

Rising rents take toll on city shops

By STEVE KELLMAN

Downtown Northville, with its historic buildings, brick sidewalks and tree-lined streets, may seem like the perfect place to set up a little retail operation.

But several local retailers say the idyllic setting masks an increasingly inhospitable climate for small business owners. The bleak climate may even be forcing some owners to move to other locations or close their doors.

Ronnie Cambra, owner of the Kitchen Witch and head of the Downtown Merchants Association, said rising rents are driving retailers right out of business.

"Every time the buildings change hands, the rents go up," Cambra said. "As it is right now, everything seems to be in favor of the landlords . . . they own the building, but they don't necessarily take care of it. They pass on the cost of improvements to the tenants."

Landlords exert their control through their rental agreements, often triple-net leases which require tenants to pay for the upkeep of their spaces and common areas, maintenance of the building, and property taxes. Some leases charge extra for storage space, Cambra said.

"I foresee in the future that there's going to have to be some serious negotiating between the landlords and businesses to keep the downtown viable . . . they're pricing the small businesses right out," she warned.

"What's going to happen is that the mom and pop businesses are going to fold."

Lydia Sweatt, owner of the Remembrance doll shop in the former Schrader furniture building, said the rising rents are fueled by the building owners and their overestimate of their property's worth to their tenants.

"They have come to the realization

Local landlords disagree over the extent that high rents are hurting small businesses in downtown Northville.

Some building owners question the assertion by tenants that rental rates are unrealistically high, but several agree that the retail climate in general may be driving smaller stores out of business.

James Spagnuolo, whose family owns the Main Street building that houses their store The Liquor Shoppe, said absentee landlords have an unrealistic view of Northville when compared to those — like his family — that also work in the city.

"We know what the business climate is first-hand," he said. "Other people feel that Northville is just a blooming gold town, and that the sky's the limit for their rents, but that's really not so. We have to leave room for our tenants to make a living out of their businesses also, so that's what we try to do."

"We've tried to keep our rents on an even keel . . . for at least the past 18 months to two years, our tenants have seen very little in the way of increases."

No foul?

The Northville High School basketball game against Livonia Stevenson came down to double overtime. This Laura Apligian shot — or two free throws — could have tied the game, but no foul was called. Stevenson escaped with the win, 65-63. That's been the only disappointment in the season so far, though; the Mustangs head into Saturday's game against Plymouth Salem with an impressive 7-1 overall record. Trustee defends supervisor vote

Donald Williams says he merely sought clarification of an important point when he asked, "What was the question?" during last week's township supervisor selection process.

Williams, a veteran township trustee, cast a crucial vote Sept. 23 that eventually allowed supervisor candidate Betty Lennox to vote for herself in a controversial nomination process.

Township Attorney Ernest Essad had informed the board that Lennox was required to vote for a supervisor candidate unless the board unanimously approved her proposal to abstain.

Lennox and fellow board members Richard Allen, Thomas Handyside, James Nowka, and Clerk Thomas Cook agreed to allow Lennox to abstain from the nomination and voting procedure, but when it was time for Williams to vote, he said: "What was the question?"

Cook repeated the motion and Williams responded by saying: "I'd have

City election to be a yawner

By STEVE KELLMAN

The deadline for city council election petitions passed Tuesday with no new candidates, virtually assuring the re-election of the three incumbents.

Mayor Chris Johnson and council members Carolann Ayers and Paul Folino were running for re-election to their respective posts Nov. 5. Barring a successful write-in campaign, the lack of other candidates guarantees them the posts. Johnson will begin his third two-year term after the election, while Ayers will start her fourth four-year term and Folino his sixth.

Council members Dewey Gardner and Jerry Mittman are up for re-election in 1993.

Candidates for the three positions had to file nominating petitions at city hall by 5 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 1. The petitions had to be signed by 50-75 registered city voters before filing.

The nominees are required to be registered voters themselves, with at least two years of residence in the City of Northville.

Garbage plan trashed

Shirley Millard is none too pleased with Northville Township's new trash collection system.

And when the Ridge Court resident says she's tempted to commandeer her husband's truck and dump the family trash on the grounds of township hall, well, township officials had better pay heed.

Millard was one of many township residents who slipped through the cracks when the township established its new solid waste collection plan.

Millard said her former hauler previously had collected the family trash on Tuesday. Her new collection day is Monday, under the preferred plan, but the new hauler did not start township collections until Tuesday.

The township sent letters of explanation to residents targeted by the garbage hauler switch. But like Millard, many residents did not receive any notice of the change.

"We did not get a letter telling us what was going on," Millard said. "We heard there was supposed to be a letter."

In the meantime, the township sent termination letters to the half-dozen independent haulers that traditionally have handled township garbage collections.

Insufficient communication from the township and the sudden departure of her former hauler left Millard in a less-than-enviable position.

Township hustles to work kinks from collection plan

"Here we are now sitting with two weeks of garbage," she said Tuesday.

Under its new solid waste ordinance, which went into effect Oct. 1, the township began contracting with a preferred-status hauler for residential household and yard wastes. The hauler, Painter & Ruthenburg, recently was awarded a contract for township trash and is supposed to make collections at upwards of 3,200 township single-family residences.

Township officials on Tuesday scurried to work the bugs out of the trash plan.

Township Manager Richard Henningsen said township water and sewer records and Detroit Edison records were used to locate affected residents.

But portions of the township were missed, even after cross-referencing attempts, Henningsen said.

Residents on Neeson, Norton, Sunset and Frederick roads were left out of Tuesday collections, as were some residents living on the stretch of West Main between Beck Road and the city/township border, Henningsen said.

Those residents were to be informed of a special trash pickup scheduled for today, he said.

But for those who did not receive an informational letter and were bypassed on the first round of collections, the news was not so good.

"Politely speaking, they'll have to hold on to it," Henningsen said.

Henningsen said residents with questions about trash collections may call township hall at 348-5800 or the township water and sewer department at 348-5820.

Williams defends vote on Lennox supervisor selection to say no, legally."

Later informed that Essad had okayed the abstaining move, Williams said: "Maybe, but I wasn't going to take that chance."

Williams said he voted against Lennox stepping down from the supervisor vote because of "legal" concerns.

"You never know what [other board members] are going to do," Williams said last Friday. "Very few things are said to me, and I [had to act] cautiously."

"That's why I had them read that question to me," he said. "I wasn't going to let anybody play any games with me."

After Williams nixed the plan to allow Lennox to step aside, he joined Nowka, Cook, and Lennox in a 4-2 majority vote that gave Lennox the supervisor's post for the balance of former Supervisor Georgina Goss' term.

Williams denied speculation that anyone twisted his arm for the critical Lennox vote.

"I still feel Betty is the only qualified one to run the township," he said. "[But] it appeared to me [the board] all had their minds made up (before the interview session)."

Williams said the other supervisor candidates — Tom Watkins, Karen Baja and Maureen Osiecki — need township board seasoning before ascending to the supervisor's throne.

"They need to be on the board to be supervisor," he said. "[Otherwise] you just don't know what's going on."

Williams expressed disappointment with the Sept. 23 meeting, which was supposed to be limited to interview sessions. A decision originally was to be reached at an open meeting Sept. 26.

"The chairperson [Cook] should have taken care of all this," Williams said.

BLOOD NEEDED: The American Red Cross is facing another severe shortage of blood and continues to seek blood donors.

A Bloodmobile will be in Northville to accept donations on Saturday, Oct. 19. The Bloodmobile will set up at Our Lady of Victory Church, 770 Thayer, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. To schedule an appointment call Fran Johnston at 349-1668.

If that's not convenient, the Livonia Donor Center offers an ongoing opportunity to donate. Located at 29691 W. Six Mile (just west of Middlebelt), Suite 100C, in the rear of Bell Creek Office Plaza, the center is open from 2-8 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Thursday; from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday and Friday; and from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. To schedule an appointment at the donor center call 1-800-582-4383.

ADOLESCENT EMANCIPATION FORUM TOPIC: Local attorney Michele Kelly will speak on the emancipation of adolescents during the Northville Youth Service Forum at 9 a.m. Oct. 9 at Northville city hall.

Adolescent emancipation is a move by youths to sever ties with parents or guardians through legal means. Kelly has been involved with youth emancipation cases in the past. The public is invited to attend the forum.

TEACHER OF THE YEAR: Northville's teacher of the year, Cooke teacher Mary Freydl, was a finalist in the 1991-92 state teacher of the year competition.

Freydl was selected to represent Northville Public Schools in the competition. She was again selected as one of four candidates in the region to proceed to the state-level competition. The state is divided into seven regions with each region nominating three or four candidates for the state contest.

A special education teacher from the Washtenaw Intermediate School District was chosen as the Michigan Teacher of the Year.

CITY RECYCLING CENTER HOURS AND RULES: The Northville City recycling center, located inside the Department of Public Works yard at 650 Doheny Drive, is open Wednesdays between 3-7 p.m. and Saturdays between 11 a.m.-5 p.m. The center is available to City of Northville residents only, and identification is checked at the gate.

The center accepts clear, green and brown glass, plastic types 1 and 2, tin cans, household and car batteries, paint, used motor oil and antifreeze, compost material, scrap metal, and newspapers. Liquids should be in sealed, clearly labeled containers. Newspapers should be stacked in brown paper bags or tied into bundles. Telephone books, magazines and road maps are not accepted.

For more information, call DPW spokesperson Becky Dozier at 349-3271.

NORTHVILLE RECYCLES: "Northville Recycles" canvas tote bags are now for sale by members of the Northville Merchants' Association.

Downtown stores are selling the bags to help support some of the children's programs the Merchants' Association promotes, such as the funders' programs on Thursdays during the summer and the flower show.

Made of durable natural canvas with a hunter green recycling logo, these make great school bags for children and shopping bags for adults. They have a medium-length double handle to make it easy to carry. The price is $6.

Many of the stores on Main and Center streets have the bags available; or call 349-0199.

Sung at a fast beat by a fifth-grade class, "Two Peninsulas — One People" is a lively tune with catchy, easy-to-learn phrases.

Sung slower, the song is a more traditional, hymn-like march.

That versatility is why Amerman Elementary music teacher Ann Jarvi thinks "Two Peninsulas — One People" should be the state song.

Sarah Rumbley likes the song because it "makes the resources in Michigan sound prettier," and that is exactly what she told the state Senate Committee on State Affairs and Military / Veterans Affairs.

The Amerman fifth-grader was joined by her class, and teachers Jarvi and Cheryl Holmberg, in a trip to the state capital last week. The group sang "Two Peninsulas — One People" on Sept. 25, and four students testified before the Senate to support adopting the music as the state song.

State Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, introduced the bill that could make "Two Peninsulas —

One People" Michigan's state song.

Michigan is one of three states in the country with no official state song.

Tuesday, the song was among four introduced in the Senate as possible songs. Also introduced was "Michigan, My Michigan," sometimes wrongly assumed to be the state song; "Michigan Anthem;" and "Water Wonderland."

Michigan could adopt more than one official song; in fact, Tennessee has six official songs, Geake said.

But only "Two Peninsulas" had been reported out of committee.

The senate on Wednesday was expected to decide the fate of "Two Peninsulas."

The trip to Lansing was not a first for most of Holmberg's class. Northville students visit the capital in the fourth grade as part of the social studies curriculum. But it was the first time many had played a role in the governmental process, Jarvi said.

"They've already viewed government in action. This time they were part of the process," she said.

Amerman fifth-grader J. Albert De Los Santos told the senate the song shows how proud its writers are of Michigan.

The words and music for "Two Peninsulas — One People" was written by Norman Davies, a Livonia man. The music was arranged by Charlotte Moore-Viculin, Jarvi's friend and former piano teacher.

"Two Peninsulas" does not follow the trend of sampling music or words from another song—it is completely original.

And it won't be found in any library book yet. The song was composed after Moore-Viculin spent two decades questioning Michigan residents about what they want in a state song, Jarvi said. Finally, the song was written about two years ago.

It specifically describes the state's geography from the "graceful white-tailed deer abounding" to the "sparkling waters here surrounding."

But the title says it all for Amerman student Rachel Wernholm.

Wernholm told the committee, "Anyone who hears it will know what Michigan is most proud of," she said, adding that Michigan is the only state made up solely of two peninsulas.

Bicyclist knocked over by car on Center Street

A 56-year-old Northville man was cited for failing to yield Sept. 26 after knocking a 52-year-old Livonia man off his bike.

The Northville driver was turning from westbound Rayson south onto Center Street at 12:40 p.m. when he hit the bicyclist, who was turning from northbound Center into a business on the west side of the road. The bicyclist, who told rescue personnel he felt "stiff" after his fall, refused medical treatment.

WALKAWAY RETURNED: City police discovered that a suspicious person sighted at a Novi Road laundromat Sept. 28 was a walkaway from Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital. The 31-year-old man was picked up without incident at 10:30 p.m. at Novi Road Cleaners, 1069 Novi Road, and turned over to hospital security.

CAR WINDOW TARGETED: A Rogers Street resident found the rear window of his car shot out at 5:45 a.m. Sept. 29, apparently by a BB or pellet gun. The car was undamaged at 10 p.m. Sept. 28. Damage was estimated at $200.

SUSPENDED LICENSE ARREST: City police arrested a 53-year-old Dearborn Heights man Sept. 29 for driving with a suspended license. The man was stopped for driving with an expired license plate while heading west on Edward Hines Drive at Center Street. His license had been suspended in June 1990, for failing to appear in court in Westland on a registration and / or license plate violation. He was released after posting a $100 cash bond.

MEIJER LARCENIES: An

18-year-old Detroit woman was charged with larceny after she attempted to steal clothing from Meijer, 20401 Haggerty, Sept. 27, township police said.

The woman reportedly picked out a men's sweater, placed it in a shopping bag, and obtained a refund for the item. She reportedly used some of the refund money to purchase other items and kept the balance of the cash.

A 21-year-old Detroit woman also was charged with larceny at Meijer Sept. 27. Township police said the woman hid jackets, jeans and other clothing in her purse and a shopping bag and dressed one of her children in a jeans jacket, making no attempt to pay for the items.

A 28-year-old Farmington man was charged with larceny and also was arrested on outstanding warrants charges after a Sept. 28 incident at Meijer, township police said. Police said the man attempted to steal a pair of tennis shoes and was arrested. A computer check revealed that the man was wanted on traffic and alcohol-related warrants out of Plymouth township and city.

VEHICLE DAMAGED: A Steepleview resident told township police that someone spraypainted the driver's side of his 1988 Ford Escort while it was parked outside the residence late Sept. 27 or early Sept. 28. A key gouge was also discovered on the driver's side door, police said. Damage was estimated at $500.

SEAT SLASHED: The passenger's side seat of a 1991 Plymouth Laser was slashed and the vehicle's contents scattered around the driveway of a Lakeshore residence sometime late Sept. 23 or early Sept. 24, township police said. Damage was estimated at $200.

MOTORCYCLE PARTS STOLEN: The owner of a 1989 Suzuki 750 motorcycle told township police that someone stole the left mirror and right turn light from the cycle while it was parked under a carport on Northville Place Drive late Sept. 21 or early Sept. 22. The stolen parts were valued at $100.

LICENSE PLATE STOLEN: A license plate was stolen from a 1986 Dodge Colt early Sept. 22 while it was parked on Whitman Court, the vehicle's owner told township police.

ITEMS STOLEN FROM VEHICLE: A radar detector, cassette player, and a pair of sunglasses reportedly were stolen from a 1986 Pontiac Sunbird parked in a Seven Mile Road residence late Sept. 21 or early Sept. 22, township police said. The stolen items were valued at $362.

OUILS: A 30-year-old Ann Arbor man was charged with operating a vehicle under the influence of alcohol after his arrest late Sept. 23 on Six Mile near Northville Road, township police said.

A 25-year-old Royal Oak man was charged with OUIL after his arrest on Silver Springs near Seven Mile, township police said.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Meijer shopper thwarts theft

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

A car cruises the Meijer parking lot at 20401 Haggerty.

The vehicle sidles up to an expensive Camaro or Blazer or Suburban and a man jumps out of the car's passenger door, clutching a segment of iron pipe.

With a quick thrust he breaks the expensive car's driver-side window, pops the door lock, and scrambles inside. He uses a screwdriver to crack the steering column and sparks the ignition wires.

The engine roars to life and the man casually drives from the lot to I-275 and on to I-96 to Detroit.

The theft takes perhaps two minutes.

This scenario has been repeated more than two dozen times in the Northville Township Meijer lot this year. More often than not, the stolen vehicle will be recovered in Detroit, stripped of its radio, seats and wheels.

But a Meijer shopper's quick actions helped thwart a similar car theft attempt last week, township police said.

A 1989 Chevrolet Silverado owned by a Novi woman was parked approximately 75 feet from the Meijer building in the northwest corner of the store's lot at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 24, police said.

A pair of black men in a blue 1983 Buick Riviera reportedly targeted the Silverado for theft. One of the men used a chrome pipe to shatter one of the vehicle's windows, and was leaning into the truck when a 21-year-old Detroit man happened on the scene. "I was coming out of Meijer when I heard glass shatter," the man, who asked not to be identified, said Monday. "I noticed a black male leaning into the truck and I asked him if it was his truck."

"After I saw him with the pipe, I knew it wasn't his," he said.

The suspect emerged from the Silverado and "very calmly" climbed into the Buick, the witness said. The man and his suspected accomplice then slowly drove away on westbound Eight Mile, the man said.

The witness was able to see the suspect vehicle's license plate and relayed the information to Meijer personnel and township police.

A computer check of the license plate revealed that the Buick was reported stolen from Warren, police said.

Township police have no suspects in the attempted car theft. The witness described the driver of the suspect car as a black male in his late 40s or early 50s. The man with the chrome pipe was described as a black male approximately 6'1" and 170 lbs.

He reportedly was wearing a white "fishing-type" hat, the witness said. Damage to the Silverado was estimated at $150.

Bridge reopens to through traffic

Bridge repair was expected to be completed today on a stretch of Northville Road between Six Mile and Seven Mile roads.

Contractors yesterday were scheduled to add the finishing touches to the bridge that spans the Middle Rouge River adjacent to Cass Benton Parkway, said Jerry Cornell, of Field Engineering, the firm that managed the bridge construction.

Northville Road should be open to traffic between Six Mile and Seven Mile roads today, Cornell said.

Structural repairs on the bridge began in August, and required detours around the construction area. Motorists wishing to travel Northville Road between Six Mile and Seven Mile roads had been forced to choose routes on Hines Drive, Haggerty Road, or Sheldon Road.

Which graph below includes all of these points?

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

When Northville's fourth-, seventh-, and tenth-grade students take a new math assessment test this month, they won't just be asked to demonstrate knowledge of basic math skills.

The new Michigan Educational Assessment Program math test will ask students to show an understanding of mathematical concepts — especially algebra, geometry, statistics and probability.

The test is longer, and that alone would be enough to make Northville's Director of Instructional Services William Hamilton expect somewhat lower scores.

But the test also will ask students to solve problems using critical thinking skills — sometimes mentally with short time limits, sometimes with calculators.

An example of the new skills students will be expected to master is given by the Michigan Department of Education's "Interpretation of the Michigan Essential Goals and Objectives for Mathematical Education."

In a problem-solving exercise, students are asked to use the digits 473 to write the greatest number and smallest number possible. The answer, 743 and 0.347, could be obtained by comparing or ordering decimals, and problem solving.

WILLIAM HAMILTON
Director of Instructional Services

Any change in testing procedures usually results in lower test scores at least temporarily, and educators predict the new MEAP math test will be no exception.

Changes in the test reflect new thinking on the state and national level in how students should be taught, Hamilton said.

The true test of these new theories will not be taken until today's students are in the workforce of tomorrow, Hamilton said.

"What's evolving right now is a new middle class," he said.

Many of the suggestions made by national and state teachers' groups to address the needs of the workplace have been in place in Northville for five years, he said. For example, teachers use math manipulatives for a hands-on approach to teaching.

Team problem-solving and logical reasoning exercises also are used.

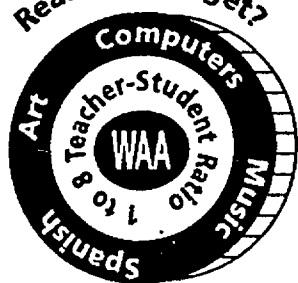

Hamilton said, although scores are expected to be lower on the new MEAP math test, he is excited to see the results.

"We look at tests as a way of measuring and improving our students' skills. There is some excitement to see where we're at in terms of new challenges," he said.

Northville students begin taking the MEAP test next week. Math and reading tests will be taken by all fourth-, seventh-, and 10th-grade students in Northville. The science MEAP test will be taken by fifth-, eighth-, and 11th-grade students.

In the graphic accompanying this story, the answer to question one is graph D. In question two, the answer should be 1.4 minus 0.6.

The special assessment bonds shall mature serially in not to exceed fifteen (15) annual installments, with interest payable on the unpaid balance at a rate of not to exceed 10% per annum, or such higher rate of interest as may be authorized by law.

SOURCE OF PAYMENT OF SPECIAL ASSESSMENT BONDS

The principal and interest on the special assessment bonds shall be payable primarily from collections of an equal amount of special assessments and the bonds shall also pledge the full faith and credit of the City of Novi.

RIGHT OF REFERENDUM

THE BONDS WILL BE ISSUED WITHOUT VOTE OF THE ELECTORS UNLESS A PETITION REQUESTING AN ELECTION ON THE QUESTION OF ISSUING THE BONDS, SIGNED BY NOT LESS THAN 10% OF THE REGISTERED ELECTORS IN THE CITY, IS FILED WITH THE CITY COUNCIL BY DEPOSITING SAID PETITION WITH THE CITY CLERK WITHIN FORTY-FIVE (45) DAYS AFTER PUBLICATION OF THIS NOTICE. If such a petition is filed, the bonds cannot be issued without an approving vote of a majority of electors voting on the question.

THIS NOTICE is given pursuant to the requirements of Section 5(g) of Act 279, Public Acts of Michigan, 1909, as amended.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION concerning the matters set out in this notice may be secured from the City Clerk's office.

Police seeking group in thefts

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Township police are itching for suspects and arrests after a recent rash of larcenies at area homes and businesses.

A "group" of individuals is responsible for a pair of break-ins at Lirato's party store, 41106 Five Mile Road, during the past week, said township police Det. Michael Wildt.

Lirato was broken into on consecutive evenings — Sept. 23 and Sept. 24 — according to township police records. Thieves made off with more than $3,000 in instant lottery tickets, cigarettes and beer during the two incidents, police said.

Police said someone smashed Lirato's front window at about 12:45 a.m. Sept. 23. Thieves, possibly working in a group, stole approximately 140 cartons of cigarettes and 500 lottery tickets.

Twenty-four hours later, someone threw two bricks through Lirato's front window and stole additional cigarettes and beer, police said.

Wildt would not say if police have identified specific suspects in the party store break-ins. But he did say the crimes are consistent with offenses committed by drug offenders.

Cartons of cigarettes can be used as barter for crack cocaine deals, Wildt said.

He also said the same group is suspected of a break-in at Cap 'N Cork party store, 40644 Five Mile, late Sept. 18 or early Sept. 19. Thieves reportedly stole 94 cartons of cigarettes and $200 worth of lottery tickets at that time.

Value of the stolen Cap 'N Cork items was $1,355, police said.

Township police have yet to identify suspects in a pair of residential break-ins last week on Thornapple Lane.

Thieves broke into two Thornapple Lane homes between 7:50 a.m. and 8:05 p.m. Sept. 26, according to police records.

Police speculate the intruders were looking for cash, since drawers and jewelry boxes had been rifled at both addresses. Cash and other items totaling $525 reportedly were stolen from one home, while the other homeowner reported nothing missing.

One Thornapple Lane larceny victim told police someone ran from the residence and a door was slammed when the resident returned home at 4:20 p.m. Police found no signs of forced entry at that residence, but a basement window had been pried at the second home, police said.

Police do not believe the party store and residential burglaries are related.

A view of another culture

Las Flamencas Dance Theatre, part of the Young Audiences of Michigan program, visited Cooke Middle School last Friday for a slightly different music-and-dance experience than what the students see on MTV. The program was part of the Junior Enrichment Series, a project of the school district's PTAs.

Trash disposal of the future

Local and area officials gathered at the Arbor Hills Landfill on Monday for a ground-breaking on a state-of-the-art recycling plant. The $12-million, 129-acre Arbor Hills Center for Resource Management will include seven major features all related to recycling and recovering usable resources from

Schoolcraft College's Board of Trustees will appoint a trustee to replace Wendell Smith, who resigned from the board.

Eligible applicants for the board appointment must be registered voters in the Schoolcraft College District. The district is composed of five public school districts: Northville, Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Plymouth-Canton and part of the Novi Community Schools.

The appointee will serve on the college's Board of Trustees from Nov. 20, 1991, until June 30, 1993. A regular election will be held in June 1993.

Applicants should contact the president's office for application forms and additional information. Completed applications must be received by 4 p.m. Friday, Oct. 11. The Board plans to interview candidates for the position on Oct. 21 and 22. The president's office is located in the Administration Building at 18600 Haggerty Road, between Six Mile and Seven Mile roads in Livonia. For more information, call 462-4460.

NOTICE CITY OF NOVI REQUEST FOR SPECIAL USE PERMIT

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Arbor Drugs has requested a permit which would allow a temporary trailer at 45065 Pontiac Trail, from the first of October through mid-December, 1991.

A Public Hearing can be requested by any property owner or occupant of a structure located within 300 feet of the boundary of the property being considered for a Special Use Permit.

This request will be considered at 3:00 p.m., on Thursday, October 10, 1991, at the Building Department Conference Library, located at the Novi Civic Center, 45175 Ten Mile Road. All written comments should be addressed to the CITY OF NOVI, Building Official and must be received prior to October 10, 1991. (10-3-91 NR, NN)

NOTICE OF THE LAST DAY FOR RECEIVING REGISTRATIONS FOR THE REGULAR ELECTION TO BE HELD IN THE CITY OF NOVI ON TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1991

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that any qualified elector of the City of Novi, Oakland County, Michigan, who is not already registered, may register for the Regular City Election to be held on the 5th day of November, 1991, in said City.

The City Clerk will be at the Clerk's Office on each working day during regular working hours until and including Monday, October 7, 1991, for the purpose of receiving registrations of qualified electors of the City of Novi not already registered.

On October 7, 1991, which is the last day for receiving registrations for said regular election to be held on Tuesday, November 5, 1991, the Clerk will be at her office between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Eastern Daylight Time, for the purpose of receiving registrations of qualified electors.

In addition to the offices of Mayor and three members of City Council, the following proposition will be submitted to the electors of the City of Novi at such election:

VETERANS MEMORIAL FACILITY BONDING PROPOSITION

Shall the City of Novi, County of Oakland, Michigan borrow the principal sum of not to exceed Two Million Nine Hundred Thousand Dollars ($2,900,000) and issue its general obligation unlimited tax bonds therefor for the purpose of paying the cost of acquiring, constructing, furnishing and equipping a new Veterans Memorial Facility together with the site and site improvements therefor and all appurtenances and attachments thereto for the use of the City?

IN ADDITION, an Oakland County Special Election will be held in connection with the Regular City Election on Monday, November 5, 1991. The following Oakland County proposition will be submitted to the electors of the City of Novi at such Election:

OAKLAND COUNTY BOND PROPOSITION

Shall the County of Oakland, Michigan, borrow a sum of money not to exceed Five Hundred Million Dollars ($500,000,000) and issue its full faith and credit general obligation bonds therefor, in one or more series (the principal and interest on such bonds to be paid primarily from the revenues to be derived from the operation of the Oakland County Solid Waste Management System), to defray the cost of acquiring, constructing and equipping solid waste processing and disposal facilities to serve the Oakland County Solid Waste Management System, including, without limitation, a household hazardous waste program, one or more recycling facilities, one or more composting facilities, a waste-to-energy incinerator and a sanitary landfill?

Genitti's hosts library friends

For the eighth straight year, the Friends of the Northville Public Library benefit dinner was at Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall restaurant.

John and Toni Genitti and members of their staff all donate their time and the food for the annual event, so the $20 ticket price goes right to the Friends for projects to benefit the library.

"They have been so generous to the library," dinner organizer Geraldine Mills said of the Genittis while welcoming the attendees Monday night. "We really appreciate all they do for us. We also want to thank their staff, who so generously donate their time."

It's very important to the Friends that we are able to continue this kind of evening.

Friends programs include continuing microfilming and indexing of back issues of The Northville Record; supplying new library cards; funding the remodeling of the library; sponsoring the Oral History Program; offering the welcome baby gift packets; sponsoring the Children's Summer Reading Program; sponsoring Christmas programs; and sponsoring the gift book program. The Friends have given the library a computer and printer, microfilm/microfiche reader/printer, copying machine, film projector, display case, and more.

Library Director Pat Orr took time "to let you know just how much we value the service and support of the Friends."

Lately "the library is having a bad time" financially, Orr said. The library now spends $1.84 per capita on books, and $16.30 per resident for its total operating budget, she said.

"We need help. We need continued support from the Friends. We need different support from the community," she said.

In 1992, Orr said, the library expects to see 90,000 people pass through the doors.

Detroit Edison chief had a stormy summer

By BOB NEEDHAM
Editor

John Lobbia had a busy summer. The president, chairperson and chief executive officer of Detroit Edison spoke to the Friends of the Northville Public Library Monday night. He talked on "How I Spent My Summer," and it was a pretty busy season.

The massive storm and ensuing power outages were bad enough. But on top of that came a host of headaches concerning the waste-to-energy incinerator in Detroit. And all this happening under the constant glare from the local media.

Lobbia began by praising the Northville community, where he and his family have lived for about 17 years. "Bobbi and I just absolutely love this community," he said. "I can't think of a better place for a family to grow up and raise its children."

After thanking the Gentili family for hosting the dinner (see related story), Lobbia mused on libraries. He described them as information, facts, figures, history, thoughts and opinions — but at the same time, as a place to pursue dreams in quiet leisure.

"That's quite a contrast to the summer we spent at Detroit Edison," he said. "As I reflect back on that time this summer... I think it shows why we do need a library."

Before the storm July 7, Lobbia said Detroit Edison was enjoying a good summer. Stock was doing well and the Fermi II nuclear plant seemed to be in good shape; he knew the plant had made progress when the media switched from calling "the troubled Fermi II" to "the once-troubled Fermi II."

But then came the storm. "Our lights blinked I don't know how many times. They did stay on, I hate to tell you," Lobbia recalled.

After the storm blew through he called his office, where initial estimates were that storm damage was not too extensive. But Lobbia knew better, and soon learned that some 685,000 people — a third of Detroit Edison's customers — had lost power.

That started a seemingly endless round of press conferences, interviews, and the like, leading up to an accusation printed in the daily newspapers that repair crews were all going to the suburbs instead of the City of Detroit. Lobbia called that charge "the farthest thing from the truth."

The next morning, the press was covering charges that the utilities were not getting enough outside help (they were getting all they could find) and crews were not working long enough (people do need to rest), Lobbia said.

Then came accusations that Detroit Edison had not spent enough on maintenance. Lobbia said in hindsight the company could have spent more, "but we didn't consciously make a decision to cut it (maintenance spending)."

The CEO also refuted the notion that repair crews went to the "fat cats" first, saying, "We have a rigid system of priorities for making repairs and that system never changed."

One particularly frustrating experience was the television report of linemen drinking, partying, and giving people rides in trucks while supposedly on duty. The incident supposedly occurred around 6:30 one evening, but the station didn't call the company for a comment until about 10:45. Edison asked for the truck numbers; the station supplied those at 11:15. The shift ended at 11:30, not leaving the company any time to investigate the situation for itself.

Nevertheless, Lobbia found himself on television the next day, talking to Bill Bonds about how the actions of a few can tarnish the hard work of many others.

Lobbia said Detroit Edison had power restored to 97 percent of its customers by the Friday after the storm, adding, "That news did kind of go unnoticed."

Ironically, a massive system-improvement program was already being planned in May and June, Lobbia said, and that's still in the works. The utility expects to spend between $175 million and $200 million in the next couple of years — on top of regular maintenance expenses — to improve service. "That's our job and we're about trying to do that," he said.

Scarcely had the storm news quieted down when the possible sale of the Detroit Incinerator to the city became big news. A disorganized series of votes and attempted votes at the Detroit City Council somehow ended up with Detroit Edison being criticized for not supporting the city, Lobbia said.

Talks between the city and the utility on the incinerator had actually begun in 1975, before the burner was built. The two entities signed a contract in 1985, and dissatisfaction with the deal led to the most recent news.

After three years of effort and "at least nine months of intense negotiations," the public just saw "one little snapshot of it all" in the popular media, Lobbia said.

As a third case, Lobbia spoke of a recent Detroit News editorial which suggested the Exxon Valdez oil spill did not turn out to be so awful, as demonstrated by the fact of a record salmon catch in Prince William Sound last year.

That's true as far as it goes, but he said a library search revealed that the salmon population is hatchery-grown and planted in the sound, and has no relation to pollution. Just reading the editorial would lead to a different conclusion, he said.

"Thank goodness — thank all of you — that we have places like our libraries," Lobbia said.

The executive then answered questions from the audience, addressing a variety of topics from voltage in overhead power lines to generators for life-support systems.

He drew applause with a comment that the industry must pursue nuclear power in the future, although dealing with public resistance and the question of nuclear waste disposal are difficult problems. "If we didn't have (nuclear power) today, we'd be in terrible chaos," he said.

Lobbia also said in response to a question that Detroit Edison hopes to improve communications with customers after a power outage, as part of its improvement program.

Tivoli Fair fades into history for another year. Thanks to the many members and friends who contributed time and energy to make this fair a success. Thanks also to the local merchants who supported the endeavor.

Upcoming on the agenda for Mill Race Village and the Northville Historical Society are the fall workshops which begin Monday, Oct. 7. Classes for fall include: Saturday children's programs — marbles, Sheep to Shawl, pottery, and "bread, butter, and jam"; evening adult programs — spinning, wool dyeing, gingerbread houses, herbal remedies, hearth cooking, crazy quilt, band box making, beginning cross stitch and Christmas cross stitch; and daytime adult programming — creative writing, candlemaking and community history. If you have not received the class brochure and are interested in additional information call 348-1845. All interested parties are invited to participate.

Several weeks remain to visit Mill Race Village on Sunday afternoon. Fall is a great time to bring your cider and doughnuts and spend a tranquil afternoon at Northville's best-kept secret, Mill Race Village. Buildings are open from 2 until 5 p.m. on Sunday afternoon. Upcoming events from other area Historical Societies include: Waterloo area Pioneer Day Sunday, Oct. 13; Kalamazoo Nature Center — quilt exhibition, Oct. 18 through 20; Grand Rapids Heritage Hills Tour of Homes, Oct. 5-6; National Railway circle tour, Oct. 19-20. For additional information on any of these contact 349-9005.

In addition to the workshops and village open dates, fall Historical Society events include the annual Christmas Walk on Nov. 17-18 and an afternoon tea dance on Sunday, Nov. 24. Look for more information on both events in the weeks to come.

Spagnuolo said his leasing style differs from the typical landlord's policy as well. "Most of the people, I would say, that are coming into Northville to rent space are finding a triple-net (lease), but we don't charge that, we charge a flat rate," he said. "We take care of the insurance on the building, and the taxes, ourselves. It's very valuable to us to get a tenant in and to keep a tenant for a long time. I think a lot of these people like to go for the triple-net, they rent per square foot, and they don't keep their tenants for as long as we do."

One of the Spagnuolo's longer lease-holders was Holloway's Old-Fashion Bakery, which rented its Main Street space for 10 years before closing after a fire in October 1990. The family renovated the front of the building before Crawford's Bakery Connection moved in to take Holloway's place, and plans to renovate the back of the building next year in cooperation with Manufacturers Bank.

William Sliger, former owner of The Northville Record and of several downtown properties including the Record building, now owns the Main Street building that housed Del's Shoe Store until July 1990. That space is now occupied by Perrin's Souvenir Distributors.

Sliger suggested that newer retail spaces may cost more than some store owners can afford because of the cost of constructing a new building.

"People who come in and build new buildings do it at a very high cost, and we are suffering a little recessionary period right now," Sliger noted. "I'm assuming that the rents that the new buildings have to probably exceed what some of the old-timers feel they can afford."

But Sliger, like the Spagnuolo's, has avoided joining the trend of triple-net leases.

"In my case, a tenant has a solid rent for three years," he said. "I'm responsible for (maintaining) the outside and he's responsible for the inside, and I pay the taxes too."

At least one building owner disputed the theory that high rents are driving downtown stores out of business.

"I really don't think that the rent is pricing them out of the stores; I just don't think there's enough traffic in Northville," said restaurateur Al Valente.

Valente also knows the downtown business situation first-hand. The restaurateur is in the process of closing Collector's Corner, his gift shop at Main and Center, due to the lack of business at the store.

"The only time you have any business is when you have sales," he said. "I tell you, we have a going-out-of-business sale and it's fantastic. So going out of business is the only way to get rid of your merchandise."

When asked what makes Northville different from other shopping areas, Valente noted that the town is off the beaten path for some shoppers.

"It's like a destination-type town. You have to go there for a purpose," he said. "It's not like you're in Ann Arbor where you can go through Ann Arbor. You don't go through Northville. Northville is sort of secluded. . . There's just no people in town."

Valente also disputed the notion, at least in his case, that some landlords may simply be trying to maximize their profits at the expense of their tenants.

"In my case, with the rents that we receive, we pay our taxes and our payments for this building," he said. "There's no profit in this building."

He suggested that long-time building owners unlike himself may be better able to support smaller retailers. "A lot of these people have owned these buildings for years," he said. "In that case they should give them a break. I would think. If they want to see their city survive, that's what they're going to have to do."

John Lladis, as a partner in The Northville Group, is part owner of the Domino's Pizza building on Mary Alexander Court. Lladis also has a broader range of experience than many other local landlords. He is president of Nu-Vest of Southfield, a firm that manages 45 commercial properties including the Domino's building around metropolitan Detroit.

Lladis acknowledged a wide variation in rents in downtown Northville, but said his buildings' rents are among the lowest. "I know with the new development coming in there with Main Centre, they're looking at very serious rents over there of $18, $19 a foot . . . We're talking down there (on Mary Alexander Court), less than $10 a foot."

In defense of triple-nets, Lladis noted that such leases more honestly reflect the cost of maintaining a building by passing those costs onto the tenant.

"Customarily, what you're doing is you're paying a lower rental per square foot plus the share," he said. "If taxes and insurance and maintenance are, let's say, $2 a square foot, somebody may say, 'Gee, I'll rent you the place for $10 a square foot and another guy may say I'll rent it to you for $8 plus your share of taxes.'"

He also noted a potential advantage to a tenant in a triple-net lease.

"As a building owner if you're on a lease that you can't pass through any costs, you're basically stuck," he said. "If things stabilize or you protest taxes and you're able to get an abatement on them or a rebate, then at that point you can pass that savings onto that tenant. If it's a gross lease the only benefit goes to the landlord."

With either type of lease, Lladis said he doubts that high rents translate directly into a high rate of business failures.

"In terms of the economic climate, I guess if people aren't doing business, any amount of rent's too much," he said. "I know we have businesses that are doing very, very well and rent isn't a factor. But if they're not doing well, no matter if rent is $2 a foot, it's still too much and they're just not going to make it. It's a real thinning-out process right now in the retail industry."

Lladis laid some of the responsibility for small business tribulations at the feet of the banks that once lent money to the businesses. "The bigger picture on that whole situation is we've got lenders that have literally shut down the small merchants, and they can't expand, they can't inventory, they can't do anything because they can't borrow money," he said.

The banks, Lladis said, are now demanding a higher level of business acumen from the stores they lend money to, a level that smaller stores may not have. "I've had ma and pa come in to me and the first thing they say to me is, 'Well, I'm having a problem with my bank.' I say, 'Well, what business plan did you give them?' and of course I get a blank stare. They say, 'What's a business plan? I've been doing business 30 years without a business plan.'"

"Mas and pas are not that sophisticated; they don't deal on that kind of basis, and unfortunately, I hate to say it but that's a part of America that we're going to start losing right now," he said. "The chains are really kind of driving a nail in the coffin of some of the small independents, and I hate to see that because that's the American Dream."

NORTHVILLE CITY COUNCIL MINUTES SYNOPSIS SEPTEMBER 9, 1991

Mayor Johnson called the regular meeting of the Northville City Council to order in the Council Room at 8:00 p.m.

1. ROLL CALL:
PRESENT: Mayor Christopher J. Johnson, Councilmen Paul F. Folino, G. Dewey Gardner, Jerome J. Metzger.
ABSENT: Mayor Pro-tem Carolann Ayers, excused of leave.

2. PRESENTATIONS:
A. Citizen Comments:
Robert Dunn, representing Yankee Chipper, noted some concerns regarding parking for their business. Word stated that staff is aware of the parking problem and have suggested other options for the owners to consider.
B. Roxanne Casteline/Northville Action Council:
On behalf of the Northville Action Council, Maureen Devanzo presented a plaque to City Council for adopting the Fleet Party Ordinance and Dr. Russell Alderson presented a plaque to the Police Department.
4. AGENDA:
Moved, supported CARRIED, to adopt the consent agenda and main agenda as presented.

MINUTES:
"A. Council Meeting of August 12, 1991 — Special."
"B. Council Meeting of August 19, 1991 — Regular."

6. PUBLIC HEARINGS:
A. RE-ALLOCATION OF OAKLAND COUNTY 1984-1990 CDBG FUNDS:
Moved, supported CARRIED, to adopt a resolution allocating CDBG Funds for installation of acoustic tile for the Northville Senior Center ($3000), a condition for the Senior Citizen Bus ($4000), and a barrier-free sidewalk at the Northville Recreation Building ($4000).
7. REPORTS OF OFFICERS, BOARDS AND COMMITTEES:
A. LIBRARY SERVICES — PAT ORR:
Orr notified Council of the reduction in public service hours.
"B. Police Reports for April, May & June 1991."
"C. Public Works Labor Distribution — 5/22/91 to 6/18/91."
"D. Youth Assistance Update for May."
"E. Historic District Commission Minutes — July 17, 1991."
"F. Library Advisory Commission Minutes — 4/4/91, 5/16/91 & 6/6/91."
"G. Planning Commission Minutes — August 6, 1991."
"H. Ordinance Enforcement Officer Report — August."

8. PETITIONS, REQUESTS AND COMMUNICATIONS:
A. REPLACE BARRICADE BETWEEN SPRINGFIELD AND COLDSPRING:
Word reviewed the history of the barricade. Staff recommended that Council receive a report from the Police Department relative to the traffic flow and conditions for the meeting of October 7.
Council discussed re-opening a street from Back Road at Northville Estates and considering stop signs.
B. PARKING DECK DESIGN UPDATE (RICH & ASSOCIATES):
Greg Presley presented an overview with drawings of the proposed deck.
Word stated that staff recognizes Council is concerned with the deck financing and a plan will be presented to City Council in 30-45 days.
C. PROPOSED CADDY CENTER CONCEPT (SHINH DEVELOPMENT):
Mike Kahn stated the reason for presenting the Caddy Center at this time is because the Caddy Center and the parking deck are designed together. Another issue is the property ownership and the parking grade agreement.
Moved, supported, CARRIED, to authorize the Mayor and administration to enter into negotiations with Shinh Development on the property footprint issue and parking credit agreement.
Moved, supported, CARRIED, to grant conceptual approval of the parking deck design as presented.
"D. Close Morgan Court from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. Sunday, September 22, 1991, for a block party."
9. RESOLUTIONS AND ORDINANCES:
A. ORDINANCE AMENDMENTS:
1. Building Height Regulations.
2. CDBG/Residential Barrier Regulations.
Word gave a brief overview of the proposed height restrictions by the Planning Commission. City staff finds them too restrictive.
It was Council's consensus to involve the new planning consultant with the amendment review.
"B. Resolution Approving LCC Entertainment Permit for Casino."
10. UNFINISHED BUSINESS:
A. REFUSE BIDS:
Word noted that City Attorney's response stated the City does have a significant amount of flexibility in dealing with the apparent low bidder for refuse collection. For the bagtag method it is recommended that Council authorize staff to prepare an ordinance and detail specifications including an estimated budget for refuse collection and recycling to be implemented in November of 1991.
Johnson asked that staff review a flat rate fee being included in the millage rate for next year and that the City be able to designate what services will be covered in a four year contract.
Metzger requested information of other communities' histories and analyses of non-conformances. Also, consider including a minimum of two bags in flat rate fee.
11. NEW BUSINESS:
A. PROPOSED RETIREMENT OF POLICE OFFICER:
Moved, supported, CARRIED, to adopt a resolution granting Roger Rathbun service credit as necessary for retirement and that this cost payment plan is acceptable to MERS and the City.
12. MAYOR/COUNCIL COMMUNICATIONS:
A. MAYOR AND COUNCIL COMMUNICATIONS:
Metzger stated to be excused from the September 23, October 12, November 4 and December 2 meetings.
Johnson has scheduled a tour of the Main Centre building for October 7, at 7 p.m.
Folino will miss the October 7 meeting.
13. BILLINGS, FINANCIAL STATEMENTS:
"A. List of Bills: Check #30556-31015."
"B. List of Bills: Check #31016-31166."
14. ADJOURNMENT:
Mayor Johnson adjourned the regular meeting of Monday, September 9, 1991, at 10:25 p.m.

CHARLES BAIRD

Charles G. Baird of Northville died suddenly on Sept. 1991 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. He was 71.

Mr. Baird was born on Feb. 7, 1920 in Perry Twp., Missouri to Charles H. and Nellie Soden Baird, both deceased. He came to the community 40 years ago. He retired from Ford, and was active in the RVF Post 4012 of Northville.

His wife, Pearl Churchill Baird, survives. Other survivors are his children, Raymond of Pontiac, Rodney of Highland, Cecil of Northville, and Noel of Northville; as well as his five grandchildren.

The funeral was held Sept. 27 at the Casterline Funeral Home in Northville, with VFW Post 4012 officiating. Interment was at Rural Hill Cemetery in Northville. Arrangements were by the Casterline Funeral Home.

ANNE DISTLERATH

Anne E. Distlerath, 93, died Sept. 2 at Terrace Gardens Health Care Center in Colorado Springs, Colorado after a long illness.

Mrs. Distlerath was born July 8, 1898. She lived in the area her entire life until 1984, when she moved to Colorado Springs. She sold home care products in the area for many years.

Visitation was at the Ross B. Northrop & Sons Funeral Home Sept. 24. Graveside services were Wednesday at Parkview Memorial Cemetery in Livonia. Rev. David Russell of Colorado Springs officiating.

Surviving Mrs. Distlerath are her two sons, Earl Trask of Apache Junction, Arizona and Clifford Trask of Kingsburg, Michigan; her two daughters, Rachelle Russell of Colorado Springs and Robalene Dillon of Memphis, Tennessee; 13 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

WILLIAM MILLS

William A. Mills of Salem Township died Sept. 28 at Reed City. He was 47.

Mr. Mills was born Feb. 14, 1944 to John H. and Emile Oja Mills in Highland Park. He lived in the area his entire life, working as a manager at Ford for 28 years. He belonged to St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Livonia, and was a member of the Water, Wood and Wildlife Association.

His wife, Mary L. (Smith) Mills survives her husband. Other survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mills of Ypsilanti; his daughters, Mrs. Dawn (Jack) Pattee of Wixom and Lisa of Wixom; his sister, Carole Cross of Colorado; and his brother, John of Arizona; and his grandson, Jack Curtis.

The funeral set for 11 a.m. today, Oct. 3, at St. Paul's Lutheran Church 17810 Farmington Rd., Livonia, with Pastor Carl Pagel officiating. Interment will be at Riverside Cemetery in Plymouth. Arrangements were made by the Casterline Funeral Home of Northville.

The family would appreciate memorials to St. Paul's Lutheran Church or the American Cancer Foundation.

ALBERT SANT

Albert Sant, 46, died Sept. 26 from automobile accident injuries.

He was born Dec. 23, 1944 in Detroit to Albert and Maria Carmella Sant. He has lived in the area for years.

His wife, Mary Rivard Sant, survives. Other survivors include his daughters, Susannah and Elizabeth; his son, Joe; and his mother.

He earned a B.S. in mechanical engineering in 1967 and worked as an engineer for Ford Motor Co. for 24 years. He was a member of the Society of Engineers.

Visitation was Sept. 29 at O'Brien Chapel/Ted C. Sullivan Funeral Home. The funeral was Sept. 30 at Our Lady of Victory. Rev. Frank Polle officiating. Interment was at Rural Hill Cemetery.

that their property is worth a lot more than it was a few years ago," she said. "Well, we're all realistic enough to admit to that. However, the mistake they've made is they've raised the rents and most of them have not done any updating or don't even keep their buildings up like they should. But yet they expect to get top dollar."

While the buildings may be worth more, the business traffic through downtown Northville alone cannot support the increased rents, Sweatt said.

"Most of us don't depend on Northville residents for our business," she explained. "I have taken to advertising nationally so the majority of my sales are now telephone and mail order, because I could not survive on walk-in traffic."

One way Sweatt has avoided drastic increases in her own rental rates is by negotiating limits to the amount the rates could increase.

"The triple-nets are bad if you don't get caps and ceilings on it," she said. "Fortunately, I did."

The bottom line, she said, is that the nature of downtown business will change as rents continue to rise.

"What makes this town quaint and charming, you all have to admit, are the quaint and charming little shops which are owned by individuals," she said. "I think what's going to happen is as these people continue to overestimate the value of their property, the quaint and cute little shops are just going to leave Northville, and then there will be no little cute, quaint, charming little town anymore."

One shop which may close because of the high price of renting is the Center Street clothing store Mountain Rags. Diane Licht, who co-owns the store with Teri Fry, said "Our problem is we've got too much space . . . we can't sell enough merchandise to generate the rent."

Licht said her rental rate, particularly now, is out of line with the current business climate.

"The rent is too high, it's like Birmingham rent and we don't have Birmingham traffic," she said. "We did fine the first year here but when the economy went bad, it was just impossible to keep up with nobody spending any money . . . People won't buy anything unless it's on sale, and if we put our clothing on sale we wouldn't even break even."

"If things don't pick up, we won't be resigning a lease," she said.

Licht said she did not believe her store's problem to be an isolated one.

"I think every business owner in the world right now is having trouble paying the rent, with the economy the way it is," she said. "Nobody I know is making any money . . . When the war broke out and the economy went bad, and the media was telling everybody not to spend their money, I guess they listened."

The problem is not isolated to Northville either, she said.

"I work in Birmingham part-time on the weekends, and there's so many empty empty spaces there. The Gap and other big-time stores are the only ones that can pay the rent, and it's impossible for single business owners and partnerships to support themselves."

The Schrader building, which houses both Remembrances and Mountain Rags, is owned by G.G.L. Investments of Bloomfield.

Some businesspeople noted that landlords who lived or worked in town were more likely to charge reasonable rates than absentee landlords.

Carol Kujala of Williamsburg Inspirations on Main Street said building owner John Lineman has proven to be a good landlord during the seven years the Kujalas have owned the store.

"He's a very fair-minded person, and we're quite satisfied with the relationship that we have," she said. "In our location we feel that (the rent) is reasonable."

One reason Lineman's rents are more in line with the business climate may be that he does business in the city, Kujala said. "I think it does help that he is a Northville resident and businessperson," she said. "He's in our basement practically, his office is just below us on Center Street."

Kujala said she has also heard horror stories from other business owners, though she would not name their names.

"I have heard of a couple situations where people have been forced right out because the rents have escalated," she said. "I talked to one owner who was forced to make a move that they would not otherwise have made, if it hadn't been for what they felt was outrageous rent increases."

"I also have . . . had other locations in town that we've rented and felt that the rents on those locations were not in line with what they should have been," she said.

Sue Poster of Crawford's Bakery said her present landlord is an improvement over the one she had when renting the bakery's former location on Mary Alexander Court. "I rented from (Nu-Vest Inc. of Southfield) for two years and repairs were pretty much left up to me," she said. "The rents were somewhat high, but I think they're pretty high everywhere."

"Right now, I rent from Joe Spagnuolo and he's been wonderful . . . you won't find a better landlord. The rent is very reasonable."

Poster speculated that Spagnuolo's outright ownership of her Main Street building may be one reason the landlord is less anxious to make a killing on his investment.

"I think it helps . . . when you have someone that owns the building lock, stock and barrel," she said. "(Nu-Vest) wants to make a 10-percent return on their investment, while Joe just wants to keep his building."

Remembrances' Lydia Sweatt had a final word of warning for any would-be retailer renting in downtown Northville.

"If you're not really careful, and invest in attorneys that specialize in leases and have them protect you," she said, "you can lose."

WARNING SIGNS OF GUM DISEASE

Periodontal (gum) disease is the most common cause of tooth loss in adults. Almost 90% of the adult population will have some form of gum disease at one time or another. It affects the soft tissues which hold the teeth in place, and the bone surrounding the teeth. If your answer is yes to any of the following symptoms, you may have gum disease.

1. Do your gums bleed when you brush your teeth?
2. Do you have bad breath?
3. Do you have soft, swollen or tender gums?
4. Does pus come from the gumline on pressing?
5. Can you move any of your teeth in a rocking motion?
6. Are your gums shrinking away from your teeth?
7. Is there any change in the way your teeth come together?

Daily brushing and flossing to remove plaque and regular visits to your dentist are the best measures for preventing this disease. It is preventable!

Our Opinion

It's time to ensure health of downtown

Just how healthy is downtown Northville? And how healthy will it be in ten years? Twenty years? Fifty?

Outward indications are largely positive. Business traffic looks good to the casual observer. In spite of Singh Development's slow pace in renting out retail space at MainCentre, the downtown overall does not sport many vacant storefronts, particularly in comparison to other downtowns. The area's profile keeps rising, thanks to formalized efforts such as the recent cooperative ad in Detroit Monthly and to the less formal but equally effective word of mouth.

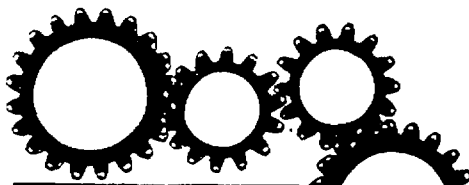

Nagging problems do exist, though. Some valuable stores have failed recently; it's particularly saddening to see the closure of such longtime downtown fixtures as Del's Shoes and Del's Department Store. Retail tenants are progressively worried about rising rents. Building owners feel pinched by increasing taxes. And everyone, it seems, frets about a shift — perceived or real — away from a downtown which serves the community surrounding it.

Two articles in today's paper relate various viewpoints about these concerns, and they're fascinating reading. But they only scratch the surface, and we get the feeling that the issues run extremely deep.

To many people, residents as well as visitors, the Northville community in large measure is downtown. Remove the Central Business District, and the community becomes a much weaker place. In spite of the good people, the historic homes, the beautiful newer subdivisions, the quality school district, the wealth of dedicated community organizations, and everything else which makes Northville special, the downtown area provides an irreplaceable anchor and definition of character.

Of course, no one expects the downtown to disappear. But it is changing, and will certainly continue to change, and management of that change must become an essential element of community planning.

Everyone understands that this is a free-market economy, of course, and the market will always play a large part in determining the future of Northville's or any other business community. But realistically, our local economies are planned to a certain extent. Not in the heavy-handed way which has proven such a failure overseas, of course. But still — with every zoning regulation, every sign ordinance provision, the planning commissions and their master plans for the city and township, the operation of the Downtown Development Authority, the existence of the Historic District, the city council's deals with businesses like Singh Development and Black's dime store — local officials work to define and shape Northville's commercial districts.

Yet what exactly is the plan?

We see two major questions here before the city and the community as a whole. First, what should the downtown be? Second, what can be done to achieve that vision?

Each presents a massive challenge. First, the community as a whole could certainly benefit from some sort of consensus about the role of business downtown. Should it serve the residents first or visitors? What type of businesses are needed to reach either goal? Should it balance the two interests? In what proportions? Where is its niche in a regional economy dominated by the shopping centers of Novi?

Such a consensus might be difficult to reach, requiring cooperation from several governmental bodies and the public as a whole. It's definitely something worth pursuing, however, and it allows the community to address the second challenge.

Deciding how to achieve the vision of downtown's future will be equally difficult. Many opportunities do exist, though, as seen in the above list of ways in which our local economy is already planned. It would largely be a matter of coordination to move toward a unified goal.

Maybe downtown Northville needs its own formal master plan. Or maybe that's not very realistic. But the downtown does need some sense of direction, or we all may wake up one day in the future and find that one thing which attracted us here in the first place has vanished from right under our nose.

Many volunteer for dinner

More items from our catalog . . .

● The annual Friends of the Northville Public Library benefit dinner at Genitti's was great, of course. It was the eighth year for the restaurant to host the event, which is the major fund-raiser for the Friends group.

John and Toni Genitti provide the restaurant and the food entirely as a benefit, a vital donation. But just as important is the fact that Genitti's employees also volunteer their own time to make the evening a success.

This year, Bob Furmanski, Ettie Ann Hirth, Kathleen Switalski, Mary Ware, and Elizabeth Willerer all volunteered to work for free on a Monday night. Just because it's a good cause.

A lot of other people also volunteer time and energy to bring off the dinner, but I'd definitely be remiss if I didn't at least mention Geraldine Mills. She's the key person who organizes and runs the dinner, and does a great job.

This year Geraldine's husband, Lee, introduced the speaker — Detroit Edison chief John Lobb. The two are old friends. John and Bobbi Lobb live in the Pheasant Hills subdivision.

The speech was very interesting and the food, of course, delicious. A great night.

● The mail in a community newspaper office can bring some mighty interesting things. One recent piece over which I'm still scratching my head contained two letters, of a sort. Each letter is a free-form theological dissertation, clearly run off on a photocopying machine. (This is a clue that the same thing has gone out to a bunch of newspapers.) There's no real point to the letter, and it winds up wishing us a "very very Happy New day at the Year of A.D. 1991!"

So far, not too strange, except for the odd syntax and the lateness of the greeting. But wait — the envelope is postmarked Helsinki, Finland. And sent here air mail.

● 'Tis the season for Cub Scout badges, it appears. Recently Colette Stimmell brought her Den 8 from Pack 255 in here for a look around the office, and we've got at least two more visits scheduled in the next couple of weeks. This is an activity for the scouts to work toward a badge in communications. It's great to have kids see a little of what goes on in an office like ours, although I often worry that there's not much here that's really very interesting. That worry was not eased during the recent visit when the most popular item, I think, was the plastic chicken on the wall of the news room.

Confessions of a Taft speeder

I'm mad as heck, and I'm not going to take it anymore.

I've collected my third ticket from Northville City Police in as many months for speeding down Taft Road. And I just can't hold my tongue any longer.

Taft Road, in case no one has noticed, is a thoroughfare. It's wide; it's straight. It has good sight distances. Yet the speed limit is 35 mph. Similar thoroughfares carry speed limits of 50 mph. In driving school, I was told to go 45 on such roads, unless they are otherwise marked. Taft is of course "otherwise marked," but the signage there is like the fine print in a contract — pretty darned hard to find ahead of time.

Frankly, the traffic stacks up behind me — like I'm some Sunday driver out for an occasional trip — when I drive the speed limit on Taft. This week, driving that road for a distance of only two miles, I had the cars stacked four deep behind me. And they were honking their horns at me.

But if I drive at the rate more people seem to think is reasonable, 50-55, I get a ticket. My last was for 52 mph. Now that may sound fast, 17 over in a 35 mph zone, but it certainly did not feel like I was driving at an unsafe or unreasonable rate of speed. And I'm apparently not the only one.

Each of the Northville officers who have ticketed me have explained they are targeting Taft Road because of the high number of folks who come speeding out of Novi into their city. The officers sit in the Lexington Condominiums Association parking lot behind a line of pine trees and pick off speeders one at a time.

The reason given by the officers for both the low speed limit all along Taft and for their targeting efforts is because of the schools. Cooke Middle School sits right there, just inside Northville on the east side of the road.

And Taft Road is loaded with schools all along its four-mile length. Along with Cooke, there is Novi Woods Elementary, Novi Middle School, Novi High School and Novi Christian School, not to mention the Novi district's administration building. Parkview Elementary and the Novi district's bus garage actually sit on Eleven Mile, but the traffic they generate empties onto Taft. And Northville's bus garage also empties onto Taft.

So I won't argue that the low speed limit is unwarranted. With that many schools, and the resulting kids, buses and traffic which are put on to the road, a speed limit at least 10 mph under the design standards of the road does indeed seem warranted.

What I will argue with, however, is the signage. Speaking for myself, the reason I drive so fast down Taft is not that I like to speed, nor do I like to flout the speed laws, nor do I like to endanger school children.

My reason is that I forget. I forget that such a nice wide, straight road has such a low speed limit. And personally, I think the road should be signed to help remind drivers that they need to keep it slow there. Case in point: there is not a single "school zone" sign when drivers approach Novi High or Novi Woods from the south. From the north, drivers approaching these schools get a single 35 mph sign (now obstructed by branches) and a single children crossing sign.

Even coming into Northville from the north, drivers get one 35 mph sign, a children crossing sign, and the word "school" painted on the pavement.

I have seen duck crossings that were marked better than that.

If the cops in both Northville and Novi are really serious about their efforts to get drivers to slow down on Taft, they should enlist some help from the city governments or the Oakland County Road Commission.

How about one of the big "school zone" signs with double yellow flashers? At each of the schools? (After all, that is the concern.) How about some additional signage or pavement marking, the kind you would expect to see in an area where the speed limit is lower than normal?

Of course, these are only good suggestions if the purpose is really to get drivers to slow down. If the point is really to hand out a lot of traffic tickets, then I would say that roadway is pretty much ideal right now.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

This newspaper welcomes letters to the editor. We ask, however, that they be issue-oriented, confined to 400 words and that they contain the signature, address, and telephone number of the writer. The writer's name may be withheld from publication if the writer fears bodily harm, severe persecution, or the loss of his or her job. Incredible script for selection

To the editor:

A more incredible script could not have been written than the travesty of the supervisor selection process completed by the Northville Township Board of Trustees. Stay tuned for the objective, fair process to be used to fill the Treasurer's position!

The only benefit to the Township citizens of this and a long list of similar events is that the elected officials of the Township have dared us to decide the obvious in the 1992 elections: Do you once and for all clean house of a group that defies accountability and objectivity? Or would you prefer to retain "representatives" who clearly represent only each other when there is anything important at stake? If citizens of this township are not willing to stand up and be heard in the 1992 township election, put new locks on your doors!

Recovery process takes time, effort

Recovery is a "process" which, depending on many factors, can take some time. In my work with students who are recovering from drugs/alcohol/cigarettes, there needs to be an understanding on the part of the student, the parents, the school and the community that recovery is not without its pitfalls.

There will be setbacks, good days and bad days, good minutes and bad minutes. What is important, I believe, to remember is that we are or are not making progress. Is my attitude and behavior a bit more positive this week? Am I attending class more consistently? Am I trying a little harder? Do I care a little bit more?

People often think that once treatment is done, that a recovering person is "fixed" and that all should return to normal. This is not the case. In changing oneself, the family and social system also need to change. The whole family being affected means each member needs to help to change and get well.

A while back Sunday's Detroit Free Press ran an article headlined "Epidemic Linked to Parents' Roles." The article talked about "how parents' drug and alcohol abuse, poor relation-

Board thumbs nose at the public

Idealism took a beating around these parts last week.

So did democracy, due process, and any last vestige of hope that the township board could or would do the right thing with the supervisor selection process.

When four board members, including Betty Lennox, cast hurry-up votes Sept. 23 to elevate Lennox into former Supervisor Georgina Goss' chair, it became painfully clear — like a kick to the head — that widespread whispers about done deals and political payoffs were uncomfortably close to the mark.

Let's tell it like it is: The "open interview session" held by the board Sept. 23 was nothing but a dog-and-pony show meant to appease the public and press. Unfortunately for the board, three excellent, highly qualified candidates chose to pursue the supervisor's job.

The three were summarily dismissed in favor of Lennox because the board had determined — before the interview session — that the status quo had to retain its power base.

Tom Watkins, an outsider and achiever with a tremendous amount of state and county government experience, was treated like a leper by some board members because of his political preference.

Maureen Osiecki, a township employee, was patted on the head for her impressive record of community involvement and given a better-luck-next-time pep talk.

Karen Baja, an effective, outspoken, nobody's-fool member of the planning commission and zoning board of appeals, was commended by a board member for her sewing skills.

To the editor:

We would like to express our outrage at the latest slap-in-the-face by the township trustees: Nowka, Williams, Cook and Lennox. The recent process used to select Betty Lennox as Interim Supervisor is typical of the disregard for the citizens that has permeated this township government.

As township residents we are ashamed of them and for them. We will definitely NOT vote for these trustees again. We are confident that the rest of the voters will remember this travesty of the public process.

Tom and Alice Griebel

Jefferson quote fits our situation

To the editor:

In 1987 Thomas Jefferson wrote that, "Were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers or newspapers without a government, I should not hesitate a moment to prefer the latter." Doubtless he had in mind editorials such as yours of last Thursday concerning the Township Board's process (or lack of process) for selecting a supervisor. It may have been one of the darkest days for Township government, but it was the Record's finest hour.

That said, we hope you will not let this shameful episode be soon forgotten. The less-familiar first half of Jefferson's famous sentence is, "The basis of our governments being the opinion of the people, the very first object should be to keep that right: . . ." The opinion of the people having been trifled with, our first object should be not to let it happen again. Is it really legal for a Michigan legislator to cast the deciding vote giving herself a $25,000 job? Is it really legal for a legislative body to schedule a critical decision for Thursday with interviews the preceding Monday, and then do the whole dirty deed on Monday? We call upon Sen. Geake and Rep. Goss to determine whether these outrages are permitted by current law, and, if they are, to change the law. Wouldn't it be fitting were Rep. Goss's first piece of legislation to lessen the stench arising from the process of replacing her?

Stephen Calkins

P.S. How poignant to read, on Thursday, letters to the editor intended to inform the decision the Board made Monday!

'Shame' is right word for trustees

To the editor:

Shame! Shame! Shame! This is not a word we use too frequently any more since it is humiliating and demeaning — but I repeat — Shame on you, Northville Trustees.

You made a shame out of your public office. You turned a crucial appointment into a circus. Evidently Don Williams finds it difficult to be serious and attentive.

Whether Betty Lennox was more qualified or not, appointing her to the Supervisor's position in the manner in which it was done will forever be suspect. You need to hang your collective heads in shame. You are a disgrace to Northville. Ms. Lennox, Mr. Williams, Mr. Cook and Mr. Nowka. Perhaps the Northville voters will express their rage come election day.

Mary Braddock

Sweet town seems to be rotting at core

To the editor:

It seems to me that our sweet, little, patriotic, Victorian town is rotting at the core. The selection of Betty Lennox as the Township Supervisor was appalling. If not illegal. I am disgusted by the obvious lack of respect displayed by Northville Township's Board of Trustees. (Or should that be Board of Distrustees.)

Many suburbanites read about and discuss the mishandling of Detroit by their fearless leader — Coleman Young. I think it's high time we Northville citizens stick our noses in our own governing body. It won't be pleasant! Personally, I'd like to see them all replaced in the 1992 election.

Marie G. Rumbley

Mishandling of process is intolerable

To the editor:

The Northville Township Board of Trustees had a stated, public, open process to select a new Township Supervisor, and then disregarded the process at every turn. The mishandling and incompetence displayed by our township officials should not be tolerated.

I was approached by a number of residents and asked to seek the appointment to the Supervisor position because of a general feeling that the Northville Township government had become a "closed shop." I was told the Northville Township "power brokers" were going to do as they wanted — citizen input be damned. The Northville Record alluded to this fact in an earlier editorial. How correct you were.

I am a Democrat and knew I would be more likely struck by lightning on a clear day than be appointed to the position of Supervisor by a Republican board. However, I, like many other people, choose to live in Northville because it is a wonderful community to raise a family in. Not a Republican family or a Democratic family but a family. In spite of what some would have you believe, no political party has a lock on caring for their family or serving their community.

The selection of the new Township Supervisor is tainted by the total and blatant disregard for the public process.

However, all is not lost. There are some important lessons we all should learn. One, there remains the need for a strong two-party democratic system, that allows for open, honest debate on the issues at the local, state and national level. Different points of view, challenging the other political party, prevent or limit backroom deals and a closed political process.

Two, the need for public involvement and input is critical to a free society. I was disappointed that only a handful of Northville residents bothered to attend the interviews of the four supervisor candidates. The political and governmental process only works well with an informed and involved electorate. It is easy for politicians to play "politics as usual" when the community is not watching.

Three, a free press is critical to a free society. A number of the township trustees tried (unsuccessfully I might add) to bully The Northville Record reporter for doing his job — informing the public. The Northville Record and particularly Mike Tyree did an excellent job of informing the public about the selection of the Township Supervisor and the mishandling by the Trustees.

Finally, it is important that we know who is appointed or elected to represent us in the township hall — then make sure they are representing us. Remember the names Karen Baja and Maureen Osiecki, two candidates for the Township Supervisor position — these individuals would represent Northville well.

The decisions our Township officials make in the next few years will affect the character of our community into the year 2000 and beyond. It does matter who represents us in the Township Hall. Remember that in Northville in 1992 — the next election.

Are you forgetting someone?

Experts stress need to take care of yourself

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

"Susan" was married to an alcoholic husband who refused to seek treatment.

With two small children at home, she believed she had every reason to keep the relationship intact, no matter what happened.

They had just moved into a new home, and the family depended on his income as well as her own to make the payments. And the children needed a father.

And, she believed, he was her whole life.

But Susan was in control, she thought. Even though her husband would go on drinking binges that lasted for weeks, or would disappear and leave her with the children, or would slap her when he got angry, she would make sure the bills were paid. She would make sure the kids got to school. She made sure there was food on the table and the lights stayed on.

Of course, Susan didn't have time for her own feelings and needs. She didn't even remember who was inside her head. She just stayed numb because there wasn't time for anything else. Her family needed her.

As long as she kept her husband from becoming angry, as long as she didn't upset the status quo, as long as she took care of everything, life went on.

You might have vowed to love, honor and cherish no matter what — till death do you part.

Maybe, during that same ceremony, you even used two smaller candles to light one larger candle. The larger candle symbolized the idea that you were joined as one.

Then, after you lit that candle, you blew your individual candle out.

The loss of that individual identity is a problem that experts are now calling codependency.

Codependency is basing your well-being on another person, and spending so much time taking care of that person's needs that you deny your own.

"Codependents give up their independence and individuality to be liked or to control others," explained Northville therapist Jacque Martin-Downs.

Generally the codependent's self-esteem is dependent on helping others.

Martin-Downs has become an expert on the problems that codependents face through her professional experience as well as her personal experience. She now gives seminars on the topic.

"I really enjoy this topic because I was a classic codependent in my other life, so I'm really familiar with the problems codependents face," she told listeners at Ward Presbyterian Church Monday night.

Martin-Downs explained that the term "dependent" was originally used to describe someone addicted to something.

While working with dependent patients, she said, experts "began to realize the person who lived with that person had some peculiar traits themselves, similar to the 'dependent' person." Those people began to be termed "codependent."

Martin-Downs uses her seminars to help people identify the differences between a healthy and unhealthy relationship. Her seminars, part of the Master Key Seminar Group (for information call 349-3066) involve demonstrations and group work.

While codependency is often a trait belonging to the spouse of an addicted person, it can also be a deep-seated problem that goes back to a childhood that taught the person not to trust others or not to express feelings, Martin-Downs explained.

When denied the need to trust others, she said, a child's subsequent relationships will be shallow and disconnected.

And when denied the need for self-expression, children learn to "walk around with a garbage can full of feelings."

"Children from dysfunctional families learn to not trust, to not show feelings, and not to talk about it," Martin-Downs said.

And whatever the problem is at home — the alcoholism, the abuse, the neglect — is "like having a giant elephant sitting in our living room and we're going to pretend it's not there," she said.

"People who repress hurt often become doormats to other people. People who felt powerless as children might become codependent adults."

Our society tends to perpetuate the myth that real love involves always putting someone else's needs before our own. Even the songs we hear on the radio trumpet messages like "every heartbeat belongs to you."

However, experts say that many people are beginning to become aware of the need to take care of themselves.

Wyandotte substance abuse therapist Judy Malinowski said that, while her practice used to mainly focus on substance

JANE FROSLIE

Reaching out and touching seniors

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

It's called telephone reassurance, the volunteering that Jane Froslic gives once a week on behalf of the Novi Senior Citizen Center.

"I have this group I call," Froslic said. "Most are widows who live alone, but there is one couple — a retired school principal and his wife who is a retired teacher. There are six families in all."

Families? Well, yes, she answered, because "they're not completely isolated. They have families — sons, daughters, grandchildren."

One, however, is alone, and this one, Froslic said, she has met socially and so "I do things for her — take her to the doctor and sometimes shopping every two weeks."

When she started doing this volunteering about a year ago, Froslic said, "I asked the people to tell me as much about themselves as they could" to get to know them.

And she found, for example, that one woman has been around the world three times, and one is interested in assorted crafts.

"I call every week," Froslic said, usually in the afternoon because that's most convenient for all of them, and she calls whenever suits her own schedule, not necessarily the same time or day each week.

What does she say to them? "I just let them talk — whatever is on their minds," she said, "and they do confide in me about health, doctors, hospitalization, families. One woman tells me how good her son and daughter are."

And she commented that telephone reassurance is volunteering with "many rewards. For one thing, I have a special and extended family."

If you would like a list of names of people who have said they'd like someone to contact them once a week, call Jan McAlpine, manager of the Novi Senior Center at 347-0414.

Hopping honored by club

Northville resident Helen Hopping will be an honored guest at the Detroit Women's Club 100th anniversary luncheon at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club next Wednesday.

Hopping will be honored as a past-president of the organization, as well as a longtime member.

She said she is looking forward to the luncheon. "It will be a very beautiful party," she said. "Everything will be pink, and there will be a birthday cake at each table." She added that a fashion show at the luncheon will feature styles from the many years the club has been in existence.

She also celebrated her 88th birthday this week.

Northville Woman's Club is 99

The Northville Woman's Club will open its 99th year Friday, Oct. 4, at 11:30 a.m. at Meadowbrook Country Club.

The meeting will include a luncheon, followed by a presentation by Don Caster Fashion Consultants. Guests are welcome.

Law student honored

Daniel LeVan, a second-year student at the University of Detroit School of Law, has received the Dean's Scholarship for academic excellence. This scholarship is awarded to the top five students in the second year full-time class.

LeVan has also been admitted as a staff member of the University of Detroit Law Review. The Law Review is a completely student-run organization which writes, edits, and publishes scholarly articles for the legal community. He qualified as a Law Review member by graduating among the top 10 students of the second-year class.

He is currently employed by Cherkinsky and Goutman, a Southfield law firm.

He graduated from Northville High School in 1985. He received a bachelor's degree in sociology from the University of Michigan in 1989, where he played trumpet in the university's jazz band. He has also been a member of the Metro Jazz Orchestra, formerly known as the Northville High School Alumni Jazz Band.

He is the son of Gerald and Gail LeVan of Northville Township and grandson of life-long Northville residents Bud and Marguerite Hartner.

Brown honored by BPW

Betty Brown from the Northville Business and Professional Woman's Club received her Woman of Achievement Award at the Michigan Federation's Fall State Board meeting held Saturday, Sept. 15, at the Grand Traverse Resort in Traverse City.

Each year the state federation honors their women of achievement from local organizations across the state. The award honors women who have given their time and efforts to promoting women in the work place at their local, district, state and national levels for the organization.

Brown has served as past president of the Farmington BPW and director of District IX, Detroit chapter. Last May she served as Registration Chairperson for the 1991 Michigan BPW state convention in Novi. She has dedicated many years to the Michigan Federation as sales coordinator.

She has been a member of the club for 16 years, originally with the Farmington club. When the Farmington club dissolved in 1990, she transferred her membership to the Northville club.

Ski-skate

The Northville Mothers' Club is already planning its annual ski and skate sale.

The sale is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 2 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Meads Mill Middle School. A 15-percent commission goes to the Mothers' Club to help benefit the Northville Public Schools.

Equipment you wish to sell should be brought to Meads Mill on Friday, Nov. 1 from 4-7:30 p.m. Do not bring anything to sell on the day of the sale; items will not be accepted at that time.

If you have a large number of items to sell, the club will provide tags early for pricing.

Items can be brought other than ski or skate equipment, provided they fit the general theme of the sale. Please do not bring any ski equipment older than seven years because they may have bindings or soles that are obsolete and cannot be safely adjusted.

For more information call Marilyn Robison at 349-1240 or Carol Rahimi at 349-3762.

Ord painting on club directory

A painting by Linda Banks Ord is featured on the cover of the Northville Mothers' Club 1991-92 Community Directory. The directory is published and distributed free of charge to all residents of the Northville School District by the Northville Mothers' Club.

Ord's painting, "Northville Class of 1901/Main Street Today," is approximately five of the 12 members of Northville's 1901 graduating class. A contour line drawing of today's Main Street is superimposed on the loose and free-flowing watercolor. The painting is one of a series of paintings on Northville that she did last year in connection with her exhibition "Northville Artist Paints the Town" at Atrium Gallery.

In order to complete the paintings, she did historical research and reading on the Northville area. Other paintings from that series deal with the old Meadowbrook Country Club, original settler Judge William Purdy Yerkes, the Old Palmer Blacksmith Shop on Main Street and Main Street Today.

Another of the Northville series, "1910 Studebaker," was awarded as second prize in the Northville Arts Commission's raffle during Victorian Days.

The Northville Series paintings will be among approximately 50 works that will be shown at an Exhibition, Sale and Studio Tour in her home, Sunday, Oct. 27, from 1-5 p.m. The show will be open to all who come, but if you would like a personalized invitation with directions to her home/studio, please call Ken Ord at 362-4444, ext. 528.

Garden Club Tour

Robert Zigler pointed out some of the highlights of his award-winning garden during the Country Girls tour of each of the 1991 gardens of the month. The Zigler garden, located on Meade, was featured earlier this summer for its unique, unexpected qualities.

Experts warn of codependency

abusers, she now finds that two-thirds of her clients are the codependent spouses.

"Now I think, more than ever, that people know what the problem is," Malinowski said. "It used to be called 'being a good wife.'"

Although the codependent often thinks that by manipulation she can stay in control, the other person is really in control all the time, she said.

"The codependent is on a roller-coaster ride with someone else," Malinowski said.

Both Malinowski and Martin-Downs said that the codependent's tendency to spend a great deal of time and effort keeping life going smoothly for the addicted spouse — for example, by covering up for him — just enables the addict to continue the behavior that causes the problems in the first place.

"Actions by codependents in a dysfunctional relationship are based on the idea that they are helping the other person. But they are really hurting that person," Malinowski said.

"And just as an alcoholic is in denial about the disease, the codependent is in denial about the codependency."

Sometimes the codependent can even sabotage the addicted person's recovery.

"She got all her self-esteem by running the family, so now who does he think he is, after all these years, trying to step in and tell her what to do?" Malinowski explained.

But, she added, perhaps if the codependent hadn't taken care of him all those years, he would have gotten it together sooner.

To stop taking care is a hard decision to make, Malinowski said, even though it might be the only route to recovery.

"The first thing for a codependent to understand is that you're not responsible for what that other person does," Malinowski said.

"And usually, there will be hell to pay," she said. "Any time the family structure changes, the addicted person will do whatever possible to bring the situation back to where it was before."

"The abuse may increase, the responsibility may increase, and the codependent will become very confused."

"But in the end, one of two things will happen: either the codependent's spouse will adjust to the new family balance, or he will leave."

Because the spouse is so important to the codependent person, that thought is usually terrifying, making recovery difficult.

"But [codependents are] super-responsible, and usually very strong people, so if they can take those traits and use them toward recovery, they usually do very well," Malinowski said.

"It's called empowering yourself."

Charming home gets a new look, thanks to Amerman

By PATRICIA A. ZIELKE
Special Writer

The charming white house and garden on corner of Rogers and Cady are undergoing cosmetic surgery at the capable and creative hands of its new occupant, Barbara Amerman, who has been digging, cultivating, shaping and planting to create a warm and friendly atmosphere. And she has succeeded.

The garden has very few angles. The curving, swirling landscape accommodates a lovely garden filled with pastel flowers in shades of pink, blue, lavender and white. The enchanting white wood frame house was built in the 1800's, with some rooms added since that time. The home's entrance is very inviting, enhanced by a lively wisteria climbing up the front portico. A half circle at the front of the house holds a bird bath surrounded by Garden Party roses, purple salvia and ivy. Also at the front of the house are white spiraea, lilac bushes, dogwood and red bud trees flanked by swirling beds of hydrangea, mums, althea iris and white geraniums. Along the sides and back of the house are artfully sculpted beds of hosta, phlox, violets, delphiniums, tulips, hyacinths, peonies, snapdragons, begonias, viburnum and day lilies with large blue spruce trees commanding attention. A tall magnolia tree, spreading its branches like a giant umbrella, fills a corner of the yard providing ample shade for the hosta and fern residing below. In fact, it's a great place to just sit and watch the grass grow.

The carriage house is currently being restored and will be Barbara's year-around craft studio where she plans to create floral pieces from natural materials and silk flowers. Barbara's garden yields many of the beautiful flowers used in her arrangements. roses, ageratum, alyssum, pansies, violets and delphinium are some of the flowers she dries and incorporates in the designs, along with eucalyptus and corkscrew willow branches.

Although her home is tastefully arrayed with many exquisite floral creations, Barbara's children and friends are the happy recipients or most of her creations. She hopes to teach some of the neighborhood children how to dry flowers and make beautiful arrangements. (Think I'll sign up.) Barbara believes it's important to perpetuate the artform because beauty and creativity bring satisfaction and happiness to both the artist and the recipient. Thank you Rita Turnbull for recommending Barbara's garden.

Patricia A. Zielke is a member of the Country Girls Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association of Northville.

Jennifer Anne Cox/David Andrew Potter

Jennifer Anne Cox, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Douglas E. Cox, and David Andrew Potter of Glendale, Calif., son of the Rev. and Mrs. Howard Potter, were wed on Aug. 17 at the Detroit First Church of the Nazarene in Northville with the Rev. David Caudle as witness.

The couple wrote their own double-ring ceremony and signed their marriage license during the ceremony.

The organist was Kyle Linscheid, a friend of the bride who studied music at Wheaton College Conservatory.

The flowers were white roses, lily, rose color aistrum and lilies with mixed greens.

The bride wore a V-shaped headband with lace. She had a double full length veil with the same lace. Her white gown was strapless and floor length with white an alencon lace bodice. Her jacket was long sleeved with a V-neck.

Sister of the bride, Colleen Ruth Cox of Northville, was matron of honor. She wore a burgundy evening gown with long straight sleeveless shell and a double-breasted jacket with ¾-length sleeves. The bridesmaids were Victoria Su of New York and Dawn Reifsnider of Virginia.

The best man was Harland Potter of California and the ushers were Thomas Conrade of Jackson and Forry Savageau of Royal Oak.

The reception was at the Marriott Hotel in Livonia with 150 guests. The main dish was New York steak.

The couple spent their honeymoon at Santa Catalina Island in California and on the Queen Mary.

The two met through the groom's best friend and the bride's sister, Colleen.

The bride graduated from Northville High School in 1986. She also attended Wheaton College in Wheaton Illinois where she studied musical education for vocalists until she graduated in 1990.

The groom graduated from Ionia High School in 1983 and went on to graduate from Spring Arbor College in 1988, as a film major.

Orient Chapter 77 marks 100 years

They've been meeting for 100 years now. And Sept. 20 at the Clarenceville Methodist Church, Orient Chapter 77, Order of the Eastern Star of Michigan, celebrated the occasion.

Orient Chapter 77 has been meeting in a second-story room at the southeast corner of Main and Center Streets since it first started back in 1891.

"We meet there twice a month," said 30-year member Enid Penn, who is a former Worthy Matron. Worthy Matrons are in charge of the chapter for one year. The current Worthy Matron is Cathy Meek.

Penn said she enjoys a variety of activities sponsored by the group, including dances and trips to other cities, but the most valuable experience she has gained is that of public speaking.

"It's nice to be able to get out and talk in front of as many as 300 people at a time," she said. Anyone who serves as Worthy Matron is in charge of the meetings, and must speak in front of the group.

That used to frighten her, she said, but it doesn't anymore.

In addition to regular meetings, there are dances, Christmas parties, and exchange programs with groups in other cities and states. The Northville chapter exchanges regularly with the Toronto Chapter.

The group also sponsors the Rainbow Girls. "They're girls age 11-20 years old, who help out with some of the rest homes, go horseback riding, and help out with their own school activities," Penn explained.

The chapter was organized on April 2, 1891, and the first meeting was opened by the Grand Worthy Matron, Mrs. O.L. Davidson of Grand Rapids.

Over the years the chapter has contributed much to the social well being of the former village and city of Northville. Many parties and dances were held at the Princess Skating Rink. Orient Chapter Sisters cooked many dinners for the Northville Organizations: for village employees, the churches and for many years the Senior Class banquet.

In October, 1899, Ida Joslin of Northville was Worthy Grand Matron for the State of Michigan. She was also treasurer of the Orient Chapter that same year. She later became Grand Marshall of the General Grand Chapter of the U.S.A.

In 1957 the Chapter voted to put the mature WWII savings bonds into time savings at 2.50-percent interest. They also initiated 10 people one evening so they could have a dance the night of the next meeting. 290 people attended the dance at the community building. Admission was 25 cents each.

Orient Chapter has two past Matrons initiated more than 73 years ago. They are May Babbitt (95), Matron in 1926 and Dawn Holcomb (98), Matron in 1931.

Some of the members were active in Northville civic affairs. Mollie Laurence, P.M., was Township Treasurer and then Supervisor for 25 years. Claude Ely, P.P., was mayor and City Council member for years. Harold W. Penn, P.P. was city engineer for 20 years. One of the Northville middle schools is named after Ida B. Cooke, P.M.

AAUW plans roundtable discussion

The Northville-Novl American Association of University Women will present a video and roundtable discussion on gender bias in education at 8 p.m. Oct. 8 in the Northville High School Forum.

Renee Boving, program chairperson, has announced that there will be a short video presentation of research conducted by AAUW and then a roundtable discussion with audience participation.

The focus of discussion at the roundtable will be AAUW's nationwide poll of 3,000 girls and boys in grades 4-10. The poll showed that, as they get older, girls experience a significantly more dramatic drop in self-esteem than do boys.

Moderator for the roundtable will be Winifred Fraser, professor emerita, professor of psychology, Wayne State University and Chair, Board of Trustees, Western Michigan University.

Participants for the roundtable discussion include Nancy Arnold, Northville High School counselor with a background in math, and Kathleen Scullen, Novl Middle School counselor with a background in science. They will speak to the issue of gender bias in education at the local area schools. Noemi Mirkin, assistant research scientist, University of Michigan and executive board member of the Association of Women in Science, will address the issue of attracting more young women to the math and science curriculums. Harry Greenleaf, corporate technical education and training manager for Ford Motor Co., will also be included. He is currently involved with 3,500 students in an enrichment college engineering program for grades 7-12 in the metropolitan area. Greenleaf has served as a college recruiter for Ford Motor Co. for over 20 years and has served on the Schoolcraft Board of Trustees for 14 years.

"This is not a new issue. For 110 years AAUW has worked to promote equity in education for women and girls," said AAUW-Northville/Novl President Ann Weston. "AAUW wants to help girls grow into women who are capable of making the most of their talent and potential. Everyone must be well educated to compete in today's global economy."

For more information on the local Northville-Novl branch of the AAUW, contact Renee Boving at 349-3161 or Membership Chairperson Paula Rivard at 344-9843.

Years Past

From the Oct. 5, 1961 Northville Record:

Two Northville men believed to have been involved in the theft and resale of several thousand ignition ball bearings from the Ford Motor Co. generator plant in Ypsilanti were arrested by Ypsilanti police.

Linda Lepper, Amelie Sigfridson and Grace Brinson were the finalists in the homecoming queen competition.

Assessment costs for paving Center, High, East, Elm and Walnut Streets were approved by the city council in a split vote.

From the Oct. 7, 1971 Northville Record:

Hiring of a third full-time Northville Township police officer was delayed at least until November when a vote to table further action on the issue ended in a tie.

R. Robert Geake of Northville was elected to the reorganized Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees.

Northville Schools Superintendent Raymond Spear told residents not to panic in the wake of Federal District Judge Stephen Roth's controversial ruling that Detroit schools were segregated, suggesting that school district lines may have to be crossed in order to correct the situation.

As busing rumors flew about the community, Spear emphasized that "Cool heads have got to prevail."

From the Oct. 7, 1981 Northville Record:

More than five inches of rain pushed the Rouge River over its banks and across Northville Road between Five and Six Mile Roads, washing out a small bridge, flooding several homes and businesses, and requiring evacuation by boat for one couple.

Michigan Department of Corrections officials came to Northville Township to hear public opinion and suggestions about their plans to build a 548-bed men's prison at Eight Mile and Beck.

Pat and Diane Montagno's home at 20348 Woodhill was chosen September Garden of the Month.

OUR LADY OF VICTORY

New faculty members at Our Lady of Victory school this year include Curtis Mathison, who has had 30-plus years of experience as a music teacher in the Detroit Public Schools; Chuck Burke, who has 20 years of service as athletic director at St. Gerard's Elementary School; and Katie Kokhert, who had taught seven years at OLV before taking a maternity leave. They will teach Music, Physical Education and Honors Math.

Virginia Krozek is the new school librarian and Berlitz International Language School has contracted with OLV to teach Spanish to the students at all grade levels.

The School Open House was held Sept. 12, with 80 percent of parents in attendance. The school book fair was held concurrently with the Open House. Sales this year exceeded those of last year by $500 thanks to the efforts of Krozek, Marilyn Eischen, Joan Townsend and Mary Ellen Scherkenbach.

Krozek has initiated a new book donation program for the school library. It is called the OLV Express and is a birthday train to which parents can add boxcars imprinted with their child's name when they donate a hardcover book to the library to celebrate this important occasion. Everyone wants to hop aboard.

Sharon Brandt and her third-grade students dressed in Victorian costumes to celebrate with their Northville Public School counterparts on Sept. 13. Activities included a walking tour of downtown's historical sites, visits with the medicine man and the story teller, and bag lunches in the park behind City Hall.

Thanks to Mrs. Rogale, Mrs. Kempa, Mrs. Sturla, Mrs. Warmoth, Mrs. Younce, Mrs. Burke, Mrs. McLaughlin, Mrs. Woniak, Mrs. MacDonald and Mrs. Sheffery for helping to make this celebration possible. Dr. Regan, the principal, the OLV faculty and the PTA each donated a box lunch for the Sunday auction at the festival.

Fifty percent of OLV's Middle School students have qualified for the Midwest Talent Search conducted by Northwestern University. Students include Gaby Betancourt, Jeff Brazunas, Lecia Harmer, Rick Hoeg, Jeff Korreck, Anne Obrecht, Tomas Sirgedas, Ted Stapleton, Sarah Townsend, Kim Winslow, Michael Andersen, Meghan Caulzillo, Laura Dattilo, Tony Fessler, John Curtis-Hammerle, Lyndsay Huot, Kristy Hoffman, Jackie Korreck, Denise Larabell, Dana Novara, Kelly O'Reilly, Jessica Voogd, Sarah Wright, Michael Clancy, Joshua Grutza, Jennifer King, Rick Kowal, Brian Mazzola, Paul Medonis, Paul Moore, Sharon Sanderson and Dominic Soave.

Election for Student Council representatives took place the week of Sept. 20. Congratulations to OLV's new reps for 1991-1992: Rob Kowal, T.J. Nagorsen, John Curtis-Hammerle, Meghan Caulzillo, Jeff Korreck, Sarah Townsend, David Nay, and Melissa Shulte. Student council officers are: President Rick Kowal, Vice President Marc MacDonald, Secretary Chrissy Buser and Treasurer Mike Anderson.

Four students in Teacher Education Classes at Madonna University will be working with faculty members from OLV during the next six weeks to acquire on-the-job professional experience in their chosen field. Teacher/student matches will be: Sally Swift/Tracy Brehn, Rita Nalodka/Mary Najar, Linda Jackson/Glen Wright and Linda Okasinski/Susan Jakola.

Great Books Group schedules 91-92 sessions

The adult Great Books group of Western Wayne County has scheduled 16 sessions for the 1991-2 season.

THURSDAY
October 3, 1991

Pumpkins like these will be featured this weekend at South Lyon's annual festival.

Pumpkin festival hits South Lyon

When pumpkins begin to dot the town in nearby South Lyon, it's time for the community's annual Pumpkinfest, scheduled for Oct. 4, 5 and 6.

Highlights of the seventh annual festival include antiques to auctions, pies to pumpkins, and parades to pancakes.

The center of the action will be the area from the South Lyon Hotel at the corner of Lafayette and Whipple streets to Bartlett School, located at the end of School Street.

The event kicks off Friday with a decorated pumpkin contest at the South Lyon Hotel, followed by opening ceremonies at 6 p.m. at the Entertainment Tent on Warren Street, next to the Kiwanis Hall.

Last week two of the main organizers, Dayna Johnston and Dean Sparks, were battling walking pneumonia (Johnston) and a broken ankle (Sparks) in addition to working their way down a Pumpkinfest "things to do list" that's probably longer than most grocery lists.

"It's going to be a lot of fun," Johnston said. "We want people to bring the family. It's going to be family-oriented."

The key element Johnston is praying for is good weather. Last year rain put a damper on the event. With a little sunshine and the line-up of new events, Johnston feels the three-day event will be better than ever.

One new attraction will be the Cowtown Cruisers Car Show on Whipple Street from 1 to 3 p.m. Saturday. On Sunday Shift Lizard will provide musical entertainment at the car show, which is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Some other new attractions include Hardee's Fun Fair for kids and a dog show sponsored by the South Lyon Pet Shop and Dandy Acres Veterinary Clinic. The dog show will take place at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at Bartlett School.

Dean Sparks, one of the founders of Pumpkinfest, said the event will be bigger than ever.

"The arts and crafts fair is bigger, the carnival is bigger and both parades will be bigger," he explained.

At 9:30 a.m., prior to the start of the Pumpkinfest Parade on Saturday, spectators will be entertained by the Dede Strollers. The parade begins at 10 a.m. at South Lyon Middle School, heading north to Whipple Street and through to Hagadorn.

Saturday's events include a pancake breakfast at Kiwanis Hall from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m., and a spaghetti dinner from 1-4 p.m.; open house and bake sale at the Fire/Ambulance Department on Whipple; arts and crafts fair and an antique show, both from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; fall bazaar from noon-6 p.m. at First United Methodist Church; entertainment throughout the day at the Entertainment Tent; bed races at 12:30 p.m. at First of America bank parking lot; open house at new South Lyon Police Headquarters; tricycle races at 1 p.m.; pecan and apple pie contest at 1:30 p.m.; Las Vegas Night from 6 p.m. to 1 a.m. at First United Methodist Church, sponsored by the South Lyon Lions Club and "Evening in October" dinner dance at St. Joseph Catholic Church, advance ticket sales only.

On Sunday, events continue: Pancake breakfast, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Kiwanis Hall; arts and crafts and antiques from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.; antique and collectibles auction at noon at Bartlett; pumpkin pie contest at 1 p.m.; Tug of War at 1 p.m.; Queen's Parade at 1:30 p.m.; dog show at 2 p.m.; kids tractor pull at 2:30 p.m.; diaper derby at 3 p.m.; headline entertainment by Tracey Lynne and the Mountain Express at 3 p.m.

Ongoing events include Potter Park Zoo displays, 4-H Pocket Pets and beekeepers, walk-around entertainment and voting for favorite decorated pumpkins, you-pick pumpkins and hayrides at Erwin Orchards.

A complete schedule of events is available at the festival.

Two of the big attractions in Saturday's parade will be the White Heather Highlander Bag Pipers and an authentic antique circus callopie sponsored by Michigan National Bank and the South Lyon Hotel.

Even though organizers say Pumpkinfest is growing each year, they're trying to keep it manageable.

"We're trying not to grow too fast," explained Sparks. "We don't want to add too much too quick."

The show will run from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Northville Community Center, 303 W. Main St. A $1.50 admission will be collected at the door to benefit New Morning School. Artists or crafts people interested in participating should call 420-3467 for further information.

Music

WHISPERS LOUNGE: Whispers Lounge, inside the Novi Hilton on Haggerty above Eight Mile, announces upcoming entertainment.

Through Oct. 5, Reflections will be featured. Oct. 7 through Oct. 19, The Corporation. And Oct. 21 through Nov. 2, Rumpleskins will appear.

WEEKNIGHT JAZZ: Home Sweet Home restaurant, on Nine Mile just east of Novi Road, offers live jazz every Tuesday and Wednesday from 8 to 11 p.m.

Performances are by the Buddy Budson Band with featured vocalist Eric Brandon. Often local jazz stars like Ursula Walker and Marcus Belgrave sit in as well.

There is no additional charge for the performances. For more information call the restaurant at 347-0095.

CHURCH CONCERT SERIES: The First Presbyterian Church of Northville presents its 1991-92 concert series. The schedule is as follows:

● Joanne Vollendorf, distinguished organist, in a concert of transcriptions and crowd-pleasers. Sunday, Oct. 27 at 4 p.m.

● Handel's "Messiah," Northville's annual performance. Sunday, Dec. 8 at 4 p.m.

● Chamber music by members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra with Treva Womble, oboe and Robert Williams, bassoon. Sunday, Feb. 2, at 4 p.m.

● David Lee Heinzman, organist and composer, in a concert of original music for organ. Sunday, March 8, at 4 p.m.

● Men and Boys Choir of Christ Church Grosse Pointe, D. Frederick DeHaven, conductor, in a concert of English Cathedral Music. Sunday, May 17, at 4 p.m.

Tickets to all concerts are $8 each. Season tickets are available at $35 each.

KARAOKE: The Novi Hilton's Whispers Lounge is looking for a few good singers.

Karaoke auditions run on Friday and Saturday evenings. Singers are asked to reserve performance times. Phone 349-4000 to do so or for more information. The Novi Hilton is located on Haggerty Road just north of Eight Mile.

Theater

FAMILY DINNER/THEATER: Northville Community Recreation will host a night of dinner and theater for the families of Northville at 6 p.m. Friday, Nov. 15.

O.J. Anderson will present "I'm Wonderful." This program encourages the audience to learn about self-esteem, imagination, creativity and how to have fun. This one-man production will use songs, games and skits to encourage viewers to explore their creative energies.

This production will take place at the Community Center, 303 W. Main St. Tickets are $8 and may be purchased at the Northville Recreation Department through Tuesday, Nov. 5. The ticket price includes the performance and dinner by Genitti's.

MURDER MYSTERIES, OPERA AT GENITTI'S: Due to the overwhelming success of all the dinner theaters, John and Toni Genitti of Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall Restaurant continue to present their Murder Mystery and Verdi Opera Dinner Theatre performances.

Genitti's now has three different production companies performing three different Murder Mystery Dinner Theatres. Every Friday evening at 7:30 p.m. separate performances are planned in separate dining rooms. Reservations are required for all shows.

Special performances of the Murder Mystery Dinner Theatre are now available for large groups of people any day of the week, day or evening, lunch or dinner time.

Dinner is served. As the crime unfolds during the performance, the guests try to discover who "committed the murder" through clues given out during heated exchanges between cast members. Additional clues and motives are given out as the cast mingles with the guests. Small gifts are awarded to those who correctly guess the identity of the murderer.

The standard seven-course dinner is served family style, like an old Italian wedding: lots of food, served hot, homemade soup, antipasto salad, vegetables, Italian sausage, baked chicken, Italian steak (pork), garlic toast, beverage and a luscious dessert.

The "Verdi Opera Dinner Theatre" is now scheduled the third Thursday of every month at 7:30 p.m. All arias are performed by the Verdi Opera Theatre of Michigan. Special performances are available for large groups. Reservations are required for all shows.

Genitti's "Hole-in-the-Wall" restaurant is located in downtown Northville at 108 East Main St. just east of Center Street (Sheldon Road). The Murder Mystery Dinner Theatre and the Verdi Opera Dinner Theatre including the seven course dinner costs $25 per person (including tax and tip).

Please phone 349-0522 or fax 349-4641 for reservations. Group rates are available. Large parties can be accommodated for any performance. The Genitti's Gift Shop will be open for dinner guests. Valet parking is available during the evening.

Literature

BORDERS: The following book signings and other events are scheduled at Borders Book Shop on Novi Road at I-96:

Thursday, October 3 at 7 p.m.: Interactive reading with Murray Jackson, author of Watermelon Rinds and Cherry Pits (Broadside) and Ed Morin, translator of the Chinese poetry book Red Azalea (University of Hawaii) will be held at Borders Book Shop.

Friday, October 4 at 7 p.m.: Poetry reading and open mike formal readings by Kathleen Ripley Leo and Thomas Lynch, followed by an Open Mike session; bring along your own poetry and sign up for a brief reading when you arrive at Borders Book Shop.

Saturday, October 5 at 7 p.m.: Other Voices with Toni Swanger will appear at Borders Book Shop. The feminist editorials of Swanger are heard on WDET-FM, and she will comment on censored women. Michigan writer Lev Raphael will read from Dancing on Tisha B'Av (St. Martin's), his award-winning collection of stories about gay Jewish men.

Monday, Oct. 14: History professor Gerald Moran describes how Columbus' explorations changed the world beginning at 7 p.m.

Thursday, Oct. 24: Heidi Murkoff, co-author of What to Expect When You're Expecting and related books, will answer questions about pregnancy and baby's first year.

CROSSROADS

Dear Sir. Or maybe it's "Dear Madam," although I didn't see any women on Crosby Street north of Houston when the thieves struck.

You were fast. You had my suitcase, camera bag and raincoat out of the locked trunk of that black 1990 Mazda in a flash, and you didn't even pop the trunk lock out.

Sorry your screwdriver and hammer didn't work on the driver's side. I guess we rounded the corner too fast. When Eric said "Heads up, be alert!" out of the corner of his mouth, you were already drifting away.

It was the first time in a couple of years that I had been in New York City. I enjoyed the theater, saw the Seurat exhibit at the Metropolitan Museum and had just finished dinner at K Paul's when you struck. The big room with the small wooden tables was almost empty at 7 p.m. on a Friday night.

There was lots of action on Broadway. No place to park under the bright lights, of course. Nobody ever parks in a dark street by choice, even half a block from the bright lights, but this is New York City.

We were talking about the crawfish etouffe and the bill ($119 for three entrees, three salads, three coffees and one glass of wine) when we rounded the corner from Houston into Crosby Street and Eric said "Heads up, be alert!"

They weren't very menacing looking men: 30s, poor, baseball caps, shuffling gait. One beside the dumpster, two on the driver side of our car, a third on the opposite side.

They saw us and drifted away. We were eager to get into the car without confrontation so the only thing we noticed was that the key wouldn't go into the driver's door; obviously somebody had tried to get in. We didn't notice until we opened the trunk an hour later that my suitcase, camera bag and raincoat were gone.

I lost my clothes, a credit card, camera, lenses and the return portion of my airline ticket. We reported the theft to the Ninth precinct. I called the airline to notify them of the stolen ticket and to ask the procedure for replacing it.

Common sense suggested that if the thief didn't show up with my ticket, and I could identify myself as the traveler who purchased it, I could use the seat that I reserved and paid for on my flight home. Not so. The agent told me I would have to buy a new ticket home, submit a lost-ticket report and the airline would then consider refunding me the cost of the second ticket minus $50 for the trouble they had taken to replace it.

I objected. It was obviously a great deal more trouble to me than to them.

"I don't make the rules," she said.

I arrived early for my Sunday flight and went through it again. The only ticket available was first class for $315. In spite of the fact that my seat, purchased on a non-refundable $198 round trip ticket, was presumably still aboard.

"If you find your ticket..." "The ticket is not lost, it's stolen..."

I bought the $315 return ticket with the one credit card that I still possessed. I am home, waiting for my refund.

My question to the airline, to all airlines, is this. What happens to a traveler who is not a reasonably affluent business traveler with more than one credit card and friends in New York City and Detroit?

I'm lucky. I still have keys to the car that is waiting for me at the airport and money to pay the parking fee.

Some good weekend getaways Ohio's state parks beckon tourists with interesting amenities

By IRIS SANDERSON JONES
Travel Writer

QUESTION: Can you recommend some good weekend getaways now that it is too cold for camping in Michigan? We love the state parks, but we would be interested in any natural setting where we can vacation without spending too much money.

ANSWER: I suggest you go south of the border. Not across the U.S. border to Mexico but across the state border to Ohio, where there are 72 state parks, eight of them with resort lodges and cabins.

It is not exactly summer in Ohio, but it is still a little warmer than it is in Michigan, and, of course, it gets warmer the further you go south.

Most of us don't think of Ohio as a destination except during the theme park season. We drive through it on the way to Florida, but we usually don't stop until we get south of Cincinnati.

You may have explored the state park resorts in Kentucky, Tennessee and even Indiana, but have you explored Ohio? You can trick and treat from campsite to campsite on Halloween. Dig for fossils in Hueston Woods. Walk through the fall colors from Old Man's Cave to Ash Cave at Hocking Hills. Stay in a horsecamp at Malabar Farm. Rent a cabin or a lodge room at Maumee Bay near Toledo. Camp in downtown Cleveland.

Ohio state parks don't turn out the lights and go to sleep for the winter, like Rip Van Winkle. They launch one of their busiest seasons, with festivals and other events on the calendar through fall and into winter.

Go fishing at one of the 13 state parks reserved only for day use. Reserve one of the 600 cabins or one of the 600 lodge rooms at the eight Ohio State Park Resort and Confer-

Off-season guide to Ohio's state parks

Ohio State Park resorts offer guests a range of activities and accommodations.

All resorts have both lodges and cabins, designed to fit their geographical setting on the outside but contemporary and with modern facilities inside. Most have golf courses and swimming pools as well as the usual campgrounds, hiking trails, etc.

□ Punderson State Park in Newbury boasts an English Tudor mansion with views of a glacier-carved lake. Located in northeast Ohio, it is minutes from Sea World, antique shops and Amish farms.

□ Maumee Bay in Maumee, the newest lodge, features indoor racquetball and other spa facilities on the shore of Lake Erie. All the cottages are modern and have fireplaces. Located 15 miles east of Toledo, its new "Scottish Links" style golf course opened this year but closed Oct. 1.

□ Salt Fork in Cambridge has a lodge in a secluded, hilly setting. Visitors will enjoy the color changes, fishing, or a sunset bike ride at this eastern Ohio lodge.

□ Burr Oak in Clouster is a hideaway nestled in the hills of southeast Ohio. It lures visitors with its meadows and crystal clear lake.

□ Shawnee in Friendship is 90 minutes southeast of Cincinnati in the "little Smokies." Visitors are lured by backpack trails, canoeing and in-season hunting and trapping.

□ Hueston Woods in College Corner is near Oxford and popular during Miami of Ohio football games. Fishing and hiking are popular fall activities offered in this rustic, woody A-framed lodge.

□ Deer Creek in Mt. Sterling has a contemporary hotel in a country setting. If you're looking for a heated indoor pool, sauna and ping-pong table, this is the place. Built in 1981, balconies overlook the lake, park or pool.

These seven Ohio State Parks Resort and Conference Centers can be reserved by calling toll free (800) AT-A-PARK.

□ Mohican State Park in Perrysville is run by another concession and can be reached toll-free at (800) 472-6700. It has 96 units and offers guests an indoor pool, sauna and table tennis.

State park golf courses are open until Oct. 31, with the exception of Maumee Bay, which closes Oct. 1. Burr Oak's nine-hole course is the only park with golfing located outside the park. Mohican does not have a golf course.

ence centers. They don't just call them lodges anymore, because they want you to hold meetings, play golf, buy gift certificates, reserve for dinner and otherwise find a new way of looking at a state park resort.

Several pieces of state land, including land surrounding canal feeder lakes, came under the jurisdiction of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources when the DNR was formed in 1949. Now they run 72 parks, each with its own personality. There are 358.5 miles of bridge trails, 500 miles of hiking trails in 64 of the parks, and dozens of things to do that only the insiders know about.

Have you ever hiked Hope Lake, walking the trail into the middle of Zaleski State Forest? You hike past the old Hope Furnace smelters.

"If you go far enough, you'll stumble over an old whiskey still, see beaver dams, turn a corner and startle a flock of wild turkeys." That's Cindy Gates, information specialist at the DNR, who grew up in Maumee, site of the newest Ohio state park, Maumee Bay, near Toledo, and has had a love affair with almost all of the state parks.

"Southeast Ohio is the most scenic area. The lay of the land is gorgeous so there are vistas year-round. In the southwest, you can get permits to dig for fossils in Hueston Woods, Stone Lick and Caesar Creek.

"Hocking Hills State Park is geologically unique. You can hike past the outcroppings, the waterfalls, formations like Devil's Bath and Sphinx Head, Old Man's Cave and Ash Cave, which is 770 feet around and the largest rock shelter in Ohio."

Some other favorites: Shawnee, in the Little Smokies. The picture postcard lake tucked into the hills at Pike Lake. A campsite on Lake Erie at Geneva on the Lake, or in downtown Cleveland in Cleveland Lakefront State Park. Kelly's Island, near Putin-Bay. Fishing at Burr Oak or Punderson. Touring Malabar Farm, where author Louis Bromfield made a showplace out of 600 acres of worn out farmland. Bogart and Bacall were married in the Big House on Malabar Farm.

As for the horse camps, it's strictly BYOH — Bring Your Own Horse. Clubs all over the state have found horse camps at places like East Fork and Caesar Creek.

Not everybody likes roughing it. In Cindy Gates' words, "some people think that they're camping when room service is late."

Seven of Ohio's state parks have lodges, cabins and other resort facilities run by TW Recreational Services, Inc., a division of Canteen Corporation of Chicago: Shawnee, Hueston Woods and Deer Creek in the southern half of the state; Salt Fork, Burr Oak and Punderson are central and north east; Maumee Bay is 15 miles east of Toledo.

Mohican State Park Resort, in northeast Ohio, is run by Service American Corporation. Why? the management of each state park resort is put up for bid every year and that's the way the cookie crumbles. Resort rates are $69 to $86 for two people in a room April through October, $400 to $465 a week for cabins that sleep at least six people — you can also rent cabins by the night.

The resorts take reservations up to one year in advance: Oct. 1, 1991, for Oct. 1, 1992.

Cabins fill first. Lodge rooms are booked heavily for high season weekends, but often have cancellations in high season and are accessible in fall.

Most of the resorts have golf courses, and their green fees are less than $10 a person. For more information telephone toll-free (800) AT-A-PARK.

Overwhelmed at breakfast in a Scottish B-&-B

By EDITH DUNBAR
Special Writer

I watched the dark Italian youth, his black hair in short ringlets, pour hot tea on his corn flakes.

I glanced at my husband Harry; his attention was on the tea splashing into the bowl.

The young man, who was perhaps 20, passed the teapot to his friend, another young Italian whose long hair was twisted into a pug on the top of his head. He, too, proceeded to flood his cereal with tea.

The four of us were seated in the dining room of a farm house near Bettyhill in the hilly, desolate portion of Scotland's northern Sutherland County.

While peat burned in the fireplace keeping the room warm but musty smelling on a mid-August day, we were participating in the second B of B-&-B, Bed-&-Breakfast.

Pointing to their cereal bowls, I said, "Is that how it's done in Italy?" The young man with the pug stared, apparently not understanding English. The curly-haired one tried, "The milk... it is too..."

He paused; the right word didn't come.

We all looked at one another. "Parlez vous Français?" my husband asked. No, they didn't speak French.

For a moment, we all crunched on our corn flakes. Then suddenly it came to me. Italian. Spanish. Kissing cousins, right? Caliente! I shouted. "You like your milk caliente. Hot."

"Si, si," the travelers said. "For Pete's sake, I thought, they'd rather soak corn flakes in hot tea than cold milk. The breakthrough in communication prompted the curly-haired one to try again."

"The breakfasts... the breakfasts..." He stopped, unable to go on.

Harry and I leaned toward him, waiting. He tried again and succeeded. "They... they... overwhelm us," he said.

"Ah, si, si," Harry and I responded. Now we were simpatico.

"They overwhelm us too," Harry said. We were into our second week of B-&-Bing in Scotland, and we knew the breakfast routine well. After we helped ourselves to cereal (usually a variety was stored in huge glass jars on a sideboard), the hostess came in to ask whether we wanted tea or coffee.

Because we had learned that Scottish coffee is too strong for our taste, we always ordered tea. After the tea was brought in, the hostess returned with dinner plates covered with fat sausages, limp bacon (not in strips but in wide pieces), flowing fried eggs, fried tomato and, sometimes, fried mushrooms.

In addition to the fried foods, there were ample slices of toast, cut in half and cold, and orange marmalade. Fruit was often missing, although sometimes we got glasses of orange juice were at our place settings when we arrived at the table. (In London at a bed-&-breakfast, we were given a choice between cereal and fruit juice. We could not have both.)

When our Bettyhill hostess brought in eggs, bacon and sausage, the Italians sighed.

I said, "We have a saying. When in Rome, do as the Romans do."

"They didn't understand. 'Ciao,' they said and left."

From that day on, Harry always told our hostess the evening before that he didn't want eggs for breakfast. He'd found it impossible to eat only the cholesterol-free white bordering the runny yellow middle. He was unable to explain to me why he continued to eat the meat.

When we arrived in Irvine on the west coast in Ayrshire where Harry has relatives, I became confused. I discovered that Cousin Maud feasts on only bran flakes and orange juice for breakfast; Cousin Ian enjoys wheat germ every other morning, and two pieces of toast and stewed prunes on alternate mornings; Cousin Ishbel eats either blueberry or strawberry yogurt. Nothing else.

No one wanted eggs or bacon or sausage, although they offered to prepare them for us. Ishbel insisted that no one she knows has cereal, sausage, bacon, eggs, tomato slices, mushrooms and toast for the first meal of the day.

"Why it takes too long to eat all that," she said. "We'd be eating right into morning tea."

Are big Scottish breakfasts at B-&-Bs the result of misunderstanding?

Perhaps few Scots foreigners, except for Romans, consume them to please their hosts. The Romans attempt to carry on as if they were in Rome.

Comeback propels gridgers to OT win

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

Northville football coach Darrel Schumacher keeps warning that good teams don't give up a lot of yards and points. That the offense shouldn't have to outscore opponents for win after win.

But that's what the Mustang football team is doing and with a 3-1 record so far this season, it's working. And in last Friday's exciting 23-16 overtime triumph over Livonia Franklin, Northville added a new twist:

"We waited for the very last minutes to start playing," Schumacher lamented.

Trailing 16-0, the Mustangs rallied for 16 unanswered points in the final five minutes and then won it in dramatic fashion in the overtime.

"If we expect to continue to win, we have to start playing good, solid defense for four quarters," Schumacher said. "The real good teams like (Farmington) Harrison won't let you back in the game if you fall way behind early."

Northville handed the Patriots seven points when Danny Walsh coughed up the ball on the opening kickoff. Four plays and 40 yards later, Jason Facione scored from a yard out. A 25-yard pass from quarterback Dave Little to receiver Jeff Hunt set up the touchdown.

"Facione is a big-time player and he's only a junior," Schumacher said.

The Mustangs did not score in the first half but did move into Franklin territory on two occasions before turning the ball over on downs. In the meantime, the Pats made it 10-0 when David Little booted a 23-yard field goal at the 9:01 mark of the second quarter, and then 16-0 following a six-play, 62-yard drive. A 28-yard run by Aaron Shakarian set up a two-yard scoring plunge by Facione.

"At halftime we told the kids they had better wake up," Schumacher said. Northville did exactly that to start the second half by driving inside the Franklin 10, but quarterback Ryan Huzjak's pass was picked off by James Sewruk on fourth and goal. "We had a lot of plays and did some nice things offensively, but we couldn't get any points," Schumacher said.

The situation was getting desperate when the Mustangs finally embarked on a 52-yard touchdown drive midway through the fourth. Rob Subotich rambled 17 and 14 yards on a pair of screen passes and then Huzjak hit Jamie Miller from 21 yards out for the score. The two then hooked up again for the two-point conversion to pull Northville to within eight (16-8) at the 5:02 mark.

"It was a great TD by Miller," Schumacher said. "It looked like he was stopped near the 10 but he wiggled away." After holding the Patriots to one first down, Walsh then made up for the fumbled kickoff. With less than three minutes on the clock, he took the Franklin punt at his own 35, eluded the first wave of tacklers, picked up a few key blocks and raced 65 yards for the touchdown. "We don't count on plays like that to win games, but it was a great play," Schumacher said.

The Mustangs then converted their second two-pointer in a row to send it into overtime, and again Huzjak found Miller in the back of the end zone.

Northville was awarded the ball at the 10 to start the overtime. With Miller and Walsh covered tightly, Huzjak found junior Eric Shaw in the flats and he took it into the end zone to break the tie. Brandon Hayes' PAT made it 23-16.

"It was an excellent catch and run by Shaw," Schumacher said.

Franklin then started on offense at the 10 and needed to score to send the game into double overtime. On the third play, Facione caught a pass and went nine yards but was stopped just inches short of the goal line by Todd Osborne and Walsh. On fourth down, Franklin's David Little tried a quarterback sneak but 6-foot-2, 210-pound sophomore John Gatti slipped a block and caught Little from behind and that gave Brett Butz and Brian Scholz enough time to stop his forward progress short of paydirt.

"It's almost as if the defense figured our offense is going to score anyway, so we may let up early in the games," Schumacher explained. "But once we got ahead, we were able to dictate what we were going to let them do, and the defense really rose to the occasion."

Huzjak broke the school record for most pass attempts (41) and most completions (24) in a single game, surpassing marks set by Tom Baughman in 1965. His 278-yard performance raises his season passing total to 958 yards in just four games.

His favorite receiver was Miller, who hauled in eight passes for 119 yards. Subotich had five receptions for 46 yards and Walsh caught six passes for 45. The defensive stars included Butz (11 solo tackles, six assists) and Jason Stolberg (six solos, six assists).

"Our motto should be: 'Keep the fans in the stands,'" Schumacher said. "Our games are very exciting. Half the battle of winning is learning how to win, and this team seems to know how."

WALLED LAKE WESTERN PREVIEW: In perhaps the most important game of the season to date, the Mustangs (2-0 in the WLA) will travel to Walled Lake to meet the Warriors (2-2 overall, 1-1 in the WLA) tomorrow.

"They are a very good football team," Schumacher said. "They are one of the top three in our division. They have veteran interior lines and a lot of depth at running back."

Western Coach Chuck Apap said: "This could be our best team in 10 years." The Warriors beat Novi in the '91 opener and one of their losses was to top-ranked Farmington Harrison.

Cagers blow lead, fall to Stevenson

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

The win streak had to come to an end sometime, but Northville girls basketball coach Ed Kritch didn't want it this way: in double-overtime after blowing a seven-point lead down the stretch in regulation against a conference opponent.

It was a classic confrontation with huge swings in momentum, but at the end visiting Livonia Stevenson was the team celebrating a 65-63 double-overtime victory on Sept. 26.

"The frustrating thing was that we were ahead by seven with 1:20 remaining and we couldn't hold on," Kritch said. "We never scored again in regulation. (Stevenson) did everything right in the fourth quarter and in the overtimes."

You often hear about teams stealing a win, and that's exactly what the Spartans did. The Mustangs had double-digit leads in the second, third and fourth quarters, and each time Stevenson fought back before eventually catching Northville and ending the team's seven-game winning streak.

"It was a fantastic game from a fans standpoint," Kritch said. "But from my standpoint, I wish I could have done more to help us win. I decided against going into an all-out stall and it kind of backfired."

Thanks to the shooting of senior Karen Pump, the Mustangs slowly inched in front of the Spartans by four after one quarter (16-12) and eight at halftime (34-26). With 17 first-half points, Pump scored half of Northville's entire output.

"Pump was phenomenal," Kritch said.

The lead ballooned to 11 in the third quarter, but Stevenson cut it to five (49-44) heading into the final eight minutes. Once again, the Mustangs built the margin back to 11 before that late-game collapse.

"We were on the verge of blowing them out three separate times and (Stevenson) battled back," Kritch said. "You have to give them credit."

it was our game to win and we didn't close them out."

In the fourth quarter, Northville was 2-for-4 from the free-throw line, but the two misses came in crucial 1-and-1 situations in the final minute or so. The Spartans' Karen Groulx nailed a game-tying three-pointer with 11 seconds left and then Stacey Nyland missed a free throw with six seconds remaining that would have won it. Fortunately, Laura Apligian retrieved the long rebound but her three-pointer at the buzzer hit the heel and bounced away, sending the game into overtime.

In the OT, Pump hit a pair of free throws with 45 seconds left to send the game into double-overtime. It was her 24th and 25th points of the game — establishing a career-high total.

A Kara McNeil free throw gave the Mustangs a 63-62 lead in the second OT, but Stevenson's Julie Martin hit the game-winner — her only points of the game — with 30 seconds remaining. Apligian missed a four-footer at the buzzer that would have sent the game into a third overtime.

"We needed to make one more play down the stretch and we couldn't do it," Kritch said.

In addition to her 25 points, Pump also had a team-high 14 rebounds. Nyland chipped in with 15 points and 10 rebounds, and McNeil added 11 points and five steals.

"I've never had anybody who competes as hard as McNeil does," Kritch said. "She puts her heart on the court for 32 minutes — or in this game, 38 minutes."

NORTHVILLE 53, BRIGHTON 46: The Mustangs won their seventh in a row — tying the school record — on Sept. 24 against the Bulldogs in a non-conference clash. Northville won the game without the services of Pump, who was suspended for one game for disciplinary reasons.

"It was a frustrating night even though we won," Kritch said. "We

Kickers battle No. 4 Salem to draw

Talk about moral victories. Northville's scoreless tie against visiting Plymouth Salem — the state's fourth-ranked Class A team — on Sept. 25 wasn't a run-of-the-mill draw. For the unranked Mustangs, it was like a victory.

"We played very disciplined soccer," Northville Coach Bob Paul said. "That's really the only way to shut down a talented team. Our defense was solid and so was our goaltender, Gordie Collins."

For the Mustangs, it was another in a series of matches against the state's top-ranked teams. But unlike the losses to Livonia Stevenson, Livonia Churchill and Redford Catholic Central, Northville was able to battle the Rocks on even terms.

"We are getting used to playing the best in the state," Paul said. "We've now played the number one, two, three and four teams, so we were prepared."

With special emphasis on defense, the Mustangs executed the game plan to perfection. The Northville defense marked every Salem player and if one of them did get loose, Collins was there to make the save.

"We marked up man-to-man and we gave their quickest players a little more space," Paul explained. "And with forwards like Steve Moore and Matt Rossing up front, anything can happen offensively. But we definitely focused on defense."

For Collins, it was his second shutout of the season. Paul praised not just the saves, but the way he distributed the ball.

"Salem had some good opportunities to score — you could tell why they are ranked in the top five," Paul said. "But we had some chances too. We had a couple good opportunities off the throw-ins by Brandon Cuadra and also on a few corner kicks."

"After this match, we realized that we can play with anybody. We lost a lot of confidence after losing (6-1) to Livonia Stevenson, but this game restored the confidence. We just need to work on becoming more consistent."

NORTHVILLE 1, ANN ARBOR PIONEER 1: It was a very evenly matched contest on Sept. 26 in Ann Arbor, but the Mustangs had little time to recover from the grueling Salem contest the day before.

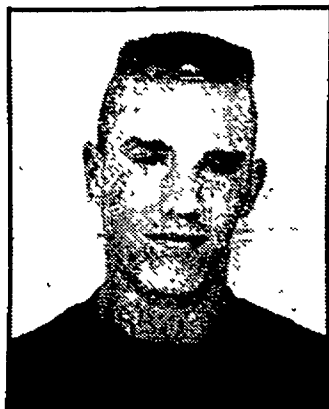

"We were very tired and (Pioneer) is a good club," Paul said. "They beat us last year and this one could have gone either way. We weren't disappointed taking a tie considering the circumstances."

Six minutes into the first half, Moore took a pass from Rossing and made it 1-0. The Pioneers didn't get on the scoreboard until they were awarded a penalty shot at the 32-minute mark of the second half.

Neither team was able to break the tie, but with time running out, the Mustangs thought they did. Moore fired a shot from the 18-yard line that

Athletes of the Week

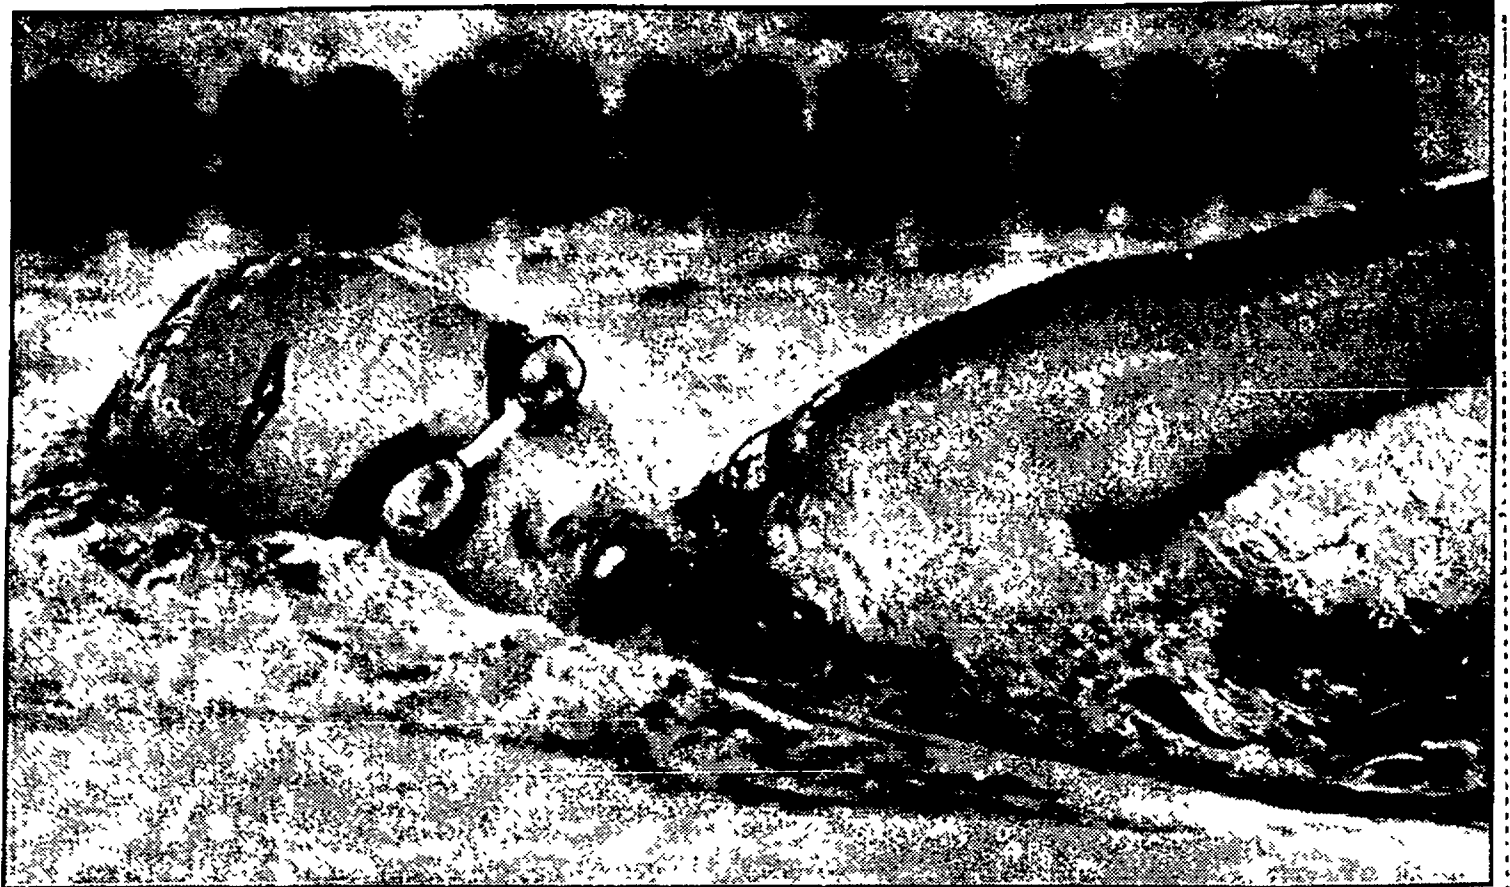

JAMIE MILLER

Senior wide-out Jamie Miller had another big game for the Northville footballers, and we think "Athlete of the Week" honors are appropriate. In the Mustangs' 23-16 overtime win over Franklin last Friday, Miller scored 10 of his teams 16 fourth-quarter points to spur a comeback. He caught a 21-yard TD pass and then caught a pair of two-point conversions. In all, Miller hauled in eight passes for 119 yards. For the season, he leads the area with 367 reception yards.

JEFF ZWIESLER

Freshman cross country runner Jeff Zwiesler has emerged as the top performer this season for the Mustangs, and his performance last week against Plymouth Canton was worthy of "Athlete of the Week" recognition. In Northville's 24-43 loss to the Chiefs, Zwiesler shaved a full 51 seconds off his previous best time and won the event in 18:03. It marked the first time all season that a member of the young Mustang team had placed first in a dual meet. "Jeff did an excellent job," Northville Coach Ed Gabrys said.

Northville's Daneen Lang placed second in the 500-yard freestyle against Farmington Harrison.

Heading into last week, the Northville tennis squad had just one victory in its last five outings. So a 7-0 shutout win over Westland John Glenn on Sept. 27 and a 5-2 triumph over Walled Lake Central five days earlier moved the Mustang program — one that isn't used to losing — back onto the right track.

Against the Rockets, Northville won all seven matches in straight sets. In singles, Diane Vogt cruised past Beld Kellner (6-0, 6-1) at No. 1, Susan Wei- trounced Jamie Baldrice (6-0, 6-3) at No. 2, Molly Gudritz blanked Lisa Borgess at No. 3 and Kelli Woodsum downed Lisa Dupree (6-2, 6-2) at No. 4.

In doubles, Sandy Bosscher and Stacy Green disposed of Jennifer MacDonald and Anne Brieger (6-0, 6-1) at No. 1, Jenny McCormick and Lisa Wagner whipped Liz Pair and Ann Fedran (6-1, 6-1) and Katie MacLean and Sarah Christenson turned back Christie Melke and Wendy Hale (6-2, 6-3) at No. 3.

"We played well," Mustang Coach Uta Filkin said. "I gave some other players a chance and it worked out well."

Spartans hand tankers first defeat

Livonia Stevenson used its superior depth to turn back Northville 122-64 in prep swimming action on Sept. 26. It was the Mustangs' first loss of the 1991 season.

Northville managed just four first-place efforts, and junior Jodi Wesley had two of them: a win in the 200-yard freestyle and a first in the 500 freestyle. The other wins came from Beth Frayne in diving and Megan Gobel in the 100 backstroke. The only second place registered by the Mustangs in an individual event came from Teri Juhasz in the 100 butterfly. The Northville thirds were Gobel in the 200 freestyle, Brenda Newton in the 50 freestyle, Amy Cristoff in diving and Juhasz in the 100 breaststroke.

NORTHVILLE 56, FARMINGTON HARRISON 37: Two days earlier, the Mustangs notched their fourth dual-meet victory in a row over the Hawks.

The highlight of the meet came when Juhasz registered a state-cut time while winning the 100 breaststroke. She also added a first in the 100 butterfly. The only other two-time winner was Wesley, who placed first in the 200 freestyle and 100 backstroke.

The other winners were Gobel in the 500 freestyle, the 200 medley relay team (with Gobel, Juhasz, Kathy Lang and Sheila Osborne), the 200 freestyle relay (featuring Newton, Erica Anderson, Tammy Cook and Osborne) and the 400 freestyle relay (Kathy Lang, Cook, Daneen Lang and Gobel).

The runner-up finishes came from Newton in the 200 IM and 100 freestyle, Gobel in the 50 freestyle, Beth Frayne in diving, Kathy Lang in the 100 butterfly and Daneen Lang in the 500 freestyle.

Northville is now 4-1 overall, 1-1 in the WLAA.

Northville tennis team gets back on track

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN
Staff Writer

Heading into last week, the Northville tennis squad had just one victory in its last five outings. So a 7-0 shutout win over Westland John Glenn on Sept. 27 and a 5-2 triumph over Walled Lake Central five days earlier moved the Mustang program — one that isn't used to losing — back onto the right track.

Against the Rockets, Northville won all seven matches in straight sets. In singles, Diane Vogt cruised past Beld Kellner (6-0, 6-1) at No. 1, Susan Wei- trounced Jamie Baldrice (6-0, 6-3) at No. 2, Molly Gudritz blanked Lisa Borgess at No. 3 and Kelli Woodsum downed Lisa Dupree (6-2, 6-2) at No. 4.

In doubles, Sandy Bosscher and Stacy Green disposed of Jennifer MacDonald and Anne Brieger (6-0, 6-1) at No. 1, Jenny McCormick and Lisa Wagner whipped Liz Pair and Ann Fedran (6-1, 6-1) and Katie MacLean and Sarah Christenson turned back Christie Melke and Wendy Hale (6-2, 6-3) at No. 3.

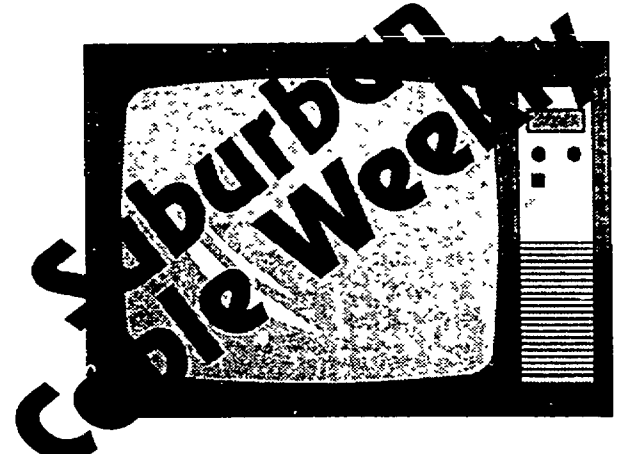

"We played well," Mustang Coach Uta Filkin said. "I gave some other players a chance and it worked out well."

NORTHVILLE 5, WALLED LAKE CENTRAL 2: The Mustangs dropped two of the four singles matches, but came back strong with a double sweep to put away the Vikings on Sept. 23. "I thought we played well," Filkin said.

The singles winners were Jenny Lower, who beat Sarah Grantham 6-1, 7-6 (7-1) at No. 3 and Gudritz, who defeated Nevada Breniser 6-2, 7-6 (8-6).

In doubles, the Bosscher/Green duo outlasted Ayrey Alday and Crossie Hanje (7-5, 6-1) at No. 1, Woodsum and Jodie Buttigieg stopped Nicole Gates and Jeanette Champine (6-4, 6-1) at No. 2 and Ellen Song and Megan Black needed three sets to turn back Jody Main and Sarah Leonhardt, 6-7 (6-8), 6-4, 6-1 at No. 3.

Zwiesler paces young runners

Northville's 24-43 boys cross country defeat against Plymouth Canton on Sept. 26 featured some good news and some bad news.

"The good news was we took a first place for the first time this season," Mustang Coach Ed Gabrys said. "The bad news is that (Canton) had the next eight spots."

Perhaps the season highlight, freshman Jeff Zwiesler won the race at Cass Benton with a career-best time of 18:03. As a matter of fact, Zwiesler's effort was a full 51 seconds better than his previous best.

"Jeff did an excellent job," Gabrys said. "As a team we showed great improvement. Out of our top seven guys, six had personal-best times. But Zwiesler's great run kind of wrecked our pack time."

Mark Ritter was the only other Mustang who managed to stay within shouting distance of Zwiesler. His time of 18:41 was a drop of 30 seconds and put him in 10th place overall. The rest of the Northville runners included Diasuke Ishikawa (12th place, 19:08), Chris Smith (13th, 19:19), Scott Lloyd (14th, 19:28), Nate Kurmis (15th, 19:30) and Rob

WALLED LAKE WESTERN INVITATIONAL: Back on Sept. 21 the Mustangs competed in this 14-team event. In the junior/senior race, the Mustangs placed seventh overall with 262 points. Ishikawa led the way in 35th place with a 19:28 effort.

In the freshman/sophomore competition, Northville placed fourth with 136 points, and the top runners were Ritter (11th place, 19:05) and Zwiesler (17th, 19:11).

The Mustangs are now 2-3 overall, 1-2 in the WLAA Western Division.

Northville kickers fall to 3-4-3 found the back of the net, but the referee ruled that time had expired before score.

"It was the referee's judgement and he called the game with the potential game-winner in the air," Paul said. "You live with it, I guess."

LIVONIA FRANKLIN 3, NORTH-

VILLE 2: On Sept. 23, the host Patriots edged the Mustangs in a key WLAA Western Division clash.

"It was disappointing," Paul admitted. "Franklin is a team we'd like to see again but it probably won't happen. It was the kind of game we needed to put behind us, and we did."

"We had some defensive mistakes and that led to a quick deficit."

The Pats scored at the 13- and 26-minute marks of the first half. Northville got one back seven minutes into the second half when Rossing was awarded, and scored on, a penalty kick, but seven minutes later Franklin increased the lead to 3-1. With six minutes remaining, the Mustangs wrapped up the scoring when Bo Fowler tallied off a Cuadra throw-in.

Newborns

These days, "crack" babies are lucky to be born even that big.

This year more babies will be born, premature and underweight, to "crack" cocaine-addicted mothers.

You may have seen photographs of "crack" babies. It's not such a pretty picture. Imagine what it must be like to work in one Metropolitan Detroit maternity ward where, on average, one in ten babies is born addicted to drugs.

Now more than ever, the United Way needs your donation to help fund local organizations with programs to help pregnant addicts quit drugs. Your contributions also support the over 150 agencies close to home working among other things, to fight child abuse, provide family counseling and shelter the homeless.

So when you give, give big to the United Way Torch Drive. Consider it an investment in the future of the American family.

Give a little piece of your heart. IT'S NEEDED MORE THAN EVER

Kevin Adams prepares to take a cut at the Grand Slam batting cage.

Batting cage league is a big hit

By RICK BYRNE
Copy Editor

There's a device out there whose sole purpose seems to be to separate a hardcore baseball nut from a mere dabbler.

Of course we're talking about batting cages. Serious baseball players and would-be players know the best way to sharpen their hitting skills with a few good cuts against the machine.

But now Grand Slam USA in Novi has taken the concept a step further. Beginning this week, Grand Slam will be offering hitting leagues which make use of the indoor cages.

"We'd heard of this in other places, so we adapted it for our own building," said Stu Rose, manager of the facility. "It was one of our programs when we opened up last year, and it was a big hit right off the bat.

"You can come in and get your hacks in in a competitive situation."

The leagues opening now are for baseball, and fast-pitch softball for women and men will begin soon as well. However, later this winter, the slow-pitch softball cages will feature their own leagues as well. The teams are divided up by age group. The youngest player is 13, and the oldest, 46.

"It's predominantly school kids right now," said Rose. "We have 32 high school teams in here. Some schools are fielding more than one team."

The concept is pretty simple. Four-player teams take their cuts in the cage, trying to direct their drives into marked sections of the walls. Players get six swings each per inning, and play a seven-inning game. Each season—several are scheduled through next spring—lasts for six weeks.

Hitting a drive to straightaway center earns the maximum five points. The sides of the cage count for two, and closer to the corners tallies three or four points.

The baseball rules also have a unique twist. On a player's first two pitches, he must bunt. A successful bunt is worth two points. A missed or fouled bunt results in deducting two points from the player's score.

As with traditional outdoor recreation leagues, awards are given at the end of the season for top players and top teams.

Rose has noticed an additional reward coming out of the high school leagues as well.

"It seems to build a certain camaraderie," he said. "Players come in here and get to know the guys on other teams that they'll be competing with in the regular season."

Adults often discover the batting cage leagues when they come to watch their kids in instructional sessions, too.

"It's pretty simple, and it's a lot of fun," said Rose. "We get a lot of people who played baseball before, adults who haven't played since high school. They get in here and realize they're not going to see the curveball anymore, and they think, 'I might be able to hit the ball some more.'"

For more information, call Grand Slam USA at 348-8338.

Real estate brokers optimistic about future

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

Despite a recent dip in home sales in most areas of the country, real estate brokers and other industry professionals are generally optimistic about the market in future months.

A continuing decline in interest rates is the key factor that will continue to spark growing activity in the market, most brokers feel. This, coupled with moderate home value appreciation during the past year, is rebuilding a vibrant residential sales market.

This was the general consensus of responses received in a recent survey conducted by Better Homes and Gardens Real Estate Service.

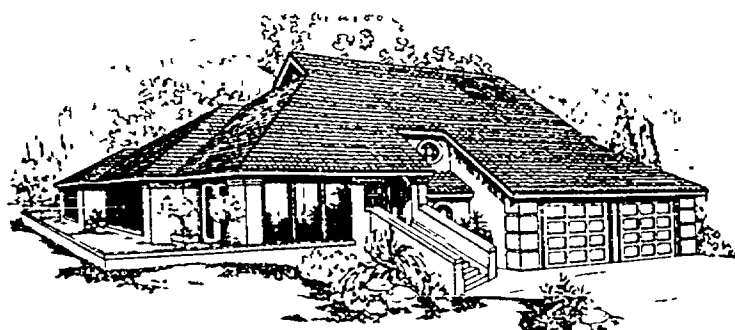

The survey covered the franchise organization's top broker members throughout the country.

"As mortgage interest rates decrease, more first-time home buyers will help to firm up the recovery of a soft real estate market," the survey report said. "We will continue to see a steady increase in housing sales across the nation, and our brokers remain optimistic that a recovery is under way."

More than 44 percent of brokers surveyed indicated an improved home buying market in their area, compared with this time last year. First-time home buyers are the most active segment of today's

HOME DESIGNS

The Rosemary offers Hawaiian-inspired

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

The Rosemary's sharply peaked and varied rooflines echo the mountainous environment for which this Hawaii-inspired split-level home was designed. Wide expanses of window glass, generous placement of skylights and an extended wrap-around deck allow for full appreciation of a richly foliated landscape. Building on a slope would add wide vistas to the rest of the visual benefits.

Entry level is mid-level, with a luxurious master suite a half-story up, and utilities, guest suite, main bathroom and garage a half-story down. This is clearly not a home for individuals who need to avoid steps. However, if mobility is no problem, just living here provides the built-in bonus of a small daily dose of exercise.

A laundry chute from the bathroom in the master suite on the upper level to the utility room on the bottom eliminates some trips down. Children will no doubt find far more interesting uses for the tube.

Ceilings are high and vaulted in all the mid-level rooms — entry, office, living room, family room and kitchen. The living room, awash with light from a wall nearly filled with glass, is spacious, but the family room/kitchen combination is even larger and brighter. The kitchen is built for efficiency, with plenty of extra storage available in the pantry and an eating bar built right into the food preparation island. A garden window and wide bay window look out over a deck, easily accessible for outside dining.

In recent years, more and more homeowners have been requesting home offices. If desired, this one could be fully separated from the living quarters by installing a door off the inside entry, adding an external door at the top of the front steps.

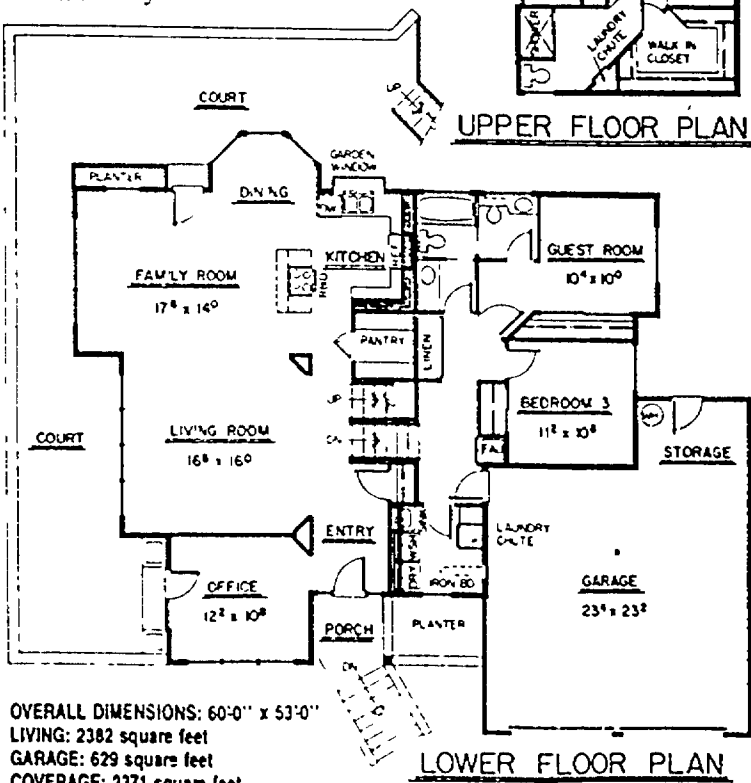

Two bathrooms are located on the lower level. One is part of a guest suite with an extra-large closet. Up two half-flights, the master suite is brightened by skylights and is totally private. It features an oversize walk-in closet and double vanities in a dressing area next to a large spa.

The garage, also at the lowest level, has plenty of extra space for storage and offers access to the lower-level living quarters, right next to the utility room—convenient for washing up after gardening or working in the garage.

For a study plan of the Rosemary (330-21), send $7.50 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307 CN, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

Downtown development departs from traditional apartment dwelling

STORY BY RICK BYRNE

When it comes to choosing a home, people in the Detroit area seem to want to get out of town. Families pack up and move to the suburbs, to the lakes, to the country — anywhere but the city.

In a market where so many people want to get away from the city, there's a living option for those who miss living in town.

MainCentre has risen up in Northville to offer 74 rental apartment units right at the intersection of Main and Center streets — and retail stores along with them. The daunting brick structure, with iron-railed balconies and smart green and white awnings, offers a departure from the traditional apartment complex.

"Besides Birmingham, this is the only place that I know where an apartment building has been built downtown," says Kelli Meyer, residential leasing director at MainCentre. "It's a great concept for people who are in that stage of their lives where they want to live in town. And people really like downtown Northville with its shops and restaurants."

MainCentre attempts to integrate itself into the downtown shopping district as well. Street level shops were part of the plan from the beginning, and already there are jewelry stores, a dry cleaner's and a children's clothing shop.

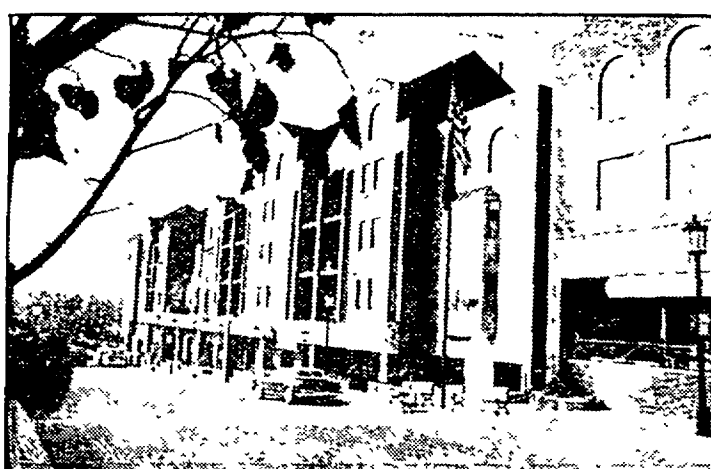

A variety of residents have been attracted to MainCentre for differing reasons. Though the bulk of the residents have been young, single professionals, a few empty nesters have come there to roost, along with a number of senior citizens.

John and Carol Crete are typical of the residents whose families have grown up and moved away. Both work, so apartment lifestyle suits them well. The location of MainCentre helped sew up their decision to move in.

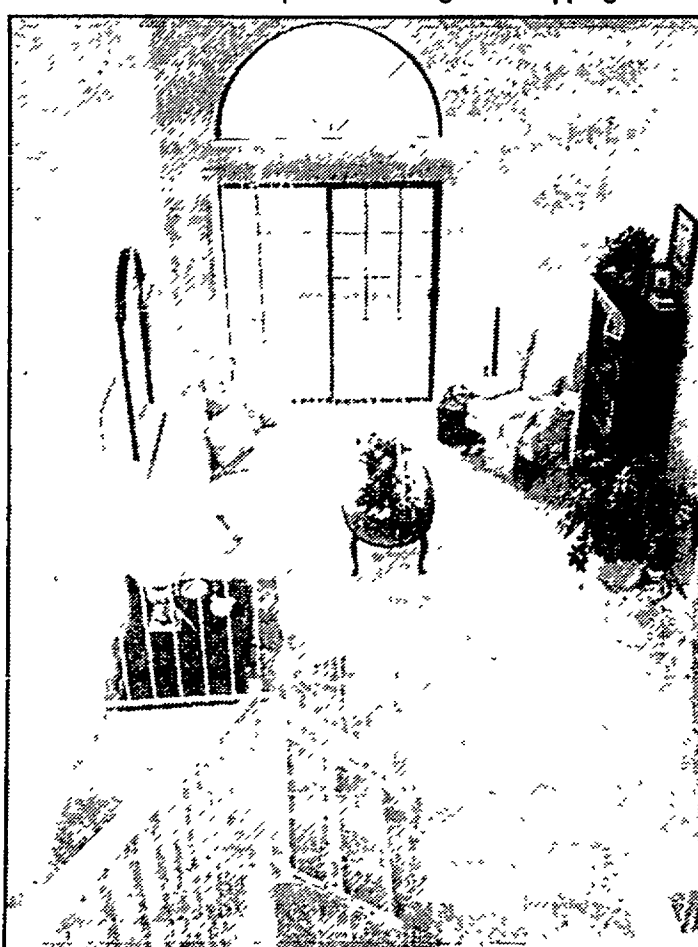

"We work in the western suburbs, and lived not too far from here in a condo," John says. "Prior to living in the condo, we had your typical ranch home."

"We decided we wanted to get into apartment living because we didn't even want to be responsible for interior maintenance. If we want to go on vacation, we can just close the door behind us and not worry."

Indeed, the MainCentre staff takes pride in taking care of its residents. A 24-hour maintenance staff will handle leaky MainCentre combines apartment living and shopping.

Fifteen different floorplans for apartments are available. Ranging from 700 to 1,200 square feet and from about $700 to $1,200 a month.

faucets, clogged disposals and anything else that might go wrong. But beyond that, concierge service is offered. Dry cleaning can be picked up and delivered at the MainCentre cleaners, and as more services occupy the retail space in the building, residents will be able to take advantage.

"We really wait on our tenants hand and foot," says Meyer. TheCRETES also enjoy having Northville at their doorstep.

"Northville is a very entertaining town," Carol says. "With the festivals and all, there's something going on all the time."

John adds, "We're out walking every evening. The only problem is that we're much too close to Cloverdale (now the Center Street Cafe). No matter where we walk, we always end up over there."

For older residents of MainCentre, being in town has brought them a newfound sense of independence.

"For seniors who don't drive, it keeps them independent," Meyer says. "I knew a lot of the ladies before they moved in. Now they seem so much more liberated because they don't have to worry about how they're going to get around."

Louise Frid has lived in Northville for 66 years, and lived in an apartment here when she married in 1925. Two years ago, she had to give up driving. Moving into MainCentre gave her back the mobility she thought she'd lost.

"I was so happy about moving in," she says. "I felt so alive again. I've been out walking twice today already, and I just love it. I love buying from the downtown merchants."

On the inside, MainCentre exudes a luxurious feel. Two elevators serve the five floors. Hallways are trimmed in tasteful salmon and green, with hardwood trim and heavy oak doors scattered throughout.

The layout is roughly a square, surrounding a central courtyard. Plants and benches are an inviting touch.

There are 15 different floorplans. One-bedroom apartments of 700 to 825 square feet rent for $695 to $825 a month. Two-bedroom units range in size from 950 to 1,200 square feet, and rent for $895 to $1,195 a month.

Included in all apartments are washers and dryers, microwave ovens, window blinds, covered and secured parking, a security intercom, and an intrusion/medical alarm system. Some apartments feature skylights, arched or bay windows and balconies.

At present the apartments are 58 percent occupied, which Meyer says is "pretty good. I hope to have it full by Christmas. That's my goal."

Business has been brisk, with 30 to 40 potential renters viewing apartments each week. At that rate, it isn't much of a stretch to predict an exodus away from the suburbs and back to town.

Controlling mildew can be a 'spore-radic' chore

By Gene Gary
Copley News Service

HOW TO

Q. We are experiencing a constant mildew problem in a family room that is on the ground level in our tri-level hillside home. One side of this room abuts the hillside, while the other walls are above ground level.

Do you have any suggestions on how to combat mildew and the musty odor?—L.B.

A. To prevent the spread of or to remedy mildew in moist environments, one must waterproof, ventilate and properly clean these areas.

To control the cause of dampness, replace cracked or defective mortar around the house. Check that drainage away from the house is adequate. Consider waterproofing concrete and other masonry walls, including inside walls such as yours that abut the hillside and exterior walls above ground. Seal absorbent brick and other surfaces. Prevent moisture from entering crawl spaces by spreading a layer of moisture-barrier materials over the soil under the building.

If natural breezes are not sufficient, create good ventilation. Use an electric fan to circulate air. Install vents in walls to increase air circulation. Use a dehumidifier to further control humidity. Keep closets, dresser drawers, basement, bathrooms and other susceptible areas as clean as possible.

Use a solution of diluted household bleach to clean walls and drawers to kill any remaining mildew spores. Use paint that has a mildewicide additive to help prevent recurrence of mildew growth. Keep low-wattage bulbs burning in closet spaces. Water-repellent sprays, mildew inhibitors, fungicides and chemicals to absorb moisture help keep fabrics and surfaces moisture- and mold-free.

If mildew has appeared on clothing or household fabrics, remove spots as soon as discovered before mold can weaken materials. Begin by brushing off mold outdoors so mildew spores do not scatter in the house.

On washable fabrics, pretreat by rubbing detergent into the dampened stain. Then launder the items in hot water and chlorine bleach. If safe for fabric, and detergent or soap.

If stain remains, sponge with hydrogen peroxide, rinse and launder. If you don't use bleach, soak items in oxygen bleach. Then wash.

Non-washable items should be dry-cleaned.

If mildew is on upholstered pieces, mattresses, rugs or carpets, start by taking the mildewed item outside and brushing mold away with a broom. Using the upholstery attachment of a vacuum cleaner, run it over the surface to draw out more mold. Since mold spores are going into the vacuum, dispose of bag or sweepings outside to avoid scattering mold spores.

If articles remain damp, dry with an electric heater or fan. Sun and air thoroughly to stop mold growth.

If mildew remains on upholstered furniture, wipe it with a cloth wrung out of a diluted alcohol solution. Dry the article thoroughly.

Q. The former owner of the home we recently purchased enclosed a porch for an additional room. During the winter this room is extremely cold. I can feel cold air rising through the carpet. Since the room is on a concrete slab there is no way of getting under the flooring to add insulation. Is there any material that I might lay under the carpet to help insulate the room?

A. The best way of insulating a concrete slab is to install a layer of rigid board insulation at the ground level underneath the slab prior to the pouring of the concrete. But it's too late for that now.

The installation of a dense, thick 100-percent urethane foam pad under carpeting will help block some of the cold. The padding should be rated at 8 pounds per yard.

Follow the manufacturer's installation instructions carefully. The pad will be somewhat harder than one of less weight, which has more give. Check with your local carpet dealer regarding padding selections.

Q. I am sure mine is a common problem. During a recent party one of my guests left a glass on the top of a buffet, leaving a white ring. How can I remove this unsightly ring from my tabletop?

A. Heat, water, ink and acid can leave marks and stains on fine veneer surfaces that show up as white rings, patches or dark watermarks. Surface marks can often be removed without damaging the finish, but deeper ones may need refinishing.

A simple trick that often works with lighter marks is toothpaste (regular variety, not the gels). Rub lightly over the area with a soft cloth and then polish with lemon oil.

Another method is rubbing the area with sewing machine oil and cigarette ash, or cigarette ash and lemon juice. Rubbing with a mixture of rottenstone (powder used for polishing metals) and light oil is another method of removing minor cigarette burns.

For varnished wood, one of the best methods of removal of white discoloration is to use denatured or rubbing alcohol. Wet a small wad of cotton with the alcohol and dab the stain until it disappears. Do not use too much alcohol and do not rub or you may disturb the varnish. The water has penetrated the varnish and attacked the shellac undercoat, turning it white under the varnish.

The alcohol also will penetrate the varnish and redissolve the shellac underneath, restoring its original transparency.

If none of these methods work, you will probably have to refinish your table top to remove the staining.

Q. The grout between the tiles on my kitchen countertop has become spotted with food stains over the years. Although I clean the tile regularly, the stains remain. Do you have any suggestions on how to remove the staining and discoloration from the grout?

A. Ceramic tile countertops are subjected to the worst possible household stains, and the grout joints are particularly susceptible to these stains. The Tile Council of America recommends a thick paste of scouring powder and hot water, letting this paste stand for 5-10 minutes, scrubbing with a stiff brush and then rinsing with clear water.

If stains remain, apply undiluted bleach for at least five minutes, rinse well, then dry.

If this fails to lighten and brighten your grout, consider regrouting the surface layer. This will require the removal of the top layer of grout, 1/8 to 1/4 inch, with a sharp instrument such as a screwdriver, or a grout saw available from your local tile dealer.

Then refill with new grout, in your choice of color. Small units of grout are available in most tile and hardware stores. To maintain the cleaned grout, seal the grout joints with acrylic sealer, repeating the treatment every three to four months.

You also can seal the grout joints using Genuine Old English Lemon Oil Furniture Polish. Apply three consecutive coats, letting each coat dry for an hour before, applying the next one. Remove excess polish from glazed tile and ceramic mosaics with a damp sponge.

Hand-painted Vase is of Japanese origin

By James G. McCollam
Copley News Service

ANTIQUES

Q. Enclosed is a picture of my hand-painted Nippon vase; it is 11 inches tall and has an Egyptian design on the front. All I know about it is that it was a wedding present to my husband's parents in 1917.

I would like to know anything you can tell me about it.

A. Your Nippon vase was made in Japan in about 1910 to 1915. It would probably sell for $365 to $385.

Q. I have some china with this mark on the back. Please identify the origin of my china.

A. This is not a maker's mark; it is the British Registry number. The "IV" at the top indicates that this is ceramic, the "B" stands for October, the "2" indicates the day of the month, the "T" is the year (1867) and the "1" is the parcel number.

BOOKS

The evaluation of old books is a rather complicated procedure. The most commonly recognized category is first editions by famous authors, like "Tom Sawyer" by Mark Twain. In some cases, later editions are collected for special reasons, such as illustrations by a famous artist or limited editions. In addition to books published many years ago, some contemporary authors, like Stephen King, are collectible. In any event, whatever the book in question, one can refer to American Book Prices Current at the public library. This is a complete up-to-date record of all books commonly bought and sold.

Another category that is in demand is what is commonly referred to as "source books." These would include books about the Civil War written at the time of the Civil War or books about the gold rush written at the time of the gold rush.

To these we can add books that are not desirable for their text but are illustrated by a famous artist, like John Wyeth.

There are many books sought by specialists in particular fields. These might simply be classified as reference books—subjects like weapons and ballistics, glassmaking, art books, oceanography and seamanship and many others. The list is endless.

There are a few tips on how to establish the vintage of a book. The date on the title page should be the same as the copyright date on the back of the title page. A series of copyright dates usually indicates several editions. Special editions, such as "Stratford Edition," indicates reprints.

It should not be concluded that books that are not considered collectible are worthless. Any book has some value as a "reading" copy—it just depends on condition and subject matter.

Send your questions about antiques with picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1 per item (limit one item per request) to James G. McCollam, P.O. Box 1087, Notre Dame, IN 46556. All questions will be answered but published pictures cannot be returned.

McCollam is a member of the Antique Appraisers Association of America.

This Nippon vase was made in Japan around 1910 to 1915.

market, it was noted. The primary motivators for those first-time buyers are low interest rates (58 percent) and low housing prices (54 percent).

Among repeat home buyers (those moving from one owned home to another), move-up buyers are the most active segment (38 percent of buyers)—families seeking a bigger and/or better home. This has increased significantly since last year.

However, there are still a large number of prospective home buyers who are holding off a purchase due to economic uncertainty, according to 56 percent of brokers surveyed. But news of continuing economic recovery and lower interest rates should increase consumer confidence in coming months, the brokers noted.

First-time home buyers hold the key to residential real estate recovery, it was emphasized in the survey report. "These buyers allow others to move up to bigger homes. While a complete recovery of the housing market is still in the distance, brokers are encouraging buyers, especially first-time buyers, to act now before the current 'window of opportunity' expires."

Overall, 67 percent of the Better Homes and Gardens broker members feel the real estate market will continue to improve over the long term. The franchise group, launched in 1977, now has 680 member brokerage firms throughout the country.

Q. What is a Declaration of Homestead?

A. It's a special document that can be filed with the county recorder in many states. It will shield the equity in your home, or a portion of it, against claims of certain creditors.

The amount of home equity that is protected depends on the law in your state. In California, for example, protected equity ranges from $50,000 to $100,000 depending on the income, marital status and age of the home owner-resident.

For more information, contact a local Realtor or your county recorder's office.

Send inquiries to James M. Woodard, Copley News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, CA 92112-0190.

Like our commitment to outstanding community newspapers for example.

It was only a couple of weeks ago that we changed our name from Sliger/Livingston Publications to HomeTown Newspapers. But you've probably noticed that nothing else has changed. We're still bringing you the same excellent community newspapers that you've learned to depend on for everything you need to know to live in your home town.

The Michigan Press Association (MPA) hasn't noticed much difference since we changed our name either. In fact, the MPA acknowledged our continued commitment to excellence by awarding us a total of 21 awards in the recent Better Newspapers Contest. That makes HomeTown Newspapers the most honored newspaper chain in the state. Here's a look at how we did.

The South Lyon Herald: 1st place - Use of Graphics; 1st place - Special Sections (Neighbors), 2nd place - Local News Reporting, 2nd place - Editorial Pages, 3rd place - General Excellence

The Milford Times: 1st place - General Excellence, 1st place - Local News Reporting, 1st place - Sports Coverage

The Northville Record: 3rd place - Sports Coverage, 3rd place - Lifestyle/Family Section

The Novi News: 2nd place - General Excellence, 2nd place - Feature Stories (Bob Needham), 2nd place - Sports Coverage, Honorable Mention - Lifestyle/Family Section

The Livingston County Press: 1st place - Lifestyle/Family Section, 2nd place - Special Sections (Neighbors)

The Brighton Argus: 2nd place - Use of Graphics, 2nd place - Lifestyle/Family Section, 3rd place - Use of Color, 3rd place - Feature stories, Honorable Mention - Sports Picture (Scott Piper)

Will vandalism turn our forests into an endangered species?

The destruction of signs, public facilities and campsites in our nation's forests says one thing loud and clear.

Respect doesn't grow on trees. It must be cultivated.

From camper to hiker. Parent to child. Generation to generation.

The sad truth is unless we begin to help people appreciate the forest for the priceless gift it is, something valuable will be lost. Our access to it.

Vandalism. It's time to draw the line.

Give a hoot.

This store's prescription is friendly service

By PAMELA DEAR
Special Writer

"The nice thing about a family business is everybody knows us and we know everybody," Lorraine Weinenger said. Weinenger is owner and chief pharmacist of New Hudson Discount Pharmacy, which opened in December of 1990.

She is also the 35-year-old daughter of two faces familiar to local residents — Jake and Helen Reisman, who established the first food market in New Hudson in 1968.

The Reismans, with a resume of 40 years of business experience and working with the public, are lending a helping hand to their daughter, now owner of the first drug store in New Hudson.

"My father helping me makes it a little easier," Weinenger said. "I helped him in other things he has done, but it is different when you're a kid and helping, and when it is yours."

New Hudson Discount Pharmacy, which measures about 4,000 square feet in size, stocks a wide assortment of items ranging from diapers, greeting cards, school supplies, magazines and paperback books to stuffed animals, elbow protectors, canes and crutches, shampoo, cold pop and juice, ice cream, and first aid and other health products.

It also carries a complete line of vitamins and has a health food aisle. A next-day photo-developing service is available and, of course, the pharmacy department, located in the rear of the store, is a significant aspect of the business.

"We will bring in whatever anybody wants," Weinenger said. "We want to be convenient and have what people want."

The store is brightly lit, aisles are wide, and near the pharmacy counter, one finds a couple of chairs so you can conveniently sit while waiting for a prescription. Don't be surprised if you are offered a cookie or a cup of coffee while you're waiting.

Besides offering merchandise and pharmacy services, the store stocks lots of good old-fashioned friendliness, prompt service, and courtesy.

"I have the luxury of time here," Weinenger said. "We are not a chain that is putting out 200 prescriptions a day. I have the luxury of being able to talk to everybody, giving them whatever information they need, or advice they need, or just to listen to people who sometimes need to talk."

"We try to make it as friendly an atmosphere as possible so people will feel free to call regarding anything, even if it's not about a prescription."

A 1979 graduate of Wayne State University's College of Pharmacy, she believes the pharmacist today is the patient's primary source for information about medical prescriptions and instruction about the side effects of drugs. She explained that sometimes doctors do not readily supply information about the prescriptions and patients are sometimes intimidated by their doctors and afraid to ask questions.

An important part of Weinenger's job is recording new patient information on her computer. This enables her to be aware of allergies and medical conditions and, possibly, help prevent a harmful drug interaction.

Weinenger, a Farmington resident, is married and has one son. She previously worked as a manager for an independent drug store in Farmington for 10 years.

Lately business at the New Hudson Discount Pharmacy has been increasing.

"People are finding us," Weinenger

Lorraine Weinenger, owner of the New Hudson Discount Pharmacy, emphasizes old-fashioned, friendly service said. "Word of mouth has helped a lot. People are recommending us to their friends."

As the business expands, she hopes her husband, also a pharmacist, will eventually join her in this venture.

Asked how she likes the community, she responded with a warm smile. "This is a nice town. No doubt about it."

New Hudson Discount Pharmacy is open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Sunday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The telephone number is 486-0720.

WILLIAM AUSTIN of Walled Lake, who already serves as President and Chief Executive Officer of Lkonia Community Credit Union, has been elected to serve as the 24th Chairman of the Michigan Credit Union League (MCUL). As chairman, Austin holds the key leadership role in the governing body of the MCUL which supports credit union ideals and philosophy.

Founded in 1934 and headquartered in Southfield, the MCUL is the primary trade association representing credit unions in Michigan. The State's 595 credit unions serve over 3.6 million members and hold over $11 billion in assets.

In addition, Austin was elected vice chairperson to the League Services Corporation Board of Directors, MCUL's business subsidiary which provides credit unions with support and operational services.

Austin is a veteran of the organized credit union movement. He has served as President/CEO of Lkonia Community Credit Union since 1975 during which time he has held numerous service positions including MCUL Director, MCUL Executive Committee Treasurer and MCUL Vice Chairperson.

In addition to Austin, the following were elected officers of the MCUL Executive Committee: Armando Cavazos, President/CEO of Credit Union One in Ferndale, was elected as the new MCUL Vice Chairman; Carol Wagner, President/CEO of Kent County Employees Credit Union in Grand Rapids, was elected Secretary; and James Carson, General Manager of ABD Federal Credit Union in Warren, was elected Treasurer.

REUNIONS MADE EASY is an exciting new local business that specializes in class reunion planning from start to finish. Its services range from locating classmates, putting deposits on the banquet hall to planning and managing the reunion party. Reunions Made Easy handles all the financial responsibilities with no upfront costs to the reunion committee planning the event.

President of Reunions Made Easy, Lisa Muscio of Novi, was a local high school president, and the problems she encountered from planning her five year reunion revealed the need for this reunion planning service. "After organizing the five year reunion, I realized how much work and money was involved. It was hard finding someone to organize the plans for our 10 year reunion because of the time needed to organize the party."

Since Lisa grew up in Farmington Hills, she felt that like herself, others were having the same problems. "I feel there is a definite need for a reunion planning company. It takes the burden off the reunion committee that is in charge of planning the reunion."

Reunions Made Easy works very closely with a small committee from the high school class. R.M.E. does all the legwork in finding the hall and entertainment, but the ultimate decisions are made by the reunion committee. Reunions Made Easy sends out publicity to the media, announcements, lost lists of "unfound" classmates, invitations, and confirmation cards. "Generally, a time span of nine to 12 months is perfect; finding the classmates takes most of the time."

If you have a class reunion coming up or would like more information, please call Reunions Made Easy at 380-6100.

ROBERT A. DEMATTIA, president of the R.A. DeMattia Company, has been appointed a commissioner by the United States Department of Labor for the newly formed National Advisory Board of Work-Based Learning. The blue-ribbon committee consists of top leaders from the business, education, and labor sectors of the United States.

Former Secretary of Labor, Elizabeth Dole, selected the 15 member committee in October 1990. Dole said one of the commission's goals is to reach out to the 50 percent of America's youth who do not go on to college.

Since then, the board had designed several strategies to improve and expand training and apprenticeship programs for America's workforce.

"It is quite an honor to be part of the commission," DeMattia said. "For America to be successful in the global market, we need to create better ways of providing our working men and women with skills for a lifetime of productive work."

DeMattia's input, based on his background in the architectural, design/build and construction industry, has helped the commission explore the feasibility of developing a voluntary system for accrediting industry-wide training programs. In the construction industry, the apprenticeship style of training and instruction serve as an important set of credentials, DeMattia said.

"Employers know exactly what skills an applicant has, and the system of hiring is fast and efficient," DeMattia added.

Other members of the prestigious commission include: Allen Jacobsen, CEO, 3-M Corporation; Doris O'Connor, senior vice president, Shell Oil Corporation; John J. Jacob, president, The Urban League; Lynn Williams, president, United Steel Workers of America; and Jack MacAllister, chairman and CEO, U.S. West Inc. and chairman of commission.

DeMattia is the only member from Michigan.

BERNIE M. RONNISCH, has been promoted to project manager/estimator from estimator, at the R.A. DeMattia Company. Located in Northville, the R.A. DeMattia Company is an architectural/engineering, design/build construction and development firm.

TOM DEMATTIA, has been promoted to the position of project manager for design/build operations from development project engineer, at the R.A. DeMattia Company.

Located in Northville, the R.A. DeMattia Company is an architectural/engineering, design/build construction and development firm.

The R.A. DeMattia Company, Plymouth, has begun construction of the Metro West Industrial Park Phase Five. This 44 acre phase will provide lots ranging from 1 to 9 acres and is an extension of the highly successful Metro West Industrial Park.

Gary Roberts, vice-president of development, said he expects parcels will be available by January 1992.

This new project is developed in conjunction with Ford Motor Land Development Corporation.

DAVID R. TRUDELL has been named to the faculty at Lawrence Technological University.

Trudell, a resident of Novi, will be a lecturer in the University's College of Architecture and Design. He holds a bachelor's degree from Lawrence Tech. He is also on the faculty of the Kendall School of Art and Design.

Lawrence Tech., founded in 1932, enrolls 5,500 students and employs 300 full- and part-time faculty. It is among Michigan's largest independent universities. Lawrence Tech offers more than 30 day and evening degree programs at the associate, baccalaureate and graduate levels.

HOLCOMB INDUSTRIES of Novi was recently awarded Q1 status by Ford Motor Company's part and service division at a special luncheon at North American Automobile Operations headquarters in Dearborn.

Holcomb Industries has been a supplier of precision machined castings to Ford Motor Company and other manufacturers from its Novi location since 1945.

William Turner, vice president, and Lawrence Morris, quality assurance coordinator, received the award and blue pennant after directing a total quality management improvement program begun in 1989. Holcomb Industries is now eligible to quote on current and new programs from all Ford Motor Company divisions worldwide.

MARIANNE M. CONRAD has been awarded the Certificate in General Insurance by the Insurance Institute of America. Earning the certificate requires completion of the national examination covering insurance principles, contract analysis techniques, and a wide range of insurance policies.

Marianne is employed by the Finlan Insurance Agency as a sales representative. She is also a graduate of Central Michigan University and a member of Insurance Women of Metropolitan Detroit.

The Insurance Institute of America is a nonprofit educational organization serving the property and liability insurance industry. It administers job-related programs for industry personnel — an Introduction to Property and Liability Insurance course, an Introduction to Claims course, the Program in Supervisory Management, the Program in General Insurance, and eleven associate designation programs which focus on claims, management, risk management, underwriting, loss control management, insurance marketing, premium auditing, research and planning, insurance accounting and finance, automation management, and marine insurance.

SYSCHK INC., located in Northville, recently celebrated its 10th anniversary. SYSCHK is a leading supplier of permanent and temporary technical support personnel, including programmers, system analysts, project managers, engineering and PC support personnel.

SYSCHK Inc. is owned by Virginia Wertman, who is ably assisted by her husband and Sales Manager Donald J. Wertman, or "Uncle Don" as he is known by "his people." Don, originally a contractor himself, founded the company because he wanted to best serve the needs of his employees and his clients. SYSCHK's client list runs the gamut from small business to Fortune 500 companies and currently employs a staff of over 50, "but that can go as high as one hundred during peak demand," says Mr. Wertman.

SYSCHK Inc. is commonly known as "the Balloon Company," since they sponsor a hot air balloon frequently seen floating over greater Detroit. "Captain Don" enjoys taking clients and employees up in the clouds as often as weather permits.

As part of their commitment to the community, SYSCHK Inc. recently purchased a 100-year-old farmhouse in Northville. The Wertmans' goal is to resurrect the original building, and they have applied for designation as an historical site.

ERA COUNTRY RIDGE REALTY, located at 109 W. Main, joined in the spirit of the Northville Sidewalk Sale on August 3 and 4, and offered a free color television set, the winner to be determined by a drawing from names and addresses submitted during the event. The more than 500 entrants included visitors from Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Florida, Texas, Virginia and Canada.

Sue Anger was the lucky winner. The Angers are long time residents of Northville.

More Detroit-suburban-savers and investors

The SPRING Newspapers' circulation more than — doubles the daily suburban circulation of either The Detroit News or Free Press.

In fact, SPRING's suburban circulation is greater than the two metro dailies' combined.

And that's not all.

According to the 1991 Belden study, SPRING reaches more of the affluent suburban shoppers who have more—and spend more.

► 151,800 more suburban savings account users than the daily News (68,100 more than the Free Press).

► 109,000 more suburban NOW account users than The News (41,000 more than the Free Press).

Not to mention more suburban buyers of new cars, boats, jewelry, $200,000+ homes, etc.

Simply put, one order in SPRING delivers more. Shouldn't you be advertising in SPRING more? To get all the facts, call your SPRING representative.

Salespeople must hear emotions, not just facts

How do you rate as a listener? Author Kerry L. Johnson has published "Salespeople: Are You Listening? ... to help those who may have problems with speaking before thinking—or listening.

According to Johnson, a good listener adjusts to emotionally-laden words. This suggestion represents the fourth point in the eight-step process of developing successful listening skills.

As we listen to another person speak, there are certain words that trigger emotions. These words can cause a person to stop listening and focus on a bad or good experience. Examples include usage of the terms "inflation," "administration," and "expenses," just to name a few.

Since these words may conjure up intense feelings, Johnson recommends that the listener act, rather than react, to their usage from the client's point of view. By avoiding associations of one's own emotions to that of the client, the listener is in a better position to find out exactly what the client's concerns are.

Along with this, one must remember that a good listener listens to "emotions" as well as to the facts. Theoretically, 20 percent of communication is strictly facts and 80 percent is emotion. Listening to emotions as well as facts ensures that a person will be better able to receive the entire message—and respond accordingly.

Next, a good listener hears the speaker out. Everyone dislikes being interrupted, especially when speaking may be used as a means to think aloud before a decision is reached. By waiting until the other person is finished speaking, the listener is in a better position to respond to what point(s) have been made.

Another step includes the fact that a good listener prepares for a conversation. By having an outline of previous conversations, relevant notes, or other materials, information may then be gathered through a logical and flowing framework for ready referral. This not only gives the listener a good idea of other questions to ask that may have not been previously covered, but builds on the rapport that has been developed up to that time.

Finally, a good listener adjusts thought speed to speech speed. We speak at approximately 200 words per minute and think four times as fast.

A poor listener drifts off and easily becomes distracted. Rather than letting this happen, Johnson suggests mentally summarizing what the client has said, anticipating what he or she may say next, and keeping track of the main points that have been made.

Being a good listener takes work and practice—as does the ability to listen, think, and then speak. For a copy of Johnson's "Listening Skills Self Test," readers may send a self-addressed and stamped envelope with their request in care of Mary DiPaolo, 104 W. Main St., Northville, 48167.

Money Management

Empty-nesters have opportunity for financial growth

One by one your children have left home. Suddenly, the home that was once a busy beehive of activity has become an empty nest. If you find yourself with too much space, perhaps it's time to see your home in a new light, according to the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

For example, now may be the right time to consider trading down. Buying or renting a smaller home can leave you with profit to invest or enjoy. Additionally, if you or your spouse are 55 years old or older when you sell your home, you may be able to pocket up to $125,000 of the profit you realize without having to pay tax on the gain.

The ability to generate income from an empty nest is not limited to those who decide to sell their homes. If you remain in your home, you can put the extra space to practical use and earn income and tax savings as well. For instance, if your home is in a resort area or an area where a popular annual event attracts tourists, consider renting your home during this period. If you rent your home for less than 15 days during the year, the income you receive is tax-free. The related rental expenses, however, will not be deductible.

Another alternative is renting an extra bedroom, perhaps to a local college student or professor. When you rent a portion of your home, the part you rent is considered rental property. This means you can depreciate the rented portion and write off some of your expenses against the rental income you receive. Most expenses must be allocated between deductible rental use and nondeductible personal use. But expenses incurred solely for the rental portion, such as costs for painting or carpeting the rooms you rent, are fully deductible.

Homes with specialized facilities or amenities may offer other means for generating income. For example, a gourmet kitchen can provide the perfect location for someone who would like to give cooking lessons. Are you an amateur photographer with a darkroom? If so, perhaps you can find someone who would be willing to pay for the use of your darkroom facilities. Of course, you should talk to your insurer and financial advisor before undertaking any of these ideas.

Even an empty attic or basement can bring you unexpected financial opportunities. You may very well be able to rent the space to someone in need of extra storage room. Is there spare space in your garage now that your children's cars are gone? Consider renting it to a garageless apartment dweller who wants to shelter a fancy sports car. One precaution: When you rent storage space, make sure your tenant is insured against loss while his or her property is in your house.

Another way to put your empty nest to use is to run a small business from your house. The deductions for your home office are based on the percentage of your home used for that purpose. Apply this percentage to mortgage interest, real estate taxes, homeowner's insurance and utility bills. To qualify for the home office deduction, the space you designate as your home office must be used regularly and exclusively as your principal place of business or as a regular meeting place. Tax law also requires that you show a profit in at least three out of five consecutive years to be eligible for the deduction. The rules are strict, but the tax savings can be well worth the complexities involved.

An empty nest can provide you with many ways to generate income, and become involved in new interests, and prepare for the second half of your life. With the children gone and tuition and child-rearing expenses behind you, you should look for personal and financial growth in the years ahead.

Wise In Years. Young At Heart.
Great American Investor.

If you stop for gas at Wally Bonfield's service station, be prepared to fill up on a few good stories, as well. Wally's seen a lot of things change since he opened Bonfield's back in 1927. Thankfully, there's always been one thing he could count on. U.S. Savings Bonds, the Great American Investments. "Like it or not, I might have to retire one day", he says. "I'm just glad I found a way to do it comfortably." Bonds pay competitive rates, and they're one of the safest investments around. Which leaves a lot of folks thinking that Wally is wise beyond his years. Call for information, or write U.S. Savings Bonds, Dept. 893-N, Washington, D.C. 20026.

ART VAN FURNITURE

ARE YOU READY TO STEP UP?

I approach my job as a professional and I am good at meeting the challenge of a high traffic sales floor. I work harder than most and I pay me well. My company provides me with a well displayed showroom, great inventory & plenty of opportunity. I like working here because I know my customers get their money worth. I earn $2,500 a month and I am not the highest paid in the company. I also have a superb benefit package, among the best in the industry.

If this sounds like you, we should talk.

This is your one-stop place for lawn care bargains!

Save a bundle
get a jump on

Don't wait until a cold front threatens. Take care of those outdoor projects now. We've got everything you need to protect the exterior of your home from winter weather.

Check for air leaks
and windows!

Foam weatherstrip is easy to apply and seals narrow spaces well. It is very effective on the top and bottom of double hung windows, and on all sides of metal casement or awning windows. Few projects are so easy and effective!
