Sacks Fifth Avenue

It may look like a crowded street corner at rush hour, but in truth it's a sack race at Mayberry State Park. The final days of the park's summer day camp included some friendly competition among the kids. Try as they might, not everyone kept their sacks on in last week's sack race.

340 miles of wishes Wish-A-Mile 300 rolls into Northville

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Some cyclists griped that the Wish-A-Mile 300 was a misnomer.

The bike tour beginning in St. Ignace Thursday actually covered about 340 miles before rolling into downtown Northville Sunday afternoon, but the 120 participants agreed that the trip was well worth every swollen ankle and aching knee.

Their cause was certainly a noble one. The fifth annual tour was designed to raise money for Make-A-Wish of Michigan, which grants wishes to children with life-threatening diseases (see related story).

Their task was a daunting one as well: Pedal 340 miles of rolling terrain in three days, beginning with a pre-dawn cycle across the Mackinac Bridge.

The tour began Thursday in the parking lot of Northville Downs. That morning dawned dark and cold, and cyclists huddled under tents to escape the drizzle while they waited for the three buses to arrive to drive them north, thankful for the coffee, doughnuts and other treats provided by local merchants.

But the cloud cover broke as U.S. 23 turned into Interstate 75, and that was the last time the tour saw rain.

In the back of Bus Two, Nick and Nina Hall regaled volunteer Melany Pirkle with stories of their training on the tandem bicycle they planned to ride in the tour. Nick was no stranger to the WAM 300, having participated in all five of the official Make-A-Wish tours, including the first in which nine GM Hydromatic employees and friends made the trip, sleeping in motels along the way.

GM employee Charles Judy explained how the seeds of the annual tour were actually sown six years ago, by three of his fellow employees. The employees, so the story goes, dared each other to make the ride after a night of drinking and followed through on the dare. The next year they agreed to do it again and raise money along the way, to donate to a worthy organization. Make-A-Wish of Michigan was the organization they chose.

From such blue-collar beginnings, the WAM 300 has blossomed into an event drawing everyone from weekend Schwinn pilots to serious cyclists. This year the tour has come into its own, with three times the 36 riders who participated in 1991. In fact, all 150 spaces had been reserved for this tour, though 30 participants had to drop out before the ride north.

Those who made the trip were ably supported by a crew of 75 volunteers, whose ranks were swelled by cyclists who dropped out of the tour at various times due to injuries, but stuck around to shout encouragement to other riders and staff the many breaks along the way.

A dedicated cadre of 11 massage therapists was also on hand to knead knotted muscles and rub aching limbs.

Mechanical breakdowns were handled by Randy Martin, "The Bicycle Doctor," who with his able assistant Kevin Martin (no relation) replaced dozens of chains, brake cables and spokes during the tour and kept the wheels spinning.

Ground rules were laid down at the first rider's meeting Thursday night at the LaSalle High School in St. Ignace, the tour's home for the night. "Know your limits, and ride within them," instructed organizer Phil Bernhart. Bernhart also warned the riders not to get too close to each other during pacelines, when cyclists line up within inches of each other to conserve energy by allowing the forward rider to break the wind.

The group let out a collective groan when told that wake-up Friday morning was at 4 a.m. The goal, the organizers said, was to get to the Mackinac Bridge by 6 a.m., before the wind picked up.

Black humor was in ample supply at the meeting as the tour's state coordinator, Gary Wiseley, mentioned a turn that was not noted in the directions.

"It's not on the bridge, is it?" asked one rider.

"Yeah," came Gary's reply. "Get to the top and make a left."

On a more serious note, Wiseley said, "There's a good possibility of crosswinds. Lean into the wind as you ride."

Friday morning arrived much too early, but the excitement and trepidation of pedaling the Mighty Mac outweighed any fatigue. The sun was still below the horizon, the temperature was not far above freezing, and a full moon shone on the Straits of Mackinac as 120 cyclists pedaled across a nearly-deserted bridge in near silence, thankful that there was little wind. The silence was split at the foot of the bridge by volunteers gathered at an off-ramp to cheer the riders as they touched onto the mainland to start their trek down the lower peninsula.

Breakfast was 20 miles away at a Knights of Columbus Hall in Cheboygan. The route rolled for miles along the shore of Mullet Lake and south, criss-crossing Route 75 through Indian River and Vanderbilt, with a stop in Gaylord for lunch at the local Eagles Club, and onto Roscommon High School for the night.

News anchor Cubberly dies in crash

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Northville City police received the missing person report just before 8 a.m. Sunday.

The missing person in question, Channel 2 anchorman Gary Cubberly, had failed to show up for his weekly on-air appearance as a news anchor for Eyewitness Weekend.

Cubberly, 47, who anchored Detroit television shows during the 1980s, had just returned to work for Channel 2 several weeks ago. His wife Judy, according to city police reports, had last seen him at 6 a.m. as he left his Northville City home for work.

When he had not shown at Channel 2 by 8 a.m., anxious co-workers called his home and his wife called city police. Officers Gary Callender and Norm Kubitsky searched potential paths that the anchorman may have taken to work, but his wife said Cubberly was still trying to determine the best way to the Channel 2 station on Nine Mile Road in Southfield and could have taken any of several routes.

"Be on the lookout" notices were posted with counties between Michigan's Thumb area and the Ohio border over the next two hours, while a helicopter searched a potential route along Nine Mile Road.

Cubberly's leased black Mercedes was finally found at 6 p.m. off the southbound Lodge Freeway, just north of Telegraph Road. Construction workers repairing a fence behind the Franklin Towers apartments saw the car in a 15-foot ditch and notified Southfield police. Cubberly was still buckled into the seat, with the car still in gear, when he was found.

Callender and Kubitsky arrived on the scene shortly thereafter and were not surprised by how long it took to find the anchorman. Undergrowth in the ditch had partially obscured the car after it rolled into the ditch, Sgt. Callender said, and there was little evidence that a car had left the road at the site.

"The grass was very short and you could just barely see two tire tracks leading into the ditch," Callender said. "If it weren't for those construction workers, he might still be there."

Cubberly died of a burst brain aneurism, according to Oakland County Medical Examiner Ljubisa Dragovic. His death was believed to be immediate.

Cubberly had anchored Channel 2's Sunday Times, PM Magazine and Good Morning, Detroit programs, and hosted the Emmy award-winning Sunday Times. He was co-owner of CUB Enterprises, a Novi-based marketing, communications and production company before his return to Channel 2 in July.

A memorial service was scheduled for Tuesday night between 6:30-8:30 p.m. at the Judson Center in Royal Oak. A funeral will be held today, Aug. 20 in New Jersey.

He is survived by his wife and three sons, Gary, 24; Christopher, 20; and Shawn, 16.

Bus plan yields uneasy riders

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

Northville public school board officials realized Monday that there are glitches in their 1.5-mile magnet bus plan that won't be ironed out until after school starts.

They just hope parents realize it too.

The difficulty in getting this revised plan nailed down is seeing the plan's impact and how the number of bus riders will fluctuate as the year progresses. And that really can't be decided until school starts, buses are up and running and routes are monitored, school transportation officials said.

Board members Monday night approved a change in the district's bus policy that paves the way for this so-called 1.5-mile magnet plan submitted to them by David Bolitho, assistant superintendent for administrative services.

The policy now states that no student living within a 1.5-mile radius of his or her school will be bused.

This revised magnet plan deviates from Bolitho's first plan in that it allows any student who can get to a designated bus stop access to the bus. Bolitho guessed the plan will bus an estimated 361 more students than his first 1.5-mile plan.

"It's just not an exact science," said Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski. "This is the best way we know how to deal with picking up students who are a stone's throw away from a passing bus," he said.

While it may be clear who can ride the buses, what remains to be seen is where students will be picked up to ride them. Bolitho said Monday the designated bus stops will remain outside the state-mandated 1.5 mile radius, but they have yet to be determined. Bolitho said he is still working on getting those stops figured out, but assured parents Monday they will be ready before the start of school.

Bolitho's revised recommendation was the product of a board policy subcommittee meeting held last Thursday. This revised plan, board members and administrators alike hope, will iron out some of the earlier inequities in which large portions of students living in certain subdivisions were eligible to be bused while a small percentage would be left off.

"This is an attempt to avoid leaving out three or four students," Bolitho said.

In order to accommodate more passengers, Bolitho had to add additional buses and bus runs under the 1.5-mile magnet plan. The district may need as many as four additional buses making seven additional runs to pull this plan off next year. School officials may also have to recall as many as five bus drivers from the 15 laid off in June after the millage defeat to handle the extra runs.

Board members are hoping it will take fewer than that.

Police News

City police ticket Illinois drinker for last call

City police cited a 28-year-old Cicero, Ill. man for driving under the influence early Aug. 17, after having taken the man home earlier that morning.

Police responding to a 1:30 a.m. report of a person sleeping in front of the Main Centre building found the man walking up the middle of Center Street north of Main, staggering and holding his hands over his head as though confused. He told them he had had too much to drink and did not know where he lived, but eventually said he lived at the "Napier Racetrack." Police took him to the housing units at Northville Downs.

At 2:45 a.m., police were notified that the same man was sitting outside the Starting Gate Saloon in a pickup truck. When an officer responded, he saw the man sitting behind the wheel of the truck with the engine running. When he saw the patrol car, the man turned off the truck's engine and lay down in the seat.

The officer parked behind the truck and waited until 3:20 a.m. when the man sat up, started the vehicle and pulled away from the curb. When the officer activated his emergency lights, the man stopped, turned the engine off and lay down in the seat again. He pretended to be asleep when the officer approached.

The man was arrested for operating a vehicle under the influence of liquor and his blood alcohol level was measured at .17 percent. He was lodged in a city jail cell until he sobered up, and released at 4 p.m. after posting a $100 bond.

GOLF COURSE ROBBED: A thief or thieves took $2,000 from the safe at Brooklane Golf Club sometime during the night of Aug. 9. According to a Northville Township Police report, an employee arriving at the course at 5:50 a.m. on Aug. 10 discovered the east door had been pried open, the burglar alarm speaker disabled and the safe robbed of $2,000. The case remains open as township police continue their investigation.

MARIJUANA POSSESSION: Township police arrested a 41-year-old Hartland man for possession of marijuana in the parking lot of Tanger Elementary School on the afternoon of Aug. 10.

An officer spotted the suspect sleeping in his vehicle in the driveway of the school, and noticed the smell of intoxicants and marijuana coming from the vehicle. The officer woke the man, who appeared disoriented and intoxicated. A search of the vehicle turned up a film canister containing three Valiums and numerous marijuana cigarette butts. Police also found a bag of suspected marijuana and rolling papers on the man. He was arrested and lodged at the township jail until he sobered up.

APARTMENT BURGLARIZED: A Park Place Apartment was robbed sometime between 1 p.m. and 2:45 p.m. on Aug. 11, according to township police reports. Entry was gained through a front door, though police are uncertain as to how the perpetrator got in. Stolen were a VCR, cordless phone, answering machine, programmable remote control, and a 1934 $20 bill encased in plastic. Total value of the items was $530.

TRAILER STOLEN: A tandem-axle trailer belonging to a White Lake Township man was stolen from a cul-de-sac at Blue Heron Pointe sometime between 6 p.m. Aug. 12 and 12:30 p.m. Aug. 14. It was valued at $3,300.

LICENSE PLATE STOLEN: A 65-year-old Northville woman told township police someone stole the license plate off her 1991 Dodge while it was parked at Northville Plaza on Aug. 14. The plate number is FLD-594.

SHOPLIFTING: Loss prevention associates at Meijer, 20401 Hagerty, apprehended a Walled Lake man on Aug. 16 at he attempted to steal eight bottles of Visine, valued at $38.90. He was placed under arrest by township police and released on a personal recognizance bond.

WARRANT ARREST: Township police arrested a Northville man on for driving on a suspended license after an Aug. 12 traffic stop. Further checking revealed a warrant for failure to appear on a previous charge of driving on a suspended license out of Northville Township. Ronald Matesic pleaded not guilty before a magistrate on Aug. 12, and was released on a $500 bond.

OUIL: Township police arrested a 38-year-old Redford man for OUIL on Aug. 13. He was stopped at 11:02 p.m. on Six Mile Road, east of Hagerty Road. He failed field sobriety tests and his blood alcohol level was measured at .17.

A 54-year-old Northville man was arrested on an OUIL charge on Aug. 14. He was stopped at 11:27 p.m. on Sheldon Road north of Six Mile. He failed sobriety tests, and his blood alcohol level was measured at .14.

MARIJUANA POSSESSION: A 20-year-old Plymouth man and a 16-year-old Northville girl were arrested by township police on Aug. 10 for possession of marijuana. An officer observed the man's car parked alongside Six Mile Road west of Sheldon. Upon questioning, the occupants admitted they had been trespassing in nearby woods. A search of the man turned up a small amount of marijuana and a pipe. The juvenile was also found in possession of a half-smoked marijuana cigarette.

Both were arrested, and the girl released to her parents.

WARRANT ARRESTS: City police arrested a 27-year-old Detroit man on an outstanding warrant Aug. 15, after stopping him at McDonald Drive east of Andover. He was wanted by Detroit police for a traffic charge. He was released after posting a $75 bond.

City police turned a 39-year-old Novi man over to Westland police on a warrant Aug. 16, after stopping him on South Main Street for trespassing. A bench warrant had been issued for the man's arrest on a disorderly conduct charge.

Canton police officers turned a 33-year-old Ann Arbor woman over to Northville City police Aug. 17 on an outstanding warrant. The woman was wanted for failing to appear in

Judge backs jilted businessman

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Northville businessman Dennis Engerer has had his day in court, and so far he is satisfied with the results. Engerer and his attorney, David Jerome of Northville, appeared before Wayne Circuit Judge Edward M. Thomas Aug. 14 to block the bankrupt Garfield Construction Co. from spending his final $60,000 payment to the firm.

Engerer had hired Garfield to renovate and add on to his 332 E. Main St. medical office building. Garfield had worked on Engerer's office for more than a year, after winning a $300,000 contract to rebuild the structure and construct a 3,000-square-foot addition.

But the Northville-based Garfield firm closed its doors at 115 N. Center St. and disconnected the phone the day after Engerer gave principals Calvin and William Garfield his final $60,000 payment.

The Garfields then declared Chap-

"I was pleased with the outcome because basically the judge sided with us. It was his order that put the money in the trust in the first place, and it's going to take a judge's order to release that money."

Dennis Engerer
Northville business owner

ter 7 bankruptcy July 17 without paying their subcontractors, leaving Engerer responsible for paying the dozen subcontractors that had worked on his property for Garfield.

The Garfield brothers could not be reached for comment, and their attorney, Donald Cadotte of Birmingham, did not return phone calls.

Engerer obtained a court order July 7 to stop the Garfields' IRS payment. At his latest court appearance, Judge Thomas extended the stop-payment order by six months and requested a list of the subcontractors with outstanding bills.

The Garfields apparently had cashed $15,000 of Engerer's check, and drafted $45,000 in payments to the Internal Revenue Service and State of Michigan for back taxes. Those payments have been frozen and likely will be disbursed to the subcontractors.

"I was pleased with the outcome because basically the judge sided with us," Engerer said.

"It was his order that put the money in the trust in the first place, and it's going to take a judge's order to release that money."

Neither the Garfields nor their attorney appeared at the hearing, according to a spokesperson for Judge Thomas.

The Garfields are due in U.S. Bankruptcy Court today, Aug. 20. That meeting will give creditors a chance to question the Garfields about the firm's assets and debts, prior to its debts being paid and any remaining assets distributed among the creditors.

Engerer is also concerned that the Garfields may still be doing business in the Northville area. "From some of the subs I've talked to, they're requesting bids on some jobs," he said.

He had two words of advice for anyone doing business with the Garfield brothers: "Buyer beware."

Obituary

CLARENCE H. MANZEL

Clarence H. Manzel, 87, of Novi died Aug. 11 at his home.

He was born in Farmington to Charles Manzel and Emma Freydl on April 30, 1905. He lived in the Northville-Novi area all his life. He was employed by Detroit Edison for 47 years prior to his retirement.

Surviving are his wife, Myrtle (Boillat) Manzel, a daughter, Elaine Vaughn of Plymouth, and one grandchild.

Services were held Aug. 14 from the Casterline Funeral Home Inc. of Northville. Services were officiated by the Rev. Lloyd Brasure and interment was at the Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens in Novi.

City police capture two men on warrants

court on a drunken driving charge.

FENDER BENDERS: A 77-year-old Detroit man was cited for failing to stop within an assured clear distance ahead at 10:11 a.m. Aug. 13, after striking another westbound car on Eight Mile Road. The man was heading west and failed to brake in time to avoid a car stopped for the traffic signal at Novi Road.

Two 13-year-old Northville girls on a tandem bicycle ran into a car at West Main and Rogers at 8 p.m. Aug. 15. They reportedly had failed to stop while heading south on Rogers when they struck the eastbound car. Both riders only suffered abrasions, and they were taken home by their parents.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Blake takes over Bryant's top seat

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

Former Northville school social worker Joseph Blake will be carrying a new business card this fall which will read Bryant School Supervisor.

His promotion won board of education support at Monday's meeting and his contract is effective for the 1992-93 school year.

Blake replaces Viola Dougherty who retired from the job last spring. His salary — which is paid for by state, county and federal sources — was set at $70,460.

Blake has been a social worker in the district since July of 1975. Prior to that he was employed in the same capacity in Livonia Public Schools from 1973 until 1975. Before that he was a counselor for five years at the St. Francis Home for Boys.

David Bolitho, assistant superintendent for administrative services, told the board Blake was selected from a field of 46 applicants. Eight candidates were interviewed by a committee and two were semi-finalists.

Bolitho said Blake's contract was included in the district's National Association of School Administrators (NASA) settlement earlier this year.

Superintendent Leonard Reznierski gave Blake a good review after knowing him for a number of years.

"I've known him for 16 years and can speak very highly of him," Reznierski said. "He's prepared himself well for this but I think he still has some tough shoes to fill with Vi's retirement."

To his credit, Blake brings with him 20 years of combined general and supervisory experience in special education to the job. In the past he has served as acting coordinator of Northville's K-12 Special Education Services and as temporary building supervisor at Bryant and Old Village schools.

He earned his bachelor's degree from the University of Notre Dame, his master's in social work from Wayne State University, a teaching certificate from Madonna University, and is currently taking graduate courses in special education supervision at Eastern Michigan University.

GOP uses convention-al wisdom

Good old fashioned work drives Heintz in Houston

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

HOUSTON — Some vacation. Susan Heintz traveled from Northville to the Republican National Convention at her own expense. She used vacation time — and has worked constantly.

"I'm actually getting a lot of work done," said Heintz, who runs Gov. John Engler's Southeast Michigan office in Detroit as her full-time job.

Technically, Engler isn't governor when he's out of the state. But press secretary John Truscott said his hotel suite has two telephones, two computers and a modem connecting them to his Olds Tower office in Lansing.

LI. Gov. Connie Binsfeld also was supposed to be a delegate, but she stayed in Michigan when her husband, John, had to undergo surgery. (He's fine.) Binsfeld is acting governor, under the state constitution.

Heintz, who left the Wayne County Commission early in 1991 to work for Engler, served with state party chairperson David Doyle on the rules committee.

"We were very Republican. We cut down the number of rules. We had 41. Now we'll have 40," she said.

The rules Doyle and Heintz worked on are for the 1996 convention. "We think Michigan did quite well despite losing two congressmen," Heintz said. The formula is complicated, and much will depend on how well the state GOP delivers for Bush. This year Michigan sent 72 of the 2,210 delegates — 3.3 percent of the total.

The chief change, according to Wisconsin Gov. Tommy Thompson, chair of the rules committee, is that states may not change their rules and laws governing delegate selection more than seven days after the convention call is issued.

"It means that once the call is put," said Heintz, "you can't change the rules in mid-stream."

Among Heintz's convention duties:

- Filling tote bags for delegates with gifts from Michigan companies and universities: trail mix from Wilhelm Kast's American Spoon Foods, toiletries from Amway, pens from Meijer and Michigan State University, a key-case from Little Caesars, body lotion from the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island, golf tees from Kmart, promotional items from the Detroit Pistons and Northern Michigan University.
- Meeting delegates from other Great Lakes states with similar interests.
- Talking to other governors' staffers with jobs similar to hers.
- Setting up a meeting with Monroe County people interested in a Defense Department project.
- Setting up still another meeting on the regional transportation system.
- Talking to General Motors brass about their plants in the Detroit area.

"I paid my own way. I'm taking vacation time for this," she said.

Susan Heintz and Michelle Engler hobnob in Houston.

Mill Race Matters

Summer is winding to a conclusion and fall plans are under way. There are still several Sundays in which to visit Mill Race Village. Docents old and new are encouraged to call Ruth Crawford or the office to sign up for remaining slots on the fall schedule. We'd like to have every building open every Sunday for our visitors to enjoy, but several additional docents are needed. If you have time to spare on Sunday afternoons call Ruth at 348-0498.

Thanks this week to the Royal Keller family for additional artifacts and memorabilia. Thanks also to Matt Doonan for the donation of four slightly used file and storage cabinets to be used in our office, archives and storage.

Recently a research request arrived from a scholar in Ohio working on a doctoral dissertation on the Rev. Luther Lee. Mr. Lee served Northville's Methodist Church in 1870 in his advancing years. Records from elsewhere indicate that his daughter Mary Benson was buried in Northville and survived by a daughter Mrs. C.R. Stevens also of Northville. He is hoping to reach relatives of Mrs. Stevens.

C.R. Stevens ran a drug and grocery store in Northville around the turn of the century. Jack Hoffman refers to both Stevens and Lee in this book, "Northville, the First 100 Years." I believe that the Mrs. Stevens in question would have been married to the second C.R. Stevens, the son of the store owner who perhaps carried on his father's business. I believe the first Mrs. Stevens was Clarissa Cady, daughter of Daniel Cady (probably Daniel Jr.).

Throughout his life Lee was an ardent abolitionist as well as a fighter for the rights of women. Lee spoke at the ordination of the first woman to the Methodist clergy. His abolitionist beliefs led to a separation from the church in his younger days. If you have additional information on this family, contact Diane at 349-9005.

Why Your Bed Is Killing You

Poor bedding can cause permanent pain and suffering

If you're waking up with aches, pains, dizziness and nausea, your bed could be the culprit.

These ailments can be permanent if sleeping on a bad mattress continues. Fact is, you spend a third of your life asleep — good posture is necessary for good health.

New Revolution In Bedding Will Help You

You need a bed that supports you in the middle, where two-thirds of your body weight is.

Restonic has the answer. The Restonic Orthotonic with the "Marvelous Middle."

This sleep system gives you extra support where you need it — and almost magically adjusts to your body weight and size.

This gives you good posture, whether you sleep on your back or your side. Good posture means better health and more restful sleep.

Free Demonstration

You're not obligated to buy anything. Just come in and say, "I want to try your marvelous middle." And one of our sales people will show you how it works.

You'll love how it feels, you'll want to stay and nap.

20 Year Non-Pro Rated Warranty

If a Restonic Orthotonic breaks or comes apart in 20 years, it will be repaired or replaced — FREE! Restonic factories are coast to coast (30 in all). So even if you move to a place like Medicine Lodge, Kansas, there's a factory close by.

Platinum

Ease yourself into luxurious sleep and never give up support. Plush cover offers beauty and durability.

WARNING

Some other national brands (you know who they are) will tell you their beds have as much support in the middle as a Restonic Orthotonic sleep set — THAT'S BUNK!

The Restonic patented Marvelous Middle sleep system supports you much like a highly engineered suspension bridge. When a heavy truck drives in the middle, the bridge is constructed to pull together, making it stronger.

That's the way the Restonic Orthotonic Marvelous Middle works. You lay on it, it firms up — giving you the support you need.

Don't be misled by untouted claims! Restonic Orthotonic are the ONLY beds with this support system in the Marvelous Middle. It's registered at the U.S. Patent and Copyright office.

Health Briefs

AIDS INSURANCE: An innovative pilot project to assist low-income AIDS patients in continuing their private insurance coverage became available statewide on Nov. 1. Administered by the Michigan Department of Social Services (DSS), the project has attracted national attention.

The pilot project, the first of its kind in the nation, assisted 56 people during the past year in Wayne, Oakland, and Macomb counties. It is estimated that the state saves $9 in Medicaid costs for every $1 spent to pay an insurance premium. With an anticipated statewide enrollment of 100 persons, annual savings could amount to $1.6 million per year.

DSS director C. Patrick Babcock said in a press release, "This program has served as a model for several other states. It's an example of a public/private partnership that benefits both patients and medical providers while it saves money for the state."

Rep. David Hollister, D-Lansing, who originally proposed the program, said, "A study indicated that 60 to 75 percent of the cost of AIDS related medical care is absorbed by Medicaid. This concept allows AIDS patients to continue their private insurance coverage."

The concept is simple. Federal law permits most people who lose a job to continue their health insurance on a private-pay basis for 18-29 months. But, as Rep. Hollister points out, "If a person is too ill to work, they eventually run out of money to keep up the premiums."

So the state pays the premiums for AIDS-infected persons who would normally be eligible for MA coverage.

Scott Merwin serves manager of the program for DSS. He said, "Our greatest concern is making sure that the people who are eligible for the program apply BEFORE they lose insurance coverage. We're working hard to get the word out."

To qualify for the program, a person with AIDS must have:

- An income of less than $1,000 per month
- Cash assets of less than $10,000
- Documentation from a physician that says the condition makes employment unlikely.

Applications are available at all local DSS offices. Further information is available at 256-1377.

City puts ceiling on buildings

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The city council passed a new zoning ordinance Monday night, limiting building heights in the Central Business District to three stories or 42 feet tall.

An overlay district in the CBD will allow four-story, 48-foot-tall buildings along the Cady Street corridor between the Hutton Street extension and Wing Street.

The new ordinance, which reflects the city's current skyline, replaces an existing five-story, 60-foot limit that most city officials considered too high.

Building heights in the ordinance are defined as "the vertical distance from the grade to the highest point of the flat roof or mansard roof and to the average height between eaves and ridge for a gable, hip and gambrel roof."

The height limits do not include "chimneys, church spires, wireless transmission towers, decorative parapets not exceeding 36 inches, or heating, electrical and mechanical units which are screened on all sides."

The new ordinance also includes a provision that CBD properties abutting residential property include a 20-foot setback.

Monday's 4-0 council vote in favor of lower limits followed a public hearing which saw little public input, and little debate among the council members themselves. But Monday's meeting was only the latest of several in which the ordinance was discussed, and the city's planning commission had reviewed it repeatedly over the past year.

Commissioners had argued over several versions of the ordinance, and sent two similar proposals to the council only to see the council shoot them down for fear that they would hinder development.

In their last proposal to the council, a narrow majority of commissioners sought a three-story, 38-foot limit throughout the CBD with no overlay district.

Local developer Jim Long and architect Greg Presley objected to the proposal at the commission's own public hearing, calling it too restrictive.

Cyclists pedal their way for wishes

Saturday morning began with a three-mile ride to Roscommon's Knights of Columbus Hall, through 40-degree weather and early morning mist. At the KofC hall, volunteers had been cooking since 3 a.m. to prepare a piping hot breakfast which was greatly appreciated.

The meal was quickly burned up as the riders faced a band of mountainous hills that seemed to rise much farther than they fell. But the terrain leveled out after lunch at a church in Wheatly, and the riders enjoyed a fast ride until they turned east for a 10-mile stretch into a 20-mph headwind.

The tourists spent Saturday night at Hartley Nature Center in St. Charles, on the banks of the Bad River. A dinner of barbecued chicken, hamburgers and corn on the cob awaited them, and most slept in the center's bunk beds that night, a welcome change from the previous nights' school hallways and gymnasium floors.

Friendships formed on the road daily as the riders found their own pace, meeting up with cyclists they caught up to or others who caught up with them. The friendships were made fast at night, while the riders fished their knees and waited for their turn on the massage tables.

Cyclists who could not climb on their bike seats Saturday morning found the strength to remount for the ride into Northville Sunday, where they were greeted by cheering volunteers, high fives and the occasional celebratory shower of beer. Northville's own Rotary Club provided their final meal together at the Recreation Center while the riders exchanged addresses and promised to keep in touch. The bikes were decorated with multi-colored balloons for a final parade to the Main Street Bandshell.

There at the bandshell, during a poignant awards ceremony hosted by Channel 2 reporter Nancy McCauley and Miss Detroit Grand Prix Laurie Kay Honbaum, plaques and gifts were presented to the many organizations that donated their time, money and equipment to the cause.

Make-A-Wish of Michigan Executive Director Nanette Trimpe, her voice hoarse from the tour, also introduced the cyclists to a half-dozen "wish children" lining the front row. The children, some in wheelchairs, applauded Make-A-Wish for the fundraiser if they could, or simply smiled in appreciation if they could not.

Eric Donahue, 13, who had pedaled most of the 340 miles, was also reintroduced to the crowd though his face and enthusiasm had become familiar to the other cyclists. Eric had insisted on making the tour despite a brain tumor, and by doing so became an inspiration to all children with life-threatening illnesses.

Back at Northville Downs' parking lot, the tourists hugged and parted, giving the familiar "thumbs up" as they headed back to their day-to-day lives. Over and over, the refrain was heard: "See you next year!"

Outweighing their various aches and pains, those involved in the tour carried memories of the smiles on the wish children's faces, and the knowledge that the fundraiser would help ease their suffering for at least a little while.

Make-A-Wish bikers raises big bucks

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

By any measure, this year's Wish-A-Mile 300 bicycle tour was a resounding success.

Most of the 120 riders completed the three-day, 340-mile trek to Northville. More importantly, the riders and sponsors raised over $103,000 for the Make-A-Wish Foundation of Michigan.

The ride's success easily eclipsed last year's 36-cyclist, $30,000 fundraiser, and assured that the WAM 300 will be a key fundraiser for Make-A-Wish for some time to come.

Make-A-Wish of Michigan's mission statement notes that the organization "exists to grant the personal wishes of Michigan children 17 years of age and younger who suffer from life-threatening illnesses; seeks to provide an emotional uplift to families who know too well the realities of living with and loving a critically ill child; and strives to provide an ongoing support system for parents and siblings who must do without and suffer in silence as the battle against terminal illness is waged."

The most-frequently granted wishes in Michigan are family trips to Disney World, while others have included a collie puppy, a shopping spree in San Francisco and a visit with the professional wrestler Hulk Hogan.

Make-A-Wish of Michigan was organized in 1984 in Traverse City, with a wish granted to 11-year-old Joshua Kazmierczak of Tecumseh. Joshua wished for a family trip to Disney World, and he died five months after his wish was granted.

Three Northville children have had their wishes granted, including a trip to Disney Land, a Hawaii vacation and a New York Giants football game.

With the Michigan organization's goal to grant 175 wishes this year, and the average cost of a wish more than $3,500, the WAM 300 will fund one out of every six wishes granted this year. Make-A-Wish of Michigan is a non-profit organization supported entirely through cash donations and in-kind gifts of goods and services from private individuals and organizations.

Make-A-Wish of Michigan is governed by a volunteer, uncompensated board of directors. The organization prides itself on the fact that more than 85 cents of every dollar donated goes directly to wish granting.

Chris Rice (r) and Mark Molner of Malloy Lithographing visit "Devil's Kitchen" on Mackinac Island before the WAM 300.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE AMENDMENT TO ZONING ORDINANCE 94-04-92

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ZONING ORDINANCE BY AMENDING THE TEXT THEREOF.

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ORDAINS:

PART 1. The Charter Township of Northville Zoning Ordinance No. 94 as amended is hereby further amended by amending Article XII Section 12.3 USES SUBJECT TO SPECIAL CONDITIONS, paragraph 9, Article XVII, Section 18.24 SITE PLAN REVIEW (ALL DISTRICTS), paragraph 3 e (1) and 3. g. (3).

Section 1 — Amendment to ARTICLE XII GENERAL BUSINESS DISTRICT B-3, Section 12.3 USES SUBJECT TO SPECIAL CONDITIONS Paragraph 9.

9. Automobile service station, as defined in this Ordinance subject to the following:

a. Driveways shall be in accordance with the standards of Section 18.36 DRIVEWAY STANDARDS. Only one (1) driveway shall be permitted from any street unless the Planning Commission determines an additional driveway would meet the intent of Section 18.36 DRIVEWAY STANDARDS.

b. The minimum lot area shall be one (1) acre, (43,560 square feet) with one street side equal to at least two hundred fifty (250) feet in width and so arranged that ample space is available for motor vehicles which are required to wait.

c. All automotive repair shall be conducted within an enclosed building.

d. A four feet and six inch (4'-6") obscuring wall, landscaped berm and/or landscaping in accordance with the standards of Section 18.17 WALLS AND BERMS shall be provided where abutting or adjacent to a residential district.

e. All lighting shall be shielded from adjacent residential districts and shall be in accordance with Section 18.19 EXTERIOR LIGHTING.

f. The operations shall be limited to the terms of the definition in Section 2.2 DEFINITIONS, 6. Auto Service Station.

g. Sufficient parking for vehicles to be repaired shall be provided in the rear yard. The Planning Commission may allow parking in the front or side yard if the rear yard abuts a residential district and landscaping is provided to screen the parking area in addition to that required by Section 18.16 LANDSCAPING STANDARDS.

h. All outside storage must be reviewed and approved by the Fire Department for compliance to the National Fire Prevention Code. Vehicles, equipment or other materials for rent, sale or display shall not be permitted.

i. The location of gasoline storage and sales shall be reviewed by the Fire Department for compliance to the National Fire Prevention Code.

j. Pumps or other equipment used in servicing of motor vehicles shall be placed and used only inside the lot lines and shall be set back not less than eighteen (18) feet from any property line and not less than forty (40) feet from any residential boundary line.

k. Overhead garage doors shall have a minimum front yard of seventy-five (75) feet or face the side yard.

l. The site plan shall illustrate the height, proposed clearance, materials, colors and signs for any canopy. The Planning Commission shall approve the canopy only upon finding architectural and aesthetic compatibility with the surrounding area.

m. The applicant shall submit, for Fire Department review and approval, a Pollution Incident Protection Plan (PIPP) which describes measures to prevent groundwater contamination caused by accidental gasoline spills or leakage such as special check valves, drain back catch basins and automatic shut off valves.

n. The project shall comply with the fire suppression regulations of Section 36 of the Township Code of Ordinances, "Self Service Gasoline Stations."

o. In the event the automobile service station use is abandoned or terminated, all underground storage tanks shall be removed from the premises in accordance with the National Fire Prevention Code.

Section 2 — Amendment to Section 18.24 SITE PLAN REVIEW (ALL DISTRICTS) Paragraph 3 e. (1).

3 e. Site Plans — General Requirements

(1) Responsibility

1.1 A site plan may be prepared under the principal direction of a Registered Architect, Registered Civil Engineer, Registered Community Planner, Registered Land Surveyor or Registered Landscape Architect (licensed to practice in the State of Michigan).

1.2 Information relating to trees and woodlands shall be prepared under the direction of a registered forester or degree forester for sites with designated woodlands which are being disturbed. Sites having no designated woodlands or where designated woodlands are not being disturbed may have information relating to trees and woodlands prepared by a registered or degree forester, a registered or degree landscape architect, or a degree botanist or horticulturist. If, in the latter case, there appear to be discrepancies in the information or if the applicant requests that a protected or landmark historic tree not be counted toward replacement due to health condition, the Township reserves the right to require the applicant to engage the services of a registered forester.

1.3 The tree inventory shall be done jointly by the professionals stated above and a Registered Land Surveyor or Registered Civil Engineer. However, the Principal shall in no case expand his contribution to the plan beyond the field of expertise of his profession or field of qualifications explicitly in his license. Plan components not covered by the qualifications of the Principal shall be developed by registered professionals having the requisite qualifications.

1.4 The name and address of the ... (no change to this paragraph).

Section 3 — Amendment to Section 18.24 SITE PLAN REVIEW (ALL DISTRICTS) Paragraph 3 g. (3) 3.10.

3.10 An irrigation system plan for watering and draining landscaped areas beyond one hundred (100) feet of a main water outlet, or other provisions, to ensure proper irrigation during establishment period and in the future.

PART II. Conflicting Provisions Repealed.

Any Ordinance or part of Ordinances in conflict herewith are repealed save that in all other respects Ordinance No. 94, as amended, is hereby ratified and reaffirmed.

PART III. Effective Date:

The provisions of this ordinance shall be in full force and effective immediately upon publication.

PART IV. Adoption.

This ordinance was adopted by the Township Board of the Charter Township of Northville, pursuant to authority of Act No. 184, Public Acts of 1943, as amended at their regular meeting of August 13, 1992.

Historian digs up Shaw's story

By JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writer

The mystery of 14-year-old Elizabeth Shaw's tombstone — uncovered by construction workers last summer — has been laid to rest.

A little more than three years after the close of the Civil War, the young girl's parents selected an epitaph expressing their hope that "kind angels" would look after their only daughter's grave.

And that's sort of what happened.

In July 1991, a bulldozer operator working on a privacy berm at Yorkshire Place subdivision at Ten Mile and Taft roads — once the site of the Shaw family farm — was surprised by the discovery of the ornate white stone, lying flat and buried just by vegetation. He immediately notified the Novi police.

Work on the berm was briefly halted.

The big question then was whether the child was buried near her family home, as was common practice in the 19th century. The house stood on the site now occupied by the Security Bank and Trust.

The Novi Historical Commission engaged librarian and local historian Barbara Louie to research the case. A reference librarian, Louie found working as an historical sleuth to be a rewarding pastime.

"It's a little different than anything I've done before. It's lots of fun," she said.

According to a report she filed with the city, she believes that Elizabeth J. Shaw, or Betsey, was apparently re-interred in Northville's Yerkes Cemetery next to her parents, Riley and Rebecca Rodgers Shaw. The cemetery is on Eight Mile Road.

The Shaw family were pioneers to this area. Betsey's grandfather, Philip Shaw, was a veteran of the War of 1812.

The ornate memorial found near Yorkshire Place has rosebuds carved into the stone and says that Elizabeth J. Shaw died on June 3, 1868 at age 14 years, six months and 22 days.

The inscription also reads: "Kind Angels! Watch her sleeping dust/Till Jesus comes to raise the just/Then may she walk with sweet surprise/And in her Saviors (sic) image rise."

The marker is still at the Novi Police Department. Assistant City Manager Craig Klaver said: "We had talked about whether or not we could just put it in the (Yerkes) cemetery, to have some appropriate resting place for it."

The Yorkshire Place berm resumed, Klaver added, because it was not a matter of excavating the site but just piling dirt over what might or might not have been the girl's final resting place.

"If there was anything there, they just would have buried it deeper down," he said.

Meanwhile, Louie pursued a paper trail which took her to Detroit's Burton Historical Collection, the Northville Public Library and the Oakland County Clerk's Office. In Pontiac, she learned from the death record that the Shaw girl died of consumption, the Victorian term for tuberculosis.

MEALS DRIVERS NEEDED: Meals-On-Wheels is in need of new daily and substitute drivers.

Prepared meals are taken from Allen Terrace to homebound throughout the Northville area. Normal pickup and delivery time is Monday through Friday, between 11:45 a.m. and 12:45 p.m.

Anyone who could help once a week or occasionally as a substitute may call Judy at 348-1761 or Claudia at 349-9661 between 10:30 and 12:45.

HORSEBACK RIDING FOR HANDICAPERS: Volunteers ages 14 and older are needed immediately to work with the physically, mentally and emotionally disabled people in a Horseback Riding for Handicappers program in Novi. Volunteers are needed Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday mornings from 9 a.m. to noon, Tuesday through Friday evenings from 6-9 p.m. and all day Saturday. Please contact 347-3860, Ext. 218 for further information.

BLOOD NEEDED: The American Red Cross is facing another severe shortage of blood and continues to seek blood donors.

The Livonia Donor Center offers an ongoing opportunity to donate. Located at 29691 W. Six Mile (just west of Middlebelt), Suite 100C, in the rear of Bell Creek Office Plaza, the center is open from 2-8 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Thursday; from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday and Friday; and from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. To schedule an appointment at the donor center call 1-800-582-4383.

WANTED: Friendly dogs and cats and their warm-hearted owners who can spare one hour each month are needed to visit handicapped children at the Old Village School in Northville.

If this description fits you and your pet, the Pet-A-Pet program wants you! Pet-A-Pet is an animal visitation program whose volunteers and their pets pay regular group visits to the school.

Animal visitation programs have proven to be beneficial in the health care of handicapped children who especially enjoy the unconditional love a pet can offer. Children who are unable to hear or see often respond favorably to the warmth of animals.

Pet-A-Pet volunteers may bring their own pets if they are friendly, in good health, and have current vaccination records. The visits are scheduled one day per month and last about one hour. In addition to the Old Village School, the program also visits several nursing homes in the metro area.

If you are interested in joining the group that visits Old Village School, please call Laurie Allen at 355-1823.

The Northville Record periodically publishes a list of not-for-profit organizations in the area seeking people to volunteer their time. We welcome additions to our list. Representatives of any such group may submit the pertinent information to: Volunteer Briefs, The Northville Record, 104 W. Main, Northville, MI 48167, Attention: Bob Needham.

Our Opinion

Taxation hearing is common sense approach

The township board next month will host a public hearing to gather citizen input on a proposed township tax increase.

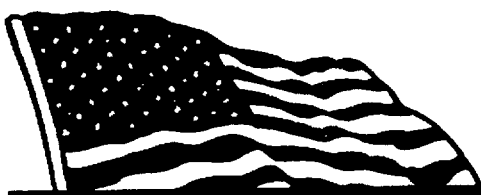

The process is called Truth-in-Taxation. In a nutshell, Truth-in-Taxation allows a government to bump its tax levy to an amount equal to — but not exceeding — the rate of inflation by following specific public guidelines.

In Northville Township, Truth-in-Taxation would allow the township to boost its millage rate by about .36 mill, a fairly insignificant amount at first glance, but a figure which could enhance township coffers by approximately $168,000.

Outgoing Treasurer Jack Hosmer says the township is badly in need of that revenue. The township expects to face rough financial waters in the next two or three years, and Hosmer feels Truth-in-Taxation is an appropriate tool to help officials weather the storm.

We're not here to say the township should raise taxes, even by this amount. But we do approve of the Truth-in-Taxation process, which utilizes almost purely democratic ideals. In short, the township sets up a hearing date — Sept. 10 at 7 p.m. — publishes notices in the local newspaper, holds the public hearing, and votes on the issue during the regularly scheduled meeting.

Taxpayers would be given the opportunity to speak up; if they're repulsed by the thought of more taxes, they can say so. If they believe this is an acceptable expense, they have the chance to voice that opinion. The board then can weigh that input and decide on its course of action — and based on the way officials were talking at last week's board meeting, the board-elect also will have considerable say.

Truth-in-Taxation should not be construed as a lame duck board's last chance to backhand area voters. These officials have little to gain from this action, except to provide a smoother transition for their successors.

It's likely that the board will strongly consider public reaction before deciding to approve or reject the .36 mill hike. We highly recommend that residents take a close look at the township budget and attend the hearing.

We would not approve if the old board attempted to stamp its brand on the future by jamming through questionable legislation. By all appearances, it does not seem to want to take that course. But Truth-in-Taxation is one highly public step if safety can take.

Wheeling my way to Northville

Time and time again, I'd tell people what I was doing and they would look at me as if I'd lost my mind.

"You're bicycling HOW FAR? In HOW MANY DAYS? You've got to be kidding me!"

Then I'd tell them the trip began with a ride across the Mackinac Bridge and they would regale me with horror stories about the high winds, swaying spans and long drop to the water below. One was kind enough to suggest I tie concrete blocks to my pedals.

The topic of conversation was, of course, the Wish-A-Mile 300 bicycle tour that ended in Northville Sunday. The three-day tour is the biggest annual fundraiser for Make-A-Wish of Michigan, which grants wishes to children facing a life-threatening disease.

When I first heard about the WAM 300 four months ago, it seemed like a natural subject to cover for the newspaper, and the best way to cover it seemed to be to ride in it. Never mind that I had not been on my 14-year-old bicycle since last year, or that I'd used it so little since buying it that the tires were original (and looked it). It seemed like a noble cause, and a wonderful opportunity, and I figured that if I didn't do it now, I may never.

The trip itself was much harder than I imagined it would be. Every day, a new muscle decided to seize up, and a new part of my body experienced shooting pains. But compared to several other riders, who were run off the road by pickup trucks full of teenagers or whose knees totally gave out, my complaints were minor.

Not that my ride was without its ups and downs. On Friday, a woman in a Cadillac turned in front of me without warning and I ran into the back of her car, snapping a brake cable and smashing my sunglasses. Fortunately my injuries were minimal, and she was more shaken up by the incident than I was. Unfortunately, I didn't have the presence of mind to hit her up for a big donation to Make-A-Wish.

On Sunday, while all the other cyclists followed a last-minute detour off the course, I did not, and spent several hours riding south out of sight of other bicyclists or support vehicles. It was then I came to realize how much I had depended on flashing a "thumbs up" signal to a van plastered with WAM 300 decals, while the van's passengers shouted encouragement.

Within several miles of missing the detour, the road turned to gravel, and I waited for my 14-year-old tires to explode. When cyclists with numbers on their jerseys began passing me in the other direction, I really began to worry until I noticed they were with a different club. But with help from a saint in a station wagon, I found my way back to the course, where my absence had already been noted.

What made the trip memorable were the people — the other riders and volunteers who gathered every evening and shared tales of the day's ride, compared aches and pains, and noted the wide variety of wildlife seen along the way. There's nothing like a new experience — and for many of the riders pedaling more than 50 or 60 miles in a day was a new experience — to bring people closer together.

A heart-wrenching video that we watched the first evening, and appearances by a half-dozen wish children at the ending celebration, also reminded us why we were ultimately making the ride, to help a special group of children find some temporary relief from their own pain.

For that we wore our own minor aches as a badge of honor, and a reminder of what we had accomplished.

Gaffe has cast a bad spell

Old-time trial lawyers used to say, "If the facts aren't on your side, and if the law isn't on your side, then pound the table."

A lot of table-pounding is going on over Vice President Dan Quayle's misspelling "potato," adding an "e" on the end. Playing the ridicule game for all it was worth, Democrats invited the student who caught the veep's error to lead the pledge to the flag at their national convention last month.

Let's be fair to the veep, even if that is unfashionable in the liberal media. A public official immersed in statecraft — specifically presiding over the Senate and the Council on Competitiveness — doesn't use the word "potato" every day. In the Agriculture Department's list of six sacred crops, the potato does not appear.

Now if Quayle had misspelled "ratification" or "appellate," words he might be expected to use on the job, we would have a better case for stomping on him.

One of our education columnists, a former public school administrator, was counseling a man in print about seeking a "nitch" in life. The correct word, of course, is "niche."

A grocer might not know words like "appellate" and "niche," but he should know the names of the products he carries. Yet a popular produce market on Newburgh Road had signs for "mango's" and "avacado."

Then there was a farmer's stand that featured "home groan" veggies.

I was working the copy desk one day when a competent reporter submitted a feature story about kids studying fossils. The writer, with no background in geology, misspelled it "trilobite." I had studied the subject under the late professors John Dorr ("Geology of Michigan") and James Zumberge (Antarctic and hard rock expert), and I missed it completely, may their spirits forgive me.

A student wrote a scoffing letter at our blunder, pointing out that it was a "trilobite" — three lobes, tri-lo-bite. The student's letter contained a half-dozen other errors of its own.

In the heat of writing, one can make typing mistakes. Ten times a week I catch myself using words that end in "ion" and typing "loin."

Lots of readers have told me newspapers in general are letting spelling go to the devil. They are correct, and there are two reasons.

First, we no longer have proofreaders — people in the shop who read stories after they were set in type. They were an extra layer of protection. Typically they were old-timers with strict academic upbringings in high school, and they were excellent. Today our type is set electronically — what the copy desk sends out is what gets in the paper.

Second, newspaper designs are using more and more gingerbread — boxes, borders, shaded backgrounds, different fonts of type, pull-out quotes, big initial letters, reverses and so on. Copy desk people are forced to give more of their attention to page layout and less to spelling and content.

Spelling is important, but it isn't worth pounding the table about. For proof, consult the works of Will Shakespeare. Er, Shakespear. I mean, Shackspeare. Uh, Shaxper. No, it's Shakespear.

Tim Richard reports regularly on the local implications of state and regional events.

Let's compare cookies to cookies

To the Editor:
Regarding the Great Cookie War article by Cristina Ferrier in your Aug. 13 issue, it seems that all this "hoopla" isn't warranted — it's like a comparison between apples and oranges.

After looking through a number of cookbooks, including the popular "Betty Crocker Cook Book" and "The Joy of Cooking," for chocolate chip cookie recipes, it appears that Hillary Clinton's recipe is actually a recipe identified as an oatmeal cookie (not chocolate chip), which she may embellish with chocolate chips.

I'm not doubting what tastes please a person's palate, but perhaps Family Circle, and also The Northville Record, should have asked Barbara Bush for her oatmeal cookie recipe, not chocolate chip, and then a fair comparison of like cookies could have been made. I'm confident that the First Lady would not be running second in the contest.

With the Republican platform plank denying an abortion to a female made pregnant by means of rape or incest, would a 13-year-old female made pregnant by her AIDS-infected father be accused of murdering her unborn child if she sought to have an abortion?

State primaries should clear the air

MARQUETTE COUNTY, MICH. — Up here, it's easy to feel mighty far away from things.

The wind does sing in the pines and the trout rises to the fly. The moon comes up, yet again, full and brilliant over the still lake. And the loon calls still float, haunting and shrill, on the quiet breeze. Michigan, my Michigan. We so often get tangled up in the day to day aggravation of living in Michigan — especially "downstate" as the Yoopers say here — that we forget just how extraordinarily fortunate we are to live in this Pleasant Peninsula.

Consider. Last week, the University of Michigan's Center for the Study of Youth Policy released a study that showed that Detroit ranked No. 1 and Flint No. 4 for cities over 100,000 in the nation for the highest percentage of children growing up in poverty.

What a terrible place Michigan is, one wants to say. True. But consider the same national rankings for lowest percentage of children growing up in poverty. Livonia ranked 11th. Sterling Heights came in eighth, while Ann Arbor was 16th.

What a fine state we live in, one wants to say. Or take economics.

It now seems clear the North American Free Trade Agreement, allowing companies to do business in the U.S., Canada and Mexico without customs duties on thousands of items and without masses of paperwork, will be completed by the trade negotiators. Congress will have to pass the final agreement before it goes into effect, which will likely take at least a year.

In the meantime, the Free Trade Agreement is either the greatest disaster to hit Michigan since Coleman Young or the best thing since the speckled trout.

"We see it as a prescription for massive job losses in autos and auto parts," says the UAW's Alan Reuther. "The United States is the only country left without any auto policy to keep any auto employment." He'll got a lot of agreement around the vicinity of the Willow Run plant.

In the face of a powerful economic competitor in the European Common Market, an American free trade zone could increase competition and new market economies and bring as many as 175,000 new jobs for U.S. exports, according to the Institute for International Economics, a Washington think tank advocating the pact.

So what do I make of all this from the peace and beauty of the U.P., where the air is clear and the water clear?

Just this. Michigan, like most places, only more so, has a remarkable mixture of the happy and the mad, of assets and deficits. Within our boundaries we go from the poverty of Detroit to the affluence of Livonia, from the fear of the auto industry to the opportunity of the entrepreneur and the visionary.

The trick is to make the most of the best while trying to fix the worst.

And what irks me is that, in the face of Michigan's mix of crisis and opportunity, our political leadership seems so inwardly turned and so fixated on gaining narrow partisan advantage.

Both Democratic and Republican state conventions take place this weekend. It would be nice to hear from both of them some sense of vision, some program describing how to take advantage of our assets and how to overcome our deficits, something higher than narrow posturing.

Maybe it's just the clear air up here. But I do wish somebody would cut through the fog.

Primary scores big win for pro-lifers, women

Primary returns are in. Ballots are counted. So, is this the year of women in politics?

For U.S. Congress and state House candidates in Oakland County, maybe not.

For Wayne County judicial candidates, maybe so.

As always, the abortion issue loomed large.

The area's most highly publicized female candidate, former Oakland Circuit Judge Alice Gilbert, finished third in her congressional primary.

It was pro-life candidate Joseph Knollenberg, not the pro-life Gilbert or self-styled moderate Dave Honigman, who carried off the GOP nomination in the 11th District, winning votes from Birmingham to Northville.

"As usual, Dave Honigman muddled the waters and that's too bad," said Carol King of the Michigan Abortion Rights Action League.

Of three candidates heavily backed by MARAL, only incumbent state House member Barbara Dobb was a winner, defeating two other female candidates.

Fellow state House hopeful Patricia "Pam" Godechaux of Birmingham fell short in her bid to unseat first-term incumbent John Jamian, R-Birmingham.

"She ran a good race, but it's very hard to unseat an incumbent," King said.

While King is consoling herself with the victory of Dobb—and of Penny Crissman in the primary race for a Rochester-area state House seat—pro-life forces are ecstatic over Knollenberg's eye-opening victory.

"You hear so much about Oakland County being a pro-choice county, yet it does have a sizable number of pro-life voters," said Jane Muldoon, director of the Michigan Right to Life PAC.

One of the primary's surprising female winners was pro-life Megan O'Neill, who defeated three male Republicans in her north Oakland congressional district for the right to take on incumbent U.S. Rep. Dale Kildee, D-Flint, in the fall.

O'Neill's victory, pro-life supporters believe, is proof that female candidates need not be pro-choice to succeed.

The flip side: pro-choice male candidate Jerry Vorva ousted moderate incumbent Georgina Goss in a local state House race that may have turned more on the incumbent's involvement with the controversial Western Townships Utilities Authority sewer project.

Both races beg the question: Is election of a pro-life female a victory for the women's movement? Is election of a pro-choice male?

No such questions need be asked in probate and circuit court judicial races.

There, female candidates did well.

Half of Wayne County's six circuit court nominees are female. Denise Page Hood, Diane Marie Hathaway and Northville's Jeanne Stemple will fight it out with Robert Ziolkowski, Joseph Vincent Brennan and John William Cahalan for three circuit court seats. Hood and Hathaway were the two top vote-getters in the primary. Another female candidate, Deborah Thomas, came within 700 votes of edging Cahalan for the final spot on the fall ballot.

Two female candidates, Cathie Maher and Nancy Diehl, survived the probate court primary.

No Oakland County judges had competition in the Aug. 4 primary.

Then there was the case of Oakland County executive hopeful Philip Marcuse, quoted as saying women "are not leaders."

He lost. To Democratic rival Betty Howe. By a 3-1 margin.

Young republicans work their way to Houston

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

HOUSTON — What do you do if you lack $100,000 in your jeans to be an honorary Bush-Quayle national co-chairman?

Or $10,000 to get a private briefing from GOP national chairman Rich Bond? Or even a mere $1,000 to get in the door of the gala?

"Work," answered a chorus of Oakland County Young Republicans. "Work in the delegation office. Work at the registration tables."

"We wanted to usher at the gala," said Tracie White, YR member from White Lake Township, "but to do that we would have had to be down here Aug. 8 (a week before the convention festivities). Many of us can't do that.

"It's hard to balance a career and political work," said White, a senior account executive for the Hermanoff public relations firm.

"We've been helping in the office (of the Michigan delegation), and we received guest passes to the convention," said Anna Lipar, a Southfield resident and advertising salesperson for The Northville Record.

Her eyes were wide open although the crew admitted to a 5 a.m. quitting time the night before. It seems there's plenty of time for celebrating, too.

"We've been running into YRs we met from our leadership conference in D.C.," Lipar said. "Yesterday (Saturday) we got into two cars and took a 45-minute trip to Galveston (the beach) and were there all day. It's a beautiful city."

One member, of course, is a designated driver.

No need to buy food with all the delegate receptions hosted by political leaders and underwritten by utilities, GM, lobbying firms, Meijer's and the like.

They also hold down costs by "cramming into two rooms" in a nearby hotel that's a little cheaper than the $70-a-night (plus 15 percent Texas tax) Sheraton Crown.

THURSDAY
August 20, 1992

Deanne Mayernik coaches two actors on stage.

Sybil Vane (Amy Morgan) and Dorian Gray (J. Matthew Riopelle) share a kiss in a rehearsal of The Picture of Dorian Gray.

Singing the picture of Dorian Gray

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

Amy Morgan is 13th in a family of 14 children — a number that some might consider unlucky. "But I'm not so unlucky, after all," she said. "At least, I don't think so."

Indeed, Amy has a lot to look forward to. She is the female lead in an original musical drama based on Oscar Wilde's novel The Picture of Dorian Gray, which opens this weekend at Oakland Community College's Smith Theatre, located on OCC's Orchard Ridge campus. The show has attracted the attention of a New York producer.

This Sunday she is leaving to begin musical studies at New York City's Manhattan School of Music, fulfilling a dream she has held since she was a little girl.

When she was growing up in a big family, Amy said, she was always doing something to get attention. That's how she became a singer.

A 1992 Novi High School graduate, she studied music under Paula Joyner-Clinard and Craig Strain, and she took private singing lessons from Dorothy Cormie. Strain is involved in this production, as the orchestra leader.

"I'm the first in my family to go to college," she said. "And my family has been very supportive. They've been so wonderful."

"They're coming to my last show, and it's going to be hard because it's my last show before I have to leave."

"But what a way to go!" Amy will leave this Sunday after the first two performances, fly back for the last two performances.

The show is scheduled for 8 p.m. Aug. 21 and 22, and Aug. 28 and 29. It is a musical drama, with very few spoken lines. The story is carried out through a series of songs, with lyrics that portray Wilde's famous story of a man whose aging features and other negative characteristics show on a portrait of himself, instead of his own face.

It is the brainchild of Deanne Mayernik, a South Lyon resident who worked with Morgan at Lord & Taylor in the Twelve Oaks Mall.

"I love the theater, and I wanted to be involved in it," she said simply, in answer to a question about why she decided to create this musical drama.

Mayernik said doesn't sing and she doesn't act. She doesn't write music. But someone suggested that she try writing, so she decided writing lyrics would be something up her alley. It took her seven months to finish her project.

"I was advised by someone in the profession that writing the words was a lot different from writing the music because it is your own," she explained.

"I didn't have to make it fit. My words came first."

The music was written by a friend of hers who lives in Connecticut.

"It was written across the miles," she explained. She would write the lyrics and send them to him, then he would mail them back with music.

She chose The Picture of Dorian Gray because "it had all the elements of a good story," she said.

"And I've always liked the idea of the picture changing. It's kind of spooky. And besides, Oscar Wilde is my favorite, favorite author."

Myers boosts support of Novi's Booster Club

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

"It's work, but basically it's fun," said Dale D. Myers Jr. about taking a turn at the concession stand during Novi High School athletic events. And as a four-year member and current president of the Novi Athletic Boosters Club, he speaks from experience.

The stand, which is in business at all athletic events at the school, sells soft drinks, hot dogs, hats, pennants, T-shirts, and pom poms. The proceeds — about $14,000 a year — go for athletic equipment, Myers said.

For example, the club recently paid $7,000 for security cages for the coaches to store equipment and pitching machines. And a special committee, he said, is now investigating a sound system, which "hopefully will be installed this summer."

Club members sign up to work at the stand for various lengths of time. "Some do two-hour stints," Myers said, "and some of us are there all day." One time during a regional track meet he was there from 8:15 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Some indoor events like a yearly district wrestling tournament can keep the stand going from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

How many people are generally needed for athletic events? Myers said, "Twelve run it at football games and two for soccer and smaller events."

As president of the Athletic Boosters, Dale Myers attends the monthly meetings, and he sits in on meetings of the three committees: publicity, fund raising, and membership.

Why did he get involved in this? Because of his children, he answered, and also to meet people and get acquainted in a community in which he has lived only a few years.

Whether or not you have children in school, and you would like to support high school athletics, you're invited to attend a Novi Athletic Boosters meeting on the first Wednesday of every month — except July — at 7 p.m. in Room 107 in the high school.

NYA seeks volunteers to befriend youngsters

Northville Youth Assistance is seeking adult volunteers to be supportive role models for young people in the Northville community. NYA will be sponsoring a 15-hour training session for volunteers starting Sept. 10 for five consecutive Thursday evenings.

Program coordinator Mary Ellen King said the purpose of the volunteer program is to encourage adults to take an active role in becoming confidantes and friends to their younger partners. King said volunteers spent about an hour and half a week with their partners doing anything from age-appropriate activities to just sitting and talking and listening.

"Some kids could just benefit from having a special friend around," King said. "Volunteers pick kids up at home and doing what's appropriate, a walk in the park or share a Coke or something."

In previous years, King said she's matched up nearly 45 pairs. For one family, a volunteer helped to fill a sudden void. For the children of a Northville family whose father had died suddenly, a NYA volunteer who was there.

"Sometimes they (the kids) need someone to do things that Mom just can't do," she said.

Volunteers come from all facets of the community King said. Over the years there have been a lot of people at the city and township offices that have been volunteers, she added.

"All it takes is a commitment to be a part of the program and for people to want to give of themselves," she said.

And after completing the training course and a screening interview with King, requirements to become a volunteer are pretty easy to fulfill.

Volunteers must be at least 21 years old, be caring and concerned about Northville kids, and have the time and commitment to want to be in the program.

In screening applicants, King said she looks for people who are genuine, warm, supportive and for those who are good listeners. Once prospective volunteers pass King's inspection they enroll in the training sessions. In training they learn such skills as listening, problem-solving, decision-making, empathy and recognizing the warning signs of substance abuse.

"Our hidden agenda here is to build self-esteem," she said. "But our volunteers aren't going to come out of this and become substance abuse counselors, we just want to them to be aware of what's out there."

"These kids get lectured enough from parents and counselors... sometimes all they need is a good listener. The bottom line is that you care about the kids and they know it."

For more information or to volunteer, call King at NYA, 344-1618.

Northville judge makes OCS Hall of Fame

Thomas Roumell, a Northville resident and retired judge of the Wayne Circuit Court, was inducted Aug. 14 into the Officer Candidate School Hall of Fame at Fort Benning, Ga.

The honor recognizes Roumell's "distinguished civilian pursuits" including director of Michigan's labor department, its labor relations board, its employment division, as well as his 18 years on the bench. Roumell retired from the bench

It was one of those glorious summer days that you would just like to bottle up and preserve for the mid-winter doldrums.

I had just dropped off an article to our Northville Record. One step out the door, I turned on my heel and rushed back into the office.

"Gina," I exclaimed excitedly to our busy, but cheery receptionist, "there's a lady out here with a parrot on her shoulder."

"Yeah, right," she says, "I know that old joke; it's like the one where the psychiatrist walks into a bar with a duck on his head. Almost got me for a second there, Janie."

"But it's not a joke, she's really there, sitting on a park bench in front of Morrison's Antique Shop," I protested, feeling very much like the little boy in Aesop's fable who cried "wolf" once too many times.

"Is there a photographer available?" I query. My earnest plea has at last convinced Gina that I am indeed, on the level.

"Bryan Mitchell is on deadline and Hal Gould is on assignment so I'm afraid we have no one available at this time," she explains ruefully.

A quote from another children's story pops into mind: "Then I'll do it myself," said the little red hen, and she did."

A quick dash to buy a 35 millimeter camera and I was all set to capture the bizarre and incongruent pose of a woman with a tropical bird on her shoulder sitting on a park bench in a quaint, Victorian Northville.

The lady in question is Linda Reeves and the parrot is actually a gorgeous blue and gold Macaw (part of the parrot family) named Willie.

A former Northville resident, Linda and her mother Marge, own "Ewe, Me, & Company", a rug-hooking shop which adjoins a room devoted entirely to gifts and goods for left-handed people.

Linda, who used to raise parrots, brings Willie into the shop several days a week, weather permitting.

It seems that Willie, who was hand fed and tamed by Linda just as soon as he hatched out of his egg, craves attention and loves people, unusual traits for this type of bird which usually bonds exclusively to its owner.

This particular day, 11 students in the fourth and fifth grades of New Morning School in Plymouth, accompanied by their teacher, Mrs. Louise Huebner, spent an entire day in Northville.

After being entertained by the play, "Hansel and Gretel" at the Marquis Theatre, the children visited various shops where the merchants then told them a little bit about how the businesses were operated, and then generously gave them "goody bags" of samples of their wares.

Now we segue to the parrot part: After observing a demonstration on the Folk Art of rug hooking, the children were given the opportunity to try their hands at it. As a special surprise, after they had finished, Linda brought Willie out to meet them.

An even bigger bonus awaited them, however, when they were allowed not only to stroke the colorful feathers, but were permitted to hold him, in fact, cradle him like a baby.

This is obviously one special bird. He even does a canine trick, plays dead, and an even tougher "human" one, he does chin ups.

Some of these amazing feats must be due to native intelligence, since according to Linda, they have an I.Q. of a 2- or 3-year-old child, but a good diet must surely contribute to it also.

While most people seem to take for granted that these birds in the parrot family eat only seed, Willie loves his favorite veggies, with walnuts being his favorite treat, which he cracks open himself with his beak, and pizza (pizza?), yes, pizza being a close second.

While a macaw or parrot is a great pet for many reasons, one of the best is that it lives for a very long time, and can indeed live as long as its owner.

Linda Reeves and Willie the parrot enjoy the summer air on Main Street.

the average age being 75 years.

And so, dear readers, the next time you see me flitting about town calling out to a passerby, "There's a lady with a parrot on her shoulder," do not scoff and deride my exclamations. Unless, that is, and I quote from an old James Thurber collection of short stories: "Dear, there's a unicorn in the garden."

Northville resident Janie Clark is a freelance writer, entertainer and dental hygienist and recently converted bird aficionado.

'Picture of Dorian Gray' features local musicians and writer

The 2½ performance follows closely to the plot of Wilde's story, but the lyrics are nearly all Mayernik's original work.

The lyrics are sometimes thought-provoking:

*I stood at the crossroads of my life/
So many years ago/ I'd change the choice I made back then/ If I knew what I now know/ But we don't* know what to choose/ When we don't know the choice/ I want another chance/ To choose a different dance/ While standing at my crossroads.

And sometimes they are mildly amusing:

I see you're mad about him/ Maybe with him you do belong/ But I swear that I will kill him/ If he does you any wrong/ I wish that I could meet him/ Just to see if he's all right/ But I'm leaving for Australia/ And I have to leave tonight.

Among the cast members in the play, in addition to Morgan, who plays Sybil Vane, are Detroit-area musicians J. Matthew Ropelle as Dorian Gray; Brent Billock as Lord Henry Watton; Derek Hood as artist Basil Hallward and Keith Lamarre as James Vane. There are also five chorus members, including Jessica Fritz, also a Novi resident.

For two months, the cast and crew has rehearsed in the basement of Strain's home in Livonia. They were unable to use the theater for rehearsals until last Friday.

"When I finally saw it on stage, I cried," Mayernik said. "And the first time we rehearsed, I cried. Having all these people just 'take' felt so good. This is my baby, and every night it's getting more exciting."

As opening night approaches, she said, she is nervous but also calm, if that is possible.

"I'm very calm," she said. "They (the cast members) are so good they've taken all the pressure off me."

Mayernik has even interested a New York producer in her show, and the cast will be performing a "backer's audition" for several different New York professionals.

Tickets for The Picture of Dorian Gray are $15 apiece. All tickets are general admission, but, as Mayernik said, "there are no bad seats in this theater." They can be purchased at the door or reserved in advance by calling her at 437-0447.

Newcomers plan fall calendar

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

It's a way new residents can meet people and get acquainted with Northville and all it has to offer.

Northville Newcomers is a vehicle for new residents to meet their neighbors through planned social activities. The group with 180-plus members offers newcomers in excess of 30 different activities, each designed to foster relations and get people involved in the community.

"It is an opportunity to meet friends with similar interests," said Northville Newcomers' membership chairperson Catherine Rabahy. "Just by doing things with others you get to meet people who live here."

To start off a new year the Northville Newcomers are planning a tailgate party to mark their membership drive kickoff at 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 10 at the United Methodist Church.

At that party the Newcomers hope to catch the interest of new residents. The party is open to any Northville city or township resident who has lived in the area for five years or less. Invitations are also open to families whose children attend Northville schools.

The annual kickoff event is intended to capture attention and allow new residents to come and meet the group's officers and members and get a glimpse at the year's calendar of events, said Rabahy.

At that time interested residents can pay their $16 a year membership dues and sign up for any number of activities that are age-appropriate and serve to satisfy a diverse group of interests.

There are sub-clubs within the group that offer singles, divorcees, married couples, young and old, with or without children the opportunity to get out and meet some new faces. There are groups for people who like to play board games and card games. Groups for those who like to dine out and for those who prefer to dine in. For parents and teens there are playgroups and a babysitting network.

Groups like those, Rabahy said, afford new residents who are parents the opportunity to network with other parents and share information.

"They share information about doctors and stores," she said. "It's a nice way to meet people and get straight answers."

There are social groups that meet once a month to do things and go places. Couples go to sporting events like Pistons and Tigers games, and play in golf leagues.

A handful of Northville Newcomers ready themselves for their fall tailgate party.

In addition the group offers a litany of events for women only. Fashion shows, an annual Christmas Walk, and an overnight shopping escapade to Chicago were such events that readily came to Rabahy's mind.

"There is something for everybody," she said. "We have a wide variety that meet the needs of most people. It's really worked out well. I moved here two years ago and now I know tons of people all through the Northville Newcomers."

Anyone interested in joining the Northville Newcomers can call Rabahy to get more information about the tailgate party and other events at 420-0125.

Reunions

The Northville High School class of 1942 is holding its 50th reunion at the Mayflower Hotel, Plymouth, Sept. 12 at 5:30 p.m.

Friends of the class members are invited at 8 p.m. Phone George White at 349-8959 or Dawn Evans at 261-0586.

The June graduating class of 1972 at Redford High School (Detroit) will be having its 20th class reunion Oct. 24. Call Colleen (Thomas) Cornell at 626-3941 or Mary (Knowles) Gall at 194-1808.

DEARBORN HIGH
JANUARY/JUNE 1967: Graduates of Dearborn High School, January and June classes of 1967, will celebrate their 25-year class reunion on Aug. 21 at the Fairlane Manor in Dearborn. The committee is searching for all graduates from this class. For information call or write Reunion Planners, P.O. Box 291, Mt. Clemens 48046, (313) 465-2277 or (313) 263-6803.

87TH INFANTRY: On Sept. 15-20, the 87th (Golden Arrow) Infantry Division and its Combat Support units will hold their 43rd annual Reunion in Toledo, Ohio, at the Radisson Hotel. These units include 549AAA, 735th Tank Battalion, 607th Tank Battalion, 602nd Tank Destroyer and 610th Tank Destroyer.

The 87th Infantry Division was activated and trained as a combat Infantry Division in both World Wars. In 1917 the division joined Gen. Pershing's A.E.F. in France, and as it was being assigned to the Western Front, the Armistice was signed. In World War II, the Division was reactivated, trained, and entered combat in 1944 at Metz, France. During 154 days of almost continual combat, the Golden Arrow Combat Team fought in France, Belgium, Luxembourg, and Germany. It advanced more than 345 miles in the European Theater, taking 63,338 prisoners and liberating hundreds of towns. Veterans of the famous "Battle of the Bulge," crossing of the Moselle and Rhine rivers, and the "lightning" pursuit of the Nazis across the heart of Germany, fighting many bitter battles from the once impregnable German Siegfried Line to the Czech border.

For additional information on the 87th Infantry Division Combat Team Reunion, contact Gladwin Pascuzzo, 2374 N. Dundee Ct., Highland, MI 48357-3716. Telephone: (313) 887-9005.

Anniversary

Ronald and Carolyn Abramovich

Ronald L. and Carolyn M. Abramovich of Northville will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary during the 5 p.m. Mass at Our Lady of Victory in Northville on Aug. 22. Guests will include friends, family, bridesmaids and ushers. After the ceremony their three children will host a dinner in honor of the occasion.

Ronald Abramovich met Carolyn Joslin on a blind date at a Kappa Sigma Alpha Fraternity fundraiser. They were married Aug. 18, 1967, at St. Francis de Sales in Detroit. Together they had three children, Laura Wierimaa of Wixom, Richard Abramovich of Northville, and Sharon Abramovich of Northville.

Carolyn enjoys making stained-glass gifts, gardening, music, reading, golf and volunteering. Ronald enjoys golfing with family and friends and volunteering with Our Lady of Victory and the local civic organizations.

Carolyn is a homemaker while Ronald is director of government contracts at General Motors. They are members of Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church in Northville and are very active with various ministries at Our Lady of Victory.

They celebrated their 25th anniversary with a two-week trip to Hawaii in April.

Wedding

Paul and Sheryl Charkowske

Elementary teachers wed in alma mater's chapel

Paul and Sheryl Charkowske of Kalamazoo announce the marriage of their daughter, Lisa Marie, to Jeffrey Michael Lauer, son of James and Anne Lauer of Northville.

The double-ring ceremony took place at Kanley Chapel on Western Michigan University's campus July 18.

The bride wore a white chapel-length gown and carried a bouquet of pink and white flowers made by her mother.

Linda Johnson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor with bridesmaids Allison Martin, Jodi Bastian, Robin Buist, Barb Block, Stacy Lauer, and Kelly Prak.

They wore wine satin tea-length gowns and carried white and pink rose bouquets.

Ron Beier, friend of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Roger Mills, Adam Swallow, David Bock, Chris Ford, Jeffrey Boyer, Robbie Beier, and Todd Johnson. Corey Charkowske was ringbearer.

The bride and groom are both graduates of Western Michigan University. She is a fifth-grade teacher at Swansboro Elementary School in North Carolina while the groom is a sixth-grade teacher at Swansboro Middle School in North Carolina.

The couple will reside in Swansboro, North Carolina.

Births

Jennifer Lynn Campbell was born July 24 to Christopher David and Terri Lynn Campbell of Plymouth. She was 7 pounds, 15 ounces, and 21 inches at the time of her birth at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. Grandparents are Frank and Shirleyann Campbell and Arnold and Carol Mephers. Great-grandparents are E. John and Carol Hills.

Norb and Cathy Ceit of Milford announced the birth of their daughter, Loren Colleen, born July 14 at Huron Valley Hospital. She weighed 7 pounds and was 21 inches long. She joins her brother David, 12, and sisters Amy, 10, and Lisa, 5, at home.

Grandparents are Norbert and Shirley Veit of Livonia and Ted and Shirley Mapes of Northville. Great-grandparents are Agnes Wick and Emory and Thelma Mapes, all of Northville.

Engagement

Carl and Judith Anderson announced the engagement of their daughter, Jennifer Lynn Anderson of Shawnee, Kan., and formerly of Northville, to Eric John Miller of Raytown, Mo., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller.

Jennifer is a 1988 graduate of Northville High School. She is employed by a national financial service corporation as an administrative secretary.

Eric is a 1981 graduate of Blue Ridge Christian High School and a 1984 graduate of DeVry with a bachelor's degree in computer science. He is a computer programmer employed by National Freight-Trucking Corp.

A late fall wedding is planned.

WEEKNIGHT JAZZ: Home Sweet Home restaurant, on Nine Mile just east of Novi Road, offers live jazz every Wednesday from 8-11 p.m.

Performances are by the Buddy Budson Band with featured vocalist Eric Brandon. Often local jazz stars like Ursula Walker and Marcus Belgrave sit in as well.

There is no additional charge for the performances. For more information, call the restaurant at 347-0095.

Theater

PERFORMANCE PLUS: The youth acting class "Performance Plus," sponsored by Novi Parks and Recreation, needs actors and actresses for its fall performance, The Crucible by Arthur Miller.

Auditions will be held Tuesday, Aug. 25, and Thursday, Aug. 27, at 7 p.m. at the Novi Civic Center, 45175 W. Ten Mile Road. Rehearsals begin Sept. 8 and run Tuesdays, 7-9:30 p.m. and Thursdays, 6-9 p.m.

For more information call 347-0400.

MURDER MYSTERIES, OPERA AT GENITTI'S: Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall Restaurant continues to present its Murder Mystery and Verdi Opera Dinner Theatre performances.

Genitti's now has three different production companies performing three different Murder Mystery Dinner Theatres. Every Friday evening at 7:30 p.m. separate performances are planned in separate dining rooms.

Reservations are required for all shows. Special performances of the Murder Mystery Dinner Theatre are available any day of the week.

Dinner is served. As the crime unfolds during the performance, the guests try to discover who "committed the murder" through clues given out during heated exchanges between cast members. Small gifts are awarded to those who correctly guess the identity of the murderer.

The "Verdi Opera Dinner Theatre" is now scheduled the third Thursday of every month at 7:30 p.m. All arias are performed by the Verdi Opera Theatre of Michigan. Special performances are available for large groups. Reservations are required for all shows.

Genitti's "Hole-in-the-Wall" restaurant is located in downtown Northville at 108 East Main St. just east of Center Street (Sheldon Road). The Murder Mystery Dinner Theatre and the Verdi Opera Dinner Theatre including the seven-course dinner costs $25 per person (including tax and tip).

Please phone 349-0522 or fax 349-4641 for reservations. Group rates are available. Large parties can be accommodated for any performance.

Q&A

By WILLIAM T. TOMICKI
New York Times Travel Syndicate

Q: We're looking for a trendy New York City restaurant that's off the tourist track. Any ideas?

A: You might like Two Eleven, a first-class Tribeca establishment now in its 11th year. The contemporary American bistro features creative cuisine of young chef Walter Hinds.

The atmosphere is breezy and "very New York," as they say, with a noticeable lack of pretense.

David Letterman has been spotted there eating and chatting among the guests; so has Robert De Niro.

Favorite menu items include ginger-cured halibut with fried shallots, grilled breast of duck with orange lentils, sautéed loin of lamb with garlic-potato tart and apple-turnip dumplings.

The prices are moderate; the wine list is excellent. For further information contact the restaurant at 211 W. Broadway, New York, N.Y. or call (212) 925-7202. Information is also available from your local travel agent.

Q: Is it true the Liberty Bell was hidden from the British during the Revolutionary War? If so, where?

A: In 1777 American patriots stashed the famous Liberty Bell at Zion's Reformed Church, 622 Hamilton St., at the corner of Church St., in Allentown, Pa.

Today the church has a full-size replica of the original bell. There is also a 46-foot mural depicting the way the bell was moved around in the 1700s to keep it out of British hands.

The church is open daily through mid-October. During the fall and winter months it is closed on Sundays. For further information call (215) 435-4232. Information is also available from your local travel agent.

Q: We want to go hiking in the Austrian Alps. How much gear should we bring?

A: Unlike backpacking in America, hiking in the Austrian Alps does not require a pack full of survival items.

A well-developed system of huts, or way stations, at strategic areas reduces, or eliminates, a need to carry items for shelter, food and drink.

In most of the popular mountain regions, the huts are spaced about four hours apart. It is possible to leave one hut in the morning, have lunch at the next and spend the night at the third.

Generally, hikers carry only a sleeping bag, clothing, rain or snow gear, snacks and personal toiletries.

For more information contact the Austrian National Tourist Office, 11601 Wilshire Blvd., Suite 2480, Los Angeles, Calif. 90025 or call (310) 477-3332. Information is also available from your local travel agent.

Q: Where can we stay in France for easy access to the palace and grounds of Louis XIV?

A: The Trianon Palace Hotel, on the perimeter of the royal park at Versailles has recently reopened its doors after a $60 million renovation.

Built in 1910, the hotel has been visited by such luminaries as Queen Elizabeth II, the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, Sarah Bernhardt, Marcel Proust and Marlene Dietrich.

Only 10 miles from Paris, the hotel has 117 graceful suites plus a modern business center and luxury spa. It is situated in 10 acres of parkland and surrounded with 100-year-old trees and grazing sheep.

For further information contact Albert-Jean Ruault, general manager, Trianon Palace Hotel, 1 Boulevard de la Reine, Versailles 78000, France.

Edinburgh looks back to 18th century

By SUZANNE CASSIDY
New York Times Travel Syndicate

In the mid-18th century, just before the city's Georgian New Town was built, more than 20,000 people lived in Edinburgh's Old Town.

In the towering stone tenements lining the Royal Mile, the ancient street that slopes from Edinburgh Castle to the Palace of Holyroodhouse, the wealthiest occupied the middle stories so that they did not have too many steps to climb, but could be far enough away from the unsavory streets below.

Today only about 6,000 people live in the Old Town. Every summer, however, the 18th-century crowding is re-created — in a more convivial and salubrious fashion — when Edinburgh throws its arms open to the world for its three-week international festival, this year from Aug. 16 to Sept. 5. The festival attracts hundreds of thousands of people each year.

Like bursts of summer fireworks, the Edinburgh Festival and its wackier cousin, the Edinburgh Festival Fringe, set off explosions of color and sound that illuminate and enliven the cobbled, winding streets.

SIGHTSEEING

Most visitors to Edinburgh stroll the Royal Mile. For a detour from the tartan-and-bagpipes trail, however, consider a walk along the Water of Leith, an 18-mile river, most of which snakes through the city.

For a leisurely three-hour meander start at the Scottish National Gallery of Modern Art (Belford Road; 556-8921), open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday to Saturday and 2-5 p.m. on Sunday; admission free.

The gallery owns works by Picasso, Hockney, Bacon and others; the grounds are studded with Henry Moore sculpture. There is also a cafe with an outdoor patio where one can lunch at reasonable prices on homemade soups, quiches and cakes.

A sign behind the museum points the way to the leafy riverside path, which leads to Dean Village, a one-time center of grain-milling. The next stop is St. Bernard's Well, a Doric temple built in 1789 on the site of a mineral spring.

From there stroll to Stockbridge, a former industrial village that now, on St. Stephen Street, is home to some of Edinburgh's most interesting antiques shops.

For refreshment stop at Bert's Bar (2-4 Raeburn Place; 332-6345). A few minutes away is the west gate of the Royal Botanic Garden (no admission charge; 552-7171), a good final destination on a Water of Leith walk.

Stockbridge is on the northern edge of the New Town, a trove of Georgian houses and elegant crescents. Begin any New Town tour at the National Trust's Georgian House at 7 Charlotte Square (225-2160), designed in 1791 by Robert Adam.

The house is beautifully furnished, and there is a 20-minute video on Georgian architecture and the family that once lived in the house. It is open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and 2-5 p.m. on Sunday, April through October. Admission is $4.80, $2.40 for children.

The Edinburgh New Town Conservation Committee (13A Dundas St.; 557-5222) has a pamphlet of four self-guided New Town walking tours for $1.

Among the notable addresses on the tours are: 39 North Castle St., home to Sir Walter Scott from 1802 to 1826; the corner of South Charlotte Street and Charlotte Square, birthplace of Alexander Graham Bell; and 17 Heriot Row, where Robert Louis Stevenson lived from 1857 to 1880.

HOTELS

At Festival time Edinburgh's hotels tend to fill up, but the city's tourist office (557-1700), above Waverley Station, has a central accommodations bureau that will do its best to get you a room if you arrive without one.

Edinburgh's hotels, like London's, tend to be expensive, even those that are considered moderately priced in Scotland.

Channings Hotel (South Leamington Gardens; 315-2226) is housed in five Edwardian townhouses near Dean Village. It has 48 en suite bedrooms. From April to October doubles with full breakfast start at $210; off-season they start at $170.

The Albany (39 Albany St.; 556-0397) is another townhouse turned tastefully furnished hotel, with 20 en suite bedrooms. Through October, doubles with Continental breakfast cost from $136.

Luxury: Among the most expensive is The Howard (36 Great King St.; 557-3500), three townhouses converted into a 16-bedroom hotel with antiques, marble fireplaces and rich fabrics. Doubles with full breakfast from $320.

The Scandic Crown hotel (80 High St.; 557-9797) is only two years old, but its facade is that of a turreted castle. It has 238 Scandinavian-style modern rooms. Doubles from $258 (special weekend rates).

Budget: Thrums Hotel (14 Minto St.; 667-5545) takes the fictional name J. M. Barrie gave his Scottish hometown. It has 16 rooms, with doubles from $114 with breakfast.

RESTAURANTS

Over the past decade gentrification has come to the Leith docks area, turning old warehouses and sagging buildings into smart new apartments, wine bars and restaurants.

One of the most elegant is the Vintners Rooms (87 Giles St.; 554-6767) in a 16th-century wine warehouse. French provincial-style meals, such as salmon with sorrel and vermouth or roast guinea fowl with tarragon and mixed mushrooms, are served by candlelight. Dinner for two with wine costs about $120.

The more casual Waterfront Wine Bar and Bistro (1C Dock Place; 554-7427) has a conservatory festooned with muscat grapevines (the grapes are served with cheese). The menu, which changes twice daily, recently included globe artichoke with garlic butter and halibut steak with lime hollandaise. Dinner for two with wine, about $60.

Pierre LeVicky runs three bistros called Pierre Victoire. At the original (10 Victoria St.; 225-1721) young French waiters serve such innovative dishes as stuffed loin of pork with crayfish, garlic and fresh herbs. The setting is casual. Dinner for two with wine, about $48.

Kalpna (2-3 St. Patrick Square; 667-9890), which the restaurant says is a Gujarati word for imagination, offers a lunchtime buffet of two curries and rice at a bargain $7. At dinner a more varied menu includes such dishes as makhni sabzi, a stir-fried vegetable dish with fresh ginger and nuts, served in a sweet-and-sour sauce. Dinner for two with wine, about $44.

For a child-friendly place to eat there is Lorenzo's (5 Johnston Terrace; 226-2426), an Italian restaurant that serves a good range of pastas and pizzas. Pizzas start at $8 and pasta dishes at $10. The fish and meat dishes are a bit more expensive (from $16), but half-portion are available for children.

Last June two new restaurants opened at Edinburgh Castle: a budget-priced, cafeteria-style restaurant called The Red Coat, and the more formal Jacobite Room (225-9746). Neither one serves dinner.

Furnished with modern Danish tables and chairs, Jacobite Room's main attraction is a panoramic view stretching toward the Firth of Forth. Its three-course, set luncheon menu offers interesting dishes such as collops of venison in a whisky sauce, but it is expensive at $30.

NIGHT LIFE

Edinburgh is almost as famous for its pubs as for its festival. Two that draw friendly, mixed crowds are the Cafe Royal Circle Bar at 17 West Register St. and the Jolly Judge just off the Royal Mile in James' Court.

For a traditional Celtic music session try the Tron Tavern and Ceilidh House (9 Hunter Square; 220-1550), where the music starts at about 9 nightly. A list of music events is included in the Glig Guide, available free in the Tron and other pubs.

SHOPPING

For anything from secondhand books to antique lace bloomers visit Victoria Street, a bow-shaped street of multi-hued shop fronts snuggled under a terrace, just south of the castle.

For unusual Scottish gifts try the MacDonald Nelson Trading Company (34 Victoria St.; 225-2672), which has tumblers engraved with Celtic symbols ($16), tartan-painted wooden cuff links ($12), tartan wool dressing gowns (from $170) and elegant tartan trousers for men and women with raw silk details (from $140). Matching waistcoats, $110.

Courses in Scotland, Ireland attract avid American golfers

By EVERETT POTTER
New York Times Travel Syndicate

The game of golf is closely linked to Scotland.

Avid American golfers often dream of playing the Old Course at St. Andrews, the birthplace of the game.

But there are more than 400 other courses in Scotland to lure golfers across the Atlantic.

What's more, devotees claim there is nothing like golf in Ireland, where battling a stiff Atlantic wind at a course such as Ballybunion is part of the enjoyment.

"For golfers, it's like going to Mecca," says Gordon Dalgleish, president of Perry Golf, an Atlanta-based company that offers golf holidays to Scotland, Ireland and other overseas destinations.

"It's become a very popular thing to do," says Gary Galyean, publisher of "The Golf Letter," a monthly publication subtitled "The Newsletter of World Golf."

"The real attraction is that the golf played in Scotland and Ireland is completely different from what's played over here," says Galyean.

"It's played hard, firm and fast. It's a ground game with low shots that roll up to the green. That's because of the nature of the turf and because of the wind, which is relentless."

Anyone who has ever seen a golf course in Ireland, for example, would find it difficult to equate it with the lush, tree-lined fairways of American courses.

Irish courses resemble hilly, grass-covered sand dunes, more suitable for grazing sheep than for hitting and finding a small white ball.

"They're called links courses and they were formed by a retreating sea," says Galyean.

"Therefore, these courses are always beside the ocean, treeless, undulating and on sandy ground. The bunkers were originally holes dug by the sheep to get out of the wind, which is always blowing."

Playing golf overseas was once considered an expensive indulgence. But that's no longer the case.

A variety of tour companies have set up affordable programs in which golfers spend a week in either Scotland or Ireland.

They may play five or six different courses and still have time for sightseeing.

"We recognize that people do other things besides golf for four hours a day," says Marc Mink, president of Owenoak-Castle Tours of Darien, Conn., which offers golfing trips to Ireland and Scotland.

"About 80 percent of our clients have us customize their trips, depending on their needs. They may have a non-golfing spouse or want to spend a few days touring."

Owenoak-Castle's "Seven Days in Ireland's Southwest" package is offered in conjunction with flights on Aer Lingus.

It includes playing golf at the course at Lahinch, the Old Course at Ballybunion, the Killen Course in Killarney and the Waterville Golf Club on the scenic Ring of Kerry.

Prices for the trip range from $890 in off-season (October to April), to $955 in June and September and $995 in July and August. Airfares vary, but they range from $499 to $699, with departures from New York or Boston to Ireland's Shannon airport.

Owenoak-Castle also offers stays at some of Ireland's famed country hotels and castles. Golfers can spend a few nights at Dromoland Castle, for example, the home of Lord Inchiquin, head of the O'Brien clan.

Set among 400 acres of woods and formal gardens, the turreted castle overlooks a lake. There's an 18-hole golf course on the castle grounds and both Lahinch and Ballybunion are within a two-hour drive.

The price per person is $815, May through September, for a three-night stay (based on double occupancy). This includes a rental car and two rounds of golf. Airfare is extra.

For further information contact Owenoak-Castle Tours, 3 Parklands Drive, Darien, Conn. 06820 or call (203) 655-2531 or (800) 426-4498.

The Golf Letter is published monthly; a subscription is $68 a year. For further information or a free sample issue contact The Golf Letter, P.O. Box 3899, Vero Beach, Fla. 32964-3899 or call (407) 231-1688.

NOW BOOKING RETURN TO THE GOLDEN AGE OF STEAMBOAT CRUISING

St. Lawrence Cruise Lines Inc. hosts 3, 5, and 7 night luxury cruises along the inland waters of Canada during the months of May through October. The cruises represent a revival of luxury steamboat cruising in Canada. The ships, the Canadian Empress and the Victorian Empress are grand replicas with warm and friendly personalities. Their interiors are designed in charming early heritage style, and furnished to recapture the grace of a turn-of-the-century life style. The cruises retrace the routes of the early explorers passing through some of central Canada's most beautiful scenery. Each trip is profoundly rich in history and includes ample historical commentary en route. Incorporated and all-inclusive in these vacations are numerous regularly scheduled events including visits to castles, forts, historic villages, resorts; tours of Ottawa (the nation's capital), Montreal, and Quebec City. On the longer excursions, guests witness the staggering scenic grandeur of the Saguenay Fjord and experience the unusually exhilarating opportunity of sighting numerous whale species in waters considered to be the best location in the world for whale-watching. ## Best golfing holes picked by newspaper

With summer winding down and fall quickly approaching, it'll soon be time to put the golf clubs in moth-balls for another winter.

Before those crooked sticks begin to gather dust, HomeTown Newspapers would like to give readers one last look at some of the area's best golf holes.

Throughout the summer, the sports writers of HomeTown Newspapers' East have played and reviewed local courses. The 18 holes chosen here are from those reviews.

Granted, this will be a subjective proposition. But we feel each selection represents a cross-section of both challenging and scenic holes.

Listed below, with short descriptions, are our picks (the holes are arranged in no particular order):

No. 1: Hole 4, Links of Novi

Rated the toughest on the Links east course, the fourth hole certainly plays that way. The fairway of the 377-yard, par-4, which could be dubbed "the intimidator," is a hacker's nightmare.

Players have about a 40-yard-wide fairway to deal with and if that isn't enough, it slopes drastically downward to the left toward the Links ever-present woods. Golfers are faced with a nasty incline and more woods to the right.

No. 2: Hole 9, Oasis Golf Club

The toughest at Northville's Oasis, the 230-yard hole is a par-3.

Thick brush and grass runs the length of the hole on the left side. Nearer the green and to the right, a small marsh complete with cattails awaits.

Golfers less confident with their wood play, should use an iron off the tee. A decent 3- or 4-iron off the tee leaves a short iron to the green.

No. 3: Hole 5, Brooklane Golf Club

At 455 yards, it's not a long par five, but plan on being accurate. A slice sends the ball off to another fairway while a hook will find the apple trees.

Years ago, No. 5 at the Northville course was a straight shot to the green. Now, it's a nasty dogleg left, skirting the trees. To hit the green in two, golfers are forced to hit a blind shot over the trees.

No. 4: Hole 3, Salem Hills

At 202 yards, the par-3 is deceiving. The hole looks shorter than the listed yardage, but isn't. Golfers

Salem Hills made our list of best holes in the area, in part because of its well-maintained putting greens.

Scribes stage battle on golf links

Tension had been building all summer.

Each passing day, each round on the links became a mere prelude for what was to come. Months of practice, endless hours of honing raw golfing ability. And I wondered, would it all be worth it? Could I seize that one moment in time and claim triumph against the odds?

I knew I wouldn't be able to erase those doubts, Thursday, as I headed to the battleground at Pebble Creek Golf Course. But, I also knew, whatever the outcome, the wretch from South Lyon would walk away bloodied and weary of the fight.

Playing against that perilous scribe of the west, Scott Sigler, I knew I was in for it. He has no mercy, that one, and I vowed to offer none. And so it began.

Sigler drew his saber-like driver on the first tee. I countered with my old friend, the 3-wood, at the long par-5. His shot went sailing down the fairway, as if shot out of a cannon, 100 yards if it was an inch. Reeling, I smacked heavily and sent the little sphere off into the ninth fairway to the right.

The green loomed in the distance. While my colleague advanced I decided to score a quick blow with a 5-wood. Woosh—it went high into the air heading toward the middle of the fairway and then, to my despair, hit liquid. A soldier was gone into the watery abyss.

Now we were both on the green, a bit scarred, but still ready. I failed on my first putt, then at a second and finally it went home with a third try—seven. My advisory took a tragic 10.

The blitz continued through the first four holes.

A par at the second and third holes for me, double and triple bogeys for Sigler. I met the opponent and he was meat!

"I've got my Neumann shirt on now buddy," the undaunted one proclaimed. "You're in trouble now. I was just toying with you on these first few holes."

The grizzled warrior dug down deep and began chipping away at my new-found confidence at No. 4.

We both sent mighty tee shots down the fairway of the 331-yard par-4. The treachery of the course revealed itself by snatching another of my rounds. Sigler, meanwhile, landed right down the middle.

I found the green in four painful strokes. A brazen test of putting skill proved to be mine and I limped off with six notches to my name while the Lion of Lyon needed seven to finish.

Sigler launched a vicious counter-attack at the fifth. He pounced off the tee of the par-3 and on to the green. I fought back meagerly and knifed a 5-iron over the green into the jungle.

It was all over. The man from the west easily dropped in for par while I doubled that in cowardice.

Par, bogey, a six to my seven, Sigler had me on the run. Now it came down to the final hole, my lead cut to a precious few strokes.

It was a finishing hole worthy of our skirmish.

Ten Mile Road ran the length of the hole, like barbed wire, to the left. Water in front, about 50 yards ahead, and to the right. Farther out, a bunker awaited. Long and straight it was, this par-5, some 534 yards.

Sigler fired first and landed close to the water. Looking to make my final offensive, I leaned into my tee shot and sent it hooking, hooking towards the road.

Now I trekked, nerves on fire, down the fairway hoping against hope to find my ball. There it was, that little round beauty, not more than four feet from Ten Mile. I pitched it back to the field where Sigler stood, glaring, waiting for my return.

To the green we went. I lined up my 12-foot putt ready to make par. Wide left it rolled and a bogey was my final tally. Sigler drilled his first putt in a valiant attempt, but alas, rode by. Another miss and then a tap in and it was over. VICTORY WAS MINE.

(Editor's note: Daniel scored a 47 for nine holes and Sigler 57. Scott Sigler is the sports editor for the South Lyon Herald and Milford Times.)

Injuries keep writer from victory

Boy, am I sore.

Those of you who think that golf is a safe game, you may just be lucky. I'm telling you, when you start swinging, those old injuries sure act up. As a matter of fact, when those old wounds come a-callin' up it can really affect your game.

Which brings me to the topic of this column. The illustrious sportswriter from our Northville office, Scott "The Ringer" Daniel and I headed to the links last week for a pitted battle of golfing strategy and writing wits.

"Let's take each other on in golfing and write dual columns after," he said innocently. "But let's not make it too competitive."

I agreed instantly complimenting him on his idea and assuring him it would all be in good fun and very non-competitive. Just a stroll on the links and a friendly game of golf.

I lied. I was counting the days until I could bury him under a freshly mowed carpet of greenery. I spent a fortune at the range, hitting thousands of balls to perfect my drive. I trained rigorously: lifting weights and running 10 miles a day to prepare for the grueling, 9-hole shoot-out. I owned the putt-putt course, shoving children and old ladies aside when they wouldn't let me play through (I was the faster player, after all).

I was ready.

When we sauntered out onto Pebble Creek in South Lyon, I was fully prepared to devastate my opponent with long drives, well-placed slices and deftly executed hooks. Woods, irons, putting—I was a veritable pinnacle of golf readiness.

I had him beat until we hit the first tee.

On my first swing, the old football knee gave out. A wicked slice put me in a bad position.

"Too bad, do you want to concede the game?" My opponent graciously asked, a slight grin twitching at the corners of his mouth as I limped off the tee. I am made of far sterner stuff than he might imagine.

I persevered, ignoring the pain and concentrating on the task at hand—crushing the opposition. Gradually, I developed a one-legged swing and was again in control of the game. After a dismal, pain-racked start I was back in step, hitting par, par, bogey on holes five, six and seven. I was ready to take the lead on eight when injury flared once more.

The drive was again the victim, and tennis elbow was the culprit. My right arm was useless, so I had to compensate by swinging lefty one-handed off of one leg. Things were looking grim.

"Too bad, do you want to concede the game?"

Grunting through sheets of mind-bending agony, I persevered, finishing the hole with a miracle double-bogey. Now five strokes behind, I was ready to pounce and hope for some bad luck on my opponent's part. That's when the semi careened off of the highway and ripped through the ninth fairway. Normally, dodging would have been child's play, but my other knee buckled as well (a cooking injury—don't ask). It slammed into me, sucking me beneath all 16 wheels before it rolled on to park in the water hazard on seven.

"Do you want to concede the game," my ever-so-concerned friend asked with a smirk. I persevered, valiantly crawling to my next shot. The leg would have to be amputated, but I golfed on.

I crawled all 514 yards of the last hole with my chin, pulling myself along inches at a time. I

Bob Shoemaker is the new girls hoop coach.

Shoemaker takes reins as basketball coach

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

A familiar face has taken the reins as Northville girls basketball coach.

Bob Shoemaker, boys coach for border rival Novi, was announced as the choice to pilot the Mustangs for the 1992-93 season. He replaces longtime skipper Ed Kritich, who resigned this summer because of family and work demands.

"He was the best basketball person to apply," said Northville Athletic Director Dennis Colligan. "There was no question who it had to be."

Shoemaker has recently guided Novi to consecutive Kensington Valley Conference championships. Now a Northville resident, Shoemaker has coached at the high school level for more than 20 years and is also the owner of two state championships in Michigan.

"I'm absolutely thrilled to have someone of his caliber," Colligan said.

With the timing of Kritich's resignation, he added that Shoemaker's experience will allow him to make the best of a difficult situation.

"It is a very tough situation," Colligan commented. "It would be a lot tougher for someone with less experience in coaching."

Kritich left Northville with a record of 100-73. Besides family and business reasons, he told the Record burnout played a factor in his decision.

Shoemaker said it would be difficult to replace Kritich, who was very popular with players and restored a good deal of respectability to the program.

"Ed Kritich did a great job with these kids," he commented.

As for the job, Shoemaker said he had been thinking about taking a girls team for several years. "I'm always at a game Tuesdays and Thursdays anyway," he said. "I get a little itchy in the fall so I decided to do it."

Shoemaker inherits a team that lost four senior starters. After only a few weeks to get familiar with his new players, the Mustangs will open the season Sept. 1—against Novi.

The coach said he hasn't drawn up specific goals for the squad this year. As long as the team plays hard, plays together and plays good defense, Shoemaker said he will be satisfied.

"We will do the best we can in a very difficult situation," he added. It will be Shoemaker's first season as a girls coach. He said will use the same style as coaching the boys.

"I'll approach it the same way," Shoemaker explained. "If I see something wrong, I will tell them. I will be just as tough."

Shoemaker has worked with girls for years in his various summer camps. Colligan said his knowledge of the game and love of teaching will make up for any shortcomings.

"I think Bob is a people person," the AD said. "I think he will adjust quickly."

Colligan said he met with Novi Athletic Director John Fundulian about the move. Both agreed, he said, there would be no conflict of interest.

should plan on hitting a 5-wood or 2-iron to make it to the green. A word of caution: If your ball goes long, tee off again instead of combing the forest behind the green.

No. 5: Hole 6, Brooklane Golf Club
The sixth hole is Brooklane's second best hole on the front nine. The par-4, 341-yard hole is a dogleg right.

Without an intentional slice in your shot repertoire, use a 3- or 5-wood off the tee. Heavy woods are straight out from the tee and will penalize a good hit with the driver. Golfers shoot blind into the green, which is below eye-level from the fairway.

No. 6: Hole 11, Salem Hills
At 407 yards, the par-4 isn't unreasonably long. But a severe dogleg right makes it very difficult to get in good position for a second shot.

Here's where a slice off the tee will work to your advantage. On the second shot, players must negotiate a stream some 30 yards in front of the green and not go long as the putting surface is protected by woods.

No. 7: Hole 5, Links of Novi
The first of the Links' two par-3s, the 175-yard fifth hole is gorgeous. A large marsh sits at the bottom of the elevated tee area with richly-colored green trees to the left of the fairway. A hill some 10 or 15 feet high protects the green as do bunkers to each of its sides.

The green at number five is typical of the course.

Featuring large surfaces, pin placements tend to go towards the back of fast, true-rolling greens. With many undulations, an off-line putt will cost dearly if stroked firmly.

No. 8: Hole 13, Salem Hills
The 13th hole is rated the second most difficult at Salem Hills and plays like it. Golfers tee off from a slightly elevated area at the straight-away 392-yard par-4.

An ominous pond directly in front and to the right of the green makes it a difficult hole. A small wooded area sits to the right of the green to make a golfers second shot even more hazardous.

No. 9: Hole 6, Links of Novi
Golfers can finally emerge out of the Links' wooded area at the sixth hole. The par-5, 498-yard hole features almost a double dogleg. Even for long hitters, reaching the green in two is nearly impossible.

If it were clear, the the green could be reached with a long fairway wood. But, trees jut out from the left protecting the green and leave a small target to shoot at.

No. 10: Hole 8, Tanglewood
It looks so easy, you would never think you could end up in the water. You must have been out in the sun too long. Yeah, that's the ticket, your brain has been baked in the heat. Too bad it's only the sixth hole.

The Lion's number six gained instant attention this year when it was featured at the cover of the 1992 Michigan Golfer's Map & Guide. The par 3 can range from fairly easy to impossible depending on tee selection.

Like all of Tanglewood's holes, golfers choose from four tees, offering four choices of difficulty in traversing the small blue pond nestled into the fairway. At the low end of danger, the red tee distance of 115 yards puts the pond mostly on the right, while the championship gold tees force you to traverse the pond in a single whack to reach the pin 188 yards away.

No. 11: Hole 12, Tanglewood
Some golfers would rather contract malaria than try to clear the swamp on Tanglewood's No. 12. A big hitter's hole, the par-5, 477-yarder caters to long drives. Ruins of a barn on the left serve as a reminder of what can happen to those who stray from the fairway, especially into the thick swamp hazard on the right at about 350 yards from the tee.

Don't go in there, or your foursome will finish as a three-some.

No. 12: Hole 16 Tanglewood
You'll have more than one thing to say about this hole if you hit water that would seem easy to avoid. The hazard would be easy to avoid, if it wasn't so tempting to go over it. The tees for this hole are well spread out. Red distance is 228 yards, white hits from 281 out, blue challenges with a 328-yard distance while the gold tees are a suicidal 386.

A good drive is needed to put you on the fairway, which lies 100 yards from the blue tee. Big hitters can lay up at the far edge of the fairway, giving an easy approach shot to be on the green in two. Risk-takers who don't have the killer drive can hit to the left of the fairway, then be on the green in two by hitting over a water hazard.

No. 13: Hole 1, Cattails
You'll swear it was a clean hit, but

File Photo

Oasis Golf Club's ninth hole provides a challenge for golfers.

the ball will bravely wander off-course — seemingly with a mind of its own and a will to travel — heading into the no-ball's land of the wetlands. Anything over a 215-yard drive will put you in the marshy hazard unless you head for the fairway on the right. If you come up shy of the wetlands, be sure to hit a solid shot to clear it — the hazard is 132 yards from edge to edge.

No. 14: Hole 8, Cattails
No matter how bad your game, the outing is worthwhile when you hit number eight. A beautiful view, the tee is tucked in amongst a big patch of wetlands. It's not hard to be relaxed on this tee with the birds chattering from their nest within the reeds and cattails.

The hole is enough to make you think the whole golfing experience isn't frustrating or maddening, but a lovely way to spend a peaceful afternoon. Don't delude yourself. Off the tee is 130 yards of wetlands — back to reality — so be sure to get off a safe drive.

No. 15: Hole 10, Cattails
This hole garnered state-wide fame when it was featured as one of the state's most emotional holes. In an article in Michigan Living magazine, Dave Seanor, the managing editor of PGA Magazine, listed the Cattails hole among such illustrious company as The Legend (designed by Arnold Palmer), The Bear (designed by Jack Nicholas) and Gaylord's Hidden Valley.

Dubbed "Aquaphobia" by Seanor, the par-5, C-shaped fairway features water on both sides. On this hole, ball placement is vital to staying dry. Club selection may not be as important as your choice of accessories needed to handle this hole — an extra sleeve of balls or a snorkel.

No. 16: Hole 2, Kensington
Even if there wasn't a dog-leg left, you probably couldn't see the pin on this 490-yard behemoth. The longest hole on the beautifully-maintained

Kensington Metropark course, No. 2 is more like a distance walking event than golfing.

A trap in the corner of the dog-leg awaits those who try to make up a little distance by keeping to the left. The fairways are wide, as are all of the Kensington fairways, giving you ample room to swing with all your might as you strive valiantly to finally reach the green.

No. 17: Hole 15, Highland Hills
A serious dog-leg right, the 300-yard par-4 features a 90-degree bend centered around a swamp. The swamp makes you play to the left side of the fairway, and terrible shots will end up in the water that crosses the length of the fairway 50 yards off the tee.

The swamp is beautiful, a feature of the course that pops up again and again at Highland Hills. The beauty has its drawbacks as a bear of a hazard, though. The first explorers of North America wouldn't go in after their ball, so watch that slice. No. 18: Hole 18, Highland Hills. The biggest test of the golfing season is very profitable for the Highland Hills staff—by the time you get to the top you are so exhausted you have to crawl to the grill and drink gallons of fluids before you can even think about heading to the car. One of Highland's "Invisible Greens," No. 18 is a 470-yard par-5 from hell. Direction off the tee is confusing, but if you keep to the left of the three willow trees in the fairway you'll be right on track. The green is hidden atop a monster of a hill. A good tee-shot will put you at the base of the hill, and then it's a 200-yard climb to the top.

still managed to hit a 10, swinging quite impressively with my teeth. Oh sure, Scott Daniel may have won the match, and I'm sure his story is full of falsehoods and errors about how he mastered the contest. As I sit here, with my one remaining leg in a cast, my neck in a brace and my elbow in a sling, pecking out the letters one at a time with my pinky (the only digit still functioning), I know I have won a moral victory. Yes, I am sore, but I refused to quit. And after extensive surgery and regular consultations with a psychologist to deal with the mental trauma of the whole situation, I have but one thing to say to Mr. Daniel. Wait till next year.

'Friends' reach out to help community

There's a new spirit in the Northville Parks and Recreation Department these days.

Instead of bemoaning budget cuts, inadequate facilities and government neglect, recreation officials have set sail on a project meant to heighten community involvement and understanding of the department.

A few friends have chipped in to help.

A core committee of residents, business owners, and community leaders formed earlier this year to develop a parks and recreation supplemental organization. The goal was to tap the community's abundant supply of financial, intellectual, and leadership abilities to create a support group for the recreation department.

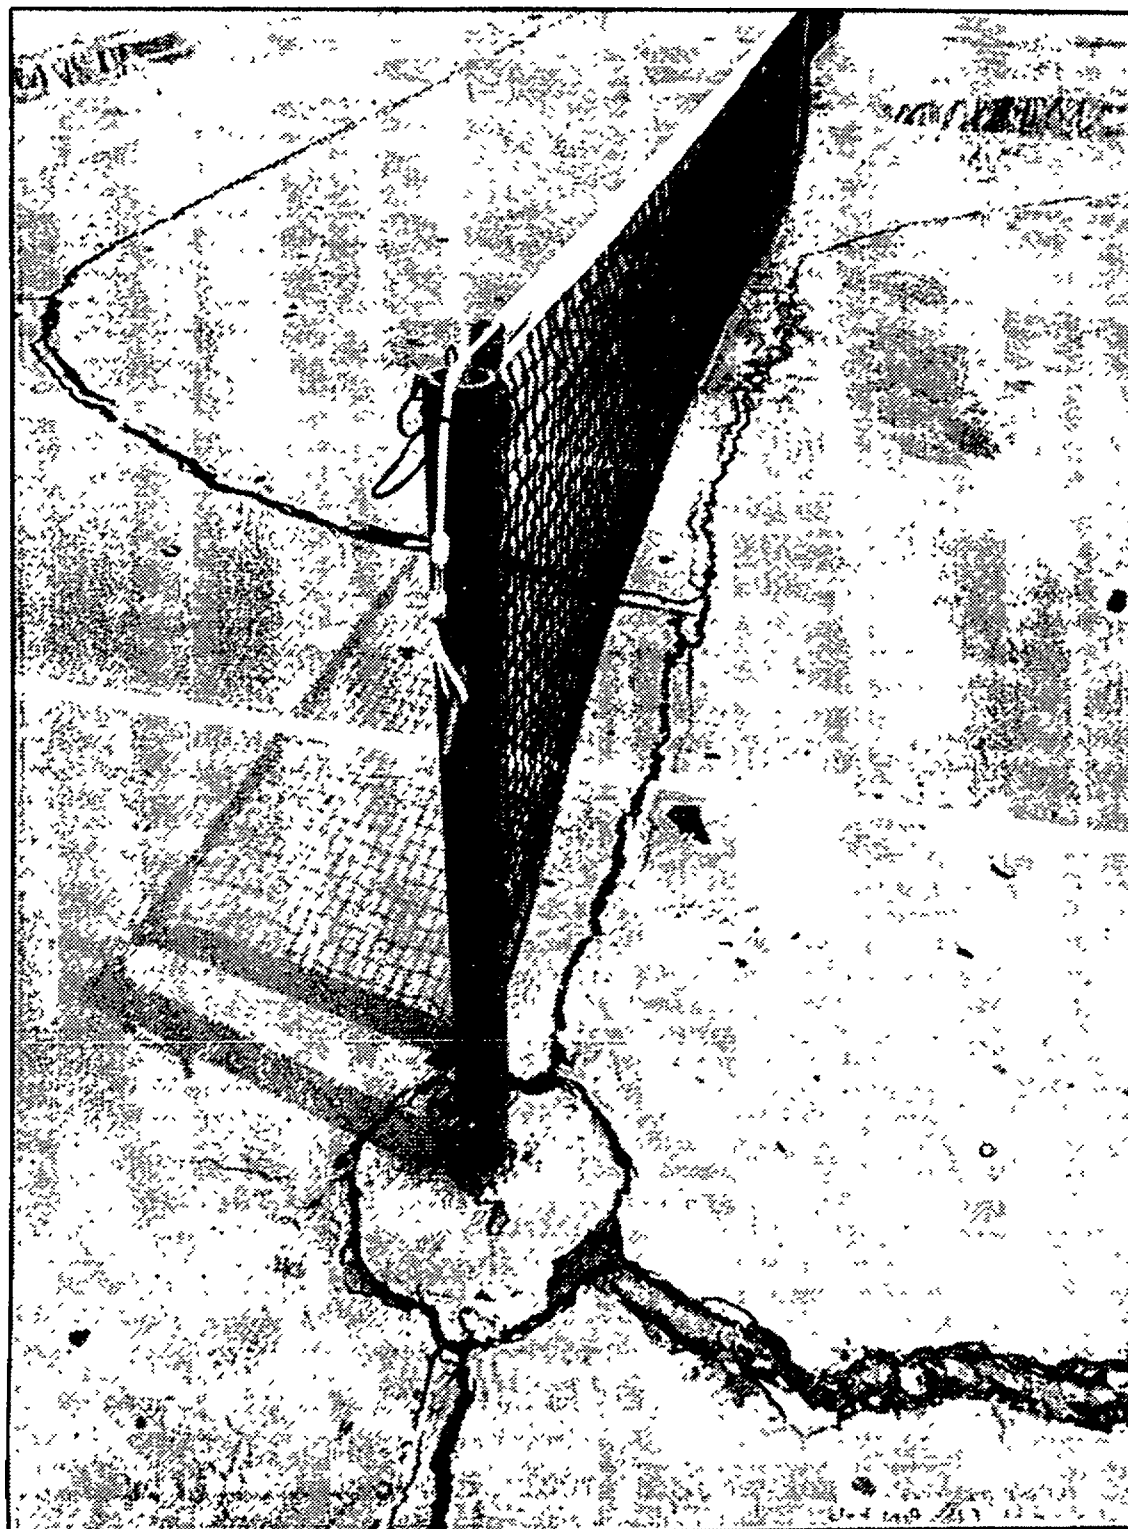

Thus, Friends of Northville Parks and Recreation was formed.

And the community has responded. More than 40 people attended the Friends' July 14 organizational meeting. Upwards of 60 businesses and individuals have joined the group, which hopes to work with local government and recreation officials to upgrade Northville facilities.

Already the work has begun. On July 18, a Friends of Parks and Recreation workday attracted 30 volunteers to scrape, paint, and effectively put a new face on community-used parks. Fish Hatchery Park was the main beneficiary of the workday, as volunteers stained benches and picnic tables, painted soccer goalposts, tore aged and dangerous playground equipment from the tot lot, and removed splintering railroad ties from the parking area.

Other facilities attracted attention, as well. Long-neglected bleachers received a coat or three of paint at Henningsen Park, Ford Field, and the Training Center sites. Additionally, dozens of new railroad ties donated by Friends member Don Thomson were stationed about Fish Hatchery Park.

But a clean-up, fix-up day is just the beginning for this eager group. The Friends of Northville Parks and

The tennis courts at the Fish Hatchery are closed.

Recreation has set a number of long-range goals, including repairing the now-closed tennis courts at Fish Hatchery, purchasing new playground equipment, and doing whatever possible to help with the planning and development of the Beck Road community park.

More assistance is needed. The Friends group will hold a 7 p.m. Aug. 25 meeting at the community center to further discuss fund-raising, membership, and park development efforts. The business and residential community is invited to attend that meeting or contact the Northville Parks and Recreation department (349-0203) for more information.

they do occur.

Most people think of the urinary tract, kidneys, urethra and bladder as being dirty or contaminated because it is involved with urine, a waste product. Although urine is a waste product, it is normally sterile and does not have bacteria in it. This sterility is also promoted by urinary tract infections are the most common bacterial infections seen by physicians. They are especially common in women, with as many as one in five women being affected. They are much less common in men, although they are usually more serious when urination, which tends to wash any bacteria out.

Most infections are caused by the same type of bacteria that are normally found in the rectum. These bacteria usually reach the bladder by coming from the outside and going up the urethra (the urine tube). Infections can also come from within the body, although these are not as common.

Urinary tract infections may be treated differently between the sexes. Because women have a much shorter urethra they are more prone to urinary tract infections than men.

In women, because urinary tract infections are so common, they will usually be treated with an antibiotic. Men are treated the same way except most physicians perform extensive studies to find out why the men got the infection in the first place. Women with urinary tract infections are usually anatomically normal, whereas about one in three men with the same problem are not. Frequently in older men the prostate enlarges around the urethra and impairs normal flow of urine. This makes infection more likely.

Symptoms of a urinary tract infection include increased frequency of urination, burning or discomfort and perhaps a strong urine odor. If left untreated, fevers, chills and flank pain may develop. Most cases can be treated with oral antibiotics, although severe cases require hospitalization treatment with intravenous fluids and antibiotics.

The best way to prevent urinary tract infections is to drink plenty of fluids since frequent urination tends to wash the bladder out. In women, sexual intercourse may introduce bacteria into the urethra. Urinating after intercourse may help to prevent this problem.

In men, any problems with the bladder or prostate need to be evaluated promptly to help prevent problems.

Recreation Briefs

Step aerobics offered by department

STEP BENCH, AEROBICS AND TONING CLASSES: Register now for the Northville Parks and Recreation/New Attitude Aerobics newly-expanded fitness classes. Offered year-round, the program opportunities include: step bench, high and low impact aerobics, fatburner aerobics, early bird workouts as well as toning and strengthening workouts. These safe, effective, easy-to-follow classes are designed with everyone in mind. All ages and levels of fitness are welcome. Child care, personalized instruction and nationally certified instruction. Call 348-3120 or 349-0203 for more information.

FALL RECREATION: Registration for fall volleyball and floor hockey is under way at the Northville Parks and Recreation Department. Coed and women's competitive leagues as well as coed intermediate volleyball leagues will be offered. Each league will carry eight teams, with 16 players, and charge $160 for admission. The season runs from mid-September to mid-December. Floor hockey registration runs through Sept. 30. A $170 fee will be charged for a seven-team league. The league's season runs from mid-October to mid-December.

For more information on either league, call the rec department at 349-0203.

COACHING VACANCIES: Northville High School is looking for a football freshman and junior varsity coach for this fall. Those interested in the positions should contact Athletic Director Dennis Colligan at 344-8403 or 347-0327.

SOCCER TRYOUTS: The Northville Soccer Association is still accepting registration for under-16 girls soccer for the fall season. All girls born in 1976 or 1977 are invited to participate. Registrations are accepted at Northville Parks and Recreation, 303 W. Main St. The fee is $41.50 for residents.

YOUTH DAY TRIPS: Youth trips, sponsored by the Northville Parks and Recreation department, include a variety of activities and destinations designed to bring excitement, fun and education to all who participate. All trips will originate and end at the Northville Community Recreation Building, 303 W. Main.

To obtain more information, contact the Parks and Recreation Building office at 349-0203. Specific dates and destinations are:
Aug. 21, Maybury Riding Stable Saddle up and ride the trails at Maybury State Park's riding stable.

This trip is for children ages 9-16, costs $19.50 per child, and lasts from 9:15 a.m. to 1 p.m. Riders must be 4'6" tall.

Aug. 28, Hands-on Museum, Ann Arbor

Discover the world around you at the Ann Arbor Hands-on Museum. The museum is four floors of play space for your hands, eyes, ears, nose, mouth and mind. This trip is for children ages 6-13, costs $11.50 per child, and lasts from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Children must bring sack lunches.

STATE PARK PERMITS: State Park Permits for 1992 are now on sale. The prices are the same as last year; a regular annual permit is $15 and a senior annual is $3.75.

Athlete heads for Spain

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

For one Northville resident, the Barcelona olympic games have yet to begin.

Chris Pyrkocz will be one of hun-dreds of American athletes heading to Spain next week to compete in the Paralympics — olympic-style com-petition for the disabled. For Pyrkocz, a champion cyclist, the games are a dream come true.

"I've never been overseas before," he said. "I'm looking forward to see-ing how they live."

Pyrkocz will compete in the 1,600-meter. He won a gold medal at the U.S. championships in the event to qualify for the team.

The 21-year-old athlete has paid his dues. According to coach Bryan Mafi, Pyrkocz has competed and trained for the past eight years.

New to Northville, Pyrkocz said winning a medal in Barcelona will be tough. But whatever happens, he added, he has earned the right to rep-resent his country.

"I've been training for the last eight months," said Pyrkocz, who suffers from cerebral palsy. "I've worked hard for it."

The Paralympics coincide with the Olympics every four years. Paralymp-ians compete at the same venue and stay in the same Olympic village.

The games begin Sept. 3 and run for 10 days. Teams from all over the world will be sent to Barcelona for the games and some 4,000 athletes are expected.

Disabilities range from cerebral palsy and blindness to amputees and athletes confined to wheelchairs. Track and field, swimming, shooting and basketball are just some of the events that will be held. Mafi said athletes with the same disabilities compete only against each other.

The coach, who is a physical edu-cation teacher in the Northville school district, will travel to Barcelo-na to help stage the games. In the past, Mafi, who has been involved for more than a decade with disabled athletes, has worked with Paralympic athletes in the shot put and discus.

"I love coaching these athletes," he said. "It's true competition."

In the future, Mafi said, there may be no need for the Paralympics. At each Olympics, a new Paralympic event is introduced.

Water abounds at Pebble Creek

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Popeye would have loved Pebble Creek golf course.

It's not to say that there is a lot of water at the 6,100-yard set of links. But if they wanted to make another movie about the fictional sailor, the South Lyon course could easily be used as a backdrop.

Golfers, in fact, may want to equip balls with sonar before starting. Wa-ter comes into play on all but one hole of the front nine.

And no place does it more affect play than at No. 1.

The 501-yard par-5 is as straight as an arrow. But 200 yards from the tee, Pebble Creek awaits.

The stream splits the hole's fair-way in two and then runs up the right side to the green. A 5-wood or 2-iron off the tee is a safe bet. Golfers should be careful of second shots though, because a portion of the stream is hidden from view and juts into the fairway farther than you think.

It doesn't get any easier at the sec-ond hole. A short 301-yard par-4, No.

2 is a severe dog leg left that is for the brave of heart.

Golfers wishing to cut the distance to the hole must shoot over the creek. The less daring should be careful not to send their tee shots straight through the fairway and on to the eighth hole. Again, a low iron may be the best bet to set up an easy second play.

After a short par-3, No. 4 offers al-most a repeat of the first hole.

At 331-yards, the hole should be an easy par-4, but isn't.

REAL ESTATE

Real estate document forgeries on the rise

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

An increasing number of forgeries are surfacing on real estate documents.

The criminal act of forging a name on papers related to a property's chain of title can cause major problems and cost a bundle to correct. The lure is big money. A person can forge your signature to certain documents, pretend to be you and sell or rent your property or take out a large loan using your property as collateral.

Such activity is creating much personal agony, frustration and cost for the real owners. Title insurance companies issue policies that protect property purchasers and lenders against the consequences of forgeries in the chain of title. But the increasing problem impacts everyone concerned.

A few years ago, most forgeries involved residential transactions and relatively few dollars. They usually involved an individual who forged the signature of his or her spouse — particularly in cases where the couple were separated or in the process of obtaining a divorce.

In recent years, more forgeries have surfaced that were the work of professionals. Their methods are sophisticated and have caused significant losses.

The documents most frequently forged are deeds of trust, deeds of reconveyance, quitclaim deeds and substitution of trustee forms. The forgeries often appear to transfer title to the forger or clear away encumbrances so an equity loan can be obtained.

When forgeries occur, the real property owners whose titles are forged can experience a major loss.

Their titles are clouded and they are often required to pay substantial attorney's fees and court costs to eliminate the forged documents from the chain of title.

In cases where there is title insurance coverage, the increasing settlement costs force title insurance companies to increase rates to remain in business.

The title insurance industry is taking action to stop the rising tide of title forgeries, according to Larri Jones, a regional vice president of Chicago Title Co. Industry leaders are pushing for stiffer penalties to be imposed on convicted forgers.

Some title insurance companies are offering cash awards to employees who detect forgeries in a title chain. The Chicago Title offices in Ventura County, Calif., for example, offer a "$500 bounty" to employees. And there have been several recent takers.

"The most effective protection against forgeries is in the hands of consumers—owners, buyers and sellers of real property," Jones said.

"Before you sign any real estate document, read it carefully. Don't rush it. Where appropriate, compare signatures. Before buying a home or investment property, or making a loan that is secured by real property, be sure a thorough title search is made. And obtain title insurance."

Use common sense. A real estate transaction is probably the largest financial commitment one will make. Be sure everything is legal and in proper order.

Questions may be used in future columns; personal responses should not be expected. Send inquiries to James M. Woodard, Copley News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, CA 92112-0190.

HOME DESIGNS

The Burk brings cottage charm and economy

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

Battens and shutters give a cottage-like charm to the Burk, a compact home that is economical to build. Designed for construction on a side slope, it could just as easily be built on a flat lot.

Plans also call for a full basement, undeveloped space that could be used for storage, or converted to additional living space as needed.

An air lock entryway, complete with built-in seat, minimizes warm air loss in winter and provides a place to shuck off muddy foot gear before entering the house.

Family living areas are informal. Only a half-wall separates the entry hall from the living room. A wood-burning stove is tucked in a brick-faced corner. In addition to adding visual interest, brick also holds heat and continues to radiate warmth long after a fire has faded to ash.

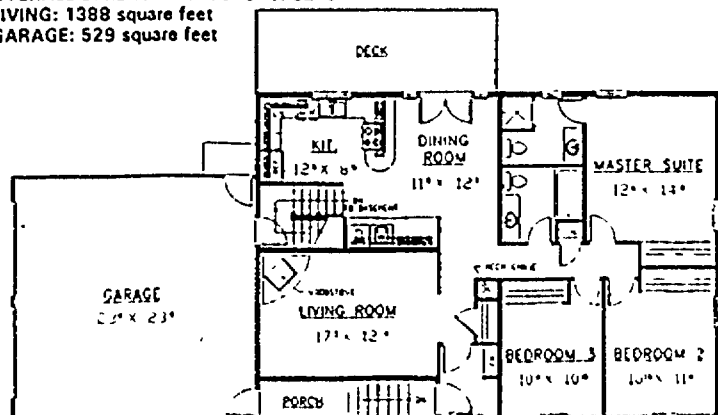

The kitchen is next to an area that could be outfitted as either a dining or family room. Range and oven are located in the eating bar—a convenient arrangement for serving meals on the run—and glass double doors open onto a deck.

Pocket doors hide a closet cubby, plumbed to handle a washer and dryer. Some families, however, might prefer to put a desk here and keep the family computer where all can have equal access.

The master bedroom has a bathroom with a shower and the other two bedrooms share a larger bathroom outfitted with a tub.

For a study plan of the Burk (400-09), send $7.50 to Landmark Designs, c/o HomeTown Newspapers, 323 E. Grand River Ave., Howell, MI 48843. (Be sure to specify plan name & number when ordering). Designers, Architects and readers with plans they would like to see featured also are invited to contact Landmark.

YARD THINGS

By Cynthia Tarchinski
STAFF WRITER

Boulders, ponds and farm equipment might not sound like they have much in common as yard ornaments, but all are being used to decorate area lawns and yards in unusual ways.

A few of Livingston County's lawns are sporting big boulders with flowers in rings around them, ponds with gushing fountains, or large carts with flowers flowing from them.

The use of boulders as a lawn centerpiece has been one of the year's hottest trends. Jim's Lawn and Landscaping in Brighton has been working almost solely with boulders this year, said Cindy Stephens, whose husband, Jim Stephens, owns the business.

"In the past year that's practically all people have wanted," Cindy Stephens said. "It's been booming this year."

Huge boulders, some up to five feet tall, are being used as a focal point in yards with flowers planted around them. Smaller boulders, from six inches up to 18 inches high, are being used in groups along walkways and around flower beds, said Rosie Pratt, assistant manager at Main's Garden Centers on Old U.S. 23 in Brighton.

"Over the past two years we've seen a big increase (in the use of boulders)," Pratt said.

Homeowners also are interested in creating small fish ponds or streams in their yards, Pratt said. The ponds can be done on one level with a fountain in the center, or on several tiers with a waterfall effect, she said.

"We sell a lot of them here," Pratt said of the items used to create ponds or streams. "The water is very calming, and they like to add it near their decks or patios."

Pratt said that a lot of people are afraid of enhancing their lawns or yards with water fountains or ponds, because they think that a lot of work is involved. But, Pratt said that working with water doesn't have to be difficult.

If a manufactured pond is deep enough, it will not completely freeze over in the winter and fish can stay in it year-round. The only thing that has to be pulled out is the water pump, she said.

She said that the store has a pond on display that costs about $500 to install.

"The nice thing about working with water is the end result can be as simple

A place for planting

GARDENING

Some annuals, such as impatiens, tolerate shade. Most require a minimum of seven hours of sun. Choosing a site that receives full sun allows gardeners to plant the widest selection of annuals.

Do not plant sun-loving annuals in a place that is shaded during noon hours. If shadows from a tall building or tree block the sun during midday, it may be better to choose shade-tolerant plants for the location. Plants recommended for shaded areas perform best in a partially or lightly shaded area. Even shade-tolerant plants may experience stress and fail to flower if they do not receive any direct sunlight.

Annuals often are classified as either cool-season or warm-season plants. Warm-season annuals thrive in heat if irrigated properly, while cool-season plants can be grown if plantings are timed so they mature during cool weather.

Some annuals don't mind heat as long as their roots are cool. An easy way to reduce soil temperature in a hot, dry location is to add lots of organic matter.

Organic medium reduces evaporation of moisture and cools the soil. Deeply dug garden beds are also cooler than shallow soils; roots are able to reach farther down into the soil and remain cool.

Beginning gardeners may find it easier to buy budded annuals rather than starting from seed. Look for plants with deep green leaves and compact growth. Although flowering annuals are the most attractive, choose plants whose buds have not yet opened.

Believe it or not, most annuals will actually come into bloom more quickly if planted green. In addition, never judge a plant by its height. Quality transplants are short and have thick stems with side branches close to the base.

Most gardeners transplant budded annuals just after the last average day of frost in their area. If put out earlier, a protective layer of burlap or newspaper may be necessary to protect tender plants against the threat of frost. If you wait longer, transplant them when conditions are cool, such as on cloudy days or in the late afternoon.

If annuals begin to wilt,

Planting tips

- Warm-season annuals thrive in heat if the soil is irrigated properly; cool-season annuals should be planted to mature in cool weather.
- Reduce soil temperature in a hot, dry location by adding lots of organic matter to the soil.
- When buying transplants, choose plants whose buds have not yet opened; quality transplants are short and have thick stems.
- Check soil moisture regularly by grabbing a handful of soil and squeezing it; if particles separate, it's time to water.

Oak secretary is a winner

By James G. McCollam
Copley News Service

Q. I have enclosed a picture and description of an oak secretary with a drop-leaf front, curved glass door and embellished with a lion's head on the drop-leaf desk. It also has a lion's head as a shelf support.

Will you please give me the value of this piece of furniture?

A. Your asymmetric secretary was made in 1900 and would probably sell for $500 to $600.

A similar secretary was awarded a prize at the Columbian Exposition in Chicago in 1893.

Q. This mark is on a Limoges cake platter I received from my aunt. It is 15 inches long and 13 inches wide. It has yellow, pink, white and purple chrysanthemums painted on it. What can you tell me about my platter?

A. Your cake platter was made in Limoges, France, by Mavaleix & Granger in the early 1900s. It should be worth around $115 to $125.

Q. At a recent antique show I saw a silver napkin ring with three wheels and a cherub on top. It was priced at more than $300. Isn't that unrealistically high?

A. Probably not. Figural silver-plated napkin rings are extremely popular with collectors. Here are some typical prices:

- Two girls climbing ladder, $400.
- Monkey dressed as a man, $265.
- Two dolphins, $200.
- Boy with a drum, $250.
- Cat with ring, $150.
- Squirrel and bird, $225.

Q. I have my grandfather's shaving mug. It has a farmer driving some kind of a wagon. It is trimmed in gold. I notice at antique shows some of these are quite high in price.

Can you tell me how much mine may be worth?

A. Occupational shaving mugs are eagerly sought by collectors. Your farmer's shaving mug would sell for around $175 to $200.

Q. I have an extensive collection of marbles (at least 1,000) from my childhood of the 1950s. Is there any way I can find out if any of these are valuable. Are there any organizations or shops that purchase and appraise marbles?

I would also like to know if any of them are collector's items. Please advise me.

A. You can get all kinds of information from the following sources.

Collectors clubs: Marble Collectors Society of America, P.O. Box 222, Trumbull, CT 06611; National Marble Club of America, 440 Eaton Road, Drexel Hill, PA 19026, and Marble Collectors Unlimited, 502 W. Pine, Marengo, Iowa 52301.

Q. My bronze Ansonia clock has a figure of a warrior holding a sword in his right hand and a shield in his left hand. Would you please tell me about how old it is and what it might be worth?

A. Your Ansonia "Attila" model clock was made in the late 1800s and might sell for $800 to $900 in good condition.

Dry air helps fight off mildew in home

By Gene Gary
Copley News Service

Q. We recently purchased a home near the ocean. The climate is damp and I am constantly fighting mildew in our closet spaces. Even though the area seems dry, I find traces of mildew frequently and the closets retain a musty odor. What can I do to prevent this condition?

A. You need to decrease the dampness and increase air circulation.

Start by cleaning out the closet and airing out all of the items you have had stored within. Clothes should be freshly washed or dry-cleaned.

Boxes such as shoe boxes and their contents should be aired.

Wash down the walls and interior of the closet with chlorine bleach and water.

Be sure to air dry the interior before replacing any of the contents. A good fan is advisable for the drying out period.

I recommend leaving a 60-watt light bulb burning at all times. Be sure that it is positioned so that it is not touching clothing or other stored contents that might create a fire hazard. An 18 inch space is advisable.

Instead of a burning light bulb, you can install a small low-wattage electrical rod made specifically for this purpose. One such product is called a "Golden Rod" and is available from marine supply dealers.

If possible, replace wooden shelving with wire racks and install louvered doors. If you are unable to install louvered doors, try to open the closet doors periodically to let the closet air naturally.

You also can purchase small commercial dehumidifiers, which will help remove moisture by absorbing excess dampness.

These are the chemical variety, not the electric dehumidifiers that are suitable for larger spaces and which tend to be too strong for small closet spaces. Chemical dehumidifiers are readily available at houseware stores or marine supply dealers.

Q. Our condominium has textured walls. I would like to wallpaper several rooms, but I do not know how to prepare these walls for wallpaper. Do you have any suggestions?

HOW TO

A. Previously, one of our readers offered this suggestion:

"A good way to smooth a textured wall is to apply two thin coats of drywall joint compound with a wide knife, letting the compound dry completely between coats. Some light sanding is sometimes needed between coats.

Apply a good primer to the walls, and you are ready to apply wallpaper."

Q. Our bathroom sinks are cultured marble, the look-alike product, not the real thing. There are several stubborn stains that I have been unable to remove with regular cleaners. I hesitate to use stronger cleaning materials that might damage the surface.

Do you have any cleaning recommendations?

A. Synthetic or cultured marble is a poured resin. The primary factor to keep in mind regarding cleaning products is to stay away from anything abrasive, such as scouring powders. Strong chemical solutions, even household bleach, also can damage the surface.

Try non-abrasive cleaners such as 409, Cinch, Simple Green, Soft Scrub or a fiberglass cleaner such as Gel Gloss for stubborn spotting. If necessary (for major stains), you can lightly sand the surface with 600 grit wet-dry sandpaper, used wet. I would test a small inconspicuous area first to make sure that you are not damaging the surface.

Follow the sanding with a product like Sherman Williams White Lightning, an automotive compound that should be buffed out. Even in general care, car wax followed by a good buffing will add luster and help protect the surface from spotting and staining. Repeat periodically as the wax protection diminishes with wear.

Checking soil moisture is easy when looking for the right place

water immediately or the plants will die. Check garden soil regularly — every day if temperatures are warm.

Here's an easy way to check soil moisture: grab a handful of soil and squeeze it. If particles cling together, there is adequate soil moisture. If particles separate and feel dry, the soil needs to be watered.

Some tall-growing plants, such as sunflowers, may need staking to keep them upright. When tying stems to stakes, use a twist-tie rather than string. String has a tendency to cut into stems. Twist-ties are easily looped into a figure eight. This allows stake and stem to stand parallel.

Adding a splash of color or an entire new look is easy to do with adaptable annuals. And no matter which ones you choose to fit your fancy, with proper care and well-prepared soil, your flowers are sure to bloom brightly.

Q. When should I pick "baby" lima beans for freezing?

A. Pick them as soon as the beans have filled out to their full size and swelled out the pod. At this stage, the beans are green. Shell out the pods and wash the beans. Blanch (boil) for one to two minutes, then pack the beans in containers. Seal, label and freeze!

you want," Pratt said.

Pratt said that whiskey barrels and other wooden items also are being used to decorate lawns in unusual ways. Some people have even buried old wagon wheels and then planted flowers around them, she said.

"I've seen a lot of people take whiskey barrels, bury about a quarter of the barrel on its side and plant flowers in them," she said. "It looks really nice if you get an annual that will bloom all summer."

Large pieces of farm equipment such as tractors and plows are also being used to decorate larger lawns. The items are nice to use, but authentic antique farm equipment can be difficult to locate.

At Brighton Stone Patio and Step Center on Grand River Avenue in Genoa Township, owner Les Begu is selling several items that could be substituted for the difficult-to-find antiques.

He has oak chuck wagons, small oak wheel barrows with wrought iron wheels, and pony carts. The items have been on display at the store for about a month and are beginning to catch on, Begu said. They run from about $60 on up to $200, he said.

The chuck wagons can be filled with flowers during the spring and summer months. In the fall, they can be lined with hay and a few pumpkins, he said.

"I suppose you can even have Santa Claus at Christmas time," Begu said.

He added that he will have decorative sleighs available this fall.

Plumbing to please Store is customers' pipe dream

By MARILYN HERALD
Special Writer

Plenty of experience in the plumbing and heating business and lots of expertise in installation and sales are the backbone of one of Lyon Township's latest commercial endeavors.

When Steve and Ellen Larkins, owners of South Lyon Plumbing and Heating Supply at 21001 Pontiac Trail, talk about plumbing and heating they aren't fumbling for answers. They know of what they speak.

Ellen, secretary and parts runner for the business, earned her stripes as his partner in Cross Plumbing which the Larkins took over in 1984. The Detroit firm has been in business since 1935.

As residents of Lyon Township for four years, the Larkins family, including children, Steve, Mike and Bridget, liked the area and wanted to go into business here. So since June 23 of this year, they have owned and operated both the Detroit store and the Lyon Township business.

"We want people to know we are not a 'fly-by-night' operation," Ellen commented. "We like it here and we want to stay and serve the public. The toughest part of opening is to learn what the community wants. We have a good inventory here and in our other store and we can get whatever they want and will probably have it on hand the next time they come in."

The Larkins purchased the 5,000-square-foot building and 1-acre property formerly owned by Tech Auto approximately six months ago. During the ensuing months, Steve and Ellen worked hard at remodeling, sprucing up and stocking the shelves and display areas. They carry a wide variety of plumbing and heating parts and fixtures in the front part of the building while the rear is devoted to offices, work area and warehouse.

Kohler and Mansfield bathroom fixtures are prominently displayed as well as Lasco fiberglass tub and shower units.

Free water testing is offered and Steve Benyl of Milford, a long-time employee, is their water conditioning expert. He is also in charge of installation of A.O. Smith water heaters. Hardi-Cube water softener salt, made by Dura/Cube, is available as well.

"We install anything we sell," Steve Larkins noted. "Sometimes we are surprised what we do even on stuff we don't usually carry. We're happy to advise people who have plumbing problems so they can do their own repair work."

Business Briefs

HENDERSON GLASS INC. is a new glass company which has opened in Novi at 24300 Novi Road.

The company supplies glass for commercial, residential and automotive uses, and sells shower doors, storm doors and custom mirrors and tabletops.

Henderson Glass is also a retailer and installer of car alarms, car stereos and cellular phones. Henderson also specializes in complete theft replacement service, including wheelcovers, dash repairs, radios and steering columns.

A mobile glass unit can also replace or repair windshields at your home or office.

Henderson Glass, in business since 1915, operates 27 locations in Lansing, Grand Rapids, Port Huron, Ann Arbor, Flint, Adrian and the metropolitan Detroit area, and is an employee-owned corporation. Hours at the new Novi showroom are Mondays through Fridays, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturdays 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Call 380-0300.

GREAT AMERICAN PIZZA has opened its second location at 126 W. Walled Lake Dr., Walled Lake.

Owners Miles and Tracy Selfridge and manager Tom Nelson completely remodeled the building which is almost 100 years old. They gutted the structure, adding new floors, walls and ceilings.

Great American Pizza-Walled Lake offers the same 2-for-1 pizzas as its Milford location, along with subs, salads, breadsticks, ribs and soft drinks. The Selfridges say everything is prepped fresh on the premises with no additives used.

Free delivery is available, as is catering. Great American Pizza plans to offer delivery to ice fishermen during the winter.

The pizzeria has received many write-ups in Bob Talbert's column in The Detroit Free Press. They were voted the #1 pizza in the area during The Milford Times and The South Lyon Herald's restaurant survey taken last spring.

Both locations sponsor a reading program for the local elementaries and the owners tour many of the local day care centers, giving out coloring books.

Great American Pizza-Walled Lake is open Monday through Thursday from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m.; Friday and Saturday from 11 a.m. to 1 a.m.; and Sunday from noon to midnight. The phone number is 313-960-7011.

SERVICEMAX TIRE & AUTO CENTERS, a newly formed subsidiary of Acorn Venture Capital Corp., based in Pompano Beach, Fla., has opened its 10th store. The new store will be located in South Lyon across the street from Elias Bros. Big Boy Restaurant on Pontiac Trail near Nine Mile Road.

The business will provide repair for cars, trucks and vans including a complete line of brand name tires, wheel alignment, tune-ups, brakes, oil-changes and other standard maintenance services, all of which are fully guaranteed. A line of automobile parts will also be available for "do-it-yourselfers."

Servicemax has signed long-term leases with Total Petroleum Inc. to operate 25 tire, service and auto parts stores in mid-Michigan on sites at which Total will be operating gas stations and convenience stores. The South Lyon location will also include a Total Mart gas and convenience store. The Total Petroleum remodel and store opening is projected for this fall.

Acorn is a business development company whose stock is traded on NASDAQ under the symbol AVCC.

LEE HOLLAND & ASSOCIATES, a certified public accounting firm, has announced its recent relocation to 115 E. Dunlap St. in Northville.

The company had previously been headquartered at 101 E. Dunlap. For more information, call 349-5400.

J.P. MCCORMICK

PLANTE & MORAN, an accounting and management consulting firm, has announced that Colleen M. Coon, CPA, a resident of Novi, has been promoted to associate.

Coon joined the firm in 1991. She specializes in individual income tax planning, pre- and post-retirement planning, college education funding consulting, estate and trust taxation and general personal finance planning. This announcement was made by William M. Hermann, office managing partner of the firm's Ann Arbor office where Coon is based.

Coon earned her bachelor's degree in accounting at Colorado State University in 1985. She is involved in community and professional organizations including the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants, the Washtenaw Estate Planning Council and the Brighton Chamber of Commerce.

Plante & Moran's Ann Arbor office provides comprehensive tax, audit and management consulting services to privately held companies.

Plante & Moran also has national and international affiliates through the American Group of CPAs and Morris Rowland International.

COLLEEN M. COON

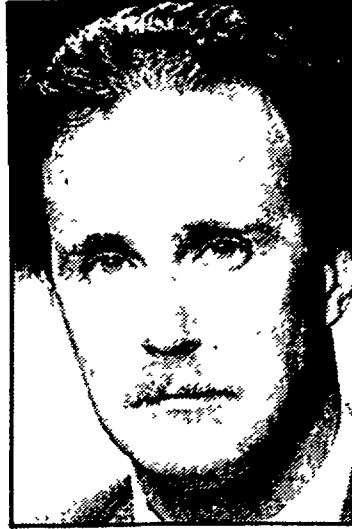

JULI A. KORNMEYER

JULI A. KORNMEYER has joined Brass Craft Manufacturing as director of sales administration.

In her new position, Kornmeyer will be responsible for all company sales administration functions including customer service, order entry and forecasting for all company divisions.

She attended Oakland Community College and Cedar Crest College and spent the past 18 years with Guardian Photo, Inc., most recently as regional controller. Her background includes experience in customer service, systems, accounting, supervision and administration. Kornmeyer is married and lives in Novi.

Headquartered in Southfield, Brass Craft is a subsidiary of Masco Corp. A leading manufacturer of plumbing supplies for the professional plumber since 1945, the company operates five plants in the United States and two in Canada.

tions in systems analysis, financial, product engineering, and program management.

McCormick was part of the initial management team that developed and launched Simulations Engineering, one of the key strategies examined at length in Cadillac's Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award application.

A graduate of Michigan State University, McCormick received a bachelor's in economics in 1966 and was awarded an MBA from Wayne State University in 1969.

TERRY MCWILLIAMS has joined the marketing communications sales staff of Riegner & Associates, Inc., Southfield. McWilliams previously had been account manager for Gargano & Associates in Ferndale.

COTTAGE INN is a new pizza restaurant which has opened in Novi in the Peachtree Plaza, 24045 Meadowbrook Road.

Cottage Inn has been an Ann Arbor mainstay since 1948, but in recent years has branched out with new carry-out locations like the new one in Novi. Perry Porikos owns the Novi Cottage Inn store.

Cottage Inn pizza has been rated No. 1 in recent years by Channel 7's Kelley & Co., the readers of AAA's Michigan Living, the Ann Arbor News, the Michigan Daily and the Livingston County Press. Delivery is also guaranteed in 40 minutes or less, or it's free.

Hours are 11 a.m. to midnight Mondays through Thursdays, 11 a.m. to 1 a.m. Fridays and Saturdays and noon to midnight Sundays. Call 380-4900, or fax your order to 380-4904.

Shop owner likes Lyon

"One lady we had come in who wanted help with a plumbing problem," Ellen said, "has turned into one of our best word-of-mouth advertisers. Steve boosted her husband's ego by advising him on how to do the plumbing job himself and she was really happy about it."

Steve added, "We've been impressed with the number of people who have come in in the time we've been open. There have been a lot who wanted water testing and advice as well as parts."

In addition to the wide variety of lines mentioned, Delta and Moen faucets and repair parts are also available. Whirlpool sinks, laundry tubs and just about any plumbing fixture a homeowner could need are on hand at the store. All types of colors, styles and sizes are available, Ellen said.

Matt Brown, the counter man, deals mostly in repair parts and helping the customers with service and sales.

An enthusiastic member of the community, Ellen has served as a C.H.E.E.R.S. coordinator for South Lyon Community Schools, as secretary of more than one parent-teacher organization and a unit director for the Panther Football League. "We like this community and want to serve it in a lot of areas," she said.

One of the latest additions to the offerings at South Lyon Plumbing and Heating has no obvious connection with the business but it certainly has drawn a lot of interest, according to Steve. A large jumping trampoline is on display out front below the company's sign and several people have stopped to inquire about purchasing one as well as taking advantage of the Larkins' offer to let them have their pictures taken in front of the display.

Store hours are 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturdays. "Eventually, we'll be open on Sundays if the need is there," Steve said. The telephone number is 486-1288.

"All our employees have been with us for some time and really know the business so they can help customers with their problems," he added.

MARK DEMERS AND CHRISTOPHER GRATTAN recently joined the real estate office of RE/MAX 100, Inc., as Realtor-associates, announced broker/owner, Crystal Cunningham Halley.

DeMers will continue to serve the residential real estate needs of northwestern Wayne and western Oakland Counties. Prior to joining RE/MAX 100, Inc. DeMers was an associate with Prudential Great Lakes for two years. RE/MAX 100, Inc. is located at 39500 Orchard Hill Place, Suite 130 in Novi. The phone number is 348-3000.

Before beginning his career in real estate and counseling, DeMers was a full-time radio announcer for stations in Traverse City and Ann Arbor. He currently works as a weekend announcer for WLLZ-FM, 98.7.

DeMers is a member of the Western Wayne Oakland County Association of Realtors, the Michigan Association of Realtors and the National Association of Realtors. He is also a member of the West Bloomfield Optimist Club and lives in Farmington Hills.

A five-year real estate veteran, Grattan will continue to serve the residential real estate needs of southwestern Oakland County with concentration in Farmington Hills, West Bloomfield, Novi and Commerce. Prior to joining RE/MAX 100, Grattan was a top-producing sales associate with Century 21. RE/MAX 100, Inc.

Before beginning his career in real estate sales and counseling, Grattan was owner and president of Northwest Hydraulics.

Grattan is a member of the Western Wayne Oakland County Association of Realtors, the Michigan Association of Realtors, and the National Association of Realtors. He is a father of three and has lived in Farmington for 14 years.

RE/MAX is an international real estate firm with more than 30,000 real estate services working out of over 1,870 independently owned and operated offices. It is the largest real estate franchise in Canada and the second largest in the United States. RE/MAX currently has 21 offices in Oakland, Wayne and Macomb Counties. In all of Michigan, RE/MAX has a total of more than 780 real estate associates working out of 83 offices.

AFTER SUCCESSFULLY RUNNING the Northville Calling Cart during the early '80s, Barbara Rodd is opening a welcoming service for Novi. "It's past time Novi had its own welcoming service," states Rodd.

The new business will personally welcome new residents to the community by offering gifts and discounts from businesses in the city. Rodd will draw from her 14 years of residency as she offers helpful information to the newcomers. Rodd will be assisted by her daughter, Jane.

"Jane's skill in public relations and communications will certainly be an asset to the start up of the business. I know we will do well here and certainly look forward to welcoming your new next-door neighbor." For more information call 348-3996.
