Springport Plan irks school bosses

Vol. 125, No. 1

By SHARON CONDRON Staff Writer

Cooke Middle School Principal Jeff Radwanski let his frustrations about the district's pay-to-participate prog-ram be known at the School Board meeting Monday night.

Radwanski said he shares the frustrations other building principals feel about the time and energy they've had to divert from their regular work days to give to the execution of the district's pay-to-participate program. He said getting the program up and running at Cooke Middle School - where some 446 students have opted to play sports or be involved in co-curricular activities has been a constant drain.

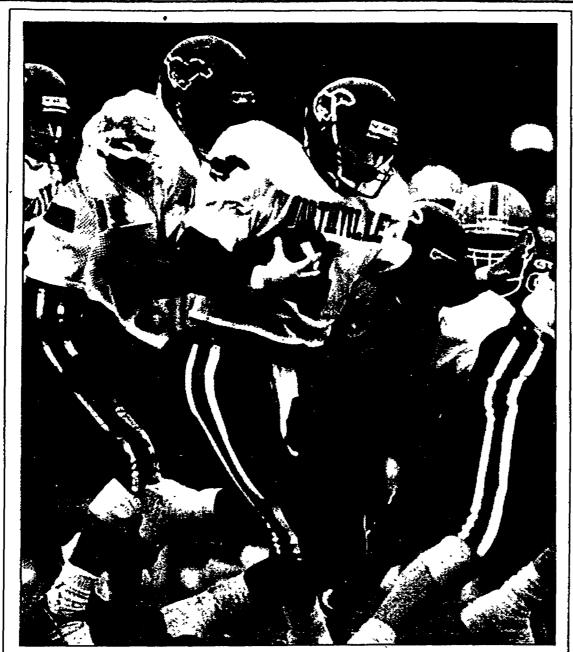

This takes time away from doing what we should be doing," he told School Board members and district administrators. "It's making us feel like collection agents . . . And it's personally insulting ... I'm not trained to do this kind of thing, and I'm very frustrated."

David Bolitho, assistant superintendent for administrative services, said other building administrators echo Radwanski's concerns.

"It's been a lot of work at the build-ing principals' level," Bolitho concurred. "It's really been a significant drain on building principals' time, too."

Radwanski said he's feeling a tighter pinch this year because of all

Northville Community Beck Road park funding plan - take fourt

The cameras will be rolling this evening as the Township Board once again tries to nail down a funding plan for the beleaguered Beck Road community park.

Board members are slated to discuss a municipal bond sale plan that could raise $250,000 for the proposed baseball/soccer complex at the community park site off Beck be-tween Five Mile and Six Mile roads. According to a proposed park bond timetable, a 45-day public referendum would start Nov. 16 and end Dec. 30, followed by a published bond sale notice. Banks or individuals interested in purchasing park bonds supposedly would snap up the documents, freeing up funds to spend on park development.

Actual park development would take place this spring, with the soc-cer and baseball fields ready for use by 1994, based on the timetable offered by the Northville Parks and Recreation Department.

For that scenario to occur, the board must approve the latest plan. Additionally, the township's Building Authority is scheduled to gather prior to the board meeting to okay the move.

Park bonds will be issued through the Building Authority, according to township bond counsel.

Walkaway suspected of vehicle theft

By MIKE TYREE Staff Writer

Dennis Buckshaw backed his 1988 Olds 98 from his garage last Friday morning and left the car idling, hoping to knock off the engine chill before driving his children to school.

Buckshaw noticed a container of pop in the car and carried it into his Crestview Circle home, where he zipped a couple of coats and urged the kids to get moving.

Moments later, Buckshaw stepped out of the house and discovered his car missing. He thinks he glimpsed the vehicle's taillights as it wheeled around the corner and out of sight.

That evening, Buckshaw's Olds was found in Detroit. He picked up the car on Saturday and was cleaning out the interior when something caught his eye.

An identification bracelet. Just like the kind worn by patients at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital.

The 41001 Seven Mile Road hospital's southwestern boundary stretches to within 300 feet of Buckshaw's home in the Lakes of Northville subdivision. Township police questioned a Detroit resident and Northville Regional patient, who reportedly admitted walking away from the hospital and stealing the car.

Police identified the same man as the suspect in a similar theft in August 1991, when a 1986 Ford truck was stolen from a construction site in the Northville Trails subdivision. The subdivision also abuts state hospital property. The suspect reportedly walked away from the state hospital on August 13, 1991. A police report on the walkaway and stolen truck referred to the man as "dangerous", and while the truck eventually was recovered, the man apparently was not prosecuted for the alleged theft.

On Tuesday, 'township police Det. Michael Wildt said he was awaiting word from the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office on whether an arrest warrant will be issued for the suspect.

Wildt said police had yet to run a criminal history check on the suspect because of conflicting reports about his date of birth.

Meanwhile, Buckshaw says his family has been "traumatized" by the event. He's not pleased to lose more than $3,000 in stereo equipment, sales items, and business records, but especially troubling is the thought that real tragedy loomed.

Where was he lurking, where was he hiding?" Buckshaw said of the alleged walkaway. "What if my kids had been in the car?"

Buckshaw says he is frightened and angered by the incident. He said his family feels they are "held hostage by that hospital" and he refuses to let his children play in the woods behind his home.

He wants the alleged car thief prosecuted and the state to "take responsibility" for protecting neighboring residents. Buckshaw hopes to lead a petition drive that will force the state to build a large fence around the hospital property.

The state did construct a six-foot high fence in early 1991, but Buckshaw said it does not deter those who want to escape the facility.

Northville Regional Director Walter Brown did not return a reporter's telephone call by presstime. In the past, state Department of Mental Health officials have resisted local attempts to enclose the hospital, saying residents there are patients and not prisoners.

But other walkaway patients have run afoul of the law. An elderly Northville man was seriously injured in May 1991 when a hospital walkaway yanked him from his vehicle and threw him to the ground at Northville Plaza Mall.

The patient, Terrance Jenkins, then stole the man's car, eventually abandoning it in Detroit. Jenkins later was convicted of car theft and was sentenced to 3-15 years in state prison. Buckshaw says he has grown weary of such tales.

"I intend to do something about this," Buckshaw said. "We're going to do a full court press one more time to get some relief."

They want to hit the ground running.

If they don't, the seven new members of the Township Board might find themselves overwhelmed by an avalanche of projects, deadlines, and obligations.

The heady days of political victory are about to give way to the stark realities of tight budgets, union negoti-ations, and grumbling residents, but new board members seem ready to tackle the challenge.

Between now and Nov. 20, we should all be actively investigating the issues," said Trustee-elect Gini Britton. "That's the most important thing for now: getting up to speed." The outgoing board meets for the last time at 7:30 this evening and officially passes the torch Nov. 20, when the new board is sworn to office.

Clerk-elect Sue Hillebrand is aware of the tough decisions facing the political newcomers.

"The first thing we need to do is sit down and map out what we're going to tackle first," said Hillebrand, whose board seat was all but assured with her win in the August Republican primary. "All seven of us will have to sit down and identify things and prioritize."

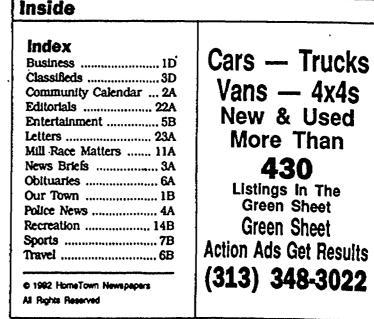

Hillebrand listed the budget, clerical union contract negotiations, the Western Townships Utilities Authority, and professional services and personnel contracts as some areas that could use early scrutiny.

Incoming Trustee Russ Fogg said he has developed a lengthy list of items that need review.

Fogg wants the board to look at the recently inked contract between the township, WTUA, and Browning-Ferris Industries. He said other top issues include development of industrially zoned property in Northville Township, security at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital, and a resolution of the gravel roads spray treatment problem.

More than anything else, Fogg

Charles Ely Sr.

Former Ely Fuel owner Charles Ely Sr., 82, died Nov. 9 in Florida. The longtime Northville businessman passed away in his sleep.

Ely was born in Farmington June and converted the garden center to a 7, 1910, to parents Carl and Una (Roberts) Ely. He spent most of his life in the Northville area.

"He was such an outgoing, friendly guy," said a family member. "He wasn't the type of person you could ignore . . . He enjoyed life, he really enjoyed life, (and) he enjoyed the business."

The senior Ely enjoyed business so much that he owned and operated several. He took over the ice and coal business his father had owned since 1920, added a garden center in 1963, hardware store in the early 1970s.

In 1968, Charles Sr. and his brother Ivan turned the fuel oil business over to their sons. Charles Sr. continued to run the hardware store until his retirement in 1974.

His wife, Margaret, died in 1988. Ely is survived by sister Ada Bloom of Florida, daughter Ulinda St. Lawrence and son Charles R. Ely Jr. of Northville, three grandchildren, and four great grandchildren.

Ely's funeral will be held tomorrow, Noy, 13, at 11 a.m. at the Casterline Funeral Home, 121 W. Dunlap. The Rev. Douglas Vernon of the First United Methodist Church of Northville will officiate, Interment will be at Rural Hill Cemetery. Arrangements are by the Casterline Funeral Home.

Family members ask that memorials be sent to the American Lung Association.

A peek at Thornton Creek

Cost estimate sought to open elementary school

By SHARON CONDRON Staff Writter

Put Your

As contractors are scrambling to get the roof put on Thornton Creek Elementary School before the winter, while school administrators are working on getting the interior elements together.

Everything from interior design to financing to identifying which students will attend the district's newest school must be decided. The building is scheduled to open in the fall of 1993.

David Boitho, assistant superintendent for administrative services, said construction of the 70,000-square-foot school is about three weeks behind schedule because of inclement weather. But he said his office is on top of reports that will figure the costs of staffing, supplying, and operating the new school.

"We should have those figures for what it would cost to open Thornton Creek Elementary in the next two weeks," he said. "We'll have them broken out into what it's going to cost from the general fund and from bond monies," he said at Tuesday's facilities subcommittee meeting.

At that meeting, board President Carol Rahimi and board members Jay Dunkerley and Pat Custer spend about an hour reviewing the architect's selections of interior and exterior color schemes and materials. They decided on warm hues of blues, peaches, and greens for the common areas and bathrooms, and then used primary colors to dot the four corridors of the school. There will also be a teal brick band around the outside of the school that will wrap into the lobby and then fade into the school's corridors.

With construction about 30-percent complete, Bolitho is working at drawing attendance boundaries for the school, which will alleviate overcrowding conditions at all three of the district's elementaries.

Thornton Creek is one of the products of the district's first strategic planning strategies. In 1989, the strategic planning committee saw the need for the new school as blueprints for residential developments were being drawn all across the Nine Mile corridor, which feeds into the Northville school system. Voters passed the two-phase bond issue in 1989 and designated about $7.3 million to be used to fund the construction and startup costs of the new school.

On Bolitho's recommendation, the School Board Monday night agreed to hold a public hearing on Jan. 28 to get input from the community on the attendance boundaries for the school, which is located on Nine Mile between Beck and Taft Roads.

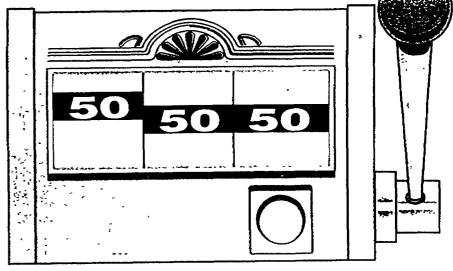

Financing the school is becoming an issue. At a Moraine PTA meeting last month, parent Debbie Faber asked Bolitho what it would cost to open the school. He said he didn't have the actual figures compiled, but estimated the cost of the opening the school at about $770,000. If that estimate is accurate, voters would have to approve 1 mill to open the school. Bolitho added that construction expenses to date have come in within budget.

Knife-wielding man loses temper at party store

A 35-year-old Novi man who reportedly pulled a steak knife on a party store employee Nov. 5 apparently will escape felonious assault charges.

Police said the man became upset when he was not credited for returning 13 refundable bottles to the Six'N Park party store earlier that evening. The man apparently argued with a clerk at the store and eventually tipped over a cigarette display rack.

The employee followed the suspect out of the store, and the Novi man allegedly pulled a steak knife from his pocket and pointed it at the employee.

The man then drove away, but was apprehended in Novi. The party store clerk later decided to drop charges, police said.

BREAKING AND ENTERING: A home on Grace Street was broken into sometime between 12:45 and 3:35 p.m. Nov. 5. A steel door on the home's north side was either pried or kicked open, but nothing was apparently taken. The homeowner pulled into the driveway briefly at 3:25 p.m., and may have scared the burglar(s) away then.

Damage to the door was estimated at $300.

MAILBOXES DAMAGED: A Cardene Way resident told township police that someone damaged 12 mailboxes with a pry tool sometime Nov. 5. An undetermined amount of mail reportedly was stolen.

Damage to the mailboxes was listed at $120.

VEHICLES DAMAGED: Twovehicles parked at a Rippling Lane address reportedly were damaged sometime late Nov. 6 or early Nov. 7.

Township police said the owners of 1990 Ford F-150 pickup and a 1990 Dodge Daytona reported that the driver's side windows were broken on both vehicles. Nothing was reported as stolen. Damage to the Ford was estimated at $150 and the Dodge damage was listed at $200.

MARIJUANA POSSESSION CHARGED: A 21-year-old Canton man was charged with possession of marijuana after his arrest early Nov. 7 on Sheldon south of Five Mile.

Township police pulled the man's car over after he reportedly crossed over the painted shoulder line. Sobriety tests were negative and police reportedly asked the man if he had marijuana in the car. The man denied having the drug and reportedly told police to check the vehicle.

Police said they found a narcotics pipe, drug paraphernalia, a film ca-nister containing marijuana residue, and a filn canister containing marijuana.

HUNTER SKINNED: A 21-yearold Wyandotte man was charged with hunting with a rifle in Northville Township after a late Nov. 3 incident, township police said.

Police said they received complaints of someone hunting near a cornfield a quarter-mile west of Haggerty north of Six Mile. When police checked the scene, they found the man carrying a bolt-action .22 rifle and 42 rounds of ammunition.

Police also discovered five dead raccoons the man had shot.

Police confiscated the gun and ammunition. After photographing the dead animals, they were released to the hunter.

TOOLS STOLEN: An estimated $150 in tools was stolen from a River Street building sometime between Nov. 4-6. The tools - a Powercraft standard and metric socket wrench set with a % -inch driver --- were in a blue plastic case.

BIKE STOLEN: A red and black Murray bicycle was reported stolen from Amerman School, 847 N. Center, sometime between 5-5:15 p.m. Nov. 4. The bike was valued at $50.

FENDER BENDERS: City police cited an 18-year-old Northville woman for failing to stop after she drove into a truck on Main Street east of Griswold Nov. 5. The woman was driving east on Main at 1:15 p.m. when she struck an eastbound truck turning into a driveway.

A 53-year-old Royal Oak woman was cited for failing to yield after she drove into a car heading north on Center Street just before 3 p.m. Nov. 7. The woman was turning onto Center from Mary Alexander Court.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

intestine nearest the stomach.

Common causes include excess acid in the stomach and the loss of a layer of protective mucus that lines the stomach. Stress does not cause ulcers. Ulcers Don't Mean Life Without Pizza

To care for an ulcer, cut down as much as possible on cigarettes. Aspirin and some drugs used to treat arthritis may interfere with the stomach's protective laver, so make sure your doctor knows of all medications you are taking.

It's a good idea to avoid overly rich and spicy foods, caffelne and alcohol. DO NOT drink larae amounts of milk. Milk may stimulate the production of more acid.

Two Types of Medication

There are two types of medications for treating ulcers: antacids and acid-blockers. Antacids neutralize acid in the stomach. Consult a doctor and pharmacist before use. Antacids are generally prescribed to be taken several times a day for about six weeks.

Drugs called H-2 blockers reduce the amount of acid the stomach produces. This is the preferred treatment for most patients.

While treatment heals the ulcer, it's not always the cure. They can recur, but you can help avoid flare-ups by limiting ingestion of the items listed above.

Thursday, November 12, 1992-THE NORTHVILLE RECORD-5-A School head sends letter opposing DDA plan

By SHARON CONDRON Staff Writer

In two weeks school Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski will fire off a letter to the Northville City Council that expresses the school district's opposition to Main-Street 92. -7.

On behalf of the district, Rezmierski said the letter will )2 declare that the schools don't want to chip in this year to help fund the proposed parking deck in downtown . Northville.

The School Board Monday night backed Rezmierski's idea to write the letter, but agreed to wait until the Downtown Development Authority meets again next week to discuss the fate of Mainstreet '92.

School officials and residents alike expressed concern over the funding mechanism attached to the plan. City officials have proposed that the deck and subsequent downtown improvements be funded by "captured" tax revenues from the downtown development district. In effect, it would be an extension of the current bond issue (Mainstreet '78) that would continue to capture increases

 $_{\rm H_{\star}}$  in tax revenues in the downtown development district for the next 20 years. All of that money would be used by the city for improvements to the downtown area. Some taxpayers have also objected to the city's plans to extend the current Downtown Development Authority's boundaries to take in additional commercial properties to fatten its DDA budget.

That idea isn't flying well in a school year where the district has already lost $2.6 million in property tax revenues. The schools were on sound financial footing when the original version of Mainstreet 78 was passed and backed by the schools.

"The concerns for our district are far greater now than<sup>5</sup> they were in 1978," Rezmierski said. "But the board is in a position to be heard and it is represented. And the board has the opportunity to state its position, but the issue is when and at what time."

Board President Jean Hansen said, "The school district at this time cannot endorse a project that takes any dollars away from the schools." A handful of residents at the meeting applauded her views.

Board member Jay Dunkerley supported the notion. "We aren't saying that they don't need a deck. What we applauded the board's willingness to oppose the city's plan.

"I'm very concerned about the DDA's plan," she said. "And I support the board's notion of wanting to cooperate and find a solution but if any solution supports the idea of taking money away from the schools I can't support it.

"Ive helped you pass millages and Ive helped you try to ass millages and I'm concerned that the board wouldn't protect and defend those tax dollars. You should be defending those tax dollars that should be used to educate our children.

City resident and Moraine parent Debbie Faber concurred.

You are the caretakers of my tax dollars," she said. And I encourage you to make a very clear and strong statement in opposition to that plan."

Hansen, who serves as the board's liaison to the DDA, backed Rezmierski's idea to write the letter, but was quick to dispel rumors she's heard about the plan and about the city and school's relationship. She also tried to squelch the notion that school officials haven't voiced their concerns over the project.

"I have met with the city manager and the city's financial officers," she said. "I can assure you that there is no conspiracy anyplace, nor are there any secret agree-ments that have been made between the schools and the dty.

"The communication has been very open and the city has kept us up-to-date, and we have informed them all along about our apprehensions."

In her speech to the board and gathered residents, Hansen suggested that the city work towards an equitable solution for all the governmental bodies involved. She also hinted that while there may indeed be a need for a parking structure, the timing of the project combined with the loss of school revenues makes it virtually impossible for the schools to consider the Mainstreet 92 proposal.

Parent Virginia Patak said, *it will never be a good time to take school tax dollars and put them into an essentially private venture."

Charity adopts families

The Salvation Army is aggressively seeking needy families and senior citizens to participate in the Adopt-A-Family Christmas program, and seeking organizations to collect food for the needy.

The goal of the Adopt-A-Family Program is to provide needy families with toys, gifts, clothes, health aids, and a Christmas food basket. The Salvation Army has taken the pledge of "No One Without a Christmas."

Prospective families and seniors may call The Salvation Army until Dec. 4 to set up an interview. Please do not call after that date. The number is 453-5487. Office hours are Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to noon and 1-4:30 p.m.

To be eligible the families must reside in Northville, Plymouth, or Canton, and show financial need. Proof is required.

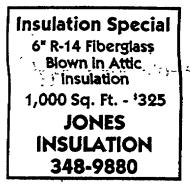

The program is made possible by businesses, community groups, schools and churches who lovingly adopt needy families. Individuals and families may adopt as well. Interested groups may call anytime to adopt a family. Meanwhile, the Army is looking for businesses, organizations, churches and schools to collect food for the needy.

Each year the Plymouth Salvation Army gives out thousands of food bags to needy families in Northville, Canton, and Plymouth. As the weather turns cold, the need increases even more.

If your group is willing to display a "Baskets of Love" poster and food drop box, or perhaps even sponsor a food drive, contact The Salvation Army at 453-5487. The posters and boxes will be available for pickup soon.

The Army asks that all food be delivered directly to our food pantry if possible. This will free us to serve our community better during the hectic holiday season. If you are unable to deliver the food, call in advance for a pickup date.

Manager selects from hundreds for city position

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

Word had no shortage of candidates in his recent search for a new executive secretary.

A total of 307 people applied for the position vacated by Beverly Dennis. Dennis left for Ohio Oct. 29, where " her husband, Jim, has been transferred by his firm. She had served as the city's executive secretary since 1985.

W After what he described as "an extensive selection process," Word offered Dennis' position to Farmington Hills resident Carol Kasprowicz. She accepted the offer.

Kasprowicz will assume her executive secretary duties Nov. 16, earning an annual $24,500 salary. Kasprowicz served as a secretary/ administrative assistant at Assoclated Research Consultants in West Bloomfield for the past six years, after four years as a secretary for Farmington Secretarial and Telephone Answering Service. Her municipal experience included two years of work with a township lawyer and an environmental planner in Medford,

Word said his hiring decision was based on "qualifications, experience and personality." "There were a lot of good, quality people, and it was a difficult choice." he said. The top 100 were just solid people with a substantial amount of experience, education and training."

The top 24 candidates were issued a test compiled by the Michigan Municipal League to gauge their qualifications for the city position. The test further reflected the high caliber of the candidates, Word said.

"I had eight people of the ones we tested who scored in the 90th percen-tile statewide," he said.

The top 24 were winnowed down to seven finalists, who were then interviewed by Word and a panel of other city staff members.

Three of the top 24 candidates were city employees applying for the vacant position, Word said. One of those three was among the seven.

Look out, Santa! Historical society hosts its annual toy-making workshop for children

In the spirit of Christmas past, the made themselves. So parents are Northville Historical Society will host its 14th annual Christmas Workshop on Saturday, Dec. 5 in the New School Church at Mill Race Village.

Again this year there will be a morning session from 10 a.m. to noon and afternoon session from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., making it possible to accommodate 150 children total.

Children in grades 1-6 are invited to participate in the opportunity to make hand-made Christmas gifts for the special people on their list. The intent of the workshop is to suprise family members with the gifts that the children have worked on and asked not to pry or peek at what the kids are making. The children can then truly delight in the mystery of suprise gift giving. Enroliment will be accepted starting at 6 p.m. Friday, Nov. 13 for Historical Society members at 218 W. Dunlap; please bring your membership card. Non-Historical Society members may register starting at 7 p.m. If you wish to support the Northville Historical Society by becoming members you can join at Mill Race on Monday, Wednesday or Friday between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. or call 348-1845. Registration will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis only for those who are present at registration. People wanting to register children other than their own can only do so with a second turn in line. Enrollment fee is $10 per child, payable by cash or check made to the Northville Historical Society.

No wating list is kept because cancellations will often come too late to arrange substitutes. No unregistered child should come to the workshop hoping to get in on a cancellation as people generally arrange a substitute on their own and the child will end up disappointed.

County board raises its budget

The Wayne County Commission voted Oct. 29 to raise its budget by about $900,000, in part by siphoning $1.3 million from the department of social services foster care program. With commissioners Bryan Amann, Kevin Kelley, and Edward Bolke voting against it, the commission approved a budget of $6.9 million for itself. That's up from $6 million in 1992 and $3 million in 1986. Commissioner Maurice Breen, who represents Northville, was absent. Commissioner Kay Beard, D-Westland, voted for the budget increase along with the Detroit commissioners and Susan Hubbard, D-Dearborn.

However, county Executive Edward McNamara is expected to veto all or part of the budget. "It will be a question of whether (McNamara) has six votes or not (to sustain the veto)," Amann said. The new fiscal year begins Dec. 1.

The breakdown on the proposed increase to the county commission budget goes like this:

• The personnel allocation is up $400,000 to $3.3 million.

• The auditor general allocation is up $300,000 to $1.1 million.

• A new item called "planning activ-ity" gets $100,000, taken from McNamara's planning fund. • And $200,000 of the county attorneys' fund was frozen, or "unallocated" in county jargon.

The $1.3 million that the commission wants to take from the foster care fund is currently being saved in case the state court of appeals reverses a decision made by the Wayne County Circuit Court 1 judge ruled that the state should pay for foster care ($11 million a year in Wayne County), but the state appealed. If McNamara goes along with transferring that $1.3 million to the commission budget, and the appeals court reverses the circuit court decision, the commission will have to restore $1.3 million to the foster care fund.

BOTSFORD GENERAL HOSPITAL

Amann was so angry about the commission's action that he said, "I feel like I'm sitting on the deck of the Titanic. Things are so wrong, just so wrong. It's frustrating just being part of it.

He was particularly chagrined that the commission voted to put up a sign at Metro Airport that says Your business is welcome in Wayne County" and lists the names of McNamara and the county commissioners. "We're supposed to be looking at tough economic times, and we go and put up a sign at the airport," he said.

Kelley's response was less visceral, but he also opposed the budget increase. "I think you've got to be very careful when you start shifting money around," he said. "I think spending (on the commission budget) has gone too high."

Kelley and Amann also agree that it's time for the commission budget to be audited.

To date the audit committee has ordered financial scrutiny of almost every county department but the commission itself. "If it's good for everybody else, it's good for us," Amann said.

Beard, the audit committee chairman, did not return telephone calls by press time.

All Anne wanted to do was earn a better living and get off welfare.

Taking college classes seemed like a good first step toward a better job. But there was just one problem. Who would look after her 5-year-old daughter?

Civic Concern wants to help make Anne's education possible, and to allow other clients with children to earn their way out of poverty, by providing funds for day care through a new program called Adopt-a-Child.

"It's a needed thing," said Civic Concern's Marlene Kunz. "Some of the mothers can't go to work because they can't get a sitter for the kids.

and child to help get the mother off social services.

For Anne, 30 (not her real name), Civic Concern's program will help her complete a two-year degree at Schoolcraft College in accredited re-cord technology (ART), so she can take a position in medical recordkeeping. Far from a glorified doctor's secretary, Anne explained that ART is a new field requiring courses in everything from chemistry to anatomy. "Everything must be documented, and there's more to it than just folding up a form and filing it away," she

'Six years ago I was wearing a suit to work every day, and I had a very good job at a computer firm." she said. But her husband left her after she paid for his college education, she said, "and he left me as poor as dirt."

Civic Concern is helping Anne break out of the resulting cycle of welfare dependency by letting her obtain an education, she said. "It's the only way to break it," she said. "Ive been trying to finish school for the last 10

group and informational meetings for the relief agency's female clients. For its first series of meetings, Mary Ellen King of Northville Youth Assis-tance and Jacque Martin-Downs of the Community Commission on Drug Abuse are presenting a program on drug prevention. Future programs will include presentations on domestic violence, nutrition and dental care, and medical testing for blood pressure and cholesterol levels.

Schoolcraft secretary completes storied career

Considering the sensitive information Schoolcraft College's Joyce Ludwig has seen, yet never talked about, it's no surprise that she would request the following angle for a feature story about her:

Tell more about the accomplishments of the college than about me," she said.

Well, Schoolcraft's story has been told rather well in a book by the late Samuel Hudson (Reaching Out: A History of Schoolcraft College), but Ludwig's 28-year Schoolcraft career, mostly as secretary to all three presidents, has yet to be chronicled.

She hired on in June 1964, just two months before the first classes in Schoolcraft history convened. Schoolcraft's first president was Eric Bradner.

"I knew a college was starting, and just for the heck of it

I went down and put in an application," she said. Twenty-eight years later, Ludwig is preparing for retirement (in December) and a trip to Raleigh, N.C. to visit daughter Barbara, who will likely have delivered Ludwig's first grandchild by then.

College President Richard McDowell thinks so much of Ludwig that he's planning a Dec. 3 retirement party for "Joyce is very competent, very personable, very organ-ized and efficient, but also a good friend to many on the campus and will be very much missed by all of us." McDowell said.

Ex-college president Nelson Grote, a Kentucky resident now, hopes to attend the party for his former secretary.

"But Joyce was able to dance ar smile and comment on the brightness of the day. Some- ound those questions and still maintain the friendships," Grote said.

It's not difficult to gauge Ludwig's discretion where and Ludwig worked with him throughout that span. "Her things Schoolcraft are concerned when one asks her for anecdotes. While Ludwig tried to conjure up a printable humorous tale, Schoolcraft public relations official one else in my 21 years as a president or chancellor who Saundra Florek remarked, "Any of the funny anecdotes you know, you don't want printed."

As for her golden years, so to speak, Ludwig said she'll continue to live in Livonia, largely because "so many of my friends, naturally, are here (at the college). Maybe Fil "(At times) we were bargaining with the very people she get some hobbies now that I'm not working. Maybe I'll

Curtains open on Little Theater

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

The little theater on Main is now officially the Little Theater on Main. John and Toni Genitti have named their brand new 112 E. Main venue the Samuel H. Little Theatre, in honor of the man who built the city's first opera house and founded The Northwille Record more than a century ago. The Genittis' theater will host

The Genittis' theater will host plays produced by the restaurateurs, and is available for other functions including lectures, presentations and seminars.

"There's no limit in terms of what we can do," John Genitti said.

Workers recently installed the theater's 132 seats on its gently sloping floor, as others finished up the interior painting and woodwork under the direction of architect Walt Coponen. The cast-iron seats with their wooden backs and thick burgundy cushlons were built in 1929. They were rescued from a Philadelphia playhouse by Country Roads, a Belding-based firm that restores theater seats for reuse.

Genittis' first production — The Merry Christmas Follies — takes to the stage Nov. 14. The show will incorporate musical numbers, dancing sing-a-longs and vaudeville in a spirited holiday revue inspired by the Ziegfeld Follies.

The show will run between Nov. 14 and Jan. 2.

Full theatrical productions will begin to hit the stage in February, beginning with Lend Me a Tenor. Other possible productions include Deathtrap and Oklahoma.

Patrons of the arts can leave their mark on the new theater by participating in the Genittis' Adopt-a-Chair program. The Genittis are allowing individuals or businesses to adopt a historic theater seat for $200 and receive dinner for two at Genitti's Holein-the-Wall Restaurant, two tickets to the premiere of The Merry Christmas Follies, and a plaque placed on a chair bearing the name of the individual cr business.

The city's first theater, the Northville Opera House, was built between 1877-1880 with donations raised by Record founder Samuel Harkins Little, according to Jack Hoffman's Northville — The First 100 Years.

Little's fundraising efforts on behalf of the theater apparently cost the newspaper much advertising and may have contributed to his departure as its publisher in 1880.

The theater itself was not built without some controversy either, drawing criticism from the village board in 1877 for "the condition of the grounds on which the 'Opera House' is to be erected...." Village ei-

It was torn down in 1950 when then-owner Sam Pickard refused to sell it for less than his asking price to Henry Ford. Ford had hoped to move it to Greenfield Village.

Northville man shines election spotlight on political candidates

By CHERYL VATCHER Special Writer

William Sheehy of Northville takes particular pride in his role at election time.

An associate dean of management at Lawrence Technological University. Sheehy was appointed two years ago to the Oakland Citizens League, which works directly with Civic Searchlight Inc.

Civic Searchlight is a non-partisian, impartial, fact-finding organization founded in 1912. It gets considerable attention before elections like last week's, when the group rates candidates' qualifications.

"We rate the candidates on a scale of 'qualified' and well qualified.' If we don't produce a rating, it is because we have not received information to properly evaluate the candidate," Sheehy said. My friend Bob Janover, the president of the Oakland Citizens League, convinced me to join this," he said. With these two organizations, ordinary citizens can become involved in the local candidates' views, and stop feeling sorry that they have no say in who gets into office.

I decided that instead of sitting back and com-plaining about the quality of candidates, I finally decided to get involved. By sifting through the candidates I can help the voters be better informed," he said.

The evaluations are provided so that a portrayal of the candidates is devoid of what the media shows them to be. This organization is not designed for the news media, but rather for the average citizen.

For a citizen to join and participate, there is a modest fee.

The candidates are interviewed. The information is filled out and presented to the citizens one at a time. They then ask questions. And the candidates do not get to hear each other's answers, he said.

The citizens are given an informational package at the onset, and then they turn it in at the end of the evening.

The candidates present their forums at night so that there are plenty of people to ask them questions.

Meeting the candidates allows the public to find out more about the local issues and what it means to them, he said.

"With the interview forum of the candidates, the voters are from a broad cross-section. They are not a bunch of political activists. They range from retired to young people, and housewives," he said.

"A lot of politicians are very slick and polished, and a housewife interviewing a candidate through this forum will see right through him," he said. There will be no vote on the candidates until they all have been interviewed.

The focus is to overcome the TV commercials because some people are taken in by them, Sheehy said. The more people are involved and spread the gospel truth about these candidates, people will be better informed about their elected officials, he said.

The key to democracy is that everyone participates with some degree of intelligence," he added.

He asks, "Do you believe in more or less government? I think the trend is toward less government. from a citizen's perspective," he said.

"I am from the movement in the '60s, the old chool, a liberal Democrat. Back up your own philosophy with your own sweat," he said.

Republicans eye committee chair

By TIM RICHARD Staff Writer

For a few days last week, two area Republicans had their eyes on the chair of the House Taxation Committee chair.

That was when it looked as if the COP would take 56-54 command of the House of Representatives for the first time in a generation.

"I'm in line for chairman because of seniority," said Rep. Willis Bullard Jr., R-Milford, elected to his sixth term. Taxation will be very impor-tant in the next two years,* said Bullard, who is minority vice chair of that panel. His district includes part of Northville.

"Id like to be chair," said Rep. Susan Munsell, R-Howell, an accountant elected to her fourth term. But it won't come down to a fight.

House GOP leader Paul Hillegonds ture Committee. will form a committee on committees and consider the assignment wishes of 15 or so newcomers as well as the ambitions of veteran members. Munsell said the process could take two months.

Meanwhile, a recount took away one Republican seat and left the lower chamber in a 55-55 deadlock.

Rep. Georgina Goss, R-Northville, was out of the picture because she lost her primary. Jerry Vorva of Plymouth will replace her in the House.

Change is in store for senators, too, even though the Senate wasn't up for election this year.

Reason: Republican Nick Smith of Addison and Democrat James Barcia of Bay City were elected to Congress and will leave Dec. 31.

Smith is chair of the tax-writing Finance Committee and the Agricul-

"I'd say one-fourth of our caucus has expressed an interest" in the FInance Committee, said Senate ma-Jority leader Dick Posthumus, R-Alto. Posthumus promised a reshuffling by the end of the month.

"I might think about moving over to Finance," said Sen. David Honig-man, R-West Bloomfield. He already chairs the Labor and Local Government committees.

Eight senators sought other offices this year, but only Smith and Barcia were successful. Gov. John Engler will schedule special elections to fill their vacancies. Both seats are likely to remain with their present parties.

Most likely to chair Finance is Doug Carl, R-Utica, who lost a bid for Congress. Carl is currently vice-chair and may move up just because of seniority. And his home base of Macomb County is one of the most taxconscious areas of the state.

Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, is happy where he's at assistant majority leader and chair of the Commerce Committee. He said he's not looking for a change.

The two top committees in the Senate are Finance and Appropriations where the money is raised and spent.

Three area senators are on Appropriations - Robert Geake, R-Northville, Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, and Lana Pollack. D-Ann Arbor. Both Geake and Faxon represent part of Northville, while Pollack's district includes Salem.

Geake is vice-chair and heads key subcommittees on mental health and social services. There appears to be little place for them to move.

SEMCOG hopes to clear the air

By TIM RICHARD Staff Writer

A clean-air program for the metropolitan region is coming down to a matter of costs.

It's imperative that we proceed quickly," said Milton Mack, who chairs the air quality task force of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

Mack told SEMCOG delegates that the seven-county region can be punished if it fails to reduce emissions by 15 percent. The federal government can withhold highway money and industrial permits, and it can design the region's cleanup act. "Has anyone done a cost-benefit analysis?" asked Jack Olsen, a conservative Oakland County commissioner. "Are we going to pay $1 billion to get a 0.0001 percent improvement?"

SEMCOG must come up with a plan by 1993

under the federal Clean Air Act reducing emissions by 15 percent from 1990 levels. That means, said Mack, the goal may be even higher when the program kicks in in the mid-1990s.

Here is what Mack, a Wayne County probate judge from the city of Wayne, says drivers and consumers can expect:

• Vapor recovery devices at the gasoline pumps - 4-percent reduction.

 Centralized vehicle emissions tests rather than the current tests at the neighborhood service station - 7-percent reduction. No one knows how centralized that will become.

• Reformulated fuels — possibly a 7.5-percent reduction. This is not the same as alternative fuels such as ethanol. Nine regions of the U.S. must begin using reformulated fuels. Estimated cost: 7 to 11 cents a gallon.

But public transit is out as an air-pollution control device. The draft proposal suggests we will not be able to rely on transportation control measures to achieve the short range 15-percent reduction," said Mack. "If we were to double the use of public transit by 1996, there would be only a -percent reduction."

Olsen, R-Huntington Woods, raised questions about the cost in an Oakland County caucus.

Told the new emissions tests would cost $17 every two years (versus $10 annually for current tests). Olsen said, "it's not the $17 that clears the air. It's the $17 plus what it takes to fix them. The $17 is only gonna identify the problem."

Mack's task force includes state natural resources and transportation officials, Big Three auto engineers and chemical company leaders. He intends to have a plan ready for SEMCOG approval early next year. Deadline for any state enabling legislation is November 1993.

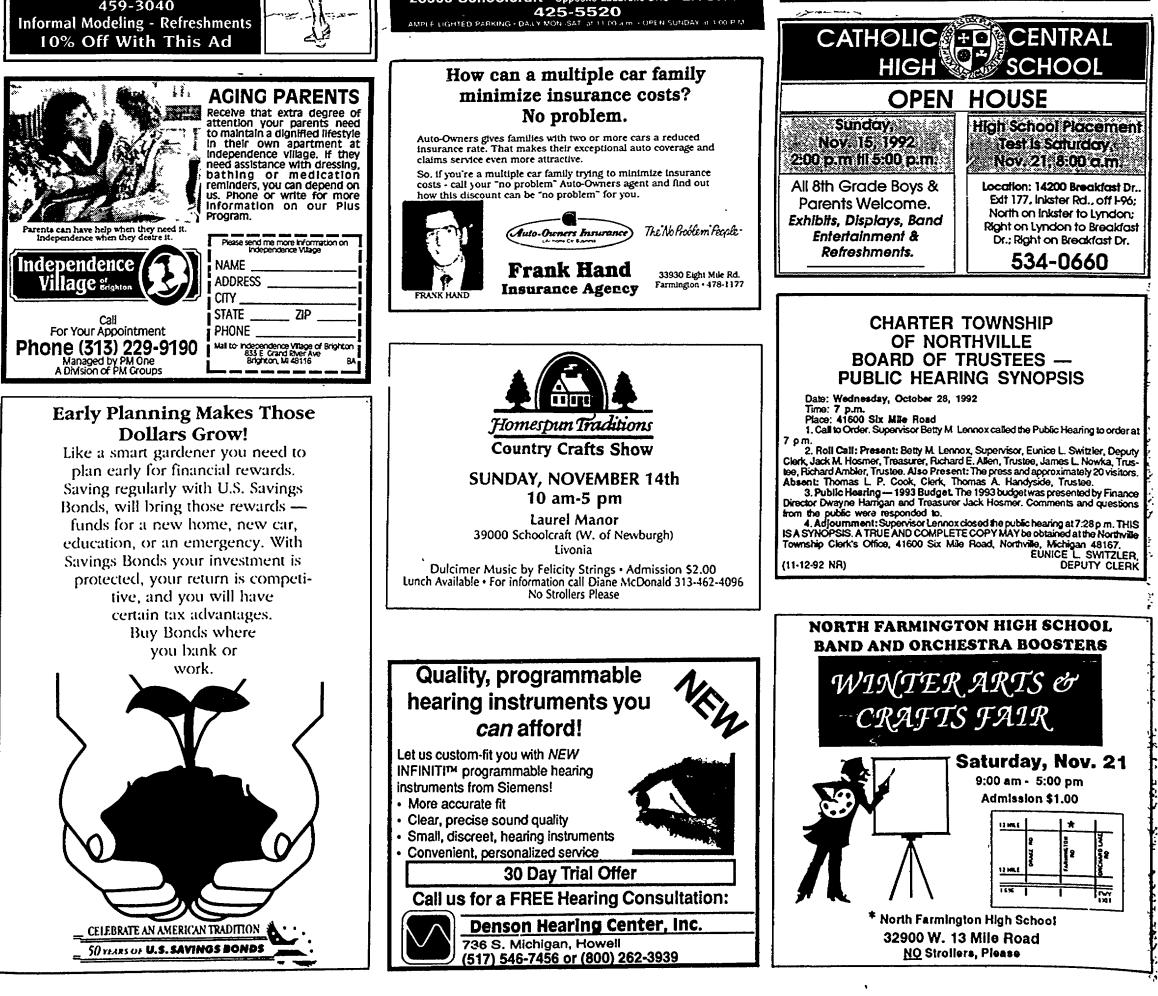

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Planning Commission for the City of Novi will hold a public hearing on Wechesday, November 18, 1992 at 7:30 P.M. in the Novi Civic Center, 45175 W. Ten Mile Rd., Novi, Mil to consider ANDOVER POINTE SUB-DIVISION NOS. 1 AND 2, located south of Echo Valley Estates Subdivision, west of Beck Road, southerly of Ten Mile Road for POSSIBLE TENTATIVE PRELIMINARY PLAT RECOMMENDATION, WOODLANDS OPTION AND WETLANDS APPROVAL

All interested persons are invited to attend. Verbal comments will be heard at the hearing and any written comments may be sent to the Department of Community De-velopment, 45175 W. Ten Mile Rd., Novi, MI 48375 until 5:00 P.M. Wednesday, November 18, 1992.

Syme to provide holiday tunes

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

It certainly will not be one of his larger audiences, but it may be his most appreciative.

World-class planist David Syme will perform at Morrison's Antiques, 105 E. Main St., Nov. 22, during Northville's annual Christmas Walk. Syme will perform just inside the store between 1-4 p.m.

Store owners Tom and Nelda Morrison are renting a baby grand plano for the occasion.

Visitors to the antique shop are already familiar with Syme's work, which the Morrisons sell through their store and play over their loudspeakers.

"I originally heard him on the Bob Hines show on WJR," Nelda said. "I heard him three times before I actually ordered the tape."

Nelda said she enjoyed one tape so much that she began using it as background music in the store, "Every day, people would ask me for the name of the tape . . . and after a while I called him up to ask him if I could Even nicer was Syme's agreement to play at Morrison's during the hotels." Christmas Walk, Nelda said.

"It really surprised me when he said he would do it," she said. "He's played in the London Philharmonic, he's played the Kennedy Center, for Pete's sake."

David Syme made his public debut at 14, playing Beethoven's First Concerto with his high school orchestra. At 18, he played Rachmaninoff's Second Concerto with the Detroit Symphony.

Syme has performed concerts around the world since then, in Belgium, France, Poland, Russia and the former Yugoslavia. He has been recorded with the Philharmonic Orchestra of London, and the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra. His classical work has been praised by critics at the Detroit Free Press, Boston Globe and Washington Post.

Syme traveled extensively during his career as a full-time concert planist. He still travels, and is in the midst of planning a four-day trip to Chiscu une tapes. "But that's nothing compared to which I thought was a nice touch." "But that's nothing compared to what I used to do," Syme said last Thursday. "I used to consider the terms of terms of the terms of the terms of te cago, Minneapolis and Milwaukee.

year on the road . . . living out of These days, Syme spends more time sharing his love of music with less esoteric audiences. A guest on radio talk shows from New York to Los Angeles, he plays listeners' requests on a Steinway wired for sound in his West Bloomfield home.

"I just got off the air in Altoona, Pennsylvania, and at 3:30 Ill be on the air in Columbus. Ohio," he said from his home Thursday. "It's a great way to reach people. We just started doing things like that to promote the music."

The music itself ranges from Bach to the Beatles, from Liszt to Led Zep-pelin. Syme has been dubbed the "human jukebox" because of his wide-ranging repertoire.

An early sign of Syme's musical diversity was his two-year stint in an Arizona rock band called Stream of Conclousness, in the 1960s. "We did two songs on the soundtrack of a terrible movie called Hell's Angels, 1969," he recalled. "The movie played for a couple of years, mostly at driveins. You can still find it in bad video stores."

Syme credits his diverse tastes to a lack of traditional training early in his musical career. He began playing by ear at the age of 3, he said, and did not take a formal plano lesson until 10 years later.

*I think it probably lends a spontaneity and an ease to the classical interpretations, because at music schools and conservatories we're taught to play in a confined area . . . in a sort of straitjacket," he said. He fears that "rarefied atmosphere" has stripped some modern musicians of their creativity.

"At the time the music was performed originally, there was much more freedom and spontaneity around it," he noted. "The great classical players tended to be great improvisers in their day."

Syme carries his spontaneity into his choice of venues as well, noting that his idol Arthur Rubenstein *played all kinds of music. He would go into a cafe in Paris and drink anybody under the table, and then play waltzes for people to dance to." The human jukebox said he enjoys following that tradition. "I'll walk into a saloon and just play for people. I love it and so do they. "I love to share the music with the people."

Thursday, November 12, 1992-THE NORTHVILLE RECORD-19-A

Mill Race Matters

The Mill Race Village Christmas Walk is set for Saturday, Nov. 21 and Sunday, Nov. 22 from noon to 5 p.m. Be sure to visit the village and enjoy the memories of Christmas past. The Country Store will be open for your Christmas shopping enjoyment. The buildings will all be decorated for your holiday enjoyment.

Thank you this week to Dick and Nancy Bohn for their donatoin of a centennial edition of The Northwile Record for our Archives. The Bohns, longtime active Historical Society members, are leaving the area and returning to their native New Jersey. We wish them well on their journey, knowing that many of the members of our community are saddened at their departure.

Elementary school visits for the season are just about completed. We hope the young people enjoy their day at the village as much as we enjoy having them with us. The Archives Committee continues to work to process the incoming and existing materials. They hope to have some sort of basic catalog of holdings available soon for access. The Clothing Committee is completing the reassessment and storage improvement of the Historical Society's textile holdings as well. Hopefully work on this project will be completed by year's end. Landscaping improvements have been made recently and work continues to complete the new sign created by local artist David Barr. The Historical Society board of directors meets monthly and, in addition to their regular activities, are curretnly assessing progress on the long-range plan developed two years ago.

Some months ago a group of old records came to us from the former Randolph (now Lopez) home. One of those records is a ledger which begins Oct. 1, 1825. Initially, because of its age, we thought it came from another locale. Closer scrutiny seems to indicate that its origin is indeed Northville or its proximity. This identifies business activity in our area (if not our community) several years earlier than previously thought. Early pages of the book have been used as a scrapbook, but we hope to be able to restore the pages at some future date. One page, which begins January 1828, lists: Feb 22 - Mr. Wheeler papers Tobacco $.06, 23 - Mr. Plumb work 1/2 day .25, Mary Bailey for washing .25, Mr. Richards for repairing box $1.00, Mr. Mallory 1 pt. brandy .16, 1 qt. rum .12 1/2, March 5 - Mr. Mallory pair shoes $1.75 silk hankerchief $1.00, contribution .12 1/2, March 15-Mr. Wheeler champhor .20. The store/shop ledger continues through the mid 1830s. It resumes in the 1840s with school related information. For 1847 it appears to contain both school and store information.

Some interesting items from that period: Eddison Robinson -2 lb 4 ou cheese, 1 lb raisins; Rowland and Sons 1 set cups and saucers .28; As Lapham 2 lb coffee .28; C.H. Wilcox 23 lbs lard; Richard Boughton 6.40 tuition to Dec. 26; Clark Griswold apples 2.75 cts. worth paid 2.00 in cash balanced tuition for last term and 35 cts. on this term, paid in addition his tuition bill for music; Wadsworth Mead paid on tuition $4.00; Mr. Cady paid on tuition 1.50. This mixed store school record continues until 1951.

This interesting find also lists attendees at the Northville Academy July 9, 1847 and their tuition. Students were: Elizabeth Griswold, Fanny Yerkes, Lydia Scott, Rachel Rogers, Harriet Rogers, Adeline Taylor, Isiah Cochrane, Ann Perrin, Martha Cram, Mary Gregory, Martha Gregory, Malvina Packard, Francis Beals, Jerome Stevens, William Hunter, Henry Dunlap, Charles Dunlap, Merrit Randolph, John Vaughn, Samuel White, Edwin Fuller, Harry Gibson, Edward Judd, William Newell.

This ledger contains a wealth of additional information. One page of interest lists books lent (circa 1828). # Festival needs help

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

Downtown retailers plan to deck their stores with ribbons of lights for the holiday season, and they need financial help.

Lighting downtown Northville's shops, lampposts and trees, they hope, will help illuminate the city's image as a tourist attraction and shopper's mecca.

"We're going to go all out," said Brad Heureux of Bradley Advertising who is coordinating the proposed Festival of Lights. "I've put together a merchant's group that will pool their resources for advertising projects, and this is our first event."

The event begins on the evening of Friday, Nov. 27, as Santa Claus throws a switch to illuminate downtown Northville. Before then, the retailers hope to enlist the aid of the city's Department of Public Works to string lights along the second story of downtown buildings, and around the lampposts and trees. Wrought-iron Santa Claus and Snowman frames will also be ringed in lights.

The lighted strands are just the beginning for the Festival of Lights, Heureux said. Horse and carriage rides and carolers will be included as well.

Restaurateur Toni Genitti presented the plan to the City Council at its Oct. 19 meeting, and received a largely favorable response.

We're going to try to pull in all of Main, all of Center and the municipal buildings," Genitti said. For more information on the Festiror more information on the Festival of Lights proposal, call Brad Heureux at 380-9999. Donations to help illuminate downtown Northville can be sent to Bradley Advertising at 410 W. Main St., Northville, Mich. 48167.

Pond, dam face city inspection

"We do not want the pond to disappear as did Waterford Lake a mile downstream," Anusbigian said. Like Waterford Pond, Mill Pond is held back by an aging dam. Unlike Waterford, the dam at Mill Pond is owned by the city and not a private developer. The Mill Pond dam is due for inspection in 1993.

Mill Pond residents have already organized informational meetings with the state Department of Natural Resources and private environmental firms, to explore potential improvement methods for the pond. Some have slogged several miles upstream to catalog sources of pollution and silt runoff into the Middle Rouge River.

you'll find pipe after pipe, not knowing what they are," Anusbigian noted. That requires some investigation." The DNR may investigate the pipes through its Rouge Remedial Action Plan coordinator, he said.

Rather than seeking city agree-ment to dredge the lake, Mill Pond residents are considering several funding alternatives including a special assessment district and fundraising efforts.

"Our objectives are very simple," Anusbigian said. "We'd like to get agreement from the City of Northville that Mill Pond is valuable to the community, agreement to the necessity of pond, we know that we can't do anything until the city agrees.

Dredging is a long-term need. We to do that."

Aeration of the pond to reduce algae growth would cost between $14,000 and $20,000 for the machinery, and more for the fuel necessary to run it.

No matter what the city and residents agree to do, dredging will not be a short-term solution. Resident Cary Marley noted that if the city applied to the DNR for a permit now, they probably would not receive one until 1995.

Also, Anusbigian said, dredging should not be done until upstream construction is largely completed. The erosion has to be stopped bea pond management plan, and ... fore you even put a shovel in the being that the city does own the ground to start the dredging, or else you'll just be wasting money," he said.

Other threats to the pond's health "As you wade through the river, know we're looking at over $200,000 include fertilizer from lawns that runs into the river upstream and encourages plant growth in and around the pond, said McNeely & Lincoln engineer Maureen Turner. She said the city may need to approach Novi officials and seek a buffer zone along the rtverbanks.

Mayor Chris Johnson said he was "intrigued" by the idea of a special assessment and aeration, and authorized city officials to research the cost of aeration.

Johnson also sought an estimate from McNeely & Lincoln, the city engineers, of the rate at which sediment is being dumped into the pond. He authorized the firm to analyze the dam's condition. "Let's get some of the engineering answers," he said.

Johnson also asked for a survey of Mill Pond residents about their willingness to contribute to a special assessment plan to finance aeration or dredging.

the cutbacks in support staff after the defeat of millage-increase requests. He said he's had secretaries cut back to part time and that has put a real strain on workloads at the middle school office.

This is only a partial picture of the impact it's had on the building principals," he said. "With all the word processing and writing memos — the bottom line is it's getting to work at 6:30 a.m. . . . and there are only so many hours in the day."

His comments laid the foundation for the first quarterly report by the administration's pay-to-participate monitoring committee. Radwanski is one of the eight members of the committee.

While administrators agree getting the program up and running has been a drain for them, too, they're glad to see it's getting enough partici-pation in spite of the fees charged to students and athletes.

District Business Manager John Street said his department has spent an enormous amount of time processing checks and applications.

"We've had more than 1,300 appliconsidered. cations and checks to process,"

Street said. "So there's been a lot of busy work associated with it, even though we've had part-time help."

However, the high school and both middle schools have met, and in some cases exceeded, their minimum enrollment figures for both athletics and co-curricular activities. Collectively there are 1,369 students involved in school-related activities including sports and co-curricular activities. That's generated $116,300 for the pay-to-participate budget for fall sports, first-semester cocurricular activities and some second-semester co-curricular activities

Thus far the program is showing a loss only in ticket sales. But Street said the $20,000 budgeted was based on the full football season. The report was taken through October and leaves out November ticket sale revenues.

As chair of the hardship committee, Robert Sornson, executive director of special education, said his committee received 17 applications for financial assistance and approved 14. Out of those 17 applications, one was denied and two were new applications that have yet to be Nowka also said the recreation department likely would have to rebid the project, as low bidder DeAngelia Landscaping announced it would hike its bid 10 percent if the township missed a 90-day contract award deadline.

DeAngelis since has agreed to knock $6,000 off that figure, but recreation still will have to pay the developer about $24,000 more than if the contract was awarded by Dec. 8, Gottschalk said.

The final say on the contract likely will be left to the new Township Board, but Gottschalk said she will lobby against a rebidding move.

"If they asked for my opinion, I would discourage that," she said, adding that she fears the department is losing the faith of area contractors.

thinks residents could benefit from a better understanding of the township's tax structure.

"I think the perception about taxes and where the money goes is a big issue," Fogg said. "People pay their tax bill at the township, but that's not where the money goes."

Fogg said many residents do not understand that the lion's share of their property tax bill is claimed by local school districts. He says the township is "in a war for tax dollars" but admits he does not know how to alter public opinion in favor of the township.

Britton is concerned about the township's troubling budgetary outlook. At issue is the depth of service township government can provide under serious financial constraints.

We have to figure out how we can service the community and still stay within the budget," she said. "We want to get the taxpayers the best bang for the buck."

Plenty of housekeeping chores await the new board and Supervisor Karen Baja. Outgoing board members must resign their appointments to various boards and commissions, according to state law.

That means trustees Richard Allen, Thomas Handyside, and James Nowka must resign from the Planning Commission, Water and Sewer Commission, and Recreation Commission, respectively.

In addition, Clerk Tom Cook must resign from the Zoning Board of Appeals. In some cases, those resigning could be reappointed by the new board, but Township Board liaisons must be appointed to each of those posts.

Baja will be in charge of the appointment process, with the balance of the board serving as the stamp of approval.

RECORD OPINION

Tim Richard

Our Opinion

Committees must not circumvent process

We spend an awful lot of time and space at this newspaper dealing with issues of open government. The state Open Meetings Act and Freedom of Information Act raise some pretty thorny questions. Obviously, we wouldn't do this if we didn't think it was important.

In Monday's paper came a report on the operations of the Northville School District's committee structure, and specifically the question of keeping minutes at the committees' meetings. It raised significant points which deserve some further exploration.

The School Board feels very proud of its committee system. Other districts have been said to emulate it. In essence, it breaks down the School Board's func-· tions into major areas of concern, like facilities and curriculum, and assigns a committee to each concern. When something needs attention, it goes to the appropriate committee for initial consideration and ironing out of any problems. The committee then presents a recommendation to the full School Board for a final vote.

This is not an unusual way to operate, particularly for larger governments. The township and city governments use committees to a degree, though not nearly as extensively, and not in quite the same way, as the School Board.

The problem — and there has been a problem — is that the committees in the school district have become a more significant locus of decision-making than they should really be.

The committees include three members of the seven-member Board of Education. However, the meetings are open to anyone - no disagreement on that point — so other School Board members can, and usually do, attend. More often than not, that means a quorum of the full board is present at the committee meetings. Add to that the administrators who officially sit on the committee, and the other administrators who attend out of interest or necessity, and you've got the bulk of the school district establishment hashing things out at the committee level.

this reason) The cornerstone of our whole society is participatory democracy, and you can't participate if you don't know what's going on.

It's very easy even for well-intentioned officials to forget this. Sure, the more people that get informed and involved, the harder it is to get things done. Troubling consequences may perhaps result - that's the argument, though we're not convinced. But even so, such consequences would be far less troubling than what can happen if the public gets, or feels, cut off and shut out.

The specific question involving the Northville Public Schools committee structure this week is the keeping of minutes at committee meetings. In the past it has been done only haphazardly, if at all. This leaves no record at all of the way critical decisions affecting the schools actually came about.

To his credit, after being pressed on the issue, Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski ultimately announced a policy of regular minute-taking at committee meetings. School officials stress that under their reading of state law, they do not believe they are required to keep "committee minutes, even if a quorum of  $_{a}$ board members is present. We strongly disagree, but that's really beside the point.

We've never understood why, in these matters, governments without fail call in the lawyers and focus on the minimum that they have to do under the law. Why not go at it from the perspective of, "How can we be as open as possible?"

So again, the district deserves some credit for the policy change. But that ganization that fought Proposal C, the property tax cut and cap plan of Gov. John Engler.

was the League of Women Voters, through spokesperson Barbara Moorhouse.

were the United Auto Workers. Michigan Education Association, Michigan Federation of Teachers and a wad of school lobbies. Oh, yes, and the American Association of Retired Persons.

But we all know where the big money came from: the unions.

Advance Michigan's campaign had the union label plastered on it. It was the shrill class warfare of the '30s and '60s all over again. Corporations and the wealthy would get big tax cuts, they said.

It's funny. The political left could get away with accusing George Bush of "dividing us along racial lines" through the 1988 Willie Horton ads, but it was OK if they play the old economic bigotry game.

There were good reasons to vote against Proposal C -Lansing lacked $1.3 billion to reimburse the schools without a big tax increase, which Engler refused to advocate - but the class bigotry exploited by Advance Michigan wasn't among the good reasons.

Too bad an outstanding voter service organization like the League of Women Voters got suckered into fronting for the UAW, MEA and MFT.

Lt. Gov. Connie Binsfeld, herself a former LWV member, said Michign voters should no longer rely on the LWV as a source of credible, non-partisan information on elections. Rep. Susan Munsell, R-Howell, spoke my thoughts when she added, "I'm surprised and saddened."

Engler's decision to close Lafayette Clinic - a research, teaching and mental health patient care facility in Detroit was fought tooth and nail by a patient advocacy group and, of course, the UAW.

Few folks realize that the UAW is one of the biggest public employee unions in the state. The more I listen to the protestations, the more I suspect Mental Health Director James Haveman was right: "This was essentially a union dispute over privatization." If patients were upset at Lafayette's closing, Havemen said, it was due to UAW agitators telling kids to barricade themselves in.

The region has 74 private psychiatric hospitals with 4,500 beds and an occupancy rate of 60 to 70 percent, Haveman said. They have training capacity and patient capacity. Why should taxpayers foot the bill for an expensive public facility?

The UAW, that's why. The Union, as it's reverently called in Democratic caucuses, spent a lot to win representation elections. When those union jobs go, the dues go, too. That, more than patient care, was the rub.

When the state Court of Appeals reversed a lower court order to keep Lafayette open, The Union went "judge shopping." as the barristers say. After 11 at night, they found the judge they were looking for - Cynthia Diane Stephens. She provided what The Union was looking for.

I covered Stephens when she was a Wayne County Charter Commission member. I have a vivid mental picture of then-Sheriff Bill Lucas and a bunch of the sheriff's union guys crowding around her and verbally bludgeoning her to sponsor charter proposals turning over all the court bailiffs and building guard jobs to the sheriff's unions. In 12 years she hasn't changed.

Well, that's what a lot of political flaps are about. Not fair taxes. Not health care. Not efficient delivery of services. They're about union jobs and union dues.

Keep that in mind as Engler is cursed and hung in effigy over the next two years.

Tim Richard reports on the local implications of state and regional events.

Public issues aren't always what they seem. Take the late Proposal C

"Advance Michigan" was the or-

Fronting for Advance Michigan

Out of camera range, however,

This is part of the reason Northville and other districts like the system so much: When issues get settled at the committee level, the full meetings of the School Board run that much more smoothly. When most or all of the board members already know an issue and have been involved in its genesis, there's not much to do at the board meeting. No questions, no discussion, and no dissent; that's all gone before.

In defense of the committee structure, officials say that no decisions really take place at this level. That's not really true, though; this week the facilities subcommittee decided to buy a truck. Oh, the purchase will come before the School Board for final action. But the decision's made; the full board vote is just a formality.

In essence, by the time it gets to the board level, every decision - large or small --- has achieved the status of "just a formality." It helps get things done. In so doing, however, it robs anyone coming into the process late of any real say in the decision. Members of the public come to the board meetings thinking they are getting in on the ground floor of a decision. Really, they are late at that point. for.

We believe very, very strongly that all governments should operate with as rent procedure could produce significmuch light as possible shining on their activities. (Open meetings and FOI acts are sometimes called "sunshine laws" for shine in.

only addresses hall the problem.

We believe the district should take a close, fresh look at the operation of its committees. They way things function now, committee meetings have in effect become what School Board meetings really ought to be - a place where decisions get made.

Only the most astute parents or school employees realize that the committee level is where issues get their true airing, and its still nearly impossible for such folks to keep track of all the committee meetings and their agendas. By the time people come to a board meeting to have their say, the subject in question is probably already taken care of.

That's not right. People ought to be able to go to the School Board meetings and have their say, confident in the knowledge that their comments contribute to the decision-making process. We worry that, under the current system, that's not the case.

If board members would refrain from attending meetings of committees other than their own, the system would probably change dramatically. Why do they need to be there, anyway? To know what's happening? To have their say? Ah, that's what the board meetings are

A couple of small changes to the curant rewards in terms of open and accountable government. Let the sun

Fiddling while Michigan burns

The Emperor Nero, legend goes, fiddled while Rome burned.

Equally self-absorbed, Gov. John Engler and the entire state House of Representatives, Democrats and Republicans, are sawing away while Michigan's economy is in flames.

Last week's elections left membership in the House at (you pick): 56-54 Republican, 56-54 Democratic or a 55-55 tie. So Lansing, always abhorring a power vacuum, is convulsed about which party will wind up with the House majority.

It's easy to laugh about it, but to legislators it's serious business. Whichever party runs the House gets to pick the committee chairs, control the agenda of bills up for consideration, and select the majority staff. This is the heavy stuff of politics.

For Republicans, it's a dream come true: Adding control of the House to the Senate and the governorship puts them in charge of Michigan's political process. For Democrats, it's the last gasp of a party that got bushwhacked in Michigan on the way to winning the presidency.

The weapon of preference in this battle is simple bribery. You bribe one or two members of the opposition to switch (or even abstain) on the election of the House speaker, and you win the game. Big.

The stakes are high. One story as of last Friday was that Republicans had offered to make almost anyone who would vote their way chair of the powerful Appropriations Committee.

While we mere citizens watch these insider games unfold. Michigan's economy is burning. Consider:

 General Motors at last has figured out that the overhead required to control 50 percent of the U.S. auto market is a bit larger than its current 30-percent share warrants. Motor vehicle employment in Michigan already has declined from a peak of more than 400,000 to around 280,000. Don't hold your breath waiting for auto employment to move up.

• So it's no surprise that nearly 900,000 people moved out of Michigan over the past 20 years. That's nearly 10 percent of the total population, probably the most mobile and the most employable.

• Many who are left behind are concentrated in Detroit. where the schools are immobilized by the defeat of the school board reformers, and the relative percentage of people on welfare tops the nation.

Personally, I hope they get the fight over control in Lansing settled as soon as possible. We've got some heavy lifting to do about our economy, and the sooner the folks in the capital finish their power struggles, the sooner they can get at it.

They aren't necessary to words spoken by top school employee Leonard Rezmierski (at a City Council hearing on expanding the Downtown Development Authority). Dunkerley and Hansen are the folks we school board residents elected to steward the funds that pay for our children's education. Yet silently they sat while, one by one, their constituents voiced concern over the legal, yet fundamentally wrong, violation of our right to representation in matters of taxation.

When at last, Dr. Rezmierski rose to speak, he reminded the school board's constituency that he and Ms. Hansen were only exofficio (non voting) members of the DDA. He encouraged those in attendance to see the importance of a unified community, and deferred further comment until he had obtained more information. He did not assure us that as faithful stewards of school district revenues, Thornton Creek Elementary build-Ing which will stand and a build the board recognized that money we vote the millage to staff it. # Oppose DDA

To the editor:

I am writing to reconfirm my concerns regarding the expansion as well as the extension of Mainstreet 78/92. I concur with the opinions that the Ford Plant as well as Ford Field should not be included in the expansion of the DDA. The intent of a DDA is revitalization of a downtown area, not the development of industrial properties. The Ford Plant has been an industrial property since 1910 and the ever-increasing costs of replac- although I support the developing a decaying infrastructure. ing deck. However, it cannot be financed through recapturing of funds that are earmarked for the public schools. Mainstreet 78 represents the recapturing of school funds to the tune of $2,163,609. More alarmingly, Mainstreet '92 could represent as much as $9,260,126. That $9 million would require additional monies to be voted in by the school community in the form of millages. Furthermore, the voting community penalized by this decision is truly being taxed without representation. Although inherently legal, this process is unjust.

Finally, the timing is not good for this project. We cannot sacrifice the future of the Northville Public Schools. I sincerely hope our elected officials will listen to their constituents and realize that it is a matter of new priorities.

DDA should meet its debt obligations

To the editor: We should not allow the Downtown Development Authority (DDA), an extension to repay the monies owed to the schools. Simply put, do not give your lender a difficult time about paying off your debt. Also, if the DDA is not going to honor their original agreement, why should we feel comfortable that they will honor this one?

Secondly, we must ask ourselves, what is the best use of this money. Is a parking deck really necessary? The only time I've ever seen the parking lots filled to ca-pacity is during holidays and special events.

It's obvious the DDA is only thinking about itself and has lost sight of the bigger. picture: that schools have laid off teachers, reduced transportation and forced pay-to-play activities. Lastly, it would be interesting to know if the DDA supported the last school millage vote. If they did, and knowing it was defeated, how could they, in good concience, keep the school's money?

Bob Gutowski

Mainstreet '92 not the right answer today

To the editor: Greg Presley of the Downtown Development Authority (DDA) may have been right in his letter to the editor by saying "We just do not have enough stores and factories. who pay school taxes yet send no children to our schools."

Just as the proverbial one who could not see the forest because of the trees, Mr. Presley cannot see the tax base of the stores and factories because of the DDA. A very large part of Northville's nonresidential tax base is downtown, and under the control of the DDA. Now, the DDA wants to absorb the Ford plant property and the south side of Cady Street into the fold before they are redeveloped. There will be no tax base growth here for the city or the schools. Period.

From the City's own estimates. the newly captured properties' SEV will nearly triple following redevelopment. This could be wonderful news for our schools except that the entire increase would be diverted to the DDA. And don't forget the windfall if the properties are captured before the assessment freeze ends next spring. Mainstreet 78 may have been the answer 15 years ago, if you be-lieve the building of M-14, I-275, 1-96 and 1-696 had nothing to do with our community's growth. Mainstreet '92 is not the answer today.

To the editor: Congratulations to our newly elected public officials. You have been granted the privilege to represent our local communities, state and our nation.

It is time to put our differences aside and get to work. We need you to resist the temptation to put parochial interest over those of the entire community, State or Nation. We are in a time where the rate of change is increasing exponentially. We need leaders who are not rigid. Open your minds to new ideas even if they come from a member of an opposing party. # OH, DEER! Family stories of white tales

By SHARON CONDRON Staff Writer

It's that time of year again. When temperatures drop and fluorescent orange outerwear is in vogue.

You know the type who thrives in these conditions. He's the one who's suddenly passionate about something around this time of the year. The kind that drops his briefcase at the door, rips off his business suit and races to the bedroom for his favorite worn-out pair of Jeans and faded sweatshirt. The long wool dress coat gets tucked into the hall closet and down to the basement he goes. Up from the basement comes the orange thermo-insulated jumpsuit, the camoulage hat and the big grin.

moullage hat and the big grin. He's off and running. Soon your living room floor will be covered with his hunting paraphernalia. You watch as he cleans his rifle or shotgun and counts his cartridges or shells. You sit and listen to his tall tale of the buck that got away last what to expect.

Leo, a junior high school principal, has been hunting with friends and family near Lewiston since he was 12 years old. His father taught him to hunt there, and he's taught his boys the same. For years the Schusters have joined the caravan of sportutility vehicles heading north to the great outdoors with great expectations and high hopes of bagging the 12-point buck.

But for Leo, hunting season is much more than bagging a buck. It's a family ideal. It's a tradition that's been handed down through two generations and it's brought members of his family closer together. "That's what it is. It's being with

"That's what it is. It's being with friends and being with family," Leo said Tuesday about this weekend's opening day tradition. "It's sharing stories and all the camaraderie."

The Schuster family has owned a place in Lewiston for the past 50 years. During that time Leo's father, who is now deceased, raised three of year, the same story you've heard for the last 20 years or so. Soon you hear him mumbling something about sugar beets and deer carrots as he scrambles through the hall gathering things for the annual hunt.

And then it really starts. The phone rings. You get it because he's frantically looking for something. On the other end is that same familiar. annoying voice. You know the one. The same jokester who's been calling for the past week or so - nonstop. Only now he's really pumped up. It's Thursday --- the eve before opening day weekend. The caller banters with you a bit and then asks to talk to your husband - who's now being called by some silly nickname. You call out and tell him its one of his hunting buddles. In a dash he's there to grab the receiver. His voice deepens and he becomes boisterous and rowdy as he yuks it up about last year's hunt and make jokes about this year's rendezvous. There's laughter and joking before the two synchronize their watches. He hangs up the phone and flashes you that goofy grin. The phone rings again and the annual ritual continues. One by one they all check in. Each asking for him and each fired up about the weekend's plan. Novi's Sylvia Schuster knows the story. She's been living it all of her married life. Married to Leo and the mother of two sons, Eric and Kurt, Sylvia's a veteran hunter's wife. Come the fall season, Sylvia knows his four children to be respectful and knowledgeable hunters. He taught them about the landscape and about the terrain. He showed them how to track an animal and follow its flow. He taught them to respect the land and how to survive out-of-doors. That was good information to have and good information to pass on, Leo said. He has returned the favor by doing the same for his two sons, Eric and Kurt.

STEVE HOLMAN Northville hunter

"My experiences have provided me with a future," Leo said. "Because of what! learned, I became a naturalist and a biology teacher. My father showed me how to hunt in the out-ofdoors. From him I learned survival."

Schuster says because of the lesson he learned from his Dad, he isn't the typical hunter. He admits he isn't always in it for the kill, even though he has a collection of trophies showing off his markmanship. Despite his hunting success, he said there are times when he enjoys the solitude and tranquility of just being outside.

"Shooting the big buck is not the big thing. There's so much more to it," he said. "I don't kill a deer every

It," he said. "I don't kill a deer every time I see one. I've watched many walk by — mothers with their babies. I'm not this guy who's just out to shoot anything and everything that walks by.

"Sometimes I just enjoy the solitude of being out-of-doors. Last Sunday I spent four hours just listening to the sounds.

Nuttal strikes chord with Music Boosters

By DOROTHY NASH Special Writer

Her daughter got her into it, admitted Cindy Nuttal about her volunteering for the Northville High School Boosters, of which she is now in her third year as president.

"For years I was interested in many things outside of the home," she said. "Then my daughter," a music student and a member of the high school choir, "said she thought I should give her more of my time.

"I started by going to Boosters meetings, and then I volunteered to take over for the president who wasn't returning." And that made Nuttal the head of a

And that made Nuttal the head of a group which meets every other month and the chairman of a board which meets once a month.

The concerns of the Boosters are the activities and welfare of the 106-member marching band, the 80-member symphonic band, the 168-member choir and the various singing groups: varsity choir, concert choir, girls ensemble, Major Seventh. Four Seniors (barbershop style), male chorus, and Northville Singers.

"We plan our activities," said Nuttal about the Music Boosters, around fund raising and social activity.

Funds are needed to pay for summer scholarships awarded for activities in and out of the state. And funds are also needed to buy uniforms, because the ones being used are worn out or because the number of students has exceeded the supply. How do the boosters raise the money? One way is through the sale of tickets and refreshments at concerts at the school.

Social activities? There are two parties for the students each year, and the one which gets bigger each year is the Award Ceremony, a potluck held in the cafeteria.

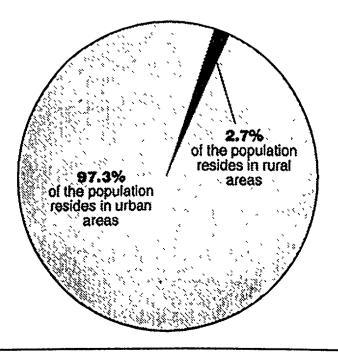

Do you have to be a parent to belong to the Northville High School Music Boosters? No.

Watch the Community Calendar for the next meeting, Cindy Nuttal said. You're invited.

Lottery winners find luck, bucks in Northville

Two weeks ago D & J Good Time Party Store on Seven Mile sold a winning ticket to a Detroit man, and just last week a 65-year-old retired Northville resident won three times on the state's "Cash 5" lottery.

His total winnings on the three tickets was $100,060. He picked up his $100,000 first prize in the Oct. 30 drawing and then won again on the same night with two $20 prizes for matching three of the *Cash 5* numbers. Then his luck was on a roll when he won another $20 prize on Nov. 3. The man the lottery office said is no stranger to the Cash 5 game. He won $350 back in April after he matched four of the five numbers.

Thursday, November 12, 1992-THE NORTHVILLE RECORD-3-B Mihalap draws on experience for stage stories

By CRISTINA FERRIER Staff Write

Northville Town Hall attendees believe in Hope.

Comedian Hope Mihalap received one of the most enthusiastic responses in the series' recent history Monday with a lively description of her life experiences.

Mihalap claims to get her material from her own life. She is an expert at imitating various accents, which likely comes from her combination of Greek ancestry, her marriage to a Russian native, and time spent in New York and the south.

"Occasionally people will ask me where I get my material," she said.

A few years ago my husband and I were invited to a chic, expensive dinner. It was 6 p.m. and I was hungry. We walked in and I said to my husband, 'Look at that receiving line. There are at least 45 people there. I can't wait that long."

Mihalap said she noticed a roast beef under a red serving light and decided to ask the waiter for a small piece to tide her over.

"He cut off a piece of meat the size and shape of Tennessee and put it in a roll the size of a quarter," she said. As she was biting into it, her husband walked up with a German army colonel and began to introduce her to him.

As she looked up, she said, the fell on the ground and spilled all over. "Madam, you dropped your purse," the colonel said, and reached down to pick it up for her. When he did that, she said, he bumped her other hand, which was holding her drink, and the drink spilled all over him.

And people ask where I get my material, she said. You figure if things are this bad, they'll be better when they get worse."

Mihalap went on to share stories of her college days at Vassar, her Greek grandmother, jobs she held at the Metropolitan Opera and a local newspaper in Virginia, and the horrors of shopping for underwear.

One of her most amazing - and true-stories was of how she met her get married and we're both old." husband.

Mihalap signed up for an evening class because, at 29, she was afraid of becoming an "old maid" and heard evening classes were a good place to meet men.

The class was Russian language. and the professor was her future husband. He defected from the Soviet Union during World War II. Mihalap schemed to "snare" the

The whole summer went by and suddenly he called in the middle of August. He said, 'Can you come to dinner Thursday night? I said 'Yes.' He said, 'Can you cook? I have a chicken.*

Despite the strange offer, she still accepted and went to his apartment to cook for him. While she was cooking, he sat in the living room and corrected papers without talking to her. Then, she said, they ate the dinner without speaking to each other. After dinner, she started to leave.

Suddenly he asked, "How old is your grandmother?"

"Ninety-two," she responded. "She needs a grandchild," he said.

"Let's get married." Mihalap was shocked. This was a very poor proposal, she told him. "Well," he said, "We both want to

"But this isn't romantic," she protested. You haven't said you love me.

"I don't love you," he said. "I hardly know you."

A few weeks later, she said, she accepted his proposal. "I figured it wouldn't get worse," she said. "I'll never be able to say, 'He used to be so romantic; now he's scratching and spitting and watching the TV.

That was 28 years ago and, three children later, they are still married.

makes those five long years more than worth the effort. THE VELVET GLOVE APPROACH TO POWER: A 5-SPEED AUTOMATIC. Linking the driver to this standardsetting power plant is a new 5-speed automatic transmission that is certainly no less noteworthy.

First, because it's sealed, so it requires no additional fluid - and thus. no maintenance whatsoever. And second, because this whisper-quiet, 5-speed automatic upshifts with such "unrivaled silkiness" (Road & Track), it reacts almost intuitively to your commands. And when you combine that with a chassis, suspension and steering system an editor at Motor Trend magazine deemed "tight, responsive, and confidence-inspiring," the idea of building a car around a driver starts to sound quite compelling. Of course, this philosophy extends to the entire driver's environment. So the 740 is endowed with everything from driver and passenger-side airbags to all the gathered Nappa leather, burnished walnut trim and various other creature comforts you would expect of a leading luxury car. And it's covered by a customer care program that includes a 4-year/ 50.000-mile bumper-to-bumper warranty," a nationwide Roadside Assistance program, an optional, full coverage maintenance plan and a free loaner car if you ever need one:" For more detailed information on the $54.000° BMW 740, or on the longer-wheelbased 740iL, simply call 800-334-4BMW. Some companies build their cars around a price tag. Some build their cars around a gas tank. And some, well, they just build their cars around mere cosmetics.

At BMW, however, we've always believed an automobile should satisfy all the needs of its driver Not just one or two of them.

<sup>C</sup> It is time again for the fall play. The cast and crew are hard at work preparing to perform *The Curious Sou*age by John Patrick. It is a comedy showing that kindness and affection are not all lost in our world of greed and dishonesty. The play will show Nov. 19, 20 and 21 at 8 p.m. and at a 3 p.m. matinee, Sunday, Nov. 22. Adult tickets are $5 while students and senior citizens are $4 for all performances. All seats are reserved. Congratulations to the following students:

• Kevin Becker, whose piece "A Challenge of Confidence" was published in the student newspaper The High School Writer.

• Katle Johnson, whose piece "Success" was published in The High School Writer. Additionally, her work earned "Regional Winner of the Month."

• Tim Plath, whose piece "Ends Meet at the Corners" was published in The High School Writer.

• Ellen Song did a pituicyte research project at Michigan State University this summer. The pituicyte research involved experimenting with different chemicals.

The National Honor Society is having a canned food drive the weeks of Nov. 16-24 with the proceeds going to a local charity. Good luck to them in their efforts.

Recently, 13 of our students were selected to audition with the Michigan School Vocal Region C Honors Choir. Congratulations to Angie Putman, Allen Haggur, Amanda Farkas, Christina Lombardo, Autumn Cranford, Greg Raby, Waldo Galan, Mike Rowe, Julie Romine, Karen Brummett, Jennifer Crawford, Valerie Bassin, and Chris Dattilio. Much credit should go to Mary Kay Pryce for this achievement.

Congratulations to the following students who became finalists in the National Merit Society qualifying DEBORAH CANNISTRARO/MICHAEL ARIN-DAENG: Deborah Jean Cannistraro, daughter of Janice and Don Cannistraro of Northville; and Michael S. Arindaeng, son of Precy and Andy Arindaeng of Vienna, Va., have annouced their engagement.

The bride-elect attended Northville High School but graduated from Sparta High School in New Jersey in 1985. In 1989 she received her bachelor's degree in political science from Kutztown University in Pennsylvania. She is employed at the firm of Sidley & Austin in Washington, D.C., as a legal assistant.

The future groom is a 1985 graduate of Oaktown High School in Oaktown, Va. He is presently employed by Navy Federal Credit Union as a collections adjuster.

A May 30 wedding date has been set with an outdoor wedding and reception at the Farmington Hills Community Center.

AMY PRYER/CURTIS JONES: Amy Michel Pryer, daughter of George and Sue Pryer of Fairgrove, Mich.; and Curtis Mark Jones, son of Ronald and Fay Jones of Novi, have announced their engagement.

The bride-elect is a 1989 graduate of Akron-Fairgrove High School. In 1992 she graduated from William Tyndale College in Farmington.

The future groom graduated from Novi High School in 1985 and from GMI Engineering and Management Institute. He is currently employed at Ford Motor Co. as an engineer.

A Nov. 21 wedding date has been set at the Kingston Wesleyan Church in Kingston, Mich.

The couple will reside in Novi.

ADAM B. BURKETT, son of Carol Burkett of Northville, has enlisted in the Air Force.

Upon successfully completing the Air Force's six-week basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, Texas, he is scheduled to receive technical training as an aerospace propulsion specialist, said Sgt. Robert Anderson III, the Air Force recruiter at 2741 S. Wayne Road.

Burkett, a 1989 graduate of Northville High School, will earn credits toward an associate's degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force while attending basic and technical training schools.

Airman JOHN M. BULL has graduated from the helicopter maintenance specialist course at Sheppard Air-Force Ease, Wichita Falls, Texas.

Students were taught the systems and components for inspection, repair and maintenance of helicopters in the Air Force inventory. Included in the training were corrosion identification and cleaning, and the care and use of special tools.

Bull is the son of Charlene M. Janikowski of Novi.

He graduated from Walled Lake Western High School in 1991.

P.t. LEE J. MILLS has completed basic training at Fort Jackson, Columbia, S.C.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonles, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid and Army history and traditions.

He is the son of Ted Mills of Northville.

Classical Bells to perform

The First Presbyterian Church of Northville presents the local professional talents of Classical Bells in concert this Sunday.

Classical Bells has shared the haunting beauty of English handbells with audiences in the midwest since 1983. Composed of handbell directors and advanced ringers, this group has performed in a variety of events including Christmas concerts with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Pope John Paul II's Detroit visit, the Detroit Thanksgiving Day Parade, Christmas at the Renaissance Center, and a Chene Park summer concert.

The program will include both sacred and secular works including selections from Tchaikovsky's Nutcracker Suite, Grieg's Peer Gynt Suite, and a special arrangement of Bizet's Overture to Carmen.

This unique concert is part of the church's 1992 Fall Fine Arts Series and will begin at 7 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 15. Tickets are $5 and may be reserved in advance, or purchased after Sunday worship or at the concert. The First Presbyterian Church is located at 200 E. Main St. For more information call 349-0911.

Q: We are looking for a scenic, relaxing place to visit in Jamaica. Any ideas?

A: The Enchanted Garden in Ocho Rios, Jamaica, offers visitors fine accommodations as well as 20 acres of waterfalls and exotic flora and fauna. Visitors can hike up the waterfalls, whose surrounding foliage is dotted with tropical birds, or dive into the freshwater pools below.

The resort spa features massage, facials, herbal wraps and soothing aromatherapy - which is defined as the art and science of using oils to alter the mind and emotions.

Five restaurants on the grounds offer everything from poolside pasta and grilled foods to exotic Eastern and Middle Eastern cuisine. Daily shuttles go to a nearby private beach club; golf, bareback riding and shopping excursions can also be arranged.

For further information contact The Enchanted Garden, P.O. Box 248, Ocho Rios, St. Ann, Jamaica or call the resort representatives at (800) 323-5655. Information is also available from your local travel agent.

G: Where can my husband learn more about U.S. submarines?

A: The USS Nautilus Memorial and the Submarine Force Library and Museum, in Groton, Conn., is a major research center for "submarining" - from the Revolutionary War to the present.

Visitors to the memorial can board the Nautilus, which was the world's first nuclear-powered submarine. They can also inspect four mini-submarines, working periscopes and an authentic submarine control room.

Research on the underwater naval craft can be conducted in the library and museum.

Documents, exhibits and books cover the technology, history, construction, wartime uses, political aspects and funding of

In search of the year-round sale Factory outlet malls give consumers what they want — bargains

By EVERETT POTTER New York Times Travel Syndicate

Now more than ever, consumers want bargains.

It's no longer enough for a merchant to have an occasional big sale. Shoppers demand year-round sales.

So it's no surprise that factoryoutlet malls are one of the fastest growing segments of the retail business.

These expansive malls - often housing 50 or more stores - offer the seconds, overruns and discontinued items of major designers and brandname merchants at discount prices.

Many of these outlets are so vast and interesting that they are good destinations for a weekend getaway. The savings can range from 20 percent to 70 percent, but shoppers can plan on an average of 40 percent. For holiday and year-round shopping, here are eight of the best outlets around the country.

Manufacturer's Marketplace (11626 N.E. Executive Drive, Edinburgh, Ind. 46124; 812-526-9764) Where is Edinburgh? Just 35 miles south of Indianapolis, an easy drive north of Louisville, Ky., or a short trip northwest of Cincinnati.

Edinburgh draws crowds from all over the midwest en route to Brown County State Park or the small Indiana town of Columbus, with architectural gems by such prominent figures as Richard Meter and I.M. Pei.

Many visitors stop at Manufacturers Marketplace, just off Interstate 65, to visit the 50 outlet stores -among them Evan Picone, Corning/ Revere Factory Store, Bass Shoe Outlet, American Tourister, Izod and Maidenform Outlet.

■ Belz Factory Outlet Mall (2655 Teaster Lane, Pigeon Forge, Tenn. 37863; 615-453-3503)

For those taking a swing through the South, a visit is not complete without a stop at the mall in Pigeon Forge.

Located near the entrance of the Great Smoky Mountain National Park, the mall has more than 80 outlets including Jordache, Bugle Boy Factory Outlet, Westpoint Pepperell Mill Store, Capezio Factory Direct and Coats & Clark.

G: How can we visit the major landmarks of Jewish culture and history in Australia?

A: You might be interested in a special 21-day tour that starts in Auckland, New Zealand. Participants will go to synagogues there and attend events hosted by members of the local Jewish community.

They will go on to sites in Australia including Sydney's Great Synagogue, a city landmark; the Jewish Club at Bondi Beach; the Holocaust Museum; and the Jewish Museum of Australia.

There will also be visits in Australia to Mount Cook, the fjords of Milford Sound, the Great Barrier Reef and Koala Park.

The tour is set from Feb. 1-21. For more information contact the organizers: The Ticket Counter, 6900 Wisconsin Ave., Suite 706, Chevy Chase, Md. 20815 or call (800) 247-7651 or (301) 986-0790.

Readers are invited to submit questions to William Tomicki, P.O. Box 5148, Santa Barbara, Calif. 93150. Although he cannot answer each query individually, selected questions will be included in his column. Sweden's 'Kingdom of Crystal' welcomes tourists

By EVERETT POTTER New York Times Travel Syndicate

A visit to Sweden is not complete without a stop in the area known as the "Kingdom of Crystal."

Situated in the southeastern province of Smaland, a rural area with deep blue lakes and thick pine forests, the kingdom is home to 16 major glassworks.

Among them are Kosta Boda and Orrefors, names that have become synonymous with the acclaimed tradition of Swedish craftsmanship and design.

Visitors flock to the area to see glassblowers at their craft and to take advantage of bargains.

With few exceptions, the local Swedish factories offer large selection of seconds that are far less expensive than first-choice pieces.

In many cases it takes an expert's eve to distinguish the small flaws that mark a piece as a second.

But it doesn't take an expert to become excited about the prices. They are about 50 percent less than firstquality pieces sold in Stockholm and 70 percent less than those sold in the United States.

All the factories welcome visitors. This year Kosta, the oldest glasswork, is celebrating its 250th anniversary.

Kosta was founded in 1742 by two noted generals — Anders Koskull and George Bogislaus Stael von Holstein - at the request of King Fredrik I, who was intent upon building a crystal trade for the country.

The Kosta factory acquired the nearby Boda and Afors glassworks more than 40 years ago, forming Kosta Boda. In 1990 Kosta Boda merged with Orrefors. But each firm retains its own designers and production facilities.

Now 900,000 visitors wander through the Kosta glassworks every year.

"It's rare that a piece of glass is broken and you'll never see a 'don't touch' sign here," says Diana Hansen, a Kosta spokesperson. "About 15 percent of a team's production is seconds," she says, adding, "firsts would be enormously expensive if we couldn't sell seconds."

Each year the company introduces two new collections. They discontinue others and offer tavorites for as long as they sell.

Amid dealening noise and constant heat, workers maintain a rhythmic pace - blowing, turning and shaping pieces of glass. A sixman team can make between 800 and 900 wineglasses per day.

Unlike most factories, which keep visitors at bay, Kosta lets guests up close to watch and talk to the workers.

The shop is a large, well-lit warehouse with thousands of pieces of glassware for sale. About 95 percent of the pieces are seconds; the rest are discontinued firsts.

They include art-glass pieces that are signed and can be bought for a good discount. But finding such pieces takes luck.

The shop carries all the classic Kosta pieces, including the Pippi line of glassware, a favorite for 60 years. These narrow, heavy items include sherry glasses for about $16, pilsner glasses for about $27 and champagne glasses for about $18.

A perennial Kosta favorite is the Snowball, a thick, hollowed-out piece used as a candleholder. It's about much as the amount of value-added $8.50.

Among the newest art-glass designs is the Pandora series. It features clear-glass with a satin finish. A Pandora candlestick is about $75. Whimsical pitchers are about $94. Sweden's best-selling glass, Kosta's Chateau wineglass, has delicate beveled facets on the bowl and costs about $12.

All these prices include Sweden's whopping 25 percent value-added tax (VAT). About 15 percent of that tax is returned when the buyer leaves the country - under Sweden's Tax Free for Tourists plan.

The price of shipping glassware especially heavy pieces such as vases — to the United States can be as tax that is refunded.

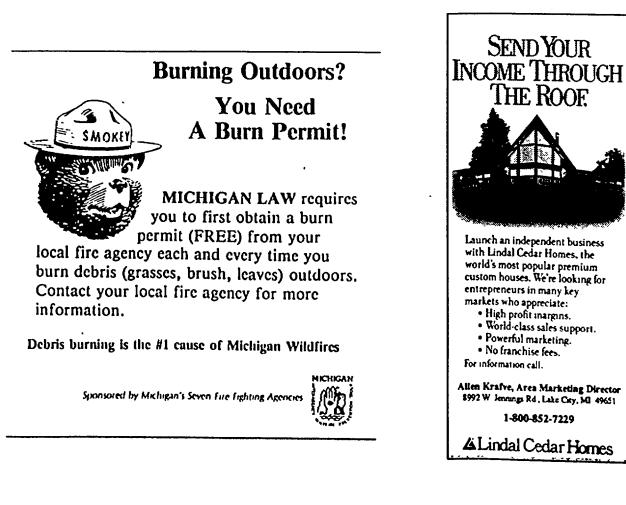

Even so, savvy shoppers often figure it's worthwhile to buy and ship

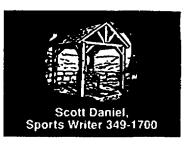

The ultimate glass experience is a Hyttsil" evening. In this traditional fest, participants have dinner in the factory - Baltic herring which are cooked in the glass furnaces.

Dinner is followed by local folk entertainment. Of course, there is time for shopping.

Walled Lake Western turned out the lights on Northville High School's football season Saturday by battering the Mustangs 23-6 in the first round of the state playoffs.

The Warriors had too much size and too much Arnie Gillert for Northville. The Walled Lake senior ran 40 times for 260 yards and three touchdowns.

While Gillert was pounding away, the Mustangs could manage little offensively on the cold and slick turf at Western High. They had just 215 yards of total offense.

Northville's only spark came in the fourth quarter. The Mustangs drove 97 yards for their only score at the 6:39 mark.

Marc Golden got his team out of poor field position with a 32-yard reverse on the second play of the series. Quarterback Danny Walsh then hit receiver Jason Holman on a 12-yard pass into Western territory.

Golden, on another reverse, found Holman on fourth down for 19 yards to keep the drive alive. The two then hooked up on a 13-yard pass play for Northville's touchdown.

Although his players came up short Saturday, coach Darrel Schumacher said they had nothing to be sorry about.

"I'm proud of the kids," he said. They played hard all year, against the odds much of the time, and did 5 well."

As for the playoff game, Schumacher said Western had all the pieces to Northville's puzzle. The Warriors shut down the Mustangs' outside running game much of the way and put the clamps on Walsh -- Northville's biggest offensive threat.

"They corralled Danny," Schumacher said. "They wouldn't let him do the job on them."

Walsh ran for a net of just three yards and passed for 46 more. The senior showed a lot grit in his last Northville appearance, however, playing with a severely sprained throwing hand.

"He's a gutsy kid," Schumacher said. "He's done a lot of good things for us this year."

Northville finishes the season at 6-4. Walled Lake Western (10-0) plays Romulus for the regional championship this Saturday. The winner moves on to Class A's final four.

Despite the loss, Schumacher said he is happy with Northville's season.

"It was an outstanding year," he said. "We are predominantly a junior and sophomore team. We learned a lot, and the kids were extremely competitive.

We played the underdog all year and the kids responded well to the challenge.

Northville looked as if it was equal to the task to start the contest.

Starting on his own 31-yard line, Rob Subotich sprinted through the Walled Lake line on first down for 19 yards. The senior then burst through another hole on the next play for 11 more yards to Western's 39-yard line. A 14-yard Walsh run gave Northville its third straight first down to the Western 25-yard line. On the next play though, Walsh and Kevin Shaw pletions from Dave Watkins to Gary Benedict put Western on Northville's 19-yard line. Gillert then ran through some poor Mustang tackling and scored on a 19-yard run with 40 seconds left in the first quarter. The half ended 9-0.

Gillert stole the show to start the third quarter. He ran 10 times in a six-minute drive and finally scored take some (running backs) down this from a yard out to put Western up 16-0.

Schumacher said not being able to stop Gillert was frustrating. He said Northville had geared its defense to that task all week in practice.

"He's a strong back that doesn't go down," Schumacher said. "Physi-cally, we weren't strong enough to he said. "and they did it."

A season's worth of hard work and dedication paid big dividends for the Mustang swim team Friday as Northville took third place in the WLAA conference finals.

Swimmers posted 53 personal bests between preliminary and final rounds. Coach Bill Dicks said the Mustangs were simply outstanding.

"I had a feeling they would go fast."

497. Northville was a close third with 457 points.

Dicks said the meet was packed with excitement. Not only were races close, but supporters (ammed the stands at Plymouth Salem High rooting for their teams.

Northville fans were treated to a victory almost immediately.

In the meet's second race, the 200-yard freestyle, Megan Goble cut six seconds off her previous best to win. She finished in 1:58:65. Amy Valley Conference champions placed four stars among this year's top guns.

The offensive weaponry of the Lions features senior Shawn Roth, while sweeper Evan Baker and goalie Steve Cramer put the stops to any offensive threats.

While Milford and Lakeland had semi-successful seasons, the teams feature top scoring forwards in Ben Cesa and 32-goaler Jeff "The Blizzard" Izzard.

Northville, meanwhile, along with Novi adds defensive strength to our all-area first team. The Mustangs' Steve Moore and Matt Oslecki were superior performers in the state's premier soccer league, the Western Lakes Activities Association, while the Wildcats' Dave Zyczynski made the grade for his solid KVC work.

Here's a closer look at 1992's first team as selected by the sports editors of The Northville Record, The Novi News, The South Lyon Herald and The Milford Times:

STEVE MOORE - Northville midfielder

For the second straight year, the senior makes our first team. A three-year varsity player for the Mustangs, Moore played offensive halfback.

According to assistant coach Doug Lyon, Moore was one of Northville's biggest offensive threats from that slot. He said the senior displayed a hard shot and excellent ball control at halfback. "He was our best player at Northville High School," Lyon said. Moore was an all-Western Division selection in the WLAA.

MATT OSIECKI - Northville midfielder

Also a senior, Osiecki played alongside Moore this fall as a defensive specialist, according to Lyon. Oslecki often succeeded in marking and neutralizing opponents' best halfbacks, he added. The senior also did a good job in a limited offensive role. "He distributed the ball very well," Lyon said.

Matt Oslecki made our first team for his solid defensive work this fall.

Oslecki was a three-year varsity player.

STEVE CRAMER - South Lyon defender

"The Stop Man" enjoyed a record-setting season, posting a new team and KVC mark with 10 shutouts. Cramer rejected an amazing seven-of-eight penalty shot attempts for an 88 percent save rate in the one-on-one situations.

"Steve had an excellent year," said South Lyon coach Bill Stevanovic. "He had some very good games and some great saves.

Cramer allowed 37 goals this season on 294 attempts for an 87 percent save ratio. Cramer allowed 12 goals in KVC play - that's just one goal per game.

EVAN BAKER - South Lyon defender Evan "Sergeani" Baker was a dominant force on defense this season, using his aggressive play and kamikaze runs at the ball to take offensive players out of their games.

"I believe he is one of the best defenders in the league," Stevanovic said. "He is a state-caliber player. He's really aggressive and has excellent vision of the field -- he was a real leader on defense."

The senior scored three goals and added three assists.

DAVE ZYCZYNSKI - Novi defender

The junior was the anchor of the Wildcats' defense. Playing mostly at sweeper, Zyczynski's main re-sponsibilities were to cover up for Wildcat errors, according to coach Larry Christoff.

An all KVC selection, Zyczynski still managed to score four goals and three assists from his defensive slot. Christoff said his main strengths are his speed, aggresstveness and strong shooting ability with both feet. "He can probably play most positions," Christoff said. "He was very, very solid this year."

BRANDON DANKS - Milford defender

The junior stopper drew difficult assignments through the season, guarding the likes of Lakeland's Jeff izzard and Brighton's Jon Herbst.

"He's a very fast defender and heads the ball very well," said Milford coach Robert Mazure. "He's a very smart player.*

Danks' defensive abilities will lead the 'Skins in his senior year as he takes over the role of capitain for the 1993 squad.

PAUL GREAVES - Lakeland midfielder

Greaves has superstar potential. The sophomore midfielder demonstrated excellent athletic ability this season with a quickness not often seen in such a young player.

"He has excellent ability both offensively and defensively." said Lakeland coach Franco Gamero. *He can also play several positions he scored and assisted for us."

While Greaves' play was overshadowed by Izzard, he should figure to be one of the area's most exciting players in his junior year.

Jodi Wesley took third in the 200 IM with a time of 2:14.89. Anderson was 10th in 2:23.23.

Runners' future looks bright in WLAA race

By SCOTT DANIEL Sports Editor

The future of girls cross country looks bright for Northville High School.

The Mustangs will lose only one runner to graduation next spring and return a team that finished 3-3 in 1992. According to coach Nick Dunwoodie, Northville's potential is limited only to how hard the team works in the long off season.

"it's the only thing limiting them," he said. "You have to go all year around."

As for the just-completed campaign, Dunwoodie said injuries cut down on the progress of his runners. Shin-splits and knee problems were common.

Avoiding those injuries, Dunwoodie said, means running or playing other sports all year long. Runners that come into the season in shape are the ones who win races.

"Training during the summer pays off," Dunwoodie said.

Northville's .500 mark placed them fourth in the Western Division. The Mustangs were 10th overall in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Junior Rachel Liedel led her team this fall. She posted a team-best time of 21:30 at regionals, and was consistently the No. 1 runner for the Mustangs.

"She was a pleasant surprise," Dunwoodie said. "I knew she would be steady, but I didn't know she would be this good. She did a great lob.

The junior cut minutes of ther time from last season. Dunwoodie said Liedel has the ability to run even faster as a senior.

"It's a matter of how hard she wants to work during the summer," he added, "and can stay injury-free."

Sophomore Monica Nayakwadi, expected to be another top Mustang, was slowed by injuries. Dunwoodie said a healthy season would put her in Liedel's category.

Junior Erin Maloney emerged this year. The coach said she made big strides this campaign.

"If she can improve as much next year as she did this year," Dunwoodie said, "she will be in the 21s."

Jodi Clark, Urvi Mujumdar, Laura Thomas, Roopal Vashi, Laura Brown, Adrienne Browne, Rachel Cieslak, Kara Cundari, Amy Bartlett, Sara Goshorn, Beth Macae, Katheryn Mittman and Kajal Parikh are all expected to return next fall.

"We have a lot of people coming back." Dunwoodie commented. "I'm optimistic."

Early favorites for next year's top offensive threats land at forward with South Lyon's assist-happy Dave Melville and Lakeland's Ryan Agustyn.

That's not to say this team doesn't have experience. Northville's Justin Lankes provided defensive leadership, as did Novi's Matt Bendernagel in the nets, while South Lyon's Jason Davis contributed senior leadership to his squad.

You've seen our first team; now meet HomeTown Newspapers' 1992 All-Area second squad as selected by the sports editors of The Northville Record, The South Lyon Herald, The Novi News, and The Milford Times:

JUSTIN LANKES - Northville defender

A senior for the Mustangs, Lankes played two years of varsity soccer. Assistant coach Doug Lyon said Lankes was Northville's main man on defense by marking opponents' best offensive players.

"He's an extremely fast and aggressive player," Lyon said. "Offensively, his height made him a threat on throw-ins and corner kicks."

MATT SCHWAGLE - Northville forward

The sophomore could become the Mustangs' most dominant player in the next two years.

Lyon said Schwagle has comparable ball skills to Northville all-area first-team picks Steve Moore and Matt Osiecki. Either at forward or offensive halfback next season. Schwagle could be headed for a big year.

"If things are working well," Lyon said, "he could score a lot. He's a real big offensive threat."

MATT BENDERNAGEL - Novi goalkeeper

Although the senior's performance wasn't quite up to last year's all-area first-team standards, Bendemagel still enjoyed a solid season, according to Novi coach Larry Christoff.

A second straight All-KVC pick, Bendernagel posted a goals-against average of about two. More than that, the coach said, the senior could be counted on at crunch time.

"He had some superb games,"

If any one word describes Home- Christoff said. "I felt very comfortable He kept us in a lot of games."

JOE CONNELLY - South Lyon defender

A junior just coming into his own this season, Connelly was a main ingredient in the Lions' stingy defense.

"He's a very aggressive, fast player," said South Lyon coach Bill Stevanovic. "His technique is not at top levels but he makes up for it with aggressiveness." The junior stopper was constantly called upon to shut down the opposition's scoring threats.

"He's the type of player you can give a special duty to and you know he'll come through," Stevanovic said. "He had an excellent year."

JOE CUCINELLA - Lakeland defender

Cucinella, a junior, will return next year to lead an experienced LHS defense that includes sophomore goalie Rich Langmaid. Cucinella demonstrated good leadership ability this season, and the ability to stay in control even when Lakeland was suffering blowouts.

"He was cool and collected," said Lakeland coach Franco Gamero. *He was the quarterback of our defense and he played very well."

TOM KUZAK - Lakeland midfielder

Kuzak's abilities allowed him to play anywhere on the field this season, causing Gamero to dub Kuzak a "libero" — a player who had complete freedom on the field.

"He was free to play anywhere he felt necessary," Gamero said. "He's a smart player, very knowledgeable of the game."

Kuzak, a senior, played several positions.

"He's a good player," Gamero said. "He can play anywhere."

SCOTT CAULFORD - South Lyon midfielder

The junior midfielder garnered four goals and four assists this season while making a major impression on his coach.

"He's a player who had some brilliant games this year." Stevanovic said. "He's a very nice guy and a pleasure to coach."

Caulford started off the season with a bang, but his play took a midseason dip due to illness.

The first half of the season was super," Stevanovic said. "He got sick and slowed down a little, but he came to life again at the end of the season."

JASON DAVIS - South Lyon midfielder

The senior provided an excellent year of leadership for the Lions and really kicked up his playing level at the end of the season.

"He had one of his best games in districts against Novi," Stevanovic said. "He added a great game against Northville. The second half of the season was super for him — it was his senior year and his best year."

Davis had five goals and two assists.

RYAN AGUSTYN — Lakeland midfielder

Agustyn will undoubtedly be a mafor factor in the Eagles' success next year. The sophomore led Lakeland in assists with 10.

"He's a good team player," Gamero said. "He was kind of an offensive libero - he was free to go where he wanted.

CHRIS YOUNG - Novi forward

Just a sophomore, Young made Novi's varsity squad for the second straight year. He was second on the Wildcats with 11 goals and three assists. Christoff said the youngster has the ability to add to those numbers next year.

"We expect him to be our top forward," he said.

The coach said Young has great speed and ball control skills. A slow start that plagued the sophomore this year shouldn't be a problem in 1993 if Novi can develop another scoring threat, Christoff said. "If we get support for him," he said,

"I think he will go crazy."

DAVE MELVILLE - South Lyon forward A junior co-captain of the Lions,

Melville set a single-season conference record with 18 assists. "He's a very respectable player." Stevanovic said. "He has a nice touch, excellent speed and a very hard shot." Melville not only scored and as-sisted from midfield and forward, but also substituted for South Lyon's fist-team All-Area sweeper Evan vanovic said.

Baker. "He can play all the positions," Ste-

Piper, a senior, found the ingredient to success this season ---teamwork.

•He finally realized that you have to work with the whole team," Stevanovic said. "He worked very hard and helped out with a lot of guys."

Punching home eight goals and five assists this season, Piper enjoyed his best season as a Lion.

"He's got a good touch with the ball," Stevanovic said. "He's one of the most talented players on the team."

JEFF IZZARD --- Lakeland forward

Izzard shredded KVC defenses this year, racking up a league-best 32 goals and 10 assists. "The Blizzard" was a scoring storm throughout most of the season, but attracted the majority of defensive attention toward the end of the year.

Izzard's reputation preceded him, and defenses were very aggressive when the senior had the ball in scoring range. He was brought down several times and scored many of his points off penalty shots.

RYAN OLSON - Novi forward

Olson was the leading scorer on a team that was snake-bit much of the season for getting the ball in the net. The senior tallied 12 goals and four assists. By the end of the campaign, Olson had become a fine penalty shooting marksman netting five-of-

"He was a surprise this year," Christoff said. "He made tremendous strides."

Olson earned all-KVC honors this fall.

BEN CESA -- Milford forward

Another of the KVC's offensive weapons, the Redskin senior knocked in 25 goals this year.

"He's my best player," Mazure said. "He's a good dribbling forward and can play the midfield too. He's a very good player."

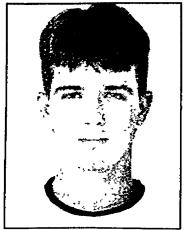

Cesa scored the winning overtime goal in Milford's first-round, 3-2 district upset of Lakeland.

SHAWN ROTH - South Lyon forward

three-year varsity career with a 20-goal season to set a single-season scoring record at South Lyon. Roth also set the school record for career goals with 64.

*Roth is definitely one of the best players from South Lyon so far," Stevanovic said. "He's been at the varsity level for three years, and he's always had a good nose to score. He's an excellent player with excellent vision of the game."

Zwiesler to lead runners

By SCOTT DANIEL ons Editor

For the Mustang boys cross country team, 1993 could look very much ke 1992.

According to coach Ed Gabrys, the VLAA's Western Division elites plymouth Canton, Walled Lake vestern and Farmington Hills Harrison - will again be the schools to beat next fall. He said Northville will have some talented runners returning but team depth could be a problem.

"I don't see a lot of change (in the inision)," Gabrys said. "To be in the op four, there will be a need for a lot f improvement. It depends on how had they want it."

The Mustangs finished fourth in their division this fall. Overall, they ere eighth in the Western Lakes Aclivities Association. Northville went 3-3 in dual meets. We set our sights on that and we were able to accomplish it," Gabrys said.

The coach termed the season a success. Three seniors helped the Mustangs reach their goals this fall.

Chris Smith, voted team most valuable player, provided quiet leadership. Gabrys said the senior was able to "pull the team together" and set a "great example."

Smith was also Northville's consistent third-place finisher. He posted a season-best time of 18:06.

Senior Robert Kukainis broke the Mustangs' top seven on several occasions. Curt Novara, Northville's third senior, also contributed leadership.

Jeff Zwiesler, a sophomore, was the Mustangs' top performer this year. Gabrys said he expects Zwiesler and Nate Kirmis, another sophomore, to be Northville's top runners next year.

Kirmis had a fine campaign this fall. Voted the most improved athlete, he cut nearly two minutes from his finishing times and notched a best time of 17:56.

Mark Ritter also improved greatly. Gabrys said with some hard work in the off-season, Ritter could challenge Zwiesler and Kirmis.

Freshmen Jim Hansen and Dwight VanTuyl will round out Northville's top five. Other returning Mustangs will include: Kevin Becker, who won this year's "guts" award; Dave Fetterman; Chris Clark; and Steve Emmsley. Ritter and Emmsley will captain the team.

"We stil have a lot of youth," Gabrys said. "Imencouraged. I think we will have a good team." A key to '93 we will be avoiding in-Juries, he added.

"We have a good nucleus," Gabrys said. "But we are thin."

Tankers take third at WLAA

Heckemeyer, injured much of the season, came through with a thirdplace time of 25.76. Brenda Newton was ninth in 26.42, Katle Rompel was 13th in 26.61, and Sheila Osborne was 14th in 26.67.

Four Mustangs qualified for reg-ionals in diving with their WLAA showings. Sarah Carney was sixth with a total of 360.9, Lisa Hojnacki was eighth with 333.15, Jill Holloway 10th with 324.6, and Amy Christoff 11th with 321.6.

Northville took 10th, 11th and 13th in the 100-yard butterfly. Moretti posted a time of 1:06.70, Kohl a 1:06.92 and Cook a 1:07.12 to take those respective finishes.

Amity Heckemeyer was fourth in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 56.7. Moretti finished 11th in 59.08, and Cook was 12th in 59.81.

in the 500-yard freestyle, Wesley made the state cut with a time of 5:22.01, good for second place. Newton was fifth in 5:38.17. VanHorn was 12th and Lang 13th. Northville placed second in the 200 freestyle relay with a time of 1:43.99. Amity Heckemeyer, Osborne, Newton and Wesley were on that team.

"You couldn't have asked them to give any more than they gave," Dicks said. In the 100-yard backstroke, Megan Goble made the state cut and won with a time of 1:03.16. Anderson was fourth in 1:05.22, and Katie Goble was 15th in 1:07.65.

VanHorn finished 17th in the 100 breaststroke with a time of 1:17.00. Jill Walro was 18th in 1:19.30.

Northville closed the meet on a high note by winning the 400-yard freestyle relay. Newton, Megan Goble, Amity Heckemeyer and Wesley combined on a 3:45.31 to win. That qualified Northville for the state competition by more than seven seconds.

NORTHVILLE/NOVI COLTS: On Oct. 31 the Colts visited the Dearborn Heights Redskins.

The freshman team took the opening kickoff and drove to the Redskin 3-yard line, only to be denied a score due to a penalty and a tough defense. Late in the first quarter, the 'Skins scored on an 80-yard sweep around left end. Chris Christoff got the Colts' only touchdown on a 40-yard run.

The junior varsity team started the game with an 80-yard drive, scoring on a Tim Burke to Lenny Christoff touchdown pass. The ex-tra point failed, making the score 6-0 Colts. Dearborn Heights led 7-6 at halftime and went on to win 13-6.

"I would just get myself into position and they would take me down in the box," Izzard said. "They wanted to take me down before the shot. A pen-alty shot should be automatic; I guess they just didn't know where they were on the field."

izzard has been accepted to the University of Michigan and is applying to Duke and Harvard, but won't base his collegiate decision on who wants him to play soccer.

"Wherever I go, I'll walk on and try to play," Izzard. Amazingly, the 32-goal scorer has received little attention from collegiate scouts this season.

Mostly they look at teams that go far in the state tourney," izzard said. "That's where teams are always really good."

Izzard didn't limit himself to soccer, coming out for football as a kicker halfway through the season.

The "Fit-n-Fun Club," a specially designed fitness progam for boys and girls (grades three to five) will begin at the Northville Community Center on Nov. 18 (Wednesdays, 4:45-5:15 p.m.).

New Attitude Aerobics and Northville Parks and Recreation see this as an opportunity to reach out to a very important segment of our commun-Ity — the youth.

The fact is, our children simply do not move as much as they should. According to reports from the National Association of Sports and Physical Education (NASPE), 50 pecent of our youngsters do not get enough exercize to develop healthy cardiorespiratory systems. They ics, the "Fit-n-Fun" program centers spend more time watching television on a Saturday morning than they do at physical education classes in a week. One third of all children in the United Stated are overweight. And to-day the average cholesterol level for a chid is 165; the recommended level is 140.

Gettingchildren interested in good fitness habits at an early age, and de-veloping these skills as they grow. may mean a healthier, happier lifetime for them. The best way to start them off is to provide activities that they can look forward to enjoying. and thus want to participate in. Designed by New Attitude Aerobaround activities that meet the capabilities and interests of boys and girls, between the ages of eight and 10. By combining activity stations, games and aerobic movements, an atmosphere associating fitness with pleasure is created. Children are encouraged to develop their natural abilities by emphasizing skills and achievement — not competition. During each 10 week session.

each child works toward becoming a "Fitness Superstar" in his own right, charting progress from class to class. At the conclusion of each session, special rewards and certificates for fitness achievement are presented to all participants.

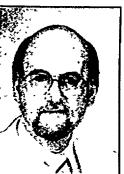

As the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports suggests: Teach your kids a lesson they'll never forget . . . that regular exercize benefits everyone, adults and children alike."

Regular fitness programs for your child can make a healthier heart, improved muscle mass, less fatty tissue, stronger bones and more flexible joints.

Making homes more salable

By James M. Woodard Copley News Service

Selling a home in today's market can be particularly frustrating for both the owner-seller and broker.

In many markets throughout the country. it now takes an average of three to five months to sell a residential property—from the time a home is listed for sale to the closing of a sales transaction. That translates into a lot of stressbuilding, anxiety-producing waiting.

ing. A few years ago, the average onmarket time was more like one to two months at most, in most areas. During active market periods, if a house didn't sell within a month, the owner was often on the phone with the broker wanting to know what was wrong. Even though the market may have dipped into the doldrums, things can be done to stimulate sales.

For starters, the homeowner should select a broker familiar with the local market and current financing options available to buyers. And there are a number and variety of financing options being offered today, particularly for firsttime home buyers.

Sellers should seek out brokers who have been recommended for their knowledge of the business and record of successful sales," said Bobbi Courselle, a seasoned Realtor and chairwoman of a multiple listing service. "Then owners

The Pruett offers open and airy family living

By James McAlexander Copley News Service

Bright, open and airy, the Pruett is a two-story contemporary home designed to meet the varied needs of family living.

Gathering places include a sunny solarium eating nook, a wide U-shape kitchen with combined work island and eating bar, a formal dining room and a huge living room, partially open to the second floor.

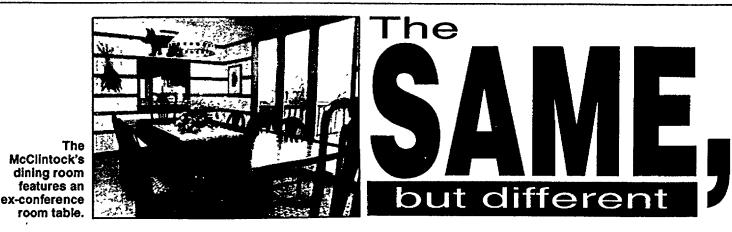

A little more secluded, but still open, are the deck, a window seat on the landing halfway up the stairs and a second-floor loft that overlooks the entry hall on the front side and the living room #### floor. The rest are upstairs, where a master suite and an additional master suite and an additional bedroom are located on either side of the loft. Each has its own bathroom. Clothes dropped into the chute at the top of the stairs land in the utility room below.

The master bathroom has two lavatories, one in a compartment with a toilet and an oversize shower, the other in a separate bathing room richly illuminated by natural light filtering through a wide opaque or etched-glass window.

Greenery, including tropical plants, flourishes in this environment, providing bathers with a lush retreat from the cares of the day.

By RICK BYRNE Copy Editor

Take a look at the home of Doug and Janet McClintock from the outside, and it doesn't look much different from its neighbors. Brick and wood adorn a typical suburban contemporary box.

But open up this box and you'll find some extraordinary surprises inside. Janet has drawn on her experience as an interior design specialist for libraries to produce an environment that is at once striking yet livable.

It's a place where guests can ooh and aah over the subtle details like Janet's quilting and the children's artwork on the walls while the family dog, Babe, can blunder around without a care. Entering through handcarved hardwood front doors, a guest enters Janet's favorite room. It's a solarium that was added on to the front of the eight-year-old home about two or three years after it was built.

Though the solarium isn't large, it's lively, festooned with everything from plants to two pairs of old wooden skis courtesy of Janet's grandparents. The greenhouse windows face west, so there's sun in here all afternoon when it's clear.

"I like to do my cross-stitch here," she says. "All but two or three months out of the year, it's very comfortable."

Ironically, though Janet is an interior designer, she didn't start off by looking through catalogs and ordering things. In fact, she has to think hard to count the number of furnishings that were actually purchased new.

"Our parents traveled around quite a bit," she says. "So we've inherited a lot of things from all over. We did actually buy the clock from the clock shop in Northville.

"We haven't bought much. There's a reproduction china cabinet, and a couple of other reproductions. But most of it is the real thing.

ductions. But most of it is the real thing. Pointing out an antique dresser acquired from a relative, Janet says, "It was an antique when she had it."

Not everything in the home is an antique, however. If the sofa and chairs in the great room look like porch furniture, well, that's because they are. But with coordinating cushions, they blend right in with the eclectic style of the room, and says Janet, "They work well."

Here a quilt of Janet's own creation lends warmth to a room that would otherwise have been dwarfed by its cathedral ceiling and second-story loft. Primitive artwork mingles freely with more modern pieces from Tiffany Art Glass and forays to the Ann Arbor Art Fair.

Watching over the scene is Elmer, a mounted gazelle head shot by Doug's father in Montana. To further break up the vertical nature of the front side and the living room toward the back.

Brightened by a skylight, the utility room offers plenty of storage space and is easily spacious enough to accommodate a sewing machine and an exercise machine or two, if desired. A bedroom and adjacent bathroom are the only truly private areas on the ground

Fall frost protection

By C.Z. Guest Copley News Service

Q. How do you protect plants against the first fall frost"

A. I use a thermo cover, an easy-to-tend product that's more like a fabric that brings a nursery-like atmosphere to the garden. It keeps crops and flowers warm during light frost and cool nights. Easy to use. it installs in minutes.

Although this cover does provide frost protection in light frosts. it is not foolproof, so play it by earl Listen to the weather station.

Just be sure that whatever covering you use is fastened properly around the plants to keep out the cold night air Remove the covering in the morning as soon as the temperature rises above 50 F. If frost is forecast, back goes the cover to protect the plants in the evening.

Tomatoes aren't the only vegetable to consider covering. Watch the other tender varieties too, such as zucchini and cantaloupes, etc. It's really worthwhile to cover these and other frost-susceptible plants in your garden. You'll probably be harvesting delicious produce for another week or two instead of pulling up plants ruined by the first nip of frost! Although vegetables come to mind first (after all, we all love to eat!), don't forget to protect tender flowers and plants, too. Have you some fabulous dahlias just approaching their full beauty? Don't let the first frost be a kiljoy! Cover the dahlias the same way you would tomatoes. Marigolds, zinnias and other flowers can also be saved for fall enjoyment by covering them for a night or two when the mercury first dips.

When a forecast of prolonged freezing weather threatens to end your gardening season, the best thing to do is pick as many flowers and vegetables as you can for enjoyment.

Gather large green tomatoes and spread them out indoors in a single layer in a box or basket in an airy place (temperature range 55 F to 60 F).

9. Can you give me some advice on how to plan a perennial garden?

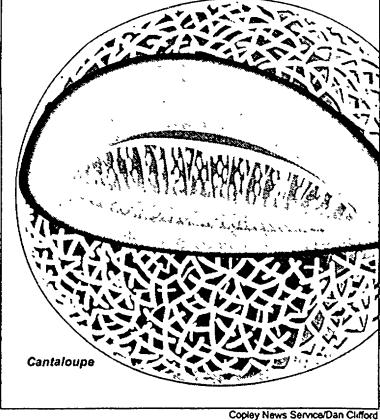

A. Perennials are flowers that, if properly cared for, can bloom for years without replanting. They can be planted in the spring, but I think now, you'll get the picture when she introduces you to the dining room. She has to suppress the laughter when she says the gorgeous, massive dining room table was recycled from the conference room at the accounting firm where Doug works.

The second floor houses the children's rooms, and here more stenciling is evident. The children's beds are also covered with mom's quilting work as well.

The patterns on most of the walls in the home are not wallpaper. Its stenciling that Janet also did #### herself.

"Besides quilting, I also did stenciling," she says. Of one particular room, she points out, "In this case necessity was the mother of invention. The paper pattern I wanted was sold out, so I stenciled it.

The master suite isn't huge, but looks it thanks to the clean, simple lines of the shaker furniture that appears there. Again, Janet made the quilts, and she also created the drapes, too.

With four bedrooms and four-and-a-half baths, the home has space for everyone. On the walkout lower level, there's a performance room with mirrored walls. Though it was designed for her daughter's tap dancing lessons, son Bill's band has slowly but surely moved in.

A second adjacent kitchen allows the band to fix its own snacks, and when family or friends visit from out of town, they can have breakfast on their own schedule

Janet's work space is down here too. She has her own photographic dark room, as well as a drafting table to work from.

A doorwall on the lower level opens onto a three level deck. But more importantly, it offers the same lovely view of a heavy woodland behind the home as seen from the great room. In the fall, the trees explode with color that splashes through the windows of the home each morning. To an artistic person like Janet, the color is just the right finishing touch to an artfully designed home. Yet, as Elmer the gazelle proves, everything here is done with a certain lightness and good humor. "It's really a useable house," Janet says.

that fall planting is preferable.

Perennials are perfectly suited for today's lifestyles, even for those living on a fast tracki Most perennials multiply, so you'll have a never-ending number of new plants every few years in your garden.

It's important to do some planning before you start, just as you would before decorating your home.

• Decide where you want your perennial garden, in shade or sun. Most perennials need sun to thrive. However, there are some shade lovers among my list.

· List your favorite perennials: color, plant heights and time of bloom.

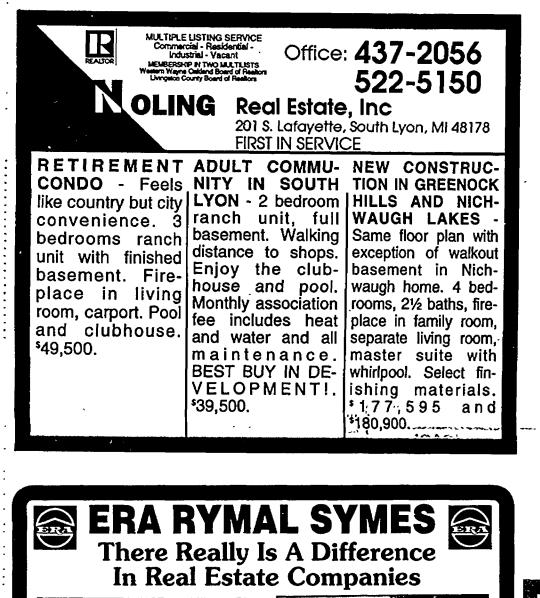

· Choose plants with different bloom times since proper planning can give you continuous flowers from spring to fall.

• Make a sketch of the garden, draw shapes to represent each plant and write in the plant names. Of course, the taller varieties should be placed in back while the shorter ones go in front.

Perennials look their best in clumps of two, three or four; remember, ample room for them to grow and spread is a must! Now you're ready to plant.

Some perennial flowers that I have in my garden are irises. peontes, lilies. primroses. day lilies, Oriental poppies and sweet william. These perennial flowers do not bloom all summer but at different times during the season.

The "Plano Baby" was used during the 1800s to hold a scarf on the plano in place.

Piano Baby doll is a valuable find

By James G. McCollam Copley News Service

9. I am writing you about this doll in hopes you can tell me something about her. She is beautifully sculpted, with blue eyes and deep hair molding, and her nightdress is tinted in dainty pastels. I bought her in France.

What would the price be for a doll like this?

A Your doll is called a Piano Baby. In the 1800s, most well-decorated homes used a Plano Baby to hold the scarf they had on top of the piano in place.

Your Piano Baby was made in the late 1800s. I find a similar one listed in Herron's "Price Guide to Dolls" for $700 to $1,000.

9. I have no pictures of the item I am inquiring about, but hopefully you can identify it from a description. It is 3-1/2 inches high, the base is circular and is about 2 inches in diameter. It is almost bell shaped but appears to be a grinder because there is a grinding piece inside and the top rotates. On the bottom it says "Tiffany and Co. makers Sterling 6805."

I would appreciate anything you can tell me about this and its price.

A. This appears to be a sterling nutmeg grinder made for the Tilfany & Co. jewelry store in New York, probably around 1900.

I find similar items like this listed for

ANTIQUES

$500 to $600 GREEN. in good condition. 9. The enclosed mark is on the bottom of a twotone brown and pale-blue teapot. It also has a small GRESLEY floral spray on MADE IN each side. Can ENGLAND you tell me when this was made and whether or not it has any value?

A. T.G. Green & Co. made earthenware in Gresley, England, from 1864 well into the 20th century.

Your teapot was made in the early 1900s and would probably sell for $35 to $45.

Q. Please help me! I bought a ceramic bowl at a flea market. It is 11 inches wide and 7 inches high. It is a cream color with pink roses. It is marked "KT&K" with "S-V," China on the bottom.

Could you tell me who made it and what it is worth?

A. Your bowl was made by Knowles Taylor & Knowles in East Liverpool. Ohio. The S-V stands for semi-vitreous china. It was made in the early 20th century and would probably sell for $35 to $45 in good condition.

Q. I have a blue-and-white plate with pictures of Vassar College and the founder. On the back it is marked "Roland & Marsellus, Staffordshire, England. John G. Myers, Albany, N.Y.

When was this made and how much is it worth?

A. This Vassar College souvenir plate was made in England by British Anchor Pottery and imported by Rowland & Marsellus in the early 1900s for John G. Myers department store in Albany. N.Y.

It would probably sell for $35 to $40.

G. I have a Coca-Cola tray with a lady with a glass marked "Drink Coca-Cola." She is wearing a pink dress, blue turban and a white for fur. There is a Coke bottle in the lower right corner. On top it says, "Drink Coca-Cola"

I have no idea what it is worth. Would you please give me an approximate value?

A. Your Coca-Cola tray was made in 1925 and should sell for $275 to $300 depending on its condition.

Letters with picture(s) are welcome and may be answered in the column. We cannot reply personally or return pictures. Address your letters to James G. McCollam, P.O. Box 108, Notre Dame, IN 46556.

Spruce up your home to make look better for the prospective buyer Continued from 1

should interview most likely brokers and ask for resumes."

Owners should spruce up the appearance of their home, giving it positive "curb appeal" and a visually warm and inviting atmosphere inside.

This does not need to involve a major outlay of money, but it will take time and effort to make things appear splify and all operating elements working properly. That includes everything down to doorknobs, blinds and cabinet doors.

Most prospective buyers today don't have time to fix up a home after a purchase. Typically, husband and wife both work full time while raising the kids. That leaves no time for fix-up chores, so they pass by any house that may need

Also, many owners of homes on the market today have been waiting so long for a buyer they have had lots of time to fix things up.

So prospective buyers have a wide incentive for brokers and salespeoselection of available homes that require no improvements. That leaves fixer-upper homes with a very small marketing potential, unless the price is set far below market values.

In most cases. it's a good investment to purchase a home warranty contract, covering the first year after a buyer acquires the home. This generates a greater sense of security and peace of your residence, not just in your mind—enhancing the motivation neighborhood. Today, people are to buy.

Another important decision is the asking price. It should be realistically priced-not too high or low. If it's too high, it will not be competitive with other comparable properties and will just sit there with the front yard for-sale sign fading along with brokers' and buyers' interest with every passing day.

If the price is too low, you may be needlessly losing money. Or this may force you to offer too little commission. thus reducing the ple to promote and show your property.

The best way to establish the right price is to ask your broker for a sales analysis report of comparable homes in the area. This will include the actual sales prices of homes similar to yours sold within the past six months or so.

And it should include homes throughout the general region of shopping for homes in a wider geographic area than ever before.

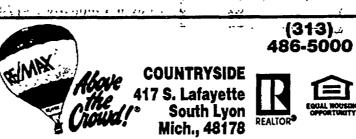

Financing is often the key that sells a home today. If you. as an owner, can carry back a portion of the sales price yourself (secured by a second deed of trust or mortgage) it can enhance the property's salability. Be sure your broker notes that possibility when advertising your home. It can be the carrot that attracts initial contacts buyers.

The broker must also take an active, progressive position in selling your home. He can not only advertise it consistently but prepare and distribute promotional flyers. He can push it during the 'caravan inspection' of the proper-ty soon after it is listed with the regional MLS. And he can extol its virtues when meeting with other brokers at MLS meetings and other professional networking opportunities.

A good, consistently active team effort by home seller and broker can expedite sale significantly -even in today's slow market. There are still homes that sell within a couple of weeks of being listed. Some attract two or three offers at a time. That's a situation coveted by many sellers who have been waiting, waiting, waiting.

On the other hand, some cur-

Computer doctor injects new life in software

By MARILYN HERALD Special Writer

"The computer doctor who makes house calls" is the way Julie Wright of South Lyon enthusiastically describes her Business Productivity Solutions - an endeavor she initiated in January 1990.

Wright finds the variety of problems she encounters in this business of consultant/contractor to be just the challenge she likes best. Wright's 15 years in the world of computers has given her the experi-ence and confidence to step into this role for companies which may need a custom program designed specifically to fit their requirements.

I'd like to stress that even though I can troubleshoot computer hardware, my speciality is software," she said. "I don't sell either hardware or software, but I do have sources if something is needed."

Wright, who works out of her home and can be reached at 313-437-6982, said she feels like a "marriage counselor" between businesses and their computers. She helps them to get along better together.

Although she earned a degree in Operations Research Information Systems (ORIS) from Eastern Michigan University, Wright said she has gained much of her expertise through "seat of the pants" experience.

One of her first local jobs after opening hr contracting service was "compressing the files" of James Carey, CPA of South Lyon.

Basically, I went in and helped with his system maintenance, cleaned files off the computer, and

Wright said she and Carey got ac-client and I'm his client. I like to sup-

The work I did before such as troubleshooting and training at Ford Motor Co. was fun, but I really wanted more variety," she admitted. "There I trained nine secretaries for nine months so that they could trou-bleshoot the UNIX computer system."

In addition to making "house calls" on computers and doing desktop publishing at home, Wright spend three days a week at Parke-Davis Pharmaceutical in Ann Arbor. *Parke-Davis is one of my customers now," she explained. "I just make

Kiosks and carts perk up business

Some retail outlets in malls and shopping centers today aren't traditional stores.

Klosk counters and, more recently, carts have mushroomed in corridors and courtyards, giving landlords the opportunity to lease more space, consumers more options for impulse buying and merchants an alternative way of selling their wares.

Michelle Shafir, specialty leasing coordinator for Robert B. Aikens & Associates, introduced carts 18 months ago at MeadowBrook Village Mall in Rochester Hills.

*For entrepreneurs, it involves minimal risk and minimal capital." she said. Developers are finding that these carts are a great way to increase the merchandise mix for shoppers . . . and offer an opportunity to incubate a new in-line (traditional) tenant."

The carts can be rented for a week, month or longer. Most go for 10 days.

Chris Gardner, franchise owner for Wild Birds Unlimited, a nature shop, took a cart at MeadowBrook Village for 10 days this spring and plans to do so again during the holidays. She keeps her regular shop open at the same time.

"It gives us visibility in another area of Rochester Hills. It was a good experience," she said. And profitable, too.

Michael Kahn, who operates Tee's Plus Lotto, a combination state lottery sales outlet and novelty shop, and Tee's Plus, a customized T-shirt outlet at Livonia Mall, has been involved with klosk stores for more than a decade.

Generally, they have lower overhead, better exposure, specializa-tion," he said. "Usually, they're less expensive to construct and generally less expensive to run."

George Warren has operated a fashion jewelry store at the only klosk location in West Bloomfield's Orchard Mall for six years. He sees a couple of big benefits from both a customer's and retailer's perspective.

"A person doesn't have to feel funny if they want to look. They don't feel as trapped as when they walk into a store. It's not as confronting." Warren said.

For me, I don't feel like I'm stuck inside. As people go by, there's always something different happening. I love it," he said.

dorsement from an unlikely source - Bob Taffs, a sales representative for Classic Door & Lite. He has a desk, phone and several door models in a corridor at Livonia Mall.

We get a lot of response," he said. We used to be in a showroom on Rochester Road in Troy. We'd get a few walk-ins a day. In a mall, you get hundreds of walk-ins a day.

*Being in a showroom in Troy, by the time they (customers) see you, they'd drive past," Taffs said. "Here, they're in the mall already. They walk by and say. 'Can I take some brochures? They say, We're thinking about doors.

Three or four months down the road, they realize they need one and say, 'I know where they are.'

Taffs said seven sales calls were set up through his kiosk in a threeday period.

Klosk operators can pay more per The klosk format even gets an en- square foot than in-line store operators, said Frederick Marx, a Farmington Hills marketing consultant. Rents for klosks generally are based on square footage and percentage of sales

"They have much more visibility. They show from four sides. You literally pass through their store (walking by)," Marx said.

But not all landlords want them, especially in upscale mails.

"I think there are reasons for not allowing them," said Jeffrey Green, president of a retail consulting firm in Troy. "Number one, it clutters public areas and number two, some retailers don't like the idea of competition."

Kahn doesn't believe that kiosks are accepted by in-line store operators. They generally don't like klosks because they take the impulse dollar away."

Other analysts don't see much cause for rivalry.

"I don't think in-line stores have a problem in that they (kiosks) are creating a larger relationship focus," Green said. "People see it as a larger center."

"They're a good point of entry," Marx said.

Kiosks tend to be fairly profitable, most analysts and operators agree. "They're certainly much more effective at holiday times when there are more shoppers," Green said. They're very highly specialized with much more impulse buying than destination stores."

Money Management Consider the risks before buying stock into the stock market, consider this: In the long run, the stock market generally performs better than any other investment vehicle.

But before you take the plunge, make sure you are sufficiently prepared, advises the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants. Here are some tips to help you get started.

UNDERSTANDING STOCK MARKET BASICS

When you buy shares of a corporation's stock, you become an owner of the company and earn the right to share in its profits. Stock prices are influenced by investor expectations of a company's earnings, the nation's economic outlook and interest rates, as well as rumor, inference and innuendo.

The two basic kinds of stock are common and preferred. Holders of common stock receive dividends based on the company's profits and typically have the right to vote on important matters. Owners of preferred stock receive dividends at a specified rate before dividends are paid to common stockholders. But preferred stockholders usually pay for this advantage by giving up the right to vote and the right to share in the com-

If you have been reluctant to jump pany's profits beyond the stated dividend rate.

MANAGING RISK

In general, the younger you are, the more risk you can afford to take with your investments. For example, a single 30-year-old with good career prospects may choose high-growth, high-risk stocks, which don't pay dividends but are expected to increase in value. A 55-year-old, on the other hand, may favor stocks that pay steady dividends, but grow at a slower rate.

Another important ingredient in managing risk is diversification. By spreading your holdings over an adequate number of stocks in different industries, losses in one stock can be offset by gains in another. Investors with modest savings can achieve diversification by buying mutual funds.

TRACKING P/E RATIOS

One of the key ratios for evaluating stock is the price-to-earnings (p/e) ratio, which is a measure of how the investment community views a stock. A high p/e means investors expect the company's earnings to grow rapidly. That does not necessarily

Quality Insurance in South Lyon is another of Wright's current accounts where she basically supports their network system.

Two nights each week, Wright teaches in Plymouth-Canton Schools. There she instructs students in Excel and in desktop publishing. The four-hour class schedule continues for 15 weeks.

*People come from as far away as the courses because they aren't offered in very many places," she said. A friend and I helped the school last year set up a couple of classrooms based on what's going on in the business world today."

The current classes she teaches are sort of a spinoff from that previous venture and involves an "advanced group" of students, Wright explained.

Wright's past experience includes more than a year working on the inventory and PICK system for Frank's Nursery and Crafts at its warehouse location. She also gained much of her Adrian and Auburn Heights to take computer expertise during the 5-7 years she was employed by Compuware in Farmington Hills.

> "I love a challenge and I really think this business is a lot of fun," Wright noted enthusiastically. *I get personal gratification out of going into a place where people aren't happy with their computers for one reason or another and leaving them with smiles on their faces.

"You shouldn't be afraid of a computer. You can hurt them but not bad enough so I can't fix them, unless you try using them for a basketball, for instance."

New concept helps first home buyers

One of the biggest stumbling blocks for would-be homeowners is the down payment.

Mortgage lenders generally re-quire a 20-percent commitment in cash from borrowers, which amounts to $10,000 on a starter home with a purchase price of $50,000. Some young families just don't have the dough when adding application fees and closing costs. Debt can be another hurdle.

Lenders on conventional mortgages generally limit borrowers to monthly payments - interest, principal, taxes and insurance - of 28 percent of gross income, 33 percent including housing and all debt. That, too, can be disqualifying and frustrating, especially if applicants are right on the edge.

Consider the community home buyers program, a partnership be-tween the state, lenders, private mortgage insurers and the Federal National Mortgage Association.

Borrowers have to come up with only 5 percent down - $2,500 on a $50,000 house. Mortgage debt can go as high as 33 percent of monthly gross income and all debt can rise as high as 38 percent.

Basically, it's aimed for the firsttime buyer, but a lot of real estate people don't know about it," said Joe Scheringer, an agent for Prudential Great Lakes Realty in Troy.

"Its purpose is to get buyers into homes who usually wouldn't qualify for mortgages," said Sue Schoettle, a loan officer for Sunbelt National Mortgage in Bingham Farms.

"It's for everybody, low and moderate income," said Michael Lubig, vice president and manager of the mortgage department for Standard

Federal Bank headquartered in Troy. Mortgage applicants through the community home buyers program in Wayne and Oakland counties must have family income of less than $51,800. Move-up houses can be bought as well as starter homes.

Borrowers also must pay mortgage insurance, which fluctuates depending on the down payment. With 5 percent down, figure on about 1 percent at closing for the first year in advance, then about a half percent monthly on the outstanding balance. That's still less than the 3 percent initially required on FHA-backed loans.

Interest rates, application costs and processing fees are the same as for conventional mortgages.

Prospects also must take a class, usually offered by lenders, to apply. It touches on such topics as how to shop for a house, what to look for inside and out, budgeting, qualifying for a mortgage and closing the deal.

"I think the classes are good. A lot of people buying houses today don't know a light bulb from a faucet," said Al Marshall, vice president and manager of business development for First Federal of Michigan.

fortable with to find out how much house they can afford.

Then they can get information on the required class and start their search.

"A lot of people can't afford a $150,000 house in Troy, but I can find something in Royal Oak, and this (mortgage program) would be perfect for them," Scheringer said.

ope to Japan and Australia.

The association features an active research program designed to constantly improve the quality of Hot Mix Asphalt and paving techniques used for streets and highways, parking lots, environmental and recreational use (bikeways, tennis courts, etc.)

NAPA effectively represents its membership on the national level with Congress, government agencies and other national trade and business organizations.

CONNIE ASHBURN of Milford has been promoted to manager with Discovery Toys, a leading international toy designer and distributor of developmental toys, books and games for children.

Ashburn began distributing the firm's products 11/4 years ago as an educational consultant. Ashburn has been trained to assist parents in choosing high-quality developmental toys to help their children develop important life skills. In this new position, Ashburn will also manage an expanding independent business and will train other educational consultants working as Discovery Toys distributors.

Many educational consultants agree that being in this business illustrates the fact that one can mix work and family successfully, allowing them to be a businessperson and a full-time parent. While many consultants enjoy it as a full-time endeavor, others operate a very successful part-time Discovery Toys career.

Discovery Toys is a direct sales company headquartered in the San Francisco Bay Area. The firm, founded in 1978, has more than 22,000 educational consultants throughout the United States, Canada and Japan. Sales in 1991 were $83 million.

HOMES INCORPORATED of Hartland announces the addition of Tige Reader and Bill Ramsey to its sales staff. Both bring much experience and a service-oriented attitude with them. "They are a welcomed asset and we wish them success," the company said in a news release.

SALEM INDUSTRIES INC. of South Lyon and Engelhard Corp. of New Jersey have formed a partnership to market products and services to abate emissions of volatile organic chemicals (VOCs) and other pollutants. The new company, Salem Engelhard, will initially be 50 percent owned by each partner.

This partnership is another demonstration of Engelhard's determination to become a leading source of environmental control technologies and to broaden our technological base," said Orin R. Smith, chief executive officer of Engelhard.

The partnership brings together Engelhard's expertise in catalysis with Salem's expertise in thermal incinerators to create a new company that offers a broad range of products for destroying VOCs, carbon monoxide and nitrogen oxide at a time when regulation is becoming more stringent.

Michael Thomason, managing director of Salem Engelhard, said, "Salem Engelhard will be uniquely situated to serve this growing market because of our ability to provide industry with turn-key solutions for stationary source air emissions."

New regulations, such as the U.S. Clean Air Act Amendments of 1990, are requiring more manufacturers to control their emissions. Thousands of businesses which have not been regulated in the past will have to come into compliance with new rules scheduled to be phased in between 1992 and the turn of the century.

In the U.S. alone, 1991 sales of VOC emission abatement equipment totaled approximately $500 million. That figure is expected to grow to $1 billion by 1996.

Salem Engelhard will be headquartered in South Lyon and, with a manufacturing facility in Phoenix, Ariz., will employ about 122 people. Additional manufacturing operations will be located in Engelhard's Huntsville, Ala. facility.

Salem Industries Inc. is a major supplier of air-pollution control systems. Since 1979, Salem has installed turn-key systems in many different industries, including automotive and parts painting, chemical printing food processing, plastics, electronics and wood finishing.

Engelhard Corp. is at the forefront of environmental catalysis and is a major supplier of pollution-control products and services for mobile and statonary sources. The company is a world-leading provider of specialty chemical products, engineered materials and previous metal management services.

The Case of The Tucson Tip-off. 4. 19

In a particular neighborhood in Tucson, Arizona, folks were having a real problem with burglaries and break-ins. "They started talking to each other about what they could do. They got fed up. About 400 people went to the police for advice. They learned about surveillance. They got to know their beat officers. Citizens and police became partners in crime prevention. In just three weeks. 17 arrests were made and burglaries went down 30%. And Tucson is only one case where people successfully worked to beat crime. Tofind out more, write: The McGruff Files. 1 Prevention Way, Washington, D.C. 80539-0001. You can make
