Welcome mat rolled out for new manager

By SHARON CONDRON Staff Writer

It's already been a busy week for Northville's new township manager Bill Richards.

Even though Richards has yet to take over the post officially, he's been busy meeting township residents and looking for a home here.

At a reception held in his honor Thursday, Richards said he and his wife Carol made a purchase offer on a home in Colony Estates earlier that afternoon.

We have a deep sense of community," he said.

Those are just two of a half-dozen recommendations the two chairpersons and the township's assessor have made after the close of the 1993 tax appeal season.

Board of Review Chairpersons Zo Chisnell and Judy Whiteley and township assessor Glen Shaw Jr. all presented their recommendations at two recent meetings of the Board of Trustees.

Included in their collective assessments of the annual appeal process is the recommendation urging Township Supervisor Karen Baja to replace scheduled appointments with the walk-in system that failed miserably at this year's board of review

*For 1994, I recommend you return to hearing by appointment, with five hearing dates and two boards." Shaw wrote in his assessment of this year's hearings.

Shaw was also in agreement with the two chairpersons that hearings should be limited next year to five or

Aside from the days, times and scheduling of the appeals, Chisnell, Whiteley and Shaw all agreed that certain areas inside the township need to be reassessed. While a total reassessment of the township is well beyond its due date, residents living in certain areas of the township are often annual appealers and big ticket reductions.

Locals shied away from 'A'

By STEVE KELLMAN and SHARON CONDRON

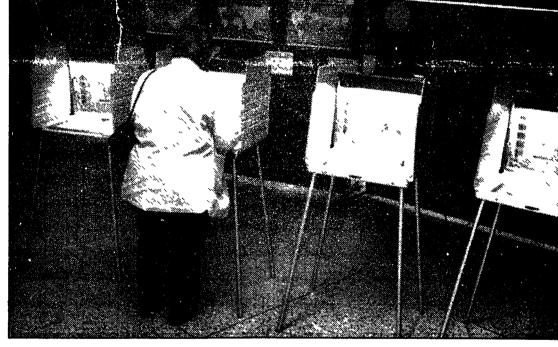

You'd think it was a presidential election from the crowds that turned out at Northville's polling places Wednesday.

But instead of casting ballots for a candidate, local voters were taking a stand against the state's latest attempt to reform the property tax and school finance systems, at the cost of a 50-percent hike in the sales tax

More than 45 percent of the Northville City's 4.780 voters went to the polls Wednesday to cast their votes on Proposal A. Gov. Engler's plan to cap assessments and school millages by raising the sales tax. Of the 2, 184 valid ballots cast, 1,341 voted against the pr for it, opposing it by a nearly two-toone margin.

City to consider reduction in millage

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer

Wednesday's defeat of Proposal A is good news for Northville City. though city leaders are anxiously awaiting the latest installment in property tax reform from Lansing.

The city administration plans to recommend to the city council tonight that the recently approved 17.43-mill tax rate be rolled back 4 percent to 16.74 mills. The recommendation follows Wednesday's defeat of Proposal A, which would have reduced the city's total State-Equalized Value (SEV) by 4 percent.

Because the city's millage had been predicated on Proposal A's pasage, a 4-percent reduction in the rate now will raise the same amount of firmed the administration's stance Friday.

City Manager Gary Word con- know what it is . . . My guess is what-

"We will be recommending to the city council, albeit very nervously, that we roll back the millage by .69 mills," he said.

The nervousness stems from fears over what state legislators will do next to the property tax system, now that Gov. Engler's plan to cap assessments, equalize school finances and raise the sales tax from 4 to 6 cents per dollar has been defeated at the

"It kind of puts us between a rock and a hard place," said Finance Officer Mark Christiansen, "because we've got to set a millage rate.

These are the kind of things that make me feel very awkward in terms of making recommendations. I know something's coming, I just don't ever replacement we see is going to incorporate some of the same factors (as Proposal A), including caps on assessments and school millage rates."

But whatever the legislature proposes next, Christiansen said, he does not believe it will impact the tax bills due for distribution in June.

"Our feeling is that, although there's been a lot knocked around in the legislature, if they do something it probably won't be something that affects the summer tax bill," he said.

That may have required passage of an emergency ordinance following a June 21 public hearing on the plan, to waive the legal requirement of a 10-day waiting period between a plan's approval and the time it takes effect. Word said.

The June 21 public hearing has The defeat of Proposal A does take since been rescheduled for June 28.

Financing the $3.2 million plan will also be easier, at least until the legislature tinkers with property taxes again. Because the captured taxes to fund part of Mainstreet '93 will now be drawn from a larger downtown SEV, the project could be paid off "Had Proposal A passed, we'd be in sooner or with less impact on other funding sources.

School renewal is next decision for voters

News Briefs

CORRECTION: An article in the Thursday edition indicated that Northville Township Trustee Barbara O'Brien had disclosed to her colleagues on the township board that her nephew works for one of the law firms employed by the township. In fact, O'Brien did not make such a disclosure.

CANDIDATES FORUM: The League of Women Voters of Northville-Plymouth will sponsor a candidates forum to help acquaint voters with the four candidates for Northville Board of Education. The meeting will be held Monday, June 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the Northville High School Forum. Audience members will be allowed to ask questions.

The event will be reshown on Omnicom cable channel 8 at 3 p.m. June 9; 7 p.m. June 10; 3 p.m. June 11; and 8:30 p.m. June 12.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR ALL-NIGHTER: The decorations for the all-night senior party can be viewed by the Northville community from 6 to 8 p.m. Friday, June 11, at the high school. The senior party is sponsored by the parents of the class of 1993. The theme of the party is kept secret until invitations are distributed at the senior breakfast held the morning before the day of graduation.

DOG LICENSES UP FOR RENEWAL: Northville city would like to remind residents that their pooches need to be licensed to be legal. Any city resident owning a dog 6 months or older must register the dog and obtain a one-year license from the city clerk at Northville City Hall, 215 W. Main St. The licenses cost $6.

POLICE SURVEY CITY RESIDENTS: City police are conducting a random survey of residents to gauge how they feel about their police services. The mailed surveys ask citizens to rate the department's professionalism and visibility, and suggest ways to improve the department.

CITY RECYCLING CENTER HOURS: The city council recently voted to reduce business hours at the Northville City recycling center. located inside the Department of Public Works yard at 650 Doheny Drive. The recycling center will no longer be open Wednesdays between 3-7 p.m. Weekend hours will be cut from every Saturday to the first and third Saturdays of each month, between 11 a.m.-5 p.m.

The move is due to reduced use of the center since the city initiated curbside collection of recyclable materials, and is intended to reduce the need for overtime by DPW workers. Since curbside recycling started last February, average use of the center has dropped to 35 cars on Wednesdays and 55 cars on Saturdays.

The center is available to City of Northville residents only, and identification is checked at the gate.

The center accepts clear, green and brown glass, plastic types 1 and 2, tin cans, household and car batteries, paint, used motor oil and antifreeze, compost material, scrap metal, and newspapers. Liquids should be in sealed, clearly labeled containers. Newspapers should be stacked in brown paper bags or tied into bundles. Telephone books, magazines and road maps are not accepted.

The Northville Township Police department has called in a state mediator to help officers reach a new contract with township administrators. Contract talks for both the police 'officers associations and for the commander's unit started soon after contracts expired on March 31. B terms of a new contract have yet to be met and negotiations have ceased until the mediator comes to town on Werth had little to say about the stalemate. The lieutenant, who is the union contact for the commander's association, wouldn't comment on what was preventing a settlement.

Township Supervisor Karen Baja was hesitant in commenting too, but did say the department was attempting to align its contract with settlements made earlier this year in surrounding communities.

"They are looking to Canton," Baja said. "I can't say they want to match it (Canton's contract) but they are us-and Knapps subdivisions. The assessor and both chairpersons are in agreement that both subs should be reassessed before next year's tax

"We have some areas that need to be looked at again," said Zo Chisnell, chairperson of one of the appeal boards. The top two are Park Gardens and Knapps. The majority of appeals come from there. And both of those are the most out of line.

"We are asking for those two to be reassessed as a summer project, Chisnell said.

They do eat up a great deal of the money we use for reductions every year," she said. "And a lot of our hardships come from those areas too."

This year, 14 of the 23 appeals that came from Park Gardens residents were granted. The 14 appeals resulted in a $67,855 reduction. Thirteen additional hardship cases from prices of homes in the subs.

Park Gardens residents. Those cost $147,710.

Residents in the Knapps subdivision reported a similar outcome in actual appeals, but had no hardship cases. Eleven appeals from Knapps residents were upheld totalling a $65,140 reduction.

Chisnell and Whiteley also argued a strong case for reassessing homes in Colony Estates, numbers one and four, North Beacon Woods and Blue Heron subdivisions. Each had proportionate turnout at the hearings and totalled a $275,530 in property assessment reductions.

The idea of reassessing township was discussed, but Baja said it would cost prohibitive at this time. Instead, assessors may be doing some spot reassessing before next year.

Shaw said even though the entire township has not been ressessed in close to two decades, subdivisions in the township are updated annually based on market surveys of sale

Tenants' complaints lead to action

By STEVE KELLMAN Staff Writer A Fairbrook Street apartment complex is undergoing a face-lift following recent complaints by the tenants about conditions there. The ongoing repairs come after written warnings from city inspectors and a list of complaints from the newly formed Fairbrook Apartments Tenant's Association.

Paul Johnson, of Paul Johnson Properties Inc., toured the complex at 525 Fairbrook St. Wednesday in response to the complaints, and by Thursday morning trucks were un-loading roofing materials on the lawn in preparation for roof repairs.

Workmen were also reportedly inspecting vacant apartments to replace obsolete appliances and repair broken electrical fixtures.

Johnson said he saw no problem addressing the city's complaints, listed in two two-page letters from the building and fire departments. The building department's May 20 letter lists 22 building deficiencies including loose and cracked windows, leaking roofs, and four electrical violations, including missing electrical covers and fixture covers. Building Inspector Joe Attard gave the complex owners 30 days to make the necessary repairs.

"We're taking steps to correct them as we always do," Johnson said Friday. He added that he did not foresee a problem making all the corrections listed by the city.

Johnson categorized the city's list of needed repairs as minor.

"It's just stuff that goes on all the time, in apartment complexes," he said. "There's nothing serious or lifethreatening, or any such thing . . . It's just a bunch of minor violations.

They call them violations." Some of the tenants' complaints are too vague for the company to address, he said, citing entries in the tenant association's May 26 letter like "electrical problems (numerous)."

Other tenant complaints are over items the apartment complex has little control over, he added.

They're complaining because there's no play area," Johnson said. Well, there's never been a play area in that complex for 30 years, and they knew that when they moved in . . . We really don't have a place to have a should be in place in two weeks. Johnson said the company needs to see a more detailed list of deficiencies before it can correct them. "We ask everybody to put their complaints in writing, and we will address them," he said.

Those lists may be forthcoming following the next meeting of the Fairbrook Apartments Tenant's Association, scheduled for Tuesday, June 8, at 7 p.m. The meeting will be used to update residents on the progress of repairs and obtain lists of specific improvements needed to their apartments.

McDonald Ford hit by a theft and an attempt

City police responded to two re-cent incidents at McDonald Ford, 550 W. Seven Mile. In the first incident, a 1993 Ford Taurus was the apparent target of an attempted auto theft sometime between 2 p.m. May 24 and 5 p.m. May 25. The car's driver's side door lock was pried out and the door unlocked, causing an estimated $150 in damage. But the ignition was not tampered with and nothing was taken from the car.

The owner of another car that had been dropped off at the dealership for service reported the theft of a radar detector and license plate. The $175 radar detector was reportedly wedged into a closed ashtray, which was damaged when it was removed. The Michigan license plate bore the numbers BXJ-070. Maintenance personnel said the car was locked at the time, though there was no sign of damage to the unlocked doors when the theft was discovered. LAWNMOWER, SNOWBLOWER STOLEN FROM GARAGE: City police are investigating the May 26 theft of $1,032 in equipment from a Morgan Circle garage. The stolen items included a red and black MDT snowblower valued at $770, red and black MDT power mower valued at $207 and a yellow and black electric he wanted to end his life because he leaf blower priced at $55. The theft apparently occurred around 4 a.m.

THREATENED SUICIDE: Township police responded to a June 6 call from a 55-year-old man who threatened to commit suicide in his Northville apartment. The man who is confined to a wheelchair told police was lonely. The man, who has suffered several strokes, was taken to Heritage Hospital for a psychiatric

MDOP TO FORD PROBE: A 1989 Ford Probe was the apparent target of somebody's aim on May 28. The car was parked in the lot at Sheehan's on the Green when its passenger mirror and antenna were broken off. The driver's side door was also dented. Township police are estimating the damage at $550. There are no suspects in the case.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at Pat O'Connor, a new counseling addition at Northville High School, says he's always enjoyed helping people with their problems.

New high school counselor O'Connor is born natural at handing out advice

By MICHELLE KAISER

As a teen-ager Patrick O'Connor would spend hours on the phone really love the kids, they're just

He knew one day his "counseling" would come in handy.

"I always knew I cared about peo-ple a great deal," said O'Connor, the newest member of the Northville High School counseling department. "I just questioned the right way to put that to good use."

After O'Connor received his master's degree from Michigan State University in 1983, he drove an hour and 20 minutes from his Bloomfield Township home each day to his job in the Millington school district, located in Tuscola County.

When I graduated it was literally the only public school counseling job available," he said.

His next career move was closer to home as he served as a counselor at Dondero High School in Royal Oak. From there it was on to Roeper School, a private school in Bloomfield

His last two years at Roeper were as a college counselor, assistant principal and geometry teacher.

"I slept well at night," he said, laughing at his busy schedule.

Although he's only had eight weeks on the job at Northville and despite the fact he was hired in at the counseling department's busiest day of the year during scheduling, said.

O'Connor is quite smitten with his

Actually, it helped that O'Connor office just to check in. came onto the scene as scheduling was under way.

"It really worked out very well," he said. The district had just made some curriculum changes so I got to learn those. Plus I got to see every student, including all the eighth graders that will be here next year.

"That was very helpful. They got to associate a face with a name and so did I. It's been a very busy nine weeks but I feel very much at home."

In the fall, O'Connor will be taking over the testing program at the high school. He will oversee all the college, advanced placement and Michinan Education Assessment Planning (MEAP) testing as well as coordinate the school's applications for the Michigan Summer Institute program. One of the other things we'll be doing is that we are all working on expanding the number of out-of-state colleges that visit Northville," he said. This is a great school. There are a lot of qualified students here."

O'Connor said he hopes to reestablish contacts with admissions representatives with whom he worked while at Roeper.

"I would really like to expand the horizons for the students here," he

At other schools, he had made it a

"I'll say hello and see how things are, make sure things are OK," he said. "Some students, for whatever reasons, won't seek (counseling)

But he's careful not to pry.
"I try and demonstrate care," he said. "That is the thing that matters more than anything else. I'm not trying to invade or intrude or preach or dictate, just support."

O'Connor believes counseling is a special job, even more so because he met his wife Dianne while both were working as summer day camp counselors at Roeper. The couple recently adopted a 20-month-old boy from Kerea.

He also takes his job seriously and has been recognized for that. O'Connor serves as chairman of the host committee for the National College Fair and was recently awarded the 1993 Gramenz Award by the Michigan Association of College Admission Counselors.

He was given the award on the basis of extraordinary service to students, the counseling profession and "I love the work," he said. "Counseling is a pretty special thing."

Play on

Local students soon will be heading out for a two-week instructional session at Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp. Included in the group are David Poplawski (back row), Ashley Chandler, Kari Farina and Brynn Wade; Megan Freeland (middle row), Katie Terakedis, Angela Kovalak and Erica Grech; and Cortney Cranford (front row), Seton Williams and Sara Yokobosky. The young musicians will stay in cabinlike dormitories and perform a concert on the last Saturday of their stay.

Middle school crews prep for arrival of Indy race car driver

By MICHELLE KAISER Staff Writer

Checkered black and white racing flags hang from the walls in the cafeterias of Meads Mill and Cooke middle schools.

Students at both schools are more than a little excited that Arnway Indy-Car race driver Scott Brayton will be making a pit stop at both schools next Wednesday.

As IndyCar spokesman for the "Race Against Drugs" program, Brayton will speak to students at 9 and 9:55 a.m. at Cooke and at 12:20 and 1:10 p.m. at Meads Mill. As a role model, he will lecture students on what living a drug-free lifestyle can accomplish.

"The first time I met him (Brayton) was at the indy 500 time trials," he said. "I thought he was in public relations. He talked about the car and the race. He brought me refreshments. I talked to him for a good half hour.

We were leaving when someone came up and said 'Can I have your autograph, Scott? Here I had been talking to the driver the whole time.

Brayton is visiting Northville gratus. Amway is providing the transportation, the car and the semi-truck which carries it.

The race car driver also enderses the National Easter Seal Society and acts as a spokesperson for seat belt safety and drinking and driving public service announcements.

In addition, Brayton has helped raise money for the Arthritis Foundation and has made numerous visits (150 last year) to children's hospitals around the country.

The message Brayton will send to Northville students is that you can't Qualman, who said he's always let life's up and downs get to you.

"That's the message we have to get through to the kids." said Susan Meyer, assistant principal for both middle schools. "You're not going to win them all and you can't use (alcohol or drugs) as an escape mechanism.

The son of former IndyCar driver Lee Brayton, Scott Brayton began his career by racing go-carts when he was five.

His first six Indy seasons were spent driving partial campaigns, mostly for the Brayton family team. The high point came on opening day of qualifying at the Indianapolis in 1985 when he set a then-track record lap time of 214.199 mph and qualifled with a four-lap average speed of 212.354.

Last year, Brayton highlighted the season with a career best third-place finish at the Miller Genuine Draft 200 on the one-mile oval in Milwaukee. Wisc. He was sixth at last week's Indianapolis 500.

Defeat of Proposal A not hard to figure out

The defeat of Proposal A last Wednesday has left elected officials scratching their heads wondering what could have gone wrong.

In the weeks leading up to the vote, a broad-based coalition of politicians, special interest organizations and labor unions mounted an extensive campaign to promote the plan, but the effort went for naught. Michigan voters turned down the tax-shift proposal, 54 to 46 percent.

Proponents of Proposal A are trying to rationalize the vote, and it's only a matter of time before a litany of excuses are given a coat of polish and presented as well-considered theories: the voters didn't understand it, turnout was too low to generate enough yes votes, there is a general mistrust of state lawmakers.

Some have even said that geography was against them and that, while the 80-county out-state region voted in the aggregate in favor of the proposal, the negative vote in the three-county metropolitan area skewed the outcome; as if a variant of the electoral college should be used so that a majority of counties, and not the popular vote, could decide statewide issues.

We don't pretend to be specialists in the art of political punditry, but we do think we can recognize a simple truth when we see one. The fact is that Proposal A lost because a majority of Michigan voters perceived it as a mechanism for siphoning money away from their communities and school districts and transferring it to parts of the state most people will never even visit, let alone live

Look at the figures: 74 percent no to 26 percent yes in Wayne County; 65 percent no to 35 percent yes in Oakland. County; 77 percent no to 23 percent yes in Macomb County.

In Northville, the vote was 61 to 39 percent against, while in Northville Township the proposal was turned away oil 66 to 34 percent.

One need hardly be a statistical genius to know that the odds for passage are nil when the three most-populous counties in the state vote against a proposal by such vast numbers.

Proposal A contained some worthwhile provisions and its intent of providinggreater funding to less affluent public school districts was laudable. But the most efficient way of providing sufficient funds for all schools is to do what should have been done all along: put enough dollars into the school aid formula to enable districts to provide basic educational programs.

In recent decades the portion of the state budget dedicated to school aid has dropped from more than 40 percent to less than 10 percent. This is inexcusable, especially since proceeds from the lottery were supposed to be distributed to local school districts.

Lottery monies, in fact, have been earmarked for schools, but, in a classic case of adhering to the letter of a promise while violating its spirit, existing funds were withdrawn and redirected, so that there was no net increase in dollars going

On balance, Proposal A was nothing other than an attempt to rob Peter to pay Paul. In this case, Peter had more money than Paul, but he also had more friends to come to his defense.

We believe Lansing lawmakers ought to begin to concentrate on doing what is most sensible and equitable: fund the school aid formula, look for ways of controling spending in other areas, and reduce the state's punishing property tax

Such a presciption would not be without its side effects, but, on the whole, the medicine's necessary to bring about the

Hall of Fame set for induction

You had to figure this was going times.' to happen.

The first few years that the Motorsports Hall of Fame inducted its honorees, they were household

Mario Andretti? He's in. A.J. Foyt? Got in a long time ago. Richard Petty? A shoe-in the first year. "Big Daddy" Don Garlits, Don The Snake" Prudhomme and Shirley Muldowney all have been enshrined.

We're almost out of possible inductees that have names everyone's heard of, so you really have to be a gearhead or a full-time racing fan to appreciate this year's induction class.

I'm having a hard time getting people excited about it, which is a shame because, even if you don't know the name, racing is all about driving fast, taunting danger, flamboyant personalities, colorful machines and huge crowds. Pretty heady stuff, that.

This year's Induction is Wednesday at Detroit's State Theater, but the unveiling of the new Hall of Fame plaques will take place Thursday at the Museum in the Novi Expo Center. For $4 it's a great opportunity to relive racing's past, and maybe meet one of our heroes of horsepower - and get a free breakfast, too.

But I'm still running into conversations like the one I had at a party last week. I mentioned to a friend that I was involved with the Hall of Fame, and the Induction was coming up June 9.

"Oh, who's getting in this year?" asked my friend, seeming

I listed the Inductees for him: "Well, let's see. There's David Pearson, Craig Breedlove, Al Holbert . . . "

"Al Holbert? Who's he?"

"Sports car guy. He won the 24 Hours of LeMans three News.

Really? A long time ago?"

"No, in the '80s."

"Now where was I?" I continuted. "There's Louis Meyer, Wally Parks, George Bignotti . . . '

"Didn't he train boxers or something?"

Nope. He was the winningest mechanic in Indy Car history.' "Oh, I see," said my friend, suddenly becoming intrigued by the ice cubes in his drink. Then there's Dick Mann, Ted Horn, Jackie Cochran . . . " "Jackie Cochran," he said, his eyes alight with recognition. "He was that Scottish guy that always wore a cap and was the announcer on Wide World of Sports, right?" "No, that's Jackie Stewart. Jackie Cochran is a woman. She won a bunch of air races in the '30s and '40s, and was the first woman flyer to break the sound barrier."

Wow. A woman, huh?" "Yeah," I said, my patience wearing a bit thin. "The other ones were Wally Parks and Ron Musson."

"Munson, yeah, I remember him. He raced boats on the Detroit River back in the '60s. Ron Munson."

"Yeah, Munson," I said. Well, at least the recognition was there, if not the pronunciation.

But you shouldn't let a lack of recognition keep you away from the Hall of Fame or the Induction or the unveiling. Karen McAllister has put together video presentations for the Induction that will bring a lump to your throat, and the entire show at the state is always a classy evening out.

And those of us who worked to build the Museum and Hall of Fame are particularly proud that the unveiling will take place at the Museum for the first time.

Tickets are still available for all of our events this week, so call 349-RACE if you'd like to attend.

Want to insult a journalist?

Want to insult a journalist? Accuse him of practicing "Afghanistanism." It's a journalism word used to describe irrelevance, used most often in relation to editorials.

When you accuse a journalist of practicing Afghanistanism, you're accusing him of writing about something which has no relevance to the immediate world, or, at least, the world for which he is responsible for addressing.

It springs, I suspect, from the fact that Afghanistan is one of those small nondescript countries stuck somewhere in Europe where nothing of much consequence to the rest of the world takes place. Obviously, the word was coined before the former Soviet Union invaded Afghanistan. I'm thinking about Afghanistanism today because The Novi News has come under fire from the Novi Board of Education because board members are unhappy with some of the editorials we have been writing. As a result, I have been thinking about our criterion for

First, editorials must be local. They must deal with matters of importance to the local community.

That's typically where Afghanistanism comes in. Believe it or not, a lot of journalists prefer to avoid criticism. Write something critical about the local city council, township board or school board, and people are going to be upset about

It's a lot easier to write something nasty about Afghanistan. We have very few subscribers in Afghanistan. We've never editorialized about Afghanistan in our papers, but we have practiced Afghanistanism on a few occasions. Attack the Oakland County Road Commission. Attack the Michigan legislature. Sure, if any of the legislators see it, you might get an angry phone call. But, typically, you can editorialize about Pontiac or Lansing all you want and nobody is going to get terribly upset.

A second criterion. Editorials must be constructive. The purpose of an editorial is to bring about positive change . . . make things better for the community. Obviously, there's a great deal of latitude here. Blasting a local board or council for meeting in secret session isn't going to be well-received by the board or council, but it's something which has to be done for the good of the community. Criticizing a board for attempting to squelch dissent isn't going to be well-received either, but it's something which has to be done for the good of the citizens. A third criterion is related. If the goal is to bring about constructive change, editorials should be written in such a way as to stimulate thinking. If an editorial antagonizes somebody . . . if the editorial backs them into a corner and forces them to defend themselves, the chances that the target of the editorial is going to weigh the merits of the argument seriously are diminished considerably.

If an editorial forces somebody to grovel . . . or puts them in a position of having to lose face, the objective of positive change is a lot harder to achieve.

Writing good, persuasive editorials takes a lot of work. And we put strong emphasis on relevant, constructive editorials in our newspapers.

The bottom line is that, regardless of what readers might think of the quality of our commentary, we will never be accused of practicing "Afghanistanism."

higher level of alienation. There's less sense of community" with the rest of the state. When we got to the W's (in counties), we were leading."

Q. Is that view of "Detroit" justified?

A. No. There were four clear pockets of opposition to Proposal A: Oakland, Macomb and suburban Wayne counties. Even though school boards endorsed A, taxpayers would have received little property tax relief. trivial school aid relief and the displeasure of shipping their higher sales tax money outstate.

• Detroit itself, where taxpayers would have received a 19-mill cut but voted no anyway.

• Four large outstate counties Washtenaw, where Ann Arborites would have had a mere 2-mill cut; Genessee (Flint), Saginaw and Bay City, the latter three on the I-75 corridor.

• Six Upper Peninsula counties around Marquette.

g. Why would Detroit, with so much to gain, vote no?

A. Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, supported A but blamed the GOP leadership for alienating Detroit by recalling the Cobo Hall refinancing bill from Engler's desk after the Legislature had passed it.

The Cobo Hall bill had a major impact on what they did in Detroit. The issue was trust. Dave Holmes, D-Detroit, who rarely says anything, said, 'I'm not taking this layin' down. You're not doing this to my city.' . . Engler was part of it. It (Detroit's negative vote) should not have been a surprise.

Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, an opponent, said: "The governor put it as three counties versus 80. Those three counties have 50 percent of the people. The people showed a lot better judgment than the organizations who were pushed and cajoled into supporting it."

Q. What will happen now?

A. A reporter put it best: "Robin Hood is back, and he's madder than poop," or something like that.

Q. Meaning?

A. Engler and legislators who supported tax base sharing will take away every state dollar suburban schools get for pensions and categorical aid.

That's the reason many out-offormula suburban school boards supported A - they feared the wrath of Engler, Sen. Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron, and Rep. James O'Neill, D-Saginaw, on categoricals.

Q. How does Engler justify that

A. He points to Bridgman, a Lake Michigan shoreline district with a nuclear plant.

"It's unsupportable," Engler said, "that Bridgman levies 8 mills, spends $7,000 per pupil and still gets a $400,000 check from the state. They won't get that check. And they'll have Engler.

Best guess: Some effort to pare or such as

Q. Bridgman is one thing, but what about the Novis, Northvilles, Parmingtons, Livonias, Southfields, Troys, South Redfords . . .?

A. Engler and the western legislators make straw men of the three B's - Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills and Bridgman - as examples of super wealth. They don't talk about the

Q. Are our leaders giving up on cutting property taxes and achieving school funding equity?

A. No, but they're licking their wounds and looking for other options. Engler still argues Michigan's property taxes are 30 percent above the national average. University of Michigan economists still see high property taxes as an impediment to industrial growth.

Q. Is there a clear message in the defeat of A?

A. Not that Engler can detect. "Sixty percent (of voters) are against anything at any given time . . . I'm waiting to see what Mike Sessa, Bill McMaster and Frank Garrison send us," he said.

Sessa and McMaster are vocal tax cutters. Garrison heads the AFL-CIO. All opposed A and attacked hold down property taxes, such as Senate Bill 146, a 1994 freeze. It was due to be taken up the day after Wednesday's election but was bypassed.

Q. What's ruled out?

A. Engler and Senate leaders say an income tax increase is out, though many House members of both parties would go that route.

Rusty Hills, Engler's communications chief, also says another ballot proposal is out.

g. Are any other plans out

A. Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, will push his plan, which would cut property taxes for most districts, not just 70 percent of them, and raise the sales tax 2 cents.

The difference: Faxon's plan would grant state aid based on regional costs of doing business rather than giving all $4,800 per pupil, whether they need it or not.

Another difference: Faxon's plan aims at cutting the dollar amounts of property tax bills, not tinkering with sessments or millage rates. Reaction from his suburban audi-

9. Any chance of a federal court forcing Michigan to do school

A. Some Democratic lawmakers. like Reps. Kirk Profit of Ypsilanti and Bill Keith of Garden City, wanted to write "equity" into the Michigan Constitution to allow such a suit. They've had no luck. Engler says a federal lawsuit is "not unthinkable," but he clearly would like to avoid it. Kentucky was forced to raise its tax load $1 billion for schools. Texas is in a messy suit.

9. What's the political fallout for Engler personally?

A. Irrelevant, except to political junkies.

The governor doesn't take the defeat personally, and he's right. Governors come and go. People vote their pocketbooks and their kids' interests.

There's a bright side. Rarely does a tax proposal (cut or hike) get more than 40 percent of the vote. Proposal A topped 46 percent, came out Wednesday to cast the pros and cons at length before finally deciding to vote against it.

Lansing politicians apparently are still paying the price for promising voters like Knight that transferring state lottery funds to the school system would mean better school "It boils down to trusting what they're telling us," she said. "We've heard it before.'

Jane Smiley also voted against the proposal, because of the impact of a 50-percent increase in the sales tax on lower income people.

"Nobody really addressed how it would affect the poor," she said, adding that she feared it would make their lives more difficult by jacking up their utility bills and living expenses.

Greg Presley, facing a 16-percent hike in the assessment on his Northville home, said he favored Proposal A ences: very good.

"I voted first for personal reasons; it lowers my taxes," he said. "But also, our senior citizens are being taxed out of their homes in the city. and I think that's a travesty."

Gene Neilson said she voted for Proposal A in the hope that tourists paying a higher sales tax could help shoulder some of the state's fiscal sales tax," she said, noting that the sales tax in other states is as high as 7 or 8 percent. Proposal A would have raised the state's sales tax from its current 4-percent level to 6 percent.

Richard Gillikin, who owns commercial property, said the assessment limits were what convinced him to vote for Proposal A.

"We've made enough attempts to make a change in this thing that no change isn't going to solve the problem," he said. "Hey, if it doesn't work, we can always try again."

Kitchen turns into minefield without care

How do you hold a sharp knife when peeling potatoes, or where are those pot handles when cooking on the top of the stove, or what are you standing on to reach a top shelf?

The ordinary household is full of potential hazards, food you can choke on, space heaters that start fires, deadly electrical currents, and cleaning agents that can poison. More accidents occur in the home and particularly the kitchen, than anywhere else in the house.

Kitchen knives are one of the most deadly houshold utensils that cause injury and require medical attention. Use extreme caution when children are around so they cannot get a hold of sharp knives.

When using a knife, make sure your hands are dry. Always store knives where you can see them and not in a drawer where you have to feel around for them. Remember always cut away from you, never toward you. Instead of holding the food in your hand for slicing or dicing, place the food on a board and hold tight with your fingers curled back and away from the sharp blade.

Oven cleaners, detergents, drain cleaner and other household chemicals are responsible for many emergency room visits. Inhaling vapors and sprays, ingestion and skin contact are all ways of being exposed. This exposure can cause skin burns, irritation of the eyes, nose and throat, cancer, damage to the liver, kidney and nervous system.

Use these chemicals only in well-ventilated areas. Avoid aerosol sprays as the particles are easily inhaled and quickly absorbed into the blood stream. Make sure these are stored away from children.

Each year some two million people are also poisoned by drugs, medicines, mushrooms and shellfish. Storage is extremely important for these products, keep any and all medications in their original containers so they can be identifled easily. Picking wild mushrooms may be fun but only if you know which ones are safe and which are toxic. Shellfish frozen, thawed and held at room temperature too long can cause food poisoning.

Ranges and ovens can burn hands, arms and fingers very quickly. Avoid wearing loose sleeved shirts around the stove, clothes should have tight fitting sleeves. Even boiling water can result in burns and a trip to the hospital.

Keep curtains and dishtowels away from the range areas and never lean on the range or

The range is not a storage bin for food that you're hiding or that the cupboard won't hold. Storing food inside the oven can cause serious problems if you forget and turn the oven on. Instant fire!

Neither should the top of the stove be used as a storage rack for paper, cloth or plastic. Don't store cookies or other food items above the range. You want to keep the children from climbing on or reaching over the range.

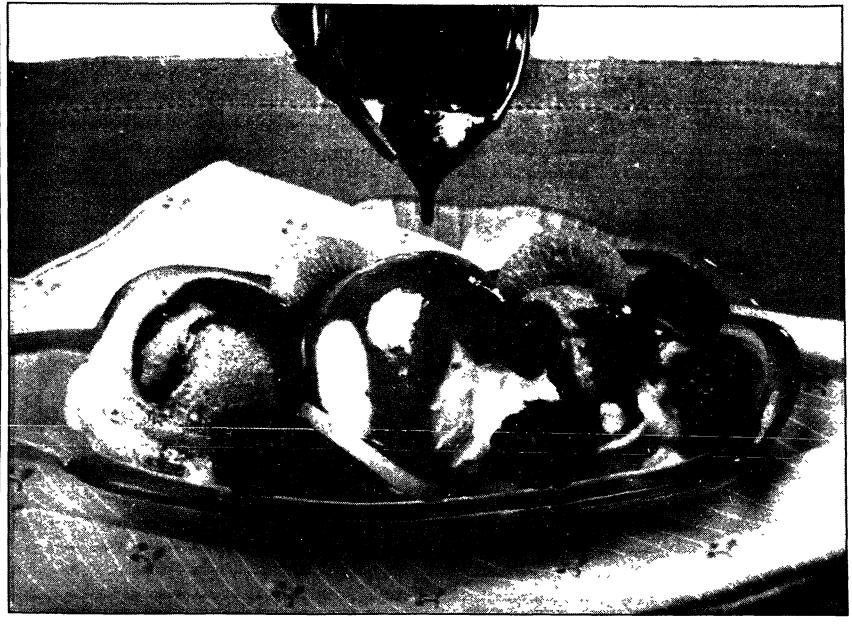

Match pan and burner sizes. If you put a small pan on a large burner, the exposed part could cause a fire or a burn.

Use sturdy, stable pots and pans with tight handles. Avoid plastic utensils that can melt, pots with loose handles, pots that are too heavy to move easily when filled with food, and pots that are too small or shallow for deep frying. The grease can spill and ignite easy.

Always turn handles to the side of the range to reduce the risk of hitting them and spilling the hot contents.

If there is a grease fire in a pan, turn off the burner, cover the pan with a lid or other flat object. Don't try to pick it up and carry it anywhere. This only fans the flame and makes it burn more flercely.

Plenty in June

Early harvest is a bounty in the 'wave

By CAROL CUTLER Copley News Service

Sure, fresh fruit of almost every variety is available all year round - if you're willing to pay the price.

But as spring segues into summer, the seasonal abundance means we can all afford to indulge in fresh strawberries, blueberries, nectarines, peaches, apricherries and melons.

And here's good news from nutritionists: fresh fruit is one sweet you can enjoy without guilt. Most are rich in vitamins and fiber; apricots, for instance, are high in vitamin A. And many fruits are rich in pectin, the fiber that helps jams and jellies to jell. Better news yet for summer dieters: most fruits have fewer than 100 calories per 1/2 -cup serving — and very little (if any) fat.

Fresh summer fruits are delicious eaten as is, but because most contain about 85 percent water, they also juice easily in a juicer or blender. This summer, instead of sugary sodas, try a healthy alternative: Mix one part fresh fruit juice with one part club soda and pour over ice. It's effervescent, like the popular sodas, has no added sugar but that found naturally in the fruit, and it has vitamins, too.

Ripen fresh fruit out of direct sunlight and at room temperature. If you like, place fruit in a closed paper bag to hasten ripening. Check every day, and refrigerate immediately once fruit is ripe.

Remember to wash all fresh fruit before eating in order to remove any traces of pesticide. Rinsing fruit under running tap water will remove only about 20 pecent of any pesticide residue. To clean fruit more effectively, wash with diluted dish detergent (scrub gently with a hand brush, if possible), and rinse well under tap. Do not, however, soak fruits in water, since may lose minerals, vitamins and texture.

Your microwave is perfect for fresh fruit, which should be cooked gently and briefly or it may lose texture, flavor and color. Overcooked berries (cherries, strawberries) may even develop "off" flavors. For even cooking, select fruit of uniform size, if they're to be microwaved whole - or cut into uniform pieces before microwaving. Check frequently after recipe's suggested minimum time to avoid overcooking.

Summer fruits can add color and flavor to salads, pastries, desserts, cakes even liqueurs. To make a delicious flavored liqueur using fresh summer strawberries, place 11/4 pints of washed, hulled strawberries in a 21/4 -quart microwavesafe casserole. Crush lightly with a potato masher. Stir in 2 cups each of vodka and granulated sugar. Microwave at LOW (30 percent power) for 15 minutes, stirring after 10 minutes. Cover and let stand for three to four days, then strain through a fine sieve lined with cheesecloth (to remove strawberry seeds). Yields about 2 cups liqueur.

Sweet and juicey, with a medley of delicate flavors, fresh summer fruits microwafe to perfection in the following recipes.

(Recipes in this coulmn are tested in 625- to 700-watt microwave ovens.)

MICRO-TIP OF THE WEEK:

Naturally moist loods, such as iresh fruit, microwave well, retaining flavor and texture because they microwave rapidly in their own moisture. When you do add water, add only a little, to avoid very exciting has happened on the Brady "front."

A while ago, I wrote about my desire to return to Ireland for a leisurely stay. As you know, this was one of the best vacations that Tom and I have had the pleasure of enjoying together.

As a result of that column, I received a call from Giacomo Serecchia (How's that for a name?), alias Jack, a passenger ser-

Something vice rep from Alitalia Airlines. He approached me with a deal that seems hard to believe: to accompany a wine and food tour to Italy.

I didn't need much encouragement to say yes, and the plans were under way. Where should we go? When? How much free time should be alloted to explore on our own? What kinds of restaurants and wineries are a must for the agenda?

I haven't been to Italy since high school, so I couldn't be of much help in the decisions. However, my input of what I would want on a trip of this sort came through loud and clear: great food, tremendous wine, fantastic accommodations, a fair amount of guided sightseeing and an honest representation of the country and its people. Also, the trip would have to be casual and a good value. I didn't think that was too much to ask.

Well, today Jack and Ian of Bennett's Travel (right here in beautiful downtown Novi) presented me with the itinerary, and it is exciting, a whirlwind seven days that look to be a knockout of a learning Breakfasts are also included. I wonder what Italians eat for their first meal of the day? Bread, olive oil, and a bit of wine? I hope so. What a heavenly repast.

On several of our evenings, for those so inclined, participation with myself and the local Italian chef in the preparation of the meal is encouraged. Imagine, working in an Italian kitchen. The different vegetables, fish and local ingredients will be thrilling to experience. My mouth is watering thinking of pastas, cheeses, rissotos, grappas and wines.

Part of the fun is getting ready to go. My education has already begun. Researching classical Italian cooking is a mindboggling task. In actuality, each region has dishes that are totally individual. What is traditional in Florence may be the exact opposite in Rome.

Over the summer you will be the reciplents of my studies. The daily specials will reflect many of the dishes that I hope to be eating at a casual roadside restaur-

We could all stand more grain

Eating more grains. You know it's the smart thing to do because in addition to being low in fat and calories, grains are a great source of energizing complex carbohydrates. Yet, getting the recommended number of servings may seem more challenging than it needs to be.

When consumers look at the USDA Food Guide Pyramid and see the six to 11 grain servings, their first thought is 11 can't possibly eat that many servings and still have room for all of the other foods I need each day," said Mary Mullen, a Chicago-area dietitian who counsels consumers interested in improving their eating habits. "What they often don't understand is how many servings are right for them.

"The Food Guide Pyramid gives a range of servings because the number of servings each of us requires depends upon our calorie needs. And, calorie needs are based upon a variety of factors such as age, sex, size and activity level. Many older adults, for example, need about 1,600 calories which can be obtained by eating the lowest number of servings from each of the five major groups.

According to Mullen, many consumers also don't realize that at least some of the grain servings they're already eating are actually two servings. One grain serving is equivalent to - 1/2 a bagel, hamburger or hot dog roll; 1 slice of bread; 1/2 cup cooked rice or pasta; 1/2 cup cooked cereal or grits; 1 tortilla; 1 whole grain wassle; and 2 tablespoons of wheat germ. This means that a sandwich, many pasta entrees and a bagel all count as two grain servings.

One way to get in the habit of eating more grains is to think of cereals and other grain-based foods as ingredients and snacks. Here are some ideas from the Quaker Kitchens.

 Use nutrient-rich wheat germ to coat chicken and as an extender when making meatloaf and

Sprinkle wheat germ over salads, soups, baked potatoes and frozen entrees for a nutrition boost. • When the urge to snack strikes, reach for unbuttered popcorn, pretzels, mini bagels, rice cakes, bread sticks or graham crackers. Or, combine peanut butter and wheat germ and spread over apple, pear or banana slices and raw Wheat germ can also add a nutrition boost to homemade mussins and yeast breads. A serving of wheat germ (2 tablespoons) contributes 2 grams of fiber, is a good source of six essential vitamins and minerals and provides 50 calories.

Here are some recipes from Kretschmer wheat germ. Wheat germ also adds nutty flavor and whole grain texture to the hot roll mix used to make onion-topped Easy Herb Focaccia.

Muffins are one of the most popular members of the grain group, and hearty Garden Patch Muffins, feature the goodness of corn meal and wheat germ. Flects of zucchini, carrot and green onion along with zesty seasonings and Parmesan cheese make these mussins perfect accompaniments to soup, salads, pasta dishes and broiled meat, poultry and fish.

The eggplant is probably the only vegetable that can be truly described as voluptuous. Some vegetables, such as pattypan squash, are cute, and green onlons could be deemed pert, but the eggplant is unique.

The younger generation of cooks is often unsure of what to do with egg plant, but one of us is usually around to answer questions and give cooking

"Generally we have two kinds of eggplant on hand. The smaller ones are good for stuffing, and the larger ones are for recipes that call for a larger quantity of eggplant like office really beat, I can conjure up

To find the best eggplant, Maiorana recommends looking "for one that's nice and firm, with taut, glossy, deeply colored skin and a nice *Avoid eggplants with a discolored or dull skin. Allow about 1/2 pound per person. Store eggplant in the refrigerator, unwashed, in a plastic bag for up to five days.

Eggplant tends to absorb oil during cooking, which makes it attractive to those who love the flavor of olive oil and garlic, which are often components of eggplant recipes. Add raw or sauteed cubes of eggplant to soups or stews for added flavor.

To reduce the amount of oil absorbed, sprinkle cut sides of raw eggplant with salt and let drain in a colander for 30 minutes. Then rinse and pat dry with a paper towel.

Here are some serving ideas: Top hot cooked eggplant with garlic butter, basil, oregano, marjoram, or minced parsley. Top baked slices with sliced tomato and shredded cheddar cheese: return to oven until cheese is melted. Sautee cubed eggplant in olive oil with garlic, onions and mushrooms until soft.

Lest you think that a Mediterranean background is necessary to appreciate this congenial vegetable, listen to Ginger Vintzel of Troy.

Vintzel is of Dutch descent, and a "convert" to Greek cooking through marriage to husband, Michael.

To me, moussaka with a rich custardy sauce is just to die for," said Vintzel, director of advertising and public relations for the Michigan Design Center in Troy. "It takes time and effort, but it's worth it.

"Even when I come home from the enough energy to make a moussaka.

Like many good cooks, Mair-oana doesn't measure, but it should be easy to work out proportions for this Italian dish that will suit your taste.

Take a lengthwise slice from a small Italian eggplant. Scoop out the eggplant, being careful not to puncture the shell. Dice the eggplant, and saute in a little olive oil with diced onion, small pieces of Italian sausage. garlic, sait and pepper, for about 10 minutes. Add grated Parmesan cheese and tomato sauce to mixture. Stuff eggplant shells with mixture; they'll look like doublestuffed baked potatoes. Pour enough tomato sauce in a baking dish to just cover the bottom of the dish. Place stuffed eggplant in dish, pour tomato sauce over each half, and top with grated Parmesan cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Add more tomato sauce, if necessary, to prevent eggplant from sticking.

RECORD PORTS

Kickers whip Dearborn 5-0 in regional opener

By SCOTT DANIEL Sports Editor

In perhaps their best performance of the season, the Mustang soccer team humbled Dearborn Edsel Ford 5-0 Wednesday night in a state regional semifinal matchup.

Renee Androsian and Kristin Wasalaski each scored twice to lead Northville past the Thunderbirds at home. The shutout was goalkeeper Jessica Jones's 14th this year school record.

"Give Jessica a lot of credit." Northville coach Bob Paul said. "She's been terrific."

Not having played Edsel Ford or any of its opponents this season made Paul nervous before the game. The coach said his strategy was to make the T-birds play Northville's game, namely finesse over brawn. It worked.

After the first few minutes of the game, Northville began to dominate. With eight minutes gone by, Emily Lawrence took a free kick from around midfield and sent a high arching shot toward Dearborn's net.

The T-bird goalkeeper came out to stop the shot but watched helplessly as it bounced over her head. Androsian gathered the ball a few feet from the goal and booted it in to put the Northville continuted to pressure Edsel Ford. Valerie Schuerman stole a Thunderbird clearing pass and then smashed a shot into the top part of the net to give the Mustangs a 2-0 lead at 30:10 of the first half.

Schuerman's goal didn't end the home team's dominance. Northville kept the heat on Dearborn by aggessively going after the ball. More times than not it paid off in the form of Thunderbird turnovers.

The Mustangs converted on such an opporunity at the 24:02 mark. Schuerman pounded two shots at the Dearborn goal only to have them pushed away. A third Northville shot deflected to Androsian who then buried her second goal of the half.

Dearborn, meanwhile, gave Jones very little to worry about. The Thunderbirds tried again and again to attack up the middle of the field but were turned away with some fine defensive work from Lisa Bernardo, Angie Snyder, Katie Kohl and Lawrence, among others.

The half ended with Northville up

The Mustangs were never seriously threatened in the second half. Edsel Ford's best scoring chance came with about 30 minutes remaining after a Thunderbird redirected a crossing pass and hit Northville's goal post before bouncing away.

Wasalaski scored both of the Mustangs' second half goals. The first came at 17:10 and the second with just seconds left.

Paul said he was surprised at how easily his team won the game.
"Based upon their record," he commented, "we anticipated a tougher challenge."

The win sent Northville into the regional final against Plymouth Canton Saturday (after Northville Record
