Township hall rocked by alleged gun threat

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

A Detroit teenager, angry because he believed Northville Township police mistreated his mother after arresting her for shoplifting, allegedly threatened to kill several people in Township Hall one week ago.

No one was hurt but the episode shook up township employees and may lead to building security improvements at the building. Meanwhile, DeAndre Siebert, 17, is behind bars, facing a charge of misdemeanor assault.

The April 19 bombing of the Murrah

Federal Building in Oklahoma City has made the security of government buildings and the safety of municipal employees a hot topic of conversation in recent days.

The events that took place April 27 at Township Hall, located off of Six Mile, brought that same kind of apprehensiveness to many township employees, who, nonetheless, declined to discuss the incident.

Manager Tamara Hanlin, who was not at Township Hall when it occurred, said that the event was disturbing but probably would lead to a beefing up of security arrangements for the building.

"I think that everyone's awareness of their safety was brought to light," Hanlin said. "I think the employees are concerned. The positive aspect to come out of this is that we are looking at several alternatives to improve the security of the work environment at Township Hall."

Director of Public Safety Chip Snider said that he, Hanlin and members of the board of trustees are reviewing a set of recommended improvements but declined to discuss specific changes under discussion.

Teen denies violent intent

By RANDY COBLE

DeAndre Siebert, the 17-year-old Detroit resident accused of threatening to kill several people at Northville Township Hall one week ago, admits he was angry but denies he threatened anyone.

Siebert said he got mad after his mother, arrested by township police for shoplifting the night before, told him she had been "roughed up" during her arrest.

Kimberly Siebert, 32, of Detroit, is accused of stealing $700 in merchandise from the Meijer store at Eight Mile and Haggerty on April 26.

Store detectives said they called township police after seeing Siebert put a color TV and two VCRs into a shopping cart and then leave Meijer without trying to pay for

Library Cady site approved

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

It's said that democracy is often the art of compromise. The Northville City Planning Commission put that principle into practice Tuesday night.

On a 6-1 vote members of the commission gave final approval to the proposed site plan for the new Northville District Library building. The two-story building is slated for the north side of Cady Street on a spot slightly southwest of Northville City Hall.

The green light came despite a variety of concerns that several commissioners and some members of the audience voiced about the proposal, particularly its parking plan and what will happen if the library ever needs to expand.

When all was said and done, however, it seemed that just about everyone felt the plan was the best available agreement.

"Despite my concerns I know I have to compromise," City Council member Charles Keys, the commission's council liaison, said. "There's a part of me that's for it. There's a part of me that's against it. Where I am now I don't know. I do know, though, that we do all have to compromise."

Library officials said they hope to win all remaining city and school district approvals before May is out. Construction would begin in late June and the new library would open for business in the fall of 1996.

The library's proposed parking plan calls for using mostly existing spaces that lie south and west of City Hall and south of the Northville Community Center and nearby school buildings. City planning consultant Don Wortman signed off on the plan.

Wortman said that he agreed with the numbers that came from a traffic study put together by library building committee volunteers which concludes that sufficient parking exists in the plan for everybody most of the time.

Several commissioners expressed doubt about that, but in the end said they could live with the design and some possible remedies to relieve parking overcrowding.

Emily Gardner, a new U.S. resident and now the daughter of Jan and Lee Gardner, delights in her mother's attention.

Much-traveled tyke finds new home

Local family gets gift from Russia, with love

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

When little Emily Gardner celebrated her birthday last March, the 12-month-old infant had already done more traveling than many people 50 years older than herself.

One year earlier, Emily was born as Alexandra in Moscow, Russia, and was admitted to an orphanage shortly thereafter. On March 4, almost one year after her birth, Emily's life took a happy 180-degree turn as Jan and Lee Gardner became her adoptive parents and took her to their home in Northville.

Two months after her homecoming, an outsider would never guess that Emily is a new addition to the Gardner family, charting the territory of her new home on all fours with eager curiosity.

She crawls over to her older brother Brian, who is watching cartoons. Shakiy, Emily uses the chair he is sitting in to stand up and yelps some untranslatable baby talk to him. Brian, engrossed in his television show, ignores her. Emily, however, is not easily discouraged. She pats him on the knee to get his attention and continues to talk to him.

City millage heads upward 4.9% hike foreseen

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

When first introduced to Northville City Council members last month, the city's 1995-96 fiscal year budget was expected to include a 2.6 percent overall decrease in the millage rate.

After a month of pulling apart numbers and individual departmental budgets, however, city residents will face a maximum of a 4.9 percent millage increase this year.

The increase is necessary, officials say, to fund some "essential city services, including road and sidewalk repairs and other services."

Before the city adopts next fiscal year's budget, it must hold a truth in taxation hearing, in order to approve the proposed 1.12 millage increase over the originally proposed budget.

The hearing will be held May 15 at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall. In addition to the truth in taxation hearing, the council will conduct a public hearing on the budget before adoption. The council expects to adopt the millage increase at its regular meeting May 22.

By law the city must conduct the truth in taxation hearing if the proposed operating millage exceeds 12.30 mills.

What does this mean for the average homeowner?

- Under the current millage rate, a home with a taxable value of $150,000 (meaning a market value of approximately $300,000) would have received a tax bill of $1,875 this year.

- Under the current proposed millage hike, the same home would receive a $2,013 tax bill - a $138 increase over last year.

The overall proposed millage rate for the city's $4.3 million budget is 16.74 mills. The original figure was 15.55. The current year's operating and debt millage is

Students from Agnetz, France, found a lot that interested them in downtown Northville.

French students enjoy discoveries

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

The Northville community experienced an invasion of sorts last week - one that builds friendships and international ties.

Twelve students from Agnetz, France, a small town north of Paris, took Northville by storm when they arrived April 25 for a two-week stay with volunteer host families.

The jovial, enthusiastic and often rowdy group of teenagers has relished every moment of their stay, singing French songs wherever they go and finding fervent fascination in such things as

Hill to 'come alive' with music during play

Something special takes place this weekend at Northville High School.

On Thursday, May 4, the house-lights will dim and the curtains will open and stage lights will come up, as the auditorium is filled with The Sound of Music.

Probably the world's favorite Broadway musical of all time will play for four performances, May 4, 5 and 6, at 7:30 p.m., and May 7, at 2:30 p.m.

Presented by the Northville High School Theater Department, this special musical has been in rehearsal for several months with Gary E. Storm as stage director and choreographer, assisted by Amanda Hallberg, and Mary Kay Pryce as vocal director, and Mike Rumbel as orchestra director.

Over 80 students are involved in this production from acting and singing and playing instruments to building sets, hanging lights, painting billboard and sets, to selling tickets and ushering.

Recently, the movie version of The Sound of Music celebrated its 30th anniversary, having won the Academy Award for best film of 1965. But in 1959, it had won the Tony award for Best Broadway Musical.

And why shouldn't it, with such memorable songs by Rodgers and Hammerstein as "My Favorite Things," "Edelweiss," "Do-Re-Mi," "Climb Every Mountain," and of course, the title song.

In the Northville production the role of Maria Rainer (Von Trapp) is played by the versatile Beth Patterson who audiences will remember as Flona in last year's production of Brigadoon.

New to the musical theater is Andy Comb landing the prestigious role of Captain George Von Trapp. Other principals are Melissa Sparks as Mother Abbess, Andy Weiss as Max, and Kara Lloyd as Elsa.

The Von Trapp children are also very special. They are played here by Colleen Audet as Liesl, Rick Galan as Friedrich, Andrea Morrow as Louisa, Sean Rossiter as Kurt, Kati Pryce as Brigitta, Megan Gilshire as Marta and, last but not never least, Nika Frimenko as Gretl.

Also featured in the cast are Justin Lee as Rolf, Kristyn Dunnaback as Sister Bertha, Beth Julien as Sister Margaretta, and Dana Rossiter as Sister Sophia. Katie Kohl plays Frau Schmidt and Jordan Brun appears as Franz.

And what would The Sound of Music be without Nuns? Well, they're here. The order includes Sarah Arndt, Katie Bondy, Becky Engle, Judi Fischer, Nena Galan, Laura Genitti, Beth Hallberg, Melanie Helmer, Chrissy Kapusky, Lindsay Kennedy, Abbie Kneisel, Amy Kohl, Rebecca Montgomery, Aitu Pham, Mary Rivard, Erin Thomas, Rhonda White, and Lisa Wisniewski.

Rounding out the cast are Bernie Tomsa, Moritz Essinger, John Swanson, Katie Johnson, Nick Barnes, Marty Leftwich, Dan Toole and Scott Galea.

The technical director for The Sound of Music is Mike O'Brian, the head of construction is Tim Beemer, the head of paint is Ben Adis, the head of tickets is Erica Whicello, and the head of lighting is Matt Fararo. Costumes are in the capable hands of Judy Patten.

For reservations call 344-8420, or buy tickets at the box office from 2-3 p.m. or one hour prior to showtime, provided tickets are still available.

Committee has big plans for Fourth of July

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

A new community organization wants to make Northville's celebration of America's 219th birthday the best this town has ever seen - and it's looking for your help.

Celebrate Northville is a newly organized public service charitable group. Its volunteers are handling the planning for this year's Fourth of July festivities, including the annual parade, a classic car show, a concert and that long-missed favorite, a fireworks display.

Although July 4 sounds a long way away, it's actually just 61 short days down the road. Celebrate Northville is asking community service organizations, businesses and residents to pitch in and help work on the entire Fourth of July slate of events.

At the top of the list of needs are donations to help raise the estimated $19,000 necessary to pay for the proposed slate of events. Celebrate Northville is also looking for volunteers to work on organizing the events, sending out correspondence to participants, fund-raising, advertising, decorating the town the night before the parade and workers to help on the day of the parade.

If you want to be in the parade itself keep in mind that the deadline for registration is June 1. The following categories will receive awards in the parade: marching band; junior marching group; equestrian; cars; clowns; business/float; theme entry float; senior marching group; animal group; non-profit group; and special entry.

The parade is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. at Northville Downs on July 4. The classic Jaguar car show will take place at the Downs that afternoon. A concert featuring the Schoolcraft College Woodwinds Ensemble will precede the fireworks display, which begins at dark.

Those interested in being in the parade or volunteering to help can contact Karen Woodside at 347-1919 or send a stamped self-addressed envelope to Celebrate Northville, P.O. Box 5258, Northville, 48167, for an application.

Got the car wash blues? Let SADD do the work

Motorists can kill two birds with one stone this weekend by getting the dirt off their cars and by contributing to a worthy cause.

The Northville High School chapter of Students Against Driving Drunk will hold a car wash this Saturday and Sunday at Sam's Club on Grand River and Haggerty in Novi.

The event is planned for 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Sunday.

Free-will donations will be accepted from customers.

All proceeds will be used to pay for self-esteem speakers at the high school.

After providing a comprehensive health check, vaccinations, sterilization and a 15-day health guarantee, we realized that the only thing preventing his adoption was us.

(Now open evenings and weekends.)

To be more specific, our new hours are Wed.-Fri., 12 p.m.-7:30 p.m. and Sat.-Sun., 10 a.m.-4:30 p.m. in Rochester Hills and Westland. In Detroit, Tues.-Sat., 10 a.m.-4:30 p.m. So if you're thinking about a pet, call us at (810) 852-7420.

VFW honors local officers and firefighters

By LEE SNIDER
Editor

They know both the satisfaction of saving lives and the hopelessness of losing them, and on Sunday their dedication and hard work were recognized.

Three local police officers and two firefighters received Officer of the Year awards from the Northville Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 4012 on April 30.

Each year the post honors officers from the Northville city and township departments, as well as a trooper from the State Police Post at Northville. Firefighters from the city and township departments are also singled out for special recognition.

This year's honorees were:

- Northville city police - Officer Dustin Krueger.
- Northville city firefighter - Tim Conklin.
- Northville Township police - Officer Kevin Bias.
- Northville Township firefighter - Todd Lincoln.
- State Police - Trooper Paula Lutz.

Officer Krueger, a native of the Thumb community of Ubly, has worked with the city police department since October of 1993. Initially hired on in a part-time capacity, he advanced to full-time status only one month later, in November 1993.

According to his supervisor, Captain Jim Petres, Krueger served as a firefighter in Bingham Township before becoming a police cadet in Taylor.

The 25-year-old officer earned an associate's degree from Delta College and graduated from the same school's academy in April 1993. He took his firefighter training in Caro, another Thumb-area city.

"He's young, eager, hard working and dedicated," Petres said of Krueger.

Krueger was commended recently for arresting two suspects leaving McDonald Ford in a vehicle that had been stolen from another Ford dealership.

City firefighter Tim Conklin is a veteran of the city fire department. Fire Chief Jim Allen said, except for a brief period when he left the department, Conklin has served the city since 1982.

Conklin is certified in Firefighter I and II and is an emergency medical technician (EMT). In addition, he has received course instruction in flammable liquids, incident command, automated defibrillator application and helicopter landing.

Allen said a letter on file with the department credits Conklin with saving the life of a traffic accident victim. The letter was written by grateful family members.

"He is a dedicated person," Allen said. "He's a real asset to the department."

Conklin is one of 28 paid-on-call members of the Northville Fire Department.

Northville Township Officer Kevin Bias has served with the department since December 1990.

According to a memo from Lieutenant Gary Batzloff, Bias has been "the most productive officer on the department on five separate occasions," and has been recommended for or received six department commendations.

Recently, Bias was cited for his life-saving work with victims of an apartment fire in the township.

"Officer Bias has demonstrated the ability to have a good rapport with citizens and the command staff as well as his co-workers," the memo said.

He earned an associate's degree from Schoolcraft Community College and a bachelor's from Central Michigan University.

Conklin is one of 22 paid-on-call members of the township fire department, according to Chief Bill Zmenda. The department also staffs five full-time personnel.

State Police Trooper Paula Lutz has served as a state trooper since 1982, transferring to the Northville Post in June 1991.

trooper at the Northville Post, whose primary mission is freeway traffic patrol.

"Paula devotes a lot of time to answering the questions of the younger officers," Lieutenant Shelby Slater said. "She knows all the motor vehicle codes and she's in top shape. Her appearance is always impeccable."

Lutz is one of nine female troopers at the post, which staffs roughly 45 officers.

The road patrol function of the Northville Post is expected to move to Oak Park this fall. Only the criminal lab and fire marshal operations will remain.

Northville Township Public Safety Director Chip Snider said the effort of VFW Post 4012 and its Auxiliary to provide annual recognition for officers and firefighters is a great morale booster.

"This event helps strengthen our commitment to professionalism," he said. "It's always very well received."

Police News

Police look for man in possible abduction attempt

A 9-year-old Northville girl reported to Northville city police that a strange man approached her April 29 and asked her if she would like "to come to his house."

The incident happened after the girl had been riding her bike with a friend in the area of Allen Drive and Canterbury Lane. The two girls separated before the man, driving a white and brown van, approached the girl.

Once the man approached her and asked her to come to his house, the girl ran. She told police that he yelled something at her as she ran away, but she is unsure exactly what he said.

The man is described as in his late 20s to early 30s with straight, brown collar-length hair. He was wearing a white T-shirt at the time of the incident. The van he was reportedly driving was white and brown and possibly a Volkswagen model. The girl said the vehicle had a white license plate, possibly from Ohio; the report stated.

An officer patrolled the area but did not find the vehicle. Other children in the neighborhood reported seeing the van in the area.

ATTEMPTED SCAM: A Northville Township homeowner nearly became the victim of some suspected scam artists last Monday.

The woman, a Six Mile Road resident, told township police that three Latino men in a black van offered to seal coat her driveway for $21.95. The woman agreed and they went to work. About halfway through the job a neighbor questioned the men about the cost and they told her they charged $21.95 a gallon of sealant. Upon being told that the police had been called the men left the area without finishing the job or collecting any money.

BUILDING MATERIALS STOLEN: Someone stole $724 in plywood sheets, glass blocks and cedar shingles from an under-construction home lot in the WindRidge subdivision at Seven Mile and Haggerty on April 18. Township police are investigating.

FRAUD: Township police arrested a Home Depot employee for credit card fraud last Tuesday.

The Seven Mile and Haggerty store's security manager contacted police after completing an investigation of the matter. She told police that a Depot cashier, a 20-year-old Detroit woman, took several customer credit cards. One was used by a male accomplice to buy a compressor at the store, the manager said.

A computer check showed two outstanding warrants from township police for the woman due to unpaid traffic tickets. After processing, she posted bond and was released. The woman faces a hearing on May 16 in 35th District Court.

DRUNKEN DRIVING: Township police arrested a 30-year-old Livonia man for drunk driving last Wednesday.

The reporting officer said the suspect was traveling east on Seven Mile west of Haggerty behind the man's 1993 Plymouth Voyager at about 2:15 a.m. He said the minivan swerved repeatedly before he stopped it.

The man exhibited signs of intoxication, the officer continued, and admitted to consuming "a few drinks" that evening. He failed field sobriety tests and was arrested.

Breathalyzer testing at police headquarters later showed him to have a blood alcohol level of .26 percent, more than two and a half times the legal limit. He was held until he sobered up and faced a hearing yesterday in 35th District Court.

LARCENY, OBSTRUCTION: Township police arrested a 30-year-old Detroit woman for shoplifting at Meijer last week and later charged her with obstructing a police officer. Store detectives said they saw the woman put three packs of cigarettes in her jacket and a phone in her purse and then leave the store without trying to pay for them. The items are valued at $86.

The woman allegedly gave township officers a fake name when arrested, one which was found to have no record after a computer check. The woman later gave her real name, police said, and was cited for obstruction. She faces a hearing on both charges on May 17 in 35th District Court.

OUIL: A 25-year-old Ypsilanti man was arrested for drunken driving after he performed a left turn through a red light at the intersection of Novi and Eight Mile roads.

After completing the turn, the man struck the dirt shoulder of the road and was pulled over by a Northville city police officer soon after. As the officer approached the man, he heard him say, "I know I shouldn't have had those last two beers."

The man spoke in a slurred manner and his eyes were bloodshot. The man failed a number of field sobriety tests and registered a .13 percent blood-alcohol level.

The man was released after posting a $100 cash upon sobering up.

A preliminary examination has been scheduled for May 3 at 35th District Court in Plymouth.

MDOP: A Northville resident, reported to Northville city police that a window on her Mercury Tracer had been smashed out April 27 while the vehicle was parked at the recreation center.

The window cost about $250 to replace. Police have no witnesses or suspects at this time.

MDOP II: A 54-year-old Northville man reported to Northville city police that his Chevy Corsica suffered about $150 in damage while parked at the Shopping Center Market on April 25.

The man entered the store and upon returning, he found several scratches on the hood of his car.

If you have any information about the above incidents you are urged to contact the Northville city police at 349-1234 or Northville Township police at 349-9400.

Township, state have court date

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Northville Township and the state of Michigan will settle their differences over double bunking at an area prison in front of a judge later this month.

In April the township board of trustees ordered attorney Jim Tamm to ask a Wayne County Circuit Court judge to hold the Michigan Department of Corrections (DOC) in contempt for violating a 1991 court order.

That order required the DOC to enforce a 1986 law which capped at 500 the inmate population at the Western Wayne Correctional Facility, located on Five Mile Road in Plymouth Township.

The DOC went above the cap last month after the state Legislature and Gov. John Engler amended the 1986 law, increasing the cap to 775 prisoners.

Tamm filed the request late last week. He said Monday that a hearing on it has been scheduled for May 19.

Before that date, however, representatives of the Michigan Attorney General's office, which will represent the DOC, say they'll file a formal response to the request. It will ask the presiding judge to throw the case out of court, Chris DeWitt of the Attorney General's office said.

"The court order required the Department of Corrections to be in conjunction with the state law. The fact remains that the law has changed. It's our position that this is the last action in this action," DeWitt said.

He explained that the state believes that it can't be expected to abide by the order because the law on which it's based has been legally changed.

The 1986 law's April amendment followed failed talks between the township and the state aimed at winning township approval of the plan to double bunk at Western Wayne.

Most of the time local officials have little or no say about population increases at the prisons in their communities. Western Wayne is a different case, however, because of the court order, which came about after the township filed suit against the DOC after the 1986 law was passed.

Lansing in February offered concessions to get the board to agree to allow the cap hike. The trustees, however, proposed other concessions which state officials rejected. Instead, they passed the amendment which in turn led to the board's April 13 decision to take the matter to court.

Man reports suffering gunshot wound while driving down 8 Mile

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

A Northville Township man was shot Saturday night while driving on Eight Mile Road between Silver Springs Drive and Haggerty Road.

But just who fired at least four bullets at Kurt Edward Potysch - and why - remain unanswered questions.

Potysch, 36, suffered gunshot wounds to his arm, neck, ear and cheek as a result of the April 29 incident. He is now recuperating at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor and is in stable condition.

Township police said that Potysch's recollection of the shooting is hazy, adding that he can't remember even exactly where on Eight Mile it took place. Investigators continued to work on the case this week.

"Investigative leads are being actively pursued," township Detective Fred Yankee said.

Potysch is a resident of Savoy Court, located off Lake Success

Drive, which runs east-west between S. Main Street and Silver Springs Drive. He told police that shortly before midnight on Saturday he decided to drive to the Taco Bell restaurant on Haggerty Road north of Eight Mile for a meal.

He never made it. Soon after turning onto eastbound Eight Mile from Silver Springs, Potysch "heard a loud bang, almost like a bomb going off and he saw that he was bleeding," police reports quoted him as saying.

Investigators later found at least four bullet holes in the 1989 Chevrolet Astrovan that Potysch was driving. The van belongs to his fiancée, Norma Jean Herbst, and also suffered three shattered windows.

After he realized what had happened, Potysch continued, he turned the van around and drove home. His head began to spin and he became very dizzy, he added, and he doesn't know how he managed to make it back to his house.

"I must've been on auto pilot," reports quoted him as saying.

Herbst said Potysch's calls for help from the front hallway of the home awakened her from sleep. She told police she found him on his knees near the front door, bleeding from several areas of his body.

Potysch said he passed out when he took off his coat and saw blood pumping from his arm. Herbst then called 911.

Both Potysch and Herbst said they could not think of anyone who would want to hurt him. Potysch added that he didn't remember seeing any other cars on Eight Mile at the time of the shooting, describing the road as "deserted."

Police scoured the suspected area of the shooting for evidence or witnesses but to date have come up empty. Anyone with information about the incident is asked to contact Yankee or any township police detective at 349-9400.

James Naigus, a second grader at Thornton Creek Elementary, Anthony Serge, a sixth grade student at Cooke Middle School, and Liz Thomas, an Amerman Elementary fifth grader, won awards for their creations for the Michigan PTA Reflections competition.

Talented trio win awards in PTA Reflections contest

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

The emergence of a famous artist, composer or writer does not happen overnight. It begins at a young age when a child expresses his or her creativity and cultivates it.

Northville Public Schools may very well have at least three students who are on their way to creative greatness.

These three students - sixth-grader Anthony Serge of Cooke Middle School, fifth-grader Liz Thomas of Amerman Elementary and second-grader James Naigus at Thornton Creek Elementary - all won honors for their creations at the Michigan Parent Teacher Association Reflections competition in April.

Approximately 6,700 students from 209 schools across the state competed in the competition in the contest's four categories: visual arts, music, literature and photography.

The competition began back in January when each of the district's schools held its own competition. The school winners went on to the state competition.

James Naigus not only won a first-place award for his original piano composition, he won an honorable mention at the National Reflections competition. Not all first-place winners at the state level move on to the national competition, they are hand-picked by the PTA judges.

James' mother Jan said she is very proud of her son's accomplishments.

Anthony Serge won first place in the special education division for his science fiction short story.

Liz Thomas won second place for her watercolor painting "Dare to Discover a New Generation."

The students were honored for their accomplishments at the state PTA convention in Traverse City at the Grand Traverse Resort last weekend.

More than 500,000 students across the country participate in the contest each year.

The competition first started in 1969 in an effort to promote the arts and allow students to express their creative abilities.

Mill Race Matters

Mill Race Village is off and running for another memorable summer. Last weekend area residents met for the annual plant exchange as volunteers met for lunch to discuss docent opportunities. Elementary school groups have once again begun their spring visits to the village. Weddings begin in a few weeks.

Docents will reopen the village on Sunday, May 28, and every Sunday afternoon thereafter until October. The village is also open from 11 a.m.-4 p.m. on July 4, and Saturday and Sunday during Northville's Victorian Festival.

Volunteer guides who assist in opening the village and the buildings are called docents. More workers are always needed for this interesting and useful responsibility. If you missed the docent luncheon and would still like to be involved call 348-1845, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m.-1 p.m.

The Village's Stone Gang resumes exterior work after a winter crafting bird houses and tool boxes. Their handiwork will be on sale in the village country store on Sundays.

Work this spring includes some porch repair and some paint touch ups. The Archives Committee continues to meet on Wednesday morning from 9 until 11. Documents related to community history are being processed so that future researchers will be able to locate materials of relevance to them.

Last week's column discussed Daniel Cady, his family, and his homestead. Many others contributed to the early community. This week and the next several will feature those who moved into the area, but not the small unit which served as the village.

The Thayer family obtained deed to their first property in Northville on Sept. 9, 1825, in Section 18. That property is bounded by Six Mile Road, Five Mile Road, Napier Road and Ridge Road. The northern half of this unit made up the Thayer farm. That land grant was signed by then-President John Quincy Adams and exists today in the Northville Historical Society Archives.

Rufus Thayer Jr, the first landowner, married Hersiloria Utley, Oct. 19, 1827, in the newly formed Farmington Presbyterian Church. The Utley family also owned land early in this community's history.

Peabody Utley and wife Seraphina Hildreth Utley came to the area from Vermont.

The Thayer family remained prominent in the community until the middle of the 1970s. Hiram married Almira Wheeler, the daughter of another early settler. Rufus Hildreth, another offspring, received an AB, AM, LLD and LLB, the last from Columbia University. He was an early graduate of the University of Michigan serving in 1870-71 as its assistant librarian. He also served as a judge in the U.S. Court for China and for a time had law offices in a variety of large U.S. cities.

One of Hiram's children, William, later became superintendent of the U.S. Fish Hatchery at Northville. That facility operated first privately and later as a U.S. government agency from the 1870s until the 1940s or '50s. It was located where today's Hatchery Park can be found.

One of William's daughters, Louise, married Carl Bryan, an official in the community just prior to the village's change in status to city. Louise saved family correspondence, documents, and photographs which now form a substantial collection within the community archives. Much can be learned about the family and about this area's early history by researching the memorabilia of one family.

More about early settlers next week.

Senior housing project plans continue moving forward

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

For Northville seniors who would like to consider moving into a retirement village but shudder at the prospect of leaving Northville, there may be a solution.

Local business owner Chuck Lapham is in the process of bolstering a list of interested parties in his newest business venture, Church Street Place — a luxury retirement community to be located downtown.

"There are a lot of people who have roots here that go way back," Lapham said. "People want to stay here."

The complex will be a member of Presbyterian Villages of Michigan, a non-profit organization that provides a range of services for senior citizens, from independent to assisted living and full nursing care.

That the proposed new complex will be located downtown with easy access to Northville's shops and restaurants, is an especially attractive aspect of Church Street Place, said Roger Myers, president of Presbyterian Village.

"Typically people are saying they don't want to give up their communities," Myers said.

The local board of directors for Church Street Place will be holding two informational meetings to answer questions on the proposed townhouse complex and Presbyterian Village: Sunday, May 7, at 7 p.m. and Monday, May 8, at 7:30 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, 200 E. Main St.

Lapham purchased the 12,000-square-foot plot of land at the corner of East Cady and Church streets back in November from the city. Northville officials awarded Lapham the sale based on the concept of the complex and its potential benefit to the community.

Proposed is a four-story building with 12 townhomes. Indoor parking would be located on the lower level and homes in the upper three levels. The 1,700-square-foot townhomes will cost $210,000 for interior units and $220,000 for outer units. The homes will include two bedrooms, two baths, living rooms, balconies and laundry accommodations with options of a jacuzzi, marble foyer or marble fireplace.

Before Lapham can begin financing for the building, he must have a list of 24 prospective buyers who will present a $100 refundable down payment.

Although the timetable is not set in stone for the project, which will cost an estimated $1.9 million, ground breaking is slated to begin in early fall this year and be completed during the summer of 1996.

Anyone who knows or has spoken with Lapham before, knows a major driving force in his life is to find businesses that provide a service to Northville residents. His commitment to the community prompted him to embark on the venture, he said.

As part of the project, Lapham plans to form a moving committee that would assist residents in moving their furniture and belongings from their homes to the complex.

If Lapham does not receive at least 24 prospective buyers, he said he plans to return the property to the city.

"If this doesn't bear fruit, then we'll simply give the city back the property," he said.

As part of Presbyterian Villages of Michigan, residents would have access to physical therapy, prepared meals, laundry and maintenance services for those who need it.

The organization has five retirement villages in the area, including sites in Redford, Westland, Holly, New Baltimore, Pontiac and two under construction in Clinton Township and Detroit.

Residents must be at least 60 years of age and there is no religious requirement for occupancy.

CITY OF NORTHVILLE NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING TAXES

The City Council of the City of Northville will hold a public hearing on a proposed increase of 1.12 mills in the operating tax millage rate to be levied in July of 1995.

The hearing will be held on Monday, May 15, 1995, at 7:30 p.m. EDT in the Council Chambers of the City Hall, 215 W. Main Street, Northville, Michigan.

It is expected that the City Council will take action on the proposed additional millage on May 22, 1995 after conducting a budget hearing on the adoption of the 1995-96 city budget on May 15, 1995.

If adopted, the proposed additional millage will increase operating revenues from ad valorem property taxes by 9.1 percent over such revenues generated by levies permitted without holding a hearing. If the proposed additional millage rate is not approved, the operating revenue will increase by .6 percent (six tenths of one percent) over the preceding year's operating revenue.

The total millage rate proposed for the 1995-96 fiscal year, including operating and debt millages, is 16.74 mills, an increase of 4.9% over the total millage rates for such purposes levied in the previous year.

The City of Northville has complete authority to establish the number of mills to be levied from within its authorized millage rate.

The Mothers' Club Goals Committee — consisting of Linda Handyside, Sue Nix and chairperson Jackie Payne — decided how to allocate the organization's contingency fund.

Mothers' Club decides how to divide allotment

By CAROL WORKENS
Staff Writer

The Mothers' Club Goals Committee met recently to discuss the allocation of its year's monetary allotment.

"We try to keep it as something the kids will benefit from," Committee chairperson Jackie Payne said. "Something that will help the children with their education and enrichment."

The funds distributed include $2,000 from the contingency fund for special requests, $5,000 for the high school, $2,500 to each middle school, and $2,000 to each elementary school.

The Goals Committee approved the high school's request for a loop system for the science department and lab packs for computers to measure numerous experiments for use in biology, chemistry and physics.

At the middle school level, the request from Cooke Middle School for a Geiger counter for the science department was approved along with cultural enrichment videos

FUND DISTRIBUTION

- 2,000 for special requests
- $5,000 for the high school
- $2,500 to each middle school
- 2,000 to each elementary school for the foreign language department at Meads Mill.

Amerman Elementary School will receive three simulations of history and culture of the North American Indians, American Colonization and Pioneers, along with mark boards, big books and bags.

Several laser video discs for the media center were approved for Silver Springs Elementary School.

The request for Lego tables for the kindergarten classes at Winchester Elementary School was also approved by the Goals Committee.

One of the classrooms at Thornton Creek Elementary School will receive materials to create a raised bed for gardening.

Various schools will receive dictionaries and books for each child in third grade.

"We try to get something for the departments which were not included last year," Payne said.

"If we get grade level requests we try to help them," Payne said. "We are interested in something that directly helps the students."

"Between all of us our schools are very fortunate," Payne said of the efforts of all the booster clubs, PTAs and the Northville Mothers' Club.

House says no to unfunded federal mandates

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Michigan inched toward the goal of halting unfunded federal mandates when the House unanimously adopted Rep. John Jamian's budget bill.

"We're going to decide whether to accept them," said Jamian, R-Bloomfield Township. "It's our choice. But the feds now say, 'do it or we'll sue you or cut your aid.'"

The House adopted House Bill 4061 last week on a 101-0 vote and sent it to the Senate. If passed, it will amend the state's Management and Budget Act to prohibit the Legislature from appropriating state funds for programs mandated by the federal government that are not federally funded.

"We're the first state in the U.S. to do this," said Jamian. "We're trying to do this all over the U.S. There are 194 federal mandates. The 12 largest cost Michigan $400 million."

We like to get to know our patients on a first-name basis. Even before they have a first name.

Being a smaller hospital definitely has its advantages. It allows us to spend more time with you, from the moment you discover you're pregnant to the day you and your new baby leave for home.

However, in many respects, small is the last thing you'd call us. Because as part of The Detroit Medical Center, affiliated with Wayne State University, we offer the experience not only of our own obstetricians, but of many other noted specialists—including those who've pioneered the field of high-risk pregnancy.

From our educational programs to our Complete Care Nursery with a full-time neonatologist, our goal is to make your pregnancy as trouble-free as possible.

Which means the only thing you need to concentrate on is choosing the perfect name.

'Player's' burglar sentenced

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

A Northville teenager convicted of burglarizing the Player's Choice arcade last year will spend the next five years of his life behind bars.

Aaron Raymond Morrison, 19, was sentenced to five to 15 years imprisonment by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Jeffrey Collins last Wednesday. Because of his conviction as a habitual criminal offender Collins ruled that Morrison will not be eligible for early release, meaning he will serve at least five full years.

The fate of two other men, one of them a Northville resident, accused of participating in the Aug. 14 break-in will be determined one week from today.

Player's Choice is located on Seven Mile in the Highland Lakes Shopping Center. Northville Township police accused four men of the burglary: Morrison; Joshua Prescott Cogo, 22, of Howell; Bradley Michael Hatfield, 18, of Brighton; and Scott David Buda, 18, of Northville.

All four were charged with three counts each of safe breaking, a felony that carries a maximum penalty of life imprisonment. Cogo and Morrison were also charged with being habitual offenders. Prosecutors ended up dropping that charge against Cogo but not against Morrison.

Hatfield in February agreed to plead guilty to a lesser charge in return for testifying against the other three men. In April Morrison pled guilty before Collins to all four counts against him.

Morrison became emotional during his April 26 sentencing, tears coming when Collins voiced his decision. During the proceeding Morrison told the judge that he was "heavily" using marijuana and cocaine during the time he committed the burglary, arguing that the drugs had affected his actions.

Collins ruled that since Morrison is a habitual offender he will not be eligible to earn "good time" and a subsequent early release.

Those in prison can get time knocked off their sentences for obeying the rules and by participating in counseling or educational programs. Morrison, however, will be required to serve at least five full years. His original sentence can be increased to 15 years if he breaks prison rules or is convicted of other offenses while behind bars.

Meanwhile, the charges against Buda and Cogo are still pending.

In April they pled guilty before Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Harvey Tennen and are scheduled to be sentenced on May 11. However, the two may decide to take advantage of a legal procedure which allows criminal defendants to plead guilty to a charge, learn what a judge's sentence will be and then decide whether to accept it or reject it and demand a trial.

Northville police, both township and city, say they're concerned that Tennen may give the two, particularly Buda, light sentences.

Commission OK's Cady site

Three were proposed during the meeting, all of which aim to prevent parking shortages during "special events," Wortman said. Those are anything from a Hand-crafters show at the Community Center to the regular happenings conducted at the nearby MAGS building.

Wortman recommended that the library, schools and city develop a joint parking management plan, one which would have employees and Handcrafter exhibitors park in satellite lots during maximum-use events.

Other moves could include increasing the number of spaces in the partially city-owned parking lot on the northeast corner of the intersection of Wing and Main Streets and to establish new spaces behind the Northville Senior Citizen Center on the south side of Cady.

A second major area of discussion dealt with the library's future expansion. Most at the meeting agreed on two things.

The first is that it's very possible that Northville's population will eventually outgrow the library's ultimate capacity. Some said that may not happen and nearly everyone seemed to feel that it won't happen for at least 10-15 years, if it does at all.

The second is that if that does happen, expanding the proposed library building will be virtually impossible. That worried Commissioner Jay Wendt.

"I just hate to see something put someplace and we have nowhere to go with it. We're locked into a parking structure and we can't get out of it. Maybe it's OK now but what about three years from now," Wendt said.

Library officials said that the proposed building would meet Northville's needs for at least the next 10-15 years without an expansion. If and when the times comes, they added, a practical alternative is to open up a satellite library elsewhere in the community.

They added that the Cady site was still the best choice for the library despite the expansion issue because of two things Northville voters made clear last year: one, that a 25,000 square foot facility was the most they were willing to pay for and two, that they wanted the library in downtown Northville.

CITY OF NORTHVILLE NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING 1995-96 PROPOSED CITY BUDGET

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held on Monday, May 15, 1995, at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 215 W. Main Street, for the purpose of receiving testimony and discussing the proposed 1995-96 City Budget.

PROPOSED 1995 MILLAGE RATES. The following statements are provided, as required by State statute, concerning the 1995 proposed millage levies for the City of Northville.

The 1995 tax rate for the City Operating Millage is proposed to be 13.42 mills, reflecting an increase of 0.92 mill from the 1994 Operating Tax Rate of 12.50 mills. The City Council has authority under the City Charter to set the Operating millage rate within the maximum allowed rate of 15.41 mills, as adjusted by the Headlee rollback formula.

The 1995 levy for the Street Reconstruction Program, which involves a bond issue approved by the voters in 1986, and a second bond issue approved by the voters in 1990 is proposed to be 2.88 mills, compared to 2.99 mills in 1994, a decrease of 3.7%.

The 1995 levy for the Randolph Drain Project is proposed to be 0.44 mill, compared to 0.47 mill levied in 1994, a decrease of 6.4%.

The total City millage for both operating and debt is proposed to be 16.74 mills in 1995, compared to 15.96 mills levied in 1994, an increase of 0.78 mills or 4.9% more than the total levied in 1994.

ANTICIPATED EQUALIZATION FACTORS. The 1995 equalization factors for both Wayne and Oakland County are expected to be 1.00 for all classes of property. DELPHINE C. GUTOWSKI, CMC

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on May 17, 1995, at 7:30 o'clock p.m. DST. at the Board Room, the Board of Trustees of Schoolcraft College will hold a public hearing on the levying in 1995 of an estimated additional proposed millage rate of .0534 mills for operating purposes pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982.

The Board of Trustees has the complete authority to establish that 2.27 mills be levied in 1995 from within its present authorized millage rate.

The maximum additional proposed millage rate would increase revenues for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1994 otherwise permitted by Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982, by an estimated two and nine-tenths percent (2.9%).

The figure for increase in revenue for operating purposes is based on the latest estimate of state equalized valuation of property located within the College District. In the event that state equalized valuation as finalized is for any reason higher than the estimate used for this hearing, the Board of Trustees must hold another public hearing before levying millage on any higher valuation.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony and discuss the levy of an additional millage rate. Not less than seven (7) days following the public hearing, the Board of Trustees may approve all or any portion of the proposed additional millage rate.

This notice is given by the Board of Trustees.

Adopted baby resembles her new mom, brothers

other side of the world and she looks like she is related to us," Jan said. Emily's light brown hair and fair complexion do mirror those of her two brothers, Brian, 6, and Kevin, 9.

Jan's and Lee's decision for international adoption came after their name sat on a waiting list for more than six years at the Adoption Cradle in Battle Creek.

The wait for the couple, who cannot have children of their own, became frustrating after the adoption of their first two sons took a considerably shorter period of time.

The prospect of domestic adoption has undergone changes in recent years that make it more difficult for couples to parent orphaned children, said Jan, who has been active in the field for a number of years and who serves as a field representative for International Family Services, the agency through which Emily was adopted.

"Fewer birth mothers are choosing adoption because being a single mother is more accepted in society today," she said. "And of those who chose adoption, there is a preference to chose a family before even going to an agency."

The process of adopting Emily began Aug. 1 for the Gardners and seven months later, they brought her home. The adoption cost approximately $15,000, which paid for paperwork and application fees, Emily's orphanage and the personnel involved.

At first, the prospect of traveling to Moscow with its intimidating, austere setting gave a case of the nerves to Jan, who doesn't like to travel much anyway, she said.

But looking back now, the couple's four-day stay in the country from March 1-4, was well worth the emotional roller coaster.

"It was an emotional and nerve-racking experience," she said. "But now that it's all over, I think it wasn't that difficult. We're lucky to have her."

Emily's orphanage had about 70 children in it, with the infants often spending most of the day in their cribs.

"The orphanage was very clean, very nice. But the children did not get a lot of attention," she said.

When she was taken home, the time Emily had spent in the orphanage was evident as she barely crawled or talked at first. She was also underweight at 15 pounds and gained a pound a week for the first month she was home, Jan said.

Her almost uncanny cheeriness - she laughs and giggles constantly - has remained in place, as Emily's development has raced forward.

"On the plane home, she kept smiling at me and looking at me like, 'Aren't we having a good time?'" Jan said.

International Family Services has adoption programs in areas throughout Russia in addition to Bulgaria, Vietnam, China, Rumania and Moldova, with different laws applying to each. Russia is the organization's largest provider - 57 children from the country were adopted by American parents last year.

There are three stages parents must go through in international adoption:

1) Prospective parents must complete immigration paperwork, which takes about 8-10 weeks. Parents are fingerprinted at this time and must submit such information as birth certificates and social security cards.

2) Home study - Parents must complete application forms and answer questions like why they want to adopt a child, philosophies on discipline, family history, etc. The home study is completed by a licensed state adoption agency and parents meet with a social worker three times with at least one visit in the home.

Emily likes pogs, a current craze, but tends to chew on them rather than play with them.

Applicants must have notarized letters of recommendation, pass police criminal checks and must present such information as driver's licenses and marriage licenses.

3) Enter into a formal contract with the adoption organization and finalizing paperwork.

Although sifting through the paperwork and requirements can be an arduous task, the time is well worth it, Jan said.

them. They claimed that Siebert also stole a pair of shoes, concealing them in her purse as she left the store.

Before a police car arrived, however, the detectives continued. Siebert put the items into 1985 Pontiac Sunbird, then got in the car and it drove off. The Sunbird headed east on Eight Mile and then south on the I-275 expressway, the detective said. Township police followed, stopping the Sunbird near the eastbound I-96 expressway on-ramp.

Siebert's 15-year-old daughter was driving the car, the reporting township officer said. Also in the Sunbird were the electronics products and two of Siebert's other children, a 15-year-old boy and a four-year-old girl, the officer added. Police also say they found a compact disc player, cassette tapes and underwear in the car, merchandise they believe may have been stolen from a metro-area Kmart.

Police reports said Siebert at police headquarters claimed that she'd been "roughed up" by one officer as he took her purse from her shoulder during her arrest. The reports note that Siebert had a "puffy" area under one eye. Another officer on the scene in his report, however, said that the officer in question took the purse "firmly but gently" from Siebert's shoulder, denying any harsh treatment had taken place.

Siebert's mother picked up the children at police headquarters early Thursday morning. DeAndre Siebert came to Township Hall to pick up his mother a little before 11:30 a.m. and found himself under arrest a short time later.

Township workers shaken by alleged gunman threat

Siebert's mother, Kimberly, was arrested the evening of April 26 on charges of shoplifting from the Meijer store at Eight Mile and Haggerty roads. She spent the night in a cell at police headquarters, located inside Township Hall.

Siebert, driven by a friend, came to Township Hall to pick her up, arriving at about 11:30 a.m. on Thursday. By that time she'd been released from police custody but was still in the building's main hallway, waiting for him.

Witnesses said - and Siebert himself admitted - that he quickly became angry. He said it was because his mother told him that she'd been "roughed up" by township police during her arrest (see related story).

"You (police) aren't the only ones with guns," one witness quoted Siebert as saying. "We got guns, too."

"I'm going to shoot all these motherf---ers in here," another witness said Siebert yelled.

A township employee told police that Siebert at one point turned to her and said: "What are looking at, b---h? I've got a gun. I'll kill all the motherf---ers in here."

According to witness statements, Kimberly was trying the whole time to get Siebert to leave Township Hall, which he eventually agreed to do. They got into Siebert's friend's car and the green Ford Explorer then left the area, heading east on Six Mile.

Meanwhile, a witness to the incident went to the police department's front counter and informed the dispatcher on duty of what was happening. Five township officers drew their guns and went to investigate. Some went out the station's front door and into the main hallway while others left by the back door to circle around to the front of Township Hall.

The officers spotted the Explorer as it was leaving the parking lot and piled into a police car to give chase. The Explorer pulled off the road before reaching Haggerty and Siebert was taken into custody less than three minutes after leaving Township Hall. Kimberly and the driver of the Explorer were not arrested.

Police did not find a gun on Siebert's person or in the vehicle.

At his April 28 arraignment Siebert told 35th District Court Magistrate Eric Colthurst the police had the story wrong.

"I didn't threaten nobody," Siebert said. "I was mad but I didn't threaten nobody."

Colthurst entered a not guilty plea for Siebert and set the teen's bond at $5,000/10 percent cash, which means he has to post only 10 percent of the total amount ($500) to be released. To date Siebert has not made bond and remains in the Wayne County Jail. He faces up to 90 days in jail and/or a $500 fine if convicted.

Colthurst also ordered Siebert not to return to Township Hall. Doing so would be a violation of his bond leading to his arrest.

City millage takes upward turn

15.96.

The proposed operating millage is now set at 13.42 mills. The original proposal had the millage rate at 12.23. The current year's operating rate is at 12.50 mills.

Discussions of the millage increase began when the city learned that it would not be able to buy Michigan Transportation bonds to help fund street and sewer repairs for a much-needed project on Sherrie Lane and Jeffrey Drive.

Currently, the council is considering creating a special assessment district to help fund 29 percent of the some $392,000 repair costs to the area.

The 27 households affected could be paying about $93,599 to help finance drainage repairs and sidewalk replacements. But in order to purchase the bonds to fund the remaining cost of the repairs, the special assessment district must be at least 50 percent of the project.

City council members decided that having homeowners pay for half of the project would be an unreasonable burden — thus the millage increase.

At the council's April 17 meeting, about 35 irate residents of Sherrie Lane and Jeffrey Drive voiced opposition to the special assessment district, saying they did not stand to benefit from the proposed repairs. Residents also said the city should be solely responsible for the road and sewer system's dilapidated state.

At that meeting, the council decided to hold off on creating the special assessment district to further investigate the situation. A continuation of the public hearing has been scheduled for Monday, May 8, at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall.

In addition, the council decided to add .08 mill to codify the city's ordinances. This is a project City Clerk Delphine Gutowski has wanted to embark on for a number of years. The codification would put the ordinances in a understandable and logical order and would eliminate duplicate language.

In addition, .07 mill was also added into the budget for a one-time cost of living increase for retired city employees. The increase is a 15-year commitment of $13,917 each year.

Also added to help fund the recently re-initiated sidewalk improvement program was .01 mill. The program was put on hold in 1991 after the city fell into a deficit situation because of the state's decision to withhold race track revenues.

City Manager Gary Word said the .01 mill will help get the program back on its feet. However, residents should not expect to see a vast number of sidewalk repairs in the near future.

The budget also reflects a .027 mill decrease to account for the Northville Public Library's new district library status. Before voters approved the new status and 1 mill for operating costs last May, the city and township funded the library jointly.

Beginning today, complete copies of the budget document will be available for public inspection at the city clerk's office during regular business hours. A limited number of copies will be available to be checked out for review for residents at home. Call the city offices at 349-1300 for more information.

Maybury Park News

Maybury State Park is open daily from 8 a.m. until dusk. A state park motor vehicle permit is required for entry into the park. Additional information about programs or facilities may be obtained by calling the park office at 349-8390.

FARM STORIES: Maybury Farm will once again present Farm Stories for Children age 2-6 on the first weekend of each month. The first program in the series, "Sheep Tales," will be on Saturday, May 6, at 11 a.m., and repeated on Sunday, May 7, at 3 p.m.

We will read several stories featuring sheep followed by a wool craft activity. Meet at the Demonstration Building in front of the farm.

FARM FACTS: Dairy goats may produce 2-6 quarters of milk per day. Their milk is more easily digested than cows' milk. In many countries, goats' milk is made into fine cheeses such as roquefort and feta.

NATURE NOTES: For several weeks now, you may have heard the various sounds of different frogs and toads near ponds of shallow water. Each species has its own call to attract a female of its own kind. Soon, the females will lay eggs in the water which will hatch into tadpoles a few days later. The tadpoles feed mainly on algae and other plant material as they grow and begin to develop into their adult form.

GETTING BACK ON TRACK

The pain that many people experience in the fronts of their knees is usually a symptom of patellofemoral syndrome, or "kneecap grind." The problem is rooted in the fact that the kneecap (patella) does not glide properly in its groove at the end of the thighbone (femur). This is usually caused either by a badly fitting kneecap or muscle imbalance. As the kneecap pulls to the side or rides too high on the thighbone, it may grind away at cartilage to produce inflammation and pain. Aside from taking aspirin or ibuprofen and wearing a knee sleeve, those suffering from patellofemoral syndrome can enlist the help of the physical therapist to remedy the condition with muscle-strengthening and alignment exercises.

At Northville Physical Therapy & Rehabilitation Inc., patients are instructed in adaptive methods and home exercises that focus on improving muscle strength, function, and coordination. Individualized treatment programs are outlined for a variety of patient problems including sports and orthopedic injuries as well as neurological disorders such as stroke and traumatic brain injuries. Our staff works closely with referring physicians and provides timely initial evaluations and routine progress correspondence. To schedule an appointment, call 349-3816. We are located at 332 E. P.S. According to one study, patellofemoral syndrome accounts for 11 percent of the musculoskeletal complaints heard by family doctors.

Our Opinion

Good showing on state report not the end-all

Could reports about the quality of education in the Northville School District get any better? Of course they could, but they're sterling all the same.

As reported in a front-page article in last week's Northville Record, the results of the state's accreditation procedure were released in April and four of the eight Northville buildings received the highest designation possible - something called "summary" status.

What that means is that the buildings fully comply with three different state regulatory mandates and had at least 66 percent of their students scoring at or above satisfactory for three straight years on the Michigan Education Assessment Program tests.

The shining stars were Amerman and Moraine elementaries, and the two middle schools, Cooke and Meads Mill.

Three other buildings, Silver Springs and Winchester elementaries, as well as Northville High School, were given interim status. Schools with that designation may or may not be in compliance with the three state mandates and had 51-65 percent of their student populations making at least satisfactory scores three consecutive years on the MEAP.

The eighth building in the Northville district, Thornton Creek Elementary, is new this year and doesn't have a MEAP track record. As a result, it received a designation of "no status."

All of that might not sound greatly impressive until you give it some perspective. Consider: There are several school districts covered by the six publications in the HomeTown newspaper chain of which The Northville Record is a part, and only one of the others - Novi - had more than one building with summary accreditation.

To further the comparison, Livonia and Walled Lake received no summary accreditation ratings, Farmington Hills had two and Plymouth-Canton one.

Now there are two ways of looking at this. On a comparative basis, Northville is a superstar, outdistancing many of its peers. On the other hand, three of the district's seven buildings - almost half - fell short of making the highest grade.

This is similar to the situation where the incumbent politician was reelected with 75 percent of the vote. When asked how he felt about besting his opponent by such a wide margin, he answered: "I'm not happy. Twenty-five percent of the people prefer the other guy."

That might be a case of calling the glass one-quarter empty rather than three-quarters full, but there's something commendable about such an outlook. It suggests that the winner is not willing to rest on his laurels and is determined to push ahead until he gets 100 percent of the vote.

To their credit, top Northville administrators refused to indulge in self-congratulatory back patting over the accreditation report, saying the process has yet to be proven a viable academic yardstick.

Nevertheless, we think the students, parents, teachers and administrators can take pride in the district's fine performance on the state accreditation evaluation. Their accomplishment is in keeping with other comparative measures which consistently put the Northville school district among the finest in Michigan.

At the same time, though, we believe it's important to keep one eye on the finish line because, as good as we are in this district, we're not there yet.

Somehow, understanding

In my column last week I wrote about my recent drunk driving conviction and said that I expected little understanding from a public that is growing less and less tolerant of irresponsible behavior.

Lee Snider

Oh, me of little faith.

To my surprise, many people called and wrote to offer support and encouragement (the letter on the facing page notwithstanding). Most of the comments came from readers who said they thought I faced up to what I had done and that everyone is entitled to one mistake.

My co-workers also got into the act, giving me a morale-boosting greeting card and advising me to "hang tough." One member of the staff even got queasy from sympathy pains.

One of the things I heard most often from well-wishers was the idea that "it could happen to any one of us."

The remark was obviously meant to make me feel better and it did just that, at first anyway. But then I got to thinking about it. If that many people are wiping the sweat from their brows and feeling unsettled because it just as easily could have been them, that means a lot of people are driving drunk.

Fortunately, I don't believe they really meant it. I tend to think people were just trying to help me through a difficult time.

Though I'm grateful for the charitable reaction, I had one mixed emotion. I remember hearing an expert say that the outpouring of support Bill Bonds always gets after his drunk driving arrests makes it easier for him to continue offending. The people who support him and watch him on television are unwitting "enablers," the specialist said, because they make it possible - even comfortable - for him to keep breaking the law.

Drivers have little incentive to abide by traffic regulations if they know they can count on acceptance once news of their violations gets out.

But I'm not concerned about being "enabled" to commit another drunk driving offense. First of all, I don't intend to drink and drive again and, secondly, I don't have legions of fans like Bill Bonds.

The double standard stemming from society's adulation of the rich and famous always benefits celebrities, and I don't exactly fit into that category.

From Bill Bonds to school bonds

Northville school Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski wants it known that he didn't have anything to do with the exclusion of the press from a bond strategy meeting in March.

A couple of weeks ago we suggested, in columns that appeared in both The Northville Record and The Novi News, that a representative of the Kemper securities firm vetoed our attendance at a planning meeting after speaking with Rezmierski.

True enough, but the superintendent says that made it look like he participated in the decision to bar our reporters from the session. He insists he didn't do that.

"I'm going to need everybody and their brother to get this thing passed," he said, referring to the ballot request. "We talked about how to work with your media, not how to trick it."

School officials took advantage of the meeting to gain pointers from districts that have successfully passed recent bond issues, according to Rezmierski. Northville is considering placing a technology bond request before voters this year.

Regardless of who made the decision to bump our reporters from the list of attendees, it sure didn't look good. What were we supposed to think except that organizers of the meeting wanted to keep the discussion out of the public marketplace of ideas?

Security measures unavoidable at hall

It's a sad inevitability that people-friendly Northville Township Hall might soon have to be fitted with some sort of security system.

Discussions on how to make the building safer resulted from an incident in which an angry teen allegedly threatened township employees with a gun while picking up his mother who was being detained for retail fraud. The incident happened last Thursday when, witnesses say, a 17-year-old youth began swearing at township employees and implying he possessed a weapon.

The teen admits to getting angry, but says his hostility stemmed from his mother's claim that police had mistreated her. He denies threatening workers in the building.

After making their arrest, police discovered the suspect didn't have a gun but the point was not lost: what about next time?

Given the level of general hostility anymore, it seems foolhardy not to take measures to tighten security at the building that houses the township's municipal offices. Just about everything over which people are testy - taxes, criminals, bureaucratic inertia, governmental authority - can be encountered in some form or other at municipal halls. Heck, considering the hair-trigger mentality of people, someone is liable to open fire during an argument over his water bill.

As soon as reports of the alleged township hall incident surfaced, people began to wonder if it was another instance of anti-government rebellion. So far, right-wing virulence has been directed against the federal government, but that's not to say it won't one day trickle down to the local level.

Just as the days are gone when you could walk into a convenience store without appearing on camera; just as the time has passed when you could leave a book store without walking through an electronic detector; just as the days are done when children could attend school without worrying about getting held at gunpoint; so the time has passed when you could stroll into a municipal building without arousing suspicion.

Sad, but inevitable.

Welcome to America

One-year-old Sasha, now Emily Gardner, started her new life in Northville last month after arriving from her native Russia.

'No more' will save lives

It's not easy to admit mistakes, either to yourself or other people. Events last week force me to do so, however, and like Henry Clay said, I'd rather be right than president.

Randy Coble

I had to face up to the fact that I've made a dumb choice in my life. Fortunately, I got to learn that lesson the easy way.

In case you didn't read it in last week's issue of The Record, Lee Snider, my boss and a good friend, was recently arrested for drunk driving. He's been completely straightforward both in public and private about it, including how this whole episode has affected him.

It's affected me, too. I finally got the message, the one that advocacy groups like Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) have been shouting to us for years: drinking and driving has to stop. It's a message that I've ignored on a few occasions in the past when I've driven drunk.

Let's get something straight: this column is not about excusing Lee or me or any of the tens of millions of Americans - some of whom are part of this community - who have at one time or another driven drunk. On the contrary, it's about saying that there is no excuse and that it's time for all of us to say "no more."

Drunk driving is sort of like speeding: a lot of people think it's bad but not all that bad because so many of us do it. No big deal.

No, big deal? People die because of drunk drivers, real people with real families and friends who mourn them. Life comes in black and white and sometimes gray. This isn't one of those sometimes. A basic, brutal equation is at work here, one that's as simple as life and death: driving drunk or saying "no more."

You can kill or hurt yourself, your family and friends as well as those of other people. You could sentence your loved ones or somebody else's to a lifetime of loss. Ask yourself if you can live with that the next time you're at the bar and thinking about saying "just this once."

Ask yourself if you can live with the other possible consequences, too, such as being arrested or written up in the local paper or cracking up your car and seeing your insurance premiums skyrocket.

Let's dwell on that "being arrested" thing for a moment. If you've never been through it, either as an observer or a participant, here are the highlights: pat down, handcuffs, squad car, booking, photographs, fingerprints, body search, cell and a phone call to a friend for bail from your one-bunk Hilton.

Then there's court: charges, judges, prosecutors, paperwork, conviction and fines. Don't forget prison, either, as in bars, guards, guns, electric fences, bad food, fights, drugs, gangs and a whole lot of other stuff you don't want to know about.

We as individuals and members of society have to say that it's not OK, it's never OK, to drive drunk. If you're going to drink do what you have to do so you don't have to drive. It doesn't take a rocket scientist to plan a way to accomplish that.

Drink at home or at a friend's house where you can spend the night. Falling that, get a designated driver, call for a cab or ask a friend for a ride. Falling that, wait until you're sober before getting behind the wheel. Take an hour or two and watch the game, catch the news, catnap, take a walk or guzzle a Coke or three.

People are going to keep dying needlessly until "no more" outranks inconvenience on our priority scale.

Randy Coble is a staff writer for The Northville Record.

Editor should step down from job

I read in yesterday's paper that you have pleaded guilty to operating a vehicle while impaired by alcohol. I request that you immediately resign your position with The Record.

Editors, along with others who control our media, have tremendous influence in this country, and I believe your actions have shown you to be insufficiently responsible for such a position.

I am sorry. I know this episode must be painful for you. It is not out of meanness or sanctimony that I express this opinion. You have compromised yourself. It is the harsh truth.

Parents key in education

To the Editor:

If a person gets a little edgy when they're around dogs, you might wonder if that person had once been bitten by a dog.

When reading my friend Tim Richard's columns about education policy in Michigan, you almost feel sure that he had once been bitten by the parent of a child attending school.

How else can you explain the attacks on the motivations of parents who are concerned about the quality of education today?

What else could explain the paranoia, name-calling and character assassination?

I'm really concerned about his last column entitled, "Why is Clark Durant (President of the State Board of Education) so obsessed about parents, parents, parents?" Implicit in the question is the ridiculous idea that the President of the State Board of Education caring about what parents think is a bad thing. But there are plenty of good reasons for state policy makers to be "obsessed" with parents.

- The United States Supreme Court has held that parents have the right - and responsibility - to direct the education and upbringing of children.

- Virtually every study that tries to determine what makes the most difference in delivering a quality education points to parental involvement as the key factor.

- Parents at the local level will do a better job determining what's best for a child than an education bureaucrat in Lansing or Washington who doesn't even know the child's name.

- Last but not least, parents are paying the bills, they are the customers. They deserve to be listened to and their wishes respected. After all, it's their children.

Tim tries to dismiss the concerns of these parents by labeling them. He seems to think that if he writes "fundamentalist" and "right-wingers" often enough he will marginalize those who speak out and intimidate others into silence.

But in this case, silence isn't golden. We want all parents to speak out.

We plead guilty. We're "obsessed" with parents. We trust parents to do what's best for their children. We believe in giving parents more choices over how their tax dollars will be spent to educate their children. We think that's the way to improve the quality of education for every child.

It's not a radical view. In fact, it's the time-honored tradition of American education.

Tim, come talk to those of us who are parents with kids in public schools. I think you'll find we care more about our kids education than businesses, school employees, maybe even newspaper writers.

Dick Posthumus
Senate Majority Leader

Come to prayer day ceremony

To the Editor:

Americans have an incredible opportunity, originally guaranteed by the Congress and approved in 1952, to publicly kneel before Almighty God and ask Him to bless this nation.

That opportunity is rooted in longstanding national tradition. Despite those who would claim otherwise, the evidence is clear that the Founding Fathers modeled our laws and institutions on the morals and ideals of the Judeo-Christian belief. In fact, prayer was an integral part of our founders' lives.

On Thursday, May 4, concerned citizens throughout Michigan and the nation will gather at their local city halls to pray to God to help us to return to our moral and religious heritage. God can bring healing to our nation if we seek His truth and wisdom and return to Him.

With what has happened in Oklahoma it is more obvious than ever that we need to pray for a moral rebirth in our land. This is a very simple concept. It involves people meeting at our local city hall at the flag pole and praying for 20 minutes from 12:20 to 12:40 p.m.

We are asked to hang the American flag outside our homes on the National Day of Prayer, and spread the word about what day we are honoring. As far as we know, the United States is the only country that has a day set aside by law to encourage its citizens to pray for their country.

Carole Jean Stockhausen

Bill would address courts

To the Editor:

I read with interest your April 20 opinion column article, "We should have a say in cases affecting us" regarding the jurisdiction of the Detroit Recorder's Court. I agree with the concept that voters should be able to vote for the judges who preside over cases within the voters' district.

In your article you mention that the Police Officers Association of Michigan (POAM) has begun a campaign to change the law and require that the Recorder's Court judges be elected by all Wayne County residents. On April 12, after discussing this issue with POAM, I requested that legislation be drafted that would consider the options of the voters of Wayne County electing Detroit Recorder's Court judges who preside over cases in Wayne County, possibly adjusting the number of judges, and streamlining the backlog of cases.

This bill will be introduced by late spring or early summer.

Gerald H. Law
State Representative
20th House District

Huge tax-hike contemplated

To the Editor:

To use round numbers, implementation of the Northville Technology Committee's recommendations for the Northville Public Schools requires a millage increase of more than 10 percent over the current operating millage. Label it whatever you want, but when committee members know a tax increase is necessary to implement their proposal, and they support that proposal, they are tax advocates.

While this committee may want to believe that a tax increase of this magnitude is not "substantial," would it view a similar funding reduction with the same triviality?

My sincerest apologies and sympathies to those who opposed the published recommendations of their committee. It must have been difficult communicating within a group that cannot even concede the fact that it is advocating the largest tax increase the Northville Public Schools have faced this decade.

Robert Bernard

Abhor all destruction

To the Editor:

As a humanist, I empathize and am sickened at the thought of the pain and the horror experienced by the occupants of the Oklahoma City federal building where an explosion took place on April 19, seriously injuring many and taking a number of lives.

A tragedy of enormous proportions!

McNamara's expose in his book, Retrospect, admits that the Vietnam war should never have taken place, it forces me to deplore and be sickened by the knowledge that the U.S. dropped thousands of tons of explosives on the hapless citizens of Vietnam, killing tens of thousands.

The tragedy in Oklahoma City pales into insignificance - though the death of one human being is significant! - when compared to the tragedy for which we were responsible in Vietnam.

As family members of the genus Homo Sapiens, perhaps we should abhor destructive behavior by whomever perpetrated, especially when brought about by mindless misadventure or atrociously bad judgment.

It needs to be said.

Alfred P. Galli

Will we survive latest fanaticism?

I want to choose my words carefully here, for this is a meditation on the Michigan roots of the terrorist bombing in Oklahoma City, a serious subject by any measure. I'm groping for insight and understanding, not trying to excuse or justify.

Phil Power

As some part of the plot has to do with farming communities in the Thumb, I started by calling John Snyder, editor of The Farmer's Advance, Michigan's largest farming newspaper and a sister publication of this one. John talked with Dawn Schoen, a sales rep for The Advance who lives in Sandusky, about 15 miles east of the now-famous Decker, where the Nichols brothers live.

Dawn said that Sandusky last week was overrun with limousines disgorging blow-dried network news correspondents. The sight of uniformed drivers trying to maneuver their Mercedes around the John Deere tractors pretty well illustrates the cultural chasm between the New York/LA media types and ordinary folks in the Thumb.

Could it also illustrate the chasm between horrified ordinary folks, trying their best to understand how something ghastly like this could happen, and members of the militia groups who are also ordinary folks who happen to like to play with heavy weapons and spout words filled with hate? Dawn reports that the Nichols brothers are indeed well-known and well-regarded in the community.

I wondered what had happened to the farmers in the Thumb that a few of them had concluded that their government was a betrayer, not a friend.

John explained that in the late '70s the U.S. Department of Agriculture had encouraged them to expand, "plant fence row to fence row," take on loads of debt and export to the world. That went all right until the dollar strengthened, commodity prices plummeted, and debt-ridden farmers couldn't make their loan payments. And then came the fall flood of 1986, the worst in memory.

So people think: First the government encourages you to expand and take on debt, and then lets you twist slowly in the mud while the bank repossesses your farm. Surely this is cause for anger, possibly the first whiff of paranoia.

It also helps me understand one of the most bizarre aspects of the whole thing. Is this the twisted logic that justified James Nichols in turning in his driver's license and Social Security card and refusing to vote on the grounds that everything the government did was corrupt, but then taking $36,522 in wheat, feed grain and disaster aid payments from the federal government and complaining that he was owed more? I wonder.

Pile on the increasingly intrusive effect of government regulations. Remember the Clean Air and Clean Water Acts, up this year for re-authorization? Ordinary farm folks barely hanging on by their fingernails don't take kindly to letters from the government instructing them to install a new septic field or prohibiting draining that wetland.

And don't leave out the subtle effect of the political and media environment, increasingly filled with violent and demonizing rhetoric. A March ad by the National Rifle Association, headed by Michigan conservation leader Tom Washington, called federal agents "storm troopers," while Gov. John Engler last month gave a speech which argued that America is being "ruled by twin tyrants," the judges and the executive branch.

If our leaders are talking like this, why shouldn't ordinary folks?

Our history as a country is punctuated by episodes of violence and alienation by groups of ordinary folks who are missing out on the American Dream and feel betrayed by their government.

I knew a fair number of people like that the last time America faced something like this back in the 1960s. They were ordinary college kids, mostly, who felt impotent and betrayed by their government's war in Vietnam. Some of them carried guns; a few blew up innocent people.

We got over that. Finally. And I pray to God we'll get over this, too.

Unions oppose new unemployment law

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Unemployment insurance will cost less - and benefit the jobless less - now that Sen. David Honigman's bill has been signed into law.

"This legislation gives employers another reason to be glad they are located in Michigan," said Gov. John Engler, estimating the cut in benefits at $354 million over five years.

"Many people ask why labor unions almost exclusively endorse Democrats. Here's one of the clearest examples why," said AFL-CIO President Frank Garrison, putting the cut in benefits at $500 million over five years.

"There is competition among the states," said Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, "in devising the law that best balances the objectives of (a) cushioning workers from unexpected job loss and (b) keeping the cost of the system down to reasonable levels."

For Engler, the most important number was the cost cut to employers: $748 million.

All area Republicans in both chambers voted for SB 322. All area Democrats voted no.

Crossing party lines to vote no were one GOP senator, Dale Shugars of Portage, and one GOP representative, Sue Rocca of Sterling Heights. The bill passed with no votes to spare - 20-17 in the Senate and 55-52 in the House.

In addition, the AFL-CIO was unhappy that two Democrats, including Eileen DeHart of Westland, missed the vote on an amendment to continue "indexing" maximum benefits to the cost of living. The amendment failed on a 54-52 vote with 55 needed.

SB 322 is part of Engler's goal of across-the-board cuts in the cost of doing business in Michigan. Said a House Republican news release: "Michigan's unemployment insurance rates are third highest in the nation based on total and taxable wages. Michigan's tax cost for UI benefits to employers was $446 per employee - nearly double the national average of $227 per employee."

Besides ending "indexing," the new law also will make these changes in benefits:

- Reduce benefits from 70 percent of after-tax earnings to 67 percent, the level in most other states.

- Raise the maximum benefit from $293 a week to $300 and freeze it there. According to labor, however, the new law "will hurt 70 percent of all people."

- Restrict the definition of a "credit week" for drawing benefits. Currently it's defined as 20 times the state minimum wage, or $67. The new definition is 30 times the minimum wage, or $100.50.

French visitors thrill to Americana

sporting good stores, shopping malls and large cars.

"This is marvelous, it is the USA," said 18-year-old Frederick Desmarest, showing off his brand-new white tennis shoes - a commodity that is not readily available in France and often is extremely expensive, he said. "The people are very fantastic and nice."

One thing the students have not had a lot of since they arrived last Tuesday is sleep. The group's long list of activities began the moment they stepped off the plane last week when they were welcomed at a party at Mayor Chris Johnson's home.

Since then the students have visited Niagara Falls and Toronto, spent the day at the high school and visited the Detroit Institute of Arts, Henry Ford Museum, Greenfield Village and attended the opening day of Tiger baseball.

Last Friday Laurie Marrs, director of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, took the students on a tour of Northville including Mill Race Historical Village, Maybury State Park, Woolly Bully's and the downtown area. The tour culminated in a free lunch at Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall restaurant.

At times, keeping the energetic students together and on the same track was not an easy task.

"Let's go! Let's cross the street here. Come on everybody," Marrs yells to the students in an exaggerated French accent, making sweeping motions to the other side of the street.

She laughs when she catches herself, realizing that a fake accent will not help them to understand. "It's funny, you do it without realizing," she says.

Soon after the students - all donning Genitti's T-shirts, a present from owner Toni Genitti - follow Marrs across the street chatting in French and clicking cameras in all directions.

"They're having a great time," said Marrs, who is hosting 17-year-old Marlene Boix. "They are so fun to be with and you can't understand a thing they're saying. I'm having an absolute riot. Honest to God I am."

One aspect of the United States that struck Boix is the size of its cars and houses, she said.

"For French people, Northville's cars and houses are much bigger," she said. Other differences between the two countries the teenagers noted are lockers for books in the high school (French students carry book bags), the food (Americans eat more sweets), and the music (Americans are behind Europe in new music).

For Debi Robertson, having 15-year-old Sebastien Delachapelle-Morel stay in her home has been a great experience.

"Just today we told Sebastien that if he wanted to stay and go to school here, we'd build him a room," she said with a chuckle. "He is so polite and considerate; we're really glad we did this."

Robertson said she has spoken with Sebastien's family a number of times on the telephone and has discussed visiting Agnetz in the future.

The students' trip here is a result of nearly two years of work to set up a sister city program between Northville and Agnetz. The idea was started by former Northville resident Gregoire van de Velde, who formerly lived in Agnetz.

After exploring the possibilities of a sister city program, however, City Manager Gary Word said the administration decided to pursue the partnership informally. A formal relationship between the two cities through Sister Cities International would include fees and a stringent protocol of activities.

Word said city officials decided to keep the relationship informal while still benefiting from the partnership.

Currently Northville High School is organizing a trip for students to visit Agnetz sometime in June. A goodbye ceremony will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at City Hall.

Sheldon Schwartz, prostate cancer survivor and advocate, has written a reference book on the disease.

LISTEN, LEARN & LIVE

If he hadn't listened to his inner voice,
Sheldon
Schwartz would be dead today.
But listened and lived.

By CAROL WORKENS
Staff Writer

In September 1992, the Novi resident decided to attend a free screening for prostate cancer even though he had no symptoms.

Three weeks later, he was advised to contact his personal physician for additional tests.

"The results came back questionable," Schwartz said, "which means additional tests were needed."

Schwartz called the doctor who did the screening to make an appointment for additional tests. One of the first questions he was asked was regarding his medical insurance. When Schwartz told him he didn't have any because he was laid off from his job, he heard a click at the other end of the line.

He was also turned down by two local hospitals because even though he had worked small jobs, neither included health insurance benefits.

Not knowing where to turn, he called the American Cancer Society. Explaining his dilemma, they asked him if he had ever been in the armed services.

He had been in the Marine Corps for eight years, on active duty from 1955 to 1958. During the first one and a half years he was a drill instructor at Camp Lejeune in North Carolina. His next assignment was as the diplomatic courier for the joint chiefs of staff, the first enlisted man to be assigned to this position. The remaining five years were spent in the reserves.

"They told me that I had health benefits for life and to check into any VA hospital," Schwartz said, who immediately contacted the VA Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The VA Hospital did the second screening and again the results were questionable which necessitated a biopsy. Of the six core samples taken during the biopsy from various parts of the prostate, all six were malignant.

Schwartz had the life-saving surgery on Dec. 21, 1992.

His experience has led to a crusade for the education of the importance of the early detection and treatment of prostate cancer.

His ordeal led him to write a 33-page book which includes information on treatment options, stages of the disease, support groups, suggested reading material, anatomy diagrams and a glossary of medical terms. The book was published in June 1994. Patient Care Services underwrote the cost of the printing of 1,000 copies. The reference guide and manual was in such demand that the supply was exhausted in only three months.

Schwartz has recently revised his book, which now has approximately 70 pages but has been unable to find a sponsor who is willing to underwrite the book while letting him retain his copyright. Other requirements Schwartz has are that the book be given away free, all education and support groups be given free copies, the book, its title, content and format not be changed except for accuracy. Some organizations he has approached were willing to finance the book, but did not want to meet his requirements.

Orders for the second printing already total 6,500 copies from 20 organizations and people around the country. The book costs about $1 to print and $2 to mail.

Schwartz often speaks on behalf of the American Cancer Society and is instrumental in getting new support groups off the ground.

WINIFRED FRASER

Fraser active in the equality movement

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

Equal billing - not necessarily center stage - is what the AAUW (American Association of University Women) is pushing for, and Winifred Fraser, president of the Northville-Novato branch, is leading the effort here.

She's been talking to any interested groups who want to hear her story about equity for women. It goes back to 1776 when Abigail Adams wrote to her husband, John Adams, pleading that the writing of the new independence movement include more humane treatment for wives.

As part of a community project, Fraser and the AAUW are asking for donations of money towards placing books about women's history in our school libraries. The cost for each book is $25.

As for Winifred Fraser's background: she married, had two daughters, and then went to college. She was graduated from Wayne State University and then taught psychology there. Later, as a member of the board of trustees of Western Michigan, she examined the number of women teaching in the state and found that in four-year institutions only 25 percent of faculty members were women. She has been out to change that ratio ever since.

The AAUW chapter here, which will be 20 years old in September, has the same concern, and it promotes projects to motivate women students.

For example, it conducts an academic camp to try to get fifth to eighth grade girls interested in science, and it raises funds for scholarships and for Schoolcraft College's Women's Resource Center.

Women have come a long way, demonstrating their equal, if not superior, use of what they've learned, but society has yet to treat them as equals with men.

If you, as a woman graduate or a student of an accredited school, want to help promote the cause of equal rights for women, call Jane Spence, membership chairman of Northville-Novato AAUW at 384-4562.

It's A Fact

What price police fashion?

One set of basic year-round attire, two shirts, two pair of pants, seasonal coats, shoes, tie, etc.
for a city police officer costs about $650.

Accessories which include holster, badge, handcuffs,
whistle, riot helmet,
etc. run another $465.

Troop completes Aerospace Badge

Amerman Junior Girl Scout Troop 379 toured Yankee Air Museum in Belleville recently. The field trip was required to earn the Aerospace Badge, which the girls completed.

Of the six requirements for the badge, the Troop earned the following three: women astronauts, of which the museum had an abundant amount of information, purchased, assembled, and flew a simple model glider made from balsa wood, and learned about dehydrated food and how it relates to astronauts in space.

Troop leader Connie M. Dunmead, co-leader Lori Taepke, and the Troop also visited the Michigan Space Museum in Jackson and the Wixom Transportation Airport in Wixom to complete the remainder of the requirements for the Aerospace Badge.

Paper goods ticket to annual benefit

Prostate education available at free screening and on television

Schwartz has been interviewed on all three major TV stations in Detroit and is the patient advocate on Good Health: It's in Your Hands which was taped yesterday and will be aired on MetroVision's Channel 12 soon. Host Denise Jenkins will talk with Schwartz, Dr. Steven J. Roth, a board certified urological surgeon and Donna Rice, a registered nurse and wellness program coordinator at Health Development Network on general information, education, screening and referral. If the show appears on a day that is not convenient for you to watch, call MetroVision at 553-7303, ask for programming, and they will air the show again on a Friday, which is their request day.

Schwartz will also be traveling to Lansing soon to meet with State Rep. Willis Bullard, R-Milford - whose district includes Novi - on House Bill 4363. "The bill would penalize a doctor if he does not tell a patient about all the treatment options, including the advantages and disadvantages of each both orally and in writing," Schwartz said.

If the bill passes, it would go into effect April 1, 1996.

"When a patient has been told he has cancer," Schwartz said, "he tunes out for a while." The patient will miss some of the oral information he received at the doctor's office but will be able review the written information when the shock of the diagnosis has subsided.

"We need to bring the death rate down," Schwartz said, who volunteers with the monthly Help for Impotent Men (HIM) program and the yearly community outreach prostate screening program. He also lectures in September during National Prostate Awareness Month.

"Sheldon is our biggest advocate for prostate cancer and awareness," Donna Rice, R.N. and wellness program coordinator at Health Development Network, said.

"Men are really hesitant to seek out treatment until they have symptoms," Rice said. "The purpose of the program is to make them aware and get a baseline exam."

"Ten percent of the people screened have cancer," Rice said, "which is consistent with the national average."

"We did 500 screenings in 1993 and 1994 and 10 percent were questionable and referred back to the physician."

When results are abnormal, a letter is sent to the personal physician and to the patient which includes a reply card for follow up."

A movie the whole family can enjoy

'While You Were Sleeping' has it all — a family, a love story and lots of funny scenes

WHILE YOU WERE SLEEPING
By Cindy Stanisz
South Lyon

Last Saturday, I joined a theater full of people to watch the newly-released movie "While You Were Sleeping," starring Sandra Bullock of "Speed" fame.

It's about a shy girl (Lucy) who saves the life of a handsome businessman (Peter) and is mistaken at the hospital as his fiancée. So, while Peter is in a coma, Lucy pretends she is Peter's fiancée to give his family hope and to finally enjoy being part of a real family herself.

Things become complicated when Peter's younger brother Jack comes into the picture. Lucy soon finds herself falling in love with him. When Peter finally awakes from his coma, he naturally doesn't remember who Lucy is so they think he's got amnesia.

Peter believes he has been given a second chance at life and decides to marry Lucy anyway who still can't tell the family the truth.

READER MOVIE REVIEWS

That comes to the surprise ending that I won't tell you because you must see the movie yourself.

"While You Were Sleeping" has it all — a family, a love story and a lot of funny scenes that make this movie one that the whole family can see and enjoy (Rated PG).

CHILDREN OF A LESSER GOD
By Helaine Binstock
Novi

William Hurt is hired as a teacher at a school for deaf children. He can "sign" and begins teaching the kids to speak as well as "sign," so they can better fit into society.

Sarah (Marlee Matlin), a former student, works at the school as a janitor. To Hurt, she is capable of much more. She reveals to him that the school is the only place she feels comfortable.

Hurt is intrigued by Sarah's intelligence and beauty. From a distance he observes her graceful "signing" — her exquisite gestures captivate him. Soon he's madly in love.

Sarah was born totally deaf. She rejects all urgings to talk, since she has a bitter childhood memory of being ridiculed after attempting to speak. She refuses to utter the characteristic sounds again and demands Hurt support her decision. But Hurt wants her to speak so she can broaden her existence.

Piper Laurie is Sarah's mother, deserted by Sarah's father. Having a deaf child was too much for him and since Sarah's mother, subsequently sent her to this school, she feels abandoned by both parents!

Matlin won an Oscar for this 1986 film, her movie debut, and Hurt's performance deserves raves.

ANGELS IN THE OUTFIELD
By Heather Wadowski
Northville

Okay, I'll admit it. I didn't want to see "Angels in the Outfield." In fact, I thought it looked stupid.

But when it came on video I thought, "What the heck?" and saw it.

And you know what? Not only did Disney make yet another great movie, they made a movie that makes you believe.

Danny Glover plays the Angels' coach. He's running from his past and isn't paying much attention to the Angels. That is until he meets a kid whose only hope is the Angels.

You see, the boy's father told him that they would become a family again when the Angels win a pennant. So, the boys ask God to help the Angels win.

And that's when the miracles start to happen.

You see, real angels (led by Christopher Lloyd) are helping the Angels out. And soon, things are looking good for the team.

But when the owner of the team finds out that Glover is convinced real angels are helping the team out, he relieves Glover of his coaching duties. And to make things worse, the team's pitcher (played by Tony Danza) is dying and the boy's father has given up custody of him.

Can the angels solve these problems? Watch and find out.

"Angels in the Outfield" receives five stars out of five. It scores a home run in your heart and will make you believe. All I can say is Disney's done it again.

'The Bridges of Madison County' with Clint Eastwood and Meryl Streep promises to be one of this summer's biggest hits.

Canton rips runners in duel

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Ouch.
That's the best word to describe the Mustang girls' track team 102 1/2-25 1/2 home loss to Canton Thursday. The Chiefs swept four events and won all four relays to rout Northville High.

"They crushed us," coach Chris Cronin said.

Despite the fact that Canton was dominating almost every event, he said his team never stopped trying. "Even being overmatched," Cronin commented, "the girls ran everything out and kept their spirits up."

The Chiefs were just too strong. Cronin said you simply can't spot a team so many points and hope to win.

"Trying to come back from being down 56-0," he added, "there's no way to do that."

Northville dropped to 1-2 on the season. The Mustangs host Marian today at 4 p.m.

Adrienne Browne provided, perhaps, the only silver lining of the meet. She won both the mile and two-mile races and scored nearly half of her team's points.

"Adrienne Browne is one of the best distance runners in the conference," Cronin said.

She ran a 5:51 to take first in the mile. Monica Nayakwadi finished fourth with one of her best times at 6:05.

Browne came back to take the two mile in 12:41. The Mustangs were swept in the high jump, which is usually one of their stronger events.

Cronin said his top two high jumpers, Tammy Cook and Kathy Conklin, were out with illness and injury. Conklin, in fact, is out for

Northville nine sweeps Wildcats in doubleheader

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Northville High pulled out its brooms and swept Baseline rival Novi right off the baseball diamond Saturday.

Strong pitching from senior Brian Buser in game one led to a 5-2 triumph. The bats boomed for a 10-5 win in game two.

While the sweep was nice, Northville must stay hot to stay in its conference race. The Mustangs play Walled Lake Western, Farmington, Farmington Harrison and Westland John Glenn - all WLAA games.

"We play 11 games in 11 days," said coach Mickey Newman. "It's a big week for us."

Northville started the week at 4-3 overall.

With so many games in a row, Buser's performance was very significant. The right hander went the distance against Novi, striking out seven, walking none and surrendering eight hits.

"He was throwing strikes," said Newman. "He was spotting his fastball nicely, too. The zero walks were impressive."

Northville took the lead early.

Mark Sander led off the first inning with a single and then stole second base. After the bases were loaded, Jason Rice and Tom Willer produced back-to-back sacrifice flies to score two runs.

Novi fought back in the second and third innings with single runs off of Buser. The Mustangs took the lead for good in the fourth inning.

Rice singled, stole second and then scored the game-winner on a Novi error. Chuck Yessaian had a two-run single in the fifth.

Good defense helped Buser out. A double play cleared the bases in the fifth inning.

"We're starting to get more confident in the field," Newman said.

"He was throwing strikes
He was spotting his fastball nicely, too. The zero walks were impressive."

MICKY NEWMAN
Baseball coach

Game two was anything but a pitcher's duel.

Northville starter Tim Smojver had control problems. In less than four innings of work he walked five.

Novi took advantage of the free passes and jumped out to a 5-2 lead going into the bottom of the fourth. A five-run rally in the bottom of the frame broke the Wildcats backs.

Nate Kirmis, Kyle Hitchcock, Willer and Ben Szostek combined for four straight hits and accounted for all five runs. Rice added a two-run double in the sixth for insurance.

Kay Yashida came on in relief of Smojver. He pitched the final three-and-a-third innings for the win.

Newman said Yashida is a vital part of his pitching staff. The junior, he added, is just returning to full strength after being ill.

"I was counting on him to be the closer this year," said Newman.

NORTHVILLE 5, LIVONIA FRANKLIN 1

Friday's home win wasn't as simple as it looks. The Mustangs dodged numerous bullets to win the game, in fact.

The Patriots loaded the bases in the second, fifth, sixth and seventh innings. With all of those runners, Livonia managed to score only one

Tracksters stay undefeated with victory over Canton 86-51

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

The big Orange and Black Machine keeps on rolling. The Mustang boys' track and field team dispatched yet another victim Thursday by defeating Plymouth-Canton on the road 86-51. It was Northville's fourth victory of the season without a loss.

Coach Dennis Faletti said it was a solid performance in rotten weather. But, he added, his team still has room to improve.

"We're still weak in the field events," said Faletti. "We're stronger on the track."

"But we dominated this meet."

The Mustangs will try to keep that perfect record in tact today at Livonia Franklin. Northville will meet Farmington Hills Harrison on May 16 for what likely will be the Western Division championship.

"We're still weak in the field events."

DENNIS FALETTI
Track coach

"We'll both probably be undefeated going in," Faletti said.

Northville certainly had no trouble with the Chiefs Thursday.

The Mustangs swept the pole vault. Ty Fowler cleared 9-feet 6-inches for first while Brian Clowers was second at 8-6 and Rob Ghanom was third at 8-0.

In the discus, senior Mattis Kukainis had an off day but threw good enough for second place at 95.6. Pat Gordon was third in the high jump at 5-6.

Senior Anthony DeBenedet grabbed first place in the long jump. He leapt 19-4.

Kukainis came back to take third place in the shot put with a throw of 42-1.75. Northville scored major points by taking three of four relay events on the track.

Jason MacIver, Sean Hollister, Jeff Zwiesler and Todd Zayti combined for a triumph in the 3,200-meter relay with a time of 8:40.6.

High hurdler Matt Minard finished second. He completed the 110-meter event in 17.8 seconds.

In the 100-meter dash, Chris Gomersal led a Northville sweep. He was first in 11.3 while Farb Navi second in 11.6 and Eric Moore was third in 11.7.

Jim and Tim Clemens, DeBenedet and Gordon were first in the 800-meter relay in 1:35.9. Scott Lloyd finished second in the 1,600-meter run in 4:44.8.

Northville took the last of its relay wins in the 400. Gomersal, Moore, Navi and Aniel Kersey finished in 45.1.

The Mustangs went one-two in the open 400-meter. Gordon got the top spot in 53.6 and MacIver was second in 54.1.

A time of 46.2 seconds got Minard second place in the 300-meter hurdles. Zayti won the 800 in 2:04.9. Zwiesler was second in 2:05.7 and Hollister was third in 2:10.7.

Northville swept the 200-meter dash, too. Gomersal won in 23.4, Navi was second in 23.8 and Moore placed third in 23.8.

In the 3,200-meter run, Dwight VanTuyt took second in 10:40.6. Northville won the 1,600-meter relay in 3:34.8 along with Gordon, MacIver, Lloyd and Zayti.

Netters seventh at Huron tourney

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

It doesn't get any tougher than this.

Okemos, Ann Arbor Huron, Ann Arbor Pioneer, Portage Central - all four are in Class A's top five. Saturday's Ann Arbor Huron Invitational was a who's who of tennis in Michigan.

"It was a tough tournament," coach Dick Norton. "Really tough."

Northville held its own against the big boys by finishing seventh. Host Huron out-duelled defending state champion Okemos by a point to win the tournament.

"It was an exceptional tournament for us," said Norton.

The Mustangs were able to score at most every flight. Every player was guaranteed at least three matches.

Matt Schwagle lost his opening round match before beating Cranbrook's Vemal Sigac 6-0, 6-0 in round two. He fell in the consolation final to Bloomfield Hills Lahser's Steve Wu in three sets.

Dave Anderson went 1-2 at second singles. His lone win came in the second round against Andy Giraldo of Grosse Pointe South, 6-2, 7-5.

Rory Dunnabeck moved into third singles for the day. He finished seventh in the flight by beating Felipe Wells of Portage Central in three sets.

At fourth singles, Mike Bush dropped his first two matches. He rebounded for a 6-2, 6-3 win over Portage Central's Mike Els to take seventh.

Vik and Arjun Srinivasan ran into some tough luck at first doubles. They lost three matches, two in three sets.

"They were competitive in each match," Norton said, "against good competition."

Ganesh Nayakwadi and Nick Srinivasan got a second round win over Ryan Di Pietro and Said Karkan 7-5, 7-6.

Rahit Jha and Ryan Steinhauer won their opening match at third doubles. The duo beat Lahser's Robb Yassenka and Blair Wills 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Jared Cromas and Desmond Liang won their final match in three sets at fourth doubles.

Norton said the tournament will help his team come state regional

The Mustangs moved to 5-0 overall and 4-0 in the WLAA Friday with a win over the Raiders at home.

It was the school's 45th straight duel victory. Norton was somewhat surprised that his team was able to sweep North Farmington.

Schwagle started off with a 6-4, 6-3 win over Seth Weingarten. Anderson followed by taking a two-setter over Ben Sommers.

Ravi Mujumdar, at third singles, topped Steve Krieger in three sets.

"I was glad to see him come back," Norton said. "It says something for him."

Nayakwadi also won in three sets. He beat Nimit Shah 2-6, 6-4, 6-3.

"It was exceptionally good tennis for both kids," Norton said. "Ganesh played very well."

The Srinivasan brothers won in two sets at top doubles. Bush and Srinivasan beat Rob Yost and Rob Post 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

Jha and Steinhauer were two-set winners at third doubles. Liang and Cromas also won in two matches at fourth doubles

The Mustangs faced Farmington at home Thursday. It was the first match since before Easter break.

"It was a good match to come back to," Norton said.

Singles winners included: Schwagle, Anderson, Mujumdar and Bush. Doubles winners were the Srinivasans, Nayakwadi and Srinivasan, Jha and Steinhauer and Cromas and Liang.

Loss to Franklin moves streak to six

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

There's good news and bad news in Northville High's 9-4 softball loss to Livonia Franklin Friday.

The good news is that the Mustangs actually hit the ball. The team had been averaging about one run per game before Friday's outburst.

The bad news, of course, is that it was another loss. Northville, now 0-6, is still looking for its first victory.

Coach Frank Friemund thinks his team is about to turn its season around. He pointed to the Mustangs rally after falling behind Livonia 7-1.

"That was encouraging," he said, "because we didn't go in the dumps."

"We've turned the corner. We're just turning it slowly."

Defense is still costing Northville big-time. The Mustangs haven't had a game without at least one very bad inning.

Friday's came in the fourth. Down 2-1, Livonia cashed in five runs.

"We had our creative inning and they got five runs in the fourth inning," Friemund said.

Northville fought back with three runs in the fifth.

Michelle Menghini had the big hit with a two-run double. She had two hits on the day.

"We felt we had a chance to win," said Friemund. "We were coming back and had an opportunity."

The bats went silent in the sixth and seventh, though. Northville didn't manage a hit.

Friemund said the Mustangs are frustrated with the losses. He added that the squad feels it's losing to teams it should beat.

"The team knows it has talent," he added.

NOVI 8, NORTHVILLE 0

The Wildcats' Erin Bjerke was the story of the April 25 game.

A right-handed pitcher, Bjerke tossed a perfect game at Northville. She struck out 17 Mustang batters in the process.

Northville was returning to action after Easter break.

"We might have been a little rusty," said Friemund. "But not that rusty. I give her the credit."

Bjerke used good velocity (around 60 mph), a hard slider, a rise and a change up to baffle the Mustangs. Northville made contact with the ball just four times.

At one point, Bjerke struck out 10 straight batters. Nolan Ryan or Roger Clemens never accomplished that feat.

"We were going after outside pitches a lot," said Friemund. "She was the best pitcher we've faced and the fastest."

Novi scored four runs in the second inning to put the game away.

Hoops league forming in N'ville

The Northville Parks and Recreation Department is looking for a few good men, preferably in gym shorts.

Until May 19, you can get your own basketball team together and sign up for the department's men's league. The big boys of summer will be on the court on Sundays from June 11 to August 27.

In past years, the league has numbered about eight teams, but can handle up to 12 teams.

"We get a lot of college students who form a team and play with their friends. It's not real competitive basketball, it's real popular."

TRACY JOHNSON
Parks and Rec Director

To play in the league, you must be a male age 18 or older. But new to the program is another league just for men over age 30 which the department is hoping to organize. Parks and Recreation Director Traci Johnson said.

Games are played indoors at the Northville Community Center's gym.

"We get a lot of college students who form a team and play with their friends. It's not real competitive basketball, it's real popular," Johnson added.

Depending on how many teams are playing, games are typically scheduled at times from 2 p.m. through 10 p.m.

Team fees are $260. In addition, each team pays one of the two officials $16 per game.

Register by May 11 either in person at the Northville Parks and Recreation Department or by calling (810) 349-0203 to request a mail-in form.

Irregular menstruation common for athletes

By LORI MOSCA
Special Writer

Irregular menstruation is a fairly common problem among competitive female athletes, but it is rarely discussed because of embarrassment, fear of being told to limit exercise and not understanding the potential consequences of menstrual dysfunction.

Because more women of all ages are participating in competitive sports, recent research efforts focus on menstrual cycle changes occurring with training and its impact on a woman's overall health.

Current reproductive disorders research in female athletes focuses on two hypotheses. The first is hormonal and relates to a slowing of a pulse generator in the brain that may result from exercise. This generator normally stimulates hormone release that regulates the menstrual cycle.

A second hypothesis being investigated is that of "energy drain," when caloric intake is not sufficient for the amount of exercise being done. Female athletes may have stable body weights, despite a low food intake. This theory suggests that the basal metabolic rate may be reduced at the expense of a normal reproductive cycle.

Many training factors may predispose female athletes to menstrual irregularity. Changes in body weight and composition, even in non-exercising females, promote menstrual dysfunction. Since strenuous training frequently results in weight loss and body-fat reduction, female athletes may be susceptible to these changes.

Dietary changes and nutritional inadequacy associated with exercise may add to the problem. In addition, the physical and emotional stress of exercise and competition may influence hormone levels and increase the risk for menstrual difficulties.

Menstrual irregularity may be two to four times more common in athletes than in the general population. In fact, amenorrhea, a complete absence of menses, occurs in up to half of elite runners. However, menstrual dysfunction is not necessarily related to the frequency, duration or intensity of the training regimen.

The normal menstrual cycles can be divided into two 14-day phases. In the first phase estrogen levels are high and stimulate ovulation. In the second phase both estrogen and progesterone levels are high and cause the uterus lining to thicken in preparation for implantation of a fertilized egg.

It is possible, but not proven, that a deficiency of progesterone in the second phase may impair fertility. Recreational athletes have been found to have lower levels of progesterone in the second phases despite having menstrual cycles that appear normal.

Menstrual disturbance occurs with varying degrees of severity. In the second phases a progesterone deficiency may cause heavy, infrequent menses or lack of ovulation even with normal levels of estrogen. Without normal levels of progesterone women are at an increased risk for cancer of the endometrial lining of the uterus. In addition, unpredictable heavy bleeding may lead to iron deficiency and impair athletic performance.

The most worrisome athletic menstrual dysfunction is hypogonadotropic amenorrhea, a complete cessation of menses because of low estrogen levels. Lack of estrogen may have many important clinical consequences.

Estrogen increases bone mass, therefore, amenorrheic athletes may be at increased risk for osteoporosis and musculoskeletal injury. In addition, estrogen has a beneficial effect on cholesterol levels, so a chronic state of estrogen deficiency may be harmful to a woman's cardiovascular health.

Certainly the news can't be all bad. A physically active lifestyle reduces the risk of all causes of mortality, including cardiovascular diseases and cancer. The protective effects of strenuous activity may partially offset many risks mentioned.

Also, menstrual irregularities can be treated with hormone replacement therapy, oral contraceptives, drugs to induce ovulation and hygienic measures such as weight gain and reduction in exercise levels.

Finally, ruling out other causes of menstrual dysfunction before making a diagnosis of athletic menstrual dysfunction is important. Women involved in competitive sports are just as susceptible to the many disorders that cause these problems as the general population.

Females who have not begun menses by the age of 16 or have irregular menses should have a complete physical and pelvic examination to rule out conditions causing the abnormality.

Golfers 11th at invite

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

If the Mustang golf team is going to make it out of regional competition this year they're going to have to improve—quickly.

Northville High got a preview of the state tournament Friday at the Brighton Invitational. The Mustangs shot a respectable 431 and finished in 11th place.

But Kalamazoo Central won the invitational with an amazing 334 team score while Jackson Lumen Christi was second with an impressive 363. Northville won't see those two schools at the regional. But it will see Ann Arbor, Plymouth and Livonia schools, most of which shot better than the Mustangs Friday.

"If we're going to qualify for the state final," coach Trish Waldecker said, "we've got to shoot 400 or less."

Northville will get plenty of chances to sharpen its game before the regional. The Mustangs are in action Monday at Livonia Churchill.

As for the Brighton tournament, Kalamazoo was unconscious. Central recorded three of four scores in the 80s.

"It's the lowest score ever by a team at that course," Waldecker said. "Every year scores are getting better. Kids are playing more."

Lindsey Casterline led Northville with a round of 104. Kyle Mills notched a 108, Monica Prasad a 109 and Heather Nix a 110.

NORTHVILLE 221, NOVI 242
After rescheduling twice, the two Baseline rivals finally got their match in Thursday on the Wildcats' home course of Pebble Creek.

Waldecker said she came close to canceling the match for a third time.

"In the years I've coached," she said, "I've never seen a more miserable day."

The coach was happy with her team's score considering the conditions. The Mustangs, Waldecker added, have gotten use to playing in poor weather.

"There are teams that would love to shoot 221 on a sunny day," she added. "I thought we played great."

Casterline finished with 52 strokes while Nix scored a 55. Prasad and Jenny Dixon each had

The Mustangs returned from Easter break in fine fashion April 24.

The two teams played at Tanglewood Golf Course in South Lyon. Waldecker said she knew beating the Spartans wouldn't be easy.

"I knew we'd have to shoot well," she said.

the rest of the season with knee problems. She's a sophomore.

Canton also swept the 200-meter dashes and both hurdling events.

Carrie Dalziel tied for first in the 100-meter sprint. She ran a 13:19 race.

In the long jump, Melissa Poole was second at 14-11. Crissy Buser was third in the 400-meter in 1:10.

Renee Olin took first place in the shot put with a throw of 28-11. Jenny Sekerka was second in the discus with a toss of 94-10.

Kajal Parikh took third place in the 800-meter in 2:57.35.

"Kajal had a great day," said Cronin.

The coach said he told his team not to take the loss too hard.

"Our goal is to get better every week," he said. "You can't do that if you dwell on how bad you got beat."

Baseballers sweep Novi

Willerer and Dave McCulloch were the ones doing the dodging on the mound. Willerer started and went five-and-a-third.

He threw well, Newman said, but had problems with his control. Willerer walked five.

McCulloch pitched out of three jams. He struck out the last batter in each of the last three innings.

Defense, again, made the difference. Northville committed no errors.

"We made some great defensive plays when we had to," Newman said.

Rice and Yessaian were the offensive stars.

Rice, a senior, had three hits, including a double, triple and home run. He batted in three.

Yessaian had a pair of RBI with a homer and single. Rice and Yessaian had back-to-back homers in the first as Northville built a 3-0 lead.

Tiffany vase made of favrile glass

This glass-colored Tiffany vase starts at $2,500 and goes up.

By Anne McColam
Copley News Service

Q. I have enclosed a picture of a Tiffany vase that belonged to my mother. It is approximately 7 inches tall and is a lustrous, brilliant red. On the bottom it is marked "L.C. Tiffany — Favrile."

I am interested in your appraisal.

A. Favrile glass was an early 20th century innovation of Louis Comfort Tiffany. He used a unique process of working colored glass together while hot — the result being a spectacular glass with iridescent highlights. The word favrile is based on the German word "faber" for color.

Prices of Tiffany vases of this type generally start at $2,500 and go up

Q. I have a Madame Alexander doll that was made around 1960. Her name is "Jo," one of the characters in the book "Little Women" by Louisa May Alcott. She is made of hard plastic, has eyes that close and is jointed at the neck, shoulders and hips. Her height is 12 inches and she is wearing the original clothes.

What is the value of my doll?

A. Madame Alexander (Bee Behrman) successfully manufactured dolls from 1923 to 1990. She got her start in her father's doll hospital making Red Cross nurse dolls during World War I.

Depending on the condition, "Little Women" dolls similar to yours are seen in antique shops at $500 and up.

Q. The attached mark is on the back of a porcelain plate that was handed down from my husband's family. I am interested in learning its age and value. My plate is 9 inches in diameter. It is decorated

ANTIQUES

J. P.

with purple violets and green leaves against a background of shades of lavender, aqua and white.

I hope you can give me some information.

A. Your plate was made by La Ceramique (Jean Pouyat), Limoges, France. The firm was founded in 1883. This mark was used circa 1905.

The value of your plate would probably be about $65 to $75 in good condition.

Q. While cleaning cupboards I found two Avon collectibles. One is a station wagon decanter that is filled with after-shave and still in the original box. It has a tan plastic top and green glass body. The other collectible is a ceramic plate that is decorated with a cardinal and is 10 inches in diameter.

Could you give me some information on the history of Avon, and the current value of my decanter and plate?

A. The California Perfume Co. is the parent company of Avon and was founded in 1886. A line of Avon products was introduced in the mid-1920s, but it wasn't until 1937 that the trademark "Avon Products Inc." was used.

Interest in collecting Avon objects began in the 1960s. If your station wagon with box is in mint condition, it would probably be worth about $9. Your plate is currently listed at $20 in good condition.

Q. I have a miniature Toby mug that is a seated pirate, with a patch over one eye and a knife in his teeth. The height is 3 inches. What can you tell me about my Toby mug?

A. Toby jugs were first made in Staffordshire, England, in the 18th century. They are figural jugs or mugs featuring a jovial, robust man with a drinking vessel in one hand. He usually is wearing a tricorn hat.

Most are around 10 inches tall and the miniatures are from 3 to 6 inches. They have been produced in Europe, America and Occupied Japan.

Yours was made around 1900. It would probably be worth about $135 to $165 in good condition.

Q. I have a collection of tin cookie cutters. They are approximately 2 inches in diameter. Most of them have wooden handles painted green or red. A few have metal knobs. They are in a variety of shapes such as animals, people, bells, trees, hearts and circles.

Any information you can provide will be appreciated.

A. According to Ellen M. Plante, author of "Kitchen Collectibles," after 1900 cookie cutters were factory made and frequently sold in sets. Sears, Roebuck and Co. sold a dozen animal-shape cutters for 45 cents in 1932.

Cookie cutters with wooden or metal handles were made from the 1920s to the '40s. Your cutters would probably be worth about $2 to $5 each.

Address your questions to Anne McColam, P.O. Box 490, Notre Dame, IN 46556. For a personal response, include picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $5 per item (one item at a time).

Home prospectors aided by new computer features

ground selected areas — generally located by name of location, ZIP code or area code and street name — to a good perspective on a prospective new community.

The program includes city and town names, highways, streets, roads, railroads, mountains, rivers, lakes, streams, even prominent buildings and monuments.

"If you printed out all of 'Street Atlas USA' at the highest level of magnification, the finished map would cover more than 10 football fields," says the company brochure.

The maps identify population centers and display elevation contours to give users a sense for the lay of the land. At any point, a map legend can be called up to help identify elements on the screen.

This software package is valuable to relocating families, however a review I noted that some of the newer streets were not listed and names of key places were not entirely up-to-date. This is probably an inevitable problem for any company displaying location data — in software or hard-copy form.

But it's a very practical program. Any selected map can be printed and used for reference when visiting the site. It's produced by DeLorme Mapping, P.O. Box 298, Freeport, ME 04032. $79.

After a community and home is selected, other types of currently available software programs might be helpful.

For example, if the newly purchased home needs remodeling to meet the special needs of the new owner, a recently produced program called "Home Design" could save time and money.

It allows the user to draw a home's walls to precise proportion — to the nearest inch. One can then graphically place furniture items in desired positions in each room, to visualize how things will fit.

Another program is designed for families who want to plan and install new landscaping. Called "Landscape for Windows," it provides the tools to create a new and custom landscape design for a residential lot. Trees, shrubs, flowers, swimming pool, lawn chairs and other elements can be drawn from 200 art pieces provided in the program's library, and positioned where one wants them.

Both design programs are produced by Expert Software, based in Coral Gables, Fla. (305) 567-9996.

Q. Where can I find up-to-date information about organizing and operating a homeowners association?

A. A number of books are available on that subject, many at libraries. The most current and helpful resource is probably the new nationwide computer bulletin board recently launched by Community Associations Institute.

The new service — Community Associations Online — is dedicated to community associations. It provides instant information to leaders who make decisions that directly affect the lives of condo and townhouse owners, and others who own a residence controlled by a homeowners association.

The service went on-line in December and has subscribers nationwide. They include association board presidents and members, managers, attorneys and other professionals who are actively involved in working with associations.

Those subscribers pull needed information off the on-line service, often printing and sharing it with their board of directors or homeowners. They also brainstorm ideas and network among themselves regarding best solutions for problems.

It's a great method for leaders of the 150,000 community associations in the country to sharpen their knowledge and skills.

With this service, CAI can share documents such as newsletters, architectural guidelines, policies and procedures, committee charters, rules and regulations and other recommended forms in a fast and convenient format, said Robert Wadlow, director of on-line resources for CAI.

For information, write: CAI, 4605 E. Elwood Street, #440, Phoenix, AZ 85040.

Roses fall victim to the black spot

family of roses specifically bred for greenhouse forcing from early March through spring.

Those roses are slightly larger than miniature roses people have known for years. They are ideal for a 7- to 8-inch pot and can be grown anywhere around the house.

Sunblaze roses are harder to hot summers and cold winters, and are more disease-tolerant, making them easy to grow.

Planting fungus-resistant rose varieties is the biggest step you can take toward disease-free organic rose growing.

I'll repeat myself once more. Start with regular cultural cleanliness, pick up and burn all debris and don't compost infected leaves! Interplant black spot-susceptible varieties with those that don't develop the disease. This cuts down the speed with which water-splashed spores can travel through the garden. Mulch with compost, it has been shown to help prevent disease in almost all plants, including roses.

Some roses, of course, may perform better than others in areas with different climates, so check the catalog descriptions carefully. When you order, tell the supplier that you want to choose varieties that can be grown organically in your area, and ask if your choices are OK.

Roses are the most popular flower in the world, and no garden should be without one.

forced-air heating system then transfers the heat throughout the home. For air conditioning, heat is extracted from the air inside the home and transferred back to the earth. Payback for the initial higher installation cost is between one to five years.

"There is no exhaust, no flame, no combustion," said William J. Steele, builder-developer liaison with Detroit Edison. "It (heat) comes out of the register cooler but longer so the distribution is very even."

The combination of earth-friendly materials used in Health House 95 eliminate the chemical air which builds up in homes using traditional materials.

Materials were chosen which either do not give off the harmful gases of VOC's (volatile organic compounds) or are very low emitting. VOC's are found in solvents, glue, paint and binders.

Water-based paint with low emitting VOC's were used throughout the home.

Wall to wall carpet when used in the home is 100 percent nylon with low VOC's. The carpet pad used is 100 percent environmentally safe and recyclable. Environmental Cushion Industries has a 100 percent non-allergenic, non-toxic carpet pad that is odorless, waterproof and carries a Class A fire rating. Area rugs chosen were all machine washable in natural fibers with natural backing.

No wallboard is used in the living areas of the home. Gypsum board with metal lath was used to avoid the allergens and environmental pollutants.

Erb Lumber donated the exterior grade plywood used instead of particle board for the subfloor because it has none of the harmful glue binders.

PVC pipe was not used in the home. BF Goodrich's FlowGuard Gold CPVC pipe was chosen instead because it is corrosion free, scale resistant, does not harbor mold and is safe at any temperature, either hot or cold.

Kitchen cabinets are made of solid wood, avoiding the glues used in pressed wood.

A solid surface counter top called Gibraltar, similar to Corian, was chosen for the kitchen counter tops because they contain no glues or resins.

Interior designers also had certain parameters to keep in mind when decorating. P.K. Fields-Helm of P.K. Fields Interiors, Inc. in Plymouth, coordinated the group of 14 decorators.

"If color is used properly, it makes such a warm, inviting atmosphere," said Fields-Helm.

Each designer chose a different style, but continuity was achieved through the use of colors, drab olives, gold and the new earth tones, which the group had agreed on.

"We used the 70's colors but with different values. They are muddier, not as bright," said Fields-Helm. "They are much more pleasant colors."

"A house could be healthy but not boring," said Fields-Helm.

No wallboard is used... Gypsum board with metal lath was used to avoid the allergens and environmental pollutants.

A clean room is also included in the home which has all hard surfaces and can be completely dust free

Since cottons shrink, the draperies puddle at the floor to allow for future shrinkage when machine washing

Wouldn't it be nice to go out and have a new house built using the ideas incorporated in the Health House? But for most, that is not an option.

A homeowner can air the house out, have the ducts cleaned and be very vigilant when dealing with mold

Homeowners can make choices when redecorating and renovating their existing homes to make it more environmentally friendly

When switching materials, choose toxin free textiles, wallpapers, paints and floor coverings.

Respiratory problems such as asthma and allergies can be due to the synthetic fabrics used. Choose textiles that are all machine washable.

When choosing a wallpaper, consider paper wall coverings over vinyl. Wallpaper does not have to be vinyl to be washable

For floor choices, smooth surfaces do not harbor dust and other allergy-causing particles and are easier to clean. Vinyl floor coverings and carpets and pads give off harmful gases. Ceramic, tile, marble and wood are among the alternative possibilities. Grout must be completely sealed to prevent mold growth. Adhesives used should be water based

Cutting edge

HomeTown Newspapers unveil classified advertising system

By Kathleen Bach
Special Sections Coordinator

From dinosaur to the cutting edge of technology, that's the giant leap forward HomeTown Newspapers took this week by revamping a 15-year-old computerized classified advertising system.

A new state-of-the-art Macintosh system has replaced the outdated MycroTek and put HomeTown Newspapers' classified department on the cutting edge of technology, said Rich Periberg, general manager of HomeTown Newspapers.

HomeTown Newspapers includes the Northville Record, Novi News, South Lyon Herald, Milford Times, Brighton Argus and Livingston County Press.

Periberg said the change will make HomeTown's already "outstanding" classified department more efficient, more flexible and faster in addition to offering the highest quality products.

Grace Perry, classified department manager, echoed those sentiments and said the new AD Vision program, purchased from the Ann Arbor-based C-Text company, will create a more reader-friendly classified section.

"It's going to look a little different. We made it reader friendly," Perry said. "Before, readers were going all over the paper to find what they were looking for. Now, they can just look for headers with little pictures in them."

For example, Perry said all the items for employment opportunities will be listed under a header with a man and a woman carrying their brief cases. Similarly, announcement ads can be found under the header with a megaphone on it.

Readers will also discover important HomeTown classified numbers in easy-to-find locations throughout the Green Sheet section.

The new system will mean positive changes for classified customers as well. Service will be received more quickly, Perry said, because the new system operates instantaneously. The old system took one to two minutes to recall data on screen.

"Calls should take as little as three minutes, where it would take five to seven minutes for a call the old way," Perry said. "Basically, we're cutting our call time in half."

In addition to quicker call times, classified customers will have a number of new special features to choose from, including boxed ads

DBA versus incorporation

K. Thomas Capello

Dear Kim Thomas Capello:
I am planning on starting a small business to be run out of my house. Should I incorporate, or be a DBA?

Incorporation and DBA are not mutually exclusive terms. There are several forms of business ownership from which you can choose. Incorporation is merely one of them.

Other forms of ownership are, sole proprietorship, general partnership, limited partnership, limited liability company and of course incorporation.

Any of these forms of ownership may file for a DBA. DBA stands for "Doing Business under an Assumed Name." This merely means that you are using a name different from your technical name to conduct business. All it takes to file for a DBA is the filling out of the appropriate reporting form, either at the state or county level.

If you have no partners in your business, you have three choices: sole proprietor, limited liability company or corporation. If you have one or more partners, you are by law deemed to be a general partnership, unless you elect a different form of business ownership. There are two main reasons to incorporate: favorable tax benefits and protection from creditors attaching your personal and family assets to pay corporate debts. These corporate debts can be either contractual in nature, or based on some form of tort liability (i.e., negligence).

A corporation is more costly to start-up and requires higher maintenance. A corporation must file annual reports with the State of Michigan, its own income tax return, have its own checking account and constantly be updated through minutes and meetings.

A sole proprietor should keep separate business records, but it is not absolutely necessary. Any profits or losses of a sole proprietor are reported directly on your individual income tax return.

The decision of which business entity to conduct business under is more complicated than the space for this article provides.

The above, however, should advise you that additional questions need to be asked and answered before your decision is made.

Kim Thomas Capello, an attorney practicing in the greater Novi area, prepared this response. This column is coordinated by J.R. Atiyeh, a Certified Financial Planner in the Novi-Northville Area, and the Novi Chamber of Commerce Financial Roundtable. Send your questions to: J.R. Atiyeh, CFP, P.O. Box 1011, Novi, MI 48376.

Joblessness inches upward

Unemployment rates in most of Michigan's major labor markets continued to inch up in March, according to seasonally unadjusted estimates prepared by the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

"Eight of the state's 10 major labor markets had higher unemployment rates in March than they did in February,"

MESC Director F. Robert Edwards reported. "But in seven of the areas the increase was negligible, amounting to three-tenths of a percentage point or less."

"All in all, there were only slight changes in unemployment among most labor markets during March," Edwards said.

"The largest month-to-month change occurred in the Upper Peninsula where the jobless rate climbed a full percentage point to 11.9 percent."

Unemployment in the 15-county region climbed as jobseekers entered the job market at the same time employment was declining with the end of the winter tourism season, according to the MESC.

Among the labor markets there were seasonal employment gains in construction, retail trade and services.

Manufacturing employment remained stable during the month, while wholesale trade reported job losses.

and accents that will help ads stand out more.

In the near future, Perry said, there are plans to push back advertising deadlines for the Green Sheet section from Monday at 3:30 p.m. to Monday 5 p.m. A fully paginated classified section, which will reduce the chance for errors, also is on the horizon.

HomeTown Newspapers, its readers and customers also will benefit from the transition by the future offering of expanded directories and other exciting ad-driven products.

"With a common system in place, there are more opportunities to take information gathered and repackage it in a different way," Perleberg said. "We could repackage it into a magazine, or an on-line service. We're only limited by our own imagination."

The classified advertising department for all HomeTown Newspapers is centered in the South Lyon Herald office. The staff takes ads for all HomeTown Newspapers as well as nine shopping guides from Fowlerville to Walled Lake. The department features 14 ad stations, and Perry said the representatives are doing an excellent job of adjusting to the change.

"The staff put in a lot of hours — weekends, nights — to learn the system and literally re-key thousands of ads," Perry said. "I give my staff a lot of credit for hanging in there and giving a lot of their time."

Perry said she started the search for a computer company that could provide the classified department with a new program a year ago, and decided on C-Text last August.

She also had to make sure she found a program that would work well for other closely related departments, including business, ad placement and composing.

"I had to do a lot of investigation and fact finding for every department involved — what each department needed, how information was going to be accessed, and what was going to be done with the information," Perry said. "It was a year-long process, but it's worth it."

HARMONY'S 6-STEP MULCHING PROCESS

Steps 1 & 2: Honda's unique twin-blade system cuts each blade of grass into two pieces.

Step 3: Then, because the deck is tilted rearward, a third cut is made as the blade revolves to the rear.

Step 4: The unique deck design circulates these pieces through the deck housing where they are cut over and over.

Steps 5 & 6: The tiny clippings are then deposited at the front of the deck. Lift created from the twin-blades draws larger pieces back into the deck to be mulched again.

Harmony™ Mowers

The Harmony line gives you the perfect balance of price and performance. And right now, they are even more of a value with our exciting financing incentives.

NEW HOME—CONSTRUCTION FINANCING

WE WANT YOU TO COMPARE OUR PRICES. GO WITH CHELSEA LUMBER — THE STATE'S ONLY ONE-STOP SOURCE — FOR BOTH MONEY AND MATERIALS!

THINK A NEW HOME'S OUT OF THE QUESTION? DON'T BE SO SURE!

To make our construction financing plan work, your contribution of labor, cash and the equity you may already have in a building site should equal about 20% of the final value of your New Home — any combination of the three will do (more labor by you and your friends cuts the amount of cash you'll need — and so on). If these numbers add up and after normal living costs your family income covers your mortgage payments — you can be on your way to a new home!

YOUR PART OF THE DEAL

- Pick the house plan that fits your family and choose the site for your New Home.
(IF YOU'RE BUYING A SITE NOW, WE CAN ADVANCE THE CASH TO PAY IT OFF.)
- Act as your own contractor; don't worry we'll help!
- Put some of your own labor into the process. The time you and your friends contribute replaces cash.

OUR PART OF THE DEAL

- We provide everything you need...the materials plus 100% of the cash for services and supplies not available from you or us.
- We provide full guidance — footings to finish.
- You receive our lowest cash 'n carry prices on materials. We want you to compare our prices.

(NO REQUIREMENT TO BUY MATERIALS FROM US)

NO FRONT-END OR INTERIM PAYMENTS — NO PAYMENTS UNTIL YOUR HOME IS FINISHED!

Now meet the folks who can make Chelsea Lumber's Construction Financing Plan work for you:

ORIN MAZZONI, JR. BECOMES EXCLUSIVE ANTWERP DIAMOND BROKER

Benefit of Charter Membership in Master IJO Jewelers Organization

Reprinted from a special to The Antwerp Times

Antwerp, Belgium—Typically, only the largest importers can purchase diamonds in Antwerp. Most jewelers are shut out because they would need a one or two million dollar cash deposit just to gain entry to the direct diamond sources visited recently by Orin Mazzoni, Jr. of Orin Jewelers in Garden City and Northville.

So how does a single store gain access to those sources? "Usually it can't," he explains. "But we're the exclusive charter member of the Master IJO Jewelers organization in this area. Since IJO is the largest Buying Group in the world, it has enormous clout. Master IJO Jewelers like us are welcomed in Antwerp."

IJO, headquartered in Westport, CT, is, in fact, larger than all other Buying

Groups combined. It has more than 900 retail jeweler members worldwide, including Australia, Canada and the United Kingdom, who generate over $600 million in annual retail sales. That goes a long way toward explaining why Master IJO Jewelers can buy from direct diamond sources in Antwerp.

Such rare access to Antwerp diamond cutters is rewarding for everyone. Customers, for example, can purchase the exact diamonds they are looking for and take advantage of special pricing. And the store, by building on its Master IJO Jeweler exclusivity and serving as the Antwerp Diamond Broker for its customers, builds its reputation as the only local diamond source people need.

Customers are assured of the highest standards in Color, Cut, Clarity and Carat Weight. Color is the actual body color inherent in every diamond. Cut is the "make" of every diamond in the production process. Clarity refers to tiny flaws that may exist in diamonds as proscribed in accordance with ratings determined by the Gemological Institute of America. And carat weight is the measure of all diamonds as quantified by special scales.

Readers are invited to stop by the store and see the exquisite selection of fine diamonds and gemstones available in the store.

PICKING THE RIGHT PERENNIALS

As a guideline, areas designated "sunny" are south or west facing, with no more than three hours of shade daily; "part-shade" are east facing with at least six hours of sun; and "shady" are north-facing or woodland beds with virtually no full sun.

Preplanting Care: If you buy perennials and cannot plant them the same day, water them thoroughly and place them in the shade to prevent excessive wilting.

Planting: Evenings and cloudy days are the best times to plant. Set the root ball deep into the ground so that all the roots are well covered and the plant itself is anchored in the soil. Water thoroughly and protect from direct sun and winds until it is re-established.

Watering: Water perennials thoroughly to give them a good start, then only as the soil begins to dry. Do it early in the day with a soaking technique at ground level. A sprinkling on the foliage isn't sufficient and it could promote disease.
