Reopened Beck paves a way to more mishaps

By MIKE TYREE and STEVE KELLMAN

increased traffic volume and corresponding hikes in accidents at the Beck Road/ Eight Mile intersection aroused concern among local residents and government injury accidents multiplied at the intersection since late August, when a paving project was completed on Beck Road between Seven and Eight Mile.

Statistics provided by Northville city and township police departments, as well as Novi police, indicate a number of problems, including driving speed, line-of-vision, and lack of a full traffic signal at the busy intersection. Wayne and Oakland county officials had promised to install a traffic light in Auust, and the signal was finally hung yesterday.

Northville Township police logged 10 accidents at the intersection since Jan. 1991. Five accidents occurred since the first of September, and drivers were hospitalized with varying degrees of injuries in three of the five.

In the city, two joggers were killed in June within sight of the intersection by a driver on Eight Mile. The double fatality was one of nine accidents this year, and one of two involving injuries, on Eight Mile between Beck

North of Eight Mile, Novi police reported nine accidents in 1990 and at least two so far in 1991. At least one of this year's Novi accidents resulted in injuries.

The threat of serious collisions is a constant cloud over the heads of neighboring residents all along the road.

Ever since Beck opened, it's brakes sque aling all the time," said Jan Forster, who lives with her husband and daughter at the southeast corner of Beck and Eight Mile. When someone hits the brakes, the whole household stops, waiting for impact.

We used to go out to check (for injuries), but now we just pick up the phone and call the police," she said.

Forster recalled past fatal accidents at the intersection and fears the next collision.

How many serious injuries have we had since Beck opened?" she said. "And how long before we have another monster, with deaths?

Caryn Doehler lives with her family on Beck just north of Seven Mile. Like Forster, she's concerned about traffic speed since Beck was paved.

There is a lack of responsible driving." she said. "People are really flying along."

Doehler worries about the safety of her children as they board a school bus at 7:15 a.m. And drivers regularly abuse the posted 45 mph speed limit, she said.

"When I go the speed limit, I have about eight cars lined up behind me," she said. "I can't make a turn into my drive at 45 mph. Both Doehler and Forster have lodged complaints with Wayne County, to little or no

Doehler wants to see the Beck Road speed limit dropped to 40 mph, but says the county has rejected to that plea. Forster says Wayne County officials bounced her to Oakland County. Neither government offered solutions to her complaints, she said. One of the problems has finally been addressed. The Wayne County Department of Public Services gave the green light to a full signal at Beck and Eight Mile in August, and county officials estimated then that the light would be installed within 90 days

The new light is designed to cope with the additional traffic brought on by newly-paved Beck Road.

Wayne County engineers have been monitoring the traffic on Beck since it reopened, and will use those studies and Northville Township traffic accident reports to determine whether traffic changes are needed at Beck intersections. The Seven Mile Road intersection, the site of several serious accidents in the past year, is currently controlled by a four way stop. Richard Hodges, traffic and safety engineer for Wayne County Department of Public Services, said the county continues to count the traffic along the newly-reopened stretch of Beck. But for now, traffic counts do not warrant a signal at Seven Mile and Beck, he

Coalition requests thousands of records

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

An ad hoc committee of local business people have asked city officials for copies of thousands of documents concerning the city's trash collection and disposal services and street repair projects.

The city council on Monday voted to charge the committee for the copying costs and staff time involved in collecting the estimated 4,000 docu-ments, a charge that could add up to $1,000.

The committee, which formed to review city finances in response to interim refuse rates, made its request for copies in a Sept. 30 letter from consultant Chuck Keys to City Manager Gary Word. Keys wrote "We decided to begin our examination of the city finances in two areas, trash collection and street paving." Regarding trash disposal, the committee asked for "copies of all contract(s) and/or agreement(s) with our present trash collector and disposer for both trash collection and disposal detailing all fees, conditions, per stop charges, etc. for both the residential and business sectors; copies of all competitive bids recently received by the city for refuse collection and/or disposal, etc.; amount of dollars billed separately to residential and to business sectors from July 1, 1991 to Sept. 30, 1991; copies of any and all bills, statements, invoices, etc. received and paid out (along with copies of canceled checks) for trash collection and disposal from July 1, 1991 to Sept. 30, 1991. Regarding street paving, the committee asked for "copies of all current bonds for street paving (What bonds were sold for what projects?); copies of gross revenues and net revenues (receipts) received from the sale of these bonds; current status of those bond projects and funds received (with all documentation). Location and amount of any bond funds that may still exist; copies of all bills. invoices, statements, canceled checks, etc., detailing the work performed, dates, and what contractors were paid for each specific bonding project." The letter requested that the city furnish the documents to the committee within two weeks.

This committee is anxious to work with you in clearing any clouds of suspicion that linger when municipalities need additional funding."

Copies of the letter were sent to committee members Mike Allen, Ray Casterline, William Demray, John Genitti, James Long and Carol Miller.

City council members on Monday called the request "excessive," particularly the eighth request for all bills, invoices, statements, canceled checks, etc. regarding the city's street paving program. Most of the estimated 4,000 documents are for that final request. The council vote to charge for the copies overrode a city staff recommendation that they be provided for

The staff had recommended, in an Oct. 7 report to the council, that the city provide the information in spite of the necessary staff time and copying. Despite the time involved . . .

Les of Mail Boxes Etc. sorts the foam materials that his store now collects for recycling

How to reuse your plastic Foam plastic can be recycled locally

By SUZANNE HOLLYER Staff Writer

You haulyour cans, bottles and newspapers to the local recycling center every week.

You try to heed the environmentalists' cries of reduce, reuse and recycle.

Still your egg cartons, take-out containers, fast-food cups and foam packaging find their way into your garbage, and eventually into an overcrowded landfill.

Plastic foam products have claimed to be recyclable for years, but neither of Northville's two recycling centers accept them. What's an avid recycler to do? Les Beare, owner of Mail Boxes

Etc., has the answer. The franchise Mail Boxes Etc. began recycling its loose-fill packaging about a year ago. Shipping businesses like Mail Boxes Etc. or consumers can reuse the loose fill as packing material. Garden enthusiasts have put the broken pieces of foam in soil as a conditioner that helps promote drainage and healthy root growth, according to the Plastic Loose-Fill Producers' Council.

But for those who like to get their leftovers out of their homes immediately, Mail Boxes Etc. offers an alternative.

Beare's Novi store, 43422 West Oaks Drive in the West Oaks II Shopping Center, took the program a step further: The store is acting as a collection site for local plastic foam recyclers.

Beare asks that consumers bring in only plastic foam that has been cleaned. For the effort, anyone who brings in a substantial amount of foam will receive coupons for Mail Boxes Etc.

Beare is not in the recycling business to make money or attract customers. In fact, he said he loses some money to the recycling program through transportation and labor costs.

But the recycling bug bit the Novi store owner and he doesn't seem to mind.

"I can't see recycling loose fill and not recycling everything else,"

His problem is letting consumers and other merchants know he will recycle their plastic foam.

"I'm just trying my darndest to get the word out," he said. T.J. Maxx recycles through Mail Boxes Etc. and recently Beare signed up Kosch's Deli Restaurant as a recycling partner.

For those who argue that plastic foam still releases ozonedepleting chlorofluorocarbons (CFCs) in the air, Beare has an answer to that too.

He can't speak for all plastic foam, but the loose fill used in packaging at Mail Boxes Etc. has no CFCs.

And the Plastic Loose-Fill Pro-ducers' Council adds that loose fill can be and often is made from recycled polystyrene. Plastic foam also takes 40 to 50 percent less energy to make than a compar-

Plastic foam does not, however, break down quickly. But the council maintains that in a landfill, the lack of oxygen does not allow anything to break down able amount of paper packaging.

Transcript shows confused supervisor selection course

By MIKE TYREE Staff Writer

The following is a transcript of a portion of the township board's Sept. 23 session. After listening to four candidates, the board selected Betty Lennox as the new township supervisor during a meeting that initially was to be strictly limited to interviews.

The board did not follow its publicly stated agenda, which held that a decision was to be reached and a new supervisor selected at a Sept. 26 meeting. Board members agreed to change the selection process during the Sept. 23 meeting after Trustee James Nowka said he could not attend a second meeting the same

The board's controverstal decision to select Lennox created considerable discussion in the Northville community. The Record was granted permission to listen to tapes of the meeting after filing a request under the state Freedom of Information Act. The following is a transcript of discussion that occurred after the final candidate was interviewed, and through the selection of Lennox as the new township supervisor.

CLERK THOMAS L.P. COOK: What's the board's

we make a decision this evening, on a new supervisor of Northville Township. And since we have all the members here that are currently elected

TRUSTEE THOMAS HANDYS-IDE: I understand your work situation. I'd support that . . . .

NOWKA: And basically, I think that, speaking for myself and obviously for the board, they're outstand-; ing people, and obviously some verystrong people with interesting experience that have come up and shared this interest, and of course that was the purpose of the resume, to gather these people that have an interest in government . . . but I think that we, and I'd like to make a motion . . .

HANDYSIDE AND TRUSTEE DONALD WILLIAMS: You've got one on the Room.

HANDYSIDE: You've got one and second.

NOWKA: One and a second. Okay, we'll make a decision tonight. Okay. I'll call the question.

COOK: Before you call the question. I want to ask if there's any other questions from anybody down there (in the audience).

Treasurer may be selected tonight

By MIKE TYREE Staff Writer

The township board may forego a public interview process and appoint a replacement for former Treasurer

Betty Lennox this evening.

Board members are divided on whether interviews are necessary to fill the treasurer's slot, said Lennox, who on Sept. 23 was tabbed to be Northville Township's new supervisor.

I talked to all the board members and there are two different opinions on how it should be done," she said Monday.

Lennox said some board members feel a new treasurer should be appointed immediately. Others think an interview process is the correct path to take.

The township has chosen not to publicly advertise the position. Instead, it contacted three candidates who ran against Lennox in a 1990 special election.

Those candidates, Rick Engelland, William Butterfield, and Jack Hosmer, all have expressed interest in the opening, township Deputy Clerk Eunice Switzler said. Lennox and a dozen other candidates took part in a 1989 public interview and search process before she was picked to be treasurer. More recently, the board held interviews to replace Georgina Goss as supervisor.

Thieves swipe five cars in six days from Meijer store

By MIKE TYREE Staff Writer

Car thieves often target Meijer when shopping for vehicles, and last week binged on an expensive array of rides at the 20401 Hagger-

Five vehicles reportedly were stolen from the Meijer lot between Sept. 30 and Oct. 5. according to township police records.

Two thefts occurred Sept. 30. Another vehicle was stolen Oct. 2 and one theft each was reported Oct. 4 and Oct. 5.

Township police records indicate that 23 of 35 vehicles reported stolen in Northville Township in 1991 were taken from the Meijer

Thefts from the Meijer lot in 1991 already have surpassed the 22 car thefts reported in 1990, police said.

Police are fully aware of a crime problem in the Meijer lot, but remedies are limited, Lt. Gary Batzloff said Tuesday.

We try to give (patrols) as much time out there as we can, Batzloff said. We really can't afford, manpower-wise, to give Meijer any more attention than any other place in the township."

Batzloff said recent car theft reports were turned over to the Western Wayne Auto Theft Unit for its review. But police surveillance is based on need, and the Meijer lot may not be the unit's top priority, Batzloff said.

·Three of the vehicles reported stolen last week were stripped and recovered in Detroit, according to township police records.

The most recent surge in car thefts began in the early afternoon Sept. 30. Township police said a Farmington Hills woman told them the 1991 Jeep Islander she was driving was stolen from the Meijer lot between Detroit police recovered the abandoned vehicle just before 5 p.m. the same day near 17170 Senelon. The Jeep's steering column was destroyed and its wheels, radio, battery, and rear bumper were missing.

A Northville man's 1990 Cadillac Allante was the next target. Thieves reportedly stole that vehicle sometime between 7:30-8:45 Sept. 30 as the man shopped.

The $50,000 Allante has not been recovered, police said.

A Northville woman's 1991 Chevrolet 4x4 pickup was stolen sometime between 12:05-12:15 p.m. Oct. 2, police said. A witness told police that a stockily-built black man in his mid-20s forced open the vehicle's driver's side door while two other men in an older car stood watch.

The man then drove off with the vehicle, the witness said.

Officers from the Western Wayne Auto Theft Unit reported that the abandoned vehicle was recovered just after 7:30 that evening at 4456 30th Street in Detroit. The pick-up's driver's side door had been punched open, the steering column stripped, and the vehicle's wheels, tires, and radio were missing. police said.

Another theft was reported Oct. 4. A Novi woman told police that someone stole her Meijer would be helpful," he said.

1991 Olds Bravada sometime between 7:45-8:15 p.m. while it was parked in the Meijer lot.

The vehicle was recovered the following day in the area of Hartwell and Fenkell, Detroit police said. Missing were the vehicle's license plate, radio, battery, wheels arid that his 1991 Chevrolet Blazer was stolen Oct. 5 sometime between 2-4:30 p.m. The vehicle had not been recovered by Monday, according to police records. Meijer does not patrol its lot with its own security vehicles. Batzloff thinks some security presence could help cut car thefts and "In my opinion, outside surveillance by because the controversy surrounding it divided so many communities, not because the state found the exercise to be dangerous.

We are always looking at the health model in a revision model,"

We still believe the skill is very good -- either in clearing your head to make decisions or just to calm

And that concerns Bell.

The problem we have is if you don't understand why you're chang-ing something you don't understand calm breathing can become an automatic response," Bell said. "It's

The state will look at many ways of achieving the goal of relaxing children before releasing a lesson plan to replace calm breathing she said. Techniques like counting to 10 or putting heads on desks might be substituted.

We do realize there are multiple ways of gaining the same result," she said, although the actual lesson is not finalized.

Although calm breathing will not be emphasized, the state will not completely remove it from the Michigan Model, said Hower-Knutson.

We chose not to take it out because it's a good skill to have, and we're not afraid of it. We are not going to back off and say there's anything wrong with this because there's not." she said.

Bell said his understanding was calm breathing would be completely removed. If calm breathing is still in the health model, parents locally and statewide will respond.

But if the model simply instructs students to take a deep breath, he would not be concerned.

Calm breathing is a method of relaxing children that is intended to become an automatic response, he

*Calm breathing and taking a deep breath are different things," Bell said. Health educator Judy Cavell at the Wayne County Regional Educational Service Agency said the state recom-mends school districts implement recommendations.

In this case, the state will recom-mend school districts remove calm breathing exercises and replace them with new lesson plans.

But the model is not mandatory and school districts will not be required to make the change, Cavell said.

"I don't know anybody who doesn't change," she said.

Northville schools Assistant Superintendent for Instructional Services Dolly McMaster Northville said the revised curriculum will be used in Northville schools.

Bell said he will monitor schools to make sure teachers are retrained in using the new exercise.

The county agency, which acts as an intermediary between the state and local school districts, also will make sure of that, Cavell said. The county provides regular training for teachers using the Michigan Model.

Township budget reviewer rips process

By MIKE TYREE

At least one member of the township budget review committee is not happy with the current review pro-- and he's not afraid to speak his mind.

"I think it stinks," committee member Wes Henrikson said Friday. We've got a young fellow in a new position that's not really prepared. "The meetings just haven't run like last year," he said.

Dwayne Harrigan earlier this year replaced James Graham as township finance director, and Henrikson, a township resident who owns Henrikson Insurance Agency, said that move, coupled with what he called department head "wish lists," has hampered the review process.

Henrikson said he is "not impressed" with this year's budget plan and said the so-called wish lists have him scratching my head.

"It just doesn't make sense," he

Henrikson said many of the department heads who appeared before the budget committee were not prepared to discuss details of their budget, but he also is concerned about expenditures for township employees.

"They're spending $650,000 this year on fringes," he said. "Last year fringes were $495,000.

"There's no rhyme or reason for some of this," he said.

Henrikson said the township must adopt sound business practices if it hopes to survive tough economic

"in my office, if things have to get cut, we cut," he said. "We get it done and resolve it. That attitude is lacking (in the township)."

Henrikson's flery words are sure to ruffle some feathers in township hall, but he said he won't owe any apologies.

"I wear my colors on my shoulder," he said.

township Supervisor Betty Lennox. "I suppose everyone see this differently, she said.

Lennox said Harrigan was "thrown into many projects" and "will be a good finance director when he has time to get up to speed."

Lennox also disputed Henrikson's claim that department heads have not done their homework prior to review committee meetings.

"I think they've done a good job," she said.

Lennox seemed undaunted by Henrikson's claims. "It's good to have everybody's input," she said.

The budget review committee consists of seven township officials and residents. Their challenge is to recommend cuts to the township board prior to the board's adoption of the 1992 township budget.

LARCENY AT MEIJER: A 15-year-old Detroit boy was charged with larceny after his arrest at Meijer, 20401 Haggerty, Sept. 30. Police said the boy attempted to steal a video game valued at $149.99.

MENTAL PATIENT ATTEMPTS TO BURN STORE: A teenage walkaway from the Hawthorn Center. 18471 Haggerty, reportedly attempted to burn the Meiler store at 20401 Haggerty at 11:20 a.m. Oct. 1.

Township police said the 14-yearold youth, a mental patient at the Hawthorn Center, took off his shoes and shirt and attempted to start a fire at one of the store's exterior walls. The suspect reportedly said he wanted to burn down Meijer and kill people," according to police records.

A 10-foot grassy area next to a brick wall was burned, but police said the incident caused no further

MAN ARRESTED ON THEFT CHARGE: A 27-year-old Detroit man was arrested after he attempted to steal two pairs of shoes from Meijer Oct. 2, township police said.

A computer check revealed that the man was wanted by the 18th District Court in Westland on a failure to appear warrant. The man posted $100 bond and was turned over to Westland police.

Board transcripts focus on supervisor selection

SUPERVISOR APPLICANT TOM WATKINS: Again, thank you for the opportunity to be here and I ask this more as a citizen watching the process...it was stated tonight that the township treasurer . . . legally has to vote or should vote . . . the treasurer stated that she would participate in reviewing the candidate's qualifications, listening to the interviews, and then if she felt that she was the best candidate, render a decision.

The process that was used tonight . . was to select straws (for the interview order). By that happening, the treasurer ended up not hearing the candidates' interviews. So I question

. . how she could make an informed decision on whether or not she could consider herself the best candidate, even though she's had the benefit, I assume, of reviewing our resumes, but not having the benefit of ... hearing our responses to the

I pose that as a question; it may be a moot one, but one that I feel, as I sit here, that it would not be fair as a citizen of this township not to raise before the body makes its decision.

COOK: Before we started the meeting, Betty (Lennox) didn't know how, the fact that everybody was going to draw straws, so I'll ask her to answer the question on how she feels she would vote, or how she could vote and not sit here and listen. I think it's a fair question.

LENNOX: Even though the attorney (Ernest Essad) said I could not abstain, I would like to have you let me withdraw from voting because 1 did not hear the other interviews.

COOK: Can't let you withdraw because . . . Oh, we've got Mr. Attorney (Essad in the audience).

ESSAD: Let me qualify if I could. The opinion says that unless you have a unanimous consent of the board to not vote, you must vote. But you also must have a valid reason for not voting. You just cannot duck a controversial issue . . . by getting everybody on the board to say you don't have to vote.

In this particular instance, I think if you want to excuse Mrs. Lennox from voting, you have pretty much a valid reason . . . if you have an official who was absent from the interviews and are asked to vote on those particular individuals, I think that may be a proper reason. I think that's pretty much in the discretion of the board whether or not that qualifies as a proper reason . . .

LENNOX: May I say that I've been criticized by the press for not being fair, so I, from that standpoint, I would like to have the board let me

WILLIAMS: There has to be a motion on the board made to that.

"Well, I thought we were going to have this meeting next Monday. And that was my knowledge as given to me."

> Tom Watkins Township Supervisor Candidate

"I'd like to make a motion we make a decision this evening, on a new supervisor of Northville Township. And since we have all the members here that are currently elected people."

"... The candidates, as I know them, and I don't know Mr. Watson (Watkins), are all qualified people and probably would do an excellent job for the township. I feel I have the most background in James Nowka government that I could Township Trustee bring to this board."

interviewed all the candidates, and I think we've done a good job of that. I

tion with the refinancing that I was here on last week. We have suddenly received this artificial deadline to do the transaction by Oct. 1 because due to state budgetary cutbacks, basically the Department of Treasury of the state of Michigan is closing down. So we need to get documents in there by Oct. 1 to try to get some kind of approval out of them, even if it's a preliminary approval . . . We don't get in by Oct. I, we don't know who's going to be left up there to approve the documents at Treasury, and in addition to that, we understand there's about 20 school bond transactions that are going to jam Treasury right after the elections next week .

NOWKA: Is this a responsibility. only the supervisor has?

ESSAD: No. But at this point there is an alternate to WTUA (Lennox previously had been appointed to. replace Goss on the WIUA board), coming to the meetings and sitting in, in effect, representing, I guess, the; board, to the extent that an alternate can, but without being involved invirtually all the aspects and being brought up to speed. So you're losing some effectiveness there. Can we muddle along? You might muddle along, but we are talking about a netsavings in excess of $10 million as to that transaction, 30 percent of which belongs to Northville. But I'll leave it NOWEA: Could I request a call to: question on the second motion that excuses Mrs. Lennox from this particular voting procedure?

WILLIAMS: Who seconded it?

ALLEN: I did.

COOK: Jim Nowka?

NOWKA: Yes.

COOK: Don Williams?

WILLIAMS: What was the question?

COOK: Whether or not we excuse Betty from voting.

WILLIAMS: No. I would say no, legally. (Handyside, Allen and Cook follow with yes votes. Lennox did not

ALLEN: It has to be unanimous, doesn't it?

ESSAD: State law requires unanimous consent.

NOWKA: Well, we've made our decision and we've not made another decision, and I'd like to make a motion if I can. And we have, as I've indicated, some fine candidates, NOWKA: Well, you know, I, I'm going to honor Betty's wishes and I will make a motion that we provide Mrs. Lennox with the opportunity not to vote on this issue.

TRUSTEE RICHARD ALLEN: I'll support it for discussion purposes. Originally, we had set up that we were going to hold interviews tonight. with a back-up for Wednesday night and the vote on Thursday night. I understand Mr. Nowka has a business conflict with regard for Thursday night. What about Wednesday night? Are you going to be in town or out of town?

(Nowka said he would not be in town. Allen continued:) What was lurking in the back of my mind was if Mrs. Lennox chooses to vote, it would give her an opportunity to sit down and listen to the tapes. But if you're not going to be here, the issue still remains . .

NOWKA: You know, I would prefer to be here, because I always prefer to be at meetings, and I don't like to miss them. And if it can be handled Monday, or Saturday, or Sunday, that would be fine. But I think that, you know, I feel comfortable in honoring Mrs. Lennox's request here. Things will go as they will go.

WILLIAMS: Well, I thought we were going to have this meeting next Monday. And that was my knowledge as given to me.

NOWKA: But I'll call the question, unless, excuse me. . . .

HANDYSIDE: I guess, before we call the question, we've got to figure out which question we're calling . . . I haven't said publicly, but I'll say it now: I think we've got some extremely good candidates. I was very impressed tonight, more so than I thought I was going to be.

On the other hand, I also think it's proper for Mrs. Lennox to abstain from voting . . . purely from the standpoint that if she's going to be elected by her peers, I think she will be. And if she isn't, then her peers will have chosen for other reasons. So her vote, I don't think, should impact our decision tonight.

NOWKA: I'd like to call the question.

HANDYSIDE: Now which are you calling questions for? You have two motions on the floor.

NOWKA: No, there's only one motion on the floor.

HANDYSIDE: No. there's two.

COOK: He (Nowka) made one motion and then he made another

HANDYSIDE: The first motion was moved and seconded was to vote tonight. The next one that came along, before we voted on that was to allow Betty to abstain.

NOWKA: Well, I'd like to call the question on the first motion.

HANDYSIDE: Since we've screwed up Roberts Rules of Order, what difference does it make?

COOK: I think that's the one . . . Mike (Record reporter Mike Tyree), you had a question?

TYREE: Today's agenda says "Interview supervisor candidates." It doesn't say anything about the selection process. The public has been informed . . . that there was going to be a meeting Thursday night to select that candidate. Now, if the public is not allowed to come Thursday to make comments or see the selection process, then the public process has been circumvented.

COOK: How much of the public came tonight?

TYREE: It doesn't matter. It doesn't matter. It wasn't on the

Board changed plans and appointed Lennox

think that my motion's going to be based upon the fact that we have a person that has had experience on the board, that has been involved with a program, the manager (selection) program, that should work . . . we have a person that's run for office, which is a major issue.

And she's run for office several times, and I think we have a person that's familiar with the financial aspects, which I consider probably is more critical . . . to this township than the other things . . . we certainly need financial people in good

I believe that Betty, while softspoken, she'll work well with the board and it's part of our responsibility to . . . do these things that are going to strengthen the board of trustees. Therefore, I'd like to . . . nominate and make a motion that Betty Lennox be chosen as our supervisor for the remainder of Georgina Goss' term. [Motion supported by

ALLEN: From reading Roberts Rules of Order the other day . . . It was my understanding . . . that any number of people may be nominated, but the vote is taken in the order they're nominated until the person achieves enough votes to pass. Until the nominations are closed, any others are in order. Correct?

NOWKA: I have no way to dispute

it, and the attorney's shaking his head in the right direction . . .

COOK: ... What you're doing then is a nomination, right, Jim? ALLEN: I'dlike to support a name for nomination. I personally feel one of the weak points in the current administration is communication. I'm a very strong supporter of participatory management. Ive heard some management tonight . . . I feel that decision? the person that holds the job does not have to be an expert in all areas. You've got department heads . . . closed. they should rely on those department heads . . . I believe we have a communication problem internally . . . another weak link is we have to keep our residents informed... I think we all agree we need to improve public communication . . . I would like to place in nomination Karen Baja.

HANDYSIDE: I would like to echo some of the same comments Mr. communications, a little different nomination was for Betty Lennox. I'll structure, certainly getting com-munity involvement enhanced, maybe a new look, a new feel for the township - and that certainly is not a reflection on Mrs. Lennox, because I don't view this as her administration - and for many of the same reasons that Mr. Allen alluded to, I would like to place Maureen Osiecki's name in nomination for supervisor.

NOWKA: ... we've really had a good group of people, and I think the process is worthwhile, to have people expose themselves as being interested in the community. Basically it's a good process.

Homecoming wrapped in world of fairy tales

It will be a world of fairy tales this weekend at Northville High School's homecoming.

Floats decorated in the theme of fairy tales will parade the streets of Northville Friday at 6:15 p.m.

Parade participants leave from the Northville Recreation Center on Main Street heading east to Center Street. From there the parade route heads north to Eight Mile Road. Marchers end their trek at the high school football field in plenty of time for an even-ing football game.

The Northville Mustangs kick off at 7:30 p.m. against the Farmington Harrison Hawks in the homecoming

Saturday, some students will attend a homecoming dance in the high school cafeteria from 8:30-11

Student publicity chair Roopal Vashi said a trend has developed this year for freshmen to attend the dance in groups rather than as couples.

Activities leading up to Friday and Saturday's finale include the crowning of the king and queen at a Friday pep assembly.

The court was chosen by nominations and voting and expected to be announced at a varsity girls basketball tonight at 7:30 p.m.

Spirit week was held this week to prepare students for the football and Amy Stringer.

game. Spirited students wore every-thing from pajamas to orange and black clothing to show their support. to their school.

The week's activities were organ-. ized by the Student Congress with President Beth Cannizzaro, Vice President Tim Duff, Secretary Joe Kontuly, Treasurer Tracy Jambor and historian Robyn Davis leading the group.

Other students involved in planning include Liz Matela, Scott Lloyd, Ryan Robison, Matt Maliscewski, Parag Parikh, Katy Murphy, Robyn Davis, Laura White, Roopal Vashi

"We just recently did a traffic count again at Seven Mile. While traffic's increased, it's not near enough to warrant the need for a traffic signal . . . I think we have a warrant for around one or two hours a day, and we need a minimum of eight."

He said the new traffic light at Beck and Eight Mile will be maintained by the Oakland County Road Commission.

Officials there did not respond to a request for information by press time Tuesday.

Oakland County is paying 50 pecent of the traffic light's $15,000 cost.

with Wayne County paying 25 per-cent and the cities of Northville and Novi splitting the remaining 25 percent.

The Northville City Council authorized payment of the city's $1,875 share last month. Council Member Paul Folino had noted that traitic heading north on Beck now backs up 'as far as you can see" from the previ-

But Lennox did not express an opinion about the process to find her replacement.

"I think I will do whatever the board wants me to do," she said. "They (the three former candidates) did go through the election."

Lennox nipped Engelland in the vote counts in 1990. Butterfield finished third, and Hosmer was a distant fourth.

Despite his narrow loss to Lennox in 1990, Engelland is not considered a shoe-in as the new treasurer, Lennox said.

"I wouldn't think so," she said, adding that Engelland may not be the "most qualified" in the board's view. Hosmer is the likely choice to fill the slot. Lennox appointed him to the deputy treasurer's position last year, and Trustee James Nowka in August pushed for Hosmer to be appointed to the township budget review committee.

Lennox would not say if Hosmer was the board's choice.

"We want someone to help us out," she said.

The item is on the township board's Oct. 10 agenda, and will be discussed. The item is identified only as "Treasurer selection/ appointment."

The township board is scheduled to meet at 7:30 p.m. in the meeting room at 41600 Six Mile Road.

Business committee seeks documents

staff feels that providing this information will help to dispel any concerns the Committee has regarding any of the finances of the City," the report read.

"Ihave a problem with your recommendation of providing this information to them at no cost," Council Member Carolann Ayers told Word. "I certainly want to commend this group for their interest and dedication... however, I do think it goes farther than we anticipated. The request does."

Ayers noted that the committee had already been sent eight copies of the city's budget and supporting documents for free, while Novi officials charge $8 for a copy of their budget and residents of Plymouth have to reproduce the budget, available at their library, at their own expense.

"I think they have to realize that this is a costly request," Ayers said. "If other groups such as homeowner's groups had wanted this information, they'd have been paying for it."

She added, "These things are not necessarily that simple to find or even copy. I'm sorry, I just think it's too much material to be given free, with other taxpayers' money being used."

Council Member Dewey Gardner agreed, and added that the committee was asking for information that had already been publicized. This is public information, has been public information, and has been available to anybody for years, he said. I don't know what they're looking for; that's what audits are for."

Ayers moved and the council agreed by a 4-0 vote to charge the committee 10 cents a page for copies, and charge for the staff time needed to find and assemble the documents, at the lowest paid clerical worker's rate. (Council Member Paul Folino did not attend the meeting.)

The council also asked Word to review the city's policy on charging the public for copies of documents.

The ad hoc committee formed after an Aug. I meeting called by Word to brief downtown business people on the interim refuse charges passed by the city council July I. The new charges began appearing on Aug. I water and sewer bills. About 30 downtown business owners turned out for the meeting, which turned into a heated duscussion on city flnances between the owners and city officials.

Under the new refuse rate schedule, residents pay $16.30 a month every two months for refuse collection, and commercial clients outside the downtown area are charged $35.06 or $57.46 for each time their rolloff containers are emptied, depending on the size of the container. About 50 commercial property owners in the downtown area who share dumpster service are being charged a total of $3.447 a month, divided, among the owners according to their property values.

The fees are part of an interim plan to switch from a millage-based to a fee-based refuse system, and to pay for refuse service until a new curbside refuse/recycling service begins later this year.

City wonders about group's request

By STEVE KELLMAN

Assessor Mark Christiansen plans to put in a call to members of an ad hoc committee reviewing the city's finances, to find out if they know what they are asking for.

"I'm not sure they know the volume of paperwork they've requested, and frankly. I don't feel that the information they're requesting could help them find out what they want to find out," he said. "I'm going to suggest that they look at the information, but t'ey send someone here to do it."

Christiansen was referring to a request for an estimated 4,000 city documents concerning trash collection and street paving. The request, made by the members of an ad hoc committee of Northville business people, could cost the committee $1,000 in copying and staff time under a motion passed by the city council Monday night.

the city council Monday night. Christiansen, who has already begun assem-constantsen, who has already begin assembling the materials, attempted to show the council how many documents are involved in the eightitem request. "The first four items are a stack of paper this high," he said, and held his hand several inches off the table.

But he told the council that the final item represents by far the largest share of the request. "The eighth one, five years of history on street paving, would probably fill up a file cabinet drawer," he said.

Christiansen estimated that, along with $400 in copying costs at 10 cents a page, fulfilling the entire request could run up an additional $500-$600 in staff costs.

He said he would phone committee member

Chuck Keys to explain the city's position and suggest alternatives to copying the documents.

"I'm going to ask him if he wants the information in some other fashion," the assessor said.

"We've got other information and data that we can give them that summarizes these documents, including the city audits," he said. "The audit has in fact done what they're seeking to do. That's what an audit's all about."

Christiansen insisted that the city's aim was not to thwart the committee's efforts to review the

Christiansen insisted that the city's aim was not to thwart the committee's efforts to review the city's finances, just to avoid an unreasonable demand on the city.

"If they send a couple of committee members here, we can show them the drawers and say, There's the information. Please keep it in order and go through it to your heart's content."

Mill Race Matters

Fall workshops began this week at Mill Race Village, but there is still time to sign up for some of the later ones. Classes yet to be offered include: Children's Saturday morning sessions on marbles, pottery, and working with wool; adult weekday morning classes on candlemaking, and evening classes on spinning, cross-stitch, hearth cooking, herbal remedies, crazy quilt pillows and gingerbread house making. If you wish to register or would like more information contact our office at 348-1845, Monday, Wednesday or Friday from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m.

November membership programing includes the annual Christmas walk. Last week's Mill Race Matters incorrectly listed the dates. The walk will take place on Saturday, Nov. 16 and Sunday, Nov. 17. This author apologizes for any inconvenience that last week's error may have caused.

We are also planning an afternoon tea dance on Sunday, Nov. 24. Glen Morningstar will lead us in contra dances of the Victorian era. Costumes are welcome, but not mandatory. The dance will begin at 1:30 p.m. and conclude at 4:30 p.m. We will have a short intermission to partake of light refreshment. The entire afternoon will cost $12 a couple. Invitations will be mailed soon to all Northville Historical Society members, but outsiders are welcome as well. We will, however, have limited space so you may wish to get your name on the mailing list to receive an invitation. The November board meeting will be Thursday, Nov. 21. The society board meetings on the third Thursday of each month. Members are always welcome to attend. November will also see the end of our Sunday afternoon season, but special tours can still be arranged through the office and elementary school programing will be continuing during the month.

Learning culture a trick of exchange

By SUZANNE HOLLYER Staff Writer

They're from different parts of the world, but three foreign exchange students at Northville High School agree on one thing.

Manners are just not as important to Americans as they are to the rest of the world.

But when a Northville High School student puts his or her elbows on the lunch table, the exchange students don't mind. Learning about another culture is why they're here.
"It's culture. It's just different," said German exchange student Torsten von Kamp. Brazilian Sabine Schmitt doesn't mind seeing elbows on the table. But she can't believe anyone would eat pizza with his or her hands. You cut pizza. It tastes better,"

she said. Food also has been an issue for Olga Lopez, an exchange student from Spain.

She had a little trouble getting used to the hours for lunch and The Spanish eat their biggest meal in the afternoon. And people in her country cook more. Lopez has noticed Americans tend to heat up their frozen meals in microwaves. But von Kamp loves American food, especially the fast food. McDonald's has found its way to Germany, he said, but the selection is better here. He especially likes Taco Bell. Schmitt noticed Americans are more difficult to engage in a friendship than Brazilians.

it's very hard to have a best friend here," she said. But Schmitt jumped with both feet into American culture. Spirit week activities at the high school included a pajama day. So, she donned her slippers and robe for school Monday. "I will never get to do this again."

Lopez said she was "too shy" to dress up for spirit week. And von Kamp found himself a bit too cynical. "For me, it's ridiculous to wear pajamas to school," he said. On a more serious note, the three students agree that alcohol consumption is greater in countries that prohibit sales to minors.

In Germany and Brazil, the drinking age is 16. But in Spain, teenagers cannot consume alcohol.

In my country, many people drink too much because it's not allowed,"

Lopez said. Lopez, von Kamp and Schmitt are in Michigan for the entire school year as part of a Rotary Club exchange Alcohol consumption is not an issue for them while here. Rotary prohibits them from drinking, driving or having romantic relationships, Schmitt said.

As part of the exchange, Schmitt has prepared a slide show about Brazil. She is looking for community groups interested in learning a little about her South American home. Schmitt can be reached at 349-3348.

Michigan may not be as warm as Brazil, but Schmitt is as happy here as she would be anywhere.

"All the United States was my choice," she said.

Von Kamp also is happy to be here. His favorite thing about this country is the girls, he said.

Lopez also likes Michigan. She has relatives living in Northville. But her favorite thing about America is Disney World.

Girl reports abduction attempt

Northville Township police said a white male in his mid-40s reportedly grabbed the 16-year-old girl while she stood next to a set of pay tele-phones in the Mobil Gas parking lot at 39425 Six Mile Road at 7:30 p.m.

Police said the man attempted to force the girl into a "newer model"

RECORD PMON

Our Opinion

Public presence could impact treasurer pick

Fresh from public castigation over its flawed supervisor selection process, the township board this evening may choose to appoint a treasurer and round out its seven-member governing body.

An appointment this evening would be a mistake. But the board's record clearly indicates that public sentiment and due process aren't a hinderance when it comes to such decisions.

On Sept. 23, the board met in special session to interview — and interview only — four candidates for the township supervisor position vacated by Georgina Goss. The board surprised everyone by junking its stated public process that evening, however, and picked Treasurer Betty Lennox as the new supervisor. A publicly advertised supervisor selection meeting scheduled for Sept. 26 was out the window, faster than a politican's promise.

Now the board must find a replacement for Lennox. The treasurer's job is a part-time post, with a $9,000 annual stipend. But the major attraction is that it is a voting position on the township board. That issue alone demands a talent search and candidate scrutiny.

Some members of the board apparently want to forego an application and interview process, though. A segment of the board, Lennox said, would like to plunk someone in the position as soon as possible, while other members favor a township-wide search and interviews.

Lennox, the new top decision-maker, says she'll go along with whatever the board desires. For now, the township has decided simply to contact three challengers for the treasurer's special election held in 1990. One of those three could be selected to fill (the board seat this evening of

That selection could be made without affording all township residents the opportunity to apply and interview for an important township post. We think that

Lennox herself was the beneficiary of such an interview process when she was appointed treasurer in 1989. A dozen other township residents were interested in the job, and there is no reason to believe that just as many would not come forward again.

Some on the board don't see things that way. However, an attempt to select from the three 1990 candidates may put the board in a bind.

Citizens for a Better Northville member Rick Engelland finished a close second to Lennox in 1990. Engelland, in fact, won most of the precincts in that race, but his ties to CBN - often outspoken critics of the board — have been seen to prompt feelings of fear and loathing from most township elected officials.

William Butterfield firished third in the 1990 election, but the person to watch is Jack Hosmer. Hosmer finished a distant fourth in the treasurer vote, but shortly thereafter was tabbed by Lennox to be deputy treasurer. He will likely receive support from some board members to be the new treasurer.

We have several major suggestions concerning the treasurer pick. First, the board should head off any attempt by individual members to hurry up the process tonight. Secondly, the board should stick to precendent by advertising the position and scheduling interviews.

Additionally, Lennox should scrap her weather vane approach and insist on open and fair interviews.

Most importantly, township residents should attend tonight's meeting and demand that the board at least attempt a public process. Residents - voters need to make an appearance to force the board's hand. We've seen what has happened when attendance is sparse.

Two roads converge at dangerous crossing

The financial agreement was made, the individual city councils gave their stamps of approval, and now even the light itself is in place.

We're referring, of course, to the traffic signal at Beck and Eight Mile Road, that near-mythical beast that county officials swear will be appearing at the intersection anytime soon.

To update our readers, local officials had clamored for some time for a traffic light at Beck and Eight. The recent repaving of Beck south of Eight Mile only heightened local concerns that the intersection would become even more dangerous as more commuters used the route as a way to and from M-14.

Those fears seem justified in light of the number of recent accidents at and around the intersection.

Yet it took two months to get a light at the intersection, and traffic backed up by dozens of cars at the previous stop signs on Beck. Frustrated drivers reportedly took dangerous risks and tried to race across the intersection, resulting in accidents and frequent near-misses.

We question why the respective counties, Wayne and Oakland, could not have better coordinated the reopening of Beck Road and the installation of the muchneeded traffic signal at Eight Mile.

With a light finally in place, we can do little more than be thankful that it arrived in time to prevent a serious tragedy, and hope that future road projects are better coordinated to immediately address any expected increases in

Hurons flap is just baffling

Eastern Michigan University's continuing flap over the "Hurons" continues to baffle me.

The Huron Indians aren't worth arguing about.

Self-anointed spokesmen for America's pre-white inhabitants say naming a team for one of their tribes is denigrating.

Alumni say it's a compliment because the name suggests athletic virtues.

The alumni are wrong about the virtues of the Hurons. EMU, now at 0-5 in football this season, was wise to adopt a

The Hurons didn't live around Ypsilanti or anywhere in Michigan. They farmed the lands of Ontario between Georgian Bay and Toronto.

They were a big tribe. French missionaries put their numbers at 30,000, but other articles say 50,000. Contrast that to the 5,000 to 15,000 of the Chippewas, Ottawas and Pottawatemies who lived in Michigan.

The French couldn't deal with the sierce Iroquois who lived in upstate New York and blocked the St. Lawrence River route. So their fur traders took the northern river route from Quebec to the upper Great Lakes through Huron territory.

The Jesuits and other missionaries thought the Hurons were good pickin's for baptism and worked diligently at it for a few decades.

By most accounts, the Hurons were peaceful agrarians.

Oh, they would roast and torture their enemies — the way their enemies roasted and tortured them. And James Fenimore Cooper made the Huron chief, Magua, the villain of The Last of the Mohicans."

But we're speaking comparatively here.

The Hurons had a falling out with the Iroquois confederation, by all accounts the fiercest group east of the Mississippi. Supplied by the Dutch with guns and gunpowder, as well as other implements of war, the Iroquois suddenly descended upon Huronia in 1642. They slaughtered the entire population of the first town they attacked," says Willis F. Dunbar's history of Michigan.

The surprise attacks continued for several years. Disease also took its toll. Wrote Fred Landon in "Lake Huron:"

The Iroquois raids of 1649 ended the Huron as a nation. Fifteen villages had been burned and their inhabitants massacred or scattered. Terrified groups sought refuge with the Petuns or with other tribes to the north and west.

One measure of the disaster comes from the chauvinistic French: Eight of their martyred missionaries were canonized. Remnants of the Huron tribe took refuge on Christian Island in the Manitoulin chain, but half perished in the winter of 1650. Some of the survivors were resettled on the Isle of Orleans near Quebec. Others dnsted to the western lakes and the Mississippi country, where they apparently were assimilated. Says Landon: "The Huron as a nation were no more." Why, then, name a university football team for a Canadian tribe that was exterminated 340 years ago? Why name a team for a tribe that was never a powerhouse

Township trustee defends choice

As your readers have noticed, I have provided the theme for several recent editorials in the newspaper. It is appropriate now for the "condemned and shamed to come forward and offer accurate perspective.

The choosing of an interim Township Supervisor for the balance of Georgina Goss's term was an important decision and not taken lightly. Only one candidate was not known to the members of the Board of Trustrees. They all were regarded highly for known contributions to the township and to the community. There also were many known citizens who identified themselves in support of individual candidates.

The final candidate was well known for experience in politics. more specifically, as a formerly important member of the Blanchard administration.

The Board of Trustees, by a split vote, selected Betty Lennox as the interim Township Supervisor. I identified her as the most qualified to fill that position and found no reason to change that viewpoint. At this time, the Township faces certain financial concerns in several areas and an effort to maintain and strengthen financial skills on the Board is important. An abiding goal of this Township has been to provide quality services for maximum public benefit with the smallest possible portion of the total tax contribution.

I understand my responsibility as a Northville Township Trustee and supported the candidate who provided the best potential at this

No one should be upset that Betty Lennox, being required to vote on the interim Supervisor. voted for herself. Anyone in this same position would do the same

At the Sept. 23 Supervisor interviews beyond those involved, I identified only two Township residents in the audience who came there clearly to learn about the candidates and observe this process. This was a disappointment. I do share the Record's concern, however, about the number of Township meetings considered to make the selection since the candidates were familiar to the Board and few candidates were involved.

The Northville Record is very concerned about my expressing my opinion at our Sept. 23 Board Meeting on transparent politics of the newspaper. Being the sole source of local communication, there is a responsibility to politicize more subtly.

I should point to the things that have bothered me specifically:

1. The newspaper "news" article comments about "done deals" and automatic "old boy" decisions, stirred me most. This challenges the Board's integrity. The word crasting and timing reflected to me an effort to manipulate members of the Board against one specific candidate. Betty Lennox Later the newspaper appeared to confirm that Betty Lennox was not their chosen candidate.

2. In my view, political opinion leaks over news reporting where facts should dominate.

3. Unfortunately, I have felt the newspaper maintains a simple "missionary" outlook toward the Township government.

The newspaper has a significant role and the right to editorialize the opinions they wish. The Record should also accept one who takes exception and violates their opinions when necessary. I am not comfortable with the sometime heard comment about editorials that "it's just The Record." I respect the people of The Record and possess only good will for them. I choose not to be lukewarm on this issue. J. L. Nowka

More candidates needed in city

It's election time again in the City of Northville!

It was encouraging to learn that Carolann Ayers has chosen to serve for another four years because she has certainly been a dedicated unbiased member of City Council who very objectively and effectively represents all of the citizens of the City.

elections that occured during my 16 years in elective office in Northville, many of the positive things accomplished during those years also came to mind, including a number of major projects initiated during my years as Mayor that have become reality since my retirement nearly four years ago and others that are now nearing

The editorial in a recent issue of the Record observed that just because there are no contesting condidates in the upcoming election doesn't mean that there is unified satisfaction with the performance of the incumbents. That observation is supported by the unrest and criticism of City Hall, both within and outside of the City, that is not always obvious to City Council members bacause it surfaces up and down the street; in barber shops and beauty salons; when neighbors get together in the backyard; at the club meetings; at other places where people gather and talk; when special interest groups use the media to promote their causes; but seldom at City Council

Competition for public office is healthy because it discourages complacency by stimulating positive activity and strong but harmonious leadership which is essential if the progress is to be orderly and the inevitable growth is to be controlled. I am disappointed that there are no challengers this year because the City is at a crossroad and there are many within the City who would be well qualified to help chart the future of the City of Northville, which will also have an community.

It is probably too late for any of those people to step forward this year but we should all hope they will consider themselves potential candidates in 1993 and begin preparing now by taking a more active role in the affairs of the City we all

Privacy issues important in home

A common complaint that I hear from parents is that their children's rooms are a mess and they don't know how to get the kids to clean up. On the other hand, the kids complain that their parents are always harping at them to clean up their rooms. The kids feel that their space is theirs

Skills profiles sidestep politicking

Education was the big news story last week.

"Trends in Academic Progress." a national report card tracking performance in America's schools, found that our children had struggled back to the achievement levels of students in the 1970s.

Today's children seem to know about as much math and about as much science and read about as well as their parents did at that age 20 years ago." said Education Secretary Lamar Alexander. "That's not nearly good enough

Another report reviewed the famous six education goals set at last year's summit confer-'ence between President Bush and all the governors. Some goals seemed so far from attainment as to invite laughter.

: Fewer than one student in five met the new national standards for math achievement.

We're going to wind up, I'm afraid, with discouraging reports throughout the 1990s unless we come up with a national strategy," said Ernest Boyer, the widely respected president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

He's right. There's no evidence that the political will exists to do anything either national or Set a national curriculum with standardized examinations? No way. The White House is terrified of being accused of "eroding local control." And most folks figure that anything Congress messes with is badly thought through and self-serving.

Make sure all preschool age kids have a couple years of school before they enter kindergarten? Absolutely not. Costs too much money.

Pay teachers the professional salaries they deserve and demand professional accountability for results? Forget it. The conservatives won't pay the money and the liberals are scared of holding anybody individually accountable for anything.

I suspect if there will be any real improvement in our kids education and, therefore, in our international competitiveness, it will have to come in dribs and drabs at the local level. Fortunately, there's some good news on that front here in Michigan. In addition to getting their regular report card marks, our kids soon will be receiving reports on their "employability skills profile."

"It's a profile that you're supposed to use throughout high school and onto what you do next in life, whether that's further education or to go out and get a job," said Patrick Donahue, an assistant superintendent of Huron Valley

(Milford) Schools and a member of an advisory group to the State Board of Education.

The portfolio can contain records of standard aptitude tests, career interest, vocationaltechnical training, job experience, problem solving and non-academic awards — anything to document work-related skills of a student.

Employability skills will require the kind of linkage between the business world and the schools that has not existed in years. I remember drawing a lot of raised eyebrows some years ago when I suggested that the folks who ran our schools ought to go ask the business community just what kind of skills they needed.

And Dorothy Beardmore, the sensible Rochester woman who is president of the State Board of Education, took up the idea in 1988 and pushed it.

Last year, 23 portfolio pilots were run, none in communities served by this newspaper. This year there were 100 pilots. Next year all 10th graders will start them, followed by all ninth graders in 1993 and all eighth graders in 1994.

Are employability skills portfolios the answer for all of our education problems? No. But when you consider that most employers will hire the kid with a good portfolio, you realize that it is out of such small steps that real progress is

Speeding editor draws fire from Taft residents

I'm mad as heck and I'm not going to take it anymore, either.

caught in speeding on Taft Road for the third time in as many months, and he's mad! Too bad!

He is one of the people I curse at when I try to pull in or out of my driveway on Taft. He's the kind of guy who makes it dangerous for my for. children to ride bikes or walk on the shoulder of the road. Let them where they belong, on yourself. cross the street? Not without Mom or Dad.

Mike places blame on everyone and everything but himself. He forgets? After the first ticket, how can he forget? There are not enough signs? He writes that he knows where they all are. It doesn't feel like he's going too fast? 52 mph To the Editor: in a 35 mph zone!??!

This guy belongs in driving

He should know that Taft is not a "thoroughfare." Tast is a three and a half mile feeder road for the subdivision residents. It is a residential road, not a thoroughfare. I suggest three things for Mr. Mike Malott confesses to being Mallot and his kind on Taft or any other residential road: 1. SLOW DOWN. If you want to drive 50 plus, drive on the expressway.

2. Follow the posted speed limit signs. That's what they are there

3. Put the blame for your tickets

How many signs does he need?

It's too bad that Mike Malott is mad as heck about speeding tickets on Taft Road. I'm sorry that such a person writes for The Northville Record. After one ticket I believe even my teenage driving childreceive three speeding tickets must mean Mike either thinks he's above the law, can't read signs or is just plain ignorant.

Mike stated that Taft Road is not well marked. How many signs does he need? I drove the entire length of Tast Road in both directions. Between each mile road there are three 35 mph signs going north and south. Between Grand River and Ten Mile there are four each direction. That means a total of 20 signs on a three and a half mile stretch of road.

There are children crossing signs each way before each school except for Novi High which does sit well off Taft.

I have lived on Tast for 15 years; therefore, have driven on the road serveral times, (usually several times a day) and have never been stopped for a warning nor received a speeding ticket. There have been times when traffic has been behind ren would know to slow down. To me but never has anyone honked their hom. On occasion some have risked their lives, and others try to pass me.

> Mike never mentions in the article that there are private homes along Taft Road. How would he like me to drive past his home going 50 mph? I was against the paving of Taft several years ago because of speeders endangering the lives of children and the noise level it creates when cars go speeding by.

Get real. Mike - read signs and obey them. Don't blame the City Governments or Oakland County Road Commission for your mistakes. I thank the Northville and Novi police departments for their concern and effort to patrol the road. I only wish they could be there more often.

Find better topic to write about

To the Editor:

Mike Malott must have had a difficult time finding something to write about for the Oct. 3 Northville Record. His article, *Confessions of a Taft speeder" was totally inappropriate and set a terrible example for other drivers - especially younger ones.

Drivers that frequent Taft Road are aware that the speed limit is 35 mph for its entire length. That limit is especially appropriate in Northville due to high traffic volume, subdivision entrances and school zones. (And the signage is more than adequate.)

Anyone that has had two speeding tickets in the same area should finally be aware of the speed limit (unless he is brain dead). If he is not attentive enough to watch his speed, maybe he should not be driving. Seventeen mph over the limit is not a simple "I forgot," it's reckless driving. We do not need those people driving in Northville.

Next time, please try to find a more meaningful topic to write

In addition to her work at her cimic, she also teaches a class called "Self-hypnosis: How to take control of your life" at Schoolcraft College.

There are so many misconceptions," she said. "I've even had people say to me. I don't want to look in your eyes' because they think they will become hypnotized."

However, hypnosis is simply a state where the body and conscious mind are in a relaxed, natural state while the subconscious mind remains awake and receptive to posttive suggestion, Blyshak explained. It is not mind control, and the person being hypnotized is always in control. A person under hypnosis will never do anything he or she would not normally do.

"Hypnosis cannot make you do anything you do not have the want, desire and motivaion to do." she

Blyshak explained that the mind has two parts — subconscious and conscious — and hypnosis works with the subconscious.

The subconscious part of the mind works exactly like a computer," she said.

"It controls the physical body; it's where habits are formed; everything we don't think about is controlled by the subconscious mind." Blyshak said the subconscious intakes and records information through senses and life experiences. "Once it's programmed it's there for life, and the programming is reinforced by repetition."

Blyshak said the subconscious mind, unlike the conscious mind, is not affected by morals or religious beliefs, but simply works as a computer.

The goal in hypnosis is to work with the subconscious, to reprogram the subconscious mind." she said. The current theory is that 90 percent of the mind is unconscious. so the computer has a very strong impact on our behavior.

Blyshak explained that, when we are awake, the conscious mind is always elevated, while the subconscious keeps working at the same time, doing everything it's programmed to do.

The Northville Woman's Club began their 99th year in a fashionable way last Friday with their annual luncheon at Meadowbrook Country

Following the luncheon, the ladies enjoyed a fashion show featuring the Doncaster fall line.

The fashion show, narrated by Kathi Jerome, featured several local women in the rich colors and plaids that are "in" this fall.

The fashion show, which was presented in three parts - sporty, dressy, and dazzling - featured creative props such as shopping carts, card games and champagne.

Jerome said the Doncaster company began in 1931 marketing shirtwaists and today features classic designs and quality garments at a mid-to upper mid price range.

To demonstrate the longevity of the line, Jerome repeatedly used a 6-year-old purple vest that she said "just keeps going and going and going."

Church bell from Northville is home after 90 years

The waiting is over for Good Shepherd Evangeli-cal Lutheran Church in Novi. This Sunday has been set as the dedication date of the chapel at the corner of Nine Mile and Meadowbrook roads.

And the church is the new home for a bell that was manufactured in Northville back in the Vic-

'A friend of Good Shepherd Pastor Gene Jahnke had informed him that a little country church in Vining, Minn. had a recent auction sale of saleable properties. Alma Johnson, 90, of Vining purchased the church property and wanted the bell to go to another Lutheran church.

When Good Shepherd learned of the bell, members purchased it for $310. A friend of the Golisch family, members of Good Shepherd, picked up the bell and drove it to Novi.

It wasn't until after the arrival of the bell that church members discovered it was made in Northville around 1894.

The new 2,200-square foot chapel, originally scheduled for completion in October of 1989, was plagued with contractor problems that delayed its completion by nearly two years.

The original general contractor was fired in the summer of 1990, according to Gene E. Jahnke, pastor of the congregation. A new contractor was hired earlier this year. The congregation finally moved into the chapel Sept. 29

The chapel turned out beautifully," Jahnke said. "It was worth the wait. We're anydous to show it to the community."

The 4 p.m. dedication service will have as guest speaker Rev. Paul Kelm from Milwaukee, WI. Kelm has presented evangelism seminars at Good Shepherd during his years as administrator of evangelism of the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod. He has recently accepted the position of Administrator of Adult Discipleship for the Wisconsin Synod.

A dinner will be served following the 4 p.m. service. The community is warmly invited to attend both the service and the dinner as guests of the congregation. No reservationa are needed.

The 24-inch bell, which will ring at the beginning of each service, was forged at the America Bell Company in Northville (see related article). It spent the 90-plus years in the Minnesota church.

Almost a century later, the bell made its way back home, being used once again to call people to worship," Jahnke said.

Regular Sunday worship services at Good Shepherd are held at 8 a.m. and 10:30 p.m.

Bells from factory still ring all over

Bells from Northville, such as the one recently placed in Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Novi, have surfaced periodically throughout the years. Below is a condensed version of a Northville Record article by former editor Jack Hoffman. The article was originally printed on May 3, Bells made in Northville periodically surface around the world.

The bells, many of which are still ringing, were made at the longdefunct American Bell & Foundry

Company and its predecessor.

American Bell & Foundry Comparry was originated by Frank S. Harmon, a community leader and industrialist, in 1899. He was the firm's first president.

The company made bells of all sizes for churches, schools, farms and factories. Its most popular bell, however, was the dinner bell. At one time American Bell was reputed to be the largest manufacturer of bells in the world.

Actually, the bells were made in Northville even before the start of the American Bell & Foundry Company in 1899. Most evidence suggests casting of bells began about 1859 as part of the Globe Furniture Company's foundry plant.

What is known for sure is that bells were being made here in 1896 under the name American Bell Foundry — located among a complex of factory buildings at the east end of Cady Street.

The Globe operation, founded by C. G. Harrington in 1864, was incorporated as the Michigan School Furniture Company in 1873 and reincorporated as the Globe Manufacturing Company in 1877. President of the firm was Francis S. Beal. In 1892, the company employed 200 persons and was making more school and church furniture "than any other establish-ment in the world."

In April of 1899, the Globe was destroyed by fire whereupon Harmon, together with Charles Filkins and others, organized American Bell & Foundry Company.

On November 17, 1899, the Record carried this news story:

The first new stock company organized since the fire, and to take advantage of the subsequent bonus offering made by the Improvement Association, was that of the Ameriorganized Monday night with the following board of directors:

F.S. Harmon, Charles Filkins,

Lapham, R C. Yerks and James

The new company is to manufacture bells and do a general foundry and machine business.

The company has purchased the foundry buildings recently built by the Globe company toegether with the old bell patterns, good will, etc. and starts under exceedingly auspicious circumstances. "Officers are F. S. Harmon, president; Charles Filkins, vice-president; L. A. Beal, secretary; and E. H. Lapham, treasurer.*

American Bell's foundry was located on the south side of Cady Street, where the Foundry Flask & Equipment Company now stands.

By 1902, the company could not keep up with the demand for bells. Orders came from around the world, and the firm's 30 employees rarerly found a spare day for themselves.

But it is quite possible bell making had already ended when, in 1924, Harmon advised stockholders (who were making up to 30 percent interest on their investments) to sell. Har-mon, who was in ill health, wanted to get out of the business, which at that time was producing two brands of furnaces — the Bell and the Harmon.

With the sale in the spring of 1924 the company was reorganized under the name Bell Furnace & Foundry Company. The new organziation was financed largely by John E. Parker of Howell. Its president was L. J. Kay, while E. L. Smith was vice-president, R. P. Brown secretary and E. H. Lapham treasurer.

Parker died of measles within a month of assuming management of Bell Furnace.

After a series of other managers, Ambler took over management of the plant in 1925. Then in 1928, he purchased and operated it until the 1933 as the Ambler Foundry & Works. From 1933 until 1936, he served as manager of the Independent Furnace: Foundry plant that succeeded the Ambler Foundry.

The business purchased by Ambler included four and a half acres in the "factory district" and over an acre of floor space.

Charles Van Valkenburgh worked for the bell foundry for a half century, serving much of that time as the shop

By the time of Harmon's death in 1931, the company was engaged can Bell (&) Foundry Company entirely in making grey iron castings, warm air furnaces and sheet metal products. Between 1924 and 1931 non of the new stories about the fac-William Phillips, L. A. Beal, E. H. tory mentioned the casting of bells.

Northville home to friendly inns planes were able to wisk people quickly from one location to another, weary travellers stopped frequently at small village inns, conveniently located in most towns.

Northville was no exception. In the mid-1800s when stagecoach travel was the most common mode of transportation, Northville boasted a number of comfortable stopping points to aid the traveller.

Among the hotels in existence in the mid-19th Century was the Northville Hotel. Located on the northwest corner of Main and Hutton streets, where Heritage Federal Savings now stands, it had been owned as early as 1835 by Michael Thompson. His brothers William and Phineas later took over the running of the hotel. Northville pioneer David Clarkson wrote in his papers that, 'Phineas was a very popular landlord, social, genial, good-hearted, charitable, friendly, and liked by all. Every pioneer will remember him as Phim. Thompson."

The hotel was purchased by Charles Houkin the entire country about, and representatives 1869.

Another hotel of this era was the Ambler House. This hotel was the headquarters for the stage routes leading to Detroit. According to an early account in The Northville Record, This was the only means of communication then existing."

The Ambler House was built in 1858 by William Ambler. Located on the south-east corner of Main and Center streets, the Ambler House became a popular stagecoach stop. The Record explained, "In the early days Mrs. Ambler was well known throughout the country as the popular landlady of the Ambler House, and it may be truly said that much of the success of that place was due to her untiring efforts for the welfare of her guests."

After William Ambler's death, the Ambler House was sold to Jabin Elliot in 1869. What was then known as the Elliott House became the scene of a victorious feast when the railroad finally came through Northville four years later.

The Record looked forward to the event with eager anticipation. "The long looked-for iron Horse will make its appearance at our Depot. accompanied by a retinue of coaches," it wrote.

When the day arrived, the paper described the scene in excited detail. *. . . the people from from Pontiac, Clarkston, Milford, Lyon, Walled Lake, Detroit, Ypsilanti, Novi, Salem, and other places were making their appearance 'till our crowded streets assumned an aspect of seldom if ever witnessed in the history of our town."

The festivities ended with the Northville Cornet Band leading the honored railroad employees to a special supper held at the Elliott House.

By 1889 the Elliot House had changed names again and was now known as the Park House, having been purchased by O. Butler and his son. It was considered the leading hotel in town, noted for its fine cuisine and wellstocked bar.

more and was purchased by William Thurtle, a Bay City entrepreneur. A retired lumberman,: Thurtle had also purchased the Northville Opera House a month earlier.

In 1893 the hotel was put on the market once

When the telephone came to Northville, Thurtle's Park House was among the first to subscribe for the service in 1897. The Park House burned to the ground in December, 1929, but in its day it had truly been an outstanding hotel. An early promotional book, let on Northville called it "the best $2 per day house in Michigan."

'Night Watch' to kick off season

Schoolcraft College's 1991-1992 Theatre Season will open Oct. 25 at 8 p.m. with Lucille Fletcher's mystery Night Watch."

Night Watch is a suspense thriller about Elaine Wheeler, a woman troubled by unsettling memories and vague fears. Upon seeing for believing she sees) the dead body of a man in the window of an abandoned tenement across from her townhouse, she calls the police, but they find nothingbut an empty chair. Another incident occurs involving another dead body; this time a wonan's; the police turn skeptical.

After pleas to her husband and the police that her visions are real, they claim she's suffering a nervous breakdown. A woman psychiatrist is called in, and suggests that Elaine be committed to a Swill sanitarium for treatment. But the plot moves quickly, and other people become involved - Elaine's friend and house guest, Blanche; the sinister man who lives next door; the nosy German maid, Helga; and the plot thickens . . What will happen to Elaine next? The climax is chilling and unexpected. Dinner Theatres are Oct. 25 and 26; Nov. 1, 2, and 9. Dinner will be held at 6:30 p.m. in the Waterman Center. The menu includes: Tossed garden salad, rolls, Breast of Turkey Marsala, new potatoes with parsley, broccoli with lemon butter, and New York style cheese cake. None of them did it for the medallions that now hang on thick multi-colored ribbons around their necks.

None of them knew they would be appointed "Points of Light" by the White House and be honored by President George Bush at Walt Disney World on Sept. 30.

Tracy Koziara of South Lyon, for example. She went to Walt Disney World last week to be honored for her volunteer work.

I was there too - to celebrate Disney World's 20th anniversary. I spent a good part of the anniversary weekend running around the 43 square miles of Disney World looking for Tracy as well as other Michigan honorees like the Kerby sisters of Troy, Deborah Walker of the Chrysler Corporation and the Vounteers of the World of Work Program from Detroit.

Security around the presidential program was tight.
Only important people like Tracy could get past the Secret Service.

How does a 1982 graduate of South Lyon High School get to meet, and be honored by, the President of the United States?

Tracy worked for a home care agency after she graduated and went in disability in 1985 because of the severe rheumatoid arthritis that has affected her life for the last 20

Three years ago I got a 'call from Tom Evans, who was athletic director at South Lyon High School in 1982 and is now the assistant principal of Willow Run High School in Ypsilanti, Tracy said.

*He asked me to be a volunteer in a program he had started. It's called The Renaissance. It rewards students for getting better grades by earning them discounts from local businesses and restaurants."

Tracy does the paperwork, especially to alert students to the credit card system that is an intergral part of the 'program.

"If a student earns all A's during a six-week period, he gets a Gold Card. A's and B's will earn a Red Card. A's, B's and C's a White Card. If they have improved their grade point average significantly from the previous marking period they get a Renaissance

Tom Evans started writing letters to the White House long ago, but it was on May 15, 1991, that the White House called Tracy to tell her that she was chosen as the 456th Point of Light. She traveled to Walt Disney World for the ceremonies with her sister Kim. Both Kim and Tracy live with their parents, Nancy and Richard Koziara, in South Lyon.

Michael Eisner, Chief Executive Officer of the Walt Disney Co., is a founding member of the Points of Light Board of Directors. Delta Airlines flew all 574 honorees to Orlando, and Walt Disney World hosted them for the time of their lives.

What was the best part? "It was the first time that either my sister or I had traveled alone and we really liked that," Tracy said. "We sat three rows from the front of the stage so we were pretty close to President Bush.

I couldn't get anywhere near the ceremonies, but I watched them on television monitors in the China Pavilion at World Showcase in EPCOT.

I heard Michael Eisner say that people like Tracy Koziara were "perfect examples of the kinds of private deeds that

Fine plantations and the Old South The echos of antebellum times remain alive in Charleston

By IRIS SANDERSON JONES Travel Writer

Our carriage is moving with a rhythmic clop-clop down the brick streets of Charleston, South Carolina, pulled by mules called Katherine and Josephine. It is just the right pace to see a city laid-out three centuries ago on a narrow peninsula between two rivers.

Our guide, David, is talking about the families that came down the rivers every Sunday in the 18th century from their grand rice plantations.

They would go to church, visit friends and return home with the tides. We still have a church called the 'church of the tides.' His next line is a clue to the Charleston state of mind, then and now:

The Ashley and the Cooper rivers meet at Charleston to form the Atlantic Ocean."

They make a lot of jokes like that in southern life still draws the tourists

Charleston, whether you are buying rice spoons at Geo. C. Birlant and Co. on King Street or following a tour guide through the Edmonston-Alston House. "Charlestonians are like the ancient Chinese. They eat rice and worship their ancestors."

The economy of the great rice plantations had declined by 1840, killed by competition from the East Indies. but the incredibly luxurious social life of Charleston continued until the Civil War.

Charlestonions sat on the "piaz-zas" of their high, narrow "single houses" - one room wide and three rooms deep - and watched the Confederates fire the first shots of the Civil War on the federal troops at Fort Sumter, just offshore in Charleston

Most people see Charleston for the first time as I did - aboard a muledrawn carriage with a guide who tells the history of the city spiced with stories: This church has a cemetery on one side of the road where born-andbred Charlestonions were buried and a cemetery on the other side of the road for strangers.

Jackie Rogers of Howell has explored two travel areas for us: bed-and-breakfast on Mackinac Island and the riverboats of lowa:

Our whole family went to Mackinac Island and stayed at a bed-and-breakfast called 'Haan 1830.' We had a great time riding bicycles, walking and, of course,

"Haan 1830 is run by a couple from Chicago. It was abandoned for 11 years prior to them purchasing it. Most all the rooms are done with antiques, some have kitchens included. There is a big screened-in porch looking out over the lake. What a beautiful site.

Breakfast was served on a 15-foot walnut table (one piece, no leaves). We had coffee, cereal, bagels, coffee cakes, orange juice and milk. We had a delightful time and learned a lot about the natives who live on the island year-round. "I have also been to lowa twice this year and went gambling on the Mississippi river boats. Went out of Dubuque on the River Queen ($39.95) for a five-hour trip including a prime rib dinner.

The ship has four decks, two gambling decks with slots, black jack and craps, a lounge with entertainment and a dining room.

This ship can hold 3,000 passengers and goes to Galena, Illinois, and back on the Mississippi River. You are given coupons for $200, which you can use to purchase chips for the games. That means you are limited to a max of $200 for gambling.

"I also went out of Clinton on a much smaller ship for a three-hour day trip at a cost of $12.50 - no food, same $200 limit for gambling."

EDITORS NOTE: The Haan 1830 closes Oct. 13, and most other Mackinac Island accommodations close before the end of the month. We share this letter so you can start planning for next spring. If you would like to share a travel experience with us, send it to Iris Sanderson Jones, 22000 Springbrook, Farmington Hills, MI 48336.

Guidelines for 'eco-tourists'

Members of the American Society of Travel Agents (ASTA) have dedicated themselves to the preservation of our planet.

According to Betty Hidden-Hengert, president of Russell's Travel Service in Livonia, environmentallyaware travelers can prevent much of the world's potential damage by following the few simple guidelines established by ASTA members.

1. Leave only footprints. Take only photographs and memories.

2. Respect the frality of the environment. Realize that all of us must

3. To make vacations more meaningful, take time beforehand to learn the customs, manners and culture of the area. While on a trip, learn more about the area, talk to local people.

4. Respect and support local cultures: religions, traditions, crafts, services and cuisine, and the privacy and dignity of residents, especially when taking photographs. 5. Never litter. Carry litter bags with you. Leave your surroundings cleaner than you found them.

6. Do not buy products made from endangered species, such as ivory, tortoise shell, animal skins and feathers. Read "Know Before You Go," the U.s. Customs list of products that cannot be imported.

7. Always follow designated trails. Do not disturb natural habitats of animals and plants. Keep your distance Never touch animals.

8. Make an effort to know and support conservation-oriented programs and organizations. Support the conservation of nature throughout the

9. Ask travel agents, tour operators, resorts and attractions to adopt and put into practice ASTA'S environmental guidelines or other conservation codes, including recommendations for special regions such as polar, desert or mountain areas.

10. Whenever possible, walk or utlize public transportation. Encourage drivers of public vehicles to stop engines when parked

Northville defense shuts down WLW

Mustangs go to  $4-\overline{1}$ , win 16-5

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN Staff Writer

Northville's pass happy offense took the night off last Friday (Oct. 4) and the much maligned defense stepped to the forefront to stymie Walled Lake Western en route to a 16-5 WLAA Western Division triumph.

It was the Mustangs' fourth win in a row this season, but the first road victory. After falling behind 3-0. Northville took advantage of two Warrior kicking game blunders and turned them into a pair of second quarter touchdowns. That was the difference in the game.

"We felt it was one of our bigger games of the year," Mustang Coach Darrel Schumacher said. 'It was a big win. The condition of the field changed a lot of things and it turned into a defensive struggle. We made the plays when we had too and we played. I thought, our best defensive game off the season."

The Warrior's longest drive of the game - 10 plays and 51 yards came on the first possession. Western moved down to the Northville two, but on fourth a goal defenders Bret Butz and Danny Walsh tackled runningback Rob Budd for a two yard loss.

"(Western) didn't sustain another long drive on us the rest of the game," Schumacher said. "I think after that, the defense said to themselves: We can stop them.

The Mustang offense couldn't regain field position, however, and on its next possession, Warrior kicker Travis llacqua booted a 32-yard field goal. The Mustangs did respond soon after that, but kicker Brandon Hayes missed a 30-yard field goal attempt at the 6:28 mark of the second quarter.

The 3-0 lead didn't stand up very long. Jamie Miller tackled punter Craig Jenkins deep in Western territory after he had trouble handling a bad snap, and then seconds later Miller caught a 20-yard touchdown pass from Ryan Huzjak. The pass was actually tipped first by defensive back Arnie Gillert.

With less than two minutes remaining in the first half, the Mustangs did it again. Miller and Rob Subotich broke through the line and blocked another punt attempt by Jenkins, and Subotich fell on the loose ball in the end zone for a 13-3 halftime lead.

"Our special teams are playing excellent," Schumacher said.

Northville's only second half score came after Butz recovered a fumble by Warrior quarterback David Watkins at the 1:30 mark of the third. Four plays later. Hayes connected on a 27-yard field goal.

Western never really threatened, but did register a safety when Huzjak stepped out of his own end zone with 5:44 remaining on instructions from the bench. With time running out, the Warriors drove 57 yards down to the Northville 3, but Walsh knocked Budd out of bounds at the 8 on fourth-and-goal to preserve the 16-5 victory.

Western is a hard-hitting team but I was proud of the way we responded," Schumacher said. "We capitalized on the mistakes they gave us."

On the wet and sloppy field, Huz-jak did not have one of his letter cutings. The senior signalcaller, however, did go over the 1,000-yard passing mark (after only five games) by connecting on 16-of-29 for 117 yards. His favorite target was Miller, who hauled in five passes for 49 yards, giving him an area-best 416 receiving vards.

On defense, Butz led the way with eight solo tackles, seven assists, one fumble recovery, two sacks and a pass deflection. Todd Osborne (six solos, three assists, one sack) and Brian Scholz (five solos, one sack) also played well.

FARMINGTON HARRISON PRE-VIEW: The Mustangs (4-1 overall. 4-0 in the WLAA) face, perhaps, the most difficult challenge of any team in the entire state this week: trying to knock off the No. 1-ranked Hawks.

Harrison is 5-0 and regarded by many as the best team in the state, regardless of class. They will be in town tomorrow (Oct. 11) at 7:30 p.m. for the 1991 Northville Homecoming Game.

We are on a winning streak, but I don't know if there is a perfect time to play Harrison," Schumacher admitted. "They are a great football team. Beating them will be a monumental task. You have to stay close and then hope to catch them at the end. The young and inexperienced Mustang defense will have to try and slow down Harrison runner Roy Granger, who is coming off a phenomenal effort again Livonia Churchill. But the Hawks are more than just a potent offense.

They get great field position with great defense and the kicking game," Schumacher said.

Swimmers edge North, 47-46

The Northville girls swim team has aiready had more than its fair share of close victories this season, but you won't hear any complaints from the Mustang camp. First there was the 94-92 win over Plymouth Salem and now there's the exciting 47-46 triumph over North Farmington on

Just like the Salem contest, it all came down to the last relay race. Northville needed at least a 2-3 finish in the 400-yard freestyle relay to secure the win, and that's exactly what ened. The team of Brend ton, Megan Gobel, Tammy Cook and Jodi Wesley placed second while 3-1 in the WLAA. Daneen Lang, Kathy Lang, Allison

Sieving and Sheila Osborne came in

The double winners included Teri Juhasz in the 100 butterfly and the 100 breaststroke, and Wesley in the 200 IM and the 100 backstroke. The other wins came from Beth Frayne in diving and the 200 medley relay team - featuring Daneen Lang, Juhasz,

The Northville seconds came from Megan Gobel in the 200 freestyle and the 500 freestyle, Newton in the 100 freestyle and Osborne in the 50

Wesley and Newton.

The Mustangs are now 5-1 overall.

FENTON RELAYS: Northville

placed second in this 12-team event on Oct. 5.

The locals won four events and added two more runner-up finishes. The wins came in the 400-yard freestyle relay (with Deneen Lang, Sieving, Gobel and Cook), the 200 butterfly relay (with Wesley, Newton, Kathy Lang and Juhasz), the 500 crescendo relay (with Wesley, Gobel, Osborne and Kelly Polichl, and the 400 IM relay (with Dancen Lang, Juhasz, Newton and Cook).

The seconds included the 400 dley relay team (featuring Wesley Juhasz, Newton and Kathy Langland the diving corps (Beth Frayne, Amy Cristof and Sarah Carney).

Tentative cagers drop 48-41 decision to Salem

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN Staff Writer

Northville basketball coach Ed Kritch thought his talented squad was finally ready to challenge powerful Plymouth Salem, but the Mustangs did not play a like veteran team in last Saturday's (Oct. 5) 48-41 road defeat against the Rocks.

Despite winning eight of nine games heading into the showdown. Northville started off very tentative and fell behind early. The Mustangs made a nice comeback in the second half and eventually cut the lead to four, but never got any closer.

"We were extremely tentative," Kritch said. "I thought we gave (Salem) a little too much respect. We were afraid to make any mistakes and it really took us out of our aggressive gameplan.

"With the kind of team we have, we should not look at any opponents as being superior than us — but that's what we did."

Neither team scored in the first four minutes of the game, but the Rocks opened an 11-5 lead after one quarter. Salem them outscored Northville 12-8 in the second to take a 23-13 halftime advantage.

"We lost it in the first half," Kritch said. Once you're down 10 in their gym, your in trouble. We did get a good defensive effort — holding them under 25 and holding (Salem star) Darcie Miller to seven.

In the first half, the Mustangs were just 3-for-9 from the free throw line. Northville cut the lead to seven in the third quarter (31-24), and junior forward Bethany MacLean was a key part of the comeback before she suffered her fourth foul. Down the stretch, senior Karen Pump hit a three-pointer at the 1:20 mark to draw the Mustangs to within four. 45-41, but the locals were unable to score again.

Pump led the way with a teamhigh 15 points - including seven in the final quarter - and Laura Apligian scored nine points while playing every second of the game. Stacey Nyland chipped in with 10 rebounds and seven came at the offensive end. Miller poured in eight points in the fourth quarter and wound up with 19 for Salem.

NORTHVILLE 46, FARMINGTON HARRISON 31: The Hawks aren't an easy mark anymore, and they proved it on Oct. 3. With six minutes to play, Harrison pulled to within five points before the Mustangs finally woke up.

"Harrison isn't an easy win anymore, but it's hard to sell your kids on the fact that you'll have to compete to win, Kritch said.

The Hawks opened the game with a slow-down offense and basically tried to hold the ball indefinitely. The strategy worked to a certain extent as Northville inched ahead by only four (20-16) at the intermission

The Mustangs did get the fastbreak going in the third quarter, and thanks to an eight-point outburst by Kara McNeil, led 35-23 heading into the final eight minutes. But Harrison promptly scored the first seven points in the fourth, cutting the lead to five (35.30)

Pump responded with three consecutive buckets to help Northville re-establish control and the defense stiffened and allowed Harrison to score just one point in the final six minutes.

The balanced Mustang attack was led by Apligian's 13 points. McNeil and Pump each added 12, while Nyland swiped eight steals.

Northvalle is now 8-2 overall, 2-2 in the WLAA.

Northville's Karen Pump (24) and Stacey Nyland (44) fight for a rebound in action earlier this season

Athletes of the Week

BRETT BUTZ

After several shaky performances, it looks like the Mustang defense is starting to blossom. In Northville's 16-5 win over Walled Lake Western last Friday, senior linebacker Brett Butz was all over the field, and we think he earned "Wildcat of the Week" honors. The 6-foot-3, 200-pounder registered eight solo tackles, seven assists, two quarterback sacks, a fumble recovery and a pass deflection. He currently leads the team in tackles by a wide margin.

SUSAN WEIX

Senior tennis player Susan Weix has quietly become a force for the Northville netters. In prep action last week, Weix completed a stuning comeback, edging Farmington's Sara Stevens 4-6, 7-6 (10-8), 7-6 (7-2) in the No. 2 singles match. Susan played phenomednal for us," Northville Coach Uta Filkin said. The Mustangs went on to win 6-1 and we think Athlete of the Week accolades are appropriate. Weix also notched a straight-set victory against Churchill several days later.

Loss to Canton drops netters to 7-5

Mustangs clobber $2\ others$

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN Staff Writer

The struggling Northville netters broke out of a losing streak last week with a pair of lopsided victories over Livonia Churchill and Farmington, but the Mustangs went back to square one by ending the week with a 5-2 loss to Plymouth Canton on Oct.

Once dominating, Northville (7-5 overall, 6-5 in the WLAA) is now fighting to stay above the .500 mark. We had some really close ones against Canton, but we weren't able to pull many of them out," Mustang Coach Uta Filkin.

The lone Northville wins came at the top of the singles and doubles lineups. At No. 1 singles, Diane Vogt edged Denise Gildo 4-6, 6-4, 6-2 while Sandy Bosscher and Stacy Green nipped Cindee Jones and Shazia Ahmed 6-4, 7-6 in doubles.

NORTHVILLE 7, LIVONIA CHURCHILL 0: The Mustangs did not drop a set on Oct. 2 against the Chargers.

"I thought we played well and we had some nice easy wins," Filkin

In singles, Vogt topped Annette Olszewski (6-4, 6-0) at No. 1, Susan Weix knocked off Kathy Harrington (6-4, 6-3) at No. 2, Jennifer Lower topped Kim McDonald (6-4, 6-3) and Molly Gudritz blasted Lee Bramlet (6-2, 6-1) at No. 4.

In doubles, Bosscher and Green disposed of Amy Pollock and Kelly Kobane (6-1, 6-0) at No. 1, Kelli Woodsum and Ellen Song ripped Mary Thomas and Petra Knescht

Pain in wrists or fingers is often a warning sign of carpal tunnel syndrome

What is carpal tunne! syndrome?

By SCOTT DANIEL

That little ache you get in your wrists and hands after a long day at the computer terminal may be more serious than you think.

It could be carpal tunnel

According to Dr. Judith Perigo, a plastic surgeon in occupational medicine, pain in wrists or fingers is often a warning sign of the syndrome. Activities with repetitive movements, she said, cause the injury.

*Nobody knows for sure why people get it," Perigo said. "But, constant repetitive motions can cause tendon you up at night." linings to swell."

carpal tunnel syndrome can be who typically repeat the same tasks

When pressure is placed on the main nerve (median) to the hand, over an extended period, swelling can occur. Membranes around tendons in the wrist can also become swelled by repetitive motion.

Perigo said the carpal tunnel, located at the wrist, is formed by bone and tendons. She said that space is very small and when the nerve area or membrane around the tendons swell, pressure builds up.

The result is pain or numbness.
It starts at the fingertips and can shoot up through the (entire) arm," Ferigo said. "Classically, it will wake

In her practice, she said, patients The surgeon, who practices at sev- with the syndrome come from all eral area hospitals and privately, said walks of life. Assembly-line workers, during their workday, typists, hairdressers and homemakers have all seen Perigo for help.

The syndrome can be treated in three ways. Sometimes, simply resting will alleviate swelling. Perigo said using a brace, to immobilize the wrists, helps to rest the areas.

A second treatment involves medication. Perigo said the family doctor can often prescribe anti-inflammatory medications that reduce swelling.

Steroid compounds are also used to reduce swelling, she said. She steriods are generally used in more Often, the last resort for carpal tunnel syndrome sufferers is surgery. Damage is so extensive sometimes, Perigo said, that surgery must be performed immediately.

"If we can treat without surgery. we prefer to do that," she said.

Treatment and even surgery are no guarantee of a cure for the syndrome. Perigo said patients treated for the problem should take steps to avoid a recurrence of symptoms.

Those steps can be as simple as wearing wrist braces while performing repetitive tasks to changing

Like most illnesses, Perigo said doctors can better treat the problem in early stages.

"Most family doctors can start bas-ic treatment," she said. "But don't expect immediate relief. The medicines have to be in your system for

REAL ESTATE

The key to success in real estate is changing

By James M. Woodard Copley News Service

It's tough to make a good hving selling homes. Thousands of people each year make a concerted effort to carve out a successful career in this highly competitive field. But nearly 80 percent of fledgling sales associates abandon their dream of making big money in real estate after a year or so of non-productive effort.

However, outstanding success stories can be told in markets throughout the country. Consider the case of Lori Jolicoeur, divorced a few years ago from her insurance executive husband.

Jolicoeur faced a major problem. With 12 children and eight grandchildren, she needed to generate a sizable income on her own.

The solution to the problem at hand was, of course, to sell real estate. She was determined to make it work. And she did-in a big way.

In 1990, this 59-year-old mother and grandmother sold several million dollars in residential and commercial properties. Racking up 18 sale transactions during the year, she was named top listing agent, top selling agent, and top overall producer within the multioffice organization in which she worked as a sales associate.

In her spare time, Jolicoeur is now studying for her real estate appraiser's license. Keeping track of her kids and grandkids isn't enough to fill every minute of nonworking time. So she plans to

The American Rose exhibits charm and class

By James McAlexander Copley News Service

It has got traditional charm. It has got contemporary class. And it has got all of the features most popular with modern home buyers. It's the American Rose.

With only the two bedrooms and a bathroom upstairs, this medium-size home is equally well adapted to a family with older children or empty nesters who wish to have space to accommodate grandchildren and to entertain without feeling cramped. Built over a full basement, the possibilities for expanding storage and living spaces are practically endless.

Stepping into the high vaulted entryway, the first impression is one of vastness. This area, and the formal living room, are both vaulted to the second floor. In fact, the landing at the top of the curving stairway overlooks the hving room

Another area that gives the impression of spaciousness is the kitchen, and the area is also delightfully bright, with both a garden window and a bay window. Whole families of cooks can work together in this area without bumping elbows or getting ingredients mixed up. The upper of the double oven in the nook has microwave capabilities and, in addition to the pantry, there are also plenty of cupboards.

This design makes excellent use of oddly shaped spaces. A hutch is tucked into an angle in the dining room, a fireplace in another in the family room and a small, angled half-bath is conveniently close to everything.

The master suite has an oversize tub. which could just as easily be a spa, and a shower, both brightened by a skylight and glass blocks. A sliding door provides privacy and steam containment for the shower and toilet. Double sinks are outside this area. close to the walk-in closet.

For the many people who find they are doing at least some of their work at home these days. this design includes an office close to the master suite.

The utility room has all the amenities: laundry sink. appliances, fold-down froning board and a window-lit shelf that looks out onto the front porch. The twocar garage includes extra space for a workbench and/or storage

For a study plan of the American Rose (330-99), send $7.50 to Landmark Designs c/o HomeTown Newspapers, 323 E. Grand River Ave., Howell, MI 48843.. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

The Muirhead's living room attracts an abundance of sunlight and offers a spectacular view of the treed property and what do you get? A dream home of brick and stone

Dreams can come true. Bob and Barbara Muirhead's elegant country manor, located on a seven-acre parcel on South Hill Road in Milford Township, is a dream fulfilled.

This 4,200-square-foot, three-story design is a showcase of excellent craftsmanship. Knowing that Bob Muirhead is a masonry contractor, architect Don Cuatt designed this home incorporating a maximum use of brick and stone, along with a one-of-a-kind concept of three chimneys.

The focal point of the house are these three chimneys," Bob said. "This house is the only house exactly like it anywhere. That's what makes it unique," he added. The center fover features face brick walls that are impressively contrasted against a polished green tile floor topping a reinforced concrete slab. It is here that the three chimneys stand, towering upward to border a domed skylight. Thirteen semicircular brick arches support this center structure and produce a stylish visual impact.

Bob, along with his 28-year-old son David, who is a finished carpenter, and a helper, undertook the task of building the home. It took about two years to complete, working on it four to five months a year. The Muirheads moved into the home in May of this year. They previously lived on Dawson Road in Milford.

We used 500 bags of mortar in this house to lay the brick." Bob said, "and there are 52,000 bricks and 15 tons of stone."

This comfortable home includes two bedrooms, three baths, a spacious 20-by-15-foot kitchen, family room, great room, office, sewing room, four fireplaces, each with a different treatment, central air. central vacuum system for the upper level, air purifier, intercom system, and an attached 30-by-

24- foot garage. To the left of the center foyer, the living room is a celebration of a mauve and aqua color scheme. Multiple six-by four-foot Andersen sun-proofed, high efficiency windows flank both sides of the room. welcoming in an abundance of natural sunlight and a wonderful view of the treed property

Barbara selected simple pleated blinds as window treatments in order to expose the fine workmanship of the clear white pine woodwork stained in cherry. Barbara herself did much of the staining and varnishing throughout the home.

The woodwork features fluted columns and plinth block designs. The room's focal point is an immense fireplace made by Bob out of Apache stone from Arizona. The hearth is made of Tennessee stone. The interesting sizes and colors of the large stones create an aesthetically pleasing pattern.

Bob said he believes that stone work is an art form. "It's like an artist on a painting," he said. That piece of stonework is the only piece like it in the world. Nobody else will lay it exactly the same," he explained.

Above the fireplace, Barbara's fine decorating sense is evident with her large grapevine wreath trimmed with mauve and aqua silk flowers which reinforce the room's color scheme, dried flowers and her own home-stitched muslin

The dining room ensemble, purchased from a furniture specialty store in Hickory, N.C., is a combination of warm pecan and mirrored glass. Its beauty enhances the elegant decor of this home.

Bob's favorite room is located on the lower level. It houses his antique pool table which he purchased in Detroit in 1966 and restored. The table is more than 100 years old and weighs 2,800 pounds.

This room is sleek in design with its New York blue stone flooring. 18-foot ceiling, multiple windows. stairways constructed of reinforced concrete and covered with stone, and birch wall paneling. Its massive fireplace is made of stones which Bob selected from a nearby gravel pit. Bob said some stones weighed as much as 300 pounds.

Other customized accents of the home include leaded glass doors. beautiful cherry wood kitchen cabinets with special counter lighting. a ceramic tile work island, garden window, fountain in the fover. master bath with jaccuzi, master walk-in closet, ceiling fans. masonry closets, two separate heating units, and 75 high hat indirect ceiling light fixtures.

Son Tom. 35, who is an electrician, is credited for his contributions to planning the lighting

The exterior of the home is equally delightful with a tranouil patio amidst perennials, shru bs and trees. This front-yard ret reat is in peaceful harmony with the wooded acreage. The landscape design incorporates interlocking pavers, 60 tons of rock, 12 foot in diameter pool (soon to be stocked with goldfish and aquatic plants). bird feeders, and a seating, area. This patio was designed and constructed by Monsignor Herman Kucyk, pastor of Divine Child Catholic Church in Dearborn.

Monsignor Kucyk is an old family friend whose favorite pastime is landscaping.

"I got all the stuff and he spent a week of his vacation out there,"

Bob recalled. The Muirheads plan to add a two-tier deck, patio, fountain, and a lap pool in the rear of the yard. This spectacular country home is the result of an original architectural design, skillful carpentry, imaginative use of stone and brick and a tasteful sense of decor. For the Mulrhead family, it really is a dream home come true.

develop an appraisal business in addition to brokerage services. She obviously believes in squeezing every drop of productivity out of all available time.

Surprisingly, Jolicoeur doesn't totally own her own home. She shares ownership and residency of a large two-story, six-bedroom home with one of her daughters and family.

"It's working out very well," she said. I live in one story of the house and my daughter, son-inlaw and their 2-year-old son live in the other story. There's lots of space for everyone, and the property is a good investment."

Keal estate development is another field where some people can carve out a very successful and lucrative career for themselves. But personal qualifications needed to land a good development job are rapidly changing, according to a recent report from Korn/Ferry International, an executive search firm.

Development, as we know it, is no longer the name of the game." the report said. "From now on, real estate executives will need as broad experience as possible. The developer of the '90s is no longer a specialist, but a generalist."

During the current decade, executives most in demand will be those with a strong finance back-

The boy who delivers the crack, he's eleven. He makes $300 a day but now he's dead. These kids are not learning nothing except how to be hopeless.

How to die. You don't need to go to no school to learn that. And that's just it. These kids aren't going. So I went to the schools to see what I could do. Me, a man who's seen his neighborhood go from bad to worse. But now I'm tired of it and I'm going to start with the kids. f Ihey're the hope. I go to the junior high and just show up in class and tell them to take pride in themselves. Pride in what they are and to have dignity. They can wake up in the morning and either go out and be mad at the world or do something to make it good for them. These kids just don't know better. And that's no good because how are our children going to have good lives if they don't stay in school? There is a reason to stay. And I'm going to tell them.

These baskets mean business

By ANN SEEBALDT

As the holiday season approaches, thoughts begin to turn to unique gifts and where to find them. A Milford business may have the answer for some shoppers.

For the past two years, Gift Giver Inc. has been creating unique and in-dividual baskets for all occasions, delivering the goods to any place in the U.S., said owner Roberta Lennie. She co-owns Gift Giver along with fellow Milford resident Kathleen Pegan.

"We had an opportunity to buy an existing business. We changed the name and went into business," Lennie said.

Pegan said she and Lennie had been investigating several types of business and had even thought of starting one from scratch when they heard the gift basket business was for sale. The rest is history.

"It all fell into place," Pegan said.
"It (our business) addressed things I like to do and things Roberta likes to

Although the baskets are as-sembled in Milford, there are no geographic restrictions on where they can be sent.

"We ship anywhere," Lennie said.
"In fact, we shipped some baskets to soldiers in Saudi Arabia last Christmas." Cost and the amount of time needed for overseas shipping varies by location and basket choice.

The customer has at least seven different types of gift baskets from which to choose, in addition to minior full-size baskets which can be individualized for the recipient.

"The most popular gift basket is one called 'Sweet Tooth,' " Lennie said. The "Sweet Tooth" contains enough goodies to please any sweets lover, including gourmet chocolate chip cookies, melty mints, chocolate ice cream topping, reception sticks, chocolate cherry nuggets and European biscuits. It sells for $25.

One new basket they will offer in time for Christmas will have a Michigan theme: Either a Michiganshaped basket or a canvas tote filled with your choice of fine Michiganproduced items, such as cherry products, maple syrup or candy, jams, mulfin and dip mixes, nuts, mustard, honey, ice cream toppings, notepapers and Michigan potpourri. The Michigan basket will probably start at about $15; the price will depend on which items are chosen.

There is a "Pamper Me, Piease" basket which features delicately scented English bath toiletries. Other baskets from which to choose include "Break Time International," an assortment of German fruit-filled pastries. Scottish shortbread and Swiss chocolate wafers along with a ceramic mug and your choice of gourmet coffee or tea.

The "Square Meals" basket contains either your choice of brunch (jam, muffin mix, fruit pastries, gourmet coffee or tea) or dinner (veggle dip mix, french bread mix, chill or fivebean soup mix and reception sticks for dessert).

While most baskets are within the $20-$40 range, Lennie said. We work within anyone's budget."

sket ideas include Halloween mail-ages for college students, baby baskets, mini-baskets containing shower and party favors, and snack baskets.

All baskets are customized according to the recipients' likes, dis-likes and hobbies. Many of the items are products made in Michigan.

Gift Giver Inc. is home-based work for Lennie and Pegan. Their business is rapidly growing through referrals and direct mail advertising, they

Since they do not have a store front out of which to work, they send a picture of the basket to the person who ordered it, allowing them to see exactly what their gift looks like.

Lennie and Pegan acquire gift items from conventions, wholesalers and nearby small businesses.

The business' stock changes frequently in order to prevent gift duplication. For example, the items found in a "Sweet Tooth" basket from one year to the next will be much

"We try to find things that people cannot find at the store," Lennie said. It's a lot of fun to seek out new products and new baskets.

Therefore, the type of merchandise in baskets varies greatly. I think that's what makes this business unique," Lennie added.

Pegan explained that they want to ensure the products they assemble have mass appeal, so they have a number of people try new items before adding them to gift baskets. "We taste-test and people-test everything we get," she said. Another way in which Lennie and Other frequently-ordered gift ba- Pegan avoid gift duplication for repeat business is by keeping extensive boxes, birthday buckets, care pack- lists of previous baskets sent to the same person, Pegan said. This way, products are not repeated in gift baskets unless requested.

Putting the gifts together entails more than just item selection. Packaging is important and requires creative thinking, Lennie said. Time for assembly varies.

Lennie explained that 24-hour notice is necessary prior to shipping or delivery. They also can create corporate guts and will visit the office to aid in gift selection. A new Gift Giver service this year is home parties.

Free local delivery is available in the Milford-Highland area. UPS shipping is extra.

Christmas is always a big holiday for the business; Lennie reminds potential customers that the last day for Christmas shipping of gift baskets is Dec. 16 within the continental U.S. Dec. 1 is the suggested deadline for shipping baskets to the Pacific Coast area and overseas.

Pegan and Lennie work with the customers to design a basket specialized for the occasion and the budget. While basket designs vary, all are decorated with flowers, bows and ribbons and shrink-wrapped in plastic before delivery.

MARTHA D. PALMER, a resident of Novi, has been promoted to senior consultant by Plante & Moran, an accounting and management Palmer joined Plante & Moran in 1987 as a member of the management consulting staff. She specializes in recruitment and executive search for administrative and financial positions. Palmer is based in the firm's Southfield office.

A 1981 graduate of Fast Lansing High School, Palmer earned her bachelor's degree in employment relations at Michigan State University in 1985. She is involved in community and professional organizations including the National Association for Personnel Consultants and the Michigan Association for Personnel Consultants.

Founded in 1924, Plante & Moran is a Michigan-based accounting and management consulting firm that specializes in serving smalland medium-sized, privately held businesses. The firm serves its clients through 12 offices in Michigan and one in Cleveland.

RONALD P. TURNER of Northville has joined ITT Teves America, a manufacturer of automotive brake components.

Turner was previously vice president of OEM sales and engineering for Gabriel Ride Control Products at Maremont Corporation, a division of Arvin Industries, which he joined in 1987.

Turner is a 1970 automotive engineering honors graduate of Western Michigan University. Upon graduation, he joined the Ford Motor Co. where he held a succession of increasingly responsible engineering positions until he accepted the position of sales and marketing manager for original equipment business at Warner Electric Brake & Clutch Company, a division of Dana Corp., in 1984.

ITT Teves is a world leader in both anti-skid and conventional braking systems and components with over 80 years of experience in the vehicular braking business.

JOSEPH C. HEFFERNAN, a certified public accountant living in Novi, has been promoted to partner at Plante & Moran.

Hessernan, who joined the firm in 1979 as a member of the accounting staff and was promoted to associate in 1984, specializes in serving municipalities. Heffernan is based in the firm's Southfield

Heffernan earned his bachelor's degree in accounting at the University of Michigan in 1979. He is involved in community and professional organizations including the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the Michigan Municipal Finance Officers Association, the Michigan Townships Association, the Genesee County Treasurer/Clerks Association and the Oakland County Chapter of the Michigan Townships Association.

DAVID R. TRUDELL has been named to the faculty at Lawrence Technological University.

Trudell, a resident of Novi, will be a lecturer in the University's College of Architecture and Design. He holds a bachelor's degree from Lawrence Tech. He is also on the faculty of the Kendall School of Art and Design.

Lawrence Tech, founded in 1932, enrolls 5,500 students and employs 300 full- and part-time faculty. It is among Michigan's largest independent universities. Lawrence Tech offers over 30 day and evening degree programs at the associate, baccalaureate and graduate levels.

Two good reasons for an employee to be out of the office.

Today, the National Guard and Reserve makes up over 44% of our armed forces. So when people who work for you need time off to serve, please be supportive. While there may be many good reasons to be out of the office, there can be none better than protecting our country's future. EMPLOYER SUPPORT OF THE GUARD AND RESERVE

In 1845, a teenager helped free a slave.

Last year, he was kicked out of school for causing racial tension.

It's true. Huck Finn's been banned from many high school classrooms and libraries. But Huckleberry Finn is not the only book. Steinbeck's Of Mice and Men. Vonnegut's Slaughterhouse Five. Even Little Red Riding Hood has been taken out. Every day, more and more books are thrown out of our schools.

But thanks to the 1st Amendment, many are going back on the shelves. Our government can't make a law "abridging the freedom of speech." That means you can read, watch, or listen to whatever you like.

And that means you have to make sure our government keeps this promise. The Promise of your rights.

Maintaining proper air pressure and alignment are two key factors in making tires last longer

A primer on tires and brakes

By Joel Simon Copley News Service

When people write about cars, they like to go for the things that grab your interest—hot styles, luxury, performance. To be worth writing about, something has to be the biggest, the fastest, the loudest, the most quiet, or even the smallest, the ugliest, the most trouble-prone.

But there are serious items that are supposed to make us all solemn and earnest. These items, like the tires and brakes, keep the car, the road and our lives fied neatly together.

They're regarded as "no fun" and therefore most of us pay attention to them only when things go wrong. And that's really the wrong time to start hoping everything's all right

TIRE TALK

If you drive a family car on paved roads, it'll be hard to go wrong when choosing new tires. Stick with the size and general type recommended in your owner's manual and you'll be all right. But unusual driving conditions or habits sometimes call for unusual choices.

For example, if you live in the desert, you want a harder tire compound with wider spaces between the tread grooves for longevity and traction in dry, high-heat conditions

If you live in the Pacific Northwest where you can expect more rain, you want tires designed to handle well on wet pavement.

If you drive a supercharged barnstormer, you'll probably opt for a softer, stickier tire with a large contact patch—understanding that this will cost you in terms of tire life and fuel mileage.

Like any specialty, tires have developed their own language. It helps to know what we're all talking about.

For example, we mentioned "contact patch"—what's that?

The contact patch is simply the ovalshaped area of a tire that is actually in contact with the road at any given time. It's the part that's actually transmitting the power of the engine—or brakes — to the road and getting the work done.

All tires are constructed of synthetic rubber compounds. In tires designed for use on family cars there isn't really much difference between compounds from one brand to

In specialty applications, there can be vast differences. For example, special compounds are why race cars can take those incredible turns at more than 100 mph. They're also why race cars change tires two or three times during a race.

The grooves in tire tread are for water management. The best tires for dry roads have no grooves at all—just a big flat surface. But when the road gets wet, those same tires will "hydroplane" — slide on a layer of slick water until you run into something hard.

Common patterned road tires channel the water into those grooves, allowing the flat patches to make good contact with the road. You sacrifice a little surface area on the contact patch, but the alternative is either no traction at all on wet pavements or to stop and change your ties whenever it looks like rain.

What about all those numbers that tell the tire size? That's not as complicated as it looks. Let's take a random size copied off a Honda: P175/65LR14. The code breaks down into the following pieces: P175-65-R-14. Taking it one piece at a time:

- The "P" says this is a passenger car tire.

  If it were a "T," it would be a temporary spare.
- The "175" is the width in millimeters
- The "65" is the ratio of height (from tread to bead) to width—this tire is only 65 percent as high as it is wide.
- The "R" says it's a radial ply tire, as opposed to a bias (B) or diagonal (D) ply. Sometimes there's another letter in front of that one, which is a speed rating.
- Finally, "14" says the tire needs a 14-inch rim.

BRAKES BOOST

Brakes are easier to understand than tires because there's nothing much to choose Except for the pads, you go with what you've got on the car. But it's important to know the trouble signs when things start to wear or go bad. Brakes are one of those areas where an ounce of prevention can save several tons of cure.

Most modern cars have power brakes, and most power brake systems rely on a vacuum power booster, which is a big diaphragm that uses engine vacuum to help work the master cylinder. You apply a little pressure, it applies a lot. Here's a simple test that will tell you whether the booster is up to snuff. With the engine off, put firm pressure on the brake pedal. It probably won't move much. Now start the engine As soon as the engine is running, the brake pedal should move down That's the engine vacuum acting on the power booster. All's well.

The pedal should always feel firm and predictable. If it starts feeling mushy, especially if it goes to the floor and you have to pump it to get any action, there's an in the brake system.

If air is leaking in, fluid is leaking out. Follow the brake lines starting with the master cylinder until you find a spot that looks wet. It will be easy to find.

The trouble is fixing the problem isn't as easy as just fixing the leak. You still have to get the air out of the system before the brakes will work right, and that can be tricky. That's why it's usually best to let a professional deal with brake hydraulic problems.

If you're a do-it-your-selfer, replacing disc brake pads is a job you can do easily. There are any number of good books that will show you how. Read carefully before you start taking things apart — you will find that there are some special tools involved and you'll need to get them.

Safety-related maintenance for your car needs to be dealt with, but it doesn't have to be a big mystery. It's really quite simple if you take it logically. The important thing is proper maintenance, so that you can handle the more enjoyable parts of driving without worry.

Collecting and driving antiques

By Kevin Anderson Copley News Service

If you've ever lusted after a vintage 1950s or '60s sports car and planned to own it "some day," don't wait much longer.

According to Road and Track magazine, foreign buyers and speculators are scouring the United States for rust-free Austin-Healeys, MGs and the like.

And they're shipping them by the container-full to Europe, Australia and Japan.

The good news is that these chrome-laced lovelies are not yet all gone, and most can be had for less than $20,000 (some for much less).

Porsche 356 coupes made from 1956 through 1965 are in high demand; prices range from $13,000 to $20,000, depending on condition.

Triumph TR-2 and TR-3 models made from 1953 to 1962 are going for around $9,000; 1962-1967 MGB roadsters for about $5,000; 1964-1971 Alfa Romeo Sprint GTs and GTVs for around $7,000, and restored 1958-1961 Austin-Healey "Bugeye" Sprites for up to $12,000.

Novice car collectors should not enter the field too hastily, however. Although many collectibles pay off as excellent investments, others aren't worth the asphalt they're parked on.

To begin with, you're on the right road if you see a vintage auto as a work of art, worth preserving and admiring regardless of resale value.

You're also in good company. Bill Cosby, Jay Leno, Reggie Jackson and Ralph Lauren are among the many wealthy and well-known collectors.

And it's good news that cars costing less than $50,000 are appreciating as rapidly as those at the astronomical (seven-figure) end of the scale.

"At the moment, anything red and Italian is hot," says Town and Country magazine. "Even such obscure models as the Iso Rivolta have gone from $5,000 to $50,000 in less than 12 months."

In general, the majority of in demand cars are popular because they are firmly lodged in the memories of wannabe collectors as love objects.

"Most collectors crave an automobile that was popular when both it and they were young," says Town and Country. "The age of envy appears to be 14."

So baby boomers in the 26-to-45 year-old age group are snapping up cars built between 1960 and 1980.

As far as investments go, vintage cars have done as well or better than any other collectible.

If price is no object, you probably can't go wrong with a racing car. Convertibles also can be expensive to buy, but tend to appreciate rapidly.

Stay away from cars that need extensive restoration work or that are in perfect (show-quality) condition. These two ends of the scale represent difficulties either in doing the job right — without spending an arm and a leg—or in keeping a pristine vehicle free of dust and corrosion—where's the fun if you can't drive it?)

Watch out for vehicles that have spent their miles in areas of the country where it snows, or in coastal regions. Road salt and sea mist eat away at auto bodies. Best bet: a car from inland California, Arizona, Texas or the Carolinas.

If you're serious about investing in a vintage vehicle, cultivate a connoisseur's attitude. Don't mix breeds (a Chevy engine in a Jaguar), and have an appreciation for originals, even if they're imperfect.

"A 100 percent original car in good condition will always be more valuable than a restored car in perfect condition," Rick Cole, a Los Angeles-based auctioneer of megabuck collector cars told The Robb Report magazine.

Become an expert among experts. Read books and magazines about classic motorcars, keep up on trends and values, join a club with members who share your interest, attend car shows and cultivate a worthy mechanic or restoration specialist.

All this, of course, is fun—as is driving your pride and joy. You also might want to visit car museums across the country; the National Automobile Museum in Reno, Nev., for example, houses more than 200 cars from Harrah's famous collection.

こうこうこうこうから ちゅうしゅうかん かんしゅうしゅん

If you plan to attend a car auction, do your homework and know beforehand what cars are worth, advises Motor Trend magazine. Preregister to save time, and have proof with you that you can pay what you plan to bid. When you decide on a price, stick to it — even when the bidding heats up.

Every collector dreams of stumbling across an antique vehicle in a boarded-up barn—perhaps a zero-mileage Mercedes gullwing or a previously unknown Bugatti Royale—and paying only the cost of having it towed away.

If you do fall in love with a crumbling beauty, midwife its rebirth with caution. The cost of a good restoration can exceed the value of the finished result.

It's a project for a car lover, not an investor, advises The Robb Report, unless you start out with a truly valuable automobile.

Keep in mind that it takes the same number of hours to restore a priceless Ferrari as it does a plain old Plymouth.

Your first dollars might best be spent on plane tickets. Visit various restoration companies that specialize in the make and model of your choice. Walk around the shop, talk to the staff and observe the quality of the work

The Geo Tracker is one of the fun and practical sport/utility vehicles available this year.

Performance and practicality in new trucks

By Peter D. du Pre Copley News Service

Over the past few years the light truck and van market has been the only real growth area that many manufacturers have had. Sales of full-size pickups, compact trucks, sport utilities and minivans have been strong, and many people have found that the practicality and comfort of today's trucks make them near ideal vehicles.

While most of the big changes in the import trucks were made during the past couple of years, 1992 is important for the changes domestic manufacturers are offering. New models, options and upgrades abound, making this an excellent time to consider parking a new truck in your driveway.

CHEVROLET/GMC/OLDSMOBILE

The focus at General Motors has been to continue model development on the full-size trucks so that they all share styling and the full-frame construction of the current full-size pickup line. To that end, Chevy and GMC are introducing new-bodied Suburban, Blazer/Jimmy and Crew Cab versions.

6 © Car Care East © October 10, 1991

In addition, the popular Chevrolet Lumina APV line (along with Pontiac Transport and Oldsmobile Silhouette) gets a big power boost when ordered with the new optional 3800 V-6 engine and four-speed overdrive automatic transmission — a gain of 45 horsepower over the standard engine.

Additionally, Astro minivan and S-10/S15 pickup and utility vehicles will be available with a new 200-horsepower version of GM's 4.3-Hiter Vortec V-6 engine.

Finally, the Olds Bravada gets a new balance-shaft in its 4.3-1liter engine for smoother running.

FORD

The new full-size Econoline van is the first major revision of the vehicle in its 17 years and reflects a $1.2 billion commitment by Ford to modernize the vehicle.

Apart from the aero design of the exterior, the Econoline gets a new dashboard, flexible seating plan and comes with a choice of nine power plants. The new Econoline has more car-like features, softer ride and driver's side air bags.

Additionally, Ford has restyled its popular F-series trucks and the big Bronco. Each receives a new grille, new nose, new taillights and new interior.

CHRYSLER

Although the changes in Chrysler's truck line look limited to a new five-speed transmission in the Ramcharger at present, the company is ready to debut their new Jeep ZJ sport utility.

The new utility vehicle replaces the aging Cherokee model and features more aerodynamic lines while keeping the visual familiarity of the previous model. Available with both four- or six-cylinder engines, the ZJ will come with driver side air bag and antilock brakes as standard.

Another significant change for Chrysler is the addition of integrated child safety seats in the Caravan/Voyager minivans. The fold-down, integrated safety seat is a first for the industry and will hold children up to 40 pounds. And for larger children, the seat is easily transformed into a booster for use with the minivan's standard rear shoulder harness.

ISUZU

With sales of its car division slipping quickly away, Isuzu has been concentrating on its biggest seller, Trooper, and experts expect a replacement to be on the market before the end of the calendar year

The new truck has updated styling, increased power and comfort and is being marketed considerably upscale. It is expected to compete against Montero and be priced in the low $20,000 range

MITSUBISHI

Scheduled for introduction sometime this fall, the new Montero will have sleeker styling, more powerful V-6 engine, an improved automatic transmission and upgraded interior.

VOLKSWAGEN

The long-awaited replacement for the Vanagon, which was discontinued earlier this year, should reach our shores in early spring. The Eurovan's styling is considerably different from the boxy Vanagon, reflecting VW's current styling direction.

However, the practicality and utility that have made VW vans famous is expected to be enhanced.

GREEN CARS

Environmentally sound auto care

By Norm Hudecki Copley News Service

Sometimes, car owners may get the impression that their vehicles are the No. 1 enemy of the environment.

Cars generate used motor oil, other fluids, batteries and tires that pollute our •water and crowd our landfills. Chlorofluorocarbons (CFCs) leak from our automotive refrigerants and may deplete the ozone layer. Gasguzzling vehicles waste an important natural resource and car exhaust clouds the air we breathe.

It's enough to make the environmentally concerned motorist put his car in the garage and hide the keys.

But you can have your car and protect the Earth, too. Here are a few things you can do to be an environmentally friendly driver:

PROPERLY DISPOSE OF AUTOMOTIVE FLUIDS AND PARTS

Many recycling centers and some automotive-service centers will accept used motor oil, antifreeze, transmission fluid, batteries and tires. In particular, used motor oil has proved to be a problem, because of the amount generated by car owners.

The U.S. Department of Energy estimates that 61 percent of do-it-yourself oil changers improperly dispose of their used motor oil. That amounts to almost 240 million gallons dumped into the U.S. environment each year — the equivalent of 20 Exxon Valdez oil spills. It is ecologically dangerous to spread used oil over the ground, pour it into sewer drains or place it in the trash—even in a sealed container.

One quart of oil can ruin the taste of 250,000 gallons of drinking water and create a film two acres wide on the surface of water, according to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

On the other hand, used oil can be recycled for various industrial uses of energy recovery. The used oil generated in the United States in one year would be enough to service 900,000 homes for a year, if burned for electricity.

The number of used-oil collection sites has grown in the past year, making it easier for do-it-your-selfers to find an acceptable place to dump their drain-pan contents.

Valvoline Instant Oil Change has more than 300 centers nationwide that accept used motor oil. While it is the only national quicklube chain that has actively solicited used oil, many independent service shops and retail stores collect used lubricants in their local areas.

For more information on used oil collection centers, check with your municipal refuse department or community recycling groups.

RECYCLE AUTOMOTIVE REFRIGER-ANTS

Refrigerants for auto air conditioners are the leading use for CFCs which, when released into the atmosphere, are suspected to damage the Earth's protective ozone layer. Because of this danger, the United States and other nations have agreed to eliminate the use of CFCs by the year 2000.

Fortunately, an alternative is on the way: SUVA Trans A/C. It was unveiled recently by DuPont, its manufacturer, and IG-10 Inc., which will be its exclusive marketer to the automotive industry.

The new refrigerant, which uses no CFCs and does not contribute to ozone depletion, will be available by the end of the year. The first cars equipped to use SUVA Trans A/C are expected in the United States by 1992.

Until such cars are widely available, the environmentally conscious motorist can still minimize damage to the planet's protective shield by having CFC based refrigerants recycled. Many automotive-service centers now have equipment that removes refrigerant, cleans out any contaminants and then recharges it into the air-conditioning system.

Industry groups have adopted a Refrigerant Recycling Center logo, displayed by service shops to help car owners identify properly equipped centers.

USE GASOLINE WITH ETHANOL

Ethanol is an alcohol fuel produced by fermenting grain, primarily corn. As much as 10 percent ethanol in gasoline is permitted by car manufacturers to extend gasoline and to make the fuel burn cleaner, thereby reducing air pollution.

However, ethanol in gasoline has been found to contribute to vapor lock and hotstarting problems, so keep a watch on how well such fuel does in your car. And be on the lookout for other alternative fuels and power sources — including methanol, natural gas, propane, electricity and solar energy—which are being tested.

DEVELOP FUEL-CONSERVING HABITS

The first step is choosing a fuel-efficient vehicle. Fuel-efficiency ratings are posted on the price stickers of new cars and are also available from the manufacturers and the federal EPA.

When driving, accelerate gradually, maintain a steady speed and avoid sudden stops and starts. Coast to stops when possible. Limit use of electrical systems, such as air conditioners, stereos and power windows.

And keep your car well maintained. Keeping your car washed and waxed will make it more aerodynamic. Properly inflated tires also will reduce drag on your car's engine. And use an energy-conserving motor oil.

Valvoline makes oils in several viscosity grades that will provide up to 2.7 percent better fuel economy over regular motor oils. These oils are marked as "Energy Conserving" or "Energy ConservingII."

DRIVE AS LITTLE AS POSSIBLE

This may seem impractical to even the most ecologically minded motorist, but there are some simple tactics to accomplish this without too much inconvenience. Plan your trips to take the most direct route, or the one with the fewest stops. Avoid construction zones and heavy traffic areas that require idling for long periods.

And combine trips as much as possible. Stop by the store on the way home from work, rather than making an extra trip out in the evening. Or, select a dry cleaner next to your grocery store to knock off two chores with one stop.

Finally, consider public transportation and car pooling whenever possible.

These steps are just a small part of what's necessary to save the Earth from environmental threats. But with a little extra effort, we can continue to drive and have a world worth driving in.

Pampering your car's finish

By Joel Simon

Copley News Service

Plenty of things are out to get your car's beautiful finish—the dust and grime that are always filtering out of the air, marauding pigeons, heat, tree sap, bug juice, acid rain and who knows what-all.

The finish is only about .0005 of an inch thick, and it needs all the help we can give it.

What to do? Here are several tips for keeping your car's outside shiny and new-looking. They involve cultivating some good habits

- Park in the shade wherever possible, but not under sapdripping trees such as most evergreens.
- Frequently use a vinyl protector like Armor-ALL or one of - its clones on vinyl roofs, seats, and dashboards.

- If the social situation permits, leave the windows open a crack to reduce interior heat.
- Wash your car once a week, but avoid those drive-through places with the revolving brushes. Experts disagree on the "softcloth" drive-throughs. Most think they're marginally OK, as long as they don't recycle their water.
- By far the best way to wash your car is in your driveway. Do it in the shade if possible, use lots of fresh water and rinse out your cloths (use cotton, not sponges) often.
- Rub in straight lines, not a circular pattern. That way if you do scratch the finish, it won't form those eye-catching spirals.
- Use a detergent designed for car washing. Dishwashing detergent will remove the wax. (more on wax in a minute).
- If you add a little salad oil to the wash water, it will make better suds and is less prone to scratch.

- Dry with a soft chamois or cotton cloths. Lay it flat on the finish and drag it across the metal. This will let the car dry without water spots.
- Wax several times a year. Do this in the shade. Apply the wax with a soft cotton cloth (a diaper is ideal) and buff it off when it has dried to a haze.
- Use a low-abrasive wax if the finish is still shiny and new if the finish is a little oxidized (dull and chalky) an abrasive wax will remove the oxidation layer and restore the shine.
- If the finish is heavily oxidized, use a rubbing compound and some elbow grease first, then quickly follow with a protective coat of wax.
- You know it's time to wax again when water stops beading on the surface.

What's new in collision-proofing

By Sharon Williams Copley News Service

Much-ballyhooed braking systems. Celebrated car seats. Highly touted head restraints. In the car industry, it seems that flash, dash, speed and shine have taken a backseat to something much smarter—safety.

And for good reason. More than 2 million Americans are killed or injured in auto accidents each year, and passengers and drivers alike have an 84 percent chance of being in a driving accident involving injuries during their lifetimes, say expents.

And if those facts aren't sobering enough, consider that automobile accidents cost Americans $72 billion annually.

Still, one can keep from becoming a statistic in a world filled with so many cars and so many risks; in fact, the road ahead looks bright for motorists of the 1990s and beyond. Following are some tips and trends geared toward safety.

WHAT'S NEW

Automakers have discovered that safety sells, and they're finding that safety features are one way to distinguish their products from others. The spotlight on safety fits right in with the decade's focus on home, family and basic values.

This is good news for motorists, who now can look for cars equipped with structural improvements that minimize crash forces on passengers, safety roll cages, anti-lock brakes, head restraints, easy-to-read instrument panels, three-point automatic restraint belts, air bags and traction control systems.

Some makers have even boosted horsepower, since many people say a stronger engine makes them feel safer when passing.

And there's even more on the horizon. A few features of the future include headlight washing systems that make it as easy to clean your headlamps as your windshield, and electrochromic mirrors that automatically eliminate headlight glare from other vehicles without the driver having to flip a day/night switch.

BUCKLING UP BABY

When one considers that car crashes are the No. 1 killer of young children, claiming more lives and causing more injury than any other type of accident or disease, it's easy to see why a car seat is the most valuable gift you can give your little one.

You should begin buckling Junior in as a newborn, preferably on the trip home from the hospital, and keep him in an appropriate seat until he weighs 60 pounds and is ready to graduate into a seat belt.

Learning the ABCs of car seats is simple. First off, there are three kinds of car seats: infant, convertible and booster.

Infant car seats protect babies from birth until they weigh about 20 pounds. A convertible seat also can be used from birth until 20 pounds—facing rearward—and then it can be turned around and used for a child weighing from between 20 to 40 pounds—facing forward.

A booster seat is recommended for a child weighing 40 to 60 pounds.

How does one select a model from the fleet of car seats available? The "best" car seat, according to the American Academy of Pediatrics, is one that fits properly in your car, is easy to use and is appropriate for your child's size and weight.

The seat must be used correctly — the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration estimates that one out of every three car seats is not—and must meet current federal safety standards.

Parents who own a used seat should know that those manufactured before Jan. 1, 1981, do not meet today's safety standards, and all seat owners should be on the lookout for models that have been recalled by the manufacturer.

There's no doubt about it—car seats are serious business. But that doesn't mean that parents and children can't have fun choosing among the various makes and models once they're determined safe.

Many car seats, for instance, are upholstered in a variety of patterns and colors, . . . and can be personalized with stickers. Some approved models even convert into carriers — a real breakthrough for arm-weary parents. Household carriers, however, should never be used as car seats.

The figures show why fussing with a car seat is well worth the trouble: In 1988, 690 children passengers under age 5 were killed in car crashes, and more than 100,000 were injured. More than half of these deaths and injuries could have been prevented with the proper use of a car safety seat, according to the NHTSA.

Car seats have even gone to the dogs. Several companies now make pet seats or harnesses that attach to seat belts. Both restrain animals in case of collision or sudden stop and keep affectionate pets from wandering over to visit their owners.

BRACE YOURSELF

Even in this day of automatic safety belts and air bags, the phrase "Buckle up" carries a lot of weight.

The statistics speak for themselves: The NHTSA estimates motorists who wear their safety belts properly are 40 percent to 55 percent more likely to avoid moderate, serious or fatal injuries than those who drive unbuckled. In addition, a safety belt and air bag used together are up to 60 percent effective in reducing similar injuries.

More motorists are getting the message.

FALL CAR CARE '91

The spotlight on safety fits in with the decade

The NHTSA estimates 47 percent of Americans currently buckle up, compared with less than 12 percent in the early 1980s. Since 1983, safety belts have saved 15,200 lives—10,300 of which the administration attributes directly to the nation's 35 belt-use

Manufacturers, too, are jumping on the buckling bandwagon, making it easier than ever to buckle up. Some cars don't give you any choice; manufacturers are required by the U.S. Department of Transportation to install automatic restraints—either air bags or belts—in all models dating 1990 and beyond.

And, thanks to federal law, all new automobiles now come equipped with rear-seat shoulder harness beits, which have proven in some studies to be more effective than lap

What if you own an older car that was manufactured between 1972 and 1990 and that lacks rearseat shoulder harnesses? You're not out of luck, since chances are good that you can update it with a retrofit kit.

To locate such a kit, shop around, comparing prices quoted from car dealerships and service centers, or write the automobile manufacturer. If you're purchasing a used car, stipulate that the dealership install rearseat harnesses before you drive it off he lot.

PREPARE FOR THE WORST

No one likes to envision being stranded on a freeway shoulder during rush hour. But breakdowns and weather-related stalls are democratic—that is, they happen to every-

The best way to prepare for what might lie ahead is through prevention. Keeping your car in good repair by having it serviced at the appropriate times every year—even when it doesn't appear necessary—can circumvent many problems down the road, savexperis.

It's also smart to assemble a driving kit. even though it might take up valuable space in your trunk. Items you should bring along include a flashlight, nares, washer fluid, snow brush, tool kit, flat fixer, medical kit, shovel, jumper cables, spare tire, blanket, gloves, traction mats, rags, extra fan and alternator belts, extra antifreeze, tire chains, ropes, reflective tape, white nag or cloth to use as a flag, reflective vest or light-colored jacket, "Send help" sign, jack, lug wrench and fire extinguisher.

A membership in a motor club also can prove a lifesaver when car trouble strikes. Such clubs help put you in touch with the towing and road services you need and often provide safe-driving tips and weather-related information.

MOTORCYCLE SAVVY

No longer the radical, freewheeling easy rider associated with the late 1960s and early 1970s, that leather-clad cyclist in the rear-view mirror is likely to be a neighbor. teacher or dentist.

If you're a 1990s cyclist, you're also likely to be more concerned with safety than those before you. Thousands of cyclists, for example, have learned the skills needed for safe and enjoyable riding in courses recognized by the Motorcycle Safety Foundation.

Motorcycle safety is largely dependent on what you wear. A helmet can protect you from serious head injury in the event of an accident, and brightly colored clothing will increase your visibility. Put reflective tape on your helmet and jacket if you ride at night.

ENJOY THE RIDE

Driving yourself without driving yourself crazy might seem impossible, given bumper-to-bumper traffic, freeway shootings and other highway horrors. But by staying relaxed and alert, you'll not only make getting there more pleasurable, but greatly reduce the risk of an accident.

So how does a road warrior become a pavement pacifist? Instead of frantically nipping radio channels while waiting out a traffic jam, try slipping a book-on-cassette, a stress-reduction tape or some soothing music into the player. You'll be more relaxed and less prone to impatient, aggressive driving tactics.

Another suggestion: Make yourself more comfortable. Install a custom seat that's designed to help you maintain correct orthopedic posture, a back support that will give your back a big break, or even a wooden bead seat cover that provides an acupiessure-type massage. Special driving shoes feel like slippers, yet provide extra traction on the clutch, brake and accelerator

Those who drive a lot at night should ask their opticians about eyeglasses with antireflection coatings, which will eliminate reflections from the glass surface.

Worried about driving defensively in bad weather? Learn how to avoid an accident on wet, foggy, snowy or icy roads by taking a course through one of the nation's driving schools.

Another suggestion: Consider a car phone. This trendiest of car accessories will prove invaluable during an emergency or breakdown.

Based on our experience, the chances of your gas furnace, hot water boiler and water heater needing service are greater than you might think. That's why the Heating Security Plan makes so much sense.

For a reasonable fee, you get round-the-clock protection that'll save you from expensive service calls and repairs through August 31, 1992. If your equipment fails, simply make one call to Consumers Power and you'll get prompt, priority service.

The plan covers service calls, and most replacement parts are free. And when you get coverage on your gas furnace or hot water boiler, you have the option of buying coverage on your water heater, too. See the back of this brochure for an exact description of what's covered under the plan.

Parts covered:

The cost is $69 for each furnace or hot water boiler and $12 for each gas water heater. You can save $5 off your total if you sign up before October 15. Seniors 65 and older save $5 off the total anytime, along with the early sign-up discount. The senior discount applies to your residence only.

Signing up is easy. Just complete the contract on back and send it along with your check or money order to: Heating Security Plan, Consumers Power, 530 West Willow, P.O. Box 30162, Lansing, MI, 48909-9855. Your coverage begins when we process your contract—usually three working days. We'll send written verification along with a copy of your contract.

You can sign up more than one residence, too. You just need a separate contract for each. Call your local Consumers Power office for extra forms. And you can give the plan as a gift to an elderly or handicapped friend or relative. Your local office can also help with that.

When the time comes you need service, call Consumers Power and mention that you're a Heating Security Plan customer. One of our employees or authorized agents (with special identification) will be dispatched promptly.
