Talk of Tigers hits headlines

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Could Northville Township one day play host to a new Tiger stadium? Possibly, but very unlikely, local officials say.

The question came up after a front-page Detroit News article last week named the township as one of several communities under consideration as a possible new home for the ballclub.

Entitled "Will Tigers move to Northville?" the article appeared in the July 13 edition of the Detroit News. It said that team owner Mike Ilitch is having a look-see around southeast Michigan for potential sites for a new Tiger stadium. The move has come after talks on his preferred choice—downtown near the Fox Theatre—hit some rough waters.

Ilitch met a somewhat cool reception on his Foxtown stadium plan. He is prepared to spend $175 million to build the stadium but only if state legislators agree to put up $200 million for land acquisition and other costs.

The Tigers are exploring sites in Wayne County, Oakland County and beyond, said Build the Ballpark spokesperson Lisa Ilitch Murray. One of them is a nearly 900-acre parcel which Wayne County owns in Northville Township. It sits between Six Mile, Five Mile, Beck and Sheldon roads.

"We're looking at a number of sites," Ilitch Murray said, adding that she could not discuss specifics. "One of our office's goals has been to see which sites are viable as a new home for the Tigers."

That list shouldn't include the township, local and county representatives contacted said. They asserted that the Northville land was a bad spot for a stadium and that the county wouldn't sell it to Ilitch in any case.

"I just got out of a meeting with (County Executive) Ed McNamara and he's as adamantly opposed to it as I am," Wayne County Commissioner Thad McCotter said. McCotter's district includes Northville Township and the Wayne County section of the City.

The 800-odd acres are on the trading block. McNamara's office has been reviewing four multi-million-dollar bids for the parcel over the last few months. He is expected to offer a recommendation to the commission before the year is out.

"That site is completely inappropriate," McCotter said. "My reading of the residents there is that they don't want the traffic and all of the other problems a stadium would bring."

The commission must approve any sale of the township land and most of the commissioners represent sections of the city of Detroit. That fact, observers say, make it next to impossible for Ilitch to get them to sell him the land for a non-Motown Tiger stadium.

Added to that are the potential difficulties in gaining the township's approval if the Tigers wanted to pursue the county land. Board of Trustees Treasurer Rick Engelland was one of several skeptical officials.

"I hadn't heard anything about it (before the article)," Engelland said, "but there's no truth to it. McNamara's opposed and the entire parcel is zoned residential anyway. I get no inkling from the board of trustees that we want to change that to try to get a new Tiger stadium."

Others cited highway access problems with the land site as well as Northville's aim to stay a residential

Municipal merger's meeting problems

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

The notion of a united Northville may not be long for the world.

City-township consolidation is an idea which local officials have explored for the past several months. A similar effort failed two decades ago.

1994 discussions may soon follow suit. A July 14 township board of trustees discussion of the issue saw three of the seven members reject consolidation; others on the board seemed skeptical but said they hadn't made up their minds.

The report on consolidation—which a special joint committee has put together—will be the subject of an Aug. 9 meeting of the city council and the board. The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. at Northville High School. The report examines the broad outlines of what a consolidation agreement would involve, including such factors as millage rates, governmental structure and labor force issues.

Board Clerk Sue Hillebrand at the meeting last week asked the board to vote to cease talks with the city immediately, including cancelling the Aug. 9 meeting. She later withdrew the measure other board members said they wanted to attend it.

"When we took office," Hillebrand said, "I could not see why we were two communities. After one and a half years in office, however, I see things now that I didn't understand then."

More minutes than pluses would be involved in consolidation, Hillebrand indicated, citing some of the

Wednesday morning activities pegged

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

Northville High School students who are envisioning deserted hallways and desolate classrooms Wednesday mornings next year are in for a big surprise.

The school will be alive with alternate activities for students during the time teachers meet for collegial planning during next year's one-year pilot program on Wednesday mornings.

A committee comprised of parents and school administrators that has met for the past three months to brainstorm ideas for alternate morning activities, has whittled down a long list of suggestions and come up with a plan.

From 7:30 a.m. until school starts at 10:40 a.m., students can attend SAT and ACT workshops, re-take the

"This is an excellent opportunity for students to become involved in a lot of educationally oriented activities."

MEAP test, attend workshops on study skills, receive peer tutoring or take a community service class. The weight room, gymnasium, art room, library, computer lab and Forum will be open for students as well.

Principal Thomas Johnson said the alternate activities give students a chance to enhance their education.

"This is an excellent opportunity for students to become involved in a lot of educationally oriented activities," he said.

Johnson said there is a possibility the cafeteria could be opened, but that idea is still in the works. The committee also considered having the swimming pool open but a CPR-certified water instructor who is also trained in first aid techniques must be present—something they do not have right now.

"If we do find somebody, we'll pop that pool open in a heartbeat," Johnson said.

The committee's decision was based on surveys distributed in April from incoming eighth graders and high school students who specified what they would like to do most during the free mornings.

Sandy Woolfall, a parent who is on the Wednesday morning committee, said she is hopeful students will attend but feels it may take a couple of weeks for kids to get involved because of the time it takes get re-acquainted to the school routine.

"The numbers (from the survey) are indicating the kids are interested in coming," she said, adding that considering the financial constraints of hiring new personnel was a difficult factor. "But it may take a while to see what is going to happen. If the kids take advantage of it, that would be wonderful."

After students have cracked the

Northville's voters go to the polls soon

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Twelve days and counting. Yep, it's less than two weeks until Northville City and Township residents get the chance to do their civic duty: voting in this Aug. 2's primary.

On the ballot are candidates for a variety of local and statewide offices. The top-vote getters in each party's primary—Democratic and Republican—will square off in the general election on Nov. 8.

There are several non-partisan judicial races on the ballot as well. The two top votegetters in those races square off in November as well.

Northville voters will all participate in two statewide races. Residents of Northville Township and the Wayne County portion of the City of Northville will vote in different local races than Oakland County residents of the City.

In addition, Northville Township voters will face five millage questions to decide. They're all listed below, as well as all voting precinct locations.

VOTING LOCATIONS:

There are 10 voting precincts in the township and two in the city. The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Aug. 2. If you're not sure where to vote, contact the clerk's offices of the city (349-1300) or the township (348-5800).

Joint meeting dates for city, township changed

Interested residents of Northville Township and City, take note: the dates for two joint meetings between the city council and board of trustees have been changed.

● A joint meeting on the recent proposal to combine the city and township fire departments—scheduled for July 26, then for Aug. 16—is now set for Tuesday, Aug. 4. The meeting will take place at 7:30 p.m. at Township Hall, located on Six Mile between Winchester and Haggerty.

● The July 12 meeting to discuss the results of a special report on the consolidation of the two communities into a single municipality has been postponed to Tuesday, Aug. 9. That meeting will take place at 7:30 p.m. at Northville High School.

Roadrunner Classic

Runners hit pavement in eleventh annual race

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

If the streets of Northville seem to rumble a little Saturday evening, no need to fret. It's just a bunch of roadrunners.

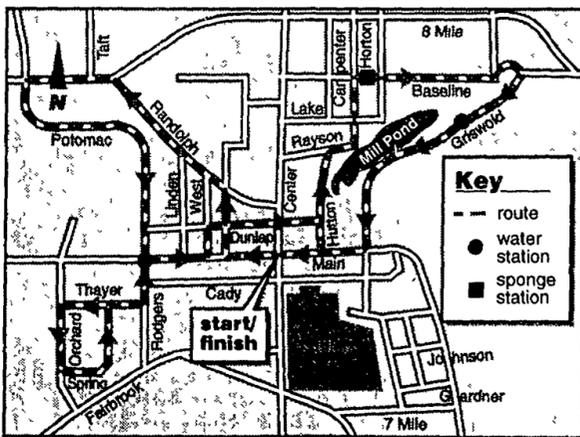

For the second year, the heart of Northville will be host to the pitter-patter of more than 1,000 runners trekking through the city's scenic streets in the 11th annual Roadrunner Classic.

The Classic, which features an 8-kilometer (5 miles) race, a 1-mile race for children under 12 and a 1-mile fun-run/walk, is sponsored by the Redford Roadrunners, a running group, of which half its membership resides in Northville, including Doug Kurtis, who holds three marathon world records.

The stampede will begin at 6 p.m. with the 1-mile Junior Classic (all participants will receive medals). At 6:30 p.m. the 1-mile fun-run/walk begins and at 7 p.m., the 8-kilometer main event will begin.

All three of the races, which are certified by the United States Track and Field Association, will begin at the intersection of Main and Center streets. Water stations will be situated along the 1.6, 2.5 and 4.2 mile mark.

Roadrunner Classic '94 Route

Map by JUANITA LITTLE

Northville hosted the event for the first time last year after the race moved from Livonia, which the Roadrunner Classic called home for nine years.

"Northville is a real running community," said Kurtis, citing some of the reasons the classic moved from Livonia to Northville. "It's a great place to run. With Victorian-style homes, Edward Hines Drive and the Mill Pond, Northville is very scenic and it draws a lot of people."

More than 75 awards, including embroidered Roadrunner jackets for first place, dinner gift certificates and medals and ribbons will be given out to race participants in the various categories, including the open (younger than 40) and masters (over 40) categories and wheelchair and race walker categories.

Roadrunner race director Eric Trimble said the race is a large undertaking with at least 125 volunteers helping to organize and man the competition, but with the immense enthusiasm the group has, it is not too difficult.

Going out to cheer on the runners even if you don't know anyone competing is a good time, Trimble said. Some people set out their sprinklers by the edge of the road to cool down steaming runners, he said.

The race festivities will not end once the last runner crosses the finish line, the night will have just begun with music and dancing at the Northville Community Center on West Main Street.

Trimble said there will be food, beverages a DJ, plus clowns, balloons and face painting for the kids.

Salvation Army seeks addition funds

The Salvation Army is looking to Northville residents and the surrounding communities it serves to help expand the organization's Plymouth-based building in order to enhance service to people in need.

The Salvation Army's Capitol Campaign is hoping to raise $500,000 to build a 4,000-foot addition on to the local headquarters building at Main Street and Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth. Organization members are pledging $100,000 to cover the approximate $600,000 cost of the addition, which will be started in early spring, organizers hope.

Lieutenant Randal Vanlandingham, who assumed his post just three weeks ago and is spearheading the organization's campaign, said it is important for Northville residents to contribute because the Salvation Army provides a valuable service to the community.

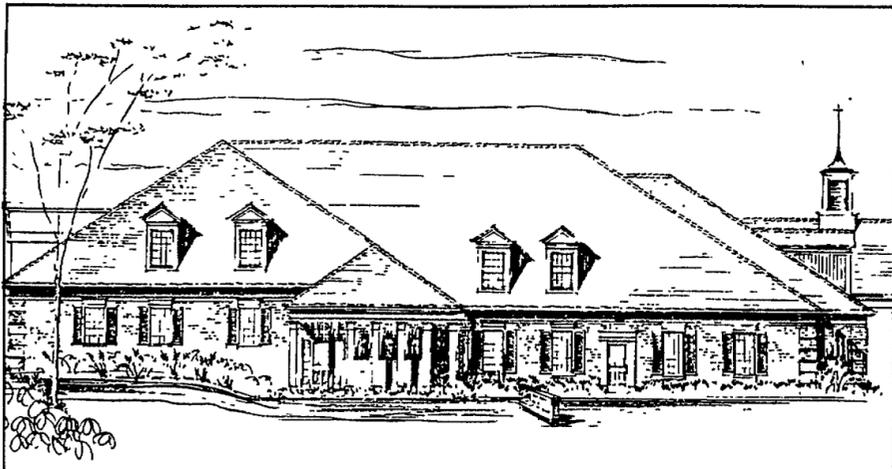

"A lot of people don't even realize the Salvation Army serves this community," Vanlandingham said, adding that the organization serves, Canton, Plymouth and Plymouth Township in addition to Northville and Northville Township.

One anonymous Northville resident has gotten the contribution pool off to a generous start by donating $1,000.

Residents wishing to make a donation can do so at Lapham's Men's Shop, 120 E. Main St., where a kettle will be situated at the counter for the next four to five weeks.

Chuck Lapham, owner of Lapham's Men's Shop and an honorary member of the campaign cabinet, said even the smallest donation is appreciated.

"There are many small donors that support the Salvation Army and feel their dollars are well spent," Lapham said. "The organization is a nice insurance policy to have in case of an emergency."

This is an artist's rendering of the east side Salvation Army's building with its new addition.

The addition will house a new food storage and distribution area, a nursery, general office space, a social worker's room, and classrooms for community programs.

Currently, food supplies are being stored in a building known as the Clark House, however, the house is condemned because of fire-hazardous wiring and will be demolished when the addition is built. Space for emergency supplies that are being stored in a hallway of the main building, will also find a new home with the addition.

The Capitol Campaign is also important for Salvation Army members because they hope it will raise awareness that the services it provides are not just seasonal.

"Many people associate the Salvation Army with the kettle campaign at Christmas time," said Jim Vermuelen, chairman of the campaign volunteers advisory board.

The kettle campaign, where volunteers stand outside in the freezing cold ringing bells to encourage people to contribute, is an excellent service, Vermuelen said.

However, the Salvation Army offers many other programs and services that assist the community such as, alcohol and substance abuse programs, summer camp for children that helps raise self-esteem and teaches life-application skills and providing support at emergency situation like fires and tornadoes, to name just a few.

Vanlandingham and Vermuelen agree that the need to build an addition to the organization's main building is symbolic of the expanding needs of the community and the Salvation Army's need for more volunteers.

"There are all sorts of avenues available to get involved," Vanlandingham said. "We have so many areas that we need volunteers in."

For more information on where to make a contribution or how to get involved, call 453-5464 or FAX at (313)453-0805.

Library's on lookout for book and video donations

With its annual used book sale coming up Saturday, July 30, at the Northville Sidewalk Sale, the Friends of the Northville Public Library is seeking both books and videos for its annual fund-raising project.

Contributions may be taken to the parking lot of the Northville Parks and Recreation Building on W. Main Street on Saturdays, July 23, from 10 a.m. to noon. Members of Friends will be on hand to accept them.

The parking lot drop-off is necessary because the present library has no storage place. Until the sale date, Debi Lopez is turning her garage into a storage area.

Last year, the Friends raised more than $1,800 during its book sale. Deborah Malinowski-Wurts, first vice-president and chair of this year's event, is working closely with Susan Anker, second vice-president, and Janine Bauchat, president.

Malinowski-Wurts emphasized that the Friends cannot accept National Geographic magazines, Reader's Digest condensed books, textbooks (except for literature) or encyclopedias more than 10 years old.

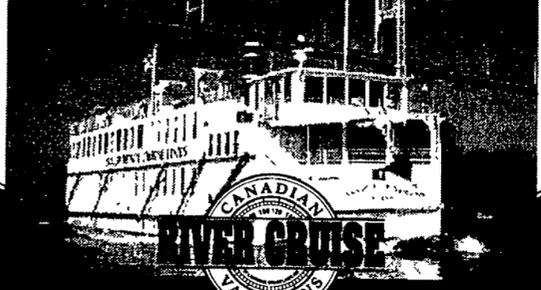

"There is little demand for them," she explained.

On the day of the sale, the bandshell will be turned into a temporary bookstall. Members of the Friends will staff it. St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church is donating the use of its long tables.

Police News

Police investigate Hines Park driveby shooting

Township police investigated a possible attempted murder which occurred Saturday in Hines Park.

The responding officers in the case were dispatched to Hines Park on a report of a man down and possibly shot.

A 28-year-old Livonia man told them that he had been riding his bike in the bicycle lane on Hines Drive near the toboggan hill that afternoon when he heard a loud popping sound and felt pain in one arm. He found a small, bleeding circular puncture wound in his left forearm.

A 1970s-era light blue passenger car, possibly a Chevrolet or Pontiac, passed him on Hines Drive right after that, the man said. Witnesses at the scene said they saw two white males in the front driver's and passenger's seats.

The sound and type of wound have led police to suspect that an air-powered or carbon dioxide-powered bb or pellet gun was used. They searched the area for bullet shell casings but did not find any. Before making any final decision on the weapon type, police are waiting to examine the projectile once it is removed from the man's arm.

MARIJUANA / TRESPASSING: Township police arrested a 19-year-old Waterford man for possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia on Sunday.

While on patrol, the reporting officer in the case said he came across the man and four companions on Wayne County land near Five Mile and Sheldon. The Waterford man admitted they were planning to trespass in the abandoned Child Development Center buildings, the officer said.

While talking to the man, the officer saw pipes and other paraphernalia used to smoke marijuana in plain view in the man's 1988 Chevrolet Beretta. The man, the officer said, admitted to smoking marijuana but denied that he had any that day.

He agreed to let the officer search his vehicle, police reports said, and was arrested for possession of the paraphernalia. A search of the man himself yielded marijuana and more paraphernalia.

The man was booked at police headquarters and released on bond. After being released, the officer said, the man allowed police to search the vehicle's trunk. There they found a marijuana plant and a large bong used to smoke the substance.

MARIJUANA/DISORDERLY CONDUCT: Northville City Police arrested a 16-year-old Northville boy for possession of marijuana and disorderly conduct after he fled on foot from a police officer.

The boy was walking on Center Street when a police car pulled around the corner and headed north on Center. The boy abruptly turned around and started walking northbound on Center while nervously looking over his shoulder and walking faster.

When an officer asked him to stop because he wanted to talk to him, the boy started to walk faster. When the officer yelled for him to stop, the boy ran.

The police officer chased the boy and witnessed him throw an object on the roof of D & D Bike Shop. The officer caught up with the boy and arrested him.

The Northville City Fire Department found a pipe commonly used for smoking marijuana on the roof.

A search of the boy resulted in two suspected marijuana cigarettes and a zip-lock bag containing possible marijuana.

The boy was released into his parents' custody.

AUTO THEFT: An Indiana woman staying at The Hampton Inn at Eight Mile and Haggerty had her car stolen last Monday evening or Tuesday morning.

The woman, 26, of Columbia, IN, told police she left her brand-new GMC Sonoma parking in the hotel's lot Monday night. It was gone the next morning. Police could find no witnesses or evidence.

Detroit police, however, found the vehicle abandoned in their jurisdiction six days later. It had suffered damage to one door lock and the steering column. Missing were the vehicle's hood, fenders, grill, airbag, engine and bumpers.

AUTO THEFT: Unknown suspects may have taken a township woman's car for a joyride a week ago—one which ended in an accident.

Township police found the woman's 1992 Eagle Talon upside down on the south side of Six Mile near Beck. No one was inside of it but the headlights were still on and the windows had been shattered.

The woman, 36, a Cove Drive resident, said that she had gone out to dinner that evening with a friend but had not taken the Talon. The car was there when she left her home, the woman said.

The case remains open.

LARCENY FROM A BUILDING: Northville City Police are searching for a man and a woman in the larceny of the Stampedler, 150 Mary Alexander Ct.

On Saturday a woman shopping in the store disappeared into a room where employees keep personal belongings and then rushed out with some $300 in various wallets and purses with cash and credit cards inside.

The woman ran down Main Street and into a white Escort driven by a man.

Stampedler employees said they could identify the woman if they saw her again.

Police are looking for a white female, possibly Latin, in her late 20s to early 30s. She is approximately 5 foot 10 inches with long black curly hair, stocky build and a deep voice.

The man is described as a white male, possibly Latin, in his early 30s. He is approximately 6 foot 1 inch, 200 pounds with short, black wavy hair.

LARCENY: A former employee is suspected of trying to steal change donated to charity from the McDonald's restaurant on Six Mile.

A 16-year-old female employee of the restaurant told township police that the man in question, a 20-year-old Livonia resident, was in the McDonald's on Sunday. He was loitering near the box used to collect donations of change for the Ronald McDonald House, she said.

At one point she left the counter area, the girl said, and went to another area to prepare food. As she returned, she said she heard the sound of change falling on the floor and saw the man leaving with a large amount of change in his pocket.

The girl said she followed the man, telling him that the money didn't belong to him. The man allegedly replied that he needed the money to buy cigarettes. The girl said she then reached into his pocket, took out a handful of coins and demanded that he return the rest. He did so, she said, and left.

The case remains open.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

City Council approves county bike path's route

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

The Northville City Council has given the thumbs up sign for Wayne County to construct a bicycle path in Edward Hines Park at its Monday night meeting.

The Council voted 3-1 (Mayor Chris Johnson was absent) to contribute $6,000 of the $12,000 the city must pay to Wayne County for the path. The Parks and Recreation Commission has pledged the remaining $6,000.

The construction of the path, which will begin in mid August, may be much easier than the path council members took in order to approve the plan.

Council members debated over whether to approve the county's plan because they would have liked the path to be closer to Edward Hines Drive. However, Hurley Coleman, a representative from the county's park department said at a previous meeting that the city's plan could triple construction costs.

Councilman Paul Folino voted against the path because he feels a portion of the plan, which would wind the path through a wooded area, is unsafe and because he favors the city's master plan, which would eventually link up with Maybury State Park at Beck Road.

In a letter to Traci Johnson, director of the Parks and Recreation Commission, County official Daniel Navarre explained that the two plans were compared and the city's would cost $24,500 more because more trees would be removed and a bridge would have to be constructed.

The project, which would begin at Kings Mill where an existing path ends, and extend north to Seven Mile Road, is part of a Wayne County plan that would stretch 17 miles and connect nine communities, including Northville, Plymouth, Dearborn, Westland and Livonia.

Mall plans activities for market's move

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

The Highland Lakes Merchant's Association is throwing a party to celebrate the Farmer's Market moving to the parking lot at the Highland Lakes Shopping Mall on Seven Mile Road, and everyone is invited.

July 28 the Northville community is invited to attend an old-time blue grass ho-down at the mall's parking lot.

Attendants will be able to listen to music, dance, eat and have a plain old good time in addition to shopping for the fresh fruits and vegetables at the Farmer's Market.

The market has been a tradition in the Northville community for the past 10 years when every Thursday from May to October farmers from across the state come to sell fresh fruits and vegetables.

The market used to be situated in the parking lot across from Northville Downs but has recently moved to the Highland Lakes Shopping Mall parking lot.

The Starry Night Ramblers, a country blue-grass band, will be performing at 6 p.m. and a square-dance caller will arrive at 8 p.m. to make sure everybody is "swingin' their partners." From 4-6 p.m., street musicians will be filling the streets and tons of food like chicken and ribs will be available to eat all day.

Richard Willerer, who owns the Heavenly Bakery and Gourmet Shop, said the event is designed to publicize the Farmer's Market.

"When you have a change, it sometimes takes a while to catch on," he said. "So we want to let people know it is here and promote the whole area."

Willer said that the market's move has been received negatively by some, but he feels the change is a good thing.

"If you look at the demographics of it, this is the perfect place for it to be," he said.

NORTHVILLE TOWNSHIP:

Township voters will say yes or no to five separate millage questions on Aug. 2. All township millages expire this year. Proposals A and B are to maintain current police, fire and shared services, paid for with their own dedicated millages. Until now, the board of trustees has levied a general operating millage to pay for the services.
 Also on the ballot will be three "en-

OAKLAND COUNTY-CITY:

Only one Democrat and one Republican have filed in each of the four major races which affect City of Northville voters living in Oakland County.

● Other races: 52nd District Court Judge Harold Bulgarelli is unopposed in his bid for re-election to the non-partisan seat. Judges of the Oakland County Circuit Court are on the ballot as well.

11 take part in 35th District Court race

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Voters in Michigan's 35th District court area will judge 11 candidates on Aug. 2. Their verdict will send nine packing and propel the remaining two to a November showdown.

The 35th District's jurisdiction includes Northville City and Township, Plymouth City and Township and Canton Township. Those in the race are looking to succeed retiring jurist James Garber; three candidates are Northville residents. The non-partisan position is for a four-year term.

Twelve candidates originally filed for the race. One, former Wayne County Commissioner Maurice Breen of Plymouth Township, was eliminated because of an insufficient number of signatures on his nominating petitions to become a candidate.

Aug. 2 is primary day. The remaining 11 candidates will be on the ballot; the top two vote-getters will go on to face off in the general election on Nov. 8.

The candidates include:

- Stephen Boak of Plymouth Township, a former assistant Wayne County prosecutor who has practiced law for 27 years. He is a partner in a Plymouth law firm.
- Jacqueline George of Plymouth Township, a lawyer with offices in Plymouth and Detroit.
- Michael Gerou of Plymouth City, a former staff attorney for the Legal Aid and Defender Association. He now has a Plymouth law practice and has practiced law since 1967.
- Victoria Hartri of Northville City, a lawyer who lists past experience with the Wayne County prosecutor's office and the New York Federal Defender's office.
- Carol Levitte of Plymouth Township, a lawyer with 14 years of practice in 35th. She has served as a hearing officer for the state's public service commission and state racing commissioner.
- Ron Lowe of Plymouth City, the city's attorney since 1985 and assistant city attorney from 1982-85.
- Maria Pettio of Northville City, a Wayne County assistant prosecuting attorney since 1984. She had her own practice in Detroit in 1983-84.
- Dennis Shrewsbury of Plymouth City, a city commissioner and past president of the Suburban Bar Association.
- Kevin Simowski of Plymouth City, a Wayne County assistant prosecuting attorney since 1982 and a graduate of Wayne State University's law school.
- Karen Woodside of Northville Township, a Wayne County prosecuting attorney and former city planning commissioner. She is a graduate of the Detroit College of Law.
- Edward Zelmanski, Jr. of Canton, the managing attorney for UAW/GM/Ford Legal Services.

"bedroom" community. This isn't the first time that Detroit's baseball club has been rumored to have its eye on the township. Back when Domino's Pizza magnate Tom Monaghan owned the team, word around the area was that St. Paul's Seminary on Five Mile Road was being considered as a new stadium site.

Director of Planning Carol Maise said there was talk off and on a few years of the county land becoming a stadium site, but nothing came of it. The township earlier in the 1990s, however, did add a series of stadium zone standards to township ordinances on the chance it might have happened.

Other potential sites mentioned in the recent Detroit News article include: Romulus, Dearborn, Ypsilanti Township, Canton Township, Auburn Hills, Commerce Township, Novi, Ann Arbor and the state fairgrounds in Detroit.

Build The Ballpark, opened last month courtesy of the Iltich organization, is intended to explore those and other options. It distributes information about the stadium debate, Iltich Murray said, and seeks fans' input as well.

Want to put your two cents in? Contact the Build the Ballpark Information office at 2211 Woodward Ave. in Detroit (313) 983-6050.

Township voters face three 'enrichment' millages

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Does Northville want to pay for land, capital improvements and dirt road treatments? The Aug. 2 millage election will tell the tale.

Voters in the township face five separate millage requests twelve days from now. Two are to continue currently provided services; three are "enrichment" millages earmarked for specific projects. If all five pass, taxpayers are looking at a net increase of about one mill.

The board of trustees earlier this year decided on a major change in the way the township funds its services. The trustees scrapped the township's general operating millage levy in favor of five four-year dedicated millage requests.

All township millages are up this year. The first two millage questions—proposals A and B—are essentially tax shifts. Proposal A calls for 2.99 mills a year for police services and .84 mill for fire services. Proposal B would provide a total of .40 mill a year for services which the township funds jointly with the city: .30 mill for the Parks & Recreation Department, .05 mill for Northville Youth Assistance; and .05 mill for senior citizen programs.

Until now, the board has levied a general operating millage and paid for those services out of that. The dedicated millages will maintain their current levels of service but legally earmark the money for each specific purpose. The move is intended to make the services' funding sources more secure: which program gets what is no longer up to the discretion of the board. The drawback, however, is that the board can't shift money from somewhere it's not needed to somewhere it is.

The three enrichment millages include:

Proposal C: .50 mill a year for land acquisition for open space and parks. The township, trustees say, may find itself without sufficient public park and open space in the future if it doesn't buy some land now. Proposal C provides the money to do that.

"We see this as consistent with the vision of the township and the quality of life residents expect," Treasurer Rick Engelland said.

Proposal D: .25 mill a year for capital outlay. Monies raised from this millage are expected to total about $140,000 a year. The cash would pay for improvements or expenses which the board deems appropriate.

Proposal E: .08 mill a year for dirt road treatments. The levy is expected to generate about $44,000 a year in revenues. That's enough to treat all secondary dirt roads in the township twice year with calcium chloride to reduce dust created by traffic. Wayne County maintains primary dirt roads. The treatments reduce dust, a problem in many areas of the township, especially on those roads which the county has opened to through traffic.

The issue is on the ballot due to decisions by the county, past boards and the current crop of trustees. The county owns the roads and taxes township citizens for their upkeep.

Each trustee has his or her own version of a to-do list if the proposal passes, Engelland said. If proposal D does win voters approval, the board will sit down and decide on a priority list of tasks, he said.

Among the projects for that list which have been mentioned:

- Replacing Township Hall's leaky roof (about $140,000).
- Purchasing a new radio system for the Department of Public Safety (about $150,000).
- Providing a $100,000 match to get a $300,000 federal/state grant for a bike path on Six Mile from Haggerty to Northville Road.
- Buying a new fire truck ($200,000) or ambulance ($65,000).
- Integrated computerization ($150,000).
- Putting in a left turn lane on Six Mile at Township Hall ($40,000).

The cost of proposal E, Engelland said, is moderate: the .08 mill equals about $7 a year for the average homeowner.

Some dirt road residents recently asked the board for help, saying the dust created safety, health and other problems for them.

If voters approve all five requests, the board of trustees would be authorized to levy up to 5.07 mills each year. That's 1.02 mills more than the township's current total levy.

The polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Aug. 2. If you don't know where to vote, contact the clerk's office at Township Hall (348-5800). Absentee ballots can be picked up at Township Hall or mailed to you.

County officials, however, have discretion over where road maintenance dollars are spent. Northville Township's secondary dirt roads are at the bottom of the list.

To help solve the problem, the township since the mid-1980s has earmarked part of its own budget to pay for the treatments. That ended during the last board's 1992 budget cutbacks. A majority of the current board has not supported putting the treatments back into the budget. They have decided, however, to put the issue to a public vote.

"The question allows us to ask voters if they want this or not," Engelland said.

Request for more mills is possibility

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Good but no guarantees.

That's Northville Township officials' estimate of the chances that they'll have to come back to voters for additional mills should the five millage questions pass this Aug. 2.

Affecting the odds is a combination of growth rates and politics. Either could bring on or ban a request for voter approval of more mills.

The township in past years has paid for most services out of the money which a general operating fund millage raised. The money was allocated at the board's discretion, meaning the amounts earmarked for given services could change from year to year.

To eliminate that, each of the five Aug. 2 requests are four-year dedicated millages. If a question passes, the money its levy raises cannot by law be spent on anything other than the proposed specified on the ballot.

The downside, however, is that the millage rates are locked in. The board can't increase them (or shuffle money from where it's not needed to where it is) to meet increased demands for services due to the township's growth in homes, businesses and population.

That's part of the reason the board settled on four-year millages instead of eight or even the 12-year levels that were considered. It allows for quicker adjustment of millage rates—up or down—if and as the township's tax base and demand for services grow.

Predicting those trends is a difficult task.

"There are no guarantees," Township Finance Director Dwayne Harrigan said. "It's just as likely for expenditures to exceed growth and for growth to exceed expenditures."

All kinds of variables affect the equation: the national and state economy or the amount and type of development which comes to the township and others.

Added to that, of course, is politics—of both the philosophical and practical variety. Board members have said they are committed to keeping the tax burden in the township as low as possible. Mixed in as well is the very likely unpopularity of a request for more mills beyond what voters approve this year before the four-year millages expire.

On the other hand, of course, it could happen that demand far outstrips the level of services which the proposed millages could provide. The board could find itself facing a strong taxpayer request for a vote on additional mills to accommodate the growth.

To try and cover the possibility, the board has added a bit to the millage requests to account for expected growth over the next 48 months. Treasurer Rick Engelland said that the figures, based on past and present trends, should be enough to make it all the way.

"It's my feeling that if all the millages pass that there would be no additional requests in the future," Engelland said. "We as a board certainly hope this is enough. We don't want to go back to the people for more."

'50s Fest opens this week in Novi

Do you like Ike? Are you sorry the Cold War is over, even though we won?

Do you watch re-runs of The Lucy Show and pine for the good old days, when women were women and men had Cuban accents?

If you answered yes to any of the above, you probably already know that the seventh annual Michigan '50s Festival returns into town next week from July 27 to July 31.

Just in case you've been asleep for the last 40 years, we'll fill you in. The action is now at the Novi Expo Center.

The Family and Entertainment tents will be pitched in the Expo Center's parking lot, while the arts and crafts booths and commercial vendors will hunker down inside the building. Parking will be free, really.

The Entertainment Tent on July 30 at 8 p.m., be there or be square. The big name act this year is the Driftters, known for such locationally-specific hits as "Up On The Roof" and "On The Boardwalk," as well as "There Goes My Baby" and "This Magic Moment." Some original members carry on the act. The group had ten Top Ten hits and sold over 20 million records.

Of course, by then you'll likely have sore feet. That's because the Sock Hop will be held at the Family Tent on Friday, July 29. Bobbi Sox and the Greasers will play the tunes.

For adults only, the Entertainment Tent is where the beer flows after 7 p.m. The Hubcaps perform the hits of the 1950s on stage every night. On July 31 from noon to 4 p.m., rock and roll will make way for C & W. New Hudson resident Tracey Lynne will bring her band Heartland to center stage.

The five-day festival will cram in a wide range of activities, including a fireworks show at Twelve Oaks Mall, athletic events, the lip sync contests, a five kilometer run/walk, an ice cream social, children's activities like pony rides and putt-putt golf and plenty of food.

On July 31, take your little deuce coupe to the Novi Town Center parking lot for the festival's ever-popular car show, featuring 1,000 pre-1974 vehicles from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. A shuttle service will run between the Expo Center and the Town Center. The Classic Car Cruise will squeal its wheels that evening at 6 p.m. and won't come to a screeching halt until 9 p.m. The route remains Grand River Avenue and Meadowbrook Road.

The Michigan 50s Festival may be centered at the Novi Expo Center, but nearby West Oaks and West Oaks II shopping centers will be in on the action again this year. Most of the fun at the shopping center begins daily at 1 p.m. and runs through 4 p.m., from July 28-30.

Here's what's happening:

- The Kroger store will host the Oreo Cookie Man along with an Oreo Cookie stacking contest, as well as a hot dog wagon.
- WOMC-FM radio disc jockeys will spin tunes and distribute groovy giveaways. And on July 30, the station's Tom Ryan will host a 1950s trivia contest from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.
- "The Hits," a two-piece ensemble, will play the lively tunes of the 1950s.
- Someone will be sending in the clowns, as Scooter, Razzles, Peaches, Diddy, Popcorn, Chloe and others will paint faces, entertain and create balloon sculptures.
- Caricature artists will be doing their thing.

NHS officials are hoping that activities will draw students

books for a while in fall, the committee will assess the activities and determine whether any changes need to be made.

"We will assess how it is going and then see what we can add," Woolfall said. "But first we will need to see how many kids are going to come and how many are going to stay in bed."

The school is looking to hire a number of substitute teachers to work in the classrooms Johnson said, and has begun posting for the positions.

With the presence of the substitute teachers, a safe and orderly environment will be maintained, Johnson said, however, he stresses that the high school is not responsible for students during this time and if they want to leave, they can.

Even though the activities are not mandatory, Johnson is hopeful that a large percent of the student body will attend.

"It's anybody's guess how many students we'll get," Johnson said. "I expect a large majority of the students will take advantage of the opportunities."

Students who are not in walking distance from the high school will be bused.

Assistant Superintendent David Bolitho said most students will need to walk to the closest elementary school, where they will be bused from there.

For students in the remotest corners of the Northville School District, Bolitho said they will be able to pick up a bus at stops situated on major roads, in areas to be designated before school begins.

Regular busing will resume later to transport students to school at 10:40 a.m. when they will attend a full schedule of shortened classes.

Johnson said he will be writing letters to each student's household to inform parents about the shortened school day.

Classes begin Aug. 30, which is a half-day, however, Wednesday morning activities will not begin until Sept. 7.

The Wednesday morning sessions were approved by the Board of Education in February 1994 and will provide a two-hour weekly planning session for teachers to collaborate on ideas for creative teaching methods and programs.

Bob Harris of the Michigan Department of Education said Northville is not alone in embarking on the colligal planning sessions.

"This is an idea that has been used more and more throughout the country in recent years," he said, adding that usually the planning sessions result in success.

In the past, parents have expressed concern about their children losing some 87 hours in classroom time and have expressed a need for the school to offer enriching options.

Trustees come out cool on consolidation

conclusions of the report. For example, she said, the city's millage rate would drop from its current 12.99 mills to 6.58 mills if consolidation occurred. The township's rate of 4-odd mills this year would rise to the 6.58 figure, she added.

The township's $30 million debt for construction of the Western Townships Utilities Authority (WTUA) sewer system presents another problem, Hillebrand said. Another stumbling block is that the city's infrastructure is much older than the township's, she added, and will have to be replaced much sooner.

She also said that she was uncomfortable with the fact that the board had not yet discussed the issue in formal session, Hillebrand said.

"I see no benefit to township taxpayers," Hillebrand said. "I don't favor spending further time or money on something that does not benefit the township in any way, shape or form."

"I don't think merger talks have much of a future," Treasurer Rick Engelland said in partial agreement. "[However] there's a lot of little things that could come out of this that could be good."

Continuing the consolidation talks for a time, Engelland said, could show the city and township how to combine certain services—as they do now—with a net cost and red tape savings to both.

"I see no benefit of this to the people who put me into office," Trustee Gini Britton said. "I think we should attend as a courtesy to the city, but I don't see a lot of chances to convince me."

Talks could stimulate more joint service exploration, Britton said. Those could foster "a longer engagement period" between the township and the city that might one day make consolidation seem more sensible.

Other members of the board said they hadn't come to a conclusion about the issue yet and wanted to discuss it further.

Trustee Mark Abbo said he was in that boat. It just might be, he said, that the issue of road control could make consolidation worthwhile. While township taxes would rise, Abbo said, taxpayers would gain much more control over their roads, which are now owned by Wayne County.

"Some residents may want to trade higher mills for that," he said.

"I don't want to close the door on anything that may benefit Northville Township in the long term," Trustee Russ Fogg said. He said he wanted to review all consolidation information before making a final decision.

Supervisor Karen Baja strongly supported holding the Aug. 9 meeting to discuss the report.

"That's what this meeting (on Aug. 9) is for," Supervisor Karen Baja said. "We've already paid for the report."

Baja also said she wanted to see the consolidation idea go to the voters. Officials have discussed the idea of a non-binding referendum this November to get the people's input. Britton, however, said that state law might be an obstacle to that.

"It only takes five percent of the joint township voters to petition to put it on the ballot," Baja said. "We made a promise to let the people decide this. I would like to see it go forward and be voted on."

Fireworks are part of mall's '50s Fest of fun

If you somehow missed this year's Fourth of July fireworks, or if you're still craving more, stop by Twelve Oaks at dusk on Saturday, July 30.

You'll find great balls of fire and a whole lot of shakin' going on in a spectacular fireworks salute to the seventh annual '50s Festival in Novi.

"So many people love fireworks, but I don't think they realize that they can still see a fabulous fireworks show after July 4," said Elaine Kah, Twelve Oaks marketing director. "Our annual spectacular is the only fireworks display all year in Novi. It's also one of the best in the entire area."

The free show includes all magnesium-colored, custom-made fireworks from Sunset Limited in St. Louis. Each will be individually fired, with many of them more than twice the size most shows use, according to Chuck Tenge, nationally recognized fireworks consultant who is planning the show.

"There is no fireworks show of comparable color or effect in the whole State of Michigan," Tenge said. "No two fireworks are alike, and the magnesium colors are brilliant."

The best view of the fireworks will be from Twelve Oaks' southeast parking lot near Lord & Taylor.

"They're shot across a little lake in a wooded stretch," Kah said. "There's a grassy section for those who want to spread blankets or lawn chairs, and there's also a handicapped-accessible area."

Novi's '50s Festival, which runs from Wednesday, July 27, through Sunday, July 31, is the largest of its kind in Michigan. It provides five days of family entertainment from live rock 'n' roll and children's entertainment to vintage cars and street rods. This year, for the first time, the festival has moved from the Novi Town Center to the Novi Expo Center.

"The fireworks are the highlight of the entire festival," Kah said. "People tell us they wait all year for them, and cars all up and down I-96 pull over to watch."

Twelve Oaks Mall is located at Twelve Mile and Novi roads.

Antique store's opening on Eight Mile

By JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writer

For those who enjoy seeking out rare and ancient relics, a new antique store has opened on Eight Mile Road.

Now, you can not only recover treasures from 100 years ago in Northville, but step back into time to select them as well. The Barn Antiques on Eight Mile Road, which opened July 15, is in an actual 65-year-old barn made from wood salvaged from an 1850s Northville hotel and saloon.

Judy and Russell Elvy purchased the former Meyer Berry Farm just over three years ago, with the goal of opening a bed and breakfast. They've since become members of Novi's Historic District Study Committee, which is researching Novi's most significant older properties.

Opening the antique store, Judy Elvy, an antiques collector for 25 years, says is "a dream come true."

Over 20 dealers—some from areas well-known for their antique stores, such as Romeo, Plymouth and Tecumseh—have rented space in the vast two-story barn. None of the dealers are from Novi, although two hail from Northville.

"We have a good group of people. Their goods are quality. They've been in the business a long time and know their stuff," Elvy said.

The Elvys tracked down the dealers through newspaper advertisements and word-of-mouth. The ads for dealers also brought in eager would-be customers, proving to Elvy that the market for antiques is out there.

"The very first day we put an ad in the paper we had the general public calling us," she said.

What they'll find, besides a full line of antiques including furniture, glass, china and lots of country primitives, is a setting equally old-fashioned. The Elvys live in a historic farm complex which includes along with the barn, their 1830s-era home, a fieldstone milk house, a guest house, two stable and a two car garage. Elvy says the house has a basement made of logs with the bark still on them, possibly remnants of the homestead's original 1820s log cabin.

The couple still plans to eventually open a bed and breakfast in their home. Elvy says the antique store will help raise the funds to open the second business.

Turning a barn into store or a house into a small hotel is more than business, though. Elvy says it's a way to preserve old buildings that might otherwise not be financially viable and could therefore be at risk of destruction.

"We wanted to get the property to help pay for itself," she explains.

"It was a major way to preserve a historical structure. For people who own historic houses with outbuildings that are dilapidated, allowing something like this to happen is a means to help upgrade and restore a building and make it cost effective for you."

Barns in particular seem to be easy prey when the bulldozers of development rev up their engines. But the Elvys realized this one was special.

The couple had a new floor, windows, walls and insulation installed in the barn, while still allowing its rustic character to shine through. The structure is made of wood recycled from a Northville hotel which was destroyed by fire; the older beams are hand-hewn and the newer rough-sawn. A number of the beams are blackened from the decades-old fire.

The lumber was once the Ambler Park House Hotel, which stood at the southwest corner of Main and Center streets in downtown Northville. In 1858, William Ambler built what local historian Jack Hoffman described as the first balloon frame building in this part of the country. At the time, Hoffman wrote in "Northville, the First 100 Years," everyone predicted the hotel would collapse. Instead, it became the headquarters for the stage routes from Northville to Detroit.

The business changed hands several times before the fire. After the disaster, the hotel owner offered the lumber to anyone who wanted it. And so it became a barn.

The barn, when it was part of the Meyer Berry Farm, housed an antique store for about 25 years, Elvy said. That closed about six to seven years ago. Both Elvy and her husband have experience in the retail field; she worked at the former Grandma Betty's Sweet Treats in Northville.

They've also accumulated a number of antiques for sale at the shop. The prize may be the large spinning wheel which came from the former Whipple farm at Five Mile and Haggerty Road.

Hours at the Antique Barn are Tuesday to Friday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday to 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sunday, 12 to 5 p.m. The store is one-quarter mile west of Beck Road at 48120 West Eight Mile Road.

The New Life Center at Providence Park

Where families are born...close to home

A COMFORTABLE ATMOSPHERE
Imagine giving birth in a comfortable, home-like atmosphere where you make many of the decisions about your birth experience. And then, think about being able to go home within 24 hours after your baby is born. Well, the New Life Center at Providence Park in Novi offers all that, and it's just minutes from home.

A UNIQUE APPROACH
It's a new beginning. A new way of thinking. And an alternative to traditional hospital births*. The New Life Center at Providence Park was born from the success of the New Life Center at Providence Hospital, where for generations, thousands of women have had wonderful, nurturing, family-centered birth experiences.

THE CHOICES ARE MANY
From the moment you choose to have your baby with us, many decisions are yours. You may choose to go natural or to have an epidural. You may also prefer to share the event with your loved ones. But the best part is giving birth in a relaxed, home-like atmosphere and having your baby by your side. What's more, a nurse will come to your home for private, follow-up visits. Because that's the kind of extra care, attention and education people expect from Providence.

Our Opinion

Vote 'yes' on all three enrichment proposals

Government exists for a reason, as do taxes. They both are supposed to provide certain services that citizens need and want but can't afford individually. The problem with many people in politics nowadays, however, is their Pacific-Ocean-broad definition of what's needed and wanted.

What folks desire and require gets twisted to secure re-election or to wrench yet more power for the politicians from the people. Fortunately, however, that's not the case in Northville Township's Aug. 2 millage election. The board of trustees has placed five separate ballot questions on the ballot. All the requests are for modest amounts of money and for simple, sound purposes.

All of the township's millages are up this year. Proposals A and B on the Aug. 2 ballot call for dedicated millages to provide residents with the excellent level of police, fire and shared services they now enjoy. Last week we urged township citizens to cast their votes for A and B.

We now recommend they do the same for the remaining ballot questions, the three so-called "enrichment millages." Proposals C, D, and E, however, are not about enriching government at the taxpayers' expense. (If they were, we'd let loose with both barrels). The three proposals aim at enriching the quality of life of the township by providing specific things at a relatively small cost.

First, it's important to note something. All five requests are for four-year, dedicated millages. The board cannot levy them after 1996 without voters agreeing again. It cannot by law divert the money the millages would raise for any purpose other than the one specified in the election. These safeguards, as well as the fact that the requests are for limited amounts of money, create a strong leash on the way the board can spend taxpayer dollars.

Proposal C calls for .50 mil a year for land acquisition for open spaces and parks. Right now, that would generate about $270,000 a year. The board would use the money to buy property, either to preserve in its natural state or as sites for parks; either way, the land would be for public use and enjoyment. At around $35,000 an acre for undeveloped land around here, the board could buy about eight acres a year.

This proposal represents smart forward thinking. The township has a ways to go yet in its development. Passing proposal C means that the board can ensure that township citizens have the recreation options they want. Many communities near full development didn't plan for that as they grew. They're paying the price today. Public recreation acres are few and far between and more can't be found. The few parcels which haven't yet been developed go for sky-high prices now that buildout is near. For Northville Township, it's buy now or wish later.

Proposal D: .25 mil a year for capital outlay—enough to generate about $140,000. The board would use the cash for whatever capital improvement projects it deems necessary. That could include everything from replacing Township Hall's leaky roof to computers to kicking in for a new local bike path.

This proposal has the most wiggle room of the five because the board has some leeway in defining what it's to be spent on. It's a lot less room, however, than the completely discretionary general fund millages of years past which paid for such capital costs. The situation can't be helped. Periodically, you have to fix what's broke but you can't set your list in stone for four years. You have to keep reviewing things to decide just what needs doing and when. Proposal D is a smart move, as is keeping a weather eye on how the board spends the money.

Finally, Proposal E calls for .08 mil a year to treat all secondary public dirt roads in the township. The .08 mil will generate about $44,000 a year—enough for two treatments.

Wayne County owns the roads. It taxes township residents to treat them with calcium chloride to keep down the dust which traffic kicks up. What the county does not do, however, is actually treat the roads. That sentences many dirt road residents—especially those who live on streets recently opened to through traffic—to a flood of dust.

This is not just a bit of dust ruining the new wash job on your car. Areas of the township have serious problems. A high volume of cars and trucks, a good number of them speeding, are creating potential health and safety problems as well as lessening folks' quality of life.

In past years, past boards approved a slice of the township's own budget to pay for treating the roads—effectively double-dipping the taxpayer. This crop of trustees ended the treatments for that reason and want the voters to decide the issue.

This is the only ballot question about which we're a little reserved. The other four benefit all residents. Proposal E, on the other hand, asks everyone to pay to fix the problems of a relative few. Less than 25 percent of the township's population lives on unpaved roads. We don't think that paved road residents are obligated to pay to treat roads they don't own, don't normally use and are already being taxed to maintain. Ordinarily, we'd suggest a special assessment district: let the folks living on dirt roads pay to have them sprayed.

This case is different, however. Spread among all township taxpayers, the treatments would cost the average homeowner around $10 a year. A special assessment district just for dirt road residents would require each family there to ante up a lot more than that. Some of them just can't afford it.

Normally, we wouldn't favor taxing folks for services they don't directly benefit from. However, here it's different. Township taxpayers are being asked to help out their neighbors, not being required to by government mandate. Those neighbors can really use the help and the price is reasonable. While we can understand how some people might not support Proposal E (we all have our own problems to solve and bills to pay), we urge voters to cast their ballots for it.

The five ballot questions are controlled, specific, financially modest and represent the simple and smart way to an improved quality of life in Northville Township. We urge voters to say yes to all of them.

No matter which way you vote, however, be sure to vote. We often trumpet our right to do it. It's essential that we don't forget our responsibility to do it either.

High-tech era about to dawn

Lee Snider

The stream of consciousness of an absentee editor who's miles away (seven to be exact) on a glorious mid-summer vacation.

The Macs are coming, the Macs are coming!

All right, so it won't earn a place in the history books alongside that bit about the invading British, but to us here at the office it's a major piece of good news.

In only a few short weeks now we'll take a quantum leap into the 20th century (just as it's about the end) with a brand new high-tech, fancy-schmancy, state-of-the-art, fly-me-to-the-moon computer system. The upgrade is happening companywide and, in fact, our counterparts at our sister publications have already made the conversion. It becomes our turn early next month.

Irrepressible company techies will uproot our dreary Edsel machines and replace them with sparkling late-model Apples. I can hardly wait. From now on, we'll be able to do our work on computers that don't have foot pedals.

Corporate honchos thought about selling the old terminals at a second-hand shop but decided against it. They couldn't find anyone interested in anything that predates the cotton gin.

Our readers should notice little immediate change in our product, though down the road we hope to use our greater graphics capability to jazz up the appearance of the paper a little.

The thing that's got me in a constant state of ecstasy is that the new machines come complete with spel chick, I mean spell check. That's right, software that will relieve me of the burden of having to remember those tedious spelling rules, like: "i" before "e" except after "c" (or is it the other way around?).

Attentive readers and our resident grammar police (anonymous linguistic sticklers who send us corrections through the mail) know only too well that the sublimity of the Record is sometimes marred by a typographical goof. Spell check won't solve all our problems, but it sure will help.

I'll still have to make sure we don't write "plague" when we mean "plaque," but this new feature will at least keep me from forgetting the silent "e" in some words (like in gaffe, for instance, which I committed once when I spelled it "gaff").

Hail the arrival of the PCs from heaven.

Nice journalists finish . . .

We were nice enough to respect the wishes of ex-veep Dan Quayle last week who didn't want to field questions from the press when he came to Borders Novi to sign copies of his book.

Someone from Borders told us Quayle's advance people were allowing cameras but no reporters near their guy, so we sent photographer Bryan Mitchell but didn't assign a writer.

What happened? We got burned.

Other publications and the Detroit TV hounds converged on the store and got gobs of quotes from the former Hillary wanna be. We, on the other hand, got only pictures.

The maddening incident serves as a reminder that this is an aggressive business that won't tolerate attempts at politeness. We want to pay heed to frequent complaints about the insensitivity of reporters, but professional embarrassment is often the price we pay for trying to be cooperative.

Lee Snider is editor of The Northville Record.

Open lakes, set speed limits

Tim Richard

By now, state Sens. Mat Dunaskiss, David Honigman and Chris Dingell know what should be done.

The question is whether they'll admit it and do it.

Those three worthies make up a Senate subcommittee investigating (beating up on) the Department of Natural Resources' plan to acquire public boat launch sites on inland lakes. Republicans Dunaskiss and Honigman are under special pressure: They hail from Oakland County, where lots of politically sophisticated and well-to-do lakefront property owners pressure them to exclude the great unwashed public.

The theory is that the lakes are "crowded." The notion is childish.

"Crowded" is a function of two things: the number of units and the speed at which they are traveling.

Consider your favorite Main Street or shopping mall at 11 a.m. on Saturday. Count the number of people. They are traveling at walking speed, rarely more than 3 mph. No one bumps into anyone else.

Now in your mind's eye, put the same number of people into cars traveling 50 mph in the same space. Chaos. A massive smashup with many casualties.

Dozens or hundreds of boats will fit onto a lake when the boats are propelled by oars and paddles. But let a few guys roar around in 100-hp craft, throw in a few jet-skis buzzing the swimming areas and mucking up the fish spawning grounds, and you have a "crowd."

The lakefront owners' solution is to exclude all boats except theirs—and of course their brothers' and cousins' and bosses' which are docked at their lots.

Well, Dunaskiss, Honigman and Dingell now know better. Replying to Honigman's question, a DNR official said townships can:

- Impose speed limits.
- Set shared-time rules—e.g., allow water skiing from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.
- Establish "no wake" zones—to control erosion, allow anglers to fish and let kids swim in peace.

The harsh truth is that most townships lack the gumption to use those tools. Even where there aren't DNR access sites for the grubby public, townships won't use those tools.

We are witnessing a massive, statewide failure of local government—mainly at the township level.

Instead, they attempt the ridiculous: pass zoning ordinances prohibiting public launches in "residential" areas, then declare the DNR is violating their ordinance.

In reality, a township is a creature of the state. It can't exclude its parent, any more than a bratty 5-year-old can evict mom and dad.

And when greedy riparian (lakefront and riverfront) owners next to road ends use wood piles to illegally block these entrances from their back-lot neighbors, where are the township supervisors?

Honigman once wrote a scholarly essay about such local governmental actions that he should re-read.

In actuality, the DNR is far from converting every inland lake into a Dodge-em ride. In five years, the DNR has purchased just 15 sites—three a year. Instead of halting acquisitions, the DNR should spread the load by acquiring access to every lake over a certain size.

Tim Richard reports on the local implications of state and regional events. His Touch-Tone voice mailbox number is (313) 953-2047, Ext. 1880.

Record parade editorial's off base

To the editor:
I didn't think much of your July 7 Opinion page article "Parade was fine event, despite (a) few nuisances" and, frankly, I don't think you gave your position much thought either.

"Another Independence Day parade is history..." you began, but then I think perhaps you just stopped thinking—or remembering your history lessons.

Traditionally, the 4th of July—Independence Day—is a celebration of a keystone event in American history. On the 4th we celebrate that we have written documents—the Constitution and the Bill of Rights—which order our lives and provide a roadmap for the regulation of the affairs and encounters between Americans.

On the 4th of July we do not celebrate that we are having a parade or floats or marching bands; rather we utilize parades and floats and marching bands to celebrate that we have the two written documents. In my opinion you have clearly got "the cart before the horse."

For example, you complain that "the parade was marred by tacky informational picketing by Edenderry Woods residents." From your own news pages we are told that these families are in reasonable jeopardy of soon losing the tranquility, safety, and property values that caused them to choose this small residential section of the Northville community for their homes.

Under many other form of government you might reasonably expect them to fight on barricades or abandon their homes and flee. With the Constitution and the Bill of Rights to back them up, they know that their protests and list of grievances can be heard, peacefully, in a court.

Through the intricacies of what has come to be known as "the law," they have the right to freely and openly speak their concerns on this issue and they have the right of "peaceable assembly."

If you are suggesting that their "tacky" presence and demeanor was such that they should have been arrested and carted away—then why don't you just come right out and say that? Since I didn't see mention of their arrest in your police blotter section I conclude their behavior was not really that bad; I assume they only peacefully assembled and openly spoke.

Further in your article you bemoaned "... the preponderance of political candidates marching in the parade."

Did you somehow miss the entire point of those history lessons in school where they discussed (or at least read aloud) the events that commenced in 1776? It wasn't about tea and not even directly about taxes. Nor was it directly about the Quartering Act or a dozen other significant rallying point events.

The singular solidifying issue was that those Americans no longer agreed to be ruled by appointees or office purchasers. They would agree to be governed, but only by individuals they themselves had chosen. And those individuals would have to periodically stand for re-election.

If nothing else, the 4th is the pre-dominant birth date when Americans should celebrate their ability to elect their own leaders; freely with all willing candidates offering their services and unique points of view and all willing voters indicating their preference with the security of the non-reprisal secret ballot.

It might perhaps not hurt to recall to your attention that for the larger portion of the internal history of this country the 4th was traditionally a date when oratory between candidates and public discussion of current issues was not only the order of the day but the eagerly anticipated essence of the day's celebration.

But, of course, this was before the invention of the "frisbee toss" and "clowns, clowns, clowns" making for "... an enjoyable day and a fitting way to celebrate the anniversary of the nation's birth."

"To our way of thinking," you say in your article, "(only) local dignitaries and (already) elected representatives" have "earn(ed) their place in (our Northville) parade."

Nonsense!
Today you are calling for the suppression of all potential future office-holders in favor of only those who are already in office. The inevitable result tomorrow of such a system is the ultimate elimination of the ability to contend for elected office, followed soon after by the elimination of the entire free-election process. Surely you don't mean that.

By your suggestion, you will have us back to a king or, at best, an enlightened despot. At worst—pull out and wipe off the gathered dust from your old history books.

You have stated on your "Opinion" page that it is the position of the Northville Record that potential public office seekers use only the mails and the news media (assumably including the Northville Record) "to get out their self-serving messages."

Does this "Opinion" constitute a commitment by The Record to henceforth unbiasedly and fully cover all the candidates and their positions on all of the issues or is this simply a suggestion that more paid advertising space should be taken in your newspaper?

You have obviously taken the position that the peaceful appearance of the issue-related Edenderry residents and the participation of non-incumbent political candidates are both shamefully inappropriate in an American 4th of July-celebration-parade.

I tend to offer the argument that these two groups may actually be the groups most appropriately present.

You may add at your discretion that not only did I participate in the recent parade with a float on behalf of a current non-incumbent judicial candidate (who is also a long-standing personal friend), I have also informed all other candidates for that office that they are invited to place signs of their candidacy on my Northville CBD business property.

It is my feeling that there is substantial value in thus reminding the Northville residents that an election is forthcoming and that there are numerous contenders for the position, each, assumably, representing a different point of view. Hopefully, better informed and more votes will result. Let the voters then decide. From that we will all benefit.

Environment attacks go on

To the editor:
The assault on the people and their Great Lakes environment continues. Consumers Power Co. has resumed loading of high level nuclear waste into concrete casks that have not been fully field tested 150 yards from the shore of Lake Michigan at the Pallsades site.

The warnings to Consumers Power Co. have come from many sides if they cared to listen and act with prudence.

The Army Corps of Engineers in recent years completed an indepth study of the shoreline of all of the Great Lakes at the request of the International Joint Commission. The Corps designated the southwest shoreline of Michigan as a high risk erosion area, stating, "Erosion and bluff recession will continue, regardless of lake level controls or structural shore protection measures."

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has designated this a high risk erosion area. Independent consultants commissioned by the Michigan Low Level Radioactive Waste Authority to study every reactor site in the state as a potential low-level radioactive waste facility concluded none of them, including the Pallsades site, was suitable. The study states, "The areas do not meet key exclusionary criteria...such as areas of intense geologic processes such as mass wasting, erosion and...areas with high values of soil permeability."

Months ago, the Administrator for Region 5 of the Environmental Protection Agency wrote: "We believe the potential for significant adverse impact to...Lake Michigan...is real and was not fully assessed in the generic environmental assessment prepared for the dry cask storage process."

This spring the NRC decided to hire two consultants to review the site. This decision was made a year after the Commission had licensed the casks, two casks were already loaded, and a law suit against the NRC was in process which challenged the lack of a public hearing and an environmental impact statement at Pallsades. The consultants studied the potential for earthquakes for a month and pronounced the site safe. However, the previous indepth studies did not attribute the instability of the dunes area to earthquake potential at all, but emphasized that these were massive land formations that were in an almost constant state of dynamic change, due to wind action, wave erosion, lake level and round water changes.

In the face of all these facts, Consumers Power Co.'s action must be seen as not only misguided, but arrogant, and indifferent to the public. But it is the ratepaying public that will be asked to pay for this assault on the Great Lakes. Let your elected officials know that you do not think the ratepayers should be asked to pay for poor management decisions on the part of utilities who have no regard for the public interest.

Justice has to serve all of us

To the editor:
The concern that hundreds of you have expressed over securing educational opportunity for your children continues to be a legitimate concern. You have examined the facts at the state, county, and local level and have found that Northville has chosen to use state grant funds for gifted and talented (G-T) children in a way that creates opportunities for a few when many others could be benefited. There is no language in the state grant guidelines that limits the use of grant funds in this manner. Northville has consciously selected this exclusionary model. Northville "owns" this product. Each child in Northville must be prepared for the Twenty-First Century. The opportunity for advanced and critical thinking should not be viewed as a unique ability of "identified" students, as some district educators have said, but an essential skill for all children. As responsible parents you have requested that other educational models be examined. Bloomfield Hills, Farmington Hills, Birmingham, and Novi, districts with similar demographics and parent expectations, have chosen models that use state G-T funds in a manner that benefits a broader range of teachers and children. It is clear that they are meeting the unique needs of each of their students while avoiding a system of "haves" and "have-nots." The terms of the state grant are NOT exclusionary, as has been stated in the Northville Record. These districts are proof of this fact. Northville, too, should be able to explode the opportunity for all children without risking any one child.

While you might forgive the editors of the Northville Record for not being able to grasp the complexity of this issue, you are right to hold your children's educators accountable. Nationally, educational theorists and researchers express your concerns in professional forums and journals. Your views are supported by research and reason. While you may not be able to match the district in its ability to generate propaganda, move away from that arena and into more legitimate processes within your schools. You should expect that a difference can be made through school improvement teams, district committees, and through the school board. We will wait to see how democracy works. Justice must serve all citizens not just a select few.

Good luck to Edenderry!

To the editor:
Many of us here in Park Gardens are watching the Edenderry road issue very closely. The Edenderry situation is very similar to what happened here in Park Gardens several years ago. We bought our home in a quiet, rural neighborhood with dead end gravel roads, in the hope of raising a family in a safe and peaceful area. Contrary to prior statements made to Park Gardens residents by Township officials, our roads were made through streets connecting to the adjacent subdivision. During the construction of the subdivision, repeated assurance by the builder, contracted pavers, and the Township was given to us that our roads would remain closed.

We strongly support the Edenderry homeowners in their efforts to maintain their safe neighborhood. We hope your luck is better than ours has been!

Suburban politics to slant primary

Phil Power

Facing an Aug. 2 election date, Michigan's most crowded and complex primary elections since 1918 are beginning to build up some steam.

Voters will select both Democratic and Republican nominees for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by retiring Sen. Don Riegle. Democrats will nominate a candidate to run against incumbent Gov. John Engler.

Whether it's Spencer Abraham or Ronna Romney, whether it's Bill Brodhead or Bob Carr or Joel Ferguson or John Kelly or Lana Pollack, whether it's Lynn Jondahl or Larry Owen or Debbie Stabenow or Howard Wolpe—all of them are facing one fundamental electoral fact this year: the suburbanization of Michigan politics.

More Michiganans live in the suburbs—today nearly 40 percent, and still growing—than in the state's central cities, small town or rural areas.

Suburban growth has been explosive, more than doubling since 1950 when only 16 percent lived in suburban residence.

Driving part of this growth has been the enormous out-migration from Detroit. Over 35 years, close to 1 million people have left Detroit, one of the largest voluntary population movements in human history.

But it is not unique. Throughout Michigan, a dominant demographic and political fact is the decline in center cities, whether Detroit or Flint, Lansing or Grand Rapids.

In 1960, the 11 largest cities in Michigan cast 35 percent of the vote for governor, in 1990 they represented 16 percent. In Ingham County, for example, the votes coming from Lansing dropped from 57 percent in 1960 to 40 percent in 1990.

Indeed, according to Public Sector Consultants, "it is conceivable that by the end of the decade people in Oakland County will cast more votes than all the residents of our largest 11 traditional cities."

Smart politicians will easily read conclusions from these numbers: appeal to the suburbanites.

How? It's easy. Talk taxes. The single word that most clearly defines suburban political attitudes is taxpayer. Suburban household income is more than 50 percent more than central city households and 2 percent more than rural households. While barely a majority of central city families live in homes they own, nearly 75 percent do in the suburbs.

Suburbanites get hit more by both income and property taxes than other Michiganians. A November 1992 poll by Public Sector Reports found that "compared to central city residents, nearly twice as many suburbanites identified taxation as the most important problem facing the federal government."

The other defining tendency of those who live in the suburbs is that they have chosen not to live in the center city. This means they are trying to avoid crime, deteriorating neighborhoods and economic malaise.

Therefore a candidate attempting to appeal to the suburban voter will talk tough on crime, emphasize stable and healthy neighborhoods and try to put forth a plan for jobs and economic development.

None of this is rocket science. But it will help you get a sense of the underlying base of fact that drives nearly all of the television ads that will be infesting the airways for the next two weeks.

(Editor's note: Much of the data in this column was presented in the June 17 issue of "Public Policy Advisor," published by Public Sector Consultants.)

SEMCOG says seven county region population is growing and growing

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

The region's population is rising and falling at the same time. How can that be?

On one hand, births outnumber deaths. On the other, more people are moving out than moving in.

On balance, the seven-county region is seeing "the largest, sustained population increase the region has experienced since the 1970s"—70,000 persons, 1.5 percent, in the three years and three months between the official census date of April 1, 1990, and July 1, 1993.

So says the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG), which last week released its estimate of population and housing units for Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Livingston, Washtenaw, Monroe and St. Clair counties.

But that 1.5 percent growth rate still "remains below the U.S. (3.7 percent) and those of nearby states such as Ohio (2.2) and Indiana (3.0)," said SEMCOG. It means the region can expect to lose more seats in Congress and the Michigan Legislature if the trend continues.

Numerically, Oakland was the biggest gainer—50,400 of the 70,000 increase occurred there, mainly due to single-family housing growth.

Oakland bucked another trend as its average household size rose from 2.61 to 2.62. "No other county's household size is increasing," said SEMCOG. "Both regionally and nationally, household size has been declining steadily for decades."

Percentage-wise, Livingston County grew most—8.5 percent to 125,000.

Wayne was the only county to lose population—more than 21,500 or 1 percent, to a final tally of 2.09 million.

Detroit topped one million with only 6,000 to spare. If, as expected, the central city drops below the magic million number in the 2000 census, it will lose many legal perks, including auditing its own books.

Population gainers among western Oakland County cities and townships in the HomeTown area were: Novi City and Township—up 19.7 percent to 39,663; housing units up 20.1 percent to 15,310; household size down from 2.58 to 2.57.

Walled Lake—up 2.7 percent to 6,446; housing units up 2.7 percent to 2,868; household size steady at 2.25.

Wyom—up 13.5 percent to 9,705; housing units to 11.5 percent to 4,588; household size up from 2.07 to 2.11. In general, areas seeing the biggest population growth were north of the South Boulevard-Cooley Lake Road line and west of Haggerty Road.

Lyon Township—up 8.8 percent to 9,608; housing units up 7.9 percent to 3,230; household size up from 2.95 to 2.97.

Milford Village—up 9.6 percent to 6,028; housing units up 10.3 percent to 2,198; household size down from 2.75 to 2.73.

Milford Township—up 10.5 percent to 7,322; housing units up 9.9 percent to 2,408; household size up from 2.97 to 2.99.

South Lyon—up 10.9 percent to 7,188; housing units up 10.9 percent to 2,971; household size steady at 2.39.

Core curriculum changes could spark a big fight

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Michigan public schools are undergoing "a quiet but irreversible intellectual revolution" in their curriculum, according to a State Board of Education document.

But the fight may get noisy when the report, called "Core Curriculum Content Standards," is submitted to public hearings late this summer.

"It's magnificent work. It exceeds that done in every other state in the nation," said Dr. Robert E. Schiller, a centrist who is state superintendent of public instruction. Most board members agreed.

Two of the eight, however, say they're bothered by some departures from tradition. "Too much touchy-feely stuff," said board member Marilyn Lundy, R-Detroit, an advocate of Latin and parsing of sentences.

Under one of the Proposal A laws passed last Christmas Eve by the Legislature, the State Board is to update its core curriculum standards in reading, math, science, and such social sciences as history, geography, economics, American government and writing.

Thursday the board "accepted" the report, written by consultants and university professors. In August it's due to vote and send it out for yet-to-be-scheduled public hearings.

"I thought there might be room for devilry in the economics area," said member Gary L. Wolfram, R-Hillsdale, a libertarian market-economics guru for the Engler administration. Instead he was highly pleased.

But Wolfram raised an eyebrow at the reading standards. "There is no mention of the classics—what T.S. Eliot called the eternal... There's nothing about spelling. There's nothing about grammar. You might expect to see something about diagramming sentences."

"Look at standard 7: 'explore, identify and use themes.' What the heck does that mean? 'Look at the second standard—Know language patterns in the mall.'"

Referring to student essays, Wolfram, a Hillsdale College professor, said, "If a word is misspelled in every sentence, it disturbs the reader's train of thought."

"I think understanding is more important than diagramming a sentence," replied board co-president Annetta Miller, D-Huntington Woods. "I'm concerned you're pushing us back to the 19th Century instead of forward to the 21st."

Referring to stories by her elementary-grade grandchildren, Miller said, "Children should be encouraged to write everything so they will feel comfortable with the language. They will learn, as they go along, to spell the words they're now sounding out. I don't want them to be inhibited."

Board treasurer Dorothy Beardmore, R-Rochester, praised the report but feared it failed to address two problems she encounters in letters to newspapers and talk radio: (1) "Where are the basics—reading, writing, addition, subtraction? They're not here in words of one syllable." (2)

Local girl pursues dream

By MICHELLE HARRISON
Staff Writer

A few years ago, teen beauty queen Melissa Jackson was more interested in getting a home run than putting on makeup.

"I was a tomboy when I was little," the 5-foot-9, tanned Jackson said. "I had short hair and I was playing softball. I wasn't into all that (beauty) stuff. Things change, I guess."

And they have. Today, the 17-year-old Walled Lake Western High School senior is the reigning Miss Teen North America and recently crowned Miss Teen Michigan. Having recently signed with two New York modeling agencies—Ford and Wilhelmina—Jackson will embark upon a full-time modeling career after graduation next year.

But for now, Jackson is preparing for the most important pageant of her life—Miss Teen U.S.A. She has little more than a week before the 17-day competition begins Aug. 1 in Biloxi, Miss.

"I'm not nervous right now, but I will be the week before (the pageant)," she said last week. "You have to be confident, but you can't be overconfident."

It's been a long road for the Wixom teen. She won her first pageant on her 13th birthday, after entering the STARS competition half-willingly.

"STARS stands for Striving Toward Achievement, Recognition and Success," Jackson explained. "I'm a dancer and I was at a dance competition when a judge there told me I should enter. I thought, 'yeah, right, I'm not going to enter a pageant.'"

But she did, and ended up not only winning the Michigan title, but taking home national honors, too.

Her most recent pageant, the Miss Teen Michigan competition held earlier this month, has brought Jackson one step closer to becoming Miss Teen U.S.A.

"I'm halfway to a dream," she said. "I'm almost there. I know you have to work hard to get to the top."

The state pageant helped prepare Jackson for what's in store at the national level—even gown and swimsuit competitions, interviews with judges and answering impromptu questions on stage.

"I'm halfway to a dream," says Melissa Jackson of her upcoming competition in the Miss Teen U.S.A. pageant.

It was nerve-racking, waiting for her name to be called as finalists were named not once, but twice, in the competition held in Ypsilanti.

"You had to wait for all the girls to walk down the runway and get their flowers (before another finalist was named)," Jackson said.

But Jackson remained patient. She said she answered truthfully when asked questions by the judges. They asked her for her views on racial diversity, and why she would be qualified to serve as Miss Teen Michigan.

She smiled as she walked around the stage in a swimsuit and evening gown. She even laughed at herself when she walked off the stage when she wasn't supposed to.

Too bad she doesn't remember the finale of the pageant.

"I don't even remember them calling my name," she said. "I remember them calling my number and I could hear my friends screaming."

Donald Miner

No hazard in serving on chemical appeals board

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

"We're like a Supreme Court," is the way Donald Miner described the Novi Hazardous Chemicals Appeal Board, on which he, three other men, and a woman are members—each knowledgeable on the subject of chemicals.

In 1988 the Novi City Council passed the Hazardous Chemicals Ordinance to regulate the use, storage, disposal of hazardous and toxic chemicals within the city limits.

The fire chief and his department were given authority to inspect the construction of new businesses going up to determine whether safety rules and regulations regarding chemicals were being obeyed. If they weren't the Fire Department suggested ways to correct the situation.

The builder, however, didn't always agree. He could say the changes would be too costly, even unnecessary. So he could make an application to the Hazardous Chemicals Appeal Board, which the city council had set up.

As a member, Miner said, he has gone to a site two or three times "to see first hand" what the problem was about.

Having been with a chemical company for 30 years—Gage Products Co. in Ferndale—he is knowledgeable on the subject of chemical solvents, and in retirement he's still much interested in it.

"We don't want to chase business away. We try to work with the builder, be reasonable," he said.

And, he added "The board can overrule the Fire Department," but "we usually agree because the Fire Department has a good program and the chief does an excellent job."

In fact the Fire Department is getting new construction so well that, Miner said, the Appeal Board is almost "out of business." Members meet only as needed, and if that is too rarely, Miner said, "we meet just to see everybody is still live."

Locals make nomination

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Cummings of Northville nominated Patricia Watson of Iron Mountain for a national Reminiscence Club award for "going the extra mile" in providing outstanding service to senior citizens.

Watson is a waitress for the Iron Mountain Big Boy restaurant. The Reminiscence Club, sponsored by Reminiscence Magazine, has as its primary objective: "to elevate the regard, concern and service for folks over 50." There are over 2 million members in the club. Each of the club members can nominate any server for outstanding service.

If Watson is selected as one of the 10 national winners, she will win a free trip to Hawaii.

For more information about the club, write to the Reminiscence Club, 5927 Memory Lane, Greendale, WI 53129.

Angela Carson of Angela Carson Photography Inc. in Northville was one of 100 speakers at the Professional Photographers of America Inc. international convention held this week in Denver, Colo.

Carson presented a program titled "Children's Portraiture: You Can Be a Low Volume/High Profit Studio."

Individualized programs were specifically geared to the thousands of portrait, wedding, commercial and industrial photographers—as well as electronic image-makers and specialists attending the convention, entitled "Expanding New Horizons."

The convention also featured a three-day trade show and the world's largest print exhibit.

Melissa Jackson gets a little help with curling her tresses from friend Bridget Byrne. Jackson said her friends have been very supportive and have attended most of her pageants.

Teen queen reaching for dream

As most other states hold their Miss Teen pageants earlier in the year, Jackson is desperately trying to make up for lost time. She works with a personal trainer two times a week, and visits the health club to keep in shape.

Jackson is also working on her interviewing skills with an area TV newscaster.

"A lot of the other (contestants) have six, eight, 10 months to prepare," she said. "You just have to believe in yourself and you can do it."

The high school senior realizes she has to make sacrifices to fulfill her dream. Her days are packed with modeling assignments—like the ones she's done for K mart, Meijer, Chiquita Bananas; runway work for design shows; TV commercials and serving as Miss Teen Michigan's pageant representative.

"Yeah, sometimes I get a headache—get stressed out," she said. "But I do have some free time, not that much. When I do... I like to spend it with my friends."

Jackson credits the support of her mother and friends for helping her get through it all. Her mother also schedules and keeps track of the harried teen's day-to-day appointments.

"This is a whole different type of life than my mother is used to," Jackson said. "When she was in high school, she played the flute. She's a teacher."

"She can help me in certain ways and in certain ways she can't. But she does support me."

The Miss Teen U.S.A. pageant is scheduled to air at 8 p.m. Aug. 16 on CBS.

Northville actress appearing in play

Northville resident Jennifer Bacon is starring in Attic Theatre's production of Angry Housewives.

The play follows the path of four frustrated suburban women on a precarious voyage of self discovery that leads them to enter a talent contest in a punk rock club. Together, as the Angry Housewives, they release years of frustration with an outrageous number. By the end of the evening, the audience knows each of the women as deeply as if they'd gone through her refrigerator and medicine cabinet and spent the day together chaperoning a class trip.

Bacon plays Wendy, one of the housewives in the musical comedy by A.M. Collins and Chad Henry.

Bacon comes from a long line of theater people. Her grandfather was Lloyd Bacon, director of such classic films as 42nd Street and Knute Rockne, All American. Her great-grandfather was Frank Bacon, an actor on Broadway who wrote, directed and starred in Lightnin', which ran for seven years.

Bacon recently moved to Northville from New York City, where she has several and regional credits of her own.

Angry Housewives is directed by Rick Frederick, with musical direction by Steve Dedoes and choreography by Valerie Mould. Performances run Thursdays through Sundays, through Aug. 14, at the Strand Theatre, 12 N. Saginaw in Pontiac.

"Talk-back" with the actors and the director follows every Thursday evening performance.

Tickets are available at the Strand Theatre box office, (810) 335-8100; the Attic Theatre box office, (313) 875-8284; or any Ticketmaster outlet.

'Shadow' lacks substance

New flick is transparent reflection of popular radio show

THE SHADOW
By Chris Anderson
South Lyon

Who knows what truly bores movie goers? Yes, that's right. The Shadow knows.

The newest installment of super hero movies is ironically what the hero chases in the movie — a bomb, to say the least.

This so-called film which stars Alec Baldwin and Penelope Ann Miller is based upon the popular radio show from the 1940s and 1950s.

Baldwin is, of course, the reformed opium dealer turned crime fighter who uses his ability to "cloud men's minds" to make himself invisible. Miller is basically ... well, a ploy to keep the male viewers awake.

The plot is also the same as many super hero films before it. The villain, played by John Lone, is the descendant of Genghis Kahn, who tries to finish where his ancestor left off — the pursuit of world domination.

To sum up how bad this film is, I would rather sit through 36 straight hours of the O.J. Simpson hearings than see this movie again. Someone should take this film to the dump because it stinks.

Chris Anderson, 16, is co-editor of the South Lyon High School student newspaper, "The Lions' Roar."

READER MOVIE REVIEWS

won for an electrifying portrayal of Salieri, a composer acutely aware of his own mediocrity, who worshipped the genius of Mozart, always jealous of his mastery.

Abraham, matures from young, robust Salieri, to an aged man forced to conclude life in a mental institute. From the asylum, he reveals a lifelong hatred for Mozart who, despite genius, was regarded as a vulgar boor.

Salieri, deprived of such genius, revering music far beyond anything, vowed celibacy to God in exchange for equal proficiency. When God disappointed him, he totally abandoned religion and faith.

Salieri's makeup in the "aging" process is impeccable, never doughy or pasty as so often results when "seasoning" performers.

Mozart is played by Tom Hulce. His performance is magnificent, as were most under Milos Forman's ("One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest") direction, except for Elizabeth Berridge, who seems miscast as Mozart's wife.

Experts advise this account is inaccurate, but that shouldn't diminish the joy it delivers, especially from Mozart's extraordinary, phenomenal sound track music.

Screenplay was adapted by Peter

Shaffer from his original stage play.

"Amadeus" is available on video.

GETTING EVEN WITH DAD
By Heather Wadowski
Northville

Mac is back! But this time he's not chasing after two stupid crooks ... just one. His dad.

Macaulay Culkin stars as 11-year-old Timmy Gleason, placed in his father's hands for a week while his extended family takes a vacation. (Actually, it's a honeymoon, but the movie never really discusses it).

While Timmy hopes the week will bring him and his ex-con dad close together, he soon realizes his dad's too busy to spend time with him. Instead, Ray would rather be spending the time planning to steal rare coins and buy the bakery he works at.

Of course, here is where the "Home Alone" magic comes in.

Ray (played by Ted Danson) pulls off the heist, and then Timmy hides the coins. And Ray can have the coins as soon as he does some things Timmy wants him to do. Like fishing, playing putt-putt and watching baseball games.

Now (of course), Ray falls in love with an undercover cop (Glenn Healy) and the "father-son bond" kicks in. And eventually Ray has to choose between the coins and his son.

Predictable and unbelievable would describe this movie to a tee, but Mac pulls off this movie with that "Home Alone" magic he has. I recommend it to anyone who needs to see a "Home Alone 3."

SPEED
Northville

Wooh ... it's like Ted in another serious role ... and he like plays another cop dude. Excellent! And "Speed" is pretty close to excellent.

Keanu Reeves plays a risky, San Francisco cop who messes with a former bomb-squad officer turned madman, played by Dennis Hopper, and gets him a little bit ticked off when he ruins his plans to get $4 million. The movie centers around a bus that must remain about 50 miles per hour or it will explode and guess who saves the day, well, it's that dude who like travels time with his buddy Bill.

Not too complex of a plot, but loads of action that lives up to the name and some twists that not many action movies possess. You man know who will win or lose but there is no way you can guess how. A great job by all the cast, both good guys and bad guys.

"Speed" gets a bold three and one-half stars (based on a five-star system with five being the best). Great action movie and I think Reeves is a superb actor, but whenever I seem him in a serious role I want him to suddenly break into Ted in the most suspenseful scenes. It's one to see this summer!

Alec Baldwin plays Lamont Cranston in 'The Shadow.'

Pirates make it to region finals

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

A heartbeat away. That's how close the Northville Pirates came to making the National Amateur Baseball Federation World Series over the weekend. The Pee Wee Reese squad made it all the way to region finals before being eliminated by a tough Ohio ballclub.

"It was a well deserved win by them," said Northville coach Stan Szostek. "They didn't make mistakes. We did."

Regionals were held at Sylvania, Ohio Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The Pirates, a team comprised entirely of Northville youngsters, dropped an 8-5 decision to McKinley in the final.

Having lost earlier in the tournament to the Ohio team, Northville needed a pair of wins Sunday to advance to this weekend's World Series.

The Pirates battled with McKinley and took a 4-3 lead going into the fourth inning. But a defensive lapse cost Northville and allowed Ohio to score four times in the inning.

"They were a very well coached team," said Szostek. "They were the type of team that wasn't going to beat themselves."

Despite the setback, the coach was very proud of his club.

"It was the first time a (Northville) Reese team has gotten a bid to a regional," Szostek commented. "It was one we earned our own."

The NABF was to hold its World Series this weekend with eight regional champs from around the country.

Snyder selects UDM to continue soccer career

By SCOTT DANIEL

From a Mustang to a Titan. That's the transformation Angie Snyder will make this fall as soccer player for the University of Detroit Mercy. The recent Northville High graduate has set aside the Orange and Black to don a Titan uniform.

"It's very exciting," said Snyder, a second-team all stater for the Mustangs last spring, "and a really big compliment to play with these people."

A four-year varsity player at Northville, Snyder signed a national letter of intent with UDM in March. She'll receive a full-ride, four-year athletic/academic scholarship to the university.

According to Titan coach Mike Lupenec, Snyder has a good shot at playing as a freshman.

"Angie is one of the best defenders in the state," he said. "She has a very good attitude and is a good team leader. She'll definitely come in and be an impact player on our team."

Several colleges expressed interest in Snyder. She visited schools in Florida, Ohio and Indiana but chose to stay local for a simple reason.

"I just compared them all and the University of Detroit had the best of what I was looking for," Snyder explained.

While soccer was an important factor in her decision, the former Mustang captain said academics was the key. Snyder plans on studying sports medicine.

"Academics were my first concern," she said.

The two-time all WLAA player will be getting in at the ground floor of the Detroit Mercy program.

The Titans went 11-5-2 in their inaugural season last fall, Snyder said she'll be fighting for a spot at midfield when practice starts next month.

"It's going to be a lot of hard work," she said. "But I like playing midfield because you have offense and defense."

Snyder has been honing her skills this summer playing premier soccer for Livonia United. She said she likes playing a lot of soccer.

"I haven't had a break," Snyder commented. "But that's okay because it keeps me in shape."

She suffered a tendon injury in her foot early in the high school season and has been receiving treatment since then. The injury put a damper on her senior campaign for the Mustangs.

"The whole season was disappointing with the injury," Snyder said.

Northville High made it all the way to the state semi-final before falling to Brighton. Snyder said her team played its worst game of the season in losing to the Bulldogs.

"That was terrible," she said. Despite the loss, Snyder said her best times in high school were playing ball with her friends.

"That's what I'll remember," she said. "Playing soccer. I loved it."

Tigers should forget suburbs, stay in Detroit

Scott Daniel

NORTHVILLE TOWNSHIP—It was a long time in coming, but the Tigers opened their brand new suburban stadium and the 1993 baseball season with a bang yesterday by knocking off Boston 5-4.

Kirk Gibson, the Tigers 41-year-old elder statesman, smashed a three-run homer in the bottom of the ninth inning to send 48,975 fans home happy. It was a perfect ending to a perfect opening day.

Spectators delighted at all of the sights and sounds of the new ballpark.

Wider aisles, theater seating, bountiful concession stands and clean bathrooms made the day comfortable for all.

And, in the spirit of the opening gala, owner Mike Ilitch made a major announcement. Henceforth, he declared, his team would be known as the "Township Tigers." The Old English "D" worn by the club for nearly a century, Ilitch said, would be replaced with a "T" starting tomorrow.

Township Tigers? News reports last week said the Detroit Tigers are looking at a county owned 900-acre parcel in Northville Township that sits between Six Mile and Five Mile, Beck and Sheldon roads. Sites in Wayne and Oakland counties, including Novi, Roush and Dearborn, among others, have also been banded about.

All of the chatter has been fueled by the fact that Ilitch, king of Little Caesar's pizza empire, is frustrated at not being able to get his "Foxtown" project moving in Lansing.

The entrepreneur has said that he's willing to put up nearly $200 million of his own money to build a new stadium in downtown Detroit. But the state must come up with about the same sum for road and other improvements, according to the Ilitch camp.

Local officials have greeted the Tigers township overtures with distaste. Thad McCotter, Wayne County Commissioner that serves Northville, was one.

"That site is completely inappropriate," he said. "My reading of the residents there is that they don't want the traffic and all of the other problems a stadium would bring."

McCotter is right on the money. While having the Tigers in our backyard might be nice, we don't need them in Northville Township or Novi for that matter. Being a small town is the thing that makes our community special.

Dropping a major stadium in the middle of it would surely ruin that atmosphere. Roads would be overburdened, the crush of so many thousands of people in and out of town would cause numerous safety problems. Financial strain from extra police hours and other costs we can't even see now would make things that much tougher for local governments, too.

The logical choice for a new Tiger Stadium is Detroit.

Not only is the city better equipped to handle a new park, in terms of policing and infrastructure, but Detroit needs the development. For sure, a new stadium isn't going to save the city.

Adding the park, shopping and other features, though, is a step in the right direction. A big step. What's the old saying, "one success leads to another."

Thanks Mike, but stay in Detroit.

Niners stay perfect with Livonia sweep

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

There's only one thing hotter than this summer: the Niners softball team.

With half the season gone by, Northville is still undefeated in the Incredible Stain Remover Softball League. The latest victim was Livonia as the Niners swept a team made up of Stevenson High School players Thursday 11-1 and 11-2.

"We've played, generally, pretty well," said coach Frank Friemund. "But it's hard to get a feel because it isn't varsity level (softball)."

Friemund coaches the Northville High team and many of his Mustang players are on the Niners. Winning summer games is nice, but improving skills, especially those of the city's younger players, is the main focus.

"Summer makes all the difference," Friemund said.

Andrea Moretti continued her fine pitching in Thursday's doubleheader. The righthander pitched both games and allowed just seven hits over 10 innings.

Livonia's very first batter in the game scored after drawing a walk. But the Niner hurler closed the door after that by striking out eight batters, including the side in the fourth inning.

Northville scored early and often.

Jenny Sheehan started a four-run rally in the first inning with a bunt single. Moretti doubled her home and then scored on a Sara Roth single. Laura Genetti and Jenny Frisbe added RBI singles.

The Niners went on to add three runs in the third inning, three in the fourth and one in the fifth. Roth and Frisbe finished with two hits each.

The nightcap was almost a carbon copy of the opener.

Livonia scored single runs in the first and second innings before Moretti slammed the door. She whiffed nine in the ballgame.

Northville scored three runs in the first inning to take control. Frisbe had the big hit with a two-run double. The Niners scored in every inning.

The season will come to a close a week from today. The league's two divisions will square off in an all-star game to wrap things up.

CLARENCEVILLE DOUBLEHEADER

The Niners played on the road July 12 in sweeping Clarenceville. Friemund said the opening 12-5 win wasn't the prettiest game he'd ever seen.

"We played terrible defense," he commented.

Northville made four errors in the game and nearly a dozen in the doubleheader. Big bats made up for the defensive woes, however.

The Niners smacked 11 hits in just five innings.

"They didn't help us as much as we hit the ball well," Friemund said.

The teams were tied at two after two innings. But Northville scored three runs in the third inning to blow it open.

Michelle Menghini, Sheehan and Moretti each had two hits in the game. Moretti pitched into the fifth inning for the win.

Northville completed the sweep with a 15-6 game two win.

After falling behind, the Niners scored eight runs in the second inning. Clarenceville helped matters along with six walks in the frame.

Northville drew 11 free passes in the game. Menghini was tops at the plate with three hits. She was five of six for the two games.

Mantle rips NFWB 13-8

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

The Mickey Mantle squad learned that patience can definitely be a virtue Saturday.

Northville took a 13-8 road victory over North Farmington/West Bloomfield to complete a game started on June 28. The win came at a critical time.

Having dropped a pair of games earlier in the week, Northville needed to win Saturday for any shot at a National Amateur Baseball Federation regional bid. The top five teams in the Little Caesar's Mickey Mantle travel league will earn bids.

Coach Bob Willerer said it's a long shot that his team will make it to regionals. Despite that fact, he's happy with the effort his team put forth this summer.

"We're proud of the way our Northville boys have responded," he said.

Northville earns an automatic bid to the NABF World Series next month as its host.

At any rate, the Mantle team exploded in the fifth inning against NFWB. Northville scored six times as

Oasis provides setting for fun with golf, putt-putt

By MERRILL CAIN
Sports Editor

Learning to play golf is certainly a painstaking task, but it's even more difficult if the new linkster is trying to get adapted to the game on a full-length course.

There are only a few short or executive golf courses in the area but one of the premier par 3 courses is just a short one wood drive away in Plymouth.

The Oasis Golf Club is located at 39500 Five Mile Road near Haggerty Road and the course provides a definite challenge for the beginner. It's also an ideal place for polished golfers to refine their skills and practice some of the finer points of the game.

The 2,265-yard par 3 course is well-maintained and the unique features and hazards of the links make it an enjoyable experience to play. Owner of Oasis, Brian Ashley, said the superior quality of the greens is the main attraction of the course.

"There aren't too many par 3 courses around anymore," said Ashley. "This course has a real feel for top quality greens. These are as good as greens as you'll find for 50 miles around at any course."

Ashley purchased Oasis in 1992 and there have been some major changes made at the facility since that time. A top level driving range is still a big draw at the site and there is a golf dome set up at Oasis in the winter months. The practice green has doubled in size since Ashley took over the operation and now target greens were also added this year.

The entire "clubhouse" area of the facility was recently renovated and the pro shop accessories were done away with as part of the changes. "It was just too hard to compete with other large companies in the area," said Mike Ashley, one of the course managers.

There is also a putt-putt course on site, as well as baseball batting cages.

"There aren't too many par 3 courses around anymore. This course has a real feel for top quality greens. These are as good as greens as you'll find for 50 miles around at any course."

BRIAN ASHLEY
Course owner

All new batting machines were purchased and installed this year.

The golf course itself, however, is still the main attraction at Oasis. Brian Ashley said that the links definitely have their niche. "The course is very challenging for the experienced player but it's still basically a beginner and short game course," he said.

One local golfer agreed with Ashley as he got set to tee-off on the first hole at Oasis. "It's fun to play here because there's a good chance for a hole-in-one," said 15-year-old Jon Kobylarek of Novi. "It's also a real nice course to practice your short game."

Most of the holes at Oasis are between 100-140 yards with the exception of the ninth hole that carries a length of 185 yards. For much of the course, most avid golfers will consistently use a seven, eight or nine iron. Pitching and sand wedges will also come in handy on some of the course hazards.

On the front nine, the 145 yard third hole presents a bit of a challenge. The surface dips about 15 feet in front of the tee and a ditch running along the right side of the fairway could pose some problems. There's a fence just in back of the hole and a long tee shot could wind up on Haggerty Road if the golfer isn't careful.

No. 4 provides a very picturesque backdrop. With a fence and the road immediately to the left of the tee, a classic red barn sits in the background. The green on the hole plays a little rough as putt marks show where the cup was moved recently. No. 8 is one of the shorter holes at the course at 105 yards, but it still provides a challenge.

The tee sits right in back of a pond and a big hill is positioned to the right of the green. This hole also features a bigger green that undulates around the edges.

The longest hole (185 yards) is at No. 9 with another pond to the right of the tee and a hill to the left of the hole, a straight approach is the best option.

On the back nine, the 135 yard 17th hole provides the toughest test. There's an odd tee angle on the hole and the cup is positioned to the right side where several hazards are also lying in wait. A short tee shot and a cautious approach are the easiest ways to tackle the hole.

Prices at Oasis include: $10 for 18 holes or $8 for juniors and seniors during the week; $8 for nine holes or $6 for juniors and seniors on week-days; $12 for 18 holes on the weekend or on holidays and juniors play 18 for just $3 if accompanied by an adult before 11 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

For more information contact Oasis at (810)420-4653.

IN PURSUIT OF NORTHVILLE

Here it is - The Public Relations Piece for Northville! A couple of months ago Hometown Newspapers put out a tab called "Women in the Know". This was a tab that was total advertising, but looked like all editorial. Sold on the space, our reporter interviewed you, filling the space with a story and photograph. It was a project that was put together in a small amount of time, and space reservation was filled up in record time. Advertisers loved the new format and so did our readers. So I got to thinking what a better way to promote Northville than putting together a piece strictly on the merchants and businesses in Northville.

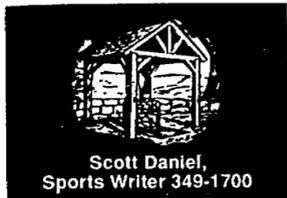

Publication Date: Thursday, August 18th
Circulation: In the Northville Record, Novi News, South Lyon Herald, and Milford Times (26,000 in circulation) Reservation Deadline: July 21st

Don't miss this great promotional opportunity. Remember this will hit just a month before the Northville Victorian Tab. And as an extra incentive, all advertisers who go in this tab will be given a 10% discount off their ad in the Victorian Festival tab to come. Call and reserve your space today. Please fill out and return the form to the Northville Record.

Summer concert series continues

By CINDY STEWART
Special Writer

The cloudy skies didn't stop the Rhinelanders from shakin' the walls inside the Novi Civic Center.

The largest crowd yet at the Novi Summer Sounds clapped and sang along as the Rhinelanders "rolled out the barrels" and had a barrel of fun with the very young to the very old.

People sang and danced along with all of those favorite old German polkas and sing-a-long tunes.

While sunny, blue skies can't be promised for this week's concert, but a fresh, energetic performance from Second Opinion can be. The group is described as a folk lovers' paradise.

When you see them on stage it doesn't look like it's going to work. One of them is clearly too short. If you know their backgrounds it doesn't seem like it's going to work. One is a children's musician with a penchant for "oldies," one is a contemporary singer/songwriter with a weakness for "causes" and the other is an old-time banjo player who owns a sporting goods store. But when you hear them, nothing else matters. It works.

Second Opinion is made up of three musicians living in Lansing, a thriving community of folks who haven't forgotten what folks. They have concerts, festivals, workshops, dances, pick-up bands, a supportive public radio station and a world renowned music store, Elderly Instruments. Joel Mabius, Kitty Donohue, Sally Rogers and Ray Kamaly are among those who call Lansing home. Their commitment to the music is deep.

This commitment describes Betsy Clinton, Pat Madden-Roth and Sally Potter who formed Second Opinion in 1988. Their three very different and wonderfully strong voices formed a textured weaving of sound that is a thrill to hear. Their sound is honest. Their harmony is extravagant. Their songs are compelling.

What makes them so unique? The three women trade off leads and harmony parts, which is unusual for most vocal groups. A lot of a capella singing marks their performances and recordings. Minimal instrumentation (usually Pat's solo guitar, or a few spicy banjo and guitar duets from Sally and Betsy) offers a simple framework for their vocal magic.

Second Opinion performs at festivals, clubs and coffeehouses throughout Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Ontario. Tom Paxton's "There Goes the Mountain," Holly Near's "Voices," and Madden-Roth's "Inner Dancer" showcase this group's ability to intertwine harmony with emotion. They have been called "the newest vocal equivalents to the Chenille Sisters." They produced two albums in a little over four years and built a very significant following in the process.

Stop by the Civic Center tonight at 7 p.m. Inside or outside, you're sure to have lots of free, family fun.

The 1994 Sounds of Summer Concert Series is presented by Novi Parks & Recreation, Providence Medical Center-Novl, Ford Motor Company Foundation, and Charter House of Novi. When you come out and enjoy the concerts, you are also eligible to win lunch for two from either Border Cantina, Olive Garden Italian Restaurant, Ruby Tuesdays, Salvatore Scallopini and Shields. There is also free lemonade and munchies and novelties for the kids.

Why not make every Thursday evening a special night for you and your family? Bring lawn chairs or blankets and even a picnic supper. Concerts are held inside the Civic Center in case of rain. See you at seven. There is no concert next week due to the Michigan 50's Festival. Stop by the Novi Expo Center, Wednesday, July 27 through Sunday, July 31st for live music every evening in the Entertainment Tent. Call 349-1950 for information. The next Sounds of Summer Concert is August 4 and features "Schunk, Starr Dryden featuring Mark Keime," jazz at its best highlighting the area's finest performers.

Eyes need protection from sun

By TIM KIRK
Special Writer

Most people are aware that too much sun leads to premature aging of the skin and skin cancer. Modern eye research now shows similar effects on the eyes. The good news is that protecting your eyes is relatively easy.

To understand the problem, let's first look at the culprit—sunlight, or more specifically, invisible ultraviolet (UV) radiation. We divide UV into three groups:

1. UV-C—the shortest wavelength generally absorbed by the ozone
2. UV-B—causes sunburn and damage to the front half of your eyes
3. UV-A—closest to visible violet-colored light and the most important to protect your eyes from

For years we suspected that too much UV radiation harmed the eyes. Research now confirms that at least three forms of eye disease are related to lifelong exposure. The more time you spend in the sun, especially on snow or water, the higher your risks.

First, cancer of the eyelids and skin around the eyes is one possibility. In addition, benign growths on the whites of adults' eyes are observed more often in farmers and people who spend increased time outdoors.

Second, the lens located behind the pupil helps absorb UV-B light, but in doing so is subject to premature cataract formation. The cornea, the clear front dome of the eye, also absorbs some UV-B light and can be subject to the equivalent of a sunburn from extreme conditions like sunlamps, welder's flash or high-altitude, snowy areas.

Health tips

Our third and final concern, the retina, is the most important. Since UV-A light is not blocked by the ozone, the cornea or lens of the eye, it reaches the retina, the delicate nerve tissue, that lines the back of the eye. The retina is like the film in a camera and is what allows us to see. It is believed that cumulative, life-long exposure to UV-A contributes to retinal breakdown known as macular degeneration, a common cause of blindness in older adults.

Now for the good news. Wearing prescription plastic lenses protects you from nearly all the UV-B rays. If you wear a visor or wide-brimmed hat, you cut down the overall UV exposure by 50 percent as well.

Our last and most crucial concern is shielding the eye from UV-A rays. This can be done with a nearly colorless coating on eyeglasses that blocks 95 percent to 100 percent of UV-A light. The cost of this coating is around $20. Your family's clear glasses and sunglasses should have this UV coating.

The consumer challenge comes with labeling on nonprescription sunglasses. You'll find sunwear labeled "UV 400," "UV protection," or not labeled at all. You want to be sure your sunglasses are protecting you from 95 percent to 100 percent of UV-A and B light.

Recent findings show that dark sunglasses without full UV protection allow the pupil to dilate and let more UV light into the eye than wearing nothing at all. These lenses are literally doing more damage than good.

Optometrists can recommend quality sunglasses and coatings for your specific job and recreation needs. They should also have an instrument to measure the UV transmission on your glasses and answer any questions you have about labeling.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration is developing regulations to assure accurate UV labeling. Recently, Accuweather, a national weather forecast service, began reporting the daily UV risk. This information will be increasingly important since our ozone layer is letting more and more UV light reach Earth.

Pirates take second at NAFB regional

Northville began the regional Friday by taking a 5-4 win over Tindley, Ohio. With the game tied at four in the bottom of the seventh, Dave Tovey singled home the winning run with two out and two runners on base.

The Pirates closed action Friday with a 4-3 win over Rochester. A two-run single by Tim Edick gave Northville its fourth win over Rochester this season.

The locals played a pair of games Saturday as well.

The Pirates suffered their first tournament loss, 10-2 to McKinley, in the opener. Northville rebounded to take a 2-1 win over Fraser as Matt Hare tossed a three-hitter.

The team received a nice trophy for its second place finish, according to Szostek.

"The NABF treated us like winners," he added.

Mantle squad whips NFWB 13-8

Aneil Kersey knocked in two with a double, Chris Karney, Chris Schiffar and Tom Willerer added RBI singles.

The locals put the game out of reach in the seventh as Chuck Yessalan hit a three-run homer—his third of the season.

Northville hit the road after that game to play Birmingham late Saturday and took a 7-3 victory.

Dave McCulloch pitched a much needed complete game. The right hander struck out 10 and scattered seven hits.

"Our pitching was getting tired,"

Willerer said. "We needed a complete game."

Oddly enough, it looked as if Northville would lose the game. They trailed until the seventh inning, 3-0.

A seven-run outburst started with a walk to Tom Willerer. Northville then loaded the bases on hits by Jason Malack and Schiffar. Kersey, Mark Sander, Karney, Yessalan and Sieving all followed with RBIs. Willerer and Malack batted a second time in the inning and added RBIs.

ANN ARBOR 8, NORTHVILLE 5
Northville squared off against one of the league's better teams Friday on the road and came up short. A total of 10 walks by Mantle pitchers contributed to the loss.

"Our pitching failed us," said Willerer.

Kersey, Karney and Yessalan had two hits each to lead the offense.

NORTHVILLE 11, DEARBORN 0
Tom Willerer was the story of Thursday's home win. A right-handed hurler, he tossed a no-hitter against Dearborn.

Willerer struck out nine batters in five innings, including the side in the second. He used a good fastball and a curveball to overmatch a weak Dearborn squad.

McCulloch supplied all the offense Willerer needed in the first inning. He hit a towering home run over the left field fence to give Northville a 1-0 lead.

The home team went on to add two runs in the second inning, six in the third and two in the fifth.

GARDEN CITY 5, NORTHVILLE 4
A late rally came up short for Northville on July 12.

Trailing 5-1 in the seventh, the Mantle squad scored three runs. With runners on second and third, Yessalan sent a long flyball down the right field line, but it went foul. He then flew out to end the ball game.

Sander was the star of the game for Northville. He had four hits in four at bats.

Today's homes are stronger and safe

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

"They sure don't build homes today like they did back in the good old days."

You've probably heard that comment many times. Fortunately, it's quite true, but not for the reasons intended.

Generally, homes today are much safer, stronger, more energy-efficient and require less maintenance than those built in "the good old days."

For example, homes in high-wind and earthquake zones are now built with extra bracing and framing anchors. In areas of expansive soils, tests are conducted and foundations engineered to resist damage from soil movement. Most new homes are over-engineered today to maximize their strength and durability, according to Ron W. Hertel, president of R. Hertel Constructors Inc., a major home builder and developer.

"Also, sprinkler systems are now required in new homes and smoke alarms have been much improved with fail-safe systems," Hertel said.

Avoiding liability problems is high on the priority list for today's home designers, builders and subcontractors — particularly for structural engineers. Many new safety features have been implemented to avoid potential legal problems.

Regarding fire safety, occupants of new homes are almost six times less likely to die from fire than occupants of older homes, says

Large country kitchen is at the heart of Yew

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

The Yew is a midsize home with family living areas at the center and bedrooms to the sides. Formal gathering spaces are at the front, overlooking a front porch that give a country flavor to this contemporary plan. A cedar shake roof enhances the effect, while brick at the foundation level and brick columned corners add a sense of permanence.

A large country kitchen is at the heart of the Yew. Nothing more than an eating bar separates it from the open, vaulted great room. Neighbors, friends and family members are sure to enjoy lingering awhile here leaning their elbows on the bar while they chat with whoever is in the kitchen fixing food or cleaning up.

The edge of the eating bar that borders the great room is 6 inches higher than sink level. The dishwasher is also raised to this level, cutting down on the back strain that often accompanies loading and emptying such machines. Other amenities in the kitchen include a large walk-in pantry, a separate vegetable sink, a garden window and French doors that open onto a deck.

A wealth of windows brightens the great room year-round, and a fireplace, complete with woodbox, offers warmth and the pleasures of fire-watching in winter. Dining room and living room are also rich in glass. The living room has bay windows and the vaulted dining room has a set of wide windows.

Luxury amenities in the master suite include a large walk-in closet with shelves at the back, and a sky-lit private bathroom with two lavs and a comfortable spa. And, for those relaxing early-morning and nighttime soaks, there's a hexagonal hot tub on a private deck.

Basement stairs are centrally located, between the formal and informal living areas. Utilities are on the other side of the family living spaces, close to the garage, the kitchen and two secondary bedrooms, which share a bathroom with two basins.

For a study plan of the Yew (333-022) send $9 to Landmark Designs, c/o HomeTown Newspapers, 323 E. Grand River Ave., Howell, MI 48843. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

Cutworms may snip off your pepper transplants, bean beetles may turn snap bean leaves to lace and corn borers may burrow in your sweet corn.

Rabbits may browse on your peas. Diseases may wilt your squash and speckle and spot your tomato leaves.

The weather may provide too much rain or not enough.

But, the biggest problem in your home vegetable garden is likely to be weeds.

"More first-time gardeners probably give up because of weeds than for any other reason," said Mary McLellan, master gardener coordinator at Michigan State University.

The first year can be the worst for several reasons.

First-time gardeners often overestimate the area of garden that they can handle with the tools available to them, McLellan said. The weeds take over in June and the beleaguered gardener never catches up.

Another common problem with first-year gardens is grass that keeps trying to reclaim a section of lawn that was turned into garden.

"To avoid battling grass all summer, remove the sod and kill it the fall before you want to convert a piece of lawn into garden," McLellan suggested. "If you don't want to use Roundup of some other herbicide, you can kill the sod by covering it with black plastic, broken-down cardboard boxes or old carpeting."

Tilling the garden spot repeatedly to bring up annual weed seeds so they can germinate and be destroyed by herbicide application or further tilling will reduce the number of weeds you'll have to cope with after crops are in place.

Vegetable gardens are planted in stages, some parts with seeds and other parts with transplants. An important tactic in weed control is to plant into weed-free soil, so McLellan advises working each area just before planting.

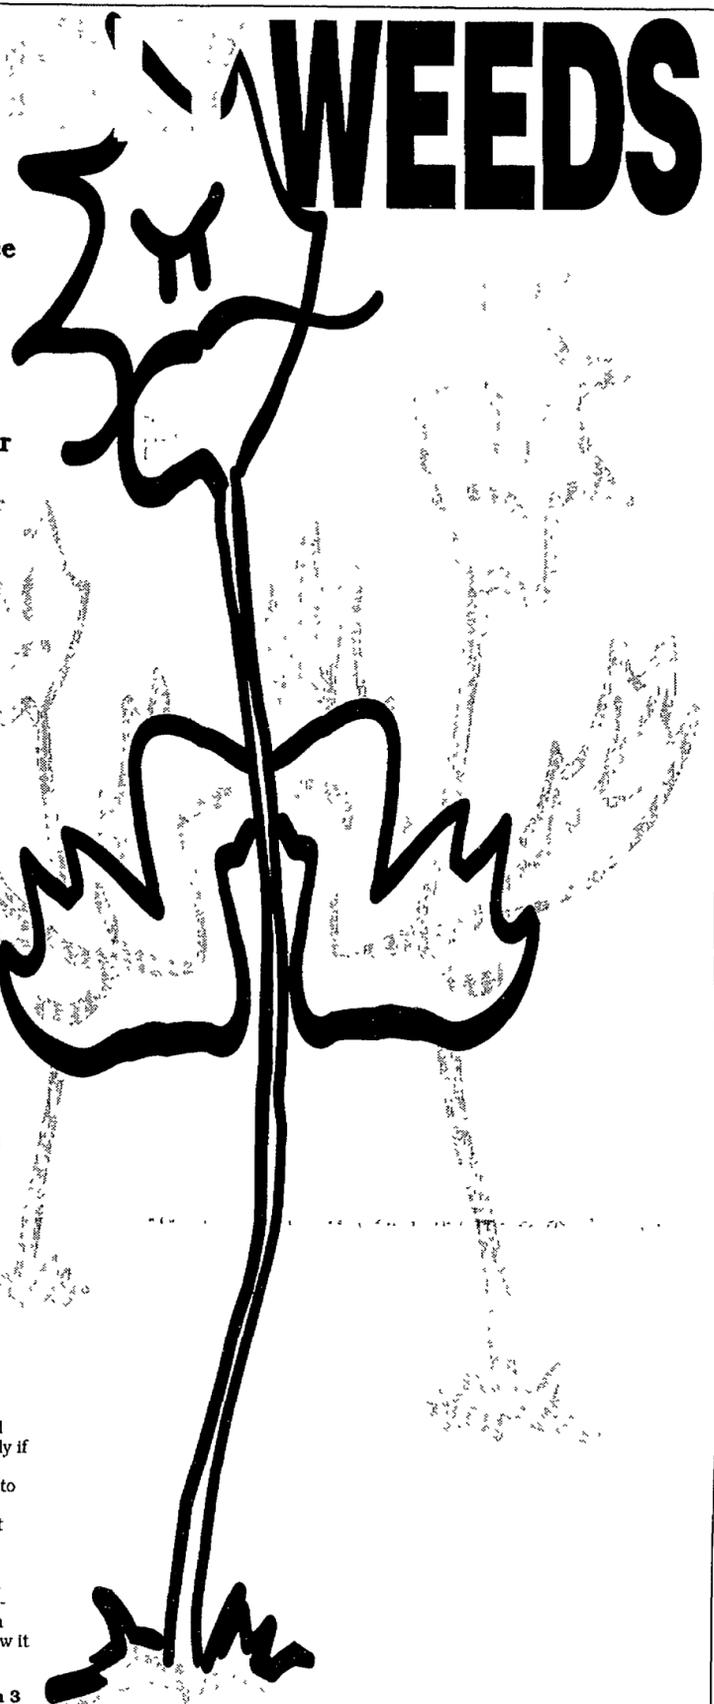

This gives vegetables at least an even chance against weed seedlings.

After crops are planted, cultivating between rows and hills with a hoe or a tiller can be very effective, especially if you attack weeds when they're quite small.

The bigger they get, the more time and effort it takes to deal with them. An all-out salvage effort against large weeds may require an assault with a lawn mower to cut weeds down to a more manageable size.

Mulching to suppress weeds can save a great deal of time and labor. A variety of materials can be used, from carpet scraps and cardboard to black plastic, grass clippings and compost. What you choose depends partly on what's available and whether you want to be able to plow it under in the fall.

All-American annual

By C.Z. Guest
Copley News Service

GARDENING

Marigolds are now the most popular annual in North American gardens, and if you judge by the space allotted in the seed catalogs, you can see why.

This profusion of marigolds can boggle the mind. The easiest way to keep it all together is to think of them according to the species from which they originated, and to put the somewhat confusing common names in the back of your head.

The natural environment of the marigold is Mexico and extends into South America and northward to the Southwestern United States, so it's beautifully equipped to handle the United States' diversified weather conditions of drought and heat and keep on blooming!

To make them more popular, scientists expanded the color range beyond limited shades of orange and yellow to make them flower more heavily, including varieties of all sizes and shapes to suit your taste.

Tradition has it that marigolds repel rabbits, insects and other annoying critters, something to do about the astringent odor, people say

There is no research to substantiate the claim about insects, but there is some hope in the fact that marigolds can clear the soil of nematodes, those microscopic, awful wormlike creatures that infest the roots of many plants.

There are two types of nematodes: root-knot and root-lesion.

Root-knot tend to dwell in sandy soils and can cause early death of vegetables and flowers. The two varieties of marigolds that work best against nematodes are French Sparky, American/African Cracker-Jack (Burpee).

All French marigolds are very effective against root-knot nematodes. French marigolds are an ideal front-of-the-border choice mixed, if you wish, with zinnias for a colorful low-maintenance planter.

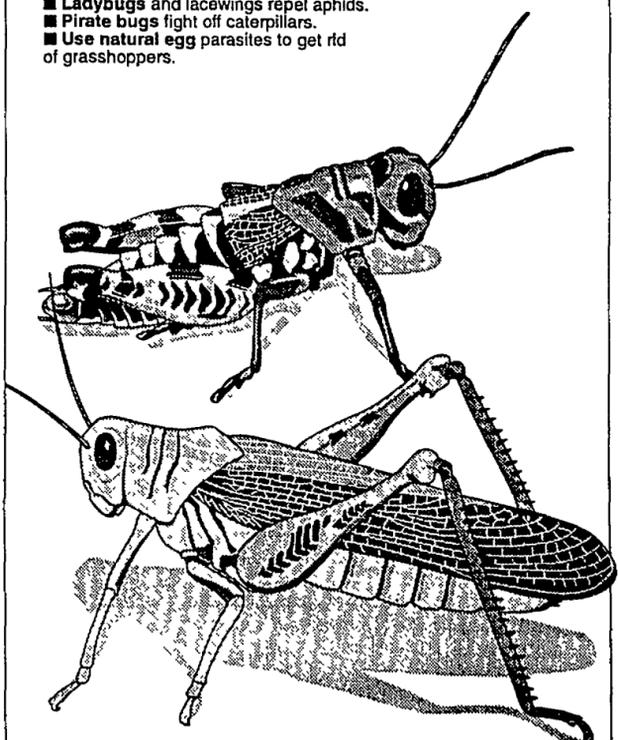

This year, W. Atlee Burpee & Co. is introducing a fabulous hybrid, white marigold, French Vanilla, which is more uniform in both height and blossom color than earlier whites.

Burpee will continue to

Refinishing furniture

- If wooden furniture becomes discolored by the sun or through aging, you will probably need to strip off the old varnish and finish.
- If chairs remain uneven in color after finish removal, try bleaching the wood to even up the mismatched tones. Oxalic acid crystals dissolved in water, or commercial wood bleaches may work well.
- Stain and refinish with a coat (or several coats) of varnish.
- Always protect wooden furniture from direct sunlight if possible.

Q. Several windows in our year-old home have moisture inside the panes and are so cloudy it is impossible to see through them. They are double-pane windows. It is extremely unsightly and I wonder if anything can be done to correct the problem, or will it be necessary to have the windows replaced?

A. Unfortunately, the window panes will have to be replaced. In commercially produced double-pane glass windows, repairing a faulty seal is not a do-it-yourself job. The process involves removing the existing seal, cleaning out the edge joints and cleaning the panes.

Most insulated windows have a spacer around the edges between the panes that contains a desiccant to absorb residual moisture. If the seal fails, the desiccant becomes ineffective and must be replaced.

Finally, the window must be reassembled and the edge joints sealed.

There is usually a warranty that covers window-seal failure. Depending on the manufacturer, the warranty can range from 5 to 20 years. Keep this in mind when shopping for replacements, and be sure and keep your sales receipt so you can seek restitution if the panes fail within the warranty period.

Q. I have a breakfast table and chairs made of stained and varnished hardwood. The sun has faded several of the chairs in an uneven way. Only portions of a couple of chairs are faded. The other chairs remain in good condition.

A. How would you refinish the faded chairs so they match the original chairs? Or would it be better to refinish all of the chairs and the table, so they look alike? Can you stain over varnish? When applying the stain, will the faded and unfaded parts become the same?

A. Start by stripping the varnish and finish from the faded, marred chairs. This is essential for any refinishing.

If the chairs remain mottled in colorization after stripping, you may want to use a bleach to even out the coloring. Try a solution of oxalic acid crystals dissolved in a small amount of water to bleach and brighten the wood. If the discoloration remains, use a commercial wood bleach, available in two-part formulas. Be sure and follow manufacturer's directions carefully, wear protective clothing, and rubber gloves.

Once the coloring of the wood is even, you can select a stain that matches the existing, non-marred chairs. Stain and refinish with a coat, or several coats of varnish.

If the end result matches your other chairs, your project is complete. However, you may want to sand and apply a top coat of varnish to the other chairs and table so they also look new.

If the chairs do not match, you can proceed and refinish the other chairs and tables to match, using the same process. In the future protect your wood furniture from the damaging effects of the sun, which will cause both fading and deterioration of the varnish top coat.

Q. Water is starting to leak into the basement of our 10-year-old home where two sections of poured concrete walls join. Water appears to come in at and below ground level.

Landscaping and wider gutters have not helped. Waterproofing companies have give estimates and procedures ranging from $300 (injection of hydraulic sealer from inside) to $2,500 (for a new drainage system). However, some homeowner manuals suggest patching from outside, using asphalt roof cement.

Do you have any advice on how to address this problem?

A. All of the methods you mentioned are viable in combating moisture problems in basements.

An efficient drainage system, with additional exterior sealants on the foundation is probably the most effective cure, but it is also the most expensive. However, prior to going to this major expense you can try several cheaper alternatives which may correct your problem.

Inspect the circumference of your foundation. Make sure that all of the ground slopes away from the foundation and that you do not have any landscaping immediately adjacent to the house that requires watering and therefore adds to your moisture problem.

You have mentioned that you have already extended the rain gutters on your home to assure that this flow of water is away from the foundation, which is an important step.

Many of our readers have had great success with an interior sealer that you can apply to the basement walls. The product is "Snak Concrete Sealer" and is recommended for waterproofing basements and other structures. The manufacturer is Snak Corp, 861 6th Ave., Suite 411, San Diego, CA 92101, or call (619) 231-1771. Contact the manufacturer directly for a source of this product in your area.

Today's homes are stronger and safe; popularity of condos

Jonathan Weldy, an official of Building Industry Association. Homes built prior to 1970 had a fire death rate of 52 deaths per million housing units, whereas homes built during the 1980s experienced only nine fire deaths per million.

Many new homes have hard-wired smoke detectors on every level. Typically, they are interconnected. If one detector alarm sounds, they all sound. And detectors function even in the event of a power failure.

Space heaters and wood stoves, once the second leading cause of home fires, are no longer needed in new residences. They now have central heating systems and much better insulation.

As for strength, new materials now make roofs and floors stronger and quieter than those in older homes. New types of trusses on roofs and floors increase strength but permit greater design flexibility by eliminating most bearing interior walls, Weldy noted.

Today's new homes consume half as much energy as homes built prior to 1980, due to more efficient heating and cooling systems, better windows and control of air infiltration. Older homes tend to be drafty and uncomfortable.

New homes are now available with siding, windows and trim that never need painting. Wood decks are typically made of pressure-treated lumber that is resistant to rot and insects.

Improved convenience in new homes also is an important factor. Kitchens have dishwashers and other built-in appliances, and nearly all new homes have more efficient central heating and air conditioning.

New homes are designed and built to accommodate state-of-the-art lighting, communications and security systems.

No, they aren't building homes like they used to.

Q. Are condos losing their popularity with buyers?

A. Condominiums continue to be popular and are selling well in most regions of the country. They are a particularly popular type of residence for first-time home buyers and empty-nester seniors.

Questions may be used in future columns; personal responses should not be expected. Send inquiries to James M. Woodard, Copley News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, CA 92112-0190.

All-American annual; an insect mated

offer the current best of their open-pollinated whites—Snowdrift "Triploid" marigolds are the result of crosses between American and French. Keep in mind Triploids don't set seed, so they keep blooming during the heat of the summer.

Plants range in height from 8 to 14 inches. The large flowers may be single or double in yellow, orange or bronze (listed in catalogs as red).

INSECT CONTROL

In nature almost every creature lives on the flesh of other plants or creatures. This ecological process of life holds full sway in the world of the garden. The tiny insects are just as busy satisfying their appetites on each other as the larger, more familiar creatures in the animal kingdom are in devouring each other.

To alter the cycle in the garden, it's important to create favorable conditions for the elimination of certain bugs on their fellow creatures; there's a natural enemy for every insect, and people, too!

Other keys to biological control involve using specific sprays that will not kill natural enemies of the good guys, such as insecticidal soap, or make your own concoction. Here's mine:

Grind a few of the offending insects up in your blender (use a retired one) with a little water. Dilute this solution and spray it back on your crops. It works!

Family figurine from the early 1900s

By Anne McCollam
Copley News Service

Q. Enclosed is a photograph of a porcelain figurine that has been in my family for more than 75 years. It is 11 inches high. Her aqua, pleated dress is trimmed with a white lace collar. The base is decorated with multicolored flowers. On the bottom there is a sunburst mark and the words "Heubach—Made in Germany." Could you please tell me what it might be worth?

A. Your porcelain figurine was made by Heubach Brothers, Lichte, Thuringia, Germany, in the early 1900s. The firm manufactured dolls, doll heads, figurines and piano babies. "Warman's English & Continental Pottery & Porcelain" by Susan and Al Bagdade lists a similar figurine at $510 in mint condition.

Q. My Irish Belleek creamer has this mark on the bottom. It is decorated with a smiling face peering out from behind vines and grapes. The glaze is a cream color. Who does the face represent, what is it worth and when was it made?

A. Your Irish Belleek creamer was made by David McBirney & Co., in Belleek, County Fermanagh, Ireland. This is Belleek's second black mark and was used on parian and porcelain from 1891 to 1926. The pattern is called "Mask" and the face is that of Bacchus, the Roman god of wine. "Belleek, The Complete Collector's Guide and Illustrated Reference" by Richard K. Degenhardt, shows a Mask pattern creamer at $140.

ANTIQUES

Q. I have a Sears Silvertone television with a 10-inch screen. It is a tabletop model that has two knobs on either side of the screen and it works. The cabinet is in good shape. The model number is 9131. What can you tell me about my TV?

A. Your Silvertone television was made in the late 1940s. This model was similar to an RCA set from the same period. "Poster's Radio & Television Price Guide" by Harry Poster lists a Sears television model 9131 at $100.

Q. Many years ago my uncle gave me two Wallace Nutting prints. One is titled "Primrose Cottage" No. 8029, the other is "Nethercote" No. 7803. Both have a label with the words "Authentic Wallace Nutting Process Pictures Must Bear This Label. All Others Are Unauthorized." They have scenes of thatched cottages, colorful gardens and old brick buildings.

I would like to know if they are worth anything and how old they are.

A. Sometime in the 1930s Wallace Nutting began producing reprints of some of his most popular pictures. They were called "Process Prints" and were not hand-colored. Although they were machine-produced they were not considered reproductions. Only 12 of his best-selling pictures were reprinted. "Primrose Cottage" and "Nethercote" being two of the dozen.

A label saying that the picture was a process print, along with a number, was placed on the back of all these prints. These pictures measured 12x15 inches and 16x20 inches when matted. Your pictures were made sometime in the 1930s. Each would be worth about $45 to $50 in good condition.

Letters with picture(s) are welcome and may be answered in the column. We cannot reply personally or return pictures. Address your letters to Anne McCollam, P.O. Box 490, Notre Dame, IN 46556.

Dastardly weeds can be controlled with mulches and work

Materials such as black plastic and old carpet have to be pulled up in the fall, while organic materials can be tilled into the soil.

Mulching discourages weeds by cutting off sunlight to weed seedlings. It also slows the evaporation of water from the soil and so reduces the need to water in a dry year.

Mulches may also contribute to certain types of pest problems.

Slugs, particularly, thrive in the moist, cool environment that mulch provides.

Organic mulches may also lessen problems with ground rot in crops such as tomatoes and squash, by supporting fruits up off the ground.

The main advantage of mulches, however, is the edge they give the gardener in the battle against annual weeds, McLellan said.

Perennial weeds—plants that regrow from underground parts each year—are a tougher problem. They need to be controlled before you start your garden. Repeated tilling to kill the tops and starve the roots is one approach. Using herbicides is another. Both of these are very difficult to do with crops in place.

Weed control early in the season, when crop plants are small and struggling, often seems more critical than late-season weed suppression. Weed control needs to continue as the harvest comes in, however.

"Each weed that you allow to mature and set seed means dozens or hundreds of weeds next year," McLellan said. "You'll never get to the point where there are no weed seeds lurking in the soil. But every weed you keep from going to seed means fewer seeds to give rise to future problems."

H&M Concepts opens pretzel outlet in Novi's Twelve Oaks

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Writer

One bite and you'll be hooked. That's just how tasty the brown morsels are at Pretzel Time in the Twelve Oaks shopping mall. A little flour, water, yeast and, of course, salt go into the best darn soft pretzel this side of Philadelphia.

"The product will speak for itself," said Gary Lim, director of marketing for H & M Concepts Ltd., parent company of the Novi franchise. "We make all of the pretzels there. Nothing is frozen. It'll fill you up and it's an alternative, healthy snack that's economical."

Pretzel Time opened at Twelve Oaks late last month to the delight of mall goers. According to store manager Morgan Rodgers, business has been good in the first few weeks.

"We're really happy with the way it's gone," she said. "Everyone in the mall seems to like them. They're like the kind you find out east."

Last month's opening was just the third in the state for H & M. Based in Boise, Idaho, the company began operations in 1992.

Founders Randy Hemmer and Steve Mann negotiated a franchise agreement with Pretzel Time Inc. of Harrisburg, Penn. to open their first store in Boise in September of that year. Since then, Hemmer's and Mann's H & M Concepts has grown to 84 stores in the west, midwest and south.

"We're expanding very quickly," said Lim.

The business has taken off for a couple of reasons, he explained.

First, Americans are moving toward healthier snack foods like pretzels. Secondly, Hemmer and Mann were able to use methods and techniques in the business that had already been established by Pretzel Time.

"We didn't have to reinvent the wheel," Lim commented.

H & M has exclusive franchise development rights for 23 states and restrictive rights for three others plus four provinces in Canada. The company plans to open some 300 stores by the end of 1997.

No company expands that quickly without a good product. And Pretzel Time has a good product.

Pretzels are made fresh all day at the Novi business, which is adjacent to Lord & Taylor at the mall. Bakers roll, twist, fold and flip pretzel dough in what the company calls the "Dough Show."

Taken hot out of the oven, the pretzel are given a splash of butter to enhance the flavor. A word of caution before buying one, though: bring your appetite. Each pretzel is big enough to nearly cover a dinner plate.

While the snack is filling, it won't hurt your diet too much. A regular pretzel is just under 300 calories and contains four grams of fat. A no-butter pretzel has just a single gram of fat and is even lower in calories. No-salt pretzels are also available.

For those who aren't as concerned about calories, Pretzel Time has eight ways to jazz up your snack. Cream cheese, mustard, honey glaze and sour cream and onion are just a few of the toppings on hand.

Pretzels are $1.49 each and can be purchased in larger quantities. Soft drinks are also sold.

MESC information now on-line

One of the most commonly used indicators of an area's economic well being is now readily available to anyone with a computer and modem.

"We have added Michigan and local area unemployment rates to the storehouse of information that people can access through our electronic bulletin board system," F. Robert Edwards, director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC), announced.

MESC's LMI On-Line system now offers monthly labor force estimates for Michigan and nearly 1,700 communities, consisting of counties, cities and townships throughout the state. The estimates include the size of the work force, the number employed as well as the number and percentage unemployed.

"These labor force estimates are contained in our Micro Computer Force System or McLAFS, which has just been added to our LMI On-Line computer bulletin board," Edwards said.

To use the system, a caller needs a personal computer, modem and communications software. The phone number to access LMI On-Line is (313)876-6696. To talk with an analyst about the system, dial (313)876-5427.

Save taxes on vacation home

It's that time of year when thoughts turn to summer vacations and dreams of owning a special getaway. There are distinct benefits to purchasing a vacation home: You have a place available for your recreational use and an asset that may appreciate over the years.

However, there's no getting around the fact that vacation homes are expensive to own.

The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants points out that the tax law contains some provisions that can help offset the costs of owning a vacation home. The tax advantages available to you depend on whether you use the vacation home solely for your personal use, or whether you rent it out.

SOLELY FOR YOUR PLEASURE

If you buy a vacation home solely for your personal use, you may deduct mortgage interest and property taxes, just as you would on your principal residence. Keep in mind that you may take the deduction for mortgage interest on only one property other than your principal residence.

Under the tax law, you can also rent your vacation home for up to 14 days a year without reporting the income to the IRS. However, other than mortgage interest and taxes, your rental expenses are not deductible.

Money Management

RENTAL PROPERTIES

Different tax rules apply to rental properties. If you purchase a vacation home as a rental investment and you don't plan to use it yourself, you may fully deduct costs associated with maintaining and operating the home, including mortgage interest, property taxes, insurance, advertising, broker fees, utilities, repairs and depreciation. Your deduction is subject to passive activity loss limitations which generally limit your deductions to the amount of your passive income.

However, an exception exists that allows you to deduct rental losses of up to $25,000 if you are an active owner with adjusted gross income (AGI) of less than $100,000. The $25,000 allowance is phased out as AGI increases from $100,000 to $150,000.

PERSONAL USE

If you use the home and rent it, you still may be able to deduct the cost of operating and maintaining your rental property (subject to the passive loss rules). To do so, your personal use must not exceed 14 days during the tax year or 10 percent of the days during the year that the dwelling is rented at fair market rental, whichever is greater. (Fair market rental is the amount you could receive for the home if you rented it on the open market.) However, in determining whether your use falls within this category, it's important to understand the IRS's definition of personal use.

Under the tax law, your vacation home is considered to have been used for personal purposes any day, or part of a day, that it is used by you or anyone who rents it at less than fair market rental. Even if certain family members, including your parents, siblings or children, pay a fair rent to use the home, the IRS still considers this personal use.

Be aware, too, that even if you donate a week at your vacation home to a charitable cause, such as a church auction, that week counts as personal use days.

If your property is rented for 15 or more days during the tax year and personal use exceeds the greater of 14 days or 10 percent of the days the vacation home is rented, your rental expenses are deductible only to the extent of your rental income. As a result, you cannot claim a rental loss. In addition, tax law specifies that you claim your expenses in a certain order. First you deduct expenses related to obtaining tenants, such as advertising and rental agency fees. Then you deduct interest, property taxes and casualty losses. Next, you deduct insurance, utilities, repairs and other operating expenses, and lastly, depreciation. The law is structured this way to prevent individuals from taking excessive deductions when there is personal use of a vacation home.

Deductible rental expenses also must be allocated to the days of rental use. Since the formula is complicated, you may want to consult with your CPA to assist you in determining the correct amount of deductible rental expenses.

Finally, don't let the tax law scare you from purchasing the vacation home of your dreams. Just remember that the more you use the home for your own recreation, the less you can count on Uncle Sam to help foot the bill.

Return to the Fifties

Seventh annual Michigan '50s Festival moves to Expo Center

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

Grease up that pompadour and put on your poodle skirt because it's time to rock around the clock in Novi.

The seventh annual Michigan '50s Festival will transport visitors back to the time when Hula-Hoops were the newest recreation craze and Elvis Presley's sneering lips and gyrating hips sent teenage girls swooning.

The City of Novi will celebrate the fabulous fifties in a five-day celebration from July 27-31 at the Novi Expo Center. The festival promises to have something for everyone, including those youngsters who might only associate the '50s with reruns of Happy Days.

The festival's five days will be jam-packed with musical shows, classic car exhibits, a fireworks show, athletic events, children's activities, dancing and singing contests, a sock hop, and of course lots of food. Parking is free for all events.

Cindy Stewart, president of the '50s Festival board of directors, said she is confident this year's festivities will be a hit, with spectators, vendors and performers flooding in from around the country.

"Every year we get more and more people," said Stewart, who estimates about 65,000 to 100,000 people attend. "People come and then they say, 'How can I get involved next year?' They just keep coming back."

This is the first year the '50s celebration will be held at the Novi Expo Center, however, Stewart stresses the festival will maintain its outdoor flavor with the Family and Entertainment tents, which house most of the main events, outside in the center's parking lot. Arts and crafts displays and commercial vendors will set up camp inside the Expo Center Friday through Sunday and the classic car exhibition will be held across the street in the Novi Town Center.

In addition to the festival providing a plain old good time for people who attend, it lends a helping hand to the community.

Last year, the '50s Festival made a contribution of $10,000 to the Novi Parks and Recreation Department to help fund the purchase of a $75,000 portable stage and donated $10,000 to various Novi non-profit organizations.

Festival Manager Rhonda Gage said she hopes to double the contribution to Parks and Recreation this year with $20,000. She believes the contribution will be possible because she was able to cut some of the costs in producing the festival this year.

One of the great attractions of the festival, Gage said, is that there is something for everyone.

For parents who are looking to entertain their children and give them a small taste of what the '50s might have been like, the Family Tent is the place to be.

Friday, June 29, will feature appearances from Rosco the Clown, ventriloquist Richard Paul, performances from Sheryl's Dance Studio and Dance Dynamics, and a family sock hop with Bobbi Sox and the Greasers.

Saturday and Sunday will feature putt-putt golf, pony rides, performances from Elvis impersonator Danny Vann with his "Salute to Elvis" ($3 admission), Rick's puppet theater, the Amazing Clark Magic Show and much more.

For those who are looking for more adult entertainment, the Entertainment Tent offers music every night and alcoholic beverages are available. Attendants must be 21 years or older for admittance after 7 p.m.

The highlight of musical events will be on Saturday with performances from the Drifters and the Great Pretenders.

The Drifters, who have had 10 songs climb to Billboard magazine's top ten charts in the '50s and have sold nearly 20 million albums, will bring their choreographed act to the Entertainment Tent at 8 p.m.

Following the Drifters, the Great Pretenders, a slightly newer group who formed in 1982 and specialize in music from 1953 to 1973 while adding a flavor of contemporary music to all the favorites, will take the stage at 9:30 p.m.

Thursday, Friday and Sunday will feature The Hubcaps, who's repertoire includes songs ranging from the Everly Brothers, to the Platters and Buddy Holly. Also on Sunday, Tracey Lynne & Heartland will be performing from noon to 4 p.m. before the Hubcaps hit the stage at 7 p.m.

To kick off the festivities, the Entertainment Tent will open with a performance for the Teen Angels.

July 31 at the Novi Town Center parking lots, will feature another popular attraction: the classic car show and cruise, which will feature about 1,000 cars this year that date 1974

THE MICHIGAN '50s FESTIVAL

There is something for everyone at festival

Novi resident Gary Flummerfelt, a car collector who owns a 1957 coral sand Thunderbird and a 1966 black Corvette Stingray, said he looks forward to participating in the 50s fest each year.

"It's a nice relaxing day and you get to talk about cars," said Flummerfelt, whose T-bird was originally made for the president of Venezuela, and marks kilometers instead of miles. "What could be better?"

Flummerfelt enjoys cars and the 1950-60s so much that he is working on a project to decorate his living room in a '50s motif. In addition to an authentic jukebox, Flummerfelt constructed a couch made from the back-end of a '57 Thunderbird to match his car and plans to install black and white tile to the floor soon.

"Quite a few guys (who collect cars) have couches that match their cars," he said, estimating that the couches are worth about $13,000 an higher.

The car show starts at 10 a.m. and ends at 4 p.m. and the car cruise, tail fins and all, will run from 6-9 p.m. on Grand River and Meadowbrook roads.

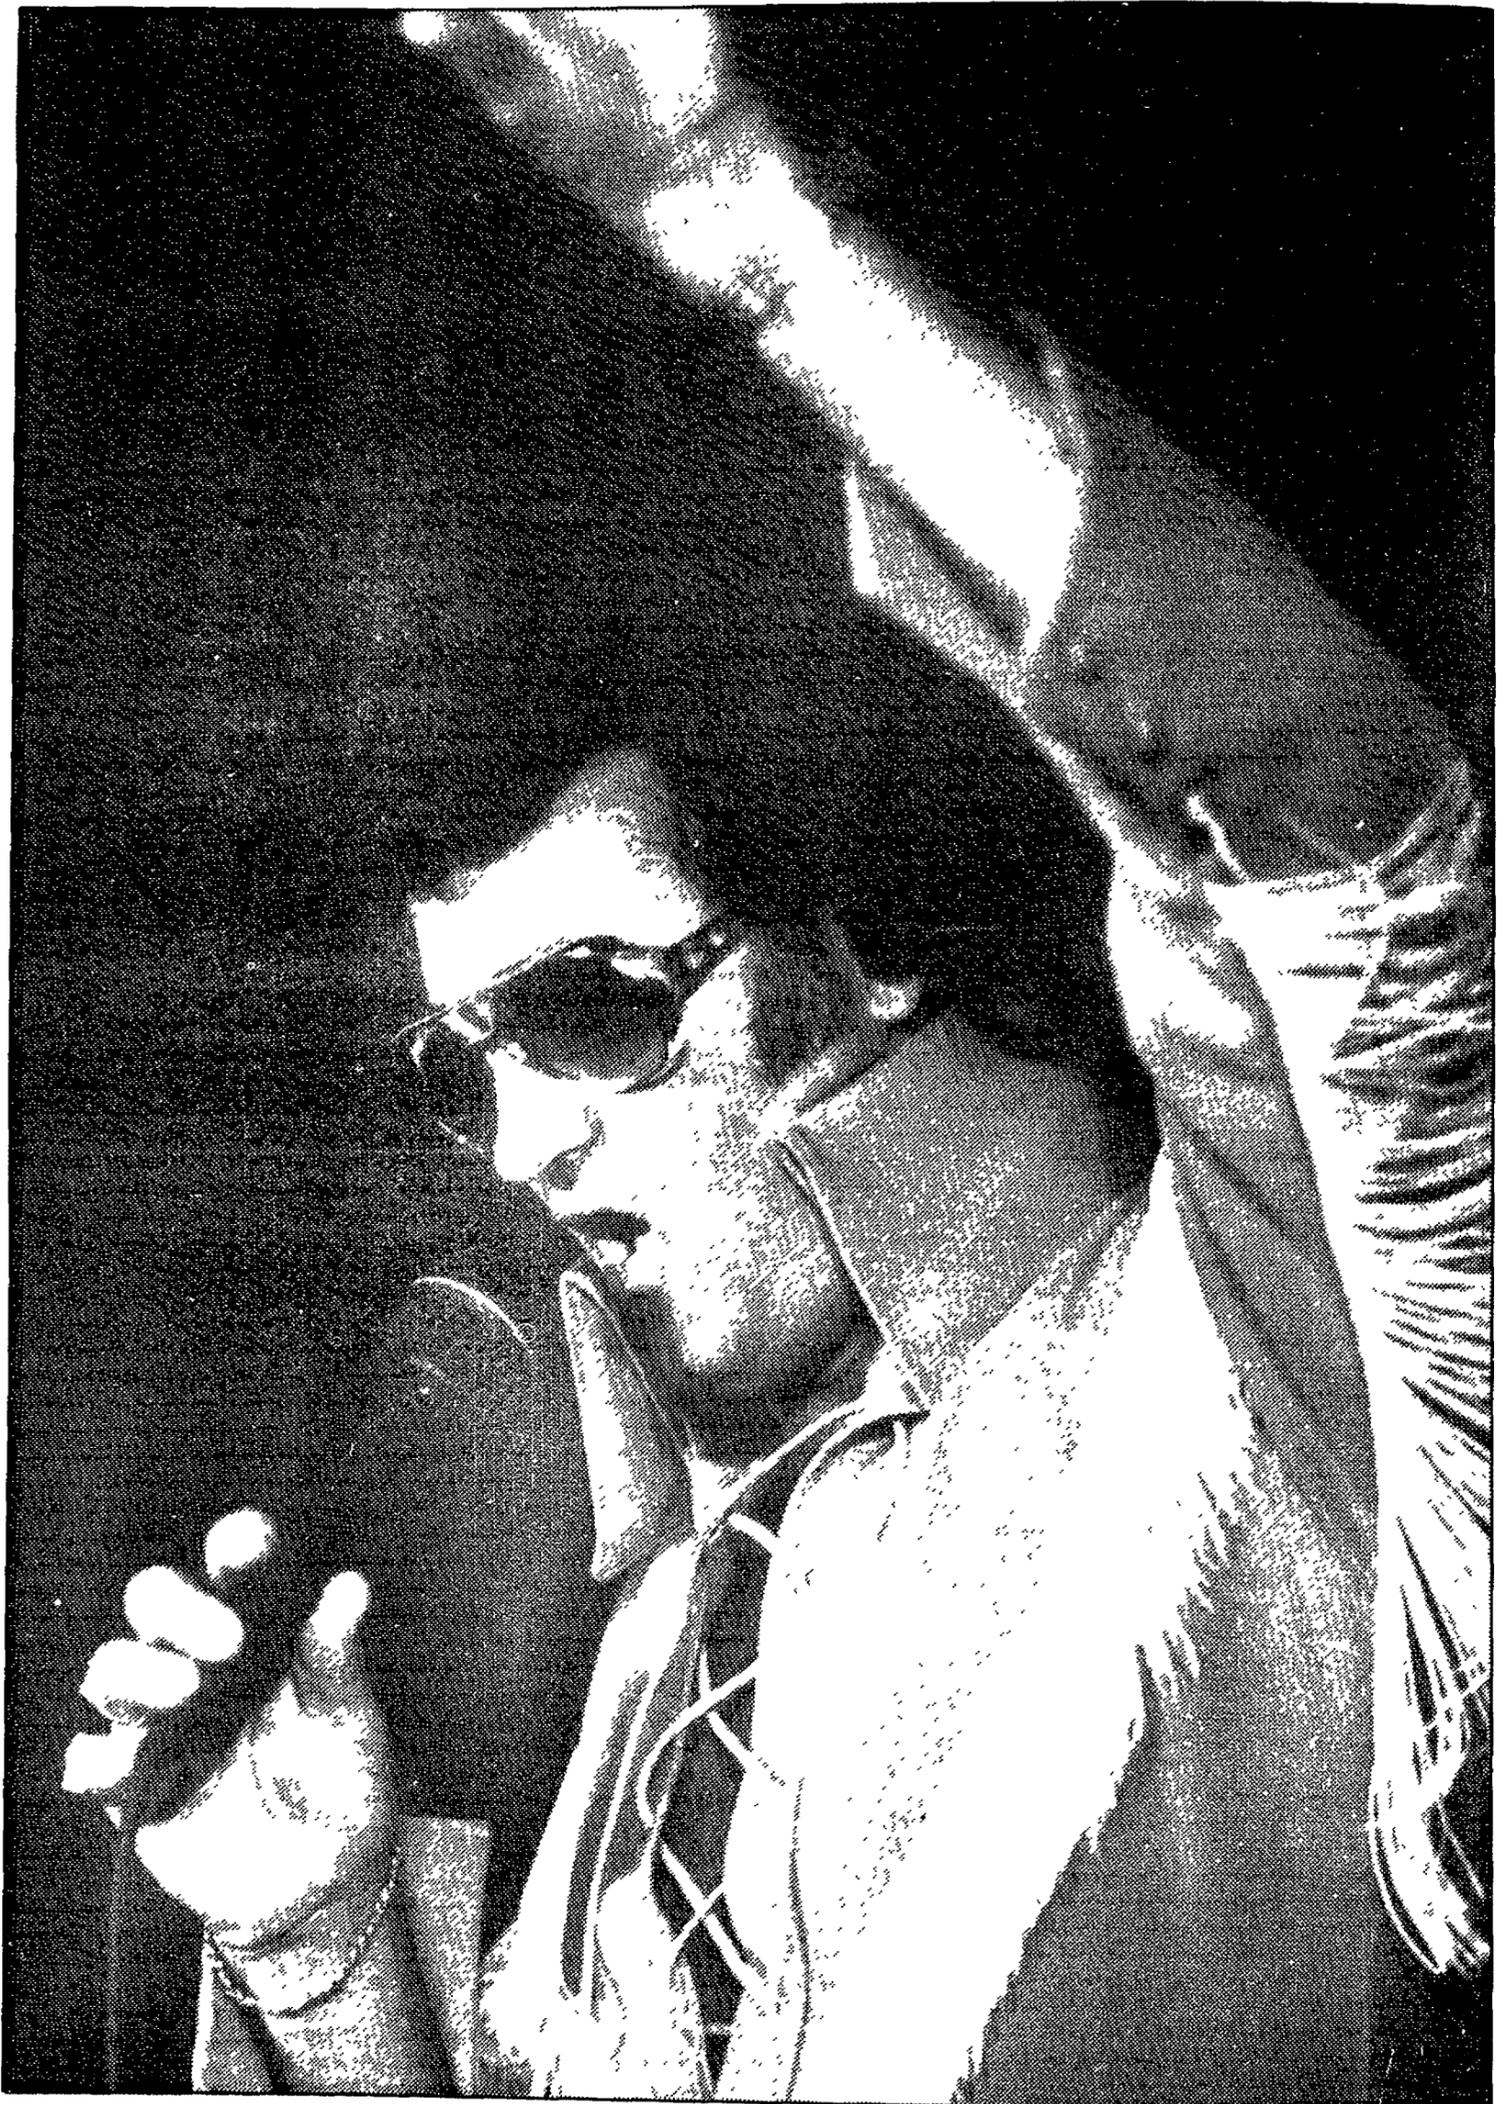

For those who didn't get a chance to see the Detroit fireworks display, or if you just can't get enough of the pyrotechnics, the Twelve Oaks Mall will host a fireworks show June 30. The best view will be from the parking lot closet to the Lord & Taylor department store.

Traditionally, the festival has featured a sock hop express that traveled from hotel to hotel, but this year the Friday night will be sock hop night under the Family Tent.

"This year we thought 'lets just have it all under one roof,'" said Cindy Kopczynski, who serves on the board of directors.

Gage said this year's festival will feature more arts and crafts displays than ever. Some of the highlighted vendors will include Maurio Possobon the "sculptor of the stars" from Florida and Do Wop, a company from Dayton, Tennessee that sells 50s wear, from Elvis to James Dean styles. Paintings, hand-made dolls, wood carvings, photography, stained glass, sand art among other arts and crafts will be available.

For those who prefer a little friendly athletic competition, there is a men's and women's double-elimination softball tournament July 29, 30 and 31 and a five kilometer run/walk June 28.

The deadline to register for the softball tournament is 5 p.m. July 21 or until 24 teams are registered. Registration fee is $130 per team. All players must be 18 years old and a copy of the roster must be turned in with registration payment. Games will be played at Power Park on Ten Mile Road.

Other attractions include a pancake breakfast July 30 and 31 from 8 a.m. to noon with music by the Huntington Banks band Organ. Sunday, a shuttle service will be provided to and from the '50s car show site. An ice cream social will also be happening Friday from noon to 3 p.m.

THE MICHIGAN '50s FESTIVAL

It's a hot rod heaven

Enthusiasts get to show off their best machines

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

Last year's Classic Car Show at the Michigan '50s Festival drew more than 1,300 antique car enthusiasts to Novi.

This year's version of the same show, scheduled for Sunday, July 31, is expected to draw at least that many from all over Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Canada, festival officials said.

Novi resident and business owner Gary Flummerfelt will be behind the wheels of his two prize-winning possessions when the seventh annual car show opens at 10 a.m.

Flummerfelt's 1966 Corvette Stingray and 1967 Ford Thunderbird have been Novi show stoppers in the past.

"They've both been restored and have been show winners many times over," he said Thursday.

Flummerfelt has been bringing his vintage autos to the Novi event since it started seven years ago. In addition, he trailers the autos to other shows around the greater Detroit area.

"We just like it," he said about his attraction to old car shows. "We like car people in general. We always go and have a good time and talk cars."

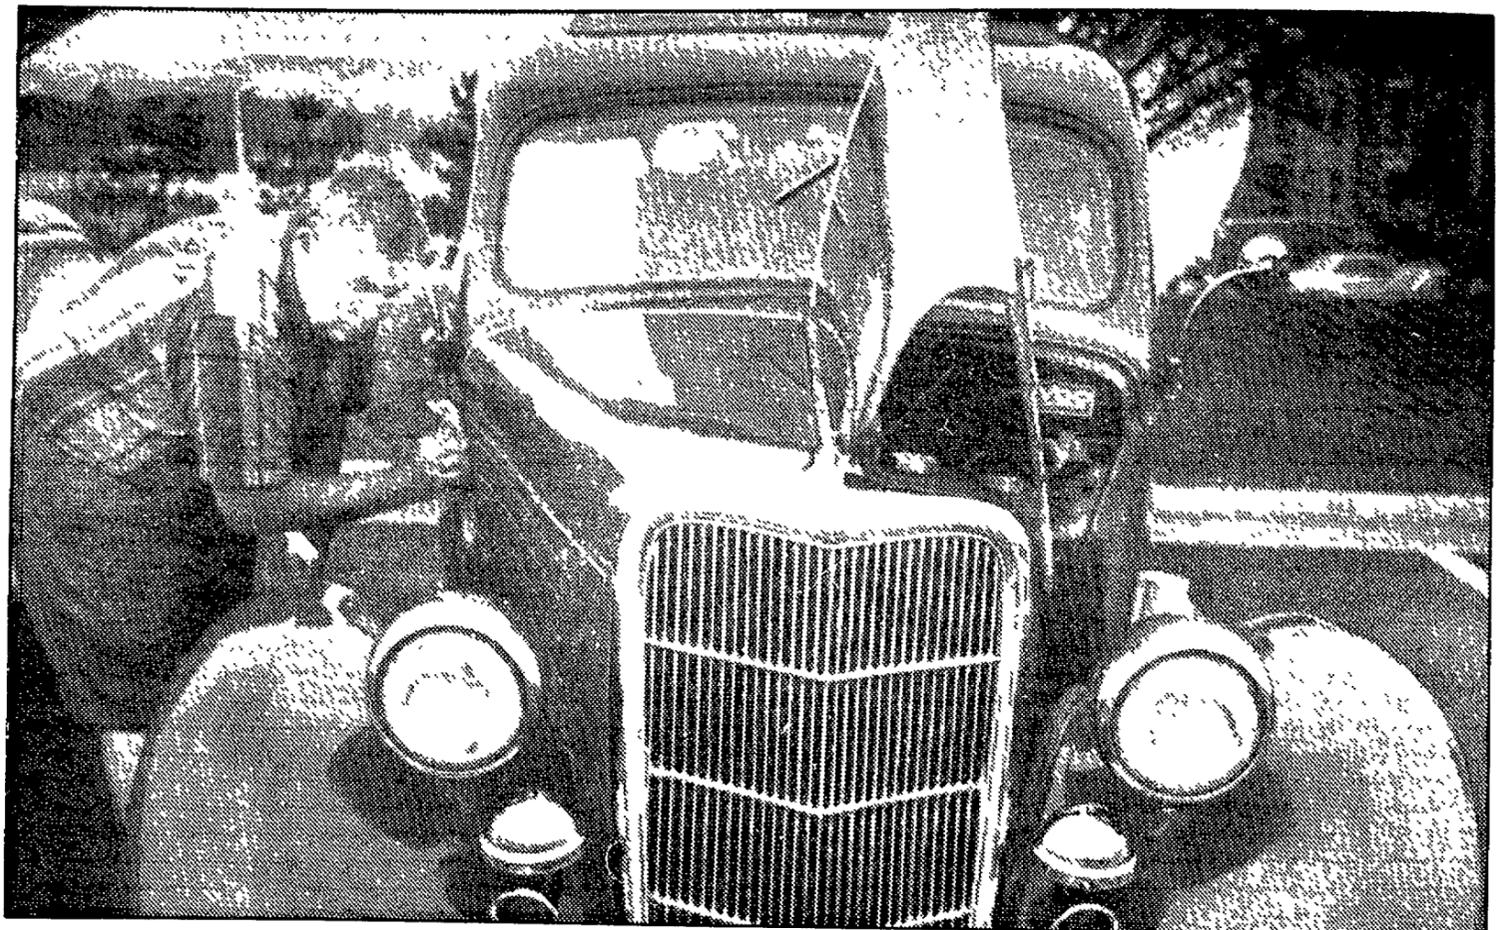

Flummerfelt's autos will be among hundreds lined up at the Novi Town Center parking lot. The car show, which features autos from 1974 and older, is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Registration begins at 7:30 a.m. Entrants will be charged $10 in pre-registration, $12 the day of the show. All cars arriving before 11 a.m. will be judged.

Trophies will be presented in 24 different categories at 4 p.m. The categories include Best of Show, Mayor's Choice, Ladies Choice, Best Street Rod, Best Muscle, Best Truck and Best Mustang, Classic Chevy and Stock Corvette.

Best of Show ballots must be turned in by 2 p.m.

The annual car cruise will follow the car show from 6-9 p.m.

Car buffs will spend much of their time buffing cars at the '50s Festival.

Cruise highlights festival

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

The Michigan '50s Festival may have a new location but the Classic Car Show and the Grand River Cruise route remain the same—the same time and the same place—this year.

The cruise will take place from 6-9 p.m., following the '50s Festival Car Show on Sunday, July 31.

The Classic Car Show, reserved for vehicles 1974 and older, will feature more than 500 cars competing in 24 different classes. Twenty-six trophies will be awarded in categories for the Best Street Rod, Best Truck, and Best Mustang and Muscle Car, along with Best of Show, Mayor's Choice and Ladies' Choice.

Registration for the competition will begin at 7:30 a.m. The show will be open in the Novi Town Center Office Building Parking lot from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. All entrants must arrive by 11 a.m.

Festival organizers said 1,300 cars took part in the Grand River Cruise last year. They expect to see even more this year knowing that the seventh annual show draws car buffs from Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Canada.

"We draw cars from all over but there are still a lot in it from Novi," Festival Manager Rhonday Gage said.

When asked why the car show and cruise were such a big draw for festival goers, Gage said, "Everybody likes to see a parade. The car show is a parade.

"And the cruise is a one-time a year, fun time event when people can get out in Novi," she said. "They love it."

Pre-registration for the Classic Car Show is $10, $12 at the door. Cruisers are charged $3.

Novi Police will not tolerate any reckless driving in this year's cruise. Violators will be ticketed, police said.

In conjunction with the festival, the Novi Rotary Club will raffle off a 1969 Chevrolet Camaro Z-28 (302). The drawing for the vintage auto will be held after the cruise, at 9 p.m., in the '50s Festival tent.

THE MICHIGAN '50s FESTIVAL

Brighter colors on tap for fireworks

By JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writer

If you enjoyed last year's fireworks at the Michigan '50s Festival, this year's explosives are bound to make your eyes sparkle.

On Saturday, July 30, it'll be more of the same—but with two new, improved colors. The finale will still feature a barrage of whiter whites, but the brighter brights, according to pyrotechnician Chuck Tenge, will definitely bring out the ooohs and aahs.

"It's aqua metallic, just incredible. Damn, it's beautiful. And wild canary. A vivid lime yellow. All the colors are magnesium. You aren't going to a show where you see red, green, red, green," Tenge said.

As in the three previous Michigan '50s Festivals, Twelve Oaks has contracted with Sunset Fireworks Limited, a St. Louis, Missouri firm, to do the job. The firm also puts on fireworks shows for Disney World, the MGM Theme Park and the Six Flags amusement parks.

"We haven't discussed it yet but they always do something really different. We really try to make each year special," Twelve Oaks Marketing Director Elaine Kah said.

"They shoot them off by hand rather than by computers. The shells are huge. We order the big ones."

The magnesium shells burn at a high temperature to create the brilliant shades. This type of firework is typically used in Europe. Sunset is one of only three U.S. firms to use magnesium shells, said Tenge, a self-educated pyrotechnician who's been in the field 27 years.

And you can find the "Made in the USA" label on almost every shell.

"It's expensive as hell, but the colors are mad," he said.

"The red is just like blood. The white is blinding."

The finale features 60 shells with 500 reports.

"It's just like a lightning storm. All you see are blinding lights. When the people like it, I don't change it," Tenge added.

"It's a hell of a show."

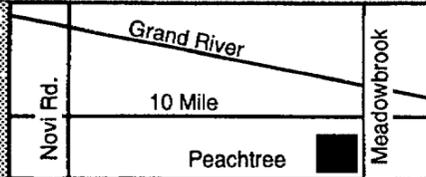

The 10 p.m. event is held on the southeast side of the mall's parking lot, near Lord & Taylor. There's a grassy section for those who want to spread blankets or lawn chairs and an area which is accessible to the handicapped.

THE MICHIGAN '50s FESTIVAL

Vendors serve up the munchies

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

If you plan on attending the Michigan '50s Festival this year, plan on heading over to the Novi Expo Center.

Festival organizers have picked up and moved the festival from the Novi Town Center parking lot to the Expo Center on Novi Road.

The move was made because construction of Fuddrucker's Restaurant is underway in the Town Center. But Rhonda Gage, Michigan '50s Festival chairperson, said the festival also outgrew its briches at the former site.

"We outgrew the Town Center," she said. "And we were having parking problems. At the Expo Center we'll have comparable parking."

Festival officials and Blair Bowman, Expo Center president, said Wednesday the move would be advantageous for festival participants and attendees.

The site offers ample parking, tighter security and inside facilities for a larger arts and crafts show.

"The Expo Center is a different venue than they have used in the past," Bowman said. "We also don't have anything else go on during that time. So it seemed to be a good fit."

"We have a lot of parking that can be utilized and the ability to do things inside," he continued. "So we do offer some advantages. We also provide them with a strong location and some visibility to the expressway and Novi Road. That could help attract more people."

Bowman said this year's festival will be a trial run at the Expo Center but city and festival officials hope the center will become a permanent location.

Gage said the new site could be a win-win situation for everyone involved because it offers both inside and outside facilities.

There should be no real differences because of the physical move. Festival goers will still experience the outdoor festival atmosphere while artisans and crafters will enjoy the security and climate of the indoor facilities.

"We have about 60-70 commercial people coming in from out of state and they like to be able to set up inside," she said. "We'll put all the arts and crafts inside which is a big draw for people."

The entertainment tent, known by many as the "beer tent," will also be better secured from minors.

The other advantage is that the new site offers room for future expansion. Plans to construct a five-lane boulevard ring road around the center this year will help facilitate festival traffic next year, Bowman said.

The food is one of the main attractions of the festival.

The festival and more

Activities going on at sites all around town

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

When you get to the Novi Expo Center for all the fun this year's Michigan '50s Festival has to offer, don't forget that there's a gaggle of related events going on all over town.

It seems like everyone wants to join in the celebration. You can run, walk, eat, watch, buy, listen and join in yourself in everything that's offered.

WOMC—104.3 on your FM dial—will have its own tent, ready for live broadcasts throughout the Festival. Be sure to buy a ticket for its raffle—the grand prize is a jukebox.

Friday night in the Festival's entertainment tent—you must be 21 or older to attend—will be a Las Vegas style casino night hosted by the Tollgate Equestrian Center. While those in the family tent are enjoying a sock hop, the entertainment tent will have one of its own as well. Come dressed in your best '50s attire. There'll be plenty of games and prizes to be had.

The Mighty Morphin Power Rangers will be at West Oaks on Saturday from 2-4 p.m.. Aladdin will appear on Friday from 2-4 p.m. It's all courtesy of Mailboxes, Etc. Toys 'R Us has invited Geoffery, Gee Gee and Baby Gee. Kroger will have the Oreo Cookie Man and an Oreo stacking contest complete with free hotdogs, chips and Coke for all. Added to it all is a fun and exciting sidewalk sale. 1950s-style band The Hits will be playing near K-Mart all Festival long. There'll be street clowns as well and a circus calliope band organ.

A five-kilometer run/walk will be held Thursday, beginning at Running Fit in the Novi Town Center, sponsored by MetroVision.

Marcus Glass in combination with the Downtown Merchants Association, located on Novi Road, offers old-fashioned family fun on Friday from noon to 3 p.m. with an ice cream social. Delicious hot dogs and the frozen delicacy will be free. There'll be a petting farm and pony rides at the social.

Don't miss the spectacular fireworks show at Twelve Oaks on Saturday, beginning at 10 p.m., courtesy of the mall.

There will be a commercial exhibit held Thursday from 5-9 p.m. and Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m.-9 p.m. A very special fine arts and crafts show will be held as well. That show will go Friday through Sunday, 10 a.m.-9 p.m. Half will be inside the Expo Center and half outside. Getting from inside to out will be a blast, however, as the walkway between the two areas will be lined with new cars and recreational vehicles from area dealers.

Speaking of cars, the Motorsports Hall of Fame will be open daily. Come and experience auto, cycle, air and boat racing history while visiting the festival. The vehicles shown will change as the Festival goes on—don't miss a one.

If all that weren't enough, Novi Parks & Recreation will host a special softball tournament in Power Park, located on Ten Mile behind the Novi Civic Center. Games will be played Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

It's all part of the Michigan '50s Festival . . . and it's all waiting for you.

Local groups line up to participate in the festival

By MICHELLE HARRISON
Staff Writer

A 1969 Camaro will be the Novi Rotary Club's featured attraction at the annual Michigan '50s Festival, scheduled for July 27-31 in Novi.

"It's the biggest fundraiser for the year," past Rotary president Gary Kelber said.

Kelber said the local civic club will raffle off the car to raise money for its programs.

"We're looking to net enough to fund all of our scholarship programs . . . the senior citizen's Christmas luncheon, donations to the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

Raffle tickets are $2 each or 3 for $5. They are available from all Rotary members, the Novi Parks and Recreation and at city hall.

Other groups who will be fundraising at the festival include:

NOVI SENIOR CENTER: The Novi seniors will be operating the bingo wheel on Thursday, July 28, at the Novi Expo Center.

Center manager Jan McAlpine said the group hasn't set any fundraising goals for this year's event.

"Why frustrate ourselves?" she said. "We'll just use what we get."

Money raised will be used for programming. It may also be used for a proposed memory garden, an area with trees and bushes and a bench, to be located behind the senior center.

NOVI OPTIMIST CLUB and the NOVI FIREFIGHTERS ASSOCIATION: The two groups will split proceeds, 50-50, from its annual pancake breakfast.

The breakfast will be held from 8 a.m. until noon on Saturday and Sunday of the festival.

Besides pancakes, the menu will include sausage, juice and coffee.

"We hope to raise as much as possible," Craig Klaver, Optimist president, said.

Last year, both groups cleared $1,000 each.

The Optimist Club is geared exclusively toward youth—sponsoring boys' and girls' soccer teams, essay and oratorical contests and a scholarship—and will use money raised from the sale for those activities.

AMERICAN LEGION POST 19

Novi Post 19 will have a booth at the Michigan '50s Festival July 28-31. Although the main purpose of the booth will be to sign up new members, Legion members will also sell 3-by 5-foot nylon flags and 17-foot flag pole kits.

ST. JAMES CATHOLIC CHURCH and the NOVI BAND BOOSTERS will host bingo Friday and Saturday nights, respectively.

Cruisers keep the show running

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

The Cruisers of the Michigan '50s Festival may have one thing in common with the authentic 1950s teenage road rambblers—they're at the wheel.

The 45-member group keeps the five-day festival cruising along smoothly from start to finish.

"They're the backbone of the event," said Cindy Kopczynski, coordinator of the Cruisers. "If it weren't for the Cruisers, the festival wouldn't work."

Each year the volunteers throw on their '50s Fest gear and begin the work that keeps the festival steered down the path to success, such as directing traffic, parking cars, selling tickets, manning the Entertainment and Family tents and working the information booth.

The activities the Cruisers do may not sound like your idea of fun, especially in the hot July weather, but the volunteers say that being involved and making new friends is what makes it so enjoyable.

For Novi resident Rob Bethel, being a Cruiser is a regular part of his summer plans each year because he enjoys reminiscing about his teenage years . . . and he loves the music.

"My wife says once a year I transcend back to my youth," said Bethel, who graduated from high school in 1959.

Bethel, who likes to steal away from the work every once in a while and dance, said he also enjoys the friendships he has made.

"It's a fun group," he said, adding that being a Cruiser sometimes means lending a helping hand to someone who needs it. "We do a lot of work, but we have a good time with it."

The Cruisers will be easy to spot in case someone has questions or needs help, they will be wearing red T-shirts with the festival's logo on the front and the group's name sake on the back and white shorts.

Being a Cruiser is open to anyone who is interested. A one-time $10 membership fee is required to help pay for the T-shirts, and participants must fill out a form at the Novi Chamber of Commerce.

The Cruisers will be faced with more of a challenge in keeping things in order this year with the festival's move to the Novi Expo Center, but Kopczynski said the group has planned for it and is ready.

"It will kind of be like starting all over again with the Expo Center," she said. "But I'm confident that things will run smoothly."

Skip Tuck, a Cruiser who has been volunteering since the first '50s Festival seven years ago, said she enjoys the overall atmosphere the festival brings to Novi, not to mention the music and the cars.

"I look forward to it every year," she said. "The car show always brings us back to our teenage years."

Once people get involved with the Cruisers, they are usually there to stay, Kopczynski said.

"For the five days of the festival, we are all best buddies," she said. "We get a lot of people who do it year after year."

Top acts to perform at '50s Festival

Rock 'n' roll is here to stay, it will never die. It was meant to be that way, though I don't know why.

—Danny & The Juniors

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Does the question even need to be asked? Because rock 'n' roll is wedded to the memories of an entire generation, memories that parents have passed on to their children.

"Hound Dog." "That'll Be The Day." "Rock Around the Clock." The music of the America's middle decade is a part of all of us.

It's also a part of the Michigan '50s Festival. Bands of many different styles will carry you back to the age of ducktail, when we liked Ike, loved Elvis and danced a decade away in front of a shiny Wurlitzer jukebox.

Bands will perform in the entertainment tent and family tent at the festival site. Admission will be charged to the nightly entertainment tent show and you must be 21 or over

Among the exciting musical artists that will perform at the '50s Festival are:

■ The Drifters, truly an American legend. Including original members of the group, this is a band that's had no less than 29 charted singles in its illustrious 25-year career. Get ready to hear classics like "There Goes My Baby," "This Magic Moment," "Up on the Roof" and "Under the Boardwalk."

■ Ohio rockers The Great Pretenders, who specialize in the music that rocked America from 1953 to 1973. They combine the original artists' flavor with a strong '90s sound. The Great Pretenders will sing all your favorites, from the Righteous Brothers to The Beach Boys to The Moody Blues.

■ Country-western entertainers Tracey Lynne & Heartland will perform. A native of nearby New Hudson, Lynn is an area legend and is making a name for herself in country music's capital, Nashville. Enjoy Lynne &

Heartland do top 40 country in their own unique style.

■ When you talk the tops of '50s and '60s rock shows, you're talking about The Hubcaps. Out of Delaware, the band has played all over the nation, bringing classic do-wop back as the art form it is. The Hubcaps specialize in doing your favorite songs like the original artists, as well as their own medley tributes to them.

■ Area band The Teen Angels.

If you're looking for family fun and music, don't miss the goings-on in the family tent, which are open to all. There you'll find:

■ Have a great time—without your shoes—at the Friday night family sock hop. It's free of charge and open to all. Rocking the house will be Bobby Sox & The Greasers.

■ Danny Vann, the man who brings Elvis to life, will present his classic salute to the King as well. Viva Las Vegas—and Vann!

Here's the schedule:

THE MICHIGAN '50s FESTIVAL

The hits that made the '50s great

As is typical, the events we generally think of as "defining" an era or a decade don't necessarily correspond to the actual dates of that decade.

So it was with "The Fifties," the decade most of us equate with the birth of Rock 'n' Roll.

The very first rock 'n' roll hit didn't actually break into Billboard magazine's record charts until 1955.

And some of the truly great Fifties-era rock 'n' roll hits were still being recorded as late as 1964 — CHAPEL OF LOVE, by The Dixie Cups; RAG DOLL, by The Four Seasons; PRETTY WOMAN, by Roy Orbison; and LEADER OF THE PACK, by The Shangri-Las.

But by that time, the British were already invading, surf tunes were coming in waves and Motown was revving up, all working together to usher in an entirely new decade which would come to be known, sure enough, as "The Sixties."

What follows is a chronology of the records (45 rpm singles) that reached the number one position on the charts during "The Fifties" (1955-63), not all of which were rock 'n' roll.

The hits are listed by record title, the artist who recorded them, the date they first hit the number one position, and the number of weeks they stayed there. For '55 through '58, the list is a combination of four charts used by Billboard until the magazine consolidated them into a single list in '59.

The Golden Years of Television

By CAROL WORKENS
Special Writer

As the lights began to dim in the radio studios, the curtain was going up in the television studios.

"In the late 1940s and early '50s, television almost killed radio," said Mel Wasserman, adjunct professor at Schoolcraft College. "Too many people thought television was a fad." Television was given till 1956 when the fad was expected to burn out.

But television began to move into the forefront. There were just over 3 million television sets in use, compared to 50 million radio sets. The audience was spending equal time with the radio as the television. By 1955, 31 million homes had televisions. The pendulum swung in favor of television by 1960, with individuals viewing five hours of television a day compared to only two hours of listening to the radio. The number of radio sets was not declining but slowly moving out of the living rooms and into the bedrooms, kitchens and workshops of America.

In 1950, radio offered a tremendous selection of programs from comedy to drama, from music to news, and contemporary discussions. Television was using the same format that had proved successful for radio for years, but with the integration of sight, sound, motion and immediacy, television had a decided advantage over radio.

Sponsors began pulling out of radio and shows were cancelled.

Many actors were able to make the transition to the new medium in those early years. The move from radio to television could be compared to the move from silent movies to the talkies, and there were those that could not make the switch.

There were actors that made it to television, and actors that didn't. Lou Costello, George Burns, Jack Webb, Sid Caesar, Imogene Coca, Red Skelton, Milton Berle, Arthur Godfrey, Jimmy Durante, Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, Jack Benny, George Burns, Dinah Shore are some that were able to adapt from radio to the new medium. Some had regular shows and others appeared frequently.

There were comedy shows, name shows, and quiz shows. Some of the most popular were Texas Star Theatre with Milton Berle, Toast of the Town with Ed Sullivan, What's My Line, The Jackie Gleason Show, Your Show of Shows, Howdy Doody, The Mickey Mouse Club, Lassie, Ted Mack's Amateur Hour and Walt Disney Presents. Ed Murrow had the first interview and commentary program. There were wrestling matches and roller-skating derbies.

There were radio shows that adapted to television. Amos 'n' Andy moved to television in 1951 from radio where it had been a successful show since 1928. However, with the growing anger over black stereotyping, the show was off the air by 1966.

Another popular radio show, Guns, Smoke, moved to television in 1955, triggering more than 30 western spinoffs by 1959.

"Programming runs in cycles," said Wasserman. There have been doctor shows, lawyer shows, and cop shows.

Jack Webb had been playing private detectives on the radio and when he moved to television, he developed Sgt. Joe Friday and Dragnet.

"Television eats up material rapidly," said Wasserman. Theater programs ran through the existing plays and short stories in no time and had to turn to script writers.

The successful Dragnet program used case histories from the Los Angeles police files from which to write scripts. Webb had once been quoted as saying "there never will be anything in Dragnet I wouldn't want my own kids to see."

"Television is the most influential medium we have with youngsters today," Wasserman said of the need to monitor what programs are viewed.

"Milton Berle had the first successful show," said Wasserman of the former vaudeville performer. "Shows would close so people could watch his show." Then I Love Lucy came along in 1951 and topped all other programs in the ratings, including Berle's.

Another popular show was The $64,000 Question. A show whose phenomenal rise was unpredicted. People would stay home to follow a contestant's progress.

"There was the impact of television to make heroes out of individuals that radio could not do," Wasserman said.

"There is a psychological impact of having it (the individual) in your own home."

Some of the very successful programs such as I Love Lucy, which ran weekly for 23 years; The Guiding Light, which has been on for more than 40 years, Captain Kangaroo which began in 1955, all have the basic premise—the actors must convince the audience to empathize with and care about the characters they are portraying. There must be a sense of family and the characters must have habits, foibles and responses to similar situations we know, just as we know those of our own friends and family. Characters do not deviate from their habits, unlike real people.

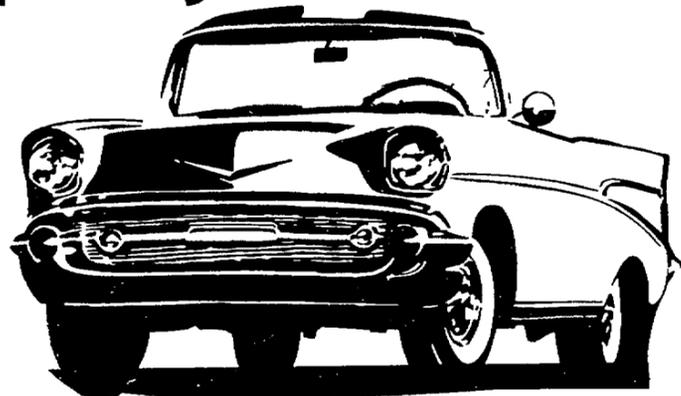

"On the local channels in Detroit, there was Lady of Charm, a cooking program; George Perrot; Soupy Sales; and Johnny Ginger," Wasserman said.

THE MICHIGAN '50s FESTIVAL

Festival is making its own memories

The '50s generated a lot of memories for those who were there, but these days the Michigan '50s Festival is generating memories of its own.

"I was in the Lip Sync talent show at the first festival. I did 'Where the Boys Are' in a dress, like Connie Francis. I wore a flowery mumu, a brown wig and long yellow knee socks and combat boots. I had balloons in and I made them pop during the song. It was something I did during college, too."

"I got to kiss Ed Kriewall. It was Sadie Hawkins Day and I wanted him in front row, center. I did this whole routine. The song says 'Where the boys are, someone waits for me.' I grabbed him and gave him a big smack on the lips."

"I grabbed Ed Kriewall because (then-mayor) Matt Quinn wasn't there."

David Ruyle
Commissioner
Novi Parks and Recreation

Crawford was on the committee which put together the first Michigan 50s Festival in 1988.

"That was the first major festival to come into the city. It was a bad accident ready to happen. We had these great ideas. We booked Sha-Na-Na. We thought we had it all planned out. We didn't realize that these headliner bands want special foods, they want a trailer by their dressing room for them to use. We had the expense of flying them in."

"Then came the big rains. Because of a tornado warning, we lost our walk-in audience. The band's equipment was damaged. Someone was almost electrocuted. People were irate that they didn't get to see the show. It was horrible."

"We really stuck our necks out on that one and almost got them chopped off. Other people might have been totally defeated after the first year. This group persevered and the festival's been wildly successful."

Kathy Crawford
Special Coordinator
Novi Parks and Recreation

"The toughest time we had was the first festival. We had to close the beer tent, the wind was so high. We had almost gale force winds and heavy rains. Inside the tent, the poles raised a foot off the ground. That was at the original site, Novi Town Center."

"We evacuated the tent. Those of us who stayed, the workers, were all sitting on the tables. There was one-and-a-half feet of water in the tent."

Novi Police Chief, Retired

THE MICHIGAN '50s FESTIVAL

Dating styles have changed since '50s

By MICHELLE HARRISON
Staff Writer

If you were going steady with someone in the 1950s, you probably wore one another's class rings or ID bracelets.

Chances are, you probably even wore matching shirts, sweaters or blazers.

"If you worked yourself up to going steady with someone, it was a big commitment," said Kathy Crawford, special recreation coordinator for the Novi Parks and Recreation. "It would be like being engaged now."

DATING

Today, dating principles remain the same, Crawford said. Teenagers just aren't hanging out at sock hops and soda shops anymore.

"We grew up in Novi," said Crawford, who dated her now husband Hugh during the 1950s. "Dating in Novi was pretty uneventful."

Crawford did recall the square dances that were held at old Rebecah Hall located where the Novi Town Center is now located.

"They had a square dance there every week," she said. "When you turned 15 or 16 it was a big thing to get to go to the dances."

Teenagers of the '50s would also go on dates to Walled Lake Amusement Park or meet other teens through church youth groups.

"Rollerskating was something a lot of people did when they went on dates," Crawford said. "It seemed like everything evolved around school or the church."

Of course, like today, there's always the old standby for a date—going to a movie.

In the 1950s, the only theaters around were the Civic in Farmington and the P & A (now the Marquis) Theater in Northville.

Or, teens would hop into their hot rods and cruise the Bel-Nor Drive-in theater, once located at Seven Mile and Northville roads in Northville, or the A & W in Farmington Hills.

Dating was more monogamous back in the times of James Dean and Ricky Nelson. If you had a boyfriend, you usually stuck with him for a while, according to Crawford.

"People who jumped around from boyfriend to boyfriend or girlfriend to girlfriend got a bad reputation," she said.

WHAT THEY WERE WEARING

Pink was the in color—not for girls, but for guys—in the 50s. Pink shirts and pink striped and polka-dotted ties were the rage.

The "greasers" didn't think pink, however, and sported T-shirts, leather jackets and jeans.

For the boys, it was "in" to wear denim jeans with rolled up cuffs, slacks with buckles in the back, V-neck sweaters and button-down striped shirts. Loafers completed the look.

The girls experimented with their feminine and tom-boy sides during the fashion era of the '50s, dressing up in full dresses with crinoline and dressing down to rolled up denim jeans topped with a man's shirt. Of course, there was the ever popular poodle skirt and sweater style. Footwear fashion included brown and white saddle shoes and loafers.

HAIR TODAY, GONE TOMORROW

The flat top, or crew cut, was one of the most popular hair styles for the boys. Greasers rebelled, however, growing their hair long enough to style it into a ducktail. Some high schools even banned boys from sporting the ducktail.

It was ponytails, bound with colorful scarves, and a hairstyle called "the poodle" that were the rave of dos for girls in the '50s.

IT'S HIP, MAN

If you were a hip cat, you might have used the following slang:

You're car was a set of wheels, its tires were skins and the bumper was a nerf-bar.

If you told you mom and dad you were going to the drive-in, you really meant to say you were headed for the passion pit.

Your date's a bore, so he's a square or a nose-bleed.

Girls were chicks, guys were cool, neat or smooth.

TODAY

Crawford may be right when she says the principles of dating remain the same as when she was a teenager. But the rules have changed.

"A very serious dating tip . . . is that people ought to get to know each other . . . before they even start dating," the Rev. Jim Russell, a singles pastor of Northville Presbyterian Church's Single Place, advised. "I've seen it in both younger and older people, they do not become friends. They go straight to dating to being intimate."

THE MICHIGAN '50s FESTIVAL

Where were you back in the Fifties?

Where were you; what were you doing?

It was the 1950s—and these Novi residents were there. Here's a few fond memories recently shared with the Novi News.

ED KRIEWALL: Novi's city manager (and founder of the Michigan '50s Festival) grew up in Bay City, where he scaled the community's water tower to leave his high school's mark in big painted letters, "Class of 1959."

"It was kind of scary crawling up there. I think that was a tradition every year, they didn't seem to care...

"I was busy going to high school and having a good time. I was probably your average student. I played in the band. The trumpet. I was one of the crew cut and jeans kind of guy.

"The big thing in Bay City was cruising the drive-in restaurants. We had a strip with seven or eight drive-ins within a half mile... The drive-ins were taken over pretty much by the high school and college kids. There were no adults on site. We'd sit in the car and watch everybody drive by. It was common for the police, the state police post was next to the drive-ins, they spent a lot of time quieting everybody down. Surprisingly, everybody was well-behaved. There wasn't much drinking going on. I was pretty well-behaved, but I enjoyed myself.

"I had a '52 Mercury, maroon, hood and trunk leaded in with fender skirts and summer hubcaps. It was lowered. It did look good. We used to glass pack the mufflers and the police had a field day writing me tickets. It was a pretty little car. I paid $500 for it with money I earned myself by pumping gas at my father's marina."

KEITH TAPPAN, SR: The 1991 president of the Novi Chamber of Commerce had a flair for organization early on. A Detroit's Cooley High School Class of '56 graduate, Tappan was a charter member of the Ty-Rods, 25 guys who liked to get together and cruise the avenues—Woodward and Grand River. They patronized the drive-in restaurants like Ted's on Long Lake Road and the Totem Pole between Ten and Eleven Mile Road—the kind of hotspots where the car hops rode roller skates and the kids were cool.

Tappan favored pulled up shirt collars and Levis with his Ty-Rod jacket. His car of choice—a 1957 Chevy V8, two-door hardtop, black with white top and black and silver interior.

"I started driving when I was 15 and I was immediately souping up the cars that were technically my mother's, but I drove them all the time. She didn't know I was souping them... I cut the coils from the front wheels. It was called a rake. The front end raked the street. She always wondered about that, why it rode so rough."

"A bunch of guys got together and worked on cars and went drag racing and actually didn't get into trouble. Beer was the worst thing and that was so rare, it was almost never seen. The next worst thing was we had a couple guys that smoked cigarettes. (Tappan says he didn't indulge in either.)"

"I wore my hair in a Hollywood. Long on the sides and back and a brush on the top. The front was long. The guys would do that swirl in the front. There weren't any blow dryers back then. Everybody had the slicked back hair look."

"Girls were not a big thing. We had the cars. The cars took precedence. If the girls wanted to go along, they could go. We had a couple of gals who would tag along."

MARTY FELDMAN: The owner of Mary Feldman Chevrolet started in business at an early age. Feldman said he lived for baseball in the 1950s.

"I was cleaning the seats at Tiger Stadium, it used to be the Briggs park. That was the biggest thing in my life. That was the only thing. I could get in the ball park. I just had my palms out for my tips as I cleaned the seats. Then I cleaned the seats."

MATTHEW QUINN: A Kalamazoo native, Former Mayor Matt Quinn spend ages 3 to 13 in the 1950s. In an era where the celebrities included the likes of Mickey Mantle, Al Kaline, Willie Mays and Hank Aaron, Novi's future mayor dedicated most of his free time to sports, particularly baseball.

"We used to collect baseball cards. If my mom hadn't thrown them out, I'd be rich right now."

"Davy Crockett was a hero. I can remember getting up early in the morning—we lived upstairs above my grandmother, she had the first black and white TV in the neighborhood—I used to sneak down to the first thing in the morning and watch the test pattern until the TV shows came on. Captain Midnight, Buck Rodgers, Howdy Doodly was one of my favorites. And Kukla, Fran and Ollie... I can remember having a riding horse, and a cowboy hat and a pair of guns. Hopalong Cassidy, Gene Autry and Roy Rogers were on. A lot of TV was watched on Saturdays."

MARTHA HOYER: Former City Council Member Martha Hoyer, a member of the Cass Tech High School's Class of '56, the 1950s were a time for pajama parties, bobby sox, saddle shoes and pony tales—when she wasn't setting her hair in pin curls.

"I never had a poodle skirt but I had a taffeta dress with three-inch heels. You made noise when you walked because taffeta is so stiff. I must have had around 12 crinoline. You usually wore about six or seven (at a time). You'd starch them stiff so they stood alone. They were scratchy. You put a nice nylon slip underneath so you didn't feel it so badly.

KATHY MUTCH: President of the Novi Historical Society, was born in 1948, just in time to spend some of her favorite years in the 1950s—the golden age of television cowboy shows. As a kid in Denver, Colorado, Sky King and Davy Crockett seemed like the kind of folks who'd fit right in.

"I can remember we used to have air raid drills, the way people have tornado drills now. In some cases, you'd have to go under a desk or go out into the hallway and put your head between your knees. They were called air raid drills—everybody knew what they were about. It was just part of school. We never were a family that stocked food in the basement. People didn't really think about the effects of nuclear war. They had these unreal expectations that somehow it was survivable."

Novi was just so much farm land back then

By RICK BYRNE
Staff writer

When post-war prosperity swept America in a wave of automobiles, rock 'n' roll and little pink houses, the Township of Novi rode the crest as well.

The Novi of the early '50s was not much different from what it had been when it was founded, a crossroads on the way to someplace else.

Such as Progress with the capital "P" rolled across the country, it was not long before the apple orchards gave way to subdivisions.

During the decade of the 1950s, Novi's population nearly doubled. From a township of 3,500 people in 1950, Novi's population grew to 6,490 in 1960. At the time of its incorporation in 1958, it was Michigan's largest village.

"It was real country then," said George McCollum, who grew up in Novi and currently owns Novi Drug.

"The 'Four Corners' (as locals called the then-town center) was Novi Road and Grand River," he said, and likened Novi of the '50s to New Hudson as it stands today.

At the intersection was a farm implement dealer with a large barn just east on Grand River, a few gas stations, a confectionary and Matt Moeren's general store. There one could purchase everything from penny candy to horse collars.

"They'd show live movies at the barn for the kids," McCollum recalled. "The parents would go across the street to Ben's Bar where they held wrestling matches, right there in the front window. It was pretty wild."

Summer weekends were a busy time in Novi as cars rolled up and down Grand River and Novi Road on their way to vacation cottages in Walled Lake and the Brighton area. Walled Lake also drew huge crowds for the Walled Lake Amusement Park with its roller coaster and other rides.

One could ride the lake in Chris Craft speedboats or snack on french fries dipped in vinegar. Adults flocked to the lakeshore for the New Casino dance hall, which played host to Glenn Miller, the Dorsey brothers, all the big name acts.

Traffic backed up Novi Road at Grand River for a mile and a half," said McCollum. "People were heading home from Walled Lake, and every Sunday would watch car races would come over the top of the hill and smash into the rear end of each other."

The congestion ended in the late '50s with the building of the Farmington-Brighton Expressway, now known as I-96.

"Everyone thought it would kill the town," said McCollum, "but it just made it expand."

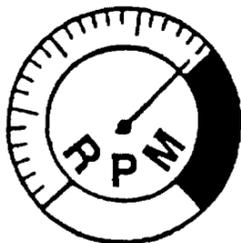

Though subdivisions dominate the Novi landscape today, they were only just starting to encroach on the township in the latter part of the decade. Willowbrook Estates, Oakwood and Yerkes were among the earliest developments.

Duane Bell ran a retail sporting goods store at the time, and outfitted

THE MICHIGAN '50s FESTIVAL

Fifties Fest making modern memories

"The Lip Sync. When we did 'Hit the Road, Jack.' That was the first one. We (city staff) also did one about the Novi City Council—'Day-O, Day-O. Daylight comes and we want to go home.'"

"That was when the council meetings were going so late. I was Hugh Crawford. I wore glasses and a hat. I had a good time doing that."

"My Lip Sync days are over. I did three of them."

Denise Holmes
Receptionist
Novi City Manager's office

"One of the Cruisers was there on the very last day when they invite everybody up on stage to dance. So everybody got up. A little bit later, her son came into the tent looking for her. I said, 'The last time I saw your mother she was dancing on the stage.'"

"He said, 'My mother? By herself?' I said, 'Yeah, sure.' He was totally embarrassed."

Cindy Stewart
Novi's Director of Public Information
President of the Michigan '50s Festival

A few years ago, Sosynski put up an exhibit of 1950s clothing at the festival, with many of the items pulled from her own closets.

"When my mother went to look at it, half the stuff was hers and she'd given it to me a long time ago and couldn't remember it all. She complimented a bracelet and said 'I had a bracelet just like that.' I said, 'That is your bracelet.'"

"My aunt loved seeing her wedding gown in the exhibit. It was a change for me to work on the 1950s rather than the 1850s."

Jo Marie Sosynski
Novi Historical Commissioner

"The thrill of the Sock Hop and seeing people arrive in their costumes, that was kinda cool. Everybody was really upbeat and extraordinarily friendly on the bus going from hotel-to-hotel. You got to meet different people."

"I had fun dancing The Twist with Ed Kriewall, the city manager. Here's to stepping out again this year."

Gina Mathews
From the front desk
of The Novi News

"I was sloshing beers for the Chamber of Commerce in the Entertainment Tent during the big Friday night concert. Of course, we poured a few badly and—well—we had to get rid of them somehow. By the end of the night, I was playing an air guitar duet with Phil Morosco, the general manager of Twelve Oaks Mall."

Mike Malott
Managing Editor
The Novi News

"Nothing usually terribly amusing happens at the information booth. We usually have time to talk to people and find out where they're from. One couple came from Ohio. The husband had been here on a business trip the year before and came to the festival. He enjoyed it so much he came back the next year with his wife."

"I enjoy seeing the little kids who dress up. My daughter is giving me a fit because she wants a new poodle skirt."

Fast forward back to the '50s

hunters who came to the area to take pheasants, or fishers who pulled suckers and pike from area rivers.

"It wasn't anything you would call suburban then," said Bell, a recently retired postal worker. "There were some bigger orchards around then, like Erwin's up there on Ten Mile."

One thing was the same in the '50s as it is now, though. Lee BeGole was still the police chief. In fact, he was chief, cook and bottle-washer for the one-man force, which was housed at a single desk in the back of the township fire hall, now abandoned on Novi Road south of Grand River.

"We had one squad car, and I owned it," BeGole said. "Then later we had a 1955 Chevy two-door, which the township bought."

Officially known as Novi Township Director of Public Safety, BeGole answered the phone—Northville 705 was the number under the old system—and sounded the alarm for the all-volunteer fire force in the event of a blaze. He was the township's only full-time employee.

While on patrol, BeGole would keep an eye on several drive-ins that dotted Grand River. Another popular stop for passers-through was the diner, fashioned from an old trolley car, which used to be at the site of the current Rosewood.

For citizens of Novi, shopping needs required a trip to one of the larger nearby towns.

"My wife, she used to go to Northville or Farmington," said Bell. "There was no A & P or Kroger's out here then. Almost anything you had to shop for, you had to go out of town."

One thing that brought people into town, often from as far away as Detroit, was Jansen's Buttermilk. The dairy off Grand River west of Haggerty was as much of a draw for buttermilk then as Guernsey is for ice cream today.

1994 STATEMENT

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT PROGRAM

WE'RE BUILDING WORLD-CLASS COMMUNITIES

Edward H. McNamara
County Executive

Edward H. McNamara
Wayne County Executive

Our mission at Wayne County is to build a world-class county... a county that is an excellent place to live, work and play.

Dear Citizen:

The purpose of this 1994 Community Development Block Grant Final Statement is to inform you as to how your local community intends to spend the federal Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds which it will receive this program year.

Wayne County administers CDBG money for local communities and the federal government in a partnership that dates back several years. This partnership now extends to 30 communities, including yours.

Since 1987 the Wayne County Community Development Block Grant Program has invested more than $17 million in various projects in local communities. This program has made a significant difference in the lives of thousands of people - some of whom may be your friends or neighbors.

As you can see from the following listing of projects, Block Grant dollars fund programs which benefit senior citizens, troubled youth, domestic violence victims and other groups in need. This funding also benefits the community as a whole, providing for such projects as road and sewer construction, new firefighting equipment, or parks and recreation projects.

This 1994 statement includes the projects planned for your community as well as the names and phone numbers of the staff person responsible for administering the CDBG program in your community. I encourage you to contact your local representative with comments or questions.

Our mission at Wayne County is to build a world-class county... a county that is an excellent place to live, work and play. And we can achieve our mission through strong partnerships with our local communities and citizens.

Sincerely,

Edward H. McNamara
Wayne County Executive
