Supervisor uncertain whether to step down

By SHARON CONDRON Staff Writer

Northville Township Supervisor Karen Baja was still on the fence early this week about her decision whether to stay on or resign as the township's chief administrator.

After taking an extended weekend vaca-tion. Baja said she still hadn't decided whether or not she would make the break.

Thave spent the weekend trying to think if it would be best for me to step down for Northville Township..." she said."... If by virture of my personality that I'm too strong a female for some of the people on the board, or that I'm too outspoken, or that I know my stuff too much, whatever it might be.

"If it's made me ineffective to be able to lead that board because it's just become a power struggle or a boys against the girls thing or whatever . . . if I thought that it would be better for Northville township and at least they (the board) would take some action if I stepped down, I'm considering that."

Baja said she was considering her options after she and some members of the board got into a heated verbal exchange at last Thursday's meeting. The argument sent Baja storming out of the room without adjourning the meeting, leaving the rest of the board wondering whether or not she'd be back.

In an interview with The Record on Tuesday, Baja said the only regret she had about the comments she made at Thursday's meeting was calling her board colleagues "incompetent idiots." Everything else, she said, was right on the mark.

Township Trustee Mark Abbo said he had a mixed reaction to Baja's behavior at the meeting. It was Abbo's motion to seek applicants for the township manager's position that triggered the confrontation.

Tuesday, Abbo said he hadn't heard from Baja since the Thursday night flasco. He said he thought her actions were inappropriate, but added that he was willing to forgive and

The actions and the comments were very inappropriate, but I've always been a person who is willing to bury the hatchet," said

He said he never meant his motion to spark the reaction it did, even though he knew it was contrary to Baja's opinion and to the motion the board passed three weeks

I made the motion because I feel it was in the best interests of the township. I never meant it as a vote of no confidence. But I thought that the (previous) motion to set up the (study) committee would just have been an endorsement of their (the committee members and Baja's) perceived idea as to how the township should be structured."

Abbo said the consensus among the board members and from residents he's talked with since the incident is that "it was unfortunate." Even though he didn't think the board would suffer irreparable damage from it, he did say the board "was waiting for a reaction from Karen."

"I don't think that an apology would be inappropriate," he added.

Trustee Russ Fogg, who was involved in the verbal volley with Baja, said Monday he hadn't heard from her either, but he assumed she would stay on. Trustee Gini Britton said the whole incident was "embarrassing," but showed support for Baja.

"I hope she's coming back. It would be a the part-time supervisor's position.

great loss for the township."
While most trustees believe Baja will probably remain as supervisor, she said her decision will depend on whether or not she'll be capable of working under the parameters of

I have resolved myself that there are certain parameters that have been set up by this current board and I seem incapable to be able to encourage them to be open minded enough for those parameters to change.

"Now I have to decide if I think I can be effective and happy within those parameters and that's what I'm wrestling with now."

Huntington Falls project returns

By SHARON CONDRON Staff Writer

Last week Wayne County officials confirmed the rumors that they were close to striking a new deal that would resurect the Huntington Falls

Mike Duggan, a county official met with township administrators and elected officials last week to confirm the news that a deal was in the works for the 920-acres of vacant county land in Northville Township. But Duggan told Township Super- the county.

visor Karen Baja and Zoning and Planning Administrator Carol Maise, an agreement had not yet been signed by the county or by the Robert DeMattia development group.

Since the project was still in negotiations, county officials were hesitant to share any details of the proposed plan. Baja said the county wasn't willing to disclose whether or not the golf course that was included in the original plan would remain a public course or be owned and operated by

That is a big concern for Baja who wants to see the township reep more of the financial benefits of the project and get more of the land back on the township's tax rolls.

They did tell Baja they hoped they would be able to come back in two weeks with a detailed plan.

The meeting ended with a spirit of cooperation and trying to keep each other informed." Baja said. We are grateful that Mr. Duggan came out within a three to four day response and I feel very positive that the county is sending out the top people."

Assessment notices due out soon in city as Review Board prepares to hear cases

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

City residents can expect to receive their assessment notices in the mail next week, said Chief Financial Officer Mark Christiansen.

The notices should reflect average assessment increases of 6 percent among the city's Oakland County properties and 14 percent among Wayne County homes, though individual assessments will vary from home to home.

Assessments are based on the fairmarket value of a property, and are figured from typical real estate sales for similar properties in the area. Property taxes are figured from the State-Equalized Value (SEV), which is 50 percent of the actual

1993-94 fiscal year are based on resialigned with the sales in each dential sales between April 1, 1990 neighborhood. and March 31, 1991.

Assessment changes will vary most widely in Wayne County, where Christiansen disputed a 20-percent increase proposed by the Wayne County Equalization Department. The county had based its proposed increase on a single equalization factor for the entire city. Christiansen conducted his own "stratified sales ratio analysis" of city properties to take the place of the county factor, and the analysis was eventually accepted by the county. To conduct the analysis, the assessor first divided the city into 14 separate neighborhoods, and then applied sales figures in the individual neighborhoods to those neighborhoods alone. The result was a lower overall assessment increase and individual The equalization factors for the factors that were more closely

"All it boils down to is . . . I have to come up with a 14 percent overall average," Christiansen said.

Under the stratified analysis, assessment changes should vary from a near 28-percent increase in Cabbagetown to a 10-percent decrease for homes along East Griswold. The figures represent averages for the entire neighborhood rather than the amount that each property's assessment will automatically change.

Residents who believe their assessments are incorrect can schedule an appointment before the city's Board of Review. Homeowners can also claim financial hardship if property taxes are too great a financial burden.

Board of Review dates have been scheduled for:

March 9, 10 a.m.-5 p.m. March 11, 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

March 18, 1-9 p.m.

March 24, 1-9 p.m.

To schedule an appointment, call Northville City Hall at 349-1300 and ask for the tax department. Residents should not call for appoint-ments until they have received their assessments.

If turned down by the Board of Review, residents can appeal their cases to the Michigan Tax Tribunal.

This year's assessment changes actually reflect two years' worth of variations, due to the one-year assessment freeze passed by the state legislature in 1991.

Property assessments were held at the 1990 level last year due to the measure, but the freeze did not include new construction or new

Water system audit uncovers large line break

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

The city may have cut its excessive water loss by a third with the turn of two valves, in an action that followed a recent investigation of its water distribution system.

The inquiry, by an Indiana-based engineering firm, apparently unearthed a major leak from a pipe under the Beal Street Bridge. Department of Public Works employees then sealed off the apparent leak by closing valves on either side.

City Manager Gary Word hesitated to call the findings conclusive.

"I think it's premature to say we've solved the problem," he said. "Nobody has seen the leak per se. It's underneath the water, underneath the bridge, encased in concrete."

Even so. Word said, "I am pleased (with the investigation's results)."

The study, by M.E. Simpson of Valparaiso, follows years of inordinate water loss from the city's network of underground pipes and valves. The loss rate to unbillable sources surged to 44 percent last year, according to city auditors at Plante & Moran. The auditors figured a more typical loss rate from an older system like Northville's at 20-25 percent.

The city council sought bids for an investigation into the excessive loss late last year and awarded the contract to M.E. Simpson in December. In late January, the firm surveyed 34 miles of city water mains, using sensitive listening devices to locate po-tential leaks by their sound. The devices detected several apparent leaks in the city's system, including the break in a 4-inch water line under the Beal Street Bridge.

An estimated 374,000 gallons was being lost each day from that leak, which equals about 30 percent of the city's total water loss. At that rate, according to city engineers at McNeely & Lincoln, the leak could fill the water tower at Northville High School in 11/4 days.

M.E. Simpson's Feb. I report estimated the cost of that loss to the city at more than $200,000 a year. The figure includes $6.63-per-thousand-cubic-feet fee that Northville is charged by Detroit for water pumped into its system, and the $4.77 fee charged by Wayne County for sewer treatment and The two other leaks identified by drants, accounted for estimated daily losses of 1,122 gallons of water each. The fire hydrants are located across from Northville Downs at 301 S. Center and at Amerman Elementary School, 847 N. Center.

DPW Superintendent Ted Mapes noted that the Amerman School hydrant is probably not leaking, but is connected to a service line that is hooked to the school. What sounded like a leak to the company's testing equipment was most likely water flowing through the service line to the school, Mapes said.

But the DPW department moved quickly to respond to the major leak. They closed lines at the Beal Street Bridge after city engineers determined that the line was not needed because it was fed from three directions, and that its closure would not reduce the city's water pressure.

City Engineer Maureen Turner said the true extent of the Beal Street leak will not be known until the city receives more water bills from Detroit and their size is compared to previ-

The thing that's going to tell is when the future Detroit invoices come in," she said.

Word said the city will continue to implement the recommendations of a 1991 Ayers, Lewis, Norris & May review. The Ayers, Lewis review, while criticized by some on the council for its limited scope, has proved useful for ranking the city's 10 worst stretches of pipe, he said.

At least to that extent, their study was valid, and I think we need to follow through on some of the more acute areas or problem areas we have

District readies for negotiations with teachers

By MICHELLE KAISER

Administrators and Northville Education Association (NEA) officials are expected to begin negotiations on a-new teacher contract in March.

Roy Danley, director of personnel for Northville Public Schools, appointed as chief negotiator. Dave Bolitho, assistant superintendent for administrative services and John Street, director of business and finance, were also named to the committee.

. It will probably just be a who-areyou, who are we type of thing and well probably agree on upcoming dates, Supt. Leonard Rezmierski said of the initial meeting.

The current three-year contract is set to expire in August. It provided teachers with average annual salary increases of 7 percent, 7 percent and 5,875 percent, respectively.

produce and meat in one place.

Since negotiations for a new contract haven't started yet, it is uncertain what NEA members will propose for the new pact. Meetings between the two units are exempt from the Open Meetings Act, which allows strategy and negotiation sessions in : A school district negotiating team reaching a collective bargaining was named Monday, Feb. 8, with R. agreement to be closed to the public when either party requests a closed hearing.

Rezmierski said, however, he felt NEA members would be reasonable in the negotiations because of the position the school district has been put in by several proposed school property tax reforms being under consideration in the state Legislature.

"I can't say that I don't believe our teachers, like our board of education, are eminently aware of the problems that lay ahead of us," the superintendent said. "It's really premature to say what all those things could be (NEA proposals), but I suspect they

"It's clear that everyone in the field of education is hearing what their communities are saying," he said. We'll do the best of our ability in ratcheting down while trying to maintain quality."

Rezmieraki added he thought the district might be in for a tougher time from state legislators because he recently learned that Northville has been identified as a "wealthy" district because of its zip code. He said the district was being lumped in with Grosse Pointe and Birmingham schools and was told to "figure it out yourself" by proposers of school tax reforms.

Block grant directed to city hall project, playground items

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

The city council on Monday approved the allocation of $80,000 in Wayne County community development block grant funds.

The money will be directed toward improvements at Northville City Hall, playground equipment at Fish Hatchery Park and the city's administrative expenses.

Tuesday's vote followed a public hearing on the allocation scheduled for that evening. No comments were received at the hearing.

CDBG funds must be allocated toward projects that benefit low- to moderate-income individuals, eliminate slums or blight, or meet an urgent community need.

We have a hard time spending this money because of the restrictions that are on it," said Parks and Recreation Director Traci Johnson, who is coordinating the CDBG

The majority of this year's Wayne County funds, $52,000, will be spent on improvements at city hall to provide barrier-free access. Funds from past years are also being stockpiled for potential installation of an elevator between the two floors.

City Manager Gary Word told the council Tuesday night that he hopes to coordinate the barrier-free project with an already-planned renovation of city hall. The renovation is intended to redesign the interior of city hall to enable its staff work more efficiently. The city recently sought bids for qualifications from architectural firms for the renovation.

A $20,000 CDBG payment will go toward the installation of barrier-free playground equipment in Fish Hatchery Park's tot lot.

Because the county allows up to 10 percent of the funds to be allocated toward administration, $8,000 of this year's CDBG allotment will go toward that.

Elementary clashed last week.

An annual event, the C.L.A.S.H. Fair, which stands for Collections, Literature, Art, Science and History, was conducted on schedule during the Valentine's Day holiday week.

Each of the school's 125 students could select one of the categories and base a project on it. Many opted to do science projects, such as one student's exhibit of the solar system.

Collections included those of dolls and cars and some students submitted drawings and clay models for the art category. One student presented a history of St. Paul's as a history exhibit.

All exhibits were judged and were awarded either a "superior," "excellent" or "good" rating. Every student also received a participation ribbon.

City police arrest man after running light

City police arrested a drunken driver in downtown Northville whose car had fresh front-end damage Feb.

.- The Wixom man, 31, was driving west on Main just before 3 a.m. when he drove through a red traffic signal at Center. Police pulled him over at -Linden. When an officer advised him that he ran a red light, the man said, "What red light?" When he was asked if he knew where he was, he replied 'I don't know, but it's not West Bloomfield or Howell.

The man's car had extensive damage to its right front fender. Flecks of paint on the damaged area appeared to be white or silver.

The man was arrested after he failed several field sobriety tests and his blood alcohol level was measured at .19 percent, nearly twice the legal level. He was held until he sobered up and posted a $100 cash bond.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED: City

police recovered a stolen car Feb. 15 in the city-owned Cady Street parking lot. The car, a grey 1987 Pontiac Grand Am, had a damaged steering column. A computer check revealed was cited for failing to yield Feb. 11 after she triggered a three-car accident. The girl was driving east on Eight Mile about 5:40 p.m. when she turned left toward Novi Road, into the that it had been stolen from Muskegon Heights Feb. 10.

FENDER BENDERS: City police responded to three accidents last week. A 17-year-old Northville girl path of a westbound car. A second westbound vehicle plowed into the first after it struck the girl's car. The driver of that vehicle was cited for failing to stop within an assured clear distance ahead. No injuries were reported, but all three cars had to be towed from the scene.

Feb. 12. The man was driving north and both cars were driven from the on Lexington Boulevard at Clement scene. that morning when his car slid on the snow, colliding with a southbound car. No injuries were reported and both cars were driven from the scene.

On Feb. 13, a 34-year-old Bloomfield Hills man was cited for failing to yield after he drove into another car. The man was leaving a Rogers Street

A 29-year-old Ann Arbor man was driveway that afternoon when he cited for driving too fast for condibacked into a car heading north on tions after his car slid into another Rogers. No injuries were reported charges that he molested a young boy.

Teacher suspected of molesting boy

Lt. Richard Murphy of the Farmington Hills Police Department said Gerald J. Bauer Jr., a teacher at St. Paul Lutheran Elementary School, allegedly sexually molested an 11-year-old boy in mid-January.

Murphy said his department re-ceived a complaint from the boy's mother alleging that the incident took place while her son had visited the neighbor's home of a friend in

A Northville private school teacher was arrested last Friday afternoon on Bauer through those acquaintances. according to Murphy.

> Bauer, 31, of Westland, was arraigned last Friday in 47th District Court before District Court Judge Frederick Harris on one count of first degree criminal sexual conduct and on two counts of second degree criminal sexual conduct. He was released on a $10,000 bond of cash or corporate sureties, according to Murphy.

An exam date of Feb. 22 has been scheduled in 47th District Court.

Bauer faces up to life in prison on the first degree criminal sexual conduct charge and up to 15 years for the two counts of second degree criminal sexual conduct, Murphy said.

Bauer teaches sixth grade at St. Paul's, which is located at Elm and East streets in Northville. He has been employed there for a couple of years, according to reports. A spokesperson for the school said that Bauer is not teaching at the school at this time, but declined further

Tiplady wins local choice for teaching award;

Jan Tiplady of Amerman Elementary was named WDIV's elementary Teacher of the Year.

Bobble Marie McDonald, Jan Tiplady's fourth grade teacher, would have been proud.

Tiplady, a learning consultant at Amerman Elementary School, was recently selected as WDIV-TV Elementary Teacher of the Year in the Northville Public School District. She credited McDonald for her success.

"My fourth grade teacher — Bob-bie Marie McDonald — she made school such a wonderful place to be." Tiplady said. "After I had her, I knew what I wanted to do."

Tiplady recalled how her teacher would bring books in from the library to share with students and would come up with fun projects for the kids

"She was really, really good," Tip-lady said. "(Like McDonald) I believe in active learning. If it's passive, the kids aren't gaining."

Tiplady began her career over 20 years ago as a teacher for a migrant student program in Texas.

The kids in the program had failed school every year because they missed so much, "she explained. "It wasn't because of their ability, it was just simply they were not in school long enough so the district failed

Migrant farmers would leave to "follow the crops" from May until November, leaving the children without schooling for several months, Tiplady said. So, the migrant program taught children from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Nov. 1 to May 1. The program was disbanded a few months after Tiplady started because it was deemed discriminatory by segregating the migrant population.

From there it was on to Marquette. where Tiplady taught a short stint at a private school before becoming pregnant with her son, Rob. At that time, teachers weren't allowed to teach while they were pregnant, she said.

In the early 1970s, Tiplady hired in at the Wayne-Westland district, teaching there until being hired at Northville Public Schools in 1976. During her career in Northville, she's worked at Moraine and Silver Springs elementaries, and a year at the high school before going over to American. She also taught for one of Northville's private school, Our Lady of Victory, at one time.

Tiplady said she was pleased when she learned of her nomination for teacher of the year.

"It's a real honor," she said. "Every teacher I teach with deserves that honor. We have a tremendous staff in this building.

As a learning consultant, Tiplady said there is no such thing as a routine" day. In the morning she usually meets with a group of teachers to discuss testing or perhaps a particular student. After that she works with groups of students, ranging from as small as eight to as large as 20, helping them develop independent learning strategies in reading and math. Tiplady also coordinates the testing, such as the Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP), in the elementary building and supervises a Chapter One reading and math program. A member of the language arts committee. Tiplady helps teachers with curriculum choices by giving demonstrations of

"I gather material for the teachers to look at," she said. "I serve as a sounding board."

In addition to her other duties, Tiplady also provides inservice training for teachers.

"It's an exciting job because every day is very, very different, she said.

There is no typical day. *Every year there is something different so I always have something new to choose to venture in . . . I truly love my job. To me, it's my job and my avocation - it's my hobby." Tiplady said the most memorable experience in her career probably happened several years ago when she was teaching a fifth grade class. She bases her lesson plans on the theory "you're good and you're getting better. If you instill that into a child's head, there's nothing that kid can't do," Tiplady said.

"It was fun to see that theory come to life with 30 kids," she said. "Each kid walked out of that room at the end of the year and they felt good and knew they were getting better. That was a wonderful experience."

Tiplady earned her undergraduate degree from Western Michigan University and her master's degree from Eastern Michigan University. She has completed advanced graduate work through Wayne State.

The teacher resides in Brighton with her husband, Bob. They have two children, Rob, 24, and Taya, 21.

Senate slashes unemployment comp benefits

By TIM RICHARD Staff Writer

State Senate Republicans had less than a united front as they passed a bill cutting $1 billion from unemployment compensation benefits.

Wham, slam, bang . . . I feel like I stood in front of a train and got run over, said Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, who cast the only dissenting vote among Republicans. "But the train may come back."

"it's critical to cost competitiveness," replied Sen. Joanne Emmons, R-Big Rapids, sponsor of Senate Bill 2. As a grandma, I'm sick and tired of saying goodbye to my son and daughter as they go to jobs in other

Man guilty in antique break in

By STEVE KELLMAN

A Northville man arrested for breaking and entering last month pleaded guilty to the charge Feb. 12 at Detroit Recorder's Court.

Joshua Prescott Cogo, 20, entered the plea at his arraignment before Judge Harvey F. Tennen. He will be sentenced March 3.

Breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling carries a maximum sentence of 10 years.

Cogo was charged with one count of breaking and entering with intent to commit a larceny for his role in a Jan. 11 break-in at Meisel's Antiques, 320 N. Center St. He has been held at Wayne County Jail under a bond of $50,000 or 10 percent since his arrest Jan. 15.

Thirty-fifth District Judge John Garber bound the case over to Detroit Jan. 29 following testimony during a preliminary examination from Cogo's alleged accomplice. The witness, a 16-year-old Northville youth, told the court that he and Cogo broke into Meisel's between 8:30-9 p.m. Jan. 11 ."to commit a robbery." The boy's case has been turned over to Wayne County Juvenile Court.

· City police fingered Cogo for the crime after discovering an answering machine tape that apparently recorded the burglary as it took place. The 15-minute tape, apparently triggered on impact after being knocked off a desk, recorded the sound of the store being ransacked and the voice of one speaker calling another "Josh."

The antique store break-in was one of a string of burglaries in downtown Northville over the past two months. City police are still investigating the others.

- Cogo may be a suspect in at least one of the other break-ins. A bloodstained butcher knife and screwdriver were found inside Juan Carlos after it was broken into sometime between Jan. 6-7, and blood was found on the window ledge through which the thief apparent reportedly had six stitches in his right hand when he was arrested.

in the water distribution system," he

Three of those sections of pipe are scheduled for replacement in the coming construction season, Word sald. Slated for replacement are a 675-foot stretch under Dubuar Street, the 500 feet under North Center Street between North Ely and South Ely, and 550 feet under Rural Hill Drive.

The cost has been estimated at $120,000.

The city will also continue to monitor its so-called "running water accounts," shallow water lines that are allowed to run continuously throughout the winter to prevent them from freezing.

One such account is a fire hydrant at the end of Dubuar that is left open all winter long. A meter has been installed on the hydrant to determine how much water is lost by allowing the practice to continue.

Recent water rate increases should allow the city to replace those mains over time.

Word also recommended initiating a replacement program for residential water mains in the next 2-3 years, and replacing private service lines at homeowners' expense if the private lines are the ones that are freezing.

To 19 Republicans, cutting unemployment comp costs is a key to making Michigan competitive for business expansion against Indiana and the South. "It's a tax on job creation." said Sen. David Honigman, R-West

To Dillingham and 16 Democrats. however, it amounts to putting the burden on the backs of chronically unemployed people." The bill, passed Thursday, goes this week to an evenly split House of Representatives where it is likely to be modified.

Dillingham's chief complaint was that only $170 million of the cut would go back to employers, large and small. The other $800 millionplus will still be collected and go into

"It takes that money out of the economy," said Dillingham. Although the Livingston County portion of his district is insulated from the economic downturns, he said Shiawassee County residents, many of whom used to work in Flint, are hard hit.

*Michigan would go from sixth in the nation (in benefit levels) to eighth," said Honigman. "That's still very high." Two outstate Republicans - Jon Cisky of Saginaw and John Pridnia of Hubbard Lake — crossed lines to help Dillingham and Democratic floor leader John Cherry of Clio on some amendments. The bill doesn't cut the maximum 26 weeks of unemployment benefits, but it does restore the "waiting week" to receive the first payment, a provision knocked out in the 1970s.

The Senate adopted amendments

 Retain the lower federal minimum wage as the base for eligibility. Emmons had sought to raise it to the state minimum wage, which would have cut out some low-wage workers. The amendment passed 19-15, with Republicans Dillingham and two other Republicans joining 16 Democrats in support.

 Cut unemployment comp taxes on 53,000 small employers who, said Dillingham, "are not part of the unemployment problem in this state. Action came on a unanimous voice method for such seasonal workers as Great Lakes sailors and Upper Peninsula construction trades workers. That amendment passed 19-17 with Dillingham and two other Republicans joining Democrats in support. But senators rejected amendments to:

• Require only 20 weeks of work for eligibility. Emmons bill raises it to 30 weeks, cutting out short-time workers. The amendment lost on a 17-17 tie vote.

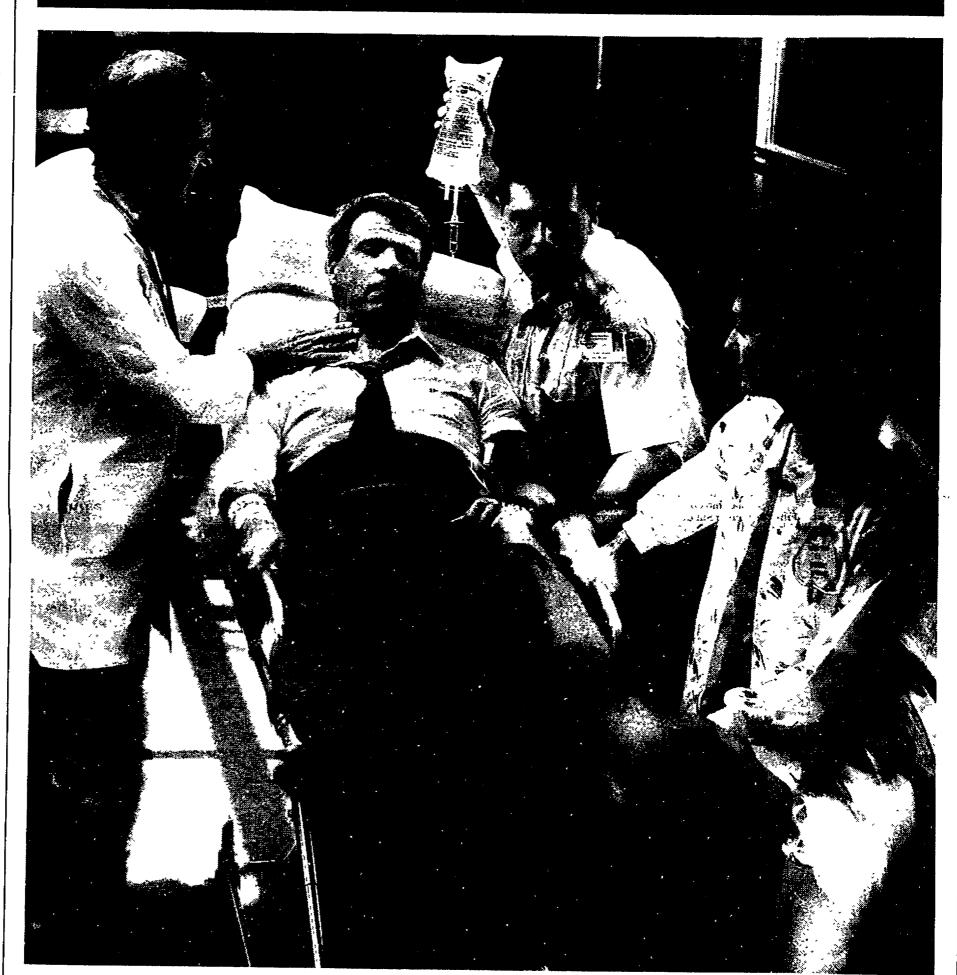

• Raise the wage base to which the tax is applied from $9,500 to $10,000. Dillingham argued that high-wage jobs at General Motors and Ford were being taxed insuffi-

• Retain an alternative eligibility ciently. Replied Emmons: This is another tax hike business can't afford." The Dillingham amendment lost 16-18.

 Retain benefits for new claimants at 70 percent instead of cutting them to 65 percent, as Emmons proposed. The amendment failed 16-18, with Dillingham and Pridnia joining Democrats in support.

Allow benefits to be paid to women who leave a job because of sexual harassment. Offered by Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor, the amendment fell one vote short. Emmons and Senate majority leader Dick Posthumus, R-Alto, argued that departmental rules made a statutory change unnecessary.

Mill Race Matters

On Feb. 26, 1910, The Northville Record carried an article which began. "Not many villages in Michigan can boast of a half-mile steep coasting hill within its limits. Northville has it, however, and has it plenty.

Buchner's Hill, as it is called, came into fame about 25 years ago (1885) when John Buchner, a citizen of the town, conceived an idea that the big hill, then covered with shrubbery and trees, which he owned, would be a great place for people seeking sightly homes or fresh air elevation

'From Buchner's house the view for miles and miles is magnificent. Detroit can easily be seen on the east, and but for the woods Ann Arbor would be in easy view of the west. The base line of the state runs over the hills, but here is the only place in Michigan where it cannot be traveled by road in a direct line from St. Clair on the east to Lake Michigan on the west. A trail leads over it following the surveyors' lines of the early days, but it is practically impassable except by foot, and the real road leads up into the main part of the village for half a mile, and arcund the elevation (along Randolph) .

The steep roads leading from the hill down through the village furnish a means of great sport for the boys and girls of the village and older ones as well, for coasting in winter. A full half mile ride can be had in just 20 seconds, although the lighter loads usually consume ten seconds more in the downard trip. Often as many as a hundred youngsters will be in the game at one time . . .

The snow of the last weekend seemed a perfect time to remember Northville of an earlier time. Many longtime residents recalled sledding on Buchner Hill as children in their Oral Histories completed about three years ago. Boy Scout Pat Roach has just completed an Eagle Scout project in which helped transcribe several of these oral histories. Congratulations, Pat.

Special thank you this week to Alan Rainey for his donation in addition to membership. Community residents are reminded that invitations for the annual Progressive Dinner (April 3) will be sent to members only and are to be mailed soon. If you've allowed your membership

William W. Scherkenbach

Scherkenbach receives honor from society for quality work

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

Quality is job one as far as William W. Scherkenbach is concerned.

The Northville resident, considered one of the world's foremost authorities on quality and its implementation, was honored for his work Wednesday by the Engineering Society of Detroit.

Scherkenbach, 46, won ESD's coveted Gold Award, an annual award bestowed on distinguished individuals who demonstrate outstanding professional achievement and community service in engineering.

The award presentation was timed to coincide with National Engineers'

The presentation follows years of effort on Scherkenbach's part to raise quality levels in the U.S. automotive

Scherkenbach joined Ford Motor Co. as its director of statistical methods in 1982, and helped implement the philosophies and statistical summed up by the phrase "joy of management methods of renowned management philosopher Dr. W. Edship," Scherkenbach said. "You want management methods of renowned management philosopher Dr. W. Edwards Deming throughout Ford's worldwide operations.

In late 1987, Scherkenbach moved on to General Motors as group director of statistical and process improvement methods for the Buick, Oldsmobile and Cadillac Group, and Cadillac won the prestigious Malcolm Baldridge National Quality Award during his tenure. He was then assigned to the senior executive staff of General Motors' newly created North American Passenger Car Scherkenbach said his methods are based on the teachings of his longtime mentor, Dr. Deming.

*He's the man the Japanese have credited with turning their economy around after World War II," Scherkenbach said. "He's like a god over in the Far East. The highest award in Japan for industry is the Deming when they may not even know." Creating that feeling requires a management style that takes many elements into consideration.

Deming's philosophy can be

"It balances long-term and shortterm goals, science and philosophy, knowledge and action, all of the measures where typically Western cultures are on one side and Eastern cultures are on the other," he said.

One such balancing act is between the Western focus on individuality and the Eastern emphasis on teamwork, he said.

Another is balancing the focus on negative and positive aspects of a

*One of the problems with many industries, but the auto industry has been notorious for it, is that they're always looking for what's wrong," Scherkenbach said. But if the focus is solely on weeding out the negatives, he noted, positive aspects of a product may be overlooked. "In fact, what's gone right is very, very important." Scherkenbach said. Those are the things that get customers to buy." Scherkenbach resigned from General Motors last month to act as a management consultant for clients around the globe, and to work more closely with Dr. Deming, now 93 years old. "He still is working, and I need to help him. He has an unbelievable load of work to do."

Sherkenbach has authored two books on his favorite subject, entitled The Deming Route to Quality and Productivity and most recently, Deming's Road to Continual Improvement. He has written many articles on quality, and his work has been included in six recent books and two Public Broadcasting Service documentaries.

Schools look for #1 Club names

By MICHELLE KAISER-Staff Writer

Thomas Johnson isn't one to ruin

The Northville High School principal is keeping mum when it comes to naming the names of nominees for this year's Number One Club.

The neat thing about it is that it's kept a big secret," Johnson said.

The Number One Club annually honors a student, staff member of the district, parent or community member who makes an outstanding contribution to the high school. Candidates may be nominated by anyone in the community who fills out a nomination form explaining why that person should be added to the ranks of the Number One Club.

Johnson said David Bolitho, former Northville High School principal and current assistant superintendent for administrative services. adopted the Number One Club idea about eight or nine years ago from the Wayne-Westland school district.

"It's intent is to celebrate ongoing volunteers, Johnson said. These people are so diligent in their support throughout the school in the hours and hours of work they give. It's exciting for me because it gives me a chance to finally say thanks. It's a very prestigious award."

A wirmer is selected by a committee composed of one administrator. one faculty member, one student from each grade and two members of the Parent Advisory Committee.

Sometimes it's really tough to decide," Johnson said of the committee's job.

Governor says districts should control spending

By TIM RICHARD Staff Winter

stop giving double-digit pay in-creases and learn to control costs, Gov. John Engler says.

fire - especially in suburban districts — for pushing a bill to cut school property taxes 20 percent with no state reimbursement. Engler's plan was bitterly assailed in the Senate Taxation Committee by suburban superintendents, some of whom fear losing a quarter of their budgets. According to projections, the Northville School District would lose $2.4 million, or roughly 10 percent of its budget, during the first year of the tax cut.

High-priced education isn't necessarily better education, Engler said in an interview in his Detroit office. He doesn't accept the notion that southeastern Michigan's price level has to be higher than the rest of the

Here is the text of this newspaper's exclusive interview with the governor.

RECORD: Your name is being taken in vain among a lot of out-of-formula school districts and school boards, Republican-voting areas like Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham and Livonia, on your proposed 20 percent property tax cut. They're up in arms. If you were a school board member in an out-of-formula district facing a 20 percent cut in revenue, what would ENGLER: I would stop giving double-digit pay increases over a period of two or three years.

And I would, in some cases, look at the state (average) millage, which is now 36 mills, and conclude that if my mills were at 24, as one of those districts mentioned is (Bloomfield Hills), it might be fair to go back to the voters and ask them for more mills."

RECORD: That defeats the purpose of cutting the property tax (to Jower costs and make the state economically competitive).

ENGLER: It achieves one important purpose. It lets the voters, the taxpayers, make the decision rather than the tax assessor.

Today the critical friend of the school budget is the assessor, and often the most irrelevant person is the taxpayer. We'd like to reverse those

Also a question that needs to be looked at is how much money - what ultimately would be the per-student expenditure when some schools' cost per student is approaching what it would cost in the finest private schools? Are we getting close to the point - is $8,000 enough? Will $10,000 per student . . .

We know that when we assess performance, there's no correlation between what we spend per student and the result in the classroom.

RECORD: Their argument would be that in southeast Michigan you have a cost structure that's 22-percent higher than the rest of the state. Construction is that much higher. Hospitalization costs are 18-percent higher. (Teacher) salaries are 22-percent higher. The whole cost structure is higher than the rest of the state.

ENGLER: That is an excuse, not an answer. And it certainly isn't an explanation.

They've negotiated the contracts that they're now having difficulty affording. They may well have to go back and review their practices. Many of them administratively are two and three times the cost of comparably-sized schools. That all has to be examined.

Every business in one of those school districts paying taxes has had to re-examine practices with an eye toward managing money better. Virtually every homeowner has had to examine the family budget with an eye toward managing the money.

Michigan education has been protected in the budgets I have proposed. As a result we have moved up dramatically in national ranking in education, but we never reach adequacy, to hear some schools talk.

I support quality education, and I support the maximum accountabil-

> RECORD: A group of 14 state representatives from both parties is pushing a reform plan to get schools off the property tax — reduce it by half — and shift to an income tax, with allowance for the voters to replace the income tax later with a sales tax increase. What's your feeling about that movement?

ENGLER: First of all, there has to be a choice made: Is it to eliminate the property tax and replace it with an income tax, or to replace the property tax with the sales tax? I mean, I don't see one as being an intermediary step along the road to the other.

I'm willing to look at that proposal as possibly meritorious for a spot on the ballot and give the public a choice. Ive always believed there's nothing wrong with giving people options. We did that with Proposal C. That was rejected. Many other proposals have met a similar fate. But I'm an optimist. I'm willing to keep on trying.

My position is that we ought to lock in some minimum guarantees of property tax relief, given the fact that assessments are rising at more than 10 percent for more than half the people of the state.

This still leaves many objections (to the Group of 14 plan) in the schools that are spending $7,000 and $8,000 per student, because the guarantee per student (in the Group of 14) is less than $5,000.

(The group's announcement says each school would receive a basic grant of $4,700 per pupil in 1992-3 and $4,850 in 1993-4.)

and Max Sprauer. Nominees included (bottom row) Traci Stachura, Stephanie Cionca, Brian Fowler, Mark Fagnani, Elizabeth Rivard and Tom Murphy.

Director not letting illness get in way of dream

By STEVE KELLMAN

Ron Bachman's dream of bringing his life story to the screen has been temporarily sidetracked by illness.

But the Northville resident refuses to let major surgery scheduled for Feb. 25 stand in the way of his vision.

"I'll bounce back," he said confidently.

At 35, Bachman is no stranger to surgery. He had both legs amputated at the age of 4 as the result of congenital deformities. But being handicapped did not prevent him from pursuing careers as a telemarketer, a booking agent for local clubs and a researcher for Detroit radio station

His handicap has also not kept Bachman from acting as a full-time father to his daughter Alicia, 13. He won custody of Alicia when she was 5

After his entertainment business fell victim to the recession two years ago, Bachman set his sights on a career as a disc jockey. He graduated from the Specs Howard School of Broadcast Arts in 1991.

It was there that he met Kathy Vander, a video and performance instructor who is now co-producing and directing an inspirational film about Bachman's life. The film's title, Walk This Way, refers both to Bachman's friendship with rock stars like Aerosmoth's Steven Tyler and his belief that his view is less a handicap than a challenge.

The film project has been put on ber, Bachman said.

He'll remain in the hospital for two weeks to a month following the operation to recuperate.

The surgery is needed to repair a desective bladder, which has resulted in a series of kidney infections, Bachman said.

'it infected one kidney bad enough where it actually killed it," he said. Your body reacts in strange ways when one of your organs dies."

Bachman's film, originally planned as a 60-minute entertainment documentary, has been scaled back to a short 20-minute feature. But it will still focus on his life and his friendship with rockers like Michigan native Ted Nugent.

Filming actually began last May at the home of Bachman's former nurse, Mary Fuller. Bachman arrived for the shoot at the wheel of his specially-designed three-wheeled motorcycle, powered by a Corvette engine. During the shoot, Fuller re-flected on how Bachman learned to live with his handicap while a child.

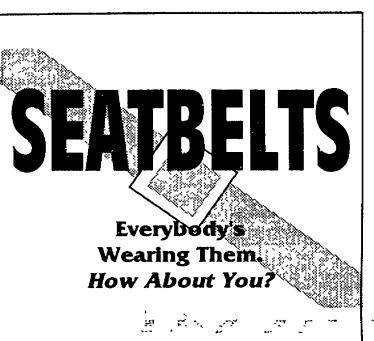

Despite the impending date with a team of surgeons, Bachman continues planning for his return to filmmaking.

"Providing everythings all right with me, they're going to resume shooting in June," he said.

The film's tentative release is now scheduled for November or Decem-

Amputee Ron Bachman, seen here during the first day of shooting of the movie about his life, vows to resume his many activities after major surgery later this month.

OPINION

Our Opinion

Too early for schools to make commitment

Considering how murky the Northville School District's financial picture is, it's hard to imagine how district officials can begin to think about entering into contract talks with the teachers union. Yet, that's just what they're preparing to do. At the Feb. 8 Board of Education meeting, trustees appointed a fiveperson team of negotiators to handle discussions for the district when it comes time to sit down at the table with representatives of the Northville Education Association.

At this time there are no fewer than five tax-cut proposals being debated in Lansing. Last week, the Senate approved a plan to slash property tax assessments by 20 percent, a proposal candidate John Engler included in his 1990 gubernatorial campaign platform. The measure, which now moves on to the House for consideration, includes a promise to reimburse school districts for the money they will lose when property taxes go down, but just how that is to be accomplished is anybody's guess. There is no language in the proposal outlining how the money will be recouped.

Given the uncertain state of school finance reform plans and the school district's own cutbacks in staff and transportation services, we believe it is prudent to steer a slow and careful course in broaching economic issues with instructors. Now is not the time to begin talking hard numbers with the teachers. Knowing the district's tendency to grant raises in excess of those being awarded by private sector employers, such discussions could produce unrealistic expectations about what the school district might be able to afford in the way of salary increases.

The district's operating millage expires this year, and district officials haven't even decided yet whether to seek a millage increase in addition to the mandatory renewal. Moreover, the prospect of revenue losses from tax cuts has thrown plans to abolish pay-to-play athletics up in the air, and made pink-slip call-backs an uncertain proposition.

While it is good to think ahead and prepare for the upcoming negotiations, we believe it would be a case of putting the proverbial cart before the horse to go very far into the bargaining process at this time. Too much remains unclear and, though it's being done with less and less frequency, it is still a good idea to know how much is in the account before you write the check.

Lawmakers ready to repeat past mistakes

One has to admire Gov. John Engler's determination in proposing a 20 percent property tax cut for school districts. Home and property owners have to see that as a very tempting idea, not only because assessments in general seem to climb at a rate faster than inflation, but also because the state's freeze on assessments is ending and homes are likely to get hit with a hefty jump.

But the big question, of course, is whether school districts can survive such a slash to their budgets. And it raises the whole issue of reimbursements.

When Engler's bill passed the state Senate last week, senators had amended the proposal to include a provision calling for the state to reimburse school districts for the revenue lost because of the cut.

Engler says he would rather not reimburse the school districts. He suggests school districts instead should just avoid handing out double-digit salary increases to teachers over the course of every two or three years.

Of course, such numbers don't add up. You can't make up a 20 percent revenue reduction with a mere freeze of salaries. So we see this as simply Engler's opening round in negotiations over the bill.

In the end, the state will likely agree to reimbursement. But even then there will be a danger, especially if the plan calls for state reimbursement without specifying where the money's going to come from, as was the case in the amended bill passed last week by the senate.

Unless it's specified, chances are good the state could just do a little more of its creative bookkeeping. Remember the lottery? All that money was supposed to go to education... and it does in a manner of speaking. But the lottery revenue also just replaced a good deal of money that was already coming out of the state general fund. So the lottery turned out to be a funding hike for the state government, not for education.

There are many examples of the state giving out cash on the one hand and taking it back with the other; too many examples to list here.

So, don't be fooled. Without a provision that clearly spells out where the money is coming from, the legislature might as well just adopt Engler's noreimbursement plan. At least it would be more honest.

nply Engler's more honest.

Change in city is remarkable

I've seen many examples of main street improvement efforts before, but none to compare to the one that's obviously taken place in downtown Northville. I'm a little leery of writing this because it's bound to show how much I lost touch with this city over the years—but I have to say it because it's so astonishing. What's happened to Northville?!

I used to come through this town many years ago on my way to my best friend's house. He lived in an old A-frame just off Main Street, and I had to drive right through the downtown whenever I wanted to get there. This, it has to be admitted, was some time ago. I didn't use a horse-drawn carriage back then, but that form of transportation was probably a lot more reliable than the Rambler Classic I limped around in.

At any rate, soon after my friend and I went our separate ways, I moved to the west side of the state and lost track of developments in most cities in eastern Michigan. By the time I moved back to the metropolitan area my friend was long gone and I had no real reason to venture out here, even though Northville is close to where I live in Livonia.

As a result, I hadn't seen the city in a long time when I arrived at the office of the Northville Record to interview with HomeTown bigwigs Phil Jerome and Mike Malott last month. What I saw then was remarkable. I could hardly believe my eyes. What have they done, I wondered. It looks like the entire downtown has undergene a facelift. What, did they gather up every downtown property owner, hold a giant confab and get every single one of them to agree to refurbish their business? That's what it looks like. I hardly recognized the place.

The Northville I remember consisted of aging buildings with nondescript exteriors. It was a tired old place that you didn't bother to look at as you drove through it. I can hardly recall any of the specifics of the downtown.

Now, the city shines like a new penny. Everywhere, there's new brick, fresh paint, beautiful facades and decorative signage. Colorful awnings and intricate cornices add a distinctive touch, and the additions have been designed to be consistent with the city's traditional image. But you do have to watch out for that obstruction in the middle of Main Street. Wait, that's no obstruction, it's a free-standing Victorian clock on a pedestal base. Amazing.

Laurie Marrs over at the Chamber of Commerce tells me that the change took place in 1978 when Twelve Oaks was built and city merchants knew they had to do something if they hoped to compete. Evidently, the construction of the mall was just the catalyst business operators needed to upgrade the downtown. And upgrade they did. It looks terrific.

I haven't heard the whole story of how it all came together, but however it was done, it sure is impressive. Never before have I seen a town undergo such a complete transformation. It is an example of community development par excellence. Maybe we could turn the people responsible for it loose on some other projects. Like Tiger Stadium, or Woodward Avenue, or the Cass Corridor, or . . .

Phil Power

Dems party, but lack plans

In case you hadn't noticed, both Michigan Republicans and Democrats have held their state conventions.

The GOP gathering was largely predictable. Gov. John Engler pushed something he calls a "tax-payers' agenda," a code phrase for slashing both property taxes and state government functions. David Doyle, re-elected party chairman, blamed Democrats for the House Fiscal Agency scandal.

And a bunch of senatorial wannabees twirled and pirouetted in search of what is looking less and less like a fun nomination to run against U.S. Sen. Don Riegle.

The Democratic convention was much more interesting, mainly because of what wasn't said.

There were obligatory praises for President Clinton, salutes to organized labor, bows to women and minorities — in short, the usual Democratic coalition. But nothing — no thing — was said about broadening the coalition in Michigan in the way that got Bill Clinton elected president.

And just now there are two sizeable constituencies in Michigan plenty sore at Gov. Engler and ripe for Democratic woolng.

1. Big, rich, largely suburban, out-of-formula school

Engler has persistently attempted to cut local school property taxes without appearing to care about how these districts are going to make up the revenue shortfall.

"A killer of local school districts" was the most charitable, printable description of the plan that would cut $4 million to $6 million from many local school budgets in the first year.

But suburbanites, even rich ones, vote often. Lots of them voted for Clinton last November. If Democrats tried to speak to their concerns, they might get into the habit.

2. A complex mixture of park users, fishermen, hunters and outdoor lovers often clumped together as the "moose and goose" lobby.

This group, most visibly led by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, is unhappy at Gov. Engler's treatment of things wild over the last two years.

First he tried unilaterally to reorganize the Department of Natural Resources. Next he tried to kill off a bunch of citizen advisory panels, drawing this comment from MUCC executive director Tom Washington: "Perhaps boards and commissions are not the simplest, most efficient vehicle to make policy decisions. That same statement also can be made about democracy."

In 1980 the state paid 70 percent of the operating cost of Michigan's widely admired park system. Since then, the state has shifted the burden to user fees, now accounting for 80 percent of the budget. Staff for parks has been cut by one-third over the past 10 years, and Engler has been heard to wonder about selling some public parks to private companies.

But are state Democrats trying to make points with Michigan's millions of grumpy sportsmen and women? Not so you'd notice.

Last time I looked, Republicans controlled the governorship, the state Senate and half the state House.

Michigan Democrats had a happy convention. They celebrated their victory last November. But they didn't try much to reproduce a winning national strategy at home.

Supervisor rebuts critics' charges

Once again I want to clarify my position on matters that have been reported in this paper.

1. I have never asked to be a fulltime supervisor. That proposal was made by Clerk (Sue) Hillebrand. I do, however, support looking into the matter using committee, study, public hearing and Board of Trustee approval process.

2. The reason the past township manager's contract was not renewed was not so my job could become more powerful or to make my job more important than it already is. The two issues are entirely seperate.

3. Our two most recent past supervisors are both "on the record" as stating that the supervisor's job is indeed a full-time job and they were both in the office with an acting township manager. 4. A committee approved by the full Board of Trustees was given the task of scarching for a new township attorney. After our 60-80 hours of work the committee came to the board with a recommendation that was all but ignored. The committee met again with a spirit of compromise and cooperation and made yet another recommendation to the board. They, too, have criticized critiqued and spent well over an hour of the board meeting time debating and arguing over whether to accept the committee's recommendation or was a lesson in frustration to me. However, all business was conducted and concluded and I thought we had adjourned before I left the podium. I left the meeting tired and angry and frustrated and did not wish to be scolded yet again that week by a fellow trustee. This trustee started the shouting match to my back as I was leaving the room.

6. In reviewing the history of the meeting I never said, "I quit" or "I resign." I said I was frustrated and disappointed and would be spending the long weekend to think things over for myself. We were adjourned before I left.

7. As for not reporting to work on Friday, Feb. 12, that is totally untrue. I was at Township hall at 7 a.m. as I am most mornings after dropping my children off at their bus stop. I had on Friday a child home ill from school and no one else home to care for

After checking with some staff and leaving messages for my secretary to reschedule my appointments, I went home to care for my child and conduct business by phone with office staff and department heads all day.

8. As of Thursday, Feb. 11 at 11 p.m. I had already put in over 47 hours at my part-time, 20 hour a week job and felt my staying home with a sick child on Friday was totally appropriatel

9. I do not believe or feel that I am trary. I have always honestly spoken my mind and will continue to do so. My crime is I have a temper and could learn to curb it better. As I stated repeatedly during the campaign, I do not beat around the bush. I'm honest, outspoken, and I shoot from the hip. The voters didn't seem to feel that I suffered from emotional immaturity and neither do I. 10. I am not a newspaper reporter or editor so I refrain from telling the Northwille Record how to do it's job. Since the current Record reporter and editor have never been Northville Township Supervisor, nor have they spent so much as a day in my shoes, it would be nice if they would stop telling me how to do my job and leave that up to the voters!

11. As to the late hour of meetings, I feel we should stop by 11 p.m. as no one is at their best to make decisions at that late time. Another trustee has repeatedly complained about the length of meetings in the past and on at least one occasion she got up and walked out before business was concluded or the meeting adjourned.

12. I want all citizens to come watch this new board in action and judge for yourselves, do not rely on the newspaper's interpretations. Karen Baja

Why can't we 5. The Thursday, Feb. 11 meeting get worked up over a library

To the Editor:
I'd really like to start a little ruckus here.

Some people who write to The Record have the knack for getting people all steamed up about a subject. Guy writes a letter one week, the next week there's six letters telling him to move out of the state and four saying he's as right as the Bible.

I'd like to get everybody riled up and shouting at each other like that on the subject of a modern, appropriate-for-our-community

Three or four of us around town think an upscale community like the Northvilles needs a full-size, electronic library like other kids use, so our kids can get familiar with it before they go off to college. Three or four others around town say, Why pay money for it when you can drive over to Livonia and get it for free?"

Everybody else just yawns and looks around for the TV Guide.

How about thinking about a library folks? How about maybe even writing a few lines to The Record, cussing out whichever side dares to disagree with you? Do like emotionally immature, quite the con- last year — make Phil Jerome add another page to the paper just to get all the letters in!

He's not pleased by Wooly Bully's architecture

To the Editor:

It may just be one man's opin-ion, but I think the Township Planning Commission has gone off the deep end in approving the new exterior architecture for Sheehan's old place on Seven Mile near Northville Road. There is not one other place in the City or the Township that compares to this monstrosity. It looks like a castoff from the soonto-be closed Boblo ammusement park. This lack of any attempt at control has set back progress 10 or more years.

Another group won't accomplish what DARE can

To the Editor:

After attending the initial meeting of the Community Task Force on Alcohol and Drugs last Wednesday, Feb. 10, we came away wondering. "Why?" Why another task force? Why are the Community Commission on Drug Abuse (CCODA) and the Northville Action Council (NAC) asking us to develop yet another "creative community solution?" Why haven't CCODA, NAC, the PTA, the school administrators and others been able to put forth something the community could embrace? Why was the invitation letter issued in the midst of the discussion of attempts to encourage the implementation of the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) program?

During the two-hour meeting. we talked — more — about the substance abuse problems our community faces. The folks who have been working on this problem explained they had already done lots of things. They've tied red ribbons, blamed groups other than themselves for tinkering with the school curriculum, sold pencils, blamed the kids, hosted conferences, blamed parents, signed teen 'no drinking and driving contracts, blamed the community at large, and many more activities too numerous to list.

None of this dialogue answered the questions we mentioned earlier. Indeed, it added yet another question to our list: How long do we David Totten intend to sit in meetings and wring our collective hands?

It is not now and never has been our position that DARE is the only solution to the problems our community faces. It's a pretty effective first step. DARE is a prevention program. It reaches kids before they're faced with difficult choices. It's available today (at least until the grant deadline of 5 p.m. March 3, 1993). It's federally funded, but not by tax dollars. The Michigan Department of Public Health agrees that it is very compatible with the health programs taught in our schools. Students, parents. school officials and community leaders in areas other than Northville value this program. DARE has been a rallying point for focusing community attention and commitment in more than 3,500 communities around the U.S.

Now, if we truly want to start solving this problem, here's what we should do:

• Admit that Northville isn't much different from the rest of the world. Understand that the community is aware of the problem and is looking for solutions that work.

 Understand that hand-wringing and excuse-making is nonproductive and is classic codependent behavior.

 Decide we're done with codependency and are tired of those who refuse to move beyond it.

• Understand that the Alcohol and Other Drug Survey is the best "awareness tool" we have. • Tell school officials who protest that the kids who answered the survey were exaggerating their habits that it is they, not the kids, who are full of baloney.

● Take the fist step and focus the task force on bringing DARE to our elementary, middle and high school students during the next school year. Prevention is far less expensive in terms of both dollars and human life.

 Become personally involved by writing a letter demanding action to bring DARE to Northville. Address your letters to the Northville Board of Education, 501 West Main: The Editor of The Northville Record, 104 West Main; your elected officials, City of Northville, 215 West Main or Township of Northville, 41600 Six Mile. Gang free' is winning concept

In my capacity of working with the youth of our comtimes when workshops come along that directly apply to the concerns at hand.

One such training/workshop concerned itself with

"Gang Free Zones," the same concept in a way as our "Drug Free Zones" which is seen by the yellow signs at the entrance to our schools. The program was presented through the Knoph Institute and the main speaker was Dr. Louis Gonzales who came to us through the center for Gang Free Schools and Communities in Oakland, Calif.

The fact that we have a major national problem with gangs and drugs in our schools is well documented. In Northville our recent Alcohol and Other Drug Survey results supported this pre-gang climate situation. We also know that in order to take advantage of our excellent teachers and curriculum, we must first provide a feeling of safety. We cannot talk about restructuring and reform, without first giving thought to the social and psychological climate of the learning environment.

Many in our community feel that they may only have a drug or alcohol problem, but not a gang problem. They are not aware that wherever there is illegal drug use there is a fertile territory for gangs. Drugs are only sold through a well-organized network of larger established gangs from other cities, who distribute their merchandise through new or smaller gangs. So if a community such as Northville has a drug problem, a gang problem will probably soon follow.

Schools are the places where youngsters learn about parties and alcohol and high times and are easily the breeding ground for gangs. Together teachers, counselors, administrators and parents, as well as concerned adults, can look for common characteristics of pre-gang involvement against gang and drug involvement.

What then is a gang? A gang is an organization of two or more individuals who form an allegiance for a common purpose, identifies or munity, these are claims a territory in the community, and engages individually or collectively in violence and other criminal activity. Their main concern is to be recognized for their criminal activity.

According to the Center for Gang Free Schools and Communities the "Student-at-Risk Characteristics for Gang Involvement" is seen as follows:

Chemical-alcohol abuse

- Hostile, unruly or possessive, apathetic • Pregnancy, health problems, socially immature
- Sporadic employment
- Police involvement Stressful home life
- Failure syndrome
- Low family income
- No extra curricular school activities
- Lack of motivation
- 1-2 years behind in school; reading problems
- Irregular school attendance
- Excessive school discipline problems Since the 1960s the following have changed

Pre 1960s

High family interaction Homogeneous value system Weak peer group One parent working Low divorce rate One parent at home Low teen pregnancy Low drug use Drugs the exception in treatment of problems Low technology Low levels of information Same role models Logical consequences Fear of "risk"

Post 1960s

Low family interaction Heterogeneous value system

Strong influential peer group Both parents working High divorce rate Latch key children; single parents High teen pregnancy High drug use Drugs popularized and advertised in media High technology High levels of information Dissonant role models Logical consequences avoided Celebrate the "risk"

This information comes to you from a wonderful book, Gang Free Zones. If you wish further information on gangs, please feel free to contact me or the Center For Gang Free Schools and Communities, Oakland, Calf. at (510)

I'm invested in and proud of our kids here in Northville and their efforts. I see the writing on the wall, however, for pre-gang involvement, but see no organized gangs to date. It's a testiment to our school, community and the high visibility of our police, administration, parents and adults that keeps gangs from our doors.

On a real positive note a group of students at Northville High School who have turned things around from being in harms way to potenitally positive force in the community are called "Motor City Pride." These students are concerned with anti-racist, pro-Americans and are working towards the betterment of the Detroit and Metropolitan area. As they state in their flyer, "We believe one should not be judged by the color of skin, or by one's ethnic background. Each individual is equal to another.

This group wants to make a difference and believe we are all part of one race. They have already put on a clothes drive for the less

I know these kids and another group, called the "SHARPs" — Skinheads Against Racial Prejudice. I believe with support they can be, and are, positive individuals in our community. We have steered them toward being members of "ACORD" and realize their potential to give us insights into our youth and what all the changes since the 1960s have brought. Good luck in MC Pride and SHARP.

Republicans seek overhaul of state education system

By TIM RICHARD Staff Writer

Casting a suspicious eye at sex education and "new age religion" in the schools, Michigan Republicans have endorsed the dumping of the State Board of Education.

Delegates to last weekend's state convention in Detroit also called for reform of the teacher tenure law, opposed giving marriage rights to homosexual unions, and elected state and district officers for the next two

The attack on the State Board of Education, in place since 1909 and strengthened in the 1963 Michigan Constitution, was a clear victory for state Senators Robert Geake, R-Northville, and Gilbert DiNello, R-Macomb County, and for the old Pat Robertson wing of the party.

Geake spoke in strong support of DiNello's resolution, which also attacks the Michigan Model for Comprehensive Health Education. Di-Nello's report accuses the state Department of Education of conducting an organized campaign to discredit parents" and asked state and federal attorneys general to investigate it. The resolution said public schools violate church-state boundaries by teaching Eastern new age religion and warned against the teaching of caim breathing."

273 support from delegates gathered in Detroit's Cobo Center Saturday.

By a vote of 1,422 to 78, Republicans backed Gov. John Engler's plan to reform the teacher tenure law by doubling the probationary period and streamlining the teacher appeals

GOP said it will oppose "any redefini-tion of marriage to include ho-mosexual unions" or giving legal status to "domestic partnerships."

In economic policy matters, GOP delegates:

 Supported the elimination of all local property tax abatements to industry, tax increment financing districts and taxes on hotels and rental cars to fund local projects. The vote was 936 to 572.

Called for the Department of Natural Resources to compensate property owners when it designates private property to be wetlands unsuitable for development. That vote was 1,218 to 278.

Can an anti-tax policy wonk feel happy and fulfilled running a nutsand-bolts political organization? Yes, said Patrick, Anderson, insurance company economist and newly elected chair of the 11th Congres-

"Having great ideas is important. Selling ideas is important. Getting those ideas into place is just as important." portant," said Anderson, who won a 116 to 60 secret ballot victory over Judy Riedlinger of Bloomfield Township.

Anderson's previous experience was chairing the Farmington Area Republican Club. He started his campaign last September, worked on it during the holidays and put in "full time since Jan. 5.

It was something of an upset be-cause Riedlinger had chaired the predecessor 18th District organization. She was elected to the Republican State Committee as a consolation.

The 11th district includes Livonia and Redford in Wayne County, the city and township of Novi, portions of the city of Northville, the Birmingham-Bloomfield area, Far-mington area, West Bloomfield and Southfield areas in Oakland County. U.S. Rep. Joe Knollenberg kept hands off the race although Redlin. That resolution received 1,203 to hands off the race, although Riedlinger had been his vice chair in past party posts.

Working for Anderson was Paul Welday, Knollenbergs chief of staff and leader of the 1988 Jack Kemp for president forces. The old 18th was moderate, but it was Jack Kemp's best district in the state," Welday And by a vote of 1,389 to 92, the said. "Pat's coalition was pretty good. This contest was more personality driven than ideological."

Vice chair is Diana Azzorpardi of Redford; secretary is Laurie Kepes, a Young Republican member from Southfield; treasurer is John Bowler of Bloomfield Hills.

Besides Anderson and Riedlinger. state committee members will be Elaine Donnelly of Livonia; Lori Packer of Southfield, chief of staff of the state Senate Republicans; Harry Greenleaf, Schoolcraft College trusteee from Livonia, and Novi council member Tim Pope.

municipal landfill? Just throw in a flashlight battery containing mercury, says the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC).

To focus attention on proper household hazardous waste disposal, the non-profit citizens organization has enlisted the support of Jeep & Eagle Division of Chrysler Corporation. Together, MUCC and the Jeep and Eagle Division will launch a massive battery retrieval program in conjunction with the Outdoorama '93 Sport and Travel Show, Fev. 26 through March 7 at the Novi Expo Center.

Oudoor enthusiasts are encouraged to bring their boxed or bagged used, household, dry cell batteries to Outdoorama. These include: ca-mara, watch, flashlight, toy and telephone batteries. For their efforts, participants will receive a $1 rebate coupon toward the price of admission. Ninety-five percent of Michigan's auto and boat batteries are currently recycled at participating retail stores and will be excluded.

Batter Solutions, Inc., a newcomer to the recycling industry, will be responsible for the actual shipping of Company vice president Ed Green said Battery Solutions also will provide information to show visitors they can initiate battery recycling programs in their local communities.

Batteries account for 20 percent of household hazardous waste," said Carey Rogers, coordinator for WISE (Waste Information Series for Education), a recycling education program for schools developed by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and managed by MUCC. "Education is the key, she said. "Most people are unaware of the effects of throwing hosehold hazardous waste in with the trash. For example, toxic heavy materials including mecury, lead, cadmium, and lithium may leak into groundwater."

Visitors to Outdoorama can learn more about recycling at the WISE education booth, also co-sponsored by the Jeep & Eagle Division. A colorful display will feature products constructed of recycled materials, including plastic bags, picnic tables, and birdhouses. Even the carpet in the booth is made of recycled plastic ketchup and pop bottles. Visitors of all ages can participate in educa-tional recycling games and win

Battle over tax reform continues

By TIM RICHARD

LANSING -- The 1993 version of the property tax debate is more than a battle over which medicine to use. It's a battle over which disease to "The issue is the economy . . . the unemployment rate," said Dr. Doug Roberts, state treasurer and Gov. John Engler's advocate of a 20 percent school property tax cut. Northville school officials vehemently oppose the plan, under which the district would lose $2.4 million in the first year.

"We're saying you can do them together - tax reform and school finance reform," said a key member of his audience - Rep. Barbara Dobb, R-Union Lake, Dobb is vice chair of the House Taxation Committee weighing the merits of Engler's Senate-passed plan, supported by Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, versus a bipartisan plan which Dobb supports.

The panel listened all Wednesday morning to Roberts and Richard Headlee, the Oakland County insurance company executive who heads Taxpayers United. Next it will hear an outline of the plan supported by the Group of 14:

Their plan calls for cutting school tax rates (now an average of $34 per $1,000 of valuation) to $17, raising the personal income tax and allowing voters in 1994 to substittue a 2-cents sales tax hike. It would have the effect of evening out the resources per pupil at about $4,700. It would not affect business taxes.

Roberts praised the group's effort to solve the school funding problem, but said, "It has the problem of not addressing the first issue (the economy).
*Under it, the vast majority of renters will end up paying more taxes. Small families will pay more; single individuals will pay more. Families with two parents and two kids will pay less - but they're not typical any

"The single biggest winnner," Roberts went on, "will be non-residents - peolpe who have lakeshore homes in Michigan but live in Chicago. They'll get a property tax cut but pay no more income tax."

Roberts said Engler would accept the Senate amendment requiring the state to reimburse out-of-formula (wealthy) school districts for their revenue losses under the plan but

Republicans like Dobb and Susan added, "I'm not convinced we Munsell of Howell and several couldn't spend less and still have quality education."

Democrats jumped on Roberts for that statement.

The property tax is unfair," said Dobb, whose district in western Oakland has seen some of the state's biggest jumps in assessments. She said the Group of 14's plan "would result in a much more equitable tax:

The debate showed that the House Taxation Committee, chaired this month by Rep. Willis Bullard, R-Milford, has no majority in favor of quickly pushing through Engler's tax cut. Bullard, whose district includes Novi, made it clear both plans wil be discussed simultaneously.

Headlee supported Engler's across-the-board tax cut with no replacement taxes. There are many big spenders who want to trade off property tax relief for an increase in the sales and income tax. There doesn't need to be a trade-off. There needs to be further reduction in the size and cost of government," he said, calling for abolition of the State Board of Education and State Department of Education.

Parent and former coach Valerie Ernst (standing left) and Katle Johnson (standing right) judge Odyssey of the Mind team players on spontaneous problem solving techniques.

By MICHELLE KAISER Staff Writer

Team members of Odyssey of the Mind held a mock presentation last Friday at Meads Mill Middle School in preparation for regional competition.

Odyssey of the Mind is an international, creative, problem-solving competition for students in kindergarten through grade 12.

"It's more creative thinking than anything," said Valerie Ernst, a parent and former coach of the team.

have something to be proud about."

Once called Olympics of the Mind. the competition includes a long-term problem. All teams have four problems to choose from

One such "problem" involves dinosaurs. Team players are responsible for building props and devising characters and a skit about dinosaurs. The team is expected to make several dinosaurs, one which appears alive, one which is a new discovery, one from the Mesozoic Era and one or more which complete various tasks. The skits are to last eight minutes.

What's nice about it is that it gives kids a chance who don't do sports to The kids have to do everything, Ernst said. The parents can't do anything except maybe show (students) how to cut wood or to sew."

Another problem team members can choose to compete in involves making a structure out of a certain type of wood. The structure can weigh only so many ounces, but the more weight the structure can hold, the more points the team receives.

Teams are also judged on spontaneous creative thinking. Players are asked a question such as "Today is a good day if . . . " With one minute to think and two minutes to respond, students are judged on the creativity of their answer.

There are currently 13 Odyssey of the Mind teams in Northville, including one high school team, two middle school teams and 10 from the elementaries. An average of seven students comprise a team. There are two coaches per team.

All together, there are 120 students preparing for the regional com-petition, scheduled for Saturday, March 13, at Grosse Pointe North High School. State finals will be held April 17 at Central Michigan University and the national finals are scheduled for June 3-5 at the University of Maryland.

"There is a lot to it," Ernst said, adding that most teams practice at least once a week. "It's a big commitment for the kids. It's a lot of work."

Nettle Skrade is a sharp, alert driver at 86 years old. CAN CITYCE

Program refreshes senior's driving skills

By SHARON CONDRON Staff Writer

Now more than ever you're more apt to find an increasing number of senior citizens behind the steering wheel. In years past, more drivers over the age of 50 would have thrown in the towel and traded their driving licenses for fishing licenses.

But, according to statistics released from federal agencies, more seniors nowadays are opting to stay on the road longer and later in life. As drivers they're more confident, more competent, and more aware of the situation around them. And they're on the go.

Today, seniors constitute 30 percent of the nation's driving population. And according to federal government projections there will be more on the road as the number of senior drivers is expected to increase significantly by the year 2000. Moreover, recent figures project the nation's roads will see a 120-percent jump in the number of female drivers over the age of 65 in the next five years.

That may seem like bad news to younger, more excitable drivers who literally live in the fast lane. But the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) along with state transportation agencies are hoping to change that outlook. They've created a classroom driving course exclusively for drivers over the age of 50 which seeks to improve seniors' driving stills.

Northville's Nettie Skrade is living testimony to those statistics and proof of the success of the course, called 55 Alive/Mature Driving. At 86, this Northville senior isn't ready to throw in her driver's license just vet

"I've been driving for 64 years," Skrade said on her 86th birthday, Feb. 3. "No. I don't drive a lot because of my age, but I do drive certain routes every day to attend to my daily routines."

Skrade was one of 19 senior students who attended the eight-hour refresher course, which is taught by AARP volunteers. On her birthday, she successfully completed the requirements of the driving course and will continue to drive.

Even though she says she avoids freeways, night driving and heavily traveled roads, she said she still feels comfortable and confident behind the wheel. A portion of her confidence, she said, comes from taking the course every three years.

"It is an excellent course," Skrade said. "It teaches us traffic safety and reminds us of the rules of the road. Our minds are refreshed of all the facets of us driving safely."

The 86-year-old said she has had only two minor accidents during her 64-year driving record, but course instructor Fred Lax said she's in the minority among drivers in her class.

The age group is involved in more accidents per capita than any other group." Lax said after completing the two-day session earlier this month at the Northville Senior Center. "This course is designed for students 50 and over to help them realize that because of their age, their coordination, eyesight and hearing are not as good.

What Skrade may be lacking in youth sheisn't lacking in driving ability, Lax said.

"She is the oldest student that I have ever had in a class in my 14 years as a driving instructor," he said. "That's amazing to have a person who is 86 and still driving. She's Coursework in the six lessons covers everything from age-related physical changes to rules of the road to license renewal requirements. It hits hard on the mechanics of yielding and making left turns — the two most common types of accidents among senior drivers. The course also reinforces the three-second driving distance rule which allows more time for a driver to stop and reduces the number of rear-end accidents.

Lax said the course also helps senior drivers learn to overcome the na-

Local den mother holds 'Supermom' status

By DOROTHY NASH Special Writer

She's a "Super Mom" is how 9-year old Nicki described his mother in a note he left for me the day I came to ask Cathy Slovan about her whinteering volunteering.

So besides being a good mom, what does she do to merit the title?
She's a Den Mother. Her husband

She's a Den Mother. Her husband got her into it. He came home three years ago from a meeting of Cub Scout Pack 239 and said he'd sign up the two of them.

That meant Cathy took an eighthour training course for Cub Scouts so she could organize seven firstgrade boys in a Den, Den 6, and start meeting weekly with them after school

Nicki was one of the seven, and a year later his brother Vince became a member.

"But I'm not alone," she said, because at parent meetings mothers sign up to help one month at a time. "We do artsy-crafty projects," Cathy said, after of course they've completed the basic requirements on God, country and fellow man as outlined in the Cub Scout handbook, one book for each year of Cubs.

Her husband? Does he do anything? Yes. He takes over on weekend field trips and hikes and evening father-son woodworking projects, coordinated with other fathers.

When their 6-year-old, Katie, became eligible for Brownie Girl Scouts, and Super Mom said, "I got into that not by choice, but because no one else would come forward."

Cathy took a training course of two four-hour sessions and started last month with 14 girls in the first and second grades second grades.

"Two mothers helped me," she said, "and we meet once a week at

"You should see the smiles on the kids' faces at the meetings."

Northville's Ernie Nolan was one of 12 students from his school, University of Detroit Jesuit High School, to participate and win the Outstanding Delegation Award at the North American Invitational Model United Nations.

It is the seventh consecutive win for the school in the 30th annual Model UN simulations. The school has captured the award nine of the læst 11 years.

Nolan was one of the team of 12 students the school sent to the weekend event which was held Feb. 5-8 at the Washington Hilton and Towers in Washington, D.C. The program included committee sessions where high school students. representing various nations, debated world affairs. Nolan's team represented Japan.

After the students were through meeting in committee, they had the opportunity to visit Japan's Embassy and talk with officials there.

Go Tell It On the Mountain

James Baldwin's novel, Go Tell It On the Mountain will be discussed by Dr. Richard Sax, chairperson of Madonna University's English Depertment, on Thursday, Feb. 18, at 1 p.m. in Room 244 on the Madonna campus as part of the free cultural series, "Black History Month: The Legacy Continues." The novel focuses on a Harlem family during the Depression with flashbacks to the rural South. In effect, the work documents in literature the migration of African Americans from the rural South to the urban North in the decades following World War I.

For more information on this and other events in the series, please call 591-5170. Madonna University is located at I-96 and Levan Road in Livonia

Do you know of a local resident who's done something interesting or celebrated something special lately? If so, call Sharon Condron at 349-1700.

By the 1975-76 season, the old library building had been restored at Mill Race Village and for the first time the Northville Woman's Club was again able to meet there.

Woman's Club Centennial Moment

Thereafter regular meetings were held at Mill Race Village once a year to continue the over-50-year tradition of meeting in the old library. Longtime community residents and Woman's Club members will remember that the library building was donated to the village (Northville) with the stipulation that it always would be available for meetings of the Northville Woman's Club. The donor, Mary E. Lapham, was the second president of the Northville Woman's Club. The library building was the first building moved to Mill Race Village and was restored to its original use as a church. It is today The New School Church, named for its 1845 founding.

The 70s saw many Woman's Club programs which were repeated in the '80s and '90s. Speakers included Eleanor Breitmeyer, Weldon Petz, Molly Abraham and Steve Walters.

Men's night, which was restored after being dropped in the '60s, saw an attendance of 200 in 1974. During 1976, 1977 and 1978 no programs were provided by members. Originally, members provided all of the programs for the year. The club had changed yet it had remained the same.

Joan and Christopher Mallires

Joan Elizabeth Clark of Northville, daughter of Joseph and Janet Clark of Northville, was joined in matrimony to Christopher Alan Mallires of Northville, son of Ted Mallires of Livonia and Dennis and Mary Tanner of Tupelo, Miss., on Oct. 10, 1992.

The double-ring ceremony was held at Memorial Church of Christ, Livonia and was officiated by Mark McGilvrey.

The bride wore a Chantilly lace mermaid style dress with heavily beaded lace appliques, sabrina neckline, and chapel train. Her headpiece was tiara style with a small pouf in the back, falling into a two tier waist length veil. She carried a large bouquet of cascading white dendroblum orchids, stephonotis ivy and red Jill Thomas was the maid of honor with bridesmaids Christic Roaty, Kimberly Clark Lloyd, and Marjorie Clark Bucklin. Jessica Lloyd was the flower girl. They wore floor-length gowns of royal blue lace over satin, with the front cut knee length. They carried bouquets of tvy, red roses, and deudro orchids.

Robert Bugar was the best man with ushers Kent Clark and Tom Brian Callaghan; and groomsmen Michael Diaz, Frank Nieto, Steve Mallires and Ted Mallires.

Norma Lloyd, a friend of the bride, was a soloist at the ceremony with Andrea Clark, aunt of the bride, on organ and Cindy Hallstead, friend of the bride, on plano.

The reception of 250 guests was held at Mercy College's Huron Ballroom. The couple then honeymooned at Disney World in Orlando, Fla. for one week. Special guests were Casey Dimmitt, formerly of Monterrey, Mexico, and her parents.

Joan is a 1985 graduate of Northville High School and attended Ferris State University. She is the head teller at Security Bank and Trust,

Christopher is a 1981 graduate of Livonia Stevenson and is currently supervisor for Adept Plastics Finishing Company and teaches drum lessons at Gitfiddler, Northville. He also plays drums with the Tinby Stein

The couple will reside in Livonia.

Navy Petty Officer First Class RICK A. MOORE, son of Ralph A. Moore of Northville, recently reported for duty at Navy Recruiting District, Jacksonville, Fla.

The 1972 graduate of John Glenn High School, Westland, joined the Navy in December 1975.

Navy Lt. Cmdr. CHRISTOPHER A. CARBOTT, son of Richard A. and Rosaline Carbott of Northville, is currently with commander Destroyer Squadron 36, homeported in Charleston, S.C., and midway through a six-month deployment to the Mediterranean Sea as part of the aircraft carrier USS John F. Kennedy battle group. The staff directs the operations of the surface ships assigned to the battle groups.

Carbott participated in joint and multi-national exercises, including African Eagle with the Royal Moroccan military. This exercise typified the new Navy-Marine Corps strategy entitled ". . . From the Sea," as sailors and Marines concentrated on littoral warfare and power projection ashore in the Mediterranean theater.

Additional elements of the battle group are conducting operations in the Red Sea as part of Operation Maritime Monitor and in the Adriatic Sea as part of Operation Provide Promise in support of United Nations sanctions against Iraq and the former Yugoslavia, respectively.

The 1982 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., and 1989 graduate of George Washington University, Washington, D.C., joined the Navy in May, 1982.

Private JOSHUAR. HILLARD has completed his basic military police training at Fort McClellan, Anniston, Ala. Students were trained to provide support to the battlefield by conducting battlefield circulation control, area security, prisoner of war operations, civilian internee operations, and law and order operations. Also included in the course were peacetime support to the programs, and preservation of law and order.

Hillard is the son of Stephen R. Hillard of Northville and Martha L. Hillard of Tecumseh.

The private is a 1992 graduate of Tecumseh High School.

SHERRIE LYN BALKO was promoted to lieutenant colonel in the Army Jan. 1. She is with the Signal Corps. At present she is stationed at U.S. Central Command, MacDill Air Force Base, Fla. She graduated from Northville High School in 1972 and from Eastern Michigan University in 1976. She has had two tours of duty in Germany, Also, she served in Operation Desert Storm. Her parents are Elmer and Ruth Balko of Northville.

Airman SCOTT A. BAKKILA, son of Charles A. Bakkila of Northville and Nancy E. Bakkila of Texas, has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio.

During the six weeks of training the airman studied Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

Mallett plays in 'key of nostalgia'

By JAN JEFFRES

Some people sing for their supper. Connie Mallett plays for hers. Four nights a week, she's behind the keyboard of her Hammond spinet organ at Victor's of Novi on Grand River

Mallett can afford the price of a meal. She has her salary as President of the Novi Chamber of Commerce. The food isn't the draw, although she says the dinners are "nice." It's the chance to live out a life-long goal.

"It was my dream to do this professionally," Mallett said recently. "I raised a family and never got to do it. It's very different from my day job." Mallett began playing plano at age

4, but switched to the organ in 1972. 'It was more relaxing. Playing the plano was not for me. I wanted to come home and play and feel relaxed. An organ is lighter in style and touch. An organ is not as harsh," she said.

"Generally, it's just a way to forget the stress of the work day.

While some musicians fret if their audience chats with one another while they're performing, Mallett expects and enjoys it.

"My goal is to create pleasant, mellow music and never go beyond that. It's the kind of music you can tune in or tune out, it's not so overpowering that you can't speak or hear yourself at the table," she explained.

She plays in the key of nostalgia. Her most frequent requests are numbers like "In the Mood," "New York, New York," "Misty," "Moonlight Sere-nande," "Satin Doll" and "Unforgettable." Mallett's repertoire focuses on the 1930s up to the 1960s. Her own personal favorite is Judy Garland.

"After that it starts to get real thin. It's the songs people recognize, the Big Band songs, Glen Miller. We have people come up and say, 'I just love your music. We don't get to hear these songs anymore. My wife and I were reminded of a dance we went to together. Mallett said.
Some people still like the old

Hammond sound . . . Some people ask for more modern numbers and I can't do them. I don't even have the music for the newer stuff."

Connie Mallett at the keyboard of her Hammond spinet organ at Victor's Novi Inn.

The Chamber of Commerce president volunteered for this extracurricular job in September 1991. She isn't paid, although tips are welcome. The initial two nights a week grew to four nights (Monday through Thursday.) Local resident Del Kaufman sometimes joins in as singer on Mondays and Wednesdays.

At times, Mallett's daytime career means she can't show up at Victor's that evening at all.

But when she is in place, it's an all-Novi line-up. Victor's is owned by Mallett's "close friend," Victor Cassis, who is on the board of directors of the Novi Chamber of Commerce. His wife, who is frequently on the scene, is Novi City Council Member Nancy Cassis.

"It makes for a real Novi location." Mallet said.

"It's nice to be a part of his restaurant. I like the atmosphere. Part of the fun of this for me, and I think for Victor, is I'm a more visible person in the business community and know so many people. We get people coming in and it'll be 'Hi, Vic, and Hi, Connie.

Mallett got the job after she told Victor she was better than his planist. She made him a tape to prove it. The restaurateur was convinced.

Now, she does more than provide the music. That's her own Hammond in the spotlight, together with the Leslie speaker she uses for stronger sound. Victor's of Novi is located at 43317 Grand River Avenue. Mallett is usually performing on Mondays through Thursdays from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Call ahead to make sure; the number is 349-1438.

RECORD TRAVEL

By WILLIAM T. TOMICKI New York Times Travel Syndicate

Q: Earlier this year I read about a game auction in South Africa. Will there be another in 1993?

A: The Natal Parks Board wild game auction is an annual event; rare breeds are often sold there. This year it will be June 15 at Hluhluwe Village, in Natal.

.The animals are sold in breeding groups; the goal is to help populate wildlife ranches. Among the 20 or so species that will be auctioned are the eland, giraffe, black rhino, white rhino and black wildebeest.

In 1992 a breeding group of five black rhino were sold for $805,000. Bushbuck, which are small South African striped antelopes with spirally twisted horns, were sold at $525 a head.

For details write Julian Harrison, South African Tourism Board, 747 Third Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017 or call (800) 822-5368. Information is also available from your local travel

Q: I am headed for Montego Bay, Jamaica. I love Jamaican cooking but willneed a break from it. Can you suggest a restaurant there that serves Italian cuisine?

A: Il Giardino opened in December at the prestigious Half Moon Club Hotel.

This elegant restaurant offers air-conditioned comfort in true Italian style. Floral drapes and murals line the walls. Italian music serenades diners and the waiters dress European-style.

The menu includes carpaccio, Italian soups, pastas, grilled meat and fish courses. Italian desserts, espresso and cappucci-nos and Italian wines and liqueurs are also served.

Il Giardino is open every evening from 7 p.m. You needn't be a guest at the Half Moon Hotel to dine there. For reservations whch are a must - call (809) 953-2211.

'Q: Where can we vacation with our son who wants to be a stand-up comedian?

A: You might want to visit the Just for Laughs International Comedy Festival, in Montreal, from July 22 to Aug. 2.
It is the world's largest annual comedy festival, with more than 250 acts scheduled this year.

In April '93 the International Museum of Humor will open in Montreal. The first exhibition, entitled Laughing Matters: Humor Through the Ages," will run from April to December.

For details contact the Montreal Convention and Tourism Bureau at (514) 844-5400. Information is also available from your local travel agent.

Q. Do you know if we can visit the site of Buddy Holly's last concert and where it is located?

A. The Surf Ballroom, 460 North Shore Drive, Clear Lake, Iowa, just north of Des Moines. is where Buddy Holly last performed before he, Ritchie Valens and J.P. Richardson (the Big Bopper) died in a plane crash Feb. 3, 1959.

The ballroom features varied entertainment weekends. A plaque and monument outside the ballroom commemorate the musicians.

Visitors can take a free, selfconducted tour. For more information call (515) 357-6151.Information is also available from your local travel

Colorful colony delights tourists

By BARBARA BASLER New York Times Travel Syndicate

This rich, colorful little colony governed by the British but still Chinese to the core — is the most popular tourist destination in Asia. And fall, which is clear and sunny, is its busiest season.

But Hong Kong handles crowds so adeptly and absorbs visitors so naturally few will ever know they have come during the tourist peak. There are no long lines even at its most compelling sights.

That's because sightseeing here is less a matter of monuments and exhibits and more a matter of wending your way through a lively, lanternlighted night market, or watching fishing boats and passenger ferries glide through Hong Kong's beautiful

A spectacular port on the South China Sea that drew 6 million tourists last year. Hong Kong is a place of glittering skyscrapers and green hills, elegant hotels and massive public housing estates, intriguing back-alley shops and expensive designer boutiques.

Hong Kong's return to mainland China in 1997 after 150 years as a British colony has prompted some entrepreneurs to expand here, while others are working frantically to turn a last profit.

This has created a general building boom, with new office buildings and hotels, several other projects completed in Central, the business district, including the Western Market, a new shopping center in a restored red-brick colonial building at 323 Des Voeux Road, and Hong Kong Park, an impressive city garden with a series of fountains and leafy walkways.

WHAT TO SEE

Hong Kong Park is off Cotton Tree Drive in the middle of the glass and mirrored towers of Central.

Along with a scenic lotus pond, flowering shrubs and an outdoor case, it has an aviary where visitors can take an elevated walkway and look down on the rain forest where 600 Asian birds live. Admission is free. For details call 521-5041.

To gt an overall view of the beauty and dynamism of Hong Kong take the Peak Tramway, a funicular railway opened in 1888, from Garden Road to the top of Victoria Peak, an exclusive residential neighborhood.

The tram runs every 15 to 20 minutes from 7 a.m. until midnight and the fare is $2.05 round trip. At the top there is a free observation deck in the tram station, offering sweeping views across the harbor to Kowloon.

If Hong Kong is the business center, Kowloon has the colony's premier tourist area, Tsim Sha Tsui, a frenetic mix of hotels, bars, restaurants, nightclubs and countless shops.

Amid all the glitz and neon, however, are such bits of traditional Hong Kong as the venerable Peninsula Hotel (Salisbury Road, Tsim Sha Tsui, Kowloon, 366-6251).

From 3 to 6:30 p.m. the Peninsula serves afternoon tea in its lobby, an elegant room of marble pillars and potted palms. Visitors can enjoy tea and scones laden with clotted cream and jam for about $12 a person, as a string quartet plays discreetly in the background.

A highlight of Hong Kong Park is its aviary where visitors can stroll through a simulated rain forest.

As Hong Kong becomes more and more sophisticated, visitors have to look a little harder for the exotic. One of the best places to see the colorful. teeming life of Hong Kong is deep in the heart of the Chinese neighborhood of Yau Ma Tel, which lies to the north of Tsim Sha Tsui.

In Yau Ma Tei's crowded, narrow side streets traditional shops sell everything from live snakes for medicinal potions and soups to mah-jongg tiles and household altars for favorite

Two of Hong Kong's most enticing markets are in this area: the Jade Market and Temple Street, with its fortune tellers and opera singers.

The easiest way to reach the area is to take the subway to Yau Ma Tel station. A few blocks from the station is Public Square Street and the busy Tin Hau Temple, dedicated to the goddess of the sea.

In the park next door, neighbors gather on fine days to play chess and dominoes.

Nearby on the waterfront is the Yau Ma Tei Typhoon Shelter, a mass of bobbing boats. Ferries, cargo carriers, dozens of battered fishing junks and houseboats use this sheltered anchorage.

The Temple Street extravaganza, crammed with vendors, doesn't get fully under way until after 6 p.m. so it's best to make that visit on a separate trip.

The tourist association center has some excellent booklets available outlining different walks through the colony, including one for Yau Ma Tei. Each guide provides a small, clearly marked map along with detailed comments on streets and sights. The guides cost $2.80.

 With many of Hong Kong's English speakers emigrating to Canada and other Western countries to avoid the 1997 hand-over, the use of English here has dropped dramatically, so having an address or destination written in Chinese characters can save time and trouble.

WHERE TO STAY

Higher peak-season prices are in effect at most hotels from October through the first week of December. and standard rooms fill up quickly. Prices quoted are for a double room and do not include the 10 percent service charge and 5 percent tax.

The Lee Gardens Hotel, Hysa enue, Causeway Bay, Hong Kong, 895-3311, fax 576-9775, is an old favorite of some visitors who enjoy its location in a bustling Chinese shopping area where residents, not tourists, crowd the streets. Double rooms begin at about $142.

The Hillview, 13-17 Observatory Road, Kowloon, 722-7822, fax 723-3718, is a small new hotel in Tsim Sha Tsui, with 163 rooms strategically situated near the colony's tourist center. Double rooms cost $147.

Luxury: The Regent Hotel, 18 Salisbury Road, Kowloon, 721-1211, fax 739-4546, known for the spectacular white marble staircase in the lobby and view of Hong Kong harbor. is frequently ranked as one of the finest hotels in the world. Rooms start at

The opulent new Island Shangri-La. Pacific Place, Supreme Court Road, 877-3838, fax 521-8742, has some rooms with grand harbor views. even though it sits inland just blocks from Central in the very chic Pacific Place shopping complex. Double rooms start at $225.

Budget: The Garden View International House, 1 McDonnell Road, Midlevels, Hong Kong, 877-3737, fax 845-6263, is abright new hotel run by the YWCA. Some rooms have wonderful views looking over Hong Kong's Botanical Gardens, a green spot in Central. A room costs $68 and is subject to only the 10 percent ser-

WHERE TO EAT

With 30,000 restaurants, Hong Kong is a food-lovers' paradise. Restaurants are generally less expensive than their counterparts in New York or London. Reservations are recommended.

For exquisite Cantonese food there is the chic Lai Ching Heen restaurant at the Regent Hotel. Autumn specialties include quail breast in soy sauce and deep-fried pomfret with crab roe. Dinner for two with drinks costs about $100. Jade Garden, Swire House, 9 Connaught Road, Hong Kong, 523-9966, offers good but less expensive Cantonese food. Dinner for two with drinks ranges from $50 to $80.

Spring Deer, 42 Mody Road, Kowloon, 366-4012, is an unpretentious Peking restaurant famous for its duck. Dinner for two with drinks costs about $45.

For spicy Szechuan food there is Pep n'Chilli, 12-22 Blue Pool Road, Happy Valley, Hong Kong, 573-8251, which does all the favorites well: sizzling prawns, lobster with chili, hot garlic, flery Szechuan noodles. Dinner for two with drinks costs about

WHERE TO SHOP

Tourists are often found shopping in Hong Kong or, if they are mn, visit-ing the tailor. That trip should be made as soon as possible because it takes several days and fittings for a proper suit. Prices for a man's tropical weight wool suit begin at about $325.

Tailoring in Hong Kong is largely for men — most women complain that tailors here, even fine ones, just can't get women's clothing right, or get it right only after repeated visits.

Man Hing Cheong, whose impeccable suits are said to rival London's Savile Row, has a shop in the Mandarin Oriental Hotel, 5 Connaught Road, Hong Kong, 522-3336, where prices start at $520.

Canadian Rockies help attract guests to Alberta's Lake Louise

By GENE and ADELE MALOTT New York Times Travel Syndicate

A fine place to visit is Lake Louise in Alberta, Canada. Last fall we arrived on a nice sunny day and next morning watched the season's first snowfall. For a brief few hours it was the grandest place in the world.

The Canadian Rockies are mountains to stop and look at for hours - rather than just quickly drive through. Snow-covered all year they are craggier and seem much higher than the Colorado Rockies — probably because you can get right up close to them.

But be prepared to shoo away the elk. To the north of Lake Louise two "must" stops are Banff National Park and Jasper National Park.

We especially enjoyed the Banff Springs Hotel (800-268-9411), which is situated almost as a part of the mountains and forests.

The rooms cost about $115 per night.

Also well worth checking out is the Chateau Lake Louise (800-268-9411), which is on the edge of Lake Louise, near a scenic glacier. The rooms range from about $80 to about $140 per night.
Every day on the road is a day away from the natural environmental splendor. And it may seem like the 1,000-mile-plus drive across the flatlands takes a

The fastest route would be TransCanada-1 from Winnipeg straight to Calgary. An interesting stop would be Regina, in Saskatchewan, which is the home of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. In Regina visit the "Mountie" memorabilia museum.

Another route is the so-called Yellowhead Highway. TransCanada-16, through Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, up to Edmonton, Alberta. There it's fun to browse through a giant shopping center, the West Edmonton Mall. Then it's a quick drive into Jasper National Park.

But why not fly from St. Paul, rent a car in Edmonton and spend any driving time on the scenic circle route: from Edmonton east to Jasper, south through the park to Lake Louise or Banff, east to Calgary and back north

GRAND HOTELS TIE WEDDING

YEAR TO ROOM RATE It's a good idea for married couples visiting this part of Canada to bring a marriage certificate to any of Canadian Pacific's four grand old hotels in British Columbia to qualify for a "Second Honeymoon" discount.

The amount of the cost reduction is pegged to the year in which the folks were married.

If a couple tied the knot in 1941, for example, they get a room for two for $41 per night; couples married in 1921 pay $21 per night and so on. The same rooms regularly cost about $110 to $115 per night.

For more information contact any of the Canadian Pacific hotels: The Empress in Victoria (604-384-8111), the Hotel Vancouver (604-684-3131), the Waterfront Centre in Vancouver (604-691-1991) or the Chateau Whistler Resort in Whistler, British Columbia (60-938-8000).

This "Second Honeymoon" promotion runs through April 30, 1993, except at the Chateau Whistler, where it ended Nov. 30.

The deal is not just for seniors. If mature travelers bring their married children, even those married in 1992, they get the rooms for $92.

Northville got its 10th victory Thursday by crushing conference rival Walled Lake 67-26 at home. In the last six years, the Mustangs have won 10 dual meets three times.

Coach Mark Heiden said this year's team is blessed with talent, but more importantly, a great work ethic.

"If you have kids willing to work, you will be good," he said. "All you have to have is a little talent and a lot of desire to do it. We seem to have a lot of dedicated kids in Northville."

Northville, ranked No. 8 in Class A. now has its sights set on winning the Western Lakes Activities Association title next week.

The Mustangs certainly had little trouble with a combined Walled Lake Central and Western team Thursday. Northville, in fact, won all but one

Wrestlers grab conference title

By SCOTT DANIEL. Sports Editor

Like the mythical phoenix, the Northville High wrestling squad has risen from the ashes to claim its first WLAA championship.

The Mustangs earned that honor Saturday by outdistancing Westland John Glenn and the rest of the conference. Every wrestler shared in the triumph by earning team points.

Not bad for a team that finished near the bottom of the WLAA a year ago and could count its victories on the fingers of one hand.

*From worst to first," said Northville coach Bob Boshoven. "At the beginning of this year we were hoping to finish in the top half (of the league).

"This just came from nowhere." Northville edged John Glenn 156% -153%. The championship was even more impressive considering the Mustangs had to void at 112

Northville downs Canton hoopsters

By SCOTT DANIEL Sports Editor

Putting the shoe on somebody else's foot sure can feel good, just ask the Mustang basketball team.

Northville came from a 17-point second-half deficit Friday night to snatch a 62-60 home victory from Plymouth Canton. Senior Todd Rabourn led the charge in the fourth quarter with 12 points.

"He just took control of the game," Mustang coach Larry Taylor said. "It's almost as if he said, We aren't going to lose this game.'

Rabourn, who finished the game with 23 points, scored in dramatic fashion in the final quarter. He nailed three three-pointers as well as connecting on three of four

Taylor said it was nice to have a winning comeback instead of being the victim of one.

We've had a couple of these go the other way," he commented. "The kids will get some confidence from this."

Northville went into halftime with a 30-29 lead. But the Chiefs came out storming in the third and quickly put the Mustangs in a hole with a tough half-court press.

Canton went up by 17, in fact, before Northville could stop the damage midway through the pertod. Taylor called timeout and switched his team to a straight man-to-man defense. The coach said the move allowed the Mus-tangs to speed up the tempo of the

"It got us focused on each individual player," Taylor added.

By the end of the quarter, Northville cut Canton's lead to 49-39. The Mustangs completed the comeback with three minutes to go and held on for the victory. Mike Maschek and George Lemmon supported Rabourn's efforts in the final quarter with four points each.

Taylor said the key, again, was playing at a faster pace. North-ville's early season success centered around playing full-court pressure defense and using almost the entire lineup to wear opponents out.

"We're working on getting back to up-tempo," Taylor said. "We were walking the ball up the floor too much and got away from utilizing all the people we have on the bench."

To close the season strong, the coach said his team needs to average in the mid-70s offensively or even a little more. Playing at a faster pace should produce those results and keep everyone on the team involved.

"Up-tempo works better," Taylor said. The hardest job I have is getting them all in the game."

Golf-O-Rama cures links blues

Thank goodness for doctors.

I went to see mine the other day, a cranky old cuss with thin, white hair and a perpetual frown on his face. I told him I had been feeling ill recently, but it was like nothing I'd ever had before.

described the symptoms: cold, itchy feet, tingling in my bands, hallucinations of large white dots, and feeling a need to play in the sand.

: "What the heck is it Doc?" I asked, fearing the worst.

F Without hesitation he said. "Golfusinterruptus."

I clutched his arm, gasping for breath, "Golfusinterruptus? Is it terminal Doc? How long do I have? Experimental drugs — do they have any? I'll take 'em all. I don't care Doc, I want to . "Relax, you young idiot," he said, as his eyes swiveled towards the ceiling. You have a case of simple golfing withdrawal."

Yes. I have golfing withdrawal, I have golfing withdrawal," I screamed, prancing around his office. "Golfing withdrawal? How do we cure it, Doc?

"Golf-O-Rama," he said, scribbling some unintelligeble words on a piece of paper. Take this to 2944 Old U.S. 23 in Brighton. They can fill your order there."

Being one to always follow doctor's orders, I loaded up the car Saturday with my golfclubs and two similarly afflicted friends. Sure enough, after about 30 minutes on I-96 and a few twists and turns through Brighton we found Golf-O-Rama.

It stood there like like an oasis in the desert. As we walked into the building I began to immediately feel better. I heard the sound of golfclubs slicing through the air, I saw people standing nervously over three-foot putts. It felt like home.

Pebble Beach, Torry Pines, St. Andrews — all the legendary courses that I had only dreamt of playing were waiting for me. On this day, Doral's Blue Monster would be mine through the magic of simulation.

So I stepped up to the first tee. Seeing that I had nearly 500 yards between me and the green, I reached for my trusty driver. Smack, I nailed that sucker 260 yards. I dubbed my next shot but wound up finishing the hole with a bo-

A moment of explanation before we go on. The game is played with the help of the "Par T golf simulator. Golfers hit from a range mat into a large, vinyl projection screen that shows each hole just as if you were playing it in real life. The simulator calculates how far you hit each shot and if it hooks, slices, or goes far to the left or right.

After you reach the green, you putt out on a large green-carpet area in front of the screen. Depending on your approach shot onto the green, the simulator tells you where to putt from on the carpet, which is lettered from A to Z. The closer you get to Z, the farther away from the hole you are.

Now, with that out of the way, I can tell you about the rest of my round on Doral. Well. maybe not. Lets just say the Monster had me for dinner.

Simulation golf isn't the center's only attraction.

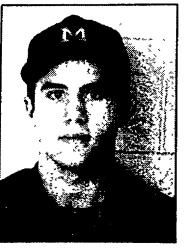

"Adventure Golf" is definitely for the minature golf fan. All 18 holes are indoor but feature the best of the outdoors, including water and real boulders. "Chipper Golf" is also worth a try.

A 100-inch television screen is available for a youngster's ultimate Nintendo fantasy. Golf-O-Rama also features a game room stocked with other video toys.

"We're going for family entertainment," said co-owner Marvin Dillaura.

Gymnasts edge Berkley in meet By SCOTT DANIEL ports Editor It's not often that a team wins and loses on the same night. But that's exactly what the Mus-

Novi offers summer jobs

By CINDY STEWART

Bill Clinton may not be able to promise more jobs, but Novi Parks and Recreation can.

The department is currently searching for qualified teenagers and young adults to fill its 1993 summer seasonal positions. If you're interested and qualified, stop by the Parks and Recreation office today and pick up an application.

Finding summer jobs is always a dilemma for teenagers. There aren't too many opportunities out there besides fast food restaurant jobs. Sure, we've all done the McDonalds, Burger King, Taco Bell route, but not everyone is cut out for flipping burgers.

Parks and Recreation offers jobs working outdoors all summer long. Positions include Camp Lakeshore and mobile recreation leaders, supervisors for all summer T-ball, softball and golf leagues, park laborers, park attendants, concession stand workers and lifeguards.

Recreation coordinator Deanne Adaschik has worked for Novi Parks and Recreation for almost 10 years. "I was captain of the Novi girls basketball team and was asked to run a Basketball Basics Camp for 7- and 8-year-olds when I was in junior high school," said Deanne.

*From there I became a park attendant and the next summer was hired as a Camp Lakeshore counselor which I did for three years. It's a fabulous tob and you work with great people. I've been in my position for almost two years and I owe a lot to my past Parks and Rec summer job ment for a sore throat.

Sore throat prompts most doctor's visits

In fact, sore throat is the fourth most common reason for a general office visit. In spite of this commonness, though, sore throats and their treatment confuse many patients. There are many misconceptions about the condition and proper treatment.

From a physician's viewpoint, diagnosing the cause of the sore throat is most important. Many patients think of a severe sore throat as

One of the most being a strep throat. This is not true. Strep common reasons a throat is a bacterial infection caused by a partipatient sees a physicular type of bacteria called streptococcus. It is because in some cases, a strep infection may lead to rheumatic fever and damage the heart. Strep infection can also lead to a flery, red rash which is known as scarlet fever.

> Fortunately, streptococcal infections are generally easy to treat with simple antibiotics. They can also usually be quickly diagnosed with an office visit and simple lab tests. It is important to note that the sooner the diagnosis is made, the quicker appropriate antibiotics can be started, if necessary.

> Sore throats can also be due to a variety of non-streptococcal causes. These can include other bacteria and viruses. In about one out of three cases, the exact cause of a sore throat is not found. The types of bacteria can be many and varied and include other types of strep as well as chlamydia, mycoplasma, diphtheria, and gonorrhea.

Viruses that can cause sore throat include the flu virus, herpes, the virus which causes mononucleosis and others. An important fact that many people do not know about viruses is that bacterial antibiotics such as penicillin have no effect on a virus. Antibiotics generally only play a role in treating bacterial infections. A few antiviral medications exist, but they are not as common and are only used in certain circumstances.

Other non-infectious causes of sore throat also need to be considered. They can include allergies, sinus problems, local irritation of the throat by stomach and others. Tumors also need to be considered, especially in individuals

In all cases of a persistant sore throat, the patient should see a physician.

Beware of individuals offering loan assistance

By James M. Woodard Copley News Service

A California family recently experienced an unpleasant surprise. They received a letter advising them they no longer owned their home and they must start paying rent.

The Spanish-speaking couple were having difficulty in making their mortgage loan payments. While trying to work things out, a smooth-talking man entered the scene, offering to arrange another loan that would pay off the current obligation to the bank.

The couple, thinking this would solve their financial problems, agreed to the proposed deal and signed an agreement to implement

The smooth-talker was a con artist, and the agreement was really a blank grant deed, subsequently used to transfer ownership of the property to the man.

The deal was proposed and discussed essentially in English, even though the homeowners understood very little English, according to the supervisor of the Consumer Protection Division of the county's District Attorney's Office. Most of the translation was handled by the couple's young son, who has only limited understanding of English. The con man took advantage of the family's lack of English understanding and managed to acquire title to the home. The man then sent a letter to the family demanding rent payments. This case is under investigation by the District Attorney's Office.

Unfortunately, it's not an isolated case. Similar scams are happening throughout the country. And the victims are often vulnerable homeowners.

"There are many laws now on the books designed to protect consumers who need home financing or equity loans, including many kinds of disclosure requirements," a deputy district attorney said.

One law stipulates that the homeowner has the right to rescind the contract anytime before midnight of the fifth business day after signing. It should be noted that precise laws vary from state to state.

"Any homeowner who is approached by someone offering to help them out of a financial problem should be sure they fully understand what they're doing before signing their name to a con-

Casualty losses at home only happen to someone else. Or so we think.

In truth, a devastating fire or massive theft could happen to anyone at any time. In some suburban neighborhoods, burglaries are the single biggest crime problem.

Therefore, Consumers should choose insurance coverage for their home and personal belongings carefully.

"A home and the possessions it contains are very special. Insurance for those items should be tailored to meet each individual's needs, according to Terry Buckles, president of Michigan Association of Insurance Companies

One type of home insurance policy is the broad form," otherwise known as HO2. This covers damage to dwelling and possessions from perils such as explosion, fire or light-ning, windstorm or hail, riot or civil commotion, theft, vandalism, falling objects and damage from a vehicle or aircraft. Another, perhaps more common type of policy is the HO3, often referred to as the "special form."

The policy covers the dwellings against additional perils and, accordingly, is priced somewhat higher. There are also policies to fit the specialized needs of renters and condominium

Homeowners policies also cover a policyholder's legal liabilities if someone is injured on their premises, or if the insured damages are some else's property. Personal hability insurance includes protection in the form of legal defense and payment of damages, if the insured is found to be at fault." Buckles said.

Policies generally provide only limited amounts of coverage for certain types of personal property which are especially susceptible to loss, such as cash, cecurities, jewelry, fur, firearms, and stamp and coin collections.

The Julius enjoys the vista of the four seasons

A two-car garage, with extra space for a workshop, is on the lowest level, along with a storage pad large enough to accommodate a recreational vehicle or boat. Two bedrooms and a bath are on the highest level, over the garage.

garage and a half-flight down from the bedrooms.

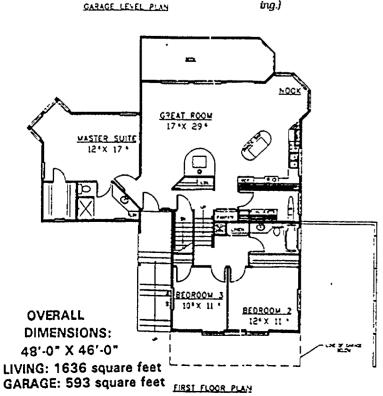

One corner of the huge 17-by-29foot great room is expanded still further by a bay window, creating a cheerful eating nook. Plants flourish here in the rich, natural light, and coffee may well be redundant as an eye-opener in such a setting. The great room is also outfitted with a wood-burning stove on a semicircular hearth and has sliding-glass doors that open onto a wide deck.

The kitchen, which features a work island/snack bar and a small pantry, is only a few steps away from a utility room complete with sink and ironing board.

In the master suite, another unique projection adds space for a sitting area and offers a view to the back and side. Other amenities include a large walk-in closet and private bath.

New All-American roses

By C Z. Guest Copley News Service

Four new rose varieties have earned the All-American Rose Selections badge of excellence for 1993. The winners-Rio Samba, Sweet Inspiration, Solitude and Child's Play—boast qualities that rose buyers need for success in the garden.

These roses will stand out in almost any garden, thanks to their fabulous coloring and fine flower form and substance, and since the winners range in size from a miniature to a hybrid tea that reaches 5 inches, they can be planted in a variety of garden settings. The four new winners will be available to gardeners in the spring (earlier in warm-winter areas). Like all previous award winners, each of these rose bushes will wear the familiar green-and-white AARS tag.

R10 SAMBA

Rio Samba is a hybrid tea being introduced by Jackson & Perkins. Its brilliant yellow flowers shade into orange. The color seems to intensify in sunlight; the orange on the petal edges becomes more prominent as it ages. Its exotic coloration makes Rio Samba a standout in the garden.

Rio Samba was named for the brilliantly dressed samba dancers who add color and spectacle to carnival in Rio. Like its namesake, Rio Samba is a true attention-getter.

This rose also boasts good flower form as well as a gentle persume. Flower buds are a handsome pointed oval and flowers open with 25 to 30 petals. Like all hybrid teas, its flowers grow one to a stem. making it excellent for cutting.

SWEET INSPIRATION

Sweet Inspiration, a floribunda with exceptional form. has already been honored with a silver medal in Japan. It stays compact and dense, giving it lots of uses outside the traditional rose garden. With its pleasantly pink flowers. Sweet Inspiration makes a wonderful addition to a sunny flower bed, perennial or shrub border.

Sweet Inspiration is a very productive rose; it flowers in rich, beautiful clusters, and each flower is shaped like an elegant hybrid tea rose.

Sweet Inspiration will delight the many rose buyers who want to add pink roses to their landscape.

v.Q. What's the most common problem encountered by home mortgage loan borrowers?

5.A. According to a Better Business Bureau representative, the most common complaint during the past year has been from people who were initially promised certain terms from a lender (or mortgage broker) but were later denied those

"Mortgage lending is a very com-petitive field," the BBB representa-tive said. "When a lender is first contacted by a prospective borrower, there's a lot of pressure to quote the most positive terms possible to convert that inquiry into a revenue-producing customer. Complaints received in BBB offices are from people financing the purchase of a home, refinancing an existing mortgage loan and those obtaining an equity loan.

SOLITUDE

Solitude is a radiant orange grandiflora with orange-gold reverse. Solitude's unique coloring is a blend of all the colors of the sunset. Who could ask for more?

A vigorous plant, Solitude promises lots of blooms with scalloped outer petals for an elegant old-fashioned look. And Solitude's buds are attractive even before the flower opens, thanks to beautifully shaped red-green sepals.

CHILD'S PLAY

Child's Play, a miniature, is as easy to grow as its name suggests. The vigorous little plant grows to almost 2 feet in height and produces a dense, well-branched bush. But, according to my spies, the elegant little flowers are what teally won AARS honors for Child's Play.

Child's Play opens with classic pointed bud form, revealing white petals edged with pink. As the flower opens fully, the white becomes more pronounced, with the pink remaining at the very edges of each petal for a picotee effect unusual in roses.

AARS CHOOSES EXCELLENCE

Like all AARS winners, the roses honored for 1993 have completed a rigorous two-year test program. Each cultivar was planted in test gardens all across the United States and then evaluated by rose experts for two growing seasons.

In AARS competition, roses are scored for bud and flower form, vigor, hardiness, growth habit, disease resistance, foliage and fragrance. Only truly outstanding introductions can win high marks in all of these areas and be named AARS award winners.

All AARS winners have already proven themselves in just about every area of the United States and are all ready to thrive in your garden come spring.

Many Michigan homes are dangerously underinsured

Policies usually provide a minimum of $25,000 to $100,000 in coverage for personal liability; however, consumers may wish to purchase higher limits for an additional premium.

A replacement cost policy is the most popular type of dwelling insurance. It pays for replacing. rebuilding or repairing the property to its original condition with materials of like kind and quality. Another option offered by many insurers is the repair cost policy.

This type of policy pays to replace, repair and rebuild damaged property to a similar condition using contemporary materials.

Many Michigan homes are dangerously underinsured, the insurance industry official said. Inflation has increased their value rapidly in recent years, but property owners have neglected to raise insurance coverage levels accord-

The amount of recovery for property loss is limited to amounts specified in the policy. So, even if a home is worth $60,000 and insured for $40,000 the owner would receive only the latter amount in case of total loss.

Most property losses, of course, aren't "total." Even with partial losses, however, many homeowners could have financial difficulties if underinsured. Replacement cost policies generally require the insured to maintain coverage levels equal to at least 80 percent of replacement cost. If the insured does not, the company won't pay full cost of repairing, replacing or rebuilding for such partial losses.

Many companies offer a special policy endorsement or provision which increases the dwelling coverage levels automatically to keep peace with inflation, according to

A homeowners policy will cover a family's personal belongings, such as furniture, applicances, rugs, clothing, jewelry, etc., as well as the home itself. The amount of insurance protection for personal property located on the premises is usually 50 percent of the amount of coverage on the dwelling. For example, if a policy provides $60,000 insurance on a home, the contents would be insured for $30,000.

Most homeowners insurance might be expected, costs a little more.

Policies generally provide only. limited amounts of coverage for certain types of personal property which are especially susceptible to loss, such as cash, securities, jewelry, fur, firearms, and stamp and coin collections. Coverage for cash has a $200 limit, while coverage". for other valuables varies between $1,000 and $2,500. For an addi-... tional premium, the consumer can purchase a policy endorsement in which the items are described specifically and each is given a dollar value.

BOB SCRIBNER

HOMEOWNER TAX WINNER

QUESTION: How does the homeowner fare under the latest rules?

ANSWER In the midst of drastic cutbacks in investment preferences everywhere else thanks to the Tax Reform Act, owners of first and second homes are doing well
Deductibility of mortgage interest and property taxes for primary and second homes remains completely intact This is often the largest tax deduction for most homeown-ers and will continue to be so Also intact are the rules that allow you to defer tax on the profit when you sell if you roll it over into another home and the $125,000 tax exclusion

from profit if you are over age

4 }

HOMEOWNERS fare well under current tax laws. Your home remains a great tax shelter.

Mhite Horse Lake

887-8000

The most desirable location, in one of the few remaining undeveloped laxe areas in Oakland County, is the White Horse Lake Development in Eyon Township. With access to major expressways and thoroughfares, homeowners can have their own secluded retreat while maintaining convenient access to major cities, such as Detroit. Ann Arbor and Lansing and surrounding areas. Only eleven single-family detached site condo locales, situated on generous half-acre, acre and a limited number of peninsula sites, make up the 39-acre

For builders of homes, as well as the homeowner. White Horse Lake Development blends sound investment with an unsurpassed style of I ving. Situated in one of Oakland County's fastest growing corridors, the development combines the amenities of a resort with the convenience of suburban living. Alwide range of seasonal activities, including skiing and canceing at Kensington State Park, public and private golf courses (the development is directly adjacent to the Walnut Creek Country Club) and shopping at one of metro Detroit's premier centers. Twelve Oaks Ma't makes White

Horse Lake Development a truly discriminating value Minimum living areas (2 500 square feet above first-floor grade), a community association and professional maintenance of common areas help preserve the beauty of the development, as well as the investment of the homeowner

Employers' tax forms can prove tricky mail annual unemployment tax rate notices to about 180,000 employers in Michigan.

The 1993 Rate Notice will look different from the forms you received in past years. The new form was designed by a group of business people in association with the MESC, in an effort to make it more understandable and more useful to employers.

For the first time, you will be able to see how your rate is actually calculated. If you wish, you will be able to check the calculation. A rate worksheet has been prepared by the office of the Michigan Business Ombudsman for your use. Give the office a call at (517) 373-6255 and staff there will be happy to send you a copy.

If you disagree with any of the figures on the rate notice, you only have 30 days to notify MESC. You must send your "protest" in writing, and it must be received by the MESC within 30 days of the mailing date on the

Some employers will see a notice in red near the bottom of the form, and a red asterisk in the "total rate" box. This notice is to advise you that the MESC was unable to properly compute your rate because one of the four quarterly reports required for this period (the third and fourth quarters of 1991 and the first and second quarters of 1992) has not been received by the MESC. By law, the MESC must give you the maximum tax rate of 10 percent.

However, all is not lost . . . you can still send the missing reports and MESC will re-calculate your rate, but only if the missing reports are received by the MESC within 30 days of the mailing date on the notice.

At about the same time the MESC will mail a letter and application form for a state unemployment tax credit for up to half of the federal FUTA penalty taxes paid by Michigan employers in 1992. You will recall that the FUTA tax rate is .8 percent plus a penalty tax of an additional .8 percent. If you paid this penalty tax in 1992, and if you met the other condi-

> Only positive balance employers are eligible for the state tax credit. Positive balance employers are those who have paid more in state unemployment taxes than their employees have received in jobless benefits.

> However, if your account has a negat re balance, you may wish to make a "voluntary payment" to the MESC to bring your account to a po-sitive balance in order to qualify for the credit. Here again, though, your voluntary payment must be received by the MESC within 30 days of the mailing date of the rate notice. Not every negative balance employer will benefit from a voluntary payment. A voluntary payment is nonrefundable, and the voluntary payment cannot be applied against your future unemployment tax liability.

Business Briefs

CHARLES N. SUMKINS, who has offices in Brighton and Northville, was recently invited to speak at a meeting of the Mothers Against Drunk Driving, Connecticut State Organization, on the subject of closed head injuries.

Simkins has been representing traumatic brain injury clients for over 17 years, and has been at the forefront in the prevention of traumatic brain injury in the state of Michigan.

Simkins and Simkins sponsors annual seminars on closed head injury cases at the Detroit Athletic Club in Detroit every March. Simkins has maintained an office in Brighton and has recently moved his offices to 10524 E. Grand River, the Tower Office Center, to better serve the needs of his clients.

DR. JAY KOZLOWSKI has been named physician of the year at Huron Valley Hospital, the hospital with which he is affiliated.

Dr. Kozlowski received a plaque noting the honor at the annual Medical Staff Dinner-Dance held recently at Edgewood Country Club. Dr. Ralph Kontry, chief of the Emergency Department and last year's physician of the year, made the presentation.

Kozlowski also received honors from tri-county physicians and registered nurses who rated him among the physicians they respect the most, as found in a Detroit Monthly survey recently published. Kozlowski's name is listed as one of the few cardiology doctors to whom they would send a loved one in need of care.

Kozlowski earned his bachelor's degree in psychology at Oakland University and attended Wayne State University School of Medicine. He interned and did his residency at Sinai Hospital in Detroit. Kozlowski also had a fellowship with the University of California-Irvine.

He is board-certified in internal medicine and cardiovascular diseases. In addition to his role as chief of medicine, Kozlowski gives medical direction to Huron Valley Hospital's Cardiac Rehabilitation program and Cardiology Department.

Kozlowski finished his formal training in 1983. He has been with Huron Valley Hospital since its opening in 1986.

He primarily works out of HVH and is also affiliated with Harper Hospital.

The 1992 HVH physician of the year is a fellow of the American College of Cardiology and a member of the American Society of Echocardiography.

Kozlowski was deeply touched by the award and said he could not have done it without the support of his colleagues. His name has been added to the Physician of the Year plaque which is displayed in the hospital's front lobby.

Kozlowski, his wife of 11 years Linda, and children, Rachel, 8, Anna, 6, and David, 2, are residents of West Bloomfield.

WANDA BAAD, administrator of West Hickory Haven Nursing Home, Milford, was recently awarded Professional Certification by the American College of Health Care Administrators (ACHCA) for a second five years. Her first certification was for the previous five years.

ACHCA standards and education requirements must be met to be recertified. Certification is an individual quality assurance procedure that involves the completion of self- and peer-competency assessments followed by a professional development plan that includes continuing education and professional activities based on the individual's assessment.

With the concerns of policy makers and consumers about quality in nursing home care, certification is the number one mechanism to assure this quality. Baad, a Howell resident, has worked for West Hickory Haven since June 1976.

Business Brief corrected

A business brief concerning the election of directors for Western Wayne Oakland County Association of Realtors (WWOCAR) which appeared in the Nov. 26, 1992, edition of The Green Sheet contained several inaccuracies.

Gene Komarynski, Chuck Mills, Wally Justus and Jim Stevens were nominated by petition to serve on the WWOCAR Board of Directors and were elected by a vote of the membership. The names of Komarynski, Mills, Justus and Stevens were printed on the ballot prior to the election; they were not write-in candidates.

tors selects three members of the nine-member nominating committee. The other members are appointed by the WWOCAR president and elected by the WWOCAR membership. In addition, the WWOCAR Board of Directors neither supports nor certifies campaign materials issued by candidates.

Finally, a statement that WWO-CAR membership has said they believe "Grass roots support and a need for change has shown dissatisfaction with the establishment and provided for local proven real estate leaders to lead the board was made by some WWOCAR members but was not an official statement of the entire WWO-CAR membership.

If you are a negative balance employer, here is a quick and easy guide to use in determining if you might benefit from a voluntary payment. Divide the amount of penalty tax you paid in 1992 by two. This is the amount of credit for which you might qualify if you had a positive balance. (Don't include the base FUTA tax you paid, just the penalty tax amount.) Compare this credit amount with the amount of your negative balance. If the possible credit is larger than your negative balance, call the Michigan Business Ombudsman's office and you will be sent a workbook which contains more specific instructions on taking a voluntary payment.

Whatever your situation, if you are an employer you can benefit from a more complete underto have the rate recalculated, but you also have a responsibility to provide the MESC with a copy of the missing report, again, within the time limit provided by law.

Finally, if you have questions about your rate notice, your rights and responsibilities under the law or if you just feel that you need assistance in dealing with MESC, give Peggy McNichol a call at (517)

RADIAL KERATOTOMY

Surgical Correction of Nearsightedness & Astigmatism

"I was very impressed with Dr Beitman and his staff. They made certain I understood everything about RK and knew just what to expect every step of the way. I'm so happy with my result that I've referred my sister to the RK Institute for her surgery." - Karen Kaufeld, Ann Arbor, MI

"I was the first of 4 members of my family to have RK surgery. My results are wonderful! I'm experiencing a whole new freedom without my glasses." — David Gronow, Detroit, MI

"My husband was nervous for me, but now we both wish I'd had RK surgery years ago. Until now I didn't know a surgeon I felt I could depend on. I would hate to see my sons wait until they are my age to have RK." – Adrienne Awender, Brighton, MI

Smart etiquette for the gift registry

By Debra Lee Baldwin

Copley News Service

It sounds too good to be true: You and your fiance visit your favorite stores and pick out the items you need to start your life together. The sky's the limit — nothing is out of bounds—and everything you ever wanted can be yours.

Well, sort of.

There's no guarantee you'll receive every item on your gift registry. Your guests have a say in what they buy for you, and they may decide not to participate in the registry at all.

On the other hand, guests appreciate having access to a long list of can't-miss gifts. They're able to pick something in their price range and know the item is not likely to be exchanged.

So how can you make the most of a gift registry and ensure that your guests are equally satisfied? Heed the following registry do's and don'ts.

 Do work with a trained registry consultant. Meet with one who works for a large department store (make an appointment). He or she will help you coordinate what you already own (china, linens, silverware) with new patterns.

Be prepared to discuss your likes and dislikes, your lifestyle and the number of guests attending the wedding.

· Do register early, three to six months prior to the wedding. Not only will your guests be able to shop at their leisure, they'll use the registry to select shower gifts.

• Don't list where you are registered on your wedding invitations; it's considered bad taste. However, it's OK for your hosts to mention it on shower invitations. (In fact, some stores provide registry cards that can be enclosed in shower invitations.) Your parents, friends and relatives should spread the word to wedding

• Do register at numerous shops, according to what you really want and need. Consider stores that sell furniture, bath items, gourmet foods, antiques, hardware, art prints, garden supplies, business products and sporting goods.

• Don't overlook services (garden care, home remodeling, interior design, house-cleaning, window-washing); travel agents; lessons (dancing, cooking, skiing, golf, tennis). You're not limited to gifts that can be wrapped.

• Do work with stores that use computerized gift registries. As soon as an item is purchased, it's deleted from the registry—so you needn't worry about duplicates.

Don't register for the same item at different

• Do register at stores that have branches in other cities, for the convenience of guests who live out of town. Make sure the stores coordinate their computer listings.

· Don't neglect traditional wedding gifts: fine and informal china, crystal, flatware, glassware, bedding, linens and small appliances. You may not think you need "good" china and crystal, but if you don't get it now, you may not find money in your budget for it later.

• Do register in a wide price range. Some of your guests will be limited in what they can spend (your younger siblings, for example). Include place mats, towels, kitchen gadgets and

• Don't be afraid to be extravagant. Several guests may pool their resources to purchase that high-ticket item you've been longing for.

• Don't tell people you want money.

• Do maintain a gift list. Make a note of the who, what, when and where of every item you receive. Save tags, mailing labels and any other information that will help you write thank-you

• Don't worry that you might not receive everything on your registry. Friends and relatives will want to fill in any gaps at future occasions (birthdays, anniversaries, holidays). And you can complete sets yourself as your budget

• Do pick patterns that will continue to be available in years to come (discuss this with your registry consultant).

• Do select things for your home's interior (bed, bath, kitchen, dining room items) all at the same time. That way everything will be coordinated and have a continuity of color and style.

• Don't do it all yourself. Include your fiance in the decision-making process. You'll learn more about each other, and you'll ensure that you both like what you'll be living with for

• Do browse through catalogs and visit stores before you meet with the registry consultant. How to describe what you want? Bridal Guide magazine lists these styles and color schemes; choose the ones that most appeal to you:

Contemporary. You like fluid lines and abstract or geometric designs. You're partial to a clean, crisp look.

Traditional. You're attracted to soft, rounded lines. You prefer themes and colors reflected in nature, such as flowers in realistic shades and designs that represent an architectural style, such as Roman columns.

Informal. You like a relaxed comfortable feeling and prefer to keep entertaining simple.

Finding the

BEST DIREC

By Sharon Williams

Copley News Service

Leave it to the wedding gown to transform a standard 20th century fiancee into a ritzy uptown girl, a shy Victorian beauty or a fairy princess floating on a cloud of tulle.

Sure, it's a lot to ask of several yards of fabric and several more of lace.

But year after year, and ceremony after ceremony, the bridal gown has risen to the challenge of making its wearer queen for the wedding day.

And why not? After all, chances are good that the bride-to-be has dreamed of her wedding dress ever since she was small. Her version has probably changed over the years, but the magic associated with this sartorial icon remained.

Now the time has come to find that perfect dress.

Designers stand at the ready, offering thousands of takes on the wedding gown to cover every dimension of personal style and every budget.

And with many of the old rules about what a bride can and can't wear and bare all but banished, a woman's chances of finding her fantasy frock are even better.

FEMININE FLAIR

From bustles and bows to cascades of ruffles and gardens of roses, many of today's most popular wedding gowns pay tribute to all things feminine.

Fitted bodices, sheaths and columns are among the key silhouettes, oftentimes adorned with exquisite beadwork, openwork, lace or dimensional blossoms.

Cascading trains, pour sleeves, peplums and full, flowing skirts are a few of the many important details that celebrate the softer side of things.

AFFORDABLE ATTIRE

Leave it to designers to come up with both beautiful and budgetkind wedding gowns for tight economic times.

A bride-to-be once could count on spending four or even five figures on her wedding gown. But now bridal magazines are full of dresses that only look expensive, including those with lavish trains, omate trims and opulent fabrics.

DARING DECOLLETAGE

Today's bride isn't necessarily a blushing, bashful one anymore, and often she's willing to bare a shoulder or a goodly bit of leg.

With strapless or off-the-shoulder styling, low-cut or illusion necklines and scoop backs, the current crop of wedding dresses is as sexy as it is pretty.

From bustier styles and portrait necklines to sexy little suits and stylish slips with spaghetti straps, these frocks are daring yet tasteful.

In other words, they won't offend the relatives.

EARTH ANGEL

Ethereal looks are showing up on the high-fashion runways, and the look is perfectly suited for bridal wear, which often takes its cue from Seventh Avenue.

These delicate, fairylike dresses often are fashioned from simple bodices and layer upon layer of filmy, light-as-air tulle or silk chiffon used either in the skirt itself or throughout the entire dress.

Silhouettes flow freely, giving the illusion that the bride is floating down the aisle.

BREAK FROM TRADITION

White is wonderful and trains are terrific. But there really are no rules about what makes a wedding dress anymore.

And plenty of brides-to-be are enjoying their newfound freedom.

Some, for instance, are straying from traditional ivory or white and getting married in blush pink, baby blue or any other color of the rainbow. They're also using color and metallic tones as dress accents — in sashes, flowers and bows.

Others, meanwhile, are experimenting with silhouettes and styles.

Brides marrying for the second time or in the simplest of ceremonies often opt for tea-length dresses or sophisticated suits, while those who want to kick up their heels at their receptions might select body-hugging sheaths or minis with detachable long skirts.

From bridal gowns with Western fringe and beading and Southern belle dresses complete with hoop skirts to short, sleeveless styles and dresses with Empire waistlines reminiscent of the '50s and '60s, there's truly a gown for every sartorial whim and wish.

BUYING TIPS

There's a lot to choose from, to say the least. But despite the vast selection of wedding dresses, finding the perfect frock isn't always as easy as falling in love

There are, however, some shortcuts and suggestions that will make the experience a more hassle-free and pleasant one. Following are a few to consider:

• Bring someone along. Most brides want to share the shopping experience with someone else—be it mother, close relative, wedding consultant or friend.

Take along someone whose judgment you trust, suggest wedding experts, and limit your shopping party to one or two others.

• Do your homework. Save time in the bridal boutique by compiling a portfolio of dress ideas before you start shopping.

Scan bridal magazines and clip the photos you like, and take note of styles and manufacturers of the dresses that catch your eye at bridal fairs, expos and fashion shows.

• Make an appointment. When shopping for a wedding dress, undivided attention isn't always available for walking

To be safe, make an appointment with the shop or department store's consultant, who'll be ready and waiting when you arrive.

• Learn the lingo. To know the difference between a Basque and Empire waistline, browse through bridal guides such as "Modern Bride Wedding Celebrations" by Cele Goldsmith Lalli (John Wiley & Sons).

These guides are filled with tips on how to choose a dress that fits the location, atmosphere, time of day, season, mood and look of the wedding, and dresses that flatter specific figure types.

• Plan ahead. Brides-to-be who procrastinate could be in for some real wedding-bell blues.

Experts suggest you start your search at least eight to nine months before the wedding. Plan on placing the dress order at least six months in advance since most gowns are custom-made at the factory and require at least two fittings.

• Go with a pro. The wedding dress is not a frock with which to gamble.

Thus, say wedding planners, it's best to purchase your dress from an established store that has been in the business for a while.

Such stores are likely to be worth their weight in bugle beads when it comes to reasonable deposit, refund and alterations policies, fittings and timely deliveries.

• Consider all the angles. Remember, a lot will be riding on your train come the wedding day. Thus, it's best to take your time when choosing a dress, and consider all the views in a full-length mirror before making a final selection.

If you're trying on dresses for the first time, it's a good idea to style hair and wear makeup so you'll get an approximate idea of the total look. For subsequent fittings, bring along appropriate lingerie and shoes.

Style for him stays traditional

By Mike Dale Copley News Service

Styles of suits come and go with each passing era. Lapels grow smaller or get wider. Vests are in; vests are out. Pants look better in pleats, which then become passe. Ties get fat, then thin. Should you wear a single-breasted or a double-breasted?

Grooms can count on the classics when it comes to tuxedos. Like the nuptial ceremony itself, formal wear can be traditional, elegant and serene despite the ruffling of feathers before the big day.

Today's tuxedos are more relaxed with softer shoulders, sensual fabrics and easy lines. The fit is less stuffy than traditional English wear but the look is always elegant.

The shawl tuxedo was popular in the 1920s and 1930s. It's casual ambience is made for today's softer styles: rounded shouldered jackets; fabric draped around the chest, and full cut trousers.

Accessorize with authority. A navy "St. Tropez" tux in full dress tails with a subtle stripe and notch satin lapels looks fine with a paislay tie and cummerbund. A shawlcollared, double-breasted jacket in slate with black trousers can be polished off with a plaid bow tie.

A tuxedo for all seasons and time of day is always correct. Is the wedding in spring, summer, winter or fall? What time of day will the ceremony be held? Will you include a wedding party? How big? What kind of wedding will it be—traditional, eccentric or simple?

FORMAL WEDDINGS

For very formal daytime weddings, grooms could wear a long jacket, cutaway-style, in black or gray. A classic side-striped trouser, a white shirt with wing collars and French cuffs, studs, a vest, cummerbund, an ascot or four-inone hand tie, black dress shoes and matching hat/gloves and overcoat make a handsome photo.

Formal evening weddings deserve black trousers and coat with a white vest, cummerbund and tie. A black top hat and white gloves to accompany a black or gray overcoat add drama to the event.

SEMIFORMAL WEDDINGS

Matching or contrasting jackets, trousers, shirts, cummerbunds, vests and ties are standard semiformal wedding fare, 'minus the haute couture accessories such as hats, gloves, overcoats, ascots, etc.

INFORMAL WEDDINGS

An elegant business suit for the conservative set or an unusual and memorable alternative are the right touch here.

A simple back yard wedding or a civil ceremony at the county courthouse deserves a suit; black, gray, navy, dark blue or white sports jacket, with a tie to match.

Eccentric gear should match the party. A skydiver tying the knot could wear a tux under his jumping regalia; surfers could wear sandals and shorts, with a white shirt and long, cutaway jacket. Be sure to involve the bride in the selection; a surprise in this area is always disquieting.

Grooms stand out with contemporary details, such as shawl collars and satin trim.

TUXEDO HUNTING

Patience and the help of a professional comes in handy when it's time to rent or buy your wedding day attire.

Learn the difference between single-breasted vs. double-breasted jackets. Collars come in various flavors: shawl, peaked and notched. Bow ties, ascots and four-in-hand neck wear purvey certain feels. Cuff links, studs, pocket squares, cummerbunds and suspenders add the spice to your ensemble.

Be sure your choice of tuxedo looks as flattering on you as it does on the fathers of the bride and groom.

When hunting for a formal wear shop, make sure it offers national labels. Visit several shops and try on different styles. Ask plenty of questions. Gather information three to six months before the wedding day.

Fit is as important as aesthetics. The jackets should feel comfortable at the neck and shoulders. Be sure to stand and sit with the jacket buttoned.

Shirts should cuff up to 1 inch below the jacket line. Vests should line up with front of the coat and trousers should fasten comfortably.

When picking up the tux—two to three days in advance of the wedding — make sure there are no stains, cigarette burns, fabric snags, and the like. Also count the buttons on the jacket.

ACCESSORIZING

Cummerbunds, bow ties and vests can add zest and zing to traditional formal wear.

Embroidery and tapestry, for example, adds contrast and punch to basic black tuxedos and white formal shirts.

Suggestions: The Fireworks series cummerbunds boast purple-silver and red-silver lame stripes. And Raffinati offers colorful and bold tie-and-cummerbund combinations in fun polka dot prints or paisley motifs.

FORMAL DOS AND DON'TS

and the second of the second o

Look in the mirror before you head for the altar. Cummerbunds should be wom with pleats facing up. The wing collar is wom behind the bow tie rather than in front.

Pleated white shirts are preferred to yesterday's ruffled or pastel shirts.

Black patent pumps or oxfords are the only shoes appropriate for a formal affair. Black silk hosiery should be worn, except with a white tuxedo.

Boutonnieres should be placed on the left lapel; a silk pocket square makes a smart alternative. When it comes to jewelry, less is more.

THE GROOM'S GROOM

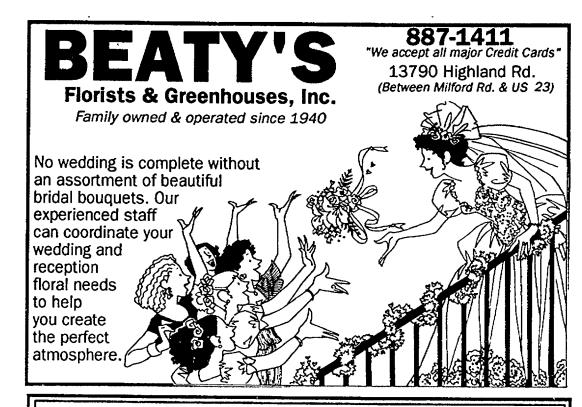

Want to look your best for the first day of the rest of your life?

Get a haircut a few days to one week before the wedding. Hair should look controlled but not shiny.

Leave shaving for the last possible minute. Take it slow and steady when shaving to avoid nicks.

Splurge on a manicure. Hands will be noticed in photographs.

High-intensity colors seem to reflect your personality.

Monochromatic. You prefer to decorate primarily in one color or use variations on a theme—one basic color with another shade or two as an accent.

Cool. Colors that leave you with a calm, relaxed feeling, like soft intensities of green and blue, appeal to you.

Warm. You're drawn to colors that reflect the warmth found in nature, like the reds, oranges and yellows in fire and sunlight.

Finally, do your homework. Bridal books and magazines have sample checklists that include dozens of items most newlyweds want and need (from napkin rings to toaster ovens). Check off what you already have and ask yourselves if you want or need the rest.
