Non-union city staff get pay hike

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The Northville City Council on Monday approved a 4.5-percent salary increase for all non-union employees for the 1990 / 1991 fiscal year, based on a recommendation from the city's personnel committee.

Non-union employees typically include department heads and other administrative personnel.

The raise, which is retroactive to June 1, 1990, increases the salary for the city manager to $63,305, the public works superintendent to $51,905, the building inspector to $44,515, the city clerk to $37,040, and the finance director to $37,040. The non-union raises are usually delayed until union negotiations for that year are completed.

Administrative personnel had received a 6-percent salary increase for the 1989 / 1990 fiscal year, with some employees including City Manager Steven Walters, Public Works Superintendent Ted Mapes and Deputy City Clerk Tonni Burns receiving larger raises based on merit and achievements the previous year.

The non-union raise applies to all non-union employees except City Assessor Mark Christiansen, who is halfway through a two-year renewable contract with the city. Christiansen's current $38,000 salary will rise to $40,000 June 1 under his contract.

The council also approved an increased salary rate for Christiansen when he becomes acting city manager May 25. Current Manager Steven Walters leaves the city May 24 and will take over as Plymouth city manager June 1.

As acting city manager, Christiansen will earn an annual salary of $44,096. But because the city council plans to fill the manager position soon and has already completed the first round of interviews of the final candidates (see related story), Christiansen will only earn the in-

Refuse plan causes squawk

By STEVE KELLMAN

Several residents raised objections to the city's plan to directly charge for curbside trash collection at a public hearing Monday.

Some of the protesters seemed to accept the city council's explanation that they were left with little alternative due to rising landfill costs and declining state aid, but none were happy with the end result.

City Manager Steven Walters, attending his last council meeting as a Northville official, explained the city's position before the meeting was opened up to comments from the audience. "When the general fund was presented to the city in the spring, there was a $300,000 deficit at current millage rates," he said.

The council erased that deficit through "the elimination of a large number of expenditures in the general fund, the most significant of which was the removal of refuse collection as a millage-based service," he said. The removal allowed the city to return half the money saved to residents in the form of a millage reduction and fund a $150,000 budget stabilization fund, a move urged by city auditors Plante & Moran and financial consultants at Manufacturers National Bank.

Council Member Carolann Ayers told the audience that the final budget was the result of careful scrutiny. "We had five study sessions with

Improving Mill Race

Hordes of volunteers gathered at Mill Race Historical Village on Saturday morning for the annual clean-up, which this year also included a planting bee. The planting project will eventually make a tremendous difference in the appearance of the village. Above, Tonya Fautot pulls some weeds. Right, Bruce Wightman gives the new plants a drink. ## Man mugged; patient sought

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Terrance Jenkins' two-day stint as a Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital patient apparently convinced him to seek less confining accommodations.

A 72-year-old Northville man just wanted to drop off some mail at a box outside Perry Drugs in the Northville Plaza Mall.

When their paths crossed, Jenkins set a course for freedom; the Northville man was sent to Botsford

General Hospital.

Township police allege that Jenkins, 27, of Detroit, walked away from the state hospital May 9, knocked the Northville man to the ground outside Perry Drugs and stole his 1983 Ford Fairmont.

The Northville man suffered head injuries during the scuffle and was briefly hospitalized.

Jenkins and the vehicle were still being sought by township and Detroit police at press time Tuesday.

The six-foot, 190-pound Jenkins was admitted to Northville Regional Hospital May 7 after he reportedly walked away from a Detroit-area foster care home.

Hospital security told township police that Jenkins was "known to be assaultive and combative," traits he allegedly displayed just before 7 p.m. last Thursday.

Walter Brown, director of Northville Regional Hospital, blamed the incident on a hospital security lapse.

"Standards we have for newly admitted patients were not observed,"

Hospital ousts monitoring group

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

One side called it a "pilot program" that should have been canceled three years ago.

The other side said it is "concerned" that a volunteer group is no longer wanted.

Both sides agree that a site visitation group will no longer monitor activities at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital.

The 40-member, volunteer site-visitation group — a five-year-old organization sponsored by the state hospital Citizens Advisory Group and hospital administration — was terminated April 30 by hospital Director Walter Brown.

Brown said the group's working agreement was canceled because its efforts duplicated measures already handled by hospital administrators.

Council sees final candidate

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The city council interviewed the last of seven candidates for Northville's new city manager Tuesday night.

An eighth candidate, also scheduled to be interviewed Tuesday night, withdrew from the race.

Gary Word, the final candidate, is city administrator of South St. Paul, Minn. The six finalists interviewed last week currently or most recently served as administrators in the Michigan cities of Lake Orion, Belleville, South Lyon, Huntington Woods, Springfield and Grand Ledge.

The candidates were drawn from a field of 95 applicants from across the country, with resumes being sent from as far as Alaska, California, Massachusetts and Texas.

The new manager will replace 17-year veteran Steven Walters, who agreed in February to become Plymouth's new city manager. He plans to leave Northville May 24, and Assessor Mark Christiansen has been appointed acting city manager until a replacement is selected.

The new manager is being offered a negotiable salary between $50,000 and $80,000 annually. The council is seeking a person with a master's degree in public administration, at least five years' experience in general management, "and proven leadership in financial management, labor relations, planning and community development."

Gary L. Word, 40
City Administrator, South St. Paul, Minn.
Population 21,000

Word listed 14 years of urban management experience and 10 years of experience as a chief administrative officer on his application. "I have experience with most every aspect of municipal administration in full-service and suburban communities," he wrote, "including program development and implementation, government operations, economic and community development and redevelopment, utilities, personnel, capital improvements, and supervisory responsibility."

Word told the city council that Northville's image is what attracted him to the city. "It has a unique identity in an urban area," he said. "You have a reputation for good professional management and professional government, and that's what I'm looking for."

Word said he practices a participatory management style. "I believe in an open-door policy," he said. "I do, however, believe in accountability; I believe in hiring good people to do the job."

In order to keep his staff informed, Word said he typically holds weekly department head and staff briefings after city council meetings. "I use it as an educational tool, too," he said. "It also gives department heads an opportunity to bounce problems off me."

City council members seemed as interested in Word's last job, as city manager of Three Rivers, Mich., as they were in his current position. "Three Rivers is a conservative community; it has a proud tradition of professional management," Word said. "I think it was one of the first cities in Michigan to adopt the city manager form of government . . . in 1917."

Word had extensive experience working with the planning commission in Three Rivers, where he was required to attend all the commission's meetings. He also was involved in a Main Street renovation program while there. Historic preservation was another area of interest there, he said: "Three Rivers has the largest unbroken stretch of Victorian architecture in the State of Michigan."

In South St. Paul, Word has overseen the implementation of a county-ordered curbside recycling program, much like the one Northville is now contemplating. He is currently helping to create a historic district commission to protect structures of historical significance in the city.

State rejects township stance

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

A state licensing agency has rejected Northville Township's objection to a group home proposed for a township subdivision.

The state Department of Social Services (DSS) last week ruled out excessive concentration as a barrier to licensing an adult foster care group home at 19749 Scenic Harbour.

"The department concludes that there is no basis in the township's complaint upon which to deny issuance of a license to the applicant," wrote James Guigley, director of the DSS Adult Foster Care Licensing Division, in a letter to township Supervisor Georgina Goss.

Guigley told the township, it has 30 days to appeal the DSS decision. The township last month filed for injunctive relief in Wayne County Circuit Court to freeze the group-home licensing process.

The state has proposed moving the six adult male occupants of a group home currently located at 42777 Eight Mile Road to the Scenic Harbour site in the Highland Lakes subdivision.

Township officials last month cast a negative vote on the proposed move during an application process that allows input from affected communities.

The negative response came after an April 4 packed-house public hearing at township hall. All but one of the residents speaking at the hearing ripped the group home plan.

Officials argued that placement of a group home at 19749 Scenic Harbour constituted "excessive concentration" because a nearby family day care center falls within a 1,500-foot radius of the proposed group home.

State law prohibits location of similar state facilities within 1,500 feet.

The DSS rejected the township's complaint because it does not classify a day care center operated at a Windsor Court residence in the same arena as a group home.

"(State law) does not provide for a 1,500 foot distancing requirement between an adult foster care small group home and a family day care home," Guigley wrote.

The state's decision did not take the township by surprise.

"We expected that they would recommend approval of the license," Goss said. "We plan on continuing our court case."

"The township feels the DSS is totally wrong," Township attorney Ernest Essad called the group home situation "a very complicated issue."

"If the state loses (the court case), this could throw the whole licensing scenario out the window," he said.

Essad said the circuit court has issued a temporary restraining order and a three-week extension. He did not know if a judge would hear the state/township argument at the end of the extension or push the case back again.

Assault and battery report leads to arrest

City police arrested a 23-year-old Northville man after responding to a report of an assault and battery at a Rogers Street home May 11. Police arrested the man at 9:50 p.m. when a computer check revealed an outstanding felony warrant against him from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. The warrant had been filed after a previous charge of malicious destruction.

The man was held at the city police station until picked up by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department the next day. No charges were filed in connection with the reported assault and battery.

JACKET, TAPES STOLEN FROM CAR: A Robinwood resident told township police someone stole 10 cassette tapes and a leather jacket from a 1988 Mercury Tracer parked in the resident's driveway early May 12. The items were valued at $280.

CAR STOLEN FROM HAMPTON INN LOT: A Granger, Ind. man told township police that his 1990 Pontiac 6000 was stolen from the south-east side of the lot at Hampton Inn, 20600 Haggerty Road, late May 8 or early May 9. Also stolen was a car phone, police said. The vehicle and phone were valued at $10,300.

RECKLESS DRIVING WARRANT SOUGHT: A 17-year-old Northville woman told township police that the driver of a gray pickup with personalized plates nearly caused an accident on southbound Haggerty in the late afternoon May 9.

According to police records, the driver of the pickup would not allow other vehicles to pass. The driver reportedly swerved from lane to lane to keep other drivers behind him, police said.

The suspect then allegedly slammed on his brakes, causing two trailing vehicles to skid off the road onto a shoulder.

Police are seeking a reckless driving warrant against a 29-year-old Canton man they allege was driving the pickup.

BRIEFCASE STOLEN FROM CAR: A briefcase and gas cap reportedly were stolen from a 1990 Pontiac 6000 parked on Pickford late May 8 or early May 9. The briefcase was valued at $200.

AUTO THEFT FROM MEIJER LOT: A Southfield man told township police someone stole his 1987 Sterling 825 SL from the lot at Meijer, 20401 Haggerty, May 11 between 10:30-11 p.m. Police found no evidence at the scene.

The vehicle was valued at $8,900.

BENCH WARRANT ARREST: City police arrested a 23-year-old Northville man after stopping him for disobeying the flashing red light at Fairbrook and Rogers at 2:53 a.m. May 10. A computer check revealed an outstanding warrant — for failure to appear in court on an expired license plate violation — issued by Northville Township police. He was released on $100 bond.

CAR WINDOWS BROKEN: A vehicle parked in a Spring Drive driveway had its driver's side window broken sometime between 2-7 a.m. May 10. Damage was estimated at $120.

The rear passenger window of a car parked in a North Ely Drive driveway was broken sometime between 7 p.m. May 12 and 9 a.m. May 13. Damage in that case was estimated at $130.

FENDER BENDERS: City police reported five accidents last week.

In the first, two drivers were issued citations after their cars collided on South Main Street just south of Seven Mile at 2:50 p.m. May 9. The two — a 60-year-old Garden City woman and a 61-year-old Northville man — had been side-by-side eastbound on Seven Mile and had turned south onto Main Street when the woman turned into the man's lane and struck his car. She was cited for improper lane use and he was cited for making an improper right turn from the wrong lane.

A 51-year-old Northville man was cited for disobeying a stop sign May 10 after striking another car at Main and Rogers at 10:10 a.m. The man had been heading south on Rogers when he struck the eastbound car. The other car had to be towed from the scene.

The same day, a 36-year-old Belleville man was cited for failing to yield from a stop sign after striking another car while turning from southbound Wing east onto Cady at 2:15 p.m. The man, a Consumers Power employee, told police he was reporting to a gas leak at the MAGS building and did not see the other car.

In a more serious accident later that evening, a 21-year-old Northville woman driving west on Eight Mile struck another westbound car stopped to turn south onto Woodbend at 8:35 p.m. The impact sent the other car into the eastbound lane, where it struck an oncoming car. The woman told police she looked away from the road and when she looked back, it was too late to stop. She was cited for failing to stop within an assured clear distance ahead. The woman was taken to Providence Hospital Novi Center by Community EMS. All three cars were towed from the scene.

City police cited a 75-year-old Northville man for failing to yield after he drove into the path of another car May 11. The man cut across Eight Mile from Randolph to Taft at 5 p.m. and was struck by a westbound car on Eight Mile.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Seven Mile accident

A 27-year-old Northville man was ticketed for failure to yield for his role in a Monday afternoon accident in Northville Township. Township police said the man was attempting a left turn onto Silver Springs from Seven Mile when he was struck by a car driven by a 52-year-old Farmington Hills man. Both drivers were treated for injuries at St. Mary Hospital and later released.

HEADACHES AND YOUR TEETH

So you've had headaches for most of your adult life. You've even taken for granted and even assumed that they are a part of your normal life. Don't feel alone. Adults go on for years and years experiencing headaches on a routine basis feeling that because they are so routine, they must be normal. Often, these headache victims have seen physicians who may have diagnosed their symptoms as being caused by stress and treat it with medication or tranquilizers. Well, it's possible that your headaches may be due to an improper bite. Possibly, the place you should be for treatment is your dentist's office. These headaches are often muscle strain headaches and if the improper bite (called a malocclusion) is properly treated then the muscles of the jaw can then relax. You may be able to look forward to normal days without headaches in your future.

McDonald's plan wins approval

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

McDonald's Restaurants is expected to begin construction of its latest Haggerty Road corridor site this summer — and expects to open for business before year's end.

Township planners Monday evening approved McDonald's final site plan request for a fast-food restaurant to be located west of Haggerty Road on Six Mile.

Months of quibbling with McDonald's representatives over the controversial site plan came to an end Monday, with planners actually praising — if not jumping for joy over — the developer's proposed earth-tone brick building.

"It doesn't look like what you're used to seeing (in a McDonald's)," said commission Chairperson Charles DeLand. "It's more attractive than I expected, to be honest with you."

Architect renderings were about all that was left for commissioners to discuss after McDonald's complied with traffic study and other minor directives issued in March.

Eager to move ahead with their site adjacent to Standard Federal Bank, the fast-food giant's representatives were in a mood to please.

"We tried to make this acceptable to you," said McDonald's attorney Joe Galvin.

"We wanted to create a McDonald's that was more residential in character," added architect Fred Martin.

The new restaurant will be built in earth tones similar in style to neighboring Standard Federal Bank and a Mobil gas station. The developers agreed to install a sidewalk along their Six Mile Road frontage and to replace a registered, on-site historic tree on an inch-per-inch basis.

Anticipated traffic problems at the Six Mile/Haggerty intersection were addressed in part by reconfiguring an interior service drive. Wayne County will also review traffic after the restaurant opens to decide if road widening is necessary.

At this time, the county has no plans to widen Six Mile to accommodate McDonald's-inspired traffic.

Galvin said McDonald's will attempt to break ground soon, but he did not "have a precise date" for opening the new store.

Planners approved the final site plan request 8-0.

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE IN ACCORDANCE WITH PROVISIONS OF P.A., 1978, NO. 368, SECTION 12756, TO PROVIDE FOR THE ALLOWANCE OF FULL OR PARTIAL DEFERRMENT OF CERTAIN WATER AND/OR SEWER SPECIAL ASSESSMENT COSTS, WHERE HARDSHIP PREVENTS PERSONS FROM MAKING CONNECTION TO OR BECOMING A PART OF THE SEWER SYSTEM OR WATER SYSTEM OF THE TOWNSHIP; TO ESTABLISH A HARDSHIP REVIEW BOARD TO REVIEW REQUESTS FOR HARDSHIP; TO ESTABLISH PROCEDURES FOR DETERMINING HARDSHIP AND AMOUNT OF RELIEF; TO PROVIDE FOR THE EVENTUAL CONNECTION TO THE TOWNSHIP WATER OR SEWER SYSTEM; TO PROVIDE FOR THE SEVERABILITY OF THE ORDINANCE; TO PROVIDE FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE ORDINANCE; TO PROVIDE FOR THE REPEAL OF ALL CONFLICTING ORDINANCES; TO PROVIDE FOR THE EFFECTIVE DATE OF THIS ORDINANCE.

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ORDAINS: SECTION I. FINANCIAL HARDSHIP RELIEF.

Any property owner of the Township may request a partial or full deferment of special assessment costs for water and/or sewer service when financial hardship prevents such property owner from making a connection for his/her residence to the sewer or water system of the Township.

SECTION II. HARDSHIP REVIEW BOARD.

There is hereby established a Hardship Review Board (HRB) to review requests for hardship relief filed pursuant to Section I hereof. A three (3) member HRB shall be created by the Township Board with the Township Manager or Township Supervisor's designee as chairperson, one (1) member of the Water and Sewer Commission who shall serve no more than one (1) year in succession and one (1) resident of the Township who shall serve for an initial term of three (3) years and four (4) years thereafter. Compensation for members of the HRB shall be established by resolution of the Township Board.

SECTION III. DETERMINATION OF HARDSHIP.

A. In determining whether a hardship exists, the following criteria shall be applied by the HRB:

1. Annual income of property owner;
2. Current financial obligations of a fixed nature;
3. Land use;
4. Land value;
5. Availability of public welfare funds;
6. Sewer or water expense to property owner; and
7. Special and unique circumstances.

B. Minimum guidelines and standards for consideration to grant full or partial relief to homeowners shall be:

1. Provide proof of ownership and residence at the impacted premises;
2. Provide proof that gross combined annual income of all owners or combined residence in the home is within the following limits:

4	38,000
5	40,300
6	42,800
8	47,500

(a) The foregoing annual Upper Income Limit shall be modified each year to adopt the Upper Income Limit requirements of the Wayne County Community Development Block Grant Program, plus five (5%) percent. Said modification to be implemented by yearly resolution of the Township Board of Trustees.

SECTION IV. PROCEDURE FOR EVALUATING HARDSHIP RELIEF REQUESTS.

The procedure for receiving, evaluating and making final determination for hardship relief, as provided by this Ordinance, shall be as follows:

A. Person requesting hardship relief makes a written request for relief to the Supervisor. The request shall state the expenses for which relief is requested and shall include an explanation of conditions which necessitate relief.

B. Upon receipt of the request, the Supervisor shall direct the Clerk to mail forms provided by the Township to the person requesting relief and shall set a date for a private hearing before the HRB within thirty (30) days after the Clerk receives the completed forms.

C. The HRB shall meet to review the information and interview the person requesting relief. The HRB hearing may be extended if the HRB determines additional time or information is required to make a decision.

D. Within fifteen (15) days of the completion of the HRB hearing, the HRB shall submit a written recommendation of specific items or conditions and amount of relief to be granted to the Township Board, including interest amounts.

E. At the next regularly scheduled meeting of the Township Board, after the HRB hearing, a final determination for relief shall be made. The Township Board may deny or adopt in full or in part the recommendations of the HRB by resolution.

F. In no instance shall relief of any kind be granted for water or sewer usage, tap-in fees, or connection charges.

SECTION V. ADOPTION OF HARDSHIP RELIEF.

A. Upon adoption of the resolution granting hardship relief, the Water and Sewer Commission of the Township shall be directed to perform, supervise, manage or contract for the performance of all work for which hardship relief has been granted, paying all costs from the hardship relief fund for the relief granted. Assessment rolls, where applicable, shall be adjusted in accordance with the relief granted with special assessment distinct short fall in the amount of relief granted taken from the hardship relief fund.

B. Prior to the construction or expenditure of Township funds and as the last step in the process of granting hardship relief, the person granted relief shall execute a property lien in favor of the Township which shall be recorded with the appropriate Register of Deeds office. The lien shall be in the deferred amount of relief plus interest as required by the HRB and shall be due on the sale or transfer of the property.

C. The monies necessary to implement the provisions of the Section of the Ordinance shall be drawn from and returned to the hardship relief fund to be created and maintained by the Water and Sewer Commission. The restricted funds shall be the sole source of Township monies deposited to the hardship relief fund and the Water and Sewer Commission shall transfer funds between the restricted fund and the hardship relief fund as necessary to properly implement the provisions of the Ordinance. The funds allocated yearly to the hardship relief fund shall be approved by the Township Board.

Young bikers injured in weekend crash

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Motorcycles never win in a collision with automobiles.

That's the first line in the first page in the first chapter of the book on motorcycling.

That lesson became painfully apparent to a pair of young motorcycle enthusiasts last Friday evening when the Honda they were riding struck the rear of a vehicle attempting a left turn into a residence on Seven Mile Road in Northville Township.

Police said the driver of the motorcycle, a 17-year-old Northville boy, was moving eastbound just west of Beck Road, could not stop and slammed into the rear of a Chevrolet Cavalier driven by a 17-year-old Westland girl.

The motorcycle driver and his passenger, a 15-year-old Canton girl, were thrown 35 feet from the point of impact, police said.

Both motorcyclists were taken to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia. Rescue workers said the female passenger was admitted in critical condition and was in a coma until Sunday.

She remains in guarded condition with a bruise on the brain, township police officer Matthew Mayes said. The woman's injuries will help determine eventual charges against the driver, he said.

The driver could be charged with reckless driving, police said.

Alcohol was not a factor in the collision, but Mayes said the driver did not have a motorcycle endorsement on his license.

The driver was released for less serious injuries and treated.

The driver of the Cavalier and her three teen-aged passengers were not injured, police said.

Both motorcyclists were wearing helmets at the time of the collision.

School board hires consultant

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

The Northville School District has hired a consultant to help the search for a new superintendent.

Superintendent George Bell will retire July 31 after nine years in the district.

The director of the Michigan Association of School Boards superintendent search service, Carl Brautigam, will lead the district in a nationwide search for Bell's replacement. Trustee Glenna Davis announced Monday at a school board meeting.

Davis, as personnel committee chairperson, is leading the school board in its search for a new superintendent.

The cost will be $6,000 plus expenses not to exceed $750, Brautigam said.

Brautigam has a history with Northville schools superintendent searches: He gave a seminar on finding a new superintendent that was attended by some school board members during the search that eventually led to Bell, Davis said.

Brautigam's first order of business will be involving the community in hiring a new superintendent, Davis said.

"We already have a great number of established means of communicating for him to reach out into the community," Davis said.

He also will be responsible for describing Northville schools to potential applicants to ensure a large, quality pool of candidates is available, she said.

Davis described Brautigam as a grandfather figure, saying he is "wise and calm."

Northville Education Association Executive Director Susan Noonan-Forster told Davis the NEA is anxious to participate in the superintendent selection process.

Davis said NEA participation will be encouraged.

"The process will be as open as legally we can make it," Davis said.

A tribute to Bell will be held June 18 at Laurel Manor Banquet Conference Center, 39000 Schoolcraft Road in Livonia.

Anyone interested in bidding adieu to Bell is welcome to attend. Reservations may be made before June 5 by calling 344-8442 or sending $30 for dinner and a gift to the Northville Public Schools Bell Retirement Committee, 501 W. Main St., Northville, MI 48167.

A reception will be held at 6 p.m. and dinner will be at 7 p.m.

Anyone who wants to contribute to Bell's gift but who cannot attend the dinner may send $5 to the above address and attend the reception from 6-7 p.m.

Residents to receive plan update

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

The results of a three-day strategic planning summit will be mailed this summer to residents living in the Northville School District.

The First Annual Update of the Strategic Planning Initiative was completed in April and first presented to the school board last week. Final approval of the update is expected at the board's July 8 meeting.

Strategic Planning is a practice of involving school district staff and community members in long-term planning for the district. At annual updates, the plans and goals may be modified, expanded or eliminated.

Strategic Planning committees met in February for two days and again April 25 to update the year-old plan.

The revised Strategic Planning Initiative will be printed and mailed to Northville residents following board approval.

The district's mission statement was among the revised sections of the plan.

The statement now says: "Our mission is to challenge all students to reach their potential and to meet the demands of the future as responsible citizens through a dynamic, comprehensive curriculum provided in a caring environment by staff and community committed to excellence."

The change was made in the statement's reference to "staff and community." Last year's statement referred only to "people committed to excellence."

An addition was made in the list of parameters used to achieve the district's mission to include the requirement that site-based decisions be consistent with the plan.

The change was made to ensure that "everyone is moving in the same direction," said Dolly McMaster, assistant superintendent for instructional services.

The objectives of the school district also were changed.

Dropouts will be eliminated rather than decreased, the new objective says, and the number of underachieving students will be reduced annually.

Northville Public Schools has a dropout rate of 1.7 percent, McMaster said.

Northville hopes to improve its dropout rate even though the district is doing better than the state average, which is between 18 and 25 percent of students dropping out, and the average in major cities, which is 40 to 60 percent.

"If it's your kid, you want everybody working to prevent it. That's why we want to eliminate dropouts," McMaster said.

A goal to continue to increase community support was changed to include increasing community support and involvement.

And students now will assess their own performance as a part of a goal to annually improve student learning.

The eight strategies and 75 action plans included in the Strategic Plan addressing such areas as funding and human resources did not escape revision.

Strategy seven, which sought to improve the climate of every school in the district, was eliminated. Individual schools will now take over this strategy.

During the First Annual Update, 17 action plans targeted for implementation during the 1990-91 school year were rendered complete, to be continued, or operational, which means they are part of ongoing functions of the district.

The Strategic Plan will be reprinted annually to demonstrate the district's commitment to the plan, McMaster said.

The Second Annual Update is scheduled to begin in January and February 1992.

All quiet on ambulance front

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

A rumored public showdown featuring competing ambulance firms, a fire department and angered residents fizzled last week.

Rumblings that residents were miffed over the township's decision to drop Novi-based Community Emergency Medical Services (CEMS) in favor of Huron Valley Ambulance (HVA) bore little fruit; only two speakers debated the ambulance switch at a May 9 public hearing.

Turnout was a far cry from what township officials feared. One resident spoke on behalf of a homeowners association and an elementary school PTA.

The second speaker was the president and CEO of the jilted ambulance firm.

Township officials decided in April to hold a public hearing after some residents questioned a February decision to drop CEMS, and after a CEMS-penned letter sent to residents blasted the move.

"(I'm) responding to the many letters our company has received . . . It's not our quest to re-enter in a relationship with Northville Township. 'Our name has been dragged through the mud in the whole ordeal.'"

GREG BEAUCHEMIN
CEMS President

CEMS President Greg Beauchemin, whose firm handled township emergency medical transports for the bulk of the 1980s, told the board he came to the hearing to clear the company's name.

"(I'm) responding to the many letters our company has received," Beauchemin said. "It's not our quest to re-enter in a relationship with Northville Township."

"Our name has been dragged through the mud in the whole ordeal."

Beauchemin said township fire department complaints that prompted the ambulance firm change were untrue.

"Some of the allegations I heard tonight are false and not verifiable," he said.

Township Fire Chief Rick Rosselle recommended the move to Washtenaw County-based HVA after charging that CEMS response times were slow, emergency rigs lacked vital equipment, ambulance locations were misrepresented, and CEMS employees displayed rude behavior to patients and other emergency workers.

Rosselle reiterated those points Thursday evening.

"Cooperation had broken down," he said. "(CEMS was) not good enough for Northville Township."

Township resident George Patak represented the North Beacon Woods Homeowners Association and the Moraine Elementary PTA.

"We do not challenge (Rosselle's) reason for making the change," he said. "We're not comfortable with ambulances coming from Plymouth."

HVA bases two ambulances available to Northville Township in Plymouth.

Dale Berry, HVA director, told Patak and the township board that moving one ambulance to Northville Township was a possibility.

"We would consider moving the second one (to the township) if space was found," Berry said.

Supervisor Georgina Goss said the township will make "a concentrated effort" to address Patak's concerns "in a short amount of time."

Animal kindness week

Animals at the Anti-Cruelty Association shelter in Detroit will be well-fed thanks to students at Silver Springs Elementary School. In celebration of Be Kind to Animals Week, which began May 6, Silver Springs students held a pet food drive for homeless animals staying at the shelter. Pictured from left to right are Student Council Treasurer Robin Gosdeck, Vice President Natalie Thomson, teacher and Student Council coordinator Phil Demski, President Jason Van Wormer, Anti-Cruelty Association President Linda Tuttle, Student Council writer Mike Modlin and council representative Josh Hoetger. Besides donating food, students brought blankets, towels, sheets and rugs to be used as bedding for animals at the shelter. Silver Springs held a similar drive last year, raising over $1,000 in food products for the shelter. The amount of products brought in this year is still unknown. The Anti-Cruelty Association held a program for Silver Springs students last Tuesday. The program included speakers on animal care and animal cruelty prevention.

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ORDAINS:

Section 1. That subparagraph (53) of Section 61 010 is hereby amended and Subchapter F is hereby added to Chapter 61 of the Compiled Ordinances to read as follows:

61 010 subparagraph (53), the definition of "Solid waste" is amended to conform with the language of the rest of this ordinance

SUBCHAPTER F

SOLID WASTE MANAGEMENT SYSTEM

61 750 Purpose and Findings. The purpose of the Subchapter is to protect the public health and welfare by ensuring the timely and lawful collection of solid waste in the Township, and to implement policies on recycling and composting and to provide for user fees.

The Board of Trustees of Northville find regulation of the collection and disposal of solid waste is necessary to protect the public health and safety, that, some curbside recycling is feasible and that such implementation will be best accomplished by the Township entering into a contract for provision of such services.

61 751. Definitions. This section provides definitions relevant to solid waste disposal. In particular, "Compostables" means leaves, grass clippings, brush, wood debris under two and one half inches in diameter, lumber, pallets, vegetative pruning, garden waste, yard waste, Christmas trees; "Curbside Collection" means the collection of solid waste which has been placed for pickup in appropriate solid waste receptacles at the side of a public or private road adjacent to the abutting private property; "Garbage" means rejected food wastes, including waste accumulation of animal, fruit or vegetable matter used or intended for food or that attends the preparation, use, cooking, dealing in or storing of meat, fish, fowl, fruit or vegetable; "Private Collector" means any person, persons, firm, partnership or corporation to whom has been issued a private collector's license other than the Township Contractor; "Recyclable Materials" means those items listed in Section 61.754. "Rubbish" means non-combustible solid waste, including ashes, consisting of both combustible and non-combustible waste, including paper, cardboard, metal containers, wood, glass, bedding, crockery, demolished building materials or litter of any kind that may be a detriment to the public health and safety; "Solid Waste Hauler" means a person who owns or operates a solid waste transporting unit, "Solid Waste Transporting Unit" means a container which may be an integral part of a truck or other piece of equipment used for the transportation of solid waste; "Township Contractor" means a private person collecting and disposing of municipal solid waste under an authorized and executed agreement or contract with the Township, to provide such services at a certain rate.

61 752 Administration. This section provides for the operation and administration of the Subchapter under the direction of the Township Board. The Supervisor will enforce the Subchapter, and make rules and regulations for the administration of it.

The Township Board may decide to have the Township enter into a contract for solid waste collection in the Township, on terms as they may determine, but not to exceed five years for a non-exclusive contract and two years for an exclusive contract. The contract may be exclusive, and the Township Board may authorize one or more contracts and may limit any contract to part of the Township, or to certain types of premises. Any contract will be awarded on a competitive basis.

Each contractor will furnish a performance bond conditioned on performance of all obligations under the contract. Each contractor will have owner's and contractor's protective public liability and property damage insurance, in the name of the Township, for at least three million dollars for injuries, including accidental death, to each person, and subject to the same limit for each person, and three million dollars for each accident, and one million dollars aggregate for damage to property. The Township may require of Township Contractors other bonds and insurance, including workers' compensation insurance, to protect the Township.

After the execution of the contract, the Township Clerk shall issue the contractor a license, without charge, to collect solid waste per the terms of the contract. No license or contract for any Township Contractor will be transferable without permission of the Township Board.

If the Township enters into a contract under this section, a user charge will be established by resolution of the Township Board and imposed on all residents of the Township to be served by such contract reasonably calculated to defray the cost of providing the service. The charge shall be assessed to each resident served, and the Township Board may include the charge as part of residents' water and sewer billing.

61 753 Licensee Required to Collect Solid Waste. This section provides that solid waste can only be lawfully collected by a person licensed as a solid waste hauler by the Township, and that it is unlawful for any person other than Township licensed solid waste haulers, or other authorized persons to interfere with solid waste placed in the streets, alleys, and public places of the Charter Township of Northville for collection by licensed solid waste haulers, or to interfere in any way with solid waste receptacles.

61 754 Recycling of Solid Waste. Starting June 30, 1991, it shall be unlawful for any person who owns, possesses, controls, supervises or occupies private property within the Township which has available curbside collection of solid waste to commingle recyclable materials with other solid waste or to place it out for collection other than as provided in this section.

All recyclable material shall be separated from other garbage and refuse and grouped together and placed for collection. Recyclable material shall consist of and be contained as follows:

1. Brown, Green and Clear Glass bottles, jars and containers, Ferrous and non-ferrous cans and bottles, and PET and HDPE plastics, are recyclable and shall be placed out for collection together in the approved recycling container.

2. Newspaper, which shall be bundled or bagged and placed out for collection, and not be mixed with any other solid waste.

3. Compostables, which shall be placed out for collection in approved bags. Recyclable materials shall be collected in the same locations, and shall be placed for collection at the same time, as other solid waste.

Nothing in this ordinance is intended to prevent any person from donating or selling recyclable materials to any person, club, business, civic organization, charitable organization or any other organization.

61 755 Solid Waste Hauler Duties and Responsibilities. Commencing June 30, 1991, it shall be unlawful for any licensed solid waste hauler to accept from private property within the Township, which has available curbside collection of solid waste, recyclable materials commingled with other solid waste, and to transport recyclable materials to a licensed disposal area other than a facility for their processing. The solid waste hauler shall establish and implement a recycling program consisting of weekly curbside collection of recyclables, transportation and delivery to a materials recovery facility, and an educational program to advise customers of the benefits of recycling. The curbside collection of recyclable material shall include the following:

The solid waste hauler shall provide an in-home recycling container to each customer for the storage of recyclables. The container shall be plastic, and manufactured using at least 25% recycled materials.

The solid waste hauler shall collect all recyclable materials and shall be responsible for delivering all recyclable materials other than compostables to a material recovery facility, or similar recovery facility other than a landfill or incinerator. Compostables shall be delivered to a composting facility.

61 756. Owner Responsibility. No person who is a resident of the Township or who owns, possesses, controls, supervises or occupies land or premises within the Township shall cause or permit any solid waste, including recyclable materials, to be collected from such person or person's premises by any person other than a solid waste hauler licensed by the Township.

61 757. Hours of Collection. No solid waste shall be collected from persons or property within five hundred feet of a residential unit between 11:00 p.m. and 6:30 a.m. unless the Township Supervisor has issued written authorization for such collection.

61 758. Storage of Solid Waste. Every person who owns, possesses, controls, supervises or occupies land or premises within the Township shall be responsible for placing and keeping solid waste arising from the use or occupation of such property in proper receptacles. Rubbish too large for receptacles shall be bundled (65 pounds maximum) when placed for collection. Parts of trees shall not exceed three feet in length nor shall they exceed two and one half inches in diameter.

Solid waste from the operation of commercial, industrial or other business enterprise may be placed and kept in commercial receptacles for pickup by a licensed solid waste hauler. In a building housing more than two families, the owner shall provide commercial receptacles unless curbside collection is available. It shall be the duty of the owner, contractor or other person responsible for construction work to remove from the premises after completion of the construction work all surplus construction material and building refuse materials.

61 759. Weekly Collection. This section requires each occupant to have their solid waste collected at least once each week.

61 760. Prohibitions. Dumping of waste within the Township is prohibited. Burning of waste within the Township is prohibited, except in certain building incinerators approved by the Fire Chief. No person shall deposit, spill or leave any matter or thing on public or private property which may result in injury or damage to person, animal or property. It shall be unlawful for any person to scatter or leave any matter or thing on public or private property, which will result in or contribute to unsightly conditions within the Township.

61 761 License Procedure. All solid waste haulers collecting solid waste from persons or property within the Township are required to have a license issued annually by the Township Clerk.

The fee for a solid waste hauler's license shall be $25.00 plus $5.00 for each solid waste transporting unit and each commercial receptacle owned or utilized by the licensed solid waste hauler in the Township. A license shall be issued to the solid waste hauler applicant and a decal for each solid waste transporting unit and commercial receptacle of the applicant. The decal shall be permanently affixed to and maintained upon the solid waste transporting unit or commercial receptacle in a clearly visible location.

A license shall not be granted unless the applicant submits an application in a form and containing specified information concerning the identity, experience, officers and employees, equipment, economic integrity, proof of access to proper disposal area and facilities, and pertinent facts of the applicant as the Township Clerk may require to determine whether the applicant meets all of lawful requirements of a solid waste hauler and the solid waste transporting units.

Each solid waste transporting unit each commercial receptacle shall be inspected to determine that the solid waste hauler has in operation only units and receptacles which are proper, hygienic and not contributory to litter.

Each application for a year's license shall be accompanied by a surety bond running to the Township of One Hundred Thousand Dollars, conditioned on the observance of the laws of Michigan, the Ordinances of the Township and the approved rules and regulations of the Supervisor pertaining to the collection, removal and transportation of solid waste and all legal rights of persons who are served by or injured by the licensee. Such bond shall remain in full force and effect for a period of ninety days after the expiration of cancellation of any such license. Each licensee shall maintain for each vehicle, the security required by law, and additional security sufficient to pay One Million Dollars for one person injured in an accident, and One Million Dollars for all other persons injured in an accident, and shall deposit, prior to the issuance of the license, certificates of insurance with the Township Clerk indicating such coverage. The solid waste hauler licensee shall maintain insurance to protect the public against risk of loss from liability, including damage to property and injury to person, in a sum of not less than One Million per occurrence caused by the actions or operations of the licensee, its officers, employees and agents. The Township may require of private and Township Contractors other bonds of insurance including Workers' Compensation Insurance to protect the Township.

If the applicant meets the requirements of this Subchapter, agrees to abide by this and all other applicable township ordinances, including site plans prepared pursuant to the zoning ordinance, and pays the applicable fees, then the Clerk shall issue a license to the applicant and for each solid waste transporting unit and commercial receptacle.

No license or contract issued, granted or entered into with any contractor under this Subchapter shall be assignable or sublet without the express written permission of the Township Board.

61 762. Regulations and Duties of Licensees. This section provides that no solid waste hauler licensee may require a customer to deposit or prepay collection charges more than 3 months in advance; collect from residential customers less frequently than weekly; dispose of collected solid waste other than by means of licensed solid waste transporting units and at disposal areas or facilities licensed pursuant to MCLA 299.401, et seq.; provided that recyclables shall be transported to materials recovery facilities and compostables shall be transported to composting facilities; and that, after June 30, 1991, no solid waste hauler licensee shall transport compostables to a sanitary landfill for disposal.

The Township Supervisor can designate the streets which the solid waste hauler licensee may transport solid waste transporting units.

The Township can designate a particular property or condition as a public health hazard due to solid waste generation, accumulation or storage, and upon notice to a solid waste hauler licensee, require the licensee to assist collecting the solid waste to reduce or eliminate the public health hazard, if the Township pays the reasonable charges of the licensee for doing so; and the Township shall be entitled to full reimbursement of the charges from the person who owns, possesses, controls, supervises or occupies the property involved.

Each solid waste hauler licensee shall designate an employee or agent to answer and resolve all complaints made.

Each solid waste hauler licensee shall pay any judgment which may be obtained against the Township, whether alone or with said licensee on account of any injury, or damage to any person or property by reason of any license granted hereunder and said licensee upon demand of the Township shall intervene and defend any such suit or action thereof upon notice thereof given by the Clerk to said licensee.

Solid waste transporting units used in the collection and disposal of solid waste shall have, on both sides, the name of the licensee and business in plain, unobscured letters at least four inches high.

Each solid waste hauler licensee shall collect solid waste by emptying the receptacle into the licensee's solid waste transporting unit and returning the receptacle to the place on the customer's property from which it was removed, replacing the cover. All receptacles shall be handled and emptied so that no garbage is spilled on the premises of the customer nor in any street area.

The solid waste hauler licensee shall load the solid waste transporting unit so when any compartment of the licensee's solid waste transporting unit is filled, it shall be immediately covered.

Transportation of waste through the Township shall not create a nuisance. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to transport, cart, carry or convey through or over any of the streets, alleys, or public places of the Charter Township of Northville any garbage, unwashed refuse, or unwashed food containers without the written consent of the Township Board. Whenever such permission is granted, the vehicle used for such purposes shall be water tight and provided with a suitable covering. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to transport or to otherwise convey through or over any of the public streets or public places of the Charter Township of Northville any rubbish or other waste material except under written regulations or with the written consent of the Township Board, except rubbish or waste material accumulating on property owned or controlled by him and then only by approved methods of conveyance.

Center Street office approved

By RICK BYRNE
Copy Editor

Northville planners got a peek into the future of what visitors to the city will see when entering downtown from the south.

At last week's meeting, the City Planning Commission granted final site plan approval for a proposed Help-U-Sell/Quality appraisal real estate office. While the building at 209 S. Center St. currently sits in the middle of a row of wood frame houses between Cady Street and Northville Downs, it will take on greater prominence when improvements to the Cady corridor come to pass.

Rebuilding the Cady Street parking deck, and the subsequent relocation of Cady Street, will require razing the house which neighbors the Help-U-Sell site to the south.

"Our plan shows the relocated Cady Street," said architect Greg Presley. "This will now be a corner building."

City Consultant Donald Wortman, in his review of the plan, commended developer Jim Perkins for extensive landscaping on the south and west sides of the building. He added that since the soon-to-be corner lot would serve as an implied "gateway to downtown," the city might consider placing a small "Welcome to Downtown Northville" sign at the southern end of the property.

He also noted that the sign could serve to direct visitors to the parking deck, which, when completed, will be adjacent to the east side (rear) of the Help-U-Sell property.

The small nine-space parking lot to serve Help-U-Sell—and its neighbor to the north, the Yankee Clipper—will be built by the city. According to Presley, Perkins sold that portion of his lot to the city as part of the property acquisition process for the new Cady Street deck.

The planners and the developer also agreed that a 125-year-old catalpa tree at the southeast corner of the Help-U-Sell building should be saved.

"The tree has a 42-inch diameter, and it is in good shape," said Presley. "We don't see it being in the way of any future development."

Planners were particularly happy to see that Perkins' plans dictated saving the tree because of its relation to the proposed deck.

"I think that tree will buffer the deck from view," said Commissioner Steve Ball.

The developer also offered two options for signs on the property. One was the conventional Help-U-Sell style, of red and white plastic with interior lighting. The second was carved and painted wood, with exterior lighting and a more historical flavor.

Planners favored the wooden sign.

State police post cuts business hours

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Writer

The Michigan State Police Post in Northville will soon be reducing its hours due to state budget cuts.

The Northville post has jurisdiction over area highways.

According to Post Commander Jack Moulik, post hours will be reduced, likely beginning Aug. 1. He said after that date the post, which is currently open 24 hours, would be open from 8 a.m. to either 4 p.m. or 5 p.m.

In January, Gov. John Engler announced plans to trim 9.2 percent from Michigan's budget, including the state police department. In order to meet that guideline, the department came up with several cost-saving measures, including the reduction of post hours.

The reduction is scheduled to coincide with plans for beginning a central dispatch system at the Northville post, Moulik said.

After posts in the state police's second district shut their doors, he said, patrol units will be dispatched from Northville. The second district includes posts in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and St. Clair counties.

A target date of Aug. 1 has been established for bringing the central dispatch system on-line, Moulik said. Currently, the post is preparing a former storage area in its basement to house the dispatch.

State Police Trooper Richard Percy explained how the system will work:

Calls from the public, service or emergency, in the dispatch area will be routed to computer operators. The operators will then send the message across the room by computer to the dispatcher handling the area from which the call came. Dispatchers then assign troopers from the appropriate district post to handle the call.

Moulik said when the Northville post closes its door in the evening, it will operate much the same as local police department. A telephone will be located at the building's entrance, he said, for those who wish to speak with officers at the post after hours.

Business and Professional Women meet in area

Focusing on political and social changes, local clubs from Northville and Novi are sending delegates to the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women's 73rd annual convention this weekend in Novi.

The convention, representing more than 3,000 members throughout the state, will be held Friday through Sunday in the Novi Hilton. New officers will be elected. A new budget, bylaws and legislative platform also will be adopted. Keynote speaker will be Kimberly Kassner, a graduate of Central Michigan University and owner of a consulting firm in California. Kassner is a former Michigan BPW Young Career Woman, a special program which honors outstanding young career women.

The convention, which will be the largest convention ever held at the Hilton, will also feature Dona Wells, national legislative chair of BPW USA.

Wells specializes in lecturing on women's health care and reproductive rights. She has been the issues specialist on reproductive freedom for BPW's Clubs Inc. since 1985. She has won several awards including the Advocacy Award for Reproductive Freedom from the Kentucky Decade for Women Leaders. She is past state chair of the Kentucky Women's Political Caucus and is on the executive committee of the ACLU of Kentucky and the steering committee of the Pro-Choice Coalition of Kentucky. Outgoing state president Louise Cole, whose tenure concentrated on such issues as pay equity, dependent care and the workplace of the future, will turn the gavel over the Marale M. Benner, a member of the Midland organization.

A human resources consultant currently working for Dow Elanco, Benner recently completed a 30-year career with Dow Chemical Co. Her theme for the new club era is "Focus on the Future" and she plans to "continue strengthening BPW's political efforts to change behavior through the legislative process."

"With the changes going on in the world, there seems to be no time like the present to prepare to meet those changes. Health care, insurance, pay equity, dependent care, legislation, job preparedness... they are all to be considered," says Benner.

BPW/USA was founded in 1919 and was the first among women's organizations to formally endorse the Equal Rights Amendment in 1937 and has led the drive for ratification ever since.

BPW members come from all professions and include women nad men from throughout the state. Today the group aims to better the lives of all working women.

Retroactive raise approved for non-union employees

creased salary for several weeks.

The council is currently negotiating with the city's four unions over the coming fiscal year, and asking them to decide between a deferred pay raise or further layoffs. Two police officers were laid off in April, and a third position was left unfilled due to the state's withholding of more than $500,000 in this year's allocated state-returned racetrack revenue.

The council is asking the patrol officers, command officers, public works and clerical unions to defer their contracted 1991 / 1992 pay raises for six months, until Jan. 1, 1992. If a union decides against deferring the pay raise, that department faces the potential layoff of another employee.

The council is also seeking applicants for a part-time clerical employee to replace a high school / college co-op employee who recently resigned, though that position may not be filled.

An advertisement in the May 13 Northville Record announced that the city is seeking a "part-time clerical position, summer only." The person is being offered between $5-7 an hour, for between 24-40 hours of work per week depending on the work load. The city is seeking a receptionist with typing and filing capabilities, general office procedure and "some computer knowledge."

If the clerical union opts to lay off a clerical employee rather than defer pay raises, the part-time position would not be filled until the laid off employee was rehired, Walters said.

The clerical department may also be hit by the decrease of two full-time clerical employees to part-time status, following a recommended reorganization of the department by city auditors Plante & Moran.

The investigation into last month's fatal shooting of a Westland man at the Northville Meijer store has been completed and is now under review.

Ronald J. Melnyk, 33, of Westland, was fatally shot by police officers on April 18 in the parking lot of the Meijer store at Eight Mile and Haggerty. The incident occurred after an attempted buy-bust by officers from the Oakland County Narcotics Enforcement Team.

According to Michigan State Police Det. Sgt. Dean Sanderson, who acted as chief investigator in the matter, the report was presented to the Wayne County Prosecutor's office Monday. He said it will be up to that office to determine if Melnyk's shooting was justified.

"I think it's a complete and thorough investigation," Sanderson said. "I don't suspect that it will take (the prosecutor's office) a long time to make a decision."

Sanderson said the prosecutor's office would likely take at least a week to make a ruling on the shooting. Charges, if any, will be determined by that office.

"I, personally, don't see that happening," Sanderson said.

The case will be reviewed by two senior Wayne County assistant prosecutors before a ruling is made, he said. After they review the case, Sanderson said, he would likely sit down with the assistants to go over the case.

Police shot Melnyk once through the chest after he reportedly struck a police officer with his car and attempted to flee the scene. Two undercover officers were treated for minor injuries and released the following day, police said.

Melnik was the target of a narcotics sting conducted by federal, state and Wayne and Oakland County law enforcement teams, said state police investigator Joe Koenig.

Police were attempting to buy seven ounces of cocaine from Melnyk when, for an unknown reason, he decided to leave the scene. The bust was originally planned at a Novi restaurant, but Melnyk moved the buy across Eight Mile Road to the Meijer store.

Northville's Michigan State Police post was assigned to investigate the shooting.

Monitors dropped

"The people (of the site-visitation group) are well-intentioned; they're good people," Brown said Tuesday. "But they are of no real value to us. We already monitor (identical issues)."

The site visitation group was formed "as a service, to be there for the patients," said site visitation member Hilda Reault of Livonia.

Reault said her group was active in visiting the hospital site, talking with patients, monitoring patient/employee ratios, and noting needed improvements in the sprawling Seven Mile Road complex.

Along with hospital administration, the group was instrumental in providing the hospital a facelift after years of negative publicity brought on by constant internal problems and upheaval, Reault said.

"When we first started, we went to some wards that were not clean," Reault said. "Put it this way: If the health department went in, they couldn't stay open."

"Now those floors shine. You compliment them," she said.

Reault praises Brown for his efforts to improve the hospital and its image. But she wonders why the group was dropped.

"It concerns you more than anything," she said. "Forty people cared; now somebody says they don't want you there."

Brown is less convinced than Reault that site visitation group comments fostered change at the state hospital. He said administrative policies brought the facility into a new light.

"What I'm saying is that some things are useful and some are not," he said. "The people in monitoring are our friends in Northville, (but) I think what they are doing is not useful."

"It has become negative. We don't need people with pencils and paper walking around writing about our routine," he said.

Brown said volunteers are welcome to continue in other capacities, but hospital administrators should bear the burden of monitoring the site.

If administrators cannot keep the facility afloat, it is destined to sink, Brown said.

"We've found we've made considerable progress," he said. "I hoped we could get past this."

Reault, who hopes a letter to the state Dept. of Mental Health will prompt another form of site-visitation group, wishes a once-strong relationship had not dissolved.

And she is disappointed Brown called the group's actions "anachronistic and detrimental" to the hospital's image.

"You expect him to handle it in a positive manner," she said. "And you wonder why it is you aren't wanted in Northville."

Walkaway sought

he said. "We will take appropriate action."

"He should not have been allowed to leave the grounds."

Witnesses told township police that the 72-year-old man drove his car to a mailbox just outside Perry Drugs, left the car running, and exited to drop off some mail.

When the man returned to the car, another man allegedly grabbed him by the waist, threw him to the ground and drove away, witnesses said.

A Northville woman who witnessed the incident told police the attacker first approached her as she sat in a car in the Northville Plaza parking lot. She told police the man approached her and asked for a ride.

The witness told police she was fearful and moved her vehicle to another parking spot. He then approached a man using a nearby telephone, she said.

He then spotted and attacked the 72-year-old Northville man, the witness said.

Northville Plaza is located just west of state hospital grounds.

The alternative to ending millage-based refuse collection would have been an expensive one, she said. "We would have had to raise the millage significantly to cover the refuse costs."

The council's comments did little to soothe the frustration of some audience members, though few blamed the council for the city's state.

Mel Anderson asked how residents would be charged for the refuse collection. Council members replied that a fee system has not been set.

The main question seems to be whether it should be a straight charge per resident or a bag-tag program, said Mayor Chris Johnson. He said the council has been leaning towards a per-bag fee, which would charge more to those who generate

"We understand that we'll need approximately $500,000 to fund the program, which includes commercial refuse," he said.

Part of the cost information needed to figure the residents' charge will be forthcoming Friday, Walters said, when the township opens bids for a joint curbside recycling/refuse service. All Wayne County communities are required to have a curbside recycling program or incinerator in place by Jan. 1, 1992 under the Wayne County Solid Waste Plan.

"We're not going into this because it's cheaper," Walters said. "It's known to be more expensive but it's required."

Anderson complained that the city was enacting a new program with little knowledge of the final cost to residents. "I don't see how you can fairly tell us whether we should be going to this new program or not," he said.

In the City of Plymouth, Walters said, each household is charged a flat rate of $11 for curbside trash collection. In Plymouth Township, he said, the program is financed through a combination of a millage levy and a per-bag charge. "They're financing it with a mill and a half being levied, which would be $75 a year for a house valued at $50,000, plus a dollar a bag," he said.

Council Member Paul Folino said the city is following the lead of others. "The City of Plymouth has been very successful with their bag program ... They patterned theirs after the City of Mt. Pleasant," he said. "Many other cities around here are doing this type of program."

Doff Michowski said he feared that people would dump their trash rather than pay a per-bag fee to have it collected. "I lived in West Virginia, and there you pay for every bag," he said. "You know where the garbage ends up there? In the countryside."

But Folino said that Plymouth Township has not noted an increase in illegal dumping, and Johnson said that a new level of environmental concern among people would probably discourage that.

Anderson said he feared that the city's plight is the result of overregulation on the part of the county and state.

"I don't see how you can fairly tell us whether we should be going to this new program or not."

MEL ANDERSON
City resident

"It seems to me that we're doing to ourselves what the politicians in Washington are doing to the automobile industries ... We're killing ourselves," he said. "It seems to me we're going overboard."

"Somewhere along the line, we're going to run out of money to do all these nice things."

Another resident, Bill Winn, complained that the move cuts city services. "I just want to say that I'm opposed to it ... You're privatizing a lot of the services that everyone has come to expect."

Anderson agreed, saying, "I'd rather see it in our taxes rather than see a special bill for it. It's destroying what I've seen in our city. We're paying a lot of taxes but we get a lot of services for it."

When asked whether the city could return to a millage-based curbside refuse collection service next year if residents dislike the user-fee system, Walters replied, "there's nothing procedurally here that would prevent us from doing that."

Council members promised that no new staff would be needed to oversee the user-fee system, whatever its final form.

Ad leads woman to con

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

A 35-year-old local woman and her mother told Plymouth Township police they were bilked out of $4,549 last Wednesday by a self-proclaimed psychic.

The woman said police she called the psychic, who called herself Rita and had business cards bearing that name, after reading an advertisement in the classified section of the April 1 Northville Record. The same ad ran in The Northville Record.

The woman said she first met with the psychic May 1 and was charged $90 for the session. A second session cost $249.

"(The woman) says that some of the things Rita said hit home so she began to believe in what Rita said," according to the police report. "Rita also gave (the woman) instructions to be followed in order to clear the dark cloud of bad luck that has been happening to (her) family."

Those instructions included having the woman place $2,700 in $100 bills, in three stacks of nine, on an altar at Rita's rented Plymouth Township home. Rita also reportedly told the woman's mother to wear $1,500 in a money belt around her waist for 24 hours.

Rita then had the women leave both the stacks of $100 bills and the money belt on an "altar" in Rita's home May 7, and told them to return the next day, according to the police report.

When the woman and her mother returned to the psychic's home on May 8, as instructed, both the money and the psychic were gone. The owner of the home told police that Rita and her family had been evicted for not paying their rent. Rita had given the owner a different name when the family rented the home.

Plymouth police received a second complaint about Rita May 13. An Ann Arbor woman reported paying her $400, $300 of which was supposed to be returned. The woman told police that Rita first wanted $2,700 in $100 bills but "settled for $300 to lift a spell."

By the time the woman returned to Rita's house, the psychic had moved out.

The self-proclaimed psychic is described as a short, overweight woman of European descent in her 30s. Plymouth Township police are trying to locate the psychic and her family, and expect to release a composite picture of the woman this week.

State plans election

Candidates must be U.S. citizens at least 21 years old, and be registered to vote in the district. Republican candidates need between 88-350 signatures on their petitions, while Democrats need between 138-549 and those without a political party affiliation need 461, according to a spokesperson for the Wayne County clerk's office. Democratic and Republican candidates may pay a filing fee rather than collect the signatures.

Declared candidates for Law's vacant house seat include Northville Township Supervisor Georgina Goss, Plymouth City Commissioner Jerry Vorva and Canton precinct delegate Deborah Whyman, all Republicans. Potential Democratic candidates have been less quick to jump into the ring.

Though no candidates had filed for Law's seat by Wednesday, Vorva and Whyman had both pulled petitions, according to the Wayne County Clerk's office.

The Wayne County Commission seat has been filled on a temporary basis by former Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen, whom Heintz had recommended for the job.

Hive of activity defines Mill Race planting bee

Volunteers work at Saturday's planting bee.

Village gets a sprucing

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Last weekend's Saturday morning planting bee at the Mill Race Historical Village drew a swarm of volunteers, said Historical Society board member Greg Presley.

"About 20-30 people showed up, at various times and in various states of attire," he said. "We had great fun ... and we got our work done. We had to be out of there by two o'clock for a wedding."

Their work consisted of the annual clean-up of Mill Race, combined with the planting of viburnum and roses around the village gazebo and a rose garden and yew hedge around the Yerkes House. A copper beech, donated by the Country Girls Garden Club, was planted in the front yard of the Yerkes House as well. Wildflower and herb gardens are still planned around the weaver's cottage next door.

"We put in probably $3,000 worth of plants at wholesale prices," Presley said.

The plantings, part of the Historical Society's continuing efforts to enhance the educational role of Mill Race, are designed to recreate those found around a typical Victorian village. "We want to create the kind of ground planting that would have been found between 1850 and 1890," Presley said.

The society also collected some new friends Saturday, he said. "We had people who we never met before come by and join in, and a few people joined the Historical Society on the spot that day."

The planting bee was the first half of an extensive landscaping project coordinated by Presley and fellow board member Steve Ball. Local horticultural experts Thom Holleman, Pat Hibbard and Celia Larsen also helped design the program.

The next phase includes the planting of sugar maples throughout the village and Norway maples around the parking lot on Griswold.

"We do intend to install some 57 new trees, and those will be planted in the fall," Presley said.

The trees will serve a number of purposes, Ball said.

"The idea we've got is to plant a dual row of sugar maples along the village lane, which would be fitting for a historic urban setting," he said. "Someday they'll be big enough that if somebody wants to try and do some maple sugaring in the spring, they can do it, but in the meantime they'll provide some nice shade."

The maples will be purchased with the help of an "Adopt-a-tree" program. Presley said the program has already garnered interest from people around the community, some of whom would like to adopt a tree in memory of a loved one. Community groups have also expressed an interest in donating to the program.

"I got a call from the Rotary and they wanted to purchase a couple of trees," Presley said.

For more information on the Adopt-a-Tree program, call Greg Presley at 349-1124.

Our Opinion

Sad to watch the loss of hospital site group

Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital suddenly finds itself without its unique, volunteer site-visitation group — and we believe its elimination is a mistake.

Hospital Director Walter Brown ended the group's five years of operation with a recent decision that the hospital doesn't need it any longer. Its efforts duplicate functions of hospital administration, he reasoned, and so the group as a whole has no real value. Even while praising the individuals comprising the group, he said the overall result has become negative.

We don't disagree with Brown about the duplication of functions; he's the one who would know about such things, and it may well be true. But we strongly take issue with a statement that the group has no real value.

Different perspectives offer different opinions of how much actual change the group has effected at the hospital. Group members tend to think they've accomplished more than the hospital administration thinks they have; Brown says improvements would have come with or without the volunteer visitors and their notebooks.

Maybe so. Brown certainly deserves credit, as we've noted here before, for leading the hospital back to accredited status. The group has probably contributed, in some degree, to improvements at the hospital. But just because improvements have been made does not mean its function ends.

The 40-member group visited the hospital site to talk with patients, monitor patient/employee ratios, and note improvements it considered important. Those were the official purposes.

But along with those duties came a side benefit. The presence of the group — the knowledge that it existed, and that it was making regular visits — helped public confidence in the overall operation. It's simply a nice check and balance to have a volunteer, layperson organization with regular access to the hospital and its patients. The group does not have to ferret out poor conditions; it can simply serve as an assurance that conditions remain good.

Dropping such a group so abruptly raises suspicions, no matter how unjustified they may be: Why don't they want people in there? What are they trying to hide?

We're confident that nobody's trying to hide anything, and a site-visitation group can let the community at large know that such is the case. If there are people concerned and caring enough to perform this function, the hospital should allow them to do so.

Brown reasons that the hospital administration must ultimately take responsibility for monitoring the facility and making improvements. Of course they must. But the administration can and should view the continued presence of a site-visitation group as a positive contribution to these efforts. Such a group certainly helps public confidence in the hospital, and may even offer some useful suggestions. An added perspective can't hurt.

Brown hoped the hospital could "get past" the need for a group like this. From our point of view, the group is not something to get past; it's a useful part of efforts toward high-quality mental health care. It shouldn't end like this.

This, that and the other thing

Items from our catalog . . .

● It's nice to know that some things never change.

When I was in college, the food served in the commons was . . . well, just like the food served in any college. Terrible. So whenever I could scrounge up a couple of dollars, by collecting returnable bottles or selling a story to the local newspaper, I'd order food.

One year in particular I got into a rut of ordering a submarine sandwich from Pizza King, one of the many fine similar establishments dotting the landscape around Alma College. My habit came to an abrupt halt, however, when one night a guy at Pizza King answered the phone; I said, "I'd like to order a sub;" and the guy responded, "Is this 312 Maple?"

Well, of course it was, and I was so embarrassed to be in such a rut that I don't think I ever called Pizza King again. (Pizza Sam, just down the street, was better anyway.)

This was all in the distant past until last night. My wife and I decided to get dinner from the Pizza Cutter (which incidentally beats even Pizza Sam all hollow). My wife made the call this time. She gave our name, but before she had a chance to get the address out, they said, "That's okay. We know where you live."

This time, however, it's not going to stop us from calling again.

● I had an odd thought the other day after calling someone and asking that they send me some information.

I specifically asked the person to "drop it in the mail," but that phrase made me stop and think. Fax machines have become so popular, it seems like everyone has access to one in some way. If I had asked the person to fax what I needed, I would have received it a lot quicker — and I'm sure it would have cost a great deal less than a first-class stamp.

This is the odd thought: Are we approaching a time where the postal service, at least for purposes of most day-to-day business correspondence, simply becomes obsolete? We may be close to it already. The march of technology continues, and nobody can do a thing to even slow it down.

● It's Poppy Days time.

The annual Poppy Campaign in Northville, organized this year by Dianne Wilder of the American Legion Auxiliary, takes place today through Saturday.

The pre-Memorial Day paper poppies offered by veterans and auxiliary members recall the sacrifices made by members of the armed forces. The symbol of the poppy derives from the poem "In Flanders Fields."

Look for the Poppy Campaigners around town, and think about making a donation. It's for a good cause.

Reflections on the Jaycees

I'm not a Jaycee anymore. Technically, I'm too old. I fall into the "exhausted rooster" category, which is what Jaycees call former members who pass the age limit.

But I used to be a member of the Northville Jaycees. And it was with more than a passing interest that I read Steve Kellman's story in The Record's May 6 edition about the demise of the Northville chapter.

You saw it. It was on the front page under the headline, "Jaycees lose state affiliation."

I'm not doing much research for this column . . . not going back to the morgue to look up old stories. Instead, I'm writing it off the top of my head. Writing from memory.

The Northville Jaycees chapter was started in 1956. I was too young to belong in those days. Heck, my family had just moved to Northville and I was still in junior high school, specializing in study hall under the tutelage of Ida B. Cooke.

The first president of the Northville Jaycees, if memory serves me correctly, was Bob Prom.

I did not join the Jaycees until the late 1960s. It was the thing to do. The Northville group had worked hard but did not really come into prominence until a man named Dave VanHine got involved. VanHine was a short, heavy-set fellow who always had a five o'clock shadow regardless of how recently he had shaved.

And VanHine was the guy who really turned the group around. I still marvel at his motivational skills, which can be summed up in one word, "beer."

Our fearless leader was always making bets with Jaycee chapters from other communities. He made bets with only the biggest and best chapters in the state, and the stakes were always the same — a keg of beer.

"VanHine," we'd groan. "How could you bet Livonia on a membership drive? Or, 'Why did you challenge Plymouth to better attendance at the state convention?'"

But we never lost a keg. And within a few years the Northville Jaycees won the award as the best chapter in the state through the hard work and dedication of such stalwarts as VanHine, the late Pete Magnan, Dick Norton, Dick Rayburn and numerous others.

The biggest project of the year was the Fourth of July Parade. We had numerous other projects, but the one that brought the most public exposure — and cost the most to execute — was the parade.

It took almost a full year of planning to do the job right. The first item of business at the first board meeting after July 4 was to appoint the chairman of next year's parade.

Work began immediately. There's a lot of competition between parades in various communities for the best groups, and it was essential that you contact them early — make sure you get in your bid for the best equestrian groups, antique car clubs, that fabulous kiltie band from Windsor.

And once you got the group in your parade, you had to take good care of them. Some groups wanted to be paid; others were enticed by the size and quality of the trophies. Some just wanted to be taken care of well. Jaycees would be assigned to individual groups to make sure they had no hassle at the parade staging area . . . that they were fed well . . . that they received whatever trophies and ribbons they might win in the parade in a timely fashion.

The Fourth itself was an incredibly busy day. We usually met for breakfast around 6 a.m. and spent the entire rest of the day taking care of business. Organizing the parade, selling those all-important raffle tickets (it takes big bucks to put on a first-rate Fourth of July celebration complete with fireworks), working at the chicken barbecue, assisting with traffic control, all the things that had to be done.

We even had to pick guys to wear clown suits and follow the horses and elephants in the parade with wheelbarrows and shovels.

We went hard from 6 in the morning until 10 or 11 at night when we would reconvene for an afterglow, which most of us were too tired to go to anyway.

At any rate, those were grand days. I have always had the greatest respect for the Jaycees; I've often felt they were one of the hardest-working service clubs around.

And I'm particularly sorry to see the Northville chapter fall on tough times. Good Jaycee chapters, I've always felt, make good communities.

CEMS response time disputed

To the editor:

This is in response to the article written by Steve Kellman regarding CEMS in your May 9 edition. I feel compelled to correct the information given in your article. The article referenced a 13 minute response time to a call on Elmsmere Drive. As I placed the call, I can tell you with certainty the following: 1. The response time was over 13 minutes. 2. Elmsmere Drive has been closed at Beck for over two years. An ambulance company should be up to date on road changes. 3. I drove to the hospital at the posted speed limit and arrived slightly before the ambulance.

This brings up the most disturbing part of your article. You state, "The victim refused transportation to a hospital after emergency crews arrived." This is absolutely false! There was no question that the "victim" needed and did indeed go to the hospital by ambulance. Who told you the service was refused and why did they provide you with false information? Was it an attempt to take away from the fact that the ambulance was delayed and lost? Are we dealing with sloppy journalism or deliberate misinformation?

One word you used was accurate, however. You referred to the patient as a "victim."

I am asking you to withhold my name as I have no interest in the controversy surrounding the emergency service company. I do have an interest and feel you have an obligation to report the information factually and without bias.

Name withheld by request

Editor's note: The information cited as incorrect in the article was provided to the Record by Northville City Fire Chief Jim Allen. Allen has since said he "mis spoke" when he told a reporter the victim refused to be transported.

The 13-minute response time was from the time the fire department's first response team left the fire hall, at 3:17 a.m., to the time that CEMS arrived on the scene, according to fire and police department records. The first call for medical assistance came into the police station switchboard at, according to police records. The records show that the fire department was notified at 3:13 a.m. and CEMS was notified at 3:14 a.m., giving the ambulance company a 16-minute response time from its first notification or 17 minutes from when the call first came into the police switchboard.

The article did state that the Beck Road entrance to Elmsmere Drive was closed "several years ago."

Assessment system is assailed

To the editor:

When a person lives in a home for years and his property taxes are raised 15 percent, the assessor claims that based on sales of two years ago, your property assessment is correct.

By the same token, when you bought a house two years ago, you would expect your property tax assessment would be the same. Not so.

You appeal your increase, show them what you paid for it, and it is like talking to a dead horse. They have no logic or common sense.

They are told to raise more money and it is just a waste of your time and theirs.

I estimate that our condo development pays $650,000 a year in taxes. Eighty-five percent goes for schools and we have no more than 24 children in school. That equals about $22,000 per student. Please don't tell me you need more money. The local paper always has an article on how financially bad off the schools are.

The Shores of Northville is always in the paper. I've attended a couple of meetings with the Zoning Board and I can see why.

I am not saying the developer is 100 percent correct but when Ms. Baja (chairperson) tells the lawyer for the developer he has five minutes to state his case, I see that she has made up her mind. It's NO.

Instead of working with the developer, they would rather spend thousands in court while the project goes broke. He has been told by the DNR to stay off the property. In the paper (May 2) the schools need more money for new schools as the township is growing. At the rate new subdivisions are developing, we don't have to worry. The township will throw enough blocks in the way to stop them.

Last July, the Zoning Board agreed that one half of the Thomsons' Escrow Fund would be returned to them as the township engineer said that the developer had complied. Almost a year later, they have to go to the court for their money. Their word isn't worth a darn.

Please don't ask me for a millage increase as I've had it with the brains running our system.

The DeMatia big deal is on hold so we don't need schools for his project for a few years.

When you have been self-employed like my clients and I have been for the past 30 years and the money gets a little thin, you do like we do, tie a knot at the end of the rope and hang on.

Thanks for working together to save lives

To the editor:

As the Student Assistance Program Coordinator at Northville High School, I am acutely aware of the damages of drinking as well as drinking and driving for not only of age but the under-age population. On Friday, May 3, the senior class held its senior prom and it was a glorious, festive occasion. The part that really made it worthwhile for myself and others in the business of keeping people healthy was the cooperation among the senior class, Northville High School SADD and the community.

There it was on the prom key chains: "Northville High School 'A Night to Remember, May 3, 1991' " and on the back "Friends Don't Let Friends Drive Drunk." From NHS S.A.D.D. Chapter. Total cooperation between a group of fine senior class officers and our great S.A.D.D. officers and members with the goal of making this a positive night to remember. Drinking and driving is not cool and can kill and ruin people.

On top of that Ron Bodnar, owner of Copy Boy Printer in Northville, donated his time and resources to print up "free" 40 tabletop signs which stated "Friends Don't Let Friends Drive Drunk." Isn't that beautiful!

Thanks senior class, SADD and Copy Boy for working together to save lives!

Thanks for efforts at the planting bee

To the editor:

To all the willing souls who braved the heat to participate in the Mother of all planting bees, a special thanks for your efforts from the Northville Historical Society. It was accomplished the old fashioned way, toiling by much sweat of brow, as the ghost of William Purdy Yerkes looked on in quiet agreement. And now plants . . . grow.

Danger signs may warn of suicide

Pam is a 16-year-old, average student. The past few weeks she has been sent to the school nurse for headaches. At times, her teacher has noticed her daydreaming. When Pam is asked if something is wrong, she says, "Oh, nothing, I'm O.K."

As a parent or a teacher or a school counselor, should we be concerned about Pam? The answer is "yes." Pam is showing some of the danger signs that are characteristic of someone considering suicide. Pam's behavior is changing. She is becoming withdrawn. She won't talk. And she has a physical complaint.

Between the ages of 8 and 14, suicide is the eighth leading cause of death. Among the 15- to 24-year-olds the rate dramatically jumps to the third leading cause of death. There has been a 300-percent increase in suicide in 30 years of the 15- to 24-year-old age group. Michigan has the 10th highest suicide rate in the nation.

We should be alarmed with these statistics and we should know how to recognize a potential suicide victim and know how to help them.

No one can say for sure why a particular young person chooses to die. The helplessness and hopelessness that often lead to suicide may result from a combination of factors such as depression, family problems, a significant loss, pressure to succeed, problems growing up or poor self-esteem.

In order to effectively help such young adults, we must be aware of suicidal clues. These clues include the following: verbal threats, like "you'd be better off without me" or "I wish I were dead." Changes in behavior such as becoming withdrawn as Pam did, beginning to take unusual risks, using or abusing alcohol or drugs, giving away personal possessions such as favorite articles of clothing or records, changing eating or sleeping habits, experiencing prolonged feelings of anxiety, restlessness, fatigue, hopelessness or guilt, losing interest in usual activities, receiving a dramatic drop in grades; falling asleep in class, having emotional outbursts in class, engaging in sexual promiscuity, behaving in an attention-getting manner, and experiencing sudden happiness following a prolonged period of depression.

It's possible that someone who exhibits suicidal behavior may have no intention of ending his or her life. But don't wait to find out. Take action right away. A person who's considering suicide desperately needs to know that others care.

BE DIRECT — Talk openly to find out how serious the person is about ending their life. Ask questions such as the following: "Are you considering suicide? Do you have a plan? Will you talk with someone who can help?"

BE A GOOD LISTENER — Listen with your eyes as well as your ears. Look for nonverbal clues that show how the person is feeling. Avoid making moral judgments or acting shocked or disgusted. Don't argue or lecture.

SHOW THAT YOU CARE — Tell the person that you're always willing to talk about things that may be troubling him or her. Reassure the person that you care and that others feel the same way.

GET HELP — Seeking professional help is a must! And the more detailed the person's plans, the more quickly you must act.

Northville Youth Assistance is here to help. Call 344-1618 if you have needs or questions.

Tales of efficient government, etc.

It's fashionable to say politicians are dumb and inefficient while business people are smart and efficient.

So here are two unfashionable stories to the contrary.

State government's budget is $1 billion out of whack, so Gov. John Engler is proposing to zero out arts subsidies, meanwhile freezing arts grants right? In the case of several suburban symphony orchestras, the damage could reach more than $9,000 a year each.

On the program cover for the most recent Livonia Symphony Orchestra concert was a sticker acknowledging a grant from Ford Motor Co. Only days before, Ford and General Motors had announced losses for the quarter — that's three months, not a full year — of $2 billion.

As state government stopped its bleeding by reducing its spending, an auto giant maintained its flow.

The other story was told by a West Bloomfield lady who read my account of state Sen. David Honigman's bill to prohibit local governments from having residency requirements.

Only government, said Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, would make a rule so obnoxious and oppressive to personal liberty.

Not so, said my caller, who told of a relative working for a paper company in Louisiana. Executives are required to live in a rinky-dink burg where the company is located. They would prefer to live in a nicer town 20 miles away with better schools.

Assuming the story is true, it suggests private business can be every bit as obnoxious as government is alleged to be.

I have a theory about groups of people.

My idea is supported by an insurance claims adjuster friend. He says 85 percent of claimants just want to be made whole; they want their losses covered — no more, no less. Ten percent are shady. Five percent are cheaters.

My theory is that 85 percent of any group — rabbis, nuns, fundamentalists, gringos, Orientals, blacks, plumbers, surgeons, bureaucrats — want to do an honest day's work for an honest day's wage, pay their fair share of taxes and live in peace. Ten percent are lazy or cut corners. Five percent are crooks.

Our figures match. Neither business nor government has any monopoly on brains, fairness and efficiency.

Suzie Heintz, in her new job as head of Gov. Engler's Detroit office, tells the story of an elderly man who came to see her with the offer of some stationery.

Five boxes worth.

"It's generic stationery — for the office of the lieutenant governor," he said.

The stationery bears the lieutenant governor's title but no name.

The donor was Hicks Griffiths, husband of former Lt. Gov. Martha Griffiths.

"We want Connie Binsfeld to have it," he said. "We like Connie."

Civil War clothing is back

By JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writer

It's real easy, according to Novi resident Jo Marie Soszynski.

Just take four long panels of cloth. Sew them together. Draw the edges in to a 26-inch-or-so-waist — this is the hard part. Then hem by hand those 180 inches at the bottom. That should take about two hours.

Don't forget to line that skirt. And maybe add a few tiers of ruffles. Or tacked-on flowers.

You're halfway to THE LOOK. The look, at least, that's in demand with a growing brigade of Civil War reenactors.

Then you stitch up a bodice, reinforced with steel stays and closed in the back with eyelets and laces. Drape it off the shoulders for the revealing look Mammy didn't want Miss Scarlett to wear to the barbecue. Or convert the basic hoop skirt to an afternoon dress with a buttoned-up bodice, maybe with pagoda or bishop sleeves.

Authenticity is the creed. A hastily revamped old prom dress doesn't make it in the re-enactment circles.

Soszynski — who's been sewing for 23 years — was dragged back to the mid-19th century by her friend Carol Bauer, whose husband, Jerry plays in the 5th Michigan Regiment Band. The Novi-based brass band takes the role played by their Livingston County counterparts during the Civil War.

Tonight, 7:30 p.m. at the Novi Civic Center, the Novi Historical Society is sponsoring a fashion show and concert by the 5th Michigan Regiment Band. Soszynski will be narrating and wearing a seamstress's gown, complete with a belt carrying the tools of her trade.

The Bauers, along with Carol Smith and her band member husband, Guy, will model costumes made by Soszynski and others.

This fall, Soszynski and the Novi Historical Society plan to present a 19th century fashion workshop, with pointers on how to sew yourself into the past, in time for Northville's Victorian Days and Novi's Pioneer Festival.

In one year, the Novi resident has made 10 Civil War women's costumes, along with an assortment of pantaloons, crocheted red petticoats and men's Garibaldi shirts. She supplies them to a downriver retailer specializing in the Civil War era, "Past Reflections."

MARGARET SURDU

PTA volunteer

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

If you are a parent, you can skip PTA or you can go and even volunteer to be on a committee.

Volunteering is how Margaret Surdu started, and eventually she became president of Northville PTA Coordinating Council — a one-year term ending on June 6.

In 1984 when a chairperson was needed for the Holiday Shop at Moraine Elementary School, where her son was in second grade, she took the job.

It was a short-term job, supplying children with order blanks for Christmas gifts they could purchase for brothers, sisters and parents. Parents OK'd the orders.

She was Holiday Shop chairperson again in 1985 when Moraine students were transferred to Amerman School.

Also in 1985 Surdu was chairperson of the sweat shirt sale at Meads Mill Middle School. Her daughter was in school there.

The next year she was secretary of PTA at Amerman, and the following year she was co-president.

Meanwhile, at Meads Mill she got involved with an organization it hosted — the Michigan Association of Middle School Educators.

"Meetings were held at the school, and I helped organize the literature for the attendees," who represented all Michigan middle schools.

Then she went into the PTA Coordinating Council. She was elected vice president, then treasurer, then vice president again, and finally president.

But there's more, she said. "I'm on the Strategic Planning Committee to originate a five-year education plan for Northville."

"I'm on three action committees: high school day, class size and community involvement."

"And I'm a member of the Parents Advisory Committee at the high school."

Why did Margaret Surdu get into PTA in the first place?

Her answer is, "I wanted to get involved in the community. And I've enjoyed it. And I'll stay active."

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

WASHINGTON—A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete "in tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Researchers in Europe found that an ingredient in the aptly named product Food Source One actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in intestinal absorption of calories.

While the development of Food Source One, a project of National Dietary Research, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal the discovery has been a windfall for overweight people. A Daytona Beach, Florida woman fighting a weight battle for 12 years used the product on the recommendation of her physician and lost 30 pounds. She stated, "Not only have I lost 30 pounds, but my cholesterol has dropped from 232 to 143. I have two closets full of clothes which have not fit me in two years that I can now wear." In a separate report, a telephone interview revealed that a Wilmington, North Carolina pharmacist lost 14 pounds in 15 days on the product and was never hungry.

Food Source One is available through physicians and pharmacies without a prescription because it is not a drug and contains only natural ingredients already known to be safe. Copies of the referenced style are available free from National Dietary Research, Suite 553, 1377 K St., Washington, DC 20005, however please include $2 Postage & Handling for each request.

Mothers' Club ends successful year

Sixteen grand. That's how much the Northville Mothers' Club raised this year for the Northville Public Schools.

The Northville Mothers' Club held their annual "year-end" meeting and potluck dinner Monday, May 6, to discuss the final figures and purchases for each public school in the Northville district.

In addition, the group presented Mothers' Club Co-founder Iris Kampf with an original pen-and-ink drawing of the original Northville High School.

The drawing, by local artist Jane Martin, will hang in Northville High School with a nameplate honoring Kampf.

"This has been a real successful year," said Mothers' Club Spokesperson Bonnie St. Thomas. "Every time we say how much money is in the bank, we feel rich."

"The Life Members were shocked when we stated how much we had in the bank," St. Thomas said. "They were saying that 20 years ago, when they had $1,000, they felt like they had donated a lot of money."

The major fund-raising event for the Mothers' Club this year was the Christmas Open House event, a collection of parties held by members of the group. Partygoers donated Upcoming events for next year may include a fashion show and a cookbook sale.

Civil War era re-created

Sozysnalski hopes to soon start her own company, custom-making fashion that was outmoded when your grandma was still cutting her teeth.

But this seamstress doesn't want to pin herself down to one fashion era. Already, she's been approached by War of 1812 re-enactors. She's got a commission to create medieval jester suits for a Halloween costume, although her own taste for historic dress runs to the elegant lines of the 1920s or the French Directoire era.

Sozysnalski doesn't just make the outerwear. A costume typically includes the petticoat, the underpetticoat, the camisole and the pantaloons. The pantaloons were designed for modesty when it was discovered that the wind had a way of whooshing up a hoop skirt.

"Prior to the 1860s, ladies did not wear underwear. I'm quite shocked," she said.

Hoop skirts were adopted as a comfort measure, replacing layers of heavy petticoats. At the time, newspaper columnists predicted they would be the ideal dress for shoplifters, who would dangle stolen goods from the steel bands.

Bauer and Smith say the garments are not as uncomfortable as they look. The two women can hop into a van in full dress.

During the bicentennial, re-enacting the Civil War era became a hobby — or obsession — with thousands of Americans, according to Smith. During the summer, the 5th Michigan Regiment Band will take to the road two to three weekends a month.

Frequently, Sozysnalski dresses up with her friends and goes out on the town, including trooping down to Civil War Days, a recent re-enactment weekend at Detroit's historic Fort Wayne.

But Sozysnalski refuses to wear a corset: "I can't wear that thing. I have to wear a strapless bra, that's enough."

Sozysnalski, who studied home economics at Madonna College, concedes sewing is a dying art. Tailoring

Victorian fashions also requires reviving completely moribund skills, like deciphering instructions when what we call mohair they called Berlin wool or coping with 19th century patterns made for scaled down body sizes. Their size 12 is our size 6.

Even the names of Victorian colors were, well, more colorful. What we call gray, our predecessors called "frightened mouse." Our green is their "lovesick toad."

Sozysnalski has even ventured into knitting and crocheting beaded bags. She and her husband once spent a Christmas vacation stringing 7,000 beads, which she then knitted into a two-sided purse called a "miser's bag."

After she made herself a brown tafeta ballgown, she took it out for a whirl at a Civil War-style dance in Port Huron.

"The fun part is trying to dance in something like that. The hoops will start to rock and you'd feel you're out of control," she said.

Museum displays Main Street

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Writer

Picture a time when Main Street was the center of activity in every small town. A time when a small factory, a general store and a train station could all be found within walking distance on that Main Street.

Although those days may seem long ago, at the Plymouth Historical Museum, they can be revisited. Located at the intersection of Main and Church streets in downtown Plymouth, the museum offers patrons a glimpse into the past of Plymouth.

According to Executive Director Beth Stewart, a major attraction at the museum is its "Main Street" exhibit. She said the exhibit, which has been part of the museum since its opening, depicts what the town actually looked like after the coming of the railroad in the 1870s.

"It's pretty representative of business and what was in downtown Plymouth," Stewart said.

The historical museum opened its doors to the public in 1976. Since then, Stewart said, the focus of the museum has been to educate the community and present its historical artifacts in a way that the public can relate to.

"My thing is that when somebody can walk in and say, 'I remember that,'" she said, "there is a connection."

Besides Main Street, the museum features a host of interesting exhibits and historical information.

Before the Big Three were big, Plymouth had its own car manufacturing company. Stewart said the "Altor Motor Car Company" was located in the city from 1914 to 1917.

The auto maker produced a 27-horsepower touring car that retailed for about $650. Stewart said the company, which only assembled the vehicle in Plymouth, claimed to build a better car than Ford.

"It was competitive to Ford," she said. "But Ford was producing cars for $200 less."

As a result, the company moved to Grand Haven in 1917 and later produced military vehicles. An example of the Altor touring car may be found on Main Street in the museum.

The museum also has an extensive area devoted to its "Victorian Rooms," Stewart said. The rooms showcase home life from that period, spanning four decades from 1870 to 1910.

Complementing the Victorian theme is the facility's current major exhibit, a tribute to Plymouth bands and musical instruments from the era.

The Plymouth Historical Museum will offer a trip back in time

A lifelike scene is presented at the museum's main exhibit area. Two women, dressed in Victorian attire, sit and listen to the band as they play in their bright-looking uniforms.

Instruments, either donated or on loan, are abundant in and around the exhibit. Genuine uniforms of the bands, still neatly pressed, can also be found.

No visit to the Plymouth Historical Museum, however, would be complete without a stop in its archives section.

Complete sets of the "Michigan Pioneer Collection" and the "Official Records of the Union and Confederate Armies" can be found in the section. In addition, maps, photos and newspapers from Plymouth and the surrounding area are available to every visitor of the museum.

"Many people come to the museum for two reasons," Stewart said. "One, they're here to do research for the genealogy. Two, they come to look at (pictures of) old houses."

Admission rates for the museum are $1.50 for adults, 50 cents for children and children under the age of 5 are free. For more information call 455-8940.

The Mean Streak, now open at Cedar Point, lays claim to being the world's highest wooden roller coaster.

MEAN STREAK

Cedar Point unveils new coaster

By DORIS SCHARFENBERG
Special Writer

Notice to persons who love to be slammed-dunked through walls of negative gravity: Another stomach-defying gratification is cranked up and ready for your screams.

The world's highest wooden roller coaster was launched last Saturday, May 11, at Cedar Point in Sandusky, Ohio.

The Mean Streak, a $7.5 million basket-weave of cross beams and buttressed pillars, containing 1.5 million board feet of Southern yellow pine, has been checked and rechecked for the big day. Three 28-passenger trains have had their wheels, bolts and seat belts inspected.

Passengers sit in steel-framed vehicles with wooden sides, L-shaped lap bars, a seat belt, padded seat divider and high-backed seats.

The cars take coaster-manics to the top of a 160-foot-high lift hill and drop them 155 feet at a 52-degree angle, reaching speeds of 65 miles an hour when the track levels out five feet above the ground.

The coaster's mile-long track traces an oblong path three times while navigating 12 hills and valleys.

Why wood? Timber was used in the Mean Streak because a more pliable wooden structure gives riders an out-of-control feeling that can't be duplicated on steel coasters. In 1990, fans took more than 14.3 million rides on Cedar Point's scream machines, which the Guinness Book of Records describes as the largest collection of its kind in the world.

One classic, the Corkscrew, flips riders upside down three times, sometimes directly above the midway. Sending you downhill wet is the specialty of Soak City, an adjacent but separate Cedar Point attraction. There are 10 slithering water slides (one via inner tubes) plus a splashy section for the tadpole set where kids slide through chutes and ladders, a training ground for the big stuff.

If riding the hills is not your cup of coffee, Cedar Point has other lures: Bengal tigers in circus acts, live stage shows, a ferris wheel, jungle safari, roving musicians, dolphin and sea lion stunts, storybook characters and a 67-by-88 foot IMAX movie screen showing a film about transportation.

The history of Cedar Point as a playground goes back more than 100 years, with one of the original old hotels still on duty. The Breakers, built in 1905, has been designated a National Historic Landmark. Its Tiffany glass touches and a five-story rotunda are close to the fun, but far from the pace of the theme park.

The new Sandcastle Suites Hotel and a camper's village, also on the grounds of Cedar Point, offer alternate nearby accommodations, but you must reserve early.

For information call your travel agent or Cedar Point at (419) 627-2119. Theme park admission rates this year are $21.95 for adults and $11.95 for anyone of any age who is 48 inches or shorter.

You may find discounted tickets through one of the organizations you belong to. Groups of 25 or more can buy admission tickets for $16.

Yellow Ribbon Summer program offers Desert Storm scholarships

The Anheuser-Busch Companies, Inc., which owns four Sea World and two Busch Gardens facilities, as well as Cypress Gardens in Florida, has joined forces with the United Service Organization (USO) in a program called Yellow Ribbon Summer.

The program includes a $1.2 million Desert Storm Scholarship Fund for the children and spouses of American soldiers killed in the Persian Gulf. The scholarships can be used at any college, junior college or accredited school of vocational training without regard to either financial need or academic achievement.

Interested recipients can contact USO world headquarters in Washington D.C. by calling (202) 783-8121.

The program also allows all active-duty military and active reservists and their immediate dependents to visit any of the company's seven entertainment parks free from Armed Forces Day (May 18) through Labor Day (Sept. 2).

The parks include Sea World parks in San Diego, California; San Antonio, Texas; Orlando, Florida; and Aurora, Ohio, near Cleveland. Free admission is available also at the Busch Gardens parks in Williamsburg, Virginia, and Tampa, Florida, as well as the Cypress Gardens in Winter Haven, Florida.

The USO celebrated its 50th anniversary in February. It serves more than two million military personnel and their families.

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, will hold its 16th annual Historic Home Tour from noon to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, May 18 and 19. "Promenade the Past 1991" includes seven restored homes as well as the old stone church which is the headquarters for the Tecumseh Area Historical Society and the Promenade itself.

Tickets are $5 before May 17, $6 the day of the tour, $5 anytime for seniors and students. For information call (517) 423-2374.

THE BAHAMAS is offering a new wrinkle, maybe two new wrinkles, to the travel scene. The promotion-minded islands, determined to jump-start a summer season, has appointed Vernal Sands "Director of Sunshine."

His first official act is to launch an Adult Spring Break promotion that gives travelers a chance to combine some of the college-style shenanigans with other Bahamas attractions at a discount between May 24 and June 30. Bookings made by June 20 entitle you to special air and hotel rates, with packages starting as low as $350 for a three night stay.

It's a promotion, but it brings up an important point. The Caribbean is not much hotter in summer than in winter. We go south mid-winter because it's cold here. And we don't usually go to the islands mid-summer because it's hot here. Check it out with your travel agent.

Michigan celebrates 'morel month'

The championships and festival may be over, but May is still "morel month" and you can still join the mushroom lovers who are prowling around Michigan northwoods.

It may be a tongue-twister, but April showers and warm temperatures bring on Michigan's luscious morel crop.

Although last year's harvest was not as good as previous years because of a dry April, mushroom hunters are hopeful that this season will produce an abundant supply of morels. And so are tourism officials, since a good morel crop brings in thousands of visitors.

"About half a million people residing in and out of the state head for the Michigan north each year to hunt mushrooms," reports Peter Erickson, AAA Michigan Club Services director. "Hotel rooms, restaurants and shops all benefit from morel fever."

Many folks with morel-mania, especially from Ohio and Indiana, also stay overnight in Michigan campgrounds in their search for the elusive morel.

The Black morels, which usually surface in late April or early May, are in full bloom. White morels, which fruit about a week later, are followed by giant morels.

Mushroom-hunters say the best spot to find morels is in the upper half of the Lower Peninsula in woods near the base of hardwood trees and in hilly areas.

If you ask a hunter where to find the mushrooms, he's likely to say something like "east of town."

Which town?

Peter Fitzsimons of the Boyne Country Convention and Visitors Bureau says the best places to look are on state lands, on hills, "not on low land, swamps or pine country."

"Stop into a local chamber of commerce and get a map of state land," he said. "Look for 'no trespassing' signs, because not all state land is public."

Experts advise the most important point to know about morel hunting is how to recognize false morels which could be poisonous. Inexperienced pickers should hunt with a knowledgeable guide.

When morel hunting, wear comfortable long-sleeve shirts and long pants to avoid insect bites and poisonous plants. Bring a paring knife to cut morel stems and a paper sack or basket to carry the mushrooms.

It's also a good idea to bring a compass if hunting in unfamiliar territory.

Erickson added that morel hunting can be cheaper than purchasing the savory mushroom, since a pound will average anywhere between $8 and $18 this season, depending on availability.

Mustang tracksters turn back Franklin

Boys grab first-ever WLAA division title

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

A year ago, the Northville boys notched their first winning track season since 1977. Last week, the Mustangs completed a resurgence of the program by securing the team's first-ever WLAA Western Division title.

An 82-55 dual-meet win over Livonia Franklin on May 9 clinched the crown. Northville is now 4-0 in the division with one meet remaining.

"(Livonia) Churchill was the only team in the division that had one loss, but (Plymouth) Canton beat them last Thursday, so we are two ahead with one meet left," Mustang Coach Dennis Faletti explained. "Heading into the season, I thought we had a fairly good team, but you never know how you will match up against everybody else. The key is that we continue to develop every week."

Against the Patriots, Northville won 10 of 17 events, including all four relay races. The winning 400-meter team included Ryan Huzjak, Matt Hemp, Jamie Miller and Bill Kelley (45.9), and the 800 crew featured Huzjak, Chris Lehr, Miller and Kelley (1:34.2). Mark Hillfinger, Lehr, Miller and Rob Subotich won the mile relay (3:40.9), and the two-mile four-some included Jason Petrie, Ammanuel Liben, Kevin McGilinchey and Mike Negri (8:37.5).

A strong performance in the field events also aided Northville. The Mustangs outscored Franklin 33-12 in that area with four firsts and 1-2-3 sweeps in the shot put and discus. In the shot put, Bob Holloway (44'-9"), Kevin Gill (42'-11") and John Gatti (40'-3 3/4") took the top three spots. The places changed but the names were the same in the discus: Gill was first (138'-5"), Holloway second (134'-1") and Gatti third (131'-1").

In other field event action, Pete Beyersdorf was first (6'-1") and Lehr second (6'-0") in the high jump, and Miller won the long jump (20'-3/4") with Kelly adding a third (18'-10").

The rest of the wins came from Bret Butz in the 110 hurdles (15.82) and Subotich in the 400 (51.9). The Northville seconds included Todd Osborn in the 110 hurdles (16.89), Butz in the 300 hurdles (45.6), Kelley in the 200 (23.7), Hillfinger in the 400 (53.3), McGilinchey in the 800 (2:09.2) and Beyersdorf in the mile (4:59.2). The thirds came from Brian Dogonski in the 100 (11.69) and the 200 (24.09).

In all, Northville had a 53-12 advantage in the field events and relays.

"We have the depth and that helps us to be strong in the relays," Faletti explained. "That's been the big difference in our turnaround: depth and a good attitude."

The Mustangs (7-1 overall) hosted Churchill on May 15 (after Record deadline) to wrap up the regular season. The team will compete at the MHSAA Regional on May 18 at Novi.

"I think this regional is the toughest in the state," Faletti said, "with the KVC schools like Novi and Brighton, the Ann Arbor schools, Ypsilanti and the Plymouth schools."

A top-two individual finish automatically qualifies a competitor for the state meet. There are also qualifying standards based on times and distances for anyone who doesn't place in the top two.

Girls secure winning season with triumph

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

The Northville girls secured the program's first winning season since 1985 on May 9 with an exciting 66-62 track victory over WLAA Western Division rival Livonia Franklin.

"It was close but we ran well," Mustang Coach Ann Turnbull said. "We had some good times."

Northville won just eight of 16 events, but prevailed in three of four relays. The 1,600 relay team of Kendra Huard, Angie Tune, Trish Lukomski and Mari Kissenger took first-place honors in 4:25.8. Valerie Bassin, Kissenger, Lukomski and Alana Bradley teamed up to win the 400 relay (54.0) and the 800 relay team — featuring Huard, Lukomski, Kissenger and Bassin — also added a win (1:55.5).

The rest of the Mustangs firsts came from Bradley in the long jump (15'-10 1/2") and the 100-meter dash (13.4), Lisa Almone in the high jump (4'-10"), Lukomski in the 200 (27.3) and Tune in the 300 hurdles (52.3).

The runner-up efforts included Ris Fleming in the high jump (4'-10"), Claire Cryderman in the 1,600 (6:04.4) and the 3,200 (13:50.9), Huard in the 400 (66.1), Megan Holmberg in the 800 (2:37.6), Bradley in the 200 (27.4) and Kissenger in the shot put (27'-3/4"). The thirds came from Tune in the long jump (14'-11 1/2"), Julie Buser in the high jump (4'-10") and the 400 (68.5), Marci Bolger in the 100 (14.4), Kamal Bagga in the 800 (2:46.4) and Susan Weix in the 3,200 (13:55.7).

"It was close but we ran well. We had some good times."

ANN TURNBULL
Track coach

CLARESTON RELAYS: Northville placed third at this eight-team event on May 11 with 76 points. Livonia Stevenson (156) won it and the host Wolves (78) were second.

"It was a nice meet," Turnbull said. "We took medals (top-six) in all but three events and we were just two points out of second place."

The Mustangs' only first place effort came from Bradley in the 200. Northville added seconds from Lukomski in the 200, Bradley in the long jump, and the 400 relay team of Bassin, Kissenger, Lukomski and Bradley.

The 1,600 relay team (with Tune, Buser, Kissenger and Lukomski) placed third. The fourth place efforts included Weix in the 3,200, Holmberg in the 800 and Cheryl Mittman, Bagga, Tune and Holmberg in the 3,200 relay.

Buser added a pair of fifths (high jump and 400), Tune was fifth in the 300 hurdles, Bagga was sixth in the 800 and Roopal Vashi was sixth in the 1,600.

Northville is now 5-2 overall, 2-2 in the WLAA Western Division.

BRENT BARZANTNY

Northville baseball squad falls to 3-14

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

Northville's Mike Lang may be one of the most unfortunate pitchers in baseball history.

The 6-foot-6 fireballer has an impressive earned run average (1.81) and has registered 33 strikeouts in just 36 1/3 innings — but he's still looking for the season's first victory. Lang is currently 0-6.

Lang suffered another tough loss on May 6 when the Mustangs fell to Farmington Harrison 3-2. Northville went on to drop three more last week to extend the team's losing streak to seven.

Mustang Coach Bob Frellick was unavailable for comment.

The locals went ahead 1-0 against Harrison in the first inning without the aid of the hit, but the Hawks tied it in the bottom of the inning and then took the lead with two unearned runs in the third. Brent Barzantny knocked in a run in the sixth, but it wasn't enough.

Lang allowed six hits and five walks but fanned three and only gave up one earned run. The Northville batters went 6-for-29 in the game.

LIVONIA CHURCHILL 8, NORTHVILLE 3: The Mustangs actually led the Chargers 2-1 after three innings on May 9, but Churchill scored seven times in the final three innings to win it going away.

George Smovjer delivered a two-out single that scored Northville's first two runs in the third, but in the fourth, Churchill regained the lead with a four-run rally that chased starter Brad Balser.

Danny Walsh knocked in a run in the sixth for the Mustangs, and that narrowed the deficit to 6-3, but the Chargers responded with two runs on just two hits in the bottom of the inning to round out the scoring.

Balser suffered the loss, but Churchill scored just one earned run against him in the 3 1/2 innings. Jerry Birdsall and Smovjer each went 2-for-4 for Northville, but the rest of the team managed just four hits combined.

DETROIT SOUTHWESTERN 11-5, NORTHVILLE 1-0: The Mustangs totaled just seven hits and one run in a doubleheader loss to the visiting Prospectors in a non-conference clash on May 11.

In the opener, Lang was tagged for seven hits, but only five of Southwestern's 11 runs were earned. The Prospectors scored at least one run in six of seven innings, including a three-run homer in the sixth by Ricky Ramsey.

Northville's lone run came in the fourth on a Barzantny RBI.

In the nightcap, Smovjer pitched a solid game but was tagged with the loss. He went seven innings and allowed just two earned runs on seven hits. Offensively, the Mustangs had four singles and stranded eight baserunners.

The team's record drops to 3-14 overall and 0-10 in the WLAA.

Kickers tie No. 3 Troy Athens, 1-1

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

The Northville kickers haven't found a way to beat a top-10 opponent yet this season, but the Mustangs did the next best thing on May 11 with a 1-1 tie against third-ranked Troy Athens.

The outing was a rematch of the 1989 state finals (won 1-0 by the Red Hawks), but No. 7 Northville dominated the play in the first half last Saturday, and took a 1-0 lead into halftime. The only Mustang goal came midway through the half on a Marcie Dart penalty kick. She was awarded the shot after being flagrantly hauled down by a defender just six yards in front of the Athens net.

"I thought we played a good first half," Mustang Coach Bob Paul said. "We put on most of the pressure and I thought we had the advantage going into the second half."

Athens picked up its play in the second half, however, and finally got the equalizer with 16 minutes remaining on a goal by Liz Deperno. For the match, the Mustangs had a 14-8 advantage in the shots-on-goal department.

"I thought we played well enough to beat Athens," Paul said. "If we can continue to play like this, we should end the season with some wins."

NORTHVILLE 2, FARMINGTON 0: The Falcons were ranked No. 1 a year ago, but suffered heavy graduation losses. Despite that, the team is still a threat.

"Farmington's lost some key players, but they are still a fine team," Paul said. "It was a solid game for us and a good prep game for Athens."

Renee Androsian gave the Mustangs a 1-0 halftime lead with a first half tally, and then Dart rounded out the scoring in the second half with a goal off a pass from Amy Goode.

NORTHVILLE 4, GRAND BLANC 0: The Mustangs traveled to Grand Blanc for a non-conference clash with the Bobcats on May 6, and came away with an impressive shutout.

"It was a great game," Paul said. "(Grand Blanc) has a good program, but we played even better than we did against Farmington."

Neither team scored in the first half or in the first 20 minutes of the second. But in the final 20 minutes, Northville exploded for four goals, including three by Valerie Schuerman. Ashley MacLean also notched a goal.

"We substituted a lot and I think we were fresher at the end," Paul explained.

The Mustangs (10-3-1 overall, 3-1 in the WLAA Western Division) will host the first round of the WLAA playoffs today (May 16) against either Farmington, Plymouth Salem or Livonia Churchill.

Marcie Dart (10) tries to maneuver around an Athens defender

Krygier finishes season

Left wing Todd Krygier of Northville recently completed his second season with the Hartford Whalers of the National Hockey League.

Krygier finished the season ninth in team scoring with 30 points (13 goals, 17 assists) in 72 games. His 13 goals included three game-tying tallies and two game-winners. Krygier — the all-time leading scorer at the University of Connecticut — was a Supplemental Draft pick in 1988.

He was recently selected to play for the United States at the World Championships in Finland, and promptly scored two goals in his first game, a 4-1 win over Czechoslovakia. Krygier then helped propel Team USA into the medal round for the first time in six years by scoring the winning goal against host Finland on April 26.

"It was definitely one of the most exciting and most important goals I ever scored," he said. "Everyone here seemed surprised that I took that shot. But it is something very basic. Skate down the wing and fire. I was not too far out. That's how a lot of goals are scored in the NHL, too."

The Whalers finished in fourth place in the Adams Division with a 31-38-11 record. In the playoffs, Hartford fell to Boston four games to two in the first round of the NHL's best-of-seven series. Krygier played in all six games, notching two assists.

MHSAA releases post-season dates

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

For the first time in years, the Northville and Novi varsity teams won't be travel partners for the 1991 Michigan High School Athletic Association spring tournaments — at least in sports like baseball, softball and boys' tennis.

Due to their close proximity, the Mustangs and Wildcats are usually paired together at the same district and regional sites for post-season action. But this time the MHSAA has opted for a change.

The following are the post season sites and dates for the Northville and Novi spring sports teams:

BASEBALL: The Mustangs will play in the 11-team Southfield District, along with squads like Livonia Churchill and Franklin.

The Wildcats will play host to the District 12 tournament from May 31-June 1. The 10-team field will include local teams like Brighton, Milford and both Walled Lake schools.

The baseball regionals will be held on June 8 and the finals on June 14-15.

SOFTBALL: Like baseball, the Novi softballers will host the District 12 tournament on May 31-June 1, while Northville plays in the Southfield District.

The regionals will be held on June 8 and the finals on June 14-15.

GIRLS' SOCCER: The Mustangs will be the host team for the No. 7 District soccer tournament on May 24-25. This six-team field features Novi, Livonia Stevenson — the top-ranked and defending Class A state champions — as well as other state powers like Livonia Churchill.

The winner will advance to the Regionals at Flat Rock Woodhaven High School on June 1. The state title match will be held on June 8 at 1 p.m. at Northville's field.

BOYS' TENNIS: The Northville netters will start the post-season in Ann Arbor, and Novi in Waterford.

The Mustangs join 13 other teams in the Ann Arbor Huron Region on May 17-18, including WLAA rivals like Plymouth Canton, Plymouth Salem and Livonia Stevenson.

The Wildcats will compete at the Waterford Mott Regional Tournament with 13 others at the same time. The 14-team field includes Walled Lake Western, Walled Lake Central and Milford.

The state finals are slated for May 31.

BOYS' & GIRLS' TRACK: The Mustang and Wildcat tracksters will be together for regional action on May 17-18 at Novi High School.

The Region No. 5 competition features 17 teams, including Brighton, Howell, Westland John Glenn and South Lyon. The state finals will be June 1.

GIRLS' GOLF: The brand new Mustang golf program has been placed in Region No. 3, to be played at Oak Pointe Golf Club on May 17.

The 17-team field also includes both Plymouth schools, three Livonia teams and Brighton — the host team.

The Class A finals will be held on June 1, and Michigan State University's Forest akers East Golf Course. Novi does not field a girls golf team.

Athletes of the Week

KARA MCNEIL

Junior Kara McNeil was the key performer in a big offensive week for the Northville softball team. McNeil went 11-for-29 (.379 average) with 13 RBIs in eight games, and the Mustangs won five of them — and scored 88 runs in the process. For the effort, McNeil has been named an "Athlete of the Week." Her biggest game was a six-RBI outing against Farmington Harrison that included a home run. For the year, McNeil is batting .418, with 17 RBIs and 24 runs scored.

MIKE LANG

How can a pitcher with a 0-6 record be an "Athlete of the Week"? Well, in Mike Lang's case, it's easy. The hard throwing 6-foot-6 senior has been impressive in all areas this season — except for the record. His earned run average is 1.81 and has registered 33 strikeouts in just 36½ innings. In a heart-breaking 3-2 loss to Farmington Harrison last week, Lang allowed six hits and five walks but fanned three and only gave up one earned run.

College Periscope

The Adrian College softball team ended the 1991 regular season with a perfect 12-0 record and the program's second straight MIAA title.

At the plate, the Bulldogs were led by KAREN BAIRD of Northville, who batted .438 with 18 RBI. Sophomore AMY FREEMUND, also of Northville, was the team's top hurler with a 7-1 record and an earned run average of 1.48.

RANDY JONES, a sophomore center fielder for Kalamazoo College's baseball team, has been one of the keys to the Hornets' scoring this season. Jones, a former Northville High School star, is currently hitting .323 and has been on base 16 of 31 plate appearances as a leadoff hitter.

The Hornets are now 3-6 on the year. Jones is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jones of Northville.

Softballers score 88 runs last week

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

Scoring truckloads of runs is one way to break out of a slump. That's exactly what the Northville softballers did last week.

In eight outings, the Mustangs scored 88 runs — an average of 11 per game — and wound up winning five times. The team's batting average is now up to .301, and junior catcher Laura Apligian is leading the way at .466.

"I am very pleased," Northville Coach Gail Trepicone said. "I think the girls are maturing as a team."

The offensive firepower was evident on May 9 against Livonia Churchill, a 9-4 victory. Trailing 4-0 in the first, Northville exploded for five runs on three hits, two errors and a walk. The big hit was a two-run double by Lori George.

The Mustangs scored four more runs in the next four innings while starting pitcher Karen Trepicone shut down the Chargers at the plate. Trepicone allowed five hits and two earned runs in seven innings of work to get the win. Stacey Nyland (2-for-3) and Sarah Christenson (2-for-2) paced the offensive attack.

NORTHVILLE 20, FARMINGTON HARRISON 3: On May 6, the Mustangs trounced the Hawks in a five-inning mercy.

Northville scored at least four runs in each of the first four innings. Four straight hits led to a five-run first, and a bases-loaded single by Kara McNeil knocked in three of four second-inning runs.

The big hits in the third include triples by Apligian and Trepicone, and a double by Christenson. In all, 10 Mustang batters went to the plate, and six scored. Northville wrapped up the win with five in the fourth, including a two-run homer by McNeil.

Trepicone scattered four hits, struck out six and didn't allow an earned run. McNeil went 3-for-4 with six RBIs. Nyland went 2-for-3 and Melanie Apligian chipped in with three RBIs and four runs scored.

NORTHVILLE 14-11, SOUTH LYON 17-8: This non-conference doubleheader on May 7 was a slugfest.

In the opener, the Mustangs took an 8-4 lead after two innings, but the Lions never gave up and finally took a 15-14 advantage following a 10-run sixth inning. South Lyon added a pair of insurance runs in the seventh to provide the final margin of victory. Trepicone took the loss, but only five of the 17 runs were earned.

Northville committed eight errors. At the plate, Nyland went 2-for-4 with three runs to pace the Mustangs.

"I thought this game was the only one this week that we truly let it slip away," Trepicone said.

In the nightcap, McNeil smacked a triple and double in her first two plate appearances, which propelled Northville to an early 6-0 lead. South Lyon cut it to 9-5 in the top of the sixth, but a Melanie Apligian triple — sandwiched around singles by Nyland and Laura Apligian — keyed a two-run rally in the bottom of the inning that iced it for the locals.

Trepicone surrendered five hits and eight walks, but allowed just two earned runs in seven innings. Laura Apligian (2-for-3, three RBIs) and McNeil (2-for-4) were the only Mustangs with more than one hit.

NOVI TOURNAMENT: The Mustangs went 2-2 at this seven-team event on May 11 and placed fourth overall.

"The tournament was a real test of endurance," Trepicone said. "We went with the same battery (Karen Trepicone and Laura Apligian) for six hours. That was a testament to their determination, especially in 85 degree weather."

In game one, Northville dropped a 7-4 decision to Plymouth Canton, and the Chiefs went on to win the tournament. The Mustangs fell behind 3-2 after one inning and then watched helplessly as Canton increased the margin to 7-2 after three innings.

Trepicone (seven hits, three earned runs) suffered the loss. Melanie Apligian (2-for-4) and Laura Apligian (2-for-4, four RBIs) led the way offensively.

Northville crushed Redford Union 17-2 in the second game. The big inning was a six-run second in which 12 Mustang batters went to the plate. Northville also scored five in the fourth and four in the fifth. Christy Green (3-for-3), Laura Apligian (2-for-4, two triples, four RBIs) and Christenson (2-for-4, two RBIs) contributed much of the offense.

Trepicone limited the Panthers to just three hits and no earned runs in this five-inning, mercy-rule game.

The Mustangs edged Plymouth Salem 5-3 in game three, but managed just three hits in the outing. Trepicone was the star, allowing just seven singles, two walks and one earned run.

Northville inched ahead 2-1 after two innings and then outscored the Rocks 3-2 the rest of the way. McNeil (2-for-4) had two of the team's three hits.

Redford Thurston saddled the Mustangs with an 11-8 defeat in the final game of this double-elimination tournament. The Eagles scored 11 runs in the first three innings off Trepicone, but a nice comeback bid fell short. Northville scored the final eight runs — including a four-run rally in the fifth — but the 11 run deficit was too much to overcome.

The hitting stars included Green (3-for-4) and McNeil (2-for-4, two RBIs).

The Mustangs are now 12-9 overall, 4-5 in the WIAA and will host Detroit Redford in the MHSAA pre-districts on May 23.

Golfers narrowly miss perfect season

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

The Northville girls golf squad came within a whisker — three strokes actually — from putting the finishing touches on a perfect record in the program's inaugural season. The team's eight-match winning streak ended on May 10 against host Plymouth Canton 211-214 at Fellows Creek Golf Course in the regular-season finale.

"It was our closest match of the season," Mustang Coach Trish Waldecker said. "I wasn't disappointed but it was a tough loss. I was still proud of the girls because they gave it all they had."

"I wondered how they would react to a loss, but they never lost their composure."

Kristen Woodsum fired a 48, but was two shots off the pace. The other Northville scores came from Kelli Woodsum (53), Kelly Casterline (56) and Courtney Casterline (57).

NORTHVILLE 205, LIVONIA CHURCHILL 274: The Chargers were no match for the Mustangs on May 6 at Tanglewood in the final home match of the season.

Senior Shannon Price was the medalist with a season-low 49. She was followed closely by teammates Kristen Woodsum (50), Kelli Woodsum (51) and Kelly Casterline (55).

"We played well despite some horrible weather conditions," Waldecker said. "It was bitter cold and raining."

NORTHVILLE 217, WALLED LAKE CENTRAL 284: The Mustangs won their fourth away meet of the season on May 8, topping the Vikings by 47 strokes at Harley's Golf Course.

"We wanted our scores to be a little lower, but it was on a foreign course and we still won it easily," Waldecker said.

Northville's top four scores came from Kristine Woodsum (50), Kelli Woodsum (51), Diane Vogt (57) and Kelly Casterline (59).

Heading into the MHSAA Regional at Oak Pointe in Brighton on May 17, Northville sports an 8-1 overall mark, 6-1 in the WLAA.

"It's really been a Cinderella season," Waldecker said. "More than anything else, we've proven to ourselves that we can play and win."

Poor eating habits lead to poor health

Dear Myrna: I am your average woman workaholic. Being a single parent and receiving no outside help, I am a little crazed. I work for a large company and have difficulty controlling my time. Between my job, my children, my home in general and trying to have a social life, I have no time for myself.

I have been gaining weight slowly due to my crazy life. Business lunches, coffee breaks, meetings, gifts of food at my desk, vending machines and even happy hour are killing me slowly. I am in deep trouble and see no way out. Help me!

I do understand. A work environment can have a crucial effect on the success or failure of a healthy eating plan. Power lunches, breaks, long meetings (looking at doughnuts on the table) can be a killer.

Do you realize just how many hours you spend at work? Eating habits at work can truly make or break you.

Let's start with meetings in your office environment that you might be able to control.

First of all, never go to a meeting hungry because it puts you at an immediate disadvantage. Ask whoever orders the food to make fruit, dry rolls or bagels available. No muffins or doughnuts. When entering the room, try to sit farthest away from the food at all times.

Those thoughtful gifts of candy — don't even take them home. March right down to the end of the hall and set them in front of a group of workers or in the lunchroom. People will love your generosity.

Coffee breaks can be a problem. And how about the coffee? Do you drink yours black, or are you adding some calories with a little sugar and cream? Maybe you are adding up to 400 more calories a day just with coffee.

Non-fat, powdered cream would help. Personally, I am not crazy about sugar substitutes, but a little is fine. Vending machines are usually filled with fatty foods. Pretzels are probably your best bet.

Why not keep simple snacks in your desk drawer — rice cakes (there are so many different kinds), low-fat pretzels and dry cereal (shredded wheat, etc.)

The end of a work day marks happy hour — the time to let yourself relax, but not your food guard. Alcohol is fattening and high in calories. If you must, try dry white wine spritzers.

The bottom line: If you don't have loads of time, when you food shop, read labels and look for very low-fat items (zero to 2 percent).

For business lunches, you must be creative. Almost every restaurant in town can make you a vegetable sandwich. Another treat is a cup of vegetable soup and a baked potato.

However, be aware of diet plates in restaurants. They usually have cottage cheese (fatty) and hamburger patty. You don't owe your lunch partner an explanation. It is not a diet. It is a way of life. If you brown bag it, think lowfat.

Now you are going to hate what I am about to say.

You must exercise, even if it is just one-half hour per day. Spring is here, so try walking. Make it a family affair.

Has your company ever hired an exercise expert to run a class in the building? Maybe you can influence them. We see more and more exercise happening in the workplace.

You sound very hassled, as I am sure you have every reason to be. Exercise and the proper diet will help you take control and help you emotionally. Hang in there. Remember, summer is coming.

Myrna Partrich, co-owner of The Workout Company of Bloomfield Township and a recent appointee of The President's Council on Physical Fitness, is happy to answer any questions readers may have regarding exercise. Please send your letters to: Sports Department, Myrna Partrich, 805 East Maple, Birmingham 48093.

Northville netters top Churchill, 4-3

Staff Writer

For the first time this season, the Northville tennis team was on the winning end of a 4-3 match. The Mustangs edged Livonia Churchill 4-3 on May 8, and the key was winning two three-setters in the doubles flights.

"We finally got on the right side of a close dual meet," Northville Coach Dick Norton said. "Three of our four losses this season have been by 4-3 scores."

Mark Schwagie won 6-0, 6-0 at No. 1 over Nathan Marubak and Brad Telepo needed a tie-breaker to turn back Phil Sayed 6-2, 7-6 (7-5) at No. 3 in the singles action. In doubles, Mike Connery and Kyle Legel outlasted Dan Chamberlain and Dave Winebriner at No. 1 (6-3, 4-6, 6-4) while Chris McCreedy and Shaun Linderman edged Rob Gable and Mark Graban at No. 3 (6-2, 3-6, 6-2).

"All three doubles matches were three-setters and we won two of them," Norton said. "That was the difference."

The win puts Northville into second place in the WLAA Western Division (4-1) heading into the conference meet on May 14 (after Record deadline).

NORTHVILLE 6, FARMINGTON 0: Before the rains washed out the last match, the Mustangs blanked the Falcons on May 6.

"We played very well," Norton said. "Farmington is very weak but we didn't give up a set."

Northville had a 48-12 advantage in games won in the single flights. At No. 1, Schwagie topped Maroj Triedt 6-3, 6-0; at No. 2, Brit Davis beat Aaron Bommarito 6-3, 6-1; at No. 3, Telepo trounced Paul Zogman 6-1, 6-1; and at No. 4, Jason Degillo disposed of Kevin Cook 6-0, 6-3.

The doubles winners included the Connery/Legel duo at No. 1 (6-0, 6-4) over Hung Nguyen and Jeff Schmidt and the team of Rob Kukainis and Jeff Ozanich at No. 3 (6-1, 6-1 over York Griffith and Bret Kotrba).

NORTHVILLE 6, WALLED LAKE WESTERN 1: The Mustangs finished the regular season on May 10 with a commanding win over the Warriors. Norton took Schwagie out of the lineup and added several newcomers, but the outcome was still one-sided.

"Western isn't strong, so I thought it would be a good chance to give some of the guys a chance to play," Norton said.

Telepo, Degillo and Kukainis all grabbed straight set victories in the singles flights. In doubles, however, Ryan Moaj and Jason Brown needed three to finish off J.R. Motson and Jayson Schoeberlein (6-3, 4-6, 6-4) at No. 2; while the No. 3 team of Mike McCormack and Dave Spies outlasted Chris Vavra and Oleg Kotlyar 7-5, 4-6, 6-3. Connery and Legel at No. 1 won easily.

TOM MULDOWNEY INVITATIONAL: Northville placed second at this eight-team invitational held in Dearborn on May 11.

"I felt extremely good about the tournament," Norton said. "Schwagie was out of the lineup again, but all our guys won their first matches which guaranteed them at least a fourth place finish. We scored 25 points, but lost out on potentially seven more without Schwagie."

Dearborn placed first with 34 points.

The Mustangs did not register a first, but did boast three runner-up finishers. At No. 1, Davis won his first two matches to advance to the finals, where he dropped a 6-0, 6-2 decision to Jeff Jorgenson of Dearborn Edsel Ford. At No. 2 doubles, Eric Black and Jeff Lower also advanced to the finals before bowing out to Dearborn's Chuck Saltmarche and Brian Short (1-6, 6-2, 2-6). At No. 3, the McCreedy/Linderman duo grabbed second by winning their first two matches and then falling to Dave Hoeg and Asher Barron of Dearborn (6-3, 2-6, 4-6).

Northville is now 8-4 overall, 7-3 in the WLAA.

The Carson Thoughtful designing and nice living

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

The thoughtfully designed Carson offers good looks on the outside and livability on the inside. This union of class and coziness makes this three-bedroom, two-bath home perfect for a starting family or a retired couple.

Unlike many designs, two garage doors don't dominate the view from the street. With this home, the two-car garage is on the side of the house, far from view. What a visitor does see from the street are banks of windows and multilevel gables that offer depth to this design.

On the inside, the Carson is like an Oreo cookie standing on end—bedrooms on both sides and a formal entertainment area in the center whose lines of sight extend into the dining room. A gourmet kitchen with a butcher block island stands ready for any rank of chef, from rookie to culinary expert. When the dishes are done, the cook can take a respite in the sun-dappled nook.

At the end of the day the masters of the house can retire to their own private wing. Here, a walk-in closet and a private bathroom help take the edge off the day.

Two guest bedrooms and a separate bathroom anchor the other side of this house.

LABOR OF LOVE

After five years couple has their dream house

By Laurie O'Dell
Staff Writer

It sits on a hill overlooking Nine Mile Road, surrounded by 20 acres of rolling land, woods, a creek, pond and an open meadow.

It sounds like paradise. For Dan and Laurie Moomey it is. The 4,000 square foot log cabin, made of red and white pine, is the home they've always dreamed of. It's their labor of love.

Five years ago the South Lyon couple decided they needed a change. They put their home in Salem on the market and sold it in record time. Then they asked the local Century 21 office to do the impossible — find them a piece of paradise at a price they could afford.

While the real estate company was searching for a parcel of land, Laurie and her sister, Sherri Richardson, went to work designing the perfect house. Laurie found a picture of a log home in a magazine. It needed a few minor changes, like adding a third dormer window, but it was the house she wanted.

Richardson designed the inside. Taking into account Dan's tendency to feel claustrophobic and, his size — he's 6 feet two inches tall and weighs over 200 pounds, she designed a floor plan with big open rooms and large hallways. With pictures, designs and notes in hand, the couple drove to Superior Log Homes in Perry.

"I laid a wad of money on the table and said I want

This 4,000 square foot log cabin, constructed of red and white pine and owned by Dan and Laurie Moomey of South Lyon, overlooks Nine Mile Road. The kitchen and dining area is Laurie's favorite part of the log home. A variety of antiques and other decorations give the home a cozy feeling.

Violin should have expert evaluation

By James G. McCollam
Copley News Service

Q. Enclosed is a picture of a violin that was purchased by my father about 90 years ago in Austria. It has the name "Stainer" engraved on the back.

Can you tell me anything about how much it is worth?

A. Jacob Stainer made violins over 300 years ago. Experts believe that any violins bearing his name are copies made in the last 100 years. The value of a copy in good condition runs about $150. An original Stainer violin would be worth many thousands of dollars.

Take your violin to a museum where experts can actually examine it and confirm its vintage.

Q. Please evaluate my 1-liter

ANTIQUES

beer stein with an engraved pewter lid.

It is marked "Sterling Ale — Reuter & Co.—Highland Spring Brewery, Boston."

A. Your stoneware stein was made in the early 1900s and would probably sell for about $200 to $225.

Q. What can you tell me about my Buffalo Pottery pitcher?

It is 6 inches tall and is decorated with a Dutch scene of children playing below a row of rural scenes. It is marked with a picture of a buffalo and dated 1907.

A. The Buffalo Pottery was established in Buffalo, N.Y., in 1902 to supply pottery to the Larkin Soap Co., which used pottery for premiums.

Your pitcher is an early piece and would probably sell for $325 to $335.

Q. I have a cast-iron bank shaped like a cash register. It is marked "Junior Cash" and "J. & E. Stevens."

Can you tell me anything about its vintage and value?

A. Your bank was made in the 1920s and would probably sell for about $165 to $175 in an antique shop.

Q. Are old advertising clocks valuable?

The dial is marked "Correct Time to Buy a Parker Duofold." The sweep second hand is in the shape of a fountain pen.

Does this have any value? When was it made?

A. You have a choice find. This clock promoting Parker fountain pens was made about 1930 and would probably sell for about $600 to $700.

Send your questions about antiques with picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1 per item to James G. McCollam, P.O. Box 1087, Notre Dame, IN 46556. All questions will be answered but published pictures cannot be returned.

McCollam is a member of the Antique Appraisers Association of America.

If this violin is an original, it would be worth thousands.

New-generation glass blocks are easy to install

By Gene Gary
Copley News Service

Q. I am interested in replacing some existing windows in the master bath and bedroom with these decorative glass blocks. They will provide more privacy and I would think better insulation than regular windowpanes.

However, I do not know if the regular window opening and structure will support the extra weight of glass blocks. I hesitate to get into a complete reframing of the window to accommodate glass blocks.

Do you have any recommendations for do-it-yourselfers when it comes to installation of glass blocks?—G.D.

A. The use of glass blocks is definitely experiencing a resurgence in popularity. And with the increased demand have come new patterns, shapes, colors and easier installation techniques. In most instances, the supports in the wall will support the additional weight of glass blocks.

Pittsburgh Corning manufactures a new thin-line series. Recommended for residential use and do-it-yourself installation, these blocks are somewhat lighter in weight than regular glass blocks.

New installation methods include the use of plastic spacers to create accurate mortar lines and speed the overall job.

Even more manageable is the new Kwik 'N EZ silicone system, developed by Pittsburgh Corning. It uses thin strips of clear plastic in place of mortar. The thin joints between blocks and courses are then sealed with silicone caulk to create an all-glass installation without mortar lines.

Send inquiries to Here's How, Copley News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, CA 92112-0190. Only questions of general interest can be answered in the column.

Dream house becomes log home reality for couple

you to build me this home," explained Laurie.

The Moomeys hadn't even purchased a parcel of land yet, but they were confident Century 21 would find what they needed. Sure enough, the real estate company found the perfect parcel of land on Nine Mile Road, just two miles from Pontiac Trail.

It was owned by Morris Reef, a retired doctor from Southfield. The Moomeys struck a deal with Reef and it wasn't long before trees started falling in the West Branch area and log cabin walls started going up.

Laurie said Superior Log Homes used the biggest logs available. Not one log in the house measures less than 12 inches in diameter.

"It took six men nine days to erect the walls and put the windows and doors in place," explained Laurie. "It was really incredible to watch. They did it all by hand. No machinery was used to pick the logs up."

Day after day she bundled up, went out into the cold wintery air and watched the men's progress. She helped as much as she could by cooking meals and bringing them hot chocolate.

The home is a dream come true for the couple, but at times it was a financially risky move. Laurie said they depleted their entire savings and the profits from their old house to build the home.

They lived pay check to pay check, purchasing materials when they could. They lived one winter in the house without a furnace. The Moomeys relied solely on one of two fireplaces in the home for warmth. They blocked off the rest of the house with heavy plastic and spent all their time in the kitchen and great room. Most of the finish work was done by Dan and Laurie's father, Richard Sackett, a licensed builder.

The couple faced other difficulties as well. It took the well driller six months and six tries before he hit water 217 feet in the ground.

"I actually cried when they hit water," said Laurie. "Every time they drilled and came up empty it was costing us money. I was so relieved when they found water."

The Moomeys also went head to head with Lyon Township officials because they moved in before an occupancy permit was issued. A local judge was sympathetic and gave them a six-month extension to finish the house and pass an inspection.

Five years and several stumbling blocks later, the two-story log home is finished. It has a great room, kitchen and dining area, first floor bath, den laundry room/mud room, nursery, children's bathroom, second bedroom/playroom, master bedroom and master bath.

Some of the unique features of the home are a split field stone fireplace and bar made out of logs in the great room. A second split fieldstone fireplace in the master bedroom makes it a comfy place to curl up for the night. A two-person jacuzzi in the master bath is a luxury Dan enjoys.

Don Goodfellow, 73, of South Lyon is the craftsman who built the two fireplaces. Laurie said he's the only stone mason left in the area who cuts the rocks by hand. It took him 2-1/2 months to complete the fireplaces.

The entire house is decorated with Laurie's antiques. Her warm, cozy country kitchen is decorated with baskets, brooms and antique bottles. A bright blue table cloth and a colorful arrangement of flowers on the dining room table catch the eye. Her doll collection is arranged carefully in a corner of the room and a variety of antiques, old farm implements, tools and saws line several walls throughout the home.

"I'd say 99 percent of the decorations came from garage sales, rummage sales, flea markets or were given to us," explained Moomey.

Most of the items were inexpensive, but Laurie treasures each and every one. Her pride and joy is an old Victrola which is displayed in the great room. It's the one item Laurie had to dish out a large sum of money for. It cost her just under $500. But because she said "It's older than anything Greenfield Village has," it's well worth the price.

Some of the couple's treasures have practical uses. An old wood and tin-lined bathtub serves as a toy box at times or a coffee table, depending on the need. Because the Moomeys are practical people, Laurie said a lot of forethought went into planning the house. The children's bathroom has two sinks and a double medicine cabinet so that Matthew, 5, and Dani, 1-1/2, will each have his own space.

"A lot of my heart is in this thing," said Laurie. "I hope my kids grow up to appreciate the home we've built for them."

Center puts car-care variety under one roof

By RICK BYRNE
Copy Editor

You can triple-team your car troubles at the new Omni Auto Care Center in Novi.

Located on Novi Road just north of Ten Mile Road, the Omni center puts several professional auto care shops under one roof. This auto mall concept has been successful in other communities, but this is the first one to appear in Novi. There are three tenants at present — Tuffy Auto Service Center, Autolab and Sun Country auto detailing — with space for two more.

Start off with Tuffy. This is the newest store in a national chain of franchises. Owner/manager of the Novi Tuffy is Chris Ziavras, and his assistant manager is Dave Chubb.

They and their staff handle mufflers and exhaust systems, brakes, shocks and all front end parts like struts and CV joints. Tuffy also can perform AET testing and oil changes.

"We're also equipped to do custom exhaust system work," says Ziavras. "In the future, we're going to add even more services to get to where we're a full-service neighborhood shop."

Tuffy is perhaps best known for mufflers, brakes and shocks. According to Ziavras, the chain has built a reputation on the principle stated in its motto, "We do it right. We do it right away."

The auto mall concept suits Ziavras well, too.

"This is the first mall operation I've been involved with, and I think the concept is good," he says. "I've been in different buildings, and it's nice to have neighbors."

Next in line is Sun Country auto detailing. Sun Country can clean up a dirty car, or turn a clean one into something special. The store carries enough accessories and restyling kits to transform a car from bones basic into a head-turner.

The business is owned by Desiree Muldoon, herself a real car fanatic.

"I've always been truly involved with cars," she says. "I've been involved in the Detroit chapter of the Sports Car Club of America (SCCA), Porsche clubs, BMW clubs, rallies, autocrosses. I've had several restoration project cars. In fact, I had to sell a really nice one to get this business."

She says the majority of her sales are in sunroofs, and electronic accessories like alarms, radar detectors, cruise controls and remote starters.

"Most of my customers are professionals," she says. "We get people of all ages. We get a lot of minivans in

She's also offering a special deal on sunroofs this Saturday only. All sunroofs are discounted. Prices start at $159 installed while you wait, with a lifetime leak-proof warranty.

Muldoon is hoping to capitalize on her prominence as a female business owner, too. She hopes women will be comfortable coming to her for work on their cars. She's even promoting a Ladies Day Tuesday special, offering a hand car wash for $6.

"This is a nice, clean, upscale place to come," she says. "It's better than the greasy garage with the grungy coffee pot. A woman can come in in high heels and a suit, and not worry

Take shelter from taxes on high income

According to the Michigan Association of CPAs, the tax law passed last fall makes it more important than ever for taxpayers, particularly those in the upper middle class, to make tax planning a year round effort. If you fall in that category minimizing your tax bite will take more effort, but the results could make your planning worthwhile.

THE BITE ON HIGH INCOME TAXPAYERS

Joint filers with taxable income of more than $82,150 and single filers with taxable income of more than $49,300 will now be subject to a 31-percent tax rate rather than a top marginal rate of 33 percent. That may sound like good news, but for many taxpayers, it is anything but good news. The 33-percent marginal bracket was actually a surcharge designed to progressively increase the tax rate from 15 percent to 28 percent and to eliminate the tax benefits of personal exemptions. Once this was accomplished, the tax rate dropped back to 28 percent. In other words, the highest tax rate under the old tax law was 28 percent. Under the new law, the 31-percent tax rate applies to all taxable income in excess of the dollar amount prescribed by law.

Upper-income taxpayers will also be hit by two other new tax rules. Once adjusted gross income (AGI) exceeds $100,000 on a single return or $150,000 on a joint return, personal exemptions will be phased out at a rate of 2 percent for every $2,500 of adjusted gross income over these thresholds. In addition, Congress has limited most deductions—including mortgage interest, charitable contributions, taxes, and miscellaneous expenses—for taxpayers with adjusted gross incomes above $100,000 ($50,000 for married couples filing separately). These high income individuals will have to reduce their total itemized deductions by 3 percent of the amount by which their adjusted gross incomes exceed $100,000. The maximum reduction under this rule is 80 percent of the allowable itemized deductions, not counting such deductions as medical expenses, investment interest, or casualty losses.

Money Management

Another new tax provision raises the alternative minimum tax (AMT) to 24 percent from 21 percent. The AMT generally affects high-income taxpayers who use deductions and other "preference items" to greatly reduce taxes. The rules governing the AMT are extremely complex and you should consult a tax expert if you think you might be subject to this tax.

On the brighter side, the new law set the maximum tax rate on net long term capital gains at 28 percent. However, since income from such gains is included in adjusted gross income, the effective rate on gains also rises as itemized deductions are lost and personal exemptions disappear.

TAX STRATEGIES FOR 1991

The best strategy for minimizing the impact of the new tax laws is reducing taxable income. The hard part is putting that strategy into action. The Michigan Association of CPAs offers the following guidelines:

When selecting investments, consider tax exempt or tax deferred instruments. For example, interest earned on most municipal bonds is free from federal and state income tax. However, always compare the actual return of a tax exempt investment with that of a taxable one before making a decision.

Diverting income earmarked for medical or child care expenses to an employer-sponsored reimbursement account can also help to reduce your taxable income. The same holds true for contributions made to 401(k) or salary reduction plans. These plans allow you to divert a portion of your salary to a tax-sheltered savings account set up by your employer, resulting in a reduction in your taxable income.

If you own a business, you may be able to realize tax savings by hiring your children as employees. When you hire your children to work for your business, you may generally deduct their salaries as a business expense. As an added incentive, the income your children earn will be taxed at their own tax rate, not yours. Another tax-saving tactic for the self-employed is opening a Keogh plan, which has a generous contribution limit.

A special one time opportunity exists in 1991 for taxpayers who plan to donate art or other valuable items that have appreciated in value. Normally, the untaxed appreciation of such property can trigger the alternative minimum tax. But during 1991, you may donate certain tangible personal property and take a deduction based on the property's fair market value without being concerned about triggering the alternative minimum tax. In order for this exception to apply, the property you donate must be used by the recipient for its express charitable purpose. In other words, if you donate a work of art to your favorite museum, the museum must exhibit or use the art in a manner consistent with its purpose.

Certain luxury items become more costly this year because the new tax law includes a 10 percent excise tax levied on luxury cars, boats, jewelry and furs. If your taste leans toward such luxuries, you chances of avoiding the tax are slim. But CPAs point out that the excise tax on luxury cars affect only new car purchases so you can save taxes by buying a used model. Those who fancy expensive jewelry can likewise save by buying antique jewelry which is exempt from the new tax.

One final item: 1991 is the year in which the deduction for consumer interest is eliminated. If your consumer debt is substantial, you may want to look into the possibility of converting personal interest into deductible home equity interest by borrowing against your home. Doing so will make the interest you pay totally deductible as long as your borrowings don't exceed $100,000.

Like it or not, tax-planning is a year round task. If you need assistance, a tax expert can work out a plan to help you make the most of your hard earned dollars.

who's been in the chair before her." For major and minor mechanical repairs, Autolab is the place to go. The shop has all the equipment to perform total diagnostic work on your car's drivetrain, but can also do a simple tune-up.

One look around the place, and you'd think it doesn't get many customers. It's that clean. But owner Marty Johnson says it's supposed to look clean.

"Our name is Autolab, and we're going to try to keep the place looking like a lab," he says.

A full time master technician is always on the premises, and a second one is on call. He will soon be a full timer as well. Autolab will do anything up to major overhauls on domestic and imported cars.

"We just put a new engine in that Volkswagen Vanagon out there," says Johnson. "If we can do that kind of job, then we're not afraid to do anything."

Johnson said he perceived the demand for a full-service shop in Novi because he found the two service stations that performed major work always booked up. Autolab is a relatively new chain of 10 stores, all in Michigan, and they place a high value on customer service.

"It's important to me that the people get excellent service," Johnson says, adding that being part of the mall helps. "It works real well."

"We're expecting this to become a one-stop shop for cars."

THE R.O.I. ON ADVERTISING IS NOW A HARD NUMBER. AND YOUR COMPETITORS MAY ALREADY HAVE IT.

What is the real impact of advertising on profitability? If you spend less, how much do you hurt your brand? If you spend more, is there any real gain?

Perennial questions, to be sure. And now some hard answers have come from a comprehensive research program* conducted by The Strategic Planning Institute with the Ogilvy Center for Research and Development.

For more than 15 years, the Institute tracked 700 consumer businesses through good and bad economic cycles, in both North America and Europe. The unique study was called PIMS (Profit Impact of Market Strategy).

Using this substantial data base, researchers were able to determine the extent to which the level of advertising influences the "perceived value" of a product, and how this perception affects both the relative market share and the relative market price of the product:

Measuring these factors against what really happened in the marketplace, scientists were then able to quantify the direct impact of different advertising strategies on profitability and on growth.

Their finding: "Brands that advertise much more than their competitors average returns-on-investment of 32 percent, while brands that advertise much less than their competitors average only 17 percent return-on-investment."

In other words, it not only pays to advertise—it pays more to advertise more.

In an era when productivity so often is understood only in terms of cutting costs, this research reaffirms the enduring importance of adding to the sales value of the products you sell.

And it proves that, even today, there is still no better way to build a consumer perception of added value than through the use of advertising.

For more information about this important new research, write to The Committee on the Value of Advertising, Department A, American Association of Advertising Agencies, 666 Third Avenue, New York, New York 10017.

We'll send you a booklet that will lead you to one, and only one, conclusion. When it comes to determining your advertising budget, there truly is "strength in numbers."

ARE ALL DECKS CREATED EQUAL?

Redwood, Cedar & Pressure-Treated Decks look great when they're installed ... but what about 1-2 years later?

Do you want decking that splits, cracks, chips, peels & warps? Or boards that shrink as they dry out causing nail pop? Or a grey, weathered deck with knot holes that fall out?

NO ...

WHY THEN DO WE SETTLE FOR INFERIOR MATERIALS UNTIL NOW .....

These popular softwoods have been the ONLY CHOICES ...

MEET IPE' (pronounced E-PAY)

Ipe' is a Brazilian Hardwood that's kiln-dried so it's a stable product when installed. Ipe' is naturally resistant to dry rot, insects, water & fire. It can stand up to almost anything man or Mother Nature can dish out! Ipe' is as durable as teak and as affordable as cedar.

How to create near- instant gardens

By Patrick Denton
Coplezy News Service

Imagine the vast numbers of bedding plants that are installed in home gardens in the spring. Throughout the continent people will be creating near-instant gardens from home-grown or purchased transplants.

Among the most popular choices in flowers are petunias, impatiens, begonias, geraniums, marigold, salvia, garden pinks and zinnias. Among the vegetables, tomatoes top the list in popularity followed by sweet peppers, lettuce, broccoli and cabbage.

If you are planning to purchase transplants, first assess the planting sites that you have so that you can select types that will grow well in their conditions. Labels will indicate a plant's preference for sun or shade. In many areas, people will also do well to note a plant's need for water. Where water for gardens is limited, either stick to drought-tolerant plants or restrict planting areas to confined, strategic location.

Prepare the planting areas by digging them over as deeply as you can and by mixing into the soil some peat moss, compost, old or processed manure or a combination of these to both enrich the soil and enhance its capacity for moisture retention. At the same time blend into the sites a light scattering of a balanced granular fertilizer.

Pre-blended organic fertilizers are becoming increasingly available, or you can make your own balanced formula by combining four parts by volume seed meal (usually canola or cottonseed), one part dolomite lime, one-half part bone meal and one-half part kelp meal. One small handful scattered over each square yard of ground is the way I measure out most all-purpose types of dry and granular fertilizers.

If the purchase of bedding plants is to be incorporated into a general shopping trip, make them your last purchase before heading home so that they won't cook in the back of the car. Once home, give the plants some protection until you're ready to set them out.

Place the plants out of direct, hot sun and water the soil well. Even sun-lovers will dry out quickly in small flats if left exposed to full sun. Be sure in particular that the flats are thoroughly watered prior to transplanting. This will make the job easier for you and less stressful for the plants.

Cloudy weather is ideal for transplanting. But if faced with solid sunshine when you are ready to set out your plants, try to do the job late in the afternoon or early in the evening so that the plants won't have to face the stress of hot sun right away. Mist and water the newly set out plants often while they are settling in.

Most bedding plants are sold in small plastic flats holding several plants each. Remove the plants by pushing on the bottom of the flat to release the soil and root mass. Either cut or gently tease the individual plants apart and plant them immediately, using the spacing recommended on the label. When transplanting into patio tubs, hanging baskets or planters, set flowering plants close together for a pleasantly full display. Water these crowded planting daily and fertilize them often.

My own preferred method of transplanting into a flower bed makes the job go quickly. I make a hole, pop the plant in and go on to the next without filling the holes in. After five or six plants are in place, I pour about a cupful of transplanting solution into each of the holes and let it drain before filling in the holes and firming the soil well around the plants.

A general-purpose balanced liquid fertilizer can be used for transplanting. Examples are such

Bedding plants

Make bedding plants your last purchase before heading home so they won't cook in back of car; once home, give plants protection until ready to set out.

■ Remove plants by pushing on bottom of flat to release soil and root mass.

■ Cut or gently tease individual plants apart and plant immediately, using spacing recommended on label.

■ Make a hole, pop plant in, go on to next without filling holes in; after five or six plants are in place, pour cupful of transplanting solution in each hole and let it drain before filling in holes and firming soil.

■ General-purpose balanced liquid fertilizer, such as 15-30-15 and 20-20-20, can be used for transplanting.

NPK Rating

Plants receive some nutrients from the water and air: carbon, oxygen and hydrogen. Others must be supplemented: nitrogen (N), phosphorus (P) and potassium (K). The number indicates the percentage of each.

Pre-blended organic fertilizers are becoming increasingly available, or you can make your own balanced formula

Combine:

- four parts by volume seed meal (usually canola or cottonseed)
  - one part dolomite lime
  - one-half part bone meal
  - one-half part kelp meal
- One small handful scattered over each square yard of ground.

commonly used formulas as 15-30-15 and 20-20-20. Currently I'm using a mild solution of fish and seaweed emulsions mixed.

If you would like to grow a few vegetables transplants but don't have a space allotted for them, try tucking a few into the flower garden. Some vegetables are highly decorative. A clump of curly green parsley, for example, brings a pretty note of contrast to a bed of flowers.

Eggplant is quite gorgeous with its purple-tinged leaves, bright lilac flowers and glossy fruits. Sweet peppers and dwarf tomatoes in fruit bring attractive splashes of color and are quite appropriate set into spaces in a sunny bed of flowers. Frilly leaf lettuce can be used as an edging. And for interesting edible accents in the flower garden, consider kale and Swiss chard.

Designer Margot Gunther creates an alfresco sitting room within protective curtains of white sailcloth.

Weather-wise solutions for outdoor living room

By Rose Bennett Gilbert
Copley News Service

Q. We have a small covered porch off the master bedroom, and I would love to set it up for summer like an outdoor living room.

There is a problem, though, because the sides are open and I hate the idea of having to drag the cushions in and out.

A. We can't really afford to close it in this year. What could I use that can stand up to the weather?

I will let New York interior designer Margot Gunther, ASID, answer that one. She faced the same situation in a show house—the classic Colgate estate in Connecticut—and found several weather-wise solutions worth passing along.

• Crisp sailcloth curtains are straphung on iron bars so they can be drawn in case of rain. No ordinary sailcloth this: It's protected by Teflon soil-and-stain repellent to be virtually impervious to rain.

• The same fabric covers all the upholstery, including the elegant but durable rattan chaise and chairs (from J. Williams).

• The sofa is an old one, made new again in its sailcloth covers—"A bit of smart recycling," Gunther points out, "since you might not want to expose good upholstery to the elements."

• The other chairs and tables are wrought iron, Giacometti-style, with glass tops and vinyl strap seats. No need to worry about them.

• The area rugs are good, but the curtains would protect them in all but gale-force weather. The painted canvas cloth beneath them mimics flagstones and is almost as durable as the real thing, since it's protected by clear polyurethane.

• All-weather accessories, such as garden urns and nowering plants, thrive in such an alfresco setting anyway.

In all, this is outdoor living at its best: a room with a view and—aside from an occasional mosquito—all the comforts of indoor living brought outdoors.

Q. I have inherited a set of black painted wooden chairs with rush seats and some gold stenciling still visible on the back and legs.

A. My mother-in-law says they are called "Hitchcock" chairs.

I'm wondering, was Hitchcock a real person, or is this just the name of the style, like a "Martha Washington" or "Morris" chair?

A. Lambert Hitchcock was a live craftsman from Litchfield, Conn., who has forever given his name to the kind of wooden chairs you have.

The style actually was derived from the English Sheraton chair, but old Lambert made it his own, adding gold-leaf paintings of eagles and fruit to the chairs he started making in the early 1800s.

Later, that changed to less expensive bronze powder instead of gold-leaf and stenciled designs instead of hand painting, which made the chairs easily affordable, one reason the Hitchcock chair became such a fixture in earlier America.

The style has remained popular ever since. In fact, Hitchcock chairs are still being produced in Riverton, Conn., not far from Lambert's original factory.

One final point: Martha Washington's chair may just have been named in homage to the nation's first first lady, but William Morris, like Hitchcock, was a real person. So was Lady Pembroke (the Pembroke table), Charles Eames (the Eames chair), and Frank Alvah Parsons (although the Parsons table was really named after the design school that was named after him).

You could have a room full of famous people memorialized in furniture—and we haven't even mentioned the likes of Queen Anne, Thomas Chippendale or Louis XVI.

Jack-O-Lanterns, African violets and thyme

By Patrick Denton
Copley News Service

Some herbal thoughts for the day, a project for children of all ages, and some African violets to share with my gardening friends.

HERB FLOWERS

A superbly elegant addition to any dish prepared with herbs is to garnish the dish with flowers of the same herbs or of one of the herbs.

For example, a salad tossed with a herb vinaigrette made with vinegar, lemon juice and oil, salt, pepper and minced fresh herbs of your choice would take well to a final strewing with flowers from the dominant herb used — rosemary perhaps, or basil, or both. The pink flowers of purple basil are especially eye-catching, and very flavorful.

Eggplant halves brushed with oil and seasoned with a mixture of garlic, thyme, rosemary, oregano, basil and parsley pressed into slits made in the flesh can be baked and served sprinkled with fresh flowers of one of the herbs. Here again, the pink flowers from purple basil plants would be very effective.

CHILD'S GARDEN

Here's how to have autographed pumpkins. You'll need a little sterile seeding mix from a garden outlet, and peat pots 4 inches wide — one for each plant.

Soak the peat pots in warm water for a few hours before seeding so that they will be fully saturated with water. Then set them in a watertight tray or dish. Fill the pots to about a half inch from the top with the seedling mix gently firmed down, and water the mix.

Then push two pumpkin seeds on their edges into the mix in each pot, leaving the uppermost edge showing, and cover with a little more of the mix, firmed down lightly over the seeds. Dampen that top layer of

Autographed pumpkins

- Find sunny, warm place in garden to plant sprouted pumpkin seeds; soil should be quite rich.
- Keep plants watered during dry weather. Plants will spread quickly.
- When pumpkins are size of softball, take a fat nail or ballpoint pen and print name. Just break through skin of pumpkin, don't push any deeper.
- To make sure autographed pumpkins grow to full size, cut off fuzzy vine tips early in August, or after plant has set three pumpkins.

soil, and put the pots and their tray inside a plastic bag left partly open. Set in a warm place, the planted seeds will sprout in about a week.

As soon as the seeds sprout, put the containers at a bright window to grow. Keep them watered, and give them a drink of liquid fertilizer once a week. Use a balanced formula such as 20-20-20, mixed at only one-quarter the strength recommended on the label. Within a week after sprouting, choose the better plant in each pot and cut the other one away at the soil line.

Pumpkin plants grow fast. They will be ready to transplant outdoors in three or four weeks after the seeds germinate.

Find a sunny, warm place for the plants in the garden. The soil should be quite rich. One year I planted my pumpkins on a finished compost pile that I left about 12 inches high after using the rest of the compost in the garden.

If you don't have a compost pile to use, dig some mushroom or other processed manure into the pumpkin site along with a handful of a balanced granular fertilizer for each plant. Keep the plants watered during dry weather.

Your pumpkin plants will spread quickly, and soon you'll see flowers on the plants. Some of these will develop into little pumpkins.

When the pumpkins are about the size of a softball, take a fat nail or a ballpoint pen and print your name on one of them. Just break through the skin of the pumpkin, and don't push any deeper. Perhaps you'd like to invite your brother or sister, or friends to autograph the other small pumpkins. As they grow larger, so will the names. In the fall you'll have your very own named pumpkin for Halloween.

To be sure your pumpkins will grow to full size, cut off the fuzzy vine tips early in August, or after the plant has set three pumpkins. This will stop the plant from making more growth and flowers, and channel its energies into growing the pumpkins already on the vines.

AFRICAN VIOLET BLOOM

Inadequate levels of light and/or humidity are the two most common causes of lack of bloom in African violets.

To bloom really well, these plants need more light than is commonly thought. Give African violets bright light short of direct, hot sun.

Increase humidity around the plants by setting the pots on a layer of damp pebbles in a watertight tray or dish. Keep the water level just beneath the top of the pebble layer.

Temperature sometimes plays a role in inhibiting bloom. Steadily overwarm temperatures around 80 degrees Fahrenheit and above are not good for the plants.

Advantages of growing cherry tomatoes in pots

By Patrick Denton
Copley News Service

I've been thinking lately with some fondness about a trial I made two summers ago of potted cherry tomatoes, for the advantages of growing a portion of the summer's tomatoes this way are considerable.

Consider, for example, the convenience and visual appeal of growing tomato plants on patios and decks, in window boxes and at sunny windows. Enjoy the beauty of the plants while eating from them, too.

Consider the garden space saved when tomato production, or some of it, is delegated to containers. Containing culture using a purchased planting mix, or a homemade one with a sterilized potting soil base, eliminates the danger of soil-borne diseases that afflict tomatoes. In Europe many tomatoes are commercially produced in grow-bags for this reason.

The portability of basket and potted cherry tomatoes brings another major advance of season extension. Because they can be settled early into their summer containers and held in a sheltered place until the weather has warmed, these head-start plants bring us the earliest possible tomatoes.

In the same way the plants can be brought into shelter late in the season for a lengthened harvest of cherry tomatoes. It's worthwhile, too, starting a second, late spring or early summer seeding of dwarf cherry tomatoes, for young plants to bring indoors at summer's end for fresh feasting during the autumn.

Don't overlook cherry tomato plants either as a grand resource for gift giving. Such plants, presented just at the point of ripening their first fruits, make ideal gifts for friends or neighbors who do not have gardens. The smaller growing plants are ideal for shut-in friends and apartment dwellers to grow at a bright window.

The tomatoes themselves are superb gifts. My trial of several varieties left me awash in cherry tomatoes, and it was a special pleasure to clip away whole branches of the bright fruits and lay them side by side in shallow boxes for giving to a gardenless friend with three young children who shared a voracious appetite for fruit and vegetables.

Halved red and gold cherry tomatoes combined with basil and sweet onion rings or chopped green onion, all dried with a favorite dressing and left to marinate for an hour or two, make a beautiful and superbly flavored side dish, or meal with garlic bread or toast.

These little tomatoes are great, too, for garnishes, and for a taste and color lift to lettuce-based salads. And if their numbers become overwhelming, they can be tossed in a pot, cooked soft, and passed through a food mill for use as juice, soup or sauce.

Planters of many different kinds can be constructed to house cherry tomato plants. Conveniently abbreviated plants can be grown in hanging baskets, window boxes or pots.

One of my favorite placements for container cherry tomatoes is on a two-tiered slatted bench set against a warm and sunny house wall. I can either place individually potted plants along the bench edges, or plant into a long wooden window box type planter placed on each level. Combining gold and red fruiting varieties in such a group planting brings both an aesthetically pleasing arrangement and a welcome diversity in flavors

Cherry and patio type tomato varieties come and go, and almost every year there are new ones in the seed catalogs. For gardeners who prefer to buy transplants, they are available in the spring at local garden outlets. Read catalog descriptions and labels carefully, to be sure the variety is suited to growing in pots, and to determine the size of fruit the variety bears.

Among the cherry tomatoes there is a broad diversity in plant habit and size from non-stop and straight-up to truly dwarf plants that drape their leafy, scarlet or gold-studded arms neatly over modestly sized pots and baskets. That's the first hurdle facing gardeners new to growing cherry tomatoes—the realization that tiny tomato does not necessarily mean tiny plant.

For the best in close-up, portable convenience and decorative appeal surrounding this venture I prefer to choose the most compact forms possible—Red Robin, for example, and Goldie. Some excellent cherry tomatoes, such as the wonderful Sweet Million, grow on tall vines, but I'll grow these ones on stakes in the garden.

Potted cherry tomatoes

- Grow tomato plants on patios, decks, in window boxes and at sunny windows, enjoying beauty of plants while eating from them
- Garden space is saved when tomato production is delegated to containers
- Container culture using planting mix made with sterilized potting soil base eliminates danger of soil borne diseases that afflict tomatoes
- Portability has advantage of season extension — can be settled into containers and held in sheltered place until weather warms

 Nothing Runs
Like a Deere®

By Rose Bennett Gilbert
Copley News Service

Q. I'm getting married for the second time in a few months to a man who has lived around the world and collected the most amazing variety of furnishings. Some are good antiques, others just oddities—at least to my eye.

I have always lived with traditional furniture and am baffled about how to create a new home with such a mixture. Any help would be appreciated.—R.M.

A. Your "merger" comes at the right time: eclecticism is in. We've long since stopped worrying about what goes with what, as long as the overall attitude of the mixture is consistent, that is, either it's basically more formal or less formal.

For example, you could use less formal pieces from a lot of different countries in the same room, and they'd get along visually because they share the same attitude.

On the other hand, you could mix more formal things of different provenance, say Chippendale mahogany or Louis XVI chairs with sleek contemporary modular sofas and a crystal chandelier. It would work because their "personalities" are visually compatible.

Look at it this way: You really

The accidental eclecticist

wouldn't wear rhinestone earrings with a calico jumper, even in these anything-goes days, would you? The same simple guideline applies to your rooms.

However, I must add that I've seen a crystal chandelier look smashing in a log cabin. The trick is to know the rules before you try to break them. Professional interior designers

Diane Gote, ASID, and Sandra Elliot certainly know enough to pull off such a disparate mix in the bedroom of a New Jersey show house, which they centered around a show-stopping rustic twig bed.

They used posh fabrics—silks and sheers—in deliberate contrast with the rugged bedstead, and they filled the rest of the room with a colorful collection—ethnic rugs, personality pieces and a veritable jungle of plants—perfect against the fieldstone walls.

Until you gain enough confidence to try your own hand at such unorthodox orchestrations, here are a couple of guidelines for successful eclecticism:

- Remember the basic "formal/informal" rule. Establish an overall attitude, and keep your main ingredients consistent with it.

- Use a common color theme to unify the elements in the room. Repeat the dominant hue of the walls in the rug, at the windows, on the sofa pillows, even the accessories you choose to display.

When color leads the way, the eye will automatically draw order out of "chaos" and help your eclectic mix to mingle harmoniously.

Around the yard

Repel Demons

Everyone knows that onions and garlic ward off vampires. But did you know that rosemary under your pillow keeps nightmares at bay and leeks on the rooftop protect your house from thunder?

Basil Uses

Basil is one of the most popular culinary herbs. It was once believed to aid digestion, cure earaches and combat fungus infections, as well as aid childbirth.

Rose Rumors

The rose family includes strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, cherries, plums, apples, pears, peaches and apricots. Once worn by harlots as the emblem of Venus, the flower became a talisman against witchcraft in medieval churches.

Colorful Radishes

Radishes once were not only red or white but also brown, gray, purple, black and yellow. And carrots were purple or pale yellow.

Sensory Gardens

The Botanic Garden in Brooklyn,

N.Y., features a fragrance garden for the blind, a Japanese garden with echoing caverns and a garden composed solely of plants and herbs mentioned in Shakespeare's works.

Old Onions

The onion is one of the oldest cultivated vegetables — farmers in the Middle East grew onions at least 5,000 years ago.

Lost Vitamins

Here's a reason to grow your own vegetables: By the time asparagus travels 2,700 miles from California to New York, even by refrigerated truck, it has lost two-thirds of its vitamin C.

Plant A Tree

Urban pollution fighters are taking to the trees to fight dirty air. Los Angeles city planners say that by the year 2000, the million trees planted for the 1984 Olympics will remove 200 tons of dust and smoke from the air daily.

Orchid Yields Vanilla

Vanilla flavoring comes from a small, yellowish-green orchid. More than 90 percent of the world's vanilla comes from Madagascar

Slug it out with gastropods

By Patrick Denton
Copley News Service

Just recently I tipped a fine, fat bunch of petunia transplants out of a milk carton flat—to find a large, mucilaginous, dark gray-mottled slug vegging out, if you'll pardon the expression, at the bottom.

I'll spare you the disgusting details regarding his/her (yes, they're hermaphrodites too) demise.

Surprisingly enough, there wasn't much damage done to the petunias except for some large, ragged holes taken out of a few leaves. But the event reminded me to set up some protective devices against the slimy gastropods around my cherished collection of forest cactus plants set outside for the summer.

I'm quite madly fond of my Easter cactus plants. The largest one, now grown 18 inches broad and deep, was a mass of deep red, yellow-centered bloom last month. And the orchid cactus plants light up a staging at the side of the back lawn every spring with their huge, dramatically colored flowers. Christmas and Thanksgiving cactus plants are outside now too, in the filtered light of high tree limbs where they're protected from direct hot sun.

It's amazing to me that of all these fleshy-leaved plants it's the orchid cactus in my experience that the slugs go after most voraciously. And these have the thickest, hardest leaves of all. It says a lot for the strength of their feeding parts that slugs can reduce an orchid cactus leaf to mere jagged-edge bits, disfiguring the plant.

According to my bug books, slugs feed mostly at night (but also on cloudy and rainy days), extending their slimy bodies over the leaves and rasping ragged holes with a horny file in their mouths. Their calling card is the viscous trail of slime they leave behind. Slugs are somewhat lacking in endearing qualities.

There are actually many lines of defense against slugs. One can almost choose a control to fit one's mood of the moment.

Steve Solomon, in his new book "Growing Vegetables West of the Cascades," describes one such method:

"A friend of mine with a small garden likes to go out at night with a gasoline lantern and a pair of sharp scissors, snipping hundreds of slugs in half. He needs to do this only once or twice a month to keep slug populations manageable."

I know gardeners who gather slugs and cut them in half with a shovel. And while this snip-and-slice method of slug control may serve to defuse clouds of human frustration, many consider it cruel. For those sensitive souls who favor instant dispatch without pain, there's stomping slugs to death with large boots and vigor. Personally though, feeling those tough, gelatinous bodies under my garden boots gives me the shivers.

For the furtive and secretive at heart, there is trapping. Slugs will hide during the day under boards or overturned cabbage leaves and hollowed citrus halves laid on the ground near plants to be protected. This makes them easy to gather for disposal. Beer, or a blend of yeast and water, poured into shallow containers sunk to their rims in the ground will call slugs to the bar and result in a happy death by drowning.

There are covered slug traps available at garden outlets. A little bait set in a trap lures the slugs to their doom while the trap covers shield the bait from rain and keep it inaccessible to pets.

A homemade trap can be fashioned from a coffee tin with a plastic lid. Punch holes around the side of the tin at its bottom, using a triangular can opener. Place bait in the middle of the tin's bottom, replace the lid and tape it shut with electrician's tape. Set the container in the middle of a planting to be protected. Empty dead slugs and replenish the bait as necessary.

There are times, too, in every life when an urge comes to set things in order. I'm usually overcome by this mood when things go wrong. During these periods the garden becomes a very handy metaphor for putting things right again. I go on mammoth garden cleaning sprees and feel much better for it.

This mood could not possibly be more ideal for de-slugging a garden, for slugs flourish in rubbish-laden places. They hide, and lay eggs, under garden debris. Keeping the soil cleaned and carefully composting garden trash eliminates many of their daytime resting places.

Create more room at the top

Try carving an all-purpose family room from an underachieving attic space.

By Rose Bennett Gilbert
Copley News Service

Q. We had planned to move to a larger house last year, but the economic situation has stopped us for the foreseeable future.

We are in great need of a family room—I'm desperate to get the TV out of the living room—but the only possible answer is in attic space over the garage, and I need inspiration.—K.B.

A. Designers Allen Scruggs, ASID, and Douglas Meyers, can supply inspiration by the roomful.

In the photo we show here, only the angled ceilings hint that this was once a dingy, underprivileged attic. The designers have turned it into a multifunction family room with a built-in entertainment center and even space for exercising.

To achieve the finished-for-real look, they have added moldings to the walls, and run a light-color carpet throughout.

And the light wall-to-wall carpeting not only expands space visually, it's also kind on the ears of those downstairs. Made by Mowhawk in a subtle geometric texture pattern, it's also WorryFree nylon, the better to cope with heavy-duty family living.

In fact, wise buymanship can add immeasurably to your family room fun. Look for soil-resistant fabrics, washable wall coverings and spill-proof coatings on wood furniture. Above all, this is a room in which you want to relax.

Q. We have French doors in the dining room, leading out to a side porch. The doors have arched windows over them.

What kind of curtains can I use? I don't want to block the light, but I hate for the neighbors to watch us eat dinner every night—D.C.

A. Sheer curtains that only cover the doors about chest-high will solve your problem.

Use flat rods made for French doors and mount them so the top section of the doors is left bare, along with the arched windows overhead. You'll get the light, but not the neighbors' appraisal of your table manners.

Q. My somewhat snobbish brother-in-law keeps referring to a desk he inherited from his father as an "antique," when I know it was made in 1910 on his grandfather's farm—the date is even carved under a drawer.

What's the proper definition of antique? Didn't I read somewhere that it meant 100 years old, or more? Please answer. I want to set this one straight.—J.D.

A. You're right: According to the U.S. Customs Service, a piece must be at least 100 years old to qualify as antique. At that point, they allow it to enter this country duty-free. Therefore, your brother-in-law's desk is 19 years shy of "antique-dom," officially speaking.

However, a lot of collectors—including some top auction houses—base their definition of "antique" on more stringent criteria.

For example, they may insist that a piece have been made in the very period when its style was current, that is, a William and Mary table would have to date to the late 17th, early 18th centuries to be a true antique. A table made in the William and Mary style could, therefore, be 100 years old or more and still not meet their standards.

Are you still sure you want to bring the whole thing up? Let your brother-in-law enjoy his nice old desk, whatever it is.
