

'Death train' halts runs through Northville

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Northville soon will be free of the "death train's" ominous shadow. Most rail shipments of poisonous, hazardous, and flammable liquids traveling a southeast Michigan route — which includes Northville and Novi — are scheduled to cease December 1, a Dow Chemical Company official said Friday.

Toldeo to Midland uni-train routes will be scrapped in favor of a path that begins in southwestern Michigan and winds through Battle Creek, Lansing, Flint, and on into Dow's Midland facility.

A uni-train is a string of Dow Chemical-only cars. Critics of Dow and the uni-train concept have long warned of the potential danger to humans and the environment should a derailment or other mishap occur. Dow officials cited an economic slump as the main factor in its decision to derail local ties to the controversial chemical shipments. Limited, occasional shipments of Dow materials will continue to rumble through the area. But the nearly 3,500 cars and tankers that annually passed through the area on Dow's uni-trains will disappear.

"The uni-train will be discontinued for at least the short-term," said Matt Davis, spokesperson for Dow Chemical's Michigan division. "Shipments (from Texas suppliers) are almost cut in half. It makes no sense to keep the uni-train going."

Davis did not rule out a reappearance of the train if the economy shows dramatic improvement.

"That is a possibility at this point, but I don't see in the short-term going back to that process," he said.

CSX Railroad annually transported millions of tons of hazardous chemicals, gasses and liquids along its southeastern Michigan route, which extends from Freeport, Texas to Midland.

Potentially dangerous shipments traveled through the area on varying schedules Dow termed "light, medium, and heavy." An average of 60-70 chemical-laden railroad cars currently pass through the Northville/Novi area on a weekly basis.

Local emergency services workers and government officials were understandably pleased by word of the route change.

"That's a big relief; some of the chemicals on those trains were pretty bad news," said Rick Rosselle, Northville Township fire chief. "I'm glad the death train's out of here."

"It's good news for the township," said Northville Township Manager Richard Henningsen. "I think that certainly takes a load of pressure off our fire chief. Everybody had a concern with the potential danger."

Novi City Manager Edward Kriewall echoed those comments.

"We feel good about that," he said, adding that city officials have long worried about the condition of area railroad tracks and the possibility of a major derailment in densely populated areas.

The fact that some chemical cars will still rattle local rails should temper unbridled enthusiasm over the rerouting plan, said Phil Wagner, coordinator for Western Wayne County's Hazardous Incidence Response Team.

"Overall, it's a relief for us, but we're not going to go out and have a party," Wagner said. "Any time you can reduce hazardous materials in the area, it's a good step."

"But it's not the answer to everything," he said.

Davis called the Dow uni-train "an extremely safe concept," despite its death train label.

"In 10 years, there never was an injury or death resulting from operation of the uni-train," he said. "In reality, it had one of the best records (in railway shipping)."

Davis said he could not estimate the number of Dow cars that will travel through the area after the uni-train is discontinued.

"We still will have products going through the CSX line, but I don't have numbers on a weekly basis," he said. "But you'll see a decrease of at least 60-70 cars a week."

School play is director's debut

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

If you feel like you're working your life away, the Northville High School fall play has a message for you. "You Can't Take It With You" opens Thursday in the high school auditorium.

"It's fluff and it's fun," said actor Jeffrey Dart.

But the play has a message. Jon Dunkerley summed it up best: "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." Or in the case of this play, it's the Kirby family that takes life a little too seriously.

The play is the story of two families with different lifestyles. The Sycamore family is somewhat eccentric, but their main goal in life is to be happy.

The Kirbys are conservative. Money is their focus in life.

A romance links the two families and, finally, they meet for dinner. The result is a lot of laughs. But there's a message sandwiched in between the chuckles.

Student Leanne Michaelis hopes just one person who has been working his or her life away will take time to stop and smell the roses after watching "You Can't Take It With You."

The play was first performed in 1937. It was written by Pulitzer Prize winning authors George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart.

Fans of the Northville High School theater department also will enjoy the quality of acting in the play.

The cast agrees that each actor received the perfect part. The perfect casting, they said, was thanks to the school's new director, Gary Sturm. Sturm cast students in parts similar their true personalities.

"The director saw us as we are, not as we had been in past plays," said Steve VanDuzen.

Dart, a veteran of high school plays, said this group could pull off a performance better than any he has witnessed in four years of acting at Northville High School.

"The potential of this cast is uncharted," Dart said.

Dart plays the part of grandfather Martin Vanderhof.

Other young thespians include Kathy Murphy, Destiny Lopez, Christopher Dattilio, Dave Murray, Gabe Sievert, Ris Fleming, Tony Sievert, John Norman, Kelly Garry, Mark McCarthy, Faye Stevenson, M. Scott Bassin, Stephen Sparks, Ted Downs and Kelly Berger.

Student Jeni Workman is the assistant director.

Leading the technical crew are Frank LaManna, Dan Dietiker, Liz Bastien, Faye Stevenson, Joe Lang, Kristi Downs, Liz St. Jacques, Prudy Chaffin, Joel Underwood, Nancy Campbell and Abby Chaffin.

The play runs from Nov. 14-17. Shows begin at 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Sunday's showing is a matinee beginning at 3 p.m. Tickets are $5 for adults. Tickets for students and senior citizens are $4.

Tickets can be purchased the night of the play if it doesn't sell out or in advance outside of the high school auditorium. Pre-show ticket sales will be held before school from 7-7:30 a.m. and after school from 2:05-3 p.m. All seats are reserved

McDonald's digs in on new location

By MIKE TYREE

McDonald's Restaurants' dream of a money-green Northville Christmas look better every day.

The international hamburger chain, with its billions and billions served motto, is expected to open the doors to its Six Mile and Haggerty roads site by mid-December, a McDonald's spokesperson said Friday.

Workers currently are hustling to finish the restaurant, which McDonald's representative Tom Racklyeft says will win the hearts, minds, and stomachs of Northville residents.

Unique, muted architecture and pleasing colors will highlight the finished product, Racklyeft said.

"It's going to be a very, very modern facility, from our standpoint," he said. "I think the community overall will find it very appealing."

McDonald's will have to forgive local residents if it takes a while to win them over. Many residents and township officials — especially those living near the Six and Haggerty intersection — voiced strong opposition to the restaurant during early planning stages last year.

Concerns ranged from traffic impact concerns to aloud-wondering if McDonald's was a suitable gateway to Northville. But McDonald's held a zoning trump card, and despite significant resident protest and reserva-

City approves plan for Cady relocation

By STEVE KELLMAN

A relocated Cady Street would head east along the south edge of the city's proposed expanded parking deck and then turn north to link with the existing Cady Street at Hutton, under a plan endorsed last week by the Downtown Development Authority.

The existing stretch of Cady from Hutton west to the deck could wind up as a dead-end street under the plan.

A majority of the DDA chose the city-designed plan over four other designs, three by the city and one by architect and DDA member Greg Presley.

City engineers McNeely & Lincoln estimated the cost of the first relocation plan at $438,200, which includes road construction and the relocation of underground utilities. The cost was the second-lowest of the four city proposals, with the lowest being the $342,400 second plan to wrap the relocated street along the south and east sides of the new parking deck into the existing Cady.

Other city proposals included a $631,300 plan to run the relocated Cady straight east to Griswold and leave the existing Cady as a dead-end street, and a $718,600 plan to wrap the new street along the sides of the new parking deck and then run it south and east to Griswold Street just north of Beal Avenue.

The cost estimates do not include the price of land acquisition.

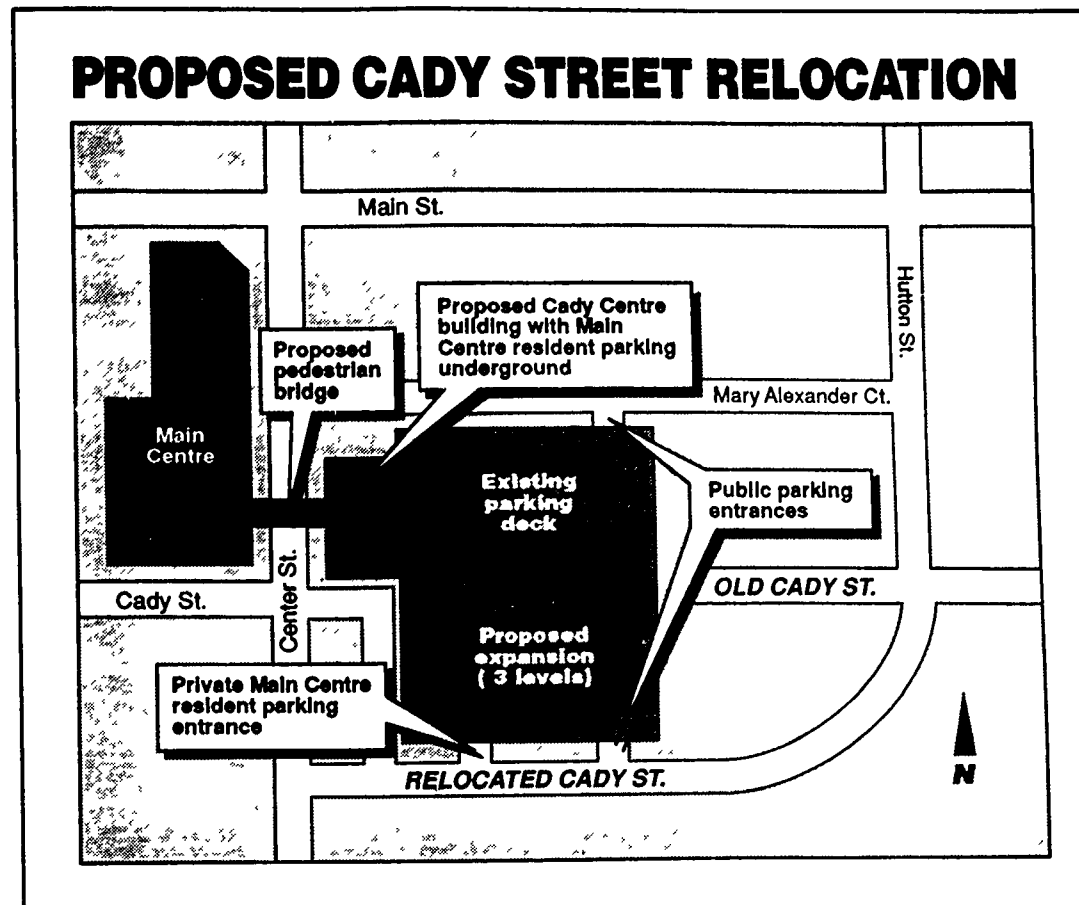

Presley's plan, a combination of the first plan and an extension of Hutton Street south to an extended Beal Avenue, would incorporate parking for 300 cars and a soccer field into the space bordered by Hutton, Cady, Griswold and Beal. No cost estimate was placed on his plan.

City Manager Gary Word noted that the first plan would require another property acquisition from the Northville Driving Club, but he said the city is already negotiating with the driving club over land needed for the expanded deck.

"I'm not inclined to minimize the importance of cost, but I'm inclined to think that whatever's best for the city can be incorporated into the bond issue," he said.

But Word cited a financial obstacle to the more extensive proposals.

"The bond attorney has told me point-blank that we could not justify extending Cady right on through to Griswold in the bond sale... so we would have to find another way to finance it," he said.

Several DDA members, and Mayor Chris Johnson, noted that the first plan would leave more land under the city's control than the second plan, opening more space up for economic development.

"It gives you some land east of the deck to redevelop fairly quickly," Johnson said.

DDA Member Bill Sliger also expressed enthusiasm about the first plan, and the opportunities it would bring for commercial expansion.

"In the short term, it could be quite a pocket of development, not 10 years from now," he said.

DDA members Glenn Long and Margie Davis questioned whether the majority-approved plan would hurt business at the retail locations on Cady between Hutton and the existing deck.

"Are we being fair to the existing businesses on Cady Street," Long asked.

"It depends on how quickly we redevelop it (land east of the deck)," Presley replied. He said that rapid commercial redevelopment of the area would draw more customers to the area, and help existing businesses as well.

Long disagreed, saying, "I would think that plan two is about the only one we can morally pass and feel right about."

Historical society hosts kids' event

In the spirit of Christmas past, the Northville Historical Society will host its 13th annual Children's Christmas Workshop on Saturday, Dec. 7 in the New School Church at Mill Race Village.

Again this year there will be a morning session from 10 a.m. to noon and an afternoon session from 1 to 3 p.m., making it possible to accommodate 150 children total.

Children in grades 1-6 are invited to participate in the opportunity to create hand-made Christmas gifts for the special people on their list. The intent of the workshop is to surprise family members with the gifts that the children have worked on and made themselves. So parents are asked not to pry or peek at what the kids are making. The children can then delight in the mystery of surprise gift-giving.

Enrollment will be accepted starting at 6 p.m. this Friday, Nov. 15 for Historical Society members at 218 W. Dunlap; please bring your membership card. Non-Historical Society members may register starting at 7 p.m. Anyone wishing to become members may join at Mill Race on Monday, Wednesday or Friday between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. or call 348 1845.

Registration will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis only for those who are present at registration. People wishing to register children other than their own may only do so with a second turn in line.

Enrollment fee is $10 per child, payable by cash or a check made out to the Northville Historical Society.

Two more cars stolen from Meijer parking lot

A Plymouth woman told township police that someone stole her 1991 Olds Cutlass from the parking lot at Meijer, 20401 Haggerty, Nov. 3.

The woman said she parked the car in section "C" of the lot near the Haggerty Road exit. Police found no evidence at the scene. The vehicle is valued at $16,000.

The owner of a 1991 Chevrolet Corsica told township police someone stole the vehicle from the Meijer lot around noon Nov. 3. The vehicle was valued at $12,000.

MAN WANTED ON SEVERAL WARRANTS: A 51-year-old Plymouth man arrested by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department Nov. 4 was turned over to Northville City police on two outstanding warrants. The man was wanted for failing to appear in court on charges of assault and battery and assault on a police officer. City police held the man until his arraignment in front of 35th District Court Judge John Garber the next morning. He pleaded not guilty to both charges and a pretrial date was set for Dec. 17.

The man posted a $100 cash bond on a misdemeanor warrant charge from Detroit for disorderly conduct, and was turned over to Plymouth police on outstanding warrants for failure to appear in court on charges of driving under the influence and malicious destruction of property.

OUIL'S REPORTED: A 37-year-old Livonia man was charged with operating a vehicle under the influence of liquor after his arrest early Nov. 1 on Seven Mile west of Haggerty, township police said. A 31-year-old Northville woman was charged with OUIL after her arrest on Haggerty south of Wayne Ave. early Nov. 2, township police said. Police said Breathalyzer tests indicated the woman's blood-alcohol level was .20, twice the state's legal limit.

SLEEPING MAN FOUND WITH KNIFE: Township police charged a 24-year-old Highland man with carrying a dangerous weapon in a motor vehicle after the man was discovered sleeping in a car near the Beck Road entrance to Maybury State Park Oct. 30.

Police noticed a dual-edge hunting knife in the back seat of the vehicle when they approached the car.

THROWN ROCKS DAMAGE VEHICLES: A Northville woman told township police that her 1992 Ford Probe was damaged when it was hit by rocks thrown from the railroad overpass on Six Mile east of Northville Road Oct. 31. Damage was estimated at $200.

A man told police his 1991 Lincoln Continental was damaged when someone threw a rock from the same overpass shortly after the first report was made. Damage was estimated at $150.

BRIEFCASE STOLEN FROM SHOPPING CART: A Detroit man told township police that someone removed his leather briefcase from a shopping cart while he was in the restroom at Meijer on Oct. 29. The briefcase was valued at $50.

MAILBOX DAMAGED: A Northville woman told township police that someone damaged her mailbox late Oct. 31 or early Nov.

1. The mailbox was broken from its stand in front of a residence near the Seven Mile/Beck Road intersection. Damage was estimated at $80.

FENDER BENDER: A 19-year-old Novi woman drove into a Northville Township ambulance at Nov. 5, according to city police reports. The woman was driving south on South Main at 5 p.m. when the eastbound ambulance, its siren wailing and lights flashing, crossed South Main at Seven Mile while responding to an emergency. The woman braked and slid into the ambulance.

No citations were issued, and both vehicles were driven from the scene.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Horse tales

Racing season is now in full swing at Northville Downs, and racing will continue through March. Here, the horses head out for an early season race as drivers ready their mounts in the paddock beneath the grandstand.

Friend of the court to close local site

The Third Judicial Circuit has announced the permanent closing of the Wayne County Friend of the Court (FOC) Westland Annex on or about Jan. 10, due to mandatory budget reductions imposed by the state Legislature.

The court anticipates that as a result of the closing it will realize an estimated $262,000 in immediate savings and almost $500,000 in long-term annual savings without reducing the level of service provided to FOC clients. The savings will be derived from the salaries and fringe benefits for ten positions (six positions immediately and four additional positions long-term) which the closure will enable the court to hold vacant until the Legislature appropriates funds for all the positions authorized in the court's budget.

The decision to close the annex was based on the findings of an internal study on the cost effectiveness of Annex operations. The study was undertaken in reaction to the state's 9.2-percent budget reduction imposed last December.

The closure is one of several actions taken by the Court in response to the state's fiscal situation: employees have foregone pay increases afforded other state employees; the part-time law clerk program to conduct legal research for members of the bench was eliminated; travel and educational expenditures have been severely curtailed; and the court has renegotiated contracts with vendors to reduce prices on equipment and supplies.

The study of the annex represents the start of a systematic review of various operations by the court's staff. The goal of the review is to improve the court's efficiency or, in some cases, to identify activities which should be discontinued because of their marginal utility.

The Westland Annex currently provides divorce investigations, child support enforcement and custody/visitation evaluations to residents of western Wayne County. The 21 employees assigned to the annex will be reassigned to the downtown FOC office.

The size of the FOC staff downtown permits "assembly-line processing" as compared to "case-centered processing" as used at the annex. The assembly-line processing enables FOC employees located downtown to handle higher volumes than their counterparts at the Annex. As a result, the number of cases assigned to the Annex can be handled by fewer employees utilizing downtown processing methods. Therefore, centralizing all FOC employees in one location will increase productivity while maintaining existing service levels.

The downtown Friend of the Court office is located in the Cadillac Tower Building at 65 Cadillac Square with convenient public parking nearby.

NORTHVILLE CITY COUNCIL MINUTES SYNOPSIS OCTOBER 21, 1991

Mayor Johnson called the regular meeting of the Northville City Council to order in the Council Room at 8:00 p.m.

1. PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE:
2. CALL TO ORDER/ROLL CALL:
PRESENT: Mayor Christopher J. Johnson, Mayor Pro-Tem Carolyn Ayers, Councilmen Paul F. Folino, G. Dewey Gardner.
ABSENT: Councilman Jerome J. Mittman, excused/out-of-town.

3. PRESENTATIONS:
A. John Genelli asked Council to join the Ad Hoc Committee in discussions on the City's budget. Johnson asked Ayers to serve as Council's liaison to the Ad Hoc Committee.

4. AGENDA:
Moved, supported, CARRIED, to adopt the amended agenda and consent agenda.

5. PUBLIC HEARINGS:
A. TITLE 4, CHAPTER 6, REFUSE AND RECYCLING ORDINANCE REVISION WORD noted the City Attorney has reviewed the language and suggested several changes. Staff recommends the City Attorney's language be incorporated into the ordinance and further accept language providing for a waiver of retroactive charges to the special circumstances of hardship and that a specific policy be adopted.

Johnson spoke on the City Attorney's opinion on licensure of non-designated items is something we want to seriously consider. He stated that further discussion will continue October 24 at 8 p.m.

6. PETITIONS, REQUESTS AND COMMUNICATIONS:
A. RESOLUTIONS AND ORDINANCES: None

8. UNFINISHED BUSINESS:
A. SPRINGFIELD DRIVE TRAFFIC STUDY. Word noted the barricade at Springfield Drive and Coltspring Drive was placed in the Fall of 1987 and stayed in place until September of 1991. Based on the traffic study findings, City staff recommends that the street remain open to traffic.

Council deferred action until the traffic study could be reviewed further.

B. BUCHNER HILL DIRECTIONAL SIGNS: Moved, supported, CARRIED, to allow the directional signs for Buchner Hill Condominiums remain until January 1, 1992, and a report of status of the signs and their accessibility at that time.

9. NEW BUSINESS:
A. 1991-92 BUDGET ADJUSTMENTS

Moved, supported, CARRIED, to call a special meeting for Monday, October 28, 1991, at 8:00 p.m. to receive the 1990-91 Audit, discuss financial strategies and consider other business.

B. 1992 LIBRARY BUDGET: Pat Orr, Library Director, presented the budget approved by the Library Advisory Commission. The budget presented assumes that revenues from the City and Township would remain the same as the existing year.

Johnson stated this is a most difficult time for the City and could not give any assurances that the City would be in a position to fund the library budget at the current figure ($120,100).

C. 1992 RECREATION BUDGET: Traci Gotschalk, Recreation Director, presented the budget. The increases are primarily due to fringe benefits and workload has increased because of servicing more residents. There are additional expenses in park development as well.

Johnson noted the amended 1991 budget showed $70,250 and the 1992 proposed budget shows $79,626. He stated the year we are looking at service decreases or fee increases, or a combination of both.

10. MAYOR/COUNCIL COMMUNICATIONS:
A. MAYOR AND COUNCIL COMMUNICATIONS: Johnson will keep Council posted on the racetrack and will have a full report for Monday's meeting.

B. STAFF COMMUNICATIONS: None
C. CLOSED SESSION PROPERTY ACQUISITION

Moved, supported, CARRIED, to adjourn to executive session to discuss a property acquisition. Johnson recessed the regular meeting at 10:10 for the closed session and stated there would be no formal Council action taken.

11. ADJOURNMENT:
Mayor Johnson adjourned the regular meeting on Monday, October 21, 1991, at 10:30 p.m.

Legislative Democrats lost the battle of the budget with Gov. John Engler and the Republicans. But they are having political fun beating the GOP over the head with the results.

Basically, House Democrats insisted on a budget larger than Engler would accept and left him the job of vetoing more than $100 million. Engler accepted the job with relish.

The result will be campaign history. Democrats hit him as "mean spirited" for opposing line-item programs. The GOP conjures up images of pigs, pork and troughs.

"Children are literally being starved to death," said Sen. Lana Pollock, D-Ann Arbor, to a largely empty Senate chamber.

"I do not know if that fact escaped John Engler when he vetoed Project Fresh, or if he just doesn't give a damn about these children. Project Fresh, to remind my colleagues, is a line item in the Agriculture budget" with 80 percent federal money allowing women with children to use coupons to purchase farm produce.

To Republicans she said: "Put the interest of these hungry children and these pregnant women and their developing fetuses ahead of your partisan loyalties."

Engler's communications chief,

Rusty Hills, put a different spin on it: Social services this year will get a gross appropriation of $5.8 billion — highest in Michigan history.

And $40 million is going for adoption subsidies, Hills said.

Meanwhile, said DSS director Gerald Miller, basic grants to the 224,000 families on the AFDC program are going up Nov. 1 by 5.5 to 6.5 percent.

Another clear picture of political philosophy is Engler's veto of "discretionary historical grants."

Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, said grants to Lake Superior State University Museum, Henry Ford Museum, Greenfield Village and the Holocaust Center "are, in reality, education."

The Greenfield Village complex, Faxon said, "hosts and educates over 1.2 million visitors each year, including over 300,000 school children."

Engler boasts: While most states are raising taxes or cutting education, Michigan is doing the opposite — raising education spending about 4 percent at all levels and holding the line on taxes.

Time after time, Engler's veto messages say a particular line item is being cut because local districts or state departments should support the program with their increased general fund budgets.

The budget battle isn't over yet, even though the Legislature finished its work before the Oct. 1 start of the new fiscal year.

The governor can only veto a line item he considers too large — he can't reduce it. Some compromises need to be worked out.

For example, Engler vetoed a $4 million pharmaceutical program from the general government budget but added, "I will request a restoration of restricted funds to support this program, which meets emergency prescription needs for senior citizens, at the current funding level of $2 million."

Faxon replied: "That is still $1 million less than the program had to work with this past year."

Our Opinion

Free recycling is a must for all

Legal representatives of government and business are nearing accord on a contract designed to provide free recycling services for Northville Township residents.

Not all residents, mind you. Just those who happen to live in single-family residences. Others — condominium and apartment dwellers, for example — are excluded from the plan.

What originally was heralded as a bargain for township residents might not be such a good deal, in retrospect. Interpretation of the initial agreement has varied greatly, and causes us a significant measure of concern. We think township residents should share that concern and pass it along to local officials.

To capsulize, Browning-Ferns Industries and Northville Township officials last spring announced that they had struck a complicated deal involving a swap of a portion of the township's sewer capacity in the Western Townships Utilities Authority sewer line. In exchange, BFI pledged to provide free curbside recycling for township residents, among other perks.

Then-Supervisor Georgina Goss and behind-the-scenes with BFI and selected township officials to construct the sewer capacity swap. Goss then announced the plan as a unique opportunity for all township residents to receive free curbside recycling.

Great, said a majority of the township board, and we agreed. At the time, the township seemed to be taking progressive steps on its future solid waste and recyclable materials obligations. Goss was so pleased with the prospective deal that she used the free recycling plan as a campaign tool in her quest for the 36th District state representative's seat.

But somewhere along the line, multiple-residence dwellers were cut out of the deal. Now, before it's too late, the township needs to take steps to retrieve free recycling for all its residents.

Lack of communication between the negotiating parties is evident, though almost incomprehensible. BFI officials say the free recycling portion of the deal never extended to multiple residences. Goss and other township officials say it did. Who's correct? We never heard BFI downplay Goss' claims earlier this year, but now the township seems willing to accept the single-family only premise.

The township board needs to re-open talks on the free recycling plan before signing any final documents. BFI needs the sewer capacity, and the township should hold the company to any verbal or written agreement reached earlier this year.

BFI officials say they are willing to accept recyclable materials from multiple dwellers — if those residents, or condo or apartment managers truck the refuse to BFI's materials recovery facility in Salem Township. Part of the dig, BFI and the township say, is that no system currently exists to collect recyclables from such residences.

We don't buy that excuse and we certainly don't buy the arrangement as it currently stands. After all, multi-residences must abide by the township's solid waste ordinance — which includes provisions for recyclables — just like anyone else, and they should not hold second-class citizen status.

Did or did not BFI assure free curbside recycling for all township residents? The township needs to resolve that question before taking any further steps with the plan. If BFI did not actually offer such a proposal, Goss and the township board owe everyone an explanation. We expect that explanation to be forthcoming.

So now he's a crybaby

Well, I'm officially a crybaby. Or at least that's the way I've always thought of people with allergies. That's kind of insensitive, I know, but now I've learned I'm one of them. It looks like I'm going to have to rethink my views.

I played the happy pin-cushion for about two hours with Dr. Michael Hepar at the Allergy and Asthma Center of Southeast Michigan in Novi last week. It was a good experience. I learned that I'm allergic to mold, dust mites and weeds, among other things.

It also put my mind at ease, as I learned that my allergies were the cause of the mild asthma symptoms I've had off and on for the last four years.

I've known since I was about 8 that I'm allergic to penicillin, but I figured as long as I never got gonorrhea, I was OK. Now I have some new allergies, but I'm still having a problem dealing with my consternation toward allergic people.

I can remember when I was younger, there was always one kid in class or in camp who had allergies to all sorts of weird things — yogurt, tuna, grass, my sweater. These kids really used to frost me.

In camp, they were always the ones that were holding back the rest of the group. When we all wanted to hike into the woods and catch garter snakes or poison ivy or whatever, Chris would pipe up that he couldn't go because he was allergic to trees.

Then the rest of us would face this big moral dilemma: do we desert our friend in the name of garter snakes and male boredom, or do we stay back in solidarity with our crippled comrade. Needless to say, Chris got real good at solitaire.

On the other side of the coin, kids in school were practically treated like visiting ambassadors if they turned up allergic to anything — to the envy of those of us who weren't. They didn't have to eat cafeteria food, they skipped out early when they had reactions, and stayed home completely during hay fever season.

It made me wish I was allergic to something. I pleaded my case for peas and homework with little success. Claims of a penicillin reaction were hard to prove, too, considering how few 8-year-olds contract gonorrhea.

More recently, I had a girlfriend who was allergic to everything but her own shadow. It wasn't a major problem at first. In fact, I could exploit it to my advantage pretty well, stating loud and often that I deep-cleaned and dusted my apartment, "just for you, honey."

One "just for you, honey" was always worth a peck on the cheek and a "you're so sweet."

But then she turned the tables on me. She started using allergies as an excuse for wild mood swings. The day she threatened to blow up a convenience store that was out of Doritos — then tried to blame the behavior on a reaction to hay fever season — was the day I moved on.

So now I'll have to make a few lifestyle changes, and while I'll try not to be a crybaby about it, I still won't eat any peas.

Delving into the ol' mail bag

Time for a little catch up this week, folks. Time to delve into the old mail bag and report on some of the hundreds of cards and letters I receive daily from across the world.

Okay, that "around the world" stuff may be a slight exaggeration. But I got a letter from Keith Kraus in Pennsylvania a couple of months ago and this week I've got one from Ohio, so what the hey — if you wanted 100 percent accuracy you wouldn't be reading this column in the first place.

ITEM ONE: Let's start with the letter from Ohio — Westerville, Ohio.

Long-time readers — and I mean really long-time readers — may recall that I wrote a column more than five years ago about the cinnamon rolls my mother used to make for breakfast on Christmas morning.

The column was about holiday traditions and how those cinnamon rolls were a big part of the tradition at the Jerome house. When I wrote it, I noted that the recipe apparently had been lost when my mother passed away and how much I missed those cinnamon rolls.

The column provoked a lovely response. People started sending me cinnamon roll recipes in hopes that one of them would be the recipe my mother used to have. I even got a letter with recipes from Spain — from a former Northville resident who still subscribed to the paper to keep up on events in her hometown.

All of which takes me back to Westerville, Ohio. In the mail last Friday was a letter from Mary B. Hollis who sent me a recipe for cinnamon rolls along with a note that said she always thinks of me whenever she sees a recipe for cinnamon rolls.

Mary also included a recipe for potato fudge and said both recipes were from the October issue of Americana magazine.

ITEM TWO: This letter hit the mail bag more than a month ago. I have not mentioned it earlier because it's another cheap shot at my tennis skills and I'm getting pretty sick of the cheap shot artists out there.

So why am I running it at this time? Because it's from Wes Henrikson, one of Northville's leading insurance tycoons. Like I said, I wasn't going to print his trash, but then I started thinking that ol' Wes is probably going to start whining if I don't print his letter. . . and I'd rather have a toothache than listen to him whine.

Wes was co-chairman of the Northville Rotary Tennis Tournament from 1972-1980, and it's just my lucky that he kept copious records of those events. The gist of his letter was that I didn't play very often in those tournaments, and, when I did, I didn't play very well.

According to Wes, I only played twice: The team of Jerome & Jerome (that would be my brother David and myself) lost to the team of Boll & Norton in the first round of the men's doubles novice tourney in 1972. And, in 1973, I played in the "C" ladder and finished sixth out of eight players, beating Mark Murrey in the first round.

Henrikson concludes his little note (which, incidentally, was written in crayon) with one final cheap shot, noting that the eighth player in that 1973 tournament was disqualified.

Wes' records may or may not be accurate, but I'll tell you one thing — I really stomped on poor Mark Murrey.

Congratulations to Citizen of the Year

Once again, the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce has named its Citizen of the Year. And once again, the honor goes to someone who has demonstrated many years of commitment to the community.

Jean Hansen, current president of the Northville Board of Education, received the honor at the chamber's annual meeting recently. The chamber selected her from a very strong group of finalists, all of whom demonstrate Citizen of the Year qualities and who can consider the nomination itself a high honor.

The chamber names Northville's Citizen of the Year based on several factors: active community involvement; demonstrated concern for, and efforts to improve, community, environment, and family; and serving as a positive role model.

Hansen certainly exemplifies all these characteristics. The school board is only the start of her involvement, which also includes active roles in such organizations as the League of Women Voters and the American Association of University Women. And anyone who knows her knows of her concern, and of her value as a role model.

Congratulations to the Citizen of the Year, and to all the finalists. Northville is a richer community for your presence here.

Northville family lays flier to rest after 47 years

By BILL SLIGER
Special Writer

At 5:20 p.m. July 10, 1944, an American Army Air Corps B-26 Marauder medium bomber is flying in formation enroute to its target, a railroad bridge in northern Italy.

The aircraft sustains a direct hit at 10,700 feet. The left wing is torn off just outside the engine. The plane slips into a 60-degree bank, levels off, loses altitude and dives into a densely wooded mountainous area, crashes and explodes with its full bomb load.

No parachutes emerge from the aircraft.

On board the plane is Staff Sgt. Wesley B. Hoffman, the son of Clarence and Flossy Hoffman of Livonia.

At 10 a.m. July 9, 1991, in Northville Township, Mich., a mortuary program specialist from the U.S. Department of the Army explained to Bill and Lois McAllister of Northville, Warren Hoffman of Menominee and C.A. Hoffman of Plymouth that their brother, Staff Sgt. Wesley B. Hoffman, could finally be given a proper burial.

Sergeant Hoffman, a gunner-radio operator on the Marauder, was flying his 51st mission of a 50-mission duty assignment.

The Hoffmans — with the exception of Lois — attended his funeral at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., in 1949.

"I was pregnant and had rheumatic fever and couldn't get out of bed," said Lois McAllister, who, along with her husband, Bill, owns and operates McAllister Brothers Market on Northville Road in Plymouth Township.

It was Douglas L. Howard, a specialist whose job it is to notify next of kin and arrange for proper burial, who contacted Lois McAllister in Northville Township last summer.

Howard, a mortuary program specialist at the Casualty and Memorial Affairs Operations Center in Alexandria, Va., told her that remains of her brother, Wesley, had been found.

Lois McAllister said her first thought was "what kind of hoax is this?" She called U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell's office. Staff members checked it out and said Howard was for real.

How could the body of the young airman, who was declared missing-in-action 47 years ago, twice buried in Italy and reburied with his crewmen in their home base, suddenly be rediscovered?

Credit the determination of Bruno Bartolotti and Sauro Becchri. Becchri witnessed the crash in 1944 as a boy in his native village near the site.

Immediately after the crash Germans kept the curious away. They had buried remains of crew members in three graves. In 1947 the graves were discovered. American specialists determined that the remains were mixed and specific identifications would not be made. A group burial took place at the U.S. Military Cemetery in Castelflorentino, Italy.

In 1949 the remains were transferred to the crew's home base at Jefferson Barracks.

"We were all so proud of Wes. My parents never said a word about the fact that he was killed flying his 51st mission, when he was only supposed to fly 50. But it always bothered me. I loved him very much."

Lois McAllister
Sister of Wesley Hoffman

STAFF SGT. WESLEY B. HOFFMAN

Upon graduation from Plymouth High School in 1940, Wesley worked for his dad. But he was quick to sign up when the war broke out the next year.

"We were all so proud of Wes. My parents never said a word about the fact that he was killed flying his 51st mission, when he was only supposed to fly 50. But it always bothered me. I loved him very much."

The senior Hoffmans died more than a decade ago.

In their family meeting with Howard, the family was given a choice of where to bury their brother's remains. They chose Arlington National Cemetery. On Oct. 1, a full military service was held.

In addition to the immediate family and their spouses were the McAllister's daughter and son-in-law, Karen and John Romerl and their children Angela and John; Wesley Hoffman and Jill Hoffman Schick, Warren's children; and Congressman Carl Pursell and his executive secretary Diane Williams. C.A.'s daughter, Patty, a teacher in Anchorage, Alaska, was unable to attend.

Family members were given flags flown over the capitol in honor of Hoffman and a book containing all the details of the crash and the events leading to the latest discovery.

Howard explained that the search for missing U.S. service personnel is a continuing effort. He said there are groups of volunteers who regularly explore battle areas, particularly in the South Pacific.

In his day-to-day routine Howard said the discovery of the remains of Hoffman and his fellow crew members was not unusual.

The event was unusual for the surviving family members, however; it brought the past rushing back. Lois still has all the belongings that her brother left behind in his foot locker. Even Howard thought that was unusual. And he has written letters of thanks to Bartolotti and Becchri.

"You can't believe the patience and professionalism of Specialist Howard and the help of Congressman Pursell and his staff. Everyone was so considerate."

And this time she didn't miss her brother's funeral.

Senior Citizens Briefs

TURKEYVILLE DINNER THEATER: The Northville Area Senior Citizens are heading to Marshall and "Turkeyville" from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday, Dec. 2.

While there they will enjoy a complete holiday meal with real roast turkey and all the fixings (all you can eat). Following lunch they will be entertained by Christmas music. The $38 cost of the tour includes round-trip transportation via Bianca motorcoach, dinner theater admission, shopping for antiques, and gift and bakery shopping at Cornwell's.

Departure will be from the Northville Community Recreation building. Transportation to that point will be available upon request. One person will even get the chance to receive their trip at no charge.

CHRISTMAS PERFORMANCE AT THE REDFORD THEATER: World-famous duo Kurt Von Schakel and Gerry Gregorius bring an element of lightness to music that is thought to be serious by the audience at 6 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 7.

"Comedy Plus Talent" is the slogan for this year's Christmas performance at the historic Redford Theater. Always a delightful evening's entertainment.

Cost for the show is $12.50 per person and includes round-trip transportation from your home, admission to the show, and a stop for coffee and dessert en route home. Call 349-4140 for information or reservations.

REDFORD THEATER "GIGI": The Northville Area Senior Citizens Center offers transportation to the historic Redford Theater at 6 p.m. Friday, Nov. 15 to see "Gigi."

This is the classic MGM musical, winner of 10 Academy Awards including best film and best director (Vincente Minelli). It includes Lerner and Lowe songs such as "Thank Heaven for Little Girls" and "I Remember It Well."

Cost is $4 for transportation from your home and $2.50 for admission to the Redford (purchased on your own at the box office), and a stop for coffee and dessert en route home. Call 349-4140 for information or reservations.

Burgers coming soon at Six Mile site

tions by the township planning commission, site plan approval was granted.

Racklyeft declined to talk about specific features of the site, saying some aspects of the restaurant were "kind of a surprise." But he did refer to the building's earth tone colors and modified roof architecture.

"It's not like any other in the area," he said of the new restaurant. "We spent a lot of time and effort working with Northville Township."

The actual projected opening is set for Dec. 16. McDonald's will host grand opening festivities at a to-be-determined date, Racklyeft said.

Meanwhile, McDonald's is giving serious thought to abandoning its 39700 Five Mile site. The store will remain open for the time being, but the firm is "looking at other opportunities," Racklyeft said.

Winegrower learns through trial and error

Dale Goode grows grapes in a northern Sonoma County growing region known as Alexander Valley.

He grew up in California's central valley near Bakersfield, a very warm area for growing premium wine grapes, but a great climate for table grapes. The Bakersfield area climate aggravated Goode's severe allergies. Occasionally, he took trips to the coast to get relief.

On one such trip, Goode met Russell Green and his career in winegrowing had its start. Green was a summer resident of Healdsburg, Calif., in the heart of Sonoma wine country. He and friend Harry Wetzel had purchased orchards in the Alexander Valley from the descendants of Cyrus Alexander with the intention of converting them to vineyards. Green and Wetzel needed someone to guide their grapegrowing efforts. Dale Goode was their man.

In the fall of 1965, Goode began to plant Green's and Wetzel's properties, now known as Alexander Valley Vineyards and Hoot Owl Creek, to wine grape varieties such as chardonnay, gewurztraminer, riesling, merlot, chenin blanc and cabernet sauvignon.

"We were the first growers in Alexander Valley to train vines on wire trellises," explains Goode. "The old timers here, who were growing zinfandel like small bushes, said grapes wouldn't grow when trained on wires. Today, that's the accepted method."

"Viticulture (grape growing) is a constant experiment. We made guesses about the best locations for each variety. At first, we planted the white varieties on the hillsides and the red varieties on the valley floor. Now, this is all reversed."

"We are still learning how to grow grapes to make great wine. It takes a lifetime of experimentation in one location to eventually get it right. New trellis systems, farm equipment, buried irrigation and organic growing techniques are the hot topics in farming these days. It will probably take another 20 to 25 years before we have fine tuned our understanding of what grows best on each specific site."

Speaking of organic farming, Goode explained that organically grown table grapes, fertilized with manure, have a better flavor and hold up better in cold storage. He has yet to find out if this is true with wine grapes.

In 1979, Goode embarked on a joint venture, Murphy-Goode Vineyard, with friend and fellow Alexander Valley winegrower Tim Murphy. They developed 150 acres of well-drained, gravelly soil, on the Russian River in Alexander Valley and planted it for chardonnay, sauvignon blanc and pinot blanc.

Murphy and Goode are justifiably proud of their vineyard location which boasts neighbors like Jordan Vineyards, Robert Young Vineyards and Clos du Bois.

WINE SELECTIONS OF THE WEEK

1990 Murphy-Goode Chardonnay, Alexander Valley ($15). Sweet, spicy oak aromas blend with melon and tropical fruit. A buttery character on the palate ends crisp and clean with lingering fruit.

1990 Murphy-Goode Fume Blanc, Alexander Valley ($11). One of the best fume blancs produced in California. It features grapefruit and crisp citrus flavors with an extended finish.

1990 Murphy-Goode Reserve Fume Blanc, Alexander Valley ($15) is a barrel-fermented sauvignon blanc that shows an earthy rather than fruity character. It is the perfect complement to a dish of angel hair pasta with seafood sauce.

1988 Murphy-Goode Cabernet Sauvignon, Alexander Valley ($19) showcases blackberry jam aromas and flavors spiced with French oak and a hint of tobacco. The hearty mouthfeel calls for good old American beef-steak.

By RICK BYRNE
Copy Editor

Lately it seems the whole nation has been on some sort of countrified back-to-basics kick.

The fad has seen some interesting developments. We have, on the one hand, found some pretty dubious uses for gingham checks and the classic duck or goose motif.

On the other hand, some restaurants have made a fine reputation for themselves filling out their menus in inventive twists on old favorites like meat loaf and mashed potatoes, or chicken-fried steak.

One retro trend we hope to see more of, though, is the rising popularity of hot chocolate. Something about the scent of hot chocolate brings back memories of childhood, when you'd take a break from skating, sledding or snowball fights with a hot cup of the soothing liquid. If you made it from milk as opposed to water, you were a serious hot chocolate connoisseur.

Not so long ago, the demand for hot chocolate had dried up so much, there were only a couple of national brands of instant chocolate mix competing with each other.

Nowadays, you're not just limited to Swiss Miss and Qwik in the paper envelopes or Hershey's syrup. There are gourmet flavors as well.

At the Coffee Beanery in Novi, you can pick up an attractive foil packet of the store's own brand for 60 cents each, or drink some in the store for just 70 cents. The hot chocolate comes in a half-dozen flavors including Irish Creme, Amaretto, Cinammon and Mint. They also come in boxes of six packets to take home.

Linda Simpson, assistant manager at the store says the gourmet hot chocolates have been very popular, especially since the cold has set in.

In some gourmet stores, you can even find cans of "old fashioned" unsweetened cocoa that are intended to be made into syrup for hot or cold chocolate. Add sugar and milk, and heat the mixture together.

But did you know that it's almost as easy as heating up instant to make your own hot chocolate mix? You don't even need the machine that makes those paper envelopes.

The recipe included here is so tasty and rich, you may never have instant again. It's like trading in your Chevy for a Porsche.

The kids will love it garnished with a dollop of whipped cream, a candy cane or mini marshmallows. Adults who are still kids at heart can try a dash of kah lua, triple sec, creme de menthe or Irish whiskey.

Best of all, it makes enough for 16 servings, and will keep for up to a week in the refrigerator. It's like making your own mix.

HOMEMADE HOT CHOCOLATE MIX

- 1 6-ounce package of semisweet chocolate morsels
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 cup whipping (heavy) cream
- Hot milk

To make the mix, heat the chocolate morsels, sugar and water in a small saucepan until the chocolate is melted. Allow to cool until lukewarm, then stir in the vanilla.

In a separate bowl (preferably one you can cover), whip the heavy cream until stiff. Then whip in chocolate mixture. At this point, you can cover and store everything for up to a week.

To serve, heat 1 cup of hot milk per person just until small bubbles start to appear at the edge of your pan. Stir in one tablespoon of chocolate mixture per serving. Yields 16 servings.

Business requires learning a new language

Well, I have had a whole week to brush up on my restaurant lingo. It's been a lot of fun.

Last week, I asked everyone for all the restaurant jargon they could possibly come up with, and did they ever. Chris, a waitress, contributed the most. She was still reeling them off as I left last evening.

The "front of the house" staff has a whole different dialect than the "back of the house." It's not uncommon to hear the waitstaff to refer to their tables as two-, three-, or four-tops. This merely means that there are that number of people sitting at that table. Each table in the restaurant has a number.

Depending on the number of waitstaff (in our case, there's one waiter, Toby), the floor (all the tables) is divided into sections. Each section is assigned to a waitress or waiter (in our case, there's one waiter, Toby). These "stations" become their personal businesses for the shift. This is where they make their living. The better they manage the business, the more money they make.

The No. 1 responsibility of the waitstaff is to do whatever possible to make you happy.

Along with this, they are salespeople and conversationalists. In many instances, they are athletes, too. They literally run when it gets busy.

Although being a waiter or waitress may look easy, it isn't. As with any job in the restaurant, they must be coordinators and organizers. The timing of the appetizer, salad and main entree is critical, as are clearing of plates, offering desserts and assembling them, smiling, being a team player and helping out someone who is "in the weeds." There is no worse feeling than being behind.

Everyone who has ever worked in a restaurant has experienced nightmares of getting "buried." Even with best-laid plans, this sometimes happens. The only way out is for everyone to keep their cool and work toward the common goal of correcting the situation.

Part of having a business is to keep it in tip-top shape. The waitstaff's role in this is "sidework." They replenish their stations with salt, pepper, sugar, condiments, butter and creamers. Each person has a duty. Needless to say, it is very, very important that they take this seriously.

After working a busy shift, the last thing anything wants to do is clean. It has to be done, though. Tables and chairs are checked for cleanliness, and make sure they have no crumbs or food. The floor in their station is swept. Only then can they "check out." It's rewarding, but hard work.

My "back-of-the-house" and "front-of-the-house" staffs get along great with each other. They have fun. However, they don't speak while working. My job as an expeditor is to coordinate the front with the back. Imagine that you, as a saute cook, have to answer nine waitresses asking questions or demanding food. It wouldn't leave much time to cook, so only one person does the talking — me. It makes everyone's job easier.

The waitstaff can devote their time to service and the kitchen crew to cooking, just what they're supposed to do.

At the beginning of a shift, I take my post at the counter that separates the kitchen from the front. As the food "comes down," or is put "in the window," I check to be sure the plate and the food are hot (or cold if that's the case), that the food is cooked properly, and that the plates are clean. No drips of sauces are allowed!

Food presentation is so important. You eat with your eyes first and your mouth second. As the orders are trayed, I call for the waitress or waiter to deliver the food. If they are not immediately available, another person will "run the food" and serve it to the appropriate table. This ensures that food is served hot and at its optimum quality. The longer it sits, the more it loses.

There are bound to be mistakes. If a wrong order is put into the "POS," (point of sale, or cash register), it becomes my job to correct the error. I'll call for a needed item "on-the-fly," meaning right now.

Last week, a waitress requested capers on a burger. When the burger came up, the waitress asked what the little beads were. "Capers," we replied. But she said, "I wanted mushrooms," a big difference. Later that evening, I explained that capers were pickled floral buds, and we all had a good laugh.

From where I stand, I have the advantage of seeing the front line of the kitchen, and 90 percent of the front-of-the-house floor. The tables directly in front of the kitchen are referred to as the "chef's" since I am close enough to visit with whomever is seated there, and still watch the food that is put in the window.

I make it a point to speak with as many of our guests as possible. I've gotten some great ideas and feedback. For example, thanks to conversations with every child under 10, we developed a children's menu. It isn't extensive because the same items come up all the time. Do all kids live on grilled cheese, spaghetti and chicken wings? You'd sure think so from talking to them.

That is what I do as an expeditor. It is fun — the best of both worlds. Right now my "dogs" are tired so I'm going to take a break.

NEW FOOD GUIDE: Bringing on Healthy Food Choices! Oakland County Health Division has updated the American Red Cross Food Wheel for healthful eating. The revision is the work of the Health Division's registered dietitians. The colorful one page handout features plenty of grains, fruits and vegetables.

Are you confused about fats? Where are they hidden? How do make trade offs? The new Food Wheel will show you how. A special section describes fat serving sizes.

The guide is based on the new U.S. Department of Agriculture and Health and Human Services Dietary Guidelines for Americans and the American Cancer Society recommendations. The daily plan is easy to follow. It shows suggested numbers of servings from each food group for different ages.

For your free copy, if you're an Oakland County resident, send a self-addressed stamped (29 cents) business envelope to:

Food Wheel, Materials Center, Oakland County Health Division, 27725 Greenfield Road, Southfield 48076

HEALTHY SNACKS: The Food and Nutrition Hotline sponsored by the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service can answer many food and nutrition questions. To contact it, call 858-0904 from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday to Friday. Sylvia Treitman, home economist for the Extension Service, offers several suggestions for healthy snacks.

● Keep low-fat crackers, boxed juices, microwave natural popcorn, fresh and dried fruits and nuts and seeds on hand at work for healthy snacking.

● Use microwaves and slow cookers to make easy one-dish meals instead of buying fast food from restaurants.

● Keep plastic bags of cut vegetables in your refrigerator for easy snacks.

● Stay away from vending machines unless they offer fresh fruit or yogurt.

NUTRITION INFORMATION: The Food Marketing Institute, the American Academy of Pediatrics and the American Dietetic Association recently launched a nationwide nutrition campaign aimed at encouraging families with children ages two to six to make better food choices. Four free booklets offer information concerning reducing fat and cholesterol, avoiding arguments about food and healthy food choices. To obtain free copies of the brochures, you must include the brochure code in the address where indicated. The codes are Good Nutrition, Healthy Foods, Food Hassles and Cholesterol. Send a self-addressed, stamped, business-size envelope to the American Academy of Pediatrics, Department C—(Brochure Code), P.O. Box 927, Elk Grove Village, IL 60009.

BEEF BROCHURE: Get a head start on easy, carefree outdoor cooking with the help of a new recipe folder from the beef industry, "Marrinate and Grill Beef Recipes."

To receive a single free copy, send a stamped, self-addressed, business-sized envelope to the Michigan Beef Industry Commission, 2145 University Park Drive, Suite 300, Okemos, Mich. 48864. Allow four to six weeks for processing.

The newly released brochure contains a grilling guide for beef chuck steaks and three complementary marinades.

The robust flavor of economical beef chuck cuts such as top blade, chuck eye, shoulder, blade or seven-bone and bottom blade steaks, as well as shoulder steak strips for kabobs, are enhanced through the use of flavorful marinades.

Mix and match the steaks and marinades for a variety of beef meals.

Flavorful and quick-to-prepare recipes offered in the brochure include Hot 'n Spicy Beef Steaks, Caribbean-Style Steak, and Beef and Plum Kabobs.

SUPERMARKET TIPS: An informative sheet, "Charting Your Way Through the Supermarket," offers tips for making educated decisions at the supermarket. It is available free from the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service, 1200 N. Telegraph, Pontiac, MI 48341. Questions about food, nutrition or food safety can be directed to the Food Hotline, 858-0904.

KITCHEN HELP: Ever wonder about a certain food you've just bought, or how long to store that frozen turkey or what to do if your freezer fails? Help is available from the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service. The Food and Nutrition hot line, 858-0904, is open 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday to Friday. If your organization, school or other group is in need of a speaker to discuss food safety or nutrition, home economist Sylvia Treitman is available to speak to your group. Call the hot line for details.

DIETARY GUIDELINES: The federal government has updated its nutritional guidelines to help consumers sort out conflicting nutrition advice. They are offered in "Dietary Guidelines for Americans," a free booklet that includes suggested weight charts and advice on controlling weight and reducing fat in your diet. To obtain the booklet, write to Consumer Information Center, Department 514X, Pueblo, Colo 81009.

Three cheers for the 'A Team'

You don't have to dig too deep to find a good source of vitamin A. Give three cheers for the A team — beet greens, carrots, sweet potatoes, and turnip greens — they're vegetables certainly worth rooting for.

"Studies have shown that food containing vitamin A may lower the risk of cancers of the larynx, esophagus, lung and bladder," said Donald Prange, director of public education for American Cancer Society, Wayne County.

Mom was right. Carrots are good for your eyes. They're an excellent source of vitamin A, which aids in the ability to see, especially in dim light.

"Vitamin A also promotes tooth and bone development and assists in the formation and maintenance of healthy skin, hair and builds resistance to respiratory infections," said Linda Millard, a registered dietitian at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia.

"The vegetables highest in vitamin A are the darkest green or darkest yellow — like carrots, sweet potatoes, spinach and broccoli," said Lois Thielke, home economist for the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service, Oakland County. "They contain beta-carotene, a compound that converts to vitamin A in the body."

A carrot a day will give you all the vitamin A your body needs, said Millard. One whole fresh carrot contains 2,025 RE (retinol equivalent, a measure of vitamin A activity; the amount of retinol that vitamin A will yield after conversion in the body.) One medium carrot contains 31 to 40 calories. The Recommended Dietary Allowance is 1,000 RE for adult men and 800 RE for adult women.

When selecting carrots, look for those that are firm and clean, with a smooth texture and good color. Deep orange carrots contain more vitamin A than paler ones. If they become wilted, they can be crisped in cold water.

Pass the sweet potatoes on Thanksgiving. Sweet potatoes and white potatoes contain 120 to 140 calories per four-ounce serving.

One baked sweet potato contains 2,488 RE of vitamin A, more than a carrot. When shopping for sweet potatoes, look for ones that are thick,

SWEET POTATOES AND APPLES

6 medium-sized sweet potatoes
Boiling salted water
2 tablespoons molasses
½ cup butter
4 medium-sized red apples, cored and cut into ½-inch-thick slices
¼ cup orange juice
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
¼ teaspoon salt

Scrub the sweet potatoes, cover with the boiling salted water, cover, and simmer for 30 minutes, or until the potatoes are tender.

Meanwhile, heat 1 tablespoon molasses with ¼ cup of the butter in a skillet. Add the apple slices and turn to coat with the mixture. Simmer very gently until barely tender, about 10 minutes, turning twice during the cooking.

Drain the potatoes, peel and mash or puree them. Add the remaining butter, remaining molasses, the orange juice, orange rind and salt. Beat until light and fluffy.

Mound the mixture on top of the apple rings and serve immediately. Yield: About 10 servings.

ZUCCHINI-CARROT MUFFINS (Makes 24)

1½ cups unbleached white flour
¼ cup whole wheat flour
4 tablespoons powdered milk
1 tablespoon baking powder
½ teaspoon sea salt
¼ teaspoon allspice
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cinnamon
3 eggs
¼ cup mild honey
¼ cup safflower oil
4 heaping tablespoons orange or ginger marmalade
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup milk
1 cup grated carrot
1 cup grated zucchini
½ cup chopped walnuts

Preheat oven to 375 degrees Fahrenheit. Butter muffin tins.

Sift together flours, powdered milk, baking powder, salt and spices.

Beat together eggs, oil, honey, marmalade, vanilla and milk. Stir in grated carrot and zucchini.

Quickly fold wet ingredients into dry, and stir in walnuts. Spoon into muffin tins, filling ¾ full and bake in preheated oven 20 minutes. Cool

BOILED GREENS

2 pounds collards, turnip greens, or mustard greens, prepared for cooking
¾ cup boiling water
¼ teaspoon salt
pinch pepper
2 tablespoons bacon drippings or melted margarine

Wash greens well in cool water to remove grit. Discard tough stems and leaf midribs; cut large leaves into bite-size pieces.

Place in a large pot, add water and salt, cover and simmer until tender (10-15 minutes for turnip or mustard greens; 15-20 minutes for collards; very young leaves may cook in 5-7 minutes).

Drain, add pepper and drippings, toss to mix.

For low-calorie greens, use white wine vinegar in place of bacon drippings.

Calories 138, dietary fiber 8.36 g., excellent source of vitamin A 17691 IU, cholesterol 42 mg. fat — total 8.55 g. Yield: 4 servings.

chunly and tapered toward the ends. Do not refrigerate.

When it comes to greens most people cut off the top, throw away the greens and pickle or cook beets and turnips.

"The greens are the good part," said Thielke. "They are very high in nutritional value."

Turnip greens can be found in markets year round, with peak availability from November through March. They perish quickly, so don't buy them unless they'll be cooked in a few days.

Look for relatively small, tender leaves that are moist and well cooled; if kept in a warm place, the greens dry out and get bitter and tough. Avoid heavy stems and yellowed leaves.

Wrap the greens in damp towels, then a plastic bag and keep in the refrigerator. Or freeze them by blanching a few minutes in boiling water. Cool well in ice water, drain, then chop and pack into freezer containers. Freeze for about six months. Turnip greens are low in calories, with only 30 per cup, cooked. Besides vitamin A, one cup cooked contains 792 RE. Turnip greens are a very good source of vitamin C and contribute small amounts of calcium, iron and riboflavin.

Treat harder to find beet greens gently. They too are high in vitamins A and C. One cup cooked contains about 734 RE vitamin A. Beet greens contain about 25 calories per one cup serving.

Mayo can add that creative touch

Looking for an easy way to add that gourmet touch to meals? For creative inspiration, start with America's favorite condiment — mayonnaise.

By combining mayonnaise with just a few simple ingredients, you can prepare fabulous accompaniments for sandwiches and grilled meats, poultry, seafood and vegetables. Flavored mayonnaises make meals sparkle. They're new, easy, quick and delicious.

Try making Roasted Red Pepper Mayonnaise, flavored with fresh basil and jarred roasted red peppers. It's the perfect complement for a great tasting grilled chicken sandwich served on a crunchy baguette with romaine lettuce.

If seafood is your passion, create Chutney Mayonnaise by combining fresh ginger and grated lime peel and chutney. This makes a truly scrumptious shrimp salad. Lemon Mayonnaise is a snap to prepare and fresh-as-a-daisy with broiled fish fillets or steaks.

And don't forget a selection of fresh vegetables. Dress them up by preparing Herb Mayonnaise pungent with fresh parsley and dill.

Several brands of mayonnaise (Hellman's, Kraft, Best Foods) come in three varieties to meet the needs of today's consumers: real, light reduced calorie and cholesterol free reduced calorie

ROASTED RED PEPPER MAYONNAISE

1 cup light or cholesterol free reduced calorie mayonnaise
¼ cup roasted red pepper
2 tablespoons coarsely chopped fresh basil

In blender or food processor, blend mayonnaise, red pepper and basil until smooth. Cover, chill to blend flavors. Serve with grilled or roasted meats or poultry or use as a sandwich spread. Store covered in refrigerator up to 2 weeks. Makes 1½ cups.

CHUTNEY MAYONNAISE

1 cup light or cholesterol free reduced calorie mayonnaise
½ cup chutney, finely chopped
2 teaspoons grated fresh ginger
1 teaspoon grated lime peel

In small bowl combine mayonnaise, chutney, ginger and lime peel. Cover, chill to blend flavors. Serve with grilled or poached seafood or poultry or use as a sandwich spread. Store covered in refrigerator up to 1 week. Makes 1½ cups.

LEMON MAYONNAISE

1 cup light or cholesterol free reduced calorie mayonnaise
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel

In small bowl combine mayonnaise and lemon peel. Cover, chill 2 hours to blend flavors. Serve with grilled or roasted poultry, seafood or vegetables. Store covered in refrigerator up to 1 week. Makes 1 cup.

HERB MAYONNAISE

1 cup light or cholesterol free reduced calorie mayonnaise
2 tablespoons chopped fresh dill
2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley
2 teaspoons lemon juice

In small bowl combine mayonnaise, dill, parsley and lemon juice. Cover, chill 2 hours to blend flavors. Serve with grilled or roasted meats, poultry, seafood or vegetables. Store covered in refrigerator up to 1 week. Makes 1 cup.

Keeping abreast of chicken trend

According to the Department of Agriculture, last year for the very first time Americans ate more chicken than beef. This is a promising health trend since, compared to red meats, chicken is higher in protein and lower in fat — especially when the skin is removed.

Three ounces of microwaved light meat chicken (no skin) contain four grams of fat; the same amount of lean beef will have twice as much: around 8 grams of fat.

Another plus: Chicken is less expensive than most cuts of beef.

Microwaving is perhaps more successful with chicken than with any other meat — chicken cooks quickly, always retaining its natural tenderness and juices.

My favorite chicken part for microwaving is the breast. These are available fresh or frozen, with or without skin and bones.

I prefer to purchase chicken breast frozen, skinned and boned; in fact I buy them in quantity in large plastic bags and keep them on hand in my freezer for a quick dinner any time. Since they're frozen separately, I can take out just the right amount: enough for two or a whole crowd.

Defrost frozen boneless/skinless breast halves at defrost (30 percent power) setting about two minutes per piece, turning over after one minute. Let stand several minutes, then rinse and pat dry before cooking.

Skinless, boneless breasts microwave in mere minutes, and they're better for you too, since the skin contains most of the fat. To skin breasts most efficiently, use a knife to loosen skin, then with a paper towel simply pull the skin off, along with any fat.

To microwave plain chicken breasts for use in recipes, salads or sandwiches, rinse and pat dry. Place on a microwave-safe plate, cover with plastic wrap, and microwave about 2 to 3 minutes per boneless half breast (about 4 minutes for 2 half breasts, 6 minutes for 4 half breasts).

Always be sure chicken breasts are thoroughly defrosted before microwaving. Cook with thickest portion of breast facing toward outside of baking dish for even cooking. Standing time may be necessary to complete cooking of delicate chicken breasts. When standing time is called for, be sure to follow recipe.

Each of today's recipes use four skinless, boneless chicken breasts halves (one whole breast, split, yields two halves).

Recipes in this column are tested in 625- to 700 watt microwave ovens. To reheat cooked chicken without cooking further, wrap meat in plastic wrap or waxed paper and microwave at HIGH (100 percent power setting) 15 seconds at a time. Microwave only until heated through — watch carefully to avoid overcooking. Serve immediately.

MARINATED LUNCHEON CHICKEN SALAD

4 skinless, boneless chicken breast halves
 1/4 cup dry sherry
 2 tablespoons soy sauce
 1 clove garlic
 Dash ground ginger
 Dash black pepper
 1 small head red leaf lettuce
 1 medium avocado, diced
 1 stalk celery, diced
 1 medium tomato, chopped
 1 cup sliced mushrooms
 1/4 cup sliced green onions
 sesame seeds
 Yields four servings
 Preparation time: 15 to 20 minutes (plus marinating time)
 Cooking time: 4 to 5 minutes (plus 3 minutes standing time)
 Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

Rinse and pat dry chicken breasts. In a 10-inch glass pie plate combine sherry, soy sauce, garlic, ginger and pepper. Add chicken breasts, turning to coat. Cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate up to 2 hours, to marinate.

Drain off marinade and discard. Cover pie plate loosely with waxed paper. Microwave chicken 4 to 5 minutes, rotating 1/4 turn after 2 minutes, until meat in center is no longer pink. Let stand, covered, for 3 minutes. Set aside.

Wash and pat lettuce leaves dry. Tear into bite-size pieces; arrange on each of four large salad plates. Top each with an equal amount of prepared avocado, celery, tomato, mushrooms, and green onion.

Cut each cooked chicken breast crosswise into bite-size strips. Arrange over top of each individual salad and sprinkle with sesame seeds to garnish. Serve immediately with your favorite salad dressing.

POLYNESIAN CHICKEN BREASTS

1 teaspoon butter or margarine
 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
 1/4 cup chopped onion
 1 (eight ounce) can crushed pineapple, with juice
 1 (eight ounce) can sliced water chestnuts
 2 tablespoons cornstarch

2 tablespoons reserved pineapple juice

4 skinless, boneless chicken breast halves
 Yields 4 servings
 Preparation time: 10 to 15 minutes
 Cooking time: 16 to 19 minutes (plus 5 minutes standing time)
 Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

Combine butter, green pepper and onion in a two-quart microwave safe casserole. Cover and microwave about one minute, until onion is just soft. Stir in pineapple, water chestnuts, soy sauce and ginger. Combine cornstarch with two tablespoons reserved pineapple juice and stir into sauce.

Cover and microwave three minutes. Add chicken pieces, turning to coat with sauce. Cover and microwave seven minutes. Turn and rearrange chicken. Cover and microwave five to eight minutes longer, or until chicken is tender and meat near center is no longer pink. Let stand, covered, five minutes before serving. Serve over hot cooked rice.

Cover and microwave three minutes. Add chicken pieces, turning to coat with sauce. Cover and microwave seven minutes. Turn and rearrange chicken. Cover and microwave five to eight minutes longer, or until chicken is tender and meat near center is no longer pink. Let stand, covered, five minutes before serving. Serve over hot cooked rice.

SAUCY CHICKEN ROLLS

2 ounces thin deli-sliced ham
 4 skinless, boneless chicken breast halves

2 cups thinly sliced fresh mushrooms

1 (10 3/4 ounce) can condensed cream of chicken soup
 1/2 cup sour cream
 1 teaspoon curry powder
 2 cups broccoli flowerets
 Paprika
 Hot cooked rice
 Yields 4 servings
 Preparation time: 15 to 20 minutes
 Cooking time: 11 to 13 minutes (plus three minutes standing time).
 Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

Divide ham into four equal portions; place one portion atop each chicken breast and roll up breasts, securing with toothpicks.

Spread mushrooms over bottom of a 9-inch glass pie plate. Arrange chicken rolls over mushrooms. In a small dish combine cream of chicken soup, sour cream and curry powder. Spoon over chicken rolls. Cover loosely with plastic wrap and microwave six minutes. Rearrange rolls.

Arrange broccoli flowerets around edges of dish. Sprinkle chicken rolls with paprika. Replace plastic wrap and microwave 5 to 7 minutes longer, or until cooked through. Let stand, covered, 3 minutes before serving over hot cooked rice.

Our local favorites make national list

For a Detroit no other ginger ale compares to Vernor's. Those pale, lifeless drinks that others call ginger ale are unworthy of the name.

Noted conservative writer and peanut butter connoisseur William Buckley is convinced that the very best peanut butter is something called Red Wing made in Fredonia, N.Y., and distributed in the East His pal Charlton Heston agrees.

In Illinois three canned chili companies vie for the allegiance of devoted fire eaters.

America is rich in such regional food favorites, turned out by small and mid-sized food processors for a limited geographic area. "Food Finds" by Allison and Margaret Engel (HarperPerennial, $16 large-form trade paperback) is a bounty of information on such distinctive foods and a useful catalog for ordering every thing from American grown tea to distinctive deli meats. It is also a tribute to the much-vaunted American entrepreneurial spirit. It seems that where there's a taste, there's a producer eager to satisfy it.

The Engels, twin sisters and accomplished journalists, have compiled a book that is rich in anecdotes, peculiar facts, tempting recipes and regional flavor, in both senses of the word.

The book was originally issued in 1984 and has been expanded to include 150 companies not covered in the first edition with completely updated information. The book includes directions for those who might like to visit Ev and Kathryn Palmer, makers of Palmer Maple Syrup, or Snelgrove's Ice Cream store in Salt Lake to sample a Snellee or any of the other businesses and their friendly owners. Phone numbers and addresses are also provided for mail ordering.

The range is wide, from America's first soft drink Moxie, to Vermont Common Crackers to Chick-O-Sticks to Hell and Damnation Relish. Many Michigan products are included in addition to Vernor's including Sander's chocolate sauce, American Spoon Preserves, Red Pelican Mustard (which includes a little plug for preserving Tiger Stadium) and the Perogy Place.

The book is well illustrated with photographs, labels and advertising displays. The Engels capture the spirit of the independent food processors who are justly proud of their products and offer a vital alternative to the watered down national brands.

In the spirit of the catalog itself, "Food Finds" can be ordered by phone from the publisher, toll free (1-800-331-3761) during business hours. Book Call, a New Canaan, Conn., firm will take orders 24 hours a day (1-800-255-2665).

Winemaker learns by trial and error

In 1985, Murphy, Goode and wine marketer Dave Ready established Murphy-Goode Estate Winery to make and market wine. The first Murphy-Goode wines were the 1985 Fume Blanc and Chardonnay. In 1986, Murphy-Goode bought red grapes to produce the first cabernet sauvignon and merlot. In 1987, a winery was constructed with the capacity to produce 25,000 cases annually.

The goal of Murphy-Goode is to produce wines that showcase the unique flavors of the vineyard's particular soil structure and exposure. They aim at producing a fruity sauvignon blanc with a long finish accenting the ripe pear and melon flavors characteristic of the vineyard. For chardonnay, barrel fermentation, partial malolactic fermentation and sur lie aging create a creamy texture and toasty finish. They prefer a chardonnay style that lets the fruit show through accompanied by oak, but not overwhelmed by it.

'Home Improvement' power up to the Nielsen top ten

Tim Allen plays a tool-happy everyman

by Suzanne Gill

Sometimes, a wrench is just a wrench. But on ABC's Tuesday-night comedy "Home Improvement," tools get top billing.

After getting burned two years ago with "Chicken Soup," an attempt to translate New York comedian Jackie Mason's nightclub act to a sitcom living room, ABC has apparently hit the nail on the head with this retooling of series star Tim Allen's one-man stage act into a weekly comedy. In the early weeks of the 1991-92 television season, the show has become a top-ten hit, drawing a larger audience than "Full House," which precedes it, and proving itself a worthy lead-in for "Roseanne," the No. 2-rated series on television.

Allen had an auspicious introduction to national audiences in the Showtime special "Men Are Pigs" and has literally brought the tools of his trade with him to "Home Improvement." If a man's home is his castle, this series maintains, then the garage is his throne room.

Allen plays family-man Tim Taylor, inveterate putterer and host of a television show-within-a-show titled "Tool Time." Here, Taylor and his skeptical helper, Al (Richard Karn), demonstrate household projects, and Taylor shares his wisdom about all things masculine—an act he can ill afford. Both on and off the air, his neanderthal grunts and woofs and appeals for "more power!" (measured in horses) invariably fail him when crisis strikes, and he must turn to Wilson, the neighbor across the back fence, for help. Unseen from the eyes down, Wilson borrows heavily from poet/culturalist Robert Bly and pop psychology generally to dispense little chestnuts on the male predicament for Taylor.

The only break-out hit of the new season, "Home Improvement" has truly been in the right place at the right time. Not only does it enjoy a showcase timeslot (compare it to NBC's "Eerie, Indiana," which has sunk to around 90th place opposite the second half-hour of "60 Minutes"), but goes straight to the heart of the average man, congratulating him for doing his chores while letting him laugh at handier-than-thou series like PBS' "This Old House."

Carving out a niche at round number eight as measured by the Nielsen calipers, this series makes every other new show look like an also-ran. Its nearest competition, at about number 28 overall, is ABC's "Step By Step," followed closely by

"Nurses," "I'll Fly Away," "Homefront" and "Royal Family." "Baby Talk," "The Torkelsons," "Sibs," "Teech," "Brooklyn Bridge," "Drexel's Class," "Herman's Head" and "Roc" are also making respectable showings. "Good & Evil," the first big network series to be canceled, was by no means last at around 77.

In this self-appointed back-to-basics decade, "Home Improvement" lets men see themselves in Allen's character and lets women see their husbands—foibles and all—through the eyes of his wife, Jill. As played by Patricia Richardson, Jill has a more realistic charm than most rail-thin, over-achieving TV moms, and she is evenly matched with Allen in the verbal sparring that is a feature of each episode.

But the same themes are addressed better later in the evening by both "Roseanne" and "Coach." Allen's series is distinguished—from "Coach" in particular—by the central character's persistent childishness, from his tool play and his sublimation of libido into horsepower, to his inability to muster more than an it-was-an-accident apology for repeated thoughtless behavior.

Just once, couldn't he put down that nail gun and come out acting like a man?

BITS AND PIECES

Three NBC 'Cheers' go to Fox's 'Roc'

The cast and crew of Fox's Roc recently received unexpected cheers, so to speak, from NBC actors Woody Harrelson, Kelsey Grammer and John Ratzenberger. The three took a break from rehearsing Cheers to stroll across the street to the studio where Roc was filming a boxing sequence. After a few laughs with the Fox cast and their old friends Brian Pollack and Mert Rich, who are former co-producers of Cheers and current executive producers of Roc, they headed back to film their own show.

Roc stars Charles Dutton, Ella Joyce, Rocky Carroll and Carl Gordon.

The Pasadena Tournament of Roses parade will be broadcast on New Year's Day 1992 in a new venue: Russia. Russian Central Television will air live coverage of the parade on Moscow's new commercial station, Channel 3, beginning at 7 p.m. Moscow time. In addition to the parade, one hour of the Rose Bowl Game will be televised.

"We look forward to celebrating our Western New Year's Day tradition with Russia and hope to expand our audience to other previous Eastern Bloc countries in future years," says Robert L. Cheney, president of the Pasadena Tournament of Roses Association.

The USA Network has a new series called USA's Gonzo Games, featuring oddball physical stunts. In one segment filmed in New York City, 50 men and 50 women donned Styrofoam crowns and held up heavy torches for as long as they could with the Statue of Liberty visible in the background.

The ACE Awards, honoring cable television's best programs and performers, will air live from Hollywood on Jan. 12, exclusively on TNT. Nominees will be announced this week.

'Sesame Street' broadens its horizons

By Chris Carpenter

Can you tell me how to get to Sesame Street?

For 22 years, the Children's Television Workshop has posed that familiar question to virtually any preschooler whose parents own a television set.

As the cast of furry creatures and their human role models assembles for the 23rd season, new faces and new experiences promise a continuation of the programming excellence that has forged Sesame Street into an indelible childhood memory.

Though Sesame Street has always been committed to themes of racial tolerance, this season's addition of a Latino puppet named Rosita and a focus on the language and customs of the American Indian will certainly add positive reinforcement to that aim. Another addition to the cast is 17-year-old tap sensation Savion Glover, who encourages kids to "get up and dance."

Environmental responsibility will be presented in a bolder fashion also. The main story of the season-premiere episode deals squarely with man's insensitivity to endangered species. Big Bird befriends a Purple Tufted Fluter-Tooter whose forest home is being leveled by bulldozers. Several truly poignant moments are sure to incite curiosity from the youngsters, in their innocent wisdom, who may wonder aloud why it has to be this way.

TLC paints Paris' age of art

By Dan Rice

Recipe for an explosion of ideas: Gather an assortment of artists into a Parisian cafe, douse with wine, then speak liberally. Like the great cultural crucibles of Greece and Italy in centuries gone by, Paris was the mecca for artists between 1900 and World War II. Beginning Monday, Nov. 11, The Learning Channel presents The Genius of Paris: Montparnasse Revisited, a five-part series airing daily. Interviews with more than 150 painters, poets, composers, actors, musicians and photographers who lived in the Montparnasse district during the heyday of Hemingway and pals illuminate the glorious battlefield of "La Revolution Culturelle."

Culture may be forged by the fires of inspiration or blown to dust by the arid winds of change. The nomadic Masai people of Kenya, uprooted from their land, now face the annihilation of their way of life. The Discovery Channel's Endangered World Tuesday, Nov. 12, will focus on these people, who practice ancient rituals by day and dance for tourists by night.

LET'S TALK

Publicity-shy Al Pacino dubbed 'male Greta Garbo'

By Taylor Michaels

Q: Could you please tell me some facts about Al Pacino? — C.S., Denver, Colo.

A: Pacino was born April 25, 1940, in New York in the Bronx. He spent much of his childhood at the movies and would act them out for his family. He quit the High School of Performing Arts (the school featured in the movie and series Fame) after his second year. While attending the Herbert Berghof Studio, he met Charles Laughton, who volunteered to help Pacino. His first performance was in an off-Broadway play, but the experience was so unnerving he refused to perform in public for an entire year. Fortunately, he got over it and performed again on Broadway and subsequently in movies. His feature film credits include the Godfather trilogy, ...And Justice for All, Author! Author!, Bobby Deerfield, Cruising, Dick Tracy, Dog Day Afternoon, Panic in Needle Park, Revolution, Scarface, Sea of Love, Serpico and the recently released Frankie & Johnny. Pacino lives in New York and guards his privacy so much that he was once dubbed "the male Greta Garbo."

Q: Where can I write Robin Williams? —Tessa Broussard, Meridian, Miss.

A: You can write Williams c/o CAA, 9830 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212.

Q: I would like to know how to contact singer Paula Abdul. My friends and I are very big fans of hers. —Jack Comando, Garfield, N.J.

A: Write the singer c/o Virgin Records, 9247 Aleden Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90210.

Q: What happened to Stephen King's Golden Years? I watched it every week, and the last time it was on it ended with those famous TV words, "To Be Continued." The next week Burt Reynolds was talking to four great ladies. Now, CBS is airing Knots Landing in that time slot. Will we get to see the end of the show? If not, please tell me the name of the person who needs to be fussed at for such an error. —Patricia Tindoff, Tyler, Ala.

A: I think CBS just ordered six or so episodes of the show. So if you saw that many, that's all there were. Efforts to contact CBS regarding the show have yielded nothing. As far as I know, there are no plans for any additional episodes. If you want to fuss, write to CBS Entertainment, CBS Television City, 7800 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif., 90038.

Q: I am a fan of MacGyver, and I read your recent article on Richard Dean Anderson. I was wondering if you had a mailing address for him. —Cameron Reeves, Nacogdoches, Texas.

A: Write Anderson c/o MacGyver, Paramount Television, 5555 Melrose Ave., Los Angeles, Calif., 90038.

Q: Do you think you could help me get an address so I can write to Kiefer Sutherland? I know you don't usually get a personal reply, but I guess it doesn't hurt to try. Do you know if stars ever get any of their fan mail? I know a lot of people who think there is no reason even to try writing to a star, but I hope they are wrong. —Rebecca Deal, Early, Texas.

A: It never hurts to try. As far as I know, some stars do answer all of their mail personally and others answer only some of it. Much depends on how busy the celebrity is. You can write Sutherland c/o CAA, 9830 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212. If Sutherland does choose to answer your letter, it might be as long as a couple months before you receive a reply.

Send your questions about the world of entertainment to Let's Talk, Features Dept., P.O. Box 961009, Fort Worth, Texas 76161-1009. Because of the volume of mail, only questions of general interest can be answered.

SOAP TALK

Sex on the soaps displeases viewer

By Candace Havens

Dear Candace: I watch As the World Turns every weekday, but I can't see why they have to have so much sex. I enjoy most of the show and have listened to it since it first came on the air. I just really don't like the fact that most of the characters will go to bed with anyone available.

Also, could you tell me if Hal Munson will ever come back? Will the old Margo ever return? I like the present Margo, but she just isn't "our Margo." Keep up your column; we love it. —Caribel Moore, Quanah, Texas.

Dear Caribel: First of all, thank you for your kind words. Secondly, there are many instances when sex isn't really necessary on the soaps, and as crude as it sounds, it is often used to create new situations for the writers to work with. Unfortunately, this happens on all the soaps.

At the present time, there are no plans to bring back Hal Munson or the other Margo, but you never know what might happen in the soap world. Thank you for writing.

Dear Candace: Please, please, please tell the writers of All My Children to get rid of this whole Natalie-and-her-twin-sister thing. They have also made the character of Jackson Montgomery sickening.

I'm hoping the show doesn't go the way Santa Barbara did. I stopped watching that one year ago, and now I hear it's going off the air. Now All My Children is getting carried away with the same kind of ridiculous story lines. If somebody would hit the writers over the head in time, maybe they can get back to a somewhat plausible story line. I just hope they do it quickly. —Mrs F.E., Deming, N.M.

Dear Candace: On Another World, when is Vicky coming back? The reason I ask is because the new girl who plays the characters of Vicky and Marly really stinks! I think the first Vicky made the story. —M.L.C., Logan, N.M.

Dear Reader: There's not much of a chance of Anne Hecht returning to the roles. Jensen Buchanan, who currently plays Vicky and Marly, has a long-term contract.

I'd like to hear from you! Send your questions and comments to Candace Havens, Soap Talk, P.O. Box 961009, Fort Worth, Texas, 76161-1009.

Actor John Lithgow not to be forgotten

By Lisa Otoupal

If you ask people what role they associate with John Lithgow, answers will vary. Some will remember him as Roberta Muldoon in The World According to Garp. Some will remember him as the panicky plane passenger on TV's The Twilight Zone, and some will remember him as the duped American in the Broadway play M. Butterfly. Most will agree, however, that Lithgow is a talented actor.

Lithgow was born in Rochester, N.Y. Acting runs in his family, and it was in one of his father's productions that he made his stage debut at age 6.

After receiving a Fulbright scholarship, Lithgow attended the London Academy of Music and Dramatic Art, then interned with the Royal Shakespeare Company and the Royal Court Theatre. He returned to New York to pursue a career on Broadway and appeared on stage in My Fat Friend, Secret Service, Anna Christie and, of course, M. Butterfly.
