Stalking cases investigated in township

By RANDY COBLE Staff Writer Already pur

Already pursuing charges against one individual for stalking. Northville Township police are now investigating another man in a second, unrelated case.

The man is a 30-year-old Wixom resident and the ex-boyfriend of a township woman. Police say he has been harassing her since December 1993. The most recent incident took place three days before Christmas of last year.

The woman told police that the man has repeatedly called and attempted to see her despite her insistence that he stop doing so. She has filed three complaints with police since August and police have arrested the suspect

Despite that, on Dec 22 the man allegedly came to the woman's place of work. He allegedly left a dozen roses, said "Merry Christmas" to her and left.

The woman then called police. saying that she was "extremely terrifled" at what the man dld. Township police arrested him shortly after the incident in the parking lot of Meijer.

The man denied even being in Northville since the summer, ife also denied involvement in an incident which officers investigated two days before.

On Dec. 20, two men told police they saw an individual fitting the man's description walking between residences near where the woman lives. They claimed he constantly watched them as they watched him The man said he was in Detroit at the time of the incident.

In a similar but unrelated case, the man charged with stalking his ex-wife, a township resident, awaits a February trial date in Wayne County Circuit Court

The 60 year old Oak Park restdent is free on bond but faces two charges of aggravated stalking That is a felony offense in Michigan, carrying a maximum prison sentence of five years

The woman filed a number of complaints with police about the man, leading to his arrest in Octo-

. After pleading not guilty to a first stalking charge, the man posted $1,000 eash ball and was released

He then allegedly continued to stalk her, leading to a second arrest and a second stalking

Public to have say on golf course plan

By RANDY COBLE

Residents of Northville Township will have their chance Tuesday to sound off about a controversial subdivision/golf course proposal slated for Six Mile and Sheldon Roads

The township's planning commission at its meeting on Jan 10 will hold a public hearing on a proposed development plan for the Brooklane/Haller properties The proposal calls for a 280-lot subdivision and nine-hole golf course on 99 acres of land composed of the existing 18-hole Brooklane golf course and the rialler parcel, the land in question occupies the southeast and northeast corners of Six and Sheldon

Farmington Hills developer Gary Sakwa is behind the plan. He has offered to give the township the course and a swimming pool he would build on the site in return for approving the subdivision which has a higher home density than ordinance normally allows

This summer, the commission tabled the plan asking the board

Mayor: Mainstreet was high point of '94

If there is one thing that 1994 made perfectly clear, it's that the city of Northville is on its way up. officials say And, according to Mayor Chris Johnson, this year should prove to be more of the

One of the most visible and long-awaited strides the city made in 1994 was the completion of the Mainstreet '93 project, which cul-minated in downtown Northville's two parking decks - on time and under budget.

"It's hard to get excited about a parking deck," Johnson said with a chuckle, reflecting on the past year."But it's been good for the city and it will continue to be an improvement in the future. I think people are really pleased."

City Manager Gary Word said. construction of the decks helped to substantially solve the parking problem in the city and sceing it completed is a relief

"This was something we had been talking about for the past 10 years," Word said "We had a num ber of stumbling blocks that came and went but finally we were able to get it done "

Other major developments for the city last year were not as tangible as the parking decks, yet equally monumental, Johnson said The climination of the city's budget deficit and voter approval of the district library will positively affect Northville in years to come,

"Talk about a near-death experience," said Johnson of 1991 when the city learned that Lansing would be withholding race track revenue from the city, leaving Northville without nearly $800,000 it had been counting on "Everything was literally on the table " Since 1991, administrators have grappled with the deficit, working toward digging the city out of the red Back in November, the city's annual audit showed they had been successful. Not only had Northville's $149,476 deficit been eliminated, it was converted into a $148,373 fund balance "I don't really look at it as being out of the woods yet " Johnson said. We are still teeling the effects. But the fact that we are

Doctor to help in Third World

By YVONNE BEEBE Staff Writer

It takes a special type of person to travel to a third-world, impoverished country in the hopes of help-

Dr. Louis Chiara, a dermatologist at Providence Medical Center in downtown Northville, is just that type of person - someone who wants to make a difference.
Last week, Chiara flew down to Nicaragua for nine days to see if his medical expertise can be of any help to the people of the destitute central American country.

"I don't know what I'm going to find down there," said Chiara, 47, who has practiced in Northville since 1987. "It's going to be an experience."

Chiara, who lives in Commerce Township but feels like a part of the Northville community, said he went into medicine to help others and traveling to a less-fortunate country to offer his services has been a long-time dream of his.

When you graduate, you have all these high ideals, but you also have a lot of debt," he said.

The village Chiara plans to visit has no electricity, no running water and the majority of the homes have dirt floors, he said.

Chiara, who also practiced internal medicine for a number of years and is on the clinical faculty at Wayne State Medical School, said the nine-day trip is purely exploratory. Later in the year he plans to return for a longer period

"I'm going down there to see what needs to be done," he said. Right now I'm just laying the groundwork for future trips. I hope to find other people that would like to help."

The people of Nicaragua need medical assistance, but civil engincers who could help clean-up contaminated water sources or bring solar energy to the village would also be extremely helpful,

Army meets fund-raiser kettle goal

By YVONNE BEEBE Staff Writer

The Northville, Plymouth and Canton communities dove head-long into the spirit of giving this holiday season when it came to the Salvation Army's annual fundraising kettle drive.

"We had a fantastic drive this year," said army's Lieutenant Randall Van Landingham. "The people were really wonderful."

This year's drive, with both volunteer bell ringers and mail solicitation, began during the week of Thanksgiving and ended on Christmas Eve. The dual effort was extremely successful with the army exceeding its end-of-Decem-

Accident leads to two arrests

By RANDY COBLE Staff Writer

It was a very unhappy new year for two local men. Their only chance to sing Auld Lang Syne came as they sat handcuffed in the back of a Northville Township

Both were arrested for drunk driving after they got into a traffic accident near Seven Mile and Northridge Drive at about 10 minutes before midnight on Dec. 31. One is 18 and a Northville resident. The other is 28 and lives in

BFI to decide what's next in plans for compost site

By RANDY COBLE Staff Writer

It's all quiet on the compost

Browning-Ferris Industries (BFI) still hasn't decided what to do about its compost recycling center. but that could change soon.

BFI's first plan for the compost center provoked a lot of controversy. Company and Northville Township officials spent nine months discussing a possible expansion of the center during 1992 and '93. BFI's current compost site is part of its Salem Township landfill facility, located just over the Northville Township border near Six Mile and Napier Roads.

The company tried to get township permission for a 20-acre compost site in return for a number of controls and concessions. BFI also wanted a chance to ask permission for 20-acre expansions up to a maximum of 80 acres, a request they dropped during the final phase of the negotiations.

The township board of trustees

Those voting against it cited concerns over potential odor problems and a possible decline in nearby property values.

In the 10 months since, company officials have debated what to do next. They agree that BFI must find more room for its composting operations, representative Bob Line said, but haven't made up their minds yet on where to look.

"We're still discussing the situation internally," Line said this week. "We should be reaching some kind of a decision soon."

Also in the hopper are possible changes to township ordinance that would regulate composting operations.

This past fall, the board agreed to ask the Water & Sewer Department to look at the issue and make recommendations on new solld waste ordinance language.

Trustee Russ Fogg was a strong critic of the BFI proposal. He recommended the ordinance changes, saying he wanted the township to another company tried to gain approval for a compost operation.

Fogg said he had two specific provisions in mind. One would be to limit the amount of nitrogen in composted materials in relation to the amount of carbon or wood chips. That, he hopes, will cut down on odor problems

Second, Fogg said that the township should ban outdoor composting He proposed that all commercial compost operations be enclosed in a building of no more than 100,000 square feet. Another issue to explore, he added, is ordinance amendments limiting what goes into compost piles aside from natural materials, such as pesti-

Members of the board said that any ordinance rules governing composting should make a distinction between large-scale, for-profit operations and small-amount piles on homes or farms.

State might try to sell old property

By RANDY COBLE Staff Woter

For sale one hulding, located in Northville Township Fixer-upper's dream. Price negotiable Call the state of Michigan.

Are you in the market for some new office space? Don't mind putting in a little - or a lot - of elbow grease to square it away? If so, keep an eye on Five Mile and Sheldon Roads.

The state owns land on either side of that intersection that sits next to hundreds of Wayne County-owned properties in the area. It may put a building on the northeast corner up for sale by the end

The edifice in question is the old administration building of the Plymouth Center for Human Develop ment, which was once a home for mentally impaired children. The center was closed down as the state began to phase in group home care for the children

Since then, it's sat vacant. It continues to be heated in order to avoid burst pipes due to the winter cold but has suffered from neglect and vandalism in recent years

That was part of the reason that Northville Township officials rejected an idea to use the build-

The state and township officials had discussed the idea of giving or cheaply selling the structure to the township for use as additional office or police/fire department

Township officials eventually abandoned their hopes for a number of reasons, particularly because of the money needed to renovate and modify the building. Now, Lansing may decide to put it on the market, state Sen Robert Geake, R-Northville, said.

"I have felt for some time that the land should be used for other (state) purposes or be opened up for private development and put back on the tax rolls," Geake said "I think it may now be declared surplus this year."

That is the culmination of the process the state uses to sell excess land. First, the Department of Mental Health will decide if it has a use for the land.

If it does not, Geake said, then the state's Office of Management and Budget will poll other state agencies to see if anyone else needs it. If not, it will be declared surplus and eventually put on the Manager claims her ex-employee went into rage, smashed machines

Northville Township police are investigating a Detroit man for allegedly damaging computer equipment at his former place of employment.

The manager of the business, which is located on Six Mile Road. called police last Wednesday. She said that the man, who is 23, had smashed computer screens and keyboards after he was told he would not be receiving a paycheck.

The man, she said, was "very upset over an error in payroll which resulted in (his) not receiving a paycheck," police reports said After he was notified of the error by phone, the man drove to the business. When the manager told him again that he wouldn't be able to receive a check, he allegedly set to work on the computers.

A decision on whether or not to prosecute the man is expected soon. Damages are estimated at

JEWELRY THEFT: A Hidden Oak Court woman reported the theft of expensive jewelry on Dec.

The woman told police that the theft probably occurred when she was gone from her home the night of Dec. 22-23. She found the baubles gone when she tried to find them last Tuesday. The jewelry is valued at $3,000.

COGNAC CROOK: Township police arrested a Detroit man for attempted larceny at Meijer on

The man, 42, allegedly concealed two bottles of cognac in his coat, then left the store without trying to pay for them. Store detectives stopped him at that point, then called police.

The man was released with a court date after being booked. The liquor is valued at $59.

LARCENY FROM A VEHICLE: A Northville woman reported to Northville City Police that $182 in various items had been stolen from her car that was parked at the public lot located east of Center Street downtown on Monday.

The woman had left the car unlocked. When she returned some computer software, a package of nylons and a tube of mascara were missing. Police have no witnesses or suspects in the case.

DRUNK DRIVING: Township police arrested a Novi man for operating a vehicle while under the influence of liquor (OUIL) one week

The reporting officer in the case said he was parked near the intersection of Eight Mile and Westview last Thursday afternoon, running a radar speed check. He clocked the man doing 69 miles per hour in the 55 mile per hour zone in his 1994 Chevrolet Blazer.

After stopping the man, the officer said he detected signs of intoxication. The man, 40, said he had only drunk two beers a half hour before. Later, the man allegedly admitted to drinking six or seven beers in that 30-minute period and agreed that he was "pretty

The officer later found two empty pint bottles of rum in the Breathalyzer testing at police headquarters later showed the man to have a blood alcohol level of .28 percent, nearly three times the legal limit.. He was released after he sobered up and faces a hearing in 35th District Court on GAS LEAK: Township police and fire officials checked out a gas leak that caused a boy to lose consciousness last week.

A Maxwell Road homeowner phoned police the morning of Dec. 27 to say that there was a natural gas leak in his residence. He said his son had lost consciousness. but during the call the boy regained consciousness. Medical and Consumers Power officials handled the situation.

AUTO THEFT: A 24-year-old Livonia woman reported to Northville City Police that her car had been stolen from the lower level of the Cady Street parking

'Her boyfriend, a 38-year-old Northville man had been using the car at the time. The man reported to police that he parked the car at the Cady Street deck and then left with a friend. When he returned, the car was gone, the man report-

The man said the vehicle was locked and he had the only set of keys in his possession at the time.

Police checked the area and found no glass or debris in the deck or evidence of the car's theft. The woman said payments on the car were up-to-date.

DISORDERLY CONDUCT: Township police handled a problem involving two Webberville residents arguing in the parking lot of the Highland Lakes shopping center last Tuesday evening.

The rian and the woman, both 53, were both intoxicated, the reporting officer in the case said. The woman was on the ground, arguing with the man from that position when he arrived, the officer said. She first said she fell, then alleged that the man had knocked her down.

The officer advised them both not to drive home.

CAR DAMAGED: A Hamtramck man reported damage to his car while visiting a Jamestown Circle resident last Tuesday.

Township police said the man told them he found his 1987 Dodge Lancer with scratches on the rear doors, quarter panels and trunk lid. He said he parked the car in front of the Jamestown Circle home that morning and discovered the scratches late that

Cologne thief pleads guilty to retail fraud

By RANDY COBLE

One of the two men accused of taking part in an autumn theft from the Perry Drugs store in Northville Township is on his way

Nicholas Robert Woods, 46, and Gillisest Meray, 35, were arrested in October and charged with stealing almost $600 worth of cologne from Perry, located in Northville Plaza on Seven Mile

Six weeks ago, Woods pled guilty to and was convicted of retail fraud before Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Bruce Morrow Mcray is contesting the same charge. which carries a penalty of up to five years in prison. He is scheduled to go to trial April 6

A Perry customer saw Woods putting bottles of cologne into a plastic bag the afternoon of Oct 3 As the store manager came out of the back to confront him, Woods left the store without paying for the merchandise.

The manager said he then followed Woods to an older-model Chevrolet Citation, police said Atturned and yelled an expletive, then displayed a snub-nosed handgim

Woods then got into the car, the manager said, with Mcray at the wheel. The two then left Northville Plaza, heading east on Seven Mile Livonia police arrested them a short time later near the intersection of Merriman Road and the I

The cologne is valued at $590 Woods and Meray, both of Detroit, were charged with one count apiece of retail fraud.

Mcray faces an additional charge of aiding and abetting in the incident. Woods faced an additional charge of being an habitual offender. That charge was dropped, however, before Woods pled guilty to fraud.

Persons in Michigan who are convicted of felony offenses can be charged with being an habitual offender. Woods has been convicted of three prior felonies, which meant that he would have faced a sentence of up to 15 years in prison if convicted on the charge.

Suspect rams head into wall in detention office

The Northville Township Meijer store is used to being the home of a good bargain. Some of the store's employees and even a customer got more than they bargained for. however, from a recent would-be shoplifter

Township police say the man. who is 30 and lives in Detroit, assaulted store detectives and damaged a wall on Dec. 22. He will have his say on the charges on Jan 13 in 35th District Court.

Store detectives told police they saw the man put on a leather coat worth $100 and then exit store, making no attempt to pay for it They stopped him right after that, requesting that he accompany them to the Meijer loss prevention

The man then allegedly began to struggle with them, the detectives said. Among those helping to subdue him were a Meijer loss prevention manager trainer, a loss prevention intern and a store customer Together, they eventually got the man handcuffed.

That wasn't the end of things, however. Store officials allege that once the man was taken to the loss prevention office, he began banging his head into the office's wall. Eventually, he made a hole in the drywall with his head causing $100 in damages

He also began fighting with them again, detectives said. They responded by putting the man on the floor where he was found when police arrived

When the officers did come, the man allegedly said. 'Oh you're the real police. I will not give you any trouble

The man was arrested for larce ny, assault and battery and malf cious destruction of property

Salem hopes grant will help with sewer buy

By RANDY COBLE

Salem Township officials are hopeful their community will get a grant from the state of Michigan to build a new sewer system. They're not camping out by the mail box for the check, however, since it's not expected to arrive any time

For more than two decades, the oldest section of Salem Township known as the Hamlet of Salem has had problems with sewage disposal. There are no sanitary sewers there, and Salem officials want to change that by building a new

To do that, they've applied for a state grant. Pat Hagman, Salem's Planning and Zoning Administrator, said that signs are very positive so far.

"We've been told that the money's been set aside," Hagman said, "but we're not exactly sure

The state budget operates on a fiscal year of October 1 to September 30. Hagman said that state officials had indicated that the grant was "for sure not available" in the first quarter of this fiscal year, but was possible for the fourth quarter.

Even if the cash comes through in July-October 1995, the sewer construction project is still in the beginning stages. Final approvals from the necessary agencies are still being received and the first preliminary engineering drawings are yet to be put on paper.

'We've got a long way to go yet. There's a lot of work to do," Hag-man said. Last month, Salem won approval from the board of the Western Townships Utilities Authority (WTUA) for their plan to buy 50,000 gallons a day of sewer capacity from Northville Township.

approved the deal in principle last year. Salem needs a place to ship the waste collected by the sewer system that the grant will build. If all goes well, they'll be able to ship the sewage for treatment in the

The next stop for approval for the proposed deal is the Ypsilanti Community Utilities Authority, possibly as early as January.

Northville township trustees in October voted 7-0 in favor of the tentative agreement. The deal will earn Northville almost $900,000 for its multi-million-dollar WTUA construction debt

Some members of the board had concerns about the sale. The sewer flow they sell today, they said, may be needed later as the township continues to develop. The sale of 50,000 gallons enough for about 250 homes could mean 250 fewer homes in Northville Township in 20 years, they said.

Supporters of the deal, however, said that wasn't likely to happen An engineering study of the town ship's WTUA system concludes that Northville Township has a signifleant chunk of extra capacity now and will retain that surplus at "build out." The 50,000 gallons is about 1.4 percent of the system's total capacity now and about 0.6 percent of the ultimate capacity of the WTUA system.

If everyone consents, the agreement will be good for 40 years. If Salem at some point wants out of the deal. Northville has the option but not the obligation - to buy the capacity back

Mill Race Matters

As each year ends and a new one begins, many people look back over the past and pause to reflect. The Northville Historical Society wishes to thank all those who have aided the organization and its chief project, Mill Race Village over the past years.

This year thanks go to officers and board members, all of the women who stuffed the office. Sally Henrikson, Renee Brown. Betty Omar, Cheryl Gazlay, Rita Turnbull, and Diane Rockall, and the men who gave at least one day a week to keep the buildings in good condition. Bob Russell, Norm, Byron, Marv Reinholtz and Frank Gazlay.

The 50 plus docents who donated one or several Sunday afternoons during the summer and fall also deserve recognition as do the numerous gardeners who continue to enhance the village's beauty each year. Special thanks to the boy and girl scouts who assisted with special Eagle projects during the year.

Special events were planned and coordinated by numerous members. Among them thanks go to Aleata Holmes, Maryanne Barry, Mary Peski, Sonia NEW YEAR!

Take the 11th grade math test of tomorrow

By TIM RICHARD Staff Writer

Math tests tomorrow won't be like math tests yesterday. They'll be more important and more imaginative.

"Tomorrow," in Michigan, means the graduating class of 1997. Students who want a state-endorsed diploma must pass proficiency tests in reading, writing (that's new), math and science. (They can still get the local district's diplomaif they don't qualify for a state endorsement.) The tests will reflect Michigan's new core curriculum standards. adopted by the State Board of Education The tests will emphasize "information processing critical and creative reasoning, and solving real problems. In other words, it is no longer sufficient to simply know' mathematical facts, learners must be able to 'understand' the concepts behind them, according to the core curriculum

QUESTIONS 1) The salaries of 10 employees of a company are: $20,000 $20,000 $21,000 $21,500 $22,000 $22,000 $22,000 $22,500 $50,000

Based on the information above, which of the following statements is false? A. The mode salary is $22,000 B. The upper quartile is $22,500. C The median salary is $22,000. D. The range of salaries is $28,000

2) A company with 3,840 employees must reduce its work force. The table shows the number of employees for each month. At this rate, how many employees will there be in May? Dec. - 3,840 Jan. - 3,440 Feb - 3,240 Mar - 3,140 Apr. - 3,090 May - ??? A. 1,545

B 2,340, C 3,040, D 3,065. 3) Shantelle wants to rent a midsize car for one day. Value Rent-a-Car charges $20 a day plus 20 mid-size car.

A. Determine the mileage where the rental charges are the same. B. For what mileage is it more economical to rent from Value Rent-a-Car? Explain your answer.

4) In a recent public service message, a rock star announced that a person loses 7 minutes of life for every cigarette the person smokes. If a person smokes 20 cigarettes (one pack) a day for the next 10 years, by approximately how many years will his or her life be shortened? (365 days equals one year) A. One-half year. B. One year. C Seven years. D Ten years. ANSWERS

1) D is false. The range of salaries isn't $28,000 but $38,000 ($58,000 minus $20,000).

2) D. The company laid off 400 in January, 200 in February, 100 in March, 50 in April, so will probably lay off 25 in May, leaving 3,065.

3) A. The formula is: $20 plus

Is a Michigan MBA that important?

Should we tell the world how important our MBA program is by changing the University logo? We probably couldn't get away with it, but many graduates (and even more potential employers) think that a Masters degree in Business Administration from the University of Michigan is among the strongest in the field. Good news for you.

The School of Management now offers two graduate degree programs at the Dearborn campus. There is a dual degree program leading to both the Master of Business Administration and Master of Science in Engineering-Industrial and Systems Engineering. Then there is the straight MBA program which is designed as a cross-over vehicle for those whose undergraduate degrees are in areas other than business administration.

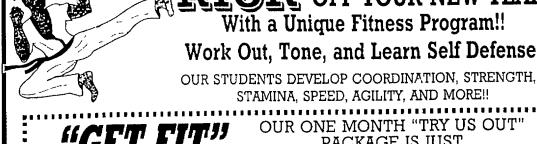

Of course, with the Deathorn campus, things are even more convenient for many students Not easier, just more convenient. After all, this is the University of Michigan Go Blue! And Go You!

Two great choices for one great future! Just make sure to register by August 1, 1995.

received a report of the accident and were dispatched to the scene. They found the teenager's smashed 1984 Jeep up on the grass at the northeast corner of the Seven Mile/Northridge intersection. The Livonia man's 1993 Ford Escort, also seriously damaged, was sitting on Seven Mile west of the intersection.

The teenager told police he was driving east on Seven Mile when he lost control of the Jeep on the icy road. It slid through the center line and into the Escort's path, he continued

As he spoke with the 18-yearold, the reporting officer said he detected signs of intoxication. An odor of liquor was present, the officer said, and the teenager's eyes were watery and bloodshot. The teen admitted to drinking three or four beers that evening.

The Livonia man was also questioned about his drinking but was less cooperative. He said he had stopped consuming alcohol about 20 minutes before the accident, but wouldn't say how much he drank, police said. Despite repeated offers, he refused medical attention at the scene and would not agree to take a breathalyzer

Huron Valley Ambulance personnel transported two passengers in the crash to St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia. One was the Livonia man's girlfriend, 25. The other was an 18-year-old Livonia man who was riding in the Jeep at the time of the crash. Information on their condition was not available.

Both men were arrested for drunk driving and taken to police headquarters. Breathalyzer testing there allegedly showed the teenager's blood alcohol level to be .10 percent, which is above the legal

A computer check indicated that the Redford police were looking for the teenager in connection with a charge of driving with a suspended license. The teenager protested that he had already taken care of the charge.

Meanwhile, the Livonia man had again refused to take a breathalyzer test, reports said. He asked how long he would be held. An officer informed him that he would be when planning future budgets, Word said he would like to set up a contingency fund for any unforeseen problems the city could run into, in addition to increasing the fund equity pool.

City officials face new year with optimism Say finances are sound

That's one overriding factor that we are focusing on," Word said. We need to get our financial ship back in order."

Eventually, Word hopes Northville will reach a fund balance of more than 20 percent of the budget. That goal, Word admits, will take some time, but is vital in maintaining the stability and financial viability of the city.

'We are a long way from being where we should be," he said. Now that the city's financial books are in the black, some much needed projects can be resumed. Word said.

This year Word is looking forward to reinitiating the Sidewalk Improvement Program, which was dropped in the wake of the 1991 budget dilemma.

The improvement initiative will repair dilapidated sidewalks throughout the city.

Word also said he looks forward to starting a project to expand the portion of Center Street south of Eight Mile Road to four lanes - a $97,000 effort that could begin this summer.

Also, in December the Downtown Development Authority announced it will be taking on an initiative to give the city a facelift with repairs to the downtown streetscape, including repainting the bandshell, the clock and street

The $80,000 in much-needed repairs the city will undertake this spring is something both Johnson and Word say they are excited about. Plans to allocate the DDA $20,000 annually from the budget to go toward future repairs and upkeep pleases Johnson.

For the first time in four or five years, the city can say the doldrums and nay saying is over." Word said. "We are ready to maintain the city and upkeep it in a pro-active fashion.

The prospect of hiring a DDA coordinator who would oversee business recruitment is the mayor's No. 1 goal for this year. 🕐

The new direction the DDA has begun to take could prove to be beneficial for the city, he said, and would help to fill vacant buildings more rapidly and attract stable, viable businesses.

"I'm excited about the possibili-ties," Johnson said. "Traditionally, the DDA was solely concerned with the bricks and mortar of the city.

On the down side for 1994. Johnson said he felt a bit crestfallen that discussions to consolidate city and township governmental agencies fizzled out.

That was the only real disappointment we had last year," Johnson said. I got really excited about the possibilities.

The idea of unifying the two entities into one Northville is nothing new - discussions on consolidation have occurred for the past couple decades, but to no avail.

Consolidation, Johnson believes, would be an efficient way to eliminate duplication of services for two communities that are essentially

"There is a general fear that larger is more difficult to regulate." Johnson said. "But it was pretty clear to me, based on the size of the two communities that we could have government that wasn't too big while eliminating the duplication of services.

Johnson said he hopes talks between the city council and township board of trustees will resume in the future.

"I thought it was a good idea. but it really wasn't to be," he said. You can't ram through something that won't fit. But eventually, as time goes by, I think tax payers will demand it."

He caught flak when he presented the idea to members of the commission and the board. Some said they felt the township shouldn't be involved in owning or running a golf course, fearing that it would be a money-loser. Others said they wouldn't approve the higher-than-allowed home density Sakwa's asking for, particularly since part of the land was recently

Moose Lodge has big fund-raising season

Northville Moose Lodge No. 1190 is singing the praises of the generous community that helped the organization exceed its fund-raising goal for the holiday season.

Junior Past Governor Leland Blaim says the lodge was able to raise $5,000 in cash and merchandise for distribution to needy families this Christmas, far surpassing expectations on the

"We never anticipated it getting this big," he said. "There isn't a lodge in Michigan that can match

Blaim said the fund-raising ball got rolling when an anonymous donor promised to contribute $1,200 if lodge members raised $600 among themselves. Blaim was afraid lodge members wouldn't dig that deeply into their pockets, but, despite his misgivings, the members of 1190 put a total of $782 into a donation jar inside the Moose building at tree.

But that was just the beginning of the fund-raising success story. Meijers, Montgomery Ward and Target stores all offered sizable gift certificates, and individuals contributed consumer products. Before it was over, the lodge had an electric stove, a vacuum cleaner, clothing, frozen turkeys, stuffed toys, soaps, medicines and Christmas trees to help brighten the holiday with.

According to Blaim, the goods made it possible for 13 different families in the area to have Christmas celebrations.

And the giving didn't end on Dec. 25. Blaim said a Target store gave the Moose Lodge an artificial tree, trimmings and all, that had been on display in the store.

"It must have been 7-feet at the base with hundreds of bulbs," Blaim said. "It was a beautiful "I'm kind of proud of the way it went."

Our Opinion

Pursue the fall back option in course plan will try once again to get a firm yes or no to his proposal to build a subdivision at Six Mile and Sheldon in the township. Sakwa has been seeking support for his plan since last spring and has been put off on countless occasions by indecisive township offi-

This time he'll seek an answer from the planning commission. A public hearing on Sakwa's plan is set for Jan. 10 at township hall.

Sakwa has been more than patient with township officials and we hope he'll soon receive firm direction as to which of his two alternatives he should pursue. Unfortunately, we can't recommend the one he himself prefers, an ambitious project calling for a 280-lot subdivision and nine-hole golf course.

On the surface, Sakwa's program sounds pretty good. The township gives him permission to build his homes; he, in turn, constructs and deeds to the township a golf course and a swimming pool.

The development would occur on 99 acres of land occupied by the existing Brooklane golf course and Haller estate property. The current 18-hole course would be replaced by a new nine-hole playing ground, with six holes located on the south side of Six Mile and three on the north. A bridge or tunnel would provide golfers with a means of passing from one side of the street to the other.

But there are trade offs, the most obvious of which is the burden the

On Tuesday developer Gary Sakwa township would shoulder in agreeing to become stewards of a public golf course. The cost of upkeep and liability insurance of such an undertaking could be considerable and would result in a drain on taxpayer dollars should expenses exceed gate receipts. Are the residents of the township, who twice had to be asked to continue funding their police and fire departments, willing to channel tax money into a failing recreational enterprise? Not likely.

> Another drawback to the proposal is the possibility of negative precedent. Sakwa's plan includes higher home densities than are allowed by township ordinance but as part of the deal for the golf course and swimming pool, he'd get a variance. Agreeing, in effect, to trade a variance for an item of monetary value has ominous undertones. Variances should be granted in cases of genuine exception, not used as a bargaining chip in negotiations with a potential business partner.

> Sakwa's alternative plan meets current zoning and density restrictions and would make a lot more sense for the vicinity around Six and Sheldon. The proposal would result in the construction of 243 home with no golf course. Sakwa has said that, though he prefers the course plan, he would develop the alternate if he couldn't get it approved.

> In any case, the time has come for the township to stop putting off the developer and give him some sense of where to go from here. He's waited long enough for his answer.

governor's race, as if that post were the hindrance to the economy. center of the universe. In truth, Gov. Bair will need to remember, unlike John Engler, though a big winner, had his predecessor, that not all Oakland very short coattails - his party picked up only one congressional seat and one state House seat. And Engler says this is his last term.

In 1995 all of us will need to pay attention to what other officials in state and local government are doing. So here are some critical people and their areas of expertise:

• David Honigman - His last two years were marred by illness, from which we wish him total recovery to his previous high level of energy. Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, will chair J-CAR (Joint Committee on Administrative Rules), a powerful panel that seldom reaches public view.

Honigman, who represents parts of Northville city, has new duties as chair of Local, Urban and State Affairs, a panel that combines the duties of two previous committees. The new position will give him clout to attack the many crippling amendments to the Open Meetings Act and Freedom of Information Act that have slithered through the

• Mike Bouchard - Now in his second state Senate term, Bouchard, R-Birmingham, continues to be a "comer" getting obvious favors from the Senate GOP leadership. He's officially No. 2 as the assistant majority leader (behind gubernatorial hopeful Dick Posthu-

Perhaps more importantly, Bouchard in 1995 will chair the new Financial Services Committee, handling banking and insurance legislation. With the defeat of Proposal C last year, the problem of soaring auto insurance rates still lingers. And the new laws allowing banks to sell insurance will bear watching. The buck starts with Bouchard.

• Brent Bair - He hasn't become a household word yet, but he heads the Oakland County Road Commission, which will have a loud - perhaps plaintive - voice on road funds. Bair and cohorts will need to argue for 1) more road funds and 2) a better deal for > folks can afford fancy Buicks. Public transit is an important function of the state transportation budget. And if Congress ends "welfare as we know it," then Oakland's duty will be to contribute to a regional transit system so ex-welfare clients can get to jobs here.

> L. Brooks Patterson – As county executive, Patterson inherited a fine operation developed by Daniel T. Murphy (1974-92), allowing Patterson to concentrate on economic development, a function he relishes. He's planning a trade mission to Mexico. Patterson is a free-trade buff and will have to sell his own blue-collar constituents on the benefits of a big market; the executives already are on board.

> Patsy Fulton – Chancellor of Oakland Community College, the former business teacher has become a major player in the economic development game, wheeling big job training deals. OCC, unfortunately, has had to play second fiddle to the K-12 districts on school funding reform in the last decade. Thus, Fulton's major job in early 1995 will be to sell voters on the need to replace the college's lost property tax millage.

> Meanwhile, we note no Oakland state senator will be serving on the Appropriations Committee for the next two years (a niche filled in the past by Democrat Jack Faxon, now retired). When House assignments are announced, we hope Reps. Shirley Johnson, R-Royal Oak, Maxine Berman, D-Southfield, Jan Dolan, R-Farmington Hills, and Tom Middleton, R-Ortonville, will be back on the budget-writing job. They'll have to do double duty.

> • Standard Federal Bank - No. this isn't another political body. But the Troy-based bank is becoming a major player in the redevelopment of Detroit's new "empowerment zone." It must invest boldly yet carefully to avoid the fate of another Oakland-based bank that bought too many third world

The year in review postmortems just keep on coming. Though everybody's probably fed up with these little backward jaunts, I'm hoping readers have enough room for at least one more look at the not-so-distant past. If not, more than a few pair of eyes are about to turn elsewhere right about now.

State Sen. Robert Geake sent us his own assessment of the legislative session that just ended, calling it the "most productive in Michigan history.' Maybe so, maybe not. Here's a peek at what the senator has to say in backing up his claim.

Geake's roundup maintains that the Legislature cut taxes 11 times, the largest of which resulted in a school property tax reduction of 79.7 percent in

Northville. Lower taxes are nice, sure, but the revenue shift approved by voters means that Northville is dependent on state funding for the first time. Prior to this, the district drew its revenue directly from local property taxes and didn't have to rely on the beneficence of the state. Those of us who have less than complete confidence in the wisdom and integrity of our elected representatives are a little nervous over the change. Education

The Legislature, according to Geake, "installed more accountability in schools, setting penalties for striking teachers and requiring a core curriculum by 1997.

Some of the reforms the Legislature initiated are good, but the final verdict is still out. Many of the changes were not spelled out in the accountability language and were left for development at a later time.

As far the strike law is concerned, the penalties imposed on illegal walkouts are a positive move. Teachers were able to hold school boards hostage in the past even as they recouped all their lost income once the strikes were over.

But forcing teachers unions to accept last offers from school administrations effectively kills the collective bargaining process. This aspect of the law goes too far.

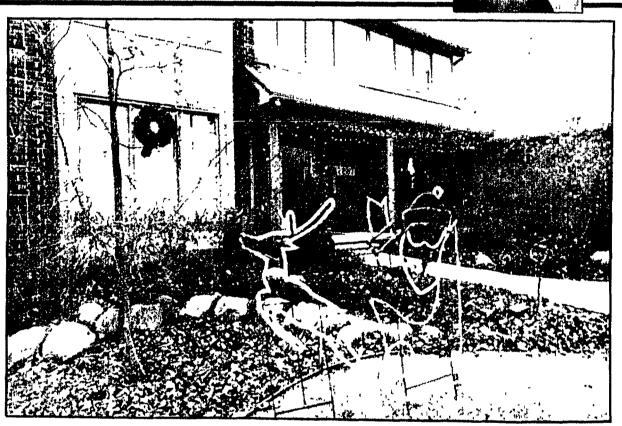

The Legislature, Geake claims, passed laws: making carjacking a felony punishable by life; requiring released sex offenders to register with the state; setting zero-tolerance penalties for under aged drinking drivers; establishing truth-in-sentencing guidelines to make sure criminals serve mandatory minimums; and making it easier to prosecute people who violate court orders by continually harassing others. Those are all positive developments. It's not yet clear if they'll help curb crime, but they sure can't hurt.

Bye, Bye Santa

Santa waves goodbye in one award winning home holiday display, as if to say Christmas is over for another year.

Hail the return of the routine and found myself breathing a sigh of relief - ahhh, the holldays are over.

I hate to sound like a downer or a scrooge, but there is definitely something to be said about the sturdy structure of a routine. Get up, go to work, do work, finish day, go home, relax, go to bed, do it all over again.

Entering December, the doldrums of the aforementioned routine were exactly what I, as well as the majority of the human population I'm sure, was longing to escape from. Indulging in the revelry of numerous Christmas festivities and then New Year's parties rich with reunions with old friends was the perfect prescription for a bad case of the worker's blues.

It's amazing how rapidly I was cured. Even before the dried-up pine needles began to hit the floor and before the celebratory champaign bubbles reached the brims of glasses for New Year's, I was ready to hit the grind again. The gluttony of Christmas packages, egg nog, carols and holiday cheer began to be overkill by the

I knew it was all over when I actually resorted to the most witless sort of "knock-knock" caliber joke while on the phone last week. "See you next year," I said with a chuckle to the person on the other end. Gee, isn't that a hilarious play on words when 1995 is only a couple days away? Gag. "I can't believe I actually just said that, " I thought.

once, so don't feel bad if you did it too. Despite feeling fed-up with holiday cheer and glowing New Year optimism, the subject I am going to write about was also inevitable: Resolutions. Since this is

But it was inevitable. It happens every year at least

I came into work on Tuesday - the first column in the first edition of The Northville Record for the year, no other subject would be appro-

> I could write about how I am determined to stop biting my nails or start aerobics classes this year, but in all honesty, I prefer to steer clear of making any personal resolutions.

So instead, I will make some admittedly humble resolutions for the beats I report on.

Over the past months as Northville Public Schools reporter, week after week, I have sat in my little corner of the table during board of education meetings and watched involved and concerned parents fill the audience in the meeting room. They have turned red in the face speaking out against Issues they were unhappy with. Smiles have filled their faces, as well, when speaking about issues or programs they are happy

Whether it's criticism or kudos these parents dole out to the board, it is their concern and involvement that counts. Keep up the good work!

To the school administrators, teachers and board members who spend countless hours in school improvement, committee and evaluation meetings in striving to continually improve public education at Northville, keep listening to them!

For the city, which has made considerable strides with the budget and with development, not only last year but in the past couple of years, (I'm reaching for some originality here) keep doing what you're doing

Admittedly, this sounds like a brief cheerleading session for the Northville community. This is not to say there aren't some problems or issues that could be addressed as well.

But let's start the new year off positively. As we all know, it's a long haul until Easter.

Come and learn about the schools

Public Schools continue to provide outstanding educational

As recently reported in The Northville Record, MEAP scores (with limited exceptions) continue at high levels compared to peer districts, while per-pupil expenditures remain at significantly lower levels than the average of those peer districts.

In addition, as a result of the recent school finance reform measures at the state level. school property taxes have been greatly reduced.

A number of school-related issues continue to be of concern to parents and community members, however These issues include the results of the drug and alcohol survey, boundary decisions and inequitable class sizes, the new report card format, the high school day and other school calendar issues, district communication issues, effective use of district financial resources, technology issues, and responsiveness of teachers and administrators to concerns of parents and community members. Have any of these issues touched you?

Advocates for Quality Education offers a forum for debate of the educational issues facing our community, and more importantly, an avenue to help effect change in our schools.

Advocates have demonstrated success over the last three years in helping bring together parents, community members, teachers, administrators, and board members to cooperatively address educational issues of concern to the community. The schools we all want for our children are possible if we are willing to turn our concerns, complaints and suggestions into cooperative

In addition to our previouslystated objection to consideration of the Hamilton Sports Center to be located in a residentiallyzoned and developing area on Beck Road near Six Mile Road, we feel it important to point out another viewpoint in a similar situation.

A tale of two (privately-owned)

As former Toledo and Sylvania, Ohio, residents, please consider this brief history lesson we wish to share with you:

The Ice House - Alexis Road, Toledo, Ohio - originally financed, built, owned and managed by a group of local businessmen. An arena with accompanying pro shop, snack bar and game room.

After several years of losing money on their investment and unwilling to put additional funds into maintaining the facility, the Ice House continuously fell into disrepair and eventually closed. After several years of vacancy, it reopened as a weekend flea mar-

Tam O'Shanter - Sylvania Ave. Sylvania, Ohio - originally financed, built, owned and managed by a group of local physiclans. It opened as a single arena with accompanying pro shop, snack bar, game room, and restaurant with liquor license

Same story - after a few years of losing money on their investment and unwilling to put additional funds into maintaining the facility, Tam O'Shanter began to fail into disrepair and would have closed except that the City of Sylvania bought out the

again - and have since even added a second much-needed arena to the site.

And, just think ... these were business failures by proven, respectable businessmen. Perhaps Mr. Hamilton's alleged "gift horse" is not such a "gift" after

The moral of this tale is that, in addition to all of the underhanded and unfair factors involved so far in these discussions, perhaps some forethought should be given to the most appropriate way to develop a viable "community" facility, located away from residential areas. Do it right or don't do it at all. Elaine and Art Zdawczyk

Fire department merger is sensible

To the Editor.

To no one's surprise, I see that the plan to consolidate the city and township fire departments is dead. This, in spite of the fact (according to the special study reported in the Dec. 22 Northwille Record) the city and township would each save about $308,000 over a 10-year period.

Any reasonable study of the geographical boundaries of the township tells you that to provide satisfactory fire response time to an area that borders the city on three sides is going to eventually require an expensive array of fire stations and equipment.

Rather than the township retaining a lower fire department cost, it will become considerably higher than that of the city.

We have for several years enjoyed a satisfactory relationship in the merger of our city and township library and recreation facilities. Why are we now dragging our feet on a similar arrangement with our fire departments?

The primary problem appears to be that there are too few taxpayers providing any pressure to get on with this program. Simple logic tells us this is the thing to do. Perhaps those with the authority can give us some adequate reasons for rejecting a plan to provide a long-term improvement in services as well as considerable savings to both communities.

Blame placed on talk show venom

To the Editor:

President Franklin D. Roosevelt was held in utter contempt by the ultra-conservative power elite of his day. He was much maligned and vilified for showing too deep a concern for the plight of the many who were in dire need during the Great Depression and tried to do something about it.

The constant slings and arrows directed towards FDR could not help but foment violence among the few demented members of our society who felt that something had to be done to stop his "misguided" policies.

In February, 1933, a madman in Miami, perhaps feeling that it was his mission in life to do away with someone who he thought was destructive to "our way of life," shot at FDR as he rode in a car with Mayor Cermak.

FDR escaped injury but Mayor Cermak was fatally wounded.

The carping gaggle of ultraconservative talk-show hosts who poison the airwaves with their never-ending barrage of innuendoes and half-truths, aimed at discrediting President Clinton's character and policies, must be driving the kooks among us to run amuck.

Are they, perhaps, responsible, ultimately, for the recent spate of attacks on the White House, intending perhaps to do harm to President Clinton himself?

100 percent American? I doubt he got it at St. Ladislaus High School. The script says he was in the U.S. Army Engineers during the Real War, but I can't recall any heavy doses of such patriotism in my training as a weekend warner Stanley got the idea in public schools

Until well into the 19th Century, there were few free public schools in America. Soldiers in the Civil War identified themselves as being from Virginia or Mississippi or Michigan or Pennsylvania, or North and South

By World War I that changed Perhaps the public schools even went too far in promoting the concept of Americanism. A relative told of how a woman professor at what is now Western Michigan University wept when she told her students in 1917 that German language classes would be discontinued

People changed their surnames, sometimes to make them easier for Anglo tongues to pronounce, often out of shame at being foreign-

Think about it: How many nations in the world composed of so many ethnic groups, so many religions, so many shades of skin hue, have survived as unified nations? Not many. In fact, since 1989 just the opposite has occurred

In 1991 I stood in Prague's Wenceslas Square, where the 'velvet revolution" had occurred two years earlier, and watched people sign petitions. A guide explained that the signers wanted to split Czechoslovakia, a nation with a history of getting pushed around, into the Czech and Slovak republics.

The total population was about 15 million - 64 percent Czech and 30 percent Slovak, with a scattering of Germans, yet here they were splitting into the tribal units that had settled along the Moldau 1,000 years earlier.

Somalia and many African nations have grass growing in the streets because they're fighting civil wars along tribal lines. As I read the fine print in the wire stories, it's all the Europeans' fault for creating artificial nations when what the locals want is tribal government.

Take the former Yugoslavia, population 24 million. It wasn't a big nation, but now it has split along the same tribal lines that existed when they drifted out of Central Asia 10 centuries ago. Consider the Union of Soviet Socialist Republicans, now a staggering collection of tribal states. Consider Canada, which may yet split along language lines despite the licking Wolfe gave Montcalm on the Plains of Abraham 230 years ago. It makes one suspicious of the "diversity" movement at the University of Michigan and public schools. We're told to "cherish diversity" at the expense, I suspect, of English-speaking, entrepreneurial, democratic values. America has freedom of speech, freedom of religion, and a Civil Rights Commission to protect minorities But our public schools, which so ably welded our diverse tribes into a nation, should re-dedicate themselves to teaching the lesson Stanley Kowalski absorbed:

What I am is 100 percent American. I'm born and raised in the greatest country in the world and darn proud of it."

We need the concept of Americanism even more than we need a $400 billion defense budget.

Debate continues over charter schools

By TIM RICHARD Staff Writer

Even as the Michigan Legislature patched up its charter school law, the debate heated up over whether the movement is a religious stalking horse for "parochiaid."

Lawmakers recently voted money for eight already chartered schools and amended the law to provide for supervision by the State Board of Education.

Ingham Circuit Judge William Collette had declared charter schools unconstitutional because they were too free from state supervision. The state is appealing Collette's ruling, but that will take months. Meanwhile, lawmakers acted to save the existing system adopted as part of the Proposal A school reform pack-

Paul DeWeese, the Lansing physician who is promoting charter schools through two organizations, said "public" schools need not necessarily be owned by the government or be an exclusive governmental franchise.

They are accessible to all. The student chooses the school. They are publicly funded. They are publicly accountable - professional, qualified teachers, an accredited school with a core curriculum." DeWeese told a meeting of the Society of Professional Journalists in Dearborn. "Nothing requires them to be a government-owned, governmentcontrolled monopoly.

There is nothing to "automatically exclude religious schools" from his definition of "public school," he said, adding that qualified religious schools are entitled to "a fair investment of public education dollars in every child." DeWeese said excluding qualified religious schools from state aid amounted to discrimination against them.

DeWeese in 1990 founded Teach Michigan, which advocates amending the Michigan Constitution's prohibition against "parochiaid" and vouchers for non-public schools.

That group has started the Michigan Center for Charter Schools, which promotes the new charter law. It is headed by Barbara Barrett, whose husband is president of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce.

DeWeese was rebutted by a panel of teachers unionists and a civil libertarian.

"If someone wants a parochial education, they should pay," said Rollie Hopgood, a Michigan Federation of Teachers official and former State Board of Education member. "What if we wanted to hire our own private guards to stand on the steps? Would we ask the public to pay for it?"

Charter schools are "a thinly disguised effort to divert public this point, the panelists clashed.

funds to private education," said Howard Simon, of the American Civil Liberties Union Michigan chapter.

Simon said DeWeese used "intriguing rhetoric" in arguing that the ban on parochiaid amounts to denying "parental choice" and is "discrimination based on religion."

DeWeese said nothing when Simon predicted DeWeese would begin a petition drive to remove the constitutional ban on aid to religious schools.

Charter schools may be organized by public education entities for specialized purposes like teaching science or, in the case of Casa Maria in Detroit. dealing with delinquents.

Backers like DeWeese sav charter schools should "innovate" and be "free from unproductive and restrictive rules." On If your weight has taken a turn for the worse, maybe you need a new direction...

RECORD OUR TOWN

Photo by HAL GOULD Will Crawfords' be a strong contender again this year and walk away with another "best"?

By CAROL WORKENS Staff Writer

This is the fifth installment of our restaurant poll, and each year we get a bigger response. You're not getting any bigger, of course, It's just that the number of you responding is increasing.

So who will it be this year?

MacKinnon's is undefeated with four wins for Best Overall Restaurant. Best Inexpensive Restaurant was captured by Crawfords' three out of four years. Sundowner took the honors the fourth year.

Pizza Cutter and Papa Romano have both won for best pizza, three to one, respectively. The winners for best ethnic food have been Little Italy twice and Ah Wok and Papa Romano each won once In the best seafood category, Red Lobster and Northville Charley's have an even number of wins

Two categories have produced ties. There was a tie in the best burgers category between Starting Gate and Bates in 1993, but O'Sheehan's won for three years in 1990 through 1992. It's been neck and neck in the best desserts category. MacKinnon's and Crawford tied in 1993, but MacKinnon's won In both 1990 and 1992, while Crawfords' won in 1991.

Undefeated in the following categorles are Crawfords' for best breakfast, Genitti's for best sandwiches, and MacKinnon's for best atmosphere.

The competition may be tougher this year. There are new restaurants in town. Here's your chance to let others know where to find the best hamburgers, the best atmosphere, the best pizza, the best desserts, . etc

We're keeping it local Only restaurants in Novi and Northville are eligible for this poll.

Categories in our poll include: best overall restaurant, best inexpensive restaurant, best service, best breakfast, best sandwiches, best desserts, best atmosphere. best pizza, best burgers, best scafood, best ethnic food, best fast food, best soups and best steaks. At right is the official ballot for the poll. No photocopies Only the official ballot will be accepted.

Keep in mind the following:

· Only restaurants in Northville and Novi are eligible to be mentioned on your ballot. Each ballot must include your name, address and telephone number. Ballots without this information will not be included in the poll.

· Only ballots clipped from the newspaper will be accepted. Photocopied ballots will not be counted These restrictions are designed to help avoid ballot-box stuffing.

Mattison enjoys an interesting life

By DOROTHY NASH Special Writer

It's a neat trick to get in on the ground floor of something big. And Frances Mattison has done it with two volunteer activities - Northville Town Hall Series and the Northville District Library

The Northville Town Hall series. sponsored by Our Ladies' League of Our Lady of Victory Church, opened its first season in 1961, and Frances Mattison, who helped organize it, was its secretary.

She is now chairperson of the Board of Awards, which she explained works like this: Half of the proceeds from the series goes to the Ladies Guild for Catholic charities, and half goes to assorted charities in Farmington, Livonia, Northville, Novi, and Plymouth.

"In 35 years we have given money to 175 charities in the area," Mattison said.

Mattison started in 1964 as one of the three township members of the Northville Library Advisory Board, and at one time she was secretary.

On May 3 of 1994, when the library's status was changed to District Library, Frances Mattison became a member of the Library Board and also a member of the Building Committee

And lately, meetings have become more frequent, she said, taking place twice a month. And the Building Committee has been meeting twice a week, and some-times three - in the daytime and in the evening.

"We've been meeting with the director and the programmer, deciding what we want in the new library" - for example, where to put technology, the children's section, and non-fiction.

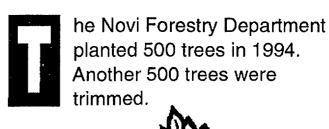

And when they've determined what they want where, the programmer will submit the plans to the architect.

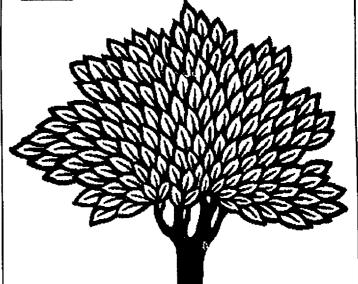

Why do all of this volunteering?

Frances Mattison said, "I enjoy meeting people, and it makes my life interesting."

School News

December was a busy month at St Paul's Lutheran School The Parent Teacher League sponsored several holiday activities. On Dec 12, the students were able to shop at the annual Christmas Shoppe put together by Julie Stricker Not meant as a fund-raiser, the Shoppe offered students a chance to buy presents for their families at reasonable prices That same day, Nancy Manser cooked up a holiday feast for students and staff, served at no charge. Many parents were around that day to help Julie and Nancy thanks to all of them

On Dec. 14, the students were treated to the sounds of the Cham-Westland The singers led the Wednesday morning chapel service, to everyone's enjoyment. That evening the school presented its annual Christmas program, under the direction of teacher Debbie Klotz leading St. Paul's congrega tion in worship at the final advent

The next general PTL meeting will be Tuesday evening, Jan. 24, at 7 30 p.m. The program will be led by Paul Mills, computer instructor, who will share some computer knowledge with us-

Weddings

Lynn and Kent Miller

Lynn Edith Taylor and Kent Lee Miller were married on Sept. 17 at St. Thomas the Apostle Church in Ann Arbor. Father Bill Ashbaugh officiated at the double ring cere-

The bride, the daughter of George and Joan Taylor of Northville, was given into marriage

The bridegroom is the daughter of Orvil and Mary Jane Miller of Albion, Mich.

The bride's princess style off the shoulder gown of ivory with chapel length train was covered with designs in seed pearls and sequins. The bridal head piece consisted of an ivory satin covered double head band wrapped with pearls with dried burgundy tipped roses, cranberry eucalyptus, baby's breath and pearl sprays at the back of the head piece with a waist length renaissance split veil.

The bridal bouquet of burgundy tipped roses, cranberry eucalyptus, and pearl sprays were cupped in a starched ivory handkerchief with ribbon and pearl strands dangling from the handle.

The matron of honor was Michele Miller of Carmel, Ind. The bride maids were Lois Davidson, sister of the bride, of Garden City, Suzanne Cordovado, of Norcross, Northville.

The best man was David Miller. brother of the bridegroom, of Carmel, Ind. The grooms men were Kevin Miller, brother of the bridegroom, of Howell, Mark Hilal, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, of Albion, and Jeff Morgan of Ann Arbor. Kade and Kipp Lang, of Albion, nephews of the bridegroom, were the ushers.

A reception followed at Cobblestone Farm in Ann Arbor for 120 guests. The couple left on a wedding trip to Boston and Kennebunk, Maine.

The bride is a 1987 graduate of Northville High School, and a 1991 graduate of the University of Michigan Nursing School. She is employed at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor as a cardiac catheterization lab registered

The groom is a 1976 graduate of Albion High School, and a 1983 graduate of Oakland Community College where he received an associate degree in respiratory therapy. He is employed at the University of Michigan Hospitals as a registered respiratory therapist and is attending Schoolcraft College where he is majoring in biomedical engineer-

Altman farce unzips the fashion game

Every year in Paris, the top designers and super models stage the world's hottest fashion show. It's called the "Pret-a-Porter," and , it means "Ready to Wear."

Only this time there's been a murder and everyone's a suspect.

Against the backdrop of fashion's most glamorous event, Robert Altman's "Ready to Wear (Pret-a-Porter)" is a lively send-up of the fashion world: a carnivallike sprawl and featherlight farce, complete with sex, greed and murder - three things that never go out of style.

True to that spirit, Altman's panorama is a celebration of clothing and nakedness. It is garments used as disguise, as revealers of identity, as tools of power and as keys to a mystery.

As one character remarks, "All people look alike to me. The clothes, that's how I tell everyone

The action begins as Paris is abuzz with anticipation for the start of the world's greatest fashion show. Amid the chaos, the head of the fashion council is suddenly found dead in his limousine. Although he has really choked on a ham sandwich, the police think it's murder, and everyone who's touched his life is a suspect including his wife (Sophia Loren). who hasn't talked to him in years, and his lover (Anouk Aimee), a famous designer getting ready for her big show.

The news travels with lightning speed through the bustling airport baggage counters, hotel lobbies and fashion ateliers of the city. Two reporters (Julia Roberts and Tim Robbins) stuck in a hotel room are among those thrown onto the case. The media and celebrities who have just arrived for the fashion shows are suddenly glued to the news, along with every designer and super model in town. The inquiry is underway, but the show must go on — after all, these are murder suspects who really know the meaning of "dress to

A mysterious murder suspect (Marcello Mastroianni) pilfers other people's closets and suitcases to become a new man.

Sans clothes, the two luggage-less reporters (Roberts and Robbins) continue their storyline, embarking on a wildly wonderful affair and filing their reports off crib notes from the local TV station, only to become strangers when they see each other for the first time as fully dressed profes-

Convinced that a movie about the major fashion show would be fascinating, Altman engaged in extensive research, even moving to Paris to work on the film, and developed an understanding of the fashion industry and its distinct group of "players."

The fashion industry, according to Altman, is a fascinating mix of two very different kinds of artists. "The majority of the designers are people they associate with - the magazine editors, buyers, photog raphers and so on - are pure hype artists."

With "Ready to Wear" as with

Special effects make 'Stargate' a flashy adventure

By Mike Kapusky Northville

Did UFOs really help the Egyptians build the pyramids? Well, here is a movie that deals out some possible explanations for this hypothesis.

"Stargate" deals with the discovery of an ancient Egyptian artifact resembling some sort of gate that the government cannot figure out how to use until a struggling historian, James Spader, figures out the missing link.

The gate leads to a distant adventure that Spader and gungho marine, Kurt Russell, must find the key to return home and save the civilization that they discover.

"Stargate" has shallow characters, nominal acting, and lots of questions are left unanswered.

However, the special effects are astounding, the ideas presented are amazing and many possibilities can escapade through the mind as one views this movie

It is a flashy documentary adventure that is loads of fun and even has a terrifying villain that Spader and Russell must defeat.

"Stargate" teleports a satisfying three stars (based on five twinklers with five the most radiant).

Leaves lots of claims unanswered, but what is left is up to

Brighton dumps cagers 55-43

By SCOTT DANIEL Sports Editor

Northville High should've stayed home Tuesday night.

Brighton rang in the new year by dismantling a sloppy, out-of-sync Mustang squad 55-43. Jim Ettig scored 17 points and Dave Clothier added 14 for the Bulldogs before a

Livonia Churchill, Plymouth Salem teams to beat in WLAA volleyball race

Northville High kicks off its Western Lakes Activities Association volleyball season a week from Monday with Westland John Glenn on the road.

The Mustangs are off to a slow start having lost their only dual meet to Novi in three games. Led by Sarah Gregerson and Jill Holloway, among others, Northville will look to get the conference campaign rolling in the right direction.

The following article takes a look at some of the Mustangs' main competitors in the WLAA:

WESTERN DIVISION Canton

The Chiefs will be concentrating on defense this winter.

"We've got a very small team, but we've got a lot of girls with heart," said coach Melinda Cain. "We've got a good defensive team, and a team that passes real well. If they can get the ball over the net and keep digging it up and keep the ball in play, they can wear down the other team."

The Chiefs lost three major contributors from last year's team, Ndu Okwumabua, Janet Zabivnik and Shawn Chaplin. Still, several experienced players return.

The only problem is, the tallest of them is senior Laura Logsdon at 5-10. Beth Ostach, Kristie Drinkhahn and Jessica are all 5-9 or shorter. That trio will do the bulk of the hitting for Canton.

"We're looking forward to a good year," said Cain. "Right now, our goal is to be .500."

Livonia Franklin

Coach Ann Hutchins will build her team around eight experienced seniors, including 6-foot-1 senior Jaclyn Deane, who averaged nearly four kills per game. Another key will be setter Misty Valle.

The name of the game is going to be setting," said Hutchins. "Misty is quite a leader. She ran the offense at camp. Asha (Bell) went to setting camp and really improved."

Franklin went 21-11-7 last year. Hutchins thinks she has another solid group.

"Our defense should be strong and our blocking is better," she said. "We should also be a decent serving team. This is the best, most well-rounded team I've had."

Besides Deane, Livonia will rely on outside hitter Andrea Greer, Sara Wojtowic, Mary Bagazınski and Sarah Camp, among others.

Farmington Hills Harrison

Coach Brian Shortt likes the talent level of his team. He likes the versatility, experience and hustle of seniors Lori Hubble and Krista Snow. He is thrilled about the development of sophomore setter Abby Ault and junior hitter Sarah

"We really need to get more aggressive at the net." said Shortt. "I think this team has a tendency to be content with just keeping the ball in play. I want them to get after it more and put the ball down to the floor."

Shortt believes Snow and juniors Erika Greene and Jenny Myslinsky have the ability to become dominant attackers.

"They just need to start getting aggressive," he said. "And maybe that comes with confidence.'

Harrison went 28-9-9 under Shortt last year. The Hawks won the Western Division title. Other Hawks to watch for are Jodie Barringer, Kristin Koziara and Katie Kelly.

Livonia Churchill

According to coach Mike Hughes, who's in his 18th year, the WLAA is very strong this year.

"I think there are more good teams in the conference than there ever have been," he said. "That also includes teams at the state

The Chargers are the defending conference champion and sported a 21-9-7 record last winter. Livonia may be a good bet to repeat.

This is the tallest group I've ever coached," said Hughes. "The experience will help us in terms of being competitive. We have experience at every position."

Sarah Fabirkiewicz, Patti Maldonado, Heather Boni, Mindy Sullivan and Janice Ribar are among the top return players. Kelly Ashworth is a promising young hitter.

"I didn't think Ashworth had a chance to start," Hughes said, "but she's coming along quite well."

LAKES DIVISION Salem

The Rocks return almost everyone from their 36-7-6 squad of a year ago. Coach Allie Suffety is counting on another big year

"This is what you work for," he said. To have a team with a lot of returning players who have come up through your program and who have had some success.

By SCOTT DANIEL Sports Editor

For Northville High, 1994 was a year of highs and lows in the athletic arena.

There was a trip to the state semi-final in girls soccer, all state performances in swimming by both boys and girls and a Western Lakes title in boys tennis. Meanwhile, the volleyball, softball and cross country teams came up .500 or below.

Winning or losing, the Mustangs were fun to watch in the year gone by.

The boys' basketball team often showed flashes of brilliance, but couldn't advance far in the state playoffs. Adrienne Browne excelled in cross country by making it all the way to the state meet. The football team overcame a sluggish start to finish respectably and hold on to the Baseline Jug.

It was a year to remember. Just how did your favorite NHS team fare in '94? Here's a brief look at each Mustang team for the past 12 months:

WINTER Boys' swimming

The Mustang team had one of its best years ever in the pool last winter. Led by a trio of all-staters, Dave Wesley, Jason Fischer and Mike Malloure, Northville finished 10th in Class A.

After setting school records in February, Wesley and Fischer made all-state in March in the 500-yard freestyle and 100-yard backstroke, respectively. Northville, which won a Western Division title, placed fourth in the conference. Jeff Sieving and Joel Elsesser were among the stars on the Mustang squad.

Wrestling

The wrestlers' stock slipped a bit in '94.
After taking a Western Lakes Activities Association

title the previous year, the Mustangs dropped back to third behind Livonia Stevenson and Westland John Glenn. And 152-pounder Joe Scappaticci was the only Mustang to take a league championship.

Northville's frustration was eased somewhat in the state tournament. As a team, the Mustangs were able to make it out of districts and all the way to the region final before being eliminated. Individually, James Kyle, Jason Tarrow and Adam Lynch also made it to regionals. Tarrow went on to state finals but failed to place.

Boys' basketball

A team of Goliaths had its ups and downs.

Standing at 6-foot-4 or better, Josh and Kieran Williams, Marc Chiasson, George Lemmon and John Buser gave Northville one of the biggest teams its ever had But despite that height, the Mustangs finished just 12-9 and were knocked out of the state playoffs in the opening round.

On the high side, Northville upset Westland John Glenn in the first round of the conference playoffs 63-50 The squad went on to finish fourth in the WLAA. Volleyball

In her second year as coach, Laura Murray guided Northville to respectability. The Mustangs moved up from 15 under .500 in 1993 to one under last year.

A veteran lineup made the difference. Renee Androsian, Angie Snyder and Krista Howe were the backbone of the team. Talented newcomers like Sarah Gregerson helped, too.

Northville took an opening round win over Novi in the state tournament, but lost in the district semifinal to Plymouth Salem. Cheerleading

In its first sanctioned year as a varsity high school sport, cheerleading was a hit.

Northylle finished fifth in its regional. Steady performers like Pippa Creffield, Jodi Fischer, Jenny Sekerka and Allison Superfisky led the way.

SPRING Baseball

Mickey Newman took over the coaching reins from Tim Cain in April and led Northville to a good year.

The Mustangs, despite being a little inconsistent early, managed to win the Western Division title. The squad went on to finish second in the conference as Salem downed Northville 4-3 in the final, Hitting carned the club. Jason Rice, Curt Kaisner,

Chuck Apligian and Fred Swarthout led the attack. Dave McCulloch was the ace of the pitching staff. Girls' Track years. Despite finishing second at the conference meet, the netters won the title.

Easily the most consistent of Northville's teams in recent years, the netters had another successful campaign in 1994.

Speaking of league champs. Trish Waldecker's crew won a title as well.

Led by all-conference performers Lindsey Casterline and Monica Prasad, Northville whipped the WLAA field by some 11 strokes for the crown in May. Heather Nix and Katie Kernahan made all-division for their efforts at the league meet.

Northville wasn't able to duplicate that success in state competition. The Mustangs missed the state finals and finished ninth at the regional.

Soccer

The high school's most successful sports season was capped by the kickers.

Playing solid and sometimes brilliant soccer, Northville made it all Ithe way to the state semi-final. 'Katie Kohl, Androsian, Snyder and Lisa Bernardo led a talented team that lost 2-0 to Brighton in the Northville won a district championship 3-0 over Novi then beat conference rival Livonia Churchill 11-0 in the region final. The Mustangs went 14-4-2 overall.

Boys' Track

Northville found success on the track last spring, too. After compil-ing a 7-1"dual meet record, the Mustangs took third place in the . conference.

School records were set in the 800 and 3,200-meter relay races. Josh Williams made it to the state finals in the high jump.

Bo Fowler and John Gatti were solid performers for the Mustangs. Softball

Despite a rebuilding year, Northville finished a decent 14-16. A young lineup was led by Jenny Cooley, Jenny Sheehan and Melissa Petrosky. Sarah Kemp provided speed and senior leadership.

Northville had a pair of solid hurlers. Senior Kari Krupansky saw most of the action while Andrea Moretti filled in nicely.

Football

After losing nearly two dozen players to graduation, '94 figured to be a long year for Northville. But after a slow start, the Mustangs turned it around with only a loss to Farmington Hills Harrison in the final weeks of the season.

The Mustangs weren't outstanding either offensively or defensively, but were good enough to go 5-4 in that supposed rebuilding year.

Garrett Carter, Matiss Kukainis and Nick Bowersox anchored a gritty defense.

On offense, Northville had to play a good chunk of the season without star runner Aneil Kersey. A leg injury kept him out of three weeks. Tim Smith, Todd Zayti, Gomersal and others stepped up in Kersey returned in spectacular fashion against Novi in the Jug game. He rushed for better than 200 yards and scored all four of his team's touchdowns in a 28-20

Boys' Golf

Northville had just an average season on the links last fall. The Mustangs were third in the WLAA and finished well out of state finals contention at the regional.

Brian Glock, Eric Swietlik, Rob Rankin, Kay Yoshida and James Damico led the team.

Girls' tennis

Injuries hampered Northville all season. Just about everyone in the Mustang lineup missed time with assorted ailments.

Northville wound up third in the conference behind Farmington and Walled Lake Central. The Mustangs didn't advance from the state regional. Jackie Moore, Lisa Cousineau, Chrissy Kapusky and Kris Smith led the team.

Boys' cross country

For Ed Gabrys' squad it was steady as she goes. Northville's ship neither rose nor sank from previous years.

The Mustangs went 4-4 for the third straight year and were eighth in the WLAA. Dwight VanTuyl, who made all-division, was the team's outstanding runner. Scott Lloyd and Jeff Zwiesler also had solid

The school had gone below .500 in its previous two campaigns. But led by junior Samantha Leger and freshman Lauren Metaj, Northville moved up to 13-8.

Northville got off to a sluggish start, but finished up with a bang. After just an ordinary dual meet season, the Mustangs finished second at the WLAA meet to powerhouse Livonia Stevenson.

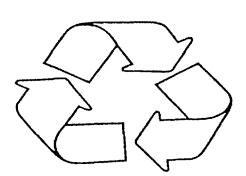

Three girls made all-state - Amy Cook, Jodie Brown and Mandy VanHorn. Northville also qualified its 200 and 400 meter relay teams for the state finals.

Avoid strain with high tops

Kids wear them as a fashion statement and parents grumble about the high price tag But hightop basketball shoes may be well worth the cost for athletes hoping to prevent ankle injuries on the court.

A new study from the University of Michigan Medical Center finds that high-top athletic shoes are 20 to 30 percent more effective than low-top basketball shoes in preventing the most common strains and sprains associated with the sport. Edward M. Wojtys, M.D., associate professor of surgery, says this is the first study to quantify the benefits of the extra support provided by high-tops.

We wanted to find out whether the bracing support of high-tops stabilizes the ankle in quick turns and in jumping and landing," says Wojtys. We found that the hightops are most effective in helping the foot and ankle resist force on flat surfaces, with the benefits diminishing as the ankle is flexed At the greatest point of foot extension - when a basketball player is in the air with toes pointed - the hop-top shoes offer no advantage in injury reduction over low-tops

Woltys' team also found that flexibility, not muscle strength, is the most significant factor in reducing injury on the court, regardless of the type of shoes worn. Sports medicine specialists at the U-M suggest that competitive athletes include agility drills in their fitness routines.

Twenty healthy young men participated in the study conducted at MedSport, the sports medicine and preventive cardiology program of the U-M Medical Center. They performed a series of balance and flexibility tests on a MedSportdesigned device that measures the foot and ankle's ability to resist force on a moving surface

The participants were both Nike Air Force Max high-tops and Nike Air Force I low-tops. The study received no funding from athletic shoe manufacturers

cancer look for elevated levels of prostate-specific antigen, or PSA, in the blood to identify individuals at risk for the disease, the second most frequently diagnosed form of cancer among American men. Based on studies of healthy white men, a PSA level between 0.0 4 0 ng/ml (nomogram/milliliter) has been considered normal for men of all races and ages

But a cross-cultural analysis conducted by Joseph E. Oesterling, M.D., professor of surgery at the University of Michigan Medical Center and the newly appointed head of urology, finds that "normal" levels of PSA vary according to the age and race of the patient. This may lead to the development of more sophisticated charts to identify men with early stage prostate cancer.

The study compared the PSA level and prostate size of 471 white men in Minnesota to those of 286 Japanese men in the small fishing village of Shimamaki-mura All the volunteers

Physicians screening patients for prostate—were between 40-79 years old and in good health. Each patient underwent a detailed clinical evaluation that included a PSA blood test, a digital rectal exam and a transrectal ultra-

> Researchers found that in both patient groups. PSA levels and prostate size increased with age. Put another way, values that would be considered elevated for younger men are within acceptable ranges for older men. These findings correspond with the results of other independently conducted studies in the United States and Europe.

> The significant discovery of this latest study is that normal PSA levels for Japanese men of all ages are consistently lower than for Caucasian patients of comparable age. Oersterling concludes that the difference can be traced to the smaller average size of the Japanese men's prostate glands as compared to those of their white counterparts.

"It just makes sense that the bigger the prostate, the more epithelial cells there are to produce and secrete PSA," says Oesterling. Larger prostates also are more likely than smaller ones to become inflamed, which can lead to a breakdown of the controls that keep PSA in check.

"This research shows that PSA levels alone are not enough to indicate whether an individual should be screened further for prostate cancer," says Oesterling.

"For example, a serum PSA concentration of 4.2 ng/ml would be considered normal for a 62year-old white man. But for a 62 year-old Japanese man, that level would be elevated. Doctors have to consider a patient's age and race to determine the next step in his evaluation and treatment - and it's up to researchers to give clinicians the information they need."

have no incentive to do formal exercise for the sake of exercise. You want either a magic formula or an alternative path to increased fitness. Believe it or not, at least one group of scientists is working on the magic formula, a pill which, if taken over a number of weeks, appears to improve physical fitness the same way regular exercise who had been regular elevator does. The drug is still in the early stages of development, and may prove to be costly and have side effects.

Besides, it's easy to improve fitness in other fun ways. The answer is to make subtle changes in your daily living patterns. Modify your previously sedentary habits by altering your attitude and behavior. Increased activity in everyday living isn't as effective as a formal exercise program, but it still can result in improved physical fitness and a reduction in body fat stores.

Think of the staircase as a source of exercise. It's available to every apartment dweller and office worker. One study of at-work stair climbing demonstrated it to be a feasible method of increasing fitness. It involved a three-month experiment with sedentary men is possible, park a mile from work out becoming bored. Park your car at the farthest end of the parking lot and walk to the store (How often have you burned gasoline driving around the lot to search for a place closer to the door?)

· Eliminate unnecessary extension phones in the home. Walking to a centrally located phone for each call will add up to a considerable caloric expenditure at the end of a year.

· Walk to work each day. If this and walk briskly.

· Use a manual lawn mower instead of a power mower.

· Walk the dog more often. It will be good for Bowser, too.

 Walk the golf course instead of riding in a motorized cart.

• Use a bike instead of the car for short trips around the neighborhood.

· Walk five minutes in the evening for each television program you watched during the day. For some people, this may require walking many miles at the end of the day.

Solving mortgage overpayment problems

By James M. Woodard

Your home mortgage payments may be higher than they should be. But, fortunately, in most cases you can take action to correct the overpayment problem.

For example, a surprisingly large number of adjustable rate mortgages (ARMs) are miscalculated when the time rolls around to adjust the interest rate and payment amount. Several recent studies have determined that one-third to one-half of ARM loan adjustments are miscalculated.

If the error results in the borrower paying more than he should in monthly payments, it could cost thousands of dollars. But if you point out and document the error. the lender must refund your overcharged amount mortgage loans that have been sold to a secondary mortgage buyer like Fannie Mae," said Jim Greenway, president of Buena Home Loans. "Mortgage bankers that retain the loans in their own portfolio tend to be more careful in their adjustment calculations. The reputation of the firm is at stake."

Nationally, the problem is so big it results in $8 billion to $10 billion in ARM overcharges every year, according to a report from the American Homeowners Associ-

A. Consider an idea that may be as old as time but still makes news: a trundle

Not only have over-crowded families relied on trundles through the years, so once did roadside inns. Innkeepers of yore thought nothing of stacking their guests up like cordwood, as many (sans boots) as would fit across a bed. When the next stagecoach rolled in, they'd just pull out the trundles and stack up the overflow. Necessity, like politics, has always made strange bedfellows

Little bedfellows will applaud the spacemaking bed in the photo we show here. From This End Up furniture, it's truly a

A: Do what we did before the furniture industry caught on and started manufacturing entertainment centers with megabuck price tags: Hunt the Salvation Army, Goodwill, and other charitable furniture drop-off spots.

You're looking for an old wardrobe or the kind of standing tall chest the Victorians called a "chifferobe" — anything with closing doors. Or with open shelves, such as a corner cabinet, on which you can consolidate your video gear and behind which you can hide the wires.

Never mind whether it "goes" with the furniture you brought from home: the piece should be so inexpensive you won't mind painting it, and by painting it to match the walls, you'll virtually paint it out of sight

Two points you shouldn't lose sight of: Be sure there's sufficient breathing room all around your video gear. Everything electrical generates heat that must be vented.

Avoid a spaghetti-snarl of cords. Drill a hole in the back of the piece to accept an appropriate extension cord with a strip plug into which you can plug the others

Happy, healthy houseplants

By C.Z. Guest Copley News Service

It never occurred to me that houseplants don't have to be stationary. Like people, many plants will tolerate less-thanideal conditions for long periods of time. Of course, it all depends if you can replenish their growing needs on a regular basis.

You can take advantage of this by working out a sort of time-sharing scheme for the best lighting available so all your plants stay healthy and happy wherever you call "home!" For example, your gloxinia might spend a week on your dining room sideboard, then return to the table window, to displace your begonia to a bookshelf. Plants that are well cared for are better able to tolerate poor light. A plant that is correctly potted, fertilized, watered and cleaned will put up with low lighting better than one that is neglected. Try shifting your plants up or down to make better use of

Keep in mind a big plant won't necessarily do its best on the floor. If it's droopy like a bamboo or bushy like an abutilon (flowering maple), you might be able to raise it onto some sort of pedestal and free up floor space for

GARDENING

The great thing is to have only healthy plants. Sickly specimens are better discarded than pampered; if you've had less success than you wished, try these easy plants: grape-ivy, spider plant, Swedish ivy, asparagus fern and ever-blooming wax begonia - all foolproof!

Most plants require a fulllight location since light allows the plant organism to turn certain substances into usable foods. There are exceptions, of course. A number of excellent foliage plants need no direct sun such as the impatiens and wax begonia plant. They will bloom to some extent in a full light location without direct sun, but for most flowering plants, sunshine is the key — not an occasional hour or so but all the southern or eastern window sun they can get. Without a maximum of sunshine, the geramum will fail to bud and the jasmines and wax plants will tend to stay green.

Many people ask me: What houseplants will blossom with only two or three hours of sunshine during the winter months?

Animal odors are a difficult problem to treat

By Gene Gary Copley News Service

Q. We have a problem with our neighbors' cats constantly urinating and defecating on our open lawn and flower bed areas. We have removed all droppings, washed areas with water and tried two different products on the market to no avail.

We can't be home all day and awake all night to scream and pounce to change unwanted habits. Can you recommend any measure that may alleviate this smelly problem?

A. This is a difficult problem to deal with. Most of the repellent products on the market lose potency as soon as you water or with the first rain. However, I can pass along a few tips provided by pet stores and nursery centers regarding this problem.

Daily cleaning of the affected areas is a must. Treat the area with a repellent. There are both dry granules and spray repellents available. One product that is both easy to use and has some duration is "Rescue Dog & Cat Repellent," sold at nurseries and pet stores. It comes in a 16ounce plastic bottle with a squirt nozzle. It permeates the ground and should be used on the perimeters of the area you wish to

In many areas it is against the law to allow a pet's mark to remain in public places, or in your case on a neighbor's lawn. An increased consciousness on the part of pet owners and better law enforcement is needed to help alleviate this growing public nuisance.

If any of our readers have suggestions on dealing with this problem, their comments would be welcome.

Q. I have a two-story home that has a hot-air heating system with a humidifler attached. I am getting a very offensive odor out of the duct. I have had the system cleaned and the filters changed every two weeks. I sprayed a disinfectant on the filters for mold and mildew in the ducts. None of these actions have helped. Can you give me any guidance or information that might remedy this

A. It would be almost impossible to determine the cause without an inspection. I suggest you contact the manufacturers of the heating system and the humidifier equipment.

If you haven't done so, try disconnecting the humidifier from the main system. An inspection by a reputable heating and airconditioning specialist is in order. Do not let this go unattended. There are many cases, particularly in gas heating systems, where faulty operation can cause poisonous, lethal gases. Your health and safety is too important to take a chance.

One of our readers writes:

In your answer to the person requesting information on safe methods for removal of weeds in driveway cracks you recommended Round-up or Kleen-up. Here is a safer method:

Making mortgage payments manageable

nies to do the work for them.

These companies work with special computer programs to quickly spot inaccuracies. And, in the case of error, they will request a refund from the lender.

The service typically costs borrowers from $75 to $125. In a few cases, the audit company also asks for up to 50 percent of the amount the borrower recovers.

Another way to save money on your mortgage loan is to cancel the "private mortgage insurance" (PMI) when the mortgage balance dips below 80 percent of the current market value of your home.

PMl coverage is usually required by lenders when a new conventional loan is more than 80 percent of the property's value. If it's an 85 percent loan-to-value loan, the PMI might be 0.37 percent of the loan per year (paid out monthly with the regular loan payments). If it's a 95 percent loan-to-value loan, the PMI might be 0.78 percent of the loan per year,

That surcharge can be significant. For a $150,000 mortgage loan financing a home purchase with only 5 percent down payment, it would mean nearly $100 per month in extra monthly payments - over and above the loan principal, interest, taxes and property insurance.

That PMI coverage and its cost should disappear when the loan balance is amortized down to a point less than 80 percent of the property's value. But it normally doesn't. The monthly charge remains until the borrower petitions the lender to remove it.

When the petition is filed, the lender will usually remove the charge But the borrower must prove that his balance is less than 80 percent of his property's value. And that means he must have his property professionally appraised, typically costing from $250 to $300 in most

"It's important that borrowers with loans covered by PMI know about that procedure," Greenway said. "I make it a point to discuss it with my customers."

We should note that in most cases the first year of PMI premium is collected in advance, at closing of the transaction. Then the monthly PMI payments are retained in an impound account for payment of subsequent year premiums.

However, a recent alternative plan is to allow borrowers to pay for just 30 days of advance, thus saving a substantial amount of cash outlay at closing. That soil treatment

saved cash might be used for part of the down payment. Q. What's the most popular type of home mortgage these days, fixed-rate or adjustable loans? A. With mortgage interest rates on the increase, the loan of choice is swinging again to the adjustable rate mortgage. During the refinance boom during the past couple years, the extremely low interest rates prompted most homeowners to ont for a fixed-rate refinance loan, protecting them against the sometimes volatile mortgage market. Now that interest rates have almost reached the double-digit level, borrowers are taking another, more favorable view of ARMs.

When rates reach current levels, there is an increasing possibility that they might decline again in coming months and years. If that happens, the borrower's mortgage rate and monthly payments go down. And the initial rate of an ARM is significantly less that a fixed-rate loan

Classical design elements characterize this valuable desk

Classical desk is valuable heirloom

Copley News Service

Q. Enclosed is a picture of a Biedermeier desk from Germany that we inherited. It is in excellent condition.

Would you please tell us when it was made and its value?

A. Biedermeier is the name given to a style of furniture popular in Germany and Austria from 1825 to 1860. The term was derived from the cartoon character "Papa Biedermeier" who symbolized the German bourgeoisie. Classical and French Empire design elements characterized this style. Your desk would probably be worth about $1,800 to $2,000.

Q. Can you help me decide the value of a red glass toothpick holder that was my grandmother's? It has the words "World's Fair 1893" on it and is decorated with flowers and leaves.

A. The 1893 World's Fair Columbian Exposition was held in Chicago. Your toothpick holder is ruby stained glass. Souvenirs similar to yours would probably be worth about $35 to $45.

Q. I have a beautiful porcelain tea set, in mint condition, consisting of six cups and saucers, teapot, sugar and creamer. Each piece is decorated with hand-painted flowers and leaves and the cups are footed. They are all marked "Nippon." I believe the set is over 50 years old. Would you tell me what you think the value of my set would be?

A. Japanese wares made for export for the American market from 1891 to 1921 were marked with the word "Nippon." Your tea set would probably be worth about

Q. I'm confused! Would you explain the difference between "art nouveau and art deco?"

A. I'm glad you asked. Recently I've been asked that question frequently. You're not the only one in a quandary over the two periods.

Art nouveau, which means "new art," originated in the 1880s and reached its peak around 1900. By 1920 its popularity had ebbed. The art nouveau style developed out of the William Morris Arts and Crafts movement in Great Britain. The designs and motifs were inspired by nature. Curvilinear lines, sinuous vines and tendrils, asymmetry, floral and leaf motifs, and female figures with flowing hair characterized the style. Art nouveau design elements are seen in Tiffany lamps and stained glass windows.

The Arts Decoratif Exhibition in Paris

ANTIQUES that became known as art deco. Innovative ideas were flowering that influenced tive ideas were flowering that influenced every aspect of art, from fashion to architecture. Pablo Picasso and Georges Braque had recently dazzled the art world with their cubism. Geometric shapes, streamlined curves and zig-zag lines, all typify this style. Art deco flourished in the 1930s, and finally waned around 1950. A good example of Art deco is the Empire

> Q. I have a "Gone With the Wind" lamp that was given to me by my greataunt. It is 27 inches high and has an ornate brass base. The globe is hand-painted with red and pink roses and green leaves.

Could you give me an idea of its vintage and value?

A. Judging from the photo you sent, you have a banquet lamp. "Gone With the Wind" lamps have double globes, yours has only one, making it a banquet lamp. The vintage of your lamp is the last quarter of the 19th century. Its value would probably be about $500 to $650 in good condition.

Keeping houseplants happy, healthy

nías are the most dependable; also, various precooled bulbs potted in fall will help brighten a room, and African violets and bromeliads will often bloom without direct sunshine. For a north window, all kinds of ivies, ferns and umbrella plants will do

Buy those houseplants that are easy to care for and can tolerate the normally difficult growing conditions found in most apartments and houses

Poinsettias that have finished flowering should be allowed to dry out. Store them on their sides on a greenhouse bench or in a cool cellar (55 60 degrees F) and cut back sparingly Cinerarias and greenhouse primulas should be fertilized weekly the minute they show buds and their pots are filled

During the cold winter months be sure to water plants with room-temperature water, especially African violets. Do it early in the day so they can dry off before night. "Violets" won't bloom if temperatures fall below 60 F, or if they get insufficient light.

Keep cyclamens moist (and I don't mean soggy) because if you don't they will "plop" over completely if allowed to go dry To revive a dry plant, set the pot in a pan of warm water up to its rim, and put in a cool room for about one hour. The plant should perk up immediately unless it has been allowed to remain dry for an intolerable length of time.

Wall flowers surprisingly popular

Association from its headquarters in New

Explains Elinor Shebar, who directs design for Village Wallcoverings: "With more women in the work force, dressed conservatively in monochromatic or menswear looks, and with black the biggest fashion statement, the home becomes the place where women can express their femininity.

It may sound like an oxymoron, but wall flowers are so popular because everyone's into gardening today, Ms. Shebar says. That is, when they're not strapped, all tailored for business, to their corporate desks, I guess.

A tan for all seasons

New Novi bronzing salon makes outdoor look possible year-round

By SCOTT DANIEL Staff Writer

It's cold. It's snowing. The sun is something you only vaguely remember and color on your body is limited to where you burned your hand on the stove.

Well, it doesn't have to be that way any longer. At Exotic Tan in Novi, it's summer year-round.

Located in the Pine Ridge Shopping Center at Ten Mile and Novi roads. Exotic Tan caters to those who prefer keeping a healthy glow - even in January.

"I want to give the right kind of service for the money," said owner Kathe Ray. "When I opened this place I promised myself I wouldn't burn anyone or let anyone over-

The shop opened in early October. Ray said she has received a favorable welcome from the community. "Novi and Northville have been very receptive," she commented. 'We knew we wanted to stay in Novi or Northville for our first salon. It's a great community."

Kathe and husband Tom signed a lease with Pine Ridge Center in June. The couple spent all summer building the salon, which features individual tanning rooms and bathroom facilities.

A life-long sun worshiper, Ray said she wanted to combine pleasure and business.

"When you have a business of your own," she added, "you have to enjoy it or you'll never hack the long hours.'

Besides building the shop, Ray also built up her knowledge of tanning and skin care before opening. She said she wanted to be able to answer patron questions with accuracy and detail.

"I try to read everything," the city resident said. "You have to be knowledgeable."

Ray puts brochures on correct tanning and skin safety in each room with hopes that customers will take and read them. Beyond that, she said she interviews all new patrons before they start a tanning program.

"You can't give someone the tan they want if you don't know where you're starting from," Ray said.

Moderation is the key, she

"It's better for your skin. "I don't think you need to get totally dark or brown.'

About two-thirds of Exotic Tan's customers come on a regular basis most of the year. Other people come in for shorter periods, usually before a vacation or trip.

For the money, visitors to the Novi establishment get a clean, pleasant atmosphere. Reggae music makes it feel like a day at Tanning sessions can be purchased individually for $7 or in packages ranging from $28 for six visits to $47 for 11, or $59.95 for a month unlimited. Memberships can be purchased for $59.99 for the first month and $19.95 every month thereafter.

Exotic Tan has three tanning beds and two standing booths. Ray said another bed will be added next month.

Store hours are from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday-Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays and 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Sundays. For reservations or more information, call (810)

BRASS CRAFT MANUFACTUR-ING CO. held a ribbon-cutting ceremony in honor of the opening of its new world headquarters in

The ceremony took place during an open house at the new headquarters on Dec. 8.

A number of Novi officials attended the open house, including Mayor Kathleen McLallen, City Manager Ed Kriewall, Police Chief Douglas Schaeffer, Fire Chief Art Lenaghan and City Councilman

Brass Craft is a subsidiary of Masco Corp., a manufacturer of plumbing products since 1946. The company operates six plants in the United States and Canada.

Guardian sees opportunities in Japanese pact

Guardian Industries, a U.S. manufacturer of flat glass products, is praising the agreement between the United States and Japan that will open Japan's flat glass market to U.S. companies. The formal wording of the pact follows an agreement in principal announced by the government on

"This agreement promises American manufactures unprecedented access to Japan's flat glass market - the world's second largest," said Guardian President and CEO Ralph Gerson. "Not only will U.S .based manufacturers increase exports to the Japanese market, but Japanese consumers will see more competitive and innovative products in housing and other markets.'

The agreement calls for Japanese distributors of flat glass to diversify their sources of supply to include competitive foreign suppliers Under the pact, the Japanese government will also encourage greater use of insulating glass, and will allow foreign firms to compete for public contracts.

Gerson noted that, "Guardian has worked for nearly 5 years to create a presence in Japan to match our success in other world markets. Despite introducing a wide range of new and competitively priced products, we have little to show for our efforts because of a lack of access to Japan's distribution system. This agreement will result in scores of Japanese distributors handling our products. "This agreement is not about guarantees of market share but about opportunity. The key is getting non-discriminatory access to Japan's distribution system."

Guardian Industries is a privately held U.S. corporation that manufactures and fabricates flat glass products throughout the world. The company is a global supplier to the automotive and construction industries, and is the world's largest producer of mirrors.

Programs provide remodeling help

Most homeowners are unaware that regardless of their income, there are federal, state and local programs that will help them repair and remodel their homes

Government at all levels recognizes that neighborhoods are the basis of life in our country. When a neighborhood deteriorates it seems more attractive to crime and crimi-

An area in decline is like a spreading cancer. As homes become shabby looking and in need of maintenance, the residents lose their desire to keep up the neighborhood. Streets become receptacles for trash, schools lower their standards and very quickly, the selling price of homes in the area drops sharply.

In order to keep and maintain the nation's housing and neighborhoods, government at all levels have programs to give homeowners money (that does not have to be repaid) for repairs or to lend them money at below market levels or at no interest.

In many areas utility companies will either do energy conservation work free or at low cost, and in other places will lend homeowners money at no interest to pay the contractor of their choice for the necessary work. In addition there are tax incentives to promote efficlent energy use.

These programs are not restricted to low-income people, slum areas or urban neighborhoods Owners of single or multi-family dwellings are eligible. While the grants do not have to be repaid, most of the loans offer low or noments.

Some of the other home improvements covered under these programs are attic and wall insula tion, new windows, outerwall siding, security doors, locks, window guards, sidewalks and masonry work, bathrooms and kitchens, electrical and plumbing, new roofs. gutters, and downspouts.

Consumer Education Research Center, a national non-profit consumer group, has just published the 208 large-page edition of Consumers Gulde to Home Repair Grants and Subsidized Loans ($16.95 plus $3 postage and handling from CERC GRANTS, 350 Scotland Road, Orange, NJ 07050 or 800-872-0121).

The book lists over 7,000 sources of loan and grant programs offered by federal, state and local government, utility companies and others Form letters for inquires to these loan and grant sources are included as are Instructions on determining your debt-to-income ratio for eligibility

Tax credits available for parental caretakers

Whether you've taken an elderly parent into your home, hired a caretaker to look after your parent while you work or paid your parents' medical expenses, you may be eligible to get some financial relief from an unlikely source: the Internal Revenue Service.

Although the government won't reimburse you for the cost of caring for an elderly parent, the Michigan Association of CPAs says you may qualify for some tax breaks that can lighten your financial burden.

Dependency Exemption

Many families fail to realize that support of an elderly parent may entitle them to a dependency exemption, currently worth up to $2,450 on their income tax

How do you know if you can claim your parent as a dependent? Your parent must generally be a U.S. citizen with less than $2,450 of gross income and must not file a joint tax return, unless it is only to claim a refund. In addition, you must provide more than 50 percent of your parent's total support, or be entitled to claim the dependency exemption under a multiple support agreement.

More Favorable Filing Status

If you are single and support your parent, you may file as a head of household the next time you prepare your tax return. This entitles you to use tax brackets that are more favorable than those provided for other singles. It also enables you to claim a larger standard deduction than that allowed for singles who are not heads of households

To qualify for head-of-household status, your parent must be eligible to be claimed as a dependent.

Money Management

The parent may live elsewhere, a dependent (without consideration provided you maintain his or her household.

Caretaker Expenses

If you hire someone to care for your elderly parent while you work, you may qualify for the dependent care tax credit which can be worth up to 30 percent of your dependent care expenses. Generally, you can claim the credit only if the parent is physically or mentally incapable of caring for him or herself, is your dependent, or would be your dependent except that he or she had gross income of $2,450 or more or filed a joint return.

The credit is available whether you pay for someone to come into your home or use a adult day-care center, as long as the care is necessary for your parent's well-being and protection. However, you may not claim a credit for expenses of outside institutional care of your parent, unless he or she spends at least eight hours each day in your

To claim the credit, you must provide the caretaker's name. address and Social Security number on your tax return. The credit amount is limited to your earned income or, if married, to the earned income of the spouse with the lower earnings. Other rules may also limit the amount of your cred-

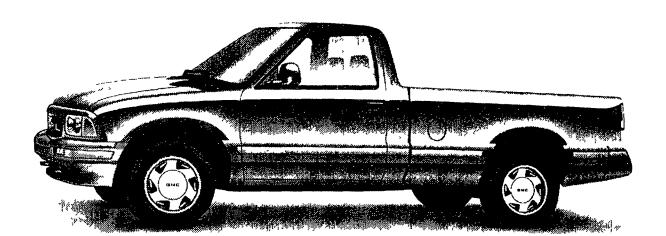

Medical Expenses

The medical expenses you pay for your parent may also be deductible if he or she qualifies as

You may be able to offset some of the costs of caring for your elderly parent by taking advantage of some employee benefits For example, some companies offer cafeteria plans in which you can elect to set aside part of your salary for dependent care assistance or medical expenses. These amounts would be excluded from your income Be aware that taking advantage of a dependent care assistance program may affect the amount of your dependent care credit, or even eliminate it altogether. Check with a CPA to determine which tax treatment would benefit you the most.

Finally, be sure to utilize local community resources that could assist you in the care of your parents. In many instances, they are offered free of charge.

PRAYER to the Holy Spint. Holy Spirit, you who make me see everything and who showed me my loved ones. Say for 3 consecutive days without mentioning your petition and your prayer will be answered. Promise to publish this prayer. Also wish to thank Blessed Mother, St. Joseph and St. Jude MJB.

here you are my Mother. Ch, Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succor me in my necessity. Now (make request). There are none that can withstand your power. On Mary, wintstand your power. Of wary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee. (3 times.) Holy Mary, I place this prayer in your hands (3 times.) Say this prayer for 3 consecutive days and then you must publish and it will be appreted to you.

and it will be granted to you Grateful thanks M.N.

24-hour roadside assistance is standard on Ford vehicles

Ford Motor Co.'s Ford Division officials say their 1995 products cover all the bases and include the added value of roadside assis-

"Whether people want small cars, medium cars or big cars; whether they want value-priced cars, spacious and luxurious cars, sporty cars, performance cars or something for the family. Ford dealers have them all," said Ross Roberts, Ford Division general manager.

The 24-hour roadside assistance program is standard on all Ford cars and trucks.

It delivers free help to owners or lessees who have a flat tire, dead battery, empty gas tank or are locked out. There is free towing service, if needed.

Here's a rundown on the Ford Division cars for 1995:

• Aspire: The subcompact Aspire is the lowest priced car with standard dual air bags. Anti-lock brakes are an option and the car is available in three- or five-door models.

• Escort: This popular subcom-

pact carries dual air bags and a new wraparound instrument panel. An integrated child seat is another new option. With Escort's popular one-price plan, customers can choose a well-equipped LX model at the manufacturer's list

• Probe: Exterior refinements sharpen the design of the frontwheel drive, sporty Probe. Probe and Probe GT have redesigned tail lights. New options include chrome wheels and a rear spoiler, and both models offer aluminum wheels as an option.

. Mustang: The Mustang is little changed after its popular 1994 redesign. Mustang Cobras are available in either coupe or convertible. The pure performance Cobra has an engine that produces 35 horsepower more than the Mustang GT 5.0-liter V-8 engine. The Cobra also has unique tires, wheels and suspension.

• Contour: Contour is the division's all-new five-passenger sedan. Positioned between the Escort and Taurus, the Contour is designed to attract singles, young

The Ford Thunderbird is celebrating its 40th production year in 1995. couples and young families. It reflects Ford's global engineering and design capabilities and has technologically advanced multivalve engines. One of them is the all-aluminum Zetec engine, a 2.5-liter DOHC V-6 engine that won't need its first scheduled tuneup until 100,000 miles.

The spark plugs are platinum tipped. The Contour also has a special air filteration system.

· Thunderbird: The Thunderbird, in its 40th production year, has been a top-seller in its market segment for six years and this year offers with a premium car stereo/compact disc player option.

the SE, in 1995. With younger buyers in mind, the SE offers sport bucket seats, aluminum wheels and a rear spoiler option. All Tauruses have a quieter powertrain with the addition of a new, electronically controlled transmission Standard tint glass keeps the interior cooler by screening the · Crown Victoria: The full-size Crown Victoria features a redesigned grill and new taillights and rear-end treatment. The interior is all new, with redesigned split-bench seats and door panels, new instrument panel that fea tures a larger glove box. The front seat has 10 inches of fore-and-aft adjustment.

The 1995 Cavalier will be offered in three different body styles.

Chevy unveils lots of changes in '95 passenger line

From the newly conceived Cavalier, Lumina and Monte Carlo to the tested and praised Corvette and Caprice, Chevrolet is doing what it takes to become a trusted nameplate in America.

Here's a brief summary of what's new for each of Chevrolet's 1995 passenger cars.

• Cavalier: The 1995 Cavalier has been newly designed from the ground up to pick up where the last generation model left off as one of the top 10 best-selling cars ın America in 1993.

The new version will be offered in three body styles: four-door sedan, two-door coupe, and sporty convertible. All new models benefit from a wider track and longer wheelbase, yet overall length is two inches shorter for better maneuverability.

Inside, Cavalier boasts a more spacious interior than its predecessor, and standard safety features include standard dual air bags and four wheel anti-lock brakes

Handling has been improved with a new progressive ride suspension system and a new torque axis mounting system reduces engine vibration All in all, the new Cavalier is stylish and affordable.

• Lumina: Sixty-seven percent of the components used in the 1995 Lumina are totally new. Design and manufacturing processes have reduced the number of parts from 3,200 in '94 to 2,300 this year. Features include an all new exterior design and interior styling. Dual air bags, a theft deterrent system, air conditioning and power door locks are all included on the new Lumina as standard equipment.

• Monte Carlo: Designed in conjunction with the new Lumina, Monte Carlo is an evolution of its Lumina coupe predecessor. For '95, Monte Carlo has the same high quality/high value characteristics as Lumina, only with an eye toward personal luxury. Standard dual air bags, designed to be used in conjunction with safety belts, protect front seat occupants in the event of a moderate to severe frontal impact. Standard fourwheel anti-lock brakes ensure that the new Monte Carlo stops as well as it goes.

· Corvette: This Chevrolet legend continues its reign as America's favorite sports car with new low rate springs on the base suspension and carbon gas charged shocks for improved ride quality. Heavy duty brakes with larger front rotors are now standard equipment.

New gill panels behind the front wheel openings distinguish '95 models. Reinforced interior stitching, a smoother shifting automatic transmission and a quieter cooling fan mark the car's continual improvement.

· Caprice: New paint colors. revised rear quarter panel/window styling, and redesigned, relocated, fold away outside rearview mirrors give the '95 Caprice Classic a fresh appearance.

A new, optional custom interior package enhances comfort and convenience. And a new speed compensated volume control feature is available on uplevel audio systems that automatically adjusts volume as speed increases to compensate for outside noise.

· Camaro: Body colored outside dukal sport mirrors on coupes and convertibles, a new optional monochromatic roof treatment on Z28 coupes and coupes with Ttops, as well as optional chromeplated wheel covers and aluminum wheels give '95 editions of this American classic an even more distinctive look.

And this year Z28 models can be equipped with larger speed rated performance tires.

· Corsica: This value leader's long list of standard safety features coupled with an attractive price make it a logical choice for families on a budget. New for '95 are standard daytime running lamps that make Corsica easier for more comfortable and quieter ride other motorists to see. A revised

• Beretta: For '95, Beretta is on center design to produce a rear suspension that improves five speed manual transmission under the hood of the Beretta 726 passenger comfort. Also new for 95 are standard daytime running rear suspension utilizes a spring better than ever with a redesigned lamps and a new smooth shifting the new standard powerplant

Program boosts car ownership

Oft-cited statistics of households without a car are startling for an area that is home to three of the world's most successful automak-

The regional figure is 12 percent, but 33 percent in Detroit. This lack of mobility, coupled with an inadequate public transportation system, is one of the greatest stumbling blocks people face when working toward economic indepen-

The Metropolitan Affairs Commission, a coalition of business, labor and government leaders that analyzes regional problems, is helping launch the empowerment through car ownership program (ECO). ECO is part of its partner-ship for independence program, a demonstration project partnership with the Warren/Conner development coalition

The program works to overcome obstacles to auto ownership which place major limitations on mobility for the chronically jobless.

Gaining access to a car is a significant step toward economic independence for PEI participants. Of the 50 pilot year families in the PEI project: 75 percent received income assistance, 72 percent were unemployed; 19 percent were employed part-time, 30 percent of adults had never worked continuously for one year; 23 percent had no health coverage: 80 percent didn't own a car, and the average household income was $5,412 a

The ECO program helps PEI participants gain long-term financial stability incrementally. Through PEI programs, families are stabilized, job skills are acquired and jobs attained Through ECO's auto education and two year lease plan. participants will gain the independence of mobility without the undue burden of unmanageable payments.

ECO has two components: auto education and a lease purchase program. After completing a series of classes on aspects of auto ownership (topics include budgeting for insurance and maintenance. negotiating the deal, driver safety, and finding reputable repair facilities) qualifying participants can then lease a car from the WCDC

ECO is distinct because it will not only help participants lease a reliable car at a low cost, it will also provide them with a way to build equity toward the purchase of a car through the lease purchase arrangement.

This program has some similarities to others around the country," said Joan Weidner, MAC program director. "But no other program has the entire package ours does."

PEI participants must prove work force stability to even qualify for the lease purchase component of the program. After two years of steady lease payments, they will have more than two years of continual employment behind them. their families will be stabilized, increased responsibility.

Low or no interest loans are staples of car ownership programs for many organizations. Few offer a complimentary education component. This idea came from the Pontiac area transitional housing organization (PATH), an Oakland County group that provides housing and other support to homeless

Their education/no interest loan program offers program participants access to automobiles. The ECO program incorporates education, but avoids loaning money to its participants. Instead, ECO opts for a lease purchase program that eliminates the bank loan process of costly individual policies.

Because fleet insurance is a cost efficient alternative to high personal insurance rates, AAA of Michigan vice president and CEO Terry McElroy, a MAC board member, suggested pursuing a lease purchase program. Warren/Conner plans to assemble a fleet of 20 cars through a consortium of insurance company vehicle recovery programs, led by AAA.

"This option gives people immediate access to a car without their getting hit by the initial cost," said Donna Johnson, PEI program

A two year, $100 per month fee covers monthly lease payments. and they'll be able to manage the insurance, and a special rainy day maintenance fund. After two years.

insurance, but they will own their cars outright.

"A major goal of the ECO program is building a track record of experience that demonstrates to lending institutions and insurers that this population of low income people presents a reasonable risk and virtually untapped market for new business," said Weidner.

The PEI hopes to demonstrate that insuring low income individuals who are involved in comprehensive programs like the PEI may be an option for helping this special population break the cycle of immobility and joblessness.

Designed to help beyond the first purchase, ECO offers life lessons in money management. and major purchase decision making. The program will offer important experience and interaction with insurers, and will help participants build a credit history that will be very useful to them in the

"It's important to examine every transportation alternative when seeking access to opportunity, said Johnson. "ECO is a short term solution for the PEI, but because it is being implemented in the confines of a demonstration project, we hope solutions like this lead to changes here and else-Pending funding, the program is participants must get their own set to start rolling in early 1995.

New Orvis edition leads list of '95 improvements

Jeep Grand Cherokee offers a new level of sophistication in safety, comfort, handling and appearance for 1995 in a package that combines luxury with legendary Jeep performance and utility.

Jeep Grand Cherokee is offered in four trim levels for 1995: the base model SE, Laredo, Limited and the new Orvis Edition The SE and Laredo - and for the first time 1995, the Grand Cherokee Limited - are also offered in two-wheel-drive in addition to fourwheel drive.

Grand Cherokee set the benchmark in occupant protection with its standard driver-side air bag, standard four-wheel ABS and front and rear door beams for side impact protection. It has enhanced its safety, equipment for 1995 with the addition of standard four-wheel disc brakes and available integrated child safety seat.

New improvements for 1995 also include larger allterrain tires included in the Up Country suspension package, and an Orvis Edition model - a joint project with Orvis, the oldest continuously operating maker of outdoor equipment in the United States.

The new Orvis Edition model includes the same features of the Limited model, plus eye-catching exterior paint in moss green. The interior is champagne with dark green and Roan Red accents on the seats and door panels. The Up Country suspension package and Trailer Tow Prep is standard on all Orvis Edition Grand Cherokee models.

Because both companies share a grand outdoor heritage and an appeal among discriminating cus-tomers, Jeep has become "the official vehicle of

Comfort and convenience features available on

Grand Cherokee models include a valet key and lock system, a glove compartment lock, removable rear headrests, an upgraded AM/FM stereo cassette and an Infinity "Gold" power amplifier with eight speakers. Also available are front bucket seats and 60/40 split rear bench seat, floor-mounted transmission controls, a security alarm system, automatic temperature control and power windows and locks and a night-vision safety interior rear view mirror. Grand Cherokee powertrain choices are impressive.

The standard Grand Cherokee power plant is a 40liter, in-line six-cylinder fuel-injected high output engine that produces a peak 190 horsepower and 225 pound feet of torque.

The first V8 offered in its class, Grand Cherokee's optional multipoint fuel-injected 5.2-liter engine has been improved for 1995 with a new camshaft. The new V8 provides a peak 220 horsepower at 4,400 rpm and 300 pound-feet of torque at just 3,200 rpm. This torque boost improves off-line acceleration feel and helps to deliver the highest trailer towing capacity of any vehicle in its class when properly equipped. To channel power where it's needed, Jeep Grand Cherokee offers a selection of three transfer cases:

A "Command-Trac" system allows drivers to switch from normal two-wheel-drive mode to part-time fourwheel drive for off-highway use or when weather conditions demand.

A "Selec-Trac" system, which has all the features of the Command-Trac plus a full-time four-wheel drive

Buick's new concept car emphasizes safety

Buick's XP2000, a concept car introduced for the 1995 Detroit auto show, is an elegant mid-size sedan using advanced technology to enhance passenger convenience, comfort and safety.

"XP2000 is more than a dream car-we see it as a realistic preview of Buicks of the future," said Buick General manager Edward

The XP2000 is built around interactive electronics. A network of advanced computers tailors the car to the driver's needs. Its features include:

· A remote keyless fob that controls seat position, climate, driver response and other systems.

• A "smart card" setup allowing a credit card inserted in the instrument panel to charge tolls, fuel, food and other services.

the vehicle to wire guidance systems planned for 21st century highways. This would allow the driver to travel with hands off the wheel at up to 150 miles per hour.

A programmable display projects information onto the lower windshield in the driver's line of sight. The information includes a vehicle direction arrow on a map with route names and other destination information.

The display can even be programmed to provide detailed restaurant, hotel and tourist attractions. The XP2000 represents an evolution of safety systems. The body structure helps absorb energy of impacts and forms a protective cage around the passenger compartment.

Seat belts are positioned for maximum comfort and protection, and the car has air bags in the back of the front seats to protect rear passengers and in the front and rear door panels to protect from side impacts.

Geo aims to offer something for every occasion

Geo will continue to offer a line of high quality, distinctive, yet affordable vehicles whose designs and brand character reflect its young minded buyers quest for originality. Though each Geo has its own contemporary design and unique features, they all share the common traits of being high quality. reliable and dependable vehicles offered at affordable prices. Together the functional Prizm, the economical Metro and versatile Tracker will proceed to offer something for everyone, including first time buyers, young families and entry-level buyers. Highlights of the '95 Geo include:

• Metro: A 4-door sedan will replace the five door hatchback adding versatility to the Metro lineup. Both the new sedan and coupe will have excellent fuel economy, ample safety features and affordable prices. The Metro gives young families and first time buyers with conservative budgets a chance to buy a new car that has a stylish extenor design and is fun to drive.

• Prizm: Building from its '94 success, the '95 Prizm will add even more appealing features to an already attractive design. New exterior paint colors, full wheel covers on the base model and 1.8 liter engine emissions control enhancements on the LSi are among Prizm upgrades. Its interior appearance will also be updated with new seat and door trim fabries, a neutral interior color and neutral leather package option. Prizm will remain fiercely competitive in the small car segment of the passenger car market as an affordable, high quality precision engineered car geared toward value conscious car buyers.

 Tracker: Geo Tracker is definitely the right vehicle for good times. This mini sport utility offers the enjoyment of top down motoring and the adventure of four wheeling in an affordable, easy to drive package. At the top of its new features list is a standard 1.6 liter 16-valve engine on all 4 wheel drive models.

To enhance comfort and convenience, dual cup holders and a storage tray in the center console and standard rear wiper/washer on the LSi hardtop model were added to Tracker for '95. Its exterior will have a new easy opening convertible top, new exterior colors and new graphic colors. Like all Geos, Tracker accents a distinct style, an affordable price and yet it is the only on road/off road vehicle in the Geo family.

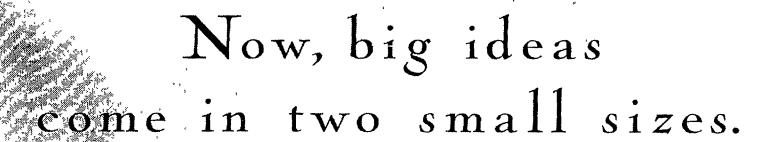

Saab adds horsepower

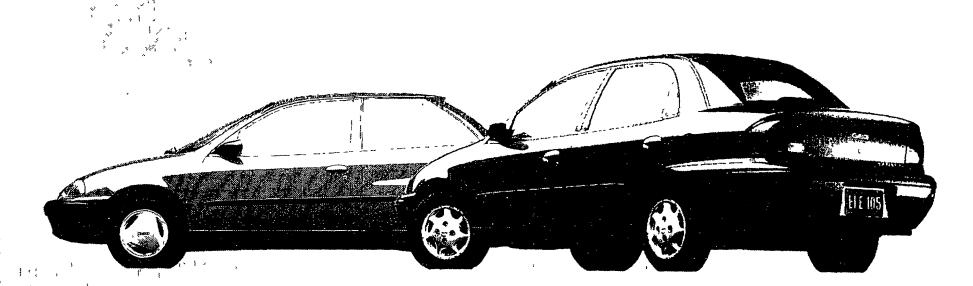

The 1995 Saab 9000 CS may seem as if it has hidden surprises with its seamless low-end torque, responsive acceleration and an increase of 24 horsepower over last year's 9000 CS version.

The only surprise is that this is Saab's solution to the demand for a solid performance automobile that doesn't sacrificing economy which the company refers to this innovated concept the Light Pressure Turbo engine (LPT).

The Swedish automaker's multivalve 2.3-liter blends the performance advantages of turbocharging with the operating economy of a small-displacement engine. The result is an engine that behaves much like a larger-displacement naturally aspirated powerplant but without the higher noise, fuel consumption and emission levels.

This well-mannered behavior is an attribute of a level of turbocharged boost pressure - 0.4 bar compared to 1.0 bar in Saab's higher-output 2.3-liter turbocharged engines with Automatic Performance Control (APC).

Olds announces plenty of changes for '95

Officials identify new Aurora as the 'benchmark for future product direction'

Here is a rundown of the 1995 Oldsmobile vehicles:

• Achieva: The standard engine for all models is an improved 2.3liter double overhead cam, fourcylinder mill rated at 150 horsepower at 6,000 revolutions per minute. A 155-horsepower, V-6 is

Two transmissions are offered: a five-speed manual and a fourspeed automatic. Unlike conventional vacuum-controlled devices, the Achieva's new cruise control opens the throttle with an electric motor operating through a gear train and strap assembly. The stop size between cruise velocities is smaller, accuracy is better and drift is eliminated.

• Ciera SL: The only changes to this popular model is that the shift interlock system is now standard equipment and the seat and door trim have different fabric designs.

· Cutlass Supreme: An all new interior is featured in \1995. Besides dual airbags, the interior now has adjustable-height guide loop for the front passenger shoulder belt and a leather-wrapped steering wheel. Remote radio controls on the steering wheel are optional. Buyers may also chose from one of two engines. The 160horsepower, 3100 SFI, V-6 engine is standard. The 210-horsepower, 3.4-liter Twin Dual Cam V-6 is optional. Standard features include air bags, power windows, automatic programmable power door locks, cruise control and 16inch wheels.

• Eighty Eight Royale: Major revisions have been made under the hood for 1995. The standard 3800 V-6 mill has been completely redesigned for improvements in responsiveness.

The optional Series II V-6 delivers 205 horsepwer at 5,200 revolutions per minute.

The intent of the engineers was to combine the low-end torque of a pushrod engine with the highspeed vitality of a four-valve, double-overhead cam design. A third engine you can get is the 225horsepower, supercharged V-6.

• Ninety Eight Regency Elite: The big change in this premium sedan is a new motor. It uses the same 3800 V-6 and supercharged V-6 as the Eighty Eight Royale. Standard features include airbags, anti-lock brakes, automatic power door locks, power windows, six-way power front seats and steelbelted radial tires on 15-inch wheels.

• Aurora: This new model is being called the "flagship" of Oldsmobile and the "benchmark for the division's future product direction." The vehicle is powered by an all-new 4.0-liter, double overhead cam V-8 with 250 horsepower at 5,600 revolutions per minute. With 90 percent of the

Hyundai replaces Excel with Accent

For those under the impression that subcompact vehicles have limited appeal to serious buyers. Hyundai suggests they reconsider.

According to J.D. Power & Associates, the median age of small car buyers has jumped to 38, up from 33, just a few years ago. In light of this trend, the 1995 Accent was designed to maintain a younger customer base, while offering standard features and option packages that will attract customers from all

The Accent is the replacement for Hyundai's Excel. Although the Accent bears little resemblance to its predecessor, it is forecast to be Hyundai's volume sales leader in the United States

"Hyundai spent five years developing the Accent for the U.S. marketplace," said company spokesman Mike O'Brien in a press release.

"Rather than adapt existing manufacturing techniques to this car, Hyundai modified the manufacturing process to suit the Accent. The result is an intergenerational car that offers a balance of performance, value and safety."

The Accent's safety features include dual air bags, five-mileper-hour bumpers and optional anti-lock brakes. Increased front and rear crash protection is facilitated by crumple zones designed to absorb the energy of an impact.

The Accent is available in three versons: The standard and "L" versions are three-door hatchbacks. There is also a four-door sedan verson. All have four-wheel independent suspension.

The Accent has rack-and-pinion steering and a speed-sensitive power steering unit that makes it real easy to steer at low speeds.

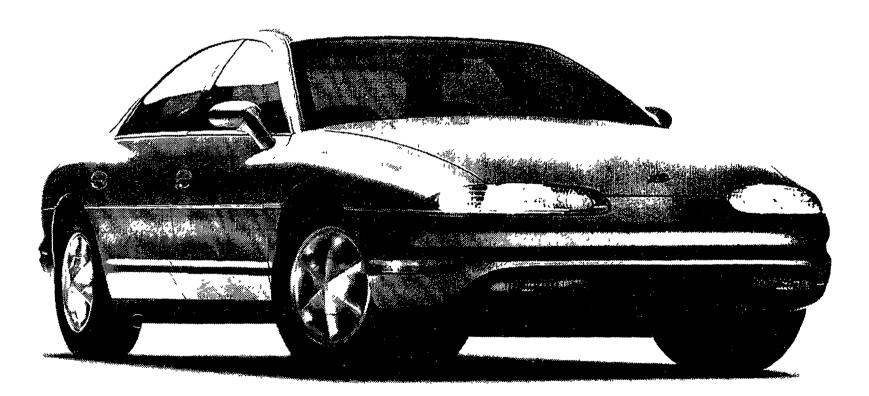

The car is powered by Hyundai's 1.5-liter, four-cylinder Alpha engine, the first automotive engine developed by a Korean manufacturer. The Alpha features an aluminum cylinder head, single overhead cam and three valves per cylinder. The mill generates 92 horsepower at 5,500 revolutions per minute and 96 pounds per foot of torque at 3,000 revolutions per minute.

A five-speed manual transmission is standard in the Accent, with a four-speed automatic being

In the car business, it's not where you've been It's where you're going.

And if the new Aurora' is any indication, we're headed at warp speed into the 21st century. Visit the Oldsmobile exhibit at this year's Auto Show and see what makes the Aurora a hona fide American dream In addition, the Cutlass Supreme, with its newly redesigned interior, the luxurious LSS. with the state-of-the-art Guidestar[™] navigational system, and the 1996 Bravada[®] concept vehicle will also be in attendance. And if all that isn't enough, learn how Oldsmobile plans to make use of "simplified pricing" to take the bassle out of buying a car. Just another step in the right direction

A TE TO THE THE THE T

Ford Contour combines power and performance

The Ford Contour is an all-new five-passenger sedan whose aero-dynamic styling and exceptional power and performance reflect its global origins.

Positioned between Ford Escort and Ford Taurus, the front-wheel-drive Contour is designed to attract singles, young couples and young families with children still at home. Nevertheless, the car's primary customers are expected to be between the ages of 25 and 40.

"This new, four-door mid-size car is exactly what these buyers have been telling us they want," said Ross Roberts, Ford Motor Co. vice president and Ford Division general manager. "It provides excellent performance and a tremendous array of technical and serviceability features."

Contour will be offered in three series—the GL, the upscale LX and the sporty SE.

Among Contour's technological strong points is its Duratec V-6 engine System, which is standard on the SE series and optional on other Contour models. It features

Ford's ali-new, all-aluminum, low-maintenance 2.5-liter 24-valve DOHC V-6 engine and four-wheel disc brakes. Platinum-tipped spark plugs enable the 170-horse-power Duratec engine to hit 100,000 miles before its first scheduled tune-up.

The base Contour engine is also technologically advanced. The 2.0-liter 16-valve DOHC in-line four-cylinder Zetec engine has an all-aluminum cylinder head and delivers 125 h.p.

Besides its performance, the Contour also offers many safety features. Safety features include: a standard dual air bag system; "anti-submarine" seat design to help keep occupants from slipping forward in a sudden stop or impact; "Safety Cell" unitized body with high-strength boron steel side-impact beams which meet 1997 federal safety standards; optional anti-lock brakes; and the optional All-Speed Traction Control System that helps the driver maintain control and steerability on slippery surfaces at high and low speeds

The Countour also offers a luxury item included in its basic price. The air filter system, found in the passenger compartment, removes virtually all dust and pollen particles from incoming air, which is particularly beneficial to hay fever and asthma sufferers. Although such a system is usually found only on luxury vehicles, it is standard on Contour.

Contour is one of three vehicles developed under a global umbrella. The first, the Ford Mondeo, was introduced in Europe in March 1993 and has recorded outstanding sales. The other global car is the 1995 Mercury Mystique. Ford employees at facilities in Europe and North America cooperated in their development.

their development.

"These cars have a higher product content and more features to satisfy customers than we could have provided if we had designed a car for only one market," Ford

Division's Roberts says.

Ford Motor Company plans to market the cars around the world.

Mercury enters mid-size race with Mystique

High-quality design, performance and safety encompass the Lincoln-Mercury 1995 models, and each of the eight cars and one min-van has a distinct personality and appeal

"We are really pleased with the depth of our 1995 line. The addition of the all-new Mercury Mystique makes us a significant player in the fast-growing mid-size sedan market for the first time," said Keith Magee, Lincoln-Mercury division vice president

sion vice president
All eight car lines and the Villager mini-van have a standard driver-side air bag, and all but the Villager have a standard passen ger-side bag as well.

Lincoln-Mercury customers also get 24-hour roadside assistant. By dialing a toll-free number, drivers get help for flat tires, dead batteries, empty gas tanks, locked out and, if necessary, towing service.

and, if necessary, towing service.
Here's a summary of the 1995

Lincoln Mercury vehicles:
• Tracer. The compact Tracer, available in four-door sedan and wagon versions adds the standard passenger-side air bag. Interior appearance changes are highlight ed by a color-keyed instrument panel and steering wheel

• Cougar XR7 It is available with a advance technology 4 6liter V-8 engine

• Mystique: The new mld size Mystique combines customer-oriented technology, comfort, safety and convenience. The five-passenger, front-wheel drive sedan is available with an aluminum 25 liter 24-valve DOHC V-6 engine that can be driven 100,000 miles before the first tuneup

• Sable: The new Sable line includes a sporty LTS model, with leather sport bucket seats, aluminum wheels and distinctive bodyside cladding. All Sables have a smoother shifting automatic transmission and Solar Tint windshields that block out more sun

• Grand Marquis: The full-size Grand Marquis has a new frontend and rear looks and major interior changes. There are luxurious new seats, an instrument panel with wood-tone applique and lighted power-control switches. The Grand Marquis' radio antenna wires are embedded in the rear window and heat-reducing Solar Tint glass is standard in all windows.

• Villager: There are five new exterior colors for the Villager's GS series and 13 new two-tone combinations on the LS series. The minivan has seating for up to seven passengers and has a four-wheel anti-lock braking system.

· Lincoln Town Car: Changes for 1995 include an all-new interior and significant exterior and functional changes. The driveradjustable steering effort and antitheft system are new. Also new are the seats, instrument panel, doortrim panels and two-spoke steer-ing wheel. The Signature and Cartier series also have auxilary controls for the audio and climatecontrol systems in the steering wheel. Signature and Cartier also have a programmable garage door openers in the visor. New rear-seat ducts improve heat distribution in the passenger compartment.

• Lincoln Mark VIII: Refinements to the Mark VIII for 1995 include a redesigned instrument panel and console and backlighted control switches color-matched to the interior trim. A new universal, three-channel garage door opener can be programmed to the owner's code, and there is a high-quality stereo cassette audio system. The computer controlled ride and suspension system has been modified, and the independent rear suspension now uses rebound springs for improved ride and handling.
