By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

Northville Township Police say the intruder who entered Moraine and Amerman elementaries last month was convicted child molester Christian Todd Wall.

Wall, who was convicted and sentenced to 3-15 years imprisonment was paroled in December 1992. Since then, the 23-year-old sex offender has allegedly attacked three other children and may have attempted to snatch a fourth in the Metro Detroit area last month.

Wall has also been seen in several other suburban school districts including Northville. He was seen in Moraine and Amerman elementaries on April 22 — just five days before he allegedly attacked his third victim in Pleasant Ridge and then disappeared two weeks ago.

According to the township's police report, a man was seen in the boys bathroom at Moraine around 2:30 p.m. by a school custodian. The custodian asked the man if he needed help, and he declined and reportedly left the school, but not before a Moraine teacher jotted down his license plate number. The suspect then headed to Amerman where he was seen near the restrooms that same afternoon.

Northville Township Police Lt. Gary Batzloff said Friday he identified the intruder as Wall by running a check of the license plate from the teacher. After the suspect was identified, the lieutenant said he put the schools on alert and security measures were beefed up.

Batzloff said when Wall is found, the department will question him about the April 22 incident, but said it's unlikely there will be any charges filed against him here. He said Wall hadn't accosted anyone and left the schools without incident.

"Really the only thing we could do is charge him with disorderly conduct, but that would be a shaky case in my opinion," Batzloff said.

Batzloff said the misdemeanor would have little impact against felony charges that await Wall elsewhere. Police in Pleasant Ridge have a warrant out for Wall's arrest for an April 29 attack on a 7-year-old boy in the Ferndale school district.

"Our charge is relatively minor compared to what they've got on him," Batzloff said. "They aren't going to mess around with a misdeameanor."

"He's (Wall) probably looking at

Industrial district created for high-technology firm

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

Northville Township Trustees Thursday night helped Wayne County pave the way to bring a new high tech manufacturer to town.

After little comment from the audience at last week's public hearing, trustees voted 7-0 to grant Wayne County's request to create a 30-acre industrial development district for Troy-based Optical Imaging Systems (OIS).

Creating the district is the first step in the move to grant a tax abatement. Without the district designation, the county could not apply for the 50-percent property tax break to bring OIS here.

The board's decision was good news for OIS representative Peter Walters who told trustees Thursday the company wouldn't move to Northville without the tax incentive. Walters is from Novi's Guardian Industries, the parent company that bought controlling interest in the troubled OIS last year.

"We are clearly looking for a signal as to whether or not you would induce us to the site," he told trustees.

Walters' comments came after some residents and trustees questioned the need for the tax break knowing OIS had just been awarded $50 million in federal grant monies.

Federal and state grants will fund the proposed $100 million manufacturing facility and contribute to the creation of a research center at the U-M. The facility will be used to produce flat-panel displays for commercial and military aircraft. The research center will expand the active matrix liquid crystal display technology.

The state of Michigan has also agreed to pay for the roads and sew-

Noted local Dave Totten dies prior to surgery

A local voice of the people was silenced Thursday as Northville resident David I. Totten died at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Totten, 69, was scheduled to undergo open heart surgery when he died of complications.

Totten expressed a life-long interest in government and civic involvement. He demonstrated those interests during nine years of service on the planning commission, most recently as vice-chair, and six years as a founding member of Concerned Re-

Schools get new strategic plan draft

By MICHELLE KAISER
Staff Writer

With school officials keeping a closer eye on the district's pocket-book lately, Northville Board of Education members have voted to approve the 1993-98 Strategic Plan in concept.

"I am concerned by approving the strategic plan which is a concept without the data to support the funds," Trustee Patricia Custer said at last Monday's board meeting. "Are we approving the funding for budget provisions or are we approving the conception?"

Preliminary cost estimates for the latest stage of the district's strategic plan comes to a grand total of $66,000. The biggest chunk, $50,000, would be used to implement Strategy I, which would introduce administrators and staff to the Total Quality management theory.

Strategic plans are blueprints for long-range planning for the school district.

Strategy II deals with outcome-based education, or what a student should be expected to know and how to act upon graduation, while Strategy III will implement personal goal setting for teachers, staff and students.

Since last fall, three strategic planning committees have met periodically to develop action plans for each strategy. In April, the committees met with the core planning committee which sifted through the recommendations and presented the final action plans to the board of education.

Strategy I priorities for the 1993-94 year include developing a plan to implement Total Quality and establishing improvement pilot programs.

Dolly McMaster, assistant superintendent of instructional services, said the costs of implementing Strategy I would include training the staff in all departments, consultant fees, clerical time and stress management.

The benefits, however, would outweigh the costs, she said. Total Quality encourages risk-taking, increases productivity by eliminating unnecessary and unproductive procedures,

New school attendance plan to be introduced at meeting

By MICHELLE KAISER
Staff Writer

Northville Board of Education members are expected to approve yet another new boundary plan at a special meeting tonight.

The new plan, announced last Friday, will keep the Alternative Learning Program for Students (ALPS) at Amerman Elementary.

"This is really the best of all the plans," Leonard Rezmierski, superintendent of Northville Public Schools, said. "It does take into effect the growth issue in each of the five buildings. It is a five-year plan and it allows neighborhoods to stay together."

More than half a dozen residents voiced opposition last Monday night to the board's last plan, drawn up by board president Carol Rahimi, trustee Jean Hansen and administrators over a week ago, because the revision would have forced the ALPS program from Amerman Elementary. ALPS parents were upset with the move for two reasons: they felt their children were accepted at Amerman and they felt they were left out of the process because the board did not inform them of the proposed relocation.

Also affected in the newest boundary plan is the Edenderry subdivision. In last Monday night's plan, the subdivision would have been included in the Amerman Elementary boundary. With the newest proposal, the children in Edenderry will still attend Silver Springs.

Mary Rupley, an Edenderry resident, said an informal poll of her neighborhood revealed that only one family strongly favored attendance at Silver Springs.

Rupley said she surveyed the 12 public school families in her neighborhood about last Monday's proposed plan. Of those 12, only one was vehemently opposed to leaving Silver Springs while the others were either in favor or neutral on the subject. Rupley couldn't get in touch with one of her neighbors.

Rupley did say her subdivision just wanted to be considered a geographic part of the city.

The new plan will affect about 470 students, Rezmierski said.

"If you look at Option Three and the option we looked at last week, this option affects the least amount of kids," the superintendent said.

The new plan will also help alleviate growing pains at Winchester Elementary caused by its "landlocked" area, he added.

Tonight's meeting will begin at 7:30 in the board of education room on the third floor of Old Village School.

A study session to discuss the 1993-94 school district budget will be held immediately following the regular meeting. The session is expected to start at approximately 8:45 p.m.

Tax abatement for firm clears another hurdle

ers to support the Northville facility.

After hearing the county's pitch for the project, some trustees and residents seemed unclear on whether or not the district guaranteed the abatement.

Trustee Barbara O'Brien wanted Bill Wild, Wayne County's director of business development, to tell the board whether or not approving the district meant the township was obligated to front the tax break.

Wild told her and resident Dean Lenheiser that it was an unwritten understanding that an abatement would follow the district designation.

And if it didn't the State would step in and supercede the township's denial on a project of this caliber and size.

"By creating the district you've then created a condition where anybody who moves in is eligible for the tax abatement," Wild said. "And in all likelihood the state would come in and overturn it if you denied it."

"I'm for the rezoning, but not for the abatement," Lenheiser said. "I'm kind of against abatements. Look what's going on in Plymouth, everybody has one."

"Now here comes these guys and they've gotten $100 million in land, $50 million from the federal government and $20 million from the state.

And now they want an abatement. All these multi-millionaires come in and we think we have to (jump for them)."

Lenheiser cited a recent report about OIS' $5.7 million loss last year and questioned whether or not the American company could compete with it's Japanese competitor in the consumer electronics industry.

Walters was quick to rebut Lenheiser's comments and said he believes "OIS has technology that is superior (to the Japanese product)."

"OIS has a manufacturing problem now. It isn't a profitable company now but it will be in the future," Walters said.

Resident Mary Braddock asked whether or not OIS would come without the tax cut.

"It is not their intention to locate in Northville if they don't get it," Wild said.

Treasurer Rick Engelland said he supported the project, but would only back the resolution if it were amended to reflect only the 30 acres

OIS intends to occupy and not the 50 acre parcel the county included in its request.

Had Engelland not amended the resolution, the entire 50 acres would have been abated if and when trustees approve the abatement next month.

"The only problem I have is that the resolution contains property that is not part of the Guardian Industries' deal," he said.

O'Brien backed Engelland and suggested the township survey the land inside the district to ensure that only 30 acres would be included.

Michigan's Best Community Newspaper . . . Again

That's right, again. For the second consecutive year the Michigan Press Association bestowed its prestigious 'Michigan's Best' Award on the Northville Record in its 1992 Better Newspaper Contest. (For weekly newspapers with 5,000 to 15,000 circulation). And we're even prouder to be a two-time winner of the 'Michigan's Best' award than we were the first time we received the honor in the 1991 Better Newspaper Contest. And here's another thing that hasn't changed. Our greatest satisfaction continues to come from being an integral part of the Northville community . . . giving you the type of newspaper you want and need. In other words, we're proud to be your hometown paper.

News Briefs

CANDIDATES FORUM: Advocates for Quality Education will present a "Meet the School Board Candidates" forum as part of its regular monthly meeting at 7 p.m. Wednesday, May 19. Candidates Jean Hansen, Stephen Lloyd, Debra Faber and Joan Wadsworth will make opening statements and respond to questions. The session will be held in the Northville High School Forum. The public is welcome. A video tape of the candidates' presentations will be made available. Call 348-8319 for information.

POM PON CLINIC: The Northville High School Pom Pon clinic will be held June 1-4, not May 17-21 as listed in the high school calendar. The clinic is for girls in grades eight through 11, next year's high school classes. It will take place in the school gym from 3:30-5:30 p.m. each of the four days. Tryouts will take place on the last day, Friday, June 4.

MEALS ON WHEELS: Meals on Wheels, the volunteer driving service that takes prepared meals from Allen Terrace to homebound persons throughout the Northville area, is in need of substitute drivers. Meals are usually ready to go by 11 a.m. Kitchen helpers are also needed, and come in to help around 10:30 a.m. Those interested in helping out should call Marcie, Mondays through Fridays at 349-9661 (10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.), or Judy at 348-1761.

PARK SUMMER HOURS: Cyclists, runners and walkers will rule Hines Drive every Saturday from now until Oct. 2. The Wayne County Parks System closes a six-mile stretch of the park to traffic from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. each Saturday so parks users can play safely.

The park will be closed from the Warrendale picnic area west of Outer Drive to the Nankin Mills area at Ann Arbor Trail. Parking is available at Warrendale and Merriman Hollow, Nankin Mills.

MILITARY APPLICATIONS: U.S. Congressman William Ford, who represents the Northville area, is accepting applications from young men and women interested in a nomination to one of the U.S. service academies — Army (West Point), Navy (Annapolis), Air Force or Merchant Marine. Applicants must be at least 17. The deadline for preliminary applications is Nov. 1, 1993. Those interested may write to or visit Ford's district office at 106 East Washington, Ann Arbor, or call Tom Kent at (313) 741-4210.

LIBRARY NEEDS VOLUNTEERS: The Northville Public Library is recruiting volunteers for its ongoing Northville Record newspaper indexing project. Those who would enjoy stepping into Northville's past for at least one hour a week, call the library at 349-3020.

DEAF CAN ACCESS CITY HALL: Telephone Devices for the Deaf (TDD) have been installed at the Northville City Police Station, and are being installed at Northville City Hall. The new devices will allow hearing-impaired people with their own TDD equipment to communicate directly with city officials.

Lawmaker questions parole of man found roaming in two schools

But State Sen. Michael Bouchard, R-Birmingham, said last week he believes Wall wouldn't be facing another jail term if he hadn't been granted an early parole last year.

The senator is calling for the dismissal of State Parole Board Chairman Gary Gabry after learning that the 23-year old sex offender was improperly set free by the three-person parole board.

In a press release from Bouchard's office, the senator charges that it was Gabry's signature on the permit that freed Wall, despite the 54 violations leveled against the convict while he was in prison.

"Clearly, Wall should have never been considered a candidate for parole," said Bouchard. "He had more than 50 violations in prison and he was serving time for very serious, dangerous crimes. He should have never been allowed back out on the streets."

Bouchard said Gabry's sole signature on the parole slip violates the parole process that was restructured last year under a bill he sponsored.

"We reformed the parole board last year to bring accountability to the process," said Bouchard. "Too many dangerous individuals were being released by a parole board that was not being held accountable for their action. This parole clearly violated the intent of those reforms and appropriate action must be taken."

Since Wall was paroled in December of 1992, he is suspected of attacking three more children and may have attempted to snatch a fourth from several suburban schools.

In addition, he's been seen loitering inside several elementary schools including Moraine and Amerman schools in Northville.

The suspect disappeared two weeks ago after he allegedly assaulted his third victim, a 7-year-old in a Ferndale district school.

Wall was serving a 3- to 15-year term for enticement of young children before he was paroled last year. According to Bouchard's press release, Wall had 54 misconduct violations in his file while he was in an Ionia prison.

some long-term jail time," the lieutenant said.

Batzloff said he is working with detectives from Pleasant Ridge and Ferndale to help find the fugitive. He said he still wants to question him about the April 22 incident.

The Ferndale detective who is spearheading the investigation was unavailable Friday to comment on the case.

Northville Public Schools officials, township and city police are all working harder to protect the community by beefing up security measures.

"We have tried to keep a car in the area when school lets out," Batzloff said. "We can't always station a car at every school, but we can try to be alert and make sure the kids and parents are aware."

Preliminary city budget assumes passage of state's 'Proposal A'

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The city council tonight will hold a public hearing on a proposed budget predicated on the June 2 passage of the property tax reform package known as Proposal A.

The 1993-1994 city budget is based on a 13.68 operating millage rate and a total rate of 17.43 mills. That operating millage is the same as last year's figure, while the total millage is just below last year's rate of 17.55 mills due to slight decreases in levies for city street reconstruction and Randolph Drain projects.

Because the operating millage rate will raise more revenue this year than last, due to increased property values in the city, the council must hold a Truth-in-Taxation hearing. That hearing is scheduled for 8 p.m. tonight at city hall.

City Manager Gary Word noted that the city's fiscal blueprint for the next year faced two major constraints — ongoing participation in a council-approved deficit elimination plan to erase a $1 million debt incurred in 1991, and passage of the state proposal to limit assessment increases to 5 percent or inflation.

"We put the budget package together with the thought that Proposal A would pass," said City Manager Gary Word. "We had to assume passage because it was a more conservative situation. . . . However, even if Proposal A doesn't pass, we're hearing all kinds of rumors that the legislature is going to do something (to change the property tax system), so it may be a moot point anyway."

Overall, Word said, this year's budget has changed little over last year's other than to allow for more capital improvements, particularly in the city's Public Works Department. A new dumptruck and snowplow-equipped pickup truck will be purchased to replace aging vehicles, roofs over the DPW facility, city reservoir and Rural Hill mausoleum will be repaired and the police department will lease two more new patrol cars to augment its recent two-car lease.

"We're trying to replace old and dilapidated equipment that's been neglected," Word said.

DPW Superintendent Ted Mapes noted that the two DPW vehicles will take the place of a 1978 dumptruck and 1976 pickup truck that the DPW has been looking to replace for several years.

The new budget also makes provisions for some city hall improvements, he added. "I did try to allow for some minor interior renovations before a major overhaul sometime next year," he said. The council recently approved an architectural study of the municipal offices to pinpoint ways to improve efficiency through better layout and design.

Chief Financial Officer Mark Christiansen noted that the city would not have to hold a Truth-in-Taxation hearing without Proposal A's potential passage. "We wouldn't be looking at a Truth-in-Taxation hearing because our millage rate would be rolled back to a lower level," he said.

To raise the $2.4 million in property tax revenues required for city operations without Proposal A's property tax limits would only require a 12.02-mill levy, he noted, well below the city's Truth-in-Taxation cutoff point of 12.82 mills. A 13.68-mill levy is required to raise the same amount of property tax revenue if Proposal A passes.

A more complicated problem is how Proposal A would be implemented if it does pass, Christiansen said. Since assessments would change, some have questioned whether new board of review hearings would have to be held. Since the proposal would push back the date that school taxes could be levied until June 16, city tax bills likely would be delayed as well.

"Procedurally, there's just some nightmares if this proposal passes," Christiansen said. "We might have two weeks to do two months of work. . . . There are questions, unfortunately, that I just can't answer, and I don't know if we'll get an answer until June 2."

Baja appointment rejected by board

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

Rebecca Connell was livid Thursday night after Northville Township Trustees denied her appointment to the planning commission.

For nearly two months Connell has served on a subcommittee of the commission in expectation of the appointment, but her committee efforts were useless last week when trustees denied the commission appointment, 4-3.

"I was disappointed. . . and then I was crying," Connell said after trustees sent her packing last week.

Even though three of the four trustees who voted against Township Supervisor Karen Baja's recommendation for Connell said it was because there were more qualified candidates, Connell said Friday she knows it was political.

She said trustees voted against her because of her friendship with Baja and because of a letter she wrote that was presented to the board of trustees in her behalf at the Feb. 11 meeting. The letter criticized the behavior of the board and singled out the actions of Trustee Barbara O'Brien.

The letter blames O'Brien for stalling board items by referring back to them after trustees have completed action on them. It also criticizes O'Brien for coming to meetings late and for not being informed on what she's voting on. Connell also suggests in the letter that O'Brien's verbal attacks on Karen Baja triggers outbursts from the township supervisor.

Connell said some of the trustees believe the letter was a "personal attack" on O'Brien, but she claims the letter was meant to critique the whole board not just one member.

"That letter was not meant to be an attack on Barbara O'Brien. It was confronting the board on issues that needed to be addressed," Connell said.

Township Supervisor Karen Baja made the recommendation and Trustee Gini Britton moved to accept it. Trustee Russ Fogg followed with a motion to table it until the "inconsistencies of it could be worked."

He also wanted to clarify how Baja had reached her selection to appoint Connell over other residents who applied for commission slots.

Fogg's motion superceded Britton's, but it failed 4-3. Trustees then voted on the appointment and it was denied, 4-3. It was Trustee Mark Abbo who cast the swing vote.

Township Supervisor Karen Baja asked each of the board members to state the reasons why they were voting against the appointment. Trustees O'Brien and Abbo said they thought there were other township residents who were more qualified for the position. Treasurer Rick Engelland said he wanted to advertise for more people to fill the commission vacancy.

Trustee Russ Fogg said he couldn't support the appointment because there seemed to be some "inconsistencies" in the way Connell's appointment was brought to the board.

Fogg contends if Connell was the next in line for a commission seat, she should have been given Bob Brennan's one-year leave-of-absence seat. Brennan's seat was open before Charles DeLand resigned April 15 in the first year of his four-year term.

Fogg says Connell should have been given the one-year seat rather than the three-year term. Instead Baja, acting within her rights as supervisor, recommended Sue Vlangos fill Brennan's seat and Connell take over DeLand's.

Baja says she did it that way so Connell who was the top vote getter in a board straw vote last December would serve the longer of the two terms.

Connell said she had talked with Engelland and Fogg a month ago after she heard her appointment could be jeopardized because of the letter. She said she thought she had Fogg's support because he was on the planning commission and the commission supported the appointment. Engelland, Connell said, would support her if she made a public apology to O'Brien.

"I wasn't going to do that because I stand behind what I said because that's how I felt," she said.

State of the community to be topic of addresses

Northville area governmental leaders will discuss the state of the community at a Northville Chamber of Commerce breakfast Tuesday, May 18.

Northville schools Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski, City Manager Gary Word and Northville Township Supervisor Karen Baja will all speak at the function.

Topics to be discussed include the financial state of the city, Northville's Downtown Development District and Mainstreet '92 plan, the proposed computer manufacturing venture in the township, the new community park, joint services, the school millage request and Proposal A, the statewide ballot issue to cut property taxes and raise the sales tax.

The four candidates for school board — incumbent Jean Hansen, and challengers Joan Wadsworth, Deborah Faber and Steve Lloyd — will also introduce themselves and say a few words.

The breakfast will take place at 7:30 a.m. at Rocky's of Northville on Seven Mile.

Tickets are $10 for chamber members and $15 for non-members. Reservations are required. Call 349-7640 for more information.

Troubled woman attacks police while in custody

City police took a crying woman into custody about 9:30 a.m. April 13 after she locked herself in a bathroom at the 111 W. Main St. boarding house known as the Winner's Circle. The woman, who was not a Winner's Circle resident, appeared to be 30 years old. She had long brown hair, brown eyes, weighed 145 pounds and stood about 5 feet, 7 inches tall. She was wearing a red blouse, red shorts and a black three-quarter-length sweater. She either would not or could not talk, and would not write down her name for police. She shook her head when asked if she had been abused, but police noticed bruises on her inner thigh and knee.

As a city police officer led her into the station, she reportedly attacked him, scratching his arm and face

She was subdued and handcuffed, and later turned over to the Psychiatric Induction Center in Westland for evaluation.

DRIVER WITHOUT LICENSE ARRESTED: City police arrested a

Northville man, 18, for driving without a driver's license in his possession May 10. The man was stopped for speeding south on Taft Road just before 7 p.m. and could not produce a driver's license. He was arrested and released after posting a $50 cash bond.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Totten, prominent citizen, dies

"He was the moderate and the voice on the commission that could say 'no' in a kind way," said commissioner Kathleen Otton. "That's a very admirable quality, and rare."

Chairman John Hardin added, "What a shame . . . He added so much to those meetings that it's going to be a real loss."

Carol Strauch, a co-founder of Concerned Residents, said Totten's death was a real blow personally and to the organization he helped found.

"I can tell you one thing, our group might not be around much longer," she said. "He was too much a part of it . . . as far as the real pulling force, Dave was everything."

A World War II veteran, Totten was stationed in Europe with the Army during the war. He worked as an employment counselor and math teacher upon his return to the U.S., earning a master's degree from Wayne University (now Wayne State University) in 1953. He retired from Livonia Public Schools in 1990, after a 34-year teaching career.

Totten was the son of James and Leona Oler Totten. He is survived by his wife Carolyn and four sons: Charles, Daniel and John of Northville and James and Betty Totten of Ann Arbor. Four brothers, Marvin, Chet, Wayne and Donnie, live in Connecticut. He was preceded in death by another brother, Archie.

Services will be held today at 10 a.m. at Casterline Funeral Home, 122 W. Dunlap St. Fr. Ernest Porcari of Our Lady of Victory Church will officiate.

Interment will be at Rural Hill Cemetery.

'Arts in Action' week to come to Amerman

Northville administrators and parents will get into the act during "Arts in Action" week at Amerman Elementary next week.

The event is being held so students can appreciate the arts while at the same time have a little fun learning about them.

The schedule of events is as follows:

Monday

1:35 to 2:15 p.m. — Dolly McMaster, assistant superintendent of instructional services, will speak on Japan; Jolene Jacobs, Ph.D., will talk on teddy bear collections; parent Linda Jo Hare will discuss stained glass; parent Jean Geist will demonstrate the art of drawing.
1:45 p.m. — Rug hooking with Beth Sekerka, parent.

Wednesday

9:05 to 9:35 a.m. — "Bubbles and Balloons" assembly.
Story hour with R. Roy Danley, director of personnel.
12:45 p.m. — Quilling with parent Jerre Reese.
1 and 1:30 p.m. — Tom Rice, guitarist, will play folk songs.
2:15 and 2:50 p.m. — Parent Marianne Tomasik will demonstrate porcelain doll making.
2:55 to 3:15 p.m. — Students will learn how to make Indian jewelry with parent Susan Timco.
2:55 to 3:25 p.m. — Parent Karen Klinek will present "Fiddlin' Around on a Violin."

Thursday

10:10 to 11:30 a.m. — Students will represent various artists.
Afternoon — Cooke Middle School teacher Gary Gandolfi will show students his computer art and puzzle skills.

1 p.m. — "Art in the Courtyard" will feature Kay Kepner, quilter and weaver; David Tiernan, painter;

Courtney Casterline, beading; and Bubbles the Clown.

1 to 2 p.m. — Grandfather John W. Myers will show off his woodcarving skills to students.

1:45 p.m. — Parent Mary Menghini will demonstrate the art of stenciling.

2:45 p.m. — The student presentation of "Up, Up and Away."

Friday

8:15 a.m. — Celebration breakfast with entertainment provided by the "Song Sisters." Staff and invited guests are welcome.

9:10 and 10:10 a.m. — "Song Sisters" assembly, sponsored by the Amerman Junior Enrichment Series.

10:30 a.m. — "Practical Side of Art in Our Daily Life" presented by Scott Wilson, Winchester parent.

1 and 1:15 p.m. — Aerobics with parent Lynne Jordan.

1:30 and 2:30 p.m. — Parent Kyoko Ishikawa will demonstrate Japanese writing.

2:30 p.m. — Parent Mary Step will give a presentation on Native American art.

2:30 and 3:30 p.m. — Northville High School vocal music instructor will direct a sing-along with students.
3 and 3:20 p.m. — Parent Joyce Cieslak will share her piano-playing skills.

There will also be special displays, including "Arts and Writing Across the Curriculum," which will feature art and writing projects by students. PTA art appreciation murals will be on display near the kindergarten room and in the library.

Student works related to reading will also be displayed in the hallways and high school art students will share their drawing skills with third graders.

Residents of the district are invited to attend the festivities.

Planning is big expense in school district budget

By MICHELLE KAISER
Staff Writer

With an uncertain funding future, at least one Northville Board of Education member seems reluctant to commit dollars to the recently approved 1993-98 Strategic Plan.

Trustee Patricia Custer made sure the board only approved the plan in concept before casting a ye a vote at the May 10 board of education meeting.

The district has already invested over $60,000 in strategic planning since beginning the process in 1988. This year's Strategy I alone may cost the district up to $50,000 to implement.

Training and consulting every employee in the district with the Total Quality management theory would make up the bulk of the hefty price tag. Training would start with administrators and would take about two years to complete, according to Dolly McMaster, assistant superintendent of instructional services.

The remaining two strategies are expected to run the district about $8,000 each.

According to figures dating from Oct. 18, 1988, to March 5, 1992, the district has spent over $56,000 for consulting services, office supplies, personnel costs and catering, all used in the strategic planning process.

Cambridge Management Group,

Inc., a management consulting firm, was selected to help the district develop its plan in late 1988.

In January 1989, the first strategic planning team, comprised of 24 people from the board of education, school administrators, teachers, parents, residents and business people, was sequestered for three days to lay the foundation of the plan.

Action planning teams were developed and members came up with eight strategy plans and over 70 action plans.

At last October's annual update, planning members realized they had been overzealous and narrowed the plan to include three strategies.

The three-day October session was held at Bryant Center IMC. Strategic planning team members were fed dinner at 5 p.m. Oct. 1, at a cost to the district of $462. A continental breakfast was served the following day as well as lunch and dinner. The cost to feed the 30 people was $698.

On Oct. 3, the team was given breakfast and lunch, which cost $262.

The planning session itself cost $6,000, which did not include the costs of flying consultant Howard Feddema to Michigan, nor did it include the fees for his lodging, rental car and airport parking, adding another $400 to his total bill.

Cambridge Management also billed the district $77.50 for action team leader's guides used during last fall's session.

Throughout the last five years, the biggest cost to the district has been to Cambridge Management, including fees of: $153 (Nov. 8, 1988); $82 (Dec. 18, 1988); $8,675 (Feb. 8, 1989); $160 (March 21, 1989); $6,717 (April 26, 1989); $6,760 (Sept. 6, 1989); $5,256 (March 6, 1991); $1,759 (Oct. 9); $1,714 (Nov. 25); $2,227 (Feb. 4, 1992); and $1,717 (March 5, 1992).

McMaster said people shouldn't be critical of the spending.

"You have to look at the investment and the return on that investment," she said.

She added the strategic plan will catapult the school district into the 21st century in the area of technology alone.

Custer said she has several suggestions to slim down estimated costs of the strategic plan.

"I believe all administrators, principals, board members and selected community members could be trained at a Northville site, on a weekend for $20,000," she said in a written statement.

"I am committed to not paying substitutes and disrupting children's limited school days for this first strategy. I also am committed to providing training which will enhance the delivery of education in Northville, but I am not committed to paying professionals to attend enhancement programs."

New planning draft developed

Estimated cost for implementation is $8,000. That would include costs for personnel who spend time on committees, supplies, research and consultants.

Strategy III will allow the district to design a system in partnership with parents to ensure planning and goal-setting for the individual student, challenge students to go beyond essential outcomes and minimize bureaucratic and paperwork burdens.

Priority objectives are to provide comprehensive training to instructional staff and administrators in planning, assessing and reporting a system which is consistent with outcomes-based education and to develop and provide an information program to help parents and students participate in the planning, assessing and reporting system.

Again, costs are projected at $8,000. Training, materials, support services and evaluations would be included in the dollar projections.

School officials and strategic planning team members are also concerned about issues that may impact the implementation of strategies planned for 1993-94. Those concerns include:

- Thornton Creek opening or closing decision (board of education members voted to open Thornton Creek at its May 3 special meeting).
- Local millage and state finance election.
- Contract negotiations.
- How do individual school building improvement teams and plans relate to the district's mission, objectives and strategies?

● Program restoration. Will the district restore cuts based on business-as-usual, or towards a Total Quality, outcomes-based system in compliance with strategic plan parameters?

● Leadership. Does the district have the will to do what needs to be done?

"This refers to not only we as a board," Alan Ferrara, a member of the strategic planning team, said of the recommended plan at a board study session held May 3. "It refers to the administration, teachers and quite frankly the community. There has to be strong leadership and it has to come from the top."

Trustee Jean Hansen said she was impressed with this year's plan. In the past, team members have come up with as many as eight strategies and 75 action plans. With the current three strategies and 15 action plans, this year's proposal is a little more realistic.

"This is a much more, you might say, sophisticated plan than what you started out with," she said. "The plan really has the ability to transform our district and to see that each student succeeds at learning."

Ferrara said he wanted the board to know that all members of the strategic planning team were satisfied with the results of their work.

"Some may criticize us that this is a rubber stamp of what the administration wants," Ferrara said. "I am comfortable and satisfied that this report has not only the support of administrators, but teachers, the community and businesspeople."

At last Monday's board meeting, Superintendent Leonard Reznierski said the board better be sure it can commit to implementation of the Total Quality project before starting the process.

"That has to start with the administration and the board," he said. "Until we can walk and talk that talk—we can't implement these changes into the schools immediately."

McMaster said it will be up to the board to prioritize what funds go where in relation to the Strategic Plan.

"I don't have a crystal ball, I don't have a magic wand," she said. "The board has some difficult work in front of it. You'll have to weigh in your best wisdom what extra-curricular programs need to be part of the K-12 outcomes."

Trustee Custer said, "This plan does represent the loftiest goals of the district. As a member of the strategic planning team, (I can tell you) the process was rather grueling. I believe the plan can provide unity and futuristic views."

Hansen said the district would have to be realistic, however, and put out some money to achieve its goals.

"The strategic plan is not worth anything unless it's funded to at least some degree," she said.

Greg Purtell, president of Advocates for Quality Education, told board members he felt the strategic planning process was a necessity.

"Chrysler didn't do it on its own," Purtell, a Chrysler employee, said. "You can't do it on your own."

He urged the board to make sure the teacher's union publicly stated its support for the strategic plan.

"You will not succeed without the union's support," he said. "You need everyone from top to bottom."

Our Opinion

Politics intrudes on decision in township

Rebecca Connell has learned one of the cardinal rules of politics: when you criticize elected officials, you make enemies not only of those you criticize but of all their friends as well.

It's a natural variation on the time-honored dictum: my enemy's enemies are my friends.

Unfortunately for Connell, the lesson cost her a seat on the Northville Township Planning Commission. Unfortunately for residents of the township, a grim political reality has deprived them of the services of a qualified official.

The Board of Trustees defeated a motion to appoint Connell to the Planning Commission Thursday, 4-3, and there isn't a soul at township hall who doesn't know why.

Connell, despite having been named the top candidate for the earliest Planning Commission opening during a December straw poll, brought generations of political payback tradition down on her head when she wrote a statement that was critical of Trustee Barbara O'Brien.

Connell asked a friend to read the statement at a Board of Trustees' meeting in February, but the document's author was never a secret and Connell quickly became black listed.

All of a sudden, the same trustees who had pronounced Connell qualified to sit on the Planning Commission changed their tune. Connell had fallen out of favor with a majority of trustees and now, solid resume or not, she will never vote on planning policies for the township; or, at least, not for the 3 1/2 year balance of the current board term.

What's especially disturbing about Thursday's vote was the lack of candor that preceded it. Rather than being direct and admitting why they were voting against the appointment, Rick Engeland, Russ Fogg, Barbara O'Brien and Mark Abbo came across with the line that they lacked confidence in Connell's qualifications and abilities. Given the fact that all but O'Brien from that group at one time had expressed approval of Connell's credentials, their assertions lacked credibility.

By manufacturing reasons to suit the occasion, the four met the minimum requirements of a law that forced them to publicly state their misgivings prior to the vote. However, they shirked their responsibility to be straight with their constituents.

We especially find fault with the two faces of Russ Fogg. As a planning commissioner, Fogg allowed Connell to serve on a subcommittee of the commission. But, as a trustee, he kept silent with his concerns about the appointment selection process at the board's last study session. He decided to become vocal about it only last Thursday.

To borrow an expression Fogg himself is fond of using: Shame on you!

Political paybacks are the law of the land on Capital Hill and in Lansing, but somehow you hope local government will be free of its taint. Unfortunately, that was not to be in Northville Township and a dangerous precedent may have been set — again.

Our hope is that the minority faction in this case — Supervisor Karen Baja, Clerk Sue Hillebrand and Trustee Gini Britton — doesn't hold a grudge and decide at some future time to try to even the score.

If they do, what started out as a relatively minor power struggle could end up being a serious obstacle to cooperation.

So far so good in park deal

Let's look for a minute at Novi's park land project.

Here's where we stand: In 1988, a parks study showed that Novi's "built-out" population of 70,000 persons would require over 500 acres of park land. The city already had 100 acres, give or take a few; not even enough for the current population of around 35,000.

Last November, voters approved $9.9 million in bond sales to purchase park land. City officials believed that amount would buy 500 acres. Novi has already bought two adjacent tracts next to city-owned Lakeshore Park — the 171-acre former Novi Tree Farm, and the 115-acre Resco site — at a cost of $3.44 million.

Novi had its eye on a 105-acre plot owned by Peter Stanaj at Nine Mile and Napier roads. The two sides wrangled for months over the price, settling at $745,000. But in a strange twist of fate, the city nixed the deal anyway because the land was deemed too soggy to develop in a healthy manner.

Good move. I mean, can you imagine what unmentionable things could come bubbling up around second base if you tried to build a sanitary sewer in a bog, then placed a ballfield on top of it?

On a more serious note, I'd like to take this opportunity to commend the city's negotiating team for its frugal ways in procuring land thus far.

Look at the numbers. We're more than halfway to our goal of 500 acres with 286 already purchased.

Of the $9.9 million approved, the council said $1.3 million could cover the cost of development (building ballfields, backstops, grandstands, soccer goals, maintenance sheds and so forth, including legal fees and other "soft costs"). Of the remaining $8.6 million for land acquisition, the city's only spent $3.44 million — little more than a third of the money.

That's shrewd and prudent negotiating.

Throughout the negotiation process, we wanted to bring you as much information as we could. Much of it was kept private, due to the nature of real estate deals. Rightfully so, I suppose.

And on Monday the council met in a closed session to discuss a dozen other sites to pursue instead of the Stanaj property. That our elected and appointed officials can work outside public view in such a prudent manner is a good sign that we have some competent and trustworthy people working for us.

I don't think it's too early to start asking a couple of questions about the future, though. For instance, if Novi continues to cut great land deals, and comes away with 500 acres for less than $8.6 million, what should become of the remainder?

On the one hand, the money could be rolled into the development costs for the land. The voters did, after all, tell the city to spend $9.9 million. If that means we get amenities like lighted ball and soccer fields, bigger and better grandstands, extra bathrooms or top-of-the line soccer goals, hey, that's great.

On the other hand, wouldn't it be nice if the land could be developed adequately without the addition of any surpluses from land acquisition? Then the city could send a rebate back to the voters, or roll it into the general fund and trim taxes accordingly.

I'd be curious to know what you think, and I'm sure city officials would, too.

A word about 'news values'

Within the next week or so, I will be writing up something called "news values" to ship over to John Reddy, executive vice president in charge of editorial for Suburban Communications Corp., which owns The Northville Record and the rest of the HomeTown Newspapers.

"News values" is pretty much what it sounds like — it's a definition of our values regarding news.

What is "news" in HomeTown Newspapers? What do the people in Northville regard as "news." How does the definition of "news" in hometown newspapers differ from the definition of news at the Detroit Free Press, Detroit News, Ann Arbor News, Oakland Press or any other newspaper?

It may sound like a somewhat esoteric topic, but we think about it and talk about it a lot — because it is the type of news we print that differentiates us from all those other newspapers . . . it is the type of news that Northville residents find important.

You can probably already guess some of our "news values," if you think about it for a minute or two.

Devoting space to engagements, weddings and births is something that rates high among our values. Providing coverage of happenings in local schools is another highly-rated value. Coverage of Boy Scouts, Girls Scouts, churches and various men's and women's clubs also is high on our list.

As I said a couple of graphs ago, "news values" is something we think and talk about quite a bit here at The Record.

And it was during one of those discussions that one of our editors hit the nail right on the head.

"Our papers must be advocates for the communities they serve," he said.

He was right. Absolutely right.

Being an advocate for Northville is what sets The Record apart from any other newspaper. Our job truly is to be an advocate for the community.

Some people have trouble grasping this concept . . . particularly younger, less experienced reporters whose minds have been filled by college journalism professors with talk about "objectivity" and "impartiality."

Those are noble concepts, of course. And they're important concepts.

But they're concepts which are not at all incompatible with our newspaper's roll as advocate for the community.

Being an advocate does not mean you're not objective or impartial. What it means is that you fight for what's best for the community . . . and that includes speaking out when you see things which are wrong or harmful to the community.

It means you speak out when you see a city council or school board meet in secret session. It means you speak out when you see the township board withholding public information.

It means you speak out when you see a millage or bond proposal which has not been well conceived. It means you report it when you find taxpayer's money being spent unwisely.

And it means you speak out when you see the salaries of public employees skyrocketing at the expense of basic services.

Sure, being a hometown advocate means promoting the Victorian Fest or trumpeting sidewalk sales.

But it means a lot more than that, too.

Northville High choirs given all A's at festivals

It was another great year for the choirs at Northville High School. The singers were successful at the Michigan School Vocal Association festivals. All the groups received straight number one ratings, which are considered superior. Concert choir and girl's ensemble ranked number one in both district and state level festivals.

The Northville Singers achieved the one rating at both the district and state level solo and ensemble festivals. After the state festival they were chosen as one of the top 12 ensembles in the state.

This is the second year that the Northville Singers have been selected for this honor. The 16 singers were invited to perform at the Michigan Youth Arts Festival at Western Michigan University as part of a three-day event celebrating the finest high school artistic talent.

The group includes Valerie Bassin, Nichols Baughman, Jennifer Crawford, Chris Dattilio, Kristie Downs, Amanda Farkas, Waldo Galan, Christina Lombardo, Stacey Nield, Angie Putman, Greg Raby, Julie Romine, Mike Rowe, David Somershoe, Rob Sullivan and Marc VanSoest.

This Thursday the choirs will present their final school concert at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Tickets are $3 and can be reserved by calling 344-8420.

On Tuesday, May 25, the concert choir will combine talents with singers from two other high schools in a performance of the Mozart Vespers. The concert is open to the public and will be held at Southfield Lathrup High School.

Florine Mark/Weight Watchers

Make dried fruit your raisin d'etre

Remember that little box of raisins your mother would pack in your school lunch? Well, raisins aren't just for lunches anymore! Dried fruits are wonderful sources of potassium and iron, as well as fiber.

We already know they're great in cookies, cakes, and breads, but they're also fabulous as part of every meal, from start to finish.

Raisin-Onion Sauce is a tasty, versatile sauce. It can either be served warm over poultry or ham, or refrigerated and served as a salad dressing. In main dishes, like Chicken in Creamy Fruit Sauce, raisins perk up the taste with a touch of sweetness. Instead of plain rice, try Fruited Rice with Cinnamon.

You'll love this deliciously different combination. It is important, however, to keep in mind that dried fruits are also high in calories — so reduce the serving size when comparing to regular fruit.

As you try these raisin recipes, follow my tip for preventing the dried fruit from sticking to the knife while dicing — spray the knife blade with nonstick cooking spray. Now, how's that for "raisin" your raisin awareness?

RAISIN-ONION SAUCE

- 1/4 cup diced onion
- 1/4 cup golden raisins
- 1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon vegetable oil
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 tablespoon each rice vinegar, Dijon-style mustard, and honey

In small microwavable mixing bowl combine onion, raisins, and oil and stir to combine; cover with vented plastic wrap and microwave on High (100 percent) for 4 minutes, until raisins are plumped, stirring once halfway through cooking.

Transfer mixture to blender container; add remaining ingredients and process until smooth. Return mixture to microwavable bowl; cover with vented plastic wrap and microwave on High for 2 minutes, until flavors blend. Makes 4 servings (about 1/4 cup each).

Each serving provides: 1/4 Vegetable, 1 Fat, 1/4 Fruit, 15 Optional Calories. Per serving: 95 calories, 5 g fat.

CHICKEN IN CREAMY FRUIT SAUCE

- 1 teaspoon olive oil or vegetable oil
- 1/4 pound chicken cutlet, cut into thin strips
- 1/4 cup sliced onion
- 1/4 cup sliced mushrooms
- 1/4 garlic clove, minced
- 1/4 cup canned ready-to-serve low-sodium chicken broth
- 2 tablespoons plus 2 teaspoons apricot nectar
- 3 dried apricot halves, cut into strips
- 1 tablespoon golden raisins
- 1 teaspoon Dijon-style mustard
- 1 tablespoon light sour cream

In 9-inch nonstick skillet heat oil; add chicken and cook over medium-high heat stirring occasionally, until chicken is browned on all sides; about 3 minutes, add onion, mushrooms and garlic, and cook, stirring frequently, until onion is translucent, about 2 minutes.

Add remaining ingredients, except sour cream, and stir to combine; bring mixture to a boil. Reduce heat to low, add sour cream and let simmer until flavors blend, about 5 minutes. Makes 1 serving.

Each serving provides: 1 Fat, 3 Proteins, 1

The bearable lightness of eating

Light meal of salads can satisfy

By JENNIFER PLANTIER
Special Writer

Whether dieting to lose those extra pounds, or just seeking respite from a heavy meal on a warm evening, a delicious dish that is light on fat and calories always fills the bill.

However, frustrated dieters and healthy eaters alike know that the use of the words "delicious" and "light" in the same sentence is, at the very least, suspicious.

Now you can revel in the knowledge that a little effort and attention to detail can reap fantastic culinary rewards.

Vegetables are the centerpiece of healthy cooking. Naturally low in calories and high in nutritional value, they can be molded into meals that are surprisingly flavorful.

Steaming, sauteing and stir-frying are the best cooking methods when it comes to retaining valuable vitamins and minerals and maximizing flavor without adding unnecessary calories. Remember also that raw vegetables boast the highest nutrient counts and are a source of healthy fiber.

Protein, also an essential dietary nutrient, is not exclusive to meat-based dishes. Low-fat, high-energy alternatives include beans, tofu and part-skim cheeses.

Rest assured that "light" does not mean simple or flavorless. Taking the time to experiment with the essentials of low-calorie cooking pays off in the form of gourmet-quality meals you'll be proud to serve and eager to try yourself.

Insist on fresh ingredients — fruit, vegetables and low-fat dairy products — to maximize flavors. Accept that the use of rich creams, fattening oils, lots of salt and other traditional additives is just not necessary. Count on flavored vinegars, fresh herbs and spices, non-fat yogurt, low-fat mayonnaise and other low-calorie foods to make your recipes sing.

Know also that health-conscious chefs saute their vegetables in sherry or wine (rather than oil or butter), which creates a type of "flavor seal" as the food cooks.

Perhaps the most effortless but potentially elegant light suppers are colorful and creative salads. A large salad, served with chilled soup and whole-grain bread or crackers offers up a satisfying meal for dieters or anybody looking for a healthy, high-energy alternative to fatty fast food.

A plain lettuce and tomato version, on the other hand, would leave even the most experimental meat-and-potato eater untempted. Lure them to the light side by tossing in a variety of veggies, fruit, pastas, beans, rice and other healthy foods. Combine different colors, tastes and textures to render a salad heartier and more satisfying.

However, don't sabotage a healthy creation with fattening store-bought salad dressings. Make your own flavorful dressings by pureeing fresh vegetables like tomatoes, celery, bell peppers and onion and mixing them with flavored vinegar and fresh herbs and spices. Replace sour cream, heavy cream with non-fat yogurt, low-fat mayonnaise or even tofu in creamy dressings.

When it comes to preparing sophisticated, satisfying, low-calorie meals, knowledge is key.

Look into the book "Elegant Low-Calorie Cooking," for a wealth of ideas on light cooking and a number of recipes that would make any light supper shine.

The following salads, both with a unique combination of flavors, prove that fat and other unhealthy additives are not prerequisites of good taste.

A curried dressing turns Audrey's Spinach Salad into a meal that's company-special.

These recipes are from the Cole Group's cookbook, "Elegant Low-Calorie Cooking," available from the publisher, 4415 Sonoma Highway, Santa Rosa, CA 95409, (800) 959-2717, or your local bookseller ($9.95).

A delicate curried dressing anoints this tasty salad, making it appropriate for special occasions. Serve in summer with chilled soup and crusty bread. The dressing can be made up to four days in advance; refrigerate it in a tightly covered container.

AUDREY'S SPINACH SALAD

- 8 cups washed and torn spinach leaves
- 1 small red onion, sliced into thin rings (see note)
- 1 Red Delicious apple, cored, chopped or sliced and sprinkled with 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons currants
- 1 teaspoon olive oil
- 1 clove garlic minced
- 2 cups plain, non-fat yogurt
- 1 tablespoon curry powder
- 1 tablespoon frozen apple juice concentrate
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cardamom
- 1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon grated fresh ginger

Place spinach in large salad bowl. Decorate with onion rings, apples and currants.

Place all other ingredients in blender and puree. Pour over spinach salad and serve.

Note: To make red onion taste sweeter, place rings in a bowl of ice water for 25 minutes before using to draw out bitter acids.

Yields 6 servings.
Preparation time: 20 minutes.

If you're a fan of Mexican food, especially the piquant flavor of tacos, you'll love this salad. Chili-seasoned tofu is mixed with typical taco fillings and served over baked corn chips.

TACO SALAD

- 2 cups crumbled firm tofu
- 2 teaspoons ground cumin
- 2 tablespoons chopped cilantro
- 1/2 teaspoon chili powder
- 2 teaspoons herbal salt substitute
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 2 teaspoons safflower oil
- 6 corn tortillas
- 3 cups torn leaf lettuce, such as romaine or green leaf
- 3 large, ripe tomatoes, cored and coarsely chopped
- 1/2 cup minced red onion
- 1/2 cup seeded and diced cucumber
- 1/2 cup grated part-skim mozzarella cheese
- 1/2 cup fresh salsa

Preheat oven to 400 F. In bowl, mix tofu with cumin, cilantro, chili powder, salt substitute and pepper.

In oil in skillet over medium heat brown tofu mixture lightly for 10 minutes. Let cool.

Using scissors, cut tortillas into wedges; bake until crisp (about 15 minutes) to make corn chips.

Place lettuce in large salad bowl and spoon tofu mixture into the center of leaves.

Arrange tomatoes, onion and cucumber on top, and then sprinkle them with cheese and salsa. Serve slightly chilled with corn chips.

Note: You can also place tofu mixture in heat-proof bowls, top with cheese, and broil until cheese melts just slightly. Then remove from oven and add to remaining ingredients.

Yields 6 servings.
Preparation time: 20 minutes.
Cooking time: 20 minutes.
Calories per serving: 217.

A traditional French salad, often served as a small, delicate appetizer, this fresh scallop dish is poached in white wine and then mixed with a light dressing. Serve it chilled on lettuce leaves with a garnish of minced parsley.

Chef Mary Brady

As summer rolls around, changes abound

of my kitchen staff... Sharon, Theris and I had our own little outing last week. We did the Eastern Market "thing" and then had lunch at the traffic jam on Canfield and Second.

Thoughts of food are never faraway. For instance, yesterday while rollerblading around the Eight Mile-Kensington path, my mind wandered to several recent conversations with members

T.J.'s is celebrating paying off a 25-year mortgage by rolling back prices 25 percent. They are unique in the fact that they've survived in the city of Detroit. Also, the owners are innovative and not afraid to take chances. They make their own cheese, beer and ice cream. All three are wonderful.

While munching away, we spoke of our menu and what changes to make for spring. Menu revisions are difficult for a couple of reasons. First, everything sells well. There are no "dogs." Secondly, it is very hard to keep personal feelings out of it. What we like may be totally different from what you, our customer, prefers.

So the dilemma is to change or not to change. We are lucky enough to work with lots and lots of different foods so the boredom level is minimal. Each day specials are a part of the majority of guest selections, so variety is not a problem. We hemmed and hawed and finally decided on items that would withstand transfiguration.

Our Dijon and pepper crusted salmon was first to go under the microscope. It has been a best-seller since day one, and we've changed the accompaniments before. Now, for the summer at least, the risotto is gone, along with the tomato red pepper sauce, and a wonderful roasted barley and baby bok choy will take its place. Essences of tomato basil and curry oils will provide a trio of flavor matchings hard to beat.

Next to be scrutinized was the white-fish. You must understand that I never really liked this dish, but have kept it for those who prefer a lake fish. Well, today it fell victim to the delete key on the computer.

In its place, a wonderful lake trout filet topped with crumbled bleu, fresh tomatoes and scallions, presented with jasmine basmati rice and a sundried tomato butter sauce. This dish was the first fish to ever find a place on a Brady menu. That was 15 years ago. We've run it as a special since and now it has earned a permanent spot.

No appetizers were sent to food heaven too. No more oysters or risotto until the fall. It was time. A superb "Euro" sampler plate will take their place. Marinated manchengo cheese, Spanish in origin, spicy ni-coise and picholine olives, roasted red peppers and freshly baked focaccia mix the best "tapas" from Europe on one plate.

I love it! Healthy, good-for-you food.

Next in line for overhaul are the desserts (we've got some great ones in the works), some salads and pastas. Our motto is light, simple and elegant.

So anyway, getting back to the trek around Kensington... Pat, our day sous chef, rode along with me and started talking about changing the lunch menu. "Let's take Lillian off and put on a spinach with shrimp." "And the stromboli needs a face lift for the summer." "And..." Here we go again.

Mary Brady is the head chef at Diamond Jim Brady's in Novi and an instructor of culinary arts at Schoolcraft College.

The Refrigerator Door

"The Refrigerator Door" is a list of coming events and short notes about food and drink. If you have an event planned or a brief announcement you would like included here, send it care of this newspaper, 104 W. Main Street, Northville, Mich., 48167. Photos and other artwork are welcome.

HAPPY 25TH, BIG MAC: McDonald's is honoring the 25th anniversary of its number-one selling large sandwich with Big Mac values. During the Big Mac Silver Anniversary, customers who buy one Big Mac can get a second Big Mac for 25 cents.

The sandwich was created in 1968 by Jim Delligatti at the McDonald's franchise in Pittsburgh. The original selling price was 49 cents, excluding tax.

TAKE TIME FOR BREAKFAST: Take time for breakfast. Recent research suggests that eating a good breakfast not only enhances your ability to concentrate and do physical work in the morning hours, but also may help you maintain or lose weight.

Well nourished 9 to 11 year-olds made fewer errors in problem solving when they ate breakfast than when they skipped it. Children who skipped breakfast ate more heavily later in the day and were more likely to be obese than children who regularly ate breakfast.

Both high school age and adult breakfast skippers were more likely to have high blood cholesterol levels than regular breakfast eaters.

For a free copy of "First Things First — Making Breakfast Work For You," the latest addition to the Quaker Oats Company's Healthy Dialogue series of information-packed brochures — send your name and address (no postage required) to: Healthy Dialogue, First Things First, Dept. HD-7, 1147 W. Jackson, Chicago, IL 60607.

PARKING LOT BARBECUE: Mark your calendars — Word of Mouth Foods and the Porterhouse Meats, 1058 S. Main, Plymouth, is hosting their 2nd Annual Parking Lot Barbecue, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, May 22.

The barbecue is a benefit with all free will donations going to Scampi, a summer camp in Oakland County for special needs children with all types of disabilities.

Everyone is welcome to come and sample Word of Mouth Products including two new flavors of barbecue sauce, the Veggie Pasta Sauce and the new — "Call it Complete Seasoning."

They will be grilling homemade sausages, chicken and ribs. Last year the company raised about $1,500. This year they hope to double it.

KITCHEN GLAMOR CLASSES: Novi's Kitchen Glamor store hosts a series of drop-in classes Tuesdays at 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. during the next several weeks. The fee for most of the classes is $3.

With all of the classes, recipes are provided free, and there will be small portion tasting. Everyone is welcome.

Kitchen Glamor is located in the Novi Town Center. Call 380-8600 for more information.

HOME CANNING: If you've promised yourself each year that you would learn how to can foods properly, this is the time to start.

The Oakland County Cooperative Extension is now offering a seven-week correspondence Food Preservation Course for $15 to cover mailing and printed charges.

The various lessons include complete information on food safety; canning of low acid and high acid foods; pickling and jam and jelly preparation; freezing and drying of foods. The lessons are mailed every two weeks to your home so you can work at your own place. Complete background materials and recipes are provided. There is even a quiz at each lesson's end for you to see what you have learned.

For enrollment information and other food and nutrition, food safety and food preservation questions, call the Food and Nutrition Hotline, Monday-Friday, 8:30-5, 858-0904.

NEW SALSA: Enjoy the just-made fresh taste of Sonora Valley salsas, cheese sauces and dips, found in your grocer's refrigerated case. New Sonora Valley Guacamole is made with 100 percent California black-skinned Hass, the finest avocado available. Look for them at A&P, Farmer Jacks and Kroger.

DOODLE TWISTERS: Doodle Twisters are hitting grocery store aisles everywhere — quickly becoming the latest snack craze from Borden. These new chips are bursting with Nacho Cheese and Hot Salsa flavor. Borden took a plain, ordinary corn chip, twisted and seasoned it to get the uniquely shaped Doodle Twisters with zesty flavor.

OLIVE OIL HOTLINE: If you've ever wondered about the "heart-healthy" benefits of olive oil, call the International Olive Oil Council hot line. The hot line is open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, Eastern time. Call 1-800-232-6548.

GOT A QUESTION? CALL THE HOTLINE: Have you ever wondered if some of the leftover food in your refrigerator is safe to eat? Or have you been puzzled over directions in a recipe? What's safe to take to a picnic?

"Ponder no more," said Sylvia Treitman, home economist for the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service.

The Food and Nutrition Hotline is ready and willing to answer all of your food-related questions. "We are all ready with the very latest USDA recommendations," said Treitman. So if you haven't "canned" for a while and are unsure of what to do, just give them a call 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday at 858-0904.

Light suppers of salad can satisfy

¾ cup dry white wine
¼ onion, minced
¼ cup low-calorie mayonnaise
¼ cup minced parsley, plus parsley for garnish
½ cup chopped spinach leaves
¼ cup minced green onion
¼ teaspoon dill
6 lettuce leaves, for lining plates

Place scallops, wine and onion in saucepan and bring to a boil, uncovered. Cook 1 minute. Drain scallops and refrigerate immediately to stop cooking process. Discard cooking liquid, or save as fish stock for another recipe.

In blender, puree mayonnaise, parsley, spinach, green onion and dill until smooth.

Toss chilled scallops with pureed green sauce. Chill 10 minutes. Then serve on lettuce leaves. Garnish with additional minced parsley, if desired.

Yields 6 servings.
Preparation time: 20 minutes.
Calories per serving: 138.

This simple salad combines the nutty texture of chickpeas (also known as garbanzo beans and used throughout the Middle East for their exceptional flavor and protein content) with cooked macaroni in a light vinaigrette. Make this salad up to three days in advance — it gets better as it sits. This salad is an excellent accompaniment to marinated beef kebabs on a dinner menu.

For a quick low-calorie lunch, drain some of the vinaigrette and stuff remaining ingredients with lettuce into pita bread.

MIDDLE EASTERN PASTA SALAD WITH CHICKPEAS

1½ cups cooked chickpeas

2 cups cooked macaroni, drained and chilled
¾ cup apple cider vinegar
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 tablespoon safflower oil
¼ cup minced parsley
¼ cup diced red bell pepper
¼ cup minced fresh dill
dash cumin
2 tablespoons nutritional yeast
herbal salt substitute and freshly ground pepper to taste
Lettuce for lining plates or for pocket bread sandwich

Combine all ingredients and chill 2 hours, stirring thoroughly each hour. Serve chilled on bed of lettuce.

Yields 6 servings.
Preparation time: 20 minutes.
Chilling time: 2 hours.
Calories per serving: 195.

Big, bold flavor marks meal soups

Hearty, whole-meal soups with big, bold Texas flavors can be mid-week menu mainstays. Served with crusty bread, corn bread or warm tortillas, they make super, speedy suppers.

Two new crowd pleasers from the Pace Picante Sauce Test Kitchens are great-tasting examples. Ready to serve in about half an hour each, the colorful combinations of readily available ingredients speed the way to Lone Star State flavor with San Antonio's own Pace's Picante Sauce. Select mild, medium or hot, as you prefer, for just the desired degree of garden-fresh jalapeno "heat."

San Antonio Smoked Turkey Soup streamlines preparation with smoked turkey from the deli department and a bright mix of canned and fresh vegetables. Serve it with help-yourself toppings of sour cream, shredded cheese, cilantro and additional picante sauce for a casual Rio Grande-style supper.

Texas Two-Bean 'n' Tuna Soup turns everyday tuna into fast fiesta fare. A quick combination of tuna, beans, picante sauce, tomatoes and savory seasonings, this family-pleasing meal-in-a-bowl soup freezes beautifully. Why not make a double batch?

SAN ANTONIO SMOKED TURKEY SOUP

2 cans (14½ ounces each) stewed tomatoes, undrained, chopped
1 can (about 14 ounces) chicken broth
½ pound smoked turkey, cut into ½-inch cubes
1 large green pepper, cut into ½-inch pieces
1 can (7 ounces) whole kernel corn, drained
¾ cup Pace's Picante Sauce

1 can (2½ ounces) sliced ripe olives, drained
1½ teaspoons ground cumin
1 teaspoon dried basil, crushed
1 clove garlic, minced
¼ cup sliced green onions with tops
Optional toppings: Sour cream, shredded cheese, chopped cilantro

Combine all ingredients except onions and optional toppings in large saucepan. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer 10 minutes. Stir in onions; heat through. Ladle into soup bowls; top as desired and serve with additional picante sauce. Makes 6 servings, about 7½ cups soup.

TEXAS TWO-BEAN 'N' TUNA SOUP

1 large onion, chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1 can (16 ounces) whole tomatoes,

undrained, chopped
1 can (16 ounces) kidney beans, rinsed and drained
1 can (16 ounces) pinto beans, rinsed and drained
1 can (about 14 ounces) chicken broth
1 large green pepper, cut into ½-inch pieces
¾ cup Pace Picante Sauce
1½ teaspoons chili powder
1½ teaspoons ground cumin
1 can (7 ounces) water-packed tuna, drained
¼ cup chopped cilantro

Cook onion and garlic in oil in large saucepan until onion is tender. Add remaining ingredients except tuna and cilantro; bring to a boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 15 minutes. Stir in tuna and cilantro. Ladle into soup bowls; serve with additional picante sauce. Makes 6 servings, about 7½ cups soup.

Mustang pitcher Kari Krupansky has turned in good performances for the Mustangs but has gotten little offensive support.

Mustang bats fall silent in three straight losses

By LEE SNIDER
Editor

The Northville High School softball team had to settle for moral victories in the three games they played last week.

Though there were bright spots and isolated moments of exceptional play, the Mustangs went 0-3 in the three contests they played, dropping their record to 5-9 on the season.

The team got off to a fast start in Thursday's game, scoring two runs in the first inning against Livonia Franklin.

The runs came on singles by Christy Green, Kristen Davis and Lori George.

But the Mustang bats were shut down after that and the two runs didn't hold up. Franklin rallied for three in the bottom of the sixth, and the 3-2 score at the end of the inning was how the game ended.

Franklin got their runs on three singles and a walk.

"The fielding's getting better finally, but we still have to hit," coach Frank Friemund said.

Last Wednesday's game was a lopsided affair against Plymouth-Canton, a team with a statewide ranking.

Kelly Holmes, one of the state's top pitchers, struck out 13 en route to a 7-1 win over the Mustangs.

"We were happy with our moral victory. We got four hits, which was more than anyone else has ever gotten off her (Holmes)," Friemund said. "She's never shut us out."

Holmes is a dominating pitcher who has already signed to attend classes and play ball at the University of Michigan.

The Mustang run Wednesday came when Jenny Gliniski singled, stole second and came home on a base hit by Kari Krupansky.

Pitchers Krupanski and Andrea Moretti combined for 10 strikeouts, for a total of 23 K's in the game.

The other Mustang hits came off the bats of Sarah Kemp and Christy Green.

The first game the Mustangs played last week was a tight affair against Livonia Churchill on Monday, May 10.

The scoring didn't begin until the bottom of the sixth when Churchill got an unearned run. But the Mustangs fought back and tied the score in the top of the seventh on a single by Lori George and a triple by Kristen Davis.

However, the Mustang defense fell apart in the bottom of the seventh and committed three errors, allowing the winning run to cross the plate in the 2-1 game.

"Kari (Krupanski) pitched well," Friemund said. "She only gave up four hits and both their runs were unearned. She pitched a great game."

Friemund said, overall, the Mustang pitching has been good and Christy Green has performed well as catcher, but the runs just haven't been there.

"We got four runs in three games," he remarked. "There's just been no support."
