FIFTY CENTS

Four compete for two board positions

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

Two incumbents will vie for their seats against two newcomers in the June 8 Northville School Board election.

Four petitions made the filing deadline Monday, April 6, according to John Street, the director of business and finance.

Newcomers Glen Meisel and Patricia Custer filed petitions hoping to unseat incumbents Donald Klokenga and Carol Rahimi.

Meisel, 31, of 19820 Fry, is literally a newcomer — not only on the ballot but also in the neighborhood.

Meisel, currently a teacher at Roosevelt High School in Wyandotte, moved from Farmington Hills to Northville just six months ago.

His decision to seek election came after hearing positive things about the district from his colleagues.

"I've just always heard Northville has the best schools," Meisel said. "I know some Northville teachers, not too many, but I just want to make sure the schools stay that way."

A nine-year veteran teacher, Meisel said his biggest asset is his first-hand knowledge of district operations.

"I know what's going on in a school system," he said. "I know how the finances work and I know the setup and makeup of it."

In addition to his teaching experiences, Meisel said he also has a keen business sense.

"I'm an excellent business person. I used to own my own landscaping and construction business," he said.

Patricia Custer, a unknown name among some district officials, could not be reached for comment by press time.

For incumbents Klokenga and Rahimi, second four-year terms could prove to be an exciting time.

Klokenga, 47600 Blue Heron South, is seeking a second term on the board. A professional engineer, Klokenga owns an engineering and marketing services business in Northville.

Bad news found with city budget

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

City Manager Gary Word summed up Northville's financial situation in six words: "It doesn't look good right now."

Word broke the bad news to the city council Monday during his presentation of the proposed 1992/1993 budget.

Though he said the budget is balanced, Word also admitted that budget projections for June 30, 1993 fall $110,000 short of the deficit reduction plan adopted in February.

The proposed budget results in a $275,558 balance by June 30, 1993, but it only reduces the June 30, 1992 deficit from $764,636 to $489,078.

Review boards have slow year

Township appeals decreased

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

It was a slow year for the Northville Township Board of Review, both in cases heard and assessment breaks given.

It may be the calm before the storm.

This year's review season was tempered by the statewide freeze on property tax assessments, a freeze that will expire at year's end and could send assessments spiraling next year.

Township officials said the number of assessment protesters dropped significantly this year.

"We adjusted far fewer this year than ever before," said Russ Fogg, of the township Board of Review. "Most of the petitioners were the big ones (utilities and large tract owners)."

The three-member Board of Re-

City board sees fewer appeals

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The state tax freeze must have sent a shiver of relief through many city property owners.

Only 113 of them bothered to appeal their property assessments during three days of Board of Review hearings this year.

That number was far below the 314 who submitted appeals during nine days of hearings last year, or the 282 who made appeals the year before that.

The dearth of appeals is largely the result of Public Act 135 of 1991 which locked assessments at their Dec. 31, 1990 levels — the ones that were used to set 1991 assessments.

Due to the freeze, the city's assessing department only sent out about 200 notices of assessment increases this year, as opposed to the roughly 2,500 notices sent out last year. Many of the notices were to those who had obtained reductions due to financial hardship last year, and who had to reapply if they wanted to claim hardship this year.

Those who did stand before the board March 10, 18 or 24 had fewer reasons to argue for an assessment reduction than in the past.

To fight their 1992 assessments, they had to show that their 1991 figures were unfair, or that their property's value had changed more or less than the city assessor said it did in the past year.

Assessors could change the figures for properties that were split or combined with another in the past year, or because of additions like new construction or new furnishings, or the loss of buildings or furnishings.

Finishing touches

The new addition to the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce building on S. Main is nearing completion, most recently with roofing work donated by Gala Construction Co. From front, Chris Gala, Scott Gala and Steve Dyer got most of the work done last week. "I phoned the architect, got a copy of the blueprints, submitted my proposal and started the job," said company President Scott Gala. "I'm excited my company's part of the project." Gala first heard about the Chamber of Commerce's need for donations to build their addition while purchasing construction materials at Northville Lumber, another chamber donor. Of the roof's steep 10/12 pitch, Steve Dyer, Gala roofing foreman says, "Heck, we did a house in Pheasant Hills, in February, with a pitch as challenging as they come, and the roof came out perfect. The steeper they come, the more we enjoy the job."

Man charges HIV infection

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Township police are investigating a Northville man's charges that his male lover knowingly infected him with the precursor to AIDS.

A 31-year-old Northville man last week told police he had recently tested positive for human immunodeficiency virus (HIV). The man said he was informed of the news by the same doctor that diagnosed his 40-year-old lover three years earlier.

According to police reports, the suspect told the Northville man that he had tested HIV negative before they initiated their sexual relationship. HIV can lead to acquired immune deficiency syndrome (AIDS).

The suspect formerly lived in Novi, police said, but no longer lives in this area.

Knowingly infecting another person with HIV is a felony offense punishable by up to four years in prison, said township police Capt. Philip Presnell.

Similar situations have occurred around the nation, as well as the state, but this is new territory for township police, Presnell said.

"To my knowledge, this is the first time somebody's made a complaint on something like this," he said.

Presnell said the township's detective bureau will meet with the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office to discuss the investigation. Prosecutors and police then will jointly interview the complainant before charges are filed, he said.

Police said the Northville man told them he and the suspect had engaged in a consensual sexual relationship since October 1990. At that time, the suspect reportedly told the man he had tested negative for the virus.

The victim charges that the suspect knew otherwise, police said. The victim said he has had a sexual relationship only with the suspect since October 1990, while the other man has engaged in other affairs.

Police have classified the case as a sex crime, pending further investigation and a decision by the county prosecutor.

CBN rejects school millage plan

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

Members of a local citizens watchdog group last week found four reasons why they say residents should reject the district's request for a millage increase April 28.

After reviewing the issue, 14 members of Citizens for a Better Northville (CBN) voted unanimously last Thursday to tell district officials they don't want to pay higher taxes.

Tonight the group will meet to formulate a strategy and begin working on a campaign to thwart the district's efforts for a successful election.

"We decided we were going to come out and oppose the proposal in its present form," said Phil Phillips, the media spokesperson for CBN. "We laid out four or five items that don't seem to hang together in the district's plan."

First, Phillips said the idea of combining requests for an increase and a renewal into a single proposal rubbed group members the wrong way.

"We don't like the idea of rolling the increase in with the renewal. We want to see separate choices on the renewal and increase requests."

The idea of asking for a 12-percent increase in hard economic times raised eyebrows for most CBN members, especially when the renewal of the current millage would raise $700,000 for operating expenses.

"We wanted to make the point that the old millage rate would provide $700,000 in revenues, so it's not like they're losing money at the old rate," he said.

Group members were also quick to jump on the bandwagon of a recent news article which put Northville in the company of 18 other districts reporting top percentages spent on administrative and other overhead costs in the tri-county area.

"Northville was in the top 12 of 83 districts in the tri-county area exceeding 30 percent of its budget on administrative costs. There's some room for efficiency and reinvestment there."

Phillips said CBN members also suggested a cut in administrative salaries could help put money back into the district's operating budget.

"If the district could cut that 30 percent down to 25 percent that would make $1.2 million available," he said.

Phillips and CBN say the district is using the millage increase in part to fund administrative contracts that were approved three years ago, contracts that now the district doesn't have the funds to pay.

"We have multi-year contracts supported by an annual millage. We don't have a revenue stream to match the contracts. From a management perspective, it's risky at best and stupid at worst," Phillips said.

Group members had more concerns which surfaced after they took a closer look at the school's budget.

"There is nothing in there for kids or for the classrooms other than teachers' salaries," he said.

NATIONAL LIBRARY WEEK: The Northville Public Library will celebrate National Library Week, April 5-11, with "Charlotte's Web" presented by Margaret Schmidt of Maplewoods Homestead. Join us at 7 p.m. tonight, April 9, to explore the world of Charlotte and Wilbur through stories and pictures with an emphasis on baby pigs. The highlight of the program will be a visit from Wilbur himself, a Vietnamese pot-bellied pig. The program is for all ages and no registration is necessary. For more information visit the library or call 349-3020.

HABITAT FOR HUMANITY: High-school-age volunteers are being sought to spend spring break fixing up houses for low-income people in Charleston, South Carolina.

For the fourth straight year, the First Presbyterian Church of Northville will send a group of high schoolers to a work site sponsored by Habitat for Humanity, a nationwide organization which works to improve housing opportunities for low-income citizens. Students going on the trip will do rehabilitation work such as painting, wall demolition, roofing, flooring, and the like. The trip runs April 18-26. Participants must pay $275 to cover transportation and food. Lodging will be in churches.

Although First Presbyterian sponsors the trip, any high school student is welcome to participate. Anyone interested should call Associate Pastor Martin Ankrum at the church, 349-0911.

BLOODMOBILE VISIT: An American Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Northville April 17, at the Northville Christian Assembly, 41355 W. Six Mile.

The Bloodmobile is scheduled to be on hand to accept blood donations from 1-7 p.m. Friday, April 17. To schedule an appointment to donate, call Sara Page at 422-4090.

HOST FAMILIES SOUGHT: High school students from Germany, France, Spain, Israel, Brazil, Poland, Japan and Hong Kong will arrive in August to spend five or 10 months studying in American high schools.

These boys and girls (ages 14-18) need families to welcome them into their homes. All of the students have studied English for at least three years, have full medical insurance and have enough money to cover their personal expenses.

The sponsoring organization, American Institute for Foreign Studies (AIFS), rewards host families with scholarships for foreign travel. The IRS permits a small tax deduction. Flexible, open-minded, fun-loving families, with or without children of their own, can be wonderful host families.

For information, call AIFS local representatives in Plymouth: Lynne and Gideon Levenbach at 453-8562 or 453-6851; or the AIFS national office at 1-800-322-4678.

BLOOD NEEDED: The American Red Cross is facing another severe shortage of blood and continues to seek blood donors.

The Livonia Donor Center offers an ongoing opportunity to donate. Located at 29691 W. Six Mile (just west of Middlebelt), Suite 100C, in the rear of Bell Creek Office Plaza, the center is open from 2-8 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Thursday; from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday and Friday; and from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. To schedule an appointment at the donor center call 1-800-582-4383.

Higher buildings supported

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The Northville City Council has finally given the planning commission some direction on its proposed building height ordinance.

The direction is up. Council members Monday night reviewed the commission's proposed revision to the city's building height ordinance, which currently allows buildings up to five stories or 60 feet tall within the Central Business District.

The commission had proposed limiting height to three stories or 36 feet, while allowing buildings on sloping land to reach "a maximum of four stories (48 feet) at any given point." The slope would have to include 12 feet of grade differential, however, which limits such sites largely to the area between Main and Cady streets. Most of the city's current buildings —except Singh Development's Main-Centre project — fall within the commission's proposal. MainCentre was mentioned several times as the yardstick against which other developments should not be measured.

Singh's proposed CadyCentre on the other side of Center Street does not measure up either, but it has already received preliminary approval from the city.

"I think that there's a general consensus that there's a need to regulate the building heights, but the concern was that the proposed ordinance was too restrictive," said City Manager Gary Word.

The council, which had rejected the revised standards in September, agreed with Word and added that compromise may be possible.

"The planning commission is still leaning towards three stories," said Planning Consultant Don Wortman. But he added that the commission does not want to repeat last year's practice of devoting several meetings to hammer out a proposal only to see it rejected by the council.

"Quite frankly, we don't want to spin our wheels developing a new round of draft ordinances," he said.

Commissioner Mark Cryderman said the planners' goal was to preserve the current pedestrian scale of downtown Northville. "Part of the logic of doing this was to make anything new conform with anything existing in the city... except MainCentre, of course," he said.

Cryderman added that the planners were leery of approving an ordinance that does not restrict building heights enough: "I think the concern the planning commission had was that if it's too loose, someone might tear down an existing building and put a new one up."

The city has more options that a single height limit in the CBD, Wortman noted. "You can have a restriction for certain (city) blocks or block faces," he said, saying such overlapping zoning could help preserve the city's pedestrian scale.

The city could also use a floor area ratio requirement to allow a developer who provides more open space to build a taller structure, he said.

"You have a floor area ratio now, but it's extremely lenient," Wortman said. "Even MainCentre can comply."

Council Member Dewey Gardner said he liked Wortman's concept of overlay zoning, "to keep Main Street where it is."

Gardner also defined the council's concerns further, saying, "I don't think three stories is as restrictive north of Main... South of Main is where our concern is."

Council Member Jerry Mittman agreed, and suggested a three-story limit north of and along Main Street and a four-story allowance to the south.

Police News

Parent arrested for kidnapping his children

A 42-year-old Holt man was arrested for parental kidnapping April 4 after taking his children from Amerman School without their mother's permission.

The man picked the children up Friday, April 3, and notified their mother, and told her he would return the children Sunday night. He had been denied visitation rights that Thursday.

City police, after consulting with the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office, determined that the incident represented a felony and notified Ingham County police, who arrested the man that night. Though Ingham police did not find the children and the man refused to divulge their location, his wife turned them over later that night.

The man was turned over to Northville City police and arraigned in front of 35th District Court Judge James Garber Saturday, April 4. He was released after posting a $5,000 personal bond.

STRAIGHT PIN FOUND IN SNACK CRACKERS: A Livonia man has reported that he bit into a straight pin that was packaged inside a box of snack crackers he purchased at Meijer, 20401 Haggerty, township police said.

According to police reports, the man purchased a 24-oz. package of Cheezit crackers from Meijer on March 24. Two days later, the man reportedly was eating some crackers when a straight pin punctured his upper dental plate. The man was not injured, police said.

The man told police the box he had purchased was a crushed package. Meijer employees reportedly removed the remainder of the 24-oz. Cheezits from store shelves, police said.

VEHICLE STOLEN, RECOVERED: A 24-year-old Dearborn man was charged with operating a ERED: A West Bloomfield woman's 1992 Chevrolet Jimmy reportedly was stolen from the Meijer lot sometime between 6-7 p.m. March 30, township police said.

The Detroit Auto Recovery unit found the vehicle at 23861 W. Six Mile the following day, police said. Police said the vehicle's rear window was smashed and its radio stolen.

RADIO STOLEN FROM CAR: A Northville man told township police that someone broke into his 1979 Pontiac Trans Am and stole a stereo, speaker box and a man's wallet sometime late March 30 or early March 31.

The man said the vehicle was locked and parked in his driveway when the theft occurred. The items were valued at $1,048.

OUILS: A 24-year-old Dearborn man was charged with operating a vehicle under the influence of liquor after his arrest on Seven Mile west of Meadowbrook early April 5, township police said.

Police said Breathalyzer tests indicated the man's blood-alcohol level was .13.

An 18-year-old Livonia woman was charged with OUIL after her arrest on Five Mile east of I-275 early April 4, township police said. The woman's blood-alcohol level was .12, according to Breathalyzer tests, police said.

SHOPLIFTERS NABBED: A 17-year-old Northville man and a 17-year-old Novi man were charged with larceny in a building after their arrest at Meijer March 29, township police said. Police said the pair attempted to steal nine rolls of film from the store.

HOME ROBBED AS OWNERS

SLEEP: A house on McDonald Drive was reportedly robbed sometime between 1-6 a.m. March 6. The thief or thieves reportedly entered the home through an unlocked garage door and stole a briefcase containing a $369 Dictaphone recorder and four purses containing nearly $500 in cash and $1,600 in other, unspecified items.

The total value of the stolen items was listed at $3,544.

SUSPENDED LICENSE ARRESTS: City police arrested an 18-year-old Canton man and impounded his vehicle for driving on a suspended license the night of April 3, after being stopped for speeding on Edward Hines Drive. He was wanted for failing to comply with a Plymouth court judgement for speeding.

He was released after posting a $71 bond. A 68-year-old Detroit man was arrested for driving on a suspended license the night of April 4, after police stopped him for speeding on South Main. His license had been suspended for failing to appear in court on a previous suspended license charge from Northville Township. He was released after posting a $35 bond.

TIRES SLASHED AT TRACK: The driver of a 1989 Plymouth Grand Prix parked at Northville Downs April 4 told city police his driver's-side tires were slashed sometime between 7-10 p.m. Damage was estimated at $240. The car was parked in the main lot near the racetrack's kitchen at the time.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Township guns taken out of circulation

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

They're little more than scrap metal now, but in their heyday were dangerous tools of illegal trades. Semi-automatic handguns. Shotguns. A .30-caliber military-style carbine, knives, and a bow and arrow.

A four-shot .357 derringer and a 12-gauge shotgun with its barrel sawed off at 12 inches.

All deadly weapons recovered in Northville Township, and all out of circulation now.

Township police recently loaded about 80 confiscated weapons — including 25 handguns — into a van bound for Lansing and the Michigan Department of State Police. The weapons were remnants of seizures and arrests local police have made over the past several years, township police Capt. Philip Presnell said.

"They all were involved in criminal activity in the township," Presnell said. "They were taken away from people who were arrested in crimes from breaking and entering, to armed robbery and assault."

State law requires local law enforcement agencies to confiscate weapons used in the commission of a crime, Presnell said. Unless the owner wins the weapons back via appeal, confiscations are declared forfeited to the state police, he said.

The weapons are destroyed after arriving at state police headquarters, Presnell said.

"It's our way of contributing to the auto industry," he said, indicating the metal will be sold for scrap and recycled.

In addition to numbers sufficient to outfit a small militia, the types and styles of the weapons widely varied. Most of the weapons — like the sawed-off shotgun — were useful only for felonies, Presnell said.

Woman raped in her apartment

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

A Northville woman was violently raped inside her apartment off Silver Springs Drive early Wednesday morning, township police said.

The woman, who police said is in her 20s, reportedly was bound with duct tape by her hands and ankles and repeatedly raped.

Police also said a tape-covered pillow had been wrapped around the woman's face. She was hospitalized with cuts, abrasions and rape-related trauma and released late Wednesday morning, police said.

Police had made no arrests by press time, but reportedly are focusing on a man known by the victim.

"We believe the suspect or suspects knew the victim," said police Capt. Philip Presnell. "I believe this is a calculated assault, by the way it was done and the evidence at the scene."

He said the rape probably was "a premeditated attack."

The victim reportedly told police that her attacker threatened to kill her.

"She said he used a long-bladed, long-handled knife and ran it up and down against her body," Presnell said. "We understand at one point the assailant threatened to kill her and her child."

The woman reportedly has a young child who was in the apartment at the time of the assault.

Presnell said the suspect reportedly wore some type of white mesh over his head and face to conceal his identity. The suspect also reportedly taped over the peep holes in the victim's and a neighbor's apartment doorways, he said.

Police said the victim's neighbors reported hearing nothing unusual during the time of the attack.

The victim's apartment was littered with duct tape when police arrived at the scene. Investigators worked throughout the day searching for evidence.

Police were not sure how the attacker entered the apartment by press time Wednesday.

The victim's second-floor balcony door was intact, as was the complex's front door, which uses a buzzer-type entry system, police said.

Police are asking anyone with information on the attack to contact the township police department at 349-9400 or the police detective bureau at 348-5806.

Free seedlings handed out at township hall

All Northville Township residents are invited to pick up free seedlings at the township hall, 41600 Six Mile, on Saturday, April 11 from 10 a.m. to noon.

The Northville Township Beautification Commission sponsors this fourth annual event in honor of Arbor Day, April 24. The Beautification Commission promotes the preservation and expansion of township woodlands. Four tree and two shrub species, all native to Michigan, will be available.

To ensure a successful planting, the commission recommends that you "look before you plant." Look up to make sure the tree will not become entangled with power lines, wires or eaves. Look down to see what type of soil the tree will grow in and to see how wet or dry the site is. Also look down to make sure the tree roots won't someday lift the sidewalk.

Look around to determine the exposure of the site. Deciduous trees, those that lose their leaves in the fall, are best planted on the southeast, southwest or west side of the house to provide cooling shade in summer while allowing warming winter sunlight. An evergreen windbreak on the north can block cold winter winds. Look around to see if the site is sunny or shady. And look around to make sure the tree, when mature, won't shade your garden, block a scenic view, interfere with outdoor lighting or encroach on your neighbor.

Be sure to protect young seedlings from water stress. One inch of rain a week is enough; otherwise you must provide the water. Protect seedlings from mowers or weed whips by either staking the tree or planting it in a special nursery bed. Try to assess the planting site before coming to the township hall to select the "right tree for the right place."

The beautification commission will provide descriptions of all the species available to help with selections. They will also hand out instructions for planting and maintaining your seedlings when picking them up.

Bring a bucket or plastic bag to tote new trees home. If you are interested in helping hand out seedlings, or are generally interested in the beautification of the township, please call Township Hall at 348-5800.

Fourth endures minus fireworks

Plans are taking shape for an "old fashioned Fourth of July" in Northville.

Although funding, insurance coverage and location worries have snuffed out local fireworks this year, several other traditional activities will offer reasons to stay in town on the Glorious Fourth — which falls on a Saturday this year.

Organizers have met regularly to set plans for the parade, which will follow its usual route starting at 10 a.m. July 4. The two-part theme this year is "Enjoy an Old-Fashioned Fourth of July in Your Hometown, Northville — Celebrate the 500th Anniversary of the Discovery of America."

Parade awards will be given in the following categories: Marching Bands, Theme Entry Floats, Senior Marching Groups, Junior Marching Groups, and Equestrian/Animal Groups. Car groups are also welcome, but will not be judged.

Organizers are currently seeking parade participants; for more information contact Debbie McDonald at 348-6417. The parade is sponsored this year by the Northville Kiwanis Early Birds, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4012, and many other service organizations.

For those wishing to get an early start on the Fourth, the Masonic Temple will again host its traditional pancake breakfast to kick off the day.

The Northville Recreation Department will return with another Satin Sheets Bed Race just before the parade. Pajama-clad runners race down Main Street on wheeled beds, competing for the overall best time. Entry fee is $15 per team, which includes the bed frame, or $10 for returning teams which already have a bed. Teams provide the wheels. More information available at the Northville Community Center, 303 W. Main. Entry deadline is 4 p.m. June 24.

After the parade, the Northville Historical Society is in the midst of organizing an afternoon of food, music, demonstrations and other traditional activities at Mill Race Historical Village. For more information call 348-1845.

Anyone interested in helping to organize the Fourth events is welcome to attend the next planning meeting, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 15, at the VFW Hall, 438 S. Main.

College ponders millage request

Schoolcraft College thought it could build its new student activities center without asking area voters for money.

Now, it's not so sure. Declining state grants have college officials considering a potential bond or millage request, possibly as soon as this year.

Schoolcraft was to have split the estimated $7.2-million construction cost with the state.

While the Haggerty Road community college is well on its way toward meeting its half of the project, state money is drying up.

"The (state) money isn't there and we have no idea when it will be there," Schoolcraft President Richard McDowell said.

Officials are considering a short-term millage — perhaps as short as one year in length — or a 20- to 30-year bond issue.

The college could seek to raise as much as $10 million to complete the building and renovate Waterman Campus Center, McDowell said. Roughly two-thirds would come from the bond issue or millage, the rest from college rental income.

Schoolcraft trustees discussed matters only briefly during a March 25 meeting. Future discussions are expected.

Ground was to have been broken this summer, college business vice president Adelard Raby said.

But construction was put on hold when Schoolcraft couldn't secure state financing.

On its own, the college has already secured roughly $2.5 million in rental payments from the Seven Mile Crossing office complex. Seven Mile Crossing was built in 1988 on college-owned land near I-275. It includes two office buildings and a restaurant.

College officials planned to pay for the new building with $3.6 million in rental income from Seven Mile Crossing, augmented with a matching state grant.

College admissions, financial aid and counseling offices would all move into the new building from other campus sites.

"We want a one-stop student center," Raby said.

The lower Waterman Center would be converted into a conference center. An on-campus child care center would also be added.

Other college offices and programs, including the accounting and purchasing offices and Women's Resource Center would also move to the new building from small houses on Haggerty, south of campus. The houses would be razed.

New Northville clinic joins Providence family

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Like any proud parent, Providence Hospital wants to make sure its medical clinics go to good homes.

The Southfield-based hospital chain has chosen Northville's Main-Centre building as the home of its latest clinic.

Measuring a mere 4,500 square feet, the newest addition to the Providence family is scheduled to arrive

July 1. A larger, 150,000-square-foot sibling is due in Novi this summer.

Assisting in the Main-Centre delivery will be Nancy McLean. The administrative director of satellite clinics in Milford, South Lyon and Southfield, McLean will serve as director of the Northville facility as well.

McLean said the new Northville satellite is designed to complement the much larger facility being built off Grand River in Novi. "That (Novi) facility is primarily a specialty referral center," she said.

The Novi site will offer 24-hour emergency medical service with a full-service lab and "multiple physician's offices," she said, including specialists in general surgery, internal medicine, neurology, orthopedics, pediatrics, psychiatry and substance abuse.

"But we wanted to give access to our system at the more local level," McLean said, which is where Northville enters the picture.

"(The Northville clinic is) going to be a family practice center primarily, with physicians who have board certification in family practice medicine, and our intention is to attempt to recruit an obstetrician as well," she said.

The clinic represents the medical profession's current focus on providing medical services before acute care is needed. "We're more into preventative maintenance in health care right now," McLean said.

"I'm real excited about the location and building," she added.

"I think downtown Northville is an ideal location. Its restaurants and little shops already draw a tremendous number of people to the downtown area."

The clinic will initially host a staff of seven, including physicians. "We add more as they're needed," McLean said.

Initial hours of operation — between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday — will likely expand as well.

"We'll end up doing at least one evening and probably two, but that will be determined by the physicians and patient preference," McLean said. "And we'll probably end up going to a half day on Saturdays, as business picks up."

The new facility at 134 and 138 Main-Centre will join Providence's existing medical centers in Novi, South Lyon, Milford, Livonia, Berkley and Southfield.

Race for school board

mitments. Klokenga is active in a host of honorary and professional affiliations including the Society of Automotive Engineers, National Society of Professional Engineers, and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Klokenga circulated a press release to board members at a March meeting that he would seek reelection. Looking ahead four years, Klokenga said he thought a second term would prove exciting with all the growth the district is experiencing.

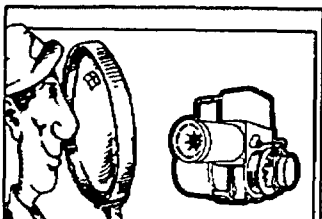

"The greatest challenge the board and administration may face during the next four years is new school construction," he said.

Carol Rahimi echoed his thoughts. "There are a lot of exciting things happening here," she said. "And there are a lot of things still on the drawing board like outcomes-based education and restructuring of the high school that I want to be involved with."

Rahimi, also seeking a second term, has been an active member of the school and community for nearly 12 years. Two of her four children are graduates of Northville Public Schools, but Rahimi said she stays active for her youngest daughter, now a senior at the high school, and her son, a fifth-grader at Silver Springs.

Prior to her election to the board in 1988, Rahimi was active in PTA groups at Meads Mill, Silver Springs and Moraine schools. She has also held several offices on the coordinating council.

Outcomes-based education and restructuring the high school to give students more electives and choices are two ideas Rahimi will press in her upcoming term.

Vic Tanny site of protest

By JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writer

A group of Vic Tanny members think the Novi club's decision to rip out its racquetball courts is completely off the wall.

Monday, picketers — many in business suits and ties — circulated petitions and collected funds for a possible class action lawsuit.

Novi resident Nick Pagano brandished papers from the Novi building department showing that Vic Tanny applied for a permit for indoor renovation in January. The exercise club, which serves Northville members, is in the Novi Town Center off Novi Road and I-96.

As recently as March 29, Pagano said, the Novi club was still selling premium memberships with unlimited racquetball privileges. Destruction of the courts began March 31.

An attempt to gain a temporary restraining order to stop the dismantling of the the racquetball courts hadn't succeeded as of Monday.

A two-level weight and exercise room is planned to replace the courts, which Pagano said are typically booked 10 hours per day. Mike Lucci, Jr. area director for Vic Tanny, said that the new two-story rooms will include expanded free weights and cardiovascular equipment such as exercise bikes and step machines.

"Beyond that I have no comment," he said.

Attorney Mark Maish, of Novi, who is representing the disgruntled racquetball players, said Vic Tanny management told the group the decision was made at the corporate level.

The position the club has taken is that current members have to go to the Plymouth club (on Ann Arbor Road west of I-275). They feel only a small number of the members use the racquetball court," Maish said.

To Novi resident Marty Ferrier, an avid racquetball player, it seems as if the firm is using "bait and switch" tactics to woo new members.

Vic Tanny ran a promo in December offering members unlimited racquetball and tanning booth privileges if they upgraded to a premium membership, Ferrier said. The upgrade charges of $150 to $199 were tacked on top of the annual membership fee.

"They're removing the courts and bringing in new members and telling them racquetball will be available to them."

A Vic Tanny employee at another location said premium memberships cost $1,199 and include unlimited racquetball and tanning, plus a $24 per year fee after the first year. During special promotions, the fees may be reduced significantly.

Cheerleading meeting set

The first pre-tryout meeting for cheerleading at Northville High School will be held from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. Friday, April 10 in the High School Activity Center.

At the meeting, permission slips, health forms, tryout requirements, and more will be discussed. Questions about the cheerleading program for next year will be answered and tryout requirements discussed.

Those students interested in cheerleading at the high school should attend this meeting. Clinics will be held Monday, April 13 through Wednesday, April 15 from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Tryouts will be held on Thursday, April 16 from 4 to 9:30 p.m.

Cheerleading at Northville High School can be a very rewarding and fun experience, head coach Margaret Surdu said. Northville has captured the league cheerleading championship for four out of the past five years. Anyone interested in finding out more should go to the meeting April 10.

WILLIAM CALVERLEY

William A. Calverley, 58, of Farmington Hills died March 30 at his residence. He was born Sept. 29, 1933, in Highland Park to William and Helen Mary Allison Calverley. Mr. Calverley lived his entire life in the Northville area. He served in the U.S. Army in the 1950s.

He was a sales representative for Star Steel of Detroit.

Survivors include his wife, Barbara, of Northville; his son, Donald of Longwood, Fla.; his daughters, Helen of Modesto, Calif., Marilyn of King of Prussia, Pa., and Mary Beth of Northville; his sisters, Jo Anne Czarnika of Rochester and Mary Martin of Sterling Heights; and his brothers, Richard of Royal Oak, Patrick of Royal Oak, Michael of Rochester, and Robert of Vestaburg.

Services for Mr. Calverley were Friday, April 3, at Our Lady of Victory Church of Northville. Officiating was Fr. Frank Pollie. Burial was at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery of Southfield.

Visitation was Thursday and a scripture service was held at 7. Memorials of Mass offerings would be appreciated by the family. Arrangements were made by the Ross B. Northrop & Son Funeral Home of Northville.

GEORGIA HOLLIS

Georgia Elizabeth Hollis, 92, of Northville, died March 31 at the Greenery Nursing Center in Farmington.

She was born Feb. 20, 1900, in Highland to the late Benjamin and Sara Heddle Shoebright. Her husband, Leo Hollis, preceded her in death in 1955.

Mrs. Hollis is survived by her children, Ralph Hollis of Northville and Leo Hollis Jr. of Georgia; two grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren. Her sister, Eva Speers of Livonia, preceded her in death.

She was a homemaker and active with the Salem Bible Church in Salem.

The funeral was Friday, April 3, at Casterline Funeral Home in Northville. Pastor Mark Moore of the Salem Bible Church officiated. Interment was at Thayer Cemetery of Northville Township. Arrangements were by the Casterline Funeral Home.

LELAND JACOBS

Dr. Leland B. Jacobs, 85, Professor Emeritus of Education at Teachers College at Columbia University, distinguished educator and author, died April 4 in Englewood Hospital, Englewood, N.J., of congestive heart failure.

Born in Tawas, Mich., he earned his bachelor's degree from Michigan State Normal College (now Eastern Michigan University), his master's from the University of Michigan and his Ph.D. from Ohio State.

Dr. Jacobs had taught all grades in the elementary school, in junior high school and in high school, with the exception of 11th grade. He had been an elementary school principal, supervisor of student teachers and taught undergraduate and graduate level courses. Throughout his career he guest lectured at many colleges and universities across the United States and Canada. Dr. Jacobs spoke at the University of Hawaii, Northwestern University, University of Florida, Kent State University, Oakland University, University of Pittsburgh, University of California, University of Pennsylvania and presented the commencement address at Eastern Michigan University.

Throughout his professional life, Dr. Jacobs authored and co-authored numerous books and journal articles in the area of language arts, reading and student teachings. His writings of poetry for children have been extensively published in books, reading series and professional magazines.

While he was a professor at Teachers College, Columbia University, Dr. Jacobs served as a consultant and lecturer for state educational associations, national organizations and school systems. He was selected to give the American Library Association's May Hill Arbutnot lecture in 1983 and the New York Public Library's Ann Carol Moore honor in the same year.

Dr. Jacobs was the recipient of distinguished awards and honors for his educational leadership. The awards include an honorary Doctor of Education from Eastern Michigan University, the distinguished teaching award from Mills College, and the New Jersey Reading Teachers Association's Distinguished Service Award. He represented Teachers College, Columbia University on the television series "Meet the Professor." He was elected to the International Reading Hall of Fame; was chosen as a distinguished alumnus of Ohio State College of Education in its centennial year; and received the Dean's Citation for Distinguished Service to Education from Rider College.

Dr. Jacobs was a member of and active in several professional organizations, including the Association for Childhood Education, National Council of Teachers of English, International Reading Association and the National Conference of Research in English.

Surviving Dr. Jacobs is his wife, Beatrice, of Leonia, N.J.; a son, Allen and daughter-in-law Janice of Lemont Furnace, Pa.; and a grandson, Kurt.

Graveside services for Dr. Jacobs will be 1:30 p.m. Saturday, April 11 at Grand Lawn Cemetery in Detroit. The Rev. Douglas W. Vernon from the First Methodist Church of Northville will officiate. Arrangements were made by Northrop Funeral Home of Northville.

ELIZABETH KAESTNER

Elizabeth Margaret Kaestner, 77, of Northville died March 30 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac.

She was born Aug. 28, 1914, in Rudyard, Mich., to the late Herman Fuerstnau and Margaret E. Cartwright. She moved to Northville from Pontiac in 1985.

Her survivors include her son, Kenneth (Marilyn) Kaestner of Northville; her grandchildren, Susan Walsh, Jane Funfeld, and Julie; three great-grandchildren; and her brother, Harold Fuerstnau of Rudyard.

She was a school teacher for 45 years. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Pontiac and the Delta Kappa Gamma sorority. The funeral was Friday, April 3 at First Presbyterian Church of Northville at 11 a.m. The Rev. Lloyd G. Bra-sure officiated. Interment was at Rural Hill Cemetery of Northville. Arrangements and visitation were at the Casterline Funeral Home of Northville.

DOROTHEA MEYER

Dorothea M. Meyer died April 4 at Lourdes Convalescent Home in Waterford Township.

She was born to the late Charles Livrance and Ida Heide, pioneer dairy farmers in the Plymouth and Livonia area for many years.

Mrs. Meyer lived in the area and Redford most of her life. She was an active member of the Church of Christ the King Parish in Redford for many years. She was also a member of the Kings Daughters of Redford.

Survivors include her children, John H. Meyer of Commerce Township, Beverly J. Misch of Bloomfield Hills, and Barbara Suran of Clarkston; nine grandchildren; and nine great-grandchildren.

Services were Tuesday, April 7, from the Ross B. Northrop & Son Funeral Home of Northville. Officiating was Fr. A. Frank Pollie of Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church of Northville. Burial was at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery in Southfield.

Memorials to the Lourdes Convalescent Home, 2300 Watkins Lake Road, Waterford 48327, would be appreciated by the family.

Arrangements were made by the Ross B. Northrop Funeral Home of Northville.

MARY ELLEN TANDY

Mary Ellen Tandy, 76, of Orlando,

Fla., formerly of Farmington Hills, died March 23 in Florida.

The Tandys moved to the Orlando area in 1979, from Michigan. Mrs. Tandy was a homemaker.

She was born Jan. 25, 1916, in Detroit to the late George and Belle Thompson Drayton.

Survivors include her husband, Robert, of Orlando; her brother, Ralph Gallagher of Leesburg, Fla.; and her grandsons, Russell Tandy of Japan and Richard Tandy of Atlanta, Ga.

Preceding Mrs. Tandy in death was her son, Richard, and her daughter, Rebecca Tandy.

Private services were held at Riverside Cemetery in Plymouth. A memorial service will be held at a later date.

Arrangements were made by the Ross B. Northrop & Son Funeral Home of Northville.

ELSIE WOODROFFE

Elsie Emily Woodroffe, 86, of Livonia, formerly of Northville, died March 30 at her home.

She was born May 14, 1905, in England to Percy and Emily K. Cole Woodroffe.

She lived for many years in Northville. She was retired from Ford Motor Co.

She was a member of the Orient Chapter No. 77, Order of the Eastern Star.

Her funeral was Thursday, April 2, at the Casterline Funeral Home of Northville. The Eastern Star Lodge conducted the service. Interment was at Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens in Novi. Arrangements were by the Casterline Funeral Home.

Review board decisions appealed to Tax Tribunal

Property owners who are still unhappy with their assessments after a trip to the local board of review can take their case to the state.

The Michigan Tax Tribunal in Lansing is the appeals court of the assessment system, hearing petitions from those who have been turned down by their local boards.

To appear before the tribunal, a property owner must have filed an appeal with the local board of review. If turned down by the board, the property owner may then request an appeal form from the state. After the state receives the request, Michigan Tax Tribunal Small Claims Division petitions are sent to the applicant and the municipality in which the property is located.

Both must complete the paperwork and return it to the state by June 30.

Applicants should be prepared to answer a series of questions, starting with their estimate of the true market value of the property and the previous year's assessment figure.

Applicants will also be asked if they have written evidence to back up their claims regarding property value. Such evidence can improve the applicant's chances of winning the case.

The evidence can include existing sales prices of similar homes in the community, and proof of anything that adversely impacts the property's value.

Petitioners should be forewarned that the typical tax tribunal case can take a year to run its course, though the actual hearing may take only half an hour. Also, the tax tribunal has the power to raise as well as lower assessments.

For more information, property owners can call (517) 334-6521, or write the Tax Tribunal at P.O. Box 30232, Lansing 48909.

view heard from 122 petitioners this year. 26 of those from residents seeking tax relief through hardship variances, said Nancy Molloy, administrative assistant to the township treasurer.

Hardship cases — primarily senior citizens or those on fixed incomes — generally will see some property tax break during the new tax season, Molloy said. Those who appealed their assessments will receive notices of the Board of Review's decision this week, she said.

Hardship cases must be appealed annually, but the township had to beat the bushes to find hardships.

"A lot of people didn't realize they could get a hardship," Fogg said. Fogg said the review board adjusted "15-20 percent" of the 1992 petitioners.

The township's state equalized valuation (SEV) climbed to nearly $466 million this year, despite the assessment freeze. Last year's numbers weighed in at $448.6 million, with new construction and lot subdividing adding $18 million to the tax rolls.

With the assessment freeze, cases were relatively easy to judge, Fogg said. Most cases were "simply a matter of adjusting new homes to value (assessors) had already established," he said.

City

Assessments could also be changed as a result of a decision by the Michigan Tax Tribunal.

Property owners could also seek reductions based on financial hardship, which was the source of the majority of this year's reductions. But they had to prove their financial status by showing the tax returns for every wage earner sharing the property, and disclosing their interest earnings as well.

Clerical errors could also result in reductions.

As for this year's appeals, "Most of them were hardships... and most of the reductions were frankly what they were last year," said Chief Financial Officer Mark Christiansen.

The board granted a total of $315,200 in residential and $8,600 in commercial state equalized value (SEV) reductions.

Despite the tax freeze and reductions, the city's total assessed property values rose slightly from $180,123,670 last year to $184,599,010 this year, a 2.5-percent increase. The rise is largely the result of nearly $5 million in new residential construction in areas like St. Lawrence Estates and Pheasant Hills.

Council sets dates for budget review, adoption

Monday's presentation of the city's proposed 1992/1993 budget to the city council was the first of at least six council meetings, work sessions and public hearings scheduled to review the city's fiscal plan for the coming year.

The next step is a series of three work sessions during which the council will review specific department budgets "line item by line item," in the words of Council Member Paul Folino. Department heads will attend the sessions to explain and defend their budget requests.

A Monday, April 13 session has been reserved for discussion of the city's police and public works budgets. The two departments account for about two-thirds of the city's general fund expenses.

At the Monday, April 27 session, the council will review the rest of the city's general fund budget, and the public improvement budget.

At the Thursday, April 30 session, the council will scrutinize the city's water and sewer fund and refuse program, and the remaining budget items.

The city will release its notices of hearings on the budget itself and on increasing taxes, and announce when the final draft of the budget will be available to the public, on Thursday, May 7.

A public hearing on the budget, and the required Truth-in-Taxation hearing will be held Monday, May 18. The budget is scheduled to be adopted at that time.

City faces tax hike, more layoffs this fiscal year rather than to the reduction plan's $375,735 goal.

The initial 79-page budget document, which faces many revisions and additions before its adoption May 18, includes general fund and tax base analyses and a budget adoption schedule (see related story).

The general fund analysis in particular outlines the city's loss of several revenue sources.

"Of particular concern to the staff is the reduction in state-shared revenues," Word told the council.

The analysis notes state-shared revenues including sales, single business and intangibles taxes, which have historically provided the city's second-largest revenue source, have dropped from just under 16 percent to just under 12 percent of the city's revenues. The state has cut the percentage of such taxes it returns to local units several times this year, and stopped returning the intangibles tax altogether.

Because of the recent cuts, the city will receive at least $50,000 less in state-shared revenues than anticipated in the deficit reduction plan.

"Revenue projections for this category are realistically conservative due to the continuing posture of the state government to attack this categorical area in facting their own financial problems," Word said.

The news is similarly bleak concerning Gov. Engler's withholding of state-shared racetrack revenue, which is costing the city an anticipated $735,000 this year alone. The city has suspended police services to the track and laid off two full-time and four part-time police officers as a result.

"While the (state) Legislature seems in favor of returning racetrack funds, the governor has shown no sign of doing so," Word said.

Word's budget message did note one bright spot on the revenue side of the ledger.

The city's 1992 tax base grew a modest 2.5 percent to $184,747,460, largely as a result of new construction in Pheasant Hills and St. Lawrence Estates.

But the increase is much less than last year's 4-percent growth in new construction, or the previous year's 8.4-percent leap. And this year's statewide assessment freeze kept existing properties from adding any more revenue to the tax base.

Department heads realized the city's dire financial straits before making their budget proposals, Word said. "I think the staff had pretty much understood what the parameters were, and I think with one or two exceptions, they met those parameters set by the deficit-elimination plan."

One exception was the Police Department's budget, which came in at about $125,000 over the deficit-reduction plan's estimate due to "a significant increase in overtime requirements to meet scheduling demands in light of personnel layoffs and the fact that some of the manpower needs will no longer be able to be met utilizing part-time personnel," according to the budget analysis.

The remaining department budgets are more than $60,000 under the plan's projections, according to the analysis.

The bleak financial picture translates into a tax hike for residents, as the budget proposes a 13.68 operating millage levy. The levy, 44 percent more than last year's, incorporates a 4.2-mill increase called for by the deficit reduction plan.

Because the city has not levied its maximum permitted operating millage rate for several years, city officials may legally levy up to 15.99 mills for operating expenses without a Headlee Amendment override vote. But the proposed millage increase does require a public hearing under the state's Truth-in-Taxation law.

An additional 3.87 mills, down 13 percent from last year's record high of 4.46 mills, is being levied to repay existing debt from street construction bonds.

The total proposed levy of 17.55 mills represents a 26-percent increase over last year's millage rate.

The deficit reduction shortfall may mean more layoffs at city hall as well, which has already been wracked by the loss of five full-time and four part-time positions.

"Absent revenue increases or non-personnel expenditure reductions, up to two full-time positions may need to be eliminated in the proposed budget," according to the general fund analysis.

While the city's police, public works, clerical and administrative departments have already felt the layoffs outlined by the deficit-reduction plan, Council Member Jerry Mittman stood by his previous stance that the plan's proposed millage hike is too steep.

"I still believe the 4.2-mill increase is unacceptable," he said.

One suggestion Mittman made was to reopen union negotiations on contracts that call for salary increases.

CITY OF NOVI NOTICE

The Federal Emergency Management Agency has recently completed a revised Flood Insurance Study for Novi. This study provides base flood elevation information and delineates areas subject to significant flood hazards. This information will be used by the City Council to regulate new construction in flood hazard areas. Banks and insurance agents will also use this information to determine where flood insurance is required and the cost of insurance coverage. Realtors will need to be aware of flood hazard areas when selling or buying real estate.

These and other issues relating to the National Flood Insurance Program will be discussed at a public meeting scheduled for THURSDAY, APRIL 16, 1992 AT 10:15 A.M. IN THE NOVI CITY HALL.

Issues to be discussed include floodplain management and permit requirements, flood insurance, floodplain mapping, lender's responsibilities, and construction techniques.

All interested persons, especially those living in or near areas of special flood hazards, are encouraged to attend.

Our Opinion

Check disclosure raises a crop of new concerns

The negative revelations about the running of Northville Township government reached a new low this week.

In Monday's Northville Record was an article revealing that the township's engineering firm paid a public-relations bill for the township fire department. At best, this news is baffling. Upon reflection, though, it's a disturbing indication of something going seriously wrong in local government.

Here are the facts: Georgina Goss, township supervisor at the time, hired the local Quidnunc Corp. to write a PR letter for the township fire department. Quidnunc billed the township $500. The township did not pay the $500. A $500 check for "PR campaign" went to Quidnunc from Ayres, Lewis, Norris, & May — the Ann Arbor-based engineering firm which holds contracts with Northville Township and the Western Townships Utilities Authority.

What does this mean? What exactly happened? It's easy to speculate, but we're trying to refrain from that. It seems inescapable, though, that Goss asked the engineers to pay this debt of the township's. And we can think of no legitimate reason they would agree to do so — but they did.

We find it deeply troubling that the relationship between Goss and the engineering firm was at such a level that a transaction like this became possible. Even more disturbing, though, is the secrecy surrounding it.

The payment to Quidnunc Corp. obviously did not go through normal township channels. The township manager did not know about it. It did not come before the township board. It was all arranged and accomplished behind the scenes, with no chance for anyone to question the situation.

Charles Keys, Quidnunc's president, allowed this paper to confirm the situation with the Ayres, Lewis check. When our reporter approached Keys with a copy of the check, the Quidnunc head, for his part, admitted to the situation and told us what he knew. Yet because this was handled with such secrecy, he didn't know a whole lot; he certainly couldn't begin to explain why this happened as it did.

A few months later, Goss hired Quidnunc for another PR project of more far-reaching scope. This time, there was no question that the township board had to know about the campaign. Yet the hiring came before any presentation to the board, and in fact Quidnunc submitted an initial bill for the second project before the balance of the board even knew the company had been hired.

That's outrageous. The residents of the township might feel quite angry learning about this maneuvering; so they should. But the members of the township board ought to be even angrier that their responsibilities of overseeing expenditures and township projects was completely co-opted. The supervisor spent money on township projects without the board's approval, and that's inexcusable.

The situation deserves — needs, demands, cries out for — some explanation from the principals. Goss and Abe Munfakh, president of the engineering firm. Guess what? They're not talking.

Munfakh simply did not return our reporter's phone call. And Goss, you may recall, recently adopted a policy of only responding to questions from the Record by written answers to written queries. She argues that the paper has been unfair to her in its coverage of the Western Townships Utilities Authority sewer project.

Obviously, we disagree. But why not submit questions in writing to her, if that's what it takes to get the answers?

In short, because we don't think it would get any answers. Knowing that the supposed reason for Goss' stance — perceived unfairness on our part — has no merit, we can't see any reason at all for her to even ask for this procedure.

It's simply an unrealistic request. Under such a situation it would be difficult to ask follow-up questions. We write out a question; she writes out a response; that spurs another question, which we write out; and so on. An interview which would take just a few minutes over the phone turns into an afternoon-long ordeal. If she has the time to respond immediately. In the meantime, bills for phone time and fax paper go through the roof — on both ends of the exchange.

We'd also like to be sure that when we pose a question to a public official, that the official is the one doing the actual responding. We think our readers deserve to be sure that when an official makes a statement, it's the official's own words.

On top of that, we can't get into a situation of giving one public official special treatment, which is what this would be. If we agree to this situation with Goss, how can we turn it down for anyone else? The operations of this newspaper and several levels of government would come to a screeching halt if we had to conduct every routine interview in this manner.

On the other hand, we're trying not to be stubborn. Understanding the sensitivity of the issues and trying to address her concerns, we have offered to conduct a straight question-and-answer session, tape-recorded by both sides, and run verbatim in the paper, to address some of these recent issues. She has not, so far, agreed to that option.

And finally, Goss — and everyone else in the community, official or citizen — always has the option of writing a letter to the editor. If she believes her side has not been told, if she feels a need to keep everything in writing, this avenue is always open. Our address is 104 W. Main, Northville, 48167; our fax number is 349-1050.

Lots of people — the Northville community; everyone Goss now represents in the state House; and residents of every community using Ayres, Lewis as its engineer — deserve explanations for an awful lot of concerns. We're waiting.

Phil Jerome

The other side of Main Street

Just call this Northville Confidential.

That's right, folks. Enough of this nice guy stuff for Ol' Phil. What's going on here is an entirely new slant to my columns. No more Mr. Nice Guy.

I'm embarking on a brand new direction in which I blow the lid off the cover of the city's downtown merchants... In which I reveal the sordid truths about Chuck Lapham, Charlie Freydl, John and Toni Geni(U, Bill Wright and the rest of the cast of characters who work behind that seemingly innocent front of "Main Street merchants."

What brings this change about is a fairly recent visit to Northville Pharmacy early on a Saturday morning.

Ostensibly, I was looking for a copy of Playboy. That's right, folks. I confess to reading Hugh Hefner's magazine. In fact, I've got quite a collection of them — stretching back more than 20 years.

"All right," I demanded after searching the racks in vain for the magazine, "where are they? Where are you stashing the Playboys?"

"Don't say anything," I heard one of them whisper. "He'll put it in the paper. You say anything at all, and he puts it in the paper."

"I heard that," I roared, letting them know any attempts at cover-up were going to be fruitless. "C'mon, fess up. Where are they? Where have you got those Playboys stashed?"

"They're behind the counter, aren't they? Bill's got 'em stashed behind the counter so he can hide behind a facade of respectability while selling smut under the table."

"My dad would never do something like that," said Kris, Bill Wright's daughter. "We run a clean operation."

By this time several other of the so-called downtown merchants had begun to gather, notably the crew from Freydl's Men's and Women's shops. Even the big chief was there, Charlie Freydl himself.

"You mean I can't buy a copy of Playboy anywhere in Northville any more?" I continued incredulously. "This town seems to be taking that Victorian Festival stuff a little too seriously."

"Well, what about something else? Does anybody here have any dirt on Bill Wright, the allegedly respectable druggist?"

"I may have something you can use," I heard someone say. "It was Charlie Freydl."

"Give it to me straight," I barked. "Give me the dirt. I'm going to blow the lid off this town, and I need good stuff. So let me have it."

I heard the others gasp as Charlie began to spill his guts... rid his conscience of the dirt he has been carrying pent up inside for all these years.

"Bill and Glenn Wiseman used to throw a football around in here when things got slow on Friday nights."

"Great, Charlie. That's the kind of stuff I'm looking for."

"It's true," he continued. "They'd get at opposite ends of the store and they'd throw a football back and forth to pass the time."

"Did they ever break anything?" someone asked.

"We suspect they did, but we could never prove it," I heard someone answer. "It was Kris Wright. They did a real good job of cleaning up anything they might have broken and disposing of it before the rest of us got here in the morning."

"Aha," I shouted. "Wait till the people of Northville read this. This town isn't as clean as you guys want us to believe. There are millions of stories just like this. All I've got to do is find them."

Political system is in crisis

"America's only native criminal class..." — H.L. Mencken

Our political system is in crisis. Anybody who is angered, confused or turned off by all the shenanigans of this year's presidential campaigns knows it perfectly well. But to reshape our politics, we must understand our political system. Here's a sketch:

We are governed today by something unusual in American history: an entire class of political professionals — careerists whose life's work is seeking and holding elected political office.

Sustaining any new class is expensive. So the political system has evolved a complex financial support structure, as follows:

● Perks. It's more than automatic overdraft protection against kited checks, but a range of tax-supported incumbent protection devices — big staffs, free mailing privileges and so forth.

● Salaries. If a politician's life work consists in getting elected, then it stands to reason holding office becomes a full-time job. It's a short jump from there to ramming through big pay increases by voice votes (no record roll calls) at midnight.

● Bribes. Officeholders pay for expensive campaigns by soliciting and accepting bribes thinly disguised as "campaign contributions." Administered through political action committees and articulated by lobbyists, special interest money is today the mother's milk of American politics.

The consequence of this hermetically sealed system is that members of the political class are interested in dealing with only three kinds of people: lobbyists (for money), media types (for publicity and spin control) and other politicians (for deal cutting and competition evaluation).

This leaves out ordinary folks. Which is why so many people feel — correctly — that the political system is not interested in them or in their problems.

We could tolerate such closed governance if it performed. But we have gridlock politics: Nothing gets done effectively or economically.

First big reason: bad candidates. Why? The political parties have largely abdicated candidate selection to the media.

Times past, practical politicians did the picking. They knew intimately the strengths and weaknesses of potential candidates. This process is now called "the smoke-filled room" and is widely scorned.

In its place, we have the media selecting candidates, providing us with Great American Leaders such as George McGovern, Jimmy Carter, Michael Dukakis, Ronald Reagan. By demanding daily pandering from Jerry Brown or Bill Clinton, the media ensure that any nominee knows a lot about spin control but may not have the capability to govern effectively.

In my own opinion, letting the media control anything of substance — picking candidates, governing states and nations — is a terrible mistake. That's not our job, and we're bad at it.

Second reason for gridlock: Legislatures, especially Congress, can't act.

Congress dumped the seniority system in the 1960s. An unforeseen consequence was that no leadership device emerged powerful enough to deal with all the special interests and their money.

Result: Any public policy initiative far-reaching enough to deal coherently with any of our problems is subject to a blocking veto by one or more groups whose special interest may be threatened.

Next week: What we can do in Michigan.

WTUA article is misleading

To the editor:

This letter is in response to an article written by Mr. Mike Tyree and published on March 12, which implies that I illegally contributed to local campaigns of supervisors and officials of the Western Townships Utilities Authority (WTUA). Please be advised that my wife and I are both political activists and believers in the American system. Over the years we have contributed to the campaigns of those we feel are good candidates for the office they seek, regardless of their party affiliation, position, or potential for me to personally benefit if they are elected. I have contributed to the campaigns of Supervisors Maurice Breen (R) and Thomas Yack (R), State Representative Gerald Law (R), Supervisor Georgina Goss (R), Wayne County Commissioner Susan Heintz (R), Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara (D), Wayne County Commissioner Susan Hubbard (D), Wayne County Chairman of the Board Robert Blackwell II (D), Governor John Engler (R), Congressman

Carl Pursell (R), and President George Bush, in an effort to ensure that those qualified candidates for a particular office are properly financed. We are believers in the American System for financing political action. After all, no candidate will win without proper financing. Your allegations that my contributions are solely to benefit from WTUA is completely erroneous. When my employer was retained by WTUA, one of the three members of the Board of Directors was Mr. James Poole, Supervisor of Canton Township. If you examine Mr. Poole's campaign returns you will find that neither myself, my wife, or anyone from my family has contributed to him, because we did not believe him to be a good candidate.

The article by Mr. Tyree alleges that I have voted on WTUA issues on the Plymouth Township Board. As I explained (which he refused to publish), my record on this matter is very clear. I have abstained from voting on any WTUA issues before the Plymouth Township Board. Minutes of the Board of Trustees meetings will verify this fact. Mr. Tyree's article is false, malicious and demeaning to me and the firm of Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May Inc., and I demand an apology and retraction from your newspaper.

Abe A. Munfakh
Plymouth Township Board

Editor's note: The article in question did not allege any illegality, nor did it allege any contributions "are solely to benefit from WTUA." It did, in fact, state that Mr. Munfakh contributes to politicians not connected to WTUA; it also specifically stated that Mr. Munfakh asks to abstain from WTUA issues before the Plymouth Township Board.

Keep up the pressure on politicians

To the editor:

I am angry! According to a recent article in The Record, you indicated that on March 16 you filed a request with Northville Township to determine whether the township has used "brother and sister companies" of its law firm Law, Hemming, Essad & Polaczky to perform public relations functions. On March 23, the township asked for a 10-day extension to that request, based on the recommendation of this law firm. Since when does my government need to consult a law firm before answering any newspaper questions?

I don't pretend to understand all that's going on with this law firm and its connections with WTUA, and the further implications of Northville Township's government (current and past) but you seem to have them running scared. So, a hearty thanks for all your excellent journalistic coverage, and turn up the heat.

Unfair to expand DDA now

To the editor:

In light of the current economic conditions, the state mandated tax-base-sharing plan and the proposed 2.78-mill school millage increase, it seems unfair and inappropriate for the Northville Downtown Development Authority (DDA) to even consider any expansion of the district that would divert additional tax revenues from the Northville Public Schools.

If the downtown development district wishes to increase revenues in order to fund various improvements downtown, then the district should either tax only itself as has been recently discussed, or explore the possibility of establishing a Special Assessment District (SAD). But homeowners in the Northville-Nowi community should not be placed in a position of bearing an even heavier burden, particularly when these other funding options may be available.

Since the Northville School District is asking the taxpayers to support the additional millage, I hope that the leadership shares this concern and that the Northville School Board will strongly and publicly oppose any expansion of the Northville DDA, before the voters go to the polls on April 28.

Situation at library is just appalling

To the editor:

It is appalling that the staff at Northville Public Library have been reduced to having to clean their own building due to reduced funding. The picture of Library Director Pat Orr in the March 12 Northville Record is indeed a sad commentary on the state of this community's library.

That Mrs. Orr and other staff members are demeaned enough to have to vacuum, dust and clean is a completely disgraceful situation. What many library patrons may not realize is that Mrs. Orr, Sylvia Mazzaro, Joanne Dewey, Al Smitley and Susan Petersmark have not just read a lot of books to become librarians. They all hold master's degrees from accredited university library school programs. How many MBAs would stoop to vacuum their own offices?

The time is long overdue for Northville citizens to support their public library. As librarians ourselves, we know how important this service is to the community and how necessary it is to citizens of all ages. We should be given the chance to vote on the crucial issue of forming a district library in the November election.

Cable firm communicates very well

Editor's note: This is a copy of a letter sent to Lisa Boland, general manager of Omnicom of Michigan, the local cable television franchise.

Dear Ms. Boland: Your recent letter to your Northville subscribers was quite helpful. You and Omnicom are to be commended for the many improvements and for your community support.

In addition, the results of your recent customer survey seem pretty good. The simple average of five elements contained in your letter was 4.32 on a scale of 1 to 5. With just that information, I'd speculate the result is somewhat above average. But, therein lies the missing story.

Your letter report speaks entirely to our own internal progress since Omnicom began serving this area. The critical issue is whether you are near the top competitively. That includes competitive programming, up-time, service, community support and pricing. Of course, you must do all these things at a cost to Omnicom that is competitive, and then the company will earn the profits to which it is appropriately entitled.

For example, you state that for cable-deluxe, 14 of the 24 satellite-delivered channels have been added since 1985. Technology is moving fast and your progress sounds good, but I'm without a competitive benchmark on which to judge. I can say that one of your competitors supplies the same package in a Colorado mountain county of less than 6,000 population at only 50 cents per month more.

One purpose of your communication effort (and I applaud that effort) is to build community support during the contract renewal process. I'd suggest you provide some information that discusses Omnicom services and prices in a competitive sense.

Stay with the communications job; it helps. I've been a Northville customer for a few months and a Plymouth customer since you came to town.

Many helped make event a success

To the editor:

Silver Springs Elementary School recently held a very successful Fun Fair and Family Night. Super thanks to chairpersons Val Troshchinetz, Nancy Wilber, Patti Appleford and Tracy Probst. Thanks also go to our wonderful staff and parents who volunteered their time, made baked goods and contributed to our raffles. I would especially like to thank area businesses who generously donated items for use at our Fun Fair and to our raffle: Center Street Cafe, Ewe Me & Co., Anne's Fabrics, Marquis Theatre, Northville Pharmacy, Genitti's, Grandma Betty's, Judy's Decorating Shoppe, Hairitage Center Salon, Northville Camera, Town and Country Cyclery, Black's Variety Store, Ruffles, Baskin Robbins, Subway, Country Critters, Trader Tom's, McDonald's (Haggerty and Eight Mile), O'Sheehan's, Embassy Suites, Highland Lakes Florist, Northville Video, First of America Bank, Hair Haus (Bill Swearingen and Judy Moore), A & P, Meljer, Leisure Time Pet Center, Little Caesars, Heavenly Bakery, Bargains 4 You, Shopping Center Markets, and Papa Romano's.

Our second business expo huge success

To the editor:

The Networking Northville Business Expo was a huge success. Over 60 businesses, 15 food establishments and 16 non-profit organizations enjoyed the opportunity to meet, discuss, share knowledge, showcase new products and gain new insights. The Northville Chamber of Commerce would like to thank the following food establishments for donating their culinary specialties: Ruffe's, Crawford's, Papa Ramano's Pizza, Edward's Caterer, Genitti's, Heavenly Bakery, Juan Carlos, Crawford's Bakery, Rose Cottage Tea Room, Little Italy, Subway of Northville, Good Time Party Store, Grandma Betty's, and McDonald's on Eight Mile.

Special thanks to Northville Public Schools for the use of the High School cafeteria. The added space enabled more businesses to participate and eliminated a long line. The chamber appreciates their constant generosity and cooperation. This show of support demonstrates the school system's dedication to Northville's economic future and to our community.

We look forward to Northville Expo '93.

Writer needs some more information

To the editor:

After reading Tim Richard's editorial of March 19, we at WTVS, Channel 56 are deeply concerned about the many inaccuracies contained in the article, as well as dismayed with his failure to at least call first and ask about our station and public television fundraising.

First, it is simply untrue that WTVS has "quadrupled" the amount of its on-air funding. For over 20 years, we have relied on three pledge drives per year and one annual auction to provide the majority of our operating budget. Occasionally, we add a few pledge days to meet budget shortfalls. In all, we fundraise fewer than 60 days per year, leaving over 300 days of programs without fundraising.

During our pledge drives, we do give examples of production costs of PBS programs. These are meant to illustrate the fact that television is an expensive business, and as one of over 330 public television stations, WTVS must pay its share to buy and broadcast these programs. While the cost of a very few programs are fully paid for by corporate underwriters, most are not. That's where WTVS, other stations, and the Corporation for Public Broadcasting pool their resources to bring these programs to the viewers.

Regarding corporate logos on public television, these short underwriting announcements are designed to identify the funder of a particular program. No call to action, pricing information or similar commercial language is allowed.

Mr. Richard is again wrong on the issue of government funding. We state very clearly on air that we do receive federal government funding. It is small but important "seed" money. In fact, for this fiscal year, federal funding accounts for a little over 9 percent of our annual budget. Our Michigan funding has recently been totally eliminated, making on-air appeals that much more important to us.

For Mr. Richard's enlightenment, the Corporation for Public Broadcasting (CPB) is a private organization responsible to Congress for the success of public broadcasting in America. Its primary job is to use the federal government contribution of less than $1 per person per year to fund national programs and foster the growth of public broadcasting.

Viewer contributions allow Channel 56 to serve southeast Michigan in a number of ways. Besides providing PBS programming and independent acquisitions, WTVS produces the weekly programs Detroit Black Journal and Club Connect, an award-winning series for teenagers that is distributed nationally to over 200 PBS stations. As part of its continuing commitment to young people, WTVS has developed ongoing community partnerships that report on education (Class of '95), the crisis among young people (City for Youth), and substance abuse prevention (Project Graduation). Channel 56 also continues to demonstrate the educational power of television through such activities as the College Cable Channel and delivering advanced high school courses, live and interactive, via satellite to over 20 area schools. We are also working to link community groups to address the needs of homeless persons.

Therefore, our on-air appeals are not "commercials." We are not in business to bring audiences to advertisers. We bring services to our community. Voluntary donations are the lifeblood of this TV station, as 64 percent of the $11-million WTVS annual budget comes from individual donors. On-air pledge drives are simply the most effective (and efficient) way to reach new donors. The fact is, less than 2 percent of our airtime is used for fundraising compared to 16 percent on commercial networks.

Regarding Mr. Richard's concern about picture quality and program pre-emptions, we can only say that the quality of photography and standards of excellence found in PBS programs are second to none. The picture quality an individual viewer receives may vary depending on terrain, whether the viewer is watching cable, and so on. WTVS airs all episodes of Mystery! that are provided to us by PBS, and throughout pledge drives and all year long we present programs that express the entire range of multicultural, social and political expressions that exist worldwide.

Lastly, we state very clearly on air that viewer contributions help pay for the programs aired on Channel 56. Those costs include all the expenses necessary to run a major market TV station: program broadcast rights, equipment, electricity, personnel and so much more. The proof of our responsible stewardship with these dollars is on the screen and in our many community development and education activities. That viewers respond to our pledge appeals and continue to give us their votes of confidence with their dollars, says that the people of southeast Michigan and Canada like what they see on Channel 56 and understand TV worth watching is TV worth paying for.

Public sector did not learn

To the editor:

Using the current example of our federal government as it works to self-serve the Congress, the bureaucracy, the lobbies, and the special interests, all at the expense of the working taxpayer, it is not difficult to understand the strategic plan of the Northville school system. The strategic plan starts with increased funding, followed by facility needs and less work for the school staff personnel. Only after the school system wants are addressed, does the strategic plan look to improvements of the job for which the system has been created. Nowhere is the welfare of the taxpayer considered. Public servants appear to think that the supply of tax money is unlimited and that only private sector taxpayers should reduce their living standards.

Over a decade ago, business, industry, labor organizations and private sector employees discovered a great need to change the way of doing business — the need to reduce costs and become more efficient to stay in business. The public sector has never recognized this lesson. Now is the time to share the poverty.

While we taxpayers have had our incomes limited, reduced or perhaps even terminated, the Northville school system has regularly given salary and benefit increases in excess of the inflation rate. New administrative positions have been created. Tax increases have always been the solution to money shortfalls. I grow tired of hearing that school employees do not work for Ford or General Motors. We should hear instead that those who pay the cost of the school system do, or did, work in industry.

The taxpayer has been had long enough. It is time for schools and the public sector to control costs and get the job done within the present, or lower income. Perhaps we need some workrule changes, elimination of salary and benefit increases, job responsibility, personnel reductions, and all of those things it takes to live within the present tax income level.

Recently, the news told a refreshing story about a school system that addressed the problem by eliminating administrative personnel by 25 percent. Perhaps this is what we need in Northville.

Our economy is sluggish because people have no confidence in the public sector ability to control costs and reduce taxes. It is time for the taxpayers to take control again and a NO vote on the Northville school tax increase is a good place to start.

Donald C. Young Jr.

Consider the vital facts

To the editor:

Before you cast your vote in the April 28 school millage election please consider the following points:

One, the millage increase of 2.78 mills will only maintain current programs and complete projects already in progress. The increase is not necessary because of fiscal mismanagement, but because of the loss of state funding. Tax base sharing plus the (possible) loss of FICA paid by the state since the 1950s has forced all school districts into financial crisis.

Two, the Northville School District has implemented cost-saving measures and continued to seek others. The district has, for example, consolidated building use, reduced heat and lighting costs, reduced medical and health insurance costs and sought cooperative purchase agreements with other districts, and has served notice to unions that future contracts will not be "business as usual."

Three, Northville School District administrators are inundated with the amount of legislation from the state that requires tremendous amounts of time to understand and implement. A sampling of recent legislation includes the mandated school improvement plans, annual reports, outcomes-based education, portfolios of students' work from fifth grade, changes in MEAP testing, and a required statewide test for graduation. In the last few weeks alone, the district has received notification of 11 new pieces of pending legislation, some contradictory to recently enacted bills. We are paying our administrators and teachers to enact legislation we had little say in and had dubious benefit to our children.

Education in Michigan is in turmoil. The problems of funding we are facing in Northville were caused by the state. I urge you to write your legislators about the impact of their actions on Northville Schools. I also urge to continue to support Northville Schools and the education of our children April 28.

Lynda Baca

Few questions on millage

To the editor:

It's interesting that in a tough recessionary period the Northville School Board would ask for a 12-percent millage increase to spend an additional $2.8 million. However, just a few questions.

Exactly what are we getting for our money? Seems to be very little "extra," just more cost for what we already have.

A Detroit News article of March 27 indicates Northville Schools spend more in administrative and other overhead costs than seven of 34 Wayne County School Districts. How much of that additional $2.8 million will fatten our administrative burden?

I believe there are significant needs within the schools, but we have some very highly paid personnel here. Aren't we paying them to control costs? Why are they unable to make the tough decisions? Are they content to just continually throw money at problems?

Before any additional money is spent, the School Board must lay out a plan that encompasses more than just one year. Please tell us where we're going so that we're not asked for millage increases year after year.

Mark J. Abbo

School costs keep going up

To the editor:

It should come as no surprise that the former Northville School Board President, Jim Petrie, still appears as a puppet to the administration. Last Wednesday, Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski appeared at a PTA meeting claiming the loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars in state aid as a reason for the proposed millage increase. In Thursday's Record, Jim Petrie's letter to the editor echoed the same claim.

The fact is, according to the Northville School Board's own budget, proposed expenditures have increased by $2.8 million. More than 75 percent of this increase is going to the costs of additional staff salaries and benefits.

The only change is revenues from the proposed millage increase. Don't buy the lie. Vote noon April 28.

Time to pay the piper

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

While your boyfriend may like your new nose or think liposuction made some great improvements to your derriere, this year the IRS won't recognize the difference.

Beginning in 1991, the cost of surgery for purely cosmetic reasons is no longer valid as a medical expense deduction.

For the majority of you who have already filed your return, that may or may not be news. But for the select few of you procrastinators who have put off the dirty deed, this is just a reminder April 15, the filing deadline for income tax returns, is just seven days away.

Area accountants say this year's fast-approaching deadline is no different from years past as last-minute filers inundate their offices with questions scrambling to fill out tax forms.

Scott Lowery, a Northville certified public accountant and tax consultant, said this year's rush is no different from previous years.

"We're here late — till 8 p.m. — Mondays through Thursdays and on Saturdays to help people with their tax questions," Lowery said.

Lowery and his partner Robert McDaniel said they both are putting in longer hours and working six days a week to accommodate their clients and answer tax questions. There is a glimmer of light this year, however, for people doing their own taxes. Fewer changes in this year's tax laws make filing returns easier than it was in 1991 when the federal government released a slew of sweeping tax changes.

"It's been an unexciting, uneventful year in taxes," Lowery said. "There have been very few changes to follow the big changes made in 1991."

Highlighting some of the minor changes do-it-yourselfers will find on 1991 returns are tax benefits for participants in Operation Desert Shield and Desert Storm, new tax rates, elimination of personal interest deductions, an increase in the standard deduction and a limit on itemized deductions.

TAX BENEFITS FOR WAR HEROES

The IRS has made some special provisions for men and women who served in the armed forces during Desert Shield and Desert Storm. Service men and women have several options available including an extension for tax payments for qualified taxpayers. Also, either all or a portion of wages earned by those who served in a combat zone may be exempt from taxation. For soldiers who died in the war, income tax liabilities may also be waived. And for all those babies born in 1991, including the Desert Storm baby boomers, the IRS is offering a child care credit.

TAX RATES

Three new tax rates — 15 percent, 28 percent, and 31 percent — correspond to adjusted gross income levels in each of the four designated filing statuses.

PERSONAL INTEREST

Interest on credit cards, car loans, and installment plans is no longer deductible, but homeowners may qualify for a home mortgage interest deduction.

STANDARD DEDUCTIONS VS. ITEMIZING

The amount of the increase in the 1991 standard deduction rate depends on the filing status. For 1991, the standard deduction for single people is $3,400, for married couples filing a joint return, $5,700; for married couples filing separate returns, $2,850, and for the head of household, $5,000. The standard deduction benefit is available to taxpayers whose standard deduction is more than the total of his or her allotted itemized deductions. In general, there is a higher standard deduction for taxpayers 65 and over and for those who are blind.

For those now able to take the standard deduction, take note. Beginning in 1991, the IRS has set a new limit on itemized deductions for married couples filing a joint return whose adjusted gross income exceeds $100,000. Included on the list of deductions that are affected by the limit are taxes, home mortgage interest, charitable contributions, moving expenses, unreimbursed employee expenses, and impairment-related work expenses among others. Medical and dental expenses, gambling losses and investment interest expenses, and nonbusiness casualty and theft losses are not affected by the change.

FILING FOR AN EXTENSION

For taxpayers who miss the April 15 deadline, the federal government provides a tax filing extension.

Contrary to what most people think, taxpayers who miss the filing deadline and file for an extension are still obligated to make tax payments. A common myth among taxpayers is that it is the tax payment that is extended rather than the filing of the form. But the reverse is true.

"We don't encourage extensions," Lowery said. "The reason being is that it is a com-

Have return must travel

Northville and Novi residents waiting to mail their tax returns just shy of the April 15 deadline will have to travel outside the local perimeters to beat the midnight clock.

Neither the Northville nor the Novi post offices will offer late night pick-up service for last-minute filers. However, postal workers at the Ann Arbor, Dearborn, Livonia, Farmington, and Wayne post offices will be making rounds late next Wednesday collecting last-minute returns.

Taxpayers must get their returns in mail boxes before midnight to make the April 15 postmark and avoid late charges, postal workers said.

—SHARON CONDRON

mon misunderstood thing that it doesn't extend the day payment of taxes is due — they all have to be paid by April 15."

"All payments are due, it is just that the forms don't have to be filed by the deadline," he said. "Interest and the penalty clock starts ticking on the 16th."

To qualify for an automatic extension, which extends the filing date until August 15, taxpayers should complete Form 4868 and mail it with the estimated tax payment, according to the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

Extensions and returns filed April 15 without checks or money orders for the balance due will be subject to a late payment penalty of one half of 1 percent of tax not paid by the regular due date. A late filing penalty is charged if your return is filed beyond its due date. That penalty is usually 5 percent of the tax not paid by the regular due date for each month or part of a month that your return is late. The maximum penalty is 25 percent. If your return is more than 60 days late, the minimum penalty will be $100, or the balance of tax due on your return, whichever is smaller.

Lowery said he and his partner don't recommend extensions because people think they have extra time to make payments. However, once they realize the payment is due on the 15th and they figure a rough estimate of the balance, they might as well follow through.

"If you have to go that far you might as well go all the way and just file the return," he said.

SPENDING REFUNDS WISELY

While procrastinators will have to wait six to eight weeks to enjoy the fruits of their labor, early bird filers who may have already received their returns turn to guys like Lowery and others at the MACPA for tips on how to invest them.

SPENDING YOUR RETURN

Accountants and financial advisors agree that paying off outstanding, high interest loans is one good use for federal refund checks. Subscribing to the rule of keeping six months salary in savings, some investment experts encourage using refund checks to boost savings plans.

Clara Lutz

Lutz very active at Novi Senior Center

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

"I was lost — had nothing to do," said Clara Lutz after she moved to Novi from Detroit four years ago.

Then she walked into the Novi Senior Citizen Center and found not only friendly people but a volunteer opportunity she couldn't resist: helping provide the noon meals for seniors who come to the center and for those who are homebound in Novi and six other communities in western Oakland County.

The food is prepared, said Lutz, at Mercy Services for Aging in Farmington. The state subsidizes the program, and it is brought daily by van to the Novi Center.

The number of meals needed is reported a week ahead of time to Mercy Services, and the cost per person is a donation of $1.50 per meal if the person can afford it.

Upon arrival, the food for the homebound has to be packaged in individual hot and cold containers, and Lutz helps with that task.

Sister Camille, representative of Mercy Services, is in charge of the kitchen, but when she was out sick, Lutz said, "I took over, and now I can run the kitchen if I have to."

About delivery of the food for the homebound, Lutz said, "I organize the helpers," the four drivers, who because of geographical location of the homebound, do not all have the same number of stops. One driver has six and another, 22.

Also, Lutz's responsibility in the kitchen is keeping track of all the stock needed for serving meals. "I have a storage room at the center, and I keep a record of what we have."

It's a time-consuming job that, at five hours, five mornings a week, Lutz finds is more than she had at first realized she was getting into. But, Lutz said, "It satisfies me. I come content."

If you are at least 62 and want to volunteer somewhere in the Novi Senior Center, contact manager Jan McAlpine by phone at 347-0414, or in person.

Couple's marriage on right track for 50 years

On March 14, 1942, Helen and Roy Hronek of Northville were married in Covington, Ky. This year they celebrated their 50th anniversary by renewing their vows in a ceremony in Vero Beach, Fla., with their two daughters and five grandchildren. After Mass, the couple enjoyed a dinner cruise and a two-month vacation in Florida at their daughter's oceanside home.

"My kids went all out this year," Helen said. "They said, 'Mom, you only celebrate your 50th once; you might as well enjoy it,' so we did."

"We walked the beach every morning and I got a good tan, but I'm glad to be back in Michigan," she said.

The couple met in Detroit when Roy was working for the New York Central Railroad and Helen was just visiting the Motor City for the weekend. Fate brought their tracks together, but, Helen said, love has kept them happy over the years.

"I can't say we didn't fight because we have over the years. But I'd do it all again," she said.

The couple, who are residents of King's Mill, said an active life at 79 is what keeps their love and relationship alive.

"We still play golf and bowl. We aren't just sitting on our fannies," she said.

Keeping focused on the relationship and working together is what kept the Hroneks together for 50 years, she said.

"It's a good thing I'm old. Because I listen to what young people complain about today and those are minor things to what we've seen together. Marriage is all give and take."

Mothers' Club Annual Dinner Dance

The Annual Dinner Dance sponsored by the Northville Mothers' Club is this Saturday, April 11, at the Walnut Creek Country Club. The annual event is also a fundraiser to benefit the students of Northville Public Schools.

Tickets are $64 per couple and a cash bar is available. For more information or to obtain tickets call Margie Stevert of the Mothers' Club at 349-8058.

Local artist narrates trip to France

Caroline Dunphy, a local artist and owner of the Painter's Place Gallery, will be the featured speaker for the Northville Friends of the Arts meeting April 14.

Dunphy will give a slide show and lecture, and display examples of paintings she did while visiting Claude Monet's Garden in Giverny, France. The lecture will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Northville Senior Citizens Center, 215 W. Cady. The lecture is open to the public. For more information, call J. Allingham at 344-9397.

Magic by "Ming"

Take an enchanted journey to visit the mysteries of the Orient with magician Ming the Magnificent and Company on Saturday, April 25, at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. at the Detroit Public Library.

Northville resident Barbara Louie will be assisting Ming the Magnificent in the magic show that is filled with wonders from the Far East. Featured illusions will be the Incredible Floating Stick, the Indian Broom Suspension, the tortuous Chinese Head Twister and more.

Helen and Roy Hronek

This free program, open to magic fans of all ages, will be held in the Friends Auditorium of the Detroit Public Library, 5201 Woodward, Detroit. For more information call the library at 833-4029.

"A Carousel of Fashions"

The Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church is sponsoring "A Carousel of Fashions," a spring fashion show at 12:30 p.m. on May 13 at the church, 200 E. Main in Northville. Proceeds from the show will benefit the association's missions.

Fashions by Talbot's will be featured in the show along with raffles, door prizes, and refreshments. Tickets are $6 and are available at the church office. For more information call the church office at 349-0911.

Marchin' On

Crowds braved chilly temperatures Friday to march in the "Month of the Young Child," a second annual tradition that recognizes young children and their needs in today's world. This year's event kicked off with kids parading through downtown, sporting hand-made T-shirts and sweat-shirts, last Friday. The procession culminated at the bandshell (bottom photo) where crowds were entertained by original songs performed by local musician Ann Shaheen. Designated as the Month of the Young Child, April is chock full of events planned to celebrate the event.

Church Briefs

AMAZIN' GRACE: First United Methodist Church of Northville presents "Amazin' Grace," a musical touring group featuring the talents of 75 youths, on Palm Sunday, April 12 at both the 9:15 a.m. and 11 a.m. services.

The musical incorporates traditional and contemporary sacred-theme music. The show utilizes song, dance, and narration with instrumentation including synthesizers, piano, electric guitar and percussion instruments.

The musical group will take its message to congregations in Birmingham, Livonia and Ohio. An encore performance will be offered at the Northville Methodist Church on Mother's Day, May 10, at 6 p.m.

WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN FORUM: The Women's Christian Forum at the First Presbyterian Church will meet to discuss opposing points of view on the abortion issue, April 13 at 7:30 p.m. Featured guest speakers will be Helen Howe, the former organizer and director of The Michigan Religious Coalition for Abortion Rights and Lynn Mills, a pro-life activist and spokeswoman for Operation Rescue.

The Forum meets at 7 p.m. for refreshments and conversation, the program starts at 7:30 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, 200 E. Main St.

RAPE: A PROGRAM ON AWARENESS AND PREVENTION: Date rape is drawing a lot of attention and it should. On Wednesday, April 15, Single Place Ministries will host Lisa Hale, a police officer with a 16-year veteran career in a suburban police department, will offer insights on the violent crime of rape and provide information to help change society's attitudes about this crime. You can call Single Place Ministries, at 349-0911 for more information.

FINANCES AND THE DIVORCED, WIDOWED: Single Place Ministries invites you to attend the April 15 seminar entitled "Financial Aspects of Divorce and Widowed," with guest speaker David Jerome. The seminar will cover the financial issue pertaining to this select audience from 7 until 9:30 p.m. A donation of $4 is requested. For more information call the church office at 349-0911.

RUMMAGE SALE: The First Presbyterian Church will be hosting a rummage and bake sale Thursday, April 30 from 9:30 a.m. until 7 p.m. at the church.

STORIES WANTED: Does your church have upcoming events you want published? If so, call Sharon Condon at 349-1700.

Weddings

Nancy Jean Weidner/ John S. McCarthy

Nancy Jean Weidner of Orlando, Fla., formerly of Northville, and John Stephen McCarthy of Orlando were married Saturday, Feb. 8 at 4 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Margaret Weidner-Pilling and the late Charles Pilling of Northville. The groom's parents are John and Theresa McCarthy of Orlando.

They celebrated their double-ring ceremony, officiated by Robert Ledbetter, at Park Lake Presbyterian Church in downtown Orlando. The bride was escorted down the aisle by her brother, Jim Weidner of Raleigh, N.C. She was met at the altar by Bill Weidner of Atlantic City, New Jersey and Tom Weidner of Hampton, Va., where she was given away by all three of her brothers and her mother.

The bride's white satin gown with lace had iridescent sequins covering the fitted bodice. The deep V-necked back and six-foot train was edged with rose lace trim.

Longtime friend of the bride Lori Falk-Skover, of Goodalls, Mich., was matron of honor. The two met at Michigan State University. Bridesmaid was Kimberlee Weidner, niece of the bride, of Atlantic City, N.J., and a freshman at Barnard College in New York.

They wore dusty rose double-breasted full-length fitted suits with

V-necks and white lace trim. Each carried a bouquet of roses with pink ribbon and streamers.

John P. McCarthy, father of the groom, was the best man. Dave Printzenhoff, brother-in-law of the groom, of Smithtown, New York; and Frank Sirker, nephew of the groom, of Davie, Fla., were ushers. Four-year-old Alexander Weidner, the bride's nephew, of Atlantic City, was ringbearer.

A reception for 100 guests was held at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel in Orlando. Special guests from the Northville area included Frank Pauli, John Miller, Jeanne Frogner, Jean Blakely of Redford, Dutch and Merle Atchinson of Ypsilanti, former Northville resident Milo Hunt, Kristin and Marc Madden of Livonia, and Carl and Marian Falk of Marysville.

The couple honeymooned in Maho Bay in St. Maarten, before making their home in Orlando.

The bride is a 1973 graduate of Northville High School. She is currently a CPA, employed by Harcourt, Brace, Jovanovich Publishers as an accounting supervisor in Orlando.

The groom, a 1973 graduate of Smithtown High School of Smithtown, New York is currently a Division Operations Service Manager for K.F.C. in Orlando.

Jean Elizabeth Daly/ Jeffery Ernest Benefiel

Jean Elizabeth Daly of Novi, daughter of John and Cynthia Daly of Washington, Mich., was married to Jeffery Ernest Benefiel of Novi, formerly of Northville, son of James and Karen Benefiel of Northville. Rebecca Sherwood, associate pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Farmington, officiated the ceremony.

The bride wore an off-the-shoulder Bianchi wedding gown of white satin. The long sleeves and bodice were detailed in pearls and sequins. Her full flowing satin skirt with a cathedral train trimmed in pearls was removable, revealing a knee length sheath with hanging chandelier pearls detailing the hemline. The headpiece was a satin layered bow accented with pearls and sequins with double veiling in waltz and cathedral lengths.

Vicki King of Belleville was maid of honor with bridesmaids Patricia Daly of Washington, sister of the bride; and Elizabeth Harris of Kalamazoo. Jennifer Benefiel, niece of the groom, of Lewisville, N.C., was the flower girl.

Attendants wore tea-length dresses which had a black velvet bodice with a dropped waistline accented in the back with a dramatic V of white satin detailed with a bow. The full skirt of the dress was white tulle over satin. They carried bouquets of pink carneations accented with stephanotis and heather. Jennifer Benefiel of Lewisville, N.C., was the flower girl.

David Clark of Ypsilanti was the best man. Groomsmen were Steve Benefiel of Lewisville, N.C., brother of the groom; and John Klokenga of Northville. Ushers were Brian Goehmann of Livonia and Patrick Nelson of Northville.

The bride's mother wore a light rose shantung street-length dress with a matching jacket accented with bugle beads at the waistline closure at the cuffs. She also wore an orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore an emerald green two-piece street length dress accented with rhinestone buttons. She wore an orchid wrist corsage.

The reception for 100 guests was held at Country Epicure of Novi.

The couple spent their honeymoon in Jackson Hole, Wyo., skiing.

The bride graduated from Romeo High School in 1986 and Michigan State University in 1990.

The groom graduated from Northville High School in 1984 and Michigan Technological University in 1989.

Licht's Looks

"That's like a forced savings account. We don't encourage that because you end up using the government as a bank that doesn't pay interest," Lowery said.

Other practical uses for refund checks include depositing them into IRA accounts, stepping up 401(k) plans, saving for children's education, and making tax-free investments.

Over the years, Lowery said he has heard of a variety of uses for refund checks.

"Some make large furniture purchases, others take vacations. Paying property tax bills in the summer is also a popular use for the money, but I say pay off debts and credit cards," he said.

Store offers shows for children

Two theatrical productions will highlight activities for children during April at Borders Book Shop in the Novi Town Center.

The professional children's theatre group Paper Bag Productions will give a preview performance of the play "Enchanted Afternoon," and the Michigan Opera Theatre will present "Cheering Up a Princess." Pre-registration can be handled in person or by telephone.

Paper Bag Productions is a troupe of child actors who perform "lunch-theater" for children at The Players Club in Detroit. "Enchanted Afternoon" has an environmental message; most of its characters are exotic or endangered animals who confront a young hunter. The book and lyrics were written by Mary Orr, whose "Wisdom of Eve" was adapted into the Broadway musical "Appaloosa" and the 1950 movie "All About Eve." The 20-minute production will take place at Borders on Saturday, April 11 at 1 p.m. only.

The Michigan Opera Theatre, which last year wowed the crowd at Borders with "Little Red Riding Hood," this year presents "Cheering

Up a Princess." Saturday, April 18, at 11 a.m. In this musical fairy tale by Richard Berent and Douglas Braverman, several colorful characters try to cheer up a bored princess and discover a world of excitement in the library.

Borders Book Shop is located in the Novi Town Center, off Novi Road, just south of I-96.

Local insurance agent part of guitar concert

Fans of new age, jazz, and ragtime guitar won't want to miss a concert by two local masters of fingerpicking guitar, Butch Young and Dan Kuczek, on Friday, April 10, in Ann Arbor.

A phenomenal picker of ragtime and country blues, Butch Young's first album, "Hobos, Bums, and Butch" is due to be released in May by Precious Artists Music of Keego Harbor.

From his days as a music composition major at Dartmouth College, Young brings the speed, precision and technique of classical guitar playing to traditional and original melodies. He also sings and writes songs with a country music flavor. He's been playing guitar for 31 years, and teaches advanced guitar students at the Giffidder music store in Northville and Pontiac Music and Sound. Sharing the billing will be Northville insurance agent, guitarist, and banjo player Dan Kuczek. He will play original compositions and selections from a cross-section of new age acoustic jazz guitarists such as Leo Kottke, Pat Metheny and Michael Hedges. He will also perform a few bluegrass numbers on the five-string banjo.

The pair will perform solo and together in a concert at Gretchen's Daycare House III at 1745 Stadium Blvd. in Ann Arbor starting at 8 p.m. Tickets are $5 and available at the door only. For more information, call 677-6249 or 769-1052.

The concert is sponsored by the Ann Arbor Council for Traditional Music and Dance (AACTMAD), a non-profit group devoted to the preservation and promotion of folk and traditional music. It is part of the Peter Mattis Memorial Foundation.

Q&A

By WILLIAM T. TOMICKI
New York Times Travel Syndicate

Q: Where can we go to see a great fireworks display?

A: You might want to visit Toronto for this year's Symphony of Fire, a massive offshore musical fireworks display.

Some 1.3 million people are expected to flock to the shore to see the fireworks set off from massive barges near Toronto's Ontario Place. Each display is considered a work of art with innovative fireworks synchronized to music that ranges from opera to rock.

The action begins at 10 p.m. on July 1, July 4, July 8 and July 11 — but visitors who want seats are encouraged to arrive by late afternoon.

Admission is $10; $5 for seniors. For further information call Ontario Place at (416) 965-7711. Information is also available from your local travel agent.

Q: Do you know of any museums with collections that include authentic American Indian pottery?

A: Try Broken Bow, Okla., where the Memorial Indian Museum (402 E. Second and Allen St.) displays Indian artifacts from prehistoric to modern times. The collection includes a large array of pottery, modern Indian paintings, ceramics and glass objects — even a fossil display.

Broken Bow is also home to Beavers Bend State Park: a 3,522-acre mountainous area with swimming, boating, nature trails and cabins.

For further information about the park, call (405) 494-6300. For further information about the museum call (405) 584-6531. Information is also available from your local travel agent.

Q: We would like to take a photo safari to India. Can you recommend one?

A: India is host to many of the world's most exotic wild animals, among them tigers, bears, elephants, deer and various species of birds, reptiles and fish.

One of the world's premier wildlife parks, the Corbett National Park and Tiger Reserve, is about 200 miles north of New Delhi in the northern Indian state of Uttar Pradesh.

Nature lovers can photograph the animals and rent reasonably-priced jungle resort cottages at the nearby Quality Inn/Corbett Jungle Resort.

Each of the resort's cottages has an appropriate name such as Leopard's Lair and Tiger's Den. For further information call the central desk for Choice Hotels at (800) 4-CHOICE. Information is also available from your local travel agent.

Q: Is there a restaurant in Los Angeles that features Sicilian cooking?

A: Drago (rhymes with Spago) is a popular restaurant in Los Angeles where chef-owner Celeste Drago features Sicilian cuisine.

The home cooking includes spaghetti al cartoccio (with seafood, curry and a white-wine sauce), pumpkin-filled spinach tortellini, pasta with fresh sardines, eggplant soufflé and tuna and cannellini bean salad.

The cellar has a fine selection of Sicilian wines, while the desserts are passion-fruit creme brûlée or cannoli.

For further information contact Drago at 2628 Wilshire Blvd., Santa Monica, Calif., or call (213) 828-1585. Information is also available from your local travel agent.

Readers are invited to submit questions to William Tomicki, P.O. Box 5148, Santa Barbara, Calif. 93150. Although he cannot answer each query individually, selected questions will be included in his column. Mr. Tomicki, who logs over 150,000 miles each year, is the publisher of ENTREE, a noted travel newsletter.

Treasure hunting in the library

New York Public Library markets treasures in new gift shop

By EVERETT POTTER
New York Times Travel Syndicate

The New York Public Library has been a focal point for residents and tourists since it opened on May 24, 1911.

The Beaux Arts building at the corner of Fifth Avenue and 42nd Street — officially known as the Central Research Library — is home to one of the world's great research libraries.

It includes some 37.5 million books, manuscripts, periodicals, prints, photographs, musical scores and other materials.

Other New York institutions, such as the Metropolitan Museum of Art, have housed shops offering reproductions of works in their collections for more than 100 years.

But it was just five years ago that the New York Public Library Shop opened.

Currently, the store is under the supervision of Allie Middleton Thieringer, the library's coordinator for retail and product development.

"We have really just begun to cull the collections of the library," says Thieringer. We have all of these treasures at our disposal and we've had to educate our staff to be more visually aware, to bring things to our attention."

The shop is located on the library's ground floor, in an elegant space that was just expanded last year. For Thieringer, who formerly worked with the South Street Seaport Museum in New York, choosing items for the shop is a labor of love.

"Our audience is made up of word people," she says with pride. "This institution is home to these people."

There are books, posters, prints, toys and postcards, most but not all designed from items in the library collections. Other items are reproduced from major museums around the world or from traveling exhibitions.

We have to justify our sales via a story or provenance connected to an item," Thieringer says. A good example is one of the shop's best sellers, a set of six coasters, each one illustrated with a portrait of an early 20th-century baseball player.

"This was taken from a Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition called 'Diamonds are Forever,'" Thieringer says.

The portraits, which include Honus Wagner, are copies of early trade cards, a forerunner of baseball cards. The originals are in a scrapbook which has some of the rarest baseball cards known to exist. That scrapbook was bequeathed to the library."

The set of cork-backed coasters is $16.50. A tray decorated with all the cards' images is $28.50; mugs with individual players' pictures are $12.50.

Children are well-served by such novelties as metal biscuit tins illustrated with scenes from Lewis Carroll's beloved tale "Alice in Wonderland." A square tin with a handle is $17.50; a round tin is $15. An "Alice" doll with bright yellow curls is $17.95. An "Alice" china tea set consisting of cup, bowl and plate is $60. A china picture frame decorated with images of Alice and the White Rabbit is $45.

For older Carroll fans, a pewter "White Rabbit" pin, decorated with red glass hearts and finished in gold electroplate, is $42. And a hand-crafted White Rabbit jack-in-the-box is $75.

Not surprisingly, the shop also displays a fine selection of books.

They range from "Literary Neighborhoods of New York" by Martin Leisner (Starrhill Press, 1989) for $8.95 to the lavishly illustrated "Classic Menu Design from the Collection of the New York Public Library" by Reynaldo Alejandro (PBC International, 1988) for $60.

Those who work with words may enjoy "The New York Public Library Desk Reference: A One-Volume Collection of the Most Frequently Sought-Information" (Webster's New World, 1989) for $34.95.

Then there's "The Book of Answers: The New York Public Library's Telephone Reference Service's Most Unusual and Entertaining Questions," by Barbara Berliner (Prentice-Hall, 1990, $9.95).

This is the sourcebook for anyone who doesn't know the answer to such curious questions as: "Which two points in the continental United States are farthest apart?" (Answer: Cape Flattery, Wash., and "a point on the Florida coast south of Miami." They are 2,835 miles apart.)

There is also an extensive collection of jewelry at the shop, mostly gold-plated with a pewter base. Among them are some attractive pre-Columbian copies.

Library tote bags are priced at $10, $12 and $17.50. A pair of marble bookends modeled on the two lions, "Patience" and "Fortitude," which guard the library's main entrance is $98. A selection of postcards based on book illustrations in the library's collection is $5.95 for 25 cards.

Other popular items include brass clip-on bookmarks shaped like ballerina Anna Pavlova's dancing shoes for $6.95 and posters from library exhibitions priced at $1 and up.

For further information contact the New York Public Library Shop, Fifth Avenue and 42nd Street, New York, N.Y. 10019 or call (212) 930-0641.

Cayo Costa: An unspoiled isle off Florida coast

By BETH GREENBERG
New York Times Travel Syndicate

There is an island off western Florida where gopher tortoises slug through cabbage palms and ibises skitter along the shoreline, where there are no cars, no paved roads and no hotels, and manatees sometimes poke their noses up through aqua waters full of tarpon, snook and other game fish.

Cayo Costa, 9 miles long and a mile across, is one of Florida's west coast barrier islands. It also seems to be one of the few places in southwestern Florida that is not for sale or under development.

One side of the island is open to the Gulf of Mexico, with long, uninterrupted stretches of beach, and the other faces Pine Island Sound, its edges fringed with mangroves.

The Florida Department of Natural Resources owns and administers the majority of Cayo Costa and the only accommodations are a dozen rustic cabins and several tenting sites in a shaded glen, 10 feet from the Gulf.

The only way to reach Cayo Costa is by boat. We took the Tropic Star, one of several privately owned ferries that carry visitors to the island, often as part of a day tour.

The 42-foot-long fiberglass boat, painted a seafoam green and decorated with red ribbon garlands for Christmas, left at 9:45 a.m. and within moments of leaving the marina we entered a dramatic yet quiet world of small lush islands.

Tropic Star's Capt. Val King and his wife Carol are both well versed in area lore and wildlife. They offered binoculars and pointed out nesting osprey, red-beaked ibis feeding on sandbars, brown pelicans preening in mangroves and wide-winged rare white pelicans flying above the trees.

As we cruised along, Capt. Val, as we called him, spoke of the legends and history of the region. Calusa Indians inhabited the barrier islands for more than 4,000 years before being wiped out by the Spaniards' smallpox.

Ponce de Leon died of an infection after he was wounded by a Calusa spear. The pirates Bru Baker and Jose Gaspar both had forts in the area and Al Capone kept an island home.

After a scenic and fascinating one and a half hours we reached Cayo Costa's dock in Flamingo Bay. The sun warmed our backs as we carried our camping supplies (for three nights and four days) to the end of the pilings near the park rangers' compound.

There are always three rangers in residence and they accept payment for camping and for overnight boat slips where sailors may stay while visiting the island. They also sell park souvenirs, such as Florida State Park sweatshirts and calendars, and are willing to answer any questions.

The park tram, a jeep pulling wheeled platforms with bench seats for 30, took day visitors across the width of the island to the gulf beach and returned for us.

The 12 cabins are in two staggered rows so each one has a view of the Gulf and the camping area is shaded by elegant Australian pines.

The cabins are approximately 12 feet by 14 feet, with six single-mattress bunks, a picnic table, large shuttered screened windows, shelves, a trash can with liners (picked up twice daily), a key lock and a smoke alarm. A sentimental ex-Boy Scout compared them to the camps of his youth.

The cabins were fine for two, yet our neighbors, a family with two adults and five children ages 4 to 13, made them seem almost spacious. None have a kitchen, but beside each cabin and tenting area are a picnic table (more often used to display shells) and a raised charcoal grill.

Communal "fire circles" are surrounded by benches where campers can talk and roast marshmallows at night. The two public bathrooms are cleaned twice daily and house a total of five flush toilets, two cold-water outdoor showers and a large outside sink.

Three new, larger, cold-water bathrooms are under construction. Though we expected the showers to be torture, one of the stalls faced south and the sun kept us comfortable while we washed.

By noon we had unpacked and set out for the beach. Within 15 minutes of walking we were alone, surrounded by sand and water. Day guests leave at 2:45 p.m., so they stay close to the camp area.

The only other evidence of people were fishing boats, skirting the shore at dawn but farther out to sea for the remainder of the day. We sunbathed near a protected manatee area where the shoreline was speckled with pink cockle shells.

We spent our days walking the five miles of maintained trails, some leading inland, others skirting the coast, or sunning at the island's southern end where the beach is wide and expansive.

Tall great blue herons, with footprints as long as ours, allowed us to pass within inches of them. Pelicans flew so close overhead we heard the flapping of their wings. In summer, loggerhead turtles lay their eggs on the beach.

In the early evenings, as the sun was setting, dinners were prepared on grills and portable stoves. Most of the campers brought coolers. Val will deliver ice when requested. We did not — surviving very well on pasta, rice and other dry foods as well as fresh fruit and vegetables.

Every night, except for our last, which was too windy, we sat around the fire circle with our neighbors, watching their kids trail red ember-ended sticks through the dark air.

The days went quickly. We gathered shells, read, watched the birds fly and the mullets jump in the surf. Day guests often rented bicycles, but we had the time to walk.

Geographically, the island has much diversity. We found ourselves in shaded palm groves, among snaky mangroves clutching the island's sandy edges, in areas that resembled a desert landscape, with low dunes and scrub vegetation, and in spots where heavier, leafy trees grew.

On our last day we left on the Tropic Star at 11 a.m., when day guests and new campers were dropped off. We took the boat to Cabbage Key, a small privately owned island with a restaurant, bar and inn. This is part of Tropic Star's daily itinerary and is paid for in the round-trip fare.

The boat ride was breezy and after a half-hour ride we docked below the restaurant. The dining area was dark and the seafood only passable. But the cruise was pleasurable and the island handsomely landscaped with coconut palms and lime trees. After lunch we returned to Cayo Costa to pick up day guests and campers and headed back to the mainland.

SUPPLIES

Camping at Cayo Costa is a combination of a beach vacation and a wilderness holiday, so pack appropriately. Except for the cabins, bathrooms and grills, it is the same as camping anywhere.

You still need flashlights, lanterns, liners, sleeping bags or blankets, bug spray, matches or lighters, warm clothes for nights, food and cooking supplies, reusable or disposable utensils and dishware and dish soap.

A portable stove is a good idea. A length of rope works well as a clothesline.

Netters slam Western, place fourth at tourney

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Sports Writer

The Mustang tennis team started its '92 campaign with a bang last week by dismantling Walled Lake Western 7-0.

The Friday match was also the Mustangs' first Western Lakes Activities Association meet as well. Coach Dick Norton said he didn't expect a close match from the Warriors.

"I knew they wouldn't be too tough," he said.

The Western match gave the coach an opportunity to experiment with his lineup. Norton said he substituted his nos. 2 and 3 doubles teams, for example.

The result was overwhelming. Northville only dropped eight games in the seven matches.

Mark Schwagle started singles action by gaining a sweep for Northville. He routed Western's Dan Milinko by identical scores of 6-0.

Brother Matt, playing number two singles, followed suit with a sweep of Jay Schoebercher, 6-0, 6-0. The Mustangs' Brad Smith won by scores of 6-1 and 6-0.

Senior Britt Davis concluded a Northville singles sweep. He whipped Walled Lake's Tony DeDos 6-1, 6-0. The doubles squads were nearly as successful.

Seniors Jeff Ozanich and Eric

"I felt we could have finished third. We were in the hunt all the way."

DICK NORTON
Tennis Coach

Black beat the Warriors' Ben Kim and Chris Vavra in straight sets 6-4, 6-0.

Freshmen Eric Allenspach and Scott Anderson also won in straight sets. The Mustangs posted scores of 6-0, 6-2.

Northville's Dave Spies and Jeff Woolfall completed the skunking with two 6-0 wins.

WARREN TOURNA-
MENT: Northville got little time to rest after the Walled Lake match as they played Saturday in the eight-team tourney. Top competition was provided with schools like Grosse Pointe North, Bloomfield Hills Andover and Fraser.

The Mustangs managed a fourth-place showing.

"I felt we could have finished third," Norton said. "We were in the hunt all the way."

Mark Schwagle, who will likely be the no.-2-rated singles player in the state, easily beat Fraser's Eric Kolke 6-1, 6-0. He won his second match 6-1, 6-4 and blanked Warren Mott's Dave Gennaro in the finals by scores of 6-0.

Number two singles player Matt Schwagle also did well. After falling in his opening match, the younger Schwagle came back to capture the consolation finals over Fraser's Marius Ursescu 6-0, 6-3.

Smith beat his first opponent.

Josh Carlson of Almont, 6-0, 6-1. He was dropped from the tournament in the second round, however.

Davis captured the No. 4 singles title. He beat Rochester's Smar Kharwala 6-4, 6-2.

In doubles action, the top team of Ozanich and Black were bounced from the tournament after falling twice. Bryan Russel and Ryan Moak fared somewhat better by beating Mott's Tim Bullis and Jason Kelly 6-4, 6-3, but were eliminated in the next round.

The team of Shaun Linderman and Jason Brown, a senior and junior respectively, lost in twice in three games each time.

Kickers strangle Wildcats, split pair in WLAA play

By SCOTT DANIEL

The Mustang soccer team capped a strong week with a 3-0 triumph over Baseline rival Novi Saturday.

Northville was coming off a win over Walled Lake Western and a tie with Livonia Churchill earlier in the week. The Mustangs' record stands at 2-1-1.

According to coach Bob Paul, the Mustangs' win over the Wildcats could have been by a wider margin. Northville outshot Novi 21-4 in the contest.

"We just weren't finishing," Paul said. "They were not as pumped up as they should have been. I was hoping we would come out with more of a bang."

The first half of the contest was a physical one. Novi in particular, Paul said, came out and played physically and aggressively.

Despite that, the Mustangs scored at the five-minute mark. Renee Androsian got the tally with an assist from Sue Morton.

The teams then battled, mostly around midfield, until about the 20-minute mark. Novi goalkeeper Dianne Bassett and a 'Cat defender went for a ball coming across the goal and missed. Northville's Val Schuerman was there to take advantage of the mistake and collect the goal.

Freshman Emily Lawrence finished the scoring with 34 minutes gone by. Karen Saydak drew the assist.

Goalkeeper Jessica Jones recorded her second straight shutout.

Paul said the Mustangs had more opportunities to score in the second half, but couldn't cash in. Overall, the coach commented that he was happier with Northville's second half performance.

"I felt more comfortable with the second half," Paul said.

NORTHVILLE 8, WESTERN

0: After facing top-caliber opponents Troy Athens and Livonia Churchill, the Mustangs squared off against a somewhat weaker Warrior club April 1.

Paul said it was a good game for Northville nonetheless.

"It was a strong game for us," he said. "The girls were prepared. They were really motivated to play the rest of the schedule."

With the game well in hand, Paul commented that he was able to shift his lineup around a bit. The Mustangs, he said, were also able to work on strategies and formations that they normally wouldn't have tried against stronger competition.

"The whole team got playing time," Paul said. "It's important to have those types of games to get use to each other as a team."

Northville divided its scoring evenly in the two halves.

Senior Cindy Tolsted, Schuerman, Morton and Jane Luterek scored in the first half. Saydak, Katie Kohl, Lawrence and Androsian tallied in the last 40 minutes.

NORTHVILLE 1, CHURCHILL

1: It was an impressive showing for the young Mustangs on March 30 against what could be one of the state's best.

"We really didn't know how to judge ourself coming into the game," Paul said. "It wasn't our best game, but we are getting there."

The game's only scores came within eight minutes of each other in the first half.

Churchill struck first with 27 minutes gone by. Minutes later, Senior halfback Laura Whiteley nailed a 25-yard kick to beat the Chargers goalkeeper and knot the game at one.

Both teams had their chances in the second half.

Northville's best chance came with about 10 minutes gone by. Wendy Carroll just missed a pass from Schuerman about a yard away from the net, Paul said.

The coach said he was happy with the effort. Paul added that the tie will place more emphasis on Northville's May 4 matchup with Canton.

Tracksters run past Marion

By SCOTT DANIEL

Despite numbing weather, the Mustang girls track team opened its 1992 season last week — with mixed results.

Northville won its first meet of the campaign by edging Marion 68-60 on March 31. But the Mustangs fell victim to the weather and Farmington Thursday by losing 80-48.

Temperatures were in the 30s Thursday, according to coach Ann Turnbull. She said the cold weather affected her team, especially the distance runners.

"The times got slower and slower as the day went on," she said. "Stopping and starting were impossible."

Northville did manage a number of good showings against Farmington.

Julie Buser and Lisa Almone tied for first in the high jump. The senior duo cleared 4'8".

In the 100-meter high hurdles, Sara Kolb took second with a time of 19.5. Melanie Helmer was third in 20.9. Angie Tune was third in 300 hurdles in 56.5.

Senior Mari Kissenger placed second in the shot put with a throw of 28'6". Michelle Fetterman placed third in the discus with a throw of 60'4".

Northville took first and second in the long jump. Wendy Forster took top honors with a leap of 14'4" while Tune was second with 13'11".

Mustangs look for repeat of first-year success

Opening acts are sometimes are hard to follow.

And the Northville girls golf team provided quite a start to the school's program in 1991. Not only did the Mustangs finish second in the Western Lakes Activities Association, but they made it all the way to the state finals and were among the highest-ranked teams in Class A.

Coach Trish Waldecker isn't worried about repeating that success, however. She said it's more important for her Mustangs, which will have almost all of their golfers back from last season, to have fun.

"We are just going to go out and play golf," Waldecker said. "Whatever happens, happens."

Northville opens its season Monday at home against Walled Lake Western. For the second straight year, the Mustangs will play at Tanglewood in South Lyon.

Only eight schools in the WLAA field teams. Northville's 6-1 mark placed it behind only Canton in the conference.

The Mustangs had been limited to indoor practice until this week. Waldecker said her team is more than ready to go.

"I think they have the (golf) bug," she said. "They really want to go at it."

Three members from last year's squad won't be around to tee it up Monday.

Kristen Woodsum, who is now playing for the University of Michigan; Shannon Price; and Courtney Casterline all graduated last spring. Waldecker said while that trio will be missed, she believes the Mustangs have the players to remain strong.

"We have a group of girls that are really dedicated," she said. "Their swings have improved since last year."

Northville will be led by a fine group of seniors and juniors.

Senior Kelli Woodsum will co-captain the squad along with junior Kelly Casterline.

"She's a strong player," Waldecker said of Casterline. "She played very well last year."

Katie Crawford and Stacey House are Northville's other seniors. Christine Arnold, Maria Candela and Becky Zeppa round out the list of juniors. All but Zeppa played on last year's team.

Meagan Bataran, Sara Hopkinson, Katie Kernohan and Jenny Woodside are the sophomores. Woodside is the only new Mustang.

A talented set of freshmen complete the team.

Lindsay Casterline, Jodi Fischer and Kyle Mills will push the upperclassmen for time on the links, Waldecker said.

The coach said she doesn't have a set lineup. Waldecker commented that the Mustangs playing the best will get the opportunities.

showings in sprinting events. She was second in the 100-meter dash with a time of 15.7 while she placed third in the 200 in 30.2.

The 800-meter relay team of Kissenger, Adrienne Browne, Trish Lukomski and Forster took first in 1:59.2.

Laura Brown was second in the 1,600-meter in 6:34.60. Michelle Splan, a sophomore, was second in the 3,200 in 14:56. Roopal Vashi was third in 14:57.

In the 400-meter dash, Kissenger was the Mustangs' top finisher, second, in 1:09. Kristi Brown was third in 1:12.9.

Marcy Bolger came in second in the 800 with a time of 2:58.80.

NORTHVILLE 88, MARION 60: The Mustangs fared a bit better against the Eagles.

Turnbull said she was impressed with her team in its first meet. She added that the weather was a little warmer than the Farmington meet, but rainy.

Buser and Almone combined for one-two finishes in the high jump. Both cleared 4'8", but Buser was the winner because she had fewer misses.

In the long jump, Tune took third with a leap of 14'4".

Kolb was a second-place shower in the 100 hurdles with a time of 19.5. Tune was second in the 300 hurdles in 58.0.

Forster started her season off impressively in the 100-meter dash. She won the event in 13.5.

The 800 relay team of Forster, Browne, Kissinger and Lukomski was also first in 1:59.90.

Northville won both the shot put and discus.

Kissenger was tops in the shot with a throw of 29' while teammate Neeta Saran placed second with 24'9 1/2". Fetterman was the winner of the discus with a good toss of 71 feet. Saran was third with 65'8".

The Mustangs continued their first-place showings in the 400 relay with a time of 57.5. Forster, Brown, Kissenger and Lukomski were on that team.

The relay's sister event, the 400-meter dash, was won by Buser in 1:10.6. Browne was second in 1:13.1 and Ellen Tomice was third 1:17.4.

In the 800-meter dash, Bolger placed second in 2:56.20. Lukomski was second in the 200-meter in 31.0 while Almone was third in 31.3. Splan placed second in the 3,200 with a time of 14:42.

The relay team of Buser, Browne, Tune and Kissenger was first in the 1,600.

MHSAA holds line on non-school competition

By SCOTT DANIEL and SUZANNE HOLLYER Staff Writers

The Michigan High School Athletic Association Friday rejected a proposal that could have limited non-school participation by Novi athletes.

The MHSAA's governing body, the representative council, voted not to adopt rules prohibiting students from representing non-school teams during the school year. A vote was originally scheduled for May, but was moved up to end controversy over the possible rule change.

"The idea was to relieve the anxiety and stress over the proposal," said Jerry Cvengros, an associate director for the MSHAA.

Current rules allow students to play in a sport for their school and an outside organization, such as the Amateur Athletic Union, as long as seasons don't coincide. That rule would have been changed to read as follows:

"Any student who participates on an interscholastic team for their school may not represent any other organization or compete in any outside competition in that sport during the school year, except that an individual may participate in a maximum of four individual sports meets or contests in that sport out of season during the school year. A student who violates this rule shall be ineligible for a minimum of the first three contests/days of competition and maximum of the entire next season in that sport."

The proposal was initiated by state school administrators. Its intent was to stop students from specializing in one sport and end coaches from pressuring them to do so.

A press release from the MHSAA said "the representative council concluded that it should avoid any proposals for rule changes that would impact the individual choices of students to participate as individuals outside the school season for a sport."

The MHSAA decision came as good news to Novi Athletic Director John Fundukian, who has voiced opposition in recent months. He said in January the new rule could have forced students to choose between playing for Novi or outside teams.

"It becomes a forced choice of sorts," Fundukian said. "I have trouble with legislating choices."

Novi Schools Board of Education agreed with the athletic director. In February, the board unanimously approved a motion urging the MHSAA to reject the proposal.

"Our feeling is those choices should be left to parents and students," Fundukian said.

Northville wins first meet against Farmington

By SCOTT DANIEL Staff Sports Writer

It may have been cold outside, but the Mustang boys track team was hot anyway as it burned Farmington 82-55 in its opening dual meet of the season Thursday.

Temperatures were hovering in the 30s for the meet, which was held at Northville. Coach Dennis Faletti said he was surprised at both teams' showings considering the conditions.

"We had some pretty good performances," he said. "(Farmington) had a good team. They were a little better than I anticipated."

The Mustangs cleaned up in the field events.

Long jumper Jamie Miller took first place. The senior jumped 20'4 1/2".

Northville placed third in the vault, and second in the high jump. Ray Duff cleared 9'6" in the vault while senior Chris Lehr managed a jump of better than 6'1".

John Gatti won both the discus and the shot put. The sophomore hurled the discus 136'11" while throwing the shot 44'1". Teammate Todd Osborn was second in the shot with a throw of 38'9".

Northville almost managed a sweep in the hurdles.

Brett Butz took first in the 110-meter high hurdles in 15.6 seconds. Osborne was third in 16.7.

Butz also took top honors in the 300 hurdles with a time of 44.1. Jason Cataldo was third in 46.7.

The Mustangs ran off a pair of wins in the first track events.

The 3,200-meter relay team of Jason Petrie, Bo Fowler, Todd Zayti and Kevin McGlinchey was first with a time of 9:01.40. The 100-meter dash was won by Brian Dugonski in 11.6 while Matt Hemp came in third in 11.8.

In the 1,600, Chris Harrison was second with a time of 5:11.50. Erik Goerke was third in 5:21.90.

The relay team Ryan Huzjak, Dugonski, Hemp and Miller won the 400 in 46.2.

Matt Hamistler placed second in the 800-meter run in 2:15.90. McGlinchey was third in 2:16.

Northville did sweep the 200-meter sprint. Dugonski was first in 24.1. Brandon Cuadra was next in 24.5 and Hemp was third in 25.0. Cuadra won the 400 with a time of 54.9. Emanuel Liben was third with a 57.5.

In the 3,200-meter run, Mark Ritter was second in 11:36. Jeff Zwisler was third in 11:39.

The final event of the day produced a Northville victory.

Sorensen makes new pitch on ESPN

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Sports Writer

The urge is still there. When winter chill yields to the spring sun, when the crack of the bat fills the air and players run on to the field for the first time, Larry Sorensen wishes he was still in the middle of it all.

For the better part of a decade, that's exactly where the local resident was—smack-dab in the heart of the diamond. In cities such as Milwaukee, St. Louis and Chicago, Sorensen served as a major leaguer pitcher.

Although he realized a dream, the Michigan native missed out on another. Sorensen, despite his best efforts, didn't play for Detroit.

"I wanted so bad to pitch for the Tigers," he said. "I wrote letters, I talked to the general manager. He said he liked the way I pitched, but I guess some other people in the organization didn't."

Sorensen finished his career, which turned out to be two months shy of 10 years, after the 1988 season. A self-confessed control pitcher, the 36-year-old posted a lifetime mark of 93-103 with a modest 4.12 earned run average.

After finishing with the San Francisco Giants, he and his family came to this area in September of 1988. Among the reasons they chose this area, Sorensen said, was Northville's school system and the area's tremendous growth rate.

"It has really grown a lot (since '88)," he said. "We really like it here."

After pitching with six different teams, Sorensen said he and his family, which includes wife Tricia, daughter Laura, 9, and son Mark, 6, were happy to put down some roots.

"It's as long as we've been in any one place," Larry explained.

The former right-hander began pitching in his hometown of Mt. Clemens for L'Anse Creuse High School. After graduating in 1973, he took his talents to the University of Michigan.

As a Wolverine, Sorensen competed in the Big 10 from 1973-76. The Milwaukee Brewers made him their eighth-round draft choice.

While most players serve a three or four-year apprenticeship in the minor leagues, Sorensen was pitching with the Brewers in less than a year.

"I signed June 12, 1976," the former big leaguer explained, "my first game was June 12, 1977. I got really lucky."

The next year, his first full season with Milwaukee, turned out to be his best. The city resident posted an 18-12 record with a workhorse total of 281 innings pitched.

His stay with the Brewers lasted through the 1980 campaign. The pitcher was part of a huge seven-player trade at the beginning of 1981 and wound up in St. Louis.

Cleveland, Oakland, Chicago all followed within five years.

Sorensen's final stop, ironically, came with San Francisco. Former Tiger pitching coach Roger Craig turned out to be Sorensen's last skipper in the majors.

By the end of that season, he said his baseball career was getting tougher and tougher on his family.

"The last two-and-a-half months of the '88 season," Sorensen said, "I saw my wife and kids for six days."

The culmination of his career didn't spell the end of his affiliation with the game.

For the past month, Sorensen has been working as a part-time instructor for Grand Slam USA in Novi. He teaches, mainly youngsters, in the fundamentals of pitching and hitting.

"It's been fun," Sorensen said. "I love working with the kids."

Local residents will have a chance to see and hear Sorensen on television throughout the baseball season. He is working as a broadcaster for cable network ESPN on its major league coverage.

There he will use his unique insight to educate the station's viewers. And Sorensen said plenty has changed about the game.

With the major leagues' average salary topping a million dollars, the former hurler commented that players are more in tune with baseball's business side.

The Easter Bunny will make a visit to Northville next week.

FILE PHOTO

Easter Bunny comes to Northville

Spring has sprung, the flowers are in bloom and a very special guest is hopping his way toward Northville.

That's right, it's the Easter Bunny and he's waiting to meet your son's and daughters. Children will love to see their favorite furry little friend as he hops his way down the Bunny Trail. Parents must act fast because he won't be in town long. Come down to the Recreation Center and reserve your spot to have "Lunch with the Easter Bunny."

Moms and Dads can preregister for this event at a cost of $4 per person. Children ages 4 and 5 will get the biggest thrill as they sing songs, play games and meet the Easter Bunny for the first time. The day will include a pizza lunch, an egg hunt and games with the Easter Bunny. Moms, dads and even grandparents are invited to have lunch with their favorite little ones.

Who can forget growing up and waiting for the Easter Bunny to arrive? All the candy, excitement, and, of course, hunting for those colored eggs that the Easter Bunny left behind. Looking in every nook and cranny, collecting jelly beans, eggs and other goodies. Today is the day for your children to experience those special memories that will last forever. Watch the look on their faces as the Easter Bunny comes walking through the door. Everything is in place, the time is drawing near, and good times await for all those who come to the 1992 Lunch with the Easter Bunny.

Lunch will be served on Tuesday, April 14, from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Recreation Center. Preregistration will be taken until today, Thursday, April 9. Please, children ages 4 or 5 only. It will be an Easter that you won't forget. For further information call the Recreation Department at 349-0203.

Recreation Briefs

Swimming instructors needed in city

EASTER BUNNY: Northville Parks and Recreation would like to invite children ages 4 and 5 and their parents to have lunch with the Easter Bunny. Lunch will be served at the rec center from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. April 14. Stories, games and songs are in store for everyone. The cost is $4 per person. Tickets must be purchased in advance. Call 349-0203 for more information.

SWIMMING INSTRUCTORS: Instructors are needed immediately to teach and assist in youth swim lessons. Candidates must have strong swimming skills and must be comfortable working with children. It is a perfect job for high school or college students wanting to earn extra money. Applications can be picked up at the rec department, 303 W. Main.

COLTS: Northville/Novi Colts junior football league open registration will be April 11 at the Novi Civic Center for ages 9-14. For more information call Mark Gowing 344-8986.

SOFTBALL: Adult softball registrations are now being taken for summer softball. Leagues will include men's, women's, 35-and-over and co-ed. If you think you might be interested in signing up a team you need to pick up a registration form as soon as possible. For more info call the Recreation Department at 349-0203.

NEEDED: The Northville Recreation Department needs a record player. If you have one in good working condition and would like to donate it to the department, call 349-0203.

OPEN SWIMMING SCHEDULE: Enjoy the benefits of swimming during open swim hours. Swimming can be a great exercise, or come out just for fun.

Lockers and showers will be available. This activity is open to all ages. Site is the Northville High School pool. Cost is $1.50 per person (pay life-guard on duty).

Open swimming is Mondays and Wednesdays from 8 to 9:30 p.m., and Saturdays 12:30 to 2:30 p.m.

GYMNASTICS: Parent and child can have fun working on strengthening muscles, toning and coordination in a gymnastics class offered by Northville Community Recreation. Classes will be held for beginners to advanced beginners.

Proper function of heart explained

Heart disease is one of the most common health problems in the United States today, yet few people understand how the heart functions and is affected by disease. This article explains how the normal heart works, what happens in disease and the ideas behind current treatment.

The heart is a specialized muscle in the left side of the chest. It has four chambers, with two small atria at the top and two large ventricles at the bottom. The right side of the heart pumps blood to the lungs and the left side pumps blood to the rest of the body.

Blood depleted of nutrients and oxygen enters the right side of the heart through the atrium. When the right atrium contracts, it forces about 25 percent more blood into the larger and more powerful ventricle. From the right ventricle, blood is forced into the pulmonary artery and into the lungs, where fresh oxygen is received.

After receiving new oxygen, the blood passes through the pulmonary vein and into the left side of the heart beginning at the left atrium. Similar to the right atrium, blood is then forced into the most powerful portion of the heart — the left ventricle. Although it functions somewhat like the right ventricle, the left ventricle is much stronger and pushes blood through the aorta and to the rest of the body.

Since the left ventricle supplies blood to most of the body, it is thicker and stronger than the other chambers of the heart. It is also the chamber of the heart that physicians worry about the most, since it supplies blood flow to such an extensive area. If large areas of the left ventricle are destroyed, as in a heart attack, pump failure occurs and blood flow is impaired. If more than 40 percent of the left ventricle is destroyed, death is inevitable.

Just as other organs of the body need blood to live, the heart also must pump blood to itself. Two arteries, the right and left coronary arteries, arise from the aorta where blood enters it from the heart. During a heart attack, the blood supply is blocked somewhere in the coronary arteries. If the blocked area is not cleared and the flow restored, the blood supply downstream is cut off and that portion of the heart will die. Usually these blockages are caused by spasm of the artery or a buildup of fat, cholesterol, calcium or other things associated with atherosclerosis (hardening of the arteries), which nar-

Between the chambers of the heart are four valves that keep blood moving in one direction. Certain diseases, such as rheumatic fever or heart valve infection, damage the valves and create poor blood flow. If left untreated, the effectiveness of the heart is compromised and severe incapacitation may occur. Fortunately, the heart valve disease can be surgically treated with artificial heart valves.

The final part of the heart to consider is the conduction system. Individual cells that make up the heart muscle contract by themselves at different rates depending on their location. Atrium cells contract about 70 times a minute. Ventricle cells may contract only 15 to 30 times a minute, which is generally incompatible with life since the strongest portion of the heart would be working too slowly.

To circumvent this problem, the different parts of the heart are connected by pathways known as the conduction system and are regulated by the pacemaker. The pacemaker is located in the right atrium and sends signals through the pathway to the rest of the heart to maintain an appropriate heart rate. Problems arise when the conducting pathway is damaged since either abnormally fast or slow heart rates could occur.

Brokerage firms now more 'customer-friendly'

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

Real estate brokerage firms are becoming "lean and mean" in an effort to survive and develop a respectable share of business in an increasingly competitive market.

To attract new business, brokers also are becoming more "customer friendly," enhancing the quality and number of services. If they don't perform productively for a customer, a competitor will quickly step into the scene to capture the business.

Computer-generated data, customized to the needs of individual customers, and sophisticated relocation assistance are among special services offered by brokers.

Brokers also are trimming their costs and number of sales associates to survive the still-sluggish real estate market. Many firms are consolidating their operations, closing some offices. Others are merging to improve their fighting position in the struggle for a greater share of brokerage business.

Many brokers believe this is a particularly critical point in the cyclical real estate market. The recession has forced many cutbacks in business operations. But now that home sales are picking up in most areas and positive signs point to increasing activity, brokers are beefing up their operations to be a strong player in the recovering market.

One of those positive signs is the increasing number of families who can afford to purchase a home. A recent report from the National

HOME DESIGNS

The Bison is at home on the range or woodlands

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

Railed decks wrap around three sides of the modified A-frame Bison, adding another 500 square feet of living space to the nearly 1,500 inside. This is a home that would blend easily into a woodland setting.

The living area is located on the second level, with a garage and crawl space below. It could be built on a slope, as a vacation getaway, or on a flat city lot. If constructed on level ground, it wouldn't take much to redesign the crawl space into a usable living area.

High, open-beamed vaulted ceilings grace the living room, dining room, kitchen and den, giving these rooms a feeling of spaciousness. Kitchen counter space is augmented by a work island with built-in range and oven, and the area is brightened by a garden window. The kitchen also has a built-in desk. A small pantry is tucked behind the door to a large utility room right off the kitchen.

The dining room is on the same level as the kitchen, as is the den, but the sunken living room is three steps down, making the ceiling seem that much higher. The living room has a built-in wood box next to the fireplace.

The master suite is small but has a private bathroom and accesses the deck through sliding-glass doors. The bathroom, which serves the other bedroom, along with the rest of the home, is naturally illuminated by a skylight.

For a study plan of the Bison (400-43), send $7.50 to Landmark Designs, c/o HomeTown Newspapers, 323 E. Grand River Ave., Howell, MI 48843. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

Novi condos offer location and lifestyle

Here is it written that a unique and attractive home in Novi has to be ultra-expensive? Looking around town you'd think it was carved in granite somewhere. Fortunately for seekers of homes for less than $150,000, the builders of Weatherlane Village never read that tablet.

Richter-Rosin Homes has created a condominium village with charm and excitement tucked into every corner, yet at a cost that belies the amenities. An assortment of 21 condominiums, some with walkout lower levels, are tucked into a small lot on Ten Mile Road, just west of Beck.

"It's small, so it's not overwhelming to families and friends," said Jim Rosin, one of three partners in Richter-Rosin Homes. "And it's an excellent location. There's no commercial building nearby, no multiple units. It's all surrounded by single-family development."

In fact the intimate size of the development gives it a quaint, quiet, family-neighborhood feel. In fact, the "Village" half of the title Weatherlane Village was chosen to demonstrate that aspect of the project.

Rose Sobel, manager of the site, said, "People who've bought here come in and visit every day. It's like a family, really. They even have my home phone number."

The buyers haven't been limited to couples with families, however.

"We've had some, if you'll pardon the term, yuppies buy in here," said Rosin. "We've also had some empty-nesters. They like the idea that we've developed a first-floor-bedroom plan. It means they don't have to climb the stairs all the time, and when the grandchildren come to visit, they can put them in the bedroom upstairs."

They also appreciate the condominium lifestyle where one of the primary attractions is a maintenance-free environment. Trash pickup, snow removal, landscaping and lawn care are all included in the $117-a-month association fee.

"All they have to do is plant their flowers," Rosin said.

Inside the homes, there's not only plenty of square footage (Most are around 1,800 square feet), but there's plenty of volume as well. High ceilings lend majesty to the living rooms, and allow the use of tall, arched windows.

"There's a lot of nice angles in here," Rosin said. "We went back and forth to our architect

Planting flowering shrubs is child's play

By C Z. Guest

GARDENING

The showiest of spring-flowering shrubs also are among the easiest to plant, making landscaping with azaleas an ideal project for parents and children.

There is an azalea to fit every taste. Plant breeders continue to bring to life more colors for the funnel-shaped flowers and to expand upon the shapes and sizes of these evergreen or deciduous shrubs.

Because azaleas are available in innumerable colors and sizes, they literally suit almost every landscaping plan. For instance, dwarf varieties grow less than 1 inch tall and are ideal as a low-growing ground cover or in the nooks and crannies of a rock garden. Larger types provide screening or hedging.

Combine year-round beauty with the scents of summer. Evergreen azaleas have handsome foliage that will endure throughout the seasons; the deciduous variety, called "mollis," tends to be very fragrant in bloom.

Given their endless array of colors, azaleas can harmonize with surrounding plants or function as they were bred. Although the typical colors are cool creams, whites, pinks, lavenders, violets, crimson and deep reds, some hybrids bloom in unusual hot-yellow and orange.

There also are early-, mid- and late-blooming hybrids, so planting a mix of species will provide a garden filled with flowers and color all season long.

When determining the planting site, keep in mind that these shrubs should be protected from midday heat. So do not plant them on the south or west side of the house unless the area is partially shaded.

A canopy of trees also provides a nice setting for these woodland plants.

GROWING TIDBIT

The word "germinate" means to grow or to sprout.

Every viable seed contains a whole tiny plant in embryo form, including the root, stem,

Easy-growing azaleas

- Dwarf varieties make an ideal low-growing ground cover; larger varieties make good hedges and screens.
- Combine evergreen azaleas for year-round beauty with deciduous varieties for fragrant seasonal blooms.
- Plant early-, mid- and late-blooming azaleas for flowers all season long.
- Avoid planting azaleas on the south or west side of the garden unless the area is partially shaded.

(Lubin-Tringali) until we got a plan that we liked. They're hard-working. Our architect said he woke up in the middle of the night with an idea, and had to sketch it out before he went back to bed."

Design touches not often seen in condos of this size appear in the most surprising places. In one bedroom, a curved wall; in a living room a cathedral ceiling bridging two plant shelves; in yet another, a fireplace with a black hearth.

"Those kinds of things make people remember us when they leave," said Rosin.

Dennis Yashinsky, who directed the construction of Weatherlane Village, said the units have universal appeal.

"The design is what's so exciting," said Yashinsky. "It's one of the nicest we've ever done. We've been doing homes that are twice as big in the West Bloomfield area, but we've incorporated some of the same elements here. The exteriors, the elevations, are just beautiful, and the interiors are knockouts."

Some kitchens have work islands, and all have enough cupboard space for a survivalist's shelter. All units have full basements, large first-floor laundry rooms and two-car garages. The units come with a choice of standard and upgraded levels of cabinets, appliances and carpeting.

The units come in three different styles, some with two bedrooms and some with three. Prices start at $137,900.

"That includes all the fixtures, carpet and padding," said Rosin. "You can move in at our base price, which is nice. Younger buyers appreciate that kind of a head start."

Indeed Rosin can appreciate the desires of the younger buyer. Just 28, he joined brother Rick, 25, and Yashinsky to form Richter-Rosin Homes in 1987.

But Yashinsky characterizes the company as an "old-new company."

As Rosin explained, his father's building firm, the Rosin Company, has been building homes in this area for 30 years. And Richter Construction, where Yashinsky and Rick Rosin worked before forming Richter-Rosin has 45 years in the construction business. Yashinsky's father-in-law owns Richter Construction.

"It really is a family business," Rosin said. That background puts Richter-Rosin in touch with some of Michigan's highest quality tradespeople.

"The cement man and the electrician have been working for us since before I was born," said Yashinsky. "And the basement company has been with us since the '50s. People like that, you don't get rid of them, because they're as loyal to you as you are to them."

Weatherlane Village began selling sites in December, which even Rosin will admit was "not the most opportune time to open."

The homes have sold quickly, however, and 14 of the 21 sites are already spoken for.

"Novi practically sells itself," Rosin said.

And with such value as is evident at Weatherlane Village, it's little wonder.

Chair worth more with original design

By James G. McCollam
Copley News Service

Q Please tell me what you can about this chair. It appears to be a pine seat; the rest of the parts look like maple. It has been painted black and red, but most of the finish has worn off.

A This is a primitive, stick, Windsor-type chair made in the mid-1800s. It would probably sell for about $225 to $235. If the original black-over-red finish with stenciled design were intact, it would be worth twice as much.

Q This mark is on the bottom of a marble figurine of a girl with a bird on her shoulder. The figure is about 8 inches tall.

A Can you identify the maker and when it was made? I would also like to know its value.

A This was made by Gebrüder Heubach in Thuringia, Germany, about 1900. It might sell for $165 to $185 in an antique shop.

CAPO-DI-MONTE

Collectors usually are familiar with porcelain marked with a "Crown" over "N" or simply with "Capo-di-Monte," but the true significance is sometimes lost in confusion.

About 1740, a porcelain factory was established by Charles III, king of Naples. The items produced were for the king's use or for gifts to members of nobility.

The items were marked with a fleur-de-lis. Don't be concerned with finding any of these pieces; they are all in museums.

ANTIQUES

In 1759, Charles inherited the throne of Spain and moved his porcelain works to Madrid. Fine, soft, paste porcelain was produced there until 1812. The mark used was "Buena Retiro." You won't find any of these, either.

Meanwhile, back at Naples, King Ferdinand reopened the original factory in 1771 and operated it until 1821. This bore the familiar mark of a "Crown" over "N," and became known as Capo-di-Monte.

Some pieces of this period occasionally surface, but at premium prices.

In 1821, the molds and models were sold to the Ginori factory in Doccia, Italy.

In 1839, this company became known as Societa Ceramica Richard. The products of this company were marked variously "Richard — Ginori," "Ginori," "Richard Ginori" with a figure of St. Christopher, "Richard" with a crown and shield, "Ginori" with a crown, "R.S." with a crown, but mostly with a crown over "N."

It makes the identification of Capo-di-Monte much more difficult when other companies in Italy, Germany and France use the same crown over "N." It is very disturbing to collectors to realize that most of the pieces bearing this mark or otherwise marked "Capo-di-Monte" are not genuine.

Early pieces (18th century) have sold in the $10,000-$25,000 range. Late 19th- and 20th-century items sell in the low hundreds. Porcelain with false marks usually sell for less than $100.

So, as a final warning, be extremely cautious about buying porcelain marked "Capo-di-Monte," or with a crown over "N."

BOOK REVIEW

"Antique Linens, Lace & Needlework" by Frances Johnson (a Wallace-Homestead Imprint of the Chilton Book Co.) covers identification restoration and prices of all types of decorative and useful textiles. It is lavishly illustrated with more than 300 black-and-white and color pictures.

There are chapters about new uses for antique pieces and helpful hints on preservation.

Association of Realtors shows home affordability to be at the highest level in nearly 18 years.

"We now have stable home prices and very affordable interest rates," said NAR president Dorcas Helfant. "If people weren't so re-food-storing seed leaves, upper stem and true leaves. All these parts must be present or the seed can't develop properly. Seeds are living things.

They're dormant when you buy them and when planted, in nature, they sprout when conditions are right, when there is just enough warmth, moisture and light to break the dormancy and trigger the seed into action.

Consignment store offers nearly new toys

By RICK BYRNE
Copy Editor

If there's one area where mother knows best, it's children's toys.

Mothers also know a pretty good bargain when they see one, so that's why they'll appreciate The Li'l Toy Box, a used-toy consignment shop which has opened at 133 E. Cady Street in downtown Northville. Taking a cue from the success of consignment clothing stores, and used child's clothing stores like Baby Baby, The Li'l Toy Box specializes in clean, high-quality, used toys for children of all ages.

Kathy Rozek owns the store, and added that being a mother and toy-shopper prompted her to put the idea into action.

"I had a wonderful job as an account executive," said Rozek. "I really enjoyed it, and in my job, of 50 people doing it, I was one of only four females."

daughter Katy for a year and a half, Rozek decided to go into a business where she could keep Katy with her.

"That's why I chose toys. There's nothing she can hurt here," said Rozek. "She can play with the toys, and I'm always right here. We have to close for a little while in the afternoon, though. That's when we go out for a walk."

The back room of the store is set up with a refrigerator, microwave and Katy's crib for her nap. Kathy and Katy even have a child's picnic table so they can have lunch together.

There were more practical reasons for choosing toys as well.

"It was Christmas, when I got inundated with all the new Little Tykes toys," said Rozek. "To make room, I had to pack up a bunch of toys that were barely used. Kids outgrow toys the way they outgrow clothes, so I wanted to find something to do with them."

Rozek drew on her business background to arrive at a solution. Parents everywhere had closets full of almost-new toys, and economists were crying recession.

Li'l Toy Box gives used toys new life

"With the recession, and the quality of the toys, I figured there had to be a market for this," said Rozek. "Northville is a quality community. I wasn't looking to open up some garage-sale type of store. They're good, clean, high-quality toys. And even in Northville, there are people who maybe can't afford to get out and buy new things."

Getting started in the business was simple, Rozek said. After preparing the Cady Street shop for business, it was a matter of networking with other mothers to accumulate toys for sale. She put out about a thousand fliers the first week, and has relied mainly on word-of-mouth advertising.

"The biggest problem I have is that we can't keep toys in here," she said with a laugh. "I've only been open 3 1/2 weeks and already people are coming by every week to see what's new. They know there'll always be something different, and they know there are always good deals."

The consignment system is simple. A toy is offered for sale for 60 days. Rozek and the seller split the sale price 50-50. She keeps catalogs of the major manufacturers on hand to help with pricing.

Catalogs also help if a customer wants something that isn't in stock. Rozek can then make a note of the item on a "want list," and give the customer a call if it comes in.

The bulk of the items for sale are from high-quality toy lines like Fisher-Price, Little Tykes and Today's Kids, and some quality European manufacturers as well. The Fisher-Price and Little Tykes sell quickly because, Rozek said, "they last, and they clean up easily. They're hard plastic, so even crayon comes off with just baking soda and water."

Another high turnover item is books. If a child has read a book a few times, he or she can get bored with it. As long as the child hasn't used a book to practice crayon-manship, it can be worth something for resale.

Customer service also plays a big role at The Li'l Toy Box, or at least it does for Katy.

"She's very outgoing," said Rozek. "She says 'hello,' 'goodbye' and 'come see us again.'"

The Li'l Toy Box is open Mondays through Thursdays from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Fridays and Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Money Management

Savvy heals pain of theft losses

Having a portion of your home destroyed by a fire or flood is a frightening experience. Estimating and recovering your losses after such a catastrophe can make you feel further victimized. However, understanding the tax implications of your loss may help you minimize the financial damage. According to the Michigan Association of CPAs, you can deduct a portion of your casualty loss on your federal income tax return.

WHAT CONSTITUTES A CASUALTY LOSS?

Casualty losses are those that result from sudden, unexpected or unusual events, such as tornadoes, hurricanes and even severe storms. The key word here is sudden. Damage to your property resulting from progressive deterioration, such as termite damage, does not qualify as a casualty loss. Not all qualified casualty losses are limited to acts of nature. In certain situations, damage to your car in an accident may be considered a deductible loss. If you deposited your money in a bank, credit union or another financial institution that later failed, you must also elect to claim a casualty loss, rather than a non-business bad debt, provided no part of your deposit is federally insured.

Keep in mind that accidental losses, such as losing your wedding band or breaking fine china, also do not qualify as casualty losses.

THEFT LOSSES

You may claim a theft loss as long as the loss resulted from an illegal action, such as robbery to your home, and as long as the loss has not been covered by insurance. The IRS requires that you prove the occurrence of a theft. Remember, just because a valuable item is missing doesn't mean that it was stolen or that it can be deducted as a casualty loss.

DEDUCTING THE LOSS

Before making a casualty loss claim, you must make an insurance claim, even if you do not expect reimbursement. The amount of the loss is reduced by any money you receive from your insurance company.

The deduction for each loss is then limited to the amount in excess of $100 per loss occurrence, not per item. Be aware that $100 limitation for each loss also applies to a husband and wife filing a joint return, even if each of them sustained a loss from the same casualty. After applying the $100 floor, the aggregate unreimbursed personal casualty losses are deductible as an itemized deduction to the extent that the total exceeds 10 percent of your adjusted gross income.

In deducting a loss, be aware that you can deduct only the basis (usually your cost), not the fair market value. So, if a gold and diamond necklace you purchased 10 years ago for $3,000 was stolen last month when its fair market value was $8,000, your deduction would be limited to $3,000.

Generally, losses are deductible only in the year they occurred. There is one major exception to this limitation: losses suffered in a federal disaster area may be claimed as an itemized deduction in the year loss occurred or for the preceding year. To take the deduction for the preceding year and get an immediate refund of taxes already paid, you must file an amended tax return.

PROVING YOUR LOSS

Regardless of the nature of the casualty loss, the IRS places the burden of proof on the taxpayer. You must be able to establish that your loss was a direct result of the casualty and verify the amount of the loss.

Immediately after the occurrence of a theft or disaster that results in casualty losses, make a comprehensive list of the missing items or damaged property. CPAs point out that the time you spend documenting your loss may help you to reduce your taxes and ease the pain of your loss, at least monetarily.

Cancer Myth #5

"Surgery causes cancer to spread."

No one wants to undergo surgery. But some people may avoid needed cancer surgery because they believe the cancer will spread during the operation. That's a myth. It's not true. Surgery does not cause cancer to spread. Doctors are learning more each day about effective treatments for cancer. If you want the facts on cancer treatment, call the Cancer Information Service.

014 In Memoriam

Helen E. Morgan, 1 year ago,
April 7. Mother, the Lord came and took you away to be at peace. May your home in Heaven with Him, comfort us, who are left still missing your gentle smile.
Your Loving Daughter, Darlene

MARTY FELDMAN CHEVROLET/GEO IN NOVI AND JAY CHEVROLET IN HIGHLAND WILL DO

WHATEVER IT TAKES!

SPECIAL MESSAGE

Let's face it, ALL Chevrolet/Geo dealerships pay the same price for the new cars and trucks they sell. Consequently we know that we have to be price competitive to stay in business, but, we also know we have to do more, and we do!

Our Sales and Service Departments are NOW OPEN SATURDAYS for your convenience. We have over 500 new and used cars and trucks available. In addition, each department offers you the following service:

SERVICE DEPARTMENT

- Mr. Goodwrench Quick Lube, oil and filter (29 minutes or less or your next L.O.F. is on us!)
- Trained & Certified Technicians
- Free maintenance and Price Schedules
- 11.5% Senior Citizen Discounts*
- Shuttle Service
- Competitive Pricing on all Service Work

NEW VEHICLE SALES

- Option 1 Pricing* out of stock on most models to GM employees & qualified relatives
- 6.9% Financing on most models
- Large Inventories/Plus (If we don't have it - we'll get it!)
- Experienced and professional sales staff
- Special Smart Lease Programs
- Highest trade in values (we shop your trade)

USED VEHICLE SALES

- Reconditioned and reliable late model vehicles
- Monthly payments to fit your budget
- Credit problems? We can help!

BODY SHOP

- Free Estimates
- Free Rental Cars w/any Collision Repair
- Genuine GM Parts

As you can see, we give you much more than a Price Stuck on a Windshield! We give you a TOTAL PACKAGE with our commitment that we will do "WHATEVER IT TAKES" to make you and keep you a satisfied customer.
