Driver not at fault in death

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Prosecutors have declined to seek charges against the driver of a vehicle that struck and killed a Northville boy Dec. 11.

"The warrant was denied (and) the case against the driver is closed," Northville Township Police Chief Chip Snider said Thursday.

Snider said prosecutors determined that the driver of the vehicle which struck Michael Charles Calleja, 10, 42640 Swan Lake Drive, was not at fault. According to police investigations and witness statements, Calleja ran in front of two westbound vehicles, a Ford Taurus driven by an Oak Park woman and an Oldsmobile driven by a 73-year-old Northville man.

The driver of the Taurus narrowly missed Calleja. The boy was struck by the Oldsmobile and was knocked into the curb near the Seven Mile/Swan Lake Drive intersection.

Calleja, a fourth-grade student at Silver Springs Elementary School, died from massive head and internal injuries Dec. 12 at University of Michigan Medical Center in Ann Arbor.

Snider said the police department routinely submits investigative findings of fatal accidents to prosecutors, even in cases where it appears the driver is not at fault. The police review in this case was little more than a formality, he said.

"We submitted our investigative review and they looked it over and made a determination," he said.

Christmas spirit aids an area boy

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Calling Dr. Roger. Please report to your adoring public.

Novi and Northville citizens proved they have a lot of heart this holiday season by coming to the aid of a 3-year-old Novi boy scheduled to undergo open heart reconstructive surgery Jan. 23.

Roger Umble's parents, who nicknamed their son "Dr. Roger" because of his fondness for stethoscopes, have received dozens of calls from residents offering to give the gift of life by donating blood to the boy's operation or to area blood banks in general. The family was seeking at least 10 donors for the operation, but his mother Kathy said last week, "I have over 21 volunteers already."

Roger's picture and story graced the front page of the Novi News Dec. 13, and the young boy was thrilled to see his picture in a newspaper box as the family drove by that day. As Kathy recalled, "He just kept saying, 'That's me!'"

Kathy said the response to the article, which also ran in The Northville Record and the South Lyon Herald, "was much more than I ever expected."

The mother received five calls the first night alone, and since then has received dozens more. "It even renewed old acquaintances," she said, explaining that an old friend who had lost touch with the family called her after reading the story.

Employees of a Novi bank decided to come to Roger's aid with a little financial assistance. Linda Mammel and Ann Jacobs at National Bank of Detroit took up a collection for Roger at their office in lieu of the traditional exchange of gifts. The office raised at least $200, which will help defray the Umble's $350 bill for storing blood for Roger's operation.

Many of those who called to donate blood agreed to make a general donation to the local American Red Cross blood bank instead, Kathy said. Blood banks typically run low during the holidays, when holiday-related accidents increase the need for blood.

The local American Red Cross office is located in Livonia at 29691 W. Six Mile Road, in Suite 100 C of the Bell Creek Office Plaza. Office hours are 2-7:45 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Thursday, 10 a.m.-3:45 p.m. Tuesday and Friday, and 9 a.m.-1:45 p.m. Saturday.

Appointments can be made by calling the Livonia Red Cross office at 494-2856, or by calling 1-800-552-5466.

Songs of the season

The Northville Public Library burst into song last weekend for a family holiday concert. Lori Cleland (above), Dottie Decker, and Cecelia Webster (right) led everyone in many seasonal favorites, including "Away in a Manger," "Frosty the Snowman," "Jingle Bells," "O Hanukah," and many more.

Friend, can you spare a piano?

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

You can't tickle the ivories if you don't have any ivories to tickle.

That's the dilemma facing Northville Public Library Director Pat Orr, who hopes a music- and book-loving benefactor will appear and donate a piano to the library.

Orr said the community library is in the market for an upright piano "in reasonably good condition." The piano would augment library services by adding the sound of music to the written and spoken word.

"The purpose is to help us expand our programming abilities," Orr said. "It's to help us improve our services."

Orr is asking for a piano as a "permanent donation." And she would like to locate one soon.

A Jan. 31 recital is at the top of a list of piano uses, Orr said.

"Our Young Adults Services librarian is planning a program to highlight student musicians in Northville," she said. "It's open to Northville students or students that go to other schools but live in the Northville community."

"We'd like to have the piano so we could have it tuned and set up prior to that program," she said.

Funds are not available for the library to purchase a piano, but a gift would be put to good and frequent use, she said.

Orr said projects such as children's summer reading programs also could use the piano as an accompaniment and teaching tool.

Potential donors may be able to use a gift as a tax deduction, Orr said. She asks anyone interested in donating a piano to contact the library at 349-3020.

A library representative will be happy to inspect pianos for suitability, Orr said. The library will also move a donated instrument, she said.

Library space constraints are not considered a hindrance as far as a piano is concerned, she said.

"We're going to find a place for it somewhere," she said. "One of my librarians said she would use it as a desk if she had to."

FRIENDS OR RELATIVES IN SAUDI ARABIA? The Northville Record would love to hear about anyone with local ties who has been deployed as a part of "Operation Desert Shield," the U.S. military force in Saudi Arabia.

We hope to collect basic biographical information and a picture of our local service people, and run them on a special page in the near future. The page will include information on how to send mail to the service people.

If you know of anyone serving in Saudi Arabia, please call the office at 349-1700. Ask for Cristina Ferrier or Bob Needham.

In the same issue, two names were incorrect. The tuba player on page 12-A should have been identified as Nate Connell. "PTA News" for Meads Mill Middle School listed an incorrect name for a winner of the "America and Me" essay contest; Nikki Ebel was a winner.

DEADLINES SHIFT: Due to the holidays, The Northville Record will be delivered on Friday instead of Thursday the next two weeks. Papers will be delivered on Friday, Dec. 28 and Friday, Jan. 4.

Social hour will begin at 11 a.m.; luncheon is at noon, with the program thereafter. Anyone from Northville, past or present, who will be in Florida at that time, is invited to come and bring spouse and friends. PARKING PERMIT RENEWALS: Northville city residents who park overnight on city streets or in city parking lots must renew their overnight parking permits before Jan. 1, 1991. The $5 yearly permits exempt residents from the city-wide ordinance that prohibits parking on city streets or lots between 2:30-7 p.m. The permits can be renewed at Northville City Hall, 215 W. Main St., and are available now.

EMPLOYMENT SKILLS: Growth Works, a non-profit community organization based in Plymouth, is holding a series of employment skills workshops.

The next workshop is scheduled for 9 a.m. to noon Friday, Feb. 1 at the Growth Works building, 271 Main St. in Plymouth. Cost is $15. To register or for more information, call 455-4093.

Chamber Director Laurie Marrs said the festival may include a setup where people can have their picture taken in the old photographic style in Victorian costume. She asked that anyone who knows of a photographer able to do this type of work call the chamber office at 349-7640.

MUSTANG UPDATE: Novi had all the advantages — playing at home in its fourth outing of the season — but it was the Northville volleyballers who claimed a 15-6, 15-5 victory over the 'Cats in what was the Mustangs' season opener on Dec. 17.

"The girls were pleased and so was I," Northville Coach Paul Osborn said. "(Novi) always starts earlier than we do, so that puts us in a hole. We had some movement problems but we haven't even scrimmaged yet, so overall, we did real well for an opener."

The Mustangs won both games convincingly, but struggled a bit more in the nightcap.

"Some of our problems, particularly the transition from offense to defense, were more evident in the second game," Osborn said.

In the opening game, the Wildcats actually led 1-0, but Northville reeled off five straight points. By the end of the first rotation, the lead had swelled to 12-1.

Novi narrowed the gap to 12-6 but the Mustangs ended it with another flurry — the final two points coming off Stacy Nyland's serve.

In game two, Northville's Beth Ussel served her way to four quick points, but the Wildcats tied it to 4-2 after one rotation and cut it soon after that. The Mustangs regained control when Marcie Dart reeled off six points, and then ended it by scoring five of the game's final six points.

State board applauds 'schools of choice'

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

The State Board of Education will promote "schools of choice" between public school districts as well as within them.

The eight-member board said it will ask the Michigan Legislature to provide incentive funds for pilot programs. The board itself vowed last week to give technical assistance to districts wishing to develop choice programs.

Last Wednesday's vote was unanimous although lame-duck Democrat Rollie Hoppgood of Taylor clearly had reservations. "The Legislature should make equity happen before it makes choice happen," said Hoppgood.

Noting that some of the state's 560 school districts spend as little as $2,500 per pupil while others spend $8,000-plus, Hoppgood fears students will abandon poor districts and flock to rich ones.

"I don't see them (legislators) making any strides on equity," said Barbara Roberts Mason, a Lansing Democrat. "At the same time, I see students who could benefit from choice."

Under "schools of choice," parents may choose to enroll their children in any school.

The idea is favored, by businesspeople in particular, as a method of breaking the monopoly of the neighborhood public school and forcing schools to compete in the marketplace for students.

The plan was pioneered in New York City's District 4, Spanish Harlem, where administrator Sy Flegel credits it with raising junior high student performance dramatically. Some schools even developed specialties such as science and the performing arts.

Minnesota adopted it gradually beginning in 1987, made it mandator-ory in 1989 for districts with more than 1,000 students, and implemented it statewide last fall.

The state House of Representatives in February rejected, 81-36, a voluntary intra-district schools of choice plan. Politically, at this point, the prospect of an inter-district choice bill appears even dimmer. And with state revenues falling, the prospects of finding money for pilot programs is dimmer yet.

Hoppgood, an American Federation of Teachers staff member, lost an amendment that would put funding equity ahead of schools of choice.

"Rollie, you are the father of this goal. I applaud your passion," said Barbara Dumouchelle, a Republican from Grosse Ile. "But this (choice) may be the opportunity for students to seek the equity that politics have denied them. They would be voting with their feet," she said.

Hoppgood had another fear: "Are schools of choice going to be ways to recruit good football teams?"

"They could," said Donald L. Bemis, superintendent of public instruction.

The board's resolution said state-funded pilot programs are needed to work out problems of program planning, the role of parents, pupil transportation, minority balance, counseling, building decision-making, and co-curricular activities, including athletics.

"Choice" was just one of the goals set by the State Board, which adopted its first set of "common goals" in 1971. Among others:

- Funding equity for students and more equitable tax loads between districts.
- A 90 percent high school graduation rate by the year 2000, including mandatory school attendance to age 18.
- Comprehensive statewide reform of math and science education.
- Strengthening of teacher and administrator preparation.

Local district blasts state proposal

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

Schools of choice might sound like a good idea to the state Board of Education, but Northville Superintendent George Bell thinks the idea will not do anything to help end inequities in education.

"This is an overly simplistic answer to a complicated problem," Bell said.

Not so, said Northville resident and Citizens for a Better Northville member Jeff Hampton.

"I have been eagerly anticipating that development," Hampton said. "I couldn't be more pleased."

Bell said open-market theories can not successfully be applied to education as they would to commerce.

But it's competition in an open market that could make schools efficient, Hampton said.

"Once the public schools have to start competing they will get efficient."

"If you take a look at what private schools are doing. They are operating at one-half to three-fourths of what it's costing public schools to do it."

"They're terrified of having to compete with private schools. They realize they'd be losing kids in droves."

Northville's tax base and its supportive community would make Northville schools desirable for parents in poorer, less technologically advanced districts, Bell said.

If a student from another district transferred to Northville bringing his or her local school operating tax

"That's where my choice comes in. I made the choice to move to Northville so my kid would have a good education."

George Bell
Northville Superintendent

dollars, then that money would, in many cases, not be as great as the amount spent per student in Northville, Bell said.

Northville residents would be subsidizing the education of students from other areas, he said.

And the additional money spent by Northville residents on special bond and millage elections for schools would provide a further subsidy for non-resident students, he said.

Parents already have choice in deciding where they will live, he said.

"That's where my choice comes in. I made the choice to move to Northville so my kid would have a good education."

But Hampton expects the state to set up a voucher system that would provide a specific dollar amount per student from the state. Extra costs incurred by technologically advanced districts would be passed on in the form of tuition. School millage elections would become a thing of the past. If tuition became too high for parents to afford, the school would have to become more efficient and lower its rates, Hampton said.

Inequities in education would only be worsened by allowing parents to choose a school for their children, Bell said.

"One of the predictors of a good school district is a high level of parental involvement," he said.

"A parent who is not involved, whose kid is not succeeding, will probably say 'my kid can stay, a school is a school.'"

"So, what we're going to do is increase the gap. We're not going to close the bad schools."

And increased populations at good schools would cause popular districts to hire the best, most experienced teachers away from schools that were losing students, leaving bad schools with the least experienced teachers, Bell said.

Hampton disagreed. "This thing that the poor people are going to get socked is a red herring," Hampton said. "In the end it's really going to be the poor people that benefit."

"The places where choice has been implemented have been places that have been just decimated, New York, New Jersey and now they're thinking about using it in Detroit."

"If it was going to hurt poor people, they wouldn't be using it in poor areas." Schools of choice within a school district could work, and in fact, is available for parents in Northville, Bell said.

"The reason that it's not a problem for us is our neighborhoods are fairly consistent. Our achievement in all of our levels is fairly consistent. The educational levels of our parents are consistent," Bell said.

"But given a school district where that consistency does not exist it becomes much more complicated."

Bell would like to see Gov.-elect John Engler address inadequate school funding, not education reforms that bring no new funding to schools, Bell said.

"If Gov. Engler says he's going to be the education governor then his first priority is going to have to be adequate funding for education," Bell said.

"I don't believe schools of choice is the answer to restructuring education."

"It's a band-aid approach by the reformists, if you will, to try to do the job without putting the money into it. They're addressing the wrong problem. Address the inequity."

Hampton said the ability to choose a schools would be a step in the right direction in education reform.

"The people against choice are those afraid of choice," Hampton said.

"The schools that aren't good, they would go out of business. The schools that are good would expand. It's competition at its best."

Survey says Walled Lake schools improved image

A slight majority of Walled Lake School District citizens believe the district has made strides in improving its image, a new poll shows.

Citing better teachers, higher student achievement test scores and an improved curriculum, among other improvements, citizens gave the district high marks in a survey by Project Outreach, the opinion research arm of the Michigan Board of Education.

Fifty-two percent said the district's image is improving, compared to 32 percent who believe it is staying the same. Only 6 percent said the image is declining, while 9 percent didn't know.

"I was favorably impressed with the survey," said school board President Esther McInnis. "I really think it confirmed the fact that we're on the move to bigger and better things."

The survey, conducted in late September and October, was based on telephone interviews with nearly 400 citizens in the nine communities, including West Bloomfield, that the district serves. Project Outreach designed the survey and analyzed the findings. Local volunteers made the telephone calls.

The survey strongly indicated that Walled Lake district residents believe their schools are better than, or at least as good as, other schools in Oakland County.

Forty percent said Walled Lake schools are better than other county schools, while 39 percent said they are about the same. Only 6 percent believe the local schools are worse; others are undecided.

When asked to assign the district a letter grade, two-thirds of those polled gave it an "A" or "B." None gave it a failing mark.

Thirteen percent said the school system deserved an "A," while 53 percent gave it a "B." Fourteen percent assigned it a "C" grade, and 1 percent gave it a "D." Twenty percent couldn't decide.

Most citizens appeared to have at least some degree of confidence in the elected school board members and the school district's administration.

Seventeen percent said they have a "great deal" of confidence in the school board, while 52 percent said they had "some" confidence in the board. Five percent had "very little" confidence, 3 percent had "no" confidence, and 22 percent couldn't decide.

The numbers were similar for the district's school administration. Twenty-two percent had a great deal of confidence in administrators; 51 percent had some; 5 percent had very little; 2 percent had none, and 20 percent couldn't decide.

While only 4 percent of those polled said the district does an "excellent" job of managing its money, 39 percent said it does a "good" job. Twenty-five percent believed the district does a "fair" job, while 6 percent said it does a "poor" job and 25 percent couldn't decide.

Walled Lake teachers drew much support in the survey, which found that 61 percent of respondents are very satisfied with teachers. Thirty-seven percent are somewhat satisfied, and 2 percent are somewhat dissatisfied. None said they are very dissatisfied. When asked to identify the one thing that the district could do to further improve, 9 percent called for stricter discipline and 8 percent suggested curriculum changes. Those were the top concerns.

Cathy Ringenberg Stout, president of the Walled Lake Parent-Teacher-Student Association Council, said the survey results came as no surprise to her.

Assault charged at track

A 38-year-old Southfield man was charged with disorderly conduct and assaulting a police officer at Northville Downs Dec. 20.

The man reportedly made loud derogatory remarks about a female racetrack employee in front of a Northville City police officer that night. When a crowd started to gather, the officer asked the man to step into the police office at the track. The man refused, walking quickly away from the office. When another officer told the man to stop and put his hand on the man's shoulder, the man reportedly swore at him and threw his arm back, hitting the officer in the chest. The man was arrested, charged, and released on $100 bond.

DRUNKEN DRIVING ARREST: A 31-year-old Northville woman was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol Dec. 20. City police stopped the woman on Edward Hines Drive at Seven Mile Road after seeing her nearly hit another car. She was unable to stand without support, according to the police report. Her blood alcohol level was measured at .24 percent, more than twice the legal limit. She was arrested and released on $100 bond.

PRESCRIPTION STOLEN: A Banbury Court resident told Northville Township police that a former girlfriend stole prescription tranquilizers from his home at approximately 3 a.m. Dec. 13.

LARCENY FROM VEHICLE: A radar detector, snow skis and a ski jacket and pants reportedly were stolen from a 1986 Ford Ranger parked on Cameron Court late Dec. 12 or early Dec. 13, Northville Township police said.

The owner told police someone smashed the vehicle's driver side window to gain entry. The stolen items were valued at $1,150 and damage was estimated at $250, police said.

MAILBOX STOLEN: A Scenic Harbor resident reported that someone stole his mailbox sometime between 7 p.m. Dec. 12 and 7 p.m. Dec. 13, police said. The mailbox was valued at $45.

LARCENY FROM MEIJER: A 24-year-old Westland man was charged with larceny in a building after attempting to steal an AM/FM cassette player from Meijer, 20401 Haggerty, Dec. 14, according to Northville Township police records.

OUIL: A 21-year-old Northville man was arrested by township police Dec. 15 and charged with operating a vehicle under the influence of alcohol. Police made the arrest near the Five Mile/Sheldon intersection.

VEHICLE DAMAGED: A 1987 Monte Carlo parked on Northville Road south of Seven Mile was damaged when someone kicked and dented the vehicle Dec. 16 between 1-9 a.m., township police said.

FENDER BENDER: A 34-year-old South Lyon man was cited for failure to use due care and caution after striking a parked car Dec. 20. The man struck a car on Wing Street north of Main while trying to park his own car, according to Northville City police reports.

NAME GAME: A Detroit man and a Mississippi man were charged with providing false information to State Police Dec. 13.

The men were stopped by State Police on I-96, east of Novi Road in Novi. The driver of the car was arrested after police discovered an outstanding warrant for his arrest in Madison Heights.

After transporting the 37-year-old driver, of Detroit, back to the Northville State Police Post, Madison Heights Police picked him up. Fingerprint records indicated that the man had falsely identified himself and Madison Heights Police then released him, according to State Police reports.

Both the driver and the 45-year-old Mississippi passenger were then charged with providing false information to police, reports said.

CONCEALED WEAPON: State police arrested two Lansing men after a traffic stop on M-102 in Farmington Hills, and cited them for carrying a concealed weapon and transporting open intoxicants, reports said.

Troopers first observed the men traveling on M-102 in Novi at 70 miles per hour where the posted speed limit was 65. Troopers reported that they observed the men apparently putting items underneath their seats.

After stopping the men in Farmington Hills, the troopers reportedly discovered an open bottle of beer and .38 caliber semi-automatic pistol. Both the beer and the gun were seized and the men arrested.

LARCENY REPORTED: Property was reported stolen from a locker at Vic Tanny in Novi Dec. 13, but it was found by a Vic Tanny employee in another locker several days later.

The man who reported the property missing told police that he and a locker room attendant had checked the entire locker room for his missing property, which included stock certificates, clothing and assorted personal business equipment.

The property was found in a locker at the club Dec. 16 and was returned to the owner.

AUTO KEYED: The owner of a 1990 Ford Tempo reported Dec. 18 that the entire right side of her vehicle had been "keyed" sometime in the last 30 days. She said she feels it was done at Twelve Oaks Mall.

STOLEN PURSE: An employee at Red Lobster in Novi reported Dec. 18 that her purse had been stolen from the restaurant coatroom. It was found later at TJ Maxx in Novi Town Center, minus cash and credit cards.

She told Novi police she had placed the purse, which contained cash, credit cards, various identification, keys and makeup, in the coatroom at 4 p.m. when she began work. However, when she returned to the coatroom after work, she said, her purse was gone.

The purse was found at approximately 10 p.m. in the TJ Maxx parking lot with the cash and credit cards missing and returned to Novi Police.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234, Northville Township Police at 349-9400, or the Novi Police Tip Line at 349-6887.

MONDAY BUSINESS

Give it a whirl Whirly Ball is a hit with players

If you like basketball, hockey, polo and jai-alai, but your idea of a strenuous workout is driving an electric bumper car, your sport has arrived.

It's whirly ball. It's in West Bloomfield. It's drawing crowds from as far away as Troy, Southfield, Birmingham, Detroit and Mount Clemens.

And it works like this. Two teams of five members each climb into red and yellow bumper cars parked on opposite ends of an 80- by 50-foot indoor court. They look at each other nervously.

In their hands they hold plastic whirly ball scoops that they will use to try to retrieve a plastic ball that referee Tom Benevides is about to toss out from a balcony above.

The agony of waiting. Suddenly a buzzer sounds, Benevides throws the ball, and 10 bumper cars move at maddening speeds of 6 mph toward center court. A red team member scoops up the ball, avoiding the urge to touch it with his hands.

That would be a penalty. Red team members toss the plastic ball back and forth as they head down the court toward a red backboard that has a hole and a net in its center. The aim is to hit the net and score 2 points.

Sounds easy. It's not.

The yellow team gets the rebound, and the bumper cars, crashing into one another, begin the cross-court journey to the yellow backboard.

"The big zero," Benevides yells into a microphone as a yellow team member misses the goal.

And so it went Thursday night as workers from Blue Cross-Blue Shield paid $120 an hour to rent a whirly ball court at the new Whirly Ball West on Drake Road, south of Walnut Lake, in West Bloomfield.

That seems expensive, but not when you have 20 or so players chipping in.

Teams can score in two ways — by making shots or acquiring penalty points assessed against the opposing team for such infractions as goal-tending or causing collisions at excessive speeds.

Teams can cause turnovers for various reasons, such as when a team member fails to pass the ball within 20 seconds or when the team doesn't shoot within 30 seconds.

There are even technicals. Don't harass the referee or you lose 2 points; a second offense shaves 4 points from the score.

"This is just great, great fun," said Himanshu Desai of Orchard Lake, who played Thursday for the first time. "You get to enjoy the teamwork, and it also gets rid of your aggressions. But it takes time to get the hang of it."

Cheryl Kavanagh of Troy had played four times before. "It's a lot of fun," she said. "They should open a lot more of these for entertainment."

Richard Porhola, a 35-year-old businessman from Royal Oak, sought a franchise from the Las Vegas-based Whirly Ball International and leased two tennis courts at the Centaur Racket Club, transforming them into the first whirly ball courts in Oakland County.

Centaur's owners had found that they could fill only six of their eight tennis courts.

Porhola had opened the first whirly ball club in Michigan five years ago in Mount Clemens. He'd heard about the sport from his brother, Stanley, of Alaska, where the 10-year-old game had already caught on.

Whirly Ball gives new meaning to "crashing the boards"

Two years ago, Porhola sold a franchise in Ann Arbor. West Bloomfield seemed like the next logical spot for a club; people from this area were going to the other clubs to play.

"It's an all-around sport that men and women can play competitively," Porhola said. "The bumper cars make them equal."

Most whirly ball games are played in 18 minutes, and the clock never stops. Porhola requires a minimum one-hour reservation, though some groups rent the courts for as many as four hours.

People 10 years or older may play, but most of the participants are adults. Many organize company games in which the competition may pit managers against hourly workers.

"These people get pretty serious about it," said Benevides, a former Florida resident who also worked at a whirly ball center there. He's seen some Florida leagues play hour-long games in which the scores topped 100 points. As local enthusiasts improve at the game, he hopes that leagues will spring up here.

Porhola, with several business partners, spent between $300,000 and $400,000 to start the twin courts at Whirly Ball West, where games may be played from 9 a.m. to 4 a.m., seven days a week, by making reservations.

Thus far, only 18 whirly ball centers have sprung up in the United States, said Porhola, who's proud he's behind the three franchises in Michigan.

"Out of 18 in the nation, I've got three," he said. "What the hell, I'm having fun."

Monte Nagler displays some of his works, now being sold in his gallery at the Novi Town Center

Photog offers his works

Monte Nagler takes his cues from the great ones.

A well-known photo artist from Farmington, Nagler recently opened his own shop in the Novi Town Center to both sell and display his work. His store, adjacent to the F & M store, is open daily from 3-9 p.m.

Nagler began photographing seriously after studying with the great Ansel Adams.

"It was during that period of intensive work that I realized that making photographs is a way to experience beauty instead of just looking at it," Nagler says.

Nagler's photographs, which have won numerous awards, are found in many private and public collections including the Detroit Institute of Arts, the Center for Creative Photography in Tucson, The Brooklyn Museum, Nikon International, Ford Motor Co. and IBM. His photographs are represented in galleries from coast to coast.

Nagler's photographs are large in size and scope, and technically show meticulous care and attention. All images are printed and mounted to exacting archival standards. Yet Nagler is quick to point out that technique is clearly second to content.

"Cameras don't make photographs — people do!" he says. "Photographers should communicate feelings that are inside them. Through the photographs, a photographer should be saying, 'This is what I say and felt, and I'd like to share that.'"

Nagler's love of photography has extended to teaching and writing. He instructs all photography classes at the Birmingham Community House and the Farmington Community Center, and conducts seminars for Cranbrook P.M. He also writes the photography column for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

Coffee is some folks' cup of tea

By RICK BYRNE
Copy Editor

For most holiday hosts, coffee is little more than a way to signal guests that it's time to get ready to leave.

The more savvy among us, however, know that coffee can make or break a holiday feast. That's where the Coffee Beanery comes in. The store in the Twelve Oaks Mall offers gourmet coffees for all occasions.

JoAnne Shaw, founder of the chain which is based in Flushing, Mich., says gourmet coffee adds a great finishing touch to a holiday meal, and goes great with holiday cookies, cakes and pies.

"Coffee is really a wonderful beverage this time of year," says Shaw. "After Thanksgiving or Christmas dinner, anytime people get together around the holidays."

She also points out that the Coffee Beanery has several gift sets available, combining several delicious flavors in one package. The packages come in several sizes and prices, most under $25.

"It makes a wonderful gift," Shaw says. "It's generic, too, so it's good for a man or a woman."

"Something special we have is the Estate Gold blend, a pound of coffee in a black velvet bag. It's an elegant gift, and a wonderful hostess gift."

For someone who can't live without his or her java, walking into the marble, brass and hardwood interior of the Coffee Beanery is like a chocolate walking into Godiva's.

The store has over 50 varieties of coffee beans from around the world. The names of them alone spark romantic notions of cold fingers around a warm mug in front of a blazing hearth: Swiss Chocolate Almond, Jamaican Blue Mountain and Costa Rican La Minita.

Jim Howe (r), manager at the Coffee Beanery, helps Pat Tomasek serve up an attractive hot chocolate with whipped cream

For those who like to experiment, there are such flavors as Vanilla Nut Cream, Chocolate Raspberry, the new Mocha Cinnamon Swirl or liqueur-flavored coffees such as Irish Cream — which contains no alcohol, no sugar and, best of all, no calories.

If you're still looking for a holiday dessert, why not try one you can drink? The Coffee Beanery sells the findings for its own trademarked Hot Spiced Viennese, a combination of freshly-brewed Beany Blend, a special liquid chocolate, and the Beanery's secret recipe spice mix. Top it off with real whipped cream, and you've got an impressive finish to a meal.

And if you're not sure if the Hot Spiced Viennese is right for you, you can try one right in the store.

Shaw, a coffee lover herself, got the idea for the Coffee Beanery about 15 years ago, when she and her husband were running their own office coffee supply company.

"I kept hearing people say they didn't like coffee," she says. "I had the strong feeling that they just weren't trying good quality coffee. From that bloomed the idea of a gourmet coffee store."

The first store opened in Dearborn in 1976, and the Twelve Oaks location was the third in the chain in 1978. In addition to wholly-owned stores, the Coffee Beanery now offers franchises.

The Twelve Oaks store remains one of the busiest, doing half a million dollars in sales a year. No. 3 in gross sales in the chain. The store's management team of Jim Howe and Tina Brendel were also recently honored as Corporate Managers of the Year by the Coffee Beanery.

With 47 stores in 13 states, there's no end in sight. There are 36 more due to open in 1991.

"The stores have been successful because they key on really good customer service and a top quality product," says Shaw.

With that kind of quality on your holiday table, coffee will no longer be the signal for guests to go home. In fact, they may never want to leave.

Eleanor & Ray Heald/Wine

This New Year's Eve why not try the best?

There are so many excellent champagnes that it is impossible to say one is better than another.

However, champagnes can be distinguished by their style and personality. Champagne Veuve Clicquot and Champagne Roederer are two houses with easily recognizable styles.

Veuve (widow in French) Clicquot was the first woman to rise to power in Champagne and is often regarded as the first businesswoman of the modern era.

Widowed at 28, Nicole-Barbe Ponsardin-Clicquot was determined to carry out her husband's champagne business plans.

Though inexperienced in commercial affairs, and in an age (early 19th century) when commerce was considered socially improper for women, the young widow was undaunted in her efforts to capture foreign markets.

Veuve Clicquot was an early master of marketing slogans. With her motto, "One quality only . . . the finest," she sent her sales agents worldwide.

In 1814, a secret shipment of her champagne to Russia was her greatest coup. She triumphed where others did not dream to venture.

Until Madame Clicquot's time, champagne was a cloudy wine with dead yeast sediment. No one dared drink the last drop.

Convinced that a crystal clear product would enhance champagne's reputation, she concentrated with the help of her cellarmaster on achieving this.

Together they developed the process known as remuage or riddling.

According to legend, bottles were positioned with the necks lodged in holes cut in the widow's wooden kitchen table. By shaking and rotating each bottle daily, she forced the unwanted deposit into the neck, settled against the cork.

Today, riddling is an essential part of champagne production.

While champagne toasts have long been used to celebrate special events and good health, several superstitions have also become associated with champagne.

Afraid the devil would enter their bodies with the wine, and believing the noise would scare him away, superstitious people clinked glasses.

Today, French lovers often interwine forearms while sipping champagne after a toast.

In 1776, the same year the United States declared its independence, a small champagne producer began the company that became known as "the house of Cristal."

In 1833, Louis Roederer, an Alsatian by birth, inherited the company.

He gave it his name, and began to develop the reputation of Louis Roederer Champagne, which now boasts 214 years of continuous family ownership.

By 1876, annual production reached 1.5 million bottles, 80 percent of which was sold to the Russian market, and Cristal, the first prestige cuvee, was created for the court of Czar Alexander II.

Roederer Champagne became such a favorite of the czar that he asked Roederer to reserve the best of each harvest to produce a special wine for him.

He desired two things from the select bottle.

First, he wanted it to be recognizably one of a kind, even when it was wrapped with a table napkin, and second, it was to be a stylish addition to his dining table. The result was Cristal.

Chef Larry Janes

Try non-edible holiday goodies

'Tis the season for just about every kind of food.

Momma has started the semi-weekly brushing of her famed holiday fruitcakes with a clean cotton dish towel dipped in rum.

MaryLee, my twin sister, has had to remake her holiday cookies three times because the tin mysteriously ends up half empty during a midweek checking.

The gingerbread that filled the kitchen with holiday smells has been cut and is now "drying" for use in the Janes gang annual gingerbread house.

The holidays around my house always have the refrigerator, cupboards and cookie jars brimming with waist-expanding goodies.

But isn't it nice to know that there are recipes for non-edible holiday goodies?

These traditional recipes have the ability to transform plain flour, water and salt into a plethora of ornaments, table decorations and culinary gifts.

Did you ever make snowflake clay when you were a kid? It shimmers and shines and easily transforms basic kitchen cupboard ingredients into holiday treasures that will last for years.

Last year, the Janes gang got together to make non-edible holiday gifts, and ended up with a mini zoo full of dinosaurs, merry Santas and wreaths that will again find their way to the family tree after being safely packed away with the other ornaments.

We even have a door wreath bedecked in green flowers that unfortunately never made the ornament box because it fell and broke into smithereens while exiting with the Christmas tree.

Were we crushed? Hardly. We just spent the last 11 months occasionally dreaming on how to make this year's even more beautiful.

If you're thinking that this process involves the purchase of $16 worth of colored play-dough, think again.

Many readers remember when yours truly owned and operated a gourmet shop in beautiful downtown Plymouth.

Loretta Mirro, home economist and now president of Intro-Marketing in Birmingham, would wow class members during the holidays with her non-edible holiday decorations using simple flour, cornstarch and salt.

It wasn't until a trek to the archived file cabinet in the basement that I once again discovered these treasured recipes that will surely bring a smile to avid foodies who enjoy "playing" in the kitchen.

And that's exactly what these recipes are for — playing.

After the measuring, there is little to do except spend an afternoon or evening creating holiday treasures that will keep even a 4-year-old busy for at least a couple of hours.

And, the best part about it, you're left with lasting creations and cutesy gifts that have that look, touch and feel of something made from the heart as well as the hands.

A simple prink of a fork tine and your creation can be an ornament.

Add a paper clip or ornament hanger or just a swatch of red ribbon and watch the smiles emerge. The recipient will hardly be able to wait to hang it on a Christmas tree.

So, if you find yourself with just a little holiday baking flour left over and want to enthrall the likes of any participant from 8 to 80, simply follow the directions and behold!

BAKERS CLAY

4 cups sifted flour
1 cup salt
1 1/4 cups water

Combine flour and salt together, add water until a soft dough forms. Shape the dough into free-form shapes and place gently on kitchen parchment-lined baking sheets. Bake at 225 degrees for 1 1/2 - 2 hours or until firm and dry. Creations can then be painted with food coloring, if desired.

SNOWFLAKE CLAY

1 cup salt

HOROSCOPE

December 23 through December 29

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
It seems the more you love someone the more you argue. Understand this is just one of those times, and listen to what others are saying.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Handling difficult problems at work is second nature for you, but you aren't always so lucky at home. Try taking on new domestic chores.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
If you are a parent, your children are going to have an exhausting effect on you. Lovers will find things a little more active this week.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
A Gemini may be important in resolving a conflict in your life. But if they ask you to do something crazy, use your best instincts.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
A well-meaning friend can't wait to give you some romantic advice. It may be a little outdated. Smile, then forget what they told you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Get out of that stubborn mood, Taurus. You are just as sophisticated as the next person, so don't let insecurities interfere with weekend fun.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
A restless Gemini can get things done faster than anyone. Just use that energy in a positive way. The rewards from your work will be great.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Exercise may pull you out of this melancholy mood. Take a walk or simply clean house. You'll be surprised at the change in your attitude.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Money isn't your favorite thing to talk about now. There's no need to tell family members how wonderful you are; they already know!

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
It seems some order may come into your life after all. Things have been crazy, but they should smooth out. Take advantage of this restful period.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
This is a time of great opportunity for Libras, and you can make the most of it by dealing with important details in an efficient manner.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
Personal problems may get you down. Answers to your problems come from within. Self-improvement classes may do you good.

STAR NOTES

Judith Light's move from soaps paid off

By Candace Havens

Who's the Boss? star Judith Light has experienced tremendous success over the last few years as the bright — but not always with it — Angela Bauer. In a show that was actually written for cast-mate Tony Danza, Light has risen above it all to become one of the top comedic actresses on sitcoms today.

Light's acting career began on the popular ABC soap One Life to Live, where she starred as housewife/prostitute Karen Woleck. She hadn't wanted to work on soaps, but her agent prodded her into auditioning for an understudy part anyway.

As it turned out, the executives of the show weren't looking for an understudy for the role of Karen Woleck; they were looking for someone new to play the role, and Light was the one. During her five-year stint on the show, Light won two Emmys, two Soapies and was elected into the Soap Opera Hall of Fame.

Light left the show with her husband, Robert Desiderio, who was also her co-star, and headed for Los Angeles. It seemed perhaps she had made the wrong move, but she soon won a part opposite Tony Geary in the television movie Intimate Agony. She later won the role of Angela.

Light and Desiderio live in a large home in the Hollywood Hills, where she enjoys reading, cooking, gardening, studying Italian and playing classical piano.

TIME OUT

Basketball preamble to bowl games

By Steve Paschal

Sports fans anxious for next week's deluge of college football bowl games can divert their attention to the basketball court Saturday afternoon when two of the nation's traditional college powerhouses square off on CBS.

The Kentucky Wildcats and Louisville Cardinals collide in the first half of a mixed-bag doubleheader that follows with NFL East rivals Philadelphia and Phoenix squaring off.

Kentucky is struggling to regain national prominence after the NCAA placed the Wildcats on probation for recruiting violations under former coach Eddie Sutton. New coach Rick Pitino has his hands full trying to rebuild the program, and he could surprise the experts who pick Kentucky to finish no higher than fifth in the tough Southeast Conference. The Wildcats have two of the country's top freshmen in center Gimel Martinez and forward Jamal Mashburn.

Louisville, led by senior guard Bradford Smith, should make it to the NCAA Tournament, although the Cardinals will be hard-pressed to defend last year's Metro Conference championship in the face of strong opposition from Southern Mississippi and Memphis State. Much of Louisville's success may depend on Coach Denny Crum's ability to replace center Felton Spencer, who jumped to the NBA, and academic casualty Jerome Harmon.

Cable Comments

By LARK L. SAMOUELIAN
Executive Director,
SW Oakland Cable Comm.

This week we share with you some of the happenings which are inspired throughout the holiday season. Companies and organizations extend themselves to help the less fortunate. WXYZ-TV Channel 7, Elias Brothers Big Boy Restaurants and the Hunger Action Coalition sponsor together "Operation Can-Do." They collect food to help feed individuals, senior citizens and an entirely new segment of hungry people who have lost their incomes because of auto industry plant closings and lay-offs.

Many schools in the Detroit Metropolitan area adopt such a project as a class or school mission. They collect canned goods by competing between classes and by holding contests and fun events to encourage participation.

Donors may bring cans of food to collection containers at 100 Big Boy Restaurants.

Cable Systems which are involved with the Southeast Michigan Cable Association are sponsoring donations to the United Way. Bob McCann of Metrovision explained that they participate in a special project each year. This year they are offering free installation of cable TV with a $10 donation to United Way.

Omnicom Cable and the Plymouth Rotary co-sponsor the "Baskets Filled With Love" Food Drive for the Salvation Army. Russ Hoisinton of the Rotary says, "This program guarantees food for the less fortunate in our community and exemplifies our motto: 'Service Above Self.'" Omnicom has been part of this program since 1984.

Community Access Channels do their part as well. Many producers are creating cheerful and thoughtful shows to warm every home. Special thoughts are extended to those who are homebound as well as loving messages to our family members and friends who are in the service overseas who receive letters, audio tapes and video greetings. Think creatively at home and set up your own meaningful backdrop for your message. Remember, those receiving it will be interested not only in seeing you but also for mementos from home. Sounds of home on your audio tape or within your video are important to remember. Don't concentrate on creating a static environment. Sounds as well as visuals will delight your loved one much more if they are spontaneous and bring laughter into their hearts.

The Michigan Detroit Chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences held a special screening this month to benefit the Wellness House in Detroit. Harvey Ovshinsky's documentary about living with AIDS, "Tony and Friends: A Celebration of Life," was presented at a special screening. The NATAS chapter is a non-profit association dedicated to the advancement of television.

Check your local channels to determine what programming will help you be aware of opportunities to serve someone in need. The following are programs which may inform and delight you as you watch or participate through Community Access Cable Television throughout the holiday season.

Bob Newhart marshals Tournament of Roses Parade

Bowl game features Iowa, Washington

By Amy Schmidt

Bob Newhart says his clan is a little nervous about this year's Tournament of Roses. "They're not used to being in the spotlight," said Newhart about his family. There was a quiver in Bob's voice as well, when he explained he had been chosen the 1991 grand marshal of the Pasadena, Calif., event.

All three networks will cover the 102nd parade. ABC will carry the Rose Bowl, the Pacific 10 vs. Big Ten college football championship.

"It's a saluting comedy. It's not so much saluting me," said Newhart modestly of his role, explaining that "Fun 'n' Games" is this year's parade theme.

What does a grand marshal do? "You have your pictures taken with the Rose Queen," said Newhart. "Then there's various teas and dinners for the bands coming in from all over the country—it's quite an operation really—then you greet the two football teams, which will be Iowa and Washington.

"You meet the people who build the floats and the sponsors of the floats," continued Newhart. "Then you have dinner at the Wrigley Mansion in Pasadena New Year's Eve, and then you get up very early in the morning, because there are well over a million people lining the four-mile drive, and then you get in the horse-drawn vehicle and ride from Wrigley Mansion to the Rose Bowl, and there's a lunch. Then there's a game, and you go down and do the coin toss, and then you go up into the booth and watch the Rose Bowl, and then that's about it."

Sound exhausting? "It's one very long day," said Newhart. For Pasadenans, however, the gala affair, which only culminates Jan. 1, has begun long before. City-wide festivities begin as early as September and float building months prior to that. This year's parade will feature 60 floats, 22 musical units and 275 equestrians. The Queen of the 1991 Tournament of Roses is 17-year-old Cara Payton Rullman from San Marino High School. Cara was chosen from a field of over 600 applicants.

Riding at the front of the parade with one of America's favorite funneymen is Newhart's wife of 27 years, Ginnie, his daughters Jennifer and Courtney, and sons Rob and Tim. "Let's see, Rob is 27, Tim is 24, Jennifer is 19, and Courtney just turned 13," said Newhart pausing at each name, trying to think of his kids' ages. "They keep having birthdays, and it keeps changing," he protested.

"Newhart" having ended, Bob began and recently finished a 20-city stand-up comedy tour. He and his road manager drive from town to town doing the shows. "It's not exactly an entourage. It's just the two of us," laughed Newhart. "And it isn't all that glamorous."

One has to wonder whether or not Bob Newhart can go out in public without being mobbed by autograph seekers. Surprisingly, he can. Rarely is he even encountered. "They look at you, and they're not sure. Every so often you'll get that look about, 'Where the hell do I know you from?'"

CBS is currently working on another comedy for Newhart in 1991.

1991 Tournament of Roses Grand Marshal Bob Newhart and Rose Queen Cara Payton Rullman kick off the 102nd Rose Parade and 77th Rose Bowl. This year's matchup features Washington vs. Iowa. ABC, CBS and NBC will air the parade. The game can be seen on ABC.

BITS AND PIECES

Quincy Jones joins Hall of Fame during NAACP Image Awards

Record producer Quincy Jones received the Hall of Fame Award from the NAACP at the organization's 23rd annual Image Awards ceremony Dec. 1 in Los Angeles. Jones boasts a much-lauded career in music, film and television and as the head of Qwest Records.

It's hard to imagine this time of year without the Irving Berlin favorite, "White Christmas." Surprisingly, Bing Crosby nearly didn't sing it in the 1942 classic, Holiday Inn. The Christmas gem was nearly cut because Crosby was loath to commercialize the most jubilant of Christian holy days. Only after a long debate with producer Jack Kapp was Crosby convinced of the song's harmlessness. Bing's version of the song has sold 30 million records.

Peter Falk, who has won four of his five Emmy Awards for playing Columbo, has the added distinction of having played the character at least once in every decade since the '60s.

Dorothy Lyman (All My Children, Mama's Family) has joined the cast of NBC's daytime drama Generations. She will make her first appearance on Monday, Dec. 31. Unfortunately, Generations will have its last network broadcast on Jan. 25, 1991.

Rod Stewart is being sued by a fan for $10,000 in damages. Patricia Boughton of Utica, Mich., was struck on the hand when Stewart kicked a soccer ball off the stage during his Clarkston, Mich., concert. She claims she suffered a ruptured tendon in her middle finger and a possible break.

Production has begun in England on Robin Hood, a motion picture starring Patrick Bergin (Love Crimes) and Uma Thurman (Dangerous Liaisons), which will make its U.S. premiere as a three-hour television event in 1991 on Fox Night at the Movies.

Billy Crystal and Anne Ramsey star in CBS' Throw Momma From the Train, Thursday.

Eddie Bracken is Cap'n Andy on Great Performances' "Show Boat" encore, Friday on PBS.

Gene Hackman goes to Vietnam to find his son, missing in action, in Uncommon Valor, Saturday on ABC.

Richard S. Woods happy with return as Bo Buchanan

By Candace Havens

Dear Candace: I am absolutely in love with the gentleman who plays Bo Buchanan on One Life to Live. I bet if you looked up sexy in the dictionary, his name would be part of the definition. I was ecstatic when he returned to the show. I'd like to know more about him, especially where he is from. —Thanks, Bo's biggest fan

Dear Reader: Robert S. Woods plays the role of Bo Buchanan, the handsome younger son of the rich and powerful Buchanan clan. Woods created the part of Bo in 1979. After six successful years in the role, he took a hiatus from the show to go to the West Coast to pursue film and television opportunities. As often happens, he returned to One Life to Live in January, 1988, when things didn't turn out as he expected.

Woods has always had an interest in acting, but before his career began, he served 15 months as a Green Beret in Vietnam, seeing action with the Army's Fifth Special Forces Group.

After returning from the war, he majored in broadcasting at California State College at Long Beach, and following graduation he studied at the Film Actors Workshop in Los Angeles, the James Best Theater Centre and the Director Lab.

He's done a variety of roles on television including the recurring parts of Dr. David Spencer in The Waltons and Lt. Bob King in Project UFO, as well as roles in Family, City of Angels and Newhart. Woods has some feature film credits including The China Syndrome and Big Wednesday. He has also starred with Dorothy Lamour in the theater production of Barefoot in the Park.

His made-for-television movies include Just a Little Inconvenience, The Night They Took Miss Beautiful, Police Story, Fantasies and Chase.

Most of his family comes from Texas, as does his television family. His older brother and his four older sisters are all native Texans, as was his mother, but his dad was from Georgia. Before his birth, the family moved to California, where he was raised.

I want to hear from you! If you have a favorite soap scenario you would like to sound off about, or a question about the soaps, write to Candace Havens, Soap Talk, P.O. Box 17748, Fort Worth, TX 76102-0748.

Reader wanting to catch up on old western series stars

By Polly Vonetes

Q: I am writing to you again concerning John Smith, who co-starred with Robert Fuller in the 1960s TV western Laramie, John Russell of The Lawman series and Tony Young, who starred in the short-lived series Gunslinger. I'll be waiting for your reply in the TV section of the Beauregard Daily News. —Thanks, S.W. Pool, Deridder, La.

A: Mr. Pool, you really are persistent! I had received your earlier letters, and I was really trying to find the information you requested. I finally have some news for you concerning John Smith. After Laramie ended, Smith starred with George Montgomery in the western Cimarron City. His only work as an actor in recent years has been doing voice-overs. He lives by himself in the Crenshaw area of Los Angeles in the same house in which he grew up. His only marriage was to actress Luana Patten in 1960. The marriage lasted four years. John Russell was hardly seen on the screen after The Lawman series left the air in 1962, although he did return for a few episodes of Alias Smith and Jones during the early '70s. He also served as the "commander" on the Saturday morning live-action children's series Jason of Star Command from 1979-'81. He still makes his home in California. I am sorry I have not been able to catch up with Tony Young, as yet. I'll keep looking, so let's not give up.

Q: Many years ago Bobby Morse starred in a TV series with a young blonde, who starred as his wife. They portrayed a young married couple. Televised early in his career, it ran, I believe, for one season. It was a delightful show and I watched it faithfully. I have followed his career and think he is very talented, but I never saw or heard of her after that. Can you tell me her name and is she still acting? —Helen Shannon, Sedona, Ariz.

A: Your favorite show was called That's Life. The series starred Robert Morse as Robert Dickson and E.J. Peaker as Gloria Quigley (Dickson). It aired on ABC from September, 1968 until May, 1969. After the series ended, E.J. (short for Edra Jeanne) appeared frequently on Love, American Style and in the film Hello, Dolly! Little has been heard of her since that time.

Q: I'm curious about Jennifer Jones' daughter. She seems to be shrouded in mystery. If you have anything about her, please let me know. I recently heard of her death. How old was she? When was she born? It may be a hard question — I know you'll do your best. —Tom Arnold, Three Rivers, Mich.

A: Tom, I appreciate your confidence in me, and I really tried to find the information you requested. Jennifer Jones' daughter, Mary Jennifer Selznick, was born in 1954. She fell to her death from the roof of a 22-story building in Los Angeles, an apparent suicide, at the age of 21. Sorry, this is all the information I have on her.

Q: My husband is retired and enjoys TV. He would like to see the movie with Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper in The Champ. I believe it was filmed in the late '20s. If available, I would like to purchase the tape. Do you have an address for Jackie Cooper? —Madelaine Leane, Salem, Ohio

A: Wallace Beery won an Oscar for his role in The Champ, filmed in 1931. The video is available. Ask for it at your local video store. Jackie Cooper's address is 9621 Royalton, Beverly Hills, CA 90210.

Holiday moments adorn TV schedules

By Anne Wheeler

This week is filled with many magical holiday moments the whole family can enjoy.

Christmas is near and rumors are flying that Santa may be closing shop and declaring bankruptcy. It seems Max Crandall, a mean and evil toymaker, is planning to corner the toy market with his high-tech and unsafe toys.

Does Christmas happen this year? Does Max Crandall live through his encounter with the Ghost from Christmas Past? You'll have to watch A Very Retail Christmas on NBC, Monday, Dec. 24, to find out.

Families can gather around on Christmas Day as Disney characters march and sing favorite holiday tunes at the eighth annual Walt Disney World Very Merry Christmas Parade on ABC.

President and Mrs. George Bush will offer their holiday wishes, and other special guests will include the Teen-Age Mutant Ninja Turtles; Christa Larson, star of Minnie 'n' Me; and Sylvia Anne Washburn of Toledo, Ohio, "Outstanding Teacher of 1990."

The holiday glitter continues on ABC on Thursday, Dec. 27, when Peter Scolar hosts the Ice Capades 50th Anniversary Special.
