Workin' at the car wash

Scott Lloyd gets an earful of water in a warm-up for a benefit car wash this Saturday. The Northville High School Class of 1995 will sponsor the car wash at the Northville Executive Center parking lot (off the northeast corner of Center and Dunlap streets downtown). The wash will run from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. this Saturday, July 20.

Shores sale on horizon, insiders say

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Debt-ridden Shores of Northville developers are negotiating — possibly with local builders — a sale of the troubled project and could complete a deal within the next three weeks.

Interviews with lenders, developers and others close to the project support speculation that a deal for the former Thomson Sand & Gravel pit is near.

Vincent DiLorenzo, Seven Lakes of Northville general partner, last week confirmed that the Shores site is on the block.

"We are in negotiations with some people," he said. "We're working with some people (but) until it's signed, it's not a deal."

DiLorenzo refused to discuss specifics of an impending deal. He would not comment about a possible sale price, buyer, or deal time-frame.

He did hint that a wholesale ownership change looms if bidders hammer out a sale.

"I don't think anybody could walk into the deal (without) restructuring the partnership," he said.

The Seven Lakes of Northville limited partnership consists of four partners. DiLorenzo's firm D & T Construction owns 40 percent of the partnership. Novi-based cement contractor Angelo Evangelista owns a

Experience keys Goss campaign

Northville Township Supervisor Georgina Goss is one of three Republicans vying for the vacant 36th District state representative's seat.

Goss will square off in the Aug. 6 Republican primary against Jerry Vorva, a Realtor and Plymouth City Commission member; and Deborah Whyman, a Ford Motor Co. executive and a Republican precinct delegate from Canton Township.

The primary winner faces no formal Democratic candidate in the Aug. 27 general election. Any registered voter may vote in the primary.

The 36th District covers all of Northville Township, the City of Northville south of Baseline Road, the City and Township of Plymouth, and about half of Canton Township.

Candidates for the post were interviewed by Record staff writer Mike Tyree and editor Bob Needham. Today's interview is with Goss; sessions with Vorva and Whyman will follow.

will school funding come from, especially for school districts such as Northville that depend on property taxes for 95 percent of their revenue?

GOSS: I support any type of property tax relief, including the 20-percent tax cut the governor has spoken about. I believe, though, that local money should come back to local governments and schools. On a local level we must run on a balanced budget and the state should be running on a balanced budget. I believe that you can maintain services and lower costs. You have to trim any fat you can find.

RECORD: You said you look at school financing as the priority of the '90s?

GOSS: School financing should be the state's number one priority for the '90s. The only way we can ensure quality throughout the state's school districts is if the state puts more general fund money into the school districts. (But) in western Wayne County, property taxes have reached the level where most people are unable to continue paying more and

Representative debate next week

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Thirty-sixth District voters will get a chance to meet and grill three Republican state House of Representatives hopefuls at a July 24 candidate forum.

The public debate will take place at 7:30 p.m. at the Plymouth Township meeting hall, which is located in the Old Friendly Restaurant at the corner of Ann Arbor and Lilley roads.

The event is co-sponsored by the Northville-Plymouth-Canton League of Women Voters and The Northville Record.

Northville Township Supervisor Georgina Goss, Plymouth City Commissioner Jerry Vorva, and Canton Township resident Deborah Whyman will field questions and hope to woo voters in their attempts to succeed Gerald Law as 36th District state representative.

Law resigned his post in April and was named Plymouth Township supervisor.

The July 24 debate is the lone scheduled public candidate face-off. Voters will choose between Goss, Vorva, and Whyman at an Aug. 6 primary. The winner is unopposed in the Aug. 27 general election.

The primary election is open to all registered voters, said Eunice Switzer, Northville Township deputy clerk.

The debate is an attempt to familiarize voters with the three candidates, said Diane Rockall, local League of Women Voters president.

"Ideally, we'd like to see more citizen concern and involvement with this race," she said.

Rockall said candidates will each make two-minute opening statements and will entertain written questions from the audience during the debate. The opening statements "should be related to the positions they're taking," Rockall said.

Candidates also may make closing statements, she said.

No moderator has been chosen, but a League of Women Voters official will handle that task, she said.

Omnicom Cablevision will tape the event for broadcast at a later date. Omnicom officials were unavailable for comment on broadcast schedules.

Consumers Power figures gas loss

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

An estimated 760,000 cubic feet of natural gas escaped from a high-pressure line ruptured in Northville July 3, a Consumers Power spokesperson said Monday.

Utility company officials are still debating whether to charge Ric-Man Construction of Sterling Heights the estimated $2,850 cost of the lost gas. The construction company was running a new sewer line for the Western Townships Utilities Authority when a backhoe operator ruptured the line.

Consumers Power officials said the area around the gas line was clearly marked by wooden stakes prior to excavation, and that the line had been hand-dug by Consumers Power workers.

"It was staked and it was hand-exposed," said Consumers Power Spokesperson Garth Behrendt. "The gas main that was punctured had already been hand-exposed before the excavation ... That means they could see it, they knew where it was; they knew the depth of where it was."

Behrendt said the utility company had not yet decided whether to charge Ric-Man for the gas. "What we do is sit down with the construction crew and go over what happened," he said. "It could result in a bill, and then again it's hard to determine until everything is settled."

A backhoe operator digging a drainage ditch on the south side of Seven Mile Road just east of Sheldon Road snagged the six-inch steel line about 10 a.m. July 3.

The resulting 6-inch by 3-inch gash in the side of the line forced the evacuation of hundreds of city and township residents in a quarter-mile radius around the scene, as the gas, at 200 pounds per square inch, roared out of the pipe with a sound that could be heard a half-mile away.

Sheldon Road was barricaded between Six Mile and Fairbrook, and Seven Mile was shut down between Edward Hines Drive and Wing Street while firefighters evacuated St. Lawrence Estates and other area homes. Homes on Sheldon Road, Country Lane, Thomapple Lane and Fairbrook Street, and the barn area at Northville Downs were cleared.

No injuries were reported in the mishap. Consumers Power work crews shut off gas to the line by 12:15 p.m., and repaired the pipe by 3:30 p.m.

The damaged line fed gas to about 50 Consumers customers from Seven Mile south along Sheldon Road to Five Mile.

Local skater heads for Olympics Festival win is latest

Northville native Jerod Swallow continued to establish himself as one of the nation's top ice dancers with a first-place finish at the Olympic Festival in Los Angeles on Sunday.

Swallow, 24, and his partner, Elizabeth Punsalan, 20, of Ohio, placed first in the ice dancing competition at the Olympic Festival. The festival is a competition held in every non-Olympics year by the United States Olympic Team.

"Jerod's been skating for 15 years, so it's kind of nice for him to have some proof in the punch," Swallow's mother said. "We're real excited for Jerod. This is one more feather in his cap, and hopefully all these feathers will end up with a trip to the Olympics."

"Now we have two wins under his belt, and they're both pretty important," she said.

The ice dancers won a national championship in February, and another first- or second-place finish in a national championship will qualify them for the Olympics. A national championship is scheduled for the first week in January in Orlando, Fla., in preparation for the winter Olympics.

The routine which has brought the success to Swallow and Punsalan is called "The Race," and it mimics an Indy-car-type auto race. The theme is carried on to the duo's creative costumes, which feature touches of car-racing decoration.

Swallow, who was raised on Rogers Street in Northville, has lived for the last three years at the Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs. In addition to his ice dancing, he is currently a major in college at the University of Colorado studying museum management.

The winter Olympics will take place in February 1992 in Albertville, France. For one time only, another winter Olympics will follow just two years later.

Jerod Swallow and his partner keep finding success.

35-percent share, and lending institutions Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance and Home Federal Service Corporation divide the remaining 25 percent.

Hamilton and Home Federal portions are really "equity kickers," said Hamilton representative Dale Watchowski. And the lenders in recent months have used the court system to separate themselves from general partners DiLorenzo and Evangelista.

"At this point we're not looking at (the project) as a partner, we're looking at it as a lender," Watchowski said. "We're looking to get our money out of the project that we have into it."

"Our interest is that we get paid the amount that is outstanding."

Watchowski refused to say how much the developers currently owe, but tardy interest payments on the project's $6.75-million principal have pushed the bill owed by DiLorenzo and Evangelista to well over $7 million, according to foreclosure documents filed in Wayne County Circuit Court.

An escape clause in a partnership contract signed in 1989 reportedly allows the lenders to remove themselves from the business partnership, according to an attorney close to the case.

That window allows Hamilton and Home Federal to seek foreclosure and request that the state appoint a receiver for the property.

A circuit court receivership hearing is slated for Aug. 16 and a foreclosure hearing is tentatively set for Sept. 19, Hamilton's Terry West said.

A source with ties to the local development community said the Seven Lakes partners and lenders are anxious to cut a deal.

"Those guys (financial backers) have a (huge amount of) money outstanding," said the source, who asked not to be identified. "Time is at too much of a premium; I suspect (a deal) will unfold over an 18-day period."

The source said potential problems with the Shores site have caused "convoluted" negotiating sessions.

He cited outstanding concerns with site erosion repairs and other engineering headaches as potential stumbling blocks.

And the DNR still must approve permits and an engineering plan, regardless of ownership.

But the thought of developing property with seven pure, freshwater lakes is sure to prompt interest in the 350-acre-plus property.

"Everybody's looking at the success of Blue Heron (as an example)," the source said.

Local developers who might have strong interest in the Shores site include the group that built Blue Heron Pointe, the pricey subdivision that lies just east of the Shores property.

Blue Heron principals Earl LaFave and Dennis Park did not return a reporter's calls.

A second developer with adjacent property may also be interested in the Shores site, Mark Jacobson & Associates are set to build expensive homes near the southeastern portion of the old gravel pit.

A Jacobson official refused to comment on a possible Shores deal and deferred comment to another Jacobson official, who did not return calls by press time.

One hurdle to a possible deal may have been cleared last week when D & T Construction was fined $100,000 in 35th District Court for illegally filling a Shores lake and rer-outing a stream without a DNR permit.

No further criminal action is pending against the Seven Lakes partnership, and a bevy of civil suits — fired from several directions — probably do not preclude a deal.

DiLorenzo's departure is the one thing that seems certain, despite the shroud of secrecy over possible negotiations, the local source said.

"No matter what, that partnership requires a new face," he said.

SUGAR - TOOTH'S WORST ENEMY

Sugar is the major cause of tooth decay. Despite this, the average person consumes about 126 pounds of sugar a year. (That's enough to make about 10,000 chocolate chip cookies!) No wonder the average person has 10 decayed teeth before his or her 15th birthday.

How does sugar perform its dreadful deed? When you eat sugary snacks, the sugar reacts with bacteria in your mouth that form colonies on the teeth. These sticky colonies of bacteria (called plaque) convert sugar to acids and tooth decay results. Simply, sugar is the fuel for tooth decay.

Every time you snack on a sugary food, these acids are working for at least 20 minutes afterwards (so three sugar snacks or drinks a day create an hour's worth of acid attack.) The longer a sugary food lasts in your mouth, the greater the risk of tooth decay. Sticky and chewy forms of snacks are more harmful because they tend to cling to your teeth longer. The best decay prevention is to reduce your consumption of sugar combined with daily brushing and flossing to keep plaque from organizing.

Police News

Abduction and robbery story a hoax, man says

A 27-year-old Dearborn man who had told township police he had been abducted and robbed at gunpoint July 8 later recanted and admitted his story was a hoax.

Police said the man left Lirato's Beer & Wine, 41106 Five Mile, on an errand for the party store's owner at approximately 10 a.m. July 8. The man reportedly was asked to drive the owner's 1987 Oldsmobile to a bank to drop off checks.

Later that afternoon he told police he was abducted and forced to drive to Detroit at gunpoint, where he was robbed of $100.

Police then got the man to admit he spent the day joyriding in the man's car and that the incident did not occur.

SWIM CLUB VANDALIZED
AGAIN: The Northville Swim Club at

646 Baseline Road was vandalized sometime between 11 p.m. July 14 and 6 a.m. the next morning.

Six glass globes valued at $10 each hanging inside a picnic area gazebo were smashed, and a Pepsi machine was toppled in the incident. The vandal or vandals apparently gained entry into the poolyard through an unlocked gate on the south side of the picnic area.

The poolyard vandalism is the second in a week. The pop machine was vandalized sometime between 1:40-7 a.m. July 8 in an apparent attempt to steal money from the machine. Its coin return slot had been pried apart in that attack, and it was tipped onto its front, causing an estimated $200 in damage. No money was believed removed from the machine.

COINS STOLEN: A Dartmouth

Place resident told township police that someone stole $300 in coins from her home early July 8 by removing a basement window. The coins were stored in a ceramic pot, which also was stolen.

VIDEO EQUIPMENT STOLEN FROM CAR: A Canton man told township police someone stole a VHS camcorder, camera bag, battery and tripod from his 1991 Ford Escort. The car was parked outside Moraine Elementary, 46811 Eight Mile, and the theft occurred July 1 between noon and 5:30 p.m. A portable compact disc player also was stolen. Total value of the missing items was $900.

GOLF CLUBS STOLEN: A set of golf clubs valued at $575 was stolen from Meadowbrook Country Club, 40941 Eight Mile, between 4:30-5:30 p.m. July 8, a Waterford man told township police.

The man told police the clubs were left on the grass next to the pro shop. When he returned to retrieve the clubs, they were missing.

TEENS CHARGED WITH ALCOHOL, WEAPONS VIOLATIONS: A defective headlight cost a 19-year-old Plymouth man and a 19-year-old Livonia man dearly on July 10, when township police handed out citations for alcohol possession and possession of a dangerous weapon in a motor vehicle.

According to police records, police spotted the Plymouth man drive into the Mobil Gas station at Six Mile and Haggerty. One of the vehicle's headlights was out and police then found an open case of beer and a set of nunchucks on the backseat.

Police confiscated the beer and nunchucks and issued alcohol possession and dangerous weapons possession citations to the Livonia man. The Plymouth man was charged with possession of alcohol in a motor vehicle.

MORE TEENS WITH WEAPONS: A 17-year-old Novi man was charged with possession of a dangerous weapon in a motor vehicle after township police recovered an 11-inch bayonet and a nine-inch dagger from the man's 1979 Ford Thunderbird July 11.

Police said the vehicle was observed speeding down Whisper Court in Northville Township early July 11. The Novi man and his 17-year-old Whisper Court passenger appeared "nervous," police said, and the weapons were discovered under the passenger's side seat.

Police confiscated the knives. The Novi man's court date is set for Aug. 6 at 35th District Court.

CAR KEYED: A car parked in the lot south of the First Presbyterian Church, 200 E. Main St., was vandalized sometime between 10:45-12:30 July 7. Someone scraped the paint on the car's left rear door and quarter panel, causing an estimated $400 damage, according to city police reports.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Ruling expected soon in drug-related shooting

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Writer

A ruling by the Wayne County prosecutor's office in the April fatal shooting of a reputed drug dealer in Northville could come within the next week.

Ronald J. Melnyk, 33, of Westland, was fatally shot April 18 in the parking lot of the Northville Township Meijer store by law enforcement officers after a failed drug bust. The prosecutor's office has been reviewing and investigating the case since early May in an effort to determine if Melnyk's shooting by officers was justified.

According to Assistant Prosecutor Richard Padcieski, all investigation in the case is now complete. He said the final report on the shooting, with his recommendation, is presently being considered by Wayne County Chief Prosecutor John O'Hair.

Padcieski said a decision by O'Hair could come by the end of next week. He declined to comment on his recommendation to O'Hair.

"In the final analysis, the chief prosecutor's opinion is the only one that matters," Padcieski said. Members of the Oakland County Narcotics Enforcement Team (NET) were conducting a "buy-bust" on Melnyk.

NET Supervisor Dorothy McAllen said in April that the team had purchased cocaine from Melnyk weeks before the incident and planned to buy more and then arrest him on April 18. The bust was originally scheduled for a Novi restaurant, adjacent to the Meijer store in Northville.

But, for an unknown reason, Melnyk decided to move the buy to the Meijer parking lot. The Westland man attempted to flee the scene during the purchase.

In doing so, Melnyk reportedly struck an officer with his vehicle. Officers opened fire at that point and shot him fatally through the chest.

McAllen described Melnyk as a "sizable" drug dealer in the area. She said NET had been conducting an investigation of the Westland man for several months before the shooting.

Police records obtained by the Record last month revealed that Melnyk had a long criminal history before his death. The Westland man had been convicted of charges, dating back to 1976, ranging from attempted burglary and stolen property to possession of "dangerous drugs," according to records.

Riding the roads

Mary Ellen Okopny, a bus driver for the Northville School District, participated in the 14th annual Michigan State School Bus Rodeo June 26 at Eaton Rapids High School. Rodeo drivers took a written examination covering safety laws, conducted a pre-trip vehicle inspection and maneuvered a school bus through a skill course that simulated typical conditions. Drivers qualified for the state championship last month by finishing among the top drivers at one of 16 regional rodeos.

Law would regulate parties

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Before giving Junior permission to party in the city, Northville parents had better know their responsibilities under a recently proposed ordinance.

A house party ordinance proposed by the Northville Action Council would make parents legally responsible for underage people attending a party in their home with their knowledge.

Council members reviewed the proposal on Monday, July 15 and called for an Aug. 5 public hearing to take community input on it.

The proposal was the subject of a July 1 presentation by Northville Action Council member Al Qualman, who noted that the similar ordinances had already been adopted in Northville and Plymouth townships. The proposed ordinance is modeled on one passed in Farmington Hills in 1985.

"It allows for a little more enforcement and clarity with respect to open house parties in the area," Qualman said. "When you have a party for underage people at your home, you are held liable for anything that happens to these underage people while they are at your home or after leaving your home. . . . We're hoping this ordinance will help curtail the parties that occur during the senior prom, summer and other times."

Police Chief Rod Cannon said the proposal had been reviewed and approved by the police department. "This is not a new item per se; this is something that we've been monitoring for the last year. . . . We're ready to go," he said.

City Attorney James Kohl also reviewed the proposal and found it would not conflict with existing city or state laws.

On Monday, Council Member Carolann Ayers questioned the effectiveness of the proposed ordinance.

"It was my understanding during the presentation by the NAC . . . that one of the house parties they were trying to address was the kind that occurred in Northville Township (when) there were no adults present and a lot of damage occurred to the house," she said. "I don't know how that can be addressed, and I don't think that is addressed in this ordinance."

Ayers was referring to a Feb. 22 incident in which a Northville Township teen-ager held a party while her unwitting parents were away on vacation. The party, drawing an estimated 300 people, grew out of control and resulted in more than $42,000 in damages to the home.

Cannon agreed that such a party would not be regulated by the proposed law. "This type of ordinance deals with adults who knowingly provide drugs or alcohol. Other situations are covered by other ordinances," he said.

Council tables walkway study

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The city council tabled a proposed feasibility study of a walkway along the Middle Rouge River, citing uncertainty about funding sources and the scope of the study.

The study was recently recommended to the planning commission by Planning Consultant Don Wortman. The commission unanimously endorsed the proposal, based on the potential availability of Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds to pay for the study, and Department of Natural Resources (DNR) grants to fund 75 percent of any improvements.

The walk's location along a waterway and its connection with the historic Ford Valve Plant property and the Ford Heritage Trail make it a strong candidate for DNR grants, the consultant said.

Cost of the study was estimated at $3,000-$5,000 for the first phase between Hutton and Griswold, and up to $10,000 for all three phases.

Council Member Jerry Mittman asked whether there were sufficient funds available to pay for the entire study. "I have no complaint with the plan itself . . . (but) we don't really know yet what we're authorizing, what the plan is, how much the plan will cost," he said.

He also asked whether the proposal represented the best use of CDBG funds. "What are the trade-offs?" he asked.

City Manager Gary Word agreed to research the amount of CDBG funds available for the project, and alternate uses for the funds.

Highland Lakes celebrates after rocky start

By MARK REITENGA
Special Writer

In 1970, Northville fought to stop developers Levitt and Sons from building homes on the site of a former asphalt plant between Seven Mile and Eight Mile roads east of Northville Road.

"Who would want to live on a gravel pit?"

On July 20, 1991, Highland Lakes Condominiums residents will celebrate their 20th anniversary on the site of that gravel pit. The affair is to be called the 20/20 celebration signifying 20 years on July 20.

According to an August 13, 1970, Northville Record article, the original controversy stemmed from the township's fear that the dense concentration of people might cause neighborhood and community friction.

Northville remained skeptical, but Levitt Vice President Irwin M. Adler believed Highland Lakes would develop into a thriving community.

"Because of its unusual topography, open forests, hills and valleys, and four beautiful lakes, we believe Highland Lakes will earn national recognition for both Northville Township and Levitt."

It is unclear if Highland Lakes has received such recognition, but it is an attractive complex. Its streets wind through a maze of green lawns and colorful homes. From the large, grassy hill that towers over the complex, one can see Wayne County's only natural lake, Silver Springs; scores of condominiums; and most of Northville Township off in the distance.

Highland Lakes' three man-made lakes — Crystal Lake, Swan Harbor Lake and Lake Success — are scattered throughout the complex. But

Silver Springs is the most popular because of its added attractions.

On the west end of the lake rests a man-made beach perfect for sunbathing. On the east end stands a wooden dock used for diving and fishing. Surrounding the lake is a walking path designed for biking, jogging and walking. Highland Lakes' tennis courts, swimming pool and clubhouse are also conveniently located 25 yards away from the lake.

The clubhouse functions as Highland Lakes' management office and social haven. From this building, property manager Ray Thompson, the board of directors, residential committees and Highland Lakes personnel manage the complex. Thompson explains:

"Our function is management, and we have been self-managed since 1982. That means that the board of directors is in charge of everything.

There is no management company that oversees (Highland Lakes). The people of Highland Lakes elect their board of directors and hopefully they will act in the people's best interest."

Serving on the board of directors are president Joseph Sattler, vice president and treasurer Russ Fogg, secretary Dorothy Gay and board members Wanda Kempf, Kathleen Knight, Kathleen Connor and Beverly Dudley. According to Thompson, the board of directors must manage a $1,659,000 annual budget and make investments that will help pay for repairs that need to be made to condominiums.

Residential committees that specialize in various areas of expertise advise the board of directors. Committees cover topics like engineering, finance, insurance, social, pool, grounds, and lawn. All are run by Highland Lakes homeowners.

But Highland Lakes' clubhouse is more than a management office. Residents spend much of their leisure time here as well. In fact, the clubhouse belongs to the Highland Lakes Association, which is the sum of all its condominium owners. It is an exclusive club available only to its residents and guests.

The clubhouse is particularly popular among Highland Lakes' retirees. Retirees have the opportunity to organize parties, play cards, shoot pool, lift weights or hang around in the cool atmosphere of the building.

The swimming pool which borders the clubhouse offers additional activities. Residents may take swimming lessons, swim at their leisure, sunbathe on the deck and hold parties at the pool.

Highland Lakes has a lot to offer for recreation. But its most endearing quality may be its peaceful and safe environment. Losing residents to the fear of crime has never been a problem. An owner is certain to retain familiar neighbors.

Out of 691 total condominiums that were finished in 1976, 168 are original owners. Fifty-four of these owners have lived in Highland Lakes for 20 years. Original owner and retired police officer Wanda Roberts' attitude reflects this trend toward owner loyalty.

"I really wouldn't want to leave here. I have a sense of community here," she said.

One of the reasons that many owners like Roberts have stayed so long is that Highland Lakes has its own elementary school within its confines. Neighborhood school children from kindergarten to fifth grade have the luxury of walking to Silver Springs Elementary School. Many children complete their entire elementary school education here.

Highland Lakes' serene environment has made it an enjoyable place to live. But there have been some very unfortunate occurrences that have happened here as well. On Christmas Day 1988, a condominium on Inlet Court caught fire, causing terrible interior damage. Ray Thompson described the result:

"The owner was very fortunate because they had coverage. Some of their things were irreplaceable, though. I remember she came out of the building the next day and all she had left was a picture."

Another unfortunate occurrence took place when a teenage boy died of overexposure to the cold on the grounds of Silver Springs Elementary School. The boy's friend left him to sleep off the effects of some late-night drinking, but the boy died in the freezing weather.

Most neighborhood incidents are far less traumatic. The kind of violations that usually occur are people caught swimming in the lake after hours, teenagers drinking at the dock, the occasional prank and other common disturbances.

Board of Directors Vice President Russ Fogg described his experience with one of the more common disasters that happens at Highland Lakes — flooding.

"When we were still at our old house they regraded it... (the condominium). I don't know how they did it. They regraded it, then swept it back. We had a big snow storm, the snow melted and all that stuff (snow) came in over the sulfate. We ended up scooping water out for a few days until they came back and regraded it again."

Through the bad times, Highland Lakes residents have stayed true to their complex. On Saturday, July 20, residents will take part in festivities and reflect on old times. The 20/20 party run by Anniversary Committee chairperson Beverly Dudley will feature a parade with fire engines, a double-decker bus and several trailers circling Crystal Lake and Silver Springs drives. Afterwards, there will be a tennis clinic, a bake sale, fishing contests, a pet contest, swimming events, relay races, a balloon toss and plenty of children's games. The evening will conclude with a dance featuring a disc jockey, dancing and some secret prizes.

These festivities are for Highland Lakes' residents exclusively.

Who else would want to party at a gravel pit?

Free-lance writer Mark Reitenga is an 11-year resident of Highland Lakes.

Griswold traffic criticized

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Griswold area residents are tired of being targets for speeding traffic, said the president of a local homeowners association.

Stephen Ball, head of the Mill View Residents Association and a member of the city planning commission, told the city council Monday night that excessive speeds and limited sight distance on Griswold Street between Eight Mile and Main posed a continuing danger to the neighborhood.

Ball said the problem has gone beyond the proverbial accident waiting to happen. "We've just had our second accident in two months," he said. The July 10 incident involved a man heading south on Griswold just north of Butler who accidentally drove off the road and into a directional sign, damaging a lawn and shrubbery.

"Several times, drivers coming over the bridge (north of Pennell Avenue) have locked up their brakes to avoid hitting people," Ball added.

He asked for the city council's help in pressuring Wayne County to install three-way stop signs at the Griswold / Butler and Griswold / Pennell intersections. Griswold Street is considered the county's responsibility.

"I know it's not a situation that can be handled here because it's a county road, but I'd offer to sit down and explain the situation to county officials anywhere, at any time," Ball said. "It's a continuing safety hazard."

Mayor Chris Johnson promised that the city would request a meeting with Wayne County officials on the neighborhood's behalf.

"I want to find out whether or not they'll sit down and talk with us," Johnson said.

Ball attributed part of the problem to limited sight distance over hills and around curves, and part to drivers speeding into town off Eight Mile Road. "They come roaring over the hill at the railroad tracks and all of a sudden they're in a residential area," he said. "The folks on the side streets, they can't pull out of their own neighborhood... because the traffic is so fast."

The proposed solution — more stop signs — has already worked on a similar city street, Ball said. "Randolph (Street) is a dead ringer for Griswold. People want to use it as a main thoroughfare in town and it's a residential area."

No injuries in police crash

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

No injuries were reported in a July 9 collision involving a truck and a township police car, but the accident did create a financial headache for the cash-poor township.

Police and witnesses said a police car driven by officer James Fisher, 25, struck a truck driven by a 24-year-old Westland man at the Winchester/Six Mile intersection July 9 at 4:30 p.m.

Fisher reportedly was traveling south on Winchester attempting to pass through the intersection on a green and then yellow light when he struck the eastbound Six Mile truck.

Witnesses and police said Fisher's emergency lights and sirens were activated at the time of the collision.

Police car crashes

Witnesses said the truck driver was traveling approximately 60 mph in a 45 mph zone when the accident occurred.

The truck tipped onto two wheels and nearly rolled over after the collision, witnesses said.

Fisher was responding to a report of a fight in progress, police said.

A police spokesperson said no citations were issued.

The accident left the township police car a total wreck, police Chief Chip Snider told the township board last week.

Replacement of the 1989 cruiser with a 1991 Chevrolet Caprice will cost the township a cool $10,000, when the insurance payoff of $6,500 is subtracted from the $16,000-plus Caprice purchase price.

Funds for a new car are available in the police budget, Snider said. But he bowed to overall township budget constraints and offered to strip the wrecked car and place its equipment in an unmarked 1989 police vehicle now primarily used for transporting prisoners.

Snider said that option was limited by two factors — high mileage on the 1989, and police consensus that the car was, in Snider's terms, a "lemon." The unmarked car has 44,000 miles under its belt. Police union contracts call for cars to be removed from active duty when the odometer reaches 70,000 miles, Snider said.

The board voted to use police funds and the insurance pay-off to purchase a new Caprice.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE AMENDMENT TO ZONING ORDINANCE 94-07-91

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ZONING ORDINANCE BY AMENDING THE TEXT THEREOF.

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ORDAINS:

PART 1. The Charter Township of Northville Zoning Ordinance No. 94 as amended is hereby further amended by amending Article XVIII, Section 18.30 IMPACT ASSESSMENT.

The submission of an Impact Assessment is necessary to provide relevant information concerning the effects that a proposed project may have on the community and to provide the data necessary for the Township of Northville to make a rational determination on the request.

1. An Impact Assessment shall be required and shall be submitted by a petitioner whenever the following matters are petitioned for consideration:

a. Requests for zoning change when such request represents a departure from the land use proposed in the Township Master Plan of Land Use applicable to the parcel in question.

b. All uses permitted (except kennels) under Section 18.29, USES NOT OTHERWISE INCLUDED IN A SPECIFIC USE DISTRICT, shall provide an Impact Assessment supporting the specific use being requested.

c. Any Planned Unit Development or Planned Residential Unit Development shall require an Impact Assessment.

d. A traffic impact and access study shall be submitted for a project under any of the following situations:

(1) All situations noted in a, b and c above

(2) Projects that have frontage along major thoroughfares as designated in the Township Master Plan.

(3) Projects that would be expected to generate 100 directional vehicle trips (i.e. 100 inbound or 100 outbound trips) during the peak hour of traffic generator or on the adjacent streets. The forecasted trip generation shall be based upon equations/rates outlined in the most recent version of the Institute of Transportation Engineers (ITE) Trip Generation Manual.

2. The Impact Assessment is required in order to explain the purposes of the request and to indicate why the proposal would be a logical alternative to the Township's Master Plan of Future Land Use. The Assessment shall also evaluate the proposal's impact upon the natural environment of the area, on traffic operations and safety, on public facility needs and on the future land use of the surrounding area.

a. For parcels of land less than five (5) acres in area, the following shall be submitted:

(1) An aerial photograph of the site, including land within one-half (1/2) mile of the site, which portrays the area as it currently exists at a scale of not less than one inch equals four hundred feet (1" = 400').

(2) A statement regarding the topography of the site including changes of elevation and a general description of the drainage characteristics of the site and the surrounding area. A topographic map is not required. The description should indicate the location of highest and lowest elevation, low lands, drainage characteristics and how it affects adjacent lands.

(3) A statement that the proponent has reviewed the Soil Conservation Service Soil Survey of Wayne County issued November 1977 as it applies to the property and is aware of the general soil conditions of the site and the surrounding area.

(4) A statement as to the general vegetation characteristics of the parcel in question in terms of type, areas covered and quality. A detailed survey is not required nor is the review by a professional necessary; the statement can be prepared from review of the aerial photograph and field observations of the site.

(5) A general statement as to how the intended use of the property would affect the natural environment of the site as described in (2) through (4) above.

(6) A statement as to resulting impact on existing and future land use in the area.

(7) A traffic impact study in accordance with the minimum contents of a traffic study specified in this section, if warranted by section 1,d above

b. For any parcel of land which is five (5) acres or more in area, the above information shall be submitted provided, however, that it shall be presented as follows, where applicable:

(1) Maps submitted shall be at a scale of not less than one inch equals one hundred feet (1" = 100') for parcels of one hundred sixty (160) acres or less and one inch equals two hundred feet (1" = 200') for larger parcels.

(2) Topography shall be submitted in mapped form with contour intervals of not more than five (5) feet.

(3) A map indicating soil characteristics of the parcel to at least the detail as provided by the Soil Conservation Service Soil Survey of Wayne County issued November 1977, or the most recent edition.

(4) A map indicating the location of the various types of vegetation on the site and their general quality.

(5) An analysis of how the intended use of the property would affect the natural environment of the site as described in (2) through (4) above

c. In addition to the effects on the natural environment considered in a and b above, the proponent shall submit an analysis of:

(1) The resulting impact on utilities and public facilities including storm sewers, sanitary sewers or water mains and recreation, school and public safety needs

(2) The resulting impact on existing and future land use in the area.

(3) A traffic impact study in accordance with section 18.30-3 below, if warranted

3. Minimum contents of Traffic Impact Study.

a. Existing conditions including existing daily and peak hour traffic on adjacent street(s) and a description of any sight distance limitations along the site's right-of-way frontage. Existing traffic counts shall be taken on a Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday of non-holiday weeks. Additional counts (i.e. on a Saturday for a proposed commercial development) may also be required in some cases. The following times/situations should also be avoided where possible so that the traffic count data would represent a typical day: construction detours in the area, summer days for a site near a school, etc.

The firm performing the impact study must make every effort to complete traffic counts during average or higher than average volume conditions (i.e. regarding weather or seasonal variations) for the area under study.

b. Forecasted trip generation of the proposed use for the a.m. and p.m. peak hour and average daily traffic generated. The forecasts shall be based on the data and procedures outlined in the Institute for Traffic Engineers Trip Generation Manual. The applicant may use other commonly accepted sources of data or supplement the standard data with data from similar projects in Michigan.

For requests for zoning change when such request represents a departure from the land use proposed in the Township Master Plan, the study should contrast the traffic impacts of typical uses permitted in the requested zoning district with uses permitted in the current zoning district. The determination of typical uses shall be made by the Planning and Zoning Administrator.

c. For any project with a completion date beyond one year at the time of site plan approval, the analysis shall also include a scenario analyzing forecasted traffic at date of completion along the adjacent street network using a forecast based either on historic annual percentage increases and/or on expected development in the area.

Traffic impact assessments shall acknowledge the traffic impacts of other uses approved, but not yet constructed which may affect traffic operations for the subject site, as determined by the Township.

d. Fourth organizers recount their uphill battle

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

This year's local Fourth of July celebration succeeded beyond most people's expectations, said the five women who became the main organizers of the day's events.

Ginny Hathhorn, Debbie McDonald, Michelle Perrin, Mary DiPaolo and Iris Antuna — the coordinating committee for what became the largest Independence Day celebration in Northville's history — said the day came off despite the doubts and fears of city merchants and officials.

Hathhorn, co-founder of Northville's Military Family Support Group chapter, recalled when she first had the idea for an expanded Fourth of July celebration. "When the war ended, my first thought was, 'We're going to welcome the troops home and we're going to do it proper,'" she said.

Hathhorn slowly lined up other volunteers, including Michelle and Carl Perrin of Perrin's Souvenir Distributors. "Michelle just got roped into it," she recalled. "She didn't have any choice because we were selling shirts out of her store."

Debbie McDonald of Northville Jewelers and marketing consultant Mary DiPaolo signed on during an April Merchants Association meeting, DiPaolo said. "Ginny approached our group and said she needed help raising money, a fund-raiser, so I raised my hand and said, 'I'll coordinate a dance-a-thon.'" While McDonald became the group's unofficial scribe and organizer, keeping track of everything from parade entrants to donations, DiPaolo took charge of fund-raising as a whole.

McDonald and husband Al LaVine also designed medallions in honor of Operation Desert Storm, and turned a portion of their sale over to the Military Family Support Group and the Fourth of July fund.

Longtime Northville resident Iris Antuna volunteered to help plan the parade after reading a story about the group's efforts in The Northville Record.

McDonald and Perrin took leaves of absence from their jobs to work on the festivities, and the volunteers eventually ended up donating hundreds of hours to planning the parade and the rest of the day's events.

But other merchants were more dubious of the group's ability to make the day a reality, Hathhorn said. "The first and second merchants meeting we went to, I don't think they thought we were going to pull it off," she said.

Local officials were concerned with number of people the events might draw, the possibility of protests against the events, and the difficulty finding parking, the organizers said.

Perhaps the toughest aspect of the project was the time frame. Though planning for previous Fourth of July celebrations had taken the better part of a year, this year's organizers had little more than two months to raise more funds, plan more events, and get the word out to more people than ever before.

"We didn't get it approved from city council until the first week in May," McDonald said. "And before that we had to have all our plans in place. And it just evolved. We didn't start out doing this. We started out doing one little rally."

Each time the group met, it seemed, someone dropped out or a new responsibility was thrust upon the planners. When the Northville Jaycees dropped out due to declining enrollment and the Jaycees' uncertain future, Hathhorn and company took up the slack. When the township and city cut their donations from more than $2,500 to just $500 apiece, the women had to add fireworks to the list of items to be paid through fund-raising.

As Michelle Perrin recalled, "Every time we met, we said, 'We're ready, we'll do anything, we want to work together,' and something would fall apart . . . and then it was in our hands."

The festivities were also dogged by persistent rumors of their demise. "I heard as late as a few days before the event that it was dead, and nothing was really happening," DiPaolo said. "Once people realized that indeed this was happening, and caught wind . . . then they said, 'Hey, this really is going to happen in downtown Northville, and therefore, hey, let's go along for the ride.'"

When volunteers and fund-raisers began to believe in the event, the support level grew, Hathhorn said. "I was overwhelmed by what support we got. It was great support . . . as soon as they realized it was a real thing."

After setting an initial fundraising goal of $20,000, the group soon raised that figure to $25,000, to cover the cost of an expanded fireworks display and added events.

The organizers were still taking in donations and figuring costs for the series of events last week, but they estimated the total amount raised at almost $30,000. They are still debating what to do with the excess money.

"We've still got expenses," Hathhorn said. "The money was all raised in the name of the Military Family Support Group, so we were hoping that maybe we could give it to a veteran's hospital or some charity along that line," she added.

But part of the money may be set aside for next year's celebration as well, said McDonald. "I think a lot of people in town would like to see some of it earmarked for next year's fireworks. That's what I've heard a lot of people asking for."

Reaction to the Fourth festivities has been almost universally positive, the organizers said. The number of people lining the streets for the Thursday morning parade was estimated at more than 10,000, with an estimated 15,000 attending the evening fireworks display at Northville High School.

"I looked at (City Mayor) Chris Johnson on the Fourth of July and I said, 'They all found a place to park,'" Hathhorn said.

Antuna, who coordinated the parade with former Jaycees President Bob Cummings, said, "I picked up the donation jars the day after, and I went to every single store in town from Griswold to Highland Lakes, and every single person said how terrific they thought the parade and fireworks were . . . and they said that they were looking forward to next year."

Hathhorn agreed, saying, "I don't think you're going to find a town that's more supportive, and a town that's come together like this town has."

School hill worst place for fireworks, chief says

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

This year's Operation Welcome Home celebrations on the Fourth of July drew record crowds to downtown Northville.

That, said City Police Chief Rod Cannon, is just the problem.

Cannon warned that continuing traffic jams following the fireworks at Northville High School may indicate a need for a new location for future fireworks displays.

The day-long celebration drew thousands of spectators, which made for several problems. The number of people lining the streets for the Thursday morning parade was estimated at more than 10,000, with an estimated 15,000 attending the evening fireworks display at Northville High School.

Police logged more than $3,500 in manpower costs to provide security at the parade and fireworks display. More than $2,200 of the cost was for coverage of the fireworks alone, where the unexpected crowds overwhelmed Northville's street system. Thousands of departing cars jammed city streets for hours after the display.

Cannon classified the day as a "success" in a letter to the city council, but warned, "traffic . . . is an ongoing problem. It is the police department's position that serious consideration should be given to a new site for the fireworks display."

The problem, Cannon said, is that the high school location does not allow sufficient access in the event of a medical or other emergency. He said other police officers and Fire Chief Jim Allen agree with his concerns.

"It's a fun time, people enjoy it, and they should, but the potential for . . . catastrophe is alarming," he said. "If you have an illness or a serious injury, emergency crews couldn't get in there. Even with a chopper, there's no place to land it because there are cars in the way."

"I don't think you could pick a worse place than the high school for the fireworks . . . the event has outgrown the location."

Cannon said the new site should be "some place that's got access and a wide open space," but admitted, "I don't know where to tell them to go."

Singer says rally showed political favoritism

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

This year's Northville Fourth of July celebration, though applauded by most as the largest and best in the community's history, did not leave everyone singing songs of praise.

A performer at the afternoon Welcome Home Rally at Northville Downs accused event organizers of everything from "disorganization and unprofessionalism" to political favoritism.

Singer Michael Brandon claimed in letters to the city council, chamber of commerce and The Northville Record that preceding singer Paula Folino performed several songs, including the National Anthem and "America the Beautiful," which he had been scheduled to sing.

Folino is the daughter of Council Member Paul Folino.

Brandon suggested that the relationship resulted in preferential treatment for Paula.

Event organizers denied Brandon's charges and insisted that they asked for Folino's daughter to perform at the rally, not the other way around.

"We are the ones who asked Paul to get his daughter for us," said organizer Ginny Hathhorn.

The council member agreed, saying, "The thing of it is, I didn't ask if my daughter could sing; they (organizers) asked me if she was coming home for the weekend. . . . They wanted her to sing some patriotic songs and they definitely wanted her to do the National Anthem."

Hathhorn added that Brandon was never slated to sing the entire rally. "I didn't promise the kid anything, and I was in charge of the whole rally," she said. "Had I known the kid was supposed to do the Star Spangled Banner and all, then I wouldn't have been out looking for anyone."

Hathhorn also accused Brandon of a lack of professionalism himself, saying the singer and his accompanist arrived after the start of the rally and had to borrow another band's keyboard to perform.

"He had nothing planned and then he gets angry at us," Hathhorn said.

Brandon accused the rally organizers of "nepotism" in a letter to Laurie Marrs, executive director of the Northville Chamber of Commerce. He also protested the fact that Folino's accomplishments were cited before her performance, while his were not.

The fact that Ms. Folino's introduction included her background and past affiliations while I was introduced solely by name, (although my vast accomplishments and professional affiliations were available) shows an apparent political influence," he wrote.

Marrs assured Brandon in a letter of her own that any mistake was the result of a lack of communication on the organizers' part, "not a political move."

In a previous letter to the chamber of commerce, dated March 14, Brandon had asked "to be considered as a performer at your 4th of July celebration ceremonies." He enclosed a tape of his rendition of the National Anthem, and mentioned that he had written a verse for America the Beautiful "that reflects recent activity in Operation Desert Storm."

He listed as singing experience his voice training at the University of Michigan and New York University, singing in off-Broadway theaters, and performing with the NYU Musical Theater Group and with the Performing Arts Guild at the Marquis Theater in Northville.

The chamber of commerce never was a central figure in this year's Fourth of July organizational efforts.

Tickets available for folk, bluegrass fest

Tickets are available at Giffidder music store and at all Ticketmaster outlets for the 15th annual Northville Folk and Bluegrass Festival, planned for 1 to 8 p.m. Sunday, July 28.

Tickets are $8 in advance, or $4 for seniors. Children 12 and under get in free. To order tickets by phone, call the Giffidder at 349-9420 or Ticketmaster at 645-6666. Or stop at the Giffidder, 302 E. Main, or any Ticketmaster outlet.

Tickets will be available at the gate for $10.

All proceeds from the event go to fight Huntington's disease. The festival is dedicated to the memory of Woody and Marjorie Guthrie and Donna Jarski, the late sister of festival organizer Tom Rice.

Attractions of the festival include food concessions by MacKinnon's restaurant and a raffle of a handmade Washburn guitar. But the main event, of course, is the music — a lineup led this year by three-time Grammy Award winner John Hartford.

Hartford plays banjo, fiddle and guitar; sings; and often clog dances. He is also a respected songwriter, having composed "Gentle on My Mind," and has authored a book, Steamboat in a Cornfield.

The festival begins at 1 p.m. with the Silver Strings Dulcimer Society. At 2 p.m. follows the Royal Oak-based Baldock Mountain Ramblers, making their third appearance at the Northville festival. At 3 p.m. headliner Hartford plays the first of two sets.

Lady of the Lake, an all-female string trio out of Lansing, makes its first festival appearance at 4 p.m. At 5 p.m. perennial festival favorite Neil Woodward returns. The Fritts Family plays at 6 p.m., back at the festival for the third straight year. At 7 p.m. comes the second set from John Hartford.

Rice welcomes help from individuals. Volunteers may help in several different capacities. Anyone interested should call the Giffidder at 349-9420.

Q My aunt tells me that Catholics must be buried in Catholic cemeteries and that non-Catholics may not be buried in a Catholic Cemetery. Is this true?

A No. As to your first question, Catholics may be buried in non-Catholic cemeteries. Some of these have "set aside" a section for Catholics. But most Catholics prefer a Catholic cemetery in which all the ground has been blessed by a Bishop and where families of the same faith may visit the dead in a Catholic setting. For instance, Resurrection Cemetery features Stations of the Cross and chapels on its beautiful grounds.

Are there non-Catholics in our cemeteries? Of course...because we welcome every member of a Catholic family. Lower rates on family sites are offered at both Resurrection and All Saints. We also offer time payments, accept credit cards and will refund the purchase price on unused graves if you should move away or change your mind. For more information about any of our Catholic cemeteries, call 286-9020.

Goss discusses taxes, school finance reform

more. We've just reached a saturation point.

RECORD: This is a hard question to answer, especially sitting in Northville Township Hall as opposed to the state Capitol, but where do you think the fat is?

GOSS: I believe you can refine the budget process at any government level. You can scrutinize your departments and have your department heads prioritize their spending. I believe they can come up with places to cut.

RECORD: What state programs are lower on your priority list? Where do you think the cuts could come from?

GOSS: I support arts funding. I support the social service programs. I think we have to have them, but I do believe there are places where cuts can be made to maintain services at lower costs. In Northville Township, we have rolled back our tax rate for the five years I have been supervisor, in accordance with Headlee and Truth-in-Taxation.

RECORD: The 36th District — and especially the Northville community — hosts a considerable number of non-revenue-producing state facilities. What is the impact of these facilities on the district? Is the impact significant? What can be done to lessen the burden of state facilities on local municipalities?

GOSS: It certainly impacts the Northville community portion of the 36th District and it has for years. It's a drain on our services without providing any revenue to back up those services (and) that makes it a drain on the residents' pocketbooks. I think we have taken steps to change that with the state agreeing to put some of their property up for sale; the County of Wayne negotiating the sale of the county property (in Northville Township) is going to be very helpful, not only for Northville local government, but for the Board of Education also.

RECORD: Several patients listed as dangerous have walked away from Northville Regional Hospital in the past few months. One elderly man was injured when a walkway stole his car. Are you satisfied that the state is doing all it can to provide security for Northville residents while maintaining a psychiatric facility the state feels is not overly restrictive?

GOSS: I think the state is doing all that it can to operate a mental facility that is not too restrictive. I don't believe they're doing all they can to protect the safety of the local residents. This has been an issue in Northville for 18 years. It took 18 years to get a fence around the hospital, but the front of it is still not fenced. I have concerns about forensic patients in Northville State Hospital. If they are there, security has to be beefed up. We need to have a fence around the front; there needs to be more security people maintaining some type of safety for the residents — and for the patients, I might add. It isn't very safe for the patients to be walking down Seven Mile.

RECORD: Forensic patients really change the character of the whole institution, don't they?

GOSS: If there are forensic patients, yes, it'll change the character of the whole institution.

RECORD: (If elected) do you think you'll have more of an impact getting answers on forensic patients?

GOSS: If I'm elected, at least I'll have the ability to walk down the hall or across the street and get the information I need firsthand.

RECORD: The state's failure to return racetrack revenues to communities such as Northville has created considerable financial strain on those communities. Even though the governor's office has promised to return hundreds of thousands in racetrack revenues, does the initial delay signal a worrisome precedent? What steps would you take to ensure prompt return of racing revenues?

GOSS: I think it creates a precedent. I think the state has been known to hold back money that is due to local communities. They have no excuse not to pay the racetrack revenues to the City of Northville as they promised and as mandated to do. They've done the same thing to Northville Township and other townships in fire services reimbursements — they change that level of funding every year. I think they have a responsibility to return local money to local governments. They mandate services they do not pay for. Local government is the most efficient government. The state should not be playing games with our revenues.

RECORD: If you are elected, what steps could you take to buck that trend? You've seen it from a local government perspective.

Mill Race Matters

There is still a little time remaining to register for the few remaining summer workshops being held at Mill Race Village. Classes remaining include Quilting, Bonnet Making, Basket Making, Natural Cosmetics, Herbal Remedies, and Contra Dancing. Contact 348-1845 or 349-9005 for more information or to register.

The village continues to be open from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sunday afternoons through October. Summer is a great time to visit. You might even wish to bring a picnic lunch and enjoy a restful Sunday afternoon on the tranquil shores.

The "Stone Gang" has almost completed work at Cady. It now looks likely that the project will be completed by fall. The Archive Committee is hoping that they will be able to announce an opening sometime this fall. Volunteers interested in assisting in either of these projects or many others may again call the office at 348-1845 or 349-9005. The board is now seeking workers for a number of newly organized committees such as: publicity, education, grounds, docenting, Tivoli Fair, Progressive Dinner, Christmas Walk. Volunteer commitments can be as short or as long as you wish to make them. So think about your schedule and come forward to volunteer your time.

Last week we took the time to offer thanks to all of those who donated their afternoons working at Mill Race on July 4. We'd like to do that once again with special mention of Tom Swigart and Jan Juhasz who coordinated the event as well as Mr. and Mrs. Gary Sample who volunteered their vintage 1937 Ford truck for our use in the parade. Docents, paraders, entertainers, recreators, and many others helped to make our day a great success. Thanks again.

Goss cites experience in local issues

GOSS: As a legislator, I would have a voice on committees, and voting, and would be able to oversee what is happening.

RECORD: Please state your position on abortion. Are you in favor of a Supreme Court overturn of Roe vs. Wade? If individual states had the right to outlaw abortion, how would you vote?

GOSS: I have five children and seven grandchildren. I would not personally choose abortion; however, I do believe that in cases of rape, incest, AIDS-infected mothers, it should be a personal decision. I do not believe the government should be making personal decisions. My opinion on the abortion issue is that there are a number of different views. It is a very personal issue. When I am elected, on any vote, if an abortion issue came before me, I would certainly listen very closely to both sides. As a representative, I am charged with voting the views of my district.

RECORD: But you know there's a strong likelihood that this issue could be returned to the states in this decade. People have the right to know how their representative is going to vote.

GOSS: There's not a black-and-white answer to that. I think you have to treat each bill that would come before the Legislature separately, independently, and give it a great deal of thought before voting.

RECORD: Is (the abortion issue) something that people want to talk about as you campaign?

GOSS: I have been door-to-door — I can't even count the houses — and three people have asked me point blank, "Are you Right-to-Life or pro-choice?" I don't have a label and there has to be a middle road somewhere. I have not found it to be a major issue.

RECORD: What specific issues concern you most? Please outline your strategies for dealing with those issues.

GOSS: You have to look at quality-of-life issues; you have to look at traffic congestion, how roads are being maintained. You have to look at development. I think local communities should maintain control over development. I believe the state should be looking at preserving natural resources — spending more time making sure the DNR effectively protects resources . . .

RECORD: That's kind of ironic with the DNR cutbacks; you can't get ahold of them — you have as much trouble as we do. Do you think DNR staffing levels should be increased?

GOSS: Perhaps job performance should be reviewed regularly and job descriptions spelled out. Maybe take them out of the regulation business and put them in charge of preserving and maintaining natural resources. My feeling about the DNR is that they serve a need. However, if you cannot get to them, if they cannot move efficiently, as evidenced by two or three of our projects in Northville Township — the (Waterford) dam and D & T Construction — then they are a stumbling block. They're not helping us; they're not protecting our environment. They're hurting us.

As a local official, I have been frustrated by the state's ability to come in and do as they choose in so many areas. I think local destiny belongs in local government hands. They are the most responsive to the residents. The state has the power to come in — take the oil well issue; that was a mess — we had no local control. The state should be accountable to local government if they're going to come in and make some decision that's going to affect residents.

RECORD: What makes you uniquely qualified to hold the 36th District post? Why should voters pick you? What makes you better than the other candidates?

GOSS: I clearly have more experience than either of the other candidates. I have more leadership abilities. I have administrative experience. I have a solid record of public service. I have a record of accomplishments in Northville Township. I have been involved in public service for well over 10 years.

I would like to take my experience and serve the public in Lansing. I have the ability to work with diverse personalities and groups and bring them to consensus. I think that is a major part of a representative's job

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

WASHINGTON—A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete "hi-tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Researchers in Europe found that an ingredient in the aptly named produce Food Source One actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in intestinal absorption of calories.

While the development of Food Source One, a project of National Dietary Research, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the discovery has been a windfall for overweight people. A Daytona Beach, Florida woman fighting a weight battle for 12 years used the product on the recommendation of her physician Food Source One is available at:

and lost 30 pounds. She stated, "Not only have I lost 30 pounds, but my cholesterol has dropped from 232 to 143. I have two closets full of clothes which have not fit me in two years that I can now wear." In a separate report, a telephone interview revealed that a Wilmington, North Carolina pharmacist lost 14 pounds in 15 days on the product and was never hungry.

Food Source One is available through physicians and pharmacies without a prescription because it is not a drug and contains only natural ingredients already known to be safe. Copies of the referenced style are available free from National Dietary Research, Suite 553, 1377 K St., Washington, DC 20005, however, please include $2 Postage & Handling for each request.

REMEMBER THIS DATE?

To put into perspective just how long Lloyd and Mabel Johnson have been serving the area, we thought it would be interesting to go back in time to the date the first Whitehall Convalescent Home opened, July 20, 1951, and see what was being featured on Radio 16 - WAAM.

Actually WAAM was WHRV at that time. The station, which first went on the air in 1948, changed its call letters in 1962. It was purchased by Whitehall in 1983.

Enjoy!

On July 20, 1951 Lloyd and Mabel Johnson purchased a nursing home which had only two patients at 40875 Grand River Ave. near Novi. Lloyd's mother needed care at the time and came in as their third patient.

Mabel did the cooking and Lloyd carried the trays while holding down a job as a plumbing and heating contractor involved in school construction.

From that beginning, the company has grown in the past forty years to include three divisions: Whitehall Convalescent Homes and Home for the Aged, Whitehall Retirement Apartments and WAAM Radio in Ann Arbor.

Now with more than 200 employees, 215 beds in their 3 nursing facilities, and 212 retirement apartments, Lloyd and Mabel thought it was time to celebrate and hope you will join them.

Pictured is the original nursing home and the current Whitehall Home for the Aged. Built in 1867, it is the oldest building in Novi.

Whitehall - Novi, 43455 West 10 Mile Road, Novi

Whitehall - Novi was built in 93 days and when it opened in September, 1956, it was only the second new nursing home built in the State of Michigan. People from as far away as Arizona came to tour and examine its modern design. The original 40-bed facility has since doubled in size and now accommodates 82 residents.

Whitehall - Ann Arbor, 3370 Morgan Road, Ann Arbor

Whitehall - Ann Arbor was constructed in 1958 as a 40 bed facility. An additional 24 beds were added in 1959 and it reached its present capacity of 102 beds in 1962. The facility was the first private nursing home built in the Ann Arbor area. It was constructed on a 60 acre site that originally belonged to Mabel's parents who came to the area from Brookings, South Dakota.

Whitehall started its Florida developments in 1968. The retirement apartments constructed on America's suncoast rounded out a full-spectrum of services provided by Whitehall in offering the best in retirement facilities for the well-elderly. Currently Whitehall operates five units featuring 212 apartments in the St. Petersburg, Clearwater and Pinellas County area

Shores fiasco outlines system's fatal flaws

We've already spent a great deal of time and space venting frustration on this page over the developments, or lack thereof, in the never-ending dispute over the Shores of Northville. Even so, we feel the need for at least one more shot.

Late last week came the news that the criminal case on the site — five misdemeanor charges — had reached a resolution. The would-be Shores developer, D & T Construction and Vincent DiLorenzo, pleaded no contest to two of the charges in exchange for the others being dropped. He was fined $100,000.

It's good news, we suppose, that at least one part of this tangled tale resolved itself, although a dizzying web of civil lawsuits remains in the active files at Wayne County Circuit Court. Most recently, the future of the Shores clouded up again with the news that a sale of the troubled site may loom in the immediate future.

That may be the best news of all, if indeed it comes to fruition. Meanwhile, the situation thus far has turned into a case study of everything that's wrong with the systems which govern land development.

Does that sound like an overstatement? Maybe it is, but consider: The system essentially failed in three different ways on this development, and each contains its own special set of problems.

First, the network of ordinances and laws designed to regulate development and protect the land failed miserably. The oldest home in Northville Township fell to the bulldozers the very morning after someone wondered aloud at a township board meeting about saving it. The goal of tree protection got swept aside with the broom of "reclamation" of the land. A quiet country creek suffered an unnatural moving of its course, with disastrous results: The new route destroyed the back yard of an unsuspecting couple with extensive land erosion, even to the point of losing trees into the new stream. The law books are supposed to be written to prevent things like this; that didn't work.

Second, the system fell down on the repair job as well. Once these problems arose, they needed fixing — the creek diversion in particular. Of course, everyone's still waiting for that to happen. The Department of Natural Resources seems powerless to accomplish anything, or to force anyone else to do so — a feeling all too familiar from the drained Waterford Pond disaster. The township's hands are tied even tighter. It's all tangled up in a legal nightmare of lawsuits and counter-suits in the circuit court, and no resolution appears imminent. We're naive enough to picture an ideal world in which the criminal penalty assessed for the creek diversion would go directly to repair the damage. That's not going to happen, of course; if we're really lucky, it just might go into an overall environmental fund. Even if the penalty did go to repair the creek, however, it wouldn't be nearly enough money to do so.

Finally, the system has failed — is failing, will continue to fail — to deter similar action in the future. For a piece of land worth as much as the Shores site, the criminal penalty is just a $100,000 drop in a several-million-dollar bucket. It's no wonder some developers get reputations for operating with complete impunity; they can actually do so without any serious repercussions. What's to stop them? In the case of most developers, it's ethics, sound business practices and legitimate concern for the community. Most cases, but, like in any business, not all.

In short, the Shores of Northville site shows us a massive failure of the system, three times over. A sale of the land in the near future may resolve the problems of this particular case, but the system which gave rise to them will remain in place.

We certainly don't have the answer to the problem. But shouldn't everyone be looking for it?

What will happen next year?

With the Glorious Fourth still relatively fresh in everyone's mind, I wonder if it's already time to think about the Fourth of July 1992.

As I've said before, I have the highest regard for the amazing job done by the organizers of "Operation Welcome Home." They accomplished the impossible, and everything went well. The few snags — primarily gridlock after the fireworks — can be learning experiences.

The complaint about the running of the rally is, in my opinion, completely unjustified; I thought it went very smoothly. I don't think any favoritism was involved, and Paula Folino's singing was beautiful. The entire day was a rousing success.

But what happens next year?

Some people have wondered how this event can be duplicated. I think that's the wrong question to ask. This was a one-time deal in a lot of ways; it was "Operation Welcome Home" on top of, and in conjunction with, Independence Day. "Operation Welcome Home" is not an annual event; Independence Day is.

The organizers of "Operation Welcome Home" could not possibly be expected or asked to duplicate their efforts next year. People took leaves of absence from their jobs to get this year's celebrations together. That's not going to happen every year.

In the recent past, of course, "next year" wouldn't be much of an issue. The Jaycees would take care of it, with financial help from the township and the city.

That's not a sure thing any longer. I continue to hope that the Jaycees will rebound and be able to take charge again, but we can't count on it. In addition, with ever-tightening budgets at both the township and city halls — not to mention insurance worries — we can probably expect governmental participation to be limited at best.

There's also the serious question, assuming the community continues to have fireworks, of where to fire them off. The city police chief recently reported to the city council that the celebration has outgrown the high school site from perspectives of safety and traffic management.

Of course, that won't be a problem if there's no celebration in the first place. I hope to heaven that doesn't happen, but with the current situation it looks possible. I hope the community can find a way to keep our patriotic tradition alive forever.

Moral is not very reassuring

Saturday night a Novi man followed a woman for five miles flashing his lights, disappearing into side streets only to reappear moments later, and generally making a nuisance of himself. The woman, who has an old car that frequently stalls, was frightened.

She turned into a subdivision. He followed her. Making a quick turnaround in a cul-de-sac, the woman was able to get behind the burgundy Ford Tempo driven by the man. She got his license plate number, at which point he ended the pursuit.

The number drove to the Walled Lake Police Department to report the incident. She was surprised with her own level of fear. Never had her car seemed so unreliable. Never had this suburban-raised woman felt so close to real danger. She was shaking with fear and anger, but the police insisted her pursuer was within his legal rights.

She went to the Novi Police Department the next day where she was told basically the same story: Trailing a lone woman, flashing headlights at her, is not illegal. If her car had broken down and the man had threatened or assaulted her, something could be done. That she had felt threatened meant nothing. She was confused, but more than that she was scared.

I know because I am that woman.

I am confused about the unwillingness of the Novi and Walled Lake police to pursue the matter. The Novi police sergeant who took a report on the incident told me he wished the Novi city ordinance prohibited such behavior, but as the law stands what the Tempo driver did was not illegal.

But in Northville Township a man was arrested and charged in May with violating the township's disorderly conduct ordinance after a similar incident. Township police Capt. Philip Presnell said the arrest was made based on a provision in township ordinance prohibiting "worrying and pursuing" a driver. But he said similar provisions can be found in state law. The township is dedicated to preventing this type of harassment, Presnell said. "We definitely do something about that sort of thing," he said.

Novi Crime Prevention Officer Robert Gatt said he's surprised the township would attempt to enforce such an ordinance. "Nobody has a right to scare anybody, but whether it's against the law is another matter. I believe in this country I have the right to drive wherever I want and that includes following you."

So take this as a warning, local women. There is a burgundy Ford Tempo driver among you that is more than a little weird. Walled Lake police told me he is a Novi resident. And if he follows you, it might be wise to head toward Northville Township and hope your car doesn't break down on the way.

Tax sharing is not the answer

To the editor:
Tax sharing laws, or redistributive laws, are the worst. They attract interest groups, lobbying groups, and those who would benefit from them to make sure they get "their share" of the loot, or to make sure they don't pick up the tab. These laws take from one group (as the legislators see fit) and give to another group.

Another name for them are nest-feathering laws. Somebody's nest gets the feathers from the plucked taxpayer(s), or one group gets the nest and the other gets the bird. The ones not complaining are those districts who will benefit from this law. These major tax inequities where those districts taxed can see no measurable benefit, to redistribute wealth from the haves to the have-nots, to the plucker from the pluckee is just plain B.S.!

I have as much sympathy as anyone else for those districts in trouble, but we must not let our sympathy lead us into an act of injustice on the other districts. Each district receives its fair share of aid; I was not aware that our government owes more to some districts. You cannot, without the grossest corruption, appropriate this money as aid owed to those districts. You have not the semblance of authority to appropriate it as charity. You have the right to give as much of your own money as you please. The government ought to have no more than enough money for legitimate purposes. The power of collecting and disbursing money at pleasure is the most dangerous power that can be entrusted to man, especially under our system of collecting revenue by taxes, which reaches every man no matter how poor he is, and the poorer he is the more he pays in proportion to his means.

What's worse is that there is not a man who can guess how much he pays to the government. So while you are contributing to relieve some, you are drawing from thousands, some of which are as worse if not more than they are. If you have the right to give anything, the amount should come from your pockets. You have as much right to give $20,000,000 as $20,000. If you have the right to give to some, you have the right to give to all.

And the Constitution neither defines charity nor stipulates the amount; you are at liberty to give to any and everything which you may believe is a charity, and to any amount you may think proper. This opens too wide of a door for fraud, corruption, and favoritism on the one hand, and for robbing the people on the other. No, you have no right to give charity. Individual members may give as much of their own money as they please, but you have not the right to touch a dollar of the public's money for that purpose.

Accusations over sewers are incredible

To the editor:

This letter is in response to Mr. Edward J. McNeely's letter in the July 4 edition. His accusations are absolutely incredible, especially from a person who was the former Township Engineer.

There are three ways a homeowner may acquire sanitary service in Northville Township. 1. The sewer is put in by the developer, and its cost is included in the price of the home. 2. Landowners petition for a sewer for a specific area. This petition must be signed by taxpayers who represent at least 51 percent of the land area requesting sanitary sewer service. This will result in a Special Assessment District (SAD), and the costs will be allocated to those receiving this benefit. 3. A sanitary sewer is installed by the Township on its own initiative with costs being recovered through tap-in fees. This includes areas to be served by the WTUA (Western Townships Utility Authority) sewer.

Now to address Mr. McNeely's accusations:

1. Assessments are on the tax rolls for Gary and Alice Bohr, Roy Mattison, Leonard Brooks, Temple Baptist Church, Ward Presbyterian Church, and Haggerty Hill Ltd. because they are part of a legally requested SAD, and sewer service is available to them. (This district was originally drawn up by Mr. McNeely when he was the Township Engineer.)

2. No assessments are on the tax rolls for Richard E. Allen, Robert A. Heintz, D&T Construction, Huntington Falls, BFI Waste System, Crestwood Manor, and Hickory Creek. Currently Richard E. Allen and Robert A. Heintz will not receive any benefit from the WTUA sewer until such time as laterals are put in to service their area (this sewer is currently one mile and 1/4-mile away respectively.) They will then pay their share of WTUA sewer at the time benefit is made directly available to them. BFI costs for the WTUA sewer were recently covered in detail in The Northville Record. Huntington Falls, Crestwood Manor, and Hickory Creek currently have access to an existing sewer.

It has been and is a clear policy of Northville Township that no taxpayer pays twice for sanitary service. He pays when the sewer is made available, not before! Township residents pay for benefits received, not benefits perceived. Since Mr. McNeely was the Township Engineer, this should come as no surprise.

High school band missing from parade

To the editor:

What a shame, the Northville High School marching band opts not to march in the Fourth of July Parade, the most important celebration of our country.

We as adults bend over backwards to pay our school taxes and give our children everything their hearts desire and what do they give in return? They will never know the disappointments they dish out until the day they are parents themselves. Their attitude seems to be, "You owe us everything, we owe you nothing!"

Every parade needs marching bands to be a success.

Marge Lenheiser

Editor's note: According to school officials, it is impossible to gather enough band members together to perform during the summer.

Ceremony seemed very disorganized

To the editor:

I am writing about the terrible direction of the "Fourth of July Welcome Home Ceremony" that took place at Northville Downs. In my 15 years in the entertainment industry, I have never seen so much disorganization and unprofessionalism in a production.

First, after auditioning, I was told I would be singing the opening and closing of the ceremony. However, during the ceremony, most of my parts were pre-empted, with no notice, by a City Councilman's daughter. How can you celebrate our nation's independence and democracy while completely disregarding the democratic process of auditions? I see no reason why an audition was held if the councilman's daughter was going to sing regardless of the results.

Secondly, in her introduction, the councilman's daughter's past achievements were elaborated on, whereas I was introduced solely by name. My accompanist was not even mentioned.

Finally, there was no program or schedule. After the announcement that "Ms. Councilman" would be singing the "Star Spangled Banner," she proceeded with "America the Beautiful," which I was told to sing. Although I enjoy this song, the production was redundant.

I realize no show can be expected to run flawlessly, but I feel the last-minute changes and complete lack of professionalism made the entire afternoon's proceedings a complete farce.

Fourth of July underlines message

There it all was on one tractor hauler, donated by a caring citizen, decorated by Northville Action Council families and now carrying some 30 people, age 6 to 60, with a message emblazoned on the vehicle, on the passengers' faces, as well as their hearts and minds. The message is that illegal drugs are not good for our children or our adults. They ruin dreams and destroy lives a bit at a time or all at once. There it all was on one tractor trailer... drugs are not cool!

The beauty of the event, the Fourth of July parade through downtown Northville, welcoming the troops from all wars, feeling good about being alive and knowing that these kids and adults carrying the banners were from SADD (Students Against Driving Drunk) and the Northville Action Council, programs whose goals are to educate and keep people safe from alcohol and other drugs.

To see the hundreds of kids' faces looking at the messages on the float which condemned child abuse and drug abuse, many would ask their parents what the messages meant. Many of these kids will begin figuring out the place or non-place of alcohol and other illegal drugs in their lives. Hopefully, many of the parents will question their own habits and help these kids to lead drug-free lifestyles.

You see, I sincerely believe that parents have the greatest say in whether kids use. It may seem at times like a losing battle, but no matter how bleak the control issues seem, it's still "my mom and/or my dad" that I listen to if, and I underline if, there is still any relationship at all. Kids need role models; they need adults who care and stick with them. They need adults who are strict when strictness is called for and loving when it's needed. Teens and adults need to strike a balance but teens need to know they rarely are left in charge or given all the responsibility until they have earned it.

There it all was on one float, kids and adults walking in unison for a common goal, saving and restoring the lives of our kids and our families. Many thousands saw the float that day and, hopefully, for some the message was urgent enough to start growth and change. "Don't drink and drive," "Friends don't let friends drive drunk," "Report child abuse," changes are happening in good old Northville.

You see, Northville is a proactive community when it comes to these issues! Why wait until we have crack dealers on our corners to take a stand? Our community is like any other. There are those who use and abuse and that will never end. What can end is our ignorance about the issues and what needs to be done in our very own homes.

Many thanks to our school administration, a supportive school board, and a fine leader and individual Dave Bolitho, principal of Northville High School. The connections between community programs such as the Northville Action Council and local treatment/education programs as well as the schools/faculty/staff/students have increased in such a positive way.

The community needs to know that there are programs in place in the community and in the schools to work toward our goal. "The choice for me, drug free."

For further information about support groups in the high school and/or community programs, call me at 349-1825, Northville High School. It may well be the most important 20 cents you have spent. If you think you have a problem, it's never too early to ask. Call today!

Recent power failures have made us wonder what to do during ...

The EDGE of DARKNESS

By CRISTINA FERRIER and JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writers

What do you do when the lights go out?

OK, don't answer that. But what do you do for entertainment when the power goes out?

A large number of area residents were faced with that question last week when a major electric storm July 7 knocked out power to homes all over the Northville and Novi areas. Some people were still without power on Friday.

Life without power poses challenges. At first it may be a little exciting — after all, we are survivors. We can live like the pilgrims. They didn't need electricity, so neither do we, right?

Maybe. But as the milk turns sour in the warm refrigerator, most people begin to feel frustration. Worse yet, they begin to feel an intense sense of boredom.

Without television, without a VCR, without even a lava lamp, what can you do for entertainment?

It can be an even greater challenge if there are small children at home. But Korene Jett of "A Growing Place" child care center in Novi said a power outage can be a good time for children with the right activities.

"It's a good time for cuddling, telling stories, singing songs, or sharing family history," she said. "It's a great opportunity to play 'camping' in the living room."

Many people deal with the problem by leaving home. There's always someplace to go where the electricity works.

One place that didn't lose power last week was Twelve Oaks Mall. Phil Morosco, general manager, said mall attendance did seem to be up.

"I'm sure we had more people coming to the center because of the air conditioning and going out to eat," he said. "That doesn't necessarily translate to sales but it is a nice place to relax and do some window shopping."

Local libraries also experienced an increase in people.

Lynne Hirschelman, an associate at the Northville Public Library, said usage seems to be up. "And we certainly have had a lot of people coming in and checking out books, saying they have no power."

Betty Prost, head of circulation for the Novi Public Library, was not sure whether the storm was a factor.

"Yes, the library use is up," she said. "Whether it's the outage or the children's programs, I'm not sure. I have heard of a couple of people reading out loud by flashlight."

And there's plenty more to do. It's time to fall back on your own natural resources. Create your own entertainment. Prove your imagination has a pioneering spirit.

You can talk to each other. That's what they used to do in the old days. But, let's face it. After a while, there's nothing left to talk about.

So here are some other suggestions for entertainment without electrical power:

1. Cook outdoors on the grill to use up all that frozen meat. In fact, while you're at it, better use up all that frozen ice cream, too. Don't bother eating it with a spoon. Use a shovel.
2. Take lots of long walks with the family and dogs. Try not to walk past the mailman's house.
3. Brush up on sales skills. Convince someone they'd really like to buy a house full of cockroaches.
4. Read out loud — with bravissimo. Stanislawski would approve.
5. Put on a play. All you need are a few hand-held footlights. The worse actors you are, the better.
6. Follow the example of Abraham Lincoln and study by candlelight. He grew up to be president. Dan Quayle only grew up to be vice-president.
7. Stand under your loved one's window and serenade him or her. Try to avoid the projectiles others might fling in your direction.

8. Eat some more food. There's probably some chip dip in there. Don't let it go bad.

9. Tell ghost stories. ("Johnny, I want my television baaaaack...")

10. Play hide and go seek. Hide Dad's wallet, then sit back and watch all the fun while he tries to find it.

11. Go Christmas caroling in July.

12. Paint a T-shirt with glow-in-the-dark paints.

13. Listen to the sounds of the house. You'll discover many noises you don't normally hear. Hopefully you won't discover mice.

14. Introduce yourself to your next-door neighbor (especially if they have power).

15. Turn into a neighborhood gossip. Gotta have something to replace the soap operas.

16. Eat more food.

17. Turn your basement into a haunted house.

18. Play charades. Or Pictionary. Or not.

19. Create a list of silly subjects and write them on slips of paper. Have each person draw a slip and then wax wise and pontificate.

20. Play flashlight games. All-time favorite: shine the flashlight in your mouth and the light will come out your nose.

Group works to save Novi's historic past

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

Before it's too late — before much of Novi's historical past gets neglected, boarded up, or even torn down to make way for new buildings or wider thoroughfares — Loretta Buffa, as a City Council-appointed member of the Novi Historic District Study Committee, is doing something about it.

She said the committee has "divided the city into three groups" and assigned each group to two members, who are to do preliminary research and take pictures of buildings which seem to be of historical significance.

The area which she and her partner are concerned with is bounded by Eight and Ten Mile Roads and Napier and Haggerty, and they already have some information on the following sites: the Town Hall, dated 1914; Lincoln Place at 47122 West Nine Mile, built about 1838; Sam White House at 46040 and 46010 West Nine Mile, built about 1838; Thornton House at 43180 West Nine Mile, built in 1931, but it has a downstairs fireplace with a cornerstone dated 1877; and the Johnson Home at 21937 Novi Road between Eight and Nine Mile, built in 1832.

Committee members have not yet contacted any owners of historically interesting property, but they expect to do so soon in the hope of obtaining more historical information.

Then eventually, Buffa said, "We hope to have an education meeting of owners who have shown an interest in saving their heritage."

And ultimately the committee wants to apply to the state to have an area in Novi designated as historical. "It has to be contiguous pieces of property, not just isolated pieces."

As for a time limit on this project, she answered, "Maybe we'll get it done in two years."

But whenever they're through, Loretta Buffa said, "It will be nice to drive around in Novi and see all these nice homes."

Christine Price, 10, really gets into her lines at Star Camp

Marquis Theatre 'Star Camp' offers two special public sessions

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

The Marquis Theatre, well-known for its children's theater programs, has opened its exclusive "Star Camp" to the public for two sessions this summer.

According to Inge Zayti, owner of the theater, Star Camp started two years ago but was never open to the public. Instead, it was a special invitation-only program for outstanding students.

Zayti said she is offering the opportunity to intermediate-level young actors to apply for the camp this year so that more children can have a chance to experience the college-level theater program.

Open to kids age 10 to 15, Star Camp offers pure acting and scene work. Participants work on scenes from the plays "Little Women," "The Children's Hour," "Peter Pan," "Hedda," "The Miracle Worker," and "The parents couldn't believe how good their kids are. They said they didn't know their kids could do that."

INGE ZAYTI
Owner/Director, Marquis Theatre

Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet."

The students also work with pantomime, set building and costume design.

The current session ends this Friday. Additional sessions will be held July 22 to Aug. 3 and Aug. 12 to Aug. 24. Sessions meet Monday through Friday from 6 to 9 p.m.

"The children are allowed to pick their own scenes," Zayti explained. "They work on costumes and sets, learn to set their own stage and choose props," so that participants gain an all-around theater experience.

In addition, students learn audition techniques so they can have a better chance at the best roles.

"A good audition is 75 percent of getting the part," Zayti explained.

Many children who have studied at the Marquis Theatre have gone on to do commercials and movie "extra" roles, she added.

Several Marquis Theatre students recently participated in a Michigan Opera Theatre production, and eventually were chosen by the opera theater to tour northern Michigan with the performance.

Star Camp participants also have professional-quality photos taken to be kept on file, Zayti added, because local talent agencies often call her, looking for young actors and actresses.

Because Star Camp can lead to working with professional actors, she said, another part of the sessions includes learning to behave in a professional manner, both on and off the stage.

Star Camp sessions end with a showcase performance for parents and friends.

"At the last showcase, parents couldn't believe how good their kids are," Zayti said proudly. "They said they didn't know their kids could do that."

For information about applying for the Star Camp sessions, call the Marquis Theatre at 349-8110.

Nearly 900 graduates were included in the Class of 1991 at Lawrence Technological University. Area residents who received degrees this June from Lawrence Technological University are MICHAEL H. CARLSON and JODIE L. SHIKE.

ROBERT NEIL of Northville was named to Hillsdale College's dean's list for the second semester of the 1990-91 school year.

The dean's list is made up of all students who achieved grade-point averages of 3.4 or better out of a possible 4.0 points.

CHRISTOPHER JEANNOTTE, KENNET NEAL, and MARY WIDAK, all of Northville, were named to the dean's list for the spring term at Northwood Institute. The announcement was made by Catherine Chen, dean of the college.

To achieve dean's list recognition, students must earn a 3.0 grade point on a 4.0 scale.

Town Hall funds go to various groups

Profits from the series were down this year, according to Sue Korte, publicity chair, but $1,950 was distributed to the following organizations and projects:

Salem Train Wreck killed 30

Salem Township, a sleepy little farm community just west of Northville, gained notoriety in the early part of this century when it became the site of one of the most disastrous train wrecks in the area's history.

What became known as "The Great Salem Train Wreck" occurred on July 20, 1907. A Pere Marquette passenger train heading east from Ionia crashed head-on with a westbound freight train, causing over 30 deaths and over 100 injuries.

The crash was reported in length in The Northville Record for several weeks, from front page coverage to editorials and more. Descriptions of railroad cars "smashed into kindling wood" and passengers "penned in like rats in a trap" grimly decorated the first tragic reports of the crash.

The crash "had all the horrors of . . . war," cried The Record, which called it, "one of the most terrible catastrophes in railroad history."

Certainly, at a time when the railroad was the most popular and convenient mode of public transportation, this disaster would be foremost in the thoughts of many citizens.

The causes for the Salem crash were, sadly but not surprisingly, the result of human error. In fact, the remorseful conductor of the freight train, William Hamilton, assumed full responsibility for the incident. He was immediately placed under arrest, but later inquiries showed that "a crooked line of dots in the . . . orders carried by the crew of the freight train" was determined to have been a primary cause of the tragedy.

The Northville Record stated: "Four men — the conductor, engineer, fireman and brakeman — all read this order 'Salem 9:25,' when it should have read 'Salem 9:10.' This was due to the fact that the figures do not align with the names of the stations, the 'leader' line from name to figures running askant and bringing them almost directly opposite the line above that for which they are intended.

"This misreading of the orders gave the train crew confidence to believe they had time to unload two cars of gravel, when they had not."

In a formal inquest held in Northville's Princess Skating Rink, according to The Record of July 26, 1907, "three cases of carelessness" were involved in the cause of the wreck: "(1) Conductor Hamilton and his engineer of the freight did not exercise sufficient care in reading their orders; (2) that Operator Sayers of Plymouth made an extremely careless copy of the order making it easily misunderstood . . . ; (3) that Train Dispatcher Bonnell was negligent of his duty in not calling the operator at Salem by 9:05 (five minutes before the excursion train was due) . . ."

Northville Township's Justice of the Peace C.M. Joslin was appointed justice for the case. After more than a week of testimonies and hearings, the case was decided: no one individual was held to blame for the tragedy, though the Pere Marquette Railroad took the initiative in firing Conductor Hamilton and his engineer.

Rather, the entire crew of the freight train, the operators who wrote and delivered the orders and the dispatch system itself were all equally put at fault for the disaster.

In his editorial, Northville Record Editor F.S. Neal was quite matter-of-fact over the terrible calamity, philosophically commenting that "Accidents will happen . . . They are bound to occur. All that can be done is to throw all the safe guards possible around to reduce the chances of loss of life to the lowest possible limits.

Borders sings blues on Saturday

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Blues musician Robert Jones will perform a free concert at Borders Book Shop in Novi this Saturday as part of the store's third anniversary celebration.

A popular local blues singer and guitarist, Jones performed at last year's Northville Folk and Bluegrass Festival and this year's Ann Arbor Folk Festival.

The musician also hosts the Blues From the Lowlands program on WDET-FM and directs the Detroit Radio Information Service (DRIS), the radio station's closed-circuit reading service for the blind and print-handicapped. A portion of the book sales on July 20 will be donated to DRIS.

Jones will perform at 7 p.m. July 20, said Borders Publicity Coordinator Wanda Freeman. "He's going to get a couple of his friends together, unnamed at this point, and they're going to jam," she said.

Freeman said Jones was a natural choice for the bookstore's third anniversary celebration. "We have been a longtime sponsor of WDET... and we have made a concerted effort, especially this year, to support the station," she said. Bookstore employees assisted in this year's fund-raising drive by WDET, and the store matches employee contributions to the station.

Because several of the store's employees are big fans of the blues, Freeman added, "The option of going to Robert Jones for a blues program really got a lot of people excited."

While Borders holds events all year long, this month's calendar of events is unusual in its diversity and the scale of the performances and performers.

"I guess what distinguishes this month from any other month is that these are really large-scale events, and we're making a point of using them to celebrate the third anniversary," Freeman said. "This is a way to give something back to the community."

Other special events at Borders include last Sunday's concert by the Chenille Sisters, and an upcoming appearance by children's entertainer O.J. Anderson.

Blues singer Robert Jones will appear at Borders in Novi this Saturday.

Are you a survivor of Pearl Harbor?
Were you there when the Japanese planes dropped their bombs on the fleet of ships based in Honolulu on December 7, 1941?

Are you a relative of one of the 2,403 service men and women killed in Hawaii on that day, the day that the United States became an official part of World War II?

If you can answer yes to any of those questions, you will want to know about the preparations being made for the 50th anniversary commemoration of Pearl Harbor in December 1991. The commemoration will begin Wednesday, Dec. 4, and will culminate with special services aboard the USS Arizona Memorial on the morning of Dec. 7.

Pearl Harbor survivors, and the families of those who died there on that day, will be the special guests throughout the week's events. They will be given the first seats on the shuttle boat that runs to the memorial Dec. 7, even if that means that you and I must stay behind.

The USS Arizona Memorial is operated by the National Park Service in conjunction with the United States Navy. The memorial structure spans the sunken battleship USS Arizona. A shuttle boat runs regularly between the memorial and the shoreline Visitor Center.

The Center is off the Kamehameha Highway, State Highway 99. Visitors typically start arriving early in the morning to avoid lineups, because they are allowed into the center in groups, identified by the number of tickets given out over a particular period of time.

A National Park Service Ranger gives a brief talk before leading visitors into the theater for a documentary film on the Pearl Harbor attack. You will see the Japanese planes launch their surprise attack at 7:55 a.m., and the 1,760-pound armor-piercing bomb that hit when the Arizona exploded at 8:10 a.m.

The Oklahoma rolled over after the torpedos hit. The California and the West Virginia sank at their moorings. The Utah capsized. The Maryland, Pennsylvania and Tennessee were damaged. The Nevada was the only battleship that got away intact. Groups then board the shuttle operated by the U.S. Navy for the short run to the memorial.

The white curved sides of the memorial actually form a grave marker for the servicemen who died defending the USS Arizona on that December Sunday in 1941.

As a special tribute to the ship and its lost crew, the navy permits the American flag to fly daily from the flagpole attached to the severed mainmast of the sunken ship.

If you are a survivor of Pearl Harbor, there are people who want to hear from you. Contact Joe Niemitz at the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association, 3346 Manoa Road, Honolulu, Hawaii, 96822 or telephone (808) 988-2025.

Please contact me as well. We are planning a story about Pearl Harbor in the fall and would like to include survivors and their families. Send a postcard to 22000 Springbrook, Suite 206C, Farmington Hills, MI 48336.

The march of the Peabody ducks

By IRIS SANDERSON JONES
Travel Writer

The hum of voices gets louder as the moment arrives. They'll be here soon, stepping out of the elevator, following the red carpet into the glare of flashguns.

"What time are they coming?"
"They're supposed to be here at 11."
Suddenly the music starts, the King Cotton March. Heads turn. Voices drop to a whisper. "Here they come!"

The clue was the sound of the elevator door opening, where the carpet disappears around the corner. And here they come, one by one, the teal-feathered drake in the lead, the four mallard hens behind, five ducks marching down the red carpet between rows of admiring fans, with Duck Master Keith Lauby right behind.

He didn't learn that at King's Island or Sea World of Ohio.

The Peabody Ducks march down the red carpet to the fountain in the lobby of the Peabody Hotel every morning exactly at 11 a.m., spend their day in the elegant lobby fountain and march back down the carpet to the elevator every evening at exactly 5 p.m., so that they can spend the night in their $100,000 Royal Duck Palace beside the tennis courts on the fourth floor.

The March of the Peabody Ducks began in Memphis in the 1930s, when hunters typically used live ducks as decoys, known as "call ducks." The general manager of what is now the Peabody Memphis came home from a hunting trip one day and put his call ducks in the lobby fountain as a prank.

The guests loved the joke. In 1940 the Peabody Memphis hired former Ringling Brothers animal handler Edward Pembroke to formalize the duck march. He is 82 now and is still the Duck Master in Memphis.

When the 27-floor Peabody Orlando was opened in 1986, five of the Memphis ducks came with the staff—"we must preserve the Peabody breed"—and started their own lineage.

Enter Keith Lauby, raised in Cleveland, graduated from Ohio State with a Bachelor of Science in Wildlife Biology, veteran of the Wild Animal Habitat at King's Island and Animal Care Specialist at Sea World Ohio.

"I saw an ad in the paper for a Duck Master so I answered it to satisfy my curiosity," he said. He has been managing the ducks ever since, supervising the breeding program at the farm just out of town, where the original five ducks and their descendants now number 30.

Lauby has been through two generations. "These ducks are not pets. We don't give them names. They're trained, but they still do everything that ducks do in the wild."

"Ducks are very color conscious and the drake thinks I'm his competition when I wear my green jacket," Lauby says, laughing. "He has had his head down in a defensive position several times, because he thinks I'm trying to lure his females away from him!"

The Peabody Ducks continue all their other mating rituals too, so guests are sometimes startled to see them mating in the fountain. They are not potty-trained and they are very territorial, so they stay in the fountain most of the time. Observant guests notice that a housekeeper approaches the fountain every 15 minutes or so to clean up what the ducks have left behind.

"The water is changed daily; it is not recycled," Lauby says.

"People come to see the ducks but I love to see the people. We have a lot of conventions here so there's the guy in his $800 Italian suit standing beside the red carpet laughing right along with the two-year-olds."

If you've seen the crowds and the flashing cameras on television during the Oscar ceremonies, you get a taste of what happens at the Peabody Memphis and the Peabody Orlando twice every day.

Fanfare. The King Cotton March. People crowding both sides of a red carpet that leads from the elevator to the elegant lobby fountain.

"Here they come! Here they come!"

The ducks waddle grandly down the carpet, the Duck Master in his green gold-braided jacket right behind them. Cameras click and explode with light.

When the ducks climb up the red-carpeted steps to the fountain, past the sign that says "please don't feed the ducks," the audience breaks into applause.

The ducks are used to this royal adulation. They don't pay any attention. They swim in the fountain, or march around its marble lip, for the rest of the day, until the King Cotton March plays again.

Duck Master Keith Lauby guides his feathered friends at the Peabody Orlando, a four-diamond, four-star hotel in Orlando.

Rural Horton offers 'getaway' packages

By PHYLLIS KREGER STILLMAN
Special Writer

A weekend in the country. Frazzled by the hectic pace of everyday life, getting away for a day or two of rest and relaxation appeals to many of us. But we don't know where to go and we don't have the time to plan our escape.

Raymond and Cynthia Holland, who own Billingsgate, a fabulous restaurant in rural Horton about 15 miles southwest of Jackson, have heard this before. They have put together an overnight package with local bed and breakfasts so people can experience a relaxing getaway, and dinner at Billingsgate, without having to increase their stress level to plan the trip.

Billingsgate—the name conjures up the image of a wealthy family's estate, set back in the woods, surrounded by a high, wrought-iron fence. The restaurant resembles that estate, and dining there is like being invited by the family (which happens to have a wonderful chef) as guests for dinner.

There is a reason why patrons feel like guests. "This is a passion that both Ray and I have. We've put a lot of love into this place, and we want to see people enjoy it," explains Cynthia Giles Holland, who was born and raised in Dearborn.

Billingsgate is housed in what used to be a church. Stained glass windows dominate both ends of the dining room. The furnishings are mostly antiques, but not just any antiques. They are the Holland's own collection, as well as antiques inherited from their grandparents.

You seldom wait for a table. As a general rule, each table is reserved for only one party per evening. "It's all part of our philosophy of a special evening. It's the kind of place where you can relax and forget the world," says Ray Holland, who has lived in several southeastern Michigan communities including Canton and Milford.

The menu, which changes every month, is somewhat eclectic. "We wanted to give people a mix between classic French and comfort food," says Cynthia, who is head chef.

Dinner is five courses, with a set price of $25 per person, plus tax and 15 percent gratuity. It was quite a dinner. A choice of three appetizers: country pate, mushrooms burgundy or cream of vegetable soup. A house salad or a Caesar salad. A choice of three entrees: beef wellington, amaretto shrimp or chicken breast in phyllo.

And three desserts: a meringue shell filled with ice cream, cheesecake or a densely chocolate creation called "chocolate suicide" which was so good we decided it should be called "chocolate reason to live." The meal ended with a specially blended hazelnut coffee which is good enough all by itself to insure a return visit.

Everything was beautifully presented and perfectly prepared, with staff continuing to make diners, like Shirley Gegge of Troy, feel like special guests. "Very personal service. I asked them to make a variation on the dessert, and they did. I was also impressed that the chef came out to talk with us," said Gegge.

I also was very impressed with the service. On one of my visits to Billingsgate I ran out of gas and had to coast into a parking space. I told the staff about my problem, and someone went down the street to buy gas for my car, put it in the car, and even started the engine to make sure everything was all right.

Horton, where Billingsgate is located, is a small, out-of-the-way, rural community, which is one of the reasons Ray Holland put together an overnight package with several area bed-and-breakfast inns.

"We had a lot of people staying at bed and breakfasts in the area, and we were getting a lot of calls from people who were an hour away from here, wanting to know where to stay."

"The reason we put together the limo package was that a lot of people are from the city and don't want to drive on the country roads at night. Also, if we provide the transportation to and from the bed and breakfast, it would make an event out of it," explains Holland.

The package is $225 for a Friday night, $235 for Saturday. It includes a champagne and fruit basket upon arrival at the B-&-B of your choice, a limousine to drive you back and forth to Billingsgate, dinner at the restaurant, and breakfast at the B-&-B in the morning.

If you don't want the limousine, make the bed and breakfast reservations on your own at the Grist Mill in Homer (517) 568-4063; Suttons Weed Farm in Hudson (517) 547-6302; the Munro House in Jonesville (517) 849-9292; the Chicago Street Inn in Brooklyn, (517) 592-3888. They are all within a 30-minute drive of Billingsgate; their average rate is $65 per night per couple for bed and breakfast.

Shirley Gegge and her husband stayed at Suttons Weed Farms, which has been owned by the same family since 1873.

My friend and I also stayed at one of the B-&-Bs used in the package—The Grist Mill Inn in nearby Homer. Our stay there was so pleasant, we lingered over a fabulous gourmet breakfast until 2 in the afternoon.

Billingsgate is open only on weekends, and dinner is by reservation only. Reservations are taken for 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and 3-7 p.m. on Sunday. Call toll-free (800) THE-GATE for reservations.

Locals play in major event

The International Summer Special Olympic Games will be a week of firsts and possibly lasts for 6,000 athletes, including two soccer players from Northville.

The eighth International Games begin tomorrow in Minneapolis, and Northville athletes Colleen Beyer and Kevin Schrot will be there.

Tomorrow they fly with 74 Michigan athletes and 25 Michigan coaches to Minnesota, where they will compete with athletes from 90 countries. It may be the last time the event is held in America.

Schrot, 31, and Beyer, 19, got involved with the Special Olympics while in school. They have competed in the Michigan Special Olympics in the past, but this year will be the first time they have made it to the international level.

Their 15-member team is organized by the Northwest Association of Retarded Citizens.

Practicing for the Olympics has been something of a problem, according to Colleen's mother, Carolyn Beyer.

Team members are enthusiastic and ready to practice, Carolyn said. But potential opponents have shied away.

"It's just too hot," she said. Soccer has only been part of the Special Olympics program in Michigan for three years. Both Schrot and Beyer have participated in other sports.

Schrot, who says he is in the best shape of his life, said swimming is his favorite sport.

Beyer enjoys baseball. Both agree their soccer opponents will have a good game ahead of them next week.

But winning and losing is not the most important part of the Special Olympics, Carolyn Beyer said.

"They'll win no matter what because they will have such a good time," she said.

And win or lose, Colleen and Kevin will have a lot of support next week.

Five family members will drive from Michigan to see Beyer play in Minnesota. Three family members will make the trek to see Schrot play. "Hundreds of thousands" of supporters are expected in all, Carolyn Beyer said.

But the athletes will not be driving with their families. They will fly in Cessna Citation jets as part of an airlift funded by businesses.

The airlift, organized by Cessna Aircraft Co., will fly almost 1,500 Special Olympians from 28 cities in 21 states and the District of Columbia to the games.

Planes will arrive in St. Paul,

Minn., every two or three minutes during an eight-hour period tomorrow. This is the second Cessna airlift; the first was in 1987.

Athletes will be identifiable in the masses of people expected to attend. Teams will wear matching clothes at all times.

Michigan's soccer team has chosen navy blue and green clothes to show its equal allegiance to Michigan's two largest universities. The University of Michigan's colors are maize and blue.

In Michigan, about 20,000 athletes participate in 13 official Special Olympics sports.

Organizers may move the event out of the U.S. in the future to make the event truly international.

The change would result in fewer American participants. Currently, about 100 athletes participate in the International Special Olympics from each state. If the event was moved overseas, 100 athletes probably would represent the entire country, said Kevin's mother, Bonnie Schrot.

Local tourney features top talent

Despite downed trees, scattered branches, and leafy debris following the destructive Sunday night electrical storm, 259 of the country's best junior golfers gathered at Meadowbrook Country Club in Northville on Monday, July 8, to compete in the eighth annual Great Lakes Junior Masters Golf Tournament.

Mantle squad ups record to 12-6 last week

The Northville Mickey Mantle team raised its record to 12-6 at the end of a busy week with a double-header sweep of Southfield on July 13.

In game one, Northville used three pitchers to keep Southfield in check by a final score of 9-2.

Steve Christianson pitched three innings, allowing one run and notching strikeouts; Tom Busard allowed one run and had three strikeouts; and Joe Staknis pitched one inning, striking out one. Defense played a very strong game.

Northville had a very balanced scoring attack throughout the game, with seven players scoring the nine runs.

Northville started the game with a pair of runs. Neil Yackle started with a single, scoring on Christianson's RBI double. Chuck Apligian then added an RBI single. Southfield narrowed the gap to 2-1 in the second when they scored a run on four walks.

Northville scored three in the third inning. Jerry Birdsall led off with a single. Staknis walked, and then Christianson drove in Birdsall on a towering pop up misplayed by Southfield's left fielder. Staknis scored on Apligian's RBI ground out. Christianson scored on Scott Hartsough's sacrifice fly.

Northville added another run in the fifth and sixth innings. In the fifth, Staknis led off with a single, followed by an Eric Shaw single and Apligian drove in his third RBI with a single. In the sixth, Busard led off with a single. Yackle and Mike Barzantry walked and Eric Shaw had an RBI single.

Southfield cut the score to 7-2 in its half of the sixth, with two walks and two singles.

In the seventh, Northville closed out the scoring when Kevin Shaw reached base on a fielder's choice. Matt Ambroziak walked, and Nick Baughman had an RBI double. Busard knocked in Ambroziak with an RBI single.

In the nightcap, it took eight innings for Northville to edge Southfield 11-10.

Tom Busard pitched two innings, allowing two runs (one earned) with one strikeout. Joe Staknis came in the third in relief, allowing eight runs (three earned) with three strikeouts.

Northville started the second inning with a run. Kevin Shaw led off with a single and stole second. Chuck Apligian hit an RBI single. Southfield tied it at 1 with a walk, error and ground out.

In the third inning, Neil Yackle and Eric Shaw walked. Yackle scored on Jerry Birdsall's fielder's choice. Southfield tied it in their half with a single and three walks.

In the fourth Northville added another run when Busard walked, Dean Frellick singled, and Fred Swarthout walked. Yackle drove in

Koufax 'A' ends a strong season

The Koufax A regular season came to an end this past Saturday in great style as the team swept a double-header to finish with 10 wins in its final 14 games.

Led by Ron Marshall's five-hitter, the Northville team made an impressive comeback to edge Dearborn Crestwood 7-4. Trailing 4-1 in the fifth, Northville exploded for five runs with help from doubles by Jason Rice and Scott Anderson. They closed the door on the Dearborn team in the sixth with a hit from Jeff Luterek and an RBI single by Rice.

"This was certainly the team's finest showing this year. Their intensity was contagious," coach George Surdu said.

In the second game of the double-header, Northville blasted out 12 hits to defeat South Lyon 12-3. Greg Crown and Jason Rice accounted for five of the RBIs, with home runs over the center-field fence. Trevor Surdu and Arnie Kersey added two RBIs each, and Dave McCullough notched his fifth victory of the year, giving up only one run on three hits in the five innings he pitched.

"I am very pleased with the stats for the regular season," said Surdu.

The team completed the regular season batting at a .294 clip. Greg Crown's .318 batting average and Jeff Luterek's .357 were only bettered by Jason Rice's blistering-hot .491. Rice had 27 hits on the season, 10 of which were extra-baggers. He led the team in RBIs with 24, and added 11 walks.

The pitching staff was led by Ron Marshall's 3.13 ERA and Dave McCullough's five victories.

"I am proud of the entire team," said Surdu, who believes they are now focused on the world series, slated to begin July 25. Their season-ending victories, and their impressive showing in the Livonia Tournament, seem to indicate they may be peaking at the right time.

Busard with a sacrifice fly.

In the fifth, Northville added two more with Jerry Birdsall starting with a walk. Staknis and Kevin Shaw following with singles. Scott Hartsough had an RBI ground out and Busard followed with an RBI single. Southfield closed the gap to 5 - 4 with a single, triple and ground out.

Southfield tied the score in the next inning on a single, error and ground out. In the seventh, Southfield hit a double, but in trying to stretch it to a triple was gunned down on a play from Frellick to Busard to Birdsall to end the inning and pump Northville.

In the eighth inning, Northville scored six times. Busard and Frellick started with singles; Yaele then had a two-RBI single. Eric Shaw walked and Birdsall had an RBI walk. Staknis then blooped a two-RBI single. Kevin Shaw closed the scoring with a sacrifice fly.

But, manager Staknis said, "We forgot to tell Southfield they were history."

In Southfield's half of the eighth, they scored five times on three hits, a hit batter and two errors. "We regained our composure and pulled together as a team to end the game," Staknis said.

NORTHVILLE 21, DEARBORN

HEIGHTS, 1: Joe Staknis pitched a very strong game allowing only five hits, no walks with six strikeouts and no earned runs on July 11. Northville's offense gave plenty of help with innings of nine, eight, and four runs.

After dropping the last two games in the last innings, Northville was determined to get back on track. A hard practice on Wednesday paid off.

Dearborn scored an unearned run in the first and after 3 quick innings the score was 1 - 0 and looking like a pitchers' duel. Northville's defense played perfect for the last six innings.

In the fourth inning, Northville put 10 consecutive batters on base and scored nine of them. Steve Christianson reached base on an error, followed by Scott Hartsough's single, and Chuck Apligian's two-RBI single.

Staknis followed with a single, Fred Swarthout walked and Neil Yaele added a two-RBI single. Eric Shaw then had a two-RBI single, Jerry Birdsall had an RBI single, Kevin Shaw singled and Christianson, batting for the second time, drove in the eighth and ninth runs.

Then in the fifth inning, Northville put 13 more batters to the plate. Staknis and Swarthout started the inning with walks. Eric Shaw had an RBI single, Birdsall walked and Kevin Shaw had an RBI walk. Christianson had a two-RBI single. Chris Shepard hit a two-RBI single, and Staknis, batting for the second time, singled and scored on Nick Baughman's RBI single to right.

In the sixth inning, Kevin Shaw reached base on an error, Dean Frellick hit an RBI single, Shepard hit a single, Apligian had an RBI ground-out, Staknis added an RBI double, and Baughman closed the scoring with an RBI single.

YPSILANTI 10, NORTHVILLE 7: Chuck Apligian, Tom Busard and Steve Christianson each pitched well on July 9, but Ypsilanti is a good hitting squad, getting 11 hits and eight earned runs. Northville had seven runs on eight hits.

In the first, Northville scored two runs. Eric Shaw led off with a walk, Kevin Shaw singled, Apligian walked, Chris Shepard had an RBI walk, and Fred Swarthout had an RBI walk.

In the second, Ypsilanti scored two unearned runs to tie the game. Northville came back with three of its own to take a three-run lead. Eric Shaw and Jerry Birdsall walked and Steve Christianson hit a three-run homer. Ypsi scored four in the third to regain the lead 6-5.

Tom Busard pitched three scoreless innings in the fourth, fifth, and sixth.

Northville scored two in the fifth to take a 7-6 lead. After two outs, Neil Yaele hit a triple and scored on an overthrow on the same play. Busard hit a single, Eric Shaw hit a single, and Birdsall hit an RBI single.

Karate offers fitness options

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Writer

If the thought of running one more lap, doing one more sit-up, jumping through one more aerobic class or pressing one more weight leaves you feeling a little bored with your health-life, consider the following alternative:

Karate. According to Robert White, master of Northville's Okinawan Karate Club, study of the martial arts gives its students health through conditioning of the body and mind. He said for most, Okinawan karate, unlike other exercise activities, doesn't get boring.

"If you want to be a self-sufficient person," White said, "the martial arts have to be a lifetime study."

The Northville resident began his study of karate more than 20 years ago. A former semi-pro football player, White said he was introduced to karate by a friend somewhat smaller than himself.

"He told me to take a punch at him," he said. "Next thing I know, I'm on the ground. I said, 'I want to learn this.'"

White said he was also bored with his exercise routine after his football days.

"I needed some contact again," he said.

Since then, White has had a chance to have plenty of contact. A sixth-degree black belt, the 51-year-old has won numerous tournament karate competitions over the years.

Although he no longer competes, White stays active in the sport by teaching and working with students. He said he tries to teach students the basic concepts of the martial arts, health and diet.

"It's a holistic approach," White said.

Traditional blocking and kicking methods are taught at the school. White also teaches students, at the brown belt level, use of classical Okinawan weapons.

The bo, sai (a three-pointed sword), tonfa and kamas are four of those traditional weapons. Also taught, and perhaps best known, are the nunchuku.

The weapon, two handles connected by a chain, wasn't originally designed to be a weapon, White said. They were used by women, hundreds of years ago, in food preparation.

All of the weapons, the Northville resident said, take years of study to master.

Part of that holistic approach, White said, includes medicine. Acupuncture, for example, can be used to relieve pain naturally.

White said many herbs can also be used to heal the body. Marigolds—a common household flower—if rubbed into a cleaned wound, will cause it to heal much more quickly, he said.

White said karate provides much more than just exercise.

"It gives you a program to go by," he said. "A life program."

The Okinawan Karate Club meets at the Northville Community Center, 303 W. Main, on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday each week. Classes also meet at White's home at various times during the week.

The Dahlia 3

Old World style adds charm

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

The country colonial Dahlia 3 manages to combine Old World flavor with a country feel. Its lofty brick arched entry, richly gabled roofline and double chimneys make it as imposing as it is comfortable and spacious within.

This home includes a guest suite and a home office, both popular features these days. The home office fills the bill for the people who are finding it either necessary or desirable to do at least some of their work at home. If no office is needed, it could be a study, exercise or hobby room, or even an artist's studio.

The guest suite will be equally appreciated whether its occupant is an aging parent or adult offspring who need a place to stay for awhile. Its location in an area separate from both the master suite and the second floor bedrooms offers privacy.

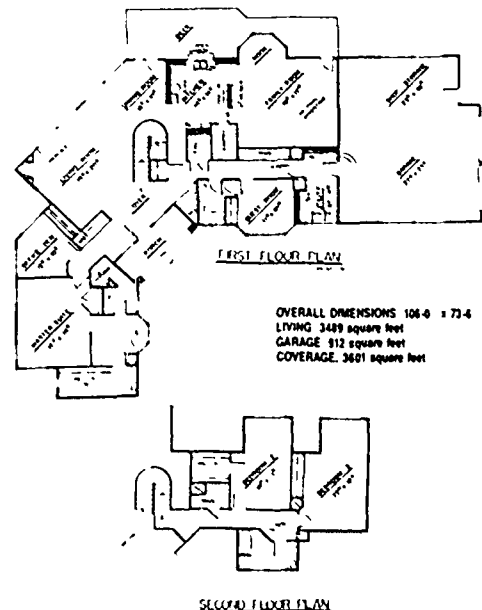

Ceilings in the living room, dining room and entry are vaulted to the second floor and filled with light from banks of windows, giving the area an almost cathedral-like sense of space. The landing at the top of the graceful open stairwell overlooks the entryway and the dining room.

Warm natural light fills the large country kitchen as well, flooding in through twin skylights, a garden window and the sunny half-octagon-shaped nook. A large pantry adds to the already ample storage space, and one side of the cooking/work island doubles as a small eating bar.

Utilities are down the long storage-lined hallway, close to the garage. A laundry chute adds convenience and a touch of fun for the kids, while space for a freezer is an added plus.

The master suite is spacious and elegant, with a walking closet as large as some children's bedrooms, and another closet to boot. Other features include a separate shower and oversize tub (could be a spa), along with an extra vanity in the skylit dressing room.

And naturally the home has a two-car garage with extra space for storage and plenty of room for a large shop. As an additional plus, this home is designed so that empty nesters can live completely on the lower level, leaving the upper floor ready for visiting family members or other overnight guests.

For a study plan of the Dahlia 3 (330-73), send $7.50 to Landmark Designs, c/o Hometown Newspapers, 323 E. Grand River Ave., Howell, MI 48843 (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

METAMORPHOSIS

The Mehr's newly remodeled home won an award in Better Homes and Gardens magazine's 1990 Home Improvement Contest.

By Thomas M. Varcle

Two years ago Bethany and Clyde Mehr had an idea: reconstruct their small, country Green Oak cottage into a modern, sophisticated-looking home.

Today the idea is a reality, and the Mehrs have turned their little cottage nestled snugly in the woods into a vision of the future.

In Bethany Mehr's words, it's simplistic, yet has a modern touch of elegance.

What's even more exciting for the Mehr family and their son Michael, a Grand Rapids builder who designed and reconstructed this "simplistic" modern home, is that it's an award winner.

Better Homes and Gardens magazine named the Mehr home a winner in the 1990 Home Improvement Contest. The Mehrs won the class A category in the Kitchen Shape-ups division and will be awarded $1,000 from the magazine.

The Mehrs, according to the magazine, competed against hundreds of entrants.

In all the contest featured seven categories in which the magazine received 8,621 entries. Some of the categories included exterior fix-ups, outdoor improvements, bathroom remodelings and interior redos.

The Mehrs originally purchased the house as a kit in 1977 from North Carolina.

"We moved it up here on a big semi. We shipped it in individual panels," Mehr said. Once the house arrived, the Mehr family began putting it together piece by piece, including the dry wall, plumbing and electrical.

Bethany said up until a year and a half ago, the house was roughly 2,000 square feet, including a finished, walk-out basement. The house was trimmed with knotty pine and dark wood. The decor was rustic and country.

Bethany Mehr wanted a change.

"I like a touch of class and elegance. Since our kids were grown and moved away, we could do something with the house," Mehr said.

So they did. Michael Mehr, an architectural graduate from the University of Michigan who is a Michigan state licensed builder, was asked by his parents to design the house.

Michael transformed his mother's dream into reality. The kitchen has become a modern masterpiece through the elegant decor. The beauty of the cream-colored wood floors are enhanced by the shiny, white

REAL ESTATE

'Stigmatized properties' spook buyers

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

"For sale: Nice home in desirable neighborhood. Priced $40,000 less than market value."

That home, on the market for the past three months, would probably sell in a day or two if it were not for one fact. A person recently committed suicide, by hanging, in this house. Therefore, it is now considered a "stigmatized property" by real estate professionals.

The house itself and location are fine. But the fact that this event took place in the house "psychologically impacts" the property. And as a result, its value is substantially lower than other comparable homes in the same area.

"Many people are spooked by the knowledge that such a thing happened within the walls of this house," said a broker who has shown the property to several prospective buyers. "It definitely affects the salability and value of the property."

This touches on a gray area of disclosure information for real estate brokers. When such a personal tragedy or major crime takes place in a residence—or a house has the reputation for being haunted—does the broker have an obligation to reveal this information to prospective buyers? Most brokers disclose such information even though it is not specifically required in a typical Real Estate Transfer Disclosure Statement.

That is one aspect of residential real estate sales that is unique. Even though an event has no physical or operational impact on the property whatsoever, it can have a significant negative effect on its market value and salability. Therefore, to protect themselves and their seller client, most brokers and salespeople will reveal the information to prospects.

The National Association of Realtors strongly recommends that its members and property sellers fully disclose all such information to buyers.

"Disclosure about a stigmatized property should be made to the buyer before you present a contract to the seller," NAR suggested in a report to members. "Present the information in a simple, non-threatening manner without making any judgments."

Another recent case demonstrates the sensitivity of disclosure information. A house, adjacent to a high-power electric line, was sold by a Century 21 office. The existence of the power line was noted in the disclosure statement and it was visually obvious to all parties, according to the Century 21 office owner-manager.

After the transaction was closed, the buyer became concerned about the possible negative effects of living within the electromagnetic field generated by the power line—and the noise it sometimes created. He filed a lawsuit against the brokerage firm for not disclosing all pertinent information. The case is now in litigation.

In today's suit-happy world, about two-thirds of all lawsuits against real estate brokers allege misrepresentation or failure to disclose defects or other adverse factors, according to a recent NAR report. The association is now pushing for more mandatory seller disclosure laws, placing the burden of disclosing information primarily on the shoulders of property sellers.

Most disclosure statement forms cover most areas of pertinent information. But there are always those gray area exceptions that can cause problems.

Q. When buying a home, is it common to remove a contingency in the purchase contract before the deal is closed?

A. Contingencies (conditions) written into a home purchase contract are normally removed when those conditions are satisfied, and not before

"It's important that home buyers not remove contingencies in their purchase contract prematurely," cautioned Kirk Grossman, a seasoned attorney-broker in Ventura, Calif.

As an example, Grossman cited a recent case where the buyer made an offer on a home, contingent upon the buyer qualifying for a mortgage loan. Before the buyer actually qualified for a loan, the home seller and his agent convinced the buyer to remove the financing contingency in exchange for a small price reduction.

This untimely action resulted in a series of nightmarish problems for the buyer—problems that created much frustration of financial loss.

"Simple but sound legal advice could have prevented this bind," Grossman said. "The buyers were under no obligation to remove the financing contingency. The deal was already signed and sealed. The buyers were overly tempted by a nominal price reduction, which in the long run was inconsequential. Meanwhile, the sellers assured themselves of a sale or substantial liquidated damages if the buyers didn't perform."

Dalmation figurine is choice collectible

By James G. McCollam
Copley News Service

Q. This figurine belonged to my husband's grandfather. How old is it and what is its value?
A. There are these markings on the bottoms of the feet: "Royal Doulton, Made in England, ch. Goworth Victor." It is 8 inches tall.

A. This figurine of a famous dalmatian, Champion Goworth Victor, was made in the early 1900s. It is a choice collectible and would probably sell for $425 to $450.

Q. We have acquired a stoneware bottle or jug imprinted "The Adaptable Hot Water Bottle and Bed Warmer."

A. Have you any idea when this was made and what it might be worth?

A. Hot water bed warmers have been used for over 200 years, but this one was probably made about 1900.

A. An antique shop would be likely to price it in the $35 to $45 range.

Q. My Sevres cup and saucer has the interlaced "L" mark enclosing "EE."

A. I understand this mark indicates that these were made in 1782. Please evaluate them for me.

ANTIQUES

A. Assuming that your cup and saucer are authentic, they should be worth $800 to $900.

If you have never had these authenticated by a museum, you should, because many of the porcelain pieces bearing Sevres marks are fakes.

Q. When was my Royal Doulton pitcher and bowl set made and what is its value?

A. The pitcher is 10 inches high and the bowl is 16 inches in diameter. They are decorated with lavender lilacs with green leaves.

A. Your pitcher and bowl set was made in England during the early 1900s and would probably sell for $250 to $275.

Q. What can you tell me about a sterling silver Zippo cigarette lighter marked "Tiffany & Co."?

A. It is in mint condition. The famous Fifth Avenue jewelry store had a quantity of Zippo lighters made in sterling silver and inscribed with their name during the mid-20th century.

This would probably sell for $100 to $110.

This figurine depicts a famous dalmation.

cupboards and counter tops. Cathedral ceilings have replaced a flat ceiling.

The dining area, also equipped with cathedral ceilings, is one section Michael Mehr added to the house. The 14-by-18-foot room has the modern touch of elegance as well. Light shines into the dining area through several large windows.

The living room is highlighted by cathedral ceilings, track lighting, and modern furniture. A door in the room leads to a wood deck outside, also constructed by Michael Mehr, that encloses half of the house.

Still, the Mehrs plan to remodel the home's three bedrooms, two bathrooms and basement.

For the contest, she said her husband sent in the information to Better Homes and Gardens on her remodeled kitchen. Her son had no idea the entry was sent in.

"He was surprised to find out we won," Bethany said. "But he does a great job with houses. He just built a house in Holly that was featured in House Beautiful magazine."

And how long did it take the Mehrs to remodel the house? Just a year and a half.

"We still have some things to do to other rooms and to landscaping, but we're almost done. We probably doubled the value of the house in the last year and a half," she said.

Have a professional examine your roof

By Gene Gary
Copley News Service

Q. I need some advice on the repair or redo of the roof on a 25-year-old home we purchased approximately a year ago.

The roof is asphalt shingles, which has had previous repairs. Can we continue to repair the existing roof, or should we seriously consider a complete redo?

If we need a new roof, what are the best products available today for durability? Is putting a new roof over the old a good idea?

A. All of your questions are good ones when considering the proper maintenance of your home and its roofing.

The life of a roof depends on a number of factors. One of the most important is climate conditions—exposure to sun, wind, rain, sleet and snow—which cause deterioration.

Quality of the installation and original materials along with proper design and maintenance also determine the life expectancy of asphalt shingles is from 15 to 30 years.

Since your roof is nearing the maximum age of normal wear, it is important that you seriously consider a new roof. To keep repairing a seriously deteriorating roof will cause more trouble and expense in the long run.

If the current roofing is in good enough shape, you can have a new roof installed over the existing asphalt shingles. This can be done once, but not a second time. The feasibility of this depends on condition of your current roof.

You need to have a professional thoroughly examine your roof and make recommendations. Trained people will look for overall deterioration as well as those hidden problems, such as moisture that can work its way underneath shingles and cause wood rot and mildew problems in the basic structure of your home.

It is best to have three or four roofing specialists look at your roof and make recommendations so you can compare estimates. There are some important factors other than cost to consider.

The type of materials you select for your new roof is important. Asphalt shingles cover nearly 80 percent of the roofs nationwide, but there are different types and grades of the two types available—"organic" and "fiberglass."

They come in a variety of weights, styles and thicknesses and with different fire ratings. Other considerations can be wood shingles or shakes, tile, slate, metal and a number of newer "look-alike" roofing tiles that imitate the real thing (such as slate or tile) for less money.

Each roofing material comes in different grades with corresponding prices. For example, the shingle range runs all the way from economy-grade to top-of-the-line "laminate" or "architectural" products.

You need to look at the full product range and make a choice based on your budget and needs.

To help consumers make the best roofing decisions, The Nation al Roofing Contractors Association provides some excellent materials. You can call toll-free 1-800-USA ROOF. Particularly helpful is their pamphlet "Buying a New Roof ... and Getting Your Money's Worth." The association will also provide you with a list of NRCA-member contractors in your area.

Are your attitudes about mental illness still in the dark ages?

Our notions about mental illness have a long, dark history. Age-old fears, resentments and scorn still poison our perceptions. Sadly, these misunderstandings keep us from seeing mental illness for what it really is: a distressing medical disease.

A disease that afflicts over 35 million Americans.

But the stigma of mental illness keeps most of those afflicted from seeking help. Which is tragic. Because today there's more hope than ever before. In recent years, medical science has begun to unlock many of the mysteries of mental illness and discovered new drugs and better therapies to treat it.

In fact, today, 2 out of 3 people who get help go on to lead productive lives. For an informative booklet about mental illness, contact the American Mental Health Fund.

Glass company can solve your pane-ful breaks

By DAWN NEEDHAM
Editor

Whatever type of glass work that needs to be done, there's a new place for Highland/Milford-area residents to find that service.

Harmon's Highland Glass, 2736 E. Highland Road (next to the Highland House), has come "home," according to customer service representatives Judy Wieland and George Ehgoz.

After moving from its original location in Highland to Waterford for several years, the company has returned to Highland.

"We do just about everything there is to do with glass," Ehgoz said. "That includes commercial, auto glass, custom mirror work and shower doors."

Since 1989, Highland Glass has been part of the 315-store Harmon Glass organization, which has locations throughout Michigan; more than 10 are within a 25-mile radius. At that time, Harmon's Highland Glass was located in Waterford, and earlier this summer returned to a Highland location.

"We really wanted the road frontage (off M-59) and to return to this area," Wieland said.

The company has been open in its new location for about one month, and Ehgoz said business has been good so far.

"We've had good response from this area," he said. "Moving here helped us get back some customers we lost touch with when we were way out in Waterford, and everybody who works here also lives in the area, so it's a shorter drive to work for us."

Wieland added that the biggest benefit has been moving to a location facing M-59, a major thoroughfare through the area.

"Our relocation really helped our visibility," she said. "Before we were located in the back half of a building, so this is a major improvement."

From this location on M-59, Harmon's Highland Glass can service the Highland-Milford area, as well as the Howell-Brighton and Waterford areas.

The business is split evenly between the auto glass and commercial fields. Ehgoz estimates that about 50 percent of the work is auto-related, and the remaining 50 percent is the commercial work on custom glass and mirrors.

"We have some builders we do work for, but we also do work for individuals," Wieland said. The Highland Road store will have displays of different types of glass and mirrors for individuals who visit the location to place an order. That way, Ehgoz said, the customer can see what they're getting before they buy it.

"Most people like to see what they're getting," he said. "This way, they can."

One of the most common auto glass jobs is to repair windshield chips — and only chips, not windshield cracks. "You can't repair

Judy Wieland is customer service representative for the Harmon Glass store in Highland cracks, only chips," Wieland said, sounding like someone who has said that more than a few times.

Ehgoz said that insurance companies lean toward repairing chips instead of replacing the windshield whenever possible, and often will cover the entire cost of repair. Repairing a chip will minimize its appearance somewhat, but the main reason to have it done is to guarantee against spreading.

A chip can spread into a crack fairly easily, and then if it obstructs the driver's vision can mean a new windshield, Ehgoz said.

"Some people say they do a complete repair on a chip, but you'll still have some visible sign of it," Ehgoz said. "You can get rid of 60 to 70 percent of the chip, but there will still be some visual chip left. But the main reason to do it is to keep it from cracking."

"You figure the odds are you're going to get hit again."

Harmon's Highland Glass offers mobile windshield repair, sending a repair truck to your home or workplace to perform the repair. In an increasingly busy society, this represents an added convenience for the customer, since they won't have to spend valuable free time taking the car in for windshield repair.

For customers needing auto glass repair, Ehgoltz said the company can usually accommodate them the same day in most cases; if not, then by the second day for certain.

The commercial end of the business is a little more broadly defined. "We do just about everything that has to do with glass, except light bulbs," Ehgoltz said.

The shop employs four people and they cut all of their own custom mirrors on location from full size sheets. In addition to custom mirrors, a common request is for screen or storm door repair, Ehgoltz said.

One thing he notices is that mirrors in the home — full-length mirrored doors or walls, for example — seem to be becoming more popular.

A homeowner might come to Highland Glass to have made a custom mirror shower door, or a patio door or even a glass table top.

The company's focus on both auto and commercial glass is somewhat unusual, Ehgoltz said. Most companies choose to focus on one or the other.

The company services the glass needs of two school districts, Huron Valley Schools and Hartland Consolidated Schools.

"We get a lot of calls from them near the end of the school year," Ehgoltz said.

A plan to connect the lots of businesses along M-59 is an on-going project that should be another convenience to customers, Wieland said.

Harmon's Highland Glass is open six days a week: Monday-Friday, its hours are 8 a.m.-5 p.m. and Saturday hours are 8:30 a.m.-noon.

MICHIGAN 50s FESTIVAL

Dear Reader:

Welcome to the Michigan 50s Festival.

This year's festival, Novi's fourth, promises to be an especially good one. Among the attractions will be Danny & The Juniors, who had a number one hit with their song "At the Hop" in 1958; an expanded Grand River Cruise to allow for even more hot rod, jalopies and other '50s-era cars to participate; a fireworks show to be shot off from Twelve Oaks Mall Saturday evening; and a long, long list of activities and things to do.

The annual event was launched in 1988 to address the need for a theme festival in Novi which would have a regional draw. Since its inception, it has grown every year.

In this special section, the we have attempted to give you a full schedule of activities. We've also included a few articles about the events of the decade and some personal memories of Novi area residents, all in the hopes it will spur a few reminiscences of your own.

Enjoy.

Host of activities planned in Town Center, West Oaks, Twelve Oaks

There's just enough time to dig out your old leather motorcycle jacket or find your bobby sox and saddle shoes while planners put the final touches on the Fourth Annual Michigan '50s Festival.

The Novi festival, to be held July 24-28, is the largest of its kind in Michigan. It provides five full days of family entertainment: live rock 'n roll, dancing, vintage cars, sidewalk sales, clowns and magicians, lip sync and dance competitions, a '50s trivia contest, an ice cream social and pancake breakfast.

Top prizes for the many contests and drawings include two tickets to Hawaii and a 1959 Corvette.

"This is the best '50s festival in the state," observes Elaine Kah, festival president and marketing director of Twelve Oaks.

One of this year's festival highlights will be at Novi Town Center's Happy Days Entertainment Tent on Saturday, July 27 starring Danny & The Juniors, who topped the charts with "At The Hop" in 1958.

Michigan's largest '50s party is Friday night's Sock Hop Express. It features seven live rock 'n roll bands performing at the Entertainment Tent and six area hotels. A trolley and bus shuttle runs between the tent and hotels throughout the evening.

"It's the best party you'll ever go to," says Edward Kriewall, Novi city manager and festival vice president.

The festival began in 1988 with 12 food booths and 30 exhibitors. Since then, it has more than tripled in size, drawing visitors and exhibitors from all over the Midwest and parts of Canada.

"Last year, we drew about 50,000, but I'm thinking in terms of about 60,000 this year," says Connie Mallett, executive director of the festival and of the Novi Chamber of Commerce.

This year, festival planners have expanded several popular activities and added others, according to Mallett.

The Sunday, July 20 Cruisin' Grand River classic car parade will be three miles longer to accommodate the large number of participants. Last year, about 700 oldy autos drove the routes.

The number of classic car categories has also grown, from 13 to 22. New categories include: three different truck classifications—stock, modified and radical; two Corvette stock divisions—1953-62 and 1963-74; pro-street—drag cars, comp cars, wheel, TV and roll cages; modified—pre-1960 and 1960-1974.

Festival planners expect over 350 entries.

The Sock Hop Express has also grown this year. There will be six hotels (instead of four), and it will last an extra hour, from 8:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m.

The hotels are the Holiday Inn (Farmington Hills), Wyndham Garden, Embassy Suites (Livonia), Sheraton Oaks, Hotel Baronette, and the Novi Hilton.

New to the festival, besides Danny & The Juniors, are Tommy Cee (who used to play with Chubby Checker) & The Gamut and The Fantastics. Steve King & The Dittlies, Deuce Coupe, The Decades, Rocky and the Rollers, and Moose & Da Sharks will also perform.

Tickets for the Sock Hop Express are $12 in advance and $15 at the door. The price includes admission and shuttle service.

Also for the first time this year, the arts and crafts show will be juried and housed in a separate tent. Fifty of the most talented applicants will participate in the show.

Children will find two days of afternoon activities. On Friday, July 26, Novi Town Center will offer a Moon Walk, Ball Crawl, puppet shows and a "monster smooch" where parents can photograph their kids cuddling creatures like the 15-foot Blue Smooch, Peter Panda and McGruff, the crime-fighting dog.

Saturday, July 27, Novi Town Center will host a magician and look-a-like contests, as well as the Moon Walk and Ball Crawl.

The same day at West Oaks, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., youngsters will find "Fitness Under the Big Top," a children's health fair. Health care professionals will give physical exams to dolls, check children's cholesterol and blood pressure, demonstrate infant/child CPR and provide a babysitting clinic.

That night, from 7-10 p.m., their older brothers and sisters will fill West Oaks for the festival's first teen dance.

"We're still looking for volunteer "Cruisers" to help with everything from the Sock Hop Express and car show to selling T-shirts and staffing the Information Booth," says Kah.

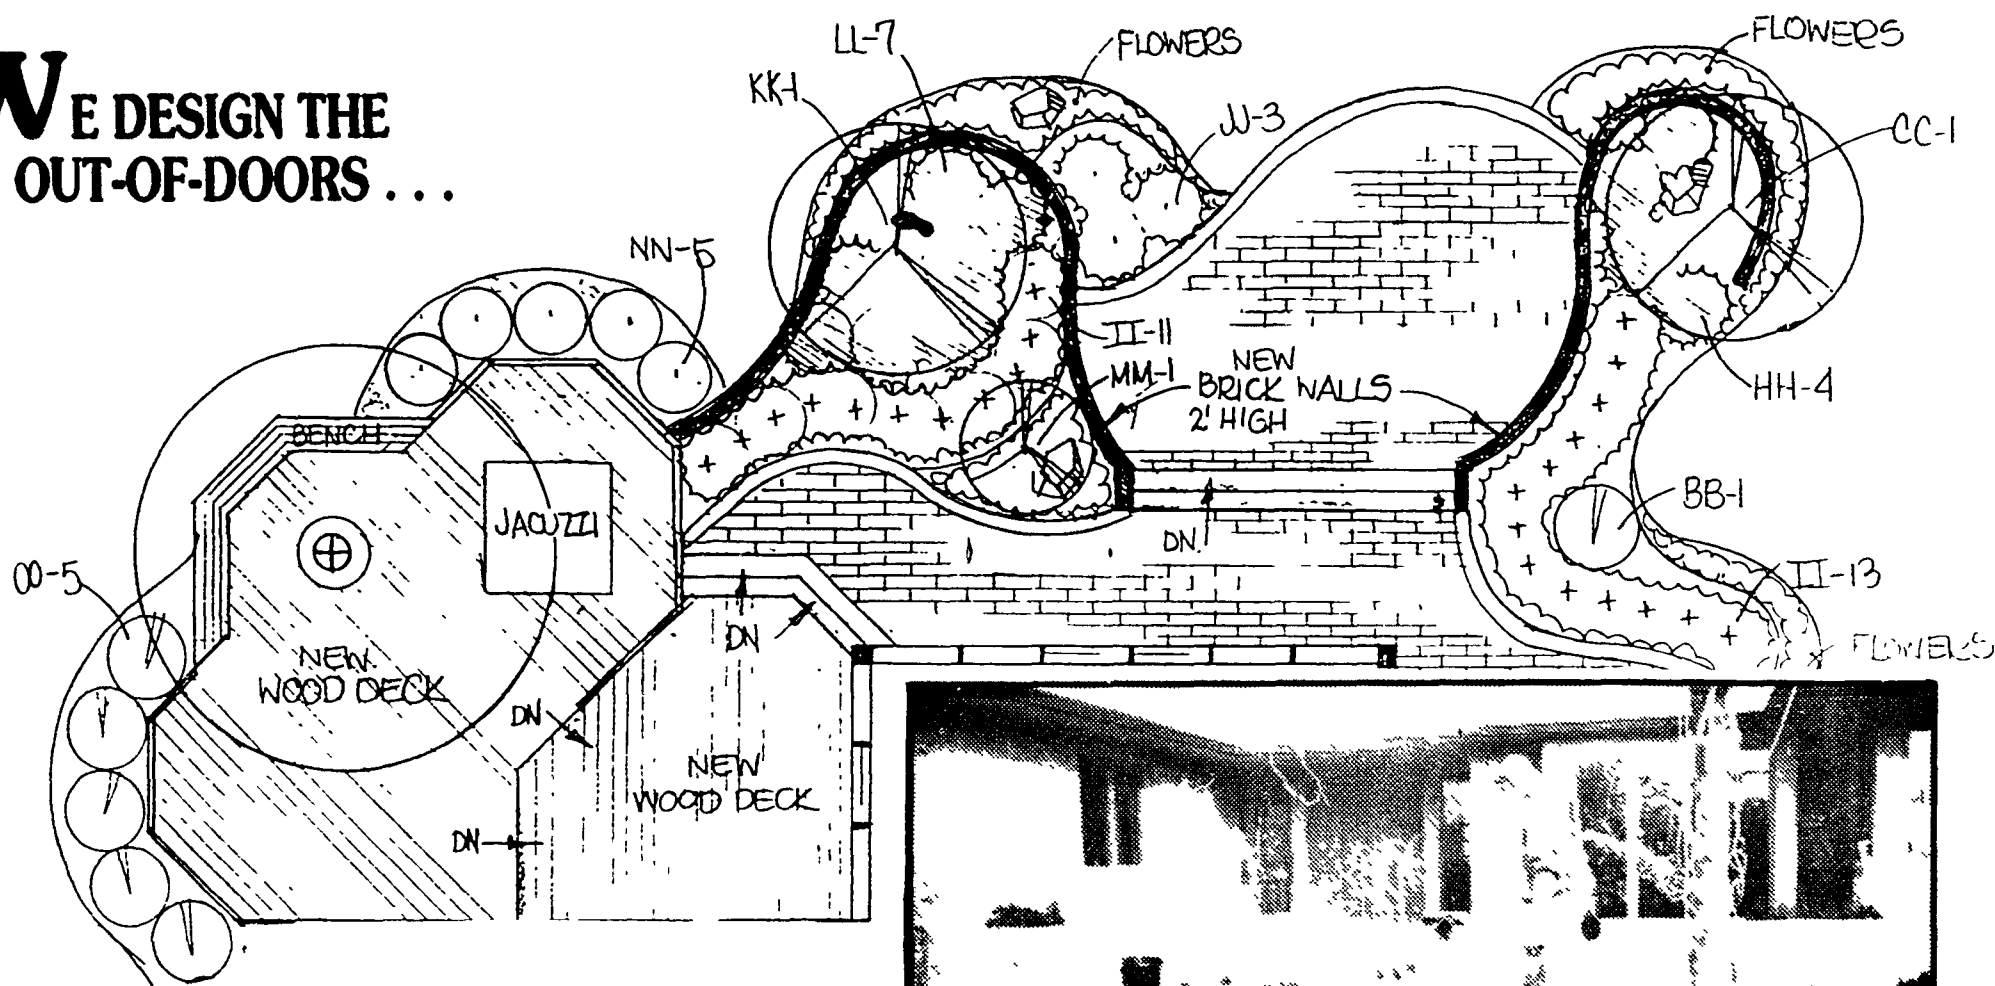

Corporate sponsors and individuals who wish to volunteer to help with any of the activities should call the Michigan '50s Festival office at (313) 349-1950.

Meanwhile grease the hula hoop, shine the saddle shoes and get ready to cruise on over.

Grand River Car Cruise is expanded

By RICK BYRNE
Copy Editor

If there's any quintessential American icon for the 1950s, it has to be custom cars.

Automobiles began to be mass-produced in America around the turn of the century, but it wasn't until the post-War years that they found their mass appeal with young people. Cars became at once a source for a young person's identity and a means of expression.

A '49 Mercury was a pretty pedestrian car when it came off the assembly line, but with the body sculpted with hammers, torches and lead filler, and an engine tweaked with the addition of lakes pipes and Strombergs, it became a unique source of pride for the owner.

As part of Novi's Michigan '50s Festival, you can get an eyefull of as many lead sleds, rail jobs and little deuce coupes as you can handle at Sunday's Custom Car Show and the Grand River Cruise.

The Car Show begins at 10 a.m. Owners of cars from 1974 and earlier will flock to the Novi Town Center to compete in 21 different categories.

"We had a lot of fun with the car show last year," said Keith Wilson, one of the event's organizers. "The attendance went well beyond our wildest dreams. We expected 200 cars, and got 330."

This year more cars are expected, and the awards have been expanded. In addition to various awards for Stock, Modified and Custom vehicles, top honors will be given out for the Best of Show, Mayor's Choice and Ladies Choice cars.

"They can see everything from

"CRUISIN' GRAND RIVER"

Classic Car Cruise 7:00pm - 9:00pm, Sunday, July 28

classics to modern hi-tech street rods," said Wilson. "There will be kit cars, muscle cars, you name it. It's going to be our best show yet."

Wilson knows whereof he speaks when it comes to hot rods, as he's been showing cars off and on for 15 years.

"It's fun to do, you meet a lot of nice people and see a lot of nice cars," he said. "The people that bring out their cars, they're all winners in my mind."

But what good is a car that's all show and no go? Not much if the owner plans to enter the Grand River Cruise which takes place Sunday from 7-9 p.m.

The cruise brings out all the hot rodders to do a circuit around Novi, showing off their wheels, and generally seeing and being seen.

This year's cruise is longer than last years, which should help alleviate some of the traffic problems of last year's event.

The cruise will flow in an 'X' pattern from the intersection of Novi Road and Grand River, following Grand River to Meadowbrook. The cruisers will then head south, turn around at Ten Mile, and head back to Grand River.

The route will then head east to Haggerty and back to Meadowbrook again, then North on Meadowbrook to Twelve Mile. Another turnaround will put the cruisers back on Grand River heading west to Novi Road again.

Danny & The Juniors headline groups appearing in Entertainment Tent

By BOB NEEDHAM
Editor

The Michigan Fifties Festival will go to the hop every night at the Happy Days Entertainment Tent, and on Saturday it will be Danny and the Juniors who take it there.

Danny and the Juniors, one of groups which instantly recall '50s music, found fame early in the rock era with hits like "At the Hop" and "Rock and Roll is Here to Stay."

Nowadays Danny and the Juniors consists of lead singer Joe Terry and Frank Maffie, both of whom are original members of the group. They are joined by Bobby Love, not an original Junior but someone who has been one for several years now. Other original members of the group are deceased.

Danny and the Juniors came out of Philadelphia, produced by Leon Huff—the same Huff who would later establish an international reputation as half of the Gamble/Huff production team.

"At the Hop" marked the biggest success for Danny and the Juniors. Hitting number one on the charts in January 1958, the breezy, upbeat record offered a litany of attractions at the local dance: "Well you can rock it, you can roll it, do the Stomp and even Stroll it at the hop. When the record starts a-spinnin' you Calypso and you Chicken at the hop . . ."

The follow-up to "At the Hop," "Rock and Roll is Here to Stay," also scored well on the charts. Written during a time of harsh attacks on rock and roll music by much of establishment America, the song served as a statement — although rather a mild one — that these evil rhythms could be expected to stick around for a while: "Rock and roll is here to stay; it will never die. It was meant to be that way, though I don't know why. I don't care what people say; rock and roll is here to stay." Years later, a cover version of the song would prove to be the launching pad for the career of those kings of '50s retro, Sha Na Na.

Of course Danny and the Juniors are the main attraction at this year's Fifties Festival, but that's just scratching the surface.

The Happy Days Entertainment Tent will host live music every evening during the festival, with several different bands bringing back bygone days through rock and roll.

Connie Mallett, executive director of festival and of the Novi Chamber of Commerce, booked the acts for the festival. She went through a long process of listening to tapes and watching some acts perform live, and she says the festival will enjoy some great music again this year.

Here's the schedule for live music at the entertainment tent:

From 8 p.m. to midnight Wednesday, July 24, the festival kicks off with TOMMY CEE AND THE GAMUT.

"He's a fairly well-known band," Mallett said: Leader Tommy Cee used to be part of Chubby Checker's backup band. Mallett had the chance to hear Tommy Cee and the Gamut at a recent appearance in Livonia, and, she said, "They sounded great." In keeping with the spirit of the festival, the band plays exclusively music from the '50s and '60s.

From 10 p.m. to midnight Thursday, July 25 — after the famous lip-synch competition — the evening will conclude with music by DEUCE COUPE.

This group, while consisting of just two pieces, presents a full band effect. "They just have a great sound for two people," Mallett said. Deuce Coupe is familiar to regular festival-goers; they opened last year for Vince Vance and the Valiants. Again, the music of Deuce Coupe is strictly '50s and '60s.

From 8:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. Friday, July 26, the Happy Days Entertainment Tent hosts a special show by Rocky and the Rollers, with a $3 admission charge.

This group also returns from the Fifties Festival past, brought back because of the excellent response from its audience. "Everybody thought they were just great, as did I," Mallett said.

The main attraction arrives at 8 p.m. Saturday, July 27 with the headline concert.

The show features Rocky and the Rollers again, as well as headliners DANNY AND THE JUNIORS. Admission to the concert is $5.

Music starts early Sunday, July 28, with another entertainment tent appearance by Deuce Coupe scheduled from 3-7 p.m.

The festival winds down from 8 p.m. to midnight with music by STEVE KING AND THE DITTLES. This popular Detroit-area band plays a variety of music with heavy emphasis on oldies. They, too, are past Fifties Festival veterans.

"All the cats and chicks can get their kicks at the hop." This weekend, the hop is the Michigan Fifties Festival.

Take a ride on the Sock Hop Express

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

Over 2,000 sock hoppers will take a trolley ride back in time to an era when girls wore poodle skirt and boys wore slicked back hair and white T-shirts.

The Twilight Zone has not come to Novi. Instead it's the Michigan '50s Festival Sock Hop Express taking off at 8:30 p.m. on Friday, July 26.

Festival organizers will provide transportation between six area hotels and an entertainment center set up in the Novi Town Center. The hotels will provide a dance floor and '50s style bands for participants to dance the night away sockhop style.

The Farmington Hills Holiday Inn, the Wyndham Garden Hotel at Novi, the Embassy Suites in Livonia and the Novi Sheraton Oaks were opened to sock hoppers in years past and will participate again this year.

The Novi Hilton rejoined the festival after a year's absence, and the recently opened Hotel Baronette is on board the Sock Hop Express this year.

The extra hotel space will help accommodate an expected 2,500 sock hoppers at the fourth annual '50s Festival. Last year, 1,800 participated in the Sock Hop Express.

But don't let the numbers scare you away.

"It's one of the major events of festival and it is a whole lot of fun."

Cindy Kopczynski
Festival planner

of participants. The crowd is expected and plenty of space will be provided at the six hotels, she said.

"It's not like you've got 2,500 people all in one spot," she said.

Admission to each hotel and transportation between hotels will be provided for $12 in advance or $15 at the door.

Oakland County buses and the Classic Trolley, formerly the Dearborn Trolley, will ferry dancers decked out in '50s garb between hotels.

One form of transportation or the other will depart from each hotel about every 15 minutes, Kopczynski said.

Each hotel will have a band and cash bar. Tommy Cee (who has played with Chubby Checker) and the Gamut are scheduled to play at the Holiday Inn.

The Wyndham Garden Hotel will be the place to be to hear the band Deuce Coupe.

The Fantastics will play at the Embassy Suites Hotel.

At the Sheraton will be Moose and Da Sharks. The Hotel Baronette will feature the Decades. Steve King and the Dittilies will play the Novi Hilton.

And at the entertainment tent, Rocky and the Rollers are expected to perform.

Those who do not wish to totally immerse themselves in the 1950s can wear modern clothing, but many come dressed up, Kopczynski said.

Fans of the '50s come from as far away as Grand Rapids to experience days gone by at the festival and, more specifically, the Sock Hop Express.

"It's one of the major events of festival and it is a whole lot of fun," Kopczynski said.

Festival organizers began receiving requests for tickets this year as early as March.

Tickets usually are still available the night of the express at the entertainment tent, but Kopczynski recommends early ticket purchase.

Tickets can be purchased at any participating hotel, the Novi Chamber of Commerce, the Novi Parks and Recreation Department or by mail, P.O. Box 187, Novi 48050.

Rock dominated charts in the Fifties

As is typical, the events we generally think of as "defining" an era or a decade don't necessarily correspond to the actual dates of that decade.

So it was with the "Fifties," the decade most of equate with the birth of Rock 'n' Roll.

The very first rock 'n' roll hit didn't actually break into Billboard magazine's record charts until 1955.

And some of the truly great Fifties-era rock 'n' roll hits were still being recorded as late as 1964 — MY GUY, by Mary Wells; CHAPEL OF LOVE, by The Dixie Cups; RAG DOLL, by The Four Seasons; PRETTY WOMAN, by Roy Orbison; and LEADER OF THE PACK, by The Shangri-Las.

But by that time, the British were already invading, surf tunes were coming in waves and Motown was revving up, all working together to usher in an entirely new decade which would come to be known, sure enough, as "The Sixties."

What follows is a chronology of the records (45 rpm singles) that reached the number one position on the charts during "The Fifties" (1955-63) not all of which were rock 'n' roll.

The hits are listed by record title, the artist who recorded them, the date they first hit the number one position, and the number of weeks they stayed there. For '55 through '58, the list is a combination of four charts used by Billboard until the magazine consolidated them into a single list in '59.

Fifties was a period of change for nation

By MIKE TYREE

Hula hoops and Kerouac. The Checkers Speech and leather jackets. Ike and Brando.

Big Chevys with monster engines side-by-side on some lonesome stretch of pavement outside town; cigarettes rolled in the sleeves of tough greasers waiting for the flag.

Maudlin songs of tragic, lost love and mindless Be-bop. Gyrating hips and screaming girls.

Pre-Watergate and Vietnam and Selma and Dallas. Before crack and AIDS and oil embargos and Iran took their toll.

Instead, duck-tails and sock hops and Lucy on the tube. Cruising the drive-in for Inspiration Point candidates. A big smile and wave from a passing car. Days of hope and innocence.

Real Happy Days stuff. That's how we seem to want to remember the era.

The 1950s are often viewed that way, whether or not one even lived through that decade. Brando and Elvis were mitigated by golf-loving Eisenhower and the thin tubes of plastic that could be twirled around one's hips or neck or legs or arms.

Prosperity was at hand; the average Joe was well on his way to owning a home, a yard and a 30-year mortgage. The wife could have that new refrigerator and maybe a washing machine. And they flocked to the Protestant churches on Sunday to pay their dues.

But an undercurrent of change was at hand. To many, Kerouac's On the Road was written in a strange and somewhat fearsome language. The black man's jazz wafted from the inner city and tugged at an increasing number of whites.

White musicians, including those who would be proclaimed King, blatantly stole the pulsing Delta rhythms from blacks, cranking up the beat, homogenizing the lyrics and chords, and creating rock and roll.

Much of that taste of change was kept at arm's length from the bulk of those growing up in the '50s. Suburbia became the place to be, tracts of cookie-cutter homes popping up like spring mushrooms on the outskirts of Detroit, Chicago, New York, St. Louis, San Francisco, Los Angeles.

The beats and the liberals were big city tickets and the subs often were havens of near-isolation.

But as we roller skated and cruised and rocked around the clock, our eyes tunneled and our minds perhaps a bit flabby, the warning signals grew, and the '50s seeded the roiling dark clouds that were to explode during the stormy 1960s.

There was Richard Nixon, vice-presidential candidate, squirming his way out of a campaign contribution scandal by sticking up for his wife's "Republican" cloth coat and "Checkers," the puppy given to his daughter by an adoring fan.

There was bloody Korea and our first contact with Red China. And there was the Cold War and McCarthyism and red-baiting and jailings and censorship here.

Most of the apples that comprised mom's pie were beautiful and tasty, but an increasing number were bruised or sour.

as a decade of fun, innocence and prosperity. Rebels like James Dean were lionized, but the message was clear—live too fast, die too young. It's better to be safe than sorry.

Trends of the '50s took on a many and varied texture. Today we like to reflect upon that era as a simpler time, and perhaps it was. But today's giddy recollection of hula hoops and blue suede shoes should be tempered by the realization that the '50s were a spawning ground for change.

Novi has seen many changes since '50s

By RICK BYRNE
Copy Editor

When post-war prosperity swept America in a wave of automobiles, rock 'n' roll and little pink houses, the Township of Novi rode the crest as well.

The Novi of the early '50s was not much different from what it had been when it was founded: a crossroads on the way to someplace else.

But as Progress with the capital "P" rolled across the country, it was not long before the apple orchards gave way to subdivisions.

During the decade of the 1950s, Novi's population nearly doubled. From a township of 3,500 people in 1950, Novi's population grew to 6,490 in 1960. At the time of its incorporation in 1958, it was Michigan's largest village.

"It was real country then," said George McCollum, who grew up in Novi and currently owns Novi Drug.

"The 'Four Corners' (as locals called the then-town center) was Novi Road and Grand River," he said, and likened Novi of the '50s to New Hudson as it stands today.

At the intersection was a farm-implement dealer with a large barn just east on Grand River, a few gas stations, a confectionary and Matt Moeren's general store. There one could purchase everything from penny candy to horse collars.

"They'd show free movies at the barn for the kids," McCollum recalled. "The parents would go across the street to Ben's Bar where they held wrestling matches right there in the front window. It was pretty wild."

Summer weekends were a busy time in Novi as cars rolled up and down Grand River and Novi Road on their way to vacation cottages in Walled Lake and the Brighton area. Walled Lake also drew huge crowds for the Walled Lake Amusement Park with its roller coaster and other rides.

One could ride the lake in Chris Craft speedboats or snack on french fries dipped in vinegar. Adults flocked to the lakeshore for the New Casino dance hall, which played host to Glenn Miller, the Dorsey brothers—all the big-name acts.

"Traffic backed up Novi Road at Grand River for a mile-and-a-half," said McCollum. "People were heading home from Walled Lake, and every Sunday we'd watch 'em. Cars would come over the top of the hill and smash into the rear end of each other."

The congestion ended in the late '50s with the building of the Farmington-Brighton Expressway, now known as I-96.

"Everyone thought it would kill the town," said McCollum, "but it just made it expand."

Though subdivisions dominate the Novi landscape today, they were only just starting to encroach on the township in the latter part of the decade. Willowbrook Estates, Oakwood and Yerkes were among the earliest developments.

Duane Bell ran a retail sporting goods store at the time, and outfitted hunters who came to the area to take pheasants, or fishers who pulled suckers and pike from area rivers.

One thing was the same in the '50s as it is now, though. Lee BeGole was still the police chief. In fact, he was chief, cook and bottle-washer for the one-man force, which was housed at a single desk in the back of the township fire hall, now abandoned on Novi Road south of Grand River.

"We had one squad car, and I owned it," BeGole said. "Then later we had a 1955 Chevy two-door, which the township bought."

For citizens of Novi, shopping needs required a trip to one of the larger nearby towns.

"My wife, she used to go to Northville or Farmington," said Bell. "There was no A & P or Kroger's out here then. Almost anything you had to shop for, you had to go out of town."

Where were you; what were you doing?

By JAN JEFFRES
Managing Editor

It was the 1950s — and these Novi residents were there. Here's a few fond memories recently shared with the Novi News.

ED KRIEWALL: Novi's city manager (and a founder of the Michigan 50s festival) grew up in Bay City, where he scaled the community's water tower to leave his high school's mark in big painted letters, "Class of 1959."

"It was kind of scary crawling up there. I think that was a tradition every year, they didn't seem to care . . .

"I was busy going to high school and having a good time. I was probably your average student. I played in the band. The trumpet. I was one of the crew cut and jeans kind of guy.

"The big thing in Bay City was cruising the drive-in restaurants. We had a strip with seven or eight drive-ins within half a mile . . . The drive-ins were taken over pretty much by the high school and college kids. There were no adults on site. We'd sit in the car and watch everybody drive by . . . It was common for the police, the state police post was next to the drive-ins, they spent a lot of time quieting everybody down. Surprisingly, everybody was well-behaved. There wasn't much drinking going on. I was pretty well-behaved, but I enjoyed myself.

"I had a '52 Mercury, maroon, hood and trunk leaded in with fender skirts and spinner hubcaps. It was lowered. It did look good. We used to 'glass pack the mufflers and the police had a field day writing me tickets. It was a pretty little car. I paid $500 for it with money I earned myself by pumping gas at my father's marina."

KEITH TAPPAN, SR: The 1991 president of the Novi Chamber of Commerce had a flair for organization early on. A Detroit's Cooley High School Class of '56 graduate, Tappan was a charter member of the Ty-Rods,

"Davy Crockett was a hero. I can remember getting up early in the morning — we lived upstairs above my grandmother, she had the first black-and-white TV in the neighborhood — I used to sneak down the first thing in the morning and watch the test pattern until the TV shows came on. Captain Midnight. Buck Rogers. Howdy Doody was one of my favorites. And Kukla, Fran and Ollie . . ."

Matt Quinn
Mayor of Novi

25 guys who liked to get together and cruise the avenues — Woodward and Grand River. They patronized the drive-in restaurants like Ted's on Long Lake Road and the Totem Pole between Ten and Eleven Mile Road — the kind of hotspots where the car hops rode roller skates and the kids were cool.

Tappan favored pulled up shirt collars and Levis with his Ty-Rod jacket. His car of choice — a 1957 Chevy V8, two-door hardtop, black with a white top and black and silver interior.

"I started driving when I was 15 and I was immediately souping up the cars that were technically my mother's, but I drove them all the time. She didn't know I was souping them . . . I cut the coils from the front wheels. It was called a rake. The front end raked the street. She always wondered about that, why it rode so rough."

"A bunch of guys got together and worked on cars and went drag racing and actually didn't get into trouble. Beer was the worst thing and that was so rare, it was almost never seen. The next worst thing was we had a couple guys that smoked cigarettes. (Tappan says he didn't indulge in either.)"

"I wore my hair in a Hollywood. Long on the sides and back and brush on the top. The front was long. The guys would do that swirl in the front. There weren't blow dryers back then. Everybody had the slicked-back hair look."

"Girls were not a big thing. We had the cars. The cars took precedence. If the girls wanted to go along, they could go. We had a couple of gals who would tag along."

MARTY FELDMAN: The owner of Marty Feldman Chevrolet started in business at an early age. Feldman said he lived for baseball in the 1950s.

"I was cleaning the seats at Tiger Stadium, it used to be the Briggs park. That was the biggest thing in my life. That was the only thing. I could get in the ball park. I just had my palms out for my tips as I cleaned the seats. Then I cleaned the seats."

MAYOR MATTHEW QUINN: A Kalamazoo native, Quinn spent ages 3 to 13 in the 1950s. In an era where the celebrities included the likes of Mickey Mantle, Al Kaline, Willie Mays and Hank Aaron, Novi's future mayor dedicated most of his free time to sports — particularly baseball.

"We used to collect baseball cards. If my mom hadn't thrown them out, I'd be rich right now."

"Davy Crockett was a hero. I can remember getting up early in the morning — we lived upstairs above my grandmother, she had the first black and white TV in the neighborhood — I used to sneak down the first thing in the morning and watch the test pattern until the TV shows came on. Captain Midnight. Buck Rogers. Howdy Doody was one of my favorites. And Kukla, Fran and Ollie . . . I can remember having a riding horse, and cowboy hat and a pair of guns. Hopalong Cassidy, Gene Autry and Roy Rogers were on. A lot of TV was watched on Saturdays."

MARTHA HOYER: For City Council Member Martha Hoyer, a member of the Cass Tech High School's Class of '56, the 1950s were a time for pajama parties, bobby sox, saddle shoes and pony tails — when she wasn't setting her hair in pin curls.

"I never had a poodle skirt but I had a taffeta dress with three-inch heels. You made noise when you walked because taffeta is so stiff. I must have had around 12 crinolines. You usually wore about six or seven (at a time). You'd starch them stiff so they stood alone. They were scratchy. You put a nice nylon slip underneath so you didn't feel it so badly."

KATHY MUTCH: President of the Novi Historical Society, was born in 1948, just in time to spend some of her formative years in the 1950s — the golden age of television cowboy shows. As a kid in Denver, Colorado, Sky King and Davy Crockett seemed like the kind of folks who'd fit right in.

"I can remember we used to have air raid drills, the way people have tornado drills now. In some cases, you'd have to go under your desk or go out in the hallway and put your head between your knees. They were called air raid drills — everybody knew what they were about. It was just part of school. We never were a family that stocked food in the basement. People didn't really think about the effects of nuclear war. They had these unreal expectations that somehow it was survivable."

The events that shaped the decade

They called their decade "the jet age," "the space age," "the atomic age," "the push button age."

In our naivete, we think of the 1950s as the age of innocence.

We remember it as a fun time when both jet planes and rock music broke the sound barrier. But reality has a way of shattering myths: only two rock and roll songs led the charts during the decade. Holding down the No. 1 spot were records like "Good night, Irene" by the Weavers, "The Tennessee Waltz" by Patti Page, "Song From the Moulin Rouge" by Percy Faith, "Volare" by Domenico Modugno and "Mack The Knife" by Bobby Darin.

It's possible in our search for "happy days" that we oversimplify a complex and vital era. Maybe life never was easy, not even when you handled it with little pearl-buttoned white gloves.

■ Do-it-yourselfers find that home bomb shelter plans are readily available.

■ A plastic money milestone — Dinner's Club invents the credit card.

■ Americans tune in on 4.4 million TV sets (up from 7,000 in 1946 but a far cry from 1960's 50 million).

■ Lewis Shayon's book "Television and Our Children" discusses the impact of gratuitous violence in television of the 1940s.

■ "What's My Line?" the first TV game show, begins an 18-year run, with a hat-check girl from the Stork Club as the premier contestant. Panelist Steve Allen will coin the question "Is it bigger than a breadbox?"

■ North Korea invades South Korea and U.S. troops are sent in under the command of General Douglas MacArthur.

■ CBS scoops its competitors with the first color telecast.

■ Everybody's saying "I Love Lucy" and Ricky, Fred and Ethel for the next 10 years.

■ Another great moment in design history: "amazingly real" plastic plants are introduced to eager consumers.

■ Rodgers & Hammerstein score big with "The King and I," inspiring a craze for Siamese-style pajamas and jewelry.

■ "Just the facts, Ma'am" — America's most successful cop show,

A Mustang entered in last year's Grand River Cruise

"Dragnet" starts a seven-year run.

■ Anything Da Vinci can do, you can do better after Palmer Paint Company of Detroit introduces the instant fad "paint by number" kits. (The Last Supper sells for $11.50)

■ They liked Ike. General Dwight D. Eisenhower beats Illinois Gov. Stevenson to the White House, with the help of promotional material like the catch campaign button "Ike and Dick, sure to click."

■ For your viewing pleasure, the first TV Guide is published.

■ Convicted of passing atomic secrets to the Soviets, Ethel and Julius Rosenberg are electrocuted at Sing Sing prison in New York.

■ 20 percent of the U.S. population has moved to the 'burbs.

■ Fortune Magazine finds that 17.9 million American families qualify as high-income, i.e. have household earnings of $7,500 or more.

■ The Korean War ends as a draw; 54,246 Americans were killed in the three years.

■ Congress inserts the "under God" clause in the Pledge of Allegiance.

■ The cloth diaper industry soars — four million babies are born.

■ A feast in aluminum, the first TV dinner is sold: turkey, sweet potatoes and peas.

■ Comic books reach a peak of popularity, 100 million are purchased monthly, giving the reader a choice of 650 titles.

■ It's a stick-up — Con-Tact paper becomes an instant success.

■ Ernest Hemingway's "The Old Man and the Sea" wins the Nobel Prize for literature.

■ "King of the wild frontier" Davy Crockett, as portrayed by Fess Parker, debuts on the new Disneyland TV series, shooting off a $100 million consumer frenzy for records, coonskin caps, shirts and lunchboxes.

■ Willie Mays is the baseball's MVP for the New York Giants.

■ A young and thin Elvis cuts his first record, "That's All Right Mamma."

1955:

■ "My blue heaven" — split-level mania sweeps the nation. Would-be homeowners literally line up to buy 'em.

■ General Motors is the first company to report an annual profit of $1 billion.

■ It's not easy being young — Natalie Wood and James Dean star in "A Rebel Without A Cause." Subsequently, Dean, 24, is killed in a car crash.

■ Charles Schulz draws up a storm with "Peanuts."

■ 'ertford, 'ereford and (Rex) 'arrison — Lerner and Loewe's "My Fair Lady," also starring Julie Andrews, becomes the Broadway smash of the decade.

■ Ike whumps Adlai again.

■ Little Richard's "Long Tall Sally" is the first black hit to "cross over" to the white market; Chuck Berry follows with "Roll Over, Beethoven."

■ People were reading J.D. Salinger's "The Catcher in the Rye" and William H. Whyte Jr.'s "The Organization Man." They were having trouble reading Allen Ginsberg's poem "Howl" — the poetry books were seized by San Francisco police on obscenity charges. It's not easy being Beat.

■ Cleveland disc jockey Alan Freed bans all Pat Boone records from his radio show. Real gone.

■ Local news flashes: The Detroit Lions roar past the Cleveland Browns for the NFL crown. Berry Gordy Jr. sells his first hit song for a cool $1,000: "Reet Petite," recorded by Jackie Wilson. Ford introduces the Edsel; no one wants to get acquainted.

■ Orbiter I, the first — successful — U.S. satellite is launched.

■ So are "Leave It To Beaver," "The Twilight Zone," "Bonanza" and "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis."

■ Wham-O markets the hula hoop for $1.98 apiece; in six months 30 million are sold.

■ Speaking of mass consumption, fifty percent of all records sold are now purchased by teen-agers.

■ Barbie, the teen-aged fashion vixen, is introduced by Mattel Inc.

■ Ritchie Valens, the Big Bopper and Buddy Holly die in a plane crash in Clear Lake, Iowa.

1972:

■ What goes around comes around. The fifties are rediscovered in the Broadway hit "Grease," starring Barry Bostwick. The score includes the tear-jerker "It's Raining on Prom Night."

1973:

■ All right, the movie was set in 1962. But "American Graffiti" fed the bizarre hunger for the 1950s and inspired a new television show the following year.

1974:

■ Meet Arthur Fonzarelli, your mother's worst nightmare. "Happy Days" salutes juvenile delinquency and 1970s college students abandon protest marches for fab fifties parties.

1988:

■ Just when you thought it was safe to throw out your blue suede shoes, Novi presents the first Michigan '50s Festival.

Fun at the festival

The '50s fest is a great family event, with activities for all ages. To offer just a sampling (clockwise from above) Becky Lucas, then age 6, performed a dance last year in typical Fifties grab — a poodle skirt; clowns Joann Roma and Allison Downs passed out balloons at the downtown merchants' ice cream social; Novi firefighters Charles Hughes and Jeff Leininger whipped up pancakes for Sunday morning breakfast; Novi Town Center manager Jane Schimpf joined in with Vince Vance & the Valiants during last year's Saturday night concert; and Scott Toth, then age 6, worked at flipping a pizza last year.

MICHIGAN 50s FESTIVAL

Fifties Festival has grown over the years

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

Over 2,000 sock hoppers will take a trolley ride back in time to an era when girls wore poodle skirt and boys wore slicked back hair and white T-shirts.

The Twilight Zone has not come to Novi. Instead it's the Michigan '50s Festival Sock Hop Express taking off at 8:30 p.m. on Friday, July 26.

Festival organizers will provide transportation between six area hotels and an entertainment center set up in the Novi Town Center. The hotels will provide a dance floor and '50s style bands for participants to dance the night away sockhop style.

The Farmington Hills Holiday Inn, the Wyndham Garden Hotel at Novi, the Embassy Suites in Livonia and the Novi Sheraton Oaks were opened to sock hoppers in years past and will participate again this year.

The Novi Hilton rejoined the festival after a year's absence, and the recently opened Hotel Baronette is on board the Sock Hop Express this year.

The extra hotel space will help accommodate an expected 2,500 sock hoppers at the fourth annual '50s Festival. Last year, 1,800 participated in the Sock Hop Express.

Admission to each hotel and transportation between hotels will be provided for $12 in advance or $15 at the door.

Oakland County buses and the Classic Trolley, formerly the Dearborn Trolley, will ferry dancers decked out in '50s garb between hotels.

One form of transportation or the other will depart from each hotel about every 15 minutes.

Those who do not wish to totally immerse themselves in the 1950s can wear modern clothing, but many come dressed up, Kopczynski said.

Tickets usually are still available the night of the express at the entertainment tent, but Kopczynski recommendeds early ticket purchase.

Tickets can be purchased at any participating hotel, the Novi Chamber of Commerce, the Novi Parks and Recreation Department or by mail, P.O. Box 187, Novi 48050.

Call 349-1950 for more information.

How much do you know about the '50s

How much do you really know about the 1950s?

Perhaps you've read about them. Perhaps you lived through the era. Maybe you were even paying attention. But how much do you really know? (And how much can you remember?)

To test your knowledge (and memory), the Novi News offers the following quintessential Fifties trivia contest.

Just read the questions and check the box next to the correct answer, or at least the one which would have been correct back in the '50s.

Then bring your answer sheet to the Novi News booth at the Fifties Festival site in the Novi Town Center and we'll grade your papers.

If you've answered all the questions correctly (and these questions are really hard), you will be eligible to enter a drawing to win two tickets to the Saturday evening concert featuring "Danny & the Juniors" and "Rocky & the Rollers." The show begins at 6 p.m. in the Happy Days Entertainment Tent in the Town Center.

The names of the winners will be drawn from among the correct answers each evening at 6 p.m. A total of 40 tickets are to be given away.

QUICK SALE

"We needed a quick sale in order to purchase our new home. We had two offers the first weekend and saved $5,010* over paying a 6% commission. I told my sister how easy it was and she and her husband are now listed with Help-U-Sell."
Sandy and Jim Leek

WEEKLY LIST HELPFUL

"We found our home in the Free Weekly List of Properties. Our Counselor was very helpful in guiding us through our first home purchase. The negotiations and escrow went smoothly and we got a great loan. We'll definitely use Help-U-Sell again."
Greg & Cindy Armstrong

THE SYSTEM WORKS

"We sold our home off the Help-U-Sell advertising. The exposure was amazing! We realized a $9,490* savings in real estate fees when compared to traditional 6% commissions. All we did was show our home and Help-U-Sell took care of all the technical details. Their system really works; we recommend it to anyone who has the time and wants to save."
Mike & Elaine Siemons

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

"With Help-U-Sell, we found it so convenient to be put in direct contact with the seller. That way, we got all our questions answered no matter how small. Other brokers never seem prepared to answer the small questions and they don't allow sellers to interact with buyers. Help-U-Sell saved us time and money when we sold our home which was really valuable with a new baby on the way."
Dave and Sue Stevens

WE WERE IMPRESSED

"Over a period of 9 months, 3 major real estate companies tried to sell our home. Combined, the 3 were not nearly as helpful as the Help-U-Sell Counselors who helped us sell it in 3 months. We were very impressed with all they did for us. In addition to the friendly, courteous service, we saved $2,300* in sales commissions."
Debi and Dave Olmstead

I'LL USE HELP-U-SELL AGAIN

"I was a little reluctant to try the 'sell by owner' idea because I assumed there would be hours and hours of work involved. But after talking to Help-U-Sell, I decided to give it a try. Well...I needn't have worried. I had a confirmed sale in 2 months and I did little more than routine upkeep and hold an occasional open house. If I ever sell again, I'm using Help-U-Sell."

The Easy Way to Sell Your Property and Save...

We help you sell your home, townhouse or condominium with major savings to you. As licensed real estate professionals, we provide valuable services which enhance your ability to sell your property. We charge a low pre-determined fee rather than a percentage of the sale price of your home. Our fee is payable only when your property is sold and closed. THERE IS NO ADVANCE FEE. Fee may vary on luxury homes, income property, land and units.

WHAT YOU DO

1. You show your property... (or we'll show it for a small additional fee—payable only if sold to the parties so shown).

WHAT WE DO FOR $3,150*

1. We discuss the "BAD" as well as the "GOOD" in all offers and try to save you money wherever possible.
2. We place your property into our exclusive marketing system to get you buyers.
3. We send an ad on your property to potential buyers now looking for property.
4. We place your property on the Multiple Listing Service (for an additional fee).
5. We help you avoid problems and assist you should any problems come up.
6. We help you with escrow/settlement.
7. We follow through on your sale until it closes and you get your check.
8. We help your buyers obtain financing (many times there are seven or eight methods).
9. We protect you with our satisfaction guarantee.
10. We charge no fee unless your property sells, then we are paid at closing.
11. We estimate your net proceeds at the time you place your property for sale and when you receive an offer to buy.
12. We guarantee, in writing, to advertise your property every week in the newspaper.

YOU COULD SAVE $4,050

by selling your home with Help-U-Sell instead of a broker who charges a 6% of sale price commission (savings based on a home selling for $120,000).

NOTE: Real estate commission rates are not set by law.

FACTS

- We are licensed real estate brokers
- We are full service brokers
- We show property (our listings and multiple)
