Lennox alters tax stance

By MIKE TYREE

On second thought, perhaps an administration fee on township property tax bills wasn't such a good idea. Or so township Supervisor Betty Lennox determined earlier this week when she announced her opposition to a 1-percent add-on fee to local tax

In a statement Monday evening to the township board, Lennox said she would not back a fee recommended by the township's budget review committee.

I will recommend that we adopt a balanced budget without any in-Creases in township taxes or administrative fees, she said.

Recycling accord

nears

By MIKE TYREE

· Northville Township's mandatory curbside recycling program could begin by late January or early February, if a handful of issues are resolved

Foremost on the agenda is approval of contract wording between recycling services provider Browning-Ferris Industries and three local agencies, including the township, the Western Townships Utilities Authority (WTUA) and Yosilanti Community Utility Authority (YCUA), said Robert Line, BFI director of external affairs.

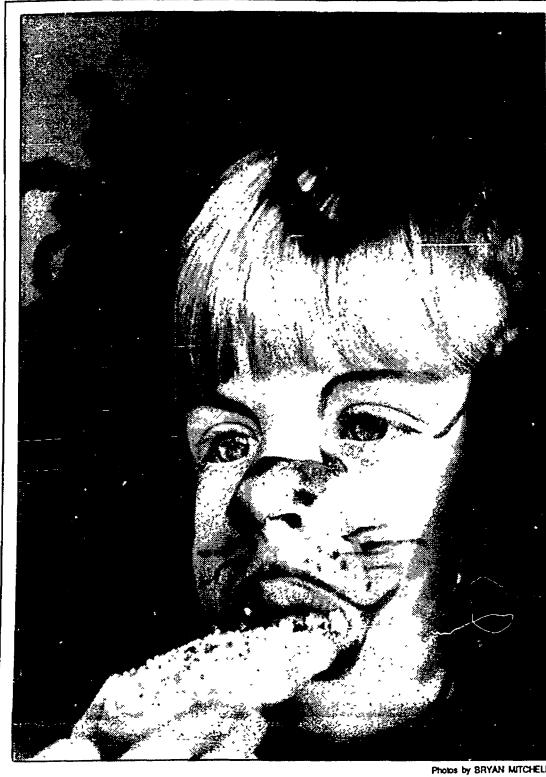

Officials have hammered out the bulk of an agreement between Northville Township and BFI which will provide four years of free recycling services for single-family residences in the township. Line said. Some issues remain between between BFI and YCUA, he said.

In addition to the free recycling, BFI will pump approximately $64,000 a year for four years into the township's general fund, township Supervisor Betty Lennox said.

In return, the township will provide BFI with what township officials last spring termed "excess" sewer capacity in Northville's allotment of the WTUA sewer system.

Line said free recycling collections will be limited to single-family residences. He said that decision was reached prior to announcement of

Some local youngsters got a head start Tuesday with a party at the Community Center. Above, lion Colleen Moreland munches on a cookie. At left, dalmations Lauren Keefer, right, and Lori Hoelger. Trick-or-treating hours run from 6 to 8 p.m. tonight. In addition, the city Fire Department hosts its annual Community Halloween Party at the fire hall at 6 p.m., followed by costume judging at the community center starting at 7:30. The party will feature popcorn, cotton candy, apple cider, soft drinks and other treats. Costume prizes will be awarded in five age groups: newborn to 3, 4-6, 7-11, 12-15, and 16 and older.

Baseline Jug football clash tomorrow

Can Northville keep the jug? When Northville High School meets Novi High School this Friday night in the annual season-ending football clash, a little more than bragging rights will be at stake. It's the fourth annual battle for the Baseline Jug, the traveling trophy which hasn't ever traveled.

That's because Northville has won the game for all three years of the jugs existence. Prior to that, Novi usually dominated the contest.

Mustang coach Darrell Schuma-cher looks for an intense game. They're a coming-on football team," he said of the Wildcats. "I think it's going to be a heck of a football game."

Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m. Friday at Novi High School, on the east side of Taft Road just below Ten Mile.

The Northville Record and its sister paper, The Novi News, instituted the Baseline Jug in 1988 to commemorate the annual game which closes out the regular football season. There is space on the jug to write in the winner and the score of each game—although, to repeat, that's al ways been Northville so far. It's decorated in a half-and-half color scheme — half the Mustangs' orange and black, and half the Wildcats' green and white.

City sees red; may consider tax hikes

By SCOTT DANIEL Staff Writer

The City of Northville is in a financial hole and it may be a while before it climbs out.

That's the word after an audit of the city for fiscal 1990-91 revealed a deficit of more than $450,000. Southfield-based Plante & Moran painted the bleak financial picture to city council at a special meeting

City Manager Gary Word said three avenues are open for Northville to reverse the deficit. He said the city must raise revenues, cut expenses or a combination of both.

Mayor Christopher Johnson agreed with Word's assessment.

I think we have to start looking at all of these items," he told council members. We have a deficit now that we have to deal with."

James Eagan presented the audit to the council Monday. He told council members the deficit was generated by three areas of the city's budget.

A total $130,279 deficit was recorded for the general fund in fiscal 90-91, according to the audit. A tax anticipation note, funds borrowed against tax collections, was responsible for the bulk of that figure.

The street improvment fund showed just over a $300,000 deficit. Eagan said the city's parking fund was also more than $330,000 in the

The sum of those figures would indicate a deficit of more than $750,000. But, Word said the parking fund monies would be recouped through the sale of bonds.

To help the city out of its problems, Plante & Moran recommended that the city formulate a financial master plan. Eagan explained the value of such a plan. The objective of the financial master plan is to (devise) a way to get out of the deficit and restore the fund balance," he said, "so that you don't have to operate in a financial crisis mode. Eagan said the plan should aim at eliminating the deficit and look toward the city's future. The Southfield firm made a dozen recommendations for issues that should be addressed in such a plan.

The suggestions focused on ways for the city to increase revenues - including raising property and other

Hansen earns citizen honor

By SUZANNE HOLLYER Staff Writer

Jean Hansen has an addition to make on her resume.

The school board president, League of Women Voters member, American Association of University Women member, mother, and skills enhancement trainer was announced at a Surday brunch as the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce Citizen of the Year.

That honor carried over into a

Monday night Northville school board meeting where Hansen wore a corsage presented by board

Hansen is "richly deserving of the very handsome plaque given to her by the chamber," Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski said.

The school board president said she was surprised and honored by the recognition.

FOOD BANK NEEDS SPACE: The food bank of Northville Civic Concern is in desperate need of a new location.

It is currently located in the Senior Citizens Center on Cady Street. There is not adequate space at the center for storing and sorting the donated food stuffs. The group currently has a storage area upstairs measuring eight feet by 14 feet by five feet high.

The organization seeks a rent free, heated, ground floor area large enough for standing, sorting and storing. If anyone can help with a storage area in the Northville-Novi area, call 349-1509.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED: Northville Civic Concern is asking for volunteers to help on the second and fourth Fridays of the month to sort donated food stuffs and prepare food sacks for the needy of the area.

Usually the hours are in the morning from 9 to 12. Civic Concern is located in the Senior Citizens Center on Cady Street. The group is especially in need of people who are able to lift sacks of groceries and boxes of food donated. They must be picked up, brought to the center, and sorted. If you can volunteer to help with this project, call 349-1509.

FOR RENT: Got some office space for rent? The Northville Community Chamber of Commerce wants to hear from you.

The chamber maintains a list of available office space in Northville as a service to anyone interested in renting. The chamber can function as a referral service, connecting landlords with space to potential tenants.

Charges considered after accident

By SUZANNE HOLLYER Staff Writer

A Northville Public School bus driver was fired and faces formal charges after an accident involving a school bus.

Northville city police have asked the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office for a warrant to arrest the driver following an Oct. 14 bus accident that allegedly involved alcohol.

The bus driver allegedly hit a "no parking" sign on Orchard Drive while driving a bus with three children as passengers. City police later were called to the district bus garage by Assistant Superintendent for Administrative Services David

י ולל. מכר כל 13 ש הפירג

Bolitho, who said the driver had admitted to drinking alcohol.

Police asked the woman to perform dexterity tests. Though she could slowly recite the alphabet. police said she was unable to list the months in the year. The woman also could not count from four to one backwards on her fingers or backwards from 20, the report said. She could not stand for 10 seconds holding one foot off the ground, police said.

The woman agreed to a blood test and was taken to Providence Hospital where her blood alcohol level was tested at .35, according to police reports. She was later admitted to a hospital for therapy, police and school officials said. A driver is considered legally intoxicated if his or her blood alcohol level is .10 or higher. Police are required to bring suspected drunk drivers to the hospital for emergency health care if their blood alcohol level is .35 or higher.

The driver has no previous alcohol-related offenses, police said.

The former bus driver was driving bus route No. 15 at the time of the accident. She is no longer employed with the school district, said Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski. Her afternoon route included stops at Old Village School and Moraine Elementary.

The driver told police she began drinking at 8 a.m., according to police reports. The accident occurred in the afternoon after most children had been dropped off.

Restaurant snared in township alcohol sting

A local business last week was cited by township police for selling alcohol to a minor.

Police said an 18-year-old female, working as a decoy in the Unlawful Sale of Alcohol to Minors (USAM) program, purchased an alcoholic beverage at Riffles Restaurant, 18730 Northville Road, late Oct. 18.

A bartender reportedly served the beverage without asking the decoy for identification, police said. A report of the operation, along with the restaurant's liquor license number, will be forwarded to the state Liquor Control Commission.

Five other local businesses were checked by the USAM team Oct. 18. Police said the decoy attempted unsuccessfully to purchase alcohol at the Six 'N Park Party Shop. Cap 'N Cork. O'Sheehan's. Meijer, and Sheehan's on the Green.

VEHICLE STOLEN FROM MELJER LOT: A Northville man told township police that his 1991 GMC Jimmy was stolen from the Meijer lot at 20401 Haggerty sometime between 8-8:50 p.m. Oct. 24.

Detroit police located the vehicle the following day at 17045 Grand River. Police said the vehicle's steering column was punched, all wheels and tires were stolen, the radio missing, and the dashboard damaged. OUIL: Township police logged four arrests for operating a vehicle under the influence of alcohol last week. The incidents included:

A 23-year-old Farmington Hills man was charged with OUIL after his arrest on Haggerty north of Six Mile early Oct. 27. Police said the man drove left of center for a distance of about 500 feet and stopped for a traffic light in an outside lane, at which time police pulled him over. Preliminary breath tests indicated that the man blood-alcohol level was .18. He later refused to take a Breathalyzer test.

A 33-year-old Northville man was charged with OUIL after his arrest early Oct. 27 on Silver Springs south of Eight Mile. The man posted a .18 blood-alcohol level during preliminary breath test, but refused to take a Breathalyzer test, police said.

A 29-year-old Westland man found slumped over the wheel of his vehicle in the drive-through lane at McDonald's, 39700 Five Mile, late Oct. 22 was charged with OUIL. township police said. The man, who has a history of alcohol and driving convictions, refused preliminary breath tests and Breathalyzer tests, police said.

A 37-year-old Farmington Hills man was charged with OUIL Oct. 22 after his arrest on Eight Mile near Haggerty, police said. Breathalyzer tests indicated the man's blood-alcohol level was .17, police said.

MEIJER THEFTS RE-PORTED: Township police were busy processing alleged shoplifters at Meijer last week. Seven larcenies were reported at the store, including:

An 18-year-old Walled Lake man and a 15-year-old Nowl youth were charged with larceny Oct. 22 after they attempted to steal an air cleaner from the store. The Walled Lake man had prior convictions for larceny, police said, and also had an outstanding warrant for reckless driving from the Wolverine Lake police department.

A 33-year-old Detroit man was charged with larceny after he attempted to steal two cartons of cigarettes from the store early Oct. 26.

A 46-year-old Farmington Hills woman was charged with larceny after she attempted to steal several items, including shrimp sauce, from Meijer Oct. 25.

A 30-year-old Detroit woman, a 33-year-old Detroit woman, and a 13-year-old Detroit girl were charged with larceny after their arrest at Meijer Oct. 23. Police said the three, with the assistance of several young children, attempted to steal more than $600 worth of clothing, cologne alcohol, shoes, and other items.

A 52-year-old Northville woman was charged with larceny after she attempted to steal cigarettes from Meijer Oct. 23.

A 29-year-old Detroit woman and a 47-year-old Detroit woman were charged with larceny after their arrest Oct. 26 at Meijer. Police said the pair attempted to steal clothing, cigarettes, and personal items from the store. The 29-year-old was a Meijer employee. The older woman also was cited for interfering with a police officer after she reportedly gave a false name and address to arresting officers.

SUSPENDED LICENSES FOUND ON TRAFFIC STOPS: City police stopped a South Lyon man Oct. 25 at 7:30 p.m. for having expired plates, police said. Police discovered the man had failed to appear in court on a suspended license charge. The man was arrested and released on a $100

A Warren man was stopped by city police for not having tail lights on Oct. 27. Police discovered this man also had an outstanding ticket for driving on a suspended license. He was arrested and released on a $100 bond.

A second South Lyon man was stopped on Oct. 28 for speeding. Police found he had an outstanding ticket for driving on a suspended license. He was arrested and transported to the city police station with his infant daughter. He was later released on a $300 bond.

WALLET, JACKETS STOLEN AT NORTHVILLE DOWNS: A Detroit woman had her wallet stolen from the Northville Downs racetrack, 301 S. Center, on Oct. 25, according to police reports. She left her wallet on a bench with a man, police said. The man left the bench and the wallet was missing on his return. The wallet contained $10 and identification.

On the same day, a waist-length leather jacket was taken from a chair at the Northville Downs. Its owner was placing a bet at the time of the theft, police said. The jacket is valued at $165.

A second jacket was taken, also on Oct. 25, from a chair at the Northville Downs. The jacket was later recovered by city police, but a wallet valued at $10 was missing from its pocket. The wallet was found in a bathroom at the track the next day.

COAT STOLEN AT HIGH SCHOOL: A Northville High School student reported a $800 leather trench coat was stolen from her locker on Oct. 28. The locker was not locked, she told police. She haif jammed it so it would stay open be cause she had a broken arm. Her friends were aware the locker was not locked, she told police, but she did not suspect her friends of the theft.

MDOP: Sometime between Oct. 25-26, the city-owned Scout. Building/Senior Citizens Center, 215 W. Cady, was damaged with waster. Police said the damage was done when someone used a special key to turn on a faucet with an attached hose outside the building. The hose was placed in a window on the side of the building, police said. When it was discovered, a foot of water had accumulated in the building. An estimated $300 damage was done.

WOMAN HITS CURB HEAD.
ON: A Plymouth woman driving south on Taft Road on Oct. 26 told police she thought she was on Beck Road. That's why, she said in police reports, she continued south after Taft ends at Eight Mile. She drove off the road and was ticketed for failure to wear a seat belt.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Poiice at 349-1234 of Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

chooses a Citizen of the Year, said Executive Director Laurie Marrs.

Nominations come from community members, businesses, clubs and organizations, she said. The committee chooses four finalists and, eventually, a winner.

Nominees must be Northville city or township residents who are active members in organizations that improve the community. They must show a concern for the community, environment and family and be involved in plans to implement change in those areas.

Finally, nominees must be a positive role model.

Hansen was selected for her combined efforts in various local organizations, Marrs said.

Hansen is an active member of the League of Women Voters, the Northville / Novi chapter of the American Association of University Women and the Northville School Board.

She is the current school board president, and she has served as the president and membership chair for the Association of University of Hansen also has two college-age children and she works for Ford Motor Co. in its Livonia transmission plant in skills enhancement.

The chamber does not release the names of groups or individuals who enter nominations, Marrs said, but Hansen had a few ideas about who nominated her.

Hansen guessed her nomination came from more than one source. She thinks the responsible parties were school board members and AAUW members.

Northville schools had to do a little belt-tightening after final figures on a tax-base-sharing plan were sub-tracted from its budget.

By SUZANNE HOLLYER Staff Writer

Under a plan recently approved in the state Legislature, tax-base sharing requires districts considered property-wealthy by the state's funding formula to share increases in tax revenue from commercial and industrial property with other school districts in the state.

Northville will lose about $200,000 to that plan. Combined with a "recapture" of state aid funds from districts like Northville, the district had to cut about $250,000 out of its budget.

Recapture refers to a state mechanism for equalizing funding to school districts that takes money intended to fund state-mandated programs from districts like Northville and uses it to fund education in poorer areas.

As a result, students and teachers in Northville Public Schools will take a few fewer field trips this year.

And some classes might not get the new textbooks that were expected.

Textbook purchases in the amount of $60,000 were budgeted this year. Only $50,000 had been spent to date. Administrators halted the purchase of further books.

Field trips were reduced, saving $15,000 in the budget. Scheduled athletic events will go on, as will other essential trips, said Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski. Other field trips will not be scheduled, he said.

The capital expenses of the instruction department were halted. saving $25,000 that had not been spent. The instruction department also cut $76,397 from its budget for items like school improvement plans. funding for committees and curriculum-related, staff development days.

No new buses will be purchased this year because $25,000 was pulled from the transportation budget.

Rezmierski warned that the district could work without a new bus this year, but it should not allow the bus fleet to become very old.

The Legislature and the governor are trying to "balance the budget at the expense of local governments."

> ROBERT MCMAHON School Board Treasurer

Other victims of the budget cuts include the media centers, which are losing $15,000; software purchases. cut by $40,000; and administrative conferences, cut by $5,000.

The revised budget will be $205, 103 leaner. District officials did not cut $44,897 that would make up for all the money lost to state cuts. Rezmierski said the district hopes to make up the nearly $45,000 by saving on utility expenses. He said original estimates for things like gas, water and electricity were made for the worst case. He's hoping the winter might not be so cold that the heat bills use up all of their allocated money. The district could have budgeted for the $250,000 loss better, Rezmierski said, if the School Aid Act, which included the tax base sharing plan, had passed earlier.

School budgets must be complete in July. The act passed in October. He said state attempts at equalizing education do not go very far toward reaching their goals.

Poorer districts get very little money, he said, in comparison to the amount of money lost in Northville. The cuts were presented to the Northville school board on Monday. Treasurer Robert McMahon said he feels legislators and the governor are attempting to balance the budget at the expense of local governments." He said cities, townships and school districts have been affected. Rezmierski said the board will be presented with a revised budget at its next meeting. The meeting will be held on Nov. 11 at Old Village School. 405 W. Main St., at 7:30 p.m.

Township committee recommends tax bill fee

Seven faces graced this year's township budget committee lineup, and the group wrapped the arduous review process with a lengthy list of recommendations to the township board.

Committee member Frank St. Louis on Monday discussed the recommendations with the township board and explained problems the group had with the proposed 1992 budget.

"We did have a very difficult time this year... coming up with ways to balance the budget," St. Louis said. We're operating this place on a shoestring; until we can get more revenues, (it will be) even more difficult in the

Other members of the review committee were Wes Henrikson, John Sassaman, Supervisor Betty Lennox, Manager Richard Henningsen, Treasurer Jack Hosmer, and Finance Director Dwayne Harrigan.

St. Louis said the committee recommended a 1-percent administration fee to summer and winter property tax bills to help balance the budget. He attempted to refute reports that the fee was a tax.

"This is not a tax; it's an administrative fee," he said. The township needs to get some help to process this paperwork.

The township dumped its administration fee two years ago. After initially supporting a new fee, Lennox on Monday said she would oppose the measure.

Trustee Thomas Handyside also questioned the need for the fee.

"We have staff for that (to handle paperwork)," he said. We should charge the county for (tax bill handling)." St. Louis also said the committee recommended that the township research inclusion in a district library. which would create a special millage-supported library and remove the local government funding of library

Additionally, the committee said the township should consider hiring a public safety director to oversee its police and fire departments. Such a move could cut administration costs, he said.

The board rejected a public safety director proposal in 1990, and members remained lukewarm to the proposal Monday evening.

The committee came up with additional proposals, including a request that the township build a 4-5 percent fund balance (it currently has none), develop a five-year Capital Improvements Plan, and devise a two-year projected township budget with built-in inflationary increases each year.

The board seemed receptive to those ideas, as well as a plan to require commercial fire inspection fees.

Health insurance and fringe benefits costs for employees prompted considerable discussion. St. Louis said those costs were "going out of sight."

Henrikson did not attend the budget meeting but said in a letter that fringe benefits were "out of control." Henrikson said fringes paid to all areas of township and shared services amounted to approximately $634,000 ditures slightly exceeded that figure, but the board was slated to make light cuts to create a balanced budget.

Township revenues for 1992 are estimated to increase by $450,000, but expenditures also climbed. Several programs and departments at township hall suffered funding cuts, including finance, elections, hall and grounds, general administration, and shared services.

Others seemed to brave the ongoing recession quite nicely. The building department, planning and zoning, planning commission, police and fire departments witnessed funding increases.

Approximate total increases among those departments is $380,000 for 1992, based on figures provided by the township finance department,

Seventh-graders win again

Meads Mill Middle School seventh-graders won a spirit week contest that helped collect food and paper products for Civic Concern. In total, Meads Mill students collected 1,683 items during the week of Oct. 21, including canned food, peanut butter and paper products. Two seventh-grade students who brought in the most cans will get to play the role of principal for a day. Christopher Bond and Brian Wagner each earned close to 100 points in the drive. Products were awarded one or two points each. Eighth-grade can collectors vied for a chance at lunch with the principal. David Longridge will buy lunch for Howard Fan and a friend at the restaurant of Fan's choice. The biggest collector of cans for the sixth grade will be rewarded with lunch from a fast food restaurant served at the school by a teacher. Jessica McParland won for the sixth grade. Pictured are eighth-grade organizers of the can drive. From left to right, they are Ryan Winn, Jeff Nield, Ty Fowler and Aaron Nelson.

Two firms left in city search for consultant

By SCOTT DANIEL Staff Writer

The city's search for a planning consultant has been narrowed to two candidates.

The City Council will interview Farmington Hills-based McKenna Associates and Ann Arbor-based Carlisle Associates on Nov. 12. The city's new planning consultant will be selected after the interview

"The intent would be for the council to make a final determination at that time," said City Manager Gary Word. There is a general feeling that these two best represent the future of the City of Northville."

The firms have survived a field of seven hopefuls that applied for the slot after the departure of consultant Don Wortman from Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May to Carlisle Associates earlier this year.

Wortman was ALNM's representative in Northville for nearly four years. The city first considered retaining Wortman at Carlisle Associates, but in August decided to entertain proposals from other planning consulting companies.

Four firms interviewed and made presentations to the council in mid-October. That meeting produced no clear-cut choice for the vacancy,

The Planning Commission screening committee met twice subsequently to narrow that field. The committee recommended McKenna and Carlisle for a second round of interviews.

Word said the choice between the two will be "a tough decision." He said the city isn't leaning toward either, but selecting Carlisle, with Wortman, would be a "known entity."

City council agreed Monday to schedule a special meeting Nov. 12 for the interviews.

Each firm will have a half-hour to convince the council that they should be the new planning consultant for the city. McKenna and Carlisle will be asked to make 20-minute presentations outlining one or two of their best developments in communities similar to Northville.

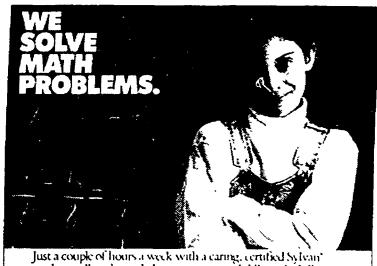

The council will then take 10 mlnutes to question each firm. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at city

DDA examines plans to move Cady Street

By SUZANNE HOLLYER Staff Writer

The Downtown Development Authority began Tuesday to look at specific plans for moving Cady Street to accommodate an expanded Cady

Street parking deck.
Four proposals to relocate Cady Street around the south side of the deck were brought to the authority

Greg Presley, an architect working with Singh Development on the design of a pedestrian bridge between the deck and Singh's MainCentre building brought a fifth proposal that would incorporate a soccer field and additional paved parking on property located on the northwest corner of Beal and Griswold streets.

Presley's plan would save the city money in land acquisition, he said, if it could make a trade with the Northville Downs racetrack.

Northville Downs would get about 300 paved and lighted parking spaces and the city would get land for a soccer field.

Mayor Chris Johnson said Northville Downs was involved in early plans to relocate Cady Street, although the city has no formal agreement with the racetrack.

DDA member William Demray, a Main Street dentist, asked if the Cady Street relocation was intended to get traffic through the center of town without driving on Main Street. One layout for the relocation had the new Cady Street extended in a straight line from Center Street to Griswold. which Demray said would make leaving town on Cady Street easier.

The other three plans presented by city administration would require drivers to make turns to leave the center of town via Cady Street.

Johnson said the city's master plan addresses the downtown as a destination. Drivers wishing to avoid the downtown area in leaving Northville can take Beck Road, he said.

The city has not set the size of a bond issue that would be needed to finance the parking deck and Cady Street relocation, Johnson said.

He said unsure financial conditions on the state level and a potential downgrading of the bonds value could prevent the city from extending the relocated Cady Street as far as bers on Nov. 19, Dec. 3 and Dec. 17.

suggested in some of the proposals. The four city-proposed Cady Street relocation plans were estimated to range in cost from $342,400 to $718,600. No estimate was provided with Presley's plan.

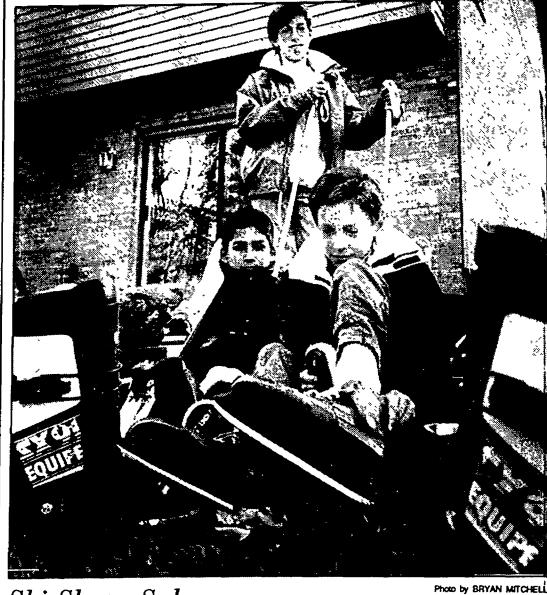

The least expensive proposal would wrap a new Cady Street around the parking deck from Center Street on the west to the old Cady Street on the north.

The most expensive plan would add an extension of the new Cady Street east to Griswold.

Presley suggested the city could complete the least-expensive Cady Street relocation. Then in five to 10 years, he said, the city could add an extension on the new Cady Street.

Johnson asked Downtown Development Authority members to consider all of the plans until the next meeting. Presley also asked the group to consider discussing the manner of business they would like to see downtown with the Chamber of Commerce at its next meeting.

The authority is scheduled to meet at 8 a.m. in the City Hall conference room on Nov. 5. The group meets again in the City Hall council cham-

Ambulance purchase okayed

By MIKE TYREE Staff Writer

A $300,000 fire department equipment overhaul will improve the quality and level of service for Northville Towwnship residents.

So says township Fire Chief Rick Rosselle, who on Monday walked away from a special township board meeting with an okay to purchase a new ambulance.

The ambulance — combined with a promise of two new Class A fire truck pumpers - provides an impressive facelist for the department, Rosselle

"It gives us much more dependable equipment," Rosselle said. "It improves the service and image of the fire department."

At a hefty price tag. The pumpers cost approximately $120,000 apiece, and the ambulance about $64,000, Rosselle said.

But the equipment will be purchased with funds raised through a voter-approved 1986 fire department improvement millage. The millage paid for the construction of the department's Seven Mile Road building, in addition to the new equipment, which Rosselle said was sorely

The department's current fleet of pumpers all exceed 20 years of service, just about the life expectancy limit for fire equipment, he said.

"Our trucks are very well-maintained," Rosselle said, adding that the new pumpers could be expected to last about the same amount of time. Rosselle said the new ambulance will replace one of the township's two current ambulances. Both vehicles carry high mileage, he said, and have slipped below state and federal guidelines for ambulance service.

The department will determine which of its two ambulances is in better shape, upgrade its appearance, and trade in the other.

The department puts about 10-12,000 miles er year on its ambulances, responding to beween 225-275 medical runs per year, Rosselle said. The ambulances also respond to car accidents, fires and other possible emergency runs.

Township ambulances transport patients to hospitals in extreme cases, as well, Rosselle said.

The fire trucks and ambulances should be on the road by "the end of January, or first of February, he said.

Auditors find city running a deficit crisis mode cutting back city services," the audit report states.

Plante & Moran also recommended the city review fixed assets. such as land, and explore shared services with the township. A contingency plan should also be developed for the loss of state racetrack revenues, the report said.

The city is running under the assumption that it will not receive more than $700,000 this fiscal year from the state, Word said. Gov. John Engler vetoed $3.675 million in statereturned racetrack revenue from the fiscal 1991-92 budget.

"It's been vetoed," Word said. That is the supposition. But there is an effort underway to try to convince the governor that those funds should be returned."

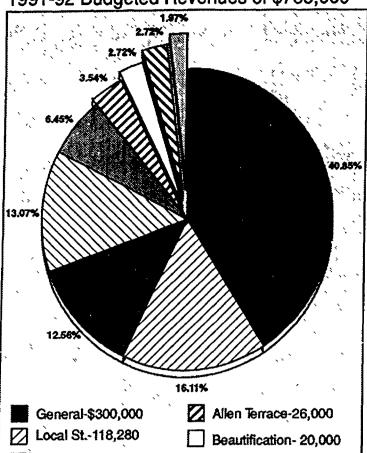

With or without the racetrack funds, the city will develop a financial master plan, he said. Word said there was no timeframe for when that plan would be completed, but a smaller deficit reduction plan would be done within two months.

That plan must be complete before the city can file a tax anticipation note with the state. Word said Northville will need to borrow funds by spring of next year to continue to operate the city.

"As it stands now," he said, "We will run out of cash in April." Word said the city would need ab-the township/BFI agreement.

Former township supervisor and current 36th District state Rep. Georgina Goss said all township residents would receive free recycling services when she announced the deal last spring.
Goss campaigned on that pledge during the 36th District race, but condominium owners and apartment dwellers will not gain curbside service, BFI and township officials now agree.

"I don't know if she (Goss) said that or not (but) my understanding was everybody was going to get it." Lennox said.

Goss on Tuesday stood by her early statements on recycling

"My understanding was free curb-side recycling for all residents in Nort' ville Township," she said.

Condominium owners and apartment dwellers may still get some form of free recycling, Line said. BFI will work with apartment complex and condominuim association managers and presidents on potential deals. BFI will allow dumping of recycl-able materials by those affected residents at its materials recovery facility on Five Mile and Napier, Line said.

BFI currently is awaiting contract approval before jumping into its township recycling program, said Maury Roach, district developer for Detroit BFI Handling Company.

"We're waiting until we have a contract that soon is to be signed." Roach said. Once the contract is signed, BFI will purchase vehicles and equipment capable of handling the township's recyclables, he said. Lennox said BFI will provide recycling education services and deliver a recycling basket to each singlefamily homeowner a week before the program begins. Recycling collections are to occur on the same day as regular trash pick-ups, she said.

Mill Race Matters

As autumn turns to winter and the beautiful colored leaves fall to the ground, Mill Race Village raps up its summer viewing season. No longer will buildings be open for viewing on Sunday afternoon, but the village still affords an opportunity to commune with the tranquility of nature. Everyone is welcome to stroll the quiet lane and share in the beauty that abounds. The docents look forward to sharing their insights on our buildings next summer.

The Northville Historical Society also looks forward to sharing the village's Christmas decorations during the Nov. 16-17 Christmas Walk from noon until five. Buildings will be decorated to commemorate the season. Admission will be $1.

On Sunday, Nov. 24 the Northville Historical Society is sponsoring a Victorian Tea Dance from 1:30 until 4:30 p.m. at the New School Church. Glen Morningstar will be the caller. Northvillians will remember Morningstar as caller from this year's Victorian Ball. If you have no background in contra dancing, join in anyway. Instruction and guidance will be offered throughout the afternoon. There will have time for some Victorian desserts as well. Cost for the afternoon is $12 per couple. Victorian attire is optional. Call 348-1845 for reservations.

Time still remains to sign up for some of the fall selection of workshops. Remaining workshops include: Counted Cross-Stitch Ornaments. Gingerbread House Making, and Herbal Remedies (all evening classes), and Saturday children's classes on marbles and pottery. Gingerbread house making will provide materials to complete one house and affords the opportunity to get together to design creations that you may then wish to enter in the city's Gingerbread House contest being offered as part of the Merchents Association Christmas festivities. That workshop is being offered on Monday. Nov. 11. For information on any or all of these workshops, call the Historical Society office at 348-1845 Monday, Wednesday or Friday morning.

Oakland County voters to decide waste plan

On Nov. 5, Oakland County voters will decide a ballot proposal to finance the proposed $500-million solid waste program, the most expensive in county history.

All registered county voters may cast a ballot on the plan, including City of Northvile residents living north of Baseline Road. Those voters will not directly participate in the plan if approved, since the entire city falls under the jurisdiction of the Wayne County trash-management

But it's the indirect impacts which have created some controversy over the proposal, particularly health and environmental concerns about the proposed county incinerator in Auburn Hills.

When people discuss potential health hazards linked to the incinerator plan, talk quickly turns to mercury the heavy metal that can cause birth defects and brain

The operating permit proposed for the Auburn Hills incinerator — the cornerstone of Oakland's proposed solid waste program - allows it to spew as much as two tons of heavy metals, including mercury, into the atmosphere each year it operates at or near capacity.

Clean Water Action (CWA) is the most recent organization to raise the issue of mercury pollution. Last week the Lansing-based environmental group called for a ban on all new incinerators in Michigan, including the one proposed for Oakland County, until laws are enacted to require that materials containing mercury be separated from the waste stream.

The organization also called for a legislative limitation on the mercury content of batteries and measures to limit airborne mercury contamination crossing state and pro-

But CWA also made a statement that irks Oakland officials who support the Auburn Hills incinerator. In a press release summarizing an 11-page report on mercury pollution in Michigan, CWA suggested Oakland officials may be less concerned about mercury contamination than state officials.

"An internal DNR memo says the actual impact of mercury released from the (proposed) incinerator (on) Lower Trout Lake may be much higher than projected by the County, the release stated. Lower Trout Lake is an Oakland County lake where mercury levels in fish are reportedly at or above recommended levels.

Local officials, including Roger Smith and Ann Hobart, deputy director and public information specialist, respectively, for the county's department of solid waste management, take umbrage at that statement and others like it.

They imply that DNR officials are more concerned than we are," said Hobart. "That's not true. We're environmentalists too.

Hobart was a county commissioner from Waterford Township before resigning to become spokesperson for the trash program.

"I've been recycling for years." Hobart said. "I took this job to promote a good solid waste program.

We trust that most of the members of Clean Water Action and other environmental groups are sincere," she Even within the DNR, there are people who support. and oppose, incineration. But they're sincere . . . I just wish they (CWA) would give us the same."

Smith concedes that county and DNR officials disagree regularly about the extent and effect of mercury contamination as well as other things. But they're all legitimate differences of opinion," he emphasized.

Part of the dispute on mercury, Smith said, stems from the fact that few agencies agree on what is considered a safe or acceptable level of mercury contamination. Furthermore, as soon as standards start to emerge, "they're changed," he said. "We used to talk in terms of parts per million. Now it's parts per billion."

Smith doesn't object to more stringent standards. "But a moving target makes it difficult to make valid companisons.

That shouldn't matter, according to anti-incineration critics like Paul H. Connett, a nationally known expert who spoke out against Oakland's incinerators in Aubum Hills and Madison Heights. He's an associate professor of chemistry at St. Lawrence University in New York but has participated in numerous international conferences on trash and waste disposal.

Connett has also been a consultant to a number of governmental agencies, including the Province of Ontario where earlier this year officials imposed a ban on new incinerators.

"There is no safe level for mercury," Connett told Oakland residents last fall. "Any science that says incinerators are safe is bad science."

As an example of out-of-control contamination, Connett and other incineration foes point to places like southeast Florida where mercury is polluting the

State officials caution against eating fish from the Everglades and say excessive levels of mercury have been found in alligators and other animals. A 4-year-old panther is believed to have died from mercury contamination after losing much of its ability to walk or see, according to a spokesman from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife

Florida officials believe the airborne mercury comes from garbage incinerators, coal or gas-fired power plants and the sugarcane industry.

But comparisons between incinerators in Florida and other states and the one proposed in Auburn Hills is unfair, according to Roger Smith, who was director of public services in Southfield before becoming deputy director of the county's solid waste management. Other incinerators simply aren't in the same category, he said.

To compare Oakland's incinerator with those in Florida, or Detroit, is like comparing the emissions of a 1992 automobile - equipped with catalytic converter and other emission-control equipment — to those of a 1965 gas guzzler.

There's just no comparison," Smith said. "Our incinerator will have bag houses, scrubbers and other mercury controls those others don't have."

Why then does the operating permit for Oakland's incinerator specify that the Auburn Hills facility is allowed to emit up to 4,000 pounds of mercury and other heavy metals?

"To begin with, heavy metals from our incinerator will be in the form of a gas spread out over a year. Smith said. Emissions will be in tiny particles (micrograms)." A microgram is the equivalent of one-millionth of a gram. More important, Smith said, those emission levels are a worst-case scenario. Actual emissions won't come close to that level, he said.

Emissions will be 99.7 percent clear. Smith said, with state officials (the regional DNR office in Livonia) monitoring output instantaneously.

But that's just the beginning. Smith emphasized. Oak-land's system may be able to eliminate virtually every chance of mercury contamination by filtering sources of the hazardous material out of the waste stream. A report submitted to the Office of Solid Waste of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency says that most mercury in municipal waste streams comes from household batteries, electric lighting, thermometers, thermostats, paint pigments, dental offices, light switches and film pack batteries.

Separate these from the waste stream, says the report. and communities can virtually eliminate mercury as a major concern.

RECORD. OPINION

Budget choices tough, but review flawed

Northville Township's $4-million 1992 budget will probably be adopted by the time you read today's paper. The budget will feature cuts recommended by members of the township's budget review committee and also could contain a few suprises from last night's township

Some departments — including community shared services programs — will feel funding cuts in the next year or two. Township employees likely must brace for cuts in health care and other fringe benefits. All departments will receive less of the township purse than desired. due to a myriad of economic factors ranging from dwindling township building revenues to increased health care costs to Lansing's perceived indifferent attitude on state revenue-sharing agreements.

It's certainly a gloom-and-doom budget and 1993 might make this one look rosy in comparison. But what does the 1992 budget mean to the average township taxpayer? For starters, remember that only about 10 percent of the average property tax bill is directed to township services, which include police, fire, and general administration. Township officials for years have wondered why residents scream at the township for their tax bills, but offer little resistance to the school's portions, which represents about 70 percent of the actual

Part of the problem is that the township collects the local tax bills. In that sense, the collector is seen as the villian, regardless of its stake in the bill. But perception problems lie deeper than that, and some township officials do little to foster any kind of credibility for their

We can tick off a lengthy list of reasons why many in the public don't trust the township: The $100,000 spent on an architect's rendering of the proposed Haller Library will forever linger in the minds of opponents of the current board. Shoddy treatment of the public during recent supervisor and treasurer appointments is well-documented. And the recent budget review process points out a number of reasons why the township seems to feel some innate need to shelter itself from the public process.

Budget review meetings were held in the early afternoon during the work week. Few residents - especially those of gainful employ — are able to attend an early afternoon session that supposedly is open to the public. No night meetings were scheduled this year, and residents appearing at Monday's public hearing sat mute, primarily because they had little background or information on specific budget numbers.

Township officials claim that afternoon meetings are beneficial because department heads are at work and are available to answer budgetary questions. But the same department heads have said they were told on many occasions not to attend the sessions. Even when budget cutters were making reduction decisions, the affected department heads say, they were told by town-ship Supervisor Betty Lennox and Manager Richard Henningsen to stay away. That type of attitude does nothing to foster communication or good will among employees, administrators, and the public. Poor communication also causes delays and frustration for the review committee.

Lennox on Monday said she would not support a move to place a 1-percent administration fee on property tax bills. That was news to anyone who sat through the budget review process, as she continually brought up and supported that idea. She obviously scrapped the plan — which was fronted by new Treasurer Jack Hosmer — after the public caught wind of the tax hike, in part from this paper. And to those who chased at us calling the administrative fee a tax: The bottom line is that it was to be an additional, required payment tacked onto individual property tax bills. That's a tax.

Budget review members worked extremely hard on this year's budget. It's tough making cuts and recommendations on items that genuinely affect public services. But a township press release that attributed recommendations solely to non-employees Frank St. Louis, Wes Henrikson and John Sassaman was misleading. Those three were a big part of the budget process, but officials Lennox, Hosmer, Henningsen and Finance Director Dwayne Harrigan were involved in every meeting and every decision. Again, Lennox and Hosmer were the mary proponents of the administrative fee plan.

The township next year needs to work to further involve the public in its budgetary process. Meetings should at least alternate between night and day, and no one should be excluded from providing budgetary input, regardless of political persuasion. Respect for and belief in government is not a given. If Northville Township officials want the public on their side, they are going to have to earn the public's trust. That may not be easy, but a determined effort to further include the public in decision-making efforts is the only way to achieve that trust.

An afternoon around town

I saw it last week, which was when I decided it would look really good in my office, what with Halloween coming up and all.

What happened was that we had been to the Saturday matinee of 'Grand Hotel' at the Fisher Theatre, and had arrived back in Northville a full 45 minutes before our dinner reservations at MacKinnon's.

We were walking around town to see what's new and kill a little time in the process, when we decided to go into Genitti's to see John and Toni. And that's where I saw it. On a shelf. Right in the middle of the Halloween display. A life-sized plastic skull with a light inside so it would glow in the dark.

"Hey, John," I said as the hapless Boston Red Sox fan bustled through the front door. "I might be interested in buying this creepy-looking skull, but I want to see how it looks with the lights on inside it before I fork over any of my hardearned cash.

Being a real personable guy, John muttered something under his breath about customer harassment, grabbed the electrical cord and plugged it in.

"It doesn't seem to be working," I observed brightly, "The lights don't light."

"The light's burned out," added Toni, who had been busy-with a group of customers at the front counter. "All you have to do is go over to the dime store and get yourself a couple of new lights. Here, take the burned-out bulb so you can match

I really wanted the skull badly so I took the bulbs and walked down to the dime story only to find they were all out of orange and green Christmas-type lights.

So I wandered across the street to Northville Pharmacy on the off chance Bill Wright might have orange and green lights...

"I don't sell 'em," said Bill when I told him what I wanted." But if I did, I'd sell 'em to you. What do you want 'em for '

I saw this neat plastic skull that glows in the dark down al; John and Toni's, but the lights don't work," I explained.

"Don't get it," he said. "The lights don't work."

I eventually made it back to Genitti's, but not before I raninto Barb Willerer, who's teaching a crafts class in Genitti's; basement. Not before I ran into Jimmy Cowie of Ann's Crafts and found out how much he's enjoying his information specialists' class at the University of Michigan. And not before ! ran into Doug Kurtis and congratulated him on winning the Detroit Marathon.

Maybe it's only because it's my hometown, but I'll tell you' this - I have one heckuva good time in downtown Northville.

We could learn from Germany

Here's the right way to train kids for good jobs in rewarding careers when they leave school:

 Give them solid vocationaltechnical training from the time they turn 10 to at least 16.

 Organize much of this training around real work in real shops in real businesses, not just in artificial labs in school. Kids spend three days a week in a business setting. Businesses pay them salaries and cover health care, provide tools and instructors.

- Integrate business into the education process. The skills needed for various careers - metalworking or banking or construction — are identified jointly by businesses, labor union and educator representatives.
- Maintain high standards. Kids who don't measure up repeat the course. At graduation, many kids are hired by the same employers where they trained.
- Here's the wrong wasy to train kids for good jobs: Treat voc-tech training as something for dummies; strss
- going to college.
- Confine job-related training to schools, where equipment is outdated and teachers have no idea what business is
- Divorce the needs of employers or unions from the decision-making process; leave curriculum design and standard-setting entirely to educators.
- Pass the kids who don't learn from grade to grade until they are dumped on the street:

Surprise! The first system is used in Baden Wuerttemberg, a state in Germany much like Michigan, with lots of auto making and high tech industry. The second is what we do here in Michigan.

Americans criticze the German system in very interesting - and revealing — ways.

They say Germans "track" their kids — that is, steer them toward college or trades. In fact, there's lots of switching be, tween tracks in Germany. And we in Michigan track kids right now: We have one track (college prep) and throw away. the other 50-70 percent.

The American fascination with college as the only legitimale outcome for school expresses itself in two other significant contrasts.

Germans have a national consensus that high skills are important to individual and national economic success. We Germans run their educational system to respond to the needs of employers and of the broader economy. Our school governance is geared to "What do parents want?" When did you see a candidate for school board campaigning as a representative of employers' needs?

The Michigan House Education Committee held hearings last week on the German system, thanks to Chairman William Keith who has been pushing this issue for some years After registering astonishment at the sense and complete-:

ness of the German system. House members naturally fell to questioning the costs. The German system is more expensive than the American, and most lawmakers couldn't get the 'T' word out of their craw.

In fact, the state Senate last week scuttled an attempt to put in place a serious job training program to cushion the loss of Michigan's safety net. Too expensive.

My own view? We're systematically short-changing our kids, building an elitist system focused on going to college and putting our economic future at risk by our reluctance to get serious about training for jobs.

No matter how much the politicians want it, there's nosilver bullet. At the end of the day, you get just about what you pay for.

Librarians are not overpaid

To the editor:

I want to thank Mike Tyree for singling out the salaries of the shared service employees for scutiny in the Oct. 24 article on the shared services budgets. It gives all of us an opportunity to learn some new things about government and librarians.

About government: The salaries listed are budgeted items, and are not guaranteed. The staff of the Northville Public Library shares in the wage freeeze in place for the City of Northville employees. I have not had a raise in 15 months (thus far): I am not complaining, just informing. My staff has shrunk from 10 employees to eight employees. In a voluntary cost-cutting move on the part of the Library Advisory Commission. We take most seriously our responsibility to balance our budget.

'The Northville Public Library serves the entire population of the City and Township of Northville: 23,539 residents. We are open six days a week, not five; we are open nine hours a day, not eight. Our clerical staff are members of the Northville Clerical Employees Association and are covered by salanës and benefits of the union with the City.

-About Libararians: It takes more than a love of reading and quiet spaces to be a librarian. To be a librarian, one must have a bachelor's degree in any discipline, then a master of science degree in Library Information Studies from a university whose school has met the strict criteria of the American Library Association. To meet State of Michigan standards for public libraries, only librarians with the master's degree may hold positions of responsibility. That is certainly the case with every librarian employed by the Northville Library.

Why is this necessary? In the past 24 hours I have personally assisted library patrons with information needs on what are the best college programs in interior design; who is William Stafford and what did he do; what is the gross domesthe product; and what is the tile of bypass voters Danielle Steele's new novel. I have been asked for instant book reviews, and what are the latest budget cuts coming out of Lansing. That's only the "reference work" aspect of my job; administrative functions such as budget planning and preparation, and forecasting trends, are part of my responsibilities.

I have been able to help each patron and answer the question correctly, because in addition to a bachelor's degree, I spent two years at the University of Michigan-learning how to be a librarian. I also have 18 years of experience plus highly developed instincts. And yet, when times get tough. people look at my job as if a volunteer could do it, and my salary as outrageous.

It should go without saying that the same is true for every librarian we employ.

Comparing the salaries at Northville with neighboring communities and "like size" communities is noteworthy; Novi Library pays entry-level librarians $23,000-$29,000 per year; administrators earn $41,000-$48,000 annually. Plymouth Library pays entry-level librarians $25,000-$35,000. Administrators earn $40,000-$55,000 annually. Independence Township pays its director $37,000-$45,000, and its librarian $27,574. Berkley Library staff are paid $28,000-$31,000 for librarians and $44,216-$48,638 for the director. This information is shared through the Detroit Area Suburban Librarians' Roundtable annual survey. Librarians are dedicated, highly trained individuals with an insatiable curiosity to find information and share it with everyone. Trust me, money is not the prime motivator for job satisfaction! But you do us a disservice when you allow people to believe that high salaries for civil servants is the cause of the financial hardship currently in place. Librarians are not overpaid, but they may well be undervalued. Remember, librarians will get you through times of no money for better than money will get you through times of no libraries.

When will government stop the game?

When is the Northville Township government going to stop playing the shell game to continually squeeze more money out of their residents? Below are two examples of their most recent attempts.

Before we hear another word about proposed tax increases for the township, let's find out where the extra money collected for garbage pickup is going. Based on information in your paper a few weeks ago, the township is changing each residential household $3.02 ($10.50-$7.48) above what the trash hauler is charging for pickup. Again, based on your estimate of 3,200 residential households this translates into an estimated annual income for the township of $115.968 ($3.02 x 3.200 x 12). This figure does not include any income they may be getting from commercial customers. Where is this "hidden tax" income being spent? I know there are probably some administration expenses, but of politicians $115,968 a year!

Now I hear the township is considering to reinstate the 1-percent property tax adminstration fee. If it is really an administration fee, should it not be a fixed fee for each tax bill? Why should it cost $60 for someone who alrady pays $6,000 in property taxes and only $20 for someone who pays $2,000? The way the township is presenting it the adminstration fee is really a "hidden" tax increase without voter approval. Otherwise, the administration fee should be the same for each taxpayer.

If the township government would stop being so deceptive. maybe the constituents would be more trusting and understanding of the community needs. These 'hidden tax" strategies are not innovative, but delusion and only foster distrust of government accountability...The City of Detroit has been doing this for years. Tom Woloszyn

Flat fees for trash pickup

To the editor:

I have finished reading October 28th's Record and talking to Mark Christensen, city tax assessor, about the proposed trash pickup

I have some major problems with a government that funds its operations with property taxes charging flat fees for essential services. Mark explained that the city reduced its mills by one and a half and he pointed out that the system of charging taxes for trash pickup is unfair because the higherassesed homeowner pays more even though they may have less trash. Well, that homeowner pays more for all their services. Does this mean that we should go to flat fees for fire and police protection. or charges based on how many times you use these services?

And what will prevent the City Council from raising these fees over the years to meet inflation? People protesting at City Council budget meeting? Of course not. What if we vote these "rascals" out? A temporary solution until the next group of "rascals" begins looking for ways to solve the never-ending budget dilemma.

The taxpayer's only protection. albeit not equitable, is voting on millage proposals. In addition, millage elections do stimulate argument and public awareness besides allowing the often-strapped homeowner some control over budget matters. I questioned Mark about the legal basis for charging fees. I know the public schools are prohibited by law from doing so. He could only tell me that other cities were doing this and, in the case of Farmington Hills, some Headlee people were protesting. Lawsuits do take time.

I'm glad the council is still mulling this plan, and I will be patient bacause I trust them and support recycling. I also realize governments need money to operate. I strongly oppose, however, any plan that endangers or sidesteps a community's real voice in its government, its franchise.

Wild game as food is not very creative

To the editor:

Ready, aim, clean out your freezer? For a second I thought I was reading Field & Stream magazine. Not an article in our Northville Record Creative Dining secton of Monday's paper.

Just how creative is it to pick up a rifle and stalk game? Your article mentions to blook for a bird that flashes well and has bright eyes and a good appearance.

Only then to take your family out and shoot it? What a terrible thing to teach young children. It's a very sad "family tradition."

Maybe someday you can take your family out in the woods and show them the beauty of wild birds, instead of teaching them *10 different ways to cover up the taste." Think about

Distinguishthe politics of township, city

Emotions have been soaring over some of the activities of the Northville Township Board and many township residents have expressed their displeasure by using the Letter To the Editor privilege.
One such letter writer sald, "It seems to me that our sweet, little, patriotic Victorian town is rotting at the core" and then justified that opinion by criticizing the selection of the Township Supervisor, apparently oblivious to the fact that there is absolutely no correlation between the political activities in the Township of Northville and the City of Northville. It may be true that the reputation of the entire Northville community has been tarnished because of the publicity those unfortunate actions in the township have received, but the city is certainly not "rotting at the core." as alleged.

Residents of the city should be angered by such a comment from a relative newcomer to the community because they know the affairs of the city are controlled by a mayor and City Council elected by them. not the Township Board. Those elected City of Northvile officials have had an enviable record of clean, ethical and effective government for many, many years.

It has not been my practice to vent my emotions through the Letter To The Editor forum, but when the integrity of the city we all love is unfairly challenged and the challenger is unwilling to publicly, or even privately, acknowledge that the accusation may have been inadvertent I feel an obligation to publicly respond.

One of the freedoms we have in this great country is the freedom of speech, but that freedom is abused when those who are innocent are forced to prove their innocence and defend their reputation sumply because of unjust, irresponsible, uneducated and often unsubstantiated accusations. It would be interesting to know what reason, other than raw emotion, that writer has for thinking our sweet, little, patriotic, Victorian town is rotting at the core just because she was displeased with the manner in which a township supervisor was selected by what she referred to as the Board of Distrustees."

Taft Road discussion shows danger

To the editor:

The recent columns regarding Taft Road (Mallot Oct. 3 and Mac-Conachie Oct. 17) Illuminate conditions that have concerned a number of residents. The columnists correctly pointed out that people aggressively exceed the posted speed limit, the volume of traffic creates unpleasant noise levels, and additional traffic control signs are needed. This is essentially the agenda presented to City Council in 1988 by residents contiguous to Taft Road. The only fruit of our efforts was the erection of truck prohibition signs which eliminated the large gravel haulers.

An acute problem is the Cooke School crosswalk, which is hazardous. I suggest installing a reduced speed limit zone during school hours as found at nearby schools. This would also benefit busses entering Taft Road from residential streets and the bus yard. Signs warning of limited sight conditions should warn motorists at the Eight Mile grade.

Serious consideration must be given to the level of development on Taft. Very soon, homes will line the road from end to end. Given this population density and the number of school and recreation activities, excessive speeds are foolhardy. Lacking barriers there is nothing to prevent vehicles from crashing through yards and perhaps into houses.

I support the efforts of the police department to enforce the posted speed limit. Perhaps the time has come to consider reducing the speed limit. I hope the reduction in state racing revenues will not affect traffic enforcement on Taft Road. A lesson learned from a citation is a better remedy than a garnered from a vehicle tragedy.

Michigan Bell is indeed a good employer

To the editor:

Tim Richard writes in the Oct. 17 issue, "Who can trust Michigan Bell? As a 26-year employee of Michigan Bell, I can attest to one of his points. That in fact this is a great place to work. As will virtually all of the people who elected to take early retirement voluntarily over the past couple of years and of whom I know hundreds.

Richard's style, smug and filled with clever innuendo, is noteworthy in that facts do not disturb his conclusions. Michigan Bell, as a company of 50 years, has never had even the slightest charge of misconduct made against it. But in a style increasingly popular in the media. Richard plants seeds of mistrust, unethical and illegal behavior at the door of a company that stands by its conduct and reputation.

Richard does not write about the conflict of interest that the newspaper industry has with respect to competition in the communications industry. He does not note that the "several giant cable TV companies" are owned by newspaper publishing companies. Of course he doesn't support competition, not when the customer could get choices of cable TV service or could get its written information from newspaper alternatives.

When mud becomes the foundation for opinion, Mr. Richard will be emissions to the general environment.* The 900 pounds of mercury the proposed incerator will emit annually is totally unacceptable! • There are 23 schools within an eight mile radius of the proposed incinerator . . . placing our children at risk.

• In July 1991 an emissions test revealed Detroit's incinerator was emitting greater than twice the mercury it was permitted to emit. The Air Pollution Control Commission has allowed this to continue. Thus, there are no safeguards to the public once a facility is permitted.

Don't spend cash to harm environment

.To the editor:

On Nov. 5, Oakland County voters will be asked to place thier "full faith and credit" behind Oakland County's request for a $500 million dollar bond to be used for the implementation of the county's solid waste disposal plan.

As I am writing this, it appears that the majority of the money will be spent to construct the mass burn incinerator in Auburn Hills and it must burn 2,000 tons a day every day of the year to pay off the bonds. The majority of the 61 communities in Oakland County have not signed the inter-governmental agreement so even if the bond passes, trash will have to brought in from outside the county, maybe outside of the state to keep the incinerator burning.

There are two factors which I feel the voters of Oakland County need to ask themselves: Are you willing to take on this enormous financial commitment, and are you willing to further damage the enviornment in Oakland County?

There are many factors to be considered regarding the proposed incinerator: incinerators are a costly endeavor to operate and maintain, the original cost for the incinerator was projected at $175 million but current estimates the cost is $350 million and may be still rising. (Where's the money for the recycling and composting phase going to come from?) Current projected operating costs for the in-cinerator do not include EPA mandated system upgrades and repairs which historically run in the millions. (These are not on the bond issue.) If the revenue from the incinerator isn't sufficient to pay off the $500 million bond, every property owner in Oakland County could be faced with highter taxes and/or trash disposal fees to make up the loss.

Incinerators produce very little energy . . . according to the EPA. unprocessed solid waste contains only about 26 percent of the heating value of fuel oil. Thus, it would make sense to assume that the electricity derived by the incinerator would be more costly.

There would be 1,800 (3,600,000 pounds) tons of ash, heavy metals, acid, gasses and other toxic substances released into the air annually. Under current specs, the incinerator will spew nine hundred pounds of mercury a year into the air. Can we handle additional mercury in theis area? Due to our already poor quality of air, Southeastern Michigan drivers are required by the EPA to have their vehicle emmissions tested annually.

Mass burn incinerators burn everything that goes into the garbage truck. If your neighbor or an industry puts hazardous or dangeous materials in their trash, it will be burned and you will be breathing it. Incinerator impact studies do not consider the cumulative effect of many toxins that are emitted the level and impact of each toxin is evaluated as if it was the only they not be to our County Commischemical being emitted. Incinerators cause an increased incidence of cancer.

Incinerator ash contains high amounts of several toxic metals and may also contain dioxins. The ash landfills will not be sited until after the incinerator is built. So if you're not too concerned about the incinerator, be concerned that your community could be one of the many sites for the toxic ash landfill.

I truly feel that there was not enough research into the proposed 641 Solid Waste Plan, as the reports are so clear to me how could sioners? Until proven to be safer and environmentally sound how can we vote yes to the bond proposal on Nov. 5?

Don't take a "I can't do anything about the incinerator issue" attitude. We have the right to vote and make decisions in this country. Take the time to care about our future. There are alternatives to incineration, let's start there before we make a mistake we'll all be paying for for the next 30 years.

HORRORSof Northville and Novi

Novi stories:

By CRISTINA FERRIER Staff Writer

Haunted houses, ghosts walking the streets, death bells and morbid symbols hanging from trees — is this the Novi we know and love? Apparently it is.

Novi has several of its very own ghost stories, which the city's "old-timers" still tell at Halloween. One of these stories, often told by retired Novi Police Chief Lee Be-Gole, involves two mysterious, ghostly women known to walk along Grand River.

"It's a strange thing," BeGole said. Twe never seen them, myself. But I originally became aware of them about this time several

BeGole said a former Novi police officer, the late Clare Renwick, came into the police station one night shortly before midnight and said he saw two women walking on Grand River, just west of Novi

*One was short, one was tall, and their clothing was soiled like they fell from a ditch." BeGole said. The clothing was strange, like they were from a different time period.

He recalls that Renwick was cautious about approaching the women because they made him feel nervous.

Then, about a year later, two more police officers said they saw the same women in the same place.

They saw them go west to the viaduct and disappear. (The officers) came in and told me about it."

BeGole said they began to investigate the sightings in the area, and eventually talked to the owner of an old house just west of the viaduct.

"We talked to the owner, and we took rods and prodded around the yard back there. That's when we found two tombstones buried two or three inches below the ground." The tombstones belong to two women - one who died in 1819 at age 66 and one who died in 1833 at age 11.

The two women are buried there, in the back yard. The rest of their family is in the cemetery (at the corner of Novi Road and Grand River)," BeGole said. They are walking to the cemetery to visit the rest of their family. I think they are trying to draw attention to the fact that they want to be moved there to be with their family."

The story of the two women who walk Grand River is "an old story in Novi that's gone on for many years," BeGole said. Many people have claimed to see the ghostly figures along the street. One Halloween tradition that also went on for many years, and still exists to some extent, involved hanging dummies from trees along East Lake "It used to be you'd drive along East Lake Drive and practically every house had a dummy hanging from a tree," BeGole said. "That was a favorite But unknown to many people who took part in that tradition is that it began in the 1890s after a dead man was found hanging from a tree along that The guy was hanging from a tree there, deader than hell." BeGole said.

"After that, people started hanging the dummies there." BeGole is also fond of relating a story about the bell in the original Novi

United Methodist Church, which was located on Grand River.

"It was taken out of the bell tower on the original Methodist church because sometimes the bell would ring in the middle of the night.

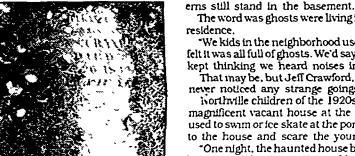

Every time the bell rang at night, someone would die within a mile of that church," he said.

Rev. Chuck Jacobs of the Novi United Methodist Church on Ten Mile said he doesn't know anything about that story, except that he also heard it from BeGole.

"Nobody talks about that," he said. "The people who would have known about it have pretty much gone by the wayside."

which is now Home Sweet Home restaurant.

According to Don Mazur, night manager of the restaurant, the original owner of the mansion committed suicide in the house after his granddaughter ran off and eloped the week before her wedding. She was supposed to be married in the house," Mazur said. "He had built the sweeping staircase because he wanted to have a wedding in the house. He never had a daughter, but he had a granddaughter, and she ruined all his plans.

"He was an unhappy man, and he's an unhappy spint," Mazur added. "That's what Gundella the Witch told us when we had a seance here a couple years ago."

Once, during a staff meeting in the restaurant, a glass shelf in the bar shattered for no reason, spilling about 200 glasses to the floor, Mazur said. Manager Tina Keith also saw the glass shelf shatter during that meeting.

She also recalls one night when two former employees, who were talking in the parking lot, ran back into the restaurant. They were terrified because they saw a woman in white in the attic

Northville stories:

By JAN JEFFRES

Northville is full of community spirit, school spirit, Victorian spirit, even spirits at the Starting Gate saloon.

But don't count on finding too many disembodied spirits from the other world out on the town this Halloween.

Ghosts which may have once claimed Northville as an old haunt are predominantly homeless, evicted by progress.

That doesn't mean a few Hallo-ween stories don't linger. Bruce Turnbull and his wife, Rita, were both born in Northville in 1919. Turnbull conducts walking tours of the city.

I don't know of anywhere where you could see people walking around and things happening, he said.

But during the Depression, Turnball recalls, banks foreclosed on many mortgages, leaving a number of old, abandoned homes in the city. The kids in the area assumed these were haunted.

Foremost among them was the spacious 117 Fairbrook, built circa 1860 for the white-bearded Dr. John Marcus Swift. The house - the first in Northville with indoor plumbing—was erected over mineral springs where Swift's patients could take the water. Cist-

"We kids in the neighborhood used to play in the house, even though we felt it was all full of ghosts. We'd say watch that ghost doesn't grab you. We kept thinking we heard noises in there," Turnbull said.

That may be, but Jeff Crawford, a former resident of the house, says he never noticed any strange goings on.
iverthylle children of the 1920s and 1930s were also convinced that a

The word was ghosts were living in the elevator shaft of the former Swift magnificent vacant house at the Fish Hatchery was haunted. The kids used to swim or ice skate at the pond there and older boys would sneak up to the house and scare the younger ones with spooky sounds.

"One night, the haunted house burnt down. You could see it for miles. It burnt up all the ghosts. We could now go swimming and ice skating without any fear that the ghosts would come down and grab us," Turnbull said.

Possibly the most well-known local "haunted house" is at 310 Dunlap also known as "the tombstone house" — because the weathered, old grave marker of Clement Smith stood in the back yard.

At one time, two rather eccentric old ladies lived there.

"It's a fable of Northville that the woman, rather than going clear to the cemetery to pray at the tombstone, put it in her backyard." Bruce Turnbull

But Rita Turnbull, who as a child lived next door, thows cold water on that one: "I never remembered it when I was growing up. There were two old maids living there. We called them the crabs. I don't know how that story got started.

Current resident Nancy Roshon, who bought the house five years ago. said the headstone was there in the back yard when she moved in. "When we moved here it was behind the house. We were told that whoever lived here didn't like the way they were taking care of it in the cemetery.

so she got in her buggy and brought it here," Roshon said. *Everyone told us not to move it or all these terrible things will happen." But four years ago, the family put in a deck, consigning Clement Smith to a spot behind the garage.

Roshon admits to nervousness while the deck was being built, but there have been no ill effects.

So the new world pushes out the old. Sometimes, you take a haunted house, put up a parking lot

Joining art with school

By DOROTHY NASH Special Writer

The Rogers mansion, now Home Sweet Home restaurant, is said to be haunted.

Volunteer work, to paraphrase Edith Pegrum, exacts as much time from you as you want to give, and she speaks from experience in various fields, including, of course, PTA.

For the last five years, Pegrum has been - she was invited to be - a member of the Northville Arts Commission as a school tie-in.

Her credentials were not just a master's degree in fine arts, but also her fine arts chairmanship for the Northville school system and her position as art teacher in middle schools. She has just finished 13 years of teaching.

All of this has meant helping with coordinating art projects between the schools and the city," Pegrum said, bringing student art to galleries and stores in town.

She attends the monthly meetings of the Arts Commission, held at 7:30 pm. on the third Tuesday of each month in the city hall, and also she works on major commission projects, of which there are three: summer outdoor concerts, September Art Market and lecture series.

"I work on all of them," she said Everybody on the commission works on all of the projects.

But if one project has to be chosen that Pegrum works on most, it could be the annual lecture series, of which there have been three to date Michael Farrell, an associate professor of art history at the University of Windsor, who lectures "all over the country," she said, puts on a senes of three fall and three spring slideillustrated talks here in Northville at the high school.

It's Pegrum's responsibility to discuss with Farrell the subjects and dates before each season and also to coordinate with the school system. getting written permission to use the high school building.

There is room for two or three more members on the Arts Commission. If you are interested, inquire at the City Hall for procedure on how to be appointed.

Family comes from all over country

Anna and David Aldea of Northville celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary last weekend with a big party in the Country Place Condominiums clubhouse. The Aldea family was represented by eight different states including

Alaska, California, Florida and in between. The couple were married on Nov. 9, 1941 in Detroit, which was her home city. David Aldea grew up in Northville. He was raised on a large farm that is now part of the Northville Regional Hospital and a nearby housing development. Aldea Drive, which is near the hospital, is named for his family.

The couple has three children. Their daughter Judy Gabriel, who hosted their anniversary party, lives in Northville. Another daughter, Chris Libby, lives in Alaska and the third, Sue Guerola, lives in California.

Another Northville bell appears

Calvin and Paula Long of Northville traveled to Pennsylvania earlier this month to visit their daughter.

While there, they attended the Houston, Penn., Pumpkin Festival on Oct. 12 and were amazed to see on exhibit an antique bell from Northville's now-defunct American Bell Foundry.

Joanne Sayre owns the bell and Dependable Electric in Washington. Penn. She bought the bell, which has a 42-inch base and stands 31 inches high, from an antique dealer there.

Mill Race Weavers Guild

The Mill Race Weavers Guild is preparing for a Christmas Walk Fiber Arts sale. Members will be selling a variety of handwoven and handcrafted items at the Mill Race Gothic Cottage on Saturday, Nov. 16 and Sunday, Nov. 17 from noon to 5 p.m. Admission is free.

The Mill Race Weavers Guild was established in 1974 and currently has about 30 members. Membership is open to people who have an interest in handweaving and related fiber arts areas. The guild meets the third Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. at the cottage in Mill Race Village. Anyone interested in joining should contact Liz Cowdery, membership chairperson at 453-6123.

The guild also supports the Northville Historical Society by demonstrating handweaving and spinning at the Fourth of July celebration, Colonial Days for schoolchildren in the community, and by providing guides at the cottage on Sunday afternoons during the spring and summer.

Northville Woman's Club

The Northville Woman's Club will hold its regularly scheduled meeting Friday, Nov 1 at Mill Race Village Old School Church. The meeting begins at 1:30 and will feature a demonstration of silk flower arranging by Carolyn Arlen.

Friends of Northville Library

The Friends of the Northville Library will hold a used book sale on Saturday, Nov. 16, in the council room of the Northville City Administration Building, 215 W. Main, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Hardcover and paperback books including many children's books, cook books, books on decorating, sewing, crafts, technology, politics, science, religion, art, psychology, philosophy and fiction will be available. Some of the sale books are classified as "antiques" or are out-of-print. Maybe that special Christmas gift is waiting there.

Paula and Calvin Long stand near an antique bell from Northville.

Single Place

Single Place will hold a focus group meeting on "Sexual Harassment in the '90s — Can Men and Women Still be Friends on the Job?" on Nov. 6. The discussion will include information on what's legal and what's not. If you are interested in attending, call Northville First Presbyterian Church at 349-0911.

Ski-skate

The Northville Mothers' Club is planning its annual ski and skate;

The sale is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 2 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Meads Mill Middle School. A 15-percent commission goes to the Mothers' Club to help benefit the Northville Public Schools.

Equipment you wish to sell should be brought to Meads Mill on Friday, Nov. 1 from 4-7:30 p.m. Do not bring anything to sell on the day of the sale; items will not be accepted at that time.

By PATRICIA A. ZIELKE Special Writer

What do you do with a space 30 feet long by 10 feet wide that's filled with dirt and weeds? You plant a garden! And that's exactly what the Country Girls Branch, Women's National Farm and Garden Association, Northville, did at Star Manor, a residential nursing home on Main Street for older citizens.

Petar Radakovic has been the proprietor of Star Manor for the past three years and has made many signisicant improvments to the residence. When the garden club offered to design, plant, and maintain the manor's court garden, the proposal was enthusiastically accepted.

Armed with shovels, trowels, rakes and other essential gardening tools, members of the club, led by President Katy Alexander and the garden's designer. Bette Moran. launched an aggressive attack on the invasive weeds and anything else that didn't belong there. They added Canadian peat moss, black dirt, mulch and cyprus bark to the horseshoe shaped garden and then defined the borders with black vinyl edging. Landscape fabric was placed over the center of the "horseshoe," and bags of stones were emptied into the area, creating a walkway and seating space for the residents. A Pyracantha bush, bearing bright orange berries, tips the end of the garden, and hardy yellow mums and clusters of purple and blue pansies were added for fall color, along with dozens of daffodil and tulip bulbs to create a colorful spring patch. Climbing roses and other perennial plantings are planned for the future.

A glass doorwall opens from the dining area onto the garden, allowing the residents full view of the garden while dining or visiting with family

RECORD TRAVEL

CROSSROADS

Joe Hallissey, the dean of Detroit-area travel agents, calls it Creativity versus Insanity.

We were at the fall meeting of the American Society of Travel Agents (ASTA) at the Hilton hotel in Windsor, and the subject of the evening was air travel.

You have seen the insanity in action in newspaper advertisements: discount prices in big letters for one-way tickets that can only be bought on a round-trip basis, coupons and a hundred other ways to fill airplane seats in a super-competitive travel

You, the consumer, tell the airline that price is your first priority, so they twist and turn to satisfy that need and still make a buck. When you have problems with the side effects of discount pricing, you complain to your travel agent, who has no control over the process and must be a combined business genius and wizard to keep up with changing fare structures and stay in business.

If you're confused about air fares, you're not the only one. I know many of the national public relations directors of the airlines; the standing joke among them is that they don't know what the fare is until they read it in the newspaper.

Hallissey, of Hallissey Travel Service Inc., is a former national president of ASTA, the organization that includes both Active members, who are travel agents, and Allied members, who are representatives of cruise lines. airlines, hotels, convention bureaus, etc.

Chapter Chairman Carlene Howe of Hudson's Travel Service introduced the airline panel to the group so they could bring us

Alitalia has new $700 roundtrip fares from Detroit to Rome via Chicago. Mexicana Airlines celebrates its 70th birthday this year as the oldest commercial airline in North America. Northwest will complete its merger with Midway this month and starts working with Carnival Cruise Lines on trips out of Detroit in November.

KLM starts twice a week nonstops from Detroit to Amsterdam in January. American Airlines will start a Chicago to Berlin flight in April 1992. Delta celebrates the 20th anniversary of Walt Disney World with a new non-stop to Orlando leaving Detroit at 11:55 a.m.

TWA had business saver coupons for sale for a few days, so business travelers could fly round trip anywhere in the U.S. for a maximum of $500. If you blinked you missed that one. The question period was particularly active at this meeting. Why do you keep advertising one-way lares?

Allan Aikin for American Airlines: "Somebody cast the first stone and you have to match it." Carolina Miranda of USAir:

"We advertised round-trip fares and they looked expensive against other one-way ads so we changed back.

Rodney Johnson, Northwest: *Price is what gets the attention of the customer. We're all trying to get bodies on the airplane."

Are non refundable fares refundable? USAir announced in August that they will let you retain the ticket for one year and apply it to future travel, with certain conditions and a minimum $75 service charge. The general message - if it is absolutely essential that you change a non refundable fare, you will get further by going through your travel agent than by going directly to the airline.

What about bereavement faires? Most airlines have them but make no mistake about this they will expect you to deliver documentation about the hospital, funeral home, etc

Don't kill off Aunt Milly just to get a refund, it won't work

If I have any message for you in the middle of all this, it is to find a good travel agent, let him get to know you, let him help

Ive said it a hundred times a travel agent is your best friend and he/she doesn't cost you a

Looking back on a 'Day of Infamy'

Ceremonies planned to mark 50th anniversary of Pearl Harbor

By MICKY JONES Special Writer

I was riding my bike down Glenn Avenue when a neighbor stopped me with news of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

Most mature men and women can remember exactly where they were and what they were doing when they heard the news on Dec. 7, 1941.

To commemorate the 50th anniversary of what President Franklin Roosevelt called "the day that will live in infamy," the National Park Service and the U.S. Navy have scheduled four days of special events in Honoiulu for Dec. 4 through 7.

Sheraton Walkiki Hotel will be the headquarters for a convention of some 2,000 members of the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association during that time. Most of the special activities will take place at the USS Arizona Memorial Visitors Center in Pearl

The navy is preparing to handle as many as 25,000 visitors, expected to converge on the site during the fourday remembrance program.

Free shuttle buses will carry visitors to the center from the parking lot of Aloha Stadium. Participants and guests are expected to include President Bush, Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney, several governors, senators and hundreds of members of the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association.

Specially honored will be the 50 surviving men who were actually on the Arizona when it sank, taking 1.177 crew mates to a watery grave.

More than 1,100 bodies remain entombed in the sunken battleship which lies beneath the glistening white memorial structure that was completed in 1962.

Half of the 2,403 persons killed on the island of Oahu on that fateful day were on the USS Arizona. There were only 68 civilian casualties.

Photo by MICKEY JONES The USS Arizona Memorial in Pearl Harbor contains the names of the 1,177 men who lost their lives on the battleship on Dec. 7,

The Japanese attack was concentrated on the ships and planes in Pearl Harbor, but six other military bases on Oahu were also bombed and suffered casualties during the early morning attack. The National Park Service has planned special programs for each of the four days of the commemoration.

The U.S.S. Arizona Memorial, which is about one-quarter mile offshore from the visitor center, will extend special consideration to USS Arizona and Pearl Harbor survivors and to the relatives of those who perished.

All programs will be free and will include several band concerts, guest speakers and a special dawn memorial service on Saturday, Dec. 7. Two-thirds of the 150 seats on each Arizona Memorial shuttle boat will be reserved for survivors and relatives of victims so the general public may encounter extended waits for trips to the memorial and may not be able to visit on a particular day due to heavy visitation.

Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney will be the keynote speaker at a ceremony at the National Cemetery of the Pacific high on a hill overlooking downtown Honolulu. The cemetery, in Punchbowl Crater, contains the graves of thousands of servicemen and civilians who lost their lives in the Pacific area during World War II.

Among the endless rows of granite headstones is that of Emie Pyle, veteran of World War I and probably the best-known war correspondent of World War II.

Nearby is a huge memorial structure containing maps and murals illustrating the major battles of the Pacific theater.

The U.S. Army Museum at Fort DeRussy is on Waikiki Beach between the Hilton Hawaiian Village Hotel and the Outrigger Reef Hotel. It contains weapons, artifacts and displays depicting military history from early Hawaiian warfare through to Vietnam.

The museum is housed in Battery Randolf. one of six Oahu coastal fortifications built between 1908 and 1915. It is open daily except Monday, and the admission charge is right -

On a recent visit to Honolulu, I was invited to tour Pearl Harbor on an exclusive VIP launch operated by the U.S. Navy. Nicknamed "the Admiral's Tour," it utilizes a 31-passenger launch for a harbor tour including Ford Island, shipyards, the submarine base and a stop at the USS Arizona Memorial.

The two-hour VIP tour program starts at 9:15 a.m. on a small dock near Aloha Stadium every Tuesday. Thursday and Friday. The tour is available to active and retired officers of all services having the rank of captain or higher, their immediate families, survivors of qualified officers as well as governors, senators, congressmen and their families.

Civic officials, leaders of industry and commerce, the media and heads of major organizations such as the YMCA and the Red Cross also qualify for the VIP tours on a space available

Qualifying individuals can make reservations by calling Petty Officer Green at (808) 471-9727. Anyone planning to be in Honolulu during Pearl Harbor week this year should make hotel and rental car reservations immediately since both will be in short supply during the commemoration.

For information on the Pearl Harbor commemorative activities, contact National Park Service, USS Arizona Memorial. 1 Arizona Memorial Place, Honolulu, Hawaii 96818 or telephone (808) 422-2771.

Hiking up Diamond Head: A special treat for history buffs

By LUDMILLA ALEXANDER

Diamond Head, the famous landmark which appears on countless Hawaii postcards and travel posters, is a "hikeable" mountain and a special treat for World War II buils.

Still in place after 50 years are authentic gun emplacements, observation posts and tunnels.

Though not one shot was fired on the mount - ... use militar was obviously ready to engage in full combat. Few in our group of hikers realize the importance of Diamond Head as we worry about our flashlights which work sporadically and shoes that suddenly feel uncomfortable.

Darren, a native-born Hawaiian from the tour company. Action Hawaii, is our guide. As he sheds his shirt in preparation for the climb, we apply sunscreen to our faces and pull hats over foreheads.

Though Diamond Head is a volcanic cone, standing 760 feet tall, it is not a particularly exciting mountain from the crater floor. Reader reports on observatory

A couple of summers ago, we had an opportunity to travel and visit some of the beautiful islands of Hawaii, one of them being the big island of Hawaii.

With all there is to see and do there, one of the most interesting and least known things is to visit the Onizuka Center for International Astronomy (OCIA) and the Mauna Kea Observatory.

Located on Mauna Kea's summit, an extinct volcano that rises 13,800 feet above sea level, the observatories are above 40 percent of the earth's atmosphere. This area is unique as an astronomical observing site because the atmosphere above it is extremely dry, mostly cloud free and free from atmospheric pollutants making star gazing very clear.

The Onizuka Center for International Astronomy (named after Eilison Onizuka. who was from the big island of Hawaii and died in the 1986 "Challenger" disaster, is the midlevel facility located at 9,300 feet and Vehicles are not permitted above 13,000 feet between sunset and sunrise except with reservations (discussed later), since astronomers observe at night and car headlights interfere with observations.

As a tourist when visiting Hawaii, there is very little information you will find available in the city or at the information centers. What you will find is a few private companies, who for a large fee, will drive you up with their 4-wheel drives for a night of star gazing near the observatories.

What isn't told is that the OCIA (which you can reach by car) is open to the public primarily on weekends. And the Mauna Kea Observatory (which you will need a 4-wheel drive to get to) is open to day-time visitors Monday through Friday.

School presents art celebration

New Morning School is presenting "A Celebration of the Arts" fine art and select craft show on Saturday.

It will be held in the Northville Recreation Center at 303 W. Main Street. The hours are 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Westside Deli will make lunch available for purchase at the show. A $1.50 admission will be collected at the door to benefit New Morning School, a nonprofit school on Haggerty Road.

The event is unique to the North-ville area because it features fine art and very select crafts and offers a wider variety of media and styles than some other indoor shows in the area. It is an accumulation of many well-known artists and craftspeople. Some artists will come from as far as Traverse City, Muskegon, Harrisville, and Owosso, but some are local. Northville artists include:

• Nola Hykal — Quilting, second place, Livonia Arts Council Show — 1986 Best of Fabrics."

• Sharon Pethers - Formerly of Northville Floral Swags.

• Susan Dillon — Graphic Visions. Northville with sand-blasted glass desk blotters and personalized mirrors

 Jane Park — Painted ornaments. boxes, and candlesticks. Her work is in galeries in Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky, Illinois and Florida.

• Denise Victoria — Cotton Factory. Novi, handpainted cotton clothing.

The "Celebration of the Arts" will feature 70 artists and craftspeople. over 20 of whom have received some sort of special recognition for their work or have their work displayed in gaileries. Most of the artists will have items for sale ranging from $10 to $100 appropriate for holiday gift giving. The show will feature the : following:

A variety of wearable art for adults by artists such as Cynthia Bronson of Okemos who embellishes her silk dusters and one-of-a-kind silk suits and cotton dresses with original

Items for children such as a variety of wearable art: Teddy Bear Press Books by Jerry Tobias, Bloomfield Hills, pre-school through sixth grade reading level, and wooden toys by Ed McCauley, Royal Oak.

A wide array of fine artists such as Cornelis VanSpronsen, Canton, with his water color and acrylic paintings; Sharon Janish, award-winning artist from Troy, with her handmade paper collage: and Sandra Somers. New Boston, with her primitive Americana acrylic paintings and lithographs who currently holds a license from The Henry Ford Museum & Greenfield Village.

A collection of Jewelry by such well-known artists as Marcia Hovland, Hamtramck, award-winner for her ceramic creations; "Bagarri", Detroit, recipient of numerous awards for her blown glass jewelry; "Confetti", Plymouth, with paper and puzzle collage jewelry; and Krista Fuehrer, Saline, introducing her collection crafted from vintage buttons to highlight just a few.

Other items to be included in the show will be pottery, weaving, wood craft, hand-crafted leather goods, woven baskets, calligraphy, as well as holiday items to name a few.

Most unusual items can be found such as carved and painted Southwest-styled hard shell gourds by Vikki Van Gourd Art. Dutton. Mich.; live award-winning African Violets by Walter Maures, Livonia; Custom-bent willow and rustic furniture by Greg and Diane Boik, Harrisville, Mich.; and the Quackers and Honkers decorative decoys by Peter Samardak, Birmingham.

New Morning School is the only pre K-8 parent cooperative in southeastern Michigan. It has been nationally recognized as a model cooperative. Founded in 1973, is a statecertified, non-profit school serving students at all educational levels, from learning disabled to gifted. In order to make the school's program available to many children, tuition is purposely kept at an affordable level.

Denise Vicotria's handpainted cotton clothing from the Cotton Factory in Novi will appear at the craft show.

Since tuition only covers 70 percent of the school's cost, additional fundraising is essential. The art show has been planned as an annual fundraising event and the proceeds will benefit New Morning School. The art show will complete their Sixteenth

Annual Auction, held each spring, which generates about 20 percent of the school's annual revenue,

To ensure a high quality show, a jury committee was formed to select the work to be included in the show.

Mustang cagers surprise Franklin in Livonia

Laura Apligian helped lead the comeback against Franklin last week.

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN Staff Writer

What a difference a week can make.

Last week, the Northville cagers couldn't find a way to beat Plymouth Canton and even coach Ed Kritch was wondering if his team had the intensity to beat a premier WLAA squad this year.

This week, that question seems a bit ridiculous, especially following the Mustangs' thrilling 50-49 road victory against powerful Livonia Franklin on Oct. 24. With the win, Northville enters the final week of the regular season with the momentum that goes along with four victories in the last five outings.

(Franklin) was rated No. 8 in Class A heading into the game — but they probably won't be when the next rankings come out," Kritch said. "We felt this game was very important because the girls proved to them-selves that they could beat one of the

It was a game of two distinct halves, with the Patriots dominating the play in the first and the Mustangs taking control in the second. Trailing by nine at the intermission, Northville outscored Franklin 28-18 in the second half, and actually went on an impressive 38-22 run in a crucial 19-minute span.

"It was a huge win." Kritch admitted. There was great excitement in the locker room afterwards. To come back from an early deficit and score 38 of 60 points in the last a 21/4 quarters in their gym takes a lot of character.

The Mustangs found themselves in an early hole because they could not stop All-Stater Dawn Warner or Patty Shea. In the first quarter, Warner scored eight points as the Pats opened a 17-10 lead.

"We geared our defense to try and stop Warner and Shea, but it wasn't working," Kritch said. The margin grew to 12 early in the second half before Northville woke up. Behind the play of senior guard Laura Apligian, the Mustangs scored 10 of the next 14 points to cut the margin to six (28-22), but then Shea nailed a three-pointer at the buzzer to increase the lead to nine.

Unable to stop Warner or Shea, Northville clamped down on the rest of the Pats in the second half - and the strategy worked. Franklin's supporting cast combined to score 11 points in the first half, but were held scoreless in the final two quarters. The Mustangs went on a 13-7 run in the third to pull within three, and then scored the first four points in the fourth to finally take the lead (39-38).

The margin eventually grew to 48-43 with 1:30 remaining when reserve junior Kerl Krupansky scored her only points of the game. But seconds later, Warner connected on a three-pointer — cutting the lead to two - and then Franklin fouled Apligian. She missed the front end of the one-and-one, but teammate Kara

McNeil chased down the rebound, got the ball back to Apligian with 11 seconds left and she was promptly fouled by Warner - her fifth of the Apligian made a pair of foul shots to make it 50-46, and Northville needed every point as Shea canned another three-pointer at the buzzer.

The hero on offense for the Mustangs was junior forward Bethanie MacLean, who scored eight secondhalf points and wound up with a career-high 12 for the game. Apligian (14 points, five assists, seven rebounds) and Karen Pump (11 points five assists, eight rebounds) also contributed.

NORTHVILLE 59, WESTLAND JOHN GLENN 48: On Oct. 22, the Mustangs notched another road win but this one was a blowout by

Northville got off to a sluggish start against the Rockets, and the score was knotted at 2-2 with four minutes remaining in the first half. Suddenly, the Mustang offense shifted into high

"We absolutely exploded offensive-ly." Kritch explained. "We scored 38 points in the next 12 minutes and the game was, essentially, over.

Once we started running, (Glenn) couldn't desend us."

The lead was 40-24 at halftime, and balloned to 55-28 before Kritch emptied the bench at the start of the fourth quarter.

"(Glenn) outscored us 20-4 in the fourth but we substituted freely and they didn't.* Kritch said.

McNeil led all scorers with 17 points, and Stacey Nyland added 13. Apligian chipped in nine points, six rebounds, six assists and four steals.

Northville is now 12-3 overall [6-3 in the WLAA),

"It was a great week," Kritch said.
"It sets us up well for the playoffs we should be one of the top four seeds and we should open the playous at

Salem overpowers Mustangs in WLAA 'crossover' contest

The Northville football team ran into a Plymouth Salem squad determined to extend a four-game winning streak on its home field Friday night. and the Rocks proved too much for the Mustangs to overcome.

Salem won the WLAA crossover game 35-14, but that's deceiving. They re one of the best teams on that side," Northville coach Darrell Schumacher said. I don't think the score indicated how close the game was."

The Mustangs turned in some strong performances, including linebackers Todd Osborne, Brett Butz and Jason Stolberg. "Our three linebackers all had an exceptional game," Schumacher said, adding the score would have been worse if they had not done so well.

In addition, Jamie Miller made nine catches for the game, including both Mustang touchdowns. Quarterback Ryan Huzjak turned in another strong effort, completing 18 of 25 passes for 252 yards.

The Rocks held Northville to 21 yards rushing.

Rain slowed the game down early on, but the results of the rain proved the most distracting for both teams. "He's an option team; we're a throw-ling team." Schumacher said. "The field conditions were probably a big Star Salem back Leon Hister lived up to his advance billing, in spite of losing a fumble on the first play from scrimmage. He rebounded with 196 rushing yards and two touchdowns.

The Rocks used a powerful ground game to dominate the first-half clock and lead 14-0 at halftime. They scored again on their first possession of the second half to lead 20-0. Then Northville got on the board with a 16-play scoring drive. Huzjak passed 12 yards to Miller with 10 seconds left in the third quarter to make

Salem then scored again on a -yard Hister run, and the Mustangs answered with another touchdown of their own: Huzjak connected with Miller for a 68-yard touchdown pass, bringing the score to 28-14. The Rocks added another score before time expired.

"We're disappointed, but we're very proud of where our kids have gotten this year." Schumacher said. We're a young squad with a future ahead of us."

Northville's record stands at 5-3 going into the annual season-ending "Baseline Jug" game against Novi tomorrow night (see related story. page 1-A).

Rain made for difficult field conditions Friday, and Northville's Eric Shaw was among those who found it hard to run.

Swim team keeps winning

The Northville girls swim team registered its third straight dominating performance on Oct. 22, whipping a respected Brighton squad .,122-62 on the road.

The victory was the Mustangs' fourth in a row and eighth in nine outings this season. Northville captured eight of 12 first-place finishes, and then added nine seconds and eight thirds.

The only two-time winner was junior standout Jodi Wesley, who took the honors in the 200- and 500-yard freestyle events. The other individual firsts came from Tert Juh-.asz (200 IM), Beth Frayne (diving) and Kathy Lang (100 butterfly).

The Mustangs also placed first in all three relay races: the 200 medley (Megan Goble, Juhasz, Wesley and Sheila Osborne), the 200 freestyle [Tammy Cook, Osborne, Kathy Lang and Daneen Lang) and the 400 freestyle (Goble, Juhasz, Brenda Newton and Wesley).

Soccer squad wins first district game

By BOB NEEDHAM Editor and NEIL GEOGHEGAN

The Northville boys soccer team got past Novi in the first round of district play last week, but fell in the semifinals to Plymouth Salem - the team which went on to win the district in the finals Saturday at Northville.

On Oct. 21, the Mustangs traveled to Novi for round one of the MHSAA District Tournament and came away with a 1-0 win over the Wildcats. The game featured the usual intensity and vigor associated with a Northville/Novi clash in any sport. It was a great game. Novi coach Larry Christoff said simply.

The host 'Cats started the game with a fury, and had two prime scoring opportunities in the opening six minutes. At the four-minute mark, Novi's Kevin Sitts beat the Northville goalie, but his shot sailed wide right. Two minutes later. Tony Wise headed a throw in into the goal post.

The Mustangs broke the scoreless tie at the 33-minute mark of the first half, on a goal from senior forward Matt Rossing after a scramble in front of the net.

The second half featured more of the same good offensive chances and tough defense - but no more scoring. Northville coach Bob Paul said, They played a more narrow field, and it was difficult for us to move the ball the way we like to." Still, shots on goal favored Northville by an 18-6

Christoff said. "Northville was no slouch at all - I give them a lot of

With the win, Northville avenged a 2-2 tie against Novi when the two teams met in the regular season on Oct. 12 and also advanced to the semifinals against seventh-ranked Plymouth Salem last Wednesday.

The Rocks won 2-0, but Paul's team performed well against a powerhouse.

They're a very strong team. They've been ranked in the top 10 for most of the year." Paul said. "Our team played very strong, but we just didn't have the talent level."

Salem went on to win the district finals Saturday against No. 2 Livonia Churchill, in a game played at Northville.

The Mustangs finished the season with a 6-7-5 record — technically a losing season, but still just five goals away from an 11-7 record. And much of Northville's schedule pits the Mustangs against the state's elite teams.

This year we lost eight seniors, and so we had a lot of work cut out for us." Paul said "Next year we lose five seniors, but only two of them are

We've been (competitive) — a lot of our games have been against the top 10 teams because our conference has been so tough. he continued. We're very close to being there, but we've got to knock off a few of these ties to do it."

Mark Ritter ran a personal best in the WLAA Meet at Cass Benton.

The Mustang cross country teams moved toward the end of their seasons last week with appearances in the Western Lakes Activities Association race on Wednesday and the regional meet on Saturday.

Running on the home Cass Benton course in the WLAA meet, Northville sophomore Mark Ritter achieved a personal-best 18:09, good for 26th place overall. Other Northville finishers were Daisuke Ishikawa, 19:07, 48th; Jeff Zwiesler, 19:23, 56th; Nathan Kirmis, 19:45, 61st; Chris Smith, 19:46, 62nd; and Parag Parikh, 19:47, 63rd.

Overall, the Mustangs came in 10th of 12 teams with 253 points. Walled Lake Western won the race with 22 points.

"It's a young team, and I started three freshmen in this race," coach Ed Gabrys said. *Mark Ritter had the best time by far of his season . . . He as well as several others will be coming back" next year. On Saturday, Western again won the regional at Marshbank Park in West Bloomsield. Northville sinished We'd run out here earlier in the season," Gabrys said. "The course was slow, but the last meet of the season everyone rose to the occasion." Six Mustang runners who had raced Marshbank earlier all bettered their Zwiesler led the Mustangs in 18:53, trimming almost a minute off his previous time and earning 58th place. Other Northville finishers were Ritter, 18:58, 60th; Ishikawa, 19:12, 68th; Smith, 19:17, 74th; Kirmis, 19:56, 94th; Scott Lloyd, 20:03, 97th; and Parikh, 20:15, 102nd.

GIRLS CROSS COUNTRY: Like the boys team, the Mustang girls finished 10th in the WLAA Meet with 278 points. North Farmington won the race with 45.

Further results were not available by press time.

Soccer success

If anyone has any doubts about the strength of soccer in Northville, they should have been at Mitchell Athletic Field in Ann Arbor last Thursday for the University of Michigan - Michigan State clash in women's soccer. No fewer than 10 local residents play for the two teams combined. Above, U-M's Michelle McQuaid leaps during the game, which MSU won 2-0. This Saturday and Sunday, the same field (on Fuller Road) hosts the Big Ten Tournament. Other local players on the U-M team are Neysa Colizzi, Shannon Loper, and Maureen Scullen. Playing for MSU are Marcie Dart, Kristi Turner, Heather Sixt, Jodie Smalec, Jenny Schuerman, and Dana Lemkuhl. The tournament opens at 9:30 a.m. Saturday with Michigan against Illinois.

When Michigan and Michigan State collided in girls soccer on Oct. 24 at Mitchell Athletic Field in Ann Arbor, it was like a minireunion for former Northville High School soccer standouts. A total of eight former Mustangs and two other Northville residents dot the rosters of both teams.

A half-dozen Northville natives play for the Spartans, including former All-Staters like MARCIE DART and KRISTI TURNER (Soph.) The others include DANA LEHMKUHL (Fr.), JODIE SMALEC (Sr.), HEATHER SIXT (Jr.) and JENNIFER SCHUERMAN (Sr.). All starred for Northville, except Lehmkuhl, who played at Farmington Hills Mercy.

On the U-M roster, former Mustangs include NEYSA COLIZZI (So.), MICHELLE McQUAID (Fr.) and SHANNON LOPER (Jr.).. A fourth — MAUREEN SCULLEN (Sr.) — is a Northville resident who attended Mercy. Dart, a freshman midfielder, has scored two goals so far this season. Smalec is on the roster but did not play after suffering a serious knee injury earlier this season.

AMY GOODE, a freshman for the Kalamazoo College women's soccer team from Northville, is posting some excellent offensive statistics for the Hornets. Goode has 19 points on the season with seven goals and five assists. In early October, Goode notched a hat trick and had one assist in a 9-0 victory over Albion College. The Hornets boast an overall record of 10-1-1. Goode is the daughter of John and Carol Goode of Northville.

ROZANN STAKNIS, a 1990 graduate of Northville High School, has been accepted on the Michigan State University girls' bowling team. Staknis has competed in bowling leagues since the age of seven. In high school, she earned varsity letters in softball and cross country. In 1986 and 1987, Staknis won the Coca Cola singles bowling scholarship tournament. She later represented the state of Michigan in Memphis, Tenn., for the National Cola Cola Scholarship Tournament. The MSU bowling team will be competing in such places as Columbus, Ohio, and Chicago.

Jenny Lower found a niche this season at third singles.

Tennis leader reviews season

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN Staff Writer

The last time the Northville girls won the WLAA conference tennis title was 1988, and it's been several seasons since the Mustangs won a division title or qualified for the MHSAA State Meet.

This fall, Northville struggled through its worst season in many years. With a 7-5 mark overall and a 6-5 record in the WLAA, the Mustangs' seventh-place finish was the program's lowest since the conference was formed in the early '80s. So the question is: Has Coach Uta Filkin and her program gradually lost a step to some of the other premier tennis programs in the Western Lakes Conserence?

"I would be the first to admit that our record wasn't what we're used to, but I don't think we were much weaker as far as talent goes than we were last season," she said.

"All of our losses - except for Stevenson — were very close. Tennis is such a difficult game because over half of it is mental toughness and emotions. In some of our flights, we didn't have the mental toughness we needed and it cost us some wins in the close matches."

The Mustangs also had to overcome nagging injuries, which hampered the singles lineup in particular. Jenniser Lower overcame an ankle problem at No. 3 singles to post a 7-4 record, and Molly Gudritz slowed by shin splints - still managed an 8-4 record and was a regional finalist at No. 4.

*Lower really matured and most of her losses came early in the season," Filkin said. "Gudritz was a nice surprise. She moved way up from last year.

Diane Vogt at No. 1 and Susan Weix at No. 2 didn't have as much success, however. Both were 5-7 on Northville was much more competitive in doubles, and posted a combined record of 31-11. Stacy Green and Sandy Bosscher (9-3 overall) reached the WLAA semifinals and the regional quarterfinals at No. 1 doubles, as did the No. 2 team of Kelli Woodsum and Jodie Buttigieg (8-4). Ellen Song and Megan Black were 7-3 at No. 3 and Lisa Wagner and Jenny McCormick were 7-1 at No. 4.

Other than at the top of the singles lineup, we had winning records everywhere else," Filkin said. "That's why it's hard to figure out why we didn't have a better record and why we finished in the bottom half of the WLAA for the first time ever."

The only returning singles regular next fall will be Lower, and just three of the top eight doubles players won't be lost to graduation (Song, Wagner and McCormick). That could make for another sub-par season, but Filkin is optimistic because the Northville junior varsity — under assistant coach Lisa Kolin — was undefeated

The bright side is our J.V. kids were undefeated and they are a very stong serve-and-volley group," Filkin explained.

Next year, singles could be a problem. Maybe I'll get lucky and get a foreign exchange student who can play," she laughed.

Weight training goes retail

Wate-Man announced recently the grand opening of two prototype franchise Wate-Man stores, located in Keego Harbor and Warren.

Wate-Man is one of the newest retail concepts in weight lifting and exercise equipment for the home, office or professional gym. It meets the exercise needs of people interested in staying fit as well as weight training professionals.

'It's one of the first-ever stores that has all the equipment people need to help them stay fit and build stronger bodies," said William Reardon Sr., founder, president and chief execu-tive officer of Wate-Man.

In addition to manufacturing its own "strength training" or weight lift-ing equipment. Wate-Man owns and operates one company store and has franchised three more stores in the last 12 months.

*Back in 1975, I couldn't find any good weight lifting equipment for my son and decided to make my own. explained Reardon. Since then, Wate-Man has turned into a milliondollar manufacturing and franchising business.

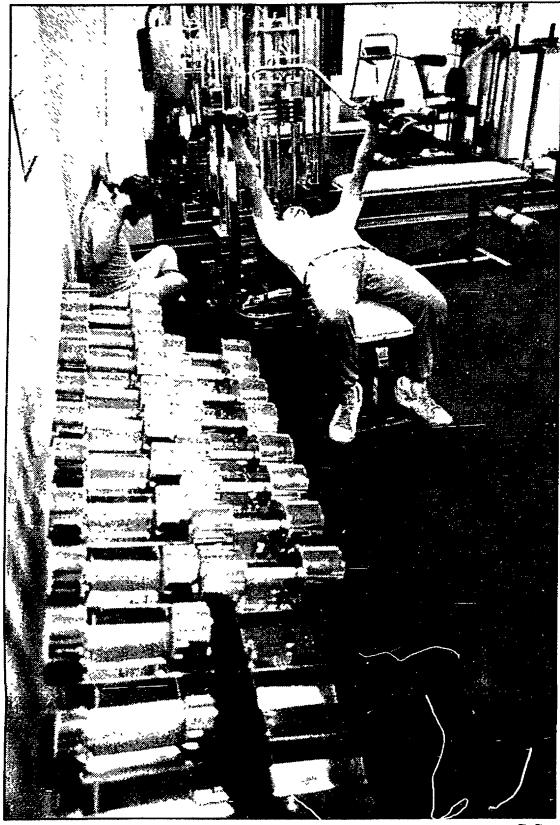

We've been outfitting private homes, commercial and corporate gyms with weight lifting and strength training equipment for over 15 years, and decided to begin franchising our operation in 1990, added Reardon.

Over 3,000 square feet of a Wate-Man store showcase over 300 pieces of privately manufactured Wate-Man and name-brand cardiovascular and weight lifting and exercise products including: Benches, free weight machines, multi-station units, bikes, steppers, treadmills, ski machines, rowers, supplements, weight lifting accessories, free weights, dumbbells, bars, workout clothes and more.

*Besides helping people feel better and look good, our research shows that aerobics aren't enough and healthcare experts say you have to 'pump iron' or 'strength train." noted

According to the American College of Sports Medicine - the organization whose 1978 aerobics directive drove doctors, gym staff and ordinary folks into a frenzy of heart-pumping activities - lasi year it amended its position and ordered regular weight

*As you get older, no matter how great your lungs and heart are, you need to maintair, body strength to do ordinary activites. You need to pump iron in order to build muscle mass and maintain body strength, nainted out Reamon

Some experts suggest weight training in addition to aerobics.

Some paying too much on mortgage payments

By James M. Woodard Copley News Service

Your monthly home mortgage loan payment may be larger than necessary. Here's why:

Most lenders require "private mortgage insurance" (PMI) coverage for all high-ratio conventional loans. These include home mortgage loans for amounts over 80 percent of the property's market value. The insurance protects the lender's interest, not that of the home buyer-borrower.

PMI coverage costs the buyer a significant chunk of money. The premium is usually charged in the form of an up-front fee and a continuing surcharge with monthly

Typically, the PMI premium is 0.5 percent of the loan amount paid at closing covering the first year's premium, plus 0.43 percent (annual rate) of the loan amount paid with monthly payments for the first six years—0.22 percent after that point, according to Tom Cross of 1st Nationwide Bank.

For example, if you purchased a home for $200,000 with only a 10 percent down payment, you would need a mortgage loan in the amount of $180,000. The lender amount of $180,000. The lender will probably require PMI coverage for that loan, costing you (the buyer) $900 at closing and $64.50 added to your principal-interest monthly payments.

That monthly surcharge should be eliminated when the loan be eliminated when the loan balance is lowered to the point where it's less than 80 percent of your home's value. That's achieved by amortizing the loan down with payments and/or documenting an increase in the property's market

With the lower loan-to-value ratio, the lender's risk is reduced and PMI coverage is no longer

Hyacinth 3 is a dream come true for spa lovers

By James McAlexander Copley News Service

The Hyacinth 3 is a spa lover's dream, featuring a smaller, though by no means tiny, spa in the master suite and a large party-size spa in the sun room.

Stepping into the vaulted entryway, the glassed-in sun room immediately grabs the visitor's attention. No matter what the weather, this room will be bright, and the huge spa at the room's center promises instant relaxation.

Plants, as well as people, thrive this rich natural place for a small jungle and a sure cure for the winter blahs. The halfbath is conveniently close to the front door and does double duty as a dressing room for guests who drop by to enjoy a soak in the hot bubbles. The sun room can be reached from almost anywhere, including the bathroom, the entryway, the nook or through the two sets of triple sliding-glass doors onto the deck.

Serving yet another function. this room separates the luxurious master suite from the rest of the house. If desired, an additional door could provide direct access. The master suite has plenty of room for both a sleeping area and a sitting and/or exercise area. The unique cloverleaf spa is nestled in its own glass block-lined corner nook. A huge walk-in closet provides ample space for a large wardrobe, and double vanities are located in their own sky-lit dressing area.

A room that could serve as an office, den, hobby room, artist's studio or whatever is conveniently close to both the master suite and the front entry.

Stretching the width of the rest of the home, the long hallway creates a feeling of endless space, provides a connecting link to all areas and separates the more formal living and dining rooms from the less formal living environments. Another much shorter hallway leads to the garage.

On one side, these hallways are rich in storage closets. Note, in particular, the walk-through linen loset. The smooth surfaces on the other s'ie of the halls offer an excellent rafor a gallery of pho-

A large country kitchen fills one corner of an even larger family room. Small cooking appliances are out of sight yet easily accessible in the appliance center, and a pantry provides plenty of food storage space. At the far end of the room, a fireplace spans one corner while a window seat in the other corner mirrors its shape.

Each of the other three bedrooms has a walk-in closet. Two of the bedrooms share a bath with a compartmentalized vanity, and the third is a full guest suite with its own private bathroom and separate entrance.

ONE LUCKY LADY

Carrie and Bob Luckey give Milford a painted lady By Pamela Dear

Several beautiful homes line the avenues of Milford Village, but on East Liberty Street there stands a bejewelled Painted Carrie and Bob Luckey are the prideful owners of this Victorian-style home built in 1868. They purchased it two years ago.

I just love this house. Carrie said. The minute I saw it, I knew it was the one." she explained. The Luckeys, former residents of Northwest Detroit, have enjoyed driving through small towns, admiring the older classic homes, studying the fine architec-tural workmanship and paying attention to the exterior colors. They have also traveled to San Francisco to see that city's brightly decorative Victorian Painted Ladies.

The descriptive term "Painted Lady" indicates a Victorian building that has been painted on the exterior with three or more contrasting colors and that the use of these colors significantly emphasizes the ornamental detailing of the structure.

Carrie and Bob are well acquainted with a book entitled "Painted Ladies." by Elizabeth Pomada and Michael Larsen. The book is a collection of photographs of San Francisco's multi-colored Victorian homes.

"I have looked at this book for years and years," Carrie said. "Some of the homes are done up in 18-20 different colors," she explained.

These photographs inspired the Luckeys to want to transform their newly acquired purchase of a dull dark blue and grey home into a bright, uniquely painted and graceful Victorian treasure, hoping to choose a paint scheme that would enhance the ornamental details as well as highlight its historic charm. "It was a nondescript dark blue," Carrie recalled. "It reminded me of the Union and the Confederacy." Bob

They went about selecting fresh colors in a very intelligent and systematic manner.
*Before we had the painter out, we tried little samples on the back window where it wouldn't show as much." Carrie said. "We would go buy a quart of paint at a time." she said. They decided not to go with historic colors, feeling they were too flat and drab in appearance. "Most of the colors that are authentic are not as attractive." Carrie explained. The Luckeys also attended a class called,

"What color should I paint my house?" sponsored in Livingston County by the local historical society. That was fun and it gave us a lot of help as far as whether you should have darker windowpanes or dark trim," Carrie said. Next, Bob took over the task of making accurate pencil sketches of the home's exterior body, windows, doors, and trim work.

"I sat out in front of the house for hours," Bob said. "I drew every molding

This English-style mailbox near the front porch also is painted with coordinating colors.

Milford gets Luckey, and an architectural 'Painted Lady' and every board. We sat down with actual paints and literally painted it on paper," he said. This orderly procedure assisted the Luckeys tremendously in keeping the colors correct in position and helping to cut errors, for they did realize later on paper that they had reversed some colors. The drawings really worked well." Car-

"I really wanted a contrast," Carrie explained. 'It was hard. I wanted four colors," she said. *People would laugh going up and down the street. There they go again. They are trying out more colors," she recalled.

The Luckeys knew, though, that repainting the house was a very expensive venture and, if at all possible, they wanted to avoid a costly error. We kept mixing, and poor Bob would go back to the paint store with the same quart of paint and say, 'it's too light,' or 'it's too dark,'" she said laughing. After much deliberation, the selected colors were a pale green. country red, hunter green, and cream. Thirty to 40 gallons of exterior paint were purchased. An eggshell finish was used for the most part, with a gloss finish for the doors.

"It's so funny," Carrie described. The color it came out is probably not what I originally had in mind. but it was fine after I got used to it," she said. Indeed, the completed job transformed their Victorian home into an elegant Painted

"As soon as we painted, the people have been incredible," Carrie said. "Some of them have come up to the door," she said. "We're going to have an accident out there one of these days." Bob joked.

A carriage house in the rear of the yard and a special English-style mailbox near the front porch were also painted in coordination with the selected colors.

The mailbox is a cast aluminum reproduction with a pony express rider displayed in a pictorial design. Carrie painted the box herself, and fondly recalled that the mailman would frequently say to her, "Are you going to have that finished pretty soon?" He was looking forward to inserting her mail in it.

The interior of the home is very charming, and its Victorian decor is in harmony with the graceful posture of the exterior. This 2.200square-foot home has three bedrooms, one and a half baths, spacious parlor, equally large living room with a fireplace, formal dining room, kitchen, pantry, laundry room, and a separate 500-squarefoot mother-in-law apartment which the Luckeys rent.

The comfortable home is fur-items, collectibles and treasured family heirlooms. The vestibule. for instance, is a showcase for a pair of handsome hats originally owned by Bob's father and grandfather, an old hat box and pincenez eyeglasses.

And from Carrie's family there is an antique trunk, a lady parasol. and a framed art picture which hung in Carrie's parents' home for many years.

The parlor, dressed in its Victorian finery, displays a wicker lamp belonging to Carrie's mother. More nostalgic white wicker furniture sits on the old-fashioned front porch. "And thank goodness we saved it," Carrie said. "They had it forever," she explained.

The floral printed fabric of the sofa is used on the wicker lamp shade and the tie-backs for the curtains. This cheery fabric lends warmth and color to the parlor's

A leaded glass door leads you into the homespun kitchen. Its furnishings include an antique wood stove that has since been converted to gas. The Luckeys use the top burners only. A shelf against the rear wall contains memorabilia from the past, like old jars, tins, bottles, cheese boxes, and a full box of Gold Dust Cleaning Powder.

A wooden wagon wheel light fixture adorns the ceiling, and contributes to the room's unstudied charm. It has great sentimental value to the Luckeys who bought it when they were newly married.

The upstairs bathroom was originally a bedroom, so it is quite large with much closet and cupboard space. This room contains a tin bathtub. "It really holds the heat," Carrie said, "and it's very warm." The tub is encased in cherry and pine wood. Flowered print wallpaper and curtains create a warm picture here.

Other noteworthy items in the home include a stained glass mirror created by Bob, a wooden child's rocker which originally belonged to Carrie's father. antique ceiling light fixtures. needlepoint crafted by Carrie's mother, and Bob's family Bible which dates back to 1884. Carrie is a second-grade teacher at St. Paul's Lutheran School in Farmington Hills. Bob recently retired as a sergeant from the Detroit Police Department. They have been married 27 years. Their historic home is a keeping place for family treasures and memories, and shows their love and care for the past and present.

"I always wanted to live in a small town," Carrie reflected. "It took awhile to get here," she said. Their Painted Lady is an architectural jewel, well worth waiting for.

Check PMI to lower monthly will probably be terminated.

However, the monthly surcharge probably will continue indefinitely until the buyer petitions the lender to cancel the premium charges added to monthly payments. Once this action is taken, and the lower ratio is documented, the PMI premium surcharge

In some cases, the total PMI premium is financed—added to the loan amount. That payment total premium is usually from 2.5 percent to 3 percent of the loan amount, according to

In the above example ($180,000 loan), the financed PMI premium would be from $4,500 to $5,400. And, of course, the buyer would be paying interest on that amount throughout the loan term.

Lenders require PMI coverage for two reasons: They feel it's important to reduce their risk for high-ratio mortgage loans, and their loans must be insured to make them salable to the secondary market.

A few mortgage lending firms now selfinsure their high-ratio loans, according to Cliff Norton, owner of a mortgage brokerage firm. These lending companies promote the fact that they accept high-ratio loans without the cost of PMI coverage. But they quietly kick up their basic interest rate a bit to cover their risk, Norton noted.

Most home mortgage loans are 80 percent or less of the property's market value, thus eliminating the need and expense of PMI coverage. And that's the best way to go, Norton advised.

Yet another way some homeowners pay too much in monthly payments is in the calculation of adjustable interest rates.

These rates are usually tied to an index that is respected as a credible indicator of prevailing interest rates, and is readily available for public review. But one research firm recently reported that nearly a third of adjustable-rate loans are being incorrectly calculated for rate adjustments.

Don't be too trusting. Check the index against your adjustable interest rate.

And be sure you petition your lender to cancel the PMI premium surcharge when your loan balance dips below 80 percent of your home's value.

An old porcelain New Haven Clock

By James G. McCollam Copley News Service

9. Enclosed is a picture of a New Haven Clock in a porcelain case. It looks like the kind of blue-and-white jasper ware that Wedgwood made. It chimes on the hour and half-hour.

I would appreciate anything you can tell me about its age and value.

A. Clocks like this were made around the turn of the century by New Haven Clock and several other companies. Yours is an exceptionally nice one and would probably sell for about $275

CAMERAS

Buying and selling "antique" cameras is a tricky experience. It requires a lot of knowledge and experience to be able to identify and evaluate old photographic devices.

The old box cameras that we remember from our childhoods are worth very little unless we go way back to the turn of the century. The first Kodak box camera made by Eastman in 1888 sells for about $3,000 in good condition. The 1890 version of the same box camera drops down to $300 or

By 1900, Eastman was making folding cameras, and survivors of these early models are only worth about $100. The prima donna of Eastman folding cameras is the Super Kodak Six-20 Special made in 1938; it sells for about $1,000.

There are foreign-made folding cameras of substantial value, like the Super Ikonta BX made in the mid-1950s that sells for about $300. The pre-World War II Super Ikontas bring about $200.

Starting after the first World War, the 35mm format grew in popularity. A good Leica A range finder camera made in the early 1920s commands as much as $10,000. That qualifies it as the most valuable collectible camera. Eastman Kodak's attempt to compete, the Ektar, made in 1941, will barely top $500.

Now it's time to hear from Japan with the Nikon S2 of 1955, which is in the $500 range.

It should by now be evident that age is not nearly as important as quality and rarity. Careful scrutiny will reveal that the majority of old cameras are worth less than their original retail price in today's dol-

If you think your chance of getting breast cancer is one in a million, the fact is,

it's one in nine.

Over their lifetimes, one out of every nine women will be faced with breast cancer. That's one out of nine friends. One out of nine sisters, mothers, daughters. It's a statistic you can't afford to ignore. And mammography is a weapon you can't afford to be without. A mammogram can detect breast cancer in its earliest stages, when it's most curable. It's not Mammography. Your most powerful weapon.

A program of The American Forestry Association Citizens caring for trees & forests stace 1875 P.O. Box 2000, Washington, DC 20013

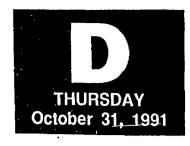

It's a fact. Planting trees is one of the best and easiest ways to help reduce global warming and other serious environmental problems.

That's why thousands of Americans — of all shapes and sizes — are doing their part for Global ReLeaf right in their own communities. And it's why we need more trees to shade our homes, beautify our town and country landscape, and reduce the heat-trapping CO2 build-up in the earth's atmosphere.

So grab your shovel and start planting. And call our special Action Line — 1-900-420-4545. The $5.00 charge actually pays for planting a tree while supporting Global ReLeaf action across the country. And, we'll also rush you detailed information on Global ReLeaf. You can make a world of difference.

Where there's smoke

there must be a Hoffmeyer's Haus Smoker

By ANNE SEEBALDT Soccial Writer

Ron Hoffmeyer has an advantage over many people. His hobby helps him to relieve stress from his job at Ford Motor Co., or home-related stress and he also makes money from it.

Hoffmeyer and his wife Linda, known in the business world as the makers of Hoffmeyer's Original Haus Smokers, make personalized decorative miniature dwellings which also may act as incense Woodworking is his long-time hobby, a talent he now lavishes upon the miniature buildings he creates. Linda assists by doing most of the painting and all of the windows for the structures.

The Hoffmeyers will make any house or other edifice you desire with the assistance of one or more photos to allow them to get down to details.

Clients also may choose from Hoffmeyer's current stock of houses or precut houses done to color and trim specifications. He uses hardwood for the actual house parts and makes exterior trimmings from branches. No porch or outside trim is alike. The paints used are acrylic, water-washable and

"I try to make the houses as close to the photograph(s) as I can," he said. He has made approximately 150 mini-dwellings during the past four

In order to make the houses incense-burning receptacles. Hoffmeyer drills holes throughout the pieces to create a chimney from which smoke escapes. He uses metal to protect the wood interior from damage.

Hossmeyer said he had noticed a similar technique with incense-burning figurines in Frankenmuth. In that instance, the incense smoke came through a pipe the figure was "smoking." He said he thought the idea could apply to buildings and set out to experiment.

When he finally made a working "Haus smoker." Linda said he ran in and shared the news

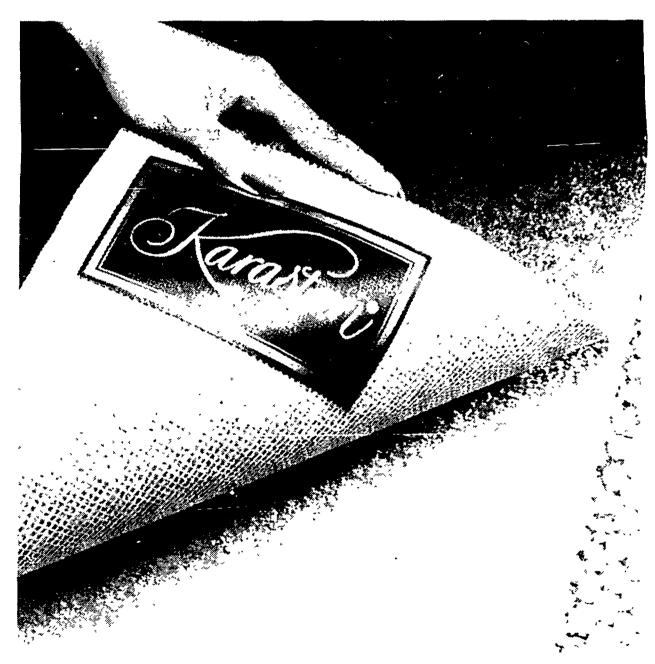

"I still have that first house I made," he said. "He gets better and better every year," she

Hoffmeyer's Original Haus Smokers made their debut at Beaver Island during the summer season. The idea was a hit with the summer residents," Hoffmeyer said.

Although he first sold the Haus Smokers in the summer, the busiest season for the buildings is yet to come. Christmas is a busy time for the Hoffmeyer household when gift orders flow in. "Life at home becomes crazy then," Linda said.

Treat employees equally

"John" had been working at a busy video sales and rental business for less than a month before identifying a major problem involving his co-workers as well as his

"Whenever 'Susan' showed up for work on time, she was practically congratulated, he says. "She was just another salesperson, but you'd think she owned the place since she could come and go as she pleased. According to John, Susan almost always had some "problem" that prevented her from coming into work on time.

"I heard her mention car accidents, babysitter problems, and food poisoning as excuses for being hours late three days in a row," he claims. "And every time she'd come in late, the manager would just shrug her shoulders and say. Susan's got it rough, so don't hassle her. Although nobody else seemed to mind, I was hassled . . . since Susan's being late or not showing up at all meant extra work for myself and everyone else forced to cover for her.

It wasn't long before John left his employer and found another sales position with a competitor. I know I'm better off for leaving that place, but it still grinds me that I was the one who ended up quitting instead of her getting fired like she shoul

John's is not an isolated incident and represents just one of the many employee-related dilemmas facing both large and small business establishments. Besides problems pertaining to tardiness and attendance, other equally serious concerns involve an employee's avoidance of responsibility, "power" obsession, excessive gossip,

"It wouldn't be bad if employers knew what to do and it worked," says John, "... but it isn't easy when management ignores the problem completely.

For those who feel "victimized" by their lessthan-ideal co-workers, a specific plan of action is needed, states Kathy Kapur, a Bloomfield Hills management consultant. First, employees should prepare a list of specific incidents involving co-workers as they happen."

Having a record not only helps employees clarify the true nature of any conflict, but can later be presented to upper management. No matter how small the organization is, management will want evidence of what happened and when before they respond one way or the other."

Kapur also stresses that personality conflicts and/or "petty" complaints cannot be expected to warrant management intervention. "If a co-worker doesn't like you and the feeling is mutual, it's better to work out the conflict between yourselves rather than getting the boss involved. On the other hand, if serious threats have been made against you, management should be notified right

"It just snowballed," Hoffmeyer

"I have people tell me they're keepsakes -- something they'll have for a long time," Hoffmeyer said. "Everybody's looking for something unique for Christmas."

In addition to the houses, Hoffmeyer makes teepees, business buildings, churches and other edifices. All are signed and dated.

Hossmeyer has already experienced one disadvantage of selling his handiwork: The tendency to become attached to his creations.

"I've often called them my kids, my family," he said. "Parting with them is like selling part of yourself."

The Hollmeyers market the buildings through crast shows, referrals, repeat clientele and shop consignments. Currently, he said, several of the houses are on consignment at the Niche and Corner in Milford.

Hossmeyer said eventually he would like to move to a place where they could have their own shop and he could have a larger work area. Currently, he cuts out the house pieces in a partitioned room in the House honors DeMattia Co.

Top awards were presented by Michigan's House of Representatives to the R.A. DeMattia Co. for its outstanding contributions in child care at the Michigan Child Care Challenge award ceremony in Lansing.

DeMattia's Discovery Learning Center, located in the Metro West Industrial Park, was one of five winners chosen from 22 nominations that were recognized for excellence in the "New Kids on the Block" category for companies recently offering child care benefits. Prudential Town Center in Southfield, Pontiac Institute of Technology in Detroit, Kellogg Company of Battle Creek, and Gantos are the other four corportations sharing the award with R.A. DeMattia.

Designed by the House Republica-

"Michigan Child Care Challenge" highlights job providers who have responded to their employee's needs. State Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, who chairs the task force, said more than 200 companies have been recognized since the competition began

*Our emphasis is on voluntary programs rather than mandating benefits," Bankes said. "While the public is eager for more innovative child care initiatives, the majority is opposed to any mandatory system.

The 1991 challenge sought nominations in five award categories. Besides the "New Kids on the Block" competition, other categories in-tion Task Force on Child Care, the cluded: "Best on the Block" award, companies that have made an effort to design unique child care programs; "Grandparent" award, for companies that have been ploneers in offering employee child care benefits: "Helping Hands" award, for businesses that provide direct financial assistance to their employees or subsidies for on-site centers; and the "innovator award, for organizations and individuals who have demonstrated extra effort in providing solutions to the child care dilemma.

> The R.A. DeMattia Co. is a design/ build, architectural, engineering and real estate development firm responsible for the Metro West Industrial Park project.

If you think your chance

of getting breast cancer is one in a million,

the fact is,

it's one in nine. Over mear latetimes, one out of every nine women will be faced with breast cancer. That's one out of nine friends. One out of nine sisters, mothers, daughters. It's a statistic you can't afford to ignore. And mammography is a weapon you can't afford to be without. A mammogram can detect breast cancer in its earliest stages, when it's most curable. It's not enough to simply know the statistics. You have to fight back. Get a mammogram

NO COMPETITOR MATCHES OMNI WINDOWS' QUALITY OR PERFORMANCE.

OMNI WINDOWS

Vinyl frames reinforced by steel inserts. Will never rust, rot or require painting. Frames are scratch resistant and feature reinforced corner construction. Custom-made to fit perfectly. Omni's triple weatherstripping and triple panes with XPE Plus glass virtually eliminate drafts and heat loss.

All VIIVI WILDOWS

While vinyl will not rot, rust or require maintenance, it is not structurally strong material. Along with warping and bowing problems, vinyl will not support 3 panes of glass. The corners are often held together with screws.

WOOD WRIDOWS

Wood frames can warp, swell, shrink and rot. The glass is not sealed or insulated which allows dirt and moisture to get between the panes. Wood can weaken with age and needs to be scraped and painted every few years.

- Triple glazed with XPE Plus glass
 - Steel reinforced high grade vinyl
 - Reinforced corner construction
 - Extruded lift rail
 - Completely weatherstripped
 - Stepped jamb

If you want windows that save more of your leisure time and save more of your money to enjoy it with, find out more about Omni Windows. Experts agree they are one of the best investments you can make to protect your home, and yourself, from rising energy costs. And they're backed by Omni's warranty, the best in the industry.
