Erosion damage may be mended

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

A local family's property, damaged by extensive erosion caused by a redirected stream, could be repaired within a few weeks.

Northville Township officials, nine Michigan Department of Natural Resources representatives, and D & T Construction's Vincent DiLorenzo met at the township hall Monday to discuss a plan to stop the erosion eating away the backyard of a township home.

The meeting was closed at DiLorenzo's request, but all involved parties agreed that progress was made at the meeting.

DiLorenzo still must have written plans approved by the DNR before he begins work to restore Sump Drain on the former Thomson Sand and Gravel site.

"We ask him to put stuff on paper that we talked about today," said Barry Horney, district supervisor of the DNR's land and water management division.

Horney said the DNR's main concerns were erosion near the north end of the development and the water level of the redirected stream.

DiLorenzo said he expects to begin work on the site within a week or two. But first, his engineers must provide a written plan to the DNR.

DiLorenzo's plan offers only a temporary solution to the environmental problems caused by the redirected stream. Construction on the Shores of Northville development is not likely to begin before repairs are made to the land, Horney said.

"The kinds of things he needs to address (for construction to begin), he wasn't ready," Horney said.

But a speedy solution to the erosion problem north of the development was what everyone hoped to see.

Walters goes; search is on for successor

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The Plymouth City Commission voted unanimously Monday night to name Steven Walters as that city's new manager, the same night that the Northville City Council began discussing how to replace the man who's been Northville manager since 1973.

Plymouth Mayor Ralph (Jack) Kenyon said the commission was happy to have a new manager lined up for that city.

"We're especially glad to have Steve," he added.

Kenyon anticipated that Walters would become more involved in Plymouth government now that the move is official. "I expect he'll be increasingly involved," Kenyon said. "He and Gordon (Jaeger, current Plymouth city manager) are already talking shop a lot, and I expect that will increase."

Plymouth's assistant manager, Paul Sincok, will be acting manager between Jaeger's departure May 1 and Walters' arrival in Plymouth June 1.

Walters will earn a base salary of $66,000 for the Plymouth position, 9 percent more than his base Northville salary. He'll also earn a $4,800 car allowance in $400 monthly payments.

Northville officials gave Walters a 9-percent raise last year, bringing his annual salary here to $60,580. He earns an additional annual $800 in longevity pay and a $3,000 car allowance.

The Northville City Council agreed to meet 10 a.m. Saturday, March 23, to discuss the steps the city should take to find a new manager. The decision was made at Mayor Chris Johnson's request.

"I just want to set up general parameters on what the notice would be, and general job description," Johnson said. "I think the other thing is we want to agree on a general time line."

The council would decide "where we're going to advertise, what we want to advertise, what kind of qualifications we're looking for," Johnson said.

Johnson said the city council will not seek the help of a private firm to find a new manager but will handle the process itself, possibly with some assistance from city auditors Plante & Moran of Ann Arbor.

"I think it would slow the process, to get a particular firm to be the consultant to find our city manager," he said. "I think we're lucky in a way that Steve's going to be so close. I guess the phone is going to be ringing (in Plymouth)."

Walters advised the council to move quickly in advertising for a new manager, pointing out that the next twice-monthly publication of the International City Management Association comes out April 8, and the publication needs advertisements 10 days in advance.

In an interview with the Record last week, Johnson anticipated little trouble obtaining qualified applicants for the Northville position.

"I think the Northville job is a fairly desirable job and we would be able to attract . . . good candidates," he said. "I think overall it's going to be an attractive place for people to look at . . . It's still a desirable community."

Manager talks of his, city's future

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The Record talked with longtime Northville City Manager Steven Walters just after he agreed to become Plymouth's new city manager last week. Walters, who served as that city's assistant manager from 1967-1970, will move back to Plymouth June 1 under the three-year contract approved Monday by the Plymouth City Commission. Walters was considered for the position last year, but current Plymouth City Manager Gordon Jaeger was hired instead. Jaeger has since decided to step down.

RECORD: Do you hope to be aboard here and talking to the incoming Northville city manager if that's possible, if the (Northville) city council gets that far in the search?

WALTERS: I think that's the city council's business, what schedule and process that they want to use for finding a replacement . . . They've got several different options. They could appoint an interim person; there might be somebody locally here who'd want to be acting for three months or six months or something . . . In this case of course, there's the luxury that I'm a local phone call away, so it's going to be practical enough for the new city manager to get what information he'd want to from me.

RECORD: So there might be a small period of time without a manager?

WALTERS: If you found the right person, and if you did your interviews fast enough, and he didn't have to give his employer more than two weeks notice, somebody could be here June 1. But that's not some kind of inherent thing. That's kind of a policy view that the council would have to discuss, I would assume, and decide some kind of general schedule, and make a decision on whether they need to get some kind of an interim person or not.

RECORD: Do you see anybody in the city who'd be able to step in on an interim basis?

Police imposters swindle woman

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

A 77-year-old Plymouth woman knew she was becoming a fraud victim, but her fears did not prevent her Northville bank account from becoming several thousand dollars poorer.

The woman appears to be the victim of a con artist team that posed as Plymouth police officers.

A man identifying himself as a Plymouth police officer contacted the woman at her Plymouth home March 13 at 8:30 a.m., according to police reports. He said money was being taken from her checking account, and he had some of her checks in his possession.

Within minutes, the man arrived with a woman he introduced as a Plymouth police officer. He presented a badge.

"They came in like a whirlwind," said the woman, who asked that she not be identified. "Police, I understand, don't do that."

She knew they were phonies within 15 minutes, the 77-year-old said. But fear for her physical well-being forced her to go along with the scam.

"I was afraid, especially with a man here, and no one would have known if something had happened to me," she said.

The man told her someone was withdrawing money from her bank account at Michigan National Bank on Five Mile Road in Northville.

The couple remained at the woman's house for two hours, and made one telephone call before joining the woman in her car on a trip to the bank, where she signed a check for "a considerable sum of money," police said.

The female subject accompanied the Plymouth woman into the bank and instructed the woman to call her Judy and pretend to be her aunt while in the bank.

The check was cashed, a teller counted the money, and the woman handed the money to the female police imposter.

The female subject instructed the Plymouth woman to give her the money so it could be funneled back into her account and monitored to see who was trying to remove it.

Police are uncertain if the fake police actually had one of her checks, or if the check she signed while at the bank had been in her possession the whole time.

A bank cashier, the Plymouth woman and the female subject each counted the money.

The female subject told the woman she would be picked up in front of the bank by the male subject. The Plymouth woman has not seen the alleged con artist team or her money since then.

"I'm just heart-broken about it. I never thought I'd be a victim of something like that," the Plymouth woman said.

The female suspect is about 5 feet, 2 inches tall, in her late 30s, and has a heavy build, weighing about 180 pounds. She has shoulder-length blond hair and was wearing pink pants, a white blouse and sweater.

The male suspect is about 5 feet, 2 inches tall, in his mid-40s, and has a medium build, weighing about 190 pounds. He has brown eyes, short, brown hair and a mustache. He was wearing a dark suit with a white shirt.

Police in Northville and Plymouth are working together to investigate the incident.

Study recommends deputy manager

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The city manager's workload is "excessive" and the city's various departments need "a more structured communication process," according to a detailed report of Northville's administrative and financial functions by Plante & Moran.

The Southfield auditing firm recommended that the city hire a deputy manager to ease the manager's workload, review the city's financial statements and forecasts, and oversee a proposed city finance committee.

The city auditors unveiled their report at Monday's city council meeting. The council commissioned the study last November to analyze the need for a deputy city manager, a need the auditors had suggested in their annual 1990 city audit.

Auditors Mark Nottley and Jim Eagan were on hand Monday to review the report's findings and recommendations.

Nottley said his firm interviewed about 20 city employees and reviewed past financial statements and annual budgets, "so that we could give you an overall sense of where the strengths and weaknesses were, and where improvements could be made."

Nottley cited several of Northville's strengths in his presentation.

"I've probably conducted 50 of these studies, generally with small to mid-sized cities, and this is a relatively sophisticated operation," he

'Moonlight Madness' to strike city

Downtown Northville offers several special attractions tomorrow night during a new event called "Moonlight Madness."

Sponsored by the Downtown Merchants Association, the event features over 25 participating stores offering a variety of sales and savings — and all will be open late, until 10 p.m. Sales start at 5 p.m.

On top of that, spaghetti dinner will be available at First Presbyterian Church, 200 E. Main, sponsored by Single Place. Dinner will be served from 5:30-8 p.m., with tickets costing $5 for an adult, $3.50 for a child or $15 for a family. Tickets are at the church all day Thursday and Friday, and tomorrow night at the door.

The church will also offer child care for $2 an hour while you shop. Children's music will be performed by Anne Shaheen-Herndon.

Other attractions include a hot dog cart sponsored by the Northville Rotary Club, and "Mac Tonight" from McDonald's strolling through town. During most of the event — from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Friday, as well as times on Saturday and Sunday — the Northville Community Center, 303 W. Main, will host a Handcrafters Arts and Crafts Show.

Also in conjunction with "Moonlight Madness," the J. Giordano Gallery will hold a grand opening in its new location at 332 E. Main. Michigan artists will be featured as well as work in jewelry, pottery, weaving and commissioned artwork by gallery owner Julie Giordano.

Flute Centre plus, also at 332 E. Main, will hold a grand opening along with the gallery.

PANCAKE BREAKFAST: The First Presbyterian Church of Northville invites everyone interested to a pancake breakfast from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sunday, March 24.

Pancakes, sausages and other good stuff will be on the menu, for the cost of $2.50 per adult, $1 per child or $7 per family. The church is at 200 E. Main. For more information call 349-0911.

EASTER EGG HUNT: The annual Easter Egg Hunt sponsored by Northville Jaycees will take place at 10 a.m. Saturday, March 30, at the Cass Benton Parkway.

The big event features candy and prizes for all kids up to age 12. Tom MacKinnon of MacKinnon's restaurant will sponsor a special visit from the Easter Bunny.

HONORING THE TROOPS: The Plymouth Community Band will play a free concert honoring the troops that served in Operation Desert Storm, playing patriotic and military music, at 8 p.m. tomorrow, March 22 at the Plymouth Canton High School Little Theater, 8415 N. Canton Center Road.

BOOK SALES ARE BACK: After a lapse of a year and a half, used book sales are being resumed by the Friends of the Northville Library. The first will take place on Saturday, April 20, in the city council chambers in the municipal building.

Contributions of used books are now welcome at the library and will be moved for sorting as they come in.

Most used books are acceptable for resale with some exceptions. The Friends cannot accept encyclopedias more than 10 years old or textbooks up through the high school level.

Picture magazines of a relatively current vintage are now acceptable.

Book sales were suspended 18 months ago because the Friends no longer had a sorting and storage place for contributed books, but since that problem has been solved, the popular sales are now back on the Friends program.

CHEERLEADING TRYOUTS: The first pretryout meeting for cheerleading at Northville High School will be held from 5:30-7 p.m. Friday, March 22 in the High School Activity Center.

At the meeting, permission slips, health forms, tryout requirements and more will be distributed. Questions about the cheerleading program for next year will be answered and tryout requirements discussed.

Students interested in cheerleading at the high school should attend the meeting. Clinics will be held Monday, March 25 through Wednesday, March 27 from 5:30-7:30 p.m. Tryouts will be held from 4-9:30 p.m. Thursday, March 28.

The bracelets are here!

Barb Sabo's fifth-grade class at Moraine Elementary School finally received a package for which they have been anxiously waiting: It was full of bracelets reading "Operation Desert Storm." The students bought them with money they raised from a bake sale — in which every item sold out — as well as pitching in $5 each. The money for the bracelets goes to families of soldiers. The kids hope to send the $93 left over to the American Red Cross.

Township traffic stop nets pot, paraphernalia

A 21-year-old Redford man was ticketed for possession of marijuana after township police stopped him for a traffic violation.

Police questioned the man after smelling marijuana on his driver's license. A scale, one marijuana cigarette, a roach clip and a plastic baggie half-full of marijuana were found in the car. The Redford man originally said the marijuana belonged to a Canadian friend, but he later told police it was his. He was also ticketed for improper passing.

PHONE LAW VIOLATION: A 10-year-old Northville girl was contacted March 13 by township police after a second 10-year-old township resident told police she had been receiving harassing telephone calls.

The 10-year-old who allegedly made the calls told police it would not happen again after police came to her house and informed her of laws prohibiting the malicious use of telephones.

OUIL: An 18-year-old Northville man was arrested March 14 for OUIL after township police spotted his car traveling above the speed limit north of Five Mile Road on Haggerty Road. A false identification showing the man's age as 21 was confiscated.

DAMAGE TO BUILDING REPORTED: A window was broken at Cap & Cork on 40644 Five Mile Road, causing a reported $800 in damage.

An early-morning newspaper delivery person discovered the damage March 14. Township police suspect a tree branch or log was used to break the window. A cigarette display may have been the intended target, according to police reports.

LOTTO TICKETS STOLEN: Seventy-seven "Fame and Fortune" lottery tickets valued at $77 were stolen, and $50 damage was done, at Six and Park Party Shop, 17071 Northville Road, March 14.

Township police responded to the incident at 6:11 a.m. March 14 and found asbestos panels damaged outside the store, apparently to gain entrance to the building.

LARCENY: A shoplifter attempted to steal $8 worth of darts from Meijer, 20401 Haggerty Road, March 14 at 3:14 p.m. The darts were recovered when store security guards identified themselves to the alleged shoplifter. The subject fled on foot.

At 6:45 p.m. the same day in a separate incident, Meijer security guards apprehended an 18-year-old Walled Lake woman who allegedly attempted to steal two packs of film valued at $53.97. The woman was arrested by township police.

The next day, March 15, two 12-packs of beer valued at $17.78 were stolen from Meijer at 1:30 p.m. A Northville man was questioned by township police about the theft but was not charged.

WOOD PALLETS STOLEN: Wood pallets valued at $78 were stolen from R & D Enterprises, 19430 Gerald, sometime between 7:30 p.m. March 14 and 5:30 a.m. March 15.

The wood was taken from the rear of the building, which is unsecured, according to township police reports.

TOWNSHIP MAN COMMITTED: A 38-year-old Northville man was committed to Westland Medical Center March 13.

Township police escorted the man to the center after his brother had him committed by court order for banging knives on furniture, refusing to take medicine, calling their mother names and forcing her out of the house.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED:

City police recovered a car reported stolen from a Main Street parking lot last week.

A Plymouth man told police that the car, a tan 1981 Chevrolet Chevette valued at $500, was stolen from the parking lot at the Wagon Wheel Lounge, 212 S. Main St. The theft occurred sometime between 10 p.m. March 12 and 6:30 p.m. March 13, he said. He said he was taking care of the car for an Army friend stationed overseas when the brakes went out March 12 and he left it in the Wagon Wheel's lot.

Police found the car across the street at 215 E. Main St. on March 15 at 2 a.m., and notified the driver later that morning.

SLEEPING DRIVER ARRESTED: A 41-year-old Hartland man was arrested for OUIL at midnight March 16 after city police found him passed out in his car on West Main Street west of Caldwell Road. Police responded to a report of a car in the road and found the man sitting behind the wheel with an open beer can between his legs and the car doors locked. A police officer had to bang on the window and shine his flashlight in the driver's eyes to awaken him.

The driver failed field sobriety tests, was arrested and later released on $100 bond. His blood alcohol level was measured at .14 percent.

FENDER BENDERS: City police reported two accidents last week. An 18-year-old Northville woman driving south on South Main struck a car at Gardner Street March 15 at 3:55 p.m. The woman was reportedly turning left onto Gardner when she struck the other car as it was turning onto Main from Gardner. She was cited for failing to yield.

A West Bloomfield man, 21, was cited for failing to stop March 17 after driving over the curb at Taft and Eight Mile about 2:25 a.m. He was heading south on Taft and continued across Eight Mile over the curb. He told police he did not know Taft ended there.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Jaycees seek new lease on life

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

A few years ago, the Northville Jaycees was a thriving 100-member organization sponsoring several activities a year. Now, the membership is so low the group is in danger of losing its charter from the state Jaycees.

Bob Cummings has been with the Jaycees through it all, and is the group's current president.

An 11-year veteran of the Northville Jaycees, Cummings admits he is feeling a little burned out. But he does not want to see the group disappear when he leaves.

"I'd like to see us stabilize," Cummings said. He would like the Northville Jaycees to have 40 or 50 members. The organization has been a part of Northville since 1956.

"I think the community still needs us because we're sure there for the community."

"We're willing to help, always have been."

The Jaycees hold an annual Easter Egg Hunt and sponsor Fourth of July activities, but that's not all they offer, Cummings said.

"It's unfortunate we've become known to do those two things," he said.

In the Jaycees' heyday, the group sponsored several activities a year. Such activity could require a lot of time and effort of Jaycee members, but people should not be scared off, Cummings said.

"It sounds like a lot of work," he said. "It's as much work as you want it to be. We're there for the member."

Saying the group is "there for the member" might sound a little strange given all of the community services the group performs. But Cummings said running the events provides leadership training, which is the true purpose of the Jaycees.

Any member can ask the Jaycees to organize and run an event. Activities benefiting the homeless, the environment or most any other issue could be organized by the Jaycees if a member so desired. This year, the Jaycees' Fourth of July parade may involve some of the military support groups, Cummings said.

An abundance of groups for local people to join may have something to do with the Jaycees' declining numbers, Cummings said.

Or it may be that the time of their meetings is inconvenient for a lot of people, he added. They meet the first Thursday of every month at 7:30 p.m. at the Northville Township Hall.

Cummings said he does not know for sure why the group's membership has been declining in recent years, but he is sure the Northville Jaycees can offer its members a lot.

He said the Jaycees have helped him become an adept organizer and leader both at work and in other activities.

As a soccer enthusiast, Cummings is able to organize soccer-related activities "in his sleep" because of his Jaycees' training, he said.

And the group is fun, too, he said. "I think people get the idea that we're all work, but we're social," Cummings said.

Hayrides, wallyball tournaments, banquets and other social events are common activities for the Northville Jaycees.

Cummings said interested Northville-area residents can call him for more information at 349-4528 or attend a Jaycees meeting.

"We take walk-ins," he said.

Interested people also are welcome to participate in a Jaycees' activity, like the upcoming Easter Egg Hunt, before actually joining, Cummings said. This year's hunt is set for 10 a.m. Saturday, March 30 at Cass Benton Park.

The dues are $40 the first year and $35 in following years. Jaycees must be between 21 and 40 years old.

Interior Design STUDIO

WORKSHOP

DISCOVER HOW TO MAKE YOUR HOME WORK FOR YOU.

Designing a home is not easy. Basic principles must be observed, no matter what your lifestyle or how much you wish to invest. During 4 two-hour sessions, Hudson's professional interior designers will pass their expertise on to you. Here's a week-by-week breakdown:

WEEK ONE
History & Lifestyle. Review the history of interior design and explore your interests, hobbies, and your pattern of living. It's the most important basis for your decorating plan. Our personality surveys will give you surprising insights.

WEEK TWO
Floor Planning. You and your designer will work with your floor plan to achieve a workable, livable room, taking into account traffic patterns, conversation areas and natural focal points.

WEEK THREE
Color, Backgrounds. First, discover how to use color to solve problems and create moods. You'll discuss how to make the most of your favorite colors and which colors work almost everywhere. Then we'll discuss ceilings, walls and floors. They are a big part of every room, and we'll study everything from carpet to mirrors.

WEEK FOUR
Accessories, Putting it all together. A quilt. An antique chest with a high tech lamp. Artwork you've acquired over the years. Discover how accents can bring a room to life. Finally you'll get to see an empty room furnished in logical stages from furniture and rugs to valances and chandeliers.

Throughout the workshop, you'll be using an information filled manual that's yours to keep. See hundreds of slides of beautiful rooms. You'll be able to ask lots of questions and have the opportunity for a personal consultation with a designer. Fee is only $60. Workshops are limited and will fill up fast, so sign up now. Call the Interior Design Studio nearest you, Monday through Friday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Workshops begin the week of April 8.

HUDSON'S

Mustang of the Week

By LAURA WHITELEY
Special Writer

Northville High School junior JOLIE GRAF has been awarded "Mustang of the Week" honors because of her outstanding ability and intelligence, as well as her excellent academic performance.

Graf was nominated for this award by chemistry teacher Sandra Vala, who noted her role as an "active learner" that eagerly aids her fellow classmates. Said Vala, "She is a mature person who genuinely enjoys helping others meet with success. She will be successful in any of life's challenges, and will be an asset to any company she joins, whatever her career."

Presently a member of the National Honor Society, Graf would like to go to Harvard to major in English and study law, as she would love to open her own law practice some day.

Graf participates in Peer Resistance through SADD, which is a program that helps teach elementary school children to avoid peer pressure. She is actively involved in the Science Olympiad and Quiz Bowl and will be trying out for the U.S. team to compete in the chemistry Olympics this summer in Poland.

When not studying, she enjoys exploring new places, collecting post cards and key rings, and reading. Says Graf, "You never see me without a book."

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

ADVERTISEMENT

WASHINGTON—A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete "hi-tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Researchers in Europe found that an ingredient in the aptly named produce Food Source One actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in intestinal absorption of calories.

While the development of Food Source One, a project of National Dietary Research, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the discovery has been a windfall for overweight people. A Daytona Beach, Florida woman fighting a weight battle for 12 years used the product on the recommendation of her physician and lost 30 pounds. She stated, "Not only have I lost 30 pounds, but my cholesterol has dropped from 232 to 143. I have two closets full of clothes which have not fit me in two years that I can now wear." In a separate report a telephone interview revealed that a Wilmington, North Carolina pharmacist lost 14 pounds in 15 days on the product and was never hungry.

Food Source One is available through physicians and pharmacies without a prescription because it is not a drug and contains only natural ingredients already known to be safe. Copies of the referenced style are available free from National Dietary Research, Suite 553, 1377 K St., Washington, DC 20005, however, please include $2 Postage & Handling for each request.

Legislation could hurt local financing plans

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

As though slashing the city's state-returned racetrack revenue was not enough, the latest Lansing budget-cutting measures may leave Northville city visitors with no place to park.

Legislative plans to reduce property taxes by restricting tax capturing under Downtown Development Authorities (DDAs) and Tax Increment Financing Authorities (TIFAs) have Northville city officials nervous about the fate of an expanded Cady Street parking deck.

City Manager Steven Walters said bills currently before the state Senate and House could hurt Northville's plans to finance the deck through the city's DDA.

"It depends on how much they capture and how they handle the question of cut-off," he said.

In its current wording, Senate Bill 72 and House Bill 4244 would reduce the percentage of school tax capturing allowed. The bills also would cut tax-capturing bond issues after March 1, in effect retroactively ending the DDA program.

"That's kind of like pulling the rug out from cities that have been working on projects for months and months and are about to go for bonding," the city manager said.

But Walters said preliminary discussions with legislators including state Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, have suggested the Legislature will move the cut-off date back several months.

"The other question is what percentage of the captured taxes will be impacted," Walters said. "Our parking deck plan proposed to capture 70 percent of (the maximum) . . . The parking deck proposal happens to be one that can survive this."

Walters said that state legislators probably weren't targeting tax increment financing measures with the bills, but that the bills were part of a state plan to reduce school property taxes.

"I don't think they were going after DDAs," he said. "What they were after was a reduction of school property millage impact . . . It wasn't so much an attempt to do away with DDAs as it was to get some of those school taxes. It's just the DDAs are in the way."

"However, it's still the case that the DDAs are taking a back seat to the schools. They're only hurting the DDAs to the extent that they have to, rather than to the extent they could."

Mayor Chris Johnson noted that tax increment financing has been useful in constructing public improvements like parking decks.

"DDAs and TIFAs have been very successful in rehabilitating areas that already exist with infrastructure already in place," he said at Monday's city council meeting.

The council approved a resolution opposing the bills, and expressing the importance of tax increment financing to the city.

Local Earth Day activities planned; ideas sought

An Earth Day '91 celebration is being planned and sponsored by the University of Michigan M-Care Health Center in Northville for Sunday, April 21, at Maybury State Park. Northville Community Recreation is assisting with the event.

The planning committee is looking for more ideas and assistance from the Northville community. The day's activities currently consist of three sections: physical fitness activities including aerobics, a 2-mile walk and a 10k fun run; a children's program featuring a kid's concert by Mustard's Retreat; and a possible salute to the Desert Storm troops. In addition, environmental educational exhibits by area organizations including Moraine Elementary School and The Aware of the World Club from the Northville High School will be on display throughout the day. The petting farm and playground area will also be available throughout the day.

With more than 7,000 people in the park on Earth Day last year, organizers expect Earth Day '91 to be another success. Northville community members are welcome to "lend a hand" or to share ideas on possible activities.

This is an opportunity for everyone to get involved in Earth Day. For more information, please contact Peg Campbell at 936-9538 or Traci Gottschalk at 349-0203.

TIPS FROM TUCHKLAPER

Novi Dental Center
A. Allen Tuchklaper
D.D.S.

WHICH TOOTHBRUSH FOR YOU?

Although we don't often think about what kind of toothbrush to buy, there are differences, and important ones. Toothbrushes must be prescribed for individual use just as medicines are.

Not long ago, the hard, natural bristle brush was almost universally recommended, and with some dentists it still is. However, the natural bristles have almost knifelike tips that can cut the gums and, when used to remove plaque under gums, can break and create irritation in the area. Consequently, more and more dentists are recommending the soft, multi-tufted nylon brushes with rounded bristles. These are ideal for plaque removal. These bristles won't break under or irritate the gums. When properly used, the many bristles loosen the plaque and scrub it away.

In general the straight handles are better than one with a curved or angled handle and the kind with tufts shaped into waves or bumps are not required unless you have wavy or bumpy teeth. If your dentist recommends a particular brush for you, use it. He knows your condition and what's best for you.

Global ReLeaf comes in all shapes and sizes.

Global warming. The Greenhouse Effect. The continuing decline of our air and water. One of the best and most effective ways to respond to our growing environmental crisis is to plant trees. In fact, you can even get started today, right in your own community.

You see, Global ReLeaf is more than a name. It's Americans like you — of all shapes and sizes — who understand that every new tree can make a difference.

Trees provide shade, beautify our town and country landscape, and reduce heat-trapping CO2 build-up in the earth's atmosphere. And those are only a few of their benefits.

So grab your shovel. By planting even one tree, you'll be making a positive contribution to the world we live in . . . and the kind of future we leave behind. You can make a difference right now by calling our special Action

Line — 1-900-420-4545. The $5.00 charge actually pays for planting a tree while supporting Global ReLeaf action across the country. And, we'll rush you detailed information on Global ReLeaf. You can make a world of difference.

'Evita' opens at high school

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

Northville High School students bring Argentina to town when they take to the stage tonight in the opening performance of Evita.

And the students are performing the real thing, not a watered-down version for high school students, said Director Nick Beasanski.

"The dirty words and sexual innuendoes were left in, but one mom said she has heard worse on TV," Beasanski said.

Like the language of the play, the performers are very adult for high school students.

The lead singers Karin Pearson as Evita and John Norman as Che are able to "carry" the rest of the cast through the difficult performance, Beasanski said.

In fact, he and musical director Mary Kay Pryce chose "Evita" based on the talent they knew would be available, Beasanski said.

Beasanski, a college student working toward a teaching degree, is hired by the district to direct the school's two theater productions a year.

He has worked with Northville students for five years, but this performance will be a first for him: This will be the first year Northville students will perform a musical that is all singing and no dialog.

"We wanted to give them a chance to do something different," he said.

Senior Pearson returned to Northville High School following a two-year stay in St. Louis. Her parents moved to St. Louis when Pearson was a freshman at Northville, returning for her senior year.

Pearson left the area interested in performing; she was in a Northville High School production of Fiddler on the Roof as a freshman.

But Pearson said she honed her skills during her stint in St. Louis. She is putting in long hours in preparation for tonight's performance. But the extra work has been easy, she said.

"I've wanted to do it all, so it has not been a struggle for me," she said.

She studied the life of Eva Peron, the subject of the play, when she got the part.

"I realized how incredible she was, what an in-depth person she was,"

Pearson said.

Peron, the spiritual leader and wife of Argentine President Juan Peron, was adored and loved by some in Argentina, while others, particularly the military and aristocracy, hated her.

Andrew Lloyd Webber's Evita is based on the life of Eva Peron and told from the perspective of Che, who presents the side of the story that Eva does not want to hear.

Evita opens tonight and runs through Sunday at Northville High School. Performances are at 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday and at 3 p.m. on Sunday.

Tickets are $4 for students and senior citizens and $5 for adults. All seating is reserved. Call 344-8420 for more information.

Championship played locally

Northville and Plymouth have been chosen to play host to the 1991 Girls AAU Basketball State Championship Tournament, and play gets under way tomorrow (March 22) in the 16-and-under and 18-and-under age divisions.

All games will be held at three sites: the Northville, Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem high school gyms. The entire tournament will feature 128 of the top AAU teams in the state. The 11- to 13-year-olds will play on April 5-7, and the 14-15 age group will be in action on April 12-14.

In the under-16 category, the Western Wayne Wildcats — featuring two Northville High School stars — are scheduled to play the West Oakland Chargers on March 22 at 6 p.m. at Plymouth Salem. The team is coached by Fred Thomann (Salem) and Pete Wright (Northville assistant) and features some of the top talent in the state. The local stars include Karen Pump (Northville), Stacy Nyland (Northville), Dawn Warner (Livonia Franklin), Patty Shea (Livonia Franklin) and Darcie Miller (Salem).

In the 18-and-under division, the Western Wayne Wildcats will open play on March 22 at 6 p.m. at Northville High school against Michigan Elite based in Belleville. This team features local stars like Kara McNeil (Northville), Kate Holstein (Northville), Jenny Shanks (South Lyon), Julie Stesiak (Livonia Franklin) and Holly Miller (Salem) and the assistant coach is Mustang Head Coach Ed Kritich.

The state finals for both age groups will be held on March 24.

Guilty plea entered on sex charge

A local man pleaded guilty Feb. 1 to a single charge of fourth-degree criminal sexual conduct.

A second charge was dropped. Joseph Spagnuolo, 70, made the plea in front of Recorder's Court Judge Dominick R. Carnovale. He was sentenced March 12 to a year's probation, fined $1,000 and ordered to seek therapy.

The charges were filed by a former resident of an apartment above the Liquor Shoppe, 115 E. Main St.

Joseph Spagnuolo owns the building.

The former resident, a 20-year-old woman, told Northville City police that Joseph Spagnuolo fondled her and kissed her against her will Dec. 8 when she went into the store, where he was working. The woman said he stopped her again on Dec. 10 as she was moving out of the apartment, kissing her twice against her will.

ing the woman sexually during an interview with city police, though he told police he may have touched her on the hip and shoulder.

He declined to comment publicly on the charges.

James Spagnuolo, son of Joseph Spagnuolo, said that he is the owner of the Liquor Shoppe. He said his father has been retired for about two years and is not an employee of the store, but he does often "help out" around the store and occasionally operates the store by himself. James Spagnuolo declined to comment on whether he had taken any action as a result of the December incident or whether the elder Spagnuolo would continue to work at the store.

Fourth-degree criminal sexual conduct, a misdemeanor offense, is legally defined as "using force or coercion to accomplish ... sexual contact."

Community Center Briefs

SPRING/SUMMER ACTIVITIES BROCHURE AVAILABLE: The Northville Recreation Department Spring and Summer Activities brochure has been mailed to all Northville community residents. Registrations for spring activities will begin March 25 at the Recreation Department, 303 W. Main St.

ANIMAL SAFARI CAMP: Living Science Foundation and Northville Recreation will host an Animal Safari Day Camp on April 1-2, and 4-5, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. for kids 5 to 12 years old at the Northville Recreation.

Camp fee is $40 per day or $148 for all four days (April 1, 2, 4 and 5).

Campers will explore animals like python snakes and plant life from a different region of the world each day. Regions include: Africa, Australia, Outer Space and South America. Models, videos and crafts will also be provided to enhance the learning experience. Campers should wear comfortable indoor-outdoor clothing and bring a lunch. Snacks will be provided. School district residents add $3 and non-residents add $5 to the fee.

Pre-registration is required at Northville Recreation, 303 W. Main Street.

"PIED PIPER": Northville Recreation will host a theatre performance of "The Pied Piper" by the Goodtime Players on Friday, April 12, at 7 p.m. Everyone is welcome. Goodtime Players requests audience participation. Students interested in one of four speaking parts, please contact the Recreation Department. Parts will be available on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Tickets are currently available at Northville Recreation and will also be available at the door for a $2 fee. The address is 303 W. Main St.

EARTH DAY: The University of Michigan's Northville Health Care Center, Running Fit and Northville Recreation are sponsoring an Earth Day 1991 Event on April 21 at Maybury State Park. Activities begin at 10 a.m. with a 10-kilometer run and two-mile walk and end with a "support the troops" program at 4 p.m. Other activities will be held throughout the day; some include: aerobics by New Attitude Aerobics, booth displays about the environment and recycling and an awards ceremony for race winners. Spectators and kids can enjoy folk band music by Mustard's Retreat's, singalongs and stories. A juggler will amaze you with his fire ball juggling and magical tricks. Kids under 5 can bring their Big Wheels and tricycles and race in a special event too. Face painting will also be available by Margo's of Northville.

Entry forms for both races are available at Northville Recreation. Entries received on or before April 12 are $8 per person. Entries received after April 12 are $10 per person. Participants will receive a string bag, continental breakfast with refreshments and be eligible for awards in each of the age groups.

Volunteers are needed to help with all activities. Please call Traci Gottschalk at 349-0203 if interested.

Walters discusses plans for upcoming months

WALTERS: I haven't given it any thought, because it wouldn't be my decision anyway. But there are certainly, among others, some retirees in town with a business background that could potentially do that.

RECORD: What do you see as the major projects you'll be wrapping up here before you depart?

WALTERS: The parking deck, and the annual budget. . . We're getting ready to bond and bid the (parking deck) project.

RECORD: Is it realistic to expect a developer to be selected for the project before you leave?

WALTERS: Yes, and I would think some construction work started, at least the demolition process.

RECORD: Will Northville's city and township police dispatching be combined by June 17?

WALTERS: It certainly wouldn't be done then but I don't see any reason why that wouldn't continue to progress. . . Assuming the desire's there, I don't know why it would go on hold.

RECORD: Do you think the city will have control of the Ford Plant before you leave?

WALTERS: No, I would hope we might have a negotiated potential offer from Ford that would be being scheduled to have the voters consider it. There's no way we could be farther along than that. You've got 60 days notice for scheduling an election, so if we got something worked out with Ford in April, you're still talking July or August for an election.

RECORD: Are there any things that you would have liked to have seen farther along in Northville before you moved to Plymouth?

STEVEN WALTERS

WALTERS: I don't think so. I don't see those things as my projects, really. This is a dynamic enough community where there's always going to be major things in the works, so it's kind of arbitrary to view anything like that in terms of getting something done before you go. If you said, 'OK, I'm going to wait six months so I can do that,' by the time you got there, there'd be the next thing that you might have liked to have gotten done before you left.

RECORD: If Plymouth had approached you last year as they have this year, not as one of two people competing for the position . . .

WALTERS: They couldn't have. The circumstances weren't the same in many ways. My youngest son had a year to go in Northville High School; there were lots of factors that just weren't the same. So I don't think that speculation is probably fruitful. It just wasn't meant to be last year. . . The communication process that occurred (last year) was a factor and it affected the outcome, but that wasn't the exclusive, unique event that caused it to be the opposite of what it would have been otherwise.

RECORD: What do you see as the future of Plymouth under your tenure?

WALTERS: Some upgrading of the internal administrative structure, I think, is a real opportunity. They aren't as far along as we are in automating their accounting system and their internal processes. . . Shared services, that's a big thing. They're probably farther along than we are in terms of looking at (combining) police and fire.

RECORD: Plymouth has been talking about a public safety department, but you've suggested that it might be more beneficial for them to combine the police departments of the city and township.

WALTERS: Well, there's always an interest in public safety because it has the image of being a cost-saver. What isn't taken into account a lot of times when that's just discussed in general meetings is that there's a scale of operation required for public safety to be very efficient.

RECORD: Which Plymouth might not have?

WALTERS: It's the classic case that we talk about from time to time here in the city. If we've got two police officers on the road and we have a fire, the two police officers get tied up handling traffic for the fire. So it has no meaning to say, 'Gee, couldn't they be firemen too?'

Where it works is somewhere like the City of Livonia, a large city where you might have 50 or 75 officers on the road on a shift and you could call 10 of them off the patrol duty to become firemen for a fire response, and simply redistribute your police function. . .

That doesn't change the fact that you could still rationally look at a combined public safety department for the city and the township as a whole, but you don't always do everything that you can theoretically do at one point in time, either. If you can have some significant savings from doing the first step, it may be very sensible to do the first, most practical step and not get all tangled up in trying to do two steps at once.

And I'm not even sure that the scale, when you got done, of Plymouth and Plymouth Township would be large enough to really make public safety sensible. I'm just saying that it's not just inherently the case that public safety's always a wonderful money saver. There's some level of scale below which it doesn't even make any sense.

RECORD: What changes do you see in Northville in the next few years?

WALTERS: Just like (Plymouth), defending itself against the rate of growth around it and trying to maintain what it has, which is a combination of maintenance and development because of course there's no such thing as staying as you are. If you really try to be static, what you're really doing is falling behind. Though in the short run it seems like you could do that, in the long run what you find is that economic problems, operating cost burdens and so on have gradually crept up on you and you reach a point where you say, 'Gee, we've not been doing the kind of investing and reinvesting in ourselves that we should have done.'

Realistically, preservation of a community has to involve some well-controlled development just to keep things up, because everything around you is competing with you, which is not staying the same. And unfortunately, for example in the downtown, customers are fickle. They don't want to go to the same thing they went to 20 years ago.

That's the problem every mall has, is that it gets out of date. And because it doesn't have much character, and it's kind of all the same, initially it's real interesting, and 10 or 15 years later everybody's saying, 'Oh, not that old place' and you see them doing some kind of huge facade change.

What's unique and long-lasting about a traditional downtown is partly the very fact that it doesn't have uniform architecture and is kind of a hodge-podge of different things. Mixtures of uses, mixtures of styles, inconsistent patterns of land use from block to block, all that is part of what ultimately is its interest and vitality.

RECORD: How long do you figure you'll be at Plymouth? I don't mean to the day, but do you look at this as another fairly long-term assignment?

WALTERS: April 7, in the year 2004. That's when I'm 60. Actually, I'd probably stay on until May 31 to finish a contract year.

Realistically, I guess I would project myself retiring at 60, if not 55, so I would completely expect to be there for the next eight to 13 years, which is an odd way of saying it except that's when I'm 55 and 60. . . I would not expect to stay there 17 years, subject to medical miracles and more meddling with the Social Security act.

RECORD: So it just felt like time for a change, time to get on to some new challenges?

WALTERS: Well, partly, and also considering that this Plymouth opening is not going to come up every year now, in spite of the recent pattern. All they've got to do is hire somebody who is interested in staying for a number of years and the person's likely to, because it's a great place.

RECORD: Not that Northville's not a great place.

WALTERS: No, my tenure's a measure of that. Northville doesn't have anything to be ashamed of going out to the manager field and saying, 'Look, here's a nice, stable community that professional managers obviously liked.' The guy before me was here eight years and the next guy was here 17. They've had four managers since '56.

RECORD: Then you're not leaving because of any dissatisfaction with your tenure in Northville.

WALTERS: It's not that at all, but it is feeling that this may just be right for me at this time, and the opportunity is here. I might have been thinking about this for another year or something, and thinking, 'Well, I'll finish up the deck and then maybe I'll apply to some other places.' Who knows? But the Plymouth thing is very attractive and it's available now, not next fall.

RECORD: Do you like the fact that you're staying in this general area?

WALTERS: Well, it's an area I really kind of like. I love Ann Arbor, but I don't know that I could ever get along being manager of Ann Arbor. The politics are much too liberal for me.

I like the Detroit area and I love Michigan, and if I didn't want to live in this area I'd want to move over on the west side of the state. . . anywhere along the west side of the state. Anything from Grand Rapids west is a short hop to the beach, and why anybody would ever want to leave Michigan is beyond me.

RECORD: Is it going to be tough to leave Northville?

WALTERS: Of course. . . a lot of the people that I work with and a lot of the people that I got to be friends with, I'm obviously not going to see them as much as I do now. . .

Sure, there's lots of ties after 17 years. But interestingly enough, among all the places that I could go to, Plymouth is probably the least change of that sort. There's all kinds of people there that I know real well that go back as far as when I worked there originally, and that I've had contact with since and that I've interacted with just because Northville and Plymouth have some things in common, and friends that I have and people that I've worked with while I've been here.

So it's not a group of strangers. . . It's a much more familiar place than most places would be.

Northville begins search for new city manager

The mayor was uncertain whether an interim manager would be needed when Walters departs. "I'm not sure we'll need an interim manager with this kind of a starting time, or only need one for a very short period of time," he said.

"I would view the (hiring) process taking anywhere from 2 1/2 - 3 months," he said. "You've got to let some of these publications get out there. . . then you've got to screen through all the applicants obviously, go through interviews, and then go from there."

Johnson listed some preliminary qualifications for a new manager.

"We're probably looking for someone that's been a manager somewhere else or at least a high-level deputy manager in a larger city," he said.

The city will also be seeking another long-term manager, Johnson said.

"In the past it's been what the city looked for, someone who views Northville as desirable and wants to stay here for a while, not someone who's looking up the ladder and considers this the second or third rung," he said.

Whether Walters will be able to work with an incoming manager will depend on the new manager's situation.

"If we're getting a manager from somewhere else, that person has an obligation to where he's coming from as well," Johnson said. "That's just totally unknown and it would be depending upon the particular person."

In the meantime, the city will be forging ahead on a wide variety of projects before Walters' departure.

"You could probably take everything on our high- and medium-priority (project) list and our goals and objectives, those are our key items," Johnson said. "Not that any of them are going to be done, but you take each one of them and see how far you can get by June 1."

The city's current goals and objectives include assessing community need for an expanded library, recreation facilities and senior services, consolidating city and township services, increasing downtown parking and acquiring the Ford Plant. Projects include an "expanded" Cady Street parking deck, street repairs, a city / township citizen survey and a new sidewalk policy.

Walters will be missed "quite a bit"

by other Northville officials, Johnson said. "You don't lose that talent and not miss it."

"I've made it no secret, I think he's one of the best (managers) in the state. Any city would be lucky to have him, and we've been lucky to have him for this long."

Johnson said he believed the salary for the city manager's position is adequate.

ANDENESCA FALLUCCI

Andenesca Fallucci, 89, died Monday, March 18, at Whitehall Convalescent Home in Novi.
 Mrs. Fallucci was born March 7, 1902, in Italy to Presina Bucci and Loreto Fulgerzi. She came to the area in 1960, and was a member of Holy Family Catholic Church in Novi.
 Mrs. Fallucci's husband, Richard, preceded her in death in 1936. Surviving her are her sisters, Mary Vala, Gladys Fulgerzi, Yolanda Parr and Amelia Cantafio; her brothers, John and Oliver Fulgerzi; her daughters, Loretta Filippini of Indiana, Rhoda Werthmann of New Baltimore and Clare Genitti of Northville; as well as nine grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held today, March 21, at the Casterline Funeral Home, 122 W. Dunlap in Northville. Father Pat Brenna will officiate at the 5 p.m. ceremony. Interment will be at Mt. Olivet Cemetery in Detroit.
 Mass offerings to Holy Family Catholic Church or a charity of choice would be appreciated.
 Arrangements were made by the Casterline Funeral Home.

FRANK HEYNIGER

Frank J. Heyniger, 92, of Northville died March 3 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.
 Mr. Heyniger was born June 8,

1898, in Detroit to Mollie and Francis Heyniger. He was a retired Detroit fire chief (1958).
 Mr. Heyniger's wife Rose preceded him in death in 1985. Surviving him are his daughter Betty Schnettler of Northville and his son Robert of Troy, as well as four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.
 Funeral services for Frank Heyniger were held at the Manns-Ferguson Funeral Home in Livonia, Rev. A. Chandler Hadley of the First Congregational Church in Rochester officiating. Interment was at Grand Lawn Cemetery.
 Arrangements were made by the Manns-Ferguson Funeral Home.

ALBERT JONES

Albert Edward Jones III, 71, a former Northville resident, died Monday, March 18, at the Baptist Medical Center in Cherokee Village, Arkansas.
 Mr. Jones was born January 28, 1920, in Detroit to Louise and Albert E. Jones Jr. He attended Baldwin High School in Birmingham, received a B.A. from Michigan State University in 1943 and received his master's degree from the University of Michigan.
 He worked at Northville High School for 18 years as history teacher, baseball and football coach, as well as athletic director. He retired in 1978, and no team he ever coached had a losing season. Mr. Jones was a member of the First United Presbyterian Church of Northville and a member of the United Methodist Church of Cherokee Village. He belonged to the Cherokee Village Men's Golf Association, the American Legion and the Cherokee Village Players.

 Mr. Jones was forced to abandon an opportunity to play baseball with Boston Red Sox, instead serving with the Army Air Corps during World War II, II Air Division of the Eighth Air Corps, winning the Distinguished Flying Cross as well. On November 18, 1943, he married Mary "Peggy" McCollough in Dearborn.

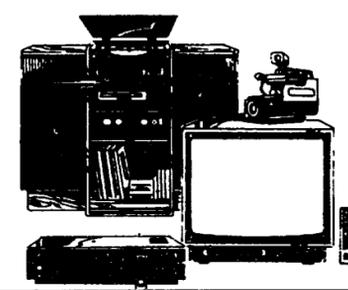

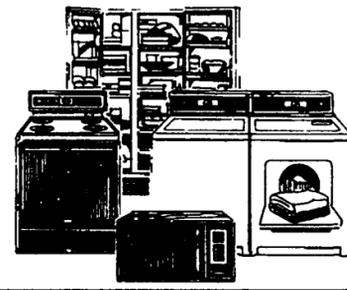

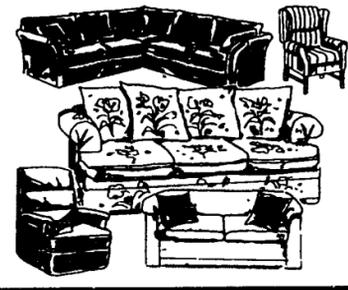

Mr. Jones is survived by his wife; his brother William of California; his daughters Carol of Rockford and Margaret S. Jones Bara of Mason; his son John Albert of Glenwood Springs, Colorado; as well as five grandsons and one granddaughter.
 A funeral service to celebrate Albert Jones' life will be held March 24 at United Methodist Church in Cherokee Village.

NORTHVILLE CITY COUNCIL MINUTES SYNOPSIS
MARCH 11, 1991
 Mayor Johnson called the regular meeting of the Northville City Council to order in the Council Room at 8:00 p.m.
1. PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE:
2. ROLL CALL:
 PRESENT: Mayor Christopher J. Johnson, Mayor Pro-tem Carolann Ayers, Councilman Paul F. Felton, G. Dewey Gardner, Jerome J. Mitzman.
 ABSENT: None.
ALSO PRESENT: City Manager Steven Walters, City Clerk Cathy Konrad, Assessor Mark Christensen, Finance Director Bev Morrison, Engineer Maureen Turner, Ronnie Cambra, and Northville Record Reporter Steve Kallman.
3. APPROVAL OF COUNCIL MEETING MINUTES:
 The minutes of the regular meeting and the closed session of February 16, 1991, were approved as corrected.
CITIZENS COMMENTS:
 None.
4. ADOPTION OF THE AGENDA & APPROVAL OF THE CONSENT AGENDA:
 Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to approve the agenda as amended and the consent agenda A through K.
5. PUBLIC HEARING: WAYNE COUNTY BLOCK GRANT FUNDS
 Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to reprogram the 1988 Block Grant Funds of $30,000 from the City Hall Barrier Free Project to the Barrier Free Sidewalk Program; and the 1989 Block Grant Funds of $60,000 from City Hall Barrier Free Project to the Barrier Free Sidewalk Program.
7. PARKING DECK DESIGN:
 Walters reviewed the parking deck design to keep the Council updated as to where things are headed. The April 1 meeting will have a cost recommendation and notice of intent to issue bonds and more financial details for funding. Council discussion followed.
 With the Council's permission, Johnson moved item 10, out of order for the citizens' convenience.
14.A. MERCHANTS' SIGN REQUEST:
 Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to deny the Merchants' sign request as presented (banner on the side); and grant permission for an additional painted sign at the Merchants' expense, and request Handcarriers or the High School to cooperate in the second proposal for three days of advertising.
8. COOPERATIVE SOLID WASTE PLAN AND PROGRAM:
 Walters reported the Township has provided draft specifications to take proposals for a solid waste disposal contract and, also, a proposed Township solid waste disposal ordinance. The DFW Superintendent has reviewed the proposed document for curb side recycling and has made several changes and additions. He asked for Council's comments and suggestions before getting back with the Township to draft a joint document that covers concerns and interests of both governments.
 Walters stated the City and Township would adopt an identical ordinance and would have a contract in common, even though we might be using some of the services and the Township would not or vice versa, but that wouldn't matter because they will all be unit prices.
 With the Council's Permission, Johnson moved item 10, out of order because of the engineer's presence.
HUTTON-DUNLOP INTERSECTION PLAN:
 Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to refer the plans for the Hutton-Dunlop intersection to the Beautification Commission for landscaping.
9. WTRM SANITARY SEWER EASEMENT:
 Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to accept the easement and deed to sign the easement agreements as proposed by the City Manager's memo of 3/5/91.
11. DDA AND TIFA LEGISLATION:
 Moved, Folino, supported by Ayers, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to adopt the resolution opposing the law capturing impact of SS 72 & HB 4244.
12. GOALS AND OBJECTIVES:
 Walters stated the project list the general status of each item and a projected target when appropriate and, in some cases, questioning the priority on the list.
High Priority Projects: Street Repair, Insurance, Recreation Building Parking, Parking Deck, Beautification Program, and City Township Citizen Survey.
Medium Priority Projects: Service Contracts Review, Trolley, Old Sidewalk Repairs, Mill Pond Renovation, Property Assessment, City Charter Revisions (moved to low priority), New Sidewalks.
Low Priority Projects: Northville Estates Sewer & Water, Elmwood Drainage, Fire Hall Expansion, Expand Historic District (moved to on-hold), Solicitation Regulations.
On-Hold Projects: City Hall Elevator, City Ordinance Codification, City Corridor Study.
 Council felt this was an excellent summary and asked that it be presented quarterly.
13. MASTER PLAN APPROVAL:
 Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to accept the Master Plan as presented by the Planning Commission.
14. Council Comments:
 Folino asked about the cemetery charges. Walters stated they will be presented at the next meeting.
 Folino asked about the drainage problem at Pleasant Hills. Walters stated this will be addressed at the next meeting or April 1.
 Folino requested the signage be reviewed for the left turn southbound on N. Center turning onto 8 Mile Road.
 Mitzman requested the 222 valet parking be reviewed.
18. CLOSED SESSION: UNION GRIEVANCE
 Moved, supported, CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY, to adjourn to executive session to discuss the union grievance.
 Johnson recessed the regular meeting at 9:55 p.m., for the closed session and stated the Council would not take any official action since it only involves negotiation towards a public settlement.
 Mayor Johnson adjourned the regular meeting of Monday, March 11, 1991, at 10:25 p.m.

City council members praised Plante & Moran's analysis of Northville's administration and finance department, but some questioned whether all the auditors' recommendations should be used.

"This report confirms what I've said for years, that Steve (Walters, city manager) should have some help," said Council Member Paul Polino. "I think this is something that's long overdue."

The auditors' report recommends that the city hire a deputy manager to assume part of the manager's workload.

Polino also praised the auditors' proposed city finance committee, a committee chaired by the proposed deputy manager and including the city manager, finance director, city clerk and a council member to oversee the city's financial condition.

"I think that could prove to be very valuable to council,"

Polino said.

But Council Member Jerry Mittman said a finance committee could prove more of a hindrance than a help to the city's financial forecasting. "What do you see the finance committee accomplishing that the city manager, deputy city manager and finance director couldn't accomplish themselves?" he asked auditor Jim Eagan.

"Several sounding boards," Eagan responded. "More wisdom . . . interjected into the thought process."

Mittman said he feared the committee would become "cumbersome . . . another layer to get through, and it's difficult enough to get through as it is."

Mittman did agree to the need for a deputy manager. "The concept of a deputy city manager is a good concept," he said. "There's a lot of projects, as we all know, that just don't get done because we don't have the time."

But he suggested the possibility of juggling other job descriptions to remove an existing city hall position, "so your net impact is no new heads."

Auditor Mark Nottley argued that a deputy manager could save more money than the position would cost, through better financial forecasting. "We concluded that there are things being shelved that are important," he said. A deputy manager could monitor the city's cash flow, review labor contracts, and watch waste disposal and other increasing costs, he said.

"The position has the potential of paying for itself many times over," he said.

Mayor Chris Johnson said he originally felt the same fear expressed by Mittman, but later changed his mind. "My initial reaction when I reviewed that committee was, 'Oh my God, more time for the council.' It was hard for me to swallow," he said. But the mayor said he recalled the usefulness of a similar committee during his tenure as director of the Wayne County Association of School Boards.

"I'm against committees as a general rule but this one may have more value than I originally anticipated," he said.

Johnson said that the finance committee proposal was a minor one compared to the auditors' main recommendation. "Quite frankly, the most significant finding was the excessive workload on Steve," he said. "He hasn't complained, but we're faced with a new reality and you can't assume the next person in line will be able to accomplish all he accomplishes in a week."

Walters will leave Northville to become Plymouth City Manager June 1.

Council Member Dewey Gardner agreed that a deputy manager will be even more important to assist a new city manager. "Without the deputy manager, you can't do the rest (of the auditors' recommendations)," he said.

"You sure can," Mittman replied. "You can get the departments talking to each other, you can get some of the workloads shifted."

The council directed Walters to figure the cost of a deputy city manager, and will consider working the cost into the 1991-1992 city budget. But as Johnson observed, "I think we all agree that hiring a manager comes before hiring a deputy manager."

Deputy manager position would help city, auditors say said. "It's a well-run city and highly computerized. Over time that's probably saved you a lot of money."

Nottley gave much of the credit for the city's sophistication to City Manager Steven Walters, "who's overseen its implementation."

But he also noted that Walters' time constraints have become excessive since becoming manager in 1973. "Conservatively we were looking at about 65 hours a week, which is a fairly substantial workload," he said. The auditors' report listed Walters' average work week as between 65 and 88 hours.

"Some people like to work a lot, but there's a negative side to that," Nottley said.

Among the negative aspects is a tendency for administrators to engage in "crisis management," he said. "That has not been a feature of this community historically, which has been very forward-looking. But there have been things that have been put on the shelf."

Walters' high workload has also left insufficient time to fully document some of the city's sophisticated management systems, Nottley said. "That's not good, to be so reliant on one person," he said.

Nottley listed several advantages to hiring a deputy manager, including the ability to research financial issues that could affect the city and freeing up the manager to concentrate on larger issues.

"There would be benefits to that position, although hard to quantify financially," he said. "It's very traditional for a city of this size to have a deputy as well as a manager."

Nottley also stressed the need for more communication between the various city departments, to foster a spirit of teamwork and improve relations between department members. He said this need became obvious during interviews with different department members.

"It was obvious that there were some tensions between the departments, and part of the issue was communication," he said.

To open up the lines of communication, the auditors' report recommends monthly meetings "where department heads can get together and iron out problems," Nottley said. "This is one of those things that really is lacking right now, mostly because there's no time."

The auditors' report found the city's finance department to be top-notch, and praised Finance Director Beverly Morrison for her role in shaping the department. Morrison has been director of the department for nearly four years.

"Generally, we found a very good finance department," Nottley said. "It's well-run, with very high morale."

Nottley cited the department's cross-training and Mentoring programs as positive aspects.

"There's an ongoing effort, I felt, by the finance director to encourage employee growth," Nottley said. "They are periodically subject to a heavy workload, and we should try to find somewhere to funnel some of that work."

The city's clerks and cashier can absorb some of the finance and building departments' duties, according to the report.

"It's not necessarily overstuffed," he told the council. "The challenge there is to make sure that they're busy when you're not at a peak, when people aren't coming in to pay their water bills, etc."

"The feeling, on my part, is there is excessive workload periodically in building and finance, but more things can be funneled over there."

Auditor Jim Eagan reviewed the report's last set of findings and recommendations, dealing with the city's financial controls. Although the report found internal financial controls acceptable, the auditors found financial management reports inadequate.

"They provide very little financial forecasting or looking down the road," Eagan said. "It is very important that the city manager, council and department heads have a little bit more of a sophisticated report to look at."

The auditors recommended that more detailed reports be the responsibility of the proposed deputy manager's position.

"The information coming to your table is used for a lot of important forecasting for the city," Eagan told the council. "Your finance department could provide a lot of the raw materials for a forecast, but what we're talking about is someone who can step back and see the forest for the trees."

Writing award

Northville High School student Michelle McNally won second prize in Lawrence Technological University's 21st annual Writers' Contest. In a letter to her, Lawrence Tech English Department Chair James Rodgers congratulated her on her superior performance and sent a check for $50. She is one of six students in the state to be honored by the university.

Subscription rates increase as of April 1

The cost of an annual subscription to The Northville Record will rise from $18 to $22 effective April 1.

The $4 annual increase is the first since 1987.

Phillip Jerome, executive editor of the Record and HomeTown Newspapers, said the price increase is tied directly to operating costs, including an 11-percent hike in the cost of newsprint and a 19-percent increase in postal rates.

The newsstand price will remain 50 cents.

Jerome emphasized that the current rate of $18 per year will remain in effect until April 1. Anyone wishing to take out a new subscription to the Record or renew a subscription can take advantage of the opportunity to beat the increase by placing their orders prior to April 1.

To order a new subscription or renew an existing subscription send a check or money order in the amount of $18 to The Northville Record, P.O. Box 899, Brighton, Michigan 48116.

More information about new subscriptions and subscription renewals is available by calling the circulation office at 349-3627.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE AMENDMENT TO ZONING ORDINANCE 94-04-91

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ZONING ORDINANCE BY AMENDING THE TEXT THEREOF.

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ORDAINS:

PART 1. The Charter Township of Northville Zoning Ordinance No. 94 as amended is hereby further amended by amending Article XI, RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT DISTRICT, Section 2.2 DEFINITIONS, Section 18.14 LOADING AND UNLOADING, Section 17.1 LIMITING HEIGHT, BULK, DENSITY AND AREA BY LAND USE.

Section 1 — Amendment to ARTICLE XIV RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT DISTRICT

PREAMBLE:

The RD Research and Development Districts are designed to provide for uses which are research and development, office and for the types of industrial uses which have limited impact outside of the industrial building. The RD District is intended to permit uses which manufacturers, process, package, assemble or treat finished or semifinished products from previously prepared material. It is not intended that processing of raw materials for finished products or for shipment in bulk form, to be used in an industrial operation at another location, be permitted.

Section 14.1 PRINCIPAL USES PERMITTED:

In a RD Research and Development District, no land shall be used and no building shall be erected except for one or more of the following specified uses, unless otherwise provided in this Ordinance:

1. Any use charged with the principal function of basic research, design and pilot or experimental product development.
2. Any use charged with the principal function of technical training.
3. Office buildings for any of the following occupations: executive, administrative, professional, accounting, writing, clerical, stenographic, drafting and sales.
4. Medical offices, clinics and hospitals.
5. Banks, credit unions, savings and loan associations, and similar uses, including ATMs as a principal or accessory use.
6. Any of the following industrial uses when conducted wholly within a completely enclosed building:
 - a. The manufacture, compounding, processing, packaging or treatment, using previously prepared materials, of such products as: bakery goods, candy, cosmetics, pharmaceuticals, toiletries, food products, hardware and cutlery.
 - b. The manufacture, compounding, assembling or treatment of articles or merchandise from the following previously prepared materials: canvas, cellophane, cloth, cork, leathers, felt, fiber, fur, glass, hair, horn, leather, paper, plastics, precious or semiprecious metals or stones, metal or sheet metal (excluding large stamping such as automobile fenders or bodies), shell, textiles, tobacco, wax, wire, wood (excluding saw and planing mills) and yarns.
 - c. The manufacture of pottery and figurines or other similar ceramic products using only previously pulverized clay, and kilns fired only by electricity or gas.
 - d. Manufacture of musical instruments, toys, novelties, and metal or rubber stamps, or other small molded rubber products (not including pneumatic tires).
 - e. Manufacture or assembly of electrical appliances, electronic instruments, and devices, radios and phonographs.
 - f. Laboratories — experimental, film or testing.
 7. Motels or hotels.
 8. Assembly halls, display halls, convention centers or similar places of assembly when conducted completely within enclosed buildings.
 9. Municipal buildings and uses.
 10. Accessory structures and uses customarily incident to any principal uses permitted.

Section 14.2 SECONDARY USES PERMITTED SUBJECT TO SPECIAL CONDITIONS:

1. The following retail and service uses shall be permitted in buildings, which exceed one (1) story in height, as secondary uses to the principal permitted office uses included in paragraphs 1. through 5. of Section 11.1 above:
 - a. Retail business or service establishments.
 - b. Personal service establishments, such as, but not limited to: repair shops (watches, radio, television, shoes, etc.) tailor shops, beauty parlors or barber shops, laundries or dry cleaners, printing or photographic reproduction, photographic, art or interior decorating studios.
 - c. Theaters, bowling alleys, billiard halls, health salons, or similar forms of indoor recreation.
 - d. Restaurants or other places serving food or beverage, but not including drive-in restaurants.
 - e. Carry-out restaurants, provided that all customer access is located inside of the building.
2. The secondary uses permitted in this Section 11.2 shall be subject to the following conditions:
 - a. Such uses shall not be permitted in a single story building or in a building separate from a permitted principal use.
 - b. The total area devoted to such uses in a building shall not exceed twenty-five (25) percent of the total floor area of the building.
 - c. All secondary uses shall have customer entrances from the interior of the principal building in which they are located.
 - d. All secondary uses shall provide off-street parking as required by Section 18.12 OFF STREET PARKING REQUIREMENTS.

Section 14.3 REQUIRED CONDITIONS

Uses permitted in Section 11.1 through Section 11.2 shall be subject to the following conditions:

1. Site plan review
 2. Storage and Performance Standards
- All uses shall receive site plan review and approval by the Planning Commission prior to the issuance of any building permit.
- The outdoor storage of goods or materials shall be prohibited. Any use established in the RD District shall be operated so as to comply with the performance standards set forth hereinafter in ARTICLE XV — GENERAL PROVISIONS, Section 15.15 PERFORMANCE STANDARDS. In addition, the following uses or similar uses which may create unusual danger for fire, explosion, toxic or noxious matter, radiation or which may cause noxious, offensive, unhealthful or harmful odors, fumes, dust, smoke, light, waste, noise or vibration shall be considered as not meeting the minimum standards of this Ordinance as to performance and potential negative impact on surrounding properties:
- (1) Processing of corrosive acid, cement, lime, gypsum or plaster
 - (2) Distillation of bone, tar, petroleum refuse, grain or wood.
 - (3) Processing or storage of explosives.
 - (4) Processing of fertilizer or storage of compost.
 - (5) Processing of products from animal refuse or offal including glue, size or gelatine.
 - (6) Processes using steam or board hammers or forging presses.
 - (7) Tanning, curing or storage of skins or hides.
 - (8) Processing of sulphurous, sulfuric, nitric, picric, carboic, hydrochloric or other corrosive acid.
 - (9) Biological laboratories engaging in genetic research.

3. Exterior Facades and Screening

a. All exterior building facades and any accessory buildings shall be of the same finish material as the front facade of the main building and all material used shall be recognized as finished materials.

b. The exterior finish of the buildings shall be harmonious with the surroundings and in character with the existing man-made or natural environment. Bright, pastel colors shall not be permitted as the predominant color and shall not be used for any significant features. Reflective glass shall not be the predominant exterior material.

c. Elevators, stairways, tanks, heating and air conditioning equipment, vents, ducts, pipes and other similar apparatus shall be screened from view by a penthouse or structure equal in height to the height of the equipment being screened, and the outside finish building material of such penthouse or structure shall be the same as, or complementary to, the finish material on the facade of the building to which it is attached.

4. Public Roads

All zoning lots shall have frontage on a public street. The division of land for purposes of separating parcels which would have access to private easements shall not be permitted in this district.

SECTION 14.4. AREA AND BULK REQUIREMENTS:

See ARTICLE XVII — SCHEDULE OF REGULATIONS limiting the height and bulk of buildings, the minimum size of lot by permitted land use and providing minimum yard setback requirements.

PART II. Conflicting Provisions Repealed.

Any Ordinance or part of Ordinances in conflict herewith are repealed save that in all other respects Ordinance No. 94, as amended, is hereby ratified and reaffirmed.

PART III. Effective Date:

The provisions of this ordinance shall be in full force and effective immediately upon publication.

PART IV. Adoption.

This ordinance may be adopted by the Township Board of the Charter Township of Northville, pursuant to authority of Act No. 184, Public Acts of 1943, as amended at their regular/special meeting.

ONLY YOU CAN PREVENT FOREST FIRES.

Everything you need to close down a crackhouse.

You aren't helpless when crime invades your neighborhood. You're fully capable of helping police and they're ready to show you how.

The Case of The Stanton Park Stand-off.

When crack moved into a row house on a quiet block of Stanton Park in Washington, D.C. folks decided to serve an eviction notice.

They met with police to find out what they could do to keep drugs out of their neighborhood.

The cops told them to keep an eye out — to let police know whenever something suspicious happened. They began to notice faces.

They wrote down license numbers of strange cars. They noted the times of odd behavior. They worked with each other. They worked with the police. Armed with field glasses, note pads and telephones, folks kept track of the neighborhood.

Within one month, enough evidence had been gathered. Police moved in. Crack moved out.

Citizen participation beat crime in D.C. It can do the same for you. For more success stories write The McGruff Files, 1 Prevention Way, Washington, D.C. 20539-0001.

Progressive dinner scheduled

Open registration is under way for the Northville Historical Society's 1991 Progressive Dinner, scheduled for Saturday, April 20.

Registration continues through March 30. Call Laurie Marra, 349-7640, or the Northville Historical Society office, 348-1845, for reservations. Tickets are $40 per couple for NHS members; $45 for non-members; plus an assigned dish for the dinner. All checks should be payable to the Northville Historical Society and sent to Mary Jane Cryderman, 206 W. Dunlap St., Northville, MI 48167. Reservations will be confirmed by the receipt of your check.

The evening starts with cocktails at Mill Race

Historical Village (Yerkes House, New School Church, School House or Cady Inn) from 7-8 p.m. Dinner follows at various Northville homes from 8:30-10:15 p.m.; then dessert at one of four Northville homes from 10:30-11:30 p.m.

This year's Progressive Dinner is planned to include seasonal Michigan ingredients — foods that are familiar to our great-grandparents as well as today's gourmet chefs.

After a long winter, early Michigan families celebrated spring with asparagus, rhubarb, and strawberries to counteract the effects of a winter diet deficient in vitamin C. The historical society is doing the same but has taken advantage of the tremendous variety of other fresh ingredients available today.

The springtime Michigan dinner includes wild mushroom en croute, brie and Canadian bacon with pear chutney, spring vegetables with three vinaigrettes, peppered beef tenderloin canape; then grilled Amish chicken breast and shrimp with tarragon cream, asparagus pointes au beurre, maple-glazed sweet potato, mixed greens dressed with Michigan dried tart cherry vinaigrette, herbed breads, and vintage wines; and, for dessert, dark chocolate Frangelico truffles, caramel and nut English shortbread, and strawberry rhubarb tart with white chocolate sauce.

Mill Race Matters

Spring has arrived. The calendar says so. Saturday, April 6, is scheduled for Mill Race Village Cleanup Day. Volunteers will work from 9 a.m. until noon and share lunch afterward (drinks and dessert will be provided). Bring your own sandwich. Everyone is welcome and all are encouraged to participate.

Soon after Cleanup Day, School Days at Wash Oak will resume. Elementary schools from throughout the area send classes for one day to experience school life in 1873. The students get an opportunity to live one day as their ancestors might have. The activity has proven to be one of our most successful with days booked from April until the end of the school year and again from Labor Day until we have to close for the winter.

April 20 is scheduled for the Northville Historical Society Annual Progressive Dinner. The evening, as always, will begin with appetizers and cocktails in four Mill Race Village buildings. Diners will then progress to a series of homes being used for the Main Course and finally will progress to a third location for dessert. Cost for the evening is $40 per couple for members and $45 per couple for non-members. Reservations are now open to non-members so members are encouraged to reserve space promptly. The event is usually a sellout. Each couple also supplies an assigned dish for the dinner. Reservations can be made by calling 348-1845 or 349-7640. Send checks for confirmed reservation to Northville Historical Society, c/o Mary Jane Cryderman, 206 W. Dunlap, Northville, 48167. The plan is to use foodstuffs native to this area that would have been available at this time of year to Northville's early settlers.

Beginning in May the Northville Historical Society will begin offering a series of Educational Workshop at the Village. These workshops will include classes to prepare all of us for Northville's Victorian Festival. Look for more information in this column in the weeks to come.

Also in May, May 17 to be exact, we will hold our Annual Membership Potluck Supper/Meeting. All members are encouraged to attend. If you cannot make the supper, be certain to attend the annual meeting. At this time members have the opportunity to hear reports on Mill Race and Historical Activities as well as vote for new officers.

Repairs expected on erosion damage

"The key right now is to get the off-site erosion taken care of by spring," said Carol Maise, planning and zoning administrator for Northville Township.

The yard of an adjacent home was torn apart when a culvert on the property collapsed. The culvert was designed to accept water from the property and disperse the creek on the former Thomson Sand and Gravel land.

More than 20 mature trees were washed away, along with tons of soil and a retaining wall. And the damage could soon spread to the land of other township residents, Maise said.

The family's backyard may never be returned to its original state, Maise said, but the township hopes the owners will see some restoration of their property's original landscaping.

DiLorenzo and D & T Construction served as reclamation agents for the Shores of Northville. The Seven Lakes of Northville Limited Partnership owns the property.

DiLorenzo had sent two plans to the DNR prior to the Monday meeting. Both plans were rejected.

"They were sending us things that weren't answering the problem," Horney said.

Hashing out their differences in person rather than by letter was what finally got things resolved, DiLorenzo said.

"This was the first time we got all of the parties together," he said.

"This is the kind of thing that works, getting together and talking things out."

The office of Wayne County Prosecutor John D. O'Hair is prosecuting DiLorenzo and D & T Construction for an alleged violation of the Michigan Inland Lakes and Streams Act.

DNR charges against DiLorenzo allege he failed to obtain permits for construction, and he eventually rerouted a stream during 1990 reclamation work on the former gravel pit site.

Because the developer and the DNR were scheduled to hold discussions Monday, the trial was postponed until April 12.

O'Hair said Friday the negotiations would not change the focus of the April 12 pretrial.

But Horney said DiLorenzo's compliance with DNR requests could help his case.

"That remains to be seen. It may or may not affect the court case," Horney said.

Our Opinion

With Walters leaving, era becomes more vital

Before the resignation of City Manager Steven Walters became a done deed Monday night, the city faced a vital period in its development. Now that the manager's departure is assured, the city's course over the next couple of years looms as even more critical.

Some continuity is bound to be lost with Walters' departure — he was the driving force behind Mainstreet '78 and the Downtown Development Authority, which revitalized downtown Northville as a viable commercial center. Walters also was involved in the creative financing solutions needed to keep Singh Development committed to MainCentre, at a time when the Birmingham developer was on the verge of dropping the project.

Walters also helped computerize City Hall, and led the charge for a full-time city assessor and subsequently a computerized assessing system. Though many residents are protesting their recent property assessments, the system has actually begun correcting a long history of underassessments by county assessing departments.

Many of the sophisticated management systems praised recently by city auditors Plante & Moran were installed under his leadership. Walters also had a hand in hiring many valued city employees.

All in all, the manager has helped turn City Hall into a well-oiled administrative machine.

There are bound to be a few squeaks and rattles in the machine as the city searches for a new manager who can, in the rather overstated words of Mayor Chris Johnson, "walk on water" like Walters. It will take some time for the new manager to get his or her feet wet, and learn the systems overseen by Northville's longest-serving manager.

The new manager will also inherit a long list of city goals and objectives and ongoing projects. Groundbreaking on the new $4.2 million Cady Street parking deck will begin before the year is out, according to Walters, and the next manager will oversee its completion in 1992.

Walters' replacement will be taking up the reins on the city's effort to acquire the Ford Valve Plant, we hope right where Walters left off. He or she will also be among those seeking Northville Township's cooperation in operating a new community library, if a proposed township / city questionnaire determines that that's what the residents want.

Walters' successor will preside over a period of continued commercial growth in Northville, with the nearly completed MainCentre project seeking tenants and Singh Development ready to begin building CadyCentre once a percentage of MainCentre is leased. Other commercial developments loom, including the proposed redevelopment of Cady Street, and Glenn and James Long's proposed four-story retail / office complex across Main Street from the MAGS building.

To the south, construction will soon begin on a $2-billion residential / light industrial community known as Huntington Falls between Sheldon and Beck roads. Though that development is a Northville Township project, the impact from those hundreds of new Northville families and dozens of businesses on the entire Northville community's traffic and quality of life is bound to be immense.

And finally but perhaps most critically, the city's finances continue to be uncomfortably tight. Rapid growth and rising costs have made the last several budgets difficult to balance, and the new manager will face a challenging time matching spending to revenue.

The city council does have several things going for it in its search for a worthy replacement to Walters. Northville is a desirable place to live, and the long history of cooperation between the city's administration and council could be a pleasant change from some other municipalities. Walters fully expects the new manager to keep in touch with him in Plymouth, while becoming familiar with his former place of employment.

But Walter's 17-year track record will still be tough to approach, much less match.

Walk on water, indeed.

Punishment does not help

Recently a mom called and told me about an incident that happened with her eight year old son. She asked me my opinion about spanking this child as a form of punishment.

In my opinion, punishment only makes things worse. If a child is punished for crying, they cry harder. If they're punished for not going to sleep, they stay awake longer. And when they're punished for acting rotten they act even more rotten. At that point some parents punish harder, the children act worse, and so on, until sometimes children are seriously injured.

When children are punished, parents are trying to change a child's behavior by doing something to him that makes him feel bad or hurts him. But most parents don't really want to make their children feel badly or actually hurt them. They punish because they think they need to.

Lots of parents who were punished when they were growing up think that children have to be punished so that they will be happy, responsible, well-behaved persons when they grow up. And many parents just don't know any other way to make their child stop doing things they don't like.

Parents need to communicate to the child non-punishment messages. Here a few examples of non-punishment messages:

- I hate to make dinner when there's food and dishes left all over the kitchen.
- I can't rest when there is so much noise in the house.
- I'm late for work when you are not ready in the morning.
- When you don't come home at the time you promised, I really worry a lot and can't get to sleep. Then I'm tired in the morning.

Rather than punishing the child, the parent speaks to the child using "I" messages. The parent is telling the child clearly and honestly how he feels about what he is doing, what he doesn't like about it and why. The parent is asking for the child's help and cooperation. Most people respond to a friendly call for help — and children are no different!

If you are having a problem with your child, call Mary Ellen King at 344-1618 for assistance.

Country notices training cuts

I was in New York City last week attending a meeting of the Commission on Skills in the American Workplace, the national panel that has attracted a lot of attention by proposing, among other things, a national skills assessment for every kid leaving school. I got a ton of questions about what Gov. John Engler was up to.

"Michigan used to be the national leader in job training," a school superintendent from California said, "but the word we get is that your new governor is tearing that all apart. Has he got rocks in his head?"

Michigan's widely admired Opportunity Card program, through which people gained efficient access to a wide variety of job training programs, was among the first programs eliminated by the new administration.

Two people recalled asking Engler's chief of staff, Dan Pero, about the cuts in job training in Michigan. "Job training is not something government should be involved with," Pero is reported to have said. "We'll let the private sector worry about job training all that human investment stuff."

I'm confused. I thought the main priority of the new administration was education. Up to now I had thought that job training was education for adults to do their jobs better and to be more competitive. Why, then, is job training something to be left entirely to the private sector?

Engler himself added to my confusion in an exclusive interview with this newspaper. In it he suggested that job training money was badly spent in the Blanchard administration. The phrase "political cronyism" came up.

He also argued that Michigan still will be getting $168 million in job training money from the federal government, but that his administration will spend it in a better targeted way. "We don't feel the reduction of a modest amount of general fund support, which is a percentage of the total program, is not something we can't overcome by doing a better job targeting the federal dollars," he said. "We think we'll get more job training, not less, out of the smaller investment."

Less is more, I gather. What is saddest about the whole mess is that Engler is in the process of throwing out the baby (the most advanced job training and human investment initiative in America) with the bathwater (the debris of the old Blanchard administration).

In part, what's going on here is the "not invented here" syndrome. If Blanchard's administration liked something, Engler's won't, by definition.

But surely, at the end of the day, that's a lousy way to run a state. After the initial rush of partisanship, most governors discover that good ideas, regardless of origin, are scarce and important.

More than that, the Opportunity Card system fits perfectly the empowerment theme now being developed by conservative theoreticians.

In providing people who want job training services ("customers") a card to provide access to all government job training programs ("choice"), the system was designed to empower people. Its purpose was to turn the entire system of government upside down, from supply-driven to demand-driven, from bureaucrat-controlled to customer-controlled.

I cannot imagine an initiative better suited to a radically conservative administration which has run into trouble by appearing to be callous and mean-spirited in cutting out human services programs.

But then I've never been able to figure out why less is more. Except in political speeches.

Phil Power is chairperson of the company that owns this newspaper. He is former chair of the state Job Training Council.

Swimmers deserve more credit

To the editor:
Here is a brief quiz for the followers of high school sports in Northville. Which team compiled a 9-1 season record; finished first in the Western Division; finished second in their conference tournament; finished ninth in the state tournament; produced three All-Staters and two All-American performances; and expects at least one academic All-American? Need some clues? It's not the football, basketball, gymnastic, volleyball or wrestling teams. All had fine seasons, but not at the level attained by the men's swim team.

It is real shame that The Northville Record sports writer didn't take the time, or make the effort, to research and cover this sport as he does some of the other varsity sports. Over 300 athletes competed a week ago in Plymouth, yet the Record couldn't find time over a three-day period to cover the Conference Swim Meet. Instead, it waited on "a call from the coach."

A competitor at the meet had a slogan on his shirt which said, "We do more work before 6 a.m. than your mother does all day." I'm sure the comparison is valid when it comes to the Record's efforts toward covering what it considers the non-glamour sports.

Tom Handyside

Poem expresses perspective of Waterford birds

To the editor:
"Voices From Waterford Lake"
All our lives and all the lives that have lived here before us have found upon this lake shelter from the storms, refuge from the biting winds of winter, shade from the hot summer's sun, safety on the darkest of nights, a clean and musky pleasant home in which to raise our young. For all our fragile and short lives some of us have stopped here, a special and safe oasis during our migrations to and from faraway lands.

A place like the sun and the moon, always here without doubt or regret.

For nearly a century on our migrations north and south, we have found it always waiting for our weary wings, this single place sought after thousands of miles of storms and uncertainty.

Flying through the hail of nature and the thunder of winds, we come to seek out this small wetland like few others.

Who are we, you ask? We are hundreds of Geese once happy in the not too deep waters.

We are many and varied colorful Ducks that seek clean water, green reeds, and shelter among the greener leaves of the lilies.

We are the Great Blue Herons, the Great Egrets, the Belted Kingfishers seeking the fish and the trees and the safe nesting places.

We are the Great Swans struck mute by what has happened to our home.

We are also the fish that will swim no more, the turtles soon to bake and die in the hot summer sun, and those same lilies soon to wither upon the vines.

Who am I, you ask?

Why, I am the voice of the Hawk who has no enemies but Man.

The Hawk whose voice gives cry to the sorrow the others cannot express, whose sharp talons cannot grasp why this has happened here.

The Hawk who would pluck out the eyes of those blind and indifferent that they may know the pain that their uncaring attitude has brought to us.

We don't understand how that which was always here, can be here no more.

Why this has happened to this place where we spend half of our lives, this wonderful little lake we fly thousands of miles each year to reach?

Where would you wish us to go? The way of the Passenger Pigeon?

Who, we wonder, will remember us and give us a voice?

Who will dare to rage with us . . . for us . . . and for ourselves?

How many more miles will you have our tired wings carry us if you do not restore the waters? Where will we find a new home?

Why can't some people see the beauty that was Waterford Lake, that so many of use will come to miss like . . . Life itself?

Richard G. Henriot

P.S.: On March 9, at 7:30 a.m., a breeding pair of Mute Swans returned from their wintering grounds. After flying around for awhile, they left, seeking where the waters have gone, and sadly, perhaps a new home.

Thanks to many for success of Red Ribbon Week

To the editor:
I would like the opportunity to express my gratitude to the individuals and organizations that helped make Red Ribbon Week a great success.

Thank you Ettie Ann Hirth for donating over 30 homemade pies for our fund raiser dessert. They were fantastic!

Thanks to the Wayne County Sheriff's Dept. for providing the detection dog demonstrations. It took some schedule rearranging and some extra hours of work from the two officers and their dogs, and it was the highlight of the week for over 2,500 kids.

A special thanks to Capt. Phil Presnell of the Northville Township Police Dept. When our dog demonstrations, arranged with another government agency, were beginning to fall apart one week before Red Ribbon Week, a couple of well-placed phone calls from Capt. Presnell put us in touch with the right person at the Sheriff's Dept. and everything worked out great.

Thank you Bob Needham and The Northville Record. A major goal of Red Ribbon Week is community awareness of substance abuse. The coverage and space given to the week's activities helped us achieve that goal.

And to the Northville Public School administration and staff, Northville PTAs and PTA Coordinating Council, St. Paul's Lutheran School Administration and staff, and Our Lady of Victory administration and staff. Thank you for your enthusiasm and support.

It's extremely gratifying to see our community work together for the benefit of our children. It's one of the things that make Northville a great place to live and raise a family.

Thanks again to everybody that played a part.

Restaurant poll pizza results are disappointing

To the editor:
I am troubled by the motives of a certain pizza purveyor who felt the need to garner some free advertising in the second annual restaurant poll.

The problem is why would they "knead" the rules, when the only publicity this produces is the kind most businesses try to avoid. I nominate them as best restaurant for Thanksgiving dinner.

Rich Bazy

Papa Romano's broke no rules; the people voted

To the editor:
Papa Romano's Pizza feels that they are being wrongly accused of stuffing the ballots during (the recent restaurant poll) contest. You set up the contest, you made the rules, and we followed your rules to a T. We simply provided our customers with the ballots to vote, but we did not encourage them to vote for us in any way. You also stated that any ballot that failed to meet the criteria stated in the contest rules would be disqualified. If we met all of the qualifications for the poll and you chose not to disqualify us, then why are you publicly chastising us?

We are wondering why you have never told your readers about all of the good things that Papa Romano's has done for the community like the time we donated all of the pizzas that Northville High School needed for their all night party. Or when we gave 25 pizzas to the Methodist Church at Eight Mile and Taft to feed the hungry.

Papa Romano's has never said no to any school, church, club or organization in our community that has asked for our help. We have always done our best to support the community that we thought supported us.

Papa Romano's really believes that they have the best pizza in the Northville/Novi area and we would like the chance to prove that. We are suggesting that you hold a pizza contest. Where all of the local pizza places enter the same type of pizza (example: cheese and pepperoni) and they are judged anonymously by impartial judges. Seeing as you don't feel we won the last contest fair and square give us a chance to prove it.

Geake stance on testing proves baffling

Editor's note: This is a copy of a letter sent to state Sen. R. Robert Geake.

I read with interest a recent article in The Northville Record that indicates that you are against the school choice bill currently under consideration in Lansing. While you may be correct in the effect that it would have financially on our area the provision that would require statewide testing for graduation would seem to be a necessary consideration in today's educational process. You indicate that you believe it would lead to a higher dropout rate and that "the kid who has a reading disability or serious learning disability if he knows he won't get his diploma might just drop out. More students would be alienated from the school system and it still has a lot to offer."

I am absolutely dumbfounded by that statement and cannot understand your thinking. Do you mean that it is better if we do not allow them to test them and let them graduate, continuing the process of having high school students who have graduated and can neither read nor perform math and are relatively unemployable? And specifically what does school have to offer a student who has these disabilities when they are not recognized and taken care of in the educational process? Unless we test our children to ensure their vote in favor of a millage increase that would raise taxes in an area already heavily taxed. Why should more of the public's money go to an administration that has within the past several months exhibited such a disinterest in addressing public concerns and a lack of respect for public and parental input? However, input by the school board, especially regarding the June 10 millage vote, is encouraged to be supported by the community.

Negotiating with the parents and public concerned with the Michigan Model Health Curriculum, to revise and improve the Model, would be an excellent opportunity for Northville to take a leadership role in a state where numerous communities are struggling with this same issue. An action such as this would exhibit the spirit of cooperation which is so endemic to this community. This cooperation would also uphold the image of Northville as a first-rate school district and community; one in which I have always been proud to be a resident.

Ola Kvalvaag

Schools do not welcome input

To the editor:
In the past few months I have become seriously concerned as to the integrity of our school board especially after reading a recent article in the March 14 issue of The Northville Record entitled "McMahon in, Petrie Out of Schools Race." The article indicated that McMahon, a current board member, believes that the district's success is attributed to staff, parental and community involvement. He stated, "In this district we involve the citizens at the start and that by the time it (an issue) gets to the board there's not much controversy."

The board wants and asks for parental involvement? Issues without much controversy by the time they get to the board? This couldn't be farther from the truth if you're aware of how the board has treated the parents concerned with the improvement of the Michigan Model. In fact it is known that various board members refer to the parents as "deviants," because they have persisted, in good faith, to negotiate for an improvement in the Michigan Model curriculum. This improvement is a revision presented to benefit all children attending Northville Public Schools.

Since October several parents have attempted to opt their children out of the Michigan Model health class, an option (Dolly) McMaster (assistant superintendent for instruction) would not permit. Several of these parents, as well as the public, then presented their concerns to the board at the Dec. 10 meeting only to have Superintendent Bell direct all concerned to put their objections in writing. Parents then compiled their documentation and objections and presented them to Dr. Bell at the board meeting of Jan. 28. A response to parents' input was requested of Dr. Bell within a four-week period or at the Feb. 25 board meeting. Superintendent Bell advised parents that his review committee needed at least six weeks to consider the objections. March 11 board meeting (six weeks later) came and went and no response.

If the board and Superintendent Bell are so negligent in addressing public and parental concerns, I find it hard to seriously consider

Parents are not overprotective; just concerned

To the editor:
We aren't over-protective parents, but just very concerned about what is being taught all of our children through the use of the Michigan Model Health Curriculum. We are very dismayed with those parents who have not taken a stand, one way or the other, in regard to this curriculum.

This type of apathy leaves the welfare of your child totally in the hands of the system.

I challenge you to take some time and study the theories and philosophies behind the Michigan Model. You can start by reading Dr. Charles Stroebel's book The Quiet Reflex, which is the theory behind the relaxation techniques used in the curriculum. It is extremely important to note his warning against use of this technique under certain physical and mental conditions.

Local woman honored for impact on the area

The Northville-Nowi branch of the American Association of University Women presented its first Community Enrichment Award to Diane Rockall on Saturday, March 9, at its luncheon meeting.

Rockall received the award because she has made an impact on the community and reflects the goals of the AAUW mission statement: promote equity of women, promote education and self-development over the life-span, and promote a positive societal change.

Rockall and her husband, Arthur (Rocky), moved to Northville in 1983. Since then she has been very active. She is a graduate of Wayne State University (a bachelor's degree in journalism and a master's in library science), worked for the Detroit News for over 20 years, retiring as head of the reference department.

In Northville, Rockall is very active in the Northville Historical Society. She served as project director and is involved in the Northville oral history project. She worked with the combined effort of the Northville Historical Society and the Northville Public Library Friends. Presently, she serves on the committee to organize and catalog archival holdings of the Northville Historical Society. Her other activities in the Historical Society are: docent, school tour leader, museum curator, member of the education committee and workshop coordinator. She has taught local history and walking tours of the community for the Northville Community Education.

Rockall co-chairs the Northville Record indexing project, is on the program committee for Northville Woman's Club, a member of the Concerned Residents of Northville and co-authored the book Step by Step Through Northville with Barbara Louie.

She is a nine-year member of the League of Women Voters-Northville-Plymouth-Canton-Nowi and is currently serving as president. She has served as membership chair, is second vice president for the Detroit Metropolitan Area LWV and is also the coordinator for the Wayne County presidents LWV.

Her additional activities include: Michigan Chapter — Special Libraries Association (having served as president, program chair, hospitality chair, 75th anniversary chair, director; and is presently serving as nominations chair and long-range planning chair). She also serves as vice president of the western region of Women of Wayne; and is a past president of the Wayne State University Library Science Alumni.

Novi Scholarships

Interest in local scholarships in Novi soared approximately five years ago, as groups within the community began to provide more and more scholarships.

Today, high school seniors in Novi receive about 32 individual awards, totaling $19,000, according to Novi High School counselor Mary Jane Baird.

That's a lot more than many other communities.

The process of applying for a scholarship is rather simple. Students can pick up a common application from the high school counseling office. The form lists all of the local scholarships available to them, as well as the criteria used to determine the winners. Students can check off the scholarships they would like to apply for.

Applications must be turned in by 2 p.m. Friday, April 12. Late applications will not be accepted.

Baird offered helpful hints to students applying for local scholarships: Keep grades up, develop talents and get involved in extra-curricular activities. Also, be sure to apply to colleges early in your senior year and work with that college in pursuing other scholarships.

Another piece of advice that Baird recommends to students is to look at less-well-known colleges and schools.

"If you go to the University of Michigan, there's a slim chance of receiving financial aid," she said. "If you choose a popular school they're not likely to provide financial aid."

Figures included in a Michigan College Guide show that 38 percent of the students attending the University of Michigan receive financial aid from the school. At smaller colleges such as Northern Michigan University, 51 percent of the students receive financial aid. And at Wayne State University, 60 percent of the students receive financial help.

"Look at schools that are recruiting because they want to attract you," Baird said.

The following is a list of scholarships that are available to Novi students this year:

Novi Education Association Scholarship/Gerald and Ruth Hartman Memorial Scholarship: Applicants must have maintained a B average, show financial need, and be a prospective graduate of Novi High School. The student must submit two letters of recommendation from teachers with the application.

Novi Education Secretaries and Paraprofessionals Scholarship: Applicants must have a B or better grade average and good moral character. Financial need is not a factor.

Interact Club Scholarship: Applicants must have served the school and community in some outstanding way. There is no financial or academic requirement.

French Club Scholarship: Applicants must be seniors who have demonstrated keen interest in French culture and has worked hard to acquire fluency in French. The student must intend to study French in college.

Spanish Club Scholarship: Available to students who have studied three or more years of Spanish and intend to take Spanish in college. Applicant must write an essay in Spanish about goals and plans.

National Honor Society Scholarship: Applicants must be members of the National Honor Society with exemplary attendance at meetings and functions. A 3.6 grade point average is required, as well as a one-page, typed essay about personal qualifications and goals.

Novi Board of Education Scholarship: Based on academic excellence and interview to be held in the spring.

Rotary Scholarship: Applicants must have a B or better grade average, be of good moral character, and be enrolled as a student in a college or university. Financial need is a factor.

Rotary/Interact Scholarship: Applicant must have been a member of the Interact club for a minimum of two years and must have contributed time and energy in community involvement for the betterment of Novi.

Rotary/Vocational Scholarship: Applicants must have taken a strong program in the vocational area. Students who have attended Oakland Technical Center and those who have taken advanced vocational classes are encouraged to apply.

Novi Parks and Recreation Fine Arts Scholarship: Applicants should be students who have excelled in fine arts, including visual arts, dance, vocal music, instrumental music or

Northville Scholarships

Scholarships are becoming an increasingly popular way to finance a college education.

In fact, few young people make it through their college careers without some form of financial aid.

Locally, several groups make it a goal to provide scholarships to students who choose to further their education. And students are responding to their generosity.

Gladys Cohen, a Northville High School counselor since 1982, noted that about eight students applied for local scholarships during her first year on the job.

In 1985, the application process was changed to encourage more students to apply. A common application is now used and consists of a form that lists all of the available local scholarships. Applicants simply fill in the pertinent information and check off the scholarships in which they are interested.

The applications are then forwarded to the groups that award the scholarships. Committees within each local group review the applications and make the final determinations.

Things have changed since 1982, and now a lot more students indicate interest in these scholarships each year.

The following is a list of local scholarships that will be awarded to Northville students this year:

Irene Andra McMinn Scholarship: Applicants must be enrolled in a school of nursing, or physical or occupational therapist school. Financial need is considered.

Robert Niemi Scholarship: Applicants must be participants in athletic and student activities, and must participate in an outside-school activity.

George Berryman Scholarship: Applicants must be accepted by a post-secondary institution to continue the study of music or teaching, and must show participation in extra-curricular activities and community activities.

Northville Woman's Club Grant-In-Aid: Applicants must have attended Northville High School for at least two years and have a grade average of B- or higher. Applicants must be enrolled in college for the fall of 1991, and must participate in a personal interview process.

Diana Lance Memorial Scholarship: One of the applicant's parents must be a member of the National Education Association. The applicant must also show participation in extra-curricular activities and community activities. A 3.0 or higher grade average is required.

Nancy J. Soper Scholarship: The applicant must show involvement in the arts, drama, vocal, instrumental or visual arts. In addition, applicants must have a 3.0 or higher grade average and leadership experience.

Delta Kappa Gamma Scholarship: Applicants must have attended Northville High School for at least two years, and be considering teaching as a career.

American Association of University Women Scholarship: Applicants must show academic achievement, willingness to work to pay for education, school and community involvement, clarity of education goals and evidence of financial need.

George Chabut Memorial Scholarship: Applicants must demonstrate economic need, and must plan to attend Schoolcraft College in a science field.

Conrad Langfield Music Scholarship: Applicants must be entering the field of instrumental music, and must demonstrate school and community involvement.

Northville Mothers' Club Life Members Scholarship: Applicants must demonstrate a 2.5 or higher grade point average, must have attended Northville High School for at least one year, and must have participated in school and community activities.

Women's National Farm and Garden - Country Girls Branch Scholarship: Applicants must show participation in school activities, an interest in the field of natural science or conservation, and must not have accepted any other monetary scholarship.

Edward P. Bergstrom Memorial Scholarship: Applicants must show a 3.0 or higher grade point average, and must be involved in activities.

Women's National Farm and Garden - Northville Branch Scholarship: Applicants must be active in school activities and show an interest in the field of natural science or conservation.

Volunteer

Bradley enjoys her volunteer work

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

"You meet the world when you meet the people who come in for income tax assistance," commented Louise Bradley, who volunteers time to help senior citizens with their taxes at the Northville Area Senior Citizens Center.

They are "fifty-fifty men and women," she said. "Not many couples. Couples seem to leave it to one or the other."

Most of the time the clients bring all the necessary information. Because they are frequent citizens, they help they need frequently concerns taxes in regard to contributions, the buying and selling of stocks and bonds, and the buying and selling of homes.

But there are people, she said, "who are problems because they have a lack of awareness of what it's all about. They have very little information, nothing to go on, or they haven't brought everything and have to come back again."

There is, of course, annual training for this volunteer work.

Workshops are held every January in or near Plymouth from 9-9:30 p.m. for two weeks. During the first week, Bradley said, an IRS person comes and talks about basic taxes. In the second week the concentration is on the senior end, including the state income tax.

And there are exams that have to be passed to get certification to help senior citizens with their taxes — one exam after each week.

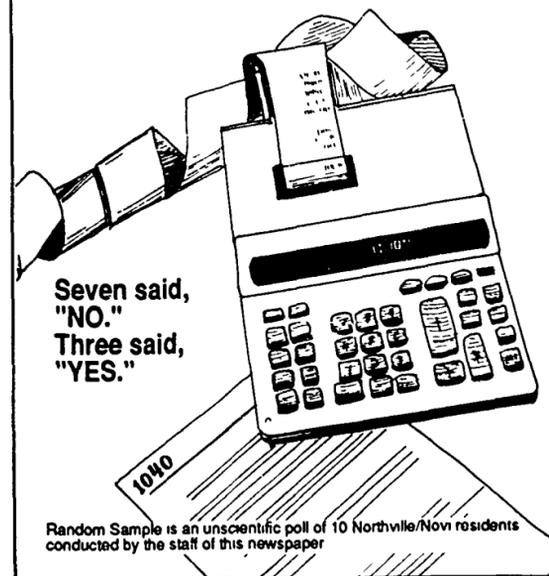

And also, she said, "We each commit ourselves to do 40 hours of tax assistance between Feb. 1 and April 15."

"There are six of us in this center — three on Monday and three on Wednesday — from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., and we check each other's work."

According to Louise Bradley, this volunteering "stimulates your mind. You don't get rusty."

Local artist juries OCC art exhibit

Northville artist Linda Banks Ord and Mary B. Stephenson, assistant curator of 20th century painting at the Detroit Institute of Arts, recently juried the national women's art exhibition, "Women in Art — Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," jointly sponsored by the Oakland County branch of the National Organization for Women and the Oakland Community College Womencenter.

The exhibition, on view at the Smith Theatre on the Oakland Community College Orchard Ridge Campus through March 24, drew more than 600 entries from throughout the nation and resulted in an excellent multimedia exhibition of approximately 60 diverse works of art.

In selecting the final works of art, the jurors looked for a creative personal or intellectual statement on the part of the artist as well as a uniqueness and high level of mastery in the use of their medium. Best of Show was awarded to Michigan artist Kathleen English, for her large oil painting, "Self Portrait: The Artist as Observer." Additional awards were given to Michigan artists June Klepack, Maria J. Barandiaran, Ann E. Cousino, Kwan Lun Wang, Denine R. Schmitt, and Marjan Helms.

Linda, a resident of Northville since 1978, is a multi-award-winning artist who exhibits on both a state and national level, having won nearly 20 awards for her paintings in the past four years. She is on the board of directors of the Michigan Watercolor Society and president of the University of Michigan School of Art Alumni Society Board of Governors.

Poster Winners

Three Northville Public Schools students will be awarded cash prizes for their efforts in the Northville Youth Assistance (NYA) poster contest at the NYA annual volunteer recognition night reception Tuesday, April 23 from 5:30-7:30 p.m. at Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall restaurant in downtown Northville.

The winners of the poster contest are, in first place, Chris McCreedy, 17, a senior at Northville High School; second place, Dan Kozdron, 17, also a senior at Northville High School; and third place, Megg Cross, 14, an eighth-grader at Meads Mill.

Holly Qualman, 10, a fourth-grader at Amerman, and Northville Schools employee Patty Svatora will be awarded participation certificates. Singh Development Company, builders of the MainCentre project, will award $50 to McCreedy, $25 to Kozdron and $10 to Cross.

Colts Registration

Open registration for football registration and cheerleaders interested in participating on the Northville/Novi Colts team will be held April 13 from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Registration is open to boys and girls ages 9 to 14. For further information contact Mark Colling at 344-8986 or Cindy Uglow at 347-6112.

Engagements

Amy L. Downs/Mark A. Storm

Mr. and Mrs. Charles and Betty Downs of East Lansing announce the engagement of their daughter Amy of Farmington Hills to Mark A. Storm of Livonia. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard and Jeanne Storm of Northville.

The bride-elect is a 1979 graduate of East Lansing High School, and a 1983 graduate of the University of Michigan. She is currently employed by C.G. Enterprises in Southfield.

The bridegroom-elect is a 1979 Northville High School graduate, and graduated Eastern Michigan University in 1984. He is employed by Village Ford, Dearborn, as an assistant sales manager.

An April wedding is planned.

Mary Ellen Whelan/John J. Shelby Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Whelan of Northville announce the engagement of their daughter Mary-Ellen of Boston to John J. Sheehy of Hamilton, Mass. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Sheehy of Hamilton.

The bride-elect is a 1982 Northville High School graduate and a 1986 graduate of the University of Michigan. She is a conference marketing specialist, and is currently employed by B/S Strategic Decisions, an international market research consulting company.

The bridegroom-elect is a 1983 graduate of Providence College, and is currently employed as an operations manager for Roadway Express in Boston.

A September wedding is planned.

Register now for 1991 progressive dinner

Open registration is under way for the Northville Historical Society's 1991 Progressive Dinner, scheduled for Saturday, April 20.

Registration continues through March 30. Call Laurie Marrs, 349-7640, or the Northville Historical Society office, 348-1845, for reservations. Tickets are $40 per couple for NHS members; $45 for non-members; plus an assigned dish for the dinner. All checks should be payable to the Northville Historical Society and sent to Mary Jane Cryderman, 206 W. Dunlap St., Northville, MI 48167. Reservations will be confirmed by the receipt of your check.

The evening starts with cocktails at Mill Race Historical Village (Yerkes House, New School Church, School House or Cady Inn) from 7-8 p.m. Dinner follows at various Northville homes from 8:30-10:15 p.m.; then dessert at one of four Northville homes from 10:30-11:30 p.m.

This year's Progressive Dinner is planned to include seasonal Michigan ingredients — foods that are familiar to our great-grandparents as well as today's gourmet chefs.

After a long winter, early Michigan families celebrated spring with asparagus, rhubarb, and strawberries to counteract the effects of a winter diet deficient in vitamin C. The historical society is doing the same but has taken advantage of the tremendous variety of other fresh ingredients available today.

The springtime Michigan dinner includes wild mushroom en croute, brie and Canadian bacon with pear chutney, spring vegetables with three vinaigrettes, peppered beef tenderloin canape, then grilled Amish chicken breast and shrimp with tarragon cream, asparagus pointes au beurre, maple-glazed sweet potato, mixed greens dressed with Michigan dried tart cherry vinaigrette, herbed breads, and vintage wines; and, for dessert, dark chocolate Frangelico truffles, caramel and nut English shortbread, and strawberry rhubarb tart with white chocolate sauce.

Menu coordinators are Kevin Pavlina and Sarah Minor. Chairpersons for the dinner are Mark and Janie Cryderman.

For more information contact Nancy Rochon at 349-4103.

Weddings

Lorraine Jean Hopping/Christopher Adams Egan

Lorraine Jean Hopping of New York City, daughter of William and Marilyn Hopping of Northville, became the bride of Christopher Adams Egan of New York City on Sept. 15. He is the son of Kevin and Amy Egan of South Nyack, New York.

Mayor Christopher J. Johnson of Northville presided at the double-ring service held at the bride's parents' residence in Northville. Matron of honor was Louise M. Spigarelli of Ypsilanti.

Best man was Justin S. Egan of South Nyack.

A reception for guests was held at the Country Epicure in Novi following the ceremony.

The bride is the editor of Super Science magazine, published by Scholastic Inc. She is a 1978 Northville High School graduate and a 1982 graduate of Kalamazoo College.

The bridegroom is a 1977 Nyack High School graduate, and a 1981 graduate of Marist College. He has been most recently employed as a newspaper sports copy editor.

The couple honeymooned in Ireland and plan to make their home in New York City.

Suzanne Camille Mitchell/Timothy Michael Singel

Suzanne Camille Mitchell of Troy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Mitchell Jr. of Northville, became the bride of Timothy Michael Singel of Birmingham on Nov. 23. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Garry M. Singel of Troy.

Reverend James Cronk, pastor of St. James Roman Catholic Church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony held at the Shrine Chapel-Our Lady of Orchard Lake in Orchard Lake.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white, full-length satin gown with pearl and sequin beaded illusion neckline and bodice. Insets of Alecon lace were featured on the puff sleeves, skirt front and ruffled, cathedral length train. Her bridal veil was of a beaded headband design featuring silk flowers, pearls and a cathedral length train.

To complete her ensemble, the bride carried a bouquet of cascading white tiger lilies, minuet roses and stephanotis with variegated holly, cedar and pine.

Lisa Mitchell of Westland, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were sister Lori of Westland; Carolyn Singel of Troy, sister of the groom; Jodi Roberson of Kalamazoo; Lynda Carson of Swartz Creek; and Karen Nyhan of Troy. Junior bridesmaid was Andrea Rabaut of Canton, niece of the bride.

Best man was the groom's brother Kevin of Denver, Colo. Charles Elmer of Pontiac, Paul Warner of Auburn Hills, Patrick Scott of Schaumburg, Ill., Charles Kraft of Chicago, Ill., and Kenneth Kestinec of Palo Alto, Calif., served as groomsmen.

A reception for 240 guests was held at the Links at Pinewood in Walled Lake following the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Northville High School, and received a bachelor's degree in engineering from Michigan State University. She is currently employed as a buyer with Ford Motor Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Avondale High School in Auburn Heights, and received a bachelor's in business from Michigan State. He is employed as a marketing representative with Rolm Company.

The couple honeymooned in St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, and plan to make their home in Birmingham.

Heather Renee Davis/Christopher Alan Tressler

Heather Renee Davis and Christopher Alan Tressler were married Sept. 1, by the Rev. Robert Kyser in an afternoon garden ceremony at Western Golf and Country Club, Redford. A reception followed.

The bride is the daughter of Peter and Vera Davis of Northville. The groom is the son of Judy Tressler of Big Rapids and the late C. Alan Tressler.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father and wore a chapel length gown with a dropped-waist bodice of alecon lace and a silk skirt. The short sleeves of the gown were covered with cut-out lace flowers. She carried a cascading bouquet of white and pink roses interspersed with white heather and accents of lavender. Jennifer Paige Davis, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Libby Turner, college roommate of the bride, and Amy Stokes, a high school friend of the groom, were bridesmaids. The attendants wore floor length, blue, floral print gowns and carried mixed bouquets of complimenting colors. The groom and his groomsmen were attired in white dinner jackets with black bow ties and cummerbunds. The best man was Randy Tressler, brother of the groom, of New York City. Ushers were Jeff Kutcher, college roommate, and Brit Davis, brother of the bride.

The bride is a 1984 graduate of Northville High School and a 1988 graduate of the University of Michigan, is employed by the First National Bank of Chicago. The groom, also a 1988 U-M graduate, is employed by Arthur Andersen and Co.

After a honeymoon in Hawaii, the newlyweds will make their home in Chicago.

Northville resident wins Hopwood writing award

A Northville student at the University of Michigan is among 12 U-M students who have recently won honors in the Avery and Jule Hopwood Awards in Creative Writing and will share $3,100 in prizes.

The winner from Northville is Katherine A. Kibbey, LS & A sophomore, $275 in the Hopwood fiction category for "Sighing Innocents; Suburban Chiaroscuro." The awards ceremony featured a reading by novelist and short-story writer Bharati Mukherjee, winner of the National Book Critics Circle Award.

The awards were presented by U-M professor Nicholas F. Delbanco, director of the Hopwood program. The Hopwood awards, funded by a bequest from U-M alumnus and Broadway playwright Avery Hopwood, are presented three times annually, with the major competition in April.

Cooke PTSA needs a few good folk

COOKE MIDDLE SCHOOL

Cooke PTSA is looking for a few "good" people.

The Cooke PTSA has formed a nominating committee to find candidates for the 1991-92 school year. The committee is seeking candidates for the offices of president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer. Elections will be held at the PTSA meeting on April 15. Please call Sharon Ferrara at 349-1781 or Lynda Baca at 349-5584 with nominations. Cooke will be hosting a "Senior Prom" for Northville seniors on March

PTA News/Middle schools

27 from 4-6:30 p.m. The prom goes will be served a complete spaghetti dinner (with homemade sauce), salad and dessert. The dinner dance is an all-Cooke team effort with student council members acting as waiters, teachers serving as chefs and Life Skills classes providing salad and dessert. Cooke music students will provide entertainment during dinner. Dance music is courtesy of an all-senior band, complete with female drummer, called the Mellow-Aires.

Amerman and Moraine fifth-graders will be treated to a band concert on March 28 courtesy of the 8th-grade Cooke band in preparation for course selection for next fall. Girls volleyball is in full swing. Cooke visits Novi on March 19, hosts Meads Mill on March 21 and ends the season with a trip to Scranton on March 28.

Spring recess begins at the end of a full day on March 28. Students return April 8.

Saving our environment through recycling will be the topic of a presentation to each grade. Students will learn how, what and where to recycle.

Next PTSA meeting is April 15, 9:30 a.m., at Cooke.

Remember, PTSA meetings are a great place to learn what your child forgets to tell you about school.

Check those book bags for report cards on April 12.

Northville seniors benefit from grants

Northville Junior Baseball/Northville Girls Softball Scholarship: Applicants must have participated in at least three years of Northville Junior Baseball or Girls Softball and must be enrolled in college for fall, 1991. They may be asked to appear before the Northville Junior Baseball Board of Directors.

National Honor Society Scholarship: Applicants must be members in good standing, and must have finished activities and community service requirements. Financial need is considered.

University of Michigan Alumni Scholarship: Applicants must have been accepted at the University of Michigan for the fall, 1991.

Richard Lewis Starving Artist Scholarship: Applicants must have been involved in the Northville High School art program. Future plans must include post-secondary study in any facet of the art field. Financial need is considered.

Two other local scholarships are available, but students must apply directly, rather through the school counseling office. They are:

Bea Carlson Womanhood Award: The Bea Carlson Womanhood Award is offered to any woman needing financial assistance to begin, resume or upgrade her career.

Applicants must be accepted into an accredited program or course of study; be a resident of the city or township of Northville, or be a member of the Northville Business and Professional Women or in the immediate family of a member.

Application must be requested by mail from: Northville Business and Professional Women Scholarship Committee, 23216 Hawthorne, Farmington, MI 48336. Application must be postmarked by April 15.

Sassaman Scholarship: Applications are available through the Northrop Funeral Home in Northville. Applicants may call 348-1233 or write to John B. Sassaman, Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home, 19091 Northville Road, Northville, MI 48167. Print the word "scholarship" on the envelope.

Applicants must be a high school senior and U.S. citizen; must live in the city or township of Northville; have carried a B- grade average through their junior and senior years; demonstrate leadership qualities; have been accepted at a Michigan university or college; and have not been offered a full scholarship to attend a Michigan university or college.

Novi community offers much financial aid performing arts. A portfolio or 3-5 minute video must be provided to the Novi Parks and Recreation office by May 8. Not based on financial need.

Novi Police Officers' Association Scholarship: The Novi Police Officers' Association established this scholarship in 1985 to recognize a senior who has been an outstanding citizen. Applicants should be a model of community involvement and moral behavior.

Novi Police Lieutenants and Sergeants Assoc. Scholarship: In memory of Novi Police Officer Charles D. Brown, the scholarship is awarded to a Novi senior who represents good citizenship and high values.

Novi Choralaires Scholarship: Applicants should be active in vocal music and intend to major or minor in vocal music in college. Applicant must provide a recommendation from vocal teacher.

Novi Newcomers Scholarship: Applicants should be students who transferred to Novi High School from another high school, and has made a good academic and extra-curricular adjustment to the school.

Victor's Novi Inn Scholarship: Applicants should be students who have held a job during the 11th and 12th grades. Grade point average and financial circumstances will be factors, but major criteria is a good employment record. A letter of recommendation from employer is required.

Novi Optimist Club Scholarship: Applicants should be students who have demonstrated positive activity in the school and community, and embody the ideals expressed in the Optimist Creed. Applicants must write a one-page essay on this Creed, copies of which are available in the counseling office.

Woman's Club

The Northville Woman's Club wrapped up its 1990-91 season with its annual Tureen Luncheon March 15. At the same meeting, the members elected their officers for next year. Pictured at right, they are (left to right) Barbara Isom, corresponding secretary; Helen Myers, treasurer; Dotty Crain, vice-president; and Mary Louise Cutler, president. Not pictured is Ruth Whitmyer, who was elected recording secretary. The Northville Woman's Club, organized in 1892, is not only one of the oldest organizations in the community, but is also among the oldest woman's clubs in the State of Michigan.

Vogt, Parke named to All-Area squad

Nyland is 2nd teamer

The envelope please. Sportswriters from HomeTown Newspapers, which includes the Milford Times, South Lyon Herald, Northville Record, and Novi News, have chosen this year's all-area volleyball team.

Below is a brief recap of each player and what their respective coaches had to say about them.

FIRST TEAM:

AMANDA PARKE, Setter, Northville: The area's top setter this year is Amanda Parke, who was also a first-teamer last year. This 5-foot-5 senior was the Mustangs' top passer and setter, but she sported a fine all-around game as well. Parke handled over 1,000 set opportunities during the season and successfully carried out her task 95.3 percent of the time. Her reception (437-of-481 for 91 percent) and serving numbers (307-of-345 for 89 percent, including 55 aces) were also impressive. At the net, Parke was a solid outside hitter and contributed 100 kills with a success rate of 85 percent (400-of-470). "Amanda was a co-captain and she was our team leader on the court," Osborn said. "A lot of the time, she was directing traffic and did an excellent job." Like Vogt, Parke was an All-Division selection.

KAREN VOGT, Hitter, Northville: A 5-foot-10 senior, Vogt was named the Mustangs' Most Valuable Performer and earned a spot on the WIAA All-Division squad this winter. She was Northville's top server, connecting on 202-of-220 attempts (91 percent) including 13 aces, but was also a key contributor at the net. Vogt was successful on 266-of-306 hit attempts (87 percent), and 95 of those were kills. As a passer, she effectively handled 508-of-578 attempts (88 percent). "I think Karen is the top middle hitter in the area," Mustang Coach Paul Osborn said. "She is a quiet leader, a very smart player and she has a good knowledge of the game. She does a good job at the net and is only an average jumper, but apparently her ankle has been bothering her all season and she didn't say anything to anybody. She was a unanimous choice as our MVP, and it was voted by the players."

JENNIFER FORNWALD, Hitter, Novi: Novi's top all-around player was probably this 5-foot-7 senior, who has been a three-year starter. Fornwald is one of the area's top servers, connecting on 86-of-90 from the service line for 95 percent. She was also impressive in offensive areas like spiking, where she was successful on 65-of-81 hits, with 22 percent on those resulting in a kill. In addition, Fornwald had a success rate of 84 percent in passing (77-of-91). "It's been a pleasure to coach her the last three years," Wildcat Coach Amy Wagner said. "Serving is the key for Jennifer. She's very consistent and she can place the ball in specific areas. Toward the end of the season she improved her spiking tremendously. Her power really increased and that had to do with better technique and more confidence." With a 3.5 grade point average, Fornwald was her team's Student-Athlete Award winner.

BRENDA HEILER, Hitter, South Lyon: Heiler, a 5-foot-8 senior, was just one of the many cogs in the South Lyon machine that bumped, set and spiked its way to the school's first-ever league and district title. Heiler was the team's leading attacker with 197 kills, third in aces with 45 and fifth in points with 154. She also served 85 percent of her serves successfully and had four solo blocks. "Brenda was our primary option at the net," said Coach Ed Baldwin. "She was a super offensive weapon. She couldn't get the ball over the net as a freshman, but she worked on the weights and has become a real impact player." Baldwin said Heiler's biggest strength is her quickness. "She's an incredible athlete. She's also a good track runner. She stood out on defense for us this year. When she graduates, I'll be losing one-fifth of my coaching career."

EMILY BURTON, Hitter, South Lyon: Although she missed nine games after a foot injury, Burton, a 6-foot senior, rebounded in the second half of the season to help spark the Lions with her blocking ability. On the season, Burton had 20 solo blocks and 23 block assists. She also scored 160 points, knocked down 126 kills and served at an 87-percent clip — including 39 aces. "The highlight of her season had to be when she took Brighton right out of the districts with her blocking. She dominated the net and had a clutch performance," Baldwin said. "She worked really hard and got the most out of her height. She's a mobile 6-footer, which is why Northwood Institute recruited her." Burton's strengths, Baldwin said, are her hands and her mobility. "For a big person she does everything well. She can pass from the back row and she's our wall in the front row. Other teams have to get through her to get to us," he said.

NIKKI BAILEY, Hitter, South Lyon: Like her teammates, Heiler and Burton, Bailey, a 5-foot-11-inch junior, was instrumental in the Lions' run at the league title and the district championship, particularly from the service line. Bailey, the tallest person on South Lyon's squad, was second on the team with 197 points, but led the team in aces for the second year in a row with 97. She was also tops on the team with 313 set assists and had 15 block assists and 13 solo blocks. Bailey was second to Heiler in kills, knocking down a total of 168 during the regular season. "Nikki is the heaviest server I've ever coached," Baldwin said. "The joke around here is that when she graduates (next year), I'm gone, too. But that's not true." Baldwin said Bailey's strength is her versatility. "She's real talented in just about every position. What an athlete! Everything about her says, 'I know how to do this,'" Baldwin added. Asked what he would be able to do with six Nikki Baileys on his team, Baldwin said: "You wouldn't be talking to me here. You'd probably be talking to me as a reporter for United Press International at the NCAA Finals."

SECOND TEAM:

STEPHANIE TOLSDORF, Novi: This 5-foot-8 senior led the "Cats in spiking and blocking, but was also key performer in other areas like serving and passing." Stephanie is real aggressive along the front row," Wagner said. Tolsdorf connected on 76-of-96 hits, and 25 percent of those were kills. She added 24 solo blocks and a success rate of 89 percent from the service line (84-of-94). Her passing (71) and serve reception (64) percentages were also solid. "I could always count on Stephanie when we needed some points and she was coming up to serve," Wagner said. "She is interested in continuing to play volleyball in college." Several college coaches, including one from Oakland Community College, have scouted Tolsdorf.

STACY NYLAND, Northville: Northville Coach Paul Osborn calls Nyland "the top underclassman I've had in four years of varsity coaching." The 5-foot-11 junior had an excellent campaign, leading the Mustangs in kills with 140 — an average of nearly four per contest. "Stacy is excellent," he said. "If she progresses in the off-season, she has a great chance to play college volleyball. She has excellent skills for a junior." At the net, Nyland was successful on 81 percent of her hit attempts (392-of-488), but also excelled in areas like serving (301-of-337 for 89 percent, with 35 aces) and receiving (458-of-560 for 82 percent). "She has a lot of potential," Osborn said.

JULIE CAMERON, Milford: Cameron, a junior, led her team in serving, scoring on 163 of 202 attempts for 81 percent. She also had 72 kills out of 260 attempts, including 53 block assists and 29 solo blocks. Cameron also had an 82-percent serve-receive ratio. Despite Cameron's season, her coach Terry Mareski said she could have had a better one with the right supporting cast. "This was not the kind of season she's capable of having, but I think that had to do with the type of season the team had," Mareski said. "She's definitely our best passer out of the back row. She's got good quickness in the back of the court and she's got the best vertical jump on the team." Cameron, who will be back for another year, will be counted on for more leadership, Mareski said. "We're a real young team. We're hoping to get more and it needs to come from her. Hopefully, she can help." Mareski said.

LYNN SCHELOSKE, South Lyon: The team captain, Scheloske, a 5-foot-8 senior, led the team with 213 points and a 91.2 percent serving percentage. She also tallied 97 kills and two block assists. "Lynn was the master of the short serve," Baldwin said. "She didn't just put lollypops over the net. She was frustrated as a sophomore because we never really talked about winning. She's been our primary serve-receiver for three years." Scheloske's forte, Baldwin said, is her tremendous work ethic. "She's a real physical worker. The first few years she got a lot of bruises and it took its toll on her. She's the type you build teams around. She's definitely our hardest worker."

Baldwin, Bailey earn special honors

By BEN HANNEMAN
Staff Writer

South Lyon volleyball coach Ed Baldwin knows control.

He knows that with it a team can go far, as was the case with his club this year. He also knows that without it, a team can go winless in 40-some games, which his team has also done.

It was Baldwin's control, along with a multi-talented team, that helped bring South Lyon its first-ever league and district championship volleyball team. It's also earned him the distinction as HomeTown Newspapers' East Coach of the Year in volleyball.

For Baldwin, control is vital in volleyball. "In volleyball there's no room to lose control. If you lose control, you're history," he said. "This year's team knew that. They were a very level-headed team. They didn't get up too high or down too low."

Baldwin, who is 38 and single, began coaching volleyball in 1975 at Battle Creek Pennfield High School. He left that job the same time as Bob Scheloske, who just happened to be the Pennfield Panthers' football coach the same year.

Ironically, three years after Baldwin left Pennfield, the freshman team he'd coached won the Class B state volleyball title.

"It felt good to see them win it," Baldwin recalled.

Baldwin made his way to South Lyon in 1985 after nine years at Southgate Aquinas, where he also coached a district champion team. Baldwin said Scheloske played a part in that move as well.

"Bob and I have been friends for years. I'd coached his son in football and he knew I wanted to coach his daughter in volleyball, so I guess he brought me along," Baldwin said.

Baldwin graduated from Cadillac High School, where he played football, basketball and baseball. He began playing volleyball on a recreation league team at Michigan State University.

Of all the sports, Baldwin said he enjoys volleyball the most because he can combine the skills needed in basketball, baseball and football.

"There are so many other sports involved in it. You have to have speed, quickness and good hands. Plus, it's the only sport I was knocked out playing," Baldwin said, referring to a game between MSU and Ohio State in 1975.

"People think volleyball is a weak sport. Let them play this one," Baldwin said.

Nikki Bailey — the HomeTown East Player of the Year — was a vital element in the formula that helped South Lyon to its first-ever league and district volleyball championships.

The 5-foot-11 junior started her volleyball career four years ago when Baldwin organized a seventh-grade team.

"He's coached my entire career," said Bailey about Baldwin. "He's a good coach. He tries to make you mad, but he's just trying to work on concentration. It's a good concept because it helps you deal with certain situations."

Bailey, daughter of LaVerne and Dianne Bailey of South Lyon, said she likes the offensive part of volleyball the most.

"I like the setting and the hitting. It's just fun. If you get a good hit you feel good," she said.

She's also been playing basketball since second grade and hinted that she enjoys the aggressiveness of that game a little more than the controlled tempo of volleyball.

"I'm very intense," said a rather calm-looking Bailey during an interview last Friday. "I like to be aggressive and get into the game."

But volleyball also ranks near the top of her list of favorite sports, especially after this year.

"We had a great season," she said. "It's been what I've been waiting for. We've been playing together for three years now and it's been a lot of fun."

At the same time, Bailey said this year's season could have been a little bit sweeter had the ball bounced differently in postseason play.

"Winning regionals would have been nice, but winning districts was a lot," she said. "We found out how to win and we liked it and it got us up."

As far as next year and beyond, Bailey said she's hoping to be up among the leaders in statistics and possibly enroll at Northwood Institute in Midland in two years.

"Northwood is a good business school, but I've got time yet. I'll probably start looking at schools in the fall," she said.

Bailey said she's also considered coaching a volleyball team someday, maybe even at her alma mater.

Mustang cagers overcome adversity

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

The 1990-91 Northville boys basketball campaign will go into the record books as another winning season, but the raw numbers won't tell the whole story.

The team's 12-9 record doesn't reflect a lot of things. It doesn't show that the Mustangs were just one win away from capturing the program's second straight WLAA Western Division title.

Of the 12 wins, half of them came after two senior starters — Bill Kelley and Jason Flading — quit the team in mid-season, leaving coach Omar Harrison with a thin backcourt. Despite the internal troubles, Northville pulled together and went 6-6 the rest of the way, including a season-best five-game winning streak.

"That whole incident is one thing I don't want to remember about this season," Harrison said. "But I was very happy the way the rest of the guys pulled together after that. It could have ruined our season, but the kids wouldn't let that happen." To notch a winning season under those circumstances was admirable, but the Mustangs also had to deal with a very demanding schedule that included local powerhouse teams like Plymouth Salem (top-10 ranked), Novi (17-4 record), Plymouth Canton (district champion) and Dearborn Edsel Ford (with Division I prospect Derek Lowe). As a matter of fact, Northville tackled Salem and Novi two times each.

"We do play a tough schedule and there are no easy games," Harrison said. "So I feel real good about the season. There were a couple games we could have won and we didn't, but who would have thought we'd be just three points away from another division championship this season?"

"The most we lost during the regular season was two in a row, so we never did have any extended losing streaks. We seemed to bounce back well after losses."

With 6-foot-3 Paul McCreadie and 6-6 Mike Lang up front, Northville liked to pound the ball inside. The two seniors combined to score more than 27 points per outing this season — which was nearly 50 percent of the team's 56.8 scoring average. They also hauled down a combined 17 rebounds per game.

"Our game plan was usually to go inside against man-to-man defenses," Harrison explained. "Our strength was on the inside, but McCreadie is such a good passer that we would put him on the perimeter against zones."

Just a reserve last year, McCreadie developed into one of the top performers in the area this season. He was the only player in the area to average in double figures in both scoring (15.6) and rebounding (10.6). He also shot an area-best .599 from the field and was named to the elite WLAA All-Conference team.

"Paul is a very smart kid and he wants to be successful," Harrison said. "I knew it would be a big year for him because in the off-season he hit the weights and was very dedicated."

The rest of the Mustangs were role players who found a niche and contributed. Guards Mark Hillfinger (Sr.) and Ryan Huzjak (Jr.) did a solid job handling and distributing the ball. Hillfinger was named the team's Most Improved Player.

"Mark did not score much but he was an important cog for our team," Harrison said. "He's a hard-nosed kid who doesn't back down and always works hard."

A football star last fall, Huzjak led the team in assists (3.6 per game) and steals (1.8) from the point, and — appropriately — was the quarterback of the team.

"Ryan came a long way this season," Harrison said. "He executed his role of running the ballclub, and that's what we wanted from him. He has that quarterback mentality from football."

"All our kids knew what their roles were and that was the major key that allowed us to have a successful season."

Huzjak and 6-foot-3 forward Matt Schramm will be the only returning starters next season, but a stable of frontcourt players who came off the bench this season will be battling for additional playing time. That list includes junior Chris Lehr, junior Jim Luebbe and 6-foot-6 sophomore Mike Maschek.

"I'm looking forward to next season," Harrison said.

Osborn looks to improve upon another successful campaign

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

Paul Osborn's fourth season at the helm of the Northville volleyball program was much like the three seasons before. The Mustangs always seem to be very competitive, finish with an impressive record, but have trouble winning the big matches against the elite teams.

"We've always been competitive, but we want to try and take things a step further," Osborn admitted. "We seem to have trouble in some of the key matches, like against (state champion) Livonia Churchill."

Coming off a 23-11-4 campaign, most coaches would be thrilled. But Osborn has such a solid program, a winning record is expected, and improvement is always a top priority.

"It was an excellent season," he said. "Our teams in the last two years have a record of 45-23, so we are used to having some success. This team was very comparable to last year as far as the records, but our depth was better this year and the raw talent

Northville placed second in the WLAA Western Division standings with an 8-2 mark and finished in a tie for third place in the 12-team WLAA. Both intradivision losses came against state-ranked Churchill.

The Mustangs never won more than three straight matches, but never suffered consecutive losses. The squad would have taken a six-match winning streak into the WLAA Meet on Feb. 23 if it wasn't for a road loss to Churchill on Feb. 13.

"Statistically, we were a good team," Osborn pointed out. "We graded out at above 80 percent in every category, except our serve reception. We struggled in that area and it hurt us. Our team percentage was down in the mid-70s and we need it to be in the mid-80s."

As a team, Northville connected on 1,793-of-2,026 from the service line for 88 percent and 227 aces. Senior setter Amanda Parke led the team with 55 aces and senior middle hitter Karen Vogt topped the team with a service percentage of 91.

The Mustang hitters were successful 82 percent of the time (1,865-for-2,271), including 542 team kills. Junior middle blocker Stacy Nyland had a team-high 140 kills. The setting (93 percent) and passing (85 percent) numbers can be directly attributed to the play of Parke, who was the team leader in both areas. Like Vogt, Parke was named to the All-Division team.

"(Parke) was our co-captain and our team leader on the court," Osborn said. "A lot of the time, she was directing traffic and generally being a coach on the floor. She did an excellent job."

In addition to Vogt and Parke, the Northville seniors also included key contributors like Ashley MacLean, Beth Ursel, Marcie Dart and Shannon Price. According to Osborn, next year's team will be built around Nyland and backup setter Sarah Winquist (Jr.).

"Nyland is an excellent player for a junior," Osborn said. "I would say she is the top underclassman I've had in four years."

Seniors propel Northville swimmers to success

File Photo

Mustang senior Matt VanHorn was a key contributor this season in the relay events

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

With just one dual meet defeat and top-10 status statewide in each of the last two seasons, the Northville boys swim team has developed into a premier program under coach Mark Heiden.

And according to Heiden, much of the credit goes to a group of seniors that will go down as one of the greatest swimming classes in Mustang history.

"It's been great watching this class develop through the last four years," Heiden said. "They've been a great asset to the program — all eight seniors are great leaders."

"With guys like that, it's easy to be successful. And their effect will last for years after they've gone because the underclassmen learned a lot from them."

At the head of the class is undoubtedly Eric Newton, who was a star for four years. Newton currently holds eight school records (out of 12 events), and finished his brilliant career as one of the most successful Mustang swimmers ever. Is he the best swimmer in school history?

"You can make a good argument for that," Heiden said. "You can definitely say he is the fastest ever."

During his high school career, Newton never finished lower than third in any event at the WAAA Meet, he was a four-time state meet qualifier, and a four-time All-Stater.

"He's a very well-rounded swimmer," Heiden said.

"It's been great watching this class develop through the last four years. With guys like that, it's easy to be successful. And their effect will last for years after they've gone because the underclassmen learned a lot from them."

MARK HEIDEN
Northville coach

"They are best friends but neither one wanted the other to get too far ahead. They are very competitive, but in a positive way, and that did nothing but help them improve."

Swimmers Brad Cook and Matt VanHorn are two more 12th-graders who will be missed next season. Cook is the reigning school record holder in the butterfly, and VanHorn played a crucial role in Northville's success in the relay events.

"Brad Cook was really small physically as a freshman but he had perfect strokes and I knew he'd be a good swimmer," Heiden recalled. "He's a very hard worker. Matt VanHorn played a key role in the freestyle relays."

For the second straight season, the Mustangs went 9-1 in dual-meet action. The team's only loss was back in December in the season opener against powerful Livonia Stevenson. The Spartans also won the WAAA Meet, placing just ahead of runner-up Northville.

"Stevenson is just a good team," Heiden said. "There are always good teams in our conference. Competing against a team like that makes our kids better."

Despite all the recent success, the Mustangs have never placed first at the WAAA Meet. But Northville has been a regular finisher in the top-10 at the state meet the last two years, with a sixth place finish a year ago and a ninth last month.

A guide for the food consumer

What does it take to become a perfect food consumer?

First, follow the guidelines. Perfect consumers are well-versed in label-reading and can decipher hidden non-nutritional calories. Such a consumer is not easily lulled into worshipping fish oil or oat bran without investigating all the angles. These consumers stroll up and down aisles at a painstaking pace, carefully examining and weighing each product they consider buying. They also plan every meal to assure a well-balanced diet.

A perfect consumer never shops when hungry.

To become a perfect consumer, one needs to learn about healthy eating. Before you can buy the right foods, you must understand your body's needs. The American Heart Association of Michigan recommends the following goals for a heart-healthy eating plan:

- Meet your daily requirements for protein, vitamins, minerals and other nutrients.
- Achieve and maintain your desirable weight.
- Achieve desirable blood cholesterol levels — cholesterol intake should not exceed 300 mg. a day.
- Alcohol consumption should be limited to 1.5 ounces per day.

"At the grocery store, choose only lean cuts of meat and focus on fish, chicken and turkey as healthy main meals," said Karen Jackson, R.D., AHA/MI volunteer.

Jackson advises consumers to shop the outer limits of the store. Inside aisles typically contain convenient processed foods; the outer limits usually hold fresh produce, dairy products, and meats.

"These are the items that require some thought for preparation," Jackson said.

Perfect consumers are well-versed in label-reading and can decipher hidden non-nutritional calories Label-reading skills are a must.

"This cannot be stressed enough," Jackson said. "In order to steer clear of saturated fats, which elevate your blood cholesterol, you must know what oils to avoid in foods."

Saturated fats are usually solid at room temperature and are found in animal and some plant products. They tend to raise the level of cholesterol in the blood, which leads to heart disease.

Saturated animal fats are found primarily in beef, veal, lamb, pork, butter, lard, cheese, whole milk, 2

Plant products containing saturated fats include coconut oil, cocoa butter, palm oil, palm kernel oil and hydrogenated shortening. These products are sometimes advertised as cholesterol free, which is true; however, they are very high in saturated fat and should be avoided.

Look for unsaturated fats, which are usually liquid at room temperature. They tend to lower blood cholesterol. There are two types of unsaturated fats — polyunsaturated and monounsaturated.

Examples of polyunsaturated fats are sunflower, soybean, safflower, cottonseed and corn oil. Monounsaturated fats include olive, canola and peanut oils, the fat in avocados, olives, nuts and seeds.

The perfect consumer is open-minded about healthy eating. They are willing to experiment with new recipes while getting the most nutrition and value for their food dollar.

For recipes and more information on healthy eating, contact your local American Heart Association of Michigan.

Fitness Notes

Half-Marathon slated for April 21

The 15th running of the West Bloomfield Half-Marathon is scheduled for Sunday, April 21 beginning at 12:30 p.m.

Annually co-sponsored by West Bloomfield Parks and Recreation and Henry Ford Medical Center-West Bloomfield, the 13.1-mile course winds through the naturally scenic and rolling residential streets of West Bloomfield Township.

Ranked among the best long-distance races in the state, it draws more than 700 runners each year to challenge both their personal times and the course record, the latest of which was set in 1989 by Doug Kurtis of Northville.

Kurtis' time in 1989 was 1:07:32. Chert Sly of Dexter also set the women's record in 1989 with a time of 1:15:57.

The race begins in front of West Bloomfield High School, Orchard Lake Road north of Walnut Lake Road. The route is to be marshalled by volunteers and there will be staffed water stations every two miles.

Runners can preregister for race for $11 through April 12. After that date through race day, runner can will register for $14. The fee includes the race entry fee, T-shirt, awards to all finishers and refreshments. Runners entering the race after the pre-registration deadline cannot be guaranteed a T-shirt or its size. Lavatory, shower and dressing facilities are available at the high school, but lockers are not available.

Last year, a 3.5-mile walk was added as a companion event to the race and to celebrate the 20th anniversary of Earth Day.

Earth Day walkers immediately follow the pack of runners at the starting line. Close to half of the walk route goes through the fields and wooded nature trails of the township.

Entry fee for the walk before April 19 is $8. After April 19, the entry fee is $12. A special commemorative T-shirt will be given to the first 500 entrants.

Proceeds from the walk benefit the East Michigan Environmental Action Council.

Individuals wishing to volunteer can contact parks and recreation at 334-5660. Every volunteer receives a commemorative T-shirt and must be available to attend a pre-event meeting during the week prior to the event.

For an entry form to either the West Bloomfield Half-Marathon or the Earth Day Walk, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to West Bloomfield Parks and Recreation, 3325 Middlebelt Road, West Bloomfield, 48323.

For further information, contact parks and recreation at 334-5660.

MAYBURY EARTH DAY RUN: The University of Michigan's Northville Health Center, Running Fit and Northville Recreation are sponsoring an Earth Day 10-K Run at Maybury State Park on April 21 at 10 a.m.

Runners will start and finish at Maybury's concession stand area. The race course is a paved path through beautiful scenic woods.

Participants will receive a string bag, refreshments and be eligible for awards in each age group. An aerobic warmup will be held prior to the race.

Entry forms are available at Northville Recreation. Entries received on or before April 12 are $8 per person. Entries received after April 12 are $10.

Volunteers are needed to help with race activities. Please call 349-0203 for more information.

Myrna Partrich/Exercise

Children's exercise class should be fun

Dear Myrna: I am a health-and-fitness-minded mother who has two children. I would like to find an exercise class for my 6-year-old to get him interested in exercise. He is a little chubby. I think it would be great for him. There are three different classes for children I have found. What do you think?

Children and exercise — my favorite subject.

I work to promote early exercise since I am on the President's Council of Physical Fitness. Fitness-minded parents often want to teach exercise habits early. I know, I did.

My best advice: If you're choosing an aerobics class for your children, shop carefully for one that is safe and effective. But most important — "think like a kid." Lectures about the long-term benefits of exercise won't get any child excited about fitness. Think fun; that will hook 'em.

Most of the time, children's exercise classes are miniature adult classes.

Wrong.

That's no fun for a child. Children do not have special needs. If you have noticed, children are born interval trainers; they won't push themselves beyond their trying point. They like to work hard, back off, then fire up again.

Aerobic classes should cater to these natural patterns. You must keep in mind that the best classes for children will vary, depending on age and interest. You can't force your children to attend exercise classes — it might turn into a negative experience.

By age 6, most children have a long enough attention span for structured activity. All children thrive on "variety and fun," so look for a class where the activity changes often enough to hold their interest.

Plan to visit all three classes before you enroll your 6-year-old. Talk to the parents and the instructor. You'll want to find a qualified instructor who has experience and her cardiopulmonary resuscitation certification (CPR).

Personality is as important as her other credentials. He or she must love children and have lots of patience.

This could be a crucial time in your children's future. Be careful. He might not be ready for this. It might just be that you are ready.

Please don't push. Remember — fun, fun, fun.

Myrna Partrich, co-owner of The Workout Company of Bloomfield Township and a recent appointee of The President's Council on Physical Fitness, is happy to answer any questions readers may have regarding exercise. Please send your letters to: Sports Department, Myrna Partrich, 805 East Maple, Birmingham 48093.

The Uranus 1

Thoughtful 'open-plan' home

BY JAMES MCALEXANDER
Copley News Service

It won't take long to notice how light the Uranus 1's interior is. Stepping into the solarium/living room from the main entry deck, you will be bathed in sunlight and warmth from skylights ringing the cathedral ceiling. Skylights distribute light more efficiently than windows and the open plan of this home makes full use of that capability. Along with the centrally located wood stove, you won't be likely to find any cold spots in this living area!

An open floor plan allows this contemporary cottage to seem larger than it actually is, yet does not sacrifice dignity to do so.

For example, a dishwasher is wonderful for concealing the kitchen clutter of dirty dishes. But we all know that those dishes sometimes linger for awhile in or near the sink before reaching the dishwasher.

In many open-plan homes, guests in the living room are left to enjoy panoramic views of an earlier meals' remains. The designer of this home, however, has taken care to shield the sink from view; typically thoughtful.

Elsewhere in the kitchen you will find a pantry conveniently located near food preparation centers and a garden window overlooking the back yard.

Careful zoning is one hallmark of a well-designed home: Compatible activities share space with each other while competing activities are segregated. It's difficult to do in a small home, but note how well it is done in the Uranus

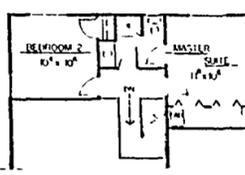

The utility room, for example, is completely apart from living areas and Bedroom No. 3, isolating wash and dryer noise. The bathroom, with its tub/shower combination, is centrally located, yet not obtrusive.

The second floor further exhibits careful planning with bedrooms well separated from each other for maximum privacy.

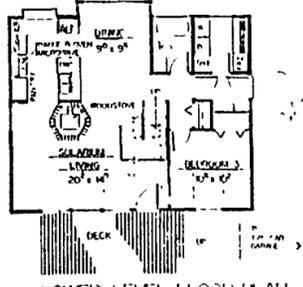

Of course, careful zoning is not the only characteristic of a thoughtful home; a glance at February's heating bill should remind you to consider energy efficiency as well.

This contemporary cottage, oriented with its solarium/living room to the south, should realize significant solar heat gains in winter. Large but discreet window areas draw the sun inside while six well-placed skylights spread the sun's energy toward the house center.

And note the location of plumbing fixtures can be placed within interior walls. Plumbing in exterior walls displaces insulation, and where insulation isn't, heat loss is.

For a study plan of the Uranus 1 (224-11), send $7.50 to Landmark Designs, C/o Home Town Newspapers, 323 E. Grand River, Howell MI 48843. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

Cardinals and bluejays flutter about the backyard tree-tops, butterflies and hummingbirds drink the flowers' sweet nectar, a rabbit munches on berry plants and a frog bathes in the rock-edged pond.

The soothing symphony of crickets chirping and birds cooing with the frog's occasional bass note wafts through the open window.

This concert of nature can be performed right in your own backyard—depending upon the amount of time and money one is willing to spend on creating a backyard wildlife sanctuary.

Wildlife will be attracted to an area providing food, water and cover for protection and reproduction.

An ideal backyard size for attracting creatures is about 100 by 120 feet (about one-fourth acre), but smaller ones may be used.

According to a National Wildlife Federation booklet, birds, squirrels and raccoons are drawn to various oak and maple trees; butterflies and other insects favor flowering shrubs, and rabbits are attracted to berry or fruit-producing plants.

Also, deer will eat foods like carrots, apples, sugar beets and hickory nuts.

Planting should begin in spring or early fall and wildlife researchers have found that creating the "edge effect"—planting around open areas—attracts the greatest variety and numbers of the little critters to the smallest piece of land.

Area nurseries or agricultural agents can provide plant species best suited to specific lot considering soil, moisture, nutrients and sunlight.

In addition to food, water should be provided for drinking and bathing via a bird bath or small pond which will draw frogs, ducks, dragonflies and various other insects.

The water should be kept unfrozen in winter by using a bird bath heater and for ponds, a livestock trough warmer.

The cost for backyard wildlife sanctuaries varies on the amount of items included, but according to the wildlife booklet, may be offset by increased property value, improved home landscaping and the enjoyment of an educational environment.

The booklet also suggests building "wildlife neighborhoods" which would certainly attract more animals. However, certain pesky critters may be unwelcome guests.

Gretchen Voyle, Livingston County Cooperative Extension Service home horticulturist, said that home location, neighbors and pets should be considered prior to building a backyard wildlife sanctuary.

"Obviously, it's not advisable to attract deer to a subdivision," Voyle said, and neighbors may not want an increased number of raccoons around their home because they are known to do damage. Also, dogs and cats may be hurt or killed by wild animals.

Attracting other types of wildlife may be unattractive, as well, as deer are known to eat garden plants and squirrels may rob bird feeders or get into attics.

Dick Grant, Howell Conference and Nature Center director, said people should remember that these animals are wild and some do carry diseases such as mange and distemper that may be transmitted to pets through their shots, or rabies, which may be given to people and pets.

Grant said that while he doesn't encourage feeding of wildlife, he does endorse providing shelter for animals.

"I think feeding wild animals encourages bad habits because raccoons, opossums and even deer may leave the porch or backyard of one place to look for food on someone else's porch," Grant said. "The animals may be enjoyment for one person, but a big problem for another. One person's cup of tea is another's castor oil."

Grant believes that there's enough food in the wild to sustain animals and suggests only providing shelter.

"People can construct brush piles using old Christmas trees or grass clippings and leaves, which may attract rabbits, and once they multiply, larger animals such as foxes or hawks and owls may appear," he said. "With Livingston County growing like it is, we've invaded the animals' territory and maybe their habitat was destroyed when a house was built. Also, if someone builds a squirrel house, it will keep them out of gutters and eaves."

Those without a yard who would still like to attract wildlife can use a window box planter filled with flowers or plants and a shallow pan of water or bird feeders.

Feeders may be hung from trees, mounted on poles or attached to windows, and vary in size, shape and price.

Feeders that include suet—the hard fat around the kidneys of cattle and sheep which is available at area pet stores—and peanut butter and seeds packed into feeders, empty logs or pine cones appeals to birds such as tufted titmice, bluejays and woodpeckers while cardinals, goldfinches and sparrows eat cracked corn and sunflower and sesame seeds; and wheats, oat and corn will draw quail, mourning doves, and chipmunk.

Birds also require grit such as coarse, white sand and almost all species eat doughnuts and bread crumbs as well as pieces of fruit.

Salt licks—blocks of rock salt—also attract rabbits and other salt-loving mammals.

To deter squirrels, mount feeders five feet off the ground and attach a sheet metal or plastic guard to the post.

Home mortgage refinancing is hot

BY JAMES M. WOODARD
Copley News Service

Refinancing of existing home mortgage loans is the hot-button trend for today's home owners. Lenders are welcoming an increasing flow of these folks coming into their office with refinancing applications in hand.

"We're almost to the point of being swamped with applications to refinance home mortgage loans," said one mortgage lending executive.

Most applicants want to replace an adjustable rate mortgage (ARM) with a fixed-rate loan, he said.

Adjustable rate mortgages have lost much of their sizzle, in the view of many borrowers and lenders. There should be a spread of at least 2 percentage points between adjustable and fixed-rate loans to spark borrower incentive to go for an adjustable loan. The spread isn't there in today's market.

Refinance applications have doubled in recent weeks at several lending institutions we checked.

"It's the most favorable time to refinance a home we've seen in the past 10 years," said one vice president for lending administration. "People are particularly anxious to lock into a solid fixed-rate mortgage loan. They seek a feeling of security about their future financial situation — peace of mind."

In some cases, home owners are refinancing their adjustable-rate mortgage with a fixed-rate loan even though the current interest rate is about the same, the VP noted. "They want to protect their downside liability," he said.

Another currently popular refinance loan is the 5-25 mortgage. These loans adjust the interest rate only once during their 30-year amortization term. It adjusts after five years, then is fixed over the remaining 25 years. The initial interest rate for these loans is slightly lower than the 30-year fixed mortgage.

Another way to achieve a low interest rate without going to a typical ARM (adjusted annually or monthly) is to take a seven-year balloon loan. This mortgage has a comparatively low fixed-interest rate for seven years, but must then be paid off or refinanced.

Payments are based on a 30-year amortization period. It's a good type of mortgage for people who plan to sell their home within that seven-year period.

As a general rule, most lending executives suggest that a refinance loan should be considered only if a new loan can be obtained with an interest rate at least 2 percentage points lower than the existing mortgage. Also, there should be no more than a two-point loan fee charged. (Each point is 1 percent of the loan amount.) And the borrower should be planning to retain ownership of the property for at least another two or three years.

The primary factors that make this a particularly good time to refinance a home mortgage loan are (1) interest rates are down due to the Federal Reserve Bank's efforts to crank up our sluggish economy, (2) ample funds are available for new loans due to a reduction in the amount of funds banks are required to set aside to cushion possible losses, and (3) home values and equities are up, despite occasional recent dips.

Keep in mind, however, that lenders now tend to be tighter in their qualifying requirements. They are only too familiar with real estate loans that founded the death knell for many savings and loan associations. As a self-protective measure, underwriting guidelines have become more strict.

Q. Is it true that the executive vice president of the National Association of Realtors is quitting his job because of criticism aimed at NAR by its members during the last NAR annual convention?

A. No. NAR executive vice president Bill North is retiring at the end of this year because it's time to retire. He and his wife, Carol, have been planning for this retirement for years.

The much-publicized criticism came primarily from one unhappy Realtor who circulated an "open letter" to 10,000 hotel rooms in the city where the NAR convention was taking place. That letter is now promoting a "national rally" day on May 15 to discuss issues brought out in his letter.

Basically, the Realtor claims most of his fellow Realtors lack the knowledge and expertise to be true professionals, and that NAR is moving away from being housing professionals and becoming marketing specialists. He's pushing for federal regulation and formation of a national real estate commission.

"The claims made in the letter are untrue and extraordinarily unfair," North responded.

Q. What is "mortgage insurance"?

A. This is a comparatively new type of insurance coverage, now offered by several insurance companies. It will make mortgage monthly payments for you if and when you are involuntarily unemployed.

If interested, shop around. Rates and coverage specifics vary. Send inquiries to James M. Woodard, Copley News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, CA 92112-190.

Steaming carpet helps restore crushed carpet

Copley News Service

Q. The carpeting in the home we recently purchased has deep indentations where the previous owner had placed heavy furniture. I have tried fluffing up the carpeting, but I have been unable to get rid of these unsightly impressions.

Do you know of any way the nap of the carpeting can be restored?

A. The indentations are due to the carpeting being crushed by the furniture legs. Steaming usually helps.

Put a clean damp cloth over the area and hold your iron a few inches above it. Or use a dry cloth and a steam iron.

A note of caution in either case: don't put any weight on the iron. Brush the pile up after steaming, using your fingers to fluff the fibers while the carpet is still a little damp. Repeat this process if necessary. This should do the trick.

To prevent crushing in the future, fit the legs of your furniture with broad-based furniture glides, not the button or dome type. This will reduce the crushing action and make it much easier to move your furniture around.

Q. I have a white marble floor that has yellowed in the heavy traffic areas. What can I do to remove the yellow and some of the grubby staining?

Also, should marble have a sealer coat? I have received conflicting advice on this.

A. The Marble Institute recommends the poultice method to clean marble.

Following normal cleaning and while the marble is still damp, apply a poultice made of abrasive cleaning powder and hot water made into a paste the consistency of plaster (for upright surfaces this should be stiff enough to adhere to the standing marble).

Figure about 1 pound of cleaning powder to each 1-1/2 square feet of floor surface.

Apply the plaster while it's hot with a plasterer's trowel or wooden spreader about 1/2-inch thick. Cover the entire area to shut off all air. Sheets of plastic are a good choice. Let the poultice remain until thoroughly dry or about 48 hours.

Remove when dry with wood paddles to avoid scratching the surface. Spraying lightly with cold water just prior to removal will help avoid raising a dust.

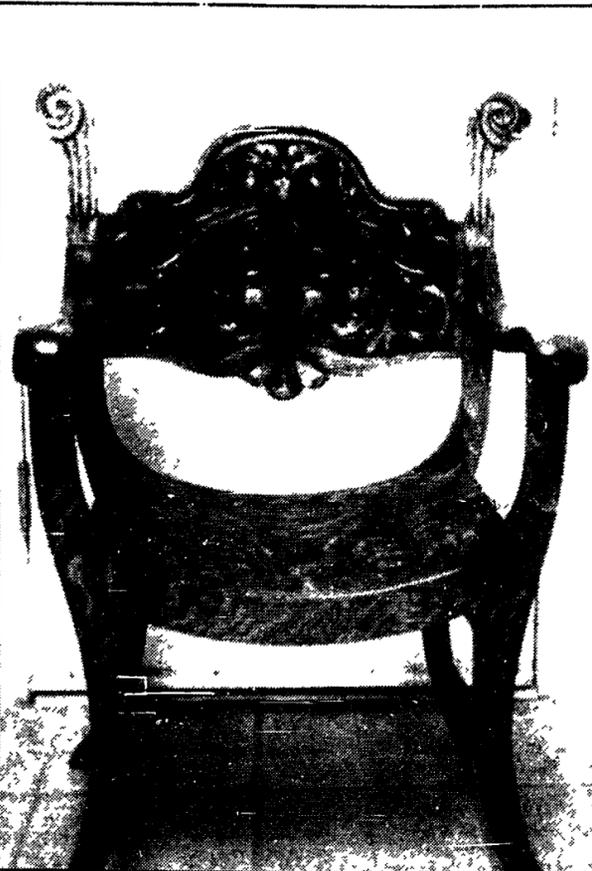

After removing the poultice, rinse well with clear water and let dry thoroughly.

Apply one or two coats of a colorless terrazzo sealer, either the solvent type or emulsified. This coating should serve as a fair protection against further penetration of stains. Waxing with a water wax would give even further protection.

It's a good idea to check with a qualified marble dealer for recommended sealers and waxes. There are a number of commercial products on the market recommended for both cleaning and preserving your marble.

One of our readers writes: Recently you ran some information on how to clean fiberglass showers. I treat them like my car, using a rubbing compound and then waxing with a good car wax once a month. This works great. All of the water and soap runs off and there is no soap and scum buildup.

Send inquiries to Here's How, Copley News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, CA 92112-0190. Only questions of general interest can be answered in the column.

Named for a 16th century monk, a Savonarola chair could be worth nearly $300.

Savonarola chairs are popular with collectors

BY JAMES G. MCCOLLAM
Copley News Service

Q. This chair has been in our family for generations. Can you provide any information about its design, period or value?

A. This chair takes its name and style from the 16th century monk, Savonarola. It was popular around the turn of the century and is equally popular with modern collectors.

Dealers are pricing chairs like this at $265 to $285.

Q. The mark is on the back of my Delft plate depicting a windmill scene.

Can you tell me how old it is and what it is worth?

A. This mark has been used in Holland for over 300 years; it is very difficult to distinguish old Delft from modern without careful examination. The value could range from $25 to several hundred dollars depending on age, quality and condition.

It is highly unlikely that your plate is more than 100 years old. As such the value would fall in the $50 to $100 range.

Q. I have a Royal Doulton figurine of a girl lying on her stomach reading a book. She is wearing a blue-and-white dress and is marked "HN-2133."

I would like to know when it was made and how much it might sell for.

A. This figurine is titled "Faraway" and was made between 1958 and 1962.

A dealer would probably price it at $300 to $400.

Q. The mark on the bottom of my plate is an eagle inside an oval with "Victoria" above and "Carlsbad" below. It is 10 inches in diameter and is decorated with a floral arrangement.

A. Your plate was made by the Victoria porcelain factory in Carlsbad, Austria, made in the late 1800s and might sell for about $35 to $45.

Garden glossary for spring things

BY PATRICK DENTON
Copley News Service

It has occurred to me that people just starting to garden might easily suffer a certain bewilderment over terms commonly used in seed catalogs and garden writing in general.

For these people, I would like to offer today a brief explanation of the basic types of plants that make up a garden, and a guide to the different root system that support and nourish plants.

ANNUAL
A plant that grows from a seed and completes its life cycle by flowering and producing seed all in one growing season.

HARDY ANNUAL (HA)
An annual that will stand some frost. Can be sown outside very early in the spring, or indoors in late winter for transplanting out as soon as the garden is workable in early spring. Calendula, stock, sweet pea, larkspur, broccoli, broad bean.

HALF-HARDY ANNUAL (HHA)
Annuals that are killed by frost and will not tolerate cold soils. Seeds indoors in late winter or early spring for transplanting when the weather and soil are warm. Or seed outdoors as the soil begins to warm during the spring. Alyssum, lobelia, aster, candytuft, cosmos, nasturtium, godetia, lavatera.

TENDER ANNUAL (TA)
Annuals needing warmth and shelter. Seed indoors in March to early April for setting outside in late May or early June. Marigold, tomato, eggplant, pepper, cucumber, zinnia, petunia.

BIENNIAL
Sown in the spring or early summer and transplanted to the garden in late summer or several weeks before the first frost is expected, biennials flower and set seed following year. Some die and some will live on if deadheaded. But keeping new plants coming along from seed is best. Most biennials self-sow generously. Sweet William, Canterbury bells, foxglove, hollyhock, forget-me-not, English wallflower, honesty (Lunaria).

PERENNIAL
A plant that lives for several years. Some, such as the peony, are very long-lived while others such as lupins are often short-lived. Some perennials bloom the first year from seed. There are varying degrees of hardiness among perennials. TP (tender perennial) indicates a plant that needs winter protection of some kind, or wintering indoors as for gerberas and zonal geraniums. Some of the plants we grow as annuals are perennial in their warmer native habitats—tomatoes and peppers for example.

HERBACEOUS PERENNIAL
The majority of perennials are herbaceous, which means having top growth that dies to the ground for the winter. Fresh growth emerges from the crown of the plant in the spring. Delphinium, peony, columbine, lupin, summer phlox.

coreopsis for example. Some perennials are evergreen, more or less depending upon the severity of the climate's winters. Some examples are dianthus, helianthemum (sunrose), most primroses, creeping phlox, perennial candytuft.

SHRUB
Has multiple woody stems emerging from the ground, or one short main stem that branches close to the ground into many stems.

TREE
Has one central woody stem, or trunk, from which branches grow.

ROOT SYSTEMS
Most plants have fibrous roots composed of tough and woody and/or fine fibers that anchor the plant and transport moisture and nutrients solutions to the crowns and stems.

Other types of root system serve as food storage areas:

BULB
Contains layers of scales wrapped around a central bud and attached to a base plate from which roots grow. The scales in most are packed tight (daffodil, hyacinth, tulip, onion, amaryllis, snowdrop). In lilies, the scales are loosely arranged and separated. Most bulbs have a dry papery covering called a tunic.

CORM
A solid mass of storage tissue without scales. But, like bulbs, a corm has a papery skin, a conical shape and a base plate. Corms are annual structures that shrivel as the plant above develops. A new corm forms on top of or beside the old one. Crocus, colchicum, freesia, gladiolus, acanthus.

TUBER
Solid, swollen food storage masses. Some develop new growth from buds or eyes all over their surface as in the potato. Begonia tubers form buds around a depression at the tuber top. Dahlias regrow from buds at the base of the old stem. Gloxinia and anemone are tubers also.

RHIZOME
Thickened, horizontal stems that grow along the surface of the soil as in bearded irises, or beneath the soil as in Solomon's seal and lily of the valley.

Bob and Mary Beth Irwin

"This is what we thought when we drove up to the model. We went inside and fell in love with the condominium, and best of all we were thrilled to discover that it was within our price range. After looking at 20 other condominiums we had found our new home at Briarwood.

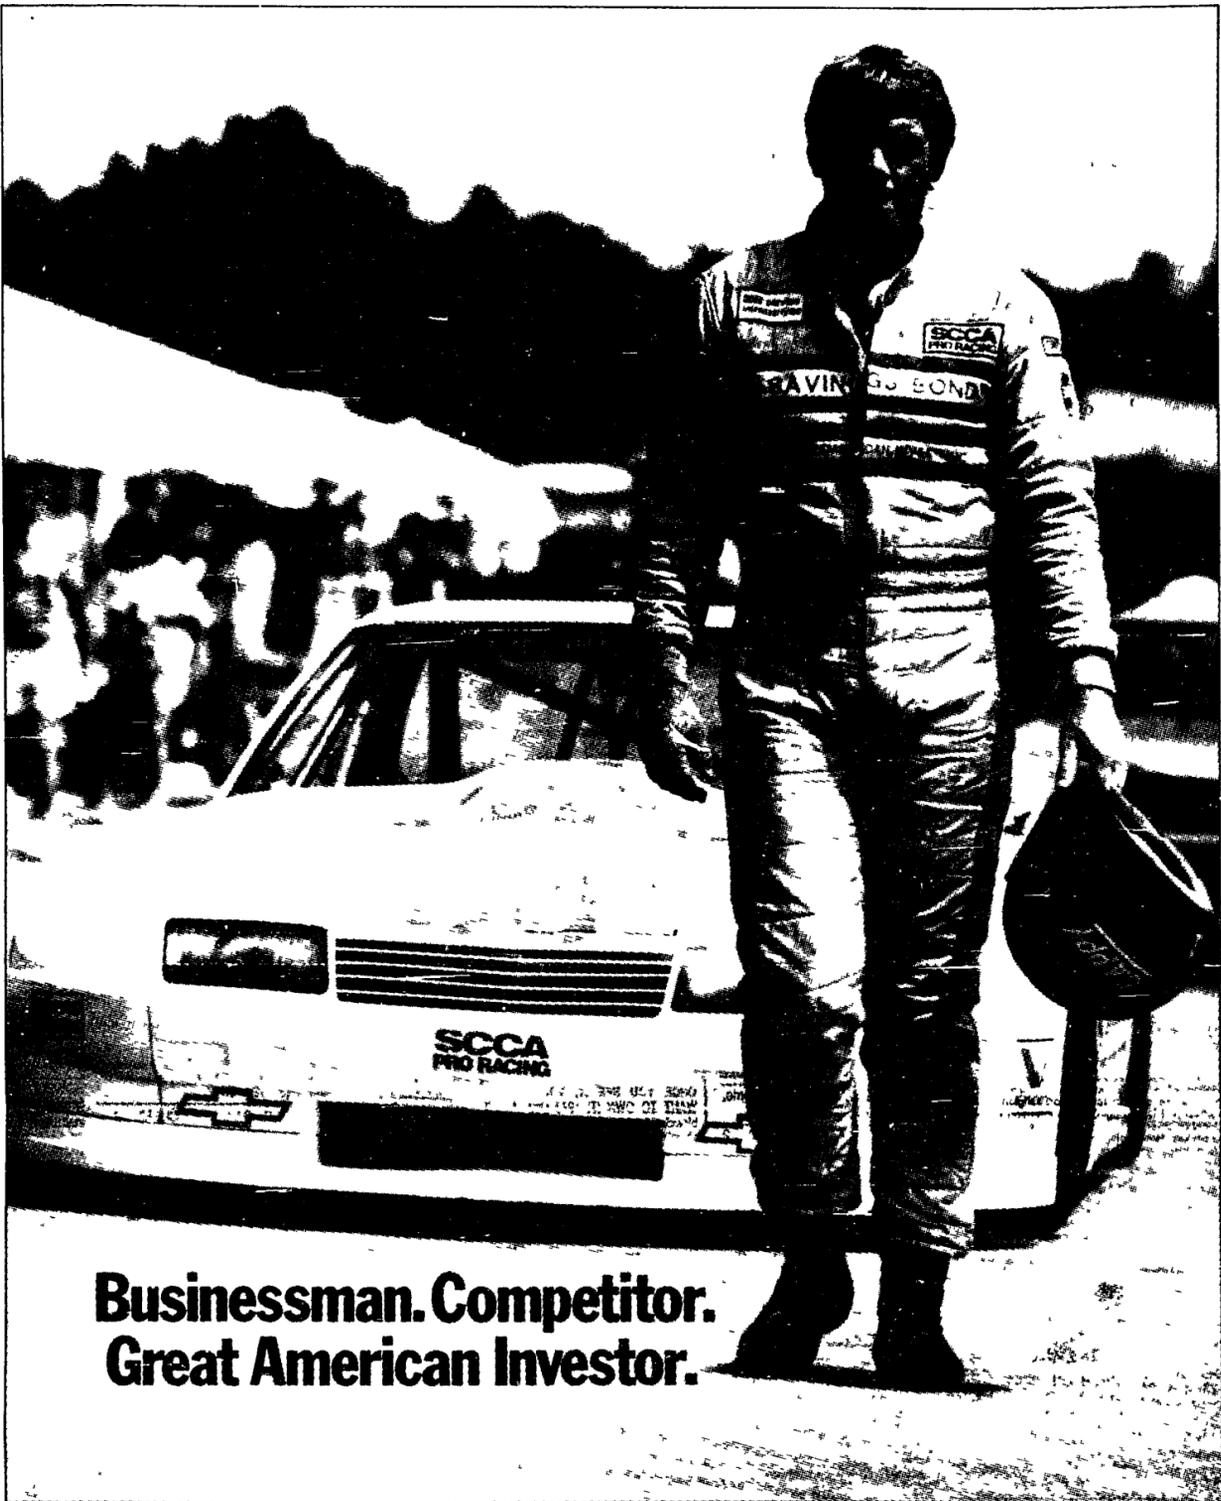

Nowhere else could we find a quality built detached condominium surrounded by nature, with terrific building allowances at a price we could afford.

We're pleased and proud to call Briarwood Condominiums of Novi our new home."

Milford salon offers feel-good solutions

By SUSAN MAXWELL
Special Writer

Tired of that "winter white" look? Need to drop a few unwanted extra pounds? Anxious to tone up in anticipation of bathing suit weather?

Trying to get that arm or leg back into shape after the cast came off? Looking for the right stress reliever?

If you said "yes" to any of those questions, Rosemary Birch of Malibu Tone-A-Tan in Milford has an offer she thinks you can't refuse.

It all started when Rosemary decided to lose some weight at the suggestion of her family physician. She needed to lower her blood pressure and get rid of the extra pounds. She started looking around at what was available to help her in her effort.

Her search took her to several places offering different types of toning tables. But none of them seemed to be what she was looking for.

Her continuing search for just the right tables led to a company in Ohio that produced Easy Tone Tables. The Easy Tone product offered variable speeds, unlike the other tables she had seen that had only a one-speed capability.

She went to her family physician and asked him what he thought of the tables, and he told her that he thought they would help her achieve the desired results in a positive and healthy way.

It was at this point that she realized that her focus had changed from herself to the larger community. After much thought, consideration, and conversation with her family, Rosemary decided to open her own salon. The result: Malibu Tone-A-Tan.

Rosemary and her husband Jerry own and, with the assistance of their daughter Debbie, operate Milford's only toning and tanning salon.

The salon has been in Milford for four years. It recently relocated from the Summit mall to its present location in the Prospect Hill Shopping Center.

The move was to enable the business to better serve its growing number of customers with a larger facility and expanding parking facilities, Birch said.

Tone-A-Tan offers a variety of programs designed to meet those needs and desires for getting into shape. The key to Tone-A-Tan's special programs is its gentle approach to fitness, Birch said.

Tone-A-Tan is equipped with seven toning tables that gently massage your body into shape, in combination with dieting or as a supplement to other forms of exercise. The tables ease the muscle tension caused by stress, certain arthritic conditions or inactivity due to injury.

It also increases blood circulation. And one special toning table, the "Acu-Massage," is especially effective in relieving pain associated with arthritis and back injury and in the muscle and headache discomfort caused by stress.

Acu-Massage tables are used in a chiropractic setting for such reasons. Birch cited an article that said, in years past, toning tables were used to help patients in their recovery from polio.

In addition to use of the toning tables, you can make an appointment with staff member Mary Lou Goss, a certified myomassologist, for a professional massage.

ing pleasure. Several low-impact aerobic classes are offered for cardiovascular fitness in addition to use of the exercise equipment.

Senior citizens are one of the special groups of people that Tone-A-Tan is dedicated to helping. One of Rosemary's customers walked into the salon one day with the use of a metal walker. The customer was discouraged with her limited mobility, and wondered if there was anything available at Tone-A-Tan that could help.

After use of the treadmill and the toning tables, she was able to trade in the walker for a cane. She has greater mobility and just plain feels better about herself, Birch said.

A stretching class especially designed for the senior citizen is also offered (although all are welcome to participate and all can benefit from this type of exercise.)

You may also enhance a weight loss program with the Delta III diet supplement plan that is offered. This plan, combined with a toning and exercise program designed specifically for you by a Tone-A-Tan staff member, could be the way to a healthier, happier you, according to Birch.

As you are toning your body and exercising away those unwanted pounds, you can take advantage of a European body sculpture wrap to take off inches as you take off pounds. Complete your look with a great tan from one of the three tanning beds on two "Hex," or standing, tanning booths.

Tanning makes you look and feel good, and is also recommended by dermatologists for certain skin conditions, Birch said. All of the products you need to successfully tan are available at the salon along with a host of other skin products designed for a healthier looking body. You can further complement your look with sunglasses, sportswear and jewelry that is also available for purchase at the salon.

What makes Tone-A-Tan so special? "The people make my salon a special place," says Birch. "I have nearly 3,000 happy faces coming in and going out of my salon for tanning, toning and exercising. I truly care about my clients and they care about me. It's much, much more than just another business."

Tone-A-Tan is located at 512 Highland Ave. in the Prospect Hill Shopping Center. It features monthly special for tanning and/or toning program packages, senior citizen discounts and convenient hours. To find out more information, you may contact a staff member at 684-1090 Monday through Friday from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m., Saturday from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. or Sunday from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Small business owners should know deductions

When it comes to running a business, taxes can be a make-or-break proposition. If you want to increase your after-tax profit, take the time to familiarize yourself with tax laws that can have an impact on your bottom line.

Here are a few basic strategies suggested by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants. OFFSET COST OF OFFICE EQUIPMENT

To offset the high cost of office equipment — whether office furniture or a computer system — you can depreciate the equipment over its useful life. For computer equipment, the depreciation period is generally five years. For other depreciable business assets, such as office furniture, the write-off period usually ranges from seven to 10 years. But keep in mind that there are certain assets which may be subject to additional restrictions and expense limitations.

As an alternative to depreciation, you may choose a special expensing election. With first-year expensing, you can take an immediate tax deduction for equipment purchases of up to $10,000 per year, as long as that amount does not exceed your business income. You basically treat these equipment costs as current expenses and deduct them in full in the year incurred — just as you would deduct salaries, office supplies and utilities. If the property costs more than $10,000, the excess amount can be depreciated. (The $10,000 limit applies as long as your business equipment purchases are less than $200,000 for the year.)

Here's an example: If you buy a photocopier for $20,000, half of the copier's cost can be taken as an immediate tax deduction. The other $10,000 is depreciated over five years. Expensing gives you the greatest tax boost when you apply it to property that would otherwise have the longest depreciable life.

DEDUCTING LEGITIMATE BUSINESS EXPENSES

As a small business owner, you are allowed to deduct 80 percent of the cost of business meals and entertainment expenses as long as they are directly related to or associated with the active conduct of your business. Generally, this rule means that you must discuss business immediately before, during, or immediately after the meal. In addition, the costs must be reasonable.

To protect your deduction in case the Internal Revenue Service decides to launch an audit, make sure you carefully record the date, place and business purpose of the meal or entertainment, as well as the amount spent, the name of the individual entertained, the business relationship and the topic of discussion.

Bear in mind that the rules for overnight business trips allow you to deduct 100 percent of your lodging and travel expenses. Furthermore, the cost of meals while away from home on business are 80 percent deductible, whether or not there is any special business purpose for the meal.

EMPLOYING YOUR CHILDREN

When you hire your children to work for your business, you may generally deduct their salaries as a business expense. As an added incentive, the income your children earn will be taxed at their own tax rate, not yours. Most children are taxed at a rate of 15 percent. Bear in mind that deducting wages to a family member may trip any IRS red flag, so handle this situation carefully.

To ensure your deduction, your children must actually perform necessary business services and their wages must be in line with what you would pay an outsider. You are also required to withhold taxes from their wages and to provide them with W-2 forms at the end of the year. For children under age 18, however, you do not need to withhold FICA taxes. Finally, CPAs advise you to maintain detailed records of any work your children perform for your business.

For further information on how tax laws affect your company's profitability, you may want to consult a CPA.

GRILL OPTIONAL

SAVE 250.00

INCLUDES LOCKSET & SCREEN WITH LOW-E GLASS

Change your look. Change your life. Change your sliding patio door into a classy new swinging patio door from Peachtree. Peachtree's insulated Prado patio door is sized to fit the same opening as most sliders. Chances are it'll fit your patio door opening without disturbing a single flower on your wallpaper.

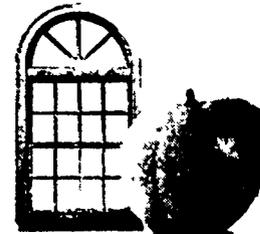

Walk through the Peachtree Planning Center where our doors and windows are displayed just as they'd look in your home. Our knowledgeable staff can explain Peachtree's exclusive Non-Stop Warranty* and show you the features that have made Peachtree's Prado patio door a favorite with America's builders.

LOOK THROUGH LOTS OF WINDOWS WITHOUT UPSETTING THE NEIGHBORS.

There are some exciting things happening today in window and door design. You'll see what we mean at the Peachtree Planning Center. You'll discover ways to brighten a room, build a dream, or turn a porch into your personal solarium.

You'll find grand front doors and gorgeous windows—styled from classic to contemporary and displayed just like they'd be installed in your home.

You'll also find a staff of professionals who'll give you all the expert advice you need—from comparison shopping all the way through final installation. Best of all, Peachtree products are guaranteed for as long as you own them.*

CORE AERATION $48.00

AVERAGE 4,500 Sq. Ft. Lot

WHAT IS AERATION?

Aeration is the removal of small cores of soil to allow air, moisture and fertilizer down to the root zone. The removal of these small cores in a lawn also helps prevent rain water run-off by allowing moisture to reach the root zone of your grass.

HOW DOES AERATION HELP YOUR LAWN?

The controlled removal of the small soil cores has many benefits. It allows fertilizer, water and air to quickly reach the root zone of your grass.

HOW IS AERATION DONE?

Our specially designed aeration equipment consists of a series of hollow coring tines mounted on wheels. When these hollow tines are rolled over your lawn, they puncture the soil systematically removing small soil "plugs." The equipment is compact and can be easily used in confined areas.
