Bell speaks on school millage plan

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

Northville schools will ask voters to renew 22.63 mills for one year on June 10. The Northville Record recently discussed the millage proposal with Northville Superintendent George Bell.

If your millage was not expiring this year, would you be required to roll back the number of mills assessed because of the Headlee Amendment?

No, (the amount of new revenue the renewal would generate) is less than the CPI (consumer price index). So, no, Headlee would not kick in. As a matter of fact, if our millage was already established, Headlee, by the Local events kick off summer in Northville

Northville's summer gets in gear this weekend with three big annual events.

Leading things off is the annual ROUGE RESCUE cleanup, which returns to Northville and surrounding communities Saturday morning.

Volunteers for the Northville rescue should call the Recreation Department at 349-0203 by Friday to allow the department to provide enough equipment, food and support for the rescue. Volunteers should be 16 years old or older.

Workers are being asked to wear boots, long pants and long-sleeved shirts to guard against poison ivy, and report to the Recreation Building, 303 W. Main St., between 8:30-9 a.m. Saturday.

They will be driven to the cleanup site on Hines Drive south of Six Mile Road, due to the lack of parking around the area. A shuttle service will run between the Recreation Building and the site as needed throughout the morning, and lunch will be provided at the end of the cleanup.

Maybury State Park's "OLD TIMES DAY" and Homespun Traditions Country Craft Show will take place 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday at Maybury, located at Eight Mile and Beck Roads. Admission is free.

This will be Maybury's fifth year of hosting the family-oriented Old Times Day.

A sheep-to-shawl contest will be conducted in the farm area: Contestants will shear the sheep, spin the wool and knit a shawl. In the past there have been tractor-pulled hayrides, walks along the wildflower trails, and visitors are always welcome to bring bicycles for the bike trails.

Homespun Traditions will have 60 arts and crafts exhibitors displaying their wares from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Felicity Strings will be performing live dulcimer music throughout the day. Francois' Gourmet to Go of Farmington will be serving food items ranging from fresh-squeezed lemonade to barbecued chicken. Everyone is welcome, particularly kids.

Finally, MILL RACE HISTORICAL VILLAGE opens for its annual Sunday afternoon hours this Sunday.

The village and its buildings will open from 2 to 5 p.m. with trained docents on hand to provide information about the historic surroundings. Mill Race will continue to be open Sunday afternoons through the fall.

Three GOP candidates vie for seat

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

The winner of a three-way Republican shootout for 36th District State Representative apparently will be Lansing-bound after the Aug. 7 primary.

And the fill-in Wayne County Commissioner from the Northville area will likewise stay in Detroit for a while.

Three Republicans — Northville Township Supervisor Georgina Goss, Plymouth City Council Member Jerry Vorva, and Canton Township resident Deborah Whyman — filed petitions for the state race with the Wayne County Elections Department by 4 p.m. Tuesday, the deadline for primary hopefuls.

No Democrats stepped forward, meaning Republicans almost certainly will retain the state legislative seat vacated in April when former Rep. Gerald Law left the post for the Plymouth Township supervisor's job.

The Aug. 6 primary will be followed by a general election Aug. 27. The winner will move to Lansing immediately following the general election.

The 36th District encompasses Northville south of Baseline Road, Plymouth city and township, and part of Canton.

Maurice Breen apparently will retain his seat on the Wayne County Commission. Breen is unchallenged in the Republican primary, and no Democrats filed petitions by Tuesday's deadline.

Breen, a former Plymouth Township supervisor, was appointed to the commission in April after former Commissioner Susan Heintz accepted a slot with Gov. John Engler's administration.

The state representative campaign promises to be interesting.

Goss may have assumed the frontrunner's role with her name recognition and impressive list of local political heavyweights as backers.

Goss lists Heintz, Law, Breen and state Sen. Robert Geake among her supporters, as well as a sampling of political leaders in Northville, Canton Township, Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

Vorva and Whyman are less well known, but point to grass-roots campaigns as their key to victory.

Vorva suggests improvements in the state public educational system as a top priority. Whyman cites the need for "less government regulation," and for tax cuts.

Goss has focused on tax relief and the need for local governments to exhibit more control over local matters.

Township, BFI make a deal

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Those wheeling, dealing Northville Township officials have done it again. The township on Tuesday agreed to swap a portion of its future sewer capacity in the Western Townships Utilities Authority sewer system for perks totaling in excess of $2 million.

Months of negotiations between the township and solid waste giant Browning-Ferris Industries resulted in the township granting BFI exclusive use of 110,000 gallons-per-day of sewer capacity in the WTUA system for payments totaling $1.32 million.

Township residents will also receive approximately $730,000 worth of free curbside recycling services over a four-year period beginning in 1992, and BFI will drop cash payments totaling $260,000 into township general-fund coffers over the same four years.

The township board approved the deal at a special session Tuesday by a 6-1 vote. Final approval rests with the WTUA executive board, which is comprised of WTUA community supervisors Goss, Thomas Yack of Canton Township, and Gerald Law of Plymouth Township.

The WTUA board is expected to consider the deal in June.

Officials okayed the plan less than three weeks after cutting a deal with the state to trade prison population caps for recreation space and other potential benefits.

Tuesday's agreement clearly was prompted by the township possessing something BFI valued.

BFI, operator of the Arbor Hills Landfills on the township's southwestern border, needs sewer space to operate its sprawling Arbor Hills Center for Resource Management area slated for the Five Mile/Napier corner.

"We need to have sewer connections . . . to service that property," said BFI representative Bob Line.

BFI approached the township last winter about trading sewer capacity township officials call "excess," but which actually is reserved for approximately 440 home sites under township master utilities plans.

Total township sewer capacity in the WTUA system is estimated to be 6.34 million gallons per day after sewer connections are completed in 1993.

Township officials said the 110,000 gallons pledged to BFI will speed up payments on $24 million worth of sewer construction obligations and lessen development impact on the southwest portion of the township.

The township decided to bite BFI's hook after negotiators hammered out the payment and recycling strategies, plus gaining BFI's word that it would not accept hazardous materials into its Arbor Hills site, pump hazardous materials through the WTUA sewer system, or build — ever

Township trades sewer capacity

— additional landfills in Northville Township.

Also, BFI agreed to assume sewer installation costs totaling more than $350,000.

Township Trustee Thomas Hand-yside, who chairs the township's Water and Sewer Commission, handled negotiations with Goss and township engineering consultant Abe Munfah.

Handyside called the deal a "win-win" for the township.

"This costs us no money," he said.

"Everything is virtually income to us."

Line agreed.

"This is a proposal that will take care of the township for a number of years to come," he said.

BFI also is in the running for the township's preferred status solid waste-hauling contract. But the sewer capacity handshake is not meant to grease other skids, Line said.

"We will do the curbside recycling, regardless of (the outcome of the contract)," he said.

Finance position filled in township

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Northville Township has dipped into the collegiate ranks to fill a vacancy in its finance department.

The township board on Tuesday approved a search committee's recommendation and named Dwayne Harrigan as township finance director.

Harrigan, a 10-year township resident, replaces James Graham, whose five-year finance director stint ended April 30. Graham accepted a position with the South Lyon Public School District.

Harrigan will graduate from Michigan State University in June with B.A.s in accounting and financial management.

He signed a contract through January 1993, and starts at $28,000 per year, said township Manager Richard Henningsen.

The selection of a new finance director capped a month-long search process. Search committee members combed through a total of 108 resumes before narrowing their sights on two finalists.

Harrigan and the second finalist, a professional who asked township officials not to use her name, were tested by Plante-Moran, the firm that handles township auditing chores.

In the end, the choice may have come down to finances.

"We would have had to pay her quite a bit more money," said township Treasurer Betty Lennox.

But Lennox said the progress Graham made during his tenure convinced the search committee that recent graduates were capable of handling the job. She also said Harrigan's summer employment record was sound.

"His references had nothing but good things to say about him," she said. "He's very bright."

Harrigan's duties will include crafting township revenues and quarterly budgets based on township revenues and departmental budgets.

Police investigate alleged creek contamination

City police are investigating an apparent contamination of the creek that runs behind Grace Court.

A resident reported that the water appeared polluted sometime between 4 p.m. May 24 and 1 p.m. May 25. City police investigating the report found the water cloudy and thick, as though contaminated by a cleaning solution. But the creek did not give off an odor.

Police noted several storm drains running into the creek from Grace Court, and theorized that a contaminant may have washed into the creek during recent heavy rains.

A water sample was taken and turned over to the Department of Natural Resources, and the DNR's surface water quality division was notified.

MALICIOUS DESTRUCTION AT SCHOOL: A plate glass window at Amerman School, 847 N. Center St., was cracked sometime between 4 p.m. May 24 and 4:29 a.m. May 25, according to city police reports. The window is on the west side of the school.

FENDER BENDER: A driver pulling out of a parking space on Main Street just west of Center May 25 at noon was struck by a car turning from southbound Center west onto Main. No citations were issued by city police.

FOUND BIKE: City police retrieved a blue boy's bicycle from a dumpster near the auto shop at Northville High School, 775 N. Center St.

Police were notified of the bike May 23 at 5:20 p.m. To claim the bike, call city police with a more complete description at 349-1234.

LARCENY AT MEIJER: Two 18-year-old Walled Lake women were charged with larceny after they attempted to steal two cameras and film from Meijer, 20401 Haggerty, May 23.

Police said the women attempted to conceal two 35 mm cameras in the front of their shorts and three rolls of film in their purses.

WINDOW SMASHED: A Northville man told township police someone smashed the driver's side window on his 1989 GMC while it was parked on Northville Forest Drive May 27. Police said a rock was found inside the vehicle. Damage was estimated at $250.

BIKER FLEES POLICE: Township police said a "white male in his 20s" on a dirt bike fled police after they attempted to stop him for speeding and driving without license plates on Seven Mile east of Napier May 27.

According to police reports, the suspect pulled into a driveway at a Seven Mile Road residence but sped away after police approached him.

The biker drove over a lawn and headed down Seven Mile. Police pursued the vehicle a half-mile until the biker reportedly drove into a field and woods near CJM Farms.

Police then checked back at the Seven Mile residence to see if the owner knew the biker. The homeowner reportedly became irate and told an officer he was trespassing and had ruined his lawn.

The officer told the man the biker had driven across the lawn. Police, who have chased the biker on previous occasions, suspect the homeowner knew the biker.

OUIL: A 26-year-old Flint man was charged with operating a vehicle under the influence of alcohol after his arrest on Northville Road near Hines Drive at 2:50 a.m. May 27.

Township police said preliminary breath tests indicated the man's blood-alcohol level was .199, almost twice the legal state limit.

An 18-year-old Northville man was also charged with OUIL May 27. Township police said the man was arrested at 2:18 a.m. on Six Mile near Northville Road. Preliminary breath tests indicated the man had a .13 blood-alcohol level.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Police charge boys in theft of savings bonds

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

A pair of 16-year-old boys were charged with possession of stolen property May 22 after their arrest in Northville Township.

Township police said the youths — from Dearborn Heights and Livonia — were in possession of six $75 U.S. Savings Bonds when their vehicle was stopped and searched on county property west of Sheldon Road.

The savings bonds were issued in the name of a 70-year-old Dearborn Heights woman who later told police the bonds were among 50 stolen May 10 from her son's home.

Police said the suspects were seen driving a 1987 Chevrolet Celebrity eastbound along the main drive of the Wayne County Child Development Center just before 9 p.m. May 22.

When a police officer approached the vehicle, the driver and his passenger appeared "nervous." The driver reportedly told police he pulled into the county land to turn around, but could not explain why he was approximately 400 yards from the Sheldon Road exit.

Police conducted a pat-down of the youths after they could not produce vehicle registration information. Police reportedly found a small, white plastic container in the pants pocket of the Dearborn Heights youth.

The packet contained residue of "what appeared to be and smelled like marijuana," police said.

Police then checked the vehicle and reportedly found the six savings bonds under the front seat. The youths denied knowing the woman whose name was on the bonds, and then were arrested for possession of stolen property.

The Dearborn Heights youth later told police a friend had been in the car earlier in the week and had told him of a breaking and entering involving the theft of savings bonds.

The youth denied involvement in the theft, police said. Both youths were later released to relatives, pending arraignment for possession of stolen property.

Hospital patient is arraigned

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Terrance Jenkins, 27, of Detroit, faces up to 15 years in prison if convicted on charges that he injured and stole an automobile from an elderly Northville man.

Jenkins was arraigned last week on strong-armed robbery charges, township police Det. Michael Wildt said.

Jenkins currently is lodged in Wayne County Jail. Cash bond is set at $25,000, Wildt said.

The Detroit man allegedly walked away from Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital May 9, struck a 72-year-old man in the Northville Plaza parking lot and stole a car. Jenkins returned to the state hospital May 12. The vehicle was later found in Highland Park, police said. The Northville man was treated for head injuries and a fractured arm, police said.

As a state hospital patient, Jenkins may not undergo criminal court proceedings until his mental ability is determined. A competency hearing will be scheduled in Recorder's Court "within 60 days" of Jenkins' arraignment, Wildt said.

State hospital security staff labeled Jenkins as "dangerous" prior to his escape. Hospital Director Walter Brown blamed a security lapse for the walkaway.

Another state hospital patient deemed dangerous walked away from the facility four times in one week recently. The Taylor man had not been returned to the hospital by press time Tuesday.

Atchison House closing

The owners of Northville's only bed and breakfast have some sad news for the hundreds of tourists who have stayed at their home while visiting the area.

After three years of operation, the Atchison House will close its doors. Innkeepers Don Mroz and Susan Lapine recently announced their decision to close the bed and breakfast in September, in a letter addressed to local business people.

The owners insisted the closing will not be due to poor occupancy rates at their Victorian-style home. On the contrary, they wrote, "business has been very good, in fact our occupancy rates have been higher than we anticipated and business has been brisk."

Mroz said the decision to close was not an easy one to make. "We feel really bad for the community because we really feel Northville needs a bed and breakfast," he said. "It took us two or three months to decide. Emotionally, we didn't want to do it but we felt for our health and the health of the other business, we had to . . . It was a tough decision."

He predicted that a bed and breakfast would continue to be a viable business in Northville.

"We surpassed our expectations every year in our occupancy rate," he said. "Our rate right now is between 40 and 50 percent, and I really believe you could get 70 percent easily by approaching businesses in the area, because the business people love to use it."

Those business people came from much farther away than Michigan, Mroz said. "We've had people from all over the world . . . Just last week alone, we had people from Japan, Germany and Denmark."

The innkeepers often acted as unofficial ambassadors of good will to visitors, and even cleared up a few misconceptions about the area. "When they hear they're going to the metro Detroit area, they'd worry about the violence and crime," Mroz said. "A lot of them would ask us, 'Is it safe to walk the streets?' and we'd say, 'Of course it is, feel free.' We'd even walk into town with them on occasion."

Even visitors from southeastern Michigan were often surprised by what they found here. "I think it really helped to show a lot of people what Northville has to offer," Mroz said.

The innkeepers have decided to focus their energies on Atchison House Consultants, the consulting firm they started March 1, 1988, the same day they began renovating their 501 W. Dunlap St. home for use as a bed and breakfast.

"We do organizational development consulting, which is helping organizations to become more effective in how they operate," Mroz said.

The couple is also seeking to spend more time as a family, with 11-year-old son Shane.

"It was a family decision to start this effort and now it is a family decision to close it," they wrote.

Mroz mentioned another advantage to reclaiming the home's five guest rooms for the family's use. "We'll finally have some space ourselves," he said.

City pondering Master Plan implementation

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Now that the city has a new Master Plan, the Planning Commission is reviewing how to implement its many recommendations.

Commissioners have decided to first pursue two recommended changes to the city's zoning ordinances and two revisions of the zoning map, four of the "items for consideration" listed by planning consultant Don Wortman in a recent report to the commission. The items consist of 16 potential ordinance and zoning map changes, ranked by priority.

Wortman called the list "some of the items that I think are deficient in the current zoning."

The first two ordinance changes to be implemented include new height regulations in the Central Business District (CBD) and outdoor storage regulations. The Master Plan, under the section titled Plan Implementation, recommends that the city "Lower height regulations in the CBD in order to preserve existing downtown scale. It is suggested that heights not exceed three floors in the CBD."

To provide a visual buffer between the CBD and residential areas, the Master Plan also recommends "building height regulations which step the building mass away from existing residential neighborhoods on parcels abutting the edge of the downtown core." But the commission agreed to postpone implementing that recommendation, because of its potentially controversial nature.

The first two proposed map revisions include rezoning the former Ford Valve Plant at Main and Griswold from Performance-Related Industrial District No. 1 (PR-1) to either Local Commercial District (LCD) or General Commercial District (GCD) status, which would prevent its reuse for manufacturing or related operations.

PR-1 is defined in the zoning ordinance as "a manufacturing and commercial zoning district in which manufacturing and related operations have few if any adverse impacts on adjoining properties." The zoning allows uses including warehouses and wholesale distribution facilities, research laboratories, printing and lithographic services, indoor vehicle repair shops and rental warehouses.

LCD is defined as "retail, office and service uses which are needed to serve nearby residential areas," while GCD "is designed to provide sites for more diversified and less intensive business types and are often located to serve automobile traffic." The designations include shops, offices, restaurants and bars, electronic sales and service stores, motels and hotels, service stations and enclosed car wash facilities.

Rezoning the Ford property is consistent with the Master Plan recommendation that "To every extent possible, the City should acquire the Ford Plant and utilize the structure in a manner consistent with the recommendations of the 1989 Ford Plant Study by Quinn Evans Inc. This may include a combination of commercial-public service uses such as office, retail, senior center, or community service."

The other proposed map revisions would rezone the Bealton residential area from R-2 to R-1B status. The change would prohibit new duplexes and the conversion of one-family houses to two or more dwelling units.

Bealton residents have petitioned the commission for such a change.

"Bealton, I think, is one of those things that everybody is in agreement on," said Commission Chairperson John Hardin. "That should be done."

The commission added an item of its own to Wortman's list: the proposed rezoning of the west side of Wing Street from GCD to residential. When Commissioner Kathleen Otton asked how Wing Street residents would feel about such a move, Hardin said, "I guess when we hold the public hearing, we'll find out how the public feels about it... Let's hold a public hearing and get the feelings of the property owners. They'll all be notified."

Hardin also asked Wortman to add a potential woodlands ordinance to the list.

The commission directed the planning consultant to draft language to enact the four proposed zoning ordinance and map revisions, and will review the language at its next meeting, scheduled for June 4. A public hearing will be held before any changes are put in place.

Shooting inquiry delays continue

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Writer

There's been another delay in the prosecutor's ruling on the fatal shooting of a reputed drug dealer in Northville last month.

Ronald J. Melnyk, 33, of Westland, was fatally shot April 18 in the parking lot of the Haggerty/Eight Mile Meijer store after a failed drug bust by the Oakland County Narcotics Enforcement Team. The Wayne County Prosecutor's office is assigned to determine whether the shooting was justified.

A decision by the prosecutor's office was expected this week. But, according to Chief Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Richard Paddieski, the decision was delayed for further review by the office.

"It should take about a month to complete," he said.

The case was assigned to another assistant at the prosecutor's office to complete the review. Paddieski said the assistant will conduct interviews of witnesses and ultimately make a recommendation in the case to him.

After receiving that recommendation, Paddieski said he will make his own recommendation to the chief Wayne County Prosecutor. A final determination will then be made.

The Michigan State Police post in Northville began an investigation into the shooting immediately after the incident. The investigation was completed on May 13 and turned over to the prosecutor's office.

Police shot Melnyk once through the chest after he reportedly struck a police officer with his car and attempted to flee the scene. Two undercover officers were treated for minor injuries and released the following day, police said.

Melnyk was the target of a narcotics sting conducted by federal, state, Wayne and Oakland counties law enforcement teams, said state police investigator Joe Koenig.

Police were attempting to buy seven ounces of cocaine from Melnyk, when for an unknown reason, he tried to flee the scene.

Northville schools host summer science camps

In cooperation with the Living Science Foundation, Northville Public Schools will be hosting three one-week day camps this summer at Cooke Middle School. The cost is $185 per camp, which may be paid in monthly installments. The following camps are being offered:

SCIENCE SAMPLER: For ages 5-11, June 24 to 28, this is great way to make friends with science. Sampler Camp brings the entire family of Living Science Day Camps together in one week-long program.

Each day highlights one area of science discovery: Kids have personal encounters with a variety of animals including parrots, snakes and frogs on Science and Nature day; discover simple machines and electricity on Physics day; touch real dinosaur bones and reconstruct dinosaur models on Prehistoric Life day; experiment with the basic principles of flight and view the stars in a planetarium on Air and Space day; taste the salty ocean water, hold a living sea star and pet a four-foot shark on Marine Biology day.

AIR & SPACE I: For ages 7-12, July 29 to Aug. 2. Campers enter the world of aerospace and aerodynamics by building and launching their own model rockets, journeying into the universe with the Living Science Foundation's Starlab planetarium and learning, first hand, the mechanics of flight with the help of kites, airplanes, live parrots, toucans and crows.

Each camper will earn his/her wings in an real-life space mission simulation, and participate in daily astronaut fitness routines.

"GROSS" ANATOMY

CAMP: Ages 5-12, July 29 to Aug. 2.

The Living Science Foundation animal crew will lead campers through the various vertebrate and invertebrate body systems: skeleton, blood, digestive, muscle and senses. Laboratories include:

• Mmmmm, gummy worms: Explanation of simple invertebrates.

• The "eyes" have it: Preparation of plastic simulations of the various systems.

• Pickled parts: Observations of preserved specimens.

• Make a model of me.

City considers entryways study

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Hot on the heels of completing its Master Plan, the Northville City Planning Commission is considering drafting another planning study.

Planning Consultant Don Wortman advocated drafting a plan to set new criteria in design standards for the city's entryways, "to improve the entry character of the city," Wortman said the plan could also include a traffic study.

"As development or redevelopment occurs, we'd have a long-range plan for the future of the city, for the entry corridors," Wortman said.

"You can develop in these things some design standards that can't be put in the zoning ordinance," he said. "Actual implementation will be long range, and could involve a few hundred thousand dollars," he said.

The plan could be paid for by Community Development Block Grant funds from Wayne and Oakland counties, Wortman said. Such funds must be used for planning projects, senior citizen or handicapped projects, economic development or housing rehabilitation projects for low- and moderate-income people. CDBG funds paid for the handicapped-accessible sidewalk ramps recently installed at many of the city's sidewalk intersections.

The city had been planning on spending CDBG funds on an elevator in city hall, but that plan is on hold pending the potential eventual relocation of the library to a larger facility. Several thousand dollars in CDBG funds are available.

Though the design standards would not be legally binding, Wortman said they could be used to show a builder what the city would prefer.

"I think we can exert some heavy pressure on a developer," Wortman said. "It's not just the developer, too, that we want to signal. It's the city, and the counties. A lot of these projects will be within the public right-of-way."

The commissioners agreed on the potentially positive impact on new projects.

"Any developer, I would think, from a public relations perspective, would want to conform," said Commissioner Kathleen Otton.

Commissioner Mark Cryderman agreed, saying, "Not only for us, but for people who would want to develop a property, they'd know what to expect."

Jerry Mittman, the city council liaison to the commission, recommended a similar study on potential riverwalks, a suggestion echoed by the planning commission. Wortman said riverwalk improvements may be eligible for funding from the Department of Natural Resources.

"The first priority (for DNR funding) is waterfront and linkage," he said. "You have some excellent prospects here, and I think you could definitely get some sort of funding if you went after it."

Wortman agreed to prepare detailed outlines and cost estimates of the potential studies, and present them to the commissioners at their June 4 meeting.

Schoolcraft honors local woman

Two women who through their tireless work and efforts have left their mark on countless lives in southeast Michigan have been awarded honorary degrees from Schoolcraft College.

Betty Jean Awrey of Northville and Mary Dumas of Livonia both received honorary associate in arts and sciences degrees during graduation ceremonies for the school's class of '91.

Both women have strong ties to Schoolcraft: Awrey currently is president of the Schoolcraft College Foundation Board of Governors and has been an active member of the board since 1984. Dumas began her long and varied career in public service at the college in 1971 as a member of the Schoolcraft Board of Trustees.

Both women were proud to receive the degree, calling it an unexpected honor.

"I did not go to college," said Awrey, who serves on the board of control for Grand Valley State University and who is vice chair of fund raising at Madonna College. "My education has been through the school of hard knocks.

"This will be the first degree I will have received. That's why this will be so rewarding for me. It will be the first time for me. It's absolutely a tremendous honor for me. My whole family will be there to share it with me."

"I've always felt close to Schoolcraft College," said Dumas, who has a bachelor's degree from the University of Wisconsin.

"I enjoyed being a member of the Women's Resource Center Advisory Board. And my three children went through the school. My daughter is taking her final exams for a class there now."

Both women have traveled different paths in making their mark on local life.

Awrey's springboard to public life and volunteerism has been through her family business, Awrey Bakeries of Livonia.

Married to Robert Awrey, company chair, Awrey has worked for the business as an executive secretary, manager of the Awrey Thrift Store and vice president for public relations and government affairs.

"Betty Jean Awrey is a great promoter of the community," the Schoolcraft trustees said.

Her community involvement includes programs as diverse as the Boy Scouts, Livonia Family Y, the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, Michigan Art Train, the Livonia Symphony Orchestra and the Boys and Girls Clubs of Southeastern Michigan.

Her efforts for young people are especially noteworthy.

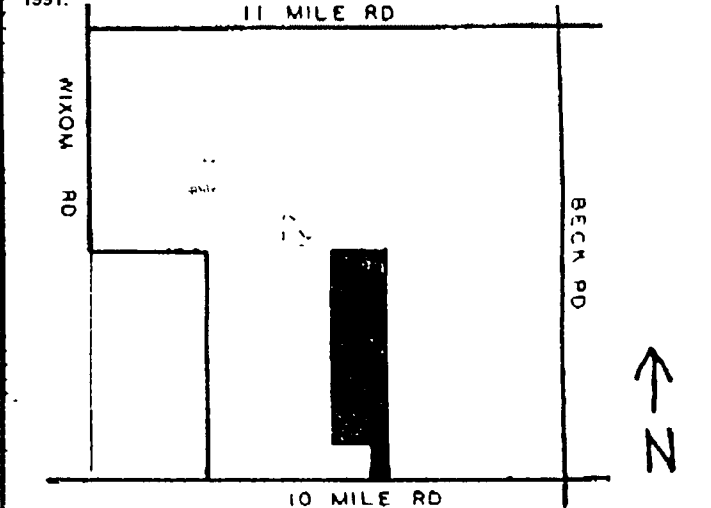

Awrey "is a strong advocate for young people's programs and believes that young people deserve opportunities for successful futures," the trustees said.

For Dumas, the path has been largely through Republican politics. After serving one term on the Schoolcraft College board, she was elected to the Wayne County Board of Commissioners in 1972 and served three terms as commissioner.

AN OPEN LETTER TO HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS AND THEIR PARENTS

As part of our continuing commitment to community service, we want to help high school students select courses which will prepare them for academic success at Wayne State University.

Recommended Course of Study

1. ENGLISH

(4 years recommended)

Students entering the University should be able to (1) understand the main and subordinate ideas in written works, lectures and discussions, and (2) conceive ideas about a topic and organize them for presentation in verbal and in written forms, using standard English sentences. Effective use of the English language is central to one's ability to succeed at the University and in the professions and occupations for which our students are preparing.

2. MATHEMATICS

(4 years recommended)

Entering students should be able to (1) add, subtract, multiply and divide using natural numbers, (2) use the mathematics of integers, fractions and decimals, (3) understand ratios, proportions, percentages, roots and powers; and (4) perform the mathematical operations of algebra and geometry. Most careers for which University students are preparing require mathematical competency, and an increasing number of careers in the science and technical curricula require advanced preparation in mathematics.

3. BIOLOGICAL AND PHYSICAL SCIENCES

(3 years recommended)

Students should be acquainted with (1) concepts of matter, energy, motion and force, and the natural laws and processes of the physical sciences in general, (2) the science of life and living matter with special attention to growth, reproduction and structure; and (3) laboratory methods. A basic understanding of the physical and biological sciences is essential for many fields of University study, and is necessary if one is to comprehend our world and the impact of science and technology on it.

4. SOCIAL SCIENCES/HISTORY

(3 years recommended)

Students should study different cultures and societies—their social systems, customs, communities, values, economics, governments and politics. Knowledge of the major events and ideas that have shaped our nation and its place in the world is a necessary foundation for college study in several subjects. Students should be able to make inferences about how the past affects the present and future course of the world. The social sciences, by teaching the use of critical analysis, develop an understanding of society and current events that is essential for an informed citizenry in an open society.

5. FOREIGN LANGUAGES

(2 years recommended)

Proficiency in a foreign language not only introduces students to non-English speaking countries but also heightens awareness and comprehension of one's native tongue. Language is the basic instrument of thought; the ability to read, speak and write a foreign language permits one to understand another culture in a more fundamental way. Foreign language competency will open up career opportunities denied to those without it.

6. FINE ARTS

(2 years recommended)

Students entering the University should be acquainted with the visual and performing arts through study and/or participation. Several academic disciplines at the University require high levels of skill in the arts. Study in this area enriches life and heightens one's sense of beauty and aesthetic perception.

7. COMPUTER LITERACY

Some formal instruction in the logic and use of computers in problem solving and data retrieval is increasingly important in all fields of study.

We suggest that this letter be clipped from the newspaper, and we urge students to review and discuss these recommendations with their parents and school counselors as they develop plans of study for high school. If you have any questions, please call the Wayne State University Director of Admissions at 577-3577.

Superintendent speaks on upcoming election law allowing us to go with the CPI, would have allowed us to increase millage. But because our millage was all up for a vote, we did not do that.

Why will you need a Truth-in-Taxation hearing the night of the election?

You always have to have a Truth-in-Taxation hearing. We're not levying millage until the election is passed. We'll have our Truth-in-Taxation hearing. The board will decide what the actual levy will be after the election, the following week. You have to have seven days between that, but the board will hear input from citizens; that's what the purpose of the hearing is, on what they think we ought to do in the way of levying.

How does the Truth-in-Taxation figure arise?

Truth-in-Taxation is one of those laws that came out of Lansing that was just a real difficult thing to deal with. Basically, it's advising the public, because your growth in revenue or your growth in SEV (state equalized valuation) has increased that, in effect, you are gaining that much more money. We make no bones about that. It's in our flyer. Then they relate that to the number of mills, and that's not really the fact. The fact is millage times SEV equals revenues. When (Truth-in-Taxation announcements) say you increase by (1.52 mills), that's not true. Nobody's millage rate is going to go up by that amount of money. The revenue of the school district is going to go up by that amount of money, $1,860,000.

It's something that we have to do by law. Very frankly, very few people in the community understand it. It's virtually impossible to explain to people, particularly when it's mixed up with Headlee.

Headlee is a different figure. Headlee is based on the consumer price index. Truth in Taxation is not based upon the consumer price index. When you talk about the two of them you sound like an absolute dolt because it doesn't make much sense.

But it's a requirement of the law. So, yes, we will have a hearing. People will be able to talk to the board about what they think the board ought to levy out of the total authorized millage, assuming we have some total authorized millage at that time. At the next meeting, the board will make the decision on what to levy.

Schools seek input on a new leader

Residents of the Northville Public School District are encouraged to participate in the selection of a new superintendent for the district.

The Board of Education recently approved a procedure to be followed, which includes a specific time table for the recruiting and interviewing of recommended by Carl Brautigam of the Michigan Association of School Boards. Brautigam is serving as a consultant to the board in its search for a superintendent.

Brautigam will be available to hear residents' opinions about the type of person they would like to see head the school district. Anyone may attend any session. The schedule is as follows:

MONDAY, JUNE 3
8:30-9:15 a.m.: Moraine Elementary School
9:25-10:25 a.m.: Cooke Middle School
10:35-11:50 a.m.: High School
1:45-2:30 p.m.: Amerman Elementary School
7-8 p.m.: Focus Session—Board Room, Old Village School

8-9 p.m.: Open Public Session—Board Room, Old Village School

TUESDAY, JUNE 4
8:30-9:15 a.m.: Silver Springs Elementary School
9:30-10:30 a.m.: Meads Mill Middle School
10:45-11:30 a.m.: Old Village School
1:30-2:15 p.m.: Winchester Elementary School
2:30-3:15 p.m.: Bryant
5-6 p.m.: Open Forum—Board Room, Old Village School

A letter or card listing ideas and viewpoints about characteristics and competencies of a superintendent may be sent either to Carl W. Brautigam, Michigan Association of School Boards, 421 W. Kalamazoo, Lansing 48933, or to Glenna Davis, Chairperson, Superintendent Search, Northville Board of Education, P.O. Box 5400, Northville, 48167-2365. Deadline for correspondence is June 4.

Could you have held the hearing before the election?

We could have, but the board is all locked up on superintendent search things. (Bell plans to retire on July 31.) It's really difficult to have a meeting. Plus it's all academic unless the millage passes. You can't levy any millage until it passes.

Couldn't it have been helpful to have a hearing before the election to address any concerns people might have?

I don't know. We've rarely had very many people at the Truth-in-Taxation hearings. Last September, we had a Truth-in-Taxation hearing. . . I think we had three or four people. As soon as we explained to them, no, we weren't raising the millage rate. . . they were satisfied that we were levying the amount of millage we said we were going to levy. We've been straight with the public.

Wouldn't it be safer to request a two-year millage renewal than a one-year renewal? Then if you needed more money next year, you could ask for an increase, but you would not have to risk losing everything.

I'm not going to be here to handle that. My recommendation to my successor and the board will be that you have a millage election for renewal or whatever it's going to take to operate the school district sometime in the spring, in April. That way you're not in this Hairbreadth Harry kind of situation we're in now.

My intention was to do that this year. The way things were going in Lansing, they were talking, first of all, in April about a property-tax freeze. If that had gone on and gone through, it would have caused the school district not to gain any revenue whatever in addition to what it had last year.

That would have caused us some severe financial problems. It was impossible for us to have (the election) earlier this year. But I think the target for the new administration and board ought to be to have this early enough in the spring to have some rational planning. Here we are a school district in Strategic Planning, working on five year programs, and you can't plan three days ahead in finance.

The other reason for not going to two years is the second year (the Legislature is) talking about a property tax freeze. When that happens, there are a lot of things that could happen.

All the contracts would have to be renegotiated. Contracts call for a salary to be renegotiated if the SEV base of the school district is changed. That was a safety valve that was put in there to protect us from exactly what might happen. That's always been there. We foresaw that someday that could happen. I'm pleased, but it will mean that all of those will have to be redone. That's not an issue now. Let's not fog the issue now with that, but that's something that will come down the pike and will have to be dealt with.

What if the millage fails?

That's an interesting dilemma. There's no way the school district can function without operating money. It will indeed shut the doors, literally. Our opponents will consider that as a threat, but that's just a matter of fact. There's no way the district can function without operating funds.

The question would be: Would you have another election? The law says there has to be 30 days between elections. Our election is scheduled for June 10. The township's primary election is scheduled for Aug. 6. There are not two 30-day blocks of time in there. In other words, it's impossible to have an election between those two and get 30 days on either side of that.

There is another election, I understand, in September. . . . As it stands right now, there is no way that we could schedule an election between June 10 and the time school opens. Which means school doesn't open unless I can get some sort of dispensation from the election board. . . . But as the law stands right now, that's not the case.

Were you aware that the election schedule would work out like that?

No, I just found out in your paper last week that there was going to be an election Aug. 6. We don't deliberately put ourselves in this kind of stressful situation if we can avoid it. Especially in our last six weeks of work.

Would you postpone your retirement if the election were to fail?

I'm certainly not going to walk out of here and leave the school district insolvent, in a disastrous situation. I'm not going to stay here 100 years either. I'm not sure how long it will take.

If you had to have a second election, what would you cut from the budget to be able to offer a lower millage rate?

The board would have to work on that, and the staff. We would be right back where we were last September. The 1.28 mills was added because of the recapture, and we identified those kinds of things that were going to be cut out. I don't want to pick any specific things, but it would have to be that same process.

Again, we wouldn't do that without community input. I certainly wouldn't sit here and say we cut this. At that time of year it's very difficult to get community input.

How many new students are you expecting next year?

Probably 100. At least 100, perhaps more. There are a couple of bull-dozers that are having some financial problems, and we understand that their projects are slowed. We're not really sure. Our principals have identified slightly over 100.

If new developments on the tax rolls in Northville can account for 47 percent of the new dollars available to Northville schools, that works out to about $8,700 per new student, if 100 students enter the district. Is that much necessary to accommodate one new student? (The SEV in the Northville school district is increasing by 9 percent over last year to $1.86 million. Of the 9-percent increase, 4.25 can be attributed to new developments while 4.75 can be attributed to rising assessments on existing developments.)

No, the new growth is what allows us to meet the increased costs. If you don't have new growth you can't meet the increased costs. Blue Cross and Blue Shield, for instance, you're looking at an increase in the neighborhood of 15 percent. Our liability insurance in the last five years has gone up (about) 300 percent. Those kinds of things keep adding to the cost every year. If it weren't for new growth to give you that buffer to handle that then there's no way you're going to deal with it. You would just keep cutting back every year if you're going to stay at the status quo.

So, the additional money from new developments in the district is not all used to accommodate new students in the district?

That's right. If we had industrial and commercial property, . . . If we had some (research and development) property that doesn't produce kids, then you get an excess that will allow you to meet this growth and do the things that need to be done.

Just as the technology we've put in the district requires software, requires people to keep it running, all that kind of thing. That's where new growth goes to support the program. That's where with Novi, for instance, the increases in the Twelve Oaks assessments helps buffer the new kids. It's not necessary in Novi to levy as many mills as we do in Northville because we've got an exclusively residential community.

Is there going to be an opportunity for people with questions to have them answered before the election?

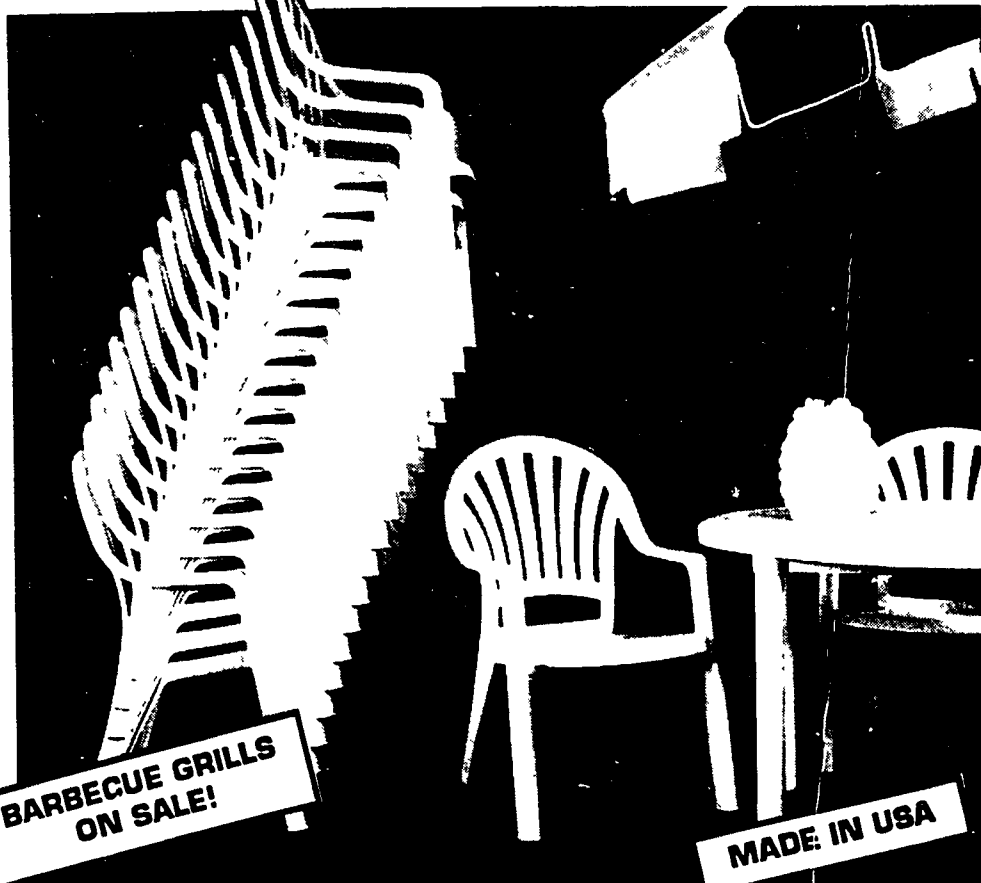

There won't be another board meeting before the election day. I've circulated my phone number far and wide. (Bell may be reached at 344-8440.) I've had a few phone calls from people who have had questions. I'm moving around to the buildings to all the spring activities. What I do basically is say there is an election on June 10 and if you have questions I'll be here and available to talk to you about them. I don't give out any notices.

What do you say to someone who says, 'Why do you need an extra $1.86 million next year?'

New students will eat up some of that. . . . Our per-pupil cost is going to be about $5,500. So you're talking about $550,000 right off the top for increased students. Increased students, transportation costs, insurance costs, contract increases—all of those things are added into that. That's just the cost of doing business.

It's not an unusual amount of money to need for a $22 million budget for the next year of school district operating. When you talk about deducting $550,000 for new students, you're talking about less than 5 percent of the increases in the total budget for just the cost of doing business.

Planners put zoning where Master Plan is

The city Planning Commission has finally finished the Master Plan. The final draft has been run by all the right boards, last-minute changes have been made, and copies are now lined up on a table somewhere in City Hall, with their shiny covers, dozens of tables and full-color land use map. It's taken several years of work to reach this point.

Sounds like Miller time, doesn't it?

Well, not exactly.

The commission is bravely refusing to rest on its just-donned laurels, and has begun forging ahead with implementation of the plan's recommendations. And that may well be the most difficult part of the plan.

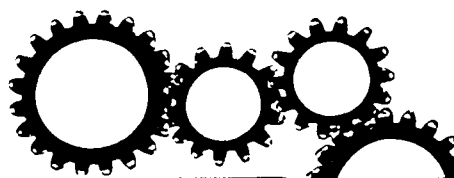

When you come right down to it, a Master Plan is little more than a suggestion. It's a whisper in the ear of a developer who may have economic factors, market trends and feasibility studies shouting at him as well.

But it is the stated wish of the city, and as such provides plenty of opportunity for potential revisions to the city's zoning ordinance, and a direction for further development of the city.

The commission has begun that revision process, asking Planning Consultant Don Wortman for language to further regulate building heights in the Central Business District, now limited to six stories, and implement outdoor storage regulations in the General Commercial and Performance-Regulated districts.

The commission also seeks to rezone the old Northville Ford Plant site from an industrial district to a more restrictive commercial zoning, and rezone the neighborhood south of Beal Avenue to prevent duplexes. Bealtown residents have requested the rezoning.

All the items the commission has started to consider deserve to be pursued, and we applaud the start of implementation so soon after passage of the plan. The downtown building height limit makes sense. Whether three or perhaps four stories is the appropriate limit is up for debate, but current regulations do need tightening. Outdoor storage regulations have long been a knotty problem downtown, and they likewise deserve attention. The first two zoning changes — in Bealtown and at the old

Development

Ford plant — will preserve the residential character of the former and help pursue appropriate use of the latter. All these are appropriate and timely moves.

Just accomplishing these first few items will require a lot more work. Public hearings, ordinance drafting and re-drafting, city council consideration. Maybe they'll never be accomplished at all.

Of course, the commissioners are avoiding, for now, more controversial revisions like a buffer zone around the Central Business District or a revision of North Center Street zoning from Central Business District to Commercial or Professional and Business Office district. But let's give credit where credit is due: They have begun the process.

There will be a lot more work ahead. These are just the first few of Planning Consultant Don Wortman's list of 16 items for action, and commissioners added a couple more to that list — namely, rezoning the west side of Wing Street to residential use (it's now commercial); and commission Chairperson John Hardin's repeat of an old request, still appropriate, to look seriously at a city tree-protection ordinance.

An even more controversial subject, a loop road around the city center, is not even on the list of 16 proposed zoning changes. It met with disfavor when raised in the past, but we believe the concept has some merit and deserves further discussion at least.

So the commission, the city council and their consultants have a lot of work cut out for them. The next step is for Wortman's office to draft proposed language for ordinance changes which would enact the first four revisions. The commission is scheduled to get a look at those items at its meeting next Tuesday at 8 p.m.

A great deal more effort lies ahead. But the key is getting started, and the commission is doing just that.

Arts appreciation flourishes

Last week I ran down some of the current goings-on in the Northville arts community (missing at least one, of course: A new exhibit at the Atrium Gallery opens next week.) This week I just want to point out that a committed audience seems to exist in town for all this activity.

The mere fact of the existence of the Northville Arts Commission shows this to an extent. The commission, a unit of Northville city government, is essentially behind all the major, organized efforts at art appreciation in this community.

First is the Michael Farrell lecture series, which has become an annual happening organized by the commission. Farrell is an area expert in art who delivers lectures, accompanied by slides, on various aspects of the visual arts. The series receives a good response each year.

The arts commission also organizes the annual Art Market, now become part of the Victorian Festival, which brings a juried show to the streets of downtown Northville for all to enjoy. And of course, as I mentioned last week, the commission also presents the summer bandshell concert series.

The most recent effort, however, aims more directly at the idea of appreciation of the arts. The commission has organized a new group called Friends of the Arts, and it seems to have generated a good deal of interest.

Commission members Phelps Hines, Phyllis Morrow and Edward Postiff held the first Friends of the Arts meeting on May 2, attracting more than 30 potential members. The second meeting is scheduled from 7:30 to 9 p.m. next Tuesday, June 4, at Edwards Caterer (on Dunlap east of Center).

The group's functions are in its own hands, but the basic idea is to gather people together for things like museum tours and outings to performances. It sounds like a terrific group. Phelps Hines said they are thinking about a membership fee of around $5, just to start building up a little treasury. The group is set up to be non-profit and yet self-sufficient.

With Northville's tradition of participation in and enjoyment of the arts — both of which seem to be increasing all the time — I'm betting the Friends of the Arts will find instant success.

This is the second of several columns about the arts in Northville.

Reform, not money, is answer

Zowie! The colorful mailed brochure from the Detroit Zoological Society had lots of nifty promises if you mail 'em a check and join. There are admissions deals and all sorts of benefits.

The zoo is a department of the City of Detroit, which sets the rules. The Zoological Society is a private support group for the zoo. It does such good work that a lot of us think the zoo should be run by the society since the city won't fully fund it, and Gov. John Engler wants to zero out the state grant.

Toledo's zoo is now in the hands of a private society, Brookfield Zoo in Chicago is funded by a county tax and run by a private society. Baltimore turned over its zoo to a private society. Milwaukee's zoo is a county operation. In Columbia, S.C., the zoo is a two-county operation.

Detroit, which has lost half its population since the 1950s, is simply too small an entity to have the financial strength to support a zoo. But the city pig-headedly continues its political control.

State money for the zoo was coming from something called the "equity program."

In 1984 the equity package amounted to $7.45 million. In fiscal 1991 it amounted to $32 million. That's an increase of 430 percent, more than 60 percent a year. That's a worse record than cable TV. Zowie again!

You can figure out what happened. The Legislature played monkey see, monkey do. If your cultural institution gets money, mine deserves it, too. A children's violin group in the Keewenaw Peninsula, a Mexican dance troupe in Saginaw, the Paul Robeson theater in Grand Rapids — hey, let's all line up at the state trough.

Stop the monkeyshines, said Gov. Engler. We have families in poverty, foster parents, and above all schools which need money. Kill the "equity program."

Two weeks ago I wrote about a slick brochure from the Founders Society of the Detroit Institute of Arts. Some folks misread it and thought their Founders' grants were going to the Detroit city treasury.

Not quite. The Founders Society contributes about $10 million of the DIA's $26.5 million operating budget (in addition to making acquisitions). As the state and the Founders Society increased their grants, city money was moved into other areas.

Detroit actually has the money to fully fund DIA, the zoo, the symphony, the Main Library and so on. It collects $280 million in income taxes, the majority from commuters. One-fifth could fund the cultural jewels favored by non-residents.

It's obvious Detroit has no intention of directing much of its massive $2 billion budget into things used largely by non-residents.

Charge admission? A little help, but not enough.

It's also obvious that other methods of operation need to be found. Maybe starting a tri-county authority. Maybe turning over the zoo to the Zoological Society and the DIA to the Founders Society.

What bugs me is that the leaders of these private groups lack the testicular fortitude to advocate the reforms they know are needed.

Instead they send us slick brochures asking for money, money, money.

Editorial gives false impression

To the editor:

I am writing in response to your editorial in the May 20 issue of The Record, concerning the non-union pay increases recently granted by the City Council.

You state that while the administrators probably deserve it, the Council acted too hastily in conjunction with asking the unions for a contract pay increase delay next fiscal year. You suggest that "it creates the uncomfortable situation of giving raises to the chiefs while seeking concessions from the Indians." You conclude that "At the very least, the Council should have discussed the possibility" of not granting the non-union pay increases. In fact, the City Council discussed the issue of concessions, for both union and administrative employees, during several budget sessions prior to the administrative pay decision.

Your editorial is a very misleading picture of this year's budget review process which led to the administrative pay decision, and creates the false impression that the City unions are being asked to do something that the administrators are not. Page 11d of the 1991-92 Budget Document shows the dollar savings of various "across-the-board" salary increase delays, a concept which was first discussed on April 15. After several more budget study sessions, the City Council decided on May 6 to include a six-month pay increase delay for all employees to provide a cost reduction of $54,000 as part of the final balancing of the General Fund (as shown on Budget page 11y).

On May 7, the unions were notified that the 1991-92 Budget required the $54,000 reduction, and that the city was proposing to provide it by a six-month delay in pay increases for all employees, including the non-union employees. If the unions would agree to it. If not, then layoffs would be the only alternative left to the City. It was pointed out that the pay increase delay was preferred over layoffs because (1) it would share the burden with all employees rather than just those who would be laid off, and (2) it would include non-union employees as well as union employees. The City is currently negotiating with the unions about this matter.

It was more logical and fair to all employees to treat the "chiefs" and the "Indians" in a similar way in fiscal 1990-91, with reasonable pay increases, and then ask both to share the budget impact in 1991-92.

Paper's grammar ain't as good as it oughta be

To the editor:

I was disappointed from a grammatical standpoint with the title of the Community Park article on page 3A of the May 20 issue of The Northville Record. I believe the caption should have read "Park develops slowly but surely," rather than "slow but sure."

Since there is a great deal of emphasis being placed on improving the writing skills of people, a visible forum such as your newspaper, I believe, bears the burden of ensuring that its application of the language is above reproach. Unfortunately, in this case I do not think it met the test.

Perhaps all is not lost, however. Besides having your staff become more aware of its "obligation" to apply the language correctly, please consider proactive measures such as a writing contest, a weekly column on writing correctly, etc. to lend support and emphasis to this visible education issue.

I'll leave you with this thought: Writin' sure ain't worth much if it ain't done good.

Report highlights alcohol, tobacco

Educators, parents and community members must place a greater emphasis on eliminating alcohol and tobacco use among children and adolescents if they are serious about creating drug-free schools, the final report of the National Commission on Drug Free School concludes.

"America's schools have two drug problems," the report states. "Although intolerably high, the use of cocaine, marijuana and other illicit drugs has declined sharply over the past decade. The use of alcohol and tobacco, however, has remained at a high level."

The commission cited a federally funded survey of high school seniors in 1989 in which 3 percent of those surveyed said they had used cocaine and 17 percent said that they had smoked marijuana during the previous month. In contrast, 60 percent said that they had used alcohol and 29 percent said that they had smoked cigarettes during the same time period.

The commission believes that the nation's illegal drug problems will not be eliminated until the gateways — drugs, alcohol and tobacco — are dealt with more effectively.

In my opinion, the tobacco and alcohol industries appear to target many of their advertisements toward young people.

As a sidelight and as presented in Prevention Network May 1991, "Several communities in Michigan have enacted ordinances prohibiting cigarette vending machines because of the easy access minors have to these."

The concern is that tobacco addiction is deadly, causing 350,000 deaths annually (10 times the deaths attributable to alcohol and all illicit drugs combined) and users tend to begin at a young age.

Consider these facts provided by Alcoholism and Drug Abuse Council of Nebraska:

- 87 percent of youth who smoke report having purchased tobacco from a vending machine
- More people start smoking at 13 than at any other age. Almost 60 percent of all smokers start by age 14 and 90 percent by age 19.
- The earlier a child starts using tobacco, the more likely he/she will be unable to quit and to subsequently die of tobacco-induced disease.
- A child who smokes just one pack of cigarettes will develop a substantial tolerance to the effect of the drug nicotine, which is the critical first step in the addiction process.
- The tobacco industry must recruit more than 5,000 new smokers each day in order to maintain sales levels.

At Northville High School during the 1990-91 school year we have instituted the Fresh Start Stop Smoking Group and have worked with many students educating and supporting them in their fight with this addiction. As a community and as families I believe we are much, much too lax in our approach to ridding our world of cigarettes.

As a professional in the field of chemical dependency I can assure you that cigarettes are highly addictive and once smoking has begun it is one of the hardest addictions to kick. In fact in working with recovery students who have stopped using crack, acid, marijuana, alcohol and other drugs, almost to a person they are unable to give up cigarettes.

Remember cigarettes are a very addictive central nervous system stimulant but help is available. If you are using stop using. If you don't smoke, don't start! Parents have a lot of say in whether your teens smoke.

Call me if your want your teen to get help! Call me if you want help for yourself or have concerns. Phone 344-1825.

Skills training vital, as is funding

This area got two doses of national attention recently, both on the subject of job skills and our ability to compete with the rest of the world.

Vice President Dan Quayle visited Detroit and the suburbs to familiarize himself with the problems of the auto industry before traveling to Japan. Interviewed by our Tim Richard, Quayle endorsed a proposal to set up serious incentives for job and skills training programs put forth by the National Commission on Skills in the Workplace, which included UAW President Owen Bieber, Ford VP Peter Pestillo and myself.

The proposal is to set up a fund to provide on-the-job training similar to that provided for workers in Germany and Japan. The commission proposed a 1 percent tax on payroll, either to be spent on skills training by employers or by government. Germany now spends 3.5 percent of payroll, Sweden 2.5 percent and Japan 1 percent.

"Education is critical to competitiveness," Quayle said. "Let's get serious about education and training." But the vice president criticized the "funding, the payroll tax side of it."

Then the dean of national political columnists, David Broder, wrote a piece on U.S. Rep. William D. Ford, D-Taylor, and why kids who aren't going to college get shorted in our schools.

Broder quoted Ford, who, as the new chair of the House Education and Labor Committee, is one of the most powerful members of Congress: "In the old days, all a kid had to do was stay out of jail until he was 18, and then he'd hear at the pool hall or wherever one day. They're hiring at Chrysler. And he'd get a job on the line at Chrysler or GM or Ford, and in two years he'd be making enough to get married and buy a house."

"That's how it worked, and it's how my district was built up. Now, to be an entry-level steelworker, you've got to pass an exam in math and general science. The simple jobs are gone," Ford concluded.

Broder then makes the sensible observation that with education matters in the Senate run by patrician Clariborne Pell and born-to-wealth Teddy Kennedy, "It is well that somebody with the blue-collar, assembly-line, bleachers-and-beer perspective of a Billy Ford also has a large voice in these policy decisions."

Our national debate has finally focused on the linkage between skills and good jobs. High-value products require workers who can think as well as bend metal.

And that's where our schools fall down. We provide good college prep training for university-bound kids — for our white-collar and technical elites. But the kids who aren't going to college get second-rate educations with no applied learning, and they come into the world of work with minimum skills.

Our commission found that of the total of $30 billion spent by the private sector in training, some $27 billion was spent on management. Anthony P. Carnevale, economist of the American Society for Training and Development, put it this way: "About one in every five college graduates gets some training from an employer, but only one in 13 employees without college gets training."

The bottom line: It's nice to see Vice President Quayle endorsing more training for American workers. But it's sad that he copped out by criticizing the funding mechanism without offering any substitute.

Bill Ford, at least, knows all about the device of appearing to agree with a laudable objective but making sure nothing ever happens because no agreement can be reached on funding. I suspect that before his tenure is over, he'll do something about it.

"My face was numb. It was maybe 25 degrees out, there was snow on the ground, and right in front of my apartment door was a bum wearing a Mets T-shirt freezing to death.

I stepped around him and went in. I thought, 'great, just the ending I needed to an already lousy day.' Just then, this sick feeling came over me. Forget me, what about that guy? I went to my closet and pulled out a coat I haven't worn since college. I stood there, feeling dumb. Was he going to be mad if I gave him a hand out? He's freezing to death. I opened my door and handed him the clothes. He put them on and stored at me. Then he walked away. It was weird but it was good. I'm not the Salvation Army, but giving out a coat isn't all that hard."

Jim Cobb is visiting with his mother, Agnes.
"Is your name Agnes?" he asks.

"Who is?" she responds.

Next week is Agnes' birthday. She will be 78.

"When is your birthday?" Jim asks Agnes. Jim looks to be in his mid-40s. He is a well-dressed professional. "Is it June the second or the third?"

Agnes looks at him blankly. Then she takes his hand, holds it out like a mother inspecting her little boy's dirty palms before dinner, and chuckles. "Look at that," she says.

Connie Hayes, who taught kindergarten in the Detroit Public Schools for 43 years, walks up and down the hallway while she hums her little tune.

Does she know what song it is?

"No," she says. "Not really. I've gotten into this recently . . . It's a good thing for me. It holds up very well."

"I don't ever intend not to do anything," she adds, smiling brightly. "I know what I want."

Lila Talraas says she's only been at Star Manor for two days, but the records show it's been much longer. She and Agnes and Connie and 34 others live there because they can't live alone anymore and their families can't provide the 24-hour medical care that has become necessary for them.

"I'm just staying here for a short period of time," Lila claims. "I don't live here; I'm being treated here."

"But some people stay for months or years," she whispers.

Star Manor is a 37-bed, one-story nursing home in Northville that provides care for elderly people unable to care for themselves. Most of the patients, according to owner Peter Radakovic, are suffering from "some sort of dementia, Alzheimer's or Parkinson's disease."

"We have a secure environment here," Radakovic said. "No one can just walk out the door. Families are concerned about that." The doors are held closed with chains, except for the main entry that requires the push of a button before it will open.

"And they're concerned about their mom or dad being able to fit in. The aides here know everyone in the building. And we have activities, like picnics in the summer."

The building itself was once a hospital. Some of the women who live there now also gave birth to their children there.

Above, Carrie Edwards (left) is no longer at Star Manor. She now lives in another nursing home. Cindy McDuff (right) is half of a set of twins who work as aids there. Far left, Connie Hayes (standing) was a kindergarten teacher for 43 years. Sometimes she believes she is still teaching. Other times, she believes she works at Star Manor. Dorothy Hayes (sitting), who is no relation to Connie, is currently in the hospital. Left, a resident walks the halls at Star Manor.

SUEANN F'GEPPERT

Rouge Rescue

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

If you want to be of service to your town, Sueann F'Geppert suggests you turn out for the Rouge Rescue Clean-Up. The time is Saturday, June 1, at 8 a.m., and the place to meet in Novi is Michigan Tractor at 24800 Novi Road (between Ten Mile and Grand River); in Northville, it is the Northville Community Recreation Building, 303 W. Main, at 8:30.

Major F'Geppert, as a member of the Civil Air Patrol, has been participating in the clean-up for two or three years, she said — she and eight to 10 other Air Force Auxiliary members in ages from 13 to 70.

Buses take the volunteers to various work sites along the river.

The object is to remove out of the river the brush and debris that you can handle so that the water flows freely. "You're provided with bags, and you fill them with small stuff," she said.

Larger things like barn equipment, stoves, shopping baskets, split railroad ties, bicycles — "all kinds of stuff," F'Geppert said. "You haul to the edge of the road and the Department of Public Works comes along and picks it up."

"Anything that anybody has and doesn't want," she added, "they dump in the river."

"But I think it's getting a little better around here. People's attitude has changed in the last few years."

"Of course, you still have to take care of dead trees." The Rouge will never be cleaned once and for all.

Speaking as one with experience, F'Geppert said, "Take a lot of bug spray. Wear your old clothes — long-sleeved shirt and long pants and sturdy shoes."

The sponsors of the clean up program are called Friends of the Rouge, and expenses are paid for by municipalities and several different private companies.

For more information or to be added to the volunteer list, call 347 0454 in Novi or 349 0203 in Northville.

Used Book Sales

Plans for a used book sale by the Friends of the Northville Public Library have been changed and a new date set for the popular fund-raiser to benefit the library.

The new date is Saturday, Aug. 3, when the sale will be held in conjunction with the annual Summer Sidewalk Sale.

Because an insufficient number of books have been contributed to offer a large selection, it was decided by the Friends board to move the date to late summer.

Contributions are still needed of all kinds of books with the exception of textbooks for grades K-12, encyclopedias more than 10 years old and Readers Digest Condensed Books.

McMahon, Whichello elected to Girl Scout board

Ruth McMahon and Harlan D. Whichello from Northville were elected to the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council's Board of Directors. The elections took place April 30, at the council's annual meeting.

McMahon has been involved in Girl Scouting for 20 years — when her daughter became a Brownie Scout. She has served in many capacities, including troop services director for eight years; leader six years (two years cadette, three years junior and one year as a Brownie leader); volunteer personnel committee for three years; trainer and ETC committee; program committee; gold award support group; chair of council nominating committee; and board member.

McMahon has been self-employed as a genealogical researcher since 1987. She has served as secretary of the Plymouth Symphony League; president of the United Methodist Women in Plymouth; and decorating committee and staff/parish committee for First United Methodist Church in South Lyon.

Whichello is employed at Belleville

Die Shop. He is also the owner of Tait Tool and Die in Westland. His wife, Sharon, and his daughters have been very involved in Girl Scouting for 15 years and have benefited greatly. He feels that he wants to give something back to the organization.

Whichello has many community involvements. He is a board member of the Romulus Economic Development, and of the Romulus Tax Increment Finance Authority. He has been president of Brookland Farms homeowners association since 1974. Harland is affiliated with Romulus Rotary Club, where he has served as board member, secretary, treasurer, vice president and president.

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council is one of 333 councils chartered by the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. and is charged with the responsibility of administering Girl Scouting in Wayne, Monroe, Washtenaw and Livingston Counties. Its membership consists of over 4,000 adult members and over 13,000 girl members. The offices of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council are located in downtown Ypsilanti.

Garden of the Edens

This Connemara Hills plot is a real showcase

By PATRICIA A. ZIELKE
Special Writer

A Garden of Eden can be found on Rathlone in Connemara Hills, where a beautifully planned and carefully nurtured English garden has been created by Earl and Pat Eden.

No serpents here — just an occasional lonely garter snake looking for a friend. In the beginning, 19 years ago, there were boulders, weeds, clay and more clay, but the Edens diligently hoed, raked, pulled, dug, and tilled the earth until it was conditioned for plantings and grass.

Today the garden is a delightful blend of over 90 perennials, providing a mass of color throughout the growing season. The garden is presently ablaze with Orange Oriental Poppies, light blue Forget-me-Nots, Jacob's Ladder, red and yellow Columbine, and pink Phlox.

Soon to bloom are Siberian Iris, Goats Beard, Cosmos, Spider Plants, Lilies, Jupiters Beard, and Monks Hood. Asters, Mums, Obedient Plants and others will usher in the fall.

The garden is host to a variety of birds who enjoy time-sharing space in several of the Edens' bird houses. Bed and breakfast facilities are also available to the more transient varieties.

Also, the garden is host to a variety of birds who enjoy time-sharing space in several of the Edens' bird houses. Bed and breakfast facilities are also available to the more transient varieties.

Pat Eden was charter president of the Country Girls' branch of the National Women's Farm and Garden Association. The Edens will soon be leaving Northville. Earl accepted early retirement from Ford Motor Credit Company to pursue a second career in parish ministry. He is presently a student at Methodist Theological School in Ohio and has been accepted to a student pastorate in Deshler, Ohio with a second church in Malinta.

The Edens will miss their garden, but their friends have assured them that they will keep them apprised of "what's growing on" in Northville.

Agnes Cobb's awareness of her surroundings has improved lately, since she was taken off an anti-hallucinogenic medication.

Star Manor

It used to have a second story, but the second story was deemed a fire hazard in the early 1960s. It's been a nursing home ever since.

Lila is sitting in a chair in the hall. In her room another woman sits clutching a doll to her breast. She is alone. She frowns at anyone who walks in. Shhhhh. The baby is sleeping.

The residents of Star Manor seem to be treated well. Even Lila, who would rather be somewhere else, says so: "It's better than a regular hospital. Oh, they treat me nice. But I don't care who you are — you don't like to be in a hospital."

And her roommate, the one with the baby?
"Oh, yes," Lila nods. "There are babies here."

Jim Cobb agreed that his mother's care has been good. When he first learned that Agnes would need constant medical care he tried to keep her in her own home by bringing in outside services, but that wasn't enough. She had to be watched all day and all night — something no one in the family could provide.

"It's very depressing to put someone in a nursing home," he said.

Agnes was alright until about three years ago, Jim said. She was always busy with her garden and her grandchildren, and she read a lot. Then his father died. Eventually Agnes had a nervous breakdown and began hallucinating.

"She just couldn't take being alone," he said.
Then, one day, she broke her hip.

"She hasn't been the same since," he said. "Mind-wise, it really set her back."

He turned to Agnes. "But you're getting better, aren't you?" he asked.

She stared back, confused, trying to understand.

"They've taken her off one of the medications," Jim explained. It's left her more alert.

"Sometimes she'll be real sensible, then sometimes she'll just babble on."

"Well, you've got those dogs here with you," Agnes said.

"No, there aren't any dogs here," Jim responded.

"We looked around at a lot of places before we chose this one," he said. "The people here have really been wonderful. They keep them fairly active."

He said he might move Agnes to another home in the future, so she can be closer to her family. Most of her children and grandchildren live in Ann Arbor, and her own house is still there, waiting for her.

Meanwhile, Agnes' five children visit her whenever they can. Jim is in the area often because of his work, so he squeezes in a visit whenever he's here. His sister lives in Westland, so she is also able to visit often. Agnes is visited far more often than some nursing home residents are.

"It's a real shame," Jim said. "Some people don't seem to get any visitors." He's gotten into the habit of visiting some of them himself.

Agnes hates to see Jim leave. "Sometimes when I just get here, I'll leave the room to get her glasses or something," he said. "And she'll say, 'Don't go.'"

Connie passes by, still humming her mysterious tune. "I might be going to New York tomorrow," she announces to Lila. "I might go see my girlfriend."

"Well, she's been bad for some time now," answers Lila, who is probably thinking of someone else's girlfriend, in another place, another time. Then she turns to a woman down the hall who is heading into the bathroom.

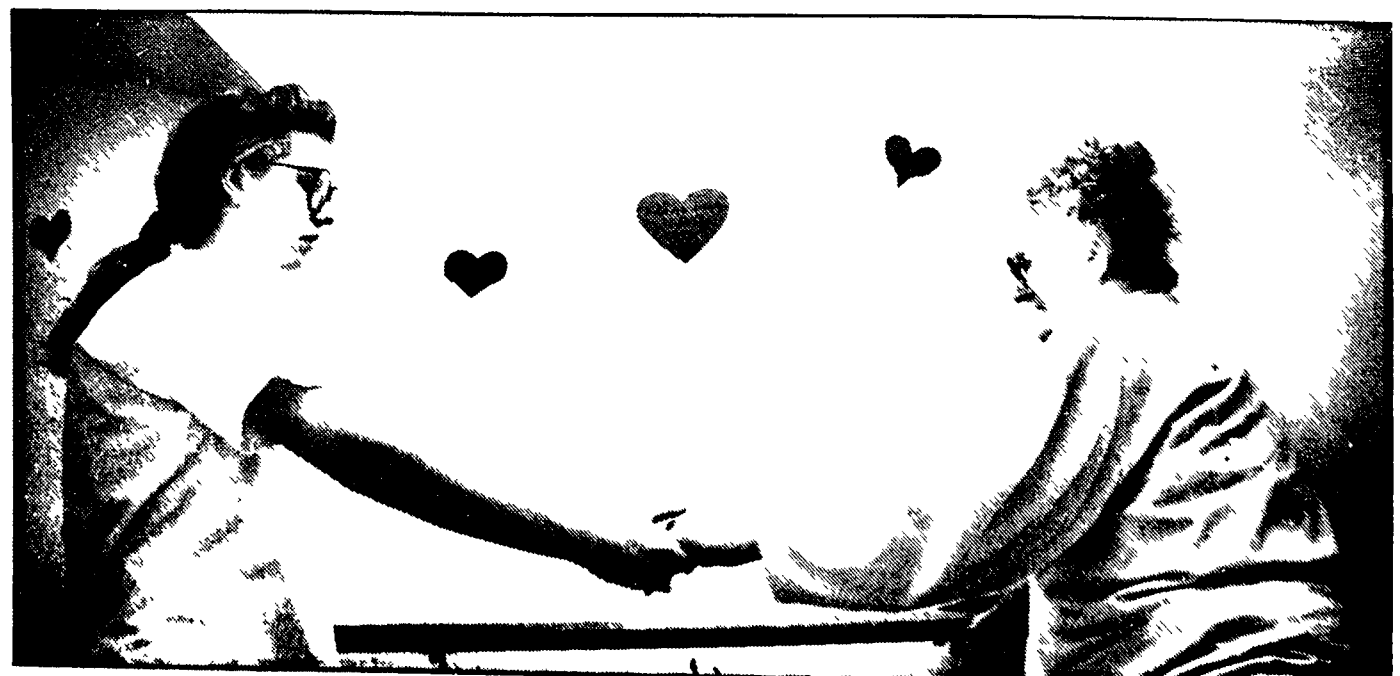

"I wouldn't go in there alone if I were you," she warns.

"I'm not what you'd call really sick," Lila concludes. "A lot of people here are like me. They're just here."

The old Northville Ford Plant is now part of the Ford Heritage Trails.

Ford Heritage seen locally

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Two sets of historically significant paths wind their way through southeastern Michigan, the branches of the Rouge River and the routes of the Ford Heritage Trails.

The paths intersect in Northville. Media attention is currently focused on the Rouge for the sixth annual Rouge Rescue, a volunteer effort to clean up the river. This year's rescue effort officially began May 17 at Dearborn's Henry Ford Estate, with a Rouge Rescue kick-off rally. The rally is an annual event to recruit and encourage volunteers for the Rouge Rescue cleanup on June 1. The Ford Heritage Trails consist of two motor-tour routes between the various remaining mills from Henry Ford's network of village industries.

Ford started 20 village industries between 1919-1944. The rural mills were part of his vision of community-oriented workplaces to strengthen rural villages rather than draw workers away from them.

Ford's plan, thought to have been encouraged by Thomas Edison, was to situate water-driven factories along many of the country's rivers. The mills were often restored gristmills first built in the 1800s.

The Huron/Raisin route, running along the banks of the Huron and Raisin rivers south of Ann Arbor, passes the Rawsonville Dam, Shuyler Mills in Saline, the Manchester

Mill, the Sharon Mills which was first built in 1834, the Brooklyn Mill, Hayden Mills in Tecumseh, and the Greek Revival Dundee Gristmill.

Closer to home, the Rouge River route includes the Northville Valve Plant at the corner of Main and Griswold, which began producing engine valves for Ford in 1920. The site was first used as a gristmill in 1827. On the other side of Griswold is historic Mill Race Village, the collection of restored historical buildings along Mill Pond.

Another stop on the Rouge River route is the former Waterford plant in Northville Township, once the site of Meads Mill, the largest gristmill in Michigan. The plant is now owned by the Adistra Corporation.

Other local stops include the Phoenix Mill near Five Mile, Plymouth Mills, Nankin Mills and Newburg Mill. The mills are located along scenic Edward Hines Drive.

Mills are not the only sights to see on the Ford Heritage Trails. The Rouge River route includes Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn, which includes seven restored mills and Henry Ford's birthplace.

For more information on the Ford Heritage Trails, call the Nankin Mills office of the Wayne County Parks Division at 593-5590. For information on Northville's Rouge Rescue, call the Northville Recreation Department at 349-0203.

Summer concert series opens soon

The Northville Arts Commission has announced its 1991 "Music in the Bandshell" series. The season opens with the Novi Concert Band June 7.

Other concerts in June include:

Giftfiddler on June 14; Reed Works June 21 and Silver Strings Dulcimer Society June 28.

The bandshell series doesn't end in June, however. Concerts are scheduled through mid-September. All concerts begin at 7:30 p.m. The Northville bandshell is located off the south side of Main Street between Center and Church.

DRAWINGS: An exhibit of pencil drawings by Jorge E. Galvez opens Saturday at the J. Giordano Gallery, 332 E. Main. The opening will be from noon to 4 p.m.

Galvez is a well-established artist who works in oil, acrylic, pencil, and watercolor. His works encompass a range of subjects, but in all he tries to convey a message.

Galvez has been featured in exhibitions since his first in 1974 at the National Concourse of Art in Bogota, Colombia. In 1990 his work was exhibited by teh Biegas Gallery in Detroit, during the Hispanic Art Exhibition at the Bowen Library in Detroit and by the Hispanic Council of Art at Baldwin Library in Birmingham.

The exhibit will run through June 21.

FLUTE CONCERT: Ervin Monroe, principal flutist of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, will play a free concert at the bandshell in downtown Northville on Wednesday, June 5, at 7:30 p.m.

The concert is sponsored by the Northville Arts Commission and Flute Centre Plus, located in the J. Giordano Gallery, 332 E. Main St., Northville.

This year marks Monroe's 24th as the DSO's principal flutist. He has appeared as a soloist and clinician throughout North America and internationally. He has performed with the Mozarteum Orchestra (Salzburg, Austria), the Chamber Symphony of Philadelphia, the Royal Ballet, the Royal Danish Ballet and the Bolshoi Ballet.

Monroe has also served as musical director and conductor of several Michigan orchestras and is an applied music studies teacher at Oakland University and Wayne State University. He authored numerous musical publications, including original compositions, and several solo albums, chamber music albums, and orchestral recordings of the Symphony Orchestra featuring his playing.

The concert will feature a combination of classical pieces as well as popular show tunes. The public will have the opportunity of meeting Monroe at a "Concert Intimate Afterglow Gathering" to be held at the J. Giordano Gallery.

THEATER GUILD BENEFIT: The Plymouth Theatre Guild will host a benefit show, Lovers, Dreamers and Madmen, to raise money for a new sound system. The one-night-only performance will take place Saturday, June 1, at 8 p.m. at the Water Tower Theatre located on the campus of the Northville Regional Hospital, 41001 W. Seven Mile Road in Northville, west of I-275 between Haggerty and Northville Roads.

The PTC's own multi-talented James Morrison and Cheryl A. Bubar will be performing musical scenes from a variety of theater shows in a departure from the standard duet format with more contemporary, dramatic and challenging material.

Scenes include perpetual dreamers, lovers, middle age couples struggling to cope, skid row losers finding strength in each other, and characters swallowed up in madness.

Musicals featured will be favorites such as Sweeney Todd, A Little Night Music, Phantom of the Opera and Les Miserables. In a lighter vein, there will be Pippin, Little Shop of Horrors and Mame. Among the relatively unknown will be material from the new Broadway hit Miss Saigon, Grand Hotel, Baker's Wife and many others.

Tickets are $5 if purchased or reserved in advance and $6 at the door. An afterglow will immediately follow the performance. All those in attendance are welcome to join us for dessert and hors d'oeuvres.

For reservations or for additional information, please call 349-7110.

KARAOKE: The Novi Hilton's Whispers Lounge is looking for a few good singers.

They will be holding Karaoke-assisted auditions on Friday and Saturday evenings. Singers are asked to reserve performance times. Phone 349-4000 to do so or for more information. The Novi Hilton is located on Haggerty Road just north of Eight Mile Road.

MORE FOOD, FUN AND SONG: Due to the overwhelming success of all the dinner theaters, John and Toni Genitti of Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall Restaurant are pleased to announce scheduled additions to the Murder Mystery and Verdi Opera Dinner Theatre performances.

Genitti's now has three different production companies performing three different Murder Mystery Dinner Theatres. Every Friday evening at 7:30 p.m. separate performances are planned in separate dining rooms. Reservations are required for all shows.

Special performances of the Murder Mystery Dinner Theatre are now available for large groups of people any day of the week, day or evening, lunch or dinner time. The theater is ideal entertainment for tours, business functions, large family functions or any happy occasion.

The "Verdi Opera Dinner Theatre" is now scheduled the third Thursday of every month at 7:30 p.m. All arias are performed by the Verdi Opera Theatre of Michigan. Special performances are available for large groups. Reservations are required for all shows.

Genitti's "Hole-in-the-Wall" restaurant is located in downtown Northville at 108 East Main St. just east of Center Street (Sheldon Road). The Murder Mystery Dinner Theatre and the Verdi Opera Dinner Theatre including the seven course dinner costs $25 per person (including tax and tip).

Can the world's largest Christmas store get bigger?

If your electricity bill is already $500 a day, would you turn more lights on?

Do people buy Christmas decorations in summer?

The answer is yes, yes and yes.

Nobody who knows Wally Bronner and his family will be surprised to know that Bronner's Christmas Wonderland in Frankenmuth, Michigan, has just doubled in size.

If you like numbers, try these: 2 million visitors and 2,000 motorcoaches already go to 25 Christmas Lane in Frankenmuth to browse among the 50,000 trims and gifts, the 260 different kinds of Christmas trees, the Bibles printed in 30 languages, the 500 different Nativity scenes, the 6,000 different ornament styles... well, you get the picture.

Wally couldn't fit them all in his huge store, so he added 100,000 square feet. The building is now 201,243 square feet, which is five acres or four football fields.

The new west entrance is flanked by an 18-foot-high Christmas tree hung with a banner proclaiming the Bronner motto: "Enjoy Christmas, It's His birthday; Enjoy life, it's His way."

The new 3,000 square foot lobby will have local tourist information as well as services. The new 22,000 square-foot atrium salesroom is set up like a European outdoor Christmas market, known as a Weihnachtsmarkt or Christkindlesmarkt, selling nativity scenes ranging from miniature to life-sized and nutcrackers ranging from four inches to six feet tall.

You can be sure that Christmas figures will be dancing and nodding, singing and strumming from every corner and that you will find sayings like "Merry Christmas" and "God Bless You" in four dozen languages around the entrances.

When Wally Bronner does something, he does it BIG! You will find him, and several members of his family, by taking exit 136 off northbound I-75 near Flint, and following his signs for about 10 minutes. Bronner's is open 361 days a year and can be reached toll-free at (800) ALL-YEAR.

BAVARIAN FESTIVAL

The 33rd annual celebration of Frankenmuth's German heritage will be held June 8-15 in Frankenmuth. The featured entertainer this year is Pat Boone.

The Frankenmuth Bavarian Festival begins with a big oompapa parade and whoops it up all week in beer gardens, children's activities, craft demonstrations and dancing.

For information, contact the Michigan Travel Bureau toll-free at (800) 5432-YES.

VINTAGE PLANE TOUR

Russ Newhouse comes from a flying family, so it won't surprise any of his friends when he lifts off the tarmac at Frankenmuth airport in a biplane this summer. He and his wife Kathleen have launched Vintage Air Tours Inc., which will carry travelers in an open cockpit over the Frankenmuth area this summer.

Russ was 15 years old when he flew his father's vintage biplane for the first time.

Kathleen has also spent a good part of her life up in the air. She was a supervisor for Northwest Airlines for 12 years when she met Russ in 1990. Three months later they were married.

Now they are going into the summer travel business together. They will offer tours only on weekends.

The biplane is a 1929 Travelair built after World War I. The captain sits in the back. Two passengers sit in open cockpit seats in the front, goggles in place.

You can reserve your seats and goggles by calling Kathleen and Russ in Livonia at 462-6227 or you can just show up at the Frankenmuth Airport, one mile east of town and look for their sign.

Grand alternatives to the Grand

Bed-and-breakfasts offer unique lodgings on Mackinac Island

By AMY McVEIGH
Special Writer

Mention an overnight trip to Michigan's favorite summer getaway, Mackinac Island, and people will assume you are staying at "the hotel," referring to Mackinac's grand old lady, The Grand Hotel.

The Grand, with its commanding position on the island's western bluff, opulent decor and intriguing history, dominates the island's lodging scene.

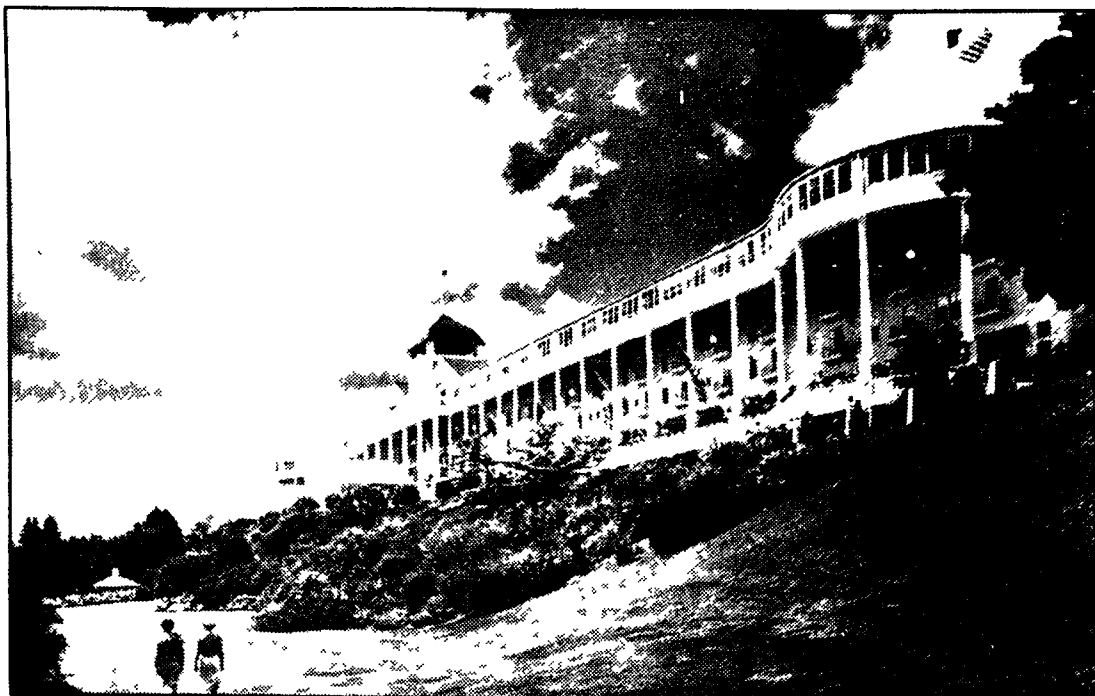

If you are interested in something smaller than the Grand's 317 rooms, less formal than the Grand's after-six dress code and less expensive than the Grand's minimum $260 double, including meals, there are many alternatives.

Some of my favorites are bed & breakfast inns. The island has 23 hotels, bed-&-breakfast inns and tourist homes with almost 1,200 rooms.

When you approach on the ferry, you will see the big hotels, both in price and size. The Grand Hotel sits on the western bluff. Mission Point Resort, a newly-renovated 237-room hotel is perched on a point several blocks east of downtown. The Lakeview and the Iroquois Hotel are on the edge of the downtown strip near the ferry.

In between are a variety of hotels along the main street. The Island House lays claim to being the oldest hotel and has an excellent location overlooking the yacht harbor a bit outside of the main part of town. The Chippewa, with its famous Pink Pony lounge, is a gathering spot for sailors and others; it's moderately priced and in the heart of town. The Murray Hotel is the least expensive of the downtown hotels, with rooms ranging from $49 to $150.

As a summer island resident and the author of the guidebook "Mackinac Connection: An Insider's Guide," I'm often asked to recommend lodgings. My recommendations vary depending on the questioners' needs, but four of the island's bed & breakfast inns are often on the list: Mettievier Inn, Haan's 1830 Inn, Inn on Mackinac and Bogan Lane Inn.

These inns are all within walking distance of downtown and represent a range of prices and formality. Bed & breakfast inns are different from hotels: they are generally smaller, the owner's presence is greater and, as the name implies, breakfast is included in the room rate.

■ METTIEVIER INN: Located on historic Market Street, just behind the downtown strip, the Mettievier Inn offers a calculated combination of convenience, location and charm. Much of the structure is new, built to look old.

Owners Michael and Jane Bacon, and Ken and Diane Neyer, converted the old Mettievier family home into a Victorian-style structure, complete with turrets and a long veranda that is perfect for people watching.

The 19 rooms are decorated in two styles: country rooms have period reproduction furniture, while the summer cottage rooms feature wicker chairs and iron and brass beds. The turret rooms are particularly delightful.

In the morning, enjoy a buffet-style continental breakfast in the lobby or on the veranda. Rates are $115 to $165 per room, based on double occupancy. Private baths. P.O. Box 285, Mackinac Island, MI 49757. (906) 847-6234.

■ HAAN'S 1830 INN: For history buffs, Haan's 1830 Inn gets my vote. As the name implies, the main building of this inn was built in 1830; the "modern" addition came in 1847.

At one time, the inn was the residence of Colonel William Preston, one of the last officers at Fort Mackinac and mayor of the island at the turn of the century. One of the inn's seven rooms is named after Preston; the others are also named after people important to the island's history.

The Haans have lovingly restored the Greek Revival buildings and filled them with antiques. The inn's size, its age and the innkeepers' enthusiasm, make a stay at Haan's 1830 Inn an intimate connection with the island's history.

Island stories are consumed along with continental breakfast around the harvest table each morning. Haan's 1830 Inn is on Main Street, four blocks east of downtown. Rates are $75-$105 per room, based on double occupancy. Mix of shared and private baths. P.O. Box 123 Mackinac Island, MI 49757 (906) 847-6244.

■ INN ON MACKINAC: Pleasantly out of place in the island's color scheme of white and more white, the Inn on Mackinac sprouted three springs ago in 15 colors. It shed its image as an annex to owner Pat Pulte's Murray Hotel, and made its mark as a 44-room bed & breakfast inn. The whimsical color scheme continues indoors, where the lobby sports pale lilac walls, and rooms are individually decorated with antiques against pale hues of peach, green and blue.

The amenities are as unusual as the colors; every room has a private bath, air conditioning and a telephone.

Inn on Mackinac is on Main Street, one long block east of downtown. Rates are $49-$160 per room, based on double occupancy. Private baths. P.O. Box 476, Mackinac Island, MI 49757 (906) 847-3361.

■ BOGAN LANE INN: Bogan Lane Inn doesn't have the sophistication, decor or size of the other inns, but it has something very special—an innkeeper who can tell you tales of growing up on the island, attending its school and passing the time during the winter months.

Tricia Martin and her father decided to turn the family home into an inn after she visited bed & breakfast places in Stratford, and thought Mackinac should have one.

I'd characterize the inn's four rooms as homey, rather than historic or charming. But continental breakfast around the family table and a good book in front of the fireplace on a cold Mackinac day, make Bogan Lane a pleasant and affordable alternative.

It is on Bogan Lane, around the corner from the Inn on Mackinac. Rates are $45 per room, based on double occupancy. Shared baths. P.O. Box 482, Mackinac Island, MI 49757 (906) 3439.

THE PLAYS, THE PLAYERS, THE PLACE

Nobody does it better.

No theatre in North America performs the works of William Shakespeare more often - or more passionately - than the Stratford Festival.

Now, for the Festival's 39th season, we invite you to discover the many facets of this immortal playwright. From his greatest tragedy "Hamlet, Prince of Denmark" to the sparkling comedy of "Much Ado About Nothing". And from the magic of "Twelfth Night" to the rarely performed satire "Timon of Athens".

Together with 1991's host of other classic and contemporary plays, theatre simply doesn't get any better than this!

Schwagle may be No. 1 at state meet

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

The 1991 season is history for the Northville tennis team, but for sophomore sensation Mark Schwagle, things are just starting to heat up. This weekend, Schwagle — ranked as one of the top players in the mid-west for his age group — will try to make his second appearance in the No. 1 singles final at the MHSAA State Meet in Midland on May 31-June 1. As a freshman, Schwagle shocked almost everyone when he advanced all the way to the championship match before falling.

Mustang Coach Dick Norton attended a seeding meeting on May 19 and it's very probable that Schwagle will enter the tournament as the No. 1 seed. His record in '91 is a perfect 17-0 and he's dropped just one set all season. Schwagle won the WLAA No. 1 singles title for the second straight time this spring and notched his first MHSAA Regional crown when he beat Ann Arbor Pioneer's highly rated Peter Pusztai 3-6, 7-5, 6-3 in the finals.

To give you an idea just how dominating Mark's been, he's lost only 28 games in 17 matches, and 14 of those came against Pusztai," Norton pointed out. "That's why I don't foresee any problem for Mark getting the No. 1 seed."

Schwagle and Pusztai are generally regarded as the top two singles players in the state, but because they come from the same region, they will be placed in an opposite bracket and wouldn't meet until the finals.

"Pusztai's played some of the top players in the state and Mark's beat him, so I think he's pretty confident," Norton said. "Mark is definitely one of the best in the state. I'd be surprised and disappointed if he wasn't in the finals."

Northville's other top gun in the singles flights this season was senior Brad Telepo, who had an impressive 17-3 record at No. 3 and was a finalist in the WLAA Meet. Jason Degillio was 11-8 at No. 4 singles and was named the team's "Most Improved Player" but junior Brit Davis struggled at No. 2 (7-9).

The Mustangs' most successful doubles team was the Shaun Linderman/Chris McCreedy duo at No. 3, which had a 10-5 record together. The No. 1 team of Mike Connery and Kyle Legel was 9-8 and the No. 2 squad — featuring Eric Black and Jeff Lower — was 8-8. Doubles all-ins Jeff Ozanich (5-3) and Rob Kukalins (4-2) also contributed.

As a team, the Mustangs rebounded from a rare losing season last year to post an 8-4 overall mark. Northville was 7-3 in the WLAA, placed fourth in the 12-team field, and was 4-1 in the Western Division, second only to 5-0 Plymouth Canton.

"I'm very satisfied with the way we played this season," Norton said. "We had a good record, but it could have been better. Three of our dual-meet losses were 4-3 decisions."

"We could almost always count on wins from Schwagle and Telepo, so how well we did in doubles and the other two singles flights decided whether we got the win. We won six of our last eight meets, so we finished stronger than we started."

Seniors like Telepo, Degillio, Connery, Legel and McCreedy will need to be replaced next year, but with Schwagle and Davis back at the top of the singles line-up and a host of promising doubles players in the fold, the future looks bright for Northville tennis.

"I think we'll be a lot stronger next season," Norton said.

Kickers beat Churchill, but Stevenson stops run

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

The almost impossible task of trying to beat a pair of top-five teams in two days proved to be too much for the Northville soccer squad.

After edging Livonia Churchill 2-1 in the MHSAA District semifinals on May 22, the Mustangs dropped a 3-1 decision to top-ranked Livonia Stevenson in the finals about 48 hours later. Northville ends its season with a 12-4-2 record and a top-10 ranking.

"We had just come off an emotional roller coaster against Churchill and a day and a half later we have to face Stevenson, the defending state champs," Mustang Coach Bob Paul said. "We got off to a slow start, but I think the way this whole tournament was set up and scheduled had a lot to do with it."

"It's asking too much to expect these kids to play No. 5 and No. 1 so close together. Soccer is a game that should be played once a week."

The Spartans — fresh off a 10-0 cakewalk against Novi in the semis — blitzed Northville for two goals in the first three minutes and both came off the foot of Lori Godlewski. Ragen Coyne made it 3-0 at the 18:14 mark to complete Stevenson's early scoring explosion.

"We showed a lot of character coming back. Most teams would have folded."

BOB PAUL
Soccer coach

"After the slow start, the girls played an excellent game," Paul said. "We showed a lot of character coming back. Most teams would have folded."

The Mustangs' only goal came eight minutes into the second half, when freshman standout Renee Androsian scored off a pass from Wendy Carroll.

"Northville's got a lot of heart," Spartan Coach Mary Kay Hussey said. "We hoped to come out and get a couple quick goals. We knew we had to against this team."

Northville was forced to play without starting midfielder Amy Goode, who sprained an ankle against Churchill.

NORTHVILLE 2, LIVONIA

CHURCHILL 1: Nine days prior to this semifinal clash, the Mustangs nipped the Chargers by the same score, but the rematch between these two WLAA Western Division rivals was much closer.

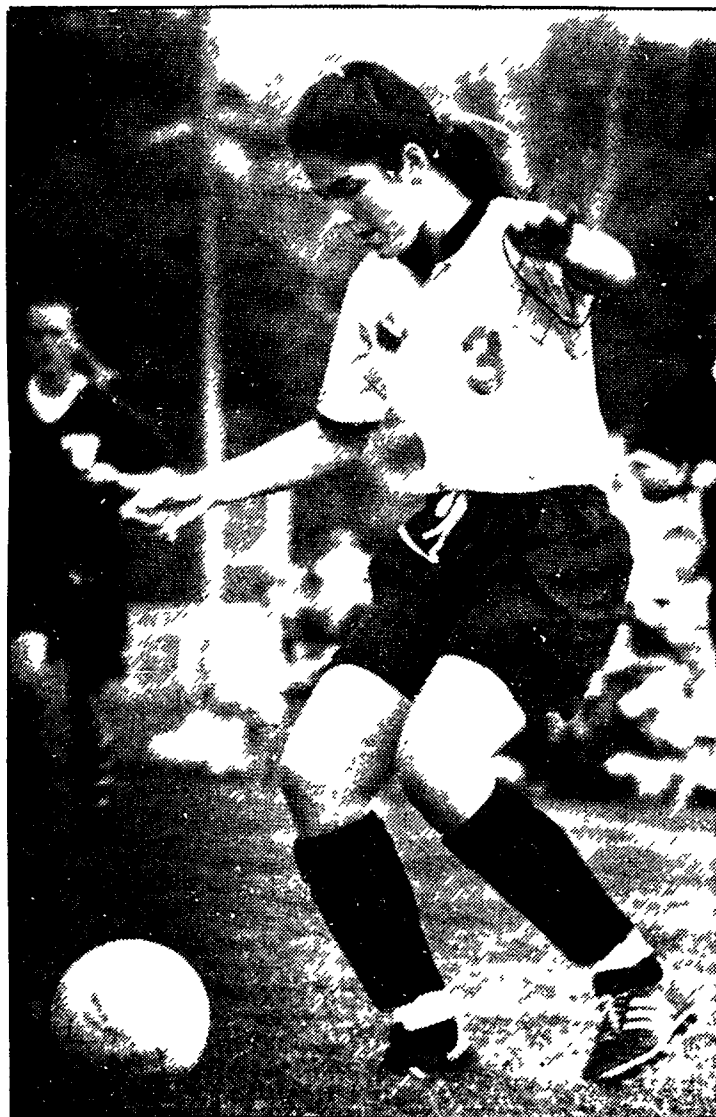

"This one was a lot closer than the first meeting," Paul said. "It could have gone either way."

Androsian put Northville in front with a goal 10 minutes in, but Churchill tied it midway through the first half. The game-winner was scored at the 30-minute mark by Ashley MacLean.

"We reverted back into a defensive shell in the second half, but we did play some terrific defense," Paul admitted. "Bethany MacLean did an outstanding job — she's really grown this season as a keeper."

For the second straight season, the Mustangs failed to advance past the district level — and both times Livonia Stevenson ended the state title bid. But Northville improved on its record from a year ago (10-4-4) and Paul was pleased with the way his team way playing down the stretch.

"The girls were playing some terrific soccer at the end of the season, and that's what it's all about," he said.

Softball team wins round 1

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

The Mustang softballers opened the second season on May 23 with a convincing 15-6 triumph over Detroit Redford in MHSAA Pre-District action. Northville rebounded nicely after ending the regular season three days earlier with an 11-1 loss to powerful Livonia Franklin.

The Mustangs scored runs in all but one inning against the Huskies and managed 11 hits, including six extra-base hits.

"It was a very important game," Mustang Coach Gail Trepicone said. "It was an entire team effort with defense, batting and baserunning all coming together."

Redford scored the game's first five runs in the second inning on one hit and five walks, but Northville rebounded to score four times in the bottom of the inning on two doubles (Karen Trepicone and Melanie Apligian), two singles (Stacey Nyland and Laura Apligian) and a walk.

The Mustangs took the lead for good with a five-run rally in the third, and this time back-to-back doubles by Lori George and Kathy Lang, and additional two-baggers by Laura Apligian and Sarah Christenson, caused most of the damage.

The Huskies got a run back in the fourth, but Northville added three more in their half of the inning (without the aid of a hit) to make it 12-6. The Mustangs chipped in with three more late runs to complete the scoring.

The leading hitters included Laura Apligian (3-for-4, 3 RBIs), Melanie Apligian (2-for-3) and Nyland (2-for-5, 2 RBIs). Karen Trepicone was saddled with five earned runs and seven walks, but did limit Redford to only four hits and 10 strikeouts in seven innings of work.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN 11, NORTHVILLE 1: The Mustangs actually took a 1-0 lead in this WLAA Western-Division clash on May 20 on a run-scoring single by Laura Apligian in the first, but the Patriots tied it in the second and then rallied for 10 runs in the final three innings before the mercy rule was invoked.

"It was an exciting game," Trepicone said. "It wasn't as lopsided as the score indicates, we just fell short on some well-executed plays."

Northville managed seven hits off Franklin ace Jenny Mayle, but never really threatened to score after the first inning. The Mustangs did have runners reach third base two separate times in the sixth, but Mayle got out of the jam with two key strikeouts.

Nyland (2-for-3), Laura Apligian (2-for-3) and Karen Trepicone (2-for-3) were the key contributors at the plate.

Northville (13-11 overall, 4-7 in the WLAA) will play Livonia Franklin on June 1 in Southfield at the district semifinals.

2nd season Baseball team beats Redford in districts

With the failures and disappointments of the regular season behind them, the Northville baseballers registered an impressive 13-3 victory over Detroit Redford in the MHSAA Pre-Districts on May 23.

Mustang ace Mike Lang fanned six batters — including the side in the fifth — and that preserved a 10-run advantage after five innings: thus, a mercy-rule victory.

"This is like a second season," Northville Coach Bob Frellick said. "We played well. We had just one error and we outlit (Redford) 10-4."

After struggling through one of the worst regular seasons in memory (four wins in 22 tries), the Mustangs have now advanced to the district semifinals for only the first time since 1984. Northville will play the winner of the Detroit Henry Ford-Livonia Franklin pre-district game on June 1 in Southfield.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN 9-7, NORTHVILLE 4-5: The Patriots ended Northville's regular season by sweeping both ends of a twinbill on May 20.

"We played well in both games," Frellick said. "Our intensity was good but we made a couple costly errors."

In game one, the Mustangs kept it close early and only trailed 5-4 after four innings. But Franklin pulled away with three runs in the fifth, and ended up outscoring the locals 4-0 down the stretch.

In the nightcap, Northville scored the first two runs but then Franklin scored seven of the next 10 to win it. The Mustangs sent eight batters to the plate in the seventh inning, but the rally came up short.

"We played hard and the kids didn't give up," Frellick said.

The Mustangs are now 5-18 overall, 1-14 in the WLAA.

Northville High School teacher and former swim coach Ben Lauber was inducted into the Sandusky, Ohio, Hall of Fame earlier this month.

More than 300 community members attended to honor the new inductees. Lauber, a Sandusky native, was honored for his achievements in coaching and his personal accomplishments in the area of swimming.

Twenty-three years ago, Lauber began teaching and coaching at Northville High. During his tenure, he coached both the boys and girls swim teams.

His 1973 boys team won the state championship and his '72 squad was the runner-up. Lauber was named "Coach of the Year" in 1973 by The Detroit News.

Lauber's girls team placed fifth twice and third twice at the state meets. In all, he has coached nine individual state champions and seven All Americans, and posted a dual-meet record of 147-9.

At Sandusky High School in the mid-'50s, Lauber led his swim team to four straight conference championships and set 19 team and pool records. He was team captain in 1954 and 1955 and a high school All American.

Lauber was the Ohio state champion in the 200-yard freestyle as a junior and was the individual medley state champ as a senior. His teams took second place at the Ohio State Meet twice.

In college at Bowling Green State University, Lauber was a member of the Mid American Conference champions in 1960 and '61.

Jason Shandille delivered a two-run single in the fourth inning to tie the score and Jeff Scott scored the winning run in the fifth. David Handley was the winning pitcher. The Blue Jays scored 16 runs in the first four innings and ran away with a 16-2 triumph over the Giants.

Injuries stymie girl tracksters

After finishing with the program's best dual-meet record since joining the Western Lakes Activities Association, the Northville girls track squad had high hopes heading into the WLAA Meet on May 22 in Farmington.

But injuries to key performers like Trish Lukomski and Alana Bradley threw a monkey wrench into those plans, and the Mustangs sank to 11th place in a field of 12. Northville scored 12½ points, but was only three points out of eighth place.

"I wasn't disappointed," Mustang Coach Ann Turnbull said. "We just didn't place high enough to get some more points."

Both Lukomski and Bradley qualified for the 200-meter finals (as the fourth and sixth seeds respectively), but nagging leg injuries kept both of them on the sidelines. Lukomski and Bradley did team up with Kendra Huard and Mari Kissenger to place fourth in the 800 relay (1:53.8) just prior to that.

"If they could have competed, we probably would have been at least eighth," Turnbull said.

Northville's highest finish was a third registered by high jumper Julie Buser (4'-8"). The teams only other point-getter was Megan Holmberg, who placed eighth in the 800 with a season-best 1:35.8.

The Mustangs finished the season with a 5-3 overall record and 2-3 in the WLAA.

'Trick' yourself into exercising

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

You know you have to do something about that flab, but you can't seem to get going.

Each day you put it off until tomorrow, and each weekend you put it off until Monday.

This week stretches to next week, and then into next month. And you still haven't started that diet. Not only that, but the only exercise you've had consists of walking from your car to the door, and from the chair to the refrigerator.

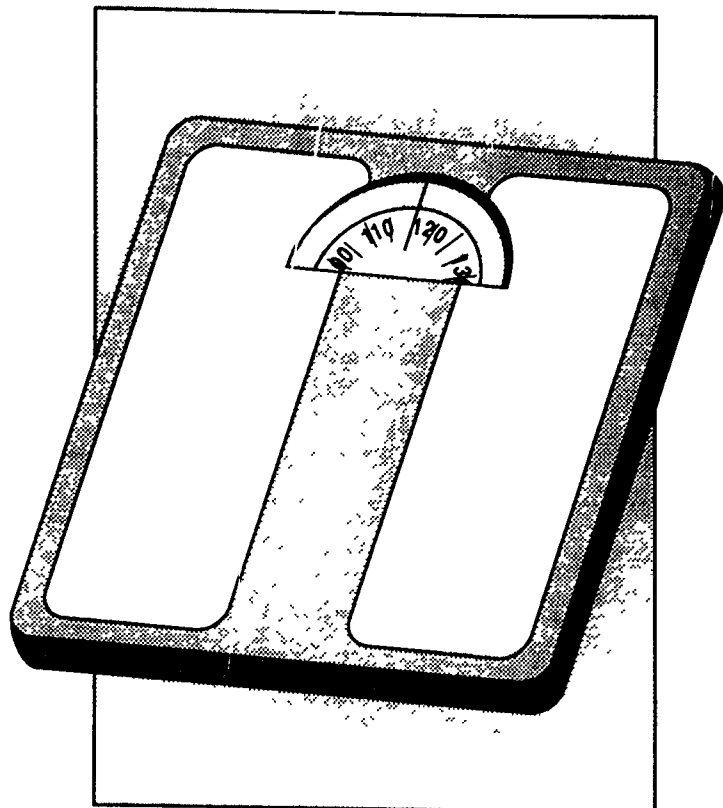

Well, there is hope. Many people have faced up to the hurdle of "diet/exercise procrastination" and gone on to a healthier lifestyle.

The trick is to want to exercise and lose weight more than you want to lay around and overeat.

There are many little "tricks" that may work to coax yourself into that state. These are ones that have been known to work for some people:

- Look at magazine photos of models wearing swimsuits. That's enough to send anyone to the produce section for a week's supply of lettuce. But don't just stop there. For most people, once the magazine is closed, so is the urge to diet. So,

- Put those pictures everywhere. Cut them out and tape them to the refrigerator door. If you have a tendency to pull up to fast-food windows, put them in your car. If you're worried someone might get in your car and think you're weird, just drop the magazine, open to one of those pages, casually on the passenger seat.

- But don't be unrealistic. Face it, you may not be built to look like one of those models. Find a photograph of yourself when you liked the way you looked. Carry that around with you, too.

- Schedule a vacation, party or other event six or eight weeks from today. Make it something you can't back out of. Imagine yourself at that event, looking thinner and feeling healthier. This strategy might be especially effective if you:

- Plan to see or "bump into" someone you haven't seen in a while. This could be an old friend, a colleague or, better yet, a former significant other of the opposite sex. But meanwhile,

- Clear your kitchen of foods that will destroy your diet. Whatever it is, get rid of it now. Give it to the neighbor kids, take it to work. Dieting is easier if temptation is removed.

- Choose an exercise program that is not threatening, and does not take up a lot of time. Walking is good: It's generally painless, needs little equipment, and can be fit into a busy schedule. If possible, make plans to exercise with a friend.

- Think positive. Don't think, "I can't go to the beach because I'm too fat." Instead think, "I will look great at the beach because I will be thinner and firmer."

- Don't punish yourself. Dieting and exercising does not have to be a painful experience. If you go "off the wagon" or don't exercise, it doesn't mean you can't get back on schedule. Just pick up where you left off.

- Keep that picture of your thinner self in your mind. That will be you. Go window shopping. After all, you'll need to go back and actually buy something in six weeks. You have a big event planned, and by then your "fat clothes" will be too big.

Myrna Partrich/Fitness

Fitness programs fit form for family fun

Dear Myrna: It is spring now and everyone in my family is overweight. My children are young teenagers — the usual lazy type. My husband is a little athletic. How can I get everyone moving? Something to spark a little interest in exercise.

A successful family fitness program can establish healthy, lifelong habits in children, which is a great gift from any parent. Even if your family members are at different fitness levels, you still can do a number of things to get all family members involved in the healthy habit.

Spend the time together and talk about what activities your family members like the best, make a list of activities that are aerobically sound. For example, there is speed walking, jogging, aerobic class, aerobic machinery (treadmill, Stairmaster, etc.). Choose one activity to start with. I suggest speed walking which is a natural activity. Make sure you all agree on the time of day to take this energetic walk. Everyone might need to be flexible.

Now, don't set your family goals too high. If some members of your family want to lose weight, remember that muscle weighs much more than fat. You can't always count on the scale. It's not a bad idea to have an exercise expert come to your home and instruct your family in proper abdominal exercise and upper body fitness. The abdominal and upper body muscles respond to exercise more quickly than other muscle groups so all of you might get faster, positive feedback. When you can actually see results, you are encouraged to keep plugging away. Mental attitude plays a big part here.

Make a commitment for one month. It is not long enough to be too intimidating, but just enough time to start to see results. You are all looking for long term lifestyle change, not just a short spurt.

Another little tip is to tell your friends. Talk about it to others. This will help you stay into it. Nobody wants their friends to know they have failed at something so important.

Remember to reward yourselves constantly — maybe with a hiking trip to an interesting place might be fun.

Gradually change your activity. You don't want any dropouts.

Together your family can make that choice to shape up and take control of your life and then do the same on every successive day. Some days are easier to keep your promise of exercise than other days. Be prepared for those negative workout days and mentally push yourselves. It is called boot-strapping each other.

Just think — a happy family who exercises together, stays together.

Myrna Partrich, co-owner of The Workout Company of Bloomfield Township and a recent appointee of The President's Council on Physical Fitness, is happy to answer any questions readers may have regarding exercise. Please send your letters to: Sports Department, Myrna Partrich, 805 East Maple, Birmingham 48093.

The Astral 2 Unique design with utility

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

The Astral 2 is a wonderfully unique design, allowing for maximum utilization of interior space and a compelling exterior. Designed for a slightly sloping lot, the Astral 2 would be equally at home in the city or in the country.

The central sexpartite living area allows for the striking contrast of angled vertical lines with the more linear horizontal lines of the side wings.

Extensive front and side decking gives access to the expansive great room contained in the main living area of the home. This impressive area features extensive oversized windows and sliding glass doors, allowing for a truly panoramic view and taking full advantage of natural light.

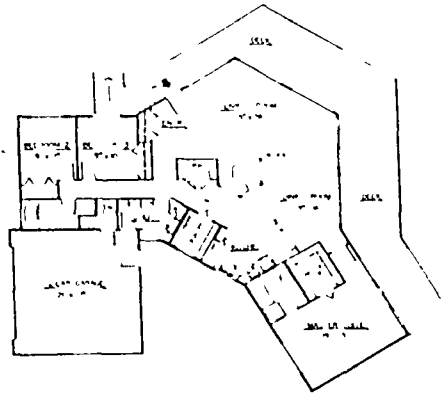

At the center of this vaulted structure is a six-sided hearth with a central wood stove, which provides separation for the various areas.

The dining area is located in the lower angles, abutting the generous kitchen area, which features a breakfast bar, and a huge butler's pantry as well as a fully serviceable food storage area.

The central area is completed by a generous utility room, which also extends into the left wing of the home. The left wing also contains two bedrooms, a full bath with double wash basins and entry into the two-car garage. In addition to ample storage space, the garage features a self-contained mechanical storage area.

The master suite is located in the right wing of the home. This separate wing provides both privacy and unity through the use of the connecting deck and the private recessed main entry. An impressive walk-in dressing closet is located here, as is a large master bath with double wash basins and vanity.

Designed to complement its environment, the Astral 2 offers the opportunity for stylish and spacious living in a home intended to make the most of available spaces.

We came, we saw WE BUILT Northville couple succeed in quest for the right home

By RICK BYRNE
Copy Editor

When Phillip and Teri Brackel decided they wanted to build a new home, not just any home would do. It had to be something that was uniquely their own.

In the quest for a custom-built home, they weren't going to settle for someone else's design. So they put pen to paper and designed their own. While the actual engineering and blueprinting were done by a professional architect, the ideas all came from Phillip and Teri. Everything in the home is exactly where they wanted it, and is done the way they wanted it.

Built on two acres of land across Beck Road from Maybury State Park in Northville, the two-year-old home features ample room of living space. Space is the operative word when talking about the Brackel home.

"I have an interest in architecture, but I'm not an architect," said Phillip. "I had no idea what it would look like until it was built."

Though he now works in economics and finance for Ford Motor Co., Phillip once had ambitions about going to architecture school, and had taken some classes toward that goal.

Said Teri, "We've always knew we wanted to build our own home. We knew we wanted a new home, so we looked at some designs, and bought books of plans."

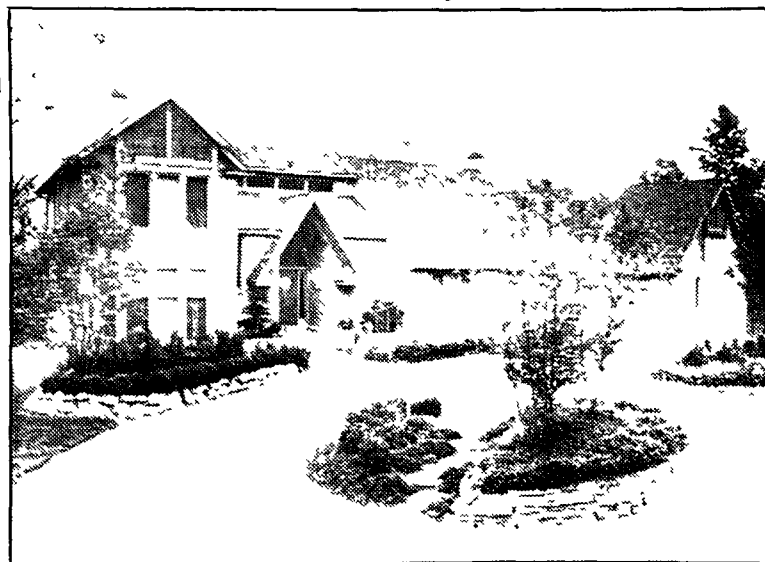

As the sketches began to take shape, the responsibilities were broken down into two segments

"Teri concentrated on what she wanted in the kitchen and that wing of the house," said Phillip. "I did the main part of the house with the atrium."

Indeed, the three-story atrium is an eye-catcher that greets visitors to the house immediately. It's located just beyond the foyer at the entrance to the home.

"I wanted to try something with the atrium that would hit you the minute you walked in the door," said Phillip. "I didn't want a confined space for the foyer. I wanted something big, that gets bigger as it goes."

Wide three-story columns (which, by the way, are non-supporting) are at the four corners of the atrium. They surround a 17-foot tree, made from an actual myrtle stalk.

Traditional materials meet contemporary styling.

trucked in from Florida and drilled to accept boughs of silk leaves.

At its base will eventually be an indoor garden. Right now Teri and Phillip are experimenting with some low-light plants to see which fare the best. "I started from the four columns, and built out from there," said Phillip. "They emphasize the height and size of the house, and add a little drama."

The living room is beyond the atrium, facing the rear of the house. Large windows look out on woodlands to a back yard that has retained rugged and natural landscaping.

"We vacation in Florida every year," said Phillip. "We decided that we really liked the Florida homes with the living area off the rear of the house."

A fireplace with a wood and marble mantle is just one of three in the home, but it's the focal point of the living room. The white-painted woodwork was added late in the building process to match the scale created by the columns.

"With the columns, we needed a larger than normal mantle, and depth created by the moldings," said Phillip. "The columns started dwarfing everything else, so we had to build the mantle up."

At the south end of the home is Teri's turf, the kitchen and sitting room.

"I wanted to design a kitchen that was spacious, and had a breakfast room and a sitting room," she said. "One objective was to have an island that faced the sitting room. That way when

REAL ESTATE Window of opportunity for home buyers

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

Real estate brokers in most regions of the country have been smiling more in recent weeks, even though they are super-busy. Or maybe it's because they are busy.

That new twinkle in their eye may be a dollar sign, but they're also happy to be actively finding homes for families again.

Home sales have increased significantly since early February. Some brokers are reporting 60 percent to 80 percent increases in their sales volume. Home sales generally are up nationwide, according to the National Association of Realtors.

Many of those homes are being sold to first-time buyers. And to maximize their share of this segment of brokerage business, many progressive firms—particularly the larger organizations—are producing free "consumer seminars" keyed primarily to first time buyers. Others prepare special printed materials or videos for these fledgling home buyers.

Most real estate professionals feel today's market is a rare "window of opportunity" for home buyers. Prices in many areas have lowered and mortgage interest rates are low.

That's a combination that probably won't last long. With growing sales activity, those prices are bound to start rising again. And who knows what will happen in the volatile mortgage market.

Home affordability is, of course, a continuing problem for many families. In an effort to ease this problem, an Advisory Commission on Regulatory Barriers to Affordable Housing has been established by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

This commission has identified certain government restrictions and regulations that have a detrimental impact on housing affordability. These include inappropriate zoning, environmental and building restrictions, and other regulations on construction and land usage.

The commission has made several specific recommendations to HUD in a preliminary draft report they recommend the following:

- A reform of environmental protection laws that adversely impact an adequate supply of affordable housing
- Consolidation of wetlands regulatory authority into one U.S. government agency—now spread among four agencies.
- Removal of rent control in local communities.

There is growing pressure on political leaders and government agencies to take actions that will make housing affordable for more families.

Q. Now that home sales are increasing, what is the situation with rentals?

A. The residential rental market is also more active in most markets. There is generally more activity by prospective tenants and vacancy factors are low. And, inevitably, this means rental payments are increasing.

However, one analyst pointed out that two-bedroom rental units are a problem in some areas. This is because (1) many of these units are occupied by roommates and frequently one of those roommates moves out or just can't pay his share, and (2) many couples who have been renting a two-bedroom unit are among those who are now purchasing a home.

The commercial rental market is not as healthy as the residential sector. In many metro areas, there are painfully high vacancy factors.

Q. Is the proportion of families who own their own home now at a record high level?

A. No. The home ownership rate is now probably growing again. But it slipped downward during the past decade. In 1990, 63.9 percent of families owned their home—down from 65.6 percent in 1980, according to the U.S. Census Bureau.

Grandmother's chocolate set is worth up to $285

This set was made by the Moritz Zdekauer company in Austria.

By James G. McCollam
(Copley News Service)

Q I am interested in the value of this chocolate set. I know it is very old because it belonged to my grandmother.

It is marked with a crest and "M.Z." and "Habsburg China — Made in Austria." The set consists of the pot and six cups and saucers.

I would appreciate any information you can give me.

A This nine piece chocolate set was made by the Moritz Zdekauer Co. in Althofen Austria between 1900 and 1915.

It would probably sell for about $265 to $285.

Q. Please evaluate my sterling silver souvenir spoon. It is in the form of a mermaid with a seashell handle and bowl. It is inscribed "1904 World's Fair—St. Louis."

ANTIQUES

A This is a choice souvenir spoon with all that figural design. It would probably sell for $65 to $75.

Q. I have inherited a collection of over a dozen cookie jars all made by McCoy. I have no idea how old they are nor if they have any value. Can you help me?

A Most cookie jars made by the Nelson McCoy Pottery in Roseville Ohio were made in the last 50 years and sell for between $25 and $35. A few of them run up to $300.

The "Antique Trader" price guide lists about 30 models with their prices.

Q. Among my father's things, we found an old novelty watch. It is a Big Bad Wolf & Three Little Pigs pocket watch. It is inscribed "May the Big Bad Wolf Never Come to Your Door—Walt Disney."

Can you provide any information as to its age and value?

A This was made in the mid-1930s and would be considered quite rare. Recent sales have been for around $300 in good condition.

Q. What can you tell me about a clown figurine marked with a crown and "R - C"? He is 9 inches tall and wears a black-and-white costume.

A This figurine was made by Rosenthal China in Selb, Germany, between 1920 and 1940. It would probably sell for $265 to $285 in an antique shop.

Send your questions about antiques with picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1 per item to James G. McCollam, P.O. Box 1087, Notre Dame, IN 46556. All questions will be answered but published pictures cannot be returned.

Couple succeed in their quest

A tree fills up the middle of the three-story atrium.

the children came home from school. I could greet them. They could go in the sitting room, and I could still converse with them while I prepared dinner."

"But the main thing I wanted was a four-sided glass fireplace that would be used to define the three areas."

The three rooms get plenty of natural light and ventilation. There are 11 large windows, and two French doorways. Above are rain-sensing skylights that close automatically in even the lightest sprinkle.

The cabinetry, floors and ceiling are white, but the whole scene is warmed up by flower-print wallpaper and a light cranberry paint to accent a small mud room joining the kitchen to the garage entrance.

At the north end of the house are the bedrooms. Two furnaces in the basement allow for zoned heating. For comfort and economy the bedroom wing is served by one furnace.

The master bedroom is on the middle floor with the children's bedrooms above and a guest room in the fully finished walkout basement.

A fireplace serves the master suite, which also features a double Jacuzzi and enough space for a canopy bed.

Above the bedroom fireplace hangs a pencil drawing of the couple's children, Alicia, 7, and Amanda, 10. The drawing was done by Northville artist Julie Giordano.

Amanda and Alicia played an important role in the couple's selection of Northville as the site for their home. They had looked as far east as Grosse Pointe and as far west as Brighton, as well as the Birmingham-Bloomfield area.

"First and foremost on our minds were the schools," said Teri. "We also like the small-town atmosphere. It's a family community."

Just as the house represents a joining of Teri's family oriented design elements with Phillip's formal and dramatic segment, the decor unites disparate elements as well.

"The decorating is considered transitional," Teri said. "It's a mixture of contemporary and traditional. It has a contemporary floor plan with big, open spaces and vaulted ceilings. The furnishings are more traditional. We have a lot of old family heirlooms around."

Phillip's family owned a flour mill in Saline for many years. The mill yielded desks, shelves, and a crank-operated telephone that hangs alongside the basement bar. Even some old flour sacks have been mounted and framed.

The atrium represents another marriage between the old and new. Though the woodwork on the stairways is white painted wood, the posts are joined by polished brass rails.

The exterior of the home is traditional as well with brick and cedar siding. From an elevated entry, the driveway winds downhill through trees that reveal more and more of the home as you get closer. A formal-looking landscape island and gabled entry are the last things a visitor sees before stepping into the striking foyer.

"I guess we're just a transitional couple," Teri quips.

Simon Says.

What would your children's future be like without the First Amendment to The Bill of Rights?

Puppets on a string. No mind of their own.

Thanks to the First Amendment, our children are free to read about the world around them. Without Censorship.

Our children are able to worship freely. Without restriction.

They can express their visions. Without fear.

Their dreams are too important to be controlled by someone else. Don't let your children grow up without realizing the significance of independent thought.

Tell your children about The Bill of Rights.
Their future is too important to play games with.

Manager honored by AT&T

AT&T General Business Systems, a small business customer support organization, recently announced its Achiever's Club award winners.

Novi resident Linda Margrave, a 1990 winner, is a sales manager who supervises account executives catering to customers needing business telecommunications systems requiring from two to four phones. She also represents a complete line of fax and date equipment for small business application.

Margrave attended Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo. She is a native of Holland, and now resides in Novi where she is active in the National Association of Career Women and the Capitol Area United Way.

Margrave's sales management territory includes all of Michigan.

"Our more than 300 Michigan AT&T General Business System employees have a strong customer focus — and most of them work or live relatively close to their customers. Our customers expect the best from AT&T, and Linda Margrave of AT&T's best. She got there by taking the best of care of our valued customers," explains Mike Quanton, General Business System's branch manager.

Brothers Norm (left) and Dan Anderson have owned the Northville Watch and Clock Shop for 18 years

Time-honored trade Family is leader in timepieces

By RICK BYRNE
Copy Editor

If your clock chimes 13 times, that means its time to get your clock fixed, so the old riddle goes.

If that's the case, you can rest assured that one of the finest watch and clock shops is right in downtown Northville. Located at 132 W. Dunlap St., the Northville Watch and Clock Shop has been serving the community for 18 years.

The shop is a family operation, owned and operated by brothers Norm, Dan and Tom Anderson. The trade was passed down to them from both of their parents.

"Our father repaired clocks way before us," said Dan. "Our father was self-taught, and he taught our mother. Our mother was a licensed clockmaker, back when they had licensing."

Norm chimed in, "All three of us (brothers) went to school for clock or watchmaking. Dan opened the store while my brother and I went to school."

Dan is the only watchmaker in the family. The shop has a second watchmaker on staff, Gary Simmons.

"Watchmaking is a dying trade, as compared with clockmaking," Dan said. "Lots of guys do it and then they retire at 50. They lose the ability to do the work because it's so precise."

On a larger scale, the Northville Watch and Clock Shop is the largest dealer of clocks in Michigan, based on sales volume. In fact, it's one of the 10 largest in the country. Norm even speculates that since the two largest have shut down recently, Northville may be No. 1.

Customers will often travel long distances to visit the shop. Customers from California or Canada are not unusual. And the store is even doing its part to help the U.S. trade imbalance.

"We just shipped a couple of clocks to Japan," said Norm.

Being the biggest doesn't just happen by accident.

"What makes us the biggest is the service," Dan said. "That's the big catch. We do all the work ourselves on every item we sell."

And there's more than enough clock repair to keep the shop busy. Right now, there are five clock repair people on staff in Northville, and two each at two other shops that the brothers own in Dearborn and Troy. All of them are doing their best to work through a nearly two-month backlog.

They also prepare all clocks for delivery to customers.

Among the clocks available for purchase are the famous clocks of the Charles Sligh Co. of Grand Rapids. In fact, many of the best clocks are made in the western part of the state.

There are grandfather clocks, cuckoo clocks, wall clocks and mantle clocks. Though the store is filled with exquisite grandfather clocks with stunning woodwork and eye-catching brass, the stock is not entirely of the heirloom variety. Some basic kitchen clocks can be had for as little as $10-$12. The grandfather clocks are generally in the $1,000 to $2,000 range.

"Most of that stuff is pure luxury," said Norm.

Schoenborn's responsibilities as marketing representative include coordinating promotional and community programs, assisting in the promotions of new products and services, coordinating monthly statement mailings, writing the staff newsletter and much more.

"I'm excited about the opportunity to work in the marketing field right out of school because that's what my degree is in. By staying with the credit union I can continue to work with the members and staff I have gotten to know over the years. It also gives me a chance to work with others in the community to make them aware of the good financial services Community Federal has to offer," said Schoenborn.

Although the position is new, the credit union is a familiar place to Schoenborn. He has been with Community Federal for 3 1/2 years. Beginning as a part-time teller, he worked in several departments and took on many responsibilities over the years. Prior to joining the marketing team, he was in the finance department where he was responsible for analyzing member accounts, preparing deposits for the Federal Reserve, and processing checks.

Volunteer expenses eligible for deductions

If you belong to the good-willed majority who contribute time and expertise to charitable organizations, here's some interesting news. Uncle Sam rewards volunteers for qualified charities by allowing them to deduct many of the unreimbursed expenses they incur as itemized charitable contributions. The Michigan Association of CPAs offers the following overview of deductions available to you as a volunteer.

TRANSPORTATION COSTS

If you drive your car to volunteer at your church, hospital, or other qualified organization, you may deduct the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) standard mileage rate of 12 cents per mile. Alternately, you may deduct the actual cost for the gas and oil your car uses in connection with your volunteer work. In either case, you must keep records of your mileage. Parking fees and tolls are deductible under both methods, but you may not deduct any part of depreciation or insurance costs. If you use a cab or public transportation to get to and from your volunteer commitments, the fares you pay are likewise deductible.

UNIFORMS

If you are required to wear a uniform while performing services for your charity, you may deduct the purchase price and cleaning bills for your uniform, providing it is not adaptable to ordinary wear. For example, cost of the Scout leader uniform you wear at den meetings is deductible because you would not wear it to unrelated functions.

SUPPLIES AND MATERIALS

Many volunteers overlook the tax deduction available for materials or supplies used in volunteer efforts. This category includes stationery, postage, telephone calls and miscellaneous supplies.

Did you have to purchase some extra baseballs for the Little League team you coach? How about the art supplies you bought for the posters your Sunday School class made for the local food drive? Uncle Sam says you can deduct these costs as a charitable contribution. Even the cost of the ingredients for the cake you prepare for the bake sale at your child's school is deductible.

SUPPORT OF EXCHANGE STUDENTS

If you choose to house a foreign or American student in your home, part of your costs for promoting foreign relations may be deductible — as long as the student is not related to you and is not your dependent. Uncle Sam allows you to deduct up to $50 for every school month that you help support the student. The rules are quite simple. Generally, the student must be a member of your household under a written agreement between you and a qualified charitable organization; the student must be in the 12th or lower grade; and the purpose of the exchange must be to provide an educational opportunity for the student.

You should note that if you belong to a mutual exchange program and your child will live with a family in a foreign country, this deduction does not apply to you.

TRAVEL AWAY FROM HOME

When your charitable services take you away from home overnight, your travel expenses may be deductible. Deductible expenses include the full cost of unreimbursed transportation and lodging and 80 percent of the cost of your meals while away from home. But before you pack your bags, you should familiarize yourself with the rules, many of which became more stringent as a result of tax reform.

Revised tax law denies a charitable deduction if the travel involves a significant element of personal pleasure, recreation or vacation. That doesn't mean you can't enjoy chaperoning an overnight camping trip for your daughter's Girl Scout troop. It does mean you must be on duty in a genuine and substantial sense throughout the trip to qualify for a tax deduction.

When it comes to charitable travel expenses, you may not deduct personal expenses for sightseeing, theater or sporting event tickets, or night club entertainment. Similarly, the travel, meals and lodging expenses of your spouse or children are not deductible. If you are chosen to be your group's representative at the organization's convention, your unreimbursed travel and transportation expenses are deductible—including reasonable costs for meals and lodging. However, if you attend such a convention on your own, your costs are considered personal expenses and are not deductible.

NONDEDUCTIBLE EXPENSES

Other nondeductible expenses include babysitting costs, even if they are incurred solely to make it possible for you to do volunteer work. You may not deduct the value of your services nor may you take a deduction for the use of your home and office to conduct meetings.

If you have more specific questions concerning charitable contributions, you can request a copy of the brochure Good News of Good Samaritans: A Guide to Deducting Charitable Contributions. Send a self-addressed stamped envelope with your request to the Michigan Association of CPAs, 28116 Orchard Lake Road, P.O. Box 9054, Farmington Hills, 48333.

CMS Energy cuts dividend payments

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

CMS Energy Corp. will grow through capital appreciation in the gas exploration and electric generating business rather than through Consumers Power utility sales to homes and businesses.

"It will not be our policy to pay large, utility-type dividends," CMS chair William T. McCormick Jr. said at the annual meeting in Dearborn.

A shareholder, retired for five years, protested that the dividend increase was "a pittance" and the 1990 stock price drop of 26 percent a disappointment.

"We're growth-oriented. If you're looking for very high dividends, you're in the wrong investment," McCormick replied.

"We are not happy with the stock (price) performance," he said, blaming the drop from the high $30s to the current $28.50 on "regulatory uncertainties," which he said may soon be resolved. But the price was as low as $7 in 1986.

"About 65 percent of our stock is owned by institutional investors who have no interest in a large dividend. We went from 40 cents to 48 cents (annual dividend) last November. The board will consider a dividend increase at the end of this year," he said, tossing out prospects of a 15- to 20-percent increase.

CMS Energy's chief subsidiary is Consumers Power, which distributes natural gas in much of southern Michigan outside of Detroit and electricity in the outstate area.

Last year new gas sales rose only 1.9 percent though gas deliveries were up and electric sales hit a record.

Expecting higher natural gas in the 1990s, NOMECO Oil and Gas Co., the holding company's exploration and production unit, contracted for drilling rights in China — the people's republic's first agreement with a foreign group for mainland oil exploration, McCormick said.

He told a news conference CMS expects to announce location in mid-Michigan of a tire burning site for electricity generation "some time this year."

"Tires are an environmental problem," McCormick said — 240 million discarded a year, one for every person in the United States. "They're a health hazard. They're combustible. They're a problem for landfills."

He said the company successfully operates a tire-burning plant in California, with the toughest air quality standards in the nation, and has completed a second tire-burning operation in Connecticut.

And he said the company expects minimal impact of new federal clean air regulations because it already burns little coal with sulfur.

Earlier in the week, CMS announced the appointment of Peter J. Mastie, 34, as vice president for business development of its independent power production unit. Mastie will work in Dearborn, relocating from the company's Midland Cogeneration Venture.

CMS Energy reported a loss of nearly $500 million or $6.07 a share in 1990 after three years of increases. Actually, operating revenues were up, to $3 billion, McCormick said, but the company charged off losses of $745 million to the abandoned Midland nuclear plant.

CMS also is taking a regulatory fight with the Michigan Public Service Commission to court. PSC wants to "backload" rate increases into future years.

With these problems written off, he said the company is positioned for growth in the 1990s.

Asked by shareholder Leo Bouchard to comment on the "adversarial" relationship with governmental regulators, McCormick admitted they are "not the best."

"We have a new chairman of the commission who I think is excellent. They are improving significantly," he said in an oblique reference to changes made by Gov. John Engler's administration. "Our relations with the staff of the commission are very good."

For the Michigan economy, McCormick said first quarter electric sales were "up slightly"; the second quarter looks "pretty weak"; the third quarter would be "weak or a period of transition"; and the fourth quarter or early 1992, a recovery.

"The economy has some impact on sales, but in the aggregate three-quarters of our sales are not to industrial customers — they're to residential and commercial customers. But we are seeing some impact on industrial customers."
