

Parade gets bail-out funds

Staging of event assured

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

The venerable tradition of Northville's Fourth of July parade has been rescued from near extinction as both the township and city governmental boards approved funds for the event.

The Township Board of Trustees led the way last Thursday by voting to contribute $5,000 to the festivities, which will include an attempt to bring back the fireworks display that was discontinued after 1990.

The $5,000 contribution is double what Celebrate Northville Committee Chairwoman Karen Woodside requested from the board. Supervisor Karen Baja made the motion for the increased contribution because that was the amount both entities formerly contributed when a fireworks display was part of the Independence Day festivities.

"I personally feel that the activities that take place that week really bring together the city and township," Baja said. "This is a real community event and a worthwhile activity."

Engelland and Barbara O'Brien opposing.

"I don't believe it's an appropriate use of government funds," Engelland said.

On Monday, the council went against a recommendation by the city administration to deny the request for a donation and voted to contribute $2,500. The council found room in what has been a tight budget to donate the money. Each year, the city provides an in-kind contribution of about $1,700 in police and department of public works services.

"This is one event that the community stands behind," said Mayor Chris Johnson acknowledging the importance of the festivities.

Woodside said she is grateful for the contributions, which will help take a sizable chunk out of the $19,000 she needs to raise for the

Committee finds nothing unethical from Baja probe

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

The Northville Township Ethics Committee issued its findings last week concerning Supervisor Karen Baja, a Meadowbrook Country Club membership and allegations of ethics policy violations.

The committee's report, made public during the May 11 meeting of the township board of trustees, says that "no proof" was provided to support the allegations made against Baja.

On March 28 four members of the board of trustees in a letter to the committee accused the supervisor of violating the township's ethics policy.

They claimed that Baja had accepted an honorary membership from the Meadowbrook Country Club, located on Eight Mile Road.

That action, the four asserted, violated the township's ethics policy, which forbids elected officials from accepting any gift with a value of more than $25.

Baja, however, said that she had not accepted the membership and therefore could not have violated the policy.

Meadowbrook officials have declined to discuss the matter.

The four trustees, however, maintained that Baja had accepted the membership. They said that five of the other six members of the board were told Baja had accepted it and they pointed to the fact that she had listed the membership in the township's official gift disclosure log.

The supervisor, however, said that the trustees' impressions were incorrect and added that the log entry was made when the membership was offered, not accepted.

The committee's May 5 letter to the board stated that "the subject of the complaint claimed they had not accepted the membership and no proof to the contrary was furnished to the committee."

"However," it continued, "if at any time it is discovered that any member of the board of trustees has accepted an honorary membership at Meadowbrook or any other country club it would be considered a gift. The code of ethics strictly forbids gifts in excess of $25. The ethics committee recommends that such a member be censured by the board of trustees."

Members of the board offered no comments about the letter.

Class of '95 in step for send off

Prom provides night to remember

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

Northville High School senior Melanie Helmer faced a dilemma of the worst possible kind Friday afternoon of last week.

"I had a hair disaster," she said. "It was huge."

Helmer could laugh about the incident while standing in the lobby of the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dearborn, her blond hair discretely pinned up and generous curls cascading from the crown of her head.

On any other occasion, a bad hair day would be merely a nuisance. But on such an auspicious and once-in-a-lifetime event as prom night, perfection is a necessity.

"I went back to the hair dresser and had them fix it. I told them it was just too big," said Helmer, who had spent the better part of the day - since 10 a.m. - preparing for the event.

"I got in the shower at 2:15 and was picked up at three."

Alleged threat maker a no-show in court

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

The Detroit teenager who allegedly made death threats in Township Hall last month failed to appear for a court hearing on Friday and is now being sought by police.

Northville Township police say DeAndre Siebert, 17, threatened to shoot several people, some of them township employees, at Township Hall on April 27. Siebert denied making the threats but admitted to making some angry comments after his mother, arrested the day before for shoplifting, told him she'd been mistreated by township police.

after making the threats. Police arrested him minutes later after stopping the vehicle he was riding in on Six Mile Road. Officers said they did not find a gun on Siebert's person or in the vehicle.

Siebert was arraigned on April 28 on a charge of misdemeanor assault. Thirty-fifth District Court Magistrate Eric Colthurst entered a not guilty plea on his behalf and set the teen's bond at $5,000/10 percent cash. That means Siebert had to post only $500 in order to be released.

Township police at the arraignment asked for a $15,000/100 percent cash bond. Detective Fred Yankee at the hearing said that police feared Siebert would not attend future proceedings.

Arcade burglars sentenced to hard time for offense

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

The last two men convicted of taking part in last year's burglary of the Player's Choice arcade in Northville Township were sentenced to long prison terms one week ago.

Detroit Records Court Judge Harvey Tennen on May 11 sentenced Joshua Prescott Cogo, 22, to seven to 20 years in prison and Scott David Buda, 18, to five to 15 years. Cogo was formerly a Howell resident and Buda was formerly a Northville resident.

The other two teenagers accused of the Aug. 14 arcade break-in were Aaron Raymond Morrison, 19, of Northville, and Bradley Michael Hatfield, 18, of Brighton. Hatfield in February agreed to plead guilty to a lesser charge in return for testifying against the other three men. In April Morrison pled guilty to all counts against him and was sentenced to five to 15 years imprisonment.

At his sentencing Morrison cited heavy drug use as the reason he committed a string of burglaries. Cogo and Buda told Tennen the same thing during their sentencing last week.

Morrison was convicted on a charge of being a habitual criminal offender, which means that he is not eligible for early release and so will serve at least five full years in prison.

Law enforcement officials say that Buda and Cogo could get some time knocked off of their sentences with good behavior.

Graffiti gang

Northville Township Trustee Russ Fogg and Public Utilities Director Bill Anderson are caught in the act of defacing the water tank on Beck Road between Five and Six Mile. Actually, the two were allowed to take spray cans to the unsightly tower because the structure is slated for demolition. The township recently obtained community development block grant funds to destroy the old tower which has been out of use for years.

Police claim man fabricated story of driveby shooting

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

A Northville Township man who three weeks ago claimed to have been the victim of a random shooting on Eight Mile Road lied, law enforcement officials say.

Kurt Potysch collapsed in the front hallway of his home shortly after midnight on April 29, suffering from four gunshot wounds. He told township police he had been shot on Eight Mile somewhere between Silver Springs Drive and Haggerty Road as he drove to the Taco Bell restaurant near Eight and Haggerty for a meal.

Potysch said he drove home after realizing what had happened to him. The 36-year-old man suffered wounds to his arm, neck, ear and cheek and was briefly hospitalized as a result of the incident.

Township officers said that Potysch at the time claimed to be unable to remember much of the incident, including exactly where it took place and who shot him or why. Questions about his account arose as it was investigated, Detective Fred Yankee said, leading investigators to talk with Potysch again.

"During the interview he admitted that the shooting had actually taken place in Detroit near the intersection of Six Mile and Greenfield," Yankee said.

Yankee added that Potysch claimed to still not know who had shot him or why and could not explain what he was doing in that area at the time.

Director of Public Safety Chip Snider, however, told the township's board of trustees last week that the incident "was (allegedly) a drug deal gone awry."

Snider added the fears of some township residents - that the incident is evidence of a random sniper was at work in the Eight Mile area - are unfounded.

The shooting has been turned over to the Detroit police department for further investigation, Yankee said, adding that Northville Township authorities are planning to file charges against Potysch for filing a false police report.

Police News

Thieves make off with juice fixins'

Northville Township police investigated the heist of a large quantity of Kool-Aid drink mix from the A&P supermarket on Seven Mile last Wednesday.

An A&P employee called police at about 8:15 p.m. that day. He said that a woman put $150 worth of Kool-Aid packages into a store cart, then walked out the front door without paying for it. Once outside, the man added, she loaded it into the back of a 1986 Ford Escort waiting by the door.

The man said he went out of the store and asked the woman if he could see her receipt for the Kool-Aid but she could produce none. The woman then got into the Escort, which was driven by a man, and the car drove off onto Seven Mile, the employee said.

The Escort is registered to a 30-year-old Detroit man, reports said.

BURGLARY: A Innsbrook Apartments residence was broken into last week, township police reports say.

A 31-year-old Innsbrook man told police that his apartment was broken into while he was out of town between last Tuesday and Friday. The unknown burglars got in through an unlocked sliding glass door and stole $200 in change and two watches worth a total of $150.

BURGLARY II: Two East Harbour Village Drive homes were the victims of unknown burglars last Thursday, township police say.

Thieves kicked in the front door of one home, causing $250 in damages and stealing merchandise worth $750, including a VCR and a mountain bike. The front door of another house was also damaged when burglars pried it open, reports said. Damage to the door was estimated at $500.

AUTO THEFT: A 1988 Ford Aerostar dropped off at McDonald Ford for repairs on May 10 was reported stolen by personnel the next day. Police have identified suspects.

LARCENY FROM AN AUTO: A $200 portable phone was stolen from an unlocked vehicle parked on Williamsburg Street May 9.

DRUNK DRIVING TIMES 3: Township police collared three people for drunk driving last week.

• Officers arrested a 51-year-old Livonia man last Thursday. Reports allege the man was driving 15 miles below the speed limit and crossing road traffic lines in his 1990 GMC Sierra on Seven Mile near Silver Springs Drive.

He admitted to drinking five beers that evening, the reporting officer said, and Breathalyzer testing later showed the man to have a blood alcohol level of 0.15 percent, above the legal limit.

• A 27-year-old Novi man was arrested the night of May 10. The reporting officer said he saw the man's 1994 Ford Bronco run the red light at Seven Mile and Northville Road just after pulling out of the parking lot of Woolly Bully's.

The man appeared very intoxicated, the officer continued, and a preliminary breathalyzer test put his blood alcohol level at 0.24 percent, more than twice the legal limit.

• A township resident was arrested in the early hours of May 10.

The reporting officer said he saw the 24-year-old man's vehicle speeding while eastbound on Seven Mile.

Breathalyzer testing later showed him to have a blood alcohol level of 0.15 percent, above the legal limit.

Citizens with information about any of the above incidents are asked to notify city police at 349-1234 or township police at 349-9400.

Race track proposal subject of discussion at city council meeting

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

The state Legislature's pending race track bill, aimed at keeping Michigan's eight tracks galloping along in attendance, has been a topic of heated conversation in recent months.

State Rep. Gerry Law, R-Plymouth, will speak about the bill at a Northville City Council special meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, May 22, in city hall.

Law will field questions from city council members and the public.

The bill, introduced in March, would permit the use of electronic gaming machines at race tracks, and would provide for off-track, inter-track and inter-state simulcast betting.

The measure would also allow tracks to stay open all day and year-round.

Currently Northville Downs is open six months out of the year and operates during the evening hours.

So far, city officials have only speculated casually on how the bill, if passed, would affect the community.

Race track officials say the bill will allow them to compete on an even playing field with the state's Indian casinos and with the Windsor gambling house.

Northville Downs reported a 20 percent loss in attendance this year, its first since the Windsor casino opened.

Flap over flags leads city to review policy

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

First they were up, then they were down. Then they were up again.

The tulip flags that were flying from downtown lampposts last Friday in promotion of Flower Days didn't perform a magical disappearing act when they were gone on Monday. The flags were taken down by the city after miscommunication between event organizers.

Toni Genitti, the owner of Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall restaurant and co-organizer of the two-week promotional activity for downtown merchants, said she thought event organizers had received approval from the council to fly the flags and requested they be rehung.

The council approved Genitti's request to re-fly the flags, which were returned to lampposts Tuesday by city workers.

Under city ordinance, banners or flags cannot be flown on city property without consent from the council.

The incident prompted the council to ask that the administration establish guidelines for the flying of flags or banners downtown. Historically, the council has handled requests on a case-by-case basis, usually denying requests that did not involve communitywide events or were profit driven.

Events as such as Flower Days that promote the downtown area are crucial for store owners and need the city's support, Genitti said.

"We need some help," she said. "We can't just sit here and wait for customers to come to us. The street may look cute empty, but it doesn't help the merchants."

Councilman Charles Keys agreed.

"I think retailers have enough problems trying to survive," he said.

"We have to keep in mind that we are here to serve the customer, whether it's homeowners or the merchants. We need to seriously look at how we can help the merchants in the city."

Flower Days is an annual event in Northville where the downtown streets are closed off for flower sales. Its main activity, a large flower sale, is scheduled for Memorial Day weekend.

A second promotion, Tulip Days, took place last weekend and the flags served the dual purpose of promoting that event as well.

Arrangements were made by Vermeulen Trust Funeral Home.

Memorial tributes can be made to the church in the form of Mass Offerings or to the Michigan Humane Society.

Recorders court reform eyed

State Rep. Deborah Whyman, R-Canton Township, says she will introduce legislation that would abolish Detroit Recorder's Court.

"The court system in Wayne County is horribly flawed," Whyman said.

"All Wayne County voters who happen to live outside the city of Detroit have been cut off from the voting process."

"The two courts in Wayne County, Circuit and Detroit Recorder's, have jurisdiction over the entire county. Yet my constituents can only vote for Circuit Court judges, not Recorder's Court judges. This offends the very concept of one man, one vote."

Under the current system, civil cases are heard in Wayne County Circuit Court and criminal cases in Detroit Recorder's Court. In every other county in the state, both civil and criminal cases are heard in Circuit Court. Defendants accused of a felony in Wayne County are tried in Detroit Recorder's Court. Defendants may request a Wayne County Circuit Court judge, yet this is rarely done.

"Attorneys are afraid to ask for a circuit judge because the request offends judges on the Detroit Recorder's Court bench," Whyman added. "The prosecutor has the right to request a Circuit Court judge, yet I can't find any evidence that this has ever happened."

Since Detroit Recorder's Court judges are effectively co-equal with Circuit Court judges, Whyman feels that those judges should become circuit judges.

"Under my proposal, the Detroit Recorder's Court would be abolished. The judges on that bench would be made Wayne County Circuit judges. When their terms expire, they could run for reelection countywide with their colleagues on the Circuit bench."

Whyman expects to introduce the proposed legislation sometime in the next two weeks.

NEW TREATMENT FOR HIP PAIN

Runners who experience hip pain coming from the top of their legs may be suffering from sacroiliac joint dysfunction. This problem can be the result of uneven weight distribution upon the pelvis, which can be exacerbated by running. A study published in the April, 1993 Journal of Orthopedic and Sport Physical Therapy reports that a simple manipulative technique can provide dramatic and immediate relief from pain. The technique calls for the patient to lie on a table face-up with hands clasped behind the neck. The physical therapist places one arm through both of the patient's arms, rotates the upper torso toward the therapist, and pushes down on the patient's raised hip with the other hand. This treatment is most effective before the onset of inflammation and tissue changes.

At Northville Physical Therapy & Rehabilitation Inc. individualized treatment programs are outlined for a variety of patient problems including orthopedic and sports related injuries as well as back, neck, and hand problems. Other areas may include neurological disorders such as stroke and traumatic brain injuries as well as arthritis and work related injuries. We instruct our patients in adaptive methods and home exercises that focus on improving muscle strength, function, and coordination. To schedule an appointment, call 349-3816, or see us at 332 E. Main Street, Suite A.

P.S. Nine of the ten runners provided with the new manipulative treatment for sacroiliac joint dysfunction reported no pain three days after treatment!

Phys ed program draws attention of national media

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

"Oh wow! They're here. They're here!" A small crowd of Meads Mill Middle School sixth grade students gathered at the entrance of the gymnasium May 9 in amazement and curiosity.

Physical education teacher Bryan Masi expended a considerable amount of energy keeping the students composed as they watched wide-eyed at the CNN camera crew setting up shop in their classroom.

After the excitement of the students settled down a bit, they spent the next hour in the limelight while they stretched, aerobized and practiced testing their physical fitness.

The national cable news channel highlighted the middle school as part of Northville school district's efforts to pave the way for healthy lifestyles for its students through participation in the Michigan Exemplary Physical Education Curriculum Project (MI-EPEC).

Northville was one of seven districts in the state to undergo self study this year in an effort to increase consistency throughout the district's physical education curriculum and gear it toward improving student fitness.

"Teachers may be very good and effective but they have different goals and objectives," said Dr. Michael Paciorek of Eastern Michigan University. "What we're doing is working with the districts to identify critical points in curriculum and prioritizing them."

The program, funded through a portion of the state's tobacco tax, is a consortium of nine state universities, including EMU (which Northville has been working with) the University of Michigan, Michigan State University and Western Michigan University, as well as the state Department of Education.

The various universities worked this year with selected school districts from January to March to examine and improve the districts' phys ed curricula. The goals and objectives are primarily based on the state's Model Core Curriculum for Physical Education.

"We really worked on identifying those critical objectives," Paciorek said.

"Teachers need to be accountable as to whether students are progressing in the critical skill areas."

Some of the goals include creating a fitness record that would follow a student from kindergarten through 12th grade and teaching students to make life-long healthy choices.

As it is, young people are facing an uphill battle to overcome Michigan's designation as one of the unhealthiest states in the country. According to the Michigan Fitness Foundation, one-third of Michigan school children are overweight, 39 percent of Michigan children have elevated cholesterol levels compared to a national average of 25 percent, and 63 percent of high school students fail to meet the minimum national standard for physical activity — 20 minute sessions three times a week.

"By and large, most high school kids are not in good shape," said high school phys ed instructor John Brington. "They don't make healthful choices on a regular basis."

Meads Mill sixth grade students Sarah Sebastian and Dan White use the rowing machines in the fitness room at the school. Camera crews from the Cable News Network came into the building last week to tape footage of the students for a story about the Meads' unique physical fitness program, conducted in conjunction with Eastern Michigan University.

Through the district's self study program with EMU, the high school staff has been able to sit down and pinpoint the most important areas of physical education instruction, he said.

"Our department's job is to try and make fitness fun and to teach them life-long skills," Brington said.

Masi said he has seen a marked difference in the level of fitness among his students since he began placing increased emphasis on getting in shape.

"Almost 100 percent of my students can run the mile. Two years ago about half of them couldn't make it," Masi said.

Gym class for Masi's students includes aerobics, running, jumping rope and lifting weights and using other machines like stationary bicycles and rowing machines in the school's fitness room.

The students still play games like soccer or basketball, but their emphasis is now more equal to that of the fitness aspect of the curriculum.

Meads Mill's fitness room was created by Masi this year as a mini-private gym. The room has several rowing machines and stationary bicycles — all donated by parents. The instructor also brought in homemade weights consisting of empty milk jugs filled with birdseed for students to work on strength conditioning.

"It's gone over great with the kids," he said. "They really get into it."

Rep. Rivers accepting applications to service academies

U.S. Representative Lynn Rivers has announced that Nov. 1 is her deadline for accepting applications to one of the United States Service Academies from qualified young men and women of the 13th Congressional District.

Application forms and full information may be obtained by writing Congresswoman Rivers at her Wayne office: 3716 Newberry, Wayne, MI 48184.

Nominations will be available for the class entering in June, 1996, to the Military (West Point), Naval, Air Force, and Merchant Marine Academies. Applicants must be at least 17 years old, but not have reached the age of 22 by July, 1996. They must be United States citizens, unmarried, and legal residents of the 13th District.

"In addition to these basic requirements, my nominations are based upon a strong academic record, SAT and/or ACT scores, extra-curricular activities, and the recommendations of principals, counselors, high school teachers, and coaches," Rivers said.

Once nominated, all nominees must pass competitive examinations given by the various academies. Those selected for admission will be notified early in 1996 and will report to the Academy in June, 1996.

Northville Township and the Wayne County portion of Northville city are included in the 13th Congressional District.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE AMENDMENT TO ZONING ORDINANCE 95-03-94

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ZONING ORDINANCE BY AMENDING A PORTION OF THE TEXT THEREOF.

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE ORDAINS:

PART 1. The Charter Township of Northville Zoning Ordinance No. 94 as amended is hereby further amended by amending Article XVIII, GENERAL PROVISIONS, Section 18.11 ACCESSORY BUILDINGS, STRUCTURES OR USES to read as follows:

Section 18.11 ACCESSORY BUILDINGS, STRUCTURES OR USES:

1. Accessory buildings, structures and uses shall be subject to the following regulations except as otherwise permitted in this Ordinance:

a. Relation to Principal Building: Accessory buildings, structures and uses are permitted only in connection with, incidental to, and on the same lot with, a permitted principal building, structure or use. No accessory building, structure or use shall be occupied or utilized unless the principal structure is occupied or utilized.

b. Permit Required: All accessory buildings or structures shall require a building permit.

c. Restrictions in Front Yard and Side Yard: Accessory buildings shall not be erected in any front yard or required side yard, with the following exceptions:

(1) An accessory building or structure may be erected in the non-required front yard on a lot at least two (2) acres in size provided the front yard setback of the accessory building is at least equal to the front yard setback of any residential dwellings on adjacent properties, including those directly across the street.

(2) Attached residential dwelling units, detached parking garages or carports may be exempted from this requirement provided the Planning Commission approves elevation drawings and materials. In reviewing such structures, the Planning Commission shall consider the impact of headlights and views from nearby public streets and adjacent properties.

d. Required Setbacks When Attached to Principal Buildings: Where the accessory building, structure or use is structurally attached to a principal building, structure or use, it shall be subject to all the regulations applicable to principal buildings, structures and uses, except where noted otherwise herein.

e. Required Setbacks when Detached from Principal Building: Detached accessory buildings shall be at least ten (10) feet from any principal building or any public or private street right-of-way line, at least three (3) feet from any rear lot line, and at least twenty-five (25) feet from the shoreline of any lake, pond, flowing watercourse or wetland regulated by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources or U.S. Environmental Protection Agency; except a boathouse, deck or patio may be constructed along the shoreline.

f. Restriction from Right-of-way: In no instance shall an accessory use, building or structure be located within a public right-of-way or easement, or private access easement.

g. Maximum Size: The cumulative square footage of detached accessory buildings or structures shall comply with the following:

(1) On lots up to two (2) acres in size the cumulative square footage shall not exceed one-half (1/2) the occupable square footage of the main building, which shall be defined as all living areas excluding a basement or garages.

(2) On lots over two (2) acres in size, the cumulative square footage of accessory building(s) shall not exceed two (2) times the occupable square footage of the principal building. The Zoning Board of Appeals may modify the maximum size standard for accessory buildings related to farming or raising of livestock in consideration of the size of the property, conformance with other standards and the character of adjacent uses.

h. Maximum Coverage: The combined square footage of all accessory buildings, structures and uses, may occupy a maximum of twenty-five percent (25%) of a rear yard.

i. Maximum Number: No more than three (3) detached accessory buildings shall be permitted on any lot less than two (2) acres in area in any zoning district. For lots two (2) acres and over in size, the number of buildings shall be determined by the maximum size and maximum lot coverage.

j. Maximum Height: The maximum building height of any detached accessory building shall be fourteen (14) feet, measured from the average height between the eaves and the ridge (see Section 2.2. DEFINITIONS, 13 for calculation of building height and Section 19.3. HEIGHT LIMIT).

k. Drainage: The placement and design of any accessory building or structure shall not have a significant negative impact on storm water runoff. The Building Department may require grading plans to ensure compliance with this provision.

l. Parking: Required parking for an accessory use or structure shall be consistent with the requirements of Section 18.12 OFF-STREET PARKING REQUIREMENTS computed for each accessory building, structure or use.

m. Restriction on Use: The parking, storage or remodeling of mobile homes, semi-trailers or similar items as accessory buildings is prohibited in all zoning districts; except the Zoning Board of Appeals may permit temporary construction trailers as provided in this Ordinance.

n. Restrictions on Occupancy: Accessory buildings shall not be occupied for dwelling purposes, as accommodations for household employees or caretakers, nor used for any business profession, trade or occupation.

PART II. Conflicting Provisions Repealed.

Any Ordinance or part of Ordinances in conflict herewith are repealed save that in all other respects Ordinance No. 94, as amended, is hereby ratified and reaffirmed.

PART III. Effective Date:

The provisions of this ordinance shall be in full force and effective immediately upon publication.

PART IV. Adoption.

This ordinance was adopted by the Township Board of the Charter Township of Northville, pursuant to authority of Act No. 184, Public Acts of 1943, at their May 11, 1995 meeting (5-18-95 NR)

Where families are born... close to home

A COMFORTABLE ATMOSPHERE

Imagine giving birth in a comfortable, home-like atmosphere where you make many of the decisions about your birth experience. And then, think about being able to go home within 24 hours after your baby is born. Well, the New Life Center at Providence Park in Novi offers all that, and it's just minutes from home.

A UNIQUE APPROACH

From the moment you choose to have your baby with us*, you can feel comfortable knowing you'll receive personal attention from caring nurses, unrestricted visiting hours, prenatal classes, a neonatologist present at your baby's birth, and private visits to your home after baby's birth by a nurse and choreworker. What's more, you will enjoy a comfortable home-like atmosphere where your birth partner can stay overnight. The New Life Center at Providence Park was born from the success of the New Life Center at Providence Hospital, where for generations, thousands of women have had wonderful, nurturing, family-centered birth experiences.

COME SEE FOR YOURSELF

But don't take our word for it. Take it from the women who have already enjoyed a Providence Park New Life Center experience. Here are just some of the things they have to say:

- "We had no idea what to expect, but delivering here was the best experience of our lives. The personal attention we received made this a very positive experience."
- "My experience couldn't have been better. The staff was fabulous! They were so helpful, friendly and comforting. I really felt that they made my experience the best it could be. The room was beautiful, clean and comfortable. Everything was wonderful!"
- "Absolutely wonderful! I was so pleased I would rate it right off the charts!"

Call 1-800-806-BABY for an appointment to see what the New Life Center at Providence Park has to offer expectant families.

*Only pregnant women who have been pre-screened and assessed as low risk by a Providence physician are eligible to deliver at the Providence Park New Life Center.

Public offers no comments on higher millage

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

Not a peep.
That's what the Northville City Council heard during a truth in taxation public hearing on the city's $4.6 million budget Monday night.

The budget was approved with a 4-1 vote from the council. Mayor Pro Tem Carolann Ayers opposed the budget based on a request she had made of the administration at an earlier meeting.

She challenged city officials to find the funds in the general budget for the proposed 0.15 mill increase to fund codification of the city ordinances and a retiree benefit cost of living increase.

Officials were unable to rise to Ayer's challenge, but some council members commended the city administration for its efforts to balance what they called an extremely "tight" budget.

"This budget is so tight that if you simply propose to cut any percentage of the millage increase, you may have to cut some services," said Mayor Chris Johnson.

"I think the administration has worked really hard to keep this as low as possible," Councilman Paul Folino said.

When budget talks first commenced, officials proposed a 2.6 percent decrease in the millage. After pulling apart numbers and individual departmental budgets, however, council members concluded that there were some essential services that needed to be funded.

The total millage rate proposed for next fiscal year is 16.74 mills - 4.9 percent higher than the current year. The increase will go toward street and drainage repairs on Sherrie Lane and Jeffrey Drive and the city's sidewalk improvement program, in addition to the retiree benefit upgrade and codification of the ordinances.

Approval of the millage increase will be voted on at a special meeting Monday, May 22, at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

The some 20 percent increase in health care benefits, Councilman

Mark Cryderman noted, has been especially troublesome.

"That was a real killer," he said. "If we hadn't had that, we would have been able to fund the Sherrie Lane project without raising taxes."

Councilman Charles Keys said he is satisfied with the document.

"I am very happy with it," Keys said "I believe the people of this community want superior services and will pay for that superior service. This is what makes Northville different from other communities."

Northville senior's smarts make him a wiz at two subjects

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

Chemistry or physics? Most people wouldn't lose a lot of sleep over such an abstract question. Many would admit to a limited knowledge of both subjects.

For Northville High School senior Vivek Mohta, however, the question wasn't so easily brushed off.

The exceptional student was recently named to both the United States physics and chemistry academic teams, an honor granted to only 20 students in the entire country in each subject.

As a member of the teams, Mohta had a chance to compete for a slot to represent the United States in either the 26th International Physics Olympiad in Canberra, Australia, or in the 27th International Chemistry Olympiad in Beijing, China. The problem is, he couldn't do both, so he chose physics.

"This is probably one of the biggest things I've ever done," said Mohta, who is optimistic about his chances of advancing to the team that will travel to Australia in July.

Next month he will compete against the 19 other students named to the team to be one of five who will represent the United States at the XXVI International Physics Olympiad in Canberra July 5-12.

The group will travel to the University of Maryland this Saturday for a nine day intensive training camp. During that time they will take tests and conduct lab experiments along with other activities, and five students will be chosen to compete in the competition based upon their performances.

The five students will compete against top students from 50 countries, including Russia, Ukraine, Germany, Turkey, Poland, Israel, Norway, Sweden, Australia, Mexico and Canada.

Mohta's journey to become a member of the teams involved taking a number of tests measuring his problem solving skills and physics and chemistry knowledge. That kind of commitment — months of studying, reading and research — would be enough to make many students shudder. For Mohta, however, it was a pleasure.

"To call it studying would make it sound like I'm working — but really I'm just having fun," said Mohta, who has had an active interest in science since he was a child.

The process began earlier in the year when physics teacher Bob Sharrar submitted Mohta's name to the American Association of Vivek Mohta's mastery of chemistry and physics make him a double threat in academic competitions.

Physics Teachers. Mohta then took a test in which he placed in the top 75. He then advanced to the second round, and took another test where he placed in the top 20 and was named to the team. Mohta went through a similar process for the chemistry team.

"It's fantastic," Sharrar said of her highly motivated student. "He's the first student from the high school to achieve this."

Mohta, who will attend the Massachusetts Institute of Technology next fall, has also achieved a bevy of other academic accomplishments including being named a National Merit Scholar, placing him in the top one-half of one percent of all high school students in the United States. He recently won a $2,000 scholarship through the merit program from the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company (3M).

Mohta said he is happy with his numerous accomplishments this year, although there are two people he says are even more ecstatic — his parents.

"I think they're more excited than I am," he said.

Leaky township hall roof slated for replacement following trustees' vote

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

A new roof is in store for Northville Township Hall following last week's vote by the board of trustees.

The board at its May 11 meeting voted 7-0 in favor of Manager Tamara Hanlin's recommendation to replace Township Hall's existing roof, which is old and prone to water leaks, with a new peaked one.

The township will pay the Royal Roofing Company a total of $81,800 to do the job.

A new roof for the hall has been on the township's wish list for years and is one of Hanlin's top goals for 1995. Water leaks from the roof are common and buckets are always placed under drips after a hard rain or snow.

Officials say the leaky roof gives township hall an unprofessional look and the dripping water could damage records and expensive computer equipment.

Money for the roof replacement will come from the township's capital outlay fund. Hanlin said she hopes that the new roof can be completed by around July 1.

Felled tree does number on roof of local home

By LEE SNIDER
Editor

Dave Jerome didn't think his Northville Township home needed a new roof but the forces of nature, apparently, disagreed.

Jerome and the members of his family were shaken from their sleep late in the evening May 10 when one of the formidable oak trees in their yard came crashing through the roof of their two-story Bloomcrest Drive home.

"It sounded like a train coming into the house," Jerome remarked. "Kathy (his wife) said it sounded like a herd of horses."

According to Jerome two trees, actually, toppled over, one falling north on to nearby power lines and the other taking a southward tumble on to the roof.

The impact of the crash also broke two windows and caused an estimated $30,000 damage. The accident took place at about 12:30 a.m. Wednesday night/Thursday morning.

The tree caved in the roof and invaded the bedroom of 17-year-old Jim Jerome, who was asleep at the time. The teen ended up spending the night in a sleeping bag in a safer location. He was not injured.

Jerome speculates that the brief, but heavy, rainfall earlier that afternoon weakened the root systems of the trees. The undermined trunks then gave out several hours later.

"They were big trees," Jerome added. "The one that hit the house was 50 feet away."

Jerome said he and his family have lived in their home for 22 years and the oaks were mature at the time they moved in. Kathy Jerome placed the ages of the trees at 100 years.

A lumber yard in Novi is reportedly considering salvaging the timber.

Jerome praised both the Northville Township fire and police departments for their efficient and compassionate response to the accident.

"It's amazing how helpful those people were," he said. "The fire department was out here from 2:30 to 5:30 in the morning. Then they came back the next day to see how we were doing. They gave Kathy a list of things she should do."

Jerome also said contractor and insurance company representatives were at the house the next day assessing the damage. He felt confident the situation was well in hand and that the family's inconvenience would be minimized.

"It was just one of those things in life. Nobody was hurt. It could have been worse."

Salem continues to press for sewer hook up

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Salem Township's recent setback hasn't stopped its efforts to install a new sewer system in the Hamlet of Salem, a system meant to connect with Northville Township's.

For more than two decades, the oldest section of Salem Township—known as the Hamlet of Salem—has had problems with sewage disposal. Salem officials developed a plan to install sanitary sewers there to solve the problem and last year applied for a state grant to pay for it.

Earlier this year Salem learned that it had lost any chance for the grant. In March, however, Salem officials applied to the state for a special low-interest loan to pay for the new sewer system. Earlier this month they were informed that the township qualified for the money.

Salem officials are now working on getting all the required paperwork to the state by June 30, the deadline for submittal.

Northville Township and Salem officials will be working together to do to assist those efforts, officials say.

That's because last year Northville agreed to let Salem tap its proposed system into the Western Townships Utilities Authority (WTUA) line to the tune of 50,000 gallons a day.

Salem needs a place to ship the waste collected by the proposed Hamlet system.

The October agreement with the township means that the sewage can be pumped into the WTUA system for treatment.

The benefit for the township comes from the $900,000 purchase price, money that will be applied to the township's multi-million-dollar WTUA system construction debt.

An engineering study of the township's WTUA system concluded that Northville Township has a significant chunk of extra capacity now and will retain that surplus when the community is completely "built out."

Northville Township will also bill Salem Township each month for the actual sewer flow it uses.

The deal also requires Salem to help pay a proportionate share of the costs the township will face when it someday has to contract with other sewage treatment agencies for more sewer flow capacity.

Gerald Ave. paving gets formal approval

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Gerald Avenue is in for a fundamental makeover following last week's decision by the Northville Township Board of Trustees.

After years of work township officials on May 11 formally approved a proposed Special Assessment District (SAD) that will generate money from most Gerald property owners to pay for most of the $1.3 million cost of paving the roadway. Construction is slated to begin sometime this summer.

Gerald Avenue runs in a north-south direction between Seven Mile Road and Doherty Drive just east of the railroad tracks. It's the only road Northville Township owns, having obtained it years ago in a deal that allowed the construction of the Highland Lake Shopping Center on Seven Mile.

The avenue is uneven, pitted and uneven. That makes the going hard on the traffic that uses the thoroughfare, owners of businesses located on Gerald maintain. Township, county and state officials have been working on a way to alleviate the problem for years.

The plan they've come up with is to smooth and pave the road at a total cost of $1.3 million. That will be divided between the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) and the Gerald Avenue property owners included in the SAD.

MDOT will pick up about $500,000 of the cost. The rest—$766,119—is the responsibility of those included in the proposed SAD. Their individual costs will be assessed on a 50/50 split: half based on the benefit the road improvements would bring an owner and half based on the length of the frontage of the owner's property on the avenue.

That works out to be a minimum of about $14,200 for each of the 30 property owners included in the SAD, spread out in 15 yearly payments. Most of the owners who attended the May 11 board meeting said that the price was just fine with them, however.

"Gerald Avenue is an embarrassment, it's an eyesore and we're ready to put the money up front to fix it," property owner Jim Long said.

The plan is to smooth and pave the road at a cost of $1.3 million. The expense will be divided between the Michigan Department of Transportation and most Gerald Avenue property owners.

The paving is necessary to improve the operation of the businesses located on Gerald. Long added, as well as to provide them with the chance to expand in the future.

Other Gerald owners also spoke in favor of the SAD plan at the meeting. Some said up to 70 percent of the owners support it.

One owner who does not support the plan attended the meeting. Leon Bonner, along with his lawyer Tom Hatch, criticized the SAD proposal and urged the board to scrap it.

Hatch said that the township did not have the legal authority to establish the SAD because it cannot legally own the roadway. Even if it could, the attorney added, the petition of support for the SAD from Gerald property owners, a necessity for establishing it, is invalid and void.

Bonner argued that the plan's cost allocation formula was unfair because he would not gain any advantage from the road project.

"I'm being forced to pay for something that won't benefit me," Bonner said.

The board, however, voted 7-0 to both confirm the formal roll of property owners who will be involved in the SAD and to adopt the resolution to sell the bonds to pay the $766,000 local share of the work.

Recycling goal leads to shoe collection drive

By YVONNE BEEBE
Staff Writer

As public awareness of such environmental issues as overcrowded landfills, air pollution and water contamination has increased in recent years, so has the drive to do something about it.

Students from Meads Mill Middle School and Winchester Elementary recently played their own small part in helping to relieve teeming landfills in the area by collecting old, worn out and unwanted pairs of shoes.

Though office paper, newspaper and empty plastic containers are most commonly associated with recycling efforts, shoes can also be turned into valuable products, including rubber wheels and building insulation.

The project, which was started as a part of Earth Day activities April 29, was made possible by a partnership with 2nd Chance Shoes, a company out of Southfield that takes donated shoes and ships them off to various areas of the world.

"We felt that this was a very important project," said Beth Berman, co-owner of 2nd Chance Shoes along with Rolf Guenther. "This gives us a chance to show kids what can be done with material other than just throwing it away."

Meads Mill seventh-grade students collected 2,314 pounds of crusty, worn tennis shoes and even pairs of brand-new, never-worn shoes.

The Meads students collected the largest number of shoes among the some 15 schools in the area that worked with the shoe company, Berman said.

Although Winchester students did not weigh the shoes they hauled in, Principal Kathy Morhous said they brought in a number of bags.

The Meads shoe collection drive was done in conjunction with an environmental unit the seventh-graders are studying in their life science classes. The classes took a trip to the BFI landfill in Salem Township as a part of the unit.

"The unit and (shoe recycling) project help them to understand they don't have to take everything and dump-it in a landfill," said Meads science teacher Norm Hannewald.

As part of the project, community businesses have also chipped in by rewarding the classrooms and students who collected the most shoes.

collecting students will receive coupons for free french fries from McDonald's restaurant on Six Mile Road.

"There has been a lot of involvement from the community," science instructor Phil Demski said. "That has really been an important part. They provided the incentive."

The shoes the students collected will eventually end up in various corners of the world. The donated shoes that are completely unwearable are shipped off to Germany, where about 85 percent of the shoe is recycled.

The soles go to make rubber wheels for garbage cans. The tops of the shoes are shredded into fine material and used for building insulation.

Shoes that are damaged but still wearable are shipped off to third-world countries. The company donates shoes that are in good condition to the local YMCA, where they are handed out to needy residents.

For those interested in cleaning out closets of old shoes and donating to 2nd Chance Shoes, call (810) 358-0731.

Financial workshop aims at helping women

Women can get all their financial questions answered at a special seminar co-sponsored by the Northville Chamber of Commerce and Douglas Bingham of Roney & Co.

Titled "Women and Investing," the seminar will feature financial adviser Gail Buckner, a senior vice president of Putnam Investments.

Buckner is a well-known speaker and a familiar face. Before joining Putnam in 1993, she was an anchorwoman on CNBC and contributed reports on personal finance to NBC's Today and Sunrise programs.

The event is scheduled for Tuesday, June 6, and will be held at Genitt's Restaurant, 108 E. Main, Northville.

Two sessions are scheduled, a breakfast program from 7:30-9 a.m. and an evening seminar from 6-7:30 p.m. The cost is $10 pre-paid, $12 at the door.

According to Buckner, women are faced with a unique set of financial conditions they need to plan for.

"The situation for women is critically different from that of men. Eighty percent of women retirees receive no pension and yet women live longer than men. Seventy-five percent of seniors living below the poverty line are women. Women need to save more and they need to start saving earlier."

Buckner said that while the divorce rate remains high, women are having to make their own way later in life.

"It's not unusual for a 58-year-old woman to come up to me and say, 'I stayed home and raised the kids and now he's filed for divorce.' It's sad. It's scary."

Buckner added that the average age of widowhood is 56.

According to Bingham, the seminar will focus on the vast array of investment instruments available on the market and will not be "product specific."

For registration information call (810) 932-5450.

"At Botsford Commons, I own my home and have access to health care services."

Although a lot of my friends live down south, I wanted to be here, close to my family. One day, my son told me about the independent life-style at Botsford Commons in Farmington Hills. When he showed me the new homes in the beautiful, wooded setting, I had no problem deciding.

Because I grew up in a small town, the private, full-service community atmosphere really appealed to me. Everyone is so nice here—my neighbor can't wait until the coffee shop opens.

Being able to own my home, without paying an entrance fee, was very attractive to me. All of the condominiums and apartments are designed with special features, such as an emergency call service, for continued independence. At Botsford Commons, my lawn maintenance and snow removal are taken care of. And I can choose to purchase additional amenities, including health care services, when needed.

I don't think I could have found a nicer place. My grandchildren love to visit too.

Reaching out to the people of our community.

If you would like to take a tour of Botsford Commons, just call Mary at (810) 477-1646. Botsford Commons is located at 21350 Archwood Circle (Orchard Lake Rd. off of Folsom), Farmington Hills, MI 48336-4702. Botsford Commons is affiliated with Botsford General Hospital.

Bill would bring religious writings into schools

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Public school teachers would be encouraged to read their classes the religious writings of American presidents if Sen. Doug Carl's bill becomes state law.

"We don't want the Mayflower Compact edited to delete references to God," said Carl, R-Mount Clemens, a conservative Baptist. "The Pilgrims gave thanks to the Indians, not to God, according to some texts I've read."

Two suburban Democratic senators, Gary Peters of Bloomfield Township and Ken DeBeaussiaert of New Baltimore, said the bill is unnecessary and should be tabled. Sen. Leon Stille, R-Spring Lake, chair of the Senate Education Committee, also appeared less than enthusiastic when the bill was unveiled May 11.

Carl's bill would pave the way for public school use of the Foundation for Traditional Values' religious books, tapes and parchments.

Carl's effort coincided with news reports that Pat Robertson's Christian Coalition this week will seek federal legislation to protect "religious expression" in public places, the use of religious symbols in public schools, school prayer and invocations at public ceremonies.

All are part of the religious right's "Contract with the American Family," a sequel to House Speaker Newt Gingrich's "Contract with America." TV evangelist Robertson's agenda was outlined in advance in Time magazine and the Chicago Tribune.

Meanwhile, the state Senate Government Operations Committee Wednesday was due to discuss a resolution urging the U.S. Constitution be amended to allow school prayer.

Carl and Sen. Phil Hoffman, R-Horton, are pushing companion measures (Senate Bills 252 and 254) to prohibit "censorship" of the use of historical documents with religious references. Their bills would amend the state School Code, which Gov. John Engler wants to repeal entirely but which Stille's committee says will be just streamlined.

Co-sponsors include Republicans Loren Bennett of Canton, Mat Dunaskiss of Lake Orion and Mike Rogers of Howell.

Cynthia Hughey of the Michigan Jewish Congress said the Carl-Hoffman bills contained "a Trojan horse to permit religious instruction in public schools. The Jewish community is for separation of church and state."

The East Lansing resident said "we've never had a problem with censorship. The kids sing Christmas and Hanukkah songs."

"Your experience is close to mine," said Stille, indicating the Carl-Hoffman bills may be in a 3-2 minority if they ever come to a vote.

Tom White, lobbyist for the Michigan Association of School Boards, called the bills unnecessary.

"To my knowledge, school boards aren't censoring now," White and others cited protections in the Michigan Constitution of the freedom to write and speak.

Favoring the bills was James Muffett of the Lansing-based Foundation for Traditional Values. He called the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution "a vehicle for censoring religious references. It's not an insidious plot. It's a product of a secular society and diversity ... It's a product of textbook publishers not wanting to offend."

Meanwhile, Muffett's Foundation for Traditional Values has circulated a catalog of books and tapes it calls "ideal for teachers, home schoolers, pastors." Among the titles:

- The Greatest Story Never Told, Muffett's narration of how Christians colonized America in video and audio tape.

- America's God and Country, an encyclopedia of 2,100 quotations from Founding Fathers, including scriptures read by Columbus and citations that America is a Christian nation.

- Defending the Declaration, a book showing "how the Bible and Christianity influenced the writing of the Declaration of Independence."

- In God We Trust, a tour guide showing where the Ten Commandments are engraved in three places in the U.S. Supreme Court building, among others

Two Meads students suspected in assault

Northville Township police on May 8 received a report of an assault and battery involving two students at Meads Mill Middle School.

A female student and her mother came to police headquarters to tell police of the alleged April 28 incident. They said a male student who was walking past the girl made an obscene comment to her. An argument ensued, the girl claimed, culminating in the boy choking, punching and kneeling her.

Other students eventually put an end to the altercation.

The boy admitted striking the girl, police reports said. He also claimed, however, that the comment was not directed at her but to another boy. He further alleged that the girl and her friends had teased him during the argument, taking his hat and refusing to give it back.

parade and fireworks show in addition to a concert by the Schoolcraft Woodwind Ensemble and a classic Jaguar car show at Northville Downs.

"This year it almost didn't happen," she said. "It had been passed around from person to person and there was no one to do it."

Celebrate Northville, a group of about 20 volunteer residents organizing the events, was formed during the end of March. So far, the ambitious group has raised about $8,500 for the activities.

The Fourth of July parade has been a tradition in the Northville community for over 100 years. This year's theme for the activities is "Freedom Alive in '95," to honor World War II veterans and others who contributed to the war effort.

The group recently launched a fund-raising campaign "Fund the Fourth," in which community members can donate $25, $50 or $100 to purchase a firework.

Before the display, a list of who bought which firework and for whom will be distributed to the buyers. Woodside hopes residents will buy fireworks as gifts for friends and family members.

The group is also looking for help from corporate sponsors to help raise the some $13,000 it will cost for a fireworks show. The cost of pyrotechnics has increased in recent years because of expensive liability insurance, Woodside said.

The fireworks show was discontinued after 1990 when the city experienced problems with public safety due to its location - on the hill behind Amerman Elementary School at Eight Mile Road.

The group has received tentative approval to hold the show at the BFI landfill site in Salem Township. For now, though, Woodside is just hoping the group can raise the funds necessary.

Anyone wishing to make a donation can call 347-1919 or send contributions to P.O. Box 5258, Northville.

Stylish seniors stop the show at prom

said Helmer's date Garrett Carter with a shrug, looking equally impressive in his black tuxedo. Carter was playing football in the front yard with his family when the limousine came for him. The activity helped ease some of the tension of formal picture taking by the couple's family, Helmer said.

The Northville High School seniors, dressed in their glitzy finery, celebrated the prom with enthusiasm, aware that the occasion marked the beginning of the end of their high school careers.

At a cursory glance, the Hyatt appeared to be host to some national awards show like the Emmys, as limousines pulled up to the entrance and glamorous stars exited from plush interiors.

Inside, camera flashes bounced off walls. The women posed in colorful taffeta, lush velvet and sequenced evening gowns and the men appeared in classy tuxedos, some even complete with top hats, gloves and canes.

"I walked out in the hallway and stopped for second. I thought, 'Wow, this is the prom,'" said Heather Huizing. "You look forward to it for all four years and all of a sudden it's here."

Huizing served on the decoration committee for the event. The group spent $1,000 on black and white balloons, table center pieces and a large ice sculpture carved into the shape of a "95."

"We're really happy with the way the decorations turned out," she said. "It's better than I imagined."

Once the formalities of picture taking and dinner were complete, the students kicked off their shoes and kicked up their heels for a night of dancing. Chaperones and even teacher Judy Patton got into the action, jumping on the dance floor and doing the hustle with students.

Principal Tom Johnson admired the spectacle from the comfortable shadows of his table. Performing some dance moves from his seat, he vowed to join the action later.

"I don't know exactly what I do," Johnson said in explaining his dance style. "I just get out there and move around."

"Do they play the polka at these things?" joked assistant principal David Maile, claiming he was not the dancing type.

Later Johnson admitted he never actually hit the dance floor. "Nobody was standing in line to fill my dance card," he said with a chuckle.

DJ Steve Bodnar, who has provided the music for about 30 proms since 1989, said he enjoys watching the students having fun. Over that time he has seen some interesting and humorous things, he said, adding that most of his observations would not be fit for publication.

"About two years ago, at Northville's prom, after everyone left, we found a pair of girls' underwear on the dance floor," he said.

All in all, the night went off without a hitch, Johnson said.

"It was perfect. I couldn't have asked for a better night," he said.

"It's a blast," said senior Chris Clark. And that was even before the music started.

Amerman assembly to focus on bike safety

The Amerman Elementary School PTA - Health and Safety Committee is sponsoring a Bicycle Safety Assembly on Tuesday, May 23, at 9:15 a.m. for grades kindergarten, one and four, and at 10:30 a.m. for grades two, three and five.

Helene Rimer of the Rehabilitation Institute of Michigan and Luke Stockhausen of Northville's Town and Country Cyclery will be guest speakers at the assembly.

The Amerman community is encouraged to attend.

There was plenty of time for both romantic slow dancing and cut-loose rockin' at the Northville High School Senior Prom last Friday. ## BREAST HEALTH EDUCATION

One in nine American women will develop breast cancer ...

If it's found early, about 90% of them will survive.

The key to beating breast cancer is finding it before it spreads. While it's still 90% curable. With the best chance of saving the breast.

At Providence, we're committed to providing a quality program to screen for breast cancer and teach women about breast examinations using:

- low-dose radiation
- fully accredited mammography equipment
- specially trained radiologists and technicians
- four locations with convenient hours
- acceptance of most insurance plans

Providence provides all the care you need if the diagnosis is breast cancer, from surgery, radiation and chemotherapy to reconstructive surgery. A multidisciplinary working group of physicians and other health care professionals assists patients in deciding which treatment is best for them, then streamlines that treatment so care can begin in a matter of days rather than weeks.

Providence oncologists have access to the latest cancer-fighting drugs and treatment protocols through membership in several national research organizations. The Hospital's radiation oncology program is affiliated with University of Michigan, bringing state-of-the-art care right here for Providence patients.

And we offer something more: The support, care and compassion cancer patients and their families need at a time that challenges body, mind and spirit.

Please call one of our four locations to begin your breast care program today. And practice it for life.

Pollution proposal encourages reuse

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

The state Senate has completed work on three House bills amending the "Polluters Pay" law to encourage reuse of urban industrial sites.

Minority Democrats and an environmental coalition were steamrolled on mainly party-line votes when they sought to maintain tough cleanup standards.

Sen. Gary Peters, D-Bloomfield Township, said the key bill "makes it nearly impossible for the state to hold anyone accountable for contaminating a parcel of property."

"This means the responsibility for paying for the cleanup of the land will be shifted away from the guilty party and put on the shoulders of taxpayers" - a cost shift of $500 million to $1 billion a year, he said.

The vote on final passage was 28 to 7 with three missing. Here is how local senators voted:

Sen. Robert Geake of Northville voted yes on the bill. David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, was absent. Honigman represents the Oakland County portion of Northville in the state Senate.

Gov. John Engler, who is expected to sign the measure once the House concurs in amendments, had sought the legislation with the help of urban mayors, who said the old Polluters Pay law (PA 307) was so costly that it discouraged redevelopment of old industrial sites.

But Sen. Chris Dingell, D-Trenton, said the bills did nothing to help urban areas. In a Senate speech in which Peters and Smith concurred, Dingell said, "The bill failed in its fundamental purposes:

- To remove liability from innocent subsequent takers of land, particularly vacant industrial land. Not quite all of the disincentives for reuse of this land are dealt with. There are no incentives provided for reuse of this land. This bill does nothing to encourage redevelopment of brown field (old city) over green field (rural) sites."

- To curb pollution. "This bill introduces new, complicated problems of proof to hold responsible persons, who actually have done something wrong, to the majority (Republican) party's refusal to consider mild rebuttable presumptions ..."

- To prevent pollution. "There is no encouragement of release prevention on sites where there haven't been releases before, or sites where there have been releases."

Senators rejected Smith's amendment to presume liability for operators who used materials that later contaminated the soil. Her amendment would have allowed local governments to apply stricter cleanup standards and required funding for cleanups where no polluter could be held liable.

Mill Race Matters

In recent weeks this column has featured articles on early settlers in this area. Today's article continues that tradition.

Another early settler in the area was Joseph Yerkes. He arrived during the spring of 1826 in a party that included many of his children and relatives.

The elder Yerkes, already widowed, took up 488 acres in Section 2, that which is bounded by Eight Mile, Seven Mile, Meadowbrook Road, and Novi Road. His property made up the majority of the square mile. Still existent on his former property is the Yerkes family cemetery where Meadowbrook now dead ends.

According to early recordings in the Michigan Pioneer Collection Series the Yerkes party consisted of 14 individuals who departed Seneca County, N.Y., on April 18, 1826, and traveled mainly by water arriving in Buffalo after four days. They waited there for eight days so that ice would move from the harbor. They then secured passage on a sailing vessel for Detroit. That journey took 10 days.

From Detroit the group traveled by wagon. The party consisted of four wagons, two of which belonged to the group and the other two were owned by Diodate Hubbard and John Hamilton. The group owned five or six cows which traveled with them.

Two members of the group, William Yerkes and Thomas Pinkerton, had made a trip to the area the previous spring and selected home sites upon which to build. The group of 14 went first to the Pinkerton homestead located at Nine Mile and Haggerty. The hired wagons refused to go further and unloaded gear at that location.

The party apparently traveled from Detroit via a northern route which went through Farmington, perhaps following near the route of today's Grand River.

Members of this party were Joseph Yerkes, his sons, John and Joseph, his daughters, Mary, Sarah, Elizabeth and Hannah, son William with his wife Hester Dennis, and their children, Joseph, William P., Mary and John in addition to Thomas Pinkerton, Richard Boughton, and Stephen Hayward, all bachelors.

Son William's farm was in Section 36 of what later became Novi Township and stood at the corner of Eight Mile and Meadowbrook Road (northeast) directly across from the property obtained by Joseph.

Son John received title to 240 acres at Eight Mile and Napier. The Pinkerton property was in Novi while Boughton and Hayward took up land in what became Northville.

Years later James McFarlin, the grandson of Hannah (Yerkes) Griswold, told of the group's first meal in the new community.

"...When the family arrived at their destination they ate their first meal down by the spring in a little swale. There is (or was) a large elm tree standing on the spot. But first they had to send some of the men or boys over near Farmington for flour. With this they made a kind of bread or cake of simply water and flour baked in the ashes and coals. Aunt Mary said that was the best meal she ever ate (and she was a first class cook, too) ..."

The Yerkes group had arrived in the area in May so they were late in planting for the first winter. As a result, hickory nuts, abundant in the area, became a mainstay of their diet. With the land being heavily wooded, it took quite some time for Joseph to realize that his property contained the largest natural body of water in Wayne County later called Yerkes Lake, now Lake Success in the Highland Lakes subdivision.

Other Eight Mile settlers that year were Joshua and Hannah Simmons (Greenmead) and William Bartow. The Yerkes family's first log homes were all completed by the fall of 1826.

Daughter Elizabeth became the first school teacher in the area the following spring. She later married James Wilkinson and raised her family in the community. Daughter Mary remained single and helped raise the children of her siblings. In 1828 John Yerkes married Sarah Thornton. Daughter Hannah married Clark Griswold, a nearby landowner, dying in 1839 at the age of 27.

Vets get up close to V-E ceremony

By LEE SNIDER
Editor

For two Northville-community World War II veterans, the national V-E Day commemoration was something more than just a few minutes of footage on the nightly news.

Harry Hartshorne and Dick Kelly, both of whom served in the 94th Infantry Division during the second world war, attended ceremonies at Fort Myer, Va., and Arlington National Cemetery May 8.

A presidential address, a 21-gun salute, a military pass-by and a jet formation fly-over were among the highlights of the event, which Hartshorne and Kelly witnessed with their wives, Dorothy and Polly.

Hartshorne said President Bill Clinton didn't say anything earth shattering in honoring the veterans but brought a magnetic presence to the occasion.

"He's charismatic. At one point he asked all the veterans to stand and everybody cheered. That was exciting. It makes you feel good. We were quite impressed."

Hartshorne, 69 of Northville, was raised in England but enjoyed dual citizenship due to being born in Detroit. In late 1944, he enlisted in the U.S. military and was sent to Germany to take part in the Battle of the Bulge.

Following discharge, he set up permanent residence in America and became active in 94th Infantry affairs.

He and Kelly were among 30 94th Division veterans at the May 8 commemoration. Overall, some 2,000 veterans and 6,000 guests attended the event.

Hartshorne said that after the ceremonies at Fort Myer he and his comrades traveled to nearby Arlington National Cemetery for a plaque dedication and tree planting.

Kelly, 69 of Northville Township, was at Normandy after the D-Day invasion and, like Hartshorne, participated in the Battle of the Bulge.

Kelly said he was on hand for wreath laying observances at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier and at the headstone of his commanding officer during the war.

"We were honored guests," he said. "We had VIP seating at the memorial."

Both Hartshorne and Kelly plan to attend the 94th Infantry reunion in Louisville, Ky., next month.

State Senate moves to limit liability suits

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

State Senate Republicans performed aggravated assault on the Michigan Trial Lawyers Association by passing a bill to cut product liability suits.

"This is about restoration of common sense," said Sen. Mike Rogers, R-Howell, charging that "we clog the courts with people who should not be there and are taking valuable resources and valuable time away from the victims who deserve to be compensated."

"It wasn't until this week that it was the corporations that sold defective products that got away with murder," replied Sen. Alma Wheeler Smith, D-Salem.

The MTLA infuriated Republicans with full-page ads that said the bill would result in more Great Lakes pollution.

The GOP bill hit the lawyers by limiting "contingency" fees under which lawyers collect one-third of a jury award rather than an hourly rate.

The vote was 22 to 14. The bill goes to the House, where Republicans have a 56-53 edge, but a tighter battle is expected.

Voting yes were 21 Republicans and one Democrat. Republican David Honigman, an attorney from West Bloomfield who represents the Oakland County part of Northville, joined 13 Democrats in opposition.

Two Detroit Democrats were absent. Except for Honigman, all area senators voted with their parties.

Senate Bill 344 will:

- Limit so-called "jury shopping" by requiring most suits to be filed where the injury occurred, not in Wayne County where corporate offices are located and juries are more generous.

- Allow juries to continue awarding economic damages (medical expenses and lost wages). But it will cap "pain and suffering" awards at $500,000 for death or loss of a vital bodily function and $280,000 for other injuries.

- Junk the doctrine of "joint and several liability," under which a "deep pockets" defendant that was 20 percent at fault could be required to pay 100 percent of the damages if other defendants were uncollectible.

- Prohibit recovery by a plaintiff who was 50 percent or more at fault because of alcohol or drug use.

Sen. Gary Peters, D-Bloomfield Township, said Republicans failed to show there was a general problem in Michigan and relied solely on anecdotes.

"Folks will remember the Ford Pinto with the exploding gas tank," said Peters - 27 deaths, 24 serious burn injuries ... It all could have been prevented for $11 per car.

"The outrageous part is that Ford Motor Co. knew very well there were probably some problems with that gas tank, but they did not worry because it met government standards," a defense under SB 344. "But government standards at the time dealt only with front-end collisions, not back end collisions."

ON WATCH FOR AMERICA.

On ships, planes and submarines, in locations around the world, the men and women of the United States Navy are on watch. They're putting their training to work in jobs that make a difference, while developing skills they'll need for a successful future. Just as important, they're doing it for their country. They're Navy people, working hard for America. And that makes us proud.

Environmentalist finds himself under attack from former allies

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Local environmentalists see state Rep. Ken Sikkema's "takings" bills as a threat — the Michigan equivalent of the western coal and timber barons' attack on government regulation.

"Large corporate interests want massive changes of the landscape," University of Detroit law professor Jacqueline Hand told the Eastern Michigan Environmental Action Council (EMEAC) last week in Bloomfield Township.

The irony is that Sikkema, R-Grandville, is the former executive director of the Western Michigan Environmental Action Council (WMEAC). The House majority floor leader, Sikkema is widely recognized as the House GOP's top environmental expert.

Tom Washington, who heads

Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC), joined the attack a week earlier when he called Sikkema's bills "a strange course of action for a lawmaker who had a reputation for being one of the leading advocates of environmental protection in the Legislature."

A Harvard law professor, writing on federal bills, said they "would likely trigger a blizzard" of property owners' claims against protectors of wetlands and woodlands.

A Sikkema aide said the bills neither try to redefine a governmental "taking" of property under the U.S. and state constitutions, nor provide for compensating landholders whose values may have been hurt by regulation.

"It's a look-before-you-leap bill. It says the attorney general must assist departments in identifying government actions that may result in a constitutional taking. And it says a department needs to consider the cost of 'takings' in its programs," said his legislative aide, David Ladd.

EMEAC speakers, however, said that was only part of the story.

"It's paralysis by analysis," said Peggy Johnson, EMEAC advisory board member and staff member of the Clinton River Advisory Council. "They (Sikkema's bills) set up feuds by opposing consultants and lawyers."

"The 'takings' bills would hit at the heart of water management," Johnson warned. Local developers don't fight regulations the way western timber, coal and grazing interests do, but there's evidence the fight is coming to Michigan.

Sikkema is in no hurry to have his bills reported out of the Environment Committee, his aide said.

Our Opinion

Pilot school program should be revisited

Decision time on what should be done with the restructured mid-week schedule at Northville High School is fast approaching.

The experimental program, new this year, is designed to allow instructors to meet in study groups one morning per week to generate ideas on cooperative teaching strategies.

High school faculty members are divided into six different groups - technology, student services, learning theory, curriculum/instructional methods, inter-disciplinary and intra-disciplinary - and meet for three-hour sessions every Wednesday. School doesn't start until 10:40 a.m., and students attend a full slate of abbreviated classes that day.

The board of education and the Northville Education Association are charged with making a decision on the fate of the pilot program. Should it be continued next year and, if so, should it in some way be altered?

Obviously, a lot of people - teachers, volunteers and students - have worked very hard to make the program a success. Special activities are offered at the high school on Wednesday morning to give students something to do with their down time, and an extensive effort has been made to review the effectiveness of the program and gauge parental attitudes. Teachers and focus group members were interviewed and group documents studied in an attempt to assess the project's worthiness.

For all the effort, however, reviewers turned up little concrete evidence to suggest the faculty planning sessions are accomplishing their ultimate objective - that of providing an improved learning environment for the students.

Program advocates are bound to make the claim that it is too soon to see results, that more time is needed for an experiment of this magnitude to produce the intended effect. Besides, it is difficult to obtain measurable results from a program whose objective is so wide ranging and hard to define.

Perhaps these very claims should be used as arguments against the continuation of the program. Long-term planning is necessary and essential but when it comes at a cost of three hours of classroom time a week, students and their parents are entitled to see results sooner rather than later. Expecting people to be patient and wait one or two years for evidence of improvement is asking too much. At some point, short-term losses must be regarded as too great a cost for gains that may or may not be forthcoming years into the future.

We suspect that the decision to continue the Wednesday morning program next year has already been made and that it is pointless to try to convince decision makers to cancel it. What hasn't been decided, however, is what format the program will take, and on this point we think educators should take a cue from the districts that provided the model for the Northville experiment.

If the program must be continued, faculty and administrators should at least find a way to make up a portion of the sacrificed classroom time. That is what was done in the Holt and Farmington Hills districts, as educators there sought to minimize the amount of direct instruction lost to the teacher planning sessions.

The study group meetings, it seems apparent, are helping expose teachers to more dynamic classroom approaches, but it is by no means clear that the benefits are justifying the costs.

Joint effort will pay dividends for students

The Northville/Novi high school athletic marriage worked exceptionally well this year and now the experiment is expanding into the academic arena.

The combined gymnastics team, made up of athletes from both senior highs, placed fifth in the state in the spring, demonstrating that the two quality schools have the ability to deliver a dynamite one-two punch when they concentrate their energies. Who's to say similar achievements aren't possible across the whole range of curricular activities?

Two years of discussions on joint projects started to bear fruit this year when the schools teamed up to sponsor a motivational speaker and the Chrysler Drunk Driving Simulator. In addition, school officials successfully lowered tempers during the annual Baseline Jug football game by arranging for the team members, cheerleaders and athletic directors to break bread, literally, at a pre-kickoff breakfast.

That and other efforts, such as a combined pom pon half-time show and a joint trophy presentation to the winning team, virtually eliminated any semblance of trouble between students of the traditional rival schools.

But that's just the beginning. The best, apparently, is yet to come.

Northville Principal Tom Johnson and Novi Principal Art Miller told the Northville Board of Education May 8 that exciting experiments are planned for next year.

According to the administrators, the two school districts will present classes this September that couldn't attain minimum enrollment levels if offered separately. Novi, for example, will offer an advanced calculus class that will also be open to Northville students. The class and others like it could help keep students on campus when they would otherwise go to a community college to take courses.

Other potential offerings include a joint advanced placement economics course at Northville, joint testing dates for the Michigan Educational Assessment Placement and state proficiency tests, the creation of a joint non-traditional language program, a combined half-time performance from the marching bands at the Baseline game and a joint athletic and band boosters pre-game get-together.

Collaborations of this type, we think, can only yield positive results. Combining the resources of two districts that are close in proximity and academic skill level makes eminent good sense and represents a breath of fresh air at a time when duplication and inefficiencies are, unfortunately, a lot more common than frugality and the intelligent use of public funds.

It didn't rain on our parade

Assorted and unrelated notions from the editor's grab bag ...

Lee Snider

I must say I feel a whole lot better about the prospects for a successful Fourth of July parade now than I did just a week ago.

For a while there, it looked like there might not be enough money to stage the parade, the more than 100-year-old event that is well known throughout the metro area.

Before I attended a meeting of the parade organizing committee earlier this spring, I didn't realize that many of the entertainment acts that participate in the parade get paid for their involvement - some as much as $400. In all, it takes $4,000-$5,000 to put on the extravaganza.

The scuttlebutt from official sources was that the Northville city administration was leaning toward turning down a request for a $2,500 contribution to the activity. Had that happened there was reason to think the township would follow suit, because that's usually the way it goes with these joint projects - if one governmental board votes thumbs down the other feels no compulsion to do anything different.

But that isn't the way it went at all. The Northville Township Board of Trustees last Thursday approved a $5,000 allocation, twice the amount it was asked for. Approval was in no way contingent upon action from the city.

Then on Monday of this week, the city council overrode a recommendation from the city manager and approved $2,500 for the event, meaning the organizing committee now has $7,500 with which to work.

I can't explain it (especially the unexpected responsiveness of the township) but I and others who are trying to fill the big shoes left by the departure of former organizer Debbie McDonald are grateful.

The parade committee, Celebrate Northville, still needs a lot more money if it is to stage a fireworks display as hoped, but the contributions of the city and township at least guarantee that the parade itself will come off. Thanks, township and city officials, for your support.

The pest gets the payoff

Township Detective John Werth's persistence got results last week when a Detroit Records Court judge handed down stiff penalties against two men convicted of burglarizing the Player's Choice arcade last year.

Werth was concerned that repeat offenders Joshua Cogo and Scott Buda would get a slap on the wrist from the notoriously lenient Records Court, so he made a nuisance of himself by hanging around the courtroom during the trial and lobbying hard for tough sentences.

His diligence paid off as Judge Harvey Tennen gave Cogo, 22, seven to 20 years and Scott Buda, 18, five to 15. Though both sentences are a lot lighter than the maximums, they're stricter than anticipated.

In a related development, Werth's complaint that Records Court is a non-representative entity is starting to take hold.

Werth believes the court is unfairly constituted because its judges are elected by Detroit residents only but it handles cases from all Wayne County jurisdictions.

State Reps Gerry Law and Deborah Whyman agree and are trying to do away with the anachronistic court. In an article in today's Record, Whyman says the court violates the "one man, one vote" principle.

The dozen do's of parenting

We have all heard of the 12 step process of recovery from alcoholism, drug addiction, over-eating, gambling, etc. Recently I came across another 12 step program from Hazelden Educational Materials (1991) - 12 Steps of Parenting.

Probably if we as parents followed these 12 steps to a tee none of our children would ever have to go to any of the other 12 step programs.

The 12 Steps of Parenting

- Let your children know how much you care in every situation you can, and especially when they are having problems.
- Keep a positive attitude about your ability to be a parent. Trust your instincts.
- Take care of yourself. Meet your needs for support with other adults so you can establish healthy parent/child boundaries.
- Take time to teach your children values while they are young. Live your own values everyday.
- Make your home a safe, secure and positive environment. Provide appropriate privacy for each family member.
- Get involved in your child's school, your neighborhood and your community. You, not the teachers or other authority figures in your child's life, are responsible for parenting your child.

• Set clear rules and limits for your children. Be flexible and adjust the rules and limits as they grow and are able to see them for themselves.

• Follow through with consequences for your children's misbehavior. Be certain the consequences are immediate and relate to the misbehavior, not your anger.

• Let your children take responsibility for their own actions. They will learn quickly if misbehavior results in unpleasant natural consequences.

• Be a guide for your children. Offer help with homework, in social situations, with concerns about their future, and in understanding and expressing their feelings. Be there to help them direct and redirect their energy.

• You are separate from your children. Let go of the responsibility for all your children's feelings or the outcome of their decisions. Your children's successes or failures are theirs, not yours.

• Provide an environment for your children where a foundation of mutual appreciation, support and respect is the basis of your relationship into their adult years.

If you have any questions or need any parenting tips, we are here to help.

Post office workers given bad rap

Dear Linnie Jo Strunk;
I thought your comments really stunk.

I truly believe that people receive the kind of service they "ask for." In other words, I think you walked into the post office with a chip on your shoulder. You sound like someone who planned to have a bad experience, and you didn't disappoint yourself.

I wonder if you even knew which post office you were in. It couldn't have been the Northville office. That's one of the best offices I have ever visited. The employees there have displayed nothing but courtesy and professionalism.

I wonder how much courtesy and professionalism you displayed. Did you have the courtesy to talk to the postmaster or supervisor before you wrote your stinging letter? I suspect you did not. I also suspect that if the counter workers were asked about the situation we would hear a totally different story.

I wonder about your story about the 19 cent stamps on the wedding invitations. I thought the 23 cent stamp was for the extra ounce. Maybe you got away cheap and should be thankful your invitations went through.

No wonder you hear so much about the stress of post workers. They have to put up with people like you.

If you have a sour taste in your mouth, it's obvious it's from tasting your own "sour-puss."

Nixon's picture belongs on stamp

To the Editor:

One of your readers asks, "Why put Nixon's picture on our stamps?"

Poor, ignorant man. It's one thing to buy leftist propaganda (Nixon subverting the Constitution? - balderdash!). It's another to display your ignorance in public.

Richard Nixon started his national career by rooting out communist spy Alger Hiss, a darling of the liberal establishment. For this he was never forgiven and was smeared throughout his career by the combined communist/liberal propagandists. When he announced that the liberal media "wouldn't have Richard Nixon to kick around anymore," he did so with good reason - they were definitely not sympathetic to him.

Most of the nation, however, didn't buy the smear campaign. His narrow loss to John Kennedy showed he had wide support among the American people. His subsequent election to the presidency was proof that the public support remained strong over a long period of time.

The people who listened to what he said (and read what he wrote) found him to be an intelligent, capable person with an uncanny grasp of world politics and an insight into the thinking of our opponents in the cold war.

When elected, he was thrust into the center of a "guns and butter" economy due to the Vietnam War.

Our involvement in Vietnam started with John Kennedy and was escalated by Lyndon Johnson. It was in my view "Nixon's war" and any and all fatalities should be credited to those who involved us. All attempts to win the war militarily were met with vitriolic public liberal outcries - don't bomb sanctuaries in Laos! - don't bomb Hanoi Harbor!

The decision to cut our losses and pull out must have been a hard one for President Nixon to make. It was the first war we ever lost. But the decision was made (and most of us agree it was the right one), and Nixon should be given credit for implementing it.

The highlight of the Nixon presidency was our rapprochement with China, driving a wedge between the two great communist countries and setting the early stages for the events that eventually led to the dissolution of the Soviet Union.

When it comes to the Watergate incident, despite a large, well-financed (by our tax monies), and determined investigation by the anti-Nixon leftist establishment, all anyone was ever able to prove was that he covered up for his cronies - something almost everyone of us has done at one time or another in his or her life.

As president, he should not have done so, and that was wrong. But there was no proven involvement by President Nixon in any of the other charges stemming from Watergate.

But Richard Nixon was Richard Nixon and he was hounded from office. What did Richard Nixon give us? The generation of peace, of course. A postwar period of prosperity that lasted until the Carter years. Division of the communist giants. The end of the Vietnam War. Leadership of the free world.

Why should he be on a stamp? Why not?

Andrew Jackson is on a stamp (and our money) despite the fact that he ordered the eviction of the five civilized Native American tribes from their southeast homeland and forced them to march to Oklahoma (The Trail of Tears) with the loss of thousands of lives.

Woodrow Wilson is on a stamp despite his pledge that "No American body will serve in a foreign war" and his subsequent entrance into World War I with the loss of thousands of American lives.

Franklin Roosevelt is on a stamp (and our money) despite the fact that he ordered thousands of innocent (Japanese) Americans into concentration camps during World War II.

Harry Truman is on a stamp despite the fact that he turned all of eastern Europe over to the Soviet Union after World War II resulting in many thousands of deaths and four decades of tyranny, and got us involved in the Korean War (and thousands of American deaths) without the will to win. (Remember the firing of General MacArthur?)

Lyndon Johnson is on a stamp despite the fact that he escalated our involvement in Vietnam to an all out war without the will to win, resulting in thousands of American deaths and a divided nation.

Your writer stooped to a disgusting low comparing Richard Nixon to Adolph Hitler. The leftist propaganda attack continues.

Does President Richard M. Nixon belong on a stamp? Of course he does.

He was a great president and a statesman. We should all be grateful to him for it. Use his stamp with pride.

John Colling

Come comment on race track law

To the Editor:
Legislation, at the state level, has been proposed to allow expansion of gambling activities at Michigan horse racing tracks. This is to counteract business lost to casinos. The expansion includes off track betting, on-site gaming machines and a change from seasonal to year round operation.

This legislation is co-sponsored by our Rep. Jerry Law. As currently proposed, it does not include any provision for local (Northville) input. As citizens of Northville, we would have no say or vote on any aspect of these significant changes.

As, in my opinion, The Northville Record has under reported activities associated with this legislation, I am writing this letter to let you know that Rep. Law will be at the Monday, May 22, city council meeting to discuss this legislation. Meeting time is 7:30 p.m.

I urge any citizens who have questions or concerns about a potential significant expansion of gambling activities at Northville Downs to attend this meeting.

Mark P. Cryderman
Northville City Councilman

Bond session was by invite only

To the Editor:

We are in receipt of a copy of your April 20 opinion article titled "Schools mum on bond strategy," and wish to clarify and correct some of the statements that you made.

For a number of years, Kemper Securities Inc. has conducted similar regional bond issue workshops, by invitation only, that cover a wide variety of bond issue related topics not mentioned in your article.

As was stated in our letter of invitation, "The daytime session is designed to meet the needs of school district administrators and will cover the topics of Facility Planning; Bond Issue Basics; Successful Campaign Strategies; and Election Communications; Legislative, Election, and Legal Issues, including New Legislation, Court Decisions, and Prevailing Wage."

We had also scheduled the Ann Arbor facility for an abbreviated evening session for "Superintendents, Board of Education members, and community volunteers on the topic of Successful Election Campaign Strategies" that was canceled due to lack of RSVP's.

The decision to refuse the request by news reporters to attend the workshop had nothing to do with Northville Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski. The program was designed to be a workshop for the audiences referred in our invitation - not a media event.

Lastly, your statement that the seminar was not a public meeting in the "usual sense" was incorrect and misleading. The seminar was not a public meeting in any sense. Those in attendance were our guests at our expense.

Should Northville Record readers perhaps question your vested interest to create a community controversy in an attempt to increase circulation?

Richard L. Allen
Sr. Managing Director
Kemper Securities Inc.

Township dept. did super job

To the Editor:

We hope you will allow us to use your newspaper to publicly praise and thank the Northville Township Department of Public Safety.

On Thursday, March 23, we suffered an electrical fire in our home at around 8 p.m. Bond

Since I work midnight, I was sleeping at the time, and inhaled a fair amount of smoke before my husband came into the house.

He got me out of the house and called 911.

We were both relieved by the speedy response to our call. Within three minutes a Northville Township patrolman was at our house, and he and my husband went around the house looking for the flicker of flames.

When they could see nothing, they entered the downstairs bedroom area.

They ascertained that a back bedroom door was hot, and left the house. By the time they had walked back around the house, the first fire truck had arrived, closely followed by vehicles of the volunteer fire fighters.

In all, I don't believe it took longer than five to eight minutes from the time of our call until firefighters were carrying hoses to the back of our house.

While the majority of the firefighters put out the flames which had by then broken out, one young man, Guy, stayed with me and obtained an oxygen tank to ease my breathing. He then called for an ambulance to transport me to the hospital for further treatment.

When the fire was out, both police and firefighters stayed to help my husband secure our property before they left. Meanwhile, the extremely skilled EMT from Huron Valley Ambulance assessed my condition, gave me breathing treatments, and transported me to St. Mary Hospital for further assessment and treatment.

The following morning, both my husband and I were gratified to discover that the firefighters had caused only minimal damage to our roof, and the inside of the house.

They were careful to damage only what was necessary to contain and extinguish the fire.

We were, and still are, impressed with the speed of our largely volunteer fire department, and their professionalism and skill.

We are also very impressed with the skill of the Huron Valley Ambulance EMT.

We residents of Northville Township are fortunate indeed to have such a skilled, caring Department of Public Safety, and emergency medical care.

We would like to commend those men who voluntarily risk their lives to assist their neighbors in times of trouble.

Never again will we ever think of volunteer fire departments as second-rate or unskilled.

We couldn't be in better hands. Thanks to all of you who help save our homes, and our lives.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred R. Bott

Sprawl/mall syndrome affects cities

The state Department of Agriculture, ever vigilant in keeping tabs on things agricultural, last month released a study indicating Michigan loses about 10 acres of farmland every hour.

In the decade of the 1980s, that loss mounted up to 854,000 acres, about the size of the entire state of Rhode Island. If the trend continues, another 1.8 million acres will be lost by 2012, nearly 20 percent of the total 10.1 million acres now farmed in our state.

Where's it all going? That's easy: Drive through Canton Township, now one of the most rapidly growing areas in Michigan, or in what used to be farming country just outside Brighton. It's going to be subdivisions and shopping centers, strip malls and chain stores.

It seems sad but true. There is a certain point at which countryside, with development approaching, gradually becomes real estate. Emotion and memory turn into a commodity.

Is it what we want? Probably. After all, the whole point of the suburban revolution which brought people out of the big cities and into greener pastures was a response to what people wanted. Peace. Quiet. Good schools. A sense of country with trees, a garden to plant, a lawn to mow.

Has the promise of the suburbs somehow turned into the problem of sprawl? I don't know, but sometimes I worry.

One aspect is economic. A conference on "Alternatives to Sprawl" put on last year by the Brookings Institution listened in astonishment when a paper by the Bank of America argued that sprawl in California has created "enormous social, environmental and economic costs, which until now have been hidden, ignored or quietly borne by our society."

"Businesses," the study went on, "suffer from higher costs, a loss in worker productivity and underutilized investments in older communities."

Here's an example of this: If SMART, the bus system serving the suburbs in southeastern Michigan, should fold, a whole lot of suburban businesses are going to have to pay a lot more than they are paying now to get workers to their shops, plants and hospitality businesses.

Another cost of sprawl: Downtowns.

I don't mean big city downtowns like Detroit and Lansing. I mean the kinds of downtowns which I retain on my list of things most cherished in Michigan.

Plymouth, whose village green is surrounded by shops. St. Johns, seat of Clinton County, whose downtown is punctuated by the county building at one end and the grain elevator at the other. Howell, with its magnificently restored 19th century courthouse. Birmingham, buzzing with good places to eat and fascinating things in store windows. Northville, Farmington, Grand Ledge, Portland, Rochester.

All these downtowns, and many others like them, summon up a sense of place, of the roots of history that distinguish one community from another.

What hurts downtowns?

Shopping centers, for one thing. Ask the folks in Birmingham 2000, a group devoted to sprucing up the downtown under the threat of Somerset North. Just a few miles away.

Big chain stores, for another. Ask the Brighton city fathers what happened to the base of locally-owned downtown merchants when Wal-Mart opened up just outside of town.

The anti-suburb theorists argue (as they did in last week's issue of Newsweek magazine, the source for much of this meditation) that suburbs inevitably turn into sprawl.

I think they're wrong, but we'd better be vigilant.

Thanks for help on food drive

To the Editor:
Open Letter to all participants in the Post Office charity ...

A heartfelt thanks to all of our wonderful customers who donated to our 1995 Food Drive. Your generosity is greatly appreciated. Also thanks to all the efforts of the employees at the Northville Post Office who gave that extra effort to help the needy.

Several employees and their family members gave their own personal time to drive around town and help retrieve the several thousand pounds of food that was donated.

A special thanks to the volunteers from Civic Concern who spent the day helping us unload and store the food as it was gathered.

Civic Concern is an organization which provides emergency service and relief to those in need.

Thank you all.

Fourth committee grateful for help

To the Editor:
Celebrate Northville is the newly formed organization responsible for ensuring that our Fourth of July traditions continue. Our Northville parade tradition began in 1877 or 1879 and was followed by a day of festivities.

I would like to thank the Northville Township Board of Trustees for its generous donation of $5,000 and the Northville City Council for its generous donation of $2,500.

In addition to their financial donations, both communities have been exceptionally kind in helping our committee iron out the many details involved in putting on a community celebration of this magnitude.

We have had many obstacles in our quest for private sponsors, and we are diligently working to offer the following events on Tuesday, July 4:

Parade: 10:00 a.m.
Classic Jaguar Car Show: 1:30 p.m.

Pre-fireworks Concert: Henningsen Field on Six Mile Rd.

Fireworks Display: At dark, possibly at the B.F.I. resource recovery site, subject to funding.

This year's theme as announced in last week's Record is Freedom Alive in '95 - A stars and stripes salute to the men and women who worked to defend our freedom 50 years ago.

We do need volunteer help and the financial support of the community to make this work. Please call Celebrate Northville if you can help, (810) 347-1919. We need approximately $19,000 to make of these events happen.

Our plan to fund the Fourth: Buy a firework!

All community groups and businesses are asked for their help in purchasing larger fireworks in the amount of $200 or more (selection available). There are also smaller increments available in $100, $50 and $25, sizes that may result in sponsors being grouped.

What a great graduation present, Father's Day present or wonderful way to surprise that special someone. Family sponsors are encouraged. When the fireworks go off, a program will be set, and you can watch with glee as your special firework appears on the list!

Please make checks payable to: Celebrate Northville, P.O. Box 5258, Northville, MI 48167. Include the size of firework, and print the name as you would like it to appear in the program.

The deadline for fireworks purchases is June 1.

The exciting cooperation of everyone will bring back our fireworks and ensure that the traditions for July 4 continue in the Northville community. B.F.I. has been extremely helpful and creative in working with us to select a site. I also want to thank Debbie McDonald for all of her hard work organizing the festivities for the past four years, and for her help and advice in organizing this year's parade. No one knows how much work is involved to make the parade start promptly at 10 a.m. each July 4, and the high quality of the Northville Parade is due to her hard work.

The support of The Northville Record has been outstanding and we thank all of you for your enthusiastic coverage. Our committee is a very low budget operation, and we could never get this message out without you.

Northville is an exciting community and, with your help, we will reinstitute the fireworks tradition.

Let's all join in and make this happen. We have invested hundreds of hours planning the events, but it will not happen without everyone's help. I will try to let you know how it is going in each week's paper.

Thank you.

Karen Woodside
Chairperson

P.S. We would like to extend a special invitation to any World War II veterans to participate in the parade. Please call the number above.

Put that mailbox in tip-top shape this week

It usually stands only about four feet tall, doesn't complain about standing in freezing rain or scorching sun, and doesn't talk, but helps you communicate with the world.

Give up? It's your mailbox, of course.

When was the last time you took a good look at your mailbox? Could it use a little sprucing up? Well, this is a good time of year to rectify the situation, so the Postal Service has designated May 15-20 as Mail Box Improvement Week.

Regardless of the degree of attention you wish to give your mailbox, the Postal Service offers a few tips:

Make sure your mailbox is large enough to hold the amount of mail you receive, that it can protect your mail from the weather, and that it is neat in appearance. It should be placed in a location where your carrier can have easy access to it and where it can be safely opened and closed.

Consider using non-flowering plants around your mailbox. Flowering plants may attract bees and other insects. In addition, make sure your street number is clearly displayed.

Remember to use only approved traditional or contemporary mailboxes for new installations or replacements.

Contact the Northville Post Office at (810) 349-0300 for additional information.

After you've given your mailbox that extra little bit of attention, remember to keep the nearby area clear of leaves, garbage cans, cars, or snow drifts in the winter, so your mail will be delivered without delay and in a safe and efficient manner.

-Judith A. Buffmyer
Postmaster, Northville

We like to get to know our patients on a first-name basis. Even before they have a first name.

Being a smaller hospital definitely has its advantages. It allows us to spend more time with you, from the moment you discover you're pregnant to the day you and your new baby leave for home.

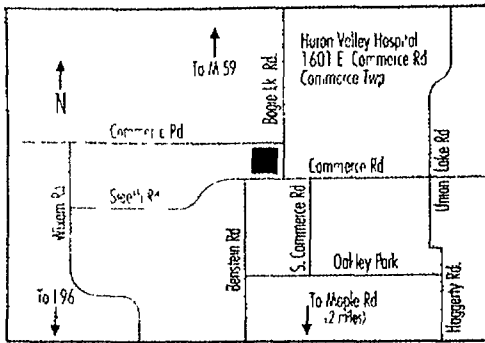

However, in many respects, small is the last thing you'd call us. Because as part of The Detroit Medical Center, affiliated with Wayne State University, we offer the experience not only of our own obstetricians, but of many other noted specialists-including those who've pioneered the field of high-risk pregnancy.

From our educational programs to our Complete Care Nursery with a full-time neonatologist, our goal is to make your pregnancy as trouble-free as possible.

Which means the only thing you need to concentrate on is choosing the perfect name.

To meet with a Huron Valley physician, call (810) 360-3450. You'll see how easy it is to get the right care, right here.

THE FAST AND EASY WAY TO PUT A FISH DINNER ON THE TABLE

Bass from the market for a family of four with two adults and two children under 10 years of age (figuring 8 oz. per adult per serving for adults and 4 to 6 oz. for children 10 or under)

2 lbs of white bass-whole $4.59/lb.
TOTALS $9.18.
2 lbs. of white bass-filleted $6.39/lb.
TOTALS $12.78.

fishing looks so simple in a Norman Rockwell picture. All you need to do is put a worm on a hook which is attached to a line hanging from a bamboo pole, toss it into the lake and wait. Sounds too primitive nowadays. But fishing still can be as simple or as complex as one wants to make it. For some, fishing is a way to put food on the table. Others see fishing as a sport. Then there are those who view it as a means to get away from it all and commune with nature. Regardless of the reason, how much would it cost to put a fish on the table for dinner?

There is some minimum equipment necessary to catch a fish, like a pole, line and hook and a worm. But after that, there are so many products available it would make your head spin and your charge card balance reel if you tried to purchase them all.

Regardless of how much or how little you spend in preparation for the fishing trip, when you come home empty handed be prepared to answer the question "Did you catch anything?" with "The fish weren't biting today."

Knowledge of the type of fish you're out to catch, along with skill, persistence and patience all play a part in the end result, whether you're going to heat up the frying pan or pop for fast food.

Bodner on committee to keep parade alive

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

This year a group of citizens is helping to take over the organization of the parade. Celebrate Northville, of which Ron Bodner is a committee member, is trying to continue the over 100 year tradition of the Northville parade.

Bodner, the owner of Copy-Boy Print Center, has the responsibility of encouraging businesses to sponsor floats. Any individual, business and nonprofit organization that wants to sponsor a float should give Bodner a call at 349-3730.

This year's theme is "Freedom Alive in 95." A stars and stripes salute to the men and women who worked to defend our freedom 50 years ago.

Four items have been agreed upon by the committee. There will be a parade, followed by a Jaguar car show, a pre-fireworks concert and then to wrap things up, the fireworks.

The Independence Day Parade will begin at 10 a.m. A Classic Car Show sponsored by the Jaguar Club will be held at Northville Downs. There will also be a space in the lot for people to display about 30 Jaguars.

The Schoolcraft College Woodwinds Ensemble will feature patriotic music at the pre-fireworks concert.

Preliminary plans are for the fireworks to be held on the B.F.I. grounds, Six Mile at Napier.

Celebrate Northville is also busy raising funds, called Fund the Fourth, where people can make donations to purchase fireworks. A program will list the order of each of the fireworks and its donor or group of donors.

If you are interested in making a $25, $50 or $100 donation, call the Celebrate Northville hot line at 347-1919.

Northville Township gave $5,000 and Northville City generously gave $2,500 toward the goal of $19,000.

Celebrate Northville is also coordinating efforts with other groups in the city.

If you have ideas or suggestions, leave a message on the Celebrate Northville hot line 347-1919.

In Our Town

Girl Scouts planning to paint the town

The Girl Scouts will "Paint the Town Green" on Sunday, May 21, from 1 to 3 p.m. All the buildings are not going to be painted green, but the color represents the girl scouts' green.

All the Girl Scout Troops of Northville will be cleaning up, weeding and planting throughout the city as a way of saying thank you for all the support over the years.

The idea for "Paint the Town Green" came at a Service Unit Meeting where all of the troop service directors from each school get together annually. The leaders are hoping this will become an annual event. They are working with the Chamber of Commerce, the Historical Society, the Recreation Department, churches, schools and sponsors of various troops.

There will be 43 troops out working with a total of approximately 466 girls from Daisies to Seniors participating.

The Amerman troops will be weeding and planting at Amerman Elementary School and the Pizza Cutter. Other troops will be moving wood chips at Mill Race Village.

Daisies, Brownies and Juniors from Our Lady of Victory School will be planting at the school and church. Cleaning and weeding will be done by the Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts on Saturday.

Thornton Creek Elementary School troops will be planting at Copy Boy and weeding at their school.

All six troops from Silver Springs

Elementary School will be planting at the First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

Winchester Elementary School will have all 13 of its troops moving wood chips at Mill Race.

The Moraine Elementary School troops will be a little more spread out when they send some to plant at Great Harvest and Copy Boy. Others will be weeding at the First United Methodist Church of Northville. Some will weed and plant at Moraine.

Cadettes and Seniors will be planting at the Chamber of Commerce, the Recreation Department and Center Stage Dance Co.

Resident to be recognized at dedication

Dr. Herbert E. Weston, a long time resident of Northville Township, will be recognized at the dedication of the Medical Science Research Building No. III at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor on Friday, May 19.

Dr. Weston is vice president of the James Holden Fund, the financial support group for the Holden Perinatal Hospital and the Holden Research Laboratory.

Students win local speech contest

Northville High School students Sonal Prasad, freshman, and John Columbo, sophomore, won the local Optimist Speech contest among high school students age 16 and under. Six girls and six boys from Novi High School and Northville High School competed in the local competition.

Prasad and Columbo also attended the district competition which was held at the end of April.

Grads present scholarships to women's centers

Schoolcraft College Women's Resource Center and The Women's Center at Oakland Community College each received $500 scholarships at the Northville-Novl Branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) Scholarship Awards Banquet held at Country Epicure Restaurant in Novi on May 9.

Patti Briggs, director of the Women's Center, Oakland Community College (OCC), and Barb Campau, head of Volunteer Services at Schoolcraft College Women's Resource Center, were both on hand to receive the scholarship checks and speak on the importance of the centers.

Oakland Community College's Women's Center is a place for women to receive support, encouragement and advice, according to Briggs.

Campau stressed that most of the women funded through the center at Schoolcraft College have children and jobs, and are abused, divorced or traumatized and yet continue to look toward the future even in the face of these many challenges.

The average grade point for

women at both schools is 3.5.

Janice Wesbay, a recipient of a scholarship from the OCC Women's Center, summed up the history behind her returning to school and how important it was to her to have received money to help pay for books during a period of financially hard times.

Schoolcraft scholarship recipient Rosemary Crowell realized the need for further education after being laid off from her job in the aviation industry and going through a divorce which left her and her children financially strapped.

Friends rally to help leukemia victim

By CAROL WORKENS
Staff Writer

Neighbors, friends and clients are coming forward in the quest to keep the clock ticking for Ron Mastej.

Jack and Niky Hachigian and Bonnie St. Thomas of Northville have organized a Red Cross Donor Drive for June 3 from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church in Northville in an attempt to locate a bone marrow donor for their neighbor, who was diagnosed with leukemia in March.

"I had a physical last year and blood tested," Mastej said. "My doctor advised me to take the test again later in December and like many people I didn't."

In February when the flu was going around Mastej decided to get some antibiotics and get the blood test out of the way at the same time.

"It turned up in the routine blood test in late February and then it was confirmed later in March when they did the bone marrow biopsy," the 53-year-old St. James parishioner said.

"I knew what they were testing for when I saw the counts keep going up," the father of two daughters, ages 23 and 16, said. "It was a question of which kind of leukemia."

"It's an unusual feeling," he said. "They tell you unless you do something you're going to die. We all know we're going to die, but then you think, 'Oh, really, that fast?'"

Mastej was diagnosed with chronic myelogenous leukemia (CML).

"Statistics are that 50 percent die in the first three and a half years without the bone marrow transplant," Mastej said of CML.

Jack Hachigian, left, and Bonnie St. Thomas have organized a bone marrow donor drive for Ron Mastej, center, to be held June 3 at the First United Methodist Church of Northville.

"The transplant is the only cure offered right now and 50 to 60 percent of the people who have a bone marrow transplant are cured," he said. "If you live a year after the transplant you're cured."

Another form of leukemia, chronic lymphatic leukemia, can be treated with chemotherapy.

At first Mastej used to wake up a lot at night thinking, "I'm young, I got a lot of time yet. Now you just don't know."

With the moderate chemotherapy Mastej is receiving, he is asymptomatic and his blood counts are remaining somewhat in line.

"My doctor said there is no reason to change right now," Mastej said, "and to see how the donor search goes in the meantime."

Siblings are the best possibilities for a successful match.

There is a one out of four chance that a match will be found when siblings are tested.

Mastej has a brother and a sister who were tested, but were not found to be a match.

"They matched each other," he said.

Mastej is of Polish and Lithuanian descent. The possibility of finding an exact match is greater when the donor and recipient are of the same heritage.

"I caught it earlier than most people, so in that sense I'm lucky," he said.

"I decided I'd better learn something about it," he said. "I have to decide what's going to be best for me."

No stranger to research, Mastej has been in private practice as a business attorney for 28 years. A graduate of Catholic Central High School, Mastej received his undergraduate degree from Notre Dame and returned home to graduate from the University of Detroit School of Law.

Using his finely tuned talents for pursuing information he has been talking to doctors and specialists in L.A., Minnesota and Houston to discover other options should the search for a donor prove unsuccessful.

"At some point, if the clock is ticking, you have to make a decision to do something else," Mastej said.

"I think I have a good attitude," he said. "I've learned that these things happen to you no matter what and you have to accept it and deal with it."

"Initially not knowing a lot about it, you think the worst always," he said. "I've gotten to the point now where you just have to do the best you can and continue on the best you can. That's all you can do."

The conservative approach is to wait two or three months to find a donor, according to Mastej. If nothing turns up, he's ready to seek the next form of treatment.

The initial test for donors is a simple matter of drawing blood. The names of volunteers whose marrow is not found to match Mastej's will be entered in the registry of the National Marrow Donor Program for others awaiting transplants. Volunteers must be between the ages of 18 and 55 and be in good health.

The more complicated antigen and sub-molecular testing is done in the lab and can take another two to four weeks.

If a donor is found, the process of drawing the marrow from the hip bone is done with a needle under general anesthesia on an out-patient basis and takes about one and a half hours. The donor may be sore at the site for a day or two. About a liter of marrow is removed which represents only two to three percent of a person's total supply. Like blood, the marrow regenerates in about three weeks.

The marrow is then given to the recipient like a blood transfusion. The recipient undergoes a week of chemotherapy before the transfusion which literally kills off most of the leukemia cells and the immune system.

"The new cells attack the old cells and kill them so you end up with no leukemia," he said.

"The transplant itself is pretty routine," Mastej said. "After that it gets rough again, because the immune system is gone and it takes about three to six months for it to get back to normal."

Mastej has accumulated an extensive file on the disease and the treatment options.

"You've got to do some studying on your own," he said. "These (doctors) are very bright people. You learn a lot by talking to them about the different approaches and drugs they use."

The Red Cross Donor Drive will be sponsored by My Friends Care Bone Marrow Transplant Fund.

A 50/50 raffle will be held at various times throughout the day to raise money to offset any costs associated with the drive.

School News

MEADS MILL MIDDLE SCHOOL

Physical education has taken the spotlight at Meads Mill with the arrival of film crews from CNN. Northville is one of the 12 districts in the state along with several universities chosen to test a new state funded program designed to improve student physical fitness. According to a study conducted by the University of Michigan, one third of Michigan students are overweight.

The test program, which is funded by the new increase in tobacco tax, concentrates on five areas of fitness: cardiovascular fitness, body fat composition, flexibility, muscular endurance, and muscular strength. The program focuses on non-competitive activities such as aerobics and weight training with the accent on why it is important to remain physically fit.

CNN spent several hours filming various gym classes at Meads Mill and interviewing students. The spot was run on their "Headline News" features throughout a 24-hour period last week.

Our fitness room at Meads Mill is taking form. We currently have six fitness machines, four rowing machines, one stair-stepper and one stationary bike. To help make the fitness room more complete donations of equipment are still needed.

If you have any fitness equipment that you would like to donate, please contact Mr. Masi or Mrs. Murray at 344-8435. When the fitness room is complete we will be able to offer Meads Mill students individual fitness programs to help them develop healthier lifestyles.

Congratulations to Principal Dave Longridge who recently won two prestigious state awards: Outstanding Middle School Principal of the Year and Outstanding Secondary Principal of the Year. Anyone who knows Dave and his many years of dedication in the Northville district knows how deserving he is of these awards.

Students who will be new to Meads Mill in the fall are invited to attend a New Student Orientation on Wednesday, May 24, with their parents, at 7:30 p.m. This meeting will be held in the cafeteria and includes discussions about the many opportunities available at our middle school. A tour of the school will conclude the program.

Meads Mill annual Honors Night will be held on June 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria. All students who will receive awards will be given an invitation to attend. We look forward to congratulating all of our outstanding middle school

Congratulations and good luck to Meads Mill seventh grader Eric Connell, who is currently in Huntsville, Ala., completing a scholarship to the Space Academy. In order to receive his scholarship, Eric had to write essays on his future plans, his scientific interests and hobbies.

Eric credits his seventh grade science teacher, Norman Hannebald, not only for his inspiration but for his swift and skillful operation of the school's fax machine in helping Eric meet the application deadline by 15 minutes. Eric will spend the week preparing for a space shuttle launch simulation.

The traditional PTSA sponsored eighth grade farewell dance is scheduled for June 15, from 7 to 9 p.m., at Northville High School. Eighth graders from both Cooke and Meads Mill are invited to attend. Details will be announced and will appear in the school newsletters. Any sixth or seventh grade parent interested in helping out is welcome to chaperone.

There will be no school the afternoon of Friday, May 26. Dismissal is at 11:11 a.m. School will also be recessed on Monday, May 29, and Tuesday, May 30, for Memorial Day observance. School will resume on Wednesday, May 31.

COOKE MIDDLE SCHOOL

The eighth grade choir and "Encore," the show choir from Cooke, received top ratings at the District 12 MSVMA Choral Festival.

These choirs have the honor of being the first middle school choirs from Northville to have participated in a festival of this kind. Because of their top ratings, the choir qualified to perform at the state level on May 17, at Michigan State University in East Lansing. Congratulations Raider Singers!

The Cooke Choir Department will hold an end-of-year concert featuring a medley of music from the '50s through '80s entitled, "Rock On!" The concert is tentatively scheduled for June 13, at 7 p.m. and is free-of-charge. Please contact the school for further information.

Congratulations to Ann Marie Sadler who was named Science Teacher of the year by the Detroit Association of Science Teachers!

Orientation for parents of the incoming sixth grade class for 1995-96 will take place Tuesday, May 23, at 7:30 p.m., in the Cooke cafeteria.

On June 7, from 7:30-8 p.m., an informational meeting will be held regarding the reading portion of the seventh grade MEAP. Parents of current sixth graders will be given tips on how to prepare your child for this test.

A bookmark contest sponsored by the Cooke Media Center has a winner - sixth grade student, Scott Weickel. Great job! Lindsay Dehne and Sarah Polletta have received an Honorable Mention.

Assistant Principal, Gail Weeks, announces the following students have been chosen as "Citizens of the Month" for May and June: Megan Melvin, Justin Morris, Dustin Kubas, Chris Paiva, Tina Wild, Jenna McClure, Adam Jones, Chad Dillard, Christiane Yuguchi, Elizabeth Dolle, Chad Polich. Outstanding! Those students "Caught Being Good" include Maggie Jakob, Lauren Reese, Holly Taylor, Shane Raub, and Brian Roth. Great job!

Colleagues of the Month for May and June are: Ann Marie Sadler and Gretchen Krawiec. Congratulations!

The Cooke PTSA will meet on Thursday, June 1, at 9:30 a.m. Hope you will join us for our end of the year breakfast meeting. This is a great opportunity to meet the officers for the 1995-96 school year!

No invite needed for wacky wedding

There is one wedding where you don't need an invitation, just a reservation.

The Feigenbaum and Spazzolino children are getting hitched during Holey Matrimony at Genitti's Little Theatre in downtown Northville running now through September.

The interactive comedy includes the audience as the guests, friends, and even the relatives of the Myron Feigenbaum and Serafina Spazzolino families. Almost everything is included, the flowers, the musicians, the seven course meal and non-alcoholic drink. Only one thing is missing - the bridegroom.

One lucky man may even find himself in the bonds of "Holey Matrimony" before the night is through.

Admission to the wedding and reception is by reservation only.

For more information, or to make reservations, call (810) 349-0522.

Genitti's "Hole-in-the-Wall" and restaurant is located in downtown Northville at 108 E. Main St., just east of Center Street.

'Crimson Tide' offers tense political drama

When a volatile Russian nationalist and a rebel faction of the former Soviet Army seize control of a nuclear missile base, it triggers the greatest global emergency since the Cuban Missile Crisis in Hollywood Pictures' dramatic action adventure film "Crimson Tide."

With the world on the brink of disaster, the USS Alabama sets sail, patrolling Russian waters with enough nuclear firepower to start World War III.

As the crisis escalates, the unthinkable occurs — the Alabama is given an order to launch its nuclear missiles. In the resulting chaos, two dedicated naval officers — the Alabama's seasoned commander, Captain Frank Ramsey (Gene Hackman), and his brilliant executive officer, Lt. Commander Ron Hunter (Denzel Washington) — clash over the validity of their orders and vie for control of the sub.

The two face a moment of truth when Hunter's insistence on operating by the book collides with Ramsey's aggressive, combat-proven instincts. Pitted against one another, the crew also find themselves caught in this mortal duel, torn between their loyalty to a captain they know and trust and the ethical dilemma posed by their new lieutenant commander who instigates a mutiny.

With the threat of Armageddon hanging in the balance, only one man will prevail to determine the wake of the Crimson Tide.

The Hollywood Pictures release is produced by Don Simpson and Jerry Bruckheimer, and directed by Tony Scott.

The authenticity of the drama is what first attracted Simpson and Bruckheimer to "Crimson Tide."

"Quite simply, it was an extremely well-told tale based on reality," said Simpson. "We really like reality-based movies, and given what is currently happening in Russia with Zhirinovsky's popularity escalating, it is clear that Russia is in trouble and this could easily happen."

The catastrophic circumstances, the impending danger and the unpredictability of the situation in which the characters find themselves captivated Director Tony Scott. "I have a fascination with people who are on the edge," he said. "There's a darkness and a weirdness to people whose lives revolve around violence or a violent occupation. I'm fascinated by men who want to go down in a shell under water for 75 days. It's so alien to me."

The unconventional setting of the story also intrigued the filmmakers. "We are always looking for interesting venues," said Simpson. "Putting the audience in a place or situation that they'll probably never get a chance to experience first hand — like a nuclear submarine — is exciting."

Although the submarine location is integral to the story line, the producers are quick to point out that the film is really about two individuals. "This is a character piece," said Bruckheimer. "It's a story about two men confined in a tube, hundreds of feet under water, who hold the future of the world in their palms of their hands. Both of these officers believe they are making decisions and doing things for the right reason. Each believes he is right — it's just a difference in the way they were trained."

Denzel Washington and Gene Hackman engage in a battle of wills in 'Crimson Tide,' an action adventure from Hollywood Pictures.

"Both points of view are valid and, at any given moment, you're never quite sure which point of view you should favor. It enriches the drama of the piece."

Michael Schiffer, who wrote the screenplay, said the movie is about men interpreting their roles in a time of unbelievable stress. "For me, it's like '12 Angry Men' on a submarine. It's philosophical drama and although there are a lot of technical bells and whistles, it's not about the hardware; it's really about the moral fiber of two dedicated men."

The film is also a cautionary tale with political implications. "The story reflects the political instability of the world," said Producer Simpson. "For a moment in time, when Gorbachev was in power, America thought that democracy would descend upon Russia and that all we had to worry about were various third world factions or Red China, but now we find we have to worry about Russia again."

"This film is about the reality of global politics and what can easily happen in the blink of an eye."

Producers Simpson and Bruckheimer first worked with Director Scott on the smash hit "Top Gun," which grossed over $470 million worldwide. They later re-teamed on the films "Beverly Hills Cop II" and "Days of Thunder."

Early in December 1993, producers Simpson, Bruckheimer and executive producer Michael Schiffer climbed aboard the USS Florida, a ballistic missile submarine currently on active rotating patrol off the shore of Bangor, Washington.

"It was exciting and yet frightening," said Bruckner. "I'm not big on confined spaces or being locked up in a 560 foot tube for a day, but watching how the sub works and seeing the crew train was incredibly interesting."

"Once we got out to sea," said screenwriter Schiffer, "everybody knew there was a movie in the making."

'Jury Duty' spoofs justice system

JURY DUTY
By Heather Wadowski
Northville

Pauly Shore ("Son-in-Law," "Encino Man") stars as Tommy, a simple-minded idiot who can't even hold down a job as a stripper.

When his mother, played by Shelly Winters, elopes, he and his dog Peanut have no place to eat or sleep. So Tommy decides to be a juror on America's most heated trial ... "The Case of the Drive-Thru Killer."

Tommy, unlike the other jurors, doesn't want the trial to end. He's got a huge suite and is getting paid $5 per day. So, he votes "not guilty" even though every other juror votes guilty. The thing is, Tommy's right. Now it's up to him (and Peanut) to prove it.

And that means putting his own life on the line.

Pauly Shore isn't as funny as Crawl in "Son-in-Law." Half the punch lines in "Jury Duty" are said during the previews. But still, "Jury Duty" is humorous. And you can't help but love Pauly Shore. "Jury Duty" gets four and one-half stars out of five. You'll laugh a lot and be on the edge of your seat during some parts, but still, you hope for better.

Pitchers star in 5-2 win over Canton

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

The hottest team in baseball isn't playing in Philadelphia, Chicago or Detroit.

It's in Northville. The Mustang baseball team continued its winning ways Thursday by nipping Western Division rival Canton 5-2 on the road.

Brian Buser pitched into the seventh inning and got relief help from Tom Willerer as Northville took its 10th win in 11 games.

Even coach Mickey Newman is a little surprised at his team's success.

"I knew we had a fast, athletic club (coming into the season)," he said. "But our pitching and defense have been outstanding."

Northville is also getting it done at the plate.

Willerer and Jeff Sieving singled to lead off the second inning. Nate Kirmis followed with a walk.

Mark Sander then delivered the big hit with a two-run double. Two more runs scored on a sacrifice fly from Kyle Hitchcock and a passed ball.

That was all Buser needed.

The right hander scattered six hits and allowed single runs in the fifth and seventh inning. He won his third game.

Willerer got him out of trouble in the seventh with one pitch. The righthanded junior, who is already drawing attention from major league scouts, got a double play on one pitch to end the game.

CHURCHILL DOUBLEHEADER

Northville tangled with Livonia Churchill May 8 at home and won twice.

Willerer pitched the Mustangs to a 2-0 triumph in the opener. He tossed a one-hitter and struck out eight.

"He was absolutely dominant," Newman said. "Tom was throwing

Kickers play to 2-2 tie with Wildcats

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

It was tough, it was physical and in the end neither team had won.

Northville and Novi high schools played to a 2-2 standstill Saturday before a large, vocal crowd. It came as no surprise to Mustang coach Doug Lyon that the game was so intense.

"(Novi) did exactly what I thought they'd do," he said. "They played hard, physical soccer."

"It was a hard-fought game," Wildcat coach Larry Christoff agreed. "We knew we were in for a tough game."

The two squads last met in the state tournament a year ago. Northville won that game.

But it was clear from the start that the Mustangs were facing a different Novi crew.

The Wildcats, in fact, carried the play for a good portion of the first half. Despite facing a strong wind, Novi kept pressure on the host Mustangs.

Finally, the Wildcats' hard work paid off. Jessica Kenny was knocked down twice inside of Northville's penalty area.

Novi was awarded a penalty shot as a result. Erin Vogel converted to give her team the lead.

"It was dead center under the crossbar," Christoff said.

The Wildcats made it difficult for Northville to get back into it by dropping most of their players back around the net.

"Novi played extremely good defense," Lyon said.

Christoff said it was important for his team to score first.

"I knew they had speed and good ball-handling skills," he explained. "We had to take a lead then play defensively."

Novi took a 1-0 lead into halftime.

After the break, it was Northville's turn to take charge.

"They attacked rather hard," said Christoff.

The Mustangs dominated the first 15 minutes of the half. Northville got on the scoreboard with about 24 minutes to go.

Jackie Rompel tied the game on a pass from senior Katie Kohl. Christoff said he was hoping his team could ride out the pressure.

"I was looking basically to hang on for 10 minutes," he said.

The two schools slugged it out from there on.

Northville took the lead with just more than 17 minutes to go. Lauren Metaj scored on a header with Kristen Wasalaski assisting.

Despite falling behind, Christoff was optimistic.

"I had the feeling the game wasn't over," he said.

The coach was right. With about 15 minutes to go, Novi got a free kick deep in Northville's territory.

The Wildcats capitalized as Nicole Borashko scored. Kenny assisted.

That's the way it finished.

"It was a great game," Christoff said.

NORTHVILLE 1, SALEM 1

The Mustangs played one of their best games of the season on the road May 10.

Despite a furious attack, Northville was unable to score in the first half. Lyon said his team had three chances close to Salem's goal.

"We had the chances," he added. "We just didn't put them in."

The coach was proud of his team's effort, however.

"We were just overpowering them," Lyon said.

A scoreless tie was broken early in the second half by the Rocks. Northville's Amanda DeKoker tied with about 20 minutes remaining in the game.

"We always play Salem tough," Lyon said.

NORTHVILLE 7, FRANKLIN 0

The Mustangs started the week off at home on May 8. It was as lopsided as the score indicated.

"They're really down," Lyon said.

Northville led 2-0 at the half. Courtney Todd and Sue McQuaid scored.

In the second half, Kohl, Lisa Bernardo, Wasalaski, Kohl and Rompel scored.

Mustangs rout Churchill squad 103-34 in duel

Moore, MacIver lead Northville to win

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

As pastings go, the Mustang boys' track team 103-34 romp over Livonia Churchill Thursday was a big one.

Coach Dennis Faletti said he knew his team wouldn't be facing much of a challenge.

"They had a couple of good kids," he said. "But we knew they were weak going in."

Despite that fact, the coach didn't let his team off easy. Northville always takes a business attitude to every meet, Faletti said.

"We try to work on things," he added.

The Mustangs are working on a Western Division title.

Both Northville and Farmington Hills Harrison were undefeated heading into action this week. The two schools met Tuesday (past Northville Record deadline) to decide the championship.

Faletti said he expected a tight battle with Harrison.

"It'll be a matter of who performs on that day," he commented. "If anybody messes up on either team, the other guy wins."

Northville certainly didn't mess up Thursday. As the score indicates, the Mustangs dominated nearly every event.

The meet started off with a sweep in the long jump. Eric Moore led the way with a leap of 18-feet 10 3/4-inches. Farb Navi was second at 18-10 and Anthony DeBenedet was third with a jump of 18-9.

In the high jump, Pat Gordon took first by clearing 5-5. John MacInnes was third at 5-3.

Northville won the 3,200-meter relay in 8:52.2 with Jason MacIver, Jon Woodsum, Sean Hollister and Todd Zayti. Mike Minard finished third in the high hurdles with a time of 18.2 seconds.

"They had a couple of good kids. But we knew they were weak going in."

DENNIS FALETTI
Track coach

Chris Gomersal was the winner of the 100-meter dash in 11.4 seconds. Navi was second by an eyelash at 11.4 and Matt Routian was third at 12.2.

Jim Clemens, DeBenedet, Gordon and Moore won the 800-meter relay in 1:35.3. Lloyd finished first in the mile race at 4:41.9, Dwight VanTuyl was second at 4:53.1 and Jeff Zwiesler third at 4:56.1.

In the 400-meter relay, Gomersal, Moore, Jim Clemens and Navi took first in 45.2. Gordon won the 400-meter dash in 51.3 and MacIver was second in 52.6.

Northville finished second in the 300-meter hurdles with Wes Morland's time of 44.5.

Matiss Kukainis won the discus with a throw of 115-3 3/4. He also took a victory in the shot put with a throw of 41-10.

A time of 2:03.1 got Zwiesler second place in the 800-meter. Tony Clemens grabbed a win in the 200 in 24.1 seconds.

Pole vaulter Ty Fowler was third at 11-0. Rob Abbott won the 3,200-meter in 10:50.4 and VanTuyl was second in 10:51.2.

Northville finished off its crushing of Livonia with a win in the mile relay. The team of Gordon, MacIver, Lloyd and Zayti finished in 3:33.3.

Tracksters take ninth at Clarkston Relays

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

A scaled-back version of the Mustang girls track team finished ninth at the Clarkston Relays Saturday.

Northville High finished with 22 points, which was a far cry from the host school's winning total of 128. WLA rival Livonia Stevenson was second with 122 points.

"We took about 20 kids," coach Chris Cronin said. "It wasn't a very big team."

Senior prom was held Friday night, which was one of the reasons for the reduced roster. Northville used mainly freshmen and sophomores at Clarkston, Cronin said. Some seniors did compete.

At any rate, Northville took fifth place in the 400-meter relay in 54.9 seconds with Carrie Dalziel, Melissa Poole, Missy McRae and Meredith Reavil.

Cronin said the group fought hard to place.

"Poole brought us back," he said. "Carrie opened it up."

Jenny Sekerka competed in the discus and took fifth place with a throw of 89-feet-10 inches. Renee Olin finished sixth in the shot put with a throw of 28-6.

In the long jump, Poole was fifth at 15-4 3/4.

"She had a good jump," Cronin said. "She's getting more consistent."

Adrienne Browne was fourth in the 3,200-meter race in 12:32. Tammy Cook took fourth in the high jump at 5-0.

Dalziel had her best time of the year in the 100-meter dash. She finished third overall in 12.69.

Golfers top Ladywood by 3, get set for state tournament

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

For about the 600th time this spring, the Mustang golf squad had lousy weather to play in last week.

Nonetheless, Northville High came out on top of Livonia Ladywood 213-216 May 10. Coach Trish Waldecker was very happy to get the win.

"They're a really tough team," she said. "They beat us last year."

The two schools squared off at Fox Creek in Livonia. Waldecker said the course didn't need the extra rain.

"That course is wet in July," she commented. "It doesn't drain really well."

A wet course definitely has an affect on golfers.

It makes hitting the ball cleanly very difficult. Mud and water tend to go flying along with the golf ball. That means shorter shots and higher scores, generally.

Despite the conditions, Northville's Lindsey Casterline shot a 47. Monica Prasad notched a 53, Heather Nix a 56 and Emily Baldwin a 57.

"We were playing in terrible weather," Waldecker said.

It was a non-league match up. The Mustangs have still only lost one duel all season.

The spring campaign is winding down. Northville plays at the state regional tournament tomorrow in Saline.

The top three schools will advance from there to the finals at Michigan State University. Ann Arbor Huron and Pioneer along with Farmington Hills Mercy are the favorites.

Waldecker said she figures a team score of 390 or less (for 18 holes) will be needed to advance. "It's a matter of getting it all together on one day," she said of her team's chances. "We'll have to have two scores at 95 or less."

The finals are June 2-3 at MSU. The Western Lakes conference tournament comes up on May 25.

Safety Town teaches kids rules of the road and much more. Police and fire personnel will speak at classes.

Safety Town sign up under way in city

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

If you haven't registered your child for Safety Town, now is the time.

The course starts next month and runs through mid-July. According to Northville Parks and Recreation Director Traci Johnson, the program has been very successful.

"This is our 11th year," she said. "It's a class for pre-kindergartners. It's an education-based program that teaches different safety lessons."

Representatives from the Northville police and fire departments will speak at the classes. First aid, dealing with strangers and cross streets are a few other topics that will be covered.

"It's a great community program," Johnson said.

Classes are going to be divided into two sessions.

Session one runs from June 19-30. Session two goes from July 10-21.

Each session is broken down into morning or afternoon classes. Early risers go from 9 to 11:30 a.m. The afternoon class goes from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

"We're not filled yet," said Johnson.

Remaining spots will go on a first-come, first-served basis. Each class holds 50 youngsters.

"The kids have a great time," said Johnson.

City and township residents pay $45. Non-resident fees apply as well.

The course, besides teaching safety, has another benefit. Johnson said children are placed with future school mates.

Teachers, she added, have mentioned that the program has helped students become better prepared for kindergarten in the fall.

For more information or to register for Safety Town, call 349-0203.

Infant, parent health tied near birth time

Mary Ann
Zettelmair

worry less about the crying baby in a hospital nursery. New mothers also require less medication for sleep and for pain if their baby is

Research and experience shows that the health and well-being of parents and newborns is optimal when they are together as much as possible at the time surrounding birth. One study indicates that mothers sleep as well when their newborn is with them as when their baby is separated from them. They housed with them.

Babies sleep better in a room with their parents rather than in a nursery, where light and noise disrupt their sleep patterns. Babies are more easily consoled if they have physical access to their parents (or other family members) when they need it. Their hunger cues are also more readily recognized and they can be fed in a more timely fashion. Most parents and grandparents say that they become more comfortable with their babies when they are with them from the time of birth.

Babies born early or not completely healthy still need their parents to be central in their lives. Parents can be accommodated in the newborn intensive care unit and should discuss their desires with the baby's care givers.

Under most circumstances, the same nurse will care for both mother and baby. The nurses assist with the transition to becoming a family. Under all circumstances, babies will not be separated from mothers without their knowledge, understanding and consent. Nurses are available to help mothers learn to feed and care for their baby and to help them rest after the baby's birth.

Because parents know what will help them most in the early hours and days of parenting, they are encouraged to discuss their needs and priorities with their care givers. Their participation in care is essential and welcomed.

Mary Ann Zettelmair, M.S.N., is a clinical nurse specialist in the U-M Medical Center Mother/Baby Unit. This column is coordinated by Peg Campbell on staff at the U-M Health Centers.

Recreation Briefs

ADULT BASKETBALL LEAGUE

Northville Parks and Recreation is offering a summer basketball league for adults. Games will be played on Sunday afternoons/evenings, June 11-Aug. 27.

The fee is $260 per team ($60 will be returned at the end of the season if there were no game forfeits.) The non-resident fee is $15 per player.

Applications are available in the Recreation Office, 303 W. Main Street. The registration deadline is May 19, at 4:30 p.m. For more information contact the Recreation Department at 349-0203.

RAFTING TRIP

Let the true adventurer come out in you as Schoolcraft College's Edgerunner Ski Club invites you to join them on their Whitewater Rafting trip on the New England River in West Virginia, June 9-11. Optional activities include mountain biking, rock climbing, cliff diving, and plenty of "R and R."

The weekend trip is $85 for Ski Club members, and $95 for non-members. Participants must be at least 18 years of age. Bus service is available for those who don't wish to drive. Bus fare is $50 per person, round trip.

To reserve your place or obtain further information, contact Schoolcraft's student activities office at (313) 462-4422.

HEALTH HOUSE

The American Lung Association is sponsoring Health House '95, a showcase home and educational center featuring components which provide clean, safe indoor air while paying special attention to environmentally friendly and recycled materials and construction methods.

Health House can be seen from April 30 to May 21 at the corner of Seven Mile and Haggerty roads in Northville.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Over 100,000 collegiate athletic scholarships are available each year to male and female high school and junior college student athletes. Contrary to popular belief, students don't have to be all-state to qualify. Much of this money goes unused.

A new publication with forms, sample letters and tables of factual information is available for student athletes. It takes them step-by-step through the important process of getting an athletic scholarship and includes college and conference listings.

For information on how to get a collegiate athletic scholarship, send a self addressed (business size), stamped envelope to the National Sports Foundation, 611-A Willow Drive, P.O. Box 940, Oakhurst, NJ 07755.

NORTHVILLE 109, LIVONIA CHURCHILL 59

The Mustangs had one of their better meets of the season on the road against the Chargers Thursday.

Cronin said his team simply dominated.

"I thought we ran really well," he added.

Northville won nine of 16 events.

Its first win was in the high jump. Cook, again, jumped 5-0 to take first.

Sekerka had her best throw in the discus in weeks. She threw a 111-4 for first place. Aubrey MacFarlane took third place.

Northville won the 3,200-meter relay in 11:09.02. The Mustangs grabbed second and third place in the high hurdles.

In the long jump, Poole was second at 15-0. Browne finished second in the 400-meter 1'06.

Sekerka won the shot put while MacFarlane was second. Katie Rempel was the winner of the 200-meter dash in 28.4.

Browne finished ahead of the pack in the 3,200-meter.

Netters take second at Muldowney

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

If Saturday is any indication, Northville High's tennis prospects look sunny over the next few years.

The Mustangs tied for second place in the Muldowney Tournament at Dearborn. It's a good finish, especially considering Northville used an inexperienced lineup.

Several veteran players were recovering from Friday's senior prom. Coach Dick Norton said he didn't mind using the younger guys.

"It gave me a chance to see some other players," he said, "against decent competition."

Grosse Pointe Woods University Liggett won the tournament with 18 points. Northville and host Dearborn tied for second with 17 points.

Rory Dunnabeck moved up from his customary doubles spot to take No. 1 singles. He won his first match in three sets before being dropped from the tournament with two straight losses.

At second singles, Dave Anderson won two of three matches. He fell in round one then won a pair of two-set matches.

Ravi Mujumdar won a championship at third singles. He went undefeated and beat Brad Cenko of Liggett 6-4, 3-6, 7-5 in the final.

"He had to play well to win his flight," Norton said.

At No. 4 singles, Mike Bush also won a championship. He won all three of his matches in two sets including a 6-2, 6-0 win over Steve Verb of Liggett in the final.

"He had an easy time doing it," Norton said of his championship.

Northville also found success in the doubles flights.

Ganesh Nayakwadi and Arjun Srinivasan made it to the final before falling in two sets in the final. At second doubles, Nick Sriraman and Yusuke Ishigami took third place with two victories in three tries.

Rahit Jha and Ryan Steinhauer followed a similar path.

The duo won their first round match then lost in three sets to Liggett's Behi Rabbani and Peter Ally. Jha and Steinhauer bounced back to win in two sets in the consolation final.

Jared Cromas and John Polumbo made it to the finals before falling to Liggett's Ranny Sawaf and Shawn Massard 6-3, 6-3.

Mustangs drop pair at Southfield tourney

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

It doesn't matter what level you're playing at - little league, major league or high school - 1-14 is tough to take.

But that's where the Mustang softball team stands. Northville has lost eight in a row.

The latest setbacks came Saturday. The Mustangs lost a pair of games in a four-team tournament hosted by Southfield Christian.

According to coach Frank Friemund, the constant losing isn't easy - for anybody.

"It would be easier to accept if we weren't any good," he said. "But the girls know they're better than (1-14). That's what makes it hard."

Frequent rainouts early in the season have meant games have piled up in recent weeks. That's left little time to practice.

"There's no time to regroup," Friemund added.

Northville opened Saturday's tournament against Southfield Christian and lost 4-3.

The Mustangs held a 3-1 lead until the fifth inning. Melissa Petrosky scored a pair of runs and Sara Roth hit an RBI-double to help Northville to its lead.

But Southfield came back with three runs in the fifth to steal the game away. All three runs were unearned.

Pitcher Andrea Moretti was sharp. She didn't allow an earned run and gave up only five hits.

"She pitched a great game," Friemund said.

Northville was never in the nightcap, a 6-0 loss to Lake Fenton.

The Mustangs were held hitless for the fourth time this season. As a team, Northville is batting under .200.

NORTHVILLE 8, LIVONIA CHURCHILL 0

The Mustangs clinched the duel meet season title in the WLA Thursday on the road.

Northville swept through singles without losing a set. Winners included Matt Schwagie, Anderson, Mujumdar and Bush.

Vik and Arjun Srinivasan took a three set win over John Webster and Matt McBride 6-2, 5-7 and 6-1. Sriraman and Nayakwadi won in two sets at second doubles. The duo beat Bryan Stramecki and Ryan Green 7-6 (7-1) and 7-5.

Jha and Steinhauer were 6-1, 6-2 winners over Neel Chokshi and Matt Thompson. Desmond Liang and Cromas beat Nader Salah Chip Norton 6-3, 6-3.

NORTHVILLE 8, WALLED LAKE CENTRAL 0

Norton juggled his lineup May 8 at home. The Mustangs still had no problems with the Vikings.

Anderson, Bush, Nayakwadi and Vik Srinivasan all won singles matches. Sriraman and Steinhauer, Dunnabeck and Anish Shah, Cromas and Polumbo, and Tony Castillo and Ishigami won at doubles.

"It would be easier to accept if we weren't any good. But the girls know they're better than (1-14). That's what makes it hard."

FRANK FRIEMUND
Softball coach

CANTON 7, NORTHVILLE 6
The Mustangs let Thursday's home game slip away.

Northville built a 3-0 lead after two innings. But Canton charged back with five runs in the third inning to take the lead.

The Mustangs tied the game in their half of the frame. Jenny Sheehan doubled and Melissa Menghini singled, and both scored on ground outs.

The teams traded runs in the sixth and the game stayed tied until the eighth. Canton got the game winner on a walk and pair of wild pitches.

"Canton merited us the first time (this year)," said Friemund, "so that was an improvement."

LIVONIA CHURCHILL 4, NORTHVILLE 1

Weak hitting was again the culprit in the May 8 road game.

Northville managed just three hits. Livonia tallied eight hits off of Moretti.

Program aims to cut down real estate fraud

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

For the past two years, a testing system to thwart the growing problem of con artists fraudulently acquiring titles to homes has been under way in Los Angeles County.

The pilot anti-real estate fraud program has been a success, according to the 100,000-member National Notary Association, and may become a model program for counties across the country.

The program requires signers of deeds affecting residential properties to leave a thumbprint in the Notary's journal, and special state legislation has authorized the county recorder to notify property owners when a deed has been recorded for their property. The notification must be sent within 30 days of recording.

This gives the owner the opportunity to notify authorities if a deed is being recorded improperly, thus avoiding a more serious problem later — possibly leading to the loss of home ownership.

Since the thumbprint requirement went into effect, law enforcement and consumer affairs investigators report their forgery caseloads have significantly diminished, according to a report from the notary association.

"In fact, the L.A. Police Department told us they haven't had a single case in their city since the requirement was implemented," said Carol Eisman with NNA.

In Los Angeles and other metro areas, the need is great. The problem of fraudulently recording property deeds has been ominously increasing in recent years. And the experimental system being tested in Los Angeles County seems to be working.

In a 10-month period, more than 3,400 real property owners

Spacious kitchen is at the heart of the Caleb

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

Family living is what the Caleb's all about. A spacious family kitchen is at the heart of this three-bedroom plan, but there's also plenty of privacy.

And the designers didn't skimp on glass, so all of the rooms are bright.

A small office located between the master suite and the living room can serve as a nursery, if needed. The basement provides additional storage.

Formal rooms face the street. Both the living room and dining room have the same eye-catching window arrangement, a generous expanse of plate glass flanked by divided lights. In the dining room's window bay, two more tall, slender banks of glass fill the angled walls on either side of the wide central section.

The kitchen and family room are spacious and open. Nothing more than a raised eating bar separates the areas. The dishwasher, too, is raised, for ease of use. But the sink section, in back of the eating bar, is standard height. Having the sink here allows members of the cleanup crew to take part in family activity.

Other kitchen amenities include a large walk-in pantry, built-in stove and double ovens. In the family room, there's space for a media center in cabinetry next to the corner fireplace. Sliding glass doors access an expansive sun deck, illuminated by eight skylights.

The laundry room is close to the kitchen, secondary bedrooms and garage. Features include a utility sink, pull-down ironing board, cabinets, and a counter for folding clothes. The three-car garage has a workbench and extra storage space.

A dual compartment bathroom serves the two secondary bedrooms. One person can take a bath in privacy while another uses the water closet or basin. Two basins and a long mirror prevent quibbling over space in the morning rush.

A double vanity in the master suite is in the dressing area across from a large walk-in closet. Other luxuries include an oversize tub and an oversize shower.

For a study plan of the Caleb (333-280), send $9 to Landmark Designs, c/o HomeTown Newspapers, 323 E. Grand River Ave., Howell, MI 48843. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

A CLEAN SWEEP

By Jane Benskey
Special Writer

Now that it's spring, our first impulse is to dash outside to savor the mild weather rather than tackle the disagreeable task of spring cleaning inside our homes.

But after a winter with the house closed up like a tomb, coupled with the lack of motivation to do any deep cleaning, chances are your house could use some attention right about now.

Although each room could benefit from spring cleaning, we don't want to overwhelm (or depress) you with a room-by-room list of to-do's. Instead we're going to concentrate on the two rooms in the house that take the worst beating when the house is closed up: the kitchen and the bathroom.

From the build-up of oils and gunk on the kitchen walls, to the accumulation of mildew and soap scum in the shower, kitchens and bathrooms are often the hardest, but most important rooms to keep clean.

We'll assume that for the health of you and your family, the kitchen and the bathrooms are surface-cleaned on a regular basis and skip over those regular chores and focus instead on tasks you tackle once or twice a year.

We turned to several cleaning experts for help and advice on the best way to take care of those jobs and here's what they had to say.

Sherry Kindig, Operations Manager of Molly Maid of Livingston County, a house-cleaning service, says that the moisture in bathrooms is the leading culprit of those common bathroom scourges: mold and mildew.

During the cold months when the house is closed up and there is inadequate ventilation in the bathroom, the steam and moisture from showers and baths does not dissipate quickly, hanging around long enough to help that unsightly black stuff flourish everywhere in the bathroom.

The good news is it's fairly easy to rid the bathroom walls and ceilings of that blight, says Kindig.

"Probably the best thing for mildew is to make up a bleach/water combination and spray it on and let it sit. After a few minutes wipe with a clean wet cloth," she says.

Dennis Ling, owner of a Howell wall washing company, Service-master by Dennis Ling, also suggests a bleach and water mixture for bathroom walls plagued by mildew. But he cautions when using bleach to wear safety goggles to protect your eyes and to make sure the room has adequate ventilation.

The bad news is if the mildew has really taken hold in your grout and caulking, there may not be much you, or any army of cleaning products, can do to get rid of it.

After years of experience, and trying everything under the sun to remove mildew, Kindig says, "If mildew has gotten into the grout or has gotten into any of the caulking and has turned it black, you are never going to get that out. The only way to get that mildew out is to just redo it."

So gang, you may have to add re-caulking to one of your tasks in the bathroom if it has been invaded.

As for the grout, Kindig says that one option could be to look into professional grout cleaning service.

While it may be too late to remedy the mold and mildew problem short of starting anew with fresh caulk and professional grout cleaning, Kindig has some advice to prevent it from becoming a problem for others.

A tell-tale sign of new mold and mildew growth in caulking or grout is the sight of pinkish-orange looking stuff. If you see that, get busy, Kindig said. "Once you see that little pinkish-orange line, start working with it then, because, boy, if it starts working into the grout, that's it, you've had it."

Keeping shower doors clean is another challenge to many homeowners. If it's not gunk and grime in the door tracks, it's lime deposits on the glass.

To clean the tracks Kindig suggests using a good general purpose spray cleaner and small toothbrushes or even toothpicks to get all the junk out.

Soap scum and lime deposits on shower doors are also pretty difficult to remove once they've marred the surface of the glass.

Kindig recommends a product called Shower Power for stubborn soap scum and lime deposits. The product is fairly strong so make sure to protect your hands by wearing rubber gloves. Spray the surface and let it sit awhile before scrubbing. Then rinse with cold water.

If the lime deposits are especially bad, Kindig says a very light scrubbing with super fine steel wool may help eliminate the

Impatiens — America's No. 1 bedding plant

By C.Z. Guest
Copley News Service

GARDENING

Impatiens can be started indoors or purchased as transplants at garden centers and nurseries. Easy to grow, they offer an array of pastel colors for shady areas.

Impatiens had been discovered growing in the eastern regions of equatorial Africa, from Mozambique to Tanganyika, but were thought to be indigenous to Zanzibar, an island off the coast of Tanganyika, and part of present-day Tanzania.

Impatiens are a relative newcomer to the Western world, arriving in England in 1896 via the efforts of Dr. John Kirk. He was a British physician and naturalist who spent many years as a member of Dr. David Livingstone's expeditions to Africa. He was later named consul general to Zanzibar. During his tenure there, he sent many specimens of east African plants to Britain, including impatiens.

Initially, the plants were called Impatiens Sultanii, in honor of the Sultan of Zanzibar. Later they were renamed Impatiens Walleriana after Horace Waller, who was a British missionary stationed in Africa, and a fellow of the Royal Geographic Society. He also worked with Livingstone and was responsible for publishing the explorer's journals.

Impatiens can be classified into five basic characteristics. They are: height and flower size, flower form, flower color, foliage color and New Guinea types. When gardeners look for impatiens they know these different characteristics will help them select the best impatiens for their garden.

Plant height and flower size are related. Usually, the largest plants are capable of producing the largest flower size. There are three plant heights measured as mature plants. They are: dwarf, 8 to 10 inches; medium, reaching 10 to 12 inches tall, and the tallest impatiens can grow to about 1 to 2 feet.

The mature height of these plants depends upon spacing, moisture, available nutrients and sunlight. The flower sizes range from 1 to 2 inches. In warm climates when plants are given adequate moisture and nutrients, impatiens can grow taller than 2 feet.

Year of the impatiens

■ There are three plant heights measured as mature plants, dwarf, 8" to 10", medium, 10" to 12" and tall, 1' to 2'.

■ Proper soil conditions and protection from full sun all day are the requirements to grow impatiens. Filtered shade is the best light for impatiens.

■ Plant after frost danger is past. Impatiens thrive on rain and moisture.

■ Impatiens can be killed by two incurable fungi, pythium and rhizoctonia. Elude these fungi by avoiding overwatering and by keeping plants properly spaced and the soil aerated.

■ Six common names for impatiens are: impatiens, touch-me-not, quick-in-hand, snapweed, busy Lizzie and garden balsam.

Again the best way to avoid problems is prevent them. To that end, Kindig suggests using a squeegee to dry the shower door, especially if you have a new shower door, after each use to prevent the water spots.

She also recommends leaving the shower doors open and to keep everything in the bathroom as open as possible to keep the air flowing and to help dry out the room.

After the shower doors and tiles are clean and completely dry, they can be protected with automotive paste wax, but be careful not to get any wax on the bottom of the tub or the shower floor, as it can create a slippery and dangerous surface.

A mildew bath mat can be washed with detergent and bleach in the washer. Also don't forget to clean the tops of the shower curtain rod.

If your toilet has developed rust deposits or hard water stains you may have to empty the toilet bowl before attacking those stains. Turn off the water valve to the toilet tank, then flush the toilet until the bowl is empty.

One option to apply white paper towels soaked with white vinegar to the stained areas. Another is to use a commercial product like CLR Calcium, Lime and Rust Remover. Either way, let it soak before scrubbing with a stiff bristled scrub brush.

When cleaning the outside of the toilet, don't overlook the area behind the toilet between the wall and the shut-off valve.

To make the bathroom sparkle and shine after you're done cleaning, Kindig says to spray all surfaces with glass cleaner and wipe with a dry cloth.

Moving into the kitchen, the big problem areas tend to be the walls where the grease and grime from cooking accumulates.

The first thing you need to determine, says Ling, is how dirty the walls are.

For light and medium soil on hard surface painted walls a mild detergent or Soil-Ex, a cleaner that Ling recommends, should do the trick.

For a heavier soil on walls use a product like TSP (trisodium phosphate) which will cut through grease and smoke build-up. Ling advises wearing gloves as TSP can be rough on your hands.

When washing walls Ling says to work from the bottom up to prevent streaks and to work an area only as far as you can reach. Don't forget to rinse walls with clear water that are painted with semi-gloss paint or where you have used the TSP cleaner.

To clean wallpapered walls, Ling says that before starting do the "finger test" by wetting the end of your index finger and press it against the surface of the paper.

"If you see your fingerprint, that means you cannot use water on the paper. If you don't see it, then you can wash it like you normally would with TSP or Soil-Ex," Ling explains.

For the wallpapers that can't be washed with water, Ling says the wallpapers can be cleaned with chemically treated sponges that are available at janitorial supply stores.

An area that Kindig says many people tend to overlook in their kitchen cleaning is the 1/4- to 1/2-inch space under the lower kitchen cupboards known as the toe space.

"That's where every spider and every cobweb in the world seems to gather and build condominiums...cobwebs in the kitchen tend to pick up all of the cooking greases and oils, they get really scrummy," says Kindig.

Kitchen cabinets, whether wood, painted or laminate, will also need some attention. A general purpose cleaner will work fine on the painted or laminate cabinets, but to protect the finish on the wood cabinets use milder cleaner like Murphy's Oil Soap.

If you're feeling especially ambitious, pull the refrigerator away from the wall so that you can clean out the mysterious "black hole" of the kitchen. Pull off the front grill at the bottom of your fridge and clean the coils underneath. Also, remember to clean the door seal and the top of the fridge.

In terms of cleaning kitchen appliances, Kindig says for the most part a general purpose cleaner should work, but because of the different type finishes and different features on appliances, she advises checking the owner's guide that came with your appliance for cleaning directions.

That advice also follows with the use of all cleaning products says Kindig.

"Read your product's label before you use them. If it tells you to wait for three or four minutes before you wash something off...then do what it says. Let the product work for you. Don't make more work for yourself by trying to fight your product," she says.

So with those words of wisdom, let's finish the work inside so we can start our work outside.

Impatiens — America's No. 1 bedding plant

The exception to these two classifications are the New Guinea impatiens from seed. They are treated as a separate class. Introduced in 1989 as a new class of hybrids, the first variety was Tango (grown from seed). It received an All-American Selections Award in 1989.

Since then, new varieties of New Guinea impatiens from seed have been introduced, including new flower colors and some with variegated leaves. Gardeners may not realize the New Guinea impatiens growing in their gardens are from seed; it's not an easy task to distinguish the vegetatively propagated plants from the seed-grown ones.

These delightful bedding plants are an easy annual to grow and maintain if two simple requirements are fulfilled. They need proper soil conditions and a placement in the garden that has protection from full sunlight all day. Impatiens grown in excessive sunlight attain little height, have few leaves and few flowers, if any.

Every flowering annual needs some degree of sunlight to grow and bloom properly. Novice gardeners learn that certain annuals are "shade loving" and assume impatiens can be placed in any degree of shade and will all but glow in the dark! Not true. Impatiens do not perform well in deep shade, but thrive in partial or filtered shade.

A stroll around the garden at various times of the day will reveal the amount and quality of sunlight each area receives. For example, deep shade, like that under low evergreens or dense shrubbery does not allow enough sunlight for plants to bloom very well.

Partial shade is an area blocked by buildings or trees from receiving continuous sun. A location that gets its light in the morning will be kinder to impatiens than one that bears the full brunt of afternoon sun.

Filtered shade, such as that under tall perennials, on a covered patio or beneath a tree that has high, open-growing branches is ideal, even though impatiens now on the market are more sun tolerant than older varieties.

Impatiens will tolerate sunny conditions if given adequate water and the climate has a high degree of humidity.

SOWING SEEDS

In frost-free sections of the country, impatiens seeds may be sown outdoors in full or very early spring. In colder areas, start seeds indoors six to 10 weeks prior to planting outside.

Use a seed-starting mixture that is sterile. I suggest a pro-mix commercial soil. Water the soil in a seed flat before sowing the seeds, otherwise, if the flat is watered after sowing, small seeds may be washed into the corners or covered with soil.

Simply scatter seeds thinly on top of the mixture, then cover the seed very lightly with soil. The seeds should sprout in about 14 days.

For a quick way to add impatiens to the garden, buy bedding plants from the garden center or nursery.

Always select plants that have a bushy appearance and healthy leaves. It's easy to find an impatiens that suits your garden plan. The label accompanying the plant should identify the variety, height and color.

TRANSPLANTING

Impatiens, especially tender seedlings, are sensitive to frost. Wait until there is no danger of frost (in cold areas) before transplanting these annuals outdoors.

Harden off the plants by placing the pots or flats outside, sheltered from direct sun and wind. After several days, transplant into the garden. If the nights get chilly, bring your plants indoors.

Before transplanting, work compost into the soil as recommended on the label. After transplanting, be sure to water your plants thoroughly and continue to water as needed or daily, if necessary, while plants are becoming established in the garden.

The undemanding impatiens require little coddling from the gardener — only water, keep the soil moist but avoid overwatering. Impatiens are rain-tolerant annuals, they thrive on rain and moisture, in fact, rain does no harm to impatiens, which is one of the reasons the flowers always look so fresh, new and vibrant.

Impatiens have succulent stems, which quickly signal the watering needs by wilting stems and limp leaves. Don't wait for these stress signs to water since it will weaken your plants. They may wilt temporarily, when in direct, midday sun. If the soil is moist, do not water.

DISEASES

There are two fungus diseases that can kill impatiens. The conditions that encourage fungus growth are too much moisture in the soil, poor soil aeration and plant overcrowding.

The two fungus diseases, rhizoctonia, found in northern areas, and pythium, found on plants in the South (favors very hot, humid conditions), are the only problems to watch for. There is no cure for the impatiens plant if either fungus attacks.

Overall, few impatiens plants are susceptible to fungus diseases or pests, which is another reason for their amazing popularity.

Program aims to curb fraud

were notified of deed filings they had not authorized, allowing them to take quick action to clear their titles. The program's notification option uses no monies from general tax funds. Property owners — those who benefit from the program — pay a $7 surcharge when they record their deeds to fund the program.

This surcharge, minuscule as it is, bothers some real estate leaders and is opposed by the California Association of Realtors.

The program in Los Angeles County was recommended by a county task force organized to find solutions to a real estate problem that was worsening as population and equity grew dramatically in that area. Increasingly, impostors were forging the rightful property owner's signature on documents transferring title, and scam artists were tricking vulnerable low-income and elderly homeowners into signing away their property through home-improvement and loan consolidation scams.

The state legislation passed to enable Los Angeles County to implement the program is due to expire on Dec. 31, but the county board of supervisors voted unanimously to remove that "sunset date" to make the program permanent.

A report from the notary association contains dramatic testimony and endorsement of the program by homeowners, law enforcement officials, consumer advocates, attorneys, notaries, and surety and title insurance executives. Reasons cited for support include increased title protection, reduced monetary losses, crime deterrence and greater ease in prosecuting perpetrators.

For more information on the program and the notaries' special report, call Eisman with the NNA at (818) 713-4046.

Q. How is the home rental market changing in 1995?

A. Here's the view of Charles Troy, president of E & S Ring Management Corp. — a major rental property management firm:

"While the rental market is improving and vacancies decreasing, tenants used to major concessions over the past few years must be re-educated regarding the changing marketplace. Owners who have put off maintenance now must upgrade their properties and add new amenities if they hope to compete effectively for good tenants who have become much more demanding."

Lobster-decorated buffet serving dishes

By Anne McCollam

ANTIQUES

Q. Enclosed is a picture of three ceramic pieces that are marked "Brad Keeler." The two larger dishes are serving dishes and the smaller one is a covered sugar bowl. They are decorated with bright-red lobsters and a green background that shades to white.

A. Any information you can provide, including history and what they are worth, would be appreciated.

A. Brad Keeler started out in a small ceramic studio in the family garage in Glendale, Calif. He quickly gained recognition as a talented clay modeler. His naturalistic birds were such a success that he was able to move to larger quarters.

In 1946, Keeler developed "Ming Dragon Blood," a brilliant red glaze. A line of buffet serving dishes with lobster handles was produced using the "Ming" glaze. Most pieces were marked with his name incised in the mold.

In 1952, Keeler suffered a fatal heart attack. His company was sold, but did not survive. Your three buffet pieces would probably be worth about $135 to $155 in good condition.

Q. This mark is on the bottom of an earthenware pitcher and a toothbrush holder that were part of a wash set. They are decorated with an Oriental scene against a beige background. The pitcher is 10 inches high.

A. Both pieces are in very good condition. Please give me any information you can.

A. Your pitcher and toothbrush holder were made by Thomas Furnival & Sons, Cobridge, Staffordshire, England. They were made in the late 19th century. "Pekin" is the name of the pattern.

The value would probably be about $150 to $200 for the two pieces.

Q. I have a Royal Doulton figurine that was given to me by a friend about 20 years ago. It is marked "Royal Doulton — Autumn Breezes — HN 1911." She is wearing a green bonnet and jacket and a peach dress. She is 8 inches tall.

Q. What can you tell me about my figurine?

A. Your figurine was made by Doulton & Co., Burslem, Staffordshire, England. It was manufactured from 1939 to 1976.

In 1913 the firm began marking new figurines with the letters "HN" and a number. The letters represent Harry Nixon, an artist with Doulton at that time. "Autumn Breezes" was designed by Leslie Harradine.

The value of your figurine would probably be about $210 to $270 in good condition.

Q. Can you give me an idea of what my "Mr. Peanut" peanut butter-making machine would be worth? It is still in the box and has never been used.

A. The wing nut that holds it together is still sealed in the wrapping.

A. "Mr. Peanut" was made by Planters Nut & Chocolate Co., Wilkes-Barre, Pa. around 1970. "Mr. Peanut" was first used as a trademark in 1916.

Your machine probably be worth about $65 in mint condition, and in the box.

Q. I have a burnt-wood portrait of "George Washington in Prayer at Valley Forge" that has been in my family many years. On the back are the words "Burnt by S.W. Wells — January 1869." The dimensions are 30 inches by 40 inches.

Q. I could never part with it, but would like to know its value.

A. Burnt-wood art is known as pyrography, a process of producing designs on wood or leather by using a heated tool. It became a popular home craft in the early 1900s.

Your portrait would probably be worth about $225 to $250 in good condition.

Q. I have a black-satin glass vase that is around 100 years old. It is decorated with silver overlay depicting an Oriental scene. The height is approximately 6 inches. It is marked on the bottom with a shield and the word "Rockwell."

A. I plan to give it to my daughter and would like to know something about it.

A. Your vase is an example of silver-overlay glass. It was popular in the late 1800s and early 1900s. The mark is that of Rockwell Silver Co., Meriden, Conn. The firm was established in 1905.

Silver overlay is silver that has been designed and cut, then applied to the surface of glass or porcelain.

Your vase would probably be worth about $300 to $350 in good condition.

Address your questions to Anne McCollam, P.O. Box 490, Notre Dame, IN 46556. For a personal response include picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $5 per item (one item at a time).

These three lobster-decorated buffet dishes are worth between $315 and $155.

The crew of Re/Max Homes Incorporated, includes (back row) Susan Bennett, John Luke, Tighe Reader, Dave Bair, Derek Kramer, Vickie Kramer, Ellen Mays, Thom Rademacher, Nancy Rademacher and Kathy Czop. Seated are Mary Davio and Debbie Wargo. On the table is Dan Callan.

HOMES INCORPORATED REAL ESTATE COMPANY is now owned by three Milford natives. DAN CALLAN and TIGHE READER have announced the addition of JOHN LUKE as a full partner. Luke is an associate broker of Homes Incorporated and has been with the company since its inception in 1988.

In addition, Homes Incorporated has purchased the RE/MAX franchise rights for both Hartland and Fenton and is in the process of building new offices for both locations. The owners said they felt that in order to provide better service to their customers with state of the art technology and procedures, an affiliation with RE/MAX was necessary. Luke, Reader and Callan can be contacted at RE/MAX Homes Incorporated, (810) 632-5050.

PENRICKTON CENTER FOR BLIND CHILDREN recently named SARAH GAHMAN as its new social worker. A 1990 graduate of Novi High, Gahman holds a bachelor's degree in Social Work.

BRADY'S FOOD & SPIRITS in Farmington Hills has announced that MARYANN MOLENDAS has recently been hired as Executive Chef.

Her responsibilities will include purchasing, inventory, payroll budgeting, menu production, banquets and overseeing fourteen kitchen employees.

Molenda comes to Brady's Food & Spirits after five years at the Ritz

Carlton Hotel in Dearborn, where she worked in banquets and managed the dining room. Molenda's past experience also includes Botsford Hospital, where she worked as Assistant to the Chef; the Dearborn Inn, Ann Arbor Marriott and the Hyatt Regency Dearborn. Molenda is also helping Brady's Food & Spirits reshape their menu, and adding new dishes, including authentic Mexican and Southwestern entrees.

DONALD A. COMFORT, 18-year-old son of Donald F. and Judith Comfort, has been named the winner of a QUANEX CORP. William A. McHattie Scholarship for the fall of 1995.

First in a class of 423, Comfort has maintained a 4.0 grade point average at Stevenson High School in Sterling Heights, where he is a member of the National Honor Society, secretary of the Student Council and is on the varsity soccer team and in the student choir. Comfort plans to attend Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio, and pursue a degree in chemical engineering. His father, Donald, is engineering manager for Michigan Seamless Tube in South Lyon.

The William A. McHattie Scholarships, are given every year to children of Quanex employees. Two winners are chosen by the National Merit Scholarship Corp. and receive a four-year grant for undergraduate study at any accredited college or university.

Oakland will continue to lead way

After posting its largest employment gains in nearly a decade last year, Oakland County will add another 47,000 private-sector jobs in the next two years, according to a University of Michigan study.

In their annual forecast of the Oakland County economy, researchers George A. Fulton, Donald R. Grimes and Peter Nicolas of the U-M Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations say that job growth in the county will continue to outpace the state.

"The Oakland County economy will slow from its record pace of 1994, as the effect of higher interest rates takes hold in the national and local economies during 1995," the researchers said in their report.

They predicted that total private-sector employment in Oakland County will grow by about four percent in both 1995 and 1996, noting that last year's growth rate of 5.5 percent is not sustainable over long periods of time.

Fulton, Grimes and Nicolas attributed last year's remarkable growth rate to the creation of some 9,000 manufacturing jobs - the most since 1985 - to a strong rebound in automobile sales and a boom in capital investment that spurred rapid growth in the industrial machinery and equipment industry.

The researchers predicted that 4,000 manufacturing jobs will be added in 1995 and 1996, resulting in the highest employment levels ever for that sector in Oakland County.

"Of these jobs, nearly 1,000 will be added in the industrial machinery industry because of continued strong investment in capital equipment," they said. "There also will be a net gain of 1,000 jobs in the motor-vehicle manufacturing industry, but they will be management-level positions."

Growth in non-manufacturing industries in Oakland County will account for most job gains through the end of 1996, with about 90 percent (43,000 jobs) occurring in service industries, retail trade, wholesale trade and finance.

Fringe benefits can have tax consequences

Today, many companies provide a wider array of fringe benefits than ever before. The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants says many of the fringe benefits offered by your employer have tax consequences.

To better understand just how much some fringe benefits can boost your compensation package, the MACPA recommends you take the time to understand the tax implications of each benefit.

THE COMPANY CAR

Driving a company car strictly for business purposes is tax-free. However, as soon as you log your first personal mile, you are considered to have personal income, and the tax treatment is different. There are various methods to calculate income derived from its use. You and your employer should decide which is appropriate for you. In either case, you must keep accurate records that clearly reflect your personal and business use of the car. Your employer will then include the taxable amount on your Form W-2.

PLANNING ASSISTANCE

If your company pays for personal financial planning, tax planning, or tax return preparation assistance, you must include the fair market value of these services in your taxable income. However, fees you pay for such assistance are considered miscellaneous itemized expenses and are deductible to the extent that all your miscellaneous expenses exceed two percent of your adjusted gross income.

Money Management

EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANCE

Educational assistance provided by your employer is generally not taxable to you if the education maintains or improves skills for your current job. In 1994, employer-provided educational assistance of up to $5,250 a year for non-job related undergraduate and graduate courses can also be excluded from your taxable or gross income. To qualify for this latter exclusion, your employer's program must meet specific requirements. For example, it must not discriminate against any employees and your employer must maintain written documentation of the program.

DEPENDENT CARE ASSISTANCE

You can obtain up to $5,000 of tax-free dependent care assistance for children under age 13 in one of two ways. You can take advantage of up to $5,000 of employer-provided on-site dependent care, or, if your employer offers a flexible spending account, you can generally set aside up to $5,000 of your pretax income in a special reimbursement account that will pay for qualified dependent care expenses. The portion of your earnings channeled through these flexible spending accounts is exempt from federal income tax, as well as from social security tax.

401(K) PLANS

Company-sponsored 401(k) plans allow you to save for your retirement using pretax income. In many instances, employers will match all or part of your contribution.

Your earnings accumulate tax-free and you needn't pay tax until you withdraw funds at your retirement. Generally, you will be subject to a penalty if you withdraw funds before you reach age 59 and one-half.

LIFE INSURANCE

Generally, you are not taxed on employer-paid group term life insurance premiums on policies of up to $50,000. However, if your employer pays premiums for coverage of policies in excess of $50,000, you must include an amount based on the excess coverage in your gross income and pay taxes on that amount. Your employer should supply you with a written statement of the taxable amount.

INSURANCE

Currently, medical and dental insurance premiums paid by your employer are not taxable. However, health care reform could place limits on this tax-free benefit.

OTHER BENEFITS

For the 1994 tax year, an employee can receive up to $60 per month, tax-free, from an employer to cover the cost of traveling to and from work on commuter highway vehicles or for a transit pass. Employees can also exclude from their taxable income up to $155 per month in employer-provided parking expenses.

The MACPA points out that many other fringe benefits of minimal value, such as holiday and retirement gifts, need not be added to your taxable income. Cash gifts, however, are considered extra salary, or wages, and are subject to income tax.

CINDY CHRISTOPHER • ANGELS AMONG US
(810) 685-3796

Cindy Christopher, known as "C.J." to her friends, has always believed in angels. So, naturally, when she decided to start her own business, she opened a shop that specializes in angels. Angels Among Us, located at 436 N. Main in Milford, carries "anything you can imagine which features angels," Christopher said.

"Just about everything in the store is angels — dolls, books, ceramics, T-shirts, sweatshirts, dishes, pins. We have a very wide variety here, and our merchandise is all high-quality."

Christopher opened Angels Among Us in August 1994 and is proud to say that business is very good — and is continuing to grow.

"My mother raised me to believe that angels are watching over us and I've taken great comfort in that. And I think more and more people are believing in angels these days. The world is really starting to turn around."

Christopher, who lives in Commerce Township, calls her husband, Darrell, her biggest supporter. She considers herself a "very social being": Besides running her shop she's employed full time conducting self-improvement seminars for large corporations.

SUZANNE SHEW • THE PRUDENTIAL NIEBAUER REALTY INC.
WALLED LAKE (810) 624-3015

For Suzanne Shew, nothing is more important than her son, Michael, 5. Shew is a marketing representative for Prudential Niebauer Realty Inc., at 1374 W. Maple Road in Walled Lake and has been with the company more than three years. She launched her new career after selling Suzanne's Ice Cream, now Uncle Chill's, in downtown Milford.

"I went into real estate to keep the schedule flexible," she said. "Michael, he's the pride and joy."

While Shew enjoys spending time with her son, she also excels at her work. She received the 1994 Leading Edge Society Award, putting her among the top 5 percent of Prudential agents nationwide. Early this year, Shew received certification from the Graduate Realtors Institute, a designation achieved by about 5 to 10 percent of realtors nationwide.

Though her office is in Walled Lake, 90 percent of her work is in Milford and Highland, and 80 percent of her work deals with vacant land and new construction.

Shew is also a volunteer with the Help Us Help the Homeless campaign of Oakland County and works with parent/teacher groups at Huron Valley schools.

DARLENE CARVETH • NEW HUDSON LUMBER
NEW HUDSON (810) 437-1423

Darlene Carveth recognized a diamond in the rough at New Hudson Lumber, 56601 Grand River Ave.

After being part-owner of a roofing and sheet metal company 20 years, Carveth understood the needs of builders. As a Milford Certified Public Accountant she researched New Hudson Lumber in 1994 for clients who considered buying the company. But her clients opted out of the purchase, and with their permission, she bought the lumber yard May 16, 1994.

Under her management, New Hudson Lumber doubled its lumber inventory, added a propane fill station and built a special room to display and sell power tools. She created an area for paint and decorating supplies, another area for plumbing and electrical supplies and a small sports center for fishing and hunting. The company is also building 6,400 square feet of new storage space for lumber. Carveth also purchased trucks to deliver everything needed to rough in a new home.

To celebrate its first year, customers may register at the store through May 21 for a drawing for power tools, paint, propane fills and other prizes. The drawing will be May 21.

WOMEN IN THE KNOW

Last year the first "Women in the Know" rolled off the press, and due to its success, we here at HomeTown Newspapers could not turn down the opportunity to once again honor the rapidly growing number of women in the workplace.

We thank our advertisers — both men and women — who have made this now annual publication possible by purchasing a spot in its pages.

This section is a culmination of efforts from many people and many departments at HomeTown Newspapers — from the early "advertorial" sales, to writing of copy, pagination, composition of the final product, printing and post-press operations.

And this publication would not be the success that it is without the award winning photography skills of HomeTown Newspapers' Hal Gould. His ability to capture the essence of each woman in her workplace is unprecedented, and his eye for unique shots is clearly in focus.

Hal has been a staff photographer at HomeTown Newspapers for the past five years. His work has won numerous awards.

We hope you save this section and read it at your leisure. You'll come to know some of the women behind area storefronts, businesses and industries who help keep the area's economy growing strong.

We suspect that we have missed some women who would have liked to have been a part of this section. If you're a "woman in the know," or if you're a male business owner who would like to pay tribute to some of the women who help make your company prosper, give your advertising representative a call to make arrangements to be part of the next one.

Special thanks goes to John Colone of Colone Chrysler-Plymouth-Dodge-Jeep-Eagle in downtown Pinckney. "Women in the Know" was his idea — and it was a good one.

LORI BAILEY • A. LYNNE'S ECCENTRICS
SOUTH LYON (313) 449-4789

Lori Bailey has a gift for everybody at A. Lynne's Eccentrics, 2650 Seven Mile Road in South Lyon. She opened her unique business three years ago, creating specialty gift baskets and custom florals.

The idea for A. Lynne's Eccentrics came to Bailey while selling title insurance to Fortune 500 companies. After making a sale, she would send unique gifts that always earned raves. When she moved to South Lyon in January 1992, Bailey put her idea into action. She started the business in her home and then it expanded to her current warehouse.

"As an alternative to sending flowers we provide upscale gift presentations," Bailey said. "A lot of our containers are hat boxes, steamer trunks and ceramics."

"I look all over the country to find things that are unique that you don't find in any other store," Smith said.

Bailey delivers throughout Metro Detroit and will ship packages across the nation and around the world. A. Lynne's Eccentrics provides gifts for all occasions, including weddings and funerals. To order a gift or for a private showing call 1-800-662-6618.

DENISE SANBORN • OLD KENT BANK
MILFORD (810) 685-1555

Serving her community is what Denise Sanborn is all about.

From a work day as branch manager and bank officer at Old Kent Bank in Milford to the after-business hours she spends with a half dozen local service organizations, Sanborn gives her all in many ways.

Sanborn has quite an impressive list of affiliations, including the Lakes Area Chamber of Commerce, president; Lakes Area Committee Member; Huron Valley Chamber of Commerce, presidential appointee; Huron Valley YMCA board member; Milford Rotary club, member; and the Christmas in April project vice chairwoman.

Christmas in April solicits local funds for refurbishing and renovating housing for the elderly, handicapped and low income families. Last year Sanborn and some others brought the program to Oakland County. This year, the organization had 1,096 volunteers.

"One of our largest supporters is Old Kent Bank. The bank sponsored four homes last year for a total donation of $6,000," she said.

"These days, people are coming to know Old Kent Bank. We are a community bank and being part of it is another way for me to be involved in the community. I like that."

KATHLEEN LAYSON • ERA LAYSON REALTORS
SOUTH LYON (810) 437-3500

Kathleen Layson, broker at ERA Layson Realtors in South Lyon, strongly believes in a team approach in her business.

She started her career developing property with her husband, Stan, and she earned her Realtor's license in 1974.

When she assembled her own group at her office, she wanted to find people who believed in her idea of teamwork.

The women of ERA Layson are:

- Carol Blastic - A new resident to Whitmore Lake, Blastic is anxious to help buyers enjoy the wonderful area where she now lives.

- Peggy Connelly - A 15-year resident of the South Lyon area, Connelly has been a member of the South Lyon Board of Education and is the mother of five children. She enjoys working with first-time buyers and young families to help solve their housing needs.

- Janalee Cooper - As administration director, Janalee tracks all sales and listings and also keeps agents/managers organized and on the path toward company goals. She and her husband, Ed, have called South Lyon home for 16 years and have two adopted daughters.

- Marilyn Downey - Originally an executive secretary with Ford Motor Co., her real estate career began in apartment leasing before branching to new construction and condominiums. With over 25 years experience, it's no wonder this "condo specialist" is still the most in demand in Country Place of Novi.

- Nancy Gooch - A horse farm specialist, she has almost 20 years experience in real estate sales, administration and residential mortgage finance. Gooch is involved in showing saddlebreds and is active in American Saddle Horse Association of Michigan.

- Carol Hanchett - As a member of the horse farm division for two years, she knows first-hand what horse people need. Hanchett, who owns horses, moved to the South Lyon area when she found her dream farm and then joined ERA Layson to help others find their dream homes.

- Patrice Liss - A 22-year resident of South Lyon, Liss is employed as the administrative director. She and her husband have two children. Liss was a secretary at Martin Luther Home and Blue Cross before coming to ERA Layson in 1991.

- Jean Wehner Mancos - A long-time South Lyon resident and mother of two young children, Mancos has been selling real estate for 10 years. Although she specializes in new and used homes, she is also a licensed builder and recently completed a successful development of her own.

- Diane Remington - A South Lyon resident, she is involved in South Lyon community track and football activities. A graduate of advanced sales training in "Sweat Hogs," Remington comes from a family of Realtors and enjoys helping people find their dream homes.

DEBRA HERR-DEMPSEY • MAIN STREET WINE SHOPPE
MILFORD (810) 685-7191

Sheer persistence, attention to detail and exemplary customer service are the secrets to success for Debra Herr-Dempsey's Main Street Wine Shoppe in Milford.

In business just eight years, Herr-Dempsey can boast of growth so impressive that it has necessitated two relocations — the latest just a few weeks ago. She's busier than ever before, serving the community with a gourmet delicatessen, specialty coffees, desserts, gift baskets and catering.

And her store offers an enormous selection of wines and specialty beers, both foreign and domestic. She and her staff of eight continue to work settling in at their newest, and greatly expanded site, at 426 Main Street in downtown Milford.

"And along with the new move comes a new concept. All my inventory — and there's a lot more of it — is out in the open. The whole look, the whole idea here, is changed," she said.

"The way I do business is by listening to my customers. If you give people what they want, they will support you. They'll stick by you," Herr-Dempsey said.

PHYLLIS MOTLEY and DIANNA MORGAN HURON VALLEY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
(810) 685-7129

Phyllis Motley is a self-described "jack of all trades" for the Huron Valley Chamber of Commerce — and rightly so.

As the chamber's executive secretary, she's responsible for the day-to-day office operations from billing and answering phones to the chamber newsletters, annual directories and the organizing of all the chamber-sponsored activities and events. A Milford resident for more than 40 years, Motley has served the chamber for nine years.

A gift of gab has taken Dianna Morgan — and ultimately the Huron Valley Chamber of Commerce — a long way in a relatively short period of time.

As the chamber's membership director, Morgan has brought some 70 new members to the chamber, translating into a membership increase of nearly 50 percent.

"The fact that I like to talk certainly helps in my job," Morgan admitted. "I recruit new businesses to join the chamber by approaching business persons and showing what the chamber does — and what it can do for members and the community."

DESIREE MULDOON • CAR & TRUCK BOUTIQUE
NOVI (810) 380-5960

Sure, Desiree Muldoon has a closet full of businesses clothes and high heels.

Just don't expect to see her wearing them at work. Muldoon says she may be the only woman in Michigan owning and operating her type of business, the Car & Truck Boutique. She also gets her hands dirty doing the installation of items such as sun roofs.

It's a long haul from her last job, a commercial industrial property manager.

"I just wanted to go into business for myself. It's not real common for a woman to own this kind of business. I was never too satisfied working for other people. I like being the boss," Muldoon explained.

Muldoon and her husband started the Novi business five years ago and a year and a half ago, he quit his day job and took over as sales manager. They have four full-time and two part-time employees.

The Car & Truck Boutique sells a full line of accessories, including alarms. Newest to the lineup is car audio equipment by Clarion and Kenwood.

"I like to do something physical as opposed to sitting behind a desk. My suits and high heels are all collecting dust now," Muldoon explained.

DEBBIE DEGEN • THE VALLEY DELI
MILFORD (810) 685-3354

Nine years ago, Debbie Degen was ready for a new challenge.

And today, she still finds a daily challenge as owner of The Valley Deli at 359 N. Main St. in Milford.

"I was a medical technologist, I wanted to do something different and the Deli was for sale," Degen recalled. "I decided to take a chance."

The Valley Deli has become a breakfast and lunchtime meeting place for business people, local residents and a myriad of clients. In a recent poll in <1>The Milford Times<1> the deli was voted to have the best sandwiches and placed in categories for best quick lunch and best soups.

"The atmosphere is casual and has a New York style," Degen said. "The quality and individual care given to customers exceeds most restaurants of this kind."

In addition to a fabulous menu of entrees, sandwiches, salads and desserts, The Valley Deli provides catering to businesses, schools and family gatherings, including weddings. Many menus are created for individual catering request, with the deli offering everything from sub sandwiches and deli trays for casual events to buffet meals, chicken piccata and prime rib for more formal affairs.

MICHELE KELLY • KELLY & KELLY
NORTHVILLE (810) 348-0496

You could say Michele Kelly runs with a rough crowd.

But don't get the wrong idea. Kelly is a lawyer who specializes in criminal law and family law. In 1991, she's started her own firm Kelly & Kelly in Northville, together with her husband John, whose legal practice focuses on business and real estate law and estate planning.

Kelly, a mother of four, is very much a community activist. She's on the City of Northville planning commission, she's involved with Amerman Elementary School and she's on the board of the Community Federal Credit Union. She also donates her legal expertise to Civic Concern.

Kelly, who has a law degree from the University of Detroit, says one advantage she has going into the courtroom is that she isn't shy.

"I'm a litigator, so every time I go to work I feel like I'm going on stage. I really enjoy appearing in court," she said.

"I was an activist in high school and college and always represented the underdog, so it was natural to go into law and represent people.

ROSALYN JACKSON • ROSEBUD HOME DECOR & GIFTS
NOVI (810) 380-0855

Who says a little free advice can't help you?

Especially when it comes to interior decorating. Not so long ago, Rosalyn Jackson was working at IBM as a manager in the customer service department.

"I left IBM and decided to do what I like to do — home decorating. I think I was looking for a challenge in an area I enjoyed," Jackson explains.

In September 1993, she opened Rosebud Home Decor & Gifts at West Oaks II in Novi. What's unique about the shop is that it brings a quaint, small-town, Northville-type specialty store to a mall location. Rosebud offers fine accessories such as crystal, brass, florals, ceramics and collectibles to fit all home decor styles, ranging from Country French to Victorian, traditional to eclectic.

Jackson loves interior decorating and threw herself into creating a top-to-bottom masterpiece in her new Farmington Hills home.

She and her staff are prepared to share that creativity with customers. There's a charge if they come to your home for consultations. But you can take advantage of their sense of style in the store, without charge, if you're a buying customer.

"We try to work with people who come in when they're in the store," she said.

GINA AGOSTA • GINA AGOSTA'S COLORING & STYLING GROUP
NOVI (810) 477-2266

Gina Agosta's Coloring and Styling Group at Pheasant Run Plaza in Novi isn't the kind of place where one hairdresser cuts, colors and styles your hair.

Agosta, who has just sold out as a co-owner of Gerald's in Northville and Dearborn, prides herself on her coloring skills. Agosta has been coloring hair for over 21 years, training and motivating her staff and putting into practice her belief in continuing education.

Agosta has shown off her talent at the Intercoifur event at the Waldorf Astoria in New York, displaying her technique alongside nationally-known colorists and stylists such as Paul Mitchell. She's also active in the Chicago Cosmetology Association and is active in the International Hair Color Exchange.

Gina Agosta's is a family business. Her son, John, is the style director, while son Joseph works with Agosta. Clients can choose from nine hair stylists and five colorists.

The salon strives to pamper its customers with services such as European facials, makeup application, manicures, including French manicures and lip, brow and body waxing.

JUDY DORE • ERA RYMAL SYMES NORTHVILLE/NOVI

An avid puzzle worker, Judy Dore, a real estate professional with ERA Rymal Symes of Northville and Novi, finds the real estate business very much like working a crossword puzzle.

"The end result is to fill in all the blanks," she said "with clues from the client and knowledge from nine years in the business."

A lifelong resident of this area, Dore began her career in real estate as her children were entering college. She feels that her attention to detail and her sense of humor have helped her become successful in her chosen field.

Dore has been associated with ERA Rymal Symes since she began her real estate career. She feels that the products ERA offers are the best in the business. She is equally proud of the new facility that Rymal Symes opened in December of 1994.

"This new office is loaded with the very latest in real estate technology, which allows me to do what I do best ... sell."

Dore invites you to visit her at 22034 Novi Road, just south of Nine Mile Road in the Oak Pointe Plaza or call 1-800-349-4550.

KATHY DUNCAN • SOFT TOUCH CHIROPRACTIC
NOVI (810) 345-2000

Kathy Duncan had a satisfying full-time career as a registered nurse in critical care when she decided to pursue a degree as a Doctor of Chiropractic. The career move came when Duncan found relief from her migraine headaches after being treated by a Doctor of Chiropractic.

When Dr. Duncan decided to open her business in 1990 she chose a name that also signifies the type of chiropractic care her patients receive. Soft Touch Chiropractic is so named because the chiropractic care given uses a painless technique which is different than the traditional chiropractic care of spinal adjustment.

With the spine as the focal point, the spine is "relaxed" by using pressure on points along the muscles in conjunction with the spine. "Pressure point is light and gentle," Dr. Duncan said. "With the muscles relaxed, the spine readjusts itself naturally."

Dr. Duncan will take on new responsibilities soon as the newly-elected President of the American Business Women's Association, Novi Oaks Chapter.

LINDA DETTORE • LINDA'S HAIR & MORE
NOVI (810) 349-0730

After 27 years working for others, Linda Dettore is now her own boss.

"The time was right," Dettore said, with her kids grown and one in college, to do what she knew she always would, open her own hair salon, Linda's Hair & More.

Dettore and the five licensed staff members offer quality service which includes hair, make up, nails, facials, waxing, color, perms, cutting and styling.

Dettore purchased an existing salon, basically gutted it, and has spent the last eight months renovating it.

Although Linda's Hair & More is already open for business, the staff will celebrate a grand opening on May 20 with an open house from 2 to 7 p.m.

"There's a lot of high priced classy salons in Novi," Dettore said, "but there is very little of the neighborhood friendly salons."

Dettore, who has lived in Novi for 18 years, wanted to create a friendly neighborhood-type salon that everybody feels comfortable in.

"Our rates are very reasonable, comparatively speaking," Dettore said. "All the hairdressers here are well qualified and have up to 27 years experience."

SUE DILLON and BEVERLY WHITE • GRAPHIC VISIONS, INC.
PLYMOUTH (313) 420-3508

Whether you're revising an existing logo or creating a new one, Graphic Visions has many options to satisfy any business need and any budget.

Sue Dillon started Graphic Visions six years ago, adding Beverly White three years later as sales manager. Their working relationship yields effective results due to their strong belief in the team concept, as well as their understanding of advertising, marketing and the latest in technology.

Graphic Visions consists of two distinct parts — design and printing, and signs. Corporate identity graphics and revision of existing logos or entirely new designs are services of the design and printing area of Graphic Visions. The sign division offers signs for everything from buildings, to vehicles, to just about anything imaginable.

Whatever the project, Sue and Beverly are able to offer their customers cost effective packages. Part of taking on a project means undergoing a process of interviewing the client to determine their needs and budget. Your project is in good hands with Graphic Visions, which is equipped to produce every business need, from folders, forms and impressive ads to four-color brochures and quality signs and banners for that creative edge.

DONNA ENGSTROM • THE CREATIVE SIDE
BRIGHTON (810) 220-3244

Even if you can't tell the difference between a Monet, a Manet or a Matisse, you can explore your creative potential at The Creative Side.

Donna Engstrom, owner of The Creative Side, says that no one, regardless of ability or lack of it, should be intimidated by the thought of trying their hand at expressing themselves through art.

"I'd like people to know that even if they don't know a thing about art that they shouldn't be nervous," she says. "It's really not a mysterious thing. Being able to create something is a matter of creativity, not artistic talent."

Donna, a painter herself, describes stenciling and sponge painting as examples of surprisingly easy ways anyone can give a room some creative flair. Because of the demand to learn these decorative methods is growing, The Creative Side will soon feature a decorative art center for decorative wall finishes.

In addition to carrying a wide variety of supplies, The Creative Side offers custom frames crafted by her husband Carl. Donna also teaches a number of classes for adults and children, with a class for everyone from the novice to the more advanced artist.

KATHLEEN FITZGERALD • DEAN WITTER INC.
BRIGHTON (800) 676-9660

Unending curiosity about the world of business and finance, and a desire to help people, led Kathleen Fitzgerald to become an account executive and registered representative with Dean Witter.

"I feel I have a good understanding of the financial markets and I help investors to set and meet their investment goals," Kathleen says. "My first objective is to educate my clients about the risks and rewards of investing. Then we jointly establish and implement an investment plan."

Following her graduation from the University of Michigan in 1975, Kathleen was an associate with a business consulting firm where she conducted training and development programs for Fortune 500 companies around the United States. She has also worked with a startup manufacturing firm developing their marketing systems.

Kathleen has continued her education through Dean Witter's extensive business and finance training programs. She is a native of Michigan has lived in Brighton with her husband Martin since 1978.

Fitzgerald can be reached at Dean Witter Reynolds, Suite 1130 West, 3 Parklane Boulevard, Dearborn, or by calling (800) 676-9660.

GINGER BARRONS • RELIABLE REAL ESTATE
NOVI (810) 476-0540

Step into Reliable Real Estate and rest assured you'll be treated like family.

"I like the family atmosphere in the office," says Ginger Barrons, 38, broker-owner of Reliable Real Estate, 39809 Grand River Avenue in Novi. "I like being able to leave a name and number on a desk and not worry that another agent is going to steal it."

"I believe I have a place in the market. There is tough competition but I have created a niche with a family-oriented company that can give one-on-one attention and very personable service."

Barrons has built her company up from a one-woman show three years ago to the 10-member full and part time associate staff she has today. Company profits soared beyond $3 million in its first three months and has continued to grow by leaps and bounds ever since.

Barrons started the business after her former employer shut its doors and relocated. To Reliable Real Estate, she brought 10 years of realtor experience and honors she earned from the industry for high sales volume and ethical standards. A large percentage of her business comes from referrals from satisfied customers.

COLLEEN NEWVINE • INSIDER BUSINESS JOURNAL
BRIGHTON (810) 220-1800

Colleen Newvine grew up wanting to be a dentist.

It wasn't until she was a high school junior that she had second thoughts. Needing to find a class to fill her schedule, Newvine had a choice of marching band or school newspaper. As a flag girl for marching band, she would get to go to Florida for spring break. But the Arthur Hill High School newspaper beckoned. Newvine signed up for the newspaper and found that she loved journalism and all that came with it. Even the deadlines.

Now, a college degree and several newspaper jobs later, Newvine is embarking on a new assignment. She is heading up the Insider Business Journal.

The Insider is a monthly newsmagazine that will serve the business community in the Livingston and West Oakland county areas. The magazine will be published by Suburban Communications Corporation, the company that owns the HomeTown, Observer and Eccentric newspapers.

As the Insider's editor, Newvine hopes to provide insightful, interesting coverage of the whole array of businesses in the region, including manufacturing, retailing and service. "The goal," she said, "is to give business folks the kind of information they need."

CARLA MANDEL • CLEARY COLLEGE
HOWELL (517) 548-3670

Carla Mandel is more than just the Dean of Cleary College's Livingston Campus in Howell; she is also an educator and an active community member.

Mandel has a strong commitment to education. She has been with Cleary College since 1985 and is responsible for 500 students and 40 faculty and staff members. She also oversees all college operations, including admissions, student services, business operations and academics.

While with Cleary, Mandel has been instrumental in moving the College toward a customer-friendly orientation, while at the same time setting and maintaining high academic standards for the institution.

All this still doesn't stop Mandel from getting involved in the community. She is board member, treasurer and serves on the executive committee of the Women's Resource Center, in addition to being a member of McPherson Associates and the Rotary.

Mandel's involvement in the community has spanned over several years. In the past she was president of the Michigan Association of Women Deans, Administrators and Counselors (MAWDAD) and she has been a member of the Michigan Equity Grant Committee.

LORI ORNDORF/ELAINE KOMORNY AMERICAN EXPRESS FINANCIAL ADVISORS INC.
BRIGHTON (810) 227-6200

Financial advisors Lori Orndorf and Elaine Komorny work to dispel a number of misconceptions about their profession every day, including the idea that the services of a financial advisor are exclusively for the very wealthy or that the time to plan for retirement is just prior to that event.

Elaine and Lori say neither is true, and much of their efforts are expended educating people from a variety of income levels about the best ways to prepare for their financial futures — starting today. There really is no such thing as finding a "good time."

"We see a lot of people in their 40s and 50s who say 'I wish I would have met you 20 years ago,' Lori says. "It's not too late for them to do something, but young people have a distinct advantage."

Lori and Elaine, who maintain their own practices under American Express Financial Advisors Inc., say their mission as financial advisors is to counsel clients on how to accumulate, manage and preserve wealth. In addition to featuring a full range of financial planning services, they offer seminars and presentations to businesses to help educate people about financial planning.

MANDANA MILLER • HEIRLOOM ORIENTAL RUGS
BRIGHTON (810) 229-9686

A lifelong love and appreciation of fine quality Oriental rugs has turned into a successful business for Mandana Miller.

For the past year and a half, she has been using her expertise to bring works of art from around the world to sell at Heirloom Oriental Rugs in Brighton.

Despite the current trend of offering warehouse-style service and goods, Mandana adds a highly personal approach to her business, painstakingly seeking rugs of only the highest quality and workmanship.

"It's very enjoyable for me to choose from millions of beautiful rugs," she said. "I check them out before I buy them so I end up getting the very best."

Because a top quality Oriental rug can last up to 110 years, Mandana says she believes in helping her customers find the one that is perfect for them.

"It's really an investment for life, so it should be right in every way. It takes time to find something like that, and I've spent two or two and a half months to find what I would have picked for myself," she said.

Mandana carries a full line of rugs ranging from the popular high-end items to those more moderately priced.

SHARON KUIKAHI • A-DIRECT MAYTAG
BRIGHTON (810) 220-3585

It didn't take long for Sharon Kuikahi to establish a successful business, earning in only one year Maytag's Outstanding Dealer Award for superior sales and service. Sharon opened A-Direct Maytag in April 1994 knowing that after 12 years of selling home appliances, she did not want to do anything else.

The A-Direct Maytag showroom is designed to allow hands-on demonstration, as Sharon has washers, dryers, dishwashers and ranges hooked up and ready for operation. This helps customers understand the value of Maytag appliances.

Although owning a business is more complicated, Sharon says she thoroughly enjoys working together with her employees — many of whom are family members — to provide quality service and merchandise.

"It's harder than just working for someone else, but it's unbelievable how good it makes you feel when a customer takes the time to call and say thanks."

A-Direct Maytag is also the only dealer in Livingston County to offer Red Carpet Service, which provides customers with next-day services, factory-trained technicians and that "we care" attitude. A-Direct's delivery service provides the same exceptional service.

CATHRYN OLDS • I/O COMPUTER TRAINING CENTER
MILFORD (810) 684-5577

Cathryn Olds developed her company, I/O Computer Training Center, more than eight years ago.

Olds initially opened her business at home where she cared for her youngest daughter, Jacquelyn, now 7, who was on an apnea monitor as an infant.

"As she grew, the business grew," Olds said. Her office is located at 435 Union St. in Milford.

Olds' company is two companies in one. The original company, Input/Output Computer Services, provides consulting, computer system design, training and support. Customers' needs are filled in one-stop shopping.

The second company, I/O Computer Training Center, provides tailored courses that can help anyone master the use of software and their personal computer. The service helps companies train their employees using actual or simulated data. The optimum training helps employees perform at their peak in a shorter period of time, saving a company money in the long run.

Olds is a Microsoft Solutions Provider. She is also a member of the Highland Business Association, chair of the promotions committee for Milford Memories and a member of the Huron Valley Chamber of Commerce.

MARY HELEN SMITH • SOUTH LYON RESALE SHOPPE
SOUTH LYON (810) 437-5055

Whatever you're looking for, try the South Lyon Resale Shoppe. It's more than just a shop. It's a resale department store.

Mary Helen Smith said her store consigns and sells men's, women's and children's clothing along with small household items including baby furniture, lamps, linens and new jewelry.

Smith and her husband, Gerry, are the owners of the business established in 1993.

Customers who are looking for something in particular can enter their name, phone number and a description of what they want in the "wish list." Once the item comes in, an employee will call the customer and make a sale. "Customer service like that keeps satisfied customers coming back and is the best source of advertising," Smith said.

The challenge of always trying to make people happy, Smith says, is what she likes most about the shop. "They're the boss of our business. If they're happy, we're happy."

South Lyon Resale Shoppe accepts clothing currently in style, clean, pressed and in season. Consignors receive 50 percent of the selling price.

KATHIE CROWLEY • ReMAX COUNTRYSIDE
SOUTH LYON (810) 486-5007

She knows horses. She knows real estate.

Put those qualities together and you have Kathie Crowley, who specializes in horse and country properties for ReMax Countryside in South Lyon. Crowley has worked at ReMax for over a year but has a total of 19 years experience in real estate.

She feels lucky knowing she is one of those people "who love what they do."

Crowley said the South Lyon area is "outstanding" for people looking for horse farms or country living. Whether one wants a small farm with two acres or a full-fledged breeding operation, the South Lyon area has it.

She enjoys the challenge of finding the perfect piece of property that matches her clients' needs.

Crowley has owned a horse farm in Salem Township for over 10 years. At her farm, she offers services in training, lessons, judging and breeding.

She serves on the Schoolcraft Equine Advisory Committee and is also an instructor in the continuing education of the equine division.

Crowley knows first-hand that buying a farm is a big investment and makes sure the property is the "right one." 0

DIANE SZYMANSKI • DALE CARNEGIE TRAINING
BRIGHTON (810) 220-5704

Diane Szymanski credits the uplifting and motivational message of the Dale Carnegie program with changing her life. Now an independent contractor for the company, she uses her own experiences and her motivational training to help others.

"I was at a very low point in my life...when I took the course I transformed my life," Diane says.

She has worked for the Nichols Corporation, which sponsors Dale Carnegie courses, for the past 10 years as a sales representative and also acts as facilitator of the courses. She also facilitates self-development weekend retreats and one-day seminars.

Dale Carnegie courses aim to develop self confidence, self acceptance, and to improve human relations. The 12-week courses are college accredited, but are open to anyone from age 10 to senior citizens, and come with a money-back guarantee. New classes are scheduled to begin in Brighton in September.

Eager to start a support network in the area, Diane formed the Winner's Circle Celebration Breakfast in October, which meets the second Saturday of each month at the Botsford Inn, Farmington Hills, from 9 a.m. to noon.

ELIZABETH CLANCY-BROWN
ELIZABETH'S BRIDAL MANOR
NORTHVILLE (810) 348-2783

From the moment the bride-to-be waltzes into Elizabeth's Bridal Manor, the proprietor is sizing her up.

Owner Elizabeth Clancy-Brown evaluates a woman's figure and personal style with an artist's eye and then suggests that dazzlingly perfect wedding look.

"Making my customer happy and helping her pick the dress of her dreams, making her look like a cover girl, is very gratifying."

Selection and non-intimidating service for the blushing — to the more mature — bride are the keys to the six-year-old Northville business's success, she explained. Former customers often return to find a bridal ensemble for that second or third wedding.

From January to May, Clancy-Brown works 12-hour days, seven days a week and these aren't her busiest months. August and October are.

Clancy-Brown has big plans for the future. Within the year, the 2,300-square-foot shop will double in size. More exciting for future brides, however, is that she is traveling to France and England this summer with the aim of bringing home new European bridal lines.

DEBBIE SANTANGELO • MERLE NORMAN & MORE
NOVI (810) 349-2930

Debbie Santangelo knew very little about retail before she opened Merle Norman and More. But thanks to the support of her family she's managed to make her dream a reality.

Santangelo took over the cosmetic business when it was inside Twelve Oaks Mall. Five months later she moved the business to the Novi Towne Center and expanded her product line to include unique clothing and jewelry.

"It was very shaky for a few years," she said. "But you learn as you go and you learn real quick when you just get thrown into it."

Nearly nine years later business has quadrupled.

But she has not forgotten the support her mother, Mary Scarborough, and sister, Cheryl Wagoner, gave to her when she first opened the full service cosmetic and nail salon. Her mother remains an active manager and sales associate. Her sister will be on board until June.

"They have been a tremendous help," Santangelo said.

The standards set forth inside the company have earned Santangelo Merle Norman's Gold Medallion award. The award is given to salon owners who provide excellent service and meet or exceed Merle Norman's strict quality standards. Santangelo received the award last year.

BEVERLY E. NEAL • PHILLIPS FUNERAL HOME
SOUTH LYON (810) 437-1616

Beverly E. Neal isn't a psychologist, but she helps counsel many people through difficult times. As director and manager of Phillips Funeral Home in South Lyon, she is known for her thoughtfulness and caring. Many times families have returned to thank her.

"I've had people say, 'I can't tell you how much I appreciate what you've done,'" Neal said. "You're getting them through that difficult time, and that's where my job satisfaction comes from."

Neal has been in funeral service since 1974, working for funeral homes in Plymouth and Brighton. She has been director of Phillips Funeral Home two years. "This is a family-oriented funeral home," Neal said. "It really considers family values and stresses meeting the family's needs."

Phillips Funeral Home was established in 1889 and its current owner, Evelyn R. Phillips, is the widow of the fourth generation of her family to own the home.

Neal received her mortuary science certificate from Wayne State University in 1979. In past years, she has been an active Civitan member and is the mother of two children, Jeffrey Jr., 9, and Heather, 4.

BEVERLY GILBERT • ERA RYMAL-SYMES
NOVI (810) 349-4550

Ever since she started into real estate, Beverly Gilbert has had a unique philosophy — to approach real estate from a different point of view — yours.

"I try to treat my clients the same way I would want to be treated myself — thoroughly, with patience and understanding," Beverly says.

As an associate agent with ERA Rymal-Symes of Novi, Beverly has found that her philosophy has paid off extremely well. She says a majority of her new business comes from the recommendations of past clients.

Committed to learning all she can about her chosen field also has helped Beverly succeed. "If you don't keep up on current trends, you can't fully serve your client's best interests," she says.

Beverly has completed the Graduate Real Estate Institute, Certified Buyers Representative Institute, the ERA TOP GUN Institute and currently serves as a member of the Education Committee for the Western-Wayne-Oakland County Board of Realtors.

A multi-million dollar producer, Beverly has received numerous awards, including the President's Club, First-In-Service Award, the Golden Circle Award, and first place National Marketing Award (ERA).

ANNE MARIE BOND and KAREN CIRKA • VISIONS SALON
NOVI (810) 344-9944

Visions Salon takes your appearance seriously, offering a full range of services and believing that "Our business is focusing on you."

Co-owners Anne Marie Bond and Karen Cirka have both worked in Novi for the past 15 years. They have owned Visions Salon for seven years, but recently celebrated their one-year anniversary at their new, full-service location at 22002 Novi Road in the Oak Pointe Plaza.

The salon offers 13 hair designers and four nail technicians, as well as massage, waxing, electrolysis, facial and make-up services.

In addition to traditional salon fare, Anne Marie and Karen offer many packages to suit their customers' needs and wishes. Examples of that extra special, personalized service includes packages with 5 1/2 hour full-day pampering with lunches catered by Edward's of Northville. A salon package can also be tailored to your own personal needs.

Anne Marie and Karen enjoy focusing on children 14 and under with Cinderella Days. This program includes a beauty program of a manicure, hairstyle and snack, helping younger customers focus on their appearance with the help of Anne Marie's and Karen's experienced staff members.

NANCY SMITH and JAN LILLY
WIND RIVER GALLERY
MILFORD (810) 684-6044

Teamwork is the name of the game at Wind River Gallery for Nancy Smith and Jan Lilly.

"Jan and I are Wind River together," Smith said. "I'm the buyer for the store and handle the selling end of the business while Jan does our custom framing. It's definitely a team effort here."

Wind River Gallery, located in downtown Milford at 400 N. Main, specializes in custom framing, giftware, prints and collectibles.

Nancy and her husband, Tim, first opened the store in 1989; Nancy has been manager for the past three years.

"We provide a positive service to the community — and we must be doing something right."

"Things are going very well and business is just wonderful. It really picked up around Christmas and it hasn't stopped yet," Nancy said.

"We do our best to have our customers feel comfortable and welcome here. And I really enjoy the people and the business."

Lilly has been part of Wind River for the past two years. Her lifelong love of art brought her into the business where she discovered her creative knack for custom framing.

"I learned on the job and from watching others. It was a hands-on type of training," she said.

Lilly's current specialties are unusual mattings such as "lifts," which use foam cores, and non-traditional framing styles such as southwestern, which

"And everything is done as conservation framing, using acid-free materials and museum-quality mounting," she said.

Other galleries charge upwards of $50 extra for conservation framing," she said, "while Wind River adds no additional fee for this."

At Wind River, all framing is done on the premises so customers can watch Lilly's work in action.

"People can see what's going on if they are interested in doing so. A lot of people find out that much goes into framing and matting than they realized," Lilly said.

Nancy Smith and her husband have three daughters, ages 7, 11 and 14. Lilly, a Wixom resident, is the mother of two grown children.

CAROL WILKOP, DDS
MILFORD (810) 685-2035

For the past three years, Carol Wilkop, DDS, has donated her time to providing low cost dental check-ups and screenings for oral mouth cancer at the Health-O-Rama in Milford. Offering such services is Wilkop's way of saying thank you to a community which she and her daughter, Lauren, 6, love so much.

"I think Milford and it's people are wonderful, and participating in Health-O-Rama is one of the things I can do to thank the community, as well as be part of the fabric of the community."

Each year, Wilkop offers workshops at Huron Valley Schools, which allows her to combine two of her favorite things — working with children and dentistry. She said her workshops provide children with an overview of dental hygiene and focus on the importance of nutrition and its effect on teeth and gums.

"I try to emphasize the importance of non-sugary foods and encourage children to develop good eating habits," Wilkop said. "I try to teach them that eating a piece of fruit is a good choice and a Tootsie Roll, maybe, is not."

A dentist for 13 years, Carol is also a member of Zonta, a nation-wide women's service organization that promotes women in business.

LYNCH & SONS FUNERAL DIRECTORS
MILFORD (810) 684-6645

Brigid B. Lynch is the director of Pre-Need and Aftercare Services for Lynch & Sons Funeral Directors in Milford and also serves at the firm's other locations in Clawson, Walled Lake and Plymouth.

"Working with people at this most difficult time is a challenge," Brigid said of her work. "Knowing you can help in an otherwise helpless situation is very fulfilling."

A graduate of Marian High School in 1982 and Michigan State University in 1986, Brigid had established her career in Personnel Management before her brothers, who operate the largest family-owned funeral service company in Michigan, recruited her for the family business.

Changes in the pre-need funding laws and increased consumer interest in funeral preplanning keep Ms. Lynch busy.

Additionally, the expanded role of the funeral home in providing bereavement support and referral services has motivated her to return to school where she is finishing her master's degree in counseling.

"Brigid is a true professional," said her brother, Tom Lynch. "She cares about people and it shows."

LISA VANDERHOOF
VANDERHOOF AGENCY/ALLSTATE INSURANCE
SOUTH LYON (810) 486-2800

"We at the Vanderhoof Agency stand for professionalism, integrity and excellent customer service," said Lisa Vanderhoof, agency owner.

"We want the community to view us as a resource for insurance needs, a friendly place to conduct business and a place where they can expect a competitive price for a top-of-the-line product. We want our customers to view us as knowledgeable, courteous, professional, fair and concerned about their insurance needs."

"I receive a lot of calls from women who find me in the yellow pages. Some of them are on their own for the first time in years, due to growing up and leaving home, divorce or death of a spouse. They start out by being embarrassed for knowing little about insurance and end up thanking me for taking the time to explain it in a way that's understandable."

"We like to provide all our customers with the information they need to make decisions regarding their insurance needs."

Vanderhoof has been an Allstate agent for 17 years. She opened her own agency in South Lyon on Jan. 4, 1993.

CASEY MONTI • CENTURY 21-TODAY
LIVONIA (313) 462-9800

Others have made it to the top using just their first names.

Casey Monti hopes to do the same as a realtor for Century 21-Today in Livonia. "I go only by my first name because I think people will remember me that way," she said. "Everybody uses their first and last names. But Casey isn't that hard to remember. And people who pass by my signs won't know if I'm a man or woman — if that matters to them. But for me it's a marketing strategy."

And one marketing strategy Casey hopes will help her sell homes. An agent transplanted from Century 21 - Troy, Casey is making her mark in a new marketplace. Armed with bachelor's and master's degrees in education, Casey first taught kindergarten in Willow Run Community Schools for 15 years. She left the classroom to be at home with her three children.

She operated a day care business for seven years while her three children were growing, and then opted to return to the work force. She returned to find the teaching market was saturated and that's when she changed gears and pursued a career as a realtor.

Although based in Livonia, Casey sells real estate all over southeastern Michigan. "I'm very service oriented and I like matching people with homes."

DIANE (WISE) O'NEILL • BABY BABY
NORTHVILLE (810) 347-2229

"I didn't know this was a consignment store until I looked at the prices... I'm so glad I stopped in."

Comments of this nature have been commonplace at BABY BABY ever since it opened six years ago in downtown Northville. This year BABY BABY has grown to include over 1,000 active consignors, many from as far away as West Bloomfield, Milford, Dearborn and Ann Arbor.

"With so many quality clothes arriving daily, we are able to sell and replenish our stock very quickly — there's always something new," said owner Diane (Wise) O'Neill. "Mothers are very sophisticated consumers. When the clothes are of high quality, they know they can save money by consigning or by purchasing from consignment shops. Either way, it's a great value."

Many of the maternity fashions at BABY BABY include business apparel from Pea in the Pod, Mother's Work and Motherhood. Children's fashions include all the quality favorites: Gymboree, Hartstrings, Guess, Rothschild, London Fog, Esprit and Sylvia Whyte.

BABY BABY, at 144 Alexander Ct., is open Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Thursday evening until 7 p.m.

TERESA SENK • FRAMES UNLIMITED
NOVI (810) 344-8369

"Creating a dynamic framing design that the customer is delighted with is the best part of my job," says Teresa Senk, manager at Frames Unlimited of Novi.

"I enjoy helping our customers select framing that compliments their artwork."

Her frame shop carries an incredible selection of custom frame moldings and artwork. Frame choices include hand-rubbed hardwood finishes with custom inlaid corners, handcrafted animal print finishes, museum quality ornate frames, white washed naturals, brushed metals with corner ornaments and many more.

Senk has framed items such as lace doilies, decorative kitchen tiles and sports jerseys — even an Aztec calendar made of stone. In addition to framing practically anything you can bring into the store, her shop carries prints and posters including works by artists Mary Beth Baxter and Kathy Jakobsen. Limited edition prints available include images by Tarkay, Hessam and Mike Smith.

And her Frames Unlimited has more than just framing. The store's accessories include items such as hand painted ceramic bowls, vases and platters. The shop also features unique twig furniture including a baker's rack and bench made entirely from tree branches and twigs.

Frames Unlimited, a family owned business since 1972, has 33 stores throughout Michigan, Ohio and Indiana. The Novi location is at 22224 Novi Road.

PAMELA BOYD • WORKFORCE LAKE ORION 1-800-974-1107

Pamela Boyd opened her first staffing office in Lake Orion in 1986. She now oversees three locations providing temporary workers, locating and screening applicants for permanent job openings, and providing skills and personality testing for prospective and existing employees. Her newest service is personality profiling to help job seekers determine the best job fit.

Her success has been based on personal attention to the needs and preferences of job applicants and employees, and responsive service at a fair price to her small and medium sized business clients. The Workforce mission is to "connect job seekers and employers efficiently and cost effectively with the best possible results, while contributing to the communities in which we operate."

Pamela and her staff are very active in the community, serving on committees and boards, sponsoring baseball teams, and participating in activities such as Walk for Warmth and March of Dimes Walk America.

Workforce has offices in Southfield and Mt. Clemens in addition to Lake Orion. Anyone seeking employment, career guidance, temporary or permanent workers, or testing services in the metro Detroit area can call Pamela at 1-800-974-1107.

MARION BETTS • MAIN STREET ART MILFORD

An artist herself, Marion Betts envisioned a showcase for Michigan's best artists.

Thirteen years after making her vision a reality, Main Street Art at 432 N. Main Street in Milford is thriving, offering a wide variety of sculptures, paintings, prints and pottery and a professional frame shop.

Prior to opening Main Street Art, Betts traveled to shows and artists' studios throughout the state gathering art for Michigan's major shopping centers and malls. Betts recognized that artists needed a local shop to display and sell their art year round. She opened Main Street Art June 9, 1982, focusing on Michigan's potters, painters and sculptors.

Betts studied framing at workshops sponsored by the Professional Picture Framers Association in Chicago and Toronto. After 12 years of framing, Betts said she continues her framing studies to keep up with the newest techniques and designs.

A water colorist, Betts belongs to the Village Fine Art Association. She also volunteers her time to art students at Milford High School and, for five years, has offered students a discount on mats to frame their work.

COLLEEN TISCORNIA • TISCORNIA TRAVEL SERVICE MILFORD (810) 685-0055

Colleen Tiscornia's philosophy is simple and straightforward: support local business. And, apparently, plenty of folks in the Milford/Highland area agree, particularly when it comes to planning a vacation.

Tiscornia is pleased to report a steady, measured growth in business for Tiscornia Travel Service, 653 Highland, which she has operated for the last five years.

"We gear our efforts to what our clients are looking for. And we offer friendly, professional service at no cost to our clients," she said.

"From airline, hotel and car-rental reservations to cruises, specialized trips, chartered buses, individualized travel and travel insurance, we have the expertise and capability of getting the latest information and best rates for our clients," Tiscornia said.

And while she's thrilled to run her own business, Tiscornia prides herself on being very active with several area organizations. She's vice president of the Milford Rotary Club, a Huron Valley Chamber of Commerce member and is on the Milford Downtown Development Authority.

She and her husband, Gary, have a 5-year-old daughter, Abigail.

D&N BANK SOUTH LYON (810) 437-5156

A bank in a town like South Lyon needs to have that small-town atmosphere and personal service. And that's just what customers find at D&N Bank.

"I enjoy the personal contact with the customer," said Donna Borders, personal banking officer. "You feel like you're a part of the family. People just stop in to talk."

She feels personal service is the most important part of a business and that is what D&N seeks to offer. The most recent trend in banking is a personal banker, which is someone who handles all of a customer's banking needs, whether it is loans or investments. D&N has several of its own personal bankers to help give customers that personal service.

Borders, who has 24 years of banking experience, worked for First Federal when it merged with D&N Bank in 1988. She started as a teller and has moved up to her current position, which allows her to do several things including mortgages, consumer loans and helping people out of financial problems.

In addition to her work, Borders serves on the Livingston County Children and Family Service Board and was on the South Lyon Chamber of Commerce board for 11 years.

The other women of D&N Bank are:

•Taryn Aho - A teller for the past four years, Aho enjoys working in South Lyon because of the "small town atmosphere."

•Brenda Briggs - Employed as a teller supervisor, Briggs has worked at D&N for the past year and is a native of South Lyon.

•Maria Daniel - A native of South Lyon, Daniel has worked as a teller at D&N for almost a year.

•Kathy Hanert - A teller for the past five years, Hanert said, "D&N is a great place to work and I enjoy the customers."

•Jacki Holmes - A personal banker, Holmes enjoys the personal contact with customers. She has worked at D&N for 15 years and began as a teller in Howell before being transferred to South Lyon.

•Mary Lou Lesnau - A personal banker, Lesnau is very active in the community. She's involved with Girl Scouts, Panther Football, South Lyon High School football and track/field. A mother of three children, she is also active in St. Joseph Catholic Church.

•June Martin - A 23-year-resident of South Lyon, Martin is employed as the receptionist at D&N. She is a member of the Fellowship Evangelical Presbyterian Church and is active in high school parent groups.

•Stephanie Smola - A nine-year resident of South Lyon, Smola has worked as a teller at D&N for over a year.

D&N Bank is located at 419 S. Lafayette in downtown South Lyon.

Physical Therapists Sandra Jenkins, left, and Barbara Herzog offer encouragement and support while helping patients meet personal goals.

HEALTHSTYLES PHYSICAL REHABILITATION
 (810) 486-1110

Barbara Herzog liked the South Lyon area so much, she moved there after opening Healthstyles Physical Rehabilitation with partner Sandra Jenkins.

"We like it here very much," Herzog said. As licensed physical therapists, both saw a need for therapy in a growing community. They also offer services in occupational and speech therapy.

Their most important task is meeting the patient's personal goals, whether it's overcoming back pain, learning to walk after surgery, self-care and independence or a safe return to their prior functional or occupational status. "It's constant encouragement and support," Herzog said about her work as a full-time therapist. She spends 2-3 days per week with each patient.

Herzog works with a variety of referral patients, including children, and treats various conditions, such as post-surgical or work-related injuries.

Jenkins has a special interest in geriatrics and enjoys working with that population.

The business is at 301 S. Lafayette St. in downtown South Lyon.

BECKY BOND • FRIENDS
NORTHVILLE

Color, living vibrant color is a joy to work with, designer Becky Bond says.

Bond is on the staff at Friends, a downtown Northville company, specializing in elegant home furnishings and interior decorating. Bond helps purchase the merchandise for the store, which features an eclectic selection picked up from High Point in Chicago or purchased from individuals who keep an eye open for things unique. She also sets up the store's series of design vignettes which delight shoppers.

Friends is the name in part because that is what clients become.

"Sometimes people, I think, are intimidated by designers, we just try to be real relaxed and comfortable with them. We don't put on a lot of airs," said Bond, who has a Wayne State University bachelor's degree in Fine Arts with an emphasis on interior design.

In February, Friends moved from the spot it occupied in MainCentre for three years to a spot right on Main Street.

Bond aims to help clients incorporate their existing furniture and accessories into an exciting new look. "It's always fun to work with color. Some people are a little intimidated by it and we get real excited when someone wants to do something more adventurous," she said.

PAT GUY and EILEEN ISOTALO • PAT GUY & COMPANY
SOUTH LYON (810) 486-5321

Pat Guy & Company has brought together some of the most experienced interior designers, knowledgeable in all aspects of residential and commercial interiors.

"We're excited about the high quality of our design staff," said Eileen Isotalo, manager. "We've had a lot of satisfied customers, and business continues to grow by word of mouth."

The designers have coordinated the interiors of model and showcase homes for many area builders. Two of these model homes will be featured in the upcoming Cavalcade of Homes: Pembroke Crossing in Green Oak Township and Eagle Ravine in Brighton.

The owner, Pat Guy, started out on her own in interior design 10 years ago in her basement. After studying as an apprentice and going to school, she then settled her growing business in South Lyon.

They have a full-service design studio housed inside Cabbage Rose, the pink, Victorian antique shop in South Lyon. It is supplied with a library of window fashions, wall treatments, floor coverings as well as exclusive designer fabrics. Designers also provide in-home consultations.

HERITAGE REAL ESTATE BETTER HOMES & GARDENS MILFORD

When it comes to real estate, few people in the area know the business better than the agents at Heritage Real Estate/Better Homes and Gardens.

The business, located at 409 N. Main St., is owned by broker Cindy Jakey. It specializes in residential, commercial, vacant land and new construction real estate transactions. The phone number is 684-5346.

As broker of the Milford business, Jakey uses her 23 years in real estate to oversee the work of seven associates. The business focuses on southwest Oakland County and parts of Livingston.

"Our name is instantly recognized by consumers and has earned their respect and trust," Jakey said.

Jakey began working in real estate 23 years ago when she lived Downriver. She and her husband, Tim, bought their first home and she remembers thinking that selling a home was a job she could do.

"The people who showed us houses, I said, 'God, that's an easy job,'" Jakey said. "It was just real impressive to me that somebody could sell you a house. It's such a large investment in life."

Jakey came to Heritage's Milford office in 1990 as a manager. She bought the business in 1991.

She's been active in the community since then. She is currently president of the Milford Business Association and serves on the Huron Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Among her realtor associates is Kathy Voorheis, who lives in Milford's Summit Ridge condominium development.

Although she's only been in the business for two years, Voorheis has spent more time than that showing homes. She often showed her condo to curious visitors of Summit Ridge.

"They'd have been walking up and down the street wanting to see a condo, but the model was not open," Voorheis said.

She sold two condos before she realized she could put some money into her own pockets with her efforts. A friend introduced her to Jakey, who hired her.

She took a five-day crash course, and now when she sells a condo — which is her specialty — she makes the money.

Voorheis has worked as an executive secretary at General Motors and has been active with the Questers and the Milford Presbyterian Church.

Paula Tatum-Fenn worked 12 hour days before coming into real estate. She didn't hold a job, but spent her time volunteering for different causes.

She ran political campaigns — "I never had a loser" — and she was active in the church, the PTA and her son's boy scout pack.

But when the kids went off to college, she decided it was time to earn some money. She began in real estate in 1985 in the City of Wayne and moved to Milford in 1990.

She specializes in residential transactions and loves the job today as much as she did when she first got into it. "I love it because I'm a people person," Tatum-Fenn said. "I like being with people."

Tatum-Fenn has received several honors, including the designation as the Women of Achievement in 1994 by the Milford Area Business and Profession Women's Club and the award of Outstanding Young Woman of America in 1983.

Toni Bezak's first job with Heritage earned her $4.50 an hour. That was the pay when she began working as closing secretary six years ago.

She decided to reinstate her license, which she received in 1975, and now works as an associate realtor. She said the job is a 24-hour-a-day, seven-day-a-week position, which is not what she originally expected.

Her job is in helping people, Bezak said. She works with people interested in selling their homes, helping them merchandise them on the market.

"In my opinion, it's not how many homes you sell that makes you a successful realtor, but how many people you've helped by making the sale or purchase of their home as effortless as possible," she said.

Bezak, who lives in Milford with her dog Bezer, has worked for Milford Memories on the raft race and is an organizer of the Ice Spectacular's chili cook off.
