars Amateur Baseball Federation for their financial support of these tournaments.

This was our eighth straight year of hosting the world series for the NABF. Each year's tournament gets better and better, and this year was no different. Rave reviews have been received from NABF officials, players, coaches, and fans. A very enjoyable experience for several hundred people and a positive growth experience for 220 young men.

There is one other group that I would like to recognize and congratulate for doing an outstanding job in their role and responsibilities: the umpires. This group is predominantly made up of young men from Northville who have played in the Northville Junior Baseball Program and have returned to be a part of the Northville Junior Baseball Umpire Association.

These young men are not only the cream of the crop of this area, but also of Southeastern Michigan. An outstanding group of young men: Steve Frelick, Paul Bates, Conrad Newman, Willie Newman, Joe Saunders, and Mike Utes. I would also like to recognize three other members of this group who were unable to complete this year due to work commitments: Todd and Jay Bartling and Mickey Newman.

Congratulations, Northville, for a job well-done and appreciated.

Tipping tips

To the Editor:

A few comments regarding the article "Skilled Waitstaff Gives Restaurants Competitive Edge" in which I was quoted. TIP is an acronym for "to insure proper service" and is a reward for such.

The article mentioned above leads your readers to believe not tipping is acceptable. It is not. The closing lines lead others to believe that I am "fighting a good war by withholding tips from unworthy waiters and waitresses." Nothing could be further from the truth. Truly bad service that requires no tipping is very atypical. I leave tips of a minimum of 20 percent, often higher in appreciation of superb service.

The surveys I cited were a mixture of old and new. There is nothing new about people rating service high on their list of priorities when they go out to eat. Service has changed — much of the change due to "life in the fast lane." The changes are acceptable if the waitperson is professional and has a good attitude. Smart waitpeople know they will make more money with the aforementioned traits.

The "Front-of-the-House" class taught at Schoolcraft has been ongoing for years. Each year has seen changes, some dramatic, some subtle.

Also, it must be emphasized that a waitperson is not a slave. Bad treatment cannot be made up for with a good tip. If there is a problem with service, or anything else for that matter, let the management know rather than leaving angry. Ultimately it is the manager or owner's duty to instill values in the waitstaff through proper training and positive feedback.

Commission weighs Master Plan

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The planning commission toiled valiantly to review the entire preliminary draft of the city's new Master Plan last week, but fell just short of the mark.

"We have got to get through this thing tonight," Chairman John Hardin told his fellow commissioners at the start of last Tuesday's special commission meeting. More than two hours later, spurred on by Hardin's cries of "next page, please," the commissioners had read through most of the 85-page document.

But the review bogged down in lengthy debates over whether to include a preservation plan for the deserted Northville Valve Plant and a controversial loop road proposal in the document, and criticism of the pro-development tone of much of the Master Plan itself.

Commissioner Kathleen Otton first suggested that the plan include a preservation plan for the plant. "I have concerns that nowhere in here do we mention the Ford plant," she said, holding up the draft. "I won't mention the 'L' word, but there are many uses to which that building could be put."

Ottom's unmentioned reference was to the recommendation by a joint 1989 city / township study that the plant be used for a community library and either another public use or retail commercial space.

Ottom said the property could also be used for park lands, a senior center, youth center and other projects. "It's such a key position on the entrance way to the city. . . . I think it's a critical piece of land," she said.

She said the Master Plan should encourage the city's acquisition of the property.

But Hardin pressed for preservation of the building's historical character and current land use as a park during commercial redevelopment rather than for preservation of the building itself for public use.

City Council Member Jerry Mittman also spoke against encouraging the city to acquire the property, saying, "you can't control everything in the city by buying it."

The majority of the commissioners, though, favored city acquisition of the property, or at least acquisition of control over the property. "I don't think any of us want this to turn into another Ford Auditorium, where a jewel of the city slips into the hands of a commercial developer," said Commissioner Richard Wilhelm.

The commission directed Planning

Consultant Don Wortman to include such a recommendation in the plan.

The commission also directed Wortman to remove a map entitled "Areas in Transition and Pressures for Change," because of the negative connotations of the word "transition." Commissioners agreed that the map could give developers unwarranted expectations that the city planners approved of the transitions reflected in the map.

"It gives developers fodder to say, 'I want to put a McDonald's up in the middle of your area of transition,'" said David Totten. Fellow Commissioner Roland Stapleton agreed, saying, "I see the Master Plan as an affirmative document of where we want the city to go, not where it came from."

But Stapleton had a more serious complaint with the Master Plan, suggesting that much of the language encourages maximum residential development of the city's properties. He pointed to lines like "Residential infill proposals shall be encouraged . . ." as proof. He asked, "Is it the policy of this planning commission to encourage, discourage or remain oblivious to infill?" and suggested the commission should discourage it.

The commissioners agreed that the word "encouraged" should be changed to "allowed" in such cases, and that the pro-development tone of the plan be toned down.

But most of the commissioners disagreed with Stapleton's suggestion that the city's optimum population be set at between 6,200-6,600 people. Stapleton argued that the commission should take steps to discourage the city's population from growing much larger. Preliminary 1990 census figures placed Northville's population at 6,197.

Instead, the commissioners agreed to an optimum population range of 6,500-7,000.

The commissioners also agreed to include a controversial "loop road" concept in the Master Plan, though not as it had originally been discussed by the Downtown Development Authority earlier this year. "If you want my opinion, the loop road concept as a name is dangerous," Hardin said.

Hardin suggested defining the loop road for the Master Plan as "improvement of traffic circulation on the south side of the city," rather than as a formal loop around the entire central business district.

"Do we want to call it the Loop Road?" asked Wortman. "No," several commissioners replied at once. "That's another 'L' word," Otton said.

Local firm keeps things moving

By Phyllis Stillman

From automobiles to food distributors, Jervis B. Webb Co. has 50 years of experience in designing and manufacturing material handling systems.

Less than a year ago, it opened a new production facility on a 98-acre parcel at 55500 Grand River Ave., Lyon Township.

A system can be as simple as a belt conveyor, or as complex as a computerized system which automatically routes different parts to dif-

"Members of the family, even though they all now hold executive positions, all started working here in the shops. They got a taste of what it's like to go out there and sweep the floors and build a conveyor component and get oily and dirty."

Alfred Shaw,
Plant Manager

rent areas at different times. It could be a system programmed to retrieve from storage one-half a pallet of this and one half a pallet of that in any combination.

Jervis Benet Webb founded the company in 1919, supplying a conveyor system to Henry Ford for his assembly line. "He (Webb) sold a small system to Henry Ford and, as the story goes, Ford liked it so much that he ordered 30 miles of it."

"That basically started the company. And it has grown over the years bigger and bigger. As the automotive industry grew, so did the Webb Co.," explained Eric Kosmider, director of public relations.

For a while, the Webb Co. was tied almost exclusively to the auto industry. But as the company grew, it acquired other companies — companies which did not necessarily make conveyors, but were involved in other types of material handling systems.

Because of these acquisitions and the expanded services they could offer, Webb can now supply any type of company that needs a material handling system.

Kosmider describes their customers as ranging "from gold to garbage," referring to a system they created to sift gold dust out of dirt, and another system which sorts garbage into what can and cannot be recycled. Other customers include newspapers, airlines and food distributors.

"Over the years, they've acquired companies and grown with the strategy in mind that they would be a total material handling system supplier. We're at the point today where we furnish practically everything but forklifts," said Kosmider.

"Historically, we've been a very strong engineering company — innovative. We can engineer and fabricate within the company. Each job is pretty much custom — an individual solution," explained Kosmider.

What is a material handling system? When a customer picks up merchandise at a discount warehouse the conveyor belt on which it comes is a material handling system.

When one sees an assembly line with parts of an automobile moving from one worker to another along an overhead chain, that also is a material handling system.

Many of Webb's competitors sell stock items, and are not able to design each system individually.

"Many of our competitors buy products from us. We do have certain monopolies like our trolleys and the Webb conveyor chain," added Shaw.

The plant on Grand River is a new facility which replaces outdated plants in Wayne and Detroit. It is somewhat unique in that it utilizes Webb material handling systems to produce Webb systems. It is, thus, a working model of what Webb systems can do, and prospective customers often visit the plant to observe the systems in operation.

Unlike many competitors, Jervis B. Webb Co. is not publicly owned. Sons of the founder serve as chairman of the board (Jervis C. Webb) and president (George H. Webb).

"It's still a family-run and owned company after 70 years. Being family run, we don't have to report to a board of directors, so turn around time can be quicker on jobs," explained Kosmider.

Lyon Township Plant Manager Alfred Shaw agrees. "You don't get caught in all the bureaucracy of meeting with shareholders and the board of directors. They can make a decision and turn around in a matter of days, where it would take months and months of bureaucratic red tape. And that has really helped the company," said Shaw.

Shaw believes there are other advantages which stem from the family atmosphere of the business, including the way they treat the people who work for them. "What you find in this

Alfred Shaw, plant manager in Lyon Township, is seated on an automatic guided vehicle that is manufactured at the plant.

Webb Co. works as a family-run business

company is that the majority of your managers are all raised in-house," Shaw said.

That was certainly true for Shaw. "I came here right out of high school. I started as a laborer and worked my way up the ladder. I left for a few years to go into the Air Force and came back, finished school and finished my master's program, and just kept going through the ranks."

Webb family members are not adverse to hard work, which also impresses their employees. "Members of the family, even though they all now hold executive positions, all started working here in the shops."

"They got a taste of what it's like to go out there and sweep the floors and build a conveyor component and get oily and dirty. What better way to get an idea of what it takes, an appreciation for what the work really entails, what labor is all about, than to sit out there and do it yourself for a couple of years," explained Shaw.

The Lyon Township facility currently employs around 80 people, with a capacity for approximately 160. Most of the current staff transferred from the facilities in Wayne and Detroit as they closed.

"In time, we will support the future needs of the community in terms of employment and things of that nature," said Shaw, "hiring local people as positions open and as the company expands."

Jervis B. Webb Co. World Headquarters is located in Farmington Hills, where 400 to 500 people are employed.

The Webb Co. is very happy with its new home in Lyon Township. "They (township officials) have bent over backwards to support our cause," explained Shaw.

And there are other benefits. "Coming from Detroit and coming out here is a day and night change. All the problems we had in Detroit, it was like a war zone. Out here it's like we're in the peaceful country again," added Shaw.

Business Briefs

JAMES STEIDELE has been appointed sales engineer with Salem Industries, Inc., announced Michael Thomason, president of the South Lyon company which designs and manufactures regenerative environmental control equipment.

Steidele will be increasing Salem's presence in the printing and converting industries where he has a wealth of experience. He had been air pollution control manager with Thermo Electron Company of Kaukauna, Wis. for two years and sales manager with the Eisenmann Corporation of Crystal Lake, Ill., for five years prior.

He also is a member of the Society of Manufacturing Engineers and holds a bachelor's degree in biology from the University of Illinois.

"The printing and converting industries are ideal candidates for our type of equipment that destroys 99 percent of the pollutants in exhaust fumes while providing up to 95 percent energy recovery, inexpensively and reliably," Steidele said.

IRV BERGER is the newest salesperson at Highland Dodge, which is located at 2565 Highland Rd. in Highland Township. A former real estate salesman and restaurant owner, Berger has lived in the area for 35 years.

Three executive appointments on the General Motors Customer Sales and Service Staff (CSS) were announced today by C.N. "Bud" Moore, vice president in charge of the staff.

ALBERT J. THOMAS becomes director of consumer relations and service. He has been director of administration and planning. Thomas was born in Morristown, N.J., on April 8, 1939, and graduated from John Carroll University in Cleveland with a liberal arts degree. Prior to college and afterwards, he worked in the service and sales departments of a Chevrolet dealership.

He joined the Chevrolet Motor Division sales organization in April, 1965, in Baltimore, Md. After several promotions in the Philadelphia zone, he was named manager of the GM Training Center in Pittsburgh from 1975-77. He then became Chevrolet assistant zone service manager in Indianapolis.

Thomas moved to GM Central office in 1979 as manager of service contracts and legislation. From 1985-87, he was assistant director sales and merchandising on the GM CSS Staff, which included sales and promotional responsibility for the GM Protection Plan.

When this activity was transferred to the Motors Insurance Corp. subsidiary of GMAC in 1987, he moved with it. He returned to the CSS Staff and his most recent position in June, 1989.

RICHMAN BROTHERS, a leading manufacturer and retailer of tailored clothing, expanded its merchandise to include a women's line at its Novi Town Center store on Aug. 1.

Richman Brothers now has women's departments in five stores in the Detroit market; others are located at Summit Place, Eastland Mall, Westland Mall and Livonia Mall. By this fall, Richman Brothers will offer the women's line in 99 of its 148 stores in the U.S.

The company hopes to reach professional women with its Bretton Place tailored clothing and a series of services including free expert alterations. The line is comprised of both classic and contemporary apparel in suits, blazers and skirts. All are fully lined and constructed in 100 percent worsted wool, wool-blend and rayons.

According to Clifford Hostein, Richman Brothers' vice president of women's clothing, "Today's professional women deserve the same type of service and quality associated with men's suits, such as free expert alterations, the highest quality fabric and tailored look. Service is absolutely essential."

Richman Brothers operates 148 specialty stores throughout the Midwest, South and West with manufacturing operations in Massachusetts, Kentucky and Georgia.

JOA is target of proposal

Future newspaper joint operating agreements would be outlawed — though the Detroit JOA would continue — under legislation proposed recently by U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth.

Pursell initially supported the JOA between the Detroit Free Press and Detroit News, though later opposed the arrangement as "a sweetheart relationship between the newspapers and the federal government."

Pursell's proposed legislation would repeal the Newspaper Preservation Act, the 20-year-old law that guided roughly 20 JOAs nationwide. The Detroit agreement is the largest authorized under the old law.

A spokesperson for the Congressman confirmed the new law wouldn't affect the Detroit newspaper agreement.

"In terms of Detroit, no, it will not affect the JOA," said Gary Cates, congressional aide to Pursell.

The Detroit agreement was eventually settled by the U.S. Supreme Court, after a court challenge brought by area newspaper publisher W. Edward Wendover, among others.

Wendover, publisher of the Plymouth-based Community Crier newspaper, was in Washington on JOA matters and unavailable for comment, according to a spokeswoman.

Pursell held a news conference to outline the bill. Though co sponsors will be sought, it is uncertain whether other Michigan congressmen will sign on.

"Right now, I can say we haven't been approached," said Cynthia Mann, a spokeswoman for U.S. Rep. Sander Levin, D-Southfield.

Under the Newspaper Preservation Act, the federal government must approve JOAs, which let competing newspapers merge circulation, advertising, production and other business operations while maintaining separate news and editorial operations. Under the act, one of the newspapers must be defined as failing.

The 20-year-old law allowed about 20 previous JOAs to stand, and six have been granted since, the most recent one in York, Pa. The Detroit JOA took effect in November.

The Cochrane A glowing fireplace and a vaulted ceiling

By James McAlexander

Go ahead and think of food when entering the Cochrane.

After all, the kitchen is on the left and the dining room is on the right. But digest the rest of this home before filling up in the foyer—it's merely an appetizer.

Ideal for a retired couple or a family who likes to be together, Cochrane groups bedrooms at one end and formal rooms at the other.

Protruding outward from this family circle juts the hub of the family activity, the country kitchen, with eating bar and full pantry. Hot biscuits and fresh brewed coffee go down easily sitting in the breakfast nook, enveloped in sunshine from the front-yard window and the skylights.

A glowing fireplace and an elegant vaulted ceiling lure guests from the foyer into the formal area. After a sit-down dinner, leave wining and dining behind. Stand on the patio under the evening stars and take a deep breath.

Come bedtime, parents breathe easy, knowing the children's rooms are next to the master suite, just in case a nightmare awakens the little ones and soothing is in order.

Sequestered in their own bedroom, the heads of the house can unwind in their own way with a hot bath or a good book. A walk-in closet provides plenty of room for any fashion lover. And when that pricey fashion becomes just plain dirty laundry, it's a short trip to the full utility room, right off the garage.

This medium-size home is perfect for a city lot. Designed for living, the Cochrane truly makes the family the cornerstone of this design.

For a study plan of the Cochrane (209-20), send $5 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307 CN, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

A selection of finished porcelain heads and hands wait to be united with the rest of their bodies.

DOLLED UP

By Stephenie Koehn

Kate Denski, of Northville, used to hate dolls. Now she produces handmade porcelain dolls for a living.

With the occasional help of her husband, David, she molds the heads, bodies and limbs of the dolls. About two-thirds of the 30 different dolls in her repertoire are reproductions of antiques. Some of the models have cloth, rather than porcelain bodies, and Denski designs and makes those, as well as the clothing in which the finished dolls are dressed.

Denski, who has been sewing since she was six years old, began designing and sewing doll clothes about eight years ago when her husband's grandmother asked her to make a dress for a doll she owned. That project was such a success that soon she was getting orders from doll owners all over the Northville area. Before long, she was successfully exhibiting her wares at doll and craft shows.

The natural next step, as her interest in dolls grew, was learning to make minor repairs. She learned to replace eyes, "re-string" dolls with elastic (to hold the parts of the doll together and in position) and to repair and replace wigs.

A few years ago, Denski took a class in porcelain doll-making at Schoolcraft College, made her first doll, and was entranced by the process. She's been making them ever since, with production now at over 100 dolls per year.

Among the dolls Denski manufactures and offers for sale are a Shirley Temple reproduction, antique baby doll reproductions and a replica of the old "one-penny" dolls, which are porcelain dolls small enough to hold in the palm of the hand and which were popular in early American times.

Dolls, stamps and coins are the three most collected items in the world, according to Diane Roest of Diane's Dollhouse in South Lyon. The reasons for collecting are almost as varied as the dolls themselves:

- Parents buy them for their children;
- Adults collect them for their beauty, originality and age (one antique doll sold recently at a Sotheby's auction for $167,000);
- And with the current home decorating emphasis on anything "country," dolls have become hot items in that market, too.

Denski has decorated her 130-year-old restored post-and-beam home in the old Waterford section of Northville with dolls, including a number of her own productions. Two dolls keep an eye on Stitching up doll clothes is "child's play" for Denski, who has been sewing since she was age six.

activities in the living room from a shelf over the couch. Two more pose on the mantle of the fireplace. In the kitchen, a large baby doll sits in a high chair, permanently waiting for her dinner.

Denski said dolls are a natural for her home, not only because she makes and repairs them, but also because they were the primary toy for children during the period when her house was built.

The doll-making process takes time. First, the head and various body parts are formed by pouring a liquid clay called "slip" into a mold. After a few minutes, the extra slip is poured out of the mold, and the shell of the head, arm or leg remains. The molds are plaster of paris, which "sucks" moisture out of the shell.

Within a few minutes, the "greenware" shell is ready to be removed from the mold and placed in the dehumidified "drying room." When the greenware is dried, approximately two or more days later, the shell can be painted with glaze and fired in the kiln. In the case of a head, Denski said three separate painting and fire cycles are required.

Painting the eyelashes is the most painstaking procedure — it takes a very steady hand and an eye for very fine detail to paint them realistically.

Some of Denski's dolls are made with cloth bodies, which she also makes. Antique reproductions frequently call for cloth bodies, she said. For some, she uses a purchased pattern, but for many, she makes her own. Often, a customer will come in with an antique doll whose cloth body is in tatters. Denski will recreate that body for the doll.

When not making her own porcelain dolls, Denski still creates finely-detailed original clothing for customers' dolls. Some of those dolls are being readied for competition, and some of them are very valuable. Denski said that one beautiful antique doll she dressed was worth about $10,000. When that doll was brought into her house, she said, she hustled her three children, Alex, 8, Bevin, 6, and Emma, 5, out of the room until the dressing was completed.

She specializes in creating wedding dolls, and will do an entire wedding party in doll-sized facsimiles of the dresses the actual participants will be wearing at the wedding. Denski eventually hopes to open a studio where she can teach doll-making to others, as well as continue to produce her own special dolls.

(For information about porcelain dolls and doll-making, call Kate Denski at 349-0098.)

Home sales show healthy surge

By James M. Woodard

Things are looking up in the home sales market. We may not be moving into a "boom market," but indicators are showing positive signals.

"The recent pick-up in home sales is evidence we've turned the corner," said Richard Peach, deputy economist for Mortgage Bankers Association.

Analysts at the National Association of Realtors agree.

"It appears the market is springing back to a substantial level of sales," said John Tuccillo, NAR chief economist.

Until May, the home sales market was sliding downward every month since last December. In May, home sales finally showed a gain (2.3 percent) over the previous month. In June, sales rose by a substantial 8 percent. Increasing sales activity continues, though official data is not yet available.

The primary reason for the healthy surge in home sales is tied to mortgage interest rates. As rates slowly decline in May and June, home sales increased.

"The lower interest rates served as a catalyst to start bringing prospective home buyers back to the market," said Norman Flynn, NAR president.

"People have been watching to see which way rates are headed. Now they're scouting the inventory. In general, it appears the market is building up steam."

That's the good news. The bad news is that home prices are still rising—slowly but steadily—in many areas, making it even more difficult for first-time buyers to acquire a home.

William Appar of Harvard University is very pessimistic about prospects for low-income families during the coming decade.

"Continued high home prices and rents imply that housing affordability problems of first-time buyers and low-income renters will not fade away in the 1990s," he said.

At this writing, mortgage interest rates are generally expected to continue declining in the months ahead. But that could change with new economic developments sparked by the volatile situation in the Middle East.

Q. Does the law require that foreclosed properties—those financed with federally insured funds—be appraised by a licensed or certified appraiser?

A. In a recent action by the Federal Reserve Board, it was mandated that such homes over $100,000 in estimated value be appraised by a licensed or certified appraiser. This also applies to commercial properties over $250,000.

For residential properties under those values, the appraiser is not required to be licensed or certified at this point. For commercial properties under $250,000, the appraiser must be licensed but not necessarily certified.

However, two major appraiser groups are fighting this new ruling. The Society of Real Estate Appraisers and American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers have filed a petition with the federal Reserve to reopen and amend its ruling.

The Fed's ruling represents a repudiation of congressional intent and greatly weakens appraisal reform which Congress and the appraisal industry sought to protect the users of appraisal services," said Rich LeGrand, SREA president.

On Jan. 1, these two established appraiser groups will officially merge and become the Appraisal Institute.

Q. Where is the hottest real estate market at this time?

A. Washington state and Pacific Northwest are probably the most active areas in sales and new construction.

In Washington, the number of building permits will increase by an estimated 15 percent this year. In Oregon, permits will increase an estimated 17.8 percent, according to a U.S. Housing Markets report.

An estimated 31,100 permits are expected to be issued this year in the Seattle area alone—a 12.3 percent increase over last year.

Inquiries are invited and may be answered in this column. Write James M. Woodard, Copley News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, CA 92112-0190.

Dealer price for this toilet set would be $325 to $350.

Investment was wise Money not down the drain

By James G. McCollam

Q. Here is a picture of my six-piece toilet set. It is marked "Stone China—Stoke-on-Trent—England." What is the value? I would appreciate anything you can tell me.

A. This very attractive set was made about 1900. It could have been made by any one of a dozen manufacturers in England.

A dealer would price this for about $325 to $350.

Q. This mark is on the bottom of a porcelain teapot. It holds about 1 quart and is decorated with a floral design with gold trim.

Can you tell me who made it, when and what it would sell for today?

A. This mark was used by the G.C. Greiner Co. in Tettau, Germany, about 1890.

Your teapot probably would sell for about $65 to $75.

Q. I have a plate with an Oriental design showing a bridge, a pagoda, trees and several people in blue on a white background. The back is marked "Ridgways Semi-porcelain, England."

Can you tell me when it was made and if it is valuable?

A. This is the famous Blue Willow pattern that was made by more than a dozen companies. Yours was made by Ridgways Ltd. in Hanley, England, during the early 1900s.

It probably would sell for about $20 to $25.

Q. I have a beautiful portrait plate of a girl with lilacs in her dark hair. It is 10 inches in diameter and marked "Pickard" and "Limoges."

Can you tell me when it was made and its current market value?

A. This plate was made in Limoges, France, and decorated by Pickard China in Antioch, Ill., about 1900.

It probably would sell for about $165 to $185.

Q. Please give me some information about the origin and value of my vase.

It is 8 inches tall and has two handles. There is a band of basketweave pierced work near the top. The lower part has a man and a woman in a country scene.

On the bottom it is marked "M.R.—Limoges."

A. Your vase was made by the Mar-tual Redon company in Limoges, France, about 1890. It probably would sell for about $125 to $135.

Q. What would you call a silver-plated frame holding two red glass jars with silver-plated covers?

There is a pair of tongs hanging on the side of the handle.

I would also like to know when this was made and what it would sell for.

A. Your description suggests that you have a cranberry glass pickle castor made about 1900.

In very good condition, it would sell for about $365 to $385.

Send your questions about antiques with picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1 per item to James G. McCollam, P.O. Box 1037, Notre Dame, IN 46556. All questions will be answered, but published pictures cannot be returned.

not so LONG AGO & FAR AWAY

Story by Leslie Pereira      Photography by Bryan Mitchell

Top, the groom, Ted Wagner (L), defends his virtue by "fighting" a guest when he objects to the wedding. Middle, during the ceremony at Maybury State Park Wagner gazes at his bride, Kelly Wiggins. Bottom, the "druid," Glen Novak, walks past Leon Wiggins (L), the bride's father, to perform the ceremony.

It was every girl's nightmare. Or perhaps secret fantasy. As bride Kelly Wiggins and groom Ted Wagner stood at the altar listening to the words that would soon unite them, a contender for her hand in marriage boldly stepped forward. The challenge was issued — a duel to the death. Or until one conceded defeat. Luckily, Ted had his sword. Blades clashed and breathing was heavy as the dueling duo danced around the log-lined ring. Ted was victorious and the loser met with the latter fate as the duel was planned and the duelists were friends. "We both like medieval history," said Wagner, explaining the couple's decision to be married in a scene straight out of the Middle Ages. Together, Wagner and Wiggins had been planning their Aug. 18 wedding, at least partially, for the past two years. As he paced the woodsy area in his oversized vest and leather knee boots, Wagner pointed out the assortment of goblets the couple spent many weekends searching out at garage sales and collecting for their guests to drink from on this special day. It was the inclusion of small details like the goblets that made the unconventional wedding seem as if it really did take place long ago and far away. Nearly 100 guests made their way out to Northville's Maybury State Park, transformed into an ephemeral Enchanted Forest for a day of good food and celebration. Guests — some costumed, some not — were shuttled down a dirt road by drivers clad in colorful tights to a narrow, woodsy path where they embarked on the medieval adventure.

Volunteers

Volunteer Jeanne Ambler

Helping find a cure

By LESLIE PEREIRA
Special Writer

For three busy weeks each year Jeanne Ambler volunteers her time and energy to "help beat the big C," as she likes to put it. Ambler is chairperson for the American Cancer Society's door-to-door drive in Northville Township, and has been for the past eight years. "I think it hits everyone at some time or another," says Ambler who has had several family members stricken with cancer. "It is something I hope will be cured someday." But until it is Ambler helps organize the crew of about 110 crusaders that take to the streets each year to collect the much-needed funds to fight the battle against cancer. Through Ambler, an elaborate structure of volunteers is able to focus their energies effectively to cover the entire Northville area by either going door to door for donations or making requests through the mail. Ambler's Northville Township home serves as the initial drop-off point for informational packets and organizing materials distributed before the drive, and also as the final weigh station for counting donations after the drive. Ambler relies heavily on three district chairpersons, Connie Eis, Carol McCreadie and Phyllis Nulty, to serve as a bridge between her and the actual collectors on the street. "I enjoy working with the ladies," says Ambler who has volunteered for the Cancer Society in some capacity for over 40 years. The group's collection drive is held in May of each year, and their 1990 efforts netted the American Cancer Society more than $6,100. "I feel the money is going to the right places," Ambler says. The bulk of the proceeds flow into cancer research funds, and the rest of the collections are divided between patient and community services and public and professional education. "When you get up a little older in age, you run into it (cancer) so much," says Ambler. "Hopefully, we can beat this big C."

Town Hall series to offer top-rated speakers

The Northville Town Hall Series will be starting back up again with some exciting speakers for the 1990-91 season. The first speaker, actress Eileen Fulton, will be on Oct. 11. She will be followed by: Col. Charles Scott, a former hostage in Iran, on Nov. 8; on March 21, former Miss America Kaye Lani Rae Rafko (this has been changed from the original date of March 14); and on April 11, veteran NBC newsmen Jack Reynolds will speak.

A season ticket to hear all four speakers is $30. Checks should be made payable to Northville Town Hall and sent to Ticket Chairman Mrs. Bonnie Dewan, Northville Town Hall, P.O. Box 93, Northville 48167. Please mark the outside of the envelopes with ticket orders "Attention Ticket Chairman."

A ticket for the four luncheons, one served after each speaker is $44. Please make the check payable to Northville Town Hall and send to Virginia Kaiser, Northville Town Hall, P.O. Box 93, Northville 48167. Please mark the outside of the envelope with orders for luncheon and speaker tickets "Attention Ticket and Luncheon Chairman."

Also, anyone ordering tickets for the speaker series as well as the luncheons is asked to enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope for the ticket chairpersons to return your tickets in. The committee is non-profit and has been spending too much money on return postage for those forgetting to do so.

Art Lecture Series

The Northville Arts Commission is proud to sponsor the 1990-91 Northville Art Lecture Series featuring Michael Farrell. Farrell is an associate professor of art history at the University of Windsor, an adjunct curator for the Detroit Institute of Arts, and an instructor at the Art House of Detroit. The six slide-illustrated lectures this season will include a study of the history of landscape, portraiture and still life in Western painting from ancient times to the present, and a study of painting in America from Colonial origins to the end of the 19th century.

- The series will include:
- Landscape in Western Painting, Sept. 20;
  - Portraiture in Western Painting, Oct. 18;
  - Still Life in Western Painting, Nov. 15;
  - Painting in America: Colonial Time to the Jacksonian Era, Feb. 14, 1991;
  - Painting in America: Jacksonian Era to the Civil War, Mar. 21, 1991;
  - Painting in America: Civil War to the Nineteenth Century, Apr. 18, 1991.

Information flyers along with a mail-in coupon can be obtained at the following local Northville merchants: Atrium Gallery, Bookstall-on-the-Main, Edward's, Freydl's, Four Seasons, Giordano Gallery, Morrison's, Painter's Place, Pictures Plus Gallery, Sherwood Picture Framing, and Traditions.

The cost for season tickets is $30 for the series of six lectures and must be purchased prior to the first lecture on Sept. 20. All lectures will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Northville High School Forum on the corner of Eight Mile and Center Street.

Author dinner

Friends of the Northville Library Annual Benefit Dinner will be hosted by John and Toni Genitti on Monday, Sept. 24, at 7 p.m. This year's speaker will be mystery writer William Kienzle, author of "The Rosemary Murders" and most recently "Masquerade." Tickets are $20 and are on sale to members until Sept. 10, at which time they will be available to the public.

This event won a national award for the local Friends chapter as the best "perk for members." The dinner has been a sellout for the Friends each year since its first effort seven years ago.

This entertaining event, including a wonderful seven-course dinner, is the main fundraiser for the Friends organization, and is very important to the group now that they are no longer able to hold the used book sales. For further information, call Geraldine Mills at 349-1648.

Quirk chooses Israel for his studies

By LESLIE PEREIRA
Staff Writer

Jonathan Quirk has always done what he wanted, even if it has meant going against the grain.

And never have the stakes seemed so high.

As most Americans in the Middle East are trying to get out now, Quirk is about to hop a plane to Israel to study first-hand the Arab-Israeli conflict as part of his college's "most challenging" study abroad program.

"I am a little anxious because of what is happening over there now," said Quirk, referring to the recent U.S. military build-up in Saudi Arabia. One student registered for the program, recently dropped out when the Middle East crisis began to heat up in early August.

However, Quirk intends to go ahead with his plans based on his belief that Israel will not get involved in the current conflict which began when Iraq invaded Kuwait about four weeks ago.

"If any sort of tension erupts, we would be out of there," said Quirk, who is 20.

Organizers for the Great Lakes Jerusalem Program, which will place 29 college students in and around Jerusalem, have already looked into an alternative site in London if Israel gets dragged into the current Middle East crisis.

The three-month program will rotate the students between a kibbutz, or Jewish settlement in Israel, and a Palestinian camp in the Israeli-occupied West Bank to give them a perspective on both sides of the conflict.

"I don't think that most people in this country understand what the Palestinian claim to the land is," said Quirk.

Both the Palestinians and the Israelis have historical claims to the land that now makes up Israel, and several other areas controlled by the country since 1967 as a result of a war between Israel and several Arab countries.

"It is a cultural awareness on one level but it is also more than that," said Quirk as he described the political problems he will be exposed to.

Jonathan Quirk chose Israel for his studies

Quirk believes the program he is taking part in may spend more time exploring the Palestinian perspective but that doesn't bother him and he is firm about maintaining his objectivity.

"The information we receive in the U.S. is limited," Quirk said referring to the Palestinian people.

A junior at Hope College studying political science, Quirk became interested in the Arab-Israeli conflict after taking a course on Modern Jerusalem.

"It has been going on for so many years and no one has found a solution," Quirk said about his interest in the conflict.

Preparing for his trip to Israel, Quirk was not required to learn any Hebrew or Arabic, the major languages spoken in Jerusalem, but had quite a summer reading list.

"Sixteen books," said Quirk of the list assigned to the travelers. "Just about everything you ever wanted to know."

Wedding is a medieval dream

A swashbuckling guard wrapped in a dark cape stopped guests on a foot bridge to check their names against those on his antique scroll.

A pair of strolling minstrels promising to sing a song in any one of eight different languages also sprung up on the sun-speckled path.

And at the end of the trail, jugglers, a dulcimer player, a monk, and a Robin Hood look-alike all entertained guests on this merry medieval occasion.

Even the bride's parents, Patricia and Leon Wiggins of Northville, dressed for the occasion. Patricia dressed "down" as a medieval peasant with a pale blue, gauze dress and a ring of dried flowers in her hair, while Leon became a nobleman for the day in a brown velvet costume edged with gold trim.

"At first I had a little trepidation (about the wedding) because I had never worn tights in my life," said Leon Wiggins, "but then I thought, well, whatever they want."

Leon Wiggins said the couple's idea for a medieval-type wedding slowly evolved from a vague idea to the elaborate and memorable production it became.

A medieval menu with huge roasted turkey legs, scotch eggs, large rounds of cheese and loaves of unsliced bread, were supplemented with a plentiful supply of whole fresh fruit created for the special occasion.

The couple even disdained the traditional wedding cake in favor of tarts and pastries as a medieval alternative.

And for the couple's honeymoon? You guessed it — the Shakespearean Festival in Stratford, Canada.

Although citizens Kelly Wiggins and Ted Wagner were married in the eyes of the law at Plymouth City Hall that morning, the medieval ceremony joining Lady Kelly and Lord Ted was no less than the real thing in the eyes of anyone who saw it.

Higgins earns doctoral degree

Lora Higgins, daughter of John and Kathleen Higgins of Whitestone, Conn., received her medical doctorate from the University of Texas Health Science Center at Houston. Dr. Higgins is a 1981 graduate of Northville High School where she was a valedictorian and editor of the yearbook. Lora attended the University of Dallas where she graduated cum laude with a bachelor's degree in Biology in 1985. Higgins will do a three-year pediatric residency in an integrated program at USAF Medical Center at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base and Wright State University, Dayton, Ohio.

David Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Lawrence, received a bachelor's degree in political science with a history minor. He served as treasurer of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity; treasurer of Omicron Delta Kappa, a national honor society which selects junior and senior men who have demonstrated a high level of scholarship and leadership; president and vice president of Inter-Fraternity Council; and was a member of the Pre-Law Club.

Scouts to show American flag

To show their support for their country, several Northville Boy Scouts will be marching in the Victorian Festival parade carrying the American flag. Parade participants are asked to wear costumes and organizers involved with the scouts are hoping to see the scouts in authentic scout uniforms. They are asking that anyone with an old-fashioned scout uniform, perhaps one with knickers, consider donating or loaning it to the scouts to wear in this year's parade as well as future parades. Anyone interested should call the Stockhausens at 349-2833.

The Northville Record

By Julie Candler
and Allan Hayes

Nearly everything is more fun on a boat. That includes seeing the fall colors.

Nature's autumn palette of crimsons, oranges, greens and golds looks fine when viewed from a concrete highway. From a boat, the colors are even more spectacular because they're bordered by iridescent, reflecting waters. So here's our report of some Michigan waters on which you can immerse yourself in color to right or left, from the familiar comfort of your own craft.

AU SABLE RIVER: We start our tour of the mighty AuSable at the hospitable little town of Oscoda, where the river empties into Lake Huron. From here small motor boats can go up the river nearly all the way to the first of six Consumer Power Company dams.

Along the way we meet Bob and Sue Schmidt of AuSable. "In mid-September," Bob tells us, "you'll see a lot of boats along here, especially near Foote dam. The chinook salmon will be coming up the river to spawn."

Because of the dams that supply electric power to nearby communities, you can't navigate the river in one pass. And in some of its sections the water averages from one-and-a-half to three feet deep, so motorboaters have to watch for deadheads and other submerged hazards.

These waters are ideal for canoeers, who can portage around the dams. Every July, two-person teams compete in the annual AuSable River Canoe Marathon. They start at the river's beginnings near Grayling and paddle at 60 to 90 strokes per minute for 14-15 hours or more. They cover a distance of about 70 miles as the crow flies.

This river does not run as the crow flies, however. It meanders entrancingly through a forested wilderness for 240 miles. It passes through the sand-hills of the Huron National Forest, which extends over 425,000 acres.

We visit the flooded pond above Foote dam, the first and the lowest of them. We find a lake-like area with developed campgrounds, picnic areas, beaches and launching ramps, much like the ponds above the other dams on the river.

But in many parts of the AuSable we feel we are hundreds of miles from civilization. The wildlife thinks so, too. Bill Csapo, a National Forest Guide, tells us with pride that there are 14 pairs of bald eagles now nesting between Grayling and Oscoda, all having chicks every year.

Bill works at the visitor's center at the Lumbermen's Monument, which is 260 steps above the river about 14 miles west of Oscoda. Looking down through the trees, we have an eagle's eye view of a fishing boat. It seems like a waterbug cutting a tiny silver wake from behind Horseshoe Island. We have a delicious and inexpen-

Picturesque cottages and boathouses add interest to a fall color tour among the islands of Les Cheneaux

FALL COLORS FROM A BOAT

From a boat, the colors are even more spectacular sive lunch at the attractive Lakewood Shores Golf Club near Oscoda. Their newly completed condominiums are for rent in a special fall color package at $30 per person for one midweek night, including unlimited golf on its 18-hole course. (1-800-882-2493)

The peak color time in this area is from mid-September to mid-October. As for overnight lodgings, this part of the state boasts that prices are more moderate on its "Sunrise Side." We recommend the Holiday Inn at East Tawas, 15 miles down the Lake Huron shore, with a Michigan harbor of refuge next door. (1-800-HOLIDAY)

For more lodging information, contact Oscoda-AuSable Chamber of Commerce (1-517-739-7322) or the Tawas Area Chamber of Commerce (1-800-55TAWAS).

LES CHENEAUX: Les Cheneaux means "the channels" and is pronounced "lay shenno." It is often called "the Snows" by the locals at the nearby villages of Hessel and Cedarville.

It's an archipelago of 36 wooded islands and peninsulas along the south shore of Michigan's Upper Peninsula. Some 20 miles northeast of Mackinac Island, it's a well-sheltered part of Lake Huron with the good winds, flat waters and interesting places to explore so loved by sailors. There is a harbor of refuge at Hessel.

There were no roads in the area until the late 1800s, so early settlers communicated only by boat. Hotels sprang up on the islands and the mainland.

Vacationers began arriving by the thousands. "They came for the hotels, by steamer," attendant Alvina Firack tells us as we study memorabilia in the historical museum in Cedarville. "The hotels are gone now. The last one was torn down about 1972. They weren't safe and people came up and built their own places."

From the water, we see the picturesque cottages and boathouses people built on the mainland and the islands. The buildings add their unique charm to the blazing cedar, tamarack and yellow birch trees along the shorelines. Some of the cottages are still occupied by fourth generation family members.

We take a short cruise among the islands aboard the Chippewa. The motor ship is owned by the same Arnold Line whose steamers brought vacationers to the area in the late 1800s.

Chippewa's skipper is the handsome Jimmy Brown, grandson of the late U.S. Senator Prentiss Brown who obtained the authorization to build the Mackinac Bridge. As we pull away from Hessel, our guide points out the Senator's boathouse, near the cottage where Captain Brown spent much of his childhood. The area reminds us of the Thousand Islands. Every twist in this maze of channels brings another island or passage into view. Some of the uninhabited coves and islands are rich with animal life.

Fall colors should peak here from mid-September to early October. You can get information about accommodations by calling the Les Cheneaux Chamber of Commerce (906-484-3935). St Ignace is 35 minutes away, and its Chamber of Commerce is at 906-643-8717.

LAKE LEELANAU: We once spent a fine vacation on Lake Leelanau. We agree with the Indians, who named the Leelanau Peninsula "The Land of Delight."

We recommend it for fall colors because it's more like a river than a lake, with nearby wooded shores on both sides. It lies like a long, narrow cat-scratch along the little finger of the Michigan mitten. It is really two lakes, pinched in the middle like Mae West, at the little town of Lake Leelanau. The lower lake is bordered by a long range of sandy hills on its eastern side and there are six public launching sites.

The strong winds off Lake Michigan once submarined both hulls of Allan's 20-foot catamaran into Lake Leelanau. He was able to resurface it without a capsizing, leaving a trail of boat cushions, sweaters and other flotsam. Jetsam floated out too, notably one shoe in which a passenger had placed his glasses for safekeeping. Neither shoe nor glasses were ever recovered. A few days later we ceremoniously deep-sixed the other shoe, while everyone sat at attention in the boat and we all hummed "Taps."

Leelanau County is wine country. You can see one of the vineyards, the Boskydel, from the lake. The gracious owners are open year around, seven days a week. They invite visitors to drop in between 1 p.m. and 6 p.m. any day except for major holidays (616 256-7272).

Fall colors here should peak from late September to mid-October. For places to eat and sleep, Leelanau County is dotted with wonderful restaurants and resorts. Sugar Loaf Resort in Cedar is 10 minutes from Lake Leelanau and has tennis and an excellent golf course. (616 228-5461). The Homestead in Glen Arbor offers fine food and tennis courts. (616 334-5000). Both resorts are open until Oct. 22.

LAKE MACATAWA: Allan keeps his mono-hull sailboat docked at Holland on Lake Macatawa, which is connected to Lake Michigan by a short channel. The old lighthouse marking Macatawa's entrance is one of Michigan's most famous landmarks, and adds a bright red accent to the colors of autumn. It lies directly across the channel from Holland State Park.

During the summer we see hundreds of boats passing through this channel, but by fall the crowd has thinned.

Macatawa is another long, narrow, well-wooded lake running from east to west, with inviting coves and intriguing headlands.

We enjoy sleeping aboard the boat on mild fall nights. The water is usually flat and the traffic quiet except for an occasional boat passing us on the way in from Lake Michigan. We hear the breeze in the rigging and feel a gentle rocking, and tend to sleep like we've been sandbagged.

We dock sometimes at Eldean's marina to enjoy the marvelous food at the Sandpiper, an attractive restaurant overlooking the lake. (616 335-5866).

Holland is well-equipped for visitors because of the crowds it welcomes at tulip time. Fall colors are most striking from mid to late October. For information about overnight and other accommodations, call the Holland Area Chamber of Commerce at (616) 392-2389.

Back to the first Montreux Jazz Fest

By Doris Scharfenberg

It was July in Montreux on Lake Geneva, the French speaking "Riviera" of Switzerland, and the air rilled and scattered with sounds from the Jazz Festival.

The moment had the makings of a homecoming.

One fellow standing on a corner communing intently with his sax wore an Ann Arbor T-shirt. In a crowded auditorium I heard midwestern accents among the French voices and asked "Where from?" The answer? "Grand Rapids."

On the same evening I recognized a man striding toward a waiting car as Detroit Renaissance president Bob McCabe, the affable spark plug behind such Michigan parties as the Grand Prix races. It was no surprise to find him here. The 24-year-old Jazz Festival of Montreux, Switzerland sparked the Detroit version when McCabe saw it as an event Motown's jazz talents were made for. With Detroit's Montreux Jazz Festival in my memory bank, I was elated to be in Montreux, the name and idea source.

However, instead of freighters on the river providing a backdrop, the Swiss see sailboats and little ferries outlined against the mountains that rise from the opposite shore like giant mounds of blue velvet laundry. The setting sun, a golden bulb at one end of the lake, saturates evenings in a canary yellow glow.

Find a Maxfield Parrish painting of paradise and note the resemblance.

Not far from Geneva and Lausanne, Montreux and its neighbor Vevey sit on a steep coast banked with vineyards and rimmed with mountains. From vantage points on the beaches or as you climb the hills, the snowy Alpine skyline crowns the view.

Although these old communities trace their roots to other millenniums, conquerors and fire have played havoc with the antiquities; there are not many buildings more than two centuries old.

The lakeside Castle of Chillon, built 700 years ago and one of Switzerland's most visited sites, is a well-preserved exception. Chillon did triple duty as a fortress, home for the counts of Savoy, and hall of medieval injustice (including the cruel deaths of 350 witches). Victor Hugo, Rousseau, Dumas and others wrote about "le Chateau," but the most famous work is probably Byron's "Prisoner of Chillon."

After struggling for centuries with reformations, wars and politics, Montreux's star rose as great persons of art and music came to be inspired by its environs, while kings and the royally rich discovered the benefits of its spas. Wagner, Tolstoy, Courbet; the Empress of Austria, the Crown Prince of Sweden. They loll-ed in the baths, gambled and played one-upmanship in ever-grander hotels.

Early steamers, connecting towns along the lake in the 1830s, brought travelers who stayed in private homes. By 1912 Montreux had more than 80 hotels.

Higher altitudes lost their isolation with tramways and trains. Area chocolate, jewelry and wine businesses flourished. The arts had a heyday. (In Montreux Stravinsky wrote "Le Sacre du Printemps" and "Petrouchka").

Then one day in 1914 it was over: the city emptied in hours when World War I began. The years got tough. After the Depression and second war, down-but-not-out Montreux had to find new uses for closed hotels and new approaches to lure travelers.

That was when the Caux-Palace Hotel became headquarters for the Moral Re-armament Movement (another center for the group was on Mackinac Island), and the baton was raised for an extremely successful summer/fall classical music festival. And for over two decades, all that jazz.

Today the palace is back to being a hotel, the best of the old hostilities have been refurbished and new ones built. A small city that is fun to wander around in has a gleaming convention center, museums, great restaurants and bubbling night life.

Fans bid farewell to Williams

He has been called the Golden Gladiator, Lord of the Rings, Teutonic Tiger Trainer, Nureyev of Show Business and Caesar of the Circus.

To over 11 million Americans each year, he is Gunther Gebel-Williams — The Greatest Wild Animal Trainer of all time. And when the all-new 119th edition of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus opens at Joe Louis Arena, Tuesday October 2 through Sunday, October 7, it will be the last time local audiences can witness America's 20th century circus hero in regular performance.

Tickets for the historical Farewell Tour went on sale Sunday, Aug. 26, at the Joe Louis Box Office and all Ticketmaster outlets including Hudson's and Harmony House for $12.50, $10.50 and $8.50.

To honor the legendary Gunther Gebel-Williams, Producer Kenneth Feld has conceived and executed a grand circus spectacular featuring the finest acts from around the world. This last, best performance will showcase Gunther's unique training style and mastery over mighty Lipizzaner horses, exotic Bengal and Siberian tigers and mammoth elephants.

In this Farewell Tour, The Greatest Show on Earth pays special tribute to the man who has forever changed the concept of wild animal training and who — in the past 20 years — has played to more live audiences than any other performer living or dead.

"No giant of a legend such as Gunther Gebel-Williams can walk from the performance spotlight without the acclaim he has earned," says Producer Kenneth Feld.

Indeed, world-class talent and rare feats of courage abound in this spectacular three-ring salute to Gunther Gebel-Williams' legendary career. Life literally hangs in the balance when the Carrillo Brothers take to the high wire, nimbly jumping, skipping, and leaping across a slender steel cable high above the arena floor. And you'll want to hold onto your seat when the Royal Canadian Aerial Ski Squadron — those freestyle hotdogs — display their daredevilry while speeding down a stunning, four-story high slope.

The amazing Ayak Brothers defy death in a dynamic and dangerous aerial display. The Hernandez Troupe, The Kehakovi and The Tokaji delight audiences with their world-class teeterboard talents. And for the first time anywhere, female flyers perform simultaneous triple somersaults when The Flying Alejandros sail through the air on the flying trapeze.

There are endless surprises at The Greatest Show On Earth, from the championship hula-hooping of Marie Perry and Dessie Kehalova to the power-packed rollerskating of the Willers from England.

Capricious clowns, high-stepping dancers, and captivating, incandescent costumes are all part of this exclusive, farewell extravaganza.

Excitement is running high throughout the country, and Gunther Gebel-Williams' legions of fans are urged to make plans early for this Farewell Tour. Circus officials caution that arena seating is limited and unprecedented ticket demand is anticipated.

The circus schedule is: Tuesday, Oct. 2 through Thursday, Oct. 4 at 7:30 p.m.; Friday, Oct. 5 at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.; Saturday, Oct. 6 at noon, 4 p.m. and 8 p.m.; Sunday, Oct. 7 at 1 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. Tickets for all performances range from $8.50 to $12.50.

Tollgate Farm offers fun fall picnic

On Sept. 15, Tollgate Farm in Novi will be holding its Family Fun Country Picnic. Intended as a fundraiser and a fall kick-off for the facility, there will be high-tech video demonstrations, a scavenger hunt and other fun for kids. The event will be attended by Gov. James Blanchard and his wife Janet, and John Kelly and Marilyn Turner of Kelly and Company.

The Northville Record

Northville dominates South Lyon, 20-6

Huzjak accounts for 257 yards, three TDs

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

For only the second time in the last half-decade, the Northville football program can boast a season-opening victory.

The Mustangs totally dominated a proud and respected South Lyon squad last Friday (Aug. 31) 20-6 in the 1990 season opener. The locals built a 391-147-yard advantage in total offense against the Lions, much to the delight of the partisan crowd.

It was an important moment for a program that hasn't had a winning season since 1985.

"We were really pointing towards this game," Northville Coach Darrel Schumacher said. "South Lyon is no slouch program, but they are young and they have had millage problems — so maybe they were ripe for the taking."

As impressive as the performance was, the Mustangs still suffered from some all too familiar problems — like penalties and blown scoring opportunities — but those troubles are easier to handle and correct following a key victory.

"We had 15 penalties for 107 yards, so it hurt us much more than it should have," Schumacher admitted. "They were mostly mental mistakes, but it's not as painful as it would have been after a loss. Nevertheless, we can't accept it."

Causing most of the damage offensively was junior quarterback Ryan Huzjak and senior tailback Bill Kelley. Huzjak — who started eight games as a sophomore last season — accounted for more than 200 yards in offense, including 162 yards rushing in 18 carries. He also scored a pair of touchdowns and passed for a third.

"Ryan had just a great night," Schumacher said. "He's an excellent runner as well as a passer and that's why we will continue to run the option this season."

Kelley had an impressive all-around game with 95 rushing yards on 10 carries, two catches for 33 yards, two fumble recoveries and an interception.

"We knew what we could do heading into the game, and we did it," Kelley said. "We have nine starters back on offense and we really seemed to jell. We moved the ball whenever we wanted."

The Mustangs scored on their first possession of each half. Huzjak culminated the first with a seven-yard scoring toss to Mark Hillinger with six minutes remaining in the first quarter. The drive covered 76 yards in 12 plays and featured a pair of key third down conversions — including a 21-yard run by Kelley on the third-and-17 situation.

Before halftime, Northville moved inside the Lion 30 on two occasions, but came away with no points. The first came after a fumble recovery by Kelley, but Brandon Hayes' 30-yard

Pats stop Mustang cagers 53-41 in tournament final

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

If the Northville cagers want to win the school's first-ever WIAA Western division crown this season, they must find a way to beat All-Stater Dawn Warner and her Livonia Franklin teammates.

In a rare early-season matchup in the final of South Lyon's annual Suzanne Smith Memorial Tournament last week, the Mustangs failed, but will get another shot at the Patriots on Oct. 11. After blasting Ann Arbor Huron in round one, Northville got off to a slow start and fell to Franklin 53-41 in the title game on Aug. 30.

The tournament was held at Northville because South Lyon's new high school is still under construction.

"(Franklin) is probably the favorite to win our division," Mustang Coach Ed Kritch said. "They return three excellent players, including Warner."

The contest was quite a unique battle because the Pats stunned Northville with a pair of long-range offensive explosions at crucial times. But the rest of the game was a stalemate as the home team more than held its own.

"Those two ambushes by (Franklin) really put us away, and they did it with the three-point shot," Kritch said. "The game did prove that we can play with them, so I was encouraged."

The first offensive explosion gave the Patriots a 10-1 lead with 5:19 remaining in the first quarter, and three-pointers by Warner and Patty Shea started the onslaught.

"We just didn't get into the flow of the game at the start," Kritch admitted.

The locals regrouped in the second quarter and got back into the game. While the defense held Franklin to one field goal, senior forward Kate Holstein scored seven points in the stanza, including a three-point play at the buzzer. It narrowed the half-time deficit to 27-21.

The Mustangs closed to within three early in the second half but then the Patriots hit three straight triples. In the span of just 40 seconds, the three-point deficit ballooned to 12 (36-24).

Down the stretch, the Mustangs never got closer than eight and in the final 20 seconds, Warner hit four free throws to ice it. Shea and Warner paced Franklin with 17 apiece, while Holstein (12), Maria Macinnis (10) and Karen Pump (10) led Northville in scoring.

"The slow start really hurt us," Kritch said. "I could sense that we really weren't playing at the level we needed to be at the start. But I think the girls learned a lesson."

NORTHVILLE 40, ANN ARBOR HURON 16: The Mustangs opened the season with a lopsided win against the overmatched River Rats in the first round of the Smith Tournament, while Franklin was struggling to put away South Lyon 60-53.

"(Huron) isn't very good, so I thought that put us at a disadvantage for the finals," Kritch explained. "While we were playing a non-competitive team, Franklin was in a close game with South Lyon and I think that prepared them better."

Northville used an effective half-court press in the first half to build a 17-2 lead, and then cruised from there. The locals held Huron scoreless in the third quarter, but were actually outscored 10-7 in the fourth.

"We played well at the start of the game, but once we saw how easy it was, we went into several lulls," Kritch said. "It was nice, however, to get the win and get a lot of kids on the team involved."

Holstein scored 19 points (including nine in the first quarter) and hauled down 10 rebounds to pace Northville. Junior forward Stacey Nyland chipped in with six points and nine rebounds and Pump swiped seven steals.

The Mustangs don't get back into action until Sept. 11 at home against Novi.

Novi stuns Northville golfers 219-224

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

On paper, the Novi golfers don't have the kind of talent Northville does, but for the second straight season, the upstart Wildcats stunned the Mustangs in dual meet action on Aug. 27.

The score was actually tied 172-172 after nine holes, but the tie-breaker — counting the fifth golfer for each team — gave the victory to Novi 219-224. The meet was held at the 'Cats home course at Pebble Creek in Lyon Township.

"We are not a bad dual meet team," Novi Coach John Peace said. "I was very happy with the outcome. It was a learning experience because it was the first dual meet for both teams. We avoided having as real bad hole and that's what hurt Northville."

Senior Steve Megeal paced the Wildcats with a 38, but Mustang senior Chris Lemmon took the honors with a one-over-par 37. The rest of the Novi scores came from Mark Chirgwin (41), Steve Shultz (46), Dave LeClear (47) and Jeff Benit (47).

"I told the guys not to worry because they are much better than that. I was disappointed at the time, but it was our first dual meet on a course only one of our guys had ever played on before."

Don Morgan
Northville Golf Coach

As the fifth man, Benit's score was the difference in the meet.

The rest of the Northville contingent included Jason Sherman (41), Mike Fischer (46), Matt Telepo (46) and Kevin Krupansky (52).

"(Krupansky's) score is the one that really hurt us," Mustang Coach Don Morgan said. "He just had a bad round. He's been shooting under 40 in practice."

"The whole meet was a learning process because it came so early in the season. I told the guys not to worry because they are much better than that. I was disappointed at the time, but it was our first dual meet on a course only one of our guys had ever played on before (Fischer)."

NORTHVILLE 140, REDFORD THURSTON 162: The Mustangs turned things around in a big way two days later against the Panthers at Warren Valley in Dearborn Heights.

The high point of a highlight-filled outing came when sophomore Joey Staknis — participating in his first-ever varsity match — carded a hole-in-one on the 194-yard second hole. Staknis used a 3-iron and shot an incredible 37, just one-over-par.

"He's been in the low 40's in practice, so I thought I'd give him a chance and I'm glad I did," Morgan said. "He won't shoot 37 every day, but if he keeps playing well I certainly can't take him out of the line-up."

The best round, however, went to Lemmon, who blistered the course in two-under-par (34). The other Mustang scores came from Fischer (38), Telepo (40), Sherman (41) and Krupansky (42).

"Lemmon is carrying a 36 average this season — that's scratch golf," Morgan said. "You can't ask for more than that from a high school kid." According to Morgan, you'd have to go back two seasons to find a Northville team performing this well in a dual meet.

"The last time we didn't count a 41 was in 1988 against North Farmington," he said. "Since I've been coach, our best score for five guys was 193 back in '88. Against Thurston, we shot a 190. I think the loss to Novi really woke us up. The kids were embarrassed by their performance."

Northville will open the Western Lakes Activities Association schedule tomorrow (Sept. 7) against Livonia Churchill at Salem Hills.

Mustang golfer Chris Lemmon shot a two-under-par 34 versus Thurston Above, Meadowbrook Country Club Professional Andy Soley watches as his putt lips out of the hole on the ninth green at the Michigan PGA Championships held Aug. 21-23 at Lake Orion's Indianwood Country Club. Soley suffered a bogey on the hole but went on to tie for 31st place in a field of 188 of the states best professional golfers. Soley, who shot a 54-hole score of 74-78-71 — 223 (nine-over-par), won $408 for his effort. The top local finisher was Novi's Bob Makoski, who placed in a tie for 11th place with a four-over-par 72-74-72 — 218. Makoski, a pro golfer on the Ben Hogan Tour, was eight shots off the pace and earned $1,450. Other local golfers like Todd Greenlee (Meadowbrook assistant pro) and John Koch (Brookline pro) also participated. Greenlee placed in a tie for 53rd place with a 77-78-73 — 228 effort, while Koch shot an 86-79 — 165 in the first two days and failed to qualify for the final round.

Netters struggle but shut out Novi

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

As the Novi netters were giving their counterparts from Northville more trouble than usual on Aug. 29, Mustang Coach Uta Filkin had a question for Novi's Jim Hanson.

"She asked me if we had improved from last year or if her team had gotten worse," the Wildcat mentor recalled. "I assured her that it wasn't the latter. Northville's got another strong team."

The Mustangs proved it with a convincing 7-0 non-conference victory — but Hanson was pleased with the way his team played nevertheless.

"This is the best, from top to bottom, we've ever played against (Northville)," he said. "Even though it was 7-0, we played well and the scores were close."

"Overall, I was pleased. If Northville was in our league, they'd win it hands down. We played like I hope we'll play in the (Kensington Valley Conference)."

The closest competition came in doubles, and the best match of the day was at No. 1. Northville's Rebecca Belamy and Melanie Apligian edged Novi's Bethany Vanderhoff and Nikki Nelson 6-2, 6-7 (5-7), 3-6).

At No. 2, Vicki Appers and Jenny

Lower topped Chris Champine and Donna Kadar 7-5, 6-1; and at No. 3, Stacy Green and Kelli Woodsam turned back Je-Won Hwang and Jenny Crepeau 6-3, 6-4.

In singles, Karen Vogt disposed of Niloo Said 6-0, 6-3 at No. 1; Diane Vogt did the same to Jo Johnson at No. 2 (7-5, 6-0); Shannon Price dumped Gina Knight at No. 3 (6-4, 6-0); and Kavitha Sriraman slipped past Debby Butler 7-6 (7-4), 6-2) at No. 4.

"We beat them by the same score (7-0) last season, but we were a little shaky here and there," Filkin said. "Novi is much improved. Only one match went three sets, but we had a case of the season-opening butterflies."

The match was played at Northville's Fish Hatchery Park because the high school courts are still being resurfaced. That was another problem for the Mustangs.

"We're not used to playing on those courts, so it really wasn't a home court advantage. I also think we took (Novi) a little casual because we do beat them every year."

Northville gets back into action today (Sept. 6) at home against West Bloomfield and then Sept. 7 at Livonia Stevenson.

Northville gridders pound Lions, 20-6

field goal attempt was short. Kelley set up the second with an interception, but again a 45-yard try by Hayes was short with 13 seconds left.

"We were up by only six points at the half, so it was a big concern," Schumacher said. "We had plenty of chances but we didn't convert them."

The Mustangs gave themselves a little breathing room to start the second half by taking the kick off and marching 71 yards in seven plays. Huzjak scored the touchdown on a 10-yard run off the option. The big play in the drive was a 40-yard draw play by Kelley.

Northville made it 20-0 late in the quarter when Huzjak rambled 53-yards for a TD on a fake punt, and again, Kelley set up the drive with another fumble recovery. According to Schumacher, the fake punt decision did not come from the sidelines.

"When you have someone with the kind of talent Huzjak does, you give him certain freedom," he said. "He only needed two yards for the first down and when he saw an opening, he took it. That kind of put the nail in South Lyon's coffin."

The Lions avoided the shutout late in the game with a four-yard touchdown run by Bob Porter. The Mustangs aided the drive with a pair of penalties.

The defensive stars included Bob Holloway (seven solo tackles, six assists) and Jeff Todd (four solos, seven assists, one sack). Hillinger made four catches for 34 yards, recovered a fumble and made six solo stops.

"I was pleased with the game," Schumacher said. "The kids really came to play."

SALEM PREVIEW: Northville will open the Western Lakes Activities Association season tomorrow (Sept. 7) on the road against always-tough Plymouth Salem. The Rocks opened their season with a lopsided win, and should be a tough challenge.

"It's never easy to face a Tom Moshimer-coached team," Schumacher warned. "Salem is young but they always have talent and depth — it's a big school and a quality program. It sure is a lot easier to play them after a victory, though."

Look for a battle of the option offenses.

Bad shoes lead to foot problems

Shoes that are worn out or too small can lead to foot problems

By RICK BYRNE
Copy Editor

If shoes were like tires, we could rotate them from one foot to the other to get more wear out of them. Unfortunately our feet are different from each other, and don't allow such changes.

With the new school year ready to begin, now is the time to evaluate your child's shoe wardrobe, and replace shoes that are too small or worn out. Young people's feet are still growing and forming right up through puberty. A pair of bad shoes now could lead to lifelong foot problems such as flat feet, bunions or ingrown toenails, and in the worst cases arthritic conditions in the foot.

Dr. Jack Kaufman, a podiatrist with Novi Footcare Associates, says parents have to take responsibility for the proper fit of their child's shoe.

"Children will wear shoes no matter what size you put them in," Kaufman says. "They won't complain. But what happens when the shoe is too small is that it crowds the toes, and can lead to an ingrown nail."

Another problem Kaufman sees often is children wearing hand-me-down shoes. That's not as surprising as it seems since children are more likely to outgrow a shoe than they are to wear it out.

"With a growth spurt, they can be out of a shoe in three months, easily," he says. "Sometimes even less than that."

The danger with wearing another person's shoes is that they can mold the child's foot to someone else's shape. Since shoes are supposed to provide support and comfort, some of the resulting problems can be flat feet, an improper gait or stumbling.

Kaufman recommends that parents go into the child's closet once a month to examine shoes for problems. An unevenly worn heel can indicate an improper gait. As far as size is concerned, there should be at least one thumb's width between the end of the child's longest toe (either the first or second) and the tip of the shoe.

Shoes that are worn out or too small should be thrown out, no questions asked.

If you suspect your child has a foot problem, don't panic. Kaufman advises that you take the child to see a pediatrician or podiatrist.

"Most children's foot problems correct themselves," Kaufman says. "But when they don't, it can be disastrous."

With treatments such as exercise, casting and orthotics, your child can get back on the right foot, so to speak. Older children may require wedges in their shoes for a short time.

"Kids tolerate orthotics phenomenally," says Kaufman. "It does help."

And when dealing with a physician, Kaufman advises that parents speak up.

"Ask questions," he says, "and if you don't get satisfactory answers, seek other opinions."

Fitness Tips

Easy relaxation techniques are discussed

By SYLVA DVORAK, M.S.
Special Writer

By taking the stress quiz in the Aug. 23 issue of the Northville Record, you discovered some things that are causing stress in your life. Once you have become aware of the sources of stress, it is time to learn to relax. There are many techniques designed to help you, and no one method is better than the other. The important thing is finding out what works best for you.

Below are some quick and easy relaxation techniques. They take approximately 1-10 minutes to complete, so you can't give the excuse of not having enough time to try them. Whether you sit or stand all day, these "quickie quieters" may work for you when you feel stressed.

• Clock Watch: Stop all activity and observe the second hand on a clock or watch for one full minute. Don't try to speed up the hand, and don't do anything other than watching the hand.

• Listen and Hear: Focus on some sound in your environment that you are not usually aware of. For example, an air conditioner, passing traffic, typewriters, etc. concentrate only on the sound.

• Count to 10: Remember when you were young and your mother told you to hold your breath and count to 10 whenever you were upset? Well, it still works.

• Temporary Escape: When you feel you are getting nowhere with a problem, a temporary diversion or leaving the situation can help.

• Mirror Talk: Have a heart to heart talk with yourself while standing in front of a mirror. Use positive self-statements and convince yourself that you can handle stressful situations and remain in control.

• Deep Breathing: Do this either sitting or standing. Place your hands on your stomach, inhale slowly and deeply through your nose, letting your stomach expand as much as possible. When you've inhaled as deeply as possible, hold your breath for a few seconds before slowly exhaling through your mouth. Do this at least five times.

• Tighten-Up: Do this either sitting or standing. Close your eyes and "tighten-up" your hands, feet and even your whole body. Hold for a few seconds then relax and repeat. Do this as many times as you need to.

• Mental Imagery: If possible, find a quiet place, either sit or lie on your back, and close your eyes. Slowly relax all the parts of your body and then mentally focus on a single, peaceful word, thought or image. Breathe deeply and relax. Don't allow yourself to be distracted.

Once you have tried these relaxation techniques, use those which work best for you. But don't forget the importance of balance in your life. For example:

• Physical activity: walk, play tennis, work in your garden.

• Eat well: Limit your use of salt, sugar, caffeine and alcohol.

• Reward yourself: Take a long bath, read a good book or buy something special.

• Talk: Your family and friends are there for you if you have a problem, or if you want to talk about plans and dreams.

• Sense of humor: It promotes health and reduces stress.

The Northville Record is working with medical authorities at the University of Michigan Medical Center (M-Care) in Northville to provide up-to-date information on a variety of health-related topics. The series is coordinated by Peg Campbell of the M-Care staff.

Fall Festival

SEPTEMBER 6—9, 1990

Main Fall Festival events are at the Gathering

The main events will be taking place at the Plymouth Gathering on Penniman across from Kellogg Park.

A Fall Festival tradition has been for the major events to take place at the Gathering.

Starting the Fall Festival Activities will be the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's Club Thursday night Bingo. Not only will the players be eligible for cash prizes, but the women will have the necessary supplies on hand for purchase to make your night at the Bingo table a winner.

Also on Thursday is the Veal Parmesan and Spaghetti Dinner. This will be available for the lunch crowd as well as those hungry dinner patrons. The meal is going to be served by the Salvation Army and is sponsored by the Fr. Victor J. Renaud, Knights of Columbus No. 3292. Serving will begin at noon Thursday.

Friday night is Rib Night and this will be cooked and served by the Plymouth Knights of Columbus. Rib dinners used to be a regular on the main meal line-up and the Knights of Columbus are bringing it back. The ribs will be cooked over charcoal on large pits built in the Gathering.

On Saturday the Plymouth Kiwanis Club Pancake Breakfast will start at 7 a.m. This annual breakfast is another one of the Fall Festival's long standing traditions.

tion — Saturday night Steak dinner. This night you can have a complete steak dinner for $6. Your dinner will include steak, potato, roll, cole slaw and pop.

The granddaddy of the Festival and the largest event at the festival is Rotary Sunday.

The Plymouth Rotarians who started the Festival back in 1956 will be serving their famous Chicken barbecue dinner. With this dinner you will receive half a chicken that has been barbecued over open pits and seasoned with special secret Rotary seasonings. Also included with your dinner is an ear of corn, bag of chips, roll and beverage. Tickets for Rotary Sunday will be available throughout the festival from the "dog house" booths at Ann Arbor Trail and Main and Penniman and Main.

If you cannot make it to the park on Rotary Sunday you still can have some of the palate pleasing chicken by picking it up at the new drive-through location at Ann Arbor Trail and Sheldon at Junior High West. This new site should provide patrons with easy in and out.

Firefighters sponsor safety house

One popular exhibit at the Fall Festival last year was the children's Fire Safety House.

The house gives children a first-hand safety presentation on fire in the home. The city of Plymouth Fire Fighters along with some help from other departments give children a fire safety lesson and the place them inside the house, which is sized for children, for some real life experience with smoke in a house.

The smoke used at the fire safety house is a special non-toxic theatrical type smoke so no harm will come to any of the participants.

Expenses related to bringing the Fire Safety House to Plymouth for the festival are being met by the Plymouth Rotary Club.

Fall Festival a tradition

Fall Festival is a tradition in Plymouth and that tradition will be carried on again this year starting today when the festival gets going.

The events range from a good old fashioned chicken barbecue sponsored by the Plymouth Rotary Club to art and craft shows. But between the two are other events, activities and food that appeal to every taste.

And it's an event that everybody can get involved in, from children to oldsters.

On this page we take a look at the good times that have been had by many during past Fall Festivals.

Aerial view

Food booths were spread out along Main Street during previous Fall Festivals.

League to sponsor annual Antique Mart

The Plymouth Symphony League returns to the festival with its annual Antique Mart.

The event features several dealers from around the Midwest with some outstanding products and will take place at the Plymouth Community Cultural Center, 525 Farmer Street near the railroad tracks.

The group will host a special invitation-only preview show on Thursday night and will be open to the public on Friday and Saturday from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. and on Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Another big attraction at the Fall Festival is the Plymouth Community Arts Council Artists and Craftsman Show.

The event takes place at the Cential Middle School, Main and Church streets. The juried art show will feature a large assortment of media from all around the Midwest. The cost to enter will be $2 for adults and $1 for senior citizens and students. Children under 12 are free when with an adult.

This show will take place on Saturday from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. and on Sunday from noon-5 p.m.

Throughout the festival, the U.S. Postal Service will be featuring a special Fall Festival Cancellation stamp at the Post Office.

The post office will also sell all of its regular postal products.

The Three Cities Art Club will feature a display and sale of paintings in Kellogg Park on Saturday and Sunday during the Festival.

The event is another one of those great Fall Festival traditions. This allows the festival visitor to wander through the park and examine the works of art on display.

The best in garden products is on display and judged at the Trailwood Garden Club's produce tent. The display and judging helps bring back the old-time feeling of a country fair with displaying and judging of produce and flora — dried and fresh. Ribbons for best of show will be awarded at this tent.

Rotary Club started Fall Festival

The annual Plymouth Community Fall Festival was started by the Plymouth Rotary Club in 1956.

More than 30 years ago the local Rotary Club had the idea to host a community picnic at a neighborhood park to raise money for playground equipment for that park.

The Rotarians banded together and served 500 chicken dinners at Hamilton Park, located at Wing Harding streets. The park is now called Jaycee Park.

Since 1956 the Plymouth Rotary Club Chicken Dinner has grown from serving 500 dinners to as many as 15,000.

The purpose for the Rotarians work has changed from playground equipment to earning money for a wide variety of community projects and world community service projects.

The Plymouth Rotary Foundation annually gives money for student scholarships and funded the fountain in Kellogg Park and Plymouth Rotary Park is located at Wing and Herald streets. This park has some highly popular new playground equipment due in part to the Rotary Chicken Dinner.

While the Plymouth Rotary Chicken Dinner has grown in size over the years, the one day community picnic has grown into a full blown four-day event. The four day event now serves the needs of many of the Plymouth Community non-profit organizations.

When it comes to Home Equity Credit Lines, most bankers are happy to offer you big money.

Most bankers claim that their Home Equity Credit Line offers you a large sum of money. HFC believes that opinion is blown way out of proportion. You can get more money. Depending on your equity, HFC can lend you up to 85% of your home's value. Many bankers offer only 75% and still feel quite generous. You can get an attractive rate. HFC always offers you an attractive rate on a Home Equity Credit Line. Does your banker's rate look as good? You can get same-day approval over the phone. Applying at HFC is easy as making a call. And approval will come that very same day. Subject to confirmation of income and equity in property. Does your banker make it that easy? You can get a checkbook with up to $250,000 already in it. Can you imagine getting a loan by just writing a check? Because once you're approved, that's how it works. Loan forms, approvals, and hassles are history. So call HFC today. Because when we say big money, that's not just small talk.
