

Board puts off Thornton Creek opening

By MICHELLE KAISER
and CHERYL VATCHER

In a surprise move, the Northville Board of Education scrapped elementary attendance boundary plans and opted to delay the opening of Thornton Creek Elementary School at a special meeting held Monday night.

The new building, located on Nine Mile Road between Beck and Taft roads, was slated to open in September at a projected cost of over $870,000 after a board vote May 3.

Board members cited critical information regarding the June 2 statewide ballot proposal and confusion surrounding the district's own June 14 millage request as reasons for putting off the opening of Thornton Creek.

Trustee Jean Hansen said Tuesday the turnaround was basically a result of legislative information surrounding Proposal A that Supt. Leonard Reznierski and board Treasurer Robert McMahon learned while in Lansing last week.

Hansen said business and finance director John Street put together five scenarios of how the new legislation may affect Northville Public Schools.

"If Proposal A passes and we do not pass our enrichment mills we'll have $3 million in deficits..." Hansen said.

The other financial scenarios could either hurt or help the district. But rather than gamble, board members opted to hold off on opening their brand new elementary building.

"I think it is the board's priority, as well as the community's, that the first thing we do is bring back teachers," Hansen said. "We can get by for another year with four elementaries."

The time will also enable school officials to examine new developments in the area and projected growth in the schools.

"We may get a picture where the numbers are going to be," Hansen said. "And at that time we'll make a decision on whether we have four or five (elementary) schools and the boundaries."

Trustee Patricia Custer has not been a proponent of opening Thornton Creek this year.

"I haven't supported it for different reasons," she said Tuesday. "I do not feel enrollment projections warrant opening another school. Essentially they're talking about three more classrooms (the district will need). It appears to me we could find some classroom space."

Many in the audience Monday night said they had no idea the move was coming.

"I was very surprised by the change," said Sharon Ferrara, president of the Northville Coordinating Council of PTA-PTSA. "All these months we've been going through the numbers for enrollment in various schools including the new school that has been built, Thornton Creek.

"Because I've been following the Proposal A and its analysis, I can understand the difficulty that they have because of funding for the following year."

Some parents seemed disheartened by the board's decision.

"I was disappointed in the new development," parent Denise Anderson said. "My kids attend Silver Springs and I have a concern about class size. In my daughter's class the ratio is 31 to 1 and in my son's class, the number fluctuates between 30 to 28 students."

"Thank You" was the theme of the 1993 Northville Senior High School prom held last Friday at the Radisson Lakes Hotel in Ypsilanti. Approximately 370 people attended the annual event. For more prom pictures, please turn to page 14-A.

Seniors dance the night away at prom

"It was so much fun — lots of fun and laughs and dancing." That was the way Northville High School senior Katy Murphy summed up the senior prom.

Approximately 370 people attended the prom held last Friday at the Radisson Lakes Hotel in

Attendees arrived between 6:30 and 7 p.m. to a room decorated with pale mauve and seafoam green balloons. Each table had a water glass for each prom-goer, and a huge dance floor in the middle of the room beckoned most couples until the prom ended at midnight.

This year's theme was "Thank You," based on a song by Led Zeppelin.

At 7 p.m. students dined, having a choice between prime rib and chicken picatta dinners.

The primary planners for the event were senior class officers Stacy Nield, president; Rob Kukans, vice-president; Ellen Song, treasurer; Allison Farmer, co-historian; and Cyndi Grietus, co-historian. Chris Ford is the senior class advisor.

Council passes new city budget

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The Northville City Council Monday approved a 1993-1994 operating budget calling for 13.68 mills for operations, the same millage levied for the city's operating expenses last year.

The millage rate, which represents a 6.7-percent tax increase due to increased real estate assessments, will raise about $2.5 million in city operating revenue in the coming year.

The total city millage will be 17.43 mills, just below last year's rate of 17.55 mills.

Slight decreases in levies for city street reconstruction and Randolph Drain projects account for the lower rate.

The council narrowly passed the budget by a 3-1 vote. The vote followed a public hearing on the budget and a Truth-in-Taxation hearing made necessary by the fact that the levy will raise more tax revenue than last year. No public comments were received during either hearing.

Council Member Jerry Mittman cast the opposing vote, saying he was "a little bit disappointed" in the budget approval process. Mittman objected to the lack of direction given department heads this year, noting that last year's budget included requests to the department heads to reduce their budgets by certain percentages.

"It seems like we're coming more from a spend mode," Mittman said. "We still need to have a budget-cutting approach."

Mittman said he would prefer passage of a 12.82 operating millage rate, which would generate the same revenue as last year's 13.68 rate. He suggested postponing projects like a proposed city hall front office reorganization to trim the budget further.

"I believe it's in the cards if you want to buckle down and do it," Mittman said.

Mittman also criticized the city administration's reliance on what he termed "overly conservative (revenue) estimates," particularly the budget's provision for no state-returned racetrack revenue.

While the state racing statute allocates up to $900,000 in racetrack revenue to be returned to the cities that house the tracks, state legislators and the governor have withheld large portions of that in the past. The state's withholding of $735,000 two years ago accounted for much of the city's $1 million deficit.

Mittman's comments regarding racetrack revenue drew quick rebuttals from fellow council member Paul Folino and Mayor Pro Tem Carolann Ayers.

"We've been promised that money before and not received it," Folino noted.

"I think this is the way we need to go this year for one last year," added Ayers, referring to measures to eliminate the deficit.

City officials hope to have the deficit erased at the end of the 1993-1994 fiscal year.

Store robbed of $100,000 in jewelry

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

The owner of Michel Jewelers in Northville is launching a separate investigation to find out who broke into his store early Sunday morning and absconded with an estimated $100,000 in jewelry.

Angry store owner Michel Ansara said Tuesday even though he had taken extra precautions to secure his Seven Mile Road store, thieves still found a way to rob it for a fourth time.

"It's really a shame," he said. "You come to Northville 18 years ago because you think it's a safe community and this happens.

"But the highways are close... and we have to do what we have to do," he said.

Northville Township Police also are investigating the incident in which the thief or thieves broke into the Highland Lakes Shopping Center store through a vacant, adjacent store early Sunday morning.

Lt. Gary Batzloff said security guards patrolling the center's parking lot reported the late night break-in to shopping center owner Bill Autry. Autry, in turn, called the police.

The guards, who have been employed by Autry to control overflow parking from Woolly Bully's, noticed the break-in around 12:25 a.m. while inside the vacant store next door.

According to Batzloff, the suspect or suspects broke in through a rear door and punched a hole through the cinder block wall in the vacant building to gain access to the jewelry store. Once inside, they removed the backs of the locked jewelry cabinets to get to the merchandise.

Batzloff and detective Fred Yankee say the department has no suspects or leads in the case.

Ansara said Tuesday he planned to hire a private investigator to look into a possible lead on Wednesday, but he wasn't willing to release any of the details about the case at press time.

Ansara said this was the fourth time the store had been robbed in its 18 years in Northville Township. After the other incidents, the store owner said he installed a roll-down steel window gate and a security entrance to protect his business.

But neither safety device stopped thieves last weekend. Indeed, the presence of the gate may have prevented patrols from seeing into the store to foil the heist, township police believe.

Concerned Residents calls for library forum

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Not afraid to confront controversial issues, Concerned Residents of Northville plans to meet May 25 to reopen the debate on a district library.

The local watchdog group has invited library proponents, including Northville Library Director Pat Orr and District Library Commission members Lynn Parkilan and Wendy Gutowski, to answer residents' questions regarding their plan to levy between 1-2 dedicated mills for the operation and potential acquisition of a new district library.

"I'm looking forward to the library being a topic of conversation," Parkilan said.

The District Library Commission has met several times to consider potential sites for a new library, and recently crossed the Ford Valve Plant off that list. Another site, behind city hall on Cady Street, is still under consideration.

The commission is also considering seeking an operating millage alone to run a district library out of the current city hall facility while waiting to acquire a new site.

The commission's tentative plans call for conducting a survey on library services in September and Church stands by convicted member

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The pastor of a congregation that put its Northville church on the block for a parishioner convicted of insurance fraud said congregation members will do it again if they need to.

But the Rev. Stephen Sparks of the First Baptist Church of Northville said he doubted such a move would be necessary.

The parishioner in question, Wade Waterman, was sentenced April 26 to 2½-5 years in prison in Jackson, and was given credit for eight days already served. He also was ordered to pay up to $3.5 million in restitution as a condition of his parole.

Waterman was convicted Feb. 26 on five counts of illegal use of a financial transaction device for stealing $1.7 million from American Commercial Liability Insurance Co., the Grand Rapids firm he founded.

Waterman was freed on $750,000 bond in February when his fellow parishioners agreed to turn the deed to their 217 N. Wing St. church property over to the court. The property was valued at just over $800,000.

The church deed was released when he returned to court for sentencing April 26.

Sparks noted that Waterman has appealed his conviction, and said the appeals court is now considering a defense motion to release him on his own recognizance.

"There's no reason to put any kind of bond or bail on him at all," the pastor said, noting that this is Waterman's first offense and he's been a community leader.

Waterman has been a member of the Northville congregation for more than 20 years, and recently headed a committee preparing the congregation's relocation to a new site in Novi.

Sparks said he doubted that the parishioners would need to put their house of worship on the line again but if the need arose, he said, the church would stand by Waterman.

"We'd do it again," he said. "The only reason we'd have to do that is if the appeals court sets an extremely high bail, but if they're willing to do it, we are."

Sparks added that he is convinced of Waterman's innocence despite the suspect's conviction at the hands of a Kent County jury. He blamed the conviction on the complexity of insurance law, particularly the little-used statute under which Waterman was charged.

"There's real questions whether he broke the law to start with," Sparks said. "Unfortunately, sometimes good people get accused of doing things they didn't do. . . . We feel real confident that once it gets to the appeals court, the whole thing will be thrown out."

Township okays WTUA finance request

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

With construction nearly completed on both the first and second phases of the Western Townships Utilities Authority sewer lines, the WTUA board was looking for ways to finance the start-up costs for the new system.

WTUA officials found one last Thursday when Northville Township Trustees approved a request to use leftover construction revenues to pay for the system's initial operation and maintenance costs.

WTUA executive director Delores

Newell attended Thursday night's meeting to explain how and why WTUA wanted to use the construction funds to pay the first year of the system's operation and maintenance costs.

Newell said with the first phase of the WTUA line completed and the second phase 70 percent finished, the WTUA board needed a way to finance the estimated $750,000 start-up costs.

Newell said she preferred to use the money left over in the construction cost account rather than bill each of the three participating townships for their share of the operation and maintenance costs.

Township Trustee Mark Abbo, who is the board's alternate delegate on the WTUA board, said essentially the motion amounted to nothing more than deferring a payment.

Under state regulations, any leftover revenues from bond sales must be used to pay off the initial bonds. WTUA got the bank's approval to amend the bond agreement and allow the use of leftover construction revenues in the short term to fund operations rather than pay off the bonds.

The bank's approval was contin-gent on the unanimous support of the three townships involved, Northville, Plymouth and Canton.

"WTUA wants to use some of the money up front to pay for the operation and maintenance costs on the system," Abbo said. "It's just deferring the payment until the system is up and operating." Abbo said. "It's nothing more than a cash flow issue."

Northville Township trustees passed the motion to grant WTUA's request, 7-0. Plymouth and Canton Townships passed the measure unanimously at previous board meetings.

Police identify mystery woman found last week

City police have identified a woman who locked herself in the bathroom at 111 W. Main St. April 13. The 39-year-old Roseville woman apparently has been involved in the state's mental health system for the past 10 years, and was most recently a patient at the Clinton Valley Center in Pontiac. She apparently walked away from the Pontiac facility before showing up in Northville.

Police are still investigating how the woman got to Northville and why she had bruises on her inner knee and thigh when she was found.

POLICE RESPOND TO FIGHT AT WOOLY BULLY'S: Township and city police responded to reports of a May 15 fight at Woolly Bully's Restaurant, 43333 Seven Mile Rd. A township police officer responded to the 2:16 call to find three battered Woolly Bully's employees waiting at the scene.

One of the employees said he attempted to escort a bar patron out when he was hit in the eye from behind by a white male with red hair. The incident triggered the two other employees to join the fight which involved at least 10-15 men, according to the township report. The employees all sustained minor facial and head injuries.

The suspects fled in five cars when they heard police sirens. A city police officer responded to the 2:20 a.m. call and found no fight, but saw people running from the scene. He took eight into custody and turned them over to township police.

ASSAULT REPORTED AT WAGON WHEEL: A bar patron told city police he was punched in the face by another customer at the Wagon Wheel Lounge May 16. The man told police that the other customer was "using extremely profane language" and when he asked him to stop, the customer began arguing with him and punched him in the face three or four times before leaving. The suspect may have driven off in a small tan pickup truck.

BUSINESS BROKEN INTO: City police are investigating a break-in at a Center Street business sometime between 9:30 p.m. May 13 and 8:30 a.m. May 14. Someone broke into Remerica Village Square, at 330 N. Center Street, by forcing open the office's south business door and damaging its deadbolt. Damage was estimated at $50, but nothing appeared to have been taken.

INJURY ACCIDENT: A 19-year-old Northville man was injured in a three-car accident at Eight Mile and Haggerty Road on Sunday, May 16, at 5:09 p.m.

According to the township police report, the driver of a 1986 Lincoln Continental, traveling northbound on Haggerty Road collided with the driver of a 1986 brown Oldsmobile headed eastbound on Eight Mile. The Oldsmobile then collided with a third car that was headed westbound on Eight Mile.

A Northville man was treated for injuries at the scene along with a 32-year old Livonia woman. A third accident victim, a 76-year-old woman from Livonia was taken to St. Mary Hospital.

The driver of the Oldsmobile was ticketed for disobeying a traffic signal.

HOSPITAL WALKAWAYS: Township police returned a 32-year-old man to the Northville Regional Hospital on Monday, May 17. The patient was seen wandering around in Motorola's lot near Six Mile and Winchester Roads.

ATTEMPTED BREAKING AND ENTERING: A Gardner Street resident told city police someone apparently tried to break into her residence sometime between April 1-April 10. The woman noticed that a living room window screen had been removed and the window itself was cracked and off its track. She said a neighbor noticed his screen had been removed during the same period.

MISDEMEANOR WARRANT ARREST: City police arrested a 34-year-old Northville man on an outstanding indecent exposure warrant from Detroit. The man was stopped for speeding on Beck May 16 when police found the outstanding warrant, allegedly for indecent and obscene conduct. He posted a $100 bond and was released.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Township police agree to pay long-overdue bill

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

The Northville Township Police Department will have to allocate $14,700 to renovate the department's dispatch area — again.

The area was renovated by Motorola back in December 1990 to accommodate the public and simplify the logistics for the dispatcher. At that time the township board of trustees approved the $14,700 expenditure from the police budget, but records show now the bill was never paid.

Township Chief of Police Chip Snider was at Thursday's board meeting asking the board to approve the expenditure again, three years later.

The trustees granted his request even though it wasn't a budgeted item. Trustee Gini Britton made the motion to approve the request, provided the money would be taken again from the police budget.

Snider agreed to cough up the $14,700 in two annual installments of $7,350. He said he didn't expect the expenditure would cause the department any real financial hardship or force any budget cuts.

Snider said even though the money will come from his budget, if he winds up in a shortfall at the end of the year, the general fund could cover any expenses. But he didn't anticipate coming up short.

"I've got a couple of positions that I haven't replaced so I'll have it," he said. "I would just like to get it over and done with."

Snider said after tracking down the paper trail of the project he found that the work was done in December 1990, but Motorola never billed the township for the work.

Even though the money for the renovation was authorized by trustees, it never left the general fund and went to Motorola. According to Snider, the money was carried over into the 1991 budget and lost somewhere in the fiscal shuffle.

In April 1992 the due bill came in from Motorola but by then there was no money left in the budget to cover it.

Snider said the situation erupted earlier this year when he tried to order more equipment for the department from Motorola.

"They put up a credit flag because of the outstanding bill," Snider said.

Snider was joined at the meeting by a representative from Motorola who was willing to work within the township's budget constraints.

"I think we should clear our name with Motorola and get on with it," said Treasurer Rick Engelland.

Volunteers needed for annual Rouge Rescue clean-up

The Rouge River needs all the help it can get — including yours.

This year's Rouge Rescue is scheduled for 9 a.m.-noon Saturday, June 5, and, as always, volunteers are needed.

"We hope to be able to clear the river of all sorts of junk and debris," Northville Parks and Recreation Director Traci Johnson said.

"If we all do our part, we can go a long way toward restoring the river. I feel confident of that."

This year's local effort will focus on clearing only one site of the Middle Rouge: A portion of the Johnson Drain at the northwest corner of Five Mile and Ridge roads in Northville Township.

Volunteers are needed to unclog logjams and remove branches and refuse. To sign up, call Parks and Recreation at 349-0203.

This year's local project is being co-sponsored by the Parks and Recreation department, The Northville Record and the Dandy Gander restaurant.

Long-sleeve shirts and long pants are recommended for the cleanup. Heavy work gloves are also a good idea.

Some, but not all, volunteer work will involve getting into the river.

Volunteers will be provided with a sandwich for lunch.

Last year, two sites along the Rouge were targeted locally: a site off Baseline behind Parmenter's Cider Mill, and an area off Northville Road across from Hines Drive.

The Rouge is a 126-mile long waterway, running through 36 communities in Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw counties.

More than 1.5 million Michigan residents live, work and pursue recreational activities in the Rouge River basin.

Stacey Dunkerley and Jason Petrie did their part for Rouge Rescue a few years back. Rouge Rescue '93 will take place June 5.

School officials mull changes in high school day

By MICHELLE KAISER
Staff Writer

There is something else that is certain in life besides death and taxes, according to Dolly McMaster.

McMaster, the assistant superintendent of instructional services for the Northville School District, told Northville Board of Education members last week that third certainty is change.

"Our school environment has to be able to equip students to adapt to change," she said. "Statistics say that young people today will change occupations five to seven times in the 21st century. They're not able to look at that kind of security we once had."

McMaster was referring to the administration's proposal to restructure the high school day to allow for professional development time among teachers. There are currently three ideas the high school day committee, composed of teachers, counselors, parents and administrators, are mulling over before making a final recommendation to the board. All options are for one day a week, probably a Wednesday.

Option one is a proposed six-period day with 35-minute class periods and two hours of professional development time for teachers.

The schedule would go as follows:

● 7:15-7:30 a.m. staff meeting time

● 7:30-9:30 a.m. professional development time
● 9:30-9:45 a.m. personal preparation time
● 9:45-10:20 a.m. first hour
● 10:25-11 a.m. second hour
● 11:05-11:40 a.m. third hour
● 11:45 a.m.-12:20 p.m. fourth hour

● 11:45 a.m.-12:05 p.m. snack break A
● 12:10-12:45 p.m. fourth hour B
● 12:25-12:45 p.m. snack break B
● 12:50-1:25 p.m. fifth hour
● 1:30-2:05 p.m. sixth hour

The schedule would allow for 918 hours of instruction, a reduction of six hours of instruction per class per semester.

Both options two and three would be three-period days.

Option two would have 65-minute class periods and two hours of professional development time. The proposed schedule for that option is as follows:

● 7:15-7:30 a.m. staff meeting time
● 7:30-9:30 a.m. professional development time
● 9:30-10 a.m. teacher preparation period

● 10-10:40 a.m. lunch

● 10:40-11:45 a.m. first and fourth hours
● 11:50 a.m.-12:55 p.m. second and fifth hours

● 1-2:05 p.m. third and sixth hours

This option would reduce current instruction time by six hours and 45 minutes per class per semester.

The third option would provide for 55-minute class periods and two hours and 30 minutes of professional development time.

If selected, option three's schedule would go as follows:

● 7:15-7:30 a.m. staff meeting time
● 7:30-10 a.m. professional development time

● 10-10:30 a.m. teacher preparation period

● 10:30-11:10 a.m. lunch

● 11:10 a.m.-12:05 p.m. first and fourth hours

● 12:10-1:05 p.m. second and fifth hours

● 1:10-2:05 p.m. third and sixth hours

This schedule would reduce the amount of class time the most among the three options as students would receive eight hours and 15 minutes less time of instruction per class per semester.

"Given the existing circumstances, I think we could all argue for a longer day, but that's subject to collective bargaining," McMaster said.

The assistant superintendent also said the quality of instruction and not the quantity was the important factor in effective learning.

"Right now we're platooning kids from one teacher to another so the clock is the driver," McMaster said.

Whatever plan is accepted—if one is—students would delay coming to school one morning a week by no less than two hours and no more than three. During that time, the teachers would have their professional development time to plan and implement new ideas and programs.

"The teachers would meet collaboratively across the departments and develop interdisciplinary curriculum," McMaster said. "It would break down those arbitrary lines across the departments so kids could learn as a whole, not in sections."

"Right now kids don't see the integration. They go to math class knowing they have to use their math skills. They go down the hall to literature class and know they have to use their reading skills. When they're in math, though, they think, of course, they won't use their reading skills in math."

"We feel strongly about this as a group," teacher and high school day committee member John Campbell said about the recommendations. "We don't assume to be speaking on behalf of the high school staff or the NEA (Northville Education Association) at all."

Lynda Baca said she was skeptical about students losing classroom time when she first heard of the concept.

"I really feel collegial planning time would be a real opportunity for teachers to get in groups and improve their performance," she said. "It would help the good teachers as well as the poor teachers—not that we have many poor teachers."

Northville High School Principal Tom Johnson urged board of education members to adopt one of the proposals in the future.

"We're not only departmentalized (at the high school), but we're compartmentalized," Johnson said. "There are 55-some employees and some don't even know each other's names."

Laura White, a student at the high school, also served on the committee. She offered a student's perspective to board members.

"We would directly benefit from what the teachers were learning and the constant upgrading of the curriculum," she said.

White added the two hours of professional staff development time could be used by students for tutoring purposes, college visitations at the school, study sessions, SAT and ACT workshops and for meeting times for such organizations as Students Against Driving Drunk, the National Honor Society, student congress, etc.

"And every once in awhile the time could be used to sleep in," she laughed.

Since costs are associated with the program—officials estimate between $53 and $75 per student—the board has approved the proposal in concept only.

A cost analysis of the plan shows the price projection for institution of a restructured high school day between $63,000 and $84,000. That would include the costs of a part-time clerk/typist ($9,000); steering committee stipends (seven staff members multiplied by six hours and 225 days of non-instructional rate at $14.71 per hour for a total of $15,445); conference, workshops and visitations ($9,000 to $12,000); and consultant services for five to eight study groups (average $2,000 a day for a grand total of $30,000 to $48,000).

"This proposal has been a long time coming to us," Trustee Jean Hansen said. "We're doing a complete about-face. Whether someone learns is much more important than when they learn."

"If we're going to ask teachers to implement these new programs, they have to be the ones to create them. But, they have to have time to make and implement these programs."

One-on-one with your doctor

Few of us do it. But experts suggest that a little preparation before visiting your doctor helps establish a good patient-doctor relationship.

Before your next appointment, prepare a list of symptoms, how long they have existed, and if you've ever had a similar experience. Don't try to diagnose yourself; this can mislead your doctor.

Ask Your Physician

Ask your doctor as many questions as necessary until you feel comfortable about the diagnosis, medications or regimens prescribed. Inquire about pamphlets so you can read about your condition or medications.

If you question your doctor's diagnosis or treatment, talk it over. If the explanation doesn't satisfy you, say so, and ask your doctor to recommend another doctor you can consult for a second opinion.

Don't Shy Away From Using The Phone

Many questions can be handled with a quick call, saving your and your doctor's time. Prepare your list of questions and symptoms just as if you were going in to your doctor's office.

If you are seeing your doctor for an on-going condition, keep a personal record of every visit. Review it before each appointment, and make a note of any changes or concerns.

Studies suggest that patients who prepare for their appointments are more relaxed, which helps make their visits more satisfying and successful experiences.

Leaders cite successes at breakfast

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Local officials listed their recent accomplishments at Tuesday morning's annual State of the Community breakfast sponsored by the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce.

Township Supervisor Karen Baja briefed the businesspeople gathered at Rocky's of Northville on recent township board passage of an industrial development district, the first step toward granting a tax abatement to a high-tech firm seeking to relocate to county-owned land in the township.

Baja noted that the firm, Optical Imaging Systems (OIS) of Troy, is seeking a 50-percent, 12-year tax abatement to locate a $100 million flat-panel display manufacturing plant on 30 acres of county-owned land at Five Mile and Beck.

"Even at these numbers, that'll mean over $800,000 in new tax revenue a year," she said in defense of the tax cut.

Baja praised the project's lack of impact on the surrounding environment, noting that it will be totally enclosed and generate almost no additional traffic.

"There'll be no drain to our police or fire department, or schools, as they won't be bringing in a boatload of kids," she said.

"I really hope that Northville Township won't be the stumbling block that sends this project to Ohio or another location," she added, referring to threats from OIS officials that they will locate elsewhere if not granted an abatement.

When asked whether granting an abatement to OIS would set a precedent for the township, Baja responded that the township has received no other requests for industrial development districts though some would probably be forthcoming.

"I will tell you that our township board will probably look much more scrutinously at other projects," she said, adding that OIS' affiliation with the Novi-based Guardian Industries, a Fortune 500 company, has worked in OIS' favor.

Baja also noted that she's been selected to sit on a county committee reviewing bids for reuse of the rest of the 900 acres of county land.

"If we do not have luck finding a developer, the county is prepared to go out for a bond and try to be the developers themselves, in sort of a piecemeal fashion," she said. "Of course, we'd like to see a single large development."

Baja also praised continuing efforts by the five municipalities of Northville, Plymouth and Canton to explore areas for consolidation, particularly police services. The cooperative is considering "anything from total consolidation to the tiniest sharing of record-keeping," she said.

As for township offices, she noted that officials recently toured a soon-to-be-vacated county facility at Five Mile and Beck with an eye toward moving its municipal offices to that location.

"They plan to phase that (building) out the first of August. And we don't want to leave that empty as we know what happens with county buildings when they're left empty," she said.

Baja also asked the community for patience in dealing with its officials. "We are an all-new board and we're suffering from growing pains," she said, "but we are making progress."

Northville Public Schools Supt. Leonard Rezmierski said his school system is making progress too, as reflected by state and national awards to its teachers and students. He noted that five Northville teachers have received state and national awards in the past two weeks alone, and 40 students just received creative writing awards from Western Michigan University.

The entire school system was chosen for its technology system as one of three sites in the United States to be toured by members of the National Association of School Boards. Rezmierski added. He noted that local voters approved a $3 million bond issue in 1989 to develop the technology system now in place.

"The risk that our district took has proven to be very valid," he said.

Rezmierski had some bad news for the businesspeople as well, noting that an $8 million bond issue in 1989 has yet to pay off. The money was used to build the school's newest elementary school, Thornton Creek, but Rezmierski noted that the school board had just voted the previous evening to postpone Thornton Creek's opening another year due to the potential effects of pending state legislation, including the property tax reform package known as Proposal A.

While the schools face further potential fiscal woes, City Manager Gary Word noted that Northville city is nearing the end of a three-year program to eliminate its $1 million deficit. The deficit was caused in large part by the state's arbitrary withholding of racetrack revenue in 1991.

Since then, the city has not counted on racetrack revenue in its budget. But Word said further changes including a strong fund equity are needed "so we never, ever have to be so overly dependent on a single source of revenue as we have in the past."

Word also described the city's latest proposed two-deck parking plan, an amendment to the renovation program known as Mainstreet '78 that stimulated investment in the city's downtown business district.

Word noted that the $3.2 million plan to rebuild the Cady Street deck and construct a new tabletop deck on the MAGS lot will solve the city's most immediate parking needs — replacing the deteriorating deck on Cady and providing Main Centre with the parking the city is legally required to provide.

"It does so without sacrificing the future, and it does so at a much reduced cost," he said.

The previous parking deck plan, known as Mainstreet '92, provided for a larger three-level deck on a relocated Cady Street at a cost of $6.1 million.

WTUA signs agreement with BFI

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

The Western Townships Utilities Authority has drawn Northville Township and Browning-Ferris Industries into yet another contractual agreement.

This time, BFI will be providing composting services for residents in the tri-township area under the WTUA umbrella.

The linked agreement came at a special May 3 meeting of the three participating WTUA board members. That was only a week after Northville Township Supervisor Karen Baja was confronted with the deal just minutes before being asked to sign it.

Baja said she went into an April 26 meeting where the proposed contract sat in front of her waiting to be signed. The supervisor said she refused to sign the contract without reading it or having the township's attorney review it.

"I walked into the meeting and there was the contract," Baja said. "It had been finished earlier that afternoon. But I refused to sign it without reading it first."

"It made everybody really angry, but I wasn't willing to sign it without everybody or at least my attorney reading it," she said.

But after reviewing the contract with the township's attorney, with some amendments to its language, Baja says the document protects Northville Township. Baja signed the agreement on May 3.

The supervisor said she insisted two provisions in the contract be changed. The first was to add language in the contract that didn't bind Northville Township to BFI exclusively for composting services.

The second was to expand the service area beyond what BFI was offering the three WTUA townships in return for composting equipment WTUA owns.

Baja said she let the price BFI offered to charge the townships for composting stand because it "really was a fair price."

Baja said she discussed the contract with Township Trustee Mark Abbo, who was also at the May 3 meeting, before she voted for the package.

The deal was struck years ago after WTUA received grant money to buy composting equipment to launch a composting program based in Canton Township. The program was aborted when residents took WTUA and CSI, the Canton corporate sponsor for the program, to court and won the battle to keep composting out of the township.

Years later, Baja said BFI approached WTUA and asked the authority to lend the trash hauler the equipment in exchange for cheaper composting services for the three WTUA townships.

The result of BFI's proposal is the contract that sat before Baja on April 26. But Baja wasn't willing then to accept the contract. Instead she became the lone person to delay approval of the contract. Baja said she believed then that it took a unanimous vote of the WTUA board to pass a motion. She soon learned that under the WTUA bylaws it only takes two of three board member votes to pass a motion.

Baja said in exchange for ownership of WTUA's composting equipment, BFI agreed to provide composting service to residents within a one-mile radius of the trash hauler's Arbor Hills site. Baja said she wouldn't approve the contract unless the service area was extended to the area surrounding the Arbor Hills location and into Salem Township.

The two supervisors from Plymouth and Canton who join Baja on the WTUA board, met Baja's demands and the amended contract was approved unanimously.

Jeweler mounts search for Sunday's thieves

"This has happened to us many times," he said. "We put the steel gate in to protect us but in the end it was more of a booby trap for us than anything else."

An angry Ansara said after all of the precautions he's taken to protect the Northville store, he was going after this case with a personal vengeance.

"I'm going to promise you one thing: I'm going to work 10 times harder on this one. It's personal this time," Ansara said.

Once inside the store, Ansara said the robber or robbers popped the store's videotape out of the security recorder to hide their identity.

"It looked like somebody who knew what they were doing," he said.

Yankee said the department has even fewer clues about the incident since nobody in the area had seen or heard anything.

"We have no suspects at all," said detective Yankee. "There was a van seen around there about 10 p.m. but nothing's come from that."

Ansara said the Northville store is just one in a chain. Each of the break-ins have cost him about the same amount in merchandise losses, he said. But he intends to keep the store open anyway because it houses a regional office for the chain.

Northville Township Police are asking anybody who was in the area late Saturday or early Sunday who may have some information about the jewelry heist to contact them at 349-9400.

Congressman William Ford says his campaign against state Sen. Robert Geake last year was the costliest of his lengthy career.

Ford says big Republican spenders forced high bills

By LEE SNIDER
Editor

Big opposition money hurled the campaign of Congressman William Ford into a spending spiral last year. Ford said in an interview Sunday.

Appearing on the WXYZ-TV program "Spotlight," Ford, D-Ypsilanti Township, said Republican Party organizations poured money into the campaign of state Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, in an attempt to win for the GOP the district seat Ford has occupied for 28 years.

"They forced me into the game, and I had to go to my friends and get money to get on Detroit TV in the last few weeks," Ford said.

"They spent more money in the last election to defeat me than's ever been spent against me in all of my elections."

Ford claimed that such heavyweights as the Republican National Committee, the Michigan Republican Party and Gov. John Engler backed him into a corner, forcing him to spend $600,000 to retain his seat.

The redrawing of congressional boundaries following the 1990 U.S. Census placed Ford for the first time into a district which includes Northville and Northville Township.

Ford was also required to relocate from Taylor to Ypsilanti Township to meet residency requirements.

Sen. Geake, whose attempt to unseat the long-time congressman fell short 53-47 percent, didn't dispute Ford's figures.

"They (GOP partisans) seemed to feel that I was the first Republican in 28 years who had a credible chance to beat him," he said.

Geake said he spent roughly $200,000 on his campaign. He said he won the Wayne County portion of the 13th District, but lost the election due to a heavy Ford vote in areas such as Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti.

Ford agreed that elections are too money-driven and said he supported the concept of campaign finance reform. He also defended the Clinton administration against charges that it lacks focus and has been unable to effectively handle the congress.

"I haven't seen that Bill Clinton. The Bill Clinton I see a minimum of twice a week, up close, knows exactly what's going on in my committee and wants to know from me exactly what I'm going to do about it."

Ford is the chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee.

Ford was interviewed on "Spotlight" by host Jim Herrington, Northville Record editor Lee Snider and Ann Arbor News editorial page editor Kay Semlon.

Court arraigns Betty's suspect

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

An 18-year-old Northville man was arraigned in Detroit Recorder's Court April 7 for the Jan. 9 robbery of a Center Street store.

Shawn Komarynski has been charged with robbing Grandma

Betty's Sweets 'N' Treats at 124 N. Center St. He was arraigned in front of Recorder's Judge M. John Shamo, and a disposition conference hearing was set for June 7.

Komarynski was still on parole for the Nov. 23 break-in of a Fairbrook Street home when he was arrested for the Grandma Betty's break-in.

He was linked to the crime in part by a sneaker print on the home's front door, and admitted kicking the door open to allow a friend access. He said they were looking for money but did not find anything.

The friend, a 16-year-old Northville boy, had his case turned over to the Wayne County Juvenile Court.

Improved customer service is goal of city hall renovation

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The front office of Northville City Hall will get a face-lift under a plan the city council narrowly approved Monday.

The $26,500 project would redesign the front office at 215 W. Main Street to house more clerks and allow them to work more efficiently, said City Manager Gary Word. The renovations should be completed by the end of September, he said.

Four clerks would staff the front office following the renovations, providing improved customer service by allowing two to deal with the public and two to answer the phones at all times.

Other elements of the redesign include switching the chief accountant's office and the inspections office opposite the front office, and using the current building official's office as storage.

"This goes a long way toward what we're trying to accomplish here," Word said.

"We now have trouble covering workstations because no one's there to cover them . . . (and) the biggest obstacles to consolidating people are the physical barriers within city hall," he said. "We've got to start working smarter, and that's what this is. We can't afford to hire more people."

Council Member Jerry Mittman cast the lone vote against the plan, saying he thought the project could be deferred for another year while the city completes its three-year deficit elimination plan.

Other council members agreed with Word that the improvements were a worthwhile investment. Word noted that more than 80 percent of the renovations would go toward a larger building-wide redesign he hopes to initiate sometime next year.

The council had authorized the hiring of an architect to propose a redesign of the city's municipal offices last February, and hired John Allen Architects Inc. of Farmington Hills to perform the task. The architect was asked to present an interim plan for the 1993-1994 fiscal year due to current budget constraints.

KNOW YOUR RIGHTS

When people are injured by others, they have little reason not to consult with a lawyer about their rights and ability to sue for damages. Generally speaking, lawyers charge no fee for their initial consultations in personal injury cases. Victims of injury may utilize this free legal advice to inform themselves about how the legal system may be used to their advantage. If both the injured party and lawyer decide to go ahead with a personal injury case, it is likely to be handled on a contingency fee basis. This means that the lawyer only gets paid if the case is won. Other costs of litigation may be borne by the plaintiff, whether he or she wins or loses. The fact is, however, that a lawyer will not take a personal injury case without being reasonably sure that the case can be won.

There is really no reason not to consult an attorney to learn more about your legal rights and options—but failure to do so promptly may make it more difficult for you to be compensated for your injuries. If you have a legal matter which needs attention, RICHARD J. CORRIVEAU & ASSOCIATES P.C. are now welcoming new clients. We have over 19 years of aggressive corporate and private experience. Our office is located at 426 S. Main St. (380-6800), and we see clients weekdays 9-5, other hours by appointment.

BFI to provide composting service under WTUA aegis

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

The Western Townships Utilities Authority has drawn Northville Township and Browning-Ferris Industries into yet another contractual agreement.

This time, BFI will be providing composting services for residents in the tri-township area under the WTUA umbrella.

The inked agreement came at a special May 3 meeting of the three participating WTUA board members. That was only a week after Northville Township Supervisor Karen Baja was confronted with the deal just minutes before being asked to sign it. Baja said she went into an April 26 meeting where the proposed contract sat in front of her waiting to be signed. The supervisor said she refused to sign the contract without reading it or having the township's attorney review it.

"I walked into the meeting and there was the contract," Baja said. "It had been finished earlier that afternoon. But I refused to sign it without reading it first."

"It made everybody really angry, but I wasn't willing to sign it without everybody or at least my attorney reading it," she said.

But after reviewing the contract with the township's attorney, with some amendments to its language, Baja says the document protects Northville Township. Baja signed the agreement on May 3.

The supervisor said she insisted two provisions in the contract be changed. The first was to add language in the contract that didn't bind Northville Township to BFI exclusively for composting services.

The second was to expand the service area beyond what BFI was offering the three WTUA townships in return for composting equipment WTUA owns.

Baja said she let the price BFI offered to charge the townships for composting stand because it "really was a fair price."

Baja said she discussed the contract with Township Trustee Mark Abbo, who was also at the May 3 meeting, before she voted for the package.

The deal was struck years ago after WTUA received grant money to buy composting equipment to launch a composting program based in Canton Township. The program was aborted when residents took WTUA and CSI, the Canton corporate sponsor for the program, to court and won the battle to keep composting out of the township.

Years later, Baja said BFI approached WTUA and asked the authority to lend the trash hauler the equipment in exchange for cheaper composting services for the three WTUA townships.

The result of BFI's proposal is the contract that sat before Baja on April 26. But Baja wasn't willing then to accept the contract. Instead she became the lone person to delay approval of the contract. Baja said she believed then that it took a unanimous vote of the WTUA board to pass a motion. She soon learned that under the WTUA bylaws it only takes two of three board member votes to pass a motion.

Baja said in exchange for ownership of WTUA's composting equipment, BFI agreed to provide composting service to residents within a one-mile radius of the trash hauler's Arbor Hills site. Baja said she wouldn't approve the contract unless the service area was extended to the area surrounding the Arbor Hills location and into Salem Township.

The two supervisors from Plymouth and Canton who join Baja on the WTUA board, met Baja's demands and the amended contract was approved unanimously.

Take The Next Step At Wayne State University...

If you are ready to take that next step toward earning your four-year degree, we are ready for you.

Last year approximately 5,000 students transferred to WSU from some 500 community colleges and four-year schools across the country. They are taking classes at our main campus in the University Cultural Center in Detroit or on one of our satellite campuses while others go to our University Center at Macomb Community College.

Some of the reasons students come to Wayne State:

- Strength of our academic programs — international reputation
- Cost — the only Michigan public university with a negative increase in tuition costs over the past decade based on inflation
- Financial aid — During 1991-92 WSU awarded $50 million in aid to students holding public hearings in October and November to gather feedback. The commission would meet after the hearings to consider whether to call a district library election for sometime in February, 1994.

Possible questions facing the library officials include whether they will seek a new facility, what the potential cost and location of such a facility might be, and how much the needed millage would cost the average homeowner.

Other potential topics include the role Friends of Northville Public Library will play in the election that would be needed to approve any dedicated millage.

The 8 p.m. forum at city hall council chambers is open to all residents, and will take the place of Concerned Residents of Northville's regular quarterly meeting.

It was prom night last Friday, and over 370 students and adults from Northville High School enjoyed the event at the Radisson Lakes Hotel in Ypsilanti. Above, Wayne and Mary Kay Pryce kept up with the younger

Trustee wins apology for board of review flap

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

It's obvious now Northville resident Greg Arceri meant Russ Fogg no harm when he filed a tax complaint with Township Supervisor Karen Baja.

Fogg took criticism last month from his fellow board members for telling Arceri he had a good case for getting his assessment lowered by the Board of Review. But after Arceri's appeal was denied, the Lakes of Northville resident fired off a letter to Township Supervisor Karen Baja complaining about the tax appeal process and mentioning Fogg's support.

It was that letter that caused a stir at a board study session last month and prompted more debate on the issue at last Thursday's board meeting.

Arceri came to Fogg's defense Thursday after seeing how some of the trustees misinterpreted his complaint.

"Mr. Fogg has done nothing wrong," Arceri told the board. "I didn't take it (what Fogg said) as an endorsement."

"He really didn't have time to look closely at my comps and I believe his comment was off the cuff," the resident said.

But Arceri's public statement wasn't enough to satisfy Fogg's anger over the actions of his board colleagues. He wasn't willing to drop the issue until somebody on the board apologized for the embarrassment and humiliation the trustee says the whole incident caused him.

"It was disconcerting to find your letter to be so misconstrued," Fogg said after Arceri delivered his comments. "I think they owe us both an apology."

Baja said she didn't feel an apology was necessary, but after another resident complained about the way

Fogg was treated at the study session, Baja said she was sorry for any humiliation the incident caused the trustee.

"The letter was misinterpreted and he was definitely humiliated," said resident Mary Braddock. "I don't think you meant to do it . . . but I don't think I would have sat up there and took what he did."

Braddock said she believed Fogg was chastised by the board for his comments to Arceri. But Baja said that was never her intention.

"I feel I don't have anything to apologize for . . ." Baja said. " . . . I don't feel Mr. Fogg was chastised and I don't think it was meant to critique his behavior."

Baja said she never intended the letter to cause Fogg any public scrutiny. She said she brought the letter to the study session to see how the board wanted to respond to it and then tried to avoid being part of the conversation that followed.

But after listening to the comments from residents and from Fogg, she said "I feel that if you were humiliated in any way, I apologize for that."

Township Clerk Sue Hillebrand said she thought since the letter was written to the supervisor and sought a response, she and Baja brought it to the board to see how the rest of the trustees wanted to respond to it. The clerk said it was brought to the study session rather than a regular board meeting because that's where board members agreed to deal with these kinds of issues.

"I've addressed this with Mr. Fogg already," Hillebrand said. "It was brought to a study session and these are the things that we agreed to talk about in study sessions."

Hillebrand said broaching the subject with Fogg was never intended to result in a public lynching of the trustee. Instead she and Baja saw it as an opportunity to caution board members about how their actions and comments can be misconstrued now that they are elected officials.

At Providence Hospital, we've recognized women long before they won the vote. Since 1844 when Providence opened its first hospital and began caring for single and widowed mothers and their infants, we've been listening to what women need and want from healthcare professionals. Record may be cleared for driver in fatal mishap

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

The driver accused of negligent homicide in the death of tow truck driver James Domin will have the incident expunged from her record if she successfully completes a three-year probationary period.

Domin, who was employed by Ke-ford Collision, was in the process of clearing away a car involved in a minor fender-bender on Twelve Mile

Dec. 19 when he was struck and killed by a passing car.

Under the terms of the Youthful Trainee Act (YTA) the driver of that car — Dawn Bauer, 19, of Highland — will serve three years probation and, if she successfully completes the probationary period, the incident will be expunged from her record.

Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Robert Anderson ruled May 13 that Bauer should be placed in the YTA program. Anderson's decision came after objection from Domin's family members.

But Bauer now faces another day in court. Domin's parents have filed a wrongful death suit against her. A mediation date is set for Oct. 11 in Judge Edward Sosnick's courtroom, with a trial date tentatively set for Jan. 3, 1994.

Meanwhile, the Novi Police Department is expected to release the results of an internal investigation into the actions of police officers in charge of the accident scene where Domin died.

The Domin family's civil suit does not name the City of Novi or any members of the Novi Police Department as a defendant.

Questions have surrounded Domin's death because witnesses at the scene pointed fingers at two police officers who, they said, should have directed traffic or set out flares around the accident scene.

One witness who lives near the accident scene said that cars were driving through large pieces of debris at an estimated 50 mph while the two officers at the scene sat in their patrol cars. He claimed that it was several minutes after Domin was hit before police summoned an ambulance.

However, Novi Police Chief Doug Shaeffer and other police officials have maintained that officers followed the rules. The cars involved in the original accident had been cleared off the road, and it is in the towing company's contract that the drivers are responsible for clearing away any debris.

The negligent homicide charges were filed against Bauer, who had no previous trouble with the law, after accident investigators reported that her right front headlight was burned out and the left front headlight was misaligned.

This week a little about our Native American forebears from Clarence and Agnes Burton's work on Wayne County. "Intimately associated with the early history of Wayne County and the settlement at Detroit are the Chippewa, Huron, Iroquois, Mascouten, Miami, Pottawatomie, Sac and Fox, and Winnebago. . . a number of the Chippewa had their villages near the site of Detroit prior to the coming of Cadillac and they became very federated tribes and in 1615 Champlain found them living along the eastern coast of Lake Huron. . . the Iroquoian, denoting a family group rather than a single tribe first came into contact with the white men on the shores of the Gaspe Basin. . . known to the earliest settlers as Five Nations. . . at first the Pottawatomie were loyal to the French. . . between the years of 1836 and 1841 they ceded their lands in Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan to the United States and removed to a Kansas reservation."

The Burtons go into great detail about the original settlers of this region. The book from which these quotes were taken is part of the collection of the community archives located at the Northville Historical Society, Cady Inn.

Novi finance chief suggests increased millage

By JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writers

Novi City Council Member Nancy Cassis was the swing vote leading to the adoption Monday—in the nick of time—of Novi's 1993-94 city budget.

The city charter requires that the Council approve a balanced budget no later than the third Monday in May. If not, municipal business would eventually grind to a halt, as the city cannot spend any money for items included in the not-yet-adopted budget.

Novi's new fiscal year begins July 1.

Cassis said last week she would not support the document because the city administration asked the council not to discuss salary increases for 39 administrative staff members until an overdue contract with the Teamsters Union is signed.

A "confidential" memorandum on the proposed administrative salary increases was forwarded to the council over the weekend, Cassis said.

The memo was not made public, she added, because "I think the administration does think it does have a potential impact indirectly or indirectly on labor and union negotiations."

Cassis said she wasn't sure she agreed with the confidentiality but would abide by it because of the union negotiations.

Those negotiations have been touchy. The Teamsters have twice staged an informational picket outside city hall and have filed a complaint with the state accusing Novi of unfair labor practices.

City Attorney David Fried also provided the council with a legal opinion stating that a majority of five votes would be needed to withdraw money from the city's contingency fund to cover any salary hikes.

"I think they needed to be disclosed now and not after the fact," she explained. "I am very comfortable now. I'm ready and prepared to adopt the 1993-94 budget," she said.

Cassis created the majority of five votes needed. Council Members Joseph Toth and Carol Mason remained opposed to the budget.

Supporting the budget adoption were Mayor Matthew Quinn, Mayor Pro Tem Hugh Crawford and Council Members Tim Pope and Robert Schmid.

The penalty would likely not have been stringent for individual council members had the majority been unable to meet the charter deadline. Fried noted in a May 13 opinion.

Fried said that failure to meet the budget deadline due to lack of consensus would not make the council guilty of official misconduct or willful neglect of duty, actions for which, under state law, the governor may remove a city official.

Novi City Manager Ed Kriewall said last week that he was caught off guard when Cassis raised the issue of administrative wages at the May 10 meeting. He had earlier asked the council via memo to defer action on the raises until the Teamsters contract is settled.

"We were surprised to find that some members of council want to deal with it earlier. That was the first we heard of it," Kriewall said.

Last year, the administrative staff got a 4-percent pay increase, although the percentage was higher for certain employees who also received salary "reallocations."

Teamsters officials have said the union and the city had tentatively agreed to a 4-percent salary hike for their members until the council lowered that to 3.5 percent. The 62 Teamsters have been working without a contract since July 1992.

In addition, police and fire union contracts expire June 30.

Mason has suggested an across-the-board $1,000 pay increase for the 39 administrative employees.

"I was sufficiently satisfied with the documentation we had last week. I do not think anything new has come forward," Schmid said.

However, Toth said he felt dissatisfied with the whole procedure and suggested the council should discuss "certain cleanup matters" in the future, among them the lack of a written report from the consultant review committee.

Mason sided with Toth.

"I was not going to vote for the budget anyways. Parks and recreation is way over last year's budget. I think a lot of these things should be done in February and March so we don't have to do it in bits and pieces," she said.

Mason and Toth both say they feel an additional $268,000 in 1993-94 estimated revenues for the parks and recreation department is too optimistic.

Furthermore, Mason objected that a resolution to adopt the budget left out 45 pages of the budget document.

In response, finance manager Les Gibson provided the council with a several pages from the state department of treasury's "Uniform Budgeting Manual For Local Units of Government in Michigan." The manual advises municipalities to adopt a budget in summary form to avoid "excessive" amendments if the budget is too detailed. This has been Novi's practice.

The manual also suggests that the legislative body could require periodic reporting from the administration on the budget.

The new millage to be levied by the City of Novi is 10.4062. The owner of a $150,000 house, after being slapped with an assessment increase of 7 percent, will pay a total of $11.29 more in city taxes this year.

Walsh College officials meet leaders; ready for fall opening of campus

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

Walsh College made itself feel at home in Novi Monday evening with a reception at the Novi Hilton.

It was a reception attended by Novi figures as well as Walsh faculty and representatives. Among those from Novi at the reception were Mayor Matt Quinn, Council Members Joe Toth and Tim Pope, City Manager Ed Kriewall, Assistant City Manager Craig Klaver, Novi Police Chief Doug Shaeffer, Novi Planning Commissioners Robert Taub and Kathie McLallen and many others.

And it was nothing compared to a similar reception held last week for prospective students. That attracted over 500 people.

Walsh College President David Spencer estimated that there are 400 to 500 current Walsh students who would likely enroll at the Novi campus because they live or work in this area. That, he said, was a key consideration in choosing to open a campus on the west side.

"We hope to bring in students from as far west as Brighton, north to Walled Lake, even as far away as Canton," he said.

Novi's Walsh College campus will be unique because it will offer two graduate programs.

The new campus, scheduled to open this fall in the Novi Garden Office Park building on Gardenbrook Road, will offer three programs leading to a bachelor of accountancy, a master of science in finance or a master of science in management.

"We were thinking of having a groundbreaking but since the building is already up and the sod is pretty well taken, we decided not to," Spencer joked. "We will be having some kind of ceremony in the future."

Spencer said all of the staff members at the Novi location will be experienced ones from the Troy school. "It is extremely important to us that we have experienced staff members here," he said. "All of the Novi faculty will be experienced Walsh faculty members."

Spencer also announced plans to create a Business Development Center, which will offer business consulting services at the site. Walsh will also offer a program for a Novi public school teacher to continue graduate studies free of charge.

Mayor Matt Quinn said he was proud and surprised when he learned of Walsh's plan to open a campus in Novi.

"When you come to Novi you tend to underestimate the budget and the population," he said. "I think Walsh is already underestimating the number of students you will have interested in your location here."

"We count our suburbs all the way out to Ann Arbor, Brighton and all around," he said.

School officials hold off on elementary opening

Sandy Banks, who has children who attend both Silver Springs Elementary and Meads Mill Middle School, thought the board made a hasty decision.

"I'm disappointed because we've been going through this for so many months, and the board said that this was going to happen, and I feel that the parents were willing to accept the change," she said. "The parents may not support the board like they have in the past. We realize that it was a difficult task and we don't envy them for what decisions they've had to make."

David Bolitho, assistant superintendent for administrative services, began working on proposed boundary changes late last year. Initially, the board was supposed to have approved the changes in April, however, action was delayed because school officials were uncertain about funding prospects due to such factors as Proposal A.

Nature trails following paths possibly widened by settlers

By JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writer

One old theory has it that our roads started out as deer trails, were broadened by Native Americans to footpaths, then widened by the wagons of white settlers until the most popular routes became main thoroughfares.

While that may or may not be true, you can count on this. Novi's Linear Greenway System, a citywide network of nature trails, is following existing paths, says volunteer and enthusiast Ernest Aruffo.

Aruffo and a city consultant walked out the proposed routes for the entire trail system as far back as 1980. The goal was to leave the existing environment intact, so hikers who now travel from Eden Drive in Country Place Condominiums west along the trail to Wheaton Lane in Chase Farms subdivision are following the footsteps of some of the city's earlier residents.

Saturday, this first, 2,000-foot-long stretch of the plan, The Chase Woods Trail, was officially opened.

It was, Aruffo says, a labor of love.

The path was cleared in September, through an easement donated by Grandveco Inc. In April and May, volunteers spent 90 hours wheelbarrowing in and spreading down the woodchips, which cover the trail six inches deep.

Aruffo, Tom Smith and planning commissioner Rob Mitzel dedicated over 15 hours each to the task, assisted by 10 others.

Earlier, Novi resident Barbara Greenberg led volunteers from the Wayne County Master Gardeners Club and the Novi Garden Club in moving each wildflower from the path of the woodchips and then transplanting them alongside the trail.

Flowers rescued included jack-in-the-pulpits, wild geraniums, trilliums and mayapples.

Trail markers designed by Aruffo and his wife, Eva Dawn, were put into place, as were two pedestrian bridges designed and built by Ed Phelps. These run over a wetlands area which trickles across the trail.

"It's fun. If you're real quiet, you'll see mallard ducks go up and down there," Aruffo said.

Materials for the project were supplied by the Novi Parks and Recreation Department, with assistance from the Novi Rotary. The survey for the Chase Woods Trail was conducted by city consulting engineers, JCK & Associates.

"It was visions and dreams that were ultimately fulfilled. Rob (Mitzel) has really been the catalyst in this whole thing," Aruffo said.

The system itself was designed by planning consultant Brandon Rogers and landscape consultant Linda Lemke. In 1990, the Linear Greenway System won an Honor Award from the Michigan Chapter of the American Society of Landscape Architects.

Novi began encouraging developers to donate easements for the paths, with the first mile given to the city in 1991.

The single-file Chase Woods Trail is open to all walkers, runners and cross-country skiers. But no one may stray from the course, as the land on both sides remains private property. While bicycles are allowed, motorized vehicles are banned. So is littering and removing the vegetation.

Aruffo is so enthusiastic about Chase Woods Trail and the close-up look at nature it offers residents that he says he'll be happy to give a guided tour of the path to anyone who wishes, especially school and youth groups. He can be contacted at 349-9136.

"It's like a symphony that's unfolding. What you see this week will be changed next week," he added.

Along with the others mentioned earlier, volunteers who helped put this segment of the project together are City Forester Chris Pargoff, Bob Pelky, Richard Alexander, Glen Mark and Jason Bonaventura, Fred Hawkins, Dave Walch, Walt and Brent Jenkins and Ray, Kevin and Steve Mitzel.

Our Opinion

Decision to delay fits school circumstances

Few policy decisions are painless and all but the most inconsequential involve some type of compromise. The thing to do is to set the positive and negative arguments on opposite ends of the balance, then go with the side in whose direction the scale tilts, in spite of the acknowledged drawbacks.

We believe this is what the Northville Board of Education did Monday when it voted to mothball Thornton Creek Elementary for at least one year.

While the preference would have been to open the brand new building and provide more than enough classroom space for the school district's grade school children, the financial uncertainties are just too great at this time. First year costs, including start-up and fixed expenses, have been pegged at $878,000, and the revenue picture is too murky to permit the allocation of those funds.

One of the great flaws of Proposal A, the statewide property tax cut/sales tax increase referendum, is its timing. The June 2 election date could hardly have been worse for Michigan's school districts, most of which begin their fiscal year on July 1 and spend much of the spring planning their projected budgets.

The election has prompted school officials to tear at their hair in frustration when trying to gauge anticipated revenues. Everything hinges on the outcome of the vote, and the uncertainty has turned the planning process, difficult even under normal circumstances, into a virtual nightmare.

The situation is especially difficult in Northville where the school district has just entered contract negotiations with its bargaining units, including the teachers. The fact that the terms of the labor agreements are still undecided throws yet another unknown into the equation and makes financial planning all that much more complicated.

The problems have forced Northville school officials to place two millage requests on the June 14 ballot — one will be moot after Michigan voters decide on Proposal A, but the final ballot language had to be in place long before the June 2 statewide election date.

Northville school officials have outlined no fewer than five potential scenarios that could result from the decisions that will be made on June 2 and 14. The variety of possible outcomes has confused even the experts, to say nothing of the voters. How much more sensible a November vote on Proposal A would have been!

And as if there wasn't enough to think about, legislation is being prepared that could accomplish some of Proposal A's objectives in the event the referendum fails. In a move that's reminiscent of what happened when voters rejected auto insurance reform only to see lawmakers pass a measure with much the same intent, bills are advancing through the Legislature that could impact property taxes and, thus, school revenues.

The bills under consideration would cut or cap property taxes and force schools to bear a greater responsibility for retirement benefits and social security payroll taxes.

We believe, given the uncertain state of the district's finances, that the decision to delay opening Thornton Creek was a sound one. Student population projections indicate that an additional three classrooms will be needed at the elementary level in 1993-94 and, while finding space in the existing four buildings will involve some sacrifice, provisions can be made to accommodate the additional children.

Sparting the district the major expense of opening Thornton Creek will improve the chances that, once the smoke clears, the district will be in a position to rehire almost 17 full-time equivalent positions and lower teacher-to-student ratios. It will also allow more time to redraw school attendance boundary lines, an issue that was in danger of being compromised through a rushed decision.

The Northville Board of Education's move to delay the opening of the new school was a timely one, even if the state Legislature's decision to place a major property tax reform measure before the electorate in June was not.

Totten's death is deeply felt

Each of us will recall longtime local activist David Totten in his or her own way.

Totten, who died following hours of surgery in Ann Arbor last Thursday, left his mark on too many people to generalize about how he will be remembered.

Totten, 68, moved to Northville in 1976 and quickly began working his way into the fabric of the community. He joined the Cabbage-town Residents Association shortly after its inception and, in 1987, helped found Concerned Residents of Northville, a watchdog group dedicated to representing local homeowners' concerns in the face of outside development and other threats to their way of life.

"You can bring people around and challenge their feelings or challenge their anger and fears, and I think that's good," he said once while discussing the importance of citizen's groups like Concerned Residents.

He was a voice of reason during his nine-year tenure on the city's planning commission, listening to applicants' concerns and occasionally rising to the commission's defense in the face of hostile residents when no other commissioners dared.

He spoke calmly at those times, turning even the most belligerent speaker into a grudging admirer, if not of the commission's position, then of his candor in explaining it. And he'd be the first one to stroll off the podium and into the crowd at the end of the meeting to make sure there were no hard feelings.

He told the council once, while seeking appointment to a vacant council seat in 1992, "I think everybody needs to be Henry Kissinger. Kissinger had his faults, but he certainly could get an agreement."

That was Totten's strength too, bringing opposing sides together and getting them to listen to each other's point of view, if not to actually agree.

My fondest memories of Dave are of seeing him amble around town in his coat and beret, stopping to chat and debate the latest issue of concern with an inexperienced reporter.

But he sometimes seemed hesitant when seeking press coverage of an upcoming event, such as a feature on the five-year anniversary of Concerned Residents of Northville. He seemed almost defensive when discussing the idea with me, as though he did not expect me to care about the idea as much as him.

I cared, Dave. You made me care.

In explaining Concerned Residents' role to me then, he said, "We try to hold the line."

It's up to others to hold the line now, not just in Concerned Residents or on the planning commission, but wherever local citizens are looking for a person to lend them an ear and speak on their behalf.

Steve Kellman is a staff writer for The Northville Record.

Future is knocking at door

Just the mention of these seven little words made chills run up my spine. Merely reading them off the press release made my head spin. I began to hyperventilate a bit and drool uncontrollably.

And no, the phrase did not include the word "sex."

The seven little words I'm talking about were "high resolution active matrix liquid crystal displays."

"Do you know what that means?" I asked the reporter who was working on the story. Not waiting for an answer, I continued "I'm not sure, but I think what they are talking about here is flat television."

Staff writer Sharon Condon wasn't as awestruck by the possibility as I was, even though she was the one putting together the story about Optical Imaging Systems' proposed $100 million plant in Northville Township to make these screens.

You see, I can remember back 20 years to the time when the futurists were dreaming about flat TV. "Can you imagine a television as big as a movie screen and flat enough to hang on your wall like a painting?" the futurists asked.

The futurists are now dreaming of even fancier technology, but flat TV is almost here... literally here, in the Northville area. OIS officer Peter Walters confirmed before the Northville school board that "flat TV" is exactly what he's talking about.

OIS will produce these screens under a government contract for use as display panels in military and commercial aircraft, but it has also teamed up with the University of Michigan to see if spin-offs can be developed.

Of course they can and they will. And it doesn't take much to figure out that flat TV screens will do to the old tube-based televisions what cassette tapes did to eight-tracks, and what CDs are doing right now to vinyl.

That of course should be viewed as good news for the Northville-area economy. The idea that our area could become a center for production of a new technology with such a huge potential market should get a warm reception here.

That's why I was torn when I heard the Novi City Council refused to approve Guardian Industries' request for a tax abatement to move its headquarters from Novi to Auburn Hills. Guardian owns OIS, and with the prospect of the new plant coming here, I think we — all of us in this area — should be very, very nice to these people.

Rather than debating the question of whether OIS should get an abatement in Northville Township or if Guardian should get one in Auburn Hills, we should be begging them to do what they can to bring other facilities here to make those spin-off products.

I also found it maddening that some in this area began waving around a clipping from the Free Press. The Free Press summarized a Business Week article in which "unnamed sources" complained about the government contract with OIS. It seems these unnamed sources felt it was a bad decision too because Japanese firms like Sharp and Toshiba have been working on flat TV screens of their own, and they don't think little OIS can compete with such corporate giants.

That line of thinking makes no sense to me. It is kind of like saying the Detroit Lions shouldn't put together a team for this fall because the Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers are already hard at work putting together teams of their own. These are probably the same folks who go running to the federal government every now and again to beg for trade barriers against Japan.

Well, no wonder we have to look to the government to fix our trade problems if we aren't smart enough to spot a good opportunity when it comes knocking at our door.

I wonder if 20 years ago there was anybody in Japan arguing that its little companies shouldn't get into the market because there were so many big American companies already producing automobiles.

Reader comments on Proposal A

(Editor's note: Now that the June 14 Northville school board election is approaching, the Northville Record's special letters to the editor policy is in effect. The policy is as follows: Personal letters of endorsement of candidates will not be published. Letters from the candidates, provided they are issues oriented, will be published until June 3; after that date, no letters from candidates will be accepted. The Record will not accept letters to the editor after June 3 that open up new issues. Only responses to already published issues will be accepted, with the newspaper being the final arbiter.)

To the Editor:

The state legislature is playing the tax shift shell game again. Another attempt to raise the state sales tax is on the June 2, 1993, ballot. This time the carrot on the stick is a touted but questionable reduction in property taxes. The result will be the shifting of taxing and spending power to Lansing and away from local community members.

The threat of rapidly increasing property assessments is the deceptive club that the legislature is using to promote acceptance of more sales tax. Never mentioned is the fact that for 15 years, the Headlee Amendment has protected us by requiring that the millage be rolled back so that actual tax dollars can only increase at the rate of inflation.

We now have three large, obvious and obnoxious taxes: federal income taxes, state income taxes and property taxes. We see and feel these taxes every time we pay them. The sales tax is one of the hidden taxes because a small amount is tacked onto every purchase we make and we accept it as the daily fact of life.

We do not need more hidden taxes to increase our cost of living. We need to eliminate hidden taxes and keep the taxation process out in the open where we can object loudly every time we are forced to give up our income for the bureaucracy to waste. The control of our taxes is the only way we can keep bureaucrats in line.

We have only two taxes that we as taxpayers can control. The state sales tax is one. The other is the school tax. We need only to hold our school boards responsible for the spending of our money by refusing to vote for tax increases. The system is not broken — we don't need to fix it. We need only to hold down our school taxes at the ballot box by voting against millage increases. We are going to vote against Proposal A sales tax increase because we want to keep what little control that we have over the Robin Hood tax-and-spend practices of the bureaucrats.

Vote casts doubt on credibility

To the Editor:

The Northville Board of Education has indicated that the June 14 school election may include one request to "renew" 22.63 mills. This appears to be another attempt to deceive the taxpayers and certainly casts more doubt on the credibility of the school board.

Phil Power

Reform efforts must be pressed

Sometimes two entirely unrelated events coincide in a way that provides new insight on both.

So it was last week: President Clinton rolled out his political reform package, and inside Michigan Politics newsletter published its second survey ranking Lansing lobbyists.

The national proposal would provide partial public funding for congressional races, now overwhelmingly funded by PACs, and limit the financial influence of lobbyists for special interests.

Democratic U.S. Reps. Bill Ford of Ypsilanti, Sander Levin of Southfield and Dale Kildee of Flint, said they supported the legislation and expected it to pass. Opposed were Democrat Bob Carr of East Lansing, who said he was adamantly against any taxpayer subsidy for elections, and Republican Joe Knollenberg of Birmingham, who wanted a certain percentage of campaign funding to come from constituents.

The IMP survey was mostly Lansing insider stuff about which lobbyists had the highest Past published numbers would indicate that inflation has been 3 percent while property assessments have increased 9 percent in Nov. The Headlee Amendment would require that the 22.63 mills in effect last year must be rolled back about 21 true renewal mills.

Mr. Dick Brown of the school board advised me that the calculated reduction under the Headlee Amendment should be about 1.05 mills leaving 21.58 as the true renewal millage. Failure to recognize the reduction amounting of 1.05 mills appears to be just another sneaky attempt to increase our school taxes and pay for more excessive salary increases.

Here is another example of a disguised tax increase as indicated in Phil Jerome's editorial a few weeks ago. We would hope that Phil and The Northville Record/Novi News will pursue this point and tell the public the real facts.

We will certainly vote against the tax increase that is being disguised as a "renewal" of 22.63 mills.

The downtown is harder to afford

To the Editor:

Coming home from college for the summer means looking for a summer job, realizing you brought more stuff home than you remember bringing to school, and making the haircut and dentist appointments you couldn't while away at school.

Upon returning home, I completed all my "chores" but one. Only the haircut remained, and I set out to accomplish it. Passing through downtown Northville this fine sunny morning brought back memories of high school and of times spent walking through our beautiful city. I was reminded why I felt proud to tell my college friends that I came from Northville. They knew Northville was an old-fashioned town holding onto its past, lined with Victorian houses and small family-run stores. Northville was different, they said, because it preserved its heritage by not letting present trends take precedent. Northville cared about its future and how it looked in people's eyes.

Smiling, I parked and walked into the hair salon. I said hello to the three ladies that run the salon and took a seat by the front window to wait my turn. I looked at their window display, because it is always beautifully decorated, and was shocked. Instead of teddy bears, homemade crafts and precious dolls, the display was bare except for a lone black streamer across the window and a letter mounted on a black posterboard. Dumbfounded I read the letter.

"Death Notice:

"March 20, 1993. Hairitage Center Salon was diagnosed with terminal illness known as eviction. The prognosis was grim: The date of death is to be June 1, 1993. Hairitage center salon seeks treatment to no avail. It was further attacked with the gems of greed, and no compassion for fellow men.

"A cure was unattainable due to lack of affordable treatment. Hairitage Center Salon will pass away from these premises on May 29, 1993. It leaves behind its faithful customers and friends, and wants it known it bears no grudge against anyone. Hairitage Center Salon wishes to extend a heartfelt thanks for the patronage these past 10 years as well as all the prayers and concerns shown during its final illness.

"It closes graciously!"

Thoroughly confused, I asked the lady who always cuts my hair to please explain. HCS has been a successful business for 10 years and the building has been a hair salon for over 50 years. Unexpectedly, for no apparent reason and without explanation, their landlord gave them a letter of eviction. Making matters worse, they were expected to be out in less than two and a half months. And the question is why. HCS serves a very important part of Northville: the elderly community. HCS has extremely reasonable rates and is within walking distance for many of the elderly ladies that keep HCS in business. Without HCS, where are they to turn?

Equally important is the answer to the question of why. Northville has a great image, and now the leaders of it see dollar signs in front of their eyes. They would like to kick out the family-run business and bring in more profitable stores. They know that the Northville name will bring them the money they are looking for. They have slowly been implementing this scheme for a while. The 5 and 10 store is gone along with Black's Hardware. The Main Center came along with yet another jewelry store, and another bike store came to town. How many bike and jewelry stores does a small town need?

The point is I, along with many others, can hardly afford to shop in Northville anymore. They are targeting the wealthier people that will pay $50 for a haircut at Extravagant Ashley's Beauty Salon. Whatever happened to the old Northville image? Is it changing to fit the new generation of Northvillites? If it is, it's too bad because it's forgetting about the people that made Northville what a great city it once was.

Has letters policy changed?

To the Editor:

When and why did this policy change? While attending a chamber meeting to hear the state of the community and new school board candidates, I was informed that The Record would no longer be printing letters to the editor endorsing candidates. It was suggested that an ad would be more appropriate.

When and why did this policy change? The citizens of our community use the Record as a forum to express their views and endorsements for issues that affect the community. This has always included opinions on tax proposals, millage and political school board candidates. Endorsements have many times helped the voter decision process. It's important to see who supports which issues and candidates when deciding how to vote.

This new, or newly enforced, policy would certainly be a disappointment to the readers of the Record. Let me ask, what forum do we use to refute or disagree with a Northville Record endorsement for a candidate or proposal?

The Record is a small town newspaper that is for the community to share. Please let us continue to share our thoughts.

Sexual harassment policy given the OK by Novi board of ed.

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

The Novi Community School District has a new sexual harassment policy which governs behavior among students, and among students and employees.

The board of education approved the policy at its May 6 meeting. A policy which addresses employee-employee sexual harassment received board approval on Jan. 21.

The policy defines sexual harassment, details how district officials will investigate charges of harassment and what penalties are involved when a student or employee is found guilty of such behavior. Its passage caps more than eight months of work by district officials.

Two issues were the subject of attention at the meeting. Board members questioned whether the policy's wording (1) gave tacit approval to consensual sexual conduct between students and (2) adequately protected the rights and reputation of those accused of sexual harassment.

The first question arose from the policy's definition of sexual harassment. It says that sexual harassment can be "unwelcome sexual advances, a request for sexual favors or other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature" that creates a hostile environment for the student.

The board had a protracted discussion about whether the word "unwelcome" should be left in the policy that governed student-student sexual harassment. Some board members said that leaving the word in could be interpreted as approval of consensual sexual behavior between students—in other words, that "welcome sexual advances" were acceptable.

The board decided that the word "unwelcome" would be left in the student-student policy, and would be changed to "any" in the policy governing behavior between a student and an employee.

Members said that their decision was not an endorsement of sexual behavior between students.

"This policy is about sexual harassment, not sexual conduct," Secretary John Streit said. "We're not condoning anything by adopting it."

"You're setting a policy here," concurred Superintendent of Schools

Emmett Lippe. "You're not making a judgment (about sexual conduct), you're defining the grounds for a complaint and how it will be investigated."

The second matter — protecting the confidentiality of the accused — revolved largely around if and when district officials should report sexual harassment complaints to law enforcement officials.

Both the student-student and student-employee policies say that "information and direction from law enforcement officials will be solicited to help determine initially if there is potential for criminal sexual conduct charges."

Trustee Robert Schram said he was concerned that the language requires officials to call the police at the earliest stages of a complaint — regardless of the evidence that harassment had taken place, or of the severity of any such harassment.

The effect, he said, could be to ruin the reputation of someone falsely accused of sexual harassment.

Assistant Superintendent for Human Resources John Swallow, the district's pointman in developing the policy, said that its guidelines guarded against such a possibility as best it could. Officials "are given latitude" to decide when it's the right time to contact authorities, he said.

Trustee Michael Meyer said that the board should review the new policy on a regular basis to ensure that both accuser and accused are given fair treatment.

"We want to make sure this (policy) protects the reputations of the innocent," he said, "and still affords the victims of sexual harassment the full support and protection of this board."

Board members also criticized The Novi News for two editorials which said that they haven't adequately protected district students from sexual harassment. The board, the editorials said, should have passed a policy governing the behavior before now.

Schram said that the district has long had rules in place which prohibited such behavior.

"This policy only formalizes our (existing) policies," Schram said. "We have not had unprotected students before this policy came about."

Novi band plans annual bottle and can collection

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

With apologies to Ernest Hemingway, ask not for whom the cans and bottles clink. They clink for the Novi High School Band Boosters.

It's that time again: the Wildcat band backers will hold their semi-annual bottle and can collection drive this Saturday (May 22). Band members, parents and supporters will fan out over the Novi Community School District, seeking donations of returnable bottles and cans.

The event is an important band fund-raiser. Proceeds will support band programs throughout the year.

If you want to make a donation, bag up your bottles and cans, attach the orange label included in the last issue of The Novi News and leave the bag at the curb by 10 a.m. Saturday. Band supporters will be picking them up.

Band boosters will also be going door-to-door for bottle and can donations. You can save time by having yours ready by the door.

There will be no pickups from apartments or trailer parks. The boosters encourage residents of those areas to drop off their returnables at a special collection center located behind the Farmer Jack supermarket at Ten Mile and Meadowbrook roads. Farmer Jack has assisted the band boosters in past bottle and can drives as well as this one. Donations can be dropped off most of the day Saturday.

Novi board gets tough with harassment policy

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

The language of the Novi Community School District's new sexual harassment policy is strong—members of the board of education said that it's intended to be.

The policy addresses sexual harassment between district students and between students and employees or volunteers. It defines sexual harassment, details how officials will investigate charges of it and what penalties are involved if someone is found guilty.

Students and employees, the policy's preamble reads, "are entitled to enjoy a school environment, including both curricular and extra-curricular functions and activities, that is free from sex discrimination and sexual insult, intimidation and harassment."

Sexual harassment, the policy says, can be sexual advances, a request for sexual favors or other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature where:

■ "submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of a student's educational, curricular or extra-curricular, development and/or it interferes with a student's enjoyment of any educational right, curricular or extra-curricular, privilege, advan-

lage or opportunity;

■ submission to or rejection of such conduct by a student is used as the basis for educational, curricular or extra-curricular, decisions affecting the student;

■ such conduct has the purpose or effect of interfering with a student's educational, curricular or extra-curricular, performance or creating an intimidating, hostile or offensive educational, curricular or co-curricular, environment."

Examples of sexual harassment, the policy says, may include:

■ "unwelcome teasing, jokes, remarks and questions, deliberate touching, grabbing, brushing against the body, constant leering or ogling, fondling, patting and pinching, kissing, exposing oneself, whispering, or touching oneself sexually; ■ letters, telephone calls, or materials of sexual nature, graffiti, or indecent propositions; ■ pressure and/or requests for sexual favors; ■ sexual assault and rape."

A student who believes that he or she suffered sexual harassment from another student or a district employee should report the incident to the school principal, the policy says. "Information and direction from law enforcement officials will be solicited to help determine initially if there is potential for criminal sexual conduct charges," the policy reads.

In the case of a student-student charge, the principal will interview the accused, the policy says, and any witnesses. Every effort will be made to keep the identity of those involved confidential, it adds.

The principal will decide when it's appropriate to contact the parents of the students involved as well, and will make a decision as to whether the complaint has merit.

If the principal decides it doesn't, he or she will inform the parties in-involved, and put the information about the complaint in a confidential file.

If the principal decides that the complaint does have merit, he or she will confer with the district's assistant superintendent for human resources to decide what to do, the policy reads.

"Appropriate disciplinary measures will be imposed," it continues, and the information about the complaint will be kept in a confidential file.

In the case of a student-employee/volunteer harassment, the policy says that the school principal will interview the complainant and any witnesses.

The principal will consult with the assistant superintendent to decide how to proceed, the policy says. The assistant superintendent may decide to direct the investigation at this point, and ensure that the accused is interviewed. He or she will determine the most appropriate point to inform the complainant student's parents, it says, and decide if the complaint has merit.

Appropriate disciplinary action will be taken, it says, if charges of sexual harassment are found to have merit.

Local earns recognition as a peer active leader

Karen Baird of Northville recently received a certificate of recognition for her participation in Adrian College's Peer Active Leaders (PALs) program. PALs was recently given an honorable mention by the Michigan Consortium on Substance Abuse Education (MCSAE) for its efforts in educating the campus community concerning the detrimental effects of substance abuse. Student athletes make up PALs and each varsity team from Adrian is represented.

The purpose of PALs is to educate its members on the effects of substance abuse and how to make healthy decisions. The members then seek to communicate that information to their campus peers through both formal programming and interpersonal interaction. Topics the group covered this year include substance abuse and how it affects the athlete (including steroid use), how to deal with a friend demonstrating a pattern of heavy drinking, the ill effects of mixing sex and alcohol, illicit drug use and the spread of HIV and hepatitis B.

In addition to the MCSAE recognition, PALs was selected for the second time to attend the NCAA substance abuse conference held annually at the University of Virginia.

Baird is a senior at Adrian.

COOKE MIDDLE SCHOOL

Another school year is drawing to a close and we would like to express our appreciation to the staff and administration of Cooke for the excellence of their work and dedication.

In preparation for their transition to Northville High School, the eighth grade students are presently campaigning to become freshmen delegates in the Northville High School student congress. Five delegates will be chosen in the election May 24.

Eighth graders will get another view of the high school during their lunch period when high school cheerleaders will demonstrate their cheerleading skills.

Springtime is track time and Northville is hosting the Liv-Oak track meet at the Northville High School track June 3. The Cooke Middle School and Meads Mill Middle School PTAs will be jointly running the concession stand for this event.

Cooke hosted the Liv-Oak computer workshop May 4. Representing Cooke were Brad Lightfoot, Heidi Williams, Danean Pazdan and Erick Marold.

On May 19, Meads Mills hosted a Liv-Oak math competition. Our representatives at this competition were Holly Dunny, Karen Loeffler, David Handley, Alex Fleming, Catie Mandas, Matt Carroll, Sara Arndt, Steve Traicoff, Crysta Dornick, Warren Lin, Sara Cooley, Beth Handley, Wendy Tao, David Craig and Keith DePoorter.

Five of our Cooke students were recognized by The Detroit Free Press Writing Contest. Receiving the award of excellence for poetry were Whitney Anolick and Jacqueline Moore. Sara Cooley received an award of excellence for her sketch. Receiving honorable mentions for their sketches were Kristy Green and Caroline Mason.

Also with spring comes our annual band concert, "Music Under The Stars." Everyone is welcome at 7 p.m. May 27.

We are welcoming our new sixth grade students with a parent orientation May 25.

Rounding out their three years at Cooke, the eighth graders are going to participate in a Civil War camp put on by historian Michael Deren, always an enjoyable and educational experience.

This year's honor's night will be held at 7:30 p.m. June 10.

And last, but certainly not least, the eighth grade students at Meads Mill and Cooke will have an end-of-the-year dance at Meads Mill June 17, the last day of school, from 7-9 p.m.

Have a safe and wonderful summer and we hope to see many of you at our PTSA meetings.

—Arlene Kurzman

Wedding

Peter and Heather Colangelo

Heather McKnight of Philadelphia, the daughter of William and Edith McKnight of Northville, and Peter Joseph Colangelo of Philadelphia, the son of Peter and Pat Colangelo of New Jersey were joined in a double ring ceremony Jan. 16 at Old Pine Street Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia. The Rev. Tom Torosian officiated.

Heather wore her mother's princess-style wedding gown of white taffeta trimmed in white lace with an empire waist. She carried a bouquet of peach and white roses with ivy and baby's breath.

Julie Beall of Midland, Heather's college roommate, was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Ann McKnight, sister-in-law of the bride; and Beth Morelli of Northville, friend of the bride. They wore dark green floor length taffeta gowns and carried bouquets of roses in shades of deeper peach.

Perry Colangelo, brother of the groom, was the best man with ushers James McKnight, brother of the bride, and Joseph Colangelo, cousin of the groom. Young cousins of the bride and groom were the flower girls and ring bearers.

A reception for 190 guests was held at the Society Hill Sheraton. Twelve states were represented. The two honeymooned in New Orleans.

Heather is a 1982 graduate of Northville High School and received her bachelor's degree from Albion College. She went on to earn her bachelor of science-nursing from the University of Pennsylvania and is currently working as a nurse at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia.

Peter is a graduate of Rutgers University and is teaching English and writing for adult education. He is also a jazz bassist.

The couple will reside in Philadelphia.

KRISTA SCHWARTZ of Northville received her degree from Northern Michigan University with 637 others at the commencement ceremonies May 1. She was presented with a bachelor's degree in public relations.

JENNIFER COUZENS of Northville volunteered in a tutoring program at Centre College called L.I.F.T. (Learning Is Fun Together). Couzens is the daughter of Jack and Susan Couzens of Northville. The 1991 graduate of Northville High School is a transfer student from the University of Kentucky.

L.I.F.T., now in its third year, is designed for at-risk fourth and fifth graders in the Danville/Boyle County area. The current six-week session focuses on Native American culture. Students are reading the book Brother Eagle, Sister Sky, making cultural masks and necklaces, and investigating stereotypes about Native Americans.

A $50,000 three-year grant from the 3-M Vision Program funds L.I.F.T. The program received a certificate of merit expressing thanks for commitment to community service from former President George Bush's Points of Light Program.

PAUL D. WARNER, a Hope College junior from Northville, received the Russell J. Kraay Award in Computer Science during the annual Honors Convocation held on April 29.

This annual cash award is funded by Dr. Russell J. Kraay and given to two sophomore or junior students who, in the judgment of the computer science faculty, have demonstrated excellence in the field of computer science.

ELIZABETH D. CAMPBELL of Northville, senior at Albion College, was elected to the Michigan Beta chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, the oldest national honorary scholastic society.

Students are elected each year by active members of Phi Beta Kappa based on their ability to meet high academic and curricular requirements. Members are usually seniors who have attained at least a 3.5 grade point average in liberal arts.

Phi Beta Kappa was founded in 1776. The chapter at Albion was founded in 1940 and was the first chapter at a private, liberal arts college.

Campbell, a French and geology major, is a 1989 graduate of Northville High School. She is the daughter of Keith and Nancy Campbell of Northville.

DARIN MORENCY of Northville, freshman at Albion College, pledged the Omega chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Tau Kappa Epsilon is a national Greek organization for men. The chapter came to Albion's campus in 1927. Fraternities at Albion offer many leadership opportunities and involvement in student life.

Morency, a 1992 graduate of Northville High School is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morency of Northville.

AMANDA PARKE of Northville, sophomore at Albion College, was recently inducted into the college's chapter of Mortar Board.

She was also one of 15 students to receive the Bernard T. Lomas Project 250 award at this year's Honors Convocation.

Mortar Board, a national honorary, was established at Albion in 1941 to honor women who have been outstanding in scholarship, leadership and service. In 1976, the Albion chapter voted to make its membership open to both women and men.

The Project 250 Awards are given to Albion College students who have made significant contributions to the campus community and who are classified as freshmen, sophomores, or juniors at the time each is a candidate. The cash award is named after former Albion College President Bernard T. Lomas, who served from 1970-1983.

Parke, a history and mathematics major, is a 1991 graduate of Northville High School. She is the daughter of Geary and Marilyn Parke of Northville.

MATTHEW W. SEMEYN of Northville, received his bachelor's degree in business at Miami University, Ohio.

ANUJA DEO and CHRIS KOBET, both of Northville, are among 11 middle school Detroit Country Day students to receive first place awards at the Metro Science Fair. For the seventh straight year, Detroit Country Day students swept both Grand Awards in their division as well as numerous first place awards.

PARAG J. PARIKH and JULIE L. SWIESLER, both of Northville, received National Merit Scholarships of $2,000. Recipients of the award were chosen by a committee of college admissions officers and secondary school counselors who evaluated a substantial amount of information collected from all finalists and their high schools. Considered in the selection process were each finalist's academic record, scores from two tests, significant contributions to the school and community, the student's personal interests and goals, as well as the recommendation of the finalist's high school principal.

MICHAEL DEERING of Northville was awarded the Regents Scholarship from Eastern Michigan University. The university awarded the scholarships to 297 students. To qualify for the $8,000 award, students must have earned a minimum of 3.5 high school grade point and scored 29 on the American College Test or the Scholastic Aptitude Test.

The scholarship provides each student with an annual award of $2,000 which is automatically renewed provided the student maintains a minimum 3.5 GPA at EMU and completes 15 credit hours per semester. Regents Housing Scholarships also carry the requirement that students live in University residents halls during the first two years.

JUSTIN ATKINS of Northville was among the Alma College students graduating with honors at the college's 1993 commencement April 24.

A biology major who received a bachelor's degree, Atkins graduated magna cum laude.

Double serving of comedy

Everybody's a comedian. Or at least wants to be.

But forget amateur hour. You can see the real pros in action this weekend at Northville's "Little Theater On Main."

On stage May 21 and May 22 will be Don Tersigni and Bill Bauer.

A runner-up on Jay Leno's Comedy Challenge, Tersigni's an impressionist who has worked with some of the biggest names in industry, including Judy Tenuta, Pam Stone and Gilbert Godfrey. He's been the opening act for Louie Anderson. Locally, he was featured at Detroit's Comic Relief V.

Bauer has appeared on Evening at the Improv and Into the Night with Rick Dees. A Detroit native, he has traveled all over the United States bringing audiences his observational comedy and outrageous stories on everything from Disneyland to Bill Knapp's restaurants.

His credits include the Tonight Show with Jay Leno and Late Night with David Letterman. That is, Bauer watches the television programs — he hasn't been on them, yet.

You can go for the full evening's worth of entertainment by having the renowned seven-course family-style dinner at Genitti's Hole-In-The-Wall and then move next door for the show. It's $29.95 per person for the entire package.

Dinner is served Friday at 7 p.m. and the show's at 9 p.m. On Saturday, dinner is at 6:30 p.m. and showtime's at 8:30 p.m.

Or you can opt for the comedy show only for $10 per person. For the stand-up alone, performances begin at 10:30 p.m.

Genitti's Hole-In-The-Wall is located at 108 East Main Street, adjacent to the Little Theater on the Main.

For reservations, call 349-0522.

If comedy's not your thing, tune into the Soap Opera Murders at Genitti's. Tickets at $29.95 include the dinner and a chance to see, and maybe take a role in, the mystery play The Tears of Our Lives.

Live, from Idaho, The Showtime Company

'Wonderful World' Showtime's onstage in Novi

Take your family to an evening of live theater and pay less than the cost of a movie matinee.

Showtime Company from Ricks College in Rexburg, Idaho is bringing its musical revue "Wonderful World" to the Novi High School Auditorium on May 22 at 7:30 p.m.

Backed up with a nine-piece orchestra, the 13 singers and dancers will perform Broadway, movie and popular music.

Showtime is directed and produced by Russell Bice, former director of entertainment at USO World

Headquarters. Wilson Brown, former keyboardist, conductor and arranger for "The Letterman," is in charge of musical direction.

The production of "Wonderful World" will take the audience on a musical tour of the most memorable moments in a person's life. Childhood is recalled by selections from Disney's Beauty and The Beast and Aladdin.

Romantic moments dip into works by Billy Joel, including "For The Longest Time," as well as Natalie Cole's "Orange Colored Sky."

The not-so-wonderful side of the world is depicted, too; specifically, prison life as it appears in songs such as "Jailhouse Rock," as well as music from West Side Story.

Ticket price at the door is $4 per person or $10 for an entire family. Showtime is currently on a five-week tour through 14 states and Canada.

Sponsoring the event is the Westland Stake of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints.

'This Boy's Life' twists traditional virtues

By JOHN MONAGHAN
Special Writer

"This Boy's Life," based on the autobiography of Tobias Wolff, twists the traditional Boy Scout virtues of honesty, thrift and obedience into a living hell for a teenager growing up in the 1950s.

The mountain vistas and a playful Sinatra singalong (not to mention the film's evocative title) hint at a happy-go-lucky old man with mother and son in a clunky old Nash. Then the narrator says, "When my mom got beat up by her boyfriend, we lit out for the uranium fields of Utah," and we know we're in for a rocky ride.

After a year of trying their luck in Salt Lake City, Toby (Leonard DeCaprio) and his mother Caroline (Ellen Barkin) hop a bus for Seattle and yet another in a series of new horizons. When Caroline eventually ends up in the middle of nowhere married to an abusive mechanic (Robert DeNiro), she admits, "I've run out of fresh starts."

The movie might use a bit of literary license when Caroline stretches her independence by getting involved with the Kennedy campaign, but the always-watchable Barkin plays a believable woman who tries desperately to keep her sunny side up. When it comes to clashes between Toby and Dwight, she "won't play referee."

While DeCaprio is also quite convincing as the trouble teenager, the move revolves around DeNiro's rock-solid performance. This is no "Cape Fear," and his Dwight is no ordinary psycho. He's cloddily charming at first, wooing Caroline with flowers and compliments.

And at first you might think he's doing right by Toby, who does lack discipline and is well on the way to becoming a juvenile delinquent.

He gets Toby a paper route and enlists him in the Scouts, complete with a subscription to a "Boy's Life"-type magazine. He insists that the teenager attend both church and school regularly and learn how to protect himself in a fight.

But Dwight also keeps the money Toby earns (he's saving it for something important when Toby really needs it) and beats the boy to a pulp for minor offenses like failing to scrape the sides of an empty mustard jar. Dwight grows violently jealous when he thinks someone has shown him up, which Toby does when he dreams of a life beyond Cement, Wash.

The movie is not all doom and gloom. Some of it's funny. The terminally square Dwight tells stupid jokes and uses irritating phrases like "shut your pipe hole." He's a lousy father, lover, saxophone player, sharpshooter and mechanic. His pig-headed inability to realize this makes him strangely sympathetic.

The only simple nostalgic pleasure comes through the sound track, which resurrects gutsy rock 'n' roll classics like "Real Wild Child," "Summertime Blues" and "I'm Not a Juvenile Delinquent."

Michael Caton-Jones, the Scottish-born director of "Scandal" and "Doc Hollywood," and scriptwriter Robert Getchell have reportedly retained the flavor of Wolff's 1989 novel. The use of wide screen, though not incredibly inventive here, does contrast nicely with the confines of Dwight's dumpy oppressive house.

The darkness behind "This Boy's Life" will make it unpopular with some. Heartfelt and uncompromising, it's a kick in the teeth to mindless nostalgia usually packaged for Baby Boomers.

Q: Years ago my daughter collected butterfly specimens for a school project. Ever since she has maintained an intense interest in them. Where can we visit to see and learn more about these colorful flying creatures?

A: The Anheuser-Busch Theme Park in Cypress Gardens, Fla., recently opened a new butterfly conservatory called "Wings of Wonder."

Visitors to "Wings of Wonder" are surrounded by 500 to 1,000 free-flying, brightly colored butterflies representing 50 species from places such as the Philippines, Malaysia, Costa Rica and Honduras, as well as Florida.

The Victorian-style glass conservatory is the park's first enclosed, climate-controlled botanical exhibit. An ideal temperature of 80 degrees and 70 percent humidity is maintained year-round.

All butterflies in the conservatory are raised to be on display; none represent endangered species.

Inside the conservatory, three waterfalls — the biggest reaching 18 feet — flow into streams to form large pools.

For those interested in learning about these insects as well as observing them, educational graphics and displays are featured throughout the exhibit.

The conservatory also has two stations that display chrysalides — the cocoons that hold metamorphosing caterpillars — where visitors can actually watch these beautiful creatures come into the world.

A gift shop offers butterfly and gardening information as well as souvenirs.

For more information contact your local travel agent or write to Cypress Gardens, P.O. Box 1, Cypress Gardens, Fla. 33884; or call (813) 324-2111.

Q: Can you recommend a travel company that offers sightseeing tours of exotic destinations by bicycle?

A: There is hardly a more delightful way to see the world than from the seat of a bicycle, pedaling along at a leisurely pace. A biking vacation is guaranteed to melt tension, ease stress, educate and amuse.

Travent International is a luxury European bicycling company that not only organizes great cycling vacations but also creates a healthy framework for whatever experience travelers are after, be it cultural, social or culinary.

Travent boasts a team of friendly, service-oriented tour guides who know the culture and countryside, tune the bikes each morning and plan the itineraries. They will even discreetly ride with pedalers (both along-side in a car and on bike) to ensure they don't get lost.

Bicycling tourists take off and ride around the rolling, scenic countryside, stopping at a market here, a vineyard or church there. Later, they can enjoy a long lunch if they choose. Their only obligation is to meet up with the group at night.

Participants do about 15 miles to 50 miles per day, depending on the tour. Delicious dinners are held each evening at historic villas, castles and inns.

Bicycling with Travent offers great value for those who appreciate traveling in a small, congenial group — about 12 to 16 people — and experiencing a vacation filled with exercise and social interaction.

Travelers can choose from eight-day tours to Venice, Ireland, Denmark and Holland; seven-day trips that combine barging and biking; six-day stays in the Loire Valley in France; or five-day jaunts through the Provence and Burgundy regions of France, and the Swiss Lakes. Tours start at $1,750.

If you're not in shape, Travent will prepare your muscles with their innovative half-price shorter, domestic, "warm-up weekend" trips. For more information call (800) 325-3009.

It's a good time to visit San Juan

Smaller crowds, lower rates make spring a good season to visit Puerto Rico

By SHERRY MARKER
New York Times Travel Syndicate

Spring is always a good time to visit San Juan, but especially this year, with the hoopla of last year's Columbus quinquennial having died down, leaving behind new monuments and museums.

Old San Juan is less crowded with cruise ship day trippers than during the winter, hotel rates begin to drop, and many hotels offer inexpensive summer packages to lure visitors during the slowest months.

Puerto Rico doesn't have extreme seasonal changes, so you may see that quintessential Christmas flower, the poinsettia, blooming and mangoes ripening in the same gardens.

The San Juan Biennial arts festival is now open at El Arsenal, the former Spanish naval station. Culture lovers may want to wait until June to visit, in order to take in the Biennial and the Casals Festival.

There is also the feast of San Juan Bautista (June 18 to 27). On June 23, at beach and poolside picnics and barbecues, everyone washes off the year's sins and ensures good luck by walking backward into the sea (or pool) three times at midnight.

EVENTS

The 10th San Juan Biennial of Latin American Graphics, one of the major art events in the Caribbean, featuring works from 19 Latin American and Caribbean countries, will be held at El Arsenal in Old San Juan through June 30, Wednesday to Sunday 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., (809) 723-2115.

Now through June 30, "Essence and Presence: Arts of Our Tradition," an exhibition of 162 items from Teodoro Vidal's collection of Puerto Rican arts and crafts, is on view at the Banco Popular in Old San Juan.

This is an exhibit to visit and revisit, for the beautifully installed displays of amulets, religious folk art, musical instruments, lace and works by the 18th-century Puerto Rican painter Jose Campeche. Wednesday to Friday, 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Most of San Juan's major concerts take place at the Performing Arts Center (Centro de Bellas Artes) on Ponce de Leon Avenue in Santurce, (809) 725-7334. Tickets may not be available until the week of a performance.

The Puerto Rican Teatro de la Opera will bring Rossini's "Barber of Seville" to the Performing Arts Center on May 16 and 18 at 4 and 8 p.m. Tickets ($30 to $110) are on sale at the Colegio de Abogados building, Stop 11, Ponce de Leon Avenue, (809) 724-6140 or (809) 724-6350.

The Spanish cellist Pablo Casals lived for many years in Puerto Rico, where he founded the Casals Festival in 1957.

This year's festival, with performances throughout the month of June, features the Warsaw Symphony Orchestra (June 5, 9, 10 and 12) and the Puerto Rico Symphony Orchestra (June 12, 17 and 19). Tickets: $15 to $35. Information: (809)

La Princesa, a former jail and restored headquarters of the Puerto Rico Tourism Co., can be found on La Paseo de la Princesa in Old San Juan.

721-7727 or (809) 728-5744.

SIGHTS

Probably the most obvious changes in Old San Juan because of the quinquennial celebrations are the Paseo de la Princesa esplanade below the city walls and the Plaza del Quinto Centenario adjacent to the Plaza San Jose.

But street crime makes the Paseo dangerous by night, and with the fountains turned off because of finances it can be scorching hot by day.

A cooler alternative is the newly reopened shady garden (admission free) of the Casa Blanca (admission $2), the 16th-century home of the family of Ponce de Leon.

It is now the Museum of 16th- and 17th-century Puerto Rican Life and an ethnographic museum. Tuesday through Sunday, 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4:30 p.m.

Two 19th-century buildings restored in honor of the quinquennial face each other just off Quinquennial Square. The Asilo de Beneficencia (Home for the Poor), with several exhibition galleries, is open daily 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., (809) 724-0700. Free.

And the Cuartel de Ballaja (Military Barracks) is the new Museum of the Americas, where several picture and folk art galleries are open. Tuesday through Sunday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., (809) 723-8772. Free.

Old San Juan's two fortresses got two new exhibits in February. At San Cristobal, an 18th-century barracks room has been set up, and El Morro now houses a splendid model of the Santa Maria. Open daily 9 a.m. to 5:15 p.m., (809) 729-6960. Free.

Two ways to see San Juan and also get out of town: The schooner La Esperanza sails from Old San Juan's Plaza de la Darsena for harbor cruises at 2 p.m., 5 p.m. and 8 p.m.

every day except Tuesday and Thursday. Adults, $10; children, $5; (809) 724-5590 or (809) 725-7288.

Hill Aviation, (809) 723-3385, offers charter helicopter service from $250 an hour for one person to $600 for four. The flights can provide an overview of San Juan and a good look at San Cristobal Canyon and the rain forest.

SHOPPING

Even without the Biennial, Old San Juan has a remarkably lively arts scene. Walking along Cristo and San Jose Streets, you could lose count of the galleries.

One of the best-known is the Galeria Botello at 208 Cristo, with works by local artists as well as the Spanish artist Angel Botello and a fine collection of santos (small carved wooden figures of saints).

You'll find modern santos, carnival masks, pottery and the like at Puerto Rican Arts and Crafts at 204 Fortaleza, Old San Juan. And you can still get a Panama hat ($30 to $50) at the Casa Mendez Suarez, which has been at 251 San Justo since 1886, and elaborate flowered Spanish fans ($3.95 and up) at La Nueva Opera, 254 Fortaleza.

Old San Juan also has a heavy concentration of antique stores, like El Alcazar (at 103 San Jose and 109 Sol). Both locations concentrate on 17th- and 18th-century Spanish art and 19th- and 20th-century French bibelots and brocante, and can ship home anything you buy.

The Book Store at 255 San Jose, Old San Juan, has a good selection of English-language books and books on Puerto Rico, and CDs of Puerto Rican danza and salsa music.

WHERE TO STAY

Prices given are for low season, which generally begins after Easter and lasts into fall; high-season rates are at least 20 percent more.

Moderate-priced hotels are rather anonymous and make it tempting either to splurge or economize. Here are two Condado beachfront hotels with pools and full hotel services.

The Ramada Condado, (809) 723-8000, has 99 rooms, with doubles from $130 after April 15.

The Regency, (809) 721-0505, fax (809) 722-2909, with 129 rooms, has doubles from $105 after May 1. The Regency's apartment suites with terraces, at $140 a night after May 1, are an especially good value.

The 10-room Casa San Jose Hotel just off the Plaza de Armas in Old San Juan, (800) 443-0266, (809) 723-1212 or fax (809) 723-7620, opened last year in a restored 1854 town house furnished with antiques. Off-season (April 16 to Nov. 30) interior doubles, from $150.

Budget: You'll know you've reached the tiny San Juan Gallery Inn, 204 Norzagaray, (809) 722-3302, when you see the row of bronze and clay heads lining the window sill beside the gate of a shady garden. There are five guest rooms (doubles from $85), all with air-conditioning, and three suites (from $150) tucked away here in the artist Jan D'Esopo's 18th-century house.

In Ocean Park, which stretches along the beach between the Condado and Isla Verde, the breezy (and air-conditioned) Hosteria del Mar, 1 Tapia St., (809) 727-0631, is the best looking of numerous local guesthouses. Doubles, from $45 after May 15.

Luxury: The Caribe Hilton, (800) 445-8667 or fax (809) 724-6992, and the El San Juan Hotel and Casino, (800) 468-2818 or fax (809) 253-0178, are still the city's two obvious luxury hotels.

Which you choose should probably depend on what you plan to do:

the Caribe Hilton is well situated for visiting San Juan, while the El San Juan, near the airport in Isla Verde, has the larger beach.

The El San Juan has extensive gardens; the Caribe Hilton has a seafront lobby. After May 1, doubles at the El San Juan are priced from $235; doubles at the Caribe Hilton, from $185.

WHERE TO EAT

It's difficult to decide whether Augusto's, Compostela or Ramiro's is the best place for an all-out splurge. All emphasize fresh ingredients, and each makes a nod to light cuisine while respecting the Puerto Rican taste for sweet sauces. Lunch or dinner at one of these is easily $100. (Unless otherwise noted, prices are for two, with wine but not tip.)

Ramiro's, (809) 721-9049, continues to serve beautifully presented Spanish and nouvelle Caribbean food at 1106 Magdalena in the Condado.

But this year's trend-setting place seems to be Compostela, (809) 724-6088, 106 Condado Ave., where 10,000 bottles (from $16 to $600) nestle in the cellars and the varied menu emphasizes Spanish classical and contemporary cuisine. The menu includes loin of lamb with raspberry sauce and an excellent paella for two.

It's a good idea to check what's on the menu at Augusto's in the Hotel Excelsior in Miramar, (809) 725-7700. Guest chefs often offer special menus ranging from Italian to Japanese.

You can't go wrong heading to Recinto Sur Street in Old San Juan, where three moderately priced restaurants ($50 or less) across from the parking garage display window menus. The food is Italian at Al Dente, 309 Recinto Sur, (809) 723-7303, and Spanish at El Telde, 313 Recinto Sur, (809) 723-5369, while Yukyu, 311 Recinto Sur, (809) 721-0653, is the place for sushi.

Both the Condado Metropoli in the Hotel Pierre, (809) 268-3045, and the Isla Verde Metropoli, Route 37, (809) 791-4046, serve large portions of hearty Cuban food with terrific con-gri (black beans prepared with rice).

With delicious take-out baked goods and marvelous caldo gallego (a rich soup of chicken, ham, potatoes and kale), Old San Juan's La Bombonera, 259 San Francisco, (809) 722-0658, is a neighborhood institution. From $20. No reservations.

Two newcomers to Old San Juan are worth remembering. The Bistro Gambaro, 320 Calle Fortaleza, Old San Juan, serves nouvelle California food (lunch, from $20). The Sunday brunch ($10) is an excellent value.

The Cafe Berlin on Plaza Colon is the only place in San Juan where you can save your conscience by washing down Black Forest cake ($2.50) with beet juice ($2.25). No reservations at either.

Take the Dempster Highway to the top of the world

By GENE and ADELE MALOTT
New York Times Travel Syndicate

If you are tired of the same old vacations and are up for an adventure that offers panoramic views of a pristine world, head north — to Canada's Dempster Highway.

This ribbon of gravel ties the civilization of Dawson City in the Yukon Territory to the top of the world: the Arctic Circle and the city of Inuvik in the Northwest Territories.

It's a long drive — 460 miles — from Dawson City to Inuvik, where science-minded organizations regularly launch explorations of the Arctic climate, soil, sea, skies and inhabitants. But it is a journey that will stay in your mind for months, maybe years, teasing you with memories of vast spaces that dwarf Texas and mountain ranges and rivers that give Alaska a real run for her money.

The Dempster is the only public road into the Canadian Arctic. Locals refer to it as the "dusty Dempster," which speaks volumes about the plumes of dust that follow every car and camper along the gravel road.

Many seniors travel the highway in recreational vehicles (RVs). If you do this make sure your vehicle is well-equipped, because there are only three places along the road where RVers can get gas or repairs.

Another option is a five-day bus tour operated by Canada's Rainbow Tours during the summer months.

This trip begins in Whitehorse, in the Yukon Territory, and takes travelers to Dawson City before heading up the Dempster to Eagle Plains and Inuvik.

Visitors to this beautiful area can look a musk-ox in the eye, steep themselves in the rollicking history of gold-rush days and learn about native cultures from the natives.

We toured the Dempster with Rainbow last year in the midst of a surprising summer heat wave, with temperatures in the mid-90s and hungry squadrons of mosquitoes on the prowl.

The mountains were dressed in green velvet with creases of snow where the sun didn't shine. We saw icy creeks glistening in milky sunlight and foggy crowns embracing the mountaintops.

During the drive from Dawson City to Inuvik, we passed the Arctic Circle, crossed the Continental Divide three times, went as high as 4,229 feet (at North Fork Pass in the Ogilvie Mountains) and nearly as low as sea level (at Inuvik on the MacKenzie River delta).

There were plenty of places to stop and explore the wilderness, enjoy a picnic lunch or photograph the sweeping vistas sprinkled with tufts of white cotton grass and hot-pink fireweed.

We marveled at the sun-streaked skies, clear rivers and profusion of wildflowers.

Bruce Chambers, one of our tour guides, described the region's geography, geology, wildlife and flora. "Everything in the north is intense — even the wildflowers," he said.

"They have to germinate, come to flower and reseed, all in a month or less."

After stopping in Dawson City, where gold mining is still a major industry, we took the Dempster Highway to Eagle Plains, the dividing point between the Ogilvie and Richardson mountains. This was also the site of the only motel-style accommodations along the Dempster route. (A limited number of campsites were also available.)

The next day we began our journey to the Arctic Circle, just a half-hour beyond Eagle Plains. As we crossed the "magic line," we filled glasses with champagne and toasted our achievement.

Moving on, our tour bus made its way north to the Peel River Crossing, taking advantage of the free summer ferry service. A second ferry crossing occurred at the MacKenzie River at Arctic Red River. After that we began counting down the kilometers to Inuvik, where the highway ends.

Seniors traveling the Dempster are often surprised — and delighted — by the area's sights. They may spy an eagle in flight or a clump of brave yellow flowers struggling in rocky soil.

They will definitely cover enormous expanses with views void of civilization's trash, wires and poles.

Rainbow's Yukon and Arctic Tours depart Whitehorse every Saturday from June 5 to Aug. 28 and cost $1,098 Canadian (about $900 U.S.) per person based on double occupancy. The price does not include airfare.

Netters take tournament win at Dearborn

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

The list of accomplishments continues to grow for the Mustang tennis team.

Northville captured its first tournament victory of the campaign Saturday by outdistancing the field at Dearborn High. The Mustangs totaled 19 points, two ahead of runner-up Monroe Catholic Central. WLAA rival Livonia Stevenson was third with 16 points.

"We got points at every flight," coach Dick Norton said. "Everybody contributed."

"I think it'll help at the conference championships. You need to pick up points at every flight to win."

The Mustangs went for their second straight league title Tuesday (after Northville Record deadline).

Norton said the tournament triumph was even more impressive because his team was without star Mark Schwagle. He said many young Mustangs stepped up their games to fill that void.

"What made me feel good about Saturday was the play of the sophomores and juniors," Norton commented. "It bodes well for next year."

Matt Schwagle moved into the No. 1 singles slot with his brother gone. He won the flight easily, dispatching three opponents in just six sets.

Norton said on most other teams, the younger Schwagle would be a fixture at top singles.

"Without a doubt," he said. "He'd be able to win most or all of his matches at No. 1."

Brad Smith took third place at second singles. He beat Thor Bruhn-Jensen of Wayne Memorial 6-0, 6-0 in the opening round. Smith then fell in two sets to Monroe Catholic Central's Mark Cousineau before beating Bob Nic McReedy was a champion at No. 3 singles. He beat Bill Hensley of Livonia Stevenson in the finals 6-2, 6-3 for the crown.

Ryan Moak moved from doubles to No. 4 singles for the tournament. He lost 6-4, 6-4 to Greg Schaffer of Monroe Catholic Central in his first match and then beat Ypsilanti's Dean Choi and Chris Haffey of Dearborn Edsel Ford.

Eric Allenspach and Jeff Woolfall won the No. 1 doubles flight. The duo whipped Chris Smyth and Rich North of Dearborn 6-2, 6-0 for the title.

Nick Srinivasan and Sanjay Nayakwadi beat Ypsilanti's Charlie Grey and John McCarney 6-3, 2-6, 6-2 for their lone win of the day. No. 3 doubles team Matt Telepo and Robert Kukainis closed with a pair of wins for third place in the tournament.

It took Vivek Mohta and Rich Bell three sets but they won the final doubles championship. The Mustang duo beat Andy Thompson and Kevin

NORTHVILLE 8, FARMINGTON 0

The Mustangs closed their WLAA season May 12 and kept it a perfect 12-0 by crushing the Falcons. It was Northville's 28th straight dual victory.

Mark Schwagle, who is undefeated on the season, ripped Aaron Bommarito 6-0, 6-1. Matt Schwagle was also a two-set winner at No. 2 singles.

Smith beat Scott McKay 6-0, 6-0. At No. 4 singles, McReedy took John Shea 6-0, 6-3.

The day's toughest match came at top doubles. Moak and Allenspach fell behind Adam Bergstrom and Steve McDonald after losing the first set but then took the final two to get the win.

Woolfall and Srinivasan won in two sets at No. 2 doubles as did Kukainis and Telepo at three. Mohta and Bell closed the match by beating Jeff Hasson and Premchand Anne 6-0, 6-4.

Norton said he is extremely proud of his team for completing a second straight perfect dual meet season. He said wins over Livonia Stevenson and North Farmington early in the year were the keys.

Tracksters place third at Clarkston Invitational

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

A pair of record-setting performances highlighted the Mustang girls track team day at the Clarkston Invitational Saturday.

Northville set meet records in the 400- and 800-meter relays. As a team, the Mustangs didn't fare quite as well, finishing third overall with 80 points. WLAA rival Livonia Stevenson won with 112 points while host Clarkston was second.

Coach Ann Turnbull said she wasn't surprised by the Spartans taking the championship.

"Stevenson was strong in areas we weren't," she said. "But the girls did very well. Most people ran their best times."

Carrie Dalziel, Katie Rempel, Wendy Forster and Alana Bradley broke the Clarkston record in the 400-meter relay and won the race in 52.11. Dalziel, Forster, Bradley and Adrienne Browne came back to break the 800-meter mark with a 1:49, also good for first place.

"They've been improving every day," Turnbull said. "Their handoffs were really on (the mark) Saturday."

Tammy Cook placed second in the high jump by clearing five feet. Forster was second in the long jump at 15-3 and Bradley was sixth at 15-1.

The 3,200-meter relay team of Sara Goshorn, Rachel Liedel, Monica Nayakwadi and Laura Brown were fourth in 10:35. In the 100-meter dash, Dalziel was fourth in 13.1.

Liedel was third in the 1,600-meter run with a time of 5:46.50. Browne was second in the 400-meter in 60.7, a personal best, while Laura Dennis was third in 1:05.5.

The Mustangs suffered their first dual loss Thursday at home. Turnbull said her team battled hard but couldn't match the Warriors' overall depth.

Despite the loss, a number of Mustangs performed well, including Jenny Sekerka. She set a new Mustang record in the discus by throwing 100-4.

Bradley was another top performer as she won the long jump competition with a leap of 16-9. Forster was second at 16-4.

High jumper Cook finished in second place. She cleared five feet.

In the 100-yard dash, Sara Kolb won in 17.2 while Melanie Helmer was third in 18.8. Dalziel finished first in the 100-meter dash in 13.1. Nicole Weyer was third with a time of 13.4.

Liedel took third in the 1,600 meters in 5:46.90. The 400-meter relay team of Dalziel, Rempel, Forster and Bradley won with a time of 52.4.

Christine Werda was third in the shot put with a throw of 27-2 1/2. Sekerka's throw was good for first place in the discus while Michelle Fetterman took second with a personal best throw of 92-3.

Browne's time of 1:02 took third in the 400-meter race. Lauren Nadeau won the 300-meter hurdles in 54.8 while Marci Bolger was third in 55.8.

In the 800-meter run, Liedel took second in 2:40.40. Dalziel was second in the 200-meter dash in 27.3.

Mustangs edge Livonia with late inning rally

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Steve Christenson pitched a three-hitter Thursday to lead Northville High past Livonia Franklin 2-1 on the road.

The senior right hander went the distance to pick up the victory. Rick Biermann got the key hit for the Mustangs as he knocked in Jason Rice from third base with a single in the top of the seventh inning.

Manager Tim Cain said it was nice to be on the winning end of a close game for a change.

"We've lost some tough games where a few hits here and there could have been the difference," he commented.

Northville moved to 3-4 in the Western Division of the WLAA, two games behind Livonia Churchill and Plymouth Canton. Cain said his team will have to have a lot of help to win the division. Regardless of the conference race, he said, the Mustangs are looking forward to districts in a few weeks.

"I think the kids are getting fired up for the state playoffs," Cain said. "It's a chance to start over."

Northville took advantage of its opportunities in the third inning.

Nell Yaele lead off with a triple. It looked as though he would be stranded but the Patriots second baseman miscued on a Chuck Appl-gain ground ball and allowed Yaele to score.

Livonia tied the game in the bottom of the sixth inning on a single and a Northville error. It didn't stay tied long, however.

Rice singled to lead off the seventh. He advanced to third base on a wild pitch and an error. Biermann followed with his single.

Cain said his team would have scored a few more runs had the game been played at home. The contest was held at Ford Field in Livonia, which Cain said has larger dimensions than most high school parks.

"We hit the ball hard all day," he commented.

CANTON 5, NORTHVILLE 0

The Mustangs ran up against one of the area's best pitchers May 12 and nearly became victims of a no-hitter.

Canton's Mike Stafford had a perfect game going until the top of the seventh. Northville collected two hits off the left hander, from Fred Swarthout and Eric Shaw, to end the no-hit bid.

"He had pretty good speed and great control," Cain said of Stafford, who is the son of a former major league pitcher.

The Chiefs got the game-winning run in the first inning off Joe Staknis on a single and fielder's choice play. Canton added two runs in the second and fifth innings.

"We made a couple of errors that

Golfers crush Livonia Ladywood

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Never let it be said that the Northville High golf team lacks focus.

You'd think, with senior from a day away, many of the Mustangs would be too distracted to play good golf. Wrong.

Northville went out and missed the school record by one stroke last Thursday as the Mustangs crushed Livonia Ladywood 196-231 at Idyl Wyld Golf Course.

"I told them, 'I know it's the day before prom, but try to concentrate,'" coach Trish Waldecker said.

Mission accomplished, coach.

cost runs," Cain said.

LIVONIA CHURCHILL 10, NORTHVILLE 6

What started off as a pitcher's duel ended up a painful loss May 10.

Christenson started on the mound and pitched well heading into the top of the sixth inning. Northville was trailing 2-1 when the Chargers erupted for eight runs off the Mustang ace.

Livonia began the inning with a double and a home run.

"I think he lost some confidence at that point," Cain said.

A few more hits, a hit batsman and a second home run did the other damage. Cain said Livonia scored the runs quickly — before his bullpen had a chance to fully warm up.

"I wanted (Christenson) to stay in and do the job," he added.

Northville rallied for five runs in the bottom of the seventh.

Biermann, Apligian, Swarthout and Kevin Shaw collected RBIs in the frame.

Waldecker said her squad had an excellent day putting. Normally, she said, her team averages about 18 putts per person. Against Ladywood, Waldecker said her golfers came in a few putting strokes below average.

It was the third time this season Northville has shot below 200.

"To have three rounds in the 190s is outstanding," Waldecker said.

Beth MacLean led the way for the Mustangs with a round of 47. Maria Candela had a 48. Kelly Casterline scored a 49 and Becky Zeppa a 52.

Waldecker said the Mustangs' round was an excellent way to head into the team's most important week of golf.

Northville was scheduled to play in the Western Lakes Activities Association championship Tuesday (after Northville Record deadline). State regional competition is slated for Friday at Oak Pointe Golf Course in Brighton.

Only three schools from a field of 18 will advance out of the regionals. The top five individuals will also advance to the finals.

Waldecker said it will be an uphill climb for her team to advance. Top ranked teams such as Ann Arbor Pioneer, Saline and Brighton will be at the regional.

"But I won't put anything past this team," she said. "I think we are a threat."

NORTHVILLE 208, PLYMOUTH CANTON 258

Northville took care of an old nemesis May 11 with ease. Waldecker said her team has remained consistent because a new golfer steps up every week to play well.

"It seems if somebody is having a bad day somebody else picks up the slack," she said. "It's been a total team effort."

The coach said her team improves weekly.

"These kids are serious about playing golf," Waldecker commented. "They have a great attitude for playing golf."

Warriors dump Northville

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Northville High came out on the short end of a tight boys track and field meet Thursday as Walled Lake Western triumphed 73-64.

The Mustangs made a spirited comeback late in the showdown, winning the 200- and 800-meter races as well as the 1,600-meter relay, but still fell short. Northville coach Dennis Faletti said he knew his team was in for a battle with the Warriors.

"It was a kind of toss-up meet," he said. "I knew it would be really close."

The loss was Northville's first in the Western Lakes Activities Association. The Mustangs are in a three-way tie with Walled Lake and Plymouth Canton for first in the Western Division.

"We have to beat Canton for the division title," Faletti said.

Northville was scheduled to duel the Chiefs Tuesday. The Mustangs are the defending division and league champions.

against Walled Lake. He took second in the long jump with 18-7½.

In the pole vault, Jason Petrie took first by clearing 11-6. Bo Fowler and Rob Tune completed a Northville sweep with vaults of 10-6 and 9-0, respectively.

John Gatti won both shot put and discus competitions. He threw 46-2 in the shot put and 145-9 in the discus.

In the 100-meter dash, Brian Dogonski won in 11.3. The 800-meter relay team of Oiler, Farb Navi, Rich King and Rob Subotich were winners in 1:33.40.

Northville's Chris Harrison placed third in the 1,600-meter run in 4:48.60.

Faletti said the meet's turning point came in the next event, the 400-meter relay. The 400 relay, usually guaranteed points for the Mustangs, was won by the Warriors.

"One bad (baton) exchange and you lose," Faletti said.

Subotich won the 400-meter race in 51.9. Marc Golden was third in 55.6.

In the 300-meter hurdles, Justin Lankes was second in 42.6. Todd Zayti won the 800-meter run in 2:03.70 while Petrie was a close second in 2:03.80.

Dogonski and Oiler finished first and second in the 200-meter race. Jeff Zwiesler, meanwhile, was third in the 3,200-meter run in 10:56.50.

Northville closed the meet by winning the 1,600-meter relay in 3:38.10. Golden, Lankes, Zayti and Subotich ran the race.

Baird, McNeil lead Adrian

Former Mustangs earn honors

Northville High graduate Karen Baird has been named the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association most valuable player in softball as part of the Adrian College squad.

Baird, a three-time first-team All-MIAA selection, led the Bulldogs to their third MIAA title in the past four years. Adrian finished the regular season 12-0, and then swept through the MIAA tournament with wins over Calvin, Hope and Alma.

The former Mustang batted .459 with 10 RBI and 22 total bases for Adrian. Baird finished as the MIAA's all-time career leader in batting average (.450), RBI's (48), total bases (90), hits and home runs.

Baird wasn't the only outstanding Northville High graduate on the team.

Kara McNeil, a 1992 graduate, was named honorable mention All-MIAA. She played right field for the Bulldogs.

Both Baird and McNeil played other sports at Adrian this school year. Baird was a starting basketball guard while McNeil played golf, among other sports.

Buying a home with only 3 percent down payment

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

A relatively new home mortgage plan allows buyers to acquire a home with a down payment of only 3 percent of the purchase price. And other qualification terms are more flexible than required with most conventional home loans.

The plan is attracting an increasing number of buyers and lenders throughout the country, according to executives with Fannie Mae (Federal National Mortgage Association), the organization that structured the mortgage plan in an effort to make housing more affordable to more Americans.

Fannie Mae is the nation's largest investor in home mortgages. They buy existing mortgages from primary lenders when the loans meet their parameters. The local lender can then use these funds to grant more mortgage loans to other home-buying families.

The recently structured Fannie Mae loan plan, called the Community Home Buyer's Program, allows buyers to pay as little as 3 percent cash down payment. But another 2 percent must come from a gift from a family member or another public source, or a grant or unsecured loan from a non-profit organization.

The borrower can qualify for one of these special loans with monthly payments of 33 percent of monthly gross income and a total monthly obligations-to-income ratio of 38 percent. This compares with a standard qualifying expense-to-income ratio of 36 percent.

Generally, home buyers need less income to qualify for one of these loans than is required for most mortgage loans.

The vaulted-ceiling Chiarella has all the interesting angles

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

One of the first things you notice about the Chiarella is an abundance of interesting angles, inside and out. And windows—lots of windows. The vaulted great room is especially bright, with expanses of glass on three sides as well as in the two snubbed-off corners.

Sliding glass doors in the dining area serve the additional function of making it easy to move meals outside when the weather becomes inviting.

A wide swath of ceramic tile adds visual interest to the entryway, then extends around the corner to underlie the wood-burning stove in the living room. This type of flooring material is not only fireproof, but also easy to keep clean, a convenient feature in two such mess-prone areas.

Skylights bathe the large, nearly octagonal kitchen in natural light.

Other amenities in the kitchen include a double oven, built-in range, step-in pantry and a generously sized custom work island with built-in vegetable sink.

The sunny breakfast nook, brightened by a bay window, is at one end of a large, richly windowed family room with built-in wet bar and space for a small refrigerator. This room is easily large enough to accommodate a pool table as well as a home entertainment center and a couch or two.

LIVING: 2793 square feet

GARAGE: 660 square feet

An odd-shaped utility room and small bathroom are conveniently close to both the kitchen and a three-car garage.

Four bedrooms are upstairs.

The master suite features a his-and-hers walk-in closet and a bright, luxurious bathroom with twin vanities, shower and an over-size tub or spa. Hanging plants flourish in this warm, richly illuminated environment.

The three other bedrooms share a compartmentalized bathroom. This setup allows three people to use the bathroom at once—a feature sure to be appreciated by families with teens, due to the lengthy grooming rituals associated with this age bracket.

Affordable quality homes are the focus of the new Pinewood Estates development now under construction on the east side of Milford Road, just north of Reed Road and across from Luttman's tavern.

Larry Shew, of Shew Construction, developer and builder, and Suzanne Shew, sales associate for the Prudential Niebauer Realty, Inc. in Wall Lake, are both high on the Heatherwood, the first two-story, three-bedroom home now serving as a model for things to come in the development.

Larry Shew of Milford has 14 years of experience in designing and building homes in the area. Notable in his background are the High Pointe and Sherwood Farms developments.

"I like to keep the cost affordable and yet provide quality," Larry said. "One of the ways we do this is the workmanship. I hire good tradesmen who are careful and competitive, and I use good quality materials."

The 1,450-square-foot Heatherwood includes three bedrooms, two full bathrooms and a 2 and one-half car garage on a half-acre lot. Starting cost is $124,900 with several options available when it comes to colors, flooring and counter tops.

The "great" room with its cathedral ceiling has both north and south windows and a fireplace.

to an attractive dining room. The laundry room which doubles as a "mud" room is efficiently placed off the dining area at the entry from the garage. Its large closet could have dual usage as a pantry and jacket and boots storage area.

Completing the circular traffic pattern leading back to the front entry is the downstairs bath, which includes a shower. The large foyer has a coat closet and access to the stairway to the second floor where the three bedrooms and second bath, with tub, are located.

Vinyl windows and an exterior combination of brick and vinyl siding add to the energy efficiency Larry Shew builds into his designs.

This development will be one of the smaller, more attractive ones in the area with only 16 houses in all and all on one-half to one-acre lots. Shew has preserved as many trees as possible, even moving many trees from the back of the development to the front to provide screening along Milford Road.

All of the eight homes in the first phase of the development will be built on Jeremy Court and construction on the first ranch model begins in about two weeks, the builder said.

Phase II is slated for development shortly.

The ranch model, starting at $128,500, will be 1,427 square

A new lawn is just a day away

By C.Z. Guest
Copley News Service

The exterior of a home gives an immediate impression about the people who live there. And like it or not, the lawn is an important part of that impression.

An attractive, well-maintained one shows that the owners take pride in their property and themselves. Also, a healthy lawn replenishes the atmosphere with oxygen and raises the property's value.

What do you do then if you've bought an older house whose lawn is run-down, purchased a new house with a low-quality yard, or let yours run down?

You might call a landscaper. But if you want to be frugal and save money—and fertilize the natural way—you could do it yourself in one day. It's a cinch! All you need are the proper tools, grass seed and a good organic fertilizer.

PREPARING THE SOIL

The first step in planting a lawn is to prepare the soil. Rent a rototiller to loosen soil to a depth of 2 to 3 inches. To lighten heavy clay soil or sandy soil, mix in peat moss using the rototiller.

Then rake the soil smooth to remove old grass and weeds as well as stones and debris. To achieve good drainage, grade the soil so that it slopes slightly away from the house.

Fertilizing is crucial for nourishing newly planted seeds, which contain only enough nutrients to create their first burst of growth. Additional nourishment is necessary for further plant development.

When selecting a fertilizer, look for one that is rich in nitrogen, phosphorous and potassium. These three elements are critical for nurturing a lawn to a healthy, disease-resistant area.

Before first planting, consider how much traffic your lawn gets as well as which type of lawn seed flourishes best in your area.

Kentucky bluegrass or Merion bluegrass are sturdy enough for heavy traffic and hardy enough for the tough climate conditions of the North and Midwest.

Coarse-textured fescues and Zoysia also are able to withstand heavy activity. Fescues work well in dry climates, poor soil conditions and shade; Zoysia grows well in sun or shade.

Elegant bent grass, Bermuda grass and St. Augustine grass grow well in the seasonal environments of the South and West Coast. All require fre-

Planting a new lawn

- Use a rototiller to loosen soil to a depth of 2 to 3 inches.
- Rake soil to remove old grass, leaves, stones and debris.
- Use a fertilizer rich in nitrogen, phosphorous and potassium.
- Plant a grass variety suitable to your garden. Kentucky and Merion bluegrasses stand up to heavy traffic; fescues are ideal in dry climates.

This Louis XV Revival chair was made in the third quarter of the 19th century and could sell for about $500 to $600.

Revival armchair fills gap

By James G. McCollam

ANTIQUES

Q. This Victorian armchair has been in our family for generations. It is solid walnut with green velvet upholstery. Can you tell me when it was made and its current value?

A. Your chair is an excellent example of Victorian Louis XV Revival furniture. It was made in the third quarter of the 19th century and would probably sell for about $500 to $600 in good condition.

Q. I have a teapot that belonged to my grandmother and then to my mother. It has a separate insert for tea bags and is marked "McCormick Tea, Baltimore, MD — Made in the USA."

What can you tell me about it?

A. McCormick & Co. marketed tea, spices, etc., and gave teapots as premiums. Yours was probably produced about 1940. It would sell for about $35 to $45 in good condition.

McCormick was the first company to use tea bags (1910).

Q. I have a cast-iron Easter lamb cake mold. It was made by Griswold of Erie, Pa. It is in perfect condition.

A local collector offered me $100 for it. Is that a fair value?

A. It is a fair value, but not a good value. Dealers are selling these for about $100 to $125.

Q. I have old bone china fish figurines from an English manufacturer by the name of Beswick. Please tell me if there is any value, and what would be a source to market them?

A. Beswick figurines were made circa 1950-70 in Longton, England. The fish figurines sell from $75 to $150.

I don't have a list of buyers. You can find more information in "The Beswick Price Guide" by Harvey May, published by Wallace-Homestead.

Q. Could you please tell me the value of a plate handed down from my grandmother? There is a basket of fruit in the center and around the rim is "Give Us This Day Our Daily Bread."

All I can make out of the printing on the back is "C.T. Wasser Silesia."

A. Your plate was made by C. Tiesch in Altwasser, Silesia (Germany). It was made about 1900 and might sell for about $35 to $45.

Q. I have an original Currier & Ives print titled "Maiden's Rock—Mississippi River" with the address 152 Nassau St., New York.

I acquired this print in the mid-1940s. I was told that the boats are the Natchez and the Robert E. Lee. What year was it printed and what is its value?

A. This print was issued about 1870 and would sell for $200 to $300 if authentic.

Take it to a museum where they can actually examine and possibly authenticate it.

plan because it brings more families into the local home buying market. And the loans are readily salable to Fannie Mae.

Fannie Mae planned the loan package to increase homeownership and promote revitalization in minority and low- and moderate-income areas across the country, it was explained in a recent Fannie Mae report.

To assure that the underwriting flexibilities do not increase risk, borrowers who participate are required to attend pre-purchase home-buyer education sessions, covering such matters as applying for a mortgage, budgeting household expenses and shopping for and maintaining a home.

The mortgage lender or a non-profit group may conduct the counseling sessions, using either a classroom or a workbook format. If interested, check with one or several mortgage lenders in your area.

Questions may be used in future columns; personal responses should not be expected. Send inquiries to James M. Woodard, Copley News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, CA 92112-0190.

Affordable housing in Milford offered by Pinewood Estates developer feet with three bedrooms, two full baths and a 2 and one-half car attached garage. All of the homes in the development are built with a deep, full basement with poured concrete walls and plenty of space for a later recreation or family room. All floor joists are 2-by-10s so that there will be no squeaky floors, Shew explained.

Shew said that although the Heatherwood model has only 1,450 square feet, later two-story designs in the development will feature 1,500 square feet of living space.

As the development progresses, the streets are slated for paving and will have curbs and gutters. "I could have gone with open ditches along the streets, but I like the lawns coming right to the curb and I want this to be a very nice development with affordable homes," the builder added.

"Every home will have trees," he continued. "Where the lots don't have any now, I will move some from the back so that every lot will have two to three trees. Using the trees that are already here helps to keep costs down."

Shew said clients can choose from three different designs in either two-story or ranch style and varying details of position on the lots and exterior looks will give each one individuality.

"It's one of the advantages of being the builder and the architect", Shew noted. "I will be very involved in designing as well as landscaping so that the whole place will flow nicely together. It will be a pretty subdivision."

Suzanne Shew is enthusiastic about the "two-tone" paint in the model which features 3 and one-quarter inch white baseboards with matching window and door trim and light beige walls. The all neutral colors will make it easy for purchasers to accessorize in whatever shades and styles they like. The great room and upper stairway are carpeted in natural shades and the floors in the kitchen/dining and foyer areas are of neutral vinyl tile.

A variety of allowances for floor coverings, lighting, appliances and fixtures make it possible to fit the home to the taste of the purchasers.

Larry Shew said he particularly designed the landscaping at the entrance of Jeremy Court off Milford Road with a privacy fence and trees to provide a noise barrier and to make it an attractive entrance. "Even the first two homes in the development will not be built close to Milford Road", he added.

For more information on Pinewood Estates, call the Prudential-Niebauer Realty at 624-3015 and ask for Suzanne Shew.

A new lawn in just one day

SPREADING GRASS SEED

Though amounts vary from mixture to mixture, a general rule of thumb is to use 3 pounds of seed for every 1,000 square feet of lawn.

Use a lawn spreader to distribute the seeds evenly, making sure not to seed any particular area too quickly. Young plants need room to grow leaves and, if they are planted too close together, may fade quickly.

After spreading the seeds, rake them gently with the back of a bamboo rake to lightly cover the soil. Go over once with an empty roller to gently press the seeds into contact with the soil.

It is important not to cover the seeds completely; they must have light to sprout, as well as moisture and warmth.

After you've seeded and rolled the lawn, apply fertilizer. Check the fertilizer bag for recommended amount.

FOLLOW-UP CARE

Keep the area moist until the grass is established — usually about two weeks. Set sprinklers so that they cover the entire planted area without having to be moved around, thereby upsetting tender young seeds.

It's best to avoid light sprinklings in favor of thorough waterings that penetrate the soil to a depth of several inches.

Mow the lawn as soon as the grass reaches about 2-1/2 inches high and is completely dry. Mowing helps maintain a tight turf and eliminates tall weeds. Most grasses should not be cut shorter than 2 inches in their first year.

Every type of grass seed requires at least a second fertilizing sometime over the course of the lawn season. The time of the year and number of fertilizings varies, depending upon the seed type.

A beautiful green lawn is an oasis from the pressures of the working world. Making it yourself offers an added dimension: the satisfaction of self-reliance.

With very little effort, you've created a peaceful haven for your family with the help of a natural organic fertilizer.

Floral shop blooms in new site

By ANNE SEEBALDT GOGOLIN
Special Writer

Cramped quarters at the site where he had purchased a floral business in June 1992 convinced Phil Foote to relocate Unique Florals to a new location.

Foote estimated the former store's size at about 300 square feet. The current spacious size of Unique Florals, located at 135 W. Highland Road (M-59), measures about 2,000 square feet.

"It's warm, it looks good, and you can move around," Foote said. "Geographically, I'm in a much better location."

south of Livingston Road, under other ownership, since 1988.

Foote said the store briefly operated in the old location under his ownership prior to the reopening on M-59 in July 1992. He closed the shop for about a week for the move.

Since then he has found moving the shop onto M-59 increased visibility.

"People are starting to realize we're in the community, next to Highland Lumber," he said.

Foote, a Highland Township resident since 1978, said that he has always wanted to own a business.

Knowing that was Foote's goal, his girlfriend Cathy Weeks told him about the opportunity to buy the floral shop. Her friend, Dorothy Broughton, a floral designer there, mentioned the shop was for sale.

Foote formerly worked as a long-time marketing representative for Citizen's Insurance. Now, he takes care of the day-to-day business aspects of the shop. Broughton and Weeks, both qualified floral design artists, handle all design work.

When Foote purchased the shop, he also purchased the florist's stock and equipment (refrigerators, etc.) at the same time.

Foote said that the most rewarding aspect of his new career is divided between "making people happy and comforting bereaved people with a floral tribute."

Foote said that his business revolves around customer satisfaction.

Bur is president of B & J Gas and Oil Company in Wixom. He has over 30 years experience in the petroleum industry, and was an Amoco agent for 13 years before establishing his petroleum company.

A long active member of MPA/MACS, Bur previously served the Association as vice president and chairman of its Gasoline and Motor Fuels Committee. SUSAN BAKER, former owner of the Rose Cottage Tea Room in Northville, is once again actively pursuing a flourishing catering business.

If you're looking for some "party pizzazz" consider hiring Susan Baker for your next catered affair.

Baker has been catering since 1971, specializing in upscale gourmet hor's d'oeuvres. Her affairs are not limited to cocktail parties. Susan will cater for any type of party or special occasion, large or small, corporate or private. Once for a '50s party she and her wait staff wore pony tails, dressed in poodle skirts and saddle shoes. Another host requested they wear "pig noses" at a "roast." At Halloween, she and staff will gladly don costumes to add to the festivities. On a balmy summer day, colorful individual gourmet picnic baskets were prepared, complete with red and white checkered napkins, each containing a plate, pasta salad, baguettes with herb butter, wine and brownies for dessert.

In addition to preparing the food, she is also able to coordinate a staff of professionals customized to your specific serving needs. Her level of expertise in planning and preparing a party will put you totally at ease and able to fully enjoy your party, and you won't have to remortgage your home to pay for it.

Having a true love for food, Baker elegantly presents beautifully garnished, perfectly seasoned, specialty foods. She will make menu suggestions and recommendations or use your tried and true favorite recipes. Her versatility has earned her a following of satisfied customers, many of whom book their parties several months in advance. December bookings started in February.

After having completed a restaurant tour of England, Wales, Belgium, and France last fall, Baker has incorporated some new food ideas and techniques into her extensive menu.

Recently with more emphasis on health, Susan has studied vegetarian cuisine, and can accommodate all types of special dietary needs.

So if you're thinking of having a party give Susan a call at 348-8241. She is certified by the Health Department, fully licensed and insured. She's ready, willing and able to bring the food to your table. In other words, you dish is her command.

Business is blooming for floral shop

"My biggest concern is to keep people happy," he said. "If they're not happy (with our work), I expect them to let me know so I can make it right. We depend on repeat customers."

Most of Foote's customers — individuals or businesses — are from Hartland, Highland, Milford or White Lake.

Two wire services — Telefloral and American Floral Service Inc. — allow Foote's customers to send arrangements worldwide.

Businesses make up an important part of Foote's custom orders.

Weeks and Broughton create appropriate designs for all occasions, including weddings, funerals, birthdays, and anniversaries. Local delivery is available and starts at $3.

"We get all kinds of unusual requests," Foote said. He added that Weeks and Broughton have handled so many odd orders that strange requests have become routine.

For example, one time the designers created a floral arrangement surrounding a pound of hamburger. The recipient was moving to Hamburg, Mich.

Another unusual request they received was a 50th birthday bouquet made with dead flowers and a single black rose.

Services that Unique Floral offers include bridal arrangements, floral, balloon, or plant arrangements, mylar and latex balloons, and "balloon stuffing," which involves inserting a gift inside a latex balloon.

Assorted gift items, including some bridal accessories, are available in the store as well.

Wedding arrangements are a Unique Florals specialty.

Foote said that a bride or groom entering could not only have the wedding party flowers, church and hall decorations satisfactorily completed, but that they also could order their wedding cake from Weeks (She attended cake decorating school).

In addition, the staff is able to direct them to formal and bridal wear shops, invitation suppliers, photographers, and other wedding professionals.

On the wedding day, Weeks and Broughton set up bouquets, balloons, candelabras, and other decorations at the church and reception hall.

The designers cooperate fully with customers to create the best possible results.

"We try to accommodate individual needs as much as possible," Foote said. "A lot of people call undecided about selection. That's where our experienced designers come in."

Foote said he plans to offer winter grave blankets in the future. He added that the proximity of the Highland Cemetery on Milford Road just north of M-59 gave him the idea to stock the blankets.

Foote said he would like Unique Florals to "continue to grow and provide a superior service for the Highland-Milford area."

For more information, contact Unique Florals at 887-3633.

Property tax appeal could yield rebate

Are you paying more than your fair share of property taxes? The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants recommends that you take the time to periodically review your property taxes and, if necessary, appeal assessments that you think are out of line.

Your property tax represents the assessed value of your home multiplied by the local tax rate. The tax rate is set by law and can't be changed on the basis of an individual complaint. However, you may be able to lower your property tax by questioning the amount of your property assessment.

The assessed value of your home is equal to its fair market value — what the property would sell for — as determined by a municipal assessor, multiplied by its assessment ratio — the percentage of fair market value subject to tax. In most places, assessors will consider the recent sale prices of comparable properties in determining the market value of your home.

Localities also use different assessment ratios in computing property tax rates, so you need to find out how assessments are made in your community. Michigan uses 50 percent of the fair market value of your home in calculating your property tax. Other areas may use a different fraction of the market value in doing the calculation.

Don't forget that your property taxes cover local services, such as the costs for operating schools and libraries. In some instances, increased property taxes may not result from an increase in market value of your home, but rather from increased costs of operating local services.

The sheer amount of information needed to compute your property tax creates the potential for errors. There may be a simple mathematical error, property values may have declined in your area, or the assessor may have based his computation on incorrect information about your home.

How do you know if the assessor has accurate information on your home? Go to your local assessor's office and obtain your property report card. If you discover an error in your property report card, you may have a case for appealing your property tax.

Also, be aware that you may be entitled to special exemptions, which should be reflected in your property tax calculations. For example, in some communities veterans, elderly, or blind people, and people with low incomes may be entitled to a break. In Michigan, the Homestead Property Tax Credit is available when property taxes are over 3 1/2 percent of your household income.

In making an appeal, it's up to you to prove that your home's assessment is incorrect. If you can show that there is a mathematical error in your property tax calculation or a factual error on your property, such as listing your one-story home as a two-story residence, you may be able to have your assessment lowered in an informal talk with the assessor.

If you can't settle the issue with the assessor, you can appeal your case to the local appeals board, which is typically comprised of three to five local business people. To make your case for a property tax reduction, take along relevant materials such as property maps, photographs of your home and similar ones in the neighborhood, and most importantly, assessment figures on at least three comparable homes as well as sale prices of comparable homes that sold recently. If possible, bring a supporting appraisal from a recent mortgage refinancing or home equity loan application.

If you lose your case or still are not satisfied with your assessment, you can appeal to the state review board, which follows a procedure similar to that of the local board.

Your last resort is to take your case to tax court. CPAs point out that this is a more costly option that you should consider only if the potential savings are likely to exceed the cost of getting a professional appraisal, giving up your time and hiring the professionals you need to help you win the case.

Scott Hulverson, right, was honored by AAA.

SCOTT HULVERSON of Northville was one of 12 top AAA Michigan agents named to the 1993 President's Club March 13 at the Ritz-Carlton in Dearborn. The President's Council is designed as a partnership with the specific goal of building a stronger future for AAA Michigan by intensifying and meeting the needs of its members and insureds.

TERRI L. ANDERSON-BERGER and VERONICA R. BUTLER, both State Farm agents located in Novi, have qualified for the company's prestigious 1992 Millionaire Club.

According to agency manager Daniel L. Trubac, this club consists of those agents who have produced a high level of life insurance during the year 1992. Only about one-third of the more than 17,500 agents are members of this prestigious club.

State Farm is one of the world's largest insurers of homes and autos with over 53 million policies in force, and also ranks in the top 10 in providing life and health coverage.
