City notices out soon

Residential property assessments should be mailed out by the end of February, said City Assessor Mark Christiansen. Residential assessments are expected to rise an average of 13 percent in the Wayne County portion of the city, and 6 percent in the Oakland County portion.

Residents who disagree with their assessments can take their case before the Board of Review. The board will meet at City Hall between 1-5 p.m. and 6-10 p.m. March 12, 21, and 26, and between 9-5 p.m. March 14 and 19. More meetings will be scheduled if necessary.

To schedule an appointment, call City Hall at 349-1300 and ask for the Assessing Department after you've received your assessment.

Township residential assessments will increase in 1991, but at a less dramatic clip than last year.

And property owners will have another two weeks to gnash their teeth over the extent of individual hikes.

Residential assessments are expected to climb an average of 4.5 to 5 percent township wide, Supervisor Georgina Goss said Tuesday.

The 1991 numbers compare with last year's 13.5-percent average increase and 1989's average 17-percent increase.

Residential and property assessments are used to determine individual property tax bills. Assessments are based on the state equalized val-

Nearing completion

A worker cleans windows high atop the new MainCentre development, at the southwest corner of Main and Center streets downtown. As of late last week, owner Singh Development Co. had not signed any retail tenants for the building — but the complex is still scheduled to open for retail and residential occupancy by Easter.

Chamber to fill Cady Street deck cavity?

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

A change to the plans for an expanded Cady Street parking deck will leave room for a new Chamber of Commerce building just north of the deck, said City Manager Steven Walters.

The proposed change comes as the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce's plans to build an addition on its current 195 S. Main St. office have been thwarted by Wayne County (see related story, page 10-A).

Walters briefed the city council on the change at the council's Tuesday night meeting, calling the proposal "an interesting possibility." The change involves leaving the Cady Street parking deck's existing north wall intact, and building the new parking deck's north wall 25 feet to the south, creating a 25-foot-wide space below Mary Alexander Court.

Walters listed several benefits to retaining the existing wall including a lower construction cost for the new north wall, a less-complicated construction project, and added storage space accessible from either the lower deck level or a building above it.

"It would be much more practical to leave the old wall of the old parking deck in place," Walters said. "The cost (saved) is very significant, approaching perhaps as much as $200,000."

The space could become the base of a new Chamber of Commerce building, the city manager said. Such a use would still allow "a significant landscaped area and short-term parking," he wrote in a report to the council.

The proposal is the result of observations made by local architect and Downtown Development Authority member Greg Presley, Walters wrote.

Presley said the idea came to him during discussions on placement of the new deck. The architect has been working with Singh Development to incorporate the new deck into a pedestrian bridge across Center Street to MainCentre, and an eventual retail / office building between the deck and Center Street.

"As we were looking at how to situate the deck, it became apparent that there's a lot of space south of the deck," Presley said. When city officials agreed to move the new deck south to maximize space for landscaping and short-term parking north of the deck, the move created the space between the walls.

The question that arose, Presley said, was "now that we have a 30-foot-wide cavity, what do we do with it? Fill it up with earth, or use it?"

The architect then drew up conceptual plans showing a 2,140-square-foot, one-story Chamber of Commerce building with a meeting room for 90-100 people, an information desk, kitchenette, three offices and two sets of restrooms. One set of restrooms would be public.

The building would screen part of the parking deck from Mary Alexander Court and the town square. That fact pleased some city council members, but not Paul Folino.

"We'd have a building hiding the parking deck," he said. "My concern is blocking the view of the parking

Board talks trash

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

The second wave of would-be township solid waste handlers made pitches to the township board last week, with one firm emerging as a strong candidate.

Waste Management Inc. of Livonia impressed board members with its presentation on solid waste and recyclable materials collections, Supervisor Georgina Goss said.

The company also scored points on proximity.

Waste Management handles recycling chores for Plymouth Township and described a plan similar to one sought by Northville Township.

The evening's second presenter was Laidlaw Waste System Corp. of Southfield.

The firms met with the board in the second of two meetings designed to explore possible preferred status haulers for Northville Township when it enters the next phase of Wayne County's solid-waste mandate this summer.

Waste Management representative Robert McClellan told the board his firm would recommend weekly recyclables collection on the same day as household trash pick-ups.

The company would provide residents with an 18-gallon container for mixed recyclables, meaning individuals would remove newspapers, metals, plastics and glass from their solid waste stream and place the items in one container for recycling.

The ability to place all recyclables in one container is important, McClellan said.

"The simpler the system, the more it increases participation," he said. "It's not enough to furnish trucks and pass out tubs and hope it happens."

McClellan said research has shown that recycling ventures in Waste Management-contracted locales such as Southfield, Dearborn and Plymouth Township usually cut approximately 20 percent from the solid waste stream.

The township would not need to provide Waste Management a materials transfer station, McClellan said.

"We have a disposal facility at Michigan Avenue and I-275," he said. "We would not need any land within the township."

The firm would also truck township compostables to a proposed township compost facility, he said.

McClellan told the board his firm would need four months from date of award to program start-up. Included in that time frame would be a two-month public "education period," he said.

Flexibility is the key to Laidlaw's recycling approach, spokesperson Gregory Buhr said.

"There is really no set program for a community," he said. "We try to go

Charity events set for Saturday

Northville will host two first-ever events for charity this Saturday.

The J. Giordano Gallery on South Main Street will present the one-day exhibition of "Art to the Rescue," a project to benefit Detroit's homeless. And meanwhile, the Northville Community Center on Main will host a juried craft show to benefit the Hawthorn Center Association.

"Art to the Rescue" will run from noon to 4 p.m. at the gallery, 426 S. Main. This exhibition results from a collection of artwork to be donated to the Detroit Rescue Mission, a shelter, food source and counseling center for homeless people in Detroit.

The mission needed artwork to complement its environment, and Michigan responded. Artists around the state donated work, as did students from Northville. The Northville Arts Commission collected work from local students, and those pieces are part of the exhibit as well.

Artists may still donate to the project by bringing original work to the exhibition. For more information call the gallery at 348-0282.

Up the street, events will take a more crafty tone, as the Hawthorn Center Association sponsors its first juried craft show from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Eighty dealers, selected by a jury process, will offer wares at the show. Admission is $1, and proceeds benefit the association, which is a support group for Hawthorn Center, a non-profit psychiatric hospital for children at Haggerty and Seven Mile.

The show will feature a luncheon menu. For more information call 264-0845.

DRIVER'S EDUCATION APPLICATIONS AVAILABLE: Summer driver's education applications are available in the Northville High School office. Two sessions of driver's education will be offered. The first session runs from June 17 to July 12. The second session runs from July 15 to Aug. 9. Each session is four weeks long. Classes will meet Monday through Friday from 9-11 a.m. at Northville High School.

SEMINAR BACK BY POPULAR DEMAND: A seminar on "Living Trust vs. Wills" at the Northville Senior Center is being repeated due to popular demand.

Topics covered include how to avoid probate, how to reduce taxes to your heirs, advantages of a living trust, the living will, and more. Questions and answers follow.

Financial expert Paul Leduc will lead the session. The seminar is free of charge and will be sponsored by the Northville Senior Center from 1-3 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 26. The senior center is located at 215 W. Cady St. The seminar is open to all, but reservations are necessary; call 349-4140.

"SENIOR" PROM TO BE HELD AT COOKE: The reopening of Cooke as a middle school displaced a few groups that had been using the building, including Senior Citizens. That fact has not gone unnoticed by school officials and the school's student council who are sponsoring a "senior" prom for area senior citizens.

The free dinner and dance will be held March 27. Any Northville-area senior citizen is welcome to attend the event. Cooke Principal Jeffrey Radwanski expects to be able to accommodate 100 people.

Spaghetti, cooked by teachers and served by students, will be the evening's fare. Entertainment will be provided by a band of the seniors' choice. Salad and dessert will be provided by the school's life skills class.

Doors open at 3:30 p.m. for the event, which runs from 4-6 p.m. Senior citizens and students will be able to mingle and learn about each other, Kohl said. And a video of Cooke students working and playing in their building will be shown during dinner.

Interested Northville-area seniors should contact Karl Peters at 349-4140.

CHAMBER CALENDARS: Want to know what's going on in Northville for the rest of 1991? The Northville Community Chamber of Commerce can help.

The chamber recently compiled its annual listing of events scheduled for the year. The one-page list is available at the chamber office, 195 S. Main St.

ROTISSERIE BASEBALL: The Northville Public Library is organizing a simplified version of the very popular Rotisserie-style baseball leagues which are active nationwide. "General managers" choose or "draft" major league players who they feel will perform well during the coming season.

The deadline for enrollment is April 1, after which the general managers need only sit back and await the results. Different leagues will be formed depending on the number and type of responses received. The action begins on opening day and will continue until the All-Star break on July 9. Standings will be updated and posted in the library each week.

If interested, pick up a general manager's packet and return its entry form to the library by April 1.

School is soldier support system

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

Writing letters of support to American service men and women stationed in Saudi Arabia was not enough for two Northville High School sophomores.

Robyn Davis and Christina Lombardo wanted to get the whole school involved.

The two 10th-graders got the financial backing of the Student Congress and the names of 800 men and women in Saudi Arabia.

Now, any student at Northville High School can begin corresponding with a service man or woman, but if they don't have time to get every student at the high school involved that is fine, too.

"Hopefully, the war won't last long enough to get people for (all 800 service men and women on the list)," Lombardo said.

But for now, the two sophomores are spending the time before lunch every day recruiting letter writers.

"Everyday before lunch people can sign up," Davis said.

"They become like pen pals. Then we don't give that name to anybody else."

Students can send letters to Saudi Arabia via Northville High School and the Student Congress will pick up postage costs.

About 40-50 letters have been mailed through the Student Congress, and Davis suspects some students are mailing their own letters.

"We have a lot of people come and get addresses every day," Davis said.

They hope to get at least 100-150 letters mailed within the next two or three weeks, Lombardo said.

Names and addresses of service men and women stationed in Saudi Arabia have been available in the school office for two weeks, Davis said.

Robyn Davis and Christina Lombardo set up students with "pen pals" in the service

A week ago Davis and Lombardo began providing names and addresses to students during their lunch hour.

Davis expects the program to cost the Student Congress around $100, but money is not a big concern right now.

"I don't think it's even really an issue right now," Lombardo said.

Lombardo was involved with writing letters before the war began.

"I really think it's important that we support them," Lombardo said.

"I think it's really sad that they're over there. I don't like the fighting, but if it's the only way... then I guess we have to."

The next step for Lombardo and Davis will be to tie a few red, white and blue ribbons around the school.

"They're just real patriotic girls," said Student Congress President Jason Sherman.

TIPS FROM TUCKKLAPER
Novi Dental Center
A. Allen Tuckklaper D.D.S.

CALORIES AND CAVITIES

A recent study has shown that Americans are consuming just as much sugar today as they were 10 years ago, and even more corn sweeteners, a common ingredient of packaged foods.

In fact, each year Americans consume the average person's weight in table sugars and corn sweeteners, about 129 pounds' worth. These are called "empty calories" because they contain essentially no nutrients.

What is all this sugar doing to their dental health? The same thing it did to the Dutch 300 years ago. Many of the paintings of Dutch painter Rembrandt show people with decayed or missing teeth, or no teeth at all. This was in the 17th century when the Dutch were bringing back large quantities of sugar from the New World. By 1661 Amsterdam had 60 sugar refineries and had become the "carbohydrate capital" of Europe. Before then, cavities and missing teeth were much less common and so was the use of sugar.

Good dental care today, with regular checkups, can help prevent loss of teeth. It also calls for moderation in sugar in-take to help keep cavities to a minimum.

No one wants to undergo surgery. But some people may avoid needed cancer surgery because they believe the cancer will spread during the operation. That's a myth. It's not true. # Vandals take out Crawford's Restaurant window

The front window of Crawford's Restaurant, 160 E. Main St., was shot by a BB or pellet gun sometime before 5:30 p.m. Feb. 14, according to city police reports. It was the ninth reported incident of vandalism by a BB or pellet gun in the city or township since Jan. 18.

WINDOW DAMAGED BY SHOT: A Scenic Harbor Drive resident told township police a picture window at his home was damaged by a shot from a BB gun. The incident occurred sometime between 4 p.m. Feb. 16 and 3 p.m. Feb. 17, according to police reports.

Damage was estimated at $400.

LARCENY FROM VEHICLE: A 1984 Ford Thunderbird parked on Knightsford was damaged during a larceny late Feb. 16 or early Feb. 17, township police said.

Thieves removed a dashboard in the vehicle to steal an AM/FM cassette player, police said. The cassette player was valued at $70.

CABLE BOX CUT DOWN: An Andover Drive resident told city police someone drove over his cable box sometime between 7:30 p.m. Feb. 15 and 11 a.m. Feb. 16. An estimated $75 in damage was done to the box.

SUSPENDED LICENSE ARREST: A 22-year-old South Lyon man was arrested for driving with a suspended license Feb. 15 at 11:10 p.m. after being stopped for an illegal turn from northbound Center west onto Main Street. A computer check by city police revealed the suspension, for failure to comply with a court judgment from Southfield. The man was released on $46 cash bond.

WARRANT ARREST: An 18-year-old Ypsilanti man was arrested on an outstanding warrant Feb. 17 at 11:10 p.m. after the car he was a passenger in was stopped on Coldspring Drive. The man was wanted on a misdemeanor warrant from Ann Arbor. He was released on $50 cash bond.

MALICIOUS DESTRUCTION: City police investigated a case of vandalism at Northville Downs last week, in which containers of horse feed were overturned, a lock broken and three pairs of gloves destroyed. The incident occurred sometime between 11 a.m. Feb. 16 and 8 a.m. Feb. 17.

FOUND BICYCLE: City police recovered a pink girl's bicycle found chained to a stop sign behind Lee Holland Associates, 101 E. Dunlap. The bike was chained to the sign from Feb. 5 to Feb. 13. Anyone wishing to claim it is asked to call the Northville City police at 349-1234 with a more detailed description.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Township assessments slightly up

uation of the fair market value of a property.

Goss said increases in local subdivisions assessments widely vary.

"Some subdivisions will not be receiving any increases," she said. "The majority will see 3- to 6-percent increases and a few isolated cases (will increase) 8 to 10 percent."

Goss would not identify the subdivisions that are likely to receive the highest assessment boost, but the affected areas are believed to be some of the township's pricier neighborhoods. "Some developments have appreciated at higher rates than others," she said.

Some homeowners living near Waterford Pond will have their rates reduced, Goss said.

"The assessor found eight lots that were being assessed with a premium attached for lake frontage," she said. "Those eight lots were reduced."

Reductions are based on lower valuations because Waterford Dam gave way in January, draining Waterford Pond.

Wayne County Assessment and Equalization officials earlier this year said township assessments would jump by an average of 6 percent.

Goss said township assessors are poring over 12-month sales figures on community properties to "make sure the county's figure is in the ballpark."

Assessment figures are determined by the number and amount of home sales in either the past two years or past 12 months, whichever is lower, Goss said.

A sluggish economy is the reason Northville Township's assessment rate hike is slighter than previous years, Goss said. But the township continues to attract plenty of home buyers and increased assessments reflect that trend.

Assessment notices could be sent to property owners as early as March 1, but Goss said the township will work until the numbers reach their best rate.

"We won't send them out until I'm sure we have the lowest possible assessment," she said.

Those wishing to appeal assessments may schedule an appointment with the township Board of Review by calling Northville Township offices at 348-5800 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The Board of Review will meet on the following dates:

- March 5 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.
- March 6 from 3 to 9 p.m.
- March 11 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.
- March 12 from 3 to 9 p.m.

Shelves fill at expanded store

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The shelves at Bob Black's new hardware store in Northville Township were half-full of merchandise early this week.

In a back room, an employee argued over the phone with a supplier, demanding that a shipment be made on time. "We're secure," she said. "Now, are you going to have it here tomorrow, or not?"

Black himself drove a forklift outside in the morning mist, wheeling it around in the slush from last week's snowfall and unloading pallets of cement mix off a flatbed truck, racing against the impending rain.

There are a lot of shelves to fill and trucks to unload at 42939 West Seven Mile Road, in the Highland Lakes Shopping Center. Black's new store, which opened Feb. 14, is nearly three times the size of the 139 E. Main St. shop he's operated in the city since November 1988.

Black said the new store is not fully open, though customers are welcome.

"It's open but it's not," he said. "It's going to take us at least two weeks to move the hardware out of (the Main Street location)."

Meanwhile, on Main Street, the beginnings of change were apparent at Black's True Value Hardware. The first several rows of shelves held household supplies rather than hardware — decorative clocks, lamp shades, pots and pans. A sign on the front door read "V + S Variety Store opening soon. Come see our new line of Styrofoam hobby shapes."

Black plans to convert the Main Street store he rents from building owner Betty Meredith to a dime store, much like the 31-year-old business that closed when Black moved his hardware store from 117 to 139 E. Main St. in 1988. He had operated a hardware store out of the 117 E. Main St. location since 1977.

"It'll be very similar to the store that was there before — D & C," he said.

But the new variety store still hinges on his ability to obtain bank financing for the project, Black said.

Black said the hardware store move has not placed much of a burden on his existing staff. "This is traditionally a slow time for the hardware industry, so we have a lot of free time."

Black decided to move his hardware store to the township site in the Highland Lakes Shopping Center last year, after a year-long legal battle against city officials over outside storage at his Main Street location.

While the city contended that Black's storage of bagged and wheeled goods behind his store violated a city ordinance, Black maintained that the storage was needed for his hardware store. The hardware store owner eventually obtained city council permission for outside storage on a seasonal basis.

Black has also cited increased parking availability as a major benefit of the township location.

Revenues rise as population figure grows

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Northville Township's 1990 U.S. Census numbers did not jump like Detroit's—the city nudged above the million mark after disputing initial figures—but a revised count will funnel additional state money to the township.

The township appealed preliminary 1990 Census statistics—with good reason. The township resident count now stands at 17,313, as opposed to an initial 17,238 tally, township Manager Richard Henningsen said.

The 1990 count of 17,313 compares with a 12,987 township total in 1980.

Henningsen said federal government population counts were disputed at six locations in the township. The six areas were taken from grid points throughout the community and were recounted by a township employee, Henningsen said.

Township figures were then submitted to the Census Bureau, which conducted further study, he said.

Census Bureau analysis determined that four township grids had been undercounted, one was overcounted, and one remained the same, Henningsen said.

The bulk of the disputed areas were in subdivisions, he said.

The addition of 75 souls to federal counts is worthwhile, township Finance Director James Graham said.

"That will bring in an extra $3,966 in state revenue sharing money, based on population, Graham said. "It's money we will receive throughout the 1990's, and is accumulative, ongoing."

Census figures indicate 6,481 total housing units in Northville Township and 365 vacant housing units.

The finalized Census numbers will be accepted by the U.S. Dept. of Commerce on July 15.

Census count offsets drop in state's income

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Final U.S. Census figures for 1990 have left the city sitting ahead of neighboring communities in terms of population and state-shared revenue growth.

The final city figure of 6,226 is up slightly from a preliminary count of 6,197. The final 1990 tally is more than 9 percent above the city's 1980 population of 5,698.

Wayne County's overall population dropped 12 percent during the same period.

City Manager Steven Walters said the population growth will more than offset a predicted decline in state-shared revenues.

Michigan municipalities have been warned by state legislators to expect at least a 4-percent drop in their state-shared revenues for income, sales and single business tax revenue this year, because the amount of that revenue being pulled in by the state is 4 percent less.

The city based its budget projection for state revenues on its 1980 census figure. "In the net, that should make us come out about where we're budgeted... We're covered," Walters said.

"We could suffer a 9.3 percent reduction in state revenues and come out even, roughly," he said.

"It's a little cushion," he said. "Obviously we'd prefer to have the 9 percent (increase and no revenue reduction)."

Using preliminary census figures, Walters figured in August that the city's increased population would mean an additional $53,000 in state-shared revenues. That number did not include the 4-percent reduction in state-shared revenues announced earlier this year.

Audio books on display

Through March 30, the Northville Public Library will feature a special display of audio books.

This popular collection is being used more each week. Patrons have discovered these audio cassettes are popular as company and entertainment during long automobile trips as well as local commutes to work.

A variety of titles is available, most of which have been condensed to fit on two one-hour cassettes. Both fiction and non-fiction titles are represented. Because of the popularity of this material, the library limits patrons to three titles for one week.

The library has recently purchased nearly 50 new titles which include Cal's Eye by Margaret Atwood, The Hunt for Red October by Tom Clancy, and Bo by Bo Schembechler.

Township gets its priorities straight

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Traffic, wetlands, private roads, and land divisions are high-priority items.

Gas and oil regulation, parking standards and standards for waste receptacles rank much lower.

So say township planning commissioners, who recently studied approximately 35 local zoning and development issues in search of the township's 1991 priority list.

Eight planners completed the list, ranking issues as high, moderate or low priorities. Items off-cited as high priorities likely will be addressed by the commission in 1991, said Carol Maise, township planning and zoning administrator.

"It's a way of doing some planning to find out what the commission's goals and objectives are for this year," Maise said.

The list is the product of brainstorming sessions between the planning department and the WBDC Group, the township's new planning consultant. The commission also added items at its Feb. 5 meeting. List contents span virtually all facets of zoning and development, from wetlands and stormwater management to infrastructure needs to ordinance review.

A desire for traffic study standards received top ranking from individual planners. Six of the eight commissioners said developers should complete a standardized traffic study form during the site review process.

Other issues listed as high priorities include a possible private road ordinance, wetlands management, wetlands influence on cluster density, a Six Mile Road corridor study and standards for site plan review.

Some of the priority items may be handled administratively, Maise said, while the commission may take the lead in other areas.

But the real goal of the priority list is heightened communication, she said.

"This list immediately gives us better organization," she said. "We can clean up lot of issues and get a fresh start on the year ahead."

Arson investigation still simmers at state building

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Investigators continue to sift through the rubble of a Jan. 30 blaze to determine why someone would want to set fire to a state building in Northville Township.

The southern wing of Wayne Community Living Services, 15480 Sheldon Road at Five Mile, was torched by an arsonist in the early evening Jan. 30.

Township firefighters extinguished the fire that originated in a forms room, causing upward of $200,000 damage, sending one firefighter to the hospital with burns and two other firefighters home with minor injuries.

The exact cause of the fire has not been isolated, nor has a specific suspect been collared, said Det. Sgt. Michael Malloy of the Michigan State Police Fire Marshal Division.

"The investigation is continuing; a lot of people are being interviewed but are not necessarily suspects," Malloy said last week. "I can't release any information on the status while it's still in the works."

Malloy stood by an earlier proclamation that the fire was arson. "It was intentionally set," he said.

Township Fire Chief Rick Roselle said his report to the fire marshal also indicated arson.

"It was of suspicious origin," he said. "Just the way the fire was, low-burning in one spot, with rapid heat and smoke spread added up to other than an accidental fire."

"It just didn't look right," he said. Wayne Community Living Services is a branch of the state Department of Mental Health and primarily handles Wayne County group home coordination and regulation.

The damaged portion of the building housed counselors and psychologists, said Director James Dehem.

Mill Race Matters

Local history is an important part of the emphasis at Mill Race Village. For the past several months a group of volunteers have been working to organize the photographs, legal documents, and personal papers donated to the Northville Historical Society over the past 25 years. The collection provides a fascinating glimpse into our community's past. From time to time items of interest have been shared in this column as well as in the society's Mill Race Quarterly.

Member Diane Rockall, who is working on the Archive Project, has also used some of the material in the Local History class she teaches through Northville Public Schools. Some of the material was gathered by Jack Hoffman when he was working on his Bicentennial publication, Northville—The First 100 Years. Wouldn't it be wonderful to expand on that magnificent publication?

Collections of documents and photographs have come from many sources and we know many more exist in the community. Do you have anything to share? We'd love to add your materials to the growing collection so that future generations can learn of our community's origin. As has been mentioned often, Realtors no longer pass on the wonderful abstracts which trace the history of our land back to the first settlers. These documents provide a wealth of information especially to newcomers.

This week we'd like to thank Ruth Angel for sharing a copy of the abstract from her family home with us. We'd also like to remind all members and friends to watch for information on the upcoming Progressive Dinner, held on April 20. Volunteers are still needed to help. Call 348-1845 if you'd like to volunteer to help with the Progressive Dinner or any other society activity. Interested gardeners are still being sought as well.

Chamber warms to new site plan

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The head of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce greeted the prospect of a Mary Alexander Court building site with cautious enthusiasm.

"We would be very interested," said Chamber President John Sassaman. "We needed to expand and we had looked at going into the downtown area because that's where the bulk of the merchants are."

"It would be great if it happened, it would be a benefit to everybody, but I think it's too early in the game to get too excited about it."

Sassaman said he first heard of the city's plan to provide basement storage space and a potential building site next to the proposed Cady Street parking deck at last Thursday's chamber meeting.

Plans to expand the chamber's present 195 S. Main St. office stalled when the Wayne County Road Commission refused to grant the chamber permission to improve the entrance to the chamber's parking lot and pave it. Part of the planned improvements fall on a county right-of-way.

"They just would not permit it," Sassaman said, adding that the county raised questions about maintenance and potential liability on the present site.

A new chamber of commerce building presented several benefits, Sassaman said.

"The building that we presently occupy could be leased over to another organization," he said, adding that group has approached the chamber about using the 195 S. Main St. He declined to name the group because of the tentative nature of the parking deck plan.

Sassaman said the chamber will need to expand its facility one way or another. "Because the chamber is growing and the area is growing and our demands are increasing, we felt that it was imperative to either expand the building or go to something larger."

"We're getting more demands for more service and we have no room to keep some of the material that we need," he said. The current chamber building consists of little more than a single large room, he said, adding, "It's not uncommon to have three people in there, and there's no privacy."

The proposed addition would have added an office for chamber staff.

City may tuck chamber in beside parking deck

deck and driving between buildings

... I think the openness of a parking deck there is much more important than having a building there."

Mayor Chris Johnson and Council Member Jerry Mittman disagreed with Folino. "I think ... having a building there at that particular location to block the view of the parking deck is attractive," Johnson said.

Everything you need to close down a crackhouse.

You aren't helpless when crime invades your neighborhood. You're fully capable of helping police and they're ready to show you how.

The Case of The Stanton Park Stand off.

When crack moved into a row house on a quiet block of Stanton Park in Washington, D.C., police decided to serve an eviction notice.

They met with police to find out what they could do to keep drugs out of their neighborhood.

The cops told them to keep an eye out. Tell police know who never something suspicious happened. They began to notice faces.

They wrote down license numbers of strange cars. They noted the times of odd behavior. They worked with each other. They worked with the police. Armed with field glasses, note pads and telephones, folks kept track of the neighborhood.

Within one month, enough evidence had been gathered. Police moved in. Crack moved out.

Citizen participation beat crime in D.C. It can do the same for you. For more success stories, write The McGuffey Files, 1 Prevention Way, Washington, D.C. 20039-0001.

Police become even more responsive when their people are their partners. Together we can help.

b. Landmark trees shall be replaced on an inch for inch basis (see paragraph 9a. below) unless, in the opinion of the Planning Commission, the health/condition of the tree is such that it should not be counted. In requesting that a landmark tree not be counted toward replacement, the applicant shall indicate the health/condition of trees as determined by the forester, not to be counted based on the following criteria:

(1) The health/condition of a landmark tree shall be calculated according to the following standards.

FACTOR	5 OR 4	3 OR 2	1
TRUNK	sound & solid	sections of bark missing	extensive and hollow
GROWTH/RATE	more than 6" twig elongation	2"-6" twig elongation	less than 2" twig elongation
STRUCTURE	sound	one major or several minor limbs dead	2 or more major limbs dead
INSECTS/DISEASES	no pests present	one pest present	2 or more pest present
CROWN DEVELOPMENT	full and balanced	full but unbalanced	unbalanced and lacking a full crown
LIFE EXPECTANCY	over 30 years	15-20 years	less than 5

2. Any listed landmark tree with a score of sixteen (16) or higher is protected under this Section 18.34 TREE AND WOODLANDS PROTECTION.

Section 6 — Change paragraph 6 Review Procedures to paragraph 7.

Section 7 — Change subparagraphs c (7) of new paragraph 8 Review Standards of Section 18.34 TREE AND WOODLANDS PROTECTION to read as follows:

(7) Other factors such as the value of the woodlands area as a scenic asset, windblock, noise buffer, environment asset (i.e., — cooling effect, etc.), and the value of landmark or historic trees within the woodlands area.

Section 8 — Change the introductory paragraph and subparagraphs d. and e. of new paragraph 8. Review Standards of Section 18.34 TREE AND WOODLANDS PROTECTION to read as follows:

8. Review Standards

The following standards shall be used to review site plans that contain protected trees or woodlands (as defined by Section 18.34 TREE AND WOODLANDS PROTECTION paragraph 2):

a. No change

b. No change

c. No change

d. The removal or relocation of trees or shrubs within woodlands areas or of protected trees outside of the woodlands area shall be limited to the following instances:

(1) When necessary for the location of a structure or site improvement and when no feasible and prudent alternative location for the structure or improvements can be had without causing undue hardship.

(2) The tree is dead, diseased, injured and in danger of falling too close to proposed or existing structures, or interferes with existing utility service, interferes with safe vision clearances, or conflicts with other ordinances or regulations.

(3) When a landmark tree does not meet the health/condition standards of paragraph 6 above.

e. Where the removal or cutting of any protected trees is permitted, replacement trees shall be provided.

Section 9 — Change the subparagraphs of new paragraph 9. Relocation and Replacement of Section 18.34 TREE AND WOODLAND PROTECTION to read as follows:

9. Relocation or Replacement

Trees shall be provided by relocation or replacement whenever:

a. Protected trees are proposed to be removed. The number of caliper inches required for trees to be replaced shall be equal to fifty (50%) percent of the d.b.h. of the trees to be replaced which are not landmark or historic trees and one hundred (100%) percent for landmark or historic trees, provided that all replacement trees are of a two and one-half (2 1/2) inch caliper or greater. If crowded conditions do not permit the replacement of all trees on this basis, the Planning Commission may adjust this requirement.

b. All purchased replacement trees shall satisfy American Association of Nurseryman standards, such as:

(1) Nursery grown.

(2) State Department of Agriculture inspected.

(3) Tree spade transplanted while in the dormant state, or, if not in the dormant state, having been balled and burlaped with a solid well laced root ball when in the dormant state.

(4) No. 1 Grade, with a straight unscarred trunk and well-developed uniform crown (park grade trees are unacceptable).

h. At the time of submission of a Final Site Plan, the developer shall submit an estimate of the cost of replacement trees and of proposed relocation of existing trees. The estimate shall also include the costs of a one year guarantee on the health and on the maintenance of the trees. The Planning Commission shall review and approve the estimate. Prior to issuance of a building permit, the developer shall deposit cash, irrevocable letter of credit or other equivalent form of security, approved by the Township Attorney, in the amount of the estimated costs of the tree relocation and replacement and including ten (10) percent as a contingency.

Section 10 — Add the following subparagraph d. to new paragraph 10. Tree Protection During Construction of Section 18.34 TREE AND WOODLAND PROTECTION to read as follows:

The replacements for such damaged trees shall be one (1) inch caliper for each one (1) inch d.b.h. of the damaged trees and shall have characteristics comparable to those of the damaged trees and each shall be a minimum four (4) inch caliper. Deciduous trees shall be replaced by deciduous trees and evergreen trees shall be replaced by evergreen trees.

Section 11 — Add a new paragraph 11. to Section 18.34 TREE AND WOODLANDS PROTECTION to read as follows:

11. Penalties

(1) Each unauthorized removal of a tree protected by this Ordinance shall be deemed a separate offense, punishable by a fine of five hundred ($500.00) dollars for each tree and by replacement of such trees by trees equal in size to one (1) inch caliper for each one (1) inch d.b.h. of the removed trees.

Car count cites need for Hutton turn lane

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

A traffic count by city engineers points to the continued need for a left-turn lane from eastbound Dunlap to northbound Hutton Street.

But the engineers reported that a traffic island could be added between the turning lane and westbound lane, allowing pedestrians safer passage across Dunlap.

The city council was scheduled to review the engineers' report Tuesday night.

The report follows complaints by area residents at a previous council meeting, who wanted to see the Dunlap / Hutton intersection made safer for pedestrians. One suggestion made at that meeting was to eliminate the left-turn lane.

The city council directed city engineers McNeely & Lincoln to determine the need for the turn lane through a traffic count.

McNeely & Lincoln stationed an observer at the intersection from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Feb. 6, and during rush hours and lunch hour Feb. 7-8. The observer counted 661 cars turning north onto Hutton from eastbound Dunlap Feb. 6, 321 of which then turned into either Arbor Drugs or the Manufacturers Bank branch at Dunlap and Hutton. More than one of every seven eastbound cars turned north.

"The traffic study indicates that relatively high volumes of traffic travel through the intersection at all times of day," engineer Maureen Turner reported to the council. "Also, eastbound left-turn traffic at times was noted to be queued by up to three or four cars."

"Given this information, we recommend that the eastbound left-turn lane remain as part of the intersection layout."

Turner's report included a revised site plan showing a large traffic island east of the intersection and a smaller island just to the west. Pedestrian crosswalks cross the street at both islands in the plan.

A previous plan to place a single pedestrian crosswalk across an expanded traffic island east of Dunlap met with little enthusiasm from the residents. They argued that pedestrians would not walk out of their way to the crosswalk, and would continue to cross near the Manufacturers Bank branch as they do now.

"People tend to go in direct, straight lines regardless of where you put things," Horton Street resident David Totten said then.

Council Member Paul Folino agreed, saying, "they're just going to take their chances and run across those three lanes."

The city plans to narrow the intersection and improve pedestrian safety there during replacement of water mains under Hutton.

RECORD OPINION

12A
THURSDAY
February 21, 1991

Our Opinion

Move green space up the list of priorities

Township planning commissioners recently were asked to list their individual priorities for 1991, and community residents might be interested in the results. And maybe we'll throw in our two cents' worth.

Eight members of the nine-person panel ranked issues related to the commission and planning department. A checklist of topics ranging from the need for gas and oil regulation to traffic studies to standards for trash receptacles appeared on the list, and planners were asked to rate the 30-odd issues as high, moderate or low priorities.

Not surprisingly, traffic and environmental issues topped the planners' concerns chart. Six of eight commissioners felt the need to create standards for traffic studies was the township's most pressing problem.

Some might question this choice, especially when problems involving developers and local waterways have of late grabbed a significant amount of attention. But planners were miffed when developers of a restaurant proposed for Six Mile and Haggerty roads submitted an ill-conceived (some wouldn't be that diplomatic) traffic impact study for that troublesome, high-volume corridor.

Spurred on by traffic-study resources the township's new planning consultant has at hand, the commission would like nothing better than to require developers to follow a set traffic-study procedure. Such a device would be a big step to separating the wheat from the chaff when developers start to pontificate about mixed signals from the commission.

A private road ordinance also garnered considerable attention from individual commissioners. Planners — as well as other township officials — feel the need to get a handle on private roads which spring up with regularity in exclusive developments. The township wishes to ensure proper control — read upkeep, safety, accessibility — for such arteries.

Other issues attracting high-priority attention were site condominiums standards, wetlands management and wetlands influence on cluster development density and studies of the mile road corridors. These topics rightly deserve commission study, but so does an issue that should be of import to everyone.

Green space. Open space. Recreation area. Call it what you will, but township lands unencumbered by development are slip-sliding away. Identifying the problem is easy; finding a solution is not. Centives to help preserve open space areas, but too often the incentives are insufficient to staunchly protect desirable areas. Beautiful trees will continue to fall, with spindly replacements the township's only recourse.

But while the township does not exactly throw out the development welcome mat, at the present time it cannot restrict growth, not even in devastatingly beautiful areas that will never approach their pre-development stature.

Perhaps better incentives are needed to promote public recreation/open space. And it just so happens we know of a great place to start.

Almost 1,000 acres on the township's south-central border awaits planners' zoning approval. Developer R.A. DeMattia has high hopes for a quick zoning thumbs up, and so do we. However, our land-use priorities may differ.

DeMattia has the option of developing under the township's planned unit development ordinance (PUD), a zoning function meant to spur creativity on the part of local government and the developer. At last word, DeMattia proposed a large golf course to satisfy PUD open space requirements. We think a golf course is a fine idea, but do not believe planners should limit open space talks to that proposal.

The township desperately needs recreation space. Cut DeMattia a deal on other portions of his land (Five Mile and Beck comes to mind), and wrangle promises to set aside a few acres here and there for recreation areas. Such dealings are neither unethical nor unprecedented and in this case should be pursued.

Let's face it, a championship-caliber golf course is a nice marketing tool, but how many of the township's average Joes and Janes will be able to use it? Do not forget what impact this proposed development will have on the Northville community. Children and adults from Huntington Falls homes will intensify the need for recreation and open space areas. Not everyone wants to play golf, and young people surely need healthy diversions.

The township would do well to put recreation and open space at the top of its priority list when considering the county land. Consider the use, ponder the need and visualize the future, especially when thinking about a stretched-to-the-seams township in 2010.

Is it raining cats and dogs?

Some township officials recently turned their attention to their non-voting constituents — cats and dogs.

In one recent meeting, the township board considered whether to conduct a dog census and also heard some preliminary discussion of cat control.

Now, the dog census I can see. There's a belief that many township dogs go unlicensed, which can conceivably be a health threat. In addition, it can mean lost revenue for the township, and everything counts in these uncertain economic times. The census is basically just supposed to find unlicensed dogs and get the owners to license them. It will almost certainly raise more money than it costs. Fine. Good idea.

But the question of cats also came up at the meeting. A cat-control ordinance was mentioned as a possibility worth considering. The idea scares me.

Full disclosure time: My wife and I own three cats. Now, we live in the city and our cats never leave the apartment, so maybe we have nothing to worry about. But this could still set a bad precedent. On a more immediate level, regular readers of this newspaper may recall that Phil Jerome, who now holds the esteemed post of executive editor for our Home-Town Newspapers chain, keeps about two dozen of the furry critters. (Maybe more.) The Jeromes do live in the township.

At the township board meeting, cat-control advocates apparently started discussing methods to keep the ferocious beasts at bay when cats come wandering where they're not wanted. (Do they wander anywhere else?) Small firearms (of the BB level) appear to be the deterrent of choice.

Yikes! Is the situation really that bad? If so, something does indeed need to be done. Maybe the cat owners (or, more appropriately, the cat-owned) can be persuaded to bring tighter control over their charges. Or maybe, as was suggested, an ordinance is the most effective route to take. Limiting numbers of cats? Requiring leashes? Perhaps it does beat the alternative.

See, things just can't continue as they're going. The cat-shooters might not see anything wrong with their approach. But I'd hate to see a cat get seriously hurt because it unknowingly crossed some illogical, human-created boundary of land ownership.

Far worse, however, is an outcome only a cat owner can foresee. If you've lived with them, you know they won't take this kind of punishment lying down. They'll start to arm themselves with some sort of feline arsenal the human mind can't even imagine. Sooner or later, the revolt will come — and then we'll all be sorry.

Pitching the state of the state

The way I see it, Gov. John Engler's State of the State speech last week had one hit, one passed ball and one wild pitch.

The hit was his emphasis on education.

Calling it his "one absolute spending priority," Engler wants to make this generation of Michigan children the "best educated in our state's history." And he drew the connection between well-educated children and jobs, "good jobs, secure jobs — right here at home."

Nobody doubts the linkage. Despite the well-publicized warning 15 years ago of a "rising tide of mediocrity" in our schools, America continues to fall behind our international competitors in educating our kids.

This is double true in Michigan, where our manufacturing base and tradition of high wages require our workers to be highly productive.

We have dilly-dallied far too long in Michigan about improving our schools.

Improvement won't come overnight. And that's where the passed ball comes in.

Engler seems to assume the only solution to our non-competitive labor force is in the schools. It isn't.

Consider the people working today whose skills are already low. They are unproductive and at grave risk of being displaced from their jobs.

Some estimate that one worker in four is functionally illiterate. Others show that fully half our manufacturing workers are behind their peers in Japan or Germany in their work-related skills such as blueprint reading or computer keyboarding. A national study showed that if you project the work force in the year 2000, fully 85 percent already have left school and are at work today.

Engler's concentration on schools may be fine for the future, but what of the more than one million Michiganders already in the work force?

Nothing. In fact, worse than nothing.

Among the celebrated budget cuts proposed by Engler are virtually the entire state system of job training, ranked as among the best in the nation. On his cutting board are the Opportunity Card project, the Michigan Training Incentive Fund and the entire Michigan Youth Corps.

Of the original $36 million for "employment training" and "job training services" in the Labor Department's budget, the Engler administration proposes to cut $31 million. That 85-percent slash is aimed directly at investments in the skills and productivity of Michigan's working people.

The wild pitch has to do with the controversial proposal to cut school property taxes by 20 percent.

Engler called it a "job creation tax," arguing that Michigan's property tax burden is among the highest in the nation, a barrier to economic growth and new business formation.

While it certainly is true that we rely far more on the property tax than we should and that high property taxes are one element that discourages economic growth, it by no means follows that cutting property taxes alone will stimulate growth. George Bush called that idea "voodoo economics" when he was a candidate in 1980.

Senate majority leader Richard Posthumus says Engler's proposals will work in Michigan "much the same way that Reaganomics provided a great economic boom in the 1980s in the nation." If that's so, take cover.

And to trade off important investments in our competitive skills — job training programs, for example — against reduced property taxes seems dubious public policy at best.

Please repair Waterford Dam

To the editor:
This is a plea from a very concerned Northville resident. A plea to Jonna Construction Co. about Waterford Lake. Please repair the dam and allow the lake to refill.

I wonder, has anyone from the company ever been here in the spring, when the 30 or more Canada geese raise their young on our shores, or seen the colorful wood ducks and mallards swim around in the lily pads with their young in tow?

Has anyone been here in the summertime, to watch the elegant swans swim and fly over the lake? Or watched the blue herons dip for fish, or admired the great white egrets, as they walk ever so slowly to spy a fish and scoop it up in the blink of an eye?

Or in the late fall and early winter when our summertime residents take flight to warmer places, when fascinating species of migratory ducks and banded Canada geese use the lake as a stopover to rest and feed before continuing their long journey south?

It is truly magnificent to watch hundreds of geese honking and circling the lake before coming in for a landing. I don't think you realize what a wonderful wildlife paradise you have here.

Wouldn't it be more gratifying to be known as the company that saved a little part of our planet, rather than remembered as the company that didn't care? A wonderful thought is, turn this lake into a wildlife preserve, invite birdwatchers to enjoy various species of waterfowl and woodland birds, there are plenty of each. Please read this plea, and search your heart for the humanitarian choice to make.

A very distraught birder

Stop by Mettetal and make your own decision

To the editor:
About Mettetal Airport.
The Mettetal Airport questions seems to have aroused emotion in many area residents. There have been charges and countercharges of hidden agendas and consequences to the public if the airport is either maintained as an airport or sold for other use. Country wisdom maintains that where there is manure, there are livestock. Hopefully, those who are concerned about this issue will sidestep the manure and look for the livestock.

So you will fully understand my interest in this issue, I am a pilot, part owner of a plane based at Mettetal and a resident of Northville.

While I believe that Mettetal enhances the community now and has tremendous potential for benefits extending well beyond us airplane types, that is not my message. Stop by the airport. Check it out and make your own decision.

Aviation is part of our heritage. No where in the world is aviation as accessible to the public as here. In many countries, aviation is an activity limited to the rich, famous and connected. Grass roots aviation is most accessible at community airports such as Mettetal. I often see people — individuals, families, kids, dreamers, pilots, former pilots — sitting on the picnic tables at Mettetal just watching the planes.

The captain of your next flight to Orlando or the American pilots in the Persian Gulf may not have soloed from our Mettetal. I bet, however, that each has that first logbook which records flights to other Mettetal-als that nurtured their aviation dreams.

Only a few years ago there were several small airports in this area. Westland National is buried under buildings and Salem appears more like a dump or junk yard than what used to be an airport. Mettetal is the last of its kind in Wayne County.

Airplanes, by nature, are portable and I can find another home for mine if Mettetal closes. We would lose something valuable in the process.

After weighing the volumes of wisdom advanced by both sides, I emerged from the barmyard with a simple conclusion. The next generation will inherit more than enough condos, industrial parks and strip malls but precious few Mettetal-als.

Tom Swigart

Service people should know of country's support

To the editor:
At a time when the men and women in our armed forces are facing their greatest test, we at home are facing a test as well. Our test is to maintain our unity and resolve, as our troops are doing in the Persian Gulf.

We don't want Saddam Hussein to take this country's tolerance for anti-war demonstrators as a signal he should wait out our resolve in a long and bloody war.

I'm outraged at the brutal treatment of our POWs. And I'm saddened to see the media give so much attention to the small number of anti-war protesters who have sprung into action. It seems that every time a few protesters pick up their signs, the cameras swarm around them, and they end up on the news.

Our soldiers have said that they have a job to do and are going to get it done. I feel I have a job to do, too. And that's to stand up in strong support of our troops.

I want them to know that I and the American people are very proud of them. We are all inspired by their bravery.

I hope that you'll print my letter, and others like it, in the days ahead. Thousands of local newspapers are reaching our men and women in uniform every day. Your newspaper may be one of them. I want the troops to know that we hold them in our thoughts and prayer every day.

Latest sign-up raises questions

To the editor:
Attn: Mr. John Anderson
We are upon our fifth year of participation in the Northville Junior Baseball program. I have the highest respect for the efforts of the Northville Recreation Department and understand the urgency of the need for more recreational fields for our children to play on. My questions to you stem from receipt of the flyer you sent out to returning players that we received on Thursday, Jan. 31.

My first impression was one of surprise in receiving this notification a month early. For the last four years our checks for sign-up are all dated within the first week of March. Receipt of this year's flyer gave us TWO DAYS' notice to the first sign-up on Saturday, Feb. 2. Listed near the top of the flyer is Park Surcharge, which states "the listed fees below include a $1.50 surcharge for park development." However, there were no fees listed, so I called the recreation department. The listed fee for T-Ball for the last four years was $21.50. This year it is $31.50. (I can compare only T-Ball as both of my sons have been at this level.) I asked why the fee has gone up so drastically. I was told it was additional monies for park development.

In past years I usually notice the community signs posted at entrances to the city that serve as additional notification of an upcoming sign up, a good two weeks in advance. This year's sign for Northville Junior Baseball was put up as quickly as the flyer was sent out.

I have been told that notification of this sign up was placed in a purple recreation flyer. I haven't seen this flyer and neither have a few of my immediate neighbors. In the last four years the flyer has listed birthdates of the player, the different levels of participation and the fees. This is pertinent information every parent needs.

My questions to you are:

1. What is the reason for the early sign up this year?
2. Why couldn't returning players be given more than two days' notice by mail of the Feb. 2 and 9

Carol Strauch

Continuing to improve system

To the editor:
This letter is a response to a letter from Mrs. Carol Strauch.

Northville Junior Baseball is an organization of parents and coaches involved in youth baseball and softball. The organization has a board of directors who operate the baseball and softball programs. They oversee the budget and expenses and also set program fees. Northville Community Recreation works in harmony with this organization by providing in-kind services, such as accounting, equipment storage and field preparation. As Recreation Director, I attend many of the board meetings.

In November the Northville Junior Baseball Board of Directors voted to increase the registration fees $10 per participant to raise money for baseball field amenities. The funds generated by the increase will be controlled by Northville Junior Baseball to be used to improve baseball and softball fields. This money is not to be confused with the $1.50 park surcharge which is earmarked by Northville Community Recreation for park development.

Northville Junior Baseball has experienced some untimely delivery of uniforms the past two seasons and has decided that more time was needed between registration and the start of the season.

They moved registration from March to February. Northville Community Recreation published the registration dates in its December 1990 brochure, which was bulk mailed to all postal customers of Northville. Unfortunately, computer problems severely delayed the mailing of the reminder notices to last year's participants.

Last year's reminder form included the registration form as well as all information. This year, in trying to streamline the team formation process, a two part registration form was used. A reminder, separate from the registration form, was mailed out. Unfortunately, some of the information was omitted. The reminder notice does need to be revamped. This will be accomplished before future notices are sent.

Northville Community Recreation assists Northville Junior Baseball by posting signs at the entrances to the city. The city's sign policy allows the signs to be displayed for only a two-week period. The signs were erected the first day allowable by the policy.

I concur with Mrs. Strauch that better and more timely information needs to be disseminated to all possible participants. I will work with Northville Junior Baseball to improve this.

Recreation Director

Children's reactions to divorce

In a recent Detroit Free Press article on children of divorce a group of therapists and counselors compiled a list of children's reactions to divorce. I feel that the list is so beneficial that it is worth being reported for those who did not read it.

CHILDREN'S REACTIONS TO DIVORCE

Toddlers: Blame themselves for divorce, confusion, aggression, return to security items, lapses in toilet training, emotionally needy.

Ages 6-8: Crying and sobbing, feeling abandoned and rejected, loyalty conflicts, sense of helplessness, hope parents will reconcile, anger.

Ages 9-12: Deep anger, physical complaints, sense of loss, shame, resentment, fear of loneliness, divided loyalties, such as anger toward the parent they blame for the divorce, school problems.

Teen-agers: Feelings of betrayal, anger, embarrassment, resentment, difficulty concentrating, chronic fatigue, feeling hurried to achieve independence, overdependence, testing parents' concern for them, siding with one parent, self-destructive behavior, troubles with the law, worrying about relationships.

It is important for parents to be aware of the reason why certain behaviors are being exhibited by their children. Some parents do not look beyond the specific behavior of the child to thoroughly understand what is going on in the child's life situation. If there is a clear understanding of the situation, the parents can help the youth deal with their feelings rather than the feelings coming out in inappropriate ways or the child not understanding what is happening to him or her.

If your child needs help dealing with their parents' divorce call Mary Ellen King at 344-1618 and help is on its way.

Mary Ellen King is the director of Northville Youth Assistance.

RECORD OUR TOWN

and the winner is...

We asked you to be the judge, and boy, did you respond. Hundreds of entries came pouring into the office of The Northville Record and The Nott as readers scrambled to fill out our questionnaire and choose the best restaurants in the Novi and Northville area.

In addition to choosing the best, you offered plenty of comments for us to chew on.

"We need more inexpensive restaurants," one person commented. Another said that if the music is too loud, it ruins the whole dining experience.

"I like to eat out but I am a picky eater," one person explained.

"Needs no Roloids," another cryptically announced.

The big winner in the survey turned out to be — for the second year in a row — MacKinnon's. The Northville establishment garnered first-place standings in the "Best Overall Restaurant" and "Best Atmosphere" categories.

In addition, MacKinnon's also rated high for service, desserts, seafood, soups and steaks.

The results of the 1991 restaurant survey are as follows:

Stephen Skinner/Genitti's

Best Overall Restaurant:

MacKinnon's
Second place for Best Overall Restaurant was Papa Romano's Pizza. Third-place winner was Country Epicure.

Best Inexpensive Restaurant:

Crawford's
Tied for second place in this category were Guernsey Farms and Denny's.

Best Service: Papa Romano's

(Novi and Northville locations)
Second place was MacKinnon's and third place was Country Epicure.

Best Breakfast Restaurant:

Crawford's
Second-place winner was Guernsey Farms and third-place winner was Bob Evans.

Best Sandwiches: Genitti's

Second-place winner was Papa Romano's and third place winner

It wasn't an election

It was a poll. It was not an election.

The idea was to ask our readers to fill out the form in their copy of the paper and nominate their favorites for best restaurants in several categories.

Cristina Ferrier

And the restaurants receiving the most nominations would certainly be deserving of praise. It would mean that a large selection of people, probably on their own and without consulting each other, chose them as best.

But a few restaurants in the area wanted the honor so badly that they actually campaigned for the titles.

At least one of them — Papa Romano's — even handed out the ballots to their customers, then collected the ballots and mailed them to us.

As a result, Papa Romano's won in three different categories. And it came close in several others.

Papa Romano's even received nominations in categories like "Best Seafood" and "Best Steak" — items they don't offer.

While counting the ballots, we began to wonder why so many envelopes were coming in with the same handwriting on them. Some of the ballots all had the same handwriting, too, but the names and addresses at the bottom were different.

They didn't coerce anyone into filling out the ballots or anything. They didn't even force people to nominate Papa Romano's for any of the titles. But by handing out the ballots to their customers, they did make it a lot more convenient for Papa Romano's fans — including many people who don't live in this area and don't read this newspaper — to nominate Papa Romano's.

Now we're not taking away Papa Romano's honor. There weren't any rules broken or anything. Hey, it was actually a pretty good idea from a publicity standpoint.

Besides, Papa Romano's is pretty good.

Just don't do it again, OK?

There is also a tragic note to the results of this restaurant poll.

Northville Charley's — winner by a landslide in the seafood category of our poll — closed its doors for good last Jan. 20, after filing for Chapter 11 bankruptcy in November.

Oh, if only they could have hung on a little longer! Maybe our readers could have alerted those who didn't know about what great seafood they had! Perhaps, merely by conducting this restaurant poll, we could have taken full credit for saving them from financial despair!

But there's always second-place seafood winner Red Lobster. And Bill Stavros, co-owner of "Best Steak" winner Red Timbers, mentioned that they fly their seafood in fresh from Boston.

MacKinnon's (above) won the "Best Overall Restaurant" title for the second year in a row. MacKinnon's also won "Best Atmosphere." O'Sheehan's (left) won the "Best Burger" title again this year. And Red Timbers (below) walked away with honors for "Best Steak."

Volunteering to help Desert Storm

SHIRLEY AND HENRY TILKKA

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

If you would like to show service men and women in Operation Desert Storm that people at home care, here is an opportunity suggested by Henry and Shirley Tilkka.

Henry is commander of VFW Post 4012 in Northville, and Shirley is his wife, a member of the auxiliary.

They have taken on an assignment of mailing T-shirts, inscribed "Operation Desert Storm" to specific service persons, including name and address of donor.

As a volunteer, you would address mailing envelopes or insert the shirts and appreciative letters from local civic groups into them.

This is an idea originated by Roxanne Casterline. She arranged with Perrin Screen Printing to design and print the shirts, which an individual could buy for $17.95 apiece, have it sent to a specific service person, and receive an extra one free.

When Perrin completed an order of 200, it was to be delivered to the VFW

Post. Why the VFW Post? Henry answered, "Roxanne knew we have a bulk mailing permit."

As for postage, when Henry and his quartermaster, Bob Schmidt, went to the post office with a mailing, Bob Priebe presented them with $100 raised by local postal employees for postage.

Soon other groups were inspired to make contributions. For example, Gordon's Office Supply donated the envelopes, and Allen Terrace residents took on the job of filling out the customs slips.

More than 1,000 shirts have been mailed out, and the end is not in sight because more and more people are buying shirts to be sent.

"It's an outpouring of patriotism," commented Shirley. And Henry added that "it comes under the heading of community service and Americanism," which are two parts of the VFW program.

If you want to take part in this project, call the VFW Post at 349-9828 to find out when a mailing needs to be prepared.

If you purchased advertising in the 1989-90 directory, a name will call on you to renew your ad before March 4. Businesses not previously listed may call Jenda Mills at 349-1698 or Debi Lopez at 348-8577 to purchase a classified ad. The Mothers' Club directory will be distributed to 15,000 families in the school district. All proceeds will be donated to the Northville schools.

Belle Starr was 'Bandit Queen'

The Detroit House of Correction, before it was located along Five Mile Road, once housed the most notorious, tootinist pistol-packing mama of them all.

Belle Starr, born Myra Belle Shirley in around 1848, was not the beautiful, glamorous figure of Hollywood and other legends. Rather, she was a notorious, somewhat unattractive horse and cattle thief who roamed the country mainly trying to elude the law.

Even books about her tend to romanticize her outlaw days, referring to Belle Starr as the "Bandit Queen," proudly pointing out that she was never convicted of holding up a train, stagecoach or bank, and that she never killed anyone. But she was hardly a saint.

Belle Starr was not born into crime. Her parents were well-respected citizens of the Missouri community where they lived. But when the family moved to Texas in the mid-1860s, her father's tavern became a favorite gathering place for ex-Confederate refugees like themselves who were fleeing the border states during the turbulent Civil War years.

According to Belle Starr biographer Phillip Steele, "Many ex-Confederate families felt the activities of . . . outlaw bands like Jesse James and Cole Younger's were somewhat justified, and offered them food and protection whenever possible. Such was the feeling of Judge John Shirley and his family."

Thus, Belle became immersed in the company of such people. In fact, Cole Younger may have been the father of Belle's first child, a daughter, Pearl.

Belle made the acquaintance of another member of these infamous groups, Jim Reed, and the two ran off suddenly to get married despite her parents' strong objections.

Reed became a wanted man after he killed two men in cold blood, and the Reeds decided to hide out in California. There, Belle had another child, a boy called Eddie. The family lived peacefully for a number of years until law enforcement authorities caught up with them.

This split up the family, with Reed hiding out in Indian Territory and Belle and the children returning to Texas. As the wife of an outlaw, however, Belle's life was never to be the same again. She was eventually indicted for arson and later jailed for horse theft in 1875.

Jim Reed was shot and killed by a one-time friend who had hoped for the reward of $5,000, which — to his dismay — he never received. Belle, meanwhile, left her children with Reed's mother in Missouri and went to live in Kansas.

There, she married Sam Starr, known by some as "a Cherokee Indian gone bad." Belle's alliance with the somewhat wilder elements of the old West gave her a reputation that she seemed to live up to. After her marriage to Starr, Belle and her new husband went on a horse and cattle-stealing rampage that one account considered "unequaled in the history of Oklahoma."

The couple were arrested and transported in a railroad prison car to Detroit where they were sentenced to one year at the Detroit House of Correction.

Margaret Dunning scholarship grows

Community Federal Credit Union's Margaret Dunning Scholarship is growing in leaps and bounds.

In 1989, the first $500 scholarship was awarded. With additional contributions from Community Federal and donations from individuals outside the credit union organization, last year the recipient received $1,000.

This year Community Federal is proud to announce that in addition to the $1,000 scholarship, we are offering a second $500 scholarship, "said James Cantrell, general manager of the credit union. Community Federal is one of the few credit unions in the state to offer two academic scholarships of this magnitude.

Community Federal established the Margaret Dunning Scholarship Fund in recognition of Margaret Dunning's 23 years of volunteer service as a director of credit union's board of directors, serving 19 of those years as president. The scholarships are a tribute to Dunning's tireless efforts and profound achievements as a leader at Community Federal and in the community at large. They were created to benefit students studying the business, vocational, financial or technical fields. In addition, the scholarships allow the credit union to return a portion of its continuous efforts to promote credit union uniqueness.

Applications are now being accepted; the same application form is used for both scholarships. The deadline is March 1. All applications will be reviewed by a committee of credit union members; the top two candidates will be chosen and the funds will be awarded this spring.

Everyone applying must meet the following guidelines:

1. Reside within the communities of the charter of Community Federal (Plymouth, Canton or Northville; or the counties of Montmorency or Osgood).
2. Be (or become) a member of Community Federal.
3. Be attending or have graduated from an accredited high school; and, document grades earned during junior and senior years.
4. Be between the ages of 17 and 20.
5. Provide written recommendations from three present or former instructors.
6. Provide a history work experience.
7. Outline community and/or extracurricular involvement.
8. Identify financial need.
9. Write a paragraph outlining goals, aspirations, college and career plans.
10. Be enrolled in business, financial or industrial/skilled trades courses; state anticipated date of program completion.

Applicants may be male or female. Applications may be obtained by stopping at any Community Federal office or by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Margaret Dunning Scholarship Committee, Community Federal Credit Union, 500 S. Harvey, Plymouth, 48170.

Second opinions about the Fantasy

By IRIS SANDERSON JONES
Travel Writer

I spent several hours looking for Colleen Flynn on board the cruise ship Fantasy, but I didn't make contact until after we both got home.

Colleen, who lives in Wolverine Village, north of N.Y., is the southeast Michigan Director of Sales for Carnival Cruise Lines.

I found John and Edie Fuller on the dock at Port of Miami, just after I disembarked. I was standing in the Florida sun waiting for my husband to bring the car around when I looked down and saw the luggage tag: "Farmington Hills." John works at The Travel Authority in Southfield.

I was looking for these people because I wanted a "Michigan opinion" on what Carnival Cruise Lines calls the Super-Liner Fantasy. But first I wanted to know how the ship fits into the overall cruise picture and why you, my reader, would like it.

There are several ships doing three- and four-day itineraries, but Fantasy is the first new ship that was built specifically for that market. Royal Caribbean followed with its ship, Nordic Empress. Apparently these three- and four-day cruises are particularly popular in southeast Michigan.

"In 1990, one out of two cruise travelers in southeast Michigan picked a three- or four-day trip," Colleen said. "Las Vegas is always a very popular destination from here and I think that many travelers find the short cruise an alternative to Las Vegas. We have the largest shipboard casino in the world, although we don't focus on it."

"A lot of different people choose short cruises. We're heavy on business travelers and two-income families that don't have time for a long vacation. The Fantasy also suits people on a limited budget, because they can't afford a longer vacation."

Colleen does a lot of seminars with travel agencies to reinforce the basic truth of cruising: travelers should pick the ship that suits their style and a good travel agent can help them do it.

"If people want a formal experience, black tie at dinner, they should choose another ship. If they love casual, and don't want to wear a suit and tie for dinner, they love the Fantasy," John Fuller agrees.

"There is a cruise ship to fit every traveler. The Fantasy is glitzy, Royal Caribbean's Nordic Princess does the same three- and four-day itinerary and is more upscale."

"Cruise ships share more or less the same itinerary, they all have casinos, most of them have pretty good food, so you pick for style, price and maybe ports of call."

Fuller says that short cruises are also great for honeymooners or those who want to try cruising before they commit themselves to a longer cruise.

"They all offer packages that include Walt Disney World. Number one in that category is Premiere Cruise Lines, which sails out of Port Canaveral."

An alternative is the Chandris ship Britannia, which does a five-day budget cruise to Key West, Playa del Carmen (near Cancun, Mexico) and Cozumel, Mexico.

Fuller thinks the Fantasy is "quite a ship" and that it is a great way to test the cruise market in an atmosphere of glitz and glamor.

Fantasy answers a lot of questions that people ask: are ships confining, do they rock, is the food good? Fantasy is very large but it is easy to get around and not at all confining. The food is good. It's so stable that it's like being in a hotel. You could almost forget you are at sea.

Fuller suggests you ask your travel agent about cruise discounts.

Tourists catch some rays on the deck of Carnival Cruise Lines' new ship, The Fantasy

Cruising to Nassau aboard the Fantasy

By IRIS SANDERSON JONES
Travel Writer

When you board the cruise ship Fantasy, officially called the SuperLiner (sic) Fantasy, your first impression is light, glitz and color.

If you have met Joe Farcus, or have been to the Crystal Palace Resort & Casino in Nassau, you'll understand why. Joe is the architect and interior designer for Carnival Cruise Lines, which owns both the Palace and the Fantasy, and he loves to paint the world with colored lights.

You board The Fantasy on the Empress deck, where you follow the lights into the Grand Spectrum, an atrium that gleams and glows and blinks with light. The two elevators going up six decks and down again are painted in red neon. The 20-foot-high kinetic sculpture is a rotating cylinder of changing colors.

Tiny light bulbs follow the spiral staircase to the second floor, where various shipboard facilities that surround the mezzanine are signed in light. You have to climb the Grand Staircase to see ancient Egypt at work in Cleopatra's Bar and Pavilion, but that's Joe Farcus all over.

In case you missed it, the Fantasy is a very large cruise ship launched in 1990 to sail short three- and four-day cruises from Miami to Nassau and back. It is 855 feet long, weighs 70,367 tons and could carry 2,634 passengers if every bed and bunk were full.

I took an overnight "Cruise to Nowhere" offered to travel agents and travel writers, which means we boarded one afternoon and disembarked early the next morning. The coastal lights of Florida were always in view.

That brief experience gave me a good look at the ship and its facilities, including cabins, bars, restaurants, etc. It gave me a good taste of the ship's style. Carnival aims at a fast-paced younger crowd for its fun ships, although I have cruised with people of all ages on their ships.

My overall response to the ship was that it gives you a lot of glitz and glamor for a reasonable price, with comfortable staterooms, good food, and interesting and innovative bar and entertainment areas. It is easy to get around in, in spite of its size.

You can have a lot of fun in a very busy, 21st century movie-scene setting. If you prefer a quiet, more elegant atmosphere, you might prefer another new ship in the three- and four-day market, the more upscale Nordic Empress described elsewhere on this page.

When you board any ship, your first moves are to check out the cabin, read the day's activity list, sign up for the early or late dinner seating, and find your way among the entertainment facilities.

As in most of the new ships, the 54 outside suites and demi-suites on the higher decks are grander and more expensive, and the 19 inside cabins with upper and lower beds at the bottom of the ship are smaller and less expensive than the standard cabins.

There are 566 outside twin cabins and 383 inside twin cabins, all with more or less the same layout—two twin beds that convert to kings on demand, a bathroom with shower, plus television and telephone. You can only use the telephones close to shore and they are expensive.

Tip: On older ships, the standard cabins got better as you climbed to higher decks. Since these standard cabins are much the same on every deck, you may not choose to pay the higher rate to be closer to heaven.

Rates for a three-day cruise range from $500 to $1,000 per person, including air fare. The four-day cruise costs about $100 more. Rates go down about $20 per person April through May and again in November. Check your travel agent for good discounts right now, when everybody in the travel industry is cutting rates to attract clients.

The layout of the Fantasy makes it easy to get around, because the atrium is the focal point and everything spreads out from there. A polished steel walkway called Century Boulevard meanders for 450 feet through a half dozen watering holes on the Promenade Deck.

There are always passengers talking and drinking at tables, wandering in and out of the Electricity Discotheque or walking through the giant milk can that forms the entrance to the Cat's Lounge.

My favorite hangout was the Cleopatra Bar and Pavilion overlooking the atrium on the Atlantic Deck. There were always passengers sitting on the high leather stools while the round piano went round and round in the round bar. The library and reading areas of the Pavilion looked a little lonely, but the area was well stocked with books, games and quiet corners.

If you have ever cruised, you know that the whole experience revolves around food—multi-course breakfast, lunch and dinner, with midnight buffets and afternoons tea thrown in to keep your sugar level aloft. Like most cruise ships, the Fantasy offers a wide array of excellent food and lots of glitz to go with it.

The evening stage show we saw in the Universal Lounge was good news/bad news. The show was brisk and musical, with good stage settings, but you should get there early enough to sit on the ground floor. Upstairs you are looking through glass panels and railings that cut your view of the stage nearly in half.

It takes a few hours for passengers to realize that Joe Farcus has his colored lights, on a computer, which makes them change slowly from one color to another as the day and night progress.

By morning, when the round piano has stopped rotating, and the authentic Egyptian life-sized figures are staring in stone across the atrium, the lights on the railings and the shops have dimmed to white, leaving only the red neon elevators to go up and down in a rising and falling show of light.

For more information about the Fantasy, contact your travel agent.

New cruise ship earns top marks

By IRIS SANDERSON JONES
Travel Writer

I asked Dallas Phillips of Phillips Travel Service Inc. in South Lyon if he could find me somebody who has sailed on the Nordic Empress, one of the two new cruise ships that entered the three/four-day cruise market in 1990.

I was lucky. Dallas has worked more than once with Linda Gasparotti of Plymouth, who calls herself "a frustrated travel person who would like to be in the travel business but never had the chance."

Dallas Phillips organized a trip for Linda when she took the Plymouth-Canton Marching Band to Orlando to march in the electric parade at Walt Disney World, and then on to march in the Orange Bowl on New Year's Day 1989.

There were 254 people on that trip, including band members, families and friends. Not bad for somebody who doesn't think of herself as being in the travel business.

"Last February I took a group to Toronto to see 'Phantom of the Opera,' and we had so much fun together that we decided to do a cruise," Linda said. "We picked a week in January 1991 when all the college kids would be back in school."

"We flew down on Eastern Airlines tickets the day after the war broke out! But Dallas looked after us, so we all got home without any trouble."

We asked Linda to write us a report about their three-day trip from Miami to the Bahamas aboard the Nordic Empress. Here it is:

"Being on the Nordic Empress was a very pleasant experience. Phillips Travel bills Royal Caribbean Cruise Lines as 'a cut above' and it certainly is just that. Food and service were outstanding!"

"Many of our 37 people were first-time cruisers. This trip 'wet their whistles' for cruising, so now they are planning longer cruises. Our group was kept together at eating times, which kept us in touch with one another each day."

"Cruising is very economical, with food, sleeping quarters and air fare included. It was painless, because Royal Caribbean met us at the airport, transported us to a hotel and to the ship, and our luggage appeared in our cabin. Couldn't have been easier. They did all the worrying and the work."

"Many of our couples took low-rate cabins and the ship automatically upgraded their room levels, from inside to outside cabins. Some upgraded by paying a little more."

"Lower cabins do feel more ship movement and noise, and they are smaller. However, cabin service was good at all levels."

"The Nordic Empress is a beautiful ship. All the entertainment was fun. One of our group won the hula hoop contest and another came in second in the twist contest! There was always something to do."

Rates in 1990 ranged from $530 to $1,105. For more information on the Nordic Empress, contact your travel agent.

Famous golf holes are in Brighton

By DENNIS TOPOLINSKI
Staff Writer

Few golfers will ever experience play on the spacious fairways of Pebble Beach or the rolling terrain of Spy Glass Hill.

But now, due to technological advancements and the efforts of two Brighton men, area golfers can play world-famous golf courses in Livingston County.

Sonny Cherry and Marv DiLaura pooled their resources last year and began the development of an indoor facility which features golf simulation machines, adventure golf, driving cages and a video game room.

Now, after four months of design and construction, Brighton's Golf-O-Rama is complete. On Feb. 15 the new attraction — located at 2944 Old U.S. 23 — opened to the public.

And Cherry and DiLaura are excited that the public will finally get to view their half-million-dollar project.

Cherry, who brainstormed the idea, is especially looking forward to the opening.

"This has been a dream for a long time," said Cherry, who also owns Artistic Tops in Brighton. "I think it really turned out gorgeous."

Gorgeous is just one of several words which could be used to describe the contents of the 12,000-square-foot building.

Golf-O-Rama is surrounded by fluted brick walls and its 16-foot-high cedar ceiling overlooks an 18-hole adventure golf course, complete with waterfalls, trickling streams and several two-ton boulders. The entire course has a jungle flavor to it.

Cherry and DiLaura contracted Lutz Building of Au Gres to construct the facility. This project marked the 19th course Lutz has designed.

The owners said the indoor facility will operate year-round.

"We discovered that one of the biggest problems outdoor miniature golf courses face is the mosquitoes," said DiLaura, owner of DiLaura Electric. "This course will never have problems like that. It's completely air-conditioned in the summer and heated in the winter."

The new Golf-A-Rama in Brighton allows golfers to practice their swings before videos of famous golf courses.

Through their research, Cherry and DiLaura said they also discovered that a lot of people, especially youths, would rather play nine holes than 18.

"A lot of kids don't have the money to pay for 18," Cherry said. "So we will have separate rates for nine and 18. We want this to be a family recreation center."

In addition to the adventure golf, there are the four Par-T Golf machines which boast 9-by-12-foot screens that simulate world-famous courses such as California's Pebble Beach, Portugal's Quinta do Lago and North Carolina's Pinehurst.

Indeed, the simulators are sights to behold as they beckon the swing of any avid golfer.

At a cost of $28,000 apiece, the Par-T Golf machines are the next best things to the actual courses.

Each simulator is equipped with its own tee, putting green, screen, computer and printer. As many as eight participants per simulator can play on the 18-hole course.

All a player has to do is enter his or her name on the computer, step up to the tee and drive the ball into the nylon screen. Special devices measure the speed and direction of the ball and then on impact, a simulated golf ball picks up on the screen where the real ball left off.

A player then watches as the ball travels across a river or into a patch of trees.

The view then advances to where the ball landed and play continues.

While this is going on, the computer tabulates all the scoring.

DiLaura said shots hit on the courses are accurate to within less than three feet of where they would actually be.

"We understand people from this area have been driving to Grand Rapids to use the machines there," Cherry said. "So we think they are really going to catch on here."

Golf-O-Rama will be having year-round leagues on the Par-T golf machines as well as at the adventure golf course.

"With all the phone calls we made around the country," Cherry said, "we think we are the only center that has an indoor facility that has incorporated adventure golf and the Par-T golf."

Verdi Opera comes to Northville

Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall Restaurant in Northville announces two evening performances of the "Verdi Opera Dinner Theatre" on March 7 and March 21 at 7:30 p.m. All arias are performed live by the Verdi Opera Theatre of Michigan.

The standard seven-course dinner, served family-style, in addition to old-world atmosphere and humor of John Genitti makes this evening a rare treat.

"For opera lovers this is a must," said John Genitti. "Toni and I have been wanting to do something like this for a long time."

The Genitti family, of John, Toni, Andy, Laura and Christina, as well as the many employees, make guests feel comfortable and relaxed. The family-style dinners are reminiscent of a large Italian wedding.

"We will explain the story line, scene and content of each aria to our guests," Genitti explained. "We will help them appreciate opera, even for our guests that have never been exposed to opera before. Our guests have come to expect something different and exciting from us. We will continue to provide an enjoyable evening of dinner and entertainment."

Genitti's is also known for its Murder Mystery dinner theater. Performances are every Friday night at 7:30, and include the seven-course dinner.

"The Lottery," by Shirley Jackson, calls for six male and five female leads as well as extras and some small children.

"Who Calls," by D. Campton, calls for six female roles.

"The Lottery," a drama, is one of the most disturbing and perhaps one of the most successful short plays ever staged. It's an unusual play that builds swiftly to its crucial climax.

"Who Calls" takes place in a kitchen of a Victorian mansion where the servants are trying to adjust to the incredible fact that their mistress is lying dead upstairs. Tension builds to the climax when a bell rings from the upstairs room.

The production, set for early May, is directed by Linda Wickert. For more information call 349-2728.

MORE AUDITIONS: Northville Players announces auditions for its spring melodrama, "Her Fatal Beauty (or a Shop Girl's Honor)" on Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 25 and 26, at the First United Methodist Church of Northville, located at 777 W. Eight Mile Road at Taft Road, at 7:30 p.m.

Production dates for the melodrama will be May 3, 4 and 5 and Sept. 14 and 15 at Northville's Victorian Festival. The May productions will be done at Mill Race Historic Village. ## It's tea time at Plymouth museum

The Plymouth Historical Museum announces the opening of a new exhibit, "It's Tea Time," featuring the artifacts and collectibles associated with an afternoon tea.

Tea pots, tea sets, tea cups, children's tea sets, tea tins, caddies and spoons along with antique silver, linens and lace will be featured in this elegant ritual. The exhibit will also include a collection of Victorian figurine and napkin rings.

Afternoon tea became a national habit in England during the 19th century. Fashionable society lunched just after noon; dinner parties did not begin before 7 or 8 p.m. To forestall hunger pangs, the upper classes took tea and cakes in the late afternoon.

The lower classes embraced the custom and 4 o'clock tea became an English institution that quickly crossed the Atlantic to America.

"The Plymouth Historical Museum is located at 155 S. Main St. in Plymouth. Hours are Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday from 1-4 p.m., and Sunday from 2-5 p.m. Admission is $1.50 for adults, 50 cents for students 5-17, under 5 free, and a family rate of $4.

SHAKESPEARE: The return engagement of Brian Bedford in his one-man show, "The Lunatic, The Lover & The Poet," opens with a special performance hosted by The Understudies, the theater's community fund-raising arm, at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 26, to benefit the theater's Renovation Fund. Additional performances are Feb. 27 and 28, also at 8 p.m.

Bedford played to three sold-out houses at the Hilberry last season. In a review in the Detroit Free Press, critic Lawrence DeVine wrote, "As it stands, the sold-out brief run that concludes tonight gets what old Prospero wants in the sure-fire finale for 'The Tempest,' for Shakespeare himself and for Bedford too: to please and to enchant."

"The Lunatic, The Lover & The Poet" opened in New York City in December. New York Times critic Mel Gussow stated, "Although it employs no scenery and only minimal changes in lighting, the show achieves a theatricality, principally because of Mr. Bedford's zeal for his subject and his versatility as a classical actor." Noting that Bedford had performed only Moliere and no Shakespeare in New York he added, "The Lunatic, The Lover & The Poet" is a partial compensation for that oversight, presenting this fine actor in tragic, comical and historical guises."

Tickets for the Feb. 26 benefit performance are $75 per Benefactor ($55 tax-deductible) and includes a pre-party, the performance and an afterglow, $50 per Patron ($35 tax-deductible) and includes the performance and afterglow. ## Mustangs fall 71-68; Hawks win title

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

The WLAA Western Division basketball trophy will be at home in the Farmington Harrison trophy case for at least a year, but it could have just as easily found its way into Northville High School.

The Mustangs were less than a minute away from an undisputed division title on Feb. 15, but the visiting Hawks outscored Northville 3-0 down the stretch to win the game 71-68 and give Harrison sole possession of the crown.

"We gave them a run for their money and would have been the champs if we'd have won, but Harrison did what they had to do in the final minute," Mustang Coach Omar Harrison said. "We met the challenge, took them to the wire and our kids played well. We didn't win, but I wasn't disappointed in the effort."

Harrison finished with a 4-1 mark against division opponents. At 3-2, Northville dropped into a second-place tie with Plymouth Canton and Livonia Churchill.

The Mustangs got off to a poor start last Friday, and were trailing by as much as 13 in the early going. The Hawks connected on four three-pointers and led 23-12 at the end of the first quarter. Dan Height paced Harrison with three triples.

"We were down by a lot very early and it could have taken the heart out of our kids, but we hung in there," Harrison said.

The situation changed drastically in the second quarter. Behind the scoring of Paul McCreadie and Chris Lehr — who combined for 21 points in the quarter — Northville took the lead with three minutes remaining and held a 40-33 advantage at halftime.

"We started to hit our shots and things really started happening," Harrison explained. "We attacked the basket, got some high-percentage shots and made them. We also made 12-of-15 free throws."

That offensive firepower quickly vanished in the third quarter, however, and Harrison regained the lead with a 17-8 scoring advantage.

"We became passive on offense and didn't attack the basket like we did in the second quarter," Harrison explained.

After struggling to gain ground, the Mustangs finally knotted the scored at 68-68 on a bucket by Ryan Huzjak with less than a minute remaining. After a Harrison timeout, the Hawks worked the clock down and then took the lead for good when Andy Smith drove the baseline, hit a layup and was fouled. His free throw made it 71-68 with three seconds remaining.

Northville called a timeout but failed to get off a good shot when the inbound pass was tipped by a Harrison defender.

"Smith's three-point play was the game right there," Harrison said. "He's their bread and butter player and he made the big play when they needed it."

McCreadie paced the Mustangs with 21 points and 11 rebounds and Lehr came off the bench to score a career-high 18, including eight key points in the second half. Mike Lang chipped in 12 points and Huzjak added nine points and seven assists.

Smith led all scorers with 26 and Height scored 15.

NORTHVILLE 71, WALLED LAKE CENTRAL 51: Northville registered its fifth win in a row on Feb. 12 against the Vikings.

"Central is not a bad club, so we felt good about the outcome," Harrison said. "It wasn't as much of a blow-out as the score indicates, but we really put them away down the McCreadie (23 points, 11 rebounds), Huzjak (19 points, eight assists) and Lang (14 points) were the big Mustang contributors.

"Huzjak hit three three-pointers in the second half and that helped put us up by 10," Harrison said. "He really gave us a boost."

Northville (11-6 overall, 7-4 in the WLAA) will open the conference playoffs tomorrow (Feb. 22) on the road against an undetermined opponent.

Tankers trounce Canton

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

Northville secured at least a share of its second straight WLAA Western Division swim title on Feb. 14 with a 118-68 road win at Plymouth Canton.

The visiting Mustangs notched nine firsts and broke three Canton pool records en route to the team's eighth consecutive dual-meet victory.

"I thought it was going to be a little closer, but we swam well," Northville Coach Mark Helden said. "The kids knew this was for the division title."

Senior standout Eric Newton was involved in all three pool-record efforts, including an individual first-place finish in the 500-yard freestyle event (4:47.76). Newton joined Bob Holdridge, Brad Cook and Matt VanHorn (1:43.29) to establish the new standard in the 200 medley relay, and the foursome came back to repeat the accomplishment in the 200 freestyle relay in a time of 1:32.31.

The other Northville firsts came from Holdridge in the 200 IM (2:06.17) and the 100 breaststroke (1:05.72), Newton in the 50 freestyle (23.14), Larry Osiecki in diving (career-best 289.75 points), Cook in the 100 freestyle (50.86), and Jim Fee in the 100 backstroke (1:01.31).

The seconds included Jason Fisher in the 200 freestyle (1:58.81), Tom Parry in the 200 IM (2:12.62), Cook in the 50 freestyle (23.47), Steve Lang in diving (284.25 points), Fee in the 100 butterfly (58.48), VanHorn in the 100 freestyle (52.61) and Todd Lennig in the 100 backstroke (1:03.9). The thirds came from Dave

Olympics-bound

After years of training, Northville's Jerod Swallow (above) has finally achieved his goal of competing in the Olympics. Swallow and ice dance partner Elizabeth Punsalan of Ohio qualified for the 1992 Olympic Games by placing first at the 1991 U.S. Figure Skating Championships in Minneapolis last weekend. Swallow and Punsalan needed to place in the top two to qualify for the Olympics, but stunned the crowd by placing first — ahead of favorites April Sargent and Russ Witherby — with a unique race-car routine. The world championships in Munich, Germany are up next for the champs.

Mardossian and Khashan advance to wrestling finals

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

The Mustang wrestlers batted .500 last weekend in their quest to qualify individuals for the MHSAA State Meet.

Seniors Brandon Mardossian and Kevin Khashan placed in the top four at the Individual Regional Tournament on Feb. 16 at Plymouth Salem to advance. Two other regional qualifiers did not.

"I was happy to get two guys through, and we had a third that was very close," Northville Coach Bob Boshoven said. "It would have been nice to have three at the state meet."

Mardossian went 2-1 on the day to finish in second place in the 135-pound division. He topped Dave Whitforth of Temperance-Bedford 10-2 in round one, and then advances to the finals with a 12-2 decision over James Muscato of Ypsilanti. In the title bout, however, Mardossian fell 10-5 to Trenton's Marc Famularo.

"Brandon lost to the same kid that beat him in the finals of the Garden City Invitational," Boshoven said. "I thought he did well, and by placing second, he will avoid the top regional qualifiers in the early rounds of the state meet."

Mardossian, who transferred to Northville after spending his freshman year at Livonia Stevenson, becomes the first wrestler in school history to qualify for the state meet three times. He currently sports a 27-4 record.

"There are only 16 wrestlers left in each of the weight divisions," Boshoven said. "I think Brandon still has a shot at being a state champion. If he wrestles up to his potential, he definitely has the ability to place (top-six)."

Khashan placed fourth at 130 to grab the fourth and final qualifying spot, but a nagging back injury could hamper his chances at the state meet. Khashan topped Drew Pullen of Ann Arbor Pioneer 5-1 in the first round, but was pinned by Jeff Randolph of Ypsilanti in 4:54 of the next bout.

In the consolation bracket, Khashan slipped past Livonia Stevenson's Brian Mitchell 7-6 in overtime, but was forced to default in the consolation finals because of the back.

"We didn't even let Kevin on the mat because his back was really bothering him," Boshoven explained. "He's in a lot of pain. I don't know how he finished his overtime match in the semifinals — it was all courage and skill."

The loss to Randolph was Khashan's first of the season. He is now 26-1-1.

BRANDON MARDOSSIAN

"I don't know if Kevin can get healthy enough to place at the state meet," Boshoven admitted. "When he is healthy, he is one of the best wrestlers ever to come out of Northville."

Jason Vertrees was one victory away from making the Northville contingent a threesome at the state meet, but it didn't happen. After dropping a 17-2 decision in round one to Greg Simmons of Trenton, Vertrees came back with an impressive win against Howell's Tony Baruzzini. The Mustang senior downed Baruzzini — a district champion — in 4:00. But in the consolation semifinals, Dearborn's Jake Jakubowski came back from a 7-3 deficit to pin Vertrees at 4:04 and end his hopes.

Northville's fourth regional qualifier — sophomore Matt Allison — dropped his first two 119-pound matches and was eliminated quickly. He was pinned by Mike Scully of Romulus and David Norton of Ann Arbor Huron.

The MHSAA State Meet will be held on Feb. 22-23 at the Kellogg Arena in Battle Creek.

Athletes of the Week

LARRY OSIECKI

The Northville swim team boasts two of the top divers in the state — Larry Osiecki and Steve Lang. The two have spurred each other to an avalanche of personal records, school records and pool records this season. In Northville's 118-68 win over Plymouth Canton last week, it was no different. Osiecki registered first place in the event, and notched a career-high point total of 289.75. We think he is a deserving recipient of our "Athlete of the Week" award.

ASHLEY MacLEAN

Senior volleyball player Ashley MacLean had a very productive week for the Northville spikers, and that's why "Athlete of the Week" honors are heading her way. In a five-game win against Westland John Glenn on Feb. 11, MacLean connected on 24-of-32 hits and registered 13 kills. Two days later in a four-game loss to Livonia Churchill, MacLean chipped in with six kills and was 17-for-20 in the hitting department. The Mustangs are 17-9-2 overall.

Mustang gridders are 'good sports'

GOOD SPORTS: Local residents will be pleased to hear that Northville's 1990 football squad was the recipient of a sportsmanship award presented by the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA).

The Good Sports Are Winners! program was introduced by the MHSAA last year as an effort to reward high school teams that exhibit and stress sportsmanship as an important part of educational athletics. In the each of the three seasons (fall, winter and spring) the MHSAA presents district, regional and state honors for teams displaying the most exemplary sportsmanship by coaches, athletes and spectators.

The Mustang team was one of 76 regional winners throughout the state last fall and will receive a commemorative plaque as the Class A Region Eight football honorees. Even though over 800 teams will be recognized for their efforts at select MHSAA tournaments during the course of the 1990-91 school year, it's an honor that shouldn't go unnoticed.

UNIFORM UNIFORMS: In support of United States armed forces involved in the Persian Gulf War, the National Federation of State High School Associations has adopted a policy effective immediately to allow interscholastic athletic teams to display the American flag on any uniform.

The only restriction in the policy is that the flag be no closer than two inches to the uniform numbers or located between dual numbers. The policy will be in effect for the remainder of the 1990-91 school year or for the duration of the war.

Most Federation rule books recommend that any such ornamentation be limited to uniform pants. The basketball rule book specifically prohibits ornamentation on uniform shirts, but the latest policy supersedes the rule book in this instance.

KVC POWER: The much larger Western Lakes Activities Association is normally stronger athletically than the Kensington Valley Conference, but not so in wrestling this year. At the conclusion of the regular season, the seven-team KVC sported a squad ranked among the top five in the state (Howell), while the 12-team WLAA didn't have a team in the top 10. In addition, the KVC featured no less than five state-ranked individuals (Bryan Perkins, Milford; Steven Hein, Lakeland; Mike Gowans, Novi; Kevin Klebba, Howell; Kyle Steinacker, Howell), while the WLAA sported none.

LET'S GET THIS STRAIGHT: The recent flap concerning the resolution discouraging the Detroit Tigers from building a new Tiger Stadium in Novi brings up some interesting developments.

If you read the Brighton Argus, you know that this Livingston County city to the west is fighting developers from turning their fair city into "another Novi." And if you listen to Novi City Manager Ed Kriewall, you'll see that the recently passed resolution is an attempt to guard Novi from being another Auburn Hills, which is the home of the Palace and the Detroit Pistons.

That brings up the logical question in this bizarre triangle: Does Auburn Hills want to avoid becoming another Brighton?

Does exercise effect cholesterol?

By BARRY FRANKLIN
Special Writer

A close family friend, who generally runs 25 to 40 miles a week, recently approached me with a perplexing question. "How come I do all this exercise and my cholesterol level still averages between 260 and 280?" he asked.

His question actually led me to two other questions. First, does endurance exercise alone favorably affect blood cholesterol levels and, second, could exercise-induced changes in blood cholesterol simply be due to related factors—for example, dietary changes, or reductions in body weight and fat stores.

To answer these questions, we should first emphasize that all cholesterol is not harmful. Total blood cholesterol is the "bad" form that deposits inside blood vessels, narrowing them. In contrast, high density lipoprotein cholesterol, or HDL-cholesterol, actually helps to clear blood vessels—a human "Drano," so to speak. Consequently, it has been referred to as "good" cholesterol.

Recently, the results of 95 studies were collectively analyzed to assess the effects of the exercise training per se on total and LDL-cholesterol levels. The results from these studies were divided into those where the subjects gained, maintained or lost body weight.

When body weight remained unchanged, total and LDL-cholesterol levels decreased only slightly, 7 and 3 points, respectively. Considerably greater decreases were noted when the subject's body weight decreased. On the other hand, when the exerciser's body weight increased, both total and LDL-cholesterol levels actually increased.

The influence of exercise on HDL-cholesterol levels has been extensively reviewed. Cross-sectional and longitudinal studies have shown increased HDL-cholesterol values in endurance exercise as compared to a similarly aged sedentary person. Some scientists have suggested that these increases are due to chemical changes in the body.

Other researchers, however, believe that the increases in HDL-cholesterol are largely the result of reductions in body weight and fat stores. Indeed, most exercise programs that have elicited significant increase in HDL-cholesterol have involved a substantial caloric expenditure. Typically, participants walked or jogged 10 or more miles per week.

In summary, it appears that exercise per se probably has only minimal effects on total blood cholesterol and its major constituents, LDL and HDL. If maximum positive changes in these blood fats are desired, exercise training should be combined with dietary modifications and body weight losses.

The best way to reduce body weight and fat stores is through sensible caloric reduction and regular endurance exercise involving large muscle groups that are used in a repetitive manner, as they are in walking, running, swimming, rowing, and cross-country skiing.

Barry A. Franklin, Ph.D., is director of Cardiac Rehabilitation and Exercise Laboratories, William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak and associate professor of physiology, Wayne State University School of Medicine.

Exercise probably has only minimal effects on total blood cholesterol

Myrna Partrich/Fitness

Safety is a key to muscle strengthening

Dear Myrna: I would love to be stronger. I'm a 23-year-old woman who has been working out about five years. I just started using light free weights. I don't like machines. Can you explain more about muscle strengthening?

Now that you've started using light weights, let's talk safety. There is a lot to learn about muscle strengthening.

Each muscle is made up of thousands of string-like fibers. When you contract any muscle against resistance, at first you actually use only a small percentage of the total number of fibers in the entire muscle.

Each successive contraction with the same weight recruits additional muscle fibers. After enough contraction, the muscle produces lactic acid, then the fatigue point. Continuing to lift weights after this fatigue point can lead to injuries.

If you want to become stronger, pick up the heaviest weight you can lift comfortably and press it eight times, if possible. Do this three times per week. As you become stronger, you will be able to lift that weight more times.

Begin to do sets, eventually leading to two sets of eight. When you can do this comfortably, add weight slowly in this fashion.

Lifting lighter weights faster and for longer periods of time along with large, lower body movements can help aerobic endurance.

All women can benefit from lifting weights. Women tend to have weak upper bodies. A strong upper body can help a woman's daily chores such as lifting, carrying, etc.

There are three types of contractions:

Isometric contraction: The muscle develops tension but does not change length. You hold this contraction and feel the muscle.

Isokinetic contraction: The muscle develops tension at a constant rhythmic speed. Pressing iron with a full range of motion.

Isotonic contraction: When the muscle shortens as it develops tension with movement, contracting without a full range of motion.

While lifting weights, you might want to try all three different types of contractions. Young muscles will get a good overall workout.

It is self-gratifying to feel strong. I find it also helps exercisers' mental attitudes.

Myrna Partrich, co-owner of The Workout Company of Bloomfield Township and a recent appointee of The President's Council on Physical Fitness, is happy to answer any questions readers may have regarding exercise. The Colfax

Family elegance

BY JAMES MCALEXANDER
Copley News Service

The elegant and sprawling Colfax is made for a family who wants more than the basics.

From the outside, glass windows stretch the length of both stories, giving the home a cathedral look. Inside, the four-bedroom, three-bath house features every creature comfort, from pantry to French doors off the master suite.

Colfax visitors find the foyer the gateway to the house. To the right is the formal entertaining area. To the left, awaits the more casual family room and kitchen. And to the north, stairs lead to the second floor, which contains three guest bedrooms and a full bath.

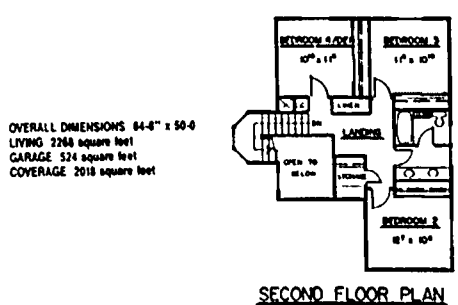

Guests to the downstairs living room gaze outside through tall, stylish windows. The dining room blends into this sunlit arena. French doors lead from the dining room to a wood deck overlooking the back yard.

Over in the blue jean section, kids can romp in the family room while the cook prepares dinner on the eating bar in the gourmet kitchen. This allows the chef to be part of the conversation and part of the intimacy.

A utility room complete with a laundry chute sits off the family room on the way to the two-car garage.

Behind the family room is a master suite that opens onto the deck through beautiful French doors. A cavernous walk-in closet makes dressing and undressing easy. And a separate full bath for the man and woman of the house ensures them their privacy.

Upstairs inhabitants can peer down to the first floor while leaning on the railing. All three bedrooms empty into a main upstairs hall. Linen closets and a twin-sink vanity bathroom make second-story living easy.

For a study plan of the Colfax (288-13), send $7.50 to Landmark Designs, c/o HomeTown Newspapers, 323 E. Grand River, Howell, MI 48843 (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

"Solid core wood or metal doors offer greater protection. It's important for the door and frame to fit properly, not be shimmed. If doors are fitted properly, it is more difficult for a burglar to force the door."

BY MARILYN HERALD

Prevention is worth a pound of cure! It's an old saying, yet the truth of it remains as valid today as when it originated many years ago.

Prevention can help protect your home from burglaries. That's the word from Sgt. John Stakoe, crime prevention officer for the Milford Police Department.

"Keeping your home safe and secure is one of the homeowner's main concerns," Stakoe said, "and we want to help. Building security is a major interest."

Stakoe's recommendations to homeowners in his area are practical ones that apply to homes everywhere. "I provide full security surveys of homes and commercial buildings and make suggestions concerning doors, locks, windows, and things like that. The home walk-through takes about 1-1/2 hours."

But what Stakoe would like even better than doing walk-throughs is for builders and purchasers of homes to seek his advice on burglar-proofing the home in the construction phases. He suggested contacting your area police department for safety suggestions while the home is still in the planning stages.

Operation I.D. in which you engrave your Michigan Operator's License Number (12 digit number prefixed by the first initial of your last name) on all valuable possessions is the first step

Home Security

Experts offer advice on protecting your home

Stakoe recommends for home security. Many police agencies will loan an electric engraver to homeowners so that they can engrave the numbers on metal, wood, plastic and other surfaces.

While hollow core wood doors may look great and be economical when building a home, according to Stakoe, they offer only minimum security. "In the majority of calls we get on B & Es (breaking and enterings), the door has been kicked in or forced in some manner."

"Solid core wood or metal doors offer greater protection," Stakoe added. "It's important for the door and frame to fit properly, not be shimmed. If doors are fitted properly, it is more difficult for a burglar to force the door."

Hinges should also be the non-removable or pinned type.

While spring-latch locks are a poor risk for everyone but the burglar, single-cylinder deadbolt locks with at least a one-inch throw or rim locks offer a good measure of security.

Bob DiLorenzo, of Lyon Lock and Key in South Lyon, said his business of installing new locks has picked up considerably. "A lot of older residents are having deadbolt locks put on. You need one with a long throw. They cannot be opened simply by running a credit card through the latch as a spring latch can."

Many new homes these days have sliding doorwalls and windows which, if not properly secured, are an invitation to burglars. Stakoe recommends placing a bar of metal or a wood pole in the lower track to prevent opening. Screws placed in the upper track will prevent lifting the sliding panel out.

Several locking devices are available and a good one should be installed on sliding doorwalls when a home is built, Stakoe added.

Latches on most double-hung windows are not sufficient to prevent easy entry, according to the police officer. Security can be improved by a simple and inexpensive method of drilling a hole from the bottom of the top sash through the top of the bottom sash at a slight downward angle. Insertion of a hinge pin, large nail or dowel will help secure the window against someone attempting to force it open.

REAL ESTATE

Mortgage lenders sometimes have a heart

BY JAMES M. WOODARD
Copley News Service

Mortgage lenders really do have compassion when the occasion calls for it. And many such occasions have surfaced since the start of military action in the Persian Gulf.

"When my husband left for active duty in Saudi Arabia, our family income was cut by about 93 percent. I don't know how we could have continued to pay our mortgage payments if our lender wasn't cooperative."

Mrs. Lisa Percival made that comment while discussing her current financial situation. Her husband, Dr. Herbert Percival, now serves in the 403rd Combat Army Surgical Hospital in the gulf area. Mrs. Percival is one of many spouses in households where one partner is now on active duty.

Percival was a well-established orthopedic surgeon in his California community before receiving the call to active duty. The family includes two children, age 7 and 14.

The family's home mortgage payments were totally suspended by the lender, Security Pacific Bank, until Percival returns from active duty. Mortgage payments on a commercial property were also suspended by Ventura County National Bank. On another commercial mortgage loan, by Valley Federal Savings, the interest rate was reduced to 6 percent.

"I can't say enough for these mortgage lenders," Mrs. Percival said. "They have been very cooperative and quick to respond in our time of special need."

With military action under way in the gulf area, the relief from mortgage loan payments helps the families cope with a very stressful situation.

"Our children are apprehensive but holding up well," Mrs. Percival added. "We live for the phone calls we receive from my husband every three or four days."

Actually, the law requires lenders to provide a certain degree of mortgage relief for families in which the income provider is called to active duty. The Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief Act of 1940, and amendments to the act in 1942 limit mortgage interest rates to 6 percent. It also affects some installment contracts, purchase agreements, rent payments and leases.

Addressing mortgage loans, the act states, "No obligation or liability bearing interest at a rate in excess of 6 percent incurred by a person in military service prior to entry into such service shall bear interest at a rate in excess of 6 percent per annum...."

Reducing a home mortgage interest rate to 6 percent can translate into substantial savings for the homeowner. For example, if the existing home loan interest rate is normally 11 percent and the outstanding loan balance is $100,000, the owner would save about $2,500 over a 180-day tour of duty.

For more information on provisions of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief Act, discuss it with your mortgage lender, a judge advocate general's office or an attorney.

In some cases, lenders are going further than the law requires in providing needed relief for today's military service families.

"We are glad to provide special help for these deserving families and will respond promptly to their call for assistance," said a senior vice president for lending administration.

Other lender officials made similar pledges.

In cases where the existing mortgage has been sold to Fannie Mae (secondary buyer), the funds sacrificed to help the family are absorbed by Fannie Mae.

Other special assistance has recently been offered to people, called to active duty. For example, real estate brokers and salespeople who are members of the National Association of Realtors may have their dues suspended during their tour of duty. They still maintain active membership status.

Q. Are single home buyers on the increase?

A. Definitely. In fact, a third of last year's first-time home buyers were single individuals — up 25 percent from the previous year.

The trend is primarily due to more younger people opting for career development instead of marriage during the early years of their economic lives and higher divorce rates. The number of households headed by single people will continue to grow, according to a demographic study conducted by the National Association of Realtors.

However, singles are not a strong segment of the move-up market (people selling one home and purchasing another). Last year, singles represented only 16 percent of that market. Move-up buyers are often motivated by a need for more space. And that's usually a family with children.

Q. Is the Federal Trade Commission investigating the National Association of Realtors for possible antitrust abuses?

A. The FTC will neither confirm nor deny such an investigation. Rumors of that type have been bouncing around for decades.

Send inquiries to James M. Woodard, Copley News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, CA 92112-0190.

What's most popular in the garden of today ?

Trendy favorites

- Cut flowers are enjoying increasing popularity, with gardeners selecting varieties for color, stem length, fragrance, etc.
- Everlasting flowers and grasses are being grown for use in dried bouquets, wreaths, potpourris and other crafts.
- Plants suited to container culture are big sellers, with more people moving to apartments and condos.
- Space-saving, colorful and ornamental vegetables such as Oriental eggplant and multicolored radishes reflect space squeeze in home gardens. Seeking beauty and natural flavorings, these gardeners grow herbs such as rosemary and mint.

Copley News Service/Dan Clifford

BY PATRICK DENTON
Copley News Service

I would venture to guess that most of us don't garden to be "trendy." Still, it's interesting to stack one's own personal plant preferences against current North American home gardening trends.

Friends in the seed and nursery business fill me in from time to time on what types of plants are enjoying the greatest popularity among home gardeners. Last summer a representative of one of the largest garden firms on the continent outlined his perception of what is capturing the gardening public's interest.

According to this source, cut flowers are enjoying an enormous popularity. People often start off by seeding cut flower mixes, and from there slowly evolve into discriminating cut flower growers as they begin selecting individual varieties with the Greatest personal appeal in such things as color, stem length, fragrance and so on.

A twin interest to the cut flower vogue is a surging fascination with everlasting flowers and grasses, and with using them in dried bouquets, wreaths, potpourris and many other crafts. I suppose this trend was bound to catch on as more gardeners discovered how easy it is to grow most dried-flower type plants, and as they noticed how amazingly productive everlastings are.

Even if the flowers, grasses and pod are never gathered for drying and using indoors, such plantings are still winners. By their very nature "everlasting," the plants just sit there looking wonderful all summer in my garden, with no care but the odd watering. I routinely use everlastings in sunny parts of the garden I don't want to fuss with. If planted fairly close together, the solid growth even crowds out weeds.

Plants suited to container culture are big sellers too. This I suppose is at least partially a reflection of increased urbanization and the diminishing size of home gardens. And hordes of home gardeners, for one reason or another, move from their homes into apartments or condominiums every year. For most of these people, containers become their gardens.

Even home owners with ample space in which to garden enjoy the aesthetic perks of assembling colorful containers on outdoor stairways, beside doors, and on patios and decks. These, together with baskets of flowers hanging from the house, constitute the home's seasonal dressing, its celebration of summer.

Popular demand for space-saving vegetables also reflects the space squeeze in home gardens and an increase in container gardening. Abbreviated zucchini bushes that produce loads of fruit on plants just 18 inches across are invaluable to a home gardener cramped for space. Beautiful, compact sweet pepper plants, small Oriental eggplants and patio-type tomatoes for growing in pots are naturals for people with limited space for their edible gardens.

People are going for the colorful and ornamental in vegetables too. Multicolored radishes, yellow tomatoes, purple beans, gleaming red sweet peppers, shiny golden zucchini and frilly purple basil are just a few of the items that gardeners value as ornamental highlights in the edible garden. Herbs too are enjoying a pronounced revival, as part of a currently popular craving for natural flavorings in food.

According to my source more home gardeners are growing some of their own perennials from seed, perhaps in part for economy's sake. But maybe too numerous gardeners are thinking as I do that they can grow plants of borderline hardiness more successfully if the plants develop from birth in the environment where they are to spend their lifetime. Then too, growing them from seed is often the only way to obtain some of the more unusual and little-known perennial plants.

Home gardening in general is certainly enjoying a lively boom, as one would expect in this age of increased preoccupation with the environment. We can't replace destroyed rain forests, nor can we personally make the planet pollution-free. But the gardens we plant do help to purify and replenish the air as they beautify our neighborhoods, and the vegetables and flowers we grow bring restoration of body and spirit.

Home security

Doors with glass window panes also allow easy entry by the burglar. The problem can be corrected by use of a break-resistant polycarbonate or acrylic to replace the glass. Decorative grillwork can be installed to cover the glass or the door can be replaced with a solid core wood or metal door with an optical viewer.

"You shouldn't have breakable glass within 40 inches of a lock," Stakoe said, adding that all homes should have good locking devices.

Interior doors to basements should also be solid construction and secured with a good lock. "Most homeowners don't keep their interior basement doors locked, yet a basement window is often the most accessible to a burglar," Stakoe explained.

Since a dark, unoccupied-looking home is an invitation to burglary, the police recommend keeping front and rear porch lights on when you are away. Inside lights on a timer are also effective. Lighting is a proven low-cost deterrent to crime, Stakoe pointed out.

In doing a home security survey, Stakoe looks particularly at three points that can offer open invitations to burglars—external lighting and landscaping, walls, doors and windows; and interiors, such as basement doors.

"Don't landscape the house out of sight and have plenty of exterior lighting," the police officer said. Tall landscaping that comes right up around the doors and windows of a house offers good hiding places for would-be burglars.

"Every citizen should be a Neighborhood Watch member," Stakoe said. "I can't believe how many people don't know their neighbors any longer."

A Neighborhood Watch member's objective is only to report anything suspicious. Members do not take any direct action other than to notify police of anything unusual that may be going on in the neighborhood or at a particular house, Stakoe pointed out.

Neighborhood Watch programs establish a formal network for concerned citizens to report emergency problems to their local police departments.

Stakoe, who works with home associations to set up Neighborhood Watch programs, highly recommends them for every area. If it is a subdivision, it can be broken down into streets with a block captain or leader for each street. It is the leader's responsibility to get more members and coordinate the program.

"It's also a support network," Stakoe noted. "If a person is victimized, they will have someone to lean on."

"Anything that can reasonably be construed as suspicious should be reported. If we had Neighborhood Watch programs in all of the 36 square miles of the Milford area, we would have 4,000 pairs of eyes helping us."

The police officer said most burglaries take place between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. on weekdays because that is the time when many people aren't home. "I can't believe how many people leave their garage doors open when they go to work. It shows the burglar that the house is probably empty."

Stakoe explained that a stranger knocking on the door and asking for someone you've never heard of in the neighborhood is a possible clue that burglars are casing the area. "They knock on doors and if you answer they go on to another house. If they don't get an answer, they force the door and go in."

Home security systems are becoming increasingly popular, but Stakoe cautioned homeowners that it is not necessary to go overboard on these. "I recommend a homeowner buy only an alarm system that is Underwriters Laboratory Approved (UL sticker attached).

"Also, it's wise to find out where the listening station for the alarm is. It should not be too far away. Those companies that have 800 numbers may be some distance away, even in another state."

Security systems may include motion detectors, magnetic tapes on doors or electronic eyes. They have an annunciator (communicating alarm), sensing devices and control devices.

The control device is pre-set by the owner so that he or she has 15-30 seconds to deactivate it. Homeowners who do not remember to deactivate their system upon arriving home are frequently the cause for false alarms the police receive, Stakoe said.

Since a would-be burglar may try to deactivate the alarm by interrupting the electric power to the home, it is wise to have a back-up battery pack. "Any reputable security company will sell the battery pack along with the system," Stakoe explained.

He also said do-it-yourselfers can install their own basic security system for approximately $500 on an average home. "You can go on up to $2,000, but it usually isn't necessary."

Nineteenth century crock is valuable

BY JAMES G. MCCOLLAM
Copley News Service

Q. The enclosed mark is on the bottom of a 16 inch vase. It is oval shaped and is painted with floral sprigs and buds. It has cobalt blue bands at the top and bottom.

I would appreciate any information you can provide, as this vase has been in our family for many years

A. Your vase was made by Riessner Stellmacher & Kessel (also known as the Amphora Porcelain Works) about 1900. Similar vases have sold in the $265 to $285 range.

Q. You have written about World's Fair items being popular collectibles. Can you give me some idea of the value of a sugar bowl and cream pitcher marked "Columbian Exposition" on the sides and "Coalport—England" on the bottom?

A. The Columbian Exposition was held in Chicago, commemorating the discovery of America (1492-1892).

Your sugar and creamer were made by the Coalport porcelain factory and would probably sell for about $165 to $185

Q. Can you tell me anything about a 4-gallon stoneware crock marked "Burger Bros. & Co., Rochester, N.Y."?

It is decorated with a cobalt blue flower and leaves. It has straight sides with hand holds.

A. Your crock was made in the late 1800s and is a choice collectible. The fact that it is marked by the maker and nicely decorated makes it worth at least $300.

Q. Can you tell me when "The Operator's Bell" 5-cent slot machine was made and what its value in good condition might be?

A. "The Operator's Bell" slot machine was made by the Mill's company as early as 1910 and there aren't many of them around. Sales records are scarce but a realistic estimate would be about $8,000 to $10,000.

Q. Please tell me whatever you can about a Belleek porcelain sugar bowl marked with a snake and the name, "Willets." It is decorated with baskets of pink roses and has a pedestal base.

A. Your sugar bowl was made by Willets Manufacturing Co. in Trenton, N.J., about 1900. Willets produced a fine quality porcelain to compete with Irish Belleek.

A dealer would price this sugar bowl at about $165 to $185

"THIS IS EXACTLY WHAT WE NEEDED!"

Bob and Mary Beth Irwin

"This is what we thought when we drove up to the model. We went inside and fell in love with the condominium and best of all we were thrilled to discover that it was within our price range. After looking at 20 other condominiums we had found our new home at Briarwood."

Nowhere else could we find a quality built detached condominium surrounded by nature, with terrific building allowances at a price we could afford.

We're pleased and proud to call Briarwood Condominiums of Novi our new home."

UNTIL NOW, THE VALUE OF ADVERTISING WAS SOMETHING EVEN ITS STRONGEST SUPPORTERS COULDN'T PUT INTO NUMBERS.

They could cite success stories of advertising going into a market, how this was followed by a shift in purchase patterns, in market share, in immediate sales.

But no one expressed the value of advertising as return-on-investment until The Strategic Planning Institute did its study* called PIMS (Profit Impact of Market Strategy) with the Ogilvy Center for Research and Development.

The study found that advertising nearly doubled return-on-investment! The graph on the left makes it perfectly clear.

Brands that advertise much more than their competitors enjoy an average return-on-investment of 32 percent. Brands that advertise much less than their competitors average 17 percent.

The PIMS study provides the first systematic evidence that links advertising, profitability, and growth. It draws on more than 700 consumer businesses in North America and Europe, spanning the years 1970 to 1986—years of both rapid and slow inflation, both good and bad years of the business cycle.

The graph on the lower right shows further evidence. It represents the competitive performance of two actual brands over a 10-year period, as analyzed by Robert M. Prentice, a management consultant in advertising and marketing. He distinguishes between consumer-franchise-building (CFB) activities (whether advertising or promotion) and non-CFB activities.

Brand A used predominantly price-incentive promotions. Brand B spent approximately the same amount. However, most of the money went into consumer-franchise-building activities—particularly advertising and promotion.

In the first year, the two brands were nearly even in their category. But after 10 years in which they took dramatically contrasting approaches to the spending of marketing funds, they ended up in remarkably different positions.

Brand B had become a resounding success, not only in terms of its sales performance versus Brand A, but also in terms of its contributing profits to the company.

For brand franchise owners and managers, the insight into how advertising contributes to profitability will be as interesting as how much it contributes.

For more information, you can write to The Committee on the Value of Advertising, Department A, American Association of Advertising Agencies, 666 Third Avenue, New York, NY 10017.

Now that there's finally proof of advertising's true value, there's only one thing you need to do.

Take advantage of it.

Try a 'feel good' coffee break

By DAWN NEEDHAM
Staff Writer

Theresa Sundman thinks she has something new to take the place of the 15-minute coffee break in area offices and businesses.

The 15-minute, on-site revitalizing massage, to be specific.

Sundman, a massage practitioner, will come to offices and massage workers right in their own work-places. No need to travel to a busy salon, no need to schedule time before or after work, just take a few minutes out of your day, push away from your desk for a while and let her massage away all of those tensions associated with a busy day.

Sundman is the owner and sole employee of Vital Tech Accumassage, based in her New Hudson home. She is willing to travel to any business in the South Lyon/Milford/Northville/Novi area and perform invigorating upper body massages that combine the principles of both massage and acupressure.

She explained that the technique combines acupressure and massage in a 15-minute choreographed exercise.

"Massage is more muscle manipulation, where acupressure is pressing certain points along the body," she said.

Sundman, who previously worked at a South Lyon chiropractor's office and currently works at a Farmington Hills salon, has been a massage practitioner for about five years. She wanted to "try something new," she said, which led her to enroll in a seminar to learn on-site massage.

"I thought that would be a good way to learn new techniques I could apply to my current job," Sundman said. "When I took the class I wasn't really thinking of going into business for myself."

But when she mentioned the idea to some of her clients, they reacted so favorably she thought she would try it, Sundman said.

"I thought, so many people I do massages for are professional people with job-related stress — they're in public relations, doctors, lawyers, people that work with computers. I thought this way I could reach people who really need it."

"When a person is under stress, their muscles tense up without them even being aware of it. I can often tell what kind of work a person does by their tense muscles. Tense muscles in the upper neck are common with a desk job or someone that works on a computer. A beautician will too, from holding her arms up all day long."

"The idea of massage can be very uncomfortable for some people. This way, it's in their environment, they're fully dressed and it's very comfortable for them."

Sundman shows up at the location bearing a large wooden box with a handle — kind of a very large briefcase.

It's actually a portable chair specially designed for the on-site massage. Sundman opens the chair, the client sits on it and she goes to work.

When the massage is over, she folds the chair back up and is on her way in just a few minutes.

"What's so nice about this on-site is that it's not limited to people in the business field," she said. "I could go to golf courses or anywhere else."

Sundman will come to a location and perform the 15-minute massages for a minimum of three people, although she will make an exception if it's in South Lyon, since her travel distance is so short. The fee is $19 per person.

"I really wanted to make it accessible to a lot of people," she said.

One of the reasons the massage session can accomplish stress relief in 15 minutes is its highly choreographed nature, Sundman said.

"They teach you how to use your body as levers," Sundman said. "Every step that you do, you have a certain stance, you lean in with your body, so I'm not overly exerting myself. I'm not a real big person, so that's how I can do so many massages. By using my hands, forearms, elbows, and knowing the steps I can use my whole body."

The 15-minute accumassage relaxes and energizes the person, Sundman said. The sequence begins with working on the back and the lower back, then shoulders and then hits points down the back and the arms and the hands. She works on one side, then the next, then the neck and head (she always asks first if the person would mind a scalp massage) and then she has the person do some neck stretches and Sundman winds it up with percussion — short, sharp strokes to leave the person energized, not so relaxed they're ready for sleep.

"It's all to relax them but it doesn't leave them sleeping," she explained. "Ending with the percussion, which rejuvenates the person, can increase their productivity."

She cites studies that indicate regular exercise can result in less absenteeism for the employees and adds a more productive employee," she said.

"Many times people don't know a massage can help. I've had some people who didn't even know how stressed out they are until after the massage, and they've never been so stress-free. Massage has a sedative effect on the nerves and the body remembers that good feeling. Sometimes if people get a massage for a gift, I joke with them and say, 'Now, did you know this can be addictive?' the same principles can apply to

"If a person does feel good in a job, not tense and stressed out, they'll be if you do something that's good for you you're going to want it again."

Her available hours are flexible. To set up an appointment, call Sundman at (313) 486-0484.

Pass The Legacy On ...

Two hundred years after the signing of the Constitution Americans are still working to pass the legacy on. U.S. Savings Bonds can be a valuable part of that legacy. With market based rates, federal income tax deferral privileges, a cushion from state and local income taxes, bonds are a safe, competitive investment for the individual and a way to help America grow.
