Shared services changes ahead?

By MIKE TYREE

Township and city officials spent two hours last Wednesday evening mulling the future of community shared services programs — programs that face increased scrutiny due to a wave of local anti-tax sentiment.

At first glance, the meeting concluded with the respective community leaders smiling and speaking of Officials agreed to pursue talks that could create a combined recycling program and to research and possibly implement a resident survey to record the pulse of the community.

But a closer look reveals highly divergent city/township agendas, and brings to mind numerous questions about the ability - and willingness - of the two governments to continue to provide progressive services to residents. If the purpose of the get-together was to solidify local government codependency, the meeting could not Even casual local-government watchers realize the city is more anxious to embark on heightened discussions involving joint services. The city proposed the latest meeting and the township grudgingly accepted the invitation, not because of outward antagonism toward their city brethren, but due to more pressing

CIVIC CONCERN

Support $group\ could$ use a hand

By STEVE KELLMAN

A Northville organization that has helped hundreds of needy families needs some assistance of its own.

Marlene Kunz, co-chair of Civic Concern, 215 W. Cady St., said her group's coffers are "as low as they've ever been." While the group typically gets most of its donations around Christmas, Kunz said she is uncertain whether Civic Concern will have enough food and money to assist the families who continue to need help before then.

Civic Concern does more than feed families down on their luck. Typically, people have felt that all we do is the food," Kunz said. "And that's not

The group has found housing, utilities, and employment for the hundreds of people that have passed through the various doors of the of-fices occupied by Civic Concern since its inception in 1983.

The organization assists families from the Northville community, Novi, Plymouth, Livonia, Farmington and Farmington Hills.

Though the communities themselves may be wealthy, Kunz said, families and individuals within each community often find themselves burned out or evicted from their homes or apartments, unable to pay medical bills for catastrophic illnesses, or simply unable to pay all their other bills and still put food on the table.

That's where Civic Concern comes in. The group provides food to needy people the second and fourth Friday of each month, between 11 a.m. and

Hospital shows its concern

Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital has donated space to the local group Civic Concern.

The group plans to use the space - two rooms in the state hospital's vacant "M" building — to store the food collected for distribution to needy local families. The donation will help ease crowding at the group's main office in the Scout Building, at 215 W. Cady St., which is shared by Senior Citizens and local scout Hospital Director Walter Brown called the action another example of his effort to increase hospital involvement with the community over the past five years.

Previous hospital donations to the community include the use of the hospital gymnasium by Our Lady of Victory, State Police use of hospital athletic facilities, and the Plymouth Theater Guild's use of the activity/ therapy building for the public performance of plays.

Future hospital plans for community activities include a series of workshops and lectures planned for the spring of 1991 on stress, parenting issues and other related mental health concerns. The workshops will be developed by the hospital's education and staff development departments.

Budget cutters take aim at fire department

By MIKE TYREE Staff Writer

Township Fire Chief Robert Toms knows full well the anti-tax fury that has of late engulfed local government.

Voters rejected a fire department millage request in August, forcing a November showdown for .33 mill Toms says is necessary for department operations.

The August defeat shocked fire personnel, and Toms last week squared off against a foe that may be as formidable as voters in the upcoming miliage election — the township budget review committee.

Toms, who said his 1991 proposed $348,160 budget is "pretty well skinned down," faced sometimes intense questioning during a 75-minute session with the budget committee.

The committee — Treasurer Betty Lennox, Wes Henrikson, Frank St. Louis and John Sassaman - probed and poked its way through Toms' budget, looking for items to cut.

Armed with a mandate from Supervisor Georgina Goss to slice more than $300,000 from the township's 1991 preliminary budget, the committee spent its first week examining budgets of the planning de-partment, library, finance department and police and fire departments.

All were scrutinzed for the hint of flab that could be lopped off to ensure a balanced 1991 $3.2-million tempts to dent their proposed expenditure list.

The budget review committee looked for chinks in their armor.

"What are your big changes? Why are you going from $3,000 to $5,000 in equipment expenditures?" Henrikson asked.

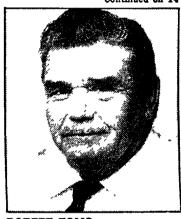

Rosselle explained that the fire department replaced $3,000 worth of pump nozzles and that other items vere needed for 1991.

Toms took a more pointed approach.

*Five grand is peanuts for our stuff," he said. "We could put $15,000 on our rigs and not bat arr eye (but) we wanted to keep costs

Tivoli Fair returns

The 21st annual Tivoli Fair, a juried arts and crafts show sponsored by the Northville Historical Society, is scheduled for this weekend at Northville Downs.

Sally Henrikson, coordinator of the event, said this year's fair will offer a wide variety for customers and browsers.

"We have over 100 exhibits," Henrikson said. "People can expect to find a wide variety in types (of art) and prices.

The Tivoli Fair is a juried art fair. meaning that artists wishing to take part in it must submit samples of their work for evaluation.

There will be clothes, pottery, country crafts, weaving, baskets, paintings in oil, watercolor, penand-ink . . . you name it, we've got it," Henrickson said.

The Tivoli Fair will be open Friday, Sept. 28 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Saturday, Sept. 29 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Civic Concern also pays emergency medical and utility bills. but only after the utility company has issued a disconnect or shut-off notice. Payments are made to the utilities, never to the clients themselves. Kunz said. "In other words, we just don't pay a bill that isn't delinquent. We have to see something in writing that says it's a shutoff before we become involved."

The same holds true for rent assistance. "We have to see an eviction notice," Kunz said. "Unfortunately, that causes problems because they're usually so delinquent by that time that you can't catch them (payments) up. But that's the only way that we can become involved."

The group has several housing options available for people who find themselves without shelter. Wayne County will house people for 30 days under an emergency shelter grant. Civic Concern will also provide temporary housing for a week in certain circumstances, while group members try to locate more permanent housing for families or individuals.

Civic Concern also provides emergency medical needs, such as antihistamines, which are not covered by Medicaid.

But as far as Kunz is concerned, what makes Civic Concern work is not its ability to inform clients of assistance and refer them to other programs, but the time that Civic Concern members take to review a family's situation and find the appropriate help.

You can step yourself through the information and referral guides, but it's not going to give you an answer," she said. "Not on a human level. It's people that take time in their day to at least show they care. And I think that's what's happened with us. We've become like a clearance house for our churches and our local organizations to send the people to us. and we try to at least show some decency.

"It's not to say that we're going to be successful. It may not happen. But I hope that we have enough strength and that we've come far enough in our organization that we can say we're going to try.'

Kunz also emphasized the fact that people can help support the organization in a number of ways. "You don't always see it in a financial way," she said. "You might see it in canned goods or in clothing, or in a furniture donation. But every bit of it is important.

Kunz admitted that the reputation of non-profit organizations in general may be tainted by the fact that a few groups have abused their not-forprofit status. "Some of your nonprofit organizations are not what they're supposed to be," she said. We've seen that status in the paper before where they're abusing the system.

But the volunteer organization Civic Concern has striven to return as many of its funds as possible to the community. Civic Concern workers and Kunz herself volunteer their time, taking no salary, she said. She estimated the group's general yearly administrative costs at between five and six percent, just enough to cover the costs of items like telephone bills and the stationery and stamps used during fund-raising campaigns.

Kunz said Civic Concern has taken a low-key aproach to fundraising and advertising in the past, an approach which she admitted has not made the job any easier.
"We haven't tried to advertise because you will pick up some that are not in need, and then it taps your resources even further," she explained. "If you're indeed in need, you can find

The group's name is known by local governments, schools and churches, and by other social service

But one side effect of the low-key aproach has been a lack of public awareness of the program. "It has not helped us financially," Kunz said.
"The awareness of the depth of our program is not there. We're seeing a greater need, less donations, and I cannot tell you the reason that people are not donating as much. I don't think it's just this organization. I think it's all organizations."

Civic Concern needs foods like canned goods and cereals, hygiene products like toilet paper, and financial assistance. For more information on volunteering time, food or funds, call Marlene Kunz at 349-1033.

MOUTH BREATHING PROBLEMS

Occasionally, you may notice a mouth. youngster who cannot breathe through his nose and uses his mouth for all his breathing. This may not seem abnormal — but it is, and can lead to a lot of future dental problems if not stopped early. What causes mouth breathing? This habit is usually caused by enlarged tonsils and/or adenoids. (The adenoids are tonsils hidden above the throat and behind the palate). When infected, they can enlarge and block breathing through the nasal passage. The child will gasp for air through his vicious cycle.

Mouth breathing can lead to a host of dental problems such as "buck teeth," weak jaw, and driedout gums that are susceptible to irritation and pyorrhea. It also can seriously distort the child's face through the years, narrowing nostrils, weakening the chin, and slackening the lips, Also, because the air doesn't pass through the normal heating-and-humidifying nasal passages, it is dry, irritating and often causes frequent colds and infections, thus perpetuating a dent reported the theft of a 1989 Chevrolet Suburban from the Meijer parking lot Sept. 19. The complainant told police she was inside the 20401 Haggerty store between 1-3 p.m. and returned to the parking lot to discover the vehicle was missing. Township police reported no physical evidence at the scene.

Police News

The Suburban was described as navy blue with running boards and a hitch on the back. The vehicle also had tinted side windows and a cellu-lar car phone.

ATTEMPTED BREAKING AND ENTERING — The Northville Saddlery, 200 S. Main St., was the site of an attempted break-in sometime between 7 p.m. Sept. 14 and 9 a.m. Sept. 15. A plywood board covering a window was pried away, a window broken and holes punched in a wall on the other side of the window during the attempt. Damage was estimated at $50.

LARCENY FROM VEHICLE - A radar detector and a man's suit were stolen from a car parked at Northville Oaks, 20732 Taft Road, sometime between 12:30-7 a.m. Sept. 21, according to city police reports. A passenger side window was smashed on the car, causing an estimated $150 in damage. The black Bel Vector radar detector was valued at $150, and the grey two-piece pinstripe suit was valued at $200.

FENDER BENDERS — City police reported three accidents last week. A car parked on Yerkes Avenue Sept. 20 was struck sometime by an unknown vehicle before 9 p.m., according to city police reports.

A 16-year-old Novi man was cited by city police for failing to yield after turning into the path of another car onto Center Street from westbound Eight Mile Road when his car was struck by a car heading east on Eight Mile, according to witnesses. The eastbound car was then struck by another eastbound vehicle.

Later that evening, a South Lyon man driving south on Center just north of Fairbrook Road at 6:55 p.m. struck the car ahead of him as it turned into a driveway. The 39-yearold man was cited by city police for failing to use due care and caution.

OPEN INTOXICANTS - Township police cited a 46-year-old Northville man for transporting open intoxicants in a motor vehicle after stopping him on northbound Silver Springs north of Seven Mile Sept. 18. Police said they pulled the man over for a traffic violation and found an open bottle of beer behind the front passenger seat.

FELONIOUS ASSAULT INVESTI-GATED — Township police are investigating a Sept. 17 incident in which a 17-year-old Northville man allegedly pointed a . 12-gauge shotgun at three Northville residents. Police said the shotgun was not loaded at the time of the incident, which allegedly occurred after a dispute near the suspect's Crystal Lake Drive residence.

RESIDENCE DAMAGED DURING BREAK-IN - The owners of a Seven Mile Road residence told township police that someone broke into their home Sept. 22, pulled a garden hose into the house and turned the water on. Water damaged carpet and the floor and leaked into the basement, police said.

Police said materials from two bedrooms were strewn on floors, but nothing of value was reported missing. The complainants said they did not know of anyone who might have wanted to damage the house. Dam-Sept. 22. The man was turning south age was estimated at $5,000.

New stop signs

Flashing four-way red lights and stop signs now grace the intersection of Beck and Seven Mile roads. Wayne County workers installed the lights last week. Drivers now must come to a stop at: all four points of the intersection.

Man arraigned on false report charge

A Northville man was arraigned Aug. 21 in 35th District Court on charges of filing a false police

Kevin Edward Payne, 21, pleaded not guilty to

The charge stems from an incident just after midnight on July 24, in which a Northville City police officer chased a car east on Eight Mile Road to Greenridge Road. Officer William Edgar said the driver fled from the car when he finally stopped on Greenridge, and ran directly into the headlights of his police car.

The man was last seen running north toward

Run helps special cause

By MIKE TYREE Staff Writer

The day was overcast and dreary. with spitting rain.

Expressionless runners plodded over the asphalt surface on Seven Mile, past Fish Hatchery Park and into Northville, past the Hines Drive turn-off and up Northville Road to east Seven Mile.

And then the men and women scattered over miles of local winding roads - began to coast into Little Caesar's parking lot on Seven Mile.

Some ran hard and some jogged at a leisurely pace. Others limped the final few feet with a pained but triumphant expression.

No times were recorded, but all 30 of the runners who on Friday partici-pated in the first local leg of the Spe-

Torch Run claimed victory.

Law enforcement representatives from Northville and Plymouth townships, the Michigan State Police Northville Post and correctional employees from Scott, Phoenix and Western Wayne correctional facilities took part in the run in a show of support for Michigan Special Olympics. And they raised some cold cash for the cause. Local law enforcement agencies contributed almost $5,000 to Special Olympics, said Theron Atkinson, coordinator of the Torch Run.

"I thought it worked out great; it was excellent," said Atkinson, a hearings investigator at Scott Correctional. We were a little ahead of our schedule, but it went very well." Atkinson said local law officials

Township officer harassed

By MIKE TYREE Staff Writer

Township police are seeking harassment charges against a 39-yearold Plymouth man who allegedly mailed pornographic pictures and human and animal feces to a township police officer.

Police said the man allegedly mailed pictures depicting male homosexual acts to the township police department, 35th District Court and the police officer's residence.

Police also allege that the man attempted to mail two boxes containing human and animal feces. One of the boxes was addressed to the officer in care of 35th District Court and was matters that monopolize staff at 41600 Six Mile.

This is budget time in the township. Supervisor Georgina Goss has directed the budget review committee to chop $300,000 from a preliminary budget that department heads say was a bare-boned document from the start.

The township fire department is seeking .33 mill for department operations. The matter is on the November ballot and defeat of the request would necessitate transferring to the department thousands of dollars from the township general fund.

Those funds will be channeled to the fire department, because as one township official put it, "If I have a choice between protecting my house and paying for some of those other (shared service) programs, there really is no choice

The township also feels the effects from the ringing defeat of the Haller Library plan. Officials there concede Frieda Haller's 72 acres were much more important than the library itself, but the 2-1 defeat and the ensuing August defeat of the .5-mill fire request told them the public is in no mood to deal with additional tax burdens, especially when the tax comes from what many consider nonessential services.

The city, on the other hand, knows full well the importance of securing the township to joint-service endeavors. The community library, however insufficient, remains in the city. Shortly after the Haller defeat, city officials agreed to expend $94,000 on a house that could become part of a new library facility.

But tax-base limitations - including a population ceiling of less than 10,000 and concerns over a recession and stagnant economic growth - are troubling to the city. The city needs the township and its potential 40,000 build-out population and the mouth-watering. tax-producing. nothing-like-it-in-the-area 300-acre light-industrial complex on Robert DeMattia's proposed Huntington Falls development.

But is the township as committed to shared services? An official there says shared services will not bear the brunt of this year's budget reduction and that the township still backs the joint programs. But the official also said the township will not stand for any attempts to spread the city's tax burden on township residents.

That means no sweetheart shared-services deals like the one agreed upon during the Haller Library proposal. At that time, the city was offered more services for less involvement if it signed up for the Haller plan.

While city officials were less than enthusiastic about moving the library from town, the proposed shared-service agreement was too good for them to pass up.

Now times have changed and very preliminary discussions include the concept of district or regional services programs. Officials at the city/ township meeting even broached the idea of joint (with Plymouth Township) police and fire services. That is indeed an extremely radical idea for the community, but it points out the perceived need to spread—not intensify—the burden.

Are shared services threatened by militant tax-hike foes? The answer is no. But shared services may be threatened by the general populace, those who want local government to provide only police, fire, and water and sewer service.

In that case, recreation, library services, youth assistance and senior services may be forced to solicit funding from other sources, possibly receiving at best a smaller stipend from local government.

The community must decide the direction of shared services. Woefully low voter turnout in recent elections may represent resident attitudes, but it also may not.

One thing was evident at the city/ township meeting: deep-seated problems exist with certain aspects of shared services. Those problems .logistics, semantics, financial burden — are not too great to overcome, but residents need to speak up and help plot the course of the

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

One of the more hotly debated topics at last week's joint city/township meeting was the potential form that a new community library would take.

The most radical proposal suggested was that of a "district library," in which the facility is run as a separate entity from local municipalities rather than a service provided by the municipalities themselves.

Trustee James Nowka first mentioned the concept, saying it would help the township government by removing library services from the township budget.

Township Supervisor Georgina Goss also spoke in favor of district library, saying the proposal could "take the library out of the political over district library

But City Council Meinber Carolann Ayers warned that, although the increase could not be blamed on the local governments, a district library could still increase taxpayer costs. A district library, with its independent board, would mean "another level of governmental bureaucracy that's going to have to be paid for by the same people who are currently paying for the library," she said.

"It does not cut costs for the taxpayer, it increases costs." Ayers also argued that the city and township should be able to cooperate on a new community library. Most district libraries are formed when two or more governmental units cannot agree enough to do anything together," she said.

The two boards decided to put the idea of a district library to the residents, as a question on the citizen survey being drafted by Township Manager Richard Henningsen and City Manager Steven Walters.

Sharing refuse, recycling

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

With four shared services between them already, the city council and township board agreed last week to consider adding another to the list.

"Solid waste disposal and recycling seem like a real natural that we may want to start considering as well, since we're all in that project together and it looks like the Wayne County (solid waste) plan is going to go through." City Mayor Chris Johnson said at last Wednesday's joint city/township meeting.

Large-scale recycling is an issue now that we can really cooperate on." Under the recently completed Wayne County Solid Waste Plan Update, all communities must submit a plan to reduce their solid waste stream by Jan. 1, 1992, and implement the reduction program by Jan. 1, 1994. The city and township both plan's requirements.

The two boards agreed that a joint contract with a waste hauler could save both governments money.

Township Supervisor Georgina Goss added that the city may be able to join in the composting site proposed by the Western Townships Utilities Authority (WTUA), to which Northville, Plymouth and Canton townships belong.

There will be available space for anybody who wants to be included." she said.

Novelist recounts his start

Popular novelist William Kienzle told a Northville audience Monday night that his career hinged on an envelope.

Kienzle - author of Masquerade, The Rosary Murders, and 10 other books featuring fictional Detroit priest Father Robert Koesler - spoke to the annual Friends of the Northville Public Library benefit dinner donated by Genitti's. His audience of about 100 heard that after a career as a priest and a magazine editor, he finally entered book writing through a small twist of fate.

The former priest was working as a grant writer at the Center for Contemplative Studies, a sort of "think tank" then based at Western Michigan University. "I got one major grant. It was from the federal government, which proves it probably shouldn't be in the business of giving grants," Kienzle said.

A friend was seeking out ideas for mystery stories as possible movie treatments. Kienzle happened to see the man's name on an envelope and thought he might try to develop a

Water main bids rejected

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

The city council Monday rejected two bids for the enlargement of water mains under South Center Street and West Cady Street.

The water main enlargement is intended to provide more water to St. Lawrence Estates, to allow enough water pressure to fight potential fires at the condominium complex.

City Manager Steven Walters noted that the lower of the two bids received for the project was 18 percent higher than the city engineer's price estimate. The engineer, Robert Warner of McNeely & Lincoln, based his estimate on a composite of the previous bids received for an earlier version of the project.

SDI Condtruction of Farmington Hills, the low bidder, submitted a price of $264,983.25. The other bidder, D.O.C. Contracting of Westland. set a price of $364,872.15 on the project.

Walters called the bids an example of "an unsettling bond picture."

Warner suggested two potential reasons for the high bids. There's a good deal of concrete involved, and with the cool weather coming they were probably hedging on that," he said. Poured concrete must be protected from freezing during cold

County focuses on flight noise

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

The Federal Aviation Administration's (FAA) recent decision to reevaluate last year's flight pattern changes for Wayne County Metropolitan Airport drew high praise from Wayne County officials but less enthusiasm from leaders of county communities.

The lack of local enthusiasm largely due to resident opposition to airport noise - is hampering county efforts to drum up support for a November referendum vote on a proposed $100-million airport expansion.

Though the cost of the expansion will be paid by Metro Airport, not by county taxpayers. Wayne County residents won the right to vote on the county bond sale that will fund the project with a petition drive initiated in Dearborn.

Deputy Wayne County Executive Michael Duggan explained the need for the airport expansion to last Friday's monthly meeting of the Conference of Western Wayne (CWW) at Northville City Hall.

Duggan began by wryly thanking Huron Township Supervisor Christine Gamber for her "gift" of a petition to him. The petition was signed by 800 Huron Township residents irate about the noise being generated over their community by Metro Airport planes.

The noise, Duggan said, was generated by the decision of the FAA back in November to change the (airline) routes.

Duggan said the new take-off and landing routes concentrated more flights over Dearborn and Huron Township. Residents from Romulus and surrounding communities including Livonia, Inkster and Westland have also complained about the increased noise.

There is no downplaying of the noise problem," Duggan said. "It needs to be dealt with."

The FAA task force will consider several changes in patterns to reduce noise, including faster airplane ascents after take-off, and a "scattered flight pattern" in which planes use several different routes to lessen the frequency of aircraft noise over a particular area. We think two things should happen," Duggan said. "One is that no one particular area of the county should have a high percentage of flights . . . But more impor-tantly, we want to see the planes at a higher altitude."

The problem for county officials is that the new FAA routes would not be proposed until December, and even then air traffic controllers will need three or four months of retraining to learn and implement the new routes. In the meantime, county officials insist the airport expansion should be approved to fuel continued economic aircraft.

growth in Wayne County.
"With the expansion, we'll have another 20,000 jobs in the area," Duggan said. "(But) if we lose this referendum, it will simply stop the airport expansion."

Under the expansion plan, a new parking structure and a new north/ south runway would be built, flood control programs instituted in Romulus and Taylor, and a 50-foothigh earthen berm built on the southeast side of the airport to reduce noise.

Duggan admitted that the new runway would likely increase the number of planes over Livonia. But he said those planes would be landing rather than taking off, and landing planes generate less ground

Duggan also admitted that Northwest Airlines - which uses Metro Airport as its main center - has one of the "least modern" fleets, saying many of the airline's planes are older Stage II jets rather than newer and quieter Stage III models. But he told CWW members to expect an announcement from Northwest within the next month regarding an upgrade of their fleet.

He said county officials have insisted that Northwest upgrade its fleet to Stage III before allowing the airline to expand its metro airport terminal.

Duggan cited the recent FAA announcement as an indication of the success of county negotiations with the FAA. He credited the flight pattern reevaluation to the county's per-sistence and filing of Freedom of Information requests to the FAA for computer data on actual flight patterns, to help prove that airplanes were not reaching proper altitudes fast enough after takeoff.

"We showed them through their own computer data that the planes vere not at the altitudes that they thought they were," Duggan said.

While many of the local officials said they favored the airport expansion, they worried that their constituents could not separate the proposed expansion program from the airport's present noise problems. Duggan promised to try to provide them with "substantive proof that noise abatements are on the way." But Duggan still faced heavy criticism from Dearborn Mayor Michael Guido, who accused county officials of paying "lip service" to his community and failing to enforce serious reductions in airport noise. Dearborn has long protested the increased noise resulting from the new flight Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally expressed a more philosophical attitude toward the airport. When you've got the garage, the cars go in and out," she said. But she said she would support pushing for quieter

The interurban station is the latest addition to Mill Race Historical Village

Mill Race adds slice of history

By CRISTINA FERRIER

It used to sit in the back yard of Andy Bertoni's Eight Mile Road home. But now it's in Mill Race Village, Northville's historical park.

The people who lived in Bertoni's house before he moved there in the 1950s had used it as a child's play house. But it was really an interurban shelter — a relic from an electric trolley system that used to run through the area at the turn of the century.

Mark Cryderman, a member of the Northville Historical Society, was largely responsible for having the shelter moved to Mill Race Historical Village when Bertoni donated it.

"It was a place where people could wait out of the weather (for the trolley) from Northville to Farmington, Cryderman said. "We're still trying to track down similar buildings.

The historical society had known about the building in Bertoni's yard for some time, but had not been able to move it until Cryderman became involved.

"I thought before we lost it, we should move it to Mill Race," Cryderman said, explaining that Bertoni was looking for a place for the building and it was deteriorating as it stayed in the yard.

To move the building, Cryderman borrowed a house mover, then the building was jacked up and a trailer was set under it. It was then towed to Mill Race.

The building itself "seems to be essentially original," he said.

When it's finished it will probably be used as a membership and ticket office near the entrance to Mill Race.

Cryderman said the society also hopes to turn the 8-by-12 foot building into a tiny museum with photos and a brief history of the old interurban system.

A former Plymouth man charged with assault and battery at the Starting Gate Saloon failed to appear at 35th District Court Tuesday, Sept. 25 to be arraigned on those charges. Because of his failure to appear, the court has issued a warrant for the man's arrest. The 50-year-old man is reportedly living in Livonia.

The charges stem from an argument Saturday night. Aug. 25 between the man and saloon personnel.

saloon owner Mary Margaret Rea asked the man to stop harassing other customers, and he began harassing her instead. The man reportedly threw a broken beer glass at Rea, cutting her on the chest and knocking another customer off a stool in the process.

The incident at the 135 N. Center St. saloon occurred at 9:25 p.m., according to city police reports.

The man was very violent and as saultive," according to the report. "All during the initial investigation with the complainant and the sus-The argument reportedly began after pect, the suspect was yelling obscenities at the (complainant) and appeared to be intoxicated."

The man was arrested, handcuffed and taken to the city police station. "At the station, the subject continued to shout and swear at the officers," the report read.

The man was charged with assaulting a police officer for reportedly kicking a police officer while he was being put in a jail cell later that night. The officer was not seriously hurt in the attack.

Police originally sought a charge of felonious assault against the man. but assistant county prosecutor Charles Sellers only approved an assault and battery charge. The prosecutor had difficulty charging him with a felony," said city Det. David Fendelet. There was no way that we could show that he knew the glass was broken at that moment (he threw

A computer check by city police found three outstanding warrants against the man after his arrest; for failure to appear in court on charges of malicious destruction of property, operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor, and violation of a restricted driving license.

Board considers changes to SAT

By SUZANNE HOLLYER Staff Writer

Often feared by college-bound students and valued by college admissions offices, the Scholastic Aptitude Test may soon face drastic changes.

Sponsored by the College Board, the SAT is used by colleges and universities as one criterion in admitting students and awarding scholarships

The College Board will vote on proposed changes today and tomorrow, Sept. 27-28, at a meeting in New

The proposed changes include the addition of written essays, the elimination of some multiple-choice questions in the math and vocabulary portions of the test, more testing of vocabulary based on readings, and permitting the use of calculators.

Criticisms that the test discriminates against women and minorities may be one reason for the overhaul. although the College Board maintains that unequal economic and educational backgrounds cause the gaps, not race or gender.

Students' scores in the Northville Public School District generally are not representative of the gender and race gap in scores, possibly supporting the theory that the differences are caused by economic backgrounds

"It's a pretty homogeneous district," said Dolly McMaster, assistant superintendent for instructional services. "Our students have always done very well."

Despite the relative success of Northville students who have taken the test, McMaster supports the reexamination of the test questions. She said any test should be periodically reviewed to ensure biases do not exist in the test, and the test is still measuring what it needs to

"I think there is going to be a revolution in this country in how we assess students' progress." McMaster

But changing the way students are tested will not necessarily move U.S.-educated students to the top of the list unless factors like cocurricular activities, jobs, cars and parental involvement in education are factored into the testing, McMaster said.

Although activities are valued in our society, they affect the amount of education a student gets and the amount of time a student spends studying outside of school.

"We value a lot of things," McMaster said. "All of these impinge on time and task."

Mill Race Matters

Twoli Fair time has come. Over one hundred crafters will be presenting their juried items for sale Friday, Sept. 28, and Saturday, Sept. 29. The fair will be open Friday from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. As in previous years all individuals bringings baked goods for the antaual bake sale will be admitted at 9 a.m. both days.

Tivoli Fair is the Northville Historical Society's major fund-raiser of the year. Profits from this event are used to maintain and improve Mill Race Village. Participation helps ensure the maintenance of Northville's own historical Victorian village.

Tivoli provides a great opportunity to begin or complete Christmas shopping. It also provides the latest selection of quality original arts and crafts items.

The Northville Historical Society sends belated thanks to the Northville Town Hall for their gift of money given to support our archival collection. Also thanks to Country Girls Garden Club for maintenance of the Hunter House garden throughout the year. Thanks to the many members who volunteered their time during the Victorian Festival. CALENDAR

Township alters report system

By MIKE TYREE Staff Writer

It's not taking Chip Snider long to put his mark on the way Northville Township does business

After one week as township police chief, Snider scrapped a year-old department media relations policy and vowed to strengthen ties between police and the news media.

Gone is a "Media Log Book" — a compilation of censored police reports implemented by former Chief Kenneth Hardesty and Captain Philip Presnell on the recommendation of township attorneys.

In its place is the "Shift Log," the sketchy, actual record of day-to-day calls handled by police.
Snider said his policy will allow the media to review the Shift Log and select from it specific cases the media may deem newsworthy.

The media will then be allowed to view actual police reports - after Snider or a command officer determines that released reports will not adversely affect an investigation.

Snider said the need for effective communication between media and police was instrumental in the change to the Shift Log system. I want to streamline the communication process," he said. "The media book wasted time (and) I feel we could do work with the media in a more efficient fashion." The media book was adopted in September 1989 after township attorney Timothy Cronin advised Northville and Canton townships that releasing police records to the news media could pose liability problems. In a letter to Canton Township Director of Public Safety John Santomauro, Cronin advised police to select one of two possible methods for dealing with media information

My strong recommendation is

be required to file a Freedom of Information Act request before the information is released to them," he said. the information, if sensitive, could result in liability to the township." Canton Township rejected the attorney's advice and retained its system of allowing the news media to view police reports.

Northville Township invented the media book. The media book contained cases selected by the police department for release to the media. Entire passages of virtually all reports were censored. including names, addresses and other information pertaining to the

The Northville Record objected to the media book policy, and said the new system did not assure the media access to all police cases and reports. The Record claimed the police department could withhold specific cases under the media book system.

Presnell said last September a switch to the media book would benefit both the public and the township.

"Our biggest concern is the liabilities potential; we have to do what's right for the public," he said. "It really could cut down on a lot of work for

Snider said he is scripting new departmental policies and procedures. A portion of the guidelines includes a statement directed at the media.

The department acknowledges the importance of the news media . for effective two-way communication with the citizenry it serves," he said. "Respecting the media's right to information, the department seeks a relationship with the media of mutual candor and cooperation."

Record Editor Bob Needham welcomed the change.

"I think it will certainly serve the Northville community better by keeping them better informed of what is going on," he said. "We look forward to a continued healthy relationship that (police) reports be reviewed prior to release...or that the news people Record."

Schools OK walk

By SUZANNE HOLLYER Staff Writer

The Northville Board of Education passed a resolution Monday agreeing to pay the City of Northville $30,628 for the construction of a sidewalk on the north side of Eight Mile Road between Center Street and Taft Road.

The district will pay about 60 percent of the total cost of the sidewalk. Because governmental bodies may not tax each other, the city could not assess the district for its share of the cost. The district had to agree to

The total cost of the sidewalk is $51,421 and will be shared by Mobil Oil paying $2,548, the Northville Wine Shoppe paying $1,592.50, and private land owners paying $16,652,50.

A parent present at the meeting voiced concern that students walking to Northville High School would not use the bridge over Eight Mile Road to get to school because access to the bridge would be inconvenient from the sidewalk.

Superintendent George Bell said he would address any concerns relat-ing to the sidewalk at the Parents Advisory Committee meeting held Wednesday morning.

The board voted to pay the city over a period of five years. The interest rate will be the same as the interest rate of the bonds that the city will sell to finance the construction rounded up to the next one-tenth of a percent.

Bell said the district could more easily manage $6,000 a year, than a lump sum payment given the uncertain future of state support for out-offormula school districts. A ramp for handicappers will be built onto the sidewalk at Taft Road as required by state law.

Our Opinions

What's so sick about sycamores?

Many of the decisions that municipal officials make are judgement calls.

And while there's nothing wrong with making such calls, the decisions should be based on adequate information.

The city's decision to let some 200 sycamore trees die of a fungus disease called anthracnose, and replace them with maple trees, has not been backed up by adequate information.

City Manager Steven Walters said some residents find sycamores to be "dirty trees." But he provided little hard evidence to back up the claim. City council members did not ask for much, either.

Public Works Superintendent Ted Mapes said the trees drop their leaves early, and drop small twigs that are difficult to rake up. But he admitted that some residents like the trees for their mottled bark.

He also said that the city's decision was based largely on advice from the city's landscape firm, Mountain Top Green Ridge. Why not contact other experts — like the state Department of Natural Resources or the Wayne County Extension Service — for a second opinion?

The main flaw in the city's argument is the assertion that a tree replacement program would cost about the same as a spray program. Have city officials taken into consideration the cost of cutting down and hauling away dead trees, and removing their stumps? What about the possibility that diseased trees—when left to die rather than being either treated or removed—will foster more disease?

ENVIRONMENT

More important, though, is the potential liability faced by a municipality that allows its trees to die. A tree affected with anthracnose dies from the outside in, leaving dead limbs which may fall and injure — or even kill — a person. If that happens, guess who could be held responsible?

That's right. The city.

Before condemning its trees to an eventual death, the city administration should find out how much a spray program would actually cost, and compare it to the full cost of removing and replacing the trees. City officials also need to consider the potential cost of litigation.

Regular deep-root fertilization with a slow-release nitrogen fertilizer and sprays with a fungicide like Benlate have proved effective in eliminating anthracnose in the past.

Livonia officials have just committed $180,000 to a three-year effort to eradicate the fungus disease from their sycamore population. That city is fighting for the lives of 1,500 mature trees.

Northville officials need to do a little more research before they write this city's sycamores off.

Public is the winner in log book opening

The township police department's new broom last week swept away a policy that for a year troubled Northville Record staffers and provoked impassioned discourse at police and media seminars.

Chief Chip Snider terminated the department's media log book — a flawed experiment which attempted to shield the township from potential liability based on the release of police reports to the media.

We applaud Snider's efforts to normalize relations with the press. We're pleased to be granted access to daily police reports. And we're glad the department no longer feels the need to censor those reports.

But we also understand that many of you may be wondering what the commotion is all about.

At the risk of sounding all high and mighty, it's about you — the public.

Media access to police records — public documents — is something about which we feel very strongly. If someone is running around assaulting township residents, we want you to know about it. If 90 percent of all vehicle thefts in the township occur at Meijer, you might want to keep that in mind. If thieves are targeting residences at Blue Heron.

The township police department's Pointe, we think that is information the property public may find useful

Reviewing and reporting on items discovered in police reports is an important part of our job. We think the public is well-served when its representatives (read media) can provide information in an accurate, responsible fashion.

Frankly, we could not always do that with the media book. Its missing pages and blanked-out passages were right out of the Censorship 101 textbook. Without access to all reports, we literally had no way of knowing what was going on in the township crime scene.

We have nothing to gain by damaging a police investigation with sloppy reporting. Just give us the facts, man. That's what the public wants.

Media and police often have volatile relationships, but trust has developed between the local press and individual members of the township police department. That positive relationship now may be improved because of Snider's decision on the media book.

The new chief understands the benefits—to both parties—that may result from police/press cooperation. We think he has taken a big stride in the right direction.

Let's hear judicial debate

Now comes W. Clark Durant III before the public for another attempt to inject issues into an election campaign.

This time Durant is on firmer ground than when he challenged fellow Republican Bill Schuette to debate U.S. Senate issues in the primary. Schuette stuck to the hallowed rule that you don't debate within your own party.

After missing the Senate nomination, lawyer Durant was in for the state Supreme Court He tapped by his party to rum for the state Supreme Court. He is proposing "discussions/debates" to the three other justices: Michael Cavanagh and Patricia Boyle, both Democratic nominees, and someone named Judy Hughes, the second Republican nominee.

Durant will need lots of luck forcing incumbent justices to go beyond vaporous nebulosities about dignity and hard work. Candidates run on a non-partisan ticket, but the high court's performance has been very, very partisan. Debates are in order.

Cavanagh and Boyle typically take sides with fellow Democrat Dennis Archer in labor cases.

Take the Dean case, where a woman driving west on an Eight Mile Road overpass struck a cement barricade and fell 25 feet to a road below.

Cavanagh and Boyle thought the driver should collect worker's compensation because she was driving home from her doctor's office after treatment for a work injury at Chrysler three months earlier.

One of the wilder Suprence Court decisions was Plymouth Stamping Division vs. Lupshu, 15 other Steelworkers Union members and the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

It was wild because seven justices issued four different opinions. To me that indicates confusion and weak leadership on our highest court. Dammit, people shouldn't have to wade through four opinions to figure out whether the replaced strikers deserve jobless benefits.

The candidates could discuss, first, the current splintered judicial craftsmanship and, second, the merits of the case. I have the impression Cavanagh and Boyle, guided by Archer, will buy any theory a union gives them. If I'm wrong, they deserve a chance to set me straight, and Durant deserves a chance to rebut them.

Boyle and Cavanagh are running as a team, and so they are on labor cases.

In criminal cases, however, Patty Boyle leaps to the law-and-order side, and Mike Cavanagh is pretty much a defense guy.

Consider the suburban Wayne County cases of People vs. Hall, where Hall was convicted by a jury of conspiracy to deliver drugs.

Boyle voted with the Republicans to uphold the conviction. Cavanagh, joined by Archer (naturally) and Charles Levin, dissented.

Cavanagh said there was insufficient evidence at (get this) the district court preliminary exam to bind Hall over for circuit court trial.

The Republicans and Boyle called it a "harmless error." They saw no grounds for vacating the subsequent conviction after Hall's circuit court trial.

Let's have some debates. Let's hear Cavanagh explain that one and cross swords with Boyle. Let's hear where Durant and Hughes would come down—especially since Durant has been a defense lawyer and Hughes a

This Supreme Court race deserves debate and discussion, not drab drivel about dignity.

Dinner offers a rare chance

It's always a treat when a person gets to meet someone whose work they admire, and Monday night was a big treat for me.

The annual benefit dinner for the Friends of the Northville Public Library gave me the chance to meet William Kienzle, the Detroit-area author who writes mystery novels featuring Father Robert Koesler. Kienzle was making a return visit to the local Friends dinner; he first spoke to the group several years ago. A strong supporter of libraries (and a member of three friends groups himself), he gave a terrific talk on his career.

Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall restaurant hosted the dinner—and hosted means they completely donated everything, including a typically fabulous meal as well as their time and energy. The Northville Friends annual dinner won a national award last year, and it's easy to see why.

Geraldine Mills of the Friends was kind enough to invite me to introduce the speaker, so I had a chance to talk with him a little bit. I've been reading and enjoying Kienzle's books ever since The Rosary Murders was published in 1979. Mysteries might just be my favorite type of novel, and William X. Kienzle is one of my favorite mystery authors.

As a speaker Kienzle is downright hilarious. My wife also a journalist — and I particularly enjoyed his tales of newspaper and magazine publishing. (He needled us that he had never been anything less than editor-in-chief of a publication on which he worked.)

The audience appreciated the story of the time, as editor of The Michigan Catholic, he wrote an editorial accusing two living cardinals of heresy. "I don't think anyone else had ever done that," he recalled with a smile.

Then there was the time he wrote that something was a "mute question" — "which made it a very quiet question." I could relate to these stories all too well.

The evening eventually had to end, but not before the capacity crowd of about 100 people thanked the speaker with prolonged applause. Many, including us, asked him to sign one of his books. I just hope he enjoyed Northville half as much as Northville enjoyed having him here.

Swimming coverage in error

As a parent of a high school student. I like to follow the sports news: however, I am almost always disappointed with the quality and accuracy of the coverage. But nowhere else have I found the reporting to be of such inferior quality as in the area of girls swimming.

It was great to see my daughter Erica Anderson's picture in the paper again as a swimmer, but she is NOT one of this year's returnees. To all of her teachers and friends at Northville High: No. Erica is not "faking it" with her right arm in a sling, strapped to her side. You see, Erica had reconstructive surgery on her shoulder Aug. 27, which will put her out of swimming action for at least six months. The surgery was performed after it was determined that the ligaments and surrounding tissue were so badly damaged because of swimming that she could not be competitive in any sport again without surgery. She suffered throughout the entire high school season last year and swam in great pain at the Michigan State Championships in March: that was her last meet, but hopefully it will not be the end of her swimming

Yes, I believe Erica would have been a swimmer to watch this year; as a freshman last year, she placed in the top twelve at the conference meet and earned her varsity letter. But unfortunately, she will not be swimming for points for the girls team this year. I can only assume that the information for this particular article (Sept. 13) was gathered by the reporter early in August (which makes it already rather old news), or the time was not taken to report the facts accurately (which would be nothing

Tip of the top hat on festival

I was truly impressed with this Mixed messages year's Victorian Festival. The 1990 version retained every bit of the charm and warmth of last year's production, with the addition of added points of interest. From Friday night's opening parade, complete with marching bands and horsedrawn carriages, to the close of the festival Sunday afternoon, everything was well-planned and -executed.

Attendees fo the festival witnessed the Wallendas on the high wire, Dr. Rudy dispensing his magical roundies, multiple musical groups, a wide assortment of foods sold by street vendors, an antique market, a pieeating contest for the kids, and hundreds of local residents dressed in their finest Victorian garb. In addition, the Victorian Ball featuring authentic Victorian music and dances was a sight to behold and a joy to be

The community has quite clearly adopted and embraced this threeday festival.

My top hat is off to each and every organizer, sponsor and volunteer who together made this event so David E. Field

To the editor:

I was pleased to see so many visitors come to town for the Victorian Festival. After visiting with the Northville Action Council and Students Against Driving Drunk members selling cider, doughnuts and pizza, I reached the intersection of Main and Center. To my disbelief there was a beer tenti

This is the town that dedicates one week a year to educating our youth as to the dangers of drugs and alcohol? The beer tent was under the guise of a Hospitality Tent. Surely the Victorian Festival Committee comprehends the incongruity of purchasing pizza from a SADD booth and consuming the food in a beer tent.

I have seen the dedication of citizens and businesses giving 100 percent during Red Ribbon Week. Northville has received wonderful coverage from the newspapers and television stations during this week. I feel the wonderful reputation Northville has as the perfect community can be destroyed by the presence of the beer tent. I have never seen a beer tent during street festivals in our surrounding communities.

Why did the Victorian Festival Committee feel our beautiful town could not be enjoyed without a prominently displayed beer tent?

I am not against adults consuming alcohol in the proper place. Several establishments in Northville sell alcohol. The sale of such is in a confined place with the sale of alcohol permitted to adults. The Victorian Festival is a family event.

We as a community should demonstrate to our youth that as adults e can enjoy ourselves without alcohol as a prerequisite to having fun.

I urge the Victorian Festival Committee to eliminate the beer tent next year. Let's not send mixed messages to our youth.

Festival thanks

To the editor:
The Victorian Festival Steering Committee would like to take this opportunity to thank the people of Northville for their support of the second Victorian Festival.

It was indeed a pleasure to see the multitude of residents dressed in period costume actively participating in the celebration of our historical community.

Due to the limited space, we cannot individually name all the volunteers who donated their time, energy, and enthusiasm during this threeday event. We appreciate their involvement and look forward to their continued support next year. Special thanks to the Northville Public Schools, Northville Arts Commission, Northville Historical Society. Northville Merchants Association, Northville City Fire Department, and Northville Department of Public Works — these organizations made our job a lot easier and helped assure the success of the festival.

We are already planning for next year and ask that anyone with ideas of how to enhance the festival, or if you would like to become actively involved in the planning stage, please call the chamber office.

Residents speak on school vote

I would suggest consideration to the following information before deciding on the Northville School District's proposal for a millage increase: 1. The consumer price index has averaged annual increases of no more that 4.5 percent in recent years. 2. The 1990/1991 budget provides for an average 8-percent increase for existing teachers from the prior level and an average increase of 7 percent for other employees. 3. Current average salaries for teachers (excluding the most recently employed) range from $42,500 to $49,000 for elementary to high school respectively. 4. The $885,000 recapture by the State of Michigan was solely due to Northville taxpayers continuing to provide above-average local funding for education thereby resulting in the reduction of funding from the State. 5. The Northville Schools have already increased per-pupil spending from approximately $4,200 in 1988 to over $5,000 in 1990, or over 9 percent annually. The message I have heard from district officials is that quality education costs money and the defeat of the millage proposal will reduce our quality. I decline to accept that conclusion.

The citizens already provide ample support to the schools with existing millage as evidenced above. We are doing a real disservice to ourselves by accepting the premise that increasing the millage rate is the only option. Conceding to the state that its arbitrary action should be solved with an additional tax burden to the local taxpayer is not acceptable. Contrary to the written and verbal messages being distributed to parents at school open houses, the hard facts prove that the residents are already providing above-average increases to provide quality education. When you consider the millage proposal on Sept. 27 don't fall victim to the suggestion that quality is on the line. The real issue is simply whether the district warrants additional local funding beyond the substantial amounts already available the answer is not

John P. O'Reilly

To the editor: As a Northville resident and concerned citizen I have recently become aware that if the school millage being held on Sept. 27 is defeated that one very important current program will no longer exist in the Northville Public Schools. That program is the position of the student assistance program coordinator, who was hired in November 1987 to coordinate and direct substance-abuse programs, interventions, support services and referrals at Northville High School and Meads Mill Middle School.

This position, as coordinated by How many were there in 1970? What Charles Stilec MA/CSW, has seen and listened to the problems and concerns of hundreds of students, family members, staff and community members. The SAPC has been responsible for coordinating support and peer counseling groups for stu-dents concerned with Drug Awareness, Aftercare Group to support students coming out of treatment, an Eating Disorders Group, a group for Children of Alcoholism and other addictions, a Grief and Loss Group and a Stress and Relationship The SAPC also has its door open for individual counseling whenever a student or staff needs support and has directed the positive and active SADD chapter efforts in this community. Our SADD chapter is recognized as one of the top chapters in the state due to the members' efforts in fighting drinking and driving. A highly successful summer SWAP program for "At Risk Youth," community inservices and acting as a referral source have done much to stem the tide of substance abuse in our community. These services have all been the responsibility of the Student Assistance Program.

Our community needs to be aware of the consequences to this allimportant program should a "no" vote be cast on September 27!

Please vote yes! Kerry Johnson

To the editor:

I believe the Northville Record could do the community a service by providing more facts regarding the proposed school millage increase. The two sides of the issue appear to

1) The school system was caught by surprise by the state's actions. The current budget is "bare bones" and can't afford any cuts or classroom teachers will have to be terminated. We should support the millage

2) The school district was aware of the impending state bill and chose to ignore it. The growth in the last 20 years in the district has been in items other that basic classroom education, and therefore, there is administrative and extracurricular "fat." We should oppose the miliage increase.

The vast majority of people, myself included, support classroom teachers and a no-frills physical plant. However, so far the arguments have been emotional, but without much objectivity.

Some of the facts I would find helpful are:

 How many students were there in the district in 1970? How many are there now? What is the percent growth?

 How many non-special education teachers are there in the district? is the percent growth?

 How many non-classroom teachers are there in the district? How many were there in 1970? What is the percent growth?

What is the growth in total school district budget from 1970 to 1990?

• What were district average test scores in 1970? What are they now? What was the percent of people with children in the school district in 1970? What is this percentage now? • How much did we spend in 1970 per student? How much do we spend now (if the millage passes and if it

• When was this year's school budget finalized? When was the State bill recapturing money proposed and passed?

I think these facts and any others you might provide will help the com-munity decide if indeed the district was surprised by the State bill, and whether another millage increase is justified.

Tom Walsh

Editor's note: By press time the Record's archives were able to yield answers to some, but not all, of these questions. The official student population for the 1969-70 school year was 3,140; for 1970-71, it was 3,202. For the 1989-90 year It was 3,793, and school officials expect an increase of about 250 this year. That is an increase of roughly 26 percent in 20 years. The total teaching staff in 1970 was about 150 full-time posttions; in 1989, it was 210, an increase of 40 percent. The total budget in 1969-70 was $2.5 million, rising to $3 million for 1970-71. This year's is just over $21 million, an increase of 600 percent in 20 years. Per-pupil spending in 1970 was roughly $1,000; with denial of the millage it would be less than $5,000 this year. The school board approved the local district's budget June 25, including $250,000 set aside for an expected "recapture." The state Legislature passed the school aid act — including a recapture from Northville of more than $1 million on June 28.

To the editor:

Troubled teen-agers in Northville need the upcoming millage to be passed.

As a member of the Northville Youth Assistance Forum and a community treatment provider, I urge this passage.

A cross-section of community representatives have worked very hard for the past several years on building a network of services to support troubled kids. The Student Assistance Program in the Northville Schools and the Northville Youth Assistance Program are vital links in this support network. As a community treatment provider working closely with these programs, I find that we are more able to keep kids from falling between the cracks.

Let's not let this happen . . . vote yes to the millage. Michael D. Mulvihill, M.S.W.

To the editor:

As president of Northville's Council of PTAs, I feel compelled to promote the Michigan PTA position statement regarding Public School Financing.

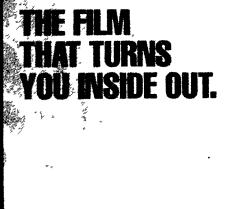

It states that Michigan PTA: "Urges continued efforts to make quality education and funding a high priority. Urges local PTAs to take an active role in millage elections when such campaigns are deemed worthy. Supports public money for public education and opposes vouchers or tax credits in any form that would take money away from public education. Supports full funding for mandated programs. The Michigan PTA will work to develop equity. Monies promised by the legislature shold be the amount received by the school districts. The State Aid formula must provide a more substantial and balanced allocation to all school districts.

Michigan PTA also "supports legislation that requires Michigan Legislature and the Governor to adopt the State School Aid Act sixty days prior to the date school districts are required to adopt their budgets."

The recent "recapture" of state aid money has placed Northville School Board in a finance crunch, due to no fault of its own. In anticipation of a recapture, the school board adopted a budget reflecting a partial recapture this year, to be phased in over a period of years. Unfortunately, the State Aid Act which was adopted witheld the total amount for the 1990-1991 school year. The Board of Education and central office administrators have acted responsibly and swiftly to resolve the problem. By getting input from the community and staying loyal to the Strategic Plan, a millage proposal was immediately developed to generate the exact amount of the shortfall in the budget.

Northville's commitment to "beyond excellence" in education can only be maintained if you vote yes on Sept. 27 for the 1.28 mils necessary for one vear. Northville's Area Council of PTAs enthusiastically endorses the millage proposal.

Resist pressure, find success

What kinds of pressures do our children these days feel?

Pressure to try alcohol, drugs and sex enter their lives at some point. In addition to these they are also worried about grades, relationships with peers and adults, athletic competition, jobs, fitting in, finding enough time, getting enough sleep, boyfriends, girlfriends, even their parents' businesses and relationships.

Each year for the past three years the Northville High School Students Against Driving Drunk (SADD) chapter has entered a training program to analyze the dynamics of peer pressure and determine ways to resist negative peer pressure when necessary, then teach what they learned to fifth-graders.

SADD is a national organization dedicated to reducing the number or deaths and injuries resulting from teen drinking and driving. SADD encourages communication between teens and their parents. Students promise to not drive if they drink and not to ride with someone who has been drinking.

Enough cannot be said in support of local students who undergo Peer Resistance Training and begin a lifelong course of positive action in response to combating negative peer pressure.

One of these students approached me a couple of weeks ago with a story. A story with a happy ending and you know we need stories with happy endings these days. Through his involvement with the SADD Peer Resistance Training last year this student was faced with using his newfound skills in a real life situation. It's a great feeling to see what we teach used! Here then is his story.

For further information or questions, contact Charlie Stilec, Student Assistance Program Coordinator, Northville High School,

"Not too long ago I was put into a situation. A situation that nobody should even have to go through: peer pressure.

"While at work at a local gas station, I was sitting in the front room reading a book. A man pulled through the driveway in a grey Chevette.

and parked on the side of the building. He got out and came in the door. He said he had a problem and wondered if I could help him. He took me outside and over to his car.

"He said that a few minutes earlier he had been pulled over and given a speeding ticket, and wanted to know if I could give him a bogus receipt for speedometer cable work we never did. Promptly saying no, I was then harassed by him saying, "C'mon, I really need one. Here's all the information."

"He showed me a small slip of paper. Lying that I didn't know how to write a receipt, I went back inside the building. He followed me and said there's something in it for me, shifting the paper to reveal a five dollar bill. "I don't know how to write a receipti"

"I left the room and went into the office to tell the boss. He went up front and asked what the man wanted. The man left and never came

"As you see, peer pressure can be beaten. Signed M.A., NHS & SADD student

Studio serves S. Lyon area

By PHYLLIS STILLMAN Special Writer

When most people consider learning to dance, they think of it as a process which develops coordination

While that is certainly part of the process, Patt Palermo of the Dance Centre, 22316 Pontiac Trail, South Lyon, has another goal in mind self-esteem.

"I'm there to teach them how to dance. I know how to discipline their bodies and how to reach the goal I'm trying to achieve. But along the line what I'm really trying to do, and what dancing does, is to build selfconfidence.

The self-esteem and the selfconfidence that you're going to get through that dancing is by far more important than the dancing itself," explained Palermo, a resident of Whitmore Lake.

How does Palermo help build this self-esteem? By encouraging students to achieve a goal they may not have thought they could achieve, and then go one step better. Her students range in age from 3 years to adult.

We loke around a lot and we have fun, but I tell them they've got to give me everything they've got. If they think they're working hard, that they've got their leg up as high as they can or pointed their toe as hard as they could, then try to get it even higher, and to work past that goal." Palermo has been teaching for 17 years. She had been teaching in a studio in Livonia, but she began to receive comments from neighbors that they wished there was a dance studio close by. Palermo also was beginning to dread the drive to Livonia, so she started thinking about opening her own studio in South Lyon.

Palermo has been dancing since she was a child. She even danced with the Livonia Regional Ballet for a while. But performing wasn't her first love. "It was more teaching. I was interested in the teaching."

The Dance Centre and teaching dance is clearly very important to Palermo. "I am teaching all of the classes myself. I want that personal contact with the people and with the kids right now at the beginning. I want to groom them as dancers.

Palermo does have a few carefully picked assistants, who work with students before class, and help out during class, especially with the younger students.

Quality is obviously very important to Palermo. "I don't like to take more than 12 in a class because I like to give a lot of individual attention to the kids." And she feels that the attitude the kids bring to class is very important. "I always have them dressed uniformly so that I can just work their bodies. So they know they're there to work. It's not a fashion show.

Because of the concern for quality, Palermo likes to keep up with what's going on in the world of dance. There are a lot of teachers' seminars and workshops. And I like to keep up with them; you have to. Not so much for the ballet; the ballet is always and forever going to be the same. Jazz is the one that's constantly changing. There's so many different styles and it just changes all the time."

She likes to offer a little variety for her students. Realizing how hard it would be to conduct classes over the summer with so many families going away for vacation, Palermo instead offered a summer workshop. "I had a one-week workshop where the kids got ballet, jazz. tap, creative movement, cheerleading all rolled into one. This kind of broadens their horizons." Palermo has also been able to break down the resistance that many boys feel toward dance class. I had a boys' class. They were in hockey and were going to camp. One of the prerequisites for a goalie and some other positions was a dance class. I had a nice group of boys from the hockey team and, boy, did they work. I treat it more like an athletic jazz class. They have to limber; they start to learn about their bodies a little bit. They learn how to jump correctly, how to do things correctly, so that when they take it out on the field they've got a little background."

Palermo is happy with the Dance Centre. "The business has been going really well. Almost all of the kids returned (this year) from last year, and that made me feel great. And I got a lot of new families enrolling this year. A lot of people were saying that I came highly recommended to them, and that just makes me feel really

Being located in South Lyon instead of commuting to Livonia has also been an advantage because; Palermo can spend more time with her family.

The Lakeland Cooks and plants will love the light and space

By James McAlexander

Its compact yet roomy design enables the informal, medium-size Lakeland to fit on a standard-size city lot.

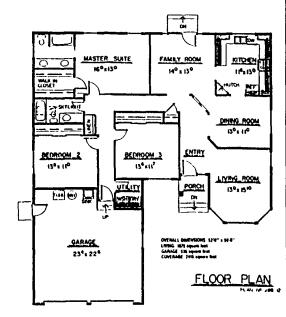

Wide hallways, which stretch along three sides, make the home feel even larger than it is while providing a natural setting for a home art gallery.

The entry hall is widest, offering both physical and visual access as it sweeps past the doorless family living areas. By standing just a few steps inside the front door, a visitor can gaze into the living room, dining room, kitchen, family room, and even out into the back yard.

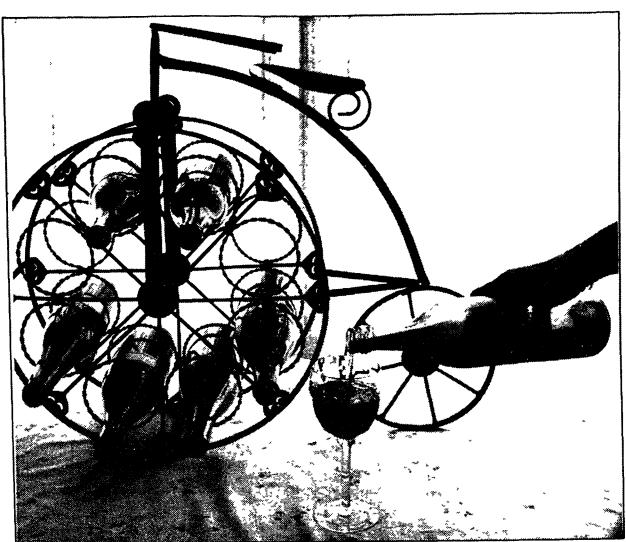

There is so much cupboard and counter space in this large country kitchen that cooks need never worry about getting in each other's way. Heirloom china and crystal can be both protected and displayed in the built-in hutch. The family room is large enough to accommodate another table for informal meals, along with couches, television, bookshelves, a home computer or even a freestanding wood stove.

This frees up the living room for simple elegance, enhanced by a three-sided, multi-paned bay window topped by yet another row of windows. Plants will love the light here, and people will, too.

On the bedroom side of the house, a tiny no-nonsense utility room is tucked between the two car garage and bedrooms. The master suite has double vanities, a large tub and a walk-in closet. The other bathroom is brightened by skylight.

For a study plan of the Lakeland (288-12), send $5 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307 CN, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

A "highwheeler"blke wine rack offers a nice backdrop for pouring homemade wine

TEN YEARS OF HOMEMADE

Story by Dierdre Dancy

Bob Hill of South Lyon was running out of recipes for the grapes growing in his back yard.

After all, as Hill put it: "You can only make so much grape jelly." So he started making wine.

That was 10 years ago and Hill is still making wine - grape, apple and even plum.

"Actually, you can make wine out of anything that would have a flavor, from dandelions to rose petals," Hill said.

Hill explained that the secret of making wine lies in the sugar and yeast combination which start the fermenting process. All fruit, except grapes, also need to have nutrients and acids added. Once the sugar and yeast is added to the fruit, the concoction begins to churn and bubble. The fruit mixture is kept in crocks and it is stirred once a day to keep the top from drying out.

After a week or two, the mixture is put into a cheesecloth and run through a wine press to extract the juice. Hill puts the wine into five-gallon glass jugs (carboys).

Although the pulp and seeds have been removed, the wine is still in the fermenting stage so the jugs must have vents in their corks to relieve the pressure that builds up.

When the wine is ready for bottling. anywhere from six months to a year later, it is siphoned into smaller bottles. Hill soaks the corks to soften them and then inserts them into the bottles with a mechanical corker.

For those who want to try the wineaking process, it is best, according to Hill, to purchase a wine-making guide which will give proper proportions and recipes for the type of wine desired. "You can ruin the wine, if you get the wrong proportions," Hill said.

"For a sweet wine you have to use more sugar so that the yeast is absorbed before the sugar is used up. Hill's wine "ages" in Hill's root cellar until friends or perhaps one of his three grown children or their spouses stop by for a sample.

Hill makes about 15 gallons of wine a year. It takes eight pounds of grapes to make one gallon of wine. Hill uses grapes that he grows in his back yard, plus grapes from his neighbor's vines.

REAL ESTATE

U.S. real estate a market-by-market

There is no such thing as a U.S. real estate market. At least, that's the way it seems.

Like squares in a homemade quilt, each local market is distinctive—unique elements in a composite market. Each has its own characteristics, and they can vary greatly from one to another.

In some states, home values are increasing. In other states they are decreasing. And average home prices in individual states range from $260,500 in Hawaii to $49,500 in Oklahoma.

Average prices of existing single-family homes increased in 39 states during the first half of this year, it was revealed in a study by Century 21 Real Estate

This data directly contradicts that many reports of a nationwide decline in the value of residential housing," said Harold George, director of market research for Century 21.

"Residential real estate is a marketby-market phenomenon. Most homes are worth more today than ever before. We see strong or recovering markets in a large portion of this country for the remainder of 1990 and into 1991."

Hawaii, with a 26.2 percent increase in home values over the past year, recorded the highest rate of appreciation (increasing value) in the study. Montana (16.2 percent increase), Oregon (12.4 percent) and Idaho (10.8 percent) also recorded double-digit appreciation.

appreciation rates greater than the national rate of inflation (4.7 percent). They were Illinois, Michigan, Maine, Ohio, Nebraska, Florida, Nevada, Maryland, Iowa, Mississippi, West Virginia, Wyoming, Indiana, Missouri and Wis-

A regional overview reveals that seven of the 11 states recording a depreciated average home price are adjacent in the Northeast area of the country. All other regions of the country are either stable. most notably the South Central states. or showing continued appreciation. such as the Northwest section and the Midwest.

There are a number of areas where the residential real estate markets are stronger than they have been for years." George said. "The boom in the Pacific Northwest has been widely reported. The Great Lakes states are strong. We are seeing increases in most of the oil patch states and sizable increases in some farm belt states."

Seven of the states recording an average price depreciation had less than a 2 percent decrease-Georgia, New York, South Carolina, Massachusetts, Connecticut, North Dakota and New Mex-

Only four states - Delaware, Vermont, New Hampshire and New Jersey-recorded an average depreciation in excess of 2 percent for the six-month comparison periods. Homeowners in these and the other Northeast states

Fifteen additional states recorded have realized one of the largest increases in average home values in the country over the last 10 years, despite the recent downturn.

Century 21 statistics reveals another surprising aspect of the real estate market. Among the 400,000 property transactions closed during the past year by the franchised offices, 38 percent involved first-time home buyers.

That's a very high proportion considering the large gap between the purchasing power of first-time buyers and repeat buyers. It reflects the great motivation of today's young families to acquire their own home.

Q. Is Dennis Weaver's very unique new home in Colorado now completed?

A. Yes. Actor Dennis Weaver and his wife moved into their new 9,000-squarefoot residence in June.

The Weaver home is indeed unique. Located near Ridgway, Colo., on the western slope of the Rocky Mountains, the house is constructed with such unconventional building matierals as old auto tires and beer cans.

The fully solar residence is basically designed to utilize materials and energy sources that are readily available without generating a negative impact on Earth's resources and environment.

Water is pumped from a private well. All the tires and cans are totally covered with adobe, with one exception. In Mrs. Weaver's office a bulletin board is mounted on hinges. When pulled forward it exposes a small section of the internal construction materials, including tires and cans. It's a popular point of interest for house guests.

Weaver's new house is an excellent example of how ecological booby traps can be converted into usable materials-even in the construction of new homes. This type of planning can contribute to the quality of lives, and our total environment.

The new Weaver residence was designed by architect Michael Reynolds.

Q. Is Sears in the process of unloading its real estate brokerage divisions?

A. There is no definitive sign of that at this point, but there have been major changes during the past couple of years.

Two years ago, the Sears-owned Coldwell Banker Residential Group closed all offices of Previews Inc., its subsidiary for marketing upper-end real estate throughout the world. Also, Sears sold its Coldwell Banker Commercial Group in 1988.

In local markets, several Sears/ Coldwell Banker-owned brokerage firms have been sold. Some of them subsequently became independently owned Coldwell Banker affiliates.

Homemade wine made well

Hill likes the dry wines, but he has noticed that most people prefer sweet wines.

"If I put out a bottle of dry and a bottle of sweet, the sweet wine is always gone first."

He enjoys every aspect of wine making, from pruning the grape vines to collecting the bottles that friends and family donate on a regular basis.

"I probably have 50 bottles in the basement that I haven't had the chance to use yet," he said.

Hill experiments with different fruits and yeasts, but he hasn't tried anything as unusual as dandelion wine

*Plum is about as far out as I get," he said.

He plans to continue making wine and growing different varieties of grapes. So far he prefers the Concord, but he also grows white grapes, for white wine which some of his guests

"I do it all for fun," Hill said. And he'll probably be making wine as long as his vines keep growing grapes.

Hill, who is a network engineer for Michigan Bell Telephone in Southfield, said he purchases many of his supplies from Wine. Unlimited in Royal Oak. They specialize in all types of equipment for wine making." Hill explained. They zero in on selling juice concentrate so a person doesn't have to go to all the bother of squeezing the juice from the fruit."

He also buys supplies from the Big Ten Party Store on Packard Avenue in Ann Arbor and often gets his carboys from water purification companies. "They get rid of ones that have chips off them, but they are all right for wine," he explained.

Although Hill has purchased most of his equipment, he has also acquired some from friends. He estimates the cost of a wine press to range from $50-$100 and a bottle corker at approximately $25.

Crocks can be quite expensive.

he said, but sometimes friends have some they will loan or even give away. He emphasized that only wood, glazed crocks or glass containers should be used for the fermenting process.

"I think there may also be some types of stainless steel that can be used," he noted. "You need to check with a supply store. Don't use aluminum or other metal containers because there is an action between the fruit and the metals that can make you sick," he cautioned.

Hill explained there is a special cleanser to use when cleaning wine-making utensils which leaves the surfaces sterile.

"I put mine in the dish-

Bob Hill corks a bottle of his homemade wine

washer," he added. "If you don't kill the bacteria you can get sick when you uncork the wine later to drink it."

If you like a nice clear wine. Hill suggests purchasing an additive that helps to settle the heavy sediment from the fruit down to the bottom of the carboy. Then, when the wine is siphoned off to bottle it, the sediment will stay in the bottom and not go into the bottle.

Hill said the sediment is a particular problem with plum wine and he sometimes uses a special very small sieve when pouring the wine into a glass. This takes out any additional sediment.

Treatments to protect pressure-treated wood

(not the sliding type) installed. Over several months, the doors have begun to bulge in the center. Unfortunately, the carpenter who did the work is no longer available.

Do you know what could cause this, and is there any way to straighten the doors? I hate to go to the expense of replacing them.

A. The best way to straighten warped doors is to remove them from their hinges and place them horizontally on supports (you can use stacked bricks or sawhorses). Be sure that the bulging side is face up. Then apply pressure by stacking bricks or heavy books on top of the bulged side. Leave the weights on until the door is straightened.

hinge at the spot where the door is bowed. With time, this can straighten out the curves.

To help prevent warping, make sure that the wood is properly sealed, including all of the edges as well as the sides. Raw edges can be treated with shellac or a penetrating resin, assuming that the door side panels are already finished properly. If painting, use a good primer before applying finish coats.

Q. We purchased a vacation home in the mountains. All summer long, I have had trouble with the toilet water tanks, which sweat so much that the floor is always wet.

I imagine that this is caused by cold water coming in from our well If the bulging is minor, you might during hot summer days. Is there any inexpensive way to correct this problem?

A. Warm, humid air coming into contact with the cold porcelain surface of the tank is the cause of the sweating.

One of the most effective methods of eliminating condensation is to raise the temperature of the water before it reaches the flush

A specially designed mixing valve is available that can be installed in the cold-water line supplying the flush tank. This temperature valve allows you to connect a hot-water line to the cold line so that the water delivered to the tank will be approximately room temperature.

If the surface of the tank is no longer colder than the surroundingair, condensation will not form.

Another solution is the installation of a tempering tank. Designed to accomplish the same thing as a tempering valve, a tempering tank is simply a reservoir in the coldwater line supplying the flush tank.

Theoretically, water allowed to stand in this tank will be warmed by the surrounding air. However, this won't work if large amounts of water must pass through the tank within a short time.

Also, condensation will form on the tempering tank so this type of installation simply changes the location of your problem.

One of the simplest solutions to a condensation problem involves no plumbing modifications. An electric immersion heating unit with self-contained thermostat will keep the water in the flush tank at a sufficiently high temperature to prevent the formation of condensation. Just hang the unit in the tank and plug it into an electric wall outlet.

When replacing old fixtures, give some consideration to installing a dripless tank featuring two walls with an insulating sealed air space

Another solution to your wet floors is the installation of a drip tray mounted underneath the tank. This won't stop the condensation, but the tray will catch the moisture and collect it in removable cups or a drain into the bowl of the toilet. The metal or plastic trays can be installed in a matter of minutes.

Q. We have an outdoor stone terrace, and I am having trouble keeping grass and weeds from growing through the stones.

Can you suggest something that is not toxic that we can use to prevent this growth?

A. One of the best products available to control weeds and grass from areas like your patio or driveways is Cleanup, also sold (in large volume) as Roundup.

This type of product is often used along freeways to keep weeds and grass under control. It is simple to use, effective, and does not sterilize the soil. Check with your local nursery for this item.

Tradition with style.

In 1927, when Burroughs Farms recreation Larea was established, there was a real sense of tradition, of elegance and style. That tradition of classic elegance has been updated and transformed into Oak Pointe. Condominiums and single family homes reflecting contemporary style and taste have been skillfully placed within the natural landscape.

Two excellent Golf Courses, including the Arthur Hills designed Honors Course, weave their way through protected wetlands, mature trees and gently rolling hills.

A Beach, Private Marina and community picnic

areas are at the disposal of Oak Pointe residents. There are Tennis Courts paths for jogging or for evening walks through secluded nature trails.

TWISTER

Deadly tornados destroy property and lives

By CRISTINA FERRIER Staff Writer

In The Wizard of Oz, a tornado swept Dorothy and Toto to a colorful land with munchkins, wizards and witches.

In Oz, they met a talking scarecrow, a tin man and a cowardly lion. Eventually Dorothy clicked her heels three times and woke up safe in her own bed at home.

But Dorothy hadn't really been in Oz. She'd been knocked unconscious by the flying debris that poses serious danger when a tornado touches

A tornado is a frightening example of how nature becomes violent and deadly under just the right circumstances.

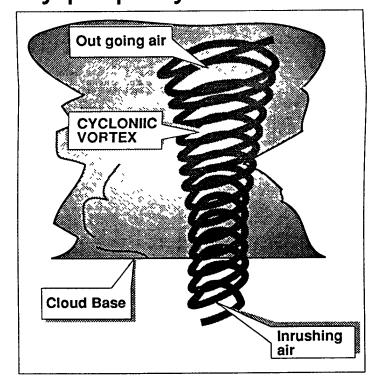

Just two weeks ago, on Sept. 14, a tornado struck Novi, destroying the Amherst Drive home of Linda and Randy Knockeart and their 2-year-old son Jimmy.

Witnesses said the Knockeart home seemed to "explode" from the force of the tornado, then tumbled to the ground. Six other houses were damaged. The tornado went on to damage the glass-domed Novi Civic Center.

Linda and Jimmy Knockeart and a friend, Cindy Vockler, who were in the basement of the Amherst Drive house when the tornado hit, were lucky. They, like everyone else caught in the tornado that day, were unharmed.

The Muscatello family was not so lucky. On June 21, 1987, a tornado struck their home in the 130-acre Chateau Estates mobile home park at Thirteen Mile and Decker Road.

The tornado flipped the Muscatello home over. Another mobile home, with its resident, Leonard

Terrell, was thrown into the Muscatello home. Terrell was able to escape with minor injuries, but the Muscatellos were buried beneath the debris.

The destruction killed 24-year-old Michael Muscatello and critically injured his wife, Vanda, and his then-19-month-old son, Michael. Vanda and Mi-

Past tragedies:

Some of history's worst tornadoes

• May 25, 1869: The first severe tornado ever recorded in Michigan hit Oakland County. It struck between 6 and 7 p.m., killing 47 people and injuring 100 others.

Property damage at 1869 prices totaled $400,000.

The storm originated in northwest Oakland County, moved east toward Lapeer County, then moved south, narrowly missing Detroit. It ended at Walkerville, Ontario, just across the river from Detroit.

The greatest damage was in Ortonville. One house was carried three hundred feet, then smashed into the earth.

All that was left of another house and its contents was a square plano, which was left standing on its side 200 feet north of the foundation of the house, with one end pounded full of grass.

Numerous other funnel clouds were seen at the same time between Detroit and the Sagnaw Bay, but there was comparatively little damage.

• June 8, 1953: The most destructive Michigan tornado hit Flint at approximately 8:45 p.m. killing 116 persons and injuring 867. Property losses totalled $19 million (1953 dollars).

This tornado originated near Flushing and was approximately one-half mile wide when it struck the north side of Flint and moved through the city, leaving complete destruction in its path.

In a 70-mile path, 386 homes were destroyed and 525 were damaged. In addition, 364 farm were damaged. buildings were destroyed and 37

This tornado was part of one of history's most destructive series of tornadoes. Twelve storms with multiple tornadoes occurred in a 24-hour period between June 8 and 9. Seven of the storms were in Michigan, one was in Ohio, and four were in the New England states.

A total of 234 people were killed in this series of tornadoes and 2,607 were injured. Property damage exceeded $93 million.

•March 21-22, 1952: A similar series with 31 tornadoes hit the states of Arkansas, Tennessee, Missouri, Mississippi, Alabama and Kentucky killing 343 people and injuring 1,409. Total property losses were estimated at $15.3 million (1952 dollars).

The first in the series of storms formed at approximately 3 p.m. near the southwest corner of Arkansas and at 5:35 p.m. in Dyer County, Tennessee.

More storms were spread throughout the evening in Mississippi and Missouri, while others formed the following day in Tennessee, Kentucky and Alabama.

These tornadoes moved from the southwest to the northeast, sometimes jumping about in a random fashion. The small towns of Judsonia, Arkansas and Henderson. Tennessee were completely destroyed.

Altogether, 13 tornadoes hit Arkansas, 13 hit Tennessee, one hit Missouri, two hit Mississippi, one hit Alabama and one hit Kentucky.

Volunteers

Elinor Holland

A senior helper

By LESLIE PEREIRA Special Writer

As she rushes over to shake hands with a visitor at a meeting of the Novi Center Seniors, Elinor Holland quickly apologizes for her bandaged wrist.

"Yeah, I was volunteering to lift some things for an elderly couple," says the retired high school teacher with a shrug. But despite the recent injury, Hol-

But despite the recent injury, Holland remains as active as ever and has hardly slowed her frenetic schedule.

"I think it is most important to stay involved," says Holland. "Just because you are retired doesn't mean you should put a hood over your head and sit in the corner."

and sit in the corner.*
Those are not only fighting words to Holland; they seem to be the motto that guides her life.

One of Holland's many volunteer activities is a coffee and conversation group she directs for seniors at the Novi Civic Center. Participants show up each Friday morning to drink coffee and discuss current events, senior citizen laws, living wills and consumer laws.

Holland places particular emphasis on the legal issues facing seniors because she believes most people are unaware of their rights.

You just can't take these people who have lived in the community all their lives and built it up, and say. We don't need you anymore,' " says Holland.

And although her activities with senior citizens' groups take up a great deal of her time, Holland, who takes courses in subjects she knows nothing about "just to learn a little something," does not limit herself to only that.

Holland also serves as president of the newly created Novi garden club, is a member of the American Association of University Women, a member of Delta Kappa Gamma, an organization for outstanding teachers, and a supporter of the American Diabetes Association.

"A lot of people when they retire just crawl into a hole and wait to die," says Holland. "It is important to stay active and keep your mind sharp."

Wedding

BOB AND DAWN NEEDHAM

Dawn Marie Riffenburg of Northville married Robert Walter Needham on July 14.

The bride is the daughter of Donald Riffenburg of Northville and the late Shirley Riffenburg. The groom is the son of Larry and Norma Needham of Birmingham.

The double-ring ceremony was conducted at Mill Race Historical Village by the Rev. James Russell of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

The matron of honor was Jill Alfrejd of Columbia, S.C., a friend of the bride. Bridesmaids were Darlene VanBuskirk of Carleton, a friend of the bride; and the bride's sisters, Janice Rohraff of Northville, Judy Forshee of Twining, and Debbie Mucke of Garden City.

Junior bridesmaids were Jennifer and Lisa Rohraff of Northville, nieces of the bride. Flower girls were Stefanie and Heidi Mucke of Garden City, and Nicole and Amy Riffenburg of South Lyon, all nieces of the bride. Best man was Jim Collins of Livonia, a friend of the groom. Groomsmen were Kenneth Jones of Birmingham, Dan Ball of Warren, David Wilburn of Ann Arbor, and Rodney Curtis of New Hampshire, all friends of the groom.

Ringbearer was Jason Rohraff of Northville, nephew of the bride. The bride's brother, Don Riffenburg of South Lyon, read a passage from "The Prophet," and the groom's sister, Karin Needham of Chicago, read from 2 Corinthians.

A reception was held at the Plymouth Cultural Center for about 200

The bride is a 1987 graduate of Michigan State University and holds a bachelor's degree in journalism. She is a reporter for the Livingston County Press. The groom graduated from Alma College with a bachelor's degree in English and Psychology.

The couple honeymooned on Grand Bahama Island. They now reside in Northville.

Club will laugh with Lila Green

An afternoon of fun is in store for members of the Northville Woman's Club when the club opens its 98th year at a luncheon Friday, Oct. 5 at Meadowbrook Country Club.

The program will feature Lila Green, who will deal with humor, laughter and playfulness in a lighthearted program titled The Queen Meets Lila Green.

Woman's Club members are invited to get in the spirit of the occasion and come wearing a hat, dowdy or otherwise, and carry an "ugly purse." The opening meeting of the club traditionally honors past presidents and honorary members. Members may bring a guest. A social hour will begin at 11:30 a.m. with a cash bar. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m.

Northville Woman's Club is a cultural group with programs at each meeting and no fund raising activities. Each year a donation from members' dues is given to the city and township for civic improvement.

The club gives a graduating Northville High School senior girl a scholarship each spring. This is a grant in aid based on need as well as acholarship.

The club also sends a girl to Girls' State each year in cooperation with the Northville Business and Professional Women.

Pine Cone Lunch

The Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will have a pine cone workshop and luncheon at Mill Race church Oct. 8 at 11 a.m.

October 8 is Guest Day. Social Chairperson is Carole DeSantis.

Historic Tour

Northville Newcomers are organizing a Ladies' Day Historic Tour of Detroit for Wednesday, Oct. 17 from 9:15 a.m. to 3 p.m. The tour group will travel by bus and will meet in the parking lot in front of the China Fair restuarant on Seven Mile Road. In the event of emergency: 331-6740. Reservations will be taken until Oct. 3. The cost of the tour is $28.00 per person, and includes luncheon at Fisher House. For more information contact Carrie Semeyn, 349-1207.

Town Hall Series

The Northville Town Hall Series will be starting back up again with some exciting speakers for the 1990-91 season. The first speaker, actress Eileen Fulton, will be on Oct. 11. She will be followed by: Col. Charles Scott, a former hostage in Iran, on Nov. 8; on March 21, former Miss America Kaye Lani Rae Rasko (this has been changed from the original date of March 14): and on April 11, veteran NBC news person Jack Reynolds will speak.

A season ticket to hear all four speakers is $30. Checks should be made payable to Northville Town Hall and sent to Ticket Chair Bonnie Dewan. Northville Town Hall, P.O. Box 93, Northville 48167. Please mark the outside of the envelopes with ticket orders "Attention Ticket Chairman."

A ticket for the four luncheons, one served after each speaker is $44. Please make the check payable to Northville Town Hall and send to cochairperson Shirley Marshall, Northville Town Hall, P.O. Box 93, Northville 48167. Please mark the outside of the envelope with orders for luncheon and speaker tickets, "Attention Ticket and Luncheon Chairman."

For more information contact Marshall, who is handling the event during the month of October, at 349-9026.

Also, anyone ordering tickets for the speaker series or the luncheons is asked to enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope for the ticket chairpersons to return your tickets in. The committee is non-profit and has been spending too much money on return postage for those forgetting to do so.

Dinner Theatre

Northville Newcomers announce an evening of food and entertainment, including dinner at Genitti's Hole in the Wall and a show at the Northville Marquis on Saturday, Oct. 20. Dinner will be at 6 p.m. with the show to follow at 8 p.m. Reservations will be taken from September 26 to Oct. 10. For more information contact Penny Junk at 344-4502.

Genitti's Hole in the Wall/Northville: 349-0522 Northville Marquis: 349-8110

School Notebook

Jeffrey R. Harp has been inducted into the Omega Chu Upsilon Honor Society at Michigan State University. He is a senior majoring in chemical engineering.

Induction is based on academic excellence and leadership skills. Brian R. Beger of Northville received academic honors for the winter term at Oakland University. Beger was recognized for maintaining a 3.6-4.0 grade point average while taking at least 12 credit hours at the university. Walter Holinoty, a Northville student at Madonna College, has been selected as one of the country's most outstanding campus leaders by Who's Who Among Students In American Universities and Colleges editorial staff. He will be included in the 1990 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, an annual directory of outstanding students first published in 1934.

Host families needed

Have you ever considered hosting an international student in your home? Teenagers (14-18) from Spain, Germany, & Japan are eager to experience life in an American school and family. The students will arrive at the end of August.

They will live with their host families for one or two semesters. The students have enough money to pay all of their personal expenses, including school lunches. The sponsoring organization, American Institute for Foreign Studies, rewards host families with generous scholarships for foreign travel and/or study. Families with or without children of their own are welcome to apply.

Most families that have hosted foreign students in the past say that hosting is fun. For more information call AIFS at 1-800-322-4678 or call the AIFS local representative in Plymouth, Lynne Levenbach, at

September garden is full of roses

By JUDY BEYERSDORF and PAT EDEN

Roses were coming up everywhere in the Sunnydale garden of Dora Pepino. A rich variety of miniature and standard roses cast a rainbow of colors around the house and the back of the lot.

Pepino admitted she had over 600 rosebushes. "But I don't count all of the miniatures," she said. "They are so easy to start."

A nursery of miniature roses was located in incubators on the north side of her house. She said the morning sun and cooler afternoons were ideal for starting these young shoots from cuttings of mature plants.

You just cut them, dip their stems. put them in the dirt and cover with a plastic cup. A small rosebud was already formed on a three-week starter. Standard roses have to be grafted and take up to two years to mature.

Pepino shared some of her rose growing techniques of good deep fertilizing in the spring. She mixes fish emulsion and alfalfa, milorganite and some good 12-12-12 fertilizers together and mixes into the soil with deep watering.

She uses grass clippings as mulch and depends on a foliar feeder during the rest of the growing season.

She also sprays with a good mil-dew and black spot spray every ten days during the summer. This task takes about 1 1/2 hours with an electric sprayer. However, this is a very important step in the care of roses because either disease can severely weaken the plant so it may be

She tucked a healthy looking veg-etable garden at the back of her lot and grows marigolds from seeds under a grow light in the basement in the early spring. Most of her plants she has ordered from catalogs and likes to buy bare root plants which she orders in the fall for spring

Winterizing the roses amounts to protecting the delicate white and pink variety with bean hampers or mounds of dirt in the winter. The miniature roses are very hardy.

Pepino belongs to the American Rose Society with headquarters in Sheveport, Louisiana. She has also trained to be an accredited judge at shows. She attended shows in Grand Rapids this year as a judge and will soon be attending the national convention rose show in Nashville, Tennessee as an accredited judge.

She said belonging to the rose society is a great means of traveling. meeting people with similar interests and learning more about roses all of the time. She recently won a trophy for her miniature rose "Dream Glow at the Laurel Park Rose Show.

Roses come in all varieties, colors, configurations and growing styles. New roses are sometimes given the name of a celebrity or a person who contributes a donation of money to have a rose named for themselves or a family member.

Tips for cutting roses that one wishes to bring inside are to cut the rose with a sharp knife, immerse the cut end in warm water (108 degrees) and leave submerged for about a half-hour. Then put the stem in cold water and the roses should last several days in the house.

Class helps newcomers to America

By CRISTINA FERRIER

America is the "land of opportunity," but chasing those opportunities can be very difficult for someone who doesn't speak English.

"English as a Second Language," a class offered through the Novi Adult Education program, offers an answier. It gives area newcomers a chance to learn the language — even if they bring absolutely no knowledge of the English language to class with

We have a wide variety (of English-speaking levels) coming to our classes," explained Carol Saunders, coordinator of the Novi adult education program. "Some are at the very beginning level where we must work one-on-one, and tutor them."

These students are at the first level. Overcoming the language barrier between the teacher and student can be a challenge, but Saunders said there are a variety of ways to overcome the problem.

"First we use pictures and other items to build a vocabulary," she said. They also have a huge collection of foreign language dictionaries, because people of all different language backgrounds are together in the class includes people from Peru, Mexico, Iran, Romania, Hungary, France, Germany, Japan, Korea and China. "You name it, we've got it," Saunders said. "It's a very diverse

"A lot of time they bring in their own dictionaries," she added. "If there's nothing better, we just start looking up words in the dictionary.

"But usually, as long as you are standing right there, people can understand what you want." Saunders said students have moved up as much as two grade levels, depending on the amount of time they are able to put into the class, by the time they finish the first

Many of these students then move on to the second, intermediate level. Saunders explained that this level is for students who have some basic English-speaking ability, but are still lacking in basic skills, such as reading or writing.

Finally, there is the third, advanced level.

These are people who may have studied English in their own country and can read, write and speak, but they still need to work on perfecting their abilities," Saunders said. These classes are devoted to grammar, punctuation and understanding of

Working on American idioms can be rather entertaining sometimes, aunders said.

For example, she explained, a slang term like "off the wall" is confusing to someone who's studied textbook English in another country.

"You say, 'it's off the wall,' and they look at the wall and there's nothing there," she said. Because American English is full of such expressions. we end up with some pretty interesting situations sometimes."

Many of the students are learning English so they can finish high school, but some are auditing the class because they are in business here and want to speak better. Saunders said one Japanese student is taking the class because he has to give oral reports at work.

One of the highlights of the program is the annual Thanksgiving dinner, which is quite different from the typical American meal.

"It's a potluck where everyone brings a dish from their native counshe said, explaining that the idea came from the Pilgrims and American Indians, who brought their native food for Thanksgiving. Some of the students even wear costumes from their native countries.

Saunders' enthusiasm for the program is evident when she speaks

AMERMAN

Amerman doors opened Sept. 4 and warmly greeted students and teachers back for another successful school year. New to our building this year are: Anna Conti, Greg Bergin, Laura Schmelter, Melinda Park, and Larry Taylor. Welcome!

Forty new students and their parents took part in our New Student Orientation Aug. 31. Mr. Jacobi pre-sented a slide show, gave a school tour and had a school bus available for children to get acquainted with while getting bus safety tips from a bus driver.

Our annual fund-raiser kick off is Sept. 27 and the deadline for ordering that great "Sally Foster" gift wrap is Oct. 1, in order to receive order before Thanksgiving. Late orders will be accepted. Profits from the fundraiser will be spent on some exciting new playground equipment for our children.

Our membership drive for PTA is underway. Our goal for this year is 100 percent membership. Tkhat means we need every family to join. Individual memberships are $2 and family memberships are $3. Our PTA works throughout the year to help in many areas of your child's education: be a part of it. Contact Dolly Dolle, 349-7431 or return the form sent home with your child. New organ spurs concert series

First Presbyterian Church of Northville celebrates its new pipe organ with a concert series beginning this Sunday.

In the summer of 1986 five organ builders were asked to draww up plans for the installation of a new organ at the church with the under-standing that both funds and interest for the project were unavailable at that time. These plans remained dormant until the fall of 1988 when Senior Pastor Larry Chamberlain learned of the interest of Larry and Anita Bennett, who were willing to donate the funds necessary to complete the entire project.

The church chose Casavant Freres to build the new organ, which was declared complete Aug. 24, 1990, fifteen months and fourteen days after the original signing of the contract.

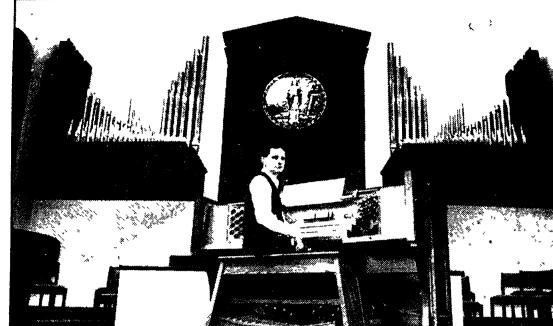

From 1837 until his retirement in 1866 Joseph Casavant produced seventeen pipe organs in his St. Hyacinthe shop for churches and seminaries in Canada. In 1875 his sons, Claver and Samuel, traveled to Paris where they spent some time with the famed French organ builder Cavaille-Coll. After traveling widely throughout Europe visiting builders and notable organs, they returned to St. Hycinthe in 1879 to establish themselves as Casavant Freres on the site where the present workshop

The instrument which firmly established their reputation as organ builders on international repute was built in 1891 for the church of Notre Dame in Montreal. This organ of four manuals and 82 stops is still in use

The new organ at First Presbyte-rian Church, Northville has three manuals (keyboards for the hands) of 56 notes each and a pedal keyboard with a compass of 32 notes. The organ has 2,196 pipes divided into 42 ranks (series) of pipes comprising 29 stops (voices).

The concert series to dedicate the organ consists of three performances: SEPT. 30 — MARILYN MASON

The number of Chateau Estates mobile homes damaged during the brief moments of the 1987 tornado numbered 227. Many of the homes were flipped completely over, with some losing roofs, windows and entire sides. The contents of the homes were strewn all over the park. It was months before the homes were completely repaired or replaced.

The 1987 Novi tornado happened very fast, but it was actually a more "common" occurrence than the 1990 Novi tornado because tornadoes are more likely in the spring than the fall.

A September tornado is fairly rare. but when conditions are right, it can happen. On Sept. 14, very warm, moist air rose and formed into a thunderstorm with torrential rain and strong winds. Like all tornadoes, this one formed deep inside the dark storm clouds.

Weather expert Stan Gibilisco, in his book Violent Weather: Hurricanes, Tornadoes and Storms, explained that tornadoes are born when the upward-moving air, water and ice within the storm cloud begins to swirl.

In the storm cloud, the rising air. called the cyclonic vortex, spins counterclockwise in the area of the storm heading east or northeast.

As the storm moves on, pressure drops at the center of the vortex and it becomes stronger and tighter. As the pressure continues to fall within the cyclonic vortex, the air spins faster

'Phantom' plays on in Toronto

By Iris Sanderson Jones

TORONTO, ONTARIO: Schooltracher Barbara Goodwin of Brighton met him in August and it was love at first sight. Marietta Campbell of Troy had the same love affair, and still hums his songs as she drives to her job as a manicurist for Merie Norman cosmetics in Birmingham.

Birmingham.

I had seen him on television often enough, singing those Andrew Lloyd Webber songs from the shadows of the stage, but I didn't actually meet him until tonight, when he thrilled and terrorized me from his den in the Pantages Theater here in Toronto.

celebrates his first anniversary on the Toronto stage this month. He has been the angel of music for several years in London and New York City, but Director Harold Prince brought him to Canada for a Sept. 20, 1989 opening, and he has been playing to a full house here ever since.

It has been a wild love affair, especially for Michigan theater-goers, who flock to Toronto to meet him in spite of the high ticket prices: $38 to $60 for the matinee, $42.50 to $75 for evening performances.

There are a few bar-type stools available for sold-out performances at $25 and $30. Those are Canadian dollars; subtract about 10 percent to get the American dollar equivalent.

Most of us buy our tickets as part of a package to lessen the blow. Barbara Goodwin of Brighton, who was celebrating the 24th anniversary of her marriage to Bill Goodwin when the Phantom came into her life, bought her Toronto package from Key Tours, purchased through Brighton travel agency It's Worthy Travel, inc.

"Our $600 package covered train travel from Windsor to Toronto, three nights at the Sheraton Center in the heart of the city and front row tickets to the Phantom. That's for two people.

"We're going back for Thanksgiving with our 20-year-old daughter Amy, and it won't cost us much more for the three of us. It is a beautiful hotel and our theater tickets were fantastic!"

Marietta Campbell and her 22-year-old daughter Amy, a University of Michigan student, bought their theater tickets through a local school. Marietta had seen another version of Phantom at the Fox Theater in Detroit, "but it didn't compare with the Andrew Lloyd Webber version playing New York and Toronto."

"What really makes the Phantom special, other than the play itself, is the Pantages Theater, which was renovated at a cost of $18 million," Marietta says. "It has the same quality as the Fox Theater in Detroit but it is smaller, intimate and a perfect setting for the 'Phantom of the Opera.'"

When the curtain fell, my daughter turned to me and said Oh, thanks, Mom

What is it about this Phantom that inspires these love affairs? A disfigured ghost of a man lives underneath the opera house and falls in love with the young lead singer, giving her the magic of music and terrifying her in the deep, candlelit underground lake that is his lair.

This is no ordinary "road show." The entire original London and Broadway creative team was reassembled by director Harold Prince for the Canadian production of the Phantom, based on a 1911 novel by Gaston Leroux.

if you are looking for a love affair, check your travel agency for the best available packages. Berkely Tours and Travel Inc. offers two-night packages for about $250 per person, double occupancy, through October. Your travel agency can tell you about Key Tours and other travel packagers.

Palatial Biltmore House draws tourists to North Carolina

By Paula Kirsch

George Vanderbilt of New York and Susan Ward of Michigan lived a century apart, but they both knew what they wanted and they both found it at Biltmore House in Asheville, North Carolina.

Vanderbilt was looking for a refuge from New York, and from his prominent family, when he built Biltmore House to rival the grand chateaus of Europe in 1885.

Ward, who grew up in West Bloomfield, was looking for a career in the historical decorative arts when she became curator of Biltmore House in 1987.

"I want to preserve the House and its possessions as a collection, to make the rooms look as if Vanderbilt still lived in them," Ward said. Susan Ward's parents, Helen and Susan Ward's parents, Helen and Richard Ward, still live in West Bloomfield. Susan's earliest art memory is about a calendar of impressionist paintings that hung in her parents' home as a child.

Ward graduated from Groves High School in Birmingham and spent several years traveling, studying and working in the United States, Europe and Australia before earning her Masters degree in art history from Wayne State University.

She attended the Cooper-Hewitt Museum/Parsons School of Design in New York City and was a graduate assistant at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, cataloging German textiles, when George Vanderbilt came into her life.

Biltmore House called the Met, looking for an assistant curator, in 1985, 100 years after the house was built. And Ward's life changed forever.

"When I arrived at Biltmore House the curator was on vacation," Ward says. "I went to the dictionary to look up 'curator' again to see exactly what I was supposed to be doing."

She was overwhelmed, but not for long. An admitted workaholic, she became curator of Biltmore House in 1987, and has since completed some monumental tasks.

"We're using a lap-top computer and bar code symbols to catalog more than 50,000 objects belonging to the estate, including the 23,000 book library. It is all being done on the cutting edge of technology. It's frustrating, because we have no role models, but it's also extrmely exciting," Susan said. She is also planning to organize more than 2,000 linear feet of archival material—letters, photographs, household lists, diaries—to shed light on valuable facts and stories about turn-of-the-century life.

ward says that Biltmore is the best documented historical house in the nation, and includes information about the work of architect Richard Morris Hunt, landscape designer Frederick Law Olmsted and forester Gifford Pinchot, the three renowned designers of the estate.

If you saw Peter Sellers in that old movie 'Being There' you have seen the Biltmore Estate, which is definitely the main attraction for travelers to Asheville.

You will be just as overwhelmed as Susan Ward was by the estate. George Vanderbilt had little interest in the social world that captivated the rest of his famous family when he discovered Asheville and started purchasing land in 1885. The present estate covers 8,000 of those 125,000 acres. The 17-acre gardens, designed by the landscape architect who built New York's Central Park, are still intact.

Biltmore Estate was modeled after country estates Vanderbilt had seen in Europe. It was meant to reflect the importance of land ownership and wealth, and of being surrounded by family and friends.

Vanderbilt's wife Edith deeded a large part of the estate to the U.S. government, now part of Pisgah National Forest. Some land was sold privately. The remaining grounds and the Biltmore House have been designated as a National Historic Landmark.

Susan Ward has some specific suggestions for touring the estate, which is magnificent in every season. "Rent a cassette, do a self-guided tour and plan to spend at least a whole day touring the house, gardens and winery.

Buy tickets at your hotel to avoid waiting in line. Go early morning midweek to avoid crowds. If you plan to see the estate on an evening candlelight tour during the Christmas season, make advance reservations."

Daytime tickets are $18.95 for adults and $14 for students from 12-17 years old. Children under 11 are free with parents. Candlelight evenings, by reservation only, are $25 adults and $21 students 12-17. The Victorian Christmas Feast is $18 adults and $7.95 children 11 and under.

Autumn colors brighten trip to Asheville

Joseph Laframboise of Novi had visited Asheville, North Carolina, as a Ford Motor Company sales manager. He had even attended meetings at the historic Grove Park Inn. This year he decided that he would stay at the inn and see a little bit of those wonderful Carolina mountains while he was at it.

The Grove Park Inn is a great stone building set on the lip of a hill, overlooking the Blue Ridge Mountains and the Smokles. It was built in 1913 by Dr. Edwin Wiley Grove, owner of the St. Louis pharmaceutical firm that produced Grove's Bromo-Quinine and Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonics.

It is the only one of the historic Asheville resorts still standing and is a very popular vacation spot. The fireplaces in The Great Hall are built to hold 12-foot-long logs.

"I first discovered the fall colors in Asheville a couple of years ago," Laframboise said. "I was inclined to think that Michigan had the only license for pretty fall colors, but we found beautiful sights along the Blue Ridge Parkway.

"You see the trees from heights ranging from 3,000 to 5,000 feet and the colors are all there—the red, yellow and orange of maples and oaks. The temperature was a little more pleasant than it is in Michigan during fall color season, too. The colors peak there much later than they do in Michigan, mid- to late October."

The Grove Park Inn is only one of many places to stay in Asheville. Laframboise's neighbors, Don and Susan Sicks of Novi, stayed at a private bed and breakfast called the Cornerstone Inn.

"A nice spot, full of antiques, including a four-poster bed," Sicks said. "We were greeted at the door by the owners, served lemonade and cookies and treated like relatives. They told us what to do when we toured the area."

Some of the sights they saw in the Asheville area include:

The Biltmore House, the 250-room house with its 17-acre gardens built in the late 19th century by George Vanderbilt and now considered the grandest historic house in America.

The Thomas Wolfe Memorial, a boarding house run by the author's family and the setting for his book "Look Homeward Angel." An annual Thomas Wolfe Festival will celebrate the 90th anniversary of his birth in Asheville on Oct. 3-7.

The Folk Art Center of the Southern Highland Handicraft Guild, built 50 years ago to preserve mountain crafts. The guild offers craft exhibitions, demonstrations and sales at Milepost 382 on the Blue Ridge Parkway. The guild holds its 43rd annual fair at the Asheville Civic Center on Oct. 19-21.

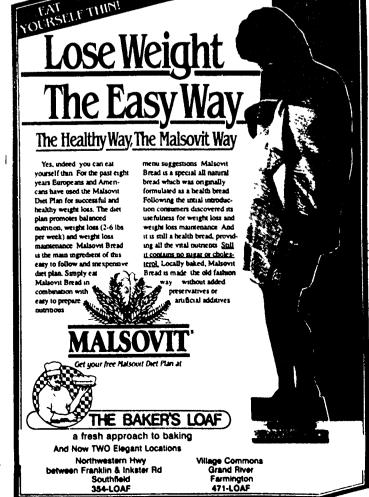

Other things to do in the area include the Cherokee Indian Reservation, which holds its fall festival Oct. 2-3; the antique shops of Black Mountains; Connemara, farm and home of the late author Carl Sandburg; Great Smoky Mountains National Park; and a variety of mountain craft and culture activities in the

Unbeaten gridders shut out Western Northville Coach Darrel Schumacher embraces a player after an emotional win earlier this season. The

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN Staff Writer

The last time a Northville football team started a season 4-0, Ronald Reagan was wrapping up his first term and the Tigers were preparing to win the World Series title.

The year was 1984, the coach was Dennis Colligan and the star players included Rick VanBuren, Greg Wendel and Doug Hartman. Six years later, the Mustangs are in the same situation following last Friday's 14-0 home victory against Walled Lake

After winning number four, the '84 Mustangs fell to Farmington Harrison and wound up 7-2. The '90 Northville version will try, tomorrow (Sept. 28) afternoon, to do what no other Mustang team has ever been able to do: beat the Hawks and take another step closer to the WLAA Western Division crown.

To be perfectly honest, we thought if we played up to our capabilities, that we could be 4-0 heading into the Harrison game," Northville Coach Darrel Schumacher said.

Getting there wasn't easy, and a game Walled Lake Western squad made sure of that. Neither team mounted much of an offensive threat on the wet and muddy field until Northville exploded for two big scoring plays within a five-minute span in the third quarter. The Mustang defense was solid throughout and notched the season's first shutout.

"I think we're playing well on de-fense," Schumacher said. "Our line is very active and Bob Holloway is really blooming into an excellent linebacker. We're getting good play out of a lot of people."

Neither team scored in the first half, but there were several opportunities. A Bill Kelley fumble in the first quarter gave the Warriors possession inside the Northville 30, but a key sack by Todd Osborne stalled the drive and Travis Ilacqua's 44-yard field-goal attempt came up short.

The Mustangs put together an 11-play, 64-yard drive midway through the second quarter, but it ended when quarterback Ryan Huzjak was intercepted by Jim Belanger. In that drive Huzjak had 39 rushing yards off the option and then delivered a perfect pass to Brett Butz for what would have been a sure touchdown, but he couldn't hang on.

Just before the intermission, Belanger picked off another Huzjak pass and the teams went into the locker room deadlocked 0-0.

Our kids were upset at halftime because we did move the ball in the second quarter, but we came away with nothing." Schumacher said. (Western) is a young club and we kept giving them life.

The frustration ended dramatically on Northville's second possession of the second half when Kelley took a screen pass from Huzjak and rambled 45-yards for the score. It was a well-conceived play that caught Western by surprise and was executed to perfection.

*Kelley ran track last spring and I think that's helped his speed," Schu-macher said. "After we got some great blocks from Tim Kerns and Holloway. there was nobody that was going to catch him.

The Northville defense came back with a big play on Western's next possession when they stuffed Craig Jenkins on a fake punt near midfield. Two plays later, Huzjak gobbled up 27 yards for the score on a quarterback draw at the 1:23 mark. The score was set up by Butz, who atoned for the earlier mistake with an impressive 17-yard run.

"(Huzjak) is a good athlete with good speed," Schumacher said. "He sees the field and he's making cutbacks that take advantage of the defense's over-pursuit."

Neither team threatened in the final quarter, and a Mike Hilfinger interception on a halfback pass sealed the victory with five minutes remaining.

For the game, Huzjak accounted for more than 150 yards of total offense. He rushed for 73 yards on nine carries and threw for 82 more. We weren't sharp in the first half, but I think it was mostly mental." Huzjak said. We came out a little out of it, but we straightened it out. The weather hurt our passing game, so we had to find other ways of moving the ball - like draws and screens.

HARRISON PREVIEW: The game tomorrow afternoon (3:30 p.m.) at Harrison is probably Northville's big-gest football clash in the last halfdozen years. The winner will get a leg up in the race for the Western Division crown — a goal the Mustangs have never achieved on the gridiron.

The Hawks are 3-1 with a loss to Detroit DePorres and a narrow win over Plymouth Canton. With the graduation on Mill "The Thrill" Coleman, Harrison isn't as explosive on offense, but still features a rock-solid

'You can never, ever take Harrison lightly," Schumacher said. "We do, however, think of them as a little more human this season. After they slipped past Canton, it gave every-body else in our division the hope that maybe they can be beat. I think they are beatable, but it will take a perfect game.

They are always so darn well-coached that you will have to take it too them - they will not beat themselves.

"Whoever wins this game will be the favorite to win the division — or at least share of it. It's a very big game and we're excited about the Mustangs are now 4-0.

Coach Ed Kritch didn't give his squad much of a chance against powerful Plymouth Salem on Sept. 19. The Rocks — currently ranked No. 5 in the state. Class A — have usually been a little out of Northville's league in girls hoops.

That's what made Salem's heartpounding 34-32 escape against the Mustangs so interesting. Kritch's team was actually just one rebound away from either a stunning victory or an overtime session. But once again the Rocks did what they had to down the stretch to pull it out. Nevertheless, Kritch was pleased with his team's performance.

"It did surprise me . . . a lot," he said. "I wasn't disappointed with what happened, but I think the kids were because they thought they could win."

With the score deadlocked at 32-32 with under 10 seconds remaining, Salem's Yolando Jackson missed two free throws, but the Mustangs were unable to secure the rebound. The loose ball ended up in the hands of Sarah Ruete, she was quickly fouled and her two free throws with seven seconds left provided the margin of victory.

"We were really a rebound away from having a great chance to win it."

The game started with both teams employing a slow, deliberate tempo. Northville inched ahead 4-1 thanks to two early buckets by senior standout Kate Holstein, but the Rocks came back to knot it at 4-4 after one quarter and then pulled head 15-14 at the intermission.

"That entire first half was played very close to the vest," Kritch recalled.

Salem scored the first six points of the second half and opened a 21-14 advantage, but Kara McNell sparked the comeback with an offensive rebound and conversion just before the end of the third quarter. That made it

With 1:30 remaining, the Rocks appeared in control 32-26, but successive three-pointers by Karen Pump and Holstein over the next minute tied the score and set up Ruete's in the first quarter, the Mustangs scored the final six points. From there. Northville outscored Churchill 38-10 the rest of the way.

*Everything really came together and our desense started to become stiffling," Kritch said.

For the game, the Chargers managed just five field goals and we held scoreless in the entire fourth quarter. "I though that was quite an accomplishment because Churchill is not that bad," Kritch said. "We were that The big swing in momentum came in the third quarter when Northville went on a 23-7 rampage, led by Pump's eight points. Pump ended up with a career-high 14 points and shared scoring honors with Holstein. "Karen had a fantastic game," Kritch said. "We are starting to surround Holstein with some other good players. That takes a lot of the pressure off Kate and makes her that much more effective."

The Mustangs (3-3 overall, 1-2 in the WLAA) will travel to Churchill for a rematch with the Chargers tonight (Sept. 27).

"I am very enthused with our play recently," Kritch said. "I felt, prior to the season, that we could play with anybody on our schedule. But after our first four games, I started to question that. Now, I feel like I did before.

"If we can build on what we accomplished this past week, people will have to look out for us.

Harriers fall to Franklin

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Mustang harriers ran up against an inspired Livonia Franklin squad on Sept. 20 and came away with a 23-32 dual-meet defeat at Nankin Mills.

"I thought was ran pretty well," Northville Coach Ed Gabrys said. but (Franklin) ran better. It was on their home course and they seemed to be on a mission."

Mustangstandout Steve Coon had beaten the Patriots' top runner -Eric Curnow - just five days earlier at the Schoolcraft Invitational, but the rematch was a disappointment. Curnow cruised to the win and broke the course record in the process with a 16:37. Coon was second with a 17:02.

The rest of the Northville placers included Andy Haas in fifth (18:04), Jamie Groves in sixth (18:11), Parag Parikh in ninth (18:29), Karl Goerke in 10th (18:40). Mike Connery in 11th (18:55) and Doug Huntington in 12th (19:28).

We're still looking to pull out a .500 season this year," Gabrys said. We beat Franklin by 50 points as a team at Schoolcraft, but then they turn around five days later and beat us convincingly in a dual meet. In our conference, anything can happen, in the Junior/Senior Division, the Wildcats placed second behind Walled Lake Western with 79 points and the Mustangs were fourth with 110 points.

We were very consistent." Gabrys said. If I had to grade the team, I'd give them a 'B' as far as effort and performance. We're coming along.

Coon broke his previous beat time at Willis Park with a 17:25 - good for fifth place overall. He was followed by Groves in 20th place (18:32), Haas in 22nd (18:57), Goerke in 31st (19:39), Connery in 32nd (19:40) and Hun. tington in 43rd (20:24), Walled Lake Central is a very powerful singles team, so the Northville netters turned their attention to doubles and escaped with a 4-3 dual meet victory over the Vikings on Sept.

"I was worried about this match, and rightfully so," Mustang Coach Uta Filkin said. "Our three losses came, as anticipated, in the first three singles matches. That's definitely their strong suit.

The only singles victor was Ka-vitha Sriraman at No. 4. She topped Laura Banion 6-2, 6-3, Karen Vogt fell to nationally-ranked Jackie Brown (0-6, 0-6) at No. 1, while Diane Vogt and Shannon Price each lost to the Geelhood sisters - Dee and Stephanie — at No. 2 and 3.

Northville golfers blast Harrison

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

If the Mustang golfers can score near the 200 mark as a team, coach Don Morgan is happy. On Sept. 20, Northville did just that, and it came on a foreign course against a team that wasn't providing much competition.

The course was San Marino in Farmington Hills, the opponent was Farmington Harrison and the score was 201-246.

"That's not bad, especially when you consider that only one guy on our team had ever played the course before," Morgan said.

That one player was senior Chris Lemmon, and he fired an even-par 36 to take medalist honors for the fifth time in six dual meets this season.

"He doesn't hardly waver from par, and it's hard to put a finger on how he does it," Morgan said. "He's got the ability to make all the shots and he is very consistent."

Lemmon was followed in second place by teammate Jason Sherman (39) while junior Steve Brining carded a 40 in only his second varsity start ever. The other scores were a pair of 43s by Joey Staknis and Krupansky.

"Being around 200 is where we want to be," Morgan admitted. This was a good test for us because we take on Farmington at San Marino, and that should be a good test for us. We are quietly gearing up for them."

NORTHVILLE 212, WESTLAND JOHN GLENN 227: The Mustangs had only three regulars in the lineup but still managed to crush the Rockets by 15 strokes on Sept. 17 at Fellows Creek in Canton.

"I thought we played pretty well," Mustang Coach Don Morgan said. "We had some kids who we normally don't have in our line-up in there, so that may have dropped our team score down a bit. We used two guys who were making their first varsity start this season."

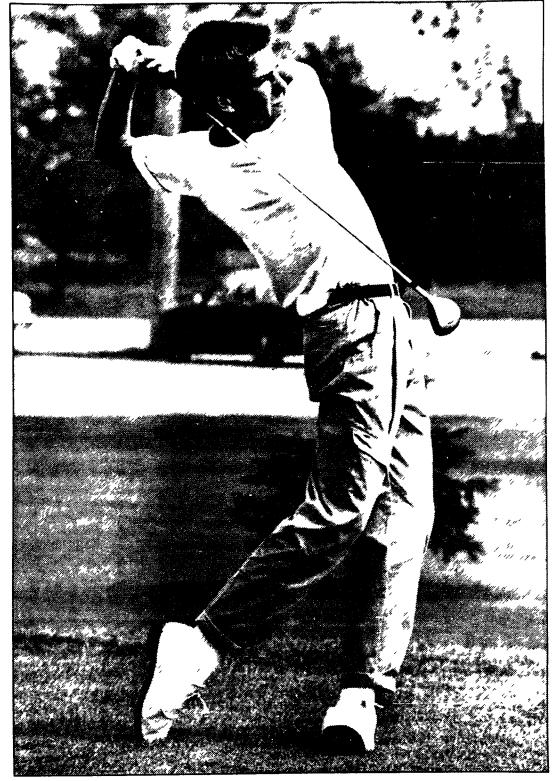

As expected, Lemmon was the medalist with an even-par 36.

"With Chris, it's like 'ho-hum,' another 36," Morgan laughed. "He continues to amaze me."

The other two regulars — Krupansky and Sherman — fired 40 and 41 respectively. Staknis (47), Todd Christianson (48) and George Lemmon (49) rounded out the scoring.

"We're trying to give as many people some varsity experience," Morgan pointed out.

The Mustangs (5-1 overall, 3-0 in the WLAA) are scheduled to compete against Farmington on Oct. 2. Many believe it's a battle between the top two teams in the conference.

Coach Bob Smith said. "Fenchel didn't have an outstanding race and that kind of hurt us. he was about 15 places further back that he should have been. Other than that, we ran verv well."

In the freshman/sophomore contest, the Wildcats scored 36 points to beat Western by 11 points and take the title.

Winning the underclass race was the highlight for us," Smith said. "We took four of the top eight slots - you don't see that often in an invitational."

John Crawford won the race in 18:08 and was followed by Vince Mechan in 6th (18:44), Joe Leahy in seventh (18:50), Matt Mutch in eighth (18:56), Brian Grems in 14th (19:31), Brendan Best in 21st (19:58) and Matt Kindred in 23rd (20:36).

Take the kids along for the ride

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Wnter

You're all set to work up a sweat on your trusty 10-speed bicycle when

Junior wakes up from his nap. What do you do, leave him home with hubby or give up on your trip? If you're like many modern health-conscious parents, you do neither and take him along for the ride. Several bicycle equipment companies offer bicycle baby seats, or two-child trailers that can be towed behind a bike. Trailer manufacturers include

Burley, Winchester, Cannondale and

D & D Bicycles in downtown Northville sells a popular Cannondale trailer for $250. The model clamps on to the bike's seat post. Like most trailers, the Cannondale model includes full shoulder harnesses and seat belts for the passengers.

"It's pretty much tilt-proof," D & D manager Scott Lee said. "Unless you go over, they're not going to go over." Lee said that children are usually old enough to ride in the trailers once they can hold themselves up with the helmet on, hold their own heads up.

Across Center Street, Town & Country Cyclery sells the Burley trailer. The carrier weighs in at a mere 17 pounds.

"It's the lightest product available," said store owner Paul Riebling. "It'll carry 100 pounds of cargo. It has the capability of carrying two children and groceries, too.

The Burley's $250 sales price includes a sun canopy or rain screen. The canopies are $25 apiece

A bike flag is included with the unassembled kit and the bright red trailer with its yellow canopies is "completely reflectorized" for maximum visibility, Riebling said. It also includes seat belts and shoulder

> The trailer connects by a hitch to the bike at the rear wheel drop-down. "If the hitch for any reason were to snap, it has a safety catch so it won't come off the bike," Riebling said. Bicycle seat companies include Troxel, All-American, and the ubiquitous toy company Fisher-Price.

Locally, bicycle seats range in price from $20-80. Rhode Gear makes one top-of-the-line model that sells for about $80. "It's a quickrelease detachable seat," Riebling explained. The $80 buys a lower unit like a bicycle rack and a detachable upper seat. Additional lower units can be had for $40 to allow the seat to be changed quickly from bike to bike.

All-American offers models for $20 and $40. The more expensive model offers added protection - a bar that goes in front of the child and heavy padding. The $40 model also has a quick-release device. As Riebling said, the additional money buys added safety.

Many bicycle seat companies also manufacture children's helmets, which fetch between $25-40 at local Bell, the largest helmet company, also makes two children's models — "Street Riders" and "Little Shells."

"Helmets are always advisable," Riebling said, though he added that it is up to the parent whether or not to require them.

Wogging provides benefits without risks

The University of California, Berkelev Wellness Letter reports that regular exercise has been shown to inhibit or even reverse some of the declines associated with aging.

Fitness Tips

Whether you're 40 or 70 or older. three or four brisk 30-minute walks each week over an extended period of time can make a difference," according to Elaine Glasser, Extension Home Economist for Oakland County Cooperative Extension

Dr. Thomas W. Patrick, Jr., a New Jersey physician, used the term "wogging" to describe walking briskly. It's slower than jogging or race walking, but provides the same benefits without the high risk of sprains and strains. Why wog?

It improves circulation and helps your heart and lungs work more efficiently.

It increases physical endurance and gives you more energy. It burns calories to help you lose extra pounds or maintain your ideal If you're over 60 or in poor health, check with your regular doctor before you begin wogging. Always start your "wog" with a warm up. Begin with 5 to 10 minutes of bending or stretching exercise, or just walk at a normal pace for the first five minutes, then pick up speed.

If you're short of breath, you're going to fast. Slow down. Try the "talk test." If you are too breathless to carry on a conversation, you're moving too quickly.

down by walking slowly or doing a few gentle stretching exercises.

Follow with a hot bath or shower if Extension Bulletin E-1845. "Walking Your Way to Fitness," includes a sample walking program to get you started.

MUCC's 'Hunt Michigan!' guide now available

September in Michigan. A time when the days get shorter, the nights grow steadily cooler, and the leaves burst with vibrant colors signaling the coming of autumn. It also is a time when the thoughts of more than a million sportsmen and women turn to some of Michigan's most exciting outdoor sports offerings - hunting for waterfowl, small game, upland game birds and white tail deer.

For young novices and seasoned hunters alike it is a time to carefully plan the fall hunting trip, clean and check essential equipment, and brush up on the important skills needed to bring their favorite quarry from the field to the dinner table.

No matter what their level of experience or expertise, a valuable resource and planning guide for hunters of all ages is "Hunt Michigan! -How to, Where to, When to," the most definitive reference manual on hunting opportunities available in

Published by the state's largest conservation and sportsmen's organization — Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC) — the 350-page book reads like an encyclopedia on Michigan hunting. Authored by Tom Huggler of Otisville, a nationallyacclaimed outdoor writer and photographer, "Hunt Michigan!" covers every aspect of sport hunting in the

The book includes informative chapters on how and where to hunt every game species found in Michigan. Other chapters are devoted to hunting opportunities in Michigan's state recreation and game areas as well as state and national forests.

Huggler spent more than a year researching and writing the book, which contains a county by county breakdown of terrain and conditions and detailed examinations of big and small game and waterfowl hunting opportunities for sportsmen and women.

The reference manual is generously illustrated with game and hunting photos and color maps of areas open to public hunting throughout the state.

Copies of "Hunt Michigan!" are available for $15.47 each, postage and tax included. They may be ordered by sending a check or money order to MUCC, P.O. Box 30235, Lansing 48909.

All proceeds from the sale of the book go to support MUCC's conservation and sportsmen's education programs across the state.

THE WILDLIFE CHEF: Starting soon more than one million Michigan sportsmen and women will be taking to the state's fields, uplands, woodlands, and wetlands to hunt for a wide variety of big and small game animals, upland birds and waterfowl for the family larder. And when they arrive back home, more than a few of these successful hunters will be scratching their heads and wondering how to dress, clean, butcher and prepare their bountiful harvest for the dinner table.

Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC) has some answers nearly 400 answers to be exact contained in the pages of its perennially popular cookbook and game preparation guide "The Wildlife vised in 1981, The Wildlife CHef can help both novice and experienced cook alike prepare superb dishes from quarry taken during Michigan's hunting seasons.

In addition to the nearly 400 game and fish recipes, the book includes handy tips on field dressing of game animals and birds, the proper care of fish and game to maintain flavor and prevent spoilage, freezing of fish and game, and other hints for preparing tasty and nutritious meals from game animals, upland birds, waterfowl, and fish. The book also features sections on the preparation of sauces and stuffings, breads and desserts. and the use of native Michigan plants to add flavor to popular recipes.

While most of the recipes offer tips on campsite cooking, all of the dishes from the traditional Hunter's Stew to the exotic Venison Stroganoff can be prepared at home.

Copies of The Wildlife Chef are available for $8.19 each, sales tax and postage included. They may be ordered by sending a check or money order to MUCC, P.O. Box 30235, Lansing 48909. Proceeds from the sale of the book go to support MUCC's conservation education programs across the state.

MAPS FOR HUNTERS: As more hunters than ever take to the outdoors in search of their quarry all of them will be looking for an edge — a tool or a technique to give them an advantage over their fellow hunters.

Year after year, successful hun-ters agree that the best edge hunters can have in the field is a supply of accurate, up-to-date county and topographical maps to help point the way in the outdoors.

The Michigan County Maps and Outdoor Guide, published by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC), provides a handy, easy-touse listing of natural and man-made features in all of the state's 83 counties. Bound into a convenient book that can be stored under a car seat or tucked into a duffel bag, the Michigan hunting area with the Michigan gan County maps and Outdoor County Map and Outdoor Guide, you gan County maps and Outdoor Guide features detailed maps of Michigan's counties arranged alphabetically for easy reference. In addition to listing primary, secondary and gravel roads, rail crossings and city and township bounda-ries, the Michigan County Maps and Outdoor Guide pinpoints the location of lakes, rivers, streams and tributaries as well as state game and recreation areas, wildlife floodings and public access sites.

The book also includes useful information on fish and game species found in Michigan and a complete listing of recreation facilities at Michigan's state and national forests.

Once you have located a suitable

About your HomeTown Extra

With the publication of this special section, Home Improvement, we are introducing a couple of new concepts.

In the first place, Home Improvement marks the first special section we have published since the name of the company was changed from Sliger/Livingston Publications to HomeTown Newspapers. The name change was prompted by a desire to better associate our six locally-produced community newspapers and various other products with our company philosophy.

What is the purpose of the HomeTown Newspapers company? The purpose is to provide both readers and advertisers with news about their home towns.

Secondly, publication of Home Improvement marks the introduction of a new logo - HomeTown Newspapers Extra - which in the future will be displayed on all our special sections. You'll see the logo displayed on this page, and you'll also see it displayed on the cover of each of our special sections as well as on the front page of the editions which include a special section.

We think the logo will go a long way toward informing you, the reader, that the paper contains special information which you will find useful and make your life easier in addition to alerting you to special sales and products by local merchants.

What is not new about Home Improvement is the concept of special sections.
HomeTown Newspapers has been publishing special sections for as far back as we can remember ... special sections on such topics of interest to local residents as Spring and Fall Car Care, Financial Planning, Wedding Planning and the popular Home-and-Garden section.

Other special sections include the Progress edition published every fall to inform readers of what to expect in the months and years ahead in terms of residential, commercial and industrial development in their area.

So, that's it. We have a new name for our company and a new logo to identify our special sections. But inside those special sections - we will publish more than 15 of them this year - you'll find the same valuable information designed to help you live your life more effectively and comfortably - with the special knowledge about life in your hometown which only we, HomeTown Newspapers, is capable of providing.

Stay tuned. Our next special section will be

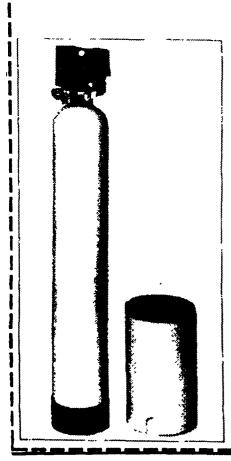

Fall Car Care on October 10 and we'll publish Home Improvement II on October 17. Local merchants who want to take advantage of these special sections to advertise their products and services are urged to call their local paper - The Livingston County Press and Brighton Argus at (517) 548-2000, the South Lyon Herald and Milford Times at (313) 437-2011 or the Northville Record and Novi News at (313) 349-1700. Our ad representatives will be more than happy to show you how to get your message across effectively.

The cover for this Home Improvement section was designed by Angela Predhomme.

Home furnishing trends go classic

By Tershia d'Elgin

Furniture shoppers can think of themselves as collectors, for this is the season and, indeed, the era, of the classics.

Not just intiques and period pieces from the 30s, '50s and '60s, our contemporary classics, too, are the current home decor focus. Any furnishing that is memorable in design, color and material fits nicely into this season's limelight.

Furniture shows are featuring tradition rather than innovation with sophisticated interpretations of older styles. This translates into Gothic beds, garlanded Hepplewhite-like chairs and Directoire tables.

The neoclassical theme persists with strong Greek and Roman elements — columns, pillars, pedestals and arches. The look is elegant, opulent and comfortable, not trendy.

Nicks, scratches and gouges are no longer considered flaws. Some designers are even building the 'distressed' look into their pieces.

Designer home furnishings have pervaded the fabric world. Ralph Lauren, Laura Ashley, Diane Von Furstenberg, Mario Buatta and George Bush s decorator, Mark Hampton, have passed their coordinated collections to the eager and hungry textile industry. Suddenly, their 'looks" are everywhere, either in fact or in imitation. Norma Kamali is following suit.

The Soviets, too, have gotten into the act as collectors and designers draw on either old

Russian furniture or its motifs. Mostly dating from the time of Catherine the Great, the style is imperial and sleekly ornate.

Leathers are plusher, deeper and richer in color, even patterned on some pieces. Technological tanning improvements have made leather more pliable. It can be worked almost like fabric, allowing gentle draping, shirring and even pleating.

Post-Memphis Milan is supplying us with a steady flow of clean-lined furniture that takes advantage of current technology.

Look for reproductions of MacIntosh chairs, Frank Lloyd Wright furniture, Eames lounge chairs, van der Rohe Barcelona chairs. Robin Day tables or Corbusier form-fitting loungers.

Nowhere do Space Age technology and materials Nicks scratches meld as much as in portable furniture. These metal and and gouges are plastic tables and chairs are storable, stackable and spare. But they also are steady and durable, mostly Italian productions.

Hot colors are peach, teal and green tones, with rust and copper accents. Fabrics are more textured and fancier — silks, tapestrylike wovens, jacquards and damasks. The Southwestern motifs are on the wane as are jungle and reptile prints.

Another trick of the times is moving outdoor furniture indoors. Not just wicker and rattan, but Adirondack, stone, wrought iron and

chintzes or bold and zany geometrics. Tables topped with glass can be filled with plants or curios around stone or iron bases.

High-tech natural finished wood fabrications are achieving a new sensuality with improved tooling methods. There are more geometric, whimsical wooden pieces painted in bright baubly abstracts a la Robert Venturi. Other variations include a kind of Aztec or African look with loud neon repetitions in the

If you have your basic furnishings pretty much under control, but would like to purchase a fun indulgence, why not opt for a billiard table? Less excessive spacewise and expenditurewise might be a hat stand, TV table, chaise longue, love seat or folding screen.

Even kids' furniture is no longer sanitized and white. The colors are so loud, they almost speak. Buildings, trains and planes disguise drawers, closets and tables. Nothing is quite what it appears to be but everything is stimulating, both in color and design.

Country style still here but with a 90s look

By Alison Ashton

Country interiors are gussied up for the '90s. Whether it's called European Country, Country Manor or Formal Country, it all adds up to interiors putting on their Sunday best for a little more polish and sophistication.

Folksy artifacts, massive collections of keepsakes and other knickknacks are pared down to create a more dramatic statement. The result is a look that's less cluttered, more formal and a little more upscale, but still with the traditional, inviting appeal that makes country-style interiors so timeless.

European Country

European Country "seems a logical progression from the American Country enthusiasm of the 1980s," said Joe Ruggiero, editor-in-chief of esHomexe magazine. "It also brings a sense of warmth, comfort and history."

It's also a look that's becoming a "dominant force in residential design" according to 6Home improvement/East

Ruggerio

"All this Europeanizing is giving a formal bent to American country, so that delicate contrasts with rustic, sophisticated juxtaposes folk. The best of European Country manages to keep any grandeur in with a sense of nonchalance," said the editor.

Classical pieces of furniture are dressed up with unusual upholstering — soft florals in a French country manor or perhaps egg-white muslin in Southern California.

Wood gets the rustic treatment and beams are exposed. Hardwood floors often have an unusual pattern. Or they're covered by a rustic throw rug.

Architectural details are important, making the actual design and proportion of the rooms an important element. Decorative elements are pared down to highlight a room's strengths — well-proportioned artwork or a few carefully chosen objets d'art.

Country Manor

Think Castle Howard in "Brideshead

Country Manor shares the grand scale and chintz elements of an English country manor, but without the shabby-genteel patina of generations of use.

Large scale, however, doesn't mean cavernous and uninviting. One interior designer, for example, warmed up the large living room of an estate by painting the walls a rich red. A large bedroom can become a study in airy, dusty pinks and blues.

The key to Country Manor interiors is a certain amount of symmetry and balance. Generously proportioned upholstered couches and chairs festooned with plenty of pillows invite you to sit down. Objets d'art have a classical elegance. Personal keepsakes, such as family photos, are displayed in elegant silver frames.

The elegance of Country Manor takes a lighter tone with floral chintz and, of course, big displays of fresh flowers

Formal Country

The American interpretation of Country Manor is best called Formal Country. It's an arresting combination of the primitive and the polished.

For example, you might furnish a room with sparely elegant colonial-style furniture and accent it with folk art, pottery and baskets. The key is select decorative pieces judiciously — the artfully jumbled walls and tables filled with collectibles that were a hallmark of country rooms a few years ago need to be edited down for a fresher look.

Formal Couontry also makes it easy to integrate more contemporary elements. Hardwood floors and wood treatments have a blond finish to offset richly colored country details and folk art

Light fabrics and lace touches create an airy, refreshing atmosphere. Floral prints are paired with earthy fruit motifs. Botanical prints also fit in perfectly.

Unusual floor and wall treatments create a dramatic background for any room.

Floors, walls, windows made easy

By Sharon Williams

But when the blueprint is all too predictable, the right background can come to the rescue of an otherwise humdrum living space.

Backgrounds — the industry term referring to floor, wall and window treatments — carry a lot of clout with interior designers because of their ability to work little miracles inside a home at a price that is far less then even minor remodeling jobs.

Just by hanging or lying here and there, the right background can create a focal point, disguise a built-in blunder, help unify with a color or pattern or change a room completely and quickly — all while making it more livable.

No matter what the decorating dilemma, today's solutions resist footsteps and spills, wear and tear better than their more fragile predecessors, and in some cases, can even boost a home's energy-efficiency quotient. Acknowledging both practicality and aesthetics, today's backgrounds subtly surround homeowners with style, comfort and functionalism.

And if the old wallpaper must go, it can. Improved installation techniques allow even weekend do-it-yourselfers to change their minds about the blinds or new paint job.

Following is a look at what's new in backgrounds.

Floors

Vinyl.

Vinyl was once considered the polyester of the home-decorating industry because while it was low maintenance, it was also low on style and selection. But thanks to fresher, more sophisticated patterns in the colors consumers want the most, vinyl's unglamorous image seems to have gone the way of wax buildup.

Not only is vinyl now respected for its comfort, durability and ease of installation and maintenance, but it is also fast finding its place alongside the latest designer fabrics and wall coverings and surfacing in even traditional and upscale rooms as well as bathrooms and kitchens.

Patterns, either printed on or built into the flooring, are locked in with either a urethane or vinyl finish that provides built-in shine and easy cleanup. Available in sheets or tiles — some with cushioned backing that insulates and reduces noise — vinyl installation can be handled by both professionals and do-it-yourselfers.

Carpeting.

Today's carpets don't take abuse lying down. Strong yet silent, the newest breed of carpets offers stain-resistance, insulation, staying power — and beauty to boot.

Chemical treatments that resist stains, soil, static and wear mean homeowners no longer need be floored by domestic disasters. Rather than permanently impacting the carpet, spills ranging from wine to spaghetti or mud tracked in by the masses can be cleaned up in a flash, and no one will be the wiser.

Carpet colors, patterns and textures, meanwhile, have kept pace with the new directions in interiors. Easy-care fibers have paved the way for mainstream use of pastels, white and off-white, and luxurious, elegant textures such as velvet and saxony, where before they would have been relegated to roped-off sections of the house.

Wood.

Any homeowner can knock on wood these days, even if his home wasn't born with shiny oak planks or stately parquet squares.

Indeed, it seems good luck is with the owner of such a floor. Hardwood not only feels warm and comfortable underfoot, but also ages gracefully and offers timeless appeal that will last a lifetime.

Improved installation techniques, along with a variety of fashionable colors such as toast, winter white and spice, make hardwood a possibility for nearly every room in the house. No-wax finishes reduce maintenance to occasional vacuuming or sweeping.

Refinishing can put a shine on existing wood floors that have seen better days.

Another option is paint — either stenciled or painted on for touches of color and pattern, or brushed over the entire floor for a sleek finish that hides a multitude of sins.

Area rugs.

From Oriental to Turkish, folk to Navajo, area rugs define both space and their owners' keen sense of style.

Such rugs offer the best of two worlds — plush fabric underfoot surrounded by an ocean of gleaming tile or wood. With the increasing popularity of such hard-surface materials and today's emphasis on creating cozy, inviting living spaces, it's no wonder that area rugs are being rolled out in homes of the 1990s.

No matter what the season or century, it seems Oriental rugs always lie on top of the heap because of their uncanny ability to fit quietly and elegantly into almost any decor scheme. Also popular today are Americanstyle throw rugs straight from the heartland, stenciled floor cloths and woven creations handcrafted from natural fibers.

Tile.

Whether large or small, monochromatic or multicolored, tiles bring powerful geometry to a room.

Long-lasting, waterproof and stainresistant, tile has stepped out of the shower to join the ranks of favored floor treatments. Available in a poolful of colors, materials, sizes and patterns, tiles manage to look handcrafted and sleek all at once and are so popular that they're splashing up off the floor and onto the walls.

With patterns, one can begin with simple checkerboards and end with intricate trompe l'oeil rugs crafted from glass and porcelain. Creative types can think up their own designs or recruit a professional to put all the pieces together. For do-it-yourselfers, there are even ready-made patterns attached to adhesivebacked sheets for the easiest installations.

Walls

Paint.

Glossy and matte finishes that are easy to clean, customized colors and immediate results have paint back in the good graces of homeowners who long for the simple elegance of a freshly coated wall.

In some cases, a good paint job means more than just flawless trim and roller markfree surfaces. Stenciled borders, hand-painted murals and trompe l'oeil details and even faux marble and wooden finishes faked with a brush are climbing in popularity, giving artisans and professionals reason to don painters' caps and step up the ladder.

Texture.

With the tools of the trade sans the paint, meanwhile, you can give a wall real, touchable texture. When swirled, stroked or dabbed with a cement float, wallpaper brush or sponge, texture material can instantly and dramatically transform a plain-Jane wall.

Another option is to improvise on your home's lack of architectural embellishment with decorative cornices, dado, stock moldings or wall paneling you tack up, then stain or paint yourself.

Wallpapering "collections" center around specific themes and contain coordinating papers and borders made to be mixed and matched for instant custom design. Such collections cover everything from children's designs to quaint country motifs.

Today's wallpapers are both easy to put up and take down, and can be cleaned without a second thought. Most companies define their papers with terms such as "washable," "scrubbable," "peelable" or "strippable," so homeowners won't be hanging at the crucial

Windows

Curtains and drapes.

Scarlett was on to something when she turned to a curtain for the makings of an elegant, meant-to-impress gown.

Indeed, opulence and the well-dressed window are back in style, and home decorators are responding with curtains and drapes en masse. Pouffed or flounced, layered and tied-back or delightfully unconstructed and billowing in the wind, today's curtains can be ready-made, custom-made or homemade, depending on just how the homeowner wants to trim the sills and panes.

Fabrics range from formal florals that coordinate with bedspreads to lacy panels that offer sheer romance. Balloon shades, airy fabrics draped over poles and swag holders and well-appointed valances are just a few of the looks getting curtain calls these days.

Shades and blinds.

Taking their cue from the florals, flounces and frills so prevalent right now in draperies, shades and blinds are softer, more colorful and not above letting a little sunlight in.

Pleated shades offer soft spreads of delicate color over windows and often are crafted out of almost transparent fabrics and fibers.

Fabric-covered miniblinds and verticals now echo pattern and color found in wallpaper and upholstery, while some shutters and shades are specifically designed to be layered with draperies or curtains for a look that somehow achieves a harmonious blend of functional and cheerful excess.

Save now to buy that American dream

By Debra Lee Baldwin

Whether you're retired or recently married, single or divorced, chances are — deep in your soul — you hunger for the American Dream.

A home is both an investment and a place to live. According to real estate expert Sanford R. Goodkin, home ownership is "a form of saving and spending at the same time."

If you haven't started squirreling away funds for a down payment, begin now. You'll need a minimum of 10 percent of the home's purchase price.

Do you live in an area where real estate makes news because prices keep going up? You may have to settle for less than your ideal house. Be prepared to buy a smaller home in a less popular neighborhood.

Don't be shy when it comes to financing. Consider all the alternatives — governmentbacked loans, help from relatives, incentives offered by builders.

Spend time shopping. A home is probably the most significant investment of your lifetime. It will cost you time as well as money — as well it should.

Do your house-hunting homework. Visit a bookstore and stock up on home-buying reference material. Ask for advice from friends who have gone through the same experience.

Watch your newspaper for notices of home-buying fairs. Be sure to attend one; you'll get expert advice on how to buy in your area.

Which House?

New, existing, condo, townhouse — each has its pros and cons.

New homes reflect the latest design trends, but they tend to be in tracts and lack individuality. A new house is a blank slate that you can decorate to suit you — but you're also the one who has to persuade the builder to fix anything that doesn't work properly.

It costs a lot to put in landscaping, but, over the long run, you may find a new home is the best investment.

Existing homes tend to be in greater supply than new homes. There's a better selection in price, location and type. You'll benefit from the previous owners' improvements as well as mature flora — but you may have to repaint that ugly purple family room.

Older homes are more affordable than new, but you'll need to inspect the home carefully for hidden defects.

Condominiums and townhouses are ideal ways to break into an expensive real estate market, but they don't appreciate as rapidly as detached homes.

The landscaping and exterior maintenance is done for you, but you have to pay association fees for upkeep. You won't have much of a back yard, if any, but you'll probably have access to a pool and/or tennis courts.

Your Agent

There's an individual in your future to whom you are going to bare your soul. He or she will know your entire financial history, not to mention your cooking, cleaning and sleeping habits.

We're not referring to the therapist who will help you deal with home-buying anxiety or buyer's remorse. We're talking about your real estate agent.

Choose carefully. Once you find one you feel comfortable with, be loyal.

You'll want an agent who is familiar with the neighborhood in which you want to buy. Ask prospective agents how long they have been in business, if they sell houses full or part time, how many they sold last year and what types of homes they specialize in.

Ask, too, if he or she can give advice on financing options.

Most agents work on commission, usually six percent of the sales price of a house, which means that the agent is actually working for the seller.

When you see advertisements of houses that appeal to you, have your agent follow up. If you visit an open house, avoid confusion by leaving your agent's card

Expect to Inspect

The waiting is over! Your loan has been approved, and you and the seller have come to terms.

Hold on. Have you had the house inspected? You don't want to deal with surprises that could lead to costly repairs or legal liability.

If the law in your state requires it, the seller will have had the house inspected to uncover any conditions that may affect its value. Some lenders also require this. Still, you may want to hire a home inspector to double-check. Any necessary repairs should be included in the sales agreement.

Whether you're buying a new or used house, be prepared for the walk-through tour that takes place before you assume ownership.

"The importance of this walk-through cannot be overemphasized," says William Marchiony, author of "The New House Buyer's Guide" (Carefree Living Co.) "It is your best, and perhaps last, opportunity to examine the house in minute detail and point out defects in materials or workmanship to the builder's representative."

Arm yourself with a checklist of items to look for, room by room. If you're uncertain of your ability to spot any defects, have a building contractor attend the walk-through with you.

Escrow Woes

Paperwork....ugh! And there's plenty of it to be sorted through when it comes to buying a house.

That's where the escrow officer comes in. He or she is in charge of collecting fees and funds, seeing that documents are signed and taking care of any other red tape required to expedite the sale.

As a buyer, you're free to choose your own escrow company, but chances are you'll want to go with one recommended by your agent. Ideally, the company has pleasant, helpful officers, is conveniently located and charges competitive fees.

Sr. Citizen Discounts

When all conditions of the sale are met and the buyer and seller agree, it is the escrow officer who "closes" the sale and records it with the proper government agency.

How to finance your new condominum or home

By Debra Lee Baldwin

If you've been renting for a while, chances are the thought of owning a home of your own causes strong emotions.

Of course you want a house. It's painful to watch housing prices soar upward, like a jet that took off and left you on the ground. Not to mention the divine right of doing what you please to a piece of property.

On the other hand, saving for a down payment can mean sacrifices — and the hunt can be stressful. You're in competition for the biggest purchase of your life, and you have to act fast.

Financing your future home is the biggest hurdle, but it's not impossible.

Save, Save, Save

If your bank account is empty, don't despair. Make a commitment to begin saving.

Set a goal. Study the housing market and determine how much you'll need for a down payment. Be realistic. Chances are, you won't be able to afford a 1,800-square-foot house like the one you grew up in. Most first-time buyers start out with houses that are less than perfect. The important thing is to start.

Make a budget. Establish a special savings account for your new home and make regular deposits. Perhaps your employer offers payroll deductions for savings — it's easier to save money you never see.

Before You Shop

In a hot housing market, the process of financing your new home begins before you find it.

Before you start putting red X's next to "homes for sale" classifieds, search for the right lender. Sure, you can use a lender recommended by a real estate agent, but you could miss out on a better deal.

You might want to contact someone who has access to a wide variety of loans, such as a mortgage broker, or a direct lender, such as a commercial bank, savings and loan, or mortgage banker.

When you find a lender whose terms you can live with, fill out the paperwork necessary to prequalify for a loan. Once you know how much money you can borrow, you'll have a head start when you find the home you want to buy.

When you process the paperwork for prequalifications, be upfront about liabilities such as car payments and other outstanding debts. Otherwise, you could nullify the prequalification and let that lovely home slip through your fingers.

Know Your Terms

To compare lenders, you need to ask about more than interest rates. Here are other factors to consider.

•Qualifying ratios. How much income you need in order to qualify for the amount of the loan you want (balanced against how much debt you have).

•Conventional or governmental insured. A conventional mortgage is not FHA-insured or VA-guaranteed.

•Fixed-rate or adjustable-rate mortgage. On the first, the interest rate is constant for the entire term of the loan; on the second, it fluctuates based on a prearranged index.

•Amount of down payment. This is how much money you'll have to pay to make up the difference between the purchase price of a house and the mortgage amount.

•Payoff period. The length of time over which you'll pay off the loan, usually 30 years or 15 years.

If the above-listed terms sound foreign, perhaps even intimidating, to you, you're not alone. Most people shopping for loans need to become familiar with the vocabulary of finance.

Many lending institutions offer free booklets that detail the loan process and define terms. Be sure to ask. Another source is the real estate section of your bookstore.

Wait. There's one more thing you need to do before you visit the first house. Shop around for an escrow company. Here again, the real estate agent you work with can recommend one; the advantage of checking out a few first is to see if you're getting a fair deal on fees.

Ready, Set

Ah, finally. You've prequalified, and have a lender lined up, as well as an escrow agency. On your mark, get set, SHOP!

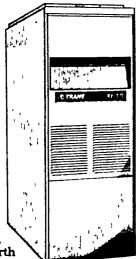

Good for you. You found a house, made an offer and haven't slept since.

Once your offer is accepted, you'll complete the financing process.

You'll fill out a formal loan application, and supply documentation that the lender will verify. The home will have to be inspected, and any problems corrected. If everything is in order, the loan processor will send the information to the lending underwriter.

The underwriter evaluates your application and decides whether the loan will be granted. The criteria needed to convince the underwriter hinges on his or her assessment of your ability to repay the loan on time — and whether or not the property is worth the cost of the investment.

Bring design to the heart of the home

Twenty-four skylights flood the kitchen and provide a casual setting for conversation

By Robin Spear

I know it doesn't happen just in my home
— the dinner party, Super Bowl gathering,
Sunday brunch with friends.

And where does everyone gather? In the kitchen, of course. And in most cases, the food is elsewhere! Sound familiar?

Though many great meals have undoubtedly been planned and carried forth from this central room in your home, kitchens also provide a casual setting for stimulating conversation, future planning, relaxation and laughter.

The kitchen long ago outgrew its original purpose (cooking and eating, in case you forgot) and is now the heart of the home.

In many cases the kitchen has not always accommodated our gatherings and entertaining. But according to Joseph Ruggiero, editor-in-chief for Home magazine, Americans in the '90s are ready to make changes.

"Time and energy that was spent in the last decade on outside activities are now concentrated on remodeling, redecorating, refurnishing and otherwise redoing the home."

And some of the most exciting changes in function and design are taking place in the kitchen. Take a look.

Since chances are good they'll convene in the kitchen area, give your family and friends an environment they'll enjoy. If space permits, set up a sofa or love seat for guests and family members to lounge in, and have entertainment at hand, such as a television set or stereo system.

decor by replacing traditional cabinetry with a custom touch. You might want to replace some built-in cabinetry with pieces that can be moved around.

Finally, think about the hardware in your kitchen — drawer handles, faucets and the like. Find accents that pick up on themes and show off your personality — without sacrificing function.

Shaker-style and European country kitchens are the current favorites, offering simple sophistication and distinct architectural and decorative points of view. Natural wood, clean lines, an uncluttered look and a touch of grandma's house help make this approach inviting and comfortable — and can help make cutting up in the kitchen much more enjoyable.

The recent environmental movement has eased its way into our homes as well. Kitchens fuse earthy materials with a new twist: white oak, bleached maple and other clear-stained or lightened woods revealing natural grain will prevail, and juxtaposed against this natural setting will be gleaming countertops and tabletops of black or speckled granite and composite marble, ceramic tile in earthy patterns or other new stonelike materials.

Soothing colors and warm patterns also are in, along with the traditional country red and blue tiny checks.

You might consider covering your dining

Other windows have vinyl-clad exteriors that expand, contract, and can eventually crack. Pella's sturdier aluminum cladding has 3 coats of Permacoat™ finish.

Other windows give you nothing but air between the panes of glass. Pella can fill the space with dustfree Slimshade* blinds or pleated shades.

Other insulated windows give you fixed glass panes that can, over time, fog permanently. Pella's interior glass panel is removable, for easy cleaning.

Other wood windows use phony plastic windowpane dividers. Pella gives you the warmth of real wood.

Most windows give you 3/8" space between glass panels. Only Pella gives the option of 13/16," for greater insulation.

Other windows use lapped sections of weather stripping. Only Pella's Double Glazing Panel system seals up to 8 times better than the industry standard, with one bonded, continuous strip between glass and sash.

The bathroom of the 90s becomes a private retreat

a pantry out of a simple cupboard by adding storage units specially made for tight places. Closet Maid and Rubbermaid specialize in home-storage systems and often will work with you in designing a system that helps meet your specific needs.

Kitchens aren't the only room in the house enjoying a '90s revolution. The bathroom — especially the master bathroom — is no longer meant to be the most basic, smallest room in the house. It has evolved into a spacious, private retreat, with all the comfortable and luxurious accoutrements of a mini spa. We spend much of our time in the bathroom making ourselves beautiful — why not begin with a beautiful bathroom?

Bathrooms of the '90s will house deeper soaking tubs with whirlpool functions, radios, telephones, stereos and exercise equipment, replacing the gym and spa as centers for recharging the body and soul. You'll exit this room a new person.

Look for built-in benches, slip-resistant materials, grab bars that double as towel holders and special mixing valves that prevent scalding and loss of water pressure to help add pleasure and safety to the shower routine. Young or old, healthy or handicapped, exiting the shower cleansed and unharmed is a priority.

Like kitchen designs, an earthy medley of stones and woods will give bathrooms a warm yet provocative setting. Textured designs will complement a less-polished, raw beauty on the walls and floors. Light, earth-tone Berber carpeting in bathrooms proves functional and will not rob a bathroom of its theme.

It's time to depart from the classic white or stainless fixtures. Towel bars, drawer handles, sinks, faucets and the like will all benefit from a '90s crafty touch. Experiment a little with grays and pastels — or, if you're on the adventurous side, jump into the "high-fashion" colors such as crimson, navy and black. Let your bathroom make a statement every time you walk into it

Tile is an especially pleasing touch to any bathroom; aqua and white will give a clean, refreshing look, while other colors can be used as enhancers — or to carry an entire theme.

So enhance your standard of living where it counts most and where you spend your time. Crafty kitchens and beautiful bathrooms are indeed the heart of the home, and they deserve your attention.

Tools for readers

at all

By Debra Lee Baldwin

If you consider reading to be the most noble of leisure pursuits, we have a treat for you.

"Levenger Tools for Serious Readers" is a slender mail-order catalog of products that promise to pamper bibliophiles and to do it in style.

The company stocks high-design halogen reading lamps, including the Tizio and the Dove (both found in art museums), in addition to favorites such as the Feather and the Berenice. This last is described as "the Ferrari of reading lights. One could argue that the perfect light fixture would be no fixture at all, just light. Berenice comes closer than any other fixture to achieving this ideal."

•Bedside lights. The brass Agusti: "complete control of light offered by its flexible design."

•Table lamps. The Sunnex is a gooseneck topped by a narrow beam of bright light; the Swing is "the finest low-voltage halogen light we've found for under $100"; the Luxo Classic architect's light is "still the most flexible fixture using the traditional incandescent bulb."

•Bookstands. The Queen Anne Dictionary Stand is "an elegant piece of library furniture"; a stand specially designed for Levenger supports and open dictionary and has shelves tall enough for large books.

Other items worthy of note include halogen and hand-held magnifiers, bookstands, halogen torchers, bookends, bookweights and swing-arm floor lamps.

To request a catalog, contact Levenger at 975 S. Congress Ave., Delray Beach, Fla., 33445-4628; (407) 276-4141.

How to make your home secure

By Debra Lee Baldwin

Unless you're a 410-pound sumo wrestler whose hobby is raising Dobermans, chances are you sometimes worry about home security.

Particularly if you're often alone at night, your house is somewhat isolated, you travel frequently or you have valuable family heirlooms to protect.

You can have your house wired by a professional security company, who will then monitor your home. This is an expensive way to obtain peace of mind, however, reporting systems cost upward of $2,000 and charge monthly fees.

There are many things you can do to protect your home on a smaller, less expensive scale.

"Burglary is one of the most frequently committed crimes," says the California Crime Prevention Center, "but it is also one of the most preventable."

The following products will make your house less vulnerable to criminals — by scaring them out or by concealing your valuables. Many of these ingenious devices are activated by sound, motion or heat.

Noise and Light

Loud noises and bright lights are helpful deterrents to crime; the last thing a criminal wants to be is the center of attention.

One clever key-chain device works like a garage door opener. It's great for people who return home from work after dark; you push a button and it turns on a light inside your house. And it works up to 50 feet away.

A similar device is a

2,500 squa for 10 mins Alarm so Button and it turns on a light inside your house. And it

A similar device is a "sound switch" that turns on a light in your home when it detects a noise. You can set the lights-on interval for as little as five seconds or as long as 10 minutes.

Several sound alrams are designed to hang on door-knobs; they make a loud noise if the door is opened. Wedge-shaped doorstop alarms are similar, as are sliding door barriers that emit an 85-decibel warning.

Driveway Alert System is a motion sensor that lets you know if anyone is approaching your house. It detects the heat and motion of approaching visitors up to 40 feet away and sends a signal to a receiver inside the house, which activates a four-second buzzer. You can plug the receiver into any household outlet.

It looks like a radio, but Soundscan analyzes noises in your home and detects those that sound like forced entry (breaking glass and splintering wood). It monitors up to 2,500 square feet and wails when activated for 10 minutes.

Alarm screens look like high-quality fiberglass window screens, but once you plug them in, they activate an alarm when tampered with from outside.

One outdoor light is solar-powered as well as motion-sensitive. You can install it without any electrical hookup; it stores energy from the sun and turns a bright light on any moving object that comes within 75 feet of it at night. The light lasts for three minutes or as long as there is movement in the area.

Locks and Hiding Places

Keyless locks eliminate the worry of losing your keys and are impossible to pick (you may have seen these on late-model cars). They have a calculator-like keypad; you punch in your code number when you want to unlock your home's front door. It's easy to change the code, too, if necessary.

When in doubt, outwit the criminal. Put a key in a phony rock outside your front door, or hide your Rolex in a fake can of shaving lotion in the bathroom (from Brookstone).

Or put a warning sticker or sign from a security company on your house (without subscribing to the service). If that seems too obvious, the Sharper Image sells a counterfeit home security control panel "that even fools alarm installers."

Another clever hiding place for valuables is inside a hollowed-out book. A book safe costs about $20 and can store cash, jewelry and other small items.

Insurance Hints

•Basic coverage includes damage from fire, explosion, smoke, vandalism and lightning. Depending on where you live, you might also want special coverage, such as earthquake or hurricane insurance.

•Renters need insurance to cover damage to furniture and other personal items. A landlord's insurance only covers damage to the building itself.

Deciding on new window and wall treatments, floor or bed coverings isn't easy Deciding where to get help SHOULD be.
