School board censured for stance on DARE

By MICHELLE KAISER
Staff Writer

Moraine PTA vice-president Gini Patak accused the Northville Board of Education Monday of turning its back on establishing a DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) program within its curriculum.

Patak was referring to an article appearing in the Thursday, Dec. 10, edition of The Northville Record. The article concerned the district's refusal to attend a Dec. 10 Northville Township Board meeting to discuss its reasoning for resisting the DARE program. Dolly McMaster, assistant superintendent for instructional services, declined the invitation to speak at the meeting, and instead met with township Supervisor Karen Baja one-on-one instead last Wednesday morning.

"DARE seems to be a dead issue with this school board," Patak told board members Monday evening. "I hope this isn't true. If we ever hope to foster an environment that is necessary (for good relations), we have to be open."

Board president Carol Rahimi told Patak her allegations were not true and felt the board had not been represented fairly in the newspaper.

Rahimi, who was not quoted in the article, was referring to McMaster's statement that she had received board approval to decline the township board's invitation. McMaster did not, however, dispute her earlier statement.

"The board has not taken a stand on the DARE program," Trustee Patricia Custer said. "When I read in the paper that it had, I was rather surprised."

Trustee Jean Hansen said the board has not had the opportunity to review the DARE program this year. However, it was discussed in a curriculum sub-committee in 1988.

Board Vice President Glenna Davis suggested Patak address the curriculum sub-committee with the issue.

Patak said she felt the district was resisting the DARE program because it uses the Michigan Health Model for Comprehensive School Health Education.

"It (the health model) is an excellent model, but it doesn't address peer resistance techniques," Patak said. "DARE has 17 structured lessons focusing on the hows of drug abuse resistance, and not just the whys.

"I was never advised to pursue that path (addressing the subcommittee). I was told the parents weren't interested. So, I did get some parents together and we shared what we knew together. I was totally unprepared for the vehemence of your response."

Patak said at the beginning of the school year, she and her husband George, who is a DARE officer in Ann Arbor, were approached about the program.

DARE is used in 700 school districts throughout the state, according to Patak, as well as Dearborn and Ulica, which blends DARE and the Michigan Health Model together.

McMaster said Northville's participation in the Michigan Health Model is not optional, however, while in Dearborn and Ulica it is.

"None have a dedicated comprehensive health program, dedicated staff and support staff like our program," she said.

Rahimi noted the district is not without a drug abuse education program and that any extra program would be supplemental to the curriculum.

Hansen added the board has proven its commitment to drug abuse education by supporting programs such as Northville Youth Assistance.

"It's not as though we're turning our heads on this issue," she said.

Patak disagreed, saying that the district is by bypassing available grant money. There is a source of funding for the program, but the deadline for a possible grant is in March 1993.

"We need for a subcommittee to look at this as soon as possible," Robert McMahon, treasurer, said.

McMahon suggested the subcommittee review how many school districts use DARE, the health model and other drug abuse education programs.

"One way or the other we have to make a decision," he said. "Lately, it's been a very emotional (topic) in the paper and we need to address it."

Patak invited board members to a Moraine PTA meeting in January 1993 where a 45-minute presentation on the DARE program will be presented. George Patak will also be on hand to answer any questions.

Goodfellows raise record donations

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Never are the pleas for charity more evident than during the holidays, when good cheer conspires to melt the heart of the most stubborn Scrooge.

And nowhere was that goodwill more evident than on the streets of Northville Saturday, as the annual Goodfellows Newspaper Sale raised a record amount of donations for Civic Concern.

"Last year we collected $5,500, and this year it was $7,500," said organizer Chuck Keys. "Actually, it will probably be over $8,000 because we still have checks coming in."

The Goodfellows Drive is organized each year by the Northville Rotary Club, and all donations go directly to the Northville relief agency Civic Concern. This year's volunteers included 20 Rotarians and 25 other community members including City Manager Gary Word and City Clerk Delphine Dudick, Township Police Chief Chip Snider and Township Trustee Gini Britton, and Ann Willis of the Chamber of Commerce.

Keys, who is responsible for Rotary's publicity, admitted he had a few butterflies in his stomach before the drive. "I woke up at 5 o'clock Saturday morning worrying that nobody would show up," he said.

But the community did not let him down, as 45 volunteers turned out to grab a satchel full of special editions of the Northville Record and hit the streets.

They stayed there, too, at strategic retail locations and busy intersections, stepping into the traffic at red signals to hawk the holiday editions.

"We had a 19-year-old volunteer firefighter from the township who collected 450 bucks at Eight Mile and Haggerty," Keys said. "He was out there for four or five hours."

Not to be outdone, three city firefighters collected a combined $750. "They were so excited, they were like little kids coming in," Keys said.

And an anonymous donor contributed $3,000 to the drive for the second year in a row.

Keys himself was so pleased with the results, he said, "I came home that afternoon and my wife thought I was on drugs."

The Goodfellows goal is simple. "No child without a Christmas." There will be many more smiling faces following the Saturday fundraiser, and Civic Concern Director Marlene Kunz was one of the broadest smiles Monday as she accepted a check for $7,300 from the Rotary Club.

"Thank God for the support of the community," Kunz said. "It's been a wonderful year."

Goodfellows donations will be accepted right up until Christmas, and can be sent to the Northville Rotary Club, 200 E. Main St., Northville, MI 48167.

DDA fine-tunes statement on Mainstreet '92

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The Downtown Development Authority wants to make its position on Mainstreet '92 perfectly clear.

To that end, DDA members met Tuesday morning to fine-tune a position statement on their controversial plan to fund a new Cady Street parking structure with captured taxes.

The preliminary statement, drafted by DDA Member Greg Presley and City Manager Gary Word, points to a shortage of parking spaces downtown; the "dilapidated" deck it would replace, and the cost savings from building now when construction costs and interest rates are low.

"The idea here was to create a preliminary structure by which we can better communicate our intent," Presley said.

One misconception the authority hopes to clear up is the relative size of the new deck. Though it would triple the capacity of the current Cady Street deck, Presley pointed out that it will take advantage of the sloping terrain.

"People think this thing is a monster," Presley said. "They don't understand that it's no higher than the current deck."

The final position paper likely will include drawings of the deck to allay community concerns about its impact.

DDA Member Glenn Long renewed his objections to Mainstreet '92's focus on improving vehicular traffic flow, and the proposal to turn the Hutton Street extension south of Main into a two-way street. Long's business, Long Plumbing and Fancy Bath Boutique, could lose several close-in parking spaces under the proposal. But he argued Monday that his concern was for the First Presbyterian Church across the street.

"What is this (traffic) problem?" he asked. "I'd like to see a problem being downtown every day."

Mayor Chris Johnson replied that the one-way streets running into Cady can prove confusing to would-be downtown shoppers. "You're practically directed out of town if you don't find a parking space either in the deck or on Mary Alexander Court," he said. He also pointed out that church officials have said they are willing to consider changing the traffic flow.

By a show of hands, the DDA members agreed 5-1 to leave the vehicular traffic statement in the position paper, with Long's being the sole vote in opposition.

The DDA members also debated

Judge rules against construction firm

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

A Northville businessman is one step closer to unraveling the knot of debt dumped in his lap by a local construction firm's insolvency.

Dennis Engerer, owner of Northville Physical Therapy and Rehabilitation, has been successful in his attempt to block the Garfield Construction Co. from spending his final payment to the firm on its delinquent taxes.

The construction firm run by brothers Calvin and William Garfield had won a $300,000 contract in 1991 to renovate and add onto Engerer's 332 E. Main St. office building. With most of the work complete, Engerer made his final $60,000 payment to the firm June 30. But the Garfields closed their doors and disconnected the phones at their 115 N. Center St. office the next day, and declared Chapter 7 bankruptcy July 17, leaving Engerer responsible for paying off the subcontractors who had worked on his property for Garfield.

The Garfields also apparently tried to use much of Engerer's final payment to pay off $47,000 in delinquent state and federal taxes, a violation of the Michigan Builder's Trust Fund. Engerer obtained a July 7 court order freezing Garfield's $32,000 IRS check and $15,000 State of Michigan payment.

On Nov. 18, U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Ray Reynolds Graves ordered the trust fund money turned over to Engerer to pay off the subcontractors.

The rest of Engerer's final payment apparently was cashed by the Garfields. They could not be reached for comment.

The brothers' father, William Garfield Sr., has rescued and is renovating the historic Sally Thornton House in Novi. Garfield says there is no connection between that project and Garfield Construction Company.

U.S. Bankruptcy Court records listed 72 creditors owed money by Garfield Construction Co. following the firm's declaration of bankruptcy, and several of those creditors had worked on Engerer's building. What's worse, Engerer said, were the subcontractors not listed either by the bankruptcy court or by Garfield when the firm first began its work at 332 E. Main.

"The Garfields were doing business real questionably," Engerer said. "They were getting materials, according to Chelsea Lumber, through them throughout this project... and now I'm stuck paying these guys because they've got a lien against my property."

Engerer said Garfield never listed Chelsea Lumber as one of its suppliers, although the lumber company has since submitted $16,000 in bills to him.

"My continued gripe is that now that I've got the money, I've got all these subcontractors making claims," he said.

Engerer said his subcontractors were owed about $70,000, and he has paid out about $15,000 already. He hopes to be able to pay the remaining subcontractors at least a portion of what they are owed.

City police arrested a 24-year-old Novi man at Northville Downs Dec. 11 after he tried to run from them. Police had questioned the man about his involvement in a fight earlier, and he had given them a false name.

When a police officer saw the man in the racetrack's parking lot, he ordered him to stop but the man ran away. The officer called for backup and ran after the man, who swore at him and refused to return to the track's police office.

Two other officers arrived as the man became more violent. He had to be forced into a prone position twice as the officers handcuffed him. As he was being led back to the police office, he spit twice in one officer's face.

The man was released after he was issued a citation and a court date for obstructing a police officer and resisting arrest.

TEEN-AGER INJURED IN ACCIDENT: An 18-year-old woman was taken to St. Mary Hospital following a two-car accident on Eight Mile Dec. 11.

According to reports, the Livonia woman was exiting the Meadowbrook Country Club westbound and hesitated in the eastbound lane, striking a vehicle driven by a 35-year-old Redford man. The woman was cited for failing to yield while exiting a private drive.

DRUNKEN DRIVING ARREST: A 57-year-old Novi man was charged with driving under the influence the evening of Dec. 11 after his car was struck by another on Center Street. A police officer noticed that the man's speech was slurred and his breath smelled of intoxicants. He told the officer that he had just had four beers at the Wagon Wheel Lounge.

The man could not figure out how to unlock the door of his rented car when asked to step from the car, so the police officer reached in and unlocked it for him. He failed several field sobriety tests and a preliminary breath test pegged his blood alcohol level at .17. He was arrested and held at the police station until he sobered up, then released on a $100 cash bond.

FENDER BENDERS: Icy roads were responsible for two traffic accidents on South Chigwiddden near Dunsany early Dec. 11. A 19-year-old Northville woman told police she was heading east on Chigvidden when her car slid on an icy patch and into a mailbox.

The woman's father drove to the scene and parked his car on the side of the road, where it was struck when another eastbound driver tried to go around it and was struck by a westbound car. The impact forced the eastbound vehicle into the father's car.

No injuries were reported, and no citations were issued.

WARRANT ARREST: City police arrested a 19-year-old Novi man at Northville Downs Dec. 11 after questioning him about his involvement in a fight at the track. A computer check revealed five outstanding warrants for his arrest, for charges including reckless driving, drag racing and driving on a suspended license. He was turned over to Novi police, who held two of the warrants.

HIT AND RUN: A car parked in the Northville Downs employee lot Dec. 12 was struck by a hit-and-run driver sometime between 6:55-11:45 p.m. Red paint was found on the damaged vehicle.

BREAKING AND ENTERING: A Fairbrook home was broken into sometime between 2-6:15 p.m. Dec. 11. The home's bedroom window was broken open, causing $100 in damage, though nothing appeared to have been taken.

DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY: The front passenger window of a 1992 Jeep Cherokee parked on Northville Forest was smashed sometime between 9:30 p.m. Dec. 11 and 3 a.m. Dec. 12. Police believe the suspect or suspects may have targeted the automobile for theft, but were thwarted by an anti-theft device attached to the column of the steering wheel.

LARCENIES FROM MOTOR VEHICLES: A rash of larcenies from several motor vehicles occurred in the township over the weekend.

In one incident, occurring between 10:30 p.m. Dec. 11 and 7 a.m. Dec. 12, a $20 bill was taken from a purse inside a 1989 Plymouth parked on Whitestone Court. Entry was gained to the car by smashing the driver's side window. Damage to the window was estimated at $200.

During the same time as the incident on Whitestone, someone broke the driver's side window and entered a 1990 Ford on Steeple View. A gym bag was ransacked, but other items in the car remained untouched. Police believe the suspect may have been frightened off.

Over $2,000 in tools was reported stolen Dec. 12. Someone entered a 1989 Ford van parked on Swan Lake, sometime between 7 p.m. Dec. 11 and 10:30 a.m. Dec. 12, through a vent window on the driver's side and removed the items.

In another reported larceny incident, a leather travel case containing an airline ticket and other personal items was taken from a 1992 Pontiac parked on Knollwood Dec. 12. Entry was gained by smashing the front passenger window of the car. Estimated loss of property is $435 while damage to the car is estimated at $250.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Fast food franchise sets table for township police

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

Corporate executives from McDonald's restaurants have proposed a program in Northville that would bring more police officers inside the fast food restaurant.

The company has offered to reserve police officers a booth and pay to have a telephone line installed inside the Six Mile and Haggerty store for the police to use as a field office. Officers are invited to use the table during open business hours to write up reports and catch up on paperwork.

Township Police Chief Chip Snider said McDonald's has piloted this program at their expense in other metropolitan areas with some success.

"They've tried this in Chicago and Detroit and they like it. They like it because they have nice police protection, and I like it because it gives police officers time to write up their reports at the end of their shifts."

ports at the end of their shifts."

He added that there would no be cost to the township because the corporation would incur all the expenses of putting a sign in above the booth and installing a phone jack.

"It will be all at their expense, including putting a phone at the officers' fingertips," he said.

The Six Mile location also offers a distinct advantage. With its proximity to Meijer, the highways and township hall, it seems like a win-win situation for all, Snider said.

tion for all, Snider said.

"That Six Mile shop offers us good access to most other spots, and it's in a good location near the township (offices)," he said.

In the past, both the Five Mile and Six Mile McDonald's near Haggerty Road have reported problems with teen loitering. Snider said this partnership could end that and protect the Six Mile store when the Five Mile location closes its doors this spring. But while the partnership seems viable, Snider said he has some concerns.

"My concern is that a citizen will see cops parked there and start talking," Snider told the Township Board on Dec. 10 after pitching the idea for McDonald's. "I can see this becoming similar to the donut shop image, but instead this'll be a hamburger stop."

Township Treasurer Rick Engelland questioned the need for the field office when the Police Department is only one mile down the road. He wanted to know what the benefits were and if there was a cost savings for the township.

Snider said there wouldn't be an overt cost savings, but added that the visibility the department would get in the community would be a benefit.

"There is no cost savings for us. I'm really looking for the exposure for us," he said. "It is on an experimental basis. If I find there is a lot of citizen complaint, then we'll drop it."

Police will be reserved a table, with phone, at the Six Mile/Haggerty McDonald's.

Child Watch program begins in Northville

By MICHELLE KAISER
Staff Writer

About 70 members of the Moraine Parent-Teacher Association (PTA) will receive training this week to become volunteers for Michigan Community Child Watch, a program designed to provide a safe place for children to stop if an emergency exists.

Parents who complete the training will be given a colorful 11-inch-by-14-inch sign, which looks like an eye, to place prominently in a window. The sign lets children know the house is a safe one to stop at if he or she is in danger.

Officer Matthew Mayes of the Northville Township Police Department spoke with children at Moraine Elementary Monday.

"What this sign means, is that in emergencies you can go to this house even if you don't know them," Mayes said. "We've checked them out and made sure they're not bad guys."

Mayes said a nationwide criminal check is performed on all potential volunteers before they are allowed to participate in the program. A person could be disqualified if he or she has had any criminal contact in any juvenile-related matters or crimes against another person, according to

Tips for ensuring child safety

Northville Township police advise parents to share the following safety rules with their children.

When WALKING:

- Do it with a friend.
- Stay on sidewalks and main streets, don't take shortcuts.
- Go straight home from school.
- Walk facing traffic, not in the same direction.

When PLAYING:

- Don't play in abandoned houses or garages.
- Don't go into public restrooms alone.

- Don't play alone.
- Words about STRANGERS:

- Don't talk to them.
- Don't ride with them.
- Don't get close enough for them to touch you.
- Don't take candy or anything else from them.
- Don't tell a caller on the telephone that you are alone, even if you are.
- Don't let them into your house or apartment.
- If a stranger tries to grab you, run away as fast as you can and scream as loud as you can. Tell someone you trust (a police officer, teacher, store employee) about it right away.

Parents are reminded to:

- Pick up your children on time; don't make them wait for you, it could be dangerous.
- Always make sure they have change for the telephone.
- Practice what you preach; follow the rules you set for your children.
- Listen to your children; they can tell you what happened.
- Know where your children are and when they are returning.

(with signs) for the restroom, or to get out of cold weather or the rain. They are not a place to get a drink or to go play at."

During a brief video presentation, students were reminded of three rules:

- Use the buddy system. Walk in groups and don't go to the playground alone.
- Don't let a stranger get close to you. If one does, run and yell and find another adult, like a neighbor, teacher or parent to help you.
- If you have or see trouble, get an adult to help you.

Children were also instructed to avoid parking lots, railroad cars and tracks, construction areas, and to stay out of abandoned houses and new houses being built.

"The number one rule is a stranger is anyone you don't know," Mayes said. "They could look nice and they could be a nice person, but the number one rule is they are a stranger so go to a house that has this (crime watch) sign."

Michigan Community Child Watch chairperson for Northville Public Schools Cindy Benedict said parents should be aware that this program differs from Northville's Safe Homes, which is designed for older kids.

Mayes. So far, no one has been denied admission to the volunteer program.

During the training, volunteers will be taught how to identify and handle emergency situations, report a crime or emergency, and describe a suspect or suspect vehicle. They also receive tips on helping to protect children.

"The adults will basically be the eyes and ears only," Mayes said. "They won't be involved in any crime solving."

Moraine is the first of the four Northville elementaries and two middle schools to have the Michigan Community Child Watch program implemented. The program, which is one of two of its kind in Michigan, is approved by the state legislature and will also be implemented in schools within the Northville city and Novi borders. Mayes will conduct all training sessions at schools falling within township boundaries.

When a volunteer concludes the half-hour training session, he or she will receive the child watch poster to put in a front window. Each sign will have a code assigned to it, which will be kept on file by the homeowner's local police department. Anyone using the sign for reasons other than the child watch program, or any person possessing the sign and not authorized to do so, can be charged with a misdemeanor for improper use, Mayes said.

During Mayes' presentation to Moraine students, the officer reminded the children to use the child watch signs for emergency purposes only.

"You can stop there if you're lost of if someone is following you," he said. "Or, if you're injured. If someone is following you, you should go the nearest house even if there isn't a sign. But, if there is a sign, you know they're very safe houses to go to. You shouldn't use these houses

Big labor readies for showdown

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Big labor is training its big guns on Gov. John Engler's efforts to "privatize" state services.

"Privatization is not a quick-fix wonder drug. It's driven by a political agenda that is hostile to government," said Krista Schneider, graduate of Millford High School and the University of Michigan, and now a policy analyst for the AFL-CIO in Washington.

"Conservatives were opposed to many of the programs in the first place, but now they want to pose as reformers. Privacy advocates want us to think of government as irredeemably incompetent," Schneider told the House Labor Committee in Lansing Tuesday.

She and Sheila Strunk of UAW Local 6000 painted pictures of private contractors as paying "substandard" (non-union) wages, cutting corners on quality to make a profit, offering kickbacks, bidding in collusion and being improperly monitored by governmental staff.

Local 6000 represents some 22,000 state employees, about 40 percent of the total, and its members' jobs are at stake.

Other governmental workers are represented by the AFSCME, the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, which boasts it's "the fastest growing union in the AFL-CIO" and had the biggest bloc of delegates (400) at the Democratic National Convention.

Union officials not only support Democratic candidates and assail Republicans like Engler, but they're an official bloc of the Michigan Democratic Party.

Quietly, Democratic Gov. James Blanchard (1983-90) started the movement to trim state payrolls and give work to private contractors, for which labor assailed him.

Engler has made it up-front, official policy, asking every department to suggest at least one function that can be privatized. An enthusiastic supporter is Patrick Nowak, former Oakland County politico who heads the state Department of Transportation.

Said the UAW's Strunk: "The cost of state contracts last year was more than double the total two years ago: $1.4 billion in fiscal 1991 compared to $637.5 million in fiscal 1989." Blanchard was governor in 1989, and Engler took over part-way through fiscal '90.

"While contracts amounted to 26 percent of the state payroll in 1989," Strunk added, "they swelled to 46.5 percent in 1991."

In the audience were many people with white canes. Their written testimony, distributed by AFSCME, said state School for the Blind aides in Lansing and School for the Deaf workers in Flint have been replaced by contractual workers who are inexperienced, untrained and even sexually abusive to handicapped children.

Urging Michigan to slow down privatization, Schneider of the AFL-CIO told of New Jersey private contractors who demanded exemptions from the state public records and open meetings laws.

"Government is traditionally a model employer and breaks barriers for minorities and women," she added.

Strunk of the UAW said she waded through 149 state auditor general reports on private contracts and found these patterns of flaws:

■ Violations of the audit act which can endanger receipt of federal aid.

■ "A real deficiency" in monitoring contractor compliance.

■ Unwritten contracts.

■ Improper approval of contracts.

■ Unfulfilled contracts. She cited a $300,000 Department of Mental Health case where the contractor promised to train 420 workers and reduce assaultive injuries by patients. The contractor trained only 350, and injury rates actually went up.

Broken water main floods Griswold St.

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Griswold, Butler and Pennell residents lost their water for several hours Monday as Department of Public Works employees sealed a broken water main.

The break, in a 6-inch line under Griswold Street between Main Street and Mill Race Historical Village, flooded the street Sunday evening.

"Our guy was called out about 9 o'clock Sunday night," said DPW Foreman Paul Vertrees.

Vertrees said the water system's pressure was throttled back Sunday night to reduce the amount of leakage but maintain service to the homes north of the line. On Monday morning, the water was shut off altogether, allowing a DPW crew to put a stainless-steel clamp on the break and stop the leak.

Vertrees said the crack was probably caused by frost heaves. "This was a crack that went all the way around the pipe," he said.

City officials have sought bids for a comprehensive study of the city's water main system, to try and reduce its high rate of water loss. About 44 percent of the water pumped into the system this year has disappeared to non-billable sources including leaks and fire hydrant use.

City staff hope to use a cost-benefit analysis arising from the study to make the most beneficial repairs to the system.

But the repairs would probably not prevent leaks like the one on Griswold, Vertrees said. He said Sunday's break does not reflect a specific problem with the Griswold line, but the general susceptibility of water mains to damage in the winter.

"It happens all over, everywhere," he said.

A 1991 Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May study used city data to list the 10 water main sections with the most breaks, and the 10 with the most leaking or frozen water services. The Griswold line was not on either list.

Kettle drive reaches halfway mark

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The Salvation Army's annual kettle drive is at its halfway mark, and lots of people have been pitching in.

As of Dec. 9, Salvation Army soldiers and volunteers had raised over $40,000 in Northville, Plymouth and Canton. The fundraisers are on target to reach their Christmas Eve goal of $100,000.

More than $8,000 of those funds were raised in Northville alone, during the fourth year that the fund drive has been active under the direction of organizers William E. Davis, Tad Evans and Bill Sliger.

Funds go to provide food, clothing and Christmas gifts to needy area families. The Army Corps also meets emergency needs for prescriptions, utility bills and rental payments.

Of the total money raised, 92 percent goes directly to help the needy. The remaining eight percent covers administrative costs.

Lt. Jeffrey Beachum, commander of the Plymouth Salvation Army post, said the kettle drive is the post's primary fundraiser. "The fundraising that we do at Christmastime provides about 60 percent of our total budget annually, so you can see how important it is to us," he said.

Northville has become an integral part of the fundraising effort, he added.

"The last three years, we have seen the value that Northville has in the the whole western Wayne County area, and I think Northville has realized that value," he said. "They support us . . . That's just the kind of community that they are. They take care of what needs to be taken care of."

A long list of Northville organizations and area churches are staffing collection sites this year. Bell ringers are stationed at the Northville Post Office, Shopping Center Market, Meijer and A & P.

Volunteers will be ringing in the holidays until 1 p.m. Dec. 24.

The Salvation Army extends its philosophy that "sharing is caring" in a number of ways, from the Adopt-a-Family program to its recently established health aid box project, where needy families receive boxes of health care products ranging from tissue paper to shampoo. "We just went through the F & M aisles and said, 'This is something the families need,'" Beachum said.

The corps also works with other local relief efforts like Civic Concern, Beachum said.

The Plymouth Salvation Army post is located at 9451 S. Main St., just south of Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth Township.

Cooper brightens holiday

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

It's hard to have a happy holiday when you don't even have a home. But a Northville photographer is trying to brighten the holidays for a group of children who would otherwise go without.

John Cooper, owner of the photography firm Exposure, is donating packages of clothes and books to children living in a Detroit facility known as COTS (Coalition on Temporary Shelter). The shelter, at 1887 W. Grand Blvd., provides temporary housing to homeless children and their mothers.

COTS is looking for help to celebrate Christmas with the 22 children currently in its care, and Cooper is helping to answer that call.

"I try to do a couple of things each year to give something back," he said. "I feel really lucky to have the opportunity to do what I do."

To fund the gift-giving event, Cooper has been photographing Northville businesses and selling the photos to the local store owners. He's also asked his own family and friends who would normally buy him a gift to buy one for the children instead.

The children are asking for presents including a bicycle with training wheels, a Talking Big Bird and a Cabbage Patch Crimp and Curl doll, Cooper said. Bears are popular as well, with requests for a teddy bear, koala bear and polar bear.

But the children have also asked for more practical items like clothes and shoes, and Cooper hopes to provide each one with at least one complete outfit.

Cooper's involvement also goes beyond the donations. He's arranged for Santa Claus and his elves to visit the children at the shelter tonight at 6 p.m. The children will receive gifts from Santa, and free photographs with the jolly old soul as well.

"I'm going to be an elf so I can take some pictures of them," he said. "They don't get a chance to go to the mall like kids around here."

For more information, call Exposure at 1-800-828-3976.

Gimme a little sign

Proud Rotarians gathered in front of one of their newly repainted signs at the gateway to downtown Northville. No-body knows for sure how old the wrought iron signs are (though some estimate 50 years). They were sandblasted, repainted and hand-detailed. City DPW workers will soon add more signage listing time and place of meetings.

Rotary to light up the town

This year and every year, Northville Rotary lights up Northville by selling Luminaria Kits for Christmas Eve.

One hundred percent of the profits go into the Rotary Foundation for the purpose of helping people less fortunate and organizations such as Civic Concern, to send a boy and girl to Michigan State Leadership Course, Northville Youth Assistance, Make A Wish, Amerman School Grant, Northville Well, and Our Lady of Providence.

The kits include 12 white bags, 12 six-inch plumbers candles, and one bag of sand. The kits are $8 each, and there is free delivery to subdivisions in quantities. They can be purchased at News Printing Inc., 560 S. Main Street. Call 349-6130 for more information.

Main Street looked a little unfamiliar last week as commercial crews added a French touch.

Cemetery. The shot, a fundraiser for the Vietnam Veteran's Memorial in Lansing, will begin airing in January.

A Northville resident for the past 10 years, Hackett said he likes bringing his work home with him.

"I guess being from Northville, I'm familiar with the locations," he said. "It's such a great place to shoot... I'd like to be able to shoot there a lot."

The day's worth of work last Friday proved valuable to local merchants. "We spent about $5,000 in location fees, meals and props bought at the various antique stores," Hackett said.

But he's aware of the dangers of overwhelming the locals with the demands of a typical Hollywood production. "I asked the crew, 'Please be careful, this is my home town,'" he said.

Hackett, who works for August Productions in Farmington Hills, also hopes to move the production company's offices to Northville someday and is trying to talk partner Larry August into making the move.

Hackett even has dreams of hitting the big screen someday. He even plucked one well-known actor's interest in a movie project when they worked together on a recent ad campaign.

"He and I started fooling with a film idea that he ran by Disney, and they expressed some interest," Hackett said. "The chances of it happening are fairly slim, but it's possible..."

The idea, which came to Hackett while he was restoring his historic Dunlap Street house, involves a handyman who stirs up some old ghosts during a renovation project. And if it flies, the Northville director may really be working out of his home.

When my routine pregnancy suddenly wasn't...

I was glad I'd chosen Hutzel. From the beginning, my pregnancy was described as "normal." So when I wanted a private room—one where labor, delivery, and recovery could all take place—my doctor had no objections. But if something went wrong,

I wanted to know my baby and I would also have the most knowledgeable specialists and the latest medical technology nearby. So I chose The Detroit Medical Center's Hutzel Hospital.

To my surprise, Hutzel's private LDRP (Labor, Delivery, Recovery, Post-Partum) rooms were among the most spacious and beautiful I'd seen. I was glad I could be in one—and that I'd chosen Hutzel. Because at the last minute, my baby developed complications and a team of Hutzel specialists was right there to provide the care we both needed.

Like a lot of other women, I've learned there's no such thing as a "routine" pregnancy. Thank goodness there's Hutzel Hospital.

Group hopes for regular slot in meeting coverage

By MICHELLE KAISER
Staff Writer

Advocates for Quality Education are providing Northville television viewers with a different angle on broadcast news.

The reception has been overwhelming.

Members of the Advocates group have been videotaping Northville Board of Education meetings in an attempt to get more information out to the community.

"We figured by getting it on videotape more people would have a chance to see (board meetings) that might not normally be able to attend," said Mary Ellen Wolbers, an Advocates member and volunteer video technician.

The meetings are aired on public television, including Omnicom and Metrovision. Monday's school board meeting will be aired at 4:30 p.m. Monday, Dec. 21, and at 5 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 22, on Omnicon and at 1 p.m. Monday, Dec. 21, on Channel 12's Metrovision.

Wolbers said volunteers completed three- to four-hour training sessions through the cable companies to become certified to check out the cameras for outside use.

"Metrovision and Omnicon have training for anyone interested in public access TV," Wolbers said. "They show you how to use a variety of TV equipment, how to use the cameras and how to edit."

Currently, the Advocates are using two cameras and one monitor at board meetings falling on the fourth Mondays. At Monday's school board meeting, however, camerapersons used a super VHS video camera because the meeting was held in the board chambers.

"That was the first time we videotaped in there," Wolbers said. "It's much smaller and too distracting (to use more equipment)."

Wolbers said the Advocates group would like to involve more volunteers, particularly high school students or recent graduates interested in video production, to help man the cameras.

"It's just a matter of getting trained," she said.

Wolbers said all school board meetings will be taped after January.

"We're hoping to get a regular time slot with the cable company," she said.

Anyone attending the board meetings wishing not to appear on tape should notify the board or administration before the meeting.

Chief sends drunk driving message

By MICHELLE KAISER
Staff Writer

When Northville City Police Chief Rod Cannon addressed the members of the Northville High School Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD) chapter last Wednesday, he shared a story he often relates when warning others of the evils of drinking and driving.

His story began with a young man who used to spend a lot of time with a certain set of buddies. One night, his friends were drinking when they were pulled over by a police officer. The officer determined the driver of the vehicle was operating under the influence of liquor and cited him. Upon further investigation, the officer checked one of the passengers, who was sober, and instructed him to drive the others home.

A short period later, the same group of young men were driving in Washtenaw County. It was early morning and foggy, and the young man who was driving failed to stop for a stop sign.

A police officer stopped the vehicle for the traffic violation only to discover the young man was driving impaired (meaning his blood alcohol level was less than .10, the minimum limit which a person can be charged for operating under the influence). The man was issued a ticket.

But the story doesn't end there. "The young man's insurance increased 300 percent," the chief said. "He couldn't afford good insurance. He had to report every Saturday to the probation department — picking up trash alongside the roadway, losing money for lost work and overtime."

Since the young man couldn't afford good insurance, he paid for the basic coverage on his expensive sports car. One day, after getting out of work, the young man discovered his car had been stolen.

When police recovered the car near Detroit, only the chassis was left. The insurance company only paid off what the car was worth, according to its standards, which left the young man with $800 left to pay to the finance company.

The story continued. One of the young man's buddies, after drinking, put a gun to his chin and pulled the trigger, killing himself, according to the chief.

"The penalties are wider than just the law," Cannon said. "It impacts everything around you. Alcohol is a de-

"The penalties are wider than just the law. It impacts everything around you. Alcohol is a depressant. It's mind-altering and has long-lasting effects. It affects friends and family. This young man (who committed suicide) had no affiliation with a group like this. There's prices to pay and your activity here is an indication you are concerned."

Northville City Police Chief

pressant. It's mind-altering and has long-lasting effects. It affects friends and family. This young man (who committed suicide) had no affiliation with a group like this. There's prices to pay and your activity here is an indication you are concerned."

Of course, there are many more tragedies involving drinking, as Cannon pointed out. However, he chose to share another story which portrayed another side to using alcohol.

Two young men were returning home after a formal dinner near Detroit, he began. The driver had a two-door sports car so the passenger, who was inebriated, decided to lay down on the back seat. Well, the motion of the car made him nauseated and when he realized he was going to get sick, he couldn't open a window since he was in the back of the car. So, in a friendly gesture of not wanting to ruin his friend's expensive sports car, he loosened his tie and vomited in his shirt.

Although several members of the SADD chapter laughed at the story, they take their role in educating fellow students about the dangers of drinking and driving seriously. The chapter is one of the largest student organizations at the high school, according to Charles Sülec, chapter advisor.

"If students can take 15-20 minutes to attend a meeting and make a commitment and we can save a life, it's worth it," he said.

Members are asked to sign a belief statement when they join the group. In the statement, the student pledges he will not drive drunk, will not get into a car with a driver who is drunk, and will encourage his friends to do the same. SADD will not exclude students from its chapter who choose to drink as long as they promise to abide by their pledge.

Two weeks ago, the Northville SADD chapter joined other schools' chapters in the state at Shanty Creek to develop a SADD mission statement. At the conclusion of the conference, the SADD Michigan group determined its purpose is to reduce the number of alcohol-related crashes.

During Cannon's visit, students asked questions regarding the new drunk driving laws, the city and township's host party ordinances, and laws relating to serving alcohol to minors.

Cannon said the new drunk driving laws, enacted almost a year ago, have tougher penalties than the former ones. For example, if a person is convicted of operating under the influence of liquor (OUIL) or drugs (OUID), the driver automatically loses his license. Before, if a person convicted of OUIL approached the court under the guise of hardship (needing to drive to get to work, etc.), the court would usually issue a restricted license.

"With the new law, that is no longer available," Cannon said. "Now, we cut the license up, issue a ticket and the driver uses a copy of the citation which he can drive on only until the court date."

A drunk driver causing a fatal accident can be charged with a felony under the new law and can receive up to 15 years in jail. Also, a driver convicted for a fourth drinking and driving offense can be charged with a 10-year felony. The old law carried a maximum four-year felony charge.

As far as the host party ordinance, one shared between the city and township, anyone identified as a contributor of alcohol or drugs to minors can be fined $500. A second offense could land them in jail as well as with another fine.

"Since the ordinance went into effect, we haven't had any problems in the city," the chief said. "But people should know that the person who is hosting a party will be held liable."

Parties don't have to take place in homes, either. Hosts of parties held in motels, parks, etc. will also be charged if minors are found in possession of alcohol or drugs.

The consequences can be severe for the minor, too. If a student is discovered with drugs or alcohol on school grounds, he could face suspension. If police discover a minor with either, the youth, depending on his age, could be cited and required to report to probate court (under the age of 17) or district court (17 and older).

In the city, Cannon said the Police Department hasn't had much contact with students driving drunk or using drugs. Actually, he has seen an increase in the amount of young women in their early 20s being cited for drinking and driving. Other offenders are out-of-town drivers and passers-by, he said.

"You can thank yourself for this (a small number of incidents involving students and drinking and driving)," Cannon said. "Groups like yours, MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Driving), auto insurance companies — it's all part of the big picture."

Business Briefs

Some thank yous were inadvertently dropped from last week's column. So again, special thanks to Harold and Pat Wright, Northville, Melissa Lundstadt, California, and Joseph Wharton, Washington, for donations to commemorate the 50th wedding anniversary of Fran and Elizabeth Gazlay.

Special holiday greeting to all members of the community on behalf of the Northville Historical Society board, staff and members. The annual Society Christmas party last week saw 70 members and friends for an evening of relaxation and holiday sharing.

The next event for membership participation will be the annual Wine Tasting Party scheduled for Jan. 16. Members should have received their invitations with the recently mailed Mill Race Quarterly. It may be necessary to limit participation so an early reservation is a good idea.

Members are reminded that it is dues renewal time once again. Please forward dues renewals to the office as soon as possible.

Some Christmas nostalgia for this week's historic note. In 1960 William Kuhn wrote from Oakland, Calif., describing turn of the century memories from our area. He resided near South Lyon during his childhood. From one of his letters, "In the early 1900s our Baptist Church was located in the north end of the Lyon Hotel, our minister would sometimes come from Salem. Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Atchison, Mr. and Mrs. Haggerty, Mr. and Mrs. Hooker, Mr. and Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. Woodard and daughters and several folks that would drive in from the country were some of the Baptist folks. I think it was 1903 that we had a tree at Christmas in the church. I got a horn, my sister, Amy, received a little chest of drawers. I forget what the others got."

"But, I remember on Sunday, my teacher in Sunday School had us sign a pledge not to smoke. I remember her saying if the Lord had thought man would smoke he would have built a chimney (sic) on his head to let the smoke come out."

Mr. Kuhn's letter and others have found their way to the Northville Historical Society Archives by way of Jack Hoffman, former editor of the Northville Record and past president of the Northville Historical Society. They are a wisp of the past.

Volunteer Briefs

WANTED: Friendly dogs and cats and their warm-hearted owners who can spare one hour each month are needed to visit handicapped children at the Old Village School in Northville.

If this description fits you and your pet, the Pet-A-Pet program wants you! Pet-A-Pet is an animal visitation program whose volunteers and their pets pay regular group visits to the school.

Animal visitation programs have proven to be beneficial in the health care of handicapped children who especially enjoy the unconditional love a pet can offer. Children who are unable to hear or see often respond favorably to the warmth of animals.

Pet-A-Pet volunteers may bring their own pets if they are friendly, in good health, and have current vaccination records. The visits are scheduled one day per month and last about one hour. In addition to the Old Village School, the program also visits several nursing homes in the metro area.

If you are interested in joining the group that visits Old Village School, please call Laurie Allen at 355-1823.

NORTHVILLE YOUTH ASSISTANCE NEEDS HELP: Northville Youth Assistance is looking for adult volunteers to be mentors to young people from the Northville community.

The nonprofit group matches volunteers with young people who could use an extra adult friend in whom the youth may confide and spend special time with. Men are especially needed; the agency has a waiting list of young boys who could use a volunteer.

Anyone interested in the program should call NYA Director Mary Ellen King at 344-1618.

Doctor holds hands-on fundraiser

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

A Northville chiropractor has agreed to lend a helping hand or two to raise food and funds for the needy. Dr. Craig Gilling, owner of the Northville Chiropractic Health Center, will provide free chiropractic services to anyone who visits his 42973 Seven Mile Road offices this Saturday, Dec. 19.

The free services will include consultations, spinal adjustments, scoliosis screenings and X-rays.

"I'm not going to charge anything," Dr. Gilling said.

But there is one catch — would-be patients must bring a donation of paper products, non-perishable food or checks for Civic Concern.

"No donation is too small, because I know there are some people here who don't have health insurance and can't afford much," he said.

Dr. Gilling, a newcomer to the Northville area, said he was inspired to offer his services by newspaper articles about the Northville relief agency.

"This is a way that I feel I can really help the community," he said.

He also understands that people may be moved to give by what they receive in return.

"There's a lot of people who give, but a lot of people give more if there's an incentive," he said.

Dr. Gilling's civic concern is not limited to that agency alone. He coaches fourth and fifth grade basketball programs for Northville Parks and Recreation, and gives health presentations to students in Northville Public Schools.

For Saturday's fundraiser, the good doctor will open his office doors at 9 a.m. and keep them open until 5 p.m. or "as long as I have people coming in."

The Northville Chiropractic Health Center is sandwiched between Little Caesar's and Subway in the Highland Lakes Shopping Center.

Rotary International, a group of more than 25,000 international service clubs with over 1,000,000 men and women members, celebrates the 75th anniversary of the Rotary Foundation in 1992.

The Rotary Foundation supports many charitable causes around the world, including the granting of more educational scholarships than the Rhodes and Fulbright scholarships combined.

Local Rotary Clubs are independent in the programs they choose to support. For more information contact your hometown Rotary Club.

Oakland County GOP leaders mend fences

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Chairman Jim Alexander made peace with conservative insurgents in the Oakland County Republican Party and won a new two-year term without incident.

"In the end, a consensus is best for our party. I want your input. I've learned," the Birmingham attorney told the GOP executive committee and would-be challenger Robert Anderson of Ferndale.

All elections were unanimous love-ins Thursday night during the executive committee's meeting in the county commissioners auditorium in Pontiac.

During three weeks of negotiations that Alexander described as "intense," Anderson had reportedly demanded as many as three offices in exchange for dropping his challenge.

Alexander insisted the offices weren't his to bargain away.

From the conservative camp, Andy Bergstrom of West Bloomfield was elected treasurer, replacing Dave Lambert of Troy. Alexander nominated Bergstrom.

Cathy Longo of Troy was picked as vice chair, replacing Patricia Wierzbicki of Huntington Woods. Longo is a veteran of the Pappageorge for Congress campaign and was nominated by state Sen. Mike Bouchard of Birmingham.

Linda Kurkechian, vice chair of the county Young Republicans, was picked as senior party secretary. The Southfield resident was credited with recruiting 2,000 volunteers into various 1990 campaigns.

Anderson made Alexander's nominating speech, saying he no longer had "fear of arm-twisting" in the party.

The executive committee is composed of 47 candidates for county and legislative offices and 48 members picked by party delegates.

In an earlier test of strength last month, Anderson had won the chair for one meeting.

That led to widespread speculation that the group loosely called the religious right would attempt a takeover.

National publications say the religious right has taken over the Iowa GOP and has been successful with "stealth" candidates in San Diego County, Calif. Much of the organizing was done through churches by TV evangelist Pat Robertson's Conservative Coalition.

The Michigan GOP had a taste of stealth candidates last August when the state convention nominated candidates for eight state education posts. For example, Pat Hartragle captured 45 percent of the delegates in a State Board of Education bid without visiting a district caucus or putting up a poster.

The next big GOP event will be district conventions Jan. 21 and a state convention Feb. 12-13 in Detroit. The state conclave will pick the party chair.

Even if current chair David Doyle goes unchallenged, indications are the right wing will control several district delegations.

Spring trail ride to benefit hospital

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital announced that CUM Farms in Northville will be conducting a Saddle-Up For St. Jude Trail Ride on May 16, 1993 with a rain date of May 23, 1993.

Locally, Melinda Pilledeitz has volunteered to coordinate the program.

St. Jude Children's Hospital, located in Memphis, Tenn., was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. The institution opened its doors to the public in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases in children. St. Jude is non-sectarian, non-discriminatory, and has provided total medical care to over 12,000 patients. All cost of treatment beyond those reimbursed by insurance are covered by the hospital.

At St. Jude, scientists and physicians work side-by-side, seeking not only better means of treatment, but also the cause, cure, and prevention of these killers. All information gained at St. Jude is shared freely with other hospitals and institutions the world over.

The funds raised in the Saddle-Up for St. Jude program will help to ensure that children with cancer and other life-threatening diseases will have a better chance to live.

RideShare eases trips to Washtenaw

Improvements in the RideShare carpool and vanpool matching service of the Ann Arbor Transportation Authority (ATA) are now making it easier for Wayne County residents commuting into Washtenaw County to share the daily ride.

"Improvements like the development of computerized matching, rather than matching by hand, and the inclusion of RideShare information in a new series of worksite employee transportation programs, are generating interest from more applicants, making it easier to match people successfully," said Lois Crawford, coordinator of the ATA RideShare program.

● Free Matching: Carpool and vanpool matching is available free of charge to local commuters who deal every day with growing traffic and parking problems, particularly in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area, and who understand the benefits of choosing to share rides rather than continuing to drive alone. "Driving alone is a long-standing habit with many commuters. The RideShare program asks drivers to take a look at that habit, learn about the options and make a better, more informed choice," Crawford said.

"Any habit is difficult to break, but, in this case, there are benefits for the driver, as well as for the employer and community."

These benefits include saving money on the costs of gasoline, parking, maintenance and, in some cases, insurance, as well as the reduction in stress that is possible when driving responsibilities are shared.

● Vanpool assistance: In addition to its matching service, ATA's RideShare program assists commuters interested in forming new vanpools in organizing their groups, finding riders, leasing a van through the state's MichiVan program and setting rules for the vanpool group.

In addition to the 15-passenger vans which have been offered through MichiVan for a number of years, smaller seven-passenger minivans are now available for lease for vanpool use.

RideShare also distributes maps of the locations of Michigan Department of Transportation commuter carpool lots and AATA Park-and-Ride lots, where carpools can park free and ride AATA buses to downtown Ann Arbor.

● Mobility Plan: The improvements in the ATA RideShare program have been made as part of a larger plan to improve mobility in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti urban area. The City of Ann Arbor, the University of Michigan and the Ann Arbor Transportation Authority worked cooperatively in 1990 to develop the city's 20-year Comprehensive Transportation Plan, which calls for a five-year effort to reduce traffic and parking demand through ridesharing, mass transit and other demand management strategies, Crawford said.

Commuters may apply for carpool and vanpool matching by telephone, or request that an applicant brochure be mailed, by calling the RideShare coordinator, AATA Community Relations Department at (313) 973-6500.

Cancer Myth #3

"Breast feeding prevents breast cancer."

Some people believe that nursing a baby protects a woman against breast cancer. That's a myth. It's not true. Breast feeding does not protect against breast cancer. Every woman should have a regular breast exam by a doctor, then learn and practice breast self-examination. Some women are more likely to get breast cancer than others. Retiree pitches in to get vests for Novi officers

By JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writer

Jim Willis remembers the exact time to the minute when his life was almost blown away.

October 27, 1987, 5:50 p.m.
The Detroit Police narcotics officer, out on a drug bust, was using a special tool to pry iron bars from the door of house at Seven Mile and Meyers roads.

"They opened up the door with a M-1 carbine. I was hit in the chest and left arm," Willis said.

A bullet-proof safety vest preserved his life, although Willis was left with a third degree burn the size of a tennis ball on his chest and nerve damage to his left arm so debilitating that he retired from the force. He also suffered from blunt trauma caused by the impact of the bullet.

"To this day if I put pressure on my chest, I can feel it. It's like somebody hit you with a sledge hammer," Willis said.

Today, the Dunbarton Pines resident is wholeheartedly backing a drive to purchase safety vests for the Novi police. The vests deflect knives as well as bullets.

Frank Brennan launched Protect-A-Cop, a one-man, non-profit campaign in October. Since then, he's been interviewed in newspapers, on television and the radio.

He's raised $2,000 to date, ten percent on the way to his goal of $20,000. The bullet proof vests cost about $500 apiece.

All of the money will go to buying the vests, Brennan said, none to promoting the project.

The department does not issue the vest to the officers. While the union, the Novi Police Officers Association, purchases them for new recruits, the vests wear out in about five years. Brennan said he'd like to supply veteran cops with up-to-date equipment.

Novi Police Chief Douglas Shaeffer and Detective Frank Barabas support Protect-A-Cop, he added.

Brennan's interest in the issue stems from his friendship with Novi police officers who are his fellow players on a softball team. The president of the Echo Valley Estates homeowners association, he is known locally for the long battle he led against the Southern Michigan Oil Company's (SO-MOCO) fight to sink an oil well near the subdivision.

"I can look at them more as people than as cops. I know them. I know their families. It troubles me to think that one of them wouldn't have a safety vest," Brennan said.

He has received some support from local businesses. Cottage Inn Pizza has agreed to glue his flyers onto their pizza boxes. Security Bank and Trust, where an account for the donations is held, has posters up. Also promoting Protect-A-Cop is the local tanning salon, Totally Tan.

But Brennan would like to see more activity from Novi's business sector.

"I'm still a little disappointed the business community has not jumped on it," he said.

"It's been slow . . . I'm still plugging away. I haven't found that corporate sponsor, that Mike Illich coming along to say, 'Hey, I'll help you.'"

Brennan says he's willing to do just about anything to raise money for Protect-A-Cop — except sell Tupperware. The project must be squeezed into his free time. He is an account manager at Robin-Sinar Inc., a Plymouth firm which makes industrial lasers.

"A year from now, I'd like to be able to walk up to any cop and say 'do you have your vest on?' By God, it would destroy me if I picked up the paper on Thursday and learned a cop not wearing a vest was shot," he said.

The Novi police hope to purchase vests made by Second Chance, a Central Lake, Michigan firm. The material, Kevlar, is about a quarter-inch thick and the vests weigh about 2.5 pounds.

"It's incredible stuff. It's like wearing a driving glove," Brennan said.

Willis says that if the equipment is bought, he'd like to see it become part of the Novi police department's regulation uniform.

"I hope this takes off, I really do. I'd like to see it mandatory. If they supply the vests, I want to make sure these guys wear them," he said.

"It's like wearing a watch. You start wearing it and you get used to it. You feel naked without it."

Brennan says the idea behind Protect-A-Cop isn't to imply that Novi has a crime problem, but that tragedy can hit any community.

No Novi police officer has been shot since 1954. That luck may not hold. As Willis sees it, Novi's position as a rapidly growing city positioned on the freeway with several regional shopping centers makes it a prime candidate for quick hit-and-run crimes.

"It could happen anywhere, anytime. Any time an officer approaches a stopped vehicle," Willis said.

Not long after Willis was shot, a campaign was launched to raise money to buy Detroit officers the vests. In Detroit, they are only mandatory for the narcotics squad.

"My mother even donated money to it," he said. "I'm a firm believer."

Send donations to Protect-A-Cop, in care of the Security Bank and Trust, P.O. Box 1135, Southgate, MI, 48195.

Sledding banned at Maybury Park

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

What used to be a winter playground is nothing more than a fenced-in dirt hill at Maybury State Park.

Park rangers have closed down the once popular sledding hill because of the hazards the hill now poses for sledders.

The hill, which was not mowed or manicured this year, is fenced in and signs are posted around it declare it is off limits to sledders.

Maybury park rangers say closing the hill is a directive of the state's Department of Natural Resources. Rangers say a lawsuit at another state park triggered the move.

"A recent law suit at a State Recreation Area has initiated the DNR Parks Division to rethink their position on sledding hills," according to a press release park officials sent out last week. "After a risk assessment it was decided Maybury's sledding hill was at a high risk."

Park officials say the move is effective immediately and will remain in effect for an "indefinite time." Even though park officials closed the hill they will continue to groom the cross country ski trails and rent ski equipment.

DDA plan statement gets hammered out whether their statement should focus on Mainstreet '92 as a tool to rectify an existing parking shortage or allow for future development.

Word took the position that the proposed 480-space deck would do little more than meet the current need for downtown parking, as well as the demand from the proposed CadyCentre and Long developments. "We should probably be criticized for not building the deck big enough in the first place, to handle the Cady Corridor growth and other growth," he said.

But Johnson pointed out that floors can be added to the structure in the future, unlike the current crumbling deck.

"I think you've also got to convince people that this deck is necessary to maintain what's already there," said School Board Member Jean Hansen, suggesting that the DDA has not yet convinced the community of that.

DDA Member Dave Larsen wanted to emphasize the small percentage of tax revenue that tax capturing represents to the other taxing units affected by Mainstreet '92, noting that Mainstreet '78's ongoing withholding of $300,000 from the Northville Public Schools is only 1.5 percent of the schools' overall budget. But the suggestion met with little favor from School Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski, who has sat in on several recent DDA sessions.

"We're two days away from going bankrupt in terms of fund equity," Rezmierski argued. The school system has only two days' worth of operating funds in its fund reserve, though the school board's goal is to be at or over 5 percent.

"But you have one," Johnson said with a smile, referring to the city's lack of any fund reserve.

Schools accused of rejecting DARE

The board also agreed to put the DARE program on a curriculum subcommittee agenda. The date of that meeting is expected to be announced at the next board meeting scheduled in January.

Tuesday, Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski said he was confident a reasonable decision regarding the DARE program could be made after the district reviews it as well as other drug abuse education programs, such as QUEST, PRIDE and Insight.

"We have a precious amount of time with kids," he said. "We need a healthy balance with something the parents support. There's a lot of things we want to teach, but just don't have the time. It will be a matter of blending all of the best things together. To say that I have had a closed mind about this (implementing DARE) couldn't be further from the truth. You can't be closed-minded and be a superintendent. It just isn't possible."

Our Opinion

McMini-station merits careful examination

Yes, we snickered a bit too when we first heard of McDonald's Restaurants' proposal to reserve a table for the Northville Township Police at the store at Six Mile and Haggerty Roads.

McDonald's offered to set aside a table, complete with its own dedicated phone line, for officers to use as a mini-station, for filling out forms and what-not. Frankly, we weren't aware that the problem with the Hamburglar had gotten that bad.

On a more serious note, we thought it just a little bit duplicative to set up a police mini-station at Six Mile and Haggerty. Why wouldn't the officers go to police headquarters just a mile to the west? With more thoughtful examination, though, the merits of the idea become evident.

The Northville Township Police Department and the Township fire department's First Responder program pride themselves on rapid response times. Indeed, it was a quick police response that apprehended a murder suspect at the Meijer store at Eight Mile and Haggerty last August. But even the best can always get better.

The Haggerty corridor remains one of the busiest areas of response for police and emergency services. The Meijer store at Eight Mile and Haggerty alone accounts for a significant portion of police calls, as does the Hampton Inn Hotel at the same intersection.

Remember, too, that the Six Mile and Haggerty intersection is one of the worst in the area for traffic accidents. The possibility that officers might be within earshot would insure a rapid response by emergency personnel, and could perhaps save a life one day.

Choose any one of the township's intersections along Haggerty. All claim more than their share of fender benders. Getting a police officer to the scene quickly for evaluation will guarantee a better quality of emergency response. The Six Mile McDonald's would make a good stepping-off point for any dispatches along the Haggerty corridor.

Perhaps the best reason for placing the police mini-station in McDonald's concerns the restaurant itself, however.

For quite some time, the McDonald's restaurant at Five Mile and Haggerty has been a locus for teen vandalism and loitering, problems our community doesn't need any more of. The opening of the Six Mile store this year prompted the corporation to announce that the Five Mile location would shut down this coming spring.

Our worst fear would be to see a northward migration of the nuisances of the Five Mile store this summer when the schools let out. The presence of officers in the restaurant, or even the possibility that they might show up at any time, may be enough to ward off trouble.

If that was McDonald's intention with this offer, the company deserves a pat on the back for its foresight.

Even if it wasn't, it's a generous gesture on the part of a corporate giant that, to be honest, didn't exactly get the red carpet treatment when it first proposed building a store at Six Mile Road.

Best of all, there's no cost at all to the community for this mini-station. McDonald's is providing the service free of charge to the township. There may be no such thing as a free lunch, but at least you can get a table and a phone.

We offer just one caveat to the township with regard to McDonald's offer. Police Chief Chip Snider pointed out at a recent township board meeting that citizens might draw parallels to the stereotype of cops loafing at doughnut shops. He raises a legitimate concern, but the solution is a matter of internal discipline for which he himself will be responsible.

If the township's officers are inclined to spend their time lounging at McDonald's when they should be doing their jobs, they don't need a reserved table to do it. Snider should make it clear to his officers that the privilege of a booth at McDonald's comes with the understanding that it is a work station and not an officers' lounge.

McDonald's mini-station could be a vehicle for more efficient police work, and would prove the company's earlier declarations that it wants to be a good neighbor. But it could also serve to amplify slack discipline to the embarrassment of both parties.

Tales from the Mothers' Club

Good grief, is it really almost Christmas already? Seems like we got done with the last one only a couple of weeks ago.

At any rate, it really is almost Christmas and I'm in pretty good shape. The cards are sent, and I've only got two or three more gifts to get, so it looks like I'll make it through another year.

MOTHERS CLUB PARTY: The good news is that I managed to get in and out of the annual Mothers' Club Party without causing any additional embarrassment to myself or my spouse.

We attended the party at Kevin and Linda Clark's house, and a fine party it was too. Co-hosts were George and Margaret Surdu, John and Marilyn Robison, and David and Kathi Jerome.

The last time I attended a Mothers' Club Party at the Clark residence, two individuals who shall go unnamed (David Jerome and Chris Gazlay) created a stir by being unable to resist the urge to climb through a window that led from the living room to an addition which the Clark had added to their home.

I thought it was kind of funny so I mentioned it in a column which, I understand, created some consternation in certain circles.

I went looking for the infamous window when I was at this year's party, but found it was gone — replaced with a doorway.

"You're looking for that window, aren't you?" asked Linda when she saw me staring at the wall where it used to be.

"True," I confessed.

"Well, we finally replaced the window, but I've got another story for you," she said.

"You know Kevin's an engineer, and you know how engineers are about engineering things," she continued. "Well, do you see that hutch in the family room? Kevin made it, and he's really proud of it."

"It's a nice piece of furniture, but what he doesn't want anyone to know is that he built it in the basement. I kept asking him if it was going to fit up the stairs, and he kept saying that he was an engineer and had already taken that into account."

"But when he finished it and we tried to move it upstairs, it wouldn't fit. So, he had to take it apart to get it upstairs and then reassembled it in the family room."

"That's a wonderful story, Linda," I told her.

"I knew you'd be disappointed about the window, so I wanted to give you something else to write about," she said.

"What a thoughtful hostess," I exclaimed. "And I know Kevin will get a kick out of it too."

SIDEBAR TO PARTY STORY: Among the people we met at the party were Don and Karen Kirms, who have moved within the past year. The Kirms, have lived all over the country, most recently in New Jersey, and they shared some observations.

First, they moved into the Northville School District with considerable forethought. One of the people who impressed them was Assistant Principal Ralph Redmond. "He was very helpful and very enthusiastic," they said.

Second, they couldn't get over how people in this area of the U.S. decorate their homes for the holidays. "Not just Christmas," said Don, "but all the holidays. People even decorate their houses for Halloween."

"It really makes for kind of a warm feeling."

House ignores dwindling jobs

News item: General Motors will close two, maybe three, more auto plants in Michigan. The state will lose more than 30,000 high-paying auto jobs over the next four years just from GM's downsizing.

News item: On the last day of session, the Michigan Legislature voted overwhelmingly to sweeten its already rich pension program. Outgoing House Speaker Lewis Dodak and House Republican leader Donald Van Singel, both beneficiaries of the new rules, both voted for the measure. Gov. John Engler, who also stood to benefit, wisely vetoed the measure last Friday.

Reasonable conclusion: Our legislative leaders are far more interested in feathering their own nests than in dealing with Michigan's economic problems.

Supporting evidence: Just a few things the Legislature failed to do this year include school finance reform, property tax relief, health care cost containment, auto insurance cost limits, unemployment compensation reform, campaign finance reform and ethics-in-government measures.

Hidden fact: This year's appropriation for the Michigan State Legislature is $91 million. That doesn't include the pension program.

Obvious question: What are we getting for our money?

The big issue: Michigan's economy. It's in trouble. Best estimates are that we have lost something like 180,000 manufacturing jobs over the past 20 years. These are good jobs, paying good wages and bringing good benefits. They drove our state's prosperity. Now they are dying up. Obviously the Legislature isn't going to do anything.

What's Engler's strategy? Over all, it has been to hack away at costs of state government and hold the line on taxes during a recession.

Obvious comment: OK, but what has been the strategic vision for bringing back Michigan's economy? For the first two years of the administration, there appear to have been three elements, none implemented.

1. Cut property taxes. "Cut & Cap" was resoundingly defeated.

2. Push exports. The guy who was supposed to run the program got fired last month.

3. Improve the business climate. Some measures are stalled in the Democratic House, but issues such as product liability reform and unemployment insurance changes are bottled up in GOP-controlled committees in the Senate.

Is this adequate? Nope. Especially not in the face of GM's downsizing and a recession ending too slowly.

What will Engler do? My guess is he'll put on a policy blitz in the State of the State and budget messages, both in January. In place of the mossbacked ideological passivism of the last two years, the governor will become an activist for the economy.

Look for stuff on job training, maybe something to reduce business taxes (yet again) and something to encourage universities in the technology transfer area.

My view: This is just fussing with the edges of the problem. We need a strategic vision of what Michigan's economy is going to become and an action plan of how to get there that deals with fundamentals.

Maybe that's the real reason our elected leaders are so preoccupied with their pension benefits once out of office.

Schools closed minds to DARE

To the Editor:
If you research it . . . they will listen.

Or so one would hope. It appears, according to comments made by Dr. McMaster, that the Northville Board of Education and administrators have again closed their minds to constructive suggestions from the community. The recent results of the Alcohol and Other Drug Survey clearly indicate the community has a severe alcohol and drug problem. More alarmingly, the age of use has declined . . . meaning your youngsters are using drugs at an earlier age than previously identified through these surveys.

The reaction of the Administration has been nothing short of complacency. Mr. Patak's comments that Dr. Reznierski digs his hands into his pockets and claims no ownership of the problem is true. I've been in attendance at many of those meetings. Mr. Reznierski contends this is a "community" problem. I agree, but our schools are a large component of this community. The Township's new supervisor, Karen Baja, is to be commended for recognizing that her "child" community is critical to the future of her township community. From my city children . . . Thank you Ms. Baja.

On the other hand, Dr. McMaster continues to cast shadows on the DARE program. Her contentions that the program, FREE to the community, is funded through "soft dollars" is true. However, it appears that many of the monies for public school education are "soft" and may go away at any time in the future. We can't stop planning for the future because we are afraid of what it might hold. Not writing a grant for the DARE program makes no sense . . . this program is a Win-Win-Win situation. Mr. and Mrs. Patak have invested a great deal of their time and energy over the past several months researching how DARE can be integrated into our curriculum. They have made it paramount to incorporate the program, not to disrupt the existing curriculum. Numerous surrounding school districts have been contacted for recommendations and they are incredulous that Northville Public Schools will not even consider this exemplary program. The DARE program has a proven success record. Communities have documented that students participating in the program do, in fact, internalize their lessons on drug awareness and resistance. Even more, this program helps kids become more comfortable resisting their peer group in all sorts of negative situations.

I would ask the board of education and the administrators to put aside their personal issues and put the needs of our student community first. Read Charlie Sillie's column in the Dec. 10, 1992, issue of The Northville Record. Our student community is begging us to make things better. Come and listen to what DARE can do to improve our community on Jan. 12 at 7 p.m. at Moraine Elementary School. Come with an open mind, learn about the program and voice your concerns. I will feel much better if your final decision is an educated one. Let's work together.

Debbie Faber

Prove school's program works

To the Editor:
I find it interesting to see the Northville Board of Education again in the midst of a community battle. This time it is not the budget or the millage, but a curriculum issue dealing with drugs. Surely after reading the Alcohol and Other Drug Survey, with Northville High School students scoring five points above the national average, you would think assistance, advice and encouragement from the township supervisor, the chief of police of the largest segment of the district population, and a vice president of one of their own Parent Teacher Associations (PTA) would be, at the very least, publicly acknowledged and reviewed.

Let me offer a suggestion to the board. If your program is working, prove it. You have baseline data from the Alcohol and Other Drug Survey. A good drug education program could cause our children's drug use to score below the national average. If it isn't working, establish a curriculum committee to combine Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) efforts with Sillie's Safe Homes Program.

Louis A. Reibling

He'd give his $25 million to the community

To the Editor:
What would I do if I had $25,000,000?

Take care of my family, first of all. Endow each of my grandchildren with ample college scholarship funds, pay off my debts, endow all my children with funds to relieve them of any future financial problems and then sit down with a financial planner and map out how I could pay back to my community for some of the things it has given me over the years.

Here is a short list of things Northville needs that $25 million could help provide:

1. A cultural center with areas for library, public auditorium and meeting rooms

2. Adequate funds to help restore the city budget as well as school financing.

What would you do with $25,000,000?

Co-op preschool gives head start

To the Editor:

The Northville Co-op Preschool has been a part of my life for eight years. This well organized and stimulating organization has helped my four children with a great start with their education.

Forty-one years ago Northville Co-op got organized and has been growing ever since. Some of the members in our preschool today were in the co-op when they were preschoolers. What a great tradition to pass on to their children.

This preschool has three different teachers who are dedicated to help the needs of toddlers to 4-year-olds. The Northville Co-op is a great way not only for the children to make friends but many parents make new friends too. Tuition for this program is just a fraction of other preschools in this area. Part of being in the co-op means being able to work in the classroom and see how your child relates to others. The co-op is a great way for any child to receive his or her first learning experience.

As publicity chairperson for the co-op I am writing this letter to the editor to encourage all those parents who have children age 3 or 4 to consider the co-op. We do have openings for these classes. We do hope you at least consider the co-op for your child. Come and give us a try. We are located at the Presbyterian Church in Northville. The address is 200 E. Main St. Come and visit us, or call our membership (Nancy) at 348-1791.

Beavers come and go at Island Lake

I was third to see them, but first to call the Department of Natural Resources office at Island Lake. "Did you know you have — or had — beaver in the park?" I asked. "No, I've never heard of any here," replied Joanne Strimatter, who has been manager there for two years.

Island Lake State Recreation Area straddles the Huron River as it flows southwest from old Grand River Road to US 23. Deer, owl, turkey vultures, muskrat, fox — sure.

But beaver? My nature guide says they're found "as far south as Muskegon-Bay City line." But this is Livingston County, with two freeways, lots of suburban homes and, if Green Oak Township had its way, industry too.

I've canoed the Huron uncounted times and walked hundreds of miles of trails since moving back to the area 25 years ago. But neither I nor anyone I know had ever spotted beaver there, less than an hour out of Detroit.

First to spot the beaver was the trapper who had skinned them and left the bodies on the edge of a wetland draining into a pond. Trapping is legal if you have a license.

Second was Kirsten, my Norwegian elkhound. An elkhound is a superb tracker. Kirsten can smell frozen meat through an insulated brick wall. Now 11 and a bit arthritic, she doesn't rocket around anymore, but she likes cold-weather hikes. She sticks to the trail except when she smells tracks or meat. Kirsten thawed some beaver meat with her hot breath and had a midday snack.

Kirsten the elkhound, whose nose knows.

"I'd say they were there a couple of days before you found them," said DNR officer Luba Sitar when I led her back to the spot. The skeletons hadn't been disturbed at all. "The lungs are still intact," she noted.

We pondered the possibility that the trapper snared them somewhere else and left the skinned bodies at Island Lake. But why? If it was a hoax, why didn't the perpetrator plant them along a trail instead of a place where only an elkhound could find them?

The bodies were in an environment that could be home to beaver. This wasn't like finding Hemingway's frozen leopard on the snows of Mt. Killmanjaro.

We explored the immediate area for signs of blood from the skinning process. No luck. But the heavy rains could have washed away any blood.

I wondered if the DNR had stocked this pair, but Sitar said no.

No dam was visible. Beaver usually build dams — but not always. Each of us had seen beaver in undammed areas. They can build a lodge in a wetland.

"They were good-sized adults," she said of the bodies, which stretched nearly three feet from square nose to the black, scaly, paddle-like tail. "Maybe they had a brood."

If I hadn't spotted the tails and the splayed rear legs while looking for Kirsten, I would have taken the bodies for lunker carp, which inhabit that section of the nearby Huron River. I took photos, but you wouldn't want to see them in the paper.

The pond has a muddy bank around 80 percent of its shore. The area has acres and acres of impenetrable swamp (or perhaps I should stick to the politically correct term, "wetland") and jungle-like brush.

Although the Island Lake area has thousands of visitors annually, vast expanses are impassable. Kirsten and I were checking out this pond for ice fishing purposes. She loves fresh bluegill.

The officer was glad I had found the beaver, though we both regretted their demise.

The officer and I hoped the beaver kids, if any, would survive. We promised to keep watching. Kirsten will help.

Revised strategic plan cements goals

Approximately 100 Action Planning Team volunteers are currently writing plans to implement the strategies agreed upon by the Strategic Planning Team at its second annual update.

The updated strategic plan represents the shared vision for the district of the 25-member planning team. It emphasizes student learning outcomes and structuring the organization of the entire district in such a manner as to "ensure all students demonstrate the skills, knowledge and attitudes to achieve personal success and to become responsible citizens . . ." The plan definitely recognizes that it is the student who is our primary client.

This revised strategic plan builds upon the first strategic plan. While some of the strategies from the original plan have become operational, others have been incorporated into the three new strategies. The focus of the three strategies is the:

1. Development of essential learning outcomes, performance standards and assessment.
 2. Design of a system which ensures planning and goal setting for the individual student which challenges him/her to go beyond the essential outcomes.
 3. Structuring of the organization along principles of total quality to ensure each student learns his/her identified outcomes.
- These strategies tell how the district will accomplish its objectives in order to realize its mission. The Action Planning Teams will formulate detailed descriptions of the specific actions that are required to achieve the results that are necessary for implementing the strategies. They will form several plans for each strategy — all step by step directions to enable each strategy to become operational.
- Those of us who served on the Strategic Planning Team recognize the visionary nature of the revised strategic plan. While we were a diverse group, we all believe that the student is the customer and that student learning is our top priority. We envision a school system which ensures that each student is successful.

Having served on both Strategic Planning Teams, it is obvious to me that the revised plan definitely evolved from the original. It has as its basis the same beliefs that drove the first plan. The major difference is that we, as a group, formulated a plan that truly reflected those beliefs. If we really believe that all students can learn — but that they learn in different ways and at different rates — then we need to be about the business of deciding what it is they should know, and be able to structure our system in a manner that makes learning for all a reality. That is exactly what the Action Planning Teams will work on over the course of the next few months.

BURTON SNOWBOARDS

AND A PROGRESSIVE SELECTION OF READY TO SHRED CLOTHING AND ACCESSORIES FOR CHRISTMAS GIFT GIVING

Great Christmas Gifts
Blades • Pads • Accessories

Dear Santa,

I'm writing to you on behalf of some of the kids who forgot to write you this year, or those who think you forgot what they whispered in your ear when they saw you at the mall.

Even though most kids believe you'll remember what they asked for, I told them that I would write to you just to remind you.

So here it goes. It's a long and varied list, but I think it will just about cover all of your bases. For starters there are plenty of boys and girls in Mrs. Wineman's first grade class that are hoping for Power Wheels and Creepy Crawlers machines.

Matthew Roberts really wants a Power Wheel so "I can drive down to my Grandma's house ... it's right down the street."

Stuart Smith wants the same so he "can chase after my dog."

While many are hoping for Power Wheels still more are anxiously awaiting that Creepy Crawlers thing. Could you pick one up for Billy Reigner, Mathew Roberts, Stuart Smith, Elizabeth Curlew, and Joey Doyle.

Even Amy Hudgins wants one.

"I want a Creepy Crawlers machine so I can make them and stick them on my Daddy's glasses and scare my mom with 'em," she said.

Rachel Kowalski says she wants one too because "I don't like dolls and Barbies that much," she said. "I like bugs because they are neat. I used to have two lizards."

Kowalski who was pretty emphatic about making sure you knew her name sounds just like that popular sausage maker, said she also wants a book about fish, a Cabbage Patch doll, and pajamas.

Rebecca Johnson's list is pretty short. Just a Baby Alive and a Barbie car in which she can ride along with Barbie will do. The same holds true for Lauren Slubowski who wants just a Power Wheel and a Precious Moments figurine.

And once again those Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles are in high demand.

But Kendall Michaluk thinks you already know that he wants those.

"I think he already know what I want because I ask for it every year," he said. "It's the turtles, and this year I want the turtle bubble bomb too."

Even though Ryan Serge said he doesn't have much room in his basement for any more toys, he'd still like a few more.

"My basement is all filled up. I can hardly move," he said. "But I still want him to bring me a keyboard and some video games."

Now bear with me on this one but Steven Pryce wants something called "The Claw" and My Pal Too.

"My Pal Too can play baseball with you," he said. And if you think of it, he'd like a new baseball bat too.

Nathanael Stevenson said he's already mailed you his list and a letter, but wanted to remind you that he's hoping you bring him a Ghostwriter and games for his Sega-Genesis system. The same for Tony Castel who said he's been pretty good this year and has a new surprise for you at his house.

"I told him I was good in my letter and then I put the letter into the machine at the mall," Castel said. "I also told him that I have a new baby sister and asked him if he would bring her a few presents too."

But while Castel was thinking of both he and his sister's behalf, Billy Riegner wasn't.

"I don't like my brother so I didn't ask Santa to bring him anything," Riegner said. "But I did ask for a Michigan football, boxes of football and baseball cards and cases for them."

Mouse Trap and Domino Rally topped off the list of games this year for some. But then others had some really unique ideas on their lists. Take Michael Kelly's list for instance. He wants a hat like yours and a bear that plays his favorite Christmas song "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer."

Since he didn't write his own letter, he asked me to tell you that he's been a good boy this year too.

Now Jimmy Holden is the adventurous type. He wants things that will help emulate his heroes. So if you can, a Peter Pan sword, a James Bond Jr. Watch and a globe would be great. Oh, and one other thing he saw in a book.

"I want one bell from the reindeer," he said. "If the boy in the book can get one, I don't know why I can't."

Now Alex Molinar made a list for you but it's at home. It's a picture list so you would know what he wanted for sure.

"My list is at home but I know there was a VCR on it, but I can't remember every thing else 'cause I got so much on it," he said.

Alyssa Panning is hoping you know about these Kitty and Puppy Surprises. She would like the Kitty version along with Baby Alive, Mouse Trap, and a Barbie car she can ride in.

I'm sure by now that you've gotten Elizabeth Curlew's letter already because she mailed it to you from the Livonia Mall. But just in case it's not right at your fingertips, she would like both the Puppy and the Kitty Surprise and an Aladdin book and Princess Jasmine.

Amy Hudgins can't wait for that Kitty Surprise because it's probably the closest she'll get to a feline pet.

"I can't have a real one because my Dad is allergic to real ones," she said.

Real or fake makes no difference to Katie Kneisel who wants a real puppy for her other dog to play with and a Puppy Surprise.

She also wants new bedroom curtains and, well, pink is all right because she used to have pink ones but they broke.

She sends you her love and wishes you a Merry Christmas too, but wanted to add a few things.

"...a tight skirt, cowboy boots in a size 2 and a fat Santa Claus," she said.

And Brett Eathorne has a pretty tall order for you. "A blue wallet to put money in, cowboy boots, sunglasses, a computer and an army hat," he said.

Joey Doyle said he forgot to write a list or a letter to you but he was quick to rattle off a few ideas.

"Creepy Crawlers, a Lamborghini telephone, Super Nintendo, Neo Geo Genesis, and Turbo Graphics for my computer at home."

Well that's about it except for Mrs. Wineman's list. She would like just a little soul doll. Now the kids all said she's been good this year in the classroom, but I'm sure you already know that.

Thanks a lot and have a safe trip. Kiss Rudolph for me.

Dettore puts charge in Novi's SPARK plugs

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

"Gentlemen, start your engines." And so they do, and eventually some of those great race drivers come to Novi to be inducted in Motorsports Museum and Hall of Fame of America.

When they do Linda Dettore, who is vice-president of SPARK (Society for the Preservation of American Racing Knowledge), helps make their stay in the area a pleasant one.

This year Dettore took charge of a fleet of Cadillac courtesy cars and made sure every person was at the right place at the right time.

Since she is also a member of Novi Ambassadors, the town greeters who meet conventions and organizations to help familiarize them with the area, she knew the routine.

In fact, that's how SPARK started in 1989 when she was an Ambassador for Motorsports Hall of Fame inductees.

"SPARK started out with six or eight members," Dettore said, "and now we have 35 men and women in age from teens to seniors. It's a diversified group — a lot of fun."

"Oh, it's work too," she said. Lately they've been getting ready for the Jan. 9 grand opening of the Museum's new setting at the Expo Center. They'll have a memorabilia auction, a buffet dinner, and a band for dancing. And the public is invited — for $40 a ticket.

To turn the center into a ballroom, she said, "We've swept the exposition floor, hung dry wall, and painted the museum."

Membership in SPARK is a $15 annual fee and a pledge to commit 20 hours of voluntary service annually (not including time spent attending special events) and also attendance at four general membership meetings a year.

Whatever your expertise, SPARK can use it. It can be art, computers, event painting, exhibit design, fund raising, publicity, ticket sales, secretarial, telephoning, stuffing envelopes, etc.

If you have questions, call Linda Dettore at 474-0521 or 349-RACE.

Kissinger takes slopes by storm in patrol uniform

Northville's Mari Kissinger is busy now hitting the books. But soon she hopes to be hitting the slopes to do what she loves most. As a member of the National Ski Patrol, Kissinger is a volunteer on the team that provides medical care to skiers.

Her dedication and commitment to her cause has also earned her recognition. Last year as a senior, the 18-year-old Kissinger worked on the Mt. Brighton patrol team. For her efforts there she was named Brighton's Junior Patroler of the Year. That title was quickly replaced at the end of last season with Student Patroler of the Year for the entire 10-state Midwest region. But her kudos haven't stopped there.

At the national convention of the National Ski Patrol held in Kentucky last summer, Kissinger was surprised to learn she was named second in the nation. Mari's mother Sue said she and her husband were proud to accompany her daughter to the awards ceremony in Kentucky.

"She really had no idea," Sue said. "She's an excellent skier, you have to be on the patrol. But it's a big commitment too."

Semi-formal attire is requested and the Ladies of Charity are asking guests to bring a gift for a child. Tickets are available only until Dec. 16.

The double-ring ceremony was held by candlelight. The Rev. Sharon L. Janot officiated.

The bride wore a white satin sheath gown with a lace and pearl beaded portrait collar and bodice with a detachable long satin train. The veil was a crown with a cluster of pearls with soft layers of pouf and a fingertip veil. She carried a tear drop crescent-shaped bouquet of calla lilies, white roses, Lady Di roses, and white elegance freesia draping down.

Michele Anderson of Holt, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Andrea Eason of West Bloomfield, sister of the groom; Susan Ermel of Ypsilanti; Sherry Layton of Phoenix, Ariz.; Beth Roberts of Phoenix, Ariz.; Lisa Mougianis of Ypsilanti; and Deena Stackhouse of Pensacola, Fla. Miranda Gulibo of Elmhurst, Ill. was the flower girl.

Emil Muccino, brother of the groom, of Livonia was the best man. Charles Davis and Steve Gulibo were ringbearers.

The reception was held at Weber's Inn in Ann Arbor.

The couple honeymooned for two weeks in Oahu, Maui and Kauai, Hawaii. They met while boating on Ford Lake.

The bride is a graduate of Pinckney High School and is currently a flight attendant for Southwest Airlines in Phoenix, Ariz.

The groom is a Northville High School graduate and an Idaho State University graduate. He works as a carpenter and is an extreme snow skier in Jackson Hole, Wyo.

The couple will reside in Ypsilanti.

Donna & Bernard Brosnan Jr.

Donna Sue Dunnabeck of Northville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dunnabeck Jr. of Northville; and Bernard Joseph Brosnan, Jr. of Dearborn Heights, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Brosnan of Dearborn Heights, were joined in a double-ring wedding ceremony at Our Lady of Victory Church. The May 23 wedding was officiated by Fr. Bob Byrne, a friend of the family.

Woman's Club Centennial Moment

The first 25 years of the Northville Woman's Club were years of establishment and growth. The club began with only two officers, but by the 25th anniversary a system similar to the one used today had been established. Very near the 25th year meetings began to be held in the Old Library Building (which is today the New School Church) at Mill Race Village on South Wing Street. The building was donated to the community by the second president, Dr. Mary Lapham. The library was closed to the public on the afternoons of meetings.

Programs were scholarly in nature and usually three or more reports were presented at each meeting. Many years saw themes develop for the entire program year. The topic might be something like "The Land of the Chinese." Many countries, dynasties and authors were researched and reported upon.

The organization was internal in nature. Publicity was frowned upon. Unfortunately this desire for anonymity makes research somewhat difficult particularly for the early years when no program books existed. We know that in addition to the papers presented at each meeting, games and other activities occurred.

A critic was appointed in 1901. Her responsibility was to gather comments on reports from the membership and to report back the findings at a subsequent meeting. The intent no doubt was aimed at the self-improvement nature of the organization. Debates also appear to have been a major form of entertainment. This form of entertainment was typical in the social atmosphere of the community as well.

Profits from pins will benefit AIDS

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

You've probably seen the red ribbons.

Whenever there is any type of awards show on television, celebrities appear on stage with a single red ribbon, one end looped over the other with the loop pointing up, pinned to their clothing.

The ribbons symbolize caring and concern for those who are afflicted with the AIDS virus.

They also symbolize the need to find a cure, to support those who are already suffering, and to work toward greater education and understanding.

Now Hudson's department stores have picked up on the ribbon theme by offering a $12 pin called "A Symbol of Caring." An unspecified portion of the proceeds is earmarked to go toward AIDS-related organizations.

The pin is cast enamel outlined in gold and can be found in the store's fashion jewelry department. Hudson's public relations spokesperson Chris Morrisroe said the pin was designed for Hudson's with the intent of furthering AIDS awareness.

"It was created to be a permanent reminder of our need for knowledge about AIDS and to show support for all groups actively fighting the disease," she said.

"The design of the pin duplicates the same red ribbon seen worn by numerous celebrities and athletes to signify their concern for those afflicted with AIDS."

In addition to the Twelve Oaks Mall Hudson's, the pin is also on sale at Hudson's stores in Northland, Westland, Oakland, Southland, Genesee Valley, Franklin Park, Briarwood, Fairland, Fashion Square, Lakeside, Glenbrook Square and Lansing Mall locations in Michigan.

It is also on sale at other Hudson's locations in other states. The original idea for the pin came out of the department store chain's Minneapolis headquarters.

Farrell returns for new series

The Northville Arts Commission will sponsor Michael Farrell in a new, three-lecture art series.

The lectures take listeners on a voyage of art and architecture around the globe. The path travels a route opposite the one Columbus took in 1492, and meets him upon his arrival in the new world.

Patrons of this series will be delighted by the wit and style of Michael Farrell, a delightful raconteur and knowledgeable art historian. This year, the ambience of Genitt's Little Theater is an added benefit.

Advance ticket sales are for season tickets only and are priced at $15 for the entire series.

Michael Farrell's Wednesday night lectures will include the topics "Sailing to Byzantium," Jan. 20; "The Pleasure Domes of Kubla Khan," Feb. 17; and "Children of the Sun," March 17. Each lecture will be at 7:30 in Genitt's Little Theater, 112 E. Main, Northville. Seating is limited to 132.

Checks may be made out to the Northville Arts Commission for $15 and will reserve your seating for the entire series. Mail checks to Joann Dayton, 42085 Banbury, Northville 48167.

For more information call Dayton at 347-9664 or P. Dorrian-Sandbothe at 349-8719.

Q&A

By WILLIAM T. TOMICKI
New York Times Travel Syndicate

Q: Can we reserve tickets for the Paris opera before leaving the United States?

A: Tickets to the Opera Bastille, Opera Palais Garnier and Opera Comique can be booked and purchased through H.S.A. Voyages, an agent in New York City.

They locate first-class orchestra seats, which are the most expensive tickets, but there is a "bargain" element.

H.S.A. sells the tickets at face value plus a $20 reservation fee per order — not per ticket. Customarily, advance tickets to the Paris theater are located through advertisements and promotions in the Paris media or through a hotel concierge. In these cases the service fee can be as high as $70 per ticket.

If your trip is a week or longer, it's a good idea to pick two or three optional dates to ease the search. For details call H.S.A. Voyages at (212) 689-5400. Information is also available from your local travel agent.

Q: Where is the "Last Capitol of the Confederacy?"

A: At the end of the Civil War, a Victorian mansion in the center of Danville, Va., owned by Major W.T. Sutherland, was used as the last seat of the Confederacy. Jefferson Davis' cabinet met there and drew up final strategies for surrender to the Union Army.

The home is now the site of the Danville Museum of Fine Arts and History. On display are rare books and documents, fine American paintings, plantation furniture, Civil War artifacts, quilts, toys and textiles.

The site is on "Millionaire's Row," a historic district lined with Victorian mansions. For details write the Danville Museum of Fine Arts and History, 975 Main St., Danville, Va. 24541 or call (804) 793-5644. Information is also available from your local travel agent.

Q: Where and how is ice wine made?

A: Ice wine is produced by several Canadian vintners in Ontario's Niagara Falls region.

The grapes are harvested in December or January, depending how cold the weather has been. Cycles of freezing and thawing dehydrate the grapes and concentrate the sugars, extracts and acids. While frozen, the grapes are handpicked and pressed. The yield averages as little as one drop per berry.

Ice wine has an intense, sweet flavor similar to a tropical fruit. Two of Ontario's finest ice-wine vintners are Vineland Estates, R.R. 1, Vineland, Ontario LOR 2C0 (416-562-7088) and Inniskillin Wines Inc., R.R. 1, Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ontario LOS 1J0 (416-468-2187).

For details on Canadian vintners write the Wine Council of Ontario, 35 Maywood Ave., St. Catharines, Ontario L2R 1C5 or call (416) 684-8070.

Q: Are any hotels in Jamaica suitable for a family vacation?

A: You might be interested in the Franklyn D. Resort in Runaway Bay, about an hour's drive from Montego Bay Airport.

While adults are sunbathing, catamaran cruising, scuba diving or snorkeling, the children go to parties, picnics and games. They meet other kids during cycling trips, donkey rides, computer classes and crafts lessons.

All the activities are supervised; a personal chaperone, called a "girl Friday," is assigned to every family in one of the resort suites.

These include a kitchen, living room, dining area and a veranda with patio furniture.

For details contact FDR Holidays Limited at (800) 654-1-FDR. Information is also available from your local travel agent.

Nature's grandeur and urban vigor

Salt Lake City draws tourists with winter sports and artistic diversity

By DIRK JOHNSON

Salt Lake City, framed so strikingly by the Wasatch Mountains, is one of the rare places in America that offers, at once, the sight of nature's grandeur and the feel of urban vigor.

This is a truly diverse city, with a flourishing artistic life, restaurants that range from exquisite to down-home, restored pioneer homes and a copper-domed state capitol, sidewalks safe enough to stroll after dark and, of course, the Mormon Tabernacle, the mainstay of majestic Temple Square.

Salt Lake City narrowly missed being chosen as the site for the 1998 Winter Olympics, which will be held in Nagano, Japan, and a campaign has begun to bring the games here in 2002.

Salt Lake City has been sprawling with high-tech growth since the 1960s — the population of the metropolitan region now approaches a million — but downtown remains the heart of business, culture and night life.

The broad sidewalks in this remarkably clean city are lively but not crowded, and walking is the best way to see the sights, especially the tantalizingly close mountains.

Seven major ski resorts are within 45 minutes of the airport, including the 2,200-acre Park City, Alta and Snowbird resorts, both in Little Cottonwood Canyon, and Solitude Ski Resort and Brighton Ski Resorts, up Big Cottonwood Canyon on State Route 190, 25 miles from downtown, which cater to many skiers who lodge in the city.

About half the residents of Salt Lake City are Mormon. Many of them have traveled on missions in foreign lands, which accounts for the high percentage of people here who are fluent in other languages. And conversations on international topics can be regularly overheard at coffee shops and bus stops.

Residents display a disarming openness to visitors and are usually happy to answer questions on every-

Holidays are the perfect time for photographers

By MONTE NAGLER
Special Writer

Probably more photographs are taken during the holidays than at any other time of the year. And for good reason . . . no better opportunity exists for recording treasured family memories.

Christmas and holidays go together like ducks and water, so let's start here.

Be sure to follow the basic rules of good child photography by moving in close and getting down on their level. Candid shots provide the best chance of obtaining natural, spontaneous expressions. So capture the kids on film as they happily unwrap their presents and begin to enjoy their new toys. In all the excitement, they won't even know you're there.

Don't leave out other family members and friends. Have everyone sit or stand casually rather than stand stiffly in a line. Casual instead of obviously posed shots are far more rewarding. And by using your camera's self-timer, include yourself in the photo too.

Make sure your background is free from distracting objects and that no unwanted reflections from mirrors or windows are in the viewfinder.

Keep your eyes alert for other holiday subjects that will add variety to your shots. A detail of a beautifully wrapped present or a sparkling tree ornament shot through a "star" filter will pay off with a fine yuletide shot.

Or, with one of today's fast films (ASA 1000), take some shots lit only by candlelight for a more romantic look. An exposure of 1/30 second will do the trick.

Need a last minute stocking stuffer for the camera buff in the family? One of the Kodak or Fujifilm disposable panorama cameras may be just the thing. They're inexpensive and produce remarkably good quality photographs in an exciting format. Or a unique picture frame makes an unusual gift and will prompt the recipient to fill it with a memorable picture.

And speaking about pictures, here's a very personal gift idea that will thrill that special family member or friend. Remember the dramatic sunset shot you took last summer that your Uncle Hery just flipped over? Well, image his delight when he unwraps a framed enlargement for his very own. Prints can be made and framed quickly for last minute, very appreciative presents.

And, of course, holiday time is the perfect time to capture dramatic winter scenes on film. So bundle up both you and your camera and brave the cold weather. You'll be glad you did.

Book offers hints for retirement

By GENE and ADELE MALOTT
New York Times Travel Syndicate

With good reason, books on retirement are proliferating these days.

One of the better ones is "A Field Guide to Retirement" by Alice and Fred Lee (1992, Doubleday, 666 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y. 10103; $12.95).

Seniors who are beginning to think that wandering the country as a gypsy in a recreational vehicle or becoming a "snowbird" would suit them might want to browse this book.

It begins with a discussion about financing retirement and then offers dozens of ideas for retirement activities. But we skipped right over those sections to read about the lifestyle options of snowbirding and nomadism.

These are not new retirement choices, but we were intrigued with the soft-spoken style of this text and the amount of factual information — much of it with the tone of up-close observation and do-it-yourself days on the road.

The Lees also discuss retirement in foreign countries and the pros and cons of living in big, planned communities vs. smaller ones.

And they take another giant step — into "phase two" retirement with the loss of a soul mate or a physical disability that forces yet another lifestyle.

On the other hand, we would not recommend "The Retirement Sourcebook" by Edward L. Palder (1992, Woodbine House, 5615 Fishers Lane, Rockville, Md. 20852; $14.95).

This book uses some of its valuable space to list addresses for cruise lines and state hunting and fishing agencies, both easily available to anyone at no cost.

And while it claims to be a complete guide to health, leisure and consumer information, on the subject of travel the book is incomplete and already outdated — even in terms of information available to anyone at local libraries.

Mustangs crush Edsel Ford 80-42 at home

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Balanced scoring and tenacious defense led the Mustang basketball team to an easy 80-42 rout of Dearborn Edsel Ford Friday at home.

John Farrar and Mike Maschek poured in 16 points each to pace Northville to its second win in as many games. Coach Larry Taylor said the squad improved its play from opening night against Livonia Churchill.

"We played better and were less tentative," he said. "I think we played better offensively and we were 100 percent better on defense. Our defense isn't where we want it to be, but our overall game was better."

Northville, nonetheless, forced the Thunderbirds into numerous turnovers. Fullcourt pressure, pressing man-to-man and zone defenses kept the much smaller Dearborn squad on the perimeter all evening.

"We tried to keep them off balance in the halfcourt game," Taylor added.

The Mustangs held Edsel Ford off the scoreboard for the first three minutes of the quarter with solid defense, but were unable to convert offensively. Missed shots from the outside and from the paint kept the score at 4-0 with 4:23 to go.

Mike Hazimeh, who led Dearborn with nine points in the game, dropped in a basket at 4:23 to break the ice. A minute later the T-Birds nailed a three-pointer to take a 5-4 lead.

It was Edsel Ford's only lead of the game.

Maschek connected on a pair of free throws at 2:17 and then Kieran Williams scored on a turnaround jumper to make it 8-5. Northville took a 17-7 lead by the end of the quarter.

The rout was on midway through period two.

A 10-3 run to start the quarter essentially sealed Dearborn's fate. Farrar scored six points in the streak, on a pair from the charity stripe, a fast-break layup and a tip-in, while Maschek accounted for the other four. Northville took a 35-15 margin into halftime.

"It was not real tough competition," said a surprised Taylor. "We thought they'd be better."

Maschek led the way with 12 points in the half while Farrar had nine. "Everybody got into the act in the second half."

Taylor played his regulars, which include Farrar, Todd Rabourn, Maschek, Williams and Marc Chaisson, for about seven minutes of the half. The Mustangs' bench had more than enough to contend with Dearborn. Ahead 48-19 with four minutes left in the third, the starters grabbed some pine. The second unit of Neil Yackie, Chuck Apligan, Rick Biermann, George Lemmon and Ryan Kelley maintained a comfortable lead through the end of the quarter at 59-30.

That group played much of the fourth as well. Biermann led the reserves with seven points while Yackie added six. Rabourn's 13 points put three starters in double figures.

"We've got kids that can play," Taylor said.

Matt Allison captured a crown in the 130-pound weight division Saturday for the Mustang wrestling team at the annual Ypsilanti Invitational.

The senior breezed through competition with three pins in little more than two minutes of action. It was Allison's fourth title in as many years at the tournament.

"Matt's an outstanding wrestler," coach Bob Boshoven said. "He dominated his weight class and is the first four-time champ at Ypsilanti."

Allison's Northville teammates weren't as fortunate, finishing seventh in the eight-team tournament with 74 points. Host Ypsilanti High narrowly beat out Saline for the championship with 134.

"Even though we were about the same as last year in team points, we were much more competitive than last year," Boshoven said. "I thought we wrestled well."

The coach added that his team gained loads of experience from the meet.

"I just wanted to get them on the mat as many times as possible," Boshoven commented.

Heavyweight Nick Bowersox got the Mustangs' day started on a high note. The sophomore lost his opening match to Westland John Glenn's Sean Arbogast on a pin at 1:33.

Bowersox then pinned Eugene Callaway of Flint Northern at 2:58 to earn a trip to the consolation final. He fell in the final to Gary Phillips by decision, 3-1.

Junior Mike Steiner drew a bye in the opening round at 103 pounds. He took a 4-2 win over No. 1 seed Blake Cey of Saline to earn a trip to the tournament finals. Steiner lost on a technical fall, 18-3, to Ahmed Sanders of Flint Northern.

"He's the most solid 103-pounder I've seen in a long time," Boshoven said of the champ, but added, "He wrestled well. I think Mike will do some big things for us this year."

Northville's Jiro Kameoka pinned Tim Tracy of Saline at 112 pounds. He then fell in successive matches and failed to place.

At 119 pounds, Jason Tarrow went to the consolation finals before falling to Brian McCasey of Saline 6-5. Boshoven said he was pleased with Tarrow, who missed much of last season with assorted injuries.

"He was our biggest surprise," he said. "I wasn't sure what to expect."

Tarrow beat Glenn Nausada of Dearborn Edsel Ford. He lost to Ghandi Hill of Flint Northern in the second round on a technical fall but then beat in Dan DesRosters of Ypsilanti in the consolation semi-finals.

Chris Harrison failed to place at 125 pounds. He beat Chuck Cudney of Ypsilanti 11-5 in the first round but then lost twice.

Allison checked in at 130 pounds. He needed 18 seconds to pin Travis Rickman of Ypsilanti, 1:15 to pin Dave Walton of Belleville and 43 seconds to pin John Borg of Edsel Ford in the final.

Boshoven said he hoped Allison's performance would be an indicator of good things to come for the rest of the year.

Carl Tune lost twice on pins to the No. 3 and No. 1 seeds of the tournament at 135 pounds. Boshoven said Tune isn't far away from being a dominant wrestler, despite the defeats.

"Carl just ran out of gas," he said of the sophomore. "He's so intense and competitive that he tenses his body up when he wrestles and it makes him get tired quickly. He's got to learn to relax."

Joe Scappaticci went to the consolation final at 140 pounds with a third round win over Gary Fritts of Saline. The sophomore fell in the final 7-1 to Angelo Cisveros Ypsilanti.

Junior Ryan Baber had a similar fate at 145 pounds, falling to Jerry Simoneau in the final on a pin at 2:45. Freshman Mike Scappaticci fell twice Saturday at 152 pounds.

"Mike could be a tough wrestler," Boshoven said. "It's tough to put a first-year wrestler out there and expect much. For his experience, he did all we could have asked."

At 160 pounds, John Matthews lost twice on pins. Eric Hibbler was also pinned twice at 171.

Mike Held lost on a pin and a decision in round two to Flint Northern's Courtney String 8-1 at 189. Boshoven said it will be important for his upper weight wrestlers to improve when the dual meet season begins.

"We've got to be able to stay off our backs," he said.

Northville opens its WIAA dual meet season tonight at home against Westland John Glenn at 6:30 p.m.

"We have the capability of doing well," Boshoven said.

Spikers split pair at tourney

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

It didn't take long for the Mustang volleyball team to experience both victory and defeat this season.

Northville got a taste of both Saturday at the South Lyon Invitational. The high schoolers split four matches in the 16-team tournament and advanced out of pool play.

Coach Laura Melvin said the Mustangs played well considering the short amount of practice thus far.

"I couldn't be more pleased," she said.

Northville played the Milford Lakeland of the Kensington Valley Conference in the first round of championship play. After winning the first game 15-7, the Mustangs fell from the tournament by losing 15-7 and 15-13 in games two and three.

Melvin said her team's energy was just about gone by the time they played the Eagles. The tournament started at 9 a.m. The Lakeland match began late Saturday evening.

"It was a long day," Melvin said. Northville started the tournament on a brighter note.

In the first round of pool play, the Mustangs took on Ann Arbor Huron. The locals fell in a hard-fought first game, 14-16, but then rallied.

Mustangs like Val Bassin, Angie Snyder and Christy Green took charge in game two and the team to a 15-8 win. Northville took the rubber game as well, 15-12.

"We got a lot of offense from Val and Jenny Lower," Melvin said. "Krista Howe played well, too."

The coach said her squad overcame a bit of adversity in the match. In game one, the River Rats got the winning point after a spiked ball hit a Northville player.

"It was great to see the girls fight back," Melvin said. "They showed good character."

The coach was frustrated with a pool loss to Oak Park in round two. After winning the first game 15-1,

Racket sports offer fun

By DEBRA LEE BALDWIN
Copley News Service

Knowing how to play tennis or racquetball may actually help your career — if your boss suggests you meet him or her on the court "to unwind."

Depending on who is looking for a partner, it also can improve your social life. In addition, being able to play can make a resort or cruise vacation more enjoyable.

We shouldn't forget to mention, of course, the physical benefits of an invigorating, challenging sport.

Whether you're a novice or an experienced player, you'll be pleased to know there are innovative items that will enhance your skills — as well as your enjoyment of the game.

Getting started

Find out what a racket sport is like before you take a class. Attend matches, rent or buy videos, peruse the sports section of the newspaper or get a book on the subject at your local bookstore.

Racquetball is easy to learn and enjoyable from the first game. It offers twice the workout of tennis and more physical benefit than jogging — in half the time. A hybrid between tennis and squash, racquetball normally is played in high-walled indoor courts.

If you'd like to learn with a group, beginner's classes in tennis and other racket sports often are offered as adult education and community college courses.

Avoid playing without knowing what you're doing. It's hard to unlearn bad habits, and developing a bad swing will not only impede your progress, it can injure your shoulder, arm or back. (If that already has happened, you might want to visit a medical clinic that specializes in sports injuries before you continue playing.)

The quickest way to learn or improve your game is with private instruction. You might want to make an appointment to discuss your goals with an instructor at your health or fitness club, at a local country club, or at a hotel or resort that has courts. Instructors also can be found through sporting goods stores, tennis clubs and the YMCA.

Tennis can be fun for players of any age.

FILE PHOTO

If you have a child who wants to learn or improve his or her game, there are special summer "tennis camps." Similar programs are available to adults, as well — usually as part of a resort vacation. Check with your travel agent.

Better equipment

New high-tech materials allow lighter-weight, stronger equipment.

"The state-of-the-art technology used in tennis products has really benefited the sport," said Andre Agassi, one of the top-ranked U.S. tennis pros. "For players at all levels, tennis is becoming a more enjoyable game."

Tennis rackets now are made from a wide variety of materials, including "Kevlar" aramid, fiberglass and graphite.

According to Robin Deutsch, equipment editor for Tennis magazine, "New lightweight constructions and wide-body designs make playing easier for everyone, particularly children."

Deutsch explains that the new rackets are stiffer, which means more power and generally better accuracy. And since less energy is lost on the return, players don't have to swing as hard. In addition, manufacturers use shock-dampening products in racket construction to reduce playing injuries, like tennis elbow.

An equally wide range of materials — including new nylons with the "feel of gut" — are being used for racket strings. According to the Du Pont Co., when these materials are combined with the new wide-body designs, the results are rackets with larger sweet spots, plus increased power and responsiveness.

New from Wilson Sporting Goods is the Profile Hammer System Racket. According to the manufacturer, it's 20 percent lighter than conventional rackets, but more powerful, thanks to a patented weighting system. The racket is light and maneuverable in the head — the weight and power are in the head — and the sweet spot is in the top part of the frame, where most people hit the ball.

What to wear

Tennis shoes are now constructed with sophisticated man-made materials to provide optimal foot support, cushioning and stability. Shoes such as K-Swiss Gstaad are lined with moisture-moving fabrics that keep players' feet cooler and drier on the court.

"Improved tennis footwear has made long matches more comfortable than before," Deutsch said. "Some of the most important developments have come in mid-sole design. Today's mid soles, which cushion players from the stop-and-go pounding of the game, retain their original shape and cushioning performance longer."

The tennis apparel that pros like Agassi prefer is made of fibers, such as CoolMax, which move perspiration away from the body for quick evaporation and greater comfort. Supplex is cottony-soft nylon that breathes, is quick drying and wind and water resistant — ideal in a warm-up jacket.

Agassi wears Lycra leggings under his famous denim shorts for additional muscle support and comfort. The fabric allows the clothing to move easily when the player serves, runs or stretches for a return.

Program sells parent empowerment

As the staff from the Community Commission on Drug Abuse travels through Wayne County presenting "Parents Resource Institute for Drug Education (PRIDE): Parent-to-Parent Workshops" (a video and discussion program), they find parents are looking for ways to become more assertive parents.

Many parents share with us that they feel alone in trying to do the right thing for their children, as if they are the only ones doing it. They often feel guilty or feel they are being too harsh when they make their children responsible for their own behaviors by setting a consequence and sticking to it. For example, one father said he felt guilty for telling his son that he wouldn't bring his lunch to school for him any more and to forget it. But after viewing the Parent-to-Parent video he felt much differently. He realized that he was doing the right thing and was glad to have the opportunity to let his son be responsible for his own actions.

Parent-to-Parent shares with parents some strategies and tips to help them raise their children up to and through adolescence, drug-free.

One of the videos talks about how parents can avoid being their child's banker, agent, insurance company, butler, apologist, fairy godmother, administrative assistant and lawyer. Some parents are the best of lawyers for their children. They spend every extra minute defending their child to the end. You find them in the classroom, in the principal's office or on the soccer field, hounding the people in charge of their child to treat their child better or to let them off the hook if they're in a jam.

The agent parents try to negotiate the best deals for their child. They're probably talking to the coach to see whether their child can be the starter. The butler parents are excellent service people for their children. They clean up their child and make sure the child never misses a meal. Fairy godmother parents wave their magic wand and the child's every wish is instantly granted. Instant gratification becomes a way of life for the child.

Parent-to-Parent asks us, "Does society's belief system match my own?" If not, how do I work with the discrepancy? If we, as parents, are not proactive in teaching our children the value system we want for them, you can be sure that they will learn it somewhere else. Are we as parents wimping out? Are we allowing others to dictate what our children should internalize and value?

The Parent-to-Parent program offers a chance for parent empowerment. Maybe it's just what you've been waiting for. If so, please contact Northville Counseling Center at 347-3470. There is no fee for the four-part workshop. Workshops run continuously throughout the community.

Northville lost the final two games 15-10, 15-11. Melvin said Oak Park's unorthodox style of play through her team off stride.

"I'm not even upset that we lost because it was so strange," she added.

Northville took revenge in its final pool matchup with Royal Oak Dendero. The Mustangs won in two games.

Bassin led the way with a number of kill shots from outside hitting position. Green provided good sets for Bassin, Melvin said.

All in all, it was a good opening effort by the Mustangs, she commented. Melvin said she is pleased with Northville's hitting. When setting gets to the same level, the team will be tough, according to the coach.

"I'm really thrilled with the way they've handled the things I've taught them," Melvin said.

State Champs

Detroit Catholic Central recently won the state Class AA football title with the help of a number of Northville residents. Senior quarterback Chris Barbara, who played for the Northville Colts and Meads Mill Middle School, led the Shamrocks past Saginaw Arthur Hill in the title game 21-20. Other Northville residents on the team included junior wide receivers and defensive backs Matt Ambrozak, Jeff Betzler, Dave Morelli, Dan Wroblewski and sophomore kicker Ron Bialobrzanski.

South Lyon defeats Novi

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

More than two seasons of domination in the Kensington Valley Conference ended Friday night for the Wildcat basketball team as it fell on the road to South Lyon 68-54.

The Lions set the tone early in the game rocketing out to a 21-5 lead, finishing the first quarter up 21-10. Novi never got closer than eight points to South Lyon the rest of the way.

"We dug a hole and couldn't get out," Novi coach Bob Shoemaker said. "We are not patient yet. That goes to our inexperience."

Novi, now 0-2 overall, had won 25 straight KVC games.

"We jumped out to that lead and that was pretty much it," said first-year South Lyon coach Rex Stanczak. "They cut it to (eight) in the third quarter, but that's as close as they got."

Brian Csordas led Novi with 15 points while Greg Pierman added 13. Senior Dave York had nine points. South Lyon led 41-28 at halftime. Shoemaker said the 'Cats made a couple of runs at the Lions in the third quarter. But each time they got within striking distance, South Lyon pulled away.

Csordas led the charge with six points in the frame. After the runs, Shoemaker said his team traded baskets with the Lions the rest of the way.

The coach took the blame for Novi's slow start.

"We've played two games where the other coach has had his team prepared better than I did," Shoemaker said.

Josh Tropea and Jon Frazer led the Lions. Frazer had 18 points, seven rebounds, five assists, while Tropea had 12 assists.

"Josh had a great all-around game," Stanczak said. "He did a great job on both ends."

Shoemaker agreed. "He delivered the ball well," he said.

South Lyon center Steve Strecker scored 13 points and pulled in 11 boards despite sitting out most of the first half with foul trouble. Backup Willie White, a 6-foot-2 junior, came off the bench for nine points.

Shoemaker said Novi must learn patience on both ends of the floor to pull out of its funk.

Offensively, shot selection hasn't been good. Against South Lyon, for example, the 'Cats took 12 three-point attempts against man-to-man defense, a no-no, Shoemaker said.

On the defensive side, the coach said the Wildcats are gambling too much and not playing solid position basketball.

Two factors could turn things around in a hurry, Shoemaker commented. The return of senior scoring-whiz Jeff Terski and, simply, a win would do wonders.

"I think these young kids need a win," Shoemaker said adding that the loss to South Lyon may have a silver lining. "In a way, it's a relief. They don't have to be concerned about the past now."

Novi gets a chance to start a new streak tomorrow night against Lakeland. Game time is 7:30 at Lakeland.

Planning and buying a dream for first-timers

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

Denis and Karen Allred have been dreaming of and planning to purchase their own home for years. It finally happened a few weeks ago.

In addition to the age-old desire for "pride of ownership" in their residence, the Allreds wanted a better neighborhood for their two elementary-school-age daughters.

And they wanted the tax and other financial advantages of owning their home.

"In today's world it doesn't make sense to throw away money month after month on rent," Denis said. "You need to build a strong financial foundation. But the most important factor in our planning was to provide a better home and neighborhood for our daughters."

The Allreds purchased a modest two-bedroom home for $125,000. They both work full time. But it still took some skillful planning and sacrifices to make the purchase.

Allred's father agreed to pay about 2 percent of the sales price as part of the down payment, and provided a "gift letter" to satisfy the mortgage lender his contribution was not a loan. And the seller agreed to pay more than the normal seller portion of closing costs. It all came together and the Allreds recently moved into their own home.

In many respects, the Allreds are like thousands of other renting families throughout the country. They have a strong desire to buy and live in their own home. That motivation is just as strong or stronger than their parents felt when they purchased their first home.

Today, considering home prices and the demands of mortgage loan underwriters, it's much tougher to attain that coveted goal of home ownership. But many families are taking the challenge. In fact, first-time home buyers now comprise a surprisingly large segment of the total home buying market.

The most frequently quoted reason for not owning a home is the difficulty in saving a sufficient down payment, according to a recent survey conducted by the National Association of Realtors. Also, many families, even with two salaries, do not generate enough income to qualify for mortgage financing.

More specifically, 53 percent of renters indicate a strong desire to own a home when they can afford it, while 68 percent say they plan to buy a home. Of those renters, 10 percent said they probably would buy a home within a year and 16 percent thought they would buy during the next two years.

Among families now living in their first-owned residence, 25 percent say they expect to trade up to a bigger or better home in the near future. And 67 percent said they expect to move once within the next 10 years.

When asked to predict how much their homes were likely to appreciate (increase in value) during the next three years, 17 percent of homeowners picked an appreciation rate of 20 percent or more. Almost a quarter of them (24 percent) said their homes would

HOME AMONG THE WOODS

Charlotte and Billy Joe Woods relish their log home

Story by Maria Stuart • Photos by Scott Piper

The bed-and-breakfast is booked until spring.

Abe Lincoln was on to something.

Log homes, touted as sturdier, more energy efficient and cheaper to heat than traditionally built homes, according to those who love them, are enjoying a peak in popularity.

They also provide a rustic ambience that owners and builders alike say is hard to beat.

Charlotte Woods and her husband, Billy Joe, own the Log House Bed and Breakfast, a 2,000-square-foot log home built five years ago that is nestled among 500 Colorado blue spruces on a 10-acre parcel in Brighton.

The setting, which Woods says looks like a Christmas card, is also home to deer, raccoons and fox, and provides a particularly soothing, rustic getaway for big-city patrons.

The bed and breakfast has been such a hit, in fact, that there are no rooms available until March.

"The home is not real impressive, size-wise," Woods said, "but it is very different."

Decorated like a Canadian lodge, the Log House Bed and Breakfast features cathedral ceilings, plenty of Indian pieces, animal skins and wide-open spaces outdoors.

Much of the furniture in the home is custom-built. One of the bedrooms Woods rents out features a huge, custom-made log bed, while the other is more traditionally furnished.

"People get the feeling that they are way up north when they stay here," Woods said. "It is not fancy or pretty, and I think that is why men in particular really seem to like it."

The home feels cozy all year long, though it is especially so in the winter, according to Woods.

"You can sit inside and look out at the beautiful snow-covered property and just feel so warm and cozy inside," Woods said. "Solid logs are easier to heat than stick-built homes, and solid masses like logs radiate heat a long time."

Woods said that the annual heating bill for the home runs about $500 and the use of back-up heating is minimal.

"We also use a soap-stone wood burner from time to time," she said.

Woods credits her three sons, all of whom live out west, with getting her interested in Native American culture and log homes. Her sons have brought many Indian pieces back to

HOME DESIGNS

The Chatsworth mixes ranch with colonial style

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

Shutters on the windows, brick detailing and turned columns on the porch give a Colonial flavor to the rambling, ranch-style Chatsworth. Vaulted ceilings in every room but the kitchen add to the open-air feeling and make this spacious home seem even larger than it really is. And at nearly 2,500 square feet, it's already plenty big.

In this plan, family living areas, with the exception of the living room, are all to the left of the entry. Bedrooms are to the right. Two closets line the entry hall.

Flames in the see-through fireplace can be enjoyed from either the family room or the large, skylit country kitchen. African violets and other tropical plants thrive in the garden window in front of the kitchen sink. The window offers a rear view across the deck as well.

French doors in the nook open onto the covered front porch, and a built-in desk provides space for keeping household business organized. One really unique feature is the fold-down ironing board, which is in the kitchen instead of the utility room. Another is a roll-out pantry that allows cooks to take a set of shelves to wherever the items are needed.

The utility room is nearby and includes a counter for folding clothes. Both the utility and a small bathroom are also convenient to the two-car garage. The garage includes space for a recycling center, storage and a workbench.

The sumptuous owners' suite is at the far end of the house. Luxury features here include a huge walk-in closet and, in the skylit bathroom, twin vanities, an oversize opaque glass shower and an extra-large spa tub with a planter window. A door in the bathroom opens onto a rear deck. This access becomes even more important if there's a backyard pool.

The other three rooms share another skylit bathroom. If all three rooms aren't needed for bedrooms or for accommodating guests, one or more can be used as a study, home office, hobby room, art studio, media room or you-name-it.

If a basement is not included, either the living room or foyer can be expanded.

For a study plan of the Chatsworth (332-202), send $5 to Landmark Designs, c/o HomeTown Newspapers, 323 E. Grand River Ave., Howell, MI 48843. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

Recycling garbage

GARDENING

Many people spend the late winter preparing for the coming of spring. Part of the annual ritual includes housecleaning, re-evaluating items that have been saved for some possible use in the future and throwing away those that have failed, for so many years, to turn into something useful.

Well, here are some suggestions for recycling some of those items into your garden — before they leave on that hopeless trip to the landfill.

For tying plants onto stakes or trellises, there is nothing on the market that beats ties made from old cotton clothes, nylon stockings and other fabrics.

Nylons also are ideal for storing bulbs, such as garlic, shallots and daffodils, until planting or eating time. Simply fill them up and hang them from a rafter in a cool, dry spot. They will get the air circulation needed to prevent rotting and stay safely out of reach of mice and other pests.

Old car tires have a special place in the garden because their dark color makes them an excellent solar collector. Fill tires with soil and plant with tomatoes, peppers, eggplant, melons and other heat-loving crops for an early-season boost.

Milk cartons made of biodegradable waxed cardboard with their tops cut off, plastic trays used for prepared foods, plastic foam trays or cups and metal cans are all suitable for starting plants in a greenhouse or windowsill.

For growing larger plants, you can use 5-gallon plastic or metal food containers. These larger containers are also ideal for storing and transporting food wastes going to the compost pile and storing finished compost, potting mixes, soil amendments and fertilizers.

Plastic foam packing beads can be used to insulate outdoor containers that hold permanent plantings through the winter months. Place the planted containers into a larger empty container or even a cardboard box and fill the inner space between with packing beads.

Old brick and concrete chunks from torn-up sidewalks or slabs can be used as stepping stones for paths, pavers for patios or blocks for dry or mortared retaining appreciate 10 to 20 percent.

Nearly 16 percent thought their homes would experience no price appreciation, while 7 percent expected their homes to depreciate during the next three years. These, of course, are figures based on a nationwide NAR survey.

When focusing on real people in local situations, we see families like the Allreds who have been planning and sacrificing long and hard to finally move into their own home. There will be something very special about Christmas this year for Denis and Karen Allred and their two daughters—celebrating the holidays in their very own residence.

Q. How much money do real estate brokers normally spend on advertising?

A. Typically, major realty firms use 12 percent of their total earned commissions and fees for advertising. It nearly always falls into the range of 10 to 20 percent of revenues.

Most of the advertising funds are spent for newspaper ads. Last year, $3 billion was paid by brokers throughout the country for newspaper advertising. Total advertising expenditures came to about $5

Q. Are most real estate brokers affiliated or franchised with a major nationally known organization?

A. No. Only about a fifth of realty firms are now affiliated with major franchise groups. And there are very few firms that are large enough to be called a national organization.

Some brokers like the idea of remaining independent with their own special identity and reputation. For example, broker Barry Moore started with a "mom-and-pop" brokerage operation. He then purchased a Re/Max International franchise in 1988. It became a good-size operation with 25 agents and three full-time staff employees. Then the recession started eating away at revenues, making "big" not looking so good after all.

"I had to pay $180 per agent every month for Re/Max advertising and franchise fees," Moore said. "There just wasn't enough revenue being generated to justify those fees, so I decided to go back to a small independent operation."

He now has two agents and is very happy with his latest move. His firm is now called Barry Moore & Associates.

Q. Is it true that President-elect Clinton is establishing a retreat residence in the Summerland area of southern California?

A. A beachfront residence, in an exclusive enclave of luxury beach homes between Summerland and Carpinteria, has been purchased by long-time Clinton friends and television producers Harry Thoma-son and Linda Bloodworth-Thoma-son.

Clinton, and wife Hillary, are expected to visit the residence regularly, when he feels the need to escape pressures of Washington.

Michigan for their parents, and their interest in Native American culture spilled over into log homes.

"They kind of led us to it," Woods said. "There are lots and lots of log homes out west."

The look, feel and charm of log homes is what got Greg Steiner of Fenton interested in building one, and he said that they have become the "hobby of my life."

While moving into the first log home he built for himself before getting into the business, Steiner said that a couple came to the door and asked if the house was for sale.

"It worked out that they wanted the home a lot more than I did, so I sold it to them," Steiner said.

Now, Steiner sells both custom-built and kit log structures for Wilderness Log Homes, headquartered in Plymouth, Wis., through his company, Watchbird Builders of Fenton.

Steiner said that most people who are choosing to go with log homes do so because of the obvious advantages such a house has.

"Log homes are more solid," Steiner said. "They will outlast traditionally built homes and can easily stand for 400 years."

Steiner also claims that because of the way in which the logs are fitted together, log homes are better able to withstand the furies of nature, as well. "I've heard that when tornado strikes, many of the log homes in the area are either still standing or blow apart in sections that are easy to put back up again," he said.

Average sizes for single-family homes range between 1,700 and 2,400 square feet, Steiner said, although he has built hunting cabins, or "log mansions" that have ranged up to 7,000-square-foot in size.

Steiner said that many people have ordered smaller log homes in the 1,200-square-foot range to be built instead of traditional cottages.

The most common woods used are cedar and pine, and Steiner personally prefers the cedar because it is "more resistant to weather, rot and decay."

Prices for log homes average about $80 per square foot for a completely built package, according to Steiner.

"You can get packages for whatever you want," Steiner said. "We offer kits as well as completely engineered custom packages—whatever the customer wants, we can provide."

For those who are looking to save some money, ordering a kit and then building it themselves is the best way to go. "In the long run, it is always cheaper to build a log home by doing it yourself," Steiner said.

Woods said that her log home was constructed by a builder from Big Rapids, and that over half of the workers were Native Americans. "We checked around very carefully," she said. "Everyone who used this builder was extremely satisfied with him."

The decision to go into building log homes is one that Steiner never questions. "They are so very comfortable," he said. "I was up north and stopped by to visit one that I recently built."

"I came inside, sat by the fireplace and almost fell asleep—that's how relaxing and comfortable they are."

This chair was made in the third quarter of the 19th century.

Victorian chair is not a Belter

By James G. McCollam
Copley News Service

Q. Could you let me know if this Victorian chair could possibly be a Belter? It has casters on the front legs but not on the back legs. What is its approximate value?

A. This chair was not made by John Henry Belter, one clue to Belter chairs would be a solid-wood backside of the chair.

Your chair was made in the third quarter of the 19th century and might sell for $500 to $600.

Q. This mark is on the bottom of a 9-inch bowl with a scalloped rim. It is decorated with pink roses with green leaves. The border is raised and trimmed in gold.

Can you identify the maker and estimate its value?

A. This bowl was made by the Albert Pillivuyt & Co. in Paris about 1900. It would probably sell for about $75 to $85.

Q. I have several small figurines purchased in the 1940s. They are marked "Made in Occupied Japan." Someone told me that these are rare, but I doubt it. Can you tell me who is right?

A. These were made between 1945 and 1952 when U.S. forces occupied Japan at the end of World War II. They are collectible but not rare, selling in the $15 to $25 range.

FRANCE

Q. I discovered this pitcher (5-1/2 inches tall) at a barn sale down the end of a winding road in Maryland. Please tell me the age, value and any information about it.

The mark is a crown over a shield and "Tournay — T. & R. Boote — England — Rd. No. 33845."

A. Your pitcher was made in Burslem, England, by T. & R. Boote Ltd. The British Registry number indicates that this pattern was registered in 1885.

It would probably sell for about $35 to $45. "Tournay" is the name of the pattern.

Q. I have eight leather-bound books by William Shakespeare published by the Knickerbocker Leather & Novelty Co. in New York. There is no date in the books.

Please let me know the value of these books.

A. Collectors want first or limited editions.

There is nothing to indicate that these books are valuable collectibles. You can confirm this at the public library; ask for "American Book Prices Current."

Q. I have a set of dishes that came from Japan back in 1951, when my father was in the service. It is trimmed in gold; on the back of each piece is "Noritake— Made in Occupied Japan." It is a 53-piece service for eight.

Could you please tell me if this is worth anything?

A. Anything marked "Made in Occupied Japan" is collectible. The set you have might sell for about $325 to $335.

The fact that these were made by Noritake represents about half of this value.

walls, benches, planters and other garden features.

Old car tires can be embedded in soil to stabilize slopes and create planting wells or to build up new terraces from areas with slopes too steep to garden. Uses for other recycled construction materials in the garden are limited only by the imagination.

A versatile cold frame can be built to fit any framed piece of glass or plastic.

Plastic milk jugs with bottoms cut out make nice cloches for individual tomato, pepper and eggplant seedlings in springtime.

Old bathtubs may be sunk into the ground to create small water features or to contain bamboo and other spreading plants.

Old playpens make great compost bins. They are the perfect size and usually have sides that allow for plenty of air.

Recycle your ideas! Share your garden recycling ideas with other gardeners and give garbage new life to your garden.

If you have a favorite "garbage-to-garden" idea, send it to me.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

RENT HOME OUT OR SELL?

QUESTION: I plan to buy a larger home. Do you have any advice on the merits of selling versus renting out our present home?

ANSWER: I would strongly consider selling over renting. To keep the house rented, you'll have to pay advertising costs or fees to a broker. Maintenance costs take a bite out of rental income. Each time there is a turnover the house will have to be cleaned and redecorated. A vacancy can result in a loss that could take years to recover. A dead-beat tenant could take up to six months to evict plus legal costs. You're better off selling a single-family home and using the money to move up to a bigger and better home.

IT MAKES MORE SENSE to sell your house than to rent it out.

Sunoramic tans the smart way

By RICK BYRNE
Copy Editor

You can't miss the glow on Dave Folsom's face when you walk in the door.

It's the deepest darkest days of Michigan's winter but he's sporting a marvelous tan, thanks to the machines at his own Sunoramic tanning salon. Sunoramic, which also offers nail care and will soon house a swimwear boutique, recently opened in the Pheasant Run Plaza on Grand River Avenue west of Haggerty Road.

"I try to promote responsible indoor tanning," said Folsom. "A lot of people who don't promote indoor tanning have said some things that are irresponsible and just untrue."

"I guess what makes me different is that I try to educate people about tanning. Anything can be done in moderation. If someone gets hurt, it's because of one of two things. One is lack of education. The other is if they are on medication."

For those reasons, Folsom spends a little time getting to know each client before they begin tanning.

"I ask them, when they go to Florida, what happens to their skin when they're in the sun," he said.

Though Sunoramic has three tanning beds, and an option of facial tanning on some units, a client's first stop is often the stand-up hexagonal booth. It's a high-powered machine with 40 ultraviolet lamps of 160 watts apiece.

"This machine is nice to get people started because it's a good color finder," said Folsom. "But you have to work up to a maximum of 15 minutes in it. These machines aren't toaster ovens. It takes about six visits to get a nice even tan."

Folsom is the former president of the Suntanning Association for Education, an industry group that helps to educate the public and lobby for responsible legislation. He remains active in the group.

"I want people to know that there are people behind the counter that care," he said, adding that he has a computer at his front desk that helps him monitor the tanning activity in each of the four rooms. "And naturally, goggles are required for all tanning units."

Cleanliness is also the watchword at Sunoramic. Gone are the mauves and aquas usually associated with tanning salons. The floors are spotless white tile for easy and thorough cleanup. Not only are the beds cleaned and disinfected as a matter of course, there's also a sink in every room so that clients can freshen up.

"The ladies like that," Folsom said. "They like the idea of coming here to escape and relax after work. In the afternoon, my phone usually rings and someone will call to make sure I have a bed free at 5 o'clock."

Surprisingly, though, many of Sunoramic's clients are older people.

Money Management

Turn the tide on withholding

As a result of recent Treasury cuts in the withholding rates, many Americans are now taking home larger paychecks. However, these taxpayers are not paying less taxes, according to the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

Most of these individuals withheld more taxes from their paychecks annually than they actually owed in a given year. Consequently, they received tax refunds every year. By reducing the withheld rate, these same taxpayers will simply gain access to their money sooner, instead of lending it Uncle Sam interest free.

WHO IS AFFECTED BY THE REDUCTION?

Not everyone will benefit from the lower withholding rates. These rates are being applied only to married employees with less than $90,000 in income and single employees with less than $53,000 in income.

Keep in mind the reduction in withholding rates is relatively modest. Single taxpayers can gain up to $172.50 a year in their paychecks and married taxpayers up to $345.

CPAs emphasize that if you generally don't receive a tax refund from the IRS, the lower withholding rate may cause you to owe Uncle Sam additional tax dollars when April 15 rolls around next year. That's one important reason why you should ensure the amount of taxes withheld is as close as possible to the amount due.

HOW TO CHECK YOUR WITHHOLDING

To be sure you're having enough taxes withheld from your paycheck, estimate your 1992 tax liability. Looking at last year's tax return will get you started. Determine whether your sources or levels of income have changed from last year and use this information to help you project your 1992 loan income.

After estimating your income, determine the tax credits and tax deductions you may be eligible to claim on your 1992 tax return. Then calculate your withholding allowances. The number of allowances you may claim are affected by such factors as marital status, the number of dependents, income level, number of jobs you hold, and filing status, among other things.

Once you've estimated your income as well as any deductions, credits and allowances to which you are entitled, you should have a rough idea of your 1992 federal income tax liability. Take a look at your most recent paycheck stub and find out how much tax is withheld from each paycheck and how much you have contributed to date. Keep in mind that at the end of June, your federal income tax withholding should equal about one-half of your estimated tax liability for 1992.

The information you provide on Form W-4 determines how much of your paycheck your employer will turn over to the IRS. If your withholding figure is way off the mark, the Michigan Association of CPAs suggests you update your W-4 right away. For example, to have more tax withheld, you should claim fewer allowances or ask your employer to withhold more tax. Conversely, if you're having too much tax withheld, you can reduce your withholding by increasing the number of allowances you claim.

You can obtain a copy of your W-4 form from your company's payroll office. Your employer can also provide you with information on how changing your allowances will affect your take-home pay.

somsaid. "They use it to prepare their skin for when they go down south in the winter. I have couples come in here, and they have a good time. You'd think they'd be the ones who are more skeptical, but I get post-cards from some of them when they go."

But more than just tanning, Sunoramic is a nail salon as well.

"We have a nail technician's room," said Folsom. "Ladies can come in and get acrylics done, or whatever they want."

Folsom, who is a licensed manicurist in Michigan, worked as a sales representative for a nail wholesaler before setting out on his own to open Sunoramic.

With large window space looking out on the Pheasant Run Plaza, the move to swimwear retailing will be a natural. Folsom plans to display swimsuits in the windows and in the lobby. Sunoramic is already a retailer for a variety of skin care products. Tan accelerators make great stocking stuffers, as do gift certificates, Folsom said.

Farther into the future, Sunoramic hopes to offer the services of a licensed massage therapist. Right now Folsom is working with the City of Novi for the proper approval.

"They're very careful because they want to make sure it's proper massage therapy," said Folsom. "There's a big fee and a lot of papers you have to file. That's fine with me. The people at the city have been great to work with."

Sunoramic is open 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

weekdays, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekends. For more information, call 476-1080.

WINTER SPORTS SPECIALS YMCA BASKETBALL

Since Dr. James Naismith created basketball 100 years ago at the YMCA training school, our goal has been to help kids develop self-esteem and strong moral values. Because we believe that's what they need to take their best shot at life.

The goals of Y Basketball are:

1. Teach youngsters that skills of basketball. Everyone who signs up for Y Basketball plays in every game.
2. Help kids to have fun and enjoy playing basketball. Smiles, laughs and good feelings are important.
3. Put winning in perspective. Striving to win is an essential part of all sports, but winning is only one goal among many.
4. Teach teamwork. Cooperate with teammates and help them to play as well as they can.
5. Develop positive attitudes about fair play. Players learn to respect their teammates, opponents, officials, and themselves.

Y Basketball coaches teach skills, fun and values; these are viewed as more important than winning and losing. This is the difference between Y Basketball and other youth sports programs.

SPECIAL INFORMATION

PRE-SCHOOL

SHRIMP & KIPPER (6 months to walking)

This is an introductory class designed to encourage the parent and child to enjoy themselves while learning about the water and aquatic safety. The games that are played will relate to future classes and help your child learn proper body positioning in the water. Cloth diapers and tight fitting plastic pants required. 1 child per parent.

INIA/PERCH (walking to 3 years)

This level further encourages the parent and child to explore the aquatic environment and increase propulsion skills such as kick movements and upper body control. Child will learn breath control in a fun atmosphere.

LITTLE SQUIRTS (30-36 months)

A class designed for the child who is unsure of their swimming skills but no longer needs a parent in the water. Each child is given the time to explore its new environment and build friendships with other children in the class. The gym portion of the class pays particular attention to large motor skills such as climbing and rolling.

PIKE (3-6 years)

Preschoolers who need help with floating, kicking and other basic swimming skills. All children in this class are taught the very basics of swimming. The gym will involve large motor skills such as walking on a pre-school balance beam, hopping, skipping and forward rolls. Group games are also introduced.

EELS (3-6 years)

The goal of this class is to take a child who is able to swim one width of the pool with support from flotation device. The major part of the class will be spent on rotary breathing with work on a sitting dive and basic swimming safety skills. The gym will consist of group games and different types of gym equipment. The children will be encouraged to develop upper body strength and coordination.

RAYS (3-6 years)

This class is for advanced pre-schoolers who must be able to swim the width of the pool with rotary breathing. We will work on endurance, diving from the side of the pool, treading water and pool games. In the gym the children will work toward independence on the equipment in the gym, although they will still be working on their basic locomotor skills.

STARFISH (3-6 years)

Our Starfish class is for those who need one more class before they move on to the progressive level. This class will cover personal safety and growth, water sports and games, stroke development and basic rescue techniques. This promises to be a fun and exciting class.

BLUE RACER SWIMMING

Invest in Youth '93

January 2, 1992 to February 1, 1993 • Goal: $58,500

An "Invest in Youth" contribution is an excellent way to reach out into the community to share the YMCA with people who have needs greater than our own. It's a good way to positively touch another life. Through membership, program scholarships and subsidized special Y programs, contributing dollars allow more people to benefit from the best the YMCA has to offer.
