Survey says most would support a new library

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The majority of Northville residents would be happy to fund a new district library for 1.5 mills, and most would prefer a location on Cady Street behind the recreation center and city hall.

Those are the results of a random phone survey recently conducted by the Northville District Public Library Board, to gauge the community's reaction to its plans to seek between 1-2 voter-approved mills to fund a district library.

The board may seek funding for a new two-story, 25,000-square-foot building to replace the existing 6,000-square-foot facility in Northville City Hall as part of that request.

Board members have conducted the survey in conjunction with two public hearings and a written questionnaire distributed through the library and the Northville Record. They sought feedback on three questions: whether residents would be willing to pay 1.5 mills to fund a new building, how they felt about the Cady Street location, and what they wanted from their library in terms of facility, collections and services.

The survey, together with the written questionnaire, was designed with input from Dr. Joseph Ohren, a statistician from Eastern Michigan University. Dr. Ohren said a random survey was needed to gain a valid indication of how residents at large felt about the millage request and location. People who took the time to fill out the written questionnaire, he argued, would likely be either strongly in favor of or strongly opposed to library services in general.

Dr. Ohren recommended phoning at least 300 people in order to reach at least 100. After selecting names at random from the Northville Mother's Club directory, trained library volunteers called 300 people by Dec. 3 and conducted phone interviews with 180 of them.

Of the 172 registered voters who responded, 102 people or 59 percent said they would approve 1.5 mills to build and operate a new library, while 16 percent said they would not and a full 25 percent were undecided.

As for the Cady Street location, a large majority of 142 respondents or 83 percent said the location was acceptable, while five percent found the site unacceptable and 12 percent were undecided.

Board member Wendy Gutowski said she was thrilled with the results.

"It's very encouraging, I think, to see that more than half the people have agreed to support us in full, and it's certainly promising that 25 percent are willing to listen," she said.

Gutowski was also pleased that the board's efforts to whittle down the number of potential sites had apparently paid off.

Other sites, including the Open Door Christian Church and the former Ford Valve Plant, were rejected before the board dusted off a set of 1976 plans for a new facility on Cady Street and took another look at them.

"I don't think we've wasted all that hard work," Gutowski said. "I think that's paid off."

Board members have also received at least 295 of the written surveys published in the Northville Record and distributed through local libraries. The results of those surveys, which also ask for input on the types of library services that residents would like to see, should be compiled within the next week.

Northville High School sophomore Kajal Parikh was selected for publication in the Detroit Free Press sampler issue of "Award of Excellence" winners. Her story, "I Can Hear the Ocean," won her the 1992 Free Press Writing Awards contest.

High school student's writing published as example for others

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

It's not every day that a high school student's writing is honored in a regional competition.

It's even more rare when a student's work is singled out as an example for other writers.

That's what happened to Northville High School sophomore Kajal Parikh, whose short story titled "I Can Hear the Ocean" was given an Award of Excellence in the 1992-93 Detroit Free Press Writing Awards Contest.

The story was also included in a recently-released Free Press magazine that was published "in the belief that samples of some of the best student writing submitted in 1992-93 will serve as an inspiration to other students."

While the modest 15-year-old claims, "It's not that big of a deal," her ninth-grade English teacher Nancy Brown is justifiably proud. Brown noted that only three of her students have ever had their work included in the Free Press magazine.

Brown, who taught Parikh's enriched ninth grade english, said she encourages her students to show their work outside the school. A total of 18 NHS students took awards in last year's Free Press competition, while 34 were honored the year before that, she said.

"I believe in contests very strongly, and so as part of the honors ninth grade curriculum I had them enter contests," she said. "A lot of students won, but the very idea that someone's writing was chosen as a model for other writers is very exciting."

Blue ribbon committee supports revised budgets

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Northville Public Library and Northville Youth Assistance won potential increases to their budgets last week after a special blue ribbon committee was empaneled to hear their requests.

The library, which found that its original budget projections for Fiscal Year 1994 would fall short due to unanticipated increases in Wayne Oakland Library Federation fees and worker salaries, faced the possibility of further cutbacks after the township cut its contribution by another $6,000.

Since the library is funded jointly according to the shared services formula, the move would have forced the city to cut its contribution by about $4,000 to follow the formula.

Township trustees were targeting a $10,000 line item in the library's budget intended to allow the library to hold a special election next year for passage of its district library plan, but city officials noted that the shared services agreement does not allow a municipality to target specific items in a shared service program other than salaries.

In the meantime, the city council declined to approve NYA's request for an increase in its budget that would have cost the city an additional $2,000 in this year's budget.

NYA Director Mary Ellen King had revised the program's budget upward after the council approved it earlier this year, saying the increase was necessary to cover the depletion of a

Test wells installed at former station

By STEVE KELLMAN

Northville clothier Charles Lapham stopped by the Northville City Council Monday night to obtain permission to locate more groundwater testing wells on city property.

Lapham, whose son owns the former Cal's Car Care station at 202 W. Main St., is overseeing the continuing cleanup efforts at the site. Having already obtained council approval for three test wells in front of Northville City Hall, Lapham needed permission for two more in the city right-of-way along the east side of Wing Street after failing to reach a similar agreement with the owner of the gravel lot east of the property.

"We ran into a little glitch with the DNR's other request to drill on the east side of Wing Street, because we were unable to come to an agreement with the landowner," Lapham said.

The property, formerly Phil's 76 service station, was cleaned up after the station was demolished and is owned by the Long Development Co. Council members unanimously granted Lapham's request to put the two wells on city right-of-way instead of on the gravel lot.

Monitoring wells were scheduled to be installed in front of city hall yesterday, and Lapham hoped to install the wells on the east side of Wing Street at the same time.

The wellheads will be flush with the surface of the ground, and they can be driven on.

The Laphams, who have already installed eight testing wells on the Cal's Car Care site, are still trying to determine the extent of underground contamination at the former gas station.

The series of test wells should help determine the extent to which groundwater off the site has been contaminated, and the boundaries of any potential contamination plume. The groundwater under the site flows to the southwest, Lapham said.

The site was tested for contaminants in January after test borings revealed the presence of petroleum vapor in the soil. As part of the cleanup, five fuel tanks between 500 and 8,000 gallons in size, and a sixth smaller oil tank, were pulled from the site and 80 cubic yards of soil were hauled away Jan. 25.

The excavated sites were then lined with polyethylene sheeting and refilled with sand and gravel.

The site was then tested for a se-

Appreciation time

U.S. postal workers delivered plenty of holiday charm on Customer Appreciation Day earlier this month. Cookies, coffee and other goodies were also available.

Mixed-use development approved despite some trustees' concerns

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

The WindRidge Haggerty Road Planned Unit Development (HPUD) agreement is now a done deal, but it didn't get there without controversy.

Northville Township's board of trustees voted 6-0 (Treasurer Rick Engelland was absent) in favor of the deal at its Dec. 9 meeting. Some members of the board, however, voiced concerns over Supervisor Karen Baja's signing the agreement on Dec. 1 before the board gave a formal yes or no to the matter.

Responding to the criticism, Baja said that the language of the agreement expressly states that it requires the approval of the board and planning commission to be legally valid.

She also said that she had no intention of usurping the board's authority when she signed the measure, but did so only to help the project's developer meet a closing date for the retail store involved in the landmark deal. Other members of the board said they supported Baja's action.

With the Dec. 7 commission and Dec. 9 board approvals, the Win-dRidge HPUD took another step away from the drawing board and toward reality. Planned for the corner of Seven Mile and Haggerty Roads, the development is unique — the first in the township to incorporate both residential and commercial projects into a single design.

The plan calls for a 101-lot subdivision of single family homes to share 64.1 acres with a Home Depot. The 100,000 square foot retail store will sell home improvement products of all kinds. The homes, developer Da-

Township moves one step closer to composting site agreement with BFI

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

How do you spell composting? B-F-I.

Browning Ferris Industries and Northville Township are edging closer to agreement on allowing a composting facility near Six Mile and Napier Roads. The two sides took another step in that direction on Dec. 9.

The township's board of trustees voted 5-1 (Treasurer Rick Engelland was absent) for a motion which expressed the municipality's general intention to work out a contract with BFI permitting the composting center.

The measure is essentially a good-will gesture, a concrete but not legally binding affirmation to BFI that the Couple offering a $1,000 reward

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Vandals who damaged one Northville Township couple's property may soon regret their actions. There's a price on their heads.

The couple, who wish to remain anonymous, have offered a $1,000 reward for information leading to the apprehension of the offenders.

"We decided enough was enough," said the woman. "My husband is furious; I'm furious. We hope this might encourage someone to come forward."

Unknown persons on Monday night tore Christmas lights from trees in front of the couple's home and damaged a yard light. Their residence is located on Edenderry Drive, south of Seven Mile between Sheldon and Beck.

The couple filed a police report on the incident Tuesday morning and decided to make the reward request.

"The cost isn't really high," the woman said. "It's the principle."

The vandalism definitely drained some of the joy out of the holiday season for them, she added.

"It really takes the starch right out of you," she said.

Anyone with information about this incident can call 344-1323 or 349-1084.

Police News

Housebreaker makes off with freeze-dried funds

A Northville Green resident reported the theft of $800 in cash from her apartment sometime between 8:15 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Dec. 11. The woman returned to the 725 Randolph St. complex to find her Christmas tree knocked over and drawers riddled. The money had been taken from a coffee can in her freezer.

The thief apparently entered the apartment through a sliding glass door in the back of the apartment that may have been unlocked.

THE GRINCH?: A Weatherfield Drive resident reported to township police on Dec. 7 that unknown persons had stolen Christmas decorations from the exterior of his home, including a "Frosty the Snowman" valued at $50.

RECKLESS DRIVING: Township police on Dec. 12 received a report of reckless driving.

A Woodcreek Boulevard resident said that a small compact "race car type vehicle" was speeding in the area. The responding officer located the vehicle and talked to its owner. The owner reported that the car had been built from scratch but had not yet been registered. The owner said he would register the vehicle.

MALICIOUS MISCHIEF: A Senic Harbor Drive resident told township police on Dec. 5 that unknown persons had smashed his mailbox, wrote obscene words on his driveway in ketchup and defaced his sidewalk with chocolate. There are no suspects at this time; the resident said it could have been high school students.

RECKLESS DRIVING: A Redford Township resident received a ticket for reckless driving from township police on Dec. 11 after his vehicle swerved off of Five Mile Road and hit a tree.

The driver told police he was doing at least 60 miles per hour down Five Mile, reports said, when he came to a curve in the thoroughfare near Northville Road. The 1990 Ford Escort the 18-year-old man was driving skidded about 200 feet, left the road and struck a tree.

The driver said he was unfamiliar with the road. He and two passengers, a 22-year-old male and a 20-year-old female, both Plymouth residents, were transported to St. Mary hospital for treatment.

The responding officer said he found six tenths of an ounce of marijuana in a plastic bag on the ground just outside the driver's door. The driver denied ownership of the drug; the marijuana was impounded.

LARCENY: A Northville resident told township police her purse was stolen while she shopped at Meijer's on Dec. 9.

The 42-year-old woman reported that she left her purse unattended in her shopping cart during a visit to the Eight Mile and Haggerty store. When she returned, she found the purse and its contents missing. The value of the stolen items was placed at $400, including the purse, $150 in cash, contact lenses and a leather checkbook. There are no suspects.

The woman later informed police that security at Wonderland K-mart in Livonia had recovered her checkbook and that she had picked it up.

OUIL: A Northville Township resident was arrested by township police for operating a vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

The reporting officer said that he stopped the 42-year-old male's 1993 Lincoln Town Car near Sheldon and Six Mile after observing it repeatedly cross the center dividing line. The officer said he noted the odor of intoxicants from the vehicle and that the driver's speech was slurred and his eyes were glassy and red.

The resident was asked to perform a number of field sobriety tests which he failed. At one point, the officer said, he stopped and said "You got me. No matter what test you give me I'm going to fail it."

The man was arrested and transported to the township police station.

His blood alcohol level, tested nearly two hours after he was stopped, measured .20 percent, twice the legal limit.

ACCIDENT: An Inkster resident received a ticket from township police for failure to yield the right of way following a Dec. 8 accident.

Police reports said the 43-year-old female was trying to make a left turn onto Seven Mile Road from Meadowbrook in her Ford Thunderbird. She struck the van that a 45-year-old River Rouge man was driving on Seven Mile.

ACCIDENT: A 45-year-old Highland man struck a deer on Beck Road on Dec. 8. The responding officer reported that the man was traveling southbound on Beck near Eight Mile in his red pickup truck when a deer ran in front of him. The vehicle struck the deer. The man was not ticketed in the incident.

BURGLARY: A Dunswood Drive resident reported to police that someone may have attempted to burglarize her home on Dec. 7.

The 45-year-old woman told police that sometime between 7:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. on Dec. 7 an unknown person had kicked in her front door, causing $200 in damage. Nothing appeared to be missing from her home, the woman indicated. The case remains open.

WARRANT ARREST: Plymouth Township police arrested a 20-year-old Canton man on an outstanding Northville City warrant last week. The man, wanted for failing to appear in court on a minor in possession charge, was released on bond to appear in 35th District Court on the charge.

FENDER BENDERS: City police responded to three accidents last week. An 87-year-old Northville woman drove through a stop sign on westbound Dunlap at High Street 3:40 p.m. Dec. 8, and struck a southbound driver. The woman was cited for failing to stop and her car had to be towed from the scene.

Two people were cited Dec. 8 after a 6:15 p.m. accident at Eight Mile and Novi Street. A 28-year-old Glen Arbor man driving west on Eight Mile turned south toward Novi Street and was struck by an eastbound driver. The man, who complained of injuries after the accident, was cited for failing to yield.

Police also discovered that the other driver, a 31-year-old Northville man, had his license revoked. He was cited for driving on a revoked license. He was taken to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia when he complained of injuries.

Both cars had to be towed from the scene.

A 90-year-old Northville man drove into the side of a turning car in the public parking lot at Cady and Wing streets. Damage was minor.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

WHERE WE CARE FOR YOU AND YOUR FAMILY

Answers to questions raised in bipartisan property tax plan

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

More answers to readers' questions about the House bipartisan team tax plan.

Q. You say my property tax bill will be 29 mills. I'm paying 34 mills. This doesn't look like a savings. Who needs it?

A. In your district, you are paying 34 mills total school taxes—29 operating, the rest for bond issues or a sinking fund.

Both Gov. John Engler's plan and the House bipartisan team plan affect only operating millages—not bond issues, not city or county or township taxes, not community college taxes. Your benchmark figure is 29 mills.

The House plan would leave you paying 16 mills on your home. Your particular school district would have less revenue, so the House plan allows your school board, with voter approval, to levy a fraction of a mill more. So your school operating tax bill would go from 29 mills to about 16.2.

If you vote for the planned sales tax hike in 1994, your school district operating millage would drop to nine mills.

Q. I teach in Troy schools and reside in West Bloomfield, and my kids attend Farmington schools. Can you tell me what it would cost to purchase a home in West Bloomfield and how much I can write off?

A. Sorry, but fortune telling still is illegal in Michigan. The bills are under House consideration this week; then they go to the Senate; then they probably will go to a conference committee.

As a general economic rule, the higher your property taxes, the less you can afford to pay for the mortgage. The effect will be to depress housing prices.

Lower taxes will allow sellers to raise their prices. Realtors prefer to say: Your house will be worth more.

If Gov. John Engler's plan is adopted, you would pay only a few mills of local school tax plus a 4 percent transfer tax when you sell your present house. If House plan A becomes law, you will pay 16 mills plus the restorative millage; if House plan B is approved by voters, you will pay nine mills; under either House plan, the transfer tax will be 1.1 percent.

All Michigan taxpayers paid $9 billion-plus for schools when this turmoil started. The odds are they will pay $9 billion-plus when it ends. That's all anyone can tell you.

Parks department offers banners for backstops

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Still looking for a unique gift for that hard-to-shop-for someone on your Christmas list?

How about a three-by-five-foot canvas banner, embossed with his or her name and company logo?

Northville Parks & Recreation is offering the banners for sale to raise funds for backstops and fencing around its three new ball diamonds at its Beck Road community park. The banners will be printed by Graphic Visions in Plymouth and hung for a three-year period, to provide plenty of publicity to any recipient.

"Consider it a Christmas gift for three years," said Traci Johnson, director of Northville Parks & Recreation.

While backstops had been an option in original park construction bids, they were left out of the final park bid, Johnson said.

"We knew we only had so much money," she said.

Parks & Rec hopes to sell 75 of the banners—25 for each ball diamond—at $500 a piece. The resulting $37,500 would help defray the cost of erecting the necessary backstop and outfield fencing around the two large and one small diamonds.

Previous construction bids for the work had come in at about $16,000 for the larger diamonds and $9,000 for the smaller one, Johnson said.

One other option for raising the funds is hiking league fees, but Johnson said she does not consider that a realistic alternative.

Consumers Power and local attorney David Jerome, who is spearheading the backstop fundraising drive, have already snapped up a banner each. Jerome is also secretary of Northville Junco Baseball.

For more information, call Northville Parks & Recreation at 349-0203 or David Jerome at 348-4433 (work) or 348-9097 (home).

ChildWatch needs more community volunteers

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

As Northville's ChildWatch program enters its second year, backers of the protection program say they're looking for new faces — yours.

ChildWatch is a joint effort of community residents, schools and police designed to give kids a safe place to go in the event of an emergency. It also aims to teach children and adults alike the best way to observe and report potential criminal activity to law enforcement officials.

Now in hundreds of Michigan communities, ChildWatch began in Grand Rapids in 1979. An heir of sorts to the Helping Hands and MacGruff's Safe House programs of years past, it recruits volunteers to place signs in their homes' windows — a beacon to children in need. Northville was the first southeastern Michigan school district to adopt ChildWatch.

Only 55 people have agreed to join the program to date, however. That's a number volunteer Barb Flis wants to see rise sharply.

"This is a school district with over 4,000 students and their families," she said at a Dec. 6 meeting of program participants. "That's a big pool of potential volunteers still out there."

Several ChildWatch volunteers met with Northville Township police officer Matt Mayes last week to receive the hour of training involved.

Police screen those who want to join ChildWatch, Mayes explained, and provide the program's signs and training to those accepted. It covers what volunteers should do if a child comes to their door with a medical emergency or a potentially dangerous criminal situation.

Mayes also offered tips on the best ways to observe and report suspicious people or vehicles to police. Learning what to look for, he said, will help law enforcement officials keep the community safe from crime.

He tries to teach the same thing when he speaks to Northville schoolchildren about ChildWatch. The officer explains the program and discusses with kids what they should do if they face an emergency situation.

Helping children to recognize when there's the potential for one's a key task, Mayes said.

"Ask at school assemblies 'Who's a stranger?' The kids say 'Well, he looks like a bad person.' I tell them that a stranger is anyone you don't know."

Child abductors or molesters often act "nice" towards potential victims in order to gain their trust, a video presented at the training session pointed out. They lure kids with seemingly innocent requests, such as help in finding a lost dog.

"Children are trusting," the video's narrator said. "It's up to adults to protect them."

That's where ChildWatch comes in. Through it, residents, schools and police form a network — a safety net — that cuts down on the chance for danger to surface in the first place.

"No one knows your neighborhood better — or when something suspicious occurs in it — than you and your neighbors," the narrator said. It takes only a little effort from a lot of folks to help make their town safer for kids and themselves, the program pointed out. An ounce of prevention's worth a pound of cure.

"A lot of people think that this is a quiet community," Mayes said. "But you have to remember that we are part of a large metropolitan area and things can happen."

For more information on how you can participate in ChildWatch, call Northville schools at 349-3400 or Mayes at 348-5800.

World's Most Powerful Slow Drain Cleaner

Soap and dirt leave a "ring" around your bathtub — along the entire length of your tub. That same film builds up in your pipes — all the way out to the sewer. Imagine how thick the "ring" would be if your tub wasn't cleaned since your house was built. That is how thick the crud in your pipes is. No wonder you have slow drains!

If you have even a moderate sized home you have roughly 100 feet of pipe filled with grease and soap scum. Most of this pipe is horizontal. Imagine again a bathtub that hasn't been cleaned for years. If you pour a drain opener into the tub (which is horizontal) it just runs along the bottom. The thick scum ring on the sides is left behind. The same thing happens in your pipes! In the past the only way to remove this gook was to spend $60-$120 on sewer cleaning.

Now there is one product, Plumb Clean, specially formulated to remove build-up from sink to sewer. Plumb Clean is a highly concentrated powder. Its exclusive formula has a special cling-

Plumb Clean contains Plurazyme™, the most powerful enzyme complex available. In fact, independent lab tests show Plumb Clean breaks down waste build-up more effectively than any leading brand — liquid or powder! So revolutionary it's money-back guaranteed!

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ZONING ORDINANCE BY AMENDING A PORTION OF THE TEXT THEREOF. THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ORDAINS:

PART I. The Charter Township of Northville Zoning Ordinance No. 94 as amended is hereby further amended by amending Article XVII, SCHEDULE OF REGULATIONS to replace Sections 17.2 SUBDIVISION OPEN SPACE PLAN, Section 17.3 ONE FAMILY CLUSTER OPTION and Section 17.4 PLANNED RESIDENTIAL UNIT DEVELOPMENT with Section 17.2 OPEN SPACE COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT.

Section 17.2 OPEN SPACE COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT: 1. Intent. It is the intent of this Section to offer an alternative to traditional subdivisions through the use of planned unit development legislation, as authorized by Section 16(e) of the Township Rural Zoning Act (Public Act 184 of 1943, as amended) for the purpose of:

- encouraging the use of Township land in accordance with its character and adaptability; - assuring the permanent preservation of open space and other natural resources;

2. Definitions. For the purposes of this Section, an "Open Space Community" is defined as predominantly single family, attached and detached residential development in which dwelling units are placed together into one or more groupings within a defined project area.

approved by the Township Board.

(5) Public Services Requirement. The proposed development shall have access to public water and sewer to be considered for an Open Space Community development.

b. To be eligible for Open Space Community consideration, the proposal for development shall meet at least one of the following criteria: (1) Significant Natural Assets. The site contains significant natural assets such as woodlands, regulated trees, rolling topography, significant views, natural drainages, water bodies, floodplains or wetlands...

(2) Recreation Facilities. The development shall preserve an existing recreation facility or provide usable recreation facilities to which all residents of the development shall have reasonable access. Such recreation facilities include areas such as a neighborhood park, golf course, passive recreational facilities, soccer fields, ball fields, bike paths, man-made lake or similar area which provide a feature of community-wide significance and enhance residential development.

(3) Open Space. The development shall preserve or create open space, including resources such as, but not limited to, irreplaceable natural features on the parcel, such as stream beds, significant woodlands and individual trees of significant size. All residents of the development shall have access to the open space.

4. Project Design Standards. The bulk and area requirements set forth in Section 17.1 LIMITING HEIGHT, BULK, DENSITY, AND AREA BY LAND USE shall be used as guidelines for the use areas described in the Open Space Community plan. Where modification to Ordinance standards is requested, the applicant shall provide a table which clearly compares each requested modification to the Ordinance standard to be modified.

a. Permitted Uses. An Open Space Community is generally restricted to attached and detached single family residential dwelling units if the underlying zoning is single family. If the underlying zoning is RM-1, RME or RE, then the permitted uses in the Open Space Community are the same as those permitted uses in that district.

b. Open Space and Preservation of Natural Features Requirements. (1) An Open Space Community shall maintain a minimum of 20 percent of the gross area of the site as dedicated open space held in common ownership or a minimum of 2 acres of the site's gross area as open space, whichever is greater. Except as noted in Section 17.2.4 (c), any undeveloped land area within the boundaries of the site may be included as required open space. Only open space areas meeting the standards in Section 17.2.4 (d), shall be included in the calculations for the minimum open space area.

(2) All land within a development not devoted to a residential unit, an accessory structure or use, vehicle access, vehicle parking, a roadway, or an approved land improvement, shall be set aside as open space for recreation, conservation, or preservation in an undeveloped state. Connections with adjacent open space and bikepaths shall be encouraged.

(3) The total area of dedicated open space shall equal or exceed any reduction in area for minimum lot sizes in the development based on the parallel plan, as decided by the Planning Commission.

(4) If a golf course is included as open space, it shall not account for more than 50 percent of the required open space.

c. Areas Not Considered Open Space. The following land areas shall not be classified as dedicated open space for the purposes of this section: (1) The area within any public street right-of-way.

(2) Area within private road access easements. (3) Any easement for overhead utility lines. (4) Seventy-five percent (75%) of any lakes, streams, detention ponds or other surface water bodies, or wetlands regulated by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

(5) The area around each building shall meet setback requirements. The setback area around a permitted open space accessory building may be considered open space. (6) Parking and loading areas.

d. Standards for Open Space. The following standards may apply to the open space provided in the development: (1) The common open space may either be centrally located, along the road frontage of the development, located to preserve significant natural features, or located to connect open spaces throughout the development.

(2) The minimum size of an open space area shall be 20,000 square feet with a maximum width to depth ratio of 3:1. (3) The open space may be linked with adjacent open spaces, public parks, bike paths or pedestrian paths.

(4) Grading in the open space shall be minimal, with the intent to preserve existing topography where practical.

e. Allowable Accessory Structures and Uses in the Open Space. Any structure(s), building(s), or use(s) accessory to a recreation, conservation use or an entryway may be erected within the dedicated open space, subject to the approved open space plan. These accessory structure(s), building(s), or use(s) shall not exceed, in the aggregate, one percent (1%) of the required open space area.

f. Dwelling Density Using Parallel Plan. The permitted density of residential uses within an Open Space Community shall not exceed the density allowed by the underlying residential zoning district as stated in the SCHEDULE OF REGULATIONS, Section 17.1 LIMITING HEIGHT, BULK, DENSITY AND AREA BY LAND USE and as illustrated in the required parallel plan, as described below.

(1) The maximum number of dwelling units allowable within an Open Space Community project shall be the number of units permitted by the parallel plan, unless a density bonus is approved by the Planning Commission as outlined below. The parallel plan shall contain an area which conceptually would provide sufficient area for stormwater detention and meet all standards for buildable area, setbacks and roadway improvements. Lots in the parallel plan shall provide sufficient buildable area without infringing into wetlands regulated by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (MDNR).

Hospital patients need holiday gifts

Donations are needed to help make the holidays a reality for patients of Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital.

The hospital is hoping to be able to provide a gift for each of the nearly 700 people who currently reside at the facility.

Needed are gifts of all kinds, but glass or sharp items can't be accepted.

Gifts that are not distributed at Christmas will be given out over the course of the following year as rewards for patient achievements or through patient fairs and bingo games. Some will be used as birthday presents as well.

Gifts need to be wrapped and marked to indicate whether the gift is for a man or a woman. If clothing is donated, size should be stated.

For those who would rather send a donation, checks should be made out to the NRPH Patient Benefit Fund or Friends of NRPH.

Gifts or checks should be delivered or mailed to Philip R. Ogilvie's office, 104 W. Main, Northville, MI 48167.

Woolly Bully's outdoor deck liquor service wins approval

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Woolly Bully's cleared another hurdle last week in its effort to add an outdoor deck for its patrons — one that will include the serving of alcoholic beverages.

The Northville Township board of trustees at its Dec. 9 meeting voted 5-1 (Treasurer Rick Engelland was absent) to approve the Seven Mile eatery's request for a modification of its existing liquor license. Trustee Barbara Strong O'Brien was the lone "no" vote.

The matter now moves on to the state's Liquor Control Commission (LCC) which actually denies or grants liquor licenses.

For Woolly Bully's to gain LCC permission to serve drinks to deck patrons, however, state law requires that the township first give its approval.

That's what happened 14 months ago, when the LCC and the township agreed to the restaurant's initial li-quorlicense. State regulations require a new round of authorizations for serving alcohol on the outdoor deck.

The deck won the planning commission's approval on Nov. 30, subject to several conditions. It will measure nearly 60 feet at its longest point and will sit on the western side of the existing building, between it and the nearby C & O railroad tracks.

The deck will accommodate about 60 people at most, but Woolly Bully's maximum capacity will remain the same.

In considering the issue, Township Manager Bill Richards told the board the results of an informal "survey" of sorts he had asked the public safety department's record keeper to put together concerning Woolly Bully's.

Richards said he asked the department official to review the pattern of police calls to the restaurant since its inception last year. Based on that, Richards continued, he asked her to estimate:

● If the frequency of police activity

there was above, below or about normal for what would be expected. She had replied, Richards said, that it was below normal.

● If the intensity of the activity — in other words, the types of things police were being contacted for — was more, less or about what would be expected. Again, he said, she replied that they were less than what would be expected, calls for help with vehicle lockouts one of the most frequently encountered.

Township Supervisor Karen Baja said that the state can and would crack down hard and fast if any serious problems developed at Woolly Bully's due to the outdoor deck.

"We can notify the LCC in the event of any problems and they react fast," Baja said.

Under township ordinance, the deck addition does not require board approval. With the commission's positive vote in November, the deck now moves into the actual construction phase. It will still have to meet township building codes, however, and await the final decision of the LCC.

Rotary Club selling holiday lights

Luminaries standing like shining sentinels outside homes in Northville are a customary sight on Christmas Eve.

This year the Northville Rotary Club is continuing the tradition it started many years ago and will be selling luminary kits for Christmas Eve.

Proceeds from the sale go into the Rotary Foundation for the purpose of helping the less fortunate and to organizations such as Civic Concern, send a boy and girl to the Michigan State Leadership Course, Northville Youth Assistance, Make a Wish Foundation, Amerman School Grant, Northville

Well, and Our Lady of Providence. Each luminary kit contains 12 white bags, 12 six-inch plumbers candles, and 1 bag of sand.

For more information or to place an order, contact Pat Bradley, 349-6130, Monday through Friday.

Restaurateurs seek to restart Main Street valet parking plan

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Visitors to downtown Northville may soon get first-class treatment on the streets as well as in the stores.

The Genitti and MacKinnons are trying to resurrect a valet parking program for the downtown in which restaurant-goers and shoppers could drop their cars off on Main Street before dining out or strolling the shops. The cars would then be parked on fringe parking lots rather than in prime street-side spaces.

Toni Genitti stopped by the city council's last meeting to get formal council permission for the plan, in which at least three spaces on East Main would be reserved for valet drop-off or pickup. At least two spaces would be reserved on the south side of the street in front of Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall Restaurant and a third space would be reserved in front of Orin Jewelers at the corner of Main and Center. The jewelry store has agreed to the concept, Genitti said.

The service would run during winter months and only operate between 6 and 11 p.m., she said.

Genitti also noted that the valet spaces could also be used by people picking up dry cleaning or dropping off items.

Council members seemed generally pleased with the proposal.

"I see a benefit to the whole downtown if everyone can use it," said Mayor Chris Johnson. "In essence, you're actually multiplying the parking by going toward a valet concept."

Johnson asked that the valet service not interfere with eastbound traffic on Main Street or block Center. The council also agreed that any valet service should be insured, and asked that a copy of the service's insurance policy be delivered to city hall.

The program was up and running a short time earlier this year, but that company could not obtain insurance, said John Genitti. The restaurateurs are currently negotiating with another firm and could have the service up and running again within the next two weeks, he said.

He noted that the service makes better use of the limited number of spaces on Main Street.

"They're much more efficient if you have valet," he said. "We've got merchants that park here nine hours a day and these spaces turn over 15-18 times an hour."

Mill Race Matters

Northville Historical Society members this week received dues renewal notices. Those interested in joining may contact the Historical Society office at 348-1845 Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. or leave a message at any time. Dues have been increased this year to reflect increased costs everywhere, but primarily to offset increases in postage rates. Members have the benefit of early registration for the many Historical Society events which occur throughout the year and receive an annual subscription to The Mill Race Quarterly. Members are also encouraged to volunteer as much time as possible each year to assist in the many ongoing and special events help keep Mill Race Village funded and operating. The non-profit organization uses all funds for the operation of the Village and the preservation of our community's history.

Coming soon is the annual Wine Tasting Party, this year again hosted by Dennis and Sharon Casady who will be returning to the area from Arizona to spend the Christmas holiday with friends and family. This year's tasting will feature wines of the Southwest and is scheduled for Dec. 29. Cost to members is $12.50 with a $15 fee for non members. More details are available from 348-1845.

The Hurst Gallery of the Ella Sharp Museum, Jackson, Mich., is featuring "Christmas Ornamentation and the German-American Tradition" now through Jan. 30 which illustrates the symbolic use of trees and German-made ornamentation during Yuletide. Call (517) 787-2320 for more information.

Mill Race Village has 10 structures. They are: Cady Inn, Hirsch Blacksmith Shop, Wash Oak School, New School Church, Hunter House, storage building, Yerkes House, Gazebo, Cottage House, and the Interurban Station. This week begins a little historical information about each.

Cady Inn dates from the early 1830s. Mill Race is, at least, its third location. Prior to arrival at the village it was located on Cady Street just west of Griswold. Its move to the village was prompted by the city's desire to vacate the land which it had purchased to expand the Downtown business district. The building itself had been moved to the Cady Street location in the late 1850s or early 1860s. Research points to 1855-58. In 1858 several individuals were involved in financial dealings related to the Cady property. Architects date the front portion of the structure from 1830 with the rear added about 1860. Oral tradition in the community connects this structure with the early stage route, the underground railroad, and one of the village's earliest taverns.

Early community histories and land records indicate six structures of this type were built in 1831. One served as the post office, a likely stage stop and possibly an early resting place for stage visitors (Inn). A second served as a general store. The home of William Dunlap was another of the six. The others were residences and businesses along Main. One of those might have been the early tavern of John Sterling. Most of those buildings have been accounted for. Jabish Mead built the post office structure on the southwest corner of Main and Center where Main Center stands today. In 1854 that building and property were sold to William and Ursula Ambler, recent arrivals from Massachusetts who were active in the underground railroad. Mead has also been identified with the network which aided in the movement to free slaves. In 1856 Ambler built a large balloon construction frame hotel on that corner. Records do not indicate what happened to Mead's building. Could it have been moved to the Cady Street location at the time of the new building? Nothing has been found to substantiate the theory, but circumstantial evidence is strong. Next week: Mill Race's Blacksmith Shop/Country Store.

The Free Press sponsors the 10-year-old contest in conjunction with Wayne State University. The contest is open to public and private school students in grades seven through 12 in Wayne, Oakland, Washtenaw, Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Lenawee, Genesee and St. Clair counties.

The entries are evaluated by distinguished writing instructors at the junior high school, high school and college levels.

Of the more than 6,200 entries received for last year's contest, fewer than 250 received Awards of Excellence like Parikh's.

Parikh's original story tells the tale of a day at the beach where a dejected girl learns to see the world through a child's cheerful eyes.

Parikh said she enjoys writing fiction rather than non-fiction works like essays or news reporting. "I like the creative part of writing, like the ideas you can come up with and the fiction you can create," she said.

Parikh, who also competes in high school athletics like gymnastics, said she does not anticipate making a career out of her writing.

"I'm going to be a doctor," she said.

When asked why writing skills are important in an era when computers can correct spelling, suggest alternate words and even clean up a person's grammar, Brown noted that good writing requires more than that.

"Computers can do the mechanical things and they do them very well," Brown said. "But I have yet to find a computer that's inventive, creative, expressive or original."

Allen Terrace resident Sylvia Meisaac has been a one-person garment production line for the last three months. The senior has been busy knitting mittens, gloves, scarves, hats and other articles. The items now adorn a Christmas tree in the lobby of the building. Sylvia's handiwork will be donated to Civic Concern, the city-based charitable organization, for distribution to the needy.

$10,000 startup grant that the program has been living off of for the past seven years.

The Blue Ribbon Committee met Dec. 8 and agreed to fund the library's budget to $5,100 over its original request, to cover the unforeseen increases. It also approved the NYA request that was passed by the township board.

The board went along with the committee's library recommendations at its regular meeting last Thursday, and the city council could vote on the recommendations as soon as Monday.

For the city, the moves would result in an additional $4,000 in contributions to the shared services budgets, $2,000 to each. In the township, the increases amount to about $7,500 for the library budget.

The Blue Ribbon Committee was composed of City Mayor Chris Johnson, Mayor Pro Tem Carolann Ayers and Manager Gary Word, and Township Supervisor Karen Baja, Trustee Gini Britton, Manager Bill Richards and Finance Director Dwayne Harrigan.

ries of substances associated with petroleum products like gasoline and diesel fuel, with several samples revealing contamination levels well above Environmental Protection Agency standards.

An April 21 test also found evidence of "free product" or free-floating petroleum in two deeper test wells at the southeast corner of the site.

According to Lapham, any contamination from the service station was most likely due to the slow accumulation of fuel spilled while gas tanks were being filled rather than a serious leak. "We documented and we know that we never did have a leaking tank," he said.

The Laphams plan to set up a pumping station on the property to pump groundwater out of the ground, purify it and return it to the ground once the size of the contaminated area is determined. The testing is intended to help delineate the size of the area affected, and the size of the pump needed to clean up the area.

Township's manager and trustee disagree

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Northville Township's manager and one member of the board of trustees are engaged in a public and very marked disagreement, as events of last week indicate.

Trustee Gini Britton raised questions about Manager Bill Richards' accepting tickets to college and professional sporting events from township attorneys and the township's engineer, Richards, at the board's Dec. 9 meeting, made an extended statement about the issue, one that was harshly critical of Britton's actions without mentioning her by name.

Both Richards and Britton this week said they preferred not to comment on the matter at this time.

At issue are statements attributed to Britton in a Dec. 9 article that appeared in The Northville Record. Richards' failure to disclose all of the tickets he has received and used, Britton said, may be a violation of the township's ethics policy.

Richards responded that he didn't even know there was an ethics policy until mid-November; he disclosed tickets he had accepted as soon as he did; and that the policy doesn't prohibit accepting tickets in the manner he did.

Richards said he learned of the policy's existence last month after he attended a Detroit Pistons game with Trustee Mark Abbo and his wife using free tickets. It was at that point, he said, that he found out about the policy and made an immediate disclosure of the game tickets.

According to the policy, Richards said, township trustees and employees can accept tickets under $25 without making a public disclosure of the fact. If they're worth more than $25, he continued, an employee or official must file a form with the clerk's office noting the fact and disclose the issue as well at the next public meeting.

Richards also said that he always offered tickets to staff members first before using them himself.

Britton sent Richards a memo on Dec. 7 requesting the particulars on all tickets he has accepted.

Richards offered comments on the situation early into the board's Dec. 9 meeting. The manager said that he sharply disagreed with Britton's decision to take her concerns to the media first, instead of coming privately to him. That, he said, was an agreement he made with board members when he joined the township staff six months ago.

"I deeply regret the circumstances that force me to make this statement in public," Richards said, adding that he would have preferred not to do so. "However," he continued, "the allegations against me, and the double standard on which they're based, the unconscionable manner of the allegations, the lack of regard for proper procedure and common courtesy make it absolutely necessary."

He welcomed and requested a full public investigation of the matter, Richards said. He continued that he was certain it would show the following:

- Failure to properly implement the ethics policy makes it unenforceable.
- The policy had not been distributed to department heads or other township employees as of the morning of Dec. 9.
- Even if the policy were now enforceable and proper notice had been provided to employees, it does not prohibit acceptance of tickets under the circumstances involved in this case.

"I am not the only one who's accepted or used them," Richards said.

"I strongly suggest the investigation include all those involved, including offering, accepting, soliciting, distributing or using the tickets."

The manager also said he was professionally and personally hurt by the allegations of unethical behavior.

"It is wrong—entirely wrong—entirely off-the-chart-type wrong to treat anyone in this manner," Richards said in a voice of emotion. "Simply stated, to subject me to this treatment is unconscionable. I've never in my public career been alleged to be unethical before today."

"Regardless of the outcome of this matter," he said, "I have lost something today I can never fully recover. Apologies, retractions— even legal vindication— can't make up for it."

He characterized what had occurred as "uncalled for, petty and malicious."

"This method of making allegations about public administrators in the media is age-old," he continued. "There's a term for this kind of careless, thoughtless, ultimately mean-spirited, self-serving and counter-productive political activity; it's called McCarthyism—and there's no place for it in government at any level."

Britton and the rest of the board did not offer comments on Richards' statement at the meeting. Township Supervisor Karen Baja asked Richards before he made it to refrain from discussing the issue in public and reiterated her concern after he had finished.

"It is not the appropriate format here to react to this," Baja said. "I would have preferred it not read in public. It is with heartfelt sorrow that this issue has had to come forward in this manner this evening."

The board and Richards then proceeded with the remainder of the evening's business.

Army needs volunteer bellringers

The Northville Senior Center is seeking volunteers to collect for the local Salvation Army fund-raising drive.

Volunteers are needed to ring the bell outside the Northville Post Office for one-hour long shifts on Tuesday, Dec. 21.

Shifts begin at 10 a.m. and run until 5 p.m.

To volunteer, call 349-4140.

The local Salvation Army office is located in Plymouth and serves the Northville, Plymouth and Canton areas.

In addition to the Post Office, other

Salvation Army collection sites include the A & P on Seven Mile and the Meijer in Northville Township.

The annual kettle drive collects contributions to help needy families at Christmastime. Volunteers from area civic and church organizations, as well as private individuals, staff the kettles.

Martha Schultz, director of the campaign for the Northville, Plymouth and Canton communities, said bell ringers have collected $41,700 to date. The goal is $100,000 and the drive ends at 2 p.m. Dec. 24.

"Our individual contributions are smaller this year. Unfortunately, our need is greater than ever," Schultz said.

According to Lt. Jeffrey Beachum, commander of the Corps Center in Plymouth, last year the Salvation Army helped 985 people from 362 area families. The money is used to buy food, clothing, toys and other gifts for Christmas.

In addition, basic needs such as prescriptions, utility bills and rental payments are covered by Army Corps contributions.

WE'RE THE PLACE FOR SALOMON

Parks & Rec wins state award

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The Friends of Northville Parks & Recreation have won a state award for supporting their namesake organization.

The community service award, from the Lansing-based Michigan Recreation & Park Association, honors the Friends for their extensive fund-raising and cleanup efforts over the past year.

The Friends were nominated by Parks & Rec Director Tracy Johnson, who was informed Nov. 29 that her nomination had been approved by the MRPA awards committee. The award will be presented at the annual MRPA Celebrity Luncheon at Grand Traverse Resort Feb. 8.

Johnson noted that the Friends have been busy recently, holding a May 1 dinner/auction at Schoolcraft College to raise funds for Fish Hatchery Park, cleaning up Fish Hatchery last year and Ford Field this year, and funding a new roof and other improvements for the Northville Community Park storage building on Beck Road.

"In one year, they have accomplished more cleanup efforts than we could have done in five," said the grateful director.

Friends President Marv Gans

noted that his group is already looking forward to its next major fundraiser, the second annual Taste of Northville dinner/auction planned for April 23. Already the Friends are looking for donations including event tickets and sports memorabilia.

"I think we serve a definite purpose because it does give us an impetus to try and improve our community recreation program, which is what we're all about," Gans said.

Johnson is on a hot streak when it comes to picking winners. She nominated the Northville Township Police Officer's Association for a similar award last year, and that association won.

LAN rallies residents with flyer campaign

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Before Northville school district parents buy their presents and bake their cookies, the Legislative Action Network is asking them to do one other thing this holiday season — bend their legislators' ears.

LAN sent home flyers with Northville Public School students Monday warning parents that several Lansing proposals threaten local control over the school district. Parents were urged to contact their local legislators and voice their opinions, and were given the legislators' Lansing addresses and phone numbers.

Among the proposals cited was the potential loss of local millage, a schools-of-choice proposal that would require local districts to set aside 1 percent of student enrollment for students from other districts, and state-mandated programs like lengthening the school year and proficiency testing.

LAN member Karen Reaume noted that the group is most concerned about losing local control over the school district as the state legislature struggles to reinvent public education in Michigan and the way it is funded. The house recently passed several programs to help fund its proposed $10.2 billion school budget, while the senate is poised to present its own plan this week.

While the schools-of-choice proposal died in the house last Friday, it could be resurrected in the senate this week.

"The whole point is trying to get parents out there involved enough to either call or write their legislators," Reaume said. "These next couple of weeks, as LAN sees it, are critical."

Reaume noted that, while some of the ideas for state-mandated programs that have been bandied about sound good at first, a more in-depth hearing reveals that they have not been well thought out. She cited lengthening the school year and the resulting increase in costs for keeping buildings open and running programs as one example.

"As these are mandated, there seems to be no thought behind who at the local level is going to pay for these added days," she said.

"These guys up there in Lansing, they might have some good intentions, but there hasn't been a lot of testing and follow-through . . . If they're going to mandate programs, then they should mandate programs based on good, solid information," she added.

LAN, a subcommittee of the Northville Council of PTAs, was formed in the spring of 1992 to study legislative issues that affect the schools. The group sponsors programs like the Nov. 16 LAN Town Meeting where all four area legislators fielded questions from more than 300 concerned citizens.

Board, BFI closer to compost pact township is serious about concluding a deal. It includes a time limit. The board asked township attorney Len Krzyzaniak to huddle with BFI's lawyers and hammer out the remaining concerns in the contract within 60 days.

That contract would require board approval to be legally valid. However, if the two sides can't come to terms within the two month period the motion of intent becomes null and void.

Trustees and township residents have voiced concerns over the plan to put an 80-acre composting facility near Six and Napier, including uneasiness over odor and aesthetics. BFI and township officials have worked on addressing those concerns for months.

The company's Director of External Affairs Bob Line told the board at its Dec. 9 meeting that BFI was happy to continue but wanted some assurance that the township was still seriously interested in an agreement.

BFI has spent a lot of time and money reviewing concerns over the plan, Line said. Before it increased its investment, he continued, the company wanted a gesture that showed a deal was still workable.

That deal, in a nutshell, is this: BFI is asking Northville Township to be a host community for an 80-acre composting operation near Six and Napier (it owns some 200 acres in that area). The facility would have screened berms for security, isolation, and aesthetics. It would eventually include a finished-product bagging operation. Trucks would enter the site off Napier.

In return, BFI would pay the township a host community fee and provide residents with free composting services. The host fee under the proposed agreement is 3 percent of the gross revenues the composting facility would generate. BFI has also agreed to give 20 percent of the gross weight of the incoming compostable material from township residents for use at township offices and buildings.

There is a string attached: no curbside collections. Residents will have to bring their compostable leaves, grass and yard waste to the site in township-approved haulers or vehicles.

Line said that BFI wasn't trying to back the township into a corner by asking for the motion of support.

"We don't want to force the township to agree to anything," Line said.

"We want to investigate any complaints or concerns you have."

Those that remain are what the lawyers will work out over the next eight weeks. A solution to one such issue has already been arranged: BFI has agreed to grant the township authority to review the phase-in process for the composting center.

Originally, BFI asked for permission to build an 80-acre composting facility, with plans for an internal phase-in process. Now, the company will begin with a 20-acre facility and submit requests to the township for subsequent 20-acre phases — no more than one per year.

Supervisor Karen Baja said that BFI had gone a long way in addressing township concerns and would continue to do so, as it has proven in other cases in the past.

"Let's go forward and give this a shot," Baja said. "I think we can do that because we're trusting BFI on their professional reputation, not just on blind faith."

In a reciprocal gesture of goodwill, Line agreed to the trustees' request that BFI pick up the tab for Krzyzaniak's services in completing the contract language.

Some on the board said they wanted strong language in a contract concerning the township's power to regulate the composting facility and to block additional phases if serious problems develop.

Trustee Barbara Strong O'Brien said that the contract should state that the township should be the sole judge of what is reasonable. O'Brien was the lone "no" vote.

Trustee Mark Abbo said that an agreement should allow the township to define "unreasonable" concerning the compost facility's operation or expansion.

"That will be the hammer," he said, "to make sure BFI has an incentive to really do it right."

Krzyzaniak said that wasn't legally possible. The township can institute still requirements for the composting facility and for any phased expansion of it, he said, but had to be reasonable. Anything else would be legally indefensible.

"We can be restrictive but we have to be fair," Krzyzaniak said.

The attorney asked board members to state any specific concerns they wanted to see a contract address in a written note to him. He promised to incorporate them and submit a new draft of the document for their review.

The matter will return to the board when that new draft has been worked out with BFI.

RECORD OPINION

THURSDAY
December 16, 1993

Our Opinion

Reduce government, no matter who runs it

Could Jerry Vorva be on to something?

Vorva, the Republican state representative whose district includes the Northville community, says it's no coincidence that Michigan legislators are the fourth highest paid in the country while the state's school employees are . . . hmmm . . . the fourth highest paid in the country.

Vorva says this correlation is symptomatic of the fact that so many state lawmakers are educators. More Michigan legislators are teachers than lawyers, he says. He also claims that this politically incestuous relationship helps explain why the Legislature has been unable to pass meaningful school reform: officials are overly responsive to the education lobby.

We're tempted to read something into Vorva's statistics too, but we remain unconvinced. Assuming the figures are accurate, the fourth-place ratings could be due to nothing more than Michigan's status as a high wage state. All of our workers earn incomes at the upper end of the national pay scale.

Moreover, if lawmakers were that sensitive to educators' concerns, is it likely they would have sent shock waves throughout the education establishment by eliminating the school property tax without providing a replacement funding source?

In spite of the dubious nature of his claim, Vorva is on solid footing with his essential point, namely that the cost of government in Michigan is too high. Vorva's underlying message is that Michigan should join the overwhelming majority of states around the country in employing a part-time legislature. He thinks costs could be further reduced by converting our bicameral (dual chambered) legislature into a unicameral (single chambered) governing body.

We don't know how many of his colleagues will listen to him, but we encourage Vorva to continue to press for smaller state government. Whether teachers or lawyers, an overabundance of legislators inevitably leads to waste and inefficiency. If you don't believe it, take a good look at the Legislature's track record.

Toward a streamlined public service system

Saginaw Valley State University consultants have concluded that a limited merger of the police agencies of five area communities is a viable concept that could result in cost efficiencies, improved service, or both.

The specialists were commissioned to examine the feasibility of departmental consolidation among the cities of Northville and Plymouth and the townships of Northville, Plymouth and Canton.

The idea is to save dollars and streamline services by eliminating duplications. Law enforcement functions were the subject of the first phase of the study, with other areas to be looked at later.

The 117-page report, distributed Nov. 29, recommended that the five communities begin to share dispatch, lock-up and record keeping activities as a first step toward the goal of greater efficiency and effectiveness.

Later, the study suggests, a full consolidation of the five police departments could be considered.

Several questions must be answered before even a partial police service consolidation could be undertaken. Among the inquiries that must be made are questions pertaining to start-up costs, personnel impacts and response-time effects.

But improved service and cost containments are exciting prospects and we would urge municipal officials to act without delay in looking for ways in which the study's recommendations could be implemented. If intergovernmental cooperation can lighten tax burdens and/or improve service delivery, artificial political boundaries must be overlooked.

Oh, those prepared diatribes

Lee Snider

I don't usually attend the meetings of local governmental boards, leaving that task to the staff reporters assigned to those beats.

But I got a tip that something out of the ordinary was going to take place at last Thursday's Northville Township Board of Trustees meeting so I made a point of showing up at township hall at the appointed hour. I wasn't disappointed.

In case you haven't read the account in today's Record of how Manager Bill Richards took on Trustee Gini Britton at the meeting, here, in short, is what happened.

Britton was concerned that Richards' practice of accepting complimentary tickets to sporting events might represent a violation of the township's ethics policy. She drafted a memo asking Richards to prepare an itemized list of all the free tickets that had passed through his office and ended up either getting distributed to staff or used by Richards himself. A story about the controversy appeared in the Dec. 9 edition of the Record.

Richards took offense to the memo and to what he saw as an attempt to call his integrity into question. At Thursday's meeting he read a prepared statement ripping into Britton, charging her with doing grievance harm to his reputation. Afterwards, Britton declined to respond and the meeting soon reverted to a routine tone.

The scene reminded me of something I once witnessed when I was covering the Kalamazoo City Commission for a radio station I worked at in southwest Michigan.

On that occasion, one of the commissioners strayed from a slow meeting agenda to level a heavy verbal slam at the mayor. Clutching a piece of notebook paper with both hands, the guy read a statement declaring to all the world that the part-time mayor of Kalamazoo, population 80,000, had employed boss-type intimidation tactics to bully commissioners into approving a proposed residential development. He said if left unchecked, the mayor's unbridled lust for power would plunge the city into the abyss of political degeneracy.

No one saw the attack coming and, when it was over, everyone looked too stunned to react. The mayor, gagging with emotion, could only say: "This is surprising coming from you, Bill, as you're the only person I've told of my decision not to run for reelection."

Wow, did I have a story!

The major difference between the Northville and Kalamazoo incidents is that Richards was commenting on something that was already a public issue, whereas the Kalamazoo guy came from nowhere in staging his ambush.

But in both cases the person on the offensive entered the fray with a decided advantage over his opponent. He had taken long, careful moments thinking through what he wanted to say and equipped himself with a resolve to make major waves at the expense of his adversary.

The object of the attack, on the other hand, whether deserving of the diatribe or not, was placed in the unenviable position of having to ad lib a brilliant rejoinder after having just been reduced to the human equivalent of pestilent gnats.

That's like being thrown into the ocean with a cork in your pocket and being expected to float to the nearest continent—alive.

I don't always agree with township Supervisor Karen Baja but I think she showed good common sense when she advised everyone, as she did last Thursday, to refrain from getting personal in public.

Then again, if they insist on giving me that story . . .

how noble the cause. Add rain-slicked streets to the equation and it starts to test your faith in God as well.

But moments like the one when the woman in the minivan circled around the block a second time because her five-year-old daughter wanted to donate an extra penny to the cause made me believe in the community and made my wishes to donors of "Happy Holidays" ring all the more true.

The intermittent showers may have kept a few passers-by from stopping to roll down their windows and purchase a rain-spattered Goodfellows edition. But the sopping volunteers still stood by their posts and raised more than $6,000 for Civic Concern.

Local merchants also pitched in with food for the frigid fund-raisers. The Genittis' chicken noodle soup and coffee probably helped stave off a few cases of pneumonia, and I'll be forever grateful to John Genitti for the loan of a "Miss USA" baseball cap to keep the rain out of my eyes. And even

Maybe it takes a little volunteerism to gauge a community's true spirit.

I felt like I gained a little insight into Northville's generous spirit while standing in the middle of the road at the corner of Main and Center streets Dec. 4, during the Goodfellows fund-raiser.

It takes real faith in your fellow man (and woman) to stand between two lines of traffic traveling in opposite directions, no matter though, as he said, Miss USA never actually wore the cap. I noticed a definite increase in my tips after I put it on.

Donations — now there's a touchy subject for me personally. Along with me at the corner of Main and Center stood my editor, Lee Snider, covering southbound traffic on Center, and Northville Gourmet Wine Shoppe owner Ed Hanna hitting up the northbound throngs. I was catching the westbound traffic on Main Street, with an occasional eastbound driver taking pity on me as well.

I saw from the start that I couldn't compete with Hanna in the fund-raising department. The guy was obviously a pro. Folding his papers just so before he even hit the streets and waving them three at a time, like a fan, at oncoming traffic. Hanna's experience made him the top fund-raiser at our corner that shift, with $62.12 in donations.

But Lee? C'mon, the guy had only been editor here for 10 months and I'd been walking these same streets for four years!

Maybe it was the red hair, or the way he waved his papers in that lazy figure-eight to grab people's attention, but every time I glanced over he'd corralled another Pinto or Mustang and the driver was dropping another crumpled bill into his jug. I even offered to take Lee's post for a few minutes while he grabbed some soup and coffee at the Genittis, secretly hoping to boost my donations off those well-heeled Center Street drivers, but I just couldn't catch up.

The final score — Reporter, $38.83, Editor, $49.16. Oh well, at least it was for a worthy cause.

Engler taps N'ville woman

Governor John Engler has appointed Joyce G. Eskra of Northville to the Governor's Task Force on Children's Justice. Eskra will represent child advocates during her term on the task force. The task force was initially created by Executive Order 1991-38 and then reconstituted by Executive Order 1993-8 to enhance child abuse prevention efforts, particularly with respect to child sexual abuse, by reforming state investigative, administrative and judicial handling of such cases. Members are appointed to terms expiring on Dec. 14, 1994. Eskra is director of New Rainbow

Steps and is a private counselor for individuals coming from dysfunctional families. She holds a master's degree in education and a master's degree in social work from the University of Michigan. She is a member of the National Association of Social Workers and the Michigan Association of Foster and Adoptive Parents.

Park permits on sale at Maybury

Annual state park permits are now on sale, in time for Christmas gift giving. The 1994 permits allow admission to a total of 90 state parks throughout Michigan. The permits may be purchased at the Maybury State Park office, which is open from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

The permits sell for $18 (regular annual) and $4.50 (senior annual, 65 and over). In addition, many of the items that were on sale at the park store during the summer are now on sale at the park office. Many of the articles relate to the farm and its animals.

Republican activist to leave firm

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Political activist Patrick B. Anderson and Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co. will part ways Dec. 31. While "exploring other options," in business jargon, Anderson said he will keep his commitment to finish a two-year term as chair of the Republican organization in the 11th Congressional District.

He was elected to that post in January of 1993 after Joe Knollenberg went to Congress. The district includes Redford Township and three-fourths of Livonia in Wayne County, and the Birmingham-Bloomfield area, most of the Southfield area, the Farmington area, the West Bloomfield area, Novi, the South Lyon area, Milford, Commerce, Highland and White Lake townships of Oakland County.

"There was a change in leadership (at Alexander Hamilton). It led directly to me," Anderson said last week, referring to the retirement of CEO Richard Headlee. Architect of the state constitutional amendment that bears his name, Headlee ran for governor in 1982, brought in a new wave of conservative party leaders and was active in many tax campaigns.

Anderson said he and the new leadership of the Farmington Hills-based subsidiary of Household International Inc. came to "an amicable agreement" about his departure. "They're pulling out of activism," he said.

With a master's degree in public policy from the University of Michigan, Anderson 10 years ago went to work in the economics department of Manufacturers Bank, now Comerica. In 1986 he was economics advisor to the gubernatorial campaign of Dick Chrysler (primary) and William Lucas (general election).

Anderson went to work for Headlee at Alexander Hamilton six years ago, noting "I've been in at least one statewide campaign every year since then.

These included Gov. James Blanchard's half-cent sales tax increase (opposed and won), the Patterson-Anderson property tax amendment (failed to reach ballot), the 1990-91 Headlee tax cut (rejected by the state Board of Canvassers), the 1992 Proposal A (opposed and won), term limitation (supported and won) and the 1993 Proposal A (opposed and won), plus several Farmington School District millages. Anderson and his wife have one child and live in Farmington.

Ask Me No Questions

BY ROBERT H. THOMAS

It was a faultless summer afternoon — calm, cloudless, a perfect day for flying. But the minute I saw who was sitting in the seat next to mine, I knew it was going to be a rough flight.

"Hey, brother, how ya doin'?" he asked before I had a chance to fasten my seat belt. "I'm on my way to D-troit," he announced, giving the "D" the same emphasis as the letter "P" in police. It didn't surprise me.

Just look at this guy: Air Jordan basketball shoes; mirrored sunglasses; baseball cap with "Detroit Tigers" stitched across the front; and gold rings, chains and bracelets wherever his body stuck out of his red and white Nike sweat suit.

I tried not to encourage him. It was only a ninety-minute flight from St. Louis, but I was tired and needed to catch up on some paper work.

"Where you from, brother," he asked, as if the computerized seating system that had placed us side by side also gave him the automatic right to inquire about the details of my life.

I took a deep breath. I wished I could snap open my briefcase and ignore him, but we hadn't reached cruising altitude yet.

"I'm from Northville, Michigan," I said, my voice barely audible above the hissing air conditioners and whining jet engines.

"Northville? Never heard of it," he said. It sounded more like a question than a statement of fact.

"Where is Northville, Michigan, brother?"

"A little east of Ann Arbor," I said. It was the same answer I gave anybody who wasn't familiar with the area.

He brightened. "University of Michigan, right?"

"It's close by," I said and hoped that would end the conversation.

"How close?," he persisted.

"About 30 miles."

"What's the nearest big city?" he continued.

I hesitated. "Detroit," (I purposely emphasized the last syllable.)

"Why didn't you say that in the first place. I've never been to D-troit. Is it closer than 30 miles to Northville?"

The question irritated me. "It's about the same distance."

He pondered that for a moment. "Well, what can you tell me about D-troit?" he asked.

"Not much. I don't live there." I knew immediately I shouldn't have said it.

"What about all that stuff I hear about drive-by shootings, crack houses, homeless people, Murder Capital of the USA?"

"It wasn't that way when I lived there. Before I moved to Northville, that is." I wished I hadn't said that either. I glanced up again to see if the "Fasten Seat Belt" light had gone out so I could open my briefcase. It hadn't.

"I grew up on the west side of the city," I explained before he could ask. "Near Fenkell and Schaeffer. Those street names don't mean anything to you, I know. It was a long time ago."

He fired another question. "Ever go back to your roots, brother?" Why was he leading me on? Why didn't I just close my eyes and let his question hang there in mid-air?

"It's rather simple," I replied knowing full well that it wasn't. "Detroit is a place you're not a place you go to."

He paused a moment as if he, too, might want to close his eyes and rest. He was deciding something. I could tell. His voice took on a different tone — less playful, more deliberate.

"Tell me, bro', suppose I was a mystery man flying all around the country looking for someone who'd give me the best reason in the world to go back to D-troit — and I'd give them ten thousand dollars. What would you tell me?"

37,000 feet in the air. Halfway between St. Louis and Detroit. A briefcase full of work under my seat. And a stranger who calls me "brother" wants to ask silly questions. Where would he get ten-thousand dollars? Drugs? The lottery? Maybe he crashed a stolen car and sued the cops. A joke? Those shoes, the sweat suit, all that gold. There are lots of pros around making megabucks and promoting different causes. You never know.

Maybe this is some kind of advertising promotion after all, I thought. Maybe the Chamber of Commerce is behind it — getting business people to come back to Detroit. Maybe if you said the right things the right way, you really could win some money — appear in some ads, make a couple of speeches, be on television. Not a bad idea.

I planted both feet on top of my briefcase. There was no turning back now.

"Well," I began with what I was sure was my most sincere tone of voice, "going back to Detroit can be just an awful lot of fun. Why, there's something for everybody: Greektown, Hart Plaza, the DIA, the Cultural Center, and the Fox Theater to say nothing of ..."

He turned toward me with a disappointed look on his face. I stopped.

"Brother," he said slowly, "don't recite that Convention and Visitors Bureau literature to me. You're not gonna win ten thousand dollars that way."

He was leaning so close I could see my face staring back at me in his big, mirrored sunglasses.

"You gotta use your imagination," he said as if I were a child who had misunderstood the homework assignment. "Tell me again for ten thousand dollars. Why would you go back to D-troit?"

I looked across the aisle. Other passengers were reading, dozing or sipping free Cokes, but I knew they were listening to every word I said. My head began to ache like something had broken loose inside. I pressed the seat release button and leaned all the way back. My head moved silently past my inquisitor's face.

I closed my eyes and saw a traffic signal at the corner of Fenkell and Schaeffer — the crossroads of my entire universe for nearly two decades. That unstoppable light had pointed my way to a world filled with frog ponds, steam locomotives, model airplanes, poorly practiced piano lessons, school friends, family and what older people always called "The Future."

I'd lived through an entire war within sight of that signal: Air raid drills with real sirens; buying ten cent war savings stamps every Friday morning in homeroom class and hoping I'd be able to trade them in for a real bond if the war didn't end too soon; food rationing; blue stars in windows of homes where people were worried sick about someone serving overseas; and gold stars in homes where there was no need to worry anymore.

Over the years, the course and direction of my life changed as I did what the traffic signal told me to do.

sometimes with my mother, my father or my brother — and sometimes with the kids down the block who, like me, simply followed directions. We grew up and moved away.

Occasionally, I crossed the intersection alone but I knew there was nothing to worry about.

All the decisions about which way to go and when were flashed to me with unfailing predictability in red, yellow and green. Stop. Go. Turn right. Turn left. Not too fast. Not too slow. Wait. Caution. Yield. Watch out for others. Watch out for yourself!

You could depend on those signals. They always told you what you needed to get to where you were going. They taught you trust and respect and the dangerous consequences of not following orders even when there was no one around to check on you.

Looking back on the scene, I imagined other people continuing in my footsteps, still yielding to those silent commands, in good times and troubles alike. "You're on the road to life and a million intersections lie ahead," the light seemed to say. "But wherever you go, don't be afraid to take someone's hand, even a stranger's, before you cross the street."

Abruptly, a new figure appeared. It was the flight attendant telling me to raise my seat to an upright position. We were getting ready to land. I glanced at my travel companion. He was staring at the sprawling city coming up rapidly from below. He didn't ask any questions, but I felt I owed him something. He ought to know about that traffic signal at the corner of Fenkell and Schaeffer in the city of Detroit.

As the wheels touched the runway, the plane swerved and threw my "brother" against my side. His face was right up against mine.

"In case you're wondering," he whispered, "I'm not really a mystery man and I don't have ten thousand bucks to give away. It's just a little game I play. But I'll tell you this: if I did have the money, I wouldn't give it to a brother who can't decide if Northville, Michigan is 30 miles from Ann Arbor — or halfway home to D-troit."

Before I could respond the pilot interrupted. "Welcome to Detroit," he announced on the intercom.

He didn't need to say it. I'd never left the place.

Winning author Thomas turns a negative into a positive

What began as "venting frustrations" for Robert H. Thomas about the City of Detroit turned into "a quest" — and eventually into the winning entry in the Northville Record/Novi News Third Annual Fall Fiction Contest.

Thomas said he was vacationing up north this past July with his niece and her family, who live in Detroit, when they began discussing the troubles that city has experienced over the years. Later, he said, he was surprised at his negativity. He realized just how cynical he was about attempts to improve Detroit. And he realized how much his comments had hurt his niece.

On walks around the Northville area, Thomas began examining his feelings about the city where he was born, looking to find that "best reason in the world to go back to D-troit."

The self-examination had led Thomas to activities through his church aimed at helping the homeless and poor in the city, including a recent trip to the Cass Corridor. "It has become a kind of quest, it really has," he said. He hopes to be even more active with volunteer efforts in Detroit in the future.

With the topic so much on his mind, it lent itself naturally to a short story when the Fall Fiction Contest was announced in October.

"This piece is more a sketch — an introspective memoir — than a short story, but it appeals to readers with rich details and symbols," one judge wrote of the story.

Thomas, a freelance ad promotion writer who said he never writes fiction except for this contest, is now a three time winner. In 1990, he won first place with the story "Remembering Charlie." Last year, he placed second.

Second place for 1993 goes to "Welcome Home II" by Karen Karl of Livonia. "Heartfelt telling of difficult subject. The pain and guilt of Vietnam involvement, the country's national disgrace," comes through very vividly," one judge commented of the story.

Third place goes to "The Trumpet in Grandma's Attic," by Stephanie Perry, age 13. "The Trumpet" is charming. I think it would make a delightful picture book for young readers," said one judge.

The second and third place stories appear on page B-3.

The judges for the Third Annual Northville Record/Novi News Fall Fiction Contest were:

- Nancy Brown, Northville High School Instructor.
- Linda Freeman, Freelance Writer.
- Lee Snider, Northville Record Editor.
- Michael Malott, Novi News Managing Editor.

Mustang hoopster opts for demotion

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

The Mustangs lost an important cog from their varsity basketball team last week.

Neil Kersey decided to leave the team after Northville's season opening victory over South Lyon. According to coach Larry Taylor, the sophomore didn't want the pressure of playing varsity this winter.

"He said he didn't like it and wanted to concentrate on football and lifting weights," he said.

A top-notch running back for Northville High in its recent 9-2 season, Kersey gained nearly 1,000 yards in his first varsity football campaign. He was scheduled to see heavy action on the court as the Mustangs back-up point guard.

"We were happy with him there," said Taylor. "He did a good job in the South Lyon game. We had high hopes for him this year."

Kersey had split time with the first and second teams in practice. Taylor said he was pushing starter Neil Yaeckle for playing time.

"He works very hard and is dedicated," the coach added. "But he said he was not having fun."

It was unclear at presstime whether Kersey would stay in the program. Taylor said it's likely the sophomore will be placed on the junior varsity squad for the remainder of the season.

"Hopefully, next year he'll be ready to play varsity," he said.

Cagers rattle Thunderbirds with balanced scoring attack

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Northville High obviously never taught the old tortoise and hare fable to its basketball team.

It's a good thing, too, because the Mustangs raced to a 10-0 lead in the opening minutes of Friday night's road game with Dearborn Edsel Ford and never looked back.

The young men in black and orange, in fact, never trailed and went on to win 68-53. Relentless defense and balanced scoring, with four Mustangs in double figures, did in the Thunderbirds.

"We have enough depth and quality people to keep the pressure up and control the game," said coach Larry Taylor. "We'll always try to do that."

Northville improved its record to 2-0 on the season. Taylor was pleased with his team's quick start.

"It helps," he joked. "You don't have to yell at them as much."

Besides solid team efforts in the first two games, the Mustangs have had some excellent individual performances. In Friday night's game, John Buser was the star with 12 points and 13 rebounds.

"John was outstanding," said Taylor. "He had a great game for us."

Josh Williams was also strong with 13 points, nine rebounds and seven blocked shots. The 6-foot-11 senior center also contributed by helping to break Edsel Ford's press.

"It helps when you have a big kid to throw to in the middle of the floor," said Taylor.

Northville applied loads of pressure itself.

After taking a 6-0 lead in the first two minutes, full-court pressure by the Mustangs forced a pair of turnovers by Dearborn. Neil Yaeckle and Buser benefited with easy baskets to make it 10-0.

Edsel Ford's Kevin Stone finally broke the ice for the Thunderbirds at the 3:18 mark with a short jump shot. Northville continued to play smooth offensive basketball as Kieran Williams came off the bench to score five, including a three-pointer. Northville led 19-9 at the end of the quarter.

"We hammered them good in the beginning," said Taylor. "But they were a scrappy bunch and hung in there."

The Mustangs pushed their lead to 16 points midway through the second. John Farrar scored after a steal, then hit again with a short jumper on Northville's next possession to make it 27-11. Dearborn fought back before halftime and cut the visitor's lead to 34-23.

Buser and Josh Williams dominated the third quarter with seven points each. After missing on his first try, Williams threw down a monster-dunk with a few minutes to go in the period.

Northville increased its lead to 56-40 by the end of the quarter. Edsel Ford never made a serious run in the fourth and the Mustangs walked away easy winners.

Kieran Williams scored 11 points and Farrar added 10. Marc Chiasson and Yaeckle had solid nights with eight points each.

"That's what we hoped to do," Taylor said of his team's perfect 2-0 start. "But it will get tougher."

Northville is idle this week. The coach said the time off will give him the opportunity to put the finishing touches on his offense and defense.

"We'll be able to put something in that we've been wanting to do," Taylor commented.

The Mustangs return to action Tuesday in their annual Christmas tournament with Novi. Northville plays Avondale in the first round while the Wildcats play North Farmington.

The winners of the those two games will meet for the championship Wednesday. Northville won the tournament last year.

NORTHVILLE 56, SOUTH LYON 39

The Mustangs' season opener came Dec. 7 on the road against the Lions. A six-point ballgame after three quarters, Northville blew it open with a 25-14 fourth period.

Foul problems may have kept the game close. Josh Williams picked up three early fouls and eventually fouled out in the fourth quarter having played just eight minutes. Yaeckle, the team's point guard, was also in trouble much of the game.

"We play aggressive as a team," said Taylor. "It makes it tough when they call everything close."

Turnovers were also costly. Northville gave it away 14 times.

"We didn't handle their pressure well," said Taylor. "I think we had some opening night jitters."

Chiasson and Yaeckle came through in the fourth with six points each. Taylor said a second half change in Northville's defense, to more intense full-court trapping, made the difference.

"We got lots of steals off of it," he added.

Northville was led by Chuck Apligian and George Lemmon in the game with nine points each.

"It was nice to have both leading scorers (come) off the bench," said Taylor.

Grapplers finish second at Ypsilanti Invitational

Jason Tarrow, Joe Scappaticci and Adam Lynch collected wrestling championships for Northville High at the annual Ypsilanti Invitational Saturday.

A host of other Mustangs placed high in the tournament which featured more than a half-dozen of the area's best teams. Belleville won the invitational with 164 points while Northville was second with 134.

"We finished sixth last year," said coach Bob Boshoven.

Top finishes shouldn't be anything uncommon for the Mustangs this winter.

Northville won the Western Lakes Activities Association title in a remarkable turnaround year. The Mustangs defend their crown with a lineup loaded from top to bottom.

"I think we can do it," said Boshoven. "But it's going to be tough. Livonia Stevenson has a lot of young, solid athletes. John Glenn and Farmington Harrison will be good (too)."

The league season starts after Christmas break. Northville will go head-to-head with Farmington Hills Harrison on Jan. 6.

stopping Belleville's Steve Drahos 7-2 in the finals.

"He's been looking fantastic," Boshoven said of his captain. "Physically, he's much stronger than last year. His technique has also improved."

James Kyle, a sophomore transfer from Ohio, wrestled at 125 pounds for Northville and took fifth place. He pinned Jay Smith of Ypsilanti for fifth.

"We're hoping that he will contribute this year," said Boshoven. "I think he was a little nervous in his first competition."

At 130 pounds, Chris Harrison finished second. The senior drew a bye in the first round then won by decision in round two. Harrison fell to Mike Henry of Westland John Glenn in the final 17-11.

"They could battle for the league crown," Boshoven said of the two wrestlers.

Cory Keranen was the third place finisher at 135 pounds. He dropped his first match and then won two straight.

"He's the kind of kid you have to love," said Boshoven. "He was behind Matt Allison for three years and not able to break into the lineup. He's come out and wrestled fantastic this year."

Carl Tune wrestled well Saturday and took fourth place in the 140 pound weight division. He went 2-2 on the day as both wins were by pin.

At 145 pounds, Ryan Baber was also a second place finisher. The senior pinned Matt McDermott of Saline in his first match then fell to John Boushard of Dearborn Edsel Ford in the final.

Scappaticci routed the field at 152 pounds. He pinned his first two opponents and decisioned Jody Main of Belleville 9-2 in the final.

"He looked as good as any Northville wrestler since Brandon Mardossian," Boshoven said, referring to the Mustangs star of a few years ago. "He's the most controlled and confident kid I've seen in years."

Lynch followed at 160 pounds with his title-grab. He won by decision in the first round then took Tony Chico by a fall at 3:18 in his second match. Lynch closed the day with an injury-default victory in the final.

At 171 pounds, Erik Hibbler placed fourth. He won two of his first three matches before falling in the battle for third place to Andy Watson of Edsel Ford.

"Erik has improved," said Boshoven. "He's gotten a lot stronger."

John Matthews also was fourth. He dropped his first match before beating Zahn Bozanic of Westland John Glenn and Brad Scholl of Saline in his next two. Matthews lost a 13-4 decision to Belleville's Josh Speller in round four.

Mustangs ready for cheer season

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

After weeks of practice and hard work, the Mustang competitive cheer team will swing into its inaugural season this weekend.

Northville High will compete with a number of other schools at Macomb Community College Saturday. According to coach Margaret Surdu, the Mustangs should finish in the competition's top 10.

"I feel the varsity is very prepared," she said, "and can place."

The Michigan High School Athletic Association has recognized competitive cheer for the first time this winter. As with any sanctioned sport, state regionals and finals competition will be held.

To qualify for state competition, schools must compete in at least four meets and place in the top 10 at least once. Northville will participate in four meets and the Western Lakes Activities Association finals this season.

While aspects of traditional cheer-leading (jumping, kicks, etc.) will be reflected in the new sport, a host of other athletic skills will also be included. Gymnastic movements, for example, are very much a part of competitive cheer, Surdu said.

"It's very technical, (like) gymnastics," she said. "The scoring is very similar to gymnastics."

Meets are divided into three rounds.

In compulsory competition, teams are required to perform five skills out of a possible of 12 in a minute-and-a-half routine. A total of 78 points are possible in the round.

Also a 90-second routine, round two features jumping and kicking. Surdu said the movements must be done in unison to garner top marks. Teams can earn up to 50 points.

The final round is a two-and-a-half minute open round. Surdu said it's a choreographed routine that features more jumping, pyramiding and more.

"It's almost anything you want to do," she added, "that's legal."

Northville will carry 11 athletes on its varsity roster.

Seniors Shari Pollicchio, Allison Superfitty and Karen Thorne will provide leadership. Juniors include Becly Rohan, Pipa Crefield, Lyndsay Ferguson, Jodi Fischer, Melanie Helmer and Jenny Sekerka. Sophomores Annie Bondy and Kristy Deleonardis round out the squad.

Unlike many other sports where individual players dominate, competitive cheer stresses team work. Surdu said athletes must complement each other and strive to perfect the same skills.

"It's such a team sport," she said. "They have to perform as a team."

Melanie Helmer and her teammates are ready for Northville's first season in competitive cheer.

Volleyball leagues will start soon in Novi.

Volleyball leagues starting soon

Since 1976, Novi residents have bumped, set and spiked their way through the fall and winter seasons for Novi Parks & Recreation adult volleyball leagues. Volleyball has grown in popularity over the past 17 years, from 25 co-ed and women's teams in 1976 to 36 co-ed and men's teams in 1993. The past two seasons they have had to turn away teams due to lack of gym space. One team has played together for 18 seasons.

The Volleyball League is the most expensive rec team sport available through Parks & Recreation. Many of the teams get sponsors to help pay the fee and provide team shirts. A number of Novi businesses have become involved, including Mr. B's Farm, Mike Gabriel's State Farm Insurance, Sporting's Restaurant, McNish's Sporting Goods, Phyl's Barber-Styling, Country Epicure, Cougar Cutting, and O'Brien's Funeral Home. New sponsors this year include the Olive Garden Restaurant, SONY Corporation, and Reid Lighting.

Mr. B's Farm has been sponsoring Novi teams forever. "It's a nice way to help the community and we enjoy sponsoring teams for our customers and friends," said Vickie Burks, one of the managers of Mr. B's. "We've done this for years and it's nice to see everyone stopping by Mr. B's after the games!"

This upcoming winter season begins Jan. 6 and there's something new in the works. Novi Parks & Recreation is taking registrations now for Novi's first co-ed volleyball tournament to be held Jan 22. The winner of the tournament receives awards, as well as a paid berth to the Michigan Recreation & Park Association (MRPA) State Volleyball Tournament to be held in March of 1994 with games played in Howell, Brighton and South Lyon.

There are three openings for the Monday and Thursday co-ed teams, especially Monday. "After a long, hectic weekend, why not get your friends and neighbors together for some fun and exercise on Mondays. Games are played at 6:30 p.m., 8 p.m. and 9:30 p.m., times vary each week," said Deanne Adaschuk, Novi Parks and Recreation Coordinator. "The winter season runs from January to mid-

April, just in time for Spring softball!"

Novi Parks and Recreation and Novi Middle School, where all the games are played, bought the volleyball nets. The Middle School gym is utilized for student volleyball teams in the afternoons and High School Intramural and Parks and Recreation leagues in the evenings.

"Currently, we utilize all of the Novi school gyms with the exception of the high school, seven days a week for various Parks & Rec practices and leagues. If we had more gym time, we could definitely fill it. The need Novi's growing. We definitely need more gym space," said Deanne, coordinator of the volleyball league.

Novi resident Dave Norman loves the sport and has played for the past 10 years with Novi Parks and Recreation in both the men's and co-ed leagues.

"A lot of the teams in our division have been playing together for a long time and are very evenly matched," said Dave. "It's great exercise and the co-ed league is a great way for couples to have a special activity they can do together. I'm trying to work with Novi Parks & Rec to offer an adult volleyball clinic in the near future."

JoAnn Schmitt is captain of a co-ed team sponsored by Cougar Cutting.

"This is my first season playing volleyball and I've found the experience most rewarding. I love the weekly camaraderie with my husband, friends and neighbors and look forward to the upcoming winter season," said JoAnn. "Everyone in Novi should get a team together!"

Both the fall and winter volleyball seasons are 10 weeks long and the winter season includes a playoff. Teams carry 12 players on their rosters and are allowed a maximum of 3 non-resident players.

The leagues offered this winter now are a Monday and Thursday Co-ed Division I and II and a Wednesday Men's Division I and II. Each league is limited to 12 teams (6 per division). There is plenty of room in both Monday co-ed leagues and the Thursday co-ed Division I. All men's leagues are full. For more information about Novi Parks & Recreation Volleyball Leagues, call 347-0400.

Accidents injure many children

Dan Weiner

Accidents are a major health problem facing children today. Almost 400 children under the age of four die each month due to accidents. Fortunately, many of these accidents are preventable.

Car and bicycle injuries. Car accidents are the No. 1 cause of injuries to children.

Children should always be in an approved car seat appropriate for their age until they weigh about 40 pounds. Parents should be a good role model for their children and always use their seat belts. When riding a bicycle, children and adults should wear approved helmets, which have been shown to reduce serious head injuries by 85 percent.

Falls. Many kids will start crawling at an early age and will get into everything. Gates on stairways and doors prevent children from falling and entering dangerous areas. Infant walkers can be a problem. They give tots more mobility than they are ready for. Almost 40 percent of infants using a walker may have an injury, 90 percent of which are stairwell injuries at home.

Fire and burns. Kids frequently are injured while parents are cooking. During these times, they should be in a playpen or high chair. Never hold the baby while you are cooking, holding hot liquids or smoking. Besides potential burns, smoke isn't good for anyone's lungs. You should turn your hot water heater down to the lowest setting, 120-130 degrees Fahrenheit, which is plenty hot for washing and showering.

This will prevent babies from being scalded. Smoke detectors and fire extinguishers should be bought and kept in good working condition with monthly checks and new batteries each year. Make sure your family has a plan in the event of a fire.

Drowning. Most kids love to play in water. Teach your child how to swim. But remember, knowing how to swim does not make them water safe. They must be supervised at all times while playing near water.

Poisoning and choking. Never leave small objects like beads or nuts in a baby's reach — they can easily choke on these things. It is helpful to know CPR in the event that your child does choke on something. You can contact your local Red Cross office for information on CPR classes in your area.

Medicines and chemicals should be kept out of reach and out of sight because children as young as one or two can easily open bottles. Safety latches on drawers and cupboards are helpful, too. You should have syrup of ipecac in the house in case your baby swallows some poison, and keep the number of the Poison Control Center (313-745-5711) at your phone. You should check with them before using ipecac.

Children can be a handful, and most kids will have some minor accidents. Using these suggestions, you and your doctor can prevent more serious injuries.

LOCAL ATHLETES: Northville High graduate Wendy Carroll earned a letter in soccer this fall from Hope College. She is a sophomore.

Northville resident Mike Hale was recently selected as Saginaw Valley State University's outstanding defensive lineman. Hale finished third in tackles on the Cardinals in his senior season.

Northville High graduate Valerie Bassin recently completed her first season on the Hiram College volleyball team. The freshman played hitter and recorded five kills, a service ace and two digs. The Lady Terriers went 3-21 on the season.

Michigan Technological University junior Paul Grant will play basketball for the Huskies this winter. A former Mustang, he averaged 3.0 points last year.

Northville's Bob Dudley has made the Mid American Conference's all-academic list. A senior defensive end for the Bowling Green State University football team, Dudley made the list three times in his career.

Spikers compete in tournament

Saturday's South Lyon Invitational was a case of good news/bad news for the Mustang volleyball team.

The good news was that Northville High made it out of pool play in the 16-team tournament. The bad news was that the Mustangs fell in the first round of championship play to Milford 15-7, 15-9.

"A few things fell apart," coach Laura Murray said. "We didn't react to the pressure and couldn't shake off our mistakes."

It was the first varsity experience for many of the Northville players. Although the Redskins played well, Murray said her team was more than capable of beating Milford.

"I think it was more of an emotional loss than them out-skilling us," she added. "We beat ourselves."

Northville came out as the top school from its three-team pool. While all of the pool matches were played at South Lyon High, the Milford match saw a change of venue to a local middle school.

Murray said the different surroundings definitely had an effect on her team. She added, "things were going well" after the South Lyon match but changed drastically once the Mustangs left the high school. Despite the setback, the coach was pleased with her team's play.

"Overall, it was a decent warm up to the season," she commented.

Northville started play Saturday in a non-pool match with Ann Arbor Huron and split 6-15, 15-11. Murray said her team was sluggish in the first game but perked up for game two.

"What I was really impressed with," she said, "was that we didn't miss any serves."

The Mustangs then faced Bloomfield Hills Roper in the first round of pool play. Northville won both games, 15-1 and 15-12.

Angle Snyder played well with consistent serves, said Murray.

"She played very strong," she said. "She's learned a lot from last year."

The coach tinkered with her lineup for game two because the Mustangs were far superior to Roper. Murray said it gave her a chance to use younger players like Jill Holloway and Lauren Poole.

"I think they were a little nervous," she said. "But they did fine."

Pool play ended with a match against host South Lyon. Murray said she stressed the importance of the match to her team.

"I wanted the advantage of being first out of our pool," she said.

After falling 15-7 in the first game to the Lions, Northville responded. The Mustangs won the second 15-1. Snyder served for points seven through 13.

increased time for several players.

Jeff Zwiesler, who played at JV last year, will back up Yaeck. Although he didn't score against Dearborn Edsel Ford, Taylor said he was solid.

"Jeff did a pretty nice job," he said. "He didn't make any turnovers and seemed to get better as the game went along."

Junior Anthony DeBenedet will also see action at the slot. Senior John Farrar, who is the starter at shooting guard, can play the point as well.

"I'm sure those guys can handle it," said Taylor.

"We were happy with him there. He did a good job in the South Lyon game. We had high hopes for him this year."

Novi takes early exit from South Lyon

By SCOTT DANIEL

Title it, "Getting acquainted 101."

The Novi High School Wildcat volleyball team started slowly in Saturday's South Lyon Invitational and improved, but not enough to advance out of pool play. According to coach Julie Fisette, a mild case of jitters may have slowed her team a bit.

"The girls were a little gun-shy," she said.

Fisette said it will take a few matches for the Wildcats to get adjusted to playing with each other again. And tournaments, she said, are the place to work out the kinks.

"All in all, it was a big learning experience," Fisette commented. "That's what tournaments are for."

The tournament also helped her see what combinations of players would and wouldn't work, she added. Although Novi is currently in a transition period, the coach said it won't take the "entire season" to get comfortable and start playing good volleyball.

"I think we are a good team," said Fisette.

A total of 16 teams played in the day-long tournament. Schools were divided in four pools of four.

The teams then played round-robin against each pool team. The top two squads from each pool advanced to the final rounds.

Novi went 1-2 on the day. Kensington Valley Conference rival Milford was first on the Wildcats list. The Redskins came out on top twice 15-3, 15-4.

Fisette said her team simply wasn't hitting up to its capabilities against Milford. Many shots were tipped or hit too softly, she added.

Detroit Renaissance was Novi's only victim. The Cats won easily 15-7 and 15-4.

Beware of mortgage mistakes

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

Mortgage lenders make mistakes. And sometimes those mistakes cost borrowers a sizable amount.

Particularly vulnerable to mistakes are calculations for rate changes on adjustable rate mortgages (ARMs) used to finance or refinance homes. As a homeowner, you may be paying too much and are due for a refund. Nearly a third of ARM loan adjustments are miscalculated by the lender or servicing agent. Some of those miscalculations favor the borrower, but most favor the lender and can cost the borrower big bucks over a period of time. The trend has spawned a new breed of service businesses — ARM loan auditors.

Most organizations that have studied the ARM miscalculation problem report that from 20 to 50 percent of ARM loan adjustments are incorrect. Most frequently, the figure is from 30 to 35 percent. These organizations include the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and the Office of Thrift Supervision.

Even a small error in calculating a loan adjustment can add up to a significant overpayment for a borrower. In one case, involving a law suit, the borrower was overcharged $600 during a five-year period.

Law suits are filed in an increasing number of cases. Class action suits have been filed against several major lenders, including Citicorp and First Nationwide Bank.

Calculating rates for an ARM loan can be very complex. There are many opportunities for errors. And the more complicated the ARM program, the greater the possibility of error.

In some cases, it's simply human error in the calculating

Medium-sized Cumberland is primed for expansion

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

Undeveloped attic space under a steeply pitched roof line offers plenty of room for later expansion in the Cumberland. But this medium-size home is already spacious and rich in storage space to begin with.

Finished portions of the upper level include two bedrooms with clipped ceilings, a skylit bathroom and two large storage closets. A landing at the top of the stairs overlooks a bright vaulted entry with a large coat closet.

On the main level, quiet rooms — living room and master suite — are at the front, gathering spaces at the back.

Day-to-day living centers in the comfortable family room/kitchen combination, brightened and expanded by both a garden window and a bayed eating nook. Range and oven are tucked into a long combination work island and eating bar, which provides extra counter space and is roomy enough to accommodate three or four stools.

Sink, range and refrigerator are close together, allowing efficient cooking and clean-up. A desk could be built into the counter next to the pantry, if desired.

A tile-hearth fireplace, flanked by tall, slender windows adds warmth and becomes a cheerful focal point and gathering place when the temperature drops.

Access to a deck that spans the width of the house is through the family room and sliding glass doors in the dining room.

Utilities and a small bathroom are nearby, equally convenient to the garage. More storage space is available in the two-car garage, and a long workbench spans most of one side. This plan puts the garage doors to the side, but the orientation can be easily changed, if front-facing doors are preferred.

The master suite is modest in size. Luxury amenities include a walk-in closet, oversize shower and a dressing area outside the bathroom with a second basin.

Brick planters flank the covered front porch, providing an opportunity for colorful flowers. Cedar shakes and multipaned windows add to the street appeal.

COUNTRY COMFORT

Greg and Laurie Zinkosky were looking for a home in the country without the dirt roads and found it in Milford. Their house, situated on 1.5 acres and surrounded by trees, gives them just what they were looking for.

"The yard is what sold us on this house," said Greg Zinkosky.

Their house has been a familiar landmark to those traveling into the Village of Milford over the last 137 years. It is a charming Greek Revival house with a red poultry house out back. The house fronts upon busy East Commerce Street and is next to St. George's Church.

The Zinkoskys bought the house in 1991. Since then Laurie has been busy raising their two sons, Steve, age 2-1/2, and Adam, 9 months. Greg has been busy with the home improvements. Greg, a computer analyst, enjoys working with his hands.

"Truthfully, I probably have ended up in the wrong field," he said. "I'm mechanically oriented and I like to build," he said.

Greg learned much of the work of the electrician, plumber and renovator — skills he has put to use in his present home — from the home in Lincoln Park that he sold before moving to Milford.

"When I bought the house in Lincoln Park, everybody else saw the rubble and the debris," Greg said. "I saw how it could look all fixed up."

The house was a showcase by the time we left. And now we are starting all over again here."

But they are starting with a very well-kept, historic home.

And their plans are to preserve as much of the historic detail of the house as possible.

When the metal gutters above the front porch were leaking and causing the supporting wood to rot underneath, Greg removed the two sets of original, but rust-eaten, gutters which ran parallel across the front of the house — one set that ran under the eaves and the other set which ran just below the porch roof. He recycled the old gutters by cutting out the rotted sections. Then using sheet metal screws and roofing cement, he patched together the unrusted sections of gutter and created one seamless gutter that now catches run-off from both roofs under the front porch eaves.

The Zinkoskys spent most of last spring and summer re-painting the house's wooden exterior. "It was a lot of work," Greg said. But we prefer the wood to putting up vinyl siding that would ruin the house." The house is painted blue with creme-colored trim, has a front porch with creme-colored pillars, and a red front door.

Other exterior improvements of the house include a new cedar deck which Greg built onto the back of the house. He used field stones around the edge of it.

The front porch has changed significantly over its lifetime. The Zinkoskys are attempting to restore it to its probable original condition. Previous owners of the property began with the same goal and they removed much of the porch's concrete wall, which, according to Milford historian Barbara Young, was probably erected in the early 20th century.

Young, who has assiduously researched the history of the Zinkosky's house, dates it at around 1856. There is still some of the concrete block remaining in the foundation of the porch and the Zinkoskys plan to remove it. They plan to use the pile of field stones they have harvested from their backyard as a base for their front porch as well.

According to Young, the field stone foundations indicate a mid-19th century building date, which is the period in which the house is presumed to have been built — around 1856.

Greg and his brother-in-law spent most of the year scraping and painting the exterior of the house.

"We worked on it until we ran out of good weather," Greg said.

The interior of the Zinkosky's house is cozy and unique. The front living room is dominated by an arching brick area in which stands a tall and slender wood-burning stove, which warms the entire room. The room has thick wall-to-wall carpeting. The front hallway has painted wide-board pine flooring that is charmingly primitive. One board measured seven inches at the front and 11 inches at the back and the others are also asymmetrical. "They must have used whatever they had lying around," Greg said, "but they all fit together perfectly."

The kitchen is attractive, but Laurie said that it has limited cupboard space — a problem she plans to correct.

"I am really looking forward to getting the kitchen remodeled," Laurie said.

The space is broken into two rooms, a fact explained by Young: "The west part of the kitchen was once a parlor on the back of the house. It was 'swung around' and put in its present location."

Throughout the house are architectural details evocative of early Milford home building. Batten doors open onto many of the rooms. They are solid plank doors with more than one plank running vertically and these are held together by battens, one across the top and one across the bottom of the door. Most of the doors have their original wrought iron latches.

The room at the top of the steep stairs serves as their master bedroom. It has cove ceilings. Down the hall, what used to be

Herb basket is a cook's best friend

By C Z. Guest
Copley News Service

GARDENING

You can enjoy fresh herbs in your kitchen all year round. A moss basket will provide the perfect place to grow and display them. You need a sunny kitchen window. Of course, it would be ideal to have one over the sink because the basket will probably drip when you water it.

The materials you need are the following:

- A wire basket (10, 8 or 12 inches in diameter).
- Hardware for hanging (with swivel hook).
- Sphagnum sheet moss (you might need two packages).
- Potting mix (lightweight).
- Herb seedlings (eight to 10).

When selecting plants, begin by thinking about the herbs you like to cook with. For instance, if you prepare many Italian dishes, you would include oregano and basil in your basket. Sage, thyme and rosemary go well with poultry. You can really jazz up a salad with nasturtium flowers, mint or chives.

Consider the size and type of plant. Bay, the source of bay leaves, is an evergreen, woody shrub and would obviously be an impractical selection for a hanging basket. Look for smaller plants or dwarf varieties.

Select prostrate rosemary instead of the standard variety. This low-growing, trailing variety looks great in a hanging basket. Golden thyme or variegated sage makes interesting substitutions for the all-green varieties.

The following plants are great choices:

Culinary herbs: Chives; Mint-spearmint, apple mint, peppermint; Sage—variegated, golden; Thyme—silver, lemon, golden; Parsley—curly, Nasturtium (dwarf variety); Basil—fine green (dwarf variety); lemon; Chervil; Cumin; Dill (must be pulled and reseeded regularly).

Herbs for fragrance (non-edible), Lavender, Lemon balm, Catnip (Nepeta mussini).

Once you have purchased your supplies, you are ready to begin. This can be messy, so plant the basket outside or in

Moss herb basket

- Sandwich sheets of soaked sphagnum sheet moss between layers of a wire basket.
- Place 2 inches of pre-moistened potting mix in bottom of basket.
- Insert herb seedlings through moss, into soil, so leaves grow outside the basket.
- Harvest plants regularly to encourage full growth.

Cleaning fireplaces; removing paint from brick

Q. I have a fireplace that is used brick. It is 22 years old, and has darkened around the opening from smoke. What can I use, short of sandblasting, to clean the brick?—M.M.

A. Do not consider sandblasting. This process tends to do more damage than good, often causing the brick to crumble and deteriorate.

There are special cleaners on the market, such as Sure Clean Smoke Remover from the Proso Co. (P.O. Box 171677, Kansas City, KA 66117), manufactured specifically to remove smoke from bricks.

This is a liquid cleaner, diluted with water, applied to a prewet brick surface with a sponge or soft bristle brush.

You allow the cleaner to sit for several minutes, reapply more solution and scrub, and then sponge with clear water. It is important to follow the manufacturer's directions carefully.

Cleaners need adequate time to be effective. More than one application is often necessary. Wear eye goggles and rubber gloves for protection. Make sure the room is well ventilated.

There are other brick cleaners, including homemade solutions, as well as commercial products. Often a thorough scrubbing with scouring powder containing bleach, using a stiff brush, will do the job. Another method is to use a paste of powdered pumice and concentrated ammonia. Apply this poultice to the smoke-stained area with a brush and let set for two hours, then scrub with hot water and soap and rinse with clear water.

For more stubborn stains, a poultice using trichloroethylene will pull the stain from the pores. Precaution should be taken to ventilate a closed space in which trichloroethylene is used, as the fumes are harmful.

Strong chemical solutions are also available commercially, not from retail stores, but through a masonry dealer or janitorial supply house. Choosing the right one depends on whether the brick is glazed or unglazed. Avoid acid cleaners on glazed brick and light-colored brick.

On glazed brick, use a non-acid degreaser.

You'll probably have to use a stiff brush on the grout to remove all carbon traces. For non-glazed and darker-colored brick, use a cleaner with an inhibited muriatic or hydrofluoric acid formula. Test these solutions in an inconspicuous area first, since minerals found in brick vary from area to area, and some cleaners can react with them in unexpected ways.

For example, an acid used on bricks with high copper content could turn them green. Another option is having your brick cleaned by a professional — a masonry contractor who has special equipment, expertise and products to deal with your specific cleaning problem.

Q. We recently had the trim repainted on our home. In the process, some paint was splattered on the brick exterior. The paint dried before I noticed the problem.

Can you recommend a method of removing dried paint from brick?—F.H.

A. One of the best methods of removing paint from brick is to use a thick solution made by mixing 2 pounds of trisodium phosphate with 1 gallon of water. Begin the cleaning process by saturating the brick with water sprayed from a hose. Then apply the solution to the brick, allowing five to 10 minutes before scrubbing with a stiff nylon-bristle brush. Don't use a wire brush, which can damage the brick and leave rust spots.

After scrubbing, rinse thoroughly with clear water. Several applications may be necessary to completely remove the dried paint.

Remember that brick is porous and it may not be feasible to completely remove all the residue of dried paint. If you use this solution, be sure you obtain a real phosphate product, not one of the substitutes currently being sold under the name of TSP.

Check with a large paint supplier for availability of trisodium phosphate in your area. Some states, with strict environmental laws, prohibit sale of this product. You can substitute a non-phosphate cleaner such as Spic and Span, but it is not nearly as effective.

Another method of removing dried paint is to use a commercial paint remover. Consider one of the newer water-based paint-stripping products. If you use a paint stripper, be sure to experiment first in an out-of-the-way spot to test the reaction on your brick.

When using any chemical product, follow manufacturer's directions, and safety precautions carefully.

Beware of mortgage mistakes and how to avoid overpayments process. Sometimes the wrong index is inadvertently used. In other cases, it's the lender's method of "rounding off" interest rate and index figures. And some cases result from the use of wrong dates being calculated.

A particularly high proportion of errors occurs with ARM loans that have been transferred from the original lender to another servicing agent. If you have been notified to send your payments to another lender or firm, monitor your loan's rate adjustments with special care.

What can a borrower do to protect himself against overpayments?

First, read the terms of your ARM note. Take special note of the index used to determine future rate adjustments and how the lender intends to round off the rate figures. Then do some calculations of your own when your rate is adjusted.

If your figures don't jive with the lender's, discuss it directly with the loan officer or servicer. Of course, it can be complicated and confusing. In many cases, even the lender is confused, resulting in the error.

The borrower can also ask for a review of his ARM loan payments and rate adjustments by a loan auditing firm — an organization set up with computer programs specifically designed to check the accuracy of loan rate adjustments and payments. The service, complete with print-out report, is provided for a fee.

One such firm, A.R.M. Loan Examiner, will analyze a single ARM loan for a $25 fee. And, if desired, the borrower can have the firm negotiate with the lender regarding the reimbursement of an overcharged amount. This will cost a hefty $750, but may be worth it.

"We use a special computer software program to calculate the true adjustments for individual ARM loans," said Mark Goldenson, a partner with A.R.M. Loan Examiner. "For the $25 fee, the borrower receives a print-out analysis of his ARM loan payments and rates."

The firm's computer system includes all indexes used by ARM loans. These index figures are constantly updated, Goldenson said.

Questions may be used in future columns; personal responses should not be expected. Send inquiries to James M. Woodard, Copley News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, CA 92112-0190.

How to make a herb basket for the cold winter months this year an area that is easily cleaned up. Soak the moss in lukewarm water for about 15 minutes.

Take a sheet about 6 inches square and squeeze most of the water out. Fold in half with mossy side out and slide it in between the top two horizontal wires of the basket by pressing the moss together. Wrap the folded edge around the top horizontal wire toward the inside of the basket. When you let go, the natural springiness of the moss will hold it in place.

Push the moss against a vertical wire with your fingers. Insert another piece of moss the same way and move it tightly against the first piece. Repeat this procedure until there's a tight collar of moss around the top of the basket.

Line the inside and bottom of the basket with large pieces of moss, overlapping each piece so soil cannot leak through. Do not pull the sheets so tightly that the wires will be visible when you are finished. Some shaggy strands can be positioned to hide visible wire. Clip off remaining straggly pieces with scissors.

Put about 2 inches of premoistened potting mix in bottom of the basket. Poke a hole from the side through the moss so a plant's root ball can be inserted.

Remove the seedling from its container and gently shake off loose soil.

Insert the roots through the wire frame and moss so the root ball lies on the surface of the potting mix and the crown of the plant just touches the moss lining.

Two staggered rows of three plants each work well for the sides of the basket. Arrange the plants so there is a pleasing mix of leaf size, texture and color. Place trialing plants in the lower row; upright plants, such as chives should be planted in the top.

You can plant two to four types of plants in the top of the basket.

If you're giving the basket as a gift, or if you're using plants you are not familiar with place the name tag that came with the plant in the basket with it.

As plants grow, you can train them by positioning the stems with hairpins (not bobby pins) or bent pieces of wire stuck into the moss.

Feed and water your herbs well. The basket should be kept moist but not wet.

Too much fertilizer will cause long leggy growth, so follow the directions on the package and cut the amount way back in winter. Harvest or pinch plants regularly to encourage full, bushy growth.

Milford couple find country comfort in an old Greek Revival home

the master bedroom and adjoining dressing room is now the study, and the two boys' bedrooms. Greg added a wall about halfway through the old master bedroom and created two rooms from one — the study and Steve's room. He did all the electrical and masonry work himself.

The floors in these two rooms are handsomely aged and appear to be original. They are a glowing rosy brown color and show the polish and footpaths of nearly a century-and-a-half of footsteps upon them.

"There's a lot of character in all the old chips and gouges of the last 140 years," Greg said.

The study has two magnificent in-wall leaded-glass book cases which flank a recessed sitting area. "This is where the boys will study," Greg said.

Greg has plans to put in one closet that communicates between the two boys' rooms.

Outside, the 1.5 acres behind the house swells up in a gradual hill that is planted with an occasional fruit tree and is flanked by thickets.

"It's great for picnics and walks and sledding in the winter," Laurie said.

"In the summertime when the foliage is on the trees you'd swear you were way out in the country," Greg said.

"Our house is not really in the country but has a country feeling," Laurie said. "And Milford is friendly — there is always something going on in the village. It's a place where you are not afraid to go for a walk."

"We grew up in the real suburban life, where you buy your pumpkins at the Kroger. Now that we live out here, we pick them at the pumpkin patch," Greg said.

"Greg asked me if I thought I could manage raising a few chickens in the poultry house," Laurie said, laughing. "But there are plenty of other things around here to keep me busy."

According to Young, the Zinkosky house was built by Ira Hebbard, one of four Hebbard brothers (William Bradford, Abvah, Sterling and Ira) who came to Milford in the 1840s. This family was instrumental in developing the Upper Pettibone Creek water power, the Pettibone Creek Grist Mill, the woolen mill on the Upper Mill Pond, and the Hibbard (sic)

Tavern, an early stagecoach inn.

Ira built the house in 1856 on a 26-acre farm. He in turn sold it to Thomas Chappell. Chappell sold it to Hiram VanLeuven, a colorful local storekeeper. The house remained in the VanLeuven family for many years.

Much of the old glass in the windows has survived and shows the bubbles, waviness and imperfections of old glass.

Wentworth Gallery opens doors in Novi area

Wentworth Gallery Ltd., having recently opened in Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi, is an art gallery organization engaged in the acquisition, publication, distribution and sale of fine art and art collectibles.

In early 1991, Wentworth Gallery organized Wentworth Publishing and commenced publishing signed, limited edition fine art serigraphs and sculptures.

Wentworth has exclusive contracts with American and European Impressionists John Zuccho, Maxwell Parsons — artists already well established in the United States and Europe.

Other artists included Fanch Ladan, whose work combines an architectural, naive style with elements of Impressionism and an art deco mood, Frane Milnar a young and upcoming artist from Croatia and a master of hyper-realism. The newest collection is of hand woven silk tapestries from the Peoples Republic of China by acclaimed artist Yuan Zuo. The weaving technique dates back to the Tang Dynasty in 900 AD and is a limited edition of 20.

Wentworth Galleries currently operates 35 stores in many shopping malls in the eastern and midwestern regions of the U.S. Twelve new galleries are projected through 1995. The parent company, Fidelity Investments, one of the largest investment managers in the world, is committed to that rapid growth.

Reducing probate trouble for heirs

According to the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants, anyone who owns property or has children should design a plan for distributing his or her assets. A comprehensive estate plan can help minimize the estate tax burden placed on your heirs and provide the peace of mind that comes from knowing that your property will be distributed according to your wishes.

Will is Cornerstone of Estate

Some of the property in your estate, such as the proceeds from insurance policies and pension plans, will pass directly to the beneficiary you have named. Any property you hold jointly will pass to the co-owner. However, writing a will is the only way to be sure that the rest of your property is distributed according to your wishes.

A will helps to minimize estate taxes and other estate settlement expenses, allows you to designate a guardian for your minor children, and permits you to retain some control of your assets after your death. Without a will, a court-appointed administrator will distribute your property according to state law.

The Unified Tax Credit

Everyone is eligible for the federal unified tax credit, which allows you to leave to your heirs up to $600,000 of assets free of federal estate tax. To estimate the size of your estate, total the fair market value of all your property and other assets. Once you have arrived at your gross estate, subtract funeral costs and administrative expenses for settling your estate. You may also deduct any amounts you owe - from your home mortgage to unpaid credit card bills - as well as any property you bequest to charity. If the adjusted value of your estate is more than $600,000, your estate must file a federal estate tax return with payment of estate tax by nine months after the date of death.

Be aware, too, that there is a movement in Congress to reduce the amount of the unified tax credit. If this happens, you may need to alter your estate plan.

Money Management

The Tax Advantages of Gifts

One of the most effective ways to minimize estate taxes is to reduce the size of your taxable estate by giving away some of your assets while you are alive. You can give any number of people up to $10,000 per year, per recipient, without paying the gift tax. If you make a gift jointly with your spouse, you can give up to $20,000 a year per recipient without triggering the gift tax. Be aware, too, that regardless of the amount of the gift, there is no gift tax on gifts made to spouses.

Donating to Charity

You can also lower the size of your taxable estate by giving money and property to your favorite charity through donations while you are alive or through bequests in your will. When you give to charity during your lifetime, you double your tax benefits. You not only remove the property from your estate, you earn an income tax deduction for your charitable contribution.

Use of the Marital Deduction

The unlimited marital deduction allows you to leave your entire estate to your spouse without incurring federal estate tax liability. Be aware, however, that if as a result of this deduction, you boost your spouse's estate to more than $600,000, your spouse's estate will be subject to federal estate tax upon his or her death, unless other steps are taken to distribute part of the estate prior to your spouse's death.

Establishing Trusts

Placing property in a trust is another way to eliminate, or at least reduce, your federal estate tax liability. A trust is an agreement in which you, the grantor, transfer legal ownership of property to a trust on behalf of one or more beneficiaries named by you. A trust cannot only help you to minimize taxes, it can provide for the management of your assets should you become incapacitated and provide for minors and others who may be unable to manage their inheritances. The nature of the trust will determine whether or not the trust will have an effect on your estate tax liability.

Estate planning is a dynamic process that can help you achieve your goals for taking care of your family and heirs. It requires careful planning and updating, a long-term strategy, and help from qualified professionals, such as CPAs and attorneys.

For further guidance on estate planning, mail a letter size, self-addressed, stamped envelope to The Michigan Association of CPAs at 28116 Orchard Lake Road, P.O. Box 9054, Farmington Hills, Mich., 48333-9054 and request a copy of the brochure, "Estate Planning: Protecting Your Family."

a place to grow and adults a place to keep youthful. Over the past 25 years the Livonia Y has nurtured and grown the relationships with the schools, the City, businesses and residents working together for program development and community outreach.

The Y has been a leader in backyard pool programs, water safety programs, and instructional youth sports. The Y had one of the first youth soccer programs in Southeast Michigan. The Y has been instrumental in providing a fitness focus for the community. The tennis facility at the Y is among the most successful in the area; and over 800 parents and children participate in the Y's Parent/Child Programs, such as Guides and Maidens.

The Livonia Y has grown from a facility with a $35,000 budget in 1969 to a $2,200,000 budget for 1994. In the late '60s, there was one director, now there are six directors and over 150 part and full time staff. Program participation has increased from 100 people per week to over 8,000 individuals using the facility and participating in various programs and activities. The Livonia Family Y is recognized in the Metropolitan Area as a leader among YMCAs, a leader in programs, a leader in membership and a leader in leadership, with one of the strongest Board of Directors in the Metropolitan Association.

Beginning in March of 1994 and continuing throughout the year, the Livonia Family Y will be celebrating its 25th Anniversary. The staff and Board of Directors know that just as it was the first members who built the dream, it is the current members who continue to help mold the dream of a successful branch serving members and the community. Dr. Friedrichs, Chairman of the first Board of Directors and a member of the 25th Anniversary Committee, reminds us all as we celebrate the 25 years., "it's not a bit too soon to plan for the growth and development of the Livonia Family YMCA in the 21st century."

As we plan for these and future celebrations, details on each event will be publicized in upcoming program brochures, in the paper and at the Y. We welcome your ideas for celebrations, and we invite you to join us in the events throughout 1994 to celebrate the dream.

The Livonia Family YMCA opened its doors at the Stark Road location on March 31, 1969. This facility was the result of the hard work of many people. It began in October of 1965 with a dedicated group of citizens and a feasibility study conducted to determine the need for a Y in Livonia. The effort continued through 1966 when 36 of these individuals, as a Provisory Board of Management chaired by Dr. Donald Friedrichs, with the support of the Detroit Metropolitan YMCA, began to plan for a Livonia Family YMCA. It meant planning meetings, strategy sessions, determining building needs, searching for an appropriate and affordable site, networking for additional support and conducting a capital campaign to raise the dollars to shape the vision – a YMCA serving the community.

In January of 1967, the Livonia Y, operating out of the Elm School on Middlebelt, was designated as the 15th branch of the Detroit Metropolitan Association. Dr. Donald Friedrichs of the Livonia School System was elected first Chairman of the Board. The challenge for this first board was to plan the facility and a capital campaign to pay for it. The challenge was met through the leadership of such dignitaries as Dr. Donald Friedrich, Board Chair, Judge Pat Duggan, 1st Vice Chair, County Executive Ed McNamara, 2nd Vice Chair, and a dedicated group of board members.

The United Fund kicked off the capital campaign for the building with a $560,000 pledge, approximately half of the total needed. Through the leadership of Phil Powers of the Observer-Eccentric Newspapers, who served as general chair for the capital campaign, and the hard work of the Provisory Board, the community's contributions matched the United Fund gift to reach the $1,020,000 goal.

In the fall of 1968, through the collaborative efforts of the Branch Board, the City and the Livonia Public Schools, a site was selected and purchased, and ground was broken for the Livonia Family YMCA. The original facility included 2 pools, 2 racquet ball courts, a gymnasium, 2 health clubs (later named Fitness Centers), meeting rooms and offices. In later years, indoor and outdoor tennis courts, a second gymnasium, and a Wellness Center were added.

The dedicated Livonians who pursued their dream for a Livonia YMCA envisioned the Y as an integral part of the community – partnering with the school system, the City and its businesses and residents to provide the best range of services and programs for all. As the planning proceeded, Chairman Don Friedrichs summed up the group's vision: "We need to define a new dream for the Livonia Y, a dream of what this program, this facility, this staff and the ideas of our Family Y can really mean to people who need to keep vigorously alive . . . it is a dream that keeps us young and it is the young who
