Parents protest school busing plan

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

If input into the proposed reduction in bus routes for the 1992-93 school year was what Northville School Board members were looking for Tuesday night at the high school Forum, they found it.

About 100 irate parents flocked to the study session of the board to tell school administrators their recommended plan for cutting back on the number of students the district will bus this year was — in a nutshell — just no good.

The proposed plan, which reroutes a reduced fleet of the district's buses, will pick up only students living outside a 1.5-mile radius next year. The plan sharply contrasts with last year's busing program, which transported students living as close as a half-mile from their schools.

The new routes were based on the 1.5-mile restriction using the most direct traveled route, said Operations Supervisor James Hylman.

But that theory didn't fly with most parents at the meeting, who were angry that their elementary-aged students were being bypassed to drive high-school-aged passengers.

Under the plan, in some isolated cases, school buses will actually drive past homes of elementary and middle school children to pick up a neighboring high school student.

Incidents like that prompted about 35 parents to charge the microphone and criticize district officials about the plan and the need to reconfigure it.

The safety issue was first and foremost on the minds of parents who were angry at the thought of knowing that elementary-aged students would be crossing heavily traveled mile roads — some without traffic signals. The lack of sidewalks and crosswalks and available crossing guards at common intersections along Six Mile, Seven Mile, and Eight Mile roads also raises legitimate safety concerns.

"This community is just not laid out to have kids walking to school," said Dick Britton, whose two children attend Winchester and Meads Mill. "There are no sidewalks, no crossing areas and no crossing guards. It is just not set up for it."

District officials blame the failure of the June 8 millage increase request for their having to cut back in staff and bus services district-wide. In response to losing 15 of their 25 bus drivers to layoffs, school officials have resorted to 1.5-mile plan.

But parents who attended the study session said they believed the $355,000 cuts made in the transportation fund could and should be made up somehow.

Concerned parents voiced a variety of suggestions for restoring bus services but remained unified that the district's plan was nothing short of unacceptable.

Some parents hit hard on the idea of dipping into the district's rainy-day fund to pay for additional bus services. Others hinted at finding other places to trim the budget and still one other said he's even considering getting a chauffeur's license and could lease buses sitting idle in the district's yard for a private busing venture.

What was already an emotionally charged issue became more and more heated as crowd members took pot shots at school board members and administrators. One by one parents filed to the microphone to air their concerns and voice their opinions.

Most of the questions focused on whether children would or would not be bused. Others wanted to know what the board was doing to ensure the safety of their children with crosswalks, safety guards and traffic signal devices.

In response, David Bolitho, assistant superintendent for administrative services, said the proposed plan does recommend hiring a crossing guard at the Six Mile and Winchester Drive intersection.

The study session was held to get input from the community. The school board and the administration will work to revise the plan to incorporate some of the issues raised at the session. A revised busing plan should go before for final approval Monday night.

Once the plan is approved, Hylman said each parent would receive a letter telling him or her whether their students are eligible for busing next year.

Volunteers gear up for bicycle race

What has 150 helmets, 300 legs, and hundreds of wishes riding on it?

The Wish-A-Mile 300, of course.

The WAM 300, as it's known for short, is an annual bicycling tour and fundraiser for Make-A-Wish of Michigan, a non-profit organization that grants wishes to children with life-threatening diseases (see related story).

Northville will play host to the fifth annual WAM 300 this Sunday as its 150 bicyclists roll into town. The Northville Rotary Club plans a day's worth of festivities to cheer the cyclists across the finish line.

The participants may need some cheering, as they will be finishing a three-day, 300-mile trek down the eastern coast of Michigan's lower peninsula.

Their trek begins tomorrow at sunrise, as the cyclists pedal across the Mackinac Bridge.

The bike tour will then wind its way down the lower peninsula, between Mullet and Burt lakes in Cheboygan County, through Gaylord and Grayling on its way to the first night's stay at Roscommon. Saturday morning, the pack heads south-

Officials mull joint use of Ford plant

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The Township Board hesitated to throw its weight behind a joint municipal effort to buy and redevelop the Northville Ford Plant Tuesday night, but several current and future township officials indicated their support.

The members sat in on a special joint meeting at city hall to review recommendations of the Ford Plant Study Committee, a seven-member panel appointed in June to review potential reuses for the plant.

The committee's recommendations labeled a community center — containing relocated city and township offices and an expanded library — as the highest and best use of the shuttered plant. Under the committee's proposal, current city and township halls could be sold to defray the cost of buying and renovating the plant.

Committee Chairperson Greg Presley said the panel felt strongly that the Ford Plant should be reused as a public or semi-public facility.

"It's more important to consider the long-term benefit for the community than the short-term need for

Chamber seeks festival pledges

The fourth annual Northville Victorian Festival will be here before long, and organizers hope the community remembers how many people it brought into town.

This year's festival co-chairpersons, Laurie Marrs and Al Ferrara, particularly hope more businesses will contribute to the festival's not-for-profit budget. This year's donations are lagging significantly behind previous years, the organizers said last week.

Every event at the festival is free of charge to attendees except the gala Victorian Ball. But that fact — which Marrs cites as the No. 1 point of post-

Board will study taxation issue

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Truth-in-Taxation could be headed for Northville Township.

Treasurer Jack Hosmer will ask fellow board members this evening to establish a September Truth-in-Taxation hearing date that could bump the township tax rate by about a third of a mill.

A Truth-in-Taxation hearing is required by law when a governmental unit seeks to fend off inflationary effects on its budget. By raising the tax levy to the rate of inflation, the township could generate about $168,000 for its 1993 budget, Hosmer said.

Such a move would counter an anticipated shortfall in the township's 1993 budget, Hosmer said. "To property owners it won't be much," Hosmer said. "That money will cover most of the gap I foresee in the 1993 budget."

The township's current tax rate stands at 3.8245 mills. Truth-in-Taxation would increase that levy by roughly .36 mill on the township's $465-million state equalized valuation, Hosmer said.

The township must follow a strict set of guidelines to implement Truth-in-Taxation, Hosmer said, including setting a hearing date, publishing the proposed move, receiving public input, and adopting a resolution.

Hosmer did not skirt the issue when asked the bottom line of the Truth-in-Taxation process.

"It is a tax increase," he said. "But it's a tax increase allowable under the law."

Some might question why a lame duck board would consider hiking taxes. But Hosmer said the window for holding Truth-in-Taxation — and applying the resulting funds to the 1993 budget — closes this fall. The new board would be unable to set and hold hearings after it assumes office in late November, Hosmer said.

Without the additional $168,000, "the new board will be looking at an unbalanced budget," he said. "I do not believe, if Truth-in-Taxation is held, that it will be necessary to make additional cuts (and) we could leave our fund balance alone."

Northville Township has avoided Truth-in-Taxation the past several years because it rode a development boom gray train, Hosmer said. For the time being, those days are over, he said.

Hosmer said public school districts routinely hold such hearings, which differ from Headlee overrides. Headlee prevents the tax rate from topping the rate of inflation, whereas Truth-in-Taxation allows the government operate at the rate of inflation.

Hosmer speculated that a Truth-in-Taxation hearing could be held during the board's regular Sept. 10 session. Tonight's meeting is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. at township hall, 41600 Six Mile.

NORTHVILLE YOUTH ASSISTANCE NEEDS HELP: Northville Youth Assistance (NYA) is looking for adult volunteers to be a support for a young person in the Northville community. NYA matches volunteers with youngsters who can benefit from a supportive adult in their life. The volunteer is a confidante and friend to the youngster. The volunteer spends approximately 1½ hours per week with the youngster. Men are especially needed — NYA has a waiting list of young boys who are waiting for a volunteer. A volunteer training session begins Sept. 10 and runs for five consecutive Thursday evenings. Training includes such skills as listening, problem-solving, decision-making, empathy and recognizing the warning signs of substance abuse. Anyone interested in the program should call Mary Ellen King at 344-1618.

Schools ring up pay-to-play costs

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

On Monday Northville school officials capped the pay-to-participate fee for high school athletes at $210 per sport.

But officials hope contributions from civic and booster clubs will lower that figure.

At the special board meeting, Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski said the figure is the latest one on which the district could settle, given the current variables.

"As moneys are donated we will bake them into the revenue side . . . but for now this is as definitive as we can get," he said. "This is our analysis at this moment . . . But we still have information coming in, so take it with a grain of salt."

In presenting the latest plan at Monday's board meeting, Rezmierski told board members and a handful of parents that he hopes to have word from groups like the athletic boosters about donations that would help contain costs and lower fees.

In addition, fund-raising efforts and increasing gate prices for high school sporting events would also help to lower the playing fees, Rezmierski said. "We (Northville) are cheaper than most (in gate ticket prices)."

In response to the higher fees, district residents expressed anger that the district's athletic budget called for students' fees to cover athletic expenses including half of the athletic director's full-time salary. Residents questioned Rezmierski about the need to reinstate Dennis Colligan, the athletic director, to a full-time post.

Colligan's position was eliminated earlier this year when voters rejected the district's 1.4 mill-increase request in June. An ad-hoc committee that studied this issue recommended he be brought back on a part-time basis to steer the pay-to-participate program.

But Rezmierski revised that recommendation when he and the board adopted a new pay-to-play plan that restores all ninth-grade sports and reinstates Colligan and the district's athletic trainer to full-time jobs.

Prior to board acceptance of Rezmierski's plan, the district's general fund allotment for varsity sports would have paid only half of Colligan's annual gross salary, which is $60,000. The other half of his salary will come from the pay-to-participate fees. As athletic director, Colligan earns $6,685 above what he would make as a teacher.

In response to voiced concerns, Rezmierski assured parents that a full-time athletic director will help the program run more smoothly. In addition, Rezmierski has devised a committee that will monitor the pay-to-participate program and make monthly reports on its progress so changes can be made as needed.

"The purpose of the committee is to monitor the program without losing sight of the students," he said.

Rezmierski also issued a list of the minimum number of players each sport must enroll for the district to offer them under the pay-to-participate program next year. Those benchmark numbers are as follows with their corresponding sports preceding them.

Boys sports at the high school include varsity football, 40; junior varsity football, 30; ninth-grade football, 25; soccer, 20; junior varsity soccer, 20; golf, 12; cross country, 10; basketball, 12; junior varsity basketball, 12; ninth-grade basketball, 12; wrestling, 25; swimming, 25; baseball, 15; junior varsity baseball, 15; track, 40; tennis, 20.

Girls sports at the high school include varsity basketball, 12; junior basketball, 12; ninth-grade basketball, 12; cross country, 10; tennis, 20; swimming, 25; volleyball, 15; junior varsity volleyball, 15; ninth-grade volleyball, 15; gymnastics, 12; softball, 15; junior varsity softball, 15; track, 40; soccer, 20; junior varsity soccer, 20; golf, 12.

Middle school participation levels are different. Each figure represents tallies for each of the individual schools. A sports program will be offered if the individual school meets the quota.

At the middle school level: football, 35; seventh-grade boys basketball, 18; eighth-grade boys basketball, 18; seventh-grade girls basketball, 18; eighth-grade girls basketball, 18; seventh-grade volleyball, 18; eighth-grade volleyball, 18; co-ed track, 50.

Yale man tabbed as Amerman head

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

An impressive list of professional qualifications clinched the Amerman Elementary School principalship for Stephen Anderson in the face of 61 opponents.

Anderson, currently the director of academic services in Yale Public Schools, earned the support of school officials to replace Milt Jacob, who retired at the end of last year.

Anderson will take over the post Thursday, August 20. His base salary will be $58,520 with a one-time $1,000 incentive for holding dual master's degrees.

R. Roy Danley, director of personnel, said Anderson's laundry list of credentials and qualifications is what put him ahead of the six finalists who were interviewed for the job. Out of the 101 letters of interest the district received for the opening, 61 people completed applications. From that pool of 61, six candidates were interviewed. Only one of the six finalists was an internal candidate. Mary Kay Gallagher, administrator of the Early Child Center, finished behind Anderson in the running, Danley said.

"We were impressed by the quantity and quality of all the applicants who responded to our advertisement for the position," Danley said. "It was very challenging to screen all the applicants down to the interviewing process. Mr. Anderson emerged as a very well-qualified candidate."

"We were very impressed with his experience as an elementary teacher, counselor and principal as well as his extensive central office experience."

Anderson has been with the Yale School District since 1984. In that district he taught elementary school for three years before he took an administrative job as director of academic services. Prior to that he worked as an elementary teacher and counselor in Sierra Vista, Ariz., and in Shepherd, Mich. Altogether he boasts a collective eight years teaching experience and three years counseling experience.

Anderson earned his undergraduate degree in history from the University of Michigan, dual master's degrees in counseling and guidance and education administration from the University of Arizona, and is currently completing a thesis for his doctorate in educational administration and leadership from Western Michigan University.

Police News

Police put clamps on Randolph Street prowler

City police caught a 28-year-old Northville man prowling around a Randolph Street apartment Aug. 10.

A police officer responding to a 6 a.m. report of a prowler walked around the apartment building and saw the man peering into the apartment's bedroom window. He was arrested and charged with prowling. The apartment's two female residents told police they did not know the prowler, and would be more careful to keep their blinds closed.

GOLF CLUBS STOLEN: An Andover Drive resident reported the theft of $1,000 in golf clubs and a bag from her garage. The equipment was apparently stolen sometime between Aug. 1 and 7. The garage may have been unlocked at the time, as there were no signs of forced entry. The Ping Red Eye clubs, three woods and 11 irons, were in a white bag with the word "Ping" on the side in black letters.

UNLICENSED BIKER NABBED: City police cited a 21-year-old Northville man for driving without a license and with an expired registration after stopping him on his moped on Dunlap Aug. 8.

A computer check revealed that the man was wanted by Novi police for failing to appear in court on a retail fraud charge. He was arrested and turned over to the Novi police department.

WARRANT ARREST: A 34-year-old Inkster man was arrested by city police on an outstanding warrant just before midnight Aug. 8 after being stopped for running a red light at Eight Mile and Taft.

The man was wanted by Detroit police for possession of narcotics paraphernalia. He was released after posting a $250 cash bond.

FOUND PROPERTY: A Horton Street resident found a blue mountain bike outside his home at 6:30 a.m. Aug. 10.

The bike was leaning against shrubs near the sidewalk. Anyone wishing to claim it is asked to call the Northville City police at 349-1234 with a more detailed description.

RADAR DETECTOR STOLEN: A Livonia man told township police that someone broke into his 1986 Ford Mustang and stole a radar detector while the vehicle was parked at Meadowbrook Country club, 40941 Eight Mile, early Aug. 9. Thieves apparently threw a rock through the passenger's side of the vehicle. The radar detector was valued at $150.

MAN FOUND WITH DRUG PIPE: A 29-year-old Livonia man was charged with possession of drug paraphernalia after his arrest late Aug. 8 on Haggerty south of Eight Mile last week, township police said. Police had observed the man in the parking lot at Meijer, 20401 Haggerty, and said he was engaged in suspicious behavior.

The man drove from the Meijer lot and was stopped by police, who reportedly found a water pipe used for smoking drugs in the back seat.

WHEEL COVERS STOLEN: An Innsbrook Apartments resident told township police that someone stole three wire wheel covers from a 1992

Buick Century parked on Innsbrook Drive late Aug. 6 or early Aug. 7. The wheel covers were valued at $350.

THIEVES BUSY AT MEIJER LOT: A Saline man told township police that someone broke into his 1990 Olds Cutlass and stole an electric razor and an AM/FM radio and cassette player while the car was parked in the Meijer lot Aug. 6.

The stolen items were valued at $300 and damage to the vehicle's door lock and dash was estimated at $200.

A Novi man told police that someone broke into his 1989 Buick Century while it was parked in the Meijer lot Aug. 6 and stole a flashlight and an AM/FM cassette player. The stolen items were valued at $530.

Four hubcaps reportedly were stolen from a Westland woman's 1991 Pontiac Sunbird while the vehicle was parked in the Meijer lot Aug. 4, police said.

CAR TARGETED AT HAMPTON INN: A Grand Rapids man told police that someone stole four wire spoke hubcaps from his vehicle late Aug. 5 or early Aug. 6 while it was parked in the Hampton Inn lot at 20600 Haggerty.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Officials measure steps, words in Ford plant discussions tax base," he said. "This (opportunity) may not come again in our generation."

While township officials were reluctant to start packing their bags Tuesday, several did agree to explore using part of the plant for a new community library.

"Personally, I favor very much the concept of a library, and the concept of recreational use," said Interim Trustee Richard Ambler.

Outgoing Township Supervisor Betty Lennox termed the plan to house township and city offices under one roof "a radical proposal," and wondered whether township hall could be sold because federal funds were used for its construction.

But Supervisor-elect Karen Baja steered the discussion back to the basic issue of plant acquisition.

"It's not just whether or not township government offices should move," Baja said. "It's whether it's beneficial to the township and city to cooperate to acquire the plant, for whatever purpose . . . You would have my full support in trying to acquire this property."

Baja said the proposal should be raised at tonight's Township Board meeting, so that current and future board members could discuss it and come to a consensus. "No later than Thursday evening, you can get your answer . . . In concept, if nothing else," she said.

Township Treasurer Jack Hostmer insisted on a more specific request from the city. "In order to get an answer, you need to bring the question, and the question has not yet been identified," he said. City officials agreed to draft a letter to the township asking for its support in acquiring the plant for potential reuse as a library site.

Tuesday's meeting was not without its naysayers. Several residents spoke against any increase in taxes, while others raised concerns about removal of asbestos from the plant, flooding on the property and the condition of the old dam at the southeast corner of the site.

Loan sought for Beck Road park site

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

Financial problems continue to plague the community park site on Beck Road, and some officials fear that without borrowed money, the project could be on borrowed time.

A consulting firm estimates that a park developed to wish-list standards would cost about $348,000 — a figure that dwarfs available construction funds.

About $110,000 rests in a community park development account, which won't even cover projected grading and brush removal costs for the 39-acre park site, according to Snell Environmental Group, the firm hired to plot the park strategy.

The community Recreation Commission is expected to push township and city officials to obtain a loan to pay park development costs, but a loan is anything but a sure thing.

In fact, the township has not seriously discussed the possibility of a loan, said Township Manager Richard Henningsen.

"I mentioned it to a couple of people, but haven't brought it up (at the Township Board level)," Henningsen said. "There's a lot more to look at."

But Henningsen admits that the park could remain a weed-littered lot without a big infusion of cash.

"It's dead in the water. I guess (without a loan)," he said.

Parks and Recreation Director Traci Gottschalk sides with the Recreation Commission's view that a phased development approach to the park is a risky proposition. Gottschalk and the commission believe the entire site should be graded, seeded, and developed now.

The current plan is to construct three baseball/softball diamonds and four soccer fields. A change in strategy could place segments of the park on an eternal back burner, she said.

"The commission's desire is that we get as much done as possible," Gottschalk said. "The feeling is, if we wait 10 years, we won't be looking ahead."

Gottschalk said such options as lighting, fencing, and other non-essentials can wait. The main focus is on grading, clearing and developing the fields.

But with those costs eclipsing the current park fund, Gottschalk clearly is banking on a loan.

Asked if park development is riding on the need for a loan, Gottschalk said, "the entire park, yes, unless someone in the community has an alternative funding plan."

A loan could be paid off through an increase in park surcharge fees, a step the Recreation Commission would likely take, Gottschalk said.

Barring a loan or some unforeseen windfall, recreation officials will forge ahead.

"In the worst-case scenario, we have $110,000 to work with," Gottschalk said. "We would go back to Snell and tell them to phase it."

The Recreation Commission was scheduled to bounce the loan idea off Henningsen and city Manager Gary Word last evening (Aug. 12).

School board passes pay hikes

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

Amid deep cuts in staff, student programs and busing, the Northville School Board Monday night unanimously approved 3- and 3.5-percent pay raises for 31 district secretaries and an occupational therapist.

Thirty-one secretaries — who comprise a non-bargaining unit — received a 3-percent raise this year in comparison to the 7-percent pay increase they bargained for last year. Concurrently, the district's sole occupational therapist was awarded a 3.5-percent increase. But her salary, according to R. Roy Danley, director of personnel, is funded entirely by the state as a function of the special education program.

Both salary increases are for one-year terms. Danley submitted both requests to the board for its approval at Monday night's special board meeting.

In addition to the pay raise, district secretaries received a $200 annual improvement to their tuition reimbursement plan, a 1-percent incentive for those employees with 10 or more years of service, and a $200 stipend for secretaries who earn their associate's degrees.

Currently, according to the district's Personnel Department, there are only two secretaries using the tuition reimbursement plan, 12 that qualify for the 1-percent increase for longevity, and four who have obtained their associate's degrees.

A memo to the board from Danley states that the incremental increases awarded for longevity and for associate's degree incentives will not become a part of the individual's base salary.

Victorian Fest needs white knights

live feedback about the festival — means everything has to be financed through donations.

"This is our fourth year," Marrs said, "and as in the past, everything that we offer to the festivalgoers is all free," including trolley rides, carriage rides, and entertainment.

Ferrara said that last year, "We spent about $12,000 to $13,000 just on various forms of entertainment. Right now we're in need of $8,000 or $9,000 worth of contributions still just to provide the same amount of entertainment."

Like last year, Genitt's Hole-in-the-Wall and the Casterline Funeral Home have agreed to a joint sponsorship of the main entertainment, a Victorian Revue. But beyond that, the multitude of street entertainment is at this point not funded, they said.

The Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, which organizes the festival, seeks several "gold star" sponsors of individual acts for $250 to $500. But smaller donations, of even $50, are also necessary to the festival and are also lagging, Ferrara said.

"We're also in need of the smaller donations, and so far only five or six of the merchants have returned donations to us," he said. "The merchants have always indicated to us that the extra traffic in the town translates into significantly greater business."

Marrs added that the exposure local businesses receive during the three-day festival, Sept. 18-20, works to bring customers back here at Christmas and throughout the year. That makes a donation to the festival a sound business investment, she said.

A successful Victorian Festival benefits the whole community as well as individual businesses, she said, because of the attention it receives and because profits from concessions go to local nonprofit organizations.

"In addition to the merchants making money, the nonprofit groups make a lot of money too," she said. "We do want to keep the money in Northville... This is something that our community's identified with now."

The festival runs completely on a not-for-profit basis, with a treasury separate from the general Chamber of Commerce accounts. Any "profit" goes directly back to help fund the following year's festival.

"All the money that we as a chamber are making is just seed money for next year," Ferrara said.

The booth rental fees from the Art Market, the street art fair run in conjunction with the festival, go to the sponsoring Northville Arts Commission. It in turn makes a donation to the festival, the organizers said.

They publicly thanked those businesses which have donated to the festival, and they plan to give signs to donors so shoppers can easily patronize those particular businesses.

Any business or individual interested in contributing to the festival should contact the chamber office at 349-7640; Ferrara at 349-1781; or send a check directly to the chamber. Make checks out to the Northville Victorian Festival and send them to the festival in care of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, 195 S. Main, Northville, Mich. 48167.

Major sponsors committed as of early last week were Elizabeth's Bridal Manor, University of Michigan Health Center, Community Federal Credit Union, Shopping Center Market, National Bank of Detroit, Ambler Enterprises, Genitt's, the Casterline Funeral Home, the Northville Arts Commission, and The Northville Record.

Other donors are Morrison's Antiques, Margo's of Northville, Pizza Cutter, Graphic Visions, Atchison House Consultants, Bright Bar and Steel, and First Impressions.

Mill Race Matters

Word has reached us that Dr. Mary Lapham was not selected this year for inclusion in the Michigan Women's Hall of Fame. The list of this year's winners includes seven in the historical category. At present we have yet to learn of their accomplishments which leads them to this honor, but if they were selected over Dr. Lapham it is clear that throughout Michigan's history many women have been ignored and excluded from the place in history they so richly deserve.

Mary Elizabeth Lapham is one of, if not Northville's most noted daughter. She was born in 1860 to Jared and Martha Gregory Lapham. Her father arrived in Northville several years earlier and was one of our community's first prominent business people. Her mother was the daughter of another prominent settler, Dr. David Gregory, who built the home which for many years served as township hall and was razed to build our present city office complex. The Gregory/Lapham property included the New School Church, now located at Mill Race Village. That building served for 72 years as our community's library and was donated to the community by Dr. Lapham.

Mary and her brother William ran the Lapham State Bank for many years before returning to school to receive her medical degree. She worked in North Carolina and in Europe developing research and providing treatment for tuberculosis victims. She pioneered a certain TB treatment in this country in an era when few women were able to approach any field of medicine.

In addition to her business and professional accomplishments Mary Lapham was responsible for the establishment of a library in this community serving as the first president of the Ladies Library Association, writing the original bylaws and constitution, donating the building and providing funding for the first library collection. She was a charter member of the Northville Woman's Club, serving as its second president almost 100 years ago. The Woman's Club was founded in 1892 to provide women of this community an opportunity for self-improvement.

Although her entire family is buried in Northville, Dr. Lapham was buried in Woodlawn Cemetery in Detroit.

This week the Northville Historical Society offers thanks to Charles and Mary Fredyl for their donation of an antique pony saddle, doll buggy, kerosene burner and three grinders. We also remind members and friends to remember Tivoli Fair Arts and Craft Show at Northville Downs Friday, Sept. 25, and Saturday, Sept. 26. Tivoli Fair profits are used to maintain Mill Race Village for use by the entire community.

Company leaves creditors holding the bag

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

A bankrupt Northville construction company has left one of its clients fending off its creditors in court.

Garfield Construction Co., which declared Chapter 7 bankruptcy July 17, had been busy renovating Dennis Engerer's Main Street physical therapy office. Its sudden demise left Engerer liable for payments to Garfield's subcontractors for the work done on his property.

"(Garfield) did approximately 95 percent of the project and left town," Engerer said Tuesday. "They left us high and dry."

Calvin and William Garfield, brothers and owners of Garfield Construction Co., could not be reached for comment. Their attorney, Donald Cadotte of Birmingham, did not return phone calls by press time.

Engerer's dilemma follows more than a year of renovations by Garfield at his 332 E. Main St. office building. The construction firm had won a $300,000 contract to rebuild the structure and construct a 3,000-square-foot addition. Work was proceeding normally, Engerer said, until June 30, when he gave the Garfields a final $60,000 payment.

"They left town the day after I gave them the money," he said. "They took it to pay a debt that they had with the Internal Revenue Service."

While the phone at Garfield's 115 N. Center St. office was disconnected, Engerer's phone buzzed with calls from a dozen companies including Frank Sinelli Cement, Chelsea Lumber, G & J Heating and Cooling, Pioneer Drywall and Approved Plumbing. The companies are seeking payment for services rendered to Engerer through Garfield, services that Engerer said the Garfields should have covered with his $60,000 check.

"They stole it; that's what they did. They violated that trust that the subcontractors placed in them."

Engerer obtained a court order July 7 to stop the Garfields' IRS payment, and he heads to Wayne County Circuit Court tomorrow, Aug. 14, to argue his case before Judge Edward

M. Thomas.

"If I don't get the money back, I'm liable. I've got all these liens against my office right now," Engerer said.

"I'd love to see the courthouse filled with people who can substantiate my claims. There are a lot of them out there."

Ironically, Engerer said he is satisfied with the construction that the Garfield Construction Co. did complete. "I'm real pleased with the work," he said. "Fortunately, I was able to get in and start business, but they left a lot of it undone."

The Garfields themselves are due in U.S. Bankruptcy Court Aug. 20. The meeting will give creditors a chance to question the firm's principals about Garfield's assets and debts, prior to its debts being paid and any remaining assets distributed among the creditors.

"They're letting the world know that they went out of business, and I think the world ought to know how they treated people," Engerer said. "I liked the guys; I trusted them," he said. "I try not to hold any grudges, but when you're left holding a big debt, it's hard not to."

Bike tours raise considerable funds for foundation

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Northville's planned celebration of the Wish-A-Mile 300 will wrap up a key fundraiser for the Make-A-Wish Foundation of Michigan.

Make-A-Wish has sponsored such marathon bike tours for the past five years, said Program Director Sandi Janousek, but this year's tour has drawn the biggest crowd yet.

The nearly 150 registered bicyclists, four times last year's number, each were required to raise a minimum of $500 in pledges. The fundraiser will leave an estimated $75,000 for the wish-granting organization after expenses, Janousek said.

With 76 chapters in the United States, Make-A-Wish literally makes dreams come true for children between 3 and 17 years old facing life-threatening illnesses. The organization grants children wishes including family trips, meetings with celebrities, and special gifts.

"Our goal is to bring a bright spot into each child's life, a brief respite from doctors and hospitals," said Marilyn Hughes, co-chair of the Grand Rapids Make-A-Wish Council. "The future can't be changed... but we can make the present a little brighter by making a child's dream come true."

Make-A-Wish of Michigan was organized in 1984 in Traverse City. Michigan's first wish child was Joshua Kazmierczak, 11, from Tecumseh. Joshua wished for a family trip to Disney World, and he died five months after his wish was granted.

Three Northville children have had their wishes granted, including a trip to Disney Land, a Hawaii vacation and a New York Giants baseball game.

Michigan's Make-A-Wish chapter granted 15 wishes in its first year, while this year's goal is to grant 175 wishes. The predominantly volunteer organization prides itself on the fact that 85 cents of every dollar donated goes directly to wish granting.

Nationally, Make-A-Wish has granted over 14,000 wishes at an average cost of $3,500 a dream.

east to St. Charles, just outside Saginaw.

On Sunday, the cyclists continue south through Howell and Whitmore

Lake, and their home stretch takes them east along Seven Mile Road into Northville. Several Make-A-Wish children plan to ride the final mile into Northville with the tour.

The cyclists and children can count on a warm reception, courtesy of the Northville Rotary.

The Rotarians plan an afternoon of entertainment at the Main Street bandshell as the bikers roll into town, followed by a 4 p.m. dinner for 300 at the Community Center.

Dinner will be followed by a parade back to the bandshell and a 5:15 p.m. awards ceremony there. Festivities include clowns, an appearance by Miss Detroit Grand Prix, and performances by the Mariner's Band and Jim David Jazz Band at the bandshell.

"We're expecting about 2,000 people down there on Sunday," said Rotary board member Charles Keys.

Keys added that Northville may become a regular finish line for the tour.

The Issuer shall give the Transfer Agent notice of call for redemption at least 20 days prior to the date notice of redemption is to be given.

The Transfer Agent shall keep or cause to be kept, at its principal office, sufficient books for the registration and transfer of the Bonds, which shall at all times be open to inspection by the Issuer; and, upon presentation for such purpose, the Transfer Agent shall, under such reasonable regulations as it may prescribe, transfer or cause to be transferred, on said books, Bonds as hereinbefore provided.

If any Bond shall become mutilated, the Issuer, at the expense of the holder of the Bond, shall execute, and the Transfer Agent shall authenticate and deliver, a new Bond of like tenor in exchange and substitution for the mutilated Bond, upon surrender to the Transfer Agent of the mutilated Bond. If any Bond issued under this Ordinance shall be lost, destroyed or stolen, evidence of the loss, destruction or theft may be submitted to the Transfer Agent and, if this evidence is satisfactory to both and indemnity satisfactory to the Transfer Agent shall be given, and if all requirements of any applicable law including Act 354, Public Acts of Michigan, 1972, as amended ("Act 354"), being sections 129.131 to 129.135, inclusive, of the Michigan Compiled Laws have been met, the Issuer, at the expense of the owner, shall execute, and the Transfer Agent shall thereupon authenticate and deliver, a new Bond of like tenor and bearing the statement required by Act 354, or any applicable law hereafter enacted, in lieu of and in substitution for the Bond so lost, destroyed or stolen. If any such Bond shall have matured or shall be about to mature, instead of issuing a substitute Bond the Transfer Agent may pay the same without surrender thereof.

Section 7. Payment of Bonds. The Bonds and the interest thereon shall be payable solely from the Net Revenues, and to secure such payment, there is hereby created a statutory lien upon the whole of the Net Revenues which shall be a first lien to continue until payment in full of the principal of and interest on all Bonds payable from the Net Revenues, or, until sufficient cash or Sufficient Government Obligations have been deposited in trust for payment in full of all Bonds of a series then outstanding, principal and interest on such Bonds to maturity, or, if called for redemption, to the date fixed for redemption together with the amount of the redemption premium, if any. Upon deposit of cash or Sufficient Government Obligations, as provided in the previous sentence, the statutory lien shall be terminated with respect to that series of Bonds, the holders of that series shall have no further rights under this Ordinance except for payment from the deposited funds, and the Bonds of that series shall no longer be considered to be outstanding under this Ordinance.

Section 8. Bondholders' Rights: Receiver. The holder or holders of the Bonds representing in the aggregate not less than twenty percent (20%) of the entire principal amount thereof then outstanding, may, by suit, action, mandamus or other proceedings, protect and enforce the statutory lien upon the Net Revenues of the System, and may, by suit, action, mandamus or other proceedings, enforce and compel performance of all duties of the officers of the Issuer, including the fixing of sufficient rates, the collection of Revenues, the proper segregation of the Revenues of the System and the proper application thereof. The statutory lien upon the Net Revenues, however, shall not be construed as to compel the sale of the System or any part thereof.

If there is a default in the payment of the principal of or interest on the Bonds, any court having jurisdiction in any proper action may appoint a receiver to administer and operate the System on behalf of the Issuer and under the direction of the court, and by and with the approval of the court to perform all of the duties of the officers of the Issuer more particularly set forth herein and in Act 94.

The holder or holders of the Bonds shall have all other rights and remedies given by Act 94 and law, for the payment and enforcement of the Bonds and the security therefor.

Section 9. Management: Fiscal Year. The operation, repair and management of the System and the acquiring of the Project shall be under the supervision and control of the City Council and the Fiscal Year for the System shall commence on July 1 of each year and end on June 30 of the following year. The City may employ such person or persons in such capacity or capacities as it deems advisable to carry on the efficient management and operation of the System. The City may make such rules and regulations as it deems advisable and necessary to assure the efficient management and operation of the System.

Section 10. Rates and Charges. The rates and charges for service furnished by and the use of the System and the methods of collection and enforcement of the collection of the rates shall be those in effect on date even herewith, as the same may be increased from time to time.

Section 11. No Free Service or Use. No free service or use of the System, or service or use of the System at less than the reasonable cost and value thereof, shall be furnished by the System to any person, firm or corporation, public or private, or to any public agency or instrumentality, including the Issuer.

Section 12. Fixing and Revising Rates. The rates presently in effect in the City are estimated to be sufficient to provide for the payment of the expenses of administration and operation and such expenses for maintenance of the System as are necessary to preserve the System in good repair and working order, to provide for the payment of the principal of and interest on the Bonds as the same become due and payable, and the maintenance of the reserve therefor and to provide for all other obligations, expenditures and funds for the System required by law and this Ordinance. The rates shall be reviewed not less than once a year in April and shall be fixed and revised from time to time as may be necessary to produce these amounts, and it is hereby covenanted and agreed to fix and maintain rates for services furnished by the System at all times sufficient to provide for the foregoing. In addition, the City hereby covenants to charge and collect rates each year so as to produce net revenues at least equal to 110% of debt service requirements on the Bonds for the next fiscal year.

Section 13. Funds and Accounts: Flow of Funds. Commencing as of October 1, 1992, all funds belonging to the System shall be transferred as herein indicated and all Revenues of the System shall be set aside as collected and credited to a fund to be designated WATER SUPPLY AND SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEM RECEIVING FUND (the "Receiving Fund"). In addition, on October 1, 1992 all Revenues in any accounts of the System shall be transferred to the Receiving Fund and credited to the funds and accounts as provided in this section. The Revenues credited to the Receiving Fund are pledged for the purpose of the following funds and shall be transferred or debited from the Receiving Fund periodically in the manner and at the times and in the order of priority hereinafter specified:

A. OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE FUND:

Out of the Revenues credited to the Receiving Fund there shall be first set aside in, or credited to, a fund designated OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE FUND (the "Operation and Maintenance Fund"), monthly a sum sufficient to provide for the payment of the next month's expenses of administration and operation of the System and such current expenses for the maintenance thereof as may be necessary to preserve the same in good repair and working order.

A budget, showing in detail the estimated costs of administration, operation and maintenance of the System for the next ensuing operating year, shall be prepared by the City Council at least 30 days prior to the commencement of each ensuing operating year. No payments shall be made to the Issuer from moneys credited to the Operation and Maintenance Fund except for services directly rendered to the System by the Issuer or its personnel.

B. BOND AND INTEREST REDEMPTION FUND:

There shall be established and maintained a separate depository fund designated BOND AND INTEREST REDEMPTION FUND (the "Redemption Fund"), the moneys on deposit therein from time to time to be used solely for the purpose of paying the principal of, redemption premiums (if any) and interest on the Bonds. The moneys in the Redemption Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account) shall be kept on deposit with the bank or trust company where the principal of and interest on the Bonds, or any series thereof, are payable.

Out of the Revenues remaining in the Receiving Fund, after provision for the Operation and Maintenance Fund, there shall be set aside each month commencing October 1, 1992 in the Redemption Fund an amount equal to 1/3 of the interest coming due on the Bonds on January 1, 1993, less any amount in the Redemption Fund representing accrued interest on the Bonds or investment income on amounts on deposit in the Redemption Fund. Commencing January 1, 1993, the amount set aside each month for interest on the Bonds shall be 1/6 of the total amount of interest on the Bonds next coming due. The amount set aside each month for principal, commencing October 1, 1992, shall be 1/9 of the amount of principal next coming due by maturity on July 1, 1993. The amount set aside each month for principal, commencing July 1, 1993, shall be 1/12 of the amount of principal next coming due by maturity. If there is any deficiency in the amount previously set aside, that deficiency shall be added to the next succeeding monthly requirements. The amount to be set aside for the payment of principal and interest on any date shall not exceed the amount which, when added to the money on deposit in the Redemption Fund, including investment income thereon is necessary to pay principal and interest due on the Bonds on the next succeeding principal payment date.

There is established a separate account in the Redemption Fund to be known as the BOND RESERVE ACCOUNT (the "Bond Reserve Account"). Upon delivery of the Bonds, there shall first be deposited in the Bond Reserve Account from System moneys on hand and legally available for such use, a sum equal to the lesser of (a) 10% of the principal amount of the Bonds or (b) an amount equal to the highest annual principal and interest requirements on the Bonds.

Except as otherwise provided in this Section, the moneys credited to the Bond Reserve Account shall be used solely for the payment of the principal of, redemption premiums (if any) and interest on the Bonds as to which there would otherwise be a default. If at any time it shall be necessary to use moneys credited to the Bond Reserve Account for such payment, then the moneys so used shall be replaced from the Net Revenues first received thereafter which are not required for current principal and interest requirements until the amount on deposit equals the Reserve Amount. If additional Bonds are issued, each Ordinance authorizing the additional Bonds shall provide for additional deposits to the Bond Reserve Account to be made from the proceeds of the additional Bonds or City funds on hand and legally available for such use in an amount that will result in the Bond Reserve Account being funded to either (a) the maximum annual principal and interest requirements on the Bonds outstanding after issuance of the additional Bonds, or (b) an amount equal to 10% of the principal amount of the Bonds if the sum set forth in (a) above is not permitted by applicable federal law, which funding may be over a period of time not to exceed 3 years. If on any July 1st the amount in the Bond Reserve Account exceeds the amount required by this Ordinance to be in such Account, the excess may be transferred to the Redemption Fund for payment of principal and interest on the Bonds due on that date.

For purposes of making deposits to the Redemption Fund and the Bond Reserve Account, the principal amount of Bonds becoming due by reason of a Mandatory Redemption Requirement shall be deemed to become due in the principal amount and on the due date of the Mandatory Redemption Requirements. Each Ordinance authorizing the sale of Additional Bonds shall state the amount of Bonds authorized which are term Bonds, if any.

A Mandatory Redemption Requirement for the Bonds of a term maturity may be satisfied by the call of term Bonds of the same issue and maturity in the principal amount of the Mandatory Redemption Requirement at par and accrued interest or by the purchase and surrender to the transfer agent of the Bonds of the same issue and maturity from money allocated therefor as provided herein, or purchased with other funds legally available therefor. The Issuer shall elect the manner in which it intends to satisfy a Mandatory Redemption Requirement not less than forty-five days prior to the due date of each Mandatory Redemption Requirement.

The money set aside to satisfy the next Mandatory Redemption Requirement for the Bonds shall be used by redeeming said Bonds on the following July 1st or by purchasing Bonds of the same issue and maturity with respect to which the Mandatory Redemption Requirement applies and surrendering the same to the paying agent for cancellation or on prior to the required due date of the Mandatory Redemption Requirement. In the event that after any Mandatory Redemption Requirement date moneys remain in the Redemption Fund, as a result of the purchase of Bonds at less than par, the amount of such excess may be transferred to the Receiving Fund. If no

Bonds of an issue are issued as term Bonds then there shall be no Mandatory Redemption Requirement with respect to those Bonds.

C. REPLACEMENT AND IMPROVEMENT FUND:

There shall next be established and maintained a separate depository account, designated REPLACEMENT AND IMPROVEMENT FUND (the "Replacement Fund"), the money credited thereto to be used solely for the purpose of making repairs, replacements, improvements, enlargements or extensions to the System. Out of the Revenues and moneys of the System remaining in the Receiving Fund and the end of each month after provision has been made for the deposit of moneys in the Operation and Maintenance Fund and the Redemption Fund including the Bond Reserve Account, there may be deposited in the Replacement Fund such additional funds as the City may deem advisable. If at any time it shall be necessary to use moneys in the Replacement Fund for the purpose for which the Replacement Fund was established, the moneys so used shall be replaced from any moneys in the Receiving Fund which are not required by this Ordinance to be used for the Operation and Maintenance Fund or the Redemption Fund including the Bond Reserve Account.

D. GENERAL OBLIGATION DEBT FUND:

Out of the remaining Revenues in the Receiving Fund, there may be next set aside in or credited to monthly after meeting the requirements of the foregoing Funds, to a fund designated General Obligation Debt Fund (the "G.O. Fund"), or from other available moneys such sums as shall be necessary to pay debt service on presently existing or future general obligation bond issues of the City of general obligations or contractual obligations of the City incurred for System purposes.

E. SURPLUS MONEYS:

All moneys remaining in the Receiving Fund after satisfying all the foregoing requirements of this Section 13, may, at the option of the City Council, be used for any of the following purposes:

- (1) Transferred to the Replacement Fund or the G.O. Debt Fund.
- (2) Transferred to the Redemption Fund and used for the purchase of Bonds on the open market at not more than the fair market value thereof or for the redemption of Bonds prior to maturity.

Section 14. Priority of Funds. In the event the moneys in the Receiving Fund are insufficient to provide for the current requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund or the Redemption Fund, any moneys or securities in other funds of the System, except the proceeds of sale of the Bonds, shall be credited or transferred, first, to the Operation and Maintenance Fund, and second to the Redemption Fund.

Section 15. Depository and Funds on Hand. Moneys in the several funds and the accounts established pursuant to this Ordinance, except moneys in the Redemption Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account) and moneys derived from the proceeds of sale of the Bonds, may be kept in one or more bank accounts at a bank or banks designated by resolution of the City Council, and if kept in one bank account the moneys shall be allocated on the books and records of the Issuer in the manner and at the times provided in this Ordinance.

Section 16. Investments. Moneys in the funds and accounts established herein and moneys derived from the proceeds of sale of the Bonds, may be invested by the Issuer in United States of America obligations or in obligations the principal of and interest on which is fully guaranteed by the United States of America and any other investments permitted by law, and moneys derived from the proceeds of sale of the Bonds may also be invested in certificates of deposit of any bank whose deposits are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and which (i) has unsecured, uninsured and unguaranteed outstanding obligations rated A2 or better by Moody's Investor Service or A or better by Standard & Poor's Corporation or (ii) is the lead bank of a holding company which has outstanding obligations rated as set forth in clause (i) above. Investment of moneys in the Redemption Fund being accumulated for payment of the next maturing principal or interest payment of the Bonds shall be limited to obligations bearing maturity dates prior to the date of the next maturing principal or interest payment on the Bonds. Investment of moneys in the Bond Reserve Account shall be limited to obligations bearing maturity dates or subject to redemption, at the option of the holder thereof, not later than five years from the date of the investment. In the event investments are made, any securities representing the same shall be kept on deposit with the bank or trust company having on deposit the fund or funds or account from which the purchase was made. Profit realized or interest income earned on investment of funds in the Receiving Fund, Operation and Maintenance Fund and Improvement Fund shall be deposited in or credited to the Receiving Fund at the end of each fiscal year. Profit realized on interest income earned on investment of moneys in the Redemption Fund including income derived from the Bond Reserve Account shall be credited to the Receiving Fund at the end of each fiscal year.

Section 17. Bond Proceeds. From the proceeds of the sale of the Bonds there shall be immediately deposited in the Redemption Fund an amount equal to the accrued interest and premium, if any, received on the delivery of the Bonds. The remainder of the proceeds of the sale of the Bonds representing the costs of the Project shall be deposited in a bank or banks, designated by the City Council, qualified to act as depository of the proceeds of sale under the provisions of Section 15 of Act 94, in an account designated CONSTRUCTION FUND (the "Construction Fund"). Moneys in the Construction Fund shall be applied solely in payment of the cost of the acquisition and construction of the Project, including any engineering, legal and other expenses incident thereto and to the financing thereof. Any payments for construction, either on account or otherwise, shall not be made unless the registered engineer in charge of such work shall file with the Council a signed statement to the effect that the work has been completed in accordance with the plans and specifications therefor; that it was done pursuant to and in accordance with the contract therefor (including properly authorized change orders), that such work is satisfactory and that such work has not been previously paid for.

Any unexpended balance of the proceeds of sale of the Bonds remaining after completion of the Project in the Construction Fund shall be used for further improvements, enlargements and extension to the System.

Section 18. Bond Form. The Bonds shall be in substantially the following form:

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
STATE OF MICHIGAN
COUNTY OF OAKLAND
CITY OF NOVI
WATER SUPPLY AND SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEM
REVENUE BOND, SERIES 1992

Interest Rate	Maturity Date	Date of Original Issue	CUSIP
	July 1, _____	October 1, 1992

REGISTERED OWNER:
PRINCIPAL AMOUNT: _____ DOLLARS

The City of Novi, County of Oakland, State of Michigan (the "Issuer"), for value received, hereby promises to pay, but only out of the hereinafter described Net Revenues of the Issuer's Water Supply and Sewage Disposal System (hereinafter defined) the Principal Amount shown above in lawful money of the United States of America to the Registered Owner shown above, or registered assigns, on the Maturity Date shown above, unless prepaid prior thereto as hereinafter provided, with interest thereon from the Date of Original Issue shown above or such later date to which interest has been paid, until paid, at the Interest Rate per annum shown above, payable on January 1, 1993, and semiannually thereafter. Principal of this bond is payable upon surrender of this bond at the principal corporate trust office of the Water Supply and Sewage Disposal System of the Issuer (the "System"), including all appurtenances, extensions and improvements thereto, after provision has been made for reasonable and necessary expenses of operation, maintenance and administration (the "Net Revenues"), and a statutory first lien thereon is hereby recognized and created.

This bond is one of a series of bonds of even date of original issue aggregating the principal sum of $6,000,000, issued pursuant to Ordinance No. 92-153 of the Issuer, duly adopted by the City Council of the Issuer, and under and in full compliance with the Constitution and statutes of the State of Michigan, including specifically the Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended, for the purpose of paying the cost of acquiring and constructing additions, extensions and improvements to the System.

For a complete statement of the revenues from which and the conditions under which this bond is payable, a statement of the conditions under which additional bonds of equal standing as to the Net Revenues may hereafter be issued and the general covenants and provisions pursuant to which this bond is issued, reference is made to the above-described Ordinance.

Bonds of this issue maturing in the years 1993 to 1999, inclusive, are not subject to redemption prior to maturity. Bonds or portions of bonds in multiples of $5,000 maturing in the year 2000 and thereafter may be redeemed at the option of the Issuer, in such order as the Issuer shall determine and within any maturity by lot, on any interest payment date on or after July 1, 1999 at par and accrued interest to the date fixed for redemption plus a premium expressed as a percentage of par as follows:

1 1/2% of the par value of each bond or portion thereof called for redemption on or after July 1, 1999, but prior to July 1, 2004;

1 1/4% of the par value of each bond or portion thereof called for redemption on or after July 1, 2004, but prior to July 1, 2008;

No premium shall be paid on bonds or portions of bonds if called for redemption on or after July 1, 2008.

Notice of redemption of any bond or portion thereof shall be given by the Transfer Agent at least thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption by mail to the registered owner at the registered address shown on the registration books kept by the Transfer Agent. Bonds shall be called for redemption in multiples of $5,000 and any bond of a denomination of more than $5,000 shall be treated as representing the number of bonds obtained by dividing the denomination of the bond by $5,000 and such bond may be redeemed in part. Notice of redemption for a bond redeemed in part shall state that upon surrender of the bond to be redeemed a new bond or bonds in aggregate principal amount equal to the unredeemed portion of the bonds surrendered shall be issued to the registered owner thereof. No further interest on a bond or portion thereof called for redemption shall accrue after the date fixed for redemption, whether presented for redemption or not, provided funds are on hand with the Transfer Agent to redeem the bond or portion thereof.

This bond is a self-liquidating bond and is not a general obligation of the Issuer and does not constitute an indebtedness of the Issuer within any constitutional or statutory limitation, but is payable, both as to principal and interest, solely and only from the Net Revenues of the System. The principal of and interest on this bond are secured by the statutory lien hereinbefore mentioned.

The Issuer has covenanted and agreed, and does hereby covenant and agree, to fix and maintain at all times while any bonds payable from the Net Revenues of the System shall be outstanding, such rates for service furnished by the System as shall be sufficient to provide for payment of the interest on and the principal of the bonds of this issue and any additional bonds of equal standing as and when the same shall become due and payable, and to create and maintain a bond redemption fund (including a bond reserve account) therefor, to provide for the payment of expenses of administration and operation and such expenses for maintenance of the System as are necessary to preserve the same in good repair and working order, and to provide for such other expenditures and funds for the System as are required by the Ordinance.

This bond is transferable only upon the books of the Issuer kept for that purpose at the office of the Transfer Agent by the registered owner hereof in person, or by the registered owner's attorney duly authorized in writing, upon the surrender of this bond together with a written instrument of transfer satisfactory to the Transfer Agent duly executed by the registered owner or the registered owner's attorney duly authorized in writing, and thereupon a new registered bond or bonds in the same aggregate principal amount and of the same maturity shall be issued to the transferee in exchange therefor as provided in the Ordinance authorizing the bonds, and upon the payment of the charges, if any, therein prescribed.

It is hereby certified and recited that all acts, conditions and things required by law precedent to and in the issuance of this bond and the series of bonds of which this is one have been done and performed in regular and due time and form as required by law.

Section 12. Covenants. The Issuer covenants and agrees with the holders of the Bonds that so long as any of the Bonds remain outstanding and unpaid as to either principal or interest -

(a) The Issuer will maintain the System in good repair and working order and will operate the same efficiently and will faithfully and punctually perform all duties with reference to the System required by the Constitution and laws of the State of Michigan, the Issuer's Charter and this Ordinance.

(b) The Issuer will keep proper books of record and account separate from all other records and accounts of the Issuer, in which shall be made full and correct entries of all transactions relating to the System. The Issuer shall have an annual audit of the books of record and account of the System for the preceding operating year made each year by an independent certified public accountant, and a copy of the audit shall be mailed to the manager of each syndicate or account originally purchasing any issue of the Bonds. The auditor shall comment on the manner in which the Issuer is complying with the requirements of the Ordinance with respect to setting aside and investing moneys and meeting the requirements for acquiring and maintaining insurance. The audit shall be completed and so made available not later than six (6) months after the close of each operating year.

(c) The Issuer will maintain and carry, for the benefit of the holders of the Bonds, insurance on all physical properties of the System and liability insurance, of the kinds and in the amounts normally carried by municipalities engaged in the operation of Water Supply Systems, including self-insurance. All moneys received for losses under any such insurance policies shall be applied solely to the replacement and restoration of the property damaged or destroyed, and to the extent not so used, shall be used for the purpose of redeeming or purchasing Bonds.

(d) The Issuer will not sell, lease or dispose of the System, or any substantial part, until all of the Bonds have been paid in full, both as to principal and interest or provision made thereof as herein provided. The Issuer will operate the System as economically as possible, will make all repairs and replacements necessary to keep the System in good repair and working order, and will not do or suffer to be done any act which would affect the System in such a way as to have a material adverse effect on the security for the Bonds.

(e) The Issuer will not grant any franchise or other rights to any person, firm or corporation to operate a System that will compete with the System and the Issuer will not operate a system that will compete with the System.

(f) The Issuer will cause the Project to be acquired and renovated promptly and in accordance with the plans and specification therefor.

Section 20. Additional Bonds. Except as hereinafter provided, the Issuer shall not issue Additional Bonds of equal or prior standing with the Bonds.

The right is reserved in accordance with the provisions of Act 94, to issue Additional Bonds payable from the Revenues of the System which shall be of equal standing and priority of lien on the Net Revenues of the System with the Bonds but only for the following purposes and under the following terms and conditions:

(a) For repairs, extensions, enlargements and improvements to the System or for the purpose of refunding part of the Bonds then outstanding and paying costs of issuing such Additional Bonds including deposits to be made to the Bond Reserve Account. Bonds for such purposes shall not be issued pursuant to this subparagraph (a) unless the average actual augmented Net Revenues of the System for the then last two (2) preceding twelve month operating years, or the actual or augmented Net Revenues for the last preceding twelve month operating year, if the same shall be lower than the average, shall be equal to at least one hundred twenty-five (125%) percent of the average annual amount of principal and interest thereafter maturing in future operating years on the then outstanding Bonds and on the Additional Bonds then being issued. If the Additional Bonds are to be issued in whole or in part for refunding outstanding Bonds the average annual principal and interest requirements shall be determined by deducting from the principal and interest requirements for each operating year the annual principal and interest requirements of any bonds to be refunded from the proceeds of the Additional bonds. For purposes of this subparagraph (a) the Issuer may elect to use as the last preceding operating year any operating year ending not more than sixteen months from the date of delivery of the Additional Bonds and as the next to the last preceding operating year, any operating year ending not more than twenty-eight months from the date of delivery of the Additional Bonds. If the System rates, fees or charges shall be increased at or prior to the time of authorizing the Additional Bonds, the Net Revenues for each of the two preceding operating years shall be augmented by an amount reflecting the effect of the increase had the System's billings during such operating years been at the increased rates. In addition, the actual Net Revenues for each of the two preceding operating years may be augmented by the estimated increase in Net Revenues to accrue as a result of the acquisition of the repairs, extensions, enlargements and improvements to the System to be paid for in whole or in part from the proceeds of the Additional Bonds to be issued. In addition, the actual Net Revenues may be augmented by an amount equal to the investment income representing interest on investments estimated to be received each operating year from any addition to the Bond Reserve Account to be funded from the proceeds of the Additional Bonds being issued. Determination by the Commission as to existence of conditions permitting the issuance of Additional Bonds shall be conclusive. No Additional Bonds of equal standing as to the Net Revenues of the System shall be issued pursuant to the authorization contained in this subparagraph if the Issuer shall then be in default in making its required payments to the Operation and Maintenance Fund or the Redemption Fund; or

(b) For refunding all or a part of the Bonds then outstanding and paying costs of issuing such Additional Bonds including deposits which may be made to the Bond Reserve Account. No Additional Bonds shall be issued pursuant to this subsection unless the maximum amount of principal and interest maturing in any operating year, after giving effect to the refunding, shall be less than the maximum amount of principal and interest maturing in any future operating year prior to giving effect to the refunding.

Section 21. Sale of Bonds. The Issuer shall receive bids for the Bonds in accordance with the notice of sale approved by the City Council, award sale of the Bonds to the successful bidder determined in accordance with Act 94 and this Ordinance, and take all further necessary steps to issue and deliver the Bonds.

Section 22. Tax Matters. The Issuer shall, to the extent permitted by law, take all actions within its control necessary to maintain the exclusion of the interest on the Bonds from gross income for federal income tax purposes under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"), including, but not limited to, actions relating to any required rebate of arbitrage earnings and the expenditures and investment of Bond proceeds and moneys deemed to be Bond proceeds.

Section 23. Severability; Paragraph Headings; and Conflict. If any section, paragraph, clause or provision of this Ordinance shall be held invalid, the invalidity of such section, paragraph, clause or provision shall not affect any of the other provisions of this Ordinance. The paragraph headings in this Ordinance are furnished for convenience of reference only and shall not be considered to be part of this Ordinance.

Section 24. Publication and Recordation. This Ordinance shall be published in full in The Novi News, a newspaper of general circulation in the City, qualified under State law to publish legal notices, promptly after its adoption, and shall be recorded in the Ordinance Book of the Issuer and such recording authenticated by the signatures of the Mayor and City Clerk.

Section 25. Effective Date. Pursuant to the provisions of Section 6 of Act 94, this Ordinance shall be approved on the date of first reading and accordingly this Ordinance shall immediately be effective upon its adoption.

How to die. You don’t need to go to no school to learn that. And that’s just it. These kids aren’t going. So I went to the schools to see what I could do. Me, a man who’s seen his neighborhood go from bad to worse. But now I’m tired of it and I’m going to start with the kids. They’re the hope. I go to the junior high and just show up in class and tell them to take pride in themselves. Pride in what they are and to have dignity. They can wake up in the morning and either go out and be mad at the world or do something to make it good for them. These kids just don’t know better. And that’s no good because how are our children going to have good lives if they don’t stay in school? There is a reason to stay. And I’m going to tell them.

Still might be time to fight area code plan

When Michigan Bell released the latest version of a plan to add a new area code to southeast Michigan, we noted in this space that it would be a bad thing for Northville.

It's certainly not the end of the world, and it's certainly not the community's most pressing problem. But the plan on which Bell has settled will split Northville Township lengthwise into two different area codes, and that will only cause confusion down the line.

Beginning in almost exactly two years — Aug. 10, 1994 — Michigan Bell plans to introduce a new area code, 810, to the Detroit area. This will be necessary because technology like computer modems, fax machines, and pagers have increased the demand for phone lines so dramatically that all possible numbers in the 313 area code will soon be used up.

We can understand that, although we wonder if Bell couldn't have demonstrated better planning than to split a well-defined area this way. The same thing has happened elsewhere in the country — 25 times — so Bell has been aware of this building situation for years.

Under the plan approved last month, the northern boundary of the 313 area code will be Eight Mile Road for most of the stretch across the area. Out here, though, the line dips down to follow phone exchanges. Plymouth phone exchanges (420- and so on) and everything to the south will stay 313. Northville phone exchanges (349-, etc.) will become part of the new 810 area code. This means the boundary will split Northville Township into two different area codes.

To its credit, Bell has lessened the impact somewhat by arranging things so that for calls within Northville, no one will have to dial an area code even if the call crosses the line. What it will mean, though, is that anyone calling into Northville from outside the community will have to know the area code of the particular phone they are calling. We can see that becoming a significant annoyance, in addition to the psychological border created by two different area codes. The last thing the community needs right now is something else to divide it.

We wish Bell had taken a dramatically different — more foresighted — approach when it became clear that the 313 area code was becoming too crowded. For example, why not add the area code for all phone purposes other than talking? That is, why couldn't the new area code have been dedicated to modems, faxes, etc., throughout the current 313 area? That plan at least would treat everyone the same, and would make it easy for the dialer to know which area code to use.

It's probably too late for a dramatic proposal like that, although we'd like to see it at least explored. It may not be too late, though, for a simple change to the area code boundaries.

When Bell first announced it would introduce a new area code, the Northville phone exchange was slated to remain in the 313 area. That means the community would have remained whole, and wouldn't even have had to adjust to a new area code.

But in holding Northville together, that plan would have split the City of Novi. (Much of Novi uses Northville exchanges, but parts use Walled Lake and Farmington exchanges.)

Novi did something about it. Residents protested, motivating city officials and Oakland County Commissioner Kay Schmid into leading the charge for a change in the plan. And they won, resulting in the plan which pulled the Northville exchange into the new area code.

Really, Bell doesn't deserve much anger for approving a split of Northville Township; it didn't hear any objection locally. Part of the problem here is that the entire governmental system in this state in a sense discriminates against townships. They were never supposed to be the dense population centers they've become in metro Detroit, and as a result the system treats them as less of a real entity than a city. That's partly why Bell went with the plan it did; it's somehow considered better to split a township than a city. (It's not quite that simple, though, since the approved plan also splits the City of Livonia.)

The township/city issue really shouldn't matter in a case like this, and it's something that could probably be overcome with coordinated lobbying. And that's what we think Northville needs right here.

Although the change Bell announced was supposed to be final, actual implementation is still two years away. There is plenty of time to make changes, if anyone is so inclined. The lesson from Novi's experience is that Bell will listen, if government officials make enough noise about it. New township officials and a new Wayne County commissioner might still have a chance to find the same success.

We hope something like that can bring about a better resolution to the situation than the one announced last month. It's not the most pressing issue facing Northville right now, but it's still worthy of some attention and effort.

'Fiddler' scales new heights

There are two new players on the Northville performing arts scene, and their names are John and Toni Genitti.

The Northville restaurateurs teamed with the Masonic Temple to stage a production of Fiddler on the Roof, which was held over for an extra week and ended its run during two sold-out shows last Friday and Saturday.

The Genittis have hosted a series of dinner theater productions at their Hole-in-the-Wall restaurant, but this Summerstock production of the Fiddler required a larger venue. The 150-year-old Masonic Temple was refurbished for the occasion, with a complete stage set and lighting system and seating for 210. Director David Nelson designed the set and lighting with admirable results.

If Friday's performance was any indication, the Genittis may soon be billed as the new Nederlanders of Northville. A wonderfully acted play, combined with Genitti's famous seven-course family style dinner, made for a fulfilling evening in more ways than one.

The second-floor hall and narrow stage added to a feeling of intimacy during the performances. The wooden set itself, depicting the ancient town of Anatevka, was a marvel of engineering with its movable building fronts and a rickety-looking balcony and walkway allowing the action to take place on several levels at once.

Key roles in the two-hour production were played by seasoned stage performers.

Northville High School teacher and frequent director Gary Sturm amply filled the role, and the costume, of the philosophical Tevye. Sturm's understated performance conveyed more through a single glance or dismissive hand gesture than other actors do through their lines.

Maggie Clennon of the Michigan Opera Theater, as Tevye's long-suffering wife Golde, nearly stole the show with her sarcastic wit and poignant vocals, particularly her replies to Tevye's persistent questioning during the song "Do You Love Me?"

Classics like "Tradition" and "Sunrise, Sunset" were performed with power and poise, with the latter song in particular bringing a respectful hush over the audience.

But perhaps the most poignant moment of the play came when Nancy O'Keefe as Tevye's daughter Hodel, contemplating her departure for Siberia to be with her betrothed, sang the wrenching "Far From The Home I Love." More than a few theater-goers were seen dabbing at their eyes after the scene.

All in all, the theatrical crowd was treated to a first-class rendition of a beloved play.

The audience at Friday's performance rewarded its richly deserving cast with a standing ovation. Here's hoping that this will not be the last time the halls of the Masonic Temple echo with applause for a Genitti-produced play.

Trees in the primary forest

With the surprising results of last week's Michigan primary elections still rattling around, it's important to sort out the individual trees from the overall pattern of the forest.

Tree No. 1: Incumbents, especially those considered to be out of touch or corrupt, are out.

Few observers expected longtime northern Michigan Congressman Guy Vander Jagt, chair of the GOP Congressional Committee, to lose a primary. But earlier this year, more than 100 Republican leaders had said he no longer represented their interests. They turned out to be right.

Incumbent township officials in Northville and Plymouth who got tangled up in insider dealing through the Western Townships Utilities Authority scandal got bounced.

Tree No. 2: Never, never underestimate the power of the anti-abortion folks in Republican primary elections.

It now seems clear that Joe Knollenberg sneaked by his better-known opponents, David Honigman and Alice Gilbert, in the 11th Congressional District GOP primary thanks to a grass-roots campaign in which many of the more than 1,000 volunteers were abortion foes.

This is only the latest indication of the power of the anti-abortion movement in the Republican Party. For further evidence, just watch the state GOP convention Aug. 29.

Tree No. 3: Parties that allow their primary elections to be heavily swayed by single-issue activists risk defeat in the general election.

Dominated by the liberal turnout in its presidential primaries, the national Democratic Party for the last 12 years has insisted on nominating left-of-center candidates for president. This year, Bill Clinton may have a chance because he is in the most conservative wing of his party and, hence, closer to the views of most Americans than most Democratic activists.

In the 11th Congressional District of Oakland and Wayne counties, Knollenberg may yet beat Democratic nominee Walter Briggs in November. But you can bet hard money now that a lot of upscale, pro-choice Republican voters will give Briggs' pro-choice position a close look before they vote. Even though the district is at least 55 percent Republican, it could be a close election because of Knollenberg's ties to the anti-abortion movement.

The basic outline of the forest, however, is largely unchanged by the primary results.

Our political system is still in crisis, infested by careerist professional politicians who make it their life's work to seek and hold elective office. This new class is sustained by single-interest groups which, through political action committees (PACs), bribe candidates to their position through campaign contributions.

Each of these special interest groups holds a blocking veto against policy which threatens its particular interest. The results are two: political gridlock and a widespread feeling among ordinary folks that "politicians aren't interested in folks like me."

Political reform — a part-time legislature to eliminate the careerists and public financing for campaigns to reduce the weight of special interest bribery — is still needed.

Frankly, I doubt that we'll find many candidates talking openly about this once the campaign heats up. But they should.

Town owes McDonald thanks

To the editor:

First of all, I hope the old adage, "It's never too late," that it isn't too late to say a big grateful thanks to Debbie McDonald for all her endless hard-working efforts on the Fourth of July parade.

I do not believe that the people of the community have any idea what it takes to present a parade.

On Jan. 7 the first meeting was called to order with five people in attendance. Two weeks after that a very respectable crowd showed up — maybe eight people. Two weeks after that we were back to our original five people. To make a long story short, we met every two weeks up until June and then began meeting every week from June until the Fourth of July.

People came and went but we finally felt we had a good solid committee that we could rely on. Not true. As time passed people were not available, too busy or they forgot to take care of their project. Who came through? Debbie McDonald. I, too, must admit I let Debbie down (sorry again Debbie). So naturally when I couldn't fulfill my duties who stepped in? Debbie.

When the tickets weren't ready on time, who stepped in? Debbie. Our beautiful city, due to unfortunate financial problems, couldn't donate anything.

Do you think it's free to put on a parade? No way! Where does the stationery for confirmations, thank-you letters, postage stamps, ribbons, etc. come from?

Oh yes, the wonderful bands that make the parade successful ask for a donation so they are able to continue with their work. Yes, we did sell raffle tickets to help defray the cost.

There was a big miscommunication problem regarding one of the donations on the raffle tickets. When we went to collect the gift certificate we were told they didn't know anything about it, and we had to pay for the "donation." I guess this particular business didn't know their name was on these tickets and they didn't feel that the advertising they received was worth the donation we believed they were giving.

Thank you again, Debbie, for all your time. I hope next year you can get more cooperation from the people.

RTL wins with grassroots effort

We in the media had it wrong. We thought the backlash against "negative" media advertising decided the 1992 primaries. It's our bias because we deal in printed words and broadcast images.

Two factors decided most of the contested congressional races Aug. 4:

- Endorsements by Right to Life, the anti-abortion group.
- Grassroots politicking — phone calls to favorably inclined voters and knocking on doors, much of it by RTL.

Your immediate response, I know, will be to cite the apparent knockout blows David Honigman and Alice Gilbert dealt each other in the 11th Congressional District's messy Republican primary. Not so fast! Let's take the big races in numerical order:

1. Both parties fielded three candidates in our northernmost district. RTL endorsed Democrat Bart Stupak and Republican Philip Ruppe. Both won.

5. Again both parties fielded three candidates. RTL endorsed Democrat James Barcia of Bay City and Republican Keith Muxlow of Brown City. Both won. In the state Senate, Barcia is an obscure backbencher while one of his opponents, John Cherry, is minority floor leader. Conventional wisdom would have made Cherry an easy winner.

7. In a four-way GOP primary, John Schwarz, one of the state Senate's most respected members, figured to win. Sen. Nick Smith of Addison is pretty much a maverick and some days a nagging joke. I surveyed state convention delegates and found two Schwarz buttons for every Smith button. But RTL didn't like the way Schwarz, who considers himself pro-life, backed away from the "informed consent" abortion bill. RTL endorsed Smith, who won.

8. In another four-way GOP contest, RTL backed state Rep. Margaret O'Connor, a lone wolf running on a shoestring. She ran a strong second behind Brighton's Dick Chrysler and ahead of high-roller Sanford Pensker. An RTL lobbyist wasn't entirely unhappy. "Very frankly he (Chrysler) was an endorseable candidate."

9. Still another four-way race in Genesee, Lapeer and Oakland counties was won by RTL-endorsed Megan O'Neill, who was barely articulate compared to the likes of attorneys Michael Ballan and Chuck Forrest.

10. State Sen. Doug Carl had RTL's endorsement in this Macomb County district and won the GOP primary two to one.

11. Joe Knollenberg used retiring Congress-told psychological and emotional damage is inflicted upon those who are harassed by stalkers. Victims often have years of psychological problems as a result of this systematic terrorism.

It is estimated that one in 20 Americans will be the victim of a stalker at some point in their lives. Although hardly a new phenomenon, stalking has only recently been addressed by state legislatures. A year ago, only California had a law against stalking on the books; today, 23 additional states have laws against stalking. In time, I think every state will have a law against stalking.

The distressing case of Nicole Roby tragically underscores the need for immediate action to stem the horrific tide of stalking-related crimes. I am pleased with the recent developments in efforts to pass stalking legislation in Michigan. Rep. Dianne Byrum and I have reached an agreement with the House Judiciary Committee which should enable the passage of a four-bill stalking package, making Michigan's stalking law the most comprehensive and effective in the nation.

I encourage anyone who has been victimized by a stalker to contact their local law enforcement agency. It is my hope that this legislation will pass in early September. Anyone who would like more information about Michigan's proposed stalking law can contact me.

Education bill will create opportunities

To the editor:

The Michigan college students, university administrators, and others who had a role in the formation of the new Higher Education Act can be proud of their contributions. Together, we have fashioned a five-year plan to lower the financial barriers to higher education for students from middle-income families, and provide access to job training for our workforce.

In its first year — at the eight colleges and universities in the new 13th Congressional District — the new Higher Education Act will provide increased aid for more than 40,000 students and their parents;

8,850 of them will be newly eligible. We've made it possible for any student in Michigan, no matter what their status, to qualify for some federal education aid regardless of their family income. We have removed the artificial barriers to college aid which were set up during the Reagan administration.

Michigan's campuses will also be the testing ground for an innovation: loans directly from the federal government to students, eliminating banks and their subsidies. If it works, as I believe it will, a full scale direct lending program could save up to one-and-a-half billion dollars a year, and those savings could buy more education for more people.

It is very important to note that these programs do not serve just students in traditional higher education. Of the $20 billion available nationally to students each year — about one-third, or $7 billion — goes to students in postsecondary occupational and vocational training programs. This makes the Higher Education Act the largest source of job training for Michigan's workforce. In these times of high and rising unemployment we really need this help.

Thanks to supporters of Burl Adkins

To the editor:

I would like to thank those voters who showed their support for Burl Adkins in the Aug. 4 Republican primary. Since he was a new face and name to our area, we knew we had an uphill battle to wage, but with a lot of help from some very good friends and the hard work of a loyal staff, we are proud of a well-fought campaign.

Though Burl will not be representing us as our congressman now, we will continue working through the group he founded, Michigan Back to Basics, to educate Americans on issues and problems facing our nation.

Thanks again for your support, and best of luck to our fellow Republicans in November.

This tree died of a heart attack.

Carving hearts on trees seems harmless enough.

But the fact is, it cut short the life of this majestic oak.

By gouging into the bark, vandals crippled the tree's vascular system. So, like thousands of other innocent victims each year, the tree slowly died.

But the fight against vandalism is gathering strength from the example of Lynn Brauer and Carol Eichling.

When vandals girdled a 300 year old Chinquapin Oak near their Marthasville, Missouri home, they wrapped the wound in sphagnum moss and tended the tree daily, despite blizzard conditions.

If not for the severe winter, arborists feel the Chinquapin might have survived.

We believe miracles can take root. When people care enough.

Give a hoot. Don't pollute.

The great cookie WAR

Local residents favor Democratic recipe

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

As debate over November's presidential election grows louder and mudslinging begins to arise, one important question has remained unanswered.

Who does make the better chocolate chip cookie anyway? The big cookie controversy first arose earlier this year when Hillary Clinton answered criticism that she was not a traditional mother by saying she "could have stayed home, baked cookies and had teas" rather than becoming an attorney.

The highly political Family Circle magazine then dared to tread where no other media set foot by sponsoring the "Bi-Partisan Bakeoff." The magazine requested chocolate chip cookie recipes from Barbara Bush and Hillary Clinton, then asked readers to vote for their favorite.

The Northville Record decided to jump into the political fray and bring this issue home to local residents. Samples of both cookies were offered to people in downtown Northville and around the Novi Civic Center.

Participants were asked to sample each of the cookies, then vote for their favorite. It wasn't until after they voted that we revealed whether the winning cookie was Barbara's recipe or Hillary's.

Actually, Barbara Bush's cookie recipe tasted quite familiar to most people who tried it. That's because it is almost the same as the Nestle Toll House cookie recipe found on the company's package of chocolate chips.

Hillary Clinton's cookie, however, is chewier and moister, largely due to the unusual addition of oatmeal.

And although the Novi/Northville area is considered heavily Republican by political analysts, survey participants showed a decidedly Democratic taste in chocolate chip cookies. Hillary's cookie recipe won, 10-2. (If you include the taste-testing that went on in the Record office, the score is 18-3.)

Hillary Clinton's recipe

- 1 1/2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 cup solid vegetable shortening
- 1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 eggs
- 2 cups old-fashioned rolled oats
- 1 12-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate chips

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease baking sheets. Combine flour, salt and baking soda on waxed paper. Beat together shortening, sugars and vanilla in large bowl with an electric mixer until creamy. Add eggs, beating until light and fluffy. Gradually beat in flour mixture and rolled oats. Stir in chocolate chips. Drop batter by well-rounded measuring teaspoonfuls on greased baking sheets. Bake for 8 to 10 minutes or until golden. Cool cookies on sheets on wire rack for 2 minutes. Remove cookies from sheets onto wire rack to cool completely. Makes 7 1/2 dozen cookies.

Barbara Bush's recipe

- 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sifted all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup butter, softened
- 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 1/2 teaspoons very hot water
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup semi-sweet chocolate chips

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Sift together flour, baking soda and salt onto waxed paper. Beat butter, brown sugar, white sugar and egg in large bowl with an electric mixer until fluffy, about 3 minutes. Beat in hot water and vanilla. Gradually beat in flour mixture until blended and smooth. Stir in chocolate chips.

Drop dough by well-rounded measuring teaspoonfuls onto large greased baking sheet. Bake 10 minutes or until golden. Cool on sheet on wire rack for 1 minute. Remove cookies from sheet onto wire rack to cool completely. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

4-Hers stimulate child development, creativity

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

"My kids are important to me, and I want them to be competent and well-rounded," said Diane Davies, the mother of two girls, 9 and 6 years old.

That's why after she went to a meeting of the Novi Adventurers 4-H Club five years ago, she joined it.

And now she is one of the three-woman administrative council "involved in decision making," she said — decisions about new project areas and general activities.

In case you don't know, this 4-H Club, which is open to young people in ages 6 through 18, offers an assortment of project areas in which to be involved — areas like natural resources, entomology, cooking, stamp collecting, crafts, clowning, sewing, gardening.

And parents are apt to be much more interested, Davies said, so that they come and stay at the monthly project meetings and also at the monthly general meetings, which are held at the Tollgate 4-H Center on Meadowbrook Road.

At the general meetings, "I usually give the state and county 4-H news," she said, and "the kids stand up and tell what they're involved in."

In between times Davies writes a monthly newsletter for all members "and a yearly updated information letter for new members," she said.

Beyond project areas, Davies said, there are annual activities which the administrative council plans — activities like the October pumpkin float, a fall square dance, a Christmas potluck, a maple syrup festival, and an ice cream social.

And in the planning stage, she said, is a community service activity for high school teenagers. It will be jointly sponsored by 4-H and the Optimist Club.

How many members are there in the club?

Davies said, "We have 65 families and 105 children. When I joined there were 30 families."

If you think your children might enjoy Novi Adventurers 4-H Club or if you have a talent you'd like to share, call Diane Davies at 348-6559.

Anniversary

George and Jeanne Postif now.

After announcing their retirement this year, George and Jeanne Fuller Postif of Plymouth celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary in May. The occasion was marked by a special dinner celebrated with the couple's children Greg and Lois Postif Presley and Edward George Postif of Northville, and grandchildren Emily Ruth and Annica Jeanne Presley. The couple plans to spend their golden years traveling to Florida and to other destinations.

"We are happy now because we don't have to try to change each other any more," said Jeanner Fuller Postif.

Presidential race heats up in the kitchen

Kris Wright and Rebecca Longlois, who took a break from their work at the Northville Pharmacy to take the test, both cast votes for the Clinton cookie.

"The (Bush cookies) are too hard. I like these because they're chewier," Longlois said.

Wright, a Republican, agreed. But it won't affect her vote in November.

"I don't think the chocolate chips will change my mind," she said.

Jan Juhasz, who works at Grandma Betty's in downtown Northville, also chose the Clinton cookie. But she remains undecided about her vote, and said the cookies won't help her make up her mind.

"Not unless the women are going to be president," she said.

Curtis Clarke, a "chef, cook, and everything else" at Edward's described himself as "a confused voter" but he wasn't confused about

"The (Bush cookies) are too hard. I like these because they're chewier."

cookies.

Casting a vote for the Clinton cookie, he described it as "moister and creamier" than the Bush recipe.

Betty Brock and Nancy Duczynski, who both work at Sparr's Florist in Northville, also chose the Clinton recipe.

"This tastes like what kids make," Duczynski said of poor Barbara's cookies.

Duczynski was surprised that she chose the Clinton cookie, saying she would have expected Barbara Bush to be the better cookie baker.

Brock agreed. "She looks more like a grandma type of cook."

But Clara Lutz and Joseph Butler, both senior citizens who were volunteering for Nov's homebound meal program, cast their votes for the Bush cookie.

"I like these because they don't crumble," Lutz said. "The others fall apart. I like things that hold together."

Lutz, like the others, said her cookie selection won't affect her vote. "It makes no difference if she doesn't, mean I'll vote for him (George Bush)."

Clara Weiner, who was waiting for her mother to finish playing cards at the Novi Senior Center, chose the Clinton cookie because "it's chocolate. I like more chocolate."

"This one," she said of the Bush cookie, "is too doughy."

Weiner said her cookie choice matched her plans to vote for Clinton in November.

Shirley Pagett took time out from her work in the Novi City Manager's office to cast a vote for the Clinton cookie. So did Assistant City Manager Craig Klaver.

Perhaps, with George Bush's rapidly downsiding popularity, it is an omen of things to come. Or maybe it's just that Hillary Clinton could have found as much success as a stay-at-home mom as she has as an attorney.

Q&A

By WILLIAM T. TOMICKI
New York Times Travel Syndicate

Q: Do you know of any upcoming events for World War II airplane buffs?

A: The National Warplane Museum in Geneseo, N.Y., is preparing for its 12th Annual Wings of Eagles Air Show, Aug. 15-16. The military aircraft for the show will arrive Aug. 14. All three days, gates will open at 7 a.m.

The U.S. Air Force Thunderbirds will do an aerial display, accompanied by such planes as the Mustang, Hurricane, Corsair, Avenger, C-47, A-10 and B-52. Classic World War II heavy bombers will fly in formation; helicopters of the era will also be part of the show.

For more information contact the museum at (716) 243-0690. Information is also available from your local travel agent.

Q: Do you know of an American stuntman's museum?

A: It's called the Hollywood Stuntmen's Hall of Fame. The location is Moab, Utah, a small town on the Colorado River at the foot of the mountains.

Many John Wayne movies were filmed there. So were parts of newer releases such as "Thelma and Louise."

The museum showcases the history of the stunt profession, including costumes, props, action shots, videos, films and footprints of more than 200 famous stunt people.

For further information about the museum, which is at the corner of East and North Streets, contact the Grand County Travel Council at (800) 635-6622. Information is also available from your local travel agent.

Q: Where's a good place to see Shakespeare in this country?

A: In Odessa, Texas, there is a reproduction of Shakespeare's old London Globe Theatre. Its ongoing productions range from the old Bard to Broadway hits.

Odessa's annual Shakespeare Festival, which this year will be in February or March, will include performances of "Romeo and Juliet."

The octagonal-shaped theater features a four-level stage and semicircular seating for 410 people. Free guided tours of the theater are offered Monday through Friday. For further information call (915) 332-1586.

Shakespeare enthusiasts may also want to visit the Ann Hathaway Cottage Archival and Shakespearean Library in Odessa, which contains many old books, costumes, furnishings, documents and other Elizabethan-era memorabilia.

For more information contact the Chamber of Commerce, 400 W. Fourth St., P.O. Box 3626, Odessa, Texas 79760 or call (915) 332-9111. Information is also available from your local travel agent.

Q: Where can we go to teach our children about Virginia's natural history?

A: Visit the Virginia Museum of Natural History in Martinsville, south of Roanoke. This is the state's research, collection and exhibit center in the natural sciences.

Among the visual and hands-on exhibits are computer-animated triceratops dinosaurs and re-creations of views of Virginia 65 million years ago.

The Virginia Research Gallery exhibits original stone tools. There are also displays about animals native to the state, marine shell life, rocks and minerals. For more information contact the museum at (703) 666-8600. Information is also available from your local travel agent.

Try a summer vacation in Vermont

Middlebury comes alive with cultural and culinary opportunities

By SALLY JOHNSON
New York Times Travel Syndicate

Summer is the reason most Vermonters put up with the winters. For three months, after the rain ends and before the frost turns the leaves, the world becomes a vibrant, lush green and the residents, aroused from their hibernation, venture forth, remembering once again why they live here.

The town of Middlebury on the western side of the state is an ideal jumping-off point for forays into the Green Mountains, because nothing is far away.

Lake Champlain, 20 to 25 minutes to the west, offers swimming, boating and fishing. The mountains, with hiking trails, swimming holes and waterfalls, are a short drive to the east.

A college town of 8,000 people, Middlebury is far more cosmopolitan than its size or setting would suggest, with a variety of restaurants and inns that are often included on the recommended lists of national guidebooks.

From mid-June through August the streets and stores sound like a rural United Nations, with people chatting in languages from French to Arabic to Chinese, all of them students at Middlebury College's Summer Language Schools, where English is the only forbidden tongue.

Summer days begin with a rosy sunrise over the Green Mountains and end with a spectacular display of pink, purple and orange as the sun descends over the Adirondacks of New York state to the west.

For three weeks in July the weather turns hot (by local standards hot is anything above 90 degrees) and humid. When that happens relief is — literally — in sight: the Green Mountains, reliably 10 degrees cooler than the Champlain Valley floor, are a 20-minute drive east and up.

And should it rain, Burlington, with its array of cultural and culinary offerings, is an hour to the north.

OUTINGS

When Joseph Battell, the wealthy but eccentric Middlebury resident who built the Bread Loaf Inn around the turn of the century, was alive he banned all automobiles from the road leading to his mountain retreat. If that seems extreme in these times it is still an idea that has merit. Hiking and cycling are better choices.

The day-hiking possibilities around the Middlebury region range from a casual, if slightly uphill, stroll to a rugged, rock-climbing experience, led to the initiated.

Two valuable sources of information are the "Day Hiker's Guide to Vermont," which covers hikes off the Long Trail, and the "Guide Book of the Long Trail." Both are published by the Green Mountain Club and both are sold in the Vermont Book Shop in Middlebury for $9.95 plus tax.

One relatively easy half-day hike begins at the top of the Appalachian Gap where state Route 17 crosses the Long Trail, which bisects the state from north to south, following the ridges of the Green Mountains. Park in one of the pull-offs at the top and follow the Long Trail signs, headed south.

The view from a rocky ledge of the Green Mountain National Forest overlooks Branbury State and Lake Dunmore, both in the town of Salisbury, Vt., just south of Middlebury.

The trail climbs steeply for a mile or so, then levels off in a clearing. Follow the path through the bushes and out onto a aerie-like cliff.

Although Vermont is correctly thought of as mountainous, there are long flat stretches throughout the Champlain Valley that make it a cyclist's paradise.

Biking has become a wildly popular sport here over the past two decades, in large part because of the efforts of John Freidlin, the founder of Vermont Bicycle Touring. Freidlin, who no longer owns the business, has encapsulated his knowledge into the helpful "25 Bicycle Tours in Vermont," also for sale at the Vermont Book Shop and well worth the $8.95 it costs.

For those more comfortable with some outside guidance, Bruce Burgess, the owner of Bicycle Holidays in Middlebury (802-388-2453), will provide either a highlighted map or a custom-designed tour for as many days as you wish.

Burgess rents mountain bikes for $29 the first day and $20 a day after that.

Vermont Bicycle Touring (802-453-4811) in nearby Bristol offers two-day weekend tours in addition to the longer variety. Reservations are usually necessary.

WHERE TO STAY

The most elegant hospitality in Middlebury is the Swift House Inn, formerly the home of Jessica Swift, who lived there until she died a decade ago at the age of 110. The innkeepers, John and Andrea Nelson, have restored her home beautifully.

Prices for the hostelry's 21 rooms range from $75 for a standard double in the main house to $140 for rooms with fireplaces and whirlpool tubs in the Carriage House. The Swift House Inn is at Route 7 and Stewart Lane on the north side of Middlebury (802-388-9925).

Also long on charm is the Waybury Inn on Route 125 in nearby East Middlebury, best known as the exterior of the fictional New England inn on "The Bob Newhart Show." Prices for double rooms, all in period decor with stenciled wallpaper, run from $80 to $115. For reservations call (802) 388-4015.

The doyen of local inns is the Middlebury Inn, which has housed several generations of college parents and returning alumni. From the south on Route 7 it is the large brick building squarely in your path. Rooms cost from $86 to $150. Reserve early if your plans threaten to conflict with a college weekend (802-388-4961).

Budget: Several local motels offer reasonably priced doubles, beginning in the $39 to $49 range for a room with one double bed; air-conditioned rooms with two double beds cost about $58. Three are on Route 7 South: Blue Spruce Motel (802-388-4091); Maple Manor Motel (802-388-3166); Grey Stone Motel (802-388-4935). The Sugar House Motor Inn (802-388-2770) is on Route 7 North.

In addition, the Addison County Chamber of Commerce at Two Court Street in Middlebury (802-388-7951) has lists of bed-and-breakfast places.

WHERE TO EAT

Middlebury and the neighboring towns of Bristol and East Middlebury have a surprising range of good restaurants.

The Cafe Chautillon in the Frog Hollow Mill (802-388-1040) is one of the best-kept secrets in town. The deck overlooks the dramatic Otter Creek Falls. The menu emphasizes such Vermont products as grilled Vermont loin of rabbit in a mustard-chive sauce and grilled shrimp in a strawberry-champagne-leek sauce. Two can dine for $50 to $65 with wine.

Many locals rate the Swift House Inn among the top establishments. Popular entrees include linguine with oysters, peppers and plum tomatoes for $12; the rack of lamb is the most expensive fare at $18.50. Dinner for two with dessert and a modest bottle of wine comes to about $70.

Mister Ups on Baker Lane in Middlebury (802-388-6724) lies farther upstream. Choose the deck for lunch or an early evening dinner; mosquitoes can be a nuisance after dark.

Here, the extensive light fare menu is a bargain: quesadilla, $5.50. Hot Bangkok Salad with shrimp, $6.95. Otherwise, the chef does many things well, among them blackened fish. Two adults drinking wine can eat easily for $50, children for much less.

A bit farther afield, Mary's Restaurant at 11 Main St. in Bristol (802-453-2432) has acquired a reputation for a creative menu that blends fresh and unusual flavors. Entrees run from $10 for the nightly supper (chef's special) to a high of $21 for Fireworks Beef Tenderloin, served on a red-pepper relish. Chicken in Hell, grilled and served on a red-pepper pesto, costs $14.50; shrimp flamed in lime and tequila costs $16.75. Light meals come to less than $10.

Bookshop focuses on books about New York

By EVERETT POTTER
New York Times Travel Syndicate

Perhaps no American city has inspired more prose, more passion and more guidebooks than New York City.

And there is no better place to find books about the city than a small, well-lit space called the New York Bound Bookshop.

Situated in the heart of Manhattan, on the ground floor of the Associated Press building at Rockefeller Plaza, the shop carries more than 3,000 books about the Big Apple.

"This is a place for those who love New York obsessively, like we do," says Judith Stonehill, speaking for herself and co-owner Barbara Cohen.

The shop was founded by Cohen 15 years ago in the South Street Seaport area and moved to its present location three years ago. The two women run it along with Francis Morone, a writer and New York City scholar.

This is where shoppers can choose from some 72 guidebooks, find old copies of the Social Register, locate novels and mysteries set in the city, pick children's books and browse through volumes on Harlem, the subway, architecture and city planning.

The shop also carries vintage prints, sheet music, hotel letterheads, old copies of Playbill, posters and postcards.

"One of the most extraordinary things we have right now are hand-colored photographs of New York scenes that were done by the Detroit Publishing Co. in the 1880s," says Stonehill.

Printed from the original negatives, they were done with as many as 14 color separations at a time when four or five were usually used. An unframed photo is $175.

The current best sellers at the shop?

They include books as varied as "Letters from New York" by Helene Hanff (Moyer Bell, 1992, $16.95); "New York Eats" by Ed Levine (St. Martin's, 1992, $16.95), a food lover's guide to the food shops of New York; and "Chinatown: A Portrait of a Closed Society" by Gwen Kinkadee (HarperCollins, 1992, $23).

Among the specialized guides, Stonehill recommends the "Blue Guide to New York" by Carol von Pressentin Wright (Norton, 1991, $19.95) as the best all-around historical guide.

For those seeking information on hotels and restaurants, as well as informed opinion, "The Berlitz Travelers' Guide to New York City," edited by Alan Tucker (Berlitz, 1992, $13.95), is a popular item.

Anyone interested in the architecture of the city may adore the "A.I.A. Guide to New York City" by Norval White and Elliot Willensky (Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, 1988, $21.95), now in its third edition.

Then there are the ultra-specialized guides, such as "Literary New York: A History and Guide," by Linda Cirino and Susan Edmiston (Gibbs Smith, 1991, $15.95). The narrative takes readers to the homes of such personages as Langston Hughes, I.B. Singer and Norman Mailer.

The star-struck may enjoy "Larry Wolfe's Movie Stars' Homes in New York City," (Larry Wolfe Productions, 1991, $3.95), which points out where the stars live, from Woody Allen to Pia Zadora. It also has a fold-out map showing where to get free TV tickets for shows such as "Gerald" and "Donahue."

For shoppers, there's "Gerry Frank's Where to Find It, Buy It and Eat It in New York" by Gerry Frank (Gerry's Frankly Speaking, 1991, $12.95).

And many visitors will be thankful for "Where to Go: A Guide to Manhattan's Toilets," by Vicky Rovere (Vicky Rovere, 1991 $3.50). The author uses wit, candor and maps to help steer needy tourists past desk-clerks' glares and through labyrinthine hotel lobbies to New York's best-kept secrets.

The shop also maintains a large stock of second-hand and rare books about the city.

There are classics such as an 1892 edition of "King's Handbook to New York City," edited and published by Moses King, filled with 800 black-and-white photos and illustrations of New York's buildings and landmarks for $85.

Then there's Ward McAllister's "Society As I Have Found It" (Cassell, 1890) for $65.

"McAllister," notes Stonehill, "is the one who coined the phrase 'the 400,' which referred to the number of people who could comfortably fit into Mrs. Jacob Astor's ballroom."

For further information contact New York Bound Bookshop, 50 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10020 or call (212) 245-8503. A catalog is available for $2.

RECORD DIVERSIONS

6B
THURSDAY
August 13, 1992

Local band sets all-ages show

The Oriental Spas, a Novi-based alternative band getting considerable national attention, will headline an all-ages show at the Third Dimension teen club in Walled Lake this weekend.

The Spas lead the bill for a show starting at 8 p.m. Friday, Aug. 14. Objects in the Mirror will open. Admission is $5.

The Third Dimension is in Chuckers Hall, on Pontiac Trail between S. Commerce and Decker in Walled Lake. Call 624-0120 for more information.

Oriental Spas was formed four years ago by core members Jade Scott, Laura Ruby and Mary Stuart-Santos. Each, pursuing individual goals as recording artists/producers (and by chance working at the same studio), concluded that there is strength in numbers and welded their talents into one cohesive entity.

With Scott playing guitar, bass and drums, Stuart-Santos embellishing the rhythm track with the keyboard arrangements, Ruby adding the necessary finishing touches with percussion, and all three providing lead vocals and backgrounds, the debut album "Oriental Spas" was released on their own independent label, "Overture Records," in the fall of

With the following album, "Street Lines" released in January of 1989, a concise and concentrated approach was used to isolate the raw edge an album project can have when not over-analyzed and over-processed. The majority of the emphasis went to song-writing and composition, which years of work as writers and scorers had provided. The album, which took almost a year to compile, was recorded in just eight weeks.

The title single "Street Lines" was released to commercial as well as college/non-commercial radio. It received critical acclaim from both the radio and print media. Growing interest in the Spas was further shown in substantial sales here in America and surprisingly in West Germany where a groundswell continues to develop. Both "Street Lines" and the spring '92 single, "Tattoo," generated airplay on over 400 stations, and was acquired for distribution by Important and Twin Cities; this being additional retail support to the one-stops and direct mail already under way.

Also in January additional members were added for the touring band. A full support crew was enlisted and tour dates began in the summer of '89. These touring schedules included many of the college and commercial markets where a live "Oriental Spas" appearance was a long-awaited event.

1992 finds the "Spas" in the studio recording their third album and continuing to "spread the word" with permanent tour members drummer Kian Smith, and bassist Chris Stuba. Highlighting the live concerts with previews of selections from the upcoming album not only have resulted in climactic reviews from the press, but an enthusiastic embrace from the audiences displaying definitive anticipation for the new album's release. The live show precludes the flavor of the new album, an essence that is an R & B core embellished with a surprising array of new instrumentation.

Country Club Village to host golf contest

With a million dollars up for grabs, this year's Ronald McDonald Children's Charities hole-in-one contest promises plenty of excitement.

The second annual event, which gets under way tomorrow at Northville's Country Club Village, also has a big added attraction: Detroit Tiger Cecil Fielder. The slugger, who is acting as spokesperson and is donating $5,000 to RMCC, will appear today at the golf course.

"We are looking for a lot of folks to come out and have a great time," said Efren Cavazos, president of the RMCC board of directors.

In its first year, the shoot-out raised more than $43,000 for children's charities with about 1,800 people participating. Cavazos said RMCC is hoping to raise $60,000.

Funds, which go to meet social and medical needs, will be used for children 18 years old and younger. The Pontiac Lighthouse and Boyville of Michigan are just a few of last year's beneficiaries.

Golfers also have a chance of benefiting from the event.

Prizes for the shoot-out include a million dollars in cash, a $200,000 home or a 1992 convertible.

Pulte Homes of Michigan is donating the home. Cavazos said golfers have the choice of selecting a home from any Pulte development in the state.

Qualifying for the prizes begins tomorrow and runs through Aug. 23. Each day, the five participants closest to the pin advance to the finals. There will be a total of 45 finalists.

The first finalist to hit a hole-in-one on Aug. 23 wins the cash. If none of the finalists hit a hole in one, closest to the pin will win the convertible.

A second round will give golfers a last chance at winning the home. Finalists have only one shot in each round.

Men finalists will shoot at 175-yard holes while women will shoot at 160-yard holes.

Entry fee for the contest is $5 daily. The entry fee gives golfers three shots at 110-yard qualifying holes.

Kritch resigns basketball post

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Northville High School has lost another basketball coach.

Ed Kritch, the girls mentor for the past eight years, recently resigned because of family and work demands. He leaves the program with a 100-73 record.

"I really can't pinpoint it on one issue," he commented. "I sat down and added up the positives and the negatives. For the first time, the negatives outweighed the positives."

Omar Harrison, the longtime boys coach, resigned this past spring.

Kritch said he sat down in June and calculated how much time he had spent on his coaching activities.

"From June 15, 1991, to June 15, 1992, I was involved with basketball for 40 of 52 weeks," he said. "I have a young family, and it's been a grind on my wife and kids. I want to be more available to spend more time with my kids and their athletics."

Kritch, 36, is a 1974 graduate of Northville High School. He played guard for the Mustangs and later went on to Miami of Ohio University.

The Northville resident has two daughters, Julie, 9, and Jennifer, 5. Wife Candy is a teacher at Plymouth-Canton High.

Kritch said spending time with his family and new demands at work were two major factors in his decision. Pete Wright, Kritch's junior varsity and "co-coach," also left the program. Kritch said this was another important reason for his departure.

"I feel good from the standpoint that I think it's the right thing to do," he added. "I feel bad from the standpoint that I have a lot of memories and a lot of friends I'm leaving behind."

Northville High School is currently looking for a successor to Kritch. With only a few weeks remaining until the start of the season, time is running out.

"The timing of us leaving isn't good," the coach remarked. "But the timing would never be good."

The friendship of his players will be tough to leave behind, Kritch admitted.

"There is a certain bond with the players," he said. "There are a few or a half-dozen that you're close to every year."

Kritch said there were many highlights to his career at Northville.

Winning a district championship in his third year, the team's first 16-win season, and last year are among those. Kritch said restoring respectability to the program will be his most cherished memory.

"I think there is a certain amount of pride in playing for Northville," he stated. "We can play with anybody now."

The coach said he believes the immediate future is bright for the Mustangs. With players like Beth MacLean, Karl Krupanski and Nicole Hayden returning, Northville should be competitive this season.

"I plan on going to the games," Kritch said. "I'm still here."

The pending financial problems of the school was a factor but not a major reason for his decision. Kritch said "pay-to-participate" is a sign of the times.

As for his future in coaching, Kritch said he hasn't ruled anything out.

"It's something I like so much that it would be silly to say I wouldn't (consider it)," he said. "I love it, and I feel I'm pretty good at it."

Ed Holmes has a strange way of having fun.

Racing over rocks, trucks, logs and even picnic tables. It's all in a day's work for Holmes, who is favored to win the mountain bike racing junior national championship later this month.

The 18-year-old Walled Lake resident has bigger fish to fry than the national title, however. Holmes has his eye on winning the world championship next month in Canada.

"It's a formality more than anything else," he said of his chances in the national races in Colorado. "I'm very confident I can win and go on to the worlds."

Holmes has several local ties. Racing sponsors, which help pay entry fees and other expenses, include several Northville residents.

The teenager also does much of his training in Northville. As part of the Northville-based "No-brains" racing team, Holmes rides through Hines Park.

And just how does a mountain bike racer train? Pretty darned hard, thank you.

Holmes described his conditioning program as almost a full-time job. Swimming, weight-lifting and riding, of course, are the main components of his workouts.

To compete in the sport, racers have to be in top shape.

Each course is made up of eight 20- to 50-yard sections. Each section puts different types of obstacles, as mentioned above, in the racer's path.

The object of the race isn't to post the lowest time. Rather, points are charged against racer for touching the ground with their feet. Racers with the fewest points against them win.

Touching five times means disqualification. Holmes said it's difficult not to hit the ground.

Some of the courses, he said, have free-falls. Holmes explained that he dropped 21 feet once without touching the ground.

The teenager described his style of racing.

"I'm a power rider," Holmes said. "I do whatever it takes to get over the obstacle."

While there aren't too many obstacles he can't clear, the racer still has a hurdle to clear before going for the world championship. It will cost about $1,000 to make the trip to Canada, Holmes said, and he is still in need of sponsors.

Those wishing to help can do so by calling (313) 363-7325.

Shari Thompson is a 1987 graduate of Northville High.

Former Mustang Thompson knows triathlon

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Shari knows bikes. Shari knows swimming. Shari knows running. Shari knows triathlon.

Shari Thompson, a 1987 Northville High graduate, will be one of thousands of athletes competing for the world triathlon championship next month near Toronto. The event, which will be televised by cable network ESPN, is set for Sept. 12.

A star swimmer for the Mustangs and the Hurons of Eastern Michigan University, Thompson wasn't exactly enthralled with the idea of even trying the sport. But, with some nudging from boyfriend Adam, she began competing a year ago and hasn't looked back since.

"At first, I didn't want to have anything to do with it," Thompson said. "But I felt guilty because he spent so much money on the bike."

The 22-year-old racer for the first time last June.

"I wasn't ready for it," Thompson said. "I just did it. I finished, though, and I did well."

"It was a good feeling. I did something the average Joe Shmoe couldn't do. I felt really proud of myself."

And with good reason. Although Thompson describes the triathlon as no big deal, the sport truly puts human endurance to a test.

Athletes must first swim a mile. Then it's off to a 26-mile bike ride up and down hilly roads. As if that wasn't enough, a six-mile run finishes the competition.

While Joe Shmoe probably wouldn't make it past the swim, Thompson has competed about 15 times since her first event last year. Since her swimming career ended last winter, she said the triathlon keeps her competitive fires burning.

"I do it now because I like to earn money and plus I'm pretty good at it," she commented. "I'm better at this than I was swimming."

Thompson swam for Bill Dicks at Northville High School for four years. She specialized in freestyle events and still holds several Mustang records.

The Livonia resident continued her swimming career at EMU. Her college years were highlighted by qualifying for national competition as a senior.

Thompson graduated from the school last December with a degree in business management. She has yet to find her first job and is considering returning to school in January for work on a master's.

The frustration of the business world is one reason why the former Mustang's triathlon career has moved ahead in first gear.

"It's why I started racing so much this summer," Thompson said, "because it was the only thing that was working out."

Between races, she will share her swimming knowledge at Ypsilanti High School as the new girls head coach. She said it would be a little different being on the other side of the whistle.

"I think I will be a good coach,"

"I did something the average Joe Shmoe couldn't do. I felt really proud of myself."

SHARI THOMPSON
Former Mustang

Thompson said. "I know what works and what doesn't."

Of course, she still spends a little time in the pool herself.

Swimming 10,000 to 12,000 yards and running 25 miles a week are a part of her training program for the world championship. Thompson rides her bike as much as 150 miles per week as well.

A typical bike ride for her takes her from home in Livonia all the way out to South Lyon and back. Thompson frequently runs around Northville too.

Although she drinks two good-sized containers of water, she loses three or four pounds per race. It takes nearly a week to fully recover from a triathlon.

With her swimming background, the first leg is the easiest part of the competition. The six-mile run is the most difficult leg, Thompson commented.

"Usually, if I get passed, that's where," she said. "It's hard because it's so mentally demanding. And a lot of triathletes are good runners."

It takes a little more than two hours to finish a race.

Athletes from 15 to 85 years old compete in the races. Thompson will compete in the 20-to-24-year-old category in Canada. She qualified for the world championship in Cleveland recently by winning her age group.

Thompson said top competitors for the world championship will come from Australia, Japan and China. She said she would be satisfied by finishing in the top 20 of her age group.

As for her future, well, she's going to keep on racing.

"If I could make a living, I would do it," Thompson said. "That would be the ultimate."

"I'd rather drop over dead in a race than watching TV."

Thompson is looking for corporate or private sponsorship for the world championship race. Those interested should call 473-4439.

Golf Tip

Follow low, slow path for fairway woods

According to Links of Novi professional Tom Sheldon, a few simple guidelines should improve your fairway-wood play.

Controlling the tempo of the shot is very important. Golfers often want to "muscle" the ball, Sheldon said, and therefore over swing. He said players should use the same tempo in hitting a 3-wood that they would with a 7-iron.

A low, slow takeaway is a key. The pro commented that golfers should think of "sweeping" the ball off the turf instead of trying to dig it out.

In hitting the shot, the ball should be placed near the front foot of the golfer's stance. Hitting the ball slightly on the upswing will lift it in the air and provide proper trajectory.

Not only should a wood be hit from long distances, Sheldon said, but also from thick grass. A 5-wood will get through heavy rough where a 3-iron won't.

Consistency key for Dunham Hills

The key word for Dunham Hills is consistency.

The 18-hole course, located in Hartland, is one of the top courses in the area. There is nothing exceptionally demanding about the course, but steady play is vital to a low score.

While the majority of the fairways are fairly straight, they are somewhat narrow and lined with trees. Staying in the middle is key — there is little margin for error for those who sally from the well-kept fairways, and the roughs are unforgiving. There isn't an overabundance of hazards, but many out-of-bounds shots will never be seen again.

Dunham features fast, rolling greens. Those used to leaving putts short will love tapping to the pin while strong-arm types who normally hit a tad long will find themselves 10 yards past the cup.

Some of the holes are packed close together, and stray shots often wind up on the wrong fairway or green. Keep your ears open for the all-too-common shouts of "Fore!" that ring throughout Dunham.

At Dunham, golfers who rely on three or four good holes to bolster their score will suffer while consistent golfers should enjoy a good game. Repeated straight shots will prevail over long blasts that don't stay true to the fairways.

Dunham doesn't sport a preponderance of hazards, but watch out for the sand traps. The traps are usually sunk a few feet below the green, and they have about a six-inch lip that is difficult to manage. If you aren't skilled with your sand wedge, don't gamble with shots near the traps.

The course itself is in excellent shape. The maintenance staff is doing a superb job — the general appearance and playability of the course is top-rate. The cart paths are under repair, however, which is an added problem for those who end up playing from the periphery of the course.

Overall impressions

Beginner: Dunham isn't a great place for the beginning golfer, but it isn't a bad place either. The fairways are unforgiving to errant strokes, but patience is a virtue for rookies at Dunham.

Experienced: Dunham provides a true challenge to veterans of the golf game. Three words sum up the experienced golfer's goal at the Highland course — consistency, consistency, consistency. Steady play can provide a rewarding afternoon while any lack of control will contribute to very high scores.

Skilled: The blue tees beckon the top-flight golfers. With a significant difference between the blue and the white tees, experts are provided with the extra yardage to make Dunham challenging. For the very skilled, hitting straight and long isn't usually a challenge, so Dunham won't make you place high on a stress test.

FY 1993-1995 Transportation Improvement Program

Presented by: SEMCOG, the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments
660 Plaza Drive, Suite 1900
Detroit, MI 48226 (313) 961-4266

The public is invited to review and submit comments on the Fiscal Year (FY) 1993-1995 Transportation Improvement Program (TIP) during the public comment period, August 11-26, 1992. The TIP is a listing of federally and non-federally funded road and transit service improvements proposed by various communities, road agencies, transit agencies and the Michigan Department of Transportation. The new Federal Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act (ISTEA) emphasizes the public's opportunity to review and comment on road and transit projects proposed for federal funding. This public comment process is part of SEMCOG's overall responsibility for formulating the TIP and for approving projects for federal funding.

The proposed projects are located in Southeast Michigan in the counties of Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, St. Clair, Washtenaw and Wayne and the City of Detroit. The projects are intended for development between October 1, 1992 and September 30, 1995. The types of proposed projects include construction of new roads, widening of existing roads, resurfacing and repair of roads and bridges, large bus and equipment purchases by transit agencies and operating assistance for transit agencies. The TIP document identifies the location of each project, estimated cost, the source of funds and the agency or community which has jurisdiction over the project.

Written comments concerning the projects should be submitted to John M. Amberger, Executive Director of SEMCOG, at 660 Plaza Drive, Suite 1900, Detroit, MI, 48226. All written comments must be signed and postmarked by Friday, August 21, 1992. Verbal responses may also be made, at SEMCOG's Transportation Advisory Council (TAC) meeting to be held in SEMCOG offices (same address) on Wednesday, August 26, 1992, at 9:30 a.m. You may reserve time (limit: 5 minutes per person) at the TAC meeting by completing the coupon below and mailing it to the above address, postmarked by August 21, 1992.

Gymnastic camp teaches basics

By CINDY STEWART
Special Writer

While many local youth watched Kim Zmeskal and Shannon Miller compete for gold at the Summer Olympics, some children are taking a more active role in their love of gymnastics through Novi Parks and Recreation.

The popular summer gymnastics camp teaches the fundamentals of gymnastics—back walk-overs, hand springs, cartwheels and also works on the uneven parallel bars, vault and balance beam. After all, Mary Lou Retton had to start with the fundamentals.

The Novi gymnastics camp wraps up the summer season with Session III, August 17-21, 8:30-10 a.m. for beginner/advanced beginner and 10-11:30 a.m. for intermediates.

Instructor Cathy Cabay has been teaching gymnastics in Novi for five and a half years, with weekly classes September through May and summer camps in July and August. Diana Baldes works with Cabay as her assistant instructor.

"I was a gymnast during my four years at Bishop Borgess High School," said Cabay. "I've always loved gymnastics and now I love teaching it to children."

"It's an excellent way to help the young ones develop their physical motor skills and balance coordination."

All of the children who have attended Cabay's classes and their parents echo positive sentiments about the instructor.

"My daughter Jenny has taken classes from Miss Cathy for the last five years," said Mary Majjar. "Cathy has always been very encouraging and makes each child feel that they can perform the exercises and routines."

Jenny Majjar is 8 years old now and said she especially likes floor exercises, warm-ups, bridges and walk-overs. She's practicing hard to be able to do a back walk-over soon.

Ten-year-old Natalie and seven year old Crystal Corte both enjoyed the last session of gymnastic camp. The sisters have also taken classes for the last few years.

"The camp is a nice five-day schedule," said their mom, Cheryl. "It would be great if Parks and Rec considered adding more gymnastic camps during the other school breaks. It has been the highlight of the summer."

Natalie and Crystal found the camp to be very challenging and when their dad built a play structure in the backyard, they talked him into adding parallel bars for them to practice on.

Gymnastics classes are offered for pre-beginners, 3 years old and up; beginners, 5 years old and up; advanced beginners and intermediates. The intermediates work on more difficult exercises like back handsprings and back walk-overs and Novi High School cheerleaders often participate in this class. All participants can work at their own level and Cabay is good at determining when they should move to a new level.

Eleven-year-old Kristiana McDonald has attended the classes for three years and just completed Session II of the camp.

"I liked it very much, especially the vault, bars and beam. At the end of the camp we had a show for our parents to show them what we'd learned," said McDonald.

One of the youngest children enrolled for the next session of gymnastic camp is four year old Desiree Scheel. She started as a pre-beginner in the spring and moved on to the beginner/advanced beginner classes.

"It's a great program. The teachers, Cathy and Diana have excellent attitudes, stress safety and are great at getting the children motivated," said Loretta Scheel. "They work at the child's own pace and children work well in this environment."

Desiree Scheel is one of the youngest children enrolled for the next session of gymnastic camp.

Cabay has a way with young people and should do exceptionally well in her new job this fall as a kindergarten teacher at an elementary school in Livonia. But don't worry, she'll be back at the Novi Civic Center starting Sept. 14th to teach gymnastics to all the future olympic hopefuls from Novi.

Randy Step/Health

Good health key to quick recovery

Many of you know that on April 6 I went through major heart surgery. A leak developed in my aortic valve from a birth defect in the valve, a problem that I was unaware of until recently. I now have a transplanted valve and am doing great.

Now here I am, a healthy 36-year-old, recovering from heart surgery. Yet I know that somewhere, there is an overweight, out-of-shape person who eats a high-fat and high-cholesterol diet pointing at me. This person says I'm the perfect example of why diet and exercise are a waste of time. If someone who practices good health habits has heart surgery, why bother trying to be healthy?

But let's look at all the facts. Even if people end up with a bypass or some other surgery because of hereditary factors and not because of lifestyle, their surgical risks are greatly reduced by being in good shape. This means not only are they more likely to live through it, but they will recover more quickly and incur fewer medical expenses.

Furthermore, speaking from experience, the days spent recovering from surgery can be living hell. A person going into surgery in good shape will recover more quickly and may avoid many of these awful days. This can mean a recovery period of four weeks instead of 10.

Another advantage of being fit when a medical crisis arises is the effect your condition can have on your options. For this, I am a perfect example. Because I was in good physical condition, a more extensive surgery with long-term results was an option to me. If I had been considered at risk because of being overweight or having high blood pressure, my only option would have been surgery that provided a temporary solution and a guaranteed second operation at a later time. I would have been required to take a drug with risks and side effects and to restrict my lifestyle. As it is, I need no medication, have no restrictions and may never need surgery again.

So the next time you hear someone justifying a couch-potato, junk-food existence because everybody is going to die from something, remember that such a lifestyle can actually be a form of suicide or lead to a debilitated life.

You don't have time for exercise? Think again: Can you afford 10 unplanned weeks off? Your health is a precious gift that allows you to enjoy life fully. Cherish and respect it.

Randy Step owns Running Fit in Novi. This series is coordinated by Peg Campbell of the University of Michigan Health Centers.

Smalec, Cummings honored for work with youths

Stan Smalec and Bob Cummings have helped many soccer players develop over the years.

Two coaches from the Northville Soccer Association have been honored by the state of Michigan Youth Sports Institute for their efforts.

Stan Smalec and Bob Cummings have been selected as Outstanding Volunteer Youth Sport Coaches for 1992 by the institute. The two coaches were nominated by the Northville Soccer Association because they exemplify the criteria of this award — "to recognize volunteer coaches within the state of Michigan who have done an exceptional job in providing a positive experience for their athletes . . . helping their players to achieve personal goals in the categories of skill, fitness, knowledge, and attitude development."

Smalec has been a soccer coach in Northville for 18 years. He has coached at the high school level, as well as recreation, select and premier soccer.

Smalec is a "D" licensed coach by the Michigan State Youth Soccer Association. He will be coaching an under-13 girls premier team this fall, although he has coached both boys and girls in his career.

Cummings has been a soccer coach in Northville for six years. He has coached at the junior varsity level in high school, as well as recreation, select and premier soccer.

Cummings is a "D" licensed coach and will be coaching an under-11 boys select team this fall. Cummings also actively promotes the growth of soccer in the southeast Michigan area in his role as newly elected president of the Detroit Rockers Booster Club.

Smalec and Cummings were mentioned with the other winners of this award for 1992 in the spring issue of Spotlight on Youth Sports published by the Youth Sports Institute.

Unlike many of the other coaches in the Northville programs, these men are volunteering their time without having any children of their own participating in the program.

REAL ESTATE

National real estate auction this week

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

The world's largest real estate auction is Aug. 13. It's another significant milestone in the growing use of auctions to market real estate.

This historic auction will include about a half-billion dollars in commercial real properties. To be held in Los Angeles, it's an international event with participating buyers coming from Europe, Asia, Latin America, the Middle East and the United States.

Each buyer must submit a $100,000 (U.S.) cashier's check to qualify for the bidding. Reserve property prices range from $1 million to $22 million. If top bids are less than the reserve amount, the property owner may accept the offered amount.

The portfolio of properties to be auctioned includes office and industrial buildings, retail centers, multifamily residential buildings, hotels and other property types. Sellers are banks, insurance companies, pension funds, corporations and individuals, according to Bill McMorrow, chairman of Kennedy-Wilson, Inc., the firm that is jointly producing the auction along with Jones Lang Wootton.

A 100-page auction catalog is available by calling Kennedy-Wilson at (800) 522-6664.

The growth in real estate auction sales is stimulated by an "imperfect market," explained a spokesman for the auction-producing firms. "With so many properties now in the hands of lending institutions or government bodies it is quite difficult for foreign buyers to gain access to these investments."

In addition, there have been so few transactions over the past 24 months that neither buyers nor sellers can decipher appropriate value.

"Auctions provide a level playing field for everyone. They eliminate the pitfalls of over- or underpricing. The competitive bidding atmosphere and the excitement created in the auction room often results in prices that are higher than expected. And, buyers walk away confident that they paid a fair market price because they determined it in an open forum."

Real estate auctions have been around for a long time. In the second century, the Pretorian Guard auctioned the Roman Empire. But only during the past couple of decades has the auction emerged as a major marketing technique for commercial and residential real estate.

Even vacation residence time-share units are now auctioned. Mario Collura, the producer of an annual time-share auction, reports that more than 80 percent of the registered units in his auctions are sold on auction day.

Q. In today's world of high-tech communications, why isn't teleconferencing used in marketing investment real estate?

A. Teleconferencing is used increasingly by real estate organizations to communicate information about investment properties. For example, Century 21 Real Estate Corp. uses national teleconferencing to make its brokers aware of currently available investment properties at points around the world.

HOME DESIGNS

The Medina offers features for travelers

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

The Medina is designed specifically as a retirement home for people who enjoy traveling in their motor home. Nearly as much square footage is devoted to vehicle shelters as to indoor living space.

In addition to accommodating two cars, the garage has a third, slightly longer stall designed to shelter a boat. An additional 32-foot-long carport provides protection from the rain for a recreational vehicle.

Inside, the master suite, utility room, living room and kitchen/dining area are quite spacious. The guest bedroom is smaller but has a large closet.

The utility room is brightened by a skylight and could be used as a den or hobby room. Washer and dryer are concealed behind pocket doors.

The master suite has a walk-in closet, linen storage and a large bathroom with separate tub and shower. Sliding-glass doors open onto a deck.

Skylights in the vaulted ceiling illuminate the large living room, making it appear even more spacious. At one end of the room, the wide bay window provides a focal point.

The wood-burning stove, nestled in a brick-lined corner, provides visual interest and warmth at the other end of the room. Openings in both corner walls behind the wood-burning stove open up the heat flow to other parts of the house.

Amenities in the U-shape kitchen include an eating bar, plenty of cupboard and counter space, a pantry and space for both a freezer and refrigerator. The adjacent eating area could be outfitted informally, as a nook, or formally, as a dining room.

For a study plan of the Medina (209-38), send $7.50 to Landmark Designs, c/o HomeTown Newspapers, 323 E. Grand River Ave., Howell, MI 48843. (Be sure to specify plan name & number when ordering). Designers, Architects and readers with plans they would like to see featured also are invited to contact Landmark.

ETHNOBOTANY

The science of the art of gardening for wildlife

By RICK BYRNE
Copy Editor

When Doctor Doolittle wanted to gather the animals around, he talked to them in their own language.

In that sense, Celia Duke Larsen is Northville's answer to the mythical Doctor, since she can invite the animals in with equal success. The language she uses, however, is non-verbal. Her invitation to local wildlife is offered in the form of sight, scent and nourishment.

Larsen, who operates the landscape design firm Specialty Gardens, takes a special interest in creating gardens which are not only aesthetically pleasing to homeowners, but will also draw wildlife. Her goal is to orchestrate a union of humans, plants and animals through a symphony of columbines, viburnum or what have you.

Larsen is, in somewhat less fanciful terms, an ethnobotanist.

"An ethnobotanist studies the interaction between plants and people," she says. "Most studies in botany don't include people. Botanists may see how plants react to sun, or water, or stimuli, but they don't act like people have any effect."

Larsen's interest in the ethnobotany blossomed while studying at the University of Michigan. A summer internship in urban ecology placed her in Detroit's inner city.

"I spent a summer in the city studying how people turned vacant lots into gardens," she says.

Out of that experience sprang a curiosity that literally broke some new ground.

"Most ethnobotany studies were done on ancient people," says Larsen. "There was no view that industrialized society had any use for plants."

Ironically, it was at the home of one of the great industrialists that Larsen's talent for landscape design took flight. An internship at the Henry Ford Estate in Dearborn enabled her to study the gardens created by Jens Jensen.

"Jensen is to landscape architecture what Frank Lloyd Wright is to building architecture," says Larsen. "The Henry Ford Estate is the most intact example of Jensen's work."

Larsen lists Jensen as one of her primary influences.

"His style is very naturalistic," she says. "It's not meant to mimic nature, but to act-

Invite earthworms

By C.Z. Guest

GARDENING

Often called "nature's plow," and unlike many creepy-crawlies, earthworms are one of a gardener's best friends. In an acre of land, earthworms can eat their way through 15 tons of soil a year!

Worm holes bring air to plant roots and loosen the soil so water can penetrate. They also provide the perfect fertilizer, in the form of wiggly-shape piles of earth called "castings," composed of undigested material, which the worm has passed through its body. The castings are rich in trace minerals and nitrogen necessary for proper plant growth.

There is one thing about earthworms that make most people wonder - which is the head, which is the tail? Let me explain once and for all.

Near the front of the worm is a swollen fleshy band called the clitellum, this is where the eggs are formed. Even though earthworms are both male and female in one, a partner is needed for fertilization.

During mating, one worm sticks its head under the band of another worm and cross-fertilization immediately occurs. Egg capsules, each containing four to 20 unborn worms, grow under the clitellum. When ready to give birth, the capsule slips out and moves along the worm's body to the nose tip and then falls off.

Incubation varies according to environmental conditions. Usually in a month white threadlike babies emerge, and in three months they are fully mature. Earthworms have a life span of four years.

Rather than buying earthworms, encourage your own. The key to nature's plow is a compost heap.

Good gardeners are aware that earthworms like tasty morsels on their menu and that they are particularly fond of toast, brown sugar, fruit skins, coffee grounds and pea pods.

KNOW YOUR CLIMATE

The key to success in gardening is knowing which plants to plant where. For example, those best suited for your area. A good gardener knows on average how cold the garden gets in winter, the yearly rainfall and how hot and dry it becomes during the ally look as if it belongs there.

"For example, you can look at a wooded portion of the garden and say 'Oh, this is just some woods.' What you don't know is that it used to be a cornfield.

"Jensen would use plants that were indigenous to the area. Instead of yews in front of every house, he would place pine trees if that was a style that was appropriate to the area.

Far from the inner city or the regal estate, Larsen now designs gardens and landscaping for a variety of clients throughout Detroit's suburban areas. She's also chairperson of the Northville Township Beautification Commission. From a studio above her garage in downtown Northville, she can plan just about any garden to suit the needs of her clients.

"I like to develop a relationship with the client," she says. "I know that sounds corny, but it's true. I'll do as much or as little as they want."

That can mean designing and planting landscaping for a piece of property and sub-contracting for paving or rock walls. After that the client may care for the garden, or call on Larsen for ongoing maintenance. Care, however, is usually minimal, in keeping with the natural way of things.

"I try to design so you don't have to prune all the time," Larsen says. "Wild things don't look right if they're pruned."

In some cases, Larsen has just supervised the planting operation, and let husband, wife and kids do the actual dirty work.

"I have two very different kinds of clients," she says. "Some people are very interested in having a garden, but they're so busy they want it all done by somebody else. Other clients want very much to be involved in the work."

Along with the influence of the masters, Larsen has developed her own style and preference now that she's in business for herself.

"I design for wildlife," she says. "That can mean berry-producing shrubs to draw birds, or prairie wildflowers, which butterflies like."

Flowers with tolerant seed heads, like Black-eyed Susans, attract other birds, who like to nibble on the seeds. A brush pile is nature's welcome mat for rabbits, according to Larsen. And if you want snakes (well, there's no accounting for taste), broken slabs and rocks will give them cover, as well as a place to sun themselves by day.

Wood chips and other organic ground cover will keep weeds down, and give you an abundant supply of worms.

A birdbath is nice for the birds that it draws, and Larsen says for some reason, little children love to stick their fingers in them — when they aren't watching the birds, that is.

But perhaps the most important aspect of drawing wildlife, Larsen says, has little to do with specific plants or landscaping material.

"For landscapes to draw wildlife, you want what we call 'edge,'" Larsen says. "That's where the woods meet the fields. The low shrubs in that area will get the greatest amount of wildlife."

With a good edge, tall trees like oaks, hickories and maples, will give way to understory trees like dogwoods, crabapples and service berries. Closer to the field (or lawn, as the case may be) will be shrubs like viburnum which can tolerate a fair amount of shade. Then right alongside the lawn or field will be pockets of wildflowers with their brilliant foliage. Evergreens can be thrown in for winter cover, but Larsen says it's crucial that the edge take a natural, curving form, rather than a straight line.

Larsen steps through the gate and into a garden she designed in the Edenderry subdivision, and everywhere there is motion. Practically every piece of plant life rustles as birds scatter at the approach of humans. This particular garden was designed to attract hummingbirds and butterflies.

The Butterfly Weed glows bright orange, and there's bee balm to draw hummingbirds. Swamp Milkweed flaunts the magenta color of its blooms. The stalks remain from some daffodils which bloomed earlier in the spring.

Indeed, sometimes Larsen can be a little too successful in drawing wildlife to her gardens.

"The bunnies came and attacked the lilies and the Black-eyed Susans, so I guess I'll have to try something different," she says.

A trellis at the entrance supports a creeping Trumpet Vine. Though it is all green now, it will eventually burst forth with orange flowers, and continue to draw hummingbirds.

"Hummingbirds are attracted to reds, oranges and pinks," Larsen says.

Larsen's expertise isn't by any means limited to wildlife gardens. She has created herb gardens, and has particularly good connections for finding the best native Michigan plant life. Wildflowers are actively farmed in Michigan and neighboring states.

"I buy nursery-grown plants, not ones collected from the wild," Larsen says. "The main reason I got involved with the Township Beautification Commission was because I wanted to preserve the woodlands."

Q. I would be interested in your evaluation of this Ansonia "Triumph" model shelf clock. I know it has been in the family since 1900.

On the back it states "Prize Medal Awarded, Paris Exposition, 1878."

A. This model clock was introduced in 1880. It would probably sell in the $400 to $500 range.

The Paris Exposition Medal was awarded to the company, Ansonia, not the clock.

Q. What can you tell me about my Limoges porcelain box? It is 5 by 6 inches and 1-1/2 inches deep. It is decorated with fish, shells and seaweed.

A. This mark was used in Limoges, France, by Boisbertrand & Dorat in the early 1900s. It would probably sell for about $125 to $135. The decoration suggests that this is a sardine box.

Q. Please tell me whatever information you may have about a stein I have. It is a 1-liter German beer stein. It has male figures all around the sides. On the bottom is a picture of a stein in a triangle and the word "Musterschutz."

I would also like to know what it is worth.

ANTIQUES

A. Simon Peter Gerz made your stein during the late 19th century in the Hohn-Granzhausen area of Germany. "Musterschutz" means "patented" or "protected."

Similar steins to yours are selling for around $135 to $145.

Q. The mark on the bottom of my left-handed mustache cup is "RS Prussia." Can you tell me something about its origin, vintage and value?

A. This mark was used by Reinhold Schlegelmilch in Tübingen, Germany, around the turn of the century. The value would fall in the $150 to $175 range. An ordinary unmarked mustache cup might sell for $35 to $45.

Q. I have heard that reproductions of Coca-Cola trays are being sold. I know that old Coca-Cola trays are valuable, but I would like to know something about the reproductions and what they are being sold for.

A. Some of the prices for reproductions of Coca-Cola trays are:

- Original 1914 tray, $200; 1972 copy, $20.
- Original 1904 tray, $850; 1968 copy, $50.
- Original 1917 tray, $200; 1972 copy, $20.
- Original 1909 tray, $350; 1971 copy, $10.

Coating not recommended for asphalt shingles; removing creosote

By Gene Gary
Copley News Service

Q. My question concerns extending the life of my 10-year-old asphalt shingle roof, which still looks new. Is there a practical coating for doing this before the roof deteriorates?

It has been suggested that driveway asphalt coating be mopped on, followed by paint that won't crack from expansion and contraction. Or, better yet, in order to add insulation value, an asphalt-aluminum coating followed by a roof paint.

Can you give me your advice?

A. The technical staff of the National

Roofing Contractors Association advises against such a coating in your situation. Because it's a shingle, steep-sloped roof, which is installed in overlapping layers, no coating or treatment is applicable due to the significant expansion and contraction that shingle roofs experience.

Coatings are unable to bridge the gaps between the layers of shingles. Therefore, they are only recommended on low-slope roofs with membranes.

Q. I recently removed a woodburning stove inset in my stone fireplace. There is some creosote buildup on the front of the stones around the opening. Can you give me any information about removing this black stain from the stonework? It is very unsightly.

A. Smoke and creosote staining are difficult to remove from masonry surfaces. Try using a paste of powdered pumice and concentrated ammonia. Apply heavily to stained area with a brush and let set for two hours, then scrub with hot water and soap and rinse with clear water.

For more stubborn staining, a poultice using trichlorethylene will pull the stain from the pores of bricks and many types of stone. Precaution should be taken to ventilate a closed space in which trichlorethylene is used, as the fumes are harmful.

There also are good masonry cleaners on the market. Check with your masonry dealer for products specifically recommended for smoke stains and creosote buildup.

If you still can't remove the staining, you might consider having the stones cleaned by a professional — a masonry contractor who has special equipment, expertise and products to deal with your specific cleaning problem.

There are strong chemicals available that could be effective, but it is important to know how and what to use, according to the type of stonework your dealing with. Certain acid treatments can permanently damage various types of brick. That's why a professional may be your best bet.

Know thy climate type of your plant

summer season.
If you don't have this information at your fingertips, check with your local nursery or an agricultural college for a climate map. Skilled gardeners use these maps as general guides because they realize that within 50 miles of their gardens there may be different situations that will affect the choice of plants and, of course, planting times.

Some factors to consider

Western and southern exposures are best, and a gardener should match a plant's needs to the correct exposure.

Wind can cause havoc with plants, so shield them from wind in all seasons to increase their odds of survival.

Consider elevation when selecting plants since cold air sweeps down and rests in low areas. Keep in mind these frost pockets are OK for some plants, deadly for others. Plants that prefer warmth, put on the tops or sides of hills never at the bottom.

Use shrubs, trees, fences and sides of buildings to your advantage watch the play of shadows at different times of the season winds and the flow of snowdrifts in winter. These varying situations are perfect for some plants, for others, they are harmful

“Help save a generation of children.”

Drug abuse is a terrible threat to our country. It's killing our children.

Some die physically. Others lose interest in life itself. They have no hopes, only habits. They're racing through a vague childhood toward a valueless existence as an adult. Many won't make it. Unfortunately, the habit is supported through apathy.

“We build walls of denial around the problem,” states Nancy Reagan, who joins with Kiwanis International and other organizations in active concern over school-age drug usage. “It's time for us to stop denying the extent of drug and alcohol abuse and bring it out into the open.”

Join with our Former First Lady and make drug abuse a matter of First Priority. Join one of the 4000 volunteer groups who are facing the problem at the community level.

The facts are convincing. With massive involvement, we can make a major impact.

Help save a generation of children.

Assist Former First Lady Nancy Reagan, your local Kiwanis club and 4000 volunteer groups making a difference where you live.

Seventy years of community service.

Clean start New local company revives old cabinets

By MARILYN HERALD
Special Writer

Just as vehicles often need a tune-up after several thousand miles, so, too, do kitchens need a sprucing up after the cooking of several thousand meals.

Some area kitchens are taking on a brighter, cleaner look these days, thanks to Jim and Mary Mahoney of Milford and their work as Kitchen Tune-Up (KTU) experts.

The Mahoneys recently acquired the rights to operate the KTU franchise in Western Oakland and Wayne counties, including Milford and South Lyon. KTU is a national franchise with more than 150 locations in the United States and Canada.

A wood treatment process that brings the original luster back to kitchen cabinets and other wood surfaces without sanding, stripping and varnishing, KTU can, in most instances, be accomplished in less than a day and at a cost of less than $300, according to Jim.

Currently, Jim, a former Northville resident who played high school football there in the 1960s, does the actual work of restoring kitchens and other wood and laminated surfaces while Mary continues her secretarial job at Macomb Hospital Center. "I'm looking forward to doing more than just the bookwork for the business," Mary said.

Jim added that he hopes to have Mary working full time in their KTU partnership by January 1993.

Formerly a director of finance and administration for a large Southfield law firm, Jim explained he decided to try his own business following Mary's skiing accident last January at Jackson Hole, Wyo.

"We're both skiers and we have no intention of giving it up," Jim commented. "But after Mary's accident when she slid 1,000 feet and suffered an arm and head injury, we took a look at our lives and asked ourselves, 'Are we happy doing what we're doing?'"

"We decided we'd like to start our own small business," explained Jim, a certified public accountant who spent most of his professional career in the Boston area.

After looking into several home-type business franchises, they decided that KTU had the elements they wanted — something relatively new to the market, an inexpensive process and one that can be accomplished in a short time. It's part of the much-touted trend in today's market of the "don't move, improve" philosophy.

As Jim describes it, KTU takes on both commercial and residential wood restoration. "It is an unique nine-step process which cleans, oils and restores all types of wood to their original luster and beauty," he said.

"The cost of wood restoration is typically 10 percent or less than the cost of replacement or refinishing," he added. "The process can usually be completed in less than a day and leaves no odor or mess."

"The residential market targets kitchens; however, the process works equally well on paneling, vanities, millwork and furniture. The commercial division can provide the same high-quality restoration to wood found in restaurants, professional offices and hotels."

Once they made their decision to tackle a new line of work, Jim and Mary launched into it with enthusiasm and optimism. To familiarize themselves with the product and the process, the Mahoneys attended a training school in Aberdeen, S.D., from May 12-16, and are now certified wood-care specialists.

Officially stepping into the marketplace on June 1, Jim said he had expected zero revenue for at least the first six weeks. "We figured July and August in particular would be slow because people are outside more and not worrying so much about how the inside looks."

Instead of a slow time, the Mahoneys have booked 20 jobs since June 1 and have registered many happy customers. Free demonstrations in would-be customers' homes have helped the Mahoneys sell their service. Satisfaction is guaranteed. Visa, MasterCard and Discover cards are accepted.

In addition to their work with wood surfaces, KTU experts take on such chores as restoration of laminated doors and counters. They also have a full line of Quality Doors and cabinet hardware available for custom ordering should their clients opt for replacement services.

"While I'm doing a kitchen tune-up, I leave no mess and I lubricate hinges, adjust bumper guards on doors for quiet closing and take care of other chores that make the kitchen seem like new," Jim said, adding that a typical job usually begins around 8 or 9 a.m. and is completed by 2 or 3 p.m. the same day.

Money Management

Ask some hard questions about debt

If opening your credit card statements makes you queasy, it may mean that you have been a victim of your own spending habits. To find out if your money management habits are putting you on the track to disaster, the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants recommends that you ask yourself a few hard questions.

DO YOU PAY OFF CREDIT WITH CREDIT?

If you take cash advances on credit cards to meet current bills, you are most likely living beyond your means. Set up a cash flow chart so you can better identify your income and expenses on a monthly basis.

DO YOU CHARGE EVERYTHING?

You're flirting with trouble if you reach for a charge card every time you make a purchase. Before using credit, ask yourself if you really need the item and how much you can afford to pay for it each month.

DO YOU ONLY MAKE MINIMUM CHARGE CARD PAYMENTS?

If you only pay the minimum each month and never get close to paying off your credit card balances, the items you've purchased may be costing you more than you think. Although inflation rates have tapered off, credit card interest rates remain high. What's more, Uncle Sam is not giving you any breaks. The consumer interest deduction was completely phased out this year.

HAVE YOU LOST TRACK OF HOW MANY CREDIT CARDS YOU HAVE?

If you find more credit cards than you need falling out of your wallet, it's time to consolidate your credit. Be selective about the cards you choose. Read the fine print. Beware of unreasonable late payment fees and extra charges for advances.

Don't be taken in by cards that promote no annual fees. In some instances, instead of annual fees, issuers may charge transaction fees, especially high interest rates or inflated annual fees after the first year.

ARE YOU AN IMPULSIVE BUYER?

If so, you probably have not set goals and spending priorities. Wise spenders set aside a modest allowance for impulse spending, thus bringing a bad habit under control.

HAVE YOU MISSED MORE THAN ONE MORTGAGE PAYMENT?

Missing mortgage payments jeopardizes more than just your credit rating. Failure to repay these loans gives the creditor the legal right to foreclose on your home.

DO YOU LIVE FOR TODAY?

If so, it means that you don't have a financial plan. Without one, you may find yourself changing your lifestyle drastically when it's time for you to retire. Think about tomorrow by contributing to retirement plans, such as IRAs (Individual Retirement Accounts) and 401(k)s. Since these plans have penalties for early withdrawals, they offer an incentive for saving for your future.

DO YOU WORRY ABOUT FINANCIAL EMERGENCIES?

Worrying doesn't put money in the bank. CPAs and other financial advisors recommend establishing an emergency fund equal to three to six months of your living expenses.

DO YOU OFTEN WONDER WHERE THE MONEY GOES?

If so, it's time you found out. Go through your checkbook and add up what you are spending in monthly periods. Then, keep a notebook in your pocket and record your expenses over the next month. This will help you find out how you are spending your cash.

If you've answered yes to many of the questions listed here, it's time to take control of your money — and your credit. CPAs also warn that you may be heading for a financial disaster if you commit more than 25 percent of your take-home pay to repaying your non-mortgage debts. Disciplining yourself to live within your means now will help to ensure a sound financial future for you and your family.

Northville man named to lead Wayne law school

Stephen Calkins of Northville, professor of law at Wayne State University, has been appointed interim dean of the Law School by President David Adamany.

He succeeds Professor John W. Reed of Ann Arbor, who was law dean for five years before retiring June 30.

Calkins, an authority on antitrust law, joined the university in 1983 as an associate professor and was appointed professor in 1988.

He also held appointments as a visiting associate professor at the University of Michigan (Summer, 1985), visiting associate professor at the Europa Institute of Rijksuniversiteit te Utrecht in the Netherlands (Fall, 1989).

He received a WSU summer research grant in 1984 and was awarded one of WSU's prestigious Career Development Chairs for 1990-91.

Before coming to WSU, Calkins was a law clerk for Federal Trade Commissioner Stephen Nye (1975-76) and an associate with the Washington D.C. firm of Covington & Burling (1976-83).

Calkins earned a bachelor of arts degree magna cum laude in political science and economics from Yale University in 1972 and received a law degree cum laude from Harvard Law School in 1975.

He is the author of numerous articles, books and other publications in the field of antitrust law and frequently makes invited presentations on the subject.

Company shines up cabinets

Founded in 1986, the concept for Kitchen Tune-Up was developed by President Dave Haglund, former owner of a cabinet distributorship.

The process includes cleaning with specially formulated cleaners, touch-up using commercial strength scratch covers and treating the wood with penetrating oil to restore moisture to the wood and dissolve embedded dirt. Moisturized wood is more repellent to dirt, Haglund said.

Special waxes and buffers are used to polish laminated surfaces to restore the luster and make the finish more resistant to fingerprints and stains.

The Mahoneys, whose home in Summit Ridge, Milford, is their office, are already advertising for a technician and a salesperson to assist with their rapidly expanding business.

Most of their clients so far have come through their advertising, their satisfied customers and realtors interested in sprucing up homes being placed on the market.

To contact the Mahoneys and learn about KTU, call 1-800-684-5887 or (313) 684-5887.

After all, you use it six days a week, 52 weeks a year... make it special.
