Township and BFI get accord

By MIKE TYREE Staff Writer

Northville Township appears ready to ink a contract with Browning-Ferris Industries which would net residents four years worth of free curbside recycling.

The long-delayed agreement originally was struck in early 1991, but quibbling between representatives of the township, BFI and two area sewer authorities apparently slowed the deal.

Based on a tentative contact, the township would lease capacity in its portion of the Western Townships Utilities Authority sewer line to BFI in exchange for 48 months of free curbside recycling, $1.3 million in capital connection fees, and four annual $65,000 payments to the township's general fund.

For its part, BFI gains access to a new sewer line which will allow it to transport leachate - a landfill liquid byproduct - to a treatment plant in Ypsilanti.

BFI will pay for a tie-in line which will extend eastward from its Salem Township-based Arbor Hills landfill to the western-most point of the TUA sewer line.

Township and BFI representatives trumpeted the tentative agreement. We're there," said BFTs Thomas Handyside, who prior to employ with BFI helped negotiate the agreement as a township trustee and Water and Sewer Commission chairperson. Handyside said the deal will allow the firm to scrap its "truck and haul" method of transporting leachate in

When the dust cleared after last week's school busing battle only two parents remained to hear discussion Thursday of the fallout over its proposed bus routes.

The two concerned parents were the only ones to attend Thursday night's policy subcommittee meeting at which the busing issue was the sole agenda item.

At that meeting the board (with the exception of Jospeh Dunkerley) and the three administrators who devised the original busing plan hammered out a revised 1.5-mile plan that met with the approval of both parents. "I like it," said parent Pam Kallilo.

"It's much better than the last proposal. It gives a people a little more option and leeway, but it still sticks with the 1.5-mile plan.

"I think it's fair and real workable," Kallilo said.

Both Kaliilo and Nancy Ehehalt, the other parent who attended the committee meeting, opposed the first plan but thought this one addressed some safety concerns people raised last week.

Northville Township will hold a Truth-in-Taxation public hearing at 7 p.m. Sept. 10 to gather citizen input on a potential tax hike.

The hearing is part of a specific set of guidelines the township must follow if it decides to raise taxes by an estimated one-third mill.

Truth-in-Taxation is a tool used by local governments to fend off inflation-based revenue losses. By publishing its intent to hold Truthin-Taxation, holding a public hearing, and approving a resolution, the township could legally raise taxes to a rate-of-inflation cap.

In this case, the township would seek about .36 mill to add to its current 3.8245-mill levy. The additional revenue would add about $168,000 to township coffers and keep - for the time being - the bill collectors Hosmer said the township now operates with an "austere" budget, and said the government's belt could tighten uncomfortably next year. He predicted a revenue shortfall of about $250,000 and said Truth-in-Taxation would help the township avoid a 1993 budget shortfall.

"I can see my child walking to the end of the sub before I would send them across Nine Mile," Ehehalt said.

"A life is a little bit more important. If you lose a life, you have nothing. You can't teach a child who has died. she added.

The revised plan will go before the school board for formal approval at tonight's meeting.

Despite all the criticism residents leveled against Northville school officials over their proposed busing routes last Tuesday, the policy subcommittee accepted a similar but different plan from David Bolitho, assistant superintendent for administrative services.

The new plan still complies with the state's 1.5-mile radius restriction, but it adds a clause that allows any student who can get to a desig-nated bus stop to ride the bus.

Even though board members explored other concepts, this plan was deemed the most cost-effective and efficient plan available using existing resources.

Most board members were in agreement that given Lansing's uncertainty over funding public education and other financial and contractual obligations that could deplete cash reserves, they couldn't justify tapping the fund equity account to pay for busing this year. I don't feel that we can dip into the fund equity any further than we already have to," said board President Carol Rahimi.

Her comments were echoed by board members Jean Hansen, Bob McMahon, Richard Brown, and Glenna Davis, who all feared depleting the district's fund equity account for busing would not be prudent.

"Our fund equity is not all that much." said Hansen. "Transportation is nice when we have the money to do it, but we don't have the money to do it.

So many of those people at that meeting moved here for the quality of all of our programs, not because we bused our kids," she said.

Robert McMahon agreed.

We are going to need all of that fund equity," he said. "We are not going to be able to go to the community for a millage. It is just not going to be there.'

But newly elected board Trustee Patricia Custer disagreed. While Custer offered no specific alternatives, she did suggest that further cuts could be made in the district's administration and to teacher inservice programs to help offset the costs of a reduced busing-radius plan.

"I don't think this community is laid out for kids to walk 1.5 miles." Custer said. "I think with the 1.5-mile plan you are asking for problems.

*Maybe we need to look at administrative positions and at eliminating one or cutting inservices," she said.

Custer's comments drew sharp responses from Rahimi and Vice President Glenna Davis.

"I don't think we are going to make up the $355,000 we need for busing by cutting inservices," Rahimi said.

"We are not in the transportation business," Davis said. "We are in the learning business. I really feel sad inservices have been cut as bad as they are," she said.

Richard Brown was quick to inform Custer and the rest of the board that the district - despite recent charges that it is top-heavy in administration - has maintained the seven current central office staff members it has employed for the last 12 years, in spite of increasing enrollments and heavier workloads in state-mandated programs.

As the recommended plan stands, the district will already have to dip into its fund equity to pay to recall five bus drivers to implement the 1.5-mile plan. That will cost the district about $62,000 (in salaries alone) above and beyond the $575,990 that was budgeted for transportation this year.

Homeowner gets big support

By STEVE KELLMAN Stall Writer

Laura Lorenzo has lined up more federal officials to support her claim of illegal flooding on her Novi property.

Lorenzo has engaged in a year-long battle with the City of Northville over flooding she blames on city-approved culverts in Singh Development's Pheasant Hills subdivision. Pheasant Hills backs up to her Galway Drive home.

She suffered a major defeat July 1 when the city's Board of Zoning Appeals rejected her request to overturn the city's approval of a culvert under Mill Pond Court.

But the persistent Novi homeowner has gathered more evidence that city officials violated a city ordinance with their approval. In a July 24 letter to City Manager Gary Word, Lorenzo cited state and federal authorities who appeared to support her claims.

Article 19 is "to preserve the ability of floodplains to carry and discharge a base (100-year) flood." City Attorney Richard Connors had argued at the BZA meeting that Article 19, concerning flood hazard zones, does not apply to Pheasant Hills.

But it does apply, according to officials from the state's Department of Natural Resources and the Federal Emergency Management Agency. DNR engineer Bruce Menerey wrote July 20 that Based on our review, it is our opinion that the City's Ordinance would apply to all watercourses in the City . . . (including) the Mill Pond Court culvert and tributary alterations."

Menerey's opinion was echoed by FEMA official Janet Odeshoo. We agree that the language in this section of the Zoning Ordinance requires that the flood-carrying capacity of altered or relocated watercourses not subject to state or federal reg-ulation be maintained," Odeshoo wrote. This ulation be maintained," Odeshoo wrote. This would apply to the tributary to Randolph Street pass on to us," Word said.

One of the stated objectives of the ordinance's Drain and any other identifiable channel or swale in Northville."

Manager Word hesitated to discuss Lorenzo's ongoing complaint last week.

I don't want to get into the substance of it," he said. "I will say this: We've passed every piece of correspondence that she's given us onto the city's attorney, and . . . he does not see any reason for the city to change its position at this time."

Lorenzo also had objected to the city's $103.37 fee for collecting 48 documents she requested under the state's Freedom of Information Act. The fee was based in part on 3% hours of clerk's staff time to retrieve the documants, at $22.50 per hour. A July 6 Record article noted that the hourly rate was more than that paid any city clerk.

Word said the fee was set by the city's engineering firm, McNeely & Lincoln, which was responsible for retrieving the documents, and not the city.

These documents came from McNeely & Lin-

Like their neighbors, Chisnell and Andrikides knew little or nothing about the legalities and procedures of oil drilling in residential areas. But they set out to learn what they didn't know. Years later, the agents have not been around their particular neighborhoods lately. But that hasn't kept the two from continuing to delve deeper and deeper into the oil-drilling issues.

The move is due to reduced use of the center since the city initiated curbside collection of recycling materials, and is intended to reduce the need for overtime by DPW workers. Since curbside recycling started in February, average use of the center has dropped to 35 cars on Wednesdays and 55 cars on Saturdays.

The center is available to City of Northville residents only, and identification is checked at the gate.

The center accepts clear, green and brown glass, plastic types 1 and 2, tin cans, household and car batteries, paint, used motor oil and antifreeze, compost material, scrap metal, and newspapers. Two men charged with marijuana possession

Two men were charged with possession of marijuana after their arrest late Aug. 7 on Eight Mile west of Haggerty, township police said.

A 19-year-old Livonia man and a 23-year-old Wayne man were arrested after police witnessed suspicious activity involving three men in a 1986 Olds Cutlass in the Meijer parking lot at 20401 Haggerty. The vehicle was stopped as it drove from the Meijer lot. The men were searched and police discovered three plastic bags of marijuana and a drug pipe, according to reports.

In addition to the drug charge, the Wayne man also was cited for driving with an expired license plate.

BREAKING AND ENTERING AT-TEMPTED: A Coldspring Drive home was the apparent site of a breaking-and-entering attempt sometime between 6 and 11 p.m.

Aug. 10. The homeowners told city police that they returned that night to find two sliding glass doors lifted off their tracks in an apparent attempt to remove them and get into the home. The attempt was unsuccessful.

YOUTHS CITED FOR PROWL-ING: City police cited three local youths - a 17-year-old Novi boy, a 16-year-old Northville boy and an 18-year-old Northville man - for prowling before dawn Aug. 10.

The youths were seen in the area of Welch and Horton at 1:30 a.m., by police investigating a complaint of suspicious activity in the area. They were warned about the city's prowling ordinance and told to go home, but a homeowner noticed the youths on the roof of a garage a short time later. Police searched the area again with no luck, and issued tickets to the youths at their homes later that morning.

BIKE STOLEN AT CENTER STREET: A $300 mountain bike was reported stolen Aug. 10 from behind Center Street Cafe, 134 N. Center St. The 26-inch white and black Ross "Mount Hood" bike was unlocked at the time.

OUILS: A 32-year-old Livonia man was charged with operating a vehicle under the influence of liquor after his arrest early Aug. 7 on Seven Mile near Haggerty, township police said. Breathalyzer tests indicated that the man's blood-alcohol level was .12 at the time of the arrest, police said.

A 44-year-old Plymouth woman was charged with OUIL after her arrest on Haggerty near Greenbriar early Aug. 8, police said. The wo-man's blood-alcohol level was measured at .11 and .12, according to Breathalyzer tests, police said.

HUBCAPS STOLEN: A Detroit woman told township police that someone stole two hubcaps from her 1990 Ford Escort while the vehicle was parked in the lot at Meijer, 20401 Haggerty, Aug. 6. The hubcaps were valued at $200.

BICYCLES STOLEN: Two bicycles reportedly were stolen from a Northville Place Drive address sometime between July 17 and Aug. 4, according to police reports. The two bikes - a men's mountain bike and a 10-speed bike - were valued at $700.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Continuing learning an important part of job

Rick and Pat crouched on the steps to the porch outside the back door of the abandoned house. They were wearing full turnout gear and self-contained breathing apparatus, and were nearly ready to go. Rick held one end of a rope while Pat tied the other end around a post on the porch. Rick turned to pat and shouted through his mask, "Remember, we'll follow the right hand wall through the house until we find the guy. Keep hold of the rope, and sweep left and to the rear. Ill sweep to the front and right. Ready?" Pat nodded twice, and the pair moved up the steps onto the porch.

On the porch Rick and Pat were met by a captain. "You both understand?" said the captain. "You have to execute a proper search, find the victim and remove him from the house." Rick and Pat indicated they understood and were ready to go. The captain then took a roll of aluminum foil and wrapped the lenses of their masks so they could not see. With Rick in the lead, they crawled through the door and began their search.

The abandoned house was not on fire. Rick and Pat were firefighters from two different departments taking the final exam for their State Fire Fighter II certification. Along with about 20 other firefighters from seven departments, the two had been attending classes on week nights and Saturdays for the last five months. The written final exam had been administered the week before. Today was the practical skills exam, and the search and rescue exercise was the last station they needed to complete.

In Michigan, firefighter training is coordinated by the Fire Fighters Training Council, part of the State Fire Marshall's office. State law requires that all fire fighters be trained to at least the Fire Fighter I level. Fire Fighters on full-time career departments are required to train to the Fire Fighter II level. In our community, most of the fire fighters get their Fire Fighter II certification, even though not required by the State.

During their time in class, Rick and Pat had studied fire chemistry, building construction, performed hydraulics calculations and learned how to conduct and document an industrial fire inspection. With their classmates they had set up complicated hose layouts, using virtually every hose tool and appliance carried on the engine, raised and lowered equipment and even people from roofs, performed search drills and visited the airport to learn about aircraft fire fighting. There had been much to learn, and now all that stood between them and the successful completion of their studies was finding and rescuing the simulated "victim."

With their masks blacked out Rick and Pat had no idea where they were inside the house. "Just like in a real fire," the captain had said. Remembering their training, Rick felt his way along the right hand wall while Pat, crawling behind Rick, swept to the left searching for the victim. The rope was their guideline back out. Once they found the victim, they would follow the rope until they returned to the door.

The two moved quickly through the house, searching one room after another. In the third room they entered, Pat found what felt like a bed and reached to check the top. There they found a training mannequin, the "victim." A blanket from the bed was used as a makeshift stretcher, and the rope pulled tight to show the most direct route back to the door. Dragging their victim on the blanket, the pair were back to the door and out of the house in about 40 seconds. "Good job," said the Captain, as Rick and Pat pulled off their helmets and masks. That's the fastest time today. Congratulations, you've passed." As Rick and Pat headed for the shade of a tree in the yard, the smiles on their sweat-stained faces simply refused to go away.

Township police arrest man in drug sale sting

By MIKE TYREE Staff Writer

An 18-year-old Novi man probably thought a quick rendezvous in Hines Park last week could earn him a few easy dollars.

Drop off an ounce of marijuana to an old customer, count up the $250 and get on out of Northville Township.

But with the help of a police informant, those plans came to an abrupt halt Wednesday. Our Opinion

Bumps in process, but probably best result

When the idea of paying to participate in sports and other co-curricular activities first arose in Northville schools, everyone involved knew it would be sticky.

The School Board recently approved a system which seems to provide the best solutions to the thorny funding problems. And while the process which led to the decision was relatively good, it could have been better.

Athletic programs constitute a significant expense in the school district's budget. With the results of the district's two millage-increase proposals this year providing an unmistakable statement of voter sentiment, district officials really had no choice but to cut funding for athletics.

Many decisions did need to be made,' however. Should the district fund a varsity-only program? Should it adopt a pay-to-play system to cover the entire existing program? Or should it seek another alternative?

Having the district fund a varsity-only program would simply not have been fair. All taxpayers in the community would be paying for a program involving relatively few students. At the same time, with no "feeder" systems in the lower grades, future varsity sports programs would be damaged, even if the current crunch lasts only a year.

The district appointed a committee to research a pay-to-participate program for sports and other co-curricular activities. The committee recommended a program which the School Board largely adopted but altered.

Specifically, the panel's recommendation excluded a separate ninth-grade sports program and funded the athletic director's position half-time. At the superintendent's recommendation, the board included ninth-grade sports and, as a result, funded the AD post full-time. The costs for these changes were not known at the time, but preliminary figures announced a week ago indicate athletes will pay around $210 per sport.

We think the process was flawed, although the resulting program may well be the best option for all involved. Appointing a citizen committee to develop a recommendation was a good move, the right thing to do both practically and politically. As always in cases like these, the committee is there only to recommend, so the board had every right to deviate from the committee's proposal. However, the deviations in this case should have been handled better. The committee's charge was to come up with a bargain-basement plan, and that's what it did. That was the reason for no ninth-grade sports, and for the half-time funding of the AD job.

The decisions to include a freshman program and full-time AD position make a lot of sense. It would indeed create an odd situation to restore sports programs for grades 6, 7, 8, 10, 11, and 12 while leaving the freshmen out. (Although, frankly, we've never understood why ninth-grade and junior varsity programs couldn't be combined.)

But if this was the direction, school officials could have notified the committee members before their recommendation was changed at the eleventh hour. More to the point, the committee's charge could have been different. And school officials certainly should have spoken up during the committee meetings if ninthgrade sports were supposed to be considered necessary.

We wish the administration and School Board had at least put more public discussion into the fact that the plan they were approving altered the committee recommendation in significant ways.

It was also disturbing to some parents that the board approved the pay-to-play system without a very firm idea of how the changes to the recommendation would affect the program's cost. Yes, there was a need for quick action and yes, there are a lot of funding uncertainties involved here. But families trying to plan for paying two or three fall athletes were having a tough enough time figuring things out; approving a plan at an unknown cost made it a little tougher.

The end result, unfortunately, is probably the best option athletes, parents and taxpayers in general could expect. The pay-to-play program as approved is as fair as possible to all concerned. The school board has done all we can imagine to address the issue of athare incensed over Novi's sign ordinance grows longer every day, it seems. Take, for example, Shirley Cash and Leo Harrawood, partners in the real estate firm Realty World-Cash & Associates. The ordinance, blasted universally among business people as being too restrictive, is causing Cash and Harrawood headaches both at their office and at the homes they sell.

"We're not allowed to have a sign on our canopy," said Cash. "We can't have an open house sign."

Harrawood, who's lived in Novi since it was just a wide spot in Grand River Avenue, explained that a home for sale may only have one sign in front of it,

You can't even put one in the window," he said.

The problem, the two of them agree, is that business people haven't yet gotten serious about fighting the ordinance.

"They can't get a leader," Harrawood said. These two know whereof they speak when it comes to fighting local sign ordinances. Back in 1977, Harrawood and Cash were just two among many Realtors who came up against an Oak Park city ordinance that prohibited all signs of any kind in front of a home for sale.

Mayor Shepherd had an idea that you should have no signs at all," said Harrawood. "That meant 'Free kittens,' 'Happy Hanukkah,' and everything else."

It took nearly two years and $50,000 of their own money to literally fight city hall. Though the local and national boards of Realtors wouldn't back them, Harrawood and Cash did draw a lot of cheerleaders. Along the way, a New Jersey case

The list of business people who which got a favorable verdict in the U.S. Supreme Court, fueled their fire.

The following editorial, broadcast on WWJ radio and Channel 4 in Detroit, illustrates well the mood that surrounded the issue in July of 1977:

"Many of us thought the "For Sale Sign" war in suburban Detroit was over. We thought the war ended when the United States Supreme Court ruled that a homeowner has the right to put up a sale sign in front of his house. Well, Monday night, the war broke out again. The Oak Park City Council voted to come up with a new ordinance that would get around the Supreme Court ruling. The Council is looking for a new tactic, a new maneuver, after being outgunned and outmanned by Washington. There's a lot of flag-waving, a lot of slogans on both sides. But like many wars, people are forgetting how the whole thing got started. The war got started by fear - fear that posted sale signs would lead to block-busting. White Flight," and the eventual deterioration of suburban neighborhoods. It's a misguided war. Signs don't ruin neighborhoods, people do, foolish people, ignorant people, people who don't think. The way to beat the problem is to be open and honest. People should talk to their neighbors. Talk to folks moving in and out of their areas. In fact, 'signs' might help get people talking. Hiding the sign is hiding the problem. And foolish restrictions only infringe on your rights and mine. The Supreme Court sees it that way and we agree."

Cash and Harrawood won the war at the State Supreme Court, and their signs stood. But it was a long and sometimes lonely road to victory.

If business people in Novi are serious about rewriting or rescinding the sign ordinance, it's going to take a coalition effort. The Novi Chamber of Commerce already has a committee working on the ordinance. If you're a Novi business owner, and you want the ordinance changed, why not call the chamber and see what you can do to get the ball rolling?

letes who can't afford to pay. An allowance for donations from the public and a confidential committee to review cases seems like a reasonable and sensitive approach.

It's too bad that it has all come to this: athletic programs undeniably provide significant benefits for the community as a whole as well as the players themselves. With the district's financial problems, though, this is probably the best anyone can hope for this year.

John Reddy had stopped in for his weekly visit.

"You have time for lunch?" asked Reddy, who's executive vicepresident in charge of editorial for Suburban Communications Corporation, which, of course, includes The Northville Record.

I make it a point of having time for lunch whenever asked by a corporate vice-president, so we set off in the direction of the nearest restaurant, expressly to have lunch but really to talk about our favorite topic -- community newspapers.

"You must have had 'rules' when you were managing editor back in Northville," he said. "You know, rules - guidelines which you always tried to follow when you were getting out the newspaper every week."

"I suppose I did," I acknowledged. "I had certain philoso-phies which I held near and dear... philosophies I tried to drive into the heads of all my reporters because I believed it was essential to the success of the newspaper, not to mention essential to meeting our community service obligation of being the primary information source for people in Northville." "That's exactly what I was looking for when I said 'rules,' he said. "So tell me one of your rules."

"I'll give you a two-parter," I replied.

"Here goes. The police blotter can be too short, but it can almost never be too long. And, the related rule is that subdivi-

It was Friday, which means that sion crime is more important than big crime."

"Explain," said Reddy, digging into his broiled cod.

"I believe people like to read about crime in their community," I said. "But it's not really liking to read about crime as much as it is wanting. . . needing to know what type of crime is occurring in and around the places they live.

"It's not a lurid interest in crime. It's an interest in knowing when and where they have to be especially careful.

"And that leads to the second part, the part about subdivision crime being more important than big crime," I continued, warming up to the topic.

Subdivision crime means crime which occurs in subdivisions. You know, things like breaking-and-enterings, of course, but also lots of smaller things - vandalism, stolen hubcaps, larcenies from autos.

"Those types of crimes are more important than a bank robbery which took place several miles away because it's more immediate to your own personal well-being. It's not likely bank robbers are going to break into your home, but if somebody's stealing hubcaps in your subdivision, you want to know about it so you can put your car in the garage at night instead of leaving it parked outside."

"Bank robberies go on the front page," I added, "but subdivision crime is every bit as important."

Reddy had finished his meal by now and said he thought my rule about subdivision crime was interesting and had some merit. "What other rules did you have?" he asked.

"There's always my 'sacred cow' rule, John" I replied. "But to hear that one we've got to go out to lunch again next week.*

The 13th District includes Northville Township and Northville city below Baseline Road, and other communities in Wayne and Washtenaw counties.

An early fall draws call for comfort foods

Hot homemade soup, old-fashioned pudding, fresh-from-the-oven bread or biscuits, or anything chocolate are all comfort foods.

These seem to evoke fond memories of foods you loved as a child. We never seem to outgrow the taste for these delightful comfort foods as we think of the simple pleasures in life. Take care making your comfort foods memorable.

In a hurry for your pudding comfort? Use the microwave. Microwave cooking of pudding occurs from all sides rather than only the bottom. This eliminates the possibility of scorching. For added convenience, measure, mix and cook pudding in a four-cup glass measure.

You may have given up on pudding thinking it is too fattening. Make some changes. Use skim milk, egg substitutes, cut down on sugar by adding more vanilla and use reduced-calorie margarine. The pudding will still be good and smell as wonderful as you remember.

The "queen" of old-fashioned pudding is bread pudding, blending lemon and vanilla fla-vors. Old favorites also include rice, tapioca, vanilla or chocolate puddings. (Homemade, of course.) Basically, pudding comes in two versions, top of the stove or baked.

For a top-of-the-stove pudding, use a double boiler, being careful that the heat is not too high or the egg will toughen. Baked versions are set in hot water in the oven. Bake until they are "set." The water allows for a gentle heat to avoid the break or curdling of the pudding.

When fresh from the oven, steaming-hot bread or biscuits say, "Welcome!" The aroma alone gets the memories going. Yeast breads are easy to make and now you can use the microwave to cut the rising time in half.

Place the yeast dough in a well-greased microwave bowl, grease the top and cover loosely with wax paper. Set the bowl in a bak-ing dish and pour hot water to the depth of about one inch in the bottom dish. Microwave at medium-low (30 percent power) two minutes, let stand in microwave for five minutes. Repeat this procedure three times or until dough is doubled in bulk. Give the dish a quarter turn after each microwaving period. If the top looks dry, carefully turn the dough over in the bowl.

Fiber-rich whole grains give breads and biscuits a robust flavor. For a light and flaky biscuit, handle the dough as little as possible. Too much mixing makes them heavy and tough. The most tender biscuits are made with solid fat such as shortening or butter. Biscuits should be cut close together, leaving as little dough as possible to reroll. Do not knead the scraps. Simply press together, reroll and cut. Too fattening for your diet? Try to serve steaming hot. There is no need for additional butter and lam.

Surimi mixed with other ingredients yields a refreshing surprise for seafood lovers, like this surimi salad

A lot of shoppers don't know what surimi is - but they know they like it. Witness this exchange in supermarket in front of an iced counter full of cartons of surimi salad:

"Do you like surimi?" a woman asked a customer. "I don't know what it is," admitted the customer. The woman pointed to the surimi salad containers. "Oh, you mean fake crab," he replied.

"Yeah, I like it."

it's a nutritional scalood at a reasonable price and it's ready to use."

Although surimi has been a food staple in Japan for years, it was only introduced in this country in 1976 by a San Francisco-based company under the brand name Sea Legs. By the turn of the decade, 1980, sales of surimi in the United States had reached 6.1 million pounds. During the '80s, surimi consumption here rose to 150 million pounds - an increase that made it one of the fastest-growing fish categories.

Today, Alaskan pollock, the primary ingredient for surimi seafood blends, ranks fourth in per-capita consumption, right after traditional favorites of tuna, shrimp and cod. Just about any whitefleshed fish can be used for surimi.

"Surimi-based seafoods are not with-out criticism," she said. "Concern has been raised over the production process which adds sugar and sodium. Some of the vitamins and minerals are also washed away, leaving surimi nutritionally inferior to unprocessed seafood."

Indeed, one ounce of real raw crabmeat contains 83 milligrams of sodium, while the same amount of surimi packs 238 milligrams.

Nonetheless, foods made with surimi-based seafood products offer a low-cost alternative to seafood that is low in fat," said Treitman. "The FDA regulates the labeling of packaged surimi pro2 cloves garlic, peeled and minced 1 teaspoon ground cumin % teaspon freshly ground black

A simmering pot of soup is a welcome, comforting sight any day. Serve soup in mugs to spark appetites and offer comfort. The secret to flavorful soup is the broth or stock. A tasty broth can be prepared with little effort. To make a great broth let the mixture simmer slowly. If the liquid boils the broth will be cloudy.

Add vegetables and herbs for extra flavor. Carrots and onion deepen the color of the broth and add sweetness. Remember to strain several times and remove fat to make a lighter and healthier broth. Chilling helps to degrease broth and stock. The solidified fat can be easily removed before reheating. Soups make large batches, so the enjoyment can continue, especially since many taste better the second day.

The shopper wasn't the only one who didn't know the seafood product surimi (pronounced sir-REE-mee) by its proper name. Yet most were familiar with the substites for high-priced seafood, including crab, lobster and shrimp. While these pricey three, when cooked and shelled, are $10 and $20 a pound fresh, surimi pretenders -also fully cooked - average about $3 to $4 a pound. Part of the reason surimi has an identity problem is unclear labeling. Not all manufacuters put the word surimi on their labels, instead calling the product imitation crab, (or spelling it krab). Sea Legs, seafood salad or other names. That's why the Surimi Seafood Education Center was formed," said Clare Vanderbeek, vice president of communications for the National Fisheries Institute, a trade association that oversees the education center.

"There's been a lot of misinformation as to what the product was and how it was made," Vanderbeek added.

"Now it is a product in its own right and people are responding to it because It's true that ersatz seafood and the real thing don't exactly taste alike. But mixed with other ingredients, consum-ers in the taste tests have like the seafood substitutes.

Surimi is made by removing the skin and bones from the pollock fish, mincing and then washing and straining it until it is an odorless, flavorless paste.

The fish paste is then combined with sugar or sorbitol to help it retain moisture and decrease damage from freezing, plus salt, starch, binders, flavors, coloring and — by some manufacturers — some real shellfish meat. Finally, the paste is extruded and pressed into shapes. Most companies do not add MSG but a few do, so check the label if you're MSG-intolerant.

The seafood products are fully cooked and pasteurized and according to Sylvia Treitman at the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service, they contain 87 calories in a 3-ounce serving.

ducts for retail sale. Products representing a specific tyupe of natural seafood must be labeled 'imitation,' such as 'imitation crab legs.' But if an item does not represent a specific seafood or body part, "imitation" is not required."

Gathering brings memories of family fare

L a s t weekend, for the first tme in over two years, all of my siblings were together. It started a few months ago when Kiti from San Diego decided to come spend a few days. Then Marj and Isabelle got in on the low air fares and flew in from Tampa. There are seven children, six girls and one boy. We miss having the whole family together and enjoyed our visit immenselv.

Of course, food was a big part of it. As far back as I can remember a significant amount of time was spent on planning and consuming food. With nine people in the immediate family this is not hard to imagine.

Breakfast was not just a box of cereal. Eggs, french toast, bacon and pancakes were offered on a frequent basis. We would make huge platters of toast and scrambled eggs. They had to be done in batches and kept warm if we were to all sit down at once.

As our palates grew more sophisticated, souffles, crepes and omelets were included as Sunday treats.

The lunches I remember with the most fondness were those at the beach. In our childhood days, summers were spent in Thunder Bay, Ontario. They were days of bliss and freedom. The beach was a daily ritual

The sandwich making was done "assembly line" style. Seven kids running around on the beach all day required plenty of energy. Lots of fresh fruit and lemonade rounded off the meal. I marvel that my mother could keep track of us. Her time was spent counting heads, not reading the latest novel.

From the time I was about seven or eight I helped with dinner. The barbecue grill was nearly always stoked up to eliminate the need to use the oven and heat up the cottage. There was no air conditioning. We relied on the summer breezes to cool us

Fresh sliced tomatoes, new potatoes and corn on the cob were regular menu items. On the weekend my father's parents would often visit both Saturday and Sunday from Buffalo, across the Peace Bridge.

My grandmother's potato salads were marvelous. The German style, hot and tangy, or regular, refreshing and crunchy. Dessert was her forte. Shortcakes rich and filling, with the sweetest of fruits or a real treat. New York style cheese cake.

At least a few times a month we would venture to the other side of the bridge and see my other set of grandparents. They never drove and relied on the bus system to get them around.

Grandpa was an avid fisherman, sometimes bringing home thousands of perch over the period of a few days. We lived for this. Fish fries at the Edicks were a sight to behold. Aunt Betty would stand and fry fish and potatoes for hours. A crisp coleslaw and relishes rounded out the dinner.

Sometimes there would be 40-50 sisters, brothers, and cousins vying for the delectable fish. Great memories. Those were the days. No worries of mercury polsoning. Just good, homestyle cooking,

In recalling past meals I could not help but relate it to this past weekend. Again we found ourselves planning our activities around the sustenance we would take.

Friday we took a boat trip to St. Clair for the day and evening. A cookout was planned. Fresh halibut packaged along with vegetables and herbs. Caesar salad, roasted corn on the cob. An appetizer of marinated, roasted peppers slathered on chunks of bread with goat cheese held us while the grll did its work.

We sat down as a family once again. Like the old days - a picnic table, paper plates and good food. We remembered stories, enjoyed our memories and renewed our ties.

FREE INTRODUCTION TO WEIGHT WATCHERS: Weight Watchers has announced that its main centers are now open for free introductory consultations.

We want everyone to know that Weight Watchers teaches people how to live healthier and eat better, no matter how much weight they have to lose," said Florine Mark, president and chief executive officer of W W Group, the largest franchise of Weight Watchers International.

"Many people don't relize that they can come to Weight Watchers even if they only have five pounds to lose. They'll learn new ways of eating, how to make healthy choices and how to keep their weight off without changing their lifestyles."

Weight Watchers staff will be available to explain what Weight Watchers is all about and will give out free recipes and information as well. The following centers are available for this service: Ann Arbor, Dearborn, Farmington Hills, Royal Oak and St. Clair Shores. LEARN FOOD PRESERVATION AT HOME: 'If you've always wanted to learn to preserve foods properly, but just haven't had the time to devote to going to classes there is a solution for you," says Sylvia Treitman, Home Economist for Oakland County Cooperative Extension service. A seven-week correspondence course in Food Preservation is available. 'You can work at your own pace and in your own kitchen," she added.

Learn the latest U.S.D.A. recommendations that make home canning a safe method of food preservation. Older hand-me-down recipes are risky and may cause food-borne illness. No one should take chances regarding their family's health and well being," says Treitman.

The course covers all aspects of food preservation, including food safety canning of both low acid and high acid foods, freezing and drying fruits and vegetables as well. The cost is $15 to cover postage and handling charges.

To obtain an enrollment sheet or for further information call the Food and Nutrition Hotline, Monday through Friday, 8:30-5, 858-0904.

AMERICAN HARVEST CLOSED: Schoolcraft College's American Harvest Restaurant closed for the summer on April 30. The on-campus restaurant, which features gourmet specialties prepared by Schoolcraft's Master Chefs and Culinary Arts students, will reopen when classes resume in the fall.

Vinegar gets flavor infusion

Among the remnants of the shortlived nouvelle cuisine era, flavored vinegars continue to grow in popularity. As one of the world's oldest flavoring staples, vinegars are no longer reserved just for canning, pickling and dressing salads.

Sauteed or grilled poultry, meats and vegetables become rejuvenated with a splash of berry or herb flavored vinegar. They add a bit of zest and leave your palate refreshed without adding fat or calories to a fruit or vegetable salad.

Berry vinegars such as strawberry, blueberry or black raspberry and herb vinegars made with tarra-gon, dill or a bouquet of Provencal herbs are simple to prepare. They can be packaged in decorative cut glass bottles to be given as gifts which one would assume you slaved over for weeks.

The process requires very little. Fresh berries or herbs are infused with heated vinegar. The infusion is then left to steep. A few days later it is strained into sterilized bottles and voilat

Diane Schrift of Birmingham fell in love with homemade vinaigrettes and flavored vinegars while studying classic French cuisine at La Varenne cooking school near Paris.

Every summer she prepares a varlety of berry flavored and herb vinegars after harvesting wild black and red raspberries and herbs from her garden. These are great to have on hand in the winter when no one has access to fresh herbs and fruits," she said.

This summer Schrift infused seven different flavored vinegars to keep on her pantry shelf to use

When preparing tarragon vinegar, she generally uses a cider vinegar as the apple cider flavor blends nicely

If you don't grow your own fruit, Siegel suggests shopping the roadside stands and top quality fruit markets.

making flavored vinegars from Diane Schrift and Shirley Siegel.

When asked about using champagne vinegar as a base, Schrift answered, "People get esoteric about these. Unless you're tasting these straight or in a simple vinaigrette you can't tell the difference."

Schrift recommends mixing berries with vinegar in a saucepan until the mixture simmers. Remove mix-bottles. Two of Siegel's favorite flavor combinations are strawberries, cinnamon stick and lemon zest to be used in salads, and a versatile tarragon vinegar flavored with dried chili pepper, peeled garlic cloves and a few black peppercorns.

Siegel suggests mixing the berry vinegars with mayonnaise or sour cream when making fruit salads or using the herb/pepper vinegars in vinaigrettes or for marinading meats bfore grilling.

Schrift and Siegel avoid storing their homemade vinegars in bottles with cork tops. They prefer those with wire spring tops or simply use canning jars.

If you'd like to sample a few commercial flavored vinegars before experimenting on your own, the Rothschild Berry Farm flavored vinegars are highly recommended. Located in Urbana, Ohio, they began producing vinegars in 1985. Their vinegars are made in small batches, all by hand with a white wine vinegar base. Look for them in the pantry shop at Hudson's.

Mrs. Fields dole	s out	cookie	recipes
------------------	-------	--------	---------

Cookie lovers! After much clamoring for her secret recipes, Debbi Fields, originator of Mrs. Fields cookies, has written Mrs. Fleids Cookie Book: 100 Recipes from the Kitchen of Mrs. Fields (Time-Life Books Inc.; August 1992, $12.95, paperback; color photographs throughout).

Since opening her first sweet shop 15 years ago In California, Mrs. Fields cookies have become the favorite of kids and adults. Today there are more than 500 stores around the world.

The recipes were tested in Fields' home kitchen and given the sweet tooth seal of approval by her five young daughters. My daughters made the fi-nal selections. If they did not love a recipe, we did not include it."

Here's a recipe from the book.

MARBLES 2 cups all-purpose flour

K teaspoon baking powder 14

- teaspoon salt 8
- cup light brown sugar, firmly packed 8 cup white sugar
- % cup salted butter, softened
- 1 large egg
- % cup (4 oz.) sour cream

I teaspoon pure vanilla extract

1 cup (6 oz.) semisweet chocolate chips

Preheat oven to 300 degrees. In medium bowl, combine flour, baking powder and salt with wire whisk. Set aside.

Combine sugars in a large bowl using an electric mixer set at medium speed. Add butter and beat until batter is grainy. Add egg, sour cream and vanilla, and beat at medium speed until light and fluffy. Scrape bowl. Add the flour mixture, and blend at low speed until just combined. Do not overmix.

Place chocolate chips in double boiler over hot but not boiling water. Stir constantly until melted. Or, place chips in a microwave-proof bowl and microwave on high, stirring every 20 seconds until melted.

Cool chocolate for a few minutes and pour over cookie batter. Using a wooden spoon or rubber spatula, lightly fold melted chocolate into the dough. Do not mix chocolate completely into cookie dough.

Drop by rounded tablespoons, 2 inches apart, onto ungreased cookie sheets. Bake 23-25 minutes. Do not brown. Quickly transfer cookies to a cool surface. Yield 2% dozen.

With regular exercise, you can strengthen your heart and lungs, feel better-maybe even live longer. You can maintain the active, independent lifestyle that means so much to you. Ever Get A Pal Smashed?

Ad US Department of Transportation

⁶⁶ The boy who delivers the crack, he's eleven. He makes $300 a day but now he's dead. These kids are not learning nothing except how to be hopeless. How to die. You don't need to go to no school to learn that. And that's just it. These kids aren't going. So I went to the schools to see what I could do. Me, a man who's seen his neighborhood go from bad to worse. But now I'm tired of it and I'm going to start with the kids. They're the hope. I go to the junior high and just show up in class and tell them to take pride in themselves. Pride in what they are and to have dignity. They can wake up in the morning and either go out and be mad at the world or do something to make it good for them. These kids just don't know better. And that's no good because how are our children going to have good lives if they don't stay in school? There is a reason to stay. And I'm going to tell them.

This is W.W. Johnson's real-life story. He is one of the little answers to the big problems facing every community in America. And because there are more people than problems, things will get done. All you have to do is something. Do anything.

To find out how you can help in your community, call 1 (800) 677-5515.

USE A LITTLE RESTRAINT WITH YOUR KIDS.

Sometimes you just gotta put kids in their place. And when you're on the road, that place is buckled in their own safety belts, and firmly. Do this, and your kids will be more than ready for the long road ahead of them.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)

Don't feel sorry for yourself; look for new opportunities. Stick to your guns regarding a specific situation. Past experiences will tell you what is best.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22) You are a nice person, but sometimes you can be stubborn and exasperating. It may be hard to discuss your troubles, but now is a time for sharing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22) Health situations will improve, and you will accomplish things you never thought possible. Don't let the stress of competition get you down.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21) You may be trying to cope with too much. There are big changes going on all around you, but stand your ground and do what is right for you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21) You will receive a message concerning new ideas, perhaps pertaining to business. You need to start relying on your intuition.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19) Now may not seem like such a great time, but it is the darkness before the dawn. The promise of growth and nrosperity is before you.

By C.C. Clark

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18) You may be bored with the current state of affairs. Try throwing an impromptu party or taking a quick weekend trip.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20) You are at a crossroads, and it is important for you to make the right decision. Happiness, fulfillment and good health are in your near future.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19) Don't be so caught up in material concerns. Recognize what is happening around you and make positive changes; your future will benefit.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20) Finances will take a turn for the better, though you may need an expert's advice. Control your emotions and set vourself on the right path.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20) To prevent sickness, you must stop worrying about things over which you have no control. New business ventures are in your near future.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22) Review what is happening in your life and what you want. You may feel like throwing in the towel, but you could be on the verge of accomplishment.

The Three Stooges: a primer in violent art

Don't try this at home. He doesn't hit you over the head with it, but magician Penn — of Penn & Teller — has strong feelings about the television he viewed as a child.

"The Three Stooges taught me the most important lesson a kid could learn, which is the difference between fantasy and reality. They taught about a kind of friendship that lived outside of society.

"And they also taught me by the age of 5 or 6 that you could do wonderful violence in art, and it didn't have to spill into life at all — which has been an important crusade of ours. I've never hit anyone in my life, nor has Teller, and yet we do violent art."

It's not just the birds and the bees anymore. Sex education is more complicated than it used to be. Today, parents have to make sure their children understand the threat of AIDS, along with the other consequences of sexual behavior.

An upcoming special for parents and teens alike is Understanding HIV: Does Teen America Know the Facts? Airing on or after Sept. 3 in many parts of the country, the one-hour syndicated program will feature the stars of several popular prime-time series, as well as teens who have tested positive for HIV.

The "King of All Media" is how controversial talk-show host Howard Stern describes himself. After earning a string of citations from the FCC for violation of decency standards on his radio and TV shows, Stern is now set to make his mark in motion pictures. Hitching a ride on Stern's ego trip is Michael De Luca of New Line Cinema, which is developing a comedy feature starring Stern. De Luca claims, "We predict that this film will be the most original, the most outrageous and the most talked about comedy motionpicture event of the '90s."

'2000 Malibu Road'

not open to view

More promising series slated for fall debuts

CBS' six-part, end-of-summer series 2000 Malibu Road is the tale of a career woman (Lisa Hartman) who's mortgaged to the hilt and "can't sell her house because of the bad real estate market," according to executive producer Joel Schumacher (Flatliners). It's a show about "real life," says Hartman. As long as your idea of real life is an exclusive piece of beachfront property and a career in prostitution.

"So she takes in roommates because she's going to stop hooking," Schumacher explains. There's an aspiring actress (17-year-old Drew Barrymore), her "Svengali-like" sister (Tuesday Knight) and a lawyer (Jennifer Beals). Each woman has her secrets (the prostitute was abused by her stepfather; the lawyer's fiance just died and she has a drinking problem), which we'll discover as this part-time soap works up a lather in the weeks ahead.

From all appearances, CBS has gone slumming with 2000 Malibu Road, which debuts as a two-hour movie on Sunday, Aug. 23. The remaining hours will air in a Wednesday-night slot beginning Aug. 26. In fact, the behind-the-scenes drama may lead as much interest to the show as its titillating plot lines.

After four weeks of production Schumacher and co-executive producer Terry Louise Fisher (L.A. Law) presented three scenes to the press. The scenes emphasized cleavage, the sisters' intense bond (which include an unusually sensual foot rub), and a business transaction in which Hartman's character raised her price from $3,000 to $4,000 when her client brings along a second woman.

Is all this integral to the plot? That's impossible to say since advance episodes of Malibu Road have been withheld by CBS. During their press conference, Schumacher, Fisher and the lead actresses expressed dismay at the aggressive reception the clips received. While the reporters used words like "exploitive" and "sleaze," Fisher defended the show as "romantic."

"If it's just sleaze to you," said Schumacher, "I'm sorry, 'cause we don't see it that way."

When one reporter observed that most people "don't charge $4,000" for sexual favors, Hartman snapped, "That's your problem."

Notably absent from the slugfest were production partner Aaron Spelling, who was on hand during similar press events for Fox's Melrose Place and NBC's The Round Table; and the CBS executives, including entertainment chief Jeff Sagansky. (In cases where a favorable or even mediocre press reception is anticipated, network executives line up along the sides and back of the room.)

According to Schumacher, Sagansky approached him several months ago about developing the series. In Schumacher's words, "He wanted something with exciting young women and glamour."

In view of the results why doesn't the network simply air Malibu Road as part of its steady late-night lineup? Probably because it fears damaging its relationship with hit maker Spelling, series drawing card Hartmanh (Knots Landing) and Fisher, who was hailed for her originality as co-creator of L.A. Law. Instead, Malibu Road is praised with another summer ensemble drama, Freshman Dorm.

Dorm is ostensibly about college life, but there's little time for classes for its trio of coed roommates. In the first episode, one of the young women loses her virginity, and her evidently more wordly pals offer excited congratulations. Episode two is titled, "Sex, Truth and Theatre."

With the mystique of college life strongest among teens in junior high and high school, the network clearly hopes to bring in young viewers, and to keep them for Malibu Road in the second hour of prime time. Freshman Dorm executive producer Steve Tisch, whose family owns CBS, candidly says he expects the network "to use this show and milk it for all it's worth."

Streep's throat, in this case; 'Just Imagine' it's good

By Taylor Michaels Q: Were we listening to the actual singing voice of Meryl Streep in Postcards From the Edge? —Mrs. L.C. Blair, Sun City West, Ariz.

A: Yes, that's actually Streep singing her heart out as the credits roll, with backup sound from the band Blue Rodeo.

Q: After seeing Batman Returns, I've become interested in Christopher Walken, who plays Max Shreck. Could you please tell me about him — personal facts and what he's done in the past? —L. Slater, Royal Oak, Mich.

A: Walken was born the son of a baker on March 31, 1943, in Astoria, Queens, N. Y., and attended Hofstra University.

Walken is perhaps best known for his Oscar-winning supporting role as one of the three Pennsylvania buddies whose life is shattered after making the fateful decision to enlist for duty in

Meryl Streep

Vietnam in The Deer Hunter. His typical, soft-spoken modesty was never more evident than just before the Academy Awards when, lavished with praise by everyone in the business, he simply said, "I know what I'm doing on stage, but in films, I have to depend on the kindness of strangers."

A short list of films of interest starring Walken might include: Annie Hall (1977), Brainstorm (1983), At Close Range (1986), The Milagro Beanfield War (1988) and The King of New York (1990).

Q: Back in 1969, I made a Western movie with Gregory Peck and Eva Marie Saint, and I would like to write these very special people. I played the half-breed son of Saint in the movie, called The Staiking Moon. It was produced by Alan J. Pakula and directed by Robert Mulligan. The movie was made in the state of Nevada. --Noland Clay, Whiteriver, Ariz.

A: What a thrill that must have been! You may write to Peck in care of International Creative Management, 8899 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif., 90048, and you may write to Saint in care of Borinstein, Oreck and Bogart Agency, 8271 Melrose Ave., Suite 110, Los Angeles, Calif., 90046.

Q: I have written and inquired about the movie Just Imagine to many places, but I have never heard back. I was just a teenager when the movie came out (I'm 74 now), and I'd like to know who the actors were, what year the movie came out and any other information you can find. —Martha Paschen, Jacksonville, Fla.

A: Just Imagine made quite an impression on theater audiences in 1930. Disillusioned with the condition of America in the present, they soaked up the futuristic settings and characterizations of this escapist musical. The picture concerned the resuscitation of a man (El Brendel), supposedly dead since 1930, in 1980, where he is unable to cope with contemporary conditions. Maureen O'Sullivan, John Garrick, Marjorie White and Frank Albertson are among the co-stars. Be warned, Martha, the story and the sets will probably enthrall you much less today than they did as a child.

James Woods plays ruthless lawyer Roy Cohn in Citizen Cohn, debuting Saturday on HBO. Manipulative and remorseless, the attorney was a protege of Sen. Joseph McCarthy in the Communist "witch hunts" of the '50s, and his career flowered even after McCarthy's downfall. The film also stars Joe Don Baker, Frederic Forrest and Pat Hingle.

Geary and Samms: soap supercouple?

By Candace Havens First there was Luke and Laura, then Luke and Holly, then Holly and Robert. Now General Hospital is hoping to add Bill and Holly to its list of soap supercouples.

In the early '80s, the romance between Luke (Anthony Geary) and Laura (Genie Francis) was a phenomenon. Ten years later, GH is hoping to spark the same kind of fireworks between Holly (Emma Samms) and Bill (Geary) on General Hospital.

Are Samms and Geary banking on supercouple status? Not really, but executive producer Wendy Riche thinks there's a chance for a hot romance between their characters.

"I think that the chemistry is undeniable both on-screen and off-screen between these two," says Riche.

The two stars are glad to be back on the show that made them so popular in the first place. Geary is back as Bill, a different character than he played before. He couldn't resist the challenge to prove he could play another character, but fans weren't happy about the change at first.

"Luke Spencer was an exciting and compelling character ... and people were disturbed when I came back as a different character. But it's been a year now, and people aren't as resentful as they were before," says Geary.

Samms had other reasons for coming back. "I was given a very, very nice money deal and was given the opportunity to do other projects during the year," says Samms. "But it was more than that; I really missed the sense of family you have working on the soaps and the ability to really grab hold of a character over an extended amount of time."

So what about the rumors of Genie Francis returning to GH now that she is off All My Children? "I've been hearing that for 10 years," says Geary. "I have never had a conversation with anyone, with Wendy or anyone at ABC, regarding Luke and Laura."

Is there any truth to the rumor that Mary Beth Evans (ex-Kayla, Days of our Lives) and Stephen Nichols (ex-Steve, Days) could turn up on GH in the near future? Riche leaves the possibility open, answering, "I have photos and cassettes from a lot of people on a lot of shows, both prime time and daytime."
