Festival parade Friday

This year's Victorian Festival kicks off tomorrow with the Victorian Costume Parade.

The parade begins at 6:30 p.m. at the recreation center, 303 W. Main St. All interested participants in period dress are invited to join in. Horses and horse-drawn vehicles are welcome, but no motor vehicles are allowed. Parade participants are requested to meet at the recreation center at 6 p.m.

The parade route runs west on Main to Rogers, north on Rogers to Dunlap, east to Center, south on Center to Main, and east on Main to the clock tower.

The evening's festivities also include an ice cream social at 6 p.m., and an antiques show from 6-9 p.m. The excitement continues at the town square 7:15 p.m. with the first performance by the Great Wallendas, the world-famous high wire troupe.

For more information on the parade, call Mark Cryderman at 348-3052. For general information on the Victorian Festival, call the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce at 349-7640. Or look inside today's Record for more highlights of events, an interview with Enrico Wallenda, a story on the costume ball on page 6-D, and a special section celebrating the festival — including a complete schedule of events — inside the paper.

Tree law amended

A township ordinance aimed at protecting valued trees has taken root and with ample nurturing seemingly has moved past the sapling stage.

Township planners last week moved to strengthen the two-year-old township woodlands ordinance by proposing changes to tree protection standards.

Key alterations to the ordinance include stiffer penalties to developers who indiscriminately cut trees and stricter replacement requirements

Moral victory

Northville High School soccer players Steve Lang and Matt Osiecki celebrate during a game against Livonia Stevenson. The teams battled to a 3-3 tie, but that's quite an achievement for the Mustangs; Stevenson is the top-ranked team in the state. For more on the game and all the other Northville teams, see the sports section starting on page 7-D.

Township, city meet next week

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

It's official — the township board and the city council will meet in a joint session at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 19 at City Hall.

After a month of proposed and rejected meeting dates, the two local government bodies will get together to discuss topics of mutual interest.

The meeting agenda will include all aspects of community shared services — recreation, library services, senior citizens services and youth assistance, Township Manager Richard Henningsen said Monday.

Other topics sure to come up in the get-together include the city's purchase of a Northville home as a possible future library site, a potential township/city resident survey and a combined recycling center.

At an August agenda-setting meeting, Mayor Christopher Johnson said the community library and recreation programs were "desperate for relief." He said the library tops the list of concerns for city residents.

Shared service programs will receive special scrutiny. Township Supervisor Georgina Goss has served notice that the proposed 1991 township budget must be trimmed — possibly by $300,000-400,000.

Township support for community programs such as library ($237,403 requested for 1991), recreation ($114,392 requested), senior citizens ($17,150 requested) and youth assistance ($15,842), totals $384,786 for 1991, as opposed to $327,841 last year.

The township's portion of the 1991 proposed library budget alone calls for a $51,023 increase over 1990.

In the meantime, the township police department is requesting the addition of three new officers by the end of 1991 and the township fire department is faced with a November millage to continue its present level of

Haller revisited?

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

September traditionally is a month of change — in weather, school and new car models — and township officials are crossing their fingers for one more change.

Actually, they're hoping for 72 acres worth of change.

Supervisor Georgina Goss said Monday she will contact Frieda Haller this week to ask about modifications to the former resident's year-old 72-acre donation proposal.

"I will be talking to Mrs. Haller," Goss said. "My main concern is to talk to her and try to secure the property for Northville Township."

Goss said she will ask Haller to donate her Six Mile and Sheldon property to the township without previously stated requirements — including a stipulation that the township obtain voter approval to fund an on-site 44,800-square foot library.

A $6.9-million library plan was shot down by township voters in a May 1 special election.

Haller told township officials after the May 1 vote that she would not discuss the property until the expiration

Managing editor set

Michael Malott has been named managing editor of The Northville Record by Philip Jerome, executive editor of Sliger/Livingston Publications.

Malott replaces Ann Willis, who has accepted the position of editor of The Rochester Eccentric.

Bob Needham will continue to serve as editor of The Record.

Malott brings almost 12 years of journalism experience to his new position. A graduate of Central Michigan University, Malott began his career in journalism with The Romeo Observer. Later he worked as a reporter and photographer with The Rochester Clarion and then as editor of The Source Newspaper in Utica.

He worked as a reporter at the Spinal Column Newsweekly in Union Lake from 1980 to 1984, covering state and Oakland County politics, courts, as well as a variety of community beats, including Novi City Council. He won first place in feature writing in the 1982 Michigan Press Association competition for an article on surrogate parenting.

Malott was promoted to the position of news editor of The Spinal Column Newsweekly in 1984, a position he held until moving to Sliger/Livingston Publications as managing editor of The South Lyon Herald and The Milford Times in February 1990.

Jerome said he was pleased to be able to appoint someone of Malott's proven journalistic credentials and integrity to the position of managing editor of The Record.

"Mike has demonstrated both his management and journalistic skills over the past 11 years," said Jerome. "In addition to his proven track record, he brings to his new position a broad knowledge of state and county business and politics which should

Showing strong support Middle East fears shared by friends and families

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Station wagons and television vans filled the parking lot outside St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Northville Monday evening, as the families and friends of soldiers stationed in the Middle East shared their fears inside.

The families gathered for the first meeting of a support group started by Northville residents Ginny Hathorn and Sue Pittonet. Both Hathorn and Pittonet had sons aboard the USS Eisenhower, the aircraft carrier that returned to Norfolk, West Virginia yesterday after being stationed in the Persian Gulf and Mediterranean Sea.

The two have formed a network for the relatives of those still stationed or stranded in the Middle East, and Tuesday's meeting gave the relatives a chance to gather under the watchful eye of local television stations and share news and stories from the front.

The sister of Kevin Bazner, the former Northville resident still trapped in Iraq, made an emotional appearance Monday and urged the crowd to keep in touch with their loved ones overseas. "It's still a very emotional of her one-year letter of intent.

Goss to contact Haller this week

The intent letter is voided at the end of September, and Goss wants to know if the township still has a chance to claim the rolling, tree-trimmed land.

"The township needs that property for recreation and to maintain open space," she said. "Even if we don't utilize it for the next few years, we could use it for future plans."

Goss would not specify what proposals she would make to Haller, but said plans for a library were bleak, due to budgetary restraints.

"There's no way we can pay for a library now," she said.

Haller said in May that it appeared residents did not want to build a community library in the township. She was noncommittal as to her plans for the prize property, which carries an appraised value of over $3 million.

"If they don't need it for a library, they don't need it for recreation," she said at the time. "I don't have to make up my mind right now."

"Nothing really changes, but it (the land) goes back to me."

Soldier settles into Saudi base

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

When Michael Whitbeck's parents last talked with him, the 21-year-old soldier was just about to climb onto a plane bound for Saudi Arabia.

A radio technical operator with the Army's elite 82nd Airborne, Whitbeck was flown to the Middle East Aug. 19 to join the more than 100,000 U.S. troops stationed there during the ongoing military standoff with Iraq.

"He called us on the phone and they were calling names to go on board to go over," Carol Whitbeck recalled. "He said, 'I've got to go, they're calling my name.'"

The soldier's Farmington Hills parents and wife, Jennifer, stopped by Monday's support group meeting in Northville to share their stories with families in similar situations.

They also shared what they knew of Michael's life while stationed in Saudi Arabia, gleaned from the half-dozen letters he has sent them since he left.

"The weather's not too bad as long as the humidity doesn't get too high," Jennifer said. "He said it's like setting your oven at 150 degrees and opening it, and the blast of air that you feel is how it is constantly."

"They are sleeping in barracks, and they are air-conditioned," she added. "He's on a 30-hour rotation out into the desert, although in his last letter he did say they were going out there for a week. So I don't know how much practice they're really getting out there but it sounds like they're getting quite a bit."

Like most soldiers, Michael has little idea when he will be able to return to his wife. "The last word he heard was 90 days," Jennifer said. "But at first they told him three months mandatory, and it could be up to six months, because it would take them about three months to get them back, and if anything broke out it would probably be a year or more."

"It is real tough only because you're waiting. And waiting and waiting and waiting," Jennifer said. "And waiting is tough to do."

Though the waiting is hard on the 19-year-old bride, Jennifer and Michael were luckier than many young couples that were separated with little warning. "He had two weeks notice," Jennifer said. "He knew he was going, he just didn't know when."

The waiting has been hard on Michael's parents as well. "Not hearing is the main thing," Craig Whitbeck said. "It was real nice to get a letter. We got our first one today."

While several people at Monday's support group meeting urged those present to write their relatives overseas, the advice works both ways. "It sure was nice to get a letter addressed to 'Mom and Dad,'" Craig said.

Supporters meet in Northville

time for me; we still don't know where my brother is," Pat Heath said as her voice cracked. "I came here to give you support, because I know how important it is to speak with somebody who's in the same position. . . . Let those loved ones know you care."

Some wore their emotions openly, while others sought to conceal them with humor. "I've got a little stool here because I'm real short," Pittonet joked when she came to the podium, drawing a laugh from the crowd. "My son who's in the Navy loves to tell short jokes," she said, as her voice grew quieter, "and I wish he were here now to tell some."

As Pittonet explained, "This is not a political or religious forum, this is strictly a support group for parents, wives, husbands, whatever, to share information and support with each other."

Pittonet shared the anxiety she felt when she learned that the USS Eisenhower traveled through the Suez Canal into the Persian Gulf at the start of the present military standoff with Iraq. "I just absolutely flipped out," she said. "I was so upset,

I didn't know what to do, I didn't know who to call."

Pittonet eventually found Ginny Hathorn, and in the process found an understanding outlet for her fears. "I couldn't believe it because I thought I was the only one in Michigan who had a kid over there. That's the way I felt, that's how alone I felt."

"Knowing that I wasn't there alone anymore really made a difference," she added.

Other speakers at Monday's support group meeting included Hathorn, an officer off the aircraft carrier USS Saratoga, a Birmingham psychologist, a former Kuwait resident, and representatives of Selfridge Air Force Base.

For both Hathorn and Pittonet, the long wait was scheduled to end yesterday, Sept. 12, when the USS Eisenhower cruised into Norfolk at the end of its six-month tour.

People still waiting for their relatives to return can contact Hathorn at 349-0996 for more information on the support group, or attend the group's second meeting, Oct. 12, at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be held at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 201 Elm St.

operations. If the fire department millage falls, funds will most likely be tapped from other sources — and shared services may be vulnerable.

Goss also may be able to shed light on the much-discussed Haller property on the corner of Six Mile and Sheldon roads. Goss is scheduled to talk to former resident Frieda Haller this week about donating land to the township.

Goss said Monday she will likely ask Haller to donate land for recreation space. City and township officials feel the Haller property would be ideal for soccer fields.

Car stolen from Hayes Court lot

A 1990 Pontiac Grand Am was reported stolen from a parking lot on Hayes Court south of Crystal Lake late Sept. 1 or early Sept. 2, township police said.

The owner said the vehicle was worth $14,000.

CREDIT CARD FRAUD — A 30-year-old Detroit woman and a 28-year-old Detroit man were arrested and charged with credit card fraud Sept. 3.

Township police said the two attempted to purchase $798 worth of jewelry at Meijer, 20401 Haggerty, with a non-valid credit card. Police said the subjects were arrested pending further investigation.

Police also said the two subjects had five outstanding warrants between them, including a warrant for heroin possession on the man.

VEHICLE DAMAGED — Someone punctured the tires of a 1989 Cadillac Brougham that was parked in a lot at Northridge Apartments late Aug. 30 or early Aug. 31, township police said.

The owner of the vehicle told police the two passenger-side tires were slashed.

MORE DAMAGE — The owner of a 1989 Chevrolet Beretta told township police someone damaged the driver's side rear quarter panel of the car while it was parked near Lake Success north of Crystal Lake.

Damage was estimated at $300 in the incident, which occurred Aug. 29 at 11:40 p.m.

SCRAP METAL STOLEN — Scrap running boards and copper tubing valued at $100 were stolen from a Main Street business sometime between 4 p.m. Sept. 8 and 11 a.m. Sept. 9, according to city police reports. The metal was stolen from Connely Enterprises, Inc., 598 S. Main.

HARDWARE STORE VANDALIZED — Brookside Hardware, 1027 Novi Rd., was vandalized sometime between 6 p.m. Sept. 8 and 9 a.m. Sept. 9, according to city police reports. A vandal or vandals apparently used rocks to break a window and dent the aluminum siding on the building's east side, causing an estimated $175 in damage.

Man fails to show on weapon charge

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

A Detroit man convicted of possessing a dangerous weapon in Northville Township skipped a sentencing date at 35th District Court in Plymouth Monday.

Court personnel said a failure-to-appear bench warrant would be issued for Marvin Jon Carr, 20, 18900 Hartwell, Detroit.

Carr was convicted at a bench trial Aug. 6 for possessing a knife. He faced a maximum penalty of $500 and 90 days in jail.

Township police arrested Carr at 9 a.m. Jan. 4 at 42777 Eight Mile Road, where he was employed by operators of a group home.

The arrest came at the request of the Wayne County Prosecutor, Det. Fred Yankee said Monday.

Yankee said police were investigating a complaint lodged against Carr and found a butterfly knife in his coat pocket during a routine pat-down for offensive weapons.

Township Supervisor Georgina Goss reads the swearing-in ceremony to new police chief Marvin "Chip" Snider

Snider makes police chief debut

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Fresh from taking the oath of office Monday as Northville Township's new police chief, Marvin "Chip" Snider lit his pipe and leaned back in a chair.

"It took me five hours to clean this office," he said, as smoke drifted lazily to the ceiling. "It's nice to take a break."

Snider earned a few moments of respite. He'd just finished wading through a small landfill-sized pile of memos, staff reports and assorted clutter that symbolized the nine-months-plus vacancy that has existed atop the township police department.

And now he sat in an office — his office — as the undisputed winner of a long and sometimes confused search process for a successor to former chief Kenneth Hardesty.

Fifty-six hopefuls threw their names in the township hat and Snider — former Plymouth Township deputy chief — emerged with the top prize. He'll take home a salary of $49,500 and head up a growing department in one of the state's most desirable communities.

Office-cleaning chores aside, he sounded eager about his new job.

"I'm ready to get going," he said. "I find everybody (on staff) enthusiastic, motivated and willing for change."

Change is already apparent in the department. Captain Philip Fresnell — acting chief since Hardesty's departure — will move to the satellite detective bureau. Det. Fred Yankee will remain a case-load investigator and Sgt. John Sherman will move from the detective bureau back to a full-time uniformed position.

Det. William Helke — Yankee's former partner in the bureau — has opted for a return to road patrols.

Further modifications and policy decision will come after a staff meeting today.

"I'll be taking a look at a lot of things," Snider said. "I'll look at the case load in the detective bureau and I want to look at the (officer) recruitment policy."

"I want a consistent hiring policy."

The township board has already OK'd the hiring of another officer for 1991 and two more officers are included in the 1991 budget. Those additions would bring police personnel to 20, a figure close to department levels recommended by the 1988 Bartell & Bartell study.

Snider's hiring may indicate a new sense of stability in the department. And he says that stability — and positive changes — may come from within.

"I'll take a fresh approach to some things," he said. "I'm going to solicit advice from the staff. They're in a lot better position to assist with (some situations) than I am."

"I'm anxious to get started."

Township Supervisor Georgina Goss echoed Snider's enthusiasm.

"I'm very excited," she said. "It's been a long and thorough (search) process and he will be a great addition to Northville Township."

South Lyon girl dies in Salem crash

By THOMAS M. VARCIE
Staff Writer

A South Lyon girl died but three others escaped serious injuries when their 1984 Ford passenger car rammed into a tree and utility pole Saturday evening at Six Mile and Currie roads in Salem Township.

Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department officials said Carrie Alexs Bentley, 15, of Lyon Township and two other victims were thrown from the vehicle during the collision.

Bentley was thrown into Six Mile Road, where she was struck by an oncoming car driven by a 17-year-old New Hudson resident.

The accident occurred at approximately 11:25 p.m. Bentley was pronounced dead on the scene at 11:31 p.m., sheriff's department officials report. The cause of death is listed as "multiple trauma."

Sheriff's department investigators say no one in the 1984 Ford, driven by a South Lyon resident, was wearing a seatbelt. Alcohol may have played a factor in the crash, according to Sheriff's Department Sgt. Harley Rider.

A breath test was administered at the scene to both drivers. Rider said preliminary indications are that both drivers had a small amount of alcohol in their body. "We're still awaiting final results confirming if they did have alcohol in them. The results should be ready in three weeks," Rider explained.

"The (first) driver apparently lost control of his car on eastbound Six Mile and struck (the pole and tree). He crossed over the center line at a high rate of speed and went off the road," Rider said. "Three of the four were ejected. Had they been seat-belted, they wouldn't have been ejected and there wouldn't have been a death."

"After they were thrown out, another car came down the road and struck (Bentley)," Rider said. "It hasn't been determined whether Bentley died from injuries in the first collision or when she was hit by the car."

After striking Bentley, Rider said the second car continued to drive eastbound on Six Mile for a short distance, but then returned to the scene.

The first car's driver and his two other passengers were taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor where they were treated for injuries and released. The second driver was not injured.

Charges have not been filed against either driver. The sheriff's department will continue investigating the crash.

SERVICES COVERED BY DENTAL INSURANCE

Today, some 70 million (3 out of every 10 Americans) are covered by some form of dental insurance and estimates are that coverage could increase to 95 million within five years. Individual companies and labor unions are responsible for most of this increase. If you have dental insurance, you may wonder what dental services are covered. Although all plans are not the same, most cover a wide range of services for both the employee and his family. These services generally include examinations, x-rays, professional cleaning, fillings, crowns and other restorations, root canal treatment, extractions, other oral surgery, and periodontal treatment (for diseases of gums and bone supporting the teeth). Additionally, some plans cover dentures, fixed and removable bridges, and orthodontic care.

Dental insurance programs do not usually cover hospitalization costs involved in dental treatment. However, hospital care may be covered by your medical insurance. Also, nearly every program excludes the cost of dental treatment provided for purely cosmetic reasons.

Pomp and circumstance

The second Victorian Festival takes Northville back a hundred years this weekend, and a host of activities are planned to show the community's spirit. A full schedule appears inside the special Victorian Festival tabloid section inside today's Record, and a story focusing on the Victorian Costume Ball is on page 6-D. Here are some other festival highlights:

ART MARKET — The Northville Arts Commission's annual Art Market runs concurrent with the Victorian Festival on the streets of downtown Northville.

Art Market — which predates the festival by a couple of years — is a juried fine art fair and marketplace for regional artists and artisans.

Art Market hours are noon to 8 p.m. Friday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

FLOWER BULBS — The Country Girls branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will sell fall flower bulbs at the festival.

Crocus, tiger lilies, daffodils, bearded iris, tulips, hyacinths, dutch iris, spring flowering garden wand, amaryllis, paper white narcissus kit, wildflower wand and bulb booster will be ordered for pickup at the Department of Public Works yard in October.

For more information call Judy Beyersdorf at 349-0637 or look for the booth at the festival. Proceeds from the sale will go toward the Hunter House garden at Mill Race, gardens at Allen Terrace, and high school scholarships.

AFTERNOON TEA — The Atchison House Bed and Breakfast Inn will serve formal afternoon tea during the Victorian Festival from 3 to 4:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 13 and Friday, Sept. 14. Seatings are still available for Thursday only.

Period dress is encouraged, though not required. Local poet Kathleen Ripley Leo will read from her book Town One South, a collection of poetry written about Victorian Northville. She will be accompanied by Tom Rice, owner of the Gifford music store.

Tickets are $15, paid in advance. Reservations may be made by calling the Atchison House at 349-3340.

VICTORIAN HAT SALE AND CONTEST — Get in the mood for the upcoming Victorian Festival with a custom-made Victorian hat.

Parents and students from the Odyssey of the Mind teams — a problem-solving program for K-12 students — have been busy making hats to sell at the festival. Help is still needed in making the hats. If you are interested in buying a hat before the festival or to volunteer in making them, contact Sharon Romine at 420-4451 or Valerie Ernst at 348-8335.

Then, no matter where your hat came from, you may want to match it up against everyone else's in a Victorian Hat Contest slated for noon Saturday, Sept. 15. Awards will be given to the most impressive toppers. Festival organizers ask that everyone who wants her hat judged please walk in the Friday evening parade if at all possible.

Graphic by ANGELA PREDHOMME

Northville Community Chamber of Commerce has the answer to your problems.

The chamber is selling Victorian costumes for both day and formal evening wear — so you can even get two outfits, to be seen about town during the daytime hours and to look sharp at the Victorian Ball.

For an appointment to see the clothes, call the chamber at 349-7640.

BOX LUNCH FUND-RAISER — This year's Victorian Festival will include an old-fashioned picnic and celebrity box lunch auction.

Northville's area council of PTAs will sponsor the auction as a district fund-raiser, which is chaired by Margaret Surdu. About 50 local (and not so local) celebrities are planning their box lunches in hat boxes, picnic baskets, pails or the like with various themes representing the donors' hobbies or careers.

The list of celebrities ranges from state, city and township officials to school board members and school administrators. Several restaurants in town, including Edward's, Genitti's, and MacKinnon's, will also be donating box lunches.

The picnic will feature games for the entire family.

VICTORIAN PARADE — This year's Victorian Festival will begin with the Victorian Costume Parade.

The parade starts at 6 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 14.

High wire act scales local heights

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Karl Wallenda carried circus acrobatics to new heights when he brought his family of high-wire daredevils to America in 1928.

Now the latest in a long line of Wallendas will perform high above the streets of Northville during this weekend's Victorian Festival.

Enrico and Debbie Wallenda bill themselves as "the only authentic heirs of Karl and Helen Wallenda." Karl's eldest grandson, Enrico still performs the skywalk, the stunt that claimed his grandfather's life in 1978.

Though his wife Debbie will not perform with him in Northville, Enrico is not coming to Northville alone. His sister Rietta will perform on the high wire with him.

Debbie — five months pregnant with the couple's second child — is awaiting the latest addition to the Wallenda clan.

Enrico predicted that the highlights of the Wallendas' Victorian Festival performance will be the troupe's high-wire and swaypole acts. "These are two traditional Wallenda acts," he said. "My grandfather started us in these two acts in the early 1920s."

"When I get there, I'll scope it out and see what else we can set up," he added.

The swaypole is a single event, traditionally performed by female members of the Wallenda clan, in which the performer does stunts while atop a high pole. Rietta will perform the swaypole act in Northville, and she and Enrico will team up for the high-wire events.

While on the high wire, Rietta performs splits and other feats of daring while Enrico typically performs head stands and rides a bicycle on the wire. "I will close the routine with the traditional chair balance on the high wire, the trick that my grandfather made famous," Enrico said.

Festival-goers may also get a glimpse of the couple's first child, Aerial. Enrico said his four-year-old daughter and his sister's six-year-old, Lyric, often get in on their parents' acts. "We do incorporate the little ones into the show whenever we can," he said. "The two girls go out and balance on this little bar that I set up for them, and they demonstrate how we all learned how to walk the wire when we were kids, because they're all learning it now, too."

But rest assured, worried parents — the children stay far from the high wire itself. "We don't ever place them in any danger," Enrico said.

The Wallendas will also be outfitted in Victorian garb for the festival, made at the last minute by Debbie after a truck fire last month burned "every piece of wardrobe that we owned," Enrico said. "We had just built this Victorian-style wardrobe because we had promised it to the people of Northville. And there it all went in the flames. But she quickly put another one together."

Like his grandfather before him, Enrico works without nets or other safety devices. "I think people misunderstand and they think that a safety device is actually going to help you, and we don't believe that it will," he said. "We prefer to rely on our skill rather than a device. You tend to get reckless (with a net), and a safety device may or may not save you."

Enrico explained that his uncle was killed despite falling into a safety net, "and I fell 30 feet to the concrete and I'm still working."

The high wire artist's own accident left him lying in a hospital bed for three weeks. "I spent 21 days in the hospital, two days in intensive care," Enrico recalled. "I broke almost everything on the right side of my body, from my face and head right on down to my right hip. And on the left side I shattered my left wrist, and the left wrist will never be normal again." He recites the injuries matter-of-factly; just another chapter in the saga of the Wallenda family.

Enrico still feels the effects of his fall, both physically and psychologically. "I've got enough rotation in the wrist, movement and strength, that I can get up there to a limited capacity," he said. "But I can't do that trick that I did. I can, I've done it in practice, but I guess now it's more or less psychological."

But the accident did not keep Enrico down for long. He was back on the high wire within six months.

House bills could tax local business growth

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Business property-tax-base sharing — a notion long popular in rural school districts — is gaining popularity in outstate urban areas.

"The idea emanated from Grand Rapids," said an aide to Rep. William Keith, D Garden City, sponsor of two enabling bills.

House Bills 5885 and 5886 have had hearings before Keith's House Education Committee in Grand Rapids and Midland, where so far there is no opposition, the aide said.

Keith had scheduled a public hearing for 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 11, the day the state Legislature returned for a three-week session.

The purest form of tax-base sharing is for commercial and industrial property taxes to be collected in common for a large jurisdiction such as a state or county.

Farmers long have advocated the idea as a method for their sharing in urban industrial wealth without giving up political control of their rural districts or taxes on their farms.

Keith's bills, however, contain two major differences:

- Enactment would be voluntary within an intermediate school district, which generally follows county lines. Any school district within the county could veto the plan.

- Only growth in commercial and industrial property values would be taxed countywide. Existing business property would be unaffected.

Residential, farm and mining

"The distribution would be adjusted to ensure that in-formula school districts would receive at least the same amount of revenue that they would have been entitled to if there had been no tax-base sharing proposal."

property would be unaffected.

Little support is expected for the plan in Wayne County, where communities have competed fiercely to attract business growth and there are three dozen school districts.

But Keith's aide said the Oakland Intermediate School District was interested in having a public hearing. And Midland County, with only five school districts, is attracted by it.

Key politicians are lining up behind the bills, the aide said. "Gov. Blanchard is supportive of the concept. (GOP challenger John) Engler is supportive of the concept. The speaker (Lewis Dodak, D-Montrose) is supportive.

"The Senate will have the same bill, introduced by Dick Posthumus (R-Alto)," said the aide. Posthumus is Engler's right-hand man in Senate policymaking.

When identical bills are introduced in both chambers, it is a sign that a broad base of lawmakers is serious about a subject.

A form of statewide tax base sharing was contained in Proposal B, defeated by voters 3-1 in 1989. It would have allowed statewide collection of a portion of school property taxes.

Tax base sharing could be implemented in any of three ways under Keith's bills:

- The board of education of every member district within the county in intermediate must approve.

- A board could ask voters to approve.

- Voters could sign initiative petitions.

The bills contain guarantees to help sharing districts maintain their revenues. According to a House Democratic research staff analysis

"(T)he distribution would be adjusted to ensure that in-formula school districts would receive at least the same amount of revenue that they would have been entitled to if there had been no tax-base sharing proposal.

"In exchange for tax-base sharing, out-of-formula school districts would be exempted from categorical recapture provisions contained in the state school aid act."

Under that controversial measure, the state took away $70 million in categorical aids to richer school districts. The law is extremely unpopular among suburban districts in the metro Detroit area.

City disputes, awards Allen Terrace repair bid

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

City Council Member Paul Folino blasted the process used to obtain bids for balcony and siding repairs at Allen Terrace, but his wrath was not enough to keep the rest of the council from approving the repair project Monday night.

"I'll tell you the truth: I'm just thoroughly disgusted with the way this thing turned out," Folino said. "This is the most inconsistent bidding I've ever seen since I've sat on city council."

Robare explained that because of a flaw in the building's initial design, water was leaking into the building and damaging the wooden siding in several areas. To prevent further water damage, the city's housing commission sought bids to sheathe the building in vinyl siding and inspect the building's balconies.

Folino asked why the two lowest bidders on the project, D.T.L. Enterprises of Canton and Charing Cross of Detroit, were allowed to submit second bids after the initial bids were opened in August. Robare explained that D.T.L. was allowed to rebid because its initial bid was only half that of the other four companies that submitted bids. D.T.L.'s original bid was $36,200 while the other four bids ranged from $69,106 to $104,537.

"They're . . . not experienced enough to realize what's really involved in this project," Robare said of D.T.L.

"They said they were not aware that it was a multi-story building," Robare explained that D.T.L.'s original bid did not include the cost of the scaffolding or ladders needed to work on the housing center's upper floors.

Charing Cross was allowed to rebid, Robare said, because their first bid gave a price range of $69,106 to $79,302 rather than a specific figure. The company's revised bid placed the price at $75,873.

Folino still argued that D.T.L. should be awarded the project because the company had the lowest bid.

But both Robare and the housing commission recommended that the city accept Charing Cross' bid. Commission President Ray Casterline argued that D.T.L.'s bid demonstrated the company's lack of experience. "They were just completely out of line . . . completely out of the ballpark," Casterline said. "It would have been our mistake if we had taken it, and we would have had to live with it."

Robare added, "We feel more comfortable with Charing Cross in that they have a better handle on what the project entails."

Though some council members admitted that the original D.T.L. bid should have been thrown out, the rest of the council disagreed with Folino's contention that the other three companies should have been allowed to submit revised bids. "I think there are some solid reasons for bringing back the bids the way they did," said Mayor Chris Johnson.

Folino moved to accept the D.T.L. bid but his motion died for lack of support, and the council approved the Charing Cross bid by a 4-1 vote.

Senior housing center gets vinyl siding, inspections

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Allen Terrace, the city's senior housing center, is slated to receive a fresh coat of vinyl siding in the coming year, rather than another coat of paint.

The center's 100 balconies will also be inspected for possible water damage in the process.

Housing Director Frances Hopp attributed the need for vinyl siding to a design flaw at Allen Terrace. The present wood siding is angled toward the wall rather than away from it, she explained, which has caused slight water damage.

"We've attempted to stain previously and it didn't hold very well," she said. "It's a first-time thing, and it will also be of great help to us in terms of ongoing maintenance."

The design flaw also has housing commission members concerned about the center's wooden balconies. Housing Commission President Ray Casterline described the balcony inspections and possible repairs as preventive maintenance.

"We've repaired quite a few already," he said. "It's not that they're falling down or anything, it's just that we don't want it to get to anything that critical."

Hopp agreed that the balconies are structurally sound. "There's no immediate danger whatsoever," she said. "We have been doing continuous inspections and any repairs as needed."

The repairs were the subject of discussion at Tuesday's city council meeting. Hopp assured city council members that the balconies are still structurally sound while sounding a cautionary note. "To my knowledge, I don't know of anything that's in imminent danger, but the potential's there," she told the council. "The winter weather does impact on wood construction."

The council awarded the repair project to Charing Cross Inc. of Detroit (see related story). Charing Cross will be paid $75,873 for the project.

Mayor Chris Johnson convinced the majority of the council that the bid should be awarded Monday to allow inspection of the balconies before next year. "I for one would like to see the work done in this construction season if possible," he said.

Courses on computers, aerobics, quilting, smoking, high-school completion, financial planning and crafts are among the Northville Community Education fall offerings.

Registration will continue through the program start — Sept. 17 for credit classes and Sept. 24 for leisure classes. Adults and children can enroll by mail or at the community education office, which recently was relocated to Meads Mill

Chemical dangers defined

By law, you have the right to know about hazardous chemicals and their risks which may be present in your community.

So the Oakland County Local Emergency Planning Committee has published a brochure called "Chemicals in Oakland County, You Have A Right To Know." It is a guide to the Emergency Planning and Community Right-to-Know Act of 1986. It defines the act's purpose, lists extremely hazardous substances and gives examples of some common uses of these chemicals.

For a copy of the brochure, write to the county emergency planning committee, care of the Oakland County EMS/Emergency Management Division, 1200 N. Telegraph, Pontiac or call 858-5300.

CATHY M. KONRAD
CITY CLERK, CMC

Middle School.

"We've got a lot of new classes," said Karen Hooper, supervisor of Northville adult and community education. And a lot of the courses that were popular last session were maintained, she said.

A brochure listing the program's courses was mailed to Northville school district residents two weeks ago.

Course lengths range from one-night seminars to the 15-week high school completion credit classes. Many last two, four or eight weeks.

The cost depends on the class length, Hooper said.

The leisure part of the program pays for itself — the cost of the instructor and overhead, she said. The credit courses are funded by the state through a consortium agreement between the Northville and Garden City school districts.

The credit courses are free for adults without a high school diploma or for graduates under age 20 as of Sept. 1, 1990.

The program's leisure offerings cover subjects such as "a new you," arts and crafts, computers, financial, health and fitness, field trips, travel, parenting, real estate, special information, "try something new," dancing, senior citizens and kid stuff.

Hooper said two of program's unique courses are "Northville History," which trace the city from its pre-settlement days into the 21st century, and "Step-by-Step through Northville," a walking tour through different sections of the city.

She also cited as unique the 55

Alive course, a driving skills refresher which is designed by the American Association of Retired Persons for drivers 50 years and older.

Other program highlights include English as a Second Language for foreign-born residents; a young hunter safety course which is offered only in the fall; and the ABCs of babysitting.

Courses that have proved popular in past sessions are dancing, hairstyles for young children, duck decoy carving, parenting and the computer classes, according to the program supervisor.

"The field trips usually we do real well on," Hooper said.

The program also offers vocational training — building trades, cosmetology, dental assisting, for example.

Hooper said her office decides a week before the session begins whether there is sufficient interest to hold each of the courses offered.

The program is open to all area residents and there is no additional charge to non-Northville residents.

School to chip in on sidewalk

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Homeowners whose sidewalks need fixing are not the only ones being tapped by the city for the cost. The Northville Public Schools are being asked to participate in the city's ongoing sidewalk repair program as well, to the tune of $30,628. The money will help pay for a new sidewalk along the north side of Eight Mile Road from Taft Road to Center Street. The new sidewalk is being planned for the north side of Eight Mile because of terrain problems on the south side of the road. City officials also plan to assess the Mobil station at the corner of Eight Mile and Taft for an additional $2,548; the Northville Wine Shoppe for $1,592; and Mettli Wadi Mettli, owner of the vacant property east of the wine shop, for $16,652 of the cost.

The cost is based on the square footage of the sidewalk being built in along each owner's property. The sidewalk along the public school and Mettli properties is more expensive because of excavation and grading needed along the site.

The city council agreed Monday night to ask the school system to help fund the new sidewalk. Because a governmental entity cannot assess such costs on another governmental entity without permission, the school board will be allowed to decide whether to participate in the project.

"It's a little different politically than the repair program."

Steven Walters
Northville City Manager

"It's a little different politically than the repair program," said City Manager Steven Walters.

Walters told the council that School Superintendent George Bell had responded favorably to the plan last year, "but he didn't have the revised school aid formula." Northville Public Schools lost more than $1 million in state aid this year due to the reapportionment of school funds by the state.

Walters also suggested allowing the school system to pay the amount over five years; the same option given Northville homeowners assessed for sidewalk repairs.

The council agreed to a Sept. 24 public hearing to determine the necessity of the new walk.

MET will host tuition meetings

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

The Michigan Education Trust will hold public forums to explain the pre-paid college tuition program to parents.

"During 1990, our third year, we will offer both the standard one-time lump sum payment, as well as a monthly purchase-payroll deduction plan," said Robert A. Bowman, Bowman is state treasurer and MET board chairman.

Community forums about the MET program will be held throughout the state during September and October. For more information about MET or to reserve a place at a community forum, call, toll free, 1-800-MET-4-KID.

All forums begin at 7 p.m. Here are dates and places of area forums:

- Sept. 18 — Troy Athens High School, 4333

John R.

- Sept. 26 — Cass Technical High School, 2421 Second, Detroit.

- Oct. 2 — Gardner Middle School (off Jolly Road between Cedar and Washington), Lansing.

The MET board recently raised prices 7 percent for the 1990 enrollment period and set up a monthly payment plan.

Applications for MET will be accepted Oct. 15 to Nov. 9.

"The monthly purchase plan increases the accessibility of MET for even more Michigan families," Bowman said.

"This year's 7-percent increase is about one-half the increase of last year. This dramatically lower increase reflects restraint on the part of Michigan's 44 public colleges and universities and better-than-expected investment opportunities."

Base cost for one year of MET tuition for a new-born child is $2,095 under the 1990 full benefits contract. With the new monthly purchase plan, an individual can buy that same year's worth of tuition for $35 a month over seven years. The older the child, the more MET will cost because the trust has less time to invest money before the child is ready for college.

Individuals who bought MET contracts in 1988 and 1989 will not be affected by the MET price increase. Almost 50,000 children are enrolled in the MET program, creating a trust fund with assets of nearly $350 million.

Applications for MET will be made available statewide at all treasury offices, secretary of state offices, Meijer stores, McDonald's, Perry Drugs, savings institutions, libraries, video stores and independent grocery stores this fall.

County puts video in police cars

Wayne County law enforcement officials could begin videotaping drunken drivers this week.

The county sheriff's department is equipping 12 patrol cars with video cameras through a grant program sponsored by Aetna Life and Casualty, a national insurance firm.

Cameras are considered the latest tool in fighting drunk driving. Police use them to provide photographic evidence of drunk driving as suspects perform police tests such as walking a straight line or touching their nose with their eyes closed.

"We've heard other departments have increased their conviction rate by 50-60 percent by using the cameras," Wayne County sheriff's spokesperson Nancy Mouradian said.

Members of the county Mothers Against Drunk Driving chapter praised the sheriff's department for installing cameras.

"As we see it, it's a deterrent," said county MADD president Sandi Wolf.

"They'll primarily be used in drunk driving stops. But we could also use them for surveillance in other instances."

Nancy Mouradian

"Just knowing the cameras are there will probably make people think again about drinking and driving."

Videotape evidence could also clear crowded court dockets, Wolf said.

"I think you'll find more people pleading guilty clearing up the log jam in the courts," she added.

But if the cameras have proved popular with police, they've proved less popular with civil libertarians.

Though the Detroit-area chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union has declined to take steps against the use of cameras (see related story), the videotape procedure has been criticized by other groups as an invasion of suspects' privacy.

Wayne County will equip its five alcohol enforcement squad cars with the cameras. Seven other cars, including those used for park and secondary road patrol, will also receive cameras.

"They'll primarily be used in drunk driving stops," Mouradian said. "But we could also use them for surveillance in other instances."

Suspects won't be notified they are being taped, Mouradian said. The sheriff's department decided upon the no-notification policy after consulting with the county prosecutor's office.

Sheriff's department officials unveiled the cameras on Aug. 29, and fitted them to cars last week.

Drunk driving accidents claimed 96 lives in Wayne County during 1989, according to sheriff's department statistics. Statewide, there were 738 drunk driving fatalities.

Tapes will provide a readout with the time and date of the traffic stop. Police and suspect comments will also be recorded.

Officers will tag them as evidence and place them in the sheriff's department property room at the end of their shift, Mouradian said. Tapes will be maintained for 60 days.

Police in Tampa, Houston and New Orleans are among those currently videotaping drunk driver stops. Aetna has provided cameras to an estimated 65 police departments in 16 states.

ACLU won't fight police cameras

The American Civil Liberties Union won't be challenging the new Wayne County Sheriff's Department policy of videotaping alleged drunk drivers.

But ACLU members said the tapes should be made equally accessible to all parties.

"We've looked at the issue and decided not to take a position at this time," Michigan ACLU legal director Paul Dennenfeld said.

Beginning this week, deputies are expected to begin videotaping suspects in drunk driving cases. Videotaping, already under way in other cities, is expected to boost the conviction rate in drunk driving cases.

ACLU members, however, believe taping could prove to be a double-edged sword.

"In addition to showing the drivers, the videotapes will also provide evidence as to whether police officers went about their jobs properly," Dennenfeld said. "Toward that end, we expect the tapes will be made equally available to defense attorneys."

Twelve sheriff's department patrol cars have been outfitted with videotape cameras. Drivers stopped for alleged drunken driving will be videotaped as they perform police tests.

Tapes will provide the date and time the driver was stopped. They will be tagged as evidence and stored in the department property room.

District sets $22.6M tax levy

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

The Northville Board of Education unanimously approved a resolution Monday night establishing the district's tax levy at $22.6 million for the 1990-91 school year.

This amount does not include additional taxes the district would levy with voter approval of a proposed 1.28 additional mills. Voters in the district will head to the polls Sept. 27 to decide whether the district should levy the additional mills "in order to avoid program cuts caused by a reduction of state funding."

The $22.6 million in district funds is divided among seven tax districts. Each tax district is levied 32.7 mills, the school district's current millage rate.

Of those seven tax districts, Northville Township provides the most money for the district, at $12.8 million.

The other tax apportionment within the district is as follows:

- City of Northville — Wayne County: $2.5 million
- City of Northville — Oakland County: $2.9 million
- Lyon Township: $99,676
- City of Novi: $3.9 million
- Novi Township: $110,608
- Salem: $200,286

In converting mills to tax dollars, one mill is equal to $1 per $1,000 of state equalized value (SEV). The SEV of a piece of property is generally equal to one-half of its market value.

"(Our millage rate is) number 31 of 34 districts in the county. Dearborn, Crestwood and Harper Woods have millages lower than ours."

George Bell
School Superintendent

Superintendent George Bell said the Northville school district's millage rate is one of the lowest in Wayne County.

"(Our millage rate is) number 31 of 34 districts in the county," he said. "Dearborn, Crestwood and Harper Woods have millages lower than ours."

Bell explained his statement was in response to requests for comparisons of how Northville's millage rate "stacks up to other districts."

"When people complain about high taxes, it's the property values, not the (millage) rate," he said.

Millage rates in Wayne County range as high as 44 mills in the Romulus and Westland areas. Millage rates alone are not significant, as varying property values between areas affect the value of a mill.

Hanging coral on the bed post, people once believed, would prevent nightmares.

Heintz opens convention

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

For Wayne County Commissioner Susan Heintz, last Saturday was a prime example of a local politician making good.

Heintz, R-Northville, was selected by party leaders to give opening remarks at the state Republican convention in Detroit.

"I was very honored to do it," Heintz said Monday. "The Republican Party just called and asked me a week before."

"It sure was exciting."

Heintz, former Northville Township supervisor and clerk, is running unopposed for another term as the lone Republican on the county commission.

She said her brief speech before party delegates focused on a need for change within the ranks of state government.

"We have an incredibly strong ticket this year, a ticket that clearly will allow us to regain the governor's office and control of the state house," she told an audience approximated at 3,000-4,000. "Today, you will be deciding the candidates who will take control of state government away from the Democrats, who have through their actions proven to the people of Michigan that it's time for a change."

Heintz said the convention was "literally without controversy" and called the party "very unified."

Schools iron out minor hitches

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

Children, teachers and parents in Northville can expect a smooth year ahead — that is, if every day goes as well as the first.

Superintendent George Bell reported at Monday's school board meeting that on the first day of school this year "by 1 in the afternoon you would think school had been in session for six weeks."

Few people attended Monday's regular scheduled meeting. "This is the first meeting following the first day of school where we didn't have a room full of people complaining about the buses," he said.

Construction projects are still underway at some schools, but Bell said the district expects completion before winter.

Repaving of the parking lot at Moraine Elementary School was delayed by rain, Bell explained, and a similar project at Winchester Elementary has not begun yet. The parking lot at Old Village School is still torn up "but will be completed very quickly," he said. New tennis courts at the high school have a target date of Sept. 28 for completion.

Bell said he is now in the process of meeting with the various parent-teacher organizations at the schools. "I've been having a good response," he said. "The opening has been a very positive one. The kids have been flying with a great deal of enthusiasm."

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING THE AUTHORITY, ESTABLISHMENT AND SUPERVISION OF A PARKING VIOLATIONS BUREAU; PROVIDING FOR THE LOCATION AND ADMINISTRATION OF A PARKING VIOLATIONS BUREAU; PROVIDING FOR DEFINITIONS THEREOF; PROVIDING FOR THE SERVICE OF VIOLATIONS TO THE REGISTERED OWNER; ESTABLISHING THE FORM OF THE NOTICE OF VIOLATIONS; PROVIDING FOR THE SETTLEMENT OF UNRESOLVED VIOLATIONS; PROVIDING FOR THE SCHEDULE OF FINES; PROVIDING FOR THE SEVERABILITY OF THIS ORDINANCE; PROVIDING FOR THE PRESERVATION OF ALL PENDING ACTIONS, AND THE REPEAL OF ALL CONFLICTING ORDINANCES; PROVIDING FOR THE EFFECTIVE DATE THEREOF. THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ORDAINS.

Section 1. Authority, Establishment and Supervision of the Parking Violations Bureau.

Pursuant to Section 8395 of the Revised Judicature Act, State of Michigan, as amended by Public Act 67 of 1979, being MCLA 600.8395 and Public Act 74 of 1984, as amended, being MCLA 257.742, the parking violations bureau is hereby established for the Charter Township of Northville. The parking violations bureau shall be under the supervision and control of the Township Supervisor.

Section 2. Location and Administration of the Parking Violations Bureau. The Supervisor shall, subject to the approval of the Township Board, establish a convenient location for the parking violations bureau, appoint qualified Township employees to administer the bureau and adopt rules and regulations for the operation thereof.

Section 3. Definitions.

As used in this ordinance:
a "Parking violations notice" means a notice, other than a citation, directing a person to appear at the parking violations bureau and to pay the fines and costs, if any, prescribed by the ordinances of the Charter Township of Northville for the parking or standing of a motor vehicle in violation of said ordinances.

b "Parking violations bureau" means the bureau established by this ordinance for the processing of all civil infractions involving the parking or standing of a motor vehicle within the Charter Township of Northville.

Section 4. Service of Parking Violations Notice. In a civil infraction involving the parking or standing of a motor vehicle, a copy of the parking violation notice need not be served personally upon the Defendant but may be served upon the registered owner of the motor vehicle by attaching the copy to the vehicle. Such parking violation notice may be issued by either a police officer of the Charter Township of Northville, or by any other Township employee duly authorized by the Township Board to issue such a notice.

Section 5. Form of the Parking Violation Notice. The issuance of the parking violation notice shall be deemed an allegation of a parking violation. Such parking violation notice shall set forth the nature of the offense, and the date, time and location of which. In addition, the parking violation notice shall also indicate the length of time in which the person to whom the same was issued must respond before the parking violations bureau. It shall also indicate the address of the bureau, the hours during which the bureau is opened, the amount of the penalty scheduled for the offense for which the parking violation notice was issued, and advise that a civil infraction citation will be sought if such a person fails to respond within the time limited.

Section 6. Settlement of Violations. No violation may be settled at the parking violations bureau except at the specific request of the alleged violator. No penalty for any violation shall be accepted from any person who denied having committed the offense, and in no case shall the person who is in charge of the bureau determine, or attempt to determine, the truth or falsity of any fact or matter relating to such alleged violation. No person shall be required to dispose of a parking violation at the parking violations bureau, and all persons shall be entitled to have such violation processed before a court having jurisdiction thereof if they so desire. The unwillingness of any person to dispose of any violation at the parking violations bureau shall not prejudice him/her or in any way diminish the rights, privileges, and protections accorded to him/her by law.

Section 7. Procedure for All Contested and/or Unresolved Violations. If a parking violation notice is attached to a motor vehicle, and if an admission of responsibility is not made and the civil fines and cost, if any, for the violation are not paid at the parking violations bureau, a citation may be filed with the court having competent jurisdiction thereof and a copy of the citation may be served by first class mail upon the registered owner of the vehicle at the owner's last known address. The citation shall consist of a sworn complaint containing the allegations stated in the parking violation notice and shall fairly inform the Defendant how to respond to the citation. Thereafter, the citation for the parking or standing violation shall be processed in the same manner as provided in Public Act 510 of 1978, as amended.

Section 8. Schedule of Fines. The amount of fines for parking and standing violations processed by parking violations bureau shall be as follows:

- a) Prohibited/Posted Sign Violations $20.00
- b) Handicap Parking Violations $75.00
- c) Hines Park Parking/Standings Violations $205.00
- d) Firelane Violations $35.00

Section 9. Severability. If any section, subsection, clause, phrase or portion of this ordinance is for any reason held invalid or unconstitutional by any court of competent jurisdiction, such portion shall be deemed a separate, distinct and independent provision, and such holding shall not affect the validity of the remaining portion hereof.

Section 10. Repeal of Conflicting Ordinances. All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed only to the extent necessary to give this ordinance full force and effect.

Section 11. Savings Clause. The repeal provided for herein shall not abrogate or affect any offense or act committed or done, or any penalty or forfeiture incurred, or any pending litigation or prosecution of any right established or occurring prior to the effective date of this ordinance.

Section 12. Effective Date. This ordinance may be adopted by the Township Board of the Charter Township of Northville, pursuant to authority of Act 184, Public Acts of 1943, as amended at their next regular/special meeting (09-13-90 NR)

Now that's a puddle

Last week's rains left an awful lot of water behind, particularly in the low-lying areas around the Middle Rouge River. This swing set in the Waterford Bend area of Hines Park was a little inaccessible for a while after the storm.

Power, Tucker earn regent nominations

Donald F. Tucker, a Birmingham lawyer, and Philip H. Power, chairman of the board of the Suburban Communications Corp. which owns the Sliger/Livingston and the Observer & Eccentric newspapers, have been nominated for the University of Michigan Board of Regents by the Michigan Democratic Party.

The two were nominated over the weekend in Flint at what was characterized as "the most spirited Democratic convention in years." It attracted more than 2,000 delegates.

"It's a good ticket," beamed Tucker, who is also Democratic chairman of the 18th Congressional District which includes most of Oakland County. "I'm proud to be part of it."

Tucker replaces Ann Arbor attorney Thomas A. Roach who did not seek re-election.

"They're all good candidates," said Power, an incumbent from Ann Arbor. "They represent a good cross section."

Tucker and Power will run against Republicans Marv Esch of Ann Arbor and Battle Creek Mayor Shirley McFee who were nominated by the GOP over the weekend.

Heading the Democratic ticket, of course, is Gov. James Blanchard.

His running mate as lieutenant governor is Olivia "Libby" Maynard of Flint, who was nominated along with incumbent Attorney General Frank J. Kelley and Secretary of State Richard H. Austin.

They are running in the Nov. 6 election against GOP candidates Connie Binsfeld of Leelanau County for lieutenant governor; Cliff Taylor of Lansing for attorney general; and Judith Miller of Birmingham for secretary of state.

Other Democrats nominated are:

- Michigan Supreme Court: Patricia Boyle and Michael Cavanaugh, both incumbents.
- They will face Republican challengers

W. Clark Durant of Detroit and Judy Hughes, former Barry County prosecutor.

- State Board of Education: Barbara Roberts-Mason of Lansing and Rollie Hopgood of Taylor, both incumbents.
- They will face GOP challengers Lowell Perry of Southfield and Dick DeVos of Kent County.
- Michigan State Board of Trustees: Larry Owen of Lansing and Larry Doss of Detroit.

Their will face Republicans John D. Shingleton of East Lansing and Dee Cook of Greenville.

- Wayne State University Board of Governors: Jim Robinson and Brenda M. Scott, both of Detroit.
- They will face Republicans Laura Reyes Kopack of Livonia and Elizabeth Hardy of Detroit.

Our Opinions

Plant gets attention; might action be next?

Ford history seems to be a hot topic these days.

This year has seen the formation of plans for the Ford Heritage Trail, a linkage of local historic sites important to the development of Ford Motor Co. and western Wayne County. The Ford Heritage Trail Association may eventually become national in scope, with the whole idea being to preserve the history of America's first large-scale automaker and the entire Ford family.

The year has also seen the rise of plans by the Wayne County Parks Department to improve the Rouge River impoundments in the western end of the county. These are the man-made lakes — Waterford, Phoenix, Newburg and Wilcox — connected to former Ford operations in the county.

Locally, people became very aware of Ford history when the many rumors finally proved true and the Northville Plant closed down. The closure touched off a fury of speculation among local groups and individuals, most recently a proposal from Concerned Residents of Northville urging the city to buy the site outright.

Without being overly dramatic about the whole thing, the closure of the Northville Ford Plant ended an era of great historical significance to western Wayne County — and of some significance to America as a whole. Depending on who you talk to, the Northville plant was either one of the last or the very last of Ford's "village industry" plants, and the village industry concept was an important chapter in American industrial development.

The plant site's continued value to the Northville community is obvious. Everyone likes to watch and feed the waterfowl. The water wheel is an attractive local landmark. Ford Field provides valuable recreational opportunities in the center of the Northville community.

So what now?

It's time to act to preserve, maintain and enhance the Ford site as a centerpiece for Northville. The city-commissioned study of the area seems to have slipped into a crack somewhere, and it shouldn't have. That study made three vital points: that recreation is the continued best use of the Ford Field land; that some use open to the public best suits the plant itself; and, significantly, that the site is in the middle of a floodplain that will render it largely useless for new construction.

DEVELOPMENT

Concerned Residents deserves a lot of credit for trying to prod the city into action. Let's hope it works.

The community has a host of options. Could part or all of the site be dedicated as a local or county park? Can the city put together a bond proposal to buy it outright? Would Ford consider donating some or all of the site? That's how the community got Mill Race. Would strict public use be best, or would financing require some commercial participation? If so, what types of operations would best fill that bill?

There is room here for much coordination of effort. Talks involving the city, Ford Motor Co., Concerned Residents, the Northville Historical Society and even the Wayne County Parks Department might prove fruitful.

The bench which used to stand outside the plant does not do so any longer. Now it sprawls against a tree, broken and seemingly beyond repair. It's tempting to view it as a symbol — a warning of the potential future of the entire site if somebody doesn't act soon to preserve it.

A few people are trying. If the city joins the fight, the efforts might succeed.

Beefed-up ordinance benefit to township

It's good to see revisions to the Northville Township woodlands ordinance reaching the stage of a public hearing before the full commission. (It's slated for Oct. 30.)

Woodlands protection ordinances are relatively new to Michigan — by having one in place, the township is well ahead of most of the state — and even newer to the township. No one is exactly sure how to make the rules do what they're supposed to do: protect valuable trees.

It's become clear in the last few months that one step in that direction is stiffer penalties for violations, and that's a key factor in the proposed revisions to the township's ordinance.

If the ordinance is going to have a bite, it needs teeth. The subcommittee recommendations which will come up in October look like some pretty good teeth.

Approval of the revisions, or something like them, by the planners and the board will send a strong message that the township is serious about protecting its natural assets. It should make builders think twice before trying an end run around the rules for the sake of convenience or a few dollars.

The subcommittee did a good job developing the revisions. They should move through the system and into the books as quickly as possible.

Local paper is a vital trust

"What is the function of a community newspaper?"

That question was posed to me recently and what my interrogator got for his trouble was an off-the-top-of-the-head, rather long-winded, definitely overly philosophical answer. As I sat down to write this column, introducing myself as the new managing editor of The Northville Record, I figured an explanation of my thoughts on this subject might just help readers to get to know me a little better, a little faster. I'll try to be concise this time.

Every newspaper has its own style, some do their jobs better than others, and each community has a different atmosphere — a different spirit — but the function of the community newspaper remains essentially the same. And that function is the one bestowed upon us by the founding fathers of our country, the men who formulated how our country and society would operate when they wrote the Constitution.

Having just won freedom from the tyranny and oppression of a British monarch, our forefathers feared that if we simply crowned a new king, we'd run the risk of being subjected to tyranny and oppression under that new king or his successors.

The idea that the people would self-govern through elections and a representative form of government was a pretty radical idea at the time. Even today democratic government is the exception and not the rule.

But self-government posed a problem for the framers of the Constitution. Decision makers must have full, accurate and truthful information to make good decisions. Every other government to that date had attempted to control information given to the public, but if the public was going to make the decisions, how could it be assured that they received all the information they needed.

The answer they settled on was to take all controls off the flow of information and let everyone have their say. Eventually, they theorized, the truth — the whole truth — would sift to the top.

The function of the community newspaper today remains the same — to fully and accurately inform the members of a community about the issues and events of the day so that they can make the best decisions about how the community should be run.

The challenges confronting a community newspaper in the 1990s, however, are a bit different than they were 200 years ago. We are no longer fighting tyranny and oppression. Our fight these days is more often against the evils of apathy and alienation. Now that the need for constant vigilance against tyranny is gone, at least in communities like Northville, many in our society are opting out of active participation in their communities. Worse perhaps, many feel that they, as individuals, could have little impact in such a large society.

So the function of a community newspaper these days isn't just to inform, it is also to get readers interested in the goings on in the community and spur them to action. The job of the newspaper is more than just providing accurate data on which the people can make decisions, it is also to give them compelling reasons why they should be interested enough to actually make those decisions.

There are a variety of techniques we can use. One is to be controversial. Anger is one of the most effective motivators for those who otherwise would be apathetic. But there are other techniques as well, such as pointing out community needs, explaining the variety of ways some members of the community are already involved, and recognizing those who have made contributions.

It's a tough job. I'll have to be creative to do it well. But I promise to do my best.

Here's who's doing what

Mike Malott has joined the staff of the paper here, holding the title that was recently held by Ann Willis and, before her, Phil Jerome. That title is "managing editor." My title is, and has been for a while, "editor." Just to confuse you a little more, it might be worth mentioning that Phil Jerome is still with the company, in the capacity of "executive editor."

Since those words probably don't mean a thing to the general public, I thought it might be useful to explain a little of who does what around here, if for no other reason than to give you an idea of the best person to call with complaints.

Mike, the new managing editor, is in charge of the office as a whole. He's the top administrator for the news staff in our downtown Northville office, which publishes two separate newspapers — the Novi News as well as The Northville Record. He's my immediate supervisor.

As editor, I share the administrative duties with Mike, but he's the ultimate boss. Together the two of us supervise the reporters, and together we're responsible for producing the news side (including editorials, features, sports and pictures) of both papers.

The titles hold for both papers — I'm editor of both the Record and the News; Mike is managing editor of both. But as a practical matter, it works best for us to each take on one newspaper and concentrate on it.

My main responsibility will be The Northville Record, while Mike's will be the Novi News. By "main responsibility" I mean things like making decisions on coverage, doing the final editing of articles, figuring out where to put all the stories and photos, and so on. Theoretically we'll both know what's going on with both papers, and you can always call either of us. But the bottom line is if it deals with Northville, it'll be easier if you talk to me, and if it deals with Novi, it'll be easier if you talk to Mike. We can both be reached at 349-1700.

This is something of a change; for most of this year my main responsibility has been Novi. But I'm more familiar with Northville and Mike is more familiar with Novi, and that's what we based the decision on.

Now, as for the rest: Phil Jerome is now the head of the news department for the entire company, and he works in Howell. (He's above both Mike and I.) Phil's boss is Rich Perlberg, the company's general manager. Phil and Rich can both be reached at 348-1995 (that's a direct line so it's not long distance).

Whew. And all this is just the news department. Maybe some day, if I'm feeling ambitious, I'll tell you all about advertising, circulation, composition and business.

Support schools in millage vote

To the editor:

Upon moving to Northville six years ago, I was immediately impressed with the quality of life that the area offered its residents. One important concern (especially as a "parent-to-be") was its school system. I was delighted to find out that George Bell, my former high school principal, was in charge. I had remembered Mr. Bell as an outstanding and exemplary high school administrator, and looked forward to having my children in a fine school system under his guidance.

Because of the State of Michigan's recent "Robin Hood" approach to school financing, I see an exceptional school system at risk. Adding to my concern are the sentiments voiced by the "anti-millage" factions in our community. Granted, the statistic citing that "65-70 percent of the people with no children in the school system" may be correct. But I am sure that this same percentage of people have had, or will someday have, children attending our schools.

The plan of seeking a millage proposal to recoup the lost state funding (and nothing more), combined with the decision to participate in the impending lawsuit against the revised school financing scheme, represents a fair and balanced approach to the problem.

I would expect nothing less from Mr. Bell and the Northville School District in seeking to protect the quality of education that our schools have provided to our past, present, and future students.

Remember pets

To the editor:

I just can't believe that in this day in age, people still don't understand the harm, or even the death, that they can bring to their pet dogs by leaving them in a locked car, in hot weather, with the windows up or even cracked a bit.

I was shopping at our local A & P, on Seven Mile in Northville last Saturday, at about 1 p.m. I had heard a dog barking, when I looked around, I spotted a blue car with a cute white and brown medium-sized dog, locked in the car, with the windows cracked at about one inch on the two front doors.

I couldn't believe that here it was in midday, 80-some degrees and in full sun, someone had left their dog in this parked car.

I waited for the owner to return to the car, so I could explain what a bad practice this was, and how dangerous this could be to their pet. Would you believe that I waited for over 20 minutes, in which another lady had told me that the dog was there before I had arrived. The other lady stayed with me, because she could not understand herself that anyone could be so cruel.

Needless to say the dog was panting real hard and trying to breath through the cracks of the window and trying to find a cool place to lie in. Eventually, the couple that owned the dog came out of Big Lots after shopping. When this other lady and I tried to tell them how dangerous this practice was, he yelled obscenities at us and told us that it was none of our business and even made a move of trying to run me over with his car. I would just love to lock him up in a hot car for about five minutes and see what it feels like, but that would be "cruelty to animals."

So, please, please! Don't lock your pets up in a car, during the hot summer days. Leave your loving pets at home, where I'm sure they will be a lot more comfortable and safer.

Rider worries

Editor's note: The following is a copy of a letter from the Salem Area Historical Society to the Salem Township Board.

Dear public servants:

Ten months ago, in November 1989, the historical society expressed its continuing concern again over the neglect by the township board of the Rider House. At that time it appeared that something would be done.

The township supervisor, the township building inspector and several interested members of the community toured the building. To this date only painting bids have been secured and no work has commenced. With another construction season coming to a close in a few months we feel compelled to once again urge you to arrange for the badly-needed roof repairs and painting to protect the structure from the destruction of yet another winter.

We would like to point out that throughout America there is a growing awareness of the need for historic preservation. Increasingly private citizens, companies, and even municipalities are participating in preserving our heritage. Ask anyone in Northville, Plymouth or Marshall and they will tell you it is good for business and property values both! We could all enjoy more community pride. We need to preserve our hamlet as a focus for our vast township.

The Rider House has housed public meetings, town business offices and historic displays since becoming a public asset. The township now has a "space committee" considering future room for town business that does not fit into the newer town offices. At least twice in recent years there has been talk of a lending library being established in the hamlet of Salem. The Jaycees, the Senior Citizens and the Historical Society all need permanent quarters in our public buildings.

All these needs could be, at least in part, met in the Rider House that stands almost totally unused save the annual tax appeals meetings that it houses.

The Rider House, with its central location and quaint village style, lend a historical appeal to our community. A structure already publicly owned, it is a valuable public property. Toward that end, its immediate survival should be insured before another winter ravages the taxpayers' property.

Believing in self is vital for children

When I was a young child my mother bought me the record "The Little Engine That Could." One of the phrases in the record that has stuck with me throughout my adult life is "I think I can, I think I can, I think I can."

It is a phrase I say often to myself when I am in doubt about whether or not I can master an unfamiliar task. I feel that it is a phrase that all children should be taught early on in their life.

Recently, I came across a poem which reaffirmed my belief in the phrase, "I think I can".

Think you Can!

*"If you think you are beaten, you are,
If you think you dare not, you don't.
If you like to win, but you think you can't
It is almost certain, you won't.
If you think you'll lose, you're lost.
For out in the world we find,
Success begins with a fellow's will
It's all in the state of mind.
If you think you are out classed, you are You've got to think high to rise,
You've got to be sure of yourself before
You can ever win a prize.
Life's battles don't always go*

*To the stronger or faster man.
But sooner or later the man who wins
Is the man Who Thinks He Can!"*

Share this philosophy with your children. Encourage them not to be afraid to try new activities or meet new friends or venture out into unfamiliar territory. It is a phrase that worked for me; hopefully, it will work for you and your family.

If you have a question on parenting or just want to talk about your youngster call Mary Ellen King at 344-1618.

The LWV has reason to be proud

What do Libby Maynard, Connie Binsfeld and Judy Miller have in common politically?

All are white females. All have grown children. All have been nominated by their parties to be within a heartbeat or two of the governor's office.

Philosophically, they run the spectrum — Maynard, the very liberal Democrat, No. 2 on the ticket to Gov. James Blanchard; Binsfeld, the very conservative Republican, No. 2 on John Engler's ticket; Miller, the moderate Republican, No.3 (secretary of state) on Engler's ticket.

Answer: membership in the League of Women Voters.

That nonpartisan voter information group, with chapters in western Wayne and Oakland counties, doesn't promote candidates. But it should be bursting with pride that three of its own are so prominent on the 1990 ballot.

And it's a civic improvement. League training shows through when a member reaches public office. A League member once told me:

"You study the issues. Really study. The purest form of study."

"But you study from a non-political perspective. That's what the League forces you to do — look at an issue non-politically and unemotionally."

"Each year we do one national major issue, one state major issue and one local major issue. We can do a county major issue, but we haven't."

"It was very difficult for me. I like to interject my personal feelings. But it was good discipline. And it still is," said the member, now an officeholder.

The League does its studying methodically, to the point of dryness. Each year it produces a statewide voter guide, carried in many newspapers, asking candidates for biographies and answers to carefully worded questions.

In professional newspaper circles, we are debating whether and when to ask candidates the "A" questions: Have you committed adultery? Have you had an abortion or has your wife or girlfriend had an abortion? We report on how much money was spent on a campaign, and which judicial candidate is suing an opponent over the size of billboards.

All junk, unworthy of debate, in League of Women Voters circles. They ask candidates what they propose to do with that $1 trillion in federal taxes and $8 billion in state taxes we pay. Those decisions are the ones which help or hurt America.

The difference between Maynard, Binsfeld and Miller and someone from the old political school — say, Lt. Gov. Martha Griffiths — is clear.

Griffiths chastised those whom she had given a boost to the top and who ultimately turned on her. The old politics deals in constituencies, not what's best for the nation. The old politics says you do me a favor and I do you a favor.

I've heard Martha Griffiths give her "feisty" speeches. I've also seen Beverly McAninch, a League state president from Plymouth, operate on the transit board and the nuclear waste committee.

I prefer League types.

The irony is that the League of Women Voters operates much like that bastion of ancient male chauvinism, Plato's Academy.

Socrates, the chief character in Plato's dialogues, said a philosopher is not wise (God alone is wise) but a pursuer of wisdom; that a philosopher should abandon an opinion once better facts and logic showed him another view was more enlightened. "Whither the truth flows, thither I go."

Vote Democratic or Republican, as you will, but either way you're going to get a League type in high Michigan office.

As I said, it will be a civic improvement.

Township ordinance puts bite where its bark is

for trees lost during sanctioned development.

"Basically, the idea is to make replacement standards and penalties much tougher," said Carol Maise, township planning and zoning administrator.

Maise said unauthorized tree removal could result in a fine of up to $500 per tree plus replacement of the destroyed trees.

The planning commission will hold a public hearing at 7 p.m. Oct. 30, on the proposed changes. The Wayne County Planning Commission will review the proposal in November and the township board will discuss the plan in December, Maise said.

If all goes smoothly, the amended ordinance could take effect in January, she said.

"Basically, the idea is to make replacement standards and penalties much tougher."

Carol Maise

Township Planning and Zoning Administrator

A planning commission woodlands subcommittee met throughout the summer to strengthen previous woodlands guidelines that some planners felt were insufficient.

The subcommittee's goal was to put teeth in the ordinance. Planning consultant Claude Coates of Villan-Leman & Associates said the group went back to basics to formulate a stronger plan.

"One of the things (the township) needed to do was firm up the definition of protected trees," he said.

Coates said the subcommittee proposed to define any tree with a 12-inch d.b.h. (a unit of measurement which factors tree diameter 4.5 feet above the existing land grade) as covered by the ordinance, regardless of its position inside or out of designated woodlands areas.

In addition, all trees with an 8-inch or larger d.b.h. located within woodlands areas are covered by the new language.

Maise said a replacement tree plan was an important part of the proposed amendment. If the changes are adopted, developers will have to replace landmark trees — large, desirable trees as defined under state guidelines — on an inch-to-inch basis.

Replacement trees are measured in calipers. Caliper inches are measured by using the diameter of the tree trunk at least six inches from the grade.

For instance, if developers removed a healthy 20-inch d.b.h. black walnut, trees totaling 20 caliper inches would have to be planted as replacements.

Under the current ordinance, a lone 2.5-inch tree is the only required replacement.

All trees 24 inches d.b.h. or larger are considered landmark trees. Other tree types such as dogwood, elm, fir and chestnut ranging from 8 inches d.b.h. to 24 inches also fall into the landmark category.

In all, 34 species of trees 8 inches d.b.h. or larger are covered by the ordinance.

Trees listed as protected but not recognized as landmark will be replaced at 50 percent of the d.b.h. when removed legally. That figure represents a more progressive approach to saving trees, Maise said, noting the old ordinance only provided for a 2.5-inch replacement.

Planners also instituted a clause which demands like-species replacement. Under the proposal, deciduous trees would have to be replaced by deciduous and evergreens with evergreens.

Commissioner Pat Wright chaired the ordinance review subcommittee. Additional members included Barbara O'Brien, Richard Allen and Coates, Maise and township staffer Susan Odom.

Store's clothes are for those looking for fun

By AILEEN WINGBLAD
Special Writer

C'est La Vie — contemporary clothes for guys and gals who like their casual dress to have a bit more spunk and daring — is showing lots of unusual selections to round out fall wardrobes.

"We try to have everything that is unique. You can get your plain turtleneck shirts somewhere else," says Kelly Barry, who has managed C'est La Vie's Twelve Oaks shop since it opened last March. "We carry the different cuts of jeans, the weirder prints and colors, embroideries and motifs."

And, since the shop caters to both the male and female markets, the choices and size ranges are greater for those who are searching for what Barry calls "fun clothes."

Some of the store's more popular items are leather coats and leather dresses which come in a host of colors. Big sweaters teamed with tights and/or short skirts are also hot sellers as customers get ready for the upcoming cooler weather. Of course jeans, from the darkest blue to the whitest acid wash, are always in demand, though Barry sees a trend toward loose fits and darker colors for autumn.

For men, a market that Barry says is "just starting to grow" at C'est La Vie, are baggy jeans and Cafe rayon shirts — which women are also asking for.

Barry, however, says it "takes a brave man" to don some of the more unusual prints which make up some of the Cafe shirts. "Some of them are pretty loud and wild," she says.

As for the cost of these items, Barry admits the prices are what she would call "medium expensive," but that the quality of the clothes warrants the cost. "In a nutshell, we're expensive but not a rip-off. The ticket prices might be big, but so is the quality. And if you compare our prices with those of some of the competing stores, you'll find that in some cases we tend to be less expensive," she says.

In addition to top quality, Barry says her shop also offers great service to customers without being pushy. "Some stores don't leave you alone until you open your wallet, and as for big department stores, lots of times there is not a salesperson around for miles."

"At C'est La Vie, we don't have to beg you to buy something — but if you need a salesperson, we're there. We want you to come into the store and have some fun. We are helpful, but we're not right down your throat," says Barry.

A wide range of accessories is also

Kelly Barry, manager of C'est La Vie in Twelve Oaks, puts the emphasis on unique and fun items carried by C'est La Vie, from unusual and unique watches and sunglasses for men and women to interesting costume jewelry, including Austrian crystal, handmade items, and a large selection of earrings.

"The weirder, the better as far as the earring category goes. We have lots of big dangly earrings and many different colors and styles. And we carry things from all over the country," she adds.

Plenty of tights and body stockings are also available at the shop and sell quite well, from footless styles to full body tanks.

Money Management

Every new business starts with a plan

Launching or operating a business without a carefully defined business plan is as foolhardy as setting out in a foreign country without a map and clear directions.

A business plan is an objective analysis of where your company is today, where you would like it to be tomorrow and how you intend to get it there. To do this, you will have to state your objectives, evaluate your resources and clarify employees' roles.

THE BENEFITS OF BUSINESS PLANS

Whether you're an experienced businessperson or just starting a new venture, developing a business plan will benefit your company, says the Michigan Association of CPAs. By presenting an overview of your entire organization, a business plan puts you in a better position to decide which activities are likely to increase your profits. In addition, by defining roles employees will play in achieving your organization's goals, a business plan can give them a greater sense of involvement in the business's future, encourage them to meet established objectives and dates and set standards of performance for all staff levels.

With a business plan in hand, you will also be better able to direct activities that will enhance your business's profitability and position in the marketplace. And if you ever need to apply for a loan, negotiate a merger or just promote sales, a business plan will help demonstrate that your company is soundly managed and well organized.

THE PLANNING PROCESS

Although business plans vary in style and complexity, most begin with a clear statement of purpose for the company. When writing your statement of purpose, answer several key questions. Why was your company formed? What makes it unique? What are its primary objectives? Take time to develop the statement of purpose since it will guide the remainder of the planning process.

Next, define your company's goals for the next three to five years. Think about what you wish to accomplish and if such goals are feasible. Keep in mind that you may need to modify your initial goals as your business grows or market conditions change.

You will also need to determine your company's strengths and weaknesses. To do so, look specifically at three areas of your business: market, product and finances. In studying your market, focus on the size of your potential market, customer's needs, industry statistics and projection data on market competition, sales and distribution plans and promotion and sales strategies.

When looking at your product line, pay close attention to patents, trademarks and trade secrets, manufacturing and operations requirements, and the laws and regulations affecting your business. In the area of finances, look at historical data as well as projected financial data.

COME TO A WRITTEN PLAN

Don't underestimate the value of committing your business strategies to paper. The written business plan should summarize all your findings and outline your business's financial situation, taking into account the current economic climate.

Make sure you include an analysis of your competition and a detailed list of business objectives for a specified period. The plan should also state what actions you should take and what programs you should start to achieve those objectives.

Finally, review the plan regularly. To monitor the effectiveness of the plan, compare actual results with those you hoped to achieve in your initial planning phase. For example, are you meeting your predetermined deadlines? How do your financial and operational projections compare with actual results? Are your long-range plans still on target?

SEEK THE ADVICE OF AN EXPERT

A comprehensive business plan requires that you step back from your business and carefully analyze its operations, finances and structure. Not every business owner is in a position to conduct a detailed analysis. If you have neither the time nor the expertise to develop a formal business plan, you might want to consider working with a CPA. In particular, a CPA can help you review historical documentation, including your financial statements, debt and lease agreements, income tax returns, personnel files and ownership data.

He or she can also help you compare your business's activity to industry norms by analyzing your business's financial ratios and comparing them to those of similar businesses.

Whether you seek professional help or develop a business plan on your own, remember that a business plan is basically just a map and a set of directions. The responsibility for ensuring that your company stays on course remains with you.

For further advice on developing business plans you can request a complimentary copy of the brochure "Planning your Company's Growth." Send your request with a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Michigan Association of CPAs, P.O. Box 9054, Farmington Hills 48333.

Weight Watchers owner cited with service award

Florine Mark was so impressed at losing 40 pounds through the Weight Watchers program that she's since become the largest franchisee of Weight Watchers International.

Mark, owner, president and chief executive officer of the WW Group in Farmington Hills, was recently selected service entrepreneur of the year by Ernst & Young.

"I was fat all my life," Mark said. "I overdosed on diet pills and ended up in the hospital. I heard about this Weight Watchers thing in New York."

"I wanted to give back what they had given me — I couldn't believe I was taking off weight without pills," she said.

Mark conducted her first meeting July 19, 1966. Today, her instructors teach some 1,800 classes weekly in 12 states, Canada and Mexico.

"I manage by team," Mark said. "Everyone buys in and we all manage together. The most important thing is the people who buy the service. Second is the people providing classes."

"The most important thing to me is service, service, service," she said. "They pay us. They deserve to get the best."

Mark is a director for the Boy Scouts, March of Dimes, Detroit Symphony Orchestra and United Jewish Appeal.

Her hobbies include tennis, reading and playing the piano.

Mark and her husband, Dr. William Ross, live in Farmington Hills. She has five grown children.

Business Briefs

JOHN MCCLURE of Northville, a delivery driver for United Parcel Service, was recently recognized by the company for completing 20 years of driving without an accident.

McClure works out of the UPS facility located at 29855 Schoolcraft, Livonia. He presently provides delivery service in Northville area.

"Twenty years safe driving means a lot of hard work," said McClure, "because of all the elements out there and people on the road."

Plymouth center manager Bob Langohr presented the 20-year safe driving award at a ceremony honoring McClure's achievement.

Novi resident JOHN A. MAYS has been promoted to first vice president for Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit. He is the officer-in-charge of the loan review department.

Mays holds a bachelor's degree in business administration from the University of Detroit. He is a member of Robert Morris Associates and the National Association of Credit Management.

One of the more light-hearted booths at the recent Novi '50s festival was the Century 21 West balloon table.

Through sales of various character balloons and glow-in-the-dark necklaces, the Realtors from Novi's Century 21 office were able to raise over $1,000.

The Century 21 effort isn't stopping there. The office is continuing to raise money for Easter Seals by selling raffle tickets for a trip to Las Vegas, and numerous other prizes. For information, contact any Century 21 West agent, or call 349-6800.

JEFF ZAYED of Wixom has been promoted to sales manager in The Prudential's Livonia district office, 17197 N. Laurel Park Drive. He now heads a staff of five sales representatives.

Since joining The Prudential in 1987, Zayed has received many honors for sales and service leadership.

The son of Sam and Sandy Zayed of Wixom, he is a graduate of Walled Lake Western High School and the University of Detroit. Zayed and his wife, Marlene, have one child.

Northville accountant RALPH W. GUDMUNDSEN, was elected chairperson of the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants' (MACPA) Metropolitan Detroit Chapter, which has more than 6,000 members.

Gudmundsen, who is also an attorney, is senior vice president and controller at Giffels Associates Inc. in Southfield. An MACPA member since 1973, he serves on the Members in Industry, Government & Education Committee. He also holds memberships with the National Association of Accountants, American Institute of CPAs, Michigan Bar Association and American Bar Association.

The Clarion Turn-of-the-century, country style with modern charm

By James McAlexander

Far too few contemporary homes are designed with space for a porch swing. Not so with the Clarion. Its wide front porch is just the spot for swinging, sipping chilled lemonade, reading the paper or taking time for leisurely conversation.

Inside, the Clarion's turn-of-the-century, country-style exterior gives way to living spaces that are brighter, more spacious and less formal than builders made them way back when.

The spacious feeling is particularly strong on first entering the house where the entryway is vaulted to the second floor and brightened by a window at the top of the upstairs landing. To the right is a huge great room separated by nothing more than a fireplace.

The kitchen also is large. Its central work island allows two or more cooks to combine their efforts without knocking elbows. Plants will flourish in the sunny corner in front of the sink. Family members will take equal delight in the skylight eating nook. The kitchen also has a pantry and access to one of two decks.

A luxurious master suite with vaulted ceiling is also downstairs, complete with a large walk-in closet, spa and separate vanity. The utility room, with its Pullman bed tucked into a recessed wall, doubles as a guest room.

Upstairs are two bedrooms, one slightly larger than the other, and a bath. Still more space exists under the high peaked roof. With the simple installation of a pull-down ladder, it could be finished and converted to a storage or game room.

MASTERS OF DISGUISES

Insects have lots of ways to blend into their surroundings and hide themselves, but basically only two reasons: to improve their chances of capturing lunch or to avoid being eaten.

Some insects, however, are brightly colored so they can't escape being seen. The bright colors are less a lure to predators than a warning that the insects are inedible or at least nasty tasting.

From camouflage to warning colors, it's all protective coloration, says Gery Dunn, Extension entomologist at Michigan State University. And insects make effective use of it.

"Insects have lots of ways to hide themselves," Dunn said. "For those that have no way to fight back and defend themselves or run away from predators, not being seen is an important strategy in not becoming a meal for some mammal, reptile or bird."

Many insects hide in plain sight by resembling non-living things. One swallowtail caterpillar, for instance, resembles bird droppings.

Others, particularly the walking stick, resemble twigs. Quite a few species resemble leaves, and many night-flying moths are colored and marked so that they blend into the rough texture of bark. In the tropics, one type of mantis resembles the pink orchids in which it hunts its prey.

Other insects actually build themselves a disguise out of plant parts, stones, dust and other debris. Caddisfly larvae cover themselves with bits of stone and some other streambed debris; the masked hunter, a type of assassin bug, covers its body with whatever small particles of dust and debris it can pick up.

Another form of camouflage and protection is that practiced by leafrollers, which roll leaves around themselves to hide them from potential predators.

In contrast to the camouflaged insects that blend into their surroundings, some insects—such as monarch butterflies and milkweed beetles—have bright colors that warn birds and other insect eaters that these insects won't make a tasty snack.

"It's probably not a coincidence that most of the insects that feed on milkweed are red or orange," Dunn says. "Chemicals in the milkweed make the insects inedible. Their bright colors warn predators away."

Other insects have evolved that look like these protected insects and benefit from their special defense.

The viceroy butterfly is one of these. The larvae of monarch butterflies feed on milkweed, giving the adults a chemical protection against predators. Viceroy butterfly larvae feed on other plants, but the viceroy butterfly looks enough like the adult monarch to fool would-be predators into leaving it alone, too.

It probably took thousands of years for the monarch-viceroy mimicry to evolve, Dunn surmises. A relatively recent example of moths in England in the 19th century from predominantly light-colored to mostly dark-colored.

The change coincided with increasing industrialization of the area, which resulted in the dark tree trunks, more of the dark-colored moths survived to reproduce, and the proportions of dark and light-colored moths in the population shifted.

Sometimes even the best camouflage doesn't always work, Dunn notes. Insects such as the underwing moths have one more trick up their sleeves: Underwings with large eye spots or bull's-eye markings that the moths can reveal to startle or confuse a potential predator and give them time to escape.

"Like camouflage and warning colors, these startling markings are weapons in insects' fight for survival," Dunn says.

For those that have no way to fight back...not being seen is an important strategy

Creative marketing in real estate

By James M. Woodard

Real estate marketing techniques are becoming more high-tech and creative.

To encourage investor interest in a proposed resort development in the Laughlin, Nev., desert area, a unique videotape was produced using highly creative visual effects that helped viewers envision the completed project.

The tape was shown to selected groups and transmitted via satellite to television news directors. The primary objective was to raise $75 million for a corporate bond issue. It soon produced over $100 million in committed funds.

"Using state-of-the-art visual effects was a key to the success of this promotional videotape," said David Nemer, president of J-Nex Television News Services and producer-director of the project.

In the marketing of individual homes, computerized mailing lists are being used increasingly to target a specific group of strategic recipients.

For example, a new marketing program called Sure-Lead has been launched by Better Homes and Gardens Real Estate Service—a national real estate franchise organization with 1,250 affiliated offices. It involves printed announcements automatically mailed to homes in close proximity to a newly listed property—or one that has just sold.

Typically, the announcement cards are mailed to 60 to 125 residences. The addresses are selected and printed on labels via a sophisticated computer program.

The same computer is used in the operation of the Better Homes and Gardens National Referral Service.

"More than one-third of home buyers come from out of town," said Ray Sculfort, vice president for marketing services at Better Homes and Gardens Real Estate Service.

"With member real estate offices throughout the country, it's important to utilize the most advanced high-tech referral and marketing systems."

Occasionally, a marketing project is so unusual and creative it receives international attention. Such was the case in a promotional project for the historic Huntington Hotel property in Pasadena—the oldest operating hotel in Southern California.

A public relations agency—Read Communications—arranged for the marriage of a young couple on a Huntington Hotel-sponsored float in the Tournament of Roses Parade.

The unique marriage ceremony was viewed by an estimated 350 million people around the world. It was the most widely witnessed American wedding ever.

"It seemed like a natural type of promotional project," said Nat Read, agency owner. "The hotel has been the site of tens of thousands of weddings and countless wedding receptions and honeymoons over the years."

Following the event, the hotel's bookings increased by 20 percent. The project earned Read the Silver Anvil award from the Public Relations Society of America—the group's highest award.

The increased hotel occupancy pushed up the value of the property substantially. Many newly emerging real estate marketing techniques are targeted at special groups—e.g., foreign investors, pension fund managers.

In some cases, major U.S. brokerage firms are teaming up with foreign firms to enhance their international line of communications. Progressive brokers are also tapping the increasingly potential pension fund market by communicating with fund managers and consultants.

Q: Are home values falling in all parts of the country?

A: No. Home values are continuing to climb in many areas—particularly in low-priced metro areas.

Wide influences in home prices occurred in West Coast communities in recent months, it was revealed in a survey report from the National Association of Realtors.

"Price spikes were experienced in the Pacific Northwest, and only marginal changes were observed on the California coast."

"In the South, several cities reported strong price gains. The Midwest emerged as the strongest region overall."

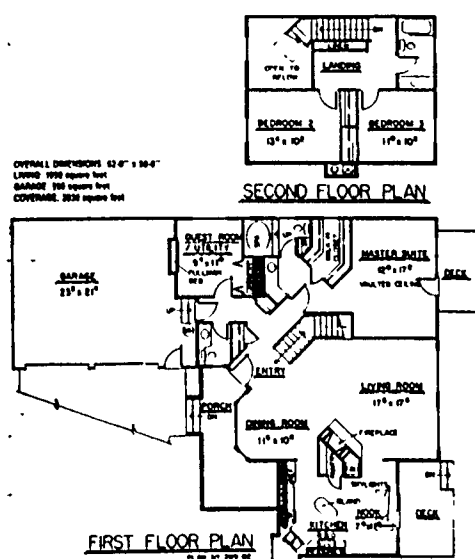

Q: Are we on the brink of a housing recession in the United States?

A: Not according to a recent study conducted by Harvard University. Their study report indicates that home prices and rents will remain stable over the coming decade, despite predictions by some analysts of a housing market crash.

A positive view was also expressed by Jesse Abraham, economists for Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp.:

"There will not be a nationwide collapse in home prices. The dynamics of demand and supply should work well and without catastrophe over the next 10 years."

A Louis XV armchair

By James G. McCollam

Q. Enclosed is a picture of an armchair; it appears to be hand-carved walnut. This chair has been in my husband's family for generations.

Can you identify the period, style and possible value?

A. This is a Victorian Louis XV Revival finger carved armchair. It was made during the third quarter of the 19th century and probably would sell for $600 to $700.

Q. What can you tell me about a white milk glass barber's bottle stopper?

It is marked "Bay Rum" and has a hand-painted portrait of a pretty girl in an old-fashioned costume.

A. Your bottle probably was made in the late 1800s.

Dealers are selling bottles like this in the $500 to $600 range.

Q. I have an 8-inch pitcher that is decorated with Egyptian scenes. The spout is formed with a pharaoh's head. It is marked "Doulton, Burslem" in a circle with eight small bumps.

Please tell me anything you can about this.

A. Your pitcher was made by Doulton & Co. in Burslem, England, between 1882 and 1890.

A Victorian Louis XV Revival finger carved armchair, worth up to $700.

It probably would sell for about $125 to $135 in an antique shop.

Q. I have a set of 12 dessert plates marked "C.A.—France." The border is trimmed in gold with leaves, vines and white flowers on a pale green background.

Can you tell me who made them and the value?

A. These dessert plates were made in Limoges, France, by Charles Ahrenfeldt and are worth about $500 to $600.

Water marks off windows

By Gene Gary

Q. How can I get water marks off windows I had replacement windows installed two years ago and I try to wash them at least every month. I've always used ammonia and water and soft rags. Is there anything else I can do to remove these marks?

A. If the stains have not etched the glass, here are several suggestions for cleaning stubborn stains on windows. Although some of these methods are non-traditional, readers have reported them to be effective.

Clean with a solution of hot water and dishwashing powder formulated to reduce spotting. Use a long-handled car-washing brush when applying the formula. Rinse with plenty of clear water.

Brasso, formulated for polishing brass, copper and other fine metals, can work wonders on windows. Use a soft rag and plenty of elbow grease to remove stubborn spots. The cleaner will leave a powdery residue behind, but it's easily removed with glass cleaner.

Another unusual product recommended by one of our readers is automotive Kit wax, available at auto-supply stores. It also requires plenty of elbow grease and removal of the wax film with a glass cleaner.

One potent cleaning solution is muriatic acid diluted with water. Use 1 part acid to 9 parts water. Be extremely careful when preparing and using this solution.

Wear rubber gloves, old clothes and eye goggles.

Pour the acid into the water, never the reverse. Use a sponge to wash the windows and thoroughly rinse with clear water. Be careful not to get any of the acid solution on woodwork or painted siding.

If these methods fail, as a last resort you may remove some of the water stain by buffing the window surface with a rubbing compound. Use an electric buffer and a light to medium liquid rubbing compound (be careful not to break the glass by applying too much pressure). A 3m rubbing compound for fiberglass boats is effective.

This process will often remove very persistent water deposits, although the abrasions in some of the rubbing compounds can tend to scratch the glass surface. But minute scratches are often easier to live with than glass that is severely stained.

Once the stains have been removed, apply a protective coating such as Rain-X or Window Maid. The protective coatings have to be reapplied periodically.

Q. How can I clean a sprayed-on acoustic ceiling?

A. Acoustic ceilings generally have a rough, pebbled texture and require very little maintenance. Do not clean them by vacuuming or rubbing them, because the raised materials will flake off. If you need to clear cobwebs away, gently brush with a feather duster. If the ceilings have become stained with cigarette smoke or water, they can be resprayed. This is a job for a professional.

Q. My hardwood table has a white mark on it because I had a hot teapot sitting on the table. Although the teapot was on a mat, it didn't insulate the heat enough and a white spot appeared.

Can you tell me how I can remove the spot and not damage the finish?

A. If the mark has not penetrated too deeply, you might be able to remove it by one of the following methods:

Gentle rubbing with fine pumice and light machine oil, using a piece of heavy felt (such as that from an old hat).

Use very finely powdered rotten stone, or even cigar ash.

A drop of turpentine or camphorated oil rubbed on with the fingertip.

Patience is required, rather than elbow grease. If none of these methods is successful, the stain has penetrated too deeply and refinishing is required.

Tradition with style.

In 1927, when Burroughs Farms recreation area was established, there was a real sense of tradition, of elegance and style. That tradition of classic elegance has been updated and transformed into Oak Pointe. Condominiums and single family homes reflecting contemporary style and taste have been skillfully placed within the natural landscape.

Two excellent Golf Courses, including the Arthur Hills designed Honors Course, weave their way through protected wetlands, mature trees and gently rolling hills.

A Beach, Private Marina and community picnic areas are at the disposal of Oak Pointe residents. There are Tennis Courts and paved paths for jogging or for evening walks through secluded nature trails.

AGING MISS DAISY

When veteran Marquis Theatre director Art Rizzo began casting for the play "Driving Miss Daisy," he found a talented professional actress willing to play Daisy.

There was one problem, though. The actress was 30 years too young.

But that stumbling block hasn't stopped actress Dorry Peltyn from playing the role.

Through numerous theatrical illusions, Peltyn will take the historic Northville stage Sept. 14-30 as Daisy, a fiercely independent, cantankerous woman of 72.

Okay, so maybe Peltyn is a fine actress who can create the illusion of an old woman through her voice and mannerisms. But how will the audience really believe this woman is so much older than she really is?

The answer is Roger White.

Well-known in the industry for his talent at creating special effects with makeup, White has designed the make-up for five films produced in Michigan and numerous locally-shot television segments and commercials, including last Friday's episode of "America's Most Wanted" and a public-service commercial called "Smoking Stinks."

"My biggest concern was doing the makeup because Dorry is not an old woman by any means," Rizzo explained. To create the dramatic aging of Miss Daisy, the Marquis hired White, a professional makeup artist, to redesign Peltyn's face for the show.

"When they asked if I would do this I was terrified," Peltyn said. "I asked, what about her age? I was really scared."

"But then Roger came in and did what he did and it was wonderful," she said. "He even actually gave me a turkey neck. He gave me a Ronald Reagan neck and he used no putty — he just shaded it in."

To age Peltyn into Miss Daisy, White followed the natural lines in her face, darkening and contouring them with makeup until she looked old.

With an artist's hand, White used shades of brown, white and black to put 30 years on Peltyn's face in less than an hour. The result was an approximation of how Peltyn herself might look one day.

"I look just like my mother," Peltyn whispered in awe.

That's a plus, because Peltyn has modeled her performance of Daisy after her own mother.

"My mother is Miss Daisy," she said. "My daughter thinks it's scary because she sees it in me."

In fact, White had asked Peltyn to bring in a picture of her mother. "That's going to be you some day," he told her.

Does that seem strange to her? Not really.

"I'm glad, because my mother looks great for her age," Peltyn explained.

Besides, when you look close the makeup doesn't quite look real. "It's for the stage and the stage lights will wash it out," she said. "Theatrical lines are much darker than natural skin lines in order for it to read from the stage."

"So I look 72, but worse than I'll look."

White began his career as a makeup artist at 13, when he discovered he had a talent for making monster faces for Halloween.

He went on to do makeup for high school plays, but "when I got out of school I had to find a 'real' job. People told me you can't make any money doing this," White explained.

"So I got a real job (as a General Motors factory worker), but they went on strike and I needed money. So I went to a costume shop and told them I can do all this stuff and they

Volunteer Ray Casterline

Providing a home

By LESLIE PEREIRA
Special Writer

Ray Casterline thought he knew what he was getting into.

At the urging of his longtime friend John Steimel, who thought he should do something more for his community, Casterline decided to try and get himself appointed to the Northville Housing Commission.

That was 15 years ago, and he has been on the commission ever since, serving eight of those years as its president. Casterline still laughs as he recalls that advice from his friend who said the commission tasks would be easy.

"It ended up we were meeting every night for months," says Casterline, a third-generation owner of Casterline Funeral Home.

At the time of its early inception, the commission was working around the clock on their one really big project, the Allen Terrace apartments.

Once the senior citizen apartment complex was finished in 1978, the group's duties slowed down a bit and they now meet only once a month and do a few hours of work each week from their homes.

"Allen Terrace has always been an asset to Northville because it keeps the people together," says Casterline. "Most of the folks up there know each other, so it is like a big family."

The Northville Housing Commission is made up of five men and women who are appointed by the city council. Other members are Constance J. Conder, William Robertson, Charlotte Holland, and Lorraine Steimel. The five-member commission also works closely with Allen Terrace's housing director, Frances Hopp.

While the group's most time-consuming project is the management of the Allen Terrace apartment complex, that is not the only ball they have in the air. The commission is also responsible for helping low-income homeowners obtain grants to fix up their homes.

"I feel the commission as a whole does an excellent job — it is a service to the community," says Casterline.

Happy 25th wedding anniversary to Jack and Anne Crampton!

Married on August 21, 1965, the Cramptons have lived 14 of those years together right here in Northville.

She is the couple's first child, and was 8 pounds, 1 ounce, and 21 inches at birth.

The paternal grandparents are Tom and the late Marcia Grace. The maternal grandparents are Mary and Robert Hopps.

Great-grandparents are L. Audrey Grace, the late Leo Grace and the late Anthony and Antonina Bojnarowicz. The baby is named for her late grand-

Single Place plans several events

Single Place, a singles group sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church of Northville, will offer the following events:

• "Romancing the Nineties" with Julia Grice is a series of seminars on romance. Grice is the author of numerous historical romance novels.

The program, which began Sept.

12, has four more seminars scheduled: for Sept. 19 ("Managing the Mingling"), Sept. 26 ("First Dates and Blind Dates: a survival guide), Oct. 3 ("That Special Magic — Chemistry and Physical Attraction"), and Oct. 10 ("Approaches — His and Hers").

Each seminar begins at 7:30 at the First Presbyterian Church. A donation of $26 for the series is requested to cover the cost of speakers, notebook, refreshments and child care.

• "Starting Over Single" is a divorce recovery workshop that offers participants a chance for healthy recovery from divorce. The workshop is designed to reaffirm self worth and help participants to project that faith in self to family members and friends.

Workshops are held Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church. They are open to any divorced or separated person of any age. Cost is a $26 donation for the series, which includes book, speakers, notebook, refreshments, and child care. Child care will be provided only with two days advance notice.

Pet adoptions sought

Thousands of dogs are put to death each year. More animals need help in finding a home through adoption.

The Oakland County Animal Shelter has thousands of dogs available for adoption.

"We have 13,000 dogs coming in each year and 10,000 are not claimed. A lot of good animals need homes so we won't have to put them to sleep," says Carol Anderson, manager of the shelter.

Adoption of a pet is $50 for licenses and necessary shots. Many breeds including purebreds are available.

By giving a pet a home, another life is saved and a friend gained. The shelter urges you to participate in "Adopt-A-Pet."

Local access: cable for all

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

It's often the brunt of jokes, such as Saturday Night Live's "Wayne's World," but local programming — community access television — has a lot to offer, according to area cable companies.

In fact, they're willing to dedicate a week of celebration to it.

Sept. 9-15 is local cable programming week, and to celebrate it, Omnicom and MetroVision cable companies are spotlighting local people and communities to promote awareness of local programming.

According to Maria Holmes, community affairs and program director for Omnicom, which serves Northville, there has been a good area response to local programming Channel 8.

In addition to local residents who share the duty of taping Northville Township Board meetings, numerous Northville area residents have developed shows for the gifted and talented, religious programming and shows hosted by high school students.

One show, called "Open Door Church," went to the limits in local programming," Holmes said, explaining that the church members used two videocameras for a professional presentation.

Another Northville resident, Mike Guinn, is an aspiring newscaster who uses the channel for reporting experience.

"Every chance he gets he goes out and shoots something news-related," Holmes explained. "He likes to do the reporting end of it."

Omnicom will be in Northville this weekend recording the Victorian Festival.

MetroVision, which serves the Novi area, is celebrating local programming week by showing videotapes of local people that were taped in various shopping malls Sept. 4-7. MetroVision's community access channel is 12 in most homes.

According to MetroVision spokesperson Kathy Friedrichs, people voicing their opinions or sending video greetings were taped at Novi Town Center Sept. 7 from noon to 4 p.m.

Weddings

MR. and MRS. RICHARD SIMON BOEREMA

Ms. Wende Marie Markey and Mr. Richard Simon Boerema were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony at Martha-Mary Chapel in Greenfield Village on May 19, 1990. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence H. Markey II of South Chigwidden Drive in Northville. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger B. Boerema of Alger Drive S.E. in Grand Rapids.

The double-ring ceremony included two solos, the lighting of the unity candle and vows written by the bride and groom. The Reverend John Steigenga of LaGrave Avenue Church in Grand Rapids officiated.

The bride's silk gown featured a bodice of Lyon lace and pearls. The plunging neckline was accented by double bows and a chapel-length train. She carried a traditional bouquet of white and pink roses and stephanotis.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Bridget Christine Karle, of Bloomfield Hills, as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Wendy Marie Flanagan of Northville, Mary Jill Boerema of Grand Rapids, Janet Carrie Spoelhof of Holland, and Elizabeth Jane Kingma of Grand Rapids. The attendants wore full-length ballgowns of periwinkle blue taffeta.

The best man was Daniel Sieburn De Vries of Grand Rapids, and groomsmen were Jeffrey John King of Northville, John Kenneth Boerema of Whom, Scott Alan Spoelhof of Holland, and Todd William Kingma of Grand Rapids.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 200 guests took place at Lovett Hall in Greenfield Village. The couple honeymooned in Maui and Kauai, Hawaii and now reside in Milford.

The bride is a graduate of Mercy High School and the University of Michigan and is now employed by Holtzman & Silverman Communications as an account executive. The groom is a graduate of Grand Rapids Christian High School and received both his bachelor's and master's degrees in mechanical engineering from the University of Michigan. He is employed as a product development engineer at NTN • Bower Corporation.

he became a professional makeup artist.

Doing makeup like this is similar to painting a picture in some ways. "But it's very different in other ways," White said. "In this (medium) your canvas moves and people see it from different angles."

"Everything about the theater is what you make people believe," he added. "Everything is really up to the actors. It's up to them to really make the audience believe."

Peltyn pondered that as she examined her face in the mirror. "It's the bags under my eyes that I like best," she said.

Agape Smiles seeks families to host singer

Agape Smiles Foundation is looking for families to host members of the group Up With People during their stay in the Northville and Novi area.

Up With People is a unique international organization which for 25 years has provided young men and women year-long opportunities for cross-cultural education, diverse community service, on-stage musical performance experience and extensive world travel.

The group is set to arrive Friday, Sept. 21, and will stay until the following Monday morning. Host families are asked to provide limited transportation, a few meals and a place to sleep.

Members of the Up With People cast represent an average of 25 countries annually and have a median age of 21 in a range of 18-26.

Each year an estimated 30,000 families worldwide invite students into their homes. According to Up

With People personnel, the hosts provide not only a place to stay, but a personal perspective of the community in which they live. In the 80-90 families they stay with during the year, students learn about their hosts' customs, foods, jobs, values, language and more.

Area residents interested in hosting an Up With People student should contact the Agape Smiles Foundation at 437-1172.

The Up With People performance is scheduled for Sept. 22 at Novi High School, where they will perform their new show "Face to Face." It takes the audience on a two-hour tour of the world, featuring popular and traditional songs, dances and costumes from various parts of the world.

Seating is limited. Tickets for the show purchased in advance are $10 for adults and $7 for children and senior citizens. Ticket donations are tax deductible.

MR. and MRS. JAMES ALLAN URTEL

Family and guests gathered at the Gazebo in Northville's Historical Village on July 21, 1990, to observe the exchange of vows between Jennifer Virginia Huard, daughter of Allen and Virginia Huard of Northville, and James Allan Urtel of Huntsville, Alabama. Mr. Urtel is the son of Harris and Norma Urtel of Ravenna, MI.

The bride's gown was designed with a fitted bodice of white, hand-beaded satin and embroidered Shiffler lace. The full skirt and semi-cathedral train also had insets of embroidered lace.

Donna Dunnabeck of Northville was maid of honor, and Deanne L. Chance, also of Northville, was a bridesmaid. Attendants to the bride included her sister, Kendra Huard and the bride's cousin, Elizabeth Huard of Ulica.

James Pieczynski of Jodavina served as best man, and Jody Olney of Ravenna was a groomsman.

At a special gathering at the bride's home preceding the ceremony, the bride and her bridal company were aided and attended by her aunts: Mrs. Linda Sims of Saginaw; Mrs. Ann Marie Sims of Troy; Mrs. Mary Huard of Ulica; and Mrs. Carol Huard of Rudyard. She was further assisted by her great-aunt, Mrs. Matilda McLeod of Saginaw, and by her grandmother, Mrs. Isabelle Fay of Memphis.

The bride and her father arrived at the Gazebo by horse-drawn carriage, and following the ceremony, the newlyweds enjoyed a carriage ride through town as they made their way to a garden reception at the bride's home.

The bride, a Northville graduate, has an associate's degree from Ferris State University. The groom, also a Ferris graduate, is the supervisor of the printing department at the University of Alabama at Huntsville.

Presently, the couple resides in Huntsville.

Codependency workshop planned

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

"Do you put all the energy into your relationship? If so, Northville therapist Jacques Martin-Downs and her partner, Linda Limbers-Mitchell, think they can help.

Martin-Downs and Limbers-Mitchell are presenting a seminar this weekend called "How to Build Lasting, Healthy Relationships — A Codependency Seminar."

The seminar will include lectures and presentations by the two women, who are both experienced speakers and counselors. The evening will revolve around discussions, writing and skits.

"It really is going to be fun," Martin-Downs said. "Basically I think that anybody can benefit from it... Hopefully it will even get a little stilly."

Martin-Downs said she is hoping for a turnout of about 250 people, with a mixture of single and married people.

Codependency is the name for a psychological disorder in which a person tends to take more responsibility for his or her partner, leading the person to neglect himself.

"If I am codependent, I am taking much more responsibility for you than for myself," Martin-Downs explained. "Basically I am shortchanging myself under the guise of love."

This seminar, she said, will teach people to "not necessarily be selfish but to get basic needs met."

Martin-Downs estimated that as many as 90 percent of all relationships suffer from some degree of codependency.

"One person in relationships generally feels like he or she is doing most of the work in that relationship," she said.

Cost for both Friday and Saturday sessions is $30. Cost for only Friday is $10; Saturday only is $25. Both sessions will be held at First United Methodist Church of Northville (777 W. Eight Mile Road).

Friday's session runs from 7-9:30 p.m. and will focus on defining healthy relationships, recognizing codependency, and hidden addictions.

The Saturday morning session (8:30-11:30 a.m.) will focus on "the inner child," ego styles and self-defeating behavior. The Saturday afternoon session (1-4 p.m.) will teach techniques to help you "look before you leap," realistic expectations of yourself and others; and strategies for success in relationships.

The Northville Record

Trip's on with new itinerary

By Iris Sanderson Jones

What a rotten break, I thought. Then I remembered Mittenwald, Adi and Dinkelsbühl.

Until last week, everybody who had signed up for the October 2-13 tour sponsored by this newspaper and Lufthansa, the German airline, was excited about starting the tour in Berlin. Berlin, the city of reunification. Berlin, the city that used to have a wall down its main street.

Last week the two Germanies took the excitement another step. Reunification of the two Germanies would take place Oct. 3. On the very date our tour was planning to be there. Too good to be true of course. We had to bow to history and leave the hotel rooms to the statesmen.

What a rotten break. Then I saw the new itinerary: Rothenburg, Dinkelsbühl, Garmisch-Partenkirchen. And I remembered Adi.

The scrapbook I was looking for was in the basement, in a box, on a top shelf at the back, but I finally found it. It was a record of our first trip to Europe, told in words, photos, postcards, receipts and scraps of toilet paper. It was the first time we had sampled toilet paper that felt like sandpaper so we made a collection.

As I turned the pages I started to smile. There was the night we met young Germans in the Hofbrauhaus in Munich, where the man asked me to dance and twirled me so fast I fell on the floor. Where the girl carried three one-liter mugs of beer in each hand like a weight lifter.

There was Adi of the toothless grin, met in a weinstube in the mountain village of Mittenwald, near Garmisch-Partenkirchen. And there it was, straight out of the 16th century, the tiny village of Dinkelsbühl, on the Romantische Strasse—the Romantic Road.

I was so excited on that trip that I wrote everything down for my scrapbook. How it felt to watch the sun come up from an airplane. Riding the cable car up the Austrian side of the Alps to the Zugspitz. Adi.

The night we met Adi we had just finished dinner and walked into a weinstube, a small wine version of a beer hall. There was a row of booths down one side of a long narrow room and an oomp-pa band at the end.

We walked through, saw no empty tables and were ready to leave when Adi saw us. We didn't know then that Europeans sit at empty chairs even if a table is otherwise occupied.

"Setzen Sie hier! Setzen Sie hier!" "Sit here, sit here!"

We crowded in at either end and had a hilarious evening. Adi couldn't speak English. I had learned a few words from "German Made Simple," but I couldn't understand him at all.

It didn't matter. As the band went oomp-pa, we drank beer, thumped our steins and Adi yodeled. He yodeled about us, while we rocked back and forth, arms linked. He yodeled about "Deee-troit" about "A-mer-i-ca."

Meanwhile, we drove on to Dinkelsbühl. We stayed in the Deutsches Haus, restored over centuries to be a cozy inn. We saw the girls in Bavarian dresses, the 15th century church and the women carrying their string bags to market.

Small memories. Great memories.

It wasn't over then either, as we learned a year later when a tattered postcard arrived one Saturday morning from Mittenwald. The picture showed the exact semi-circular leather booth where we had yodeled through an evening with Adi.

On the back, in a mixture of German and English were these words. "We miss you." "Come back." "Auf Wiedersehen."

It might be even better than Berlin.

On the (M.V.) Horizon

Cruise to Bermuda offers luxurious accommodations

By Iris Sanderson Jones

ABOARD THE M.V. HORIZON: Passenger liners have changed a lot since Cary Grant and Deborah Kerr waltzed across the movie screen in tuxedo and evening gown earlier in this century.

If Captain Gerassimos Andrianatos was so inclined he could set the M.V. Horizon on "automatic" and it would sail the 774 miles from New York City to Bermuda all by itself.

The Horizon is one of the new state-of-the-art ships built for cruising in 1990, but some things haven't changed. The ship still makes that foghorn sound as it moves out of port late on a Saturday afternoon and voices still ripple excitedly across the deck "are we moving, are we moving?"

As the skyline of New York City slides by, the band plays "Yellow Bird," the white-jacketed waiters carry trays of pina colodas and maitais on their heads and passengers tap their toes to the music.

I stretched out on a deck chair to watch Ellis Island and the Statue of Liberty go by, and the next thing I knew we were at sea.

Next landfall: Bermuda.

The Horizon spends Saturday and Sunday night at sea. Monday and Tuesday in Hamilton, the capital city of Bermuda. Wednesday and most of Thursday in St. George's, the historical city of Bermuda. And Thursday and Friday nights sailing back to New York.

What I like about that itinerary is that it combines the luxury of cruising with four days in one of the world's most interesting islands, without paying the outrageous prices that a trip to Bermuda would otherwise demand.

Most passengers are from the eastern seaboard because midwesterners tend not to think of Bermuda as a cruise destination, but there are a few from Michigan. Irena Filipovic of Bloomfield Hills is aboard with her daughter Susan, a Lahser High School senior, and her son Dan, a University of Michigan student.

The Filipovics have cruised extensively, so they are most interested in the sun-sea aspects of the Horizon. Other passengers cruise as a preamble and a postscript to Bermuda and to use the ship as a luxury hotel and dining room while in port.

Saturday night was party night for most passengers, who lingered over a five-course dinner, explored the casino and the disco, watched the stage entertainment and filled the bars. Some of us even remembered to put our watches ahead an hour to Bermuda time.

By the time we struggled up into the Sunday morning sun, the day's eating marathon was under way. The ship's daily newspaper tells that story: Breakfast on deck at dawn or eat through the morning in the Coral Seas Cafe or the dining room. Lunch starts at noon, tea at 4:30. There are two seatings for dinner and a midnight buffet that covers half an acre of tables in the dining room or on the deck.

If you're hungry between meals, you can order sandwiches 24-hours a day in your cabin. Food comes free with the cruise, but you must pay for the Weight Watcher classes needed to get the blubber off later.

One of the ways that ships are defined as far as style is concerned is by the way that people eat, drink and play. And what they wear while they are doing it. Sunday was a glorious day, and we were alone on an empty sea, wagging a wide turquoise wake behind us and coloring the deck chairs around the pool with bathing suits, T-shirts and sunhats.

Like all cruise ships, the decks were covered with shorts and shirts at checkers, bridge, shuffleboard, skeet shooting, golf, wine tasting, arts-and-crafts classes, bingo, ping pong, aerobics and at all the poolside shenanigans organized by the cruise director.

Those who read the dress code know that on the Horizon the guidelines call for jacket and tie after 6 p.m. Not everybody reads or abides by the guidelines, and nobody says anything if they don't, but on the two formal nights during the week's cruise most sunburned noses rise above suits and cocktail dresses. We are almost as well dressed as the European waiters who serve us in the large, elegant dining room.

By dusk Sunday night, Captain's Night, the deck chairs around the pool were empty. Those signed up for the first (6 p.m.) dinner seating, popular because it leaves playtime in Bermuda, were eating Lobster Thermidor in the Starlight Restaurant. Second seating (8:15 p.m.) passengers were shaking the captain's hand.

Captain Andrianatos, born on the Greek island of Ithaca, was on board with his New Zealand wife and children. Chandris Cruises, which owns the M.V. Horizon, encourages senior officers to bring families aboard.

Monday morning we awoke to a voice coming through the ship's loudspeaker: "Ladies and gentlemen, we are now sailing down the coast of Bermuda." I have already written about Bermuda and the thrill of docking on Front Street in the middle of Hamilton, with the whole of the small colorful town spread out before us.

Bermuda is wisely trying to keep its island life intact, so it recently reduced the number of cruise ship passengers allowed to enter the island from 150,000 to 120,000 a year. The Horizon keeps this wonderful "parking place," along with the Viking Star and the Nordic Prince, because of a 10-year contract signed between Chandris Lines and the Bermuda government.

Chandris has been expert at converting glamorous old passenger ships to cruise ship use, but has not been known as a luxury line. Their Bermuda contract for Celebrity Cruises, which currently includes the Horizon and the SS Meridian, is to attract upscale passengers to the island.

The M.V. Horizon is the first ship that Chandris has built new for cruising, and they have done a good job of it. The staterooms, mostly outside cabins, typically have twin beds, a window, a decent closet, a bathroom with shower and are slightly larger than typical cruise ship cabins. Many lower-deck cabins are similar to higher-priced upper-deck cabins. Public rooms are spacious and attractive.

The food is excellent, not surprising since the kitchen was established under the supervision of restaurateur Michel Roux, who runs two British restaurants earning Michelin's coveted three-star rating. I didn't like the coffee but espresso is available at $1.50 a cup from the bar.

Passengers use the ship as a luxury hotel during the four days of touring in Hamilton and St. George, renting mopeds to ride out into the island or hiring taxis to go to Bermuda's beautiful sand beaches.

Neither gambling nor entertainment were allowed on the ship in port, so passengers were ready to party again when the Horizon sailed at 3 p.m. Thursday for its trip home.

One more formal night. Another crack at the blackjack table or the nickel slot machines. Another day to broil in the sun. Soon enough we were listening to Australian Cruise Director Neil Roberts tell us about buying that last duty-free item, tipping the cabin stewards and waiters. "Leave your bags outside the cabin at midnight," he said. "You'll be packed early, so you might as well stay up until we get to New York in the morning!"

The Motor Vessel Horizon is a 46,811 ton vessel, 682 feet long, carrying a maximum of 1354 passengers in 677 cabins on nine decks. It has approximately one crew member for every two passengers.

Rates range from $995 for an inside cabin on the lowest deck to $2,500 for an outside cabin on the top deck. Basic outside cabin with window is $1,275. Add $65 for port fees and $200 add-on for air fare, plus about $60 for tips.

A second Celebrity Cruise ship, the renovated SS Meridian, docks at the end of the island and ferries passengers to Hamilton. Rates start $100 lower but a cabin with window still starts at $1,275.

Two other cruise ships sail weekly to Bermuda: Royal Viking's Viking Star which starts at $1,190 and Royal Caribbean's Nordic Prince which starts at $1,060.

Virginia slates weekends featuring rail excursions

Virginia will be hosting four weekends of Norfolk Southern rail excursions during the fall of 1990.

September 21 kicks off a three-day celebration of Roanoke's railway heritage. During the second annual Roanoke Railway Exposition, two days of steam excursions in addition to concerts of railroad, Dixieland and big band music will be featured, as well as artifacts and photos at area museums and galleries.

The excursions through the beautiful Blue Ridge mountains will be held on historic railway cars, some that saw service on such famous trains as the "Empire Builder," the "Wabash Cannonball" and the "City of New Orleans." And the curator of Transportation for the Smithsonian Institution has called the Norfolk engines the "finest steam locomotives ever built." Engine 611 is the world's only movable National Mechanical Engineering Landmark.

A roundtrip from Lynchburg to Roanoke, the first steam excursion to originate in Lynchburg in over 20 years, will be featured on the weekend of Sept. 21, sponsored by the Roanoke Chapter, NRHS. Call (703) 389-3935 for more information.

A roundtrip from Alexandria to Front Royal will be featured Sept. 29-30 and Oct. 7, sponsored by the Washington Area Chapters, NRHS. For more information their address is: Washington Area Chapters, NRHS; Chesapeake Region, Railroad Enthusiasts; P.O. Box 458; Laurel, MD 20707.

Finally on Saturday, Oct. 13, the Old Dominion Chapter of the National Railway Historical Society will host a roundtrip excursion from the capital city of Richmond to Lynchburg. For more information call (804) 741-0706.

Adult fares on most excursions range from $35 to $70 depending on the length of ride. Children's fare are generally about two-thirds of the adult fares. Some trips have limited, extra-fare "first-class" space available on restored lounge cars and Pullman sleepers, complete with uniformed attendants seeing to the travelers' needs.

Tickets usually go on sale about six weeks before the trip, selling out quickly. Call the sponsoring organization to confirm reservations, schedules and fares.

Did you know that Michigan has more public golf courses than any other state in the U.S.? 580 at last count! Some of the course designers include Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Robert Trent Jones.

Four of our Michigan courses have received national awards from Golf Digest Magazine in the last five years: The Legend at the Shanty Creek-Schuss Mountain Resort in Bellaire; The Monument at Boyne Mountain Resort in Boyne Falls; Treetops at Sylvan Resort in Gaylord; and Michaywe at The Lake Course in Gaylord.

Almost all courses offer lower green fees throughout the fall season. So don't put those golf clubs away yet. There's plenty of great golfing afternoons left before the snow falls.

City of Southfield Tour, Cultural Arts, Parks & Recreation Presents a trip to the Toledo Museum of Arts on Thursday, Oct. 18, 1990. The exhibit will feature Impressionism, consisting of works by Monet, Renoir, Van Gogh, Degas, Pissarro and many other artists and masterpieces.

The trip includes roundtrip motorcoach transportation, tickets for the museums and exhibitions, tour escort and more. There will also be an opportunity to lunch at the famous "Tony Packo's." For more information call 354-4717.

Victorian Ball highlights festival

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

People who are fans of the Victorian era and people who just like to get out and celebrate will enjoy the second annual Victorian Festival — a weekend of fun with a Victorian theme.

One of the highlights of the festival will be Saturday's Victorian Ball. Scheduled from 7:30 to midnight at Mill Race Historical Village, the $50 ticket includes dinner under a candlelit tent and dancing to music by an authentic Victorian band.

Many people who attended last year's ball described the event as "beautiful" and "romantic" — an experience they want to repeat.

And guests at the ball can expect much more than an eating and dancing experience.

They can expect real Victorian music played on real Victorian instruments. The band uses period antiques.

They can expect a lush atmosphere with elegant table decorations and paisley chintz skirting around the tables and bar.

They can expect a lesson in simple "contre" dances — classical steps for the most proper of Victorians.

And they can expect to treat their taste buds to a cake donated by well-known Northville baker Kevin Paulina.

The dinner at the ball, which will be offered by Edwards Caterer, will include whole roasted turkeys, a bibb lettuce salad, various breads and fruits, and a potato, onion and poppy seed savory tart.

Edward Postliff, co-owner of Edwards Caterer, said the meal will likely reflect Victorian tastes. "Victorian food is pretty similar to today's food," he said. "The method of preparation is different, but the food is pretty much the same."

Postliff explained that such foods as potatoes and onions were popular, as well as other foods that required little refrigeration.

"The funnest part of the ball is intermingling with others, signing dance cards... People go away out of their way with the costumes. It's like a set from a movie."

Other Victorian Festival events include a Victorian costume parade, which begins Friday at 6:30 p.m. in front of the Northville Recreation Center, 303 N. Main, Northville.

All interested people wearing Victorian dress are invited to participate in the parade. Horse-drawn vehicles are allowed, but motor vehicles are prohibited.

Artist shows Northville works

Northville artist Linda Banks Ord will be featured at Northville's Atrium Gallery until Sept. 29 in a show entitled "Northville Artist Paints the Town."

The opening reception, held during Northville's Victorian Festival, will be from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 15. The public is invited to meet the artist and talk about her Northville watercolors. Many of her other award-winning paintings will also be on view.

The Northville watercolors feature both historical and contemporary subject matter. Main Street during its flower season is a favorite current theme. Scenes from Northville's past include old Meadowbrook Country Club, Judge William Purdy, a turn-of-the-century graduating class, the old Palmer Blacksmith Shop, and others.

Atrium Gallery is located at 113 N. Center St. (around the back) in downtown Northville. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday, but open to 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday. Hours for the Victorian Festival, Sept. 14-16, will be 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

ESTLEMAN SIGNING — Michigan author Loren Estleman, three-time winner of the Private Eye Writers of America Shamus Award, will appear at Borders Book Shop in Novi on Friday, Sept. 14, at 7 p.m. to autograph copies of his new novel, "Whiskey River." The first in Estleman's planned "Detroit Trilogy," "Whiskey River" is set in the waning years of Prohibition. It follows the rise and fall of a colorful gangster as seen through the eyes of Connie Minor, a local newspaper columnist.

A Whitmore Lake resident, Loren Estleman is an authority on criminal history, and is best known for his acclaimed Amos Walker mysteries. His most recent novels were "Sweet Women Lie," "Bloody Season" and "Peepers." He is currently working on the second book of his Detroit trilogy, "Motown."

TOWN HALL — The Northville Town Hall Series will be starting back up again with some exciting speakers for the 1990-91 season. The first speaker, actress Eileen Fulton, will be on Oct.

1. She will be followed by: Col. Charles Scott, a former hostage in Iran, on Nov. 8; on March 21, former Miss America Kaye Lani Rae Raiko (this has been changed from the original date of March 14); and on April 11, veteran NBC news person Jack Reynolds will speak.

A season ticket to hear all four speakers is $30. Checks should be made payable to Northville Town Hall and sent to Ticket Chair Bonnie Dewan, Northville Town Hall, P.O. Box 93, Northville 48167. Please mark the outside of the envelopes with ticket orders "Attention Ticket Chairman."

COLOMBIAN ARTIST — The Print Gallery in Southfield will be hosting a poster exhibit and lecture of the works of Colombian artist Fernando Botero until Oct. 17.

MAY FOOLS — "May Fools," the new film by French director Louis Malle, has a two-weekend engagement at the Detroit Film Theatre in the Detroit Institute of Arts, Sept. 14-16 and again on Sept. 21-23.

Using the French student and worker demonstrations of 1968 as a backdrop, "May Fools" wryly chronicles the greedy antics of an upper-class family as they gather at their country estate to settle the will of their matriarch. The story is told through the observations of an eccentric old man who has spent his life on the estate, and is the only person who understands its worth.

Some people don't believe in moral victories, but don't try to tell that to the Northville soccer squad.

On Sept. 8, the Mustangs battled the state's top-ranked Class A squad to an exciting 3-3 tie that included a dramatic last-minute goal. It goes into the record books as a tie between Northville and Detroit Catholic Central, but to the Northville players and coaches, it was a victory.

"It was about as much excitement as you can get," rookie coach Bob Paul said. "The kids feel like we got a victory. We knew heading in we didn't have the individual skill level as Catholic Central, but our work rate was incredible."

The Shamrocks scored the game's first goal just 30 seconds into the match and then made it 2-0 about 10 minutes later. It was the kind of start the Mustangs were hoping to avoid.

"We were playing the team that was ranked No. 1 in the last poll and we were very nervous," Paul recalled. "Our game plan was to be very aggressive, but when they scored in the first minute, it took a lot out of us."

But for the rest of the first half, Northville settled down, gained some confidence and started to play Catholic Central on even terms. The half ended 2-0.

Our kids really started to play well after the second goal and we were thrilled," Paul said. "We really turned the tide."

The Mustangs made it 2-1 about 10 minutes into the second half on a goal by Dave Smith, and then tied it five minutes later when Steve Lang's shot found the back of the net.

"Everyone was going crazy because we just tied the No. 1 team in the state," Paul said.

But within seven minutes, the Shamrocks went back ahead with a goal off a corner kick. That would have taken the wind out of most teams' sails, but not Northville. With just 30 seconds remaining, Matt Osiecki tallied an unassisted goal and the game ended a 3-3 deadlock.

"We think we can execute our system, but it will take a couple weeks to really get a feel for it," Paul said. "So far, enthusiasm is making up for any shortcomings we have. If we can get the system down and still play with this kind of emotion, we will have a successful season."

NORTHVILLE 3, WALLED LAKE

WESTERN O: The Mustangs opened the regular season on Sept. 5 with a shutout victory over the visiting Warriors. It was a big early-season WIAA win, but the triumph also had its price.

After an evenly played and very physical scoreless first half, things boiled over early in the second. Senior striker Jason Flading suffered a concussion and lost two teeth following a vicious collision with a Warrior player. He was taken to the hospital but the episode seemed to ignite Northville.

Mustang senior Lou Stoecklin shows how he feels about tying the Shamrocks

"The big turning point was when Jason went down," Paul admitted. "The guys really pulled together and rallied behind Jason. It seemed to give us a surge we needed, but it's not the kind of thing you hope for to get a team going."

The Mustangs broke the deadlock at the 10-minute mark of the period when Matt Rossing scored off a free kick. About eight minutes later, Lou Stoecklin hammered a line-drive into the back of the net from 25 yards out to make it 2-0 and then with just seven minutes remaining, Dave Smith rounded out the scoring with a goal that was assisted by Stoecklin.

"We were extremely impressed with the way our defense played in this game," Paul said. "We are head and shoulders above where we thought we'd be at this stage of the season."

Goaltender Larry Osiecki — who recorded the shutout — put forth "an excellent performance," according to Paul.

The Mustangs (1-0-1 overall) travel to Milford to take on the Redskins in a non-conference battle today (Sept. 13).

Two in a row

Mustang gridders top Salem 21-14

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

With consecutive victories over respected programs like Plymouth Salem and South Lyon to start the 1990 season, the Northville football squad probably won't be able to sneak up on anybody the rest of the season.

The Mustangs' most recent victory came last Friday at a difficult place to win: Salem's home field. The Rocks were coming off an 8-1 campaign a year ago and a lopsided season-opening win against Trenton. In addition, the football program draws from a student body of 2,053 — which is nearly 1,000 more than Northville. Despite those figures, the upstart Mustangs scored a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns to break a 7-7 deadlock and then held on down the stretch to win 21-14.

"I think the kids believe they can win, but now people are not going to take us lightly," Northville Coach Darrel Schumacher said. "So we better be ready the rest of the season."

The two teams we've beaten so far have been young teams, so we can't get big-headed about our start. We need to continue to improve every week if we want to be successful."

The Mustangs got off to an inauspicious start as quarterback Ryan Huzjak threw an interception on the team's first offensive possession. Early in the second quarter, Salem broke the scoreless tie, and tailback Leon Hister was the main weapon. He capped an 80-yard scoring drive with a nifty 57-yard run at the 7:33 mark. The five-play march also included a 24-yard jaunt by Hister.

"I had the team in the wrong defense on both those runs and it cost us," Schumacher admitted. "I'll take the blame for that first drive."

But in impressive style, the Northville offense responded with a nine-play, 68-yard drive of its own following the kickoff. If Hister was the key man in Salem's march, Huzjak filled the bill for Northville. During the drive, the junior signalcaller rushed for 22 and 19 yards, passed to Mark Hillinger for 17 more, and then scored the touchdown on a two-yard plunge with 3:01 on the clock.

The Mustangs actually recovered a fumble in Salem territory on the ensuing kickoff, but Huzjak threw his second interception and the half ended 7-7.

"We felt confident at halftime," Schumacher said. "You could sense that the kids were really ready to go out and execute."

Northville had 13 more offensive plays and controlled the ball in the third quarter. The locals drove 53 yards to the Rocks' 27 before turning the ball over on downs early in the stanza, but then put together a longer march at the end of the quarter. The Mustangs went ahead for the first time in the game when Huzjak hooked up with Bill Kelley for an 11-yard touchdown pass early in the final quarter that culminated a 12-play, 70-yard drive. Fullback Ryan Kilner had back-to-back runs of 20 and 15 yards to set up the score. Northville even survived a holding penalty from inside the 10.

The Mustangs then took command with another quick score, this time after a Salem fumble and recovery by Bob Holloway. Eight plays and 43 yards later, Huzjak found Kelley for another scoring strike from 28 yards out. Brandon Hayes' point after made it 21-7 with just over five minutes remaining.

The Rocks made it interesting, however, with a quick drive and score from Chris Tebben on the next possession, but the Northville defense stiffened after Salem got the ball back and moved into Mustang territory with a chance to tie or win in the final minute.

"We made some mistakes down the stretch and that made us a little nervous, but we are learning how to win right now," Schumacher said.

Northville had a 310-252 advantage in total offense. Huzjak was 12-for-23 through the air for 162 yards, and his prime targets included Kelley (five catches, 75 yards) and Hillinger (six catches, 70 yards). Kilner paced the ground attack with 69 yards on 14 carries and Huzjak added 48 yards on 11 attempts.

FRANKLIN PREVIEW: The Mustangs will open the WIAA Western Division portion of the season Saturday at Livonia Franklin. The hard-luck Patriots fell to state-ranked Lansing Sexton in week one and then dropped a battle to cross-town rival Livonia Stevenson last Friday. Despite being winless, Schumacher is wary of the Pats.

"Franklin is very big physically," he said. "They will make us look small and they will try to overpower us. Their coach, Armand Vigna, always does an excellent job preparing his team against us. Last year they physically outmanned us, so you can be sure we won't be taking them lightly."

In 1989, the Patriots dumped Northville 23-7.

INJURY UPDATE: Defensive leader Tim Kerns — a 6-foot-1, 190-pound senior linebacker — turned an ankle in practice and missed the Salem game. According to Schumacher, Kerns is expected to return in time for the Franklin game.

GOOD START: The Mustang grid-ders have started a season with wins in their first two games for the first time in seven seasons. Northville went 7-2 in 1984 including wins over Brighton and South Lyon to open the season.

Mustangs of the Week

KAREN VOGT

CHRIS LEMMON

It was only one match, but what a match it turned out to be. Northville's top tennis player — senior Karen Vogt — edged Holly Findling, Livonia Stevenson's best, in the marquee match of the Mustangs' 5-2 dual-meet win over the Spartans on Sept. 7. Vogt won the first set 6-3 and then took the match with an exciting 7-4 win in the tie-breaker of the second. "It was a really good match for Karen," Northville Coach Uta Filkin said. "She and Holly know each other and they've played each other often." It was the kind of win that will probably spur Vogt on to a great senior season, and we think that's enough to warrant "Mustang of the Week" accolades.

Imagine being just 17 years old and able to consistently play par golf. It may sound far-fetched, but not to Northville senior Chris Lemmon. After 45 holes of action this season, Lemmon is averaging 36.4 strokes per nine holes, including a career-low 34 (two under par). In action last week, Lemmon was the medalist for the third time in three dual meets with a one-over-par 37. It helped the Mustangs edge Livonia Churchill 205-208 on Sept. 7 at a very wet Salem Hills. We think "Mustang of the Week" honors are in order. "I knew Chris had the ability to play this well on a consistent basis," Mustang Coach Don Morgan said. "His concentration has been excellent."

JEFFREY S. BAINBRIDGE, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Bainbridge of Northville, was the recipient of the Knoechel Family Award, given to a senior male member of the swim team at Kalamazoo College in recognition of excellence in both intercollegiate swimming and academic performance. Bainbridge was the captain of the Kalamazoo team last season and is a two-time All-MIAA swimmer. . . . Former Novi football and wrestling star BRETT KEIR, a junior lineman at Washburn University in Topeka, Kan., was voted team captain of the football team by his teammates. Keir played two seasons at Grand Rapids Junior College before accepting an athletic scholarship to Washburn. . . . BOB DUDLEY and GREG PRICE are members of the 1990 Bowling Green State University football squad. Both were 1989 graduates of Northville High School and former Mustang football stars. Dudley will be playing defensive line for the Falcons and Price is a quarterback.

Vogt leads netters past Spartans, 5-2

Thanks in large part to the continued excellence of senior standout Chris Lemmon, the Northville golfers opened the WLA season on Sept. 7 with a 205-208 victory over Livonia Churchill at Salem Hills.

Lemmon fired a one-over-par 37 and grabbed medalist honors in the process — his third in three dual meets so far. This season, Lemmon is averaging just over 36 strokes per nine holes (36.4), which is essentially scratch golf. It would be quite an accomplishment for a prep golfer if he could continue to keep that average for the season.

"I knew Chris had the ability to play this well on a consistent basis," Mustang Coach Don Morgan said. "His concentration has been excellent."

The surprise of the outing was Kevin Krupansky's first sub-40 score (38) in competition this season, which was good for second place overall. The rest of the Northville scorers included Jason Sherman (41), Matt Telepo (44), Mike Fischer (45) and Joey Staknis (51).

"Under the conditions, I thought we played well," Morgan said. "The course was very wet, so the scores were higher than normal. You pretty much got what you hit because there was little roll. You didn't get the distance you normally would."

Sherman played his round with a fractured ring finger and actually birdied the first two holes and then finished up with seven bogies.

"I thought it was something for him to go out there with a fracture, and then to shoot a 41 was quite an effort," Morgan said.

The Mustangs (now 2-1 overall) will host South Lyon in a non-conference match today (Sept. 13) at Salem Hills.

Northville linksters edge Churchill by 3

Staff Writer

With key WLA Western Division matches coming up, Northville tennis coach Uta Filkin likes to see her players get some quality competition early in the season. That's why the Mustangs hosted always-tough West Bloomfield on Sept. 6.

Unfortunately, that meet was suspended (with the Lakers ahead 3-2) because of bad weather. That left Northville's Sept. 7 date with Livonia Stevenson as the only match prior to the showdown with Farmington Harrison yesterday, Sept. 12 (after the Record's deadline). Fortunately, the Spartans came through.

The Mustangs won the contest 5-2, but Stevenson gave the locals a battle, which featured a riveting match at No. 1 singles. Northville senior Karen Vogt and Stevenson's Holly Findling put on an impressive tennis exhibition, but it was Vogt who came out a 6-3, 7-6 (7-4) victor.

"It was a really good match for Karen," Filkin said. "She and Holly know each other and they've played each other often. It was a very good win."

The Mustangs had another win that was decided in a tie-breaker as Kavitha Sriraman edged Erin Phillips 6-4, 7-6 (7-3) at No. 3. The other singles victory came at No. 3, where Shannon Price trounced Courtney Richa (6-3, 6-1).

"Both Shannon and Kavitha played lackluster matches against West Bloomfield, so I was happy to see them bounce back the next day," Filkin said.

The only singles loss came at No. 2, where Diane Vogt fell to Chiara Granocchia (3-6, 1-6), an exchange student from Italy.

Northville wrapped up the win with two victories in doubles action. The No. 1 team of Rebecca Bellamy and Melanie Apiligan downed Sue Bell and Laura Perry (6-2, 7-5), and the No. 3 team — with Jennifer Lower and Vicki Eppers — topped Laura DiBazio and Sarah Brudi by an identical 6-2, 7-5 score.

"Overall, we played very strong," Filkin said. "Stevenson is much improved at singles because of the exchange student, and they are always good in doubles. It was a tough match."

"I think we are moving toward where we want to be and it's nice to get a few wins, get more confidence and be more relaxed when we play."

As for the West Bloomfield match, it may be rescheduled and finished sometime later this season, but Filkin didn't know one way or another.

Soccer players to pace runners

Staff Writer

Soccer and cross country have much in common except both require a lot of running. That's why a quick glance at the Northville girls cross country team may surprise you. The team's three performers were also starters in the Mustang soccer squad this spring, including No. 1 runner Marcie Dart.

"Marcie plays soccer year-round, so she is really in good shape," Northville Coach Nick Dunwoody said. "She's real strong and she has experience because this is her fourth year in the team. She's definitely the one we have."

Dart, a senior, paced the Mustangs last season in all but one race. The remaining two soccer players who returned runners are seniors Amy Goode and Michelle McQuaid. It was their first year of cross country competition for both, but Dunwoody has been impressed with them in their workouts.

"They've both been running well," he said. "They are pretty good. Dart, so we should be pretty good in our top three."

The newcomers are badly needed to fill in for standouts like

John Staknis and Rachel Gower, who were lost to graduation. Dunwoody boasts six returning players, four of whom earned varsity status last fall—who are looking for a challenge. They are Angie Nelson, Kamil Bagga, Cheryl Kukainis and along slowly but surely. Dunwoody said "We have a good team, which is the first season, and we have as many injuries as we have in the past."

The Mustang runner is so fast that a 100-meter race is so easy. Nield, who was injured last season and is currently having a leg problem. Others contributing are Wiseley (So) and Julie contribute. The girls look pretty good and more healthy," Dunwoody said. "The kids are performing because of it."

Dunwoody is hoping to improve the team's 3-3 dual meet record in the WIAA, but that will be a challenge. Two of the team's victories in '89 were in the WIAA.

Dunwoody is also hoping to be higher at the Western Michigan (Northville was seventh in the field).

Swimmers boast talent and depth

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

Depth and talent

That's been the recipe of success over the years for the Northville girls swim team, and it certainly applies to the 1990 campaign.

A year ago, the Mustangs had another solid season (9-2 overall). In the state meet, they won the Western Division crown with Plymouth Canton, and the bulk of that was due to this fall. Add in a couple of freshmen, and the potential is there for Northville's second conference title in three years.

"Looking at the team in practice, I think we'll be real strong," said senior swimmer Susan Kowalski. "I think we have a chance to win it all at our league meet, but we have to continue to work hard and keep a good attitude. We did it last year and we are shooting for it this year."

The graduation losses weren't many in number, but substantial nonetheless. Gone are standout swimmers Debbie Buell and Pam Miroslava, as well as top diver Barb Woodruff. But the returnees include a stable filled with talent and experience, led by senior Pam Holdridge.

Holdridge was one of six Mustangs to qualify for the MHSAA State Meet last fall, and she wound up placing in the top 12 in both the 100-yard butterfly and the 200 IM. Other standouts are seniors Megan Holmberg, Claire Cryderman and Kowalski, juniors Teri Juhasz and Beth Frayne, and sophomore Jodi Wesley.

"We lost three seniors but we gained a lot of freshmen and they have looked good so far," Kowalski said.

Leading that group are Brenda Newton and Sheila Osborn. Newton — the younger sister of Northville boys star Eric Newton — is a fine all-around talent, while Osborn excels in the freestyle and butterfly events.

"Everyone is training real hard," Holmberg said. "We were second in the league last season and now we have some freshmen who will really help us."

With Frayne heading up the diving corps, and promising newcomers like Amy Cristof and Lisa Hojnacki providing support, that area should again be an area of strength.

"We have a lot of depth among our swimmers and we have some good divers," Holmberg said. "Frayne should be one of the top divers in the league."

Other swimmers to watch for are Kata Gurski, Betsy Petricca, Erica Anderson, Allyson Sieving and Kristen Woodsum.

GRIFFIN RELAYS: The Mustangs opened the '90 season with a fifth-place team finish at the 12-team Griffin Relays in Brighton.

The meet featured many of the top programs in the southern portion of the state. West Bloomfield took first-place honors and Farmington Hills Mercy was second.

"I thought we did really well," Holmberg said.

Northville notched a pair of first-place finishes and Jodi Wesley was involved in both. She was joined by Holmberg, Holmberg and Juhasz in the winning 400-yard freestyle relay team, and helped win the crescendo relay with teammates Liz Rivard, Shannon Willard and Cryderman.

The Mustangs also grabbed third place in the 800 freestyle relay with Cryderman, Kathy Lang, Sieving and Kowalski, and fourth in diving with Frayne, Cristof and Hojnacki.

Northville's home opener will be tonight (Sept. 13) against Plymouth Salem.

The $35 package includes dinner, open bar and door prizes. Lighthouse, founded in 1972, offers free food and clothing and provides emergency funds for medical, rent, utilities and transportation for the needy.

NORTHVILLE ALUMNI GOLF OUTING: The Northville High School Alumni Golf Outing for the 1964, 1965 and 1966 graduating classes will be held on Sept. 22 at Bogle Lake Golf Club in White Lake Township.

The event, started six years ago, will get under way at 1 p.m. and will use the Texas Scramble format. Cost is $36 for 18 holes of golf, power cart and dinner. (Dinner only is $14; golf only is $22).

Last year's participants included former Mustang varsity basketball coach Dave Longridge and former varsity football coach Ron Horwath.

For information, call Howard Ambinder at 548-1773 or Tom Bingham at 624-1531. Checks can be sent by mail to: Tom Bingham, P.O. Box 156, Walled Lake 48390.

HOSPICE BENEFIT OUTING: Angela Hospice Home Care of Livonia is holding its second annual golf outing on Sept. 17 at Bogle Lake Golf Club in Union Lake. Cost is $75 per person, or $100 per hole sponsor.

The scramble event includes 18 holes of golf and cart, continental breakfast, hot or cold lunch and prizes. To register, call Dorothy York at 591-5157.

Proceeds from this outing benefit the Angela Hospice Home Care Building Fund for a new inpatient facility.

MORE KENSINGTON TOURNAMENTS: There are more tournaments in store for area golfers this summer at the Kensington Golf Course.

Last year, the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority sponsored a series of golf tournaments at Kensington Metropark in Milford. The series included six different tournaments including both team and individual competitive formats.

The objective in sponsoring these tournaments, according to tournament director Doug Curry, is to offer the golfing public well-run tournaments using USGA rules and handicaps at a low cost. The tournaments are designed to challenge tournament veterans and first-time tournament players alike. The formats allow players with a wide range of skill levels to have a successful tournament experience.

Entry fees are kept low ($3-$4 per player) and prizes are modest (usually trophies and free greens-fee certificates). That places more emphasis on participation and enjoyment.

USGA handicaps are required thus allowing players at all skill levels an opportunity to be successful. Curry also said that establishing and using a USGA handicap makes the game more enjoyable.

Last year, the tournaments generated a great deal of interest. Over 850 entries were accepted for the six tournaments. This was highlighted by 240 entries in the Individual Championship held in September. At least 75 percent of the golfers entered had never played in a USGA-style tournament before.

Pregnant women urged to exercise

Even though some expecting women may look like they've swallowed watermelons whole and feast nightly on cookies and candy, remaining fit during pregnancy is important.

"Pregnant women who are fat feel itchy," commented Mary Lou Simi-Rudner, a registered nurse and five-year pregnancy fitness instructor.

To combat the pregnancy blahs, she suggests monitored exercise classes, which stress overall fitness and nutrition throughout pregnancy.

"During pregnancy, it is important to breathe properly to get oxygen to the fetus, and exercise helps," she said.

"Some women are self-conscious about exercising in their condition, but it really helps when everyone else looks like you," Simi-Rudner said.

Many women avoid activity during pregnancy because they fear hurting the baby. Admittedly, exercising while expecting does pose limited risk, which is why all participants are screened.

The class is also geared for women four to six months pregnant, but not for those much into their third trimester.

The exercises are also specifically designed to avoid a pregnant woman's abdominal area. They are also nonaerobic in nature because aerobic activity is not recommended during pregnancy, Simi-Rudner said.

The R.N. holds comprehensive fitness classes at Dennis Lenor's Dance Center on Five Mile Road. The program, which includes both lecture and exercise sessions, not only provides pregnant women with monitored fitness instruction, but also with an emotional support group.

Classes acquaint them with body changes during pregnancy and help them develop breathing techniques. Total nutrition is also stressed and participants keep a food diary as part of the total fitness program.

"The lecture portions of the class are similar to Lamaze, and the class kind of acts as a support group," Simi-Rudner explained.

Exercise portions, which are comprised of nine basic positions, target the buttocks, back, spine and feet. They not only keep women fit during pregnancy but gear them for labor and delivery.

Upcoming classes: Run Sept. 4 through Oct. 9; class 16 through Nov. 20; Jan. 8 through Feb. 12; Feb. 26 through April 2; and April 9 through May 7.

Hour-long classes are held once a week on Tuesdays at 12:30 p.m. or 2 p.m. Other times may be available.

Fitness Tips

High fiber may reduce chances of cancer

A high-fiber diet, one filled with fruits, vegetables and grains, could lower your risk of colorectal cancer by up to 40 percent, according to a study in USA Today. The article was based on a study published in the Journal of the National Cancer Institute in which 10,000 people in 15 countries were studied.

The study found people who ate a diet rich in vegetables, grains and fruits had approximately 40 percent less risk of colorectal cancer than people who didn't eat as much of these foods.

While the study didn't show which parts of the food are responsible for protecting against the disease, fruits, vegetables and grains are high in dietary fiber — which many experts believe is a protector against cancer.

Approximately three out of four colorectal patients can be saved if the disease is detected early. Don't ignore early warning signs such as change in bowel habits, bleeding and discomfort. Regular checkups are necessary to detect colon cancer in its earliest stages.

The American Cancer Society surveyed more than 1,000 physicians and found that doctors didn't discuss the signs of skin cancer unless a patient brought up the subject.

Ultraviolet radiation — from the sun, sunlamps and tanning booths — is the main cause of skin cancer. The risk is greatest for people who have fair skin that freckles easily. These people often have red or blond hair and blue or light-colored eyes, according to the National Cancer Institute. People who live in areas that get high levels of UV radiation from the sun such as Texas, for example, are more likely to get skin cancer, while those in less sunny states such as Minnesota have lower rates of skin cancer.

An estimated 85 percent of lung cancer cases in men and 75 percent in women are caused by cigarette smoking. Less than 10 percent of lung cancers occur among nonsmokers. Risks of developing lung cancer increase with the number of years smoking, the number of cigarettes smoked each day and the tar and nicotine content.

The Northville Record is working with medical authorities at the University of Michigan Medical Center (M-Care) in Northville to provide up-to-date information on a variety of health-related topics. The series is coordinated by Peg Campbell of the M-Care staff.

How to protect yourself against Lyme disease

People who spend time outdoors can take some simple precautions to help protect themselves against Lyme disease, an infection transmitted to people and animals primarily by the bite of a tick called Ixodes dammini.

Springtime is when the disease is most prevalent, but it can also be contracted in the summer and fall.

"People should wear slacks and long-sleeved shirts when walking in wooded or grassy areas," said Dr. Fred Severin, associate medical director for Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan (BCBSM). "They should take a shower once they're back indoors because showering helps wash away ticks that haven't attached to the skin and makes it easier to see if any are attached."

Tucking pants into the tops of socks, wearing light-colored clothing, walking in the center of trails, and inspecting clothing and skin frequently for ticks are also good precautions.

Tick repellents containing the ingredient DEET are helpful in keeping ticks off clothing or exposed areas of the skin. Read the label to make sure the repellent doesn't contain the ingredient R-11, which was recently banned by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). Dr. Severin said.

Prompt removal of ticks may decrease chance of infection. Some animal studies suggest the infection may not be transmitted until after the tick has been on the skin for four hours. However, it is still unknown how long a tick must be attached before infection occurs in humans.

The tick is very small, about the size of the period in this sentence up to the size of a sesame seed. Initial symptoms of illness are headaches, fever, nausea, rashes and fatigue. Later stages may involve the heart, joints and nervous system.

From 1985-87, Michigan had eight reported cases, all from the western upper peninsula, according to the Michigan Department of Public Health. Beginning in 1988, cases were also reported from 17 counties in mid- and lower Michigan. More than 30 cases were identified in 1988.

The number of reported cases is expected to increase this year in Michigan, partly because of heightened awareness on the part of the public and physicians.

The disease was first recognized in children from Lyme, Connecticut, in 1975. From 1980 to 1988, some 13,700 cases were reported nationwide, primarily along the east coast from Delaware to Massachusetts, Wisconsin and Minnesota, and California.

MHSAA: increased attendance in volleyball, soccer

Spectator interest in volleyball and soccer continued to gain at the high school level in Michigan during the 1989-90 school year, as both sports set attendance records at tournament contests sponsored by the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

The biggest gains came in volleyball, where attendance marks were set at the district (15,553), regional (7,949) and finals (5,630) for the second straight year, as the total attendance of 29,132 in that sport eclipsed the old mark of 19,215 set in 1989. Doubling the number of district tournament sites and advancing 28 teams to the final round were major factors in the increase.

Boys soccer enjoyed a healthy upswing, with new records at the district (7,115) and regional (3,737) levels of play. The total attendance for that tournament of 16,261 broke the old mark of 14,331 set in 1987. The girls soccer tournament series total of 5,768 fans broke the old mark of 4,878 set in 1988. District and semi-final play records also fell.

The team dual wrestling tournament also saw an attendance increase with 22,731 in its third year, breaking the mark of 21,229 in 1988. The combined baseball-softball finals enjoyed its best year in 1990, with 7,535 paid admissions, breaking the 1987 mark of 7,443 in 1987. Other attendance marks fell at the baseball finals, with 4,650; the softball regionals, with 3,593; and the cross country finals with 4,511.

"Interest in high school athletic events continues to gain on several fronts, and that's encouraging," said John E. "Jack" Roberts, executive director of the association. "Over time, there has been a gradual shift of attendance from the more traditional sports to newer activities, and these figures support that fact."

For the 1989-90 season, tournament attendance totaled 980,988, down 4 percent from the previous year. The actual attendance figure is slightly higher, as the MHSAA does not generally charge admission for alpine skiing, golf and tennis post-season events.

SCHOLAR-ATHLETE AWARD CONTINUES: Six of Michigan's top interscholastic student-athletes will again receive $1,000 scholarships in 1990-91 through the Michigan High School Athletic Association's Scholar-Athlete Award, sponsored by Farm Bureau Insurance.

The Scholar-Athlete Award was developed to emphasize the ideal of interscholastic athletics being truly educational in nature. Scholarships will be presented to the top male and female athlete in each of the fall, winter and spring athletic seasons, to be used at a Michigan institution of higher learning during their first year of classes.

"The educational value of interscholastic athletics can never be overstated, and the Scholar-Athlete Award is a program that emphasizes education first," said Roberts. "The response to the program's first year was enthusiastic, and we expect greater interest this year."

Students applying for the Scholar-Athlete Award must be carrying 3.5 (on a 4.0) grade point average, and must be currently on a varsity squad in which they have won at least one letter prior to their senior season. Applicants will also be required to show involvement in other school/community activities and submit an essay on how co-curricular activities have enhanced their educational experience.

Each MHSAA member school will be allowed to nominate one male and one female student-athlete for the award each season. Applicants must be participating in one of the following MHSAA-sponsored activities to be eligible: baseball, boys and girls basketball, boys and girls cross country, football, boys and girls golf, girls gymnastics, ice hockey, boys and girls soccer, softball, boys and girls skiing, boys and girls swimming and diving, boys and girls tennis, boys and girls track and field, girls volleyball and wrestling. A committee composed of school administrators from across the state will select regional and statewide winners.

Application deadlines are Oct. 1 for fall sport participants, Feb. 1, 1991, for winter sport participants, and April 12, 1991, for spring sport participants.

The statewide winners will be recognized at the MHSAA Football Finals at the Pontiac Silverdome in the fall, the Boys Basketball Finals at The Palace of Auburn Hills in the winter, and the Baseball-Softball Finals at Bailey Park at Battle Creek in the spring.

Additional information about the Scholar-Athlete Award may be obtained by contacting either the principal of an MHSAA member high school, or the MHSAA office at 1019 Trowbridge Road, East Lansing, 48823.

Second Northville Victorian Festival celebrates heritage

Horse-drawn carriages will return to the streets of Northville Sept. 14-16

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Step right up, ladies and gentlemen, step right up — see parade-goers in hoop skirts and bustles and their consorts in top hats, satin waistcoats and silk cravats strolling between the bunting-draped buildings of Northville's historic downtown.

Then turn your gaze toward Main Street where the Great Wallendas will perform their dazzling magic show and death-defying high wire act high over the street below.

Finally, enter a kinder, gentler era at the Mill Race Village as couples are transported by horse and carriage to the Victorian Ball, a chance for men in turn-of-the-century tuxedos and Civil War uniforms to mingle and turn with debutantes and dames in their ball gowns and bonnets among a thousand points of candlelight.

What's this, you ask? Have the good citizens of Northville taken leave of their senses? No, the populace is merely celebrating the fair town's heritage.

Welcome to this fall's greatest sequel, when the entire Northville community journeys back in time. The second annual Victorian Festival comes to town Friday, Sept. 14, bringing with it three days of celebrations in the spirit of the Victorian Era.

Victorian Festival back in Northville

Chairperson Laurie Marrs said this year's festival is bigger and better than last year's, with more parade entrants, more Victorian booths, and more free events. "We've doubled in more ways than one," she said. "The fervor and excitement have doubled, too."

Some 24 booths will be set up along the streets of Northville during the festival, operated by non-profit agencies including Northville Youth Assistance, Our Lady of Providence, the Northville High School Sophomore Class and other PTA and church groups.

The festival activities kick off Friday evening at 6 p.m. with the popular Victorian Parade. The parade will begin at the Recreation Center, 303 Main St., and wind through the city's historic district. After heading west to Rogers, north to Dunlap, east to Center and south back to Main, the parade will finish at the Victorian clock on Main Street.

Anyone in period costume is welcome to participate in the parade. Horses and horse-drawn carriages and carts are also welcome, though motorized vehicles are not.

The Great Wallendas — Enrico and his wife, Debbie — serve as the highlight event of the festival. The couple are the last performing members of the world-renowned high-wire troupe that first came to America in 1928, and performed for years with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus as part of the Greatest Show on Earth.

The Great Wallendas will hold the first of their four shows after the Victorian Parade, performing their breathtaking high wire act on Main Street near the gazebo. The thrills continue Saturday afternoon with dazzling magic and wire acts by the performers, and climax Sunday with their celebrated swing pole act. The Wallendas are sponsored by Dick Scott Buick/Dick Scott Dodge.

Other attractions during the festival include strolling musicians and street entertainers, a rousing Barbershop Quartet sing-off in the Main Street band shell Friday evening, an ice cream social, and walking tours showcasing the city's historic homes district.

Saturday, like last year, is a special day for kids with activities just for them all day long. Local merchants in historic garb will entertain youngsters with old-fashioned festivities like marble-shooting contests, ball and jacks competitions, pie-eating contests and wooden penny hunts.

The popular Costume Ball takes place Saturday evening at Mill Race Village, accompanied by a Civil War-era orchestra and a special caller who will teach dancers Victorian-era steps. Ballgoers are also treated to a delicious supper and open beer and wine bar. Tickets for the ball are $50 each, and are available through the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce and Edward's Caterers. The chamber now accepts Visa and Mastercard. Proceeds help fund the festival.

An old-fashioned town picnic will be held Sunday at Mill Race Village, featuring a celebrity box-lunch auction at noon to benefit the PTA Coordinating Council. The picnic also includes games for all members of the family.

Throughout the weekend, the Northville Arts Commission will sponsor a juried Art Market featuring fine art booths. The artists and artisans will display their wares along the streets of downtown.

A complete festival schedule is on pages 10 and 11 of this supplement. For more information, contact the chamber at 349-7640.

Northville's past rooted deep in the Victorian era

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Today's downtown Northville is picture-postcard material.

Window shoppers stroll past quaint stores in a setting that brings to mind a Swiss or New England village. A stately old clock stands in the middle of Main Street. Church steeples jut above the roofs of gracefully aging buildings.

Maple leaves rustle in cool breezes.

And visitors to the Victorian Festival will be swept away by the charms of this small community.

The Victorian Festival in Northville pays homage to a lengthy aristocratic period and perhaps bows to the stringent lines of classism typified by that era.

Whether or not Victorian Festival revelers secretly yearn for a return to the days of a ruling class remains to be seen, but the early years of the community hardly typify the Victorian era.

The earliest settlers of Northville came from New York in 1825, according to Northville . . . The First 100 Years, a book written by former Northville Record editor Jack Hoffman.

Hoffman wrote that the first land patent filed in Northville was on Aug. 3, 1823, by Gideon P. Benton, who claimed 240 acres directly south of what today is Seven Mile Road. This section included what is now Kings Mill subdivision and part of the Wayne County parkway system.

The Northville area was wild and rugged in those times. A traveler en route from Detroit to Northville had to take a three-day, 30-mile trip through a maze of rivers, swamps and heavy brush to reach fledgling settlements in the area.

Settlers cleared land and began to carve a living out of fertile soils, and homesteads sprouted as pioneers moved through Detroit to this largely untamed area.

Hoffman's book indicates that the first frame dwelling was built in "downtown" Northville in 1831. Other houses were constructed; also a combination blacksmith and shoe shop.

In rapid order, a country store followed, as did a butcher shop, tavern and in 1835, the Northville Hotel.

The first post office was established in Northville in 1831 and mail was delivered

Town has its own Victorian history

here once a week as a stop was established between Detroit and Chicago.

Logging and milling later became staples of Northville industry. Saw mills could be found at several locations in town, including sites in the vicinity of what is now Griswold and Main.

In those days, Main Street had a dirt surface, which was often rutted and muddy. Pedestrians often had to step up — almost three feet — onto a wooden sidewalk to enter stores, and it is said that Main was "paved" with leather scraps discarded by area shoemakers.

By the late 1860s, approximately 500 people inhabited Northville. Streets were lighted by oil lamps until November 16, 1889, when Sam Wilkinson's 50-horse power boiler drove the first electric currents through town.

During a debate over the merits of electric lighting, Record Editor E. Roscoe Reed said in an editorial "Electric lights in our village would give us better lights than we now have. It would make our place more attractive and the opportunity now offered of securing them will not again present itself. It is a rare change and when such an improvement is offered and at such trifling additional expense it should be taken."

Electric lights symbolized the new Northville in the Victorian era. Street cars ferried passengers around the city. Horses were hitched to rails, and the town bustled with activity.

Beautiful homes — many still standing today — were constructed during the latter stages of the 19th Century. Today's Northville Historic District retains the flavor of yesterday through careful preservation techniques that should ensure future generations a look into the past.

Northville of yesteryear more closely resembled a pioneer town than a village nestled in the Alps. A Victorian celebration may not capture the spirit of the town that stood here 100 years ago, but it may help to conjure images of the hearty, hardworking people that populated the area.

Festival started as community event

Greg Presley, one of the organizers of Northville's Victorian Festival, noted that the Victorian Festival gives the community a chance to suspend reality for a time, by fantasizing about a more peaceful past.

"It was a time when life was much simpler, it was a time before the Great Wars, a time when people were very optimistic about the future, when the world was open to them and theirs to explore," he said.

Presley used the difference between the Victorian Festival and Novi's '50s Festival to illustrate his point. While many of the Novi participants have the chance to relive their youth through the '50s Fest, he said, the Northville festival represents a different era entirely. "Nobody was living back then, so we're all play-acting and romanticizing the past," Presley said. "There's nothing wrong with having a romantic view of history when it comes to having fun."

Presley also emphasized the festival organizers' desire to keep the Victorian Festival from outgrowing the community.

"It's good for the merchants and it puts Northville on the map," he said, "but I think the emphasis is on a community event, a chance for the people of Northville to get out

"We hope to, in some cases, reproduce what we had last year because we don't think we can do much better."

The festival is sponsored by the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce and funded almost entirely through private donations. Individuals or businesses seeking to make donations, or looking for more information, may contact the chamber at 349-7640.

A whole different era

America during Victorian time was a very different place

By FRANK EICHENLAUB
Staff Writer

"Hell, I'm rich. It's time I had some fun." — Victorian Diamond Jim Brady

Thank you, Mr. Brady, for summing it up so well.

This was the Victorian era — America limping out of the Civil War into completing its first 100 years and joyously greeting its first coast-to-coast railway opening.

Where there was abundant money during the Victorian era, it was spent extravagantly. And where there were frontiers, they were conquered.

But the Victorian era was much more. It saw women broaden their roles in society while the women's rights movement flourished. It saw cities grow — between 1870 and 1900 Detroit jumped from a population of 79,500 to 285,700 and Los Angeles from 5,700 to 102,400.

So here's a small taste of life in America during the Victorian era:

THE VICTORIANS

"The era seemed for a time to be dominated by the conviction that nothing succeeds like excess," according to Time-Life Books.

There was no doubt — those who had money during the Victorian era spent it.

They were the bankers, the stock brokers,

"A woman could go to a movie with a man unchaperoned but won't let him pay for her ticket. In permitting a gentle man to expend money for her pleasure, a lady assumes an obligation to him, which time and chance may reach oppressive."

Victorian etiquette

iron masters, copper barons and railroad builders.

"In groping for culture to match their fortunes, many of these budding Brahmins fell victims to their untrained imaginations — and tastes," according to Time-Life.

Rooms were stuffed with armchairs, tables and couches. And the armchairs, tables and couches were loaded with pillows and linen.

"Like Nature herself, every prospering Victorian matron abhorred a vacuum in the living space of her home," Time-Life writes. "Accordingly, she stuffed every room from farlight to floor with an eye boggling collection of umbrellas and fans, coat racks, china cabinets, small tables and countless other knicknacks."

And the piano — certainly not bare — dominated a home's parlor. The Ladies' Home Journal committed special space in 1883 to dressing the instrument.

Pianos were being produced five times as fast as people at points during the Victorian era. By 1889, the 75 million Americans owned one million pianos.

From the parlor to the picnic to miners in Colorado, pianos were everywhere.

Remnants from the era still remain, but most popular perhaps are the houses. Certainly nothing boring, these houses boast excess — from their porches to the windows — that Victorians would be proud of.

THE FAMILY

Every member of "the microcosm of the state" had a role and rank set by tradition. And at the center of the household was the father.

Dad was "mister" to mom and "sir" to the children in the households of America, which averaged five members.

The Victorian father worked 10 or more hours a day for six days a week to answer the pressure of earning money. As the father worked, his wife balanced a heavy load — the household and the family finances.

But according to Time-Life, "As the century moved on, women were less and less willing to accept the subservient role." Although women cast their first votes in Wyoming in 1869, the era saw the women's rights movement begin to flourish.

While the divorce rate steadily climbed — from 11,000 in 1879 to 55,751 nationwide in 1900 — marriage was the primary goal for most women.

Thirteen million of the 20 million women and girls over 14 in 1890 were married, according to Time-Life.

THE STYLES

Hair on both men and women surpassed all other means of displaying the extravagance of the time.

Women grew their hair long, but never let it fall to their waists. Instead, they would pile it onto their head, using it to frame their faces.

And most men had some type of a great variety facial hair — most likely a beard, maybe a handlebar mustache and sometimes both.

"Abe Lincoln growing a beard, after a little girl said it might help his looks, established facial hair as a male status symbol of the era," Time-Life writes.

The popularity of beards waned by 1890, but handlebar mustaches filled the void.

Also, to be in style one would need to know proper etiquette — which for the most part was rigid as people hoped to avoid embarrassing gaffes.

Not to worry, though. At least half a dozen books existed on the subject.

One suggested, "A woman could go to a movie with a man unchaperoned but won't let him pay for her ticket. In permitting a gentle man to expend money for her pleasure, a lady assumes an obligation to him, which time and chance may reach oppressive."

ENTERTAINMENT

The Victorian era gave birth to America's national pastime even while old favorites slowly died with the age.

In 1869, the Cincinnati Red Stockings formed as the first professional baseball team. The team traveled throughout the nation that year, whipping makeshift teams and compiling a 64-0 record.

But one of the biggest draws in town proved to be Phoebe Ann Butler, Annie Oakley or Little Sure Shot — whichever you decided to call her — who shared the hottest ticket with Buffalo Bill Cody and Sitting Bull.

Cody's show was said to have "out-barnumed Barnum" — of course, referring to P.T. Barnum, who put together his show in 1871. In his first year, Barnum brought in $400,000.

Meanwhile, the theater was also big.

OCCUPATIONS:

As the industrial age dawned on young America, job opportunities boomed for women and children alike.

By 1890, there were 3,704,000 women in the work force and 1.75 million youth under 15 worked for as little as 25 cents a day, according to Time-Life.

Seven out of 10 industrial workers earned no more than 10 cents a day at times during the era.

The same number, seven out of 10, of colleges opened their doors to females. But only one in 400 Americans held college degrees at that time.

The average yearly income of the time rose from $779 to $1,164 between 1870 and 1900.

Period fashion: romance and elegance key

It was a time of refined elegance and poetic romance.

The era of Queen Victoria's reign in England, 1837-1901, was characterized by rapid changes of style and ornamental dress.

Victorian ladies wore elaborate dresses with long skirts, poufs of lace, high collars, and jeweled brooches during the day. At night, necklines plunged and sleeves were worn off the shoulder.

Men were most appropriately outfitted in sack-style suits, vests accessorized by gold watch chains, and colorful soft ties, ascots, or bow ties.

The Northville Victorian Festival, Sept. 14-16, attempts to recreate the magic of that era, complete with authentic costumes, music, a parade, a ball, and a Sunday afternoon picnic. Organizers ask that festivalgoers observe the style and atmosphere of the Victorian era by dressing in appropriate attire. Non-profit groups and merchants throughout downtown plan to get in the spirit.

Attendees at the first festival last year found that costumes don't have to be elaborate or expensive. Adaptations of things already in the closet can work very well.

An ordinary woman's blouse, for example, can take on a Victorian air merely by raising the collar and pinning it at the neck with a colorful brooch or pin.

Daytime Victorian attire for women may consist of a white blouse, dark skirt, and an apron of striped, gingham or printed material.

Men can transform their wardrobes into Victorian styles by wearing vests over white shirts tied with a bow tie, ascot, or scarf at the neck. For a fancy touch, men may choose to wear a vest designed from a remnant of upholstery fabric. Any pants or trousers in dark hues are representative of the era.

Suggested accessories include umbrellas or parasols, which are sold inexpensively at many antique shops; hand-held fans; and wide-brimmed hats for the ladies. Cameos, lockets on delicate chains or ribbons, jeweled combs for the hair, and any type of black jewelry also signify the Victorian era.

Straw hats are appropriate for men during daytime activities, such as the Sunday afternoon picnic or afternoon games, while top hats or derby hats can be worn with evening attire.

Women's shoes should be low-heeled, ballet-style slippers. There were no such things as high-heeled pumps as we know them today in a Victorian woman's closet.

Men are advised to simply wear dark-colored shoes.

Simple to dress like Victorian folk

Recommended children's clothing for girls consists of short dresses that fall below the knee in simple styles gathered on a round or square yoke. Necklines as worn most often by Victorian children were high, and sleeves were short. Cover a dress with a pinafore or apron, and the outfit is easily transformed into a Victorian fashion.

To fit into the festival spirit, boys may wear knickers with long socks, an effect that can be achieved by simply tucking a pant leg into the top of a long sock. Victorian boys wore pleated shirts with round collars tied with a string or scarf tie. Other boys' fashions consisted of loose-fitting overalls without a shirt.

The highlight of the festival is the costume ball on Saturday evening.

Suggested apparel for women attending the ball includes full-skirted gowns with crinoline — coarse, stiff cloth used as a lining in garments — that can be worn off the shoulder. Gowns with pleating and bustles would also be appropriate. Ladies who don't own a gown are encouraged to wear a full, dark skirt with a lacy blouse. Old prom dresses, bridesmaid dresses or graduation gowns may serve the purpose.

Evening wear for men may consist of formal, dark suits, white shirts with wing-tip collars, and black ties, ascots, bow ties or scarves. Cutaway tuxedos would be most appropriate for those seeking a bit more elegance. Scottish kilts are also appropriate.

If nothing in the closet seems just right, a trip to a costume shop or local theater group may be in order. Schools with theater programs may also be able to help.

LIVONIA SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The Livonia Symphony Orchestra is presenting its eighteenth concert season in 1990-91. Founded in 1973 as the Oakway Symphony and reincorporated as the Livonia Symphony in 1988, the Orchestra continues its service to Livonia and the communities of Oakland and Wayne Counties.

The Livonia Symphony Society, Incorporated, is a non-profit Michigan corporation governed by an elected, self-perpetuating 31 member Board of Directors. This board, which includes the Mayor of Livonia, is broadly representative of Livonia and the surrounding communities. Contributions to the Livonia Symphony Society qualify for federal tax deductions and or the Michigan Tax Credit.

In its 1990-91 season the Orchestra will perform two subscription series. The five-concert weekend series will be presented at Churchill High School Auditorium. The three-concert Friday evening services will be performed at the Livonia Main Library Auditorium. The Orchestra continues its traditional special concerts with the "Merry Olde England Christmas Dinner" and the annual "Cabaret."

The activities of the Orchestra are principally financed from three major sources: ticket sales/fundraising events and contributions, particularly from the Symphony League and the Michigan Council for the Arts. As a special consideration to senior citizens and students, tickets are substantially discounted.

Francesco DiBlasi

The artistic quality of this community orchestra, now with eighty musicians, has been nurtured since 1973 when it first began as the Oakway Symphony by its Music Director and Conductor, Francesco DiBlasi.

DiBlasi trained at Julliard and has played with the New York City Opera, American Symphony Orchestra, Metropolitan Opera and Detroit Symphony Orchestra. His conducting appointments include the Michigan Opera Company, Detroit Little Symphony and Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo. Mr. DiBlasi has served as guest conductor with the Grand Rapids Symphony, Scandinavian Symphony, Philadelphia Orchestra and Pittsburgh Symphony.

The annual Livonia Symphony Orchestra Competition for orchestral instruments and voice will be held January 12 & 13, 1991. Winners will be invited to appear at remaining LSO concerts. For more information call Nancy Richard at 471-7049.

Zingerman's

Last summer at the Fancy Food Show in Atlanta they held a party for the Foods of Spain, called "Catch a Rising Star." I didn't really think about it at the time, but it was a pretty appropriate name. I remember when we first started working with Spanish foods at Zingerman's. It was four or five years ago, when, it's pretty safe to say, the foods of Spain were about as well known in Ann Arbor as, uh, the capital of Albania. Spain wasn't that far removed from the Franco era. I know in my mind I still envisioned a kind of isolated, slow-moving, conservative country, running more than a little behind the rest of Europe. At the time, foods of Spain to most people meant rubbery pimiento-stuffed olives in bottles for dropping into martinis. Not exactly a land of gourmet intrigue, let alone some kind of "rising star."

But even then something about the foods of Spain piqued my interest. At the time I don't think I could really have pinpointed what it was. More of a feeling, I guess, than anything I could have put into words. A lot has happened in the last five years to change my original image of the country. For openers I went to Spain. When I got there I found a fast-paced lively place with all sorts of amazing food, prepared in dozens of distinctive regional styles. For another, Spain's "star" has started to "rise" in the world. The 1992 Olympics, the 506th anniversary of Columbus' voyage, the arrival from Spain of all sorts of great olive oils, cheeses, olives, vinegars...

At Zingerman's we've seen the Spanish star rising as well. Today we stock dozens of different foods from Spain, which rival some of the best of America and Europe. We've seen a loyal and dedicated following develop, which eagerly awaits our annual Fiesta de España and the taste of traditional paella and other Spanish dishes that goes with it. The popularity of Spanish food is certainly on the rise.

But I like the "Rising Star" theme, not just for its obvious Broadway parallels. Because although stars appear to "rise" for the first time as you watch them in the sky, they've actually been there all along. And while the foods of Spain may be gaining well-deserved popularity today, they've been around for centuries. The finest foods from Spain, far from being trendy, have been crafted, eaten, and enjoyed all over the Iberian peninsula for an awfully long time. They just seem to "rise" as they reappear on our horizon.

In fact one of the things that appeals to me most about the foods of Spain is their history. There is really no country in Europe with a more diverse set of culinary influences integrated so effectively into the cooking and eating of the nation. The influence of the Arabs—oranges, rice, saffron, spices. The influence of the "New World"—potatoes, corn, chocolate, tomatoes, chiles. And the influence of ancient Rome—the olive and its oil. Plus the foods native to Spain—amazing cheeses, fresh produce, lamb, beef.

Add to that the history of Spain itself—up until the end of the 15th century Spain was made up of a dozen or more small independent kingdoms, each of which today retains its own distinctive regional cuisine.

Well enough of all this philosophy and stuff. The best thing about the foods of Spain is that they taste so good. So stop by, taste for yourself, and enjoy. Buen provecho!

15th annual fiesta de España!

S. Muno of our art dept. among the 300 year old trees of the L'estornell estate.

visiting the estate of L'estornell & Lerida olive oils

The dry Spanish sun. Sun. After four weeks of gloomy northern European drizzle, the dry Spanish sun warms our thoughts as well as our skin. This is my first journey into Spain, and it's only a step into a rich and beautiful land. We are in Catalonia, a region in the northeast corner of Spain, bordered in the north by the cool, dry Pyrenées Mountains, in the east by the Mediterranean, and in the south by Valencia, the land of rice and paella.

We are leaving coastal Barcelona and heading west into wine and olive country. The landscape changes quickly. Quickly into a truly Spanish landscape. A landscape low with bushy growth, the warm, dusty soil visible. Certain open fields are bespeckled with color; red field poppies wildly in bloom. This is Spain. It is May.

We travel on the Autopista—the Spanish version of an American tollway. The highway is new, open, and fast. To the north the weird Gaudi/Gothic peaks of Montserrat rise up in great contrast to the surrounding countryside. In an hour we are in the province of Lérida (Llida, in Catalan). We head south on a windy little road to find the estate of the Veá family, a well-known producer of Lérida and L'Estornell extra virgin olive oils.

The family olive groves are in and around the sleepy, sunny county town of Sarrocca de Lérida. We are met at the estate by our friend Joe Quaid, who works for the Veá family. Joe takes us on a little tour of the family's business. For generations, the name Veá has stood for the very highest standards of quality in the cultivation of olives and the pressing of fine extra virgin olive oils.

Señor Avelino Veá, who now runs this family firm, has maintained and raised those standards. He has introduced the latest production techniques. But he has also rigorously preserved the traditional methods of cultivation and blending, and the traditional family insistence that only the very finest oils shall bear the Veá name.

The conditions here are ideal for the cultivation of the Arbequina olive—the only variety the family grows. The warm summers are followed by winters cold enough to destroy most of the pests that can afflict olive trees. Unusual for these days, no pesticides are used. Only the age-old technique of planting almond trees amongst the olives is applied to limit and control the proliferation of harmful insects during the growing season.

Similarly, no chemical or artificial fertilizers are fed to the trees. Only occasional applications of natural manure and of "virgin" earth, which is brought from high in the hills and packed around the base of the trees, are necessary to maintain the fertility of the groves.

During the growing season, the trees—and there are nearly 10,000 of them altogether, some over 500 years old—are watched over constantly. When ripe, the olives are harvested by hand to avoid bruising. This practice is also rare these days; mechanical shaking into nets is becoming increasingly common, but that technique can bruise the fruit and degrade the quality of the oil, so Señor Veá will not allow it.

Only first cold pressings of extra virgin olive oil are produced by Veá, and all pressing, filtration, and bottling takes place on his own farm and under his own eye.

All the blending is performed by Señor Veá himself. Every day during the production season, he works in his tasting room sampling the oils stored from the season's pressings and specifying the proportions in which they are to be combined. His skill as a blender is renowned; and the success of his company is largely founded on that skill.

After our tour we are taken to lunch by the family. What a Catalan feast! During our three-hour meal we are treated to uncooked marinated cod with black pepper and Veá's luscious olive oil, salad dressed with olive oil and local wine vinegar, Arbequina olives, dry cured ham (which one sees hanging to cure in many local restaurants and stores), a paella measuring a meter in diameter, Penedés wine, Spanish brandy, and Crema Catalana for dessert (a local custard specialty).

It was hard to leave the warm hospitality shown to us by the land and these people. I think you'll taste a little of that same sunny Spanish experience when you use Lerida or L'Estornell olive oil.

The cheesemakers of Spain have yet to really get the recognition they deserve from the cheese-lovers of the world. I'm not worried though. They will. Many of Spain's best cheeses remain secrets to non-locals. Even in Spain, each region seems to consume pretty much its own cheeses. An exception, Manchego, is one of Spain's best-known cheeses, and certainly among her finest.

Spain's greatest cheese comes from La Mancha, home of Spain's greatest literary legend, Don Quixote. I firmly believe that Manchego deserves to be considered among the world's great cheeses. Made from pure sheep's milk (only the milk of the local Manchega sheep may be used), Manchego is formed into 8-lb. wheels, pressed, and aged to develop a distinctively tangy, slightly salty, but definitely very full flavor. Manchego is great to just eat as it is, with maybe a glass of Rioja wine and a handful of nuts and a loaf of bread.

MAHON
SAVE $1.00/LB.

reg. $10.99/lb.
One of the things I like about Spanish cheeses is that they are originals—they neither look nor taste like the cheeses of other countries. Mahon, made by hand on the island of Menorca, is a perfect example. Made from local cow's milk, Mahon is shaped to look something like a square pillow. Well aged, it has a good full flavor. About the closest comparison I can think of is an aged Gouda, but Mahon is less nutty than Gouda, with a very distinctive tang to it. A fine cheese.

CABRALES
SAVE $1.00/LB.

Cabrales is a fabulous, full-flavored blue-veined cheese, made in Asturias in northern Spain. Cabrales is made from a combination of sheep's, cow's, and goat's milks, which gives it a flavor unique among the fine blue cheeses of the world. Wrapped in chestnut leaves and then aged in caves in the hills of Asturias, Cabrales is for anyone who loves full-flavored cheese. If you love Roquefort, Stilton, and Gorgonzola, don't miss this Spanish gem. If it gets here, that is. Otherwise...as they say in Spain, "it'll be here soon."

VINEGARS

i vinagres vibrantes!

I think that vinegars are some of the most underrated foods around. I mean if you think about it, they have no cholesterol, they're completely natural, preservative-free, full of all sorts of intriguing flavors. And just a little bit of fine vinegar goes a long way to flavor a salad, a sauce, a soup, or a main dish. The variety of fine vinegars seems almost limitless—there are as many good vinegars out there as there are fine wines, which makes sense since that's what good vinegar is made from. Like any wine-producing country, Spain has its share of great vinegars.

This is another one of the around for ages. The guy who makes it in Catalonia couldn't believe anyone outside the local area would be interested. "Vinegar is vinegar, isn't it?" he asked. Obviously he never shopped at Kroger's®. Personally, I couldn't believe how good this vinegar was. Its flavor is unlike that of any other red wine vinegar I've ever tried. Made from the local granacho grapes, this vinegar really does have the bouquet and depth of flavor of a fine red wine.

SANCHEZ ROMATÉ SHERRY VINEGAR

The town of Jerez (pronounced "her-eth") and its surrounding countryside is the only place in the world in which sherry can be made. The rich, nutty sherry (that's "Jerez" in Spanish) its international reputation also makes it a vinegar an exceptional vinegar. Made from the Jerez fino, aged in American oak barrels, sherry vinegar is wonderful. No matter what I add it to, it gives a wonderful Sanchez Romaté has been making sherry and sherry vinegar since 1787. Purveyors to the House of Lords in London, prize winners in numerous competitions, they make very good sherry vinegar. The V.O., aged for over 20 years, is exceptional. It's also an exceptional value—reg. only $12.00 per bottle (and it's on special this month too!).

Some of the Rioja wines of the Basque country are known worldwide. These gorgeous vinegars, made from Rioja wines, reflect the light-bodied, oaky Rioja flavor. Each is seasoned with a mixture of herbs and aged to develop a flavor hearty enough to stand up to traditional Basque (or your own) cooking. P.S. Not only do these vinegars taste good, but the presentation—tall, slender bottles filled with herbs—makes them a great gift!

OLIVES

i olivos fantasticos!

The Spanish grow and eat olives in huge quantities. In fact they grow more of them than anyone else in the world. There are dozens of varieties grown throughout Spain. Large olives, small olives, green olives, black olives, mild olives, and strong olives. The Spanish eat enormous amounts of them as tapas or with a cold glass of fino sherry or a glass of local wine. At Zingerman's we've obtained three fine Spanish olives, none of which tastes like the ubiquitous "Spanish olive" we've all grown accustomed to in the supermarket.

ARBEQUINA OLIVES

SAVE $1.00/LB.

reg. $6.99/lb.
These olives are tiny—about the size of the nail on your little finger—greenish-brown olives, grown throughout the province of Catalonia in northeastern Spain.

Arbequinas have a distinctive, very nutty, kind of addictive flavor. Catalans love them, but for years they've kept them to themselves. It took us four years of pestering, badgering, and beseeching to get them to Zingerman's. The Catalans just couldn't believe anyone on this side of the Atlantic would like them. ("Americans only like big olives" seems to be the conventional thinking among the locals.) Well, I think they're incredible. But you can taste them for yourself.

SEVILLANO OLIVES

SAVE $1.00/LB.

reg. $7.89/lb.
Over the years these have become one of the most popular olives at Zingerman's. Large green Gordal (the name means "fat," and it's deserved) olives are marinated in a traditional Seville-style marinade full of the flavors of Spain's culinary heritage—olive oil, cumin, rosemary, thyme, garlic, sherry vinegar, and more. Just the aroma alone is enough to make you want to visit the markets of Seville (I'm serious).

FARGA ARAGON OLIVES

SAVE $1.00/LB.

reg. $6.99/lb.
Another local Catalan specialty, Farga Aragon's are nothing at all like the Arbequinas. While the Arbequinas are firm, small, and nutty, these are very black, very ripe, sweet, and soft. Dress them with a little olive oil and some thyme and garlic and serve before dinner with a glass of wine.

Spanish chorizo son asombrosos!

D R Y - C U R E D M E A T S

In Italy they have "salumeria" shops, which display dozens of salamis and cured meats. In Madrid they have the "Museo del Jamon"—literally the "Museum of Ham"—with a selection of cured hams and sausages every bit as wonderful as the best Italian salumeria. Thin slices of Jamon Serrano with fresh crusty bread and a few slices of Manchego cheese are one of Spain's simplest and most delicious treats.

JAMON SERRANO

SAVE 20%

Reg. $12.99/lb.
Calling Jamon Serrano "Spanish Prosciutto" doesn't do justice to this traditional cured ham. Rubbed with Spanish paprika and crushed red peppers, then aged for 8-12 months, Jamon Serrano is delicious on its own, in a sandwich (that's a "bocadillo" if you're in Spain), sliced and eaten as a tapa, or wrapped around slices of ripe fig or melon. For a special appetizer serve slices of Jamon Serrano rolled around it in slices of smoked tuna or smoked salmon.

CHORIZO

SAVE 20%

Reg. $6.69/lb.
Chorizo is one of the essentials of Spanish eating. Unlike Mexican chorizo, Spanish chorizo is a ready-to-eat, coarse-cut pork sausage (more like a salami in a way) seasoned with garlic and paprika. The Spanish eat chorizo slices as a "tapa", add chorizo to paella, put chunks of chorizo into soups and stews, or use it to make sandwiches. No matter how you slice it, it's good.

SWEETS

i dulces deliciosos!

One visit to Spain will tell you that the Spanish love their sweets. Many of them aren't made to be shipped over here—churros (long strips of fried sweet dough), helados (ice cream), yemas (the traditional egg yolk candies of Avila)...but we have been able to get our hands on a couple of wonderful Spanish treats.

DON JIMENA COOKIES

reg. from $3.59/box
I'm not sure what to say about these cookies except that they're really good. They're uniquely Spanish—I've never tasted anything like them anywhere else. That and the fact that we've been trying unsuccessfully to get them to Zingerman's for over four years. Made from Spanish almonds, honey, spices... great for afternoon tea, after dinner, or any other time you like to eat cookies.

ROCA CHOCOLATES

COMING SOON!

These are a treat to look at as well as to eat. Made by the Roca family in Catalonia for over 50 years. The family specialty is called "bombons"—little "boats" of dark chocolate, each dotted with a hazelnut, a walnut, a sultana, and an almond. The family takes pride in the care that goes into every facet of the production—the quality of the chocolate, the freshness of the nuts, the packaging, the flavor. Great gift—for yourself or for a loved one.

TURRON

SAVE 10%

reg. $4.59/each
Turron is about as typical a Spanish sweet as you can get. It's hard to describe to someone who's never had it before. Made from almonds and honey formed into a crisp bar. The Spanish love it, but you can try it for yourself.

Spanish rice for Paella

reg. $2.99/1-lb. bag
Undoubtedly the most famous dish of Spanish cooking, pretty much everyone has heard of paella. What few people know is that it is the rice in the paella which is the most highly prized part of the dish in Spain. To make a true paella, you've got to use real Spanish short-grained rice, grown in the region of Valencia on the eastern coast of Spain.

Can there really be that much difference from one rice to another? In a word, yes. Spanish Valencia rice is unique. Short, round, kind of chubby grains, which absorb plenty of liquid without getting mushy or soft.

Rice was brought to Spain by the Moors over 1000 years ago. Rice is very popular in Spain and the Spanish eat huge quantities of it. Not just in paella, which is really a dish for special occasions, but in Arroz con Pollo (chicken, rice, and saffron), rice salads, rice pudding and dozens of other dishes.

Real paella pans from Spain!

reg. from $10.00/each
I won't say you can't make a paella without a paella pan. But I will say it's a heck of a lot easier with one. To make an authentic paella you need a pan that will allow the heat to escape so that the rice in the pan never steams. That's why paella pans have such short sides, sloping out from the center of the pan. When we first started talking about—and making—paella we never realized how hard it was to get a real paella pan around these parts. Turned out they were few and far between. So we started importing our own.

Made from polished iron, paella pans need to be seasoned. You can do that by boiling some red wine vinegar in the pan for about 30 minutes. Always dry your pan carefully after washing, and wipe lightly with oil to prevent rusting.

pimientos

SAVE $1.00/JAR

reg. $6.89/jar
When we first started selling Bastarri Pimientos from northern Spain we were lucky to sell a jar a week. Seems most Americans' only contact with a pimiento was the slightly rubbery red thing you find inside olives. I can't really blame people, then, for not wanting to spend $6 on a jar of pimientos. But pimientos really are good! Some pimientos—like Bastarri—are great.

Pimiento is really just a roasted pepper. What makes a good pimiento is a good pepper (there are hundreds of varieties grown in Spain), wood roasting (the wood adds a lot more—and better—flavor than a gas burner), and careful peeling (it's a lot quicker to use water, but you wash away a lot of the flavor). Bastarri pimientos score highly on all counts.

Bastarri pimientos have a delicious, smoky, slightly peppery flavor. I use them in just about everything, from salads, to pastas, to omelettes ("tortillas" in Spain), to seafood dishes. Honestly, they're delicious any way you use them. In fact they'd probably be good in an olive.

spanish almonds

ON SPECIAL
$9.99/LB.

reg. $13.00/lb.
Almonds are part of the Arab contribution to Spanish food. In Spain they use almonds in soups, to thicken sauces, in pastries, in salads. And they also toast them with a little bit of extra virgin olive oil and some salt and cumin and eat handfuls of them at the tapas bars to accompany a cold sherry. That's what we do at Zingerman's.

A SPECIAL OLIVE OIL TASTING

THURSDAY,
7:00 PM.

Zingerman's is proud to announce the visit of Countess Romana Bicocchi-Picchi, proprietress of Tenuta Del Numerouno Estate in Italy. At 7:00 PM we will conduct a special tasting of fine olive oils, including those of the Countess' own estate (one of the most delicious olive oils you'll ever taste!).

Call 663-3400 for details and to reserve your space.
