

Sprinkling restrictions are on in township

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Timing is everything, they say. Case in point: Northville Township's new ordinance restricting lawn sprinkling in the event of a water shortage. Passed two weeks ago by the board of trustees, it goes into effect only if the state or city of Detroit declare a water emergency.

That, everyone said at the time, is a very rare event — so rare it's happened only once in the past six years. Until last week. Yep, you guessed it — the metro area's highly publicized recent water troubles have led the Michigan Department of Health and Detroit Water and Sewerage Department to declare an emergency. They've asked several communities in the area — including the township — to enforce restrictions on sprinkling. Northville City, officials there confirm, is also under the restrictions as well.

So, until further notice, all property owners should take note of these rules:

- Sprinkling of lawns is allowed on an odd-even basis. Properties with even-numbered addresses can sprinkle on even-numbered dates, those with odd-numbered addresses on odd-numbered dates.
- Sprinkling can only take place from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. and from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. The restrictions do not apply to hand-held, attended hose sprinkling.

Those caught violating the ordinance will be ticketed and fined $100 per offense. How long will it all go on? It's anybody's guess. Some estimate that the restrictions might continue all summer, Clerk Sue Hillebrand said.

The Detroit system has experienced a number of water main breaks in the last week, leading to low pressure levels and low reserves. The problem could get worse, officials say, and if it does the restrictions would get worse as well. The township and city could declare a ban on sprinkling and on additional water taps if that proves necessary. The last time a water emergency took place was during the summer of 1988's infamous drought. It led state officials to ask local communities to enact ordinances restricting water use when it or a local county health department declared an emergency.

For more information or a copy of the ordinance, call the clerk's office at Township Hall, 348-5800. The text of the ordinance was also published in last week's issue of The Northville Record.

Edenderry study backs road links

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

The long-awaited traffic study of a proposed Northville Township subdivision's road plan is out. Residents who live next to where it's supposed to go, however, probably aren't going to like its conclusions.

How they feel about the study — and how it will affect the decision of the township's planning commission on the proposed Woods of Edenderry subdivision — will soon be seen. The group's members will discuss it and the plan itself this Tuesday night, June 28.

Woods of Edenderry is a proposal for a 104-lot subdivision incorporating the provisions of the township open space ordinances, something which requires special commission approval.

The open space option is a tradeoff of sorts: the developer is allowed to deviate from a parcel's normal zoning requirements in return for his plan for open space and preservation of the site's natural features.

The development would sit on 77 acres of land north of Six Mile and south of Edenderry Hills, located south of Seven Mile. The plan to link the Woods streets with one or more of the Edenderry subdivision streets has unleashed a storm of opposition from residents in the area.

The plan considers extending Edenderry Drive — which begins at Seven Mile and dead ends at the southern edge of Edenderry Hills — to Six Mile. Also on the table are connections of Pinebrook and Shadbrook — two small streets near Edenderry Drive — into the Woods street system.

A connection to western subdivisions — via the now under-construction Rustic Hills street — would allow ingress and egress to and from Woods via Beck Road.

Wayne County and township officials have said that at least some of the connections must be made for better area traffic flow and quicker emergency vehicle access.

Residents of the area, however, say the connections would increase traffic on their quiet streets, creating safety hazards and ruining their neighborhood-like atmosphere.

4th parade features loads of family fun

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

Barrels of Bozos will fill the streets this Fourth of July during Northville's annual Independence Day parade and festivities.

"Clowns Galore in '94," this year's parade theme, will feature more than 50 marching bands, floats, animal groups, political candidates, classic antique cars and one local superstar.

Larry Santos, a children's singer, will be the Grand Marshal for the parade.

Santos will sing "The Star-Spangled Banner" at the clock area on Main before the parade begins at 10 a.m.

Parade Chairwoman Debbie McDonald said she is excited about this year's parade because there will be many attractions that Northville residents have never seen before.

The Flying Aces, a professional Frisbee-throwing team, will perform a demonstration at 9 a.m. in the clock area until the parade starts. The team has performed in more than 4,700 shows in the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico. The Flying Aces' demonstration is being sponsored by Simkins & Simkins, a Northville law firm.

During the demonstration, Northville High School cheerleaders will be dressed as clowns and handing out 1,000 balloons to children.

There will also be a pet parade for children who would like to march. McDonald said she has made concessions for water and a wagon will be available in case pets get hot or tired. Children who wish to participate in the pet parade, which is sponsored by Leisure Time Pets, do not need to register in advance but must go to the Northville Downs parking lot before the parade. All participants will receive ribbons.

Kids can also participate in the bicycle parade, which is being sponsored by Town and Country Cyclery. Prizes will be given away for the best decorated bikes. Gift certificates of $25, $15 and $10 at Town and Country will be awarded to the first, second and third place finishers.

Any child wanting to participate in the bike parade must go to the Northville Downs parking lot before the parade starts.

Keeping cool

There's only one thing to do when the thermometer reaches over 90: head to the beach. That's what 4-year-old Chelsea LaQue of Novi did this week, when her parents took her to cool off at Lakeshore Park Beach on Walled Lake, the closest beach in the area.

State gives estimate for per-pupil funding

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

The state of Michigan estimates that it will allocate $6,528 per-pupil to the Northville Public School District next year.

Last year the Northville school district spent $6,364 on each of its 4,300 students — about $154 less than what the state is proposing for next year.

The higher figure, though, is still $9 less than expected, resulting in a loss of almost $39,000 to the district. But the damage won't be too detrimental, said Director of Business and Finance John Street.

Initially, Street estimated there was about $300,000 available in the budget for priority items. The amount, however, turned out to be closer to $380,000, so the priority items budget is essentially back where it began.

In the upcoming days, Street will examine the estimated figures from the state to determine if they are correct. If he disagrees with the dollar total, he can appeal to the state for an adjustment.

Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski presented parents with a priority list from each of the schools at a public hearing on budget issues June 13. The list totaled about $1.2 million.

The board of education's finance subcommittee examined the priority list, a summary of concerns expressed by parents and the per-pupil funding figure on Wednesday, after Northville Record deadline.

Approval of the 1994-95 school year budget will appear on the agenda of the board of education's June 27 meeting.

The school district's fiscal year begins July 1.

In past years, Northville was funded directly from local property taxes. With the passage of Proposal A on March 15, however, the funding scheme changed, and now all Michigan public school districts receive per-pupil allotments from the state.

Parents question equal education opportunities

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

Northville's learning program for gifted children has been under fire lately from a group of parents who feel their children are being short-changed when it comes to educational opportunities.

The Accelerated Learning Program for Students (ALPS), an enriched educational program that stresses critical thinking, has been the focal point of the controversy.

Dispute over the program snowballed last month as parents addressed the board of education with their concerns and flooded The Northville Record with letters both supporting and opposing the program.

Kim Voytal, a parent with two school-age children, said the district has many bright and talented students and all children should receive the same opportunities offered to ALPS students.

"Parents on the outside of the ALPS program really feel that the opportunities available to those kids are very different and more than what the kids in the traditional program are getting," she said.

Voytal made a solo appearance at the Northville Board of Education's first May meeting to express her concern about the program and then returned two weeks later with a petition with 150 signatures.

The petition stated that all children should have equal opportunities for enrichment and that parents hold the board accountable for providing equity. The petition is still circulating LIBRARY MEETING: What does the Northville community want in a library?

That's the question that will be addressed Wednesday, June 29, at a keep-in-touch-with-the-community session at Northville Township Hall.

Representatives of the Friends of the Northville Public Library, the Northville District Public Library Board and the staff of the Northville Public Library will be on hand from 7:30 to 9 p.m. to listen to and answer questions from Northville area residents.

Janine Bauchat, president of Friends, and Wendy Gutowski of the library board, expect most of the questions to revolve around services, library hours and the size of the book collection.

Community voters approved a 1-mill request for library revenues on May 3 and library officials must decide which programs to fund. A second request to sell bonds to finance a new library building also passed.

ARTS MEMBERSHIPS: The Northville Arts Commission is offering memberships in the Friends of the Arts for $10 single and $15 family. Members are notified in advance of art activities and will be given discounts for tickets to those events. For information, call 349-6104.

DARE PROGRAM: Recent graduation ceremonies for students who went through the Drug Abuse Resistance Education program will be broadcast on Omnicom channel 15.

The ceremonies for Our Lady of Victory students will be shown at 7 p.m., Monday, June 27, and at 4 p.m. Friday, July 1.

Ceremonies for St. Paul students will be shown at 8 p.m. June 27 and at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, June 30.

Each program runs about an hour.

Friend needs help, suspicious man tells girls

Three Plymouth girls told township police that a man had made a suspicious request of them while they were in Hines Park on June 13.

The girls — two 16 and one 17 — said that the man had approached them as they walked on the cross-country track that runs near the Cass Benton Parkway. They described him as white, in his mid to late 40s, about 6 feet tall, with brown, balding hair, a mustache, glasses and looking "out of shape" with a large stomach. The man wore a black T-shirt and speedo underwear or shorts.

Two men were holding his friend in the woods, the man told the girls, and he needed their help. He added that she was being made to take her clothes off.

When the girls offered to call the police, the man said that the two would hurt his friend if they came. The girls then offered to get some "big guys" to help the man. He said that the men were leaving the area.

That led the girls to leave, going to police headquarters. All three said they felt the man was soon going to ask them to go into the woods with him. Police checked the area without success; the case remains open.

VANDALISM: Unknown persons damaged the 1988 Lincoln Town Car belonging to a Queen Anne Court resident on June 16 or 17.

The 72-year-old man told township police on Friday that someone had smashed the vehicle's windshield with a beer bottle during the night. Police have no leads; damage was estimated at $500.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY: A 24-year-old woman reported that her boyfriend assaulted her after an argument about his social habits.

The woman told police the argument began after she became angry because he went to Woolly Bully's for the night. She left him a nasty note telling him to grow up and stop drinking.

When the man returned home, the two began to argue and throw objects at each other. The fight escalated when the woman pushed the man and then he choked her to the point that she was passing out, she told police. The woman reportedly knelt her boyfriend in the groin and then rode her bike to the police station.

Later, a police officer drove the woman back to her house to gather some belongings to go to her mother's house. The man was gone but while the police officer was there, the man pulled up in his car. Police discovered he was driving with a suspended license and arrested him.

At the station, the man denied choking his girlfriend and said she was a topless dancer and they often had fights.

The officer noticed scratch marks on the man's wrists. The man said his girlfriend had injured him. The woman said, however, that the marks were from a prior suicide attempt.

The woman has not contacted police to prosecute.

AUTO THEFT: Township police investigated a car theft which occurred June 17 at Meijer.

The 34-year-old Redford man reporting the incident said he parked his 1984 Buick and went into the store to shop. When he came back out, it was gone. Police have no suspects; the vehicle and property inside are estimated to be worth $6,500.

LARCENY: Police cited a 14-year-old Detroit boy for shoplifting at Meijer one week ago.

Store detectives called police after stopping the boy. They said they saw him conceal a $76 electronic organizer in a pocket and then try to leave the facility. The device was recovered and the boy was released to his mother. He faces a hearing in 35th District Court next month.

FLEEING & ELUDING: A 16-year-old Plymouth boy is under investigation for leading township police on a chase on his motorcycle last Wednesday.

The reporting officer in the case said he was westbound on Five Mile Road on the afternoon of June 15. He saw a white male about 18 years old, he said, riding a motorcycle without a helmet going east on Five Mile.

The officer turned around and activated his emergency lights. The cycle's operator, however, kept going, taking Five Mile to Willowbrook. The officer stayed in pursuit, hitting his siren as well. Still the motorcycle kept going, taking him down Ivywood and Greenbriar, eventually driving off the road and across a field. The officer was unable to follow.

A Plymouth Township officer gave information on two possible suspects. One was checked but he was not involved.

When questioned the second suspect admitted he was the motorcycle operator, the Plymouth Township officer said. The township officer told the boy and his mother that a petition would be filed in the case; it remains open.

TIRES SLASHED: The owner of the Kinder Care Learning Center on Silver Springs told police that someone had slashed her tires on June 18, causing $300 in damages.

The woman said the crime occurred between the evening of June 10 and the morning of June 13. Township police found a four-and-a-half inch bladed knife by one of the cut tires. They have no suspects.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Candidates square off for open House seat

John Schall

(Editor's note: This is one of a series of profiles of candidates for Michigan's U.S. House of Representatives' 13th District seat. The district includes Northville Township and the Wayne County portion of the city of Northville.)

Four Republicans and three Democrats have joined the race. Profiled here is Republican candidate John Schall.

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Ask him why he should be in Congress and John Schall will point to a long history of academic achievement and public service. Ask him what he'll do and the Ann Arbor Republican will focus on his forte: economics.

He hopes the combination will persuade voters in Michigan's 13th Congressional District to elect him as their next representative, taking over for the retiring Bill Ford.

An Ann Arbor resident, Schall, 33, was born and raised in Livonia. His father Tom is an retired Ford engineering supervisor; his mother Rita raised Schall and his six siblings. Schall himself is not married.

Graduating in 1978 from Redford Township's Bishop Borgess High School, Schall went to the University of Michigan. He received an honors degree in political science in 1982. He was selected as a Harry S. Truman Scholar, one of only 50 each year in America.

The four-year scholarship allowed him to attend graduate school at Harvard University. He graduated from there with a master's degree in public policy in 1984.

Involvement in Republican politics began early for Schall. He volunteered for Congressman Carl Pursell's and President Gerald Ford's campaigns at the age of 15 in 1976. He helped found U-M's Republican club in 1980, and interned for a GOP state legislator that same year. Schall spent his junior year at U-M in London, working as an intern for a Labor Party member of the British House of Commons.

After graduating from Harvard, he was selected as a presidential management intern, a government program which seeks to recruit the nation's top 150 graduate students into service each year.

Schall worked in the Reagan White House Office of Management and Budget from 1984 to 1987. After that, he served as legislative director to Republican Florida Sen. Connie Mack for a year and a half, also helping in his successful 1988 re-election campaign.

January 1989 marked the beginning of the Bush administration. Schall joined the White House as a domestic policy advisor, Bush appointing him deputy of the Domestic Policy Council. While there, Schall specialized in preparing policy recommendations on health, education, welfare and budget reform issues.

Two and a half years later, Schall was tapped to be the Chief of Staff to Lynn Martin, U.S. Secretary of Labor, managing the day-to-day activities of the 19,000-person Department of Labor.

During that time, Schall chaired the federal task force dealing with the closing of General Motors' Willow Run plant.

Since leaving the White House, Schall has been a consultant to Michigan Gov. John Engler's administration on labor issues and to the National Alliance of Business as well as individual companies.

His background, Schall said, gives him an informed perspective on economic affairs. A big issue to him is job training and re-training, something he says is absolutely necessary in today's world.

"That's what it's all about," he said. "Change will be the theme of the American economic story in the decades ahead. We must make government work better for its customers: the American people. What we really need is a plan for economic growth that capitalizes on our strengths and creates new high-paying jobs."

Schall is an ardent opponent of most Democratic plans to reform health care, the election's hottest single issue. He supports a set of limited reforms which he says will fix what's broke without ruining the entire system.

"Government-run health care is exactly the wrong way to go," he said.

Schall said that as a Congressman he would support cuts in the federal budget and the line-item veto and balanced budget amendment. He has called for campaign finance reform and reducing taxes. Welfare reform and cracking down on crime are other issues Schall cites. He describes himself as "pro-life" in the debate on abortion rights.

David Geiss

(Editor's note: This is one of a series of profiles of candidates for Michigan's U.S. House of Representatives' 13th District seat. The district includes Northville Township and the Wayne County portion of the city of Northville.)

Four Republicans and three Democrats have joined the race. Profiled here is Democratic candidate David Geiss.

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

After decades of involvement in his community, David Geiss says he understands the problems businesses and individuals face — and how he can help to solve them as a U.S. Congressman.

A candidate for Congress from Michigan's 13th District, Democrat Geiss has served as Chief of Staff for 12 years to the man he hopes to replace: Congressman Bill Ford. Geiss points to his track record of public service to explain both why he wants to run and why he should be elected.

"I think my experience is the key," Geiss said. "I know how government works and I've spent my time serving people. That's what I want to do."

The Pennsylvania native has been at it for awhile. Now 51, Geiss was born in Philadelphia in 1942, the fourth of six children. His family moved to Dearborn in 1949. Geiss graduated from Fordson High School in 1961. He attended Henry Ford Community College later that year and again in 1969.

In between, Geiss served in the U.S. Army Reserve for six years. He also has worked for a number of manufacturing firms, including the Michigan Rivet Corp. as a tool and die maker beginning in 1964.

That led to his involvement with the local United Auto Workers' union beginning in 1968. He held a number of posts with the local, including chair of the contract bargaining committee in 1969.

Geiss also served for six years (1973-79) on the Taylor City Council. In 1980 he was elected to the Wayne County Charter Commission where he helped to write the county's first home-rule charter.

1982 marked the year when Ford appointed Geiss as his campaign manager. After the successful election effort, Geiss became Ford's Chief of Staff in Washington, a position he's held until this April. The candidate has taken a leave without pay from his job to campaign for the 13th District seat.

In announcing the move, Geiss cited four issues he plans to focus on: jobs, education, health care and crime. Again, he harkens back to his experience in dealing with these problems as a citizen and in solving them as a negotiator, councilman and Congressional aide.

Health care is a key topic for Geiss, who said he's been dealing with it as a union bargainer and as Ford's assistant for decades. A more personal reason is also involved: his wife Jacqueline was diagnosed with leukemia 16 years ago; she is now in remission.

Universal coverage is the key to health care reform, Geiss said, tying it into a number of other problems America faces including federal spending, for example. He said he supports a single-payer, government-funded system but acknowledges that's it's politically unrealistic.

Job retraining is a key education issue, Geiss said, one he's been working on for years.

Geiss has called for tougher action on crime, including truth in sentencing and better enforcement of gun control laws.

"The government should try to get out of women's bodies," Geiss said in describing a strong pro-abortion-rights position.

While he supports cutting the budget, the deficit and the national debt, Geiss labeled the balanced budget amendment and line-item veto "gimmicks" that won't get the job done.

The candidate said he supports welfare reform and believes Americans must focus more on environmental issues.

Geiss is also a strong supporter of eliminating restrictions on gays to serve in the military.

MEA sounds battle cry against GOP candidates

At a poorly attended union meeting June 9 at Canton High School, school employees were urged by Julius Maddox, Michigan Education Association president, to contribute time and money to the campaigns of MEA-endorsed candidates in November.

The MEA is looking to unseat Gov. John Engler; state Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville; and state representatives Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth, and Deborah Whyman, R-Canton.

Teachers are endorsing Democrat Larry Owen for governor, and state representative candidates Gerald Law (Republican, 20th House District), Mary Haney (Democrat, 20th District) and Donna Clark, (Democrat 21st House District).

"These people (Vorva, Geake and Whyman) voted to strip you of your bargaining rights," said a flier sent to the district's teachers. "They don't call it (Senate Bill 5128 outlawing teacher strikes) that, but that's what they did. It is in all our interests to replace them in the next session of the state Legislature."

Gov. John Engler, said Maddox, is a "master politician and a horrible policy maker. His control of his party is so complete that he's been able to make Republicans do and vote for things they said they'd never support."

Engler's agenda is to have school employees work for less and get less in benefits, he claimed. "We've been under attack for four years and sold out by the Legislature. This is politics, so the solution must be political," he said.

Maddox said he's urged his family and friends to register to vote. He implored school employees to do the same.

"I told my sons my livelihood and retirement is at stake, and that I don't clothe and shelter people who don't support me," he said.

"If someone loves you and they are not going to vote to help protect you; well, some things are not negotiable."

The MEA spent $1.5 million to defeat Proposal A, approved by voters last March. Under Proposal A, by the second year, all school districts will get less money, he said. "The mess we're in is not due to anything we (MEA members) have done."

Here's what MEA members are urged to do:

1. Give money — $15 per member to the union campaign and $25 each to every MEA-endorsed candidate.

2. Work at least 10 hours for every MEA-endorsed candidate.

Handouts were distributed so people could volunteer to campaign. Applications for absentee ballots also were distributed.

Maddox said 40 percent of the electorate votes straight Republican, 40 percent straight Democratic, while the rest are split. "That's the group we need to pull at least 11 percent from to win," he said.

The union excluded citizens from the meeting and asked a reporter to leave before the question-and-answer session.

Union leaders asked members to spread the word about Law, but not to put it in writing.

Vorva said the MEA's agenda is clear. "What they want to do is replace enough of the legislators who voted for the very reasonable and proper law of giving sanctions to people who violate the law."

"They want to reinstitute the property tax to where it was before, raise the income tax and leave a 5- or 6-cent sales tax so they can all have more money, not help out kids."

"If you want special interests to set the agenda, vote for Gerry Law. It's that simple."

Vorva said the MEA doesn't care whether property taxes are so high that "people can't afford to live in their homes. They've told me emphatically before they don't care if crime goes up or whether there's enough money for other social services, police and fire. They only care about themselves."

"The MEA thinks people are stupid. They want to threaten you, hold your children hostage and extort more money out of you."

Northville choir students help kick off World Cup festivities

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

Some 40 Northville High School choir students got a chance to participate in a small piece of Michigan history Friday at the Silverdome.

The Northville students, along with choir students from other area high schools, participated in the opening ceremonies for the World Cup soccer tournament before the United States and Switzerland took the field and tied 1-1 in the opening round.

Students carried May poles with colored streamers representing every county in the tournament and also participated in the closing ceremonies, which included students carrying 15-foot exploding balloons.

"It was amazing," said Mary Kay Pryce, the choir teacher at the high school. "It was a gigantic affair."

Pryce said the students had three rehearsal sessions that lasted about 10 hours total.

Participation in the World Cup opening ceremonies was just one way Northville's choir groups are making a name for themselves.

In January 1993, the Northville Singers, a 16-member ensemble and the concert choir, a 65-member group, will sing at the 50th annual Midwestern Music Educators' Conference, which will be held at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Pryce said performing at the conference is a great honor. She submitted recordings of the choir to conference organizers for the first time this year and was selected while other schools have submitted recordings for years and have never been picked.

Northville also received national exposure when the concert choir sang The National Anthem at Wrigley Field May 22 before a Chicago Cubs baseball game.

May 19 the Northville Singers, girls ensemble and the concert choir released a 13-song compact disc. Twelve of the songs were a cappella, featuring South African melodies, Renaissance and 20th century music.

The CD was produced by Hourglass Productions and took about 12 hours to complete.

Anyone interested in purchasing the CD can contact Pryce at 348-8895. The CDs cost $15 and cassette tapes are $10.

Sewer sale's going down the drain

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Salem Township is probably out of luck in its bid to buy some of Northville Township's sewer capacity.

The Northville township board of trustees at its meeting tonight will decide to accept or reject that community's request. If the way the board felt about it at its June 16 study session is any indication, the answer's going to be no.

The trustees centered their discussion of the request around two basic issues: capacity and cost. Two basic questions were considered: Can the township afford to spare any flow capacity, and, if it can, what would the price be?

Most of the board questioned whether the township could afford it, given the unpredictability of future growth and concurrent demands on the waste disposal system. Even if the capacity were available, however, the pricetag the trustees had in mind seemed too high for its neighboring community to afford.

Salem Township wants to build a sewer system for the hamlet of Salem—the original area of the township and home to many low-income families. The system would eliminate a decades-old sewage disposal problem there.

The sewer has to take the waste somewhere. Salem engineers say the best solution is for it to hook into the Western Townships Utilities Authority (WTUA) system via Northville Township. Salem's looking for the township to agree to sell about 50,000 gallons a day of flow capacity. That's enough for about 250 homes; about 110 are in the hamlet now.

Officials submitted the request two weeks ago and have asked for the township's answer before the end of the month. That's the deadline Salem faces for applying to the state for a $400,000 loan to help pay for the $1.5 million system. A conceptual OK of flow capacity sale from Northville, officials feel, would improve Salem's chances of getting it.

Many on the board expressed dissatisfaction with the lack of time to consider the proposal, saying they weren't comfortable in making a decision so quickly.

"This discussion should have been had a long time ago," Clerk Sue Hillebrand said.

The fact that Salem Township is looking only for a basic, non-binding conceptual motion of agreement didn't change some trustees' minds.

"I don't want to see another BFI here," Trustee Gini Britton said.

The capacity issue took up the lion's share of the discussion. Trustee Mark Abbo offered conditional support for the capacity sale, saying the numbers showed that the township has plenty to spare.

Abbo maintained that would be true even if township growth and concurrent demands on the sewer system over the next 20 years were significantly more than what's now predicted. He added that the sale would bring the township's total flow closer to its ultimate WTUA capacity, thus saving money in the long run.

"Township residents are paying 100 percent of our share of the costs but we're only using 30 percent of our ultimate capacity," Abbo said. "It's only when we get closer to full capacity that we'll see the (cost) efficiency of the system."

The board, however, doesn't want to see Salem buy capacity now only to find the township short in 10, 15 or 20 years. Such a dilemma could force the township to curtail development.

Most of the board said they weren't 100 percent sure that the numbers concerning capacity supplied by the township's engineers were fully accurate. Even if they were, many added, the township's future growth rate is too hard to predict. Given that, selling any capacity isn't a safe move.

"Two or three OIS plants could throw a wrench in those numbers," Supervisor Karen Baja said.

"You're trying to predict the future and nobody can," Trustee Barbara O'Brien said.

"I'm not going to be here in office in 20 years and I want to make sure we don't sell the farm," Britton said.

Even if the board did, Salem likely can't afford the asking price. Three members of the board gave hard numbers they'd want to see to approve the sale. They include Britton's $3 million to Hillebrand's $2.3 million to Trustee Russ Fogg's $1.6 million range.

Any of those, to use Abbo's words, is likely "a deal-killer"—a conclusion with which an official from Salem Township who attended the meeting agreed.

That price, counted along with construction costs, would mean that each house in the hamlet would face an assessment fee of at least $25,000 to hook up to the sewer system, the man said.

"That's more than some of those people make in a year," he added, suggesting that the board dispense with further discussion if the price would continue to be in that range—whereupon the board did just that.

How can a multiple car family minimize insurance costs? No problem.

Auto-Owners gives families with two or more cars a reduced insurance rate. That makes their exceptional auto coverage and claims service even more attractive.

Help Junior Baseball program make memories

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Despite all the hoopla about World Cup soccer nowadays, you'll only get one answer from most folks as to what the national pastime is: baseball.

It's part of all of us, wedded to our consciousness like Bugs Bunny or "The Star-Spangled Banner." Whether you're 15 or 50, chances are you've been part of the game as a player, parent or fan.

Northville's Junior Baseball baseball helps the memories keep alive — and now it needs your help. The organization's raising money to install new backstops and outfield fencing at the three brand-spanking-new diamonds at Beck Road Park.

To do it, they've been selling outfield fence sign space to area businesses. The response has been very enthusiastic so far, with merchants joining the bandwagon to the tune of about $30,000. Junior Baseball needs a bit more, however, and is looking for more community backing.

"We're hoping we can get that final $7,000 to $8,000 we need to cover all the costs," organizer David Jerome said.

The deal's a great one, Junior Baseball officials say. A $750 donation brings you a professionally designed 4-foot-by-8-foot sign which will hang on the outfield fencing for three years. A special three-sign deal — one for each diamond — goes for $2,100. A double-sized four-by-six sign costs $1,400.

The signs are designed by Graphic Vision and the ones sold so far went up last month. Besides giving the diamonds at Beck Road Park more of that old-ballpark feel, officials say, they offer a lot of bang for the advertising buck. They estimate that 65,000-100,000 people a season will see the signs.

But you don't have to be an advertiser to get a sign, they stress. People can get one for a loved one, a friend or in memory of someone special.

If you'd still like to get involved but don't have that much cash to spare, there's another way you can help Junior Baseball. Ann Arbor stockbroker Willie Newman — the brother of Northville High School baseball coach Mickey Newman — has made a generous offer. He's agreed to donate $5,000 to Junior Baseball if it can come up with a $5,000 match. About $2,000 has been raised so far, Jerome said, and officials would appreciate any donation.

If you're interested in either project, call any one of these Junior Baseball officials:

- Jerome at 348-4433 or 348-9097.
- Bruce Christenson at 357-7000.
- Tom Price at 420-2156.
- Scott Baldwin at 348-1828.

Northville gets cut in state track revenues

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Capitol capsules:

Cities with horse racing tracks will get theirs, but Pontiac is out of luck, the state Legislature has decided. Northville, Livonia and Hazel Park will get $438,000 a piece as their cut of state taxes on pari-mutuel gambling under the new Agriculture Department budget. That's half of what the race track cities were voted in 1979 but about the same as in recent years.

Gov. John Engler could eliminate that if he uses his line-item veto power but is expected to sign the bill. "There also will be an improvement in purses" for horsemen, said Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville.

But the House rejected an effort by Rep. Hubert Price, D-Pontiac, to continue an $800,000 annual grant for Pontiac's Silverdome Stadium. Price cited a 1972 "commitment" of the Legislature to aid debt service for the stadium.

Price's plea was rejected, though he got a hand from Rep. Maxine Berman, D-Southfield. "Normally I'd say it (Silverdome aid) is a lost cause," said Berman, "but there's a new commercial by the governor promoting World Cup soccer. The governor tells people how wonderful it (Silverdome) is. We have a change of attitude by the governor's office."

The House went on to approve the bill by a 103-5 vote. All area members voted yes.

More prison time

Convicts won't get "good time" — just bad time — under two new "truth in sentencing" bills approved by the House of Representatives. Senate Bills 40 and 41 go back to the upper chamber next week for concurrence in amendments.

Currently convicts can have their minimum sentences reduced by 23 percent by earning credits for good behavior. The new bills will require them to serve all of their minimum sentences but allow prison wardens to tack on more time for institutional infractions.

"I am elated," said the sponsor, Sen. William Van Regenmorter, R-Jenison, after the House's 105-0 vote. The bills were prompted by ex-convict Leslie Allen Williams' 1992 killing spree in Livingston and western Oakland counties. Sitting in the House gallery was Linda Clark, whose husband was slain by five teens during a 1993 store robbery in a Flint suburb.

Consecutive terms

Convicted repeat felons would have to serve consecutive prison terms under an amendment sponsored by Sen. Michael Bouchard, R-Birmingham. A judge would be allowed to impose back-to-back sentences on those convicted of violent and assaultive crimes where they had two prior convictions for similar crimes.

Bouchard's amendment went into a sentencing guidelines bill passed last week by the Senate and sent to the House. Currently, felons receiving more than one sentence may serve them concurrently.

"Had this amendment been in place at the time that Leslie Allen Williams was first convicted, there would be four young ladies alive today," Bouchard said as the bill was sent to the House.

AIDS test OK'd

Emergency medical workers exposed to blood or bodily fluids could request the patient be tested for the AIDS virus and hepatitis B under a House-passed bill sponsored by Rep. Jan Dolan, R-Farmington Hills.

Dolan said current law prohibits hospitals from notifying emergency personnel of test results for HIV and hepatitis B. Under her House Bill 4348, emergency workers would be informed of test results.

"Gloves, eyewear and other protective devices are often rendered useless when (emergency crews are) grappling with broken glass and freeing pinned drivers," said Dolan, whose bill now goes to the Senate.

Mainstreet sticks to schedule

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

Construction on the Mainstreet '93 project is moving along right on schedule.

Since workers began laying the pavement for the surface lot at Cady Street May 2, construction has proceeded with few glitches. Project Manager John Galopin of Walbridge Aldinger said in his report to Northville City Council members Monday.

The Cady Street surface lot was opened for use June 6, three weeks ahead of schedule, and if all goes well Galopin said the rest of the $4.2 million project should go the same way.

"Everything should now fall into a logical progression," Galopin said.

Since the surface lot was completed early, construction on the deck at Lot 4, the parking area behind the MAGS building on Main Street, was started ahead of schedule.

The entire project is slated to be finished by Dec. 30.

In other Mainstreet business, the Northville City Council voted not to change the one-way traffic pattern on "Bandshell Drive," the road at the Town Square Plaza near the Main Street clock.

City Manager Gary Word recommended the council not open the road to two-way traffic because that "would likely discourage pedestrian traffic and gathering."

The Northville Record

85-year-old resident dies

Donald A. Ware of Northville died June 10 at Providence Hospital with his family members at his bedside. Mr. Ware was born April 9, 1909, to Thomas and Ina Walters Ware in the "Cabbage Town" area of Northville. "He is one of the only octogenarians born here who stayed here," said his wife, Mary (Genitti) Ware.

He spent his early youth and teenage years in a house that was eventually made into the Little Italy Restaurant. The current dining room of the restaurant was his bedroom.

In the 1920s, Donald's mother, Ina, owned a restaurant in Northville called "A Good Place to Eat." "Donald was practically raised in that store," according to his wife. The restaurant was located where the Four Seasons Flower Shop is today.

While a student at Northville High School, Mr. Ware played on the football team, and was a member of the graduating class of 1928. "He would tell us he played the whole game because you were lucky if you had enough players," said Mrs. Ware.

Donald Ware and Mary Genitti were married 42 years ago and when Mary came to Northville, so did her family. "John Jr. always told everyone the first job he ever had was working for Uncle Don moving stones from one side of the driveway to the other to build a retaining wall," said Mary of her nephew, the owner of Genitti's Restaurant.

Mr. Ware received many awards from the Northville Beautification Commission for gardening, landscaping and property development.

"Don once owned a restaurant in the basement of The Northville Record building," said Mrs. Ware. For 42 years, he was a safety and traffic engineer for the Wayne County Road Commission. He was also a member of the Northville Historical Society.

In 1960, he developed Ware's Square on the property where his home was located, moving the house around the corner.

Mr. Ware was a contributor to the Northville Historical Society. During a taped interview "he gave his personal look back at Northville as it was in the early 1900s," said Mrs. Ware. "It includes quick looks at Main Street as a dirt street, his mother's restaurant, and the livery stable where a horse and buggy might be rented to go out on a date." The Northville History Project has about a dozen interviews on audio cassette.

Mr. Ware watched Northville grow from a small farming village to the large northwestern suburb of Detroit that it is today. He enjoyed progress, according to his wife, but "he had high hopes that Northville would always be the small town it was."

Surviving are his wife, Mary; daughter, Ann James of Grosse Pointe; son, D.J. Ware of LaJolla, Calif.; and five grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his grandson Timothy Ware.

A memorial service was held on June 13 at Casterline Funeral Home followed by burial at Rural Hill Cemetery in Northville. The Rev. Roger Rose officiated.

Mr. Ware may be remembered through memorial contributions to the Northville Historical Society.

And then, think about being able to go home within 24 hours after your baby is born. Well, the New Life Center at Providence Park in Novi offers all that, and it's just minutes from home.

A UNIQUE APPROACH

It's a new beginning. A new way of thinking. And an alternative to traditional hospital births*. The New Life Center at Providence Park was born from the success of the New Life Center at Providence Hospital, where for generations, thousands of women have had wonderful, nurturing, family-centered birth experiences.

THE CHOICES ARE MANY

From the moment you choose to have your baby with us, many decisions are yours. You may choose to go natural or to have an epidural. You may also prefer to share the event with your loved ones. But the best part is giving birth in a relaxed, home-like atmosphere and having your baby by your side. What's more, a nurse will come to your home for private, follow-up visits. Because that's the kind of extra care, attention and education people expect from Providence.

COME SEE FOR YOURSELF But don't take our word for it. Call 1-800-806-BABY for an appointment to see what the New Life Center at Providence Park has to offer expectant families.

Plan to end business tax facing a rough ride

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

State lawmakers are trimming the single business tax (SBT) but have balked at Rep. Susan Munsell's plan to wipe out the unpopular tax and start over.

"This is a carefully-crafted, $155 million tax cut," said House Taxation Committee Chair Willis Bullard Jr., R-Milford, defending the leadership's bipartisan plan.

"We have a lot of crafty people around here," shot back Munsell, R-Howell. The eastern Livingston County lawmaker didn't try to conceal the bad blood between her and her western Oakland County neighbor.

Munsell got 36 votes in favor and 61 against her amendment to eliminate the $2 billion SBT by the end of 1995, which would have given lawmakers 18 months to pass a replacement.

An accountant with a business practice, Munsell sought to have the Legislature duplicate its feat of 1993 when it repealed all school operating property taxes in mid-year and passed a new $10 billion package by Christmas Eve.

"I've heard a lot of complaints about SBT. It generates comments at Rotary and chambers," said Rep. Frank Fitzgerald, R-Grand Ledge, No. 3 Republican who split with the leadership and backed Munsell.

"What we did (trim SBT) is good policy, but it does not represent systematic change. The Taxation Committee (co-chaired by Bullard and Democratic gubernatorial hopeful Lynn Jondahl of Okemos) hasn't done the serious review required. This (SBT) doesn't have the same intensity as the property tax," Fitzgerald said.

HomeTown area representatives lined up against the Munsell amendment: Voting yes: Munsell, Voting no: Republicans Bullard, Jerry Vorva of Plymouth, Tom Middleton of Orionville and Dan Gustafson of Haslett. The House went on to pass, by overwhelming votes, five bills that will:

- Reduce the SBT rate from 2.35 to 2.30 percent beginning Oct. 1.
- Increase the "threshold" for paying SBT from $100,000 gross receipts to $250,000 for tax years beginning Dec. 31.
- Authorize the Treasury Department to annualize SBT rates.
- Reduce the alternative profits tax from 3 to 2 percent of adjusted business income.

- Give SBT credits to employers who hire handicapped workers.

The package was sent to the Senate, where prospects look good. State treasurer Doug Roberts supports it because "it will help our healthy economy continue to grow."

The agreement was negotiated between Bullard, Jondahl and co-speakers Paul Hillegonds, R-Holland, and Curtis Hertel, D-Detroit.

SBT has been the subject of intense criticism since it was passed almost 20 years ago. It replaced eight other taxes, including the corporate income tax. Essentially it's a payroll tax, allegedly designed by the Big Three automakers, which buy many materials, and abhorred by service businesses whose costs are mainly payroll.

Lt. Gov. James Damman (1975-78) headed a commission to attempt to rewrite the SBT, and Munsell held extensive hearings on it a year ago, but no consensus ever has developed on how to revise it.

Tax cut helps only some

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Half of suburban retirees will get little help from a $70 million tax break for pensions passed by the state House of Representatives.

"Over one-half of Michigan seniors do not have public or private pensions," said Rep. Barbara Dobb, R-Union Lake, who came 14 votes short in an effort to extend the break to those living on investment income.

Dobb, an accountant in private life, said she studied U.S. Census data before concluding that many retirees across the country have no pensions.

"Many of these individuals are small business owners or self-employed," she said, "and have not had the option of joining a pension plan. They have worked hard to secure retirement income. It is grossly unfair to cut them off from discussions as the Legislature works to exempt private pensions from taxation."

The tax cut bill, as passed and sent to the Senate, would allow seniors who have no pension exemption to deduct investment income (dividends and interest) of up to $1,000 for individuals and $2,000 for couples filing jointly.

Dobb's amendment would have hiked the investment income deduction to $5,000 a couple, including capital gains as well as dividends and interest. "More than 90 percent of the (retiree) population would have been covered under this provision," she said.

Late Tuesday evening, her amendment failed in a 42 to 46 vote after long delays and heavy lobbying by the bipartisan leaders.

Area lawmakers voting yes: Susan Munsell, R-Howell, and Tom Middleton, R-Ortonville.

Voting no: Willis Bullard, R-Milford, Dan Gustafson, R-Haslett. Missing the vote: Kirk Profit, D-Ypsilanti, Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth. Bullard chaired the House Taxation Committee during May and was part of the bipartisan leadership team that shot down the Dobb amendment.

The bill that passed 97-2 increases exemptions on private pensions to:

• 30,000 for individuals from $7,500.

• 60,000 for couples filing jointly from $10,000.

(Dobb would have paid for her tax break by lowering the pension exemption for couples to $50,000.)

The bill had twin purposes.

First, the Legislature has been under political pressure for tax equity — either increase the exemption on private pensions, or apply the tax to governmental pensions, notably those of unionized teachers.

Second, the state general fund appears to be heading for a $400 million surplus. Lawmakers must either cut taxes or salt away the surplus in a "rainy day" fund.

One negative vote came from Rep. Don Gilmer, R-Augusta, co-chair of the House Appropriations committee, who said the excess should have been put in the rainy day fund. "This (bill) is about 99 percent political and one percent policy," Gilmer said.

Altogether, the House voted $155 million in tax cuts — $70 for pensioners and $85 million for single business tax (SBT) payers.

Some adjustment is necessary because the Headlee amendment to the Michigan Constitution caps the percentage of personal incomes that may be collected by state taxes. Michigan was about to exceed that by $180 million.

Refer to House Bill 5278 when writing to your state senator, State Capitol, Lansing 48913.

Plante agrees to plea bargain

The final chapter of an unusual Northville Township police case has been written — and it could be titled "compromise."

The man who owns the dog that a township police officer shot in late April has agreed to a plea bargain which puts to rest three allegations against him stemming from the incident.

David Plante pled no contest to charges of harboring a vicious and unlicensed dog on June 14 in 35th District Court, agreeing to pay fines totaling $165. In return, the township's prosecutor dropped a pending assault and battery charge.

The conclusion of the case combined with Plante's decision last month not to pursue legal action against the township over the shooting means that the matter is now history.

Scenic Harbor resident Joseph Nance on April 26 told police that Plante had shoved him during a dispute over Plante's dog, Scooter, an allegation Plante denies. It was the report of the assault and of Scooter being unlicensed and at large which led Officer Charles Cole to visit Plante's home on Cardene Way.

Cole shot Scooter once in the chest in the driveway of the home. He said that the dog had charged at him in a threatening manner and that he believed he was in danger of serious injury from a bite. Police investigators agreed with his conclusions in their report on the case.

Plante, however, disagreed with the police account of events, calling the shooting an "overreaction."

Pharmacists lose Lansing battle

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

A coalition of employer and labor groups declared "a tremendous victory" over small pharmacists in a state Senate battle that split Republicans.

The battleground now shifts to the House of Representatives, where the Insurance Committee will take up SB 590-593. Those bills were amended by Sens. William Faust, D-Westland, and David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, to the satisfaction of the Michigan Health Purchaser Coalition, which includes industry and organized labor.

Sen. Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, hopes the House will restore changes favorable to pharmacists.

The health purchaser group objected to Dunaskiss' original bills because:

"They would force PPOs and HMOs to contract with health care providers not of their choosing. The bills would eliminate the volume incentive for providers to join selective panels in the first place."

"Purchasers would not be able to focus their buying power to secure more cost-effective health care services—e.g., discounts, utilization review, more convenient hours, etc."

Oakland County and the Wayne suburbs were the battleground for votes because, said Rep. John Jamian, R-Bloomfield Township, "all these executives work for General Motors."

"GM negotiates with one pharmaceutical provider—an out-of-state mail order house—so all these executives have to give up their relationship with the corner pharmacy. If they go to their own pharmacist, they must pay the higher rate out of their own pockets."

"So the corporations have removed freedom of choice to bring the cost down, from their vantage point. Their defense is that they need volume contracts."

"But the providers now ask: 'How come we didn't have a chance to bid or participate? We're willing to beat or meet their price.' Not even Arbor can get in."

"It's squeezing the pharmacies," said Jamian. "If customers don't come there for prescriptions, they may not buy cigarettes or lipstick or cards. Drug stores get stomped on. They wanted to amend the Preferred Provider Act to allow open bidding. Dunaskiss' bills said you can have multiple providers."

Jamian, head of a health care company, said Dunaskiss' original bills were good for consumers, too. "They might order six months of a prescription at a time and pay for that up front. But say you switch prescriptions mid-stream. You have three months worth sitting on the shelf."

The Faust-Honigman versions (known as S-4), which replaced Dunaskiss' original bills, would:

● Require health insurers have an open application, allowing any pharmacy to apply to be on the insurer's panel. But it doesn't require insurers to accept the pharmacy.

● Require an insurer to tell a pharmacy why it wasn't accepted.

● Allow independent pharmacies to form buying coalitions to apply for acceptance on insurers' panels. Insurers would have to open their panels every three years (Dunaskiss got it out from five years).

All local senators voted yes on passage of the S-4 version except Honigman, who is recuperating from surgery.

Dunaskiss came closest to success with a 17-17 failed attempt to allow employees to get a "dual offering" of pharmacists.

It was called a "killer" amendment by the Michigan Health Purchaser Coalition. That group includes the Blues, Chrysler, Ford, GM, Kmart, the state chamber of commerce, Farm Bureau, the Building Trades Council, Michigan Education Association, AFL-CIO, Teamsters and UAW.

Favoring the Dunaskiss amendment were two Democrats and 15 Republicans, including Robert Geake, R-Northville, Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, and Dunaskiss.

Opposed were 11 Democrats and six Republicans including Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor, and Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville.

Refer to SB 590-593 (S-4) when writing to your state representative, State Capitol, Lansing 48909.

PROVIDENCE MEDICAL CENTERS

Quality family health care is just around the corner.

Comprehensive care for your entire family

The physicians at Providence Medical Center-Providence Park offer quality care with the special personal touch that is a hallmark of Providence. That's why Providence Medical Center-Providence Park is an excellent choice for your family's complete health care. We have primary care physicians on staff who can meet just about all of your health care needs.

Primary care physicians are the physicians you see on a regular basis for comprehensive care in the specialties of family practice, internal medicine, obstetrics and gynecology and pediatrics. At Providence Medical Center-Providence Park, your primary care doctor offers you personalized medical attention, supported by health care professionals and backed by the complete resources just minutes away at Providence Hospital in Southfield.

Family practice

In the old days, people spoke highly of the "family doctor" who cared personally for each family member. Even today those caring qualities are central to a family practice physician. Family practice physicians complete a three-year residency program in the specialty of family practice. All phases of medicine are integrated, from prenatal care to the care of all family members -- newborns through the elderly.

Meet our family practice doctors: Michael Balon, MD, Robert Boomer, MD, Patricia Brooks, MD, Vicki Corwin, MD, Richard Ng, MD, Edward Rose, MD, Glenn Taylor, MD, Dr. Rose and Dr. Taylor also provide obstetrical services as part of their primary practice.

Internal medicine

A unique combination of knowledge, training and skills distinguishes internists from other medical specialists. Internists receive training that provides them with the knowledge about adults' medical problems, from young adults to geriatric (elderly) patients. Because of their thorough approach, internists are especially known as experts in making diagnoses, although they are skilled at treating illness as well.

Meet our internists: L. Joe Mascot, MD, Dale Scarlett, MD.

Obstetrics and gynecology

Throughout her life, a woman has unique health care concerns. That's why every woman needs a physician who is prepared to care for her health needs. A doctor with special medical skills and a level of compassion that makes her feel comfortable. Physicians with privileges at Providence are skilled in numerous specialties to meet your needs, including obstetrics, gynecology, infertility, pediatrics, neonatology and perinatology.

Meet our obstetricians/gynecologists: Asghar Afari, MD, Joseph Berenthal, MD, Anthony Boutt, MD, Judith Brysk, MD, Catherine Chartier, MD, Lakshmi Gavini, MD, James Kommeser, MD, Henry Maicki, MD, Kang Lee Tu, MD, Joseph Watts, MD, Richard Wilson, MD. Dr. Afari and Dr. Watts provide gynecological services only.

Pediatrics

Pediatricians play a vital role in the life of your child by assessing growth and development from infancy through adolescence. At Providence, pediatricians understand the concerns of parents who want their child to receive quality care by a gentle physician who will ease the child's fears.

Meet our pediatricians: Manny Agah, MD, Vinaya Gavini, MD, David Segaloff, MD.

Other specialists

Should you or a family member need care from a specialist, your primary care physician can refer you to one of the growing number of doctors right here at Providence Park. We currently have 130 doctors in 35 specialties -- and the list keeps growing!

Study looks at Woods traffic impact

What they fear, residents said, is a huge flow of cars on their streets from both the Woods and other nearby subs; traffic using Edenderry Drive as a through-route to travel between Seven and Six Mile; and the potential for even more traffic if a school is built at Six and Beck, an idea that's been discussed for years.

When it considered the issue in April, the commission called for a traffic study of the Woods plan. It also requested an attorney's opinion on whether it or Wayne County has the final say on how many — if any — connections must be installed.

The township received the study about two weeks ago. It may not help to answer all of the residents' questions because it does not consider the Edenderry through-traffic issue or that of the effect of a high school.

Instead, it tries to predict what effect the Woods connections would have on three intersections: Edenderry and Seven Mile; Edenderry and Six Mile; and Red Oak Drive and Beck.

The study considers where the traffic from Woods itself would go and if traffic from nearby subs would change driving patterns if the new road connections were put into place. Part of that is whether drivers would shun an unpaved Six Mile Road — thus perhaps using Edenderry's streets — or be drawn to a paved one.

The study concluded that in almost every case the Woods traffic would not significantly affect the "level of service" of the three intersections.

"Level of service" describes conditions of a traffic stream or intersection. Levels of service range from A to F, with A being the best. The study defines level F as "extreme traffic delays."

"There is no significant change in level of service for any turning movement (into or out of the intersections) under either scenario (Six Mile paved or unpaved)," the study said. "There is additional capacity at each intersection to accommodate any unaccounted redistributions of trips between subdivisions."

Therefore, the study said, the connections should be made.

"The proposed street connections provide an important link for additional reliability and reduced emergency vehicle response time," the study said.

It did not specifically name which roads should be connected or if Edenderry Drive should be extended to Six Mile. It did, however, at one point say: "Edenderry Street is a designated collector road. The geometry and condition of the street is adequate to accommodate any additional traffic from the proposed subdivision."

Kaess tapped to head SEMCOG

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Gail Kaess, an executive assistant to Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara, is the new chairperson of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

Oakland Township Supervisor Joan Buser was elected first vice chair and is in position to succeed Kaess next year. Buser also was awarded SEMCOG's "regional ambassador" award for outstanding efforts to improve the quality of life in the region.

Kaess, a Grosse Pointe Farms council member, was elected at SEMCOG's annual meeting last week in Detroit. She succeeds Richard Rudnicki, Livingston County drain commissioner, as chair of the seven-county regional planning organization.

In 1993 Kaess used a Taubman Co. fellowship to participate in the program for senior executives in state and local governments at Harvard University's John F. Kennedy School of Government. Kaess is the second woman to chair SEMCOG in its 26-year history.

Oakland County Commissioner Kay Schmid, R-Novi, was elected the Regional Clearinghouse Review Committee, which rules on state and federal grant applications. Governmental bloc leaders elected last week included:

● Counties — chair, Mary Mechtenberg, St. Clair County board; vice chair, Meri Lou Murray, Washtenaw County board.

● Cities and villages — chair, Beverly McAnally, mayor of Romulus; vice chair, Joanne McShane, mayor of Farmington.

● Townships — chair, Douglas Woolley, Pittsfield Township; vice chair, Andrew Wardach, Brighton Township.

● Education — chair, Marjorie Thomas, St. Clair intermediate school district; vice chair, Gerald McCaffrey, Macomb intermediate school district.

Lansing considers pain management

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

As the assisted suicide debate drags on, state lawmakers on both sides of the issue agree there should be better "pain management" by medical care providers.

Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, won 34-0 approval recently when he asked the Senate to agree to House amendments in two of his pain management bills.

They are part of a five-bill package, with three bills coming from the House.

"The biggest change is that they've increased the membership and removed dental hygienists," Dillingham said of his key measure, Senate Bill 961.

That measure would set up, within the Public Health Code, an interdisciplinary advisory committee on pain and symptom management. Members will come from the Michigan boards of Medicine, Osteopathic Medicine and Social Workers.

The panel is to provide a forum on health care for hospices, gather ideas from a public hearing, develop model core curricula on pain and symptom management, work on continuing education plans for health care professionals and report to the Legislature.

Meanwhile, the Michigan Supreme Court has set an Oct. 4 date for oral arguments on the constitutionality of a state statute making assisting a suicide punishable as a four-year felony. That Dillingham-sponsored measure was used to prosecute Dr. Jack Kevorkian.

Refer to Senate Bills 961-962 and House bills 5335, 5337 and 5339 when writing to your legislator.

How do you know whether a hospital or medical center provides good care? You might consider the opinions of medical experts who recently selected the University of Michigan Medical Center as one of the 10 best academic medical centers in the country.

"The nation's hospitals could dramatically improve the quality of clinical outcomes and cost effectiveness of patient care by emulating the performance of the best hospitals in the United States."

— 100 Top U.S. Hospitals Benchmarks for Success

In this survey of 5,600 hospitals, the U-M Medical Center was included in the "Top 100" list based on "high value provided to customers, efficiency of patient care operations and investment in operations."

We also were among just 15 hospitals in the nation listed as the "Best of the Best" by U.S. News & World Report.

'Clowns Galore' is theme of Fourth of July parade

An official will be available to direct children where to line up for the pet and bicycle parades.

McDonald, who has been in charge of parade festivities for four years, went all out this year in an effort to make the parade special. She even sent invitations to President Bill Clinton, Vice President Al Gore and Gov. John Engler to march in the event. All three politely declined.

Spectators can line up along the same streets they always have for the parade. Entries will begin tromping down Griswold Street at 10 a.m., proceed west on Main Street then turn south down Rogers. The last leg of the parade will proceed east down Cady Street, turn south down Wing Street and end at Fairbrook.

A committee of four judges will be seated at a secret place along the parade route to judge which floats, bands, animal acts and special entries will receive first, second and third prizes.

Mill Race Village will be open from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. July 4. The 21st Michigan Volunteer Infantry will be setting up camp to reenact the Civil and the Revolutionary wars. The Rotary Club and the Kiwanis Early Bird Club will be serving hot dogs, potato chips and pop.

McDonald said she especially enjoyed organizing this year's parade because the $4,000 cost of the event was borne by the city and the township. In past years, McDonald had to find other sources of income, like raffles or grants from private businesses.

At Huron Valley Hospital, this isn't the only way we listen to you.

In today's world of medicine, it's not unlikely for a patient to be seen as a series of heart beats. Or a bunch of lab tests. Or merely a name on a chart.

We, however, prefer to view our patients as human beings. Each with a rather large spectrum of fears, needs and questions. Which, as a smaller hospital, we can calm, meet and answer in a manner that's not only unusually personal, but unusually caring.

Of course as a part of The Detroit
Medical Center, affiliated with Wayne State University, our resources are anything but small.
Our programs, as well as our practitioners, are recognized internationally for their excellence.

This is evident not only in our emergency department and our obstetrics unit, but in every room of our hospital.

Where, 24 hours a day, you'll find on display a rare phenomenon. The height of healing, coupled with a lot of heart. To meet with a Huron Valley

ALPS parents feel program suits kids' needs

and gaining more signatures, she said.

When she spoke with other parents, Voytal found that many shared the same questions and concerns about ALPS.

"Many people for many years have been carrying around feelings about this and never really had the opportunity to express them or felt comfortable because it's a pretty scary thing for a parent to raise those issues," Voytal said.

Parent Robin Polletta says ALPS kids' experiences are different, but not necessarily better.

Polletta agrees that all children need to be challenged to reach their fullest potential; however, she believes gifted children, like children in the special education program, have special needs that must be met.

"There is a segment of the community that really misunderstands gifted kids because they are not visually identified as a special group," said Polletta, who has a daughter in the fifth grade ALPS program.

When her daughter was younger, Polletta had her tested for hyperactivity because of her boundless energy and inquisitiveness.

"Taking trips was an experience," Polletta said. "She would talk non-stop for six hours just asking questions: 'What's this,' and, 'What's that,' and, 'Why's this.' It wasn't easy."

When her daughter was placed into ALPS in the third grade, Polletta said it was a load off her mind.

"It was such a relief to know her needs were being met," she said.

School administrators say that many of the problems parents had with the program were based on misconceptions and rumors, such as the ideas that ALPS students received more library time than other students or had monthly pizza parties — rumors that could have easily been cleared up by communication.

"I was blind-sided by this one," said Amerman Principal Stephen Anderson, who was surprised by the parents who were up in arms about the program because no one came to him with questions or concerns until much later.

Anderson said he is always accessible to parents and hopes they would come to him with any questions they have about their children's education.

Anderson said he believes the rumors and misconceptions have been cleared up.

ALPS is taught in the third through fifth grades. The program's 109 students are grouped together in the same classrooms. Students are expected to learn in a shorter amount of time than students in the traditional curriculum and they examine subjects more critically and in depth.

The district uses a magnet program, where ALPS kids who would normally attend another school are bused to Amerman elementary.

All second-grade students are eligible for ALPS screening. Letters are sent home during the first semester to notify parents that their children can be screened for the program.

Parents or teachers can nominate the child to undergo the testing, which includes a number of psychological and achievement tests and a one-on-one screening with a licensed psychologist.

A committee reviews the test scores and then decides who is eligible for the program.

"I believe that it's been by design

Facts about ALPS

● The ALPS program used to be available in grades 6-8 at Cooke Middle School, but was dropped after the millage defeat in 1992.

Reinstating the program may become a reality next year if funds are available to hire two academic resource teachers. The teaching positions are currently on the district's priority list.

Dolly McMaster, assistant superintendent for instructional services, supports the two teaching positions because she said at the middle-school level, girls drop off in science and math scores while boys lose language arts skills.

● Next year the high school will be offering opportunities for accelerated learning with advanced placement courses. One class will be offered in each subject. Any student can enroll in the classes and receive college credit for some of them.

that the ALPS program has been walled off from the rest of the school and the district," Voytal said. "People feel a little defensive, they know they've got something different."

Dolly McMaster, assistant superintendent for instructional services, said she is not surprised by Voytal's point of view.

"Anytime you have a program that is set up as an alternative within a building, it's a stationary target," McMaster said. "As much as we say in this business we want to respect individual differences, conformity is still the rule."

Children in the ALPS program receive the same district per-pupil funding as children in the traditional program. Each year the district applies to the state for a grant that can only be used specifically for gifted education. Left-over revenue cannot be used to fund other programs.

In the 1992-93 and 1993-94 school years, Northville Public Schools received a $18,268 grant from the department of education.

Much of the grant goes toward testing second-graders.

A four-day trip to Cranbrook Institute is also funded by the grant.

"Schools are complex organizations," McMaster said. "People say, 'Oh, they get to do that.' Yeah, but there are special monies behind those kids. I'm not going to deny a certain population of students opportunities because I can't provide it to the world."

The program was initiated six years ago after a 30-person committee made up of administrators, teachers and parents concluded that grouping children by ability at the elementary level was the most beneficial setting to enhance learning.

"The committee did its homework," McMaster said. "The literature says that for this group of youngsters that is highly academically able, ability grouping does bring about greater and significant learning achievement."

Voytal and the group of parents who would like to see change in the program have done their homework too. The group has compiled a body of literature that supports grouping children by age rather than ability.

"There is adequate structure and support in the building for teachers to provide the enrichment and opportunity for kids at all levels," Voytal said. "Putting kids into high-ability and low-ability groups at the elementary level is inappropriate. Making that decision with a second grader is inappropriate."

McMaster said including these gifted kids in the traditional curriculum would be too great a strain on teachers who would have to cater to a wide range of needs. Many of the kids have the intelligence to "see the big picture" but are missing the basic building blocks, she said.

"We can have a highly, highly gifted child who doesn't know his multiplication tables," McMaster said, adding that incorporating gifted children into the traditional curriculum would give them the short end of the stick. "There is nothing more unequal than treating unequals equally," she said.

The literature Voytal supports states that grouping children by individual ability denies students of equal access to knowledge and understanding.

Voytal says she is not anti-ALPS, but is seeking a way to increase learning for all children in the school district and increase communication between parents, teachers and the administration.

"Now that people have heard that we are concerned, we want to have the district identify a legitimate process for us to talk about it," she said. "Obviously there's a group of people who have kids in the ALPS program that are very satisfied and feel afraid that the concern that's been expressed is going to jeopardize their kids' opportunity."

Linda Koons, a parent with a son in the ALPS program, said parents need to work to make sure their children are receiving a quality education.

"If there is something missing in a child's education the parent needs to work to find out what that is," Koons said. "Eliminating ALPS will not meet the individual needs of other children."

Anderson said the concept of mastery learning, which was introduced as a pilot program in the district this year, is an effective way to increase learning for all students.

Mastery learning entails setting a level of mastery for test scores when students are taught a subject. Students who meet or exceed the set level move onto an enrichment period where they can further investigate the subject or apply the knowledge.

Anderson said he plans to make teachers more aware that they can sign up for library time and will move the four ALPS classrooms, which are clumped together at the end of the hallway, and integrate them with other classrooms so there will be more interaction between the children. Anderson said he hopes this will help to relieve some of the tension.

Voytal said she is pleased with Anderson's and McMaster's efforts to resolve the conflict and plans to continue to stay involved.

"The feelings are very deep and this isn't going to be a concern that is going to go away once we put someone on a committee," she said. "There is going to be continued monitoring and interest from a great number of people."

Class of '94 stands on the brink of brave new world

After hearing about all of the awards, scholarships, and honors our class has achieved throughout high school, I felt a sense of pride in the class. And I saw this pride spreading throughout our class after spring break.

It wasn't a cocky attitude that "seniors rule" but more of a togetherness that I think reached a lot of people. Everyone got along. Now maybe this was because some people didn't want to risk their participation in graduation by getting into a scuffle. But I think it was because we realized it was the last few months that this class would ever be together.

I saw a lot of people talking to each other who have never talked to each other before. Whether your special memories lie in prom, spring break, or football games, high school has provided a great opportunity to learn about yourself and other people who have helped you set goals that will guide you into the next phase of your life.

Yes, we are all going our own ways now, but I would like us to take a step back and actually think about the experiences we've learned from and the goals we've set. Most of you probably don't remember your first step as an infant. But it's likely that that was one of your first conscious goals.

Learning to walk wasn't a major goal, but the lessons we have been taught from parents and friends affects the way we are today and the goals we've set and achieved since those first steps are what have made us all so proud to have been a part of this class. We've gone to school for 14 years together, and now is the time to look back to see how we got here and what we have accomplished.

Some of us would like to forget that first terrifying day of school when we had to separate from our parents and meet new people. Amazingly, we all survived and by fifth grade we were almost ready for the challenges of middle school — the new faces, more structured classes, and bundles of homework.

A lot of us will remember other struggles: the scars of losing a good friend or flunking a class. Our parents were always there to support, and life called for us to move on. Middle school was restrictive and we were all looking forward to more freedom. But first, we had some other business to take care of.

Anyone who remembers Meads Mill will surely recall the dark cloud hanging over us there and will probably chuckle at the words "locker search" or "rumble." Yes, we had quite a reputation before high school. I remember the principals at the middle school saying: "This is the worst class that has ever gone through this school." That scared the high school teachers stiff.

But that summer before freshman year domesticated the wild beasts in us and the high school administration had nothing to worry about. So we prepared to set a new goal — to make it through high school.

As soon as we got to the high school we took the initiative and made our presence known. It's pretty hard to go unnoticed with that many academic stars, musical geniuses, and great athletes. In the classroom, we were getting A's, in the concert hall we were taking home all the awards, and on the field we knew we were a force.

We knew our responsibilities and worked hard to win the respect of the administration, faculty, and peers. As the years passed, we built up great bonds with friends and set more goals for ourselves. Whether it was acing a chemistry test or shutting out the opponent in football, we started pushing harder and looking at what we could achieve in the future.

By our senior year, we came up with over a dozen perfect grade point averages and sports teams, all with winning records, that could throw their weight around. Our football team was barely upset by the state champs! And our girls soccer team recently made it to the state semifinals!

Now fellow graduates, many of you are going on to college with an athletic scholarship and many with an academic scholarship, and a few of you are going to start your first full-time job. Whatever each of you are doing, remember how much potential you have. You took it one step at a time as an infant and now are prepared to take a step at a time as an adult, facing all of your challenges head on.

So here we are, going out into an unknown world. Some of us have specific goals and most have doubts . . . wondering "what's next?" But we are all unique individuals and our goals will never be exactly the same.

Some of us will follow traditional goals with the hope of gaining fame and fortune. Others will aim to improve society or serve the public. Maybe Ed Murphy will win a Nobel Prize for research in Psychology. Or maybe Brian Jackson will head the President's Fitness Program. Or maybe Sonya Gupta will find the cure for cancer.

But all of us have learned that it takes hard work, effort and commitment before we can find our niche in life. Many of us may find goals we have set are not fulfilling, and may be forced to set new ones. But, I guarantee you, class of 1994, because of your fortitude, you will meet the world head on and be ready for the challenges ahead.

The world is changing more rapidly than ever before. The information highway alone will allow us to discover new territory that may not be thought of yet. We've developed these talents and abilities because of our parents' encouragement and admiration for us. So we cannot forget to thank them, as well as our teachers and other mentors who have guided us to this day of celebration. They have been behind our hopes and dreams that put us at this juncture in our lives.

Fellow graduates of the Northville High School Class of 1994 — we have achieved our first major goal — congratulations and good luck on future goals.

Senate passes ban on dipping into vet fund

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

The Legislature would be unable to raid the veterans' trust fund for cash during recessions if a state Senate-passed resolution becomes part of the Michigan Constitution.

All local senators voted yes — except the convalescing David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield — as Senate Joint Resolution U sailed through on a 36-0 vote.

"The Legislature borrowed $50 million in the last recession and repaid $38 million," said sponsor Gil DiNello, R-Eastpointe, hearkening back to the budget crisis of 1983. "But the governor decided there was enough (revenue) to repay it all."

"This (SJR U) goes one step forward and says we can never borrow from it again," DiNello said.

A spokesman for Gov. John Engler's Department of Management and Budget said the governor has made a decision to repay the remaining $11.1 million either from proceeds from the sale of the state Accident Fund or from general fund revenues.

The unanimous vote covered up, however, the fact that some lawmakers are nervous about cutting off a source of cash in an emergency.

"We borrowed when Michigan was hard-hit by recession," agreed Sen. Virgil Smith, D-Detroit, "not wanting to raise taxes and looking for revenues to shift around."

"We're in good times now. Our treasury is getting fatter rather than leaner. But Michigan's economy is cyclical. Do we want to restrict ourselves by limiting government's ability to shift funds around?" Smith asked.

SJR U goes to the House, where its future is uncertain. A two-thirds vote is needed in each chamber to put the proposal on the ballot.

Voters would have to approve it as an amendment to Article IX (finance) of the state constitution.

The proposal would prohibit transferring either the principal or interest earnings of the trust fund to the state's general fund. It also would exclude the trust fund in determining any surplus or deficiency in the general fund.

Established by the Legislature in 1946, the Michigan Veterans' Trust Fund dispenses grants to veterans, dependents and survivors to relieve hardship beyond the veteran's control.

It also makes tuition grants for children of deceased or disabled veterans, emergency loans to veterans in college, and maintains military records of Michigan veterans as a backup to the U.S. Department of Defense.

The fund's current balance is $38.9 million, the spokesman said. The fund is governed by a six-member board with two representing the American Legion, two representing Veterans of Foreign Wars, one from Disabled American Veterans and one from American Veterans of World War II-Korea-Vietnam. All are appointed by the governor.

Grants are administered through committees in each county.

Courtyard dig

Fifth graders Jon McClory, left, and Mike Jones test the soil in the courtyard at Amerman Elementary School as Northville Garden Club President Evelyn Harper looks on. Testing the soil PH level is the first step in a complete renovation of the courtyard in which native Michigan plant life will be reintroduced to the area. The Garden Club helped get the project going by providing a $1,000 grant to the Amerman PTA. The renovated courtyard will provide an educational backdrop for students' science experiments and Michigan history lessons, and inspire art and community service projects. The soil the students tested turned up alkaline with a PH of around 7.5, indicating the ground would be suitable for tomatoes, carnations and Kentucky bluegrass.

Mill Race Matters

On Sunday, June 19, Mill Race Village visitors had the opportunity to meet some of the gardeners who bring the village's gardens to life and discuss gardening tips with them.

Other such opportunity exists on Wednesday, July 13, when Country Garden Club of Northville opens area gardens for its first garden tour in this region. Tickets are available for $7 in advance from the Bookstall on the Main and the Northville Chamber of Commerce.

They will be available on the day of the walk at Mill Race Village from 10 a.m. for $8. Gardening items will be available for sale and light refreshments will be served. During the afternoon hours Mill Race buildings will be open for viewing.

Thank you go this week to Kenneth and Jeanette Sullivan of Plymouth, Lisa and Jordan London of Birmingham, Al and Joyce Valente of Orchard Lake, Charles and Judith Mathews and Bill and Janet Jackson of Grosse Pointe Farms, and Sophie Accavitti of Livonia for their donations in memory of Donald A. Ware, lifetime resident of the Northville community.

Mr. Ware was one of many community residents who participated in the Northville Oral History Project and shared his remembrances of Northville during earlier years. He will be missed.

Interested parties are invited to join other members in Victorian period costume to march in this year's Fourth of July parade. Since this year's theme is clowns, Victorian clown attire would be appropriate.

After the parade Mill Race Village will be open to celebrate this community's traditional Independent Day holiday. Buildings will be open, various civic groups will have food available for sale. Additional special events are planned to make the day a memorable one.

Guests are invited to bring picnic lunches to be eaten on the green. Parking in the area is extremely limited so all are encouraged to use traditional modes of transportation (foot travel) to arrive. Join the community in celebrating in an old fashioned way. Contact 348-2947 if you would like to be involved.

Docents are still needed for most Sundays and special events. Special events still requiring docents include: July 4; the July 13 (Wednesday) Garden Tour; and Sept. 17 (Saturday of Victorian Festival). Call 349-9005 if you have a Sunday or so to spare. Individualized training can be arranged if it's something you've never done before.

The Historical Society would like to keep the village open every Sunday during the summer, but unless additional volunteers come forward it may not be possible to do so.

Give blood, marrow and a second chance

Northville resident Philip Cohen left his doctor's office in 1992 feeling pretty good about himself. At 36, he emerged from his check-up with a clean bill of health, being told only that he could stand to lost about 10 pounds.

But the check-up didn't tell the whole story. The doctor had also ordered a blood test, and the results of that later indicated a problem: a serious problem in the form of chronic myelogenous leukemia.

"Suddenly I'm told I have a life-threatening disease," Cohen said. "The age old question, 'Why me?' looms large for the longest time."

Cohen and millions of Americans like him are waiting for bone marrow transplants to cure them of their blood illnesses.

On Friday, July 1, area residents can help by participating in a blood drive and marrow testing event conducted by the American Red Cross.

The program, sponsored by WWJ-AM and WJBK-TV2, is designed to shore up blood supplies leading into the Fourth of July weekend. In addition, the first 450 people ages 18-55 who schedule appointments at a donor center will be entered into the National Marrow Donor Program Registry.

"At this event, we're making it possible for participants to provide help to patients like Phil Cohen in two very important ways: by donating life-sustaining blood and by entering the National Bone Marrow Registry," said Tracie Drayton of My Friends Care, an organization that provides financial help to families seeking transplant procedures.

In the west metro area, donor centers will be located at Bell Creek Office Plaza, 29691 Six Mile (west of Middlebelt) in Livonia; at the Westgate Plaza, 6700 Canton Center Road in Canton; and at 25001 Michigan in Dearborn. Hours will be 8 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Participants are allowed to donate blood without entering the transplant registry, but willing, qualifying donors will be referred to a future bone marrow testing event.

Marrow transplants are performed in hospitals and involve an overnight stay. Doctors extract marrow — a thick, red blood-like substance — from the hips. Donors say the procedure produces only minor soreness. As it does with blood, the body soon replenishes lost marrow.

Marrow transplants are often the only certain cure for many blood-disease patients. Medical officials say transplants effect cures in 30-40 percent of the cases.

Cohen, now 38 and working at NBD as a loan officer, said the medication he takes has cured leukemia in a few instances. Still, his best chance at complete recovery is a marrow transplant.

Cohen said he remains healthy two years after his diagnosis, but his medication tends to wear him down.

"I'm a little thinner, but for the most part I can still do all the things I used to do."

Cohen, the father of two children, credits his wife, Julie, and his employer, NBD, with providing the moral support he needs to keep going.

"That's half the battle," he said. To sign up to donate blood and participate in the registry program, call 1-800-582-4383.

Drug summit produces a call for 'zero tolerance'

By LEE SNIDER
Editor

Alarmed by the disturbing results of the 1994 Alcohol and Other Drugs survey, community leaders held a summit meeting June 6 to brainstorm ways of combating teen drug abuse.

The result of the session was the draft idea for a campaign of "zero tolerance," an approach leaders say will send a strong message to youths who use drugs and alcohol.

"As a community, do we want to tolerate youth substance abuse?" asked Jacques-Martin Downs of the Community Commission on Drug Abuse. "If not, then there are certain things we have to do."

Also attending the meeting were Superintendent Leonard Reznierski, Northville Youth Assistance Director Mary Ellen King, District Court Judge James Garber, Mayor Chris Johnson, Chamber of Commerce President Al Ferrara and others.

The group developed preliminary plans for the zero tolerance campaign, outlining suggestions for all segments of the community.

In a zero-tolerance community, for example, the police would check on all suspicious-looking parties, municipal governments would enforce host party ordinances, schools would impose in-school suspension penalties, parents would participate in educational programs and students would offer peer counseling.

The meeting report also includes roles for youth groups, churches and the news media.

"We're going to avoid the word 'crackdown,' but we want to enforce the rules where we have them," said Special Education Director Bob Somson. "The levels of acceptability and sociability of drugs boggles the mind."

Somson said an atmosphere of tolerance is contributing to high drug abuse rates among youths. The results of the AOD survey given to Northville High School students last spring indicated that drug abuse in the local community exceeds national norms.

Martin-Downs said that positive efforts such as education and recreation programs should be employed in the fight against drugs, but an attitude of intolerance needs to be cultivated too.

"While it takes 14 years for an adult to become dependent on drugs and alcohol, it can take only 16 months for youths," she claimed. "Is it our intention to allow this to happen?"

Somson said that marijuana and alcohol are the most popular drugs among youths, but cocaine, LSD, amphetamines and barbiturates are also frequently abused.

Martin-Downs added that many students also sniff inhalants, including liquid paper and anti-cling detergent additives.

Somson said subcommittees to help implement the zero tolerance strategy will be named in the fall. Summit meeting participants also set personal goals as part of their involvement in the campaign.

Store suits toy lovers' fancies

Cindy and Lou LaChance have a child-like love of toys that just won't go away, so the couple decided to indulge their passion and open their own store, Ultimate Toys & Gifts.

"We both are toy lovers," Cindy said. "Lou's been collecting games all his life. It got hard to find things for him for Christmas."

Cindy and Lou opened their store at 107 N. Center on May 9, but are just now getting around to holding their open house. The celebration is set for 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Friday, June 24, and 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Saturday, June 25. Refreshments, prizes and a magician will all be on tap. But the main attraction for kids of all ages will be the toys, many of which are available for playtime use right in the store.

"We have lots of educational toys, placemats where they can learn their multiplication and division tables, arts and crafts items and dolls," Cindy said.

In addition, the owners stock several kinds of puzzles, including 3-foot high, 3-D varieties that use foam rubber pieces.

"My husband's the puzzle genius. Whenever someone starts one and can't finish it we give it to him," Cindy added.

Ultimate Toys also sells wooden trains, castles, forts and farms. Many toys are kept unwrapped and children who can't wait for a little hands-on activity are welcome to begin playing before they leave the store.

The owners found most of their inventory at a toy fair held in New York last February, Cindy said.

Business has been good since the May 9 opening, Cindy added.

"The kids found out where we were right away."

Being "Water-Wise" in Your Yard

1. Mulch everything in your garden. One to two inches of organic bark mulch preserves moisture.
2. Prioritize watering. Annuals, vegetables and containers should take precedence over lawns, trees and shrubs.
3. Let grass grow a little longer. Raise the blade to mow grass 3 inches high to reduce stress and help maintain moisture levels.
4. Fertilize your lawn with a slow release nitrogen so that large amounts of water are not required.
5. When planting, tease roots out so they grow into the surrounding soil better to more efficiently use the available moisture.
6. Prune summer flowering evergreens and flowering shrubs now, to reduce water consumption.
7. Check water equipment for leaks and repair if necessary.
8. Shelter container plants by moving them to shady areas to keep them from drying quickly in hot, windy areas.

Our Opinion

Sports building is an extravagant proposal

Something happens to otherwise reasonable people when they talk about the sports their children play — all of a sudden they become coaches, as well as moms and dads, and nothing's too good for their budding superstars.

That, at least, seems to be what's happening with Northville Township Treasurer Rick Engelland.

Engelland is a fiscally cautious official who doesn't like the idea of expanding the role of government. Only a short time ago, he voted against approving a paltry sum as the township's portion of the Independence Day parade funding. He was not convinced government has any business financing holiday activities.

Where this sports complex plan of his is concerned, though, he apparently believes government has no limits.

Last year, Engelland, a hockey father, came up with an idea for a $5 million indoor ice arena with two rinks, concession stands and possibly even a swimming pool. The plan was to be funded through the sale of revenue bonds that would entail no taxes and no liability on the part of the township.

It sounded too good to be true to us, but, as Engelland pointed out, if it didn't fly with private investors, it wouldn't be built. No commitment, no go.

Now, however, the proposal has become bloated to an $8.5 million complex with room for ice rinks, a swimming pool, indoor soccer fields and tennis courts.

In addition, the no-risk feature of the original plan is gone. Instead of using revenue bonds to raise the money to pay for construction, general obligation bonds are now part of the program. Such securities would carry the full faith and credit of the township, meaning lower interest payments but also possible financial problems for the township in the event the facility lost money. Officials made no mention of what kind of millage would be required to finance such a huge venture.

Surprisingly, a straw poll to gauge trustees' feelings about putting the issue before voters as early as the Aug. 2 primary produced only a 4-3 vote against.

Engelland's latest version of the Northville Silverdome is strictly preliminary and township trustees have vowed to study the plan further. Additional review is a good idea, but we think the emphasis should be on downsizing the complex with an eye toward producing a more realistic proposal.

Say no to Salem sewer capacity sale request

Although we all hate to do it, sometimes you have to say no to a neighbor. Northville Township's time to do so is now.

Salem Township, a neighbor to the west, has a problem and wants help. One section of that township — known as the Hamlet of Salem — has had long-running difficulties with sewage disposal. For over 20 years, the businesses and homes in the vicinity — many of them with low-income families — have had to put up with odors and other problems.

A sanitary sewer system would fix the problem. That's what Salem Township is trying to build in there now. They need a place to send the waste the system would collect, however, and they think the answer's in Northville Township. Our sewer system is part of the Western Townships Utilities Authority (WTUA). Salem wants to plug the Hamlet into the WTUA system to the tune of 50,000 gallons' worth of pipe flow capacity a day. That's enough for the 250 homes that are expected to be there in another two decades. To do that, they need Northville to sell them that much of its share of WTUA's flow capacity.

The township's board of trustees will say yes or no to the request tonight. We urge rejection. If the trustees' feelings as expressed at their study session last week are any clue, they will.

Two reasons are uppermost: capacity and cost. Most on the board aren't sure that the township can safely spare any flow. Two decades of development await Northville, and the capacity sold to Salem today may, or may not, be needed one day. There are no guarantees; it's a gamble pitting the opportunity for some extra cash against the possibility that the sale may come back to haunt you.

The money's not worth risk. If Salem could afford to pay millions, it would be. That kind of money could retire a big chunk of the township's $30 million WTUA construction debt — something worth a little risk. But the bottom line is that Salem can't afford to pay the price that most of the trustees want. Given that, the township's needs — real or potential — have to come first.

While we're not against helping our neighbors, the township needs to be certain its own behind is covered before sharing the blanket.

Intolerance isn't always a vice

Lee Snider

One of the misguided notions the flower children of the '60s bought into was the idea that liberalized attitudes could solve a multitude of social ills.

If people would just stop bugging teen-agers about their hair, maybe the kids wouldn't think it was so cool to grow it long. If everybody would quit screaming about sex, maybe kids wouldn't be so anxious to rush out and try it. If people would stop carping about drugs, maybe kids wouldn't want to experiment with them.

Drop your hang ups and don't make an issue out of everything. You'll live longer and impressionable youths won't feel compelled to take a position on questions that are too complex for them to understand.

It sounded great at the time and seemed to fit right in with everything else everybody was saying about the hazards of moral rigidity.

So we all relaxed and opened our minds to the world of opportunity that springs from an unrestrictive code of ethics and an uninhibited libido.

The result? Soaring unwanted pregnancy rates and a wildly escalating drug problem.

Now, a generation after the mainstreaming of the counter culture, people are starting to think again. Experts are beginning to blame the absence of a societal stigma for the staggering number of out-of-wedlock births, and, right here in our own community, a group of leaders is poised to force a change in attitudes: zero tolerance of drug abuse.

So much for the wisdom of permissiveness. "We're asking it this way: What level of substance abuse are we willing to tolerate?" asserted Bob Somson, one of the authors of the zero-tolerance concept.

Good question. But is there a good answer?

Somson and the other officials involved in the zero tolerance campaign are hoping that a comparison of fantasy and fact will jolt adults out of the denial in which they're apparently immersed.

The fantasy in this case is that local youths can't be too messed up on drugs or else they wouldn't be pulling down the grades in school. Ninety-two percent of Northville High School grads received state endorsed diplomas in all three primary academic areas this year.

The fact, on the other hand, is that drug abuse is more pervasive here than in the nation as a whole and some teens could be in trouble. This spring's Alcohol and Other Drugs survey revealed higher-than-normal drug use in virtually all areas.

According to Jacque Martin-Downs of the Community Commission on Drug Abuse, Northville students like LSD, speed, crack, cocaine, heroin and barbiturates, in addition to marijuana and alcohol.

She even tells stories of how kids drip white-out on their fingers and spray cling-free on their clothes so they can have portable intoxicants to carry with them for easy sniffing as they move from one room to the next throughout the day.

The community leaders who are developing the zero-tolerance program feel that much can be done to curtail drug abuse if we return to a mindset of intolerance, bring back the social, legal and personal consequences of drug abuse. Education is fine, rewards for positive behavior are great, but consequences — disincentives — have their place too.

The change won't come easy. Tolerance is as much a part of our thinking now as intolerance was a generation ago.

But it can happen. Attitudinal change worked in the '60s and we're smarter now than we were then.

Academy was worth attending

Sharon Condron

At first, we here at the Novi News were a little skeptical about our invitation to the first Lakes Area Citizens Police Academy. But after the first class, I for one was sold on the notion because I saw the merit of the idea.

The 11-week, three-hour course which came to a close with a graduation ceremony Wednesday, was well-worth attending. I learned a lot, met a few new faces and saw first hand how police officers do their jobs.

As one of 23 students in the first academy, I learned the up- and down-sides of police work from officers in Novi, Walled Lake and Wixom.

Each week, three officers instructed the class for about 50 minutes. In some cases, class time ran over because students were so intrigued with specific topics. In other cases, the topics weren't as interesting as the one before or the one that followed, but over the course of the 11 weeks there was an abundance of information that managed to keep the students coming back.

Hands-on activities, like the Firearms Training System, a trip to the police firing range in Farmington and required ride-alongs in squad cars, gave students an opportunity to walk a mile in an officer's shoes.

Students who enrolled in the course came from varying age brackets, economic and occupational circles. As expected, their reactions to course content varied from week to week but provided for a healthy exchange of ideas and experiences.

For the most part, the class is designed as a lecture course. But video tapes, printed hand-outs and officers' real-life experiences helped to jazz up the weekly sessions.

Instructor evaluation forms also gave students an opportunity to provide feedback to those who organized the class and wrote its curriculum. At the close of each class, students were encouraged to evaluate the speakers and the content of their presentations. The purpose of the evaluation was to allow students to help improve the curriculum for those who follow in their footsteps in future academies.

As a student in the academy, I want to take this opportunity to express my gratitude to the Novi, Walled Lake and Wixom Police departments for offering this opportunity.

I walked away with a better understanding of police work and the challenges those who bear the badge face everyday. I now also have a deeper appreciation for all the men and women who walk the street to protect the people who live in these communities.

I empathize now with them and I thank them and their families who make the sacrifice they do each day to keep us safe.

And a special thanks to Lt. David Butler for getting me out of those long-winded planning commission meetings on Wednesday nights.

ALPS opponents avoiding reality

To the editor:

It is not normally my tendency to become involved in the political and personal ideologies of individuals in our community, who would otherwise have us believe that they only have the interest of the "greater good for the masses" as their motivation.

However, recent clamor over the ALPS program has certainly piqued my interest, and fueled my skepticism of those self-appointed few who tote the banner of equality for all under the less obvious shield of their own personal agenda. These few mean to send the message of "we care," but in truth their motivation is personal and self-centered.

While this may seem a harsh appraisal of those who have spoken out recently against ALPS, we have only to review their obvious avoidance of reality — avoidance of the truth. (In recent letters to the editor by M. Hoffman and G. Bergin, I think the truth of the matter was clarified.)

All of the subjective arguments have been made. Give me reality. Give me the firsthand knowledge, observation, and hard results I have personally witnessed from quality teachers my children have been fortunate to have at Silver Springs, Amerman, and Meads Mill.

These are the quiet and unobtrusive super-teachers that do not blow their own horns, and are all quite encouraging to parents, and their involvement in the process. And that's as it should be — involvement and the realization that parents are the key to their child's performance, discipline, and education.

If each parent, and I think in our community most probably do, took responsibility of their child's initiatives and results, all teachers could more effectively do their job — teach.

Unfortunately, there are those who would have us believe it is more important to attend to the masses, or as it is sometimes stated, avoid pandering to the "elite." They care not to take full advantage of the cream of our educators by having them share their truly special insights and talent with some of our youth, but rather that we should keep all teachers at a maximum output of "around average," and treat our children as clones.

Let's not go above and beyond for the few, when given the opportunity, but let's suppress them for the sake of cosmetically addressing the needs of all.

The fact is that our society has a well-documented history of not being able to care for the masses as a total. We must allow those children who can go above and beyond the opportunity to do so, using the resources we have at hand rather than stifling them.

It is our job as parents to drive all children to pursue the greatest end; to stand as individuals with choices to make; to make of themselves the best they can, with the best resources we as parents can provide.

In reviewing documentation submitted to the school board, I was struck by a plea from one of the more outspoken critics of the program; she suggests that the ALPS program has "created a divisive feeling among the parents and the students of the entire district."

Divisiveness, just like prejudice, is taught, not merely created. And if there is such divisiveness among the students, we, as parents, have taught it; make no mistake about that! Not the teachers, not a "program," but we, the parents. Maybe it's about time we took our responsibilities seriously and stood for the initiative of each child, rather than trying to form society to fit our children and our own personal agenda.

A final thought . . . Why is it that when faced with a particularly all-encompassing and important issue such as this one, the education of our youth, there is a tendency to "tear down" that which may be good for the program? Instead, our energies can simply be directed towards building up those areas of concern.

Where is the good in suppressing one small segment of our youth in favor of "the masses"? To me, it harkens back to the days of book burning; only burn those that we ourselves do not understand, or are in disagreement with, for the sake of the greater good; for the sake of shielding the masses from our own ignorance or shortcomings. This is not the way to go.

I have two children, one in ALPS at Amerman and one in Meads Mill Middle School. I am extremely proud of both, and their achievements. And, ALPS or no ALPS, I will continue to push them toward achieving to the best of their abilities; to never being satisfied in their search for excellence; to be the best they can be as individuals, for that is truly for the greater good of all individuals. And that is our responsibility as parents.

What kind of service is that?

To the editor:

Why is it that residents who have connected their sump pumps to the sewer lines will be required to pay $3,000 plus for an additional sewer because the above is a big No! No!, when those of us who wash our cars or water the lawn are required to pay sewer costs for that water which does not go down the sanitation sewer?

Northville states that sump pump/sewer connection is a big cost to the township — yet it gets added revenues from all those who have outdoor water consumption.

Sewer rates are derived from a percentage of water used. Rates are determined from anticipated revenue and expenses of the department.

Some surrounding communities have dual meters — one for indoor, one for outdoor water consumption. When I inquired about the feasibility of dual meters in Northville, I was told it may be in our future. Don't spend the bucks, though. We are prisoners of the WTUA. Our rates could go up drastically, if the water/sewer department loses money through dual meters. It has to make it up somewhere. It will just increase the rates on indoor water consumption.

As Rush Limbaugh would say, "This is Northville working for your best interest, folks!"

All-nighter went great

To the editor:

The outcome of the Northville High School's Senior All Night Party can only be as successful as the people behind it and based on the 87 percent attendance, we feel that it was indeed a success.

We applaud those whose hard work and enthusiasm went into this year's party. Not only did we have over 144 parents helping out during the party, we also had key people behind the scenes whose organizational skills and constant vigilance to detail made the party happen.

We would like to thank our committee chairs who began working in January: Uta and Dave Filkin, Cindy and Mike Wagner, decorations; Sue Krupansky, publicity; Paula and Ray Stachura, checkroom; Sue and Gerald Matela, breakfast; Gail Gengler, telephoning; Art and Pam Lennig, casino; Kathy and Marc Chasson, security; Cy and Pat Howe, buffet; JoEllen Rittenour, teardown; Judi Fisher, treasurer; Bill and Kathy Braund, casino decorations; and Sharon and Ken Romine, entertainment.

We also cannot forget the many hands that worked together to create our theme: a cruise entitled, "A Whole New World." Chairs included: Dani and Glen Trochelman, cafeteria; Sue and Jim Shepard and Donna Raney, near senior courtyard; Cindy and Frank Howland, Morley Stevenson, wide hallway; Barb and Dick Welx, Marion and David McAllister, and Corrine Magiera entry and hall; Iris and Mike Nadeau, second ramp; Ken Krupansky first ramp; Kathy and Barry Bolger and Carol and Bob Blotkamp, hallway; Chris and Jim Abbey, hall near casino. Hope you were able to walk through and see the magnificent transformation.

We commend the students for their respectful behavior and thank all of the Northville patrons for continuing to sponsor this alcohol-free party on graduation night.

Editorial was ill-advised

To the editor:

I am disappointed by your editorial calling on the school board to try to shift school resources to the transportation budget. Many responsible national authorities have urged increased spending for academic purposes, i.e. longer days, more days, advanced classes, foreign languages, remedial instruction, better teacher training, and so forth. These recommendations are running headlong into the ever-more-evident desire of voters for reduced education spending.

Now you jump into the debate. Apparently you believe that both academics and fiscal restraint should take a back seat to busing. As a parent whose kids are much happier and healthier walking a mile to school, I disagree profoundly with your priorities.

But that is not why I write. Rather, I write because you deserve your readers when you fail explicitly to acknowledge that government requires choices. Newspaper editors properly mock politicians who call for increased spending without identifying the revenue source. Now you have engaged in this sport yourself. Neither a politician nor a newspaper should call for a certain increase in busing without specifying the cost and the recommended sacrifice. A newspaper should keep to the high road of responsibility.

Stephen Calkins

Hopeful thanks his supporters

To the editor:

Now that the election is over, I'd like to thank everyone for all their support and encouragement. I was extremely pleased to have the chance to meet and talk with many of you on election day.

The experience was worthwhile and valuable. I want to help the Northville Community in whatever way possible. I also offer my services to the Northville School Board, as they forge ahead.

Congratulations to the winners, Martha Nield and Tom Gudritz. I know they will serve our community well.

Thanks again and I will be back.

Endorsed diplomas offer incentives

Phil Power

It's June, graduation season at Michigan high schools.

Most graduating seniors this year will find something new on the diplomas handed them as they cross the stage: seals, each one indicating passage of a Michigan Education Assessment Program (MEAP) standardized assessment test. High school seniors who pass all three tests as they progress through school — math, reading and science — will have a diploma with three stickers.

This year's graduates are the first to have their diplomas endorsed by the state as indicating actual academic performance. Up to now, a diploma meant nothing more than that a student had stuck it out for four years in high school without getting tossed out. Applying the MEAP tests as a standard for endorsing diplomas was authorized a couple years back by the state Legislature, acting under pressure from school reformers.

Endorsement scores for Northville graduates are printed in the current edition of this newspaper.

Not surprisingly, there was some variation between districts across Michigan in the percentage of graduating seniors who earned stickers in all three MEAP tests — and in the reactions of local school officials.

In the Birmingham district, 95 percent of the 441 seniors graduating from Groves and Seaholm high schools won three endorsements, a similar success rate to Andover and Lahser in the Bloomfield Hills district.

Birmingham Superintendent John Hoefler said, "We are really pleased with how well our students performed. It's hard to tell in this early stage what it means, but we hope in the future it may help businesses predict employees' success."

In the Avondale district, located in Rochester and Troy, 74 percent of 125 seniors earned three endorsements. James Steeby, assistant superintendent for curriculum, won't be happy until his district hits 100 percent. "The endorsement has encouraged students to focus on the importance of the (MEAP) test," he said.

School reformers who hoped mere existence of an independent assessment of academic performance would change the way schools work should be encouraged by what's going on at Avondale, where the curriculum has been rewritten to stress the kinds of thinking and problem solving skills measured by the MEAP tests. "We're teaching things that have to be taught," Steeby said.

The same kind of willingness to change can be seen in the Clarenceville district, which covers parts of Livonia, Farmington Hills and Redford Township. There, Superintendent David Kamish called the 1992-3 MEAP scores embarrassing and disappointing and said the district would not tolerate low scores.

This year, Clarenceville administrators made the tests a priority through special study sessions and beefed up reading, math and science courses. The results — 84 percent of graduating seniors gained three endorsements — were an improvement.

Opinion varies on the value of the MEAP-based diploma endorsements.

Duane Marsh, executive director of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, thinks that for employers the endorsement system will be "an absolutely used tool. With graduates' minimal work experience, the only thing an employer has to look at to see how they performed is school work. . . There's other criteria businesses use to hire someone, but those without the endorsements might not get their foot in the door."

On the other hand, Al Edwards, research and evaluation specialist for the Livonia district, says that "employers didn't check on those kinds of things (test results) in the past and won't in the immediate future."

Regardless, the stakes for graduates will go even higher in 1997, when graduates won't get a high school diploma at all unless they receive passing scores on all three MEAP tests, even if they have fulfilled other school requirements for graduation.

Progress is slow. But believe me, it's coming. Phil Power is chairman of the company that owns this newspaper. His touch-tone voice mail number is (313) 953-2047 ext. 1880.

Lions take hats off to Meijer

To the editor:

Speaking for the Lions Club members in this area we wish to thank the Meijer Inc. food stores for their recent drive to collect used eye glasses for the Lions Clubs. It is my understanding that about 7,000 pair of glasses were collected in the tri-state area of Indiana, Ohio and Michigan. Soon these glasses will be processed through the facility at Muncie, Ind., and be on their way to help people in the less fortunate countries around the world.

The Lions in the immediate area of the Meijer's store in Northville wish to thank the store's personnel and their customers that turned in about 300 pair of used eye glasses during the period of May 16 through May 30. These glasses have been sorted and boxed for transshipment to the Muncie location for repair, cleaning and checked for the existing prescription and then they also will be on their way to help some that need glasses.

If people have used eye glasses that they want to donate contact your local Lions club or you can contact me at 476-6257 and I will attempt to inform you of the closest collection point.

Again we wish to thank everyone that continues to help the Lions in this very worthwhile project to help the visually handicapped.

Writer states position on God

To the editor:

Do I believe in God? It all depends on what one means by the word God, how one defines the concept of God.

In the many and varied religions observed by homo sapiens around the world, the fundamental tenet undergirding a believer's assumptions is the belief in the existence of a super-natural being called by some, God, others by Allah, Vishnu, Kami, Jehovah, or any number of other designations.

For myself, I choose to recognize, not a creator, which many personify as a being or an identifiable entity, but a creative force.

By admitting to a creative force rather than a creator, one can understand and accept the pervasive and immutable laws of nature, but cannot ever fathom the depths of the mystery surrounding the source of that force.

Many find solace in simplifying an understanding of the impenetrable mystery of life's purpose by calling that mystery God, etc. The many who pretend to know and explain the enigma of existence are not only fooling themselves but, what is more important, they are fooling and confusing others. To them I say that an honest answer would be — "I don't know," but let us get along the business of loving one another and stand together in awe at the wonder of all we sense and behold!

Too often, those who pretend to know have discovered the goose that lays the golden eggs. Many of today's televangelists — the likes of Swaggart, Bakkar, Tilton, Roberts, and their ilk, are but charlatans and mountebanks of the most detestable kind, for they prey on the ignorant, the superstitious and the gullible.

Those who eschew rigorous thought on matters pertaining to their place and being in the universe fall easy prey to unexamined explanations for the existence of all that is manifest to the senses and intellect. We must recognize and accept, nevertheless, the fact that there are many whose faith and trust in a super-natural being or entity provides them with an acceptable framework upon which to live their lives. So be it.

To know and accept the fact that answers to some questions regarding our place and being in the universe are unanswerable is a mark of intellectual honesty and integrity. To substitute non-rational assumptions for discovered, real-world knowledge is not utilizing our full potential as sentient beings in resolving our doubts and uncertainties.

Santayana, a renowned philosopher, put it this way: God is not the name of an actual being or reality, it is a name for the highest ideal of man. It is a symbol for perfect truth, beauty, and goodness.

Family's opinion is relevant

To the editor:

We have read and appreciate all of the opinions written by the many concerned citizens of Northville Township regarding the departure of Fire Chief Ricke Rosselle, but we are writing today in response to Barbara Balok's letter to the editor dated June 9.

Barbara's letter made several comments that we would like to clarify. First of all, the comments made in reference to Mrs. Gensley and her daughter's letter suggested that the opinion of family is useless and biased therefore discrediting the point. Maybe Barbara should have talked to her husband about the circumstances that prompted the Gensley's letter of praise, before writing her letter. If Barbara knew the circumstances, we are sure she would find her implications uncalled for and in bad taste. Instead seeing that their letter carried an extreme amount of credibility.

Secondly, we do not believe that the comments attributed to Mr. Rosselle's character imply that he is an "institution," or that they are "biased." The comments are simply showing support for his many years of hard work, dedication and compassion for his profession.

We are sorry that as the wife of a Northville Township firefighter, Mrs. Balok cannot see beyond the political nonsense surrounding this situation, and offer a kind word about Mr. Rosselle, because, he does deserve praise for his efforts.

This is not to say that the 30 members of the Fire Department do not deserve praise for their efforts as well. We believe all of the members of the Fire Department should be proud of these comments, and see them as a tribute to, or an extension of their own talents.

Furthermore, the Township will survive without Mr. Rosselle, but remember, he invested 17 years of his adult life into a cause he feels strongly about, and the citizens of Northville Township as well as his friends and family, we cannot and will not let it go unnoticed.

Health care needs reforming

To the editor:

This letter is in response to a letter from a Mr. Williams (6-9-94) wherein he claims a fear of government controls if our health care system is reformed.

My fear is that it won't be reformed in any meaningful way.

The current $900 billion industry is broke, and it needs to be fixed. We pay too much and receive too little in return. I believe we should look at five basic principles when we discuss reform if we're going to have an effective, long-lasting solution to the crises of rising costs and declining access to care.

1. Everyone must be covered equally. To be truly universal, there must be one system. No employers should be permitted to opt out.
2. The plan must cover all necessary medical expenses, including doctor and hospital bills and prescriptions.
3. The plan must be affordable for our country, for individuals and families. Co-pays and deductibles must be abolished. Effective cost controls must be put in place to eliminate administrative waste and control provider fees.

4. The plan must assure that every individual can choose their own doctor and other providers without having to pay more.

5. The plan must be publicly accountable. The system must be administered by a non-profit public entity of consumers and community interests, including the workers.

We, the people, must take more control over our health care dollars. We have to question the ever-rising costs of routine office calls. We have to question our doctors about these expensive prescriptions. We have to resist the temptation to stay in the hospital just because your insurance will pay for it. And, we must resist Congress' efforts to tax our health care benefits.

Mr. Williams, who do you assume that those who get rich off the current system (doctors, hospitals, insurance companies) will ever agree to any changes that will help us?

That is why many large companies have joined consumer groups, unions and others to work on this problem.

And, that is why most doctors, hospitals, insurance companies and Republicans have banded together to oppose us.

Board already made up its mind

To the editor:

I attended June 16 Board of Trustees meeting and I am just about ready to enjoy my evenings at home. It is a waste of time to say anything against the board as they have already made up their minds.

A young lady stood up and asked what qualifications are needed to become Fire Chief.

Rick Rosselle had lots of qualifications and when she asked about the new Fire Chief, she was referred to Director of Safety, Snider. She talked to him by telephone and since he didn't know, he suggested that she call him on June 13 and talk to him directly. What an answer. The board's decision was June 9.

I told the Board that since I'm over 71, I thought that small town politics were dead years ago but it is sure 100 percent alive in Northville Township.

No one has ever explained what Rosselle did and the same can be said about Bill Richards. Maybe only the Shadow knows.

When a client of mine fires someone for not showing up on the job because he has a drinking problem, always late or doesn't show at all, the MESC always writes back and asks what proof do you have of his attendance and did you warn him about being fired if he kept it up.

This is 1994 and if our Supervisor doesn't like the way you part your hair, you are history.

The meeting had numerous supporters for Rosselle and one retired fireman gave the board a word of warning. Make sure the new Fire Chief has a 100 percent physical. He said to the reporter that he didn't want that printed in the paper but I am sure that he was sincere in his warning.

I told the board again that this is no way to treat anyone with 17 years of faithful service. I wonder if anyone on the board would like to be treated like this?

When it came time to make the position permanent, only Barbara O'Brien had the guts to vote no. Until she had the chance to look at his qualifications for comparison, she would not vote.

I told the board that I was beginning to put a little faith in some of them but after that, Barbara O'Brien is the only one with common sense and speaks her mind.

I personally think the rest of the board are afraid to speak up against Mrs. Baja. What a shame.

R FOR REST

By MICHELLE HARRISON
Staff Writer

Karl Saldana is only one of over 20 million Americans who suffers from sleep apnea.

The disorder, described as non-breathing episodes characterized by loud, irregular snoring as the person attempts to breathe, is most common in middle-aged men and people over 60, but can affect anyone.

"The common symptom is snoring," said Dr. William T. Allen, one of the medical doctors at Providence Sleep Disorders Center in Novi. "The bed partner will notice the snoring getting louder and progressively longer. Then, usually the spouse heads for the couch, or one of the two do."

There are three types of sleep apnea:

● Obstructive sleep apnea, the most common, is caused by an obstruction from the tonsils, uvula or fatty tissue, or by involuntary muscle relaxation which blocks airflow during sleep.

● Central sleep apnea, caused by the brain failing to send proper signals to regulate breathing.

● Mixed sleep apnea, a combination of obstructive and central sleep apneas.

Since the center opened in February 1993, Providence has treated close to 250 patients, according to Allen.

When a patient comes into the center, he is seen by a physician certified in sleep disorders. The patient is then examined and diagnosed before doctors decide on the appropriate treatment.

"Sometimes the diagnosis is reasonably straightforward," Allen said. "Not all have to (participate) in the sleep study (staying

Patient says goodnight to sleeping disorder

By MICHELLE HARRISON
Staff Writer

After 16 years of heavy snoring, Karl Saldana's wife Millie finally put her foot down and told him to seek medical attention.

But it wasn't the snoring that Millie Saldana was concerned about.

"She always noticed when I slept that during the middle of the night I would stop breathing," Saldana said.

When the couple first married, Saldana's breathing would lapse for about five to six seconds during his sleep. His wife kept tabs on the problem throughout the years, however, and this year clocked a 25 second halt in her husband's breathing. That's when she recommended Saldana see a doctor.

A sales representative for Potter Distributing Inc., a company which distributes Trane heating and air conditioning equipment, Saldana remembered a customer of his who shared similar sleeping symptoms once during a sales call. The customer had been diagnosed with sleep apnea, a breathing disorder during sleep, by doctors at Providence Sleep Disorders Center.

Saldana said the customer had good results with the Novi-based center, located in Providence Park at Grand River and Beck, so Saldana made an appointment.

Before Saldana could be diagnosed with sleep apnea, he had to be tested for it. That meant an overnight stay at the sleep disorder center.

"You have to sleep over... with all these wires hooked up to you — around your arms, legs," he explained. "They sense any movement even after you go to sleep."

Saldana, who lives north of Walled Lake, admitted it was hard to go to sleep that night.

"Someone monitors you all night," he said. "The next morning I asked the nurse and he said I was definitely a candidate for a machine."

The machine, called a Continuous Positive Airway Pressure (CPAP), is a device worn over the nose that is attached to an air compressor which keeps airways open during sleep.

The nurse told Saldana that while some people have two to three "events" (occurrences where breathing stops), Saldana experienced one right after another.

The next evening, Saldana spent the night at the center again, this time hooked up to the CPAP.

"I slept through the whole night," Saldana said. "I felt great the next morning."

Saldana said doctors told him he was starving for REM (rapid eye movement) sleep, commonly referred to as the dreaming stage, because he was never able to reach that cycle due to his gasping for air.

Since his testing, Saldana has his own machine beside his bed. "I do it every night," he said. "I use it religiously... it's the cat's meow."

There is only a minimal amount of noise produced by the machine.

"It's a consistent noise with the machine, but it's a lot less noisy than me snoring at night or gasping for air like crazy," Saldana said.

There isn't a doubt in Saldana's mind that he is getting a better quality of sleep since using the CPAP device.

"I drive 500 to 600 miles a day — Macomb, Oakland, St. Clair, Detroit — it was sometimes hard to stay awake," he said. "Now with the machine, I can get a good quality of sleep. It was always four to six hours before and I was always waking up. Now, I get six to seven hours of good sleep."

Since having the machine, Saldana hasn't even considered going a night without using it.

"It's kind of an annoyance, definitely," he said. "But it's not really a discomfort, you can move it around, side to side."

Saldana's only other alternative for his sleeping disorder would have been surgery — an option he was not at all enthused about.

"I'll keep doing this," he said of the CPAP. "This is fine with me."

Karl Saldana slept in a bed like this one at the clinic while his sleeping patterns were monitored. Saldana was diagnosed with sleep apnea, a common sleeping disorder.

Volunteer has SPARK

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

How old are you? No matter. Are you interested in speed contests — air, surface, water — and in the machines that compete to cover a designated space? And getting your hands dirty doesn't upset you?

If you answer "yes" all around, then listen to the volunteering that Stephanie Watson, a 1994 high school graduate, has been busy with. It has to do with SPARK, the Society for the Preservation of American Racing Knowledge, and it supports the Motorsports Museum and Hall of Fame at the Novi Expo Center.

Watson has been on the scene for Spark, doing things like:

1. Being one of four to paint a 4 by 10 foot mural of a plane, following a slide-projected picture on the wall. "It took us 25 hours to complete."

2. Helping tear down dry walls and put up new ones. "It's messy stuff but a lot of fun. A construction company helped us."

3. Putting in light fixtures and electrical wiring. "I can do a little. An electrician worked with us."

4. Polishing floors and putting fresh paint on the walls for spring cleanup.

Describing the museum, she said they have 19,000 square feet of space in which there are racing vehicles like motorbikes, cars, planes, go-carts, sports cars that have raced, and a hydroplane.

As a member of SPARK, she said, she's pledged to give four hours a month of volunteer service. Her enthusiasm, however, has led her to 40 hours a month.

Also — she has a special responsibility — maintaining the gift shop, which offers die-cast cars, models, books, stickers, decals, posters, T-shirts, jackets.

If you would like to join SPARK and get in on what is practically the ground floor of development of the museum, Stephanie Watson said you should call 349-RACE. If the secretary doesn't answer, talk to the answering machine and you'll get a return call.

Northville grad earns second TV Emmy award

Mike Settles, producer at WNMU Public TV 13, won his second Emmy at the 16th annual Emmy Awards Banquet sponsored by the Michigan Chapter of the National Association of Television Arts and Sciences at the Northfield Hilton in Troy.

Settles is a 1980 graduate of Northville High School. He is the son of Don and Maureen Settles of Northville.

Over 400 broadcasting professionals attended the annual banquet to applaud winners in 50 categories. Settles' program, "A Superior Celebration... Structure and Sound" earned a prestigious Emmy for Best Program Editing.

"For years I wanted to produce a holiday program showcasing our community choirs and the architecture of such fabulous landmarks as the Calumet Theater and St. Peter's Cathedral," Settles said. "To compete for an Emmy is regarded as the highest honor in television."

The hour-long musical program was made possible through a grant from D&N Bank.

Ernie Nolan of Northville will be returning to Interlochen this year to study theater arts.

The show also won public television honors from the Central Educational Network for cultural performance programming. It was judged with pieces submitted from stations throughout the Great Lakes, including Chicago and Minneapolis. According to one judge's comments, "this program is a fine example of how a smaller station can produce local programming that meets national standards."

Settles won his first Emmy for "Midnight Musers," a program documenting the first running of the UP 200 Sled Dog Championship. He plans to produce another musical program for PBS on the annual summer Hiawatha Music Festival.

Talent scholar

Ernie Nolan, 17, of Northville has been awarded a talent scholarship to attend Interlochen Arts Camp.

Nolan, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Nolan, will study musical theater at the camp. This is his third summer at Interlochen.

Last summer, Nolan had the male lead in the musical Gypsy and performed as the Duke of Dunstable in the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta Pattience. A veteran of Northville's Marquis Theatre and the Plymouth Theatre Guild, Nolan expects to pursue a career in theater.

Established in 1928, Interlochen is the nation's oldest summer arts program. It offers intensive training in theater arts, dance, music and visual arts. The campers, ages 8 to 18, attend the program for eight weeks. The camp attracts 1,400 students from all 50 states and 35 foreign countries.

Simkins on board

Charles N. Simkins, a trial attorney in Northville, has been selected to serve on the editorial advisory board of Headlines Magazine, one of the world's leading publications on issues relating to traumatic brain and spinal cord injuries.

Headlines Magazine, with a circulation of over 160,000 around the world, is based in Boston. Simkins joins a number of prominent physicians and health care providers as a member of the editorial advisory board.

Northville High School grad Mike Settles has won his second Emmy from the Michigan Chapter of the National Association of Television Arts and Sciences.

'Little Buddha' completes Bertolucci's Oriental trilogy

In a remote monastery in the far-off and mysterious Kingdom of Bhutan, Lama Norbu (Ying Ruocheng), a Tibetan monk, begins a journey that will take him to the other side of the world.

As improbable as it sounds, he is on his way to Seattle, Washington, to visit a young American boy who is believed to be the reincarnation of Lama Dorje, an important Buddhist lama.

That's the premise behind "Little Buddha," the latest work by Bernardo Bertolucci, winner of the Academy Award for "The Last Emperor."

In Bertolucci's tale, past and present meet when the boy is given a book entitled "Little Buddha" that recounts the legend of Prince Siddhartha, a story that then comes to life in a series of sequences set in ancient times.

Distributed by Miramax, "Little Buddha" stars Keanu Reeves, Chris Isaak, Ying Ruocheng, Bridget Fonda and introduces young Alex Wiesendanger as the child who takes us on this magical and exotic journey.

Reuniting the production team responsible for "The Last Emperor," the film was produced by Jeremy Thomas, written by Mark Peploe (along with Rudy Wurlitzer), designed by James Acheson, photographed by Vittorio Storaro and scored by Ryuichi Sakamoto — all of whom received Oscars from their work on the 1987 epic.

Set primarily in Asia, the movie's breathtaking locations include the Kathmandu Valley and the remote mountain kingdom of Bhutan, which has never before served as a location for a feature film.

"Little Buddha" is not a historical biography of the Buddha, nor a lesson in Buddhism. Rather, it is a fictional story set in contemporary America, intercut with scenes recreating the legend of young Prince Siddhartha, the future Buddha.

Buddhism is a subject that first interested Bertolucci over 20 years ago when a friend gave him a biography of Milarepa, one of the great Tibetan Buddhist saints. The book's beauty, poetry and mysticism made a strong impression on him.

Twenty years later, in the 1980s, Bertolucci found himself disturbed by a spirit of rampant consumerism in his native Italy, and, in fact, throughout the west.

Searching for different territory to explore, he turned to other cultures as settings for his films.

"I did something that 15 years earlier my friends and I would have considered running away," said Bertolucci. "I made 'The Last Emperor' in China and 'The Sheltering Sky' in North Africa. 'Little Buddha,' made in Nepal and Bhutan, is the last part of this 'Oriental Trilogy.'"

Bertolucci, who is famous for having broken ground politically, sexually and esthetically in such films as "The Last Tango in Paris" and "The Conformist," believes that "Little Buddha" is a natural extension of his other works, dealing with issues the director has been exploring for years. "The idea that man has to find God within himself is terribly modern — its revolutionary," said Bertolucci. "In a way, 'Little Buddha' is my most revolutionary film."

Bridget Fonda and Alex Wiesendanger read from a book about Prince Siddhartha in Bernardo Bertolucci's 'Little Buddha.'

But Bertolucci was much more concerned with telling his story in a way that would make it accessible to children — and the child in all of us — than he was in proselytizing. "In the West, we are all children as far as Buddhism is concerned; we're completely ignorant."

The challenge for the director was to find a way to make the myth come to life and to interweave it with the modern-day story of young Jesse Conrad's amazing adventure.

Ironically, the part of the story that seems most improbable — that Jesse is the reincarnation of an important Tibetan Lama — is based on a true life phenomenon. Several cases have been documented in America, as well as other countries, of children being "tagged" as possible reincarnations of powerful Buddhist spirits.

Bertolucci was fascinated by the idea of a relationship between an old lama and a child whom he believes to be the reincarnation of his teacher. "I think the mixture of affection and respect is exactly the attitude we should have with all children," said Bertolucci. "I found this relationship, which happens every time a lama finds a 'tulku,' as these children are called, very poetic and vibrant."

Bertolucci said "Little Buddha" is an ancient story which he wanted to have an "old magic."

"The movie reaffirms the fact that great storytelling is an art that transcends time, place and culture," he said.

"East meets West, past meets present, and everyday reality collides with the world of myth and mystery. It's a movie that speaks to the child in all of us."

'Major League II' keeps you laughing

MAJOR LEAGUE II
By Heather Wadowski
Northville

It's the beginning of a new season, and the Cleveland Indians are back. And better than ever!

And some familiar faces return, along with a lot of new ones. But this time around, Jake Taylor (Tom Berenger) is not on the field, but coaching the Indians. And Ricky "Wild Thang" Vaughn (played by Charlie Sheen) loses his image and replaces it with a clean-cut image. But along with his lost image went his arm. So, basically, Vaughn isn't "Wild Thang" anymore.

Then there's Willie Maize Haze, who's let stardom go to his head. During the off-season he was in an action movie and sprained his knee. Now how is he going to slide into the bases when he can barely walk?

Just when things look like they can't get any worse ... they do.

The most valued Indians' player gets sold. Coach Lou has a heart attack and the old owner buys the team back.

Thinks definitely don't look good for the Indians. How can they make it to the World Series when they can't win one game?

Unlike "Major League," this movie centers around Vaughn, not Taylor. But like "Major League," this movie keeps the audience laughing ... if not more this time around.

DEAD POET'S SOCIETY
By Helaine Binstock
Novi

From the outset, you recognize the private school for boys as a distinguished institution, acclaimed by many generations of family. Fathers, themselves alumni of the institute, proudly witness the graduation of their sons. The service is identical to theirs 25 years earlier. Not much has changed...

This is a celebrated academy, albeit cheerless and stodgy. Though it's austere and unyielding, graduates are destined for good things.

A charismatic English professor, Mr. Keating (Robin Williams), succeeds a newly-deceased, long-standing teacher. The younger educator, uniquely dissimilar from his colleagues, challenges the school's traditional teaching methods and is met with enthusiasm by his students who learn to "Seize the Day."

They form "The Dead Poet's Society" where they conduct late-night, clandestine meetings to read and appreciate poets of the past. Keating's departures from the "norm" are exciting to the boys, opening their eyes to numerous joys that make life so worth living. As Keating explains, engineers and lawyers make a living.

People who appreciate the arts, make that living worthwhile.

When originally released, "Dead Poet's Society" was controversial. The film underscores the necessity of thinking for oneself, even when it contradicts conformity. Whether or not one agrees, the film warrants contemplation.

"Dead Poet's Society" is available on video tape.

ALL-AREA SOFTBALL 1994

Mustangs place two on all-area softball squad

When you talk about HomeTown Newspapers' 1994 East All-Area Softball first team you have to talk about diversity.

This year's first team honorees were truly a multi-talented group and one that ranks right up there with some of the great All-Area teams of years past.

It was a tough job selecting the first team again this year, especially with all the great individual performances in the spring campaign. But it was safe to say that our 1994 All-Area squad is truly the cream of the crop and all first-teamers not only contributed to their respective teams on the field, they were tremendous leaders for their schools off the field as well.

Choosing a Player of the Year was another tough task, since there were a number of deserving candidates this season, but one player seemed to always step up and do whatever was necessary to help her team throughout the course of the year. That player, fittingly enough, also happens to be one of the most multi-talented athletes in the area so she should feel pretty comfortable heading up the first-team selections.

Megan Readler of Milford is this year's Player of the Year and she definitely has the numbers to back it up. Readler, a senior, was the leading hitter on a Redskin squad that made it all the way to the state quarterfinals after a rough beginning to the year. She was also the team's ace hurler this season, collecting 12 of the club's 19 wins.

There were, of course, some other excellent candidates for Player of the Year. Novi's Erin Bjerke, and Lakeland's Beth Trimark also stood out as tops in the area and gave Readler a run for her money. Top to bottom, this year's first team is stacked with talent and offensively and defensively the squad could compete with anyone around the state.

Take a look at our selections for the 1994 All-Area Softball first team and you will see that the players' credentials speak for themselves. (Selections are made by the sports editors of the Novi News, Northville Record, Milford Times and South Lyon Herald).

MEAGAN READLER Pitcher, Milford

Readler certainly did it all for the Redskins this season.

Her .360 batting average led the team and her 12-9 mark as a pitcher was proof of her value to the team. She had a 2.12 earned run average in '94 and she struck out a whopping 165 batters on the year.

Milford coach Julie Hedding said she was comfortable playing Readler at any position because she knew she would produce. Readler also saw time in the outfield, at third base, shortstop and catcher this year. Hedding added that whenever Readler pitched she was the center of attention.

"She was definitely a leader out there. Whenever she was on the mound everyone was looking at her. She was very interesting to watch with her wide variety of pitches," she said.

Readler, who will attend Kalamazoo College in the fall but doesn't plan on playing sports, was named to the all-Kensington Valley Conference (KVC) first team this year.

YVONNE BLYSKAL Catcher, South Lyon

Defense, defense and more defense is what got the senior named to the all-area first team.

Blyskal, like most members of the South Lyon team, didn't have a good season at the plate, batting only .183, but she more than made up for it in the field where she threw out at least one runner on every team in the KVC.

Kari Krupansky made our top all-area team this season.

She was the only catcher to throw out fleet-footed Tammy Mika of Brighton all season long and she picked off a total of 18 runners at third base.

Lions coach Dianna Kampsen said it was always a plus to have Blyskal behind the plate.

"Once she threw a runner out at second, teams just wouldn't run any more," she said. "It was also very reassuring for our pitchers to have her back there."

Blyskal, who was also known for standing her ground and delivering some punishment on plays at the plate, was named to the all-KVC second team this year.

KATIE SHAW Infielder, Novi

Just call the Wildcat Junior Miss Versatility. Shaw played all over the diamond for coach John Peace, catcher, right field, shortstop and third base.

"She played where ever I needed her," he said.

Kemp on second all-area team

Stats can, sometimes, be deceiving. Inflated batting averages, for example, mean less to a team than runs batted in or runs scored.

Several of HomeTown Newspapers' East All Area second teamers fall into that category. While their stats may not jump out at you, a closer look reveals just how valuable they were to their respective teams.

We think our second squad represents a fine assortment of talent and grit — two key factors for any ballclub. So, without further ado, let's take a closer peek at this year's team as picked by the sports editors of the Northville Record, Novi News, Milford Times and South Lyon Herald:

MINDY DWYER Pitcher, Lakeland

Dwyer quickly became one of the top pitchers in the area in her freshman season.

She led the Eagles in wins with 10 on the year and she also topped the team in strikeouts with 142 in '94. The first year varsity hurler also had an impressive earned run average allowing only 2.80 runs per seven innings.

"Mindy pitched some very big ballgames for us," said Lakeland coach Kent Griffiths who added that Dwyer's biggest strength is her speed on the mound. "If her control is just a little bit better next season, she'll be just outstanding."

Dwyer could also get the job done offensively batting in the mid .200s for much of the year but she turned it up a notch at playoff time when she went 4-for-4 against Holly in the districts.

"She definitely pitched better as the year went on," added Griffiths.

Dwyer was an honorable mention selection in the KVC this season.

Softballers take sting out of rebuilding season

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

For what was supposed to be a rebuilding season, the Mustang softball team wasn't half-bad this spring.

With just two seniors and two juniors returning, 1994 figured to be a long campaign for Northville High. But a funny thing happened along the way: the Mustangs matured and turned into a very competitive ballclub.

"I thought we could have a winning season," said coach Frank Friemund. "I was disappointed with that. But we played well at the end of the year."

"I thought we could have a winning season. I was disappointed with that. But we played well at the end of the year."

FRANK FRIEMUND
Softball coach

Northville finished with an overall record of 14-16. After a slow start, the Mustangs played about .500 softball in the final weeks of the season.

"We played with everybody," Friemund said.

As with any young team, inconsistency was a problem for Northville.

At times, the Mustangs played well, as they demonstrated against the likes of Fenton and Livonia Churchill. Then there were games with South Lyon and Plymouth Salem that Friemund would just like to forget.

The coach said often it wasn't the whole team playing poorly. One or two players would have off games, Friemund said, and throw everything out of whack.

"That was our downfall," he added. Of course with new people playing eight positions there were bound to be problems.

"It took them awhile to get (the new positions) down," said Friemund.

Besides all of the experience gained this spring, the Mustangs will be working hard this summer to improve. Many players from the Northville squad will compete in the Farmington-based "Incredible Stain Remover" league.

The fast-pitch league has become a kind of training ground for Western Lakes teams. Friemund said many of Northville WLAA rivals will field teams in the league.

Northville will actually field two squads. The top team will be composed mainly of varsity players while the other will be junior varsity and other younger athletes.

Play begins Tuesday. "It's indispensable," Friemund said. "Virtually everyone will compete in the summer league."

The Mustangs, then, should head into next season with an experienced squad.

Top hurler Kari Krupansky graduated this spring. A number of candidates will vie for her job, but the front-runner has to be sophomore Andrea Moretti. A right-hander she's pitched in parts of two seasons for varsity.

Other returning players to watch for include Kristin Corder, Jennifer Cooley, Sara Roth, Jenny Sheehan and Jenny Frisbee, among others.

"I've got an entire infield returning," said Friemund.

Doctor's office visit made easy

A trip to the doctor's office should be helpful and reassuring. Unfortunately, at times it can be confusing and frustrating. Although some problems cannot be avoided, there are a few things you can do to get the most out of your appointment.

When you schedule your office visit, explain exactly why you want to be seen. If the staff is made aware of your problem, they may schedule an appropriate amount of time to adequately care for your concerns.

Expect that you may have to wait. Unexpected emergencies occur in the medical field. Also, medical problems are often more complex than they originally appear. Bring a book, paperwork, or that letter you have been meaning to write. By being productive, time will pass more quickly. If waiting is a problem for you, ask for the first appointment of the day.

Be on time. You may need to complete paperwork, especially if it's your first visit. If you are even a few minutes late and the next patient is already waiting, that person may be seen before you.

If you have health insurance, remember to bring that information along with you. If possible bring copies of medical records from recent hospitalizations, emergency room visits and appointments with other doctors. This can be very important because the information may be relevant to your current illness. Furnishing a lot of information will help your doctor will cut down on unnecessary tests.

When explaining your health concerns to the doctor, be as specific as possible. While, "I just don't feel right," may be how you feel, it helps to describe your symptoms as well as you can. Keeping a log of your symptoms is also a good idea. Indicate the symptom that is most likely to occur, what makes it better, what makes it worse, and if there are any other symptoms associated with it. Being specific helps your doctor help you.

Know what medications you take and why you take them. This is very important. Know the name of the drug, its strength, and how often you take it. If possible bring a list of your meal to the appointment. Make sure to include everything, including over-the-counter medications, such as Tylenol, as well as drugs prescribed by other physicians.

Also, be aware of any medications to which you have had allergic reactions. Always make sure every doctor you see knows about your drug allergies.

Write down your questions. It is difficult to remember all the questions you have had in the past several weeks.

Do not leave the office without a clear understanding of your problem and how the doctor intends to treat it. If the doctor is unsure and additional tests are required, make sure they are explained to you.

Finally, remember that you are the person ultimately responsible for your health. It is your responsibility to act on the recommendations given to you on your visit. Whether or not you decide to follow the doctor's advice is your choice.

Most animals don't eat by the clock

Barry Franklin

Humans are probably the only animals who eat by the clock.

"Eat three square meals a day, and don't nibble in between," says the old rule. And we eat on schedule, frequently when we may not really be hungry.

Just how many meals a day constitutes an ideal diet is not known. Many experts believe that eating three meals a day is the best diet plan. However, recent studies suggest it is better to eat five or six small nutritious meals a day.

For example, rats trained to eat their entire food ration during a short daily period (meal-fed) tend to gain more body weight and fat than rats allowed to eat the same amount of food throughout the day (nibblers).

This work was recently extended and applied to the treatment of obesity in humans. A diet schedule was given in six feedings daily, corresponding to breakfast, mid-morning, lunch, mid-afternoon, supper and an evening snack.

The results of the program were encouraging: no patient complained of hunger — and some lost as much as 100 pounds.

If these results can be generalized, it would seem that concentrating a large portion of the daily food intake (and calories) into one heavy meal would have adverse metabolic consequences.

Two possible explanations have been offered: (1) eating large quantities of food at a single sitting may increase lipogenesis, or fat deposition, and (2) heavy meal-feeding may reduce daily physical activity and energy expenditure.

In summary, it appears that meal-eating may be a possible factor in the development of obesity. If future studies confirm these findings, a change in American eating patterns may be warranted.

Q. Do white collar workers have any advantage over blue-collar workers when it comes to death from heart disease?

A. Blue-collar workers are 43 percent more likely to die of heart disease than are white-collar workers, even after differences in risk factors have been considered. But it remains unclear whether other influences — diet, medical care or cultural factors — play an even greater role than the jobs do.

Krupansky makes all-area top team

Shaw hit a respectable .312, smacked a triple and two home runs, and was fourth on the team in RBI with 13. Bating second in the order, however, her main responsibility was to advance base runners.

"She moved the ball and advanced runners," Peace said. "That was her job."

Shaw made the Kensington Valley Conference's honorable mention role.

KARI KRUPANSKY

Infilder, Northville

Our selection here is a little deceiving. Krupansky was primarily used as the Mustangs pitcher, but did play some at third base.

On the mound, the Northville senior was as tough as anyone in the area. She had a dandy ERA of 1.89 and struck out 178 batters in 170 innings of work.

"The last three weeks of the season," coach Frank Friemund said, "when she didn't walk anyone, she dominated."

Teams batted a microscopic .166 against Krupansky, who made the Western Lakes all division team.

"She threw as hard as anyone we saw," Friemund said. "She had a tremendous curveball."

plate to just that, a turnaround.

Petrosky naturally bats right handed. Friemund put her on the left side of the plate to utilize her speed by slapping the ball.

The shortstop responded by hitting .350 and leading the squad in hits. "Petro" also stole 15 bases and led Northville in total bases with 52.

Friemund said she'll likely be back in her spot as leadoff hitter next spring.

BETH TRIMARK

Infilder, Lakeland

Trimark, a senior, was the Eagles Most Valuable Player this season and she certainly deserved some serious consideration for all-area Player of the Year honors as well.

Trimark's .421 batting average was one of the best in the area and what's more impressive is that she struck out only once in 106 at-bats this year. She led the team in hits (45) and RBIs (24) and she also had a great fielding percentage (.934), proving that she is the complete package.

"There are two words to describe her," said Lakeland coach Kent Griffiths, "versatility and toughness."

Trimark displayed both those qualities on a daily basis always playing with a high level of intensity and Griffiths said she made a big adjustment this season by moving to second base after playing mostly at third and shortstop last year.

In this, her third year on the varsity level, Trimark not only played at second base, she also saw time at third, and played catcher and in the outfield as well.

"She's just that type of athlete that can make that change smoothly," added Griffiths.

Trimark was named to the all-KVC first team this year and was also named to the all-district and all-regional teams which gave her all-state status. She will be playing in the all-state softball game held in Lansing on July 30.

ERIN BIERKE

Outfielder, Novi

Bierke made our first squad as a result of her overall performance.

As a pitcher for the Wildcats, she posted a record of 12-13-1 but probably deserved a better fate. Bierke, who made all first team KVC, had a 1.80 ERA, walked just nine batters in 167 innings and struck out 185.

"I thought she had a good year," said coach Peace. "Better than last year."

The junior saw action in the outfield and as a designated hitter, too. She batted .248 but was third on Novi with 14 RBI.

Bierke will, once again, be the Wildcats top gun next season.

WENDY KIBNER

Outfielder, Lakeland

Kibner brought speed and toughness to the Lakeland lineup this year and made the team one of the toughest to defend in the KVC.

"Wendy is very quick. I think she's one of the fastest in the state getting down to first base," said Griffiths. She led the Eagles in stolen bases with 25 and was caught stealing only once this year. She also led the squad in runs scored with 26 and batted an impressive .315, mainly from the left side of the plate.

"She puts a lot of pressure on the other team's defense when she gets on base," added Griffiths.

In the outfield Kibner also played big, leading all team fielders with nine assists and she also had a very strong arm which kept base runners honest.

Kibner, a junior, was an all-KVC second team selection this year.

JODI KIBLOSKI

Outfielder, Milford

Kibloski, a senior, was the kind of player coaches dream about.

She was always positive and vocal in the clubhouse for the Redskins this season and she backed up her statements by getting the job done out on the field.

"Her attitude would win any coach over," said Hedding. "She always hustled and always found a way to keep the team's spirits up," she added.

For the year, Kibloski batted .285 and led the team in runs scored with 29. Hedding had trouble finding a lead-off hitter at the beginning of the season until she tried Kibloski in the role and it became a perfect fit. "If she got on base it was very likely that she was going to score," said Hedding. Kibloski was named to the all-KVC second team this year.

Catcher, Milford

Even though Hincka didn't put up overly impressive offensive statistics (a .245 batting average and 12 RBIs) she was the glue that held the Milford pitching staff together.

Hincka, a senior, started out the season in a bit of a slump at the plate but she really turned it around towards the end of the year and in the playoffs. She was the offensive star of the Redskins' regional championship game against Portage Central, coming up with three hits including two triples, something you don't normally see from a catcher.

Hincka was named to the all-KVC second team for her performance this season.

SARAH KEMP

Infilder, Northville

The senior was the kind of player who drives opposing managers nuts.

Northville coach Frank Friemund said she was tough to defense because she could either bunt for a hit or smash one by a drawn-in infilder.

"She could put down a bunt even when they were close and beat it out," he added.

Kemp hit .289 but was somewhat better than that in the league. She also stole 22 bases and scored 26 runs. The Mustang was nearly impossible to strike out, as well, by whiffing only once in every 19 at bats.

"She had good power right handed," said Friemund, "which surprised people because she's so small."

Kemp was selected to the Western Lakes conference all division team.

MELISSA WAARA

Infilder, Novi

When the junior was on her game, Novi took off offensively. Coach John Peace said she started slowly this spring but warmed up as soon as the weather did.

"When we started hitting the ball," he added, "she was the key."

Waara moved to lead-off about mid-season. In that slot she compiled a .379 on base average, 13 RBI, six doubles and a triple.

"She's a spark plug that gets the bat on the ball really well," said Peace. "She's a good ball player, very steady."

STEPHANIE CLARK

Infilder, Milford

The senior was one of the most versatile parts of the Redskin's machine as she saw time at both third base and catcher.

Clark batted .284 for the year and collected 14 RBIs but a mild slump towards the end of the season was the only thing that prevented her from cracking .300.

Clark's rifle of an arm from third base also made her a valuable part of the team defensively. This season Clark was named honorable mention all-KVC.

MELISSA STRIKULIS

Outfielder, Novi

Strikulis became a regular part of the Wildcat lineup in her sophomore season. And for good reason.

She led the Wildcats in RBI with 17 while scoring 20 runs. Strikulis batted .254 overall but at a .353 clip with runners in scoring position.

"She came on at the end of the season to be our No. 4 hitter," said Peace. The coach said Strikulis will likely hit even better next spring.

"She's capable of hitting the ball a lot better," Peace said. "But we didn't hit well the first four weeks."

Home inspectors under heavy fire

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

In all regions of the country, there's been a steadily increasing number of real estate practitioners who hang out their shingle as a "home inspector" in recent years.

Many people question whether using the services of an inspector is worth the fee of about $250. And if they decide to retain such a person, how can an honest and qualified inspector be found in the crowd?

Home inspections have grown into a major industry. From 30 percent to 40 percent of homes sold today in the United States involve the services of a home inspector, according to a study by the National Academy of Building Inspection Engineers. Oftentimes, a contract to buy a home is contingent on an acceptable report from an inspector.

In most cases, the system works fine. But a serious problem can surface when a selected inspector is not qualified or capable of con-

BUCKINGHAM

The Buckingham features an inviting look

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

Welcome home. The Buckingham sings out that message loud and clear.

Windows fill most of the front facade, creating an open look, while gables and a wide front porch amplify the effect. Partial brick columns and lattice work in the brick foundation add a unique touch. A ramp provides wheelchair accessibility and inner doors are also wide.

This is an expandable home. Everything an average family needs is on the 2,200-square-foot main floor. If more living space is required now or later, another 1,000 square feet can be developed upstairs.

The optional second floor plan adds three bedrooms, two of them quite large, and compartmentalized bathroom with twin lavs. Plenty of attic space still remains available for storage.

Family living is at the heart of the home, in a comfortably sized kitchen/family room. Secondary bedrooms are to the left and quiet rooms—living room and owners' suite—are on the right, well-isolated from the everyday commotion created by healthy, active children.

The kitchen is bright and spacious. Glass, including a garden window and a glass door, fills most of the wall that faces the deck. A large-corner fireplace, open on two sides, allows appreciation of flames from anywhere in the kitchen or family room. Cook-top, ovens and an eating bar are built into a long work island that expands the already generous counter space. A small bathroom is close to everything.

Formal dining is to the left of the entry. To the right is a uniquely shaped vaulted living room, brightened by a dormer window.

Face-frame cabinetry provides double access to the walk-in pantry. Utilities and another closet are just a few steps away. Amenities in the utility room include a fold-down ironing board, deep sink and a counter. This room is also adjacent to the entrance from a two car garage with locked storage, a workshop and a recycling center.

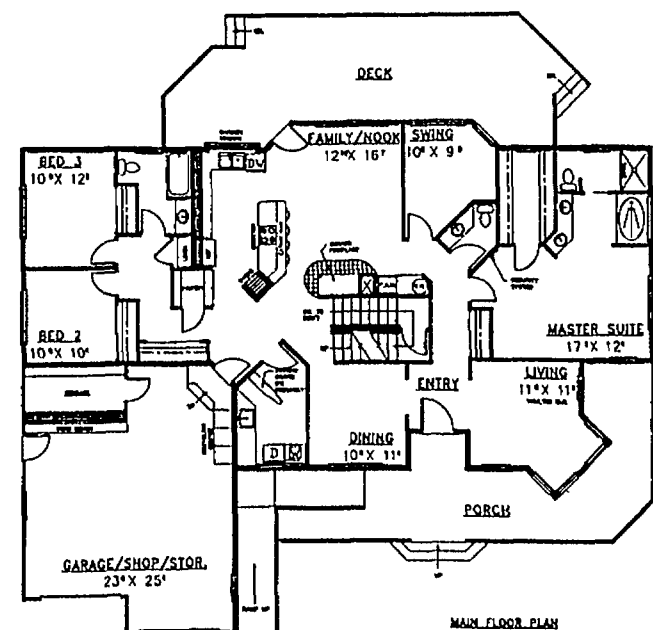

Luxuries in the owners' suite include a large walk-in closet, enclosed toilet and shower, spatub, dual vanity and security system.

The swing room can be used as an office, nursery, sewing room, or whatever the family needs.

TOWER OF BABBLING

By Marilyn Herald
Special Writer

Ginger and Mick Weinburger have created a picture perfect setting at their home on Currie Road, just east of the City of South Lyon.

Attracting passers by are the myriad of spring, summer and fall flowers that bloom freely around their acreage.

And on a sloping hillside, stretching along their lengthy driveway, the flowers nestle among strategically placed rocks and centered in the entire display is a sparkling, gurgling waterfall, complete with a pool that provides a haven for frogs during the summer months.

"A lot of people stop to take pictures, or just look," Ginger said.

She admits that the flower care and planting are her contribution to the beauty of the yard, while Mick was the architect of the rocks that now line the Blackwood Drain which runs through the bowery setting.

The Weinburgers hired "Boulder Tom" Ahonen, formerly of South Lyon, to build the waterfall which begins near the top of the slope beside the driveway.

The water, piped to the top of the falls, tumbles gently over five tiers of rocks to a concrete pool below. From the pool, the water is recirculated by a pump so that it makes the journey to the top and back over the rocks again and again.

A small wooden house and strategically placed evergreens hide all of the mechanical parts so that the waterfall appears to be a natural extension of its surroundings.

"I looked at lots of books and magazines with pictures of gardens and waterfalls before we hired Tom to build the waterfall," Ginger said. "Tom was a customer of ours (the Weinburgers own South Lyon Lumber on Ten Mile Road) and we knew this kind of work was where he got the name 'Boulder Tom'."

"I had a picture in my mind of what I wanted. We told him what we wanted it to look like and where we wanted it and he hand-picked the rocks for the project."

Ginger said the waterfall was relatively expensive and noted that large rocks such as those used in her landscaping are sold by the ton at gravel pits.

"I always look at waterfalls when we travel and it's nice to have one right in my own yard," Ginger said. "Some people make very attractive ones using plastic ponds with their flowers, but the rocks just seemed right for here."

The Weinburgers started their landscaping project some seven years ago after Oakland County ditched the road in front of their land.

The Blackwood Drain begins just across Currie Road from their property, and after the ditching was finished, heavy rains left six inches of gravel and mud in the low area south of their driveway.

"We just started digging it out and planting and then Mick decided to have the big rocks placed along the sides of the stream," Ginger said. "So far, it has worked pretty well and we haven't had a flooding problem where the flowers were planted."

Ginger planted tulip, daffodil and narcissus bulbs, as well as a wide variety of wildflowers along the low area on the sloping hillside. She added rocks at strategic points, combining the natural beauty of the wooded area with good landscape planning. When the perennial blooms taper off, annuals such as begonias, ageratum and other shade-loving bloomers take over.

While the flowers bloom from early spring to late fall, the waterfall ceases its tinkling way to the pond below well ahead of Michigan's bitter winter weather.

"We drain the pipes and take the pump in every fall," Ginger said, adding that even taking this precaution did not keep the pipes from freezing during last winter's arctic cold.

Ginger often works at her planting and weeding late into the evening, but the results are definitely worth the trouble.

"Everything I've done, I've done for our own enjoyment," she said. "I'm glad other people like it, too."

"I like working with flowers and I enjoy sometimes just sitting on the bench out here and listen to the waterfall and look at the flowers."

Treated wood hitting the fan!

By C.Z. Guest

GARDENING

I have been aware of the hazards of CCC-treated lumber since I first used the product (in my garden). You are supposed to get an EPA approved consumer safety information sheet when you buy it.

This sheet indicates that CCC treated lumber should never, but never, come in contact with "structures or containers for storing silage or food." It also states that hands should be washed after handling, a dust mask should be worn when sawing it and clothes should be washed separately after contact with sawdust, etc.

So, anyone who reads this sheet and then concludes that the product is safe for use in gardens is probably already brain damaged!

Once again, the arsenic in CCC treated wood could be harmful to people and pets and you shouldn't use the wood to frame garden beds where vegetables (food) would be grown or for compost bins.

Expect to see a new batch of CCC-treated wood is perfectly safe reports cropping up this spring. Don't fall into the trap.

Alternatives to treated wood: woods like locust, cypress and cedar are naturally rot-resistant and will last as long as treated wood. Many compost bins and raised-bed framing kits now on the market are made from 100 percent recycled plastic. You also can buy the cheapest untreated wood you can find and build garden frames or containers out of it. Of course, it will eventually rot, but it will last five or 10 years.

You also can use fallen wood from local woods where it falls to frame your garden beds. You'll get a great natural look — it's free and, again, you'll add nutrients to your soil when those fallen branches eventually return themselves to the earth.

What about old telephone poles, railroad ties, etc.? Sorry, they're likely treated with creosote, which is even worse than the chemicals in CCC-treated wood.

G. I would like to plant roses since they are among my favorites, but I hesitate due to their maintenance demands. Are there any cultivars available on the market that won't need

Bleaching wood

- To lighten wood on furniture or cabinets, you will first have to strip off the present finish. Follow directions on the paint stripper you use.
- Commercial wood bleaches are available, or you may try bleaching with household bleach mixed 50/50 with water. Scrub area and let work for about 15 minutes.
- To halt bleaching action, rub on a 50/50 mixture of water and vinegar. Follow up with a rinse of water.
- You should always work with a hidden area of wood until you achieve the desired effect.
- You may then refinish the wood or 'pickle' it, which is often done to lightened wood.

Creating a 'pickled' finish

By Gene Gary
Copley News Service

G. We are in the process of updating our kitchen, which has dark wood cabinets that we would like to lighten and give what they call a "pickled" finish. We will be installing new flooring and I would like to consider a light or "pickled" finished wood floor.

Is there a process for lightening the cabinets without completely refinishing the wood? What about the flooring, is this type of finish something I can do myself? Will it be durable enough for kitchen use? Would I do better to purchase and install one of the commercial light-colored wood floorings?

A. Before you can proceed with any lightening process, other than regular opaque paint applications, you will have to strip the present finish from your wood cabinets. Use a commercial paint stripper, following manufacturer's directions carefully.

After the finish has been stripped, you may want to lighten the wood prior to the "pickling" treatment. You can use a commercial 2-part wood bleach, available in caustic industrial-strength formulas.

When working with a commercial bleach it is important to precisely follow directions. However, it is often easier to work with regular household bleach diluted by an equal part of water.

Scrub the wood with this solution and let it work about 15 minutes. Repeat until you get the pale shade you want. Then neutralize the bleaching action with a 50/50 vinegar/water solution and a final rinse of clear water. In the bleaching process be careful not to saturate the wood with too much moisture for a long period of time. Moisture will tend to raise the wood grain. Wipe dry after each wet solution treatment. When the wood has thoroughly dried, sand it lightly.

Now you are ready for the "Pickling" process, which is a way of tinting open-grain wood by brushing on a solution of thinned down white or pastel paint and then wiping off most of it. Today you can use regular paints thinned down or purchase thinned-down, commercial versions that can be applied full strength and then wiped down to the desired tinting effect.

If you use regular paint for the "pickling" process you may need to experiment with the paint-to-solvent ratio (start with a 3 to 1 ratio).

Use water to thin latex paints, mineral spirits for oil base. The degree of transparency in the "pickling" finish will be determined by thinning of the paint with the solvent and how much wiping you do to remove the tint from the surface and grain of the wood.

Use a soft, dry rag to wipe most of the paint solution away. Wipe across the grain so that the residue highlights the wood's natural texture. Open-grained wood will absorb pigment faster. Experiment with different tints and applications in an inconspicuous area to find the shade and technique that suits you.

You can use the same process to finish an unfinished or stripped and sanded wood floor. For protection, apply a polyurethane varnish to both the cabinets and the floor. You may even want to reconsider wood flooring in the kitchen area. Although polyurethane varnish will protect the finish from water spotting and grease spots, it may tend to scratch and you will have to renew the polyurethane coating periodically.

Be wary of commercially prepared wood flooring products that claim durability in the kitchen. Most tend to water spot and become permanently stained when installed in a kitchen environment.

G. We have an older home with a rear door off the kitchen leading to the side yard. The door rattles whenever there is the slightest wind, even when the door is locked. The noise is very annoying. We have already weatherstripped the door, thinking this might help. The door continues to rattle. Do you know what might cause this problem and how it might be fixed?

A. The rattling is probably caused by an ill-fitting latch bolt that does not properly fit the strike plate.

The bolt moving around in the opening of the strike plate causes the rattle. This can occur with the settling of the house or drying out of the door or the frame.

To correct the condition, it is often necessary to reposition the strike plate on the door jamb. Remove the two screws that hold the plate in position. Mark the area to be mortised to accommodate the plate in its new position, which should be about 1/8 of an inch from its original position.

Use a wood chisel for this mortising, working carefully so as not to split the wood outside the mortise.

Regulation of home inspectors may become a reality

ducting a professional and thorough inspection. Or when an inspector uses this handle as a guide to con a homeowner into expensive repairs—which he either handles himself or receives a referral fee from another contractor.

There is an increasing demand for state regulation of this new and rapidly growing breed of real estate practitioner—some system of licensing or certifying home inspectors. The only state that now has such a system in place is Texas.

Many other states are studying and planning for such regulatory legislation. For example, a proposed bill is before the California Legislature (AB 2780), that is "intended to protect consumers from unscrupulous home inspectors. The purchase of a home is the largest investment most consumers make. Many seek added assurance that the house they are buying is in good condition. And in many cases the buyer relies on a home inspector contracted by the real estate agent representing the seller."

There are about 2,000 home inspectors in California, according to a study by the California Association of Realtors, the organization sponsoring the currently proposed legislation.

About 500 of these inspectors are members of major inspector associations. These groups try to keep the competence and professionalism of their members on a high level, but the rules they establish can only be recommendations. The worst thing that can happen to violators is to lose their association membership.

The proposed bill would require home inspectors to be certified by the California Certified Home Inspectors Board, a newly created nonprofit corporation set up to evaluate and certify applicants and establish requirements for an examination and continuing education. It also would respond to consumer complaints and inquiries.

If approved, all home inspectors would require certification by Jan. 1, 1996.

The bill's basic requirements for certification are similar to those being considered in other states. They are:

- At least 80 hours of instruction on home inspection techniques;

- 100 hours of inspection apprenticeship under the supervision of a person having at least five years of experience as an inspector.

- Passing a home inspection examination.

Home inspectors take a dim view of such legislation.

"It will actually lower the qualifications for home inspectors and lead to a proliferation of 'crash' courses on how to pass the state exam," said Douglas Hansen, a home inspector and officer of the American Society of Home Inspectors.

The problem, they say, is that the type of regulation now being considered is the type that already hasn't worked in other professions. They claim that without proper testing and credentialing, it can lead consumers to a false sense of assurance about the qualifications of "certified" practitioners. It was stated in a news release from the American Society of Home Inspectors. "There's just no demonstrated need for this kind of legislation," it stated.

Robust roses can resist disease

spraying?

A. Some of the roses performing well in my chemical-free garden are the following: King's Ransom (hybrid tea), Queen Elizabeth and Aquarius (grandifloras).

Researchers have recently identified numerous other rose varieties with a high resistance to diseases.

Among the hybrid teas, I suggest the pink Smooth Lady, Duet (pink flowering and Olympiad red). From the floribundas, Impatient (orange-red) and Sunspire (deep yellow).

Several miniatures worth mentioning include the white Gourmet Popcorn and the pink Baby Betsy McCall. Among the shrub roses, Carefree Wonder and several rugosas, Belle Poitvine, Albo-plena and the showy single pink Frau Dagmar Hastrup.

Roses suitable for zones 2 to 5, Queen of Denmark, a pink (Rosa Alba Konigin von Danemark), Henry Hudson and Blanc Double de Colbert, both white. Also, shrub roses Constance Spry and the deep pink William Baffin.

Ask your local nursery about these rose varieties and they will order them for you.

Coverlet weaves a story

By Anne McColam
Copley News Service

ANTIQUES

Kyle Husfloen, at $425 in excellent condition.

This coverlet was probably made sometime after 1820.

Q. Enclosed is a picture of a quilt that my mother inherited. It is reversible and measures 93x80 inches. I don't know who Sarah Rogers is, but her name and the date 1836 have been woven into the border.

It would be interesting to know its value.

A. You have a coverlet rather than a quilt. A coverlet is made by weaving yarns on a loom. A quilt is made of layers of fabric with a layer of cotton or wool in between, all stitched together.

The hand loom was vastly improved when Joseph Jacquard invented an attachment in the early 1800s in France. Most American coverlets were made after 1820 and were frequently indigo blue and white. Jacquard textiles usually have a name and date woven into the borders. The name was either that of the weaver or for the owner. Coverlets similar to yours are seen in antiques shops in the $800 to $1200 range, depending on the condition.

Q. I have a platter that has been in my family for years. The size is 15x12 inches and the color is a lavender-gray brown. On the back are the words "Ironstone—Abbey—L.P. & Co."

It is decorated with a scene of the ruins of a Gothic church, trees, figures standing in front of a stream and two seated females. The rim has cartouches that contain pictures of the church.

Any information you can provide will be appreciated.

A. Your platter is an example of Mulberry ware. It was made by Livesley Powell & Co., England, circa 1855. Many Staffordshire potters made this ware from 1835 to 1855.

The shades of Mulberry vary from gray brown to purplish brown. Scenes of ancient ruins were popular motifs for ironstone. Engravings were frequently the source of these transfer patterns. Your platter would be worth about $175 to $200.

Q. This incised mark is on the bottom of an 8-inch plate that I have. It has a crackleware finish and there are butterflies on the border. It is in perfect condition.

What can you tell me about my plate?

A. Your crackleware plate was made by the Dedham Pottery in Dedham, Mass. This mark was used from 1895 to 1932. The company was in operation from 1895 to 1943. They were known for their gray crackleware dishes with figures of animals, flowers or insects on the borders. Your plate would be worth about $450 to $500.

Q. I bought a glass pitcher at a sale. It is 9 inches high. There are alternating panels of Gothic arches filled with daisy and button designs and with frosted figures of goddesses. The base is supported by "log" feet.

Would you please tell me what its approximate value is, and when it was made?

A. This is a nonflint glass water pitcher. It was made by Gillinder & Sons, Philadelphia, Pa., 1875. The name of the pattern is Classic. A water pitcher in the Classic pattern is listed in "The Antique Trader Antiques & Collectibles Price Guide, 1994," edited by

Q. Recently in your column you answered a question on porcelain that was marked "Haviland & Co." I have a 77-piece, service for 12 dinner set that is marked "Theodore Haviland-Limoges-France."

What is the difference between these two marks and what is my set worth?

A. The Haviland China Co. was founded in 1838 by David Haviland and his brother Daniel. After the death of David, the partnership was dissolved by his sons. Theodore ventured out on his own and formed The Theodore Haviland & Co. in 1892. Charles continued to produce porcelain under the name Haviland & Co. Various marks have been used over the years including "Haviland, France"; "Haviland & Co. Limoges," and "H. & Co."

A service for 12 dinner set marked "Theodore Haviland, Limoges, France," is listed at $1,200 in "Warman's Antiques and Their Prices," edited by Harry L. Rinker.

BOOK REVIEW

"Advertising Character Collectibles, an Identification and Value Guide" by Warren Dotz (Collector Books) is devoted to three-dimensional figurative advertising. Glossy, colorful photos for each character; complete, accurate descriptions; fascinating facts and current prices—it's all here in this excellent reference guide.

If you want to know how Alfred E. Neuman got his name, whatever happened to "Speedy Alka-Seltzer" or the value of a "Trix Rabbit" figure, your search is over. This book will bring you up to speed in the wonderful world of advertising collectibles.

Letters with picture(s) are welcome and may be answered in the column. We cannot reply personally or return pictures. Address your letters to Anne McColam, P.O. Box 490, Notre Dame, IN 46556.

The Rock opens realty offices in Novi/N'ville

By LEE SNIDER
Editor

For millions of Americans, the name Prudential conjures up instant images of gridiron life insurance commercials, promises of financial security and the famous slogan: "Own a piece of the rock."

But many people don't realize that the company has expanded its operations in recent years, acquiring Merrill Lynch brokerage house and, since 1988, offering a real estate service.

"They're already No. 2, which is pretty good considering how many years Coldwell Banker and C-21 have been around," said broker Jan Jones, who started two Prudential offices May 1.

"It's a fine organization that provides a lot to its sales associates so that they can look very professional in the field."

Jones changed the affiliation of her Northville real estate office from Remerica to Prudential May 1, and opened a new Prudential branch at 24520 Meadowbrook in Novi the same day.

Tomorrow, from 4 to 8 p.m., the Novi office will celebrate its grand opening, offering champagne, hors d'oeuvres and friendly greetings to everyone who stops by. The building is located just north of Ten Mile.

Jones said she's excited about her Prudential franchise agreements, adding that the company takes a progressive approach to real estate sales.

"I just went to Costa Mesa (California) to meet with the president and all 10 of the vice presidents," she said. "It was an exciting five days. Prudential is thought of very highly by sales associates."

According to Jones, Prudential Village Realtors emphasizes the use of computer technology and helped link her offices with cities and counties in the area.

agents to gain easy access to important real estate information, including the names of homeowners, recent selling prices of homes, the dates of transactions and even the location of properties that are for sale by owner.

"It's scary to see the information at our fingertips. It gives you an edge against someone else who doesn't have it," she said.

Agents have always had access to municipal tax roles, but until now had to travel to clerks' offices and study field cards to get it.

Seven veteran sales associates have joined the new Prudential staff in Novi, providing what Jones describes as "productive and aggressive" expertise.

Another 20 agents work out of the Northville office, located at 330 N. Center.

Jones said the Northville/Novi market is "extremely strong and stable." Northville has the highest average sale price in Wayne County at $221,000, while Novi is also pricey at $207,000.

Most new homes in both communities are colonials, and few sell for less than $279,000, she added.

AERBUS-AIREX FACTORY

Has Shipped 51 '94 & '95 Class A Motor Homes to MOORE'S RV MALL to be sold in 10 days (This is a MUST SELL).

Wide Body - 102"

Why is it the competition never shows a real photograph of their steel roll cage? Could it be they don't have a real steel roll cage? Well, at Rexhall we do, and we're proud of it. Every Airex motorhome is built with our Unibody design. This means we take a complete steel roll cage and weld it directly to the chassis to form a structurally advanced Unibody design. After this, we vacuum bond Advanced .060" fiberglass to 1/4" I-uan, then fasten to roll cage. In the next step, the interior is completely sprayed with polyurethane foam for the finest insulation and structural integrity.

Gaylord indulges in Swiss-flavored fun

Gaylord, Michigan—

There's a mountain of tradition behind 30 years of a Swiss festival celebrated not in the streets of a village nestled in the Alps, but in a charming northern Michigan community where family and fun blend to become the annual Gaylord

JUNIOR SWISS— Alpenfest celebrations bring out the dirndl and lederhosen garb

Alpenfest

The 30th annual Alpenfest, July 12-16, will celebrate and commemorate those traditions, which have long made it one of the best-loved family events in Michigan.

The city closes off Main Street (State Highway M-32) and transforms it into Alpenstrasse for the five-day festival, inviting residents and visitors alike to don traditional Swiss garb -- a blumenkrantz (head wreath of flowers) and dirndl for women and girls; lederhosen and hiking boots for men and boys -- to indulge in decidedly Swiss-flavored fun.

From the free sauerkraut and sausage supper to contests for franc-flipping, yodeling, Swiss stone-spitting and much, much more, young and old will be enchanted by the feeling of home they'll discover at Alpenfest.

Hometown folk are proud to share tales of the festival's tradition how the burning of the boogg, a handmade effigy resembling a giant nutcracker, originated in Zurich, Switzerland. Ignited before a crowd of buzzing spectators on the first night of the festival, the burning of the Boogg is synonymous with the snuffing out of any troubles which might stand in a person's way of enjoying Alpenfest.

Travel to the Alpine Village to

HAVING A BLAST— The traditional alphorn calls visitors, human and bovine, to Gaylord's Alpenfest sample more tradition. Dier Goste Caffee Pause, the World's Largest Coffee Break; the Alpenfest Walking Parade, a promenade of costumed folks, Herr Gessler, the legend of the evil tyrant the Alpine Village wins over with the sweet lyrics of "Edelweiss."

As with any good hosts, entertainment and food are priorities with Alpenfest organizers who want guests to feel welcome.

Where life's a bowl of cherries

Traverse City, Michigan—

One of the highlights of summer in Northern Michigan will be the celebration of the 68th Annual National Cherry Festival, July 2-9, in Traverse City.

The Grand Traverse area's surroundings, friendly people, fine accommodations, restaurants, and recreational facilities provide an outstanding setting for one of the Nations "Top 100 Festivals", as noted by the American Bus Association.

This popular eight-day civic celebration honors the cherry industry and Traverse City - The Cherry Capital of the World".

The Festival features a variety of nearly 150 events and activities for the entire family, including an air show featuring the U.S. Navy Blue Angels, children's events, parades, band competitions, outdoor music concerts, sporting events, a fireworks display and a giant Midway, all in the heart of Traverse City. Over 80 percent of all National Cherry Festival events are free to the public.

The center of National Cherry Festival activities is the Festival

"Open Space" lawn area located near downtown on Grand Traverse Bay. The bay provides a picturesque back-drop for many Festival activities and concessions.

The Entertainment Stage, also at the Open Space, provides daily free entertainment from mid-afternoon until dusk. The entertainment stage features some of the Midwest's finest artists.

In addition, the '94 Festival will feature top country, blues/reggae and contemporary music acts. Headlining the Music Stage is country music award winning Tanya Tucker July 6 at 7:30. The award winning music acts will be presented on the lawn at Grand Traverse Resort.

A wide range of other Festival events are located just moments from the Open Space, utilizing the Grand Traverse area's other fine facilities. These include: Open Band Competition at Thirlby Field, an arts and crafts fair in the heart of downtown Traverse City, a fashion show at the Park Place Hotel, a cherry luncheon at the Holiday Inn, and a host of children's events, teen activities, and Senior's Day activities as well.

Three parades highlight Festival week. Saluting the heritage of the Grand Traverse area, the Michigan Heritage Parade featuring "Wheels of T.T. IN T.C.— Country star Tanya Tucker will belt out tunes July 6 at the National Cherry Festival Music Stage.

Progress", will begin at 7 p.m. Tuesday, July 5.

The Junior Royale Parade, Thursday, July 7, at 11 a.m., is an event designed especially for kids. This year's theme "Festival Fun" is sure to be a crowd pleaser.

The Granddaddy of all Midwest parades, the Cherry Royale Parade, featuring nearly 150 units, will be held on the final day of Festival, July 9, beginning at 10:45 a.m.

Waterfront resort opens

Traverse City, Michigan—

Bayshore Resort, an all-new $8 million dollar lodging facility in Traverse City, has opened its doors for business.

Located on the southern tip of West Grand Traverse Bay and just one block from downtown, this four-story resort boasts lavish styling and decor in one of the most desirable waterfront locations in the area. Additionally, Bayshore's progressive management has designated the Resort as the region's first and only non-smoking lodging facility.

Designed by architect Bill Fuller, AIA, of Fuller, Nichols in Harbor Springs, Michigan, Bayshore's style is reminiscent of the Victorian era, with features such as a captain's walk, metal-encased mansard roof and decorative tower at the building's apex.

Pat Rutt of Contract Design of Traverse City is designer for the Resort's lavish interior. The lobby features a 16-foot-high ceiling, granite-front fireplace and etched-glass view of the Resort's spacious indoor heated pool and hot tub.

Bayshore's 120 rooms and suites feature a choice of views ranging from beachfront or bayview to views overlooking the Resort's pool or landscaped exterior. Most units offer a private patio or balcony, many include a one- or two-person spa, and all corner suites offer a fireplace.

Owned and developed by USA Bayshore Properties of Traverse City, partners John Stewart, Wolfgang Uhl and Michael J. Anton spent more than four years in development of the project.

In addition to the indoor pool and outdoor tennis, the Resort's guests are offered a wide array of water sports on Bayshore's beach, including parasailing and rentals of jet skis, pedal boats and Hobie catamarans. Bayshore's location is conveniently close to the unique Traverse Area Recreation Trail, with miles of continuous paved track that spans from West to East Bay and is ideal for bicycling, roller blading and jogging. A video game room, fully equipped exercise room and laundry room are also available.

Daily continental breakfast is included with each guest's stay. Nightly room rates range from $80 to $275 from June 17 through September 1, except for some holidays and special events.

Bayshore also offers a golf package that includes two nights and 36 holes of golf at some of the area's most desirable courses, including High Pointe, Matheson Greens, A-Ga-Ming and two new courses, Mistwood Golf Course and Pinecroft Golf Plantation. Package prices begin at just $115 per person, based on double occupancy.

For more information or reservations, contact the Bayshore Resort by calling toll-free 800-634-4401, or 616-935-4400, or write to 833 E. Front Street, Traverse City, Michigan, 49686-2703.

Celebrity boaters love to make waves

Julie Candler

Allan Hayes

The Long Shot's navigator. "I got all the charts," he says, "and I studied the whole run. But land under the water shifts around."

"We did over 1,000 miles, 600 of them on the ocean, pounding along at 40 miles per hour. That combination of speed and waves can shrink you," says McMurray.

"I'm about two inches shorter now than I was when we started," claims McCarthy.

"Next year," adds McMurray, like a true competitor, "we're going to get a bigger boat and do it again."

Meanwhile, McCarthy has purchased The Long Shot, which will replace Station Break, his boat for the past six years.

When McMurray isn't crunching through the waves as crew on The Long Shot, he sails his own heavy-weather sailboat. She's a 28-foot Tanzer, The Edge, docked in Saginaw Bay.

"We like to go out every weekend," says McMurray. "We sail around and enjoy getting away from the world. There's no telephone. You leave all your woes on the dock."

"My wife keeps asking me why I think every disaster is an adventure. Her idea of a disaster is to run out of gas in the middle of the lake. That's no problem---we have sails."

"She likes to sail. The kids had no choice but to go along too---they were a Shanghaied crew. Now they're older and have their own interests. We still Looking wind-blown and happy, J. P. McCarthy pilots The Long Shot, a 44-foot Sea Ray Sundancer, across Lake St. Clair toward the mouth of the St. Clair River.

"When you're out here," he says, "you can be up at Harsen's Island and not realize that you're only 16 miles away from one of the world's largest cities. It's an easy way to get away from everything."

McCarthy, popular host of WJR's morning show, is typical of those Detroit celebrities, like Bill Laimbeer and Ma' Sillars, who like boating, including the privacy it provides.

Laimbeer vacations at his cottage in northern Michigan. He owns a fishing boat, a big cruiser and a ski-boat.

J. P. McCarthy grew up boating on the Detroit River, off the foot of Parkview in the city. Today, he says, "I might go to Mackinac Island or Put-in-Bay now and then, but I'm mostly a day boater. I like Lake St. Clair. My family enjoys boating, and we take friends out."

In late April, McCarthy skipped The Long Shot in this year's Cannonball Offshore Race. Sponsored by Boating magazine, it featured nine super-powerboats thundering at full throttle from Miami to New York City. They sometimes fought 12-foot waves and dense fog.

Like most offshore powerboats, The Long Shot packs enough energy to blast a rocket into space. Colony Marine, which sponsored the McCarthy boat, equipped it with twin 420 HP Cummins diesels. During one of his bulletins to WJR listeners during the race, McCarthy reported, "We're having the time of our lives."

Two-time world powerboat champion Fabio Buzzi won the race in a 28-hour run. The Long Shot was in fourth or fifth place when she hit bottom and was damaged on the third day.

"We were on the Intercoastal, and we don't exactly know what we hit," says McCarthy, "but it put us out of the race."

John McMurray, chief meteorologist for WJR and another well-known Detroit boat-freak, was take our dog, Lucy."

The McMurrays like to vacation aboard The Edge in the North Channel. They spend two weeks there every summer. "But I'd love to stay a month and a half," says McMurray.

"We anchor out and catch enough fish for two or three meals, usually walleye or pike. You have to provide some of your own meals. It's two weeks out of the year when you rely on your own ingenuity."

Another well-known Detroiters who looks to the water for escape and recreation is Mal Sillars, Channel 4's chief weatherman. For 11 years he and his wife, Edie, took sailing vacations on the North Channel. They've owned sailboats ranging from 27 to 36 feet long.

Now Sillar is upgrading his Coast Guard license to larger commercial craft, like tugs and cruise boats. "After I do one thing for a few years," he explains, "I tend to move on to something else."

"For three years I skippered the J. B. Westcott mailboat. On Fridays I'd work at the station from 3 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. Then I'd go home, take a nap, change my clothes, and work an 8-hour shift hauling the mail, pulling alongside the lake freighters going full-bore in all kinds of weather."

Now, once a week, he's at the wheel of the Diamond Jack, a 60-footer doing two-hour narrated tours up the Detroit River. With a captain in charge, the boat cruises up around Belle Isle and back down the Canadian shore. If you want to take a cruise with him some Friday, call the Diamond Jack at (313) 843-9376. Costing $9 for adults, the tour leaves Hart Plaza at 4 p.m. and 6 p.m. and stop for passengers at St. Aubin park Marina at 4:15 p.m. and 6:15 p.m.

Water-skiing is the passion of Dan Springer, a popular reporter for Channel 7.

"I think it's great exercise," he says. "It's a workout for your arms and upper body. When you make a turn you swing your weight against the boat's, so you use your leg muscles too. I'm really exhausted after a day of it."

Nevertheless, Springer skis at least once a week, mostly on Maceday Lake in Oakland County, where his parents have a cottage and keep their boat, a Ski Nautique IO.

"My dad is one of ten kids," says Springer, "so I can usually find somebody to drive the boat. Sometimes Heidi, my wife, doubles up with me and we ski at the same time."

On May 28, Channel 7's 6 p.m. news did a special wrap-up of Memorial Day weekend activities. It featured Dan Springer. On water skis.

What has to be the classiest boat belonging to a well-known Michigan resident is the 116-foot Detroit Eagle. Owner Roger Penske is about to leave for the Indy 500 and another team victory on the night we talk to him about it.

Inasmuch as Penske is majority stockholder of Detroit Diesel Corp., it's natural that The Detroit Eagle is powered by two 16V-149TI Detroit Diesel electronically controlled engines, revving up to 2400 horsepower each. They can move the 162-ton vessel along at a speed of 26 knots maximum, according to Penske. (Al Unser, Jr. hit 228 miles per hour in a Penske-Mercedes at the Speedway.)

The Detroit Eagle was built by DeVries Shipbuilders in the Netherlands. She is docked at Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

"The boat has been an engineering exercise for us," Penske says. "We had other competitive engines in it and replaced them with our electronic diesels. We use it as a selling tool, at places like the Miami boat show, to demonstrate the capability of the engines."

The Detroit Eagle has never traveled to the Great Lakes. But the Penske family, including four sons and a daughter, like to board her in Florida for vacation trips when school is out. Eagle's three-man crew heads for the waters off Abaco in the Bahamas, where the whole family except Roger's wife enjoys scuba diving.

Another huge boat, a 75-foot America's Cup contender, nearly became the temporary sailing home of Detroiters Mary Schroeder. The award-winning Free Press photographer was among 44 finalists chosen from more than 600 applicants for the team of Bill Koch's America3. The 22 women chosen for the team will compete in the 1995 America's Cup, the most famous sailboat race in the world. America3 will be the first contender to be crewed by an all-female team.

After going through rigorous tryouts and working out every day for weeks, Mary learned on May 23 that she had not made the final cut.

"My age was against me," she explains. She's 36. "Those are purely physical boats."

As we board Schroeder's 32-foot Ericson sailboat, Southerly, which she lives on during summer weekends, we see a beautiful arrangement of flowers in the cabin. Friends sent them in sympathy for not making the team, Mary explains.

She goes sailing six times a week. Monday nights, she teaches sailing classes at the Detroit Yacht Club. Tuesdays and Thursdays, she oversees the club's adult sailing program. Wednesday nights she sails in races sponsored by the Windsor Yacht Club. Saturdays, she's competing in the racing series staged by the Detroit Regional Yachting Association.

She sails the Port Huron-to-Mackinac race yearly, and for her vacation goes on sailing cruises with friends.

While some may love the privacy boating gives them, Mary Schroeder has a different point of view. "I love sailing," says the congenial photographer. "It's a great way to get to know people."

GREAT LAKES VOICE— WJR Radio morning host J.P. McCarthy spends much of his leisure time boating on Lake St. Clair.

Heritage Trail recounts trek to freedom

Iris
Jones

Dr. Nathaniel Leach will show you the room in the basement of Second Baptist Church in Detroit, where runaway slaves made their last stop on the Underground Railway before crossing the Detroit River into Canada.

Elise Harding-Davis, a Seventh generation Canadian descended from one of those slaves, will pick up the story at the North American Black Historical Museum (NABHM) in Amherstburg, Ontario. Amherstburg is at the narrowest place on the Detroit River, a logical place to cross into freedom and a logical place to begin a day tour along the African-Canadian Heritage Trail.

The Trail connects several sites within an hour's drive of Windsor, Ontario:

-- The John Freeman Walls Historic Site, a colorful attraction on the restored family farm of a runaway slave near Puce.

-- The Raleigh Township Centennial Museum, which tells the story of the Elgin Settlement and of slaves who learned democracy so well they voted a hated politician out of office.

-- The Uncle Tom's Cabin Site in Dresden; Harriet Beecher Stowe based her famous 19th century novel on the settlement created there by the Reverend Josiah Henson.

-- The First Baptist Church in Chatham, where abolitionist John Brown planned his attack on Harper's Ferry, Virginia.

NORTH AMERICAN BLACK HISTORICAL MUSEUM

The Museum logo includes a black figure with outstretched arms set within the Canadian maple leaf, because 40,000 runaway slaves fled the plantations of the southern United States for a free life under the British in Canada. They came with the help of good people, black and white, along the Underground Railway, which was not a railroad at all but a series of clandestine stations set every 25 miles or so along the route.

The exhibits illustrate the slave trade that brought human cargo from Africa to North America, the routes that slaves took when they fled north and small human artifacts that tell important tales. Poke your finger through the lid of a wooden chest, the kind that many of us buy at flea markets today; that was the airhole for a young black slave carried to freedom.

Canada's first anti-slavery law passed in 1793, the legal importation of slaves ended in 1808 and slavery was abolished throughout the British Empire in 1833. The United States passed the Second Fugitive Slave Law in 1850, however, so slaves could follow the North Star to Canada only if they could escape the slave catchers. Amherstburg became one of Canada's largest terminals for the Underground Railway, because it was the narrowest point of crossing on the Detroit River.

JOHN FREEMAN WALLS HISTORIC SITE, PUCE

There is a black slave running through the John Freeman Walls Historic Site, but he is only a wooden cutout, running for his life with a knapsack over his shoulder. You will find him in the woods beside the Puce River, escaping from the snarl of slave-catchers' dogs and silhouetted against the sky between the old railway car and the log cabin buildings at the front of the site.

Black slave John Walls, and his white wife Jane, came to this farm via the Underground Railway in 1846. They are buried in a small family graveyard, along with a few of their 1000 descendants, including Aunt Stella, the griot or 'history teller' of the Walls family. Aunt Stella was in her early twenties when John died at 93, Jane at 88, and Stella told their stories over and over again until she died herself at age 92.

Much of what is done here is based on her stories, but it was a great grandson, Dr Bryan Walls, who wrote down the story. Walls and his family built this site for public use.

The John Freeman Walls Historic Site is not slick tourism. You can go through on your own, but most people are led by a tour guide who tells the story as he goes.

"These scraps of red flannel on the path are from a story about a slave called Aunt Judith, who was lured down an African path to a canoe and a slave ship by little bits of red flannel."

The red flannel leads down a stone path past the slave ship exhibit and the graveyard to the underground railroad station. The railway depot and the railway car on the site are just symbols.

The underground railway didn't roll on tracks, it moved slaves in the dark of night from one station to another. These stations could have been any hiding place: church belfries, barns, cellars. The small Rosa Parks Chapel dedicated to the Civil Rights movement is in the building next door; Rosa Parks brings her students here from Detroit.

Walk down the path that represents the flight north, with the sound of baying hounds echoing behind you and cross the small bridge that symbolizes the crossing into Canada. Walk past signs listing the black communities developed in Canada. Watch video in the education building. The most historic building on the site is the original log cabin, built on four large stones.

he inherits 14 slaves? Reverend William King, with a lot of help from church, government and friends, established a black community in southern Ontario that was a showcase of the 19th century.

King was born in Ireland, educated in Scotland, emigrated with his family to Ohio and married the daughter of a southern plantation owner in Louisiana. After his wife's death he became a Presbyterian minister in Canada, where he was determined to create a community for escaped American slaves. When he inherited 14 slaves from his wife's family, he brought them to Canada as the pioneers of the Elgin Settlement.

The Elgin Settlement was sponsored and supported by the Presbyterian Church to create a community of educated land-owning free black Canadians. Follow Highway 401 east to Exit 81 and County Road 14 southwest to North Buxton, where the story is told in the Raleigh Township Centennial Museum.

Several of the original church and residential buildings can still be seen in North and South Buxton, but try not to do your sightseeing on Labour Day weekend when descendants of the Elgin Settlement hold their annual family reunion. They have been

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN, DRESDEN

Harriet Beecher Stowe adapted the story of Reverend Josiah Henson's life for the book that galvanized the American public against slavery in 1852: Uncle Tom's Cabin. She never visited the Dawn Settlement here beside the Sydenham River, but her book outsold the Bible. When Abraham Lincoln met her he said "So this is the little lady who helped start the big war."

The real Josiah Henson escaped to Canada in 1830, bought 200 acres near Dresden in 1841 and established a vocational school called the British American Institute for Fugitive Slaves. His house and other public buildings are managed by the St. Clair Parkway, which is renovating and restoring the buildings. Take highways 401, 2 and 40 east of Windsor and north of Chatham, then follow County Road 29 to Dresden.

STEAM-POWERED EXCURSION— The Huckleberry Railroad takes Crossroads Village visitors on a 35-minute trip back in time.

Flint, Michigan—

Plan a summer getaway to the 1800's at Flint's Crossroads Village and Huckleberry Railroad, a quaint Victorian village with the added attraction of an authentic steam-powered railroad excursion.

The complex features 30 historic structures including homes, shops and three working mills. Buildings have been moved from throughout mid-Michigan to create a typical thriving community of the 1860-80 period.

The three-story Atlas Mill is powered by a water-driven turbine and hundreds of pounds of stone-ground flour are produced every year. The Masters' Cider Mill, originally located in Davison, has been in continuous operation since 1855. Its press can produce up to 140 gallons of cider an hour. Rough-sawn lumber is milled at the Crossroads Lumber Company for use in village restoration projects.

Special weekend events are scheduled throughout the summer and are included in village admission. Dates include:

—July 4, Independence Day Festivities. An old-fashioned Fourth with a festive parade at 3 p.m.

Classic autos find perfect showcase

Rochester, Michigan—

The Meadow Brook Concours planning committee announced that the 16th Annual Meadow Brook Hall Concours d'Elegance at Oakland University will take place on Sunday, Aug. 7 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and will honor the legendary auto, Pierce-Arrow, as its featured marque.

Ford Sporty Cars will be the honored sports marque. In addition, 20 rare Delahayes will travel to the Meadow Brook Concours to hold their Centennial Meet on Aug. 7 in conjunction with the annual Concours. The Pierce-Arrow, which was produced from 1901 to 1938, is considered by most auto enthusiasts as the ultimate symbol of quality in American cars.

More than 250 classic automobiles representing all makes, eras and brought from all over the world will be on display to the public on the luxurious grounds of historic Meadow Brook Hall in Rochester, Michigan for the Meadow Brook Concours. The Meadow Brook Concours ranks among the three most prestigious Concours events in the world. The other two are the Concours at Bagatelle in Paris, France, and at Pebble Beach, California. All proceeds go to the preservation of Meadow Brook Hall.

Allan D. Gilmour, vice-chairman of Ford Motor Company, serves as Honorary Chairman of this year's Concours and Pat F. McGarity, director of finance and administration for corporate design at Ford Motor Company serves as Chairman.

Special features to look for:

—The world famous 1933 Pierce Silver-Arow Showcar will headline the assortment of 30 fabulous Pierce-Arows that will be assembled on Concours day. One of only five ever built (four survive), the Silver-Arow represents the most streamlined, aerodynamic body styling of its time. The Silver-Arow will travel on the Imperial Palace Collection in Las Vegas to the grounds of Meadow Brook Hall.

—But the glamour and historic interest of the featured cars at this year's Concours does not end there. In this, the year marking the 50th anniversary of D-Day, the Concours will also welcome the 1939 Rolls Royce "Wraith" Limousine used by British Field Marshall General Sir Bernard Montgomery as his staff car. It was the first non-military car to land in France after D-Day.

—Hollywood glamour and legend will share the spotlight with the showing of Rita Hayworth's exotic and curvaceous 1946 Delahaye 135 by Figoni-Falaschi, a gift from her playboy suitor, the Ali Khan. The car is a retro-icon.

—The Ford Racer "999" will be on view with Ford Historic Cars. A collection of "Sporty Ford" beginning with examples from the early 1900s to some of the latest Ford race cars will also be on display.

The 1994 Concours d'Elegance will continue to expand its highly successful fashion element - introduced in 1992. Entitled "Mode du Concours," the prestigious Somerset Collection of Troy will present three separate fashion shows of the latest designer ensembles matched with award winning classic autos. This will take place throughout the day of Aug. 7 as the autos pass the reviewing stand. The only Concours to incorporate haute couture into the day's activities, Meadow Brook actually recreates the original French Concours of the 1920s by doing so.

A total weekend of classic auto related events make up the entire Meadow Brook Concours experience, culminating in the Sunday, Aug. 7 Concours itself. Activities include the TDM Meadow Brook Historic Races in Waterford, MI on Friday, Aug. 5; Saturday, Aug. 6; and Sun., August 7.

The Invitational Automotive Art Show Reception will be held on Friday, Aug. 5 at the Somerset Collection in Troy. The Concours Art Committee has invited 14 of the finest automotive artists in the world to show their work. All of the artist will be in attendance and awards will be announced. Ken Dallison of Mississauga, Ontario has been commissioned to create the art work for the 1994 Meadow Brook Concours d'Elegance poster. Two Pierce-Arrows from the collection of D. Howard of San Antonio, Texas and one from the collection of Richard Kughn of Southfield, Michigan will be featured in the painting.

The Invitational Art Auction of the artists' works will take place on Saturday, Aug. 6 immediately preceding the annual Black Tie Concours d'Elegance Banquet at Meadow Brook Hall.

Summer antiquing: Bargains in the barns

Day

Hordes of visitors have been descending on county fairgrounds throughout Michigan ever since the earliest spring days - and will continue to do so on weekends until the final days of autumn. No, they aren't admiring prize cows, horses or produce but are searching for bargains in the barn stalls that hold the wares of dealers of antiques and collectibles.

Outdoor antiques markets sprouted more than 25 years ago but have grown tremendously in popularity in the last decade.

Markets usually have from about 100 to as many as 600 dealers. Caravan Antiques Market in Centreville is one of the largest with about 600 dealers. Ionia and Marshall are a bit over 100.

Do you collect old tools, dishes from the 40's, postcards, early kitchen utensils or even matchbook covers? Many do and search for their treasures at these markets. Early markets this year drew big crowds.

A large part of the appeal of these collectibles is nostalgia, remembering that as a child you ate off dishes in such patterns as Johnson Apple, California Ivy or the very popular Fiestaware. All these and others were offered by dealers at the Chelsea Antiques Market I attended in April.

Antiques and collectibles in this two-day market covered a wide range - from merchandise I remember buying new to fine pressed glass in the sought-after Westward-Ho pattern.

Young people in their twenties were as much on hand as senior citizens.

How do you find out when and where these markets are being held? Promoters often advertise in the classified sections of local newspapers or in Michigan publications (such as Great Lakes Getaway). Flyers for other markets usually are available at the markets or at area antique shops. See end of article for listings. Some markets are two-day events, but many are held on Sundays only.

Once you've located an antiques market, check for hours of operation. If you are looking seriously for a chest of drawers, chairs or any other specific item, plan to be on hand when the market opens to have the best chance at selection. However, if you are just seeking a pleasant day in the country, you can take your time and browse at leisure among the stalls of collectibles.

Be sure to wear comfortable clothes, especially shoes, as parking areas, usually free, often are some distance from the market barns and tents. At the first Allegan Antique Market of the year in April parking was at the bottom of the hill at the fairgrounds, but the crowds were so great that it was a long walk across the parking area before starting to visit the 200 dealers' booths inside the barns. Another 100 were located outside.

Blue jeans, sweat shirts and athletic shoes were the right attire for the day. Shady picnic areas and seven food services made it possible for antiquers to arrive at the 7:30 a.m. opening and stay all day inspecting and buying all kinds of collectibles and antiques.

reasonable. An attractive red wool braided rug was priced at $85 while a late Victorian-type spool bed was $185. There were boxes of Christmas ornaments and lights as well as sleds and rockers.

Margaret Brusher's Ann Arbor Antiques Market, held monthly from April through November at the Ann Arbor-Saline fairgrounds, is one of the oldest, marking its 26th season. Caravan Antiques Market at Centreville is held on Sundays from May through August and in October is celebrating its 22nd season.

Traditionally one-day Sunday markets, the Ann Arbor Antiques Market experimented with a two-day event May 14 and 15. (Another two-day market is planned for September 17 and 18.)

Dealers I talked with in May seemed to feel the first day of the two-day experiment was the busiest.

This market draws established dealers from the East, other near-by states and Canada as well as such known Michigan dealers as Jay Schmidt of Schmidt's Antiques in Ypsilanti, antique jewelers Pauline and Jacki Work of Farmington Hills and Alice Dewey of Temperance, whose booth was filled with quilts.

From Rome, N.Y., Phyllis Foster featured a cherry table ($425 and fine English tea cups ($25) among her offerings.

Mulbergs of Ashburn, Ontario, brought Canadian chests and cupboards. She commented that "Canadian cupboards are wonderful - so well made." A lovely pine one was priced at $325. These dealers were somewhat surprised that the cupboard and a handyman's bed were not yet sold on the Sunday. However, they expressed satisfaction with the market, noting that their chests had sold well for coffee tables.

We counted three handyman's beds at the market, available in the $225 to $250 range, among the about 350 dealers.

One of the newest markets is the Marshall Antiques Market at the Calhoun County Fairgrounds in historic Marshall. This is its second year. Promoter Ted Tear emphasizes that all items brought by the 100 dealers are guaranteed.

"If it's a Coca Cola glass, it better have been made by Coca Cola," he says, noting that dealers may have genuine collectibles from the 50's as well as earlier antiques. Tear also manages one of two in-town malls and mentions that the two-day markets offer also a chance to browse in the historic town and eat at famed restaurants.

No matter what part of Michigan you live in there should be an antiques market at a fairground near you. Check this list:

All fired up for filets

Northport, Michigan—

Hungry holiday revelers can get hooked on Northport's Famous Whitefish Boil Saturday, July 2 in the village park.

The $8 meal ($4 for children) also includes cole slaw, rolls and a beverage.

The Whitefish Boil is part of Northport's Harbor Days Festival July 2-4. Other scheduled events include an art fair with 100 exhibitors on July 2 and a giant fireworks display on July 4.

Selecting Glassware

A glass should have a smooth nonporous surface and be impermeable to odors and leave no aftertaste. If stability is a requirement, choose glassware with a low center-of-gravity: one with a short stem and a wide foot. Always select a style which best complements the decor and be certain that the glassware can be easily replaced.

The New York Restaurant offers eclectic cuisine in a comfortable setting overlooking the waterfront. Creative cuisine and classic favorites using the freshest available ingredients. Over 175 wines and a wide selection of unique beers and spirits to complement your meal. Open daily for breakfast, lunch and dinner. Dinner reservations recommended.

As American Wine Drinkers become more discriminate in the products they consume, restaurants have been offering more value on their wine list selections. When dining out, one should consider purchasing a bottle of wine to accompany dinner as opposed to a generic glass of house wine. Restaurateurs who invest money in an upscale wine list will also invest the time and effort educating the service staff. A properly matched wine will compliment your entree and add to the enjoyment of your meal. The next time you eat out, use your server's suggestions as an opportunity to try wines that you may not be familiar with and would not normally enjoy.

Summertime sizzles with art festivals

Dorothy Webster

Summer just wouldn't be summer without art fairs, craft shows, and he(art)y combinations of the two - and when they're located along Michigan's beaches, or close to them, you've got a great source of fun and shopping opportunities.

Kicking off July is Muskegon's ART IN THE PARK July 1-3, the city's annual celebration of summer that's held in Hackley Park. The affair boasts a galaxy of viewers, about 200,000 of them, attesting to its enduring popularity. Information: 616-722-6520.

The MANISTIQUE ART & CRAFT SHOW, sponsored by the Manistique Art Club, is held July 2 at the city's marina park. While this is a smaller show, counting perhaps 750 viewers, it's a representative exhibition of what art club members are doing, and worth a visit. Call Dorothy Conlin, 906-341-5274. Besides the art works, you'll have a wonderful view of northern Lake Michigan from the Upper Peninsula shoreline.

In northeastern lower Michigan, don't miss the DANCING HIPPOPOTAMUS ARTS & CRAFTS SHOW, held July 2-3 at Bearinger Township Hall on Rte. 646. Watch for signs and a delightful little stone building surrounded by charming craftspeople who offer a little bit of everything for sale. There's even work by a ninety-year-old who crochets. Call Lilien Foster for details at 517-734-4174. Huron Beach is located off US-23 near Ocqueoc.

A bit north of Ocqueoc, Cheboygan Area Arts Council and the City of Cheboygan will sponsor the WASHINGTON PARK ARTS FESTIVAL along the Black River, in as nice a setting as you could wish for - shady trees, a good bookstore (The Log Mark) within strolling distance, lots of "buyable" arts and crafts items, and a welcoming city. Don't miss Gordon Turner Park on Lake Huron and its delightful little lighthouse. Call Linda Konicki for more information about the July 9 show at 616-627-7348.

In southwestern Michigan, you can stroll a bluff above Lake Michigan, view very well done arts and crafts, then stroll over to the sponsoring museum just across the street. THE 33rd ANNUAL KRASL ART FAIR ON THE BLUFF is planned for July 10-11 this summer, and it's one you shouldn't miss. The setting is superb, the crafts will fill out your gift list for the entire year, and the Krasl Art Museum is both a wonderful place to sit for awhile - and to visit the exhibitions. They're always interesting and the museum has a well-stocked gift shop. Phone 616-983-0271 for details.

UP IN CENTRAL PARK ART SHOW is slated for July 15-16 in Grand Haven's Central Park, downtown. However, downtown in Grand Haven isn't far from the water and its long, long walkway, state park, and miles of beach. This is one of my favorite towns in the entire state, because it has used its waterfront so well. Approximately 6,000 attend this annual event that's sponsored by the Association of Commerce and Industry. Information: 616-842-4910. You'll find plenty of shops to browse, some restaurants you'll be glad you didn't miss, and lots of sun and sand here.

Over on the Sunrise Side of the state, Alpena hosts ART ON THE BAY July 16-17, with booths and tents set up in Bay View Park, right on US-23 (State St. in town). The local Thunder Bay Arts Council sponsors this annual event that draws a crowd of 6,500 viewers and buyers. The view's pleasant, and watching the sunrise and moonrise over Thunder Bay is worth the trip. Check out the Jesse Besser Museum while you're in town. Call 517-356-6678 for details.

What would summer be without the ANN ARBOR ART FAIRS? While we know there's more than one, they all seem to blur together in one grand celebration of art that's become THE art fair to attend each year. Somehow, it's always held on the hottest weekend of July, and it's nowhere near the beach - but that doesn't matter. Go, enjoy some of the best arts and crafts shown in the state and enjoy. Call 313-994-5260 or 313-662-3382 for details of the July 20-23 affair.

You want water? You want beach? You want a great place to vacation? Try the Traverse City art effort - held July 30 at Northwestern Michigan College. The 34th ANNUAL TRAVERSE BAY OUTDOOR ART FAIR is sponsored by Northwestern Michigan Artists and Craftsmen and the shaded campus of the college, close to Traverse Bay is a natural for a summertime stroll through booths, exhibits, tents and displays by talented people. Telephone 616-265-5729 for more information.

At Metro Beach, a craft show to talk about is set for July 30-31, as the METRO BEACH SUMMER SHOW is held near Mt. Clemens. Drawing about 10,000 viewers, you'll find just about anything that can be called a "craft". Call 313-792-4563 for details and hours.

As August rolls into view amid sunshine and hot weather, mark your calendar for the COAST GUARD CRAFT FAIR at Grand Haven - in conjunction with Coast Guard Days in the lakeside town. Over 100,000 visitors flock to the water's edge to celebrate this branch of the armed services, and you'll be able to tour some of the USCG ships, talk to some of the men who proudly wear the uniform, and even sign up - if that's what you'd like to do! While you're thinking about it, walk the riverfront-lakefront walkway, enjoy the sights, and visit Central Park where you'll be able to buy craft items that will warm your heart through the winter months. For more information, telephone 616-842-4910. Don't forget: The Coast Guard Festival. Aug. 5-6, in Grand Haven!

If "Up North" means summer to you and your family, don't miss the PORTSIDE ARTS FAIR in East Jordan on Aug. 6-7. Sponsored by the Portside Art and Historical Society, the event is held at Elm Point Estate and draws about 3,000 viewers. Information: 616-536-2250.

Even further north is the SAULT SUMMER ARTS FESTIVAL at Sault Ste. Marie. Held as close to the huge lake freighters as one can get, the Soo Locks Park gives you optimum viewing of both the art work and the maritime heritage of the state at this historical site. And of course, you won't want to miss dinner at a Soo institution, The Antlers, a popular and sometimes boisterous local spot just down Portage Street a ways. For a more sedate evening, try the restaurant in the Ojibway Hotel close to the park. There are art fair settings and art fair settings, but surely this one must be unique. You'll enjoy yourself, so spend a few days in the area and perhaps even venture across the river to Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario. There's a wonderful art gallery there and views of the locks from a foreign country... Call 906-635-1312 for hours and more information about the Aug. 8 event.

Like antique boats? Enjoy them even more in a tranquil setting amid northern Lake Huron's islands? Then don't miss the LES CHENEAUX FESTIVAL OF ARTS held in conjunction with the Antique Boat Show. The arts and crafts are dockside, the boats in the water, natural naturally. But the enjoyment is all over in this tiny town in the eastern Upper Peninsulas. The festival, slated for Aug. 13, is always a hectic affair, with parking at a premium, but it's worth every bit of inconvenience. Get there early, visit the bakery, pick up a copy of "Hollyhocks and Radishes", an engaging cookbook that you'll cherish, and stroll the side streets of Hessel, which swells its population each year in mid-August. You won't forget your visit, and you'll be back again. Call 906-484-2234 for details about where to stay and the hours that the boats are on display.

Okay, so it's not beachside. How about riverside? It's stretching things a bit, but you'll enjoy Milford's ART IN THE VILLAGE during the Milford Memories Days Aug. 13-14. More than 25,000 come each year for the event which features lots of art and crafts, a slew of events to choose from - and a stop at the main street bakery and restaurant if you're wise. Just show up, you'll be welcome.

Way, way north - about as far as you can go and still be in Michigan - is Copper Harbor on the Keweenaw peninsula. On Aug. 20-21, when the breezes off Lake Superior are brisk and guaranteed to drive smog from your eyes and soul, you can visit ART IN THE PARK in Grant Township Park. Sponsored by an organization called Copper Harbor Improvement, the event draws about 3,000 people, most of whom probably find it hard to ignore the natural beauty in favor of the man-made sort. But they'll try, and if you telephone Laurel Rooks at 906-289-4813, for details, you may find yourselves among the crowd.

Once September rolls around and the kids are in school again, it doesn't seem all that important to be able to kick sand while viewing arts and crafts. It's as if a more staid, more settled time is upon us with back-to-school, back-to-work schedules reigning one's life.

In the spirit of a more sedate pace, how about trying the Carrie Nation Festival that descends on Holly Sept. 10-11. Held downtown and sponsored by the Holly Chamber of Commerce, the event draws a whopping 25,000 persons to celebrate the late reformer's visit to a Holly business establishment. How's that for sedate? Pat Spisak, 313-482-7744 has the details.

BIRMINGHAM'S ART IN THE PARK really is more sedate, and it's filled with a varied array of high quality arts and crafts. Held Sept. 10-11 in Shain Park, the event draws a huge crowd of over 50,000 who know a good thing when they see it. They come to look, to browse, and to buy. You'll find outstanding artists showing their works here and be sure you have your holiday shopping list with you. Information: 33-543-3050.

If the last turn-of-the-century time period is for you, downtown Northville's 8th ANNUAL ART MARKET/VICTORIAN FEST will suit you admirably Sept. 18-19. Between 10-15,000 annually enjoy the varied events available during these two days, so don't miss the fun. Call 313-349-6104 for details.

On the same weekend, Sept. 18-19, you can attend the FESTIVAL OF ARTS AND CRAFTS AT FAIRLANE, sponsored by Classic Traditions. Stroll the autumn gardens at Henry Ford's estate in Dearborn and treat yourself to a select array of arts and crafts as well. The Rouge River wends its way among the gardens and you'll miss a treat if you don't sit for a moment and contemplate the water. For more details, call 313-779-3064.

Close the month of September with a glance at the last roses blooming in Clara Ford's gardens and resolve to savor a bit of beauty during the winter months by taking home a memento of summer - made by a artisan with care.

Handicapped accessible trail opens

Empire, Michigan—

Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore officially opened its All Persons Accessible Duneside Trail, according to Superintendent Ivan D. Miller.

The National Lakeshore worked with the Grand Traverse Audubon Club and the Telephone Pioneers of America to construct the trail to accommodate visitors with mobility or visual impairments. Several other local organizations also donated time and money to complete the project.

The trail is 725 meters long (2,420 feet), begins at the Dune Climb, travels along the edge of the dunes, and ends at a deck overlooking a wetland. Along the way there are 18 interpretive stops with exhibits explaining the life and geography of the sand dune area. A wheelchair and portable tape recorders with the message of the trail exhibits can be borrowed at the Visitor Center in Empire.

AERIAL SPECTACLE— Daring aerobatics teams will thrill spectators at the Battle Creek International Balloon Championship and Air Show.

High above Battle Creek: birds, planes and balloons

Battle Creek, Michigan—

Battle Creek is renowned for hosting one of Michigan's largest family festivals, the Battle Creek International Balloon Championship and Air Show, set for July 2-9.

The event has been going strong since 1987 and this year will be one of the largest events Battle Creek has hosted because of the increase in special events, particularly the air show.

The air show will be July 2-4. Spectators will be in awe as they watch spectacular demonstrations by the ever popular Sean D. Tucker, Team America, The French Connection, Wayne Handley Aerosports, The U.S. Jet Aerobatic Team, Bud Light's Bill Beardsley, Manfred Radius, and his Sail Plane, Battle Creek's Bob Koppe, and Toyota's Matt Chapman.

But that's not all! On July 3 and 4, the U.S. Air Force Thunderbirds will perform and remind the young and old alike what patriotism is all about! Other demonstrations could include an A-10, F-15 and helicopters. Various aircrafts will be on static display.

Let's not forget the excitement that over 150 multi-colored hot-air balloons create as they inflate to over seven stories tall! Balloon launches will be daily at 6:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. At 10 p.m. on July 3 and July 8, the ever popular "Night Balloon Illumes" will light the sky for over 20 minutes.

Have you ever seen a flying "mouse", "dragon", "tiger", "snowman", "birthday cake", or a "tennis shoe". Well, on July 6 and 7, the W.K. Kellogg Airport will come alive with all kinds of shapes! The goal is to have at least 20 different hot-air balloon special shapes to fill the sky.

But the fun doesn't stop there! Walk the festival grounds and shop at the arts and crafts festival; eat at one of the specialty food booths; ride the flight simulator; enjoy more than 35 rides and games; take in the daily concerts, and on Children's Day, plan to meet Tony the Tiger and the original Munchkins from the Wizard of Oz.

The finale to the event will be the two spectacular Grucci Fireworks displays. On July 2 and July 4 at 10:30 p.m., the sky will explode with color, music, and excitement, as the famous first family of fireworks, the Grucci's, present over 24 minutes of pure patriotism.

For more information, call 616-962-0592 for a complete schedule of events.

Howell, Michigan—

evening and Saturday and Sunday morning, weather permitting. Launch times are between 6 and 8 in the morning and 6 to 8 in the evening.

The appearance of the balloon at the Michigan Challenge was made possible by the sponsorship team of Wal-Mart Stores and Innovations Home Care.

Showboat features country star

Chesaning, Michigan—

Country singer and song writer Lee Greenwood will headline this years Chesaning Showboat.

Greenwood is best known for his patriotic anthem, "God Bless the U.S.," which was awarded Song of the Year in 1985 by the Country Music Association. The patriotic theme of "God Bless the U.S.A." prompted former Presidents, Ronald Reagan and George Bush, to use it in their campaigns. The song peaked in popularity again during the Persian Gulf War.

Chesaning Showboat's six day Riverfront Variety Show will showcase other professional talent along with top amateur acts, the famous Captain Bob Rhode and his Endmen, the Showboat Chorus directed by Lyle Brooks, the Chuck Robinette Orchestra and the beautiful Bohatty Dancers, who will again high step their way, keeping the show moving.

Tickets for the July 11th-16th performances are now on sale. For more information contact the Showboat office at 1-517-845-3056.

The home-town atmosphere of the Mid-Michigan community of Chesaning is the perfect setting for one of the State's premier summer events, the Chesaning Showboat. The longest running (and perhaps only) event of it's type in the country, Showboat begins its 53rd yearly run in 1994.

Majestic is a thinking golfer's course

Hartland, Michigan—

Truly great golf holes are discovered rather than created. "The Majestic" at Lake Walden is just such a golf course. Built around Lake Walden, "The Majestic" lays atop glacier carved hills and valleys that make up one of the most breathtaking landscapes in southern Michigan.

The 27 hole course exhibits a wide variety of golfing experiences that will take the golfer on an unforgettable journey. On the 18 hole layout, the journey begins by taking the golfer through rolling open meadows out to, and around Lake Walden.

The golfer then plays through mature hardwood forests, and beautiful stands of towering pines, after which this excursion takes the golfer to the highlands' area of the golf course. Here, the course again winds through rolling meadows as the golfer reaches the ninth tee. Be prepared, the view from this tee is one of the most breathtaking views on any golf course in Michigan.

Perched on a ridge that is over 200 feet above Lake Walden, this is a view that you will never forget! At this point you can either continue on to the 10th hole which is considered one of the best, if not the most challenging, holes on the golf course or take a leisurely boat ride back across Lake Walden to the clubhouse.

With the prospect of choosing from six different tees at the 10th hole, the golfer is faced with many decisions and possibilities on a hole that exemplifies the principles of strategic golf design. The golfing journey then extends back in to the woods as holes play through glacier carved terrain, around and over pristine wetlands, and back towards the clubhouse. Besides the sheer enjoyment of playing this layout, the views are stunning, particularly since nine of the holes offer views of Lake Walden.

Across Crouse Road are another nine holes built on the same type of stunning terrain as the 18 hole layout. Instead of wrapping around Lake Walden, this nine loops around Ore Creek and its surrounding wetlands.

Once on the course, you will probably not see another golfer all day and you will truly feel that you are playing in the peaceful solitude of northern Michigan. And, don't be surprised to have play halted by whitetail deer, red fox, or other wildlife which is plentiful around the golf course.

Besides the visual beauty of "The Majestic", it is enjoyable for all levels of golfers. The 18 hole layout plays from 5,045 yards to 7,010 yards. Many holes have up to six different teeing areas from which to be played and most of the tees are offset, playing from several different orientations, thus contributing to a unique experience each time you play "The Majestic".

"I am proud to say that this golf course will rank as one of the premier golfing opportunities in the state," says course designer Jerry Matthews.

"The Majestic" at Lake Walden is only minutes from Detroit, Flint, Lansing and Ann Arbor. With a Northern Michigan setting, you can play a course that will cater to all of your golfing pleasures, only a short drive away. "The Majestic" at Lake Walden offers a beautiful clubhouse, P.G.A. professional and a complete driving range. For more information, call 810-632-5235.

Golf resorts mix business with pleasure

Vacationers aren't the only ones who want to get away in the Great Lakes. So do business executives and in this day of downsizing, northern Michigan's resorts are responding to the demand.

"We had a marketing research study done for us last year," said Susan Wischman, sales director for Crystal Mountain Resort near Frankfort.

"They talked to more than 500 meeting planners to see what they want. They want smaller, more intimate meetings and we're focusing on meetings of five to 125 people.

"Planners want meetings where the participants can let their hair down, break down walls, do strategic planning without the pressures of being back in the office.

"And although they want to go up north, to the wilderness, they want the latest in high tech facilities for computer and video presentations," Wischman said.

To that end, Crystal Mountain broke ground over Memorial Day weekend for the 32,000 square foot Crystal Center. It will serve skiers in the winter and business, education, professional and government meetings in the spring, summer and fall.

"We'll have weekday meetings during the winter -- we're booked weekends by skiers," Wischman said. "Our main thrust is spring and fall with some summer meetings."

Mixing business with recreation runs the gamut of scheduling. Some go heavy on morning meetings with afternoon free for golf, tennis, fishing, canoeing or sightseeing.

Boyne USA founder-president Everett Kircher started the meeting business in the late 1950s and 1960s to keep his ski season staff employed in the summer. The attraction was golf in the take-a-deep-breath-of-fresh-air wonderland of northern Michigan.

Boyne has continued attracting meetings to Boyne Mountain and Boyne Highlands. Boyne has five 18 hole courses and two superb practice areas with a sixth course to come on line next year.

The Convention Center at Boyne Mountain is a major meeting and exhibition attraction -- a manufacturers representative association exhibition fills the 10,000 square foot upper level each year as does a food show.

Citizens Insurance had eight days of meetings involving 800 participants and Stephen King of Boyne said "We can accommodate groups as small as 10-12 people in elegant surroundings in the Board room at the Highlands Inn.

PLAN AND PLAY— The Lodge at Boyne Highlands, Harbor Springs, Michigan, hosts business persons who confer in the morning and tee off in the afternoon.

"And with five golf courses, our professionals can give a group an entire course for a private outing," King said.

With a wide variety of accommodations it's difficult to list all prices but Boyne has one meeting rate of $178 per person, double occupancy in a standard room at Boyne Highlands.

The west side isn't the only getaway spot.

Gregg Herning, vice president of sales and marketing for Garland in Lewiston, on the northeast side of the Lower Peninsula, was director of sales for six years for the Westin Hotel in the Renaissance Center when he was approached by Garland owner Ron Otto who'd just built a new conference center in the Garland style -- massive logs and big glass windows.

"I drove up and expected I was going to see an ordinary meeting room," Herning said. "When I saw what was there I knew it was going to be slam-dunk. I was impressed. Vaulted ceilings, full windows looking out to lawn and woods, doors opening to a patio, complete audio-visual capability. I couldn't believe the potential."

Herning said the corporate conference business now makes up half of Garland's revenue.

"We had 110 groups in 1992 and doubled it to 220 last year. We go from 12 person board of directors who come in their own jets to a complete full house of 225 people for a three day conference.

"It's worked so well that we opened a sales office in Farmington Hills," Herning said.

One of Garland's attractions is its own jet strip which Herning said enables a chairman of the board to fly in, attend a meeting for several hours and jet out.

"Sometimes we have five to six jets here," Herning said. "That's an extra that Garland offers."

And the thing that all the resorts offer is beautiful surroundings, away from the pressure-cooker, where ideas can be exchanged and participants can get to know each better.

Herning said the typical Garland group is 30 to 60 people - "Our niche is the executive board meeting, high level brainstorming and planning. We aren't in the convention business."

Garland's focus is golf and meetings -- it doesn't attract children. There aren't any video game rooms or children's menus. For those who aren't into golf, there's a game preserve 25 miles south, canoeing on the Au Sable River, horseback riding, tennis and Great Lakes fishing at Alpena. The Garland staff makes arrangements for all of the activities.

Herning said Garland has done meetings for as low as $249 per person "covering lodging, a couple of meals, meeting space and a round or two of golf."

Garland has plenty of golf -- three 18 hole courses, the Monarch, Swampfire and Reflections -- and owner-designer Ron Otto will open a fourth later this year, Fountains. The first three weave in and out of wetlands where you can spot deer, wild turkey, even a bald eagle. Fountains, on the west side of the property, have completely different terrain -- it's hilly.

Garland is home to the Michigan PGA Championship and the Ameritech Showdown, Michigan's version of the Skins Game.

Speaking of skins, you might spot a bearskin at Woodmoor on Drummond Island, home of The Rock golf course. That's bearskin on a moving bear. They occasionally saunter across the cross which adds to the flavor of the unique resort.

Domino's pizza boss Tom Monaghan built the resort as a corporate retreat and when new owners took over three years ago, they accented the meeting business.

"We have meetings ranging from six to 150 people," said Pam Darling, director of sales and marketing. "We have a 4,000-foot paved runway which makes it easy for company planes to fly in."

Woodmoor's season runs from May to October. Someone once wrote that The Rock gives new meaning to the word remote -- Drummond Island is one hour east of the Mackinac Bridge, on the Upper Peninsula side.

It's a completely peaceful setting, 2,000 acres of forest and water, once a hunting and fishing preserve, with a 40-room log lodge. The resort is massive beams and logs, a Hemingwayesque Michigan with The Rock golf course, literally dynamited out of limestone, an added attraction.

Meeting costs are $99 per person full American plan and group golf rates vary from $25 per person in May and October up to $60 from June 13 to Labor Day.

The State of Michigan motto is "If you seek a pleasant peninsula, look about you." We could amend it to "If you seek a pleasant meeting place, look at northern Michigan."

Dunmaglas goes 'user-friendly'

In a twist on that stock broker commercial of a few years ago, when the customer speaks, Dunmaglas Golf Club listens.

Dunmaglas is on the north shore of Lake Charlevoix, just 10 minutes from the heart of Charlevoix-the-Beautiful as the lovely old resort city calls itself.

Charlevoix doesn't rhyme with Relaxation but it should. Sit on the park benches and watch the yachts on Round Lake. Stroll along the Pine River channel that separates Round Lake from Lake Michigan. Nibble some fudge. It's laid-back country. Don't hurry, don't worry.

But when Dunmaglas opened in late 1991, some golfers worried whether they'd have enough golf balls left to finish the round.

Dunmaglas is one of the very best golf courses in Michigan. Golf Digest, the top circulation magazine in golf, ranked it one of the five best new resort courses in the country when it opened.

Designed by veteran Michigan professional Larry Mancour, a Flint native who now lives up north, with greens by the late Dean Refram, a longtime PGA Tour player who showed an artist's touch in designing green complexes, Dunmaglas opened to raves from low handicappers.

The world's golf population isn't made up of low handicappers however. It's the folks who shoot in the 90s and three figures who form the majority of the game's players.

Those folks often had difficulty finding their golf ball when they played Dunmaglas and owner Chuck MacGillivray and professional Steve Braun, also Flint natives, got the message.

"We widened landing areas, smoothed areas in the woods and grassed them," Braun said. "The back nine has a Scottish parks course look and we haven't changed that. But we cut back the taller grasses six to eight yards in the landing area.

"I write a column on golf history for the American Junior Golf Association and I know all the great architects feel and felt that people have to find their ball to have fun. And that's the object of the game -- to have fun.

"We're already getting favorable comments from people who played here before and were familiar with the course. It's showing up in the pace of play which has picked up.

"We're making every effort to assure the people that playing Dunmaglas will be an enjoyable experience. I think they're going to find it more user-friendly," Braun said.

Dunmaglas is named for the MacGillivray ancestral home in Scotland. This Dunmaglas is in a county named for a French explorer in a corner of the Lower Peninsula that has Irish (Antrim and Emmet counties) and Indian names (Petoskey, Otsego, Wequetonsing).

But Dunmaglas doesn't have an identity crisis. It stands out as one of the best-view courses anywhere and one of the best challenges anywhere.

"The views are incredible," Braun said from his hilltop pro shop. "On a clear day you can see the Fox Islands and Beaver Island in Lake Michigan. Our range looks right out at Lake Charlevoix with a 70-foot drop. It seems like you can hit it to the lake.

"It's real tough to come to work in the morning and see all this," Braun said, laughing. "I used to come up to Charlevoix and play the Michigan Amateur at Belvedere and even when I got beat -- and only one guy didn't -- I didn't feel bad. I still was in a beautiful spot. We've got some great golf areas in the state but I don't think any of them approach this."

As for challenge, Dunmaglas may have trimmed back and trimmed down but it still is a brawny test with its hills and valleys, exceptional greens and open area holes.

Dunmaglas measures 5,384 yards from the forward markers, 6,487 from the middle and 6,987 from the back. The Golf Association of Michigan (GAM) ratings reflect the degree of difficulty: the back tee slope rating is 142, the middle is 134 and the forward is 127.

Slope ratings take into account water hazards, bunkers, rough, shape and speed of greens and how they affect players psychologically as well as distance which used to be the primary measure of difficulty. Of 388 courses in Michigan with back tee ratings, 21 have slope ratings of 140 or higher. Dunmaglas is one of them. And the 134 middle rating is higher than most courses' back marker number.

Fees at Dunmaglas are $75 per person with cart and $45 after 3 p.m., a time that's become very popular.

Inflatable city a favorite with younger set

New this year will be something special for the youngsters, a Fun Inflatable city, three balloon entertainment centers designed for the enjoyment of children ages 8 and under and their families.

The inflatables include "Balloon Typhoon," "The Amazing Maze," and the "Monster Bean Bag Toss & Velcro Target Throw." They will be set up in the park and open from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Saturday and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

The typhoon features a 12-foot-tall giant globe filled with flying balloons, while the maze offers more than 100 feet of exploration and adventure with large viewing panels designed to create an exciting game of hide and seek. The third inflatable is a double side two-games-in-one entertainment center.

There will be a small fee for children. Look for the inflatables on the north part of Heritage Park near Proctor Road.

Another new attraction this year will be a special Business Expo hosted by the Canton Chamber of Commerce. The information tent will provide Canton businesses a chance to meet and introduce themselves to Canton residents.

The expo will feature more than 15 booths with a variety of businesses present. No selling will be permitted during the expo, but merchants may distribute free samples, discount coupons, literature or other promotional items. The booths will be staffed by business owners and their employees.

The expo is tentatively set to be open from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday and again from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

The expo tent will be located toward the southern end of Heritage Park near the arts and crafts tents.

Park's fest site

Heritage Park, the 105-acre complex behind Canton Township Hall on Canton Center Road south of Cherry Hill, has been home to each of the past two Liberty Fests and will again play host to the event on Friday through Sunday, June 24-26.

The park includes the new spacious amphitheater where musicians can take the stage in front of a small knoll that can seat 3,000 people.

There are two children's play areas, one on the north side of the park and one to the south. There are several shelter areas (and plenty of picnic tables), a restroom facility, soccer and baseball fields, lots of walking paths and an obstacle course. You may even find an out-of-the-way corner where you can enjoy a sunny day in the park.

The complex can be reached from Proctor Road and Canton Center Road south of Cherry Hill Road.

Just south of Heritage Park, Liberty Fest visitors this year may notice a massive construction project under way. That's the new state-of-the-art community center, Summit on the Park, being built. Expected to open in 1995, the $13-million Summit will feature an array of recreational, social and cultural activities and opportunities.

Chamber active in Liberty Fest

The Canton Chamber of Commerce will host a Canton Wide Sale in conjunction with the Liberty Fest from June 18 through July 4.

The event will feature outdoor sales throughout the community. Stores involved will have red, white and blue pennants outside.

The chamber will issue permits to hang the banners, in cooperation with the township. Call the chamber at 453-4040 for further information.

Other chamber-related activities at the festival include:

■ A Community Service Organizations' tent for local clubs and organizations will offer festival-goers information. Among those who plan to be on hand are the Canton Historical Commission, the Canton Rotary Foundation, the Friends of the Canton Public Library, the Canton Business and Professional Women's (BPW) group, a Boy Scouts group, and members of the Canton Board of Trustees with a special presentation on Canton's Summit on the Park community center project. Membership information for the Summit will be available as well.

■ The Canton Chamber will participate in the community groups tent and act as a sponsor and sell raffle tickets for a chance to win a four-day trip to Cancun, Mexico, along with several other prizes. The tickets will be drawn at 1 p.m. on Sunday, June 26. Winners need not be present to win.

Raffle tickets will be sold during the festival for $2 apiece or three for $5. For information, call the chamber at 453-4040.

■ Festival-goers in need of medical assistance will be able to turn to the McAuley Health Center and Oakwood Canton Health Center health stations during this year's Liberty Fest. McAuley will set up its mobile unit on Saturday, while Oakwood will do the same all day Sunday.

Both organizations are planning to offer free medical testing, such as blood pressure and cholesterol.

BEFORE YOU BUY ANY PERSONAL WATER CRAFT... CHECK OUT THESE...

Mastercraft the first name in performance boats introduces its first line of performance watercraft . . . just check out those quotes from Watercraft and Waterscooter magazines.

The next few turns, I leaned out, and that's definitely the way to go if you want the WetJet to really snap off a corner.

As far as how it felt to actually be on the craft, I was very impressed.

Well, I don't know about you, but as a general rule, if I'm skidding, it's definitely not the result of precision on anybody's part. I could, though, spin full 360s on the Duo 200 and could even manage a controllable side-slide at speed by adjusting my weight when I cranked the handlebars.

Once you're aboard, you don't have to worry about staying there. The Duo 200 has excellent stability. I had no trouble standing on the craft while it was stopped in the middle of some fairly rough water.

So the handling was first-rate, as far as I was concerned. I could lean in and feel radical with my shoulder in the water, or I could lean out and turn hard and sharp. And I could spin and glide if I felt like it.

Leaning into the turn has always been my preferred method, and I could lean the Duo 200 with out having the machine go skidding away from me.

Fest draws crowd

The third annual Canton Liberty Fest will be bigger and better than ever before.

The three-day family-oriented festival is set for the weekend of June 24, 25 and 26. Events will be held on the festival grounds throughout Heritage Park, behind township hall along South Canton Center Road (at Proctor Road).

In its first year in 1992, the festival drew more than 35,000 people to Heritage Park, more than 25,000 alone to the Saturday night fireworks display. Last year, more than 40,000 residents and visitors from neighboring communities visited the festival site, and the same number is expected to attend again this year.

No admission fee will be charged to enter the festival grounds, and most of the activities are free this year. Parking will be available in areas around township hall, the public library, the police station and Canton Historical Museum.

There are events for young and old alike: lots of music, food, classic car show, fine arts show, arts and crafts booths, a mini-midway for kids, and much more.

Family fun

Arts show a top attraction

The festival will see the likes of some 85-90 artists on hand from across Michigan and the region displaying their creations on both Saturday and Sunday as a part of the expanded Fine Arts Show.

Festival-goers will have a chance to view a wide range of various art media, purchase some art, or even watch it being created if they stop by the two tents, located beyond the Heritage Park gazebo. The Fine Arts Show, which is a juried show, will run from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

The art demonstrations, including clay marbling and drawing, will take place inside and outside of the tent at posted times.

Also, look for the Mr. Sandman sand art display. The Florida artist known as Mr. Sandman creates bottled art sculptures using multicolored sand.

Also, the Canton Seniors will man an information booth during the show hours.

For further information, contact Sharon Dillenbeck at 453-3710.

As part of the arts program during the festival there will again be art workshops for youths. The free workshops will be held from noon to 4 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday and include "make and take" home art projects for young people.

The workshops will be held near the gazebo on the festival grounds. The all-day event is organized and hosted by Paul LaTour.

Last year nearly 1,000 kids went through the free program.

Four face painting booths will be set up throughout the festival grounds where festival goers can get their face painted for $1 throughout the day Saturday or from noon to 4 p.m. on Sunday. The painters are young artists from throughout the community.

Fest features something new

New additions to the 1994 version of the Canton Liberty Fest include the Canton Seniors beverage wagon near the gazebo, selling juices and bottled water from noon to 5 p.m. each day. Others are:

- The Plymouth Kiwanis historic Popcorn Wagon, selling popcorn and soda pop during both festival days (near the amphitheater).
- Wandering "characters" including Chuck E. Cheese, Louie the Lightning Bug, Ms. Wendy, Ronald McDonald and others.

■ A Civil War encampment is being organized by the Canton Veterans Memorial Association for one day of the festival this year. Details are still being worked out. Contact John Spencer at 397-5421.

■ Antiques and Collectibles will have their own space this year during the weekend. The tented area will be located next to the Fine Arts area and will feature a range of antique vendors.

Fire safety house to be on display

Canton's Public Safety Department will display its equipment during festival hours on both Saturday and Sunday.

The Children's Fire Safety House will be set up for youngsters to learn about fire safety. There will also be a fire engine, police scout cars, the command unit, and even police motorcycles for festival-goers to check out.

Look for the equipment in the parking lot south and west of the police station. Officers will also be on hand part of the time to explain the equipment, and kids can get fingerprinted at the same site during the festival.

A special rappelling demonstration is being planned for this year using the Canton Administration Building at approximately 2 p.m. Sunday.

There will also be a demonstration by Canton's canine unit (featuring Bas) and possibly several other area canine units. This will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Fife and drum units perform

The Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps will host a special event during the Liberty Fest this year featuring five fife and drum units from Michigan and Ohio. The Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps Muster will be held 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday near the fine arts tents in the northwest portion of Heritage Park. The muster, a traditional gathering of fife and drum corps, is a competitive music show. The various units will perform individually and later in the day have a "jam session."

In addition to the renowned Plymouth unit, those units attending this year include the Maumee Valley Fife and Drum Corps from Toledo, Ohio, the Midnight Riders from Sterling Heights, the Tittabawassee Fife and Drum Corps from Midland and the First Michigan Colonials from historic Greenfield Village.

Each unit will march in while performing during the muster and then give a half-hour show of various patriotic and historic tunes. At 5 p.m., several of the units will take the stage at the Heritage Park amphitheater and perform one number each.

The free show will provide festival-goers a different type of entertainment. Those who participate as units will also receive special trophies.

The muster is being organized by the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps, one of the largest in the nation with more than 51 members ranging in age from 12 to 18. Members come from all over western Wayne County, but mainly Canton and Plymouth.

For further information on the muster, call Sharonn Koppe at 451-0816.

Rides featured

Back again this year for the young kids is the Liberty Fest Mini-Midway, located on the west side of the festival grounds. The midway will include six to eight attractions, such as the Moon-Walk, and a merry-go-round. The rides are designed for children ages 10 and younger. There will be a small fee for the rides.

Register for special events

Spree is here, so don't be left out: Pre-register now. There are several events in which people may participate.

At 6:30 p.m. Thursday, June 23, the O'Doul's Waiter/Waitress and Bartender Race will be held. Area restaurants and pubs will compete in a head-to-head, or glass-to-glass, competition through a timed obstacle course.

A local radio personality will serve as master of ceremonies. From 8 to 10 p.m., Ice Draft from Budweiser will sponsor a free concert. Tyrone's Power Wheels will perform.

Supported by Central Distributors of Beer Inc., this event is for waiters, waitresses, and bartenders, and costs $5 per person. To register call 261-2260.

A new event this year is the Senior Citizen Picnic, to be held 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday, June 24. This event begins two hours before Spree opens to the public. The picnic will include hot dogs, salad, watermelon, chips, beverage, ice cream and entertainment. The cost is $1.50 per person, so don't pass up this bargain. Advance tickets are required and may be obtained by calling 522-2710.

Supported by Sands Lounge, the Sand Volleyball Tournament is back again this year. Games begin at 6:30 p.m. Friday at the courts by the Livonia Y.

This competition includes two- and six-person teams. The six-person teams are open to ages 15-18. The two-person teams have no age restriction. Special prizes are awarded to the top two teams.

Team registration is limited, so register now by calling 473-3966. Cost is $5 per person.

Saturday, June 25, the Classic Car Show will rev up the morning starting at 10 a.m. and stay in overdrive until 4 p.m. A special presentation by Roush Industries will include Jack Roush's personal classic car collection. If you would like to register your vehicle, call 464-2841.

The Teen Party event includes activities, food specials and an all-day ride pass (valid only until 6 p.m.). The fun will take place in the Eddie Edgar Arena from noon to 11 p.m. Saturday, June 25. The charge is $12 per person. Tickets must be purchased in advance at St. Colette, St. Genevieve, or Ward Presbyterian churches, or by calling the Spree hot line at 427-8190.

See EVENTS, 13

Put excitement into your life! Accept the challenge of pushing a go-cart type roadster to the finish line in the Valvoline Instant Oil Change Roadster Race.

All you need is a team of five people (one rider, four pushers; minimum two females; all age 18 or older) to reach the top cash prize of $250. There will be awards for best overall time and for best costume.

Roadster gadgets are provided by Valvoline Instant Oil Change. Practice runs will be held 6-9 p.m. Friday. Anyone wishing to issue a challenge or otherwise enter the race may do so by 4:30 p.m. Saturday.

This event was formerly known as the Great Spree Bed Race, but due to some dramatic changes by the event's design engineer what used to look like a hospital bed now looks like a go-cart. This year Valvoline Instant Oil Change will sponsor the event.

The cost to enter this event is $10 per person. To pre-register call Valvoline Instant Oil Change at 427-0227.

Sunday, June 26, will start off at a fast pace with the Spree 8K Run.

Supported by the Livonia Family 'Y' and the Livonia Community Credit Union, this race begins at 8 a.m. with registration at 7 a.m. at the Livonia Family Y. T-shirts, awards and breakfast are all a part of the Spree 8K Run.

Awards will go to the first-place finishers in each age group, male and female.

For the slightly less ambitious, a 1-mile fun run begins at 8:15 a.m.

A free pancake breakfast to all runners includes pancakes, sausage, juice, milk, and coffee. Family cost is $3 adult, $1.50 child, to be paid day of race at Eddie Edgar Arena.

For more information call 261-2161.

If you have any questions about Spree 44 call the Livonia Anniversary Committee 24-hour Spree hot line at 427-8190.

Spree 44 introduces several new attractions and events

Spree 44 features many items new to this year's celebration.

For starters, the popular bingo games have expanded to two nights. Bingo will take place in the Midway Tent at 6:30 p.m. both Thursday and Friday this year.

Bingo is sponsored by the Business and Professional Women.

Also new at 6:30 p.m. Friday is a performance by the Polish National Alliance Centennial Dancers.

The dancers perform national and regional dances of Poland as well as lively American polkas and obereks. They are enthusiastic, love to perform, and are eager to demonstrate their Polish heritage.

The Centennial Dancers, under the auspices of the Polish National Alliance, was founded in 1980, the 100th anniversary of PNA.

This performance is a fund-raiser dedicated to help Poland.

Also new is Granpa Cratchet, who will put on two or three shows a day, depending on his energy level. Granpa Cratchet is supported locally by Top Value Muffler.

Another new feature is the Senior Citizen Picnic at Eddie Edgar Arena on Friday, featuring good food and entertainment for just $1.50.

The picnic will run from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Eddie Edgar Arena. It will feature hot dog, salad, watermelon, chips, beverage, ice cream, and entertainment.

Advance tickets are required; call 522-2710.

The Olive Garden Pasta Parade is yet another new feature, starting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday with line-up at 7 p.m. Report to the Main Stage.

Clowns, a clown band, and other entertainment are planned. Decorate your stroller, Big Wheel, tricycle, or anything on wheels. This is supported by the Olive Garden restaurant.

McDonald's Family Fun Free-For-All

runs from 2 to 6 p.m. Saturday at Ford Field Diamond 2.

For ages crawlers to adults, this includes a field day, petting farm, fables, Ronald McDonald at 4 p.m., pony rides, clowns, face painting, favors for all, and a diaper derby at 3:30 p.m. Cost is free; supported by McDonald's.

A new special is the $4 off All-Day Wristband. These are good 4-11 p.m. Tuesday or 2-11 p.m. Wednesday; bands sold to 9 p.m. both days. Present an original city of Livonia water bill, which must be surrendered, at any Pugh Show ticket booth. No cash value; one bill per person; no reproductions accepted. Height restrictions on some rides.

A new additional offer is: Return your wristband to a participating McDonald's and buy one, get one free sandwich; good through July 4. Participating stores are at 38015 Ann Arbor Road, 19311 Farmington Road, 11800 Middlebelt Road, 15399 Middlebelt Road, or 31355 Joy Road.

Another new feature is a schedule of daily events, presented by the Livonia Observer, over the phone at 953-2005.

And all this in addition to the all-new Circus of Thrills! (see related story, page 24)

Big wheel: This Ferris wheel came to Livonia for a past Spree. Now just imagine someone walking along it — at the top — while it's turning — and you'll get a taste of the excitement that awaits this year.

Circus of Thrills to present amazing feats at Spree 44

Perhaps the most exciting addition to this year's Spree is Circo de Espectacular Garcia, or the Circus of Thrills.

Gone are the animal acts in the circus which many animal activists find objectionable. Instead, the circus will feature all human acts including some daredevil acts on the flying trapeze, the space wheel, aerial ballet, and the Globe of Death. A lighter touch is added with a comedy trampoline act.

One exciting, likely breathtaking new addition this year will be Jaime Garcia, leader of the Circus of Thrills, who once each evening (weather permitting) will walk on top of the giant gondola.

The Circus of Thrills is one of the many attractions at Spree which are free to all visitors.

The circus is a decidedly family affair. Mexico native Garcia and his wife, Leonora, have four children — Bardo, Leo, Linda and Chato — all of whom perform in the show. Garcia has been performing in the U.S. since 1984.

The 45- to 60-minute show runs two or three times a day, and includes five acts: a flying trapeze, the space wheel, a comedy trampoline act, an aerial ballet, and the Globe of Death with three riders on motorcycles.

Once each day, though, Garcia plans to perform the extra-thrilling Ferris Wheel Walk, which Garcia believes is the only such act in the country. In this performance, Garcia actually walks around the outside rim of a wheel while it's turning.

Garcia first left the small Mexican town where he lived when, at age 17, the circus swept him away when it visited. He is now based in Seagoville, Texas, just outside Dallas, but has been performing widely around the Midwest.

joyed a literal monopoly on the carnival business in the Midwestern states.

As Pugh's sons entered manhood, it became evident to him that his love of carnivals had been passed on to his children. The Pughs had often discussed and critiqued many carnivals in the past and had developed many theories of how a carnival should be operated.

In 1967 Richard's and his son's dreams became a reality with the founding of Pugh Shows Inc. The new company demonstrated an amazing growth pattern and soon was recognized as one of the finest carnival operators in Ohio.

Their years of apprenticeship culminated in the complete acquisition of the renowned Gooding Amusement Company, America's largest carnival, in 1979. The tradition is carried on today by Jeffrey D. Pugh, James K. Wegerly, and Beverly Pugh.

At Livonia Spree 44, many favorite rides from the past will return, along with some brand-new attractions.

One new adult ride is Musik Express, a German import which simulates an out-of-control sleigh ride through the mountains. Thousands of lights create amazing visual effects, and a disc jockey plays the current top 40.

Also new is Starship 2000, a wild ride in a flying saucer. Moonraker is a new, wild ride into space.

Located in its own area, Kiddieland will be a delight to the kids. In addition to a dozen popular favorites, new attractions include Fire Chief, imported from Italy, a wild 360-degree ride in an out-of-control fire engine; Balloon, riding up and away in a hot-air balloon; Dragon Wagon, a scary but fun ride on a dragon; and Berry-Go-Round, spinning inside a giant strawberry.

The event will also feature a fabulous array of game concessions. Fairgoers will be able to win beautiful prizes in a wide variety of fun ways.

Ride tickets will be priced at 50 cents each, with rides taking two, three, four, or five tickets. Pugh will offer a pay-one-price wristband, allowing unlimited rides from opening until 11 p.m. weekdays and noon to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Racing pigs scramble back

One of the most popular attractions at Livonia Spree is the pig races, which are held each day from Tuesday through Sunday.

Robinson's Racing Pigs is the oldest and largest operator of touring pig races, operating out of their winter quarters in Picnic, Florida. Picnic is a small settlement in Hillsborough County, south of Plant City. Because of that quirk in geography, the Robinson family has developed a reputation for racing Picnic hams.

The pig races, which are free, are held five to seven times a day.

"The unique thing about pig racing is that it puts pigs in a different perspective," owner Carlota Robinson once said. "People see pigs, in their mind's eye, lounging in a barnyard. Little do they realize that a pig can do a 100-meter dash in 11 seconds while the fastest football player in the NFL, Washington Redskins cornerback Darrell Green, requires 10.08 seconds to cover the same distance and Olympic athlete Florence Griffith Joyner requires 10.49 seconds for a like sprint.

"Pigs are people animals; they love it when a crowd of people cheer them on to victory, and they are extremely competitive.

"Horses need riders to guide them around the track, dogs need a mechanical rabbit, but pigs just need an Oreo cookie in their tray at the end of the 150-foot oval track." The losers get crumbs.

Robinson's Racing Pigs are licensed through the U.S. Department of Agriculture under the animal welfare act. "The pigs are treated like the great stars they are, with shampoos, high-protein pig chow, and lots of love and affection. They are our children."

PAPA ROMANO'S

The original Papa Romano's was born April 1, 1970 at Nine Mile and Telegraph in Southfield, Michigan. It did not take long for word to spread that Papa Romano's had the best pizza for miles around. Competition was tough. It wasn't long before people tried to copy Papa Romano's pizza, but none could measure up. They had to sell two pizzas for the price of one to compete with Papa Romano's. But Papa always said, "ONE OF THE ~~BEST~~ BEATS TWO OF THE REST!"

Still today at the many locations throughout Metro Detroit, Papa Romano and his staff of highly trained pizza makers make his homemade pizza dough the old fashioned way – fresh every day. Mama's secret tomato sauce recipe is still made the way Mama used to make it. And each pizza is hand stretched and baked to perfection in a stone hearth oven for each customer in each location; Papa Romano insists on it.
