WAYNE COUNTY'S OLDEST PAPER ESTABLISHED 1869

Vol. 123, No. 89, Two Sections, 12 Pages, Plus Supplements

MONDAY, July 29, 1991 — NORTHVILLE, MICHIGAN

FIFTY CENTS

World Series time

No, it's not October, but in Northville the world series is the National Amateur Baseball Federation Sophomore and Junior World Series. Organized by Bob Frellick, the tournaments bring some of the best amateur ball players in the world to the Northville High School field. The sophomore series took place last week. Northville's entry, Sandy Koufax A, split its first two games in the double-elimination tournament. Above, Ron Marshall connects in an 11-6 loss to Miamisburg Ohio Post 165 on Thursday. Northville came back with a 7-2 win over Dayton (Maryland) Raiders on Friday; further results were not available by press time. This Thursday, the Junior World Series gets under way at 3 p.m. with Northville Mickey Mantle taking on a team from the Georgia region at the high school field. Admission is $2.

Residents turn out to fight mining plan

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Township residents and planning commissioners last week listened intently as Holloway Sand & Gravel representatives pitched their proposal for a Ridge Road-based mining operation.

Seemingly no one was pleased with what they heard.

Visions of twin-bedded gravel trucks rumbling past homes at a clip of one per every minute-and-a-half sent tremors through an audience of 50 gathered at township hall.

The thought of a proposed asphalt plant spewing noise and smoke about the rustic Ridge/Six Mile roads area did not help.

And concerns that high-powered water pumps used to clean gravel might draw contaminated water from the nearby Browning-Ferris Industries landfill capped an evening that no one seemed to enjoy.

Planners eventually tabled the special land-use permit review after requesting that Holloway submit additional information at a to-be-announced meeting.

Residents' opposition to the proposed 177-acre mining project was loud and clear. Many of those who attended the public hearing prior to the planning commission review claimed the project would not benefit Northville Township.

Caustic comments ranged from those who feared constant truck traffic to those who loathed the idea of water contamination. Some wondered about future land use.

"This hole in the ground that he's going to make isn't going to make any money for Northville Township (after the planned 10-year mining operation ceases)," said resident Eugene Rinders.

Holloway plans to excavate 83 acres of the proposed site, which roughly is flanked by Ridge and Napier to the east and west, and by Five Mile and Six Mile to the south and north.

The proposed mining operation also lies approximately a half-mile from the BFI landfill and about the same distance from the proposed Shores of Northville residential development.

The Blue Heron Pointe and Docksey subdivisions — at just over a mile away — are the nearest heavily-populated residential areas to Holloway's site.

The mining operation eventually will create a 55-acre lake. Holloway representative Kristine Andonian said. Thirty-five acres of the site will be suitable for future industrial development, she said.

"Continuous, accelerated restoration" will be accomplished throughout the mining operation, Andonian said.

When asked what impact the quarry might have on nearby property values, Andonian said: "... there will be no impact on property values."

Her statement was met with a chorus of moans from the audience.

Holloway's approach to another issue was greeted in similar fashion. Residents did not buy Holloway traffic consultant Bill Taylor's conclusion that gravel trucks would not adversely impact western township roads.

Holloway plans to run approximately 400 trucks per day along its truck route south on Ridge to Five Mile, where the trucks will roll east to Beek Road and south to M-14.

"The noise and dirt are going to be terrible," one resident said. Another complained that gravel trucks created a safety hazard.

But Taylor saw no need for worry. "I don't find any particular traffic problems (that would) preclude using this as a haul route," he said.

When Andonian was asked for assurances that Holloway would not use a north-on-Beek haul route, she said dismissed the question as an "enforcement issue" for local weighmasters.

Information-hungry planners sent Holloway away for the evening with a following list of topics to be discussed at future sessions. Commissioner Larry Sheehan voiced displeasure with Holloway representatives, hinting that the firm misled planners on the amount of gravel-truck trips per day.

"We don't mean to mislead anyone," Holloway's Richard Zanotti replied. "We will not mislead you; if (an issue) needs clarification, we will clarify."

Forum explores candidate views

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Supporters, campaign workers, the press, and perhaps a few undecided voters packed the old Friendly restaurant in Plymouth Wednesday for the lone scheduled 36th District state representatives forum.

Three Republican candidates vying for the right to replace Gerald Law as state representative debated issues for about 90 minutes in a countdown to the Aug. 6 Republican primary.

The forum was sponsored by the Northville/Plymouth/Canton League of Women Voters and The Northville Record.

No clear-cut winner emerged from the trio of Northville Township Supervisor Georgina Goss, Realtor/Plymouth City Commissioner Jerry Vorva, and Ford Motor Co. executive/Canton Township precinct delegate Deborah Whyman, but the forum did allow voters a chance to observe distinct differences in candidates' positions.

Whyman supporters cheered when their candidate responded to an abortion stance question by proclaiming she was "pro-life, anti-abortion and endorsed by Right to Life of Michigan."

Whyman called abortion "murder" at one point.

Vorva drew applause when he said he was "pro-choice" and said "women need to make these choices."

And Goss aligned herself with the pro-choice camp when she said the abortion issue should not be clouded

Township nears a decision on hauler

Northville Township's long-debated and oft-confused solid-waste-handler selection process nears completion.

The township board is slated to award its preferred status solid-waste contract at its Aug. 8 meeting.

Board members gathered in special session last Thursday to mull final questions and details about the Wayne County-mandated collections plan. The township's recently approved solid-waste ordinance is scheduled to take effect Sept. 1.

One refuse collection firm will receive a contract to pick up the bulk of township residential household solid waste and compostable materials, under the township plan.

Township residents will receive four years worth of free recyclables collections under a proposed agreement with Browning-Ferris Industries. The township and BFI will ink the agreement within "two or three weeks," Supervisor Georgina Goss said Thursday.

Inkster-based Painter & Ruthenberg appears to have claimed the inside track for township solid-waste

Eight Mile repaving, widening set next year

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Writer

Reconstruction and widening of Eight Mile east of Novi Road will begin next spring.

Wayne County Engineer Arthur Matsumura said work will stretch from Haggerty Road to Novi Road. Currently, the county, which is handling construction, is taking bids for the project.

"We will be taking bids until this fall," Matsumura said.

Eight Mile Road will be widened from two to five lanes. Work will be done in two phases.

Eight Mile from Haggerty Road to Meadowbrook Road will be "totally reconstructed" next year, Matsumura said. Work will likely conclude, he added, by the summer of 1992.

The following year, work will extend from Meadowbrook to Novi Road. Matsumura didn't say when the project would be completely finished.

Eight Mile will not close during construction. Matsumura said two lanes of traffic will remain open at all times.

Cost of the road improvements is estimated at $4.6 million. Matsumura said. Funding for the work, he added, will be split by the state, Wayne County and the City of Novi.

According to Novi Public Services Director Tony Nowicki, the city's portion of the bill will total about $100,000. He said that portion would be paid from city road funds.

A new wrinkle has been added to the project. In a recent memo to City Manager Edward Kriewall, Nowicki said sidewalks would be built along the north side of Eight Mile in conjunction with the roadwork.

Estimates for the sidewalks is $43,000, Nowicki said. Highway funds will be used to pay for walkways, according to the memo.

Wayne County will hold a public information meeting on the project at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 21 at the Novi Civic Center, on Ten Mile east of Taft.

Schools of old developed quickly

Editor's note: Every Monday until the Victorian Festival, Sept. 13-15, the Record will take a look at one aspect of life during the Victorian era. Today's article concerns schools.

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

The first graduate of Northville High School received her diploma in 1869, well into the Victorian era.

It was with the dawn of Victorianism in 1827 that the first school was built in the area.

As detailed in the book Northville: The First 100 Years by Jack Hoffman, William Bartow, the first supervisor of the township that included Northville, Plymouth and Canton, built a log barn that became the first school. The school was located on Haggerty Road between Seven and Eight mile roads and may have been intended for storage when he built it.

But the year he constructed the hut on his farm, Elizabeth Yerkes arrived in the township to become the first teacher of Northville's first school. Ten students were educated in the Northville school's first year of operation.

A second school was begun the next year when Hiram Willworth began instructing students in a log cabin on what is now the corner of Eight Mile and Taft roads.

The corner was once the intersection of two paths originally blazed by native Americans. When the school was opened, the building was in the wilderness. Deer, bears and wolves still wandered the area.

A third school was opened in 1829 somewhere near the Eight Mile, Novi Road and Griswold intersection.

In 1833, residents of "School District No. 2" began to plan construction of a public school located in what would today be north of Main street and east of Center Street overlooking Ford field.

In Northville's first school election, voters (adult males only) approved construction of the building. It was built in cobblestones laid in lime mortar and could hold 100 students. In 1898, the town was engaged in a patriotic fervor prompted by the Spanish / American War. A letter to the editor in The Northville Record said, "The old stone schoolhouse is fast going to rack and ruin."

An editorial called for suggestions to save the building. None were offered and by the end of the century the building was in ruins.

Northville's first graduate, Alice

FREE CAR WASH: The Northville High School Class of 1994, this fall's sophomores, will hold a free car wash Aug. 3. It will be held at the Detroit Savings Bank on the corner of Center Street and Randolph. All the money raised, through donations, will go to the Class of '94 funds. It will begin at 8 a.m. and continue until 6 p.m. or until all cars have gone through. Rain date is Aug. 10.

GOVERNOR TO MAKE APPEARANCE: Gov. John Engler will visit Northville Township July 31 to sign legislation authorizing the sale of 16 acres of state property to the township. Engler is scheduled to sign the bill at 4 p.m. at township hall, 41600 Six Mile Road.

The township purchased the property for $1 earlier this year as part of a deal to allow state prison cap increases at Scott Correctional Facility. The property is located along Seven Mile between Northville Regional Hospital and the Michigan State Police Post.

PUBLIC HEARING ON BEALTOWN REZONING: The Northville City Council voted at its July 15 meeting to proceed with a proposed rezoning of the Bealtown neighborhood from R-2 to R-1B. The rezoning would prohibit the conversion of single-family homes to duplexes, but allow existing duplexes to continue to operate.

The council called an Aug. 5 public hearing on the proposal. The city planning commission agreed to forward the proposal to the council after its own public hearing July 1. The commission heard arguments from residents on both sides of the issue and voted 7-2 to rezone, with commissioners Chris Gazlay and Dick Wilhelm opposing the proposal.

CHORE WORKERS NEEDED: Senior citizens in western Wayne County need assistance with yard work, window washing, and other chores around the house. The Senior Alliance Chore Referral Program is a new service designed to help older adults and chore workers establish contact.

Older adults may contact the Senior Alliance to see if any workers are available in their area. Once a senior chooses a worker and decides to hire that worker, it is the responsibility of the senior to set up a work schedule and pay the worker.

Workers are asked to charge no more than $6 per hour and must provide three references to the Senior Alliance before they will be entered into the program.

If you or someone you know would like to join the Senior Alliance Chore Referral Program call 722-2830 for more details.

SIDEWALK/GARAGE SALE: The Northville Merchants' Association plans Sidewalk Sales and Northville's Garage Sale for Aug. 2 and 3. Non-profit groups that would like to participate on Saturday, Aug. 3 are invited to send an application stating their group name, contact person, phone number, and what they would like to do, along with how much space they need, to: Sidewalk Sales, c/o Traditions, 111 N. Center St., Northville, MI 48167.

COMMUNITY COOKBOOK AVAILABLE: The First Presbyterian Church of Northville is selling a community cookbook full of favorite recipes from Northville and the surrounding area.

Books are $6.50 each and are on sale at the church. For more information call 349-0911.

PERFORMERS WANTED: The Northville Community Chamber of Commerce is in the process of booking acts for the annual Northville Victorian Festival.

The chamber welcomes applications from bands, mimes, clowns or anything else along similar lines. Chamber Executive Director Laurie Marrs also asks that if anyone knows of such an act, or sees one performing somewhere else, to ask for their card.

Anyone involved in performing or who knows of a good performer should call Marrs at the chamber office, 349-7640.

LICENSE PLATES FOR SALE: The latest edition Northville license plate is now on sale.

The license plates, which feature a design of the downtown clock to complement the latest Northville mugs, sell for $6 each. They are available in the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce office, 195 S. Main St.

OUR LADY OF PROVIDENCE SEEKS ASSISTANTS: Our Lady of Providence Center is accepting volunteers to assist staff in the supervision of developmentally impaired girls in the classroom, work training program, residential program and the Volunteer Visiting Foster Family program.

Training for the classroom, work training and residential programs will be provided to all volunteers and hours are flexible. Volunteers from all age groups teen to retirees are welcome.

If interested in volunteering a few hours each week call Jarl Smith at 453-1300.

CIVIC CONCERN COMMITTEE: Civic Concern, the Northville-based organization to help the area's needy, welcomes volunteers.

The volunteers at Civic Concern distribute food and coordinate other emergency intervention measures for the needy throughout northwestern Wayne and southwestern Oakland counties two times a month.

For information on volunteering time or money, call Marlene Kunz at 344-1033. Civic Concern is based in the Scout Building, 215 W. Main.

RED CROSS: With the cooperation of volunteers, the Southeastern Michigan Chapter of the American Red Cross provides necessary support to the community. Blood services, disaster and military family services, and other services need volunteers to continue the Red Cross tradition of helping others.

The Red Cross provides all volunteers with thorough training, guidance and support.

For more information on how you can be a Red Cross volunteer, call the Northwest Regional Office in Livonia at 422-2787. There is a part for everyone to play in the Red Cross.

The Northville Record periodically publishes a list of not-for-profit organizations in the area seeking people to volunteer their time. We welcome additions to our list. Representatives of any such group may submit the pertinent information to: Volunteer Briefs, The Northville Record, 104 W. Main, Northville, MI 48167, Attention: Bob Needham.

AREA HOOP STAR: Chad Dicken, an eighth-grader at Novi Middle School, was the starting forward for a local 13-and-under basketball squad that advanced to the semifinals of the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) National Basketball Tournament held in Roanoke, Va. on July 13-21.

Dicken was the only local member of the Little-Ma-Power team that is based in suburban Detroit and is coached by Gary Fralick, the varsity boys coach at Troy High School.

Little-Ma-Power qualified for the nationals by placing second at the AAU State Tournament in Monroe last spring. The team sported a 4-3 record in the national tournament and wound up placing fourth in a field of 66 teams. Amazingly, Little-Ma-Power headed into the competition seeded 52nd.

District readies flexible communication network

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

Northville teachers in different buildings will soon be able to share lesson plans, ideas and classrooms, and someday they will be able to work directly with teachers in neighboring school districts.

The school board voted July 8 to approve a $549,100 contract with Elan Engineering to design and install a fiber optic network linking classrooms by voice, video and data. Money for the program will come from the school district's 1989 bond issue.

The problem for district administrators was not in deciding which company to choose when awarding bids, but in finding bidders willing to work with the district's needs.

Director of Instruction William Hamilton said many companies offered computer and video system packages, but none of them fit the district's needs exactly.

So Hamilton and Director of Business and Finance John Street designed their own package and set out to find a company who could supply it.

"You keep asking, 'Here's what we want to do; can you do it?' and finally someone says, 'Yeah, we can do it,'" Street said.

A system could have been in place a year ago at a cost of about $25 million, Hamilton estimates, if the district had settled with a pre-packaged computer system.

Instead, Hamilton hopes to have a system in place by Thanksgiving that will, for example, allow a Meads Mill teacher to provide instruction to a Cooke classroom.

Teachers will be able to share lesson plans via computer linkups. Telephones will be in every classroom linking teachers only to other teachers and administrators. The phone system will not cost the district anything per call because it will be run through the same fiber optic network as the computers and video hookups.

Hamilton and Street knew very little about computer systems when they started, but that didn't stop them from trying to find a company that could accommodate the district. They said administrators in other districts just need to roll up their sleeves and dig in to find the right system at an affordable price.

"You take a guy like Bill and a guy like me, and what do we know about putting together a computer system,"

Street said. "Every district is like this."

Northville may be the first, or one of the first, school districts attempting to link every classroom in every building, but anyone will be able to do it after Elan designs the system.

Any other school district or institution that has a fiber optic network could be linked up to Northville schools, allowing for shared resources between districts, Hamilton said.

Novi and Northville schools could, for example, share a Japanese language class or advanced placement classes.

"It's not far away technically," Hamilton said.

Next year Northville schools will be able to link up with a similar system within 60 miles. But satellite transmission is just about three years away, Hamilton said, making even farther transmission possible.

And the fiber optic network should be compatible with whatever technology surfaces in the next several years.

"There is no one that we've talked to that expects fiber optics to be replaced by anything," Hamilton said.

Thinking even further down the road, what technology can do for education will only be limited by imagination, he said.

But a future where kids stay home and are educated solely by a video screen will mostly likely never arrive, he said.

Human interaction makes education work, Hamilton said, and even long distance learning programs require some kind of facilitator to provide hands on instruction.

Those who think a television in every classroom sounds a little excessive are missing the point that many children in today's television-oriented society need visual stimulation to learn, Street said.

Using tools like televisions and computer screens will increase the options of educators intent on reaching more students, he said.

"It's just a mode of learning. It's not good or bad; it just is," he said.

After the system is installed, getting teachers to use it will be the next step.

"You can't train people unless you have the hardware," said Assistant Superintendent for Instructional Services Dolly McMaster.

But several teachers already have lesson plans ready to use as soon as the new system is in place, Hamilton said.

Northville Recycles at sidewalk sales

The Northville Merchants' Association is sponsoring Sidewalk Sales this Friday and Saturday, Aug. 2 and 3. There will be new events in addition to the bargains offered by the retailers.

The theme for Sidewalk Sales will be "Northville Recycles" and the events and activities will be based around recycling and re-using.

On Friday, the merchants will set up their wares on the sidewalks for all the early bargain hunters. On Saturday, the streets will be closed and the stores along with non-profit groups and food vendors will be out on the road.

Three special areas will be set aside for up to 100 families to have their own garage sale on Saturday, August 3. Applications are on a first-come, first-served basis and are available at Traditions by Bartley & Boyd, Mountain Rags, and The Shipping Station, all located on Center Street. There is a $10 sign-up fee for the garage sale space.

During the day Saturday, there will be family-oriented activities and informational booths and fun for everyone. The finale will be an auction at 5 p.m. in the bandshell. The auctioneers Braun & Helmer have agreed to auction donations from the local stores and from the community.

The Merchants' Association has designated Civic Concern, a local charity that helps Northville residents, to receive a portion of the proceeds from the Sidewalk Sale events.

The members of the Sidewalk Sale committee are: Cathy Noble, The Shipping Station; Teri Fry and Tudy Licht, Mountain Rags; and Karen Slack and Susan MacGonigal, Traditions.

Also on Saturday, Genitt's Hole-in-the-Wall will host another sports card show in the basement. Admission is $1; the show runs from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

A unique, innovative approach to caring for people with Alzheimer's Disease...

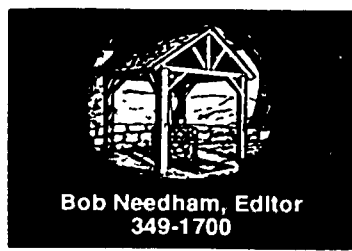

Are you searching for a place for your loved one with Alzheimer's Disease (or a related illness) to live? Would you prefer a home-like setting to meet the unique needs of your spouse or family member?

Consider the Special Care Unit at the Alzheimer's Care & Training Center, in Ann Arbor on Catherine McAuley Health System's (CMHS) main site. Our goal is to create a supportive environment where people can use their remaining abilities with dignity for as long as possible. Features of this model program, developed by professionals at CMHS and Eastern Michigan University, include

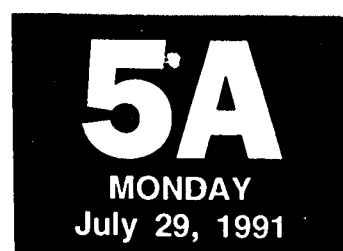

- Specially trained staff
- A stimulating environment with opportunities for participation in activities such as household tasks, baking, gardening, music and going for walks
- An individualized plan of care developed by staff in collaboration with the family
- Families are invited to be involved as much as they would like to be

RECORD OPINION

Our Opinion

Effort on model seems misdirected and futile

A lot of time has been spent studying the Michigan Model in Northville, and now it appears that a lot more time will be spent on the issue before it is resolved. A state Senate committee has been formed to review the model by holding a series of hearings throughout the state.

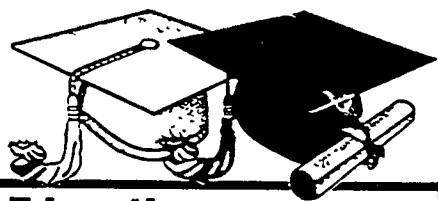

We do not question the rights of Northville parents to go to their legislators with questions or complaints about the state-endorsed health model. We do question, however, the senators' wisdom in deciding to spend taxpayers' time and money in addressing the same concerns that have already been addressed on the local level.

The Michigan Model is used in over 500 of the state's school districts. But it is not mandatory. School districts must have a comprehensive health curriculum in place, but it is up to local administrators and school boards to decide which health model it will choose to use. Northville has chosen, after much deliberation, to continue using the Michigan Model. This decision was not made in haste. A health committee studied 227 written objections to the model for over 300 hours. Following a two-hour presentation, the school board voted unanimously to renew its support of the model.

Now a Senate committee wants to second-guess the decision of educators, health officials and the majority of parents. And we have to wonder why. Even if the Senate committee decides to introduce legislation to change the model, it is not likely to pass.

The issue has been resolved, at least in Northville. None of those involved in the group Parents Concerned with the Improvement of the Michigan Model ran for two opening positions on the school board. The school millage proposal passed by a margin of 2-to-1 although members of the parent group opposed the millage. It is clear that the people of Northville overwhelmingly support the school district. And it is clear that the majority of Northville residents do not support those in opposition to the model. The situation is similar in school districts throughout the state where the model has become an issue. A majority of Michigan legislators would be unlikely to pass legislation in direct contradiction to what voters have been shown to support on the local level.

But let's assume for a moment that the senators introduce legislation to have the model changed or removed as the state's health curriculum of choice. And let's assume it is successful. What would dismantling the Michigan Model prove? Local districts now have the choice to use or not to use the model. Northville, and many other districts, have actively chosen to use and support the Michigan Model.

If this committee's work ends with significant changes to the model, we're not sure what that would have accomplished, even from the parents' group's perspectives. Individual districts could presumably still choose to use any exercises or lessons the committee deems offensive — the materials are all in place and in use.

Examination of the model is a good idea. Improvement of the model is a good idea. Any state-approved program should stand up to examination by the public, and any program can always be improved. This series of hearings, however, does not seem to us to be the best way to accomplish these goals. Even though the model is a state-approved way to fill a state requirement, the fact remains that issues of curriculum are at their core local issues. They belong before local boards of education. If statewide hearings are indeed necessary, let the state Board of Education hold them, not the Senate.

Senators investigating the Michigan Model should be aware that those attending the hearings are an well-organized, vocal minority group. If these groups were in the majority they would have had more success controlling local school politics and would not have sought the ear of their state representatives. Removing the choice for local districts who have decided to use the Michigan Model is not the answer. Nor is spending more tax money investigating an issue that has been resolved in many districts around the state. The answer can only be found in local school districts. And parents, school officials and administrators have decided the answer in Northville is to continue using the Michigan Model.

Ultimate Rold Gold Moment

One of the Detroit newspapers last week announced what we here in the newsroom already knew: that the best pretzel anywhere is Rold Gold.

The Detroit Free You-Know-What held a taste test among a panel of readers and asked them to rate the various brands of pretzel. Rold Gold not only came out on top, but its three variations swept the top three positions.

Placing first was the Bavarian style, followed by the Tiny Twists and the pretzel rods.

We in the newsroom have been Rold Gold supporters for quite some time. While some offices take coffee breaks, we share "Rold Gold Moments," every mid-morning. I suppose it started when our most recent addition, Scott Daniel, showed up late last year.

In his daily brown-bag lunch, he included a bag of Rold Gold pretzels. Little did we know that he was already under the spell of these crunchy brown slices of ambrosia.

Being the generous sort, Scott began offering his bag of Rold Gold around the office. Like Adam taking the apple, we each indulged. Soon the rest of us fell under the Frito-Lay influence as well.

Jan Jeffres was the last to fall. Always one to march to the beat of her own drummer, Jan eschewed the Rold Gold and showed up with a bag of Grandma Shearer's No Salt Oat Bran Pretzels.

The devotees gathered 'round for a side-by-side taste test. It was, to say the least, no contest. Rold Gold had more snap, more flavor, and enough salt to harden your arteries at 20 paces.

But perhaps the most searing defeat for Grandma Shearer's came in comparing the nutritional information. According to the label these "No Salt" and "Oat Bran" pretzels — whose label would lead you to believe they are actually healthful — were actually higher in fat and sodium and lower in protein and carbohydrates than our beloved Rold Gold.

Jan was soundly chastised for darkening our doorway with her pretenders to the junk-food throne. Soon, she too was converted.

The Free Press's survey concurred with our own findings, as Grandma Shearer's rated a 47.2 on a scale of 100, compared to scores in the high 70s and 80s for the various Rold Gold products.

In celebration of the Rold Gold triumph, Scott treated the office to the Ultimate Rold Gold Moment. He ran to the party store and picked up Bavarians, tiny twists and rods for everyone (I'm the only one that eats the rods. I like 'em because I can do my bad Groucho Marx imitation with 'em).

If you're in the neighborhood some morning, drop by and share a Rold Gold Moment with us.

Couple more items of interest

More this-and-that gathered from my extensive travels around town:

ITEM: The lady on the other end of the line requested anonymity.

"We have a policy about that," I told her. "The idea is that we improve our credibility by granting anonymity only in circumstances when the news is very important and we can't get the information any other way."

But she persisted. Said she was positive she had news I would find extremely interesting, but would reveal it only if I swore on a stack of Bibles that her identity would not be revealed.

It sounded interesting, so I asked for a clue as to the nature of this "extremely interesting" information before I agreed to grant anonymity.

"I know why Fil Superflisky spells his first name with an F instead of a Ph," she replied. "I was hooked. It was something I had to know, and I figured it was something a lot of readers had to know, too — why Superflisky, the bon vivant, raconteur and super Realtor at ERA Rymal Symes spelled a fine All-American name like Phil with an F."

So I granted her request for anonymity. "Because his name isn't Phil," said my source. "It's Felix. His real name is Felix. And that's why he spells his name with an F instead of a Ph."

"He's going to be really mad when he reads this," I gasped. "Is there anyway he's going to be able to trace this back to you? Do you want me to let you talk to our informant relocation officer?"

She declined, and I thanked her profusely for the information. A free society relies on individuals with the courage to speak up when the public's right to know is threatened.

ITEM: This one is pretty important stuff . . . so important that I probably should have made it the lead.

Why? Because it reveals one man's secret to success, and my very real suspicion is that it contains a great deal of truth.

About a month ago, we slighted one of the area's finer business establishments — Brickscape, Inc. We ran a correction, and I also sent Joe and Diane DiRado, the owners, a letter of apology.

My wife, the family gardener, patronizes Brickscape frequently, but I felt that I needed to make myself a little more familiar with their operation so I put it on my list of places to visit on one of my Sunday morning drives around the greater Northville/Novi area.

I got there about 8 o'clock last Sunday morning, and guess who I ran into, watering the plants and generally making certain the place was shipshape before it opened for customers? Paul DiRado, Joe's father.

I introduced myself, and we had a pleasant chat. He's originally from Italy and still has a heavy Italian accent. Nice fellow. Very friendly.

I asked him if he always got to work so early on Sunday morning, and that's when I learned his secret of success.

"Six to eight," he said. "Work from six in the morning to eight at night. Seven days a week."

He also said you have to work extremely hard to get a business started, and you have to work even harder after it's established.

"Things can go down very fast," he said. "You've got to make sure that doesn't happen."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

This newspaper welcomes letters to the editor. We ask, however, that they be issue-oriented, confined to 400 words and that they contain the signature, address, and telephone number of the writer. The writer's name may be withheld from publication if the writer fears bodily harm, severe persecution, or the loss of his or her job. The writer requesting anonymity must explain his or her circumstances. Submit letters for consideration by 4 pm Monday for that Thursday's paper. We reserve the right to edit letters for brevity, clarity, libel, and taste.

The week prior to an election, this newspaper will not accept letters to the editor that open up new issues. Only responses to already published issues will be accepted, with this newspaper being the final arbiter. This policy is an attempt to be fair to all concerned.

Mumm is the word in champagne

The success of a champagne is tied closely to its image, which can never be taken for granted. Among the champagne houses, Mumm holds a strong hand in this regard.

The Cordon Rouge bottle upholds an image that bespeaks both tradition and modern lifestyle. The short name Mumm is distinctive, with an attractive ring. Some will even claim that it has given rise to the slogan, "Mumm's the word," known throughout the English-speaking world.

Mumm is the master of slogans that catch the consumer's attention. "Give spirit to the moment" or "To underline the moment" are ageless phrases used by this champagne house.

Cordon Rouge is often used to symbolize champagne and the joie de vivre it represents. The Mumm Cordon Rouge image has been heightened by references in contemporary literature, and Mumm Champagne even appears on stage. Offenbach's operetta La Perichole is frequently performed with a Cordon Rouge ballet!

Mumm was founded in Reims in 1827 and launched its spearhead sparkler Cordon Rouge in 1876. The non-vintage bottling is a majority blend of the black-grapes pinot noir and pinot meunier and 25 percent chardonnay. Vintage-dated Cordon Rouge is produced only in the best years and is always a more full-bodied rendition.

Mumm is the leading champagne firm in Reims. Currently, 9.8 million bottles are released annually. About 6.4 million bottles are exported outside France with 2.3 million coming to the U.S. In general, champagne exports account for one-third of all champagne production. Mumm's share of export production is two thirds.

After many years of development, Mumm has once again taken on the best that the champagne world has to offer with introduction of the 1985 vintages of Mumm Grand Cordon Brut and Mumm Grand Cordon Rose, available on a limited basis in major U.S. markets.

"These two prestige cuvees embody the 'best of the best' in all that we represent," explains Champagne Mumm President Hubert Millet. "The wines are produced exclusively from 100-percent-rated vineyards, with extensive selection, nuanced vinification, hand-riddling, hand bottling, hand-ribboning and packing."

Champagne vineyards are classified on a percentage basis known as the "échelle des crus." This "ladder" is the mechanism determining grape prices in the region. Vineyards rated between 90 and 99 percent are called premiers crus while those classed at 100 percent are grands crus. Within the Champagne region, there are 17 grands crus and 38 premiers crus.

"It was my life's dream to create such superb champagnes," said Chef de Caves Andre Carre, whose 40 years of expertise stand behind his work.

Chef de Caves Carre will continue to use the same proportions of grape varietals in future vintages, although he may select from different grands crus. "Champagne is an affair of the crus, not of the grape varietal," he explains.

WINE SELECTION OF THE WEEK

1985 Mumm Grand Cordon Brut ($80) is one of life's special moment champagnes. Its luxury qualities are exemplified by the steady, small beading and gentle mousse. The aromas of bread dough and toast linger over apple scents. An elegant, creamy mouthfeel is balanced by solid acidity in the finish to keep the wine refreshing. This is a stellar addition to the line of champagnes from Mumm.

Cool off with homemade pops

Homemade fruit pops can cool off a hot summer.

Fruit treats are simple to make

By CHARLES BRITTON
Copley News Service

Common "sherbert" or high-toned "sorbet," elegant fruit ices or homely fruit pops — call them what you will, these frozen treats come into their own now that summer produce is flooding the markets.

All consist of fruit puree or juice mixed with sugar and frozen, and all are equally welcome as a refreshing break when the weather turns hot. When made with fresh ingredients, the flavor is unsurpassed.

Put any of these treats on a stick and you've got a fruit pop. Even here, in a field long dominated by the Pop-sicle, a touch of gourmandise intrudes. You can find a variety in today's freezer cases, and Haagen-Dazs is joining in. Many aficionados have discovered paletas — literally, "paddles," which is what Mexicans call a fruit ice on a stick.

Fruit ices in general are among the easiest of frozen desserts to prepare. Recipes work on the principle that sugar inhibits the formation of ice crystals, but unlike ice cream, a degree of crunchiness does not go amiss. While some formulas call for milk and even cream, most recipes are quite fat-free and thus fit in with some modern ideas of diet. Sugar content, however, can be substantial.

You don't need special equipment to make a fruit ice. The mix may be frozen in your refrigerator freezing compartment. An ice cream maker will produce a smoother, lighter result, but some prefer the snow-cone quality obtained in the refrigerator.

As a preliminary to making any frozen dessert, set your freezer to 0 degrees Fahrenheit well in advance of preparing a recipe.

You can adjust the acidity of the following recipes by adding lemon juice. Many published formulas call for a substantial amount; it may be better to proceed with caution, lest the result end up tasting like lemon sherbert.

You can likewise alter the sugar called for the following recipes to account for taste. But the less sugar, the harder and more granular the outcome. Remember that freezing reduces apparent flavor intensity. When at room temperature, the mixture should taste distinctly too sweet and too strong.

FRUIT POPS

These treats consist essentially of sweetened, frozen fruit juice. But if you proceed to make them as straightforwardly as that, you will not get a uniform mixture. The water tends to freeze first around the edges, concentrating the flavor and sugar toward the middle.

To get around this problem, recipes for home use commonly call for an emulsifying agent, in this case gelatin.

Ginger offers many different uses

Ginger is "in" even though it never really went out.

Gingerbread and gingersnaps are old-fashioned desserts as American as apple pie. Their tanginess is due to dried versus fresh ginger which has always been readily available.

Then there is candied ginger. Covered with sugar, the texture of gummy bears and sharpness that lends itself well to baking.

Or pickled ginger served as an accompaniment with oriental food. Refreshing and tart.

The "new wave" ginger of today's innovative cooks is fresh. Ginger has been essential in Asian cooking for centuries, but it is a comparative newcomer to our western culture. Tourists returning from Hawaii and soldiers coming home from the war brought home a taste for the real thing. Ginger paired with fish, poultry and meats is becoming commonplace.

As with other ancient herbs and spices, ginger was originally used as a medication and preservative. Bronchial maladies, bad kidneys, aching joints and skin infections are a few of the recuperative properties accredited to ginger. Ginger is a hot spice plant with thick branching rhizomes or stems.

It is native to the East Indies, Malaya, and New Guinea, and was cultivated by the Chinese and Hindus thousands of years before Christ. Ancient Romans knew of ginger, the French used it in medieval times, the Spanish brought the plants to the West Indies in the early 1500s and the plants flourished. Jamaica was exporting great quantities to Europe as early as

The British have made ginger an essential ingredient in hundreds of dishes including chutney, cakes and candies. It is rumored that Queen Elizabeth I, a ginger lover, invented gingerbread men when, for a feast, she had her cook make gingerbread portraits of each guest. Other ginger fanatics include an endless list of interesting figures including Mark Twain and Winston Churchill.

To prepare fresh ginger, cut the skin away with a sharp knife. Crush the peeled ginger with the flat blade of a french knife. The crushed ginger is easier to chop now as its fibers are separated.

It is also possible to grate peeled ginger for use in marinades and dressings. A nice Julienne strewn over food is a zesty garnish. For baking, dried, ground ginger is the most desirable. Preserved ginger is most commonly used as a flavoring for ice cream. Ginger in syrup cannot be used interchangeably with the candied ginger as their textures differ greatly.

When purchasing ginger, look for firm, fresh tubers. Any wrinkling indicates age. The shelf life of ginger is two weeks to a month under refrigeration. For longer storage, freeze. Wrap fresh in plastic to prevent freezer burn. Most fresh ginger used in the U.S. is imported from Fiji. In the last ten years Australia has become an important supplier of ginger too. It is significant to note that ginger should be used conservatively as its peppery, spicy essence can overpower easily. Say yes to ginger.

Northville resident Mary Brady is a certified executive chef.

GINGER BEEF SALAD

2 pounds Julienne leftover beef
3 cups cooked wild rice
1 cup green peas
1/2 cup each: chopped green onions, celery, sweet red pepper and toasted almonds
1 head washed lettuce of your choice

Dressing

1/4 cup extra virgin olive oil
2 T. red wine vinegar
2 t. grated fresh ginger
1 t. Dijon mustard
salt, pepper to taste
grated lemon peel to taste
Shake and chill several hours.
Toss lettuce with a small amount of dressing and arrange on plates. Mix beef, rice and vegetables. Shake dressing and pour over. Toss. Serve at room temperature.

Serves 4 as a main course. Chicken may be substituted.

12 alternatives to lashing out at your kid.

The next time everyday pressures build up to the point where you feel like lashing out—STOP!
And try any of these simple alternatives.

1. Take a deep breath. And another. Then remember you are the adult . . .
2. Close your eyes and imagine you're hearing what your child is about to hear.
3. Press your lips together and count to 10. Or better yet, to 20.
4. Put your child in a time-out chair. (Remember the rule: one time-out minute for each year of age.)
5. Put yourself in a time-out chair. Think about why you are angry: Is it your child, or is your child simply a convenient target for your anger?
6. Phone a friend.
7. If someone can watch the children, go outside and take a walk.
8. Take a hot bath or splash cold water on your face.
9. Hug a pillow.
10. Turn on some music. Maybe even sing along.
11. Pick up a pencil and write down as many helpful words as you can think of. Save the list.
12. Write for prevention information: National Committee for Prevention of Child Abuse, Box 2866L, Chicago, IL 60690.

You'll feel better . . . and so will your child.

WE NEED HELP

If you enjoy being with people that take pride in their work, if you are dependable and can be available rather unusual hours we may have a job for you. The bindery department in Howell need people to complete the final step in taking the newspapers and other company products from the press and preparing them for post offices and delivery people. High school diploma not a necessity but helpful. We will train you 3 days per week, afternoons or night shifts. To fill out an application, come to our downtown office. Smoke free environment.

AUTOMOTIVE SERVICE
Dealership is seeking individuals interested in a career in its service operations. Positions are presently available for a Service Advisor and a Service Dispatcher. Interested persons may contact Kevin Adkins at (313)878-3154 or inquire directly at John Colone C-P.D. 1295 E. M-36, Pinckney

July 28 through August 3

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)

It seems you are looking at your life from the outside, rather than living it. You say things you don't mean, then can't figure out how to rectify the situation. Follow your instincts.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)

You will be happy with loved ones this week. Even when you are knocked off your feet, you'll come up swinging because of your family's support.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)

Your work environment get you down, things will get better soon. Turn what little energy you have toward making a positive change in your life.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21)

It's important you get plenty of rest this week so you can party on the weekend. You might meet the person of your dreams.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)

A new person will cause profound changes. An argument with this person will give you new insights.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)

Don't lose your cool when dealing with difficult people this weekend. They are trying to get under your skin, so don't give them the satisfaction.

By C.C. Clark

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)

Try not to draw attention to yourself. Others will abuse your time they can. Listen carefully when being instructed on a new project.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20)

Don't let anyone threaten you. You don't deserve that kind of treatment. You may make a mistake, but it is an honest one.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)

Don't worry about someone saying no to you, especially if the comment comes from an authority figure. Someone else may know what is best.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)

An important assignment will have you running in all directions. You may want to run away. Resist temptation.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)

You may get into a philosophical argument with a loved one. Keep an open mind and remember they have as much right to their opinion as you do to yours.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)

Your love life might just take a turn for the better this week. You will also feel closer to estranged family members.

'Cesario's new comedy special a gem'

'Assembly' delivers whimsical goods

By Steven Alan McGaw

People like to laugh. Maybe more importantly, people need to laugh. It's not unwarranted to speculate that perhaps the state of the world today places us more in need of laughter than ever.

We seek laughter in many different places. Storytelling is increasingly a lost art, but written humor continues. Radio offers few chuckles anymore, save for bad pop songs and worse talk shows, but movies and television bombard us with earnest attempts to make us giggle, chortle, howl and guffaw.

Maybe that's the problem, and why so few films and so little on television seem genuinely funny. Stand-up comedy, in particular, while enjoying greater popularity than ever before, often comes on really strong. That's undoubtedly why Showtime's latest comedy special, "Jeff Cesario: Some Assembly Required," debuting Friday, Aug. 9, is a welcome breath of fresh air.

Cesario is the antithesis of those stand-up performers who seem to lunge and shout at the viewer. It would be a grim burden to label the handsome Cesario a "thinking man's comic" and inaccurate, too. There's nothing especially intellectual about his material (all self-penned), but the combination of his simple, dead-on observations about daily absurdities and his gentle, guy-next-door delivery make for a pleasant excursion.

The look of the show is terrific, partly because it's on film and also because they basically remodeled the Comedy Works Club in Denver for the making of the program. The lighting and camera work enhance the show immensely, adding to the intimate feel. That quality was important to Cesario. "My first special for Showtime, we did at the World Theatre in St. Paul, Minn.," said the comedian in a recent interview. "I just wanted to do jokes in a club." Cesario said he felt the new material demanded that kind of intimacy, and he's right. The special's opening segment, a bewildered musing about society's increasing need for things to go as fast as possible ("A Ford Festiva ... with Turbo?") is funny stuff, but it's made funnier by the friendly, casual feel of the presentation. Asked if performing his stand-up act for the camera required special preparation, Cesario thought for a moment. "I combed my hair."

Behind the easy, nice-guy style of his delivery, Cesario has some points to make within the jokes. Speaking of gun control, Cesario says, "I live in Los Angeles, where the only obstacle to buying a gun is correct change. I think 'kinda funny eyes' oughtta keep a guy from gettin' a gun."

Amid film and television's constant barrage of alleged comedy, where car-chases replace real wit and cheap shots pass for keen insights, it's refreshing to find a performer who's funny mostly because he's smart. Jeff Cesario is that kind of performer, even asking the audience to think a little, too. He knows there's nothing wrong with telling an audience "Some Assembly Required."

Resident Showtime comedian Jeff Cesario makes audiences chuckle with his low-key brand of humor. "Jeff Cesario: Some Assembly Required," premiering on Showtime Friday, is the performer's second comedy special on the network.

CABLE NEWSSTAR NOTES*Hollywood's dark side on A&E

By Dan Rice

All that glitters has a dark side. The glamorous fantasy of Hollywood is peeled back to reveal a tough reality in the BBC's six-part series Naked Hollywood, premiering Sunday, July 28, on A&E. Big wheels like Sydney Pollack, Mel Brooks and Robin Williams offer insights into a cutthroat industry where careers can be made or broken over lunch. In the first episode, "The Actor and The Star," James Caan's meteoric rise and descent is compared to Arnold Schwarzenegger's quest for superstardom.

Speaking of the luridness of show business, that "Material Girl" Madonna is guaranteed either to excite or incense you when HBO presents a one-time only encore of her Blond Ambition World Tour '90 on Sunday, July 28. First seen in August 1990, the special worked "Like a Prayer" for HBO, netting the cable channel the highest ratings in its history.

Of course, there are some people whose exotic feats are done for the redemption of the soul. Come Saturday, Aug. 3, The Discovery Channel's Terra X: India - Myths and Mystics presents Hindu holy men practicing ascetic self-denial and body piercing.

Proving that for every event there is a camera crew, The Discovery Channel offers The Sporting Life: Anything is Possible, also on Saturday. Go hurtling down mountains and deep into underwater caves, with fearless filmmakers tempting fate and gravity. © TV Listing Inc.

Bandit's bad habits put him in the doghouse. He behaves in P.O.V., Tuesday on PBS.

'Exposure' puts actress in limelight

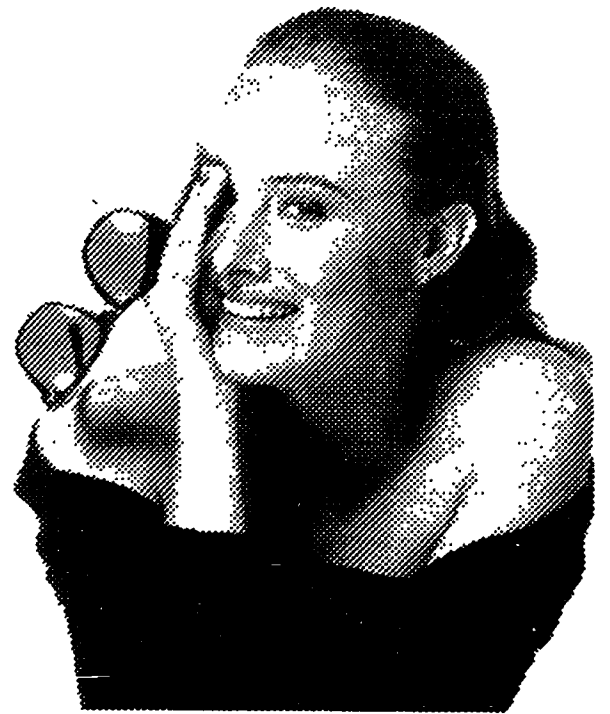

By Lisa Otoupal

Janine Turner plays Maggie, the unlucky-at-love, tough-as-nails pilot/landlord on CBS' surprise hit series Northern Exposure. And while she may be as tough as her character, this actress is certainly not having a run of bad luck.

Turner was born in Lincoln, Neb., and her family moved to a town near Fort Worth, Texas, when she was 3 years old. As a child, she studied dance and apprenticed with the Fort Worth Ballet.

At age 12, she took her first trip to New York and was captivated by the city. She returned there two years later to become the Wilhelmina modeling agency's youngest client. When she turned 17, her parents insisted she return home.

Fortunately for Turner, the hit series Dallas was being shot on location near her home. She met producer Leonard Katzman and was cast as Lucy Ewing's friend, Susan. Then came the part of Laura Templeton on General Hospital.

Chynna Phillips plays Roxanne Pulitzer in the rebroadcast of Roxanne: The Prize Pulitzer, Sunday on NBC.

Turner's feature-film credits include Young Doctors in Love, Knight of the City and Tai-Pai, which was filmed in China. After returning from China, she packed up and moved to New York.

For three years, Turner studied acting and performed in off-Broadway shows. She also co-starred in Monkey Shines and Steel Magnolias before getting a starring role in Northern Exposure. © TV Listing Inc.

THURSDAY

Marlon Brando's Mr. Sabatini seems eerily familiar to Clark (Matthew Broderick), a naive errand boy trying to earn money for college. He's The Freshman, debuting Thursday on Disney.

Actress/activist Theresa Saldana serves as host for Confessions of Crime, Thursdays on Lifetime.

Oregonites turned out to see Patrick Swayze

Approximately 350 residents of Wheeler, Ore., turned out to watch Patrick Swayze film a scene in Point Break — only Swayze wasn't there. He was filming 20 miles north up an oceanfront road. It wasn't a total loss, however. The mayor of the town got to be in the movie as a fisherman-extra. The bulk of Point Break, which was released July 12, was filmed in Los Angeles and Hawaii.

Rodney King, the black man videotaped while being beaten by Los Angeles police officers, wants his story told. King sold an option to the Los Angeles-based film company Triple 7 to make a movie about the incident. The terms of the agreement were not disclosed.

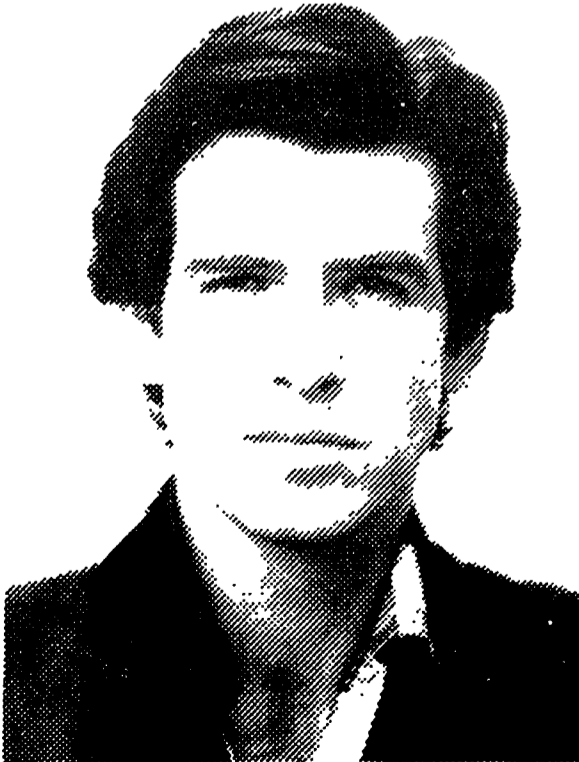

Talk-show host Phil Donahue will continue his nationally syndicated interview program through the 1993-94 television season, according to Multimedia Entertainment, which has just signed a new contract with the dean of daytime talk. In the last year, The Phil Donahue Show, which will celebrate its 25th season in 1992-93, has shown a ratings increase of 17 percent. With numbers like those, Donahue could give Johnny Carson serious competition for longest-reigning host honors.

Patrick Swayze

The USA Network has renewed two of its series, Swamp Thing and Counterstrike. Swamp Thing enters its second season this fall, and Counterstrike, which stars Christopher Plummer and Simon MacCorkindale, makes its third-season debut on Sept 21.

A longer version, never before seen in the United States, of Twin Peaks' pilot episode will be released on videotape Sept. 11. Warner Bros. is releasing the 113-minute tape, which will retail for $79.95.

Pierce Brosnan talks about his newest film The Lawnmower Man on Friday's Entertainment Tonight.
