

Vorva gets an earful over school finance

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

State Rep. Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth, swung through Northville last week to listen for ideas on how to revamp Michigan's public education system.

What he heard primarily was criticism of the state Legislature for slashing property taxes from school funding and leaving Michigan schools with a $6 billion shortfall for the coming fiscal year.

About 30 people turned out to Northville City Hall Wednesday evening, Aug. 11, for the second of two area public hearings called by Vorva. Township resident Jerry Ripley, with two of his three children in Northville public schools, agreed to the need for school finance reform due to disparities in per-pupil expenditures across districts and the system's overreliance on property taxes.

"I, however, believe the recent actions of the Legislature in this area to be highly irresponsible," Ripley said. "To vote to eliminate property tax as the major source of K-12 funding without first identifying the source of the replacement revenues, or even stating a commitment to the extent that those revenues will be replaced, to me is incredible."

His remarks drew a burst of applause from the audience.

Council gets good news on Ford dam

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The Northville City Council was, er, darn happy to hear Monday night that the Ford Valve Plant dam is in good shape.

The cement levee, together with the stretch of Middle Rouge River waterway that it controls and land north of the river, are to be donated to the city when Ford Motor Co. sells the plant to R & D Enterprises of Northville Township.

Ford agreed to fund an engineering study of the dam in July when city officials raised questions about its condition.

The subsequent visual inspection by BCM Engineers of Northville found only "minor flaws" in the dam, said City Manager Gary Word.

Small cracks were seen near the crest of the dam and on the spillway, and animals had burrowed into the earthen embankments on either side. The engineers recommended removal of the animals, patching of the cracks, repainting of all metal surfaces and other minor maintenance and repair items.

The recommendations are being addressed by Ford and should be completed by mid-September, Word said.

The engineers noted that the dam is too small to fall under the reporting requirements of the state's Dam Safety Act. If it did, according to the state Department of Natural Resources, it would qualify as a "low hazard potential" structure.

DNR officials called the BCM report a comprehensive one and are satisfied with its recommendations, Word said.

Council members raised questions about the land being donated to the city, asking who would be responsible for its upkeep.

Recreation Director Traci Johnson begged off when asked if Northville Parks and Recreation should maintain it, but Mayor Chrs Johnson said he considered it a reasonable task for the city's Department of Public Works, considering the value of the area as a park.

Wondering what to wear to THE social event of the season in Northville?

Charlie Patricolo, manager of MainCentre's Craft Village, said she has the answer to all your fashion needs.

Patricolo is chairperson of Biscuits & Bustles, a Victorian fashion show and trunk sale scheduled for this Sunday, Aug. 22 between noon and 5 p.m. The sale will be held at her store on the concourse level at 100 MainCentre as well as at Caffè Bravo and BRD's Hair Salon next door.

The event comes just in time for forward-thinking gentlemen and ladies to buy their outfits for Northville's Fifth Annual Victorian Festival Sept. 17-19.

Purveyors of fine fashion will find ready-made ball gowns, walking skirts, pinafores, parasols and gloves, and tailors will be on hand to take gowns in for alterations. Hair accessories and jewelry will be available to complete the look.

Patricolo even plans to have a consultant on hand to give helpful hints on how to convert that discarded tux or bridesmaid's dress into a vintage outfit.

"We've got almost 20 exhibitors between antique shops, bridal salons and crafters," she said.

Several models of varying ages will stroll the sidewalks along Center Street modeling the latest in 19th

Patricolo said she hopes to turn the trunk sale into an annual event. Biscuits & Bustles is sponsored by the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the MainCentre Merchants. For more information, call the chamber at 349-7640 or Craft Village at 347-4639.

Anderson replaces water, sewer commission

By SHARON CONDRON

One person will replace four in overseeing and managing Northville Township's water and sewer department.

In two separate motions at last Thursday's township board meeting trustees voted to hire former township consultant Bill Anderson as the new Water and Sewer superintendent and dissolve the four member commission that has overseen the department for 15 years.

Police nab suspected drug supplier

By SHARON CONDRON
and STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writers

Northville Township Detective John Werth is making a habit out of busting Northville people — allegedly buying and selling drugs.

Almost a month after Werth led township police into a Redford man's home to confiscate nearly 10 ounces of marijuana and a truckload of stolen merchandise, the detective was poking around in the city of Northville.

On Friday, Aug. 6, just after 7 p.m., Werth led three city and four other township police officers into the Pennell Avenue rental home of a 21-year-old resident where he expected to find marijuana and LSD.

The detective said a tip from an ongoing investigation led township police to the city resident's doorstep. There, police stormed through the door and arrested the Northville man and two Livonia men for narcotics possession. They also confiscated a quarter ounce of marijuana and 90 hits of "acid."

"We believe this guy was the main supplier," Werth said of the 21-year-old. "Livonia man police dragged out of his home."

The surprise raid came after township police got wind that the man was allegedly dealing drugs to teenagers in the neighborhood. Township police confirmed their suspicions after they staged a drug buy at the home the night before the raid, detectives said.

Werth said township police intended to raid the city home early Saturday morning, but changed their minds at the last minute after they learned the resident may have been tipped off about their plans.

Unaware of the impending township drug raid, city police already were keeping an eye on the house due to a neighbor's complaint that the street surrounding it was regularly crowded with cars. Township police notified the city that they were going in Friday evening, just prior to the actual bust, and invited three city officers along for the ride.

City Police Sgt. Cusy Callendar, a five-year veteran of the Western Wayne Auto Theft Unit, was the second man in the door of the reputed drug house that night. Callendar said the rental unit resembled a "typical drug house, not very clean."

He also noted that the initial raid did not end the arrests that night, as unsuspecting buyers continued stopping by the home.

"Because the officers were in plain clothes, and they (the suspects) didn't know who they were talking to, they asked if they could buy LSD," he said.

Police also confiscated a loaded shotgun from the property's second floor, he said.

When Callendar returned to the scene three hours after the initial raid, he questioned a 19-year-old Livonia resident who said he had driven another suspect to the house to buy drugs.

When asked what vehicle he had driven, the man pointed to a 1990 Jeep Wrangler by the curb. Callendar shined his flashlight in the window and saw a plastic bag containing what appeared to be marijuana sitting on the console between the seats. The man admitted keeping two pipes in his glove box and a search of the glove box turned up the pipes, tweezers and a small container with more suspected marijuana.

City police seized the man's Jeep under drug forfeiture laws. But because he had no prior history of drug involvement and due to the small amount of drugs found in his car, he was allowed to pay $900 in restitution to the Wayne County prosecution.

Twp. studies public safety plan

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

Northville Township Trustees will take a closer look tonight at a proposal to consolidate police and fire services under the umbrella of a public safety department.

The proposal, which was brought to trustees by Township Manager Bill Richards and Township Supervisor Karen Baja last week, seeks to merge the departments and cut administrative costs.

The administration's plan was tabled at last Thursday's meeting after trustees voted 4-3 to refer the proposal back to them for further review at a study session following a special board meeting tonight at 7 p.m.

Richards said Tuesday he wasn't surprised trustees hesitated to approve the concept because they had questions about its feasibility and effectiveness.

"It's not unanticipated that matters that have been proposed for change would be referred back to the board for further study," the manager said. "It's actually appropriate that it would be done this way."

Under the administration's plan for consolidation, Chief of Police Chip Snider would oversee the new department as public safety director. Fire Chief Rucke Rosselle would retain his title, but report to Snider.

Under the proposed plan, Richards said Rosselle wouldn't lose his title or any compensation. But Assistant Fire Chief Bill Zhmendak would act as the chief administrator for the fire division. Fire dispatcher Paula Sherman would be bumped from the fire station to the newly-created department to serve as the clerical/administrative assistant for both forces.

Richards had originally proposed the plan with a $6,500 salary increase for Snider, but that provision was taken out of the plan when it was presented to the board last Thursday.

Clerk offers review board to eye fund

Anderson resigned from his former consulting position with Ayers, Lewis, Norris and May, Inc. last week to take over his new $48,000 assignment this week.

Township Manager Bill Richards said Anderson's move from the township's consulting firm to its payroll was an amicable one.

The manager said there was little objection from trustees to naming Anderson to fill the full-time post because his education and experience made him ripe for the job.

"He left on good terms," Richards said about Anderson's job switch. "He was presented to the board because he had the best credentials for the position. He is well educated and has the ideal experience. It's a beautiful blend to be a department head for the position."

Anderson had been the township's consultant for years. It was that familiarity that made his candidacy stick out among others that answered the township's call to fill the position that's been vacant for two years.

"He had the whole package — experience, training and familiarity — that clearly made him the superior candidate," Richards said.

While trustees lent their full support to hiring Anderson, they weren't as agreeable to the notion of dissolving the commission. Trustee Barbara O'Brien and Treasurer Rick Engelland voted against the motion to disband the commission last Thursday, but the board majority ruled in the 5-2 vote.

Township Clerk Sue Hillebrand was the board liaison to the water and sewer commission. She said she favored the motion because it cut out a layer of government she didn't think the township needed.

"I think it's a good move. It didn't seem to me that there was really anything that they (the commission) did that couldn't be done by a superintendent."

Essentially the board's action forced the water and sewer department to come under the fold of the township structure. And now with the superintendent in place the water and sewer department will function like the rest of the township departments do with their own department head.

"We are going to fold it back into the township just like another department," the clerk said.

Hillebrand said there were only two residents who voiced an opinion on dissolving the commission at the public hearing that preceded the board meeting last week.

Thomas Handyside and Bill Butterfield are now both former members of the commission and feared that the board's decision to disband the commission stemmed from the trustees' need to spend the money in the water and sewer department's restricted fund.

Hillebrand balked at their complaints Tuesday and said that most of the $8-$9 million fund was earmarked to pay the township's portion of the costs to participate in the Western Township Utilities Authority sewer lines and the rest was protected by laws governing its use.

The clerk said that other residents have voiced the same concern about the restricted fund since she and Township Supervisor Karen Baja first brought the concept to the board two months ago.

In an effort to squelch the notion that the board is attempting to gain access and control of the fund, Hillebrand is expected to propose that a Water and Sewer Financial Review Board be set up to monitor the account. She said Tuesday she'll suggest the idea at a board study session tonight.

Hillebrand said the review board isn't intended to duplicate the function of the now defunct commission, but it would be "an extra check and balance there."

Police News

Northville teen arrested for possessing alcohol

Township police arrested a 17-year-old Northville minor for possession of alcohol and disobeying a red light on Friday, Aug. 13. According to the police report, the driver of a 1987 Honda Civic ran a red light at the intersection of Northville Road and Seven Mile. After a township patrol officer pulled the driver over, he found two six packs of beer on the floor in the back seat of the car.

The 17-year-old driver told police he thought he was allowed to transport the beer at his age even though he wasn't allowed to drink it. Police ticketed the man for minor in possession and for disobeying the traffic signal. The driver faces a Sept. 3 court date.

INDECENT EXPOSURE: A 13-year-old girl said she saw a white adult man standing naked outside her parents' Sunnydale home on Friday, Aug. 13. The girl told police the man stood still holding his genitals even though she screamed several times. Township police responded to the call, but found no evidence at the scene.

FOUND PROPERTY: A Maplehill Drive resident told police he found a Passport radar detector lying in his backyard. The resident asked his neighbors whether or not the detector was theirs and each said it wasn't, so he turned it into township police on Aug. 13.

ATTEMPTED LARCENY OF BIKES: A Pondmeadow resident said she interrupted two teenagers trying to steal bicycles from her garage on Friday, Aug. 13. The woman said she was backing out of her driveway when she saw the two teens trying to steal the bikes out of her garage. The woman told police the boys dropped the bikes and ran when she shouted at them.

BREAKING AND ENTERING: Someone broke into the Clark Oil gas station at 510 S. Main St. sometime between 3:44-3:49 a.m. Aug. 14. An estimated $771 in cigarettes were stolen and $400 in damage was done to the front door of the station. Police found a small sledgehammer at the scene.

A maroon Pontiac Sunbird and dark minivan were seen in the station's lot shortly before the incident. The vehicles were last seen heading east on Seven Mile.

DRIVING WHILE LICENSE REVOKED: City police arrested a 33-year-old Westland man for driving while his license was revoked the night of Aug. 14 after he was stopped on Seven Mile near Eaton Drive for a burned-out taillight. The man had failed to comply with court judgments in at least six cases including two speeding citations, and had failed to appear in court on another. He was released after posting bond.

DRUNKEN DRIVING ARREST: A 33-year-old Ypsilanti man was arrested for driving under the influence Aug. 15 after city police clocked him at 55 mph in the 40-mph zone on Eight Mile at Taft. He said he was lost and when asked to step out of his car, told police to give him directions to Ann Arbor and leave him alone. He stepped out of the car after being asked a second time, and failed several field sobriety tests including reciting the alphabet. After getting to the letter N, he told police he did not know it.

He was held in a cell at the city police station until he sobered up and posted bond.

Police responding to a 911 call of an assault off Griswold at 11 a.m. saw the man driving away from his apartment and blocked his route with their patrol car. When they asked if he had struck someone, he said "Maybe."

Police took him into custody and interviewed his girlfriend, who was holding a blood-soaked rag and had a red, swollen nose and slightly swollen lip. She told police that the man had punched her in the arm several times and in the face, and kicked her as she lay on the floor. The fight allegedly stemmed from an argument about their relationship.

The man was held at the city police station until the following day, when he was released after posting a $150 bond and a court date was set for his arraignment.

FENDER BENDER: City police cited a 17-year-old South Lyon man for failing to stop after he ran into the back of another car on eastbound Eight Mile at Center. The car was stopped for a red light. No injuries were reported, and both cars were driven from the scene.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

piece of property for parkland," Johnson said.

"I have no problem with that property as parkland," responded Council Member Paul Folino. "My question is, can we maintain it?"

Word said he believed the DPW could provide basic maintenance of the area including mowing for the short term until the city settles on a long-term solution.

Lawmaker solicits ideas for educational funding

Ripley argued that Northville Public Schools have been working fine under the present financing system, spending little more than the state average per student and achieving some of the best Michigan Educational Assessment Program scores in the state. He feared that the Legislature's new funding system may drag down school systems like Northville's rather than raising the funding level for underfunded districts.

"You've chosen to jump into the murky sea of school finance reform without a lifejacket," Ripley said. "We hope you're able to demonstrate you know how to swim, or the quality of education for all our students will sink with you."

Several audience members also argued against hiking the state's single business tax to help replace the lost school revenue, saying that such a move would hurt small businesses and work against the Legislature's stated desire of improving the state's business climate.

"Your big companies are not going to be paying property tax anymore, and it's all going to fall back on the little guy," said Northville City Council Member Paul Folino, who owns a local insurance branch.

"I'm thinking of adding more help in my office. Well, now I'm not going to be able to add more help. I'm going to have to lay off a girl. And you're saying that's going to increase business and create millions of jobs? That's not going to create anything, Jerry!"

Local resident Irene Fleming, whose husband just started up his own business, added that the single business tax is not related to a company's profitability.

"Whether a company's making a profit, it must pay that, and especially in the startup phase of a business when they tend to run a negative cash flow, it's difficult," she said. "If that tax goes up, more businesses will flounder and fail."

Wednesday's hearing also drew differing comments on the need to replace funding for Tax Increment Financing Authorities like Northville's Mainstreet program, left in the lurch by the loss of about half its projected financing. The Mainstreet '93 parking improvement program was to be funded by tax capturing, the diversion of property tax revenue increases from the city's downtown development district.

Fleming, who sits on Northville's PTA/PTSA Coordinating Council, argued that TIFA funding is unfair because it diverts revenue that otherwise would have gone to schools. In the case of Northville Public Schools, she pointed out, the money is diverted from a system that serves several municipalities to benefit one city's downtown.

Mayor Pro Tem Carolann Ayers countered that Northville Public Schools supported the city's original Mainstreet program in 1978. "They are a small community's main way of providing infrastructure rehabilitation," she said, as she urged Vorva to see that provisions are made for TIFA funding in the future.

Vorva assured her that he would. "I want you to know it was the first thing on our minds because we knew we had time to solve the schools' problem but for the DDAs it was an immediate impact," he said. "Please don't think that we're putting it off. . . . That's going to be one of the first things that we do."

Tip from township police nets drug arrests in city tor's office to get the vehicle back. Of that money, $750 will be returned to the city to be used in further drug enforcement efforts, Callendar said.

Werth said it was his ongoing investigation of a teen-age drug ring that tipped police off to the city resident's drug business. For almost six months, the detective has been working day and night to flush out local teens involved in the drug ring. And he's been successful with similar raids on homes in Plymouth and Redford.

Three search warrants later, township police have nabbed five Northville residents, two Plymouth men, one Redford man and two Livonia men, all of whom were allegedly involved, directly or indirectly, in the ring.

Along with drugs and drug paraphernalia, township police have also confiscated stolen merchandise that teens were allegedly stealing from Northville homeowners and using to buy drugs.

SCHOOL'S HERE

With less than two weeks to go before school starts, the rush to brush Meads Mill Middle School is on.

When the Northville Board of Education recently learned it had enough in carryover funds from last year's operations budget, it hastily awarded a $41,000 painting bid so work could begin immediately.

Originally, the district had slated painting the middle school for 1992; however, that year's millage defeat forced the district to put off its painting schedule.

Tom Bailey, administrative assistant for operations, solicited bids from 12 companies, but only received three responses. The lowest bidder, which was awarded the job, was AIM Construction of Livonia. The two other bids were $43,000 and $87,900.

Areas to be painted include interior and exterior parts as well as custodial rooms and bathrooms. Those areas not receiving a fresh coat of paint include the shop room, wood doors, library furniture or shelves, unfinished brick walls and moveable partitions in walls.

Other rooms not included in the bid were those painted by staff last year where paint had been peeling.

At a facility sub-committee meeting held earlier this month, Bailey said the painters had promised to attempt and finish the job before school starts Sept. 2.

Administrators already at work

By MICHELLE HARRISON
Staff Writer

There is no such thing as a summer vacation for a school administrator.

While students and teachers have a two-month-plus hiatus, the school administrator is already preparing for the upcoming school year.

Like David Bolitho, assistant superintendent for administrative services, who was juggling several projects last week.

"Right now we're doing a lot of paper screening," he said, referring to the checking of files of potential new hires.

Bolitho said the district received over 500 applications for 10 open positions. While some of those positions are routine replacement of retirements and resignations, some vacancies are also due to the board of education's commitment to reduce classroom sizes by beefing up the teaching force.

"Four days this week are committed to interviews," Dolly McMaster, assistant superintendent for instructional services, said of her schedule.

Also on the agenda for Bolitho is devising bus schedules.

"We need to look at where the new faces are and what (stops) are the most efficient," he said.

Mechanics in the transportation department are also preparing the district buses for their state police inspections, scheduled for Aug. 23. The police examine the buses only once a year so if a bus isn't up to par, it remains parked until the next inspection, Bolitho said.

"It puts a lot of pressure on our two mechanics," he added.

In the maintenance department, progress has been made in several safety and environmental projects such as the annual asbestos check. In addition, an infrared roof test, conducted at Cooke Middle and Moraine Elementary schools, showed where roof deterioration was.

Also this summer, each building site was checked for any possible buried chemicals or toxic materials.

"We just felt with something like that it's important to be proactive," Bolitho said.

The custodial department is getting a boost with cleaning chores this year as the board approved hiring temporary substitutes to get the buildings back in tip-top shape before school starts.

"The board acted very responsibly on a project had we not jumped on this summer, we would have taken a loss," Bolitho said. "... we feel we're going to be ready to go to open school on time."

Cleaning crews are currently in the buildings now stripping floors as well as sealing and waxing them, cleaning lights and furniture, scrubbing and shampooing carpets, refinishing wooden gym floors, cleaning the high school pool and sanitizing locker rooms.

McMaster has also got her hands full with projects. She just finished her summer staff development project plans and is now gearing up for a week-long institute to teach the new K-6 language arts curriculum. It will be held next week at the high school. A consultant from California is expected to teach educators class management and curriculum, and how to assess the new program.

McMaster is also waiting on several things to come back from the printer, such as the Public Act 25 annual reports to be handed out at school buildings' open houses; the K-6 language arts parent handbook; the updated strategic plan booklet which will be mailed to all homeowners in the district; and school handbooks.

McMaster has also planned the agendas for two staff development days, scheduled for Aug. 30 and 31. The staffs of the high school, middle schools and elementaries will each be treated to different topics.

There are some exciting things McMaster is looking forward to in the 1993-94 school year. The mastery learning pilot program, to be tested in several K-12 classes, will begin this fall.

She will also be meeting with high school staff in an attempt to further implement technology preparation.

"There are departments other than math that can have applied academic courses," McMaster said, referring to communication, physics and biology classes.

Students are to report to school for a half day Sept. 2. Their first full day will be Friday, Sept. 3.

Teachers are required to report for two staff development days, Aug. 30 and 31, as well as a work day Sept. 1.

Northville Board of Education adopts immunization policy

The Northville Board of Education has adopted a policy recommending that all students enrolling in a middle school or the high school for the first time (i.e. sixth graders to the middle school and ninth graders to the high school) should submit a completed health examination form, signed by a physician verifying that the student has received a physical examination.

This form may be obtained from the principal's office or board of education office.

Medications

Any student required to take prescribed medication during regular school hours must provide the school with a written order from the student's physician, with the name of the medication, dosage, time medication is to be taken, diagnosis or reason for the student taking the medication and the side effects to be observed as well as written permission from the parent/guardian requesting the school to give the medication as directed by the physician.

Medication must be brought to school in a container appropriately labeled by a pharmacist. Supplies should be sufficient for the duration of the prescribed length of time or sufficient for a month for long-term prescriptions.

Non-prescription medications, such as aspirin, ointment, cold tablets, etc., may not be given without prior written permission by the parent or guardian.

Immunizations

The state and county health departments require that students have, as part of their school record, a signed form verifying the completion of required immunizations or a signed immunization form indicating a waiver for religious purposes.

New students to the district who believe that the appropriate immunization has already been obtained will be given a reasonable period of time to show proof of immunization through provisional admission. However, provisional admission is not permitted for kindergartners, pre school or child care students or to any other student whose record of immunization is located outside of the United States.

Foreign exchange students and any child who is entering school from outside the United States must have a written record of one dose of each required vaccine. Provisional admission of such students is prohibited.

Required immunizations include:

DTP or TD — four or more doses. Only three doses of TD are required if series begins at 6 years of age or older. A booster dose is needed if series is completed under 4 years of age.

Polio — three or more doses. A booster is needed if series is completed under 4 years of age.

Measles, rubella, mumps — two doses. Given on or after the age of 12 months and at least one month apart, with at least one of the doses on or after 15 months of age. Measles, mumps and rubella vaccines are routinely administered at 15 months. They must be repeated if given before the age of 12 months. Measles and mumps must be repeated if administered before Jan. 1, 1968. Rubella must be repeated if administered before July 1, 1969. The only acceptable history of having had measles, mumps or rubella disease is current laboratory evidence of immunity.

HIB — A complete series of any Hib for children under 15 months of age. One dose of any Hib for children 15 months through 5 years of age. Applicable to child care center, pre-school and Head-start programs only.

Free immunization clinics are provided by the Wayne County Department of Public Health at the following centers:

Westland Health Center, Merriam Road (north of Michigan Avenue), 8 to 11 a.m. and 1 to 3:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and 4:30 to 7 p.m. Wednesday evenings. Call for an appointment.

St. Paul Presbyterian Church, 27475 Five Mile (at Arcola), 8:30 to 11:15 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m. the first Wednesday of each month. Walk-ins accepted, registration to capacity.

For more information regarding the immunization program, call the Office of Instruction at 344-8442 or your child's building principal.

Mill Race Matters

Mill Race Village, Northville's Historic Restoration Village, has something for everyone.

For those who wish some time alone, a quiet stroll on a moonlit night or an opportunity to contemplate the past and plan for the future, it provides ample opportunity to enjoy the grounds and commune with the natural environment which surrounds it.

For those who enjoy a little more structure, village buildings are open each Sunday afternoon from 2 until 5 p.m. with volunteer docents on duty to discuss the buildings and history of Mill Race as well as Northville.

The village is operated by the Northville Historical Society, a volunteer, non-profit organization on land donated to the city of Northville by Ford Motor Company just over 20 years ago. The Historical Society currently has about 400 members.

Membership is open to all interested parties from any region. Local residency is not a requirement of membership nor is there any requirement as to voluntary time commitment. If you are interested in joining or desire additional information, contact 348-1845 Monday, Wednesday, or Friday morning from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Additional opportunities include the chance to become involved in the operation of the village. Docents are always needed to staff the buildings on Sunday afternoon as well as for occasional weekday tours throughout the year.

School guides are needed to conduct elementary grade village tours during the school year. Articles are usually needed for the "Mill Race Quarterly," the historical society's quarterly publication now in its 20th year.

A group of dedicated men works two or three mornings each week year-round to keep the buildings in shape and to do the endless odd jobs necessary to keep the buildings looking attractive. The archives staff can use additional assistance. The grounds crew also can usually find work for an interested volunteer.

Then, of course, there is the social aspect of the organization. Volunteers are needed to plan and organize many of the events held throughout the year. These events include an annual Wine Tasting Party, the annual meeting, an annual Progressive Dinner, and an occasional Christmas Party or year-end gathering.

Also included in the never-ending collection of volunteer opportunities are the major fund raising events. Tivoli Fair, the organization's annual Arts and Crafts Fair, which raises the bulk of the organization's operating budget, needs countless workers for its weekend run (this year, Oct. 1-2). The Christmas Walk Victorian Festival, and Fourth of July all need dozens of workers and leadership to make the events successful.

A quick examination of the number of hours necessary to maintain the village, almost all of which are volunteer, is exhausting yet inspiring. Let's hope that the volunteer force continues to grow so that the Village can continue to provide this community with an opportunity to preserve and to learn about its past.

Lawmakers scramble to replace cuts

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Cutting all school operating property taxes was the easy part. Now Michigan legislators are scrambling to replace the revenue or cut costs.

Democrats are deeply divided. House cospeaker Curtis Hertel of Detroit tapped Rep. William Keith of Garden City to head a Democratic task force on school funding and quality.

"There is no question that the lost $6.3 billion must be replaced," said Hertel. Hertel, Keith and panel member Maxine Berman of Southfield all voted against the July 21 bill that eliminated two thirds of all public school revenue and 65 percent of all property taxes.

"Democrats hit a home run for the people," countered Senate minority leader Art Miller of Warren. He noted that Democratic gubernatorial hopeful Debbie Stabenow of Lansing sponsored the tax elimination amendment to a Republican bill that would have pared school taxes slightly.

That measure, Senate Bill 1, won 33 to 4 Senate approval with bipartisan support and 69 to 33 House approval with Democrats providing most of the opposition.

Republicans appear closer to unity and are emphasizing cost cuts before new taxes.

"I am disappointed that some Democrats in Lansing, led by Sen. Debbie Stabenow, are asking the wrong question first," said Senate majority leader Dick Posthumus of Alto. "Their first instinct was to propose enormous new tax increases before any serious discussions have taken place on educational quality or cost containment."

Added House co-speaker Paul Hillegonds of Holland: "We will focus on programs that have worked successfully in many school districts. . . Obviously, revenues will be part of the mix."

Meanwhile, two Oakland County GOP senators vowed to defend the revenues of their schools, which get little state aid and have been dependent largely on local property taxes.

"I'm concerned about reimbursement to local schools in Oakland County," said Sen. Michael Bouchard of Birmingham.

Added Sen. Mat Dunaskiss of Lake Orion: "I will remain vigilant to make sure that Oakland County does not unfairly shoulder the financial burden that this cut will necessitate."

Rep. Lyn Jondahl of Okemos, the House Democrats' chief tax man, was playing the role of prophet after fighting the tax bill.

Jondahl's point: The Legislature can't raise the full $6 billion to replace lost property taxes.

Reason: The 1978 Headlee amendment to the Michigan Constitution. It limits total state taxation to the ratio between taxes and personal income that existed in 1977.

Bottom line: Only about $4 billion in lost local taxes can be replaced by the state. Possible solution: Give local districts back part of their property taxing power.

Jondahl said the House never should have passed SB 1 the day after the Senate did but should have "put this bill into conference, giving calmer heads a chance to prevail."

Jondahl, like Stabenow, is a declared candidate for his party's gubernatorial nomination.

The tax cut is scheduled to take effect in July of 1994.

Democrats want Attorney General Frank Kelley to rule on the impact of SB 1 on local school millage elections scheduled before the law was enacted, but with wordings that may violate the law.

SB 1 says schools may no longer lump renewal and new revenue requests into a single proposal. Asked co-speaker Hertel: "If the electors of a school district approve a millage rate which includes both a renewal and an increase presented as one question, is that approval valid and may the school district levy the approved millage?"

Gov. John Engler, a Republican, already had his answer: No. His state treasurer, Doug Roberts, said Engler will sign SB 1 into law Aug. 19.

Roberts said millage elections scheduled after that date which have combined renewals and increases should be rescheduled or their ballot language should be changed.

Here is how various interest groups reacted to SB 1:

Michigan Association of School Boards executive director Justin King: "a knee-jerk reaction. . . If the Legislature wants to give school boards some control over the costs of education, they will put some teeth in the collective bargaining act covering school employees and repeal the Tenure Act."

Michigan Education Association president Julius Maddox: "Russian roulette. . . There must be replacement dollars for any property tax reduction. . . When and if revenues are replaced, the state will determine how those dollars are doled out."

League of Women Voters of Michigan President Connie Ferguson: "grave concern." Since the Legislature can't replace all lost local revenue, schools face "a significant shortfall in funding" next year. "All three broad-based taxes on income, sales and property should be relief upon, with more reliance on the income tax."

Youth assistance moves to high school location

By MICHELLE HARRISON
Staff Writer

The office of Northville Youth Assistance is now located in Northville High School.

Previously situated inside Cooke Middle School, NYA was forced to move because of a student population increase at the middle school.

"Cooke's enrollment grew to the point where we needed that classroom," assistant superintendent for administrative services David Bolitho said.

As part of a commitment between the city and township of Northville to Northville Youth Assistance, the school district is responsible for providing a space for the program. Bolitho said representatives from the city, township and school district brainstormed to come up with better locations, but could find nothing available.

The team's only concern with relocating the program to the high school was that the only available space was in the back of the building.

"But as resourceful as (director) Mary Ellen King is, I'm sure she'll make sure there will be no mistakes in letting people know where's she is located," Bolitho said.

Northville Youth Assistance provides supervised volunteer and professional social services to youths and their families to help strengthen family life.

"It's a combined effort to try and help the youth of the city, township and school district, who have experienced troubles at home or with law enforcement agencies," Bolitho said of the organization.

Now located in Room 157 at the high school, Northville Youth Assistance has office hours from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

City council approves three-year pact with Department of Public Works union

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The Northville City Council has approved a three-year agreement with the city's Department of Public Works union.

The nine-member American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees union, AFSCME Local 2720, ratified the contract at an Aug. 13 meeting.

Provisions of the three-year agreement include a 3-percent raise effective Jan. 1, 1994, a 4.25-percent raise July 1, 1994 and a 4.5-percent raise July 1, 1995. The agreement runs through June 30, 1996.

Employees also will be reimbursed for job-related training or college courses, provided they achieve a C or better in the course.

The city will consider alternate vision care providers for the workers, though no new provider can be secured before next year. All of the city's employee groups must agree to any change in vision care providers.

If the federal government adopts a national health care program, the city will meet with the union again to review potential amendments to the existing medical insurance program.

"It appears to be a very solid agreement," said Mayor Chris Johnson, who congratulated Mayor Pro Tem Carolann Ayers and the rest of the city's bargaining team for their efforts.

"I think it's a good agreement for both sides, really," said Council Member Paul Folino.

Local AFSCME Chapter Chairperson James Daniel, in notifying the city manager that the chapter had ratified the agreement, thanked the city "for a fine job in negotiations."

Both sides will be provided with a revised contract incorporating the changes within the next 90 days.

Tough college training will pay off

By JENNY BEYERSDORF
Special Writer

"The worst place to go to school, the best place to have gone to school."

That's how 2nd Lieutenant and cadet Colin O'Sullivan, a 1990 Novi High School grad, describes the United States Military Academy at West Point.

"My brother Tim is going there too this fall. His one weekend home is Labor Day, so I told him I'm going to take him out to Ann Arbor and show him what he's missing," grins O'Sullivan, who is just about to begin the last year of what, admittedly, has not been the funnest college education.

But despite the intensity of year-round schooling, military training, and the notoriously frightening plebe year at the academy, there are benefits.

Like the slogan promises, Colin has already seen much of the world by "joining the army." He has travelled to Australia, New Zealand, Europe, and Canada, and just this summer worked as a platoon leader for the second infantry division at Camp Casey, in South Korea.

"It was fantastic," says Colin of the one-month experience in Korea, which gave him a taste of what working in the armor division — his area of interest — might be like.

"I was in charge of four tanks and Where Are They Now?

15 men, I signed for $16 million dollars worth of equipment," says O'Sullivan.

He says the men in his platoon spent most of their days on the base practicing drills and keeping equipment clean and repaired.

"The base I was at is the most for ward deployed tank division in the army," says Colin. "It was a couple kilometers south of the DMZ, so we were within North Korean range during a time of increased tension on the Korean peninsula."

Fortunately, the only action Colin saw was some student riots. He was, however, present for the June 25 commemoration of the Korean War and, he says, he missed President Clinton's visit to the base by a mere two weeks.

Colin says the experience of supervising 15 soldiers, all older and more experienced than himself, proved a challenge.

"I was basically doing the same job I'd be doing when I graduate from the academy, if I go armor," he says. "And here I am, a 21-year-old cadet having to give orders to 35 and 36 year-old sergeants..." They were really respectful though," he adds.

After his month in Korea, O'Sullivan spent a couple of weeks in Europe with friends before returning home to Novi for a brief 3 day stay. Then it was back to Hudson, New York, where school began in early August.

He says he is looking forward to his senior year, as this year he has the privilege of having a car on campus, and of having more weekends to leave the academy than in previous years.

Plus, he has his little brother Tim — a plebe — to harass.

"I don't know if it'll be better or worse for him having me there," says Colin. "A lot of my friends will know him, but at the same time, a lot of them will make it harder on him because of that."

After his final year, O'Sullivan — who is an electrical engineering major — will begin his service commitment to the military.

Right now he is interested in the Armor Division, and he says he would like to be stationed abroad, or in Texas, Colorado, or Georgia.

Business school is in the game plan, too, whether or not Colin makes the army a career.

"If I stay, the government will pay for graduate school too," he says. But, "It's hard for me to say if I want to stay in right now," he says. "It will depend both on how I like it and on whether or not I get married. It's a hard life for a spouse and kids."

Maybe for a brother, too. Especially one just beginning four years at what his older brother jokingly describes as "the worst place to go to school."

Colin O'Sullivan is about to enter his final year at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Even though Baja assured trustees last week that the plan was not intended to give the impression the Rosselle was being demoted, there are those in township hall who believe this is Richards' way of dealing with a personnel issue.

Richards rejects that notion and said that Snider, Rosselle and Zhmendak all supported the plan when he pitched it to them the Friday before the Aug. 12 board meeting.

"Formal support of the proposal is there from both Chip Snider and Rick Rosselle," he said.

Snider didn't voice either support for or opposition to the plan Tuesday afternoon. Instead, he said he thought the decision to consolidate the departments was a political one rather than an administrative one.

"I really think it's a political decision whether or not to implement the plan for a public safety department," he said. "But I think the board may need to query the fire chief and myself before it makes a final decision."

Snider said he and Rosselle will be at Thursday's study session to hear the discussion and answer any questions anyone may have about the effectiveness of the plan.

Snider said he has served in the capacity of a public safety director before in other municipalities. He said the concept is not uncommon and would have little effect on any future attempt to consolidate police and fire services in the five neighboring communities.

Northville Township has committed money to fund a feasibility study on shared police and fire services. Elected officials in Plymouth and Canton Townships and others in the cities of Northville and Plymouth have also allocated funds to examine a possible joint services venture.

Snider said this proposed plan would have little bearing on a favorable outcome of that study because he expected research to show that consolidation might be limited to communication and dispatch services between the five communities.

Group seeks signatures to force a fall state-wide vote on property tax cut

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

As state lawmakers scurry to replace $6 billion in school property taxes, a suburban group wants to put the brakes on wiping out property taxes until new revenue is in place.

Citizens Alliance for Responsible Education (CARE) is seeking 129,000 petition signatures to force a November 1994 public vote on Senate Bill 1, which Gov. John Engler is scheduled to sign into law this (Thursday) morning at Greenfield Village.

One CARE co-founder is state Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, who voted against the bill. "The concept of property taxes for funding education is not unfair; it's the level of reliance on property taxes that is unfair," said Faxon, a veteran of school funding battles.

"Don't dismantle the system without something to replace it," said Vicki Barnett, the other co-founder of CARE. "We need to provide a safety net that the Legislature failed to provide."

rents Barnett is best known as chair of the 11th Congressional District Democratic organization and sometime legislative candidate. But she insists business types are supporting the effort because they are unable to plan finances under the new law.

Barnett is running CARE from her home in Farmington Hills. For petition forms, phone (313) 478-0942. Fax number is (313) 473-6441.

In two hectic days July 20-21, the Legislature passed SB 1 repealing use of the property tax for school operations effective July 1, 1994. Property taxes provide about two-thirds of public schools' $9 billion in revenue. They constitute 65 percent of total property tax bills.

So far, the Legislature has not decided how to replace the lost revenue. Under the Michigan Constitution, they apparently may replace only $3.8 billion of state replacement taxes.

Barnett said the petition drive, if successful, wouldn't repeal SB 1 but would "put it on hold until the public can vote on it in November 1994. It's a status quo plan."

She said that if the Legislature fails to provide replacement revenue by majority vote by Dec. 31, lawmakers will need a two-thirds supermajority to do so in 1994 because the replacement law will require immediate effect.

Barnett likened the governor's and Legislature's action to a pilot's deciding to land a plane and dumping out the fuel tanks to force him to act.

A top Senate Republican leader is offering a plan to raise $6.7 billion in replacement revenue without raising sales or income tax rates.

Majority floor leader Phil Arthurhultz of Whitehall offered this plan:

- Raise $2.4 billion with a revised state business tax, but he didn't define how. He is awaiting input from business leaders.
- Raise $940 million from economic growth this fiscal year and next.
- Raise $1.1 billion from closing income tax loopholes and ending tax credits.
- Raise $450 million from increasing the cigarette tax to 75 cents a pack.
- Cut costs by eliminating revenue sharing grants to communities, family farm preservation tax credits, grants to cities with racetracks and a 2.3 percent cut in all state budgets except education.

Your generosity speaks volumes.

Notice: Public Participation for Regional Long Range Transportation Plan From: SEMCOG, the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments

The Southeast Michigan Region is federally mandated to revise its Long Range Transportation Plan (LRTP) as a result of the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act. The LRTP looks ahead 20 years at the transportation needs of Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, St. Clair, Monroe, Livingston and Washtenaw Counties.

This plan is being revised with input from federal, state and local government levels and must be completed by October 1, 1993. Local elected officials will make decisions about how to prioritize spending of transportation dollars for road reconstruction, road improvements and the building of new roads. Policy decisions must also be made about other forms of transportation - buses, airports, bicycles and trains - for example. In addition, the 1990 Clean Air Act identifies Southeast Michigan as a moderate non-attainment area. The LRTP must support efforts to reduce regional hydrocarbon emissions by 15% by 1996 as required by the Clean Air Act.

Public participation is a vital ingredient in the revision of the LRTP. Elected officials must have some sense of the public will if a comprehensive plan is to be developed that addresses regional transportation needs.

Public information meetings will be held to provide an opportunity to comment on the draft 2015 Long Range Transportation Plan for Southeast Michigan. Meetings will be held:

- Wednesday, August 25, 1993, 9:30 a.m., at the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments office, 660 Plaza Drive, Suite 1900, Detroit.
- Wednesday, August 25, 1993, 7:00 p.m., at the Detroit Edison Communications Center, 26801 Northwestern Highway (north of 10 mile), Southfield.

At these meetings, the 2015 Long Range Transportation Plan for Southeast Michigan will be presented and the public will be invited to comment on any portion of it.

Copies of the draft document will be available at these meetings. For further information contact John Rempala at (313) 961-4266.

Copies of the draft 2015 Long Range Transportation Plan for Southeast Michigan will be available for public review starting August 25, 1993 at the following locations:

SEMCOG offices (address below)

The Suburban Mobility Authority for Regional Transportation (SMART), First National Bldg., 660 Woodward Ave., Detroit.

The Detroit Department of Transportation (DDOT), 1301 E. Warren, Detroit.

The Ann Arbor Transportation Authority, 2700 Industrial Hwy., Ann Arbor.

The St. Clair County Metropolitan Planning Commission, 108 McMorran Blvd., Port Huron.

County planning departments and the main offices of county road commissions in Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, St. Clair and Washtenaw and the Wayne County Department of Public Services (Department of Engineering).

Kevorkian arraigned on suicide law

By LEE SNIDER
Editor

Dr. Jack Kevorkian, who specializes in granting the final wishes of the terminally ill, got a wish of his own Tuesday when he became the first person charged under Michigan's anti-assisted suicide law.

Kevorkian was arraigned for assisting in the Aug. 4 suicide death of 30-year-old Thomas Hyde of Novi. Hyde was in the advanced stages of amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS) and had lost almost all muscle control.

Kevorkian has admitted providing Hyde with the apparatus the man used to take his life while he was in the back of the former pathologist's van on Belle Isle.

Kevorkian stood mute at his arraignment Tuesday afternoon before Magistrate Robert E. Costello in 36th District Court. An innocent plea was entered in his behalf. He was released on $100,000 personal recognizance bond, a form of bonding which requires no cash payment.

A preliminary exam date of Aug. 27 was set.

Hyde was the 17th critically-ill patient Kevorkian had helped commit suicide. Previous attempts to bring the so-called "Dr. Death" up on murder charges were unsuccessful, but this is the first time he has been charged under Michigan's ban on assisted suicide.

If convicted, Kevorkian could face up to four years in prison and a $2,000 fine.

Kevorkian all but dared prosecutors to indict him after he went public with the details of the Hyde suicide one day after the Novi man took his life. Kevorkian is known to welcome the chance to challenge the state's newly-enacted ban on assisted suicide.

Wayne County Prosecutor John O'Hair explained his decision to charge Kevorkian at a press conference Tuesday morning.

"The issue of whether a licensed physician or anybody else may actively assist another in ending his or her life is a profound social and moral question which must be decisively and forthrightly addressed in Michigan," he said.

"Our state cannot continue to keep this issue on the back burner or take incomplete and inconclusive measures. If it takes a criminal prosecution or trial of Dr. Jack Kevorkian to bring this issue to full discussion and resolution, so be it."

Ironically, O'Hair said he believed assisted suicide should be legal in Michigan for terminally-ill patients with less than six-months to live. He added, however, that it was the law, not his own views, that had to guide his actions.

The state Legislature last year passed a law banning assisted suicide, but it was soon declared unconstitutional by Judge Cynthia Stevens. Attorney General Frank Kelley, however, asked for a stay of the decision nullifying the law, and an Appeals Court panel granted his request.

The law was reinstated on Feb. 25. Though the legality of the statute is still unsettled, O'Hair said, in the meantime, the law is entitled to a presumption of constitutional validity.

"As it stands now, the law in Michigan clearly makes physically assisting a suicide a crime. Every first year civics student knows that in the American justice system no one person is above the law, and there can be no exception for Dr. Jack Kevorkian."

Heldi Fernandez, the woman who lived with Hyde for three years and shared the parentage of their 1-year-old daughter, Carmen, was unavailable for comment after Tuesday's developments.

However, in an exclusive interview with The Novi News last week, Fernandez was quoted as saying Kevorkian acted mercifully in helping Hyde.

"If anyone had been with Tom and had been with him like I was — I was the only person that was with him to the end — if anybody had seen that, you'd probably be making the phone call yourself trying to help him."

Hyde was diagnosed with ALS, also known as Lou Gehrig's disease, on Aug. 6, 1992. His condition rapidly deteriorated until he had difficulty speaking and swallowing. He occasionally would gag on his food and three times Fernandez had to come to his aid and perform the Heimlich maneuver on him.

According to Fernandez, Hyde was in almost constant pain in the final weeks of his life.

Convicted drunk drivers pay fat insurance rates

It's obvious that drinking and driving can be hazardous to a motorist's health, but insurance industry officials are asking drivers to consider the impact on their pocketbooks.

A conviction for drunk driving can be expensive. First, there are the legal fees, expenses, court costs and fines. Then, offenders can expect a big jump in their auto insurance rates.

A recent Michigan Association of Insurance Companies (MAIC) study found that the principal driver of a 1991 Ford Taurus who is convicted of operating a motor vehicle while impaired (OWI) will pay about 64 percent more for auto insurance coverage.

A conviction for operating under the influence (OUIL) or with an unlawful blood alcohol level (UBAL) will mean an average rate increase of 80 percent — resulting in an annual premium of about $2,400 in Lansing, for example.

"Accidents which result from drinking and driving are very costly," said Terry Buckles, president of MAIC. "This is reflected in the higher premiums which are charged to motorists convicted of drunk driving."

A driver with a blood alcohol concentration of .10 percent is six times more likely than a sober driver to cause an accident, the insurance industry spokesman added. In Michigan, it is illegal to operate a motor vehicle with a blood alcohol concentration of .10 percent.

Stricter laws against drunk drivers and increased publicity surrounding the dangers of getting behind the wheel after drinking have contributed to a decline in Michigan's number of fatal accidents involving alcohol.

Still, over 1,200 persons were killed and another 108,000 injured last year in alcohol-related crashes.

In Michigan, state law requires insurance companies to establish a plan for charging higher rates to motorists who have substantially at-fault accidents and/or convictions for driving violations. These extra charges vary by company.

However, individuals convicted of drunk driving charges normally will not be able to purchase auto insurance from regular insurance carriers, Buckles said.

Michigan law also permits insurance companies to refuse auto coverage to those with such convictions during the past three years.

Most motorists with drunk driving convictions must obtain insurance from the state pool to provide car insurance to people who cannot obtain or might have difficulty obtaining coverage.

The penalties in Michigan for operating while impaired (first offense) may include a fine of up to $300, court costs, a jail sentence of up to 90 days, up to 45 days of community service and suspension of driver's license for 90 days to one year.

Those drivers convicted of a first offense for operating under the influence or with an unlawful blood alcohol level may face a jail sentence of up to 90 days, a $100 to $500 fine, court costs, up to 45 days of community service and license suspension for a period of six months to two years.

OK guys, this way

Perhaps nothing can bring traffic to a halt in Northville like the geese and ducks that seem to claim as much right to the city's thoroughfares as anyone else. Here, traffic on Main waits until three of the city's feathered friends crosses to their sanctuary in front of the old Ford Plant.

Novi council nixes McDonald's rezoning request

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

M-I-C. . .
Sorry, but we'll not see you soon K-E-Y. . .
Why? Because the Novi City Council has rejected a request from McDonald's to rezone land at the corner of Ten Mile and Novi roads, the first step in the corporation's plan to build a McDonald's restaurant there.

Council members voted 4-3 against the rezoning at their Aug. 16 meeting. The vote followed a company representative's impassioned appeal for approval and comments from several area residents. Most said they opposed the plan because the new Mickey D's would add traffic to an already-clogged intersection.

Council Members Nancy Cassis, Carol Mason, Tim Pope and Robert Schmid voted to deny the rezoning request. Member Joseph Toth, Mayor Matthew Quinn and Mayor Pro Tem Hugh Crawford voted against the measure.

The denial caps two years of the burger czar's efforts to put an eatery at Ten and Novi. The McDonald's there would have become the fifth in or near the city, joining locations at Eight Mile and Haggerty Roads, Twelve Oaks Mall, and those near the intersections of Ten Mile and Grand River Avenue and Wixom Road and Grand River.

McDonald's needed the city to first rezone the land from its current OS-1 (office/service) designation to B-3 (business). That zoning would allow a restaurant such as a McDonald's. Following rezoning approval, company officials would have submitted a site plan for the 1.86-acre site.

In pitching the request, company representative Joseph Galvin said that the intersection is deteriorating. That will continue, he added, unless it gets the kind of booster shot a McDonald's would bring.

"Acti," Galvin said in a loud, deliberate voice. "Do something that you know is a good thing to do. There are lots of ways you can find to say no."

City consultants, citizens and council members themselves disagreed with Galvin.

"Common sense tells me that a fast-food restaurant is going to bring in more traffic than an office building at that location," Schmid said.

City Traffic Consultant Rodney Arroyo said that a fast-food restaurant would indeed generate more traffic in a 24-hour period than an office would on that site.

Community trail plan scaled down to exclude private lands

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

In a major policy change, the Novi City Council has scrapped plans for a 33-mile-long community trail system, calling instead for a much more limited network.

Council members voted 4-3 at their Aug. 16 meeting to delete all trails planned for private lands from the city's Natural Resources Design Plan.

The council directed city personnel to file right-of-way releases to developers and individuals who have given Novi easements for trail segments. The move limits the trail system to public parklands and easement corridors Detroit Edison has granted to the city.

Those voting for the measure — Council Members Robert Schmid, Carol Mason, Nancy Cassis and Tim Pope — cited several reasons for doing so. Those included concerns about crime, the privacy rights of those living near the paths and their opposition to the system, as well as long-term maintenance.

"There's a groundswell against this project in its present form," said Council Member and mayoral candidate Nancy Cassis. "It's time to drop the present plan and to limit the trails to public lands."

Mayor Matthew Quinn, Mayor Pro

Tem Hugh Crawford and Council Member Joseph Toth voted against the measure. Toth said he felt the council should delay any decision until the city's planning commission held a public hearing on dropping the system from Novi's master plan for land use.

Quinn said that city lawyers should first check out whether the council can legally give up all of the easements. The mayor said that consent judgments, Planned Unit Development (PUD) agreements and ordinances requiring public accessways could affect the decision.

In the vote, members asked City Attorney David Fried to review the easements incorporated in the trail system. Fried's report will detail which segments will have to go when the city gives up the easements.

The council first voted 6-1 to have the commission hold the hearing on deleting the trail system from the city's master plan and site plan manual. Quinn was the sole dissenter.

The commission last month approved the city's updated five-year master plan. It includes the present trail system design. The master plan has no legal regulatory capability, but by law the commission must hold a public hearing on any changes to it.

The Natural Resources Design Plan — also referred to as "Rhythms" — calls for 33 miles of trails for hikers, bikers, joggers and walkers. Most interconnect and meander through wooded areas of the city. Trail enthusiasts have tossed the idea around as far back as 1980, but most of the effort to create the system has taken place more recently.

The city has encouraged developers for years to donate easements for trails when building new subdivisions. Developers donated the first mile of trail easement two years ago, and the first 2,000-foot section of the trail opened in May.

One of those principally responsible for that event, NRDP Implementation committee chair Walt Jenkins, urged the council to continue to support the trail system. Jenkins said that the system would not bring crime or privacy violation concerns.

"What do we do now?" he asked council members after the vote.

Jenkins said he wanted to know what the committee should do with the donations it has received for the trail system, and about planned fundraising activities and other issues.

Several citizens who spoke at the meeting disagreed with council's action among them Planning Commissioner and council candidate Robert Mitzel.

"I'm greatly disappointed in this decision," Mitzel said. "It is inexcusable to make a decision like that when it's appeared on the agenda for the first time."

A semi truck collided with a southbound train on Novi Road early Tuesday morning. There were no serious injuries.

Train, car collide; driver walks

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

Roy Joseph Fereskerz is one lucky man.

He walked away with only a few scratches and a traffic ticket after driving his semi truck into the path of a CSX train Tuesday morning.

The accident happened shortly after 3 a.m. at the railroad crossing on Novi Road south of Grand River.

Fereskerz, 37, of Ladson, S.C., told police he was looking down at his computer for directions to Gen-Mar street when he looked up and suddenly saw the flashing train lights. He was heading south on Novi Road at the time. The train was heading in a southeast direction across Novi Road.

Fereskerz slammed on his brakes but it was too late. He skidded onto the tracks and stalled his vehicle, just as the train bore down and crashed into the front end passenger side of the truck.

Fereskerz's truck sustained major damage and is likely totaled, police said. Police Records spokesperson Esther McInnis said it was unclear what company Fereskerz works for. There was no damage to the train, and no one in the train was injured. Fereskerz was out of his truck and walking around when police and firefighters arrived at the scene.

He was transported to Botsford Hospital where he was treated for minor injuries and released about an hour later.

Police said that, if the train had been heading northwest instead of southeast, Fereskerz would probably not have survived the crash.

Fereskerz was ticketed for disobeying a flashing railroad signal. The violation carries a $75 fine, according to a Walled Lake 52-1 District Court spokesperson.

To prevent crime in Tucson, police use sensitive, highly sophisticated surveillance equipment:

Citizen participation is critical to police effectiveness. Do you care about your neighborhood enough to help protect it?

The Case of The Tucson Tip-off.

In a particular neighborhood in Tucson, Arizona, folks were having a real problem with burglaries and break-ins.

They started talking to each other about what they could do. They got fed up. About 400 people went to the police for advice. They learned about surveillance. They got to know their beat officers. Citizens and police became partners in crime prevention.

In just three weeks, 17 arrests were made and burglaries went down 30%. And Tucson is only one case where people successfully worked to beat crime. To find out more, write:

The Northville Record

Our Opinion

Policy could foretell exclusionary approach

The Northville Board of Education is on the verge of adopting a policy allowing the school district to impose charges for the preparation and dispersal of public documents.

School district Attorney Thomas Schwarze drafted the proposal and the board has approved it on first reading. Two "readings" — affirmative votes on two separate occasions — are required before a policy can be considered adopted.

Michigan's Freedom of Information Act permits public bodies to recoup "reasonable costs" incurred in responding to requests made under the FOIA, so the board's proposed policy is lawful. However, the imposition of a fee structure of this nature makes us more than a little nervous.

Just how does one define "reasonable?" The FOIA is not specific on this point, and this omission is often used as a loophole to subvert the spirit of the law. The Michigan State Police have done precisely this, we believe, in asking The Northville Record for the payment of $201 for incidence reports the newspaper has requested under the FOIA.

The school board's action is primarily a response to the activities of Bob Bernard, the resident watch dog who is on a relentless crusade against overspending in the district. At last count, Bernard had filed 12 FOIA requests with the schools, prompting officials to complain that the same man who pretends to be concerned about excessive spending is running up a needless bill in time and paperwork.

Regardless of the validity of this claim, our hope is that school officials don't begin to use this new fee system to punish or discourage people from filing requests that district officials might view as out of line. The mere act of using the law to force the release of documents can by itself be taken as a personal affront by public officials, thereby exposing any FOIA user to the charge of agitator.

Under the policy, persons requesting documents will be assessed 75 cents per page, based on a 15-cent per-page fee and an estimated $8 an hour in clerical time. Although Schwarze maintains that this fee compares favorably with the $4 or $5 per-page charge levied by some public bodies, the bill could still add up to a significant sum if the document being requested is a lengthy policy or budget statement.

Other aspects of the policy, however, appear fair.

In some regards, school district officials ought to be commended for establishing a fee policy and subjecting it to public scrutiny. This is more than what some public entities do, many of which impose their fees first and only later tell you how they went about arriving at the costs. Some don't even tell you then.

But we fear that adoption of the fee schedule could signal the onset of a new, unspoken policy of exclusion on the part of school district officials. And that would be wrong. The meddling of 10 dozen agitators could not justify a closed approach to public business or alter the fundamental fact that school board members and administrators are public servants who must be accountable to the people who vote them into office and pay their salaries.

Track can never lose stride

Lee Snider

"How long ago would that have been?" "How long? Gulp, sorry I asked."

That must have been back in the days when there was still summer racing at the Downs, Margaret said.

And how long ago was that? Well, I'm not up to saying exactly, but I'll offer a clue — they definitely used electricity to run the tote board.

Actually, the place looked great. Seat cubicles with video monitors stood in neatly arranged rows and the concourse areas sparkled like the brand new concession stands at Tiger Plaza.

Workers used long extension poles to apply a fresh coat of paint to the ceiling in preparation of the season opener in mid-October, and there was a sense of anticipation in the air: as if a herd of horses could be expected to come charging down the stretch at any second.

The really good thing was that, despite the evidence of high tech gadgets and the spit-and-shine finish on the floors and seats, the old place still had atmosphere. It didn't take a lot of imagination to picture a wagerer standing off to the side, wearing a wide-brimmed hat and chomping on the end of a knarled cigar while studying a racing form like it held the key to the mystery of life.

The conversation was great, too. Margaret, the executive manager of the track, and Lou Carlo, director of operations, chewed my ear for a while and brought me up to speed on the latest goings on in the gaming industry.

I was somewhat surprised and disheartened when they told me that the prospect of casino gambling in downtown Detroit posed a real threat to the survival of the Downs. I say surprised because I had hoped the advent of casinos might have a positive spin-off effect that would enhance patronage of the track.

That idea came from knowing what extended television coverage did for the Chicago Cubs baseball team. I could hardly believe it when I moved to west Michigan and discovered that all 162 games of the Cubs games are shown on TV. My first thought was that such coverage must hurt gate receipts by enabling people to stay home and watch the games in their living rooms.

But that's not how it works. I was told television exposure actually heightened interest in the team and stimulated fan participation. If you don't believe it, try getting a ticket to a weekend game at Wrigley Field.

I thought the introduction of casinos might have a similar effect on the gaming industry and increase interest in all forms of wagering.

But Margaret said no, casinos have been the virtual ruin of race tracks in other parts of the country. She produced figures that gave an indication of the staggering popularity of casino gambling, and, according to one document, the slot machines alone on the five riverboat casinos working the Chicago area generated $270 million in a single month. Yes, in one month! And that was only one form of gambling available in the boats.

With that kind of earning potential, casinos could be used as a means of reducing the federal deficit. Could put a nice dent in the difference between income and expenditures. Let's see, how long would it take to make up $400 billion at $270 million a month? I'll let you do the math.

Whatever happens, I hope the track never folds. Now in its 50th year of racing, Northville Downs is a great institution and an important local asset. Besides, where would people go for the key to the mystery of life?

To fund or not to fund

Tim Richard

If you want to get into a fist fight, tell people in western Michigan the Detroit Institute of Arts, Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Detroit Zoo, Detroit Historical Museum and the Edison Institute are state jewels that the state should pay for.

That notion, an article of faith in these suburbs, gets little respect on the other side of the state.

"Regional facilities should be supported on a regional basis," warned a Grand Rapids area legislator as he tried to cut funding for the aforementioned sacred cattle. What he's saying is that metropolitan Detroit benefits most from these cultural cows, and he's tired of funding what his folks don't consider sacred.

The $29 million cultural aid bill won 81 to 18 approval in the state House of Representatives. But the truth is that political support for arts funding is very, very soft. If there hadn't been a few million for the Grand Rapids Museum, which folks around here hardly consider a state asset, the whole bill might have gone down.

In short, we in southeast Michigan had best consider supporting regional cultural institutions ourselves.

We got into this mess in the mid-1970s, when Detroit Mayor Coleman Young decided European-oriented culture wasn't his city's priority. Young cut Detroit's contribution to the world class Institute of Arts to the vanishing point. He precipitated the Detroit Symphony crisis of four or five years ago by withholding its grant.

Under Gov. William G. Milliken, the state began giving "equity" grants to Detroit area culture, starting at $9.7 million and reaching a high of $32.4 million in the late 1980s. At one point, the state even gave Young $10 million of highway money for the zoo.

Then the economic roof caved in.

Gov. John Engler is pictured as a mean-spirited country and western lout for cuttings arts funding. But I've read a lot of state budgets, and if Beethoven or Botticelli were governor, the arts couldn't have fared any better.

Citizens Research Council of Michigan, an independent outfit with some intellectual clout, rejuvenated an idea some of us have had for 15 or so years — a multi-county agency to support the arts. It suggested the United Way approach to fund-raising, with one organization serving everything.

CRC projected some tax rates that Oakland, Macomb and Wayne counties could levy to raise $50 million for the cultural institutions. Examples:

- Property tax — 0.745 mills.
- Personal income tax — 0.11 percent.
- Sales tax — 0.163 percent.
- Single business tax — 0.14 percent.
- Amusement and recreation services tax — 5.7 percent.

Myself, I think it would be social justice to charge rock concertgoers a 6 percent amusement tax to support the symphony and maybe to bring back the Metropolitan Opera. But they declare it would be unfair and ask: What if we taxed symphony goers and DIA patrons to support rock music?

State Rep. Greg Kaza, R-Rochester Hills, has trouble with any governmental funding of the arts. Kaza is a free market policy wonk and no redneck. He trotted out remarks of many artistic greats in support of his view, notably novelist John Updike: "I would rather have as my patrons a host of anonymous citizens digging into their own pockets for the price of a book or magazine than a small body of enlightened and responsible men administering public funds."

But I fear the Kaza-Updike view ignores an economic reality: The works of Rembrandt and Rachmaninoff will be unavailable to Americans without government money.

We had better come up with a method besides the state budget, or kiss our fine arts heritage goodbye.

Teens appreciated Friday concert

To the editor:

I would like to thank Northville Parks and Recreation for the concert that was held last Friday at Ford Field. It was really nice to have the city officials do something nice for the teen-agers.

Too often we find ourselves with nothing to do and nowhere to go. A lot of my friends spend their time working on music and practicing with their bands. They don't often have a place to play where they can be appreciated, that's why Friday's concert was so important. I hope more can be done in the future.

Apparently some residents near Ford Field thought the music was too loud so the police came and almost stopped the concert. A compromise was struck and the volume was turned down. It's too bad four hours of music could upset these people enough to call the police. Did they object to the Bluegrass Festival also, or was it just because this was for kids, the future?

Thanks again to all who organized this event and to the bands — it was great.

I would like to take this opportunity to remind all concerned teens and adults to attend the Teen Center Meeting August 25 at Northville Township Hall at 7:00 p.m.

Andy Northrop

Fund-raiser was highly successful

To the editor:

The 17th Annual Northville Folk and Bluegrass Festival was a major success, thanks to the generosity of the community and program sponsors. Because this event is totally run by volunteers, all the proceeds were sent to the Huntington's Disease Foundation to further Huntington's research.

The tremendously talented lineup of performers made it one of the best festivals ever. The threatening rain clouds could not put a damper on the spirit of the people attending the festival. It was wonderful to see people of all ages and the family groupings enjoying the day.

Special thanks to program sponsors Papa Romano's, the Northville Rotary Club, the U of M Health Centers, WDET-FM, and the Northville Record. And, thanks to all the volunteers who helped make the day such a big success. Together we can help eliminate Huntington's Disease.

Voucher system provides choice

To the editor:

I'm responding to Tim Richard's remarks on the voucher system for financing schools in his Aug. 5 column, "Religious activists seek control." Richard thinks a voucher system is a bad idea.

Why is it a bad idea to allow parents to pay for a school with teachings that coincide with the parents' beliefs, but a good idea to force parents to pay for teaching that violates their beliefs? The schools do teach moral values. But Mr. Richard gets outraged only when they are asked to teach moral values embraced by Christians who take the Bible literally. According to current belief, schools shouldn't teach that premarital sex, homosexuality, or abortion are wrong, but should tell students that the choice is theirs because there is no absolute right or wrong position. Why is this belief any more correct than the Christian's opposite belief?

It seems that many voucher opponents are pro-choice on abortion but anti-choice on how to educate our children. They seem to further believe that only the state, the teachers, and the Michigan Education Association know how to educate our children about moral values, and that parents should have no input to the school curriculum.

Instead of forcing some parents to pay for having their children taught a belief system contrary to their own, why not let those parents use their taxes to pay for an education consistent with their belief systems? Since Fundamentalists are a "narrow white Protestant movement," there surely won't be enough vouchers used to deprive the public schools of significant funds. And if more and more people start to choose the voucher system, thus significantly reducing the funds available to public schools, perhaps we should ask why the public schools are unsatisfactory to so many people.

Government power is acceptable in Richard's thinking, but individual power is not. It's time to let concerned parents have the power to decide who will teach their children and what will be taught. Mr. Richard is free to opt for the public school. Give parents the same freedom to opt for the school of their choice, without paying a stiff financial penalty to do it.

Ward Malisch

Stop picking on the educators

To the editor:

Enough bashing of school administrators and teachers. The salaries of school superintendents are comparable to their educational background and responsibilities of the supervision of teachers, administrators, buildings, hardware, software, and community involvement (Northville and Northville Twp.) Most superintendents have three degrees from reputable state universities and teachers on average have two degrees.

Teaching and good schools should be our society's first priority if we are to be competitive on a global basis.

How, Mr. Jerome, are we going to attract the brightest and the ablest in the teaching profession when a community controls their very being?

In this new communication technology century coming up, it's an all new ballgame. Give the superintendent and teachers of our community the respect and support due them so they can get on with the job of good updated education for our children and grandchildren.

Rosemarie Anderson

New taxes should be varied

To the editor:

I have recently submitted a replacement revenue plan for school finance reform to the Governor and the state legislature. This new revised Vandermolen Plan draws from a wide variety of sources of revenue including small increases in income, cigarette, alcohol, and pop taxes.

Other sources of revenue included in my plan are savings from reducing local school district budgets, savings from reducing the bureaucracy, savings from abolishing the homestead credit, and revenue generated from new taxable incomes. The total revenue produced in this package is $6.4 billion.

Property tax cuts will result in many new businesses moving to Michigan, and the new jobs should produce a multitude of new taxable incomes in the near future. Some state representatives argue vehemently against the huge property tax reduction emerging from the original Vandermolen Plan. They defended the archaic property tax system and they wailed about the revolutionary changes anticipated in the financing of education. Why do they continue to defend a failed system of regressive taxation?

They will be delighted to know that my plan resolves the technical requirements of the Headlee Amendment, Tax Increment Financing Authority provisions, and other problems raised by municipalities. Fifty percent of the new income tax revenue collected by the local school district remains in the budget of the local school district. Therefore, this portion of the income tax could be classified as a local tax which will satisfy the requirements of the Headlee Amendment.

I hope our state representatives and state senators will be objective enough to adopt my plan within the near future.

Larry Vandermolen, Ph.D.

Township board is professional

To the editor:

Earlier this spring, the difficulties at Township Trustee meetings were extensively reported. Since then, I've attended several meetings and have been impressed by the thoroughly professional behavior of the participants. The clash of opinions was healthy to be sure, but it generated more light than heat, and the agenda items were addressed efficiently. The Board members should be commended, preferably in the newspaper where the earlier reports appeared.

Novi's new cops are mighty dogs

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

It was a dark and trepidous night last week when Smokey hit the trail.

He sniffed his way through the thick, forbidding woods off West Lake Drive near Maudlin. There was a bad guy in there, and Smokey wasn't going to leave until he found him.

Suddenly, Smokey stopped. He'd found something. It was the motor, freshly stolen from a boat docked on Walled Lake.

And a little farther up the trail, Smokey stopped again.

"I give," cried the voice of the 16-year-old suspect. "I give up. I see the dog. I'm not going to run. I give up."

For the suspect, the trouble was just beginning. But for Smokey, one of two new K-9 cops in the Novi Police Force, it was all just part of the game.

For officer Victor Lauria, Smokey is more than just a work dog. Smokey is his partner and his pet.

Lauria and Officer June Mullinix are the owners, trainers and caretakers of their dogs — both purebred German shepherds. Mullinix's dog Mugsy is 2½ years old, and Smokey is 3. Both are officially certified and trained police dogs through the North American Police Work Dog Association and the United States Police Canine Association.

Lauria and Mullinix both purchased the dogs and took on the training themselves, at their own expense and on their own time. The dogs trained with their owners at official police dog training centers in the area.

Lauria and Mullinix both work the night shift, on opposite days of each other, so there is always a dog on duty at night. Novi Police Chief Doug Schaeffer said the dogs are more likely to be used at night than during the day shift.

Right now the dogs are working in the police department on a one-year trial basis. Mullinix said they've been quite busy with the dogs, and have also assisted some other area departments with searches.

Both Mullinix and Lauria said that, although nearly any breed can be trained to be a police dog, German shepherds are often the breed of choice because of their intelligence and temperament.

"German Shepherds, all around, perform better than any other dog," Lauria said. "They have good temperament, natural intellect, and are very predictable. They're fantastic dogs." The uses for police dogs include drug searches, building searches, tracking for suspects and missing persons, breaking up assaults or unruly crowds, and public relations demonstrations.

The dogs are exceptionally valuable for searches like the one Smokey performed in the woods off West Lake Drive Wednesday, Aug. 11.

"They can search an acre in about 30 seconds," Mullinix explained.

Smokey and Mugsy both have different harnesses and collars for different activities. Although they will still follow orders for whatever activity their owners command, the different collars and harnesses act as a reinforcement and advance warning to the dogs for the type of activity they will do.

Smokey and Mugsy are both approachable, friendly dogs who like to be petted. It is only on command that they might become attack dogs.

You couldn't ask for a better pet, the officers said.

"When these guys aren't working, they're just like Spot sitting on the couch with you," Mullinix said. "When I'm not in uniform, people come up to me and say 'Oh, what a nice dog.'"

But when she is in uniform, she added, people tend to shy away from the dog because they think it is dangerous.

That's because the public perception of police dogs is that they are dangerous.

"The main thing I'd like the public to realize is that the dog is friendly," Lauria said. "The transverse is also true. If I tell him to get mean, nobody's going to get close to me, or my fiancé or my brother."

Said Chief Schaeffer, "In any cases where the handler instructs the dog to become aggressive, bark and growl or to apprehend a suspect, the K-9 will do as instructed. When the handler instructs the dog to cease the aggression, the K-9 will again become approachable. When the K-9 is not aggressive, anyone can approach and pet the dog."

The dogs tend to get keyed up when they arrive at the police station, Mullinix said, because they know they are going to work.

"But it's not work to the dog," Lauria added. "To them, it's 'the game.' They get excited because they know they're going to get to play the game."

The officers got involved in the dog training because they too see it as fun as well as useful.

"I did it because of a love of dogs and because I really see a use for them," Lauria said.

"It really is a lot of fun," Mullinix added. "And it's also a lot of work. It's difficult sometimes because we're still responsible for our regular patrolling as well as the K-9 operations. But I'm having a blast with this. I like doing it so much."

It's like having a friend along for the ride.

"It's nice having him in the car," Lauria said. "Sometimes, when it's 2 a.m. and I'm feeling tired, I look back there and I see this happy dog face."

Since the dog is happy about playing the game, it makes the officer happy too.

Solution.	(rating plate input or Consumption Table M805.4.1, if necessary) Btu's per cubic foot of gas	cubic feet per hour (cfh)
(1) Maximum gas demand for outlet A:
	$\frac{30,000 \text{ Btu's per hour rating}}{1,000 \text{ Btu's per cubic foot}}$	30 cfh (or 30 cfh)
Maximum gas demand for outlet B:
	$\frac{\text{Consumption} = 3,000 \text{ Btu's of gas 1,000}}{1,000}$	3 cfh

(3) Use the column marked 60 feet (18,288 mm) in table M805.4.1 if this is the table designated for use by the serving gas supplier.
Outlet A, supplying 30 cfh, requires 3/4-inch pipe.
Outlet B, supplying 3 cfh, requires 1/2-inch pipe. Section 1, supplying outlets A and B, or 33 cfh, requires 3/4-inch pipe.
Outlet C, supplying 75 cfh, requires 1-inch pipe. Section 2, supplying outlets A, B, and C, or 108 cfh, requires 1-inch pipe.
Section 3, supplying outlets A, B, C, and D, or 244 cfh, requires 1 1/2-inch pipe.
(4) Gas piping systems that are to be supplied with gas of a specific gravity of 0.70 or less can be sized directly from tables M805.4.1 and M805.4.1b, unless the authority having jurisdiction specifies that a gravity factor be applied. When the specific gravity of the gas is more than 0.70, the gravity factor shall be applied.

The flame safeguard device shall automatically shut off the fuel supply to a main burner or group of burners when the means of ignition of such burners becomes inoperative. The main gas shut off valve shall be located outside of the firebox and adjacent to the appliance in the same room.

The Planning and Zoning Administrator shall inform the Planning Commission of such approval in writing. The Planning and Zoning Administrator shall consider the following when determining a change to be minor:

(1) For residential buildings, the square footage of units does not increase, the minimum square footage and parking requirements are met and the building(s) do not extend into any required open space or required setbacks.
(2) Gross floor area of non-residential buildings may be decreased, or increased by up to three percent (3%) or two thousand (2,000) square feet, whichever is smaller, provided parking requirements are met and the building does not extend into any required setback or open space.

(3) Floor plans may be changed if consistent with the character of the use.
(4) Relocation of a building by up to five (5) feet, if consistent with required setbacks, open space and other standards.
(5) Height of buildings may be lowered.

(6) Designated woodlands or areas not to be disturbed may be increased.
(7) Plantings on the approved landscape plan may be replaced by similar types of landscaping on a one-to-one or greater basis. Any regulated trees lost during construction shall be replaced on a caliper-per-caliper basis on the site.

(8) Improvements or slight relocation of site access or circulation, such as inclusion of deceleration lanes, boulevards, curbing or pedestrian/bicycle paths, with documentation from Wayne County, where appropriate.
(9) Changes of building materials to another of higher quality, or a slight change in the color of the exterior material, as determined by the Planning and Zoning Administrator.

(10) Grade changes of up to one (1) foot, reviewed by the Township Engineer.
(11) Modification of entry design, sign placement or reduction in size of signage, which is consistent with the intent of this section and the approved Plan.
(12) Internal rearrangement of parking lots which does not affect the number of parking spaces or alter access locations or design.

(13) Changes to the location of accessory buildings and structures only when the new location will be consistent with the building envelope identified on the approved plan.
(14) Changes required or requested by the Township, County or State for safety reasons.

c. Major Changes: Where the Planning and Zoning Administrator determines a requested amendment to the approved Site Plan is major, resubmittal to the Planning Commission shall be required. Should the Planning Commission determine that the modifications are inconsistent with the concept plan, a revised conceptual Site Plan shall be submitted according to the procedures outlined in this Section.

In all cases, a change in use to a more intensive use than approved in the concept plan shall be considered major and require resubmission of a concept plan.

7. Fees.
Fees for review of plans shall be established by resolution of the Township Board. Costs for the review of plans, studies, etc. as required by the Planning Commission or Township Board shall be the responsibility of the applicant.

8. Appeals.
The Board of Zoning Appeals shall not have the authority to vary setbacks below the minimum required or allow a reduction of required open space or change conditions or make interpretations to the site plan or written agreement.

9. Violations.
A violation of a plan or agreement shall be considered a violation of this Ordinance. Further, any such deviation shall invalidate the HPUD, PUD or Open Space Community Designation.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE AMENDMENT TO ZONING ORDINANCE 94-09-93

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ZONING ORDINANCE BY AMENDING THE TEXT THEREOF.

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ORDAINS:

PART 1. The Charter Township of Northville Zoning Ordinance No. 94 as amended is hereby further amended by amending Article XVII, SCHEDULE OF REGULATIONS, Section 17.7 HAGGERTY ROAD PLANNED UNIT DEVELOPMENT OVERLAY OPTION.

Section 1 Add SECTION 17.7 HAGGERTY ROAD PLANNED UNIT DEVELOPMENT OVERLAY OPTION.

Section 17.7 HAGGERTY ROAD PLANNED UNIT DEVELOPMENT OVERLAY OPTION.

1. Intent.
The Haggerty Road Planned Unit Development (HPUD) option is intended to provide, with Township approval, the opportunity to mix compatible residential and nonresidential uses within eligible parcels having frontage along Haggerty Road where the design protects natural features and adjacent residential areas to the west. This option is available to provide a transition of uses between more intense commercial, office and educational uses on the east side of Haggerty Road with the predominant residential character in Northville Township located west of the Haggerty Road frontage.

The HPUD overlay option is intended to promote the objectives of the Haggerty Road Corridor Plan. The HPUD standards are provided as a design option to permit flexibility in the regulation of land development, encourage innovation in land use and design, preserve significant natural features and open space; encourage unique architectural design; provide safe and efficient traffic operations and promote efficient provision of public services and utilities.

The development permitted under this Section shall be considered as an option to the uses permitted in the underlying zoning district and dimensional requirements of Section 17.1 LIMIT HEIGHT, BULK, DENSITY AND AREA BY LAND USE, as mutually agreed upon by the applicant and the Township Board.

2. Qualification of HPUD Option.
The Township may approve a HPUD Option only if all of the following conditions are met:

a. The subject site shall include a minimum site area of thirty (30) contiguous acres of land under the control of one owner or group of owners and shall be capable of being planned and developed as one integral unit.

b. The subject site shall have its primary frontage along Haggerty Road, and this Haggerty Road frontage shall be at least five hundred (500) feet. The Planning Commission may accept a smaller amount of Haggerty Road frontage upon finding the majority of the nonresidential traffic will access the site from Haggerty Road, and that the proposed HPUD meets the intent and standards of this Section.

c. Proposed uses shall be in accordance with the standards of this Section.
d. The Township Planning Commission and Board of Trustees shall find that the HPUD will result in a recognizable and substantial benefit to the ultimate users of the project and to the Township, where such benefit would otherwise be unfeasible or unlikely to be achieved. The benefits can be provided through site design elements in excess of the requirements of this Ordinance that would otherwise apply such as high quality architectural design, extensive landscaping, sensitivity to adjacent residential land uses, unique site design features, unified access and preservation of natural features.

e. The proposed types of use, design and proposed infrastructure improvements shall ensure that traffic impacts, any increased burden on public services, public facilities and the environment are mitigated.

f. The design and uses proposed shall be compatible with existing or planned adjacent land uses, including development on the opposite side of Haggerty Road.

g. The proposed development shall be consistent with the goals and objectives of the Northville Township Master Plan of Land Use and the Haggerty Road Corridor Plan.

3. Uses Permitted and Residential Density.
a. A minimum sixty percent (60%) of the gross area of the HPUD shall be developed with one family attached or detached single family residential uses, housing for the elderly together with roads and parking which are set aside exclusively for these uses, and/or provided as common open space or recreation.

b. Open space and density shall be provided based on one of the following:

15,000 square feet. no additional open space required.

2) All residential uses are on lots with a minimum area of 12,000 square feet. 3,000 square feet of open space per lot, with a minimum of 3.6 acres of open space.

3) Up to fifty percent (50%) of the residential units are detached units on lots with a minimum area of 12,000 square feet. Maximum density shall be 3.0 units per acre. a minimum fifteen percent (15%) of the total site shall be open space with a minimum of 4.5 acres of open space.

4) More than fifty percent (50%) of the residential units are attached or detached units on lots of less than 12,000 square feet in area. Maximum density shall be 3.2 units per acre. a minimum twenty percent (20%) of the total site shall be open space with a minimum of 6.0 acres of open space.

c. The area used for calculation of density shall not include lakes, streams, detention ponds, submerged wetlands containing surface water or open water ponds during at least one (1) month of the year. A maximum of 25% of nonsubmerged wetland areas regulated by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources may be included in calculating residential density. Public street right-of-way and private road access easements shall not be included in calculating density. The "transition area" and parking areas exclusively for the residential uses which are not excluded above may be included in calculating density.

d. Required open space may include areas with significant natural features which are not disturbed, outdoor recreation areas or buffer areas from adjacent land uses but shall not include required frontage landscaping, required building setback areas, lakes, streams, detention ponds, retention ponds, or submerged wetlands containing surface water or open water ponds during at least one (1) month of the year.

e. The following should be used as guidelines in designing and reviewing the open space component:

1) The open space will provide additional buffering from adjacent land uses or land uses within the HPUD.
2) The open space will preserve significant natural features.
3) The open space will help retain a natural, undeveloped appearance from the roadways.
4) The open space location and facilities will benefit and provide recreational opportunities to a majority of the HPUD residents.

f. The HPUD may contain any uses permitted and uses permitted subject to special conditions in Articles IV through XI and uses permitted in Article XII within the areas identified on the HPUD plan, except that the Planning Commission may specifically prohibit certain uses which they find would or would not adhere to not meet the intent of this Section 17.7 HAGGERTY ROAD PLANNED UNIT DEVELOPMENT OVERLAY OPTION. The conditions listed in this Ordinance for a particular use shall be used as guidelines for design and layout but may be varied by the Planning Commission provided such conditions are specifically indicated on the approved HPUD Plan.

4. HPUD Design Standards.
The bulk and area requirements set forth in Section 17.1 LIMITING HEIGHT, BULK, DENSITY, AND AREA BY LAND USE shall be used as guidelines for the use areas described in the HPUD Plan. Where modification to Ordinance standards is requested, the applicant shall provide a table acceptable to the Planning Commission which clearly compares each requested modification to the Ordinance standard to be modified. Unless variations are specifically requested and approved by the Township, the site plan or subdivision plan shall comply with the appropriate standards of the Township. In addition, the HPUD plan shall be designed in accordance with the following standards:

a. Transition area: Where the HPUD abuts a single family residential district or a residential area within an abutting existing or proposed HPUD, a transition area shall be provided. The Planning Commission shall review the proposed transition area to ensure compatibility with abutting single family residential uses. Grading within the transition area shall be minimal unless needed to provide effective buffering or accommodate drainage. If the existing grade change adjacent to single family residential is to be varied by more than three (3) feet, the site plan shall include cross sections illustrating existing and proposed grades in relation to existing and proposed building heights. The cross sections shall be supplemented with photographs of existing conditions along the property line. Perspective renderings from adjacent residential units are encouraged.

The transition area shall consist of one or both of the following:
(1) single family detached units appropriately similar to adjacent existing single family development,
(2) woodlands, natural features or a landscaped greenbelt sufficient to provide an obscuring effect and at least one hundred (100) feet wide within the subject site.

b. Minimum setbacks for residential buildings:
front yard — 35 feet from the public street right-of-way or private road access easement. The Planning Commission may reduce the setback to a minimum twenty-five (25) feet upon a determination that off-street parking will be adequate and that the modification will preserve natural features or that the rear yard buffer will be increased by one (1) foot for each one (1) foot of reduction in the front yard setback. Note: corner lots are considered to have two front yards.

rear yard — 50 feet with an additional thirty-five (35) foot wide greenbelt where abutting a major thoroughfare.
side yards — 25 feet between buildings, 30 feet between each fourth (4th) building and any building with a side entry garage and 56 feet between adjacent buildings with side entry garages.

spacing — within a HPUD the minimum spacing between two rear residential building lines shall be one hundred (100) feet, between a side and rear residential building line sixty five (65) feet.

c. Minimum setbacks for non-residential buildings: front yard — 75 feet for buildings with front yard parking, 30 feet for buildings without front yard parking. Note: corner lots are considered to have two front yards.
side yard — minimum 20 feet between non-residential buildings and 25 feet from property lines which do not abut existing or proposed residential uses or district.
rear yard — 50 feet.

spacing — within a HPUD the minimum spacing between a non-residential building line and a residential building line shall be one hundred (100) feet, which includes a minimum 25 foot wide landscaped greenbelt.

Setbacks for buildings over two (2) stories shall be based on the formulas provided in Section 9.4 AREA, BULK AND YARD SETBACK REQUIREMENTS.

d. The building setback requirements may be varied provided they are specifically indicated on the HPUD Plan and the Planning Commission determines the variation does not negatively impact adjacent properties, would provide a higher quality design and would provide a significant benefit to the Township and adjacent land uses based on the standards and intent of this Section.

e. Landscaped parking lot greenbelts a minimum thirty (30) feet wide shall be provided along public street right-of-ways or private road access easements. Non-residential parking lots within the HPUD shall be at least one hundred (100) feet from any residential building line.

f. Parking shall be setback at least ten (10) feet from any building line.
g. Maximum height for residential buildings = 35 feet. Maximum height for nonresidential buildings = 48 feet.
h. Minimum floor area for residential units abutting existing single family districts shall be equal to the requirements of the abutting single family district. If there are two or more abutting residential districts, the largest requirement of any abutting residential district shall apply, however, in no event shall requirements be less than the R-3 District requirements.

i. Circulation: The HPUD Plan shall provide pedestrian access to all open space areas from all residential areas. Connections between open space areas and connections between appropriate on- and off-site uses. Sidewalks or bikepaths shall be provided along Haggerty Road and other major thoroughfares.

j. Access: Access shall be designed to minimize negative traffic impacts along Haggerty Road and intersecting thoroughfares. The number of access points shall be the minimum necessary to provide reasonable access according to Section 18.36 DRIVEWAY STANDARDS. The Planning Commission may require coordinated access systems with adjacent properties and location of major access points at optimum locations for any future traffic signals.

k. Utilities: Newly installed utility services and service revisions necessitated by development shall be underground.
l. Architectural design: Buildings within the HPUD development shall provide harmony with adjacent uses in terms of texture, materials, peaked rooflines and massing, but there shall be a variation of front facade depth and rooflines to avoid monotony. Buildings within the HPUD of different architectural styles shall be made compatible through use of consistent accent materials. Residential facades shall not be dominated by garages, at least forty percent (40%) of residential units shall have recessed or side entry garages. All nonresidential buildings shall be predominantly brick and glass, though reflective glass is specifically prohibited.

m. Lighting: Exterior lighting shall be restrained and excessive brightness avoided to help ensure compatibility with adjacent land uses. A lighting plan including illustration of a footcandle grid and details of lighting fixtures shall be provided for nonresidential parking lots and loading areas.

n. Signs: An overall sign plan shall be provided which demonstrates the size, materials and colors will be in scale with the HPUD project. Identification signs shall be designed as an integral architectural element of the associated building or use.

o. Entryway: The design, signs, materials and landscaping used at access points shall be harmonious and create signature entrances.

p. Additional Considerations: In addition to the above, the Planning Commission shall take into account the following to meet the intent of this Section: quality of landscape plan, preservation of natural features, provision of recreation opportunities, traffic impacts use of natural drainage systems to accommodate stormwater, utility design, insulating the pedestrian circulation system from vehicular thoroughfares and roads; and noise reduction and visual screening mechanisms, particularly in cases where nonresidential uses adjoin off-site residentially-zoned and/or developed property.

5. Approval Procedures.
The procedures for review and approval are outlined in Section 17.8 SUBMITTAL PROCEDURES AND CONDITIONS FOR HPUD, PUD AND OPEN SPACE COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT OPTIONS.

PART II. Conflicting Provisions Repealed.
Any Ordinance or part of Ordinances in conflict herewith are repealed save that in all other respects Ordinance No. 94, as amended, is hereby ratified and reaffirmed.

PART III. Effective Date.
The provisions of this ordinance shall be in full force and effective immediately upon publication.

PART IV. Adoption.
This ordinance was adopted by the Township Board of the Charter Township of Northville, pursuant to authority of Act No. 184, Public Acts of 1943, as amended at their meeting of August 12, 1993.

RECORD OUR TOWN

By MICHELLE HARRISON
Staff Writer

Dr. John Cotant is convinced that his marriage to wife Katie was the right prescription for a perfect life. "I'm ecstatic with the way things turned out," said Cotant, who practiced medicine for 50 years. "One thing I ask the prospective residents is what they (want to do with their lives). If what they say is to be happily married, that is the key. It's not where you go to school."

Katie Cotant reminded her husband that it took two for their 51-year marriage to click so smoothly.

"It wasn't just me," she said. "First of all, I love him a lot and secondly, I didn't think there was anything more interesting than being a doctor."

"The greatest thing that ever happened to me was when I married Katie," Cotant said. "It was so difficult through the years, not being able to come home right away, working late hours . . . But Katie was always ready to do what was best for me and the patients."

In fact, when Cotant first started practicing private medicine in the late 1940s, often making housecalls, the patients would ask for Katie when they called the doctor's home.

"She was so sympathetic they would want to talk to her," Cotant laughed.

The couple were high school sweethearts at Holy Redeemer High, located at Junction and Vernor on the west side of Detroit. Upon graduation, the two entered the medical field together — he as a doctor and she as a nurse.

"I had had a couple of uncles who were doctors," Cotant said. "I had watched them and felt they were doing good. I felt I'd like to do the same."

Cotant attended the University of Detroit from 1936 to 1939 and graduated from Wayne State University College of Medicine in 1943. He served his internship at Providence Hospital in Detroit and completed his residency in general surgery in 1949. He served for a year as a captain of a medical corps in the armed forces in the mid 1940s.

After finishing his general surgery residency, Cotant went into private practice with Dr. Frank Harrington. Their medical office was located next to Providence Hospital.

The two practiced medicine together until Harrington's death about 20 years ago.

"He was an excellent doctor," Cotant said of his former partner. "He was thoughtful and had more integrity than anyone I ever knew in my life."

One of the busiest times in Cotant's career was in 1967. He was practicing medicine, serving as chief of the medical staff at Providence Hospital and was a member of the board of health for the city of Detroit. At the same time his wife was heading the auxiliary at Providence.

"It was a wonderful time," Cotant smiled.

No matter how busy Cotant got, though, he would always make time for his family. Thursday was Cotant's only day off so he and the family would take trips into Canada or to nearby parks.

"A doctor is always so jealously guarding his time," Cotant said. "They're so busy . . . I, for instance, jealously guarded what I could for my family."

Before the couple began having children, Katie worked as a nurse at Providence. Shortly though, came the birth of their first son Jim. He is now an attorney residing in Gaylord, Mich.

The couple's other children include John, a cardiologist at St. Joseph Hospital in Pontiac; Julianne Raven, a schoolteacher; Kathy Cronin, a nurse; Christine DiGiovanni, also a nurse; Sue Vincent, a special education teacher; and Michael, a urological surgeon also practicing at St. Joseph's in Pontiac.

The Cotants also have 28 grandchildren.

Cotant said it was exciting to have two sons and a daughter-in-law as doctors because they always had new cases to discuss. He also continues to work with surgical residents in the surgical clinic at Providence Hospital in Southfield a few days a week.

R for happiness

"I've always liked younger people," the doctor said. "It's nice to be with young people. It keeps me young."

Although technology has made great advances in the field of medicine, Cotant said doctors still need to follow certain steps in making a diagnosis.

"If you do it half-way or haphazardly, it shows up in your diagnosis," he explained. ". . . you have to go through a logical step-by-step process and whatever conclusions you reach you have to follow that path. It's amazing how often you're correct."

Cotant said he enjoyed performing gall bladder surgery because it was the most common procedure. Other surgeries were more demanding, though, like breast cancer and stomach surgeries. Today, both are less frequent because of medicine or new techniques.

"He always loved doing the surgeries," Katie said. "I can't remember how many times he got up in the middle of the night. But it never bothered him."

It seems wherever the Cotants go, they run into someone who knows them.

"I was just shopping the other day when I met a lady who said, 'I'll never forget your husband. He was so understanding when he took care of my dad . . . I pray for him everyday of my life.'"

An understanding temperament was the key to Cotant's success.

"He was always very concerned about all of his patients," Katie said.

"[A good doctor] is somebody who is thoughtful, considerate of the patient and intelligent enough to apply the necessary thought processes to make a diagnosis that is least noxious to the patient," Cotant said.

A member of the Wayne County, Michigan State and American medical societies, Cotant said it just isn't true, at least not for him, about what they say regarding doctors spending all their time on the golf course.

"Katie and I didn't start playing until we were 50 years old," he exclaimed. "Golf is a very time consuming game. Thursdays were my only days off. I wasn't about to spend all my time on the golf course."

Stelzer's support aids many people

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

The traffic light turns red, and suddenly a man carrying a white cane and bag for a contribution appears alongside your car. Who is he? And what's he collecting for?

In Novi Les Stelzer, who is secretary of the Novi Lions Club, said the man wants money to support projects in and out of the community for people who are "less fortunate than ourselves."

Stelzer isn't one of the white cane men, but he said that before he developed a physical disability he "worked the street in all kinds of weather."

Now he sits inside and counts the money the white caners bring in. "I spent 37 hours this year," he said, "counting money — 35 percent of it in change — and it amounted to $7,722."

What do the Novi Lions do with the money? Stelzer said they contribute to projects that are of benefit locally, nationally and internationally.

Concerning the local, Stelzer enumerated these:

- Eye glasses for the needy
- Novi Youth Assistance
- QUEST — anti-drug instruction for Middle School
- DARE — anti-drug course for seventh graders
- The Quiet Room — the place located in the police headquarters for battered wives and abused children

"We gave out $22,000 this year," Stelzer said, to projects in and out of Novi.

Of course it didn't all come from white cane money, but that's the main source of income.

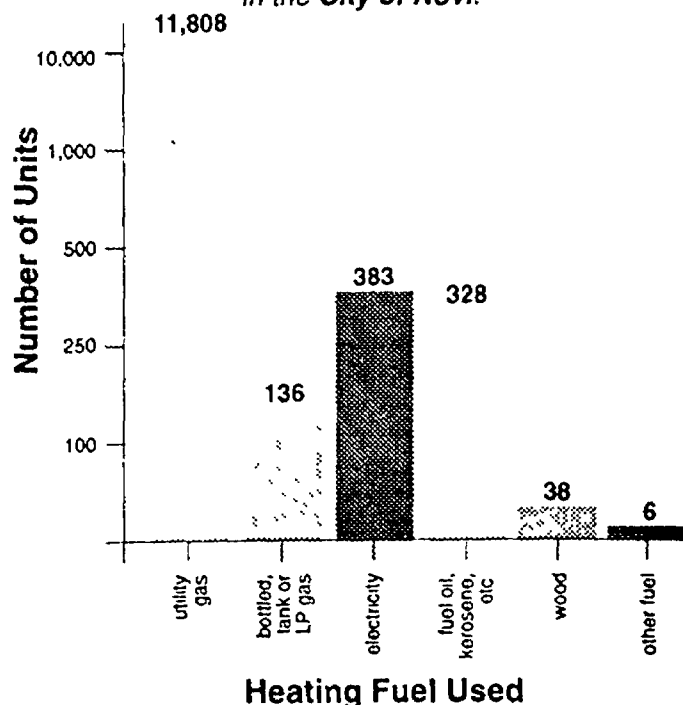

And they could do so much more, he said, if they had more Lions to put on the street during the white cane weekend in late April.

If you want more information on Novi Lions, call Les Stelzer at 348-8359.

Patriotism award given to '57 Northville grad

Murray G. Lyke, a life-long resident of the village of Salem and 1957 graduate of Northville High School, was recently awarded the "Patrick Henry Award for Patriotism" by the Detroit chapter of the Military Order of World Wars. The chapter is a national service organization of retired officers for the nation's military services.

Lyke, about to begin another year as a high school guidance counselor at Livonia's Adlai E. Stevenson High School, has been responsible for 57 students having received appointments to service academies across the nation. This is a national record for public high schools.

Included are the United States Military Academy at West Point, N.Y.; the United States Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn.; the United States Naval Academy, and the United States Air Force Academy in Colorado. The total scholarship value of these appointments now exceeds $12.7 million.

Forty-nine of these students have graduated from the service academies and eight of Lyke's former students, now holding advanced degrees, have been invited to return to West Point to teach.

Lyke notes he had the first brother/sister team to graduate from West Point and that the young lady, who was in the first class that allowed women (1980), is Major Barbara Trehanne Mann. She is now in charge of the academic administration in the dean's office at West Point.

Another former student is a Hertz scholar with a Ph.D. from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Still another is an Olmsted scholar in Switzerland. Nine others are Rhodes scholar candidates.

The orthopedic surgeon at West Point's Keller Hospital, Major Dean Taylor, graduated second in a class of 916 from West Point and was president of his medical school class at Duke University. The director of pediatric anesthesiology at the Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D.C., is Major John Fontana, also a West Point graduate. Commander William Hoeft, Ph.D., son of popular Detroit Tiger 20-game winner Billy Hoeft, was the brigade commander at the United States Naval Academy in 1980.

Another of Lyke's former students is an astronautical engineering major from the United States Air Force Academy, who is now a Boeing 707 flight instructor.

Upon graduation from Northville, Lyke received a four-year scholarship from the Northville Woman's Farm and Garden Association while attending Eastern Michigan University as an undergraduate. He now has three earned degrees from EMU as well as honoraries from three of the service academies.

Pre-teen takes title of drum majorette queen

Cara Jasiolek recently won the National Pre-Teen Majorette Queen title from Drum Majorettes of America. Twelve-year-old Cara competed in Bowling Springs, N.C., on Aug. 3-4 along with about 2,000 other twirlers. She had to perform a solo twirl, fancy strut, talent, and model to earn the title.

She was the only participant in the contest to receive a clean sweep of all first placements. In addition, she won the Junior Grand National Fancy Strutting Championship.

Another twirler from Northville, Caroline Cozza, was second runner-up for the Novice Princess title.

Cara and Caroline are students of Derek Skarvi, former Majorette Queen of America. Having taught these girls for the past several years, she says, "Both twirlers possess a lot of determination and I knew they were definite contenders for their titles. They worked extremely hard this past year in preparation for this national competition. The girls also marched in the annual Fourth of July parade."

Cara is the daughter of Walter and Christina Jasiolek of Northville Township.

Armored contact jousting is one of the most popular attractions at the Michigan Renaissance Festival. The 14th annual festival runs weekends through Sept. 26.

A joustin' good time for all

Lords and ladies, nobles and peasants alike again have the opportunity to step into a bygone era as the 16th century is brought to life in the rural Michigan community of Hollygrove.

The 14th annual Michigan Renaissance Festival is under way and will continue every weekend through Sept. 26.

Patrons are invited to frolic in the fun of Renaissance merrymaking and enjoy continuous entertainment by over 200 revelers performing on eight stages and along the tree-lined paths.

Daily performances of "Beauty and the Beast" in the Children's Dell are designed to charm audiences of all ages. The Royal Court, presided over by King Edward and Queen Kathryne, includes magicians, minstrels, jugglers, rope walkers, maldens, wenchers and assorted other characters.

Food offerings amount to a feast fit for a king. Among the many tantalizing tastes are roasted turkey drumsticks, corn on the cob, knight's sandwiches, catfish and chips, spinach pie, scotch eggs, and apple dumplings.

Many festival foods are made from authentic recipes used during the Renaissance.

Beverages include beer, wine, cider and soft drinks.

Visitors will have a chance to test their skills in games that were popular during the period. Archery, Jacobs Ladder, Flying Dragons, Dueling Buckets, Hunker Hauser, and the Maze are among the contests waiting to challenge festival goers.

A bustling bazaar teems with the excitement of costumed craftspeople vending their handmade wares and demonstrating their timeless crafts. Over 160 artisans in more than 140 craft shops sell their fine pottery, jewelry, weavings, herbs, clothing and blown glass.

Themed special events weekends set the tone in the village. This Saturday and Sunday will see Cupid's arrow aimed at Hollygrove as Renaissance romance will be the featured theme; the food and charms of Italy will be highlighted during Festa Italia Aug. 28-29; the foolish antics of the peasant olympics can be witnessed Sept. 4-6; a music and dance fest will be offered Sept. 11-12; Highland dancing will be on tap Sept. 18-19; and a country wine affair will provide the amusement Sept. 25-26.

Of course, no day at the festival would be complete without experiencing the thrill of full armor jousting, performed three times a day. The New Riders of the Golden Age wear over 90 pounds of armor and compete on horseback for the coveted title of King's Champion.

New attractions to the festival this year include Madcap Mike, whose juggling and comedic antics can be seen on the Nickelodeon cable station; the Crown Theatre, where the swashbuckling duo of Don Juan and Miguel engage in swordplay; and glass blowing demonstrations.

The Renaissance is remembered as a time of great discovery and growth in the fields of art, science and commerce. It is considered by historians as a period in which European civilization emerged from the Middle Ages and ushered in a new era of delight in the possibilities and achievements of mankind.

Adult tickets are $10.95 at the gate, $9.50 in advance at Kroger Supermarkets, Kessel Food Markets, participating Total gasoline stations and the festival office.

Tickets for children 5-12 are $5.95 at the gate and $5 in advance. Children under 5 are admitted free.

Hollygrove is located one mile north of the Mount Holly ski area on Dixie Highway, halfway between Pontiac and Flint in Holly. Free parking is available and shuttles are provided from Mount Holly to the gate.

Information may be obtained by calling the Michigan Renaissance Festival office in Birmingham at (313) 645-9640.

Robin Hood-winked

Mel Brooks' film takes aim at merry men of Sherwood Forest

In days of old, when men were men, men wore tights. And none were mightier than Robin Hood, the 12th century hero of Sherwood Forest.

Aided by his band of merry men, Robin of Loxley wrestled power away from the evil Prince John, brought humiliation upon the despicable Sheriff of Nottingham, and found the key to the fair Maid Marian's heart as well as her Everlast chastity belt.

Mel Brooks' new movie travels back to the summer of 1125, and the 12th century will never be the same.

Twentieth Century Fox presents a Brooks film Production, "Robin Hood: Men in Tights," starring Cary Elwes, Richard Lewis, Roger Rees, Amy Yasbeck, Dave Chappelle, Isaac Hayes and Tracey Ullman.

The film is produced and directed by Mel Brooks with Peter Schindler as executive producer and Evan Chandler as associate producer.

"Robin Hood: Men in Tights" stars Cary Elwes as the splendidly heroic and dashing debonaire Robin of Loxley. Richard Lewis portrays the lavishly pampered, royally neurotic Prince John, and Roger Rees is cast as the accident prone, foot-in-mouth and thoroughly rotten Sheriff of Nottingham.

Tracey Ullman plays Prince John's castle cook and witchcraft consultant named Latrine, Isaac Hayes is a cool Moorish potentate called Asneeze, and Amy Yasbeck is the beautiful, passionate and chastity-belted Maid Marian.

Co-starring in the comedy adventure are Dave Chappelle as Asneeze's son Ahchoo, an exchange student in England, majoring in stand up comedy; Mark Blankfield as the Hood family's fiercely loyal though totally blind servant, Blinkin; Megan Cavanaugh as Marian's lady-in-waiting and guardian of her virtue, the Teutonic, eagle-eyed Broomhilde; Eric Allan Kramer as the not-so-little Little John and Matthew Poretta as Will Scarlet O'Hara, who hurls the fastest daggers in the kingdom.

"I always wanted to do a Robin Hood movie," said Brooks. "The recent version starring Kevin Costner made it all possible, and I'm very grateful. His big hit picture reawakened the legend all over the world, so the time was right for a grand spoof."

Brooks retains all the classic story elements that have entertained audiences for centuries and adds to the medieval mix his own manic and beloved brand of rollicking wit, contemporary craziness and spectacular slapstick.

This time around, Robin's swash doesn't always buckle. The apoplectic Sheriff gets to ride his horse upside-down. Prince John installs a Jacuzzi in the palace. Loxley Hall gets hauled away. And, as Amy Yasbeck said, "Maid Marian is yearning for some romance and excitement before her chastity belt rusts."

"We're not trashing the legend," asserted Brooks. "We're having fun with it, not making fun of it. The heroism and romance survive unpunctured."

To star as a Robin Hood for the nineties, Brooks needed a "dangerously handsome" actor who could do action-adventure and comedy, who could play "a hero, a lover and, occasionally, an upper class twit." And, of course, do it all with a credible aristocratic English accent.

He found his man in Cary Elwes, who earned his stripes on two major movie saffers, "The Princess Bride" and "Hot Shots!"

The high spirited actor enjoyed the non-stop switching of gears from heroic to romantic to crazy comedy, with plenty of on-set improvisation. "In a Mel Brooks movie, you never know what to expect," said Elwes.

Popular comic actor Richard Lewis gets the richest role of his anxiety-ridden career as the tyrannical and hysterically nervous Prince John.

Lewis describes the blustery villain as "a screaming worry wart who dresses like a tumbler in a European circus. He's always looking over his shoulder, frightened to death that his big brother might come back from the Crusades any minute."

"He needs therapy, but there was no therapy in the 12th century," Lewis continued. "So when Robin Hood shows up, the Prince is really in big trouble. That green hat with the feather — it makes him nauseous."

The Sheriff of Nottingham reports to Prince John, and Lewis describes their relationship as "a sort of medieval Abbott and Costello. Anyone who's ever had a bad boss is going to appreciate Prince John."

"In Robin Hood: Men in Tights," Royal Shakespeare Company member and "Cheers" star Roger Rees takes on the broadly comic role of the sputtering Sheriff of Nottingham and plays him delightfully "over the top" (as well as under the horse.)

"Mel Brooks describes the sheriff as 'perfectly wrong,'" says the Tony Award-winning actor, "and I think that's a great description of the character who never gets anything right. His evil plans are thwarted at every turn throughout the movie. Nothing goes right for him."

Playing Maid Marian for laughs as well as romance provided a splendid showcase for the talents of comic actress Amy Yasbeck.

WEEKEND AT BERNIE'S 2
By David "Spike" Schultz
Whitmore Lake

"Weekend at Bernie's 2" is a must-see, that is, if you have seen the first one already. And if you haven't, go rent it.

It starts off in the morgue where Larry Wilson (Andrew McCarthy) and his friend Richard Parker (Jonathan Silverman) get some of Bernie's belongings. Among some of those items is a safety deposit box key, which Larry and Richard believe is where Bernie hid the stolen money from his company.

But, in order to get it, they are going to have to rely on their faithful pal Bernie Lomax (Terry Kiser).

Along the way, they're going to run into two thugs who use voodoo magic to make Bernie come back to life and show them where the stolen money is.

Bernie doesn't talk, but can move towards the money only when music is playing. The rest of the time he's just his dead self. Sounds silly, doesn't it?

It's a great comedy, and Bernie takes a beating in this one. If you like to laugh at all the silly things Bernie does, then I suggest you go see this movie.

BRAM STOKER'S: DRACULA
by Mike Kapusky
Northville

"I want to drink your blood," as Dracula would say. A lot of it, too.

The classic story of that evil count, played by Gary Oldman, is brought back to life with a '90s touch of sex and gore. An almost disgusting, not scary, look at Dracula's search for his long-lost love, played by Winona Ryder.

Excellent sets, award-winning costuming, but too much sex and gore. Not enough of the general horror behind the famous "Vampyre."

Great movie if you like buckets of blood. I am giving "Bram Stoker's: Dracula" three stars (this scale is based on a five-star basis with five being the best).

Rent it, but bring lots of garlic!

Williams goes to national AAU tournament

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

The 1993-94 Northville High basketball team will be one of the better ones in Mustang history if Josh Williams has anything to say about it.

And he will. The 6-foot-10 senior has spent the summer playing against some of the best state and national competition. Williams played with many of his high school teammates on a locally based Amateur Athletic Union squad.

According to coach Rick Topous, the senior had a terrific summer.

"Josh made the most progress of anybody," he commented. "He's developed very well over the last two years. It's like night and day."

Williams played 13 games with Topous' team from late spring to early summer. The coach said he improved his stamina and averaged in double figures in scoring as a starter.

From there, Williams went on to practice with the Motor City Mavericks — an AAU team composed of some of Detroit's best basketball players. He went up against such players as Willie Mitchell, perhaps Michigan's best young player, and did well. Topous said.

Williams joined the Kalamazoo Blues after that. He traveled with the team to the national AAU tournament in North Carolina last month, helping the Blues to three wins.

"It's a lot more intense than high school," Williams said of the caliber of competition at the tournament. "Players are a lot better and refs let you play more."

The senior started off slowly in the tournament but improved each game. He scored 14 points and blocked three shots in his final game.

According to Topous, the tournament was swarmed by college coaches and scouts. He said Williams drew his fair share of attention.

Thus far, Mid-American Conference schools such as Western Michigan, Eastern Michigan and Kent State have all shown interest. Williams has also caught the eye of new University of Detroit-Mercy coach Perry Watson.

Assistant coach Troy Amans was at the AAU tournament and wrote a letter to Williams expressing the school's interest. He told the current Mustang star he has "great legs" and "unlimited potential."

Williams said he would eventually like to earn a scholarship from a Division I university.

"I love basketball," he commented. "But it would be great to get an education out of it."

As for now, Williams is working towards having a monster senior season for Northville High.

Along with returning players like John Farrar, Neil Yaele and Kieran Williams, Josh said the Mustangs should be a force in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

"If everyone gets serious about it," he added.

Mustangs ready for start of season

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

School doesn't start until Sept. 2 but that won't stop the Mustang athletic teams from rolling into action next week.

Most Northville High sports teams, in fact, will kick off the 1993 season before classes begin. According to Athletic Director Dennis Colligan, all systems are go for the coming season.

Students begin the new school year without the burden of pay-to-participate. The program, which was instituted last fall at a rate of $195 per activity, has been put on hold, at least for now, Colligan said.

The school district will not make a final decision on pay-to-participate until a state funding act is finalized in Lansing next month.

If the program is brought back, Colligan said, the cost will likely be less per activity. He added that the district wants to avoid pay-to-participate if possible.

"It's still a high priority," Colligan commented.

Practice, meanwhile, began Aug.

Football practice began early this week for Northville High.

The Mustangs went 6-4 a year ago and will look for a second-straight state playoff berth. Northville opens on the road against South Lyon Sept. 3, 7:30 p.m.

Most of the other high school teams began practicing Monday.

The boys and girls cross country teams run their first race Sept. 4 at the West Bloomfield Invitational. The golf team hits the links Aug. 30 at the Brighton Invitational.

The Mustang soccer team will be the first in action this year. The kickers are in the annual Detroit Country Day tournament in Birmingham Aug. 27-28.

Sept. 13 is the opening date for the tennis team. Western Lakes rival Farmington provides the opposition.

The Plymouth Relays start the swimming season on Sept. 2. New basketball coach Gary Schwann leads the Mustangs against Baseline rival Novi Aug. 31.

Sekerka excels at EMU camp

The Northville High School varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders attended the Universal Cheerleaders Association summer camp at Eastern Michigan University recently and took home several awards.

The camp, which ran from Aug. 10-13, concentrates on learning in a fun and exciting environment in accordance with strict Michigan High School Athletic Association guidelines for tumbling and partner stunting safety.

Daily classes included a variety of cheers, sidelines, pom routines, band dances, partner stunts, pyramid building and tumbling techniques.

Daily awards were presented for achievement, improvement and team spirit. The camp, one of several held around the country from June-August, was host to over 20 high school and middle school squads.

Northville High fared well at the EMU camp. The varsity team won a bounty of trophies and ribbons.

The Mustangs were awarded first place for Home Pom Routine and second place for Cheer Camp Champ.

Gary Schwan says he hopes to make this season a positive experience for his players.

Schwan takes basketball reigns

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Gary Schwan isn't in to making predictions about how his Mustang basketball team will do this fall.

The longtime coach does promise one thing, however.

"We're going to be the best we can be," he said. "Our goal is to get better every day and work hard."

"We want to try and develop a tradition."

Schwan, 41, took the head coaching slot at Northville High in May. He replaced Bob Shoemaker, who left after one season with a 5-16 record.

For the past three seasons, Schwan worked as the assistant varsity coach at Plymouth Salem High. He was the girls head coach at Wayne Memorial for five years before his assignment with the Rocks. He has coached boys and girls basketball for more than two decades. Schwan, a Ford Motor Co. employee, said he couldn't have walked into a better situation than what he found in Northville. He said he hopes to stick around awhile.

"When I take a job I don't have any plans to go anywhere else," the coach said. "I've made a five-year commitment to (Athletic Director) Dennis Colligan."

Although it's his first season as the Mustangs' leader, Schwan was familiar with many Northville High players before he took the position. He worked with several current players on various Amateur Athletic Association squads over the years.

Schwan got to know the rest of the team over the summer. Between team camp and the summer league he said he's had a chance to learn the Mustangs' strengths and weaknesses.

"We're pretty athletic and have good team speed," said Schwan. "We'll try to blend that in with our basketball skills and play an up-tempo game."

While Northville will have set offensive and defensive plays, he said he likes his players to have a little freedom on the court.

"We want them to make decisions," said Schwan. "We want to prepare them for more in life than just basketball."

Seniors like Karl Krupansky, Krista Howe, Marci Bolger, Lindsay Bacon and Kate Woodrich will be counted upon heavily this year, Schwan said. He hopes players like Lindsay Reel and Samantha Leger, among others, will be able to step up and contribute as well.

If hard work counts for anything, Northville should have a good season.

"The kids have a great work ethic," Schwan said. "Our big commitment is that we want to play hard for 32 minutes."

The coach said 1993 is a fresh start for both himself and the Mustangs.

Wegener wins bronze

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Northville has an Olympic bronze medalist.

Stephen Wegener earned that honor earlier this month by taking third in the Junior Olympic taekwon do competition in Knoxville, Tenn. The 10-year-old beat out nearly two dozen athletes to earn the bronze.

"It was a thrill for him," said mother Sue Wegener. "They treated it just like the Olympics."

Thousands of America's best young athletes converged on Tennessee for the annual event. Swimming, basketball and numerous running events highlighted the Junior Olympics.

The road to the Junior Olympics was a long one.

The Northville resident began learning taekwon do, which features more kicking than punching movements, four years ago through the school district. Wegener's interest in the sport eventually took him to the Waterford Main Karate Club.

Under mentor Doug Bourgeois the 10-year-old made steady progress. Currently a brown-belt, Stephen said his ambition is to become a black-belt one day.

"It has taught him discipline and pride," Sue Wegener said of the sport's affect on her son.

In early May of this year, Wegener participated in state competition, taking a gold in sparring and bronze in forms. His performance at the state level earned him the trip to Dixie this month.

Wegener competed in the boys advanced 9- and 10-year-old division. He failed to place in sparring but earned the bronze in forms. Athletes perform series of 10 moves, simulating an attack by three people, and are judged on technique, among other things.

Medal winners won an automatic invitation to next year's Junior Olympics in Texas. Until then,

Stephen Wegener displays his bronze medal.

Wegener plans to continue practicing. Sue Wegener said her son will likely compete in the Michigan championships as well as nationals before the Olympics next year.

Brooklane improves each year

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

There are very few things in life that get better with age.

A classic automobile, perhaps. A fine bottle of wine, certainly. Without a doubt, though, Northville Township's Brooklane Golf Club can be added to the list.

Each year, it seems, the executive course gets a little bit more user-friendly. Fairways are like much more expensive courses and greens are immaculate.

According to Brooklane PGA Professional John Koch, it's no accident the course is in excellent shape.

"We do a lot of maintenance," he said. "We are an executive course but we try to maintain it to a higher standard."

Koch said a trip to South Carolina's famed Pinehurst earlier this year gave him some new ideas about maintaining Brooklane.

Areas around greens, for example, are "clean-cut," making approach shots easier. Players are also instructed to keep carts in the rough, which has been left a bit higher to avoid damage to fairways.

"We do a lot of maintenance. We are an executive course but we try to maintain it to a higher standard."

JOHN KOCH
Golf Course Manager

"If we had carts on the fairways it would look like a pea-patch," Koch said.

One of the best changes at Brooklane this season isn't in playing conditions. Instead, what was the back nine is now the front nine.

"On weekends it speeds up play," Koch said in explaining the change. "On weekends people are playing 18 holes in four hours or less, which is great."

While Brooklane is an executive course, that's not to say it's without challenge on both front and back nines. Hole No. 2 is an example.

A 317-yard, dog-leg left, the par-4 can cause problems. Chief among those is what club to hit off the tee. For those who hit medium or long distance with the driver, better leave it in the bag. A long straight shot or slice will put you in the third fairway.

A safer bet is to hit a 5-wood or even a low iron off the tee. The fairway slopes downhill which will add length to a tee shot with such a club and leave an easier second shot.

The par-3, 175-yard third hole can be deceiving. With the fairway dropping down and then rising back up to the fairway the hole looks longer than it actually is. From the front tees a 7-iron is plenty of club.

Easily the prettiest hole on the front nine, No. 5 is a 129-yard par-3. Golfers must contend with a creek that runs in front of the green and heavy woods that reach nearly to the back of the putting surface.

The eighth hole is the toughest of the remaining holes. A 290-yard straight par-4, it shouldn't be difficult for most folks to reach the green in regulation.

It's after you reach the green that the fun begins. The putting surface slopes down toward the fairway drastically. Groundskeepers almost always put the hole in the middle of the green, actually the most difficult spot. Keep the ball below the hole on your approach shot or prepare to three- or four-putt.

Generally speaking, putting is the most difficult aspect of playing the front nine at Brooklane. Surfaces are fast and rarely flat. If you do putt well you should be able to score not much over the par of 30 strokes.

Brooklane is open seven days a week. Rates are $10 for nine holes and $14 for 18 holes during the week. Juniors under 15 play for $8.75 while seniors play for $6.50 for nine and $8.75 for 18. After 6 p.m. golfers play for $8.50.

On the weekends prices are $12 and $19. Golf carts are $10 for nine holes and $16 for 18. For more information on Brooklane call 348-1010.

Many activities bring summer fun

By SHARON ACHATZ
Copley News Service

While ancient cultures worshiped the sun as the god of light and life, society today might consider it the god of fun.

A sunny day means it's time to play, whether the sunseeker's activities are as sedate as a game of catch or scintillating as skydiving.

Come a sunny summer day, you'd be hard-pressed to pass a public park or rec center playground and not find a pickup basketball, touch football or softball game in progress.

In addition to this informal frolicking, most towns offer organized sports leagues for children to adults.

To sign up your child for little league baseball, soccer or basketball, check with schools, churches or scout troops. For adults, many companies and the parks and recreation departments in most cities sponsor after-work or weekend leagues of softball, baseball, soccer and volleyball for all skill levels.

Wannabes with no experience in group sports can enroll in beginning courses at city colleges and universities. Folks with the know-how but without a team can find a league by asking co-workers, sports equipment store personnel or participants in the league at a local hangout.

Whatever the sport, the right equipment really shows team spirit.

A tour through sporting goods stores reveals a veritable coliseum full of paraphernalia. Pads and cleats for soccer players, young and old. Baseball bats, balls, gloves and caps to hold back ponytails and block the sun. Hightop shoes and signature leather basketballs. Bright neon volleyballs and glow-in-the-dark nets that stretch playtime into the twilight hours.

Some folks aren't having fun unless they really work up a sweat toward a personal fitness goal—such as tri-athletes, runners and race-walkers who compete in organized events.

Others seek personal fitness in more relaxed ways by walking, jogging, roller-skating or roller-blading. Whether competitor or fair-weather fellow, sport-appropriate shoes are essential for walkers, joggers and tri-athletes. Their footwear definitely is a case for function over form, although today's functional designs are imminently fashionable with bright shades, metallic stitching and jazzy logos. Sales representatives at athletic shoe outlets can offer pointers on which shoes best suit your sport and your level of skill.

As for sportswear fashion, it's easy to suit yourself. There's plenty to get your heart racing, from skintight capri-length leggings and oversize neon-bright T-shirts to jazzy baseball-brim caps and breezy nylon jogging shorts.

To set the pace toward individual success, race walkers, runners and triathletes can sign on with one-on-one motivators such as personal trainers or coaches.

More relaxed athletes such as walkers or roller skaters, while gaining fitness, see it more as icing on the cake as they pursue fun in the sun. While many such athletes do enjoy their sports solo, most want to rollerskate, in-line skate or walk in the company of others just as relaxed.

Volleyball is just one fun summer sport.

Kids enjoy racing each other on in-line skates or simply chatting as they skate down the street; adults may glide down the boardwalk to see and adults in roller-blade street hockey, for which you'll need all the accoutrements such as hockey sticks, pucks, be seen. A growing trend for kids and pads and face guards.

Casual walkers can check with sports shops, women's clubs, senior citizen centers or church groups for walking or jogging clubs.

Raymond Hobbs, M.D.

Summer brings many things besides vacation and water fun. It also brings some common, annoying problems.

Bee Stings

The sting of a wasp is quite different from that of a bee. A wasp does not lose its stinger and can sting many times. When a bee stings the stinger remains in the skin. As the bee flies off, the venom gland remains attached to the stinger and the bee dies.

Wasp stings do not have a stinger to remove but bee stings do. The best way to remove it is to flick the stinger off with a pin or other object that can remove the stinger without squeezing the venom sac. Pulling it out with fingers frequently injects more venom.

The sting itself is usually mild and can be treated with first aid. However, sometimes the reaction can be more severe and may need to be treated by a physician. There are rare cases of severe shock that can occur in individuals who are very sensitive. If you suspect that you may be allergic to bee stings, talk to your physician for further advice.

Poison Ivy

Several plants produce a chemical that causes an allergic reaction and rash. Poison ivy is the best known of these. The rash can be mild or severe depending on how much of the chemical is involved. It can be spread by direct contact with the plant or can be spread by contact with something touched by the plant. In addition burning leaves can be dangerous because the chemical may be spread in the smoke and inhaled.

The treatment can vary from using creams and lotions to using a short course of steroids by mouth. This is safe since it is only used for a short time and avoids the side effect caused by long term use. The best therapy is prevention. Everyone should know what poison ivy looks like so that it can be avoided.

Sunburn

Although sunburn seems to be a minor problem that can be treated with many over-the-counter medicines as well as aspirin, it is significant for what it can do in the future. Sun exposure is the leading cause of premature aging of the skin as well as the leading cause of skin cancer. It is important to avoid burning and to use good sun blocks appropriate for your skin type.

Fall volleyball leagues planned

FALL VOLLEYBALL LEAGUES: Northville Parks and Recreation is now accepting registration for fall volleyball leagues. Leagues offered include women's (Mondays) and coed intermediate — two divisions (Wednesdays). Team registration fee is $160, plus non-resident and referee fees. Registration deadline is Sept. 10. League play begins in late September. For additional information, contact Northville Parks and Recreation at 349-0203.

VICTORIAN COSTUME MAKING: "I haven't got a thing to wear!" Does this line sound familiar when you are preparing for the Northville Victorian Festival? Worry no more. Northville Parks and Recreation is offering a class on how to prepare for this annual event. Victorian costume making will consist of two nights of learning the ins and outs of Victorian-style garb.

The classes will be held on Wednesdays, Sept. 8 and 15, from 7:30-9:30 p.m. The first night will be devoted to a lecture and slide show. This will enable you to get new ideas in putting together a stylized period costume that will not cost a fortune in time or money.

The second night you will have something to take home with you. Hats and headgear to match your gown will be designed, taking a modest straw hat and turning it into a Victorian fantasy.

The cost for material is estimated at $10 and is not included in the price of the class. This two-day class costs $20 and will be held at the Northville Community Center at 303 W. Main.

COLTS: The Novi/Northville Colts is accepting registration for its varsity football team. Practice begins next month and the season starts after Labor Day. Interested boys ages 12-14 can contact Tim May (348-4418) or Jeff Cook (347-7776) for more information.

Adding weight to his 200-pound frame is the top priority. Williams is also lifting weights, jumping rope and running to stay in shape.

The senior has also been working on basketball skills by shooting for hours each day. Williams said having a good year will be crucial in securing a scholarship. FHA a viable financing option

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

Jeff and Tricia Janson have been living in rental apartment.

They tried to find a home they could buy and finance, but nothing seemed to work out.

Finally, they found a comfortable three-bedroom older home that suited them. Financing appeared to be a problem until they learned about currently available mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

The Jansons had almost forgotten about this decades-old form of home financing until their real estate agent brought it to their attention. For years there was such a wide difference between the FHA maximum loan amount and the price of homes in Janson's area (and all higher priced markets) this type of financing was dismissed as virtually useless.

In recent months the situation has changed. After considerable research, it became apparent that an FHA mortgage was the only way the Jansons could swing their purchase transaction.

Most consumers, and many brokers, still consider FHA financing to be of little value in areas with high home values. The maximum loan amount is too low and prices of homes too high, they reason.

But that scenario is changing. The higher maximum amount for

The country-style Gentry 3 offers room for growth

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

The Gentry 3 is a large, bright country-style plan that includes partially finished bonus rooms on the second floor.

As the need for living space grows, these attic spaces can be converted to bedrooms, hobby rooms or whatever.

Finished rooms upstairs include a bedroom with walk-in closet, a storage closet, and a bathroom with ample counter space for two basins and linen storage.

One of the home's most outstanding features is a window-rich sun porch with six long skylights. Ferns and other potted plants have no choice but to thrive in this naturally illuminated environment. Light spills over into the family room and dining room through French doors.

In the kitchen, a wide window in front of the sink offers a vista through the sun porch and into the back yard. Family living and entertainment areas cluster around the centrally located kitchen.

Living room and library face the front; dining room and vaulted family room are at the rear. And there is a choice of three eating areas: formal dining room, informal nook and an eating bar for quick snacks.

The large kitchen also has a built-in cook top, dishwasher and oven, lazy Susan shelving in the corner and a walk-in pantry. Some of the pantry shelves are directly accessible from the kitchen.

A storage closet and an odd-shaped powder room flank the hallway that leads to the utility room—a large space complete with a deep sink, fold-down ironing board and counter space for folding clothes. This room also can be reached from the two-car garage, which has extra space for storage and a small workshop.

For even more storage space, the Gentry 3 can be built over a basement.

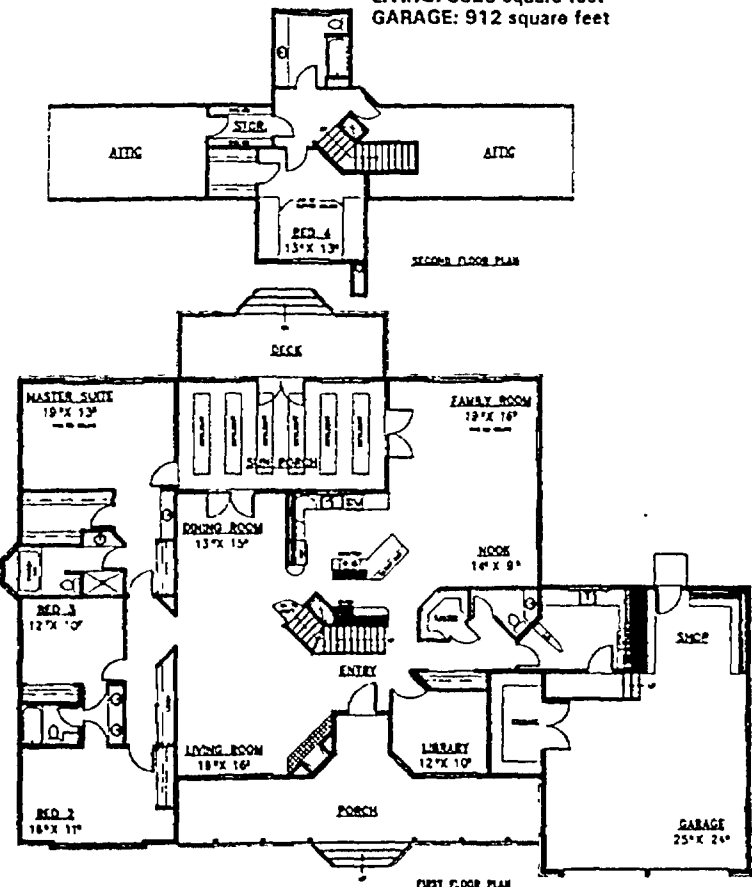

Luxury amenities in the master suite include a vaulted ceiling, a large walk-in closet and a second vanity in the dressing area.

A small bay window expands and brightens the bathroom. Plants bloom so profusely on the garden shelf next to the tub that bathing feels like a trip to the tropics.

LIVING IN AN OCTAGON

BRIGHTON—The property looks like a builder's nightmare — which it was.

"My neighbor wanted this piece but builders said you couldn't build on it; it was a challenge; it was interesting," said Steve VanderZyl, referring to the 2,000 square-foot, octagonal log home he and his wife Sally built themselves.

Interesting because the elevation difference between the lowest and highest points on the woodsy, four and one-half acre plot is 38 feet — 38 feet being the drop from the edge of the driveway into the bottom of the large bowl-shaped natural valley that is the front yard.

And the 400-foot driveway, Steve said, was made from 4,000-6,000 yards of soil that was moved to cut the basement of the house.

"When we started here my employer was a friend who volunteered the equipment to do the initial excavating and road work," Steve recalls. "I said 'We'll need an excavator and a couple of guys for a day or so.' They were here a week."

The drive is so steep, in fact, that Steve was forced to tow the drywall man's truck through the woods and out onto the road with a bulldozer. Apparently, the worker lost control on the way up and his truck went over the edge of the driveway; as a result he was too afraid to drive back down.

Just about everything included in the work is all material from the site or that he had collected from other places, Steve said. That statement pretty much explains the philosophy behind the home that, despite its largeness, seems to merge and melt right into the woods.

"We've talked about an octagon, log exterior home since the early '80s," Steve said. "I think it was just some-

The popular perennial

By C.Z. Guest

GARDENING

Why are perennials so popular? That's a much-asked question.

I say because they're just that — perennials — they return every season bigger and better, unlike annuals, and thereby, give you longer-lasting rewards for your gardening efforts.

For sheer beauty, perennials are hard to beat, they're hardy, easy to grow and reliable. Even if you live in a temperamental climate, have little sun and questionable soil, at least some perennials will be happy to call your garden home.

You may ask, what exactly is a perennial? A precise definition is tough, but generally speaking, perennials are plants that live for three or more years—many, like peonies, up to several decades. Perennials grow fresh tops each spring from roots and stems that overwinter in the soil.

Most of us, when we think of perennials, think of flowering garden plants with herbaceous stems that die to the ground each winter, such as columbine or hosta.

Herbaceous perennials generally die to the ground during cold weather. Other perennial varieties such as phlox and periwinkles have woody stems that often survive winter freezes and from which fresh growth appears in the spring.

How do these woody perennials differ from shrubs? It's a fine line, but, nevertheless, shrubs retain their entire structure through the winter, whereas woody perennials usually die back somewhat.

In addition to providing beauty to your property, perennials can solve practically any landscape problem. They come in an amazing range of foliage forms and flowers as well as all the colors of the rainbow!

Some have extremely ornamental foliage; with or without blooms, they can grow up to 8 inches, or creep along the ground, poking up a few inches in height. Arranging perennials according to their different heights can give a garden dramatic highlights.

Many gardeners with high-maintenance gardens are replanting with perennials because, once established, they need little care and can be left alone for many years.

If you are tired of mowing your lawn, you can replace

Popular perennials

- In dry soil, plant Shasta daisy, sage, yucca, wild lupine or day lily.
- In shady areas, plant Virginia bluebells, lily of the valley, ivy, columbine or periwinkle.
- In soil with poor drainage, plant foxglove, wild ginger, iris, hosta or Japanese meadowsweet.
- Plant a succession of perennials to have blooms all summer long.

FHA loans, coupled with lower home prices in most areas and the greater flexibility of FHA loan terms has again made FHA a viable form of home financing.

Consider these factors about the new breed of FHA mortgage loans. The maximum loan amount has been increased to $151,725. Average down payments are about 5 percent of the purchase price. A choice of a 30-year or 15-year fixed-rate loan, graduated payment plan (GPM) loan or adjustable rate loan is now offered. To qualify, the borrower must pay no more than 29 percent of monthly income for housing costs—41 percent for all obligations.

There's more good news about today's FHA loans. If the mortgage is co-signed by a parent or other blood relative, the combined income of purchaser and co-signer is used to qualify for the loan. And the entire down payment, closing costs and reserves can be a gift from a blood relative.

If the purchased property is a condominium, there is no up-front FHA mutual insurance premium costs. In the case of single-family homes, 3 percent of the loan amount is charged at closing for the up-front MIP fee, followed by continuing charges with regular monthly payments in the amount of 1/2 percent per year (divided into 12 monthly payments).

In the case of FHA adjustable-rate loans, the initial low interest rate is considered in determining a buyer's qualifications. With many conventional adjustable loans, 2 percentage points are added to the initial rate to calculate an applicant's qualifications. This is often required by the provider of private mortgage insurance.

If desired, many of the FHA loan closing costs can be financed (included as part of the loan). And if certain repairs on the purchased house are required before it can be acceptable for an FHA loan, those repair costs can be added to the loan. However, the completed repair work must be examined and approved by an FHA inspector—another time-consuming step in the closing process.

For example, the FHA inspector may approve a purchase loan in the amount of $141,000 subject to a new roof being installed. The $1,600 for a roof may be added to the basic loan amount for a total of $142,600.

This information about current FHA loans was passed along by Doug Harder, a seasoned loan officer with Weyerhaeuser Mortgage Co. He is the mortgage broker who arranged for Janson's FHA home loan.

Jeff Janson is very happy with the loan, except for the delays it caused.

"Every step along the way seemed to take a long time—longer than expected. But it's still worth it," he said.

The Jansons financed their purchase with an FHA adjustable rate mortgage with a 5.5 percent initial interest rate. They paid a 5 percent down payment.

Harder pointed out that the delays encountered with Janson's FHA loan were tied to requirements to repair a small settlement crack in the foundation and upgrading certain elements of the electrical system.

"This type of thing is quite common in the case of older homes being financed with an FHA loan," he said.

Real estate brokers and sales associates are rediscovering FHA as a helpful friend in helping them find workable financing for client home buyers.

Nationally, about 18 percent of all single-family home purchases during the last quarter were financed with an FHA-insured loan, according to the Research Department of the National Association of Realtors. That's down from 22 percent last year. But recent activity shows an increasing proportion of FHA financing.

part or all of it with a low-maintenance ground cover, such as pachysandra, creeping buttercup, ivy, thyme, yarrow or gypsophila. Gardeners are also replacing their lawns with drought-tolerant perennials because of dry conditions in various areas of the country. Perennials can also prevent soil erosion and runoff.

For the apartment dweller, or if your garden is confined to a patio or porch, perennials make the perfect container plants. Columbine, dianthus, day lilies and windflower are just a few that grow well in containers. Choose plants of low to medium height with upright or trailing habits that bloom all summer long.

Harsh weather conditions do not exclude perennials. If your garden has poor drainage, plant perennials that tolerate boggy or extramist soils, for example, foxglove, wild ginger, iris, hosta or Japanese meadowsweet.

On the other hand, if you dwell in a dry and hot climate, many varieties of perennials grow well in dry soils. You can plant shasta daisy, sage, yucca, wild lupine and day lily.

In a shady area, plant Virginia bluebells, lily-of-the-valley, ivy, columbine and periwinkle.

If your garden looks colorless in midsummer, plan a succession of blooms by choosing perennials with an eye to their blooming times.

Mid- and late-summer bloomers include hollyhocks, shasta daisy, baby's breath, dahlias and astilbe and clematis.

I like to use perennials as cut flowers — delphiniums, peonies, lilies, anemones, lupines, yarrow and Oriental poppies (to name a few) look great in vases.

Always pick your flowers when they are in bud, which means before they are fully opened. When picked at this time, the flowers will last longer and be more fragrant. Fresh-cut flowers absorb a lot of water, so put them in a deep vase and keep a close check on the water for the first day. Also, pull off all the lower leaves so that only the stem of the flower is immersed in water.

Don't forget, you can never give your plants too much care. You will be rewarded for all your work.

You will start out with a little knowledge and as you become absorbed with your garden, you will find your know-how increasing. And one day, you'll wake up to discover you know quite a lot about gardening.

At home in the woods thing we wanted. A ranch house wouldn't fit because of the severity of the grade. We needed something unique, the whole theme is to fit into the surroundings.

"Pretty soon it will fit right back into the woods as soon as the woods heal themselves," he said. "I don't plan to cut the lawn, I want it to grow back as wild as possible."

Instead of manicured grass, they'll spend time outdoors on a 1,200 square-foot deck that will eventually surround their house on four sides.

The couple began work on their home in October 1991, commuting back and forth from Grand Rapids. Steve's parents, Vivian and Dan, along with other family and friends, helped build. They moved into the house in December 1992.

About half of the trim wood that was used on the house was culled from the property, Steve said, and the rest was purchased from a mill shop. The exterior logs were also purchased.

While the home is incredible from the outside, the inside is the real eye treat. Its main feature is the curved oak and redwood staircase that leads up to a loft where the master bedroom's located. Looking over the edge, you're treated to a bird's-eye view of the lower level.

Moving back downstairs, all of the cabinets in the kitchen, and the countertop, are hickory. All of the trim is oak, a good share of which came from the couple's own property.

Aside from utilizing their own land, they've used quite a lot of material that Steve managed to scavenge over the years.

For example, the windows in the living room, the track lighting and the front doors all came from a salvage company, but a little work had them looking brand new.

The one thing Sally said she misses is a downstairs to offer a little privacy, and they plan to renovate the basement one day.

Apparently, people are more than a little curious about the massive house perched up in the woods on Hyne Road just east of US-23.

"We've had a tremendous amount of people out here stop and ask us if they can go through it," Steve said.

ID interceptor

Device keeps number private

By MIKE MCGLINNEN
Staff Writer

Have you ever worried about transmitting your telephone number to someone you don't want to have it? With the recent invention and growth of Caller Identification devices, this scenario is becoming more and more of a concern for many people.

Local electronics buff Gary Marszalek has created a device which enables those who wish to protect their privacy to avoid the numerous Caller ID services which are now available in many communities.

The Stealth-1 is a compact unit that automatically blocks the transmission of a telephone number to a Caller Identification device. It rapidly dials the three digit code number supplied by Michigan Bell which eliminates transmission of a phone number. That code is #67.

Marszalek came up with the idea for this product when he realized that Caller ID essentially defeated the purpose of having a non-published phone number.

Caller ID will transfer phone numbers whether the number is published or not. A non-published telephone number only means the number is not listed in the phone book, Marszalek said.

"As soon as I heard about Caller ID, I thought of this," Marszalek said. "If people get a hold of unlisted numbers, they will bug the heck out of you."

Marszalek is not opposed to the concept of Caller Identification; he just believes many people now have a false sense of security when they request an unpublished number.

"I'm not slamming Caller ID," Marszalek said. "I think it's a good idea, but it is not for some people. Some people are private and they want a private number."

"Even if people don't want the Stealth, they should know about the #67. If you ever called a bill collector and he got your number, you would never hear the end of it."

Marszalek runs Innovative Electronics out of his South Lyon residence. He sells various electronic components, computer parts and microprocessors. He has also installed video systems in several area hospitals.

gating overseas factories to produce the Stealth-1.

The product can be manufactured less expensively and in larger quantities in another country than by the Ohio corporation he currently uses, Marszalek said.

"Right now I'm looking at Hong Kong, Taiwan and Mexico," Marszalek said. "There is no way we can make them as cheap as I want over here."

The inventor's goal is to sell the product to dealers for $19.95. By mail order, the product is available for $39.95 plus $4.50 for shipping.

"Right now, we are retailing it slowly, but once we get the units (produced inexpensively), we will do more advertising and marketing," Marszalek said.

The system has a distinctive dial tone which alerts the telephone user that the code is being dialed. If for some reason the tone is not heard, then the caller should be alerted that the telephone number will be transmitted, Marszalek said.

You must have touch-tone service and have Caller ID available in your area to use the Stealth-1. The device will protect all extensions hooked to the same telephone line.

For more information about the Stealth-1, contact Marszalek at Innovative Electronics Inc., P.O. Box 444, South Lyon, Mich. 48178.

Stealth-1 is a simple device that disables the Caller ID system.

Money Management

Pick mortgage payment plan that best suits your needs

Selecting the right mortgage is as important as selecting the right location for your home. The Michigan Association of CPAs recommends that you carefully consider how various mortgage options suit your personal financial situation and long-term goals.

The amount of the loan, the type of loan you select, as well as its annual percentage rate (APR), will determine the amount of your monthly payments. Lenders recommend that your monthly mortgage payment, including real estate taxes, hazard insurance premiums, and homeowner or condo association dues not exceed 28 percent of your monthly gross income.

It is a good idea to obtain pre-approval of a mortgage loan before you begin your search for a new home. It will help you determine how much you can afford to spend on a house and enable you to focus your house-hunting on homes within your price range. Here are several types of mortgages to consider.

FIXED-RATE MORTGAGES

A fixed-rate mortgage is usually a long-term (generally 15 to 30 years) mortgage with an interest rate that remains stable for the life of the loan. The 30-year mortgage usually offers the lowest monthly payment of fixed-rate/fixed-payment loans. The 15-year mortgage enables you to pay off your mortgage loan in half the time and for less than half the total interest cost of a 30-year loan, but your monthly mortgage payments will be higher.

Another kind of fixed-rate mortgage that enables you to pay off your principal sooner is a biweekly mortgage. With a biweekly, you essentially split your monthly payment in half, paying it every two weeks, 26 times a year. The result? You make the equivalent of 13 monthly payments rather than 12. This extra payment is applied to the loan principal, enabling you to cut your interest expense and build equity faster.

ADJUSTABLE-RATE MORTGAGES

Adjustable-rate mortgages (ARMs) have interest rates that change periodically according to a predetermined index, commonly the rate of return on U.S. Government Treasury Bills. The initial rate on ARMs is usually lower than the interest rate on fixed-rate mortgages. Most ARMs come with an interest rate cap that limits rate increases to no more than two percentage points a year or six points over the life of the mortgage.

Before obtaining an ARM, check the bank's policy on how frequently the interest rate can change and find out how much notification you will receive before a rate change. Also, ask the lender if you will be allowed to change your mortgage from an ARM to a fixed-rate loan at a later date and if you will be charged an additional fee for making this change.

OTHER MORTGAGE OPTIONS

Another type of adjustable-rate loan offers a fixed interest rate for a specified time period, often five to seven years, before adjusting to a new market interest rate for the remainder of the loan.

Balloon mortgages also offer interest rates that are lower than conventional loans for a certain number of years, usually about seven. At the end of that term, you are expected to either pay off the loan or take out another mortgage.

Additionally, low-interest loans are provided through the Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration to qualified individuals.

SIGNING THE MORTGAGE COMMITMENT

Since interest rates may affect your ability to afford to purchase a particular home, it's wise to obtain a mortgage rate commitment in writing from your lender specifying the length of time the lender will hold that rate. CPAs advise that you find out how long your lender usually takes to process a loan application so you can be sure that your rate commitment lasts that long.

Business Briefs

MARY LYNN MCDANIELS, sales associate with ERA Layson Realtors Inc., has completed the requirements of the ERA Top Gun Academy, an advanced training course offered by the ERA Real Estate Network. In addition, McDaniels exceeded the graduation requirements and has earned membership as a member of the Top Team.

The intense training ran for eight weeks. Each session introduced new techniques to help McDaniels and the others be more productive in their markets. Understanding customers and looking for ways to provide better service was the focus of the class. To graduate from the academy, sales associates had to complete seven missions, demonstrate their ability to use the proven techniques and exceed the minimum standards.

Sales associates participating in the Top Gun Academy were given the tools and confidence they needed to better assist consumers with their real estate needs, said Jerry Smith, ERA Top Gun Academy director.

"Average agents that attended the Top Gun Academy were able to increase their productivity by more than 250 percent by obtaining saleable listings and using the academy's business philosophy to help their listings sell," he explained. "The high level of productivity is due to increasing skills development in areas needed to be a real estate professional in today's market."

Participants learn how to effectively present ERA products and services and ways to promote themselves, widen their circles of influence and perform with a winning attitude.

Members of the ERA Top Team are eligible to attend additional advanced Top Gun training and are recognized as being among the top real estate professionals in the nation.

ERA Layson Realtors, Inc. is a member of the ERA Real Estate Network, which has member broker offices in all 50 states and 10 countries. This international real estate network is composed of franchisees of Electronic Realty Associates L.P., headquartered in Overland Park, Kan. Each office is independently owned and operated.

AARON AND SARAH PIETILA of South Lyon have achieved the Farmers Insurance Group of Companies' highest recognition award to district managers and agents for "outstanding overall performance." Agents Aaron and Sarah join a select group of fellow achievers as members of the prestigious Presidents Council.

Dale V. Hawke, vice president of marketing, announced the selection of the Pietilas as the Farmers' Los Angeles home office.

"Council selections are based on an agent's sales production in all insurance lines, overall professional competence and maintenance of the highest quality standards," he said.

The Presidents Council membership is attained by only a small percentage of the more than 16,000 district managers and agents serving Farmers' policyholders throughout 28 western, midwestern and southeastern states.

Farmers' senior management meets annually at the President's Council with top agency force members to review and discuss key issues affecting customers and the insurance industry.

Member companies of the Farmers Insurance Group play a major role in the life insurance field and include the nation's third largest automobile and homeowner insurers.

The Pietilas represent Farmers' member companies in automobile, homeowners, life and business insurance.

KATHY WITT, a Northville native, was one of three new officers recently elected at First of America Bank-Ann Arbor, President Douglas D. Freeth announced. Toby S. Rex was named private banking officer, and Witt and Paula C. Reading were named branch officers.

Witt, a resident of Pinckney, Mich., has been the branch manager of the bank's Brighton East office since September, 1992. She has held a number of branch positions since joining the bank as a teller in 1984. Prior to her current assignment, she was an assistant manager at the Main Office branch.

Aaron and Sarah Pietila (with baby Paul) were named top agents.

A Northville native, Witt attended Lansing Community College and is active in the bank's United Way campaign and the Brighton Chamber of Commerce. She and her husband, Fred, have one son.

WILLIAM W. SCHERKENBACK of Northville has been named an ASQC director-at-large.

Scherkenback is a private management consultant who previously worked with Ford Motor Co. as director of statistical methods, and with General Motors.

A graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, Scherkenback holds a graduate degree from New York University's School of Business, where he studied under W. Edwards Deming. He conducts quality management seminars both with Deming and on his own.

Scherkenback is the author of two often-cited, best-selling books on the management of quality: The Deming Route to Quality and Productivity, and Deming's Road to Continuous Improvement. He has written numerous articles on quality and his work has been included in six recent books and two PBS documentaries.

Founded in 1946, ASQC is the quality source for information on the development, promotion, and application of quality strategies and techniques. The professional, not-for-profit association is headquartered in Milwaukee and serves more than 120,000 individual and 950 corporate members.

One-Day Scrub Attack Rejuvenates Cabinets

Maybe your kitchen cabinets don't need to be replaced. Maybe they just need a day at the spa. Kitchen Tune-Up® is a national franchise that revives worn cabinets. It's done in one day, and you don't even empty the drawers. First, workers scrub off the gunk with a surface cleaner. Then they rub in a wood stain. Next they touch up problem spots and treat the wood with KTU Oil. They also polish and clean your counter tops and align hinges and drawer slides.

GYM CLASSES

BEGINNER FITNESS

Been out of fitness for a while? Never exercised before? Enjoy a less intense workout? This class is for you! Come join us to exercise and socialize with people at your fitness level.

CONTINUING FITNESS

Get Fit, Stay Fit! Classes are designed to increase cardiovascular endurance, strengthen muscles and improve flexibility. Appropriate for the new exerciser in good shape or for those who just want to maintain their level of fitness.

SUPER FIT

Are you an overachiever? An intense person? Love to sweat? Super Fit is a high level, choreographed, 1-1/2 hour class featuring cardiovascular conditioning, muscular strength and flexibility exercises. Circuit training and other exercises will be introduced to keep you challenged. Spri Rubber Band Work-out included.

HIP HOP JAM . . .

An exciting low-impact, high intensity work-out designed to improve fitness. This is a high energy fast-moving class.

STEP I

Designed for the beginning Stepper to get acquainted with the moves of step aerobics and to improve their fitness level.

STEP AEROBICS (Cont. Step)

It's a great workout, it's STEP AEROBICS! The latest craze in fitness is here. This class gives you all of the benefits of a high intensity workout without a lot of high intensity impact. Creativity on the Steps is the key. For the person who has had Step or has a higher level of fitness.

SUPER STEP

A class for the advanced stepper who desires a high-level workout. Includes floor and rubberband workout.

PRE NATAL

Feeling low on energy and out of shape during pregnancy? Don't want to or aren't supposed to overdo? This is the class you need! Exercise emphasizes keeping you fit and toned during pregnancy. Walking and simple aerobic exercise along with safe floor exercises are done to keep lower back and abdominal muscles strengthened.

WATER EXERCISE

A wonderful, wet workout! You don't need to be a swimmer to exercise in the pool. All work is done in the shallow end. We work you hard enough to get your heart and lungs in shape, but the buoyancy of the water takes all of the impact away. The class helps you increase flexibility and muscular balance and coordination, too.

POWER WALLYBALL

Enjoy some good competition in this exciting game! A cross between racquetball and volleyball, wallyball can be enjoyed and mastered by all. Space is always limited because it is played in a racquetball court. Grab some friends or co-workers and join in the fun.

WOMEN'S WEIGHT TRAINING

A class to assist the participant in developing proper techniques for lifting both machine and free weights. Assistance in designing a program will be given. Women not alone in weight room.

BEGINNING WATER EXERCISE

A NEW class for those with specific needs. (Arthritis or other health problems.) This class will help increase your range of motion and your basic fitness level.

JOIN THE HEART AND SOLE RUNNING CLUB!

We welcome runners of all abilities - from beginners to marathoners. Come see what we're all about! - We run on Monday at 6:30 p.m., Wednesday, 6:00 p.m. and Saturday 9:30 a.m.
FOR MORE INFORMATION: Call 261-2161, and leave a message for Gary Plank, Running Club Coordinator.

MARTIAL ARTS

BEGINNING KARATE

Introduce yourself to the world of Tang Soo Do, a form of Korean Karate. Karate is an exciting and very disciplined art form. Train and learn with high level Master Dan! Students under 14 must attend first night orientation with parents.

AIKIDO

Aikido is a non-competitive art based on the philosophy and martial arts of the Japanese samurai. It is an excellent fitness activity, effective self defense and a way of improving our relationships with others. Aikido teaches us not to defeat others, but to learn to control ourselves.

PRE-SCHOOL

SHRIMP & KIPPER (6 months to walking)

This is an introductory class designed to encourage the parent and child to enjoy themselves while learning about the water and aquatic safety. The games that are played will relate to future classes and help your child learn proper body positioning in the water. Cloth diapers and tight fitting plastic pants required. 1 child per parent.

INIA/PERCH (walking to 3 years)

This level further encourages the parent and child to explore the aquatic environment and increase propulsion skills such as kick movements and upper body control. Child will learn breath control in a fun atmosphere.

LITTLE SQUIRTS (30-36 months)

A class designed for the child who is unsure of their swimming skills but no longer needs a parent in the water. Each child is given the time to explore its new environment and build friendships with other children in the class. The gym portion of the class pays particular attention to large motor skills such as climbing and rolling.

PIKE (3-6 years)

Preschoolers who need help with floating, kicking and other basic swimming skills. All children in this class are taught the very basics of swimming. The gym will involve large motor skills such as walking on a pre-school balance beam, hopping, skipping and forward rolls. Group games are also introduced.

EELS (3-6 years)

The goal of this class is to take a child who is able to swim one width of the pool with support from flotation device. The major part of the class will be spent on rotary breathing with work on a sitting dive and basic swimming safety skills. The gym will consist of group games and different types of gym equipment. The children will be encouraged to develop upper body strength and coordination.

RAYS (3-6 years)

This class is for advanced pre-schoolers who must be able to swim the width of the pool with rotary breathing. We will work on endurance, diving from the side of the pool, treading water and pool games. In the gym the children will work toward independence on the equipment in the gym, although they will still be working on their basic locomotor skills.

STARFISH (3-6 years)

Our Starfish class is for those who need one more class before they move on to the progressive level. This class will cover personal safety and growth, water sports and games, stroke development and basic rescue techniques. This promises to be a fun and exciting class.

SCHOOL-AGE BLUE RACER SWIMMING

Competitive Swim Team
Boys and Girls
Ages 6-18 years

The Blue Racers is a competitive swim team. Our team encourages broad participation rather than fine-tuning for the elite athlete. Teaching the fundamental skills, encouraging lifetime involvement in physical activity, strengthening the values of fitness, health, self-respect and respect for others are central themes in the YMCA sports philosophy. Call Phys. Ed. office for information.

PRIVATE SWIM LESSONS - For All Ages 6 yrs and up

Geared to the individual needs of participant. All lessons are scheduled by the Aquatic Director. You must schedule and pay for a set of 4 (four) lessons. NO MAKE-UP LESSONS will be scheduled unless a 24 hour notice is given.
FEE: $15 per half hour PAYABLE 48 HOURS BEFORE 1ST LESSON.

POLLIWOG

This is the ideal "first" class for your child to take in our Swim Program. In our Polliwog class, your child will learn the very basics of swimming such as floating, kicking and gliding. There are no pre-requisites for this class. When your child leaves this class, they will know how to swim paddle stroke for 25 yards with some help and kicking with kick board for 25 yards.

POLLIWOG EXPRESS

This class is unique to our Y and is designed for the child who have been in Polliwog two or more times. In this class your child will practice those skills that are needed to progress into Guppy. Endurance is the main focus of Polliwog Express.

GUPPY

A class for your child to develop self-confidence and increase swimming ability without help from floats or instructors. Rotary breathing and front crawl are the main areas emphasized in this class.

GUPPY BUBBLER

Like the Polliwog Express class, the Guppy Bubblers are unique to the Livonia Y. Guppy Bubblers will spend the majority of their time in class working on their Rotary Breathing.

MINNOW

Minnow is the first formal time that your child will work on back crawl. Rotary breathing and endurance become more important in this class. In order to enroll in this class, the child should be able to swim one length of our pool with rotary breathing. Self help skills and mouth to mouth resuscitation will be covered in this class.

FISH

In our Fish class the swimmers will work on breaststroke, backstroke and learn how to do the dolphin kick. Standing dives and personal survival skills become more important in this class.

FLYING FISH

In our Flying Fish class the swimmers will spend more time practicing those strokes they already have learned from earlier classes. The butterfly stroke is introduced at this level. Each swimmer will be challenged mentally and physically as they learn about lifetime fitness habits.

SHARK

Shark is the highest level at the Livonia YMCA. We will teach each child how to do flip turns, surface dives, and work on the side stroke.

Y-Indian Guide Programs

A Feather in Livonia's Cap

DEAR PARENT,

As a busy parent, I have found a great way to give my child the gift of time. Here at the Livonia Family YMCA we have very rewarding Parent/Child programs for children ages five and up. These programs are a part of the National YMCA programs that build a closer family relationship with emphasis on children and parents having fun, learning about Indian lore through campouts, crafts, games, songs, stories and outings.

Tribes are made up of 6 to 8 parents and their children. They meet in homes on a rotating schedule once or twice a month. Monthly outings are geared to the interests of the children and parents together (bowling, roller skating, campouts, community services projects, to name a few). Family swims and Fun Nites are also available at the Livonia YMCA.

Each tribe adopts a Native American Indian name and chooses the design of the vest that will be made and worn at various functions and tribal meetings. These meetings usually include a short business session followed by the fun stuff. Headbands, patches for the vests, and manuals are provided with membership into the program. Feathers to wear in the headbands are earned by doing craft projects, participation in activities, learning Indian names of the tribal members, etc.

Membership in any of these programs is sure to be a rewarding experience for parents and children. What a wonderful gift to your child - the gift of time - your time together.

Wayne County Community Development Block Grant Program 1993 Statement

We're Building A World-Class County

Edward H. McNamara,
Wayne County Executive

Wayne County : We're Building A World-Class County

Dear Citizen:

We are pleased to present this annual report on the partnership between Wayne County and your community regarding the use of federal Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds. Together, we will implement more than 200 projects which will benefit senior citizens, the homeless, troubled youth and other groups in need in 30 Wayne County communities.

In addition to updating you about the use of CDBG funds, this report is also intended to introduce you to the local and County personnel who are charged with running the various community improvement programs. We have listed the chief elected official in each community, as well as the phone number and name of the local staff person responsible for administering the CDBG program. I encourage you to contact your local representative to determine whether you may be eligible for certain projects.

The CDBG partnership between Wayne County and local communities began in 1976. The partnership now extends to 30 communities. CDBG funding has made a difference in many Wayne County communities, and will continue to make a difference.

Our mission at Wayne County is to build a world-class county...a county that is an excellent place to live, work and play. We can achieve our mission through strong partnerships with our local communities and citizens.

Edward H. McNamara
Wayne County Executive

How Community Block Grant Money Touches You

Each year, Wayne County's Community Development Block Grant program benefits hundreds of thousands of citizens in 30 Wayne County communities.

Through federal block grant funding administered by Wayne County's Department of Jobs & Economic Development and its Community Development Division, more than 200 worthy projects are completed each year -- projects which have an impact on you.

Perhaps there is an elderly, homebound woman in your neighborhood. Did you know that her only substantial meal each day might be provided by Wayne County's Nutrition Services division? This is just one of the projects the Community Development Block Grant Program funds.

Or you may know of a family that has been victimized by domestic violence. Their situation may have been resolved through the various counselling programs that block grant funding makes possible.

Community Development Block Grants and a federal Emergency Shelter Grant make it possible for Wayne County to operate the Wayne County Family Center in Westland, which provides temporary shelter and a wide array of counseling to homeless families with young children.

Wayne County's program also provides other important services to residents. The new sewer pipes, firefighting equipment, or parks and recreation programs in your community may also be partially funded by block grant money.

Wayne County's Community Development Block Grant Program. It helps improve the quality of life you enjoy in your community.

Improving Wayne County's economic climate, quality of life

One of Edward H. McNamara's first duties when he was elected Wayne County Executive in 1986 was to create the Department of Jobs & Economic Development. McNamara's goal was to establish a department which would be charged with strengthening and diversifying the County's tax base, attracting new industry and jobs, and working to improve the quality of life in each of Wayne County's 43 communities.

Under McNamara's direction, Wayne County's economic development efforts have received national acclaim for creativity and innovation.

The Block Grant program helps communities fund major infrastructure improvement projects.

County of Wayne: Final Statement of Community Development Objectives & Projected Use of Funds

1993 Wayne County Community Block Grant Program

The County of Wayne anticipates receiving $3,967,000 in federal Community Development Block Grant funds for the 1993 program year beginning July 1, 1993. This program provides funding for 30 municipalities within Wayne County whose individual populations are 50,000 people or less.

National Objectives

In keeping with the broad national objectives of the Block Grant program, all projects funded with these monies must meet one of the following criteria:

- A. Principally benefit low and moderate income persons.
- B. Assist in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight.
- C. Address a need which has a particular urgency.

Local Objectives

In order to implement the above referenced national objectives, the County of Wayne has established the following local objectives for projects funded by the Community Development Block Grant program:

- 1. Preservation of low and moderate income neighborhoods, particularly through rehabilitation of the housing stock.
- 2. Provision of a satisfactory range of housing opportunities.
- 3. Improvement of the quality of neighborhood-based living.
- 4. Improvement of the visual appearance of both rural and urban communities, particularly through the use of code enforcement projects.

- 5. Construction and/or rehabilitation of urban infrastructures, such as streets, water and sewer lines, utilities, sidewalks and public buildings.
- 6. Reduction of negative environmental impact.
- 7. Facilitation of economic development.
- 8. Increased staff capacity of local communities to carry out the objectives of the Block Grant program.
- 9. Facilitation of future land use planning.
- 10. Improvement of leisure time facilities, including parks and recreational facilities.
- 11. Projects which address the special needs of disabled persons and senior citizens.
- 12. Promotion of energy conservation measures.
- 13. Provision of public service programs to assist low and moderate income persons with their social, emotional and psychological needs.

Final Statement of Objectives

In keeping with the above stated national and local objectives, the County of Wayne, through its participating communities, has identified the following list of proposed projects to be submitted to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) as part of its 1993 Block Grant Application. Additionally, projects proposed for this year have been identified as to the particular national objective (the letter following the project name) and the local objective (the number following the project name) which they meet:
