City seeks budget cure

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

There's nothing like a fiscal crisis to get the creative juices flowing. Or so it seemed at city hall Tuesday, where the council brainstormed ways to reduce the city's looming $1-million deficit.

Tax and state revenue-sharing anticipation notes authorized Monday night will cover the shortfall in the short run (see related story, page 7-A). "In the worst-case scenario, we should have enough money to get us through fiscal year 1992, but it's going to be awfully close," City Manager Gary Word told the council.

But the manager and council are seeking a more permanent solution to the city's financial ills, which are blamed on the state's anticipated slashing of $725,000 in state-returned racetrack revenue and a

Officials reap township perks

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Northville Township's bleak financial picture has been well-chronicled.

Elected officials repeatedly have blamed dwindling state and local revenues as the primary instigator for current budgetary problems. With local development stalling to a halt and property tax assessments frozen at 1991 levels, the 1993 budget appears to be even more of a concern.

Full-time township employees could be asked to share in the township's cost-cutting burden through benefit reductions, across-the-board raise limits, and possibly layoffs, if comments offered by budget review committee and township board members come to pass.

But the township's part-time, elected officers, including Supervisor Betty Lennox and Clerk Thomas L.P. Cook, could emerge unscathed from any benefit cuts, even though both officials receive pensions and other benefits from additional sources.

The township supervisor, clerk and treasurer are the lone part-time employees — with the exception of one building department employee — eligible to receive township health and pension benefits. Part-time employees in clerical, building, police, and some shared-services departments are exempt from township health care and pension benefits.

Some township employees and at least one member of the township board believe the system should change.

Under the township's pension ordinance, which was drafted in 1981, pension benefits were extended to township building inspectors and their full-time assistants; all township fire chiefs; all township police chiefs; all township employees who are employed for more than 35 hours per week on a regular basis; the township manager; and the township supervisor, treasurer, and clerk.

Employees become vested in the township pension plan after either 20 months or 24 months. Township officials this week could not determine which figure is correct.

The Record this week requested township financial records concerning employee pension plan costs, and also asked the township for breakdowns of elected officials' compiled pension and health care benefits.

Township Manager Richard Henningsen provided several requested documents but said he did not have sufficient time to turn over other records, including those which represented financial figures. Henningsen

Arson suspected in apartment fire

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

A teenage boy may have set a roaring, "suspicious" fire that destroyed an unfinished, 24-unit apartment building in Northville Sunday afternoon.

Two witnesses said a "12- or 13-year-old" boy "darted out of" a building under construction at Park Place of Northville Place Apartments before flames engulfed the building.

"He saw us and just ran out," said a witness, who asked not to be identified. "He ran towards the gravel pit (Lake Success)."

Township police and state fire marshals are investigating the blaze, which caused an estimated $250,000 damage to the destroyed building. Two neighboring units suffered minimal damage, investigators said.

Township Police Capt. Philip Presnell said investigators are focusing on arson as the probable cause of the fire.

"It's of a suspicious nature," Presnell said. "Someone was seen fleeing the building. I can confirm that we're looking at that angle."

Santa's local gig Sunday

Santa Claus is comin' to town on Sunday, and this year he'll have a Dickens of a time.

The annual Santa Parade starts at 1 p.m. this Sunday, Nov. 24. But the popular event will take on a slightly different tone this year, as Santa returns to the age of Dickens in keeping with the theme for the holiday celebrations in downtown Northville.

That means Santa will arrive in a horse-drawn carriage, with no motor vehicles anywhere in the parade. Santa will be decked out in classic Victorian Kriss Kringle garb, also in keeping with the theme.

The parade starts at the Northville Community Center, 303 W. Main. It will travel up Wing Street to Dunlap, east on Dunlap to Center, south on Center to Main, and east on Main to the bandshell.

After the parade, Santa will set up shop in his special booth to hear Christmas wishes of local children. He will return on weekends throughout the holiday season.

Also after the parade, at 3 p.m. Sunday, a well-known speaker will trace the history of Santa Claus in a special presentation sponsored by the Northville Arts Commission. For details, see page 5-B.

The Santa Parade is only the start of the long list of annual holiday activities getting under way in town. Here are some others:

ROTARY LUMINARY SALE: Once again, the Northville Rotary Club will sell luminaries for the holiday season.

A kit contains 12 white bags, twelve 6-inch plumber's candles, and two bags of sand. Cost is $7 per kit, with free deliveries to subdivisions in quantities.

Kits may be purchased at News Printing, 560 S. Main (next door to Allen Monuments), 349-6130, from Pat Bradley, Monday through Friday; or in downtown Northville by the clock on Sunday, Nov. 24.

PATIENT GIFT DRIVE: Local attorney Phil Oglvie and the First Presbyterian Church will again coordinate the donation of Christmas gifts for patients at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital.

With the opening of new patients this year from the Ypsilanti hospital, the need for gifts is greater than before. In many cases, a donated gift is the only holiday present a patient will receive.

Suggested gifts for women include a blouse, sweater, knit hat and gloves, purse, pajamas, or cigarettes. For men, possibilities include shirt, sweater, knit hat and gloves, wallet, pajamas, and cigarettes. You may buy anything else a patient might like, but nothing in a glass container.

Donations should be wrapped and marked for size and whether it is for a

New strategy for Beck park

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

The Northville Community Park on Beck Road sits vacant, undeveloped, with browned prairie grasses covering uneven mounds of topsoil.

The 39-acre park's future is uncertain, just a short time after it was hailed as a solution to field shortages in Northville youth soccer and baseball programs.

Apartments burn; fire suspicious

The witnesses did not notice flames or smoke when they saw the youth run from the scene. They said they "didn't think anything of it" at first, and eventually went shopping at a Seven Mile Road grocery store.

When they emerged from the store, the witnesses saw billowing clouds of black smoke climbing from the Park Place complex.

"It was the exact same building he ran from," one witness said. Northville Township and City firefighters had the blaze under control approximately one hour after 911 calls began flooding township police headquarters at 2:50 p.m.

Presnell said police had not nailed down arson as the cause of the blaze or developed a prime suspect by Monday. The witnesses said the youth was wearing "a dark-colored sweatshirt" or sweat clothing, Presnell said.

Township Fire Chief Rick Rosselle said the exact origin of the blaze had not been determined by Monday. Gusty winds, dry conditions and raw materials inside the building could have eased an arsonist's chores, he said.

"It was open, with construction materials like sawdust, paper and wood," he said. "You could easily get a little fire going, and that's all she wrote."

Rosselle said 22 township and city firefighters responded to the scene. One firefighter, Ken McCall, was overcome by heat and received treatment at the scene. No other injuries were reported, Rosselle said.

Apartment manager Christine Zielinski and leasing agent Jolene Bongard were in the Park Place complex office Sunday when the fire broke out. They first noticed the smoke across Lake Success, but thought it was merely fog.

They realized a building was on fire when they spotted people running to the scene.

Zielinski said building construction began in September and was scheduled for completion in January or February. Interior and exterior framing had been completed, but Zielinski said there was yet no drywall or electrical in the building.

Bongard said brickwork also was not up, and speculated that may have been why the building burned so quickly. She said she believed the fact exterior brickwork was complete on the nearby buildings may have been what saved them from catching fire. Zielinski said drywall estimates were expected to be finalized this week.

"Right now, we still haven't assessed all the damage," she said. Damages "more than likely" would hit the $250,000 range, she said.

News Briefs

CLARIFICATION: A headline in Monday's paper may have misled readers about a group of vehicle vandalism incidents reported to township police.

While the headline referred to the events as taking place "at Scenic Harbour," only two of the five reported incidents actually happened on Scenic Harbour Drive. The other three were in the general area.

ANOTHER WALTERS AT CITY HALL: There's a new Walters in town these days. No, former City Manager Steven Walters has not returned to Northville, but a prominent city employee has taken his name.

Walters, whose title these days is Plymouth City Manager, and Northville City Finance Director Beverly Morrison were married Nov. 6. The ceremony was performed at Plymouth's Wedding Chapel on Main Street by outgoing Plymouth City Commissioner and current 35th District Court Magistrate Mary Childs. This is the second marriage for both.

SENIOR PARTY PLANNED: Planning for the Northville High School senior party got under way Nov. 12 in the high school cafeteria. Over 100 parents attended to form committees. Parents voted on the theme, but agreed to keep it secret.

Molly and Dave Berkaw, and Linda and Brian Helmer are the general chairpeople. The cost is $30 a student. Send checks payable to the Northville Senior Class Party to Sherry Duff, 776 Bradburn Drive, Northville, Mich. 48167.

Anyone interested in volunteering should call Sue Krupansky at 347-1208.

PAPER OUT EARLY: Due to the Thanksgiving holiday, the Northville Record edition dated Nov. 28 will actually be distributed Wednesday, Nov. 27.

For that issue, all deadlines for news and advertising will fall 24 hours earlier than normal.

CAN-DO UPDATE: Operation Can-Do, the annual Cub Scout/Boy Scout drive for food for the needy, picked up bags on Saturday, but it's not too late to donate.

Locally, the effort involved scouts from Cub Scout Packs 712, 721, 755 and 903; and Boy Scout Troops 755 and 903.

Food may still be dropped off at all area Elias Brothers restaurants until Thanksgiving, Nov. 28.

SENIOR BRUNCH: A brunch for Northville senior citizens will be held in the Northville High School cafeteria on Dec. 4 at 11 a.m. Food and entertainment will be provided. Any Northville senior is welcome to attend, but space is limited so please call to reserve a space. Call the Senior Center, 349-4140 by noon on Nov. 27.

Scout Building fees pondered

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Community groups planning to use a local public building for meetings and other gatherings may have to dig into their pocketbooks to do so.

A city/township blue ribbon committee last week strongly suggested setting an unspecified fee schedule for use of the 215 West Cady facility, commonly known as the Scout Building.

Fees would help defray maintenance costs associated with the building, which currently serves as home base to several local groups, including Northville Senior Citizens and Civic Concern.

The senior citizens group now picks up the tab on building utilities and other maintenance fees at an estimated annual cost of $5,600. Committee members are looking for ways to cut costs in the senior citizens budget, and in the budgets of the three other shared services programs.

"I think we'll be criticized if we asked the scouts to pay."

BETTY LENNOX
Northville Township Supervisor

The blue ribbon committee, comprised of city and township elected and appointed officials, as well as shared services programs administrators, discussed the idea of charging groups such as Kiwanis and Northville Merchants Association to use the scout building.

Civic Concern, a non-profit, volunteer organization that supplies food and other emergency services to local residents, would not be billed for its limited occupancy of the building, the committee decided.

Committee members apparently will shy away from charging local scout troops to use the building that was funded entirely by donations from local scouting supporters.

Another committee member said all groups should fall under the same fee guidelines.

"Right now, we charge senior citizens (and) we should charge everybody," said Township Trustee James Nowka.

The scout building originally was built for local scouts by community donations. City Manager Gary Word said. The building later was deeded to the city, and has become a popular meeting site.

City hall scheduling conflicts sometimes force community groups to shift meetings to the Scout Building, Word said. Charging such groups could help cut the cost to senior citizens, he said.

"If it is being used as an overflow building, a nominal fee probably wouldn't be out of line," Word said.

Committee members agreed to research a fee arrangement, but did not propose specific rates. The group is scheduled to meet Dec. 19 to continue discussing shared services programs.

Winter wonderland warning posted

The week of Nov. 17-23 has been declared Michigan Winter Awareness Week by Gov. John Engler and Oakland County Executive Daniel T. Murphy.

In a declaration on Winter Awareness Week, Murphy cited several of the dangers posed by the state's harsh winters. "During Michigan winters, travel on icy and snowy roads can be extremely hazardous," he wrote. "Overexertion from snow removal, as well as overexposure and frostbite from bitter cold weather, are serious threats to residents' health and well-being. Also, the danger of home fires is increased by the use of substitute fuels such as wood and kerosene. . . I urge all citizens to learn more about protecting themselves, their families, and their homes during the winter season."

To enhance public awareness of winter dangers and safety precautions, the Oakland County Department of Public Services is engaging in various public education efforts throughout the week.

As part of those efforts, the Northville City Police Department has brochures available on subjects ranging from safety tips for winter storms to how to insulate your home. Stop by the city police station, 215 W. Main St., for more information.

Police News

Whitetails no match for local vehicle traffic

Four separate collisions involving vehicles and deer were reported in Northville Township last week, police said.

A 57-year-old Livonia woman reportedly struck a deer while traveling west on Six Mile near the Northville Trails subdivision entrance at approximately 6:20 a.m. Nov. 13.

A 62-year-old Dearborn Heights man struck a deer at 6:45 p.m. Nov. 13 while traveling south on Beck Road near Six Mile.

A 17-year-old Northville youth hit a deer while traveling west on Six Mile near Ridge Road Nov. 14 at 6:30 p.m.

A 28-year-old Sterling Heights man hit a deer while driving east on Six Mile near Sheldon Nov. 14 at 8:30 p.m.

No citations were issued in any of the incidents, police said. All of the deer involved in the accidents were killed.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT ACCUSED OF KNIFE ASSAULT: A 15-year-old Northville High School student was accused of assaulting another student with a knife Oct. 31.

The youth was accused of holding the back side of a 4 1/2 -inch bladed buck knife against the other student's throat during a morning class. When confronted by School Principal Thomas Johnson, the youth reportedly handed over the knife.

The alleged victim and the victim's father later decided against pressing charges, according to the police report, "as both feel it was done as a joke." Police are still pursuing the matter.

MAN ARRESTED ON FELONY WARRANT: Township police arrested a 34-year-old Northville man Nov. 11 on a felony warrant from Beiloi, Wis.

Police said the man was seen hitchhiking on Six Mile east of Winchester. Township ordinance forbids hitchhiking, and police questioned and ran a computer check on the man. The check indicated that the man was wanted in Wisconsin for ball-jumping and possession of THC, the outlawed, active ingredient in marijuana.

Police said the man was lodged in the Wayne County jail and is expected to be extradited to Wisconsin.

MEIJER LARCENIES: A 19-year-old Northville man was arrested Nov. 11 and charged with larceny after he reportedly attempted to steal five music cassette tapes and a socket wrench from Meijer, 20401 Haggerty, township police said.

A young, unidentified black male escaped a larceny arrest after fleeing from Meijer security staffers Nov. 12. Security officials said the man had attempted to steal an AM/FM cassette radio and a pair of stereo headphones from the store.

When confronted by security in the store's parking lot, the man ran across Haggerty Road into a wooded area. The radio was dumped in the parking lot and the headphones were later located in the woods.

A 38-year-old Detroit man was charged with larceny after attempting to steal a pair of tennis shoes from Meijer Nov. 13, township police said.

A 30-year-old Detroit woman was charged with larceny after she attempted to steal five cartons of cigarettes from Meijer Nov. 13. The woman also was wanted on a warrant for second degree retail fraud out of Novi, police said.

A 36-year-old Belleville woman was charged with larceny after she attempted to steal 11 cartons of cigarettes from Meijer Nov. 17, township police said.

WALKAWAY RECOVERED: Township police recovered a 19-year-old walkaway from Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital near Oasis Golf, 39500 Five Mile, Nov. 17. The man was apprehended without incident, police said.

VEHICLE STOLEN FROM MEIJER LOT: A Farmington Hills man told township police that someone stole his 1991 GMC Jimmy from the lot at Meijer Nov. 13 sometime between 9:30-10:15 p.m.

The vehicle was recovered by Detroit police Nov. 16 at 121825 Robson, police said. A radio, clock, rear hatchback, radar detector, and portable telephone were among the missing items. The vehicle's door lock, steering column, and dashboard reportedly were damaged.

PELLET GUN VANDALISM: City police received four reports of windows broken sometime between Nov. 14-15, at least three of them by a shot from a BB or pellet gun.

A six-foot-square window at Hardee's Restaurant, 401 N. Center St., was shattered by a BB or pellet shot at 7:15 p.m. Nov. 14, causing an estimated $240 in damage. No one was injured in the incident.

A pickup truck parked on North Rogers had its driver's vent window broken by a shot sometime between 7:14-7:32 p.m. Nov. 14, causing an estimated $100 damage, while a van parked in front of a Carpenter Avenue home had its $200 side window shot out sometime between 9:30-10:40 the same night.

A vehicle parked in front of another Carpenter Avenue home had its driver's side window smashed sometime between 7 p.m. Nov. 14 and 7:20 a.m. Nov. 15. Damage in that incident was estimated at $100.

EQUIPMENT VANDALIZED: A pickup truck and front end loader parked in a dirt lot off Cady Street were vandalized with red spray paint sometime between Oct. 31-Nov. 3. Damage was estimated at $400.

FAKE FLOWERS FILCHED: An estimated $60 worth of plastic flowers were reported stolen from a North Rogers Street home sometime between 10:30-10:50 p.m. Nov. 16.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Local man enters no-contest plea in sex case

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

A Northville man charged with first-degree criminal sexual conduct in March conceded to a lesser charge Monday.

James Dickson Reynolds, 44, pleaded no contest to second-degree criminal sexual conduct in a trial before Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge M. John Shamo.

Reynolds will be sentenced before Judge Shamo Jan. 13. He faces up to 15 years in prison on the felony charge.

He was charged with molesting a 9-year-old girl in the apartment complex at 113 W. Main St. more than four years ago.

Northville City police first heard of the incident December 1990, from a neighbor who claimed to have heard Reynolds talking about the girl. The girl corroborated the charge in a subsequent police interview, but medical tests did not reveal conclusive evidence of sexual activity.

Reynolds was accused of molesting the girl in a common linen room at the apartment complex. He denied the crime in an interview with police.

The girl's mother said Reynolds had been seen driving by the family's new home and the girl's bus stop after the family moved from the apartment complex. City police also noticed Reynolds watching the family's new home after an interview with the girl.

Reynolds was arrested and charged with the crime March 27 in 35th District Court, following the police investigation. Magistrate Theodore Johnson entered a not-guilty plea on his behalf and set his bond at $15,000. Unable to make bond, Reynolds was taken to Wayne County Jail.

He was bound over for trial after an April 5 preliminary examination at 35th District Court.

Reynolds was subsequently released from Wayne County Jail after his bond was reduced to a $15,000 personal bond, which requires a 10 percent cash payment. The bond was reduced during a hearing before Recorder's Court Judge Dominick R. Carnovale.

At a final court conference Sept. 12 in front of Judge Shamo, Reynolds waived his right to a jury trial. A non-jury trial was then scheduled for Monday, Nov. 18.

First-degree criminal sexual conduct is defined as engaging in "sexual penetration." The crime, when committed with a person under the age of 13, is punishable by up to life in prison.

Second-degree criminal sexual conduct includes sexual contact with a person under the age of 13, but not sexual penetration.

A no contest plea means the defendant does not admit guilt but offers no defense. The person is convicted and punished as if he had pleaded guilty.

Winning the battle against cancer.

The Lung Cancer Working Group: one of many ways we're battling cancer

At the Providence Cancer Center, we know that prompt diagnosis and treatment increases the chances of beating cancer. And that's the key to the Providence Lung Cancer Working Group. This unique team approach brings together a group of cancer specialists to share expertise and reach a consensus on the best treatment plan for the patient. The Working Group allows patients to begin treatment quickly, so they can feel in control of the disease right away.

Providence Cancer Center: advanced technology

Our comprehensive treatment program includes fighting cancer with radiation, surgery and chemotherapy.
• Our affiliation with the Southwest Oncology Group gives us access to the latest research, drugs and treatment programs.
• Our Center's radiation oncology department, affiliated with the University of Michigan, is one of just a few programs worldwide to use a three-dimensional treatment planning technology that provides today's most accurate and effective targeting of tumors.

• If hospitalization is ever needed, our free-standing Cancer Center is adjacent to Providence Hospital in Southfield. The special oncology unit at the hospital is staffed by nursing professionals trained to meet the unique needs of cancer patients.

Providence Cancer Center: compassion and caring

At the Providence Cancer Center, we bring compassion and caring to our patients in a private setting. The cancer specialists at our Center work as a team to provide personal attention and total patient care—from satisfying your need for information to offering support groups.

Please call our Cancer Infoline for answers to any questions you have about the disease. Call 424-3460. The information is free, but the knowledge is priceless.

A few months ago when Catherine Dillon was diagnosed with lung cancer she was terrified. But once she came to the Providence Cancer Center her fear turned to hope. Now after radiation therapy the cancer is disappearing and Catherine's back to enjoying family friends—and life.

Senate backs primary change

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Michigan Democrats may have to find another way to send delegates to their national convention if a Republican-backed change in the presidential primary becomes law.

"It looks like a change to zap the Democrats," said Sen. John Cherry, D-Cllo, minority floor leader.

The Senate Thursday approved 21-11 an amendment that effectively wipes out the new requirement that voters in next March 17's presidential primary declare a party preference 30 days before entering the voting booth. The requirement has become controversial in Northville and elsewhere because of the effort required to implement it, both by voters and government; and because some voters object to the rule itself.

Senate Bill 469 would allow voters to declare party preference the day of the primary and then cancel it on leaving, said sponsor Nick Smith, R-Addison.

It effectively keeps their choice secret from the political parties and amounts to an "open" primary.

Republican Robert Geake of Northville voted yes. Democrat Jack Faxon of Farmington Hills voted no.

Altogether, 18 Republicans and three Democrats voted yes; all 11 no votes were Democrats.

The bill goes to the House, where Democrats have a majority, although many Democrats are sympathetic to an "open" primary.

Corridor gossip is that the compromise will be same-day registration of party preference.

Democratic Party national rules require that any delegation must be chosen in a same-year "closed" system, with only declared Democrats participating.

"Democratic Party rules are out of sync with public sentiment," said Republican majority floor leader Phil Arthurhultz of Whitehall. "People say, 'We want to pick the party of our choice as well as the candidate of our choice.' Talk to the man or woman on the street."

Democrat John Kelly of Grosse Pointe said the current party affiliation rule doesn't invade the privacy of the voting booth. "This bill disenfranchises (Michigan) Democrats from the national convention," he said.

In 1988 both parties held caucuses where a person declared a party preference. They were poorly attended, except for a massive outpouring of Jesse Jackson supporters in the Democratic caucuses.

In 1976 Michigan had an "open" primary for president, but Democrats boycotted theirs because of the national rules. They used local conventions instead. It was widely believed that Ronald Reagan's strong showing against incumbent President Gerald Ford in Ford's home state was due to mischievous Democrats crossing over.

In 1972 President Richard Nixon was a shoo-in for renomination, and Republicans crossed over to back Alabama's segregationist Gov. George Wallace in the Democratic primary, to the acute embarrassment of the party's liberal leadership. That led to the Democrats' rule change.

Dickens of a time scheduled for Northville Christmas festivities man or woman. Drop off at the office at First Presbyterian Church, 200 E. Main, by Dec. 15.

"THE RENTED CHRISTMAS": The Northville Players present "The Rented Christmas" Dec. 13-15 at Mill Race Historical Village, on Griswold above Main.

Show times are 8 p.m. Friday, Dec. 13, 2 and 8 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 14; and 2 and 5 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 15. The performances will be in Mill Race's New School Church building. Tickets are $5, available at Bookstall-on-the-Main, 116 E. Main, 348-1167; or from Judy Kohl, 348-2678.

"The Rented Christmas" is a Christmas play in two short acts. For more information call Judy Kohl at 348-2678.

COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS TREE: To help involve the community in downtown Northville's holiday festivities, the Northville Merchants "Dickens Christmas" committee is sponsoring a community Christmas tree.

Located in the Main Street bandshell area, the tree will be decorated with lights and outdoor ornaments to complement the Victorian decorations planned for the bandshell. Families and individuals may have their name placed on a ribbon attached to the tree for a $3 donation, to help cover the costs of the decorations and lights.

A tree-lighting ceremony will be held Friday, Nov. 29, at 6 p.m. Carolers from the Northville High School will entertain the crowds and upcoming Dickens Christmas events will be previewed.

For more information, call 349-0199.

HOLIDAY DECORATING CONTEST: The Northville Merchants Association is sponsoring a holiday decorating contest to show its appreciation for the historic district. The event is organized by the Dickens Christmas Committee, with the help of Chuck Keys and the Historic District Homeowners Association.

Two prizes of $50 in "Dickens Dollars" will be awarded to the winners. The dollars may be used for merchandise at any participating business.

Judging will take place Sunday, Dec. 8 at 6 p.m. The home must be within the city-defined residential historic district, and homeowners must supply their names, addresses and phone numbers to Traditions, 349-0199, or Chuck Keys, 349-1495.

GINGERBREAD HOUSE CONTEST: Northville Merchants Association will sponsor a Gingerbread House Contest this holiday season, and display the entries in shop windows. Visitors to downtown Northville can participate in the contest by voting for their favorite houses, using the forms provided at the shops.

Entrants can be individuals or families, though culinary arts students, professional caterers and restaurateurs are asked to refrain from entering. Contest rules are available at the Kitchen Witch, 107 N. Center St. For more information, call Kitchen Witch owner Ronnie Cambra at 348-0488.

SANTA SOUGHT: The Merchants Association is seeking an old-fashioned Santa Claus to fill out a brand-new Santa suit and freshly-painted Santa house for an afternoon in the Main Street bandshell during Dickens Christmas weekends. This is an opportunity to raise funds for your organization. Call Northville Jewelers, 348-6417 or Traditions, 349-0199 soon for more information and to reserve a date.

OPERATION SANTA CLAUS: The war in the Persian Gulf may be off the front pages and the nightly news, but that doesn't mean it's entirely over. Thousands of U.S. troops expect to continue serving in the area for at least several more months, and Ginny Hathorn wants to be sure they're remembered this Christmas.

Hathorn, co-founder of the local Michigan Military Family Support Group which received so much attention during the war, is now organizing regional efforts for "Operation Santa Claus." The program is designed to make sure every American service person gets a gift this holiday season.

Hathorn's son remains on active duty in the Gulf area aboard the USS Dwight D. Eisenhower, along with 6,000 other crew members. They expect to remain overseas well into 1992 with no port calls until after the holidays.

Hathorn is spearheading area efforts to get presents to the service people so they know they are not forgotten while serving. She encourages anyone interested to send a gift overseas. The ship's commander will collect all the presents which come in and then distribute them.

She said appropriate gifts include homemade or store-bought cookies, games, crossword puzzles, candy, gum, books — anything to help pass the time, or anything to eat which will survive the trip. Presents should be

City to issue notes to plug leaks in financial dike

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The city council on Monday agreed to issue more than $1 million in tax and state revenue-sharing anticipation notes to temporarily fill the city's financial gap.

The notes are needed to cover more than $430,000 in deficits from last year's general and capital project funds, and the anticipated loss this year of $725,000 in state-returned racetrack revenue and $33,000 in state-shared revenue.

The notes, an $800,000 tax anticipation note and a $275,000 state revenue-sharing anticipation note, represent the maximum amount that the city can borrow under state law, according to city auditors Plante & Moran.

The city sells the notes and repays them from future taxes and state-shared revenues.

This will be the fourth year that the city has sought and obtained such notes to cover financial shortfalls, though Finance Director Beverly Walters noted that previous notes had been issued to make project payments while bonds were being issued to cover the projects, not to make up for a general fund deficit.

"The other ones were bond anticipation notes," she said. "This one's an actual tax note. We're borrowing on next year's taxes to cover deficits in this year's budget."

"Last year was our first year there was a deficit in the general fund."

Walters blamed this year's budget shortfalls on a number of factors, including reductions in last year's state-shared revenues and increased fringe benefit expenses for city employees.

"In the general fund, the state started cutting your state-shared revenues even last year . . . so we didn't have as much," she said. "You had more expenses and less revenue."

Previous cost overruns during the city's ongoing street repair program, which is financed through the city's capital project fund, was one reason cited for that fund's shortfall.

"That was from several years of doing the city's roads and running into problems," Walters said. "At the time, it was decided to just go ahead with (the street repair program) and finish it."

An analysis signed by City Manager Gary Word noted that the current and expected shortfalls would result in a "negative cash flow balance" in the current fiscal year, and an overall deficit of $882,398 by May 1992. The projected deficit "is based on only normal ongoing operating expenditures and does not provide for any major emergencies," the analysis noted.

As Word told the council Monday, "It is recommended by our bond counsel and financial advisors that we issue these tax anticipation notes as soon as possible."

Tough times prompt city budget skull session

$33,000 reduction in anticipated state-shared revenue, as well as $430,000 in deficits from last year's general and capital project funds.

Word spelled the out the extent of the city's task, and listed eleven potential "deficit elimination action items" for the council's consideration. The items ranged from charging Northville Downs for city services to reducing city services and personnel.

"What I'm suggesting to the council . . . is that we look as a two- or three-year process for eliminating the deficit, and we begin to look at building up a 20-percent general fund balance by the end of the fiscal year 1995," Word said.

The city has already reduced the level of police services provided to the racetrack by nearly $30,000, by using fewer part-time patrol officers. Track officials have also been asked to comment on a city plan to charge the racetrack for the police services, if Gov. Engler's line-item veto of state-returned racetrack revenues remains in effect.

Word has also directed department heads to analyze the effects on their departments of 5-, 10- and 20-percent budget reductions. "It's been a very difficult process for them, but has yielded some interesting analyses," Word said. He declined to release details of the analyses until an upcoming meeting Nov. 25.

The council was quick to add its own suggestions to Word's list.

"Could any of the services we are providing now be contracted out?" asked Council Member Carolann Ayers. "And what about going to our professional (engineering, planning and other) services seeking a reduction in their cost? When you're considering laying off employees and all sorts of drastic things, it doesn't seem unreasonable to ask for cost reductions."

Council Member Jerry Mittman mentioned the possibilities of deferring salary increases and reducing employee benefits. "That's not a recommendation, just a thought," he said.

The council also discussed the possibility of eventually reducing the city's building inspection services as the city becomes fully developed, or combining such services with the township, or farming Building Inspector Joseph Attard's services out to other municipalities if he has free time.

Shared services are another potential area for reductions, Mayor Chris Johnson said, though he wanted to assure shared service officials that their programs will not necessarily be the first to be cut. "I want them to understand that nothing in the budget is sacred, but they shouldn't be jumping out windows yet either," he said.

However the city manages to erase its deficit, council members and the manager agreed on one point.

"We cannot rely on racetrack funding anymore at all," said Ayers, "because we know how easily it can be taken away."

The council will convene again in an 8 p.m. special session Nov. 25 in the Recreation Center's meeting room to discuss its deficit reduction plan.

An HMO is too big to listen to one person. Isn't it?

At M-CARE, when our members talk we not only listen. We act. Because nobody takes care of you like M-CARE.

We're adding many more doctors to our provider network. Because you asked us to.

And we're sending Member Advocates out into the community to provide the special services you sometimes need.

Moreover, because you asked us for safe, at-home diet and exercise programs, during the coming year we'll be offering an M-CARE wellness club the whole family can enjoy.

So choose the HMO that listens. M-CARE. The only HMO sponsored by the University of Michigan Medical Center. And accepted at leading hospitals throughout Western Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Livingston and Washtenaw counties.

If you have any questions or concerns, we'd like to hear from you. Please call us today at 747-8700. And call for the names of new doctors in your neighborhood. Our list of primary care physicians is larger than ever. And still growing.

Sliger and Davis leaving DDA

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

A foremost member of the city's Downtown Development Authority last week announced his resignation from the board.

William Sliger, former editor and publisher of The Northville Record, had served on the DDA since its inception in 1978 and on the Downtown Development Committee that preceded it since 1977.

City Manager Gary Word informed a surprised DDA of Sliger's resignation Tuesday. "I think it's with a great deal of regret that we accept it," Word said. "He has a way of getting to the point and the heart of the matter that few people have, and he will be missed."

Sliger, who left for Florida last week and will not return until May 1, said he resigned following a recommendation by Mayor Chris Johnson.

Sliger and DDA members Margie Davis, Mike Allen and Glenn Long typically head for warmer climates this time of year. Sliger decided to resign after Johnson recommended that two of the four departing DDA members step down rather than serve as absentee members for an extended period. Johnson did not specify which two should step down.

"The four asked me, more or less, did it seem to be a problem, and I indicated that it did seem to be a problem," Johnson said. "I thought if we were down to maybe two, I call them 'snowbirds' for want of a better name, we could still operate fairly effectively . . . I guess Bill volunteered to be the first to do that, although I think he's been a very effective and very powerful member of the authority."

"They still have a lot of legal responsibilities under the statutes, and certainly as we go forward with the parking deck the DDA will have a number of actions to take legally as well as a number of recommendations that they need to make to the council."

CHRIS JOHNSON

Sliger said he regretted leaving the authority but felt he should volunteer as he was the first person to depart. He added that he agreed with Johnson's point about absentee members. "It's bad to have four people away," he said.

As for the second resignation, Margie Davis said she'll hand hers in soon and serve on the DDA until her departure for Texas after Christmas.

"I've enjoyed it and I would kind of like to stay on through the Cady Corridor project, but I can understand why they need people who are there," she said. "An absentee group is no good."

Davis was appointed to the DDA in 1989.

Glenn Long said he first broached the subject of the DDA members' impending trips south with Johnson to ascertain whether their departures would present a problem. "When Steve (Walters, former city manager) was here he would usually try to get things straightened out so there would be nothing coming up of real importance during that time," Long said. "We would give him our phone numbers and if need be they would call us."

"When we approached the mayor on it, he said if four of us went, they would not have a quorum to make any kind of decision, and he said,

"Why don't you consider two of you resigning and the other two of you can stay on?"

"Well, I didn't think that Bill was going to resign; I'm real surprised to hear this. I'm sorry he did, because he's a good man."

Long also questioned the premise behind Johnson's recommendation.

"I can't see where there's going to be any decisions, because . . . we're not a committee that makes decisions; we more or less just recommend to the council how we feel," he said. "I just can't understand why anyone would think that there would be that type of decisions that the DDA would make that it would require somebody like Bill to step down."

But Johnson maintained that the DDA would be called upon often in the coming months during negotiations on the proposed parking deck and Cady Street redevelopment.

"But it's not like (departing members) can't contribute either," he insisted.

Sliger and Long were both named to the five-member Downtown Development Committee appointed by Mike Allen in 1977, in one of Allen's last actions as mayor. That committee, with the appointment of four more members including Allen, became the Downtown Development Authority in October 1978.

A MESSAGE FROM HUDSON'S EMPLOYEES

Holiday shopping at Hudsons has been a tradition enjoyed by Metro Detroiters since childhood. Help keep this tradition by joining us on Thanksgiving weekend.

The UAW leadership has asked the public to boycott Hudsons and put our jobs in jeopardy. They have misled the public into believing the majority of Hudson Employees are unhappy and want union representation. This is not true. Evidence of this is the loss of the last 2 elections by the Union at Pontiac and Fairlane, and the fact that they cannot get enough support at the other stores to hold an election.

We respect Union members' right to representation if they choose. Therefore, please respect the right of the majority of Hudson's employees to remain union free. It is our desire that Hudson's will protect this right; even if it means going to the highest court of the land.

At Hudson's Westland store, employees who have taken a position against UAW representation have been harassed by UAW members and employees' spouses who have UAW ties.

At Hudson's Oakland store, 800 UAW members beseiged our store and made purchases with pennies, nickels and dimes - then returned their merchandise, clearly antagonizing our salespeople and upsetting our customers.

We feel our right to work in a peaceful atmosphere has been violated.

Please show us your support by shopping in Hudson's stores on Thanksgiving Weekend.

This message is paid for by funds raised by Hudson employees at Northland, Westland, Eastland, Southland, Oakland, Fairlane, Summit Place, Lakeside, Flint and Ann Arbor.

Superintendent speaks for exceptional students

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

Leonard Rezmierski is Northville's public schools superintendent by day. But at night and on many weekends, Rezmierski represents seven states on the International Council for Exceptional Children.

Rezmierski, Northville's former executive director for special education, was selected to fill the shoes of retired Northville Superintendent George Bell in August.

But as an international representative on the council, Rezmierski can stay current on special education issues.

The council is a 57,000 member organization that works to benefit exceptional children, from special education to gifted students.

In April, Rezmierski was elected to serve a three-year term as a representative of exceptional children in Montana, North and South Dakota, Wyoming, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

His position with the council officially began on July 1.

As a representative to the international council, Rezmierski works with the council's elected governors in each state.

Rezmierski does not represent Michigan because the region that covers Michigan already had an elected representative when Rezmierski ran for the international position last year.

But Northville does have a representative on the council at the state level. Old Village School Principal Christine Clinton-Cali is Michigan's elected governor. Every state and every province in Canada has a representative.

In fact, between Rezmierski and Clinton-Cali, Northville is becoming well-known in special-education circles.

"We have a tremendous amount of exposure. People know Northville by name," Rezmierski said.

Rezmierski first joined the council in 1984, when a professor recommended the group.

"I joined in '84 because my professor told me to, and I have never regretted it," he said.

As a representative to the international council for a region of the United States, Rezmierski has access to new ideas and legislation relating to special education issues.

"It gives me exposure to people and ideas around the world," he said. "It gives Northville instant information about what is going on in Washington."

Although Rezmierski now spends little of his time in Northville's special education department (about 5 percent, he estimates), the information he receives through the international council often is relevant to all students.

"There is so much common-sense applicability," he said.

"I think there is a tremendous amount of material that goes for begging because people think it's only for special education students."

One example is a plan the council is developing for teachers who deal with passive aggressive students. These students are not overtly hostile, yet they often refuse to do what teachers and parents ask of them.

Lessons for special education teachers dealing with passive aggressive students can easily be adapted for regular education teachers, Rezmierski said.

"It's coming. It will overwhelm people with the obvious," he said.

Principal's challenge lets students get one-day taste of school's top job

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
Staff Writer

Brian Wagner and Chris Bond aren't the kind of kids who spend a lot of time in the principal's office. But Friday, they spent the whole day with Meads Mill Principal David Longridge.

Wagner and Bond won a contest that allowed them to be principal for a day at Meads Mill.

The two seventh-grade boys collected more food and paper products for the needy than any other student at the middle school.

They might not have spent much time in class on Nov. 15, but they both agreed it was a learning experience.

At the end of the day they rested their aching legs in Longridge's office during an interview in which they recounted the day's activities.

They spent a lot of time patrolling the halls, looking in classrooms and searching for students skipping class. That's how they tired their legs.

The boys also were able to see parts of Meads Mill most students never see — like the boiler room and inside of the kitchen.

"Principals aren't people who go around looking mean. What they do is for your safety."

CHRIS BOND
Principal for a Day

During lunch, the two boys were strict disciplinarians. It was their favorite time of the day.

"We got to yell at people," Bond said.

They put 11 students in the "penalty box," an area of the cafeteria for students who cross the line of acceptable behavior during lunch. Usually only one or two students per day get put in the penalty box, the boys said. But they were tough.

Wagner and Bond are not the types that normally find themselves in the penalty box during lunch.

They are not trouble makers. They have never been sent to the principal's office for discipline, but they also had heard that the principal's office was not the best place to be. But after spending the day as a principal, both boys agreed school administrators are just looking out for students' health.

"Principals aren't people who go around looking mean. What they do is for your safety," Bond said.

Anyone who thinks principals are just mean people is not seeing things clearly, Wagner said. "They're not looking at it from the principal's viewpoint," he said.

Bond enjoyed playing the role of principal for a day. But he doesn't think he will make it his career. Instead Bond plans to be a medical doctor.

Wagner wants to be an automotive engineer, but he thinks being a middle school principal would be a decent job.

"I'd think about it," he said. "I could get good enough grades."

'I'm Wonderful'

O.J. Anderson, left, brought his one-man show for families, "I'm Wonderful," to the Northville Community Center last Friday. The program focused on self-esteem, imagi-

Police continue probe of accident

By JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writer

Michigan State Police continue a probe into the 1-96 fuel tanker accident that left driver John Ziants II dead, and sent thousands of gallons of fuel into the highway's sewer system.

"There's always a possibility that there was a defect of equipment. The tire blew," Sgt. Larry Richardson of the Northville post said.

"If there's a defect, there could be a negligent homicide charge and/or equipment violations. Or the proof could say write a ticket for defective equipment."

If the evidence is there, charges could be brought against Ziants' employer, M & L Petroleum of Mount Pleasant, Richardson said.

According to police, the truck's left steering tire blew out, causing the driver to lose control. The 13,000-gallon fuel tank was pierced when the vehicle struck the Meadowbrook Road bridge.

When the fuel ignited, the fire swept across both sides of the freeway. A pickup truck passing in the opposite direction was destroyed, but the passengers escaped from the flames without serious injury.

One difficulty in reconstructing the accident is that the left tire was badly damaged by the fire, Richardson said.

He could not predict when the investigation would be completed. Police are interviewing drivers who witnessed the accident.

The 32-year-old Ziants was a resident of Novi's Highland Hills mobile home community.

Mill Race Matters

On Sunday, Nov. 24 members and friends will join for an afternoon of contra dancing. The caller will be Glen Morningstar, who people may remember from this year's Victorian Ball. The Victorian Tea Dance begins at 1:30 p.m. and lasts until 4:30 p.m. The cost for the afternoon is $12 per couple. Beverage and light dessert will be available during intermission, as well as some music from the Victorian period.

Mill Race Historical Village is closed now for the season and Wednesday will see the last school visitors until spring. Activities go on, however, as the archives continue preparation for an opening before the end of this year.

The Historical Society's resident wine connoisseur, Dennis Cassidy, is preparing for the annual wine tasting fete on Friday, Dec. 27. Members should receive invitations in early December.

Courses are being offered this winter in fiction writing and poetry. Fiction classes begin Nov. 19. The poetry workshop will begin in January. For additional information call 349-9005. Another series of workshops will be offered after the first of the year.

Thanks this week to the Bell Foundry Questers for their gift of a reproduction 1830 flag and antique bell, and to the Mill Race Questers for their gift of money, also to Fran and Blz Gazlay for a milking stool and a ceramic water pipe. Also thanks to CJM Farms for the donation of a milk wagon.

Salem trustees vote to sell historic Rider House

By LAURIE O'DELL
Staff Writer

Salem Township will sell the historic Rider House, 7912 South Street in Salem, to a Livonia resident despite opposition voiced by residents at a board of trustees meeting last Tuesday.

At its October meeting the board voted to accept bids for the purchase and removal of the Rider House. If no bids had been submitted, the board planned to demolish the structure.

At this month's meeting the board opened the sealed bids and voted to accept the high bid of $1,300, submitted by Shaun Coyle of Livonia. He plans to move the house to Livonia.

Northville resident Steven Roberts' bid of $2.51 was the only other bid submitted.

Salem resident Rick Garland said he had planned to bid on the Rider House until he talked to members of the historical society. He now believes the landmark should stay put at its Salem location.

The home is located on the property of the Salem Township Hall and fire station. Built in 1897 by Fred Rider, the house has quite a history surrounding it. However, time, weather and lack of upkeep have all taken their toll on the house.

Township residents and members of the Salem Area Historical Society asked the board not to accept either bid, urging board members to leave the historic landmark where it is. The historical society offered to work with the township to find an acceptable use for the building and form a historical commission which could help solicit state grants for restoring the house.

Treasurer Suzanne Withoff made a motion to rescind the board's action putting the house up for bid, which Supervisor Michael Geary seconded. However, Clerk Nancy Geiger and trustees Thomas Homrich and Ferman Rohraff voted the motion down.

"We need to preserve this house for tomorrow," said Withoff. "Each building in the hamlet is like a picture in a scrapbook." She said removing the house would be the same as ripping out those pictures.

After a lengthy discussion during which audience members appealed to board members not to sell the home, Homrich made the motion to accept the highest bid, which Geiger supported.

Both Geary and Withoff opposed the motion, leaving Rohraff with the deciding vote. Rohraff appeared to waver in his decision as members of the audience appealed to him directly. He said it was the hardest decision he's been asked to make in his long tenure on the board. In the end, Rohraff voted to sell the home to the Livonia bidder.

The three township board members said they voted to sell the house because they feel it would be too costly to restore the house for public use.

Donald Riddering, a member of the township planning commission and president of the Salem Area Historical Society, said he believes township officials allowed the house to fall into disrepair so they would have an excuse to level it. He also believes the township's $75,000 estimate for repairing the house is inflated.

The Salem Township resident said the historical society has had two individuals in the real estate business inspect the home. Their restoration estimates were between $16,000 to $20,000, Riddering said.

Geary said the board has not deliberately let the home fall into disrepair. He also said the two estimates are "comparing apples to oranges." Geary explained that the historical society's estimate would only stabilize the house. He believes $75,000 would be needed to bring it up to current building codes.

"There has been some failure on the board's part in coming to a consensus on what to do," said Geary.

In October, the township board said another block to restoring the Rider House for township use is that public buildings must be handicapper-accessible. Board members said it would cost over $75,000 to make the house wheelchair-accessible. They also pointed out a need for both additional office and parking space.

Riddering pointed out that most of the homes in Northville's historic Mill Race Village do not have handicapped facilities and have not been required to add them. The Mill Race property is owned by the City of Northville and the village is run and maintained by the Northville Historical Society.

Mill Race's newest building will have handicapped facilities, Riddering said, but it will be the only one with such facilities.

Homrich said to make the Rider House handicapper-accessible many structural changes, such as widening doorways, would need to be made. He also noted that several windows need to be replaced. Homrich said the only way to keep the house historically intact is to sell it to a private individual.

Two problems that need immediate attention are a leaky roof and broken furnace. Geary said the township tried to repair the roof a year ago. Although he didn't have an exact figure, both Geary and Withoff said money was budgeted for the project.

"It took two months to get the board to agree to the wording of the bid advertisement," said Geary. Only one bid was submitted, which board members felt was incomplete. No further action was taken at that time.

Riddering said the reason last year's roof bid was incomplete is because the township advertisement was not specific enough. He said the recent advertisement asking for bids to purchase the house has the same problem.

"It says the purchaser must clear the site, but it does not say if he must fill in the hole from the basement," said Riddering.

At the recent meeting, Riddering presented the Historical Society's rationale for opposing the removal of the house from its present location. The group said the removal is a stopgap plan for short-range office expansion.

"A long-range plan would seem to indicate that the present township site in the hamlet will not be large enough to hold additional services which will be required as the township grows," said Riddering.

The Historical Society said the Rider House could have many uses as the township grows. Members believe it could be used for non-governmental services, such as archives storage, a historical commission, senior citizen reading and meeting room, library, museum, conference room or offices.

Members also said it could be a cooperative use between the township and historical society, stating that private foundations have been known to assist in projects of this nature.

"The replacement of the historic house with a few asphalt parking spaces does not seem to fit with the concept of a village green," said Riddering.

He suggests two solutions for increased parking. The first to utilize land east of the Rider House along South Street and second, to allow angle parking along Six Mile Road in order to make use of the front entrance to the Township Hall.

Home boasts a storied role in the area's history

By LAURIE O'DELL
Staff Writer

Donald Riddering and other members of the Salem Area Historical Society believe the Rider House has great historical value and is vital to maintaining the integrity of this 19th century hamlet.

"More and more people are realizing the uniqueness of the village," said Riddering's wife, Ali.

According to Ali and information from the historical society, the foundation of the Rider House was built by John Lewis, who had a good reputation for his masonry work. Lewis, the grandfather of Virginia

Lewis and great-grandfather of Salem Township firefighters Ray and Joel Givens, was the first black person to settle in Salem in the late 1870s. He is the subject of a full chapter called "Honest as John Lewis" in Jack Hoffman's history of the Northville area, Northville... The First Hundred Years.

All said Lewis came to Salem when he was a young man. Although he claimed to be 16, it is believed he was only 14 years old.

Although Lewis' family were free blacks living in Ohio, they fled to Canada when Congress passed the Fugitive Slave Act. When slave owners from the south came north to retrieve their runaway slaves, they apparently didn't distinguish between free blacks and slaves, capturing any they could find.

John Lewis came back across the border to Pontiac to join the Colored Battalion of Michigan and fight in the Civil War. After the war he traveled to Canada to visit his family, but ended up coming back to Michigan. He bought land in Salem and settled down.

All said he was probably the last living Civil War veteran. His family is currently still trying to pursue that possibility. She said it is difficult because black soldiers were never recognized by the government as war veterans.

Fred Rider, the original owner of the house, was the grandson of Capt. Ira Rider who came to Salem in 1831. In 1832 he became the first postmaster in Salem. The first road map of Washtenaw County (1839) shows a "one-horse sulky road" which served as the postal trail. It originated in Wayne County and wound through Salem. On that map, however, it is designated as "Riders," which was the first name for the entire area.

Capt. Rider played an active role in the organizing of Salem Township. He served as an assessor in 1842 and township supervisor in 1850 and 1852. He was also a state representative from 1853-54.

"There is a very close connection between the Riders and the beginning of Salem," said Ali.

Capt. Rider's first home was located at the corner of Five Mile and Curtis roads. He later moved to the corner of Brookfield and Salem roads.

His son Ira Rider Jr. was in charge of a logging camp and sawmill, before he took a job running the pumping station in Salem for the Pere Marquette Railroad. His son Fred Rider (builder of the Rider House) followed in his footsteps, running a saw mill as well as the pumping station.

Fred Rider was a lifelong resident of Salem and received his education at the Salem School. In his younger years he was a member of the Salem Band and the Salem Baseball Team.

He also helped build the first township hall.

The historical society believes the Rider family represents the early pioneers of Salem Township. As part of the hamlet, they believe the house could gain state recognition from the Michigan Historical Commission.

Riddering said the local historical society has recently awakened state and national interest in the Salem-Walker Church and Cemetery. He believes the hamlet could receive this same interest with the Rider House.

"It is part of the uniqueness of the four corners and village," said Ali. "Even if it is moved somewhere else the corner will be destroyed."

Officials consider new approaches to park

Twelve months ago, former Northville Recreation Department Director John Anderson said local youths would be playing on Beck Park soccer and baseball fields by mid-1991.

But field development problems cropped up almost as soon as Anderson uttered that prediction. Not the least of the concerns were park development bids that came in much higher than anticipated. The bids, in fact, were much higher than the fund balance in community recreation park development accounts.

Now community expectations — and demands — fall in the lap of Tract Gottschalk, Anderson's successor. Gottschalk was scheduled to meet this week with township planning and building department officials to outline strategies for the community park. Although plans are not official, it does appear that dramatic changes are in store for once-approved park blueprints.

Officials reportedly will scrap original plans to build four soccer fields and four baseball fields on the site, which sits west of Beck Road between Five and Six Mile roads.

Instead, two fields each for soccer and baseball are on the table.

A portion of the originally-planned parking lot will be built, as well as sewers, drainage, and other infrastructure needs, Gottschalk said. The proposed alterations will not force the recreation department back to early planning stages, said Carol Maise, township planning and zoning administrator.

"What we'll end up doing is treating it as a phased project," she said. "The primary things we're going to look at are parking and access."

The planning, building and recreation departments hope to handle park variations on an administrative level, Maise said.

Reductions in the scope of the park were primarily based on funding shortages and the poor communication between fund administrators and the Northville Recreation Commission, Gottschalk said.

"I don't think the commission had a clear picture of what the cost was going to be for this park," she said. "And they (did not) have a clear picture on how much was in the fund."

The park development fund currently holds approximately $125,000, Gottschalk said. Those funds were raised by a surcharge placed on every user of community recreation services over the past several years.

At least one firm that bid on the park development is willing to build half the originally designed facility, Gottschalk said. With local residential development chewing away at soccer field resources, Gottschalk and other officials agree that half a park is better than none.

But the community will have to move quickly. Residential development has felled soccer facilities at Lapham Field off Six Mile; the proposed Huntington Falls development west of Sheldon Road threatens soccer and baseball fields there; and demand is increasing.

And some local officials are growing edgy about the Beck field program.

"We've had this property a long time and done nothing with it,"

Township Trustee James Nowka said last week. "We have to demonstrate to the community that we're doing something with it."

Gottschalk agreed. "Development of the park is an immediate pursuit that we want to follow," she said.

Gottschalk says a window remains open for site grading and other development in December. The ability to move dirt now is crucial to hopes for playable fields in 1992, she said.

"It's possible they could play baseball there by the latter part of next summer," Gottschalk said last week. "Soccer could begin in the fall."

Our Opinion

Keep formal hearings in setting water rates

Water rates in the City of Northville will come before the public in a special hearing during the Dec. 2 city council meeting. The hearing is required because water rates are set by city ordinance. A rise in rates therefore means changing the ordinance which always takes a public hearing.

Setting aside for a moment the question of whether conditions warrant this particular increase, the larger issue which arose during water rate discussion merits attention. Specifically, City Manager Gary Word suggested the council change the way the city sets water rates — from an ordinance change to a simple resolution.

What is the difference? Unlike the current system requiring a public hearing, a resolution would just take a vote of the city council to raise rates — no hearing necessary. From a certain perspective this makes sense. The change would make it easier to raise rates, and the city auditors have recommended a series of increases over the next few years. The city's water fund faces a financial situation just as precarious as all the city's other funds.

But raising rates is something that shouldn't be easy to do.

With all the overtaxed sensations which local residents feel, with a certain level of mistrust of government given in some quarters, eliminating the public hearing requirement will only create more bad feelings. A change like this fosters the perception of government doing its business behind the scenes.

A public hearing on every proposed water rate increase at least helps limit those feelings and perceptions. Much more important, it provides a legitimate formal opportunity for residents to offer opinions.

The sinking feeling in our gut tells us the city probably needs this newest proposed hike. The city charter, no less, requires that municipal utilities charge rates which will "at least meet all the costs" of the utility. The auditors say that's not happening.

City council members expressed some feeling recently that they didn't want to raise water rates before seeing the final report on why the city's system loses so much water. It's a good idea to have all the facts in hand before making a decision, but it comes down to the fact that the budget will only get weaker with out this raise.

Perhaps not every proposed rate hike will be as clear cut. And that's why the public hearing process remains vital. If a proposed increase is legitimate, the city has nothing to fear from public opinion.

'Open' primaries just aren't

Walk into a shareholders meeting of K mart in Troy and try to vote for the board of directors. Unless you're a stockholder, you'll be escorted out.

Walk into a meeting of the Holy Roller church and try to vote on whether to sell the building and move to Ypsilanti. If you're not part of the flock, you'll be asked to depart.

Then why do some unsophisticated Michiganders think they should vote in the Democratic presidential primary March 17, 1992, without declaring they're Democrats?

City and township clerks report that folks holler their "prty vacy" is being invaded and dad blast Lansing for doing this. Michigan's independent voters got spoiled by decades of "open" primaries where one could pick a party ballot in the voting booth without declaring any allegiance.

In many states voters must declare an allegiance when they register for any election.

Michigan's open presidential primaries gave voters a chance to play some very dirty tricks.

In the 1972 presidential primary, when incumbent Richard Nixon had only token opposition for renomination, Republicans crossed over in droves to vote for Alabama Gov. George Wallace, to the acute embarrassment of the liberal Democratic establishment.

From 1976-88 Democrats used a convention or caucus process open only to the declared faithful. I quote from the 1988 caucus rules:

"After proper identification, a person must complete a caucus sign in sheet by providing the following: person is a Democrat."

Very simple. No dues. No blood oath. No character witness. Just the voter's word.

Keep in mind the party rules take precedence over state law. There's a case law on that from the U.S. Court of Appeals reported exclusively in this paper a year ago.

Turnout was light in 1988 apparently because folks didn't care for unfamiliar spots like union halls. Only the dedicated devotees of Jesse Jackson turned out in force — to the chagrin of party leaders who preferred someone with experience.

So lawmakers enacted a "closed" presidential primary for 1992. Thirty days before voting, you'd have to state a party preference for that primary only. The vote was 85-0 in the House and 32-5 in the Senate indicating bipartisan agreement.

Last week, reacting to strong but mistaken public opinion, state Sen. Republicans passed a bill allowing a "same day" party preference declaration with this twist: After voting, you could rescind your declaration. In effect, the "open" primary would be back.

This bill is unlikely to become law. And if it does, it will backfire on the GOP. Democrats will just go back to their caucuses, leaving them free to vote in the Republican primary for whatever right wing zealot challenges George Bush.

At this writing, it looks as if the compromise will be a same-day party preference statement with no cancellation.

And if you don't like it, the Democrats will be happy if you just stay home. As the old timer once told me:

"If you're not a Republican and if you're not a Democrat, you're nothing."

Down side of term limitation

The folks at the Campaign to Limit Politicians' Terms announced recently they had collected more than 300,000 valid signatures to put their proposal to a vote. Since 257,000 valid signatures are required, it seems likely the plan will be on the Michigan ballot next November.

Their constitutional amendment would limit state House members to three terms of two years each, state senators to two terms of four years each, and the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state and attorney general to eight years. Michigan's representatives in the U.S. Congress would be limited to six years and U.S. senators to two six year terms.

The folks advocating term limitation argue this would reform a political system which is now dominated by a separate class of career politicians whose main interest is getting elected or re-elected.

There are in this view only two political parties in America: the Ins and the Outs — those who hold office and those who hope to hold office.

The analysis is correct. It corresponds with my own view. But the proposed remedy is unlikely to cure a political system that has lost touch with what most folks want and need.

The real problem is that politicians once in office are maintained by a steady stream of special interest money that amounts to legalized bribery that cuts them off from caring much about ordinary people.

In Michigan state representatives receive 68 percent of their campaign contributions from political action committees and senators 56 percent, according to Common Cause.

Who are the PACs? Well, they are the public spirited fallowers who are trying to get the law changed on no fault auto insurance. It's just coincidence that the money they are handing out comes from the insurance industry which stands to benefit. And they are the friendly folks at Michigan Bell who are busily collecting on past campaign contributions by loosening up the law that regulates their rates.

Against the well organized and rich PACs what chance does the average Joe have to lean on his state representative or senator? None that's how much.

Taken as a group, individuals (as distinguished from PACs) contributed only 22 percent to state House campaigns and 29 to state Senate campaigns. Is it any wonder that the interests of individuals don't count for much?

Term limitation won't solve this problem. And possibly it will produce unintended and very bad consequences — like arbitrarily throwing a number of good people out of office.

Is Frank Kelley Michigan's "eternal" general who has held this office with distinction for 30 years, a bad guy? Or Dick Young from western Wayne County (for 27 years)? Or Bill Keith, a 19 year veteran who chairs the House Education Committee?

Is Congressman Bill Broomfield, ranking minority member on the Foreign Affairs Committee, a fit target for dumping? Or David Bonior, No. 3 man in the House after 15 years? Or John Dingell, chairing the powerful Commerce Committee and 35 year veteran? Or Carl Pursell, a potent voice on education money after 15 years?

Each is a noble, skillful, decent. They've provided sanity and stability to politics. If by term limitation were passed they would be gone.

To be replaced by whom? By somebody who was untrained and inexperienced and who would take the next six to eight years learning the job — just in time to get dumped by term limitation.

Goliath won incinerator vote

To the editor:

In putting together the results and ramifications of our recent (Oakland County) election, I am left with the following scenario:

David met Goliath. This time Goliath was victorious.

Goliath did not fight fair. He authored and/or approved of misleading brochures of questionable taste and nature.

He brought in Westinghouse to say things the law says he must not say. Westinghouse spent huge sums of money to influence us to vote in a manner to ensure their monetary gain.

He brought his friends to help him, his big gun, L. Brooks Patterson.

"Big Gun" never mentioned the word "incinerator" to his ads. He shot himself in the political foot.

Goliath, in spite of all his efforts, questionable and otherwise, all dollars spent, only won by 233 votes. Hardly a mandate.

He did another unacceptable thing. He exploited our children because he used them in commercials and brochures, never addressing the real dangers to which they will be exposed.

Enter Gov. Engler. He's going to help too. By abolishing the Air Pollution Control Commission, our independent watchdog and regulatory commission, he will have the power to play political ball on the team of Daniel T. Murphy, L. Brooks Patterson and Roy Rewold. This does not bode well for us in the game of incinerator hardball.

What we can do to ensure a fair and unbiased game is to contact those people we choose to represent us in the House and Senate in Lansing. They have 60 days from Nov. 8 to tell Gov. Engler that he cannot abolish our Air Pollution Control Commission.

Remember, it is the APCC that closed down the Detroit incinerator to force them to add better pollution-control devices. It was also the APCC that closed the gas sweetening plant near our northwestern border. They had the power to do such things — and they did them.

David is picking himself up. Goliath has not seen the last of him.

Headline ignored common sense

To the editor:

No doubt the family of the Northville man who took his life last month is grieving over his loss. Was it necessary to add to that grief by a headline under "Police News"? And why was Devil's Night so stressed? In all probability that had nothing whatsoever to do with his death — yet impressionable young people could easily misconstrue the association. Please, let us have not only responsible journalism but common sense as well.

Civic Concern and NYA need help

For the last month I have been working with Civic Concern, our local agency which distributes food to the needy. I thought about working at a soup kitchen in Detroit but soon realized that my own community needed help and support.

Most of the people who live in our community are not aware that we have a percentage of our residents who are in need of assistance and many of these families have children.

While at Civic Concern I not only help distribute the food, I also talk to the folks coming in. I learn what their family situations are like and I see if Northville Youth Assistance (NYA) can be of help to their children. So far, I have matched a 12-year-old girl with a young woman who will be able to give her a great deal of her time and support. This girl's mother is not well and is not able to spend as much time with the girl as she would like since she spends a lot of time at doctor's appointments. I have identified a family where the father recently abandoned the mother and three children and there are weeks where there is not enough money left for food for the children. We are working to match all three kids with volunteers and also helping the mom get on her feet.

It is very difficult for many of us to realize that we have the same problems here in Northville as large cities. We have heroin addicts who have children living within our community; we have children who spend their after-school hours with their mom in a bar; we have small children who take on parental responsibilities because their parent is too ill to care for them; we have children who have never met their natural father and we have children who cannot join a soccer or baseball team because there is no extra money for these activities.

I feel it is our responsibility as a community to take care of these children. With the holiday season around the corner, I would encourage everyone to think about the families I have mentioned. Please consider giving of your time and your self by being an NYA volunteer. When walking down the grocery store aisle, please consider picking up a few extra items and drop them off at Civic Concern on the second and fourth Fridays of the month, between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The reality is that there are people in Northville who are hungry and those that are hurting emotionally. If you have it in you to give, start in your own community.

Please call Mary Ellen King at 344-1618 if you would like to be an NYA volunteer.

Mary Ellen King is the director of Northville Youth Assistance.

also said the township clerk's office directed the Record to file a Freedom of Information Request to obtain financial records.

The township currently contributes an amount equaling 12 percent of an employee's annual salary to individual pension accounts, according to available records. Employees are not obligated to contribute their own money to the fund, but may place 1 to 10 percent of their salaries in that account.

Pension benefits are payable at age 65, or at the time the employee leaves the township prior to age 65. Most of the part-time, elected officials who became vested in the township's pension plan have left for other positions, taking along a township pension pay-off.

Others have accumulated multiple pension sources.

Lennox said she received a pension pay-off from Northville Township after serving a portion of one term as supervisor during the mid-1970s. She then went to work for Northville city government and retired from her post there in 1987.

Lennox moved to the township treasurer's position in late 1989, became eligible for vesting in the township's pension plan, and maintained that benefit when she was appointed supervisor.

Lennox also will be eligible to collect a pension from Northville Township when she retires or leaves office. She said the demands of the supervisor's office entitle her to benefits.

"I feel at this point it's full-time hours," she said.

Cook also has benefitted from his years of township service.

After retiring from military service with a government pension, Cook settled in Northville Township and continued his career as an engineer with Ford Motor Co. He served as trustee on the township board during the early 1980s, and eventually was appointed clerk after Georgina Goss was tabbed to replace Susan Heintz as township supervisor.

Cook earned $12,000 as clerk, and was told he was eligible for health care benefits.

Cook said township health benefits were pivotal when he had open-heart surgery in 1987. In 1989, as the township looked to cut duplicated employee benefits, Cook offered to drop the health benefits in return for a salary increase that bumped him to $15,000 for his part-time township chores.

Cook continues to earn pension supplements at the 12 percent annual rate. Officials originally joined health and pension plans because "it wasn't going to cost the township any more money," he said.

Cook says he works between 10-20 hours per week for his township salary and pension. He makes no apologies, when it comes to compensation for his township "on-call" job.

"I think I'm working for every penny I'm getting," he said.

Many township employees and officials did not realize executive committee members were eligible for health care and pension benefits. Some refused to speak publicly out of concern for their job.

Others were not so fearful. "I have a problem with that," said John Werth, a township police officer and president of the local Police Officers Association of Michigan (POAM). "I was not aware that they were receiving either (benefit), but had heard it through the rumor mill that they were receiving a pension."

Werth said two part-time police dispatchers do not receive pension or health care benefits. He questioned the logic in offering benefits only to selected part-timers and hinted that officials have been less than forward about the executive committee's added perks.

"When we were in contract negotiations, we brought up health care and pensions as possible benefits (for police part-time staffers)," he said. "We were told no part-timers in the township had benefits."

Wes Henrikson runs a local insurance agency and is familiar with pension plans and retirement programs. He also has served as a member of the township budget review committee. Henrikson has been outspoken in his belief that township employee benefit costs are too high, and said he was unaware of the executive committee benefits.

"It surprises me, but it doesn't surprise me in some respects," he said. "As a budget reviewer we were not specifically given breakdowns on who received what benefit."

Henrikson was asked if he would have questioned the expense during the budget process if he knew elected officials were eligible for pension and health benefits.

"Yes, I'd have said, 'You guys are doing it for yourselves,'" he said. "If other part-timers are working (without benefits), there might be a problem."

That problem apparently extends to some members of the township board, as well. Trustee James Nowka expressed shock that three elected officials are eligible to earn extended benefits.

"This is a revelation to me that we have a retirement program for our executive committee," he said. "I think we have to sit down and look at that."

"I don't think part-time jobs qualify for the pension system," he said.

Cook disputed Nowka's contention that the pension system was a surprise. "Mr. Nowka was one of the people who voted for it," he said.

Minutes from a 1981 township board meeting confirm that Nowka did join a majority vote approving the pension plan.

The original township officials who benefitted from that ordinance were John MacDonald, then-supervisor and current 35th District Court judge; Susan Heintz, then-Clerk and former supervisor, Wayne County Commissioner and current aide to Gov. John Engler; and Richard Henningsen, then-treasurer and current township manager.

Finally there is a cure

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

Millions of Americans suffer from it. It's humiliating, and horribly embarrassing. Imagine, if you will, yourself at a friendly gathering. The drinks are passed, the little sandwiches munched, you're in the middle of a great conversation about the brand of laundry detergent to which you have sworn your lifelong allegiance, and . . . it happens.

"Let's play Pictionary," your host calls out gaily, as though he or she has just been jolted with the knowledge of what will liven this party up. "NO!!!!!" your inner self silently screams as you feel your antiperspirant fall.

"YES!!!!!" everyone around you says, not silently. And there you are, about to be exposed as someone who cannot draw. Oh, the shame. Northville artist Julie Giordano calls it "artlexia." "Most people draw like kindergartners, even adults," she said. "But it's perfectly normal in our society to draw that badly."

Giordano asserts that anyone can learn to draw. It's just a matter of learning to use your right brain, the side of your brain that controls the creative part of your mind.

Our society perpetuates myths about art that prevent people from learning, Giordano said.

"If someone read or wrote that badly, we would send them to special classes," she said. "But people think if you can't draw, well, that's OK."

Fallacies about art in our society include the ideas that art is just a hobby; that the ability to draw or paint is something hereditary that a person is born with; and that only people who have that so-called gift should ever take art lessons.

But the people who demonstrate that "gift" are really just people who know, even unconsciously, how to use their right brain, Giordano said.

"The great artists just knew the tricks, either through inspiration or practice," she said. "Even Van Gogh. There are early pictures he drew that are really terrible, before he learned the tricks."

Of course, we all know what happened to Van Gogh.

Giordano teaches students to use their right brain and learn to draw. She calls it "shapes in space" because the students focus on the many individual shapes that make up a drawing, instead of their left-brain perceptions of what their drawing should look like.

"If you keep drawing the little parts, eventually you have the whole picture," she tells her students.

"If you can write your name between two lines, and someone else can read it, you are creating shapes in space. Anyone can do that, and anyone can draw."

Sounds simple? It really is. It's like the picture graphs you used to fill in when you were a kid.

"But people think drawing is this big secret, like it's the mystery of the world," Giordano said. "It's not."

There are other fallacies about art, too, she said. People think that art is something that must be learned through trial and error, and that "real" artists draw from their imaginations, not from photographs or reality.

But it's actually the left brain that holds the ideas of what things should look like. That's why it's nearly impossible to draw something straight from imagination or memory and have it look right.

"Drawing is really the art of seeing," she said. "And to draw, you have to be able to see the various components of what make up a picture."

Giordano, who makes her living as a portrait painter, isn't worried about putting herself out of business by teaching people to draw. "But I teach them to draw to their own satisfaction," she said.

She guides her students through a series of lessons that teach them to use their right brains. They start by copying various simple designs that become more and more intricate as they progress.

While drawing, her students listen to music without words and they do not talk, because talking is a left-brain activity.

Of course, it takes practice. One lesson on right-brain drawing won't make you a Picasso. But Giordano's students get to draw a Picasso very early in their studies.

There's a trick, though. They have to draw it upside down.

This drawing by the same person using the right brain shows a slight improvement

KATHRYN PELTIER

Program offers aid to the mentally impaired

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

From May through fall, the Tollgate 4-H Education Center at 28115 Meadowbrook offers a therapeutic horseback riding program for children who are physically or emotionally impaired.

And Kathryn Peltier volunteers in it for two evening hours once a week for sessions of eight weeks long.

Taking part in a class of six children, she basically has the responsibility of walking alongside one mounted child, giving reassurance. The child holds the reins, and "if he needs it, there is a hand-hold on the saddle," she said.

"Sometimes I help getting the horses ready ahead of time," Peltier said. She knows horses, having one of her own, but she said that it isn't necessary for a volunteer to have any knowledge of horses because "these are extremely gentle, quiet horses." Before mounting them, the children and the volunteers sit for 10 to 15 minutes over cookies and juice and talk in "a relaxed atmosphere."

The class starts. Most of the hour is spent in the outdoor arena, where the children are taught basic riding skills, and of course, she said, "there are different levels in the program," depending of the circumstances of the child.

After time in the arena, the volunteers walk the riders on a trail in the woods.

"It's a beautiful atmosphere," Peltier said, and "it's a lot of exercise, especially if the horses are trotting because you run alongside with them."

Why do it? Kathryn Peltier answered, "You get a lot of good feeling out of helping the kids. They're excited because this is something they can do on their own without a lot of supervision."

If you want more information on the program, call Tollgate at 347-3860.

In Our Town

Local people sing

The Northville branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will hold its annual wreath sale this Sunday in front of The Northville Record office.

The sale will begin at 9 a.m. and the group usually sells out by noon. Get yours early!

Cost this year is $13 for the standard size wreath, which is decorated with a red ribbon, or $11 for the smaller size. All wreaths are of balsam and are decorated with pine cones.

Holly Sale

The Mothers' Club Life Members group will be taking orders for fresh holly this Sunday in front of Orin's Jewelers from noon to 3 p.m., during the downtown Christmas Walk.

The holly, which benefits Northville High School scholarships, is $5 a bunch and will be delivered during the first week of December.

The group will also take orders over the phone. Call Jean Day Cause at 349-0701 or Dottie Bach at 349-2306.

Woman's Club

Food Stylist Kevin Pavlina will be the featured speaker at the Northville Woman's Club meeting tomorrow. Pavlina, who specializes in unique and intricate cake decorating, will begin speaking at 1:30 p.m. in the Northville First Presbyterian Church fellowship hall.

Pavlina's works have appeared in Bride magazine, in the window of Tiffany's in Chicago, and at many parties and special events across the country.

Singers Wanted

A choir is being formed to sing George Fredrick Handel's "Messiah" on Sunday, Dec. 8 at 4 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church. Singers from the community are invited to join this special event. Rehearsals are Mondays, Nov. 18, 25 and Dec. 2, 7:30-9 p.m. and Saturday, Dec. 7 from 2-4 p.m. Singers interested in singing "Messiah" or in auditioning for solo work should contact the choir's director, Dr. Jeffrey Fowler, at 349-0911 for more information.

Peter Pan

Sir James M. Barrie's classic "Peter Pan" will be presented at the Marquis Theatre from Nov. 22 to Jan. 5. This musical comedy recounts the whimsical adventures of the three Darling children when Peter Pan literally flies them away from their nursery to the magical and wonderful island called Never-Never Land.

The music includes such classic songs as the jubilant "I've Got to Crow," the gentle tribute to "Wendy," the rousing "I'm Flying" and the rebellious theme song of the motherless boys, "I Won't Grow Up."

The feats of flying onstage are by the Peter Foy company that produced the aerial choreography in the Broadway original.

Performance dates are Fridays Nov. 22, Dec. 6, 13 and 27 and Jan. 3; Saturdays Nov. 23, 30, Dec. 7, 14, 21, 28 and Jan. 4 and Sundays Nov. 24, Dec. 1, 8, 15, 22, 29 and Jan. 5. All tickets are $6.

For more information contact the Marquis Theatre box office at 349-8110.

Friends of Northville Library

The Friends of the Northville Library will hold a used book sale on Saturday, Nov. 16, in the council chamber of the Northville City Administration Building, 215 W. Main, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Hardcover and paperback books including many children's books, cook books, books on decorating, sewing, crafts, technology, politics, science, religion, art, psychology, philosophy and fiction will be available. Some of the sale books are classified as "antiques" or are out-of-print.

Maybe that special Christmas gift is waiting there.

Weddings

Robyn Marie Lamb/Brian David Klink

Robyn Marie Lamb and Brian David Klink were united in marriage on May 18, in the Unity of Livonia Church by the Rev. Gene Sorenson.

The bride is the daughter of Harold Lamb Jr. of Canton and Mrs. Fred Richter of Northville. She is a 1982 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School and attended Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lehman Klink of Clayton. He is a 1982 graduate of Sand Creek High School. He graduated from Michigan State University with a degree in electrical engineering. He is employed at Motorola in Northville as a district sales engineer.

The matron of honor for the ceremony was Marilyn Runde of Canton.

Bridesmaids were Linda and Brenda Collinsworth of Canton and Jennifer Stronski of Taylor. The flower girl was Maria Stronski of Taylor and the ring-bearer was Ryan Runde of Canton.

Best man for the wedding was Rick Vanderbeek of Ithaca. Groomsmen were Alan Klink, brother of the bridegroom, of Port Arthur, Texas; Todd Valmasset of Lansing; and Jason Stronski of Canton. Ushers were Alan Klink and Randy Lamb, brother of the bride, of North Hollywood, Calif.

A reception was held at Roma's of Livonia after the ceremony. The couple honeymooned on a cruise in the Bahamas. They reside in Howell.

Beth Henningsen/Fred D. McLeod

Beth Henningsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Henningsen of Northville, and Fred D. McLeod III of Bingham Farms, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. McLeod Jr. of St. Clairsville, Ohio, were joined in matrimony Sept. 6.

They celebrated an outdoor wedding in the gardens of Cranbrook with Rev. Paul Farren of Barberton, Ohio, brother-in-law of the groom, officiating.

The bride's gown was blush Thai silk sheath embellished with pearls and crystals, featuring bouffant sleeves covered with Thai silk roses.

She carried a cascading bouquet of bridal white roses with blush centers, porcelain spray roses, pink lilies and baby's breath.

Lisa Ehlert of Northville was her matron of honor. She wore a white silk sheath dress with seed pearls and self fabric roses. Her bouquet consisted of pink lilies, veronica roses, lavender static and baby's breath.

Jenna and Molly McLeod, daughters of the groom, were flower girls.

They wore white embroidered organza with pink sashes, and head wreaths of baby's breath entwined with pink ribbons.

They carried bouquets of pink and white roses, lilies and baby's breath in miniature white fireside baskets.

Sean S. McLeod, son of the groom, was the best man. Ushers were Doug Henningsen of Illinois, Dave Henningsen of California, and Dan Henningsen of Northville, all brothers of the bride.

The reception was at Cranbrook with 115 guests.

The couple spent their honeymoon in Kona, Hawaii.

The bride is a 1983 graduate of Northville High School and a 1987 graduate of Michigan State University. She is currently a spokesperson for Nissan Motor Corp.

The groom is a graduate of Point Park College in Pennsylvania. He is affiliated with WDIV, WRIF, PASS TV, and Remote Possibilities TV Sports Productions.

Town Hall hosts famed economist

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

Well-known economist B. Carter Randall offered his perspectives on the economy to a group of Town Hall listeners Nov. 11.

Among other things, Randall predicted that food prices will remain stable at the farm and supermarket level; that oil prices will remain "cast in bronze" over the next several months; and that oil-derivative products will be stable.

He also explained that the most important economic quality of all is labor—the ability to produce, and of people to do it.

"Labor is in oversupply now," he said. "There is a relatively high level of unemployment. When this occurs you see far fewer militant demands for pay increases, in return for job security."

He said he sees no upcoming increases in labor costs, and therefore no increased prices to compensate for increased labor costs.

Because of these and many other factors, Randall said he expects to see less than 3 percent inflation this year, and predicted the same for next year.

Not surprisingly, Randall said this is a good time to buy a house.

"One of the great beleaguered rates has been housing," he said. "We have seen mortgage rates down to 8 percent, a level that makes rates more palatable for those seeking homes, especially those buying for the first time," he said.

He added that a higher demand for housing creates jobs, because people are needed to build the houses. That work, in turn, leads to economic recovery.

Finally, Randall said he hopes government will reduce military spending and divert those funds toward improving the infrastructure of the country.

"We're not likely to have any major military confrontations in the foreseeable future," he said. "That gives us an opportunity to reduce military spending and look at rebuilding the infrastructure."

"Roads and bridges . . . are not only what people want, but also, this employs people."

"Not only would this give people what they want, but it is also a way to eliminate public welfare as opposed to gainful employment."

Artlexia is cured in the right brain

Giordano gives her students a copy of Picasso's "Portrait of Igor Stravinsky," and they draw it upside down, copying only one small section at a time.

Want to try it? Go ahead.

Take a blank sheet of paper and cover all but the top inch or so of the upside-down Picasso and the empty box next to it. In the uncovered portion of the empty box, draw exactly what you see of the Picasso.

Then, move the paper down another inch or so, and continue drawing exactly what you see. Keep going until you are finished. Then turn the paper over, and see how you did.

As you draw, you may become aware that you are drawing hands, or a sleeve, or a tie, but avoid labeling them as such because it will cause your left brain to kick in.

It probably won't be perfect, but it will likely be better than what you would have done otherwise.

Giordano said she paints most of her professional portraits upside-down. Well, she isn't upside down, but the painting is.

"Sometimes people see me doing that, and they say, 'Wow, I couldn't even do that right side up,'" she said. "They think I'm performing a trick or something, but it's really easier for me to do it that way."

If you draw the upside-down Picasso, then, just for kicks, send it to us and maybe we'll print a few. Better yet, send it to us and Julie Giordano will give you a free art lesson.

Send your drawings to The Northville Record/Novi News, Upside Down Picasso, 104 W. Main, Northville, MI, 48167.

This show features art, not crafts

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

A craft show coming to town isn't necessarily an unusual event, but "A Celebration of the Arts," coming to the Northville Recreation Center this Saturday, promises to be something different.

The key difference here is that this is not a craft show. Instead, it is an art show, says organizer Leslie Stolaruk.

The show will feature many local artists, including Jane Park, who specializes in painted ornaments, boxes, candlesticks and bowls, and has been featured in galleries across the country.

Park's work isn't usually seen at craft shows because she usually avoids them.

"My work is fairly contemporary, and everything is different and unique," she said. She usually ships her works to out-of-town galleries including some as far away as Chicago; Naples, Florida; Louisville, Kentucky; and Cincinnati, Ohio. Closer to home, she has pieces at Adventures gallery in Ann Arbor and Kousky in Charlevoix. She has a few things in Atrium Gallery in downtown Northville, but, she said, her work usually doesn't fit into the Victorian style of stores downtown.

For this show, she has painted 66 dozen Christmas ornaments, each of which are unique.

"It's tough making each one different," she laughed. "But these are not traditional Christmas ornaments. They can be used year-round."

In her own home, several are displayed in a bowl. Her favorite colors for the ornaments are pinks, greens and teals.

Park, 30, said she was attracted to this Saturday's show because it features "art, not crafts. There will be more unique items at this show—not the same old things you usually see at these things."

Other local artists who will be at Saturday's show include Nola Hykal, Sharon Pethers, Susan Dillon and Denise Victoria. Hykal will offer hand quilted items; Pethers will offer floral swags; Dillon specializes in sand blasted personalized mirrors and desk blotters; and Victoria makes hand-painted cotton clothing.

The show begins at 9:30 a.m. and ends at 4:30 p.m. Admission is $1.50, and proceeds will benefit the New Morning School, a non-profit preschool through grade 8 co-op in Pontiac.

PTA News/Middle schools

COOKE
Cooke closed out the month of October with a Halloween treat for the students provided by the PTA. It was well-received by a very courteous student body.

The most recent JES program was Linda Walker Snavey, an author, illustrator who brought her talents to the sixth-graders.

Basketball, Basketball: Our girls seventh- and eighth-grade basketball teams have completed their season. Nice work, girls! The boys basketball intramurals begin on Nov. 20 and tryouts for the boys basketball team start Dec. 16.

Christmas presents? The Book Fair is the place to go. It will be at Cooke Dec. 10, 11, and 12. Volunteers are still needed to help. If you are available, call Sandy Basse, 349-7290. Also, remember that there are still T-shirts available for sale in the Cooke office. Another good Christmas present.

Set aside Dec. 11 at 7:30 for the Cooke band concert. It will be an enjoyable night for all.

Another important date for the Cooke parent is Dec. 5 at 9:30 a.m., our next PTA meeting. We hope to see you in attendance.

NEW LIFE CENTER

200,000 babies started life right... at Providence.

Ask any of the 200,000 babies born at Providence through the years and they'll tell you that starting life right means starting it at Providence.

Providence offers you many options to give birth because the best way to have a baby is the way that's best for you.

- Our outpatient Family Birthing Center for families who prefer a safe alternative to home birth
- Our intimate Labor-Delivery-Recovery (LDR) Rooms
- Or our special High-Risk LDRs, should they be needed

You'll find that the Providence New Life Center blends a beautiful, warm and caring environment with some of the very best obstetrical and nursing care anywhere.

Physicians with privileges at Providence are skilled in obstetrics, gynecology, infertility, pediatrics, neonatology (the care of ill or premature newborns) and perinatology (the care of the mother and fetus in high-risk pregnancy and birth).

And they're backed by the outstanding resources and technology of Providence Hospital. Resources like our Level III Neonatal Intensive Care Unit, which provides specialized newborn care should the need arise

Call our Physician Referral Service at 424-3999 or 1-800-968-5595 to select a Providence physician

Talk traces history of Santa

Weldon E. Petz, a Detroit-born educator, will share the results of his decade-long exploration into the Santa Claus tradition with area residents Nov. 24.

The Northville Arts Commission members will offer hot chocolate and cookies as they welcome Petz to share his knowledge of the evolution of Santa through the use of slides and some of his more than 1,000 Santa figurines. The Christmas visit of Santa Claus has its legacy in Christian beliefs, historical fact, ancient legends and social customs throughout the ages.

Santa, under his many aliases, is known around the world. Whether identified as St. Nicholas, Kriss Kringle, Father Christmas or simply as Santa, his arrival each year brings joy to all.

This celebration of Santa will begin at the Community Recreation Building, 303 W. Main St., on Sunday, Nov. 24 at 3 p.m., following the Santa parade through downtown. Tickets are $3.50 for individuals and $10 for families at the door.

Weldon Petz

The speech will cover Santa's entire history.

Theater

"THE RENTED CHRISTMAS": The Northville Players will present "The Rented Christmas" Dec. 13-15 at Mill Race Historical Village, on Griswold above Main.

Show times are 8 p.m. Friday, Dec. 13; 2 and 8 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 14; and 2 and 5 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 15. The performances will be in Mill Race's New School Church building.

Tickets are $5, available at Bookstall-on-the-Main, 116 E. Main, 348-1167; or from Judy Kohl, 348-2678.

"The Rented Christmas" is a Christmas play in two short acts. For more information call Judy Kohl at 348-2678.

"A CHRISTMAS CAROL": Warren Products and Anger Manufacturing present a Readers Theatre offering of "A Christmas Carol" at 2 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 22 at Main Centre.

Admission is $1 at the door.

"A CHRISTMAS CAROL": Fairlane Assembly church on Six Mile will also present "A Christmas Carol" Dec. 6, 7 and 8 for its "Christmas Celebration 1991."

For more information call Douglas Webber at 561-3300.

PETER PAN: James M. Barrie's classic, "Peter Pan," will be presented at the Marquis Theatre from Nov. 22 to Jan. 5.

This musical comedy recounts the adventures of the three Darling children when Peter Pan literally flies them away from their nursery to the magical island called Never-Never Land, a place peopled with characters like Tinker Bell, the little fairy who speaks only with blinking lights and tinkling sounds; the wicked Captain Hook, a leader of bloodthirsty and villainous pirates; and the ticking crocodile, Hook's nemesis.

The play runs through Jan. 5. All tickets are $6.50.

Tickets are available at the door or from the Marquis Store, 135 E. Main St., Northville. Tickets also available by telephone at 349-8110 with Visa or MasterCard. Please no children under 4. Reserved seating and group rates for 20 or more.

MURDER MYSTERIES, OPERA AT GENITTI'S: Due to the overwhelming success of all the dinner theaters, John and Toni Genitti of Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall Restaurant continue to present their Murder Mystery and Verdi Opera Dinner Theatre performances.

Genitti's now has three different production companies performing three different Murder Mystery Dinner Theatres. Every Friday evening at 7:30 p.m., separate performances are planned in separate dining rooms. Reservations are required for all shows.

Special performances of the Murder Mystery Dinner Theatre are now available for large groups of people any day of the week, day or evening, lunch or dinner time.

Dinner is served. As the crime unfolds during the performance, the guests try to discover who "committed the murder" through clues given out during heated exchanges between cast members. Additional clues and motives are given out as the cast mingles with the guests. Small gifts are awarded to those who correctly guess the identity of the murderer.

ENTERTAINMENT TOWN

Genitti's "Hole-in-the-Wall" restaurant is located in downtown Northville at 108 East Main St. just east of Center Street (Sheldon Road). The Murder Mystery Dinner Theatre and the Verdi Opera Dinner Theatre including the seven course dinner costs $25 per person (including tax and tip).

Please phone 349-0522 or fax 349-4641 for reservations. Group rates are available. Large parties can be accommodated for any performance. The Genitti's Gift Shop will be open for dinner guests. Valet parking is available during the evening.

PTG MEETING: Plymouth Theatre Guild will be holding a general membership meeting on Tuesday, November 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the Water Tower Theatre, 41001 W. Seven Mile Road, Northville, on the campus of Northville Regional Hospital, west of I-275 between Haggerty and Northville Roads.

Music

NORTHVILLE BAND-A-RAMA: Northville High School's Band-A-Rama takes place at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 4.

The concert features performances by the Marching Band, Symphonic Band, and Jazz Band.

CHORUS CONCERT: The Plymouth Community Chorus announces the schedule for our upcoming Christmas concert entitled, "Christmas Treasures".

The concert will be held on Friday and Saturday, December 6 and 7 at 8 p.m. and on Sunday, December 8 at 4 p.m. at Plymouth Selem High School on Joy Road in Plymouth.

Tickets are available at Sidways in Plymouth, The Giftfiddler in Northville or by phoning 455-4080.

The Plymouth Community Chorus is a 110 voice chorus with members from all over the Detroit Metropolitan area. Currently in its 17th year, the Chorus is under the direction of Michael Gross.

SCHOOLCRAFT CHOIR: The Schoolcraft College Community Choir, under the direction of Donald Stromberg, will present concerts of holiday music on two Sunday afternoons. The first, on Sunday Dec. 8 at 3 p.m. is at First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, downtown at Church St. and Main. The Choir's second holiday offering will be Sunday, Dec. 15 at Livonia's St. Matthew's United Methodist Church on Six Mile Road, east of Merriman.

In its 27 season, the 60-voice Schoolcraft College Community Choir is established through Continuing Education Services at the college. The ensemble is dedicated to performing music of the masters at seasonal and combined orchestral appearances. Members are experienced singers of all ages from communities throughout the metropolitan area and from Schoolcraft's undergraduates.

There is no admission charge; donations will be accepted at intermission. For further information about the concerts or upcoming early January auditions; contact choir president Shari Clason at 349-8175 or the Continuing Education office at 462-4448.

VICTOR'S: Where can you find an active Hammond organ, great music and good food? Answer: Victor's of Novi. Call 349-1438 ahead to find out if nostalgic Connie Mallett will be on keyboard.

A graduate of the mid-life crisis, master of the Hammond and the venerable Novi Chamber executive director, Mallett charms her audiences at Victor's with such favorites as "Misty," "New York, New York" and "Moonlight Serenade." Her playing is smooth and familiar without being too-sweet; easy listening without the elevator.

PIANO MAN: Pianist Tom Altenburg is now performing nightly at the Country Epicure Restaurant.

Altenburg, who has delighted audiences for years in metropolitan Detroit, performs new and classic selections Tuesday through Saturday. Crowds are welcome to sing along beginning at 7 p.m. each night.

Country Epicure is located at 42050 Grand River between Meadowbrook and Novi roads. For more information call, 349-7770.

WEEKNIGHT JAZZ: Home Sweet Home restaurant, on Nine Mile just east of Novi Road, offers live jazz every Tuesday and Wednesday from 8 to 11 p.m.

Performances are by the Buddy Budson Band with featured vocalist Eric Brandon. Often local jazz stars like Ursula Walker and Marcus Belgrave sit in as well.

There is no additional charge for the performances. For more information call the restaurant at 347-0095.

CHURCH CONCERT SERIES: The First Presbyterian Church of Northville presents its 1991-92 concert series. The schedule is as follows:

- Handel's "Messiah," Northville's annual performance. Sunday, Dec. 8 at 4 p.m.
- Chamber music by members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra with Treva Womble, oboe and Robert Williams, bassoon. Sunday, Feb. 2, at 4 p.m.
- David Lee Heinzman, organist and composer, in a concert of original music for organ. Sunday, March 8, at 4 p.m.
- Men and Boys Choir of Christ Church Grosse Pointe, D. Frederick DeHaven, conductor, in a concert of English Cathedral Music. Sunday, May 17, at 4 p.m.

Tickets to all concerts are $8 each. Season tickets are available at $35 each.

Spring may seem a long way away to you, but seniors from Novi, Northville, South Lyon, Milford, Brighton, Howell and other high schools in the area are thinking about Easter week and "spring break."

They have started gathering travel brochures about Daytona Beach and South Padre Island ... about cruise ships and Caribbean destinations.

Charlotte Boedigheimer of Around the World Travel in Farmington spends a lot of her time as a travel agent thinking about the young. Every year she is involved in trips for the Global Education Department at Stevenson High School in Livonia.

At this time of year, she thinks spring break.

A lot of cruise lines and resorts will not accept high school students traveling in groups during spring break because they have learned the hard way about damaged rooms and injured guests.

Those that will accept groups of students often ask for a very high deposit, just in case.

"Some travel agents accept a booking and don't tell the destination that it is a spring break booking. Sometimes the kids get to their destination and they won't let them in."

"We always tell the destination that young people are coming, so we can insure the spring-breaker that he will get what he wants."

Around the World Travel has scheduled three Easter week packages for high school students and others. A seven-night package to Cancun, Mexico, (April 18-25) costs $704 a person for three people and $774 a person for two people. The price includes round-trip air, transfers and the Calinda Viva Hotel, plus taxes and gratuities.

A seven-night package for the same date to the Radisson Hotel and Resort in South Padre Island costs $569 per person for four people in a room, $661 per person for three people in a room.

Charlotte thinks her cruise package aboard Royal Caribbean Cruise Lines' Song of America is of special interest because both parents and cruise lines know that the students are chaperoned by high school teachers.

"Cruise ships will book one cabin at a time but they won't normally book groups. Our group tour is sanctioned because of the way we handle it," she said.

"We hold a meeting ahead of time with the students, the teachers and the parents. We ask the students to sign a letter of agreed behavior."

"They agree to proper attire in the dining room, keeping table hopping and noise to a minimum. There are lots of public places where noise isn't a problem on a cruise ship, but we ask them not to make noise at night in their cabins."

"They agree to go in groups of four or more in port so that nobody gets lost. They must sign in with their chaperone half an hour before the ship leaves port, and if they miss the ship they must get to the next destination at their own expense."

What about gambling and drinking?

"The cruise lines won't let anybody gamble if they are under age. We tell the parents that cruise lines will serve drinks to students under 18, even though the cruise line says it won't do that."

The price for the seven-night cruise April 19-26 is $1,095 per person for four people in a cabin, $1,193 per person for three people in a cabin. The cruise goes to Grand Cayman, Jamaica, Cozumel and Labadee.

Getaway to Dusty's English Inn

English-style Tudor mansion brings 'bed-and-breakfast' to Eaton Rapids

By IRIS SANDERSON JONES
Travel Writer

Dusty's English Inn is about treed lawns and English gardens wrapped around a Tudor mansion on a grassy knoll near Eaton Rapids, Michigan.

But most of all it's about people. It's about the auto magnate whose family frolicked down the sweep of lawn to the Grand River. It's about the local diners who were once groundskeepers and ladies' maids on the property.

It's about Dusty Rhodes, who was in the radio and newspaper business in Michigan for many years before he moved to Britain and fell in love with English country life.

Ask Dusty to show you the old photographs taken when the house was being built by Irving J. Reuter, president of Oldsmobile, especially the photo dated August 1927. Dusty was born Clarence Rhodes on Aug. 8, 1927, son of a Flint assembly worker. He was destined to be called Dusty Rhodes and he was destined to own this inn.

"They even carved my initial 'R' in the fireplace mantel," Rhodes says.

When I turned off M-99 — 13 miles south of Lansing, I saw at once why this 23-room Tudor mansion, that looks like a little sister of Meadowbrook Hall in Rochester, is called an "English Inn." The two-story brick mansion, with the sloping slate roofs, is straight from the midlands of England.

In England, boaters might punt along the Grand River and enter the inn from the river side, climbing uphill past the colonnaded swimming pool and the gazebo, through the stepped gardens to the house.

I entered along the slate path from the parking lot. Inn worker Jane Kuderko, born and raised in Howell, welcomed me into the large open hall, which has full views left to the Devon-

Dusty Rhodes has converted this 23-room Tudor mansion into a unique bed-and-breakfast in Eaton Rapids shire Room, right to the Midford Room and up the staircase with its hunter green carpet to the second floor.

Jane led me upstairs, past rooms with names like Windsor and Avon to the end of the hall.

"You're in the bathroom." At least that is what I thought she said. I had asked for their least expensive room, but I didn't expect to have to sleep in the bathtub. It was, of course, the Bath Room, a huge green-tiled bathroom that led into a smaller 10-by-12 foot bedroom with a four-poster bed and leaded windows that opened front and side. A bit of Dusty Rhodes whimsy.

Dusty has a second home in Bath, England, so you will find small references to Bath all over the inn.

Dusty was still a television news executive when he moved to London with his wife and five children in the 1970s. He fell in love with English country life and spent his weekends exploring inns, pubs and bed-and-breakfast places. He came home to Michigan, quit the news business, opened a bakery and later a wine bar and pub in Okemos.

Dusty knows how to answer when opportunity knocks. In 1989 he heard about this mansion from the author of a bed-and-breakfast guide book. He saw the initial "R" carved for auto magnate Irving Reuter on the fireplace mantle and knew he was home.

Reuter had sold the place to the Catholic Diocese of Lansing in 1940; the bishop's chapel is now the Charles Dickens Pub. The Diocese sold the house to Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Sumner in 1962. The Sumners sold it to Dusty on condition that their granddaughter could be married there the following summer.

Dusty has learned a lot about the house from local people who come to dine: the daughter of architect Harold Childs; Hank Reniger, grandson of the man who built the house; groundskeeper Russell Heartline who still lives across the Grand River on a Christmas tree farm; and a former ladies' maid from Eaton Rapids.

The inn has been opened for nearly two years and has become a popular dining place for Lansing people and those who know enough to turn south off I-96 near Lansing.

The inn opened a full-service dining room that spreads through all its downstairs rooms this year.

The least-expensive guest room in the house is the Bath Room — $75 for two; the most expensive is the Windsor Suite — $155 for two.

Dinner entrees, which include salad, vegetables, potatoes and bread, range from $13.50 to $18 during Monday through Saturday seatings or at the special English Sunday lunch.

Weekday lunches feature soup salad and sandwiches.

If you see a whimsical-looking guy wandering around the five-acre grounds with his glasses on the end of his nose, say hello from me. That's Dusty, looking very much at home in his English country garden.

For information, contact your travel agency or Dusty's English Inn, 728 S. Michigan Ave., Eaton Rapids, MI 48827 or call (517) 663-2500.

Aborigine rangers enforce bans against trespassing and photographs along the trail to the top of Ayres Rock

Australian Adventure: 'I climbed Ayres Rock'

By MICKY JONES
Special Writer

Uluru National Park, Australia: A rock was just a rock until I climbed Ayers Rock in the "red center" of Australia.

The great red rock in its desert setting is a symbol of Australia to travelers worldwide, but most of us don't think of climbing it.

From Yulara Resort 12 miles away, the "largest monolith on earth" resembled a mound of red dough on a flat table. From the Ranger Station, a mile away, I began to understand its size.

It covers 815 acres and rises straight up for a fifth of a mile, about the same height as the Empire State Building in New York.

Ayers Rock, sacred to the aborigines for 10,000 years, is leased by native tribes to the Australian National Parks and Wildlife Service.

Aboriginal rangers enforce the prohibition against trespassing and photography along portions of the six-mile path around the base of the rock. The Park Service has marked out the only route that tourists can follow up and down the rock.

The climb is strenuous and somewhat dangerous. An average of four people die from falls or heart attacks yearly.

Climbing was prohibited the day I arrived, because the rock was wet and slippery after a rare light rain. The next day was dry, windy and cold as I started the climb before sunrise. Many people were ahead of me and more busloads pulled into the dark parking lot below.

We climbed the west side, which is in shadow until long after sunrise. The first difficult hundred yards of the climb led to "chicken rock." Most tourists go no farther.

After another 50 yards, it became a little easier. A heavy waist-high chain offered a hand-hold for the next quarter-mile where the path slopes upward at 45 degrees. There are no steps. Rubber-soled shoes are mandatory, bare feet forbidden.

For most of us, it was three or four minutes of climbing followed by three or four minutes of rest all the way to the top.

It takes more than an hour to reach the summit and half an hour to come down.

When the chain ended, the difficult unfenced trail was marked by dashes of white paint. The top of the rock is not flat; it's a "moonscape" scarred by parallel ridges 25 feet deep and 40 feet across. That day they held pools of water from the previous day's rain.

The sun rose with welcome warmth, but the wind made some climbers turn back 500 yards from the top. Two dozen climbers from around the world lined up to sign the guest book set on a bronze-topped stone cairn.

The 360-degree desert panorama below was spectacular in the morning sun, a pale green patchwork of bush against red earth.

I saw the 36 red domes of The Olgas 30 miles to the west and Yulara Village resort — a complex of hotels, campgrounds and shops — 12 miles to the north.

Cracks and hollows in the red rock under my feet, which picked up deposits over the centuries, supported grassy patches and small Eucalyptus trees.

After relaxing for 20 minutes, I started down. I met a Japanese family, a picture of determination, on its way up. Two couples in their twenties had wrapped a long sash around momma's waist — two pulled the sash ends from above, the other two pushed from below.

I knew they would have even more difficulty getting momma down.

Farther down, near the top of the chain, I chatted with a young Sydney couple on its way up with a month-old baby strapped to mother's back.

I didn't need to rest on the way down, but my leg and ankle muscles took a beating. Many climbers negotiated the steeper portions on all fours, moved by the seat of their pants or went down backwards. To stumble or slip could be fatal.

When I finally hit the parking lot, I staggered around on rubbery legs for 10 minutes before I could stand straight. The round-trip had taken a little over two hours but the memories of that cold July morning will be with me for many years.

If You Go: It takes five hours by road, 40 minutes by air, to travel the 275 miles from Alice Springs to Yulara Village. May through October are coolest. Summer months November through April are unbearably hot in the Australian desert.

Plan two or three days to tour the area. Most tourists fly into Alice Springs, a pioneer town worth a two- or three-day stopover.

Mustangs take Rocks to limit

Northville takes loss in districts

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Sports Writer

They hustled. They fought. They battled back.

But, in the end, the Northville girls basketball squad couldn't overcome the Plymouth Salem Rocks in opening round district play as the Mustangs fell before a large home crowd, 41-39.

With less than three minutes to go, Northville trailed the physically larger Salem squad 40-35. With 2:24 left in the game, Karen Pump pulled the Mustangs to within three with a short jump shot.

Salem guard Kelly Austin moved the Rock lead to four as she hit a clutch free throw with less than a minute remaining. Then, with just 16 seconds to go, Pump hit a long-range jumper to end scoring in the game.

A desperation three-point attempt by Northville with six seconds left came up just short and Salem walked away with its narrow victory. Pump led the Mustangs with 19 points. Laura Apligian chipped in nine and Kara McNeil had six.

The highly rated Rocks were favored to win the district, which also included Plymouth Canton, Ladywood, and Livonia Stevenson. The championship game, at Northville High, is slated for tomorrow night.

The loss closed out Northville's season record at 16-5. For more complete coverage of the district game, see next week's Record.

WAAA PLAYOFFS: Coming into the state tournament, Northville turned a negative into a positive over the weekend by winning the WAAA playoff losers' bracket.

The Mustangs used an explosive offense to thrash Walled Lake Central 62-47 Saturday in the losers' bracket final. The hoopsters finished fifth overall in the WAAA and second in the Western Division.

The 15-point decision was even more impressive considering the Mustangs were playing without the services of Stacey Nyland. The senior forward, who was averaging 8.6 points and 6.7 rebounds per game, was lost to the team Friday night to an emergency appendectomy. According to Coach Ed Kritich, Nyland is recovering nicely, but will not return to action this season.

"It's a tremendous blow," he said. Kritich said Nyland, who stands at 5-11", was sure to be a key in Monday night's opening round district game against Plymouth Salem. Her size and strength was needed to battle the bigger Rocks.

"It really puts the heat on us,"

Kritich said. "She was one of the ones who can defend and rebound against them."

Several Mustangs stood up to fill Nyland's shoes against Central.

Senior guard McNeil poured in 24 points. Pump also played strong by scoring 13 points, on five-of-11 shooting, and grabbed 10 rebounds. Bethany MacLean notched 8 points and 4 rebounds.

Northville played a strong first half opening up a 30-16 lead by halftime. Central fought back in the third period and cut the Mustang lead to three, 41-38.

"They made a good run in the third," Kritich said. "They had a nice inside game going."

Walled Lake's Bridgett Norris sparked the comeback scoring 13 points in the period.

McNeil wouldn't let Central come back all the way, though. The senior scored 20 points in the half. Northville wore down Walled Lake by the end of the game and went home with an impressive win.

"Our quickness became evident in the fourth," Kritich said. "We were able to close the game out."

Northville was thrust into the losers' bracket Nov. 8 by Livonia Franklin. The Patriots took it to the Mustangs 65-48 in the WAAA first round playoff game.

To get to the consolation final, Northville had to get by another

New boys golf coach reviews her first season

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Sports Writer

For the Northville boys golf team, 1991 was a season to remember.

The linksters have a long list of accomplishments to boast about from their fall campaign. Among those were a trip to the state finals, a second-place finish in the Western Lakes Activities Association, and an overall 7-4 match record.

"I'm real happy about the season," said Coach Trish Waldecker. "We really came together. It was a great group of guys."

The MHSAA Boys Golf Finals were held at East Lansing's Walnut Hills Country Club. The Mustangs placed 23rd out of a 25-team field. Despite the low finish, Waldecker said it was a great honor for the team just to play in the tournament.

"A hundred and fifty teams try to get there every year," she said. "We were one of only 25."

A group of five Mustangs led the way for Northville this year and qualified for the state final: senior Todd Christianson, senior Kevin Krupansky, sophomore George Lemmon, junior Joe Staknis and sophomore Matt Telepo.

The group compiled impressive match averages in 1991. The seven-team WAAA played a nine-hole match format.

Christianson topped the Mustangs with a 43.1 average while Krupansky finished at 43.8 per nine holes. Telepo was next at 44, Staknis finished at 44.2, and Lemmon shot at a 45.3 pace.

Also contributing to the squad this year was Tom Buford, Greg Crown, Anthony DeBenedet, Ed Murphy, Marc VanSoest and Mike Vartanian. Coach Waldecker said the team was blessed with a plethora of good players.

"This team had a lot of depth," she said.

Christianson was named the team's most valuable player. DeBenedet was the most improved player and VanSoest won the sportsmanship award.

Waldecker said her team came into the season with very good skills. She said much of her coaching amounted to refining of players' techniques.

"This was a team of experience," Waldecker commented. "But there is always some fine-tuning to do."

A goodbye to Northville sports

I never was a big fan of going-away columns. They all seem to say the same things (I'm going to miss this area, and particularly so-and-so... etc., etc.).

But now that I'm leaving, I guess I've changed my views. I once vowed never to write a column like this, but here I am. Maybe it's because I've been around for quite a while.

Back in the fall of 1985, I was a 23-year-old fresh out of Michigan State, and here at the Northville office we put out two papers a week (now four), we came out on Wednesdays (now Mondays and Thursdays), and the newsroom staff numbered four (now eight).

In the newspaper business — particularly at the weekly level — turnover is very high. I've seen countless writers, photographers, editors and ad sales representatives pass through Northville, and I really couldn't even begin to count how many there have been — probably close to 100. And I consider a good portion of those people close friends.

But I always got a kick out of reporters who write teary goodbye columns when they've only been around a few months. How attached to an area can somebody become in a few months?

I am, of course, not in that category. After all, I was here when Dennis Colligan was the Mustang Head Football Coach and Ralph Redmond was the Northville Athletic Director. When I started as the sports guy for The Northville Record and The Novi News, John Osborne was both football coach and athletic director at Novi.

The number of coaches I've dealt with must also number in triple digits. Bill Ayote was the Wildcat girls' basketball mentor when I started, and now — four coaches later — John Hoffman is at the helm. And I couldn't begin to recall all the volleyball coaches I've been in contact with. They've even added a couple MHSAA sanctioned sports (girls golf and cheerleading) during my tenure.

Gridders might switch strengths, weaknesses

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Writer

Like every season, the Northville Mustangs 1991 football campaign had its ups and downs.

Big wins came against Novi and Livonia Franklin. Disappointing losses were dealt by South Lyon, Farmington Harrison and Plymouth Salem. But, all in all, Coach Darrel Schumacher believes his Mustangs — who finished at 6-3 overall and 4-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association Western Division — had a successful season.

"I think it's an excellent year for this class," he said. "Nobody else in this league thought we'd do that well."

Leading the way for Northville this year, of course, was Ryan Huzjak. The senior quarterback had one of the most remarkable seasons in Mustang history, piling up passing yardage at an unprecedented rate.

Huzjak had nearly three times more passing yards, 1,635, than any area quarterback. His contributions were key to the squad's winning season.

"If you have a good quarterback," Schumacher said, "it makes it much easier. He's a great competitor. He loves to win at everything."

Schumacher's run-and-shoot offense was also powered by a fine crop of receivers.

Jamie Miller averaged nearly five catches per game and finished with seven touchdowns. Schumacher said Miller also contributed to the Mustangs with superior blocking and special-teams play.

Slotback Danny Walsh also had a solid season. He caught 32 passes, five for scores, and had 495 receiving yards. Walsh had a total of 1,200 all-purpose yards.

Eric Shaw was another favorite target of Huzjak. Shaw snared 21 passes for 264 yards and four touchdowns.

"We had a lot of experience and talent with that group," Schumacher said.

An almost injury-free season helped pave the way for Northville's good year, he commented. The coach credited the Mustangs' work habits and weight training program with keeping the team healthy.

"It was a major factor," Schumacher said. "We've had two years with no major injuries."

If the team had a sore spot at the beginning of the campaign, it was probably the offensive and defensive lines. The Mustangs came into 1991 with inexperience in the trenches.

That inexperience showed up in the first game of the year against South Lyon.

The Lions used their strength to punish the young Northville lines en route to a 29-10 victory. South Lyon's Billy Porter led the ground game against the Mustangs with more than 200 rushing yards.

"They took advantage of our offensive line," Schumacher said. "They handled us pretty well."

As the season rolled on, Mustang linemen such as Todd Osborne, Fred Swarthout, Derek White, Mike Faria and Jim Conklin made big strides in their play. Evidence of that play was shown by huge offensive games for the Mustangs — scoring 59 points against Livonia Churchill and 34 against Walled Lake Central.

"The improvement of that group

A goodbye after six years of covering local sports

Of course there are many coaches who preceded me and will be around long after I'm forgotten — like Osborne, who is the only head football coach Novi's ever had. Others include Tom Fritz (Novi wrestling), Uta Filkin (Northville girls tennis), Ed Gabrys (Northville boys cross country), Omar Harrison (Northville boys basketball), Jim Hanson (Novi girls tennis), Ed Kritich (Northville girls basketball), Jim Newbold (Novi boys tennis), Dick Norton (Northville boys tennis), Bob Smith (Novi boys cross country and track), Norm Norgren (Novi girls cross country) and Bill Dicks (Northville girls swimming).

There are a lot of local coaching legends, looking at that list. It also appears that tennis, cross country and basketball coaches tend to stick around longer than some of the others.

I have met and have covered some excellent high school athletes, like the great Joel Finzel, Tony Brinings-tool, Jeff Tanderys, Scott Wladischkin, Don Norton, Trish Ducker, Karen Baird, Lisa McCarthy and many, many more. There were also the gutsy performers like Paul Newitt and Rob Rasmussen, who didn't have great natural ability but more than made up for it with hustle and hard work.

For those who are curious, my family (wife Ann, son Jim and dog Rigby) and I are relocating to the Philadelphia area. My new job is as a sportswriter for the Daily Local News in West Chester, Penn. I can honestly say my experiences here have prepared me for whatever lies ahead. I have covered a variety of sports, teams, individuals and events. And I have dealt with touchy subjects and I have taken the heat for some unpopular decisions or opinions, but I realized long ago that it all comes with the territory. My main objective was to be fair.

I am very pleased with the changes the sports sections have undergone over the last six years. We've added many features like the Scoreboard page, College Periscope, the In Shape page, Mustangs of the Week and many more. We've also retained important features that have been around a long time, like League Line, Recreation Briefs and others.

For all the people who have called in with information, helped keep stats, organized photo opportunities and got the facts straight — your efforts were appreciated. For those who offered a kind word, encouragement or even some understanding — your kindness was a welcome relief.

My replacement — Scott Daniel — has become a close friend of mine while he's been covering the City of Novi the past year. Now that he is moving over to the sports desk, he'll need the same assistance and understanding from all of you, but I'm sure you will be pleased with the results.

With all the family and friends I'll leave behind in the Metro Detroit area, I'll be back at least a couple times a year to visit. I know one of the first things I'll do is check out The Northville Record and The Novi News to find out how the Mustangs and Wildcats are doing.

Walled Lake team. The Mustangs did just that, knocking off Western 44-35 on Nov. 12.

McNeil again led the way, as she scored 14 points. Apligian chipped in with 12 points. Northville again played without a top player, Pump, the team's leading scorer, because of illness.

"Those two (McNeil and Apligian) stepped up and did what needed to be done to win the game," Kritich said.

The Mustangs took a narrow 22-21 lead into halftime. They increased that lead to five by the end of the third period. McNeil and Apligian then took over in the fourth.

"They scored all of our fourth quarter," Kritich said.

The Mustangs took an eight-point lead into the final three minutes. Kritich said Northville sat on that lead to finish the game.

Nyland also played well in the win. She finished with 10 rebounds and five steals.

Kritich said he was pleased with the team's season no matter how they fare in the state tournament.

"With what was accomplished on the court," he said, "it's been a great year. It's our best season."

Junior varsity Colts take title

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Writer

Champions.

That's the one word that describes the 1991 Junior Varsity Novi/Northville Colts. The squad, made up of 11-year-olds and 12-year-olds, completed their season Nov. 10 by capturing the Western Suburban Junior Football League Championship held in Westland.

The Colts knocked off the league powerhouse Westland Meteors 7-6 in the championship game. According to Coach Mike Biagini, both teams played an outstanding game.

"It was everything a championship should be," he said, "two well-coached teams playing their hearts out."

The game featured excellent ground attacks by each team.

Westland opened the game by moving right down the field, running outside. The Meteors were unable to score, however, as the Colts stiffened.

Biagini said Westland crossed up his team's defensive scheme of packing players close to the line of scrimmage by running outside. The Meteors used the outside attack for their only score of the game.

With little time remaining in the first quarter, Westland started from about its own 30-yard line. They kept the ball at the beginning of the second quarter and took it for a touchdown. The Meteors missed an extra point try and took a 6-0 lead into halftime.

"Once they scored," Biagini said, "the kids new we couldn't let them score again. From that point, we controlled the tempo of the game."

Novi/Northville got the winning score of the game in third quarter.

On a second-down play at Westland's 15-yard line, quarterback Nick Biagini hit flanker Scott Vigh in the end zone. The Colts, who had been pounding away on the ground, used a "flood" formation for the TD.

As it turned out, Vigh got the game's winning point as well, catching an extra-point pass from Biagini.

Special teams played an important role in the game. Biagini said his team often started from near midfield — allowing it to control the ball. He said his kicking unit was able to keep Westland in its own end most of the day.

"Both teams were solid," Biagini said of the game.

In order to get to the final, the Colts beat the Plymouth-Canton Steelers Nov. 3 in another defensive battle. The Colts came out on top 6-0.

The game's lone score came in the first quarter.

A Colts drive went all the way to the Steelers' 5-yard line before stalling out. Plymouth-Canton took possession of the ball on downs.

On their third play from scrimmage, Vigh intercepted a Steeler pass at the 12-yard line and ran it in for the TD. An extra point attempt by the Colts failed to make the score 6-0.

Niether team could break the goal line again as the Colts hung on for the victory. Biagini said his team was in command after its first quarter score.

"The rest of the game boiled down to us controlling the ball," he said.

The Colts' JV championship comes after a 2-4-1 season last year. Biagini said the number of returning players contributed heavily to the turnaround.

"It was really a team effort," he said.

The Colts were blessed with many talented players.

Jason LaPerra, who will attend South Lyon High next year, was the league's top runner. Vigh, Biagini and Bret Johnson were also contributors.

"The real key was that nobody had as good of 11 players as we had," the coach said.

Biagini said he is optimistic about next year's squad.

Recreation Briefs

The Northville Sting Under-11 boys Select soccer team is looking for a couple of skilled players who are interested in playing select level soccer during the Spring 1992 season.

Players who are interested will be given the opportunity to play indoor soccer with the team during the January-February indoor soccer session. If you were born between August '80 and July '81 and are interested, contact Larry Schlanser at 420-0285.

BASKETBALL REGISTRATIONS: Registrations for boys winter basketball leagues are now being accepted by the Northville Community Recreation Department. League play is held on Saturdays, and practices take place on weekend evenings. Registration deadlines are: sixth-seventh grade — Dec. 11; eighth-ninth grade — Dec. 11.

For more information, call 349-0203.

allowed us to win some games that we shouldn't have," Schumacher said.

Wins against Churchill, Canton, Walled Lake Western and Central all could have gone the other way without good line play, he said.

Of all the team's victories, Schumacher said, the Livonia Franklin game was probably the most crucial. The Mustangs fought from a 16-0 deficit to tie the game and force overtime. Northville pulled out a 23-16 decision on a Shaw touchdown.

"That brought the team together," Schumacher said. "It was a heck of a win."

Northville's victory over Baseline Jug rival Novi closed out the season on a high for the Mustangs. Again Schumacher's squad fought back.

down 14-0 late in the second quarter, to win impressively 24-14.

"It was a very emotional game," the coach said.

Looking toward next year, the Mustangs could be a much different squad, according to Schumacher. The team's strengths and weaknesses could actually flip-flop, he said.

Gone will be Huzjak and his fine receiving corps.

"We have some key people to replace," Schumacher said. "I'm not sure who we will go for to replace Huzjak."

The inexperienced lines of this year will become the experienced lines of next year. Consequently, he said, the Mustangs may become more ground-oriented on offense.

"We may go to the run more," Schumacher said. "It depends on the quarterback that steps forward."

Swim team closes out season

Despite a number of strong performances, the Northville girls swim team finished last in Friday's WLAA meet.

Jodi Wesley came in first in the 100 backstroke. Wesley also finished second in the 200 IM.

Teri Juhasz was a third-place finisher in the 100 breaststroke with a time of 1:11.77. She also notched a seventh-place showing in the 200 IM.

Megan Goble managed a third place finish in the 100 backstroke with a time of 1:03.5. In the 200 freestyle she came up sixth.

Beth Frayne finished third in the overall diving competition. Sarah Carney was eighth and Amy Cusoff finished 10th in diving.

A number of Mustangs have qualified for the state meet, which will be held tomorrow and Saturday.

Wesley will compete in the 200 IM, 500 freestyle and 200 medley relay. The relay team is also comprised of Juhasz, Goble and Brenda Newton.

Goble will compete in the 100 backstroke while Juhasz will do the same in the 200 IM and 100 breaststroke. Alternates are Kathy Lang, Allison Seeveng, Daneen Lang and Sheila Osborne.

The state meet will close the Mustangs' 1991 season.

Experts push vegetables, fruit

An apple a day may keep the doctor away, but studies now show eating five fruits or vegetables a day could keep the doctor away even longer.

The Produce for a Better Health Foundation, with the support of the National Cancer Institute and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, developed a "Five-A-Day" program to encourage people to eat more vegetables.

As much as 35 percent of cancer could be caused by what we eat, according to the Cancer Prevention Program. Fruits and vegetables help reduce your risk of cancer, the program said, because they are low in fat and cholesterol and include plenty of high-fiber foods.

The program suggests eating five servings of fruits and vegetables each day, including at least one high-fiber, one vitamin-A and one vitamin-C-rich selection each day.

One serving is a half cup of fruit, three-quarters of a cup of juice, a half cup of cooked vegetables, one cup of leafy vegetable or a quarter cup of dried fruit.

Some examples of vitamin-A-rich fruits and vegetables are apricots, cantaloupe, papaya, broccoli and spinach.

Some fruits and vegetables high in vitamin C are kiwi, oranges, honeydew, tomatoes, green pepper and spinach.

The produce group also recommends eating at least one high-fiber selection each day and several vegetables from the cabbage family each week.

Most fruits and vegetables are high in fiber including figs, pears, prunes, dried peas and beans, okra, spinach, tomatoes and zucchini.

The Nutrition and Cancer Prevention Program suggests fitting fruits and vegetables into your daily eating routine. Drink juice with breakfast and have some fruit on your cereal.

For lunch have a salad or vegetable soup, or add lettuce, sprouts and tomatoes to your sandwich.

For dinner add vegetables to your main dish and use fruits as a garnish. Dessert could be livened up with fresh fruit.

For a snack try some grapes or raisins. Or carry dried fruit like figs and apricots around as snacks.

Finally, the program recommends drinking juice as an alternative to sweetened beverages.

The Five-A-Day program is intended to increase consumer awareness of the importance of eating at least five servings of fruits and vegetables each day for good health.

Kroger also plans to offer shoppers educational brochures, food demonstrations, recipes and other information about the health benefits of fruits and vegetables.

The Five-A-Day concept was begun in 1988 by a National Cancer Institute grant to the California Department of Health Services.

The resulting information program in that state sparked the interest of retailers, consumers and health organizations, prompting the produce industry to join with health agencies to implement a national program.

MLS expansion aids buyers and sellers

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

The formation of multiple listing services (MLS) is probably the most significant development in the real estate marketing industry during the past three decades. Now, local MLS operations are regionalizing their resources.

An MLS is a system of pooling information on currently available (listed) properties, sharing the data and right to sell the listed properties with many brokers and sales representatives throughout the local or regional real estate market.

Wide and strategic exposure is the key to effective marketing. Through an MLS, that exposure is achieved.

An increasing number of MLS operations within the same general marketing region are now sharing computer capability to generate an effective information service for all members. MLS groups chip in to buy and operate computers and software systems.

The Whittier offers all the right angles

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

Chock-full of odd and interesting interior angles, the contemporary split-level Whittier is clearly an angle-lover's delight.

Plans for this four-bedroom home, designed for construction on a gently side-sloping lot, include a three-car garage—with storage space for a boat or recreational vehicle, in addition to the standard two cars.

Garage and family room are at the lowest level, with family living space a half-flight up at mid-level. Sleeping areas are another half-flight up, over the garage and family room.

But to say the house simplification. One step down and to the left of the mid-level entryway is a quasi-octagonal sunken living room. Surrounded by windows, this bright room is also warmed in winter by a wood-burning stove.

One step up brings you to a dining room with glass doors that open onto a wide deck. Fortunately, this room is almost completely rectangular, allowing for a visually satisfying room table and buffet.

The kitchen, another near-octagon, is illuminated by skylights. In addition to counter space ample enough to provide elbow room for two or three cooks, a work island at its center has a vegetable sink. Off to one side, wedged in a near-triangular enclosure, is the pantry, and off to the other is the most oddly shaped room of all—a sunny eating nook.

Half a flight down, the upper half of the family room is open to the lower half of the nook. Beverages and cleanup are close at hand with a small sink and refrigerator.

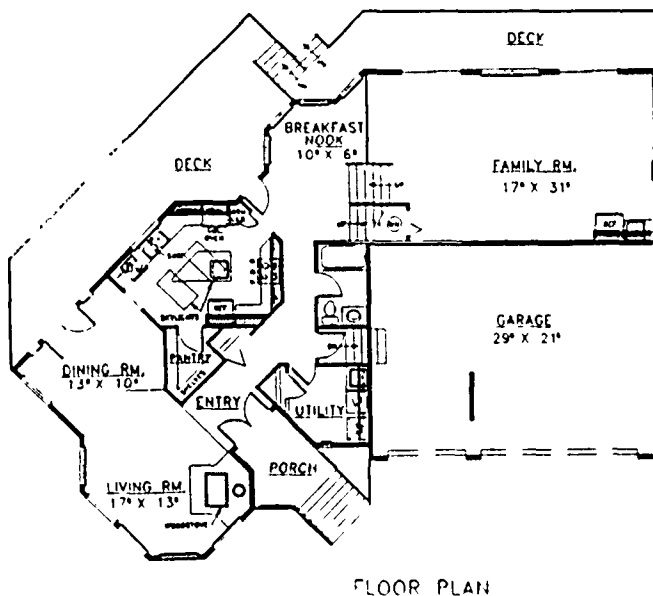

While the exterior of the upper level is rectangular, designers have managed to work at least one odd angle into every room but the master bedroom. The oversize walk-in shower stall in the master bathroom features multiple shower heads.

A huge linen closet with extra storage space is centrally located, and a compartmentalized bath with double vanities serves the other three bedrooms.

For a study plan of the Whittier (400-02), send $7.50 to Landmark Designs, c/o HomeTown Newspapers, 323 E. Grand River Ave., Howell, MI 48843. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

Living in a stone home with treasures from auctions

By Pamela Dear
Special Writer

"We really like things that people took time and care about," Jacquelyn Bischak said. Jacquelyn and husband Mark are the owners of a charming 1917 stone house located on South Milford Road in Milford Township.

They moved in about two years ago and are currently spending much time and effort to restore it to its original appearance. They are also toying with the idea of one day turning their residence into a bed and breakfast venture.

The Bischak home is a 2,500-square-foot, two-storied construction with four bedrooms, two baths, a spacious 28-by-15 foot living room with a brick fireplace, roomy kitchen, formal dining room, full basement, plus a separate 25-by-30 foot mother-in-law apartment with its own bath, sitting on almost 2.5 acres in a country garden setting.

The home was open for the 1991 Milford Home Tour sponsored by the Milford Historical Society. It was originally built for Minor and Blanche Keyes and called Grand View Farms.

The Bischaks have tastefully decorated their home with a collection of handsome furniture, treasures gathered from auctions and garage sales, and antiques, many of which are characteristic of the American arts and crafts movement of the early 20th Century.

Mark is an architect at Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak. Jacquelyn is an art director for an advertising agency in Lansing and is presently on maternity leave, enjoying time at home with her new baby Tatiana. Mark and Jacquelyn share similar artistic tastes and both embrace the philosophy of the American arts and crafts movement, which had been propagated by Gustav Stickley.

Stickley was a pioneer in contemporary design and creator of the first truly American furniture, known as Craftsman, also described as mission style. He preached the ideals of sturdy utility and minimalist elegance that looked back to the simpler modes of earlier times from pre-Renaissance England to 17th-century Colonial America. His furniture is characterized by its straight, simple lines, rich sense of beauty, and comfort—a refined look which the Bischaks have successfully achieved in their classic home.

"The arts and crafts movement was a whole philosophy of family and art," Mark said. "It's not that the furniture is important, but it derives its beauty out of its function," Jacquelyn explained.

The Bischaks are proud to own two authentic Stickley pieces, which are considered scarce and command high prices as valuable antiques. They own a rocker, dated 1902, and a sideboard, which is currently being restored. They also have a reproduction of a Stickley Brothers couch, an ambitious project built by Mark and Jacquelyn's father, who is a master carpenter.

The couch still needs to be finished with a stain, but Jacquelyn explained that this is not a simple task because it involves an ammonia tent. "The end product is a much more refined stain," Jacquelyn said. "It's a quality finish, giving the piece an immediate aged quality," she said.

The living room showcases the rocker and couch, plus other furniture and collectibles found at auctions, garage sales and antique shops.

A series of 13 large windows facing north, east, west, and south allows plenty of natural sunlight to enter the room, lending a better appreciation for the stately dark green, small floral print wallpaper.

Jacquelyn designed the short linen window treatments which include her original stencil motif. "I designed the stencil, cut it out, and my husband, my brother, and I all sat down one afternoon and had a lot of fun, and we stenciled them all," she recalled. The wall light fixtures are noteworthy. They are solid brass sconces, reflecting an Art Deco style, dating from the 1930s.

French doors politely lead you into the dining room. Special features include a very old hand-painted Limoges china chocolate pot purchased from an antique shop in Milford, and a silver chocolate pot, dated 1927, which the Bischaks found at an estate sale. An antique oak sideboard with a mirror adds elegance to the simply furnished room.

The Bischaks have taken great care to select furnishings and fixtures that reflect the original character of the home. Throughout the interior, they have created a peaceful environment seemingly untouched by time. One bedroom contains an American arts and crafts bed, an armoire, and a hand-made, a very old Lane cedar chest, and Jacquelyn's garage quilt which artfully adorns the bed.

Another bedroom is complete with a bed, vanity, and dresser in bird's eye maple. "I'm partial to it," Jacquelyn said. "It's not arts and crafts, but I like it," she said. A beautifully crafted quilt sewn by Jacquelyn's mother is displayed on the bed.

Other special touches are evident in the home. Especially striking are the wooden floors, yellow and black ceramic tiles in the kitchen, a bent hickory twig Amish rocker, a claw-foot bathtub, and great views of the country setting available from each window.

The exterior yard features a grape arbor, smokehouse, a water tower which, unfortunately, was damaged in a recent storm, and many flowers and trees. "There's a lot of flowers original to the house," Jacquelyn said. "The peony bushes are beautiful when they are in bloom and the irises and rose bushes are all original," she described. When time permits, the couple plan to spend more time working on the yard to restore and expand the beauty of the garden grounds.

The couple already have done much to the exterior of the house, like repairing the mortar, replacing the chimney, putting in a driveway and some painting. Despite all the work, the Bischaks said they are enjoying the home. "I do an overall design and Jacquelyn does the fine detail," Mark said.

He added that he likes living in this older home because "it has character." Indeed, the time and effort which the Bischaks have spent on restoring their stone home has truly enhanced its original beauty and character.

Most cleaners safe for natural slate, but watch the grout

By Gene Gary
Copley News Service

HOW TO

Q. We recently purchased a house with a slate entry foyer. The surface is dull and dingy. What is the proper way to clean slate? And what would be the best thing to use to polish the slate once it is clean?

A. Natural slate is practically immune to all common chemicals and almost any of the standard cleaners can be used on slate safely. However, strong alkaline solutions can affect the grout on tile installations.

Because of its density and extremely hard surface, slate is not affected by detergents. Weak solutions of ammonia can be used and the surface can be scoured with steel wool or an abrasive pad.

Clean the entire surface with a strong solution of detergent. Spread over the surface and let it stand for several minutes. Then, with a fresh solution, scrub with a stiff brush. If spots and dullness remain, try a weak solution of ammonia.

After the slate has been thoroughly cleaned and allowed to dry, a coat of sealer will render the surface easier to clean and keep clean. Any good floor sealer should serve. Spread thinly and rub out well.

Being non-porous, slate will absorb very little of the sealer, just enough to adhere, but it is not the purpose to build up a surface coating. An ideal sealer for slate is one of the colorless terrazzo sealers.

The richness of slate can be improved somewhat by waxing, either with the solvent type or a water wax emulsion. Even an emulsified resin finish will serve well. There also is an old-fashioned (but not outdated) linseed oil formula that some homeowners still prefer to use. It is more difficult to apply than a commercial prepared wax or sealer, but it is effective in maintaining the beauty of slate

The solution is made of one half turpentine and one half boiled linseed oil, heated over boiling water. Apply warm to the slate and let set for an hour. Wipe off all surplus. Apply three coats of this preparation. Dry thoroughly and wipe clean between each coat.

A reader writes:

Regarding your answer on cleaning grout on a kitchen counter, I have a suggestion. Easy-off Oven Cleaner requires a minimum of scrubbing, nothing to mix and gets dirt out of the cracks and nicks in tile. You need only to leave it on for about one or two minutes and scrub with a soft tooth brush (scrubbing with a stiff brush eventually removes the grout as well as the dirt).

Data base sharing is cost effective for MLS users

"Sharing the data base and computer equipment is very cost-effective and makes it possible to provide an optimum information service for member brokers and salespersons via computer on-line access and printed MLS books," said one MLS chairman.

The computer-generated information usually includes data on all current property listings, statistical information and a variety of special programs. For example, tax information on any property in a local county can often be quickly accessed on computer terminals.

Another frequent regional arrangement to expand exposure of listed properties is a reciprocal agreement between MLS groups, whereby property information is shared.

Before MLSs were formed, brokers kept their residential listing information in-house, or shared it with a small group of friendly competitor brokers. With the launching of MLS groups, usually sponsored by a board of Realtors, a home can be quickly exposed to a much larger market of prospective buyers through many cooperating brokers. The system benefits everyone — buyers, sellers and brokers.

There have been dramatic changes in MLS practices in recent years. No longer can an MLS operation legally stipulate the brokers' rate of commission or commission-split between the listing and selling broker. And, at least in one state, a board-sponsored MLS cannot limit MLS members to members of their board.

California is the only state where an existing law requires local boards to grant MLS participation to broker licensees who are not a board member. This is now a hot issue in other states, and similar legislation is probably forthcoming in a number of states.

Many non-board member MLS participants are members of another board who want to be MLS members so they can access information about properties in the area or expose information about his own listings. Others are appraisers, building contractors, real estate investors or others who do not need or want board membership but do want the advantage of MLS participation.

In some cases, a broker joins an MLS to access strategic information needed for a specific project. He may then drop his membership and rejoin later when information is again needed.

Some MLS groups charge a modest re-entry fee when the previous member wants to rejoin the MLS within a year or two.

New developments are still in the wind for MLS operations. For example, licensed or certified appraisers without a broker's license may gain the right to be MLS members in 1992. This is another hot-button issue. Also, the well-known MLS printed book may soon be totally replaced by computerized communications, including the transmission of full-color photos on terminal screens.

Q. What's the most recent outlook for home sales?

A. There will continue to be slow but steady improvement in the home sales market, according to economists at the National Association of Realtors.

The economy will generally remain sluggish through the rest of 1991. But lower interest rates and improving inflation will push recovery in the residential real estate market.

A car shaped bottle gets mileage

By James G. McCollam
Copley News Service

ANTIQUES

Q. I am inquiring about the value of a Jim Beam whiskey bottle. It was made by Regal China Co. in the shape of an old "Thomas Hyer" automobile. It is dated 1976.

A. Your Jim Beam "Thomas Hyer" automobile bottle would probably sell for $90 to $100.

Q. I have an 18-by-14-inch blue-and-white platter with the enclosed mark. Can you identify the maker and estimate the vintage and value of the platter?

A. This was made by Charles Meigh in Hanley, England, between 1830 and 1850. The name of the pattern is Plover, and most dealers would price this at $125 to $135.

Q. Can you tell me anything about the vintage and value of a pitcher with a portrait of Queen Victoria? It is marked "Doulton, Lambeth" and commemorates her Golden Jubilee.

A. This was issued in 188, to celebrate Victoria's 50th year as queen of England. It would probably be worth $265 to $285.

Q. Can you evaluate a man's pocket watch made by the E. Howard Watch Co., Waltham, Mass. It has a 17-jewel movement No. 981,357. The case is marked "Warranted 20 Years."

A. Your watch was made between 1909 and 1912. It probably would sell for $165 to $185 in good condition.

Q. I have several sterling silver demitasse spoons with bust of Christopher Columbus on the handles. Each spoon bowl has a different building at the Columbian Exposition. Can you give me any information about these spoons?

A. The site of the Columbian Exposition was Chicago in 1892 to 1893. Your spoons would probably sell for $25 to $35 each.

Q. Can you evaluate a man's pocket watch made by the E. Howard Watch Co., Waltham, Mass. It has a 17-jewel movement No. 981,357. The case is marked "Warranted 20 Years."

Store offers fun stuff that's out of the ordinary

By RICK BYRNE
Copy Editor

If you're looking for a store that has something for everyone, go to a department store.

But if you need a gift for someone whose raft is just a little off the mainstream, or if your tastes run that way yourself, check out The Real Nancy Drew shop at Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi.

Stepping into the store is like stepping into someone's childhood fantasies about what it's like to be a grown-up. It's chock full of clothing, furniture, cartoons and comic books, all of them with a quirky, colorful charm.

It's the fifth in a string of stores — three in Michigan and one each in Chicago and Naples, Fla. The stores are stocked with the creative work of Nancy Drew, a real, live grownup herself.

In spite of the name, Drew has nothing to do with the children's mystery books written by Carolyn Keene — except that the books might someday become a source of inspiration for the artist. Drew's is a creativity that, like quicksilver, seems to defy confinement. And anything from a telephone to a vacuum cleaner is fair game as her canvas.

"I'm an artist who tries to discover new surfaces to work on," Drew says from her home in Niles, Mich. "In the store, you can find anything from a greeting card for $1.25 up to a large painting for $2,500."

But it's the stuff that falls in the middle of that range that is the most intriguing. You can find some fun-to-wear and even-more-fun-to-look-at clothes. There are shoes, shirts and accessories, and an array of hats, some of them one-of-a-kind creations.

Larger items are available to fill your home with loops and swirls of color, like lamps, mirrors, screens, pillows and tables and chairs.

"I'm taking a risk and doing something I always wanted to do," says the 43-year-old mother of three. "I don't feel I just have to work on a T-shirt or a chair. Take the custom carpet I just did recently. I've been called a mixed-media artist and a 20th century expressionist. Sometimes I think I'm just an entertainer."

Perhaps the most entertaining aspect of her work is her cartoons, which appear weekly in the Chicago Tribune. Here again, the subject matter is whatever happens to be before her. Many of the cartoons are musings on mothers, families and other realities of everyday life (e.g. "Why do men stay little boys for so long? Because they all had mothers.")

Among the store's best sellers are the books that compile some of her favorite cartoons.

Drew is aware of the off-center nature of her work, but says that hasn't swayed her from opening stores in malls like Twelve Oaks.

"I think that the mall complexion is changing," she says. "They're not just offering the predictable anymore. They offer some things that are different."

There are things in my store that are a little more mainstream, like the T-shirts and comic books, but I don't think the mall fits into a certain plug anymore."

As evidence, she offers the success of the Detroit Institute of Arts store, and the Body Shop, a chain of stores offering earth-friendly goods.

"I'm just one tiny M & M in a big bowl," she says. "But I'm not trying to be a chain."

A native of Birmingham, Drew attended a private parochial school, but took art classes at Cranbrook on the side. She suspects that much of her creative bent came from that dichotomy.

"In parochial school, there were no gray zones," she says. "I think this is just a rebellion against my parochial background."

She went on to acquire her bachelor's degree in fine arts from the University of Michigan, where she graduated third in her art school class. "Everyone thought I would go to New York," she says. "The professors all questioned whether a small town would be the place for my artwork.

"I just found another way, around the barn. An artist can take his paints anywhere, really."

In the instance of the Real Nancy Drew store, the artist seems to be taking them everywhere.

Money Management

Start kids early with smart habits

The Michigan Association of CPAs advises that effective money management is a gradual process that should begin during your child's toddler years and extend well into his or her teens.

Children are likely to learn best about managing or mismanaging money through the experience that comes with getting an allowance. Starting at around age 6 or 7, an allowance should be given on a regular basis and in an amount that relates to the child's needs. A child's allowance should represent the child's share of the family budget and be given with no strings attached.

School-age children are ready to start learning about the concepts of budgeting, spending vs. saving, and other basic monetary strategies. You can also begin to explain the difference between short- and long-term financial goals.

Keep in mind that if you want your children to learn how to handle money responsibly, you will have to allow them a fair amount of control over how they use their money. Children need to have the leeway to buy the things that are important to them even if you find them frivolous. If a child spends all his allowance on a plastic car and the wheels fall off the next day, the child will, hopefully, learn a lesson.

At about age 10 many children begin to realize that if they don't spend their entire allowance on candy, they may be able to save up for the latest video game. Once your child has grasped the value of saving, you may want to introduce him or her to a variety of banking lessons including the basics about saving accounts, interest rates and account balancing.

By age 11 or 12, your child should have a good grasp on managing money, budgeting and setting priorities. But that doesn't mean he or she isn't going to make mistakes. What should you do if your child runs short and asks for more money or an advance? Generally, it is not a good idea to constantly bail your child out. If children know there is always more money available when they ask, they will quickly realize there is no need to budget their allowance.

When your children enter the teen years, a lesson in managing credit wisely becomes fairly essential. Next time you whip out a credit card to pay for a pair of expensive sneakers, be sure to explain the cause and effect nature of credit.

The teen years are also an ideal time to introduce your child to the world of investing, from saving accounts to such fairly sophisticated financial concepts as stocks and mutual funds. Consider, for example, arranging for a trip to a United States Mint Office or stock exchange.

If you begin teaching children about money management when they are young, by the time they enter high school they should be fairly well-educated and financially responsible. In many cases, they may be ready to have their own checking accounts and learn to reconcile bank statements. Another valuable lesson for teenagers can be found in buying a few shares in a stock fund and monitoring them. Similarly, try to involve teenagers in the process of saving for college and encourage them to track the performance of investments earmarked for their education. Children in high school may also gain a lot from a part-time or summer job, which can teach them how jobs work and the responsibilities involved in earning a pay check.

We all have to learn to make financial decisions, establish priorities, and function in the marketplace. The sooner you start teaching your child, the more financially responsible he or she is likely to be.

Research uses many sources

Describing customer groups that are meaningful to one's business may seem like an exercise in futility. As an example, how would the "median home value" of neighborhood resident customers impact on a firm's promotional efforts, if at all? Is it really important to find out how customers of a sporting goods retailer spend their leisure time? And what about the newly-formed business; how can it define customers it doesn't even have yet?

According to Lisa Nielsen, former Vice President with Market Opinion Research in Detroit, business owners who attempt to understand their current and potential customer markets are in a much better position to ultimately attract and serve them. "The process we use to identify distinct and non-overlapping customer segments involves a cluster analysis program allowing us to be statistically correct; however, the process doesn't have to be so complicated for the small business owner."

Nielsen claims that her firm's consumer segmentation studies usually start out by asking individuals about their activities, interests, and opinions as they pertain to the business or organization commissioning the project. Since "lifestyle" related customer data isn't generally available through public sources for each and every business that requests it, small business owners can develop their own customer questionnaires.

"A sporting goods retailer that wants to promote his products more effectively would benefit greatly by finding out how his or her customers spend their leisure time," states Nielsen. "As an example, if it is found that a significant percentage of the firm's customers are 'passive' sports enthusiasts and heavy television watchers, it would not be wise to sponsor several sporting events as opposed to developing local television ads."

Collecting data such as median home value, age, sex, and average level of education represents some of the demographic characteristics used to identify a firm's key customer groups.

"Once we break down the total market into segments based on their lifestyle, we'll then compare demographic profiles," says Nielsen. Reviewing demographic data available at the zip code level for both business and resident consumer markets is one way to do this. Most businesses already know where their customers come from a zip code standpoint and can refer to library sources to see how various zip code markets compare and contrast.

New businesses can use this same information to see what the nature and composition of potential customer markets are, based on their zip demographics. The data can then be used to help develop promotional as well as operational-related strategies. "If a business is looking for new zip code markets to attract, it can look for those which are similar to those already served."

THIS MUCH MORE AIR IN YOUR TIRES WILL SAVE US GALLONS OF GAS A DAY.

“The boy who delivers the crack, he’s eleven. He makes $300 a day but now he’s dead. These kids are not learning nothing except how to be hopeless.

How to die. You don't need to go to no school to learn that. And that's just it. These kids aren't going. So I went to the schools to see what I could do. Me, a man who's seen his neighborhood go from bad to worse. But now I'm tired of it and I'm going to start with the kids. They're the hope. I go to the junior high and just show up in class and tell them to take pride in themselves. Pride in what they are and to have dignity. They can wake up in the morning and either go out and be mad at the world or do something to make it good for them. These kids just don't know better. And that's no good because how are our children going to have good lives if they don't stay in school? There is a reason to stay. And I'm going to tell them. ”

This is W.W. Johnson's real-life story. He is one of the little answers to the big problems facing every community in America. And because there are more people than problems, things will get done. All you have to do is something. Do anything. To find out how you can help in your community, call 1 (800) 677-5515.

WHY

one of the best beats two of the rest.

Our pizza starts with fresh 100% natural dough made each morning to give you that light and crispy crust. Never frozen.

Next is our sauce. All natural, made fresh in our stores. A blend of spices and rich pear tomatoes give our sauce it's perfect zest.

Can we top this! Only with the very best fresh vegetables, shipped to us daily from the Eastern Market. Never frozen.

Say Cheese! Say Real 100% Cheese. Part Skim, low in cholesterol yet very rich in flavor. No substitutes ever!
