Jubilant library supporters celebrated the passage of Northville's District Library plan Tuesday night, and will soon begin planning how to build their dream facility.

Voters decisively passed the board's request for a 1-mill operating levy and authorized the sale of up to $4.5 million in bonds to build a new facility.

Twenty-five percent of the city's 4,658 registered voters turned out for the election, together with 18 percent of the township's 13,700 voters. In the city, 60 percent cast ballots for the operating millage and 64 percent for the construction bonds.

Township voters were almost as enthusiastic, approving the operating millage by 56 percent and the bonds by 58 percent.

Still, Tuesday night was a nail biter for library supporters who gathered at city hall and then drove to the township offices to be on hand for election results. The decisive city win was tempered at first at township hall, as the township's 987 absentee voters had rejected the operating millage by a 563 to 424 margin, and the bonds by a 528 to 458 rate.

(City absentee voters had narrowly rejected the millage request but approved the bonds.)

A crowd of nervous supporters gathered around a bulletin board in the hallway at township hall as poll workers filed in with their ballots, and results from the 10 precincts were pinned to the board one by one.

District Library Board Chairman John Buckland called off the figures while former school board member Jim Petrie scrawled them on a piece of paper and kept a running tally.

The first two postings, by precincts 4 and 7, did little to quell their fears as the voters in both small precincts had rejected the measures.

But as other precincts reported in, the tide began to turn in favor of passage.

With six precincts to go, Library Director Pat Orr felt confident enough to exchange high-fives with Township Trustee Gini Britton, the township's former liaison to the district library board.

"Yes, yes, yes," Orr said with a grin.

"I'm going to faint," she said several minutes later as several more precinct results were posted.

"We've got it," Buckland exclaimed, as he raised his fists following a decisive win in Highland Lakes Precinct 2.

Both measures passed overwhelmingly in the final precinct, King's Mill's Precinct 5.

"I felt confident all along," Buckland said once all the precinct votes were tallied. He attributed the plan's passage to the narrow focus of the proposal on library services alone.

"It did not have the political implications that previous elections have had," he said. "It focused on one thing."

Petrie, who had been involved in the failed Haller Library vote in 1992, said the seeds of Tuesday's success were sown in the ashes of that defeat. "We didn't give up," he said. "The thing was that people wanted the library in the city."

Trustees look at millage requests

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Northville Township voters may face requests for a higher basic-services millage and for a collection of "enrichment" millages when they go to the polls on Aug. 2.

The township's board of trustees at its April 28 study session tentatively decided on five separate millage requests for the election, now three months off.

Everything requires formal approval, however, something the board will likely take up at its next meeting on May 12. The township has to send the state its official ballot language by May 24 to get it on the Aug. 2 voting slate.

All township millages expire this year. The board at the session came to a preliminary consensus on which millages it wants to ask taxpayers to approve, how much they'll amount to and how long they'll be good for. Trustee Gini Britton was absent, however, and her opinions could alter the board's final decisions on which requests make it to the ballot and whether the proposed amounts rise or fall.

"We have to have a little bit of growth provided for. The township's taxes have not adjusted for that (growth in population and demand on services) in recent years."

All five requests would be dedicated millages, levied yearly for the City looks to end Mill Race debate

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The Northville City Council has agreed to try and settle a long-running dispute with Griswold resident Stephen Ball over Mill Race Historical Village.

The council unanimously agreed to seek a settlement Monday night, following a Monday afternoon hearing at Wayne County Circuit Court in which Circuit Judge Andrea Ferrara ordered both sides to come to an agreement.

Ball had taken the case to court last December, following an Oct. 6 decision by the city's Board of Zoning Appeals to grant the village a series of variances over the complaints of local residents. The board had granted city requests setback variances for a pedestrian bridge, gazebo and parking lot, all of which were built within a city-required 80-foot setback.

The village is owned by the city and operated by the Northville Historical Society.

Rape suspects are still at large

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Northville Township police are looking for four men accused of taking part in the raping of a 15-year-old girl on April 28.

The victim, an Innsbrook apartments resident, said she was expecting a friend when she answered a knock on her door last Thursday afternoon. What she found were four males who pushed their way into the apartment as soon as she opened the door.

One of the men forced her into a bedroom in the apartment and raped her there as another held her arms down, the girl, a Northville High School student, told police.

All four left soon after the assault, she continued, and took property from the apartment with them.

All of the suspects are still at large and the police investigation of the incident continues. Anyone with information about it or the whereabouts of the suspects is asked to contact Township Detective Fred Yankee at police headquarters, 41600 Six Mile, 349-9400.

The individual suspected of the rape is a black male age 19 or 20, who stands 6 feet 2 inches and has a thin build. He has black hair which is cut flat and combed forward. He was wearing a green shirt buttoned down the front, green Dockers pants and brown loafers at the time of the incident. Police said he answers to the name of "David."

The second suspect is a black male, age 19, who stands 5 feet 8 inches and has a stocky build. He has black hair cut flat on top, light brown eyes and was wearing a striped shirt and brown loafers at the time of the incident.

The third suspect is a white male, age 16, 5 feet 6 inches tall with a thin build. He has light brown hair which is cut short and was wearing brown loafers at the time of the incident.

The fourth suspect is a black male, age 16 or 17, who stands 5 feet 6 inches and is thin. He was wearing a white and blue baseball cap and brown loafers at the time of the incident.

Police have released this composite sketch of the suspect.

'It didn't have to happen,' dog owner says

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

David Plante says there's no doubt about it: the Northville Township police officer who shot his dog April 26 overreacted.

That's not the case, police officials maintain. They continue to say that Officer Charles Cole had reason to believe he was in danger of serious injury on April 26 from Scooter, Plante's 50 pound German shepherd/Labrador mix. He reacted accordingly, officials say, and his actions met police guidelines on the use of force.

The officer shot Scooter once in the chest with his .45 caliber semi-automatic handgun on the driveway of the Plante's Cardene Way home. Plante and four other people—including his two-year-old son—were on the driveway when it happened.

In his report on the incident, Cole said that he feared the dog was going to bite him and possibly cause severe injury. After unsuccessfully trying to ward off Scooter with his police baton, the officer said he decided that using his gun was necessary.

Plante disagrees. His account of events differs greatly from Cole's, at times flatly contradicting it.

"There is no question about it—he overreacted," Plante said. "He did not have to do what he did."

"I think the man panicked," he continued. "When I saw the gun, my real concern was for my little guy. I love the dog, but that was my main concern."

"The police officer overreacted," William Donahue, another witness, said. "I told the officer out there, 'I think you acted a little too quick.'"

Plante and other neighbors said they feared what might happen in the future.

"What about the next time something like this happens? Does this guy have the wits about him to react like he should? I don't know," Plante

City may get track money directly

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

State legislators want to take the middleman out of the flow of racetrack revenue to the cities that house the tracks.

In this case, the middleman is the state itself.

House Bill 5495 would redirect the flow of racetrack revenue directly to the host cities like Northville rather than to the state. Any surplus funds over what the cities are entitled to under state law would then be forwarded to the state.

For Northville, the bill could assure a steady source of racetrack revenue from Northville Downs, which has not been included in recent budget estimates because of state withholdings in the past.

State Rep. Jerry Vorva (R-Plumouth), a co-sponsor, said the bill makes sense if the state is going to continue to sponsor horse racing as a source of revenue.

"As long as we have horse racing in this state, we've got to support it," he said.

"It certainly seems the appropriate thing to do, given how cities were encouraged with this kind of carrot to have racetracks in their communities."

In recent years, the state has paid local governments less than half of what is required under the State Racing Statute of 1980. Cities are allocated 27.5 percent of wagering revenue from local racetracks built within municipal boundaries, up to $800,000, and an additional 20 percent up to $100,000, to help pay for increased public services like fire and police protection.

Northville's statutory grant under the law is $900,000, but the city's 1992 appropriation was about $401,000.

The state's withholding of all racetrack revenue in 1991 helped plunge Northville into a $1 million debt that the city has just now paid off. In the process, police, clerical and DPW workers were laid off and the operating millage rate was raised 4.2 mills.

"Under our present system, reduced funding makes delivering adequate services difficult and forces local governments to find other revenue sources or cut back on essential personnel," said co-sponsor Rep. Willis Bullard, R-Milford.

House Bill 5495 would allow racetracks to pay these funds directly to local governments, eliminating the state as intermediary. Cities collecting more than $900,000 would return the surplus to the state.

"This bill does not create a new tax or increase any taxes for racetracks," Bullard noted. "It simplifies administrative procedures, allowing racetracks to directly pay local governments."

When cities receive their current statutory share of funding, they will be able to budget accordingly and provide full fire and police protection.

Since 1991, the city has required Northville Downs race operators to pay for police services up front, with the understanding that the operators would be paid back if enough state-returned racetrack revenue is received to cover the amount.

The bill now goes to the House Taxation Committee for consideration.

Vorva was uncertain about the bill's chances of success, though he noted it has drawn bipartisan support.

"I don't think it's going to happen overnight, but we're certainly going to give it a good try," he said.

Kalinski pleads not guilty

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Rick Lee Kalinski may make a flight of it.

The Westland cab driver pleaded not guilty on April 29 in 35th District Court after being arraigned on charges that he filed a false police report. His April 7 report to Northville Township police triggered an afternoon manhunt through Hines Park.

Kalinski, 43, told township police that his passenger that day had hit him over the head and robbed him. The man, he said, struck him while his cab was parked on Hines Drive near Beer Hill in the township. After taking his money, the man took off on foot, Kalinski said.

Township, city and Van Buren Township police fanned out to cover the area while a tracking dog hunted for a trail. None was found—because there wasn't one to find, it turned out.

Investigators found holes in the cabbie's account of events, and questioned him the next day. After some discussion, Kalinski admitted that he had not been robbed but was merely stuffed for a $62.50 fare, police said. He had made up the story because he could not afford to pay the cab company for the lost fare, police said.

The Northville Record was unable to contact Kalinski, who offered no comment on the situation during his arraignment. His next visit to the court will be May 10 when he undergoes pre-trial proceedings before Judge James Garber.

Workshop workers

About 30 students of Northville High School creative writing teacher Nancy Brown (foreground) took part in Manuscript Day at Western Michigan University this year. During the event, WMU faculty members and writers critiqued students' poetry and fiction. Eight of Brown's ninth-graders were published in "Callopie," a booklet produced from the many submissions reviewed during the event. Published authors included Jessica Scheidt, Erica Jensen, Kristin Moore, Elizabeth Ganfield, Shea Collins, Janet Swanson, James Orr and Vivek Mohta.

Teacher's going on a very big field trip

Lisa Rohde-Barbeau, an English and Spanish teacher at Northville High School, is one of 32 teachers in the nation chosen for a month-long study of the World of the Renaissance.

Sponsored by the Renaissance Society of America and the National Endowment of Humanities, this program will be offered at Columbia University in New York City from July 5 through Aug. 2. The emphasis of study will focus on innovations as characteristics of the Renaissance.

Included in the areas of study are the following topics: social history, art, education, humanities, literature, and music. Although Rohde-Barbeau is working toward a master's degree in humanities, this program offers only enrichment and no college credit.

The program provides all materials and travel expenses. Emily Serafa-Manschet, Foreign Language Department Chair alerted Rohde-Barbeau about the program, whereupon Rohde-Barbeau completed an application which included a personal statement, a resume, and two letters of reference.

Police News

Lonely Meijer hair-sniffer questioned by police

Township police questioned a man accused of sniffing women's hair at Meijer on April 28.

A store detective told police the 25-year-old man, a resident of Innsbrook Apartments, was fondling his groin area while sniffing the hair of female employees and customers.

When asked about the allegations, the police report on the incident said, the man said that he hadn't been around females for three months "and that he missed it."

The man was advised to leave the store and did so.

DOG ABUSE: An Andover Drive resident was accused of animal cruelty after he was seen abusing his dog April 22 and 24.

The man was seen throwing the dog across a sidewalk and front lawn after the dog barked at a woman walking her dog down the street. Two days later, he was seen grabbing the dog, lifting it above his head and slamming it to the ground. The dog reportedly let out a loud yelp as it hit the ground.

Police questioned the man, who denied injuring the dog and said he was golfing at the time the alleged incidents took place.

MAN REPORTS ROBBERY: A Boulder Circle resident told city police April 19 that someone had stolen more than $5,000 in medical supplies from his home. The theft allegedly took place sometime between April 4-16 while the man was on vacation.

STUDENT SPRAYS PEPPER

GAS: Two Northville High School students were suspended after one discharged pepper gas in the hallway April 21. Twelve classrooms were evacuated around 9:30 a.m. after the incident, in which the gas was sprayed on a locker and caused coughing and shortness of breath among passersby.

Principal Thomas Johnson questioned the 18-year-old Northville male who witnesses said admitted bringing the canister into school but told Johnson that a 16-year-old friend had actually sprayed it before handing it back to him. When police asked him about the incident, he asked for his lawyer and then refused to comment based on his lawyer's advice.

The 16-year-old told police that his friend had come up to him at his locker and sprayed the gas on the locker, at which point both youths ran from the scene.

Both students were suspended indefinitely pending further investigation.

INDECENT EXPOSURE: A 78-year-old Livonia woman reported a serial indecent exposure to police on April 25.

The woman said that a 55- to 60-year-old man has followed her to area McDonald's restaurants for the past year. The man sits in front of her and pretends to read the paper, the woman said. While doing so, he unzips his pants and exposes himself to her, she continued, and has also showed up at her church.

The case remains open.

BORROWED CAR NOT RETURNED

A local business owner lent his white 1990 Toyota Camry to a 34-year-old Northville resident at 11 a.m. May 1, and had not seen either the man or the car by that night.

The business owner told city police that the man was supposed to pick up some cement and return within 15 minutes. He said he had lent the car to the man two or three times before and the man had always returned it on time.

Police tried to contact the man at his apartment and got no answer. When they called his last known telephone number, it had been disconnected. Police posted an area-wide computer bulletin listing the car as missing.

AUTO THEFT: Unknown persons stole a Winchester Street resident's car last Monday night or Tuesday morning.

The owner of the white 1993 Mercury Capri told police that the vehicle was taken sometime between 10 p.m. Monday and 5:45 a.m. Tuesday. The keys were in the car, the police report said, and parked in the garage with the garage door open.

The Capri is worth $13,000.

DRIVING WHILE LICENSE REVOKED: City police stopped a 32-year-old Howell man for ignoring a red signal April 30 and found that his license had been revoked.

The man was stopped at East Main and Griswold that night when a computer check turned up the revocation. He had a driving while impaired, two driving while intoxicated, four speeding tickets and seven other charges on his record, and had been involved in two traffic accidents.

He was arrested and released after posting a $100 cash bond.

CHILD NEGLECT CHARGED: City police responding to an April 28 call about a domestic quarrel on Rayson found the couple intoxicated around 11:15 p.m. and heard evidence of child neglect.

The man told police he had returned home from work earlier that evening to find his wife passed out on the couch and their two children crying. When she awoke at 9:30 p.m., he said, they began arguing and she threw a glass.

Police said the man appeared slightly intoxicated and the woman very intoxicated, with slurred speech and an unsteady gait. Police called the man's brother in Plymouth and had him take the children for the night, and county Protective Services was notified.

OUIL QUARTET: Township police arrested four men for operating a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol (OUIL) last week.

● On April 27, they arrested a 47-year-old township resident whose breathalyzer testing showed him to have a blood alcohol level (BAL) of .20 percent, twice the legal limit.

● Police arrested another township resident for OUIL on April 29. Testing of the 32-year-old man showed his BAL to be .17 percent, well above the legal limit.

● A 29-year-old township man was arrested April 30. His BAL was found to be at least .15 percent; he was also cited for driving with a suspended license.

● Earlier that evening, police arrested a 28-year-old Westland resident for OUIL. The man was found to have a BAL of at least .10 percent, above the legal limit.

The man told the responding officer after being stopped that he had had "a few" beers that evening. Police later found two marijuana roaches in the man's car.

The officer asked him to perform a number of field sobriety tests, including one where he had to stand on one foot. The man attempted it twice, police said, and lost his balance twice.

On the third attempt, the officer said, the man gave up and said "Jesus Christ, I can't even do that when I'm sober!"

BURGLARY: A Cardene Way couple discovered their home broken into and items valued at $95 stolen on April 25.

Police found that the home's front door had been pried open with an unknown tool. The home's owners said the thieves had taken a binder with bank account information, credit cards and some blank checks. Officers found no witnesses or fingerprints; the case remains open.

FENDER BENDER: City police cited a 17-year-old Northville girl for failing to stop within an assured clear distance ahead after she rear-ended another car on westbound Main Street April 29. The incident occurred around 4:45 p.m. just east of Church Street. No injuries were reported and both cars were driven from the scene.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Downtown traffic flow changes scrutinized

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

A proposed change in downtown traffic directions continues to draw opposition from at least one business owner.

Northville clothier Charles Lapham questioned the Northville City Council Monday night over the city's plans to change Mary Alexander Court into an eastbound street after construction is complete on Mainstreet '93.

Lapham had made his own proposal to the city over traffic directions, in which he suggested continuing the westbound flow on Mary Alexander and allowing two-way traffic on the street between the Northville Clock and the Cady Street parking deck.

While Lapham did not oppose making Mary Alexander eastbound, he said he was opposed to the possibility that left turns onto the street from southbound Center might not be allowed.

He noted that he maintains four parking spaces of his own directly behind his 120 E. Main St. store, and that forbidding left-hand turns would make it almost impossible for shoppers to get to his store from the north.

"I have a unique situation . . . We draw from all over Michigan, and we have to give instructions over the phone how to get here," he said. "Those spaces back there are critical to my operation."

Lapham's comments also reignited a debate among council members over switching Mary Alexander's direction.

While Mayor Chris Johnson and Mayor Pro Tem Carolann Ayers have been in favor of the switch, Council Member Paul Folino has scoffed at suggestions that turning from Mary Alexander onto Center was dangerous. He also worried about southbound cars on Center running into cars stopped to turn left onto an eastbound Mary Alexander.

Folino theorized that a new traffic signal at Center and Cady would alleviate any problems from turning off Mary Alexander, even after construction of the proposed CadyCentre building in the southeast corner of the disputed intersection.

Council Member Charles Keys entered the fray Monday when he cited a recent memorandum from Police Chief Rod Cannon that suggested prohibiting left turns onto Mary Alexander if future traffic flows warrant it.

"If I'd seen this memo before we voted on the traffic flow, I never would have voted for it," he said. But he also agreed with Johnson that turning onto Center from Mary Alexander could be dangerous.

"I've been in near-accidents at that location," Johnson said. "Now we've got a building going up there and we don't know how it's going to affect traffic."

Johnson argued that before a final decision is made, store owners and the First Presbyterian Church should be contacted for their opinions. As part of the overall traffic pattern changes, the council hopes to make the Hutton Street extension on the west side of the church into a northbound street, to provide better traffic flow around downtown Northville.

Construction related to the traffic changes, including reworking curbs and realigning diagonal parking on the Hutton Street extension, are a $22,000 item in the total Mainstreet '93 construction project. Changing the actual direction of traffic flow is not scheduled to take place until Jan. 1, 1995.

The new traffic patterns were recommended earlier this year by a consultant hired by the city and Singh Development, builders of MainCentre and the proposed CadyCentre project. In part, the new patterns are designed to reduce the amount of cross-traffic in front of the upper level entrance to the new Cady Street deck.

Parenting lecturer's coming to Northville

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Jim Fay, an internationally-known family consultant, has a simple philosophy for better parenting.

It's called "Love & Logic," and he'll explain it to Northville parents, children and educators at two seminars scheduled for Tuesday, May 10.

Fay's presentations will take place at 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. at Northville High School, 775 N. Center St. In between will be a Community Outreach Information Fair starting at 5:30 p.m. at which dozens of educational and outreach organizations will be on hand to provide information to interested families.

Education expert Jim Fay is co-founder of the Cline-Fay Institute in Golden, Colorado, with Dr. Foster W. Cline, an expert in child and adult psychiatry. The two joined forces to create a new way for children and adults to communicate.

Fay's own background includes 31 years as a teacher, school administrator and principal and 14 years as a consultant and public speaker. In the process, he's authored more than 90 articles and several books on parenting and discipline, and appeared on hundreds of radio and television talk shows.

Fay is constantly touring the country, bringing the "Love & Logic" message to an estimated half-million people a year. His seminars are marked by lots of laughter from parents who relate to his stories of effective and ineffective parenting techniques.

He uses plenty of anecdotes to draw an audience in, help audience members visualize the concepts he's explaining and illustrate how the concept can be applied.

The "Love & Logic" philosophy is based on four principles.

"The first one is, don't take all the control, share it in some way," says Fay in an audio tape describing his teachings. "People all have a strong need for control, and the minute you take it away from them they're going to start fighting, and you don't need that."

"If I say to you, 'Now you get to your room and you stay there until I tell you to come back, I mean it, I have all the control right now, and my guess is you might go to your room but it's not going to be fun while you're in there... scratching, kicking, yelling and all of that.'"

"Or I could say, and share the control, 'Well, off to your room, sweetie, and come back when you're sweet again,' which means you have some control; you get to decide when to come back. I also have some control too, the conditions under which you can be around me."

The other principles include sharing the thinking about a problem, giving equal amounts of empathy along with consequences, and promoting a good self-concept.

"Self-concept is our dictator and it drives everything we try and everything we don't try," Fay said.

Fay also argues that parents should use "thinking words" rather than "fighting words," to get a child thinking about his or her behavior and its effects rather than put the child on the defensive.

"When we change what we do, it automatically changes the responses of the child," he said.

When asked what he says to parents who blame their children's behavior on the schools, Fay replies, "I just wish down in my heart it could be that simple, but I encourage those people to get to know the school better... I see teachers every day, and they want to do a great job."

"I've yet to see a teacher with lesson plans that say, 'I want to mess up some kids today,' you know, but every once in a while, they do it. They don't even know they're doing it."

Jim Fay

"Generally we find teachers' hearts are in the right place, but sometimes their mouths open and the wrong things come out and it hurts kids. But isn't that true at home too?"

Fay believes that there are three types of parents—hoverers, drill sergeants and consultants. He also noted that each parenting style sends its own message to children, telling the child that he or she is either fragile, stupid or intelligent enough to make up his or her own mind.

Fay's 4 p.m. seminar will focus on parenting techniques for elementary-age children. His 7:30 p.m. seminar will deal with parenting teenagers.

People interested in attending the seminars and/or the information fair, or registering for child care so they can attend, are asked to call Karen Waltz at 344-8453 by tomorrow, May 6.

Historical group wants members

The Northville Historical Society's annual membership meeting will be held on Thursday, May 19, at 6:30 p.m.

The evening will include a potluck dinner, a speaker and a slide presentation. General membership issues also will be discussed.

The event provides an opportunity to meet fellow society members, become updated on the previous year's programs and elect officers for the current year.

Attendees are asked to bring a dish to pass. The main entree of turkey or ham will be provided by the society. There will be a short slide presentation by Jo Marie Soszynski on period clothing from the Victorian era, 1837-1901.

For further information on the potluck dinner/meeting, call Marianne Barry at 349-5435.

All interested persons are encouraged to attend the informational meeting.

The Historical Society operates Mill Race Historic Village.

Progressive dinner tickets available

There are a few openings left for the Northville Historical Society's Progressive Dinner scheduled for Saturday, May 14.

Those interested can call Sally at 348-1845 or Marianne at 349-5435.

Ticket prices are $20 for members and $25 for non-members.

The evening includes beverages, appetizers, a main course and dessert. Participants will be assigned a dish to contribute and will move, or "progress," from house to house, sampling food and drink and socializing. Approximately 12 houses are on the evening's itinerary.

The Progressive Dinner is an annual fund-raising event for the Historical Society, which operates Mill Race Historic Village. It's a great way to meet neighbors and friends from other communities and contribute to the Society at the same time.

Cancer hits a lot of men below the belt.

One in ten men will develop prostate cancer.

If you're a man, you're at risk for prostate cancer. Prostate cancer is the most common cancer in men and the second leading cause of cancer death in men.

This disease hits an estimated 165,000 men annually and takes around 35,000 lives each year. About 80 percent of these deaths may be preventable with early detection.

Screening exams are able to detect prostate cancer when it's the most treatable. An annual exam can detect an enlarged prostate, one of the symptoms of prostate cancer. Health Development Network at Botsford Center for Health Improvement offers a yearly prostate screening and other programs for men over forty.

A prostate screening could save your life. If you would like more information, call Health Development Network at (810) 477-6100. If you would like a physician referral, please call Health Match at 442-7900.

5 millage questions may be on ballot

next eight years. A dedicated millage means that the township by law can use the money raised only for the specific purpose which voters approved.

The positive side of that is that departments which provide services wouldn't have to fight with the board and against each other for money anymore. The down side is that the dedicated millage locks everything down. Individual services would get specified amounts: whether a department needs more or less to provide that service no longer enters into the picture.

In other words, some board members said, township services might not be able to keep pace with development and increased demands. That could force the board to ask for additional mills in the future.

Basic services are going to cost more, township officials say, as that growth occurs. The township in 1993 levied 4.0370 mills for basic services: police, fire, and shared services—recreation, Northville Youth Assistance and senior services programs. The board gave a tentative OK at the session to an August request of 4.24 mills for those services.

"We have to have a little bit of growth provided for," Treasurer Rick Engelland said. "The township's taxes have not adjusted for that (growth in population and demand on services) in recent years."

The township last year had a budget of about $4.1 million, $2.1 million of that coming from local property taxes. Some $900,000 came from state revenue sharing, $450,000 from the township's building department's revenues and $600,000 from 35th District Court fees.

The board is also looking at four additional "enrichment" or "enhancement" millage requests for the August ballot. They total 1.63 mills. If voters were to approve all five tentative ballot questions, the township's total levy would come to 5.87 mills a year.

The four requests will be for capital improvements, land acquisition for open space and parks, gravel road treatments and solid waste service. While the basic service millage question will wrap police, fire and shared services into one request, the four remaining requests will be offered to voters separately.

That's intended to give them "a line-item veto," Engelland said at the session. Voters can pick and choose among the four for what they want to approve.

With Tuesday's approval of the district library millage request, the trustees won't have to consider what to do if the had levies failed. They had talked about the idea of increasing the shared services millage request to fund the current library's operating expenses.

Here's a more detailed account: ● The board is considering a .25 mill yearly request for "capital improvements," which can be anything from new police cars to computers for Township Hall.

● A .50 mill request per year is planned for "land acquisition for open space and parks."

At $36,000 an acre—the average price for an acre in the township, members said—the .50 mill would garner about $275,000 a year. That's enough for about eight acres.

● Also being looked at is a request for .08 mill for two gravel road treatments a year.

● The last and most debated request is one for .80 mills a year for solid waste service.

Members of the board seemed split over whether to include the question on the August ballot, even though it would be essentially a money shift and not a tax increase. Britton's feelings on the subject, members said, could spur the board to a final decision.

The township now charges residents a monthly user fee for garbage pickup. It costs the average homeowner about $126 a year. Charging people for solid waste disposal through a millage, Harrigan said, will probably save most residents a little money each year. It will definitely save township administrators a lot of headaches, as they would collect the funds once every six months instead of every month.

If some or all of the millage requests—whatever form they eventually take—do not pass in August, the board could come back to the voters in November.

TOWNSHIP MILEAGE

Proposed Northville Township millage questions for the Aug. 2 ballot:

(A) 4.24 mills for:

- Police (2.99)
- Fire (.85)
- Shared services: (.40 total)
- (1) Recreation (.30)
- (2) Youth Assistance (.05)
- (3) Senior services (.05)

(B) .25 mill for capital improvements

(C) .50 mill for land acquisition for open space and parks

(D) .08 mill for gravel road treatments

(E) .80 mill for solid waste removal service

TOTAL: 5.87 MILLS

The Long And Short Of Making More On Your Money, Whatever Your Economic Outlook.

Rising Rate CD For The Long Term

FirstRate Fund For The Short Term

The economy is recovering. But even the experts can't agree on what interest rates will do.

So First of America has two shrewd ways for you to earn a great rate. No matter what your strategy.

The long view.

If you think rates will drop or stay flat, you should go with a longer-term deposit and get a rate guaranteed to rise every six months over the next two years. The Rising Rate CD.SM

It starts at 3.50% APY. And you'll end up earning 6.00% APY for the final term. * You can withdraw part or all of your money in the first ten days after every six-month interval without penalty. All it takes to get started is a $1000 deposit. Plus, you can get a no service charge personal checking account.

The short view.

If you predict rates will keep going up this year, invest short term with the FirstRate Fund.SM The APY is based on the 91-day

Treasury Bill. So if the T-Bill goes up quickly, you'll continue to benefit from it. A new deposit of $10,000 is required. It's a respectable rate of return plus liquidity in these uncertain times. Plus you can get a no service charge personal checking account.

Of course, your deposits are FDIC insured up to $100,000 per depositor. Call 1-800-443-5465 or visit any of the 150 offices in Southeast Michigan. Because no matter what your point of view, you can't go wrong investing with us.

Read, then Recycle!

Mill Race Matters

Thanks this week to George and Dorothy Hunter, now of Indiana, for their recent donation of a handmade rag rug which now covers a floor in one of the Yerkes' House upstairs bedrooms. The rug was made more than 60 years ago by Mr. Hunter's mother while the family resided on Fairbrook.

Thanks to Bruce and Rita Turnbull for making this gift possible. Thanks, also, to members Bob and Jan Juhasz for their dues renewal as contributing members.

Docents are preparing for the June 5 Sunday Village opening. All buildings will be open for touring that afternoon. A few local writers and photographers will be on hand to sell and autograph their work. Set aside the date now to join in Mill Race's spring reopening.

Reservations should now be in for the May 14 Progressive Dinner. The cost is $20 for members, $25 for non-members. Call 349-5435 for remaining availability.

Also reserve Thursday, May 19, two weeks from tonight, for the Northville Historical Society annual meeting/potluck dinner. Beverage and meat are funded by the organization and participants each bring a dish to pass (to serve about eight).

Other firsts reported in our Northern neighbor Novi by the Michigan Historical Collection Pioneer Series include: J.C. Emery as first physician, first post office in the home of John Gould, first hotel kept by R. Sherman, first sermon occurred in the home of John Gould, first plank road built by Erastus Ingersoll, first and only railroad laid in 1871, Erastus Ingersoll first invention and use of mowing machine. Ingersoll patented the machine in Washington in 1827.

Summit meeting

Meads Mill seventh-grade English students had a chance to enter the adult world of politics and commerce for a day when they recently took part in a unique program developed by teacher Shirley Klokenga. Klokenga gave her students an assignment to write about the past, present and future, then the best writers were allowed to shadow three prominent officials for a day. The talented winners were, from left, Laura Grider (who shadowed Township Supervisor Karen Baja), Precious Shah (shadowing Chamber President Laurie Marrs) and Jeff Nelson (shadowed Mayor Chris Johnson). The students also wrote about their experiences and read their compositions at the recent state of the community breakfast.

How much did you lose last year on nondeductible interest?

7.50% APR.*

FIXED RATE

Maybe you've noticed it while getting your taxes ready. All the interest you've paid on consumer loans that's not deductible.

Well, now's the time to think of a strategy for next year's taxes. And consider borrowing against the equity in your home.

At First of America, we can lock you into a low fixed 7.50 percent APR loan with terms of up to seven years. To make the offer even more attractive, all fees will be waived, so there will be no annual fee, appraisal fees, closing costs or points. And you'll have a fixed monthly payment that will never change. The sooner you take advantage of it, the more you can save on financing home improvements, education, a car or anything else worthwhile. You can even refinance a loan that you have somewhere else.

Be sure to consult your tax advisor to make sure the interest is tax deductible.

We can give qualified applicants fast approval—usually within 24 hours.

So stop by any First of America office or call for an application or more information. And make last year's nondeductible interest a thing of the past.

No sale on space in middle of lot

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

There's a hole in the middle of downtown Northville's newest parking lot south of the rebuilt Cady Street deck.

A grassy plot just east of Center Street on the south side of Cady will remain unpaved due to the city's failure to reach an agreement on an acceptable purchase price with the site's owners, the Northville Driving Club.

The result will be two smaller parking lots on either side of the site.

City Manager Gary Word would not comment on the failed negotiations, other than to say that the city and property owners were not even close on their estimates of the land's value.

The Driving Club could not be reached for comment.

City Engineer Maureen Turner told the planning commission April 12 that the site plan change followed "quite a few rounds of negotiations with the Driving Club over acquisition of the site."

She noted that the parking lots can be joined in the future "if and when that property is ever acquired."

The Driving Club owns much of the land on which Northville Downs sits and lots surrounding the racetrack.

Word presented the council with a revised site plan April 25 showing how the change will result in two lots—a smaller one off Center and Cady and a larger lot to the east with entrances on Cady alone. Total parking on the lots, which had been figured at 145-160 during Mainstreet '93's conceptual phase and about 140 spaces in the previous site plan, will now be under 120 spaces.

Still, Word said, "Northville Downs has been a good corporate citizen."

The lighted parking lots are scheduled to be completed by early June, to allow overflow parking while construction continues on the Cady deck and a new sunken two-level deck south of Main Centre. The entire $4.2 million construction project is scheduled for completion in December.

The city was also unable to reach agreement with Northville Downs to allow overflow parking on its vacant racetrack lots now that the track is closed for the summer.

The latest actions are among several in which the community at large could not reach agreement with the Driving Club or Northville Downs on previously-negotiable items.

The Farmer's market hosted by the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce will be held in the Highland Lakes Shopping Center lot this year after the Driving Club terminated the market's long-standing agreement for space at Seven Mile and Sheldon.

Doug Kurtis' RoadRunner Classic, a 10K run moved to Northville from Redford last year, will have a new start and finish line this year since Kurtis was unable to contract with the Downs as he had last year.

Council seeking a settlement

The BZA went even further than the city had requested over an ordinance requirement to pave the parking lot. While the city sought a three-year extension on the paving requirement, BZA member Chris Gazlay moved to waive the requirement altogether and the motion passed by a 5-3 vote.

Gazlay is the son of Historical Society President Francis Gazlay.

Ball, a planning commission member and former member of the historical society himself, said he tried to work with the city for more than a year to correct what he saw as abuses of the city's own zoning ordinances. He maintains that the violations impact the value of his residential property just north of the village parking lot.

Ball said he filed the circuit court appeal after pursuing more direct negotiations with the city, in order to beat the statute of limitations on taking legal action.

"It was either take action to protect my property value or lose it," he said Tuesday. "I welcome this move on the part of the judge because it gets the city back to the table so we can start talking again."

Ball first took his gripes public at the Oct. 6 BZA hearing when he presented the board with a petition signed by 19 area residents asking that the variance requests be denied.

Ball and other residents complained about dust from the village's dirt and gravel parking lot and about the village's encroachment onto designated lot setbacks.

Ball charged that many of the improvements at the village were made after the city passed a new zoning ordinance in 1975 that establishes setback and paving requirements. City officials argue that the improvements have been in line with the site plan presented in 1972, but city records are unclear whether the village's site plans were ever formally approved.

Those questions have been compounded by the BZA's actions on Oct. 6, Ball said.

"They didn't follow the proper procedures and they also did not require the applicant to demonstrate hardship, and either one of those could be fatal to the variances," he said.

Center will host Farmer's Market

Chamber Executive Director Laurie Marrs said the chamber worked out an agreement with Highland Lakes owner Bill Autry that should be beneficial for all involved.

"Mr. Autry bent over backwards to accommodate the chamber in his lot," she said. "Everybody's elated about it."

Aside from the additional parking and the beneficial effects for Highland Lakes businesses from the added traffic, Marrs said the new location should draw more clientele to the market.

"We think we'll be pulling people from Livonia now as well as Plymouth, and of course, Northville," she said.

Those who stop by can choose items from up to 50 displays, including bedding plants and flowers for Mother's Day. "A lot of people are coming and purchasing plants for spring weddings," Marrs noted.

New this year will be a booth staffed by the famous Zingerman's Delicatessen of Ann Arbor.

The market also boasts unique items like bat houses, popular among homeowners since bats are a natural source of mosquito control.

The Farmer's Market runs every Thursday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. through October 27.

CITY OF NORTHVILLE NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING 1994-1995 PROPOSED CITY BUDGET

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held on Monday, May 16, 1994, at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 215 W. Main Street, for the purpose of receiving testimony and discussing the proposed 1994-1995 City Budget.

PROPOSED 1994 MILLAGE RATES. The following statements are provided, as required by State statute, concerning the 1994 proposed millage levies for the City of Northville.

The 1994 tax rate for the City Operating Millage is proposed to be 12.89 mills, reflecting a decrease of 0.25 mill decrease from the 1993 Operating Tax Rate of 13.14 mills. The City Council has authority under the City Charter to set the Operating millage rate within the maximum allowed rate of 15.41 mills, as adjusted by the Headlee roll-back formula.

The 1994 levy for the Street Reconstruction Program, which involves a bond issue approved by the voters in 1986, and a second bond issue approved by the voters in 1990 is proposed to be 2.99 mills, compared to 3.09 mills in 1993, a decrease of 3.2%.

The 1994 levy for the Randolph Drain Project is proposed to be 0.47 mill, compared to 0.51 mill levied in 1993, a decrease of 7.8%.

The total City millage for both operating and debt is proposed to be 16.35 mills in 1994, compared to 16.74 mills levied in 1993, a decrease of 0.39 mills or 2.4% less than the total levied in 1993.

ANTICIPATED EQUALIZATION FACTORS — The 1994 equalization factors for both Wayne and Oakland County are expected to be 1.00 for all classes of property.

1994-1995 CITY BUDGETS The Budgets for the various Funds of the City of Northville are proposed for the year ended June 30, 1995 as follows:

Lansing debates lower farm tax

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Nearly all agricultural property will be taxed at the 6-mill homestead property tax rate under a controversial bill passed by the Michigan House of Representatives.

Business property and second homes will be taxed 24 mills under Proposal A, the school finance reform plan approved March 15 by voters.

"The bill defines farmland by its use," said the sponsor, Rep. Dan Gustafson, R-Williamston. "That is language tax assessors now use and that is understood at every level of government. That's the language used in this bill."

But city and suburban lawmakers protested that the bill would give an unfair property tax to farmers while giving rural schools a whopping increase in state aid. The critics, however, were on the short end of a 61-39 vote.

Voting yes: Republicans Willis Bullard Jr. of Milford, Gustafson, Tom Middleton, R-Ortonville, Susan Munsell, R-Howell, Kirk Profit, D-Ypsilanti, and Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth.

No HomeTown area lawmakers opposed the bill.

The bill goes next to the Senate, which is expected to pass it despite fiery debate. Gov. John Engler, during the Proposal A campaign, promised to support it in order to win the endorsement of the Farm Bureau.

The longest protest came from Rep. Richard Young, D-Deerborn Heights, Democratic co-chair of the House Appropriations Committee. "Previously, a large number of farm districts were spending approximately $3,200 per child. Under the new state law, the amount will be increased to $5,000 per child.

"They (farmers) will be getting a 40-percent increase in state dollars expended on their children, and now we're going to lower the tax not only on their homesteads but on their economic enterprise, namely their farmland in excess of 100 acres."

"The farmers will receive a 40-percent increase in spending on education for their children while those in urban areas will receive only a 3-percent increase. The farmer will receive additional tax relief; the city dweller will not receive the additional relief," Young said.

The original law, approved by the Legislature on Christmas Eve, gave the 6-mill tax break to owner-occupied farms where the land was contiguous to the homestead. But it charged the 24-mill rate to rented land, non-contiguous land and corporate-owned land.

Gustafson, whose district includes eastern Ingham and western Livingston counties, said his bill will continue to tax commercial storage, processing, distributing, marketing and shipping operations at the 24-mill rate. But it will make these changes:

- Allow corporations with a single business tax (SBT) liability of less than $20,000 to qualify for the lower rate.
- Allow family farm fruit and vegetable stands to be taxed at the lower rate.
- Apply to rented and discontinuous land.
- Cost schools $20 million in revenue.

Willow Run to become a world trade haven?

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Willow Run Airport could return to its World War II industrial glory days, if a local-state-federal dream comes true.

The dream is an international tradeport surrounding the airport and the closed General Motors Assembly Plant in Washtenaw County.

"A 6,700-acre Willow Run International Tradeport could conceivably create 25,000 new local jobs and another 75,000 related jobs across Michigan," Joseph D. Joachim told the House Economic Development Committee Tuesday in Lansing.

Joachim is the former economic development guru of Oakland County who was instrumental in creating the Oakland Tech Park in Auburn Hills. Now he's a part-time consultant for Wayne County and co-chair of a Joint Wayne-Washtenaw Willow Run Airport Area Economic Opportunity Center—the group that hatched the dream.

"The Oakland Tech Park could fit into one corner of Willow Run International Tradeport," Joachim said of the new project. The Legislature would have to pass a law setting up the tradeport's structure and financing.

By way of comparison:

● The GM plant, closed last summer, cost 4,000 jobs and 14,000 "ripple effect" jobs.

● At the peak of World War II, 42,000 workers built bombers there.

● The site is a bit more than 10 square miles. It surrounds Willow Run Airport, a freight facility, and includes the GM plant. It also includes much vacant, developable land. The Conrail train line crosses it—hence its attractiveness for intermodal transportation.

The boundaries are I-94 on the south, Michigan Avenue and the Canton Township border on the north, Belleville Road on the east and Ward Road on the west.

It would be the first of its kind in Michigan. There are tradeports in New Hampshire, Texas and North Carolina.

The sponsor of the legislative bills is Rep. Kirk Profit, D-Ypsilanti, whose district includes Salem Township. "No one looks at this as a Washtenaw-Wayne or even a southeastern Michigan project," Profit said.

"If approved, it will be the largest economic development project for Michigan. I know this sounds self-serving," said the 13th District congressional candidate, "but it's a jobs project."

"You've got companies all over Michigan that fly over Detroit to Chicago and truck (products and materials) back," said Rep. Greg Pitoniak, D-Taylor, committee chair.

Pitoniak hopes to have the bill through the House in May and into the Senate in June. Although Gov. John Engler's Commerce Department wrote the legislation, Engler himself has endorsed only the concept, Pitoniak said.

One bill sets up a governing structure that can acquire land and make infrastructure improvements—such as lengthening a runway to 10,000 feet.

The other bills create the 10-square-mile zone in which all new personal income taxes and single business taxes would be "captured" from the state treasury and used by the tradeport authority.

Each county government is putting up $250,000 for the tradeport.

Joachim and his Washtenaw co-chair, Thomas Fegan, visualize public developments costing $126 million. These would be offset by governmental road and airport grants of $34.5 million. The captured income and single business taxes would provide $91.5 million.

A business consultant identified users of the tradeport as manufacturers and assemblers of low-weight, high-value products in international trade; parts-bank operations; freight airlines and maintenance operations; scientific and research activities.

Preston Murray, owner and a pilot in Murray Aviation, said the project would be "synergistic"—stimulating other businesses.

The Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, which sees a deficit of private airports in the 7-county region, last week endorsed the concept and the bills.

Refer to House Bills 5464 (tradeport), 5465 (income tax amendment) and 5466 (single business tax amendment) when writing to your state representative, State Capitol, Lansing 48913.

Citizen: Take a stand in the fight against drugs

This is another installment in a series of articles dealing with alcohol and drug abuse among Northville teens. The following article was submitted by a Northville parent who was shocked when confronted with a situation involving marijuana.

As I was caught in traffic with some friends while returning from a Detroit Lions football game last fall, I noticed three adults in the car next to ours openly smoking marijuana. This struck me as a bit odd, but it wasn't until I noticed the two children in the back seat of the car that the entire scene fully unfolded before my eyes.

I was stunned! I couldn't believe that these individuals would endanger those children so easily. I felt like someone had smashed me in the head with a 2 by 4.

I felt sick to my stomach, and I noticed my hands were shaking. As the line of cars started to disseminate from the traffic jam, I lost sight of the car. I was angry, and there was nothing I could do; or so I thought.

BATTLING ABUSE

The quest for drug-free schools

One of the children was about 5 or 6, the other child was young enough to be in a child seat. I protested to my friends, "Did you see that?"

They nodded as I continued to quake. During the rest of the ride home, I kept seeing those children, and my anger didn't pass.

Later that night, I mentioned the situation to my wife. It felt good to be able to approach her about the problem, but I felt like I needed to do more.

Later that night, I decided to call the police department in my city and just ask, "What should I or could I have done?"

Calling was a good idea. I spent about 15 minutes talking with a very helpful officer. He listened and then took the time to respond to all of my questions.

The officer indicated I could have taken the license plate number of their vehicle and reported it to the police when I arrived home, or I could have stopped and called the police with the plate number while en route.

Additionally, the officer indicated that oftentimes information of this nature is very helpful when a department has received previous information about a child abuse situation.

After my conversation with the officer, I felt better. By directing my questions to the proper people, I realized that I was not powerless in a situation like this and that I could help make a difference.

Temper of dog's at issue in case

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Is Scooter a vicious dog, as Northville Township police maintain?

Owner David Plante says no, and some of his neighbors agree. Others who live on Cardene Way, however, told police the dog has behaved aggressively in the past, especially with strangers.

Township police ticketed Plante after an officer shot Scooter on April 26. Plante will appear in 35th District Court later this month on charges of "harboring a vicious dog." It's a claim the resident steadfastly denies.

"Scooter absolutely does not have a temperament problem," Plante said. "She is not a vicious dog at all. Any of my neighbors will tell you that I don't have a vicious dog."

The police investigative report on the incident, however, included statements from some residents of the cul-de-sac which allege that Scooter has behaved aggressively towards strangers in the past and has chased at least two people. The dog was also frequently allowed to roam the neighborhood off of her leash, according to police.

Police also note, though, that they have received no reports of the dog biting anyone.

"First impressions reported that Scooter is aggressive with strangers but settles down once people get to know him (sic)," Sergeant Michael Panagiotides' report on the shooting said.

The dog's owner acknowledged that some of his neighbors have expressed problems with Scooter, but Lee Plante, left, father of the family whose dog was shot by a township police officer April 26, and neighbor Antero Afonso help wash blood from the floor of the Plantes' garage after the incident. A police investigation concluded that the officer was justified in taking the action, but family members said he overreacted. The dog is recovering.

said that incidents have been few in number and haven't happened in a long time. Plante also denied officers' assertions that the dog is often allowed to be at large in the area.

"There are times when she's not chained," Plante admitted, "but typically I'm with her at those times."

One Cardene Way resident who asked not to be identified, however, told police that Scooter "is always left unleashed" and has chased people in the past.

Another couple said in a statement that the dog was friendly to them but would bark at strangers and had scared off delivery drivers before this.

Scooter used to bother her over two years ago, another Cardene Way resident said, but doesn't now. She added that the dog is not always chained.

A male resident told police that the dog had chased him once and that she's allowed to run loose in the mornings and evenings. Scooter can be friendly sometimes, the man said, but aggressive on other occasions.

Two other people living on Cardene Way said Scooter's just fine.

"She's the best dog you'd want to know," Mary Lou Donovan said. "Everyone around here loves her."

But "there are a couple that don't," her husband Joe added.

William Donahue, whose grandchildren and Yorkshire terrier Skeeter have played with Scooter, said the dog had never posed a threat to anyone.

"She was as gentle a dog as you'd ever find," he said.

Dog owner calls shooting unjustified said. Police officials completely disagree with that characterization. Their investigation concluded that Cole had legitimate reason to fear being hurt and that his reaction was reasonable. "It was evident that he was clearly threatened and afraid of serious injury that he felt he would receive from the dog if he didn't take action," Sergeant Michael Panagiotides' report said.

Some of Plante's neighbors say the dog had behaved very aggressively with strangers before, officials add, and needed to be leashed, which they said didn't always happen. Police issued Plante a ticket for "harboring a vicious dog" after the incident, a charge he denies and plans to fight later this month in 35th District Court.

"We are satisfied that he conducted himself according to the policy (on the use of force) and that he was protecting himself," Township Director of Public Safety Chip Snider said this week.

Cole declined to comment on the situation.

The evening's events began at about 6:40 p.m. A Scenic Harbour man complained to police that Plante had assaulted and threatened him, charges he denies. The man's allegations led to Cole's visiting the home, located on a cul-de-sac near Northridge Drive.

He drove near the home's driveway, Cole said in his report, got out and began walking up it. Five people were in the driveway. Plante said: himself; Antero Alfonso, a Westland man visiting the home; Plante's mother-in-law and father-in-law; and his two-year-old son David.

As he walked up the driveway, Cole said, Plante unleashed Scooter, secured to a spot near the garage. That and Plante's failure to control Scooter caused what happened next, police officials say.

He did unleash the dog, Plante acknowledged, because he was trying to get her to stop barking at Cole. "Scooter will bark more when she's on the leash than off of it," Plante said. "Anyone in the dog world will tell you that there are some dogs that just are like that."

The dog accidentally slipped out of his hands after that, Plante said. She then ran at him, Cole said, "barking and showing its teeth." He described the dog's behavior as very "aggressive."

Plante disagreed.

"The dog wasn't walking towards him," Plante said, "but she wasn't running, either. I think she was excited to see people—her tail was wagging. No teeth."

He felt sufficiently threatened to take out his police baton, Cole continued, swinging once and missing. Scooter then "broke off the attack," he continued, and went behind a nearby parked vehicle.

She soon ran at him again, however, Cole said—again in a very aggressive manner. At no time did Plante attempt to call off the dog, he added—something Plante also denies.

"I did call for her," he said. "I told him (Cole) to put the stick away and that she wouldn't bother him."

As the dog came at him a second time, Cole said, he pivoted his body until it was safe to draw his weapon and fire.

When he saw the gun, Plante said, "I said 'Don't shoot!' but it was too late. The bullet was on its way."

Just three seconds elapsed between the time Cole took out his baton and drew and fired his weapon, Plante said. He also alleged that Scooter was 12 feet away from Cole and was moving away from the officer when he fired.

Cole said he shot at a downward angle into the body of the dog. The round was aimed into the grass next to the driveway and in the direction of a nearby wooded area, he added.

"That is not true," Plante said. "That is 100 percent not true. He shot her on the cement."

He feared that there could have been a ricochet, Plante said. While no person was in Cole's line of fire when he pulled the trigger, Plante added, the barrel of the gun "passed in front of everyone on the driveway."

The single shot struck Scooter in her chest but did not hit any bones or major organs. A veterinarian sutured the dog's wounds and she's now back home. Plante said Scooter "is doing exceptionally well, considering."

Joe Donovan witnessed the shooting from the window of his home and was also critical of Cole's actions.

"He never stopped walking toward the dog, and he was waving his stick at it the whole time," Donovan said. "A proper officer would have stopped."

"There's no reason for an officer to pull a gun in a neighborhood," Alfonso said.

Mary Lou Donovan, who did not see the shooting, expressed serious concerns about the entire incident.

"This guy's a smoking gun," Mary Lou Donovan said. "There was a two-year-old there. What was he thinking?"

"What if this was a person he was confronted by?" she continued. "What's he going to do? Pull out a gun and shoot him?"

Plante said he has not yet decided whether to pursue legal action against the township over the incident.

"Our family is devastated by this," he said. "Right now my feelings are to get out of this mess and call it a day."

The next step for board members is to settle on an architect for their new facility. The board has proposed a 25,000-square-foot, two-story structure on Cady Street behind city hall to replace the existing 6,200-square-foot facility, but no formal plans have been drawn up.

The board meets tonight at 7:30 p.m. at city hall to begin hammering out the process for hiring a project architect.

Department needs to review response policy

Try to think like a dog for a moment. Besides giving love and affection to your owners, your job is to provide protection. This rule applies regardless of how large or small you are, because it is what you and your ancestors have been bred to do since the earliest days of existence.

As many animal psychologists will attest, you think of the family you live with as your pack and the house and yard where they live as your territory. When a stranger approaches, your instincts tell you to bark out a warning and assume an aggressive posture. But most such incidents will end there. As the saying goes, most dogs are more bark than bite.

Of course, you can't understand the symbolism of a badge and a uniform, so you don't see police officials as authorized representatives of law enforcement agencies. That is far beyond your comprehension.

The pet of a Northville Township family which encountered a stranger who was a township police officer got shot for apparently following those instincts. That's pretty harsh treatment for a creature who was just doing her job.

No matter which version of the incident you buy—that of the police, the owner or some combination of both—the almost unavoidable conclusion is that the officer overreacted.

Let's grant for a moment that everything the police say is true: The dog has a reputation for a bad temper; it charged the officer, barking and showing its teeth with every apparent intention of attacking him.

Even if all that did in fact happen—and several witnesses say not all of it did—resorting to the gun appears unjustified.

Point: the officer's bodyweight is probably three or four times that of the 50-pound dog. Point: he was carrying—and tried to use—a police baton designed to deal with full-size humans. Point: the dog's owner was standing a few dozen feet away, at most, when the incident occurred.

Given all that, we find it hard to accept the argument that the officer couldn't have fended off the dog and escaped serious injury long enough for the owner to bring the animal under control.

This isn't just about the safety of an animal, either. The officer drew his gun and fired a .45 caliber projectile with at least five people in the immediate area, one of them a 2-year-old.

The police concluded that there were no people in front of the muzzle of the gun when the officer pulled the trigger. They said he shot down into the dog, into the grass next to the cement driveway where the incident happened and towards a wooded area between two houses.

Even if you believe that—and there are witnesses who don't—ask yourself if the threat warranted the risk the officer took. There could have been a ricochet. The gun could have fired before the officer intended it to or the bullet could have hit a target he didn't intend to strike.

But even if you're willing to give the officer the benefit of the doubt in this instance, we believe township officials should take proactive steps to review procedures concerning animal complaints. Patrol officers are likely to encounter aggressive dogs frequently as they go about their business, and authorities should be prepared to handle dogs in a manner that stops short of the use of firearms.

Why not, for instance, invest in canisters of chemical repellent like the ones postal workers carry and issue them to officers to clip on their belts? They would then have an effective deterrent against vicious dogs without having to resort to gunplay.

Or maybe the department would prefer to bring in animal control officials to respond to reports of barking dogs. Another option is to emphasize the use of batons on charging animals, while yet another alternative is to purchase nets that could be used to trap dangerous pets.

Whatever the method, the Northville Township Police Department needs to find a way to avoid handing out a potential death sentence to every pooch that makes the mistake of growling at the wrong person.

Many dog owners are blind to the aggressive side of their beloved pets and carelessly permit them to run loose. They should understand that animals are excitable around joggers and children and don't always need provocation to charge after people who mean them no harm.

But police should understand, too, that pets are considered members of families. Potentially deadly force should only be used in extreme cases and only after all other contingencies have failed.

Voters pull upset out of hat

Lee Snider

Northville Record readers must think I've got a whole grab bag full of subjects I can dip into every week to fill this space. They apparently believe I have a mental file cabinet of topics I can draw from whenever the situation demands it. They must think that way or else they wouldn't have done what they did to me on Tuesday.

Here I was ready to bemoan the voting public's current habit of running away from any and every millage request like a herd of deadbeat dads fleeing a court summons. I was prepared to evoke memories of those dinosaur days when you could watch daytime TV without seeing a real-life family argument. I was planning to fondly reminisce about that bygone era when the president was busy governing rather than dodging questions about his seamy past.

Oh, and I think I remember people approving millages in that long-ago age of innocence. Imagine that.

But then it happened. One mill for library operations: Approved. Authorization to sell bonds for a new library building: Approved.

Huh? Did someone put the wrong decade on the ballot cards. This is 1994, not 1974.

In truth, I fully expected the bond issue to flop at the polls this week. I wasn't so sure about the operating millage but I wouldn't have risked my hair cut money on that either. Here's why.

When I first came to work in Northville some of the people I talked to told me they were stunned when a school millage request was rejected in 1992. School millages had never lost in this district before, they said. It was a first, a shocking turn of events.

I too was shocked by that news—shocked that the trend to turn thumbs down on local tax increases had apparently surfaced here so late.

In 1992 I was working as a journalist on Grosse Ile, a literate, educated community much like Northville. It's an island in the Detroit River with large tracts of thick forests and elegant neighborhoods. It doesn't have sidewalks, fences, a public park or a library.

A few years ago they built a new public safety building on the island and moved the police and fire departments into the facility from the township hall. That left a large vacant space in the old building, and prompted lovers of learning to go to the voters with a request for .25 mill to start a small library in the empty offices.

One-quarter mill mind you. Most people in that place spend more than that on a month of pet grooming.

I figured approval was a lock. A library on the island meant people wouldn't have to cross the bridge to use the facilities in Trenton or Wyandotte. Surely the residents would go for that. The library would pay for itself just in money saved from toll costs.

Guess again. The proposal lost by a substantial margin. The same community subsequently turned down millages to repair schools that had water-stained ceilings and chuckhole ridden parking lots.

I was convinced it was the end of the automatic millage era as we knew it, and little that had happened since then changed my thinking. Just look at what Southfield voters did last month in turning back a request for basic operating mills. One can only wonder what those people are going to do when there's no money to keep the lights on or funds to pay the heating bill in the schools.

But Northville community residents surprised me by bucking the trend. Maybe they're smarter here, or perhaps it was just that the balloting followed a big property tax cut and voters were feeling generous.

However you explain it, I think congratulations are in order. Residents of the city and township saw an opportunity to improve their community in an appreciable way and they grabbed it.

I only wish they hadn't fouled up my plans for a column subject. They just don't come that easily. Maybe if I read more

Get us our new judge

The Michigan Legislature dropped the ball this month in failing to act on a request to create a third judgeship for 35th District Court. A proposal to add judges to several district courts in the state died in the Senate Judiciary Committee April 13.

Now that the deadline for filing candidates' petitions has passed, the lack of action means that the addition of a permanent judge to the court will have to wait at least two years, until the next statewide election in 1996.

With the second highest caseload in Wayne County and only two full-time judges to handle it, the court is severely understaffed. Thankfully, visiting Judge Charles Kaufman has been helping to absorb the overflow from judges John MacDonald and James Garber. Kaufman works two or three days a week, hearing civil cases at the court building on Plymouth Road. He uses the courtroom in the facility's new wing and operates the recording machines himself, eliminating the need for a court reporter.

Lawmakers' refusal to create the much-needed judgeship goes against the wishes of the court's five local control units—Northville, Northville Township, Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township—all of which have given formal approval for the new judge. Now one can only hope that Judge Kaufman will decide to postpone full-time retirement long enough to enable foot-dragging officials to produce the legislation and allocate the funds needed to establish the additional position. Having the same visiting judge provides a conti-nuit and stability that using a host of rotating jurists can't.

John Truscott, spokesperson for Gov. John Engler, said the state Court Administrator's office was responsible for the failure to act on the request for a third judge. "They didn't deal with it as completely as the Legislature and we (in the governor's office) were hoping," he said.

According to Truscott, some district courts in Michigan are overburdened while others have only light caseloads. Rather than simply adding judges to the busy courts, the governor wants to redistribute work by redrawing district boundaries. Engler threatened to veto any bill to create new judgeships, prompting Judiciary Committee members to balk at the proposal.

The task of redesigning Michigan's judicial districts to provide a more balanced distribution of the caseload is a large one and will take a considerable amount of time. Meanwhile, the likelihood that crime rates will bottom out is remote.

We call on state officials to act with dispatch in doing whatever is necessary to bring district court staffs up to adequate levels. If a comprehensive remapping of the local courts is what is needed, let's get on with it and make sure another election doesn't pass before the change is made.

Escalating incidents of crime suggest that offenders are not about to go on sabbatical while lawmakers search for the wherewithal with which to secure convictions.

Thanks to Lions Club for helping

To the editor:

As the Student Assistance Program Coordinator at Northville High School, Meads Mill and Cooke Middle School, I want to give a special thanks to the wonderful group known as the Lions Club of Plymouth/Northville for their incredible generosity.

A few weeks ago I was the glad recipient of a much needed check for $900 to buy a VCR and television system for the group room at the high school. This donation means so much to the work I do in terms of presentations to classes, my groups and community organizations.

Thank you Lions Club of Plymouth/Northville.

Cooke must offer fairness

To the editor:

We are the parents of a Cooke Middle School student and would like to express our concern over recent decisions by this district's educational leaders about the learning opportunities offered to children at Cooke School.

It seems that this district's leaders have decided it is acceptable to offer enriching learning experiences to a selected group of students to the exclusion of the majority. This, of course, is in an era of "fiscal restraint" when all of the district's children have been asked to give up or do without the "usual" levels of enriching experiences common in Northville.

Specifically, our children no longer have the opportunity to leave the school campus to participate in field trips or intensive study. However, a day long science field trip is being provided exclusively for "gifted and talented" students in the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades at Cooke despite the fact that Northville's middle schools have no gifted and talented programs.

The teachers involved pulled student records and screened students for previous ALPS participation to select the students who would be able to participate in this activity.

As the parents of an honor roll student at Cooke who has no history with the gifted and talented program we protest this limited opportunity for a few that is not provided for all. If this science field trip is deemed a valuable learning opportunity for our students, then it should be made available to all of our children. Alternatively, a lottery could have been held to give each child an equal opportunity to be selected for a limited number of seats.

We have been informed by the school principal that funds for this experience came out of grant funds for Gifted and Talented education. We question whether these funds are limited by the State of Michigan to exclusive use for gifted students or if they can be used for a broader group of learners.

We believe that district funds have also been committed to gifted and talented programming and at some level these funds have come out of the "common pot." The district must make an equal commitment to enriching the opportunities for all children.

The message to local districts from out state level educators is equity in education. We expect our local leaders to be responsive to the needs of the greater student population in Northville, not just the needs of a limited few.

It is wrong to make educational decisions in the middle school based on elitism or special interest pressure which is to the detriment of the majority.

Parents, guard the rights of your children, the educators in this district will not do this for you. The quality of the learning opportunities for the vast majority of Northville's children are declining due to fiscal cut backs but yet we seem to find enough money to continue funding specialty programs for the few.

This is wrong. We need to speak in defense of the common good for all Northville children. Make your feelings known to the school board so future decisions will be made equitably and fairly for all. If Northville Schools is in the business of providing enrichment, then all Northville students should be the beneficiaries of this commitment.

Event coverage was great

To the editor:

On behalf of the students and staff of Silver Springs Elementary School I would like to extend my sincere appreciation for the newspaper coverage provided for our reading month closing assembly. The photograph by Bryan Mitchell and the corresponding caption were enjoyed by all of us here at Silver Springs. To be included on page one of our community newspaper was an added bonus for the students.

We have prepared a bulletin board featuring the "seven dunkings of Mr. Pawlowski" for the students and school community to view. The final item added to the display was the photograph and caption from The Northville Record. Thank you again for your support of our school and reading.

Auction help is appreciated

To the editor:

I am writing about the Friends of Northville Parks and Recreation "A Taste of Northville" dinner auction that was held at Schoolcraft College Saturday night.

The food was all prepared and donated by local food establishments. Great Harvest Bread Company donated 50 loaves of their wonderful bread, Edwards, Papa Romano's and Northville Gourmet provided the appetizers, Rocky's donated the tomato basil soup, the root vegetables and braised red cabbage was from Ruffles, wild rice crepes and herbed mashed potatoes from Crawford's, Michigan Woodman Amish breast of chicken was superbly prepared by Heavenly Bakery, strawberry trifle was prepared by Crawford's Bakery Connection.

Table wine was donated by Northville Winery and after dinner mints were compliments of Grandma Betty's.

Thank you to all of the food people. A special thanks to Heavenly Bakery's Rich Willer and his staff that stayed to make sure everything came out of the kitchen just right.

I would also like to thank the Northville High School Honor Society for serving the dinner, the Junior Friends group from Meads Mill for waiting tables and staying till the bitter end of the cleanup.

Parks and Recreation staff members, Karl, Nicki and Karen, NYA director Mary Ellen King and Gerri Moak for all of their hard work handling the money and auction sales.

Thank you to all who gathered merchandise and worked on committees.

Marv Gans, Bob and Dolores Prom all deserve a round of applause.

Early estimates project a profit over $20,000 to be used as matching funds for the Fish Hatchery Grant.

Tax reformers were courageous

To the editor:

During two decades of crusading for school finance reform in Michigan I have observed how reluctant most politicians become when faced with a crisis. Despite overwhelming evidence about senior citizens losing their homes due to skyrocketing property taxes and the possibility of many school closings, the vast majority of politicians had to be dragged kicking and screaming into the tax reform agenda.

They ran for the hills when confronted with a need for change and snorted a plethora of excuses about their desires to cling to an antiquated tax system. Bob Geake deserves recognition for his many years of hard work for school finance reform but when I introduced the Vandermolen Plan early in June of 1993 only one state senator had the courage to step forward and introduce the bill advocating huge property tax cuts emerging directly from my plan.

State Senator Debbie Stabenow was the only politician willing to take this courageous step. She should not be roasted in the lions den by labor unions and the Michigan Education Association for daring to stand alone on this issue. Instead we should admire her for her willingness to work on tax reform.

Too many people are afraid to champion such a cause but they are eager to castigate those of us who carry the ball into the end zone.

On the other hand, a Vandermolen Profiles in Courage Award should be sent to our governor for his contribution to the tax reform movement. He deserves a place in the Michigan Hall of Fame for his hard work, tenacity, and aggressiveness while campaigning for many of my proposals during the successful campaign for Proposal A.

I would like to think that I deserve some credit for providing the spark to motivate the above politicians to take action on school finance reform.

Larry D. Vandermolen, Ph.D.

Library week got good support

To the editor:

The Friends of the Northville Public Library would like to thank the Northville community for its support during National Library Week, April 17 through April 23. Sixty-two Northville residents provided the Friends with testimonials regarding the value of public libraries. Many downtown merchants displayed or offered to display a testimonial in their window for the week.

At our concert on Saturday, April 23, Sandie's Hallmark and Salutations donated the helium for our balloons and M-Care supplied the refreshments. The families that attended the concert enjoyed the drinks and the decorations, along with the stories, songs and good weather. It was a wonderful afternoon. The Friends thank all those who helped us celebrate and we look forward to doing it again next year.

What fate in store for Nixon?

To the editor:

Since his death recently, I've been wondering what St. Peter will decide when M. Machiavelli's devout protege, R.M.N., presents himself at the pearly gates. He will have quite a dossier to examine before he makes up his mind whether to give a thumbs-up or a thumbs-down sign.

Given R.M.N.'s adherence to his credo "the important thing is to win," one can understand his need for the red-baiting of Jerry Voorhis in 1948, and, similarly, of Helen Gahagan Douglas in 1950, as he battled with them for federal office.

An investigation of his secret slush fund—aborted by his now famous "Checkers speech"—during his campaign in 1952, gained him the appellation of Tricky Dick. His secret bombing of a neutral nation, Cambodia, further tarnished his murky political life. To crown his life as president was the now notorious Watergate scandal that led to R.M.N.'s resignation in painful disgrace.

Question: How will St. Peter decide? More importantly, how will posterity view his tenure as president of the United States of America?

Unionists need lessons in behavior

Tim Richard

Once upon a time, the Michigan Education Association was reputed to have the best lobbying organization in the state, and you could see why: thousands of educated, articulate members who could reason with 148 legislators.

No more. MEA not only took a drubbing when the Legislature voted to curb its bargaining powers, but MEA members behaved worse than the Ku Klux Klansmen who rallied on the Capitol steps a few days later. Here are stories from people who voted for the bill.

"I've received more threats in a year and a half on this job than in 10 years as a cop, where I arrested people and issued tickets," said Rep. Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth.

Callers scared one Vorva aide, the mother of a small child, by asking: "Do you have kids in the district? Where do they go?" Said a letter writer: "I am beginning to understand how the Jews felt in Nazi Germany."

Rep. Susan Munsell, R-Howell, told of the Howell Education Association's threat to boycott graduation ceremonies. "It's the 25th anniversary of my graduation from the high school where I was valedictorian," she said. Munsell offered to stay away if it would avoid a disruption.

Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, has been the biggest Republican legislative recipient of MEA money, but no more, according to his MEA callers. That part didn't bother the placid Geake; it's the price of politics.

The MEA's strength is its reported ability to sic 10 lobbyists on a single lawmaker. During Senate debate, Geake had notes from at least 23 teachers asking him to come out to talk to them. The requests made a bad impression on this reader because the Senate was on third reading (final debate prior to voting) at the time.

"Bob Thomas, a local MEA leader who lives in Plymouth, told me the MEA would not invite me to any more screening committees to hear my stands on any issues," Geake added.

Munsell told a similar story. She offered to send one caller a copy of the bill. "She told me to put that bill where the sun doesn't shine," Munsell said.

Sen. Mike Bouchard, R-Birmingham, has a marked van that an aide used to distribute materials requested by schools in his district. A teacher told the aide threateningly, "Maybe I just ought to follow you to the parking lot."

At a second school, the aide returned to the van to find someone had deflated a tire.

"Legislators are scum," someone told him at a funeral home—in the presence of the grieving family.

Gov. John Engler, who signed the bill, has been MEA's chief target. Campaign manager Dan Pero collected photos of Jackson school employees waving "Hitler reincarnated" signs with backward swastikas, "Engler is Stalin" and "Heil Engler" signs.

At one rally, someone tossed an egg. Pero said, and in Plymouth a teacher was accused of smashing the window of a pickup truck driven by an employee of a factory the governor was visiting.

Pero accused the MEA of lying when it issued a news release saying Engler had "skipped a scheduled appearance" in Three Rivers because he was upset at school demonstrators. "Outright lies," said Pero. Engler kept a rally date at a coffee shop.

I report these facts sadly. Public education is under vicious attack from ideologues. MEA can't defend public education when it shoots itself in both feet and both legs.

VFW honors local police officers and firefighters

By LEE SNIDER
Editor

Five local police officers and firefighters were singled out for honors at the annual VFW awards banquet April 24.

Each year, Northville VFW Post 4012 and its Ladies' Auxiliary honors top public safety personnel from the following departments: Northville city police and fire, Northville Township police and fire and the Northville State Police Post.

Named law officers of the year were Northville Township Detective John Werth, city Officer Kenneth Evans and state police Trooper Norman Harrington.

Firefighters of the year were Brad Westfall, Northville city, and Collin Lince, Northville Township.

Werth has been with the township police force since 1985. He graduated from Syracuse University with a degree in police science and has served in the township detective bureau for one year.

Public Safety Director Chip Snider praised Werth's organizational and leadership abilities, congratulating him for successfully leading the police union to a new contract settlement with the township. Werth is the president of the local chapter of the Police Officers Association of Michigan.

Evans graduated from Lake Superior State University and has been with the city police department for seven years. He has been honored twice by MADD for his efforts to help combat drunk driving.

Police Chief Rodney Cannon said Evans has excellent community policing skills of the kind that are needed when dealing with one-on-one situations.

The chief also read portions of a letter from the father of a 9-year-old cancer victim thanking Evans for the time he spent with the young girl shortly before she died.

Trooper Harrington was introduced by his father-in-law, longtime Detroit City Councilman Mel Ravitz. Ravitz described Harrington as a "very able and dedicated police officer."

Harrington said state police officers become composites of all the troopers with whom they've worked over the years, adding that his development as a law enforcement official was due mainly to the influence of his co-workers.

Westfall is a sergeant with the city's volunteer fire unit and has been with the department since 1976. Fire Chief Jim Allen said Westfall is following a long family tradition: his father, Lou, was with the department for over 30 years and his brother, Tom, and two nephews also serve.

Lince is a veteran of several local fire departments, having served with units in Salem Township, Novi, Green Oaks Township and Grosse Pointe Farms.

He is also a paramedic and has earned certification in advanced firefighting courses.

Co-worker Bill Zmenda called Lince a "true team player."

All honorees were presented with plaques from the VFW. Northville Mayor Chris Johnson, Township Supervisor Karen Baja, state Senator Robert Geake and Northville Record editor Lee Snider were among those in attendance.

Also present were VFW Past State

Carriage rides returning to Northville?

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

Visitors to downtown Northville may soon be able to tour the historic neighborhoods the old-fashioned way.

After a hundred-year absence, regular carriage rides could return to the streets of Northville if resident Elizabeth Kratt is successful in her efforts.

Kratt told the city council Monday that her registered Grand Champion

English Shire, which is attending carriage-pulling classes out of state, will pull a replica of an antique carriage manned by a driver and assistant in traditional Victorian dress.

"He'll be a sight to see," she promised.

"We'll listen for the clippety-clop as you go down the street," said Council Member Paul Folino.

The business will provide narrated historical tours of Northville, carriages for weddings and special events and private outings for special occasions.

Prices were not discussed.

The six-person carriage rides will operate Friday and Saturday between 4-11 p.m. and Sunday between 1-5 p.m. The half-hour and one-hour routes wind through the historic district, Bealton, Cabbagetown and Orchard Heights.

In an attempt to minimize the impact on residents, Kratt wrote in her proposal to the council, "The carriage will ... have attached a manure catch to prevent any soiling of the roadways."

Council members were impressed with the Kratts' idea, but worried about its potential impact on events like the Victorian Festival where carriage rides are offered for free as part of the event.

Council Member Charles Keys also worried about a stretch of the route that would head north on Rogers Street off Main Street.

They granted approval subject to concurrence from Police Chief Rod Cannon.

A COMFORTABLE ATMOSPHERE

Imagine giving birth in a comfortable, home-like atmosphere where you make many of the decisions about your birth experience. And then, think about being able to go home within 24 hours after your baby is born. Well, the New Life Center at Providence Park in Novi offers all that, and it's just minutes from home.

A UNIQUE APPROACH

It's a new beginning. A new way of thinking. And an alternative to traditional hospital births*. The New Life Center at Providence Park was born from the success of the New Life Center at Providence Hospital, where for generations, thousands of women have had wonderful, nurturing, family-centered birth experiences.

THE CHOICES ARE MANY

From the moment you choose to have your baby with us, many decisions are yours. You may choose to go natural or to have an epidural. You may also prefer to share the event with your loved ones. But the best part is giving birth in a relaxed, home-like atmosphere and having your baby by your side. What's more, a nurse will come to your home for private, follow-up visits. Because that's the kind of extra care, attention and education people expect from Providence.

COME SEE FOR YOURSELF But don't take our word for it. Call 1-800-806-BABY for an appointment to see what the New Life Center at Providence Park has to offer expectant families.

Ethiopian Jews visit high school

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The students in Northville High School's Room 149 rearranged their desks last Friday, breaking them out of their traditional rows into a circle. They rearranged their thinking too, to encompass the concept of an unusual minority fleeing their place of birth for a life free from religious persecution.

The students in Barbara LeBoeuf's Government class met two black teenagers from Ethiopia who fled to Israel a decade ago to more freely express their Jewish religious beliefs. The students had been among tens of thousands of Ethiopian Jews, a small minority in the mostly Orthodox and Islamic country of 50 million, looking for a life free from famine, religious hatred and political strife.

The students were among six Ethiopian Jews brought to Detroit this month by the Detroit chapter of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, to help broaden black understanding of Judaism in the United States.

Rachel Dago, 17 and 18-year-old Efram Asefa told the spellbound circle of Northville students Tuesday how they were among 200 people who made a weeks-long trek across the Ethiopian desert to Sudan in 1984, where they were airlifted to Israel. Along the way, they faced dangers ranging from highway robbers to contaminated water.

"Every day you just see 10 or more people die," Asefa said.

Dago added that there were pregnant women and children along with the rest of the refugees making the trip. "One baby died on the way," she said quietly.

The trek was part of "Operation Moses," a program that resulted in the relocation of 7,000 Ethiopian Jews to Israel before it was shut down by the Sudanese government. The refugees had to be funneled through the Sudan because the Ethiopian government forbade direct emigration to Israel.

When they arrived in Israel, the teen-agers were surprised to learn not all Jews were black. "To see white Jewish people was very surprising," Dago said.

"They thought they were the only Jews in the world," explained chaperone Samuel Simpson. "It's been a revelation for them as well."

Simpson explained to the Northville students how Israel has a policy of providing citizenship to Jews anywhere in the world.

Simpson, whose wife is active in the Anti-Defamation League's Detroit chapter that is sponsoring the students' visit, noted how ironic the current U.S. tensions between blacks and Jews are given the strong role American Jews played in the civil rights movement and in the formation of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"It's an effort... to build tolerance at a time when there is an awful lot of intolerance, not only in the United States, but in the world," he said.

When they arrived in Northville last week, Asefa and Dago were surprised to meet a fellow Ethiopian who had made a similar journey five years ago. Amanual Liben, 18, left Ethiopia for the United States in 1989 and stopped in Philadelphia briefly before moving in with his foster parents in Plymouth.

"Getting used to the culture here is extremely tough," he said, but he added that meeting fellow Ethiopians has been exciting.

LeBoeuf, wearing a colorful necklace of carved wooden animals from a trip to Kenya, described the students' visit as a success. They had taken turns on the personal computers in Wayne Saunders' computer class, accepted gifts of artwork from Brian Balcoff's art students and met with other foreign students to discuss the experience in Jane Lauber's psychology class.

Along the way, they collected addresses from a whole new set of pen pals. When out of the class setting in a smaller group, LeBoeuf added, the visitors opened up to their new American friends, including Liben and fellow Northville students Lindsay Schulenberg and Andy Song.

"They laughed about the same things, and teased each other about boyfriends and girlfriends... They had a lot of fun."

The two also stopped at Meijer to purchase a camera and insisted on having their picture taken in the parking lot.

"They just liked the cars," LeBoeuf said. "The one thing that surprised them the most about the United States was that everybody had a beautiful car. Even the students had beautiful cars."

Restrictions on unions mean a battle's ahead

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

On April 20, the state Legislature passed a bill placing restrictions on the bargaining power of teachers' union. Here are some questions on the new teacher labor relations law that may have crossed your mind:

Q. Are we correct that Republican support for this bill was soft?

A. Very. Republicans had a 22-16 Senate majority. One GOP seat was vacated when the lawmaker went to Congress.

Two Republicans—Fred Dillingham of Fowlerville and Jon Cisky of Saginaw—voted against the bill. Dillingham considers himself a philosophical Republican but for two years has railed, publicly, against the GOP stand on labor issues—MEA, unemployment comp, auto insurance. Dillingham will have a difficult primary this year.

No less a GOP personage than majority floor leader Phil Arthurhult put up an amendment that would have eliminated many curbs on MEA power. He voted for the final tough bill but must have been holding his nose.

In the Senate, Republicans had to truck in the ailing David Honigman from his West Bloomfield sick bed to get their 19th vote. In the House, they had to delay the final vote until 11:55 p.m. to bring in one member from the airport.

Q. The metro media called it the "teachers strike" bill. Your paper emphasized that it curbs the Michigan Education Association's bargaining power. Why?

A. Teacher strikes are highly emotional but affect only two to 15 districts a year—of 562 public school districts. So strikes aren't that significant overall.

Most reporters failed to read the fine print that is so important to parents, taxpayers and school people. Gov. John Engler clearly has his eye on curbing MEA power to bargain control of school change.

The new law says flatly, "A public school employer has the responsibility, authority, and right to manage and direct" schools. MEA lobbyist Al Short noted that school boards have bargained away those rights. Well, the boards can't do that any more.

You can't make a contract, however willingly, contrary to public policy. Rich folks learned that lesson when Franklin D. Roosevelt took the U.S. off the gold standard and refused to repay bonds in gold.

Q. Engler talked a lot about "school quality" last year. What effect does this law have?

A. It prohibits MEA from even bargaining school quality issues covered by law. Examples:

● School hours—The Christmas Eve laws say school will be extended from 180 days to more than 200 in steps. MEA can't bargain that.

● School improvement committees—"Site-based decision-making" is the rage, and it's a big issue in right-wing circles. MEA can't bargain composition of those committees.

● Public school academies—School boards can organize any number. MEA can't bargain how many. (On the other hand, the law Engler got says church-related groups can't get charters, and certified teachers must be used.) School boards come out ahead.

● Use of volunteers in schools—MEA can't bargain it.

● Experimental and pilot program staffing on technology and delivery of teaching services—MEA can't bargain it.

Q. We've heard talk of cost-cutting...

A. Correction: "Cost containment" is the official jargon.

The big one is that MEA can't bargain "the policyholder of an employee group insurance benefit." MEA can still bargain the level of benefits, but not the administrator.

MEA owns a subsidiary called MESSA, which has hundreds of jobs and which pays the union a fee for bargaining on its behalf. The new law allows school boards to put health insurance up for bids. MESSA is now on the same playing field as commercial insurance administrators.

Critics of MEA say this will save school districts $1 billion a year. With a total budget of $10 billion, that's an immense savings, if true.

Q. MEA types say Engler has awakened "a sleeping giant" which will retaliate against him.

A. The "giant" is Big Labor—the AFL-CIO. It hardly lifted a finger on MEA's behalf. Frank Garrison, the big chief, issued one press release supporting MEA's position, didn't send in a lobbyist and made no visible effort to call out his troops. He let MEA fight this one alone.

This sleeping giant argument could go either way. We won't know until after the law takes effect in 1995.

Rank-and-file blue-collar workers are known to resent the $60,000 salaries some suburban teachers get and statewide average of $43,600 for nine months work. Blue-collar workers don't have a MESSA administering their health benefits generously. Blue-collar workers lose a day's pay for a day's strike, a penalty teachers won't face until 1995.

On the other hand, Engler could face a backlash from blue-collar workers who see a loss to one as a loss for all. Example: Suppose mediation fails. The new law says a school board "may implement unilaterally its last offer."

Q. What about the teachers' behavior in all of this?

A. They flipped the governor the Nazi salute (which this reporter did not witness) and booted from the Senate galleries, a serious breach of decorum. You be the judge. Would your teachers have tolerated such behavior from kids?

Q. Democrats say this new law will leave teachers in a worse position than blue-collar workers.

A. Could be. Let's say teachers strike five days. They will lose five days pay. But the law still calls for 180 class days. They'll get only 175 days pay.

Look for a court challenge over the "involuntary servitude" words in the Constitution.

CITY OF NORTHVILLE NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING TAXES

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held by the Northville City Council on Monday, May 16, 1994, at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 215 W. Main Street, for the purpose of hearing testimony on the following:

Proposal to levy sixteen hundredths of a mill (0.16) in additional operating millage for 1994 to fund general City operations.

A City operating millage of Twelve and Seventy Three Hundredths Mills (12.73 Mills) would result in no additional operating taxes being raised in 1994 from operating taxes which existed in 1993. The proposed additional 0.16 mill would result in an increase of One and Three Tenths Percent (1.3%) in 1994 City operating taxes from the operating taxes which existed in 1993.

The City Council has the authority under State Statute and the City Charter to levy a maximum millage rate for operating purposes of Fifteen and Forty One Hundredths Mills (15.41 Mills). The total operating millage levy proposed for 1994 would be Twelve and Eighty Nine Hundredths Mills (12.89) Mills.

TOTALLY -ALMOST

It only happens every 150 years, but a local optometrist is warning curious sky watchers not to look at the annular solar eclipse that will occur Sunday.

Timothy Kirk, an optometrist at Town and Country Eyecare in the Oakpointe Plaza in Novi, said vision loss and even blindness could result from viewing the various stages of the eclipse.

He compared the effects of viewing an eclipse to that of taking a magnifying glass and using the sun to produce heat intense enough to start a fire on an object such as a leaf.

"You don't feel anything (at the time)," Kirk said about people who may look at the eclipse.

"People don't know it's happening, but the intense amount of light will break down and destroy the nerve cells."

Kirk called it solar retinopathy, another term for the scarring that forms because of the damage to the nerve tissue surrounding the retina.

"If somebody stares at it (the eclipse) long enough, then immediate effects will begin within the first 24 hours," he said.

Those effects would include distorted or blurred vision, he said.

"Now, these things aren't going to happen with a brief glimpse at the sun," he said.

A solar eclipse is caused by the orbit of the moon passing between the Earth and the sun, blocking all or part of the sun's rays. There must be at least two solar eclipses in a given year, but as many as five have been reported.

An annular eclipse, however, occurs when the moon does not entirely block out the sun and a ring of the sun is visible around the circumference of the moon. The last time an annular eclipse was visible in the Detroit area was in 1838.

"The eclipse will be the last one visible in North America until the year 2012," said Richard Teske, an astronomy professor at the University of Michigan. "The next 'big one' for Michigan viewers will take place in April 2024."

The May 8 annular eclipse will block 89 to 90 percent of the sun's light and will last approximately five minutes at its peak. The whole process will begin around 11:30 a.m. and should end at 3 p.m. The peak should take place from 1:12 to 1:17 p.m.

Although the eclipse will be visible from Alaska to Panama, the best viewing will be along a 140-mile-wide strip from El Paso, Texas, through Toledo, Ohio, to Halifax, Nova Scotia, Teske said.

Over Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and Lake Erie, the moon will be completely in front of the sun for six minutes and 15 seconds.

"The sun and moon will be almost overhead in Michigan during the period of deepest eclipse," Teske said.

Teske warned that it's also dangerous to look directly at the moon, too, while observing the eclipse. The moon will appear slightly smaller than the sun during the eclipse because it's almost as far away from us in its elliptical orbit as it ever gets, according to Teske.

"For this reason, Michigan observers living south of a line from Benton Harbor to Port Huron, including the Detroit area, will see a black moon almost centered on the sun, surrounded by a narrow bright rim of sunlight," Teske explained.

"North of this line, the dark moon will almost cover the sun, giving observers an excellent view of a partial solar eclipse. At Toledo, observers will see the moon exactly centered on the sun because the eclipse track will pass directly over their city."

Although he wouldn't recommend any, there are ways to view the eclipse safely, Kirk said. He suggested making a shadow box, which portrays the image of the eclipse on white paper.

Kirk is making instructions of how to make the sunscope available as a public service.

The optometrist also suggested checking with college or university astronomy departments, astronomy clubs and planetariums which may be sponsoring "eclipse watches" as another way to view the eclipse.

Do not, however, try to view the eclipse through smoked glass, sunglasses, photographic film, welder's goggles, photographic filters, binoculars or a telescope.

Even if you can't look at the sun, it's still safe to be outside, Teske said.

"Some people worry that dangerous solar rays are emitted during eclipses, but this doesn't happen," he said. "It's perfectly safe to be outside during the event, there are no rays or other side effects to worry about."

ANATOMY OF AN ECLIPSE

Do not, however, try to view the eclipse through smoked glass, sunglasses, photographic film, welder's goggles, photographic filters, binoculars or a telescope.

"The eclipse will be the last one visible in North America until the year 2012," said Richard Teske, an astronomy professor at the University of Michigan. "The next 'big one' for Michigan viewers will take place in April 2024."

Volunteer

Edie Christoph

No cooks required to assist Meals program

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

Even if you can't cook but can drive a car, you are qualified for the Meals on Wheels volunteer jobs that Edie Christoph has been filling for about two years.

Basically, she is "a helper" one day a week from 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the kitchen at Allen Terrace where individual meals are assembled for the 37 to 40 homebound persons in Northville.

The food—"It's cooked," she said—is brought in from the Wayne County Office of Nutrition Services in Westland, and her job is to help Marcy, head of the kitchen, make individual packages.

A three-compartment aluminum tray will hold the hot food—for example, an apricot ham steak, sweet potatoes, and green beans—and several baggies will handle bread and margarine, milk, and a possible dessert of apple slices.

Everything has to be ready for the drivers to start out at 11:30 a.m. for individual routes that take 30 to 40 minutes. There are three routes, Christoph said, with 10 to 12 stops in each.

And she knows about that part of the business, too, because occasionally when a driver forgets to show up or goes out of town and neglects to arrange for a substitute—even on the day she's on duty in the kitchen—Christoph hops into her car and delivers.

Also in the kitchen duty, Christoph said, there are about a dozen Allen Terrace and "over 60" city residents who eat in the dining room. She helps serve them. She brings meals to a few residents who are served in their rooms.

There's more. She helps clean up afterwards—take care of the trash, wash the counters and tables.

How did Edie Christoph get herself into this volunteering? "I saw a blurb in The Record," she said, "and I needed something to do."

If you would like to get into the program in either way, call Marcy at Allen Terrace—349-9661.

It's a fact that Wayne County was established in 1796 by proclamation of the Acting Governor of the Northwest Territories.

The county's 623 square miles supports a population of over 2.1 million people.

In Our Town

Town Hall asks for donation requests by May 31

Northville Town Hall Lecture Series Publicity Chairperson Sue Korte reminds those groups requesting charity monies from Town Hall to apply by May 31.

Since members of Town Hall come from Plymouth, Farmington, Novi, Livonia and South Lyon as well as Northville, the Board of Awards distributes part of the proceeds from each season's lecture series to charities in those areas.

Korte suggested those seeking contributions be specific in what they want monies for.

"Basically what we want is not a broad spectrum, but what they need the money for," she said.

For example, when the Town Hall group helped out a crippled children's group recently, the organization specifically requested money for braces, Korte said.

Specific amounts of money should not be requested, Korte added, as the board will decide specific appropriations.

Those serving on the Board of Awards, which selects the deserving recipients, include: Mrs. E. Quentin Proctor of Farmington; Mrs. Charles Childs, Plymouth; Mary Dumas, Livonia; Mrs. Roy Mattison, Herman Moehlman and Mrs. Douglas Bolton, all of Northville; and Korte, of Novi. Mattison serves as chairperson of the board.

Send requests to Northville Town Hall, Box 93, Northville, MI 48167.

Resident published

Harriet E. Peavey of Northville has just had original poetry published in Tears of Fire, a treasury of today's poetry compiled by The National Library of Poetry.

Her poem is untitled and the main subject is World War II.

Peavey has been writing poems for most of her adult life and has recently completed a biographical novel titled Leaning into the Wind, which is about a widely publicized tragedy that happened in Washtenaw County in 1970.

Peavey work for The Northville Record in 1962. She composed ads for The South Lyon Herald.

Young artists

Joseph Hospital in Ypsilanti. He weighed 8 pounds.

Kyle joins sibling Connor Christopher at their Plymouth home.

Grandparents of the newborn are Wallace and Doris Brownell of Northville, and Gordon and Colleen McCormick, former Northville residents now living in Milford.

Great-grandparents are Mary Boccimino of Warren and Constance Brownell of Farmington.

Cooke places high in knowledge meet

A Northville student was one of five Michigan students to achieve a high score in the ninth annual American Junior High School Mathematics Examination (AJHSME).

Tomas Sirgedas of Our Lady of Victory School received the high score of 24 in the AJHSME. Michigan ranked first in participation this year in the competition, with 11,719 students from 199 Michigan schools participating.

Sirgedas will receive plaques for their achievement.

Students earning scores of 16 or more are classified as 1993 Michigan AJHSME Honor Roll students. A total of 83 students made the honor roll.

From the Northville/Novi area, honor roll students, followed by their school and score, are as follows: E. Arnold, Cooke Middle School, 18; K. Burke, Cooke, 17; M. Carroll, Cooke, 20; T. Emaus, Cooke, 16; C. Farah, Cooke, 17; K. Fischer, Cooke, 18; K.

Church

FAITH COMMUNITY PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, 44400 W. Ten Mile Road, Novi, will sponsor its second annual Faith Enrichment program at a workshop at the church on May 16.

The program, "Overcoming One-sided Christianity," designed for clergy and laity, will feature Ronald J. Sider, professor of theology and culture at Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Philadelphia.

He has authored numerous books dealing with critical issues such as Rich Christians in an Age of Hunger: A Biblical Study; Christ and Violence; Cry Justice: The Bible on Hunger and Poverty and his most recent book, One-sided Christianity? Uniting the Church to Heal a Lost and Broken World.

The program will include a distinguished panel: The Rev. Harry Cook, former religion editor, Detroit Free Press; Rector St. Andrews Episcopal Church, Clawson; the Rev. Pat Meyers, director, Baldwin Ave. Human Services, Pontiac; and Edna Jackson, manager of the volunteer department for Focus: HOPE, Detroit.

A continental breakfast and lunch will be served. The cost is $32 per person. Three or more from the same church will qualify for the reduced rate of $29 per person.

Choralaires' spring sing set for Saturday

The Novi Choralaires will present its spring concert, "Makin' Music," at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Fuerst Auditorium, Novi High School.

The Choralaires is a mixed chorus of approximately 50 people of all ages from Novi and the surrounding communities. Formed in 1974, the group is directed by Jan Wassilak and accompanied by Sue Nienhuis.

This year's spring concert is divided into four sections. The first, "Academy Award Winners," will feature a variety of award-winning familiar tunes, from 1944's "Swingin' On a Star" to the recent "A Whole New World" from Aladdin.

"The Age of Innocence" will showcase folk songs from many countries including "Cross the Wide Missouri," "Afton Water (Flow Gently, Sweet Afton)" and two Israeli folk songs sung in Hebrew, "Hava Nagila" and "Erev Shel Shoshanim." The song "Ching-a-Ring Chaw," although it may sound foreign, is an American minstrel tune that uses the words "ching-a-ring" as a vocal substitute for a banjo.

"The Age of Aquarius," will feature songs from the 1960s, such as "MacArthur Park" and "Aquarius/Let the Sunshine In" as well as more recent songs like "Last Night of the World" from Miss Saigon.

The final section, entitled "Walking in the Spirit," is a collection of spiritually-inspired songs, from the beautiful and well-known "Kum-baya" to a rousing rendition of a soulful "Hallelujah" Chorus.

As always, a number of small ensembles will be featured. There will be some additional instrumentalists to enhance the songs, and choreography to keep things visually interesting.

Tickets are $5 for adults and $4 for seniors and students. They are available at the Parks and Recreation office, from Choralaire members and at the door.

'Hudsucker' satirizes big business

"The Hudsucker Proxy," Warner Bros.' satirical comedy about big business, follows the fortunes of Norville Barnes (Tim Robbins), a naive, good-natured young man who comes to New York to make his fortune and, within days, finds himself at the top of the corporate ladder at powerful Hudsucker Industries.

His amazing career move occurs because the company's founder, Waring Hudsucker, has suddenly committed suicide. The chairman of the board of directors, Sidney J. Mussburger (Paul Newman), in a nefarious scheme to drive stock prices down and acquire control of the company, plans to install an imbecile as president and watch havoc ensue.

His choice is Norville Barnes. But the open-faced Barnes turns out to have a good idea or two, and before investigative reporter Amy Archer (Jennifer Jason Leigh) can uncover the reason for the corporate hijinks, the company is surging ahead.

"The Hudsucker Proxy" was written and directed by Joel Coen, who received much critical praise for his first film, the stylish crime drama "Blood Simple," which marked his directorial debut. The film appeared on several of the 1985 top ten film lists, including Time Magazine, The Washington Post and USA Today, and was honored as one of the year's best films by the National Board of Review.

Coen's other films are "Raising Arizona," an original blend of screwball comedy and hyperbolic action film making, and "Miller's Crossing," a gangster film set in the Twenties.

Joel Coen is joined in "The Hudsucker Proxy" by his brother, Ethan who produced the film and assisted in writing the screenplay.

In "The Hudsucker Proxy," Norville Barnes has arrived in New York fresh off the bus from Muncie, Indiana — a graduate of the 1958 class of the Muncie College of Business Administration.

Norville is ready to start at the bottom and work his way to the top of the corporate world.

Waring Hudsucker (Charles Durning), on the other hand, is heading in the opposite direction. At the very moment Norville lands a position in the mail room of the global super-company, Waring, the company's founder, leaps from the 44th floor boardroom window and lands a position on the pavement below.

The board of directors is in a panic. Hudsucker's death means his ownership interest will soon be offered to the public. There is one man, however, who remains surprisingly calm. Sidney J. Mussburger (Newman), Hudsucker's right-hand man, has a plan. He'll install a complete imbecile as president and devalue the stock so the board can acquire controlling interest for themselves. But where can he find such a guileless patsy who'll accept the job with no questions asked?

Enter Norville Barnes.

Initially, the plan is a success. Under Norville's stewardship, the company begins its downward spiral. Before long, however, the situation attracts the attention of Amy Norville Barnes (Tim Robbins) beams as Board Chairman Sidney J. Mussburger makes him president of Hudsucker Industries

Archer (Jennifer Jason Leigh), Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter who goes undercover to prove Norville the fraud she thinks he is. What she uncovers unexpectedly are some genuine feelings for the man she is trying to expose.

As for Mussburger, well, his plan might just hit a snag when Norville reveals that, in fact, he does have an idea for the company — an idea which is, as he puts it, "... you know, for kids"

Joel and Ethan Coen, known for making small, offbeat movies, have tackled a more mainstream project in "The Hudsucker Proxy" than in any of their previous works.

Their most recent success, "Barton Fink," which won the Palm D'Or at the 1991 Cannes Film Festival and was also nominated for three Academy Awards, was a decidedly dark and ambiguous meditation on creativity, human relations and psychopathic behavior, and it contained a fair amount of violence.

Their other films — "Blood Simple," "Raising Arizona" and "Miller's Crossing" — were also highly stylized, personal and eccentric creations. To be sure, "The Hudsucker Proxy," contains the unmistakable hallmarks of the Coen brothers' unique, hyperbolic and visually arresting style.

According to director Joel Coen, "The Hudsucker Proxy" is a somewhat traditional love story with elements of a fairy tale and the most mainstream movie we've ever done."

This, their biggest production to date, was made under the aegis of Joel Silver, one of the most successful producers in Hollywood history.

The combination of the successful, dynamic Silver, whose films have grossed a combined total of $2 billion, and the reserved Coens, who are among the most highly regarded independent filmmakers working today, is one of the most interesting recent collaborations to come out of Hollywood.

The beginnings of "The Hudsucker Proxy," however, go back to the mid-1980s, when Joel and Ethan Coen were experiencing the success of "Blood Simple."

"We began writing the first draft of the screenplay of 'Hudsucker' about six or seven years ago," said Ethan. "We were having fun. The script, which contains a lot of traditional genre elements, was marked by a kind of heartwarming fantasy element out of Frank Capra. It also had a lot of verbal comedy, the kind you seen in films by Preston Sturges or Howard Hawks, with dialogue delivered in a rapid-fire machine gun style. But it was bigger and broader, with physical comedy sequences and a lot of oddball action."

"The scale of 'Hudsucker' was bigger than anything we had ever done," added Joel. "Although it continued to interest us, we put it aside and completed other projects. But we always hoped to go back to it someday."

In 1992, the script was brought to the attention of Joel Silver by the Coen brothers' agent, Jim Berkus. Silver, who has counted himself among the Coens' greatest admirers since he first saw "Blood Simple," read the screenplay and fell in love with it.

"The script was the most accessible I had seen the Coen brothers attempt," he said, "and I wanted to help them make it a reality."

'Bad Girls' takes new approach on male-oriented westerns

It is the American West in the waning days of the 19th century, and four women with no rights, no justice and no one to stand up for them are forced to stand up for themselves.

It is a dangerous time to be a woman. And a good time to have friends.

That's the setting for "Bad Girls," a Western in which four women of the old west become gunfighters to win back their money, their rights and their dignity.

Directed by Jonathan Kaplan, the film stars Madeleine Stowe, Mary Stuart Masterson, Drew Barrymore and Andie MacDowell.

"I had always wanted to make a western," said Director Jonathan Kaplan, whose films include "Over the Edge," "Heart Like a Wheel" and "The Accused."

"I'm a fan of John Ford, Sam Peckinpah and Sergio Leone, and I always wanted to see what it would be like to work in the genre."

In "Bad Girls," Kaplan breaks the mold of the conventional western with a story that puts a new spin on the courage, excitement and romance that are part of the legend of the American West.

For Madeleine Stowe, the film marks the satisfying end to what had been a frustrating search for a vehicle that would challenge Hollywood's long reliance on the traditional male western. "I found it peculiar that westerns had only focused on men, when so much had happened to women during that time in history," she said.

Stowe plays Cody, a headstrong and defiant woman unjustly accused of murder and saved from the gallows by her three daring friends.

Anita (Mary Stuart Masterson), a recent widow, is about to have her land rights stripped from her by the male-biased laws of the day. Eileen (Andie MacDowell) is a New Orleans belle who at first seems too refined to withstand the challenges she and the others must endure. And Lilly (Drew Barrymore) is the hellcat of the group, a spirited daredevil who won't back down from any fight.

"Bad Girls" is about four women who for different reasons had no opportunities except to be prostitutes," said Mary Stuart Masterson. "They are struggling for their freedom and ultimately used their collective strength to overcome their individual weaknesses. They aren't fighting for something political. They're fighting for their lives."

"I'm a fan of John Ford, Sam Peckinpah and Sergio Leone"

Jonathan Kaplan

Production on "Bad Girls" began with the Echo City scenes on sets created just outside the gold rush town of Sonora, California, in the foothills of the Sierra Nevada mountains. The company filmed there for two weeks before moving to the "big sky" country of Bracketville, Texas, for two months of shooting the Aqua Dulce and Rio Grande sequences.

Before the cameras rolled, the company devoted three weeks in Sonora to "cowboy camp." With stunt coordinator and second unit director Walter Scott in charge, the actors practiced riding, mounting, dismounting, tumbling, roping, riding while shooting, crawling on the ground with rifles, quick draw, fancy draw — even tobacco chewing.

"Cowboy camp was Lynda Obst's idea," said Scott, a 30-year film veteran referring to the film's executive producer. Scott's credits include Sam Peckinpah's "Pat Garrett and Billy the Kid" and "The Killer Elite." He also doubled for Clint Eastwood in "The Outlaw Josey Wales" and "Hang 'em High."

Scott saw his mission in "Bad Girls" as giving the actors confidence. "They developed to the point that they wanted to do everything," he said. "We allowed them time to sort through a number of horses until they found the right ones. They developed a working rapport with their horses and got to the point where they were driving teams."

Stowe and MacDowell were already experienced horsewomen, if not cowgirls, but Masterson and Barrymore had done very little riding. "I was completely pathetic and uncoordinated when I got here," Barrymore confessed. "I couldn't twirl a gun and wasn't very familiar with horses; and, of course, my character is a trick rider. But Walter Scott makes you drive. Like Jonathan Kaplan, you strive to please this man."

Siding with and against the four "Bad Girls" are four men of wildly divergent virtue. Dermot Mulroney ("Point of No Return") plays McCoy, the quiet stranger whose own quest for vengeance draws him to Cody. James LeGros ("Drugstore Cowboy") is Tucker, the simple farmer who longs to win the big-city heart of Eileen.

Meanwhile, on the other side of the law, James Russo ("Beverly Hills Cop") plays Kid Jarrett, the violent bandit from Cody's past who has now made off with her life savings. And Oscar-nominated character actor Robert Loggia ("The Jagged Edge") is Frank Jarrett, Kid's equally ruthless father.

"Westerns are often defined by the quality of the villains, and sometimes by the quality of the women," said Ken Friedman, one of the film's screenwriters. "Here, with all the role reversal opportunities, the quality of the men makes the movie strong. I think our male actors are a nice complement to the women."

For executive producer Lynda Obst, the fact that the men in a western serve to complement the women is exciting. "Putting women in classically mythic, heroic images which we traditionally only see associated with men thrills me. And so does seeing women save one another, not waiting to be saved by men."

"I am truly in love with my character, Lilly," said Drew Barrymore. "I want to be this girl for the rest of my life. She's fearless, courageous and spontaneous."

"Seeing these four women together is so charging and energizing. They all save each other, which is the really cool thing about this movie — unity."

Madeline Stowe, Mary Stuart Masterson, Andie MacDowell and Drew Barrymore are the 'Bad Girls'

Undefeated Mustang tennis team stays hot

By MICHELLE HARRISON
Staff Writer

After three matches last week, the Northville boys' tennis team remains undefeated.

But Coach Dick Norton was anxiously waiting for the big one May 4. "The big match will be home against Salem," he said on Monday. "Salem is still undefeated and Northville is undefeated. We've tied once and they've tied twice."

If Northville came out the winner in yesterday's meet (past Northville Record deadline), the team will have earned top ranking going into the league tournament scheduled for May 17 at Livonia Stevenson.

Northville's only tie came April 25 with Stevenson, 4-4. However, the team came back to an 8-0 victory over North Farmington April 27 and took a 7-1 win over Farmington Harrison last Friday.

The results of the Harrison game are as follows: (Northville players are identified first)

Singles

Matt Schwagle vs. Jeff Gutman; Schwagle won with a 6-0, 6-0 score.

Nick McCreedy vs. Jon Stern; McCreedy took the win, 6-1, 6-2.

David Anderson vs. Darius Gilvdis; Anderson was the victor with a score of 6-0, 6-0.

Nick Sriraman vs. Charles Barmenck. Sriraman lost 6-2, 6-7, 4-6 with a tiebreaker ending in 7-4.

Doubles

Matt Telepo and Rabi Mujumdar took a 6-1, 6-0 victory over Brian Atkinson and Sean Sarsfield.

Vik Srinivasan and Scott Anderson won 6-1, 6-2, defeating the team of Sean Frith and Jim McAskin.

Nate Connell and Desmond Liang claimed a 6-0, 6-1 win over Jason Sczepaniak and Scott Turbow.

Anthony DeBenedet and Ryan Steinhauer finished off Chris Leland and Casey McDonell with a 6-3, 6-2 score.

Norton said he felt the team made quite an accomplishment in last week's victories. He noted that North Farmington had also been undefeated before taking on Northville.

"Some matches went three sets," he said. "For the most part, the guys are playing real well."

The team was scheduled to play Livonia Franklin May 2. Going into that match, the team's overall record stood at 6-0-1. Its league record was 5-0-1.

Softball squad wins 4 of 5, but loss is a big one

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Northville High School's varsity girls' softball team won four of their five games this past week but their lone defeat was a crucial one, coming against divisional rival Walled Lake Western.

"We played pretty well all week," Mustangs Coach Frank Friemund said. "We seem to be improving in all aspects of our game."

The Mustangs demonstrated determination in their Saturday victories over Country Day and Centerline in tournament play at Southfield Christian Academy. Northville pulled out wins during a day that saw progressively bad weather.

"It rained during the whole game (against Centerline)," Friemund said. "It was cold and wet and just miserable. We were happy with the win but we were thrilled that the day was over."

Karl Krupanski pitched the Mustangs to their 3-2 victory over Country Day to start things off on April 30. The hurler gave up only two hits and no earned runs while striking out six batters. The win brought Krupanski to a 7-4 record for the season.

Coming back in the bottom of the seventh inning from a 2-1 deficit, the Mustangs' Melissa Petrosky singled and was sent home on an Andrea Moretti triple. Moretti then scored herself on a single from Sara Ross, one of her two on the day. Mustang batters picked up six hits in all.

In Saturday's second game, Northville knocked off Centerline by a score of 12-4. Mustang pitcher Moretti picking up her first win, giving up just three hits on the day. The win brings the team's record to 8-4 on the year.

Petrosky had two singles and a walk during the game and catcher Jenny Sheehan picked up a double while "doing an outstanding job for us," Friemund said.

"This was even more than her usual great job," Friemund said. "She was out there in the rain and the cold. After the game, she was sitting by the heater in the bus because she couldn't feel her hand."

The effort everyone gave was good, the coach said—so much so that he offered them a little token of his esteem after the games. "I ran the bases and slid in the mud to show the girls that I appreciated them going down in it when they had to," Friemund said.

"After that, no one would come near me," he added with a laugh. "I can't understand it."

The coming week will see four big games for the Mustangs. On Monday they'll host Harrison in a divisional clash. Wednesday will see Northville travel to Livonia Stevenson for action. On Friday, May 13, the Mustangs will play a double-header at home against Livonia Churchill—"the team to beat," in Friemund's words.

WALLED LAKE WESTERN 4, NORTHVILLE 2

Northville lost to Walled Lake Western on Friday, April 29, by the score of 4-2. The away defeat drops the Mustang's division record to 2-1 and their conference record now stands at 4-2 on the year.

Mustang batters picked up only two hits in the game. The runs came from Moretti, who made it home in the second on a ground-out by Samantha Ledger, and by Petrosky, who singled and scored on an error.

Walled Lake's first two batters scored, however, and the team picked up a run in the third and fourth innings as well.

NORTHVILLE 10, FARMINGTON 1

Farmington fell to the Northville squad on Wednesday, April 27. The Mustangs got eight hits on the day. Pitcher Krupanski gave up only one while fanning 11 batters.

The decisive inning was the fourth, where

Harriers take pair of victories

By LEE SNIDER

The Mustang girls track team took a pair of one-sided victories in high school varsity action last week.

The first game was played against Marian High April 26 and ended in a 91-37 win for Northville.

The second contest against Livonia Franklin last Thursday took place in a downpour and produced low scores, according to coach Ann Turnbull. The Mustangs ran away with the meet, besting Franklin 114-14.

The dual wins put Northville's won-loss record at 2-2 on the season and 1-1 in league play.

The times and scores of the Mustangs in the game against Marian were:

High jump—Tammami Cook was first at 4 feet 8 inches; Beth McCrae was third with a jump of 4 feet 4 inches.

Long jump—Alana Bradley was first at 16 feet 10.75 inches; Wendy Forster was second at 16 feet 5.5 inches.

Shot put—Kris Werda placed second at 30.5 feet; Renee Olin was third at 28 feet 11.75 inches.

100 meter high hurdles—Forster was first at 17.7 seconds; Jenny Sekerka was second at 18.3.

100 meter dash—Carrie Dalziel placed third at 13.6 seconds.

400 meter run—Adrienne Browne finished second in 66.3 seconds; Kathy Conklin was third at 68.4.

1600 meter run—Monica Nayakwadi was first at 6:25.6; Stephanie Zajac finished second at 6:39.6.

300 meter low hurdles—Marci Bolger was first at 53.5 seconds; Reimer was second at 55.5 seconds.

Discus—Sekerka placed first at 104 feet 7.25 inches; Werda was third with 86 feet 7.5 inches.

800 meter run—Laura Brown placed first at 2:44.7; Amity Heckemeyer was second at 2:45.2.

200 meter dash—Bradley was first at 26.6 seconds; Melissa Pool placed third with a 29-second finish.

3200 meter run—Kathryn Miltman was first at 14:30.9; Alissa Nadeau was second at 14:59.8.

The Mustangs competed against Farmington Tuesday (after Northville Record deadline) and will take on Churchill today.

Girls netminder suffers fracture in losing cause

By LEE SNIDER

The Mustang soccer team lost more than a game in falling 1-0 to Livonia Stevenson April 25—it also lost the services of its talented goalie, Jessica Jones.

At one point in the first half, Jones left the goal to preempt a kick by a Stevenson forward and took a knee in the chest.

The result: a fractured sternum. Coach Doug Lyon says Jones, who has "a high tolerance for pain," completed the first half of play and even took the field for about the first 15 minutes of the second before it became obvious she was in pain.

"She was having problems getting her arms up in the air," Lyon said. "She was leaving them down by her side."

Lyon then pulled Jones, intending to apply ice to the injury and send her back out.

After a few moments, however, it was apparent she would not be able to return. X-rays later confirmed the fracture.

"She's one of the top goalies in the state," Lyon said.

Lyon isn't sure how long Jones will be out, but he hopes to have his No. 1 netminder back in time for an important May 16 showdown against Plymouth Canton. If she can't make that, he added, he's counting on having her in goal for the state tournament, which begins May 23.

In spite of the loss, backup goal tenders have performed well for the Mustangs. Field player Amanda Dekoker filled in for Jones the rest of the way against Stevenson and stopped everything the Spartans sent her way.

Track team levels struggling Franklin

By LEE SNIDER

It wasn't pretty, but boys track coach Dennis Faletti will take it.

His Northville High school squad sloshed through cold, rainy weather in upending Livonia Franklin 101-35 last Thursday.

"It was a bad meet, it was so darn cold," Faletti said. "It was 39-degrees."

Conditions might have been lousy but they were equally bad for both teams, and when the contest was over the Mustangs had routed the competition, advancing to 2-0 in division play and 4-0 overall.

"I anticipated it," Faletti said of the lopsided win. "But the weather was so bad, the performances weren't very good."

The Mustangs won almost every match against Franklin, a struggling team that has been "down the last couple of years," according to Faletti.

The Mustang winners and their times were:

Long jump—Josh Williams first at 18 feet 5 1/4 inches; Farb Nivi second at 18 feet 1 1/4 inches; Chris Gommersall third in 17 feet 7 1/4 inches.

High jump—Rob Tune first with 5 feet 6 inches; John MacInnis second at 5 feet; and Williams third in 5 feet.

Pole vault—Bo Fowler was first in 9 feet 6 inches.

3200 meter relay—Finished first in 9 minutes 4.5 seconds. The team consisted of Scott Lloyd, Rob Gannam, Mark Ritter and Todd Zayti.

100 meter dash—Brian Dogonski first at 11.9 seconds; Ryan Debora was second in 12.4 seconds.

Shot put—Bryan Kelly first in 42 feet 5 inches; John Gatti second in 42 feet; and Matissa Kukainis was third at 40 feet .5 inches.

400 meter relay—Team finished first in 46.9 seconds. Team consisted of Gommersall, Eric Moore, Bob Oiler and Dogonski.

800 meter relay—First in 139.6 seconds. Team consisted of Gommersall, Moore, Nivi and Oiler.

the Mustangs picked up five runs to go up 6-0 on four walks and two hits. Jenny Frisbie doubled in the inning and Jenny Cooley had a single, double and a home run in three trips to the plate on the day.

NORTHVILLE 13, FRANKLIN 12

Northville also defeated Livonia Franklin in a high-scoring hit-fest played on Monday, April 25. Franklin tagged the ball for 11 hits but the Mustangs smacked it for 13 to take the win by a score of 13-12.

The team twice came from behind to garner the victory. Down 4-1 in the third inning, the Mustangs responded by scoring four to go up 5-4. Franklin took the lead again and was up 7-5 in the fourth when Northville's batters exploded for seven runs.

Up 12-7, "we thought it was over," Fremund said. But it was not to be—not just yet.

Franklin came back, tying the game in the sixth. The Mustangs regained the lead for good in the seventh when Cooley picked up a bases-loaded walk following three straight singles by Ledger, Petrosky and Sarah Kemp.

Kemp had three singles and a walk on the day and Ross whacked not one but two triples during the game. Krupanski picked up a single and a double at the plate while Petrosky and Kristin Moore each had a pair of singles and RBIs.

Baseball team improves with win

By STEVE KELLMAN
Staff Writer

The Northville baseball team is "hanging tough" in their division, in the words of coach Mickey Newman.

The Mustangs improved their division record to 2-1 last week with wins over Franklin and Walled Lake Western.

The Walled Lake Warriors' 11-5 drubbing took place Friday in one of the Mustangs' few home games so far this season.

The Mustangs kicked off the win with five runs in the first inning. "The first five guys got on and we just kept on going," Newman said.

Jason Rice kicked things off with a two-run triple, followed by Jeff Luterek's RBI double and Dean Frellick's sacrifice fly. A ground ball by Dave McCullough knocked in the final run of the inning.

The Mustangs continued their barrage in the third inning with Frellick's two-RBI double, and in the fifth with a two-run homer by Jason Wenzel. The final two runs came in the sixth off three doubles—by Curt Kalsner, Rice and Fred Swarthout.

Senior John Buser pitched seven innings, striking out 10 Warriors in the process. "At times he was just completely dominant, and other innings he'd have a little trouble with his control," the coach said. "When he takes over like that, it's something to watch."

The win left the Mustangs with a 4-5 record overall and a 2-1 standing in their division.

NORTHVILLE 9, FRANKLIN 5

Northville began the week April 25 with its first division win of the season at Franklin. "That was a big win for us," Newman said. "We needed to get that going and win a division game."

The Mustangs got going early in the game, with three runs in the third inning off a two-run double by Rice and an RBI triple off Wenzel. "The Jassons came through for us," Newman said.

Other highlights included a two-run inside-the-park homer by Kalsner in the fifth and RBI hits by "Big" Fred Swarthout and Jeff Luterek in the sixth.

Starting pitcher Jason Mavel went six innings on the mound for the win, and was relieved by Chuck Apligan who earned his second save of the year.

FARMINGTON 3, NORTHVILLE 0

Northville lost a non-division game against Farmington April 27 despite strong pitching by Dave McCullough. "He only gave up three hits in six innings," Newman said.

The three hits were three too many for the Mustangs, though, who only got one hit of their own, by Jason Wenzel.

ing, however, and Northville was unable to score in the shut-out defeat. Lyon credits centerhalf Angie Snyder, captain Renne Androsian and sophomore Kristin Wasalaski with exceptional efforts in the tightly-played match.

The loss dropped the Mustangs to 2-2 in the WIA conference and 3-2 overall, but subsequent victories helped improve that mark last week. NORTHVILLE 4, NORTH FARMINGTON 2

Propped up by the able services of junior varsity goalie Meghan Cautzillo, who received a promotion to varsity goal tender after the Jones fracture, the Mustangs handled North Farmington fairly easily April 27.

Wasalaski got the Mustangs on the board first by scoring on an assist by Snyder. The goal came at the 11-minute mark of the first half.

Northville went up 2-0 after Katie Kohl knocked one in off a feed by Katie Kohl.

After Farmington drew to within one, the Mustangs went up 3-1 on a goal by Kohl. Sue McQuaid assisted.

Farmington again drew to within one in the second half, but Northville put the game away on a tally from Androsian off a feed from Dekoker.

Special Writer

Ah, Spring is in the air. The tulips and daffodils are blooming, and the city forester is busy planting trees. Kids are ready for summer vacation and all over town you can spot the real indicator of spring... garage sale signs!

Novi Parks & Rec presents Spring Clean-Up. The ultimate kick-off to the garage sale season is Saturday, May 14, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. You can sell any household item you would include in a personal garage sale, plus cars, boats, campers, etc. Work your own booth and retain all the profits.

The registered items to date feature lots of great stuff, including cards. You won't want to miss this great gigantic garage sale extravaganza.

Booths are still available at the Novi Civic Center parking lot. The sale will be held indoors in case of inclement weather. Booth rental is $20 for one parking space (9 feet by 18 feet) and $10 for each additional space. The registration deadline is May 6.

The Novi Lioness Club will be selling items with the proceeds going to groups such as Leader Dogs for the Blind and the Pendrickton Center for the Blind. Novi Youth Assistance will be running a food concession stand with proceeds to benefit programs such as the Summer Teen Center and camp scholarships.

If you're not renting a booth, be sure and come out to the Civic Center for fabulous deals on great stuff. Rain or shine, the sale will go on. In case of inclement weather, it'll be moved inside the Civic Center. Call 347-0400 now and reserve a booth. Mark your calendar for Saturday, May 14.

Looking for family fun as you're gathering all your garage sale items? Why not take the kids to the Novi High School gym on Saturday, May 7, for the Third Annual Karate Tournament at noon. The contest will welcome competitors from many of the Detroit Metro Korean karate clubs.

Trophies will be awarded to first, second, and third place winners in weapons, forms and sparring. Admission is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12. Call 347-0400 for more information.

Expertise carries responsibility

Barry Franklin

Several weeks ago I had an interesting experience while shopping for a Mother's Day gift.

The wind was just right that day, and the aroma of chili and hot dogs seemed to pull me like a magnet to a local Coney Island restaurant.

I stopped for a moment to gaze into the window of the restaurant. There were at least 20 mouth-watering coney dogs sizzling on the grill. On an adjacent counter, there stood a platter filled with chopped onions.

I decided that after my shopping was finished, I would return to the restaurant to treat myself to a coney and a diet Pepsi—realizing, of course, that a coney dog is not considered heart-healthy food.

As I continued walking from store to store, feverishly searching for an appropriate gift, the thought of a Coney Island hot dog, smothered in chili and onions, became almost an obsession.

I finally found a gift I was happy with, and asked the saleswoman to wrap it up in pretty paper. "We're very busy right now," she responded, "but if you can stop back in 20 or 30 minutes, I'll have it wrapped for you."

"No problem at all," I said, as I headed straight for the restaurant.

When I walked into the restaurant, a distinguished man wearing a cook's apron greeted me. He looked familiar.

"Hi, Dr. Franklin, how are you?" he said. "You're not going to eat here, are you?" he asked jokingly.

"Why not?" I responded.

"You probably don't remember me but I was in your cardiac rehabilitation program several years ago," he said. "Besides, I enjoy reading your health and fitness columns in the local paper."

As I sat down at the counter, he enthusiastically introduced me to his partner, the co-owner of the restaurant, and to the waitress.

"This is Dr. Barry Franklin—he runs the cardiac rehab program at Beaumont Hospital and he writes a health and fitness column in the paper."

Several restaurant patrons apparently overheard his remarks and simultaneously looked up to see what was going on.

The waitress seemed particularly cordial as she presented me with a menu. I sat, looking at it, feeling somewhat embarrassed by the entire situation.

A few minutes later, the co-owner of the restaurant approached me and asked if I had ordered yet.

"No, not yet. Why?" I responded.

"Well, I just wanted to see what you were going to order," he replied, as several interested diners now looked on.

The waitress then approached me and asked, "Well, Dr. Franklin, have you decided what you want?"

"Yes," I said. I'll have a uh, um, let's see. I'll have a sliced turkey sandwich on whole wheat bread, an order of cole slaw and a diet Pepsi."

"Mayonnaise on your sandwich?" she asked. "No thanks," I replied.

It's not easy being a health and fitness guru, I thought as I sat there eating my plain turkey sandwich.

Options available for incontinence

By RONALD SAN JUAN
Special Writer

Bed-wetting, or nocturnal enuresis, is a common problem affecting 15 to 20 percent of 5-year-old children. Many children grow out of it, but most physicians feel that persistent bed-wetting is abnormal in a girl more than 5 years old or in a boy older than 6.

A 1981 study found less than 40 percent of parents of children with the disorder actually seek medical advice. Common reasons cited for not seeking medical attention were the embarrassment to both the parents and the child, and the small amount of information available on the topic.

If your child suffers from persistent bed-wetting, your physician can provide you with counseling and medical options for overcoming this problem. The following information may help you before you approach your child's doctor.

The term enuresis is used to describe urinary incontinence at any age when bladder control is normal. Nocturnal enuresis (NE) refers specifically to bed-wetting. Often episodes of NE are associated with a stressful event in the child's life, such as the birth of a new sibling or a recent move.

While incontinence can result from a medically definable cause such as urinary tract infection or irritation from a new soap or laundry detergent, the actual reasons for NE are unknown. However, many physicians accept the following common theories.

- Bladder instability—results from immature sphincter control or a small bladder.

- Arousal disorder—proposes that episodes of bed-wetting occur after intense stimulation during REM or non-rapid-eye-movement, sleep.

- Antidiuretic hormone deficiency (AHD)—a biochemical imbalance that leads to increased production of urine that exceeds the child's bladder capacity.

The treatment options available for NE range from counseling and education for the parents and the child to medications that physicians find effective in many cases. Usually, only counseling is needed to achieve nighttime dryness. Another successful method is using an alarm that goes off when it senses that the child has wet the bed.

Physicians should stress the importance of actively involving the child in the process and encourage parents to offer praise and support as their son or daughter overcomes this disorder.

The use of medications has been successful in treating nocturnal enuresis. For the past three decades, imipramine has been the most commonly used medication. Since 1977, desmopressin has gained favorable acceptance as an effective drug for NE.

Ronald San Juan is a medical student under the direction of Dr. Susan Laurent at the U-M Health Center in Northville. This column is coordinated by Peg Campbell and the staff at the U-M Health Centers.

As refinancing falls, new home buying is on the rise

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

The home refinance boom is over. But it's being replaced in most areas of the country with a pickup in new home purchase mortgage loans.

"Last year at least 60 percent of our total business was home refinance loans," said Tom Criser, an office manager of Norwest Mortgage Corp., the nation's largest retail mortgage lending firm.

"Our refinance activity is down by 70 percent from last year. The slowdown in refinance applications has been replaced by a substantial pickup in mortgage loans used to finance the purchase of homes.

"Most of those loans are for homes purchased for prices under $250,000. But we are also funding an increased number of jumbo loans (very large)."

Criser also noted the widening selection of "niche" mortgage products—special types of loans for targeted situations.

"First-time home buyers can purchase a home with as little as 3 percent cash down payment, using the Community Home Buyers mortgage loan program," he said.

Because many younger home buyers need special financing help, "a lot of the families who come to us have a good income but are

BARD

Grand proportions and entry for this Bard

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

The second thing you notice about the Bard, after its grand proportions, is the lofty arched entry portico, supported by regal brick columns. Graceful arched side openings create a colonnade effect that extends a welcome worthy of royalty. Brick detailing on the chimneys and wainscoting adds to the street appeal.

Inside, the Bard is spacious and bright. Vaulted ceilings add to the feeling of openness in the entry, living room and owners' suite. Flames in the see-through fireplace can be enjoyed from the living room and the dining room.

Skylights illuminate the sumptuous owners' suite—an adult retreat large enough to include a bayed sitting area that faces across the large, L-shape deck. His-and-hers walk-in closets provide plenty of storage space.

Amenities in the sky-lit private bathroom include an oversize shower and a garden tub. A second basin is in the dressing area and the security system is by the door.

A large family room and a small office are down a half-flight of stairs to the left of the foyer. This space is completely outfitted for entertaining, with a wet bar, range, oven and refrigerator, not to mention a fireplace and entertainment center.

A full bathroom and stairs to the basement also are on this level.

The sky-lit kitchen has everything, including an appliance center, a pantry, dishwasher, freezer and trash compactor. Cook top, eating bar and double ovens are all built into the central work island. Bay windows brighten and expand the eating nook.

Next to the kitchen is a "swing" room—a room you can use for anything. It could house the family computer or be a sewing room, hobby room or studio.

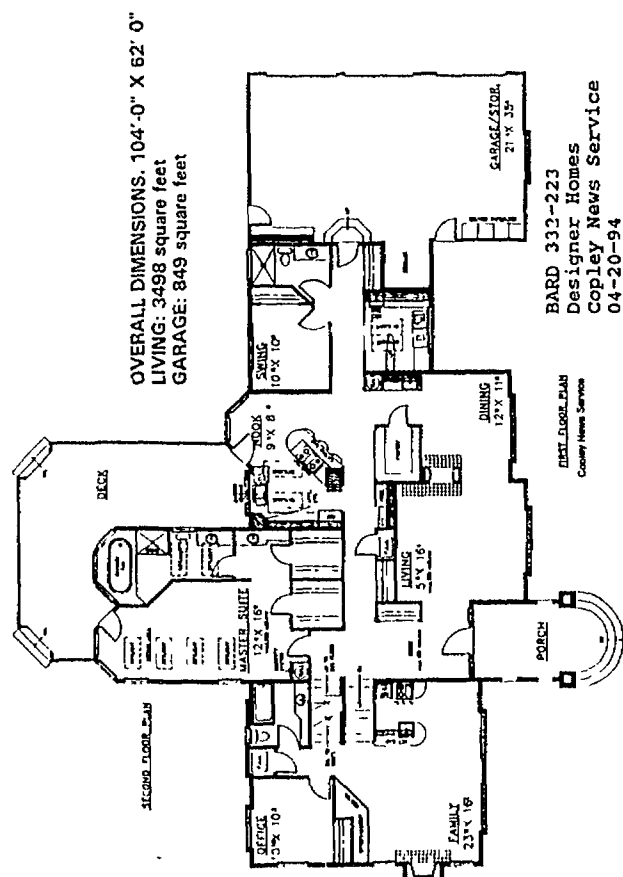

Features in the generously sized utility room include skylights, cabinets, counters, a deep sink and a fold-down ironing board.

MULCHING MATTERS

By recycling leaves, clippings and other yard debris, homeowners can improve the soil in their gardens, while helping to ease the problem of overflowing landfills.

Rather than dispose of organic waste, environmentally concerned individuals are transforming it into valuable garden mulch or humus. High-tech yard equipment now makes all of this easy to do.

Mulch and Compost

It is actually less work to turn tree branches and other woody prunings into usable wood chips than to cut debris into pieces small enough to put in trash bags.

Spread over soil in flower beds and shrub borders, mulch retains moisture, keeps down weeds and prevents winter heaving, which can damage roots.

The only thing that may do more for garden soil than mulch is compost, the rich humus that results from decomposed plant debris.

Dug into flower and vegetable gardens in autumn, compost replenishes organic matter that becomes depleted during the growing season. It also supplies a wide range of nutrients, makes heavy clay soil more porous, and enables light, sandy soil to hold more water.

When adding trees or shrubs to your yard, be sure to dig some compost into the planting hole to stimulate vigorous growth of new roots.

Compost Bins

Modern compost bins are sleek and compact, fitting neatly into backyard settings.

While nearly any organic material can be composted, among the very best ingredients from producing humus are plant debris from the yard and vegetable kitchen waste, such as coffee grounds and fruit peels. Avoid adding meat scraps, grease or bones because they may attract insects or create bad odors.

The end result is safe for garden use because as the organic matter decomposes inside the bin, temperatures rise beyond 140 degrees, killing weed seeds and disease organisms.

The smaller the particles placed in the compost bin, the faster the decomposition.

For best results, put a layer of unshredded brush in the bottom of the compost bin for extra aeration. Then pile alternating 6-inch layers of shredded green waste, like grass clippings, and shredded brown waste, like leaves and wood chips. Be sure to wet any dry materials with water before adding them.

A shovelful of soil between the layers will supply needed microbes and bacteria.

Turning the pile every few days will speed things considerably. Use a pitchfork to mix the raw material toward the outside with the warm decomposing matter in the center. Usable compost may be ready as in little as 12 days.

An estimated one-third of existing landfills will reach full capacity in the next five to seven years. Consequently, many municipalities are charging anywhere from 50 cents to $3 per bag to collect garden refuse.

So, it only makes sense to recycle at home. You will not only save money, but help save the Earth, too.

When to fertilize trees and shrubs

By C.Z. Guest
Copley News Service

GARDENING

Newly planted ornamental trees and shrubs should never be fertilized at time of planting. Instead, plant trees and shrubs in soil containing plenty of organic matter. After growing in this soil for several (two or three) years, they may be included in a fertilizer program.

High-nitrogen fertilizers such as 18-6-12 or 24-6-12 are best, although garden fertilizers such as 10-10-10 will do as a substitute. Compost, well-rotted manures and cottonseed meal also are good materials to use.

The important point is to use a complete fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium. Because trees are not fertilized frequently, it is recommended that one-half to two-thirds of the nitrogen be in an organic or other slow-release form.

Fertilize in early spring or late fall (October) after top growth has ceased. Generally, it is safe to fertilize every two or three years.

TREES

For needle-type evergreens, use 1 pound 10-10-10 or equivalent per inch of trunk diameter (at 4 inches above ground). If the tree is over 6 inches in diameter, use 2 pounds per inch.

For non-evergreens, use 2 pounds 10-10-10 or equivalent per inch of trunk diameter (at 4 inches above ground). If tree is over 6 inches in diameter, use 4 pounds per inch.

For flowering trees, use 1/2 pound 10-10-10 per inch of trunk diameter (at 4 inches above ground).

Use these methods of application:

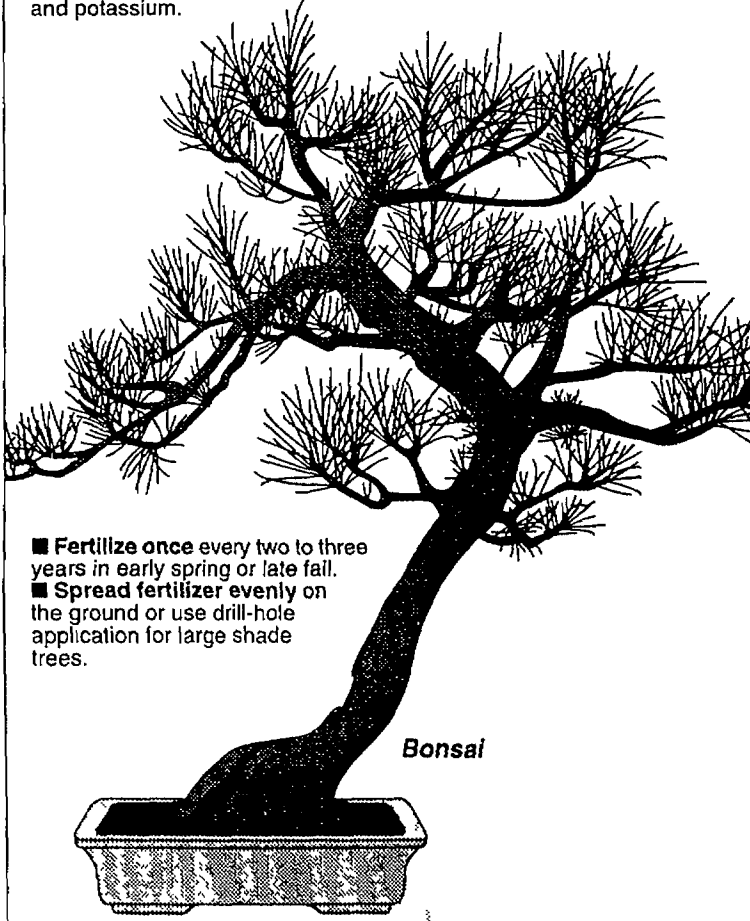

- Surface application: Recommended for trees with a 4-inch or less trunk diameter (at 4 inches above ground), or for trees where there are no other plants, including grass, growing under the tree. Where appropriate, spread recommended fertilizer uniformly on the surface under the branches.

GARDEN TIPS

Fertilizing trees and shrubs

- Never fertilize ornamental trees and shrubs at time of planting.
- After two to three years, use fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium.

- Fertilize once every two to three years in early spring or late fall.
- Spread fertilizer evenly on the ground or use drill-hole application for large shade trees.

Use TSP to clean paint from bricks

By Gene Gary
Copley News Service

HERE'S HOW

Q. We recently painted the siding on the top half of our house. The area beneath the siding is rough brick. During the painting process some paint was splattered on the brick. Is there a safe method of removing dried paint from brick?

A. Here is a safe but tedious method: Mix 2 pounds of trisodium phosphate in 1 gallon of water.

Be sure you get the real thing—TSP has been banned in some markets due to environmental restrictions. Even in these areas, it can often be obtained through paint dealers.

TSP sold in supermarkets is not the same product. If TSP is not available, you can substitute a non-phosphate cleaner such as Spic and Span.

Saturate the bricks by spraying with a hose. Then apply this solution to the areas with dried paint and let set for 5 to 10 minutes. Scrub with a nylon-bristle brush (do not use a wire brush or other metal). Rinse with plenty of clear water.

With older paint, several applications may be needed before the paint is completely removed. Once the brick is splatter free, expect the cleaned area to be lighter than surrounding bricks darkened with soil in the air.

There are other commercial removers that can be used. If you know the type of paint that was splattered on the brick, the corresponding remover for that type of paint can be successful in removal. Your local paint or masonry dealer should be able to recommend suitable products.

Intensive scrubbing with a stiff bristle brush will still be necessary to remove the paint residue from cracks and crevices.

Q. The previous owner painted the brick trim on our home white. Every winter the paint peels off and at the same time chunks of brick come off with it. It is a frustrating thing to watch. Every spring I have to repaint, but the same thing keeps recurring. I am facing the same project again this year. Can you give me any advice on what to do to alleviate this problem?

A. This is one of the reasons I recommend against painting brick, particularly in cold climates. Moisture eventually works under the paint and the freeze/thaw cycle causes the brick to disintegrate.

First brush off all the crumbling particles and scrape off most of the paint in the areas where it is peeling and brick is crumbling. Apply one or two coats of liquid cement hardener, available at masonry supply dealers.

Then scrub the wall with trisodium phosphate and strong chlorine bleach. Rinse well and let dry thoroughly.

Before repainting, apply clear masonry sealer to help keep the moisture out of the brick.

Use a quality masonry paint. Two coats will be more protective than one.

You might consider removal of the paint as outlined above. However, this is a tedious task for large areas and you may not be able to remove all traces of paint from the porous brick. Even with paint residue, the brick may be attractive, taking on the appearance of popular used brick.

A restored, natural brick surface will minimize your upkeep, compared to the annual sanding of peeling paint and repainting.

Q. I have several spots on a sisal floor covering in our den. Can you advise on spot-cleaning sisal? I have never dealt with this problem.

A. Immediate attention is the key to stain removal. For most water-base spills and general dirt, blot up the spilled substance with

Smoke detector pointers

Once you've installed smoke detectors, don't forget to keep them clean and periodically check batteries.

■ Test each smoke detector once a week. If a battery replacement is necessary, replace with an exact duplicate and recheck the detector after installing the new battery.

SOURCE: Time/Life's "Home Emergencies"

■ You also can buy smoke-detector aerosol to spray at the detector. The detector should sound.

■ Clean the detector at least every six months. Cobwebs, dust and debris can inhibit its sensitivity. Wipe the outside and inside of the cover with a damp cloth. Vacuum the inside mechanisms with a vacuum cleaner's brush attachment.

Copley News Service/Dan Clifford

white paper towels and then brush or sponge the discolored area with small amounts of lukewarm water and a little detergent or carpet shampoo. Do not saturate. Dry the matting quickly with a hair dryer.

For stronger oil-base stains, dampen a clean white cloth with dry-cleaning fluid and blot up the stain. Dry with a hair dryer. If the spots are stubborn, use 1 part white vinegar to 2 parts water. Work mixture into spot and leave on for one minute. Wipe with clean water and blot dry with a white cotton towel.

Lay 1/2-inch of white paper toweling over the spot and place a weight on top to help blot out any excess moisture. In good weather you can let it air dry, otherwise use the hair dryer.

Q. The smell of cat urine penetrates one of our rooms where the animal was left unattended for a long period of time. The smell remains in the room, even after I removed both the carpeting and the padding. Do you have any suggestions on how to get rid of this offensive odor?

A. Here is some good news for this common, difficult problem. "Nature's Miracle," manufactured by Pets & People, Inc. (5312 Ironwood St., Rancho Palos Verdes, CA 90274) is effective in the treatment of organic odors and stains. It is available in most pet stores and comes in pints, quarts or gallon containers.

This product can be used for spot treatment on carpets and furniture as well as the entire foundation. Your problem sounds more serious than spot treatment.

Since the odor remains after you have already removed both carpet and padding, you may have to treat the entire floor. If you have hardwood flooring, you will need to strip off the old finish and apply this solution to the bare wood to neutralize the disagreeable materials that have penetrated the wood.

After treatment you will need to refinish the floors by sanding and applying a new varnish or polyurethane finish.

You may find that the wood is stained permanently, darkened in areas where the urine penetrated. A commercial wood bleach used prior to refinishing can be helpful in diminishing this staining.

If the foundation is concrete instead of wood, the problem is more difficult because of the porous nature of concrete.

Saturate the entire area with "Nature's Miracle." It sometimes takes up to a week to achieve results. Even though the surface may appear to be dry, it will take longer for the moisture level inside the concrete to dissipate and odors can remain during this period.

It may take more than one application to correct the problem.

If you still have pets around during this type of treatment, it is best to cover the area with heavy aluminum foil (perforated with holes of ventilation). When the odor is still present, pets are attracted to the area and are inclined to repeat the offense. Placing a dish of food on the foil is an added deterrent, as pets rarely contaminate an area where food is present.

After the treatment has removed the offensive odor, seal the concrete with a good masonry sealer prior to the installation of new padding and carpeting.

Q. I want to replace the wallpaper in my kitchen. Do you have any recommendations on what type of paper would be most durable and withstand washing. The area behind the stove has been particularly difficult to keep clean, due to grease splatters.

I like wallpaper designs, so I would prefer repapering to painting. Please give me any suggestions you might have.

A. There are a number of durable, washable vinyls on the market. I prefer one of the fabric-backed vinyls for durability in areas such as kitchens and baths. These are harder to find than the paper-backed vinyl coverings, and you may find the design selection in fabric-backed vinyls too limiting. Either fabric-backed or paper-backed vinyl papers will be suitable.

To eliminate the problem of grease buildup in the area behind the range/oven, cover the paper in this area with a sheet of clear plastic or acrylic. The design will show through, but the covering will protect the wall-covering during frequent washings.

When to fertilize trees, shrubs and lawns to reap what you sow

If grass or other plants are growing under the tree, it may be necessary to apply the fertilizer in two or three applications with thorough watering after each application.

• Drill-hole application: It is generally thought that larger shade trees require more fertilizer than surface applications can provide. Rates recommended for larger trees would stimulate excessive growth of ground covers and lawns; if fertilization rates become high enough, toxic effects to ground covers could occur.

Also, research shows that phosphate does not move downward in soil. Therefore, subsurface placement of fertilizer using drill-hole application is the best method.

Use an auger, crowbar or soil sampling tube to drill holes into the soil over tree roots. Holes should be 1-1/2 inches in diameter, 12 to 18 inches deep and spaced about 2 inches apart arranged in concentric circles beginning 1 inch from the trunk and extending at least 1 to 2 inches beyond the spread of the branches.

Distribute fertilizer uniformly among the holes using a funnel. Then fill the holes with topsoil or a soil amendment such as peat moss or perlite.

SHRUBS

For individual specimen shrubs, use 1/2 to 1 pound 10-10-10 or equivalent per plant.

For a group of shrubs, use 2 to 4 pounds 10-10-10 or equivalent per 100 square feet.

For hedges, use 4 pounds 10-10-10 or equivalent per 100 linear feet; place half the amount along each side of the hedge.

Fertilizers should be broadcast on the soil surface over the roots and watered in, between mid-April and mid-May.

For broadleaf evergreens, use 2 to 4 pounds 10-10-10 per 100 square feet. The amount may be split into two applications, one in early spring and the second after flowering.

Organic fertilizers such as cottonseed meal, which contains nitrogen in the organic form, is satisfactory for fertilizing acid-loving broadleaf evergreens. Apply organic fertilizers at a rate of 4 to 5 pounds per 100 square feet.

LAWNS

Lawn fertilizers with nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium in the ratio of 3-1-2 or 5-1-2 are most efficient for established lawns, but any general-purpose fertilizer such as 10-10-10 will do as a substitute. No more than 3 to 4 pounds of actual nitrogen should be applied to 1,000 square feet of lawn in a given year.

Large amounts of nitrogen promote lush, tender growth susceptible to disease, resulting in higher maintenance needs. Read directions on the bag label.

Combinations of organic sources of fertilizers such as nitrogranite, seaweed, dried blood and wood ash can be used to supply nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium in place of commercial fertilizers on lawns. Manures often carry weed seeds; therefore, I don't recommend them for lawns.

This porcelain bust was made about 1900 and might sell in excess of $1,000.

Porcelain bust was made in Bavaria

By Anne McCollam
Copley News Service

Q. I am anxiously looking forward to any information you can give me on the porcelain bust in this photograph.

A. On the bottom it is marked "R St K—Turn-Teplitz—Bohemia—Austria."

The information that we have is that it was made in a Teplitz factory in Bohemia about 1920.

A. Your porcelain bust was made by the Amphora Porzellan Fabrik that was founded in 1892 by Riessner & Kessel in Turn-Teplitz, Bohemia. Generally, pieces with marks that included Austria were made before World War I. "Czechoslovakia" was usually part of the mark after World War I.

Many of their vases, figurines and busts were produced for export. Your porcelain bust was made around 1900. Busts similar to this are seen in antique shops in excess of $1,000.

Q. I recently inherited a set of burgundy and ivory dishes with this mark incised on the back of each piece. I would appreciate it if you could tell me the value of this set of dishes.

A. Can we talk?

In order to place a realistic value on your set of dishes, it is important to provide a detailed description. You need to itemize and be specific.

However, I can tell you that these dishes were made by E.J.D. Bodley in Burslem, Staffordshire, England. The diamond-shaped mark is the English registry mark that was used between 1868 and 1883.

The Roman numerals "IV" on the registry mark represent which type of material the piece is made; the Arabic number "9" at the top stands for the day of the month; the letter "K" at the right represents the year the piece was registered; the "C" shows it was made in January; No. "4" is the parcel number; "Rd." means the object is registered.

Your dishes were registered on Jan. 9, 1883. The diamond registry marks were discontinued after 1883. "Iolanthé" is the name of the pattern.

If you have a dessert service of around 20 pieces made in the late 1800s, the value would probably be about $1,800 to $2,700.

Q. Perhaps you can tell me the value of my antique lady's watch. It is a Waltham, 15 jewels, double-faced gold, and 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Both the front and back of the case are engraved. The case is marked with the words "Made of 2 Plates of Solid Gold and Guaranteed to Wear for 25 Years."

The watch is in excellent condition and keeps perfect time. It has been in our family for close to 100 years.

A. When a watch case is marked "Guaranteed to Wear for 25 Years," it means it is gold filled rather than solid gold.

Waltham made your watch around 1900. It would probably be worth about $125 to $135.

Q. I have bronze bookends in the shape of lions. They are 6 inches high and 5 inches long. On the back are the following words: "Copy Right 1926 — Gift House Inc. — NYC—Solid Bronze."

Q. Could you tell me anything about these bookends?

A. Bookends were popular in the early 1900s. They were usually made of cast iron, bronze, brass or carved wood. Yours were made in the late 1920s to 1930s. They would probably be worth about $110 to $125.

Q. Around seven years ago my sister gave me a "Pee-wee Herman" talking doll. He is 18 inches tall, is dressed in a gray suit with a red bow tie and white shoes. He talks when the string on his back is pulled. A label that is attached to his shirt says "Matchbox Toys Ltd."

Q. Does he have any value?

A. In the 1980s Pee-wee Herman was popular with both children and adults as a movie and television entertainer. Depending on the area of the country, Pee-wee Herman talking dolls are seen in antique shops for anywhere from $25 to $150 in good condition.

Q. I have a Loetz vase. It has a cylindrical shape that flares outward at the top. The color is an iridescent gold and the height is 4 inches.

Q. Could you give me an idea when my vase was made and what it is worth?

A. Johann Loetz began producing art glass in Austria in the late 1890s. He was a former employee of the Tiffany factory and this background influenced much of his work. Most of the Loetz glass was unsigned.

The value of your vase would probably be in the $285 to $325 range.

As refinancing falls, new home buying is on the rise; buying foreclosures strapped for immediate cash," he said. "Several special loan programs are designed to help these folks."

Last year the boom in refinance loans was experienced by most mortgage lenders throughout the country. With the lowest interest rates in a generation, many alert homeowners jumped on the refinance wagon and saved a lot of money, both short and long term.

On average, homeowners who refinanced their loan shaved four years off their loan term, reduced their interest rate from 9.1 percent to 7.2 percent and saved more than $60,000 in interest payments, according to a recent study by Fannie Mae (Federal National Mortgage Corp.).

"Consumers who refinanced last year into 30-year mortgage loans benefited immediately by a much lower interest rate and monthly payment," the study said. "As homeowners shortened the term of their loans, they shaved an average 46 months off the length of their mortgage, will be able to build equity faster, and will save a substantial amount in interest over the life of their loan."

The Fannie Mae study revealed that most homeowners who refinanced their mortgage during the past year opted for a 30-year, fixed-rate loan (54.2 percent of homeowners). Many others selected a shorter-term fixed-rate loan, and only 3.3 percent requested an adjustable-rate mortgage.

Overall, 91.4 percent of homeowners refinancing their mortgage chose a fixed-rate loan.

Mortgage interest rates bottomed-out in October 1993 when the average 30-year, fixed-rate loan carried a rate of only 6.7 percent. In February, the average rate was 7.19 percent, according to Fannie Mae. They have continued to experience a gradual climb, since then.

"While mortgage interest rates are somewhat higher, they remain very attractive and we don't expect to see rates spike up at all," said a Fannie Mae spokesman. "And while we have seen the refinancing market slowing, we also see the home purchase mortgage market pick up. We expect 1994 to be a great year for first-time home buyers."

Fannie Mae—the nation's largest source of home mortgage funds—now predicts 1994 will be the best year for home sales since 1978.

One particularly interesting new type of home mortgage involves a concept whereby there is no reduction in the loan's principal balance. Instead, that money is fed into an insurance fund, thus generating a growing fund that can later be cashed-in by the borrower.

The new loan, called an endowment mortgage, provides a variety of special benefits for borrowers. It's currently the mortgage loan of choice in the United Kingdom but is virtually unknown in the United States.

Q. Is it practical for a prospective buyer to personally handle a "home inspection" of the property being considered for purchase?

A. Yes, if the buyer has the basic knowledge and ability to tackle that task.

Home inspections have become a lucrative field for an increasing number of real estate practitioners. But a newer trend is for prospective home buyers to handle the inspection, guided by professional input.

Several do-it-yourself books on this subject are available.

Q. Is buying a foreclosed home a risky business?

A. Very risky. Be sure you understand every aspect of the foreclosure procedure before committing yourself. On the other hand, if you have studied this specialized investment field carefully, it could generate substantial profits for you.

Questions may be used in future columns; personal responses should not be expected. Send inquiries to James M. Woodard, Copley News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, CA 92112-0190.

Four put skills in counseling to work in Highland

By ANNE SEEBALDT GOGOLIN
Special Writer

Four Oakland County women are putting their counseling experience to work in Highland Township.

The opening of Highland Family Counseling in August 1993 was the direct product of Highland resident Judy Stepanian's inspiration.

Stepanian's sister, Barbara Zurlinden, co-worker Carol Dolan, and Zurlinden's friend Louise Taplan joined her in this business venture.

Taplan took some convincing to join the others in private practice.

"Barbara called me, and said, 'my sister (Judy), and I and a friend are going into private practice. Would you like to join us?'"

Taplan, who works with severely mentally ill patients, said that she was very busy and could she think about it. Zurlinden gave Taplan constant encouragement and eventually persuaded her to join Highland Family Counseling. All four women are licensed professional counselors and have specialized educational and professional backgrounds which include family and group counseling.

Zurlinden explained the motivation behind the new business. "We all love counseling."

Stepanian said: "What also got me into this is that I wanted to be my own boss." Her three partners credit Stepanian with being the "firestarter" of the group. She pulled everyone together.

Stepanian emphasized that counseling is important as a means to help others "cope with life's changes, life's stressors. I personally believe that everyone needs counseling at some point. Counseling makes you take your life out of yourself and look at it. You can see which parts you want to change or alter from a different perspective."

Counseling may be short-lived and designed to resolve a specific situation or it may take longer to resolve client issues.

Taplan explained the process. "We help them set realistic goals, and when the client determines when the goals are met, the counseling is completed."

Stepanian stated: "Obviously, we're not in it for the money." Highland Family Counseling's rates presently are set at $30 per session and $15 per group member per session. Dolan said that the idea to start a counseling practice germinated when Stephanie and Dolan discovered in May 1993 that the elementary school counseling program that they had developed and implemented probably would be discontinued.

"We didn't want to give up counseling," Dolan said. "We gained a lot of knowledge and experience working with parents and children." Stephanie and Dolan also worked with resources in Wayne County to help address the problems of children and their families.

Dolan, who teaches once more in the Plymouth-Canton school district after three years of school counseling work, said that she thinks that counseling has made her a better teacher.

Stepanian explained that each counselor brings a different viewpoint and specialty to the workplace.

"We help them set realistic goals, and when the client determines when the goals are met, the counseling is completed."

Louise Taplan
Counselor/Certified Social Worker

Dolan said that her specialty counseling area is working with very young children. "I use play therapy," she said. "Children have a hard time verbalizing their problems or feelings. The purpose of play therapy is to help children express how they feel and articulate their problems."

Dolan also runs diverse group counseling sessions for children and parents.

"The best thing about groups is that they help both children and adults to know they're not alone," she said.

Stepanian teaches special education part-time at Canton High School. She is available every afternoon, evenings and weekends. She also manages the office and assigns cases.

Stepanian earned a masters degree in counseling and development and a bachelors degree in special education. She counsels, children, adolescents and adults. Her specialties include conflict resolution with children, school and self-esteem issues for children, and women's issues such as infertility and single life.

Taplan said that she and Zurlinden both have enjoyed the addition of family counseling to their work.

"We want to deal with a different kind of counseling," Taplan said. She explained that her full-time counseling job involves more of a medical emphasis. "It's like treating an illness rather than leading people to resolve their own issues," she said. "Clients here are usually not as severe—we can guide them to alternatives and let them pick."

Taplan also has a masters degree in counseling. She also is a certified social worker. Her counseling specializations include grief and loss, Gestalt (a specific counseling technique), adult conflict resolution, adolescents older than 13, and stress management.

Zurlinden said that another motivation to join the business was an interest in maintaining counseling skills that were not a part of her full-time job. She added: "I love working with families."

Zurlinden does work with families to some degree in her full-time position, but said that she doesn't have the chance to observe the impact of her family-related counseling there.

"My specialty is substance abuse (counseling)," she added. She encourages families of substance abusers to seek help "because often they don't—they keep it a secret."

Zurlinden has a Bachelors degree in Sociology and a Master of Arts degree in counseling. She brings to the staff 20 years of job experience relating to social work, mental health and addiction. She counsels others with regard to adult and divorce-related issues and leads assertiveness training workshops.

Stepanian, Taplan, and Zurlinden agree that in many cases, the client's situation affects or is affected by the family.

Taplan said that talking to other family members and observing family interactions helps a counselor to gain insight into their clients' problems.

Stepanian and Dolan are Highland residents. Taplan and Zurlinden live in neighboring communities.

All four counselors said that they believe it is important for clients to understand that they are bound by a counseling code of ethics. This is such a vital issue that each discusses the matter with new clients and gives them a professional disclosure statement to "take home and examine."

Zurlinden explained: "The client has a right to know who we are and what we have to offer."

Each woman agreed with Taplan's statement that the professional relationship between the client and the counselor is the most important aspect of counseling.

PRAYER to the Holy Spirit. Holy Spirit, you who make me see everything and who showed me the way to reach my ideal. You who gave me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me and who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen. Thank you for your love towards me and my loved ones. Say for 3 consecutive days without mentioning your person and your prayer will be answered. Promise to publish this prayer. Also wish to thank Blessed Mother, St. Joseph and St. Jude. LB.

THE family of Alice E. Rogers wishes to express their gratitude for the kindness shown to their loved ones during her recent illness and her passing. We especially want to thank Dr. Stuber, the nurses and staff of Hospice, Rev. Ben Bohnsack, our many wonderful friends and neighbors and the Hermann Funeral Home. Your special thoughts, visits, phone calls, flowers and cards will never be forgotten.

PRAYER to the Holy Spirit. Holy Spirit, you who make me see everything and who showed me the way to reach my ideal. You who gave me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me and who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen. Thank you for your love towards me and my loved ones. Say for 3 consecutive days without mentioning your person and your prayer will be answered. Promise to publish this prayer. Also wish to thank Blessed Mother, St. Joseph and St. Jude. LB.

THE family of Alice E. Rogers wishes to express their gratitude for the kindness shown to their loved ones during her recent illness and her passing. We especially want to thank Dr. Stuber, the nurses and staff of Hospice, Rev. Ben Bohnsack, our many wonderful friends and neighbors and the Hermann Funeral Home. Your special thoughts, visits, phone calls, flowers and cards will never be forgotten.

BIG SAVINGS For Spring

Shhh.....
WE'RE PAYING YOUR 2% SALES TAX INCREASE!!!

You are invited to an exclusive event that will happen only once, and will not be repeated. Starting May 4th thru May 9th this invitation allows you to save before the crowds get to our "Tent Sale", May 10th thru May 31st.

Just bring in the "Sales Tax Coupon" below and we will pay you the 2% Michigan State Tax increase, which took place May 1, 1994... it's like turning back the hands of time. 2% Coupon offer is good on retail purchase of any new Ranger of Escort in stock.

You could save over $1,700 on a new 94 Escort LX sport with standard driver's side air bag... or, save over $2,000 on a new 94 Ranger XLT.

SALES TAX COUPON

We'll pay you the 2% Michigan Sales Tax Difference on any new Ranger or Escort in stock. (1)

PLUS: • Low factory financing • All factory incentives apply • No money down options • Immediate delivery • Easy on-the-spot financing • Just bring your title • And you'll get Hilltop Ford's lowest selling price

FORD, LINCOLN & MERCURY

1. Provided you register the vehicle in Michigan on or before May 31, 1994 and you pay the Six (6%) Michigan Sales Tax. 2. To qualified buyers with approved credit. 3. Retail sales only, A, X, or Z Plans EXCLUDED.

NEW HOME—CONSTRUCTION FINANCING

GO WITH CHELSEA LUMBER — THE STATE'S ONLY ONE-STOP SOURCE—FOR BOTH MONEY AND MATERIALS!

THINK A NEW HOME'S OUT OF THE QUESTION? DON'T BE SO SURE!

TO MAKE OUR CONSTRUCTION FINANCING PLAN WORK, YOUR CONTRIBUTION OF LABOR, CASH AND THE EQUITY YOU MAY ALREADY HAVE IN A BUILDING SITE SHOULD EQUAL ABOUT 20% OF THE FINAL VALUE OF YOUR NEW HOME — ANY COMBINATION OF THE THREE WILL DO (MORE LABOR BY YOU AND YOUR FRIENDS CUTS THE AMOUNT OF CASH YOU'LL NEED — AND SO ON). IF THESE NUMBERS ADD UP AND AFTER NORMAL LIVING COSTS YOUR FAMILY INCOME COVERS YOUR MORTGAGE PAYMENTS — YOU CAN BE ON YOUR WAY TO A NEW HOME!

YOUR PART OF THE DEAL

- PICK THE HOUSE PLAN THAT FITS YOUR FAMILY AND CHOOSE THE SITE FOR YOUR NEW HOME.
IF YOU'RE BUYING A SITE NOW, WE CAN ADVANCE THE CASH TO PAY IT OFF.
- ACT AS YOUR OWN CONTRACTOR. (DON'T WORRY — WE'LL HELP!)
- PUT SOME OF YOUR OWN LABOR INTO THE PROCESS.
(THE TIME YOU & YOUR FRIENDS CONTRIBUTE REPLACES CASH.)

OUR PART OF THE DEAL

- WE'LL SUPPLY THE MATERIALS & 100% OF THE CASH FOR "OUTSIDE" SERVICES & SUPPLIES.
(THOSE NOT PROVIDED BY YOU OR CHELSEA LUMBER.)
- WE PROVIDE FULL GUIDANCE — FOOTING TO FINISH.
— AND —
- LOW-COST CONSTRUCTION FINANCING
12.9% SIMPLE INTEREST AND ONLY AS YOU USE THE MONEY — COMPARE!

NO FRONT-END OR INTERIM PAYMENTS — NO PAYMENTS UNTIL YOUR HOME IS FINISHED!

NOW MEET THE FOLKS WHO CAN MAKE CHELSEA LUMBER'S CONSTRUCTION FINANCING PLAN WORK FOR YOU:

PrimeTrim

- A precision engineered S4S, all-wood fiber composite
- Factory primed and oven-baked face and 2 edges —ready for application of top coat.
- No short lengths. Comes in 16' lengths with no finger joints to check through finish.
- Smooth, no-grain surface eliminates grain raise which can cause paint to peel or check.
- No knots, knot holes, wane, pitch pockets, honey comb, surface checks or finger joints.
- Resists warping, cupping, twisting, splitting, checking and paint peeling.

PrimeTrim™ COMES IN "WASTE-LESS" 16' LENGTHS ONLY!

Compare our quality—we've done a lot of self improvement!

We've gotten really picky about the lumber we sell. Visit our lumber department and you'll find better quality than before... even better quality than most of our competitors sell.

We carry the ideal lumber for all types of projects!

This is the place to find the materials you need for any project from furniture making to fence building. We've got:

- Hardwood Boards from Weyerhaeuser. Clear, top quality boards perfect for hobbyists, cabinet makers, and furniture builders.
- Appearance Boards for those projects that require a good quality board that's free of holes and easy to work.
- Studs for building straight, true walls. We carry a premium grade as well as the typical stud grade.
- Dimension Lumber selected to give you the strength characteristics necessary for floor joists, roof rafters, etc.
- Treated Lumber that's warranted for as long as you own your home. Warranty covers damage by termites or decay that would make the lumber structurally unfit for the application for which it was intended.
