Northville schools will ask voters to approve a renewal of the currently levied millage.

The Board of Education voted Monday to request a one-year renewal of 22.63 mills. That translates to $22.63 in taxes per $1,000 of assessed property value.

A Strategic Plan finance committee recommended the resolution, which will require the district to cut $700,000 from its preliminary operating budget of $23,550,081.

This year the levied millage brought $20,637,000 into the district's treasury. Next year the same millage figure will bring in $22,497,265, according to district estimates. The increase comes from rising property values.

Total assessments on property in the school district are up 9 percent, said Jack Couzens, speaking for the Falls project slows to trickle

News out of the R.A. DeMattia camp is that business is slow.

That might not be significant, or particularly revealing, in some circles, but when the DeMattia group speaks of an economic downturn, people listen.

Especially Northville Township and Wayne County people.

A DeMattia spokesman on Tuesday said the proposed Huntington Falls residential and commercial development on the old Wayne County Child Development property is on hold — and may stay that way for some time.

Tough economic times have forced the Plymouth-based developer to alter immediate plans for the 930-acre swath of land that falls between Five Mile and Six Mile roads, both east and west of Sheldon Road, said Gary Roberts, architect and vice president of R.A. DeMattia Company.

DeMattia is moving ahead with Huntington Falls schematic designs and environmental impact studies, Roberts said, but full-scale earthmoving and site development "will be delayed upwards of a year."

"The partnership made a conscious effort to slow the project," he said.

Wayne County accepted DeMattia's $31.75-million offer for the property in January 1990. The deal was finalized last fall, with a non-refundable $300,000 deposit moving from the Huntington Falls partnership to county coffers.

The balance of the payment was due the county this month — presumably after Northville Township planners approved Huntington Falls' planned unit development (PUD)

Eight valedictorians graduate from high school

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

Eight Northville High School seniors will share the honor of being the class valedictorian this year.

But don't try to tell them their grades were high because they took easy classes.

Counselor Gladys Cohen said most classes graduating from Northville High School have two or three valedictorians. When a graduating class has more, they are often criticized by the community which assumes the school was too easy, Cohen said.

But that is not true, at least not in this case, Cohen said.

"They are all very bright kids, and they will go on and do what bright kids from other schools will do," she said.

Cohen doesn't know why one graduating class would have four times as many straight-A students as another graduating class.

"Maybe it's the year they were born. It happens because it happens," Cohen said.

Cohen is confident that the number of valedictorians is only a reflection of the number of hard-working, intelligent students in the class of 1991, and the students are confident of that themselves. They agree that sharing their honor with seven other students is not a problem.

All of the eight valedictorians and four salutatorians plan to attend college. Nine members of the group plan to attend the University of Michigan, with the others heading to Hope College, Notre Dame University and Wayne State University.

Assistant superintendent retires

Burton Knighton is bidding a fond farewell to Northville schools, ending a 15-year tenure in the district.

"It's very hard to go. It's been a great place to work," the assistant superintendent for administrative services said. "I would like to think I played some significant role in making it work."

But after 30 years of working in schools and administrative offices, Knighton is ready to see the world.

He plans to travel more, beginning with a trip to Europe next fall.

Knighton also plans to frequently travel to California to visit his two daughters living in the San Francisco area. A new member was added to the Knighton family last summer when his first grandchild was born providing an extra incentive to make the trip west.

Knighton also plans to do more sailing in his retirement.

He said he will miss Northville schools, but the time has come for a change.

"When you've been in the business for so long there's a point when you have to consider other things," he said.

Knighton has lived in Farmington for 27 years. He said he likes living in the state. But if his one remaining child in the metro Detroit area decides to join the two sisters in California, staying in Michigan for his retirement years might be difficult.

"If (my son) decides to move to California, it's going to be difficult to be that far away from the children," Knighton said.

Knighton came to Northville schools as the director of personnel in 1976. He was promoted to the assistant superintendent position in 1980.

Livonia officer faces investigation

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

An off-duty, veteran Livonia police officer, his wife, and a construction worker face possible criminal charges and counter-charges after a wild, brick-throwing and sledgehammer-swinging spree in Northville Township April 19.

James Prokes, a detective sergeant with the Livonia Police Department, reportedly threatened to kill a Sterling Heights construction worker after the man refused to move his car from the officer's driveway at a rented home on Sunbury in Northville Township.

Prokes then climbed onto the construction worker's car and threw a brick through the windshield, according to township police reports.

Based on township police information supplied to Wayne County prosecutors, the incident began when Prokes' wife asked a construction worker at an adjacent building site to move a 1969 Lincoln Mark VII that was parked in her driveway.

The construction worker relayed her request to the car owner, a Sterling Heights man, who was inspecting the building site. The man reportedly told the worker he would "move the car in a minute," according to police reports.

Witnesses said the woman then walked to her garage, picked up a sledgehammer, walked back to the Lincoln and smashed its headlights.

The Sterling Heights man said he watched from the third floor of the construction site as the woman damaged his vehicle.

According to police records, the woman told officers she had gone to the construction site and said "Tell the S.O.B. that owns the Mark to move it or I'm going to smash his windows."

No settlement seen in Shores case

SHORES OF NORTHVILLE PROPOSED DEVELOPMENT SITE

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Wayne County prosecutors will pursue a criminal complaint against Shores of Northville developers in 35th District Court next week, barring a pretrial settlement.

A twice-adjournd pretrial examination is scheduled for May 10 and is based on state Department of Natural Resources charges that Shores developer Vincent DiLorenzo and a firm he heads failed to obtain necessary permits for the troubled Shores site.

Prosecutors and DiLorenzo representatives have held out-of-court settlement discussions, but the case appears headed to trial, said Reilly Wilson, Wayne County assistant prosecutor.

"We were supposed to meet (with DiLorenzo representatives) on Friday last week, but it didn't come off," Wilson said. "There's no progress (and) we're set for pretrial on the 10th."

"Something will happen on the criminal case on the 10th. I guarantee that," he said.

The state alleges that DiLorenzo and D & T Construction failed to obtain wetlands permits after the DNR issued a cease-and-desist order in March 1990.

Under state statutes, violators could face fines up to $10,000 per day.

Wilson refused to discuss settlement proposals. He said prosecutors are "open to discussion" on a possible settlement up until May 10. After that, negotiations are off, he said.

"It's a criminal case and there's going to be a fine if they are convicted," he said.

DiLorenzo last week denied that his agents were pondering a settlement. He said March 15 and April 12 adjournments were instigated by prosecutors hoping to increase their knowledge of the case.

"I don't think the prosecutors knew the case," he said.

DiLorenzo also voiced displeasure with the DNR's permitting process. He said an engineering firm hired to work out Shores of Northville and adjacent property erosion woes has forwarded several repair proposals to the DNR — with no success.

"This is an emergency and should be treated as such," DiLorenzo said. "We're not asking the DNR to give us a blanket permit; we're looking for a temporary permit to fix Mr. Malec's property."

City approves direct refuse charge

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The city council Monday night agreed in principle to end millage-based curbside refuse collection, and return at least a third of the resulting reduction in the city's cost to residents in the form of a millage reduction.

Residents will likely be charged per bag of curbside trash under the new system. The agreement followed disputes over the percentage of millage that should be returned to residents and questions about the extent that services should be cut.

The council also agreed to set aside $150,000 in a Budget Stabilization Fund, a move strongly recommended by city auditors Plante & Moran to safeguard the city's bond rating. The $150,000 represents about 5 percent of the total general fund, the minimum recommended by the auditors to assuage the potential fears of current bond investors and help assure favorable ratings on bonds to finance projects like the expanded Cady Street parking deck.

Some council members expressed frustration at the severity of the cuts made to the city budget, and the apparent lack of a specific goal.

"I don't have a sense of where we're going with the reductions," said Carolann Ayers. "Is there a dollar figure in mind, is there a millage figure in mind, is there some reduction in service level in mind... so we have a target?"

Council Member Jerry Mittman said his goal was to split the money the city saved from cutting refuse service with the residents. "We're talking about taking the rubbish removal out of the millage and charging for it," he said. "What I'd like to do is take half of that as a millage reduction and half of that as a fee."

Other council members were reluctant to return quite so much to residents, arguing that the city also had to fill the budget stabilization fund.

Council members did agree on the benefits of transferring refuse cost more directly to the residents, pointing out that the present millage-based system does not reward people who generate less trash, or encourage recycling, unlike a system where residents are charged per bag.

The move also would eliminate the need to raise the millage to respond to an estimated 17-percent increase in refuse collection costs next year. "We would have had to look at a millage increase to at least cover the refuse cost increase, if it was still a tax-supported service," said City Manager Steven Walters. "I don't think the public would be impressed if we were talking about raising (the millage rate) a mill just to cover refuse collection, and that's about what the cost will be."

The manager estimated the cost of refuse collection during the 1991/1992 budget year at $563,995, equal to 3.27 mills, and he said the figure may not be sufficient to cover the cost of a curbside recycling program.

The city and township are currently exploring jointly contracting with a waste hauler to provide such a service, to comply with the Wayne County Solid Waste Plan.

City officials said the resulting cost increase to city residents for curbside trash collection could depend on the waste hauler selected for the joint curbside recycling program, because the two programs could be linked. Plymouth Township residents now pay about $11.50 a month for the service.

Northville City residents will not be charged for the curbside collection of recyclable materials.

Council members will take up their budget discussion again at a study session tonight, May 2. The council is scheduled to set the proposed millage rate and call a public hearing on the proposed 1991/1992 budget at tonight's meeting.

The public hearing is tentatively scheduled for May 13.

Livonia cop subject of investigation

The Sterling Heights man then reportedly engaged in a shouting match with the woman, her daughter, and a friend. Prokes' wife alleged that the man threw a brick at her daughter's 1988 Ford Escort and damaged the driver's side door.

A short time later, Prokes arrived and entered the construction site, police reports said. Prokes allegedly confronted the man on the building's third floor, pushed and grabbed him by his sweater, and reportedly stated several times that he was going to kill him.

Prokes eventually released the man, walked outside, picked up at least two construction bricks, and shattered the Lincoln's windshield, according to reports.

A witness said Prokes said to the Sterling Heights man: "You think you're a big man in front of your workers. I'm going to kill you," according to police reports.

Prokes offered township police several versions of the afternoon's events.

According to police reports, the officer first admitted shattering the windshield. In later versions, Prokes said his wife caused the damage and finally said he did not know how the windshield was broken.

Damage to the Lincoln was estimated at more than $1,000. No figures were available for damage to the Escort.

Both parties initially agreed to file malicious destruction of property complaints. Township police forwarded their findings to the Wayne County prosecutor, who will determine if warrants will be issued.

Wayne County Assistant Prosecutor Dan Less said yesterday that the prosecutor's office is investigating the reports to determine whether any charges will be filed. He declined further comment.

Livonia Police Chief Lee Grieve said his department was awaiting completion of the prosecutor's report before determining what punishment, if any, Prokes is to receive. "He's not guilty of anything yet," Grieve said. "It's premature to say anything at this time."

Grieve said his department would conduct its own investigation of the incident. The prosecutor's decision will carry significant weight, he said.

"That would have a great deal of influence, yes," he said.

Thieves take flight with booty from Eagles' nest

City police are investigating the theft of more than $2,100 in cash and equipment from the Fraternal Order of Eagles lodge April 23.

The lodge at 113 S. Center St. was apparently robbed sometime between 1:07-9:10 a.m. The thief or thieves may have gained entry into the building through a trap door in the building's roof and down a ladder that sat near the trap door. Seven cash boxes were emptied, a video poker machine's cash drawer was pried open and an envelope was emptied during the theft. A safe at the lodge was pulled off a shelf but not opened.

A black amplifier valued at $700 was also stolen.

SUSPECT ARRESTED AFTER MAILBOX STAKEOUT: City police questioned a Northville woman for taking mail from a former boyfriend's mailbox, after staking out the mailbox April 18.

Police watched the woman enter the man's Main Street apartment complex about 10:35 a.m. and leave shortly thereafter with some of the man's mail, including a Sports Illustrated magazine. She was confronted by a police officer and agreed to answer questions at the police station.

The woman admitted taking mail from the man's box regularly since Jan. 1, and from other mailboxes at the complex as well. She had been videotaped going through several mailboxes.

TRUCK, EQUIPMENT CONFISCATED: City police confiscated a pickup truck full of mechanical equipment after the driver failed to produce proof of ownership April 26.

The driver, an 18-year-old South Carolina man, was stopped for an expired license plate while heading east on Eight Mile Road that morning. The seized equipment included an engine hoist, transmission and floor jacks, all new and in boxes. The pickup truck's license plate was from Tennessee, and the driver had another, different license plate behind the seat.

The driver said he was working for his uncle's business, a South Carolina equipment company. He said he was selling the equipment in the metropolitan Detroit, Flint and Lansing areas.

LARCENIES AT MEIJER: Northville Township police recorded the following larceny arrests at Meijer, 20401 Haggerty, during the past week:

A 17-year-old Detroit man was arrested after he attempted to leave Meijer without paying for a jacket and two cartons of cigarettes April 22. The items were valued at $114.93.

A 38-year-old Livonia man was arrested after he tried to steal a calculator and tools from Meijer April 23, police said.

Police arrested a 35-year-old Mt. Clemens man after he attempted to steal eight cartons of cigarettes from Meijer April 23.

THREATENING CALL: A Northville man told township police someone made a threatening telephone call to his business line.

The man said someone left a message on his telephone recorder April 23 at approximately 7:30 p.m. Messages included: "I'm going to kill you" and "I'm going to blow up your car," according to police records. The victim said he could not identify the male caller.

OUIL: Township police charged a 56-year-old Livonia man with operating a vehicle under the influence of alcohol after arresting him near Five Mile and Ridge roads April 24.

WINDOW SHOT-OUT: A window in the convent building at Our Lady of Victory, 103 Orchard Drive, was broken by a BB or pellet shot sometime between 10 a.m. April 26 and 9 p.m. April 27. Damage was estimated at $500.

PLYMOUTH MAN INJURED IN ACCIDENT: A Plymouth man was treated at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor Tuesday for injuries received in a two-vehicle accident at the corner of Five Mile and Ridge roads, township police said.

Police said the Plymouth man was driving northbound in a 1984 Ford pickup truck Tuesday shortly after 8 a.m. and failed to yield at the intersection. He was then struck by a westbound 16-wheel dump truck and trailer loaded with clay, police said.

Impact sent the Plymouth man through the passenger's side window of his vehicle, police said. Police also said the dump truck pushed the pickup approximately 100 feet before it stopped.

Police said the Plymouth man suffered lacerations and a broken right femur.

The driver of the dump truck, a Redford man, was not injured.

Wayne County prosecutors will determine if the Plymouth man will be cited for failure to yield, police said.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Westland youth charged in Northville rape case

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

A 16-year-old Westland youth faces up to 15 years in prison if convicted on charges he raped a 13-year-old Northville girl.

The youth was ordered held in a county juvenile detention center Tuesday on $2,500 bond after Wayne County prosecutors decided to seek third-degree criminal sexual conduct charges against him.

Prosecutors charged the youth in connection with an April 21 incident at a Northville Township home.

The youth was arrested Monday by township police and faces a May 7 probable-cause hearing, said police Capt. Philip Presnell.

Charges stem from an ill-fated slumber party held at the girl's parents' Six Mile Road residence, township police said.

Police said the victim and two other girls drank from a whiskey bottle taken from her parents' liquor cabinet. The girls then decided to call the suspect, who previously had dated another friend of the girls.

According to police reports, the girls said the suspect climbed through a window and eventually assaulted the victim in one of three basement rooms.

The victim's parents reportedly were home at the time of the alleged attack, but did not hear the assault.

The victim's friends reportedly told police they attempted to stop the suspect, but he threatened them. The girls did not try to alert the parents, police said.

Police said the victim's parents took the girl to a hospital the next day after she appeared "withdrawn and very moody."

Medical tests revealed evidence of sexual penetration and male ejaculation, police said.

The youth has denied being at the house that evening, Presnell said.

BODY LANGUAGE & DENTURES

Wouldn't it be wonderful if we could be sweet sixteen for life. Unfortunately as age rolls on, our bodies (including our gums) do change. What this means to the denture-wearer is that - no matter how perfect your dentures fit when you walk out of the office - eventually, they will have to be adjusted to harmonize with the changes in the gums and bony ridges which provide its support.

It's not hard to determine that a denture no longer fits properly. It feels loose, moves when it shouldn't, is uncomfortable and may interfere with speaking and eating ability. This is the time for action. Poorly-fitting dentures can harm your mouth. Constant irritation over a long period of time can contribute to the development of sores or tumors. This is also not the time to adjust or repair them yourself. Improper home repair can cause serious harm.

See your dentist for any problems with your denture. Normally an adjustment for irritation or a relining for looseness may be the answer to your discomfort. Let's face it. We all change and our gums are no exception. If you're looking for someone to blame, try Mother Nature.

Village planting planned

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The Northville Historical Society is coordinating an extensive landscaping project at Mill Race Village.

Society members hope to line the village street with trees and plant period gardens around several of the historic structures.

The project, the final phase of improvements at Mill Race, is being coordinated by society board members Greg Presley and Steve Ball.

"The purpose of the Historical Society is to educate," Presley said. "All the buildings are in place now, so it's appropriate to do the site improvements that will complete the project and give that hands-on experience of history."

The society will hold a "planting bee" May 11 to complete the first phase of the project, ground plantings around two of the village's structures.

"We want to create the kind of ground planting that would have been found between 1850 and 1890," Presley said.

At the weaver's cottage next to the gazebo, Presley said, "We hope to create an English wildflower garden which will include an herb garden." The garden will contain popular spices from the 1800s like parsley, basil and tarragon, and will be bounded by a picket fence to mirror the fence in front of the church across the way.

"We'll be using those herbs," Presley said, suggesting that the Historical Society may hold a wild-game dinner with herb sauces or a similar activity to make use of the herbs.

The next phase includes the planting of larger trees throughout the village. "We're going to be planting a lot of trees," Presley said. "We want to line the street with sugar maples and we also hope to put in some shade trees." The sugar maples may be available for tapping when they mature, for the making of real maple syrup.

The society also hopes to establish an "Adopt-a-Tree" program in conjunction with the plantings.

A local landscape architect, Thom

Holleman, has helped design the planting project. Pat Hibbard, an authority on roses and a judge for the American Rose Society, will oversee the design and maintenance of the rose garden. Another local horticultural expert involved in the project is Celia Larsen, who maintains the Ford Fair Lane estate.

The historical society is seeking volunteers and plant donations for the planting bee from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, May 11. For more information, call Greg Presley at 348-1124.

Bolitho voted to second school slot

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

It's official. Northville High School Principal David Bolitho will replace retiring Burton Knighton as the assistant superintendent, for administrative services for Northville schools.

Superintendent George Bell recommended Bolitho for the position. The school board made it official Monday, voting unanimously to appoint Bolitho to Knighton's position.

Bolitho will be leaving what Bell called "the most important position in the district." Approximately one-third of the students in the district attend Northville High School, Bell said.

"Everything (Bolitho) has done, he has done well," Bell said.

Bolitho was hired for the assistant superintendent position following a posting for the job within the district.

But the position Bolitho will be vacating will require a national search.

"There's no obvious internal candidate for that position," Bell said.

Bell told the board he wants the position of high school principal to be advertised nationally. He also wants a committee of citizens to work on the selection process.

Qualified applicants from within Northville schools will be encouraged to apply.

"There must be an opportunity for in-house people to have the opportunity," Bell said.

Vice president Jean Hansen agreed. "I second that. It helps morale to look inward," she said.

many dedicated students," said Jennifer Rossow, who plans to attend Wayne State and major in biology. Dedication was also how Kamal Bagga explained the large number of valedictorians. Bagga, who expects to go to the University of Michigan and major in economics or political science, is one of the eight valedictorians.

The group of A students have been taking many of the same advanced courses, said Michelle McQuaid.

"Everyone works equally hard to get their status," she said.

McQuaid is a planning to attend the University of Michigan and major in mechanical or physical engineering.

Valedictorian Shirley Nagy said a lot of Northville students are willing to work hard.

Nagy plans to attend Notre Dame University and major in business.

Sharing the honor of being a top student is "awesome," salutatorian Kavitha Sriraman said. Sriraman plans to major in engineering at the University of Michigan.

"It shows that a lot of people care about their grade," she said.

Paul McCreadie agreed.

"I think it's sweet. That just says a lot for our class," he said.

McCreadie plans to be an engineer after he graduates from the University of Michigan. He said he does not know what type of engineer he will be — just a "rich one."

David Smith also plans to major in engineering at the University of Michigan. He hopes to be a mechanical engineer and be self-employed or work for a car company.

Smith said he understands how the community could consider the high number of valedictorians as something negative, but he's convinced that it only shows more people care about their grades than in the average graduating class.

Sharon Abramovich, who said she does not mind sharing the position of valedictorian, will also attend the University of Michigan. She plans to major in psychology.

Kata Gurski plans to go to Hope College and major in biology. She said attending medical school may be somewhere in her future.

"I think it shows a lot of people realize the importance of education and take it seriously," Gurski said of the eight valedictorians.

Stacey Segowski, Michael Hayden, Kavitha Sriraman and Robert Holloway are the salutatorians for the Northville High School class of 1991.

They all plan to attend the University of Michigan.

"They are all very bright kids, and they will go on and do what bright kids from other schools will do . . . Maybe it's the year they were born. It happens because it happens."

GLADYS COHEN
NHS Counselor

Former students still score high at local university

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

Northville High School might have more valedictorians and salutatorians than the average school this year, but they all are worthy of the honor, counselor Gladys Cohen said. And she has a letter from the University of Michigan to prove it.

The University of Michigan Office of Undergraduate Admissions sent Cohen a letter saying 12 out of 16 Northville students attending the university as sophomores this year have a grade point average above a 3.0.

The letter said that of the three Northville students who entered the university's College of Engineering in the fall of 1989, one has a 3.0, one has a 3.4 and one has a 3.9 grade point average.

"It is very rare to see a follow-up report which demonstrates such consistently strong performances," according to the letter from senior admissions counselor Catherine Philbin.

"I want to thank you and all the Northville teachers, staff members and administrators for doing such a terrific job preparing your students for college, and for sending so many of your best to UM."

"The pride you have in your school and your students is certainly justified," the letter said.

They've given you so much.

Now give them the best.

What wonderful parents they've been. But now, they're depending on you.

We're here to make it easier.

Mustang of the Week

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

The Northville High School writer of the "Mustang of the Week" column has herself been named "Mustang of the Week."

Junior LAURA WHITELEY was nominated by teachers Dennis Faletti and Bo Hall for her work on Northville High School publications, school plays and the Victorian Festival.

Whiteley is also involved in the National Honor Society, the Student Congress, Students Against Driving Drunk, the Special Olympics as a volunteer, the varsity soccer team and the pep club.

"Laura is a delightful young lady who has taken on the responsibility of being the Mustang of the Week reporter to The Northville Record," Hall and Faletti said. "Her journalism efforts combined with her sports and leadership abilities definitely qualify Laura Whiteley as Mustang of the Week."

Whiteley plans to attend college and study education, or communications and journalism.

In 10 years, Whiteley hopes to be a teacher or journalist. Her dream job would include working with young children.

But for now, Whiteley enjoys playing soccer, being with her friends, and she especially enjoys summer.

The Mustang of the Week is named by the School Climate Committee at Northville High School. Laura Whiteley, who usually writes this feature, is this week's honoree.

Bell rings true to school board

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

The Northville School Board gave the superintendent a straight-A report card.

Superintendent George Bell received the highest possible rating in every category during his Saturday evaluation.

"I think we ought to give George an A-plus for the year," said Trustee Donald Klokkenge.

This year's evaluation was the first time in Bell's 10-year career as Northville superintendent that he received all perfect scores. Treasurer Carol Rahimi said.

"It's been a terrific year," she said.

Bell's performance may have been up to par, but the board and superintendent agreed that the evaluation form needs to be updated.

"It's really very frustrating to try and do this," trustee Glenna Davis said.

The form has been modified since the Strategic Planning Initiative was implemented in the district, but "it's time for a complete overhaul," Davis said.

Bell agreed and in a self-evaluation he asked that the board of education consider revising the form used to evaluate the superintendent.

"Every year when the evaluation forms are distributed to the Board, the typical reaction is that the form fails to adequately address the complexities of the job," Bell said in his self-evaluation.

"That is especially true now that my job accountability goals are primarily directed by the Strategic Plan."

The evaluation form consists of three sections. Section one discusses the superintendent's performance as chief executive of the board. Section two discusses his performance as superintendent of schools. Section three asks board members to evaluate the superintendent's achievement of 1990-91 goals.

A section for personal and confidential comments for the superintendent is also included.

School board members agreed that Bell has adhered to the school board policies and recommended needed policies to the board.

"I think that was very evident this year when we did have some policy changes recommended," Rahimi said. And some policy statements were best left unchanged, which Bell occasionally recommended, Klokkenge said.

Bell also keeps the board informed of his activities and decisions and supports school board policies, the board agreed.

He evaluates district employees effectively and provides enough information to the school board to explain his recommendations, board members said.

No instances of differing opinions existed this year between the superintendent and the board, Trustee Joseph Dunkerley said. But if differences had arisen, Dunkerley said established policy would prevent the conflicts from becoming major problems.

Bell's duties include improving instructional programs, maintaining student safety, health and well being, managing and planning facilities, managing and organizing the district, maintaining fiscal responsibility and maintaining good community relations.

Vice president Jean Hansen criticized the section evaluating Bell's performance as superintendent as an evaluation of the district rather than of Bell.

But the progress of the district was highly rated by board members.

"I can't imagine more progress being made," Dunkerley said of the district's instructional programs.

Bell agreed that the district has excellent instructional programs, but said his major contribution was "finding good people, and letting them do their thing."

Opening a new high school stadium, upgrading equipment and facilities through the 1989 Bond Issue, and reopening Cooke were cited as examples of progress the district has made under Bell's leadership.

Bell also has led the district through scary financial times, and he has done the job well, board members said.

"George has been able to steer us through some rough waters," board President James Petrie said. Passage of a September millage-increase request was cited as an example.

But Bell's highest compliments came when the board discussed his work with the community.

"George's strong point is selling the things that need to be done to the community," Klokkenge said. Every board member agreed.

"I have never been anywhere where I haven't heard very fine things about George," Rahimi said.

Bell has achieved the 18 goals he was given under the Strategic Plan. Hansen said Bell was given so many goals because of the newness of the Strategic Plan, but Hansen and other board members agreed Bell should be given fewer goals for the next school year.

"It's difficult to keep your hands in so many things at once," Secretary Robert McMahon said.

Bell thanked the board for his positive evaluation and said the Strategic Planning Initiative and an excellent staff helped him through the year.

"I wish our whole staff could hear the things you say about our buildings and our staff," Bell said.

State supreme court takes on school aid suit

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

The Michigan Supreme Court has agreed to hear the appeal of out-of-formula school districts suing for state aid for "categoricals" and social security.

"The case will be argued before the court sometime in the fall," said Tom Farrell, the high court's public information officer. A ruling is likely sometime in 1992.

The 51 plaintiff districts, including Northville, get no general state aid because of their high property tax bases. But their attorney, Dennis Pollard of Birmingham, argues they are entitled to at least $72 million, along with an order barring the state from further violating the 1978 Headlee amendment to the state constitution.

The case is Schmidt v. Department of Education et al., Gerald Schmidt being a trustee in Warren Woods school district.

Collecting everything the state owes, Pollard said, "would be outside the realm of possibility" without a special state tax increase. So they are also asking an injunction to prevent the state from making further deductions in their grants.

School complaints about state aid shortages have been in the courts for five years.

Schools contend the state shorted them on two kinds of payments:

- Categoricals. Over the years, the state has paid less and less of their costs for special education, transportation for special ed students, bilingual instruction, and the lunch and supplemental milk program. For the current year, the cut was $72 million.

- Social Security for employees. In 1956 the state agreed to pay the employers' share of federal Social Security taxes for school districts. But the Legislature, in the 1990 school aid act, cut them out.

The 1990 budget act deducted the funds and called them "recaptured revenues."

The Headlee amendment says the state must spend 41.6 percent of its revenues aiding local units of government. It also says the state may not mandate more services by the locals without providing them the money to perform the services.

A key figure in the battle is not a school official but Robert J. Danhof, presiding judge of the Court of Appeals, who wrote the Nov. 12 order dismissing the school case.

First, Danhof said, they have no case: "Plaintiffs claim only that the individual districts will receive a lower percentage of their budgets than was the case in 1978-79; this is insufficient to state a cause of action, unless state aid falls short of the level mandated by (the Headlee amendment) as to all school districts in the state, considered 'as a group.'" (Italics added.)

Second, Danhof said the Court of Appeals lacks jurisdiction to hear the Social Security money case, which should have been filed in the Court of Claims.

Critics blister various Danhof rulings as absurd and political.

The case takes place against a political backdrop of a state tax revolt and a wide effort to achieve funding "equity" for poorer districts.

State Sen. Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron, Rep. James

O'Neill, D-Saginaw, and William Keith, D-Garden City, argue that Michigan districts have as little as $2,500 and as much as $8,000 per pupil to spend.

They say efforts to raise state taxes to aid poorer districts have failed consistently. So the only alternative, they say, is to have richer (out-of-formula) districts help poorer ones.

One method is to eliminate categoricals and put that money into the general state aid fund, as they did in 1990. The move would make more districts eligible for general state aid but still leave many at the top with nothing.

A second method is called "tax base sharing." Richer districts generally have growing commercial and industrial tax bases. Under their plan, the state would take half the growth and spread it across the state on a per-pupil basis.

Out-of-formula districts dismiss the plans as a "Robin Hood" approach. They argue the state should "raise the floor" for poor districts without "lowering the ceiling" on them.

Mayor Chris Johnson signs the President's invitation.

President asked to city parade

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

This year's Northville Fourth of July parade has an impressive list of invitees. But the highest-ranking man on the guest list missed his chance at a hand-delivered invitation from a local celebrity.

Northville resident Ginny Hathhorn, who had been asked to a White House celebration in honor of her work with the Michigan Military Family Support Group, took with her a gold-lettered invitation from the City of Northville to President George Bush and his wife, Barbara.

Hathhorn traveled to Washington last Friday where she was one of 1,500 guests at a program entitled "A Celebration of Service Ambassadors," hosted by the Points of Light Foundation.

Performers included TV sitcom star Tony Danza, singer Randy Travis and Broadway actor Patty Lupone, but Bush was the biggest name on the roster.

Hathhorn said she tried to hand the president an invitation to the city's Fourth of July festivities written by Mayor Chris Johnson, but security forces had other ideas.

"I didn't get to hand it to him because they wouldn't let anything pass between us," Hathhorn said. "They said, 'No, no, no, you cannot hand him anything.' . . . A lot of people had things (to give the president); a lot of people were disappointed. "As far as actually shaking his hand, they didn't allow that either. The security was quite tight."

Despite missing the chance to shake the president's hand, Hathhorn said a good time was had by all. "It was a great honor," she said. "I felt very special to be invited . . . It's a once-in-a-lifetime thing."

Hathhorn was one of a group of 70 people involved with military support groups honored at Friday's festivities. Other honorees included a volunteer with the Big Brother / Big Sister program, a 91-year-old Missouri woman who started a school reading program, and former Michigan Gov. George Romney.

"It was all mainly just a tribute to everyone who was invited," Hathhorn said, but she admitted feeling a little out of place during the tribute. "It was for people who had given an extraordinary amount of time to charity and I don't hardly consider mine charity work, but volunteer work."

"I felt like I had done nothing compared to some of these people."

Hathhorn co-founded the Michigan Military Family Support Group's West Side Chapter with fellow Northville resident Sue Pittonet. Bush and Vice President Dan Quayle each had written Hathhorn previously to thank her for her work with the group, and for the gifts of two sweatshirts she had sent each through U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell.

The sweatshirts, designed and printed by Perlin's Gifts of Northville, bear a U.S. flag and an eagle and the inscription "These colors don't run."

After Friday's failed delivery, Hathhorn dropped the city's invitation off at Pursell's office, who said he would deliver it to the president himself.

"This year our parade is going to be a very special one honoring the returning Desert Storm veterans and veterans from all previous wars who reside in the metropolitan Detroit area," Johnson wrote. "The City of Northville was one of the earliest model support cities in the Desert Storm cause, and the Michigan Military Family Support Group is participating with local groups in planning and financing our parade. Much extra effort is being made to ensure that it will be a fitting tribute to our veterans."

Johnson also mentioned that Gov. John Engler has been invited to this year's parade, and that Pursell, State Senator Robert Geake (R-Northville) and departing State Representative Gerald Law will be participating.

The day's activities are being coordinated by the Northville Jaycees and the Michigan Military Family Support Group, with help from other local civic organizations. For information on volunteering or donating to the event, call Jaycees President Bob Cummings at 349-4528 or Ginny Hathhorn at 349-0996.

Schools seek millage renewal

finance committee. The total state-equalized value of property in the district is $754,688,544, up from $692,377,511 last year.

New developments account for a 4.25-percent increase in assessments. The money the school district will receive as a result of new developments will be needed to accommodate the additional students the new developments will bring, Couzens said.

While a 4.75-percent increase in assessments on existing construction is a gain in revenue for the schools, Couzens said it is really a loss when compared to the consumer price index rise of 5 percent.

Superintendent George Bell said the district has not determined the specific line-item budget cuts that will be made. He expects cuts to be made in the number of new staff members and the number of new buses the district expected to add.

The committee originally planned to ask for a two- or three-year renewal of the millage, but due to school funding uncertainties at the state level, Bell recommended the renewal be requested for one year.

"The idea of going for more than a one-year renewal is just not responsible," Bell said.

The 22.63-mill renewal proposal includes another year of the one-year, 1.28-mill increase voters passed in September.

Bell said he expects the state to "recapture" close to the same amount of aid money to the Northville district as it did this year. The 1.28 mills will be needed to pay the social security benefits of district teachers, he said.

The state paid the benefits until a few months ago, when the state recaptured that money in an effort to equalize state funding of schools. Northville currently is involved in a lawsuit to have the money returned and prevent further recaptures (see related story, page 8-A).

Finance committee member Richard Brown said the committee "deliberated long and hard.

"To paraphrase George Bush: 'No new taxes.'"

The school board agreed that asking for a renewal of existing millage was acceptable, while an increase request would be unacceptable.

"There's no way we can go for an increased millage and expect it to pass," Vice President Jean Hansen said.

Northville parent Virginia Patak spoke about a growing concern over property taxes that she said are driving middle class and long-time residents out of Northville.

Patak said she supports a millage renewal.

Leo Laruwe, a long-time resident, asked the board to remember people like him when planning the budget.

"I know quite a few people who aren't ready for the hill yet, but we just want to keep our home. Anything that you can do to keep (the millage rate) down, please do," Laruwe said.

Trustee Glenna Davis said the board welcomes suggestions from the community.

"It helps us," she said. "This is something we've worried about."

"You've shared it, and I think you've looked at it fairly. We already have a group of citizens here who know the score."

Patak suggested that Northville residents write the state to lobby support for school districts like Northville.

"(The legislators) already support us," she said.

Residents should write state house and senate committees like the Committee on Economic Development and Energy, she said.

Giving a history of school funding, Patak said today's legislators have "probably erred too far on trying to educate everyone equally."

The millage election will be held June 10, along with an uncontested school board election and an election for the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees. The last day to register to vote is May 13.

Youth Assistance searches for caring volunteers

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Northville Youth Assistance is looking for a few good men — and women.

Increased referral activity has created the need for more youth assistance volunteers, said Mary Ellen King, NYA director.

"There are a lot of kids that are in need right now of a special person in their life," King said.

Northville Youth Assistance is a non-profit, city- and township-funded organization that matches local youths with trained adult volunteers. The volunteers spend time with the youths and try to build positive, non-judgmental relationships.

The youths come from diverse backgrounds; some are referred to the program by police, some by schools, and others by parents.

All have similar needs: someone they can talk to who cares, King said.

King said she is looking for volunteers to begin a five-day training course. The course will start May 15 and will run five consecutive Wednesday evenings from 6:30-9:30 p.m.

Volunteer candidates must be 21 or older and will be subjected to a thorough screening process — including a police background check — before they are assigned to a youth:

Candidates will learn communication skills such as listening, problem-solving, decision-making, and empathy, King said. Substance abuse warning signs will also be taught, she said.

Selected volunteers are then expected to spend approximately an hour-and-a-half a week with their youth, she said.

King is hoping at least 10 men and women will answer her call for volunteers. Those interested in serving as a youth assistance volunteer should call King at 344-1618.

Ox roast imposters probed by township police

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Beware the fireman bearing ox roast tickets. You may get burned and feel a bit of financial indigestion.

Township police are investigating a possible fraud case involving the sale of tickets to a supposed "Fire Fighters Association 12th Annual Ox Roast" scheduled for Sept. 5 at Liberty Park in Romulus.

According to an ox roast ticket

he bought the tickets because he claimed to be with the township fire department.

Wrong.

"It wasn't us; we don't have any affiliation with any fire association," Rosselle said Monday. "I don't think we've ever went out soliciting money."

If the township were to pound the pavement for funds, firefighters would wear full uniforms and provide plenty of identification, Rosselle said. He also said local union-represented agencies had no knowledge of Local 1307.

"It's at least misrepresentation, and maybe fraud," Rosselle said.

Also, if you have any historic perennial plants to donate to the Planting Bee, call the society. They are seeking New England aster, Canterbury bells, bee-balm, candytuft, columbine, tickseed, foxglove, hollyhocks, Madonna lily, summer phlox and bearded iris.

Members are also reminded of the upcoming annual meeting. If you plan to attend the potluck prior to the meeting call Sally at 348-1845 (an accurate count is needed to order meat in advance). If you cannot join us for dinner be sure to attend the annual meeting. This is an opportunity to get an overview of the past successful year. The results of the member survey earlier this year will be revealed in the new Long Range Plan.

July is fast approaching and the society is at work planning for the annual Fourth of July afternoon at Mill Race. Visitors can expect to find many of the familiar activities which they have enjoyed in the past. This year additional groups and individuals are invited to join in the event. Would your group be interested in organizing an activity like food sales, display or demonstration of craft or hobby, recreational activities, games or contests? Become part of the committee planning this event or make any suggestions to Tom Swigart at 348-2947, Jan Juhasz at 420-0703 or to the office at 348-1845. Remember to join us on the Fourth.

Huntington Falls project delayed zoning. According to the purchase agreement, the DeMattia group had seven months to gain zoning approval. After that period — which ends this month — the developer could choose to go ahead with the project, or back out and forfeit the $300,000.

Roberts said the developer may request a payment extension but said, "As far as I know, the purchase agreement is still in effect."

Other than preliminary impact submittals to the township, the DeMattia group has no plans to appear before the planning commission any time soon, Roberts said.

Outside interest in Huntington Falls commercial and residential development remains high, Roberts said. And the developer plans to stick with a mix of commercial, residential and open-space land uses.

"We have no plans to change the project design; (it) remains 100 percent intact," he said.

Roberts did say workers likely will soon begin the task of removing 18 underground storage tanks from the property as part of an environmental clean-up plan.

Tank removal may begin this month, he said: "That's probably the next thing you'll see."

Knighton worked for the Metropolitan Detroit Bureau of School Studies as its executive director, associate executive director and research assistant from 1970 until 1976.

He worked as a school principal, assistant principal and teacher in the Detroit school system from 1951 until 1969.

Knighton graduated from Wayne State University in 1951. He received his master's degree from Wayne State in 1956, and a doctorate in school administration from the University of Michigan in 1972.

The school board selected Northville High School Principal David Bolitho to replace Knighton.

The school board and administration said Bolitho has the experience and education to handle the position, but Knighton's announcement that he would retire initially caused some worry.

is blamed for widespread erosion that has eaten away a large chunk of Ann and James Malecki's property to the west of the 400-acre estate.

"We're prepared to do whatever we need to do," DiLorenzo said. "If the DNR gives us a permit tomorrow, someone will be in there immediately with machines."

"The thing is, they've (DNR) got to get off their — whatever."

DNR officials were not available for comment on the Shores case, but Wilson said "papers are moving back and forth" between the state and developer.

"I talked to (the DNR's) Dave Pingel last week," he said. "He said they would definitely have a response (for the developer) on Friday (April 26)."

Our Opinion

Please, take action on Shores problems

Enough already.

The absurdist drama that is the Shores of Northville has long outlived its usefulness. It's time the curtain closed on this case study of ridiculous behavior. It's time for remedies and time for action.

It's time bureaucrats and developers and lawyers stopped pointing fingers and used their hands and minds to fix Sump Drain and the ever-crumbling, adjacent Malecki property.

But we fear that won't happen soon.

Capsulizing this tangled tale is a mind-numbing chore, but since the Shores of Northville story is familiar to our faithful readers, suffice it to say that a developer walked onto the former Thomson Sand & Gravel site, most likely stepped way out of bounds on agreed-upon reclamation chores, skated around local and state permitting guidelines, and got himself stuck in a legal quagmire the likes of which this township has seldom seen.

Shores of Northville developer Vincent DiLorenzo, a lightning rod for controversy if ever there was one, plopped himself in the middle of this mess with his boisterous, "I'll do it my way" development strategy. The DiLorenzo legend has grown with each step — or stumble — along the way, and it's a safe bet to say he won't find himself on Christmas card lists of Northville Township, the state Department of Natural Resources, the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office, the Thomson/Sorenson families, JCK & Associates, the Malecki family, Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance, and whoever else has suffered ill effects of his Shores of Northville vision.

But DiLorenzo's a sly one and like a cat dropped from any angle, he's likely to land on his feet. Strangely enough, that's what everyone needs most at this time.

DiLorenzo says he has pleaded with the DNR to let him embark on on-site temporary repairs. Let me get going, repair the Malecki property and work on Sump Drain, he says. Then figure out the legal fandango.

Not so fast, replies the DNR. We've got to figure this thing out right; can't create more problems down there in . . . Where'd you say that darned drain thing is?

So righteously indignant township officials decide to take things in their own hands by asking the circuit court to declare the Shores fiasco an emergency situation.

Development

Let us use the half-million bucks from the escrow fund to repair Sump Drain. We'll square away permits with the DNR and take care of business, they said.

Not so fast, said the Thomson Trust, the family who mined the Shores site and sold the property to the DiLorenzo-led partnership. It's not our fault that developer screwed things up. We want our $500,000 grand back and will block your court claim with our own action to freeze injunctive relief measures.

And the Malecki family sits and watches their land and trees wash away. Maybe they can start charging admission to gawkers, bureaucrats, and media types who want a firsthand peek at the Great Shores Gorge. That might be the only satisfaction they get for now.

Meanwhile, Wayne County prosecutors are scheduled to chat with DiLorenzo May 10 in 35th District Court. The topic of discussion will be the developer's alleged failure to obtain state permits prior to site work. If guilty, the developer could face fines up to $10,000 per day, dating back to March 1990.

Despite DiLorenzo's lousy record, he is best able to rectify the problems created when Sump Drain was redirected. The township and Thomson cases could be tied up in court for months, the DNR seemingly is still trying to find the site, and spring rains will surely carve away more of the Malecki land and damage other nearby properties.

DiLorenzo has incentive to get back on the site. His investors may be after his hide and further damage to the site probably is costing him thousands weekly, at least from a lawsuit perspective.

We have major reservations about DiLorenzo; his previous actions warrant such an attitude. But paybacks and revenge should be secondary now. Make him follow strict guidelines of a temporary permit and get him out there on at least a stopgap basis. The problem has reached the emergency stage, and a quick fix — for now — is better than none.

Bob Needham

What do changes really mean?

In case you've missed it, the local political scene has been in some turmoil lately.

Susie Heintz, our Wayne County commissioner, resigned her post to take a job with the governor. Maurice Breen, who had been the long-serving supervisor of Plymouth Township, became the new county commissioner. Our state representative, Gerry Law, became the new Plymouth Township supervisor.

An election will decide who takes Law's slot, but the smart money is on Northville Township Supervisor Georgina Goss, which would leave another spot open.

Got it? Now, what does it all mean? Beats me, but that's not going to stop me from shooting my typewriter off here for a bit.

There's been some talk, and some writing, about how rotten all these moves seem; about how it shows the good ol' persons network operating in all its insidious glory. I'm not so sure. There was absolutely an element of that, but I don't think it's any more present in the latest scenario than at any other time. In fact, it may be less present here, and this is why I think that:

Before any election of more than local significance (and some of only local significance) the Republican establishment settles on a candidate to back. It's usually not hard: The incumbent gets the support. Yes, that makes it tougher for challengers of either party, and yes, that's a bad thing for democracy. But it's not something that cropped up all of a sudden last month.

So let's just say that all the powerful Republicans in the area got together, knowing that Heintz was about to move on, and worked out the Breen-Law-Goss scenario. The entire chain reaction could not begin without the appointment of Breen, and do you recall who was in charge of that?

Fourteen Democrats — the Wayne County Commission — and I don't think they were part of the Republican family clambakes we've been imagining to this point. Breen was Heintz's recommendation, but there's no law that the county commission had to abide by it; the new commissioner just had to come from the same political party. Ten of the commissioners went right along, almost immediately, when they could very easily have appointed someone else or at least delayed the decision a couple of weeks.

Then consider step two, Gerry Law's move to Plymouth Township supervisor. Under normal circumstances, the logical choice would have been to appoint a current member of the township board. But none of the township board members (publicly) expressed interest; and yet the state representative, a man with a lot of past experience at the township level, did. Is this choice so surprising? Who the heck else were they supposed to pick?

Step three hasn't even happened yet. And while Georgina Goss is indeed the Republican establishment's candidate of choice, she hasn't won the nomination yet. There is competition.

It's important to remember, too, that the appointments of Breen and Law are temporary; both will face elections. Part of the objection to all these machinations is that the two are more or less guaranteed to keep their new seats because they'll be the incumbents.

Yeah, they probably will. But the real power in this is not in incumbency, but Republicanism. It's the side of the ballot you're on that matters, more than the (I) next to your name. And incumbency loses a lot of its luster when the person achieved that status through appointment rather than election.

That all makes for the possibility of a somewhat fairer fight for either the Wayne County or Plymouth Township post; anyone interested may file to face the new appointees in a Republican primary, and they'd at least have a shot. That's almost certainly how the state representative winner will be decided.

The general election, for any of these jobs, most likely won't be any more than a formality. And to me, that's where the insidiousness comes in.

Young losing luster in Detroit

Two weeks ago, Detroit Mayor Coleman A. Young said that suburbanites were the main opponents of demolishing city landmarks like Ford Auditorium because they wanted to block economic development in the city and revel in the ruins.

Last week, Detroit voters turned down by a substantial margin the project to demolish the auditorium and use the site for a hotel/bank headquarters/other unspecified big building that would bring jobs to the city.

Maybe, just maybe, the voters in Detroit are beginning to get the same idea that suburbanites have had for a long time. Coleman A. Young may once have been a great mayor. But that was long ago, and today he's badly out of touch.

Suburb-bashing has been a staple in the mayor's political style for many years. The suburbs have been "hostile," "wanted Detroit to die" and would have been a good place to "run criminals to."

Some people treated this kind of rhetoric with half-amused tolerance, reasoning that such racial rabble-rousing was the price the mayor had to pay for continued support at the polls.

But a lot of people who were born and grew up in Detroit and who moved out to the suburbs because the city was falling apart took this kind of language pretty hard.

They didn't move to Farmington because they were "hostile;" they moved because Detroit schools had become impossible and because nobody seemed to care about trying to improve them. They didn't buy a house in Rochester because they wanted the city which sustained their families to "die;"

they left because there were no more jobs in the city because city services could not sustain them and because the pervasive crime made keeping a store open a dangerous occupation.

In fact, it now appears clear that a major consequence of Mayor Young's rhetoric is to have driven out of Detroit precisely the kind of people who are now most needed to save it: educated, businesslike, community-oriented families, whether white or black.

Obviously, that's too bad. It's stupid, too, because one of the elementary rules of politics is not to bite the hand that could feed you.

Many people who moved from Detroit to the suburbs, often in deep and intense ways, still regard Detroit as their city. Many people who treasure memories of the Detroit that used to be would be only too happy to help save the city, if only somebody in authority asked in a sensible and mature way.

But that's precisely what Coleman Young's rhetorical history makes it impossible for him to do.

I am convinced that Coleman Young, deep down, wants to ask the suburbs for help. But there's too much history, too many verbs over the dam, to make the request credible.

That's why the next Mayor of Detroit, whoever he or she might be, has got to reach out to the entire region for help, beginning with the election in 1993.

That invitation might even go down pretty well with the voters in Detroit. After all, they voted down the mayor's rhetoric last week. And faced with the choice of living in an isolated city that's falling and a regional city that's coming back, they might well choose economic self-interest over racial politics.

Model controversy finally over

To the editor:
Throughout the Michigan Model debate, I've wondered why the Record seems to have so much sympathy for the anti-model group headed by parent R. Kraft Bell. The Record's April 25 edition provided the answer: The paper has as much difficulty reporting the facts as does the anti-model crowd.

First, let it be known the Record selectively quoted the presenter of the findings. Fortunately, (reporter Suzanne) Hollier wasn't the only person taking notes that evening.

Second, let it be known that the reason the presentation ran until 11 p.m. was because it was held at Moraine school. The primary purpose of this type of in-school board meeting is to update board members on the activities of the host school. Fortunately for the parents who came to applaud Moraine's accomplishments and the students honored for winning the spelling bee, the Model report was delayed until the kids and teachers had their moment of glory. The Michigan Model report should have waited for a regular meeting at the board offices, but due to pressure from the opponents, the report was included in the Moraine meetings.

Third, while no one on the Record staff reported that Mr. R. Kraft Bell stacked the so-called "open forum" at the Methodist Church last autumn, his accusation that the district stacked the crowd at Moraine appeared as hard news. Had some of the supportive parents who attended Monday's meeting been interviewed, the Record might have discovered that they had also attended the autumn "open forum," and were appalled at the Gestapo-like tactics used to stifle sincere questions.

The Constitution and its First Amendment rights are what set America apart from most other countries. I won't give up those rights without a fight. Most other thinking Americans won't either. And, that's exactly why the anti-Model opponents won't win what they're calling a war. Their demands reek of censorship, and that issue, thank God, was settled in a war that took place more than 200 years ago.

The committee's findings illustrated time and again, that through deliberate misrepresentation, model opponents were attempting to impute sinister intent that simply does not exist. Without these misstatements, the group has no case. By the way, I certainly hope the errors were deliberate. If not, the members of R. Kraft Bell's group ought to demand a copy of his doctoral degree before they put too much more faith in his ability to lead.

Despite R. Kraft Bell's quoted statement, the presentation's late conclusion had less to do with the lack of discussion than it did the flagrant errors of their opposition statement which so clearly illustrated the opponents' malignant intent. The opponents were truly "hoist by their own petard." As such, they were wise not to further embarrass themselves.

Finally, in a year where the school district must request a millage renewal without full knowledge of the impact of pending state take-backs, it's hard to believe that no one bothered to ask how many tax dollars were required to pay for this 332-hour exercise and the presentation that resulted. I'm not privy to that information, but I sure wish those dollars could have been spent on development of the science or math curricula.

The greatest value of this entire drill was the affirmation of every citizen's right to speak freely. That value cannot be measured in dollars. The board, the Northville PTA and most citizens listened carefully and determined that what was being said was without merit. It's time now to abandon further community debate on this issue and turn our attention and tax dollars to the work of educating our children.

Virginia L. Patak

Shameful meeting shows no concern for the students

To the editor:

What can be said about the April 22 board meeting? Well, "shameful" about covers it. Within all the name-calling, demeaning, and disrespect exhibited toward parents concerned with the improvement of the Michigan Model, I failed to see from the advisory committee, the board or the audience supporting the Michigan Model, a concern for the children. Motives parents opposing the Model had for this past year for researching, writing and exposing the model's objectionable content, revolved around the children, as we have no other vested interest in the school system.

The contrary is true, however, for the advisory committee and its entourage. They viewed the extensive work done in opposition to some of the model's contents as a direct threat to their careers, positions and egos, therefore devoting their entire evening to defending those as well as indirectly defending the $25-per-child state funds

Northville receives for adoption of PA 25 (government control over curriculum) and $125 per child for Michigan Model adoption.

I've learned in the past year that everything seems to come down to those two things — money and power. The schools have become a political marketplace for adults rather than a place of education for children.

Don't forget to name people in pictures

To the editor:

What has happened to our hometown newspaper? Has the human interest aspect of our paper died? I have been struck with the lack of information included with photographs which appear in the paper. In order to cover a story several questions need to be answered — who, what, why and when. What, why and when have been answered but who appears in the picture is forgotten. An example would be the article on the Rose Cottage Tearoom (April 29 paper) — who are the people at the table? Are they members of the community? Are they owners in the picture? Are they staff members of the tearoom?

This has happened before. Does it take too much time for the reporter to get the whole story?

Let's get back the friendly feeling of Northville. Let's not have our paper appear to be a copy of the Detroit papers — keep our small town charm, please. Progress does not require that we forget the "local color" of Northville.

MaryAnn Carduo

Editor's note: The people in the Rose Cottage photo are, clockwise from the rear, Rose Howard, co-owner Anthony Rizzo, co-owner Susan Baker, and Ruth Simmons.

Silver Springs students help with pet drive

To the editor:

The animals at the Anti-Cruelty Association's shelter will be well fed to thanks to students at Silver Springs Elementary School in Northville.

In celebration of "Be Kind to Animals Week" (week of May 5), the students will be holding a pet food drive for the homeless animals at the Anti-Cruelty Shelter. Students will also be bringing in used blankets, towels, sheets and throw rugs to be used as bedding. With the help of outside donations, funds normally used for food and shelter supplies can be diverted to many other needed areas.

The class that brings in the most pet food/shelter supplies during the weeks of May 1 and May 5 will win a popcorn party sponsored by the Anti-Cruelty Association and the Silver Springs Student Council. Each student in the winning class will also be treated to a free Junior Scoop ice cream cone compliments of Baskin Robbins in Northville.

Pet owners may participate in "Be Kind to Animals Week" by spaying and neutering their pets to prevent animal over-population, by making sure their pets are properly identified with collars, tags and tattoos, and by providing them with proper shelter, food, exercise and attention year-round. In short, the Anti-Cruelty Association is simply asking people who take on the responsibility of pet ownership to do so in a diligent, knowledgeable and caring manner and to encourage others around them to do the same.

For further information about the Anti-Cruelty Association, call 891-7188 Monday through Saturday.

Is the president having any second thoughts?

To the editor:

Marcus Porcius Cato uttered "Delenda est Carthago" — (Carthage must be destroyed) — as he agreed with Publius Cornelius Scipio, a young Roman general, when action was taken to destroy Carthage in the second Punic War. Young Scipio's ghost must be awed by the mayhem and destruction President Bush visited upon Baghdad a couple of months ago.

I wonder if Bush has second thoughts about not having allowed more time for sanctions and the embargo to work. I wonder too, if he can sleep well at night after viewing the misery, the despair and the deaths that are the aftermath of his precipitous, destructive rampage in Iraq.

Was he, perhaps, entranced by the thought of future historians referring to Bush as the leader of a great "civilized" nation decreeing that Delenda est Bagdad?

Students share powerful stories

For parents, teachers, friends and community members of persons recovering from addiction to drugs and/or alcohol it is important to always keep in perspective what they go through on a day-to-day basis.

Here then are the thoughts of two students at Northville High School who wished to share their stories.

A student that is just recovering from a very bad drug-abuse problem is a very temperamental person.

First of all, that person needs understanding from his peers of the harsh pressures and the persistent temptations he is recovering from the agonizing symptoms of withdrawal and depression. Then the person is going to need some freedom and time away from all the people he sees day after day.

Next the student's friends will have to understand what type of person he is and what environments and circumstances would lead him back into the infinitely dark depths of drug abuse. For most recovering people the absence of relationships will also help that person out. It will help the person out by teaching him that he doesn't have to confide in someone else to solve his horrible problems.

Finally the recovering person should join a support group such as the famous Alcoholics Anonymous or a school aftercare group. If that person understands and follows these few helpful hints then that person has a better chance of coping and recovering from the world of drugs.

THE POWER OF ADDICTION

When you find yourself in need of something so powerful that it has latched on to billions like a leech, you can't just shake it off. Soon you'll find yourself at a point that you may just do anything to acquire it.

For instance, picture yourself living a life so non-realistic you can't help but feel you're in somewhat of a scareface. . . . Yes, I understand at a point it's a bit overwhelming. There is glamor, money and the parties!! But is it really worth the most powerful thing? A common killer, we call it addiction.

Anyone who seems to have caught this disease soon finds the glamor, the money and the parties vanished into thin air! Anyone who's at their peak of addiction feels untouchable from time, the law and most important themselves.

Your whole world soon begins to crumble all around you. I sometimes feel myself running from my past. I've even tried to bury it under the piles of memory that lurk in me. The fast and farther I've run, the fast it seems to catch up. I feel as if my head and heart are going to shatter like crystal into a million pieces. I have so many secrets not even known to me. I therefore find myself trying to hide this awkward past from all. Every corner I turn they seem to be staring me in the face which has left scars not only visible to me. I've tried not to bury it further into my world of misery.

I now know I'm going to have to stop at that red light and let the past finally reach me. I've lived a life most could never understand; I now see, I too will never understand.

Addiction is a growing epidemic in families ranging from the upper class to the lower class. It's something you must realize before it also attacks your family! Addiction is attacking the young daily.

So please, do something for yourself. Next time someone offers you drugs think of my point, which I hope you've come to understand. Addiction is a family killer. Stand up for yourself, be able to say no and the fears will disappear. Understand you're doing it for yourself no one has the power except you!!!

Tickling the ivories

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

What do teenagers like to do? Most like to be with friends, play sports, participate in extra-curricular school activities or listen to pop or rap music.

Peggy Liao does all those things. She also wears braces, giggles easily, and in all ways looks and acts like a typical 14-year-old. But there's more. Peggy also has enough piano awards to paper an entire wall in her bedroom, and has won enough scholarship money to pay for a large portion of her musical studies.

Her younger sister Sophie isn't far behind. And her parents, Ken and Karen Liao of Novi, both natives of Taiwan, say they are "very lucky" to have such talented daughters.

In the last few months alone, Peggy has participated in such top-notch competitive piano events as the University of Michigan Sonata and Bach festivals — both tough, competitive honor recitals — and won second place at a Schoolcraft College competition and a Music Study Club scholarship. Sophie also received high honors in the Schoolcraft competition.

And just over a week ago, Peggy and Sophie both earned first place in their divisions at the Livonia Area Piano Teachers Forum competition.

Peggy also won first place in the junior high school division of the Michigan Music Teacher Association concerto and piano semifinals. Sophie also placed high enough to move on to the semifinals. Last Saturday they went to the state finals of that competition.

Ken Liao claims his daughters don't practice the piano enough.

"I tell them, 'You better practice. I spent the money for the lessons,'" he laughed. But they still seem to do well.

Peggy said she practices whenever she has the time. After all, not only is she competitive in the music world. She's also an award-winning math student and debater, and she participates in Odyssey of the Mind competitions and track meets at Novi High School.

Peggy began playing the piano when she was 6 years old. She was inspired to learn the instrument when her family went back to Taiwan for a visit and she saw her cousins perform.

The family moved to Novi from West Virginia three and a half years ago, and she began studying under Donald Morelock at Schoolcraft College.

Peggy's favorite music to play on the piano is classical, especially pieces by Bach, Mozart, Kavelovsky and Muczynski. She has albums of famous pianists Vladimir Horowitz and Glen Gould, which she listens to often.

"Studying piano gives you a greater appreciation for what you hear other people play," she said. "You know how much people went through to get where they are today."

But that doesn't mean she doesn't listen to the stuff her friends listen to on popular radio stations.

"You can't really compare the two (types of music)," she said. "It's different. Some of the music you study doesn't have much to do with what pop music is."

But every minute she's spent studying piano has been worth it. Piano, to her, is a stress reliever and it's made her a better student.

"It gives you some discipline and it helps with finger coordination."

What's in a name?

All my life I've had a hard time remembering my name.

It started 28 years ago, when my parents decided to name me Cristina, but call me Tina.

I cause some of the trouble, because I don't stick to one name and use it consistently. My bylines say Cristina, but people who know me call me Tina.

As long as I can remember, people have asked me why I don't use the name "Chris" instead of Tina.

I have no answer. I've just always been Tina. Most people accept that.

But some people just decide to call me Chris, anyway, even though I don't respond when people say it. Chris is a fine name, but it's not mine.

Just last week I told someone on the phone, "You can call me Tina."

"Okay, Chris," she responded. "Is that with a 'C' or a 'K'?"

I'm lucky, because the people I work with, especially the receptionists, know that I'm Tina or I'm Chris or I'm Cristina (or Christine) and refer my calls to the correct person.

But the person on the line is usually confused when I answer the phone.

"Hello, this is Tina," is my usual phone response. Invariably, the person on the other end will say "I'm calling Cristina Ferrier."

So the next time I answer I'll say "Hi, this is Cristina."

"Is this Tina?" the person will ask.

Then there's the semi-unusual spelling I'm so used to people spelling my first name wrong I often don't even bother to correct them. People always want to add an 'h' to it. My first byline ever was spelled wrong. So was my high school diploma.

This doesn't cause a whole lot of chaos in my life. I'm pretty used to it. The real confusion began when I got married and didn't take my husband's last name.

Like many women who write for a living, my name is more than just my personal identity. It's hopefully something that will identify my stellar career.

So I write under my maiden name, but, true to my past behavior with my first name, I use his name sometimes. Sometimes I hyphenate my name and his.

I use my maiden name at work, but I hyphenate it on my paycheck. My name on our joint bank account is hyphenated; his is just his. It's not fair that it's so much simpler for him.

When I write a check, I just use his name because the hyphenated version has 24 letters and I don't want to hold up the check-out line.

So when I go to the dentist, or when I ask someone on the phone to pull my file, there's usually confusion. I can't remember which name I gave them. They can't find it on the computer.

So whenever someone asks me what my name is, I feel a tiny flutter of panic. How does one answer such a tough question?

Kids on the Block

Puppets teach understanding

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

Activating a four-foot puppet, which represents a child with a disability, Mary Menghini is one of a troop of mothers who are bringing The Kids on the Block program to Northville classrooms, kindergarten through eighth grade.

The program is international in scope, Menghini said, and its aim is "to teach understanding of people who are different."

Here's how it works: A puppet introduces itself with, for example, "Hi, I'm Ellen Jane, and I am mentally retarded." Then working from a script prepared by the national office, the puppet describes the disability and offers to answer questions about it.

"The kids in the class," Menghini said, "become mesmerized and really talk to the puppet."

What disabilities do the Northville puppets offer?

- Blindness
- Cerebral palsy

- Deafness
- Mental retardation
- Sibling of a disabled child
- Spina bifida
- Emotionally impaired
- Learning difference
- Child of divorced parents
- Cultural differences

Menghini said she introduced the idea to Northville three years ago, and other women soon volunteered to work with her.

With money awarded from grants, four of them went to Chicago for training.

They couldn't afford to buy puppets — $600 to $1000 apiece — but they made an arrangement with the Wayne County Intermediate School District to borrow puppets.

"We can use more puppeteers," she said.

As for training, "We can teach a person how to function with a puppet. Lip sync is the hardest part, but we can teach that in an hour. And the two-page script is easy to learn."

Interested? Call Mary Menghini at 349-5484.

Drains Run Slow?

You'll never have a slow running, or clogged drain again! The secret? Clean drains don't run slow.

Slow drains, or periodic clogs, are SIGNALS that a thick layer of GOOK is choking your pipes. Grease, hair, and other waste stick to your pipes, with every use. This gook deposits along the entire length of the pipe. It chokes your pipes gradually, as it gets thicker and thicker.

Conventional drain openers can't fix slow drains. They react chemically on the surface of the gook. To be effective, they must remain in contact with the waste. Even a small tunnel in the gook lets them flow out to the sewer, leaving the gook behind.

In the past, the only way to remove this build-up was to root-er your pipes. An expensive, temporary measure.

Now, with just a few minutes each month, you can easily clean out your pipes... and KEEP them clean with Plumb Clean. Its totally unique formula clings, and penetrates deep into the gook. That is what allows it to liquefy even years of build-up. Plumb Clean will clean the entire length of your pipes. It will make your drains run like new when used as directed. This penetrating action is so revolutionary, we stand behind Plumb Clean with a money-back guarantee!

Saves Money. A 1 lb. container of Plumb Clean holds up to 41 drain treatments. Even if drain openers could fix slow drains, it would take over 10 quart bottles to get the same number of treatments. Plumb Clean costs about 35¢ per treatment. We don't know of anything that cleans drains for less.

Safe Too. Conventional drain openers are dangerous chemicals. They can injure eyes on contact. They can release deadly vapors, in some situations. Some may damage your fixtures. Plumb Clean will not burn skin, or eyes. It will not release harmful fumes. When used as directed, it is 100% safe for people, and of course, all plumbing.

So, if your drains are giving you a SIGNAL, act now. Get safe, guaranteed Plumb Clean today! Available at 3491

Whichellos cited by Girl Scouts

Sharon Whichello and her daughter Laura of Northville were honored at a Huron Valley Girl Scout Council awards banquet at the Sheraton University Inn in Ann Arbor on April 16. Sharon Whichello received the prestigious Thanks Badge which is given for service so significantly above expectations that no other award is appropriate. Her contributions to Girl Scouting encompass troop leadership, day camp leadership, training for adult volunteers, council committee work and unstinting support of council fund raising activities and events.

Her daughter was honored the same evening for her many contributions as a girl serving in an adult capacity with the Girl Appreciation Pin. Among other many and varied interests, Laura Whichello is a member of the National Honor Society, S.A.D.D., yearbook staff, keeps records for track meets and the cross country team events and serves as a member of Huron Valley Girl Scout Council Board of Directors. She is a senior at Northville High School. Other area residents who were honored were Julie Brown of Plymouth, the Torch Bearer Award, Darlene Severson of Plymouth, the Adult Appreciation Pin, and Jessica Brey of Canton, the Green Tree Award. The First United Methodist Church of Northville on Eight Mile Road at Taft was cited as Best Friend of Girl Scouting.

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council serves 13,000 girls and 4,000 adults in Wayne, Monroe, Washtenaw, and Livingston counties and is a United Way Agency.

CROSSROADS

Rocky Atlantic coastlines.
Lighthouses shrouded in mist.
Fishing boats knocking against net-webbed walls.

Where are you in North America? If you said New England, you were close but not quite close enough.

Canadians call them the maritime provinces, or The Maritimes:
New Brunswick, Nova Scotia,
Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland.

Americans from Virginia and New Mexico like to argue about which state has the oldest European settlement in America, but we can't talk much in St. Johns, Newfoundland.

We will celebrate the 500th anniversary of Christopher Columbus in 1992, but St. Johns celebrated its 500th years ago.

Newfoundland, which sits amid the world's largest fishing banks, has restored Viking villages that are 100 years old. In case you ever need a bit of Canadian trivia, the province of Newfoundland also includes the territory known as Labrador.

If you like to mosey through tiny fishing villages, photograph scenic coastlines and enjoy a touch of history converted to stone, you would enjoy Newfoundland.

Cape Spear National Historic Site is the most easterly point in North America. You can fly into St. Johns or take a ferry to Newfoundland from Nova Scotia.

Nova Scotia, which literally means New Scotland, can be reached by ferry from several parts of Maine. You can see where French explorer John Cabot landed on this almost-island, photograph the French fishing villages that still stand on Cape Breton, tour the magnificently-restored French fortress town of Louisbourg and read a little Longfellow at the birthplace of Evangeline.

Peggy's Cove is one of the most photographed places on the Atlantic coast. Prince Edward Island has many claims to fame, but most of us know it best as the site of Anne of Green Gables.

New Brunswick is the site of our main story this week. If you get beyond the Quoddy Loop you will want to explore St. John, the restored Loyalist village at Kings Landing, the flowerpot rocks at Hopewell Cape Provincial Park near Moncton etc.

Stratford prepares to launch season

The Stratford Festival will launch its annual play-going season April 29 in Stratford, Ontario. The season runs through Nov. 10.

This year's Shakespearean plays include "Much Ado About Nothing," "Hamlet" and "Timon of Athens."

You can also see contemporary works such as "Carousel" by Rogers and Hammerstein, "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder, "Love Letters" by A.R. Gurney, Jr. and "Homeward Bound" by Elliott
Hayes.

The traditional classics on the playbill include "Treasure Island"
by Robert Louis Stevenson,
"School For Wives" by Moliere,
"Rules Of The Game" by Luigi Prandelli and "The Night Of The Burning Pestle" by Francis Beaumont. For more information contact the Stratford Festival, P.O.
Box 520, Stratford, Ontario, N5A
6V2 or call them through their Detroit telephone number,

Tickets range from $35 to $50 in Canadian funds, except for some premiere performances, which are slightly less expensive.

Visiting FDR and the Quoddy Loop

By IRIS SANDERSON JONES
Travel Writer

"We tell people that we're a republic and we're bilingual—we speak
Canadian and American. I'm from New Brunswick, but I speak American perfectly."

That was Billy McCready talking as we got off the Deer Island ferry at Campobello Island and headed for the Roosevelt Campobello International Park.

Billy is the voice of the Quoddy Loop, a coastal area that runs up the coast of Maine and down the coast of New Brunswick, circling Passamaquoddy Bay. The bay waters flow into the Bay of Fundy, which separates the maritime provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, and is famous for its 28-foot-high tides.

Passamaquoddy means "the people of the fish," which was appropriate when the Indian fishermen welcomed Champlain in 1604 and when Captain William Owen landed in 1881 as the first Principal Proprietary of the Great Outer Island of Passamaquoddy, with a land grant from King George III.

The translation is appropriate now, when local fishermen go out in their Purse Seiners, Sardine carriers, Fish Druggers and Handliners, riding the 28-foot tides that are famous in this area.

Check the package of frozen fish you have in your freezer; it probably comes from here.

Most people come to Campobello
Island by bus or car over the Franklin
D. Roosevelt International Memorial Bridge from Lubec, Maine, visit the Roosevelt cottage and continue around the Quoddy Loop, sometimes stopping at bed-and-breakfast places along the way or taking the whale-watching tours.

We came 60 miles south from the capital city of St. John, New Brunswick, via towns that raise Atlantic salmon from fingerlings and past the lobster ponds of Deer Island.

"In the old days, they used lobster as fertilizer around here. When guests came, they aired out their houses and served beef."

That was Alice Gough, wife of a fisherman, mother of a fisherman.
Alice hasn't bought salmon or lobster for years. "Somebody always gives them to me. Always more than one.
One lobster is just an aggravation."

Alice says that too many people come to Campobello to see FDR and move on, so she was pleased to know that I had checked in to the Campobello Island Club Lodge and was staying at least a day. There are many islands in the Passamaquoddy area.

Campobello is famous because Franklin Delano Roosevelt spent his childhood summers here, sailing to Grand Manan Island, fishing the bay.
Polio struck him here, so he was carried away in a stretcher and came back in a wheelchair twice as president of the United States.

A visitor views the Roosevelt Cottage on Campobello Island in New Brunswick

He called Campobello his "beloved isle."

The film at the Roosevelt Campobello International Park tells how his father James Roosevelt built a summer house here, and how his mother bought a "summer cottage" for Franklin and Eleanor and their children. The red Roosevelt Cottage still stands beside the sea in the park and can be toured.

If you're lucky, Linnea Calder will be there, talking in an aging voice about the days when her father and mother both worked at the cottage.

"The park inherited me," she says.
The Roosevelt Campobello International Park takes up 1,200 acres at the bridge end of the island. Alice Gough works "next door" at the Herring Cove Provincial Park, with its sand beaches, picnic areas and campsites, and she cheerfully drove me around the rest of the island.

Campobello has 1,300 residents and three villages, each tied to the sea with colorful fishing boat docks.
We drove uphill to the Owen House, where painter Joyce Morell runs a bed-and-breakfast. We saw the historic churches and the East Quoddy
Head Lighthouse on Head Harbour Island at the opposite end of the island from the bridge.

"My son and his children walked across to the lighthouse at low tide once and stayed too long," Alice said.

"They were trapped there for hours until the tide went out again."

It's hard to visualize a 28-foot tide, even if you have seen the waters of the St. John River rushing upstream or the famous tidal bore in Nova Scotia. The water rises five feet an hour, so Alice's family could pick their way across the narrow channel at low tide, but were faced with water 28-feet deep at high tide.

"Could they swim back?" I asked.

"The water's too cold, even the fishermen don't learn how to swim.
The tide goes out so far it brings very cold water back to shore."

When I told that story to Billy McCready later, she said "this water is either very refreshing or very cold."

She's been known to lead strangers to the beach, yell "last one in is a rotten egg" and wait for the results.

If you like to walk quiet beaches, take island ferries, watch whales swimming and eagles flying, you will love the Quoddy Loop.

You can take a boat out of St. Andrews, ride down the west pass past Deer Island, cross through the second largest whirlpool in the world at Old Sow, see the osprey nests on Cherry Island and the cormorants and gulls on Green Island.

Billy McCready assures me that Puff the Magic Dragon comes from Passamaquoddy Bay. If you'd like to check it out, telephone Tourism New Brunswick toll-free at (800)
561-0123.

Start the day easy... It's sure to have some dramatic results.

Begin with a leisurely breakfast in one of Stratford's many fine hotels or cosy bed and breakfast inns. Browse through unique and intriguing shops. Stroll along the banks of the Avon river. Complete your day with a delicious dinner and an evening of superb theatre. Is there any better way to spend a day? The City of Stratford and the Stratford Festival welcome you to the 1991 season of 14 splendid productions in our 3 magnificent playhouses - a choice as rich and varied as the charms of the city and surrounding countryside.

Author's work showcased locally

The work of Northville writer Edith Dunbar will be showcased May 7 at a Southfield Library reading.

Professional actors will dramatize scenes from the work of five Detroit-area playwrights in a free performance from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. May 7 at the library.

The readings are sponsored by Detroit Women Writers, and will be held in the Marcotte Lecture and Recital Hall at the library, 26000 Evergreen Road in Southfield.

The library is in the Southfield Civic Center complex.

Yolanda Fleisher of the theater departments at Wayne State University and the University of Detroit is casting local actors in roles written by members of Detroit Women Writers, including Dunbar.

A 20-minute scene will be presented from each writer's work.

Dunbar's play is called "Crawford's Hour."

Dunbar, a former journalist, has had her work performed by a Cincinnati radio station. She was a recent finalist in radio theater competitions in Columbia, Missouri and Glendale, California.

Other plays to be performed include "Janie's Mother" by Lois Breitmeyer of Royal Oak; "A Scene by the Seine," by Sally Sawyer of West Bloomfield; "Stuffed Grapeleaves and Potroast" by Pearl Ahnen of Brighton; and "Yankee Doodle Andy," by Louis Heck-Rabi of Lincoln Park.

Breitmeyer is author of several children's books. "Janie's Mother" has been produced in Belgium.

Heck-Rabi has had two plays published and one produced. She authored a book on women film makers.

The Southfield Civic Center and Library are the site of an upcoming dramatic reading

Pearl Ahnen has authored several plays and television scripts, as well as short stories and articles. She is the current president of Detroit Women Writers.

Sawyer is the producing director and narrator for the scenes, to be performed without sets or costumes. She has received two awards from the Community Theatre Association of Michigan for her children's plays and a grant from the Michigan Council of the Arts for a musical version of one of her plays.

The first annual Playwrights Reading will include light refreshments served at intermission. The reading will be in celebration of De-

Genitti's adds to theater shows

Due to the overwhelming success of all the dinner theaters, John and Toni Genitti of Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall Restaurant are pleased to announce scheduled additions to the Murder Mystery and Verdi Opera Dinner Theatre performances.

Genitti's now has three different production companies performing three different Murder Mystery Dinner Theatres. Every Friday evening at 7:30 p.m. separate performances are planned in separate dining rooms. Reservations are required for all shows.

Special performances of the Murder Mystery Dinner Theatre are now available for large groups of people any day of the week, day or evening, lunch or dinner time. The theater is ideal entertainment for tours, business functions, large family functions or any happy occasion.

Dinner is served. As the crime unfolds during the performance, the guests try to discover who "committed the murder" through clues given out during heated exchanges between cast members. Additional clues and motives are given out as the cast mingles with the guests. Small gifts are awarded to those who correctly guess the identity of the murderer.

The standard seven-course dinner is served family style, like an old Italian wedding: lots of food, served hot, homemade soup, antipasto salad, vegetables, Italian sausage, baked chicken, Italian steak (pork), garlic toast, beverage and a delicious dessert.

The "Verdi Opera Dinner Theatre" is now scheduled the third Thursday of every month at 7:30

Netters win three in a row

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

A crucial 5-2 win over a respected Plymouth Salem squad highlighted last week for the Northville netters, but a pair of impressive 7-0 shutouts preceded that. After starting the season with shaky 1-2 record, the Mustangs needed a big week — and they got it.

The victory over Salem on April 26 was, perhaps, the season's biggest.

"We had a good week and the (Salem) win was a good win for us," Northville Coach Dick Norton said. "We thought heading in that Salem was one of the best teams in the Lakes Division."

The Mustangs took three of four singles matches. At No. 1 Mark Schwagle dumped Fred Staten 6-1, 6-1; at No. 3, Brad Telepo turned back Prakash Chinnaiyan 6-3, 6-4; and at No. 4, Jason Deglilio outlasted David Bell 6-1, 6-4.

Northville added two more wins at No. 2 and 3 doubles, but they were anything but routine. The second team of Jeff Lower and Eric Black nipped Javier Angulo and Joe Perron 7-6 (7-5), 5-7, 6-4 and the third team of Chris McCreedy and Shaun Linderman slipped past Mike West and Harry Lee 7-5, 7-6 (8-6).

NORTHVILLE 7, LIVONIA FRANKLIN 0: The Mustangs whipped the Patriots on April 24 and only one match went to three sets. It came at No. 2 doubles, where Lower and Black topped Steve Vanable and Justin Osman 6-3, 6-7 (4-7), 6-3.

"Other than that match, we trounced (Franklin) pretty good," Norton said. "We thought we'd beat them, but the kids played really well."

The other Northville winners included Schwagle, Britt Davis, Telepo and Deglilio in the singles flights.

NORTHVILLE 7, FARMINGTON HARRISON 0: On April 22, the Mustangs started the week off by blanking the Hawks.

Again, the Lower/Black duo at No. 2 doubles was the only Northville flight extended to three sets. They beat Steve Butcher and Jeff Gutman 6-7 (3-7), 6-3, 6-3.

Schwagle, Davis, Telepo and Kyle Legel all won their singles matches, while Linderman and Mike Connery (No. 1) and McCreedy/Jeff Ozanich (No. 3) did likewise in doubles.

The three-win week raises Northville's record to 4-2 overall, and 3-1 in the WLAA.

Mustangs get crucial sweep

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

Following a gut-wrenching 3-2 loss to powerful Plymouth Canton on April 25, the Mustang baseballers could boast of just one win in the season's first eight outings. The squad needed some success — any success — in the worst way, and got it two days later in a doubleheader sweep against South Lyon.

Northville edged the Lions 4-1 in the first game of the non-conference twinbill, and finally exploded for a 15-1 victory in the nightcap. Could this be the spark that ignites a struggling program?

"I think this will help get us going in the right direction," Mustang Coach Bob Frellick said. "We're getting down and playing good baseball now. We've lowered our team (earned run average) almost a point — to 3.60 — in the last week."

In game one, George Smojver scattered six hits and one run over seven innings to notch the victory. Eric Shaw gave Northville the lead with a solo homer in the third, and Brent Barzantry keyed a three-run rally in the fifth with a two-out single that drove in a pair.

"We were more aggressive defensively and Smojver threw a solid game," Frellick said. "We only committed one error, so it was the kind of game we needed to play."

In game two, the pitching star was Steve Christenson, who fanned 11 batters and allowed just two hits and no earned runs.

"We dominated the second game from the start," Frellick pointed out.

Shaw ripped his second homer of the day in the first inning to help the locals pull ahead 3-0. Northville then sent 10 batters to the plate and scored six more times in the second. Jerry Birdsall clubbed a three-run homer and Dennis Jeremy added a two-run single in the rally.

Shaw and pinch batter Joe Staknis continued the hitting offensive explosion later in the game, combining for five more RBIs in the last two innings. Staknis' two-run homer in the fifth was the big blow.

In all, the Mustangs had 13 hits, and Shaw led the way with three hits and four runs batted in. Other hitting standouts included Staknis (2-for-2, 3 RBIs), Brad Domeracki (2-for-4) and Dennis (2-for-4).

PLYMOUTH CANTON 3, NORTHVILLE 2: Frellick got another good pitching performance on April 25, but the Mustangs didn't take advantage of it.

Canton scored three runs in the first four innings off starter Mike Lang, but only one was earned. Trailing 3-0, Northville came back with single runs in the fifth and sixth — and both times, Lang delivered the RBI hit.

"It was an outstanding game," Frellick said. "Lang pitched a three-hitter and we had our chances to win the game. We had the bases loaded with one out in the sixth, but we couldn't get the tying run in."

For the game, the Mustangs managed just six hits. Lang (2-for-3) and Domeracki (2-for-3) accounted for four, while the rest of the team went 2-for-19 combined.

LIVONIA CHURCHILL 11-13, NORTHVILLE 9-1: The Mustangs dropped two on April 22 to the Chargers, but the games were very different.

In the opener, Northville raced ahead 4-0 with an impressive rally in the first inning. Smojver and Lang each knocked in a run apiece, but the key hit was a three-run home run by Barzantry.

Churchill took the lead for good in the fourth with an eight-run explosion that chased Smojver, who started and lasted just 3½ innings. Trailing 11-4, Barzantry hit another homer in the fourth and was in the middle of another four-run rally in the sixth that narrowed the gap to 11-9.

But in the final two innings, the Mustangs went down in order.

Barzantry had a great outing (3-for-4, 4 RBIs) and Smojver chipped in with two hits, including a two-run homer.

Smarting from the heartbreaking loss in game one, Northville fell apart in game two. The Chargers scored runs in every inning (including seven in the third) before the mercy rule stopped the action.

Christenson suffered the loss, but only four of the 15 Churchill runs were earned. At the plate, the Mustangs had three hits in 18 plate appearances.

"This doubleheader was more of the same problems we've had with unearned runs," Frellick said. "In the two games, we allowed 17 unearned runs."

Northville is now 3-7 overall, 0-3 in the WLAA Western Division

Linksters remain unbeaten

The brand-new Northville girls golf squad is cutting down opponents the way established programs normally do.

On April 24, the Mustangs clobbered Livonia Stevenson 207-275 in the WLAA conference opener at Tanglewood Golf Course. It was the team's third victory in three tries this inaugural season.

"I was glad that the girls had two matches under their belts before the league opener," Northville Coach Trish Waldecker said. "They were a little nervous, but they seem real comfortable with the course. (Tanglewood) is in excellent shape and the greens are wonderful."

The medalist was senior Kristen Woodsum, who equaled her season-best effort with a 46. The other three scores that counted for the Mustangs came from Shannon Price (52), Kelly Casterline (54) and Kelli Woodsum (55). Diane Vogt (57) and Courtney Casterline (60) also competed.

"We still have a ways to go, but I'm pleased with the way the girls are handling the pressure of competitive golf," Waldecker explained. "They are living up to expectations very quickly."

Softballers suffer defeats versus Canton, Churchill

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

The honeymoon is over. After winning the season's first five games, the Northville softball team suffered a pair of painful intra-division defeats last week. The Mustangs lost for the first time to Livonia Churchill on April 22, and then fell again, 7-3, to Plymouth Canton three days later.

The normally potent Northville bats went deathly silent for the first four innings against the Chiefs. While the first 12 Mustang batters were going down in order, Canton tagged starter Karen Trepicone for five runs.

Northville broke the shutout in the fifth on back-to-back singles by Chrisy Green and Stacey Nyland, and then added two more in the seventh, but it wasn't enough. The late rally included a home run by Melanie Apligian.

"The girls started working together and hitting in the late innings, but we couldn't catch up," Mustang Coach Gail Trepicone said. "Our goal now is to reduce the number of fielding errors and play up to our capabilities."

Karen Trepicone suffered the loss, but she only allowed two earned runs and five hits in seven innings. Northville committed seven errors on defense.

Green and Nyland both went 2-for-3.

LIVONIA CHURCHILL 4, NORTHVILLE 3: Fielding errors and silent bats cost the Mustangs dearly on April 22.

Karen Trepicone hurled a five-hitter and gave up just one earned run, but six errors undermined the effort. Northville actually took an early 1-0 lead, but then went five straight scoreless innings.

The Chargers tied it in the second and then took the lead for good with a three-run rally in the fifth inning. Trailing 4-1, the Mustangs added two runs in the top of the seventh to pull within one, but Melanie Apligian flew out with the bases loaded.

Laura Apligian (2-for-3) and Sara Christenson (2-for-3) were the hitting stars.

FARMINGTON TOURNAMENT: Northville won two of three games at this April 27 tournament, including a 12-1 victory against Bloomfield Hills Andover.

The Mustangs scored three runs in the second inning and added three more in the third to take control, 6-0. The locals then wrapped up the lop-sided win with a six-run rally in the fifth.

The offensive stars included Green (2-for-4) and Karen Trepicone (2-for-2). Trepicone, who went the distance, fanned five batters and allowed five hits.

In game two, Northville dropped an exciting 5-3 decision to North Farmington. The Raiders took an early 2-0 lead, and increased it to 4-0 before the Mustangs got untracked in the sixth. Laura Apligian knocked in a pair with a double, capping a four-hit, three-run inning.

But North added an insurance run in the seventh off Trepicone, and she suffered the loss. Northville only managed four hits in the game.

"It was an exciting game and it could have gone either way," Trepicone said.

The Mustangs finished the tourney with a 6-3 triumph against Birmingham Groves. Northville scored single runs in the first, third and seventh innings, and added three more in the fifth. Lori George (4-for-4, 3 RBIs) and Laura Apligian (2-for-4, including two triples) caused most of the damage.

Trepicone got the win despite surrendering 10 hits and eight walks in seven innings.

The Mustangs are now 7-3 overall and 2-2 in the WLAA

Athletes of the Week

BRENT BARZANTNY

TRISH LUKOMSKI

Brent Barzantny was an explosive offensive weapon for the Northville baseballers last week, and we think "Athlete of the Week" honors are in order. Barzantny went 6-for-13 in four games with seven runs batted in. His most impressive game came against Livonia Churchill on April 22, when he went 3-for-4 with two home runs and four RBIs. Barzantny is batting .297 this season and leads the team in runs scored (8), doubles (3) and homers (2).

Junior Trish Lukomski has been a key contributor this season for the 4-1 Northville tracksters. In action last week, Lukomski won the 200-meter dash (28.0) and was a member of the winning 400 and 800 relay teams in the Mustangs' 75-53 victory over Walled Lake Western on April 25. At the eight-team Novi Relays two days later, Lukomski was a member of the winning 800 relay team and the third place mile relay squad. For the effort, "Athlete of the Week" accolades are heading her way.

Mustang girls top Western, now 4-1

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

The Mustang girls upped their season record to 4-1 with a convincing 75-53 track victory over Western Division foe Walled Lake Western on April 25.

"The girls ran well," Northville Coach Ann Turnbull said. "We haven't been 4-1 for a long time. The sprinters and our field event people are making good progress every week. We are not seeing as much improvement in the distance events."

Northville won all four field events and added five more in the running events. The individual winners included Mari Kissenger in the shot put (27-11 1/4"), Megan Holmberg in the discus (74'-8 1/4"), Julie Buser in the high jump (4'-10"), Alana Bradley in the long jump (16'-2 1/4") and the 100-meter dash (13.6). Trish Lukomski in the 200 (28.0) and Kendra Huard in the 400 (64.8).

The 400 and 800 relay teams also notched firsts. The 400 team included Valerie Bassin, Kissenger, Lukomski and Bradley (54.3), and the 800 group featured Basin, Huard, Kissenger and Lukomski (1:55.4).

The Northville seconds included Audrey Welke in the shot put (26'-2 1/4"), Lisa Almone in the high jump (4'-10"), Angle Tune in the 300 hurdles (56.4), Bradley in the 200 (28.7) and Kamal Bagga in the 800 (2:37.4).

NOVI RELAYS: The Mustangs placed in a tie for sixth place in this eight-team event on April 27. "Our sprinters did an excellent job, but I was disappointed with the way we performed in the high jump and long jump," Turnbull said.

Northville notched three top-three finishes, and the relay team of Kissenger, Huard, Lukomski and Bradley were responsible for them all. They teamed up to win the 800 relay (1:50.8) and the 400 relay (53.0) and placed third in the mile relay (4:22.7).

The Mustangs (4-1 overall, 1-1 in the WLAA) face another tough test today (May 2) at home against Plymouth Canton.

Kickers move up in rankings, down in standings

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

The logic behind the state soccer rankings took a beating last week when Northville moved up from No. 4 to No. 3 despite dropping a 1-0 home decision to Plymouth Canton on April 26. Amazingly, at the same time, Canton dropped out of the top 10.

"I don't know how that could have happened," Mustang Coach Bob Paul admitted. "The coaches association must have put the top 10 together before the Friday games."

Despite the rankings, Northville dropped to 7-2 overall with the defeat and now have the distinction of losing the season's two biggest matches so far (the other was a 3-1 loss to top-ranked Livonia Stevenson).

"We had been playing too many easy opponents heading into the Canton game," Paul explained. "We've been able to win a lot of games without playing very well, but you can't do that against a powerful team like Canton."

"In spite of all the warnings, we weren't ready," The Chiefs, on the other hand, have already played top-10 teams like Plymouth Salem, Stevenson and Troy Athens. According to Paul: "They were ready for us."

The lone goal in the game came at the 22-minute mark of the second half, but Canton had a clear advantage in the shots-on-goal department (17-7).

"They simply outran us," Paul said. "We didn't adapt well to the pace of the game and ended up playing their style."

Despite the shots-on-goal discrepancy, the Mustangs had their chances, including a shot that hit the crossbar and two other prime opportunities from inside seven yards.

"It wasn't quite as lopsided as the shots-on-goal indicate, but they outplayed us," Paul admitted.

The highlight of the match was the solid defensive play by both teams. Northville goaltender Bethany MacLean played "an outstanding game," Paul said.

NORTHVILLE 4, LIVONIA FRANKLIN 0: The host Mustangs registered another shutout on April 24 against the capable Patriots.

"It was a pretty good win for us," Paul said. "(Franklin) has some dangerous players, but we were able to play our finesse game without feeling we had to rush."

The home team had a commanding 45-12 shots-on-goal advantage and led 2-0 at halftime. "We carried the play the whole game," Paul said.

"We beat them 3-1 last year, so it was an improvement. Marcie Dart is just dominating at the mid-field so far this season."

Dart and Ashley MacLean set up Renee Androsian's goal just 14 minutes into the contest, and MacLean made it 2-0 just before the half after taking a corner kick from Amy Goode. Regan Wiseley tallied at the 25-minute mark of the second half (from Laura Whiteley) and Dart warped up the scoring with a goal at the 34-minute mark (from Goode).

NORTHVILLE 9, FARMINGTON HARRISON: The Hawks were no match for the visiting Mustangs on April 22.

"We got off to a slow start and only led 3-0 at halftime, but we turned it up a notch in the second half," Paul explained. "Looking back, it wasn't the kind of game we needed to play in preparation for Canton."

Androsian scored twice, Karen Saydak added a goal and three assists, and Valerie Schuerman notched a goal and two assists. The other goals came from Goode, Cindy Tolstedt, Michelle McQuaid, Ashley MacLean and Wendy Carroll.

Northville (4-2 in the WLA, 3-1 in the Western Division) will get back in action on May 6 against Grand Blanc in a non-conference clash.

Tracksters improve to 5-1 with win

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Northville boys won the season's fifth track meet in a row on April 25, clobbering division rival Walled Lake Western 82-55.

The Mustangs won 10 of 17 events—including three of four relay races—to become the only unbeaten team in the WLA Western Division.

"We seem to be improving a little bit week by week," Northville Coach Dennis Faletti said. "There were a lot of close races, especially early in the meet, but we won most of them."

The individual first place efforts came from Bob Holloway in the shot put (43'-2 1/2"), Kevin Gill in the discus (141'-7"), Jamie Miller in the long jump (19'-8"), Todd Nelson in the pole vault (9'-6"), Todd Osborn in the 110 hurdles (17.0), Bill Kelley in the 200 (23.8) and Rob Subotich in the 400 (52.3).

Jamie Miller was a member of all three winning relay teams. He was joined by Bob Oiler, Matt Hempo and Kelly in the 400 (46.1); teamed up with Ryan Huzjak, Chris Lehr and Kelly in the 800 (1:34.3); and joined Subotich, Lehr and Mike Negri in the 1,600 (3:35.9).

The runner-up finishes included Gill in the shot put (42'-10 1/4"), Holloway in the discus (127'-10"), Scott Clowers in the pole vault (8'-6"), Brandon Hayes in the 300 hurdles (45.6), Brian Dogonski in the 100 (11.8) and the 200 (23.9), Mark Hufinger in the 400 (54.0) and Negri in the 800 (2:07.0).

NOVI RELAYS: The Mustangs had just two winning performances, but added a host of seconds and thirds to place second in this eight-team event on April 27 with 69 points. The host Wildcats won it with 88 points.

"I thought we performed real well," Faletti said. "We dropped the baton in the 800 relay and that's one of the strengths of our team. But despite that, we scored more than I thought."

The firsts came in the long jump relay and the 400 relay. The long-jump trio included Miller, Kelley and Huzjak, and their combined jump was 57'-4". The 400 team featured Huzjak, Hemp, Miller and Kelley (45.2).

Northville placed second in the shot put (124'-8") and discus (380'-5") relay events, as well as the 1,600 relay. The shot put and discus teams included John Gatti, Holloway and Gill, and the 1,600 foursome featured Subotich, Lehr, Miller and Hufinger (3:31.19).

The Mustangs added four third-place finishes.

course before," Waldecker said. "I told them to pay close attention to the score card and try to keep the ball in play. They did a nice job."

Kristen Woodsum was again the medalist (49). The rest of the Northville scores came from Kelli Woodsum (51), Courtney Casterline (55), Price (56), Kelly Casterline (58) and Vogt (59).

The Mustangs (3-0 overall, 1-0 in the WLA) will take on Plymouth Salem today (May 2) in another conference showdown.

Schoolcraft College offers racquetball facilities

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

What activity first burst onto the fitness scene more than 20 years ago, peaked in the 1980s and has now leveled off in popularity?

Racquetball, the indoor sport for fanatics.

Racquetball may have started as a game for people desperate to swing a racquet when the weather did not allow the use of tennis courts. Its variations, paddleball and handball, are ample evidence of the aficionados' willingness to push the boundaries of the sport.

Legend has it that the game first began in the '60s, an admittedly conflicted decade, when someone took a broken tennis racquet onto a squash court and started swinging. Now there was someone desperate to take out his frustrations on a little rubber ball.

Whatever its origins, the sport mushroomed in popularity during the health-conscious '70s as racquetball clubs sprang up seemingly overnight. But as fitness buffs found and rediscovered other forms of exercise, including weightlifting, running machines, Nautilus and the Stairmaster, some of those courts were turned into workout rooms.

Others were sacrificed to provide space to give leotard-clad women, and eventually men, a place to "feel the burn," in the immortal words of Jane Fonda.

Part of the problem may be that, despite its once-immense popularity as a fitness technique, racquetball never really became known as a legitimate sport.

Few people can name the current world racquetball champion, or any player for that matter.

Because of that, racquetball cards likely would have none of the appeal of baseball cards. Can you imagine someone trading a Charlie Brumfield rookie card for a Marty Hogan, or a

Steve Strandemo for ... darn, what's the name of another famous player?

One of the few times the game was portrayed in a major movie was in the comedy "Splash." John Candy played a racquetball player as a chain-smoking, beer-drinking (but good-natured) slob who had to take a break on the beer cooler in the corner of the court after two minutes of volleying, and who then proceeded to hit himself in the face with his own serve.

The scene did little to instill confidence in the sport's future, or Candy's future as a racquetball champ.

But the game itself lived on, played out by sweaty men and women hurling themselves across the dwindling numbers of little white rooms.

Racquetball became popular — and keeps its hold on a certain segment of the population — due to the ease with which players can pick it up. It's an easy game to learn, if not master, with little of the finesse needed for more dignified racquet sports like tennis and squash.

It's a much more active game than tennis as well, providing nearly non-stop action and plenty of excitement for spectators. One unique aspect of the game is that players often get a second swing at the ball if they miss it the first time.

Local racquetballers can play at several area facilities, including Vic Tanny Health Clubs in Novi and Plymouth. But a less expensive alternative for the occasional player may be Schoolcraft College.

The Haggerty Road junior college offers its own health club in the form of a Gym-and-Swim program. The facilities are open to the public for a nominal fee Thursdays from 6:30-9:30 p.m., Saturdays from 8:30 a.m. to noon, and Sundays from 1-5 p.m.

A $6 fee is charged for use of the courts. Call 462-4413 for more information.

Workout for Hope helps to fight AIDS

As an exercise educator, a columnist and a human being, I feel compelled to raise your height of awareness.

As estimated, there are presently 100,000 AIDS cases in the United States and nearly 300,000 worldwide. An estimated 10 million people are already infected. This means a new AIDS victim every 12 minutes. We still have no preventive vaccine, no treatment which will result in a cure. We certainly all need help. There will be no one untouched by this horrible disease.

We need money for research, treatment and education. The City of Hope for AIDS is an important organization to help fight this battle.

Scientists led by John J. Rossi, Ph.D., have developed a new test for the AIDS virus which will identify the virus within days of exposure. Before the test can be used, financing must be found for its mass production. It must be submitted for FDA approval and distribution details must be worked out. This test is expected to be used not only for diagnosis, but to ensure the safety of the nation's blood bank supplies.

City of Hope is working hard to develop drugs to fight AIDS. Under a $2 million, three-year grant from the National Institute of Allergy & Infectious Diseases, they are engaged in a four-prong effort to develop effective therapies. City of Hope provides inpatient facilities for AIDS patients. They also offer education — a series of classes designed for health care professionals working in skilled nursing homes, extended care facilities or home health agencies.

In an effort to help the City of Hope's good work, thousands of Americans will be united symbolically in a three-hour "Workout for Hope" physical fitness extravaganza to be held in three cities across the country.

We, in Detroit, are delighted to have staged "Workout for Hope" again this year. Last year, more than 30 top fitness professionals and their clubs helped to make our Detroit event number two in the nation. We raised close to $40,000.

This year's event was even more spectacular. It was held at the Fairlane Manor in Dearborn.

If you have any questions, call 855-1033.

Myrna Partrich, co-owner of The Workout Company of Bloomfield Township and a recent appointee of The President's Council on Physical Fitness, is happy to answer any questions readers may have regarding exercise. The Cassia

Nothing stingy with use of tile or space

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

No one can accuse the Cassia's designer of being stingy with tile or space.

Inside, bright quarry tile floors in the entryway, kitchen, family room/solarium, and utility room floors treat the eye while repelling water and dirt.

Outside, a tile roof promises to shelter its owners for 50 years or more.

Glistening rows of tile also show up atop the raised hearths in the living room and upstairs study, providing protection from stray embers.

Plants and families can't help but flourish in the bright kitchen/family room, doubled in size by an attached prefabricated solarium. A range built into the eating bar allows casual diners to serve themselves seconds of hot soups right from the range.

The entryway and living room are vaulted to the second floor and bathed in light by wide bay windows. This combination of height and light creates a sensation of unlimited space.

A stretch of railing in the study at the top of the upstairs landing enables family members to converse with people in the living room and entry area without running downstairs.

With the simple addition of a door to the right, off the front entry deck, the bright, vaulted den could easily become a home office. And home woodworkers will appreciate the large shop area.

This is a home for parents with older children. The kids are quartered in the identical twin bedrooms below, while the parents have the whole upstairs to themselves.

A stationary bicycle and a rowing machine make the study do double duty as an exercise room.

Skylights bring natural light into the spa and water closet, and the huge walk-in closet provides ample room for storage as well as clothing.

OVERALL DIMENSIONS: 86'-0" x 42'-0"
LIVING: 2474 square feet
GARAGE: 704 square feet

Victorian Revival

By Maria Stuart
STAFF WRITER

During the reign of Britain's Queen Victoria, society was best characterized as "stuffy" and "prudish." But, however conservative the society was, the architectural styles of that era were colorful, imaginative and free.

These homes featured boldly painted, multi-colored exteriors, intricately carved wood trim, a wide-range of bay and regular windows in a variety of sizes and shapes, as well as towers, balconies and porches.

In other words, anything went. It was perhaps this wild freedom of expression that first attracted Americans to the Victorian home.

What first appealed to Tom Coates, a Livingston County designer and builder who has made a reputation for himself building new Victorians, was the complexity of the work.

"I knew that if I could build one of these houses, I could build anything," he said.

Coates found himself laid off from his construction job in the early 1980s and decided that he would create a niche for himself building Victorian homes.

Successfully translating the old-fashioned home styles to new houses that meet present-day building codes is a challenge that Coates enjoys.

"I knew that if I could build one of these houses, I could build anything."

-Tom Coates,
Livingston County designer

"The codes today restrict us," Coates explained. "Present-day Victorian homes will never be as tall as the old ones, or have towers that extend as high. It's because the building codes restrict heights."

When designing new Victorian homes, Coates also has to keep requirements for windows and room layouts in mind, and has to be sure that the home he is designing meets energy-efficiency requirements.

"People didn't care about these things in the old days," he said.

In the olden architecture, the styles popular during the last decades of Queen Victoria's reign, from about 1860 to 1900, make up what is generally referred to as the Victorian era.

It was during this 40-year span that industrialization and the growth of the railroad system led to dramatic changes in American house design and construction.

Industrialization meant that many parts of the homes (doors, windows, roofing, siding and decorative details), could be mass-produced in large factories in cities and then shipped throughout the country inexpensively on the railroad.

Victorian styles reflect these changes through lavish use of complex shapes and elaborate detailing, features that were previously only used on expensive houses because of the cost involved.

Coates, who presently works for Ultimate Homes in Wixom, said that the cost to duplicate Victorian homes with all their beautiful detailing at today's prices is often times prohibitive.

"Victorian homes are so labor-intensive," he explained. "They have the highest per-square-foot cost to build of any type of home."

"In the old days, builders used to buy all the little spindles and rails and brackets by the barrel out of a catalog."

What is what in Victorian style

There are five main types of Victorian homes although most are a combination of styles.

Second Empire

Characterized by dual-pitched hipped roof with dormer windows on a steep lower slope. Molded cornices normally bound the lower roof slope both above and below, and decorative brackets are usually present beneath eaves.

Remember the house the Munsters lived in on Mockingbird Lane? That was a great example of the Second Empire style.

Stick

Characterized by a gabled roof, which is usually steeply pitched with cross gables and overhanging eaves. The exterior walls are usually wood cladding (shingles or boards) interrupted by patterns of horizontal, vertical or diagonal boards (stickwork) raised from the wall surface for emphasis. The porches commonly show diagonal or curved braces.

Queen Anne

Characterized by a steeply pitched, irregularly shaped roof, usually with a dominant front-facing gable. The facade features patterned shingles and bays and is usually asymmetrical with partial or full-width porch which usually extends along one or both side walls.

The Queen Anne-type home generally has the most intricate wood trim of the Victorian homes.

Shingle

Characterized by wall cladding and roofing of continuous wood shingles. The facade is usually asymmetrical with irregular, steeply pitched roof line, and extensive porches.

Richardsonian Romanesque

Characterized by round-topped arches over windows, porch supports or the entrance. The house generally has masonry walls and towers that are normally round with conical roofs. The facade is usually asymmetrical.

The round-top arches of this type of home is a popular feature in many contemporary homes.

Folk Victorian

Characterized by porches with spindlework detailing or flat, jig-saw cut trim. The facade is generally symmetrical with cornice-line brackets.

REAL ESTATE

U.S. resorts appeal to Japanese Investors

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

Japanese investors are showing renewed interest in acquiring real estate in the United States—particularly resort properties.

Last year, the Japanese tapered down their investments somewhat, in the wake of the U.S. recession and Persian Gulf crisis. However, it still reached a huge sum—over $13 billion in U.S. real estate.

That figure reflects a 12 percent reduction from the amount invested during the previous year, according to the national accounting firm of Kenneth Leventhal & Co. But now the Japanese investment tempo is again picking up.

"The purchase of land for development showed the biggest percentage gain of the total invested last year, evidence that the Japanese have confidence in the long-term strength of our real estate markets," it was stated in a Leventhal report.

Hotels and resorts continue to attract more investor dollars because of the growing Japanese tourism market.

"The strong demand for destination resorts—especially those offering skiing or golf—will continue to attract more interest in this end of the real estate spectrum," the report stated.

Investment in office properties plunged to 17 percent of the total from a high of 50 percent in 1988, a result of overbuilt U.S. markets and the Japanese government's discouragement of acquiring highly visible trophy properties in the United States.

The percentage invested last year in mixed-use and residential properties remained virtually unchanged from last year, while golf courses continued their upward trend. Retail, industrial and other investments each represented less than 5 percent of the total for 1990.

Another report—this one from Mead Ventures Inc., Phoenix—documented the Japanese continuing strong interest in acquiring resort properties in Hawaii.

The report primarily focused on the huge development of Mauna Lani Resort Inc., including five upscale residential projects on the Big Island. The development is planned to preserve the five-star quality status of the resort.

Mauna Lani Resort Inc. is 88.6 percent owned by the Tokyu Group and 11.4 percent by Mitsubishi Corp. However, Mauna Lani Resort is unique among luxury developments in Hawaii in part because only 25 percent of the homes have been sold to residents of Japan.

The bulk of the housing has been sold to Americans. And it is proving popular with executives and corporations planning retreats.

Walter A. Dods Jr., chairman and chief executive officer of First Hawaiian Inc., for example, has bought a lot in The Point Estates at Mauna Lani where he is planning to build his retirement home.

"The developers have taken a very long-term view no American company could ever take," he said. "They took the view that over time they'd do it right because that would spell success in the long run."

The Point Estates projects, one of which Dods bought, consist of 19 lots that have sold for between $640,000 and $1.3 million each.

Q. Does any U.S.-based exchange network for time-share condominium units maintain offices and operations in Japan?

A. Interval International, a subsidiary of Worldex Corp., recently appointed Kennedy International Ltd. as their liaison office in Japan.

Kennedy International acts as liaison for the provision of Interval member and exchange services for all Japanese owners of vacation interests at Interval member resorts and will also act as a servicing representative to the company's expansion in Japan.

Interval's new Japan representative joins those already established in Korea and Thailand. Interval International and Worldex are based in Miami.

Q. Is the home sales market becoming more active?

A. Yes. During the last full month of recorded sales (February), new home sales were up 16.2 percent above the preceding month—the largest monthly gain in five years. The largest adjusted annual home sales rate up to 3.13 million units, according to the National Association of Realtors.

Jukeboxes rise in popularity

By Linda Rosenkrantz
Copley News Service

Maybe it's the aesthetic appeal of the swirl of glowing fluorescent color or the evocation of hepcats lindy-hopping to Harry James or dream-dancing to swoony Sinatra platters.

In any case, despite the facts of their expense and bulk, vintage jukeboxes are becoming increasingly popular with collectors.

There were several jukebox jukeboxes.

As early as the 1890s, a nickelodeon manufacturer called The Regina Music Box Co. was using an automatic arm mechanism. Then in 1906 the John Gabel Co. produced the Gabel Automatic Entertainer, the first coin-operated music machine offering more than one selection and a non-amplified horn for group listening. But it wasn't until 1927 that the first amplified coin-operated record player was released by Automatic Music Inc.

Until around 1938, jukeboxes,

COLLECTING

like classic radio and phonograph cabinets, were made of wood. It was in the period from the late '30s, with the beginnings of the use of plastic, to the early '50s, that the form reached its gaudy apogee—with all manner of innovative styling variations and garish color combinations.

Much of this innovation can be credited to two designers—Paul Fidler of Wurlitzer and Nils Miller of Seeburg—who succeeded in merging art deco swirls with contemporary technology to produce masterpieces of light, chrome and color.

There are three Jukebox Ages:
• From 1934-49, when 78s were played.
• 1950s-60s—called the Seeburg era—when 45s were played.

• The more contemporary examples, which are far less sought after.

For today's collector, Wurlitzers from the 1940s are the ultimate prize, particularly model numbers 750, 850 (known as the Peacock because of two peacocks on the front, illuminated by two rotating discs), 1100 and 1080. Most popular of all is the quintessential 1015, an intricate design featuring unique bubble tubes and changing color cylinders.

Wurlitzer was, by the 1930s, the top name in the industry, with dealerships all over the country. But there are other brand names sought after as well—Rock-Ola (which made the Spectravox and the Commando), Seeburg, Packard, AMI and Mills, in particular.

It was Seeburg who, in 1948, revolutionized the jukebox industry when it introduced a 100-selection machine that played 45 rpm records. The influence of this format spilled over to the recording industry so that by the mid-1950s the 45 rpm record had virtually replaced the 78.

During the 1940s and '50s, many early jukeboxes were destroyed by manufacturers and operators as part of a trade-in program when the new models came out. It was in the early '70s that interest in these vintage boxes began to develop, with people in the Midwest and West Coast starting to seek out, restore and sell them.

Now the hobby has a considerable following, with at least two specialist periodicals: Juke Box Collector Newsletter (2545 S.E. 60th St., Des Moines, IA 50317) and Leese Change (21176 S. Alameda St., Long Beach, CA 90801).

Linda Rosenkrantz edited Auction magazine and authored five books, including "Auction Antiques Annual," "Write Collect," c/o Copley News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, CA 92112-0190.

Rebuilding the Victorian age

Coates finds that he sometimes has to create the pieces he needs for trimwork. The window trim on one home was all hand-carved by Coates, who also made the spindles on the massive oak staircase by hand.

The builders of the original Victorian homes did all of the work that goes into building one of these homes using hand-saws and scroll-saws.

"The moldings used in the houses were all generally hand-planed," Coates said. "This is why some of the old detail work is just too costly to duplicate today."

Most Victorian styles are loosely based on Medieval prototypes. The designers of the original Victorians picked and chose whatever features they liked from other architectural styles, including classical forms.

Builders took the parts they liked and incorporated them into their homes, not trying to be historically authentic, rather, they built houses that they felt looked good.

This mixing and matching and borrowing of forms and details means that Victorian styles overlap each other without the distinctions that usually separate other architectural styles.

"You can't really tell when a Victorian home was built," said Coates. "This timelessness appeals to many people. Unless you are an expert, you really can't tell that an old Victorian is old, or that a new Victorian is new."

One of the problems that Coates had to deal with in the designing and building of Victorian homes is getting the proportions just right.

"When you are working with rooms that have 10-foot high ceilings, you have to be sure that the windows and the doors and the trim are in the right proportions."

One of the homes that Coates has just recently sold features a six-foot high fireplace mantle.

"In another home, this would just dwarf the rest of the room," he said. "In this house, it fits right in."

Coates said that he would love to be able to travel back in time to see the construction of the original Victorians.

"I think that when taking everything into account, the present-day Victorians are actually better homes as far as insulation, furnaces, wiring and plumbing," he said.

"But, I would really love to be able to watch those old craftsmen do their work."

How much should I insure porcelain dog for?

It would probably sell for about $165 to $185.

Q. What is the vintage and value of my Carlton Ware vase?

It is marked "Made in England" and is about 9 inches tall. It is colorfully decorated with an Oriental design.

A. Carlton Ware was made in Stoke, England, by Wilton & Robinson Ltd. during the early 1900s.

Your vase would probably sell for about $185 to $200.

Q. I have an Audubon print titled "The Baltimore Oriole," Plate XII, engraved in London by Robert Havell.

I would like to sell it; what should I ask for it?

A. John Audubon painted his series of American birds in the early 1800s; they were engraved in London from 1827 to 1838. An authentic print measures 25-1/2 by 38 inches and sells for about $7,000.

If your print is the correct size, you will still have to have it authenticated by a local museum.

Other Audubon prints sell from less than $1,000 to more than $20,000.

Q. Can you provide me with an evaluation of my Royal Doulton figurine of "Bo-Peep"—HN-777?

She is wearing a purple and green dress and a black bonnet with a red ribbon. In her hands is a black staff and at her feet is a small lamb.

A. This is an early figurine made between 1926 and 1938. In good condition, it should sell for $1,500 to $2,000.

You should take this to a local museum for positive verification.

Q. I have a porcelain cat about 6 inches long. It is lying down and playing with a ball. The mark is "Hutschenreuther, Selb, Bavaria."

When was this made and how much is it worth?

A. Your cat has at least nine lives; it was made about 1900 and would probably sell for $140 to $150.

Hutschenreuther is known for the fine porcelain it produces.

Q: Which Light Bulb Gives More Light?

A: Both give equal amounts of light — but the one on the right uses one-fourth of the energy, and over its lifetime can cut $30 off your electricity bill and last nine to 13 times longer, than the one on the left.

Wise In Years. Young At Heart.
Great American Investor.

If you stop for gas at Wally Bonfield's service station, be prepared to fill up on a few good stories, as well. Wally's seen a lot of things change since he opened Bonfield's back in 1927. Thankfully, there's always been one thing he could count on. U.S. Savings Bonds, the Great American Investment. "Like it or not, I might have to retire one day," he says. "I'm just glad I found a way to do it comfortably." Bonds pay competitive rates, and they're one of the safest investments around. Which leaves a lot of folks thinking that Wally is wise beyond his years. Call for information, or write U.S. Savings Bonds, Dept. 893-N, Washington, D.C. 20026.

PATRICK FALLON of Northville, a systems engineer, was among five finalists for the Employee of the Year award at Detroit Edison's Fermi 2 power plant.

The winner of the award was Charles J. Cassise of Taylor, whose leadership was credited with sparking major improvements in the maintenance program at, has been named the plant's 1990 Employee of the Year.

Orser cited Cassise's leadership as instrumental in the success of several planned outages in 1990, improving plant performance and group morale at the same time.

The other finalists for the 1990 Employee of the Year honors were Frank Reed of Detroit, Maintenance; Mark Roberts of Monroe, general maintenance journeyman, Maintenance, and Bob (Scotty) Szkotnicki of Dearborn Heights, Planning and Scheduling.

Personality tests regain lost favor

Personality tests — sometimes scoffed at, sometimes heralded as the panacea of all business management communications problems are once more gaining in popularity.

Broadly used in the late 1960s, personality tests like the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator and the Strong-Campbell Interest Inventory lost favor after businesses determined they were less than they had hoped, according to Eastern Michigan University management professor Mary Vielhaber.

But now the personality test zealots have disappeared and business consultants and psychologists are taking a more careful look at what these tests can do for corporate team building, Vielhaber said.

Daniel Smale, manager of Changing Management Service for Andersen Consulting, a division of Big Six accounting firm Arthur Andersen in Detroit, said a company should look for as diverse a group as possible when building a management team.

As competition between companies increases, managers continually seek new products, manufacturing techniques and improved management effectiveness, he said.

duct lasts, at best, two years. In a manufacturing process, a technical advantage lasts three years.

"The real competitive advantage is found in a company's speed of decision making."

And speed, Smale said, results from efficient team management.

Personality testing does several things to improve a management team, he said. First, it streamlines work.

Since personality tests reveal an individual's strengths and weaknesses, they enable each team member to focus on different parts of a project suitable to their ability.

"People who are going to be good at organizing will organize; people good at gathering information will gather information," Smale said. "I've seen communication in the workplace difficult.

A different perspective should be valued, not scorned, she added. Personalities dictate how people interact with others, so to be successful team work must take personalities into account.

"Personality tests are not invalid to explain the uniqueness of the individual," she said. "I like to think people are more complex than four letters (the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator gives the taker a four-letter personality type. An INTP score, for example, would indicate a quiet, reserved impersonal personality)."

William Heise, an educator with the Schoolcraft College business development office in Livonia, said even though there is less fanaticism about personality tests today, there are still some who use them incorrectly.

Companies that give the tests to employees and then never share the results are defeating the purpose for which the tests are intended. The first use of personality tests is to help people examine themselves, Heise said.

Using personality tests as a screening tool to ferret out what an employer considers to be undesirable personality types is unconscionable. "It's unethical to use this as a screening test."

Testing reveals best strategy: Vive la difference!

Not only is it unethical, but it is probably unwise. Employers who hire only certain types of personalities — because they feel certain types are better than others or are trying to avoid conflict — are assuming conflict is a bad thing.

On the contrary, Heise said, conflicting opinions and methods can be used as a tool to arrive at the best solution.

"Personality differences are a gift," he said. "Sensory people are more detail oriented; intuitive people are more possibility oriented — knowing one person looks at (problem solving) this way and another this way can help the two communicate," he said.

Personality tests help people see how they arrive at decisions, Heise said. A warmhearted, extroverted, perception-orientated person, for example, is likely to arrive at a decision differently from a quiet, reserved, impersonal person.

It's important for people to see a person's personality may guide the way in which they approach a problem, and therefore, may explain why they arrive at different conclusions, he said.

Not sharing the results of the personality test, then, is perhaps its biggest misuse, Heise said. Companies that give the test to employees and then bury the results in a file are not using the test as recommended. Instead, the test-taker should be given the results and encouraged to share those results with others. "The trainer should make that clear to people."

"The more alike the personalities, the less conflict you are likely to have," he said. "But you're not as likely to grow, either."

Andersen Consulting's Smale said personality testing is helpful in team building, but is by no means the only tool.

By analogy, personality tests are like a hammer used in building. "You have to have tools to build a house.

You don't say I'm going to build this house with a hammer (and only a hammer).

"A hammer can't cut wood very well.

Ruling the game

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Writer

It's a clear day. You've just completed the best front nine of your life and now the green is open for number 10, a dogleg right, just under 400 yards.

Lining up your tee shot, the driver feels like an extension of your arms. Wham! The ball arches high into the air, heading straight for the green, bouncing and rolling 265 yards if it's an inch.

Then it happens.

For some reason, known only to the golf Gods, your ball takes a wicked hop and lands on the cart path to the right of the fairway. No problem, you just kick the ball, stand on the cart path and play your next shot, right?

"You can't stand on the cart path," said Jeff Rivard, executive director of the Golf Association of Michigan. "You get complete relief. The ball and your stance must be off the path."

According to Rivard and area club professionals, shots played from cart paths are just one of many golf rules that are altered or ignored by beginners and advanced players alike. While ignoring some of golf's rules may seem innocent enough, they say it can have a negative impact on your game.

One common example of ignoring the rules is moving the ball from where it lands. Bob Kuhn, club professional at Mission Hills in Plymouth Township, said in many of his course's leagues, "winter rules" are used, which allows a ball to be moved within a one-foot radius of where it landed.

"Under normal or natural play, it takes the heart out of the game," he said.

Kuhn listed several other rules that are overlooked.

"Putting with the pin in," he said. "If you are putting on the green with the pin and you hit it, it's a two-stroke penalty."

The club professional had another warning for putters. Kuhn said hitting someone's ball on the green is a one-stroke penalty.

"These are things you have to watch out for," he said.

Rivard, who conducts various rule clinics around the state, said the most commonly broken rules vary with each course. The rules governing out-of-bounds or water play, for example, are ignored to the degree a course features them.

"To a certain extent, the problems golfers have are related to the course," he said.

Kuhn agreed. He said golfers at his course, which has several holes with water, ground their clubs in hazard areas.

"You can't ground your club in the hazard," Kuhn said. "It has to be treated like a sandtrap (where you can't ground your club either)."

Jim Phelps, professional at Salem Hills, said most courses have their own rules regarding water or out-of-bounds play. He said the rules are changed, generally, to speed play.

Even though courses alter the rules, Phelps said many golfers will ignore them anyway.

"On a weekend, they kind of make it up among themselves," he said.

John Koch, professional at Brooklane in Northville, disagreed with Kuhn, saying that altering the rules somewhat can actually provide more enjoyment for a non-competitive golfer. He said moving a golf ball to a better lie wouldn't hurt.

"Make it easy to hit," he said. "You are there to enjoy yourself. Most of the rules are set for people that are playing competitive golf."

Koch, however, did agree with the other professionals that golf's rules of etiquette should be followed. He said common

A rule violation. The club may not be in contact with the sand prior to a shot from a bunker courtesy goes a long way toward making sure everyone has an enjoyable round, not just yourself.

"The main thing that irritates us is not following etiquette," Koch said.

Replacing divots, fixing ball marks and keeping a steady pace of play are rules that every golfer should keep in mind, he said.

"Slow play is getting ridiculous," Koch said. "If you are ready to hit, hit. As long as you aren't going to endanger someone, go ahead and hit."

Kuhn also emphasized the need for a steady pace. He said, for example, golfers should go to their own ball after teeing off instead of going to their partner's ball.

Phelps said another etiquette mistake is to park your cart too close to the green. He said even though it sounds simple, many golfers do it and also don't consider the people they are playing with or others.

"Etiquette is basically common sense and courtesy," Phelps said. "That's how the rules of the game were made, too."

TEN MILE HIGH

Development of golf courses along Ten Mile Road corridor banks on future

By Thomas M. Varcie
Staff Writer

A few years ago the National Golf Foundation's message was simple: To keep up with the public's demand, one new golf course must be opened a day until the year 2000.

Apparently word of that got to Lyon Township early. Ed Hock, owner of Hock Acres at 54322 Ten Mile Road, opened his golf range 13 years ago, well before the golf foundation made its announcement.

But today things are different. Four golf courses—three of which are public—now sit just a chip and putt away from each other in the same land where Hock set up shop.

Lyon Township—particularly Ten Mile Road—has been dubbed as the hot west Oakland County corridor. To many, it is Golfland, U.S.A.

At the same time Hock built his range, Godwin Glen Golf Course, now the private Walnut Creek Country Club, was already open on Johns Road.

Since then, other courses like Pebble

Creek, Tanglewood's "The Lion" and Cattails have popped up.

Pebble Creek, at 24095 Currie Road, under pressure from the weight of golfers, has added another nine holes and doubled its yardage. Now with 18 holes, the course sports 6,272 yards from the blue tees.

George Fritz, Pebble Creek clubhouse worker, said the back nine is tougher and more challenging than the front nine—especially holes 10 and 18, but that's all he'd say.

Fritz said the course needed expansion because of the tremendous number of golfers visiting the course in past years. This year should be no exception. He expects it to be busier than ever because of the extra nine holes.

A chip shot to the right is the new Tanglewood Golf Community, which features the county's newest course, The Lion.

Located at 53503 W. Ten Mile Road, the course sports almost 7,000 yards and 18 holes. Another nine is expected to be built next summer.

"It's a public course, but it has all the amenities of a private course," said Tanglewood developer Bob Freund.

Freund said he thinks it was only the "right thing to do" when Freund Associates decided to build another golf course in the community.

"We had a course off Beck Road a few miles from here close down," Freund said. "Godwin Glen turned private. We said, 'People need a new course. They need something like Tanglewood.' It's a growing community and we figured there was an opportunity out there."

It was the growing community that inspired PGA Professional John Williams, formerly the pro at Orchard Lake Country Club, to build Cattails, a course slated for a July 1 opening.

Cattails, at 57737 W. Nine Mile Road, is an 18-hole, 6,600-yard course, combining the elements of the land, including the many cattails, with natural ponds, woodlands and rolling terrain, according to Doug Palm, Cattails course superintendent.

"We felt there was a need in the area for another golf course," Palm said. "We felt we had a nice piece of property and it would be great for a golf course."

Cattails sits on 160 acres, of which 40 acres are wetlands.

Palm said despite the July 1 scheduled opening, several golf outings already have been booked. If that's any indication, he said the turf of Cattails will be seeing a lot of golf cleats.

And just up the highway, on 10 Mile Road between Beck and Napier Roads in the western part of the City of Novi, sits another jewel in the corridor golf crown.

The Links of Novi consists of 27 holes, designed by Jerry Matthews, the busiest course architect in Michigan, whose recent work (Timber Ridge in East Lansing and the Lake course at Michaywe in Gaylord) has been judged some of the best in the country.

The first nine is scheduled to open in May, the second nine at the end of June, and the third in later on this fall. Tom Sheldon, the former head professional at Heather Highlands in Holly, is the new club pro.

It's Hammer time on the links

Two area men are hoping their version of "Hammer" time catches on big in the world of golf.

Mike Calderone of Brighton and Greg Thaens of South Lyon are marketing a compact and portable home gym exercise device called The Hammer, which provides 15 workout positions designed specifically for the golfer and an additional 15 positions for general fitness conditioning.

Calderone, a former body builder and health club manager, initially designed The Hammer in 1979 for his own use and teamed with Thaens, an insurance executive, in late 1988 to market it as an at-home exercise gym.

Last year, the two decided to target the golf market and received a boost in that direction when Tom Platz, a former Mr. Universe, and Jeff Boiesneau, a former PGA Tour caddy and now a professional golfer himself, designed a golf-specific exercise regimen for The Hammer and then featured the machine on the "Fitness Tips" segment of the nationally syndicated Inside Golf television show.

Since then, Michigan-bred PGA Tour player Ed Humenik and national long-drive champion Art Sellinger have used The Hammer to help their games, Calderone said.

While many PGA Tour players recognize the value of physical fitness, Thaens and Calderone said they hope to overcome a reluctance by average golfers to exercise as a way to improve their game.

Thaens said The Hammer's benefits for the golfer "include an improved grip, added strength and power in your turn, consistency in setting the club at the top of your

backswing and increased power off the tee."

Adds Calderone: "The Hammer isn't designed to cause mass size changes, but, rather, to transfer fat into lean muscle tissue for greater strength and power off the tee."

The Hammer's golf-specific regimen includes exercises for the legs, back, abdomen and arms, including the wrists and forearms.

Thaens himself has seen what The Hammer can do for general fitness conditioning. A year ago, he weighed 196 pounds and had a 36-inch waist. He said he put himself on a low-fat diet and started working out on The Hammer three times a week. Today, he's down to a lean and muscular 166 pounds and has a 30-inch waist.

Calderone and Thaens say The Hammer design is unique because the way it utilizes leverage "to provide peak resistance throughout the exerciser's complete range of motion."

The term "peak resistance" means that The Hammer positions weight plates down and away from the body on a cantilever that moves only where the pull of gravity is greatest, Calderone said. Adds Thaens:

"What The Hammer does is eliminate much of the wasted motion you experience maneuvering weights up and down, in and out of the area where resistance is greatest and most beneficial. With our machine, you can perform more than 30 exercise positions while the cantilever, which carries the weight load, moves only in the range of peak resistance."

Calderone and Thaens say because of the "peak resistance" feature, The Hammer provides better results in less time and with less repetitions than any other exercise machine on the market at this time.

"The machine provides an intense workout, and you'll notice results in a shorter period of time," Calderone said. "You'll gain strength and feel better about yourself physically."

Because of The Hammer's peak resistance feature, Thaens said less weight is required to achieve results. In fact, he said that only a total of 50 pounds of weight plates are needed for the machine, and that users will have to start with a small amount of weight and build up to using 50 pounds.

Does The Hammer work?

"We get a lot of telephone calls and testimonials from people happy with The Hammer," Thaens said. "We got a call from a 60-year-old man who had used The Hammer for six months and added 15 yards on his drives."

Calderone and Thaens are marketing The Hammer nationally and are working on a deal to sell the exercise gym in Japan as well. It is produced at a plant in Ft. Wayne, Ind., and is marketed through Vital Form Inc., a company owned by the two men in South Lyon. The Hammer costs $495. For more information, call toll-free 1-800-878-0745.

36 new holes slated for Livingston County

By Buddy Moorehouse
Editor

If all goes as planned, Livingston County's golf community will grow by 36 holes in the next year.

Three courses in the county are expected to open or expand in the coming months, giving area golfers even more options.

Two courses—the Honors Course at the Oak Pointe Golf Club in Brighton, and the Ironwood Golf Club in Howell—are planning to add nine holes in late 1991 or early 1992. Another brand-new course, Whispering Pines in Hamburg Township, will be open for business by early summer.

Here's a look at the three courses:

OAK POINTE HONORS COURSE

The long-awaited opening of the second nine holes at the Honors Course will hopefully take place this year, said Oak Pointe's Jim Dewling.

That depends, however, on a number of factors.

"We're about 60 percent complete on the second nine holes, and we hope to get back in there and finish up this year," Dewling said. "Unfortunately, though, this project is not totally golf-driven."

Dewling said that more house lots surrounding the second nine holes need to be sold before work on the course can continue. The first nine holes at Oak Pointe—a housing and golf community—are surrounded by high-priced homes and condominiums.

"We need to sell some more single-family lots before the work can continue," Dewling said. "The lots over there haven't sold as fast as we would have liked, but hopefully, that will change."

Dewling said all the rough grading work has been done. "We've spent a lot of time detail-wise," he said. "We also have all our permits in place. We're ready to go."

When it's completed, the Honors Course promises to be a showcase layout, worthy of hosting any tournament in the state, Dewling has said.

IRONWOOD

Livingston County will be losing its only true nine-hole course soon, when Ironwood becomes an 18-hole layout.

The course, located on M-59 between Howell and Hartland, is adding nine holes west and south of the current layout. When the nine holes are ready, some existing holes will be re-routed and changed. The course will measure over 6,000 yards.

The owners hope to open the new nine holes by this fall or next spring at the latest.

"If I can get planted by the middle of June we might be able to open in the fall," said Neil Pardun, whose family owns the course. "For sure, though, we'll be ready to go by next spring." Pardun said the primarily flat course is being toughened up by having several holes cut through narrow, wooded fairways. "It's going to be a beautiful course," he said. "Three of the holes are going to cut through the woods, so it should be a challenge to play."

He added that many of Ironwood's regulars are excited about having another nine holes to play.

"Everybody's pretty happy about it," Pardun said. "We get a lot of people here who only like to play nine holes—a lot of older people. At least now, they won't have to play the same nine holes all the time."

WHISPERING PINES

The area's newest course is this tough, gorgeous layout located just east of Pinckney High School on M-36 and McGregor Road. Developed by Donald Moon, Whispering Pines will be a housing/golf project featuring an 18-hole, 6,800-yard course that snakes through an evergreen jungle.

According to Deborah Moon of the development team, the first nine holes on the course should be ready to go by June.

"We're hoping to be open by the middle of June, with a grand opening on the Fourth of July," she said. "Nothing is official yet, though."

Moon said the first nine holes were seeded last year. Seven of the nine holes on the second nine have also been seeded. The other two holes will be seeded soon, she said, meaning the second nine might be open by this fall.

Great Lakes Amateur Tour provides eight dates for qualifiers

By Ben Hanneman

It was born two years ago as the result of a discussion between South Lyon resident Rob Naudi and his brother, Dean, two guys sitting around talking about what they could do to start their own business project.

Since then, the Great Lakes Amateur Tour has gotten so big that the 38-year-old Rob and his 36-year-old brother, a Whitmore Lake resident, hardly have time for talking any more.

But after listening to them, it's obvious they wouldn't have it any other way.

"We're excited about it," said Rob Naudi, a marketing officer by trade. "It's the beginning of a dream come true for us. It's certainly grown bigger than we'd hoped and we'd like to see it take off."

Patterned after the PGA Tour, the Great Lakes Amateur Tour provides golfers who qualify with an eight-tournament schedule, running from June to October.

This year's GLAT has expanded to include sectional play in Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo, in addition to the West Metro Detroit and Northeast Metro Detroit sections that were part of last year's inaugural season.

In the western metropolitan region, which includes the South Lyon and Milford areas, golfers who qualify will have an opportunity to play in GLAT tournaments at Dunham Hills, Golden Fox, Tanglewood, Shenandoah, Faulkwood Shores, Salem Hills, the University of Michigan Blue and Oak Pointe golf courses beginning Sunday, June 9.

Golfers who want to play the GLAT summer schedule must go to "Q" (qualifying) School, just like on the PGA Tour. The GLAT's 36-hole qualifying schools are scheduled May 18-19 and June 1-2. Players must have an established handicap or a verifiable league average before attempting to qualify.

Participants in this year's tournament will be divided into four handicap divisions, ranging from 0-6 to 15 and over.

Last year, 260 golfers out of about 650 participants—from as far away as Ohio, Canada, Cadillac, Flint and Port Huron—qualified for the weekend tournament schedule. This year, Naudi expects about 1,200 golfers to try to qualify.

Winners from a year ago were Jerry Keilch in the 0-5 handicap division, Gary Rymiszewski in the 6-9 handicap division, Pat Cenker in the 10-13 division and Jay Zornow in the 14-and-over category. A year ago, only six women attempted to qualify for the tour. Two of them, Naudi said, missed qualifying by one stroke.

"Women qualify the same way men do, except that they play from the women's tees," Naudi said. "Hopefully, we can get some out there this year."

Entry fees to compete in "Q" school are $60, plus a $30 deposit toward greens fees for the 36 holes.

Those who qualify for the GLAT summer schedule will be charged $20 per round plus greens fees, which range anywhere from $15 to $30 depending on the course, for each tournament.

Top finishers in the tournaments receive gift certificates redeemable for discounts at the tour's sponsors, including Ram Golf, Total Golf, Foot-Joy and the Grand Traverse Resort.

At the conclusion of this year's tournament schedule, the top five golfers in each handicap division from the four sections will play in the first-ever Great Lakes Amateur Tournament of Champions at Timber Ridge and Highland Hills golf courses in the Lansing area.

The Naudis' goals for the GLAT are simple:

"There are a lot of scratch golfers out there and we want to give them a chance to compete with players of their own ability," Rob Naudi said.

A dozen tips for an early 18 from the pros

Name: Chip Koehlke
Course: Walnut Creek Country Club, South Lyon
Background: Graduate of Ferris State University's professional golf management program, 1985;

Assistant Pro, Columbia Country Club, Chevy Chase, Md., 1986-87; Assistant Pro, Country Club of Jackson, 1987-88; Assistant Pro, Detroit Golf Club, 1989-90; Head Pro at Walnut Creek Country Club, 1991 to present.

Early Season Tip: "The bottom line to improving your golf game, regardless of your skill level, ability, experience or handicap, is learning. You must seek information to gain knowledge. Develop skills to apply knowledge and nurture the process with a positive mental attitude. You can do it."

"It is a scientific fact that anyone can replace a habit with a new habit. All it takes is 60 repetitions a day for 21 days in a row. Old dogs can learn new tricks."

"Total player development comes equally divided into four areas: ball-striking skills, short game, mental game and course management. We must strive to develop all four areas of our game. We intend on maximizing our improvement. There's more to it than just a good swing."

Name: John Keel
Course: Brooklane Golf Club, Northville.
Background: Attended Allegheny College; Course professional, New Castle Country Club in New Castle, Penn., 1965-68; Course professional, Brooklane Golf Club, 1969-present.

Early Season Tip: "Most people are in a hurry with their swing. They are just too anxious to tee it up. I tell them to keep comfortable and slow it down."

"The main reason most people don't hit the ball solid is they tend to raise their right foot too quickly."

"It's not the number of balls you hit, but how well you execute the swing. I always say it's quality, not quantity."

Name: Andy Soley
Course: Meadowbrook Country Club, Northville.
Background: Graduate, Ball State University; Qualified for Buick Open in 1986; Club professional, Meadowbrook Country Club, 1986-present.

Early Season Tip: "Putting is 43 percent of your game, so basically you should spend anywhere from 40-50 percent of your practice time on the short game: putting, chipping and pitching."

"Working on your short game — like chipping and pitching — helps your get your feel back for the game after the long winter layoff. That's why I recommend you work on these parts of the game a little extra."

"That short game can sure save you a lot of strokes, especially early in the season."

Name: Bob Floyd
Course: Dunham Hills Golf and Country Club, Hartland
Background: Head Pro, Pine Valley Golf Club, Romeo, 1981-82; Teaching Pro, Sunnybrook Golf Course, Sterling Heights, 1983; Assistant Pro, Hillcrest Country Club, Mt. Clemens, 1984-85; Assistant Pro, Western Golf and Country Club, Redford, 1986; Head Pro, Valley View Golf Club, Shepherd, 1987-88; Head Pro, Dunham Hills, 1989-present.

Early Season Tip: "The common mistake I see is that everyone is going out to practice with a driver or long clubs. If you want to improve your score and have fun doing so, I suggest that you work on the short game (chipping and putting)."

"This is the part of the game that we most ignore because it's boring. I know, everyone would rather drive the ball off the tee. It's the first thing they seem to want to do."

"Remember that an improved short game will likely lead to an improved score. And if you have any problems, make sure you see your PGA professional."

Name: Jim Grant
Course: Marion Oaks Golf Course
Background: Attended Michigan State University; earned PGA Card in 1982; won the Michigan PGA Scramble

Tournament in 1986 with three other pros; Head Pro, Godwin Glen Country Club, 1983-87; Head Pro, Salem Hills, 1987-90; Head Pro, Marion Oaks, 1991-present.

Early Season Tip: "A lot of golfers are definitely not the most outstanding physical specimens. And especially at the beginning of the season, many are way out of shape."

"Golf is a little more physically demanding than some might think. The shoulder muscles and leg muscles are the main muscles used, and at the start of the season a lot of golfers aren't used to working them. Exercises such as walking, swimming and stretching are very good things to do to prepare for the season. Even hitting into the nets during the off-season is a good thing because it's better than doing nothing. As the golf year goes on, people's games usually get better because they get used to swinging the club. If you can begin the season already having practiced your swing a lot, you should be ahead of the game."

Name: Denis Husse
Course: Tyrone Hills Golf Course, Fenton
Background: Assistant Pro,

Sylvania Country Club, Sylvania, Ohio; Assistant Pro, Washtenaw Country Club, Ypsilanti; Head Pro, Tyrone Hills, 1976-present.

Early Season Tip: "Try to eliminate tension in the hands and the forearms. I see that a lot of people just grip their clubs too tightly and because of that it causes the swing to get too jerky. When you grip the club that tightly, it also eliminates a lot of clubhead speed. Especially in the beginning of the season, what you want to do is have a soft and relaxed feeling in the grip and don't feel like you have to hold the club tightly. For a lot of people that grip the club too tightly, the condition worsens as the year goes on. You don't want to make a habit of it, so start the year with a relaxed grip."

Name: Doug Manaker
Course: Oak Pointe Country Club, Brighton
Background: Brighton High graduate, 1985; University of Michigan graduate, 1989

Early Season Tip: "Most golfers know that they need to improve their games. Unfortunately, many golfers practice incorrectly. They make the common mistake of always using the same club or clubs. Instead of using your 5-iron, 9-iron or driver every time you hit practice balls, vary your club choice. Choose half of your clubs to work with on one day and use the rest of your set the next time you practice. By varying your club choice in two days, you can work with all your clubs. Too many golfers fear hitting a certain club in their bag, most often because they do not hit the club regularly."

Name: Eric Martin
Course: Dama Golf Club, Howell
Background: Michigan State University graduate, 1982; Assistant Pro, Currie Municipal Golf Course, Midland, 1987; Assistant Pro, Chemung Hills Country Club, 1988-90; Head Pro, Dama G.C., 1991-present.

Early Season Tip: "Before attempting to get on the course, loosening up on the driving range will allow for a much easier flow and it will help get your swing grooved again."

"I prefer to see people start with a 5- or 7-iron before using the longer clubs because the irons take a shorter swing and you won't risk pulling a muscle like with a driver when you take a full swing. Once you swing the shorter clubs then gradually work your way up to the longer ones."

Name: Bob Percey
Course: Chemung Hills Country Club, Howell
Background: Central Michigan University golf team, four-year letterwinner;

Assistant Pro, Wabek Country Club, West Bloomfield, 1977-80; Head Pro, Chemung Hills, 1981-present.

Early Season Tip: "I like to start people off on putting whenever I give a lesson. So I recommend people, especially early in the season, to get out their putters and do some putting from 10 feet and under. It not only helps you hit the ball solidly, but also helps you gain confidence in your putting. Too many people go out to the green and try to sink 30-footers. Then they get discouraged when the ball goes 20 feet past the hole."

"The purpose of practicing your putting is to review and revamp what you have already learned and it helps you get acclimated to the game again."

"Besides putting balls from 10 feet and under, also practice by placing several balls in a circle around the hole and hitting those in from a short distance."

"Start out with the shorter game—putting and chipping—and gradually move up to the longer shots."

Name: Bill Perry
Course: Lake-lands Golf & Country Club, Hamburg Township
Background: Ferris State

University graduate, 1985; Pro, Laurel Valley Golf Course, Pennsylvania, 1985-88; Pro, Baltusrol Golf Course, New Jersey, 1988-90; Pro, Orchard Lake Country Club, 1990; Head Pro, Lakelands, 1991-present.

Early Season Tip: "Unfortunately, a lot of golfers don't stretch and stay loose over the winter months, so when it comes time to hit the course, they're not in the best shape in the world. But more and more, I think stretching is becoming a very important part of the game, especially during the pre-season. You see a lot of pros now that have their own stretching specialists so I think others should also go through some type of stretching routine."

"The guy that does 10-15 minutes of stretching before he tees off is going to be far ahead of the guy that jumps out of his car, grabs his clubs and heads for the first tee."

"Stretching your bigger muscles, especially in the legs, back and shoulder, is especially useful. That's where you get your power from.

"Stretches such as holding a club behind your back with both hands and twisting your torso are effective, along with toe touches and hand and arm exercises."

Name: Dave Smith
Course: Faulkwood Shores Golf Course, Howell
Background: Purdue University graduate, 1989; two-year Purdue golf team MVP; member of United States Golf Tour; Head Pro, Faulkwood Shores, 1991-present.

Early Season Tip: "Spring is here and everyone is excited about the new season. Remember, the golf muscles have not been used in quite a while, so be sure to stretch out well and start slow. The first time out it would be a good idea to visit the range to warm up."

"Spring is also a good time to work on something new. Golfers generally have a problem pitching the ball. Many golfers try to lift the ball into the air with their hands instead of letting the loft of the club put the ball into the air. Pitching the ball correctly starts in the setup. The proper stance to pitch the ball is an open stance, aiming to the left of your intended target. Your weight should be about 70 percent on your left foot (opposite for left-handers). The ball should be played from the center of your stance. This setup makes it easier to pitch the ball into the air. The swing should be controlled with the left arm and hand. The important part of the pitch shot is to hit the ball with a descending blow. Hitting down on the back of the ball makes the ball lift into the air. The important part of pitching the ball is to let the club put the ball in the air and not to try to force the ball in the air."

Name: Jim Phelps
Course: Salem Hills Golf Club, Northville
Background: Graduate of Ferris State University's professional golf management program, 1987;

Assistant Pro, Imperial Golf Club, Napels, Fla., 1987-88; Head Assistant Pro, River Forest Country Club, Elmhurst, Ill., 1988-1990; Head Pro, Salem Hills, March 1991 to present.

Early Season Tip: "Establishing tempo and avoiding muscle strain are two of the key factors in starting off a successful golf season. Take one extra club, swing smoothly and under control. Mentally picture your desired results. Take one deep breath, feel completely relaxed and let it go."

"These are the three simple steps to increased golfing enjoyment. Remember, it's only a game. Happy swinging."

Green fees still green during '91 recession

By Buddy Moorehouse
Editor

When the economy turns sour—like it is now—people stop doing a lot of things. They stop taking vacations, they stop buying houses and they stop changing jobs.

They don't, however, stop golfing.

"For the most part, we have found that golf takes the position of being recession-proof," said Jim Dewling of the Oak Pointe Golf Club in Brighton. "We had our best year ever last year, and we expect to top that this year."

Indeed, most golf pros will tell you that the Recession of 1991 is not expected to hurt business. If anything, people might even end up golfing more this year.

"What happens is that people normally budget $2,000 or $3,000 to take a vacation, and then a recession hits," said Bob Percey, the head pro at the Chemung Hills Country Club in Howell. "So instead of spending that much on a vacation, they'll stay home and spend maybe half that much golfing."

"They already have their membership, so they figure they might as well take their vacation on the golf course."

Percey said that golf might also help people release tension and stress they might be feeling as a result of tough economic times. "Golf is the tension-releaser for a lot of people," he said.

But whereas area golf pros don't expect the recession to put a dent in tee times, it could hurt other aspects of the sport.

"If anything gets hurt, it's the charity outings," said Dewling, whose course hosts quite a few of those events. "We're seeing that now in the committee meetings for these outings. There's a deep concern over their ability to sell enough tickets."

Dewling said he's expecting numerous corporations will be dropping sponsorship of foursomes in charity outings this year.

"You might have an outing that had 150 foursomes in 1989, and they might only have 120 this year," he said. "You'll see corporations who used to sponsor a foursome pulling out this year."

Percey also said that sales of golf equipment and clothing will probably suffer this year.

"I might do $5,000 or $10,000 less in my pro shop than last year," he said. "I'm expecting to see the recession hit the shop, and the sad part for golf pros is that we have to do all of our buying back in October or November. So we might be stuck with a lot of stuff this year."

Got a deck that needs some TLC?

Try this test to see if your existing deck needs protection from the elements. Splash some water on the surface (a glass full is enough). If the water is absorbed, turning the wood dark, your deck is vulnerable and needs to be treated with a sealer.

Want to keep your new deck in shape?

Pressure treated decking is protected against damage from wood-boring insects and rot, but not water damage. Water that soaks into the wood will cause it to expand and warp, then crack and split as the water dries up. Let your new treated wood deck 'season' for 30 days before water-proofing it.

Get started today!

- Sweep away dust and dirt
 - Get rid of any mold or mildew by scrubbing with a solution of one cup each trisodium phosphate and bleach in a gallon of warm water.
 - Let the deck dry for 2 days
 - Apply stain and/or sealer
- Sit back and enjoy the beauty!

Everything tastes better when you cook it outdoors!

We want to share our favorite hints for successful cook-outs:

- Charcoal that's covered with white ash is ready to use. Those pieces that aren't covered with ash are still igniting themselves.
- Keep 2 pair of tongs handy — one for the food, another to arrange coal or wood chips.
- Oil racks lightly to season them and keep food from sticking.
- Grill vegetables on skewers or wrapped in heavy foil. They'll be tender and have a delightful smokey flavor.
- Clean racks of food build up by soaking them in a large bag with several cups of ammonia for several hours. Remove and spray off deposits with a hose.

Which type of grill is best for you?

Most square grills have adjustable rack heights and the convenience of a hinged lid, while the round kettle type gives more even heat and better heat control. Get a gas or electric grill if you prefer the most precise cooking control available.

How do you know where to locate the sprinklers?

You'll need a scale drawing of the area you're watering to be sure that sprinkler patterns overlap to give you the full coverage you want. Using a pencil compass, sketch in the heads and coverage areas:

- MAIN AREAS-locate full circle heads centrally, half circle heads along the sides, and quarter circle heads in corners
- NARROW AREAS-combine side strip, end strip, and center strip heads
- SHRUBS AND FLOWER BEDS-use shrub heads or bubblers to soak these areas

Make your windows into money savers

What's inside your windows can have a large effect on how much it costs to cool your home. Check the list below to see how you can improve the efficiency of your windows.

BLINDS— are fairly effective reflectors, and have the extra benefit of being adjustable to let in more or less light

DRAPERIES— are effective reflectors when backed with light colored linings. They offer better insulation than blinds, and are even more effective if the linings fit inside the window casings

WINDOW SHADES— are excellent reflectors and offer good insulation if they fit inside the window casings

What makes low voltage lights safe for outdoor use?

The average low-voltage system operates on a trickle of only 6 to 12 volts of electricity. You just plug the transformer into a standard 120 volt outlet, and it modifies the current for you.

It's a very versatile way to accent your landscape.

Since there's little shock hazard, you can leave the cable on the surface, which makes it very easy to move the lights around. You can use them to accent different areas at different seasons with very little effort. Of course, if you prefer you can bury the cable a few inches deep to keep it out of sight.

You'll also find a complete line of permanent lights in our selection!

Do you know your BTU's?

A BTU (British thermal unit) is the amount of heat needed to raise the temperature of one pound of water one degree Fahrenheit. When used to express the capacity of an air conditioner, it tells you how much heat the unit can extract from the air.

How many BTU's do you need?

A unit's capacity should be roughly equal to the heat gain of the room(s) you are cooling. You can estimate the number of BTU's needed by starting with 6,000 for the first room and adding 3,500 to 5,000 BTU for each additional room
