route. The George Bush/Bill Clinton/ Ross Perot presidential sweepstakes highlight Tuesday's election, but Northville voters will mull a bevy of other important choices. On the political side, Northville resident and current state Sen. Robert Geake is taking a run at the U.S. Congress and long-term Democratic incumbent Rep. Bill Ford.

Ford, a 28-year Washington veteran, faces area voters for the first time and is expected to earn the bulk of his support from Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, and other more heavily populated areas of the new 13th Congressional District.

Geake, a conservative Republican, is another long-time politician who could pull the majority of votes in the Northville/Plymouth area.

Northville voters residing in Oak-land County also face choices. Joe Knollenberg squares off against Walter Briggs in a race to determine the successor to departed U.S. Rep. William Broomfield.

Voters in the Oakland County por-tion of Northville will also choose between incumbent Republican Willis Bullard and Democrat Robert Havey for the new 38th District state House seat. Jerry Vorva is running unopposed for the 20th District state seat, which covers Northville Township and the Wayne County chunk of Northville City. On the township side, voters will select four new trustees from a field of five Township Board candidates. Republicans Mark Abbo, Gini Britton, Russ Fogg, and Barbara O'Brien, and Democrat James Petrie are on the ballot, with the four highest vote getters earning board posts.

A full slate of controversial state ballot proposals will stare local voters in the face. Two property tax relief measures - proposals A and C have attracted attention and place many homeowners and government officials on opposite sides of the issue.

Opponents to Northville's Mainstreet '92 development proposal are expected to be bumper-to-bumper at a public hearing tonight.

Critics are lining up to protest the city's plan to build a 480-space parking deck along a relocated Cady Street because of the tax-capturing method proposed to finance the project. Some of that opposition may surface tonight at a public hearing on a related question: a proposal to expand the city's Downtown Development Authority District to help fund the new deck.

What has drawn fire from several sources is the city's proposal to flnance the new deck through tax revenue captured from the expanded DDA district. The move would divert any increase in property tax revenue from rising assessments in the DDA district. The money would go to pay off the 20-year bonds needed to finance the deck.

That's money which - without the DDA plan - would otherwise go to the Northville School District and other local taxing units.

City officials have predicted that the schools and other taxing units would begin to see a modest increase in property tax revenue beginning in the year 2000, and that the taxing units will have received an estimated $1.3 million in increased revenue by the time the plan ends in 2014. Those figures are based on a worst-case scenario including conservative growth estimates and the passage of the "Cut and Cap" property tax cutting measure on the Nov. 3 ballot.

Despite the eventual revenue return, school officials have questioned several aspects of the plan. The schools, which fund 96 percent of their budget through property taxes, were slated to receive an additional $300,000 annually when Mainstreet '78 expired in 1993. Because Mainstreet '92 is an extension of Mainstreet '78, the DDA would continue to recapture that money.

The Northville Board of Education is not expected to take a formal position on the plan until its Nov. 9 meeting.

But Advocates for Quality Education, a citizens group concerned with local education, has voted overwhelmingly to oppose Mainstreet '92. While noting that the Mainstreet '78 program on which Mainstreet '92 is based did much to promote growth and revitalization in downtown Northville, Advocates argues that

Theft suspect arraigned

By MIKE TYREE stalf writer

Rafel Rodregus Pouncy allegedly walked up to a Michigan National Bank teller about noon last Wednesday, showed her agun, handed over a nylon tie-on pouch and asked for a withdrawal.

The teller then put money and a time-activated explosive dye pack into the pouch and handed it back to Pouncy.

Pouncy allegedly walked out of the 40020 Five Mile bank in Northville Township and climbed into his 1985 Ford Escort just before the pack emitted a choking red cloud of chemicals.

The suspect reportedly tossed the smoking pack of money onto Five Mile and drove north on Bradner Road into the waiting arms of township police.

Pouncy, 22, of Detroit, was ar-raigned in 35th District Court Thursday on armed robbery charges. Judge James Garber entered a not guilty plea for him and set a preliminary examination hearing for 9 a.m. Nov. 6.

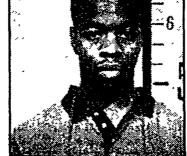

Pouncy faces up to life imprison-ment if convicted of armed robbery charges. Garber set ball at $100,000, with a 10 percent cash bond. The suspect currently is being held in the Wayne County Jail.

Police said Pouncy did not have a and turn to crime.

tinue their investigation to determine if Pouncy is involved in a spate of armed robberies throughout the metropolitan Detroit area.

Pouncy was not represented by an attorney at his arraignment and did not discuss the robbery charge. In a written statement to township police, he said financial problems and debt forced him to cancel college hopes

Projected expenditures in 1993 are supposed to be about $250,000 less than in 1992. Revenues are expected to drop about $60,000 in 1993, and the township finds itself in the position of having to shuffle $80,000 of its fund balance to pay for 1992 cost overruns.

The remainder of 1993's extra revenues are headed to the fund balance account, which is scheduled to reach $255,000 in 1993.

Hosmer said the township continues to roll the dice on capital outlay spending. Capital outlay - primarily big-ticket equipment or construction expenditures dangerously underfunded and could pose problems, he said.

The township for too long has used captial outlay to balance its budget," Hosmer said. "(We) should be spending $200,000-300,000 for capital outlay annually."

Capital outlay expenditures were scaled back to $47,000 for 1993. SIiced from the capital outlay budget were a police dispatching radio (at

Burnt-out businesses reopen

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

Like a phoenix from the ashes, a Northville business establishment. consumed by fire in January has reopened its doors.

The Wagon Wheel Lounge reopened Oct. 23, more than nine months after a resident's cigarette ignited a blaze that gutted the twostory structure. The buildings hair salon, Pam's Cut Above, is expected to reopen tomorrow.

The Wagon Wheel Lounge and Hotel burned just after midnight Jan. 21, when first-floor resident Greg Baber's cigarette ignited his couch and the blaze spread throughout the building. The second floor with its nine rooms for rent was nearly de-stroyed, and has since been removed.

"We no longer have the hotel," said owner Robert Ronk. "That's what caused the whole deal in the first place. Now I won't have to go home at night worrying about those characters burning the place down."

But the bar has reopened for business, with an expanded game room containing four pool tables, a shuffleboard table and video games.

The lounge had no shortage of customers at its grand reopening. Ronk said. "They poured right in. We got our approval at 10 minutes to four from the health department and they were pouring in the door at four. We didn't even have enough room for them all."

Pam's Cut Above owner Pam Manza hopes her salon will enjoy the same newfound popularity. "It's been a really long year, I'll tell you," she said. "If all goes well, I'm hoping to open Election Day." open Election Day."

Manza and one of her other hair stylists were taken in at Studio 424. just south of their salon, while the agon Wheel was rebuilt. Three other Cut Above alumni found work at The Cutting Edge, at 135 E. Dunlap.

Manza said one of her former employees will return to Pam's Cut bove, and she has hired two new stylists. "I'm going right back into business," she said. "I didn't miss a beat when we had the fire, and Im not going to now."

Strategic Plan deadline extended

By SHARON CONDRON Staff Writer

School administrators blame themselves for extending the deadline on a call for community input into the district's strategic planning process.

They say their plan to include the community in the latest strategic plan has been slow going, which in turn has caused a slow response to the strategic planning team's request for help on action plan committees.

Dolly McMaster, assistant superintendent for instructional services. and a key person overseeing the strategic planning process, said she believes the community has been slow in returning response cards because she and others in the central office haven't been able to get the word out about the new strategic plan like they planned.

"We really haven't been able to blitz the community like we had hoped," McMaster said at Friday's original deadline for response cards.

After the second annual update of the strategic planning team in early October, the reduced 25-member team emerged from the two-and-ahalf-day work session with a revised plan and a call for help. The team has identified three new strategies and drafted an entirely new approach for the district. To make those strategies become reality, the team needs community members to sit on commit-

Members of action plan commit-tees will meet weekly to write plans that support the three new strategies identified in the school district's Strategic Plan.

Those interested in becoming a part of the team are encouraged to call Dolly McMaster, assistant superintendent for instructional services, at 344-8442 or 349-3400.

McMaster said action plan committees will meet weekly, or biweekly in some cases, to develop anywhere from one to a dozen specific action plans to support these

That's about eight per committee, she said, and about 50 percent shy of the minimum number of people needed for an effective process. Ideally, McMaster said she'd like to see a minimum of 60 strategies: "We will continue to define essential outcomes, establish appropriate benchmark standards and develop the means of assessing whether students have met those standards.

We will design a system in partnership with parents which ensures planning and goal setting for the individual students, challenges students to go beyond essential outcomes and minimizes bureaucratic and paperwork burden.

'In partnership with the community, we will structure the organization along the principles of total quality to ensure each students learns his/her identified outcome."

and a maximum of 120 volunteer for the three committees.

Between now and Thanksgiving, McMaster said she and other central office administrators and strategic team members will once again make a list of civic and school affiliated support.

At press time Friday, McMaster first part of November. That list would include regular meetings of civic groups and organizations, PTA meetings, school staff meetings and homeowners associations.

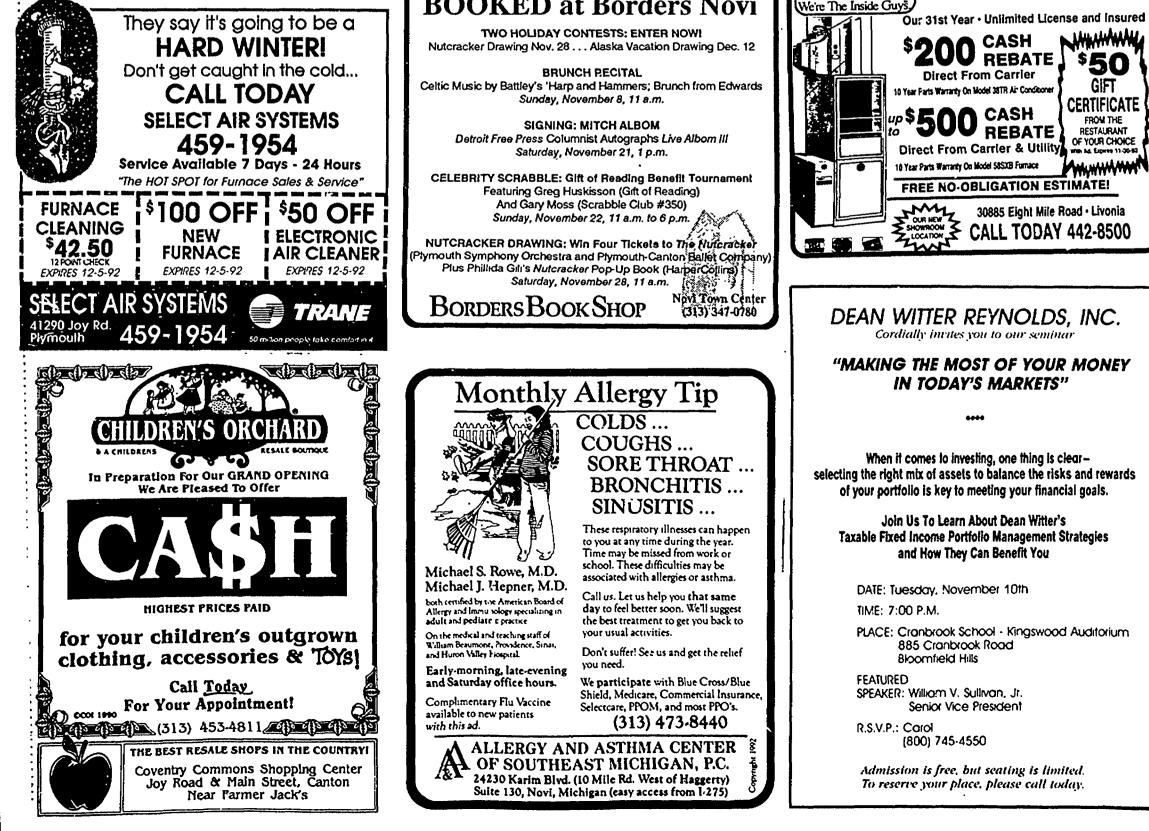

McMaster said even though the district's strategic planning process has come under fire recently by residents, she believes it's a useful planning tool.

This is the process that the district has chosen to use and it's served us well," she said. "We just have to learn how to use !t and we are doing that.

McMaster said the team's October work session was an invaluable experience and allowed team members to vent their frustrations, air their views, and work toward developing a better plan.

"From that session we were able to have a document of consensus. There was a candid discussion at that meeting: some of it was quite tense, but it was productive," she said.

McMaster said extending the deadline puts the Strategic Planning Team members in a tight spot. The action plan committees need to have their plans camera-ready before the meetings to attend and present the entire Strategic Planning Team re-revised plan and try to drum up more convenes on Feb. 12-13. The strategic team will then present the draft version of the revised strategic said her office was compiling the new plan to the school board for approval list of meetings for the presentation of at the end of February or early the administration's plan during the March.

The man was stopped that evening after he drove through a stop sign at Baseline and Novi Street. Police cited him for improper license plates and never acquiring a driver's license, and released him on a $500 personal recognizance bond.

CIVIL WARRANT ARREST: A 31-year-old White Lake man was arrested for child neglect Oct. 29 after he was stopped for an expired license plate. City police stopped the man on Tait north of Eight Mile that evening. and a computer check revealed an arrest warrant for child neglect from Mecosta County near Big Rapids. The man was released after posting a $1,000 cash bond.

OUILS: A 29-year-old Wixom man was charged with operating a vehicle under the influence of liquor after his arrest early Oct. 19 on Haggerty near Seven Mile, township police said. Breathalyzer tests indicated the man's blood-alcohol level was .20 and .19, police said.

A 27-year-old Novi man was charged with OUIL after his arrest early Oct. 25 on Beck Road near smashed, causing an estimated Eight Mile, police said. Breathalyzer tests indicated that the man's bloodalcohol level was .15. Police also said the man had prior OUIL convictions in 1987 out of Plymouth Township and 1989 out of Detroit.

BREAK-IN ATTEMPT RE-PORTED: A Cardene Court resident told township police that someone attempted to break into her home through a rear bedroom window. The resident said a patio chair was placed under a bedroom window and the window sceen was removed. An attempt to pry open the window failed, police said. The incident occurred sometime during the day Oct. 19, police said. Damage was estimated at $25.

VEHICLE DAMAGED: A leased 1992 Ford Tempo reportedly was damaged late Oct. 19 or early Oct. 20 while parked at a Stratford residence, police said. The vehicle's driver's side window reportedly was $100 damage.

THEFT AND DAMAGE RE. PORTED: A Stratford resident told township police that someone broke into a 1992 Ford Taurus late Oct. 19 or early Oct. 20 and stole a car telephone valued at $300. A 1989 Ford Acrostar parked nearby reportedly was damaged when someone shot a BB into the dash, causing an estimated $100 damage.

FOUND BIKE: City police found a red boy's bike at the northwest corner of Coldspring and Elmamere just after midnight Oct. 24. The bike was sitting on the sidewalk. Anyone wishing to claim it is asked to call the city police department at 349-1234 with a more detailed description.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Fire Safety

Kitchens can provide fertile ground for fires

By STEPHEN OTT and MICHAEL ASHER Special Writers

It was dinner time, and the pleasing smells of a wellcooked meal wafted from the kitchen through the rest of the home. A pan filled with cooking oil and onion rings sizzled on the stove top as the cook left the kitchen for a few moments to catch a story on the evening news.

The story was quite interesting, and the cook became involved in a discussion of the issues involved as the newscast moved into a commercial. the debate was interrupted, however, by the blaring horn of the smoke detector located just outside the kitchen door. Rushing into the kitchen the cook found the skillet in flames, with the cabinets above the stove beginning to burn. Unfortunately, the small kitchen fire extinguisher had lost its charge, and the occupants of the house were forced to retreat to a neighbor's where they quickly called for help. Kitchens provide fertile ground for fires. Heat used for cooking is, in essence, a controlled burning process. As many people know, the distinction between a good cook and a bad one is often measured by how well this process has been the stuff of stories and jokes from Goldilocks and the Three Bears to today's comic strips.

The key to preventing most kitchen fires is to not leave cooking food unattended. When using substances such as cooking oil, which readily burns if the heat is too high, it is even more important to make sure that the cooking process is carefully supervised. Any of the heatproducing appliances in the kitchen is a possible source of fire. The toaster, stove, coffee maker and even the microwave can cause a fire if not used properly.

If you are called away for any reason while cooking, make sure the cooking appliances are turned off. Even firefighters are not immune from this mistake. Most firefighters will be able to share at least one story about how some other fire department left on a call, only to return and find the fire station kitchen ablaze!

In addition to fires, the kitchen is also a source of many injuries. Hot pans and boiling water can produce burn injuries, while sharp knives, cutting appliances and even the garbage disposal can produce serious cuts. When using the stove, turn pot handles inward, away from traffic, to prevent unintended spills of hot food or water. Knives should be carefully stored so as to protect sharp edges, is controlled. Food that is overcooked or undercooked and keep cutting applices unplugged when not in use.

Young children are particularly susceptible to being injured in the kitchen, and other young cooks in particular need to be supervised while learning. Take inventory of the cleaning agents and other materials stored in your kitchen. Bright-colored packaging is often irresistible to young children, who associate the kitchen with things to eat and may choose to taste the poisonous contents of some packages.

If a fire does occure in your kitchen, you are not defenseless. Keep a working home fire extinguisher nearby, and check it out often to make sure it has not lost its charge. Dry chemical extinguishers, rated from class "A", "B", and "C" fires, are often the best as they can be used on fires involving energized electrical equipment and flammable liquids, as well as fires in ordinary combustible materials. Newer halon fires extinguishers are more expensive, but may reduce the amount of clean-up required. Check the manufacturer's directions to make sure the extinguisher you choose is adequate for the job.

Be careful using water to extinguish a ilre in your kitchen. While water can be used to put many fires out, it is not particularly effective, and may even be dangerous, when used on electrical equipment or burning liquids. When faced with fire in a pan of cooking oil, placing a top on the pan will cut of the fire's oxygen supply and putit out.

One of the most difficult decisions to make when confronted by any fire is the "fight or flight" decision. If you have the proper tools, and the fire has not progressed beyond its source, you have a chance to fight it effectively. If you do not have the means at your disposal to fight fires, or if it has already started to spread, do not risk your life. Alert occupants, get out of the house and call for help. When in doubt always err on the side of caution. Damage to your home can be fixed quicker, more easily and at less cost than can damage caused by burn injuries.

The fire engines arrived at the house and crews quickly verified that everyone was safely out. Light smoke poured from the front door as a hose line ws advanced toward the kitchen. Firefighters outside the hose vented the kitchen window, allowing heat and steam to escape as water from the hose was applied to the fire. The fire darkened down immediately, and was out in about a minute. Fortunately, damage was limited to the kitchen. While the occupants would be eating out for a while, they still had their house to come home to.

Voters like term limits

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

They may be divided on property tax relief and auto insurance reform, but most Northville residents would love to "throw the burns out."

A random survey of Northville homeowners found the majority in favor of Proposal B, to limit the terms of state and U.S. legislators as well as the governor, lieutenant governor. secretary of state and attorney general.

The trend reflects a nationwide movement toward solving the prob-lemofentrenched politicians by kick-ing them out of the trenches after two or three terms.

If enacted, Proposal B would add Michigan to a growing list of states with term limits in place already. But unlike some other states, Michigan's term limit proposal would cut short the political careers of its federal as well as state legislators.

Ford outspending Geake

four of the state-wide proposals on the Nov. 3 ballot, term limits have enloved a higher level of support than the others. Northville resident Alfred Andersen was one local voter leaning toward Proposal B. "I think they ought to have a term limit; Ill prob-ably vote for it," he said.

"I think it's worth a try," agreed Irene Bacsanyi. Bacsanyi said she believes some change is necessary. "I don't think it's drastic, and I like to try new things . . . If we don't like it, we can change it again."

Voters cited several reasons for term limits, the main one being their belief that incumbents become too dependent on special interest groups over time.

When legislators are in office too long, they tend to owe favors to too many people," said Linda Crawford. 'It's about time that legislators were a While support has wavered for all little more accountable." But not all local residents thought that Proposal B was the right solution. "Unless it's nationwide, people in states with term limits are going to lose seniority," said Edward Eisele.

Eisele noted that an alternative to term limits already exists.

"If you don't like somebody," he said, "vote them out."

Proposal B would amend the state constitution to limit the time an individual could serve in the following capacities:

• U.S. senator, two six-year terms in any 24-year period;

• U.S. representative, three twoyear terms in any 12-year period; • Governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state and attorney general, two four-year terms each;

Colonists¹ visit Meads

By SHARON CONDRON Staff Writer

A week ago Friday if you passed through the halls of Meads Mill Middle School, you might have thought you'd taken a step back in time.

Right there in the halls was the transformation that took eighth-graders back to the days of the colonists.

There girls passed each other in the halls and greeted one another with a smile and a tip of the brows of their bonnets. Their long skirts swept across the floor as they scam-pered to the apple mill or to see the -blacksmill. Puritans, in classic black and white, neatly tailored costumes, were sprinkled amongst the Indians and the other colonists who visited the school that day.

Colonial Days has become a tradition at the middle school. Each year eighth-graders at Meads Mill learn about the colonists by living their lifestyles for a day. As part of the program students learn the trades of the era by seeing them demonstrated first hand by school teachers and local merchants. They learned about herb drying from inø Imz. from Jo Krause, and basketweaving from Meg Coponen. And this year Dennis Faletti taught them how to press apples and make cider, thanks to the Northville Cider Mill which donated all the supplies. Teachers who planned the event say it brings history alive. Students dress in period costume and learn the customs of the times. They learn how the colonists worked, lived, and danced.

Our Opinion

State ballot questions

Here is our analysis of the statewide ballot proposals in tomorrow's election:

The benefits of PROPOSAL A on tomorrow's ballot are obvious and significant. If adopted, the proposal would limit annual assessment increases on homestead properties in Michigan to 5 percent or the inflation rate, whichever is less. This would give significant relief to homeowners in Northville and similar areas, who - despite Headlee limits community-wide — still get socked with single-year assessment increases of 20 percent or more.

With the benefits so clear, a careful analysis of the proposal's drawbacks becomes key. Most of the criticisms can be readily countered.

We are told, for example, that Proposal A would not provide a tax cut, or would not really address the problems of school finance and the property tax structure in the state. That's all true, but those critics ask more of the plan than it's designed to offer. It makes no sense to vote against a proposal because of something it wouldn't do.

Or we're told that the proposal is unfair because it would treat residential and commercial property differently. Also true, but misleading. Skyrocketing home assessments are a serious problem for many people. Business assessments may indeed be too high as well, but if so it's a separate problem.

Or we're told that this could result in two identical properties with widely different assessments. Also true. But so what? The criticism implicit here is that the person buying a home at a higher assessment is getting cheated, but that's not true: With or without proposal A, that person's assessment would be the same. What A would do is benefit the neighbor, and we just don't see what's wrong with that. It doesn't discourage buying a home, but it does reward stability and long-term residence. Fine.

Finally, we're told that this proposal would further squeeze the budgets of local governments - budgets which have already taken shot after shot from shenanigans in Lansing. When inflation exceeds 5 percent, governments will indeed lose out on that additional tax money, at a time when their expenses are probably rising at something near the inflation rate. This truly is a worry, but not an insurmountable one. Governments will just have to make the case to voters for a millage increase, which will affect the entire community the same. Proposal A would simply put more control over taxes in the hands of the voters, rather than unseen market forces driving up individual assessments. It's our view that Proposal A provides a reasonable option to begin addressing tax problems. If you believe assessment hikes are out of control, we recommend a YES vote.

sional delegation. While our politicians' terms would be limited, those of other states would not. We would have permanent short-timers in an institution where seniority equals power.

Another reason proposal B decerves a thumbs down from voters is that it will do nothing to solve the real problem: campaign financing. Incumbents enjoy a slew of advantages that a term limit requirement doesn't address. From PAC money to free mailing privileges to the officeholder's expense fund, which in practice lets a politican use taxpayer dollars for self-promotion, the incumbent has all the breaks. Proposal B won't change that.

PROPOSAL C on the ballot, known as "Cut and Cap," must be a tempting idea for homeowners frustrated with their property taxes and the state's longstanding inability to pass meaningful reforms.

Unfortunately, there are several aspects of Proposal C that have not been thought out by its proponents. And they make it a very irresponsible proposal.

For one, there is the question about whether the state will really reimburse school districts for the loss. The state government's record on this issue is not good, to put it mildly. If the state has not supported K-12 education in the past, why should we trust it to do so now?

Even if the state does follow through, there is real concern about where the money would come from. Gov. John Engler has said growth in the economy should cover the amount, but other economic analysts don't believe that's possible. And the likely result will be as-yetunknown cuts in state government agencies and offices. Before voting for this play, we'd like to know where the. budget cuts would come and/or what new taxes the state would levy.

We have to advise voters to cast their ballot NO on the downright dangerous Proposal C.

It's no secret that ever-rising auto insurance rates are driving Michigan car owners crazy.

Ironically, the latest proposed solution has come from the the state's largest auto insurer, AAA. And the insurance firm is waging a multi-million-dollar campaign to sell its plan, known as PROPOSAL D on the ballot, to the Michigan electorate. The plan sure makes sense from an insurer's point of view. It cuts the available medical coverage from its current unlimited amount to $250,000-$5 million, which should cut rising medical expenses. And only drivers opting for the $250,000 coverage level will see the average 20-percent reduction being touted by AAA.

In this space last week, I discussed with you a little bit about how reporters and photographers go about their work, and how it relates to invasion of privacy.

I thought it an important matter because, in the course of covering the news, we have to step into situations where you might not. To bring you the news, we have to behave in such a way that many might perceive as an invasion of privacy.

And all too often we don't do a very good job of explaining to you why we do what we do.

Privacy law has been compared to a "haystack in a hurricane" by judges because it is constantly being re-examined and changed, and because laws vary from state to state. I'll try to give you some understanding of what might happen here in Michigan.

If a photographer is at the scene of a car crash and shoots pictures of firefighters putting the victim in a neck brace, extracting him from the car and putting him on a stretcher, is the photographer invading the driver's privacy?

From the victim's point of view, the last thing he wants is a photographic record of him in one of his most desperate moments. If the accident proves fatal, it can be even more tragic.

In the eyes of the law, however, the photographer is in his rights to take the pictures, and the newspaper has every right to print them. As long as the incident occurs in a public place, and the photographer doesn't trespass on private property to take the pictures, he may shoot anything he wants without impeding the rescue or impairing a police investigation.

Further, case law dictates that the invasion victim must prove that his standing in the community was somehow damaged or tangible losses (money, job) were incurred as a result.

From the written word, an invasion of privacy suit will be tossed out if there exists a public record of the incident. An accident report, in the example I'm using, would give a reporter protection to write about crash victims' names, who caused the accident and whether alcohol was involved. Accident reports are public records, accessible to you, me, and anyone else who has the inclination to look at them.

So let's be honest. As unflattering and embarrassing as it may be for your neighbors to see pictures in the paper of you being cut from your car with the Jaws of Life, you're not going to get fired over it. You're not going to miss out on that next raise at work. And your neighbors will probably forget about it in a month or so.

It's clear then that photographers and reporters at accident scenes are doing their job, unpleasant as it is. And believe me, we don't relish getting up close and personal to tragedy any more than you would.

We're there for the greater good. A graphic photo of an accident scene may repulse you at first. But if it shocks you enough, you may remember it the next time you drive. It may make you slow down. It may make you buckle up. It may make you skip that "one for the road." It may make you call a cab instead.

When you consider the thousands of people reached by this paper (or the hundreds of thousands reached by larger, ones) you realize the potential for good-to come from one tragedy, from one embarrassment. That's not such a bad deal.

Laws cover issues of privacy

While the motives of those who back term limits are laudable, the idea itself is not. Voters should vote NO on PROP-OSAL B.

Advocates of term limits argue that they will eliminate what is far too common in government today: career politicians who do what's best for their reelection chances instead of their constituents.

However, there's already a vehicle to get rid of those who aren't serving their public's interest - elections. Voting is power: The people decide whether the person representing them does a good job or not when they go to the polls.

Also, as a practical matter proposal B would cripple Michigan's U.S. Congres-

To be fair to AAA, the limits are the highest minimum and maximum amounts in the country, and the $5-million maxumum is nearly five times as high as any other state.

The single largest flaw in the plan is its short timeframe. Insurers are free to raise their rates six months after the plan takes effect.

Although this proposal is the closest the state has come to needed insurance reform, the fact remains that the primary beneficiaries from Proposal D will be the insurers themselves, who will see their own medical and legal costs cut substantially. Voters should vote NO on D, and urge their legislators to propose real, long-term auto insurance reform.

The Girl Scouts strike again

A couple of weeks ago I wrote a column with some tips about how to get your press release in the newspaper. And to illustrate one of the points in that column, I noted that few - if any - organizations know how to butter up the press and get good publicity better than the Girl Scouts.

Well, the column has no sooner appeared than I received a letter and a mysterious package from Wendy A. Hanson, Commu-nications Coordinator for the Michigan Metro Girl Scout Council.

"Dear Phil," she wrote. "Everyone here at the Michigan Metro Girl Scout Council Office was very pleased to read a copy of your recent column, 'Learning a Girl Scout trick.'

In spite of good publicity during the cookie sale, we don't often enjoy spontaneous positive publicity like this!

"Since the cookie sale does not begin until next year, I have sent you samples of the Girl Scout Nuts - our Calendar-Nut Sale begins next month! I hope you and your staff enjoy them."

Thus buoyed, I calmly ripped the wrapping off the mysterious package that had appeared at the same time as the letter — and, sure enough, inside were cans of the four varieties of nuts the Girl Scouts are selling along with their calendars this year.

See? I told you those Girl Scouts were good.

I tok' you they knew just what to do to get good publicity for their fund-raising projects.

Part of the trick is that the Girl Scouts realize us journalist types can't be bought with large sums of cash and/or expen-

I told you the Girl Scouts were sive gifts. But, toss a box of Girl Scout cookies or a can of Girl Scout nuts in our direction, and we start falling in line faster than a crooked politician.

> Well, the nuts are gone now. All four varieties - honey peanuts, peanut crunch, jumbo cashews and deluxe mixed nuts - were gobbled up faster than the Roadrunner on rollerskates.

> So all that's left to do is complete my end of the tacit agreement by telling you that the Girl Scouts are about to begin selling holiday nuts and 1993 Girl Scout calendars.

> The price of the nuts ranges from $4.50 to $6.50 per can. There are two kinds of calendars - a wall calendar and a pocket planner version, both selling for $2 apiece.

> Wendy A. Hanson, my close personal friend from the Michigan Metro Girl Scout Council, reports that the sale will begin Nov. 5 and run through Nov. 22.

> "Nuts and calendars make great holiday gifts, and proceeds from the sale will provide fun and educational prog rams for more than 29,000 girls across the metro Detroit area. So look for Girl Scouts selling calendars and nuts in your community - and help support Girl Scouting!"

> That's what it said in the press release Wendy A. sent me: and I personally consumed enough nuts to feel obligated to print št.

> In addition, Wendy A. reports that anyone wishing to purchase nuts in the Novi area may call Nancy Ditmar at 476-6268. The Novi Girl Scouts also will be selling nuts and calendars live and in person at K mart and Krogers on Saturdays during November.

> Sorry, I haven't received the details on the nut and calendar sales for Northville Girl Scouts, but I'll pass it along as soon as I get it.

There, that's my good deed for the week. Now, all I have to do is wait for the Girl Scout cookies.

Ford hasn't accomplished very much

To the editor: I would like to tell your readers why I am voting for Bob Geake for Congress.

Bill Ford has done some good in his 28 years in Congress representing his old district. No one could spend 28 years in Congress with 12 regular staff personnel without doing something.

However, I don't think he has done enough. You don't have to wait 27 years to become a committee chairman in order to be effective. There is no reason he could not have accomplished a lot as a congressman without waiting to be a chairman. The Congress and Democratic leadership can't be too impressed with Bill Ford if it took 27 years to become chairman of the Education Committee.

Besides, education is a very complex issue. It has needed real reform for quite some time. Where has Bill Ford been?

Bob Geake is a much better choice to represent us as our congressman from our new 13th District. Bob Geake has quietly and diligently worked for years in our State Senate. He has worked hard and has balanced our state budget for the past 20 years.

Bob Geake has never looked for quick fixes that would get his name in the paper. Bob analyzes problems, asks for input from everyone involved, and viable, long-lasting solutions.

! I support Bob Geake for Congress in our new 13th District be-cause he is available to the people, and he works hard to solve many different problems. Bob Geake won't need 28 years in Congress to become effective. Bob Geake.can hit the ground running right now. I support Bob Geake for Congress, and I urge your readers to consider him Nov. 3.

Geake has shown his ability here

To the editor:

Our state senator, Bob Geake, is running aginst 28-year incumbent William Ford for the newly redistricted 13th Congressional District. Bob Geake has served our community well and deserves our support. Bob Geake has fought against government waste and faBob Geake has helped balance our last eight state budgets. Congress-man Ford has voted against a balanced budget amendment three times but somehow finds wisdom in voting to increase our taxes and inflate government spending. As a reward, Ford voted to give himselfa nice pay raise. It's time to put an end to Ford's free ride and vote for Bob Geake.

Ford shows disdain for the people

To the Editor:

I was amused to read the recent Detroit News article on the first class flying policy of Congressman Bill Ford. ("Ford won't ride in the cheap seats, "Sunday, Sept. 20, pg. 14-A)

Apparently, Ford always flies first classs, but his accompanying staff must fly in coach. Next, Ford defends his first class ticket saying. I don't have time to hunt for the cheapest flights and those don't always fit into my schedule."

Ford has over a dozen staffers in his office who could hunt out the cheapest flights. After all, they manage to fit those cheap flights into their schedules — even when they fly with Ford.

Ford could fly coach with his staff. No one needs first class tickets to fit their schedule. As far as I know, both the first class and coach sections of an airplane land at the same time.

Salem has an important opportunity

To the editor:

A unique opportunity to benefit Salem Township has presented it-self. The Salem Area Historical Society and many interested residents have been conducting a yearplus campaign to save the historically significant Ryder House lo-cated adjacent to the Township Hall. Meanwhile, the Salem Township Board has repeatedly maintained that the house site should become additional parking for the Township Hall. A temporary truce situation was recently arrived at whereby the township has approved repairs to the roof to halt on-going weather damages to the house until an untimate decision ment, term limits and lower taxes. Salem community can be determined.

I believe that use has presented itself in the opportunity offered by the Washtenaw County Sheriff De-partment to utilize the house as a sheriff mini-station.

Salem Township is currently not served by any regularly scheduled State Police or Sheriff patrols, due to state and county budget constraints. But with the ability to use the Ryder House as a mini-station location, the township will benefit from regular patrols by a trained and experienced Sheriff in a fully equipped and marked patrol vehicle. Both in the vehicle and the mini-station the officer will be in full contact by radio and phone with the State Police and County Sheriff home bases. In addition to offering a quicker response time to Salem Township emergency calls, the officer will conduct regular monitoring of traffic areas as required; provide protection for our school children as they go to and from their schools; as well as assist at community events and be available for various public information and public service programs.

All of these much-needed serices, (including the assumption of liability coverage on the structure) could be quickly instituted in the township for a yearly cost of $54,000-$55,000 and 33 cents per mile.

The township has been receiving incomes in the area of one million dollars a year from the waste/ refuse facility within its borders and it has been looking for valuable ways to utilize these funds. I believe this proposed use for the Ryder House and BFI funds is as viable as any issue and opportunity in our township. We have the building. We have the budget. We have the need

Please immediately indicate your support for the establishment of a mini-station in Salem Township by contacting the Township Hall at 349-1690.

LWV opposes Proposal B on ballot To the editor:

Proposal B restricts the right of citizens to choose their own represenatives. Citizens are smart enough to know that they can limit the number of terms for any politician - they do it by voting. At the same time, voters also know how to keep representatives who are putting the interests of the public first.

The League of Women Voters, along with Common Cause and the Michigan Citizen's Lobby, oppose from any vested interest. The League's mission is to encourage active and informed citizen participation in government and to affect public policy in the public interest through citizen education and advocacy. Term limits are not in the public interest.

Proposal B had its start with an infusion of hundreds of thousands of dollars from out-of-state oil billionaires. Professional solicitors were paid to collect signatures on the petitions. It is not the grassroots movement we have been led to believe it is. Those who drafted Proposal B were not concerned about the strength that Michigan would lose in the Congress. Proposal B would place the Michigan delegation on the bottom rung in influence in the U.S. Congress. We have too much at stake. We cannot risk losing protection for Great Lakes water and Michigan jobs.

When the boards are swept clean of all incumbents what power will remain? The bureaucracy and the special interests who are not elected by the people and who will not have term limits will remain in place to influence public policy to meet their own needs. Legislators at the state and national levels will be founded by those special interests in their campaigns, and controlled by them and by the bureaucracy while in office. We, too, are incensed with the abuses of power we see in too many of our public officials. We need to correct these abuses and level the playing field for challengers by eli-minating officeholder's expense funds, eliminating honoraria, restricting the franking privilege, reducing the amount spent on campaigns and perhaps the length of campaigns, and by making the system for registration and voting more accessible to all citizens. Proposal B does nothing to bring about such reforms and with Proposal B special interests would be even more powerful then they are Already, and even with Pres-idential term limits, the executive is more powerful than the legislative branch. Congress is the people's branch. That is where we have i the most direct representation in our government. We need to protect the balance of power between the two branches of government that our founders set down for our constitutional democracy.

Proposal B may be appealing. but it will not do the job. Instead, it will weaken our constitutional representative government by removing the power from the voters. The League of Women Voters urges a no vote on Proposal B.

The budget committee also set its sights on township employees. Committee members recommended that the board consider a reduced work week to cut labor costs, investigate ways to reduce employee medical insurance premiums, and review employee educational benefit costs.

Those items could well come to the table when the township negotiates its initial clerical union contract in the coming months.

	Mark Abbo, 39, is a certified public accountant employed by a Plymouth-based automotive supply company. He is making his first run at public office.	Wants to maintain character of community, but wants to create incentives to attract business, including possibility of tax abatements. Reasons that getting that limited tax revenue is better than none at all.	Is concerned that five-year financial plan does not include water and sewer fund, which he sees as one of the town- ship's biggest problems. Says funds to pay off WTUA bond debt may run out in three or four years and "unless some- thing's done, we're going to have some big problems."	Calls "dealing with the situa- tion of the bond requirements for WTUA" the township's most pressing issue. Said officials needed to give better guidance concerning sewer project.	Would find out if county should have responsibility to pay for gravel road treatments. If not, he would favor special assessment districts. Opposes spending general-fund money on services that provide bene- fits for just a few.	Favors shared services the increase efficiency and cut costs.
	Gint Britton, 41, is president of the Lakes of Northville Homeowners Association and a member of Northville 2000. This is her first attempt at public office.	Says township must decide if it wants to be a bedroom com- munity with higher taxes or more diversified and encourage commercial and industrial. Thinks officials need more input from residents.	Believes this is an inappro- priate time to think about addi- tions to township h ⁻ ". because of the tight budget. Would sup- port reinstatement of adminis- trative fee on tax bills and holding Truth-in-Taxation hearings "as a last resort."	Britton said she is 'very upset with the WTUA" plans to run sewer pipe lines to Brown- ing-Ferris Industries Salem Township landfill. Said the township and WTUA are in "cahoots" with BFI. 	Russell Fogg, 59, has served 10 years on the tax Board of Appeals, was appointed to the Planning Commission earlier this year, and is vice-president and treasurer of the Highland Lakes Condominium Associa- tion.	Is concerned about develop- ing western portion of town- ship and feels the township may be banking too much on expensive homes in areas close to a landfill and prison. Ques- tions the county land deal and minimal downpayment the county accepted from the developer.	Likes the idea of reinstating the administrative fee and holding Truth-in-Taxation hearings to avoid deficit. Thinks residents would pass a millage for a specific demon- strated need.	Says he still does not know if it's right or wrong, but is wor- ried that a continuing reces- sion will force local taxpayers to pick up bond debt obliga- tions, as opposed to the cur- rent plan of having bonds paid by tap-in fees.	Since the township allowed feeder roads to be built con- necting Northville Colony Estates subdivision to several gravel roads, feels the township should accept responsibility.	Thinks government — including state, county, and city of Detroit — should pro- vide more access to public lands. "I think we need to put all the sunshine we can on that whole thing. Everybody is con- cerned about it." Wonders what will happen if development does not pull its weight when bond payments are due.	Thinks county should have more responsibility and is con- cerned about health and safety issues. Did not specify if she thought township or special assessment districts should pay treatment costs. Thinks development picture looks good in township, but "overreliance on residential property needs to be addressed." Would promote light industrial development along Five Mile corridor.	Says he has more to learn about the budget process but thinks capital outlay projects must wait while township fights budget problems.	Wants to know more about project: Why township became involved and what financial obligation will be toward repay- ment of WIUA bonds. Would like an updated review of pro- ject and says. "I think the story is not finished."	Thinks close look should be taken at why community has two police departments, fire departments, etc. Wonders about deeply-ingrained political opposition to combining some departments. "I think that's going to be more difficult than tearing down the iron curtain."	Would like to discuss iss with Wayne County and fin out who is responsible for maintenance of gravel road the county is responsible, h would like to know why the won't step up to road maini nance. Proposal A would cap the annual assessment growth of residential properties (homes) at either 3 percent or the rate of inflation. Commercial and industrial properties would not be capped under the Proposal A plan.

Proposal C is touted as the more stringent tax relief question. Dubbed "Cut and Cap", Proposal C would cut property taxes for school operations by 30 percent over five years and cap

Proposal B could be considered a populist attempt to wrest control of state and federal elected offices from career politicians.

That plan would set term limitations on politicians including U.S. senator (two six-year terms in any Automobile Club of Michigan, Prop-24-year period); U.S. representative osal D supposedly would roll back in-(three two-year terms in any 12-year surance rates by limiting the the period); governor, lieutenant gover- available amount of personal injury

Proposal D is touted in some quarters as the automobile insurance relief initiative. Placed on the ballot after an aggrestve campaign by the protection coverage, fees paid to health care providers, and a driver's right to sue.

Insurance rates reportedly would rollback an average of 20 percent if the plan is adopted. Opponents of the plan say initial rate cuts could be supplanted by future hikes and that major insureres like AAA could reap big profits through medical insurance payment limits.

Save cents with these low-fat brown-baggers

Are workday lunches straining your wallet and your waistline? Maybe it's time to bag it — brown bag it, that is. Whether your taste runs to hot and home-cooked or light and cool, there are plenty of tasty, healthful options.

Lunch is always more satisfying and nutritious if it includes several different types and textures of foods. For example, I love to team hot soup with a whole-wheat roll or a crisp salad.

If you prefer a hot meal at lunchtime, make extra portions of dinner foods or homemade soups, and freeze in individual containers. Then simply remove your meal from the freezer in the morning and the food will gradually defrost until it's time to reheat at lunchtime.

Can't heat your food at work? Investing in a good insulated vacuum container can help. Preheat the container by filling with hot water and letting it set for several minutes. Then empty water and add hot food.

Pita pockets are great edible low-calorie containers. You can pack just about anything in a pita pocket - salads, meats, fish, cheeses.

Most importantly, set time aside for lunch. Eating at your desk while working can cause you to eat mindlessly. Try to go to the office cafeteria or lunchroom or outside to a park or bench. After you've eaten, take a short walk, read a magazine, enjoy the scenery. Make your lunch hour special!

The proof is in the pudding Golden oldies on a comeback

It's just a little sad to think there's a whole generation of people who don't seem to know what a custard cup is.

They are the "instant pudding" group. For them, pudding is something that comes out of a box that Mom mixes with milk and plops in the refriger-ator without cooking, to serve in as little as 30 minutes. Or a similar mixture that college students whip up in dorm rooms with a plastic bowl, some milk and a fork (not even a whisk), to eat here and now.

Actually puddings and other cool comforts are said to have peaked about the 1930s. But think back to your childhood. Weren't these smooth and creamy desserts a part of those "wonder years"? They began, for many, with that bland vanilla pudding that's still offered as one of baby's first foods.

And except for a garage sale in a senior citizen development, you'd be hard-pressed to come up with those charming, single-serving custard cups that Mom (and home-style restaurants) used.

Some modern cooks shy away from custards and flans because they can separate and lose their smooth texture if cooked too hot. Here are some tips:

• The minimum egg-to-milk ratio for a properly thickened custard is 1 egg and 2 tablespoons sugar to 1 cup milk.

• A firmer custard can be achieved by increasing the amount of whole eggs to milk.

• Two egg whites can be substituted for 1 whole egg. (If you're doing this for health reasons, be aware that there will be a difference in flavor and color.)

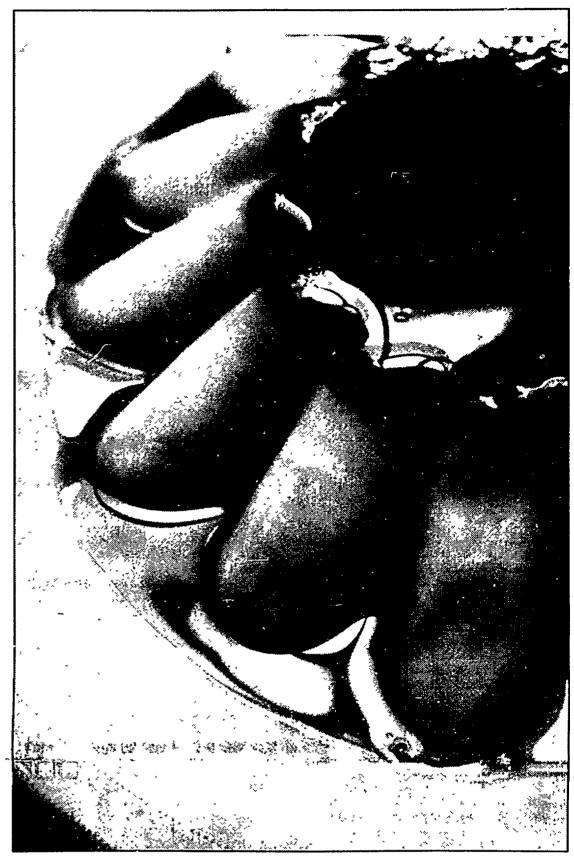

• Lightly beat eggs with a whisk, electric beater of electric mixer just until blended, then slightly mix in milk.

 If froth has formed from overbeating, skim it off before baking custard.

Custards and flans should be cooled to room temperature before refrigerating.

If you feel like turning back the clock, imagine yourself in a kitchen with a chrome-and-Formica dining table, tie on an apron and whip up some cool comfort with one of the following recipes.

This rich rice pudding (although in Texas, they're more likely to call it puddin') uses molasses as a sweetener, instead of granulated sugar. It's from "Tastes of Deep South Texas," by Nick Bennack (Mountain Press Publishing Co.)

and fun.

At first, it would be bi-monthly and hopefully, as we get more proficient, monthly. Sometimes I even question my enthusiasm. I need something else to do like a boning knife in the heart. But, there is so much to tell. Each day brngs a new story or experience. For instance . . . Just a few minutes ago I was introduced to a culinary arts student from Plymouth Salem High School, Ryan Henkel. He was so excited to tell of his plans. He has already taken the college entrance tests and spoken with Chef Jeff Gabriel, of Schoolcraft fame, about entering the program next fall. There is an introductory class that all potential students must take and he is raring to go.

I looked at his young earnest face and thought about how great it is to have the next generation "pumping up" to take over and bring this industry to new and exciting heights.

Another guest at the table, Jim Utley, commented that he (Ryan) had no idea of the hours or commitment involved in food service. Ryan just smiled. He doesn't have any idea. But, he has the desire.

As I explained to him, the hours and work don't matter if you enjoy your job. All I need to do is listen to friends with "normal" 38 hour a week jobs wih great benefits and vacation time complain about how much they hate their work. They aren't happy. Not close. I actually feel sick thinking about how horribly stressful it would be to detest the profession you had cosen for a career. I'm thankful each and every day. And then ...

Teaching my class at Schoolcraft College today was enlightening. Ive mentioned before that one of the great benefits of teaching, at least for me, is how much I leam.

We were discussing a tape that we watched last Thursday on the topic of motivation. Chef Lou Decilis, owner of Savino Ices is the narrator. He is soooo energetic it is tiring. Of course, all the students thought he was a bit much. Kind of hokey. He got their attention.

The message he sends is perfect for pupils and great as a reminder for the rest of us. His recipe for success is fairly simple, something that we must remind ourselves of periodicaly.

The first ingredient is energy. Not just physical, but mental. His formula for acquiring this energy is simple: eat right, get enough rest and exercise.

When I asked the class how many people exercised two raised their hands. Personally, if I miss my daily workout I'm unbearable to live with. Just ask my husband Tom. Exercise equals energy for me.

The second ingredient is to set goals. Notice the plural. One is not enough. They do not need to be long range. Write them down, change them as needed and spend some quiet time each week toward the achievement of the goal.

His example was to lock yourself in a room for two hours a week. At the end of the year you will have devoted 21/2 weeks to your aspirations. Not bad in my book.

The final ingredient is to turn frstration into fascination. Instead of saying "I can't" say "I must." When a voice screams in your mind "no", laugh and yell "yes". His final words were "frustration is the silent killer of dreams".

So, today I became aware, once agan, of how great motivation is. And, how important it is to teach. And how wonderful it is to see a high scool student to inspired to build his niche in this profession. And, how much pleasure I get from my work and writing. Thank you to the powers above.

A final note, please, please, please get out and vote tomorrow. Make it your goal for the day, walk to the poll for energy and get rid of your frustrations by casting a vote that means so much.

Making cookies is a snap

The school year brings lots of rea-sons to keep the cookie jar filled. There are lunches to pack, class parties, bake sales and Saturday soccer practice, to name just a few. And nothing goes as well with an after-school glass of milk as a cookle or two.

Drop cookies are one of the easiest kinds of cookies to make. Generally, all of the ingredients are mixed in a single bowl and the dough is "dropped" onto cookie sheets and baked. Among the best-known and -loved drop cookie is the oatmeal cookie.

- Oatmeal cookies are versatile; too. You can start with a basic cookie and customize it by stirring in dried fruit, chocolate morsels, peanut butter chips, granola, nuts, crushed toffee, jelly beans, even gum drops.
- Applesance Raisin Chews were de nave Bardure nor cal en Neloped and the "Blaker Ritches value for all a consections where oatmear cooldes" Rave been baked since 1908.

Choco-Peanut Butter Bars are another take-to-school winner.

APPLESAUCE RAISIN CHEWS

Taploca — you either like those squishy little pearls or you don't. Seldom can you find an eater who is neutral. Adding lemon updates this school cafeteria classic. It is from "Puddings, Custards and Flans" by Linda Zimmerman (Clarkson Potter).

TAPIOCA PUDDING

1 medium lemon

2% cups milk 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca

% cup gamulated sugar l large egg separated % teaspoon grated lemon zest mint leaves for garnish

With potato peeler, carefully peel zest from lemon, making sure no white pith is included.

In heavy saucepan, scald 2 cups of milk with zest. Remove from heat. Let cool for 10 minutes, then discard zest. Stir in taploca and sugar. Let sit for another 5 minutes. Beat egg yolk with remaining milk. Stir into ta-pioca mixture. Cook over medium-low heat until mixture boils, stirring often. Immediately rem from heat. Stir in grated zest. Beat egg white un soft peaks form and fold into cooled puddin Spoon into custard cups or a serving bowi. Serve warm, or cover and chill. Garnish wi mint if desired.

The following pudding recipe comes from the manuelous "The Back of the Bax Gournet" by M chael McLaughlin (Simon and Schuster). This so, sweet cookie-pudding-custard combination orig nated in the South. It was popularized on the Nilk Wafer box.

appy snack has Southwest style

For many busy consumers, to-day's fast-paced lifestyle demands speed and convenience in food preparation, said Mary Helen Gunkler, registered dietitian and staff nutritionist for Total cereal.

Gunkler offers these tips for incorporating nutritious whole-grain foods into the day's hectle schedule. For a quick breakfast, start with a bowl of whole-grain cereal, skim milk and juice. At lunchtime, enjoy a sandwich with bread or bagels made from whole grain. Make your breakfast or lunch muffins with whole grain flour. At dinnertime, prepare spaghetti with whole-grain pasta. Top wholegrain crackers with lean meat and low-fat cheese for a delicious, convenient snack.

Another tasty treat is Southwestern Snack, featuring whole grain cereal, popcorn, pretzel sticks and cheese-flavored crackers. Its zesty flavor comes from familiar seasonings that are favorites for Southwestern cooking.

SOUTHWESTERN SNACK

Mustangs fall 32-28 to Novi

By SCOTT DANIEL Sports Editor

Northville's dominance of the Baseline Jug came to an end Friday night as Novi upset the Mustangs 32-28.

The Wildcats' John Lahti's scored on a four-yard touchdown run with 22 seconds left to end Northville's four-year reign as Jug champions. The game may prove much more costly than just losing the Jug. however.

The Mustangs, who finished the campaign at 6-3, needed a victory to clinch a state playoff spot. Northville entered the game as the No. 3 team in its region and must finish in the top four to keep its season alive. It was unclear at The Northville Record deadline if the Mustangs would make the playoffs.

For Novi, the game was sweet revenge.

"We owed them one," Wildcat coach John Osborne said. "They did it to us a couple of years ago."

Lahu's touchdown capped a 13-play drive that saw the 'Cats roll off 80 yards. It was Novi's first win in five tries for the Jug.

"I told the kids it wasn't going to be easy," Osborne said. "We did a nice job tonight."

Novi finishes 5-4.

The 'Cats won the game against the odds Friday night.

Trailing 28-20 at the start of the fourth quarter, Novi's Dennis Zielinski cut the Mustang lead to two with a five-yard TD run at the 10:16 mark.

Both defenses tightened through the middle part of the quarter. With 3:39 remaining Novi started the winning drive on its own 20-yard-line. Facing a fourth down and one,

Andy Sill ran for six yards to keep the drive alive with 1:59 left. The 'Cats appeared sunk as Northville's Bryan Kelley sacked Lahti on the next play for a 13-yard loss.

As a result, Novi faced another fourth down, this time with 11 yards to go. Lahti stayed cool under pressure and found Kevin Serra near the left sideline for 11 yards and the first. Completed passes to Dereck Gavigan and Serra then moved the ball to the Mustangs' 4-yard line with 27 seconds remaining.

MONDAY November 2, 1992

On first down, Lahti faked a handoff and then darted in the opposite directon. The senior found just enough room to knife in for the TD.

Osborne said his players convinced him to call the play. The coach said he trusted Lahti to do the right thing.

"He's made mostly good decisions all year," Osborne commented.

Northville got the kickoff and quickly downed at their own 37-yard line. A completed pass and Wildcat penalty moved them to Novi's 40-yard line with nine seconds left. But the Mustangs could move no futher and the game ended 32-28. Osborne said his team was glad to take home the Jug. "It's been a real albatross," he said. Lahti completed 16 of 31 passes for Novi for 175 yards. Sill led rushers with 58 yards while Randy Naumann had 56 receiving yards.

Kevin Shaw and Danny Walsh each had 73 rushing yards for North-ville. Eric Shaw had 44 yards receiving. Defensively, Walsh had two in-terceptions of Lahti while Marc Golden had an interception as well.

Northville scored twice in the first quarter.

The Mustangs took the opening kickoff and moved 65 yards. Kevin Shaw finished the drive with a 13-yard touchdown run at the 6:40 mark. Northville made it 13-0 five minutes later as Walsh hit Eric Shaw with a 29-yard TD pass.

Novi got on the scoreboard to start the second. Pat Whitehead finished a four-minute, drive, with .a. two-yard , score to make it, 13-6,

Ski Fest makes tracks to the Palace

Auburn Hills, Michigan-

A three day celebration of skiing, the Bavarian Village Ski Fest '92 featuring the new Warren Miller ski adventure film Steeper & Deeper appears at The Palace 2 p.m. to 11 p.m. Monday, Nov. 16 through Wednesday, Nov. 18.

Admission tickets at $7.25 (18 and over) and children $5.25 (7-17) are on saie now at The Palace box office and all Ticketmaster centers. Children under 6 and seniors over 62 are admitted free. Parking is free.

Presented by Bavarian Village Ski Shops, the Midwest ski retailer of the year as voted by the United Ski Industries Association, Ski Fest '92 is a consumer trade show and exposition featuring more than 100 exhibit booths with representatives of the downhill and cross country ski industry, including resorts, ski areas, travel agencies specializing in ski destinations, ski clothing and ski equipment manufacturers.

The 43rd annual release by Warren Miller, entitled Steeper & Deeper, will highlight the festival. This full-length ski adventure film by the master of ski cinematography will be shown three times daily in a specially designed theatre at one end of The Palace. The cinematic journeys takes the daredevil Eagan Brothers of Vermont into awesome snow-filled chutes high in the mountains of Turkey. Miller's cameras head south to Valle Nevado, Chile and Mt. Buller, Australia.

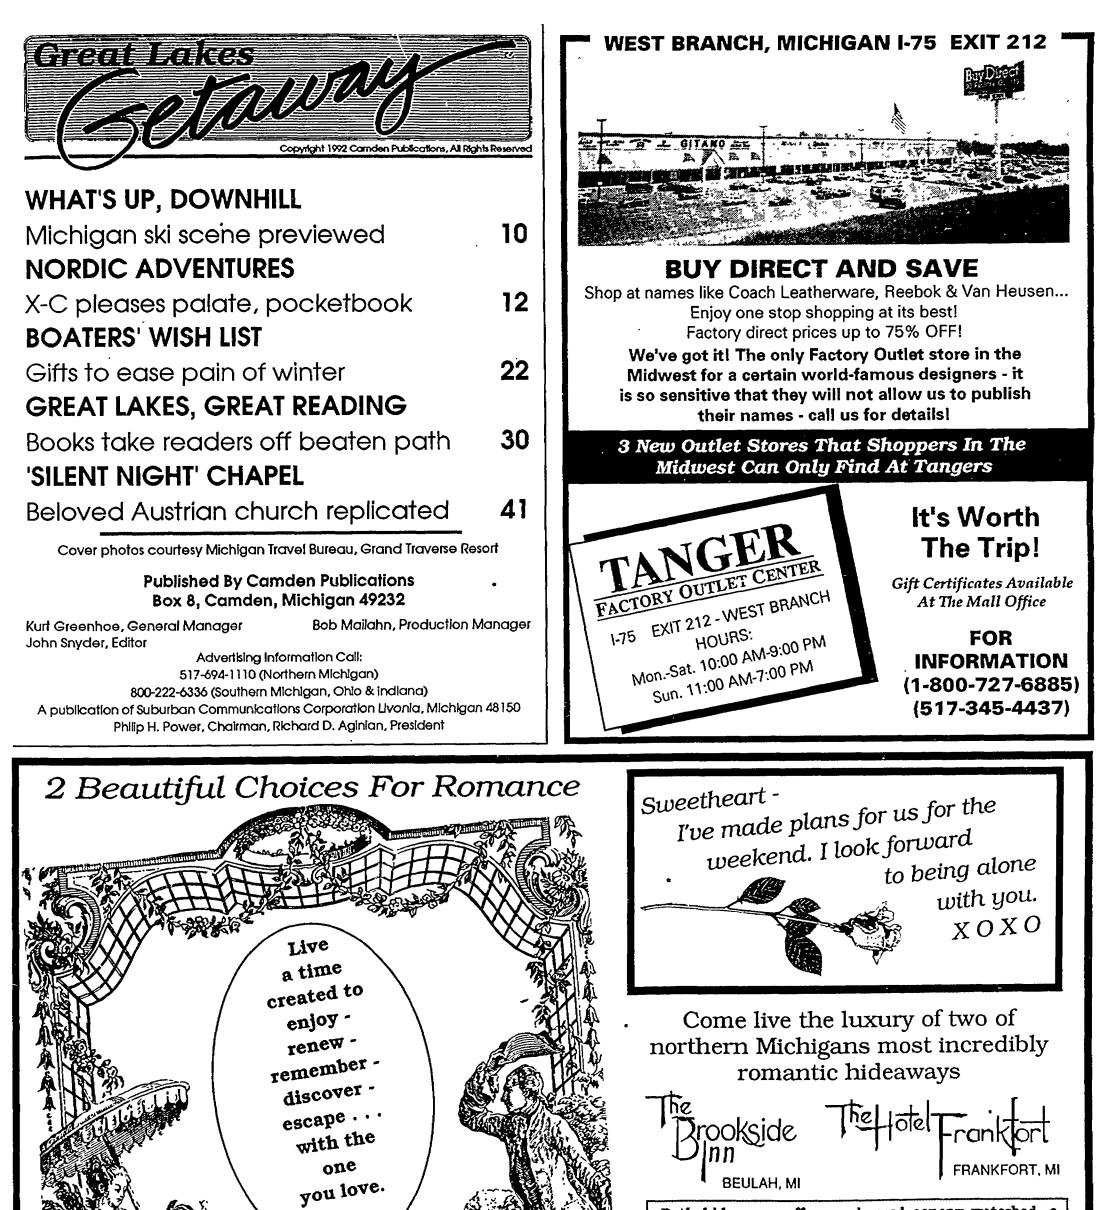

A sequence where two skiers and two snowboarders leave their helicopter to make their way together down deep powder Canadian snowfields is a study of majesty unto itself.

Miller's movie wends its way east and west, north and south, from Telluride, Colarado where Zudnik the Wonder Dog lives, to Vail and its "Legends of Skiing" race, to Whitetail, Pennsylvania, the nation's newest ski resort. it all finishes with some spectacular cliff-jumping by Scot Schmidt, the best in that risky business, at Big Sky, Montana.

Ski Fest '92 will also include rollerblade demonstrations and halfpipe exhibitions, free ski lessons and clinics for advanced and beginning skiers, fashion presentations and snow making demonstrations.

Ski Fest '92 is produced by Watts -UP, inc. For more information, call The Palace box office at (313) 377-0100.

Both hideaways offer a mirrored canopy waterbed, a private Polynesian spa, a sauna, a steambath & a French tanning solarium and a little log stove - come live the luxury.

Skiing's own film guru

Skiers who like to name drop know that the single most recognizable name and voice in the sport of skiing belong to Warren Miller, the skiing guru labeled "the king of the sports moviemakers" by more than one observer of the film and sports scene.

Miller, Hollywood-born and raised, caught the ski bug early in life and headed to Sun Valley, Idaho in 1947. Soon, he became a ski instructor, giving lessons to two young Bell & Howell executives, Hal Geneen and Charles Percy (Geneen went on to the chairmanship of I.T.T. and Percy became a U.S. Senator from Illinois).

In the process, Miller convinced them to lend him a camera to capture local skiers on film. And that, as the song goes, was the start of something big.

That first winter, says Miller, "My friend Ward Baker and I lived in the parking lots of the finest ski resorts in the west, including 100 days at Sun Valley for about 18 cents a day. Our trailer was eight feet long by four feet wide and we lived on frozen rabbits, oyster crackers and catsup. We also learned 100 different ways to sneak on a chairlift."

The first Warren Miller feature film, "Deep And Light," was made on a budget of $500. He personally narrated and toured with his first movie, a tradition that endured for many years.

Today, 43 feature movies later, Miller continues to point his camera and crews at his favorite subjects, the "weekend and vacation sports like skiing, sailing, windsurfing and driving off-road vehicles. The cost of producing his annual feature film has gone over the million-dollar mark. In addition to the features, he's been involved in producing more than 400 sports films.

While Miller continues to make personal appearances on behalf of his films, the features now contain a pre-recorded sound track with exciting, contemporary music. The movie annually plays to standing room only crowds of skiers in more than 400 cities in North America, Europe, Japan, and Australia.

Miller describes himself as "six-foot something or other, bald and weighing 95 kilograms." How old is he? "Who cares? I see the world through a 14-year-old's eyes."

Several years ago, Warren sold the company he founded in 1949 to his son, Kurt, and Kurt's partner, Peter Speek. The company has expanded into home video and other directions, but the annual feature remains the top priority.

Miller and his wife, Laurie, divide their time these days skiing in Colorado and windsurfing in Hawaii. The script for each new film is written each spring on Maui.

Known for an irascible sense of humor, Miller has punctured myth after myth and ego after ego in the world of skiing. Nothing is sacred except entertaining his inter-generational audiences.

"I've been skiing, filming, drawing and writing since the creation of most of the world's ski resorts," he likes to say. "And now that Peter and Kurt are running the company, my movies will be around another 50 years at least. After all, there are more mountains to be skied, waves to be ridden and bubbles to be burst."

And, as each feature ends..."I'm Warren Miller, and I'll be back next year...same time, same place. Thank you and good night."

Miller's new ski adventure film, Steeper & Deeper, will be shown three times daily at the Bavarian Village Ski Fest '92, Nov. 16-18 at The Palace of Auburn Hills.

Also, there'll be a new beginner area at the Mountain and a kids' funland. Write for information or call 1-800-GO-BOYNE.

MOUNTAIN EXPRESS—Six skiers can ride to the top at Boyne Mountain in less than two minutes.

Boyne adds 6-place lift

Boyne City, Michigan-

Boyne Mountain Resort this year will operate the United States' first six-place chairlift, which is expected to shorten lift lines and make loading and unloading easier.

The Mountain Express, manufactured by Doppelmayr of Austria, is detachable, meaning each chair detaches from the main cable and slows on a track to load and unload skiers safely.

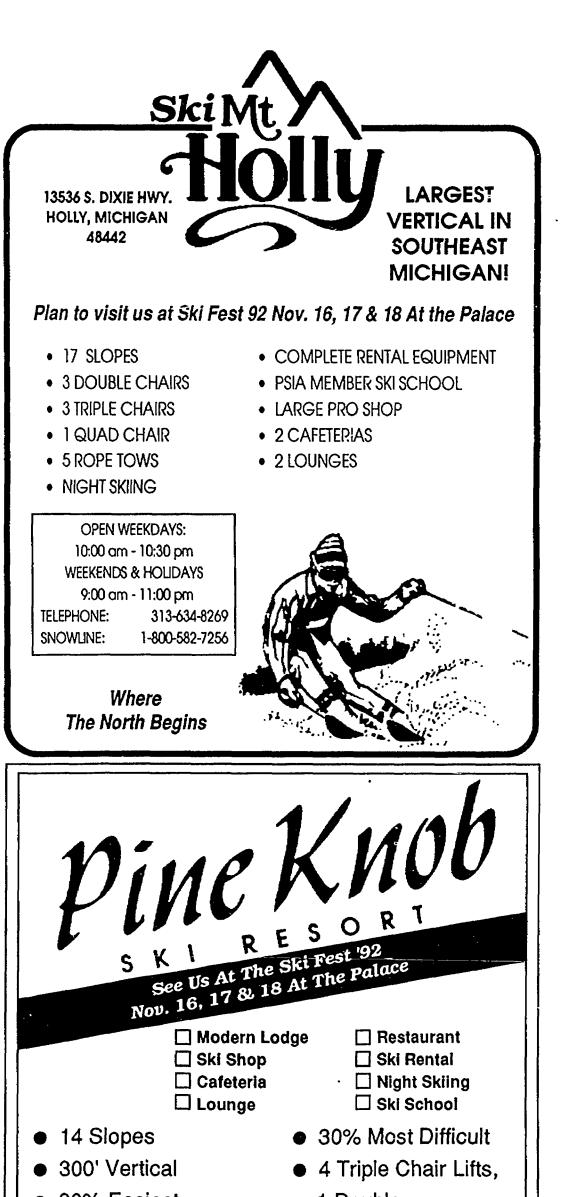

According to Boyne Mountain area manager Alex Campbell, this detachable feature prevents the chairs enroute to the top, travelling at about 1,000 feet a minute, from slowing.

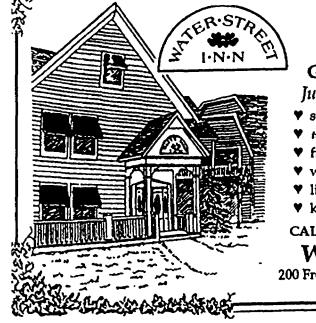

Mountain Express is located at the base of the McLouth Slope. It will carry an estimated 3,600 skiers an hour at about two minutes a trip. To load the chair, six "chutes" will be located on each side of the chair's base. The chute will open when it is time for skiers to load.

Skiers of all abilities can ride the new lift ... beginners will especially like the location of the unloading area, which is now much closer to their favorite slopes like Cold Springs, Ram's Head and Deer Run. The only other six-place chairlift in the world is operating in Quebec, Canada.

Beginners learn it's all down hill

For the second year, ski resorts across Michigan have joined together to offer an exciting and affordable introduction to the sport of skiing.

Called Discover Michigan Skiing, the program includes a 90-minute beginner lesson, ski rental equipment and an all-day beginner-area ski lift pass. Twenty-two ski facilities throughout the state are offering the package, which will be honored from Jan. 4 through Jan. 31, 1993. The price for Discover Michigan Skiing will remain the same as last season: $20 for adults and $10 for children seven to 14 years.

Sponsored by Michigan McDonald's Restaurants and Coca-Cola and developed by the Michigan Ski Industries Association (MSIA), the program debuted in January 1992. Due to its success, Discover Michigan Skiing was reinstated for the 1992/93 ski season.

MSIA president and Nubs Nob general manager, Jim Bartlett, said last winter his association was hoping to introduce 5,000 people to the sport through the program. The response was much better than anticipated, as over 8,000 took to the slopes.

"We developed this program to encourage people to give skiing a try," said Bartlett, who stresses that Discover Michigan Skiing is for beginners only." Participants learn enough in our 90-minute lesson to be able to enjoy the slopes for the rest of the day on their own," Bartlett added.

The lesson normally covers basic maneuvering on skis, stopping, turning, riding the lifts, ski slopes etiquette and getting up from a fall.

To sign up, interested beginners must have a Discover Michigan Skiing Value Voucher. They will be available in December at Michigan McDonald's restaurants with the purchase of a medium Coca-Cola Classic and also at participating MSIA retail ski stores and ski facilities involved in the program. Participants choose the place they wish to visit and then must call to preregister at least two days before taking advantage of the program. Ski-facility personnel will give instructions on what to wear, when to meet and where to go.

In addition, everyone who completes the program receives a coupon valid for $20 off the purchase of $100 or more in ski-related merchandise at participating MSIA retail ski shops.

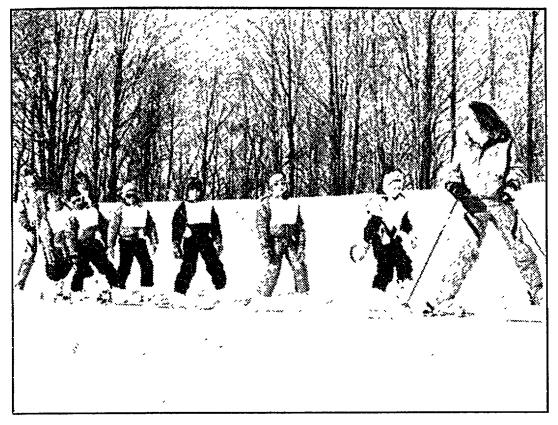

"By taking advantage of the coupon, participants are actually getting their twenty-dollar program cost back in the form of discounts on clothing and equipment," Bartlett added.

Ski facilities participating in Discover Michigan Skiing are spread out across the entire state, both the Lower and Upper Peninsula, and include: Bittersweet Ski Resort, Otsego; Boyne Highlands, Harbor Springs; Boyne Mountain, Boyne Falls; Caberfae Ski Resort, Cadillac; Cannonsburg Ski Areas, Cannonsburg; Crystal Mountain Resort, Thompsonville; The Homestead Resort, Glen Arbor; Indianhead Mountain/Bear Creek Resort, Wakefield; Mt. "We feel that Discover Michigan Skiing is the best and most economical way to learn how to ski. Often beginners get the wrong impression of skiing because they are taught by a friend with no ski-instruction background," says Bartlett. "Our objective is to introduce people to the sport properly so they can experience all the fun and excitement that skiing can deliver, right from the start."

Slope scene '92

Catering to beginners and the very young and working diligently on improvements in snowmaking and slope alterations are the predominate trends at ski resorts across Michigan this winter, according to Jim Bartlett, president of the Michigan Ski Industries Association and general manager of Nubs Nob in Harbor Springs.

Crystal Mountain, The Homestead, Sugar Loaf Resort, Shanty Creek-Schuss Mountain, Nubs

The pristine beauty of Mackinac Island after a fresh snowfall is truly memorable. A friendly local population offers a genuine peek at life in the 'good ole day's still on-going in centuries of tradition. We invite you and your family to explore with us, as we commence the beginning of a winter season on Mackinac Island. Nob and Boyne Highlands are among the many ski areas that are concentrating their efforts on expanded beginner and children's terrain and programs. Additionally, ski areas all over Michigan have used the summer months to carve out new slopes, increase snowmaking equipment and add new lodge facilities.

In Western Michigan, Bittersweet Ski Resort in Otsego added a new and increased snowmaking capacity by 30 percent.

Boyne Highlands in Harbor Springs has embarked on a considerable expansion project that added five new beginner and intermediate trails and a triple chairlift. The area, named North Peak, will be serviced by a three-passenger chairlift, which extends 4,300 feet. In addition to improvements on the slope, they have also completed the third phase of the Heather Highlands Inn condo-hotel, with 36 new units.

The big news at Boyne Mountian this season is the addition of the first six-person chairlift in the United States Called the Mountain Express. the lift is detachable, meaning each chair separates from the main cable and slows on a track to load the unload skiers. It is located at the base of the McLouth slope and will carry approximately 3,600 skiers an hour. Boyne also moved, improved and expanded its beginners' area. Caberfae in Cadillac added a new quad chairlift to serve their new North Peak development, which consists of five new runs. The resort has been moving dirt from the base of the slops for the past three years to develop this new terrain. Moving north on M-115 to Crystal Mountain, "snow farmers" there have spent $350,000 over the summer to double the snowmaking capacity. They expect a bumper crop this winter, with the help of 12 new snow guns. In addition Crystal increased the size of their Mountain Midgets program area to better serve the three-to-five-year-old set.

The Homestead in Glen Arbor has added a new intermediate run called Lady Slipper, increased their snowmaking capacity and also improved lighting for night skiing. Like many other resorts, they're also concentrating on after ski activities by providing skating, touring, bonfires and kids' activities.

A new entrance road is the first noticeable improvement this season at Nubs Nob in Harbor Springs. On the slopes, Nubs added a 10-acre beginner area serviced by a 900-foot-long handle tow. The Nubs Club terrain garden, with its own rope tow, is also new this year. They've added 30 new snow guns too and more snow grooming equipment to pack that powder to perfection.

In Bellaire they're kicking off the season at Shanty Creek-Schuss Mountain with the introduction of a new black diamond expert slope, two new snowboarding half-pipes, a new ski program called snow starters for three-to-five-year-olds and the addition of 700 sets of new rental ski equipment.

Sugar Loaf Resort in the Leelanau Peninsuía has spent $100,000 to renovate their Four Seasons Restaurant. They've added a new beginners' lift too and a Tee Pee play area for kids. Sugar Loaf also offers a "Chicken Ticket" on Sundays. Everyone with a valid lift ticket can enjoy a free chicken barbecue on the top of the slopes.

Down in the southwest corner of the state, Swiss Valley Ski Lodge spent $40,000 to increase their snowmaking capacity and Timber Ridge Ski Area in Gobles spent $50,000 doing the same.

In Southeast Michigan, Mt. Brighton spent $200,000 to add a new water line for snowmaking and new snow guns, Mount Holly also added more snowmaking machinery and ski rental equipment while Pine Knob reconstructed their Quicksilver area, altering chairlifts and adding 15 feet of elevation.

Riverview Highlands in Riverview is planning to add a half pipe for snowboarders if snowmaking conditions permit.

According to Bartlett, more slopes, more snow and more fun for the younger set all combine to make skiing in Michigan even more enjoyable this winter.

Business weathers storm

Ski areas across Michigan have weathered the recession and, for most properties, business was up during the 1991/92 season when compared to the winter before. Of the 31 ski facilities that responded to a survey by AAA of Michigan, 21 said business was better than the previous year. Seven responded that business was down and three reported no change.

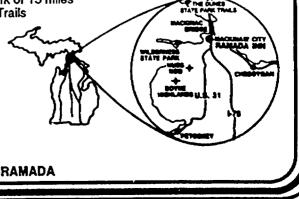

"The Upper Peninsula and the northern portions of the Lower Peninsula fared well," said Jim Bartlett, president of the Michigan Ski Industries Association and general manager of Nubs Nob in Harbor Springs. Bartlett added that the Metro Detroit area ski facilities all posted increases while Mid Michigan facilities showed the weakest growth. "For the past two ski seasons, business has steadily risen. We feel that many people are ready to leave the recession behind them and get back on the slopes," Bartlett added. Advanced reservations requested. Not valid holidays. Good through April 30th, 1992

This winter, the Northern Michigan Nordic Ski Council, an association representing 13 cross-country ski facilities throughout Northern Michigan, will host three special events geared to entice you on to their ski trails.

Celebrate Cross-Country Skiing Festival Day kicks off the festivities on Sunday, Jan. 10. Trail passes at all 13 ski facilities are free and ski clinics, equipment demonstrations, guided tours, refreshments and ski rental discounts will also be provided.

At Cross-Country Ski Headquarters near Higgins Lake, a free hot dog roast and sprint races on Ski Bone Hill will be featured, while Thunder Bay Resort will host a Nordic fashion show and provide free use of ski demo equipment.

Garland has a unique twist to the special Festival Day. They have added fishing and a complimentary on-the-trail fish fry at Trout Lake.

Cross-country skiing is for seniors, too. Silver Streak Week, Monday, Jan. 25 through Friday, Jan. 29, will feature free cross-country skiing at all 13 Northern Michigan Nordic Ski Council facilities. ALL IN THE FAMILY— Younger skiers at Sugar Loaf will enjoy a new area just for them while experienced down-hillers will thrill to runs down the Manitou Extreme.

Sugar Loaf slopes: More fun for kids, regardless of age

Cedar, Michigan ---

Topping Sugar Loaf's list of new and exciting improvements for the '93 ski season are $100,000+ in renovations for the Four Seasons Restaurant, a new area out on the slopes just for kids and plans for a second run in the Manitou Extreme Area to meet F.I.S. (Federation of International Skiing) standards.

The big news for Sugar Loafs younger skiers is the addition of a new area just for kids, complete with a Tee Pee, twists and turns. Also, the Sugar Bear Kids Klub has added the "Cubs Club" especially for those between the ages of 3 and 5. The new area "just for kids" and the formation of the new "Cubs Club" indicates once again Sugar Loafs commitment to new and beginner level skiers of all ages.

Sugar Loaf Resort's newly renovated Four Seasons Restaurant has been re-designed to include a lounge near the entrance and dining to seat 200 and beyond. Jewel-toned fabrics and rich colors predominate. The entire room is carpeted in a beautiful floral swirl of deep teal. green, burgundy, raspberry and plum. Draperies in contrasting yet coordinating shades soften and pull together the overall look. The result is an updated and comfortable atmosphere that all guests can enjoy regardless of the season. The word from Austria is that Sugar Loaf will soon have another F.I.S. (Federation of International Skiing) rated race hill in the Manitou Extreme Area as soon as minor changes to the existing hill take place. Last season, Sugar Loafs new F.I.S. race hill hosted a Mid-Am that drew an international field. F.I.S. race hills are a rare find in the Midwest.

with downhill and cross-country skiing, 18-hole championship resort golf course, tennis courts, exercise room, indoor and outdoor pools and a variety of restaurants and lounges. Located 18 miles northwest of Traverse City in the Leelanau Peninsula, accommodations include hotel rooms, townhouses and condominiums.

For more information please call (616) 228-5461 or for reservations (800) 968-5461.

The Manitou Extreme made its debut last season and drew some of the top races and racers in the Midwest. During the 1991-1992 season Sugar Loaf hosted the NCSA (National College Ski Association) Regional Championships, drawing the top college skiers from seven states and provinces. The Manitou was also put to the test with four CUSSA Ability Class Races and a Mid-Am, which drew racers from Norway, France and Yogoslavia.

Former U.S. Ski Team member, Ted Lockwood, was a driving force behind creating the new racing terrain. He has overseen the project to make sure that F.I.S. standards were not only met, but exceeded. Lockwood, head coach of Bay Race Academy, will coach racers again this season in the "Manitou Extreme" area. He is looking forward to hosting at least seven USSA events including another Mid-Am, Region III SL/GS Championships, Region III Freestyle Championships, a new Masters Race and his own Bay Race Cup on March 21. "Racers from all over the Midwest will be treated to an Olympic-quality start shack and a truly remarkable race hill and finish area, complete with extremely spectacular views of the lakes, islands and sand dunes," says Lockwood.

Who's the Nub behind the Nob?

Harbor Springs, Michigan-

Nubs Nob was founded by a husband and wife who wanted a little place to ski for themselves and some of their close friends.

Thirty-five years, and thousands upon thousands of skiing friends later, Nubs Nob has grown to become a premier ski resort. With superior snowmaking technology and know-how, many of the best runs around, quality facilities and a commitment to giving skiers more than their money's worth, Nubs Nob has developed a reputation that Dorie Sams says she never anticipated.

Dorie and her husband, Norman, set out to find a place to ski when they realized the hill they'd hoped to use behind their cottage was facing the wrong direction to sustain any accumulation of snow.

"We thought we'd find something further inland that would be more suitable, so every weekend we took our skis and I think we climbed every hill in Emmet County," she says.

They settled on the hills that eventually became Nubs Nob -and worked out a deal to buy the land from the state. They built an entrance road, and decided to incorporate after realizing that what they'd taken on was too big to remain a personal ski haven for family and friends.

Doing everything themselves, they built a chair lift, a rope tow and several runs. Word got around, and people began coming to Nubs for the friendly atmosphere that thrives today.

Each year, Nubs improved with new runs and lifts and the addition of the lodge. Dorie Sams ran Nubs Nob herself from 1962 to 1977, when she approved the sale to current owner Walter Fisher.

Since then, Fisher has been committed to maintaining Nubs Nob's flavor as a friendly, family resort while building the technology that puts Nubs in the forefront of snowmaking and grooming. Working with the late Jim Dilworth and current

General Manager Jim Bartlett, he's increased acreage, runs and lifts, expanded snowmaking systems and equipment, and added on to and renovated the lodge.

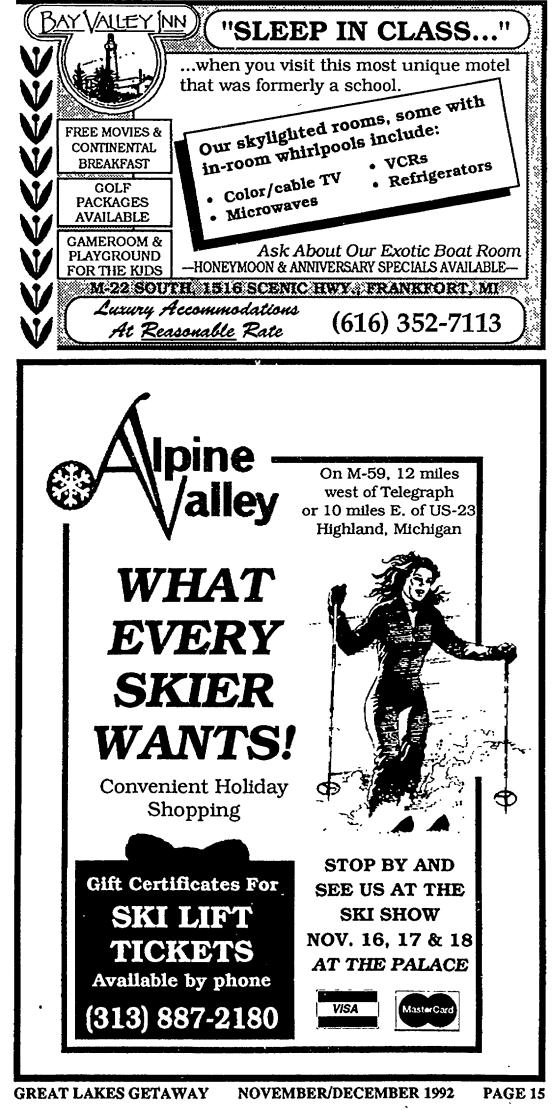

"I wanted to continue to focus on what I thought Dorie Sams had started so well, which was being a friendly, thoughtful place — a nice place to take your children," Fisher says. "And I've always been of the philosophy that people come here to ski, so we should make our major contributions where it counted --- to have the best snow."

Along the way, Fisher had noticed some things about other resorts that he didn't want to see at Nubs Nob.

"At some ski hills, you'll find the food isn't very good and the restroom facilities aren't maintained like they should be," he says. "We have good food --- we have clean restrooms.

"We've strived to make what we do very simple, and to do it well. Our idea is not to have the biggest, but to have the best."

Statistics allay fear of injury

Two of the major reasons people cite for not trying skiing are that the sport is too dangerous and it's too difficult to learn. But many people in the industry believe that a little knowledge of skiing can go a long way toward changing the non-skiing public's perceptions.

"Like nearly all recreational activities, skiing does involve some risk," said United Ski Industries Association Director of Marketing Rick Owen. "But statistics tell us that only about three skiing injuries occur for every 1,000 skier visits." A skier visit is one person visiting a ski area for all or any part of a day or night for the purpose of skiing.

Like any endeavor involving risk, most injuries can be avoided if proper

• Ski in control. Skiing out of control, or beyond one's ability, is an invitation for injury.

• Know when to stop skiing -especially once you feel tired.

· Skiing does not mix well with alcohol or drugs.

• Stay on marked trails and slopes. Do not ski out of bounds or on closed trails.

Learning to ski properly is vital, particularly if you're a beginner. Your confidence and skill generally increases proportionally with the number and frequency of lessons you take. Most ski areas offer special learn-to-ski programs. Some even guarantee you will be skiing after a specified number of lessons. Don't be tempted let a friend teach you to ski, especially a close friend. Like teaching someone to drive, skiing is best left to trained professionals. You'll learn quicker, faster, and in a less intimidating environment. You will also not endanger your friendship.

Skiing is now taught at most areas by qualified teachers. There are more than 20,000 certified Professional Ski Instructors of America (PSIA) in the U.S. In addition, over 300 U.S. ski areas feature PSIA accredited ski schools. PSIA instructors adhere to the American Ski Technique, a standardized method of teaching the sport throughout the U.S. That means that lessons, no matter where they're taken, are built on skills and techniques previously taught and hopefully mastered.

Ski lessons aren't all the same. Special programs for women, seniors, children and the physically challenged adapt instruction techniques to suit the audience. Find out more about learning to ski with the VISA Introduction To Skiing Kit. The "Gift of Skiing" contains a guidebook, video and special offers for lessons, equipment rentals and lift tickets at more than 75 participating ski areas. It is available at many ski retail shops or by calling 1 (800) 745-4-FUN. Most importantly, give skiing a chance. Some people take immediately to the sport, while others need two or three experiences to feel comfortable.

Innovations make skiing easier

Ever since the first Scandinavian improved the performance of his skis by applying a coating of wax to the wood bases, people have constantly sought ways to make it easier to ski.

Major innovations in the ski industry have brought us the rope tow and chair lift, the release binding, the rear-entry ski boot, and, more recently, the high-speed, detachable quad chair lift.

Innovations and improvements to equipment and accessories have kept pace with the major technological advances in skiing. In the last 10 years, the ski industry has given us the fanny pack (the use of which is not limited to the ski slopes), all kinds of totes and carriers for transporting gear from the car to the slopes, heated gloved that make skiing easier by making it more enjoyable, spray-on base coats that eliminate the need for waxing, and some very innovative high-tech items including multi-use luggage and cable-spring assisted systems that reduce leg muscle fatigue.

Here's a sampling of some of the innovative products and accessories that make skiing easier and more enjoyable. Many of these items are available at ski shops.

These are only a few of the many products made by United Ski Industries Association members. Lists of USIA member manufacturers are Pack it: Fanny packs are small pouches that strap around the waist and make skiing easier by providing storage space for lunch, wallet, keys or camera. Fanny packs also provide the additional convenience of quick access to frequently used items, such as lip balm or sunscreen.

Powderline's Proto Fanny Pack offers 215 cubic inches of storage space. The Proto features a main compartment and two side pockets that zip closed. A front pocket secures with Velcro making it an ideal location for quick-access items.

Carry it: Ski carriers make it easier to get gear from the car to the slope. Ski Pro, from Advanced Pro-Formance, is a backpack-style carrier for skis and poles allowing the hands to remain free. After transporting gear to the slope, Ski Pro converts to a hip pocket with a removable money belt.

Warm fingers: Glove and mitten makers have made it easier for skiers to keep their hands warm on cold days through a number of innovations such as hand wear with special pockets for inserting chemical "heat packs" (Gordini and Kombi make these) and electrically heated gloves and mittens.

Grandoe, for instance, offers the "Electro" that features a rechargeable battery pack built into the gauntlets' removable liners. The liners plug into Skis that glide better are easier to ski on.

Versatile luggage: Harrison Sport Gear makes several ski bags and boot bags that take a lot of hassle out of air travel by eliminating the need for a separate suitcase. Harrison's convertible ski bag has large zippered compartments inside that are roomy enough to hold a week's worth of clothes. Skis and poles lay on top of the zipper compartments and the whole thing zips closed. After arriving at the destination airport, skiers can easily remove their skis without spilling clothes all over the airport. The bag then refolds and converts into a suitcase-sized piece of luggage for easy transport.

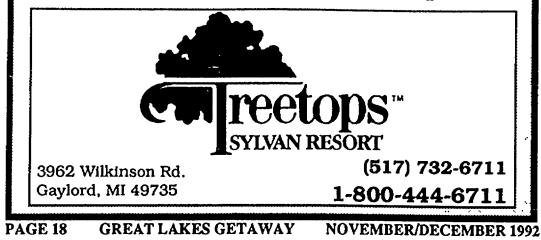

Harrison also makes a double ski bag and two sizes of expandable boot bags. Constructed of water-resistant. high-density nylon, Herrison bags carry a three-year guarantee against damage.

No strain: A new, innovative, high-tech product known as CADS is designed for skiers who are looking for less strain while skiing. People with knee or back problems, arthritis or those who are easily tired will find CADS a welcome skiing enhancement. Even skiers who don't have the inclination or time to train properly or who are simply looking for a performance edge will benefit from CADS.

The product, manufactured in Vail, CO, essentially puts a spring force between the seat and ski. That's done with an elastic and a composite rod behind each leg. The upward force relieves and strengthens the legs, while the downward force increases control. The CADS system has a bit of an inscrutable appearance, but skiers who try it give consistent testimony that it makes skiing easier and more comfortable. By increasing the amount of skiing that can be crammed into a day of vacation, skiers seem more than willing to endure a few stares and questions.

a standard outlet and will recharge overnight to provide enough warmth for an entire day of skiing.

Better glide: Base sprays, such as Speed Cote and other "quick wax" products from Toko and Swix, eliminate the hassle and mess of hot waxing skis with an iron and then having to scrape off the excess. Speed Cote ski base spray, which works by generating a micro-thin layer of water between the ski and snow surface, is formulated from synthetic materials and is completely temperature dependent, improving ski glide across a broad range of snow temperatures.

Skiing chefs carve niche

Bellaire, Michigan-

The Chef's Triathlon is a new and innovative concept and is one of the favorite events held at Shanty Creek Schuss Mountain, a Club Resort.

The Chef's Triathlon was conceived by Michel Bouit International, Inc., a culinary competition and events management company. The competition requires participants to show various skill levels, with emphasis placed on the tableside cooking and the ice carving competition. The slalom ski race is the fun event of the triathlon.

The public is invited to watch the event and attend the gala community dance where the competing chefs will feature their appetizer creations.

In the ice carving competition, sanctioned by NICA, The National Ice Carving Association, the chefs must transform a 350 pound block of ice into a work of art, creating a subject of their choice, with a two hour limit. First impression, utilization of ice, technical skill, attention to details, finished appearance, structural technique, proportion and symmetry, design and composition, creativity and artistic impressions are the components of the judging criteria.

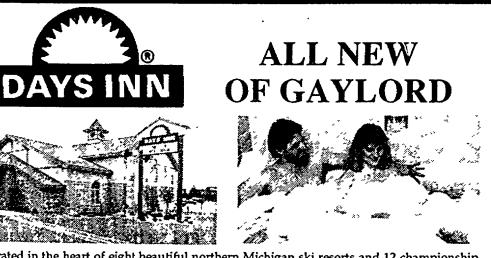

For the ski race, the chefs must demonstrate not only their skiing ability, but at the same time, safeguard fresh eggs underneath their chef hat. With time being the only factor determining the bonus points awarded, and broken and/or missing eggs deciding penalty points, which chef will make the biggest omelet?

In the tableside cooking, the chefs must showcase their culinary skills by preparing tableside, their appetizer creation. This year, the theme will feature breast of duck and Michigan tart cherries. The recipe must also be limited to 10 ingredients, excluding salt, pepper and spices. The judging criteria is based on ACF Culinary Guidelines with each chef having only 10 minutes to prepare and present their appetizer to the judges.

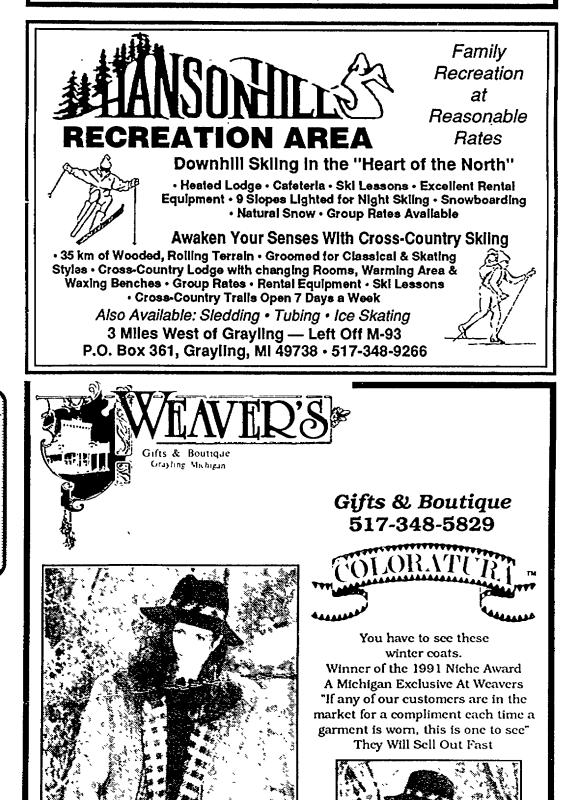

Call 1-800-678-4111 for more information.

The event is organized as a fundraiser for the American Culinary Foundation of Northwestern Michigan and the Chef and the Child Foundation, an organization striving to assist children and the communities in which they live, to learn about nutritional education and dietary awareness for a "Healthier Tomorrow. " The ACF of Northwestern Michigan was founded in 1980 and plays an active role in the activities of the American Culinary Federation.

You'll long remember your visit to...

DARING YOUNG MEN— Searchmont Resort's five-day summer circus camp teaches trapeze skills, under the guidance of trained professionals of course.

Fly through air in sun or snow

Iris

Jones

I don't slide downhill at the speed of light on narrow wooden boards. I refuse to swing through the air on the flying trapeze. I start to limp when asked to board a mountain bike and roar off to dense, bumpy places. So what is a coward like me doing at a place like Searchmont Resort, an hour's drive north of Sauit Ste. Marie, Ontario? This is the home of the summer circus, the fall fat tire festival and the winter ski slope.

I have my own favorite sports. I love to watch the kids from town when they climb the ladder up, up the professional trapeze during a Friday night performance in summer, swinging off, soaring proud, to the delight of the crowd.

I love walking through curled golden leaves that spin and fall, carpeting the hiking and cross-country trails.

I love to hear the Algoma Central train blow its whistle as it pulls in and out of the tiny railway station a few blocks away in "town." Who could resist taking a bike, or cross-country skis, to the first stop and gliding back through the forest primeval to catch the train on its return run. Now why, you might ask, would you go all the way to Sault Ste. Marie. Ontario, when you could find weekend getaways closer to home. A photographer I know calls it "going beyond the inertia." In this case it means making the little extra effort to cross the Mackinac Bridge, drive 50 miles north to the Soo and another hour beyond that into a totally different recreational world. Searchmont Resort isn't bigger, slicker, grander than other places. It is a small resort--a lodge, a couple of townhouse buildings and a few villas--at the base of a 700-foot vertical ski slope, with updated ski facilities and no lines at the lift.

It has a long season. The ski season opens on U.S. Thanksgiving day and ends April 10. Last year there was snow on the slopes until April 19. The 700-foot vertical is accompanied by poma, double, triple and quad chairs, computerized snowmaking system and 25 K of Nordic trails.

Busses bring skiers in regularly from other nearby accommodations, because only a few of us can stay in the villas and chalets of the resort. Residents and visitors all enjoy the lodge with its bar and dining room overlooking the slopes.

The summer view from those windows is of a professional trapeze, where two professionals and an eager group of children, plus the occasional adult, soar through the air on the flying trapeze.

Owner Jim Hilsinger bought the circus trappings after seeing the circus at Club Med in the Caribbean. Both Keith DePaul and Louis King trained at Club Med before taking over as the professional circus trainers at Searchmont. DePaul was an aerialist on the U.S. freestyle ski team. King started his career when his father hung two trapeze bars behind their home in Cheboygan. Kids are bussed in daily for the five-day circus camp, and proudly show off their skills to the crowds every Friday night in summer. Parents who stay at Searchmont sometimes join the fun, but are often seen on the 155 miles of mountain bike trails on and near the property. One of the special events of a Searchmont visit ties resort activities to the Algoma Central Railway, which stops on its daily run north in the morning and again on its return in the afternoon. A favorite outing is to board in Searchmont with a mountain bike, get off the train after a few stops, ride down a groomed trail and reboard the train on its southbound run.

Note: Snow Train tours and Algoma Canyon tours, popular among Michigan travelers, are run by the Algoma Central but do not stop when they track through Searchmont; the Algoma Central trains I'm talking about are the regular daily scheduled runs to northern Ontario towns and back.

For more information on the all-season attractions at Searchmont, contact Searchmont Resort (which calls itself the Mountains of the Midwest) at P.O. Box 1029, Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, Canada, P6A 5N3 or telephone them at (705) 781-2340.

Their villas and chalets are heavily booked in winter, especially on weekends. Ask about special packages and about accommodations available at other places in the Soo. Hilsinger, who owns Searchmont, also owns the Water Tower Inn in the town of Sault Ste. Marie.

SLOPE FANS— Searchmont's 700-foot vertical challenges down-hillers from November through April.

Historic Marshall bangs drum for Santa's triumphant arrival

Marshall, Michigan-

Now here's a town that goes all out for Christmas! Consider:

— It takes municipal workers two weeks to hang all the holiday decorations, many of which are vintage examples probably not seen anywhere eise.

— A crew of volunteers scours the town's 10,000 Christmas lights, replacing burned out bulbs.

--- Nearly 1500 yards of evergreen garland is strung, and more than 30 Christmas trees adorned with white lights are hung in the downtown area.

All this heralds Marshall's giant Christmas parade, which this year bursts on the scene Monday, Nov. 30. The annual parade, now in its 28th year, attracts up to 7000 on-lookers from as far away as Detroit and Chicago.

Christmas decorations are officially turned on at 6:45 p.m. The parade steps off at 7, resplendent with elves, floats, high school bands and Old St. Nick himself. More than 100 parade entries are expected to add to the merriment along the downtown route. Holiday activities continue through December. Merchants in Marshall's historic business district host an open house Friday, Dec. 4. Carolers will stroll the streets, raising their voices in celebration of the season. Shop keepers offer hot cider and other treats as a "thank you" to customers.

MARCHING ANGELS— Marshall's glant Christmas parade boasts more than 100 entries and attracts up to 7000 on-lookers.

Picturesque Marshall was founded in the 1830s and constructed around a center circle dominated by a Greek Revival fountain. This fountain is a blaze of lights during the holiday season, serving as a welcoming beacon for visitors and perhaps Santa Claus too.

Boaters fell in a special category where holiday gifts are concerned. They tend to go out and buy for themselves what they lust after or feel they need.

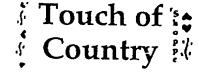

'I just bought myself a Global Positioning System," says John Schindler of Leisure Hour Marine in Otisville, Michigan. "It cost more than $700 and it's my Christmas and birthday present, also Easter and Sweetest Day." Schindler will use the GPS, which provides navigational information via satellite, on a 33-foot Gemini catamaran he sails in Florida waters.

Electronic devices are the most-wanted boating gifts, according to our mini-survey of what boat owners want to find under their trees.

"Electronics." That was the first gift item Jan Hempton mentioned when we asked about her customers' Yuletime preferences. Hempton is co-owner with husband, Jim, of Jan's Sport Shop, in Goodrich, Michigan.

An electronic Loran navigation system (price: $240 up) tops the wish list of sailor Frank Cliff of Bloomfield Township. He would use it on Courage, his Mackinac race contender.

The #1 wish of Howard Sellers of Sterling Heights is for an electronic depthsounder (cost: $180 up) to use when fishing and cruising aboard his 29-foot Bayliner. If Santa wants to get Sellers his number two wish, it's for another electronic item, a two-way VHF radio (price: about $120 and up) for emergency purposes.

Other popular holiday merchandise at Jan's Sport Shop includes big-ticket items like water skis, boat covers and new outboard motors.

Giving a boater 30 feet of anchor chain or a case of motor oil is like giving a kid a math book. It's a generous and useful gift, but nobody's eyes are going to shine at all.

The ideal gift is something that boat owners wouldn't buy for themselves, but will cherish once it's given to them. Gifts like that don't have to cost a fortune. There are plenty of boating treasures on the market between $10 and $100.

Taking them by price category, re are some recommendations. Most of the items mentioned here can be obtained through sports and boating supply stores such as Boat/U.S. Their Detroit Marine Center is at 2212 E. 14 Mile Road, Warren, MI. Or call Boat/U.S., 1-800-937-2628. Prices listed here are for members. Other outlets are the E&B Discount Marine stores, at Ten Mile and Kelly Roads, East Pointe (313) 778-5040, and on Eureka Road across from the Southland Mall, Taylor (313) 374-8855. Thomas Marine Hardware is at 18680 Mack, Grosse Pointe Farms, (313) 886-6094. Mike's Marine Supply, 24910 Jefferson, St. Clair Shores, also has outlets downriver at the Gibraltar Boat Yard and at Toledo Beach Marina, LaSalle. The headquarters phone number is (313) 778-3200.

Stocking Stuffers

Any boater worth his salt needs a floating key ring of vinyl-coated foam rubber. It keeps the keys to car, house, office, etc. from hitting bottom when lost overboard. Many stores offer free key rings as promotions. Cost is about $2. For Boat/U.S. members, they're $1. Pick one up for Santa to drop in the big toe of your boater's holiday stocking.

For about $1.95, you can find rubber floaters that keep a sailor's Ray Bans or reading glasses from sinking when they fall overboard. Sponge-like floating material wraps around the ear pieces.

A boater wont' need rubber floaters for spectacles if you drop into the sock a 22-inch nylon spec cord that keeps glasses securely around the neck. (About $1.95)

For $2, you can stuff a stocking with a booklet, "Lightning and Sailboats", from Florida Sea Grant, University of Florida, Box 110409, Gainesville, FL. 32611.\$5 to $10 Judging by the number of hats we have watches as they flew into the drink, any boater will appreciate a strap with alligator clips on both ends. One clip attaches to the hat and another to shirt or jacket. When wind rips cap from head, the strap keeps it aboard shop. About $2.95 to $5.95. "Heave Ho!" is a loony collection of anecdotes about seasickness, with advice on the subject. Chuck Oman, NASA's top authority on motion sickness, wrote the forward to this book by Charles Mazel. For the boat owner who wants the latest and best information on keeping his passengers from turning green and looking bilious, "Heave Hol" is $7.95 from International Marine Boating Books, Division of TAB Books, Blue Ridge Summit, Pennsylvania 17294-0840. 24-hour phone: 1-800-822-8158. $10 to $20

You can't go to sea without toting a bagful of sandwiches, sweaters, gloves and gear. So boaters like heavy-duty tote bags. Usually made of natural canvas with red or navy trim and straps, they can be obtained at most sporting goods stores or departments and through popular catalogs like L.L. Bean's. Their cost is $9.99 to $20 for the large size, usually around 17 by 15 by 7½ inches. You can have the monogrammed with the boat's name or owner's initials for $5 to $10 extra. The number for L.L. Bean's model, at $19.50 is 8712UU, and their 24-hour phone number is 1-800-221-4221. $20 to $50

Along with the book, "Heave Ho!", another truly tasteless gift is a vinyl boat bumper shaped like a mermaid. It's $15.99 at E&B Discount, catalog number 10005882. The feet of a boater or windsurfer who sails off rocky-bottomed beach, will be well-protected from sharp edges by reef runner shoes, about $30.

One of the most useful gifts Julie ever gave to Allan is a portable VHF weather radio. It works on a 9-volt battery and can pick up three marine weather channels. Allan keeps it at his office for a quick check when he's tempted to go sailing. A similar item is about $26, at boating supply stores and through the WEst Marine catalog. You can order by calling West Marine at 1-800-538-0775 and asking for model 490888. Or you can write them at P.O. Box 50050, Watsonville, CA 95077-5050. $50 to $100

Because boat captains and crews tend to get their watches wet, any boat person will appreciate a water-resistent watch. They're available at most marine supply stores and at stores like K-mart, Sears and wherever inexpensive watches are sold.

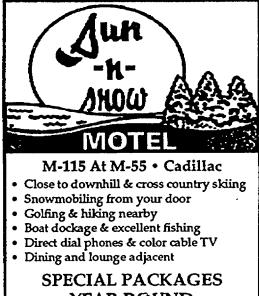

Handsome boating wear that doubles as a warmth provider and flotation vest should make a boat owner happy, especially if he's fallen overboard. One colorful item of flotation gear resembles a ski vest, with a fleece-lined collar. It's $79.95 at Boat/U.S., item numbers 250216-10 to 250219-10, depending on size. Beneath the nylon shell is top-quality flotation foam. It's $79.95 at Boat/U.S., item numbers 250216-10 to 250219-10, depending on size. A warm, long-sleeved water-resistant flotation jacket is $119.95 and numbers are 250460-10 to 250462-10, depending on size.

Allan recommends Men's Omega Watersport Cross-Trainer XT sports shoes you can wear in the water. He likes them because their treated leather uppers are high enough to prevent the feeling they might slip off during strenuous activity. They are constructed of 100% water-resistant components. Price is $64.50, and it's item #4648-10 at Boat/U.S. stores.

Compasses wont' fit into any of our price categories, but we recommend them as gifts. Prices range for $18 for a Ritchie sport model X-10 for the smallest boats, to $595 for an electronic model that shows all important steering data in large digital numbers.

The trouble with boaters is, if you love them you also have to love their boats. Giving gifts for their boats shows your heart's in the right place. Christmas in the Grand Manor

Rochester, Michigan-

Where but Meadow Brook Hall can so lavish a display of holiday splendor be found in such a magnificent setting--a 100-room auto baron mansion built to replicate the grandeur of English manor homes.

Every year over 20,000 visitors come from all over Michigan and neighboring states to see the magnificent Tudor-style home dressed to Christmas perfection by dozens of floral designers and display artists. This year they will create their magic around the "Grand Manor" theme, with participants offering their own interpretations in major rooms throughout the Hall.

All participants donate their talents and materials as their way of helping to preserve Meadow Brook Hall. All proceeds are used for maintenance and preservation of the home itself. Although part of Oakland University, a state institution, Meadow Brook Hall is not funded by public money and must be self-supporting.

Consequently, in addition to enjoying the unforgettable experience of seeing the Hall at Christmas, visitors also help preserve this priceless architectural treasure for future generations.

Breathtaking at anytime, the Hall becomes a fairy tale world during the Christmas Walk. Seasonal symbols are used in countless ways, stirring the gamut of Christmas emotions along the tour route. Many visitors have made this event an annual tradition to start their season's celebration.

Gift shops--tucked into servant quarters and various cozy nooks--offer mementos to tuck under your own Christmas tree at home.

For the young and young-at-heart, Santa Claus takes up residence in Knole Cottage, a six-room mini-mansion playhouse built in the same grand style of the Hall. Knole Cottage tours may be taken in conjunction with Hall tours, or separately.

Meadow Brook Hall was built 1926-1929 by Alfred and Matilda Dodge Wilson (she was the widow of auto pioneer John Dodge). The mansion's cost of $4 million in 1920s dollars could not be duplicated at any cost: the home is irreplaceable. Crystal chandeliers, hand-hewn stone, hand-carved paneling, gold-plated bath fixtures, Pewabic tile, antique tapestries, Oriental rugs and original furnishings are only a few of the Meadow Brook Hall treasures. Hours for "Christmas in the Grand Manor" at Meadow Brook Hall are 1 p.m.-5 p.m. on Nov. 29;10 a.m.-9 p.m. Nov. 30, Dec. 1-2, Dec. 7-9;10 a.m.-5 p.m. Dec. 3-6, Dec. 10-13. Last entry is one hour before closing. General admission is $7 weekdays, $9 weekends, $5 children under 13 all days, $5 group rate (20 or more) all days. Knole Cottage tours are $1 all days, all ages.

Meadow Brook Hall is located just off Interstate 75, about 25 miles north of Detroit, west of Rochester. Take I-75 to the Oakland University exit, and follow directional signs from there. The entrance is located on Adams Road, one-third mile south of Walton Boulevard.

"We're always looking for new Third World creches," says Christensen, noting that one of the goals of the church in staging the exhibit is to show how "the fascination with the birth of Jesus has impacted through the world." A new creche last year was by children in Kenya, depicting Mary topless and Joseph with no arms below the waist.

Christensen, like most visitors to the exhibit, is very partial to the French santons, or "little saints." These include French peasants coming to bring gifts to Jesus. Figures include a lacemaker and, at the end, an old man with a lantern whose "gift" was to lead the way to the Christ Child.

One of the finest creches in the exhibit is a German Boehm of white porcelain figures. "The Vatican has the same set," Christensen mentions. There also are lovely Lladro creches from Spain, known in that country as nacimientos, as well as German Hummels.

All creches in the exhibit are loaned by members of the two Ann Arbor Mormon congregations that meet in the building. The church is pleased that there has been no breakage or thefts in the nine years the creches have been on exhibit.

The volunteer hostesses who work in three-hour stints also are from the congregations.

Christensen emphasizes that the exhibit is open to everyone interested with no othering whats sever being taken. She adds, "We welcome little children and love to have any kind of group." The church asks only that children stay with their parents while visiting the exhibit. Cameras are welcome.

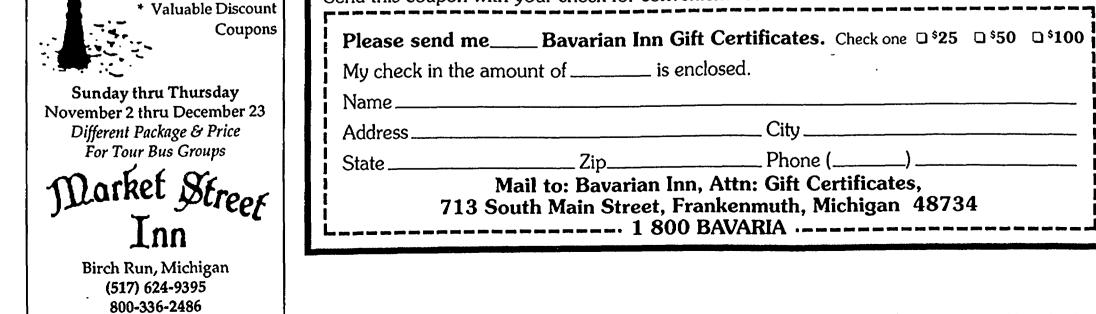

Goals in sponsoring the exhibit, Christensen explains, include getting the focus off Santa for a few minutes to the reason for the celebration, and, as Mormons, letting others know Mormons are Christians.

A gift of creches in Ann Arbor

(Continued From Page 25) Attending the exhibit for the first time last year, I was most impressed with the work that the volunteers had put into the project. In addition to having volunteers on hand to explain the creches, descriptive write-ups were provided at the exhibits. Large and valuable exhibits are placed separately in meeting house rooms. In the central meeting room a Christmas tree is adorned with balls depicting the Nativity.

An entire room is devoted to miniature creches. This year there will be a new addition to this collection. Betsy Christensen's daughter has made a creche of figures one-quarter to one-half an inch high on the head of a pin.

Betsy Christensen recalls that she began the creche display 10 years ago because she had a collection of creches and knew others did. The initial display was with 60 creches. "We try to make sure the exhibit is not the same every year," she says, noting that each year there are from 50 to 70 new creches offered. "People can't pass up a different creche when they see one," she says, adding that members are pleased to loan them for the exhibit.

"The exhibit has turned many into collectors," she notes. In addition, members who have moved from the area have taken the idea to their new churches. Christensen knows of 10 other such exhibits in other parts of the country.

She sees interest in the Nativity scenes having grown in the last few years and has heard of an international creche organization for collectors in Munich.

No appointments are needed to view the exhibit from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Dec. 4, 5 and 7 and from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Dec. 6. The committee appreciates reservations from groups in order that volunteers may accompany them and offer commentaries.

Groups may make reservations with Betsy Christensen at 1-313-665-7852.

Goodwill antique show a_true labor of love

Detroit-

Four new dealers are included among the 50 who will be showing at the 45th annual Metro Detroit Junior Group Goodwill Show Nov. 20 and 21 at the Michigan State Fair Grounds in Detroit.

Michigan's oldest charity antique show annually helps support the work of the Goodwill Industries in assisting the physically, mentally and emotionally disabled. In the past eight years alone, the Junior Group has donated nearly $2 million to support Goodwill programs and purchase much-needed equipment.

The $6 a ticket cost to attend the show, therefore, is an easy way to support a worthy charity while viewing the choice antiques of dealers from the East and Midwest.

Two new dealers from Michigan and two from Ohio have been chosen to participate in the show managed by Edwin T. Palko. They join such experts as Bette and Melvyn Wolf of Flint who are regarded as the premier collectors of early pewter in the country.

Among the long-time exhibitors regulars attending the show seek out are Rare Old Prints of Royal Oak and Big Beaver Antiques of Troy. The newcomers at this year's show are Rug Collector's Gallery of Cleveland and Moir Galleries of Gates Mills, Ohio, along with Watch Hill Antiques of Birmingham and MacKay & Field of Harper Woods.

In all, there will be a dozen Michigan dealers and 38 dealers from Ohio, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Illinois and such eastern states as Maine, New York, Connecticut, New Hampshire and Maryland. They will be featuring 18th and 19th century furniture, glassware, silver, rugs, brass, maps, prints, oil paintings, jewelry and nautical items.

A special patrons preview will be held from 7-10 p.m. Thursday Nov. 19. Tickets priced from $50 to $150 may be ordered by calling 313-549-3150.

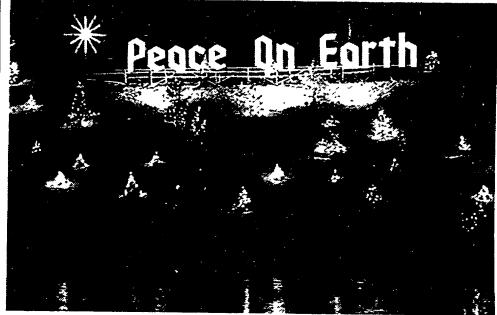

General admission tickets will be available at the door Nov. 20 and 22 and also are being sold by Junior Group members; this group now has a total of 250 members dedicated to the slogan Not Charity But A Chance.

Since 1985 these members have been transforming the Michigan State Fair Grounds building at Woodward and Eight Mile in Detroit into an appropriate setting for dealers with fine antiques. This, indeed represents laboring for a good cause.

Great Lakes, great reading!

Dorothy Webster

Those special people who are passionate about the Great Lakes enjoy reading about the region when they're not traveling in it, thinking about it, or hoping they'll manage two weeks on its coastline during next year's vacation.

Perhaps one of them is on your holiday gift list or perhaps you're ready to give yourself a present. Either way, the following volumes will be enjoyed for a long time, plus, they're easy to gift wrap, convenient to ship, and they all present off-beat, interesting information about the Great Lakes region.

New for 1992 are two selections from Freide Publications (and I'm recommending an earlier volume, as well). The publisher, from Davison, Michigan, specializes in unique and useful guides to the state's attractions, natural retreats, and unusual travel destinations.

More Natural Michigan by Tom Powers (168 pp, $12.95 softcover), follows an earlier book, Natural Michigan, that detailed 165 natural attractions in the state. This volume adds another 141 sites that are more than just worthwhile - they're refreshing, fascinating and off the freeways.

Powers spent three years searching often uncharted wilderness, following the state's 3,000 mile coastline and even researching urban areas for a true cross section of Michigan. It includes noteworthy scenic drives, birdwatching sites, camping spots, cross-country ski trails, picnic locations and hiking paths.

With one attraction to each page, icons indicate the site's appeal and a photograph illustrates its features. Full directions for reaching the place, any fees required, schedule of hours it's open, and sources for further information are all included for the reader's convenience.

Obviously, the book was well researched, with detail only a first-hand observer would have noted:

"...the earthen dam runs along the west shoulder of the gravel road for almost a mile. At many places the dam is just high enough to obscure views of the wetlands, but you have only to climb a few steps up the low dike to be able to sweep your binoculars across the broad expanse of water and marsh," writes Powers in his description of Tuttle Marsh Wildlife Management Area in Iosco County.

I highly recommend this book and its predecessor, Natural Michigan, for any newcomers to the state, travelers who are concerned about details at certain sites (there are 260 steps down to the AuSable River at Lumberman's Monument), birders needing more information about viewing areas, photographers and artists seeking picturesque vistas, parents who want to take their children to off-the-road attractions - and for anyone who enjoys reading about often under-used and little-appreciated places almost in their own backyards.

Together, the two volumes would make a handsome gift. Singly, whichever one you purchase, you'll soon return to buy the other.

Complementing, not competing, with those two volumes is Ultimate Michigan Adventures by Gary Barfknecht (Freide Pub., 224 p., $13.95 softcover).

From Hell, Michigan, in the southeast lower peninsula, to Hiawatha, the World's Tallest Indian, at Ironwood, in the western end of the Upper Peninsula, Barfknecht writes bits of information that I've managed to live without, but suddenly, I'm glad to have.

GARDEN GUIDE— This Illustration from 'Once Upon a Windowsill' adds to the book's anecdotal history of Indoor gardening.

"It doesn't take long to go through Hell - about 20 seconds if you don't stop. The road to Hell is paved with asphalt and runs past the homes of 340 Hellions and the town's three businesses," is just one paragraph of the author's irreverent view of the uniquely named village.

Other places/events covered in the volume are the Hot Dog Hall of Fame, Marquette Prison's Gift Shop, Be Good to Your Mother-in-Law Bridge, the Buffalo Chip Flip, a Caber Toss, the Cherry Pit Spit, and several Sled Dog Races - and that's just a sampling of the zany attractions you'll enjoy, if only from your armchair.

All the information to plan a trip is included: fees, schedules, directions, facilities, further sources of information, and even other Ultimate Adventures that are nearby - just in case one per day isn't enough to tickle your fancy.

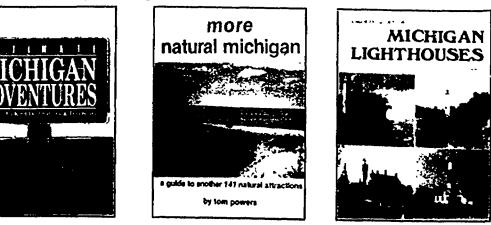

If your dinner conversation has been dull, a visit to some of these places or events will guarantee trivia and tidbits to enliven even the dullest party.

Another new Freide book is A Traveler's Guide To 116 Michigan Lighthouses by the Penrose family (Freide Pub., 128 p., $14.95 softcover). A more esoteric subject and certainly more seriously treated, the whole Penrose family has been involved in this publication.

In the introduction, the Penroses sum it all up: "...our main goal is to with wit and whimsy, detailing odd ^m make it as easy as possible to get you

TRAVELERS COMPANIONS— Easy to wrap, convenient to ship and filled with off-beat information, books about the Great Lakes makes great gift selections, out to these majestic, colorful, and historical buildings, so that your own senses and imagination can do the rest."

And they make it easy. Listing charter boats to reach offshore lighthouses, an alphabetical listing of the buildings, those that can be visited inside, lighthouses whose towers you can climb, those with museums, and lighthouses that are still active, the Penroses include maps to reach those lighthouses on land and all the history and information you'll need to make your trip outstanding. Whether the lighthouse is public or private is noted, along with advice about respecting the privacy of others.

Obviously interested in history and the heritage of these sentinels of the Great Lakes, the appreciation for the structures and their unique backgrounds is evident in each lighthouse's description that Laurie Penrose writes.

The Cheboygan Crib Light, one of my personal favorites, includes this passage: "...its foundation settled until, finally, the entire structure tipped over into the channel. But instead of destroying the no-longer-useful beacon, the people of Cheboygan pulled it ashore and gave it a new home at the beginning of a short pier on the west bank of the rivermouth. The circular steel tower, only about 25 feet tall, is charming because of its small dimensions."

Fly Tying With Synthetics -Patterns And Techniques by Phil Camera (Voyageur Press, 208 p., $29.95 hardcover) is another superb volume by this outstanding publisher of books of the Great Lakes region. Every publication I've seen has reflected the same high quality of design and production and the contents are well written, interesting and fill a need for each particular subject. Obviously, these publishers are doing a great job!

This new volume deals with synthetic materials that have revolutionized the art of tying flies. It's a long way from picking up dead animals on the road (which I did for years when a pre-teen son started tying flies), and it's certainly a lot neater...

The author details step-by-step instructions for 160 fly patterns and 130 black and white photographs and line drawings illustrate each design. With his 35 years of experience, Phil Camera has developed his own fishing tackle and accessories. Living (and probably fishing) on the South Platte River in Colorado, Camera writes with authority and authenticity. Whether you're a fly fisherman yourself or have one on your gift list, you'll be sure to delight anyone you share this book with - even if that person is an advanced angler or a beginner. There's something here for any age, any level of experience even for my son, who's now in his 30s and has plenty of years of fishing behind him.

This book's a winner!

If you're a gardener living in the Great Lakes states, you have special conditions to deal with each growing season. If you're a grower of roses, you've probably dealt with more than your share of frustrations.

Rosa Rugosa by Suzanne Verrier (Capability's, 90 p. $19.95 softcover), will open a whole new world of roses to you. Written by a rose grower in Maine, the author gives you succinct and practical advice on which varieties do best in her winter-driven climate, how to select and plant the bushes, background on each variety everything you need to know to grow these hardy, mostly fragrant and insect-resistant garden gems.

"Ask the impossible and the answer is: grow rugosas. If you live in an area where temperatures plummet to below zero, you can have thriving roses, roses that do not need to be pampered by rose cones or tipped over and buried under a protective layer of soil in order to survive the winter. Rugosas are exceedingly hardy. They are also disease resistant, pest resistant, wind and salt tolerant, defiant of urban pollution, and vigorous," Verrier writes with enthusiasm and extensive experience.

Beautifully illustrated with 51 full-color photographs by Charles Steinhacker, you'll appreciate the volume for the illustrations alone. But don't stop there. Read every word, for this is obviously an authority writing from the heart.

By the way, if you're interested in gardening books, by all means telephone 1-800-247-8154 and request a catalog from Capability's Books, a mail-order concern for gardening books and publishers of special volumes. It's the best listing of books for gardeners I've come across and their service is fast and outstanding. They gift wrap and send, too.

Perhaps you're an indoor gardener. Once Upon A Windowsill by Tovah Martin (Timber Press, 304 p., $29.95 hardbound) is a fascinating, anecdotal history of how plants came to move indoors during the Victorian era, occupying a place in our homes which they maintain today. This is both a significant piece of social history, particularly concerning the role of women, and a study of one of the great ages of horticultural discovery; it also contains a wealth of information on indoor plants. Maybe you've contented yourself with African violets or geraniums. There's more to try. Give this book to anyone with a green thumb and just watch the results.

All that glitter turns Battle Creek gold

Battle Creek, Michigan-

The International Festival of Lights will once again light up the nighttime sky over Battle Creek, Michigan. With more than one-half million lights, nightly entertainment for the whole family, special events and much, much more, the second annual event promises to outshine last year's very successful Festival.

"With a successful first year behind us, we look to an even brighter Festival this year," said Internation Festival of Lights co-chairperson, Jeanene Mallmann.

The Festival will once again take place throughout downtown Battle Creek; along the "Avenue of Lights" that stretches from the Battle Creek Y-Center along Capital Avenue to Columbia Avenue; throughout the Lakeview Business District to the Beckley Road corridor; at Binder Park Zoo's annual "Christmas at the Zoo;" and at Cornwell's Turkeyville U.S.A., located north of Battle Creek.

The Festival will begin on Monday, Nov. 23, with the thirteenth annual Harper Creek Optimist Club/Downtown Battle Creek Association Christmas Parade at 7 p.m.

Last year more than 100 units made their way along the mile-long parade route, in front of more than 30,000 spectators.

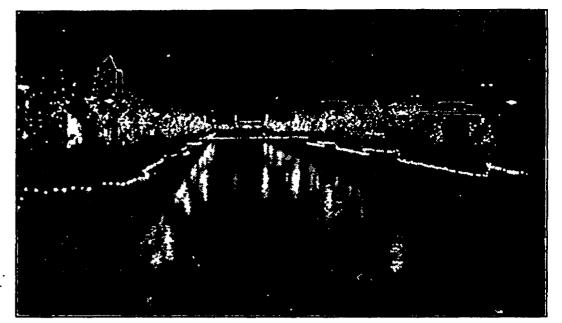

This year's parade promises to be even bigger and better than last year, according to Thad Harding, parade chairperson for the Harper Creek Optimist Club.

According to Mallmann, the Festival is adding new lighting displays along the "Avenue of Lights" and along Michigan Avenue from Capital Avenue to State Street.

In addition to the magnificent lighting displays, the International Festival of Lights will offer family fun at two new indoor attractions located in downtown Battle Creek - "Fantasy Forest" and "Santa Land."

Inside Fantasy Forest, located in the brand-new Western Michigan University/United Arts Council Center, children of all ages will delight to the sights and sounds of 10 magical, animated display areas that are set to music.

Also inside Fantasy Forest, visitors will find souvenirs, refreshments, an international holiday customs booth, an arts and crafts sale and "Santa's Stage" where a wide variety of entertainment can be found AVENUE OF LIGHTS— More than one-half million lights bathe downtown Battle Creek in a warm holiday glow during the international Festival of Lights.

each Friday, Saturday and Sunday evening from 7 p.m. until 8 p.m. throughout the Festival.

There is a $2 admission charge to enter Fantasy Forest. Children under 5 are admitted free of charge.

Inside Santa Land, on Michigan Avenue downtown, children will rush to visit that "Jolly Old Elf," better known as Santa Clause. Santa Land, sponsored by Horrocks Farm Market, will also feature a photo area, arts and craft area, souvenirs and more. There is no-charge to enter Santa Land.

Again this year the Festival will feature entertainment ranging from local acts to national touring performers, including:

• Myron Floren and the Stars of the Lawrence Welk Christmas Show.

• "An evening with Mel Torme and the Battle Creek Symphony Orchestra."

"Don Jones Holiday Magic."

• The Nutcracker Ballet featuring the Indianapolis Ballet Theater and the Battle Creek Symphony Orchestra, Tuesday and Wednesday Dec. 22 and 23, 7:30 p.m., at the W.K. Kellogg Auditorium.

• "A Country Christmas" at Cornwell Dinner Theater.

• "Holiday Harmonies", local musical entertainment performed evenings at Lakeview Square Mall. Performances on Dec. 1, 3, 8, 10, 15 and 17.

• "Midnight at the Creek," Thursday Dec. 31. Rino in the new year with fireworks and an evening of family entertainment. Alcohol-free. Eleven locations in downtown Battle Creek.

According to Jacque Carter, chairperson of the Festival's promotion committee, "last year more than 250,000 people, from 38 states, visited the International Festival of Lights. This year we expect that number to increase dramatically."

Nothing tops Fort Wayne's trees

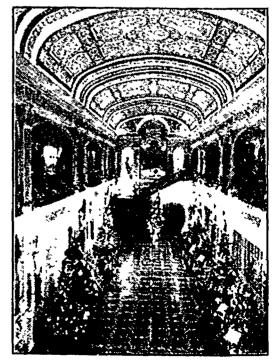

Fort Wayne, Indiana---

Holidayfest, a whirlwind of activities that runs the gamut from a Festival of Trees to Christmas at the Zoo, begins here Thanksgiving Eve and runs through New Year's Eve.

Highlights include the Festival of Gingerbread at Old City Hall Historical Museum, which delights thousands of visitors with a whimsical display of edible abodes. There are several different entry levels for competition, from very young children up to professional bakers, with more than 100 unique gingerbread houses on display. Built in 1893, the Old City Hall relives Fort Wayne's rich past. It's located at 302 E. Berry St. The Fort Wayne Children's Zoo re-opens for its famous Christmas at the Zoo. The beautifully landscaped acres of the Zoo are dazzling, with more than 80,000 lights around the grounds. The Zoo railroad is in NOVEMBER/DECEMBER 1992 operaton, with Santa and his helpers presiding. A mini-laser show adds to the excitement and enchantment of the evening.

The Children's Zoo is located at 3411 Sherman Boulevard.

The Festival of Trees features more than 60 professionally decorated Christmas trees on display in the magnificent Embassy Theatre.

Visitors will enjoy other unique Holidayfest offerings such as the Festival of Dollhouses displayed in the Lincoln National Corporation headquarters at 1300 S. Clinton st., The craft of making dollhouses has intrigued many throughout the world. The intricacy and creativity of these judged masterpieces will be on display for the enjoyment of young and old.

A Dickens of a time in jolly Holly

Holly, Michigan-

Christmas just wouldn't be Christmas without Charles Dickens story A Christmas Carol. And Christmas isn't Christmas until you have mingled with the Dickens characters in the village of Holly.

The 19th Dickens Olde Fashioned Christmas Festival begins the Friday after Thanksgiving and runs every Saturday and Sunday until Christmas.

Visitors to Holly's historic Battle Alley will be entertained by strolling Dickens characters, Christmas carolers, musicians, jugglers, Father Christmas and children.

Vendors will brave the weather to serve us some of the tastiest delicacies of times past. like hot roasted chestnuts or open-fire-baked potatoes or hot sausage sandwiches or plum pudding. And if your mouth isn't watering yet, there are indoor restaurants from soup to gour.

Carolers and musicians in Victorian costumes reminiscent of the Dickens era will be wandering the streets and stores spreading the delightful sounds of holiday music.

After another year of performing throughout the state disguised as Janet Marie and m'Archibald McCarty of The Children's Theatre of Michigan, Mrs. Emily Peerybingle and Gideon Quilp return to the streets of Holly to ask the perennial question: "Is It Christmas Yet?"

This precocious pair and their fast-paced shenanigans have helped to warm the hearts of shoppers and visitors to Holly's Dickens Olde Fashioned Christmas Festival for three seasons now, and this year in addition to their usual antics they will invite members of their audience to poke some good-humoured holiday fun at Holly's favorite mizer, Ebeneezer Scrooge!

In a style of performance they call musical-story-theatre, Gidon and Emily will bring members of the audience "onstage" to portray characters from their brand-new adaptation of the Dickens Classic A Christmas Carol. So polish up your "Bah Humbug!", dust off your ghostly moans, and step lively to historic Battle Alley, weekends from Thanksgiving 'til Christmas. Who knows....maybe you can out-scrooge the ole' Humbug himself!!

Each festival day at 2:30 Gideon Quilp and Mrs. Emily Peerybingle will step lively to lead the "It's A Child's Fantasy Parade." Children of all ages from 3 to 103 are welcome to come in costume or bring their favorite Christmas gift and strut their stuff through the streets of Holly.

Bring your Christmas lists. The stores and boutiques of Holly can fill every item on the list. There are over 70 antique shops and 40 specialty shops to meet your needs.

Thanksgiving weekend, Nov. 27, 28, 29, is the traditional Candlelight Hospitality Walk. Streets will be lined with luminaries. Costumed store keepers provide tantalizing treats for all shoppers. The Christmas Tree Lighting ceremony will be held on Saturday evening.

On Dec. 5 and 6, The Music of Christmas will be featured entertainment.

The weekend of Dec. 12 and 13 is the "Children's Fantasy Weekend." Children of all ages can participate in our Fantasy Parade. Father Christmas and St. Nicholas will arrive to visit for the day.

All Victorian lovers are encouraged to come to Holly Dec. 19 and 20. Victorian lovers who have been wed 25 or 50 or more years can enter a drawing for the "Lover's Package."

Romantic carriage rides will be available each weekend, but during the Victorian Lovers weekend they will be a little slower and more romantic! There was a real wedding in 1991 and you never know, there could be a very romantic couple who want to exchange their vows on Dec. 19, 1992!

Shopping, theatre and music isn't all Holly has to offer. While some people shop, the others seek out the local restaurants and the Detroit Model Railroad Club or the Trains and Things Museum. Both men and women enjoy the Hadley House Historical Museum which is open weekends for tours.

BUILT IN 1875- The Dundee Guest House, constructed as the private residence of a local lumber baron, now serves as a bed and breakfast.

Dandy Dundee B & B

Dundee, Michigan-

There's no better time than the holidays to visit the Dundee Guest House.

The 19th century Victorian home, now a cozy bed and breakfast, is a fixture on the town's Christmas home tour. If you look closely, you might spot Santa's team pawing among the roof top's seven gables.

Innkeeper Karen Glover makes the satin bows, pearl strands and Victorian angels that adorn Christmas trees in each of the home's two guest rooms. Old-fashioned wreaths and candles in all windows help transform the 12-room manse into a nostalgic holiday wonderland. This year's Christmas home tour is Sunday, Dec. 6, 5-7 p.m.

Guests can relax in the parlor among antiques and tasteful reproductions. Karen's especially proud of her cathedral-style bird cage, old gate leg table, and collection of dolls. Chess, backgammon and other board games are provided.

Breakfast is served in the formal dining room on an heirloom dining room outfit. Classical music accompanies the continental breakfast which includes a variety of rolls, seasonal fruit, juice and coffee. The upstairs guest rooms showcase more family treasures. The Thoma Room, named for Karen's maternal grandparents, is a country classic decorated in shades of pink and rose. The room's Eastlake bed room outfit was one of Grandma and Grandpa Thoma's wedding gifts. Anita's Suite is a sunny two rooms which can accommodate up to four guests. Furnished in iron and brass, decorated in peach and steel blue, it is reminiscent of a more formal era. The suite's antique wooden cradie has transported family members to slumberland for 93 years.

The home is surrounded by three acres of grounds marked in the summer by rose bushes and annuals planted by Karen's husband Jerry and son Jason.. Guests can stroll the large lawn or try their hand at croquet.

Room rates are $40 for the Thoma Room, $60 per night for Anita's Suite, based on double occupancy. Call 313-529-5706 for reservation information.

Town attractions include Dundee's specialty shops and Old Mill Historical Museum. Located nearby: Jackson's Cascade Park and Space Museum, Monroe's Manufacturer's Outlet Mall, Hidden Lake Gardens near Tipton and the many antique shops of Tecumseh.

Dundee is located at the junction of US-23 and M-50, 15 miles east of Monroe, 20 miles north of Toledo. JOHN SNYDER

Pleasing the palate in 'Little Bavaria'

Frankenmuth, Michigan-In Frankenmuth, the good eating doesn't end with chicken. This town's pretzel, cheese and sausage factories satisfy even the heartiest appetite and add to Frankenmuth's reputation for fine food.

The Frankenmuth Pretzel Co. is Michigan's only hard pretzel bakery. Visitors can view the baking process through large glass windows in the gift and snack shop or join in a close-up tour. What they see are large conveyor belts transporting a river of pretzel dough to the oven and automated packaging machines. What they feel is pure pretzel bliss.

Large, soft pretzels are also made on-site and dexterous visitors can earn a diploma in pretzel twisting.

The gift shop presents a large variety of hard pretzels along with beguiling bits of pretzel lore. You'll learn that pretzels date from about 610 A.D. when a French monk twisted some left-over bread dough to represent arms folded in prayer. In Medieval times, the pretzel shape became a symbol of excellence; in Prize-winning cheese and sausage are for sale, as well as great tasting jams and jellies. And they're all made in-house.

It's OK to have a cow at the soda bar. The Chocolate Cow (three different flavors of ice cream, topped with chocolate, caramel and whipped cream) is a favorite with folks who want to gorge.

Other flag ship products you won't want to miss: World Famous Cheese Bread, Double Dipped Blue Cheese Dressing, and the Grand National Champion Sausage. A mail order catalog is available upon request.

The Frankenmuth Candyland and Cheese Factory (800-766-0796 or 517-652-8000) offers tours of the cheese making facility during production periods. It's located at 280 Heinlein Strasse, across from the pretzel maker.

Ever since its founding in 1949, Kern's Sausages of Frankenmuth has produced mouth-watering Bavarian-style sausages with an emphasis on quality, not quantity. That's why traditional hickory wood is still used in the smoke house.

Today, Kern's produces 32 varieties of sausages, including old favorites such as bratwurst, knockwurst, and summer sausage. And talk about popularity! More than 11,000 pounds of Kern's bratwurst are sold annually during the week-long Frankenmuth Bavarian Festival.

Kem's also offers sugar cured, hickory smoked hams. Domestic and imported cheeses and 250 varieties of wine are also featured.

Kem's Sausages (517-652-2684) can prepare gift boxes for shipment anywhere in the country. The store is located at 110 W. Jefferson St. at Main Street.

AUSTRIAN CHURCH REPLICATED— The octagonal shaped chapel at Bronner's is modeled after St. Nicholas Church in Oberndorf, Austria, where "Silent Night" was first sung.

Silent Night chapel opens

Frankenmuth, Michigan-Bronner's replica of the Oberndorf, Austria, Silent Night Memorial Chapel will welcome holiday visitors starting Nov. 21.

The octagonal shaped, 56-foot tall building is located at the intersection of Weiss Street and South Main, near Bronner's Christmas Wonderland.

The interior of the chapel will contain a walk-through area with a few benches and a glass wall. Behind the glass wall will be a small alter, pews, Nativity scene, a Christmas tree, wreath, garland trim, the Biblical account of the Christmas story, information about the Silent Night hymn and composers, reproduction of original musical score, information about the original chapel in Oberndorf, and information about the surrounding Austrian community. Recordings of Silent Night will be heard inside and outside the chapel. Landscaping will include benches and outdoor plaques with the translation of the hymn in numerous languages. The chapel is not intended for services. Opening of the chapel marks the culmination of a 20-year quest by Wally Bronner to simulate the Chapel in Obemdorf so that more people might experience the Austrian tribute to the beloved hymn. Obemdorf city officials granted their approval of the project.

Silent Night has been translated into more languages than any other sacred Christmas song. In 1818, Josef Mohr wrote the verses and Franz Gruber composed the music for the inspiring carol that was first sung on Christmas Eve in St. Nicholas Church in Oberndorf.

St. Nicholas Church was damaged by the annual high water of the Salzach River that flows from the Alpine Mountains in the Salzburg region. The church was rebuilt on higher ground and the Silent Night Memorial Chapel was erected on a landscaped mound over the original site in the 1920s. For more information on the Silent Night Memorial Chapel and Bronner's Christmas Wonderland store, call 800-ALL-YEAR or 517-652-9931. Frankenmuth is located just minutes east off Interstate 75, between Flint and Saginaw, Michigan. Exit I-75 northbound at Exit 136 or southbound at Exit 144.

Frankenmuth's aglow

Frankenmuth, Michigan-

Experience German Christmas hospitality on Nov. 27 at Frankenmuth's 19th annual Holiday Lighting Celebration.

The celebration begins at 6:30 p.m. in Heileman Park (Main Street in Frankenmuth between Zehnder's Restaurant and the Cass River) with music provided by the St. Lorenz mixed choir. Free hot chocolate and cookies will be distributed. After a reading of the Christmas gospel and singing of traditional Christmas carols, the park and riverbank will "officially" be illuminated and the Candle Walk

AAS Series plans un-opera

Bloomfield Hills, Michigan-

The American Artists Series opens its 23rd season on Sunday, Dec. 6 with a concert featuring the AAS Chamber Players with soloist, Theodore Oien, principal clarinetist, Detroit Symphony Orchestra. The 3 p.m. concert will be held at Kingswood Auditorium on the Cranbrook campus, 500 Lone Pine Road, Bloomfield Hills.

The program will include: Rhapsodic Quintet by Herbert Howells for clarinet and string quartet; Clarinet Trio by Johannes Brahms for clarinet, cello and piano; and Piano Quintet by Cesar Franck.

Joann Freeman, pianist, is founder and artistic director of the American Artists Series. AAS Chamber Players and members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra performing with her for this concert are: Marguerite Deslippes, violin; Hart Hollman, viola; Linda Snedden Smith, violin; and John Thurman, cello.

An informal reception with the artists follows the concert. Ticket prices are the same as last year, $12.50 for individual tickets with a savings for the five-concert season tickets. For information, call 313-851-5044.

Two special programs highlight this season. The internationally recognized Newman & Oltman Guitar Duo will perform on Sunday, Jan. 17. The world premiere of procession will begin.

Wonderglass, an un-opera in one act

An estimated 2,000 persons are expected to participate in this walk. Hand held torch candles will be sold -$2 each. After the candle walk, don't forget to visit Santa at the Frankenmuth Chamber of Commerce building.

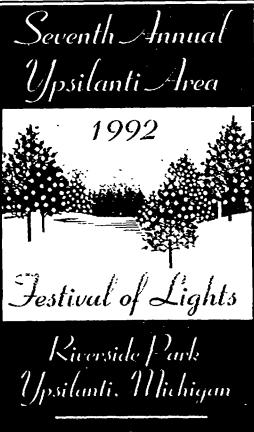

Your evening wouldn't be complete without a stop at the open houses that will be available around town until 10 p.m. Many shops will be open to welcome visitors.

For more information, call 517-652-6106.

Nostalgic Northville relives Christmas-past

Northville, Michigan-

The holiday season gets into full swing in downtown Northville on Sunday, Nov. 22 with the annual Christmas Walk. Crowds from miles around flock to town to enjoy traditional downtown shopping in a warm Christmas atmosphere.

The town is colorfully decorated and many merchants offer hot chocolate, punch and doughnuts to browsers. Northville's charming Mill Race Historical Village will be decked out as part of the celebration.

Once the site of a grist mill, Mill Race Historical Village homes, school, church, blacksmith shop and general store will be trimmed for a Victorian holiday. Local Quester groups will take up the decorating duties.

Admission to the village event, set for the weekend of Nov. 21–22, is $1 per person, with proceeds earmarked for the further restoration of the site. A variety of crafts will be available for sale, including ornaments, baskets, weaving, and stocking stuffers.

Northville's holiday celebration continues on Friday, Nov. 27 with the kick off of the Dickens Christmas promotion. A strolling Scrooge will hand out discount coupons redeemable at town stores. Merchants will don Victorian apparel. Carriage rides, caroling and the arrival of Santa Claus are also scheduled Nov. 27.

Dickens Christmas in Northville continues on Saturday and Sunday through Dec. 19–20. Call 313–349–7640 for more information.

ILLUMINATED SNOWSCAPE— The buildings at Mill Race Historical Village, will be trimmed for a Victorian holiday celebration Nov. 21–22.

Dinner theatre catches the spirit

Holiday stage productions at Genitti's Hole–In–The–Wall add a festive flair to Northville's Christmas activities.

Coming Nov. 13–Jan. 2: A Fractured Christmas Carol, a comic musical twist to the classic old tale. Scrooge is nurdered and the audience must help the ghosts of Christmas decide who killed him. This dinner theatre production promises to be a Dickens of a time.

The Merry Christmas Follies is also set for a Nov. 13–Jan. 2 run. This evening of music, dancing, sing-a-longs and holiday fun marks the opening of Genetti's new theatre. Have dinner, then step next door to the new theatre for an evening inspired by the Ziegfield Follies of old.

Coming in December: Murder Most Fa La La — The Sequel. Holis Wort, working in the JoyToys electronics lab, made a breakthrough in 3-D TV technology. Too bad he didn't live to profit from it. It's a rollicking evening of intrigue, romance and high technology run amok.

Genetti's theatre presentations are $29.95 and include a seven course Italian dinner, tax and tip. Call 313-349-0522 for reservation information. Casts consist of professional actors and actresses from local theatre groups throughout the metro Detroit area.

A treasure trove of toy trains

Plymouth, Michigan-Count Bob Reckinger among those who believes it's not Christmas without a toy train chugging around the tree. He's turned his life-long love of locomotives into a full-time profession --- station master. conductor and brake man at Plymouth Yard Hobbies and Gifts. Bob says he received his first train at age 3 months ("My dad still has it and won't give it back.") and "surprised" the family later on by converting the ping pong table into a track layout. Now he gets to play/work in a real freight house and passenger depot. The former depot on the south side of the CSX tracks houses a display of antique and collectible trains sure to thrill little engineers of all ages. There's a 5-foot by 12-foot lay-out of a freight yard and passenger station complete with realistic sound effects. The many working accessories include a miniature gate man who waves a lantern at the vintage Lionel train each time it passes. Glass cases contain classic out-of-production models: a streamlined passenger train from the 1930s; a brass and nickel Lionel engine and coal car built between 1910 and 1923; electric trolley cars. The depot display is open for holiday viewing during regular business hours, 11 a.m.-7 p.m. Monday through Saturday, 11 a.m.-3 p.m. Sunday. Extended holiday hours can be arranged by calling 313-455-4455. The Plymouth Yard retail store is located to the north of the tracks in the former Pere Marquette freight house. The CSX freight service still rumbles by alongside, so train buffs can view operations of all sizes. Bob sells every gauge from Z (so tiny that a locomotive fits inside a walnut shell) up to G (18-inch locomotives suitable for outdoor use). In between are the N, popular HO, and larger S, Lionel O and Lionel O27 gauges. He also has a selection of all-metal Lionel Standard gauge models that have been stamped from the original 1930s dies.

Model railroaders can create their own mountains and streams from material on sale at Plymouth Yard. There's buildings of all sorts - a drive-through bank, funeral home, Pizza Hut restaurant ---- track of all widths, specialty cars, engineer hats and bandannas, and books on wiring and track design. "These offer the play value that kids and adults love," Bob says. And if you break it, Bob can fix it. He services and restores trains built ... all the way back to the turn of the century. Plymouth Yard Hobbies and Gifts is located at 904 and 900 Starkweather in Plymouth's Old Village area.

CBS' 'Sinatra': Behind Ol' Blue Eyes

Miniseries peopled with Kennedys and kingpins

By Dan Rice

The two-part miniseries Sinatra, airing Sunday, Nov. 8, and Tuesday, Nov. 10, on CBS, translates 50 years of the entertainer's life into five hours of engaging prime-time fare.

Tina Sinatra, Frank's oldest child, was named by her father as executive producer of the project. She stresses that her father was very much involved in the telling of his story. "The words, the scenes that put together this picture are all his recollections and remembrances."

Still, Sinatra is not the glowing tribute one might expect, thanks to the influence of director James Sadwith (Baby M).

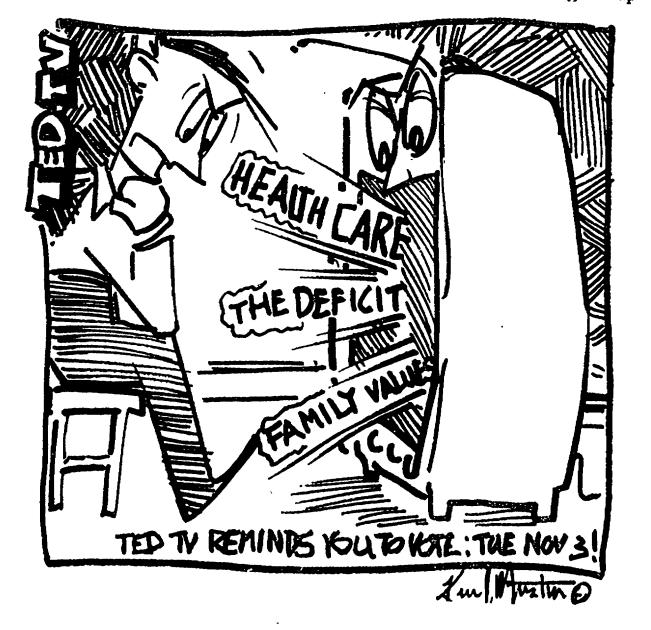

"I read the script and told Tina that if I was going to make this," Sadwith recalls, "it was not going to be an ode to Frank Sinatra, it was not going to be The Al Jolson Story. I would make something much more akin to Raging Bull, that I wasn't a fan of Frank's, and I was going to play the drama and not the sentiment." There is no shortage of drama in Sinatra's life: his humble beginnings, his obsessive climb to stardom, his failed marriages and his connections to powerful figures—all make for intriguing viewing. Of particular interest is his middleman relationship between the Kennedys and organized crime; according to the movie, his intercessions with union leadership helped put JFK in the White House.

The casting process was extensive. "We would go for people who embodied the essence of the character, but we wouldn't necessarily go for exact look-alikes," Sadwith says.

The title role was filled at nearly the last minute by Philip Casnoff (Hands of a Stranger), who refused to be intimidated by the fame of his character.

"I basically ignored the fact that he was a famous person," Casnoff says. "I think if I had been intimidated I would have been dead in the water."

Casnoff, who claims he grew up on "Motown, the Beatles and heavy metal," says he gained a new understanding of Sinatra and his music through this project.

"I knew he was very ambitious, but beyond that, one of the things that really struck me was...he was very vulnerable and private when he was on stage," Casnoff says. "I think something happened to him on stage that didn't happen anyplace else in his life. He was very moving when he sang. I think the girls responded to his vulnerability. It's almost like Michael Jackson in a way. There was almost an androgynous quality to Frank when he was very young, when he was so gaunt and frail up there on stage."

Casnoff is surrounded by a fine supporting cast. Most memorable is Olympia Dukakis as Sinatra's saloon-keeper/abortionist mother, Dolly. Also noteworthy are Joe Santos as his ex-boxer father, Gina Gershon as Nancy Barbato Sinatra, Marcia Gay Harden as Ava Gardner, Joris Stuyck as Peter Lawford, Nina Siemaszko as Mia Farrow and Rod Stiger as mob boss Sam Giancana.

Sinatra is all the more worthwhile for the glimpses of famous personalities from show-business history and for the music. As with any biography of a living person, the miniseries has the problem of where it should end. The producers have opted to close with a Madison Square Garden concert in 1974 at the height of Sinatra's success. It appears a conscious decision was made to leave the "Chairmar of the

Since the second
Board" on top.

'Name Your Adventure' this Saturday morning

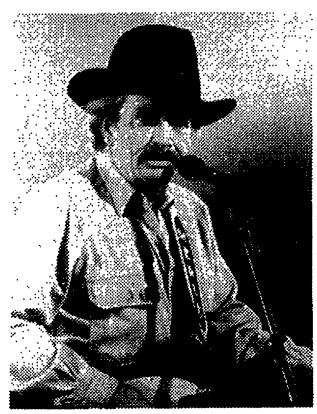

By Chris Carpenter

"You have to remember, with anything you want to do, have fun with it," actor/tap great Gregory Hines advises two fawning fans in an episode of NBC's Saturday-morning show Name Your Adventure.

Taking that fun factor and running with it (and dancing with it, riding horseback with it and who knows what else), Name Your Adventure is an alternative to cartoons for children who feel like soaking up some serious vicarious entertainment in the world's most awe-inspiring locales. The camera tags along as the show's hosts, Mario Lopez and former MTV veejay Jordan Brady, leap-frog from one guest's fantasy adventure to the next, alternately offering informative tidbits and cracking wise.

The possibilities are endless for a program with such an ambitious format, but don't expect a young guest to scale the World Trade Center with suction cups any time soon. Early visitors to Name Your Adventure seem to fantasize more about visiting recycling plants and learning a few dance steps than wing-walking or sword-swallowing.

But as a credit to the cast and crew of Name Your Adventure, even the least adventurous excursions are no less entertaining. The show manages to move at warp speed while delivering plenty of humor and hands-on instruction. *> TV Listing Inc.

More exposure of Burrows; the Lowe-down on Chad

By Taylor Michaels Q: I am a big fan of Ed on Northern Exposure. Could you please tell me a little bit about the actor who portrays him? I would also like to know where to write him. —Jennifer Herbach, Portland, Ore.

A: The actor who plays Ed Chigliak is Darren E. Burrows, who was born in Winfield, Kan., and is one-quarter Apache and one-quarter Cherokee. His first acting job was in the film 976-EVIL, and he went on to co-star in Casualties of War, with Michael J. Fox and Sean Penn, and John Waters' Cry-Baby. When not on location, he lives in North Hollywood. You may write Burrows in care of Northern Exposure, CBS, 7800 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif., 90036.

Q: I saw a 1940s World War II movie on TV in 1953 starring Don Ameche. It was about two German brothers on opposite sides of the war. Ameche was with the underground, and his brother was with the Gestapo. One was named Kurt, the other Eric.

I was pregnant at the time and decided if I had a boy, his name was going to be Kurt, but it wasn't a boy. When I did have a boy in 1961 and another in 1962, I named the first Kurt and the second Eric. They have always known where their names came from, and I've always wanted them to see the movie but can't recall what the name was. Can you help? —Minette Reinholt, Kerrville, Texas.

A: The movie you describe is 1940's Four Sons, with Don Ameche and Alan Curtis. However, I hope your sons have a good sense of humor, since Ameche and Curtis played brothers Chris, involved in the Czech underground, and Karl, a Nazi Fifth Columnist, respectively. This movie was a loose remake of a 1928 picture that featured the same title but a different war and different character names, none of them Kurt or Eric.

Q: A friend and I have a disagreement regarding the show Family Ties. I say that the actress who played Michael J. Fox's girlfriend toward the end was Demi Moore. He says I'm wrong and bets me $10 every time we see each other. Can you give us the answer? --Sylvia C., Big Spring, Texas.

A: Demi Moore as Alex Keaton's girlfriend ... it's an interesting thought, but unfortunately for you, Sylvia, not at all true. Courteney Cox played Lauren Miller, Alex's girlfriend, in the show's last few seasons. Alex's previous girlfriend, Ellen, was played by Tracy Pollan, who ended up becoming Mrs. Michael J. Fox.

Q: I'm a big fan of Chad Lowe. I love watching him on Life Goes On. I think he is a very good actor. Could you please tell me about him and where I can write to him? —C.M.A., Clifton, N.J.

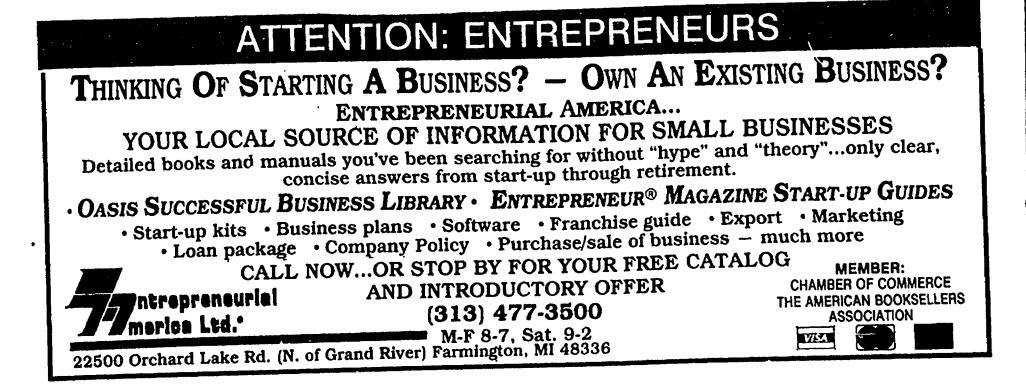

A: Lowe's family, including Brat Pack brother Rob Lowe, moved to California from Dayton, Ohio, while the boys were still young. Chad attended Santa Monica High School. Just before he turned 16, Chad hired an agent to feel out the acting market and promptly landed two TV appearances on the same day: in Robert Kennedy and His Times and Flight 90: Disaster on the Potomac. After living for a while in New York where he studied acting, Lowe returned to Los Angeles and landed a few more TV roles before his current assignment as HIV-positive Jesse McKenna on Life Goes On. He's been a volunteer for the Los Angeles Youth Network more than a year, holding group meetings with homeless teens. You may write to Lowe in care of William Morris Agency, 151 El Camino Road, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212.

Darren E. Burrows
