Northville's Victorian Festival 1991

Northville returns to Victorian era

Third annual event gets raves from attendees

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

The clothing styles may have clashed, with women in full-length dresses and bonnets strolling past families in matching pairs of faded jeans and T-shirts, but the cultures merged precisely.

An air of civility permeated a weekend full of events in downtown Northville, as families and couples came to town to enjoy the third annual Victorian Festival.

Local business owner Zef Dresevic was putting the finishing touches on his soon-to-open Joseph's Coney Island Saturday when he decided to take a break and take in the sights with his

"My wife and kids came by and I said. What the heck, and decided to take the rest of the day off." Dre-sevic said, paint still in his hair.

Dresevic said the festival provided the perfect excuse for a family outing. "It's nice and quiet: that's what I love about it most," he said.

He watched as his wife Vicki short for Victoria — and 3-year-old daughter Amanda dressed in elaborate costumes and posed for pictures in the Antique Photo trailer at the corner of Main and Center.

Sisters Jean Kuzak of Northville and Mary Novrocki of Plymouth also turned the festival into a family affair. Kuzak and her three daughters, and Novrocki and her two sons, sat in on the Saturday afternoon magic show by Michael Thornton. part of the Victorian Review sponsored by the Casterline Funeral

Osiecki discusses issues

Maureen Osiecki, a township planning department administrative assistant, is one of four applicants for the vacant township supervisor's posttion. Osiecki has worked for the the start-up phase of Northville Youth Northville Township supervisor? Assistance, and chairs the Northville

Youth Assistance Advisory Council. She administers the township Community Development Block Grant program, has served on the Highland Lakes Condominium Association board, and has been active in various Northville Public Schools programs.

Osiecki was interviewed by Record staff writer Mike Tyree and editor Bob Needham last week. Portions of that interview follow.

OSIECKI: With Georgina (Goss) leaving, and an opening available, I thought I had something to offer. I have 19 years of experience within the community. I have expereience knowing what kind of development is going on and is going to go on in the future. Ive had children in programs - recreation, library - I'm involved with Youth Assistance, and I think that there's a time now, that there's many aspects of the community that need penning up. We need a munity spirit. We need somebody there all the time.

I'm a real people person . . . I would like to be at some of the functions like the library commission. I want to know what they want; what are their goals. I feel very, very

Police probing accident; girl still in hospital

By MIKE TYREE

A Northville girl remained hospitalized in critical condition Tuesday from injuries she received late Sept. 13 in a two-car collision on Seven Mile near Innsbrook Drive.

Meghan Kathleen Kearney, 17, suffered head and neck injuries when the car she was riding in was struck head-on by a vehicle that crossed the center line on Seven Mile. Kearney is hospitalized at University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Kearney was a passenger in a 1986 Pontiac Crand Am driven by Gina Signorelli, 17, of Northville. Signorelli suffered various injuries, including a fractured jaw, and was treated at Botsford General Hospital in Farmington Hills. Jessica Bates, 16, also of Northville, was the third occupant of the Grand Am. She was due to be released this week from St. Joseph iospital in Ann Arbor.

The driver of the second car was Clinton John Kukich, of Thornton. Colo. He and a passenger, Joseph David Porzondek, of Royal Oak, suffered minor injuries, police said.

Township police are investigating the accident and say the case will be referred to the Wayne County Prosecutor's office for possible charges.

According to witnesses. Kukich lost control of his 1989 Chevrolet Cavalier while traveling westbound on Seven Mile at a high rate of speed. Kukich reportedly swerved into the westbound right lane and then swerved back across the center line into the eastbound lane before striking the vehicle driven by Signorelli.

As of Tuesday, police had not determined the cause of the crash. Police would not say Tuesday if excess

Four vie for supervisor position

By MIKE TYREE Staff Writer

Four candidates have thrown their hats in the ring to replace Georgina Goss as Northville Township supervisor.

By Monday's deadline, Karen Baja, township planning commissioner and chair of the zoning board of appeals; Betty Lennox, township treasurer: Maureen Osiecki, township planning department administrative assistant; and Tom Watkins, former head of the state Department of Mental Health, had forwarded resumes to Clerk Tom Cook's office.

The township board is expected to interview the candidates at sessions Sept. 23 and Sept. 25, if necessary, and decide on Goss' successor at a Sept. 26 meeting.

All meetings are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. and will be held in the meeting room at township hall. 41600 Six Mile Road. All meetings are open to the Goss resigned her seat earlier this month after being sworn in to the 36th District state representative's position. Applicants are vying to gain her post atop the township board, which is defined as a part-time, $25,000-per-year job. The board is expected to study resumes prior to next week's interviews. The board will question applicants for 15-20 minutes, Cook said last

Lennox has said she will not step down from her board post, even though she will be competing with others for the supervisor postion. Lennox said she will not question the other applicants and will not nominate herself for the post, but said she will vote for herself if she feels she is the best candidate. The board's choice will serve out the balance of Goss' tenure. The supervisor position and the balance of the township board seats are up for grabs

Pet-a-Pet power

Local students reap benefits from animals' love

Oscar, a Northville cat, climbed on the lap of Old Village School student Colleen Dignan and went to sleep. Dignan had the attention of the only cat in the Animal Welfare Society's Pet-A-Pet program. The program began at Northville's

Old Village School last spring. And last Tuesday, the Animal Welfare

Society got its Pet-A-Pet program a pet can offer, said program coordi-under way for the first time this nator Laurie Allen. Children who are school year at Old Village.

The program does exactly what it says: Volunteers allow kids to pet their pets in regular group visits to schools and nursing homes in the Detroit area. Animal visitation programs have proven to be beneficial in the health care of handicapped children who es-unable to hear or see often respond favorably to the warmth of animals, she said.

As Colleen Dignan stroked Oscar the cat last week, other Old Village students put Allen's theory to work playing with the dogs in the program.

Amanda Teeters was a little unsure about what to do with Juno, a pecailly enjoy the unconditional love white dog about twice the size of Amanda.

At first she cried, but then a tiny smile crept its way across Amanda's face as she ran her fisted hand through Juno's long hair.

Juno is 13 people years old, pushing a century of life in dog years. In his long life, Juno has lived with two kids - which is exactly why his owners volunteered their time and their

Unruly passenger arrested for obstructing police

A 39-year-old Novi woman was arrested by city police Sept. 13 after the car she was in was stopped on Novi Street. Police saw the car make a left turn without signaling and drive slowly down Novi Street at 3:24 a.m., and stopped the car to investigate. The driver cooperated with police but the passenger, the Novi woman, reportedly refused to give police her name and became verbally abusive, swearing at the officers and saying 'no wonder cops like you guys get shot, when you hassle innocent

After the officers had returned to their cars to run computer checks on the driver, the woman reportedly came up to one and said "Why are you f---ers hassling us," and "What's taking so long?" The officer reportedly told the woman to return to her car or face arrest for obstructing a police officer, and when she did not return to the car he placed her under arrest, restraining her with the other officer while she struggled to get back to her car. She was handcuffed, taken to police headquarters and processed "after a precautionary frisk." and released on $50 bond.

The woman told police after her arrest that she had been celebrating her birthday with friends just before the incident.

INCIDENT AT STORE: A 40-year-old Northville man who claimed he could not hold his bladder was charged with public urination after a Sept. 11 incident at Meijer. 20401 Haggerty.

Northville Township police said the man reportedly urinated on three women's coats that were hanging on a rack in the store. Police said the man appeared highly intoxicated and told them the store's restroom was closed and he couldn't hold his Store officials were not amused and said they would prosecute the man. The damaged coats were valued at $219.97.

FROM CAR: A Lowell, Mass., man told township police that someone stole a radar detector and briefcase from his 1989 Nissan Sentra while it was parked on Steepleview. The stolen items were valued at $250. The man told police the theft occurred sometime between late Sept. 10 and early Sept. 12.

CONSTRUCTION SITE THEFT: An air humidifier valued at $225 reportedly was stolen from a house under construction on Pickford sometime between Aug. 29 and Sept. 1, township police said. The complainant told police thieves entered through the front door and took the item from the basement of the

RADAR DETECTOR STOLEN from Meijer Sept. 10, township police

The 19-year-old was wanted on an outstanding charge of being a minor in possession of alcohol out of Dearborn district court, police said.

RESIDENCE BURGLARIZED: A Northville Township resident told police her home on Franklin was burglarized Sept. 9 sometime between 10 a.m. and 12:40 p.m. Thieves reportedly took more than $2,500 worth of jewelry and camera equipment, including a camera, zoom lens, wide-angle lens, electronic flash and a camera bag and film, four watches, necklaces, bracelets, a women's purse, four 1800s-era silver dollars, gold cufflinks, postage stamps and loose

Police said drawers and cabinets were entered and contents strewn about the home's master bedroom.

FENDER BENDERS: A 17-year-at 2:25 p.m. Sept. 13 struck the car ahead of him, which in turn struck the car ahead of it. The two forward cars had been stopped for the traffic

City police issued the man a citation for failing to stop within an as-sured clear distance ahead.

OUIL REPORTS: A 61-year-old Detroit man was charged with operating a vehicle under the influence of alcohol after his arrest on Haggerty north of Seven Mile early Sept. 11, township police said. The man's blood-alcohol level was measured at .17, well over the state's legal limit. Police also ticketed the man for driving without a license and for improper license plates.

A 66-year-old Northville man was charged with OUIL after a minor accident on Inlet Court Sept. 12, town-old Novi man driving north on Center ship police said. Police said the man Street just south of Eight Mile Road was attempting to park his vehicle when the car jumped a curb and crossed approximately 50 feet of grass before striking a porch. The man's blood-alcohol level was measured at .11, police said.

A 19-year-old Warren man was charged with OUIL after his arrest early Sept. 9 on Six Mile west of Sheldon Road, township police said.

Detroit Edison head to speak in Northville

Northville resident John Lobbia, the chairman, president and chief executive officer of Detroit Edison, will give the featured speech at the eighth annual Friends of the Northville Public Library Benefit Dinner.

The dinner will start at 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 30 at Genitt's Hole-in-the-Wall restaurant. Cash bar starts at 6:30. Tickets are $20 and are still available at the library desk for anyone interested.

Lobbia will speak on the topic, *Back to School — How We Spent Our Summer* or *Storm, Incinerator and Other Ways to Make the Front Page *

Page."

The annual benefit dinner is the most important fund-raising event for the Friends of the Library. The Friends provide materials and services to the library which are not covered by the library's budget, and library needs are currently increasing. The Friends hope for another sell-out of the limited seating this year.

Lobbia, a native of Chicago, first Lobbia, a native of Chicago, first came to Detroit in 1959 to attend the University of Detroit. He graduated from the university in 1964 with a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering. He joined Detroit Edison the same year as an associate primary service engineer in the sales department.

He advanced through various engineering and operations positions to the post of vice president of Financial Services in 1984. In May 1987, Lobbia was elected executive vice president responsible for corporate planning.

He was elected president and chief operating officer in 1988 and was elected chairman, president, and CEO in May 1990.

In addition to his Detroit Edison responsibilities, Lobbia is very active in the community. He is chairman and chief executive officer of the Detroit Economic Growth Corporation, vice chairman of Detroit Renaissance and a director/trustee of numerous other civic organizations, including the Community Foundation for Southeastern Michigan, Economic Alliance for Michigan, Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce, New Detroit Inc., Metropolitan Detroit Convention and Visitors Bureau, and United Way.

He is a director of vanous professional and industry organizations, including Advance Reactor Corp., Association of Edison Illuminating Companies, and the Edison Electric Institute.

In addition, he is a director of National Bank of Detroit and Rouge Steel Co. and a trustee of Oakwood Hospital, Rackham Engineering Foundation. University of Detroit Mercy, and WTVS/Channel 56. He is a member of the Engineering Society of Detroit and the Newcomen Society of the United States.

He received the 1990 B'nal Brith, Great American Traditions Award and the 1989 Italian American Man of the Year Award.

Lobbia and his wife, Bobbi, live in Northville. They have three children, Lisa, John and Michael.

THE NEW BMW 3-SERIES. ENGINEERED TO PUT MORE DISTANCE BET WEEN YOU AND YOUR MECHANIC.

Picture yourself on the road of your choice, far, far away. Miles from your home. And office. And nearest hydraulic service lift.

Because with the dramatically new 325i, BMW has just stretched the time between servicings—by stretching the very possibilities of internal combustion.

A formidable feat accomplished, in part, by a computerized engine management system that constantly adjusts ignition timing and fuel flow for peak performance.

By tappets that automatically fine-tune themselves. So the valves never need be adjusted or re-synchronized.

By a sophisticated direct ignition system that has completely eliminated the need for a mechanical distributor

In short, by a car whose 189-hp, 24-valve, 6-cylinder engine requires no valve, timing or belt adjustments during regular maintenance. Just the periodic changing of oil, filters and spark plugs.

A simple routine which could end up saving you a tidy sum in parts and labor.

Of course, the new 3-Series could also save you unexpected expenses, as well. Backed, as it is, by a 4-year/50,000-mile bumper-to-bumper warranty and by BMW's nationwide Roadside Assistance.

If the thought of owning such a car intrigues you, visit your nearest authorized BMW dealer at your earliest convenience.

Because we think a driver's time is far better spent on the road, than in the waiting lounge of a service garage.

Patient death called an overdose

By SCOTT DANIEL Staff Writer

The Aug. 31 death of a patient at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital appears to be an accidental overdose, according to Michigan State Police Det. Sgt. Dean

Ricky Mears, 36, died after injecting himself with an unknown institutional medication at the hospital. A toxicology report from the Wayne County Medical Examiner's office. which will determine the cause of Mears' death, is expected in about a

Sanderson, who is conducting an without the toxicology report, evidence points to an accidental overdose as the cause of death.

"I don't see anything to lead me in any other direction," he said.

Mears was found in the early morning hours of Aug. 31 lying in his bed. Two syringes, one empty and the other full of thorazine, a tranquilizer used in certain mental disorders, were found on the bed near Mears.

Sanderson said the syringe loaded with thorazine didn't have a needle attached to it. The medication in the other syringe will be determined by the medical examiner.

It's unclear how Mears obtained the medications, Sanderson said.

The state police detective said no evidence exists to suggest that Mears' death was a homicide. Sanderson said there were no signs of a physical struggle in Mears' ward room, which he shared with three other patients, and no injuries to his body.

Suicide also doesn't seem likely. Sanderson said Mears had left no note nor talked of suicide with anyone at the hospital.

Besides the state police probe, the psychiatric hospital and the Michigan Department of Mental Health's office of recipient rights are also investigating the case.

Northville Psychiatric Hospital Director Walter Brown couldn't be reached by presstime for comment on the investigation. The hospital investigation will answer the question of how Mears obtained the drugs.

Any charges in the case will be determined after the toxicology report, Sanderson said. He said if the investigation reveals the possibility of criminal negligence by the hospital, the case would be presented to the prosecutor's office.

Sanderson said no evidence of criminal negligence by the hospital currently exists.

Trial date set in molestation case

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

A Northville man charged with first-degree criminal sexual conduct will face trial in Wayne County Recorders Court.

James Dickson Reynolds, 44, goes to court Nov. 18 to face the charge that he molested a girl under the age of 13 in the apartment complex at 113 W. Main St. more than four years ago.

Reynolds was arrested and charged with the crime in 35th District Court March 27, following a Northville City Police Department investigation into the allegation. Magistrate Theodore Johnson entered a not-guilty plea on his behalf, and set his bond at $15,000. Unable to make bond, Renolds was teken to Wayne County Jail.

He was bound over for trial after an April 5 preliminary exam at 35th District Court.

Reynolds was subsequently released from Wayne County Jail after his bond was reduced. His trial, originally scheduled for July 29, was postponed by Wayne County Recorders Court Judge M. John Shamo due to scheduling conflicts at the court.

At a final court conference Friday in front of Judge Shamo, Reynolds waived his right to a jury trial. Judge Shamo then scheduled a non-jury trial for Monday, Nov. 18.

Northville city police first heard of Reynolds' alleged crime in December 1990, from a neighbor who claimed to have heard him talking about it. The alleged victim corroborated the neighbor's story in a subsequent interview. But medical tests did not reveal conclusive evidence of sexual Reynolds was accused of molesting the girl in a common linen room at the apartment complex. He has denied the crime in an interview with police.

The alleged victim's mother said Reynolds had been seen driving by the family's new home and the girl's bus stop after the family moved from the apartment complex.

First-degree criminal sexual conduct is defined as engaging in "sexual penetration." The crime. when committed with a person under the age of 13, is punishable by up to life in prison.

Festival pulls many winners out of the crowd

By STEVE HELLMAN Staff Writer

An estinated 10,000 visitors came to thi/year's Victorian Festival, but soie went away as bigger winners than others.

Many pizes were awarded during the thee-day event, in categories as dierse as artistic merit and luck.

A newcompetition at this year's festival - the Sunday afternoon duck rae at Mill Race Village - was a thrilla minute, said race organizer (reg Presley.

"It vas a great fun-raiser, absent the 'df" he said.

Duk race organizers originally intented to make the race a fund-raise with the "d," but found they were too late to comply with the necessary state requirements for a functraising event.

Den so, the event really took off. Presey said.

Ve all shouted one, two, three, quak! and that started the race, and the pandemonium built from there. Presley said. We had 96 participants. That's a lot of ducks, and they all got off to a clean start . . . and that's important in duck races. As the ducks cane around the bend, the crowd broke out in wild pandemonium. Children, and grown children, were screaming out the numbers, and names, of their ducks.

Everybody said it was a hit, and I'm sure we'll have even more people next year."

The winning waterfowl, named Mario, had been selected by the Mihalik family of Northville. For choosing the winner, the Mikaliks won a $100 gift certificate from Happy Home Housecare of Northville.

The ducks raced down the Rouge River from behind the Cady Inn to the bridge downstream. Of the 96 waterfowl released, one escaped somewhere along the route. Presley said. "It's probably somewhere down in Dearborn by now," he said.

As for the others, they've gone on to their next performance. They're probably down in Wyandotte now, preparing for their next race even as we speak," Presley said.

Judy Gordon, an organizer involved with the Victorian Hat Contest at Mill Race Village Sunday, said the first prize winner of a $20 dinner gift certificate to the Rose Cottage Tea Room was a 13-yearold Milford girl, Leanne Kozup, wearing a peach and cream side hat with feathers and flowers. Second prize - a 1920s-vintage piece of antique jewelry from Traditions went to the girl's aunt, wearing a similar hat in brown velvet and cream, while third prize - a $15 gift certificate to the Mill Race Country Store - went to a Northville woman wearing cream-colored Victorian headgear from 1872.

"We were really very surprised: there were lots of hats," Gordon said. There was also a family down there that was all dressed up in Civil War clothing that was very authentic . . . There were lots of authentic costumes in town this year."

At the Northville Arts Commission's fifth annual Art Market Friday and Saturday, artists Gaston Petridis and Marilu Brenz beat out the 45 other artists and won ribbons and $250 prizes for Best of Show—he for his watercolor and oil paintings and she for her gold

Grand prize winner in the Art Market Raffle was Sherrie Sudek of Livonia, who wins a free trip to a Victorian bed-and-breakfast inn in Union City. Gene Gibas of Romulus won second prize, a large framed photograph donated by artist Linda Banks Ord. Mike Mogan of Livonia won third prize, a print of North-ville's Victorian Clock donated by the Giordano family.

The winners of the children's chalk art competition, also sponsored by the Northville Arts Commission, were Carla Angeloni of Plymouth, Kate Gale of Northville, Beth LaCroix of Northville, Derek and Eric Mohacsi of Northville, and Kaitlin Moxley of Rochester Hills.

Northville Cooperative Preschool held a raffle throughout the festival and selected the winner. Mary Morelli of Waterford, Sunday evening. Morelli won an ornate Victorian doll house.

While entertaining thousands of visitors, this year's Victorian Festival also raised thousands of dollars for local organizations. Friday evenings Family Auction raised about $6,000 for an addition to the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, while the Sunday Box Lunch Auction netted nearly $3,000 for the Northville Parent-Teacher Association Coordinating Council.

Caryn Doehler, chairperson of the box lunch auction, said the event succeeded beyond all expectations. "I am so excited," she said. The community is fantastic; they are so good to us. Their support and committment to us is great."

The auction, held at the Main Street bandshell, drew an ample crowd, and all the baskets of donated prizes were auctioned off by Dr. Rudy Randolph.

*Dr. Rudy was a wonderful auctioneer; he really kept things moving," she said. "Every basket went for at least the suggested bid, and some went for a great deal more."

The $2,763 raised "will be used for our parent education program

Retailers seek regional market

In the business game, exposure is everything.

And Northville retailers are hoping that a little regional exposure will go a long way toward making the city's downtown business district a popular destination for shoppers.

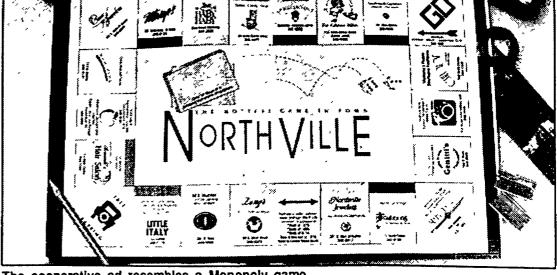

The retailers — 19 of them — took out two pages in Detroit Monthly's September issue. The resulting advertisement, designed in the style of the board game Monopoly, promotes Northville as "the hottest game in town" and mentions that the community offers "over 50 shops in a relaxed hometown atmosphere." The two-page spread even mentions last weekend's Victorian Festival and the upcoming Christmas guide to upcoming theater, dance, music, art and movie performances in metropolitan Detroit.

Jewelers said she bought into the concept because she liked its regidea for exposure, if just getting into a disserent market," she said. "I'll be honest: Sometimes I think Northville is the best-kept secret in the metro Detroit area. People here really like it. but once you get out of town nobody knows we're here.

Somebody else's garage

Garage doors close on summer bargain seekers

This is the second of two parts.

Here we go again. It's nearly 8:30 a.m. and I'm closing in on my first garage sale destination when 'I see a harried woman carrying a hammer and a wooden stake on which is impaled a garage sale : sign.

She begins pounding the stake into the earth with the vengeance of one killing Count Dracula. : After sinking the stake about six inches into someone's sod, she quickly heads for the nearest utility pole where she pounds four nails into a pole that already has enough screws, nails, thumb tacks and staples to be sold for scrap metal.

After placing about six signs in strategic areas.

lax for a few minutes, drink the balance of her te-pid coffee and do some last-minute pricing. But her plans are dashed, because collected at the garage door are the regulars, audibly impatient, waiting for the door to open. She opens the door only after fastening around her waist the bulging money pouch that looks like it's digesting something.

Without further ado, the rotund middle-aged guy chugs up in the rusty Ford pickup reminis-cent of the "Beverly Hillbillies." The truck is so scarred with rust, dents and bashes is looks as though it had been used for jackhammer practice. He's already carrying a load of stuff such as chairs, dressers, rusty chains and old milk cans - an enviable collection. He's the guy who never turns off his motor - just parks across the driveway, jumps from the truck runs through the garage and in one fell swoop has eyeballed and purchased everything he wants. He sprints to the truck and takes off down the street for yet another haul.

And then there's always the time when you spot something you desperately want, reach for it only to find another hand on it, and it's not your hand. Before reacting to this invasion, you look at the rest of the body attached to the hand and discover a woman built like a Sumo wrestler with a face to match. She's staring into your face with the ferocity of a pit buli.

Being reasonably intelligent, very realistic, and wishing to live for yet another day, you immediately decide to withdraw your hand from the item. and mumble an apology for even touching it. But inside you're wishing all of her teeth would grow hair . . . especially the front ones!

It's been a fun season thanks to all of the interesting garage regulars and irregulars. I may even have bought something useful. Naaw.

School works to control rumors

By SUZANNE HOLLYER Staff Writer

School officials worked this week to control rumors circling the halls of Northville High School this week about the condition of a girl involved in a weekend car accident.

Meghan Kearney was in critical condition following a car accident Friday on Seven Mile Road near Innsbrook Drive — which is exactly what Principal Thomas Johnson told students at the high school over the public address system.

"Rumors were flying about her condition. I didn't want to get in the situation where there's a lot of hysteria," he said.

A building crisis team of school psychologists and social workers circulated the halls watching for students who needed help dealing with the situation.

Cina Signorelli, the 17-year-old driver in the Friday accident, wants to make sure another rumor doesn't get started. She said people often assume teenagers are at fault in accidents.

"I just want to make sure everyone said.

knows it wasn't my fault," she said.

Police are investigating witness statements that the Chevrolet Cavalier that struck Signorelis Pontiac Grand Am at about 9:30 p.m. Friday was traveling at excessive speeds, lost control, and crossed the center line of the street.

Signorelli's jaw was broken in the accident. She has to drink her food through a straw for the next five weeks, which doctors warned could cause up to 30 pounds of weight loss.

"I have to eat. I don't have 30 pounds to lose," the 110-pound girl said.

Signorelli plans to return to school Monday, and she has hopes Kearney will soon follow.

"Her dad said something like,

Jessica Bates, 17, also was a passenger in Signorelli's car when it was struck by a Chevrolet Cavalier.

Bates' lip was cut and she bruised her chest on the seatbelt, Signorelli said.

Car theft tips rise

Since the outbreak of armed robbery car thefts in metropolitan Detroit, HEAT. Help Eliminate Auto Thefts, has experienced an increase in the number of calls it receives on its statewide hotline. Some of the tips may be related to an RA UDAA. (robbery armed, unlawful driving away of an automobile.)

HEAT spokesperson William Liddane said. "Whenever a situation such as this occurs, you are bound to experience increased activity. Our holline has been ringing off the hook with information on auto thest activity."

Citizen irwolvement is the key to the program's continued success. Liddane encourages anyone with information on any type of car thefts to call the HEAT hotline at 1-800-242-HEAT. All tips are confidential.

So far this year, HEAT has awarded $109,725 in rewards for tips received on its hotline. Through the program, 162 vehicles have been recovered with an estimated value of $1,867,722.

Tip calls are monitored from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. Monday through Friday by the Michigan State Police.

A Home Is The American Dream

Finding Affordable Housing Is A Nightmare.

To help solve this problem, NBD Bank is sponsoring the 1991 Housing Conference on Saturday, September 28, at the University of Detroit Mercy Conference Center. Conference workshops are designed to help Metro Detroit:

INDIVIDUALS

- determine how much they can afford
- learn how to buy a home and sources of financing

COMMUNITY GROUPS

- acquire and rehabilitate property
- obtain financing for development projects

CHURCH LEADERS

- start their own housing development projects
- build and stabilize neighborhoods

REALTORS AND DEVELOPERS

- transform housing development into profits
- obtain innovative financing

Workshops will be led by community leaders, developers, legal experts, representatives from Detroit, HUD, and local universities, and NBD officers. The cost is $15 for the first person from an organization, and $10 for others from the same organization, or for individuals. Scholarships are available. #### Mill Race Matters

Northville's Victorian Festival is over for another year. The Northville Historical Society would like to take this time to thank all of the docents and demonstrators who donated their time to make activities at Mill Race Villiage over the past weekend a great success. We'd also like to thank all of our many other members who helped orchestrate festival activities throughout the community. Special thanks go to Rose Cottage Tea Room, Traditions, and the Mill Race Country Store for prize donations for Sunday's hat-judging competition. Thanks also to Happy Home Housecare, Northville Jewelers. and Baby Baby for prize donations for Sunday's Great Duck Race.

This morning eighth-graders from Meads Mill school visited Mill Race to kick off their study of local history. Next week Cooke School eighth-graders will do the same. The morning is spent learning about early crafts and the community buildings now on display at Mill Race. This has become an annual event and again requires the work of many volunteers. Thanks to all who participate.

Donations to be recognized this week include three for the adopt-a-tree program: friends and family of Rosa M. Boetscher, Richard and Nancy Bohn family, and Ellen Dayton for Mr. and Mrs. K.H. Babbitt. These donations are also greatly appreciated. You may remember from this column that 42 maples are to be planted in October as part of our village's new landscaping plan. Each tree will cost $250, you may select the location, but this is being done on a first come, first-served basis. Several trees have already been purchased. For more information or to make a contribution call

We would like to acknowledge the gift of an oriental rug by Lisa and Ronald Tribble. It will soon be put to good use.

Tivoli Fair is scheduled for Friday, Sept. 27 and Saturday, Sept. 28. Tivoli is the Northville Historical Society's major fundraising event. Monies generated are used to restore and maintain our village. With the addition of buildings the cost continues to escalate so of course the revenues must do likewise. We encourage everone to find the time to visit Tivoli Fair. The show is a juried (in advance) arts and crafts show and truly the best in the area. Each year approximately half of the applicants are rejected, primarily due to lack of space. The popularity of this show with crafters has kept the quality of merchandise consistently high. Do yourself a favor and contribute to a worthwhile cause at the same time, visit Tivoli Fair.

Other area events are: Commerce Area Sixth Annual Country Folk Art and Quilt Show Sept. 21-22, Milford 16th Annual Home Tour Sept. 21-22, 14th Michigan Antiquarian Book and Papaer Show Oct. 6. Contact 349-9005 for additional information on any of

Now may be the time to Fable sums up legal scene change library funding Ambrose Bierce (1842-1913), the journalistic and literary misanthrope, summed up the Michigan haugust had established his eligibility and setablished his eligibility and setablished

The recent reduction in public service hours at the Northville Public Library does not, in and of itself, mean a great

Of course, it's always a shame to reduce a public service; a little more inconvenience, a little less opportunity to enjoy the offering. But this reduction was relatively small and carefully planned by library staff to produce minimal impact on patrons.

The reduction was a necessary response to an ever-tightening budget which seems to pinch the library more and more as time goes on. And it's that underlying situation, much more than the change itself, which sparks concern.

The library in most respects finds itself enjoying an upswing. Its visibility and viability remain high. Usage of materials is increasing; participation in programs is increasing. What's not increasing is funding.

Now, there are probably those in heavily taxed Northville who would argue that the library is overfunded as it is. We'd disagree with that, and strongly. To make an odious comparison or two, look at the libraries in other nearby communities. We've said before that Northville deserves better, deserves more money, but that pesky concept of fiscal reality always puts an end to grand designs.

Lately, though, everything seems worse. It feels like the library can barely keep its head above water. The public service hours are not the only cutback: Two part-time staff positions have gone unfilled and the book budget has taken a 20-percent cut because of other, fixed financial obligations.

As a service shared between the township and city, the library receives funding from each government under a set formula. Both the city and township face tight budgets of their own. When push comes to shove, providing police, firefighting and similar services necessarily become top priority in the budget. The library - even though the township board and city council members certainly feel committed to it — starts to get squeezed

Of course, something similar could be said for the Recreation Department, the other major shared service. In its own way, that department's need for new facilities (fields) is as pressing as the library's. But it does have a workable building, and it also has more direct access to other means of raising money

So where does that leave the library? Maybe it's time to pursue, or at least consider, an alternative organization and funding structure.

The most obvious possibility is a "district library," under which the library would be run by its own little unit of govemment, a board of elected members, and would be funded by its own property-tax millage. The district might simply be the city and township combined; or it could conceivably be larger (Salem?) or even smaller.

We hesitate to recommend yet another level of government with yet another tax rate. At this point, we're not recommending it, but simply saying it deserves study. Some advantages certainly would develop with such a system: The library's funding would be more in its own hands; voters could directly determine precisely to what degree they want their library funded; one concern would be removed from the budgets of the city and township.

The district library is the most obvious funding alternative; there may be other good ones. Perhaps after all the current setup is best. But we'll never know until alternatives start getting considered.

legal scene far better than any modern story in one of his "Fantastic Fables." It goes:

"A Man in a Hurry, whose watch was at his lawyer's, asked a Grave

Person the time of day. "I heard you ask that Party Over There the same question," said the Grave Person. "What answerdid he

"He said it was about 3 o'clock," replied the Man in a Hurry; but he did not look at his watch, and as the sun is nearly down I think it is later." "The fact that the sun is nearly down," the Grave Person said, "is immaterial, but the fact that he did not consult his timepiece and make answer after due deliberation and consideration is fatal. The answer given," continued the Grave Person, consulting his own timepiece, "is of no effect, invalid and void."

"What, then," said the Man in a Hurry eagerly, "is the time

The question is remanded to the Party Over There for a new answer," replied the Grave Person, returning his watch to his pocket and moving away with great dignity.

He was a judge of an Appellate Court.

Five grave persons on the Michigan Supreme Court wouldn't give the time of day to Irving A. August, who at age 60 would like his law license back.

After a felony conviction in 1983, August lost his license and did 10 months time. He waited the mandatory five years and applied for reinstatement in the State Bar on Oct. 28. 1988 — three years ago.

Consider the steps he has been through:

 He went to a Wayne County hearing panel and was turned down.

 He appealed to an Attorney Discipline Board, and here he began to get the Party Over There treatment. The board said August had established his eligibility and would have reinstated him, but it apparently failed to determine that August had proven he warranted it.

 The State Bar grievance administrator appealed the discipline board's decision to the Supreme Court, which heard oral arguments April 2. Justices admitted "the ultimate power to regulate and discipline members of the bar rests with the Supreme Court." But then they pulled the Graye Person's trick: They looked at their timepieces, refused to give the Man in a Hurry an answer, and remanded the case back to the Attorney Discipline Board.

Voting for remand were Justices Patricia Boyle (who wrote the opinion), James Brickley, Dorothy Riley, Robert Griffin and Conrad Mallett Jr.

(To their credit, two justices were ready to make a decision: Michael Cavanagh against August, Charles Levin for.)

 Whether August has the patience, time and legal expenses to pursue his case back to the Attorney Discipline Board remains to be seen.

This is not to make a case for Irving August, a man I met once outside the Supreme Court's chamber.

It's disappointing that five people making more than $100,000 a year needed 90 minutes of oral arguments, a couple hundred pages of written briefs and almost five months to move away with great dignity without answering the

No special treatment here

now (which you are) you're still in the A-Section of this week's paper.

But when you get to Our Town (B-Section), I'd like you to take a look at Cristina Ferrier's "In Our Town" column which appears on Page 2-B.

Among the various items in her column this week is an item about my wife and myself . . . about how we recently celebrated our 25th wedding anniversary.

So why am I writing a column about this if the information already appears in "In Our Town"?

I can assure you it's not to take advantage of the fact I am a longtime employee of The Record. It's not to demonstrate that I can get things in the paper which you can't. Actually, the purpose is just the opposite — to demonstrate that we here at The Record want to carry similar items about events which are important in your life . . . that we think it's important to carry news about important events in the lives of our readers.

What I'm hoping is that some of you will see the item about my anniversary in "In Our Town" and decide to do the same thing when something important happens in your lives.

You don't have to be a longtime Record employee to get your information in "In Our Town." All you have to do is call Cristina and she'll write it up for you.

I don't know how long "In Our Town" has been in The Record, but the one I credit for making it popular is Jean Day. who worked for the paper more than 25 years before retiring several years ago. A one-time society page reporter at The Detroit News, Jean eventually found a home she loved at The Record. It was while she was in charge of what is now the Our person to talk to.

If you're reading my column right Town section that it really blossomed. And her 'In Our Town' column was a big part of it.

There was a time around this town when it was considered rather prestigious to be mentioned in Jean's column.

Now it's Cristina's column, and she wants to make it as po! pular as it was when Jean was doing it. In fact, she has made a concerted effort over the past several months to bring a more personal touch to "In Our Town." Cristina comes from Vassar up in the Thumb Area and was a teacher before starting with our papers. I could give you a long list of nice things about Cristina, but one of the things 1 like most about her is that she has a true appreciation for community newspapers . . . for the types of things we do which make us different from the Free Press and News. things like "In Our Town."

'If you want to know what's happening in Washington or Russia, that's why you read the Free Press." she told me the other day. 'If you want to know what's happening in Northville, you have to get The Record.

What type of news is appropriate for "In Our Town"? It certainly doesn't have to be a 25th wedding anniversary, although items like that are certainly appreciated.

What is appropriate is news of a social nature which is important to you.

She'd also like to carry news about special vacations, outof-town guests, 40th birthday parties, family reunions, etc.

Been on a cruise lately? Tell her about it.

As far as getting the news in the paper, it's easy. All you have to do is call Cristina at 349-1700 and tell her what happened.

In addition to having your item immortalized on the page of The Record, you'll also discover that Cristina's a really nice

Decision does not make any sense

Editor's Note: This is a copy of a letter sent to Northville City Mana ger Gary Word.

Following our telephone conversation today (Sept. 9), I appreciate the article and the new way of approaching your job for us and the city. It is to be commended.

As I mentioned to you, the work on East Main Street, mainly from Hutton to Griswold, and the dirt, dust and mud it created. I thank you for addressing that problem and coming up with a solution.

The thing that bothers me the most is that I paid for the brickwork in front of my building about 12 years ago. At that time, we, the city, paid to have a new tree put in. I am now informed that this tree, that we've paid for, is going to be destroyed because it doesn't match! That is asinine!

From an ecological standpoint, it just doesn't make sense. I trust. as you stated to me, that you will check into this and report back. I don't want my tree taken down! I don't care what the engineer says. Wesley R. Henrikson Jr.

Board makes strong choice for position

I would like to commend the Northville Board of Education for their selection of Len Rezmierski as the new Superintendent of the Northville Public Schools.

Dr. Rezmierski has proven his administrative ability and skills over a number of years as assistant superintendent of the special education program in Northville. While he has not had experience in the traditional school program I am sure with the cooperation of the administrative staff, teaching staff and patience on the part of the board of education he will do an excellent job on behalf of our children.

I am particularly happy to see that an employee who has shown his loyalty to the district over a number of years has been selected for this position.

I would just like to call to your attention the fact that the last two or three superintendents and four or five high school principals have been selected from outside the district. While we have been fortunate in the people who have come to us. certainly we should not overlook those within who have outstanding credentials and potential.

Thanks for making picnic a success

To the editor:

Many thanks to all those who contributed to the success of the Mill Race Picnic on Victorian Festival Sunday. From period craft re-enactors to hat contest judges to childrens' games helpers to the picnickers themselves, all helped make the event wonderful. And a special thank-you to the Mill Race docents for their good effort on Saturday and Sunday. Many visitors had good things to say about the charm of our little village. And in case you ducksters are wondering about the hard-working ducks who were so entertaining in our First Annual Great 'North American Duck Race Fundraiser, they have indeed headed south for some winter fun but promise a serious spring training effort in preparation for next year.

Festival shows the pride of community

To the editor:

The pride of our community was evident in this year's Victorian Festival. It is amazing to watch each year as the parade grows in enthusiasm with people dressed in their finery celebrating our heritage.

The 1991 Victorian Festival was a huge success due to the involvement of the many individuals and organizations who actively participated. I would love to mention all the names individually, but if I did I would need four columns in this paper. I would like, however, to take this opportunity to applaud everyone involved: committee chairpersons, enthusiastic workers who volunteered endless hours, non-profit organizations, public service departments and individual business donations.

Special acknowledgement must be made of the corporate sponsors who made the festival possible through their generous contributions. Their names were listed in the Victorian Festival brochure and the special section in The Northwille Record. I strongly encourage you to patronize these bu-sinesses and to tell them that you appreciate their sponsorship of this major event.

Start planning your costumes for Sept. 11-13, 1992. We'll see you

thank-you to the Friends of the Arts and all volunteers who asdebate hides Comments from the various ar- true issues

To the editor:

In a society of new words for old things like health spa instead of gym, retirement village over convalescent home and health care faciliy instead of hospital. I have recently heard a new one in the past weeks regarding Judge Thomas and his belief in God and Judeo-Christian standards. It's called Natural Law. That's God's new name.

Why is it that people prefer dancing around issues instead of calling them what they are? However, natural law is not a new term in the sense that it is named in the Declaration of Independence as the supreme law this country is base on for life, growth, freedom and prosperity. Citing Judge Thomas for upholding his belief in natural law/God is being viewed as a disturbing factor in consideration for a position on the Supreme Court: and this is by men who have displayed immorality in their lives to such an extent that it makes me wonder how they are walking the streets let alone being in power to judge someone moral.

Life is so frustratingly ironic. Without God and the values, ethics, and morals based on biblical principles, this country's life, prosperity, freedom and growth will be severely halted. We have seen evidence of this in our education system, with the dismissal of God in the early '60s. The life, growth, freedom and prosperity in education is long gone and we now have broken immoral schools that produce illiterate, valueless children that can hardly exist in society let alone compete. Now our judicial system wants to follow the same path of Godlessness into the same sort of straits other systems have fallen into. This has to stop somewhere and begin again under correct statutes to produce life, prosperity, growth and freedom. We have to learn from our mistakes instead of wallowing in them. A morally righteous man like Judge Thomas should be suported by all of us, as we only want the best for our country. Writing letters of support to your senators in the next few weeks makes so much difference and I urge you to do it. Let's go back to a way that worked and produced a country God can bless. Write Michigan State Senate, State Capitol Bklg. Lansing MI, 48909.

Engler, the education governor?

special speech to the Legislature his longawaited proposals to improve school quality.

The most important thing about the speech may be that it was given at all. After nine months in office, it is clear that the governor's promise to focus on education is being kept.

Whether Engler's proposals make any sense in substance or in the hurly-burly political process in Lansing remains to be seen. My experience is that the politics of school improvement is much more difficult than the substance.

Some parts of the Engler package make more sense than others.

The emphasis on the young at-risk kids is very good.

The governor wants to spend lots more on all-day kindergarten for them. He wants tutoring for these kids through second grade to give them a good start in math and reading.

Last year, around 10,000 Michigan at-risk 4-year-olds attended state-funded half-day programs, out of an estimated 13,000 eligibles. Another 28,000 children participated in federal

Gov. Engler last Head Start and Chapter One programs. week unveiled in a Research findings—from a University of Michigan study in Ypsilanti — are definitive: Special early help really makes a difference for atrisk kids. As Wayne-Westland Superintendent Dennis O'Neill said, "If we can get kids ready at an early age and get them the appropriate skills, fewer kids would need help later on."

Another good idea is to have schools guarantee the basic job-related skills of graduates to their employers.

Pioneered in the Plymouth-Canton school district, the system is simple. Every graduate comes with a warranty that reading, writing, math and reasoning skills are up to snuff. If the employer finds that isn't so, the kid is returned to school and remediated free.

This sensible approach focuses on results. It uses incentives — free remediation — to satisfy customers - employers.

It is unpopular with a lot of school people who are accustomed to passing kids from grade to grade. I got dirty looks when I suggested a version of the idea to state government heavyweights five years ago. Here's hoping the climate in the Legislature has changed since

The governor did pay homage to conservative ideology. Schools of choice are to be achieved through something called "charter" schools. partly funded by the state but run by former teachers or private business.

Teachers unions are sure to oppose two other good ideas; making it harder for teachers to get tenure and allowing non-certified (i.e., not unionized) people to teach.

Local superintendents remain fearful of more tinkering with the school aid formula. "The last time the state did something major for education, we lost $6 million," said Farmington Superintendent Michael Flanagan, referring to the "Robin Hood" bill that shifted $50 million from rich to poorer districts for the 1990-1 school year.

The biggest problem remains money.

Take Engler's interest in lengthening the school year from 180 to 200 days. He proposed $300,000 in incentives for pilot projects — a drop compared with the hundreds of millions needed to do it statewide.

It highlights the interesting way the governor is using the state's present budgetary crisis. He can advocate all kinds of improvements for our schools, knowing full well that the money to pay for it just isn't there.

It's a politician's dream, being able to support both sides with nobody around to call him a hypocrite.

RECORD OUR TOWN

You have a right to read this article

By CRISTINA FERRIER Staff Writer

Why are you reading this

Probably for many reasons. To be informed. To be entertained. To find out about issues that will affect you. To see if someone you know is in it. To see how the reporters and editors are covering your own neighborhood.

Maybe you'll find something that makes you angry, that makes you laugh, that makes you cry. Something that makes you want to respond.

Or maybe there's something you want to say, and it wasn't inspired by anything you read in the paper. You just need to say it, because it's what you believe, and you want to be heard.

Soyou pick up a pen and paper. and you write a letter to the editor. And you see it printed in this paper, for everyone to see.

Why did you do that? For the same reason that the newspaper exists: because you All of this is obvious — so much a part of our daily lives that we don't have to discuss it. We know that we are free to speak and write because we live in America.

But this is the time to celebrate our freedom of speech, press, religion and assembly because this is Constitution Week, and this year is the bicentennial of the Bill of Rights.

Northville Record/Novi News Managing Editor Mike Malott contends it is appropriate that the freedom of speech was written into the "First Amendment" of the Bill of Rights.

"Having the liberty to think your own thoughts, to speak your own mind, and to express yourself is the foundation for all those other rights and freedoms we enjoy. I find it impossible to conceive of a society or a community that could operate in anything close to a free or democratic manner without the right of free speech," he

"I think it is also often one of the least popular rights. Many people, when they hear or read something they find offensive, want to make an exception to the freedom of expression. Ican tell you for many tell you for many tell you for many tell you for many tell you for making unreasonable ment, but they shouldn't be allowed to say that."

Because of the Bill of Rights. an accused person still has rights, and we must protect that person's rights. ....

Apamphlel released by the United-States-Commission on the Biceniennia of the United States Constitution titled The Bill of Rights and Beyond describes how the Bill of Rights came to be:

When the constitution was signed on September 17, 1787, it contained no bill of rights. In fact, the idea of adding a bill of rights was not even mentioned on the floor of the Constitutional Convention until five days before the document was signed. George Mason, who had written Virginia's Declaration of Rights in 1776. argued in vain for the inclusion of such a provision. The majority felt that to list specific individual rights was unnecessary, however, and the proposal was defeated.

During the battle over ratifica-tion of the Constitution, those op-posed — the Anti-Federalists argued that the Constitution needed amendments to guarantee individual rights and freedoms before it could be ratified. Proponents of ratification — the Federalists — contended that most state constitutions already guaranteed such rights.

Once the Anti-Federalists organized their campaign, it took the promise of a national Bill of Rights to secure narrow Federalist victories in such key states as Massachusetts, Virginia and New

On May 4, 1789, with the First Federal Congress only one month old, Representative James Madison of Virginia - who had opposed a bill of rights at the Philadelphia Convention — proposed that debate on amendments to the Constitution begin at the end of the month. Madison then revised the 210 suggested amendments submitted by the states and, on June 8, proposed eight amendments, several with language very similar to George Mason's Virginia Declaration of Rights.

Madison proposed that each amendment be placed in the Constitution in the article and section where it pertained. But at the insistence of Roger Sherman, the House chose to add amendments to the Constitution in numerical order, as they are today.

After considerable debate, the House, on Aug. 24, approved 17 proposed amendments and sent them to the Senate. The Senate debated and finally, on Sept. 25, 1789, agreed with the House on 12 proposed amendments. These were submitted to the states for ratification, a process that took two years. On Dec. 15, 1791, Virginia became the eleventh state to ratify ten of the twelve proposed amendments, and these, known as the Bill of Rights, became part of the Constitution.

Local store celebrates Banned Books Week

The bicentennial of the Bill of Rights is the focus of Banned Books Week (Sept. 28-Oct. 5) this year.

In honor of the nationwide celebration, Borders Book Shop in Novi has scheduled a number of events commemorating the freedom to read, write, and

■The week begins with music critic and former Detroit resident Dave Marsh at 7 p.m. Sept.

Marsh will present *50 Ways to Fight Censor-ship, based on his book of the same title.

Marsh is probably best known for his columns in Rolling Stone magazine and his music biographies.

Marsh lectures fre quently on censorship and edits Rock and Roll Confidential, a newsletter about music and politics.

■On Wednesday, Oct. 20, beginning at 7 p.m., the store will host a Salute to Small Presses.

The event is a reception for area publishers, who give lesser-known writers an opportunity to publish their works. ■On Thursday, Oct. 3 at 7 p.m., an interactive reading program featuring Murray Jackson and Ed Morin will take place at the store.

Jackson is author of Watermelon Rinds and Cherry Pits, and Morin is English-language translator of the Chinese poetry book Red Azalea.

■From 7-8:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 4, formal poetry readings by Northville poet Kathleen Ripley Leo and Thomas Lynch will be followed by an Open Mike session.

Bring your own poetry to the event, and sign up for a five-minute reading when you arrive.

■Banned Books Week Oct. 5 with a program called "Other Voices," which begins at 7 p.m.

Toni Swanger, a feminist speaker on WDET-FM, will comment on censored women. Author Lev Raphael will read from his book Dancing on Tisha B'au. his award-winning collection of stories about being gay and Jewish.

Volunteer

Cindy Benedict

Junior Enrichment needs volunteers

Planning extra programs that will enrich the education that children are getting in Northville's four elementary and two middle schools, plus one parochial school, is the volunteer activity of Cindy Benedict, who is district coordinator of the Junior Enrichment Series.

Each school decides on its own programs, Benedict said - one for each month, October through May but "I am the coordinator."

She meets with representatives from each school, and she said, "We talk about new things we've heard about, and we try to book somebody for the whole district.

Benedict's scheduling is restricted to one school. Moraine Elementary. As examples of the sort of programs that Junior Enrichment provides, Benedict mentioned these: 1. A star lab which entails an inflatable, walk-in planetarium.

2. Local clog dancers interpreting

3. A Michigan United Conservation Club man talking on wet-lands and bringing animals that live there. 4. An illustrator giving a crash course in illustration.

How is all this finaces? Each school, Benedict answered, handles *Our costs range from $300 to $500 per program, she said, and we raise our money at the beginning of the school year.

"At Moraine we've been taking orders for products from two companies" - one with gift wrappings, and the other with assorted foods.

Why does Cindy Benedict get so involved?

"I enjoy it," and having been away from the area for several years and not knowing anybody at the school lever — she now has a daughter in fifth grade and a son in third grade -"I thought this was a good way to get to know people, to get involved."

Victorian Ball is truly grand

The third annual Victorian Costume Ball lived up to all its advance billing Saturday night.

The change of venue from Mill Race Historical Village to the Northville Community Center proved to be an inspired decision, as the "rec center"— as promised—took on all the appearance of an elegant Victorian manor.
Ball organizers decorated the gym area with swooping sheets of white fabric across the celling and down the walls. On top of this, rows of white Christmas lights provided a soft glow.

Nearly 175 people attended the ball, enjoying fine food from area re-staurants and a variety of classic dances. MacKinnon's, Valente's Little Italy and Riffle's provided several different (and popular) hors d'œuvres. Edwards Caterer assembled a delicious box dinner. Well-known cake maker Kevin Pavlina's work topped off the evening.

This year's ball featured a new dance caller, Glen Morningstar, who won universal approval from the dancers as he guided them through the quadrille, Spanish waltz and other period dances. Music came from the Ruffwater String Band.

Ball attendees gave hearty applause to the various key organizers of the event. Morningstar concluded the evening by congratulating Northville on the ball and the entire Victorian Festival.

Class of 1941 Reunion

The Northville High School Class of 1941 held its 50-year reunion on Saturday, August 24 at the Plymouth Elks Hall.

Class member Robert Ross, who now lives near Houghton in the Upper Peninsula, said the reunion began with a tour of the old high school on Saturday afternoon, followed by cocktails and dinner at the Plymouth Elks.

"Things sure have changed since we were there," he said. "It's changed so much we didn't even recognize it."

Betty Erwin of South Lyon, who attended the reunion with her husband, class member Edward Erwin, said there were approximately 65 people at the event.

Among the people there were two of the class's former teachers, Kathryn Giltner and Charles Yahne.

In the the Class of 1941 there were 14 members who started kindergarten in Northville and stayed here through graduation. Each of those class members was at the reunion.

Many members of the class also met the day after the reunion for brunch at Bill Knapp's on Six Mile.

25 Years

Phil and Diane Jerome celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Sept. 14 with a romantic dinner for two at The Lark restaurant.

They also enjoyed an earlier celebration on Sept. 6, when brothers and sisters took them out for dinner at El Nibble Nook in Livonia. In attendance at that celebration were David and Kathy Jerome of Northville, Doug and Jane Patison of Okemos, Dana and Nancy Worden of Lincoln Park, and Phil's stepmother, Betty Jerome.

The longtime Northville residents were married on Sept. 3, 1966 at Northville First Presbyterian Church. Two ministers officiated at the ceremony - Rev. Lloyd Brasure and the late Rev. George P. Jerome, who was Northville Town Hall organizers.

First, the Raddisson Inn-Plymouth, where the series was scheduled to take place, unexpectedly closed its doors, leaving the group to scramble for a new location.

Now it seems that a bulk mailing the organizers sent to previous ticket holders did not reach a large number of addressees.

However, the series is still on, and except for a change in dates and locations, past participants can expect the same quality speakers and luncheons as in the past.

For those who did not receive a mailing, or have not attended the Town Hall series in the past, here is information on times, dates and

The new location for the series will be the Livonia West Holiday Inn. 17123 Six Mile at 1-275, North Laurel Park. In order for the hotel to accommodate the series, it was necessary to change all dates to Mondays. Lectures begin at 11 a.m. The new schedule is as follows: Monday, Oct. 14, Carmel Quinn. Monday, Nov. 11, B. Carter Randall.

Monday, March 9, Richard Lamparski.

Monday, April 13, Dr. Vladimir Sakharov.

To order a season ticket to the Northville Town Hall series, send your name, address and phone number with a self-addresed, stamped envelope and a check for $35 payable to Northville Town Hall to Ticket Chairman, Mrs. Bonnie Dewan, Northville Town Hall, P.O. Box 93. Northville, 48167.

He appears frequently on radio and TV programs such as "Good Morning America." There have been two "Whatever Became Of . . ? specials based on his book and produced for ABC by Dick

When interviewed, Lamparski is quick and well-informed as to the whereabouts of anyone from Pola Negri to Mad Man Muntz. But he is seldom led into his actual experiences with the approximately 1,000 na-tional and world figures he has interviewed. No one has asked him, for instance, about going to the movies in the afternoon with Dorothy Parker or sharing a Thanksgiving dinner with Busby Berkeley and Ruby Keeier (Walter Winchell joined them for dessert and coffee).

On the lecture platform he tells those stories and many others, such as why he hung up the phone on Tallulah Bankhead; why Christine Jorgenson will not speak to him; or what it was like lunching in a smart New York restaurant with Huntz Hall on his right and Leo Gorcey (packing a loaded .45 in his belt) on his left.

Lamparski begins his presenta-tion by helping the audience put faces with the names he discusses. using slides of candid photos taken during his interviews with such people as Fred Astaire, Gloria Swanson, P.G. Wodehouse, and two of the original Three Stooges.

In part two, the audience is invited to ask questions which may result in concise replies as to where and how a celebrity of the past is today, or a detailed reminiscence of his encounter with that person.

And while Lamparski is usually associated with Hollywood personalities, he has also interviewed - and has tales to tell - about such diverse personalities as Tokyo Rose, Alger Hiss, and the Coptic Pope.

 Once described by the CIA's Chief of Soviet Russia Division as "The most knowledgeable defector on record," Dr. Vladimir Sakharov came to the U.S. during Leonid Brezhnev's leadership of the Soviet Union.

Born into the ranks of the Moscow international elite and the son of a prominent diplomat who served Stalin, Khrushchev and Brezhnev, Sakharov was educated at Moscow's Institute for International Relations typically the start to a career in diplomacy and intelligence. By the time he was ready to be posted to the Middle East, he was fluent in German, English and several Arabic dialects. When the Arab/Israeli war broke out, he was working with the tribes of Yemen. Later, he was assigned by the Soviet Union as an officer in charge of communications with Egyptian counterintelligence.

Finally, disillusioned with the corruption of the Brezhnev regime, he made his move. He made contact with the CIA and defected - first to Saudi Arabia, then Greece, England and finally America.

Cooke's first PTSA meeting of the year was a great success with many parents attending including a large group of sixth grade parents. Wel-come! Included in the meeting was a tour of the newly organized cafeleria with a discussion and suggestiontaking period following the tour.

Sept. 19 is student picture day, and in the evening at 7 p.m., Cooke's Open House begins. This gives parents an opportunity to follow their child's schedule and meet with their teachers. Remember, car pooling is recommended because the parking is limited.

The football team has been out practicing every day after school in preparation for the first game on Sept. 25. It will be an away game with Mason. Good luck players!

Spirit Week starts Monday, Sept. 30 with college sweatshirt day. Each day will have a different theme and on School Spint Day the class with the most spirit gets into the next afterschool activity free. All during the week there will be a canned food drive with collections being donated to Civic Concern. Paper products (toilet paper, paper towels, tissue) will be accepted, as well as boxed and canned food items.

Recycled stationery, by Whole World Inc., will be our fundraiser for the year. The sale is set to begin Sept. 20 and run through Sept. 30. These recycled paper products will make unique gifts at reasonable prices, ranging from $2.50 to $5.25. Watch for a display of samples at the Open House and in the display case near the front door. All proceeds will go to JES, Junior Enrichment Series, to bring in quality programs for our students.

Another item of interest to both Cooke parents and students is the sale of Cooke "Spirit" items. These items include T-shirts, sweatshirts. jackets, and new this year, tote bags. All are attractive in Cooke colors of red and black and have Cooke's name on them. Deadline for orders is Sept. 24. If you have any questions contact Elaine Schlosser, 347-6658. By CRISTINA FERRIER Staff Writer

A rustic, isolated cottage in the mountains, a party, a murdered guest, and a houseful of suspects.

All the elements of a classic murder mystery are there in "Murder in the Catskills," currently showing at Northville's Marquis Theatre. The two-hour, three-act play is directed by Joseph French, known for his directing of over 25 productions for the Greenfield Village Players in Dearborn. The show takes place in the present, which is a change for the director. "He wanted to do something different for a change," said Marquis Theatre Producer Inge Zayti.

Zayti described the play as "a twisted sort of comedy." The cast is made up largely of actors who are new to the Marquis stage.

WILLIAM ALLAN ACADEMY

The annual parents Full Open House, the first oganized function at William Alian Academy each school year, was held recently. Val Hambleton, the Allan Academy Founder (WAA is now a "teenager," as it first opened 14 years ago) and principal. conducted the initial portion of the get-together.

Besides discussing a variety of topics from dress code (yes, there is one! It is used as another aspect of learing - making appropriate choices of what to wear in given situations) to the every-Tuesdaymorning school assemblies, (at which the entire student body, teachers and parents listen as students present something of merit they've done during the past week), Ms. Hambleton outlined two thoughts for William Allan Academy's students, parents and teachers. They were: 1. To accomplish great things in life we need to cooperate, and 2. achievement results from a preoccupation with excellence, and not with perfection or competition.

Needless to say, William Allan Academy's opening was a great success!

The William Allan Academy Parent Group's Fall Fund Raiser is taking place during the first part of October. The sweet sounds of jazz have hit the western suburbs.

The Nine Mile Road restaurant Home Sweet Home is hosting weekly Jazz performances by vocalist Eric Brandon and the Buddy Buddson

Brandon, 24 years old and a relative newcomer to the jazz scene, performs twice a week with both local and nationally known musicians.

Performances are Tuesdays and Wednesdays between 8-11 p.m. This past Tuesday, Sept. 17, vocalist Ur-sula Walker and saxophonist George Benson played. On Sept. 10, Detroit favorite Marcus Belgrave wowed the crowd with his trumpeting skills, along with Benson and the band.

The performances are being coordinated by SPX/Special Projects Group of Birmingham.

"it's Just been building each week: it's phenomenal," said SPX represen-tative Jodi Germain. "Last week we had 150 people there.

"It's really an incredible evening." agreed SPX representative Christine Future gigs will continue to feature Belgrave and Walker, possibly on alternating weeks. Germain said the band will also play with other artists as they become available. "As new guest people come into town, we're going to try to get them in there," she said.

The restaurant itself, with its variety of home-cooked dishes and elegant atmosphere, also serves as a good backdrop for the music. "It's a very, very charming place, an old Victorian mansion." Lange said.

The performances are free of charge

Cranbrook features exhibition

The Cranbrook Collection: New reers. The Table Frame is a gift of and Notable Acquisitions, 1989-1991," an exhibition of over 50 recently donated works by distinguished Cranbrook Academy of Art faculty, alumni and visiting artists, will be on view this summer at Cranbrook Academy of Art Museum and continue through Oct. 27, 1991.

The exhibition opens with a Table Frame (c. 1929) attributed to Eliel Saarinen, Cranbrook's resident architect (1925-1950) and the academy's first president (1932-1946). As previously undocumented works by Saarinen are exceedingly rare, the frame is an important acquisition which is featured not only in this exhibition, but also in a forthcoming Smithsonian publication.

Eliel Saarinen himself is the subject of a portrait in the exhibition by Zoltan Sepeshy, the academy's second president (1959-1966) and first resident painter. The painting, which shows a pensive architect, was painted in the 1940s at the height of both Sepeshy's and Saarinen's ca-local collectors Jerome and Patricia Shaw, while the painting was donated by Joseph Lacy, a former partner of both Eliel and Eero Saarinen.

The exhibition includes three outstanding contemporary paintings, including a monumental abstracted landscape, Quatro Stagioni No. 16 (1989), by the Italian-American artist Tino Zago (Cranbrook Academy of Art M.F.A. in Painting, 1965); an expressive portrait, Gene (1984), by the New York-based artist Robert Beauchamp (CAA B.F.A. in Painting. 1950); and a conceptual work, Add Color Painting (1989), by Yoko Ono (CAA Visiting Artist, 1989). The Ono and the Zago are gifts of the artists, while the Beauchamp is a gift of the American Academy and Institute of Arts and Letters, New York, through the Hasam, Speicher, Betts and Symons Funds. Cranbrook Academy of Art Museum offers temporary exhibitions focusing on contemporary trends in the visual arts. The permanent col-lection features work by Eliel and Eero Saarinen, Harry Bertola, Malja Grotell, Charles Eames and other Cranbrook artists, architects and designers. Museum hours are 1-5 p.m., Wednesday through Sunday. Docent-guided tours are available with advance notice. For tour information please call 645-3323.

CROSSROADS

The mist began to rise as I walked across the tiny pedestrian causeway from the Craignair Inn to Clark Island.

I turned to photograph the Craignair, a large white clapboard square in a nest of granite rocks.

It was granite quarries that opened this area in the 1880s, when the huge stone were shipped out of here on tall-masted schooners.

I turned to follow the tipped granite ledges along the sea, photographing the boats resting in mud, waiting for the tide to come in and set them

That's when the mist came in. I listed my head and the inn was gone. There was no horizon, and soon there were no boats. The square wooden houses where the granite workers once lived across the tidal slats in Spruce Head were gone, like the granite industry is gone, leaving me alone on Clark Island in the

You must call Terry or Norman Smith at the Craignair Inn and follow their directions off Highway 1, down the pe-ninsula to the sea, to find the tiny village of Spruce Head, but it is only a 20-minute drive back up the peninsula to the restaurants and schooner tours and marinas of Rockland, or the the Monhegan Island ferry dock at

Terry showed me old photos of Clark Island when it was an industrial center in the late 1800s, the schooners lined up to haul Maine granite for the construction of Central Park bridges in New York City, or the Library of Congress in Washington.

There is no sign of the old quarry buildings now as I walk the track through the island forest of pine and maple, the sun shining down on the fern gullies and the two-wheel track leading to a single cottage still active at the far end of the teland.

Terry had drawn me a tiny map of Clark Island, a route that turned left down a footwide path of tree roots, rocks and pine needles, between the quarry and the lily pond, following the sound of a distant foghorn to the sea. It was only me and the rocks and the edge of the sea, but suddenly the mist lifted and there they were - small rocky islets, with treed islands beyond.

The shoreline emerged out of the mist, the houses of Spruce Head were visible again.

My stomach told me it was time for lunch.

The Craignair Inn has what the French call "je ne sais quois," literally "I don't know what." It's that undefinable something that you find in a good dining room. It has something to do with the gleam of glass and the happy murmur of voices, mixed with the enjoyment of good food beautifully served.

The diners are inn guests in their sweaters and canvas shoes or local people in plaid shirts. Over breakfast and lunch we sit in a blue-jeweled coccoon - blue papered walls, polished wooden floors, the Maine light shining on a wonderful collection of plates and pictures and miscellaneous Terry-clutter.

Outside, beyond a fringe of flowers, is that real-life scene painted in stone, seaweed and misted trees. There are several bedrooms upstairs in the inn. some with shared bathrooms, and five more in a second building called The Vestry, all with private baths.

The rooms are furnished with antiques and quilts and other inn-like accessories. The rates range from $50 to $100. For more information contact Terry or Norman Smith, The Craignair Inn. Clark Island, Spruce Head, Maine 04859 or telephone (207) 594-7644.

Reliving the Old South in Natchez

Fall Pilgrimmage Tours offer glimpse into antebellum times

BY ARMAND GEBERT

Hoop-skirted ladies will guide visitors through high-ceilinged rooms and up spiraling stairways during the annual Fall Pilgrimage tours in Natchez, Mississippi (Oct. 5-25).

Natchez (population 22,400) was spared much of the pillage and burning of the Civil War, so more than 500 pre-war mansions, churches and other buildings remain intact or have been restored.

Twenty-six of them are open to the public during the Fall Pilgrimage. You will find manicured gardens, stately pillared mansions with priceries and legends, mint juleps and kegs, dusty packing boxes and tool marvelous cuisine - a place where Southern hospitality is alive and well.

Half of these houses serve as bed-and-breakfast inns, which compete in the arenas of elegance and graciousness.

Each mansion could be an ideal setting for a romantic novel. Each has its distinctive personality. However, disciplined selection is needed in order to prevent an overdose of Longwood is probably the best property on which to rouse yesteryears' ghosts. Never completed because of the War, the five-story octagonal-shaped house has an Oriental mode, including Byzantine arches, and an onion dome which caps and dominates the structure.

The exterior is finished. The intersets are scattered throughout, reminders of the Northern artisans who fled when word arrived of the firing on Fort Sumter.

Only the basement is completed, nine rooms where the occupants lived out the War. Each December is devoted to a Vic-" torian Christmas pageant at Longwood. Candlelight tours, a concert of black spirituals and a first person account-performance about attending an 1862 Christmas party are highlights of the event in the house, which glows with 100,000 lights.

Stanton Hall, the largest of the mansions, features a white classical colonnade and occupies an entire city block. Built in 1857, it features Carrara marble mantels, gold leaf mirrors, bronze chandeliers and eterling doorknot s as accents to luxurious furnishings made possible by King Cotton.

Rosalie is another genteel knockout. It served as the Union Army's local headquarters during the War and in 1863 was occupied by General Ulysses S. Grant. The gold leaf mirrors, now hanging on the walls, were buried during the occupation in a Rosalie overlooks the Mississippi. so it is a good site on which to ponder the past and the strategic role the mighty river played in the War.

One antidote to mansion overdose is to intersperse visits with other Natchez lifestyles. Under-the-Hill on Silver Street is an example . . . a contrast to the stateliness of the uphill aristocratic section of town. This was the lair for gamblers and riverboat roughnecks. It teemed with brothels and hars. It's caves were filled with stolen goods.

The restored neighborhood is now home to shops and restaurants. The Under-the-Hill Saloon with enorm- round.

ous French doors opening onto a gallery is a delightful spot to grab a rocker and watch river traffic.

The Mississippi Hot Air Balloon Race (Oct. 18-20) is a popular diversion during the Fall Pilgrimage. Attracting contestants from throughout the world, more than 100 multihued entries will take off from the; Natchez bluffs and swoop down overtugs before crossing the Mississippi to land on the Louisiana Delta.

For lodging information, reserva-. tions and tour tickets contact the Natchez Pilgrimage Tours, Canal at. State Street, P.O. Box 347, Natchez, Mississippi 39121 or telephone tollfree (800) 647-6742.

Oxford: Smart shops and Faulkner

OXFORD, MISSISSIPPI: This small community (population 10,300) looks exactly the way a small Southern town should look.

A classic white Greek revival courthouse with a Confederate monument in front centers the town square. Smart shops and one of the south's finest book stores. Square Books, outline the square.

The book store is a pampered browsers' paradise. A lunch counter and small case tables share space with bookshelves on the second floor where there are also restroom facilities. Clerks bring your books, a waitress serves your coffee.

The literary merchandise, unsurprisingly, is rich in southern culture and William Faulkner.

Leave the square. Stroll or drive the quiet tree-lined streets of historic homes to Rowan Oak, Faulkner's ante bellum house at a bend of Old Taylor Road. This is where novelist lived and wrote from 1930 until his death in 1962, where he heard that he had won a Nobel Prize in

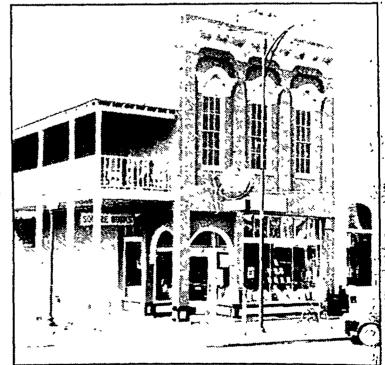

His first floor "office" contains the expected — a vintage Underwood typewriter, a small fold-top desk that he made, a carpenter's pencil, a bottle of ink.

Don't let these items detract you from reading the walls where Faulkner scribbled the plot outline of his Pulitzer Prize (1956) novel. The Fable.

Oxford is also the home of the University of Mississippi ("Ole Miss"). Southern folklife and culture buffs and blues musiclovers will be riveted to a couple of treasure troves on the elegant campus. These are the Center for Study of Southern Culture which is dedicated to research of Southern music, history, politics, folklife and literature; and the University of Mississippi Blues Archive which contains books, periodicals, promotional materials and more than 10,000 phonographs.

Vicksburg: Battle-scarred heritage

VICKSBURG, MISSISSIPPI: The Vicksburg National Military Park Is the centerpiece of this historic, proud, battle-scarred city.

Memories of a 47-day Union stege, May 19 through July 14, 1863, are still vivid here.

Go first to the park's Visitors Center to capture the impact and an understanding of the hardships endured by a beleaguered city.

Study the dioramas of civilians seeking refuge in caves from bombardments. Learn of military strategles, defenses and offenses. Then rent a tape cassette ($4.50) and drive along a 16-mile trail through 2.000 acres of woods and hills, peppered with commemorative monuments and markers.

There's a transformation. A narrator changes the green hills into bloody entrenchments. A battle rages where majestic monuments were later to be erected, honoring the fallen Blues and Greys. Opposite the National Cemetery entrance is the museum for the USS Cairo, a sunken Union gunboat that has been salvaged. The iron-clad Cairo, destroyed on the Yazoo River by Consederates, is believed to have been the first vessel sunk by an electricaly-detonated mine.

Vicksburg's Old Court House Mu-seum, built by slaves in 1858, features many artifacts, including newspapers printed on wallpaper to report the city's hardships and defeat. Union prisoners were housed in the second floor courtroom, and Confederate troops used the cupola as a signal station during the slege.

The Gibraltar of the Confederacy also boasts its share of stately homes. These include Balfour House with its three-story eliptical spiral staircase: Cedargrove, damaged by shells from Federal gunboats, is located on a four-acre site of formal grounds; and the Duff Green Mansion which was a hospital for Confederate and Union soldiers.

Vicksburg has a "must" dining experience. It's the Delta Point Restaurant where continental cuisine competes with a spectacular view of the meandering Mississippi. The combination is unsurpassable.

Go at sunset and watch a slow freighter round a bend.

Huzjak passes Northville to 34-20 win

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Northville footballers put their season-opening loss to South Lyon behind them in a big way last Friday (Sept. 13), pounding Walled Lake Central 34-20 in the 1991 home

The game was actually much more lopsided than the score indicates. For instance:

 The Mustangs outscored the Vikings 34-0 in the first three quarters.

 Central avoided the shutout by scoring three touchdowns in a fourminute span of the fourth quarter. All three scores were set up by Northville turnovers.

 Mustang Coach Darrel Schumacher removed most of his starters late in the third quarter.

We were looking for this win — We neededit, Schumacher said. Ithink we improved in many areas and that was our main objective. It was a good

The biggest improvement came from the offensive and defensive lines. Much maligned following the 29-10 loss at South Lyon, the young offensive line gave Northville quarterback Ryan Huzjak more time to pass and he responded with well over 300 yards of total offense and accounted for four TDs.

"Our lines played much better." Schumacher said. We're pleased with the progess."

For the second straight week, the Mustangs opened the game with a long and impressive scoring march. Huzjak capped a 13-play, 86-yard drive with a one-yard run to make it

In the second quarter, Northville went 90 and 71 yards for two more touchdown drives to take a commanding 21-0 halftime lead. Huzjak found Jamie Miller for a 47-yard scoring strike at the nine minute mark, and then connected with Danny Walsh for 54-yards to set up an 8-yard touchdown run by Kevin

S. 1w. Those were two good drives." Schumacher said.

The Mustangs added two more TDs in the third quarter. The first came on a 38-yard run by Chad Olson — who picked up a loose ball after Rob Subotich blocked a Viking punt - and the second was a 24-yard scoring pass from Huzjak to Miller at the 1:43 mark. Defensive lineman Brian Scholz recovered a fumble deep in Walled Lake Central territory to set up the second touchdown.

We pulled (Huzjak) after the last TD in the third, and most of the other starters came out soon after that," Schumacher said. "Once we pulled the starters, the second stringers did not respond."

An interception led to the Vikings first score -- a 14-yard pass from Michael Gluski to Paul Theriault - and a fumble set up the second - a 15-yard run by Gluski. When the Vikings recovered an on-side kick and scored again on a 33-yard pass from Gluski to Mark Creger, the Mustang faithful started to become

We were frustrated more than anything." Schumacher said. "Mentally, we weren't ready to play but we were never in jeopardy of losing the Huzjak connected on 14-of-19 passes for 273 yards and two touchdowns and no interceptions. He also rushed for 48 yards and a score in 10 in attempts. Miller (seven catches, 124 yards, two TDs) and Walsh (six catches, 143 yards) both had big days. Shaw rushed for 79 yards in seven carries to pace the Mustangs in that department.

On defense, Bret Butz registered 11 solos, four assists and two sacks. If we had a negative, it was penalties," Schumacher said. "We had 13 for 155 yards, and there is no excuse

Tankersnip Salem 94-92

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN Staff Winter

Nobody - not even Hollywood script writers - could have come up with a more exciting finish to the Northville-Plymouth Salem swim meet on Sept. 12.

With the outcome still in doubt heading into the final event, the Mustangs placed first and third in the 400 yard freestyle relay to edge the Rocks. 94-92. The winning relay team consisted of Megan Gobel, Kathy Lang, Brenda Newton and Jodi Wesley; while the third-place combo featured Shannon Willard, Allison Sieving, Erica Anderson and Daneen

Another highlight was individual wins by Wesley in the 200 and 500 freestyle events. Her times in both races qualified her for the MHSAA State Meet to be held at the end of November. The rest of the Northville firsts came from Terl Juhasz in the 200 IM and the 100 breaststroke, from Beth Frayne in diving, and from the 200 medley relay team (with Juhasz, Gobel, Kathy Lang and Sheila Osporne).

The Mustangs chipped in with three individual seconds (Gobel in the 200 IM. Osborne in the 50 freestyle and Daneen Lang in the 100 backstroke) and added two other thirds (Anderson in the 100 backstroke and Newton in the 100 freestyle).

Cagers run over Memorial, 57-37

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN Staff Writer

For the first time this season, the Northville cagers got their high-powered running game in gear on Sept. 12. As a result, the host Mus-tangs ran over Wayne Memorial 57.37 in a proconference clash 57-37 in a non-conference clash.

'It was a beneficial game because I felt it was the first time we broke loose offensively." Northville Coach Ed Kritch said. "We got the running game going and we had 49 points after three quarters. As the game went on, we kind of wore them down."

The Mustangs — who won the season's first three games with stilling defensive pressure - are now a perfect 4-0 on the season with the start of the WLAA campaign approaching.

Northville got off to a slow start offensively against Memorial, but held the Zebras in check and led 10-54 after eight minutes. Kara McNeil and Laura Apligian combined for 12 points in the second quarter - most coming on the fast break - to help the Mustangs take a commanding 28-14 halftime lead.

"We worked hard the defensive end, especially when we were strug-gling to score points early in the game," Kritch said.

Northville exploded for 21 points in the third, and McNeil led the way with nine. The lead expanded to 26 points heading into the final stanza. Reserve guard Angie Tune scored all of her team's eight points in the fourth and wound up with a careerhigh 10 points.

McNeil led all scorers with 19 points and four steals. Apligian and Karen Pump chipped in with nine and eight points respectively.

McNeil had her best game of the season," Kritch said.

The Mustangs (4-0 overall) will travel to Walled Lake to take on Central today (Sept. 19).

"We feel good about where we're at," Kritch admitted. "We've looked very good at times but I know we can really make improvements.

"I think the girls are starting to realize how good this team could be. We think we have the ability to take our play to a new level - a level that's never been seen at Northville."

Moore powers Mustang kickers past Western

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN Staff Writer

When you're matched against top-10 teams in three of the last four outings like the Northville soccer team, you relish playing a nonranked team like Walled Lake Western. The Mustangs made the most of the break in a otherwise brutal schedule on Sept. 9 and blanked the War-

"We could have scored a lot more," Northville Coach Bob Paul said. We outshot them 26-2. We moved the ball well and the defense played a composed game."

On offense, it was the Steve Moore Show. The junior midfielder scored all three goals for the Mustangs. He notched what was to be the gamewinner off a direct kick at the 21-minute mark of the first half. He added two other second-half tallies at the 15- and 30-minute marks, off passes from Brandon Cuadra and Matt notched the season's first shutout.

Goaltender Gordie Collins

LIVONIA STEVENSON 6. NORTHVILLE 1: Two days later, the Mustangs ran up against the secondranked Spartans and the outcome was much disserent.

We headed into the Stevenson match with some momentum because we had just played three solid games in a row." Paul said. "But we lest our game plan completely. We went into a defensive shell and lost all offensive initiative."

The Spartans managed just one goal in the first half (at the 23-minute mark) and were clinging to a 2-1 lead midway through the second half before exploding for four goals in a nightmarish 10 minute span. The lone Northville goal came af the 17-minute mark on an unassisted tally by Osiecki.

"I think we learned a good lesson," Paul explained. "We didn't play with the kind of intensity you need against a powerful team like Stevenson.

A week earlier, the Mustangs were very competitive against No. 4 Livonia Churchill and No. 7 Redford Catholic Central, but lost both. Churchill broke a scoreless tie with 10 minutes remaining and went on to win 3-0. Catholic Central hungon for a hard-earned 2-1 triumph.

We have the toughest part of our season behind us," Paul said.

Northville (2-5 overall, 1-2 in the WLAA) will host Farmington Harrison today (Sept. 19) at 7 p.m.

Dunwoodie pleased with triumph

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN

When Westland John Glenn showed up for the Sept. 10 dual meet against Northville with just three runners, the Mustangs were guaranteed a win before the race even started.

But Northville Coach Nick Dunwoodie was pleased when his team went out and performed well anyway, putting the first five runners across the finish line in a 15-45 triumph over the Rockets.

"It went very well," Dunwoodie said. "It was a good improvement for our team over our last race."

Mari Kissenger was first overall in a time of 24:09. She was followed in order by teammates Michelle Splan (24:38), Joleen Filkin (25:02), Angle Groves (25:10) and Laura Thomas (25:22). In addition, Roopal Bashi (seventh place, 26:25) and Julie Buser (eighth, 28:09) also finished for the Mustangs.

*Our pack time was 1:13 and that's pretty good, Durnwoodle said. Northville also competed at the 14-team Schoolcraft Invitational on Sept. 14 and placed ninth overall with 233 points. Livonia Stevenson won it with 62. The competition was tough and the times were very fast," Duriwoodie said. Four girls in the field broke 20

Kissenger again paced the Mustangs and place 39th overall with a 23:17 effort. She ws followed by Laura Brown (41st, 23:20), Splan (50th, 23:51), Filkin (51st, 23:55), Groves (52nd, 24:01), Vashi (58th, 24:36) and Thomas (67th, 24:36). Our pack time for our top seven runners was 1:19, so that's even better than the dual meet against Glenn," Dunwoodie said.

Northville (1-1 overall) will host Plymouth Canton today (Sept. 19) at Cass Benton Park.

BOYS CROSS COUNTRY PE-VIEW: The young inexperienced Mustangs went to 0-4 on Sept. 10 following a 19-36 defeat against Westland John Glenn.

The Rockets put the top four runners across the finish line to guarantee the victory. Freshman Jeff Zwiesler paced Northville and was fifth overall in a time of 19:22. He was followed by Mark Ritter (sixth, 19:37), Daisuke Ishikawa (seventh, 19:37) and Chris Smith (eighth, 19:54).

We packed well after they went 1-2-3-4, but we are very young." Northville Coach Ed Gabrys said. "A 32-second pack time is good, but now

Sept. 14, the Mustangs placed 12th in a field of 14 with 318 points. The team's top finisher was Ishikawa, rest of the Northville finishers were Zwiesler (63rd, 19:38), Ritter (67th, 19:46), Smith (68th, 19:49), Nathan Kirmis (70th, 20:02) and Scott Lloyd

"It was a pack time of 48 seconds. which is pretty good." Gabrys said. We'll be competive by the end of the season if we can move the pack time up a minute and get the guys running in the 18-minute range.

Linksters top Lions 202-213

Apparently, a two-week dual-meet layoff didn't affect the Northville linksters. On Sept. 12, the Mustangs put logether several outstanding ninehole rounds and upended South Lyon 202-213 at Tanglewood Golf Course.

The guys really played well." Northville Coach Trish Waldecker said. "We'd been off for such a long time but it didn't hurt us. It was a good win - We needed it."

Senior Kevin Krupansky shared medalist honors with a Lion golfer by firing an even par 36. According to Waldecker, he notched the score despite taking a double-bogie on one hole. The rest of the Northville scores came from Joe Staknis (37), Matt Telepo (42), George Lemmon (43) and Ed Murphy (44).

PLYMOUTH BESTBALL TOUR-NAMENT: Four Mustang golfers competed in the annual bestball event on Sept. 10 at Hilltop.

As a unit, Northville placed fifth overall. The team of Todd Christianson and Krupansky combined to shoot a six-over-par 78 and placed fifth, while the team of Staknis and Telepo was 11th with an eight-over-

NORTHVILLE 73. REDFORD THURSTON 20: The host Mustangs took every first-place finish en route to a lopsided non-conference win over the Eagles on Sept. 10.

Again, Wesley continued her assault on the state-meet cutoffs with a qualifying effort of 2:18.39 in the 200 IM. She also notched a first place finish in the 100 freestyle.

Teri Juhasz contributed to the victory parade with firsts in the 500 freestyle and the 100 breaststroke. The rest of the wins came from Sieving in the 200 freesyle, Newton in the 50 freestyle, Kathy Lang in the 100 butterfly, Gobel in the 100 backstroke, Frayne in diving, and all three relay teams.

The runner-up finishes included Anderson in the 200 IM and the 100 backstroke, Daneen Lang in the 100 butterfly, Tammy Cook on the 100 freestyle, Sieving in the 500 freestyle and Katrina Heckemeyer in the 100 breaststroke.

GREAT LAKES TOUR: The Great Lakes Amateur Golf Tour has expanded to Western Michigan and four regional tours: 1.) West Metro Detroit, 2.) Northeast Metro Detroit, 3.) Kalamazoo/Battle Creek, 4.) Grand Rapids/Muskegon.

1990 marked the inaugural year for brothers Rob and Dean Naudi, and Roy Gaddey with the Great Lakes Amateur Tour in the metro Detroit area, and from all indications, it was a major success. Over 650 players attempted to qualify for 260 tour cards, and play some of Michigan's finest courses.

The Great Lakes Amateur Tour is every golfer's chance to play "The Tour." Patterned after the PGA tour, the players will compete with players of equal ability in four different handicap divisions. The players must play two 18-hole qualifying rounds in May to earn their Tour Card and be eligible to compete in their section of the Great Lakes Amateur Tour.

Men or women who have an established USGA handicap, or a league average that can be verified, are eligible to participate. There is a $60 entry fee (players will also pay greens fees) to compete in the qualifying rounds. Each golfer will receive a Great Lakes Amateur Tour logoed golf shirt from the PGA Tour Collection.

Renting starter home increases in popularity

By James M. Woodard Copley News Service

Renting a home, rather than buying, is becoming increasingly popular with families throughout the country.

At least, families are now more inclined to postpone their purchase of a home. The basic rationale for this trend was recently described by Douglas Kieder, owner of Real Estate Consultants, a New Jersey firm.

Two decades of high inflation, new household formations and favorable tax structures all have ended," he said. The most important effect of these changes is a significant softening of real estate appreciation rates. This translates to greatly reduced long term returns on a home purchase investment.

"In today's market and perhaps for the rest of the decade, one cannot assume that their house is going to guarantee financial security. This is a fundamental change

Azalea 3 offers space for large, active family

By James McAlexander Copley News Service

Designed to fit the needs of a large, active family, the Azalea 3 offers a variety of spacious living areas and plenty of opportunities for privacy, as well. It's a contemporary home with a country flavor.

Just about every amenity maginable can be found in the huge country kitchen. It has a large work island with vegetable sink, as well as a long eating bar with built-in cook top and grill. A garden window looks out over the deck into the back yard, and an appliance center keeps a multitude of small appliances ready to use yet out of sight. The double ovens are large enough to handle big Thanksgiving get-togethers, while the trash compactor will keep refuse to a minimum, no matter what the occasion.

And there's more. The kitchen also has a pantry, freezer, built-in desk and an eating nook that opens onto a small deck. The utility room is close enough to toss laundry into the machines during meal preparations and cleanup—an important time-saver in families where both parents work outside the home. A small bathroom is centrally located between the entry and the kitchen.

Sure to be the most popular room in the house, the family room is positively huge. Bathed in beams of light streaming in through skylights in the high vaulted ceiling, it looks even larger. A long hearth that stretches across the entire far end of the room draws the eye to the oversize fireplace, a great place for fannywarming and long conversations on cool winter evenings. Glass doors open onto a large deck, also accessable from the master suite.

In the master suite, his and hers walk-in closets keep the peace while also providing sound insulation between the sleeping area and the water closet. A sliding door provides privacy in the toilet area, but the rest of this large space is wide open. It has a shower, spa and double vanities. Access to a small home office is right across the hall from the master suite.

From the two-story vaulted entry, a few steps to the left take you directly into the living room, then on into the formal dining room. Turn to the right instead, and you're on your way upstairs. The landing at the top of the stairs is open to the entry below. This makes it easy to talk to people below without running down the stairs.

One of the bedrooms upstairs is a full guest suite complete with walk-in closet and private bathroom. This large room has a wide bay window, perfect for a window seat. Two of the other three bedrooms also have walk-in closets, and the bathroom they share has two sinks. Laundry dropped down the bathroom chute ends up right where it needs to go—in the utility room.

Salem couple build log home for country living and animals

By Pamela Dear

Four years ago, Nancy and Bruce Rein of Dearborn Heights were looking for a new home. "We only looked at about five houses, and once we saw this one we just knew it was the one for us." Nancy said.

Nancy, a manager in carrier services at Michigan Bell in Southfield, and Bruce, a section supervisor in the engineering services department at Ford Motor Co. in Dearborn, decided they wanted to live

In May of 1987 the Reins purchased a contemporary cedar log construction on two acres in the Beacon Farms subdivision in Salem Township. The home was about two years old.

This 3.000-square-foot design contains three bedrooms, two and a half baths which includes a master bath with Jacuzzi finished by Bruce, a formal dining room, great room, large kitchen, two fire-places, three-car garage and a full basement.

The exterior cedar logs are two inches thick, followed by two different layers of installation, and then two more inches of cedar for the interior walls. "It's not all solid wood, but it is about eight inches thick," Bruce said.

The ceilings are pine. Only a few rooms have been drywalled, such as the dining room which is wallpapered in a country stencil design. The light color of the pickled interior walls creates a fresh and sunny Beamed ceilings, large windows with Nancy's home-sewn treatments, and cedar shake roofing enhance the home's comfortable country style.

When the Reins moved in, there wasn't any landscaping, driveway or kitchen facilities. The kitchen was here, but there were no cupboards or anything, so we finished

We did all the wallpapening and painting too." Nancy said. "I liked this house immediately. I liked the style, plus Bruce is a real handyman and I knew he could finish it." she explained.

The Reins have converted the electric heating unit to a gas furnace and have added central air. They have found the log home to be very energy efficient and are enjoying low heating bills in the winter months. 'People can't believe how low our bills are." Nancy said.

"I told Bruce I think this is going to be a good house for us. It fits all our furnishings and he could have his animals," Nancy recalls.

The Reins have a golden retriever named Shiloh and two adopted cats. The animals to which she is referring, though, are a collection of over 15 preserved and mounted specimens of wildlife, such as a wolf, beaver, mountain lion. wolverine, moose and turkey. They are imaginatively displayed and blend in naturally with the cedar and pine interior. "I know some people are all hung up about animals." Nancy said. I think they are educational. We've had so many kids come in who have never had a chance to see some of these things. We haven't gone out and purposely killed them. We bought them from others. They are beautiful," she

In the great room above the fireplace mantle is a stunning white polar bear rug, complete with claws. "It's one of the reasons we bought this house." Bruce said, because we were looking for a place to mount the polar bear."

The bear would be about nine feet tall if standing and requires an appropriately large area for hanging. We were getting ready to sell the bear because we didn't know what to do with it," Nancy in Detroit. A sense of humor is also evident in the choice of collectibles. For example, the laundry room is equipped with washer, dryer, an antique slot machine from the 1930s, and an antique cash register. "Everybody needs a cash register, right?" Nancy beamed.

The Reins have been collecting antiques ever since they met. It's a nice thing to do together, and you're outside because a lot of the antique things are outside in the summer." Nancy said. "I just like old things." she added. "and if you compare antiques with what you pay for furniture, you don't lose your money on it. No matter when you sell it. you will never sell it for less than what you paid for it." Nancy said. Bruce commented: We normally don't buy anything if it's not in pretty good shape." Their home is carefully furnished with comfortable items. believing in using, not Just admiring, antiques. Antique couches and chairs are absent. They aren't comfortable to sit in." Bruce said. Chrome and glass are also eliminated. The emphasis, rather, is on the beauty of wood, particularly oak, striving for an early Americana character, in harmony with the cedar and pine structure.

The atmosphere of country living is accented in a landscape design. incorporating a neatly-trimmed lawn, pine trees, conifer shrubs. some perennials, large stones used for bordering purposes and outdoor lighting. Bruce has done all the landscaping work himself. A 100-foot porch wraps around three sides of the home with Bruce always want to go away at Christmas, and I always want to stay home. I enjoy being here," Nancy explained. Christmas is my favorite time. We find the biggest tree we can to put in here. I like to decorate the inside with natural greens," she said.

On weekends it is not unusual for cars to drive by and admire the home. We've seen people get out of their cars and take out cameras with tripods." Nancy recalls. "I'm proud of it. We put a lot of hard work into it." she said. The Reins plan on living in their log home for a long time. We haven't found anything we like better yet." Nancy said.

In the second floor hallway sits an operable wooden telephone booth with interior lighting and glass folding doors. Bruce restored it by removing three coats of paint It didn't have a phone, but he was able to purchase one through a catalog. The two boys next door. like to come over and call their mom." I would rather that my friends and business associates didn't know I am renting," he said.

Some renters, of course, are not happy with their rented home. A study reported in The Apartment Owner magazine outlined "three pet peeves" expressed by tenants.

The first peeve is focused on property owners and managers who enter the renter's space when the renter is out. The second is when the owner or manager does not promptly make needed repairs when the renter reports something wrong. The third is the lack of any

"The more things change, the more they remain the same."

Alphonse Karr, 1849

Like our commitment to outstanding community newspapers for example.

It was only a couple of weeks ago that we changed our name from Sliger/Livingston Publications to HomeTown Newspapers. But you've probably noticed that nothing else has changed. We're still bringing you the same excellent community newspapers that you've learned to depend on for everything you need to know to live in your home town.

The Michigan Press Association (MPA) hasn't noticed much difference since we changed our name either. In fact, the MPA acknowledged our continued commitment to excellence by awarding us a total of 21 awards in the recent Better Newspapers Contest. That makes HomeTown Newspapers the most honored newspaper chain in the state. Here's a look at how we did.

The South Lyon Herald: 1st place - Use of Graphics; 1st place - Special Sections (Neighbors), 2nd place - Local News Reporting, 2nd place - Editorial Pages, 3rd place - General Excellence

The Milford Times: 1st place - General Excellence, 1st place - Local News Reporting, 1st place - Sports Coverage

The Northville Record: 3rd place - Sports Coverage, 3rd place - Lifestyle/Family Section

The Novi News: 2nd place - General Excellence, 2nd place - Feature Stories (Bob Needham), 2nd place - Sports Coverage, Honorable Mention - Lifestyle/Family Section

The Livingston County Press: 1st place - Lifestyle/Family Section, 2nd place - Special Sections (Neighbors)

The Brighton Argus: 2nd place - Use of Graphics, 2nd place - Lifestyle/Family Section, 3rd place - Use of Color, 3rd place - Feature stories, Honorable Mention - Sports Picture (Scott Piper)

For a unique place, try Victoria's

BY RICK BYRNE Copy Editor

Shopping for clothes in the mail can be disappointing for some women. The problem is that nobody has anything that's really unique.

You can buy a dress, and see the same thing on a friend two weeks later. Or worse yet, see it in another store for less.

Those kinds of things are never a worry for women who shop at Victoria's Place in Northville. Having re-cently relocated to 142 N. Center St. (in the Oldendorf Building behind Corrine's), Victoria's Place is the kind of boutique where it seems like no two items are the same.

"Our specialty is unusual things," said Joanne Eisele, owner of the Victoria's Place was founded in an old home at 332 E. Main St. about five years ago.

The lady I worked with used to work in retail, and I used to work in a used clothing store," said Eisele. Plus, I had four daughters that I had to buy for, so I earned my experience. It was just a lot of fun.

The name, Victoria's Place, was a tribute not only to Northville's heritage, but the Victorian home where the business began.

watched it grow.

Eisele bought out her partner about two and a half years ago, and six months ago relocated to Center Su eet. Since then, customers in the store have increased threefold.

But the management hasn't lost touch with the level of service that has made Victoria's Place successful.

Victoria's place offers a layaway plan, and accepts Visa and Master-Card. Store hours are Mondays through Fridays 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays. For mere information, call 349-2290.

LINK WACHLER of David Wachler & Sons Jewellers has been honored for a second consecutive year with an award in the 1991 International Pearl Jewelry Design Competition in Tokyo.

The winning pearl brooch is an abstract form of two embracing human figures set in a combination of 18 karat yellow gold and platinum. A turquoise, five black and white pears, and 20 round and baguette diamonds are artfully incorporated into these forms to stunning

The 19th annual competition is sponsored by the Japan Pearl Promotion Society, along with the Japanese Ministries of Agriculture, Forestry & Fisheries and International Trade & Industry, as well as the Japan External Trade Organization.

Professional jewelry designers, companies employing house or contract designers, jewelry design students and individuals interested in jewelry design from all over the world submitted work. All entries had to be original designs and use natural or cultured pearls as the central design element. Entry categories included free style and thematic design of actual jewelry and full color renderings of jewelry.

Final judging of this year's competition took place last month in Tokyo; American winners will be presented with their awards later this month. All award winning entries will be on display in Tokyo through July. Wachler's winning entry will be displayed with other American winners at jewelry shows around the country throughout the summer.

Wachler, a Novi native now living in Troy, has been receiving honors for his designs for nearly his entire career. An internationally recognized jewelry designer, he has been designing jewelry for more than 20

We're Putting On Our Sunday Best.

Sunday should be a special day. A time for family and friends to get together and enjoy each other's company. And it's the right day for a special meal, too. That's why we put on our best spread at the Marriott Sunday Buffet. A delicious display of Sunday offerings, for just $12.95 per person. So slip into your Sunday-go-to-eating-clothes. And bring the family to Marriott's Sunday Buffet.

...is a name given to those who have reached the very pinnacle of their art.

It marks a total dedication to excellence. That's something we value at Manufacturers Bank.

We commend those who constantly strive to be the best they can be.

Bank where business banks.

Francesco DiBlasi

The artistic quality of this community orchestra, now with eighty musicians, has been nurtured since 1973 when it first began as the Oakway Symphony by its Music Director and Conductor, Francesco DiBlass.

DiBlasi trained at Julliard and has played with the New York City Opera, American Symphony Orchestra, Metropolitan Opera and Detroit Symphony Orchestra. His conducting appointments include the Michigan Opera Company, Detroit Little Symphony and Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo. Mr. DiBlasi has served as guest conductor with the Grand Rapids Symphony, Scandinavian Symphony, Philadelphia Orchestra, Pittsburgh Symphony, San Diego Symphony and the Buffato Philharmonic.

"There is something about music that keeps its distance even at the moment that it engulfs us...we are led on and on, and yet in some strange way we never lose control."

Aaron Copland

LIVONIA SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The Livonia Symphony Orchestra is presenting its 18th concert season in 1991-92. Founded in 1973 as the Oakway Symphony and reincorporated as the Livonia Symphony in 1988, the Orchestra continues its service to Livonia and the communities of Oakland and Wayne Counties.

The Livonia Symphony Society, Incorporated, is a nonprofit Michigan corporation governed by an elected, selfperpetuating Board of Directors. This board, which includes the Mayor of Livonia, and many community leaders, is broadly representative of Livonia and the surrounding communities. Contributions to the Livonia Symphony Society qualify for federal tax deductions and or the Michigan Tax Credit.

In its 1991-92 season the Orchestra will perform two subscription series. The five-concert weekend series will be presented at Churchill High School Auditorium. The threeconcert Friday evening services will be performed at the Livonia Main Library Auditorium. The Orchestra continues its traditional special concerts with the "Merry Olde England Christmas Dinner" and the annual "Cabaret."

The activities of the Orchestra are principally financed from three major sources: ticket sales/fundraising events and contributions, particularly from the Symphony League and the Michigan Council for the Arts. As a special consideration to senior citizens and students, tickets are substantially discounted.

Buckingbam Office Park is a campus type office community located on Middlebell and Schoolcrast in Livonia. Individual entrances and beating and cooling; abundant, well-lit parking. 1200 to 24,000 square feet available. For Leasing Information: 421-0770.

The New Comfort Inn Of Livenia is a 112 room deluce Motel featuring whirlpool suites, conserence rooms, meeting rooms, 26-inch J.V.'s, complimentary coffee, in-room movies and room service from the nearby Chi-Chi's and Olive Garden Restaurants.

Reservations: (313) 458-7111.
