

Sump pump solution proposed

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

The Northville Township Board of Trustees allowed a costly and controversial proposal to move forward last week that would eliminate sanitary sewer sump pump discharges in two subdivisions.

The move came despite objections from some members of the board and some of the residents of Northville Commons 1 through 4 and Northville Colony Estates 1 and 2 (see related story).

At their March 9 meeting the trustees voted 5-1 to have Director of Public Utilities Bill Anderson proceed with the first steps of his plan to eliminate the sump connections. Anderson has recommended that the township design and construct a network of storm sewer leads from individual homes in the two subs.

The network would carry to storm sewers the water which some sump pumps in the two subs are putting into the township's sanitary sewer system. The sanitary sewer sump connections raise township sewer users' bills and violate state and federal law, Anderson said.

Just which of the 579 homes in the two subs should be connected to the network - and who will pay for it - is where the ongoing debate over the plan has heated up in the last year.

Anderson has recommended that the township pay the non-construction costs of building the network such as engineering and legal fees, a total of about $115,000. He's proposed that the construction costs - about $314,000 - be paid by all the homeowners in the two subs through a township-mandated

Drain repair plan in place in township

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

It's been a long time coming but a plan to repair the Quail Ridge drain has taken its first step.

The Northville Township Board of Trustees voted 6-0 (Treasurer Rick Engelland was absent) on March 9 in favor of a recommendation made by Director of Public Utilities Bill Anderson. Anderson asked for the board to authorize up to $10,000 for preparatory work needed to create a special assessment district (SAD) that could one day pay for the drain's rehabilitation.

The Quail Ridge drain runs through the Northville Township subdivision of the same name, located just south of Eight Mile near Meadowbrook. Its banks are severely eroding because of increased storm water runoff. That runoff has come about because of development along the drain's entire course, including areas within the city of Novi and Eight Mile Road itself.

The erosion is affecting the backyards of a dozen or so homes in Quail Ridge and the homeowners there in 1993 asked the township to look into the problem.

Because developments in Novi are adding runoff that in turn is eroding the drain, Anderson said, four separate governmental agencies are involved in its rehabilitation: the township, Novi and Wayne and Oakland Counties

Students pour hearts out at motivational event

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

A line of students coiled halfway around the darkened Northville High School gym March 8, all with something to say.

One after another, students stepped up to the microphone and spoke teary-eyed about the problems of being different in a school that doesn't appreciate people who deviate from the norm.

Some made amends with students they had hurt in the past. Others expressed gratitude for supportive friends.

The group catharsis served as a capstone for the three hours motiational speaker Laurie Stewart kept students captive last week. Her message was a simple one - love yourself, love others and respect people's differences.

Stewart's presentation, one of the highlights of the school's recognition of Red Ribbon Week, evoked floods of tears and hugs among students. School officials had to stop the activity when the buses arrived, leaving more than 25 students unable to speak.

Based on those who were able to offer remarks, though, it was evident that Stewart had struck a deep nerve with students.

City to explore cooperative pact with Novi

By YVONNE BEEBE

Northville City Council members directed the administration to look north in considering the possibility of consolidating police lock-up and dispatch services.

In a special meeting Monday night, council members said they wanted to investigate the possibility of hooking up with the Novi City Police Department for dispatch and lockup services. No formal vote was taken.

"I've gone over the reports and I certainly have to say that Novi seems the best way to go with a consolidation," said Councilman Paul Folino. "There's not enough savings with the three communities (Plymouth city and township)."

City officials are considering a number of avenues to take with the police department, including staying with the department's current services, contracting with Novi police, converting the department's current radio system over to an 800 MHz system with the state of Michigan, or consolidating with Plymouth city and township police departments.

If a contract with Novi were to occur, records and the police department would remain in their current home at city hall. Dispatch and prisoner lock-up would be located at the Novi department.

CONSOLIDATION COSTS

Projected costs for police options on consolidation over a 10 year period

- Status Quo - $2,063,731
- Four Community Consolidation (now obsolete) - $1,197,675
- Three Community Consolidation - $2,701,364
- Contract Service through Novi - $684,076
- Converting to 800MHz system through State of Michigan - $2,139,721

located at Ten Mile and Taft roads

People who are arrested would be processed at the Northville station and then transported to Novi, who currently contracts with the Wixom, South Lyon and Lyon Township police departments.

A preliminary financial analysis conducted by the city of Northville of the four options revealed that contracting with Novi was by far the cheapest option in the long run.

Board incumbents to seek new terms

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

Northville Board of Education members Bob McMahon and Richard Brown threw their hats into the ring, announcing Monday night their plans to run for reelection at the district's June 12 election.

Both trustees, whose terms expire June 30, expressed a desire to continue their work on the board and to serve the community.

The various local and statewide issues public schools face, including possible core curriculum mandates, have fueled Brown's enthusiasm to continue his work with the board, he said.

"The challenges facing Northville Public Schools and public education are just immense," said Brown, the board's vice president who is finishing off his first term. "I have enjoyed serving on the board and with my knowledge base I can be a contributor."

Board President McMahon said he hopes to continue helping create a vision for Northville schools.

"I have learned a great deal," said McMahon, who has served eight years on the board. "I hope to continue to contribute and continue to make a difference."

New trustee Barb Bennett, who was appointed to the board Feb. 27, said she will have to get her feet wet a little longer before deciding whether to run or not. Bennett was appointed after former Secretary Pat Custer resigned Feb. 13.

She will serve for the next three-and-a-half months until the election to finish out the year.

The remainder of Custer's term - one year - will be up for grabs during the election in June. Community members who plan to run for election must specify whether they plan to run for Custer's one-year term or the two four-year terms that will be voted on.

Prospective candidates, who must be registered voters in the school district, must collect petitions with a minimum of 20 signatures and submit them to the election office no later than 4 p.m. April 10. The deadline to register to vote in the school district is May 15. All petition signers must also be registered voters of the school district.

A separate petition must be used for each municipality of the school district (city of Northville, Northville Township, Novi, Salem Township). In addition, a separate petition is required for residents who live in the same city but different counties. Prospective candidates do not need to collect signatures from more than one city or county.

Potential candidates must also submit to affidavits of identity. The forms must be notarized and turned in with the petitions.

Candidates have until April 13 at 4 p.m. to withdraw from the ballot. Additional questions can be directed to the business office at 344-8444.

Cooke English teacher honored

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

When teacher Karin Hardin is asked about her students at Cooke Middle School, she gets a little too choked-up for words.

"It's a sense of family here — caring, respect," said Hardin, dabbing away a few tears that roll down her cheeks. "I want them to learn — not just learn the content in the classroom — but life-long skills."

Hardin received word in late February that she won the WDIV-TV Channel 4 Outstanding Teacher award for Wayne County. She will be honored during a Channel 4 presentation in May at The Roostertail restaurant in Detroit.

Hardin, along with high school teacher Lisa Rohde-Barbeau and Silver Springs elementary media specialist Angela Krzeczowski, were nominated by their peers for the local award and were chosen from a field that included eight Northville teachers.

The admiration and respect students feel for their teacher is evident in comments from Hardin's first-hour sixth-grade English class.

"She's not just like a teacher, she's a friend. She talks to us," said Justin Zlotucha.

"Thank you Justin, that was very nice," said Hardin to her student, who then turned red and buried his face in his arms with embarrassment after the accolade.

"When we have a question, she doesn't act like she's too busy," said student Mike Peters. "She takes time out to help us."

Impacting students' lives by showing she cares about them is something Hardin said has been a life-long dream for her.

"Since the fourth grade, I have had the utmost respect for teachers," said Hardin, who immigrated to the United States from Germany before she began the fourth grade in Grosse Pointe. Speaking very little English made life difficult for Hardin as a young girl, but it was her fourth grade teacher who spent extra time helping her practice English that made a lasting impact on her life, she said. Ever since then, Hardin has aspired to be a teacher.

"Education has always meant a lot to me," she said. During a field trip to Lansing with her fourth-grade class, Hardin got a glimpse of the Michigan State University campus and she immediately fell in love with the place. Years later she received her education degree from the university and embarked on her dream to become a teacher.

Hardin has been making a difference in the lives of Northville Public School students since 1985, when she began teaching seventh-grade math at Cooke. She taught fourth- and fifth-grade gifted classes at Winchester elementary for five years and then moved back up to Cooke to sixth-grade English and social studies in 1990. In addition, Hardin did substitute teaching in the district for five years before she took on a full-time position.

In addition to merely teaching textbook content to her students, Hardin said she concentrates on other skills students can take with them such as working in teams and collaborating on projects

Karin Hardin was named an outstanding teacher in the annual WDIV recognition award.

Hardin's nomination for the award with excerpts from a former student's comments say it best:

"Last year I came to Cooke as a sixth-grade student after my parents moved to the area. I had never attended a regular English class until I attended Cooke. For the first five years of school, I had attended a learning center for English in order for me to be successful with my learning disability. Mrs. Hardin told my parents she would like to have me in her class.

"A few months went by. Mrs. Hardin entered one of my essays in a writing contest. I thought I would never have a chance of winning and I was worried that the judges would not take my essay seriously. In the end, I received an honorable mention ... Now, thanks to Mrs. Hardin, I am still in regular English class with all the other kids. And I am improving my reading and writing.

"Mrs. Hardin taught me the importance of reading and how to enjoy writing. I will remember her forever."

Youth Assistance puts out call for volunteers

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Northville Youth Assistance needs people who want to be a friend to kids in need.

"We need volunteers desperately," Youth Assistance director Mary Ellen King said this week.

Now in its ninth year of existence, Youth Assistance is a joint Northville city/township funded program. It offers professional counseling and referral services to Northville kids ages seven to 17 and their families.

The volunteer program matches willing adults with kids who are in need of a positive role model, King said. Volunteers spend about two hours a week with their match, she explained.

You don't go out and spend a lot of money or do extravagant things, King said. The program aims at giving kids a confidant, someone they can talk to.

"Mainly the volunteers will just be for the children," King said. "They're there to provide a positive influence and give the kids someone they can rely on and let them know they're OK. It gives them a support system that helps them along."

Police, schools, courts, and even churches or family members, refer kids to the program. They're not troublemakers, King said, just children who are facing special difficulties as they try to grow up. A volunteer buddy is one more way to help them over the rough times, she said.

"We've had people who just moved into the area whose kids are having trouble adjusting," King said.

"We have a lot of single mothers call us. We have kids whose parents are going through divorce or other problems. I've had widows call me. The father has died and these children need a role model."

A recent Youth Assistance referral brings home the point even more, King said. The referral was for one of the brothers of a teenage girl charged with killing her parents.

"This boy needs a volunteer," King said. "He's lost his sister and his parents. He could use a friend."

Volunteers go through a screening and interview process before they're accepted for training. You must be at least 21 to apply.

She added that she's taking all the volunteers she can get, especially males.

"I don't want to discourage anyone," King said. "I need women but I particularly need men."

The training runs 15 hours and includes instruction in how to deal with a variety of issues such as communication and empathy skills, anger and substance abuse, the director explained.

After that, Youth Assistance will match you with a child. About 55 kids are matched now.

Monthly sessions are held so volunteers can talk about their activities and seek help for any problems.

The next training session begins April 1. Call King at 344-1618 for more information.

McMaster pulls out of 'super' running

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

Dolly McMaster, assistant superintendent for instructional services for Northville Public Schools, withdrew from consideration for the superintendency of the Wayne-Westland school district Tuesday morning.

McMaster, who was named a semifinalist for the job along with five other candidates last week, did not give a specific reason for her decision to pull out of the running.

McMaster was the only woman out of the 38-candidate field to be selected as one of the semifinalists for Wayne-Westland schools, the third largest district in Wayne County with 15,600 students.

Last year, McMaster was a finalist for the superintendent's position at Royal Oak, but did not make the final cut.

McMaster, who has served as assistant superintendent for Northville since 1984, has been looking for a superintendent's job for the last couple of years, she said. Her applying to other districts does not indicate she is unhappy with Northville, McMaster added, just that she is looking to further her career.

"This is the next logical career step for me," she said.

Larry Thomas, the current superintendent of Wayne-Westland, will leave the district June 30 at the conclusion of his contract.

Among the remaining candidates for the superintendent's position in Wayne-Westland is Duane Moore, the superintendent of the South Lyon school district.

Moore has headed up the 5,000 pupil district since 1991.

It took the school board some four months of voting to narrow the field down from the original 38 applicants to the six semifinalists.

Board of education members plan to conduct a series of special interviews next week and even visit some of the candidates in their homes.

There are four Michigan administrators and two out-state candidates vying for the position.

Police News

Man charged with neglect after leaving kids in car

A Royal Oak man is being charged with child neglect after he left his 8-year-old, 7-year-old and 3-year-old daughters in his minivan in the parking lot of Northville Downs after they were denied admission.

Northville City Police received a call about the children, located them and brought them into the station. The oldest child said their father left them in the van while he went to place a couple of bets. The girl estimated they arrived at 7:45 p.m. Police found the girls at 8 p.m.

The oldest child said she was very tired but did not want to fall asleep in case any strangers approached them. The father, who had returned to the parking lot and discovered his children were gone, went to the security office in the track.

The children's grandparents were contacted and picked the girls up.

When an officer came to interview the father, he told him he left the kids in the car just to see one race. Then he saw a friend and they had a couple of beers.

After about three or four races, he returned to the van to find his children gone.

The man admitted to police that he had had too much to drink to drive.

A Breathalyzer test later revealed he had a .168 blood-alcohol level. Legal drunkenness is established at .1.

During the interview the man became verbally abusive and attempted to leave.

The officers told him to sit down, but the man refused. The man then began pushing the officer, who had to call for assistance to arrest the man. The man was processed and released upon sobering up and posting a $50 cash bond. A preliminary examination is scheduled for April 7 at 35th District Court in Plymouth.

VACANT HOME ENTERED: Township police arrested two men for breaking and entering at the closed Plymouth State Home on Friday.

An officer said he saw one of the men inside the lobby of the building while driving by, adding that he saw the man and a second individual run out of the opposite side of the Home and into the woods. A search was initiated and the two men were allegedly apprehended then.

One is 22 and a Plymouth resident. The other is 18 and a Northville resident. The teenager told police he never entered the building and was in the area to estimate how much it would cost to tear down the buildings that are part of the county child development center.

Both were released on $100 bond and face a hearing in 35th District Court on March 31.

HOUSE HIT: A 17-year-old Northville resident was involved in an accident near Northvalley and Greenridge last Tuesday.

The boy was eastbound in Northvalley in his family's 1981 Buick at about 7:30 a.m.

The car hit an icy patch on the road and slid through the intersection with Greenridge, police reports said, struck a tree and then a house.

No injuries were sustained. The boy was ticketed for failure to use due care and caution.

DOMESTIC ASSAULT & BATTERY: A 49-year-old Northville man pleaded not guilty to assault and battery after a fight with his wife over money.

The 29-year-old woman told Northville City Police they had a fight March 8 over $900 that was missing from the checkbook.

The man became angry and kicked the stairway railing while walking up the stairs, she told police. The woman followed her husband upstairs, where he called her a number of names and then slapped her and pushed her out of the way.

The man said he grabbed his wife's purse to take the credit card and checkbook but denies striking her. When police arrived on the scene, an officer noticed the contents of the woman's purse were scattered across the floor.

The railway to the stairs was broken and the woman had the officer feel the bump on her chin where the man allegedly struck her.

The man was arrested and posted a $100 cash bond.

During the man's arraignment, the judge ordered him to stay away from their home. A pretrial is scheduled for March 22 at 35th District Court in Plymouth.

CAR STOLEN IN HIGH SCHOOL PARKING LOT: An 18-year-old Northville High School student parked and locked his 1979 Pontiac Firebird in the high school parking lot the morning of March 2.

When he returned to the parking lot after school, the car was gone. He searched the area to no avail and called his father, thinking he may have picked the car up. Both sets of keys to the car were accounted for.

Friends of the student saw the car driving down the high school's main driveway at 12:45 p.m. during their fifth-hour math class, which has windows that overlook the driveway.

The students told police they could not see who the driver was.

The parking lot attendant, who was unlocking a number of the school's gates at the time of the theft, did not see the car drive away.

The vehicle was later recovered in Detroit. The license plate was missing and the vehicle suffered some damage, with several dents in the body of the car.

The steering column was damaged and the registration was missing from the glove box.

OODLES O' OUILS: Northville Township police arrested several people for operating a vehicle while under the influence of liquor (OUIL) last week.

Police arrested a 27-year-old Westland man after an officer said he saw his 1989 Ford Escort swerving while eastbound on Seven Mile one week ago.

The man admitted to drinking "a few beers" that evening, police said. Testing at police headquarters later showed him to have a blood alcohol level (BAL) of .16 percent, above the legal limit, reports said.

A 20-year-old Westland woman was arrested the same night near the same spot. The reporting officer in the case said he saw the woman's 1987 Pontiac Sunbird doing 25 miles an hour on 45 mph Seven Mile and added that the vehicle swerved and hit the curb several times.

The woman admitted to drinking "two beers and one shot" that evening, the officer continued.

Her BAL was found to be .22 percent, more than twice the legal limit, reports said.

Police arrested a 47-year-old Northville man on Saturday after an officer said he found him speeding on Eight Mile. He added that the man's 1994 Geo Prizm was swerving as well and that the man claimed to have consumed "a few" drinks that night.

Testing showed him to have a BAL of .14 percent, above the legal limit, reports said.

A 30-year-old Milford woman was arrested the same night after police said they saw her 1993 Chevrolet Corsica doing 75 miles an hour on Seven Mile.

The woman allegedly admitted to drinking three beers that evening.

Testing showed her to have a BAL of .17 percent, reports said.

DISORDERLY PERSON: Two Northville city police officers responded to a call of disturbing the peace March 8 at the Inn on Main Street, 111 W. Main St.

The 24-year-old Northville man was listening to loud music and yelling. Police asked him to keep it down and left with little incident.

The officers were later dispatched to the same address on another disturbing the peace complaint.

The officers knocked on the door a number of times. The man finally let them in.

The man was lying on his back near the door. His knuckles on both hands were bloody and swollen.

There was broken glass on the floor in addition to an overturned chair and numerous clothes strewn about the room. The man admitted to police he had been drinking alcohol. A Breathalyzer test at the station later revealed he had a .209 blood-alcohol level.

While in the room, the man became increasingly loud and refused to quiet down at the officer's request. An ambulance was called to check the man's injuries to his hands. When the ambulance arrived, the man punched a wall and began yelling again. He was arrested and processed.

The man was released after making $100 cash bond after sobering up. A preliminary exam is scheduled for April 5.

BIKE STOLEN: An East Northville Trail resident told township police that someone stole a boy's bike worth $130 from her garage on Saturday.

Police suspect a walk away patient from Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital could be responsible.

MORE FIRE STATION DAMAGE: Northville Township's Fire Station No. 3 has been the target of vandals once again.

Citizens with information about any of the above incidents are asked to call Northville city police at 349-1234 or township police at 349-9400.

Parents prepare seniors' big night

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

Each night of the week, in the deep dark corners of the Northville High School basement, elves diligently work to make this year's graduation for the school's senior class a special night.

By day the elves are known to the students as their parents. By night, however, these parents change into fastidious workers, planning and making decorations for the school's senior class all-night party.

For years the party - a long-time tradition at Northville High School with music, food, games, singing and dancing in a wing of the school that seems to magically transform into another world - has made graduation night an evening to remember for seniors.

It is rumored that Northville parents were the first to begin this venerable tradition in the metro-Detroit area.

"When I started in the public school system in 1974, I had heard about the concept (of all-night parties) and to my knowledge, the original idea was started at Northville High School," said Principal Tom Johnson.

Johnson, who was a counselor at Andover High School in Bloomfield Hills in the 1970s, said that parents from Andover met with Northville High School parents to learn about the school's all night party. Parents fashioned their all-night party after Northville's.

This year's event will mark the 30th year parents have thrown the party for their graduating children. Parents come up with a theme for the party each year and decorate the school accordingly. In past years, the elaborate decorations are so effective that while walking through the party, at times it is difficult to tell which area of the school you are in.

Previous themes include 1970's Age of Aquarius, 1980's Perfect Knight and 1993's Star Wars. As always, the party's theme is coveted until the day before graduation at the senior breakfast.

This year is no different: parents are keeping their mouths shut until graduation time, but Karen DeBenedet, co-chairwoman for the party, said students should not be disappointed.

The work and devotion from the some 150 parents that are working up to four nights a week on the project has been overwhelming, DeBenedet said. Parents are split up into numerous committees, including decorations, security, casino, public relations and clean-up.

"When we first started this, I thought, 'how are we ever going to do this?'" DeBenedet said. "But now things are starting to fall into place. The key has been the chair people. It's a difficult task but we've had a lot of enthusiasm from parents and a lot of people with talent to help out."

In addition to the sheer fun of the evening with hypnotists, music and dancing and Karaoke, the party helps to keep the kids in a safe environment on a night that often leads to drinking celebrations.

"Not to say that all kids are going to go out and drink and drive, but the excitement of that particular evening lends itself to increased risk," DeBenedet said.

Johnson said he believes that graduation parties like Northville's have helped save the lives of countless students across Michigan.

This marks the 30th year of the senior all-night party. During the 1989 bash, newspaper front pages were displayed showing the graduates what happened in the world on the day they were born.

"I would guess the lives and injuries this has saved over the years is mind boggling," he said.

Traditionally, the party has been successful in getting 95-100 percent of all seniors to attend, Johnson said.

One reason the high number of students attend each year is that there is something for everyone, DeBenedet said. Past parties have played host to music, dancing, food, magicians, caricaturists, hand-writing analysts, movies, casinos and pictures to commemorate the event.

Parents are looking to the community for help - any donations, especially prizes for the casino from local businesses, are needed, DeBenedet said. At past parties, students could win VCRs, radios, alarm clocks and gift certificates from the casino.

"The casino has been traditionally popular with the students,"

she said. "It has become so popular because the people of the community have been so generous."

Tickets for the event are $35. Getting 100 percent of the seniors to attend is one aspect of the party parents are focusing on now, said Ardit Borgia, who is also chairwoman of the party with DeBenedet.

The organization of the party has not been all work for the parents - it's been enjoyable too, Borgia said.

"The feedback I've been getting from parents is that they're having fun," Borgia said. "It's a nice way for everyone to connect."

Parents of seniors who have yet to help in the planning and organization of the party can still get involved, DeBenedet said.

"People can still hop right in," she said. "It seems like the party is quite far ahead, but it will be here in no time."

Player's Choice suspects face new charge

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Two of the men facing life felony charges for last year's break-in at the Player's Choice arcade in Northville Township now stand accused of burglarizing a home in Plymouth Township last May.

Joshua Prescott Cogo, 22, of Howell, and Scott David Buda, 18, of Northville, were arraigned Friday in 35th District Court before Judge John MacDonald for one count each of breaking and entering an occupied dwelling. That's a felony in Michigan carrying a penalty of up to 15 years in prison upon conviction.

Both men face other burglary charges, including those stemming from the Aug. 14 arcade break-in. Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Thomas Jackson is scheduled to deal with them all next Friday.

Investigator Steve Mann of Plymouth Township said that Cogo and Buda took more than $5,000 worth of cash and savings certificates from a home on Brentwood Drive on May 9. The delay in charging the men was caused by problems in arranging for a key witness to testify due to a severe illness, he said.

MacDonald entered pleas of not guilty for both Cogo and Buda and bound them over for court proceedings on March 24 in Jackson's court. He set bond for both men at $1,000 cash on the charges but they will be responsible for $10,000 if they fail to appear for the court proceeding. That's not likely to happen, however, since both men are behind bars.

Buda's bond stands at $500,000 cash for the Player's charge and he remains in the Wayne County Jail. Cogo is an inmate at the Lakeland Men's correctional facility in Coldwater after conviction of another breaking and entering incident.

Player's Choice is located on Seven Mile in the Highland Lakes

Shopping Center. The arcade was broken into on Aug. 14 and about $1,000 stolen. Cogo and Buda's chances of being convicted for that crime seemed to increase when one of their alleged partners in the burglary admitted to participating in it and agreed to testify against them and the fourth man charged. He is Aaron Raymond Morrison, 19, of Northville.

Bradley Michael Hatfield, 18, of Brighton, pled guilty to larceny over $100 before Jackson on Feb. 24. Originally charged with three counts of safe breaking, Hatfield pled guilty to the lesser charge in return for agreeing to testify at the March 24 hearings of the three other men.

All three face three counts each of attempted safe breaking, a felony that carries life imprisonment upon conviction.

Cogo is also facing a charge of being a habitual fourth-time offender and faces up to 15 years in prison if convicted.

Morrison faces a charge of being a habitual second-time offender which carries a penalty of one and a half times the maximum sentence of the individual's last felony conviction - in this case, life if he's convicted of the Player's charge.

All three have pled not guilty. Morrison also faces a breaking and entering charge from a Northville city case, expected to be dealt with on March 24.

He remains in the Wayne County Jail, unable to post bond.

Hatfield is free on bond but faces another breaking and entering charge stemming from a Howell incident. Jackson will sentence him on the larceny charge on April 21.

Investigator Steve Mann says the two men took more than $5,000 in cash and savings certificates from a Plymouth Township home.

House passes anti-racketeering bill

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Both sides could claim partial victory as the state House of Representatives passed a Michigan version of RICO - Racketeering Influenced and Corrupt Organizations act.

"It's still usable," said the sponsor, Rep. Frank Fitzgerald, R-Grand Ledge. "The important thing is that it passed the House. This is the first time a RICO bill has been voted on in the House."

Fitzgerald, a former assistant Eaton County prosecutor, hopes the Senate will toughen his House Bill 4367 and that the House will agree to Senate amendments.

House passage came March 8 on a 77-27 vote.

"It's gutted," said Rep. Greg Kaza, R-Rochester Hills, with some satisfaction. He and Rep. Deborah Whyman, R-Canton, were the only Republicans to oppose the measure.

"The federal RICO is bad enough," said Whyman. "Taking property without due process of law is bad enough."

Under Fitzgerald's bill, a person guilty of racketeering could be ordered by a court to forfeit any property involved in or derived from an illegal activity, such as smuggling untaxed cigarettes into the state or dealing in food stamps.

Said Kaza in his formal protest: "One of the criticisms of federal RICO is that it can be used to block protests by harassing legitimate political protesters with RICO charges that carry the risk of bankrupting a protesting group."

Religious groups opposing a government policy, gun owners protesting their Second Amendment rights, "whistle blowers" protesting abuse of power by an official - such groups could become targets under RICO, he said.

Conservative civil rights advocates say the bill would allow "civil forfeiture" - a prosecutor could seek forfeiture using civil procedures which require "a preponderance of evidence" rather than using criminal procedure, where proof must be "beyond a reasonable doubt."

Voting yes on final passage were: Republicans Lyn Bankes of Redford, Willis Bullard of Milford, Alan Cropsey of DeWitt, Barbara Dobb of Union Lake, Jan Dolan of Farmington Hills, Fitzgerald, Dan Gustafson of Williamston, John Jamian of Bloomfield Township, Jerry Law of Plymouth, Tom Middleton of Ortonville, Susan Munsell of Howell, and James Ryan of Redford; and Democrats Eileen DeHart of Westland and Thomas Kelly of Wayne.

Voting no were Republicans Kaza and Whyman, along with Democrats Maxine Berman of Southfield, David Gubow of Huntington Woods and Kirk Profit of Ypsilanti.

The House amended the bill to prevent civil forfeiture of a house that is the primary residence of a minor child. It also adopted a Gubow-Kaza amendment to require a conviction before civil forfeiture can occur.

Fitzgerald said the bill applies to 30 crimes and provides for up to 20 years in prison and a fine of $10,000. A court also could order a convict to pay court and investigative costs.

Besides ordering forfeiture, courts could issue restraining orders and injunctions on use of any property subject to forfeiture.

Refer to House Bill 4367 when writing to your state senator, State Capitol, Lansing 48909.

Workshop will focus on problem of ADHD

Jim Fay, nationally acclaimed behavior management expert and author of Discipline With Love and Logic, teams with Bob Sornson, Director of Special Education for the Northville Public Schools, and Charles Fay, Love and Logic Consultant, for a day of practical, workable solutions to one of America's frustrating parenting and teaching dilemmas, Attention Deficit Hyperactive Disorder (ADHD).

These dynamic presenters tap over 70 years of practical experience to bring this problem into focus and provide common sense solutions that can be implemented immediately.

The presentation will be held on April 26 at Laurel Manor, 39000 Schoolcraft, Livonia, from 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

The cost for the day is $59 which includes lunch. Full payment is due April 20.

FRIENDS BOOK SALE: The Friends of the Northville District Library organization now conducts daily book sales in the Wing Street vestibule formerly dominated by the copy machine. The books are arranged neatly under such categories as mystery, romance, children's, nonfiction, classical.

Paperbacks sell for 50 cents, hardbacks generally for a dollar. The hardbacks that once were part of the library's rental collection and are still encased in plastic wrappers sell for $2.

During March, romance and mystery books can be purchased for half price. Board member Diane DeVincent keeps the shelves well-stocked with the help of Chet Lipa.

SPRING STORYTIMES: Storytimes for children 3 1/2 to 5 years old who are not yet in Kindergarten will be held:

- Session I: 1 p.m.
March 21, 28, April 4.
- Session II: 11:30 a.m.
April 11, 18, 25

Registration is now under way.

TAX FORMS: Federal and State tax forms are available at the library. There are reproducible forms available as well.

LIBRARY HOURS: The Northville District Library is open Monday through Thursday, 10 a.m.-9 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, 10 a.m.-5 p.m.; and Sunday, 1-5 p.m.

Bookdrops are located just inside the parking lot door. They are open 24 hours for the return of materials.

Please do not use bookdrops for rental books, audio cassettes, book cassettes, compact disks, and videos. The library is located at 215 W. Main. Call (810) 349-3020 for additional information.

Some critical of sewer proposal

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

The plan the Northville Township Board of Trustees is moving forward with to eliminate illegal sanitary sewer sump pump discharges in two subdivisions has its critics, both on the board and in Northville Colony Estates and Northville Commons.

Northville Colony Estates Association president Barbara Moroski-Browne said she's heard "mixed reactions" from homeowners to the plan for a township-mandated special assessment district (SAD). Some residents support it while others feel it's unfair, she said.

There's a "general consensus" against the SAD's cost-sharing formula, however, she added. It's a position which at least two trustees agree with.

The debate centers around who should pay for installing the network of storm sewer leads. Director of Public Utilities Bill Anderson said is needed to eliminate the sump discharges in the two subdivisions. He's recommended that all of the homeowners there be required to split the costs.

Many residents object to that proposal for a number of reasons.

First, some cite the fact that only about 115 homeowners admitted to being illegally connected when the township surveyed the two subdivisions in 1993. Requiring people who don't have a problem to contribute to fixing it isn't fair, some argue, board Treasurer Rick Engelland among them.

Some residents support the idea of a township-mandated special assessment district, but others feel it's unfair.

"That's like saying there's a leak in one person's roof so let's put a new roof on everyone's house," Engelland said.

Others say that the SAD plan doesn't take into account the fact that illegal sump pump discharges are a township-wide problem. Since sewer users all over Northville Township are contributing to the problem, some claim, all township sewer customers should foot the bill of the SAD. Clerk Sue Hillebrand falls into that group.

Hillebrand, Engelland and Trustee Mark Abbo all live in the two subdivisions. At the board's last study session the trustees discussed whether the three should abstain from discussing or voting on the plan because of a possible conflict of interest.

They chose not to abstain. Abbo voted for proceeding with the plan at the board's March 9 meeting. Hillebrand voted against it and Engelland was absent.

A third point of view is that the township itself should pay for part or all of the project's cost since it was township officials 20 years ago who approved the design plans of the two subs. They didn't try to fix the drainage problems that they knew existed in the area, Moroski-Browne said, leaving residents holding the bag.

"The current homeowners are being forced to pay for the past sins of the township," Moroski-Browne said.

Plan could result in new assessment

special assessment district (SAD). The preliminary per-house cost would be about $2,000, according to latest estimates.

Despite objections from some Commons and Colony residents, the board directed Anderson to work out more of the details the SAD project and bring it back to the trustees for further consideration before a decision is made to proceed on it or not. Those include:

- Developing the scope, process and method of assessment for the SAD.
- Explaining the plan to homeowners and then conducting in-house sump connection inspections to learn just who is and isn't illegally connected and is or isn't having a drainage problem. Based on that information, township officials will then decide who should be required to have a lead and/or pay a share of the SAD.

The number of people who would actually have a lead installed is critical. The current SAD project cost is based on the idea that all of the homeowners in the two subs will pay their share but most of those who don't have a drainage problem won't demand that a lead be built.

Trustee Mark Abbo, however, argued that most homeowners probably would demand the connection. That could increase the cost fivefold, a prospect that made Clerk Sue Hillebrand nervous.

"I'm very uncomfortable with moving forward," Hillebrand, the lone no vote, said. "If I approve this I'm giving the township an open checkbook. The cost could hit $1 million."

To help solve the problem, the board also directed Anderson to work out the details of a suggestion offered by Trustee Barbara O'Brien. She recommended that those who don't have a problem be allowed not to build a lead. Instead the township would collect money to build one and escrow the cash.

Drain solution reviewed

Together they're working on funding a repair job for the drain through an SAD assessed on the four agencies. Each of those agencies, Anderson said, can turn around and establish an SAD on their residents to recoup the money they would spend.

The first step of the inter-agency SAD was taken with the board's March 9 approval. The township's contracted engineering firm, Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May will put together the preliminary data necessary to establish it.

Ayres-Lewis will help develop the limits and cost estimate of the project by researching construction plans and topographic maps.

If all goes well, the project could be formally designed, approved and begun by the start of next year's summer construction season, Anderson said.

Library meeting to focus on new building plans

An update on plans for the Northville District Library building to be constructed on Cady Street is in store for area residents who turn out Saturday, March 18, for the annual meeting of the Friends of the Library.

The two-hour meeting in the City Council Chambers will begin at 9:30 a.m. with the serving of muffins and coffee.

Wendy Gutowski, who heads the library's building committee, will describe the planned study and meeting rooms, kitchen, traffic pattern and the library's pinwheel shape which allows for many windows. According to Gutowski, the roof line will feature a clerestory: an outside wall that rises above the adjoining roof and contains windows.

Another highlight of the open meeting will be an outline by Director Pat Orr of changes at the present library since last May's approval of the operating millage supporting the library.

The meeting will also include nominations for new officers and directors. President Janine Baughat will recognize the outgoing board members and Vice President Susan Anker will salute volunteers who have shared their time and talents.

Evaluation of NHS day postponed

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

The eagerly awaited findings from the evaluation of Northville High School's restructured Wednesdays have been postponed until early April.

Northville Board of Education members decided to hold off on the evaluation results until early April to allow committee members more time to mull over their data.

The board will set a date for the results to be presented at its March 27 meeting. Trustee Martha Nield said she expects the special meeting date to be set for the first week in April.

Teachers, administrators and parents have been focused at the school on the hill, hoping for results from the one-year pilot program.

Students do not start school until 10:40 a.m. — three hours later than usual — to allow teachers collegial planning time to focus on ways to improve curriculum, education and school environment at the school.

The program has stirred controversy with parents who are unhappy with the loss of classroom time for students.

Teachers are split up into six committees: technology, instructional methods/curriculum, interdisciplinary, intra-disciplinary instruction, learning theory and student services.

The evaluation results postponement is due to what turned out to be an unfortunate cost saving measure the steering committee made during the process.

The committee hired educational consulting firm Formative Evaluation Research Associates to conduct the evaluation back in October. But because of the firm's costly price tag for the job — more than 20 percent of the committee's entire budget — the high school committee decided to drop FERA and enter into an agreement with officials at the Wayne County Regional Educational Service Agency (WCRESA) to collect the data at a much lower price.

The report that was submitted by WCRESA officials March 2 was not up to par, said John Campbell, chairman of the steering committee.

"The document did not reach our expectations," Campbell said, adding that the report was too vague and inconclusive. "We were not happy with it."

The steering committee has

The Northville Board of Education decided to hold off on the evaluation results until early April to allow committee members more time to mull over their data.

brought Sharon Campbell, the FERA representative originally in charge of the evaluation, back on board. Campbell is taking the data collected by WCRESA officials and interpreting it for the district.

School board members decided that the issue was too important to rush — thus the postponement until April.

"I think it's to the teachers' credit that they decided the evaluation results were not acceptable," Nield said. "This issue is so important that we decided to wait."

Northville Education Association members and district officials will go back to the bargaining table at the end of April to discuss whether to continue the Wednesday mornings.

The April date for negotiations for the restructured day was ratified in the teachers' contract, which was settled in February.

Although many factors will play into whether the district continues the pilot program in its current form, the evaluation will pull a lot of weight, Campbell said.

"(The evaluation) will be a major piece in what happens in the future," he said.

Teachers defend Wednesday meetings as growth experience

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

Northville High School teachers say the restructured Wednesday mornings have given them a unique and valuable opportunity to collaborate and brainstorm with each other — something they feel has been the most positive aspect of the one-year pilot program.

The time to research and work with colleagues has served as a growing experience that teachers cherish, said several group facilitators in a recent interview. Committee members have visited other high schools to see what they're doing, had speakers come in and researched the latest studies on education.

"This is a real gift because we are working on the larger picture of learning research both national and international relates to us," said Judy Patton, an art instructor who sits on the learning theory committee.

The opportunity to work to make the high school a better place for students and staff is one that teachers may not have been able to do without the Wednesday mornings, physical education teacher John Briningstool said.

"We are working to make this a better place to come to school for students and staff," said Briningstool, a member of the student services committee. "Ownership and pride in our building and our existence here — we would never be able to do this without the time on Wednesday mornings."

Although teachers feel positive about their experience with the pilot program, they often feel they spend a lot of time trying to justify the validity of the Wednesdays.

Constant pressure from the community to see immediate results has been a source of stress for many teachers, said social studies teacher Ed Gabrys.

"I know people want to see results, but this is one of those things that can't have a time table," he said. "We need time for reflection."

Patton said she believes it will take a number of years to realize the full effect the program has had on the high school.

"The things we are doing, you may not notice today, but in two years, three years down the line, this is going to have tremendous impact," she said.

Briningstool said his group has gone through a "roller coaster" of emotions this year trying to deal with the sometimes unfair expectations of the community.

"If you expect to see what we hope to do five years from now in September, it's unrealistic," he said, adding that working on the evaluation has taken more time than he would have liked. "My group has spent more time on the evaluation than on working on the things we want to get done."

Nonetheless, Briningstool said he feels the Wednesday time has already made improvements.

"Even if it ended today, the high school would be a better place than it was before," he said.

Health Notes

St. Mary Hospital offers the following program:

• Help For Soon-to-be Dads:

St. Mary Hospital in Livonia has a new class for new and expectant fathers. "Just for Dads ... Childbirth and Beyond" helps new or expectant fathers better understand feelings and changes associated with the birthing process, how to become an active participant in childbirth, and the new role of fatherhood.

The format includes open discussion on attitudes and beliefs about fatherhood and lifestyle changes. Instruction on baby care includes a demonstration.

The next class will be held Thursday, April 6, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Marian Pavilion Conference Room.

The cost is $10 per person. For more information or to register, call (313) 591-3314. This is an educational program of the Marian Women's Center.

We Deliver Families.

Some people think birth is a woman's concern. It is, of course, but it's also much more.

At St. Mary Hospital, we think it's a family affair, so we make it easier for the father and the whole family to share the wonder of childbirth, before, during and after.

Before you're due — when your anticipation is growing as quickly as your baby — our prenatal classes for expectant families such as Lamaze, breastfeeding and infant care and safety get your family ready for the new arrival.

And when your baby is born — after months of waiting come down to a single day — we make sure that day is everything you meant it to be. Our commitment to family involvement includes flexible visiting hours; time with your baby; and time for father, grandparents, brothers and sisters. And all the while, you'll enjoy private rooms that combine homelike comforts with the support and security of St. Mary Hospital.

Once you're home, we're as close as your phone, with follow-up and basic infant care information.

So, talk with your doctor about St. Mary Hospital. Or call us at (313) 464-WELL to help you find a physician who's right for you. Because when it comes to families... we deliver.

Voc training bill hits snag in Legislature

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

A vocational training bill that sailed through the state House of Representatives in 1994 is in trouble this year with what one member called "the Pat Robertson lobby."

The bill, in the House Education Committee, would call on industrialists to help advise the state on what jobs and what skills will be needed in the workplace of the future, and how public schools can prepare graduates for them.

Another layer of bureaucracy. More constraints — the state is dictating everything," complained Rep. Harold Voorhees, R-Wyoming.

"Aren't we coming in with another top-down thing?" Rep. Alan Cropsey, R-DeWitt, asked rhetorically.

"I don't want this to be interpreted as a vote for a mandated core curriculum," added Rep. Jessie Dalman, R-Holland.

The three conservatives are part of a wing of the GOP that wants to junk the state School Code, core curriculum, "Michigan model" health curriculum and state proficiency tests. Their code words: "local control."

They clashed head-on March 7 with the Michigan Manufacturers Association, GOP moderates, Democrats and the public educators. They support House Bill 4196, by Rep. Glenn Oxender, R-Sturgis, to strengthen career and vocational planning and teaching statewide. Their code words: "competitive in a global economy."

Oxender, a 12-year legislator 17-year veteran of math and computer science teaching at Sturgis High, co-sponsored the bill last year with then-Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City. The pair championed vocational-technical education, seeking "employability" as a major statewide goal of public schools. The bill died, however, in the Senate.

Despite the criticism, Oxender stuck to his guns: "My concern is that the core curriculum squeezed out career-technical education. We need career awareness and career exploration, work experience with mentors, and connecting school to work."

Oxender said his bill "gives business an equal opportunity with education and labor in what they want to see from workers of the future." He said that while Michigan has done well by college-bound students, it has neglected the 50 percent of the population, in many parts of the state, who go from school to the job market.

He was strongly supported by House Education chair William Bryant, R-Grosse Pointe, and ranking minority member James Agee, D-Muskegon, a former school superintendent.

Agee wanted to report the bill to the House floor immediately. But Bryant asked for a week's delay, to the March 15 meeting, in order to explore one possible change: putting the vocational ed council under the Jobs Commission, a department of state government, rather than under the Legislative Council.

Oxender proposed using the Legislative Council as the umbrella agency to maintain lawmakers' interest and "so we could control the input of staff." He noted the Jobs Commission is the creation of Gov. John Engler and feared "it could become a political department."

Bryant said former House Speaker Robert Waldron, "my guru," advised him: "Never give the Legislature any other to do because they'll do that rather than legislating."

Oxender's bill would set up a 19-member state cabinet of business and labor leaders, state department heads and educators. Thinking long-range, they would assess job market needs, identify the needed skills, and recommend ways the state could assist employers in setting up workplace training.

RECORD OPINION

THURSDAY

Our Opinion

Time not right for DLR consolidation

The decision of the Northville Township Board of Trustees to purchase a new communications unit and Northville City Council's move to pursue partial public safety merger talks with Novi effectively killed all possibility of a four-community public safety agreement, at least for the foreseeable future.

The two Northvilles and two Plymouths had discussed the possibility of merging their radio dispatch, prisoner lockup and record keeping functions, referred to collectively as DLR, and a recent report suggested such an agreement could result in a savings of $2.76 million over 10 years.

Circumstances militated against a four-community arrangement, however, not the least of which was Northville Township's pressing need to make an immediate purchase of a new radio system. The township's aging radio was on the brink of failure and the strain the March 1 fire at the OIS building put it through proved to be the last straw.

Township officials could finalize the purchase of a new communications system tonight. Given the fact that consolidation could require joint purchases of new equipment, the radio buy is yet another move away from a joint agreement.

We think the board of trustees took the right step March 6 in defeating a resolution to negotiate a four-community DLR. The board voted against a proposal giving administrators 60 days to work out the terms of an agreement and bring them back to their elected representatives.

The need for a new dispatch unit, the flawed nature of the pro-consolidation report and Northville city's decision to look into an operating agreement with Novi, however, all argued against further pursuit of a consolidation agreement. In addition, the two Plymouths have already merged their fire departments and appear ready to consolidate their DLR services as well.

In the meantime, Northville city sees enough potential in a DLR merger with its neighbor to the north to open negotiations with that community. A preliminary financial analysis envisions a 10-year, $1.3 million savings under such a plan.

There might, in fact, be some longterm wisdom in a multi-community DLR merger, but, we believe, the immediate needs of the member communities will be better met by the individual directions the communities appear to be taking.

Forming transit board was right way to go

Marie Antoinette, the queen of France until 1789, is said to have looked upon Paris' hungry mobs and sniffed: "Is it bread they want? Let them eat cake!"

If she lived in western Wayne County in 1995, Marie Antoinette would say: "Is it transportation they want? Let them ride stretch limos."

That puts into perspective the entire public bus question. One can quibble that the solution is a multi-county system, an extension of Detroit's DOT bus lines, a western Wayne authority, separate community bus systems or privatization.

Quibbling won't get anyone to the stores, either to shop or work, along Plymouth and Ford roads. Quibbling won't get anyone to the expected new jobs at Willow Run International tradeport. Quibbling won't get old and lame folks to medical offices. If we are ever to have "schools of choice," quibbling won't get students to magnet schools or colleges.

Many good people in public office disagree over solutions to a problem they all know exists.

They aren't the enemy. But they need to unite to fight the enemy.

The enemy is Marie Antoinette's survivors. Some look upon the single-passenger automobile as "the best form of public transportation ever devised." Some are obsessed by taxes, taxes, taxes - as if taxes never contributed one iota to public safety and the quality of life.

Some have ideological agendas saying government can't do anything good; that anyone who becomes involved with government instantly loses his or her soul and brain. Some just don't want to be bothered.

Now we have this in perspective.

In the last 30 years, western Wayne County has seen a series of altering private buses, then a seven-county regional system called SEMTA, and now a three-county system called SMART.

None ever had a local (that is, regional, county or multi-county) base of revenue. SMART is about to go belly-up - by April 10, acting general manager Michael Duggan tells us. SMART's leaders are having trouble agreeing on what kind of public financing to ask voters for. Uncle Sam and Lansing won't gallop to the rescue.

So the Wayne County Commission has come up with what appears to be the only option left. It voted 10-3 on March 9 to form a suburban Wayne regional authority under Public Act 196.

The three-member board would have power to put before voters a 0.33-mill, three-year property tax proposal.

Thaddeus McCotter, the Republican who represents the Northville community on the commission, was one of the three dissenters on the issue.

Part of the grand plan, if it may be called that, is for Oakland and Macomb counties to offer similar ballot proposals, but the odds that Oakland, in particular, would either put it on the ballot or win voter approval are slim.

As of today, it appears western Wayne voters will see a bus money proposal on the ballot some time in spring. We would add just one thought to formation of the PA 196 authority board.

SEMTA's and SMART's board have been deficient because they lacked women. Two-thirds of bus passengers are female - many teenagers, many elderly, a few in-between.

Men, unfortunately, see public transit just in macroeconomic terms: big budgets, big contracts, big economic development numbers.

Women, however, see buses as a way for their kids to get to mall jobs, as a way for an elderly aunt to get to medical treatment, as a way for a destitute single mother to get to a badly-needed job.

We urge county CEO Ed McNamara and the out county communities to appoint women to the bus authority board. But not women who think like Marie Antoinette.

Teamwork that paid off

Who says mergers don't work?!

When neither Northville nor Novi high school had enough gymnasts to field its own team, the two schools decided to combine forces and form a cooperative unit. In the first year under the new arrangement, the squad finished fifth in the state, turning in a dazzling performance at Troy High School last Friday.

Now that's what we call teamwork. It could give a whole new meaning to the term consolidation, so much in the news lately with discussions of combining police dispatch and lockup functions. It might be just coincidental, in fact, but the Northville City Council seems to be taking a cue from the talented young women at the high schools. Only this week, council members directed staff to look into the possibility of a partial public safety merger with Novi. The gymnasts appear to be leading by example.

Our congratulations go out to the combined Northville/Novi gymnastics team for its fine showing in competitive play this year.

We always have fun gloating whenever the Mustangs beat the Wildcats in the annual Baseline Jug football game, but it's an even bigger kick to be able to dish out praise to both schools at the same time.

Congratulations again, and continued success next year.

Group gives rock good name

Not one for false modesty, Brett Caplin calls himself and the other members of his band "a bunch of nice guys."

Lee Snider

And when you hear some of the themes "Down With Hatred" sings about, it's hard to argue with him.

Saying the band members are "sick of people being hurt," Caplin and his fellow troubadours write much of their own material and give the lyrics a decidedly positive spin.

"Stop the Violence" is about tolerance, "Hands Without Guns" promotes gun control, "White Man" decries discrimination against Native Americans and "Flavor" is a call for a racist-free society.

Together for a little over a year now, Down With Hatred offers what Caplin calls a "punk alternative" to audiences at clubs around the metro area. Last Saturday, the group performed at the Marquis Theatre during a benefit for cancer patient Kathy Karney. Caplin organized the event himself.

The group released a new cassette of their stuff at the gig.

Caplin thinks young people like his music mainly for the driving rhythms the group serves up, but he also believes his following consists of people who, like him, have reached the saturation point with angst-ridden art.

"We're just fed up with the death metal of other groups," he says. "I think the kids are getting our message."

Caplin works at Shopping Center Market in Northville and became aware of the campaign to raise money for Karney through the high-profile efforts of the campaign organizers.

Karney is under going cancer treatments that include bone marrow transplant operations at Duke University. The treatment is labeled experimental and is not covered by her insurance carrier, Blue Cross/Blue Shield.

She'll need an estimated $100,000-$150,000 to pay for the medical regimen.

Coordinator Karen Cain says more than $1,000 was raised at the Marquis, bringing the total generated so far to around $62,000.

Down With Hatred donated half the sale proceeds from their cassettes to the Karney fund on Saturday.

"I can't say enough wonderful things about this band," Cain said. "They're like M.C. Hammer was to rap music. No swearing and just positive lyrics."

Caplin is Down With Hatred's percussionist. Other group members include Tony Baddillo (guitar), Troy Adams (bass), Tom Harman (vocals) and Peder Seglund (guitar).

As a media professional, I probably have more of a thick skin about negativism than most people, but when you hear some of the viciousness of gansta rap or sample the ill will of Nine Inch Nails, even I have to regard Down With Hatred as a breath of fresh air.

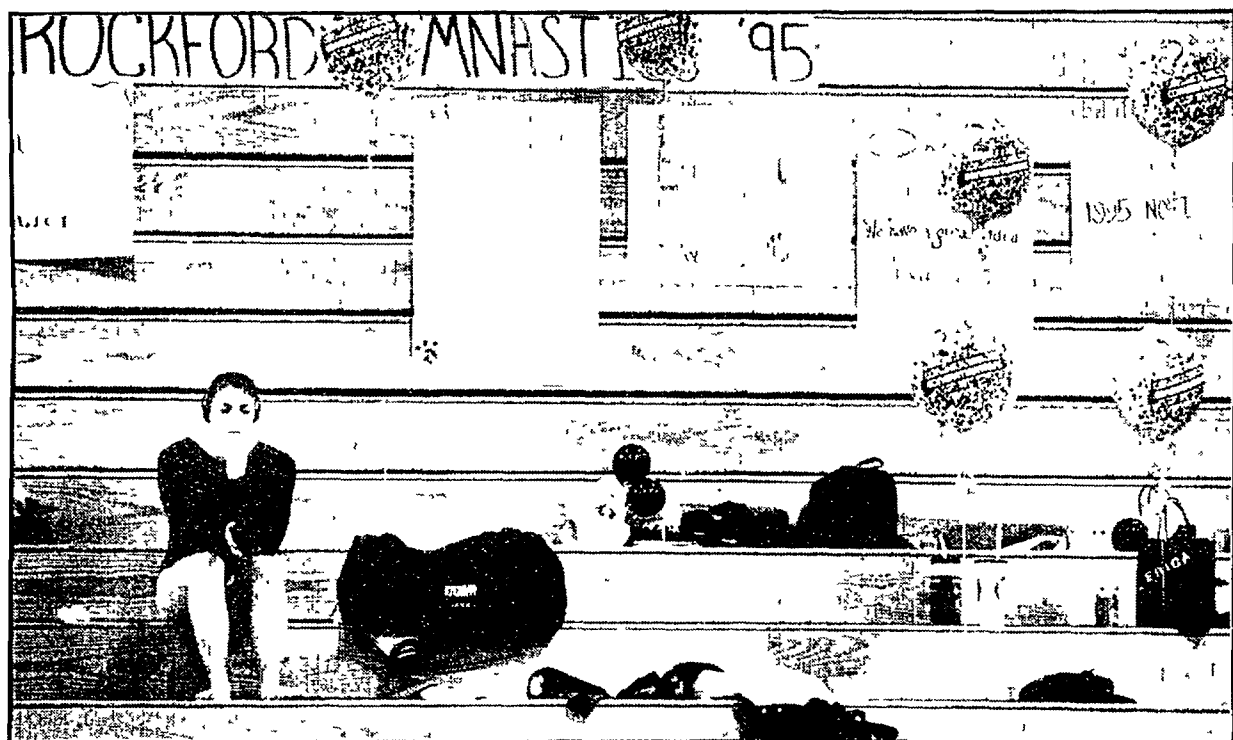

I've never heard Down With Hatred perform but you've got to hope their sound is as good as their intentions. Anybody who has enough conscience to buck a destructive trend has my backing.

The community has responded beautifully to the fund-raising campaign as have the people at Providence Hospital where Karney used to work and the folks at General Motors where her husband is employed. Call treasurer Ron Baca at 349-5564 if you want to donate.

To paraphrase FDR, the only thing to hate is hatred itself.

Robyn Wehab ponders her upcoming performance at Friday's state meet.

Lovable losers try laughing

I never thought Wednesday would be the one day of the week I look forward to most (with the exception of Friday and Saturday, of course).

But ever since my friends and I formed a team for the co-ed volleyball league at the Northville Recreation Center, my Wednesdays have been cast in a more positive, uplifting light.

No, I don't wake up Wednesday mornings with a spring in my step in anticipation of the sweat I will break while engaging in some all-American hearty competition that night on the court. It's more like looking forward to a good dose of inevitable laughter.

I could enter that gymnasium in the lowest emotional doldrums possible and leave an hour later with an unerasable grin.

Judging from our past performances on the court, our team's name - the Pub Patrol - would seem like more than just a clever title. You'd think we took the name to heart by actually visiting several of the local watering holes before our matches.

Why you ask? Our record speaks for itself: 5 wins, 27 losses. The Pub Patrol is in rock-bottom last place in the league standings.

I think it was two weeks ago that we won our last game.

"We actually won one," my teammate Kris proclaimed incredulously.

"Yeah," someone else said, "maybe we're on a roll!" It wasn't to be, however - we lost the next three matches in blaze of pitiful performances.

We are not the only ones who laugh at us. I have often caught the referee attempting to conceal a giggle. Our opposing team members make no effort to hide their amusement but, hey, no one here is a professional, so we laugh at them too.

Our team is definitely made up of some characters, each contributing to the unique chemistry of the group. First there's Wendy, the ubiquitous presence on the court who never believes a ball is unreachable - even if it strays into the court next to ours.

Then there's Ross, often the MVP of the team who makes bone-crunching crashes to the floor in a gallant effort to return the ball. Surprisingly, he's often successful. I can't forget Kris, the emotional rock of the team, who would compliment anyone for a good try - even if the ball hit them square in the face.

I'm not sure where I fit into the picture, except to say that I have a talent for tripping over my own feet and falling to the floor when there isn't even action on the court. And there are others who make their humorous contributions to make to the Pub Patrol as well.

But even above the laughter, there is a true sense of camaraderie among not only the team members but among the teams. Even when the people on the other side of the court are spiking the ball into our faces, I know it's all in good spirit.

It's programs like these made possible through Northville's recreation program that help to build upon the strength of the community.

I remember the years my parents sat with countless other Northville parents in the recreation center stands cheering on their kids during the recreation basketball season. I'll admit as a little kid I even got anxious and sweaty-palmed rooting for my younger sister to make a basket.

I'll never forget the first time I caught a pop fly and hit a home run all in the same softball game during my time on the recreation league. And I'm sure the antics of the Pub Patrol will not soon be forgotten by any of my teammates. The recreation program makes these sorts of memories possible for countless residents and in the process draws the community closer together.

And through it all, I learned a valuable lesson. Winning is not as important as how hard you laugh.

Letters

Chamber is involved at many levels

I read Ms. Conklin's letter regarding the downtown area improvements and her opinion about the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce with great disappointment. Apparently, the Chamber has been remiss in not adequately publicizing our many accomplishments.

The goal of the Chamber is to help promote the Northville business community (both city and township) because successful businesses are needed if our community is to remain viable. This is accomplished in many ways, but most visible to the general public are the many Chamber sponsored events that bring people into Northville.

The Victorian Festival, held annually over a September weekend, brings thousands of people to our town, many of whom patronize merchants that weekend and return at other times to enjoy the many shops and restaurants they have discovered. The Victorian Festival also provides the primary fund raising opportunity for most of the non-profit groups of our community.

In March the Chamber sponsors the Business Expo, which introduces people to Northville businesses while they enjoy samples of food from our fine restaurants.

The Chamber continues to sponsor the Farmers Market from May to October every year, giving the community an opportunity to enjoy fresh produce, plants and annuals at very reasonable prices.

Those events alone are a tremendous undertaking, yet the Chamber also coordinates the events, decorations and advertising for the Christmas season and the Christmas Walk as well as the annual Flower Sale and the Sidewalk Sale.

The Chamber monitors meetings of the city and township governing boards, taking an active interest in community issues that affect businesses. The Chamber is active in seeking new businesses for the community and is working closely with the Downtown Development Authority in its laudable efforts of future planning for the city and its businesses. We have taken an active role in helping the downtown merchants form subcommittees which plan activities and market their businesses.

The Chamber sponsors hundreds of requests each year for information about the Northville community, from both consumers and businesses. It also helps potential business owners find available space in the community.

These accomplishments are realized with a dedicated staff of one full-time person, two part-time people and the donation of thousands of hours by our all volunteer Board of Directors and members.

Our efforts are sustained by a small budget, but we get the most out of it. Northville's Chamber is a small one, only about 250 members, but it is strong and vibrant. Frankly, less than 50 percent of the downtown merchants are members of the Chamber, yet all enjoy the fruits of the Chamber's labor.

I urge those of you who shop downtown to support the merchants who are members. Tell the business owners what you want from them in hours, service and merchandise, as we have been doing with them for many years.

We welcome any help community members who want to give on any of our activities. When you realize all that is done each year, I'm sure you will agree with me that "never has so much been done with so little by so few!"

Alan Ferrara, President
Northville Community Chamber of Commerce

Story contained inaccuracies

To the Editor:

As my job involves matters often significantly influenced by the actions of elected and appointed government officials in Lansing, I am always particularly interested in how staff writer Tim Richard reports on and interprets those issues for my neighbors in Northville and me.

In the main, I have found Mr. Richard's reports to be both informative and accurate. However, I do wish to correct some misinformation both reported in and suggested by Mr. Richard's March 2 column, "Engler Budget Tight-Fisted with Grants for Arts."

It is true, as Mr. Richard writes, that budget recommended by Gov. Engler contains no line item appropriations for "major cultural institutions like the Detroit Institute of Arts (DIA) and the Detroit Symphony Orchestra (DSO)." It is also true that the governor's budget contains a provision that "the DIA and DSO shall receive not less than their respective appropriations for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1995," the state's current fiscal year.

More importantly, from my perspective, are Mr. Richard's misleading suggestions that: 1) Detroit Symphony Orchestra Hall (the full corporate name for the DSO) will, for the first time under the executive budget bill, have to apply and compete for funding through the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs (MCACA), and 2) that DSOH will face the certainty of being audited.

I work as the Director of Foundation and Government Relations for DSOH. In that professional capacity, I have personally prepared and submitted annual grant applications to the MCACA and its predecessor, the Michigan Council for the Arts.

DSOH's applications to the competitive Anchor Organization Program are evaluated and funding recommendations made at independent peer panel review sessions organized and conducted by the MCACA. All grant applicants are invited to attend those panel reviews, although applicants are prohibited from actively participating in the review discussions. I have personally attended every review of DSOH's annual applications.

In addition to the annual competitive applications DSOH submits to the MCACA, I also prepare and submit timely and comprehensive interim and final reports, including independent audits of DSOH financial statements.

Moreover, the MCACA just completed a site visit to DSOH for a first-hand look at some of the Orchestra's education/outreach activities and interviews with our musicians, general manager and new manager of education programs. Together these activities demonstrate DSOH's willingness to keep the state fully informed of the status and promise of its programs and operations.

DSOH believes that the governor's budget recommendation for the Orchestra for FY 1996 is a consequence of the following factors:

- The Orchestra has and continues to live up to the promises it made to the people of Michigan to maintain its world renowned artistic excellence and to manage its operations in a fiscally responsible manner;

- During a period when other major American orchestras have seen their budgets skyrocket, DSOH has kept its expense budget essentially flat for six consecutive years - the smallest budget of any of the top dozen orchestras in the country;

- DSOH's applications to the state through the MCACA have consistently been rated "at the high end of excellent" by the independent review panels; and

- DSOH has fully complied with all of the MCACA's and state Legislature's reporting requirements.

In sum, I am convinced that DSOH enjoys the support of Gov. Engler because it has earned it. DSOH has done what it said it would do in response to the demands made of it. I don't think the governor would mind if I borrowed a phrase of his to characterize DSOH's recent relationship with the state: "promises made, promises kept."

Public policy panaceas don't exist

Over the years, I've seen a fair amount of government up close and personal.

I was the administrative assistant for a U.S. representative in the mid-1960s and ran (and lost) a primary race for the U.S. Senate in 1978. At one point in the late 1980s, I even achieved the (dubious) distinction of being the nation's longest-serving job training council chair.

If I've learned one thing in all this involvement, it's this: There is no such thing as a Silver Bullet.

By Silver Bullet, I do not mean what the Lone Ranger loaded in his trusty six-gun. I mean a public policy nostrum, an idea that seems so simple, so clear, so penetrating to the core of things that it does away with the need for common sense, mastery of detail and plain hard work.

In the 1930s, the Silver Bullet was the idea that government programs alone could pull the country out of the Great Depression. As anybody who lived through that stagnant decade can tell you, it wasn't until World War II came along that the economy really started moving.

The left's Silver Bullet of the post-war period was that getting along with the Russians would bring world peace. We all know what happened to that - just as well all know about the Silver Bullet of the right, the fantasy that all our problems were caused by Communist traitors in our government.

And in the 1960s, the Silver Bullet was the set of programs that President Lyndon Johnson rammed through the Congress that have come to be called the "Great Society." Entitlements such as Medicare, food stamps and parts of the welfare program - all were little Silver Bullets, programs that would end forever the poor health of starving families and abused children.

For those who understand that those who fail to remember history are condemned to re-live it, I offer the Silver Bullet du jour: Block grants, the wholesale elimination of federal programs with all their various regulations and restrictions, with the money simply packaged up and doled out to the states.

The idea - as such advocates as Gov. John Engler never tire of telling us - is that states can do everything better than the feds. They quote Franklin Roosevelt (incorrectly, it turns out; the author was Justice Louis Brandeis) to the effect that the states are "the laboratories of democracy" - places where experimentation, free of the stifling federal bureaucracy and regulations, can blaze new paths of cost-efficiency and public effectiveness.

So far as it goes, the idea makes sense. Certainly, I yield to no one in my amazement and contempt for elephantine federal bureaucracies and bewildering detailed regulations.

But does wholesale devolution of federal authority to a bunch of block grants to the states solve all problems of ineffective government? No way.

Are state bureaucracies nimble and alert, quick to sniff out problems and pounce on offending bureaucrats? Not that I've seen. Are state regulations models of clarity and precision, issued timely and administered even-handedly? Anybody who has dealt recently with the Department of Natural Resources knows that's hogwash.

Worse, converting federal programs into a bunch of block grants to the states - today's Silver Bullet - merely substitutes 50 immobile state bureaucracies for one immobile federal bureaucracy. I'm not sure this is as big a gain as advertised. Government, whether federal or state, is intrinsically ineffective and hard to manage.

Take job training. Gov. Engler and others want (rightly) to do away with the crazy-quilt of conflicting and inefficient federal job training programs. They want to consolidate them all into 50 block grants to the states, thereby (wrongly) letting state bureaucrats manage all the money. Much better to create job training vouchers and issue them to individuals to use as they see fit in trying to improve their skills.

That's what happened with the GI Bill, one of the few absolute success stories of government activity. Why? The GI Bill depended on the energy and independence of individuals, not some fashionable Silver Bullet.

Engler shifting on aid to non-publics

Will the real John Engler please rise?

"Promises made, promises kept" was Gov. Engler's 1994 campaign slogan as he sought a second term. But in 1995 he's keeping "promises" he never made as a veteran state legislator and freshman governor about issues he never discussed.

As Phil Power pointed out last week, Engler reversed himself 180 degrees on his oft-stated principle: "Government shouldn't be picking winners and losers in business," a principle lifted straight out of Adam Smith's Wealth of Nations. Engler has plunged into the tax incentive business with his Michigan Economic Growth Authority (MEGA). That comes out of the thinking of Alexander Hamilton's 1789 Report on the Manufactures and Democratic Gov. Jim Blanchard's activist thrust.

For this Engler is being roasted by his old pals in the Mackinac Center who, if extremely ideological, are at least consistent.

The point is not merely that (1) Engler reversed himself but (2) never warned us during the campaign and (3) waited until after the election to do it.

Ditto with the school quality issue.

Engler's campaign document boasted: "Academic core curriculums will be developed to ensure that every student learns the basics necessary to succeed in education and the world of work." He boasted of his Michigan School Report which included facts on "student test scores." He boasted of new state-endorsed diplomas based on state MEAP tests.

In 1995 he wants to repeal the state School Code. That's the law that not only outlines school governance but site-based decision making, reporting requirements, accreditation, state-endorsed diplomas, core academic curriculum, adult education, sexual harassment, health and physical education, including sex education.

He claims he's trying to save the schools paperwork. Funny, he didn't promise that in the campaign.

Last week Engler told the Michigan Association of School Boards that teacher certification rules need to be eased. He wants knowledgeable people to be able to teach after six months of special preparation rather than two-plus years of preparation.

Very funny indeed: The school boards didn't ask for it. The teachers don't see the need. There already is an oversupply of teachers. And Engler didn't campaign on the issue.

Just where is second-term Gov. John Engler trying to lead us with these radical new solutions to newly-invented problems? Ponder these facts:

- Engler's chum since boyhood, Senate majority leader Dick Posthumus, is working valiantly to rip up the new State Board of Education high school proficiency tests. Shucks, just let districts pick their own tests from a "menu" of national tests, he says. Now how does that square with Engler's past promises of giving parents "more choices"? How do parents choose when they are unable to compare?

- Engler hasn't given up on his dream of charter academies that can dump the School Code but still get state money. He's appealing a circuit court decision that saw through his effort to "de-regulate" schools.

- A Religious Right group on the House Education Committee is battling a moderate Republican's bill on career education - gleaming information on future jobs, skill requirements and state proficiency tests to assure kids achieve the needed competencies. Here's the funny part: The opposition denounces industry's input as "bureaucratic."

The pattern is clear: Loosen the standards for running schools, loosen the standards for hiring teachers, loosen the standard for who gets state money.

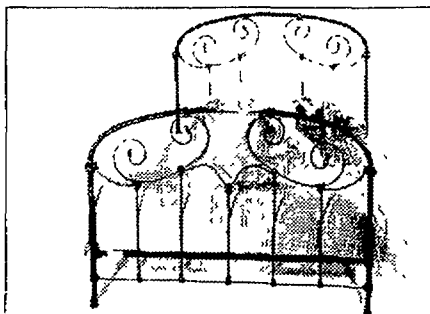

Who's behind it? Figure it out. Despite all the bad-mouthing you hear about public schools, non-public enrollment has declined as a percentage of total enrollment from a high of 11.4 percent in 1984 to around 10 percent now. Non-public schools are losing market share.

Final fact: The movement has begun, both in the Senate and among wing groups, to lift the ban on "parochial" - state aid to church-related schools.

In 1994 Engler told us he didn't favor aid to non-public schools. Today I have a funny feeling about his 1995 position.

clans in some municipalities in Michigan have discovered a plethora of ways to squander public funds on investments in shopping centers, hotels, racetracks, and sports arena debt-domes.

All of these projects were expected to be the financial salvation for the fiscal woes created by self-annointed downtown dreamers who love to use our tax dollars to speculate in the real estate market.

If they were required to use their own salaries on such wild projects, they would never dare to take chances but this bunch is very bold when they are playing monopoly with our money.

Our financial wizards should be tarred and feathered for their shenanigans but we can assume they will always request local tax increases to save their souls from this scandalous behavior.

It is pure entertainment to observe the Laurel and Hardy fineness created by many of the hornswogglers in some Michigan communities. At the very least we can pray that they will not compound their mistakes by gambling in risky derivatives!

Question plan to consolidate

To the Editor:

I read with interest your reports of the consolidation of the area agencies Public Safety Radio systems ("DLR"). The community, like our paper, must question this plan for regionalizing and consider their own needs before accepting the claims of this report. Your "Our Opinion" column seems to be right on the subject.

Something not referenced in your reports is the fact that these "combined" dispatch operations often fail; a couple cases in point would be the failed dispatch marriage that Redford Township and the city of Livonia suffered only a few years ago.

Look into the failed central dispatch program that was attempted in Washtenaw County years ago.

And what about the loss of an agency that the citizens can have 24 hour contact with, such a building open 24 hours a day and weekends, and don't forget the ownership that the citizens would lose with moving the "DLR" to a building in Plymouth, not to mention that at times the police department might be required to respond from this building that could be isolated because of the railroad tracks.

Your article quoted the supervisor stating that the report's data came from a report that had been done earlier in 1994 for five communities, the fifth being Canton. How can a public official stand behind a report that was gleaned from a study that was made for a five community report on consolidation?

The facts and figures for this original report will have changed significantly because one of the key elements has been removed, noticeably Canton.

Times have changed over the past few months, and now the Northville Township Department of Public Safety has a four year millage that was approved by the township voters.

Another point is the comments about savings: The numbers in the paper only equate out to an average yearly savings of approximately $69,000 per municipality. Of course this does not take into effect the true formula that would be imposed on each agency. This $69,000 does not seem to me to be a large enough savings to justify the potential loss of this important service that is so important to the communities safety.

The last comment is in reference to the "state of the art equipment." I'm sure that the Department of Public Safety is having new dispatch equipment quoted with modern equipment put in place.

If trends in equipment change to a point that changes need to be made, then at that time the township can consider these options.

Unlike past administrations I'm sure that the Department of Public Safety will not let the radio equipment get to this deplorable state again. The citizens stand to lose if this type of consolidation project is implemented.

Why not a month for everybody?

To the Editor:

With the multitude of ethnic groups that make up our nation's populace, it would be impossible for each to have a month in each year to commemorate their culture, history and luminaries.

Many of these ethnic-American groups have made numerous social, cultural, political, economic, humanitarian and other relevant important contributions to our nation over the years.

And, needless to say, most of them suffered through years of discrimination and hardship.

In fairness to all Americans, rather than have one month each year dedicated to only one ethnic group, why not set that one month aside to commemorate and celebrate all our diverse ethnic groups? Each group could celebrate in their own way and/or join together with other groups in honoring our country's ethnic diversity.

That month might be called "Peoples of America Month" or "Diversity - U.S.A. Month." But the title is not nearly as important as the meaning of such an event, one all Americans would feel a part of and share in.

People first, ducks second

To the Editor:

To counterpoint the "cover up in duck death" letter, I can sympathize with the writer in that no one wants to witness cruelty or the death of an animal or fowl.

On the other hand, a few years ago I braked to avoid hitting geese crossing Grand River in Farmington, was rear-ended by a truck, not only endangering my life but the lives of others plus causing over $1,000 worth of damage to my vehicle.

The geese survived their crossing and I eventually survived the lectures and comments I received from interested bystanders and the investigating officers on how I could be so foolish to put the lives of a few geese over that of the human race.

Speak out on high school day

To the Editor:

Northville parents speak up! Our school board will decide the fate of Wednesday mornings at the high school for next year, in April or May.

An average of 20 students utilize the many activities that are offered on Wednesday mornings. That comprises less than two percent of the student population.

Northville High School provides many wonderful programs to students on Wednesday mornings. Our tax dollars pay for substitute teachers to facilitate this. The district (we) also pay for well-known speakers to address students. What an embarrassment to hire a speaker for an audience of 20 or 30.

I hope this year ('94-'95) of half days has provided the time required for the teachers to accomplish their goals. I understand they have made necessary improvements. Do these justify taking away 10 percent of our children's school year - indefinitely?

Students stay up late on Tuesday nights, knowing they can sleep in on Wednesday. In addition, trying to cram a full day of classes into a half day is not allowing enough time for tests, science labs, etc. This weekly disruption should not continue.

I hope with one year under their belt, the school board and teachers will find an alternate way to maintain their progress.

Make attendance mandatory on Wednesday mornings. I am disturbed by people who complain, without offering solutions. I have suggestions. Divide the teachers into four groups and rotate first, second, third, and fourth Wednesdays.

What about five in-service days a year?

The feedback I get from fellow parents ranges from disappointment to dismay over the current schedule at the high school.

I want my incoming freshman to attend a full week of school!

Parents speak up ... before it's too late!

Sad at leaving a great place

To the Editor:

It is with a mixture of melancholy sadness and exuberant excitement that we say good bye to our friends in Northville, as we move to a new life in North Carolina.

We have grown to love this town for its wonderful and truly unique ambience; its charming downtown shops and its distinctive, friendly neighborhoods. But nothing can compare to the people that live here.

We will always cherish the friendships that we formed through the daycare, the neighborhood, C.H.A.D.D., and Daisy Scouts. Thank you especially to everyone at Amerman Elementary. Dr. Steven Anderson, Mrs. Marlene Roney, Mrs. Virginia Kricitz, Miss Nancy, Mrs. Joann Colligan, Mrs. ChrisAnn Kelly, Mr. Al Rose, and Mr. Bob Somson gave our daughters far more than an outstanding education.

These people dedicated themselves to excellence and we will miss them dearly. The list of people that have touched our lives in the three short (but meaningful) years that we have been here is too long to enumerate.

But you all hold a place in our hearts.

Thanks for the memories!

Charity doctor recognized

Retired dentist and Northville resident Dr. Harvey Burch receives a hearty congratulations from, among others, television actor Ed Asner at the World Medical Relief Celebrity Roast, held March 7. Dr. Burch was given the Irene M. Aubert Award from World Medical Relief Inc. for his volunteer efforts and association with the United Way affiliate organization since the 1960s. World Medical Relief collects, refurbishes and recycles used medical equipment and medically related items, redistributing them nationally and internationally to the world's needy. Over the years, Dr. Burch and his wife, Betty, ventured to Romania and poverty stricken Guatemala to provide dental work and services. Also pictured above are channel 7 personalities Jim Harrington and Doris Biscoe. The event was held at in Southfield.

Stempien to step down from bench

Wayne County Circuit Judge Marvin Stempien of Plymouth will leave the bench April 1 to return to the active practice of law.

"It's time to get a respite from the constant stress of dealing with human conflict and misery," Stempien said. "For a Judge who tries to follow the law, and tries at the same time to be just and compassionate, particularly in criminal and family law cases, the occupation can be stressful and emotionally draining."

Stempien has served as judge since 1983, having been the first judge appointed to the Circuit Court by former Gov. James Blanton.

He previously had practiced law in Livonia for 22 years. He was elected three times to the Michigan Legislature to represent Northville and Livonia, and served as majority leader in the House of Representatives.

In his 12 years at trail court, Stempien gained respect in the legal community for his handling of several potentially explosive racial discrimination cases, including the 1984 suit of black law students against the University of Detroit Law School, and the 1986 challenge to the Dearborn ordinance that closed that city's parks to non-residents.

Judge Stempien's precedent setting decision declaring the ordinance invalid under the Michigan Constitution was affirmed by the Michigan Supreme Court and is cited in civil rights cases across the nation.

In the early 1990s Stempien was again affirmed by the Supreme Court when he ruled, to the surprise of the Coleman Young administration, that the city of Detroit public utility tax that collected $60 million per year in was invalid under Michigan law.

A short time later, Stempien presided over another high profile Detroit controversy when he ruled during the embezzlement investigation of Police Chief William Hart that the records of the Detroit Police Department's Secret Service Fund should remain secret under the Freedom of Information Act because of dangers to other ongoing criminal investigations.

Stempien will join the Southfield law firm of Sommers, Schwartz, Silver and Schwartz P.C.

Gov. John Engler has appointed Arthur Lombard as Stempien's replacement. Lombard is a former Circuit Court judge, a dean and professor at Detroit College of Law and a law instructor at Harvard University.

Light winter goes easy on the roads

Thanks to the relatively mild winter southeast Michigan has been experiencing Wayne County road officials are projecting a savings of as much as $1 million in road salt expenses over last year. While that savings is currently in the form of surplus salt and other materials at road yards, it may later translate into more available money for road improvement work in the County, according to roads director Bob Mahoney.

"So far this year, we have used 83,000 tons of road salt, about 1/3 less than we had used by this time last year," said Mahoney. "Since it looks like we'll have much of the salt for next year already on hand, we may be able to free up that money to put into road resurfacing."

At a cost of about $100,000 per lane mile for resurfacing, the county could conceivably repave about five miles of a two-lane road it otherwise would not have been able to, according to Mahoney.

"This year, Wayne County plans to resurface 27 miles of roads throughout Internal Paving Program. What this means is that we might be able to add another road improvement project or two to next year's list," said Mahoney.

If nothing else, the milder weather should mean fewer problems with pot holes and muddy gravel roads this year, Mahoney added. "Usually, the colder the winter, the worse conditions get in the spring, so we are hopeful we'll have a relatively calm spring."

Mahoney said to report dangerous pot holes on county roads, or to receive printed information on how pot holes are formed and fixed, call the county's central maintenance road yard at (313) 955-9920. Crews can usually respond to maintenance calls within 24-36 hours he said.

Senior Briefs

Income Tax Preparation: The Northville Senior Citizens Center and AARP will be preparing income tax for people age 60 and over. Taxes will be prepared at the senior center every Thursday through April 13, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

There is no cost for this program. Transportation is available or a preparer can make a home visit upon request. Please call 349-4140 to make your appointment.

"Peruvian Gold Exhibit" DIA: Transportation is available to the Peruvian Gold Exhibit at the Detroit Institute of Arts. The cost for the trip is $18.75 and includes round trip transportation to the DIA and admission to the Royal Tombs of Sipan.

Departure time will be 9 a.m. from Northville Parks and Recreation parking lot, 303 West Main Street. The Royal Tombs of Sipan are said to be "The most significant archaeological find in the Western hemisphere: treasures of gold, silver jewelry, semi-precious stones and other artifacts from the richest tombs ever excavated in the New World."

Discovered were three 1,000-plus-year-old burial chambers in a small pyramid near the village of Sipan, Peru. The tombs were the final resting places of three high-ranking officials of a civilization that dominated northern Peru from 100-800 A.D. These officials, or priests, were worshiped as royalty, and buried in a splendor that rivals the Egyptian pharaohs.

Don't miss the once-in-a-lifetime chance to discover this ancient civilization for yourself. A society that left no written records to explain why it flourished - or why it vanished. Trip date is March 29.

"Industry Sings" at the Macomb Center for the Performing Arts: The choirs of Detroit Edison, Masco Corp., Ford Motor Co., GM Employees' Chorus and The Gentleman Songsters will be at the Macomb Centre for the Performing Arts on April 1.

The Northville Senior Citizens Center will provide transportation to this spectacular event. The cost per person is $12 and includes round trip transportation and admission to the show. Departure time is 6 p.m. from Northville Parks and Recreation, or 6:15 p.m., from Kings Mill Club House. Transportation is available from your home upon request, beginning at 5:30 p.m. ($1 additional donation).

Windsor Casino Tour: Transportation will be provided to the Windsor Casino on April 11 at 9:15 a.m. The cost per person is $23 and includes round trip transportation via Bianco Tours, deluxe motorcoach, admission to the casino, $10 in gambling tokens, and lunch at Studebaker's restaurant in Windsor. Return time is approximately 4:30 p.m.

"A Brush With Art" at the Detroit Institute of Arts: The DIA is holding a Day of Appreciation for our community's senior citizens. A Brush With Art will take place on Thursday, May 15, at 9 a.m.

The cost per person is $18.75 and includes round trip transportation, admission to the DIA, lunch, senior film festival, art walkers workout, special senior tours of the collection, make-it and take-it craft workshops, working artists' demonstrations, plus time to browse the DIA galleries and shopping at the DIA Museum shop.

Departure time is 9 a.m. from Northville Parks and Recreation, 303 West Main Street.

For information on any of the above trips please contact the Northville Senior Citizens Center at 349-4140.

Seat belt patrol to be out in force

Motorists not wearing their safety belts this weekend may find themselves with a citation because police officials are kicking off the 1995 "No Excuses" drive to increase safety belt use in Wayne County communities.

Northville police will be paying special attention to safety belt use on Saturday and Sunday March 18-19, as will Wayne County Sheriff deputies and the Michigan State Police.

Safety belt use in Wayne County is 56 percent, well below the state and national average of 66 percent.

"No Excuses" is the safety belt drive theme because research shows that most unbelted motorists have a ready excuse: "It takes too long." "It messes up my clothes." "I'm only driving a short distance," or "I don't want to be trapped in the car if I crash."

None of those excuses helps when a traffic crash occurs. Both fatal and serious injuries are reduced by as much as 50 percent when safety belts are worn, police point out.

They also point out that less than one-half of one percent of vehicle crashes result in drivers being trapped ... 75 percent of crashes occur within 25 miles of home and on roads with speed limits of 45 mph or less.

Buckling up takes too much time or messes up your clothes? Not as much as hurtling through a windshield, police note.

Six additional special enforcement periods are scheduled for this summer, through the Labor Day weekend.

Karen Juntunen and other members of the Northville High School S.A.D.D. chapter put on a skit about peer resistance for fifth graders at Moraine Elementary School. The presentation was one of the Red Ribbon Week activities.

Students let emotions out at event

"I don't think you guys should label people or put me down just because I wear fishnets or because I like Nirvana," said one student, struggling to verbalize her feelings through a gush of tears. "It's been hard to put up with this. It hurts. Sometimes I wish people wouldn't look at my clothes. I wish they could see me for who I am."

Nearly students surrounded the girl with hugs after she finished.

"Cutdowns - I'm the king of them," said another student when he stepped up to the microphone. "I'd like to say I'm sorry ... I'm going to try to change."

Students felt the presentation was helpful - especially when the floor was turned over to the audience.

"The biggest impact on people was when everyone got up and spoke," said senior Tammy Cooke. "I was surprised. You see somebody in the halls and they look fine. But then you hear what they had to say today and you think, 'I didn't realize that.'"

Senior Christine Corder said she felt Stewart's presentation impacted at least some of the students.

"I think there will be some people that will change," she said. "But there will still be people who will say 'you look funny to me.' They're going to do what they're going to do. That's just the way they are."

Principal Tom Johnson, who said he witnesses damaging cutdowns among students every day, said Stewart's presentation was moving and helpful.

"Whether (putdowns) are deliberate or not, they still do the damage," Johnson said. "When these mount up on a kid and supplemented by what may or may not happen at home, it can make for a pretty miserable life. I think it brought everyone's level of awareness up."

Stewart also spoke to students at Novi High School and to Northville and Novi parents to discuss how to raise self esteem in children. Johnson said he was disappointed that only about 50 parents attended the evening presentation, saying that many could have benefited from hearing Stewart.

The high school's activities in recognition of Red Ribbon Week, a time aimed at raising drug and alcohol abuse awareness, got the message across, Johnson said.

Students marked the week by tying red ribbons on car antennas in the high school parking lot and around town, and by conducting a flower sale, attending Stewart's presentation and watching presentations by Students Against Drunk Driving, S.A.D.D.'s presentations to elementary students centered around tactics to fend off peer pressure.

"Everyone has done just a magnificent job in promoting Red Ribbon Week," Johnson said. "I believe all the students at Northville High School really benefited."

City looks at sharing dispatch with Novi

patch and lock-up contract with Novi could cost the city approximately $684,076 in comparison to the some $2 million it would cost for the department to maintain its current operation. A consolidation with Plymouth city and township would cost roughly $2.7 million over 10 years.

Converting to an 800 MHz radio system, which the Michigan State Police Department plans to do over the next four to five years, would cost the city roughly $2.1 million over 10 years.

Currently Northville uses a VHF (very high frequency) radio system. An 800 MHz system is state-of-the-art and provides better communications, Chief Rodney Cannon said.

A three community consolidation originally included Northville Township in consolidation talks. Discussions on the merger have been ongoing this year but fizzled out last Thursday when the Township Board of Trustees voted 5-1 to ice talks on the four community consolidation concept.

Cost sharing between the three remaining communities would substantially raise the burden on the city, costing upward of an additional $1.5 million over 10 years without Northville Township - a cost that city officials and council members are leery of.

City Manager Gary Word characterized the cost of a three-community consolidation as "infeasible."

"The straw that breaks the camel's back with the three communities is that we will have to build a new facility," said Mayor Pro Tem Carolann Ayers of the structure that would have to be built to house prisoners and a central dispatching area. "It certainly does skew the cost of we had originally been looking at."

Equally important as the dollars and cents of any potential merger, however, is the quality of service to the community - something officials are not taking lightly.

"The ultimate goal is to improve service to the community," Cannon said.

Although council members expressed interest in pursuing further talks with Novi, they all stressed the need for more information and figures before reaching a final decision.

One of the most prominent problems facing the city with a potential cooperative agreement is what to do with the department's three full-time and three part-time dispatchers - a problem Word said he is struggling with.

"Our dilemma is what do we do with the employees we've got," he said. "The city of Northville has a history of taking care of its people."

The report to the council stated that Novi would be willing to absorb Northville dispatchers if vacancies were to occur. However, no vacancies are anticipated at this time. At least one full-time dispatcher will be retained for clerical and record purposes at the department.

If Northville were to enter into a contract, the department would need to upgrade its radio to the level of Novi's, which uses a 400 MHz system. Cannon estimates it would cost approximately $35,000 to upgrade each radio in the patrol units - a one-time expense. The total cost of the contract would be approximately $28,000-$30,000 per year.

Other issues the council must deal with include the extra time officers will be on the road to transport prisoners, the duration of the contract and Novi's growing population. The city's report stated that Novi's population is expected to double by 2005.

"We need to look at the possibility that Novi may lose enthusiasm for contracting if its population doubles," Ayers said.

Councilman Charles Keys stressed that whichever avenue the council decides to take, service to residents is the most important factor.

"I want to be sure that we maintain the superior services we have here - that's the most important thing to me," Keys said.

Multi-community consolidation dead

By RANDY COBLE

Staff Writer

Events this past week have brought to a halt any chance that four local communities will consolidate some of their public safety services.

Three key developments have effectively closed the door on four-community talks to merge public safety radio dispatching, prisoner lockup and record keeping services, collectively referred to as "DLR."

A committee made up of officials from Northville and Plymouth cities and Northville and Plymouth Townships issued a report two weeks ago, which claimed joint DLR meant better service for less money.

To continue the talks, the Northville City Council and the township board of trustees were each asked this week to pass a resolution included in the report. It's one that both the Plymouth City Council and the Plymouth Township board of trustees have approved. The resolution gives administrators in each community the go-ahead to negotiate a DLR agreement and bring back a written contract within 60 days.

The Northville City Council on Monday did not pass the resolution, deciding instead to pursue DLR merger talks with the city of Novi and abandon the four-community discussions.

Meanwhile, the Northville Township Board of Trustees voted 5-1 against the resolution on March 9. The trustees are expected to nail the DLR coffin shut tonight when they approve a $376,000 bid for a new public safety radio system.

In addition, Plymouth City and Township seem ready to abandon efforts at four-community talks as well, City Manager Steve Walters and Supervisor Kathleen Keen McCarthy said. Instead, both agreed that it's likely the two communities will work on merging their own DLR services as they did their fire departments last year.

Northville Township Supervisor Karen Baja was the lone vote in favor of the resolution at the March 9 board meeting. The other trustees in voting against it said that the township's "urgent need" for a new public safety radio system outweighed other considerations.

They rejected Baja's request to hold off on the radio purchase for six months while they studied the DLR merger data.

"One fire, one person losing their home, is unacceptable," Trustee Russ Fogg said.

"I don't want to see us shutting the door on future evaluation of the idea, though," Trustee Gini Britton added.

The township's old radio coordinated the activities of police, fire and emergency medical service personnel. It blew out on March 1.

Two sealed bids for a replacement system were opened on Monday. Only one met all bid specifications, township Director of Public Safety Chip Snider said: $376,359 from Mobil Communications Inc., a Livonia firm.

A second bid from Lanier Worldwide Inc., also of Livonia, was unacceptable, Snider said, because it was for only two pieces of the radio, apparatus. Snider said he planned to recommend the Mobil Communications bid to the board.

If the trustees give the bid award preliminary approval at their meeting today, Mobil would soon begin building and installing the system, expected to take three to four months.

Education Notes

Schoolcraft College is accepting registrations for the following courses:

- Basics of Quilting: Learn traditional and conventional methods of this American folk art. The six week course will be held Wednesday evenings from 6:30 to 9:10 p.m., beginning March 22. The fee is $38.
- Planning and Administering the Company Budget: Learn how to prepare and implement long and short-term budgetary plans for your company. The five week course will meet Wednesdays from 7 to 10:10 p.m., beginning March 22. The fee is $132.
- Attracting Songbirds and Butterflies to your Garden: Learn how to attract and feed butterflies, songbirds, and hummingbirds in your garden. The one-day course will meet Saturday, March 25, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. The fee is $34.

Schoolcraft is also accepting registrations for the following testing courses:

- Test Taking Improvement: Learn to overcome the fear of taking tests, in addition to organizing knowledge, analyzing questions, and comprehending facts. The two week course will be held Tuesdays from 5:30 to 7 p.m., beginning March 21. The fee is $21.
- ACT Prep Workshop: Students will learn to improve their scores on the ACT with this course. The three week course will meet on Wednesdays from 5 to 7 p.m., beginning March 22. The fee is $58.
- College Level Exam Program (CLEP): Students will assess their readiness and prepare for the CLEP exam in this one-day workshop on Saturday, March 25. The workshop will be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. The fee is $47.

To register, or receive further information regarding the above programs, contact Continuing Education Services at (313) 462-4448.

Madonna University will host a student music recital at 3 p.m. on Sunday, April 2, in Kresge Hall.

The event will be a presentation of solo and ensemble works including vocal and instrumental music.

Madonna University is located at I-96 and Levan Road in Livonia. For more information, call (313) 591-5097.

Arts lecture set

The Northville Arts Commission is hosting the third in a three-part series of art lectures by noted art authority, Michael Farrell, on Thursday, March 30. The series has focused on "Our Living Tradition: Three Contemporary Realist Painters."

Farrell is associate professor of Art History at the University of Windsor, adjunct curator at the Detroit Institute of Arts and instructor at the Art House of Detroit.

The March 30 lecture will present the works of Chilean painter Claudio Bravo, who holds himself aloof from all art movements past and present. His work is carried out in a condition of seclusion that might well be compared with that of a hermit.

Perhaps like the more successful hermits, he finds both the lack of company and the inability of the world to impinge upon his solitude conducive to practical meditation, difficult for an actively involved member of society to imitate.

The lecture will take place in the Northville High School Forum at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $8 each and are available at the door. For more information call (810) 349-6104.

AAUW honors achieving women

Dr. Mary E. Lapham and Dorothy Gay were honored at The American Association of University Women, Northville-Novl Branch's annual Community Enrichment Award on March 11 following a luncheon at Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall Restaurant in downtown Northville.

After the presentation of the award, Elise Duprey English, teacher from Greenhills School, Ann Arbor, gave a talk entitled, "Remember the Ladies."

The honoree in the contemporary category, Dorothy Gay, has lived in Northville for more than 20 years, serving on the Board of Directors of the Highland Lakes Condominium Association as president and secretary many times.

A political science graduate and a former police officer of the Detroit Police Department (one of 60 females as compared to 3,000-4,000 male officers when she joined in 1947), Gay has served for more than 20 years on the Board of Directors for Heartline, a Detroit halfway house for female offenders out on parole.

The program reports an 80 percent success rate. For several years, she has worked as a volunteer peer counselor at the Women's Resource Center of Schoolcraft College, Livonia, providing services that among other things help women, some from Northville and Novi, to return to school or to enter the job market.

Gay is a charter member of the Northville-Novl Branch of AAUW and has served in its committees and executive board. She is also a member of the Northville Woman's Club and the Friends of the Northville Library.

Mary Lapham, the honoree in the historical category, grew up in the last decades of the 19th century in what was then the village of Northville. She died in 1936, but the impact of her deeds are still felt in this community because of the positive activities that she undertook and which are even today enriching this town.

She was the first president of the Ladies of the Library Association (1898), the organization that founded and then supported the Northville community library for many years, until the Wayne County Library Association took over in 1934.

Dr. Lapham donated the first books for the library as well as the building that housed it for more than 70 years. This historic village at the Mill Race Historic Village (as New School Church) and was, coincidentally, the spearhead for the creation of this Historic Village, a source of interest and a place for education and entertainment activities for groups of different ages within and outside of this area and state.

Dr. Lapham was charter member and second president of the Northville Woman's Club in 1892 (organization still active) and also member and treasurer of the School Board of Northville. She was bank co-owner and manager in Northville and an M.D. from the Medical College of Pennsylvania (1900), specializing in TB through postgraduate work in U.S.A. and Europe.

She pioneered the use of induced pneumothorax for the treatment of pulmonary T.B. in this country. She founded her own sanatorium in North Carolina and was President of the Southern Association of Medical Women (1914). In addition, Dr. Lapham worked with the Red Cross helping with orphans and refugees in the war zone during World War I.

Both of these women fulfill the criteria stipulated by AAUW, Northville-Novl Branch according to which the recipient of the award should: have a current or historical impact in the community and reflect the goals of the AAUW's mission statement, promote equity for women, promote education and self-development over the life span, and promote a positive societal change.

Big-draw recreation fund-raiser set for April 29

About 224 people are expected to attend the Friends of Northville Parks and Recreation Third Annual fund-raising dinner and auction on Saturday, April 29, at Schoolcraft College.

Those showing up will enjoy, "A Taste of Northville," with local culinary establishments and Schoolcraft College will providing the food. There will be entertainment, followed by a silent auction, auction and raffles.

Donations of merchandise, gift certificates or cash are needed to make the event a success. The donations will be used as auction or raffle items.

Donors will receive recognition for their generosity in the program, by displays that evening and during the publicity of the event. Donations are tax deductible.

The Friends of Northville Parks and Recreation organization is a non-profit group whose purpose is to maintain a focus on the parks services in the community.

The Northville Recreation Department received a $100,000 state grant to rebuild the tennis courts at Fish Hatchery Park.

The township ($7,500), city ($7,500) and the Friends ($18,000) matched those funds, with the match totaling $33,000. The presented thrust of the effort is the work still to be done at the Fish Hatchery, and construction of a concession stand at the Community Park (Beck between Five and Six Mile).

A member of the auction merchandising committee will be contacting merchants within the next few weeks about their possible donations, or please contact:

RECORD OUR TOWN

WHOSE DESK IS IT ANYWAY?

Do you know who sits at each of these desks?

Here are some clues. One is in law enforcement, one is employed by the school district, two are city employees, and one is employed by a local newspaper. The answers to the quiz are on page 4.

Do pile-aholics burn calories by shuffling papers? Have neatniks found the true meaning of organization in a disorganized world? Some people think that a person with a messy desk is disorganized while others think the same person is overworked. On the flip side, give a picture of a neatnik to a group of people and you will get a variety of reactions from "this person has nothing to do" to "this person is highly organized."

When it comes to workstation management, it's an individual thing. You may or may not have to set it up to your satisfaction, but you will have to use it. Workstation management includes paper, furniture, storage, and the correct and consistent use of all three.

You may have gotten lucky and inherited the correct workstation, custom designed for your job duties. Then again, you may have inherited someone else's desk, filing system, and chair - like hand-me-downs from an older sibling. Nonetheless, you are expected to grow into it and make do.

How people manage their workstations is probably as unique as the person who sits behind the desk. During a busy work day, our desks may look a lot different than they appear at night when the janitor comes to clean. Employees are at work during the day, busy going about their various tasks and their desks will be messier than in the moonlight.

When the dust from the day has settled, is it descending on your papers or on the desk top? If the janitor can't dust your desk at night because he can't see it, maybe it's time to think about changing your workstation management skills.

Larry J. Wray, branch manager of Tab Product Co. in Novi has six general suggestions for anyone who thinks they could use a little help in managing their workstation.

"A lot of times you fall into the furniture, inherit it or get assign to it and it doesn't really fit what you're trying to do," said Wray.

It is important to have furniture that has been designed for your particular business and task. That may mean adding furniture as technology changes. For instance, if your company has recently purchased computers, a computer desk will be a necessity.

A chair is as important to a desk as a mattress is to a bed. Don't settle for just any chair that happens to be gathering dust in the file room.

"It's one of the least considered things, and often it's inherited from someone else," said Wray. "Think about the amount of time you're a captive audience in that piece of equipment." It should be height adjustable and the feet should fit firmly on the floor. Each person is a little different.

"They can't really manufacture a chair specifically to you, it's not like buying a suit, so you need that height adjustability and the chair should have firm support," Wray said. "It's not like wanting a nice comfy overstuffed couch to take a nap in, it has to be firm in support."

He also recommends people learn about "ergonomics and the concerns that are there (because) there is an awful lot written about it." Knowing what paperwork to store close at hand and what can be sent to a storage area is important. Active files can be kept at the workstation, but seldom used files can be sent away.

Paper is still as much a part of our work day as ever. The computer has not done away with the reports, letters, magazines, memos and documents that are used daily. For some, the amount of paper that lands on their desks is equivalent to a flock of geese returning from migration. For others, seasonal work may create a deluge of documents that once the deadline is over will most likely be filed away till the same time next year. For others, information trickles in like a leaky faucet, creating a puddle big enough to wade through.

Information is one of those inevitable things we must learn to manage. Some have muddled through better than others.

"This is a thing a lot of people are guilty of they try to hold on to everything," said Wray. "Get things out of the workstation and off the desk. Some people are resistant to that for fear of losing things, but you just can't operate unless you clear your desk of the things you're not using right then."

It doesn't matter if you've chosen an alphabetic or a numeric filing system for the hard copy or paper that comes across your desk, what is important is that it is used consistently, rather than piling. "When you get done with something, put it back in that filing system you have established," said Wray.

The files that are not longer active and sent to the storage area should not stay there until they turn to dust. Every file should have a life cycle. Similar to something in the back of the refrigerator, if you can't recall what it is and the expiration date was three years ago, you'd be better off to throw it out.

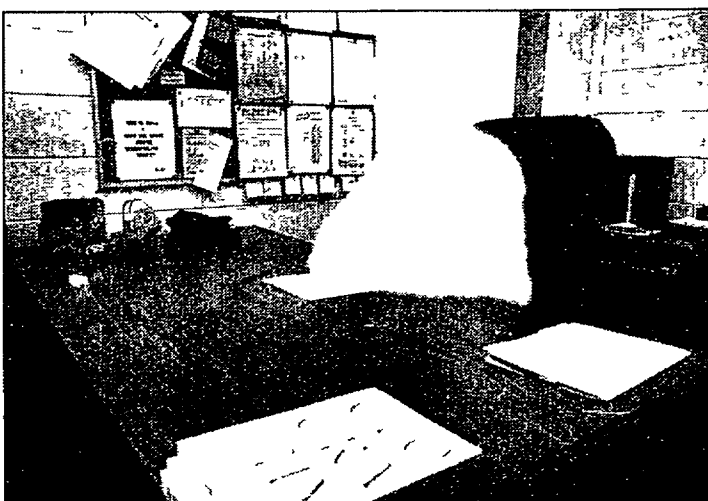

"Sometimes we keep things only because we're fearful to put them in the garbage can so we keep sensitive documents long after they're any good to us just because we don't know what to do with it," said Wray.

People who deal with sensitive files should have a paper shredder. That eliminates both the sensitive file and the ability to refile it. Once the paper has been sliced to shoe string sized confetti, the only thing left to do is pitch it.

Is there hope for pilers? Yes, pilers can become filers. "Systematically going about it would be the correct way," said Wray, whose company manufactures and distributes office furniture, media storage and records management systems for all companies. Start into something and work it to completion before going on to the next project. Take your time. The pile didn't get there over night so you can't hope to tackle it in the same time.

"Desks tend to get full of things because by nature we work on this for a little while and it gets boring and we shift over to this and work on it for a little while and before to long we have 25 things all in progress none of which are coming to fruition quickly," said Wray.

Pylar supports choir through Boosters

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

Even if you can't carry a tune - as Jeannie Pylar says she can't - but you do enjoy a good singing voice, you can encourage teenagers who have talent by volunteering in the Novi Choir Boosters.

Jeannie Pylar is president of the Boosters, whose purpose is to promote activities of the Novi Choir, which is composed of four groups: choir of ninth graders; advanced choir of 10th graders; concert choir of 11th and 12th graders; the Novi Singers who are in 10th to 12th grades.

Choir members meet five days a week in 45-minute classes, and they are students of various interests, including such macho activities as football and wrestling.

"The number of kids this year," Pylar said, "is 160," up from the 86 when she started volunteering six years ago.

The choirs don't sing just in Novi. They compete on regional, state, and even national levels.

Every other year there has been a choir trip for national competition - and Novi has won twice!

Is this project worth boosting? The answer is yes, and Pylar said, "I try to organize the parents and encourage them to get into money-making efforts", like contacting the larger companies in the area to donate in a patron program.

Where does the money go? There are at least four places: sheet music; color TV so the singers can watch themselves and learn how to improve; $1,200 worth of awards each year for letters, pins, and trophies; and trips every other year for national competition.

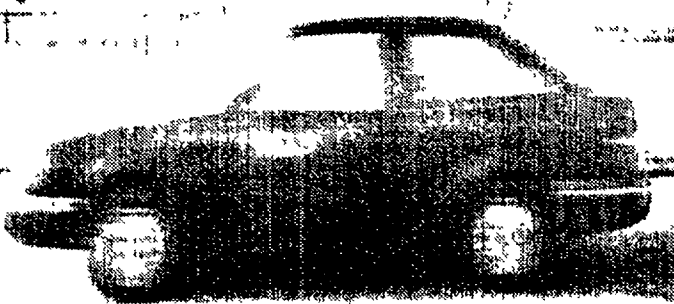

Oh, there's more - the money also goes to subsidize voice lessons "to help kids develop talent beyond just classrooms."

Whether or not you can sing, why not look in on a meeting of the Novi Choir Boosters? The date is the first Monday at 7 p.m. in the high school library.

It's A Fact

Taking it to the limit?

Have you noticed the little speed trailer randomly placed around the cities of Marford, Walled Lake, Wixom and Novi?

Ever wonder how many there are? There's only one and it's called a SMART Trailer (Speed Monitor Awareness Radar Trailer). It is jointly owned and used for one week per month by each of these Police Departments to slow down traffic.

Northville show celebrates two decades this weekend

The Northville Antique Show is marking its 20th year this weekend. On Saturday, March 18, from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. and on Sunday, March 19, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., 40 dealers will display a variety of antiques.

When Helen Meisel began the show in 1975, it was held in the M.A.G.S. building, which was still a mall. After a few years when the building was sold, Meisel moved the antique show to the Northville Community Center, where it has been ever since.

Meisel strives for a diversified list of dealers and this year's group consists of local and out of town dealers. Some of the antiques dealers will display in their booths include furniture, used books, Victorian jewelry, art glass, toys, primitives, and china.

Admission is $3.50.

Simkins travels to Denmark for presentation

Charles N. Simkins of Simkins & Simkins P.C. in Northville has been invited to do a presentation at the First World Congress on Brain Injury in Copenhagen, Denmark, this spring.

Simkins' practice focuses primarily on the area of closed head injury and he is a frequent lecturer on the subject throughout the country. He is on the Board of Directors of the National Head Injury Foundation, the editor in chief of the American Trial Lawyers Association Brain Injury Group, on the Advisory Board of Wayne County M.A.D.D., a member of the Michigan Head Injury Alliance and is involved in several other organizations.

NHS Juniors attend Washington conference

Two Northville High School juniors, Matt Minard and Andrew Song, were among 350 students from across America who recently attended the National Young Leadership Conference in Washington, D.C. The conference is a unique leadership development program for high school students who have demonstrated leadership potential and scholastic merit.

The theme of the conference was The Leaders of Tomorrow Meeting the Leaders of Today. Throughout the six-day conference, Minard and Song interacted with key leaders and news makers from the three branches of government, the media and the diplomatic corps.

Highlights of the program included welcoming remarks from the floor of the United States House of Representatives and a panel discussion with prominent journalists at the National Press Club.

Study on heart attack risks goes national

Dr. Barry Franklin, whose health column appears in The Northville Record, was the recipient of national attention recently when a medical study he headed up was published in the prestigious Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA).

Dr. Franklin's study, on which he was the head researcher, suggested that the higher number of heart attacks during the winter months could be linked to the shoveling of heavy snow.

The authors asserted that the physical demands of heavy snow shoveling are comparable to those of a maximum aerobic workout.

The study was conducted out of William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak, with which Franklin is affiliated.

Story ideas, accomplishments, awards, trips, etc.? Don't keep them to yourself. Share them with us and we'll share them with Northville. Write to Carol, The Northville Record, 104 W. Main Street, Northville, MI 48167.

Resident appointed dean of graduate studies at college

ERNEST I. NOLAN

While retaining his responsibilities as dean of graduate studies at Madonna University, Northville Township resident Ernest I. Nolan, Ph.D., has been appointed associate academic vice president. His new duties will include supervising all curriculum development and program evaluation and assessment. His prior position of dean of the College of Arts and Humanities is yet to be filled.

Nolan's teaching career began in 1975 upon receiving his Ph.D. in English literature from the University of Notre Dame. After a one year stint as a visiting assistant professor at Jundi Shapur University in Ahwaz, Iran, Nolan returned to the United States and became a faculty member of Madonna, which at that time was a small liberal arts college with approximately 2,000 men and women.

During the following 18 years, Nolan advanced to chair of the communication arts department in 1977, was put in charge of humanities in 1978, and in 1982 took on additional responsibilities as director of graduate studies for Madonna, now a university of more than 4,200 students.

Nolan has coordinated the graduate studies program in Taiwan and made on-site visits to Taipei, Taiwan, in June 1989, June 1992 and October 1993. The program extends Madonna's international reach and offers master of science in administration degrees to business and education professionals in Taiwan.

Nolan has received the university's 40th Anniversary Recognition Award, the Sears Roebuck Foundation Teaching Excellence and Campus Leadership Award and was named by the Michigan Council for the Humanities as a Distinguished Lecturer in the Humanities.

He is also listed in the Who's Who in the Midwest, The International Directory of Distinguished Leadership, Who's Who in Education, Dictionary of International Biography and International Leaders in Achievement.

Nolan, his wife and two children moved to Northville Township eight years ago because of its small town atmosphere.

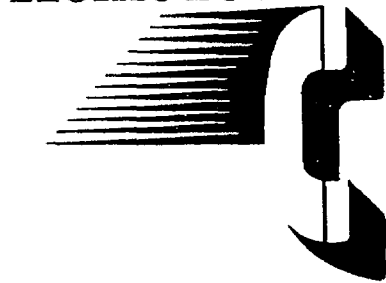

"The city and township of Northville offer a sense of community; we enjoy being a part of that, as well as participating in cultural events such as the Victorian Festival and events at Mill Race. As a representative of Madonna University, a tremendous educational resource for this area, my goal is to give back to the community by strengthening the university's presence in Northville," said Nolan.

Involvement in the community leads Scout to prestigious award

William F. Stockhausen was presented with the Distinguished Eagle Scout Award at the Detroit Area Council Boy Scouts of American Annual Meeting recently.

The Northville resident met the following requirements as a nominee for the Scout's highest award. He earned the rank of Eagle Scout as a member of Troop 260 on March 7, 1963, in Milwaukee, Wis., the culmination of dedication to Scouting which began as a Cub Scout.

He also distinguished himself in his primary career and established a record of voluntary service in his community.

"Scouting was a positive influence on my life," said Stockhausen. "I felt strongly about it for our own kids that's when I became active again."

The father of five children, ages 8 to 22, plans to become active in the Girl Scouts with his youngest daughter.

Stockhausen has established a record of voluntary service to his community through his work with the Northville Historical Society, the local Boy Scout Troop, Our Lady of Victory Parish and the Victorian Festival.

Stockhausen has been active over the last nine years in the local Boy Scout Troop 775 as Scoutmaster and is presently the committee chairman.

He has been active with Our Lady of Victory Parish for 23 years as a Minister of the Eucharist, has served on the Christian Education Committee, co-chaired Family Life and has been an instructor in Children's Liturgy of the Word.

Stockhausen has also been involved with the Northville Historical Society since the inception of Mill Race Historical Village in 1972 as a board member, president and general laborer on the restorations. He has done woodworking, machining and designed and built the weather vane for the New School Church. He and his family have organized and run the Society's Children's Christmas Workshop since 1978.

Stockhausen has been involved with the children's games at the Victorian Festival since it began in 1989. As the Pied Piper, Stockhausen teaches the children how to spin a top, roll a hoop or play jacks.

He has distinguished himself in his career as a senior research engineer at Ford Motor Co. He has been the author of numerous technical reports, SAE presentations, patents and is the recipient of the Henry Ford Technological Award, the highest recognition Ford offers for technical employees.

Stockhausen, with the help from his wife, Carole, and their family, converted a 1894 grist mill outside of Battle Creek into a summer home and a fully automated hydroelectric power plant.

His interest in water power as an environmental issue and his engineering skills got him going on the idea of using the non-polluting resource to power the lights and heating system. What started out as a hobby for Stockhausen turned into a small power plant that helps pay the expenses and taxes on the building because the excess power generated is bought by the local power company.

"It was a pretty intense four years," said Stockhausen of the refurbishing of Bellvue Mill and the 1920 water turbines.

Local organization names business owner chapter Woman of the Year

By CAROL WORKENS
Staff Writer

Northville dog groomer Carol Emsley was recently elected chapter Woman of the Year by the Novi Oaks Chapter of the American Business Women's Association (ABWA).

Emsley moved to Northville as a newlywed 25 years ago and has made it her home. Along with husband, Stephen, they raised their two children, Steve and Kersten, in this community.

In 1987 Emsley started Blue Ribbon Groomer, a dog grooming business in rented space in Northville. Two years ago, she purchased a historical home in Livonia for the business so that she would no longer have to rent.

"We are still bringing it up to historical code," said Emsley of Fruit Hill Farm. Emsley saved the 100-year-old building from scheduled demolition because 50 percent of the building had been destroyed by a fire.

"I love running my own business," said Emsley. The decision to go into dog grooming was "the perfect outlet." "I finally hit on something I really enjoy."

Emsley studied at Masters School of Dog Grooming and was recently awarded the "Innovative Management Award," by the Grooming Shop Association.

Emsley is a member of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, since her business is based in Livonia. She is also regional director and secretary of the American Grooming Shop Association.

Carol Emsley, owner of Blue Ribbon Groomer, is honored as chapter Woman of the Year.

Emsley joined ABWA in 1990 as a charter member of Novi Oaks Chapter. She chairs the Publicity Committee and is the Chapter Historian. She has worked on the Education/Program and Fund Raising committees.

Annually, each ABWA chapter elects one of its members for this award. The selection is based on the member's achievements in her field, education, community activities and participation in the association.

The American Business Women's Association is a national association dedicated to bringing together businesswomen of diverse occupations and to providing business training through education for career advancement and personal development.

ABWA has more than 1,900 chapters and more than 90,000 members throughout the United States and Puerto Rico.

COOKE MIDDLE SCHOOL

Progress Reports were mailed on March 10. Parent/teacher conferences were held March 14 and 16.

The eighth grade band will attend the MSBOA Band Festival at Stout Middle School in Dearborn on March 18. Eighth grade parents interested in previewing the Human Growth and Development materials can call the office during school hours beginning March 20 to set up a convenient time. Eighth graders will begin this study prior to Easter break. The sixth and seventh grade study will begin toward the end of the school year.

On March 22 and 23, the Liv Oaks Social Studies Competition will take place in Highland. Cooke students will be put into groups with students from other schools to compete as teams.

On March 30 the Hampstead Players will present a play to our sixth graders about myths and stories of Greece. The play will be performed by actors in period costume and is funded by PTSA.

Author William Sleator will pay a visit to students on April 3. His visit has been funded through the English department morning bagel sales and PTSA.

Cooke Raiders Middle School Singers will compete for the first time on April 5 at the MSVMA Choral Festival. Under the direction of Victoria Abodeedy, a vocal music concert will be held April 4 at 7 p.m. as a practice for the singers participating in the choral festival.

An after school activity will be held on April 5 from 2:45-4:45 p.m.

The following eighth graders have been chosen to participate in the Science and Engineering Fair of Metropolitan Detroit: Emily Bartlett, Stephen Charette, Erin Crowley, Philip Goode, Bridgett Mamola and Patrick O'Reilly.

Assistant principal Gail Weeks announces the following students have been chosen as "Citizen of the Month" for March: Rachel Huang, Nicholas Nerio, Steven Beson, Matthew Batchik, Jessica Davis, Cecilia Trydestam, Peter Law, Lauren Sommerman and Jennie Church.

Those students "Caught Being Good" include Annahita Amireskandari, Lindsey Goldfine, Kristen Walter, Brandon Donnaback, Darrell Ford and Aditya Prasad. The colleague of the Month is Cathy Lang.

The Cooke PTSA will meet on Thursday, April 6, at 9:30 a.m.

MEADS MILL MIDDLE SCHOOL

March is "Reading Month" in Michigan and each team of teachers at Meads Mill has planned a variety of activities with students to help commemorate the event. Poetry is being read each morning over the P.A.; book worms are being displayed in classrooms and hallways and grow longer with each book read; and, silent reading has become a daily habit in many classrooms.

Once again, our front hallway has turned into a reading room, complete with comfy chairs, a rug, plants and reading lamps.

From March 6 to March 10 during regular school hours, groups of students and staff met for silent readings. Seven days in March have been designated as "Drop Everything and Read" days. During this time every student, staff member, secretary, janitor and even visitors, must carry a book with them at all times and be prepared to read silently when it is suddenly announced over the P.A. to "Drop Everything and Read!"

For students who Drop Everything and Read for a half hour on five separate nights during the month of March, a certificate good for one mouth-watering jumbo cookie will be rewarded by the Great Harvest Bread Company, located on Main Street in Northville. (Forms must be completed and turned in at the school office.)

Sixth graders will have the opportunity to participate in World Book's special "Partners in Reading" program by signing up sponsors and reading seven books in seven weeks, which will help our school purchase new encyclopedias and reference material at a reduced rate. Art class students have created book covers and book marks that they've placed on every classroom door to remind everyone that "March is Reading Month."

The media center held a book fair the first week in March that was open to both students and staff. During the week of March 20, the media center will be collecting paperback books for an exchange which will take place the last two days in March. For each book brought in, a coupon will be issued for a free paperback.

The past week was Red Ribbon Week throughout the Northville School District and Meads Mill brought specific awareness to drug and alcohol education with an address to students by Matt Cahill from the County Commission on Drug Abuse (CCODA).

This well-received presentation was filmed along with interviews from assistant principal, Sue Meyer, and student assistance counselor, Charlie Stulec, by the Second Chance Foundation. This program is part of a grant sponsored by Consumers Power and in cooperation with Governor John Engler to introduce a variety of topics and issues to all middle schools in Michigan.

Also in conjunction with Red Ribbon Week, Northville resident John Foley along with his tutor, Sherry Duff, visited with eighth grade students to discuss drinking and driving. John suffered brain damage as a result of an alcohol-related accident eight years ago. Foley's message was a poignant reminder to everyone in attendance that drinking and driving don't mix.

Substance abuse education is not just a one-week-per-year program. Red Ribbons remain in full view all year long at Meads Mill, a full-time message that is part of an ongoing program here in our school.

Both sixth and seventh grade students were recently treated to a musical presentation by the Professional Musicians Association. The beautiful instrumentals and vocals performed by this sextet of professionals were highlighted by a question and answer session regarding careers in music and hopefully sparked inspiration and enthusiasm to those talented students who aspire to the musical field.

Some of the Reflections Contest winners announced to date are: Literary category—sixth grader, Megan Gilshire, first place; Pown Shiah, second place; Heather Astor, third place and Matt Schlanser, fourth place; and music category—eighth grader Jeff Nelson took the grand prize.

Parent/Teacher Conferences are being held this week (check your newsletters for exact times.) We hope all parents have set aside some time to discuss your student's progress with their teachers.

NORTHVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

When Silver Springs Elementary School was looking for a new logo it was Kelly Gatt who had the winning design. The art department was approached for this commission's job and many designs were submitted. Kelly received $30 and a sweatshirt with her logo on it.

And when the Veterans of Foreign Wars Voice of Democracy had a speech competition it was Andy Song who won first place with his "My vision for America" speech. Bernie Tomsa won second place.

Vivek Mohla was named award winner by the Michigan section of the Mathematical Association of America. He placed in the top 100 out of 14,900 students who participated in the 38th annual Michigan mathematics prize competition. Recognition also goes to Mike Clancy and Sharesh Humbad for doing so well on the first part of the exam.

Red Ribbon Week was once again a success with students blanketing the town with red ribbons around all trees, light poles, car antennas, etc. There was also a talent night during Red Ribbon Week to showcase the talents of students and staff. Everyone who attended was pleasantly surprised at the amount of talent we have at NHS. The evening was sponsored by SADD, PTSA, School Improvement and the senior class.

Nationally recognized motivational speaker Laurie Stewart will discuss improving human relationships, attitude development, self-esteem and leadership. After having Laurie speak to the student body back in 1990 and 1991, her effects were overwhelming and with the combined efforts of Northville Action Council and SADD, we were able to hear her dynamic talk once more.

Mirroring the State Department of Transportation, the NHS Student Congress has begun its own adoption program. However, it is not highways that concern them but hallways.

This spring each class will take responsibility for certain parts of the high school concentrating on picking up trash and reporting maintenance problems. The exterior grounds will be included.

Dance show reunion a possibility

If you were a dancer or entertainer on Swinging Time with host Robin Seymour, dust off your dancing shoes.

Fellow dancer Robin Peavey has put the wheels in motion for a reunion this summer and wants to hear from all dancers, entertainers, and anybody else involved with the show.

Swinging Time aired for seven years from 1963-1969 five days a week on CKLW from Windsor.

Peavey, a Novi resident, has stayed in touch with Seymour through the years. Seymour said he would attend the reunion during a recent phone call and promises to bring video tapes to the reunion, according to Peavey. Anybody with photographs should bring them too.

Call 305-9638 for reunion information.

EXCUSES, EXCUSES

Top 10 Reasons Why You Should Place a Personal Greeting on the Voice Mail System

1. I DON'T NEED TO - I'LL GET RESPONSES ANYWAY. Respondents expect and want to hear your greeting, and you'll increase your voice mail response by more than 50%... PLUS your greeting can be heard by callers "browsing" through the system long after you print ad has expired.
2. I WOULDN'T KNOW WHAT TO SAY. Prepare a script, write a speech, read a poem. Talk about your likes and dislikes. Describe yourself and who attracts you. Say anything.
3. I'D PREFER A RESPONSE LETTER AND MAYBE A PHOTOGRAPH. Mention your preferences in your voice mail greeting and be sure to state your Talking Personal mailbox number where they can send you a written response.
4. WHAT IF I DON'T LIKE MY GREETING? Change it until you do and change it as often as you wish. It's your voice mailbox for as long as you keep it active.
5. IT'S TOO COMPLICATED. It's as easy as leaving a message on a answering machine. A computer prompts you every step of the way...
6. I DON'T HAVE TIME. It only takes about 2 minutes to place a greeting on our state-of-the-art voice mail system.
7. I DON'T HAVE A TOUCH TONE TELEPHONE. This is the 90's so this is not a valid excuse.
8. TOO MANY NUMBERS TO REMEMBER. That's why we sent you the hand instruction card!
9. TOO EXPENSIVE. Placing a greeting on the voice mail system is FREE and retrieving your voice mail responses is just 14¢ each minute!
10. BUT I STILL DON'T GET IT. Call us, and we'll be happy to take you through the entire system step-by-step.

From nerd to bride to 'Dancing Queen'

Australian director pays homage to imperfection and ordinary people in 'Muriel's Wedding'

You can dance
You can jive having the time of your life
Oh, see that girl
Watch that scene
Digging the Dancing Queen
— ABBA

If only life could be as good as a pop song — bouncy, romantic, set to the beat of desire and dreams. Like most folks, that's all Muriel Heslop wants — to be the girl in the song, the always loved, always in-control Dancing Queen.

It's wouldn't take much — success, a boyfriend and a flowing, white wedding dress like the ones she grew up admiring in those oh-so dreamy bridal magazines.

But Muriel Heslop is the least likely bride in Porpoise Spit, Australia. Her bullying father says it's because she's "useless," a secretarial school graduate who can't even type. Her bitchy friends say it's because she's an "embarrassment" ... so uncool that she worships a '70s band. And as for Muriel, well as much as she admires ABBA, she knows that "Dancing Queen" wasn't written for girls like her.

But Muriel isn't ready to give in. So she sets out for the bright lights and bridal shops of Sydney on a last-chance mission to find herself a dress, a man, a best friend and a whole new life to match.

Muriel needs a rite of passage — and she finds it in the most unexpected wedding of the year, in which she gets everything she ever wanted only to discover it's so much less than she deserves.

A distinctly original comedy, "Muriel's Wedding" is a movie for everyone who ever refused to give up when their dreams seemed out of reach. Writer/director P.J. Hogan's ode to the hopes of brides and the importance of pride in one's own self is set in his native Australia, but is nevertheless a universally inspiring tale of one woman's courtship with her own down-trodden self-image.

"Muriel's Wedding" was a hit at the Cannes Film Festival and was one of the most popular films of the year in Australia. It beat such crowd pleasers as "Four Weddings and a Funeral" and "Priscilla: Queen of the Desert" at the box office and won Australian Academy Awards for Best Film, Best Actress, Best Supporting Actress and Best Sound.

It is also Hogan's homage to imperfection and the incredible battle for ordinary people to be themselves. "I wanted to tell a story of the extraordinary in the ordinary ... about people who, no matter what they did, found their dreams thwarted and yet managed to keep their hopes alive," he said.

In a sense, the film's story reflects Hogan's own struggle — from thinking of finding a new career to suddenly having a hit first film, one that has brought accolades not only to himself but to two other newcomers — Toni Collette as the perpetually imperfect Muriel and Rachel Griffiths as her bold and beautiful friend Rhonda.

Of course, almost everyone, successful or not, has had a "Muriel moment" in which they just couldn't seem to fit or get what they wanted — despite a burning desire.

"We're so used to seeing perfect people on the screen," said Hogan. "But why should we identify with these people? They're not at all like us. We all know what it's like not to fit into a group. We all know what it's like to disappoint our parents. That's the way Muriel's life is — only what sets her apart is that she has this invincible conviction that she is special."

It is this conviction — that somewhere out there there's a beat she can call her own — that turns Muriel into the world's first Serial Bride-To-Be.

The idea for "Muriel's Wedding" was born in a coffee shop just down the road from five bridal stores. As Hogan and his wife, director and producer Jocelyn Rachel Griffiths, Toni Collette and Matt Day have starring roles in P.J. Hogan's directorial debut, 'Muriel's Wedding' from Miramax.

Moorhouse, sipped their daily dose of caffeine, they began to think about the secret world inside those shops, a realm where only the engaged are allowed, a place where the most potent dreams and desires are temporarily fulfilled, where every woman is for those few moments the most beautiful and loved on earth.

They began to peer into the windows, witnessing an extraordinary metamorphosis: women entering as ordinary flawed human beings and turning within into glamorous goddesses.

Hogan was struck with the idea of what would happen if this intensely private world were to be invaded by an impostor — someone without a wedding to make it all real, who would go from shop to shop trying on dresses just to get that feeling.

Thus he came up with that irrepressible character of Muriel, who has collected photo albums full of herself as a bride without ever having found a groom.

"I wondered what would happen if someone still felt entitled to this very exclusive experience without having the man to go with it," said Hogan.

For Muriel, Hogan decided, the whole mythos of marriage had as much to go with finding societal acceptance as it did with finding a mate.

"Marriage is showing the world that you can be loved — that you are special if only for a day. And that's really Muriel's dream — to be accepted."

Before writing the script, Hogan commissioned a female friend to see if Muriel's mission was really possible. "She discovered that all you had to do was slip a ring on your finger, make up a story about why your mother couldn't come and you were in," he said.

"She also confirmed that putting on the the dress without really being entitled to it was incredibly liberating. When she said that I knew I really had something," he continued.

Ultimately, it is that feeling — that feeling that you might deserve more than you think — that leads to Muriel's own transformation ... from nerd to bride, and maybe even to Dancing Queen.

If you want comedy that's stupid, try 'Billy Madison'

BILLY MADISON
By Heather Wadowski
Northville

Adam Sandler (Saturday Night Live) is Billy Madison, a natural born idiot.

His father is filthy rich so Billy never needed a brain to get by. His most challenging days are spent drinking and chasing a six-foot penguin. (Don't ask!)

But now Billy's dad is retiring ... and leaving his chain of hotels to one of his workers, Eric. Instead of Billy.

The reason is simple enough, Billy's too stupid to handle it.

But Billy wants the company and therefore makes a deal with his dad — Billy will return to school and pass grades 1-12 again within 24 weeks. If he does it successfully, he will get the company, not Eric.

Sure this seems simple, but for Billy it's a challenge of a lifetime, and the results will have you gasping for air!

"Billy Madison" keeps you laughing because the jokes keep coming.

Adam Sandler has never been better.

So far "Billy Madison" is the best comedy released in 1995.

"Billy Madison receives five stars out of five, with five being the highest.

HAMLET
By Helaine Binstock
Novi

Admitting you have difficulty understanding Shakespeare takes guts! Well, ah — until this version. I confess, I haven't been mesmerized by Shakespeare's eloquence. So, Director Franco Zeffirelli's 1991 "Hamlet" with Mel Gibson, Glenn Close, Alan Bates and Paul Scofield was just what the doctor ordered.

Though Shakespeare's phrases remain intact, many lengthy monologues are clearly eliminated, allowing me to appreciate, not sweat, the beauty of the words. What makes this great is Mel Gibson's performance. Not bellowing Hamlet's line, Gibson speaks in an ordinary, less traditional, style which is more acceptable. A distinct victory for Gibson, this role proves he's more than just a pretty face! Under Zeffirelli's direction, the queen (Close) and the ghost of Hamlet's slain father (Scofield) seem authentic. Ophelia (Helena Bonham-Carter) genuinely goes mad before your eyes, and Alan Bates is outstanding as Claudius.

Shakespeare enthusiasts may be appalled at the changes — but to those who need a little help, you'll love it. True followers and would-be devotees alike should savor this interpretation. Mel Gibson's despondent Danish Prince should trigger yearnings for more Shakespearean musings and metaphors.

When spoken naturally, without theatrics, the beauty of his words burst forward. No need for shouting!

Adam Sandler is Billy Madison in 'Billy Madison.'

Sieving earns All-State honors

Northville finishes
24th as Birmingham
Brother Rice wins
the overall title

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Jeff Sieving is his own toughest critic.

The Mustang swimmer won All-State honors in the breaststroke at the Class A final Saturday. But to hear him talk you'd think he finished dead last and sank to the bottom of the Michigan State University pool.

"I was happy with it," the Northville High junior said. "But I could've went faster."

Sieving was sixth in the 100-yard event with a time of 1:01.02. He swam a full second faster in Friday's preliminary round and broke his own school record in the process.

As far as coach Mark Heiden is concerned, Sieving swam excellent races both times.

"Jeff's always swam his best at the state meet," he said.

Sieving scored all of Northville's 12 points at the meet. The Mustangs finished in a tie for 24th place with 12 points. Birmingham Brother Rice won its second straight Class A title.

As for Sieving, he said he was most pleased by his performance in the 50-yard freestyle. He took 10th overall in 22.07.

The top six finishers in each event made all-state. Sieving's freestyle time missed out by six one-hundredths of a second.

He improved by a second in the event over the course of the year. Sieving said the 50 is a fun event.

"I enjoy it because it's shorter," he said. "Freestyle is just more all out (than breaststroke)."

Sieving kept a streak, of sorts, alive for Northville.

It was the third straight season the Mustangs have had at least one all-stater. Northville, in fact, has had an all-stater in four of the last five years.

"We keep getting good talented kids," said Heiden. "Our middle school program helps a lot."

Chris Anderson also competed over the weekend. The diver finished 16th with 260.55 points (eight dives).

Gymnasts place fifth in Class A state final

By YVONNE BEEBE
Sports Writer

Northville/Novi gymnasts have put their team on the map in the world of competitive athletics.

Not only did the underdogs place fifth in the state team tournament Friday at Troy High School, several gymnasts scored in the top 10 a day later at the individuals competition.

"I'm absolutely thrilled," said coach Barb Winn. "Every goal we've set for ourselves this year we've hit."

After two events, Northville/Novi was tied for ninth place with host Troy. Going into the second-half of the competition, with the balance beam behind them - the nemesis of many gymnastic teams - Northville's consistent floor and vault performances catapulted them to fifth place with a score of 139.3.

Western Lakes Activities Association competitors Plymouth Canton placed fourth with 140.75 points and Plymouth Salem took seventh out of 12 teams with a score of 138.85.

Northville/Novi's appearance last weekend marks not only a personal achievement for the gymnasts and coach Winn, it is the first time in at least the past 10 years the gymnastics program has qualified for state competition as a team.

The gymnasts entered competition on a wave of ambition and excitement as Northville/Novi scored a first place victory at regional competition the week before. The gym atmosphere was one of high energy, with sweat-soaked parents cheering in the stands, and some national-level gymnasts performing near impossible tricks.

"There were some really talented kids there. Several have had national competitions," Winn said. "I'm thrilled that we had kids that placed in the top 10."

Northville kicked off the competition with the bars. Mary Essary led her teammates with a solid, flowing routine that garnered a 9.1. Erica Winn was next with an 8.7. Stacey Williamson scored an 8.45. Gina Spinazze scored an 8.2 and Dana Ghedotte was next with a 7.35.

The balance beam was next with Williamson's steady routine scoring an 8.9. Winn was next with an 8.5. Spinazze scored an 8.35. Essary an 8.05 and Robyn Wehab a 7.9.

Northville merited its highest and most consistent scores on the floor exercise during the team's third rotation. Essary led her teammates with a 9.2. Spinazze was next with a 9.0. Winn scored an 8.8. Williamson merited an 8.75 and Wehab scored an 8.7.

Northville's vault scores were almost as high as the floor exercise with Winn's 9.0, Williamson's 8.85. Essary's 8.75. Spinazze's 8.7 and Stephanie Manza's 7.9. The combined team's depth and consistency with Williamson and Winn serving as the team's anchors that have been the key to such a successful year, Winn said.

"It's been a great year," she said. "They really achieved a lot."

INDIVIDUAL FINAL
The gymnasts continued their excellence Saturday.

Three Northville/Novi performers finished in the top eight at Troy High. Winn said it was another solid performance.

"I think we did what we needed to do," she said, "and did great."

The top 40 gymnasts in the state competed for the overall Class A crown.

Erica Winn was the first Northville/Novi gymnast to place. She scored a 9.05 on the vault to take eighth place.

It was an exceptionally strong vault.

Gymnasts are judged according to the difficulty of their vault. Added twists and somersaults, for example, will give competitors

Gina Spinazze (left) and Mary Essary (right) helped Northville/Novi to a fifth place finish at Friday's team state final. Spinazze scored an 8.35 on the balance beam while Essary notched a 9.2 in the floor exercise. The combined team came from far back in the standings after two events to take fifth. The 1994-95 season was the first that Novi and Northville high schools combined to form a squad.

Wrestlers compete at Battle Creek

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

For as long as he lives, Nick Bowersox will never forget Friday.

The Mustang heavyweight gave everything he had at the state wrestling meet in Battle Creek. He fought the eventual Class A champion to a near standoff.

For all of his efforts, however, Bowersox went unrewarded. He and teammate Sam Saran failed to advance into Saturday's final rounds.

"We had a chance to win every match," Northville coach Garnet Potter said.

The Mustang duo qualified for the state meet at regional competition late last month.

Bowersox had his chance last on Friday. He faced Rob Renes of Holland West Ottawa in the opening round.

Although Bowersox is a big young man at 6-foot-4 and around 250 pounds, he was dwarfed by Renes. One local coach said the Holland wrestler probably had to cut weight to make the 275-pound limit.

Nevertheless, Bowersox held his own. He trailed Renes by just a point in the third period but was penalized for leaving the mat and lost 4-2.

Facing elimination, Bowersox whipped Dan Geppert of Lake Orion 6-0. Howell's Joe Adam ended the senior's season in round three with a fall at 4:14.

"I think Nick wrestled the best he's ever wrestled," Potter said. "Everybody thought Nick wrestled well."

Renes defeated Detroit Catholic Central's John Spolsky in the finals. Bowersox finished 24-10 on the season.

Saran competed at the other end of the wrestling spectrum at 106 pounds.

He started out like a house afire in his first match with Detroit Catholic Central's Dario Ianni. Saran jumped ahead 4-0.

Ianni fought back to tie the match at eight. He took the lead late in the match and won 13-10 over Saran.

Potter said Ianni was able to capture momentum in the match on a mistake by the Mustang grappler.

"Sam clearly dominated," he said, "but that one move killed him."

Saran wrestled Rockford's Tom Becker in round two. He led briefly but ultimately fell, 13-5, and was eliminated.

Saran finished at 21-6.

Gregerson makes top area v-ball team

It wouldn't be wise to take on the members of the 1995 East All-Area volleyball first team in any sport.

This squad redefines what all-around athletes mean to the sport of volleyball. To a person, the members of our All-Area first team are not only versatile, but their overall natural athletic ability enabled the players to shine on some more experienced squads.

Looking over the first-team roster it's obvious that this was a fine year for the junior class. Seniors Jamie Elwell of South Lyon and Lisa Achenbach of Lakeland represent a workmanlike 12th grade class on the team, but a raw corps of talented juniors dominate the spikers' lineup.

These girls could certainly hold their own in any sport but when they're at the net they're particularly dangerous.

CARRIE WILLIAMS
Milford, junior

Williams was the only setter in Milford's 5-1 offense and she did an excellent job directing the Redskins' attack.

"She was basically the quarterback of our team," said MHS coach Kelly Kollar. "She knew where kids were supposed to be in every single rotation."

Williams, who played in all but two games this season, was also a fine server for the team hitting in 88 percent of her serves. She averaged nearly four-and-a-half assists per game and posted 184 digs for the season.

ERIN ZWINCK
Lakeland, junior

Zwinck was an all-league selection for the Eagles this year and her all-around talents enabled her to play all over the court for the squad that made it all the way to state regional this season.

"Erin is a tremendous athlete with a tremendous amount of drive to succeed," said coach Dave Montgomery. "She's also a very coachable person."

This was Zwinck's third year on the varsity team and she'll take over the leadership reins of the squad next season.

She led the Eagles in aces (82) and kills (240) this year and Montgomery said he feels she has the ability to improve on those numbers next season.

JAMIE ELWELL
South Lyon, senior

After being named to two all-tournament teams this season, Elwell was selected as the only South Lyon all-KVC first-team representative.

A smooth, steady player, Elwell was an 88 percent server who also contributed 30 kills and 20 blocks to the Lions this season.

"We have a strong tradition of having good servers here at South Lyon," said coach Ed Baldwin. "and Jamie is another one of that talented crew. She did all the things we needed

Spring activities on tap in city

By CINDY STEWART
Special Writer

Last week in the mail, Novi residents were overjoyed to receive their new Spring, 1995 Parks and Recreation brochure.

Now everyone can start planning their spring/summer calendar for the entire family. Novi Parks and Recreation offers something for everyone and you won't want to miss a single thing. Be sure and check out the Civic Center Atrium. The winners from the 1994/95 Novi Arts Council Photo Contest are posted for all to see. They are spectacular. Congratulations to the winners and all participants.

Tomorrow is the Mother-Son Spring Hop. What a great way to celebrate St. Patrick's Day! If you don't have your tickets call the office bright and early tomorrow morning and check if there's any room left. You may luck out, but if not you'll be sure and get your tickets earlier next year.

It's time again for that spectacular event... the 15th Annual Providence Novi Run on Sunday, April 30 at 12:30 p.m. for the one mile fun & fitness walk and 1:30 p.m. for the 8K Run. This annual event draws runners from Novi and communities all over the state of Michigan. The first 200 entrants receive a special gift. Preregistration fees are $8 (8K run) and $5 (1 mile run) and the deadline is Wednesday, April 26. First, second and third place awards are given in 11 age divisions for male and female. The weather is getting warmer, so dust off your running shoes and start practicing.

Spring is also the time to clean out your basements and garages! Don't throw out all that great stuff - save it for the parks and recreation Spring Clean-Up on Saturday, May 13, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. This is the ultimate kick-off to the garage sale season. Everyone will be under one roof (so to speak), at the Novi Civic Center Parking Lot (inside in case of rain). Reverse one space for $25.

Rec department holding spring registration

SPRING REGISTRATION

Spring registration for Northville Parks and Recreation programs is underway. You may register during business hours, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Northville Parks and Recreation accepts checks, cash and Mastercard/Visa.

NEW ATTITUDE AEROBICS AND STEP BENCH

New Attitude Aerobics is offering aerobics and step bench classes at the Northville Community Center continuously throughout the year. Classes are held daily. For information regarding specific days and times, call New Attitude Aerobics at 348-3120 or the recreation office at 349-0203.

CPR/FIRST AID RECERTIFICATION

Northville Parks and Recreation will be offering a CPR/First Aid recertification class on Thursday, March 30, from 6:30-9:30 p.m. The class follows American Red Cross guidelines. You must have taken a CPR/First Aid course within the last year to attend.

Mood swings making kicking the habit tough

By OVIDE POMERLEAU
Special Writer

No one says it's easy to quit smoking.

But the task is even more daunting when giving up cigarettes triggers mood swings, disruption in sleeping and eating and a strong dose of the blues. I am studying a group of smokers - primarily women - who would like to stop smoking but find the process very disruptive and uncomfortable.

These smokers appear extremely sensitive to nicotine's mood effects and are unable to function during attempts to quit. Their only relief comes when they go back to cigarettes.

While these nicotine-sensitive smokers are not clinically depressed, their withdrawal symptoms may appear similar. I characterize the mood changes as the blues and blahs associated with nicotine deprivation, and feel that standard therapy to quit smoking may not work for these individuals.

Nicotine replacement systems, such as the patch, work by gradually reducing the person's amount of nicotine exposure. After eight to 10 weeks, the successful ex-smoker is weaned from nicotine entirely.

I believe that nicotine-sensitive individuals may need higher initial doses of nicotine and longer step-down cycles to stop smoking. Nicotine replacement systems are marketed as "one-size-fits-all." We think that these programs may have to be modified to help people who repeatedly have failed in previous attempts to quit.

A trial under way in the University of Michigan Behavioral Medicine Program is testing varying dosages of nicotine in patches to determine whether patients who are highly sensitive to nicotine can find relief during a more gradual period of withdrawal.

Participants are divided into two groups and each receives different levels of nicotine replacement. Patients also receive individual counseling to learn techniques to help them refrain from smoking. They are asked to keep a diary to record mood and behavior changes.

To learn more about the clinical trial, please call the University of Michigan Behavioral Medicine Program at (313)998-6420.

Sexual activity OK for heart patients

Barry Franklin

Many post-coronary patients hesitate and blush.

Finally, they ask, "Is sexual activity too demanding for someone who has had a heart attack? Is sex likely to precipitate another heart attack? What precautions, if any, are in order?"

To put it bluntly, extra-marital sex may be hazardous to one's health. A Japanese study found 80 percent of deaths during intercourse occurred in hotel rooms, "in relations with lovers," rather than wives.

But for others, the good news is that the cardiac cost of sexual intercourse is only modest.

In 1970, Drs. Hellerstein and Friedman studied the cardiovascular responses of both healthy and post-coronary subjects during daily living and during sexual activity. Peak heart rate responses during intercourse generally lasted less than 30 seconds and ranged from 90 to 144 beats per minute; average peak heart rate was 117.

Their conclusion - heart rate responses during intercourse were comparable to, or less than, those which occurred at work.

Thus, the vast majority of heart patients can safely engage in sexual activity, often within three to four weeks of hospital discharge. Many physicians feel a patient who can climb two flights of stairs at a moderate pace or walk at a 2.5 to 3 miles-per-hour clip without symptoms is ready to resume sexual activity.

A more objective assessment can be made from the patient's response to low-level exercise on a treadmill or stationary bicycle at a workload designed to elicit the anticipated heart rate and energy requirements of sexual activity. Such an evaluation serves to assess the risks of resumption of sexual activity, and provides assurance to the patient and spouse.

In 1977, Dr. Richard Stein reported that heart patients showed a decrease in peak heart rate from 127 to 120 beats per minute, following a 16-week stationary bicycle exercise program. Many also reported decreased anxiety, increased self-confidence and reduced symptoms (e.g. chest pain).

Similarly Hellerstein and Friedman reported that both the frequency and quality of sexual activity improved as a result of a physical fitness program. These data suggest that regular exercise may decrease symptoms and the workload on the heart during sexual intercourse.

Other prudent recommendations may include taking anti-anginal medications (e.g., nitroglycerine) prior to intercourse, and avoiding sexual activity after heavy meals, after drinking alcohol, when excessively fatigued, or in too hot or too cold an environment.

Alterations in sexual positions may offer a slight reduction in cardiac cost, eliminating isometric support of the body weight by the arms.

Condos a popular choice in current buying market

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

Condos are rapidly becoming the residence of choice for a large segment of home buyers.

The increasing popularity of condominiums is primarily tied to three factors in the current market: the increasing proportion of units occupied by owners (not renters) in condo developments; decreasing prices in recent months; and more flexible financing now available for condo buyers.

"Our condo sales are way up," said Susan Herrick, owner of Herrick & Co., Realtors, whose office sold four condos in a recent 10-day period.

Herrick said that many of her firm's prospective buyers are expressing more interest in a condo property because the ratio of owner-occupied to renter units has increased dramatically. That's a key factor influencing markets across the country.

It's well known that owners take better care of their property than renters, which increases the appeal of living in a condo complex.

The change is largely due to a depressed market during the early 1990s. Many investors who purchased and rented condo units bailed out of their financial squeeze by selling their units. And most of the sales were to people who wanted to live in the unit. Ironically, the tight market helped to make condos a hot property.

Condo values also tend to decline faster than single-family homes when real estate values decrease and recover more slowly when the market strengthens. The current number of excellent condo values on the market reflect the low prices of the recent housing recession.

Moreover, condo financing has never been easier to obtain. New, more flexible mortgage plans make it easier for buyers to qualify for financing — particularly first-time purchasers.

"The problem we now face is a shortage of supply," Herrick said. "The inventory of available condos is getting ominously low. It's a

The Dalby is a tri-level home with an airy, spacious feel

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

Skylights and dormers brighten the Dalby, a compact tri-level home with an airy, spacious feeling. This three-bedroom plan is designed for a lot that slopes down to the right.

Garage, utilities and a huge storage room are on the lowest level, half a flight down from the main floor. The master suite and one of two secondary bedrooms are on the second floor, a full flight up from the garage, but only half a flight up from the main floor. An eye-catching curved walkway sweeps up from the driveway to a small porch.

Vaulted ceilings throughout combine with a wealth of windows to create the sense of spaciousness. Bathrooms are the only rooms on the main and second floor that aren't vaulted. Additional light streams into the kitchen, dining room, stairwell and master suite through skylights. An indoor greenery and tropical plants flourish in this rich light.

In the kitchen, an abundance of counter space lets two or three cooks work together without getting in each other's way. This room is suffused with so much natural light that artificial sources will rarely be needed during daylight hours. Above counter level, most of the street-facing wall is filled with windows.

The ceiling above the windows slopes up to a high back wall, setting the stage for one of the Dalby's most unique features — a row of multipaned windows that fill the space between cupboards and ceiling. These allow for shared light between the kitchen and living room and can be opened for cross-ventilation as well.

The dining room is also well-illuminated. In addition to the skylight, it has windows on three sides. Sliding French doors open on a large deck to the rear, offering easy access for outdoor dining. The deck wraps around the side, ending parallel with the front facade.

On the upper level, the master suite shares a bathroom with the other secondary bedroom. Both the bathroom and bedroom have window seats tucked in the front-facing dormers.

IT'S SOFA FINE

Suppose your favorite old sofa, the one you can really stretch out on, the one you scrimped and saved for, is still in good shape structurally, but the fabric looks worn and tried, thanks to your three active, somewhat sloppy kids and your dog who has claimed the sofa as his bed.

By Jane Benskey
Special Writer

You've checked out new sofas and haven't been able to find one you like half as much nor one that seems to be as sturdy and as well made as yours, and you're not sure what to do.

Reupholstering is an option you may want to consider, and one that could give your sofa a second life.

That's what Brighton resident Theresa Coloske just did. Her 12-year-old sofa, though still sturdy and sound, was showing its age and for months Coloske went between buying a new one or having the old one reupholstered.

After deciding to buy a new couch, Coloske and her husband, Dave, searched at length for a good quality sofa that was not run-of-the mill and eventually settled on a beautiful suede sofa.

But there was one problem. Once it was delivered and they began using it, the Coloskes soon discovered it was no match for their old sofa.

"We couldn't adjust to it. It wasn't as comfortable as our old one, and we both couldn't fit on it to watch TV like we could with our old one," Coloske said.

That's when she decided her old sofa was worth reupholstering.

Lucky for Coloske, she had decided to hang on to it just in case. She had it reupholstered last month and is thrilled with the results and her decision.

Determining whether your furniture is worth being reupholstered is the first and the most important step in making your decision.

A piece of furniture that is 8 years old or newer would not be a good candidate for reupholstery, says Fred Van, owner of Advanced Sew, an upholstery company located in Oak Grove. Van says that although there are exceptions, in most cases newer furniture is not being constructed the same way as it was in the past.

"It's because they (furniture manufacturers) have cheapened new furniture so much. ... Your older furniture was all done with hardwood, it was glued and doweled," he said. "The new stuff has got a lot of pressed wood."

So what Van looks for is a quality frame because "that's the life of the piece."

If you're not sure about the construction of your sofa or chair or it's a piece you bought second-hand, there is an easy way to determine whether it's constructed of hardwood — just pick it up. The heavier the piece, the more likely it's constructed

Look for many new seed varieties this year

By C.Z. Guest

GARDENING

When I first started gardening (I was 5 years old), my greatest pleasure was just getting my radishes, lettuce and peas from plants I'd spent weeks protecting from curious birds, insects, nosey dogs and stray cats.

Of course, in those days, you couldn't choose from hundreds of different varieties of flowers and vegetables but, today, it's a different ballgame — we have a wealth of beautiful plants that have been propagated just for us! What a luxury!

Whether you're just starting out, or are an experienced green thumb, you'll be intrigued by the array of exciting new flowers, fruits and vegetables displayed on seed racks and in seed catalogs this spring.

Some seeds are hybrids on the market for the very first time, others are varieties from Europe newly available in this country, while others are tried-and-true favorites for which seed has been increased to make them available to more home gardeners. Plant breeders and gardeners search for productivity, better flavor, new color and compact plant habit. With flowers, the endless quest is also for traits such as hardiness, bloom sizes, scent and shape.

As you read the catalogs, think about what to choose this year. Consider all the above qualities and you'll have an outstanding harvest, and have a tremendous feeling of self-satisfaction for being successful — not to mention the envy of neighbors! That's your reward for all the hard work put into the project.

Remember the ultimate test for best varieties is how a plant or seed performs for you (in the area you live in).

Test germination of old seeds now, so you'll have time to order new ones. Wrap 15 to 20 seeds in a moist paper towel and check daily for sprouts. If germination is below 70 percent, buy fresh seeds.

Once you've decided what flowers and vegetables you are going to grow in your garden, it is best to order quickly the desired seeds through the cat-

Chest has both Victorian and American Empire design elements

This chest of drawers built circa 1840 is worth between $675 and $700.

By Anne McCollam
Copley News Service

Q. Enclosed is a photo of a chest of drawers that belonged to my grandfather. It is made of cherry and bird's-eye maple.

When was it made and what is it worth?

A. Your chest is Country Transitional, circa 1840. It reflects the design elements of American Empire and includes Victorian applied beading at the base of the recessed top drawers.

It would probably be worth about $675 to $700.

Q. This mark is on the bottom of a milk glass-covered dish that I have. The lid has the figure of a fox reclining on it and the base has a basket weave design. The dish measures approximately 7 inches long and 6 inches high. Could you tell me who made my dish and if it has any value?

A. Your covered dish was made by the Westmoreland Glass Co. The firm was established in 1889 in East Liverpool, Ohio. In 1890 it moved to Grapeville, Pa.

"W" superimposed over "G" was first introduced as a trademark in 1949. Beginning in 1983, the mark "Westmoreland" was used on all glassware.

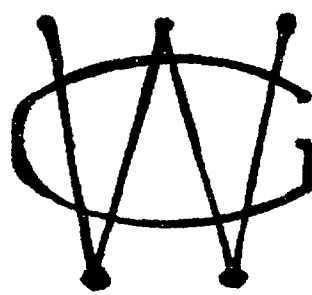

The value of your dish would probably be about $45 to $55.

Q. I received a porcelain inkstand as a gift. I know it is quite old. There are two inkwells that sit on a scalloped ornate tray. It is decorated with floral sprays.

I am very anxious and curious to know more about my inkstand.

A. Inkstands and inkwells were widely produced from the early 1800s to around 1930. Popularity for ornate, decorative inkstands waned up from 1870 to 1920. Glass, metal, pottery and porcelain were some of the materials used. Many were made of pottery or porcelain due to their resistance to the corrosive effects of ink.

With the arrival of the ball point pen, the demand for inkstands dried up.

However, collectors still find them appealing.

Your inkstand was made around 1900. It would probably be worth about $95 to $100.

Q. I hope you can tell me about my carnival glass butter dish that was given to me about 50 years ago. It is purple, 6 inches tall and has a lid. The pattern is "Grape and Cable." Does it have any value?

A. Not everyone could afford the expensive art glass produced by Tiffany in the early 1900s. Carnival glass was the "poor man's Tiffany."

It was less costly to manufacture, making it easily affordable for the average person. More than 1,000 different patterns were made. It has been very collectible in the last half of the 20th century.

Your butter dish would probably be worth about $200.

BOOK REVIEW

"Heywood-Wakefield Modern Furniture" by Steve and Roger Rouland is the first guide to feature this highly collectible furniture. Over 100 years of progress is charted, explaining how the company grew from a country store to a modern furniture manufacturer.

Condition, finish and upholstery are some of the guidelines used in establishing the value guide.

If you find the clean style and the quality of this furniture appealing, this guide is a "must have."

"Heywood-Wakefield Modern Furniture" is published by Collector Books, P.O. Box 3009, Paducah, KY 42002-3009. Copies may be ordered from the publisher for $18.95 plus $2 postage and handling.

Address your questions to Anne McCollam, P.O. Box 490, Notre Dame, IN 46556. For a personal response, include picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $5 per item (one item at a time).

PLANT POWER

Fortunately, horticulture is no longer just a hobby. Physically and mentally disabled people are finding happiness in therapy gardening, landscaping, flower arranging and other horticultural activities.

According to a recent survey, horticultural therapy programs in hospitals, nursing homes, correctional centers, prisons and schools, encourage the disabled and incarcerated to build self-esteem while improving development skills.

Gardening helps patients in all walks of life — from heart attack victims to prisoners — relax and achieve a sense of accomplishment and pride.

Q. Please, the name of the rose that is immune to the black spot plague. Could it be The American Heritage? I have tried sprays for five years; no luck. Thanks for any assistance.

A. Black spot is not serious except in wet seasons when it may be controlled by spraying with Bordeaux mixture. Picking off infected leaves and cleaning up old stalks and debris in autumn are key to disease-free roses.

During the summer months, when cultivating the beds, rake up all fallen leaves.

There is no rose immune to black spot (and resistant to other fungal diseases) that I know of except Bonica. It's a fabulous new variety, a lovely shade of pale pink. The perfect rose for any garden.

Give new life to favorite furniture by reupholstering

of hardwood.

"Take a chair that somebody's grandmother gave them and lift that as opposed to a new chair from whomever and you can tell immediately by the weight," Van said.

Price is another factor to take into consideration when making your decision. There is a misconception by some people that reupholstering a piece of furniture would be cheaper than buying new.

That's usually not the case, Van said. In fact a reupholstering job can cost about the same as a new piece — and in some instances

The cost is based on several factors. It includes the cost of labor, which according to Van can range from $575 to $625 for a typical sofa, the cost of the fabric, which he said ranges from $28 to $42 per yard, the amount of fabric used and whether any repair work has to be done.

So while you may spend as much or more than it would cost to buy a new piece, it may be worth it in the long run. More than once, Van has seen furniture just a couple years old already in need of repair because it was constructed of pressed wood that was stapled together.

To ensure you are dealing with a reputable upholsterer, Van recommended asking for references and, more importantly, asking if the upholsterer has an open shop, a shop that you can visit any time.

"Our thinking is if they don't want you in the shop, they're doing something they don't want you to see," Van said.

One of those things they may not want you to see is a process called "skinning." Skinning is a method some disreputable shops employ in which instead of removing all the old fabric and stuffing right down to the frame, the new fabric is put on over the old fabric.

"If they're good at it, it doesn't look bad at all, but you're not getting what you were led to believe you'd be getting," Van said.

Not only does the consumer get stuffed, but Van said, it gives the trade a bad name.

If you plan to have a piece of furniture reupholstered, count on about three to four business weeks for the job to be done.

Of course for those enterprising souls who are always willing to learn new trades or tackle jobs themselves, another option to consider is reupholstery classes.

Dozens of people have learned how to reupholster their furniture under the tutelage of Mary Ann Bachman through the courses she has taught in Waterford and Hartland.

Bachman, who for a decade has taught the reupholstery classes as a credited high school course in Waterford and through community education in Hartland, has much the same advice as Van in terms of deciding whether to reupholster a piece.

"Upholstery is not always the cheapest way to go, but if you have an heirloom or a piece of sentimental value and it's a solid, well-made piece, then it's worth it," Bachman said.

Depending on where she's teaching, Bachman's course runs either 10 or 15 weeks and the tuition is $100.

Her class, which meets one night a week for four hours, takes the student through the reupholstery process step-by-step, from removing all the old fabric down to the frame to putting the new fabric back on.

Bachman, who for years worked as a custom designer in a Bloomfield Hills upholstery shop and later owned her own business, recommended starting with a smaller project like a chair or ottoman because reupholstering a sofa or a love seat can be overwhelming to a beginner.

So there you have it. Your old, but still worthy, sofa can become new again. Now all you'll have to figure out is how to keep the dog off of it.

Condos grow in popularity; home ownership is still a good investment

great time to sell a condo.

Here are some suggestions for prospective condo buyers.

Ask your Realtor to help you check public records to discover how many units are occupied by owners in the development being considered. If the proportion of owner-residents is less than 80 percent, it might not be a good deal.

Ask about any possible problems with the development's common areas or possible pending lawsuits.

Compare the association fees with those at other condo communities in the area.

Study the condo rules and bylaws to see if they conflict with your desired lifestyle.

Find out if there are current special assessments charged to owners, or a past pattern of assessments.

Do a thorough walk-through of the complex and talk with a few owners. Ask what they like and dislike about the development. When appropriate, ask whether the board of directors works in a positive manner.

Check the surrounding neighborhood. Note the pride of ownership, or lack of it, in homes. This will affect the condo's future value. Observe the condo's proximity to shopping, desired school and church, etc.

Q. Considering the recent drop in home values, is homeownership still considered a good investment?

A. Definitely. Harvard University's Joint Center for Housing Studies recently reported that home ownership is the primary component in the creation of wealth. Homeowners have an average net worth 34 times greater than renters.

The report also noted that half the wealth is generated by home ownership.

For example, John Anderson, president of a regional association of Realtors in California, reported that in his area the median home price in 1980 was $112,700. At the end of last year, the median price was about $190,000.

"That's an average appreciation (value increase) of more than 3.5 percent per year," Anderson said. "And it includes the downturn from 1990 to 1994, when the median price fell from over $250,000 to $190,000. And over the 15-year period, the median priced homeowner created another $20,000 to $25,000 in wealth by paying down their mortgage.

Adding the $20,000 gain from paying down the mortgage to the $77,000 gain in appreciation results in nearly a $100,000 accumulation of wealth for the median homeowner.

Q. Is home building still on the upswing?

A. According to a report from Lomas Mortgage USA, home building has passed its peak for this housing cycle.

"Building of one-family homes grew more than 7 percent last year, compared with the previous year. But construction volume topped out early in the second half of last year," the report stated. "During the final quarter, builders pulled 7 percent fewer one-family permits than a year earlier despite mild weather conditions."

Rising interest rates have slammed the lid on home building after a four-year growth run. Fixed-rate mortgages are about two percentage points higher now than they were a year ago, and buyer demand is much weaker.

Questions may be used in future columns; personal responses should not be expected. Send inquiries to James M. Woodard, Copley News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, CA 92112-0190.

Comparing Mortgage lenders?

"I assist my clients when they compare Mortgage lenders!"
David C. Mully
Senior Loan Officer

I can also help even if you've already selected a lender!
With several years of Mortgage experience, including working for major banks mortgage bankers and mortgage brokers, I've learned a lot about what to look for in a mortgage lender. What questions to ask the importance of verifying in writing what you are promised and most of all the importance of good service.
Since I've made a living providing mortgages to homeowners I have learned things the average person just would not know when comparing mortgage lenders.
Home purchasers are most likely going to compare a few different lenders anyway so why not help them do it better!
By calling me you will increase your chances of saving money and getting good service and reduce your chances of losing money and ending up with the wrong lender.
If I don't get your business at least I can offer you my experience and service to assure you of additional savings and a smoother transaction. I'm only a phone call away 7 days a week. Let me help you.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

MARJORIE SHEFFIECK

WHEN SHOULD I LIST HOME?

QUESTION: We would like to sell our home next spring during the peak selling months. When should we list with a Realtor?

ANSWER: Don't wait for the target months to arrive. Put your house up for sale during February or March-BEFORE the heavy selling. True, more prospects will be looking during the peak months - but, then again more homeowners will be selling. The shrewd homeowner who wants to sell his home for a summer move, should list it before the influx of the heavy bulk of sellers.

During quieter periods, the Realtor can put more time, effort and advertising into selling your home and there will be less competition

The business of preserving memories

By RICK BYRNE

Jeanette Holtman knew when her grandmother passed away in 1993 that there should have been a better way to preserve her family's history than the album full of precious photographs of people she didn't know and couldn't identify.

So as relatives came to town for the funeral, she put her skills as an instructor for Creative Memories to work. Creative Memories teaches workshops and classes in how to create photo albums that are more fun and meaningful, while at the same time preserving the photographs that are the history of everyone's family.

"Everyone takes pictures, so people are very receptive to it," Jeanette said. "After all, we invest all that money into cameras, film and developing, and then the pictures sit in a drawer and nobody sees them. Creative Memories is really the first company that's addressed that. You can put them in an album where they can be enjoyed."

In the case of her late grandmother, she took some of "Gramma Mac's" pictures and created a keepsake album. She gave it to her mother as a gift, and she brought it to the funeral. Not only were visiting family members allowed to add to the book with their memories of Gramma; those who never knew her could see and read the story of her life.

Holtman first heard of Creative Memories, a national company based in Minnesota, in 1992. Though she was a degreed chemical engineer, six children kept her at home. She needed something to get her out of the house without taxing the family.

From her South Lyon home, she can do private training sessions, or teach through community education programs. She's taught in Ann Arbor, Milan, Walled Lake, Northville and South Lyon. She's also worked with the Northville Genealogical Society, mothers' groups and church groups.

"I'll teach classes in my own home, and in people's own homes too, for groups of six or more," she said.

One of the first things students learn is the importance of using photo-safe materials in the creation of an album. Most popular department store albums, like the press-and-stick type, have a high acid content in the paper and in the PVC plastic that covers the pictures.

These deteriorate photos rapidly.

Jeanette said.

Jeanette pulls out the old album that belonged to her grandmother, and though the album is filled with intriguing photos from the early 1900s, it's a good example of how not to do an album.

For one thing, she notes that the glue used to mount the pictures to the black pages has begun to deteriorate the photos. The old black-and-whites should have held up very well over the years, but instead they've got streaks of yellow in a pattern that reveals where the glue was applied.

Most of the photos lack names, so Jeanette, just two generations removed, can't identify many of the people in the pictures.

"That's what showed me how important this is," she said. Jeanette comes filled with practical tips to make the albums fun and interesting to look at, and organizational ideas so you don't fall behind on maintaining them.

"I show people how to organize their photos chronologically, with any memorabilia that you want to include with it," Jeanette said.

Photo albums, after all, need not contain only photos. You can take a photo of your child's first haircut, and place a lock of hair alongside it in an album. Or include brochures, postcards and ticket stubs with your travel photos.

"I have held sessions all day Saturday for people who've already taken the class, but just want to get together with the other people who took them," Jeanette said. "This really is the quilting bee of the '90s. People can get together and socialize, and they just love it."

Jeanette plans to lecture at the South Lyon Library on "Preserve Your Memories," at 1:30 p.m. Monday, April 10. She has scheduled Walled Lake Community Education classes on Monday, April 24, and Monday, June 19.

She adds that May 6 is National Scrapbook Day, and she will take part in special festivities at Dom-

Welcome to the best home show in Midwest

The 77th annual International Builders Home, Flower and Furniture Show will be held at Detroit's Cobo Conference-Exhibition Center March 18-26.

"Given the upswing in residential remodeling, the Cobo show is right in sync to help stimulate new ideas for showgoers' latest home projects," said Janet L. Compo, president of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan (BASM) and chief executive officer of James D. Compo Inc. of Farmington Hills.

The Cobo Builders Show is the largest show of its kind in the Midwest with 400 exhibitors. BASM is the sponsor of the event.

Exhibitors will spread their wares across half a million square feet of exhibit space (that's equivalent to over 10 football fields) giving homeowners hundreds of ideas for kitchens, baths, doors, windows, yards/gardens, remodeling, financing, arts and crafts, decorative accessories, furniture, appliances, heating and cooling. The latest technology, products and services will be on display. Most exhibitors offer special show pricing.

Special highlights at the show include a large cascading waterfall which showgoers can walk under, a 400-foot long horseshoe-shaped river and 86,000 square feet of surrounding gardens, including a topiary zoo, created by the Metropolitan Detroit Landscape Association and sponsored by Detroit Edison and Temo Sunrooms & Spas.

Outdoor cooking specialists Mad Dog and Merrill will display their outdoor grilling techniques from standard vegetables and meats, to pizza and even grilled ice cream on March 19-26 sponsored by MichCon Gas Company.

WXYT's Ask the Handyman Glenn Haege will be there on March 18 - 19 and 25 - 26 broadcasting live from the show and answering homeowners' questions.

Other attractions include the Parade of Notable Homes, which features a pictorial display of new homes and a free plan book sponsored by BASM,

See duck races, waterfalls and great ideas at show

Where can you find an indoor cascading waterfall, river, topiary zoo, duck races, thousands of products and services for the home and garden, prizes and more under one roof?

It's not too good to be true — it's the 77th annual International Builders Home, Flower and Furniture Show, coming to the Cobo Conference-Exhibition Center Over 400 exhibitors convene at the show making it a cinch for homeowners to gather hundreds of fresh ideas for the home and garden which can be found by perusing nearly 10 football fields worth of exhibit space. To reverse an old saying, showgoers will find everything including the kitchen sink at this extravaganza.

Special highlights at the show include a 15-foot high cascading waterfall which showgoers can walk under, a 400-foot long horseshoe shaped river and lavish surrounding gardens, including a topiary zoo, created by the Metropolitan Detroit Landscape Association (MDLA) and sponsored by Detroit Edison and Temo Sunrooms & Spas.

Duck races each night sponsored by the Rotary International District 6400 will benefit Easter Seals of Southeastern Michigan and Easter Seals of Canada.

Nearly two football fields worth of professionally landscaped gardens will enchant showgoers with the sounds of chirping crickets and babbling brooks, and the sight of colorful water fountains and dancing butterflies, as they pass through cedar gazebos and walk along brick paver pathways. Some 1,500 trees and shrubs and thousands of brilliant flowers come to life in these gardens which will transport showgoers into a world of beauty.

WXYT's Ask the Handyman Glenn Haeger will be there on March 18-19 and 25-26 broadcasting live from the show and answering homeowners' questions.

Expert demonstrations on gardening, decorating and remodeling will be given throughout the show. Mad Dog & Merrill will demonstrate how to grill foods such as vegetables, meats, pizza and desserts (even ice cream!), sponsored by MichCon Gas Company.

Frank's will conduct seminars on garden oriented crafts, container gardening, easy-care landscaping, gardening techniques and lawn and garden care.

Over 100 of the Detroit area's Professional Allied Florists Association members area shops will display arrangements for the honor of 'Best of Show Award' presented by the Society of American Florists. This year's themes are 'A Study in Nature' dish gardens, 'Your Special Day' party and 'Trendsetter' arrangements.

Cut flower arrangement demonstrations will be put on by members of the Professional Allied Florists Association. Nationally recognized commentators will inform and educate the audience in flower care and design. On the last day of the show, many of the arrangements entered in the competition will be auctioned off with proceeds going to the Multiple Sclerosis Society.

The Community Theater located in the garden area will host a Home Buyers Clinic, sponsored by the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers featuring seminars on moving to a new home or remodeling from members of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan (BASM), natural gas appliances and heating and cooling products from MichCon Gas Company, financing your dream home from Standard Federal Bank, landscaping tips from the MDLA and instruction on the tools needed and the assembly of a do-it-yourself sunroom from Temo Sunrooms and Spas.

One lucky showgoer will win $10,000 by correctly estimating the number of nails in the House of Nails contest. The Treasure Chest contest, set up at various locations throughout the show, will award prizes from Farmer Jack, Frank's, Professional Allied Florists Association, MichCon Gas Company and Temo Sunrooms and Spas.

Also, many exhibitors will have contests for prizes. Dancers, musical groups and singers will entertain the crowds.

The Parade of Notable Homes program, which kicks off at the show, will feature pictorial renderings of the area's newest showcase homes built by the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan members and a free plan book. The program is sponsored by BASM, Standard Federal Bank and The Detroit News and Free Press Classifieds.

And finally, what show would be complete without a wedding? To prove this point, Pam Pratt of Detroit will wed Marc Perry of Inkster in one of the gardens near the indoor river on March 23 at 4 p.m.

Wedding flowers are being donated by Decker Flowers and Gifts of Westland. The cake is compliments of Farmer Jack, photography by Greg's Portrait Studio of Farmington Hills, tuxedos from President Tuxedo of Lakeside Mall in Sterling Heights, limousine service by ACS Limousine of Dearborn and the honeymoon night will be spent at the Antheneum Hotel in Detroit. BASM is also sponsor of the third annual Spring Home & Garden Show which ran from February 2-5 and the third annual Fall Remodeling Show at the Novi Expo Center. The Builders Show will be open 2-10 p.m. Monday through Friday; 11 a.m.-10 p.m. on Saturdays; and 11 a.m.-6 p.m. on Sundays.

Admission is $6 for adults; $4 for seniors and children 6 to 12; and free for children under 6. Family tickets for two adults and accompanying children are available at Farmer Jack for $9.

Wide variety: More than 400 exhibits are featured at the 77th Annual International Builders Home, Flower and Furniture Show at Cobo Center March 18-26.

Grill humor: Mad-cap outdoor cooking specialists Mad Dog and Merrill will offer grilling tips and zany asides during their demonstrations at the builders show.

Duo cooks with humor

Nationally known outdoor cooking specialists Mad Dog and Merrill will display their humorous cooking magic sponsored by MichCon Gas Company at the 77th Annual International Builders Home, Flower and Furniture Show held at Detroit's Cobo Conference-Exhibition Center.

As the team from New London, Wis. travels to home shows throughout the country, they share their mad-cap stunts and wealth of outdoor grilling knowledge. The zany duo conveys their grilling techniques and valuable tips through demonstrations peppered with a blend of satire and wittiness.

Since 1983, these two outdoor cooking gurus have promoted the fine art of barbecue by enthusiastically delivering delicious recipes for a variety of foods — from the standard vegetables and meats, to pizza and even grilled ice cream!

Over the last 10 years, the grilling team has appeared on national and regional television, statewide radio and has been reviewed in various newspapers across the country. The duo recently taped a segment of TNN's "Cookin' USA" with Merle Ellis.

Mad Dog and Merrill offer their valuable tips and recipes in several cookbooks and videos, including "The Grilling Buddies Cookbook," "Grillology 101" and "Fest Ever Grilling."

The outdoor grilling experts will soon introduce two new cookbook and video packages called "Cooking With Gas" and "Grilling for the Health of It."

Show times for Mad Dog and Merrill are Sundays, March 19 and March 26 at 12:30, 2 and 4:30 p.m.; Monday, March 20 through Friday, March 24 at 3, 4:30, 6:30 and 8 p.m. and Saturday, March 25 at 12:30, 2, 4:30, 6:30 and 8 p.m..

The Cobo Builders Show will be open March 18-26, 2 p.m. - 10 p.m. Monday through Friday; 11 a.m.-10 p.m. on Saturdays; and 11 a.m.-6 p.m. on Sundays. Admission is $6 for adults; $4 for seniors and children 6 to 12; and free for children under 6. Family tickets for two adults and accompanying children are available at Farmer Jack for $9. Discount admission coupons were mailed to homeowners in their Consumers Power and Detroit Edison bills. Free admission coupons for Monday, March 20, are available at all Frank's stores. For more information, call (810) 737-4478.

New home guide offered

A free directory is now available from the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan (BASM) to provide prospective homeowners with information on new homes and locations in Southeastern Michigan.

The directory, which will be updated monthly, lists homes and building sites by city for Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, and St. Clair counties. Each listing includes basic information such as square footage, number and placement of bedrooms and baths, style and design, price range, school district, and other amenities.

Special features are provided when available, such as barrier-free design, use of allergy-sensitive construction materials, special warranties and whether a builder will construct on the homeowner's lot. A special section of the directory also lists remodelers working throughout the area.

All the builders listed in the directory are professionally licensed and members in good standing of BASM. Homeowners are encouraged to check the references and previous workmanship of all prospective builders.

To obtain a copy of the directory, call the BASM offices, (810) 737-4477, Monday through Friday, from 8:30am - 4:00pm.

Acorn's #1 Rule
Never Pay Retail! Every day, everything is on sale at Acorn.

Why Acorn?
Because we are the kitchen and bath cabinet specialists. We have the top lines in kitchen and bath cabinets like Wood-Mode, Aristokraft and Decora. These are the best in the business. They won't be found in the huge home center warehouses.

The home center stock kitchen cabinets are much lower quality which you have to assemble yourself! Why bother? The Acorn difference is obvious. The choice is clear.

FREE
Bring in your measurements and Acorn will give you a free computer generated drawing of how your new kitchen will look. Six Kitchen designers on staff to help you.

65% OFF LIST
300 Odd Lot Cabinets. Do it Yourself, or we can recommend installers that are state licensed and insured and are not operating out of the back of a truck.

Check location carefully

Choosing the right location for your new home is as important as choosing the right builder.

Be objective in your evaluation of different neighborhoods' physical locations, character and development regulations. When making your neighborhood selection, make sure you feel comfortable overall, and decide if any location-related compromises are necessary in finding the home that meets your needs.

Here are some of the questions you will want to answer before you choose your neighborhood:

■ Take into consideration how close you are to the things you will want and need. Are medical facilities and shopping nearby?

■ Is being close to public transportation important?

■ If there are two wage earners, will the location you choose be close to both of your jobs? Would you want to be close to a city, or would you be willing to have a longer commute and be farther away from the city?

■ Do you want a home with a yard, or an environment with a lot of people?

■ If you have children, or are planning to have children, are the area schools good? Are day-care facilities accessible?

Here's how to keep delicate cut roses longer and fresher

Roses, the American National Flower since 1986, are a joy in the garden or in the home.

They are fragile, delicate and carry strong emotional messages of love, concern and caring. So how can we keep those beauties fresh after they come into our homes?

Roses delivered from a professional florist should have been given a specially formulated floral food and bactericide to ensure longer enjoyment. You can add to the vase life by following these simple suggestions:

■ Prepare a clean, deep vase with fresh lukewarm water, dissolve the small packet of floral food which the florist will have included.

■ Remove any leaves that may decay under water. Try not to cut or injure the green bark, since air can enter through these injuries and clog the stems.

■ Hold the stems under water in a sink and cut about 1-inch off each stem with a sharp knife.

■ Immediately after the stem is cut place your roses in the solution in the vase.

■ Display your fresh cut rose arrangements in a cool place out of direct sunlight and drafts.

■ Roses are thirsty flowers, it is important to check daily to see if the vase is full. Add more floral preservative solution often.

If you are one of those green-thumb growers who enjoys roses from your outdoor garden, try cutting early in the morning while the stems are full of natural moisture. Promptly bring the roses indoors and prepare as above with a fresh cut and floral food treatment. You may want to let them stand in a cool dark place for about 2 hours to 'condition' them while they take up the floral preservative solution. Then, you can arrange them as you like.

They are beauties, whether purchased from a local professional florist or enjoyed from your garden. Appreciate the rose often, it is America's best known and loved flower!

Roses are available year around from Professional Allied Florist Association shops. Roses are grown in Michigan and throughout the United States. Increasingly larger numbers of roses are being shipped in from Central and South America.

The Professional Allied Florists Association is a 40 year old association located in Southeastern Michigan and dedicated to the promotion and daily enjoyment of fresh flowers.

Ask questions before remodeling

With the remodeling season approaching, you may be among the many homeowners who are considering home improvements but are frightened by the horror stories of dishonest or unqualified contractors.

"The good news is that by asking the right questions and looking in the right places, you can find a professional, experienced remodeler to do a job that will not only raise your home's value but also make the home more enjoyable for many years to come," said L. David Kellett, co-chairman of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan (BASM) Remodelers Council and president of Kellett Construction Co. in Bloomfield Hills.

The best places to find qualified contractors is through friends, neighbors, local real estate agents and BASM's Remodelers directory.

Many homeowners like their neighborhoods and don't relish the expense and trouble of moving but want a change in space or amenities. Remodeling makes it possible to upgrade and expand without moving and often rewards the investment with a higher sale price when the house is later put on the market.

"The percentage of a remodeling investment which will be returned depends on the job and the number of years until the house is sold," said Thomas Kellett, co-chairman of BASM's Remodelers Council and vice president of Kellett Construction Co.

"A minor kitchen remodel can return 100 percent of the initial investment, while a new skylight illuminating a room could return even more. A rule of thumb is that any improvement which brings a home up to the level of similar houses in the same neighborhood is a good one."

In choosing a remodeler, the lowest price is not always the best choice. No two remodelers will do a job exactly the same way. Be as specific as possible and ask the contractor to specify the materials and brand names on which he is basing the quote. Be especially wary of a quote significantly lower than the range indicated by the others.

With a remodeling project, the lowest price often comes with a sacrifice or compromise of quality workmanship or materials, professionalism, time, supervision, service and follow up.

By the time you decide to hire a remodeler, you probably already have a fairly good idea of what you want the finished job to look like. A professional remodeler can take your ideas and recommend the most effective ways to achieve the results you are seeking while staying within your budget.

Like any important purchase, a remodeling project is not something to be spontaneous about. Although it may take some time to find a remodeler with whom you feel comfortable and can communicate, it is well worth the effort.

One of the most important things that can be done to learn about a remodeler is to ask for a list of recently completed projects that are similar to yours. He may have done kitchen remodeling, but that won't be much of an indication of how well he can add an additional level to your home.

Then, call the references and visit the sites if possible. To be protected from possible legal problems, it's important that you verify that the remodeler has the licenses and permits required to build in your city and is properly insured according to Michigan's regulations.

A good remodeler will want you to do your homework before you sign the contract. In fact, since so much of a remodeler's business comes from referrals, a good remodeler will do everything possible to ensure that the job will reflect well on his company and add one more customer to his list of satisfied clients.

Handyman to broadcast from Cobo

NewsTalk Radio AM-1270 WXYT will broadcast the "Ask the Handyman" show featuring master handyman Glenn Haege live from the 77th Annual International Builders Home, Flower and Furniture Show at the Cobo Conference-Exhibition Center on Saturdays and Sundays, March 18-19 and March 25-26 until noon.

Glenn Haege has an extensive background in the do-it-yourself industry. His career includes nine years with a national paint manufacturer and 13 years with the largest independent hardware chain in the country. As he's done for the past 11 years, Glenn continues to invite industry experts to be guests on his radio show and answers home improvement questions from callers.

"The 'Ask the Handyman' show has become one of the most popular weekend talk shows in Metro Detroit," said Michael Packer, WXYT vice president/general manager. "I credit that success to Glenn's sincerity and his expertise in the home improvement industry."

Americans say buying home makes dollars and sense

There are as many reasons to buy a home as there are homeowners and potential owners. Many people cite the security, stability and enhanced quality of life that owning a home provides, while others view a home as a good investment. Some want the freedom to personalize their living environment, and others seek relief from periodic rent increases.

"No matter what the individual reason for purchasing a home may be, most people agree that financial benefits are among the most compelling," said Janet L. Compo, president of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan and chief executive officer of James D. Compo Inc. of Farmington Hills. "For most families in most markets, a home is a sensible, stable investment that increases in value at, or slightly above, the inflation rate, allowing the owners to build a nest egg for college costs, retirement or other needs."

In fact, the home accounts for almost 60 percent of the typical American homeowner's net wealth, according to the Joint Center for Housing Studies at Harvard University. In "The State of the Nation's Housing 1993," the Joint Center reported that the median net wealth for homeowners was $78,403. Of that net wealth, just over $46,000 consisted of home equity and slightly more than $32,000 was in other assets.

Consistent with that finding, 7.5 percent of the homeowners surveyed in a recent National Association of Home Builders (NAHB) poll said that a home is one of the best hedges against inflation. Almost as many (73 percent) said that a home's value as an investment was one of the primary reasons that they decided to become a homeowner. Sixty-eight percent cited the desire to provide security, stability and a positive living environment for their families, while 52 percent wanted the freedom to renovate, improve and personalize their living environment. Half also said that tax benefits, particularly the mortgage interest deduction, were important factors in the initial decision to become a home owner.

"A cornerstone of the nation's housing policy for decades, the mortgage interest deduction has helped millions of American families achieve homeownership since it first came into common use about 50 years ago," Compo added.

Basically, mortgage interest and property taxes are deductible from federal and state taxes, making homeownership more affordable and easier to achieve. In fact, 63 percent of those polled in the NAHB survey said that the mortgage interest deduction is very important to them and 21 percent said that it is somewhat important, giving it an overall rating of 4.3 on a scale of 1 to 5.

New houses cost more but offer contemporary features

Shopping for a home involves a lot of decisions.

Should you buy a traditional single-family home or a condominium-style townhouse or apartment? Do you want to live in the city or the suburbs? How many bathrooms and bedrooms do you need?

Another key question involves whether you should buy a new home or an existing one. New homes cost more on average, but they have numerous advantages. Among these are:

- Better designed kitchens with new appliances.
- More energy efficient heating and cooling systems, resulting in lower monthly energy bills.
- Better insulation.
- More electrical outlets.

- Safety glass in safety-critical areas.
- Warranty protection on the house itself and the appliances and goods within the house.

"Many features of today's new homes were either rare or unheard of a few decades ago," said Janet L. Compo, president of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan and chief executive officer of James D. Compo Inc. in Farmington Hills.

"Tastes and needs of homeowners change over time," she added. "Successful builders study changes in consumer lifestyle and incorporate features into their new homes which accommodate the changes."

Each year about six times as many existing homes are sold than new homes.

You may think you've landed on a tropical isle

When is the last time you walked underneath a waterfall and reached up to touch the water cascading over your head?

Believe it or not, you can find a waterfall "tunnel" at the 77th Annual International Builders Home, Flower and Furniture Show.

A 15-foot high waterfall will cascade into one of the ponds (which are 40 feet in diameter) at either end of a 400-foot long horseshoe shaped river. At the center of the horseshoe will be a topiary zoo featuring animals such as an eight-foot grizzly bear, lion and giraffe.

"Visitors really will be able to walk underneath the waterfall and reach out and touch it," said Larry Wright, president and CEO of Metropolitan Detroit Landscape Association (MDLA).

All of this tumbling, babbling and splashing water will be surrounded by nearly two football fields (86,000 square feet) worth of expertly designed gardens, most of which will have their own water features.

Three bridges will arch over the eight-foot-wide river. The gardens are sponsored by Detroit Edison and Temo Sunrooms & Spas.

Wright estimates that some 1,500 trees and shrubs plus thousands of flowers will come to life at the Builders Show, making it a must see for winter weary Michiganders.

"It's an experience that is sure to lift the spirits," he said. Plants from the gardens will be sold at 4 p.m. on the last day of the show, Sunday, March 26.

"Think Spring," a garden using early spring blooming flowers and landscaping will be created by students from Michigan State University's Horticulture School. Within the garden, visitors can saunter through an arbor into "summer" featuring a vegetable garden in full bloom.

Companies from throughout the tri-county area have had a hand in producing the setting including Black Forest Building Company of Mt. Clemens, Grass Roots Nursery of New Boston, Heritage Landscaping of Redford, Hunter's Creek of Lapeer, Mueller's Sunrise Nursery of Shelby Township, Northwind Farms, Superior Scape of Shelby Township, Structural Landscape of Dearborn, Clink Landscaping of Canton, Mark Baldwin & Associates of Plymouth, National Landscape of Southfield and Soulliere Decorative of Utica.

The entrance gardens are sponsored by NBD, Standard Federal Bank and Wallside Windows.

Each evening, a duck race will be managed by the Rotary International District 6400, which is comprised of 48 clubs in southeast Michigan and southwest Ontario.

Official plastic ducks will sell for $3 or two for $5. The first-place duck receives $1,000 and the next nine ducks get $100 each. All proceeds go to the Rotary Foundation in Evanston, Ill. and to the Easter Seals of Southeastern Michigan and Easter Seals of Canada as well as other worldwide charity projects.

Ducks will gather in one pond and flow down the river to a chute that allows only one duck through at a time. Nightly race sponsors include the Detroit Edison Foundation.

It takes 40,000 gallons of water to bring the waterfall, river and ponds to fruition. A heated moving van provided by Imlach Moving Co. of Trenton will transport the life size living green animals made out of ivy plants for the topiary zoo which also includes a lion cub, horse, teddy bear and tortoise.

Blooming: Indoor gardens will be in full bloom and set among waterfalls and ponds. Many landscapers will be on hand to offer tips and ideas.

Huron Valley expo enters second year

By Aileen Wingblad

For the second year in a row, local business owners and organizations will come together to showcase their products and services at the Huron Valley Area Business and Trade Expo at Lakeland High School.

The second-annual event, hosted by the Huron Valley Chamber of Commerce, Highland Business Association, Milford Business Association and the White Lake Township Business Association, will be held March 17 and 18.

It will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. March 18.

An expected 117 booths will be on display, an increase of more than 50 percent over the Business and Trade Expo '94.

Last year's premier expo, attended by an estimated 2,000 people, featured 75 booths from 66 participating businesses and was an overwhelming success, said Shyrlee Prince, NBD vice president and returning expo

"Last year's expo was absolutely amazing. My business grew by about 75 percent, thanks to contacts made at the business expo."

chair.

"Our first expo was the first time the three areas — Highland, Milford and White Lake Township — joined together in this way," Prince said. "Ask anybody who participated and they will say they were very pleased with the outcome."

Indeed, one returning participant, Terri Webner, wholeheartedly agrees with Prince's assessment.

"Last year's expo was absolutely amazing," Webner said. "My business grew by about 75 percent, thanks to contacts made at the business expo."

Webner is owner of Terri Webner and Associates, a desk-top publishing and graphics design business located in White Lake Township. She's been tremendously successful during the past year in establishing a growing clientele, thanks to "word-of-mouth advertising and getting my name out" through the expo.

"And now I'm ready for more customers. I'm ready to grow."

Lee Johnson, owner and administrator of Highland Montessori School, is another repeat expo participant who gives the event her seal of approval.

"Of course, I'd recommend it to other business owners," she said. "So many people came to learn about us. I made several contacts and really enjoyed talking to all the people. It was neat," she said.

"And everyone there is trying to promote business. That's what this is all about," Johnson added.

As with last year, the first night of the expo will open with a "By Invitation Only" preview reception. Some 1,300 invitations have been sent out for this business-to-business opportunity, up from 800 invitations last year.

On Saturday, the expo will be open to the public.

"The networking that went on among business owners at last year's expo was incredible. I was just thrilled," Prince said. "But this isn't just for business. This is for the community and a chance for the public to get more involved."

"Last year, people were awed by the whole thing," Prince said. "This year, it will be even bigger."

Tips from experts: Be prepared and follow up

By Aileen Wingblad

So just what can you, as a business person, expect to gain from this year's business and trade expo?

And what are some of the more effective ways to get the most out of your exhibit?

Experts agree that there are tremendous advantages to participating in trade shows — and opportunities abound if you've set your objectives, identified your expectations and have prepared as well as you can.

After all, business and trade expos are a good way to meet prospective customers and to demonstrate services and products face to face. Brand new products can be introduced to the public and to other business people as well.

Business-to-business contacts are made and mutually beneficial networking relationships are developed.

"Our goal is to bring business to the community and community to business," said Expo Chairwoman Shyrlee Prince. "In this day and age of sprawling areas and competition with major shopping malls, it's nice to do business locally."

"This area is growing so fast that it's important for businesses to support each other. We'd like the community to utilize business and businesses to utilize each other," Prince said.

Of course, preparation is key when it comes to designing and equipping a booth for the expo. An exhibit should be built around a product with a focus on the product — and it should be presented clearly for visitors.

Product demonstrations and showing visitors how to use the product is vital. A hands-on display can be very helpful and will get visitors involved in the product or service.

For instance, this year Lee Johnson, owner of Highland Montessori School, will be setting up a "mini-classroom" complete with Montessori-specific materials and activities for her exhibit.

"I learned a lot at the expo last year," Johnson said. "I learned to involve people instead of just standing there and handing out brochures or whatever."

Another experienced expo participant, Terri Webner of Webner and Associates, a desk-top publishing business, recommends "giving something away" to visitors, and not just informational pamphlets or booklets.

"You need to get something to give away such as pencils, pens, buttons or magnets that are printed with your name and telephone number. People will have something to remember your business," she said.

TIPS

A local expert offered these tips to businesses prior to last year's expo:

- Be well prepared.
- Always be ready and open on time.
- Do not sit down at your booth.
- Never eat at a booth.
- Don't leave your booth unattended.
- Make sure your booth looks attractive.

Source: Allan Barnes, Coaching for Service

Experts also suggest that participants dress for the occasion and conduct themselves in a business-like manner. And they should be ready to answer a lot of questions. After all, people come to expos to find out about new products.

Lastly, don't forget follow ups. Contact your new prospects right away and don't let those leads get cold.

Business groups make expo possible

Welcoming businesses and visitors to the Huron Valley Area Business and Trade Expo are the Highland Business Association, the Milford Business Association, the White Lake Business Association and the Huron Valley Area Chamber of Commerce, hosts of the event that will feature 117 booths from local businesses and service organizations.

The following is a brief introduction to each of the expo's sponsors.

HIGHLAND BUSINESS ASSOCIATION

The HBA, established in 1981, is headed by President Mark Greyerbiehl, owner of Five Star Supply. The association has grown from 25 members in its first year to more than 140 members today.

Greyerbiehl lists Numatics, which has just recently joined the HBA, as the group's largest member.

Some of HBA's notable activities include the senior breakfast, coordinated work with the Highland Goodfellows, the Harvest Ball Dinner/Scholarship Dance, the annual High Five run and an area business directory.

Its mission, Greyerbiehl said, is to promote working together to make Highland a better place to live and to work.

"That's our mainstay," he said.

HBA officers, along with Greyerbiehl, include Walt Rickens, past president; Andrea Spooner, vice president; Coreena Johnson, secretary; and Vicky Greyerbiehl, treasurer.

HBA Board of Directors are Shyrlee Prince, J.R. Henry, Ed Lynch, Al Shay, Kurt Kilroy and Dave Armstrong.

MILFORD BUSINESS ASSOCIATION

The MBA is headed by Cindy Jakey, who is serving her second term as president. Jakey is president/broker of Heritage Real Estate/Better Homes and Gardens in Milford.

The association, which Jakey describes as "a spin off of the Huron Valley Chamber of Commerce," has around 40 active members. The majority are Main Street businesses.

Most, but not all, MBA members are Huron Valley Chamber of Commerce members as well.

From the Ice Spectacular to Milford Memories, from the Car Show in September to the Candle, Can and Carol in December to involvement with Chamber sponsored events, the MBA is a very active group.

"We have something going on at least eight months out of the year," Jakey said. "And even if we aren't directly related, we're involved."

Quite simply, the association focuses on encouraging business in downtown Milford, Jakey said.

"Downtown Milford is alive and well," Jakey said. "It is a nice place to be. Most people pitch in and work together here and support each other. There's a homey, friendly feeling here."

Besides Jakey, MBA officers include Vice President Denise Sanborn and Treasurer Tom Motley. There is no formal board of directors.

WHITE LAKE BUSINESS ASSOCIATION

The WLBA, established four years ago, now boasts some 200 members — 65 who have joined in just the past few months, said President Jim Niemchek.

Interlakes Steel is the group's largest member, Niemchek said.

"We have a lot of good people working with us to set the cause, to set our mission," Niemchek said. "We're here to help business-to-business relations, promote businesses working with township officials and to present ourselves as a unified front to the community. We also recognize the importance of being involved in charitable efforts throughout the community."

Activities of the group include silent auctions to raise funds for various causes and the annual dinner dance. An awards ceremony is planned this year to honor township residents as outstanding contributors to the community, and two additional signs welcoming visitors to White Lake Township are to be erected soon, courtesy of the association.

Association Vice President is Nancy Stobart, Treasurer Catherine Hooper and Secretary Julie Rancour also lead the group. The board of directors are Merrill Taylor, Jim Niemchek Sr., Dick Kelly, Carol Burkard and Delores Hech.

"White Lake Township is a nice place to live and a nice place to do business," Niemchek said.

HURON VALLEY AREA

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The chamber is looking forward to another good year, said President Bill Brian.

Currently, there are 250 chamber members, 50 of which are new this year. Brian credits Dianna Morgan, the chamber's new membership director, with an increase in support.

"She's been instrumental in bringing in new members and telling our story of the many benefits of being a member of the Huron Valley Chamber of Commerce," he said.

Some of the chamber's larger members include Huron Valley Schools, General Motors Proving Grounds and Kelsey-Hayes.

Phyllis Motley, chamber secretary, said the organization works to provide information and to assist business people throughout the area.

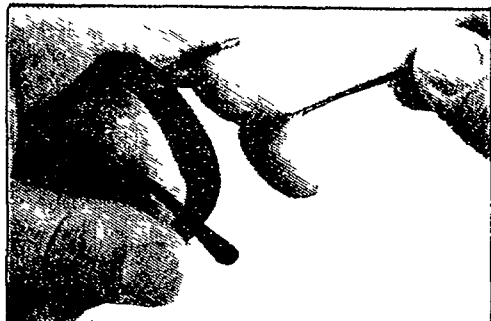

Last year, the chamber celebrated its 25th anniversary.

Among the larger events the chamber is involved with are Milford Memories, the Milford Christmas Parade, Citizen of the Year awards and the annual Dream Raffle.

Assisting Brian are the following officers: Lyle Tyler, vice president; J.R. Henry, treasurer and Phyllis Motley, secretary.

Huron Valley booms with new businesses

Local leaders 'optimistic' about growth in Huron Valley

By Aileen Wingblad

There's no disputing the facts: Huron Valley is booming these days as more and more business owners move to the area.

According to local business leaders, occupancy rates are high, business association memberships continue to rise and local governmental policies showing support for development prove evident of the healthy, thriving business climate throughout Milford, Highland and White Lake Township.

Much of the growth, of course, is related to the high rate of residential development found throughout the Huron Valley area. As residential sprawl continues, businesses are bound to follow, said Milford Village Manager Arthur Shufflebarger.

"Most active within our immediate area is retail development, which is directly related to our growth in housing," Shufflebarger said. "The development pattern Milford Township has chosen does not have roadway strip development (strip malls) — most retail centers are in the village.

Chef Brian Polcyn

"Certainly the heart of that is on Main Street, though we are seeing outcroppings on Commerce Road and Milford Road," Shufflebarger said.

"Probably the biggest thing happening right now is the start up of another new restaurant on Main Street and a new medical center on Union Street behind Main Street," he added.

And the outlook for the Milford area is good, Shufflebarger said.

"I'm very optimistic regarding the health of our downtown area. They (downtown property owners and merchants) have done a lot over the past few years to improve the facilities and appearance with streetscapes, decorative lighting, the addition of Center Street Park. They've made an investment there that is now coming to fruition," he said.

Shufflebarger's optimism is shared by Jim Niemchek Jr., president of the White Lake Township Business Association.

"If you want to invest money and invest in your future, White Lake Township is the place to be," Niemchek said.

"The growth here is going in the right direction — M-59 in White Lake Township is ripe for some heavy commercial development once a sewer system is installed," Niemchek said. "The commercial development will grow as the sewer system does. And the township leaders are pushing for this, too."

Yet, like the Milford area, White Lake Township is seeing plenty of residential development right now. Niemchek said it's somewhat "lopsided" with residential development ahead of commercial and retail, but that's likely to change once the M-59 corridor is developed.

"From an economic standpoint, we need to utilize M-59 to create a tax base for support," he said. "White Lake Township is blessed with recreation areas, but realistically that takes away from our tax base. M-59 can add to our tax base. We need to implement a strategy as such to utilize this. A good solid community lends itself to a good solid business climate."

Business leaders 'optimistic' about future

President Bill Brian notes there "isn't any real trend" right now, but retail space continues at near-capacity levels.

There is some indication of commercial growth, however, which is good news on the employment front since local people are hired most often. Also, service businesses such as lawn services, snowplowing and day care are on the upswing, Brian said.

"I think most of our needs have been met locally, retail-wise," Brian said. "But as far as services go, we are seeing a lot more of this type of business."

And is Brian optimistic?

"I believe we all have to be optimistic," he said. "Cautious, but optimistic."

Think "Green"

The color green is often associated with growth...money!

We've been part of the landscape for almost sixty years now, reminding neighbors that money really does grow faster here. That's because, as a very unique type of non-profit financial cooperative, we can usually offer better rates and charge fewer fees than other types of financial institutions.

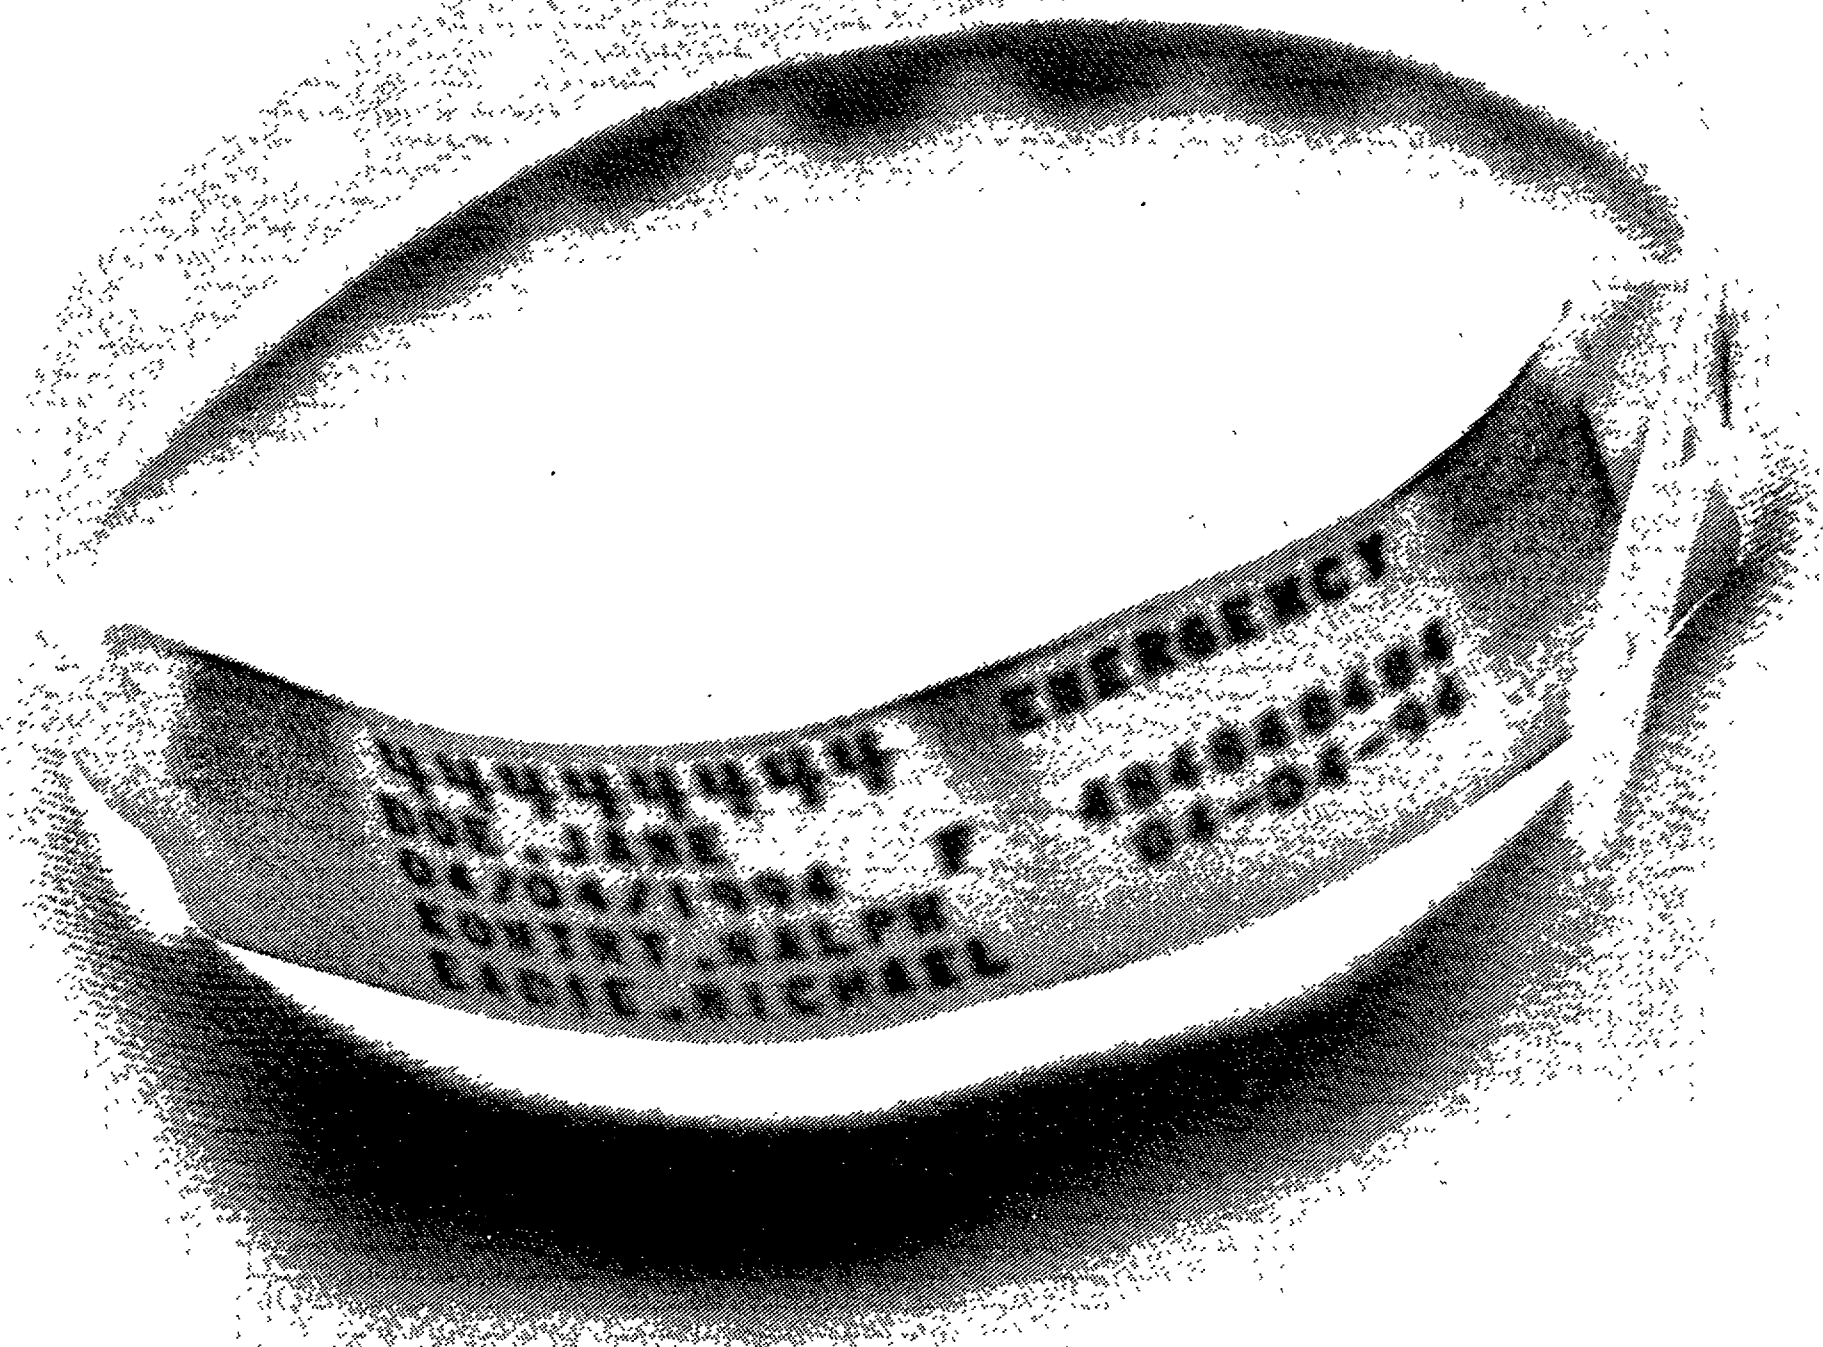

You, too, can become a member of Research Federal (even if you belong to another Credit Union, as well) as long as you are within our "field of membership". This includes specific groups, such as persons associated with various Chamber of Commerce organizations, many GM employees, and several others.

So next time you're looking for a better place to save or borrow money...open a low-cost checking account, or avail yourself of a full range of financial services, "think green", and think of us. Otherwise you may just be barking up the wrong tree!

Research Federal Credit Union
810 S. Milford Rd. Milford, MI 48381 ♦ (810) 685-1583

It may not be made of gold but wearing it will make you feel priceless.

Admittedly, the I.D. bracelets at Huron Valley Hospital are no different from those at any other hospital. But the care you receive while wearing one of ours is something quite out of the ordinary.

As a smaller hospital, we're able to see our patients as more than just x-rays or lab results. Which means you're always treated with care that's uncommonly personal.

Yet in another sense, we're actually quite large.

As part of The Detroit Medical Center, affiliated with Wayne State University, we offer resources much greater than that of a single hospital. Like a staff of specialists who are recognized throughout the world for their accomplishments.

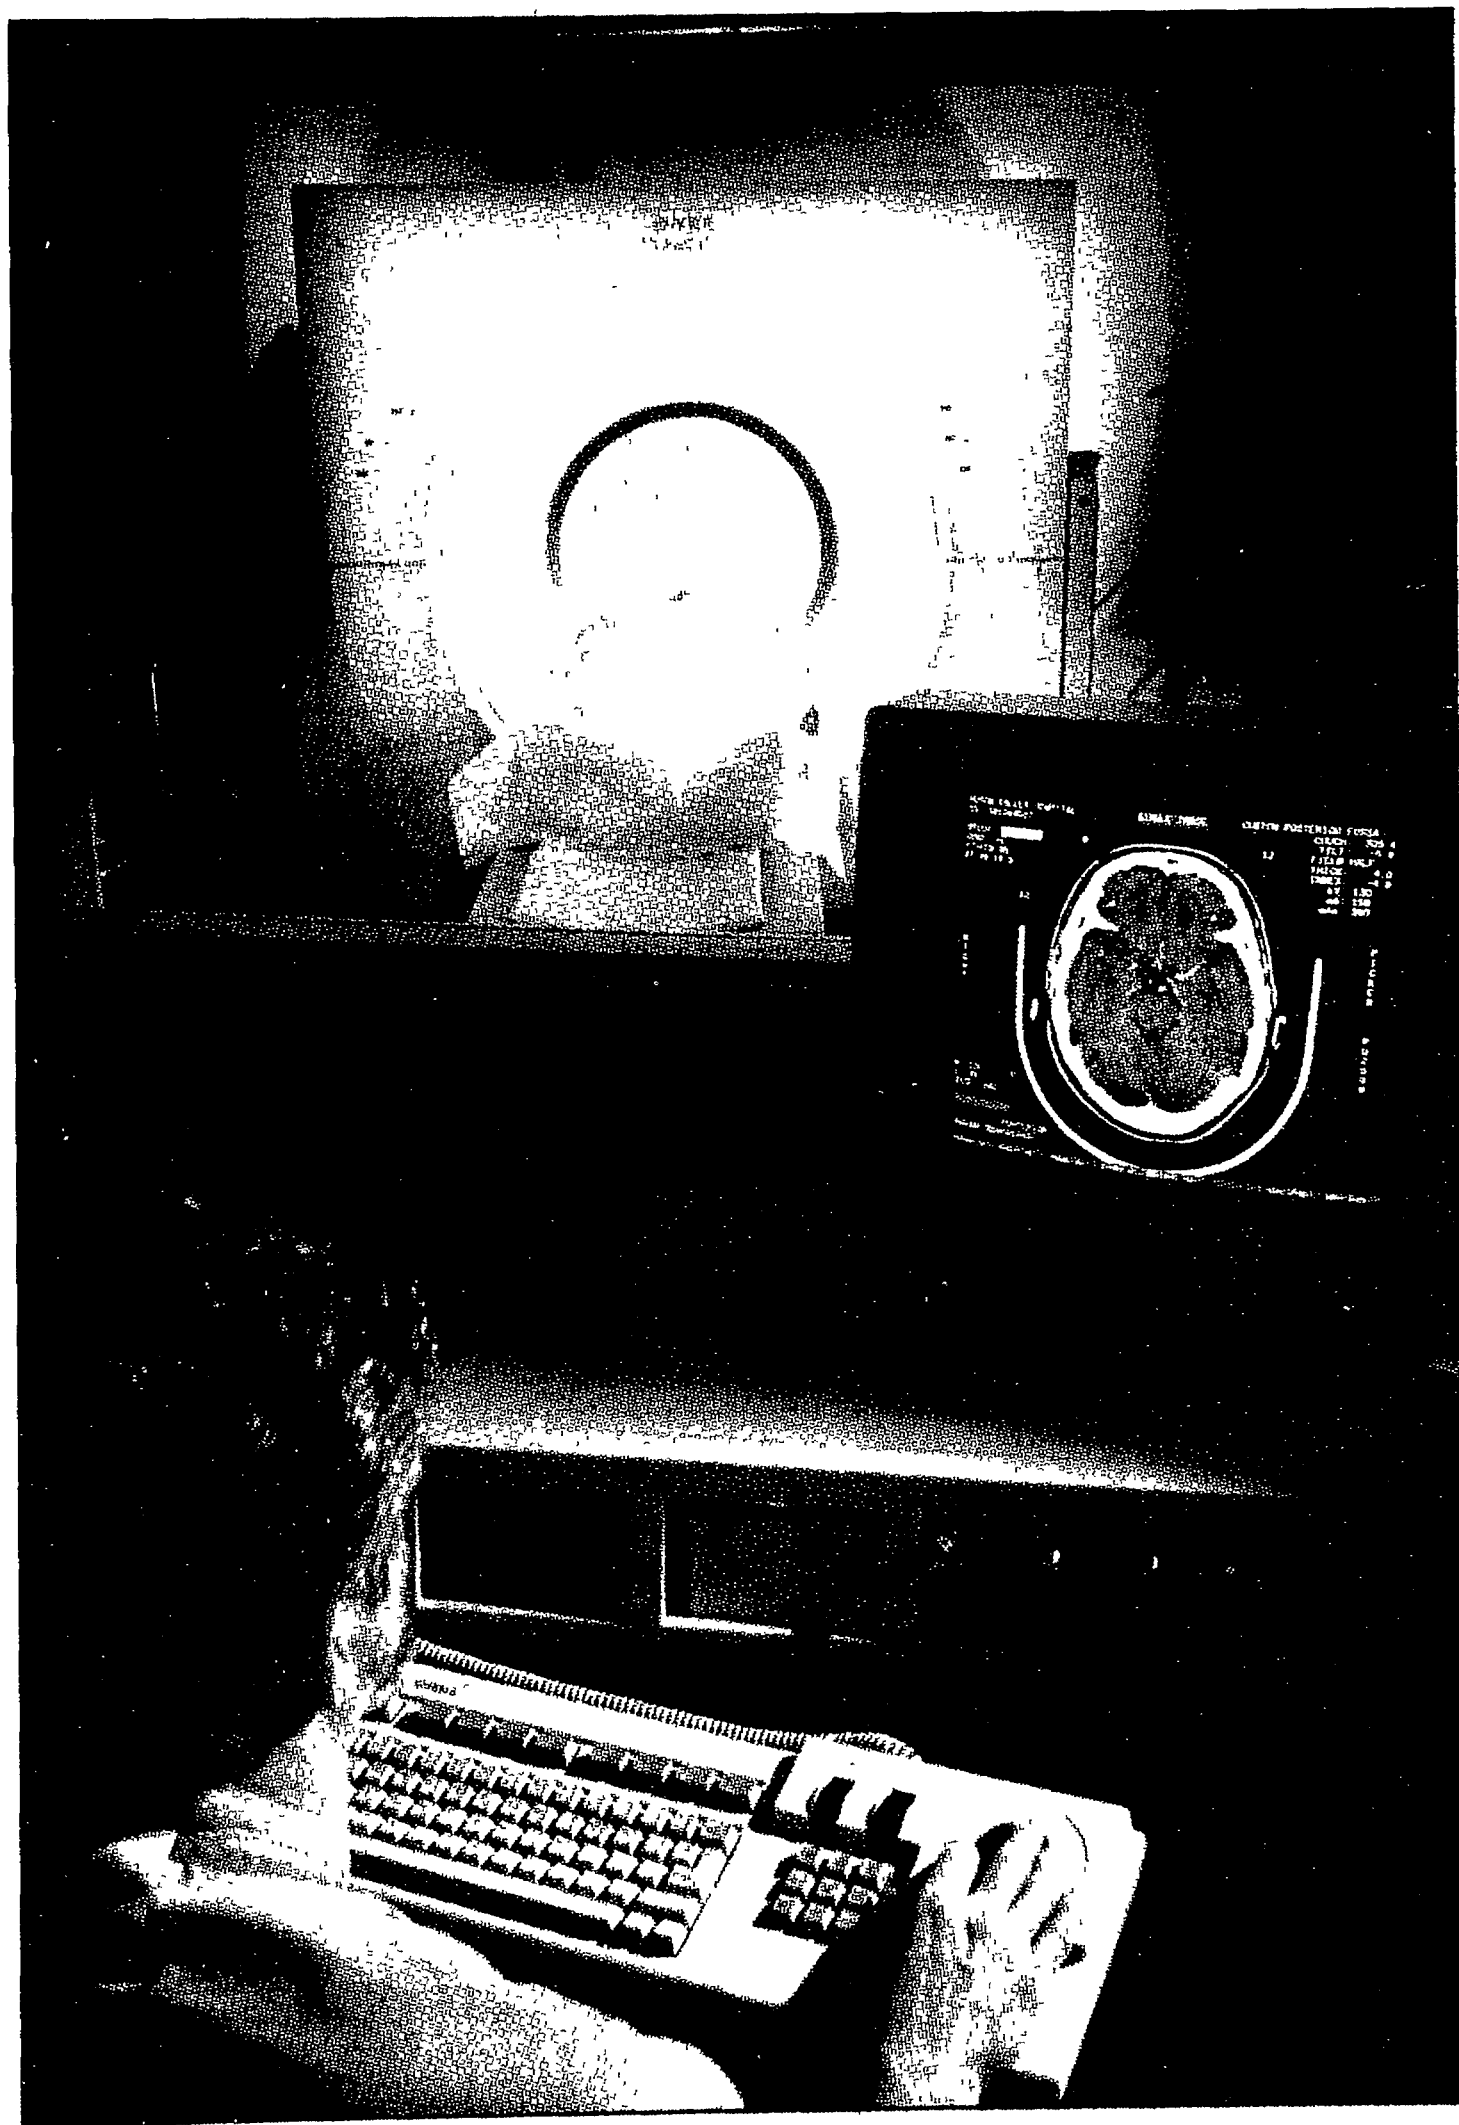

In short, when you wear our plain ordinary bracelet, you'll always feel like one-of-a-kind.

To meet with a Huron Valley physician, call (810) 360-3450. You'll see how easy it is to get the right care, right here.

President's Perspective

Dear Friends,

This Directory of physicians, services and information is provided to assist you in selecting a physician in the area and to introduce you to the health care services we offer.

Elliot Joseph

Huron Valley Hospital is experiencing an exciting time of growth and opportunity. We are pleased to offer some new services, including a Cardiac Catheterization Lab for diagnostic procedures and a Complete Care Nursery for babies needing special care. We recently opened the Marie Carls Unit for patients who need short-term observation and a Conference Center for continuing medical education and community health programs such as seminars, support groups and screenings. Our medical staff of over 470 physicians continues to grow.

We have recently completed our 10-year master site and facility plan. This plan details our future growth and development to ensure that we continue to respond to your expectations. Our next additions will expand our operating rooms and Maternal/Child department.

Throughout our growth, we have never lost sight of our mission, vision and values. Our strong primary care foundation, the personal attention we give every patient and our highly-qualified team of physicians and nurses ensure first-rate care for you and your family. Our patients also benefit from our relationship with The Detroit Medical Center (DMC) and Wayne State University. As part of this regional academic health system, we have access to internationally-recognized specialists and the most current medical advances.

Whatever your family's health care needs, our staff at Huron Valley Hospital is ready to serve you. We hope you enjoy this Directory and keep it near your phone should you need to call us or one of the physicians on staff here.

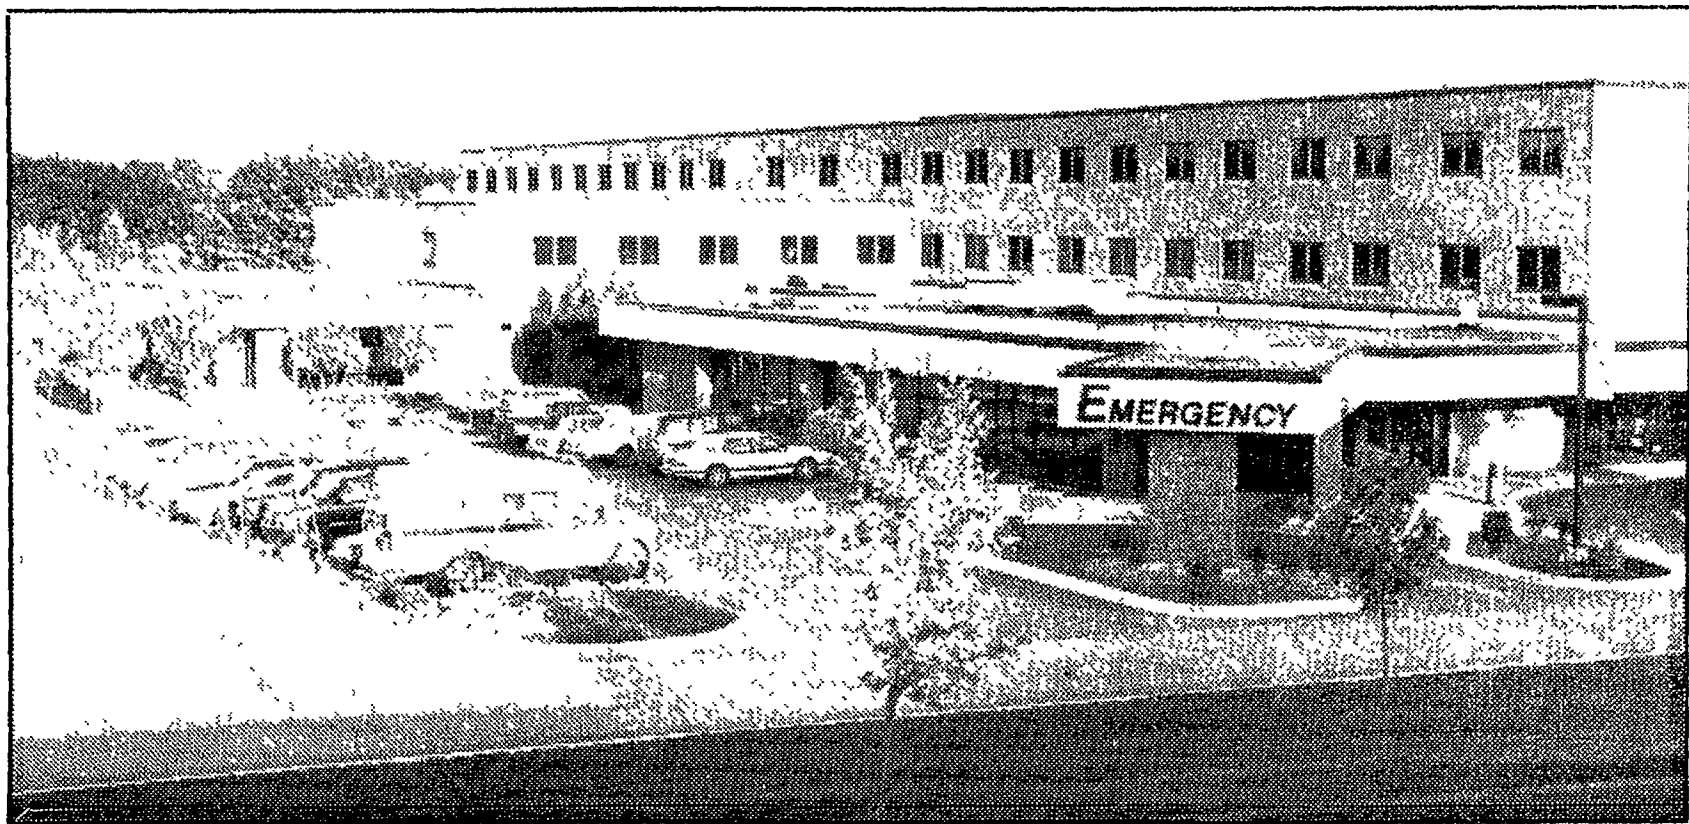

Cordially,

President

Dr. Kendrick named Huron Valley Hospital Physician of the Year

Harold Kendrick, M.D.

Harold Kendrick, M.D., chief of Family Practice, has been named 1994 Physician of the Year at Huron Valley Hospital.

Elected by the hospital's medical staff, Kendrick was presented with a plaque by the 1993 Huron Valley Hospital Physician of the Year, Pediatrician Marc Bocknek, D.O.

Kendrick has served as Chief of Huron Valley Hospital's Family Practice department from 1987 to the present. He was also medical director for the Occupational Health department from 1988 through 1994.

Kendrick worked diligently and was instrumental in establishing the family practice residency program affiliation at Huron Valley. He has also served on numerous medical staff committees and represented the medical staff interests on many occasions.

Born and reared in Little Rock, Ark., Kendrick began practicing in Pontiac in the 1950s. When the hospital opened, he served as chief of staff.

He currently practices Psychiatry from a Bloomfield Hills office. He and his wife Colleen live in Waterford. They have five grown children and 12 grandchildren.

MARIE CARLS UNIT OPENS

CARLS FOUNDATION GIFT MAKES NEW UNIT A REALITY

The new Marie Carls Observation Unit at Huron Valley Hospital was made possible with a $2 million grant from the Carls Foundation and its founder William Carls. The unit is named in memory of his first wife, Marie.

A toolmaker, William Carls immigrated to the United States from Germany in 1924 and founded Numatics Inc., in Milford in 1945. He established the Carls Foundation "as a means of giving something back to the community, State and country, and as an expression of his appreciation for the great opportunities which America has afforded him".

The 15-bed unit houses patients who require short-term acute observation while being monitored to determine the need for inpatient admission or discharge within a 24-hour period.

AUXILIARY BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Huron Valley volunteers perform a myriad of tasks at the hospital, such as answering telephones, serving at the Information Desk and delivering mail. In 1994, volunteers donated 24,522 hours to the hospital. These two volunteers work in the Cricket Shop, located just off the front lobby. Proceeds from the Cricket Shop are used to purchase equipment for the hospital.

COMMUNITY HEALTH

Participants at the February 1995 Heart Health Awareness Day received many free screenings as they learned more about their risk for heart disease and its prevention. Here, a Huron Valley nurse prepares to take a patient's blood pressure.

CRITICAL CARE

A physician, nurse and unit clerk work as a team to provide patient care. The highly-trained critical care staffers monitor patients from a centralized station in the 10-bed unit.

PHYSICAL THERAPY

As part of her physical therapy for a sprained ankle, this patient practices balance techniques under the supervision of physical therapists.

LABORATORY

A medical technologist performs a blood type in Huron Valley Hospital's Laboratory.

DMC Health Care Centers One-Stop Family Health Care

With four locations in the metropolitan area, DMC Health Care Centers are well suited to meet all of your family's health care needs. In addition to primary care physicians such as internists, family and general practitioners, pediatricians and obstetricians/gynecologists, we offer specialists in 30 medical and surgical disciplines.

On-site pharmacies, urgent care, extended evening and weekend hours, physical medicine and rehabilitation and laboratory and x-ray services are other conveniences provided for you and your family.

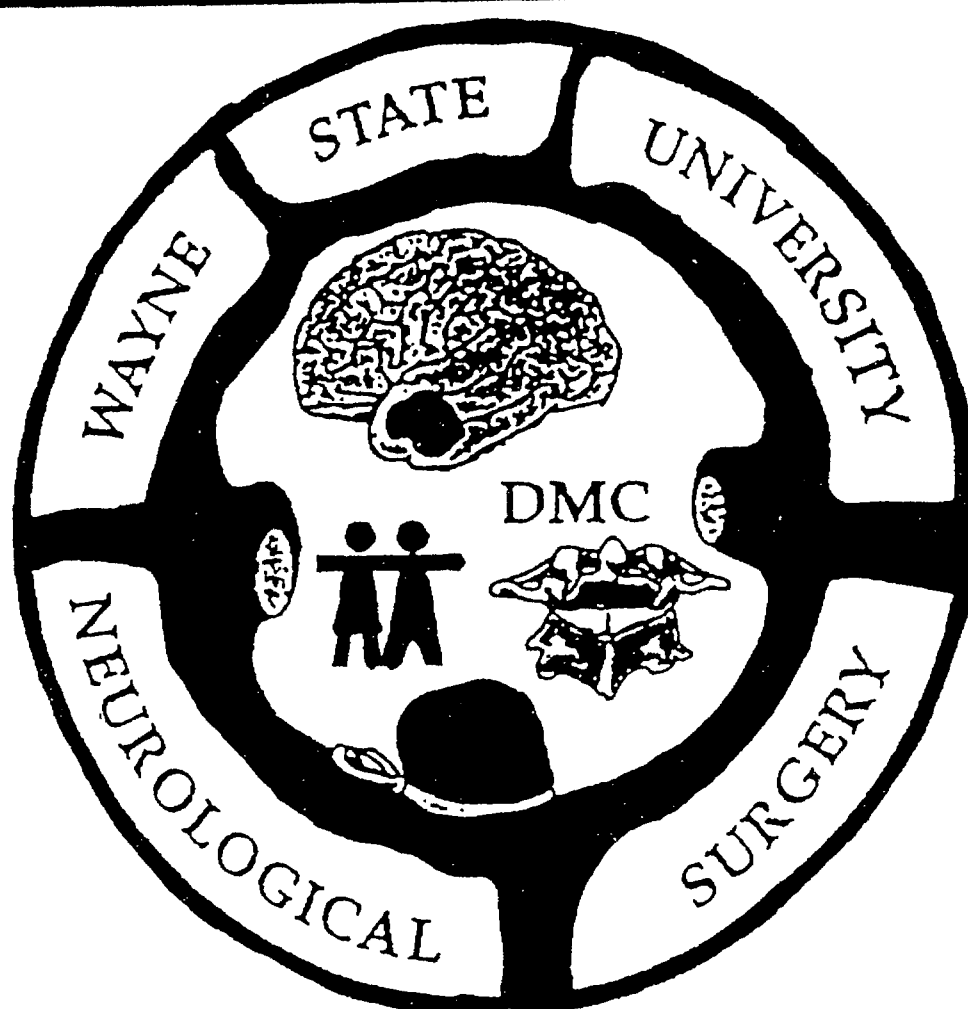

Each of our physicians is supported by the extensive clinical resources of The Detroit Medical Center, whose seven subsidiaries and hospitals (Harper, Hutzel, Children's Hospital of Michigan, Grace, Detroit Receiving, Rehabilitation Institute of Michigan, and Huron Valley) and an affiliation with the Wayne State University School of Medicine make it one of the premier health care systems in the United States.

If you or someone you know is in need of a physician, please call the DMC Referral Service at 1-800-666-3466 and ask for a DMC Health Care Centers' physician at any of our four locations.

Because your health is our top priority...

Dr. Yakub Pothiwala, Dr. Adelita Alcala, Dr. Paul Dake, Dr. Caroline Florescu

We have medical doctors who are affiliated with the Wayne State University School of Medicine join our practice for lengthy stays. While they are with us they see patients here at Huron Valley Family Practice Center and assist us with visits in your home if you should require that service.

Because of our affiliation with the medical school of Wayne State, our physicians have access to the resources of the country's seventh largest medical school - and that benefits you, our patient.

Yakub Pothiwala, M.D., Adelita Alcala, M.D., and Caroline Florescu, M.D., are three of the six current associates that are working with our full-time staff physicians, and they look forward to meeting you during your next visit to our medical center.

What You Should Know about Breast Cancer

- ✿ One in every nine women will develop breast cancer sometime in their lifetime.
- ✿ Good News-When detected early, survival rate is well over 90% for patients with breast cancer.
- ✿ The American Cancer Society recommends an initial mammogram by age 40 (earlier in some cases).
- ✿ More good news-If abnormalities are found on mammograms, there is an innovative technique available at Women's Breast Centers. When indicated, a non-surgical Stereotactic Biopsy is faster, less painful, 75% less expensive and does not disfigure the breast.

At DMC Health Care Centers we're committed to women's health

And, as a team, we share the same goal, keeping you healthy through each stage of womanhood. From early teens to childbearing age to menopause, together we will plan your well-woman care and any course of treatment.

Our experienced, board certified obstetricians, gynecologists and surgeons, skilled in the most advanced procedures, work together with our nurse practitioners and certified nurse midwife to provide you with the most comprehensive women's health care available. We also offer a wide range of programs and on-site services including infertility, high risk pregnancy, menopause management, mammography and ultrasound.

DMC Health Care Centers' physicians are backed by the extensive clinical resources of The Detroit Medical Center and its leading hospitals — Harper, Hutzel, Children's, Grace and Huron Valley.

Our patients know that they are part of a team committed to women's health. For more information or a physician referral, call 1-800-666-3466.

WORKING TOGETHER AT HVH

OPEN MRI SCANNING EXCLUSIVELY AT MRI OF SOUTHFIELD

The capability to scan claustrophobic or oversized patients in a noiseless open setting.

At last, the capability to perform MRI scanning on patients suffering from claustrophobia, or those previously considered "too large" to undergo MRI is available through the revolutionary Ultimate MR scanner, featuring the "Open Gap" exclusively at MRI of Southfield. Scanning can now be performed comfortably, in an open, low barrier setting.

To assure the latest in open MRI technology, MRI of Southfield has recently installed the most open scanner in the state, known as the "Ultimate" which produces MR scans of astonishing quality in a comfortable, noiseless environment, the only sound our patients hear during scanning is from the built-in stereo/CD player.

At MRI of Southfield, we share in the concern for patients, you can be certain quality and expediency of service will always be our top priority.
