Some 200 swimmers had the right idea last weekend by beating the heat while raising money for a good cause at the same time. Members of the Meadowbrook County Club swim team splashed around in the country club's pool for 24 hours in a fund-raising effort to benefit Spaulding for Children. The goal of $5,000 was nearly reached from donations made before the marathon had started. Spaulding places children in permanent homes.

Trustee board 'depoliticizes' township hall

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

No comment.

Without one word of public discussion members of the Northville Township Board of Trustees approved Manager Tamara Hanlin's otherwise much-talked-about reorganization proposal one week ago

Justifying the July 13 move, which implements significant changes in township government, was a job the trustees left to Hanlin, who discussed her controversial proposal in detail for the first time the day after the board's meeting

The trustees' 4-1 vote authorizes Hanlin to proceed with her three-pronged project, including.

• Elimination of the township's planning department Hanlin is now negotiating a deal with McKenna Associates, the township's contracted planning consultant firm, that calls for the Farmington Hills company to take over all township planning functions. It's a move she claims will save taxpayer money.

• Negotiation of a separation agreement with soon to be ex-Director of Planning and Zoning Carol Maise. Hanlin said she made an offer to Maise on Friday but to date hasn't received a response, except a threat of a lawsuit. Maise was unavailable for comment.

Water restrictions extended in area

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Record high temperatures this summer mean continued water use restrictions for the Northville community.

The sweltering summer heat wave has led to increased water use all over the metro area and that, in turn, has caused low water pressure problems in several communities.

Although Northville's not one of the low pressure areas, the city and township will still have to abide by water use rules put in place last month by the Michigan and city of Detroit departments of health. Detroit Water and Sewerage officials announced this week

Northville gets its water from the Detroit system

Once September comes the agency will decide if another extension is necessary but the restrictions will likely stay in place as long as pressure remains low.

While the restrictions are in effect, citizens are asked to eliminate all non-essential uses such as washing cars or filling pools.

Officials are asking for compliance with these rules:

• Lawn sprinkling is allowed on an odd-even basis. Properties with addresses ending in even numbers can water lawns on even numbered days of the month Properties with odd addresses can sprinkle on odd numbered days.

• Sprinkling systems should be operated only during non-peak use times, from 8 a.m. to 3 p m , and from 8-11 p m This doesn't apply to hand-held hose sprinkling.

Violators could be ticketed under a special ordinance and fined $100. City residents could be issued appearance tickets requiring them to appear in court

Legal battle rages over condemned home

The Northville Housing Board of Appeals will decide the fate of a home that, city officials claim, is "unfit for human habitation "

The board will decide July 27 whether the city can take steps to demolish the home, located at 901 Carrington, if the owner of record doesn't clean up the unsanitary conditions that exist within the structure

The board meeting is scheduled for 7 p m at city hall

An appeal was filed on behalf of the property owners It states that the property is not subject to demolition because the repairs necessary will not cost in excess of 100 percent of the property's State Equalized Value The appeal also states that the notices to the owners were deficient because they lacked the specifics of repairs to the property, and the time limit set for making the repairs is not "reasonable "

Should the board decide to deny that appeal, the city could move to demolish the home by Aug. 8

The original property owner, Sandra Myers, was found dead in the home from carbon monoxide poisoning due to a faulty water heating system Nov 8 1994. At that time, police and fire officials found the home littered with animal feces and garbage

The conditions were so bad that city officials

State DNR park grant comes through

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

Northville outdoor enthusiasts got some good news this week.

Parks and Recreation Department officials found out that the department will receive a grant of $150,000 from the state for the purchase of 2.4 acres of land adjacent to Ford Field.

The grant is part of a $27.6 million appropriation from the Michigan Natural Resources Trust, which funds projects in various Michigan counties. The funds were released to the trust after Gov. John Engler signed Senate Bill 426 on July 12.

Parks and Recreation Director Traci Johnson said the money will be used to acquire the 2.4 acre parcel on Griswold, north of Main Street. The property sits adjacent to Ford Field.

The property was made available through the sale of the Ford property to R&D Enterprises, and will be used to expand the recreation facilities at Ford Field and to obtain additional parking for Ford Field and Mill Race Village.

Providing access to Ford Field along the Rouge River boundary will enhance the recreational area and enable more residents to enjoy

Northville resident Debi Lopez plays with her adopted son, Christian, 2, at Detroit Metro Airport last Friday. The Lopezes welcomed not only Christian to his new family and country, but the boy's sister, Tori, 7, as well. The two children were put up for adoption by their Vietnamese mother, and the Lopezes decided to keep them together in the same home. The remarkable story appears on page 5-B.

Temperatures that reached above the 100-degree mark were not enough to keep everybody shut up in air conditioned luxury. Beach combers, swimmers and skiers took to the waterways in numbers to escape the sweltering heat. This outdoor enthusiast had a good idea in going off to Walled Lake for some water skiing.

News Briefs

PARKING CREDITS OK'D: The Northville City Council voted to approve a request by the Tuscan Cafe to purchase two parking credits, at the board's regular meeting July 17.

The credits for the new business, slated to open this weekend, is a result of building renovations and change of use for the cafe, located at 150 N. Center.

According to Northville City Manager Gary Word, credits are issued when developers within the central business district are unable to provide on-site parking. In the case of the Tuscan Cafe, the cost of the two credits will be $4,700 – or $2,350 per parking space credit.

The city's planning consultant, Don Wortman, calculated the parking requirements and recommended that two credits needed to be purchased.

The cafe is a "sit down" coffee house that will serve cappuccino, espresso, sandwiches and deserts.

SIDEWALK REPLACEMENT CONTRACT AWARDED: The city council also awarded a contract for the city's 1995 sidewalk replacement program.

The contract, in the amount of $35,872, was awarded to J.D.S. Trucking Co., which provided the low bid of three companies. The bids were opened July 10 at Northville City Hall.

The project calls for the replacement of defective sidewalks in an area of the city known as Cabbagetown, along with segments on Sherrie Lane and Jeffery Drive.

According to city consultant Saed Hares, J.D.S. Trucking has successfully completed work similar to the sidewalk program.

The city will pay for the services from its general fund, as well as special assessments against affected property owners, according to City Manager Gary Word.

MILL SIGN REQUEST APPROVED: The city granted a request by the Northville Cider mill to post directional signs at strategic locations within the city.

The placement of the signs will assist patrons in locating the mill.

The request will allow for signs to be placed in the following locations: Baseline Road at Novi Road; Eight Mile Road at Novi Road; Center Street at Baseline; Center Street and Seven Mile Road.

The signs will go up Sept. 2 and will be removed Nov. 19

Historically, the city has allowed the signs to be posted for the cider season, according to City Manager Gary Word. Last year, Word said, the Cider Mill experienced problems with the Baseline Bridge closure and the city allowed sandwich board signs to be placed in strategic locations.

With the completion of the Baseline Bridge, the sandwich board signs will no longer be needed, Word said

Working On A Killer Tan?

This year, over 8,800 Americans will die of skin cancer. And over 600,000 new cases will be detected.

That's a tragedy. But those numbers could be easily reduced if more people would use sunscreen, cover themselves, wear hats, or simply reduce their exposure to the sun.

Help put an end to America's most common form of cancer. Play it safe—and don't get burned.

Township scores in suit against state

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Northville Township 1, state of Michigan 0.

That's the score right now in the township's battle with the state over prisoner double bunking at the Western Wayne Correctional Facility. The contest isn't over yet, however.

Severe overcrowding in state prisons led the Department of Corrections (DOC) earlier this year to seek permission to double bunk inmates at Western Wayne, located on Five Mile Road in Plymouth Township. State officials sought approval of the plan from the Northville Township Board of Trustees because of a lawsuit which the township filed in the late 1980s.

Michigan in 1986 adopted a law which among other things limited the population at Western Wayne to 500 prisoners. Northville took the DOC to court to make sure the provision was enforced and obtained judicial injunctive orders in 1988 and 1991 that affirmed the 500-inmate cap.

Early this year state officials held talks with the board on going above the cap, offering concessions for the township's agreement.

The two sides could not reach agreement, however, and in April the state Legislature and Gov. John Engler agreed to amend the 1986 law to increase the cap to 775 prisoners, without compensating the township.

The board in response voted to take the state to court, asking Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Edward Thomas to hold the DOC in contempt for violating the two orders. Thomas in a July 12 ruling granted the request but the DOC is appealing that decision.

At the heart of the debate is whether the April amendment increasing the cap to 775 legally supersedes the 1988 and 1991 orders pegging it at 500. The state Attorney General's office, which is representing the DOC, says it does. The township's lawyers and Thomas say it does not.

"The judge agreed with us," township attorney Audrey Forbush said, "and our view is that the Legislature can't override the power of the judiciary in this case."

The DOC's appeal bumps the case up the legal ladder to the Michigan Court of Appeals. If that body affirms Thomas' decision it will stand and he will then decide what sanction to impose on the department.

If the Court of Appeals overrules his decision, however, the township's quest will end.

While a decision is pending the department can't further increase the number of prisoners at Western Wayne, Thomas ruled.

No date has yet been set for a hearing in the Court of Appeals.

A 34-year-old Northville man won't be upsetting his 30-year-old girlfriend for awhile – at least until he purchases a helmet and shoulder pads.

Northville police responded to a 911 call July 6 from the man after his girlfriend allegedly smashed her fist through the window of the man's locked front door – and then into his face.

The altercation may have stemmed from an incident two weeks earlier when the man allegedly kicked down the girlfriend's front door at her home in Livonia, and then was promptly beaten by the women with a baseball bat

A day later the victim called police to inform them that he did not wish to press charges because his girlfriend had agreed to seek counseling

The case was dropped at that time, and no charges have been filed

MAZDA MISHAP MIFFS MAN: Northville police responded to Northville High School after a janitor called to report his vehicle had been vandalized

The vehicle, a 1991 Mazda station wagon, had a smashed driver side window and both passenger side tires had been slashed

The incident occurred while the janitor was at work in the high school Police have no suspects in the case, and the damage to the vehicle is estimated at $300.

LOST BICYCLE SEEKS HOME: Northville police have found a bicycle that was apparently abandoned on Carpenter Street July 16.

The black Sears girl's 3-speed bike had been left sometime on July 13 and nobody came back to claim it, according to the resident who phoned police.

A police check showed the bike had not been reported stolen, and the bike has been impounded by the Northville Police Department.

SUSPENDED LICENSE STOPS SUSPECT: A 37-year-old Clawson woman was good enough to leave a $100 "donation" before leaving Northville July 12.

That's the bond amount the woman paid after being arrested by Northville police for driving with a suspended license

A Northville police officer, running a routine license plate check on the suspect's vehicle, discovered the woman had a misdemeanor warrant for a recent traffic offense, and that her license had been suspended.

The officer quickly pulled the suspect over on East Main Street, and placed her under arrest

She was then transported to the Northville police department where she was processed and released on bond.

WOOD YOU PLEASE PUT THAT LUMBER BACK? Northville Township police arrested two teens for stealing lumber from an under-construction home on Coachwood Drive the evening of Tuesday, July 11.

A witness said he saw the two township residents, both 18, slowly cruising the neighborhood before stopping at the home lot and loading lumber in the back of their car.

They stopped after he signaled them to do so, the man said. The teens face a hearing soon in 35th District Court.

SPECIAL DELIVERY: A Robinwood Road resident's mailbox was blown up Friday evening.

Township police suspect a powerful illegal explosive device such as an M-80 was involved

BOOZE AND BATTERY: Township police checked out a reported fight at a night club on Seven Mile last Sunday night.

The reporting officer said he found several people arguing in the restaurant's parking lot when he arrived at about 2 30 a m that evening

They all agreed that a man had "suckerpunched" a 26-year-old West Bloomfield man, the officer explained, causing him to fall and cut his head.

They were unable to describe the man or remember when he left, the officer added, due to the fact that they were all "highly intoxicated."

The West Bloomfield man was taken to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia for treatment.

SHOPLIFTER SLASHES PRICES: A 43-year-old Livonia man was arrested for switching price tags on four cans of paint at Meijer last weekend, as well as for stealing a pack of darts.

Store detectives said the man marked the $24 cans with $3 stickers, then bought them at that price while concealing the darts on his person.

A computer check later revealed four outstanding warrants for the man's arrest from Detroit, Troy and Livonia police.

He was held at police headquarters until being picked up.

Citizens with information about any of the above incidents are asked to call city police at 349-1234 or township police at 349-9400.

New death penalty bill called narrowest ever

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

One thing is different about the latest in a 27-year series of efforts to bring the death penalty to Michigan

"Mine is the narrowest proposal yet," said Rep. Chuck Perricone, R-Kalamazoo, as the House Judiciary Committee opened hearings July 13 on his HJR N, a proposed constitutional amendment.

The freshman lawmaker's plan would allow prosecutors to seek the death penalty in first-degree murder cases under these circumstances: (1) two or more murders, (2) murder committed in a terrorist act "intended to intimidate or coerce a civilian population" or (3) an attempt to influence governmental policy "by assassination or kidnapping."

The panel's meeting was help up for 40 minutes for lack of a quorum. Absentees included Reps. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, and James Ryan, R-Redford.

Perricone has 13 Republican and one Democratic co-sponsors. Committee Democrats revealed their hostility to the proposal.

Perricone said he rejected efforts by many fellow Republicans to include killing of a police or corrections officer. Nor does he want to include "crimes of passion and gas station holdups where it (killing) wasn't intended.'

He said arguments over whether execution deters crime and is racist aren't pertinent because "we have an unusually high murder rate" for which execution is sometimes appropriate.

Rep. Alan Cropsey, R-DeWitt, advised Democrats to work on Perricone's compromise because if lawmakers fail to put it on the 1996 ballot, "this could go to the petition process, and if it does, it's not going to be as narrow."

A two-thirds vote of each chamber is needed to put the constitutional amendment on the ballot for voters in 1996. Gov. John Engler opposes the death penalty, but he has no power to veto the resolution.

Democrats such as Rep. Ted Wallace of Detroit denounced the plan as racist, with blacks being executed in greater proportions than whites.

"I find it revolting," said freshman Rep. Laura Baird, D-Okemos "It's an immature social impulse to seek revenge."

Michigan was the first jurisdiction in the English-speaking world to ban the death penalty after the wrong man was hanged in a 19th century case Voters rejected a death-penalty amendment in 1931. Talk and petition drives revived after the 1967 Detroit riot. Despite poll support of 75-80 percent, however, petition drives have always faltered.

Gerald Ave. paving on track for completion this summer

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Despite spring setbacks Gerald Avenue just might complete its metamorphosis from dirt road to paved thoroughfare by the end of the summer, thanks to last week's vote by the Northville Township Board of Trustees.

"I think that deserves a big pat on the back for everyone involved," Manager Tamara Hanlin said this week. "Three cheers for sure."

Gerald Avenue is located in the township, running in a north-south direction between Seven Mile and Doheny Drive. It's the only road Northville Township owns, having obtained it years ago in a deal that allowed the construction of the nearby Highland Lake Shopping Center.

Many of the business owners whose establishments are located on Gerald Avenue have complained for years about its pitted, uneven condition. The road's poor surface makes the going rough for the traffic trying to reach their facilities, many owners maintain, and is preventing them from expanding their operations as well.

They, along with township, county and state officials, have been working on a way to pave Gerald Avenue for years. The plan approved by the township board of trustees in May established a Special Assessment District (SAD) among most Gerald property owners to pay for most of the $1.3 million project.

The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) through a grant will pick up about $500,000 of the total cost of the paving. The rest, some $765,000, was to come from the 30 property owners included in the proposed SAD, meaning an average cost of about $14,000 apiece, spread out over 15 years.

Some of the property owners included in the SAD do not support the move, however, arguing that the plan's cost allocation formula is unfair and makes them pay for something they'll receive little or no benefit from.

Their strong opinions about the project have led at least one owner, Leon Bonner, to file a formal protest of the SAD with the Michigan Tax Tribunal.

That in turn led township officials and property owners who support the paving to come up with a way to allow the project to proceed this summer in spite of the protests.

Some property owners have agreed to pay 100 percent of their SAD assessments in advance. That, combined with the township kicking in about $165,000, will cover the SAD shares of those who aren't supporting the project.

Eventually the township will seek those shares from every property owner in the SAD, however, Hanlin said.

Health Notes

St. Mary Hospital in Livonia offers the following:

• Anxiety Screening

If your heart races every time you try to leave your home, if you are fearful of social encounters of any kind, or if you are constantly redoing the same task to be certain you did it right, then you may be one of more than 28 million Americans who suffer from an anxiety disorder.

Anxiety disorders are treatable illnesses and do not have to ruin your life.

If you think you or a loved one may be suffering from an anxiety disorder, the Marian Women's Center, located next to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia, will offer free anxiety screening on Thursday, Aug. 10, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

A mental health professional will meet privately with individuals to help identify if they are experiencing anxiety and how to seek relief from the symptoms.

Registration is required. For more information or to register for the screening, please call the Marian Women's Center at (313) 591-3314. The Marian Women's Center is located in the Marian Professional Building, 14555 Levan, Livonia.

Stars are lined up for annual folk fest

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

For 18 years Tom Rice has fighting his own war against the disease that took his sister's life.

Rice isn't a doctor, he is a business man, the owner and operator of the Gitfiddler in downtown Northville, but when Huntington's Disease claimed his sister Donna in 1976, he vowed to take action.

"When my sister died, I decided to fight the disease on my own terms," Rice said. "So I put together this festival in hopes that the money raised would help in finding a cure."

Now entering it's 19th year, the annual Northville Folk and Bluegrass Festival attracts nationally known artists, and promises to be the best festival yet

"This year I couldn't turn down the talent that wanted to play in the festival," he explained. "So we've added an hour, and I think it will be the best show we've ever had."

This year's talent includes Claudia Schmitt, Josh White Jr., Peter and Lou Berryman, the Immigrants, Neil Woodward, Dennis Cyporian, Fred's Not Irish, Pat Donahue and the Hooked on Country Dancers

F&B SCHEDULE

Noon–1 p.m. Fred's Not Irish
1–2 p.m. Dennis Cyporian Band
2–3 p.m. Pat Donohue
3–4 p.m. Josh White Jr.
4–5 p.m. Lou and Peter Berryman
5–6 p.m. Neil Woodward
6–7 p.m. The Immigrants
7–8 p.m. Claudia Schmitt.

Mark Thomas with Max the Moose, and Hooked on Country Dancers will perform on a separate stage for children. An 11 a.m. breakfast will be served by the children's stage, and Thomas will perform.

The festival runs from noon to 8 p.m. on Sunday, July 30 A pancake breakfast hosted by Heavenly Bakery begins at 11 a.m.

The gates at Ford Field will open at 10 a.m.

Dr Francis Collins, who lead the medical team that isolated the Huntington's gene, will also speak at the festival, according to Rice.

The Immigrants are one of the acts booked for the 19th Northville Folk and Bluegrass Festival, July 30.

Rice said that a special dinner and music show, featuring Schmitt, and White, will be hosted by Genitti's Restaurant on Saturday evening, July 29. Proceeds from both events will benefit the Huntington's Disease Society of America, which provides support and services to patients with the illness.

"The show at Genitti's is a key point of the festival," Rice said. "Along with the performance by Schmitt and White, they will provide the usual seven course dinner."

The two performances will take place at Genitti's Little Theater, located at 108 E. Main, at 7 and 9 p.m.

Tickets are $35 per person, according to Rice.

Rice hopes the festival will draw 2,500 to 3,000 people.

Claudia Schmidt

"If we can draw a couple thousand people, we may be able to raise about $15,000 to $20,000.

"Putting together this year's festival has been a lot of work, and I still have plenty to do in the next two weeks," Rice added.

"But when the day gets here and I see all of the people show up and the dollars keep going in the right direction, it's worth it."

Advance tickets for the festival are $10, and are available at the Gitfiddler or by calling Ticketmaster at (810) 645-6666.

Tickets can also be purchased the day of the event for $12 at the gate.

The festival is jointly sponsored by the University of Michigan Health Center, The Gitfiddler, Genitti's, Papa Romano's Northville Collision, and the Northville Rotary Club.

HEALTH NOTE

REHABILITATING INJURED ATHLETES

Sports enthusiasts and athletes who experience sports injuries should begin their rehabilitation as soon as the swelling subsides By engaging the help of a therapist early on, a patient can avert much of the atrophy and weakness of muscle tissue that comes through disuse The sooner rehabilitation starts, the less ground will have to be made up on the way back to the field of competition or recreation Muscles that are not rehabilitated after injury remain in a weakened condition that invites reinjury Whether it is favored or is out to balance with an opposing muscle, an unrehabilitated muscle cannot adequately protect itself during the rigors of exercise or competition

At Northville Physical Therapy & Rehabilitation Inc individualized treatment programs will be outlined for a variety of patient problems, including orthopedic and sports related injuries as well as back, neck and hand problems Other areas may include neurological disorder such as stroke and traumatic brain injuries as well as arthritic and work related injuries, To schedule a consultation, call 349-3816, or see us at 332 E Main Street Suite A We work closely with referring physicians and provide timely initial evaluations and routine progress correspondence

PS A therapist can generally get injured athletes back to their sports 25 percent faster than if they remain idle

"Botsford's staff told me some things I didn't want to hear, but needed to hear."

Our parent company, Kawasaki Motors in California, started a worksite program based on Japan's concept of wellness and concern for employees' welfare. As Senior Manager at Kawasaki Robotics, I felt that our company would benefit from the Worksite Program at Botsford Center for Health Improvement because of their wellness philosophy.

We participated in three programs: Health Risk Appraisal, Microfit and Body Fat Analysis. In addition, we learned about nutrition and how to manage stress at a lunchtime lecture series.

The professional staff at Botsford Center for Health Improvement treated us all as individuals – not like a production line. Because I'm a runner, I thought I was in pretty good shape. But they told me some things I didn't want to hear, but needed to hear. One of the things I'm more aware of now is keeping my cholesterol in check.

I think our company would also benefit from Botsford's Cardiac Risk Assessment Program. I'm hoping that the Worksite Wellness Program will become an annual event at Kawasaki Robotics.

Mill Race Matters

The summer heat effects all of us, even the buildings and plants at Mill Race Village.

Monies raised by active Historical Society members have made possible the installation of sprinklers to assist the trees, grass and numerous plants. Most of the buildings have had air conditioning installed as well.

Future wish list plans included adding improved dehumidification to assist in the preservation of archival materials. A dedicated committee of workers meets each Wednesday from 9-11 a.m. to continue to maintain what has become a substantial collection of community memorabilia.

Most of the original material has been microfilmed by the Central Michigan University Clarke Library. Indexes to the material will soon be available to researchers.

Additionally, volunteers are working on an index to printed material related to the community. An upcoming project includes inventorying society holdings and creating an archive of the Northville Historical Society itself.

In addition to volunteers to work independently on this project, researchers are welcome to visit the collection

Due to space limitations telephoning for an appointment is advisable.

Calls should be directed to 348-1845, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. until 1 p m.

The park bench donated by Bill Kinnaird in memory of his wife, Claudine, has now been installed and provides the relaxing visitor with an attractive view of the village. It joins other benches which have been placed throughout the village so that visitors have a place to sit and enjoy the tranquil beauty of Mill Race.

The Village, open Sunday from 1-4 p.m., contains eight buildings of historic significance to the community. Cady Inn, a two story frame structure, dates from 1831 and is said to have once housed an early community Inn.

Additional oral tradition places it as a stop on the Underground Railroad prior to the abolition of slavery and the Civil War.

The Interurban Station served as a waiting room at Newburgh and Eight Mile on the Interurban line between Northville and Farmington. The line operated from 1899 until the late 1920s.

The Hirsch Blacksmith shop houses a working smithy and the village Country Store. It replicates a building which stood on the northeast corner of Main and Hutton that served as a village blacksmith shop during the last portion of the 19th century.

Wash Oak School, the only building in the village moved from outside the city, originally served as a one-room school near Seven Mile and Currie Road. It is so named because of its proximity to the Washtenaw-Oakland County border. It operated as a one-room school from 1873 until 1966.

A splinter group from Northville's Presbyterian Church built New School Church in 1845 It served as a church for only four years, having only one pastor, Sylvester Cochrane.

The building served as the community library for 72 years after Dr. Mary Lapham, upon whose land it sat, donated the building to the village A city decision in the late '60s to have the building demolished led to creation of the Northville Historical Society and the Historic District Commission, which led to the establishment of Mill Race Village in the early '70s.

Hunter House got its name from the original owners, Stephen and Mary Hunter. Stephen arrived in Northville from Aberdeen, Scotland, in 1848, and married a local girl, Mary Cady, in town. They obtained land where Griswold crosses Main to the south and built their home.

By 1850, they were living in the home with two children.

In 1853, Stephen died of the flu. Reports of that day say he is buried locally, but no tombstone has been found.

Yerkes House takes its name from William and Sallie Yerkes, the original owners. Built immediately after the Civil War in the 1860s, the home stood originally on Cady Street behind First Presbyterian Church.

The locale today is a parking lot. Both William and Sallie were the children of original settlers. William arrived as a child with his father William, mother Hester, grandfather Joseph, and several other relatives.

Sallie was the only child of Daniel Cady and his second wife, Eliza Ellsworth, who lived to adulthood. They had no children, but both had numerous nieces and nephews.

The Mill Race Weaver's Guild uses Cottage House to demonstrate the creation of cloth weaving original items, later made available for sale. It has been decorated to provide optimal space for their equipment.

In addition to these buildings the village also maintains a gazebo. This structure is the frequent site for community weddings. Recently signs have been added so that visitors at other hours can learn about the buildings without the presence of docents.

The grounds are open from sun-up to sun-down daily unless the village is closed for a private function.

NORTHVILLE TOWNSHIP CHAPTER 81 GRADING AND DRAINAGE

81.010. Purpose. The purposes of this Chapter are: to regulate building and driveway grades, sump pump discharge, building downspouts and surface and ground drainage with respect to property within the Township; to provide for the administration of the requirements hereof; and to provide for the issuance of permits as set forth herein; to comply with federal, state and local law regarding the introduction of the drainage waters into sanitary sewers; to protect and enhance the public health, safety, interest, and general welfare. (Ord 68, Sec. 2, 10-15-80; as amended, Ord. , Sec. 5- -95)

81.070 Protection of Sanitary Sewer System. No person shall permit the entry of any roof, ground or surface water into the sanitary sewer system or direct any roof, ground or surface water in such a manner that it enters the sanitary sewer system. Any building or structure having or suspected of having a foot drain and/or sump pump discharge line connection into the Township's sanitary sewer system may be assessed a footing drain/sump connection (FSC) surcharge, which is a penalty of $50 to be levied each bi-monthly billing period, deemed necessary to encourage property owners who are illegally connected into the sanitary sewer system to disconnect and replumb their footing and drain system in a lawful manner. Prior to instituting the FSC surcharge, the Township will make reasonable efforts to ascertain the validity of a suspected inappropriate connection source. The minimum procedures that shall be followed in validating a suspected illegal connection are as follows:

1. Upon notice from the community or detection on the Township's own accord of a suspected illegal connection into the sanitary sewer, the suspected building, or structure, address, and date will be recorded and an attempt made by the Township by telephone to contact the property owner to schedule an in-house inspection of the sanitary sewer lead and sump pump plumbing configuration within two (2) weeks time.

2. If, after two (2) weeks, an inspection is not successfully scheduled via telephone, a certified letter shall be sent to the property, requesting an in-house inspection of the sanitary lead and sump pump plumbing configuration or, in lieu of a acceptance of a certified letter, the Township may post the property with notice of request for inspection on the front door or other prominent area on the property. The property owner shall be allowed two (2) weeks to reply and schedule an inspection by the Township.

3. If, after two (2) weeks, no in-house inspection is scheduled or allowed by the property owner, a final notification, identified as a final notification, shall be sent via certified mail, requesting an inspection of the sanitary lead and sump pump plumbing configuration, or in lieu of acceptance of a certified letter, the Township may post the property with notice of request for an inspection on the front door or other prominent area on the property. The property owner shall be allowed two (2) weeks to reply to the final notification and schedule an inspection with the Township.

4. If the final notification is not responded to by the property owner within the allotted two (2) week time period, the FSC surcharge shall be applied to appropriate sanitary sewer account and notice given to the property owner that the FSC surcharge has been applied to the property and will be applied to their property until such time that the sanitary sewer lead and sump pump discharge connection has been inspected by the Township and it has been determined that an inappropriate connection to the Township's sanitary sewer system does not exist within the building or structure. All FSC surcharges assessed shall be made due and payable within the normal utility billing, in additional to the normal sewer service fees. All unpaid FSC surcharge costs assessed, and other normal sewer services fees, shall be subject to late payment penalties as well as any method of collection reserved by the Township consistent with the collection of delinquent water and sewer service account balances.

5. If, upon an actual in-house inspection by the Township, an appropriate plumbing connection is present, the owner shall be notified, and the FSC surcharge, if any has been applied toward the property, shall be removed from future billings.

6. If, upon inspection by the Township, an illegal and/or inappropriate connection is noted, a notice of violation shall be written up and provided to the property owner stating that the property owner has fifteen (15) days to cure the illegal connection. The FSC surcharge will be implemented at the end of the fifteen (15) day period and shall continue until the improper connection has been re-inspected by the Township and it has been determined that an improper connection to the sanitary sewer system does not exist within the building or structure unless the property was already being assessed an FSC surcharge in which case it shall continue until the connection violation is cured and inspected to the satisfaction of the Township.

7. All reports of any inspection and subsequent findings shall be recorded by the Township and made available to the owner.

8. All in-house inspections made by the Township shall be made in the presence of the homeowner, the property resident, or any other person designated by the property owner or property resident.

9. Any and all reinspection of a property shall be charged against the customer, in accordance with the Township's approved fee schedule. (Ord. 63, Sec. 7, 10-15-80; as amended, Ord. Sec. , 5- -95)

81.080 Penalties. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this Chapter shall be subject to the penalties specified for a violation of the Township Code in Chapter 1 of said Township Code, in addition to any other specified penalties noted in Chapter 81 of this Code of Ordinances. Each day that the violation of this Chapter is continued or permitted to exist without compliance shall constitute a separate offense punishable upon conviction in the same manner as heretofore prescribed. (Ord. 63, Sec. 8, 10-15-80; as amended, Ord. Sec. , 5- -95)

Subdivision finally gains approval in township

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

It's been five years coming but at last ground will soon be broken on The Lakes of Spring Hill subdivision in Northville Township.

The township board of trustees at its July 13 meeting approved the final preliminary site plan for the Spring Hill development on a 5-0 vote (Supervisor Karen Baja and Treasurer Rick Engelland were absent).

Lawyers aplenty were on hand for the vote, some conducting last minute negotiations in the hallway outside the board meeting room with property owners who live near the site, located west of the Blue Heron Pointe condominium complex on Beck Road.

Spring Hill is a proposed 411-lot subdivision, along with an unspecified number of condominiums, to be built on 366 acres. A variety of development plans for that land have come forward since the first one was proposed in 1990.

The financing for that plan, which called for home lots in accordance with the R-2 zoning on the site, fell through. Then came dozens of lawsuits, a court consent judgment and new development proposals with lots smaller than what township ordinance normally allows.

The small lots have brought protests and threats of legal action from several nearby property owners. They claimed that the Spring Hill design didn't provide any buffer between its property and theirs, making their land economically undevelopable because the smaller Spring Hill homes would eliminate their chances of selling R-2 sized home lots next door.

Spring Hill officials and the owners have been talking in earnest the last few weeks, trying to reach agreement on a compromise that would eliminate the problem and allow for Spring Hill's final approval. They were successful one week ago, agreeing to a transition plan that included measures such as landscaping buffers, clearing the way for the board's vote of approval.

Construction of Spring Hill is expected to be complete by the end of next summer.

At Providence, we know that no two births are exactly alike. That's why we offer so many birthing options. In fact, we're known as "the baby hospital," and it's no wonder. We've delivered more than 200,000 babies through eight generations. And our obstetrical program is one of the largest and best in Michigan.

Choose from a wide range of birthing options at Providence. Our medical staff is committed to listening to and understanding women's needs and wants concerning childbirth. That's why we offer more family-centered birthing options than any other hospital. Giving birth in our Family Birthing Center, the only one of its kind in Michigan, is almost like having your baby at home. In our New Life Center at Providence in Southfield, 12 comfortable labor/delivery/recovery rooms are a direct response to women's requests for a more homelike atmosphere, backed by personal nursing care and all the high technology a major metropolitan hospital can offer. For those women who may require a cesarean delivery or other medical intervention, we also offer traditional birthing suites. Last year we opened an innovative, first-of-its-kind facility for low-risk mothers: the beautiful New Life Center at Providence Medical Center-Providence Park, Novi, where women give birth and return home within 24 hours.

Our maternal-fetal specialists and facilities provide women with high-risk pregnancies the safest delivery possible. And it's comforting to know that should the need arise, Providence has a level III regional neonatal ICU for ill or premature newborns.

Prenatal and postnatal educational services. At Providence, we're committed to helping families feel capable, before and after birth. That's why we offer health education classes. Expectant mothers and their partners may take advantage of classes such as preparation for childbirth, childbirth refresher, cesarean birth, brothers and sisters, breastfeeding and infant CPR.

Schedule a Providence tour. If you're planning to have a baby, visit Providence and find out about all your options. Ask your doctor about Providence, or call us at 1-800-968-5595 to schedule a tour. To schedule a tour of our Family Birthing Center, call (810) 424-3919. Our friendly and capable staff will be happy to answer your questions.

When it comes to small packages, we deliver.

Providence is proud of its staff members who provide care in obstetrics and gynecology to women in the metro Detroit area.

High-tech machines promise faster voting

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Voting will soon be a whole lot faster and easier in Northville Township.

The township board of trustees at its July 13 meeting approved the purchase of a set of new optical-span ballot machines. The $112,000 high-tech wonders will replace the township's punchcard ballot system and virtually eliminate voting problems, Clerk Sue Hillebrand said. It should be in place by the next township election, scheduled for next year.

"We've got an antiquated system here. This will take us through the next 10 to 12 years at least," Hillebrand said. "Voting is the most common way that our citizens interact with township government and the punchcards leave a lot of them feeling frustrated. They're not certain they've voted correctly and they don't feel comfortable leaving the polls."

The optical scanners will solve that problem, Business Records Corp. representative Gene Seats told the trustees.

Business Records is America's largest election equipment supplier, counting more than 70 percent of the total ballots cast in the 1994 national elections. The company's optical scan ballot is what metro-area communities are switching over to, Seats said including Northville City and Northville Public Schools

The reason: "It's a lot easier and faster for your election worker or voter," Seats said

The punchcard method is more difficult for voters to use, Seats said, and makes it harder for poll workers to tabulate ballots.

The optical scan system, on the other hand, operates much like machine-scored tests like the SAT To vote for a particular candidate a voter uses a pen to complete an arrow pointing to the candidate s name Then you slot your ballot into the optical-scan machine, which reads and then electronically records your vote.

"At the end of the night the election worker punches one button and we've got your total for the night. No more hand counting of ballots," Seats said. "That makes it possible to have final results in as little as an hour."

The new system will also serve to virtually eliminate two problems common to punchcards: crossover and over-voting.

Crossover voting occurs when someone casts votes in more than one party during a primary election: voting in both the Democratic and Republican races for a particular office, for example.

Over-voting is when someone casts more votes than they're allowed, such as voting for three candidates among a field of five who are running for a single office

Crossover and over-voting invalidate the ballots of up to 20 percent of voters in some Michigan elections, Seats said. The optical scan system makes it far harder for either problem to happen, he added, because the machine reader will alert a voter that his or her ballot's been filled out incorrectly

In the punchcard method, an election tallying votes by hand detects the error only after the polls have closed.

"This gives you the capability of 100 percent accuracy at the voting place," Seats said.

Write-in ballots still have to be counted by hand, Seats added, but the optical system separates them from regular ballots, making it easier for election workers to deal with them.

Despite all that, Trustee Mark Abbo voted against purchasing the system, saying he wanted to examine the issue more before deciding

"I'm still suffering from sticker shock," Abbo joked "I'm certainly interested in equipment that's accurate, but at what price?"

• Proceeding with a study of the costs associated with making the township's building department a subsection of the public utilities department. This, Hanlin said, would help clarify the township's confused chain of command and make township employees more "accountable" for their actions.

The four trustees who voted in favor of reorganization were Mark Abbo, Gim Britton, Russ Fogg and Sue Hillebrand. Supervisor Karen Baja and Treasurer Rick Engelland were absent. Barbara O'Brien was the only trustee to vote against the proposal, arguing it needed more study.

"We have to do something but we don't have to give out a blank check," O'Brien said, trying unsuccessfully to convince the board to table the reorganization plan to a future public study session.

That was a position supported by five of the eight township residents who offered opinions about reorganization at the meeting. Three others, however, supported the plan.

Resident Bob Grant was one of the backers, characterizing the proposal as the first step in the process of fixing Northville Township's well-publicized problems.

"This township seems to be mired on an axis of thought and action that in my opinion can best be described as a carousel of criticism," Grant said. "This plan represents an attempt to resolve the current state of affairs and move us forward in a positive direction.

"The ball has to start moving down the field to address the concerns that generated this plan," he continued. "Business as usual is not a viable alternative for this board."

Former board member Don Thomson was another supporter, urging the trustees not to micro-manage Hanlin.

"You people sitting there hired this lady to do a job," Thomson said. "It's about time we let her do her job. It's time we let her sail the ship."

Another supporter was resident Carol Sassaman, who said that the plan would help in "depoliticizing the planning process," a goal Hanlin herself has admitted is partly the reason for reorganization.

"What's gone on in the last couple of years has been shameful," Sassaman said. "I'm very concerned about the politics involved in the development process."

Others at the meeting, however, weren't convinced that reorganization is a good thing.

"I haven't seen enough information in front of me to make a decision and neither has the community," former planning commissioner Marv Gans said. "I don't know how you can justify this."

"I have a concern about openness," he added, saying that the board has a problem with "a lack of communication" with the community.

Former board member and current planning commission chairman Dick Allen agreed.

"How this is cost productive, according to Ms. Hanlin, I have no idea," Allen said. "Not one fact has been presented, only her platitudes.

"I see this proposal affecting the very future of this township," Allen added.

Governor nixes Indian tuition waiver program

Gov. John Engler didn't veto the state's Indian tuition waiver program, as he had threatened, but announced he doesn't want it in next year's budget.

"A veto would merely deprive public colleges and universities of reimbursements for waivers granted in prior years," he said. "I will not support further appropriations to reimburse (universities and colleges) for tuition waived for Native American students (in the future)."

A foe of special line items and complex budgets, the governor wants all aid programs lumped into a single account. For example, Engler vetoed a $250,000 line item for the Nursing Opportunity Program "because it is a new program that focuses financial aid on a subset of students and a single occupation."

Jeff Parker, head of the Bay Mills Indian Community and chair of the Michigan Inter-Tribal Council, asked Engler to reconsider because "we have a unique historical relationship with the state as a result of treaties.

The tuition waiver is the result of a 1934 agreement offering Native American land to form the state of Michigan in exchange for certain rights ... including tuition."

HOUSING BOARD OF APPEALS

RE: 901 Carrington, Northville, MI 48167. Designation Of Dwelling Unfit For Human Habitation - Order To Vacate, Repair or Demolish

The City of Northville and its Health Officer have determined that the residence located at 901 Carrington, Northville, Michigan, Oakland County, is unfit for human habitation, as defined in Section 6-515(a) of the City of Northville Housing Ordinance, and if the repairs and/or improvements required are not completed by August 6, 1995, the City of Northville City Attorney will take steps to have the building demolished under the authority of Section 6-515(g).

The record owners of the property were notified of the Health Officer's determination by Certified Mail on February 6, 1995 and March 8, 1995. The legal representatives of the Sandra L. Myers Estate, are required to make repairs and/or alterations to remove the animal feces and substantial rubbish which are creating an unsanitary and unsafe condition, thereby creating a health hazard to neighbors and the residential community, make necessary structural repairs and/or alterations to bring the structure into compliance with the building code provisions, and maintain the grounds in accordance with the City Ordinance.

The owner(s) of record, or any other affected persons, have the right to appeal this decision, or any other decisions of the Health Officer, to the Housing Board of Appeals, by filing a written appeal with the City of Northville, Health Officer, 215 W. Main Street, Northville, MI 48167. The written request for appeal shall contain a description of the property, a description of the decision being appealed, and the grounds on which the decision is being appealed. A form for filing an appeal can be requested from the City Manager or City Clerk. The request for appeal shall contain a fee of $10.00 to cover the cost of handling the appeal. The Housing Board of Appeal may refund or retain the fee at its discretion. The Housing Board of Appeals shall fix a reasonable time for the hearing of the appeal and shall provide written notice to interested parties. The decision of the Housing Board of Appeals shall be final.

The representatives of the Estate of Sandra L. Myers have requested an appeal to the Northville Housing Board of Appeals, asking that the determination of the Health Officer be reversed and that the Board find that the time available to make the required repairs is unreasonable, that the cost of repairs will not exceed 100% of the SEV, and that the City has failed to adequately state the repairs required. A hearing before the Northville Housing Board of Appeals is scheduled for July 27, 1995 at 7:00 p.m. in the City Hall, Council Chambers. The hearing will be open to the public and any interested party will be entitled to present evidence or testimony to the Board of Appeals during the appeal hearing. If you have any questions, please direct them to the Northville City Manager at (810) 349-1300. Copies of the appeal filed with the City can be obtained upon request from the City Clerk.

If a structure is condemned by the Health Officer and a placard indicating such is placed on the structure, no person shall deface or remove the placard until the Health Officer has determined that the unfit conditions have been corrected. Any person defacing or removing a placard in violation of the Ordinance shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than $25.00 or more than $100.00 and costs of prosecution, or by imprisonment for a period not exceeding 90 days, or both fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the Court.

Manager defends reorganization

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

A reorganization of Northville Township's governmental operations will clarify a confused chain of command, save taxpayer dollars and in the end probably mean better service for the public, Manager Tamara Hanlin believes.

Thursday's approval of her proposal by the board of trustees clears the way for Hanlin to implement the first of her three-phase plan: negotiating with McKenna Associates, the township's contracted planning consultant firm, for the Farmington Hills-based company to take over all planning duties The second plank of reorganization calls for Hanlin to work out a separation agreement with soon to be ex-Director of Planning and Zoning Carol Maise.

The third involves the manager studying the costs and benefits of making the township's building department into a subsection of the public utilities department.

Before the July 13 board vote Hanlin had declined to discuss her proposal in detail. The day after the trustees' meeting, however, she provided The Northville Record with a copy of a confidential memo she sent to the board dated July 12 which explained the reasoning behind reorganization.

Essentially, it has two aims, she said, instituting a clear chain of command in Township Hall, which will ultimately translate into better citizen service, and saving money by privatizing the planning department

"When I arrived at Northville Township I quickly became aware that there were significant communication problems within the organization," Hanlin's memo reads. "The problems, in my opinion, stemmed from years of organizational instability ..."

"There was confusion as to the chain of command within the township," the memo continues. "Put simply, the arrival of a township manager appeared to be the introduction of another boss as opposed to the boss (original emphasis) ..."

"The issues and problems were so deeply rooted in the fabric of the organization that it became clear to me that only a major revision to the organizational structure would address the problems," the memo adds.

Reorganization aims at establishing the township manager as the boss, Hanlin said in explaining what she meant.

"Even the most casual observer can see that this place has been run loosely," she opined. "In a township form of government there isn't a clear chain of command. You've got a manager and three elected part-time administrators In Northville's specific case that inconsistency in leadership has often left the staff to fend for themselves and establish their own procedures

"I want to eliminate that I want to create more structure and establish consistency in the treatment of our employees and residents and the delivery of service they get," Hanlin added

In the specific case of the building department she says in the memo reorganization "provides additional accountability of all building personnel."

> "There was confusion as to the chain of command within the township. Put simply, the arrival of a township manager appeared to be the introduction of another boss as opposed to the boss."
>
> –Tamara Hanlin
> Township Manager

The facet of reorganization dealing specifically with privatization of planning services aims at saving tax revenue, Hanlin said.

She claims in the memo that the township can save almost $30,000 a year by eliminating Maise's job and having McKenna take over all planning functions. The township pays Maise about $70,000 a year in salary and benefits but much of what she does duplicates McKenna's work, Hanlin claimed.

"What we've been doing is hiring a professional planner from McKenna when we've had a professional planner on staff here," Hanlin said

The money savings of privatization lies in the fact in that it will eliminate the $70,000 annual expense but only cost the township about $40,000 more a year to pay McKenna to pick up the work only Maise does, Hanlin continued.

That's a contention questioned by planning commission chairman Dick Allen.

"There's no backup data to prove her point," he said "The $30,000 a year savings is just a number that appears to have been picked out of the air."

While he admits there is some redundancy in what Maise and McKenna do, Allen said it will likely cost the township a lot of money for the firm's staffers, who are paid from $45-65 an hour, to do all of the little things Maise does.

Actually, Allen continued, McKenna's proposal "means they'll be working quarter time (of what Maise would). That means that there's definitely reduced services to the public."

McKenna has offered to hold office hours in Township Hall for an average of eight hours a week and to have two phone lines to their office reserved for Northville Township citizens and developers to use.

"You're going to be telling people to come back later or on another day or to call someone," Allen said.

Hanlin disagreed with Allen's assessment, arguing that under the new plan "at the very least we're going to maintain the level of service. The amount of availability will actually probably increase. I think eventually residents will find they're very satisfied with the level of service they'll find here."

U.S. Census Bureau to conduct survey here

Local representatives of the U.S. Census Bureau will visit selected area households beginning Aug. 1 to conduct a Survey of Income and Program Participation (SIPP), Dwight Dean, director of the bureau's Detroit regional office, recently announced.

SIPP is a continuing nationwide survey. It is one of the nation's largest, with about 60,000 households participating.

The Census Bureau publishes periodic reports with information from the survey. Subjects covered include the following:

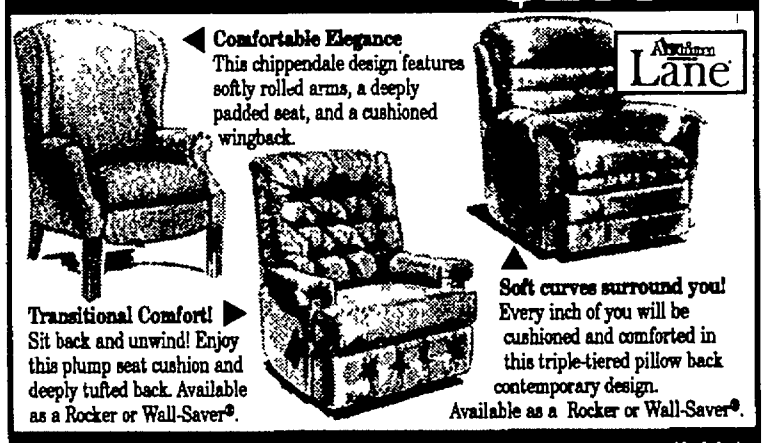

- Jobs and earnings.
- The economic effects of unemployment, disability, and retirement.
- How taxes affect personal spending.
- Participation in programs such as Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid, food stamps, and pension plans.

Information from SIPP helps policy-makers determine how well government programs are serving the public.

Here are some facts about persons and their health insurance between 1987 and 1990, based on findings from the survey. (Sample size limits accurate reporting to national figures only):

- Twenty-one percent of all U.S. residents – approximately 50 million – lacked health insurance for at least a month during 1987.
- Twenty-eight percent of men lacked continuous health insurance between 1987 and 1989 compared with 25 percent of women because of higher levels of Medicaid and Medicare coverage among women.

Family Birthing Center of Providence Hospital...
Often imitated - never duplicated.

Many places claim to be birthing centers, but the Family Birthing Center of Providence Hospital has the credentials. It is the only center in Michigan accredited by The Commission for Accreditation of Freestanding Birth Centers, a division of the National Association of Childbearing Centers.

The Family Birthing Center is a unique alternative for childbearing families. The staff is committed to providing each family with a birth experience which meets their individual needs in a safe environment. Our philosophy is based on the belief that birth is a normal process, and routine medical intervention is not needed for most labors and births. We provide a partnership with families that encourages education, participation in decision making and more control over the birth experience. Extended families, including siblings, can participate in the birth event, and mothers and babies are not separated after birth. Your care may be provided by an obstetrician, family practice physician or certified nurse midwife with privileges at Providence Hospital.

In addition to our home-like atmosphere, the Family Birthing Center offers the safety of nearby Providence Hospital with its quality high-risk services in case of a problem.

We offer a comprehensive program of childbirth education, including your choice of normal birth or Christian birth classes, breastfeeding education and support, preparation for early discharge and sibling classes. Our services also include one-to-one nursing care, early discharge with extensive follow-up and a home visit by one of our nurses. Homemaker assistance is also available as part of our program.

We are located in the Fisher Center attached to Providence on Nine Mile Road in Southfield. Come visit us and see for yourself. We want to help make the birth of your child the personal experience it should be. There is a difference.

4th of July costs reevaluated

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

While no one disputes that Northville's Fourth of July celebrations were a blast, their cost concerns some Northville Township officials: so much so that they may scale back the community's contribution to next year's Independence Day activities.

The township board of trustees in May agreed to donate $5,000 to Celebrate Northville, the private volunteer group coordinating the July 4 fun, including the annual downtown parade and a fireworks display for the first time since 1991.

The $5,000 was double what Celebrate Northville had asked for and helped cover a big chunk of the organization's $19,000 fundraising goal. Northville City kicked in $2,500, as well as nearly $1,700 for police and fire department services on Independence Day.

The bill for township police and fire services on July 4 totals about $5,600, Director of Public Safety Chip Snider told the board last week.

Counting participation in the parade and the fireworks, held on the grounds of BFI at Six Mile and Napier, police costs came to $2,600 and fire expenses neared $3,000, Snider said

The high costs caused Snider to recommend to the board that in future years it should make public safety costs associated with both July 4 and the annual police/fire Expo Day into line items in the township budget.

Trustee Gini Britton and Clerk Sue Hillebrand, however, said that the additional Independence Day costs may mean that the township has to scale back its donation to the celebration next year.

"I'm real reluctant to donate $5,000 again next year given these figures," Hillebrand said.

As many as 25,000 people attended the fireworks display, the first one held in Northville since 1991, when city officials feared liability problems from staging the event at its usual spot near Northville High School.

Line up for CROP Walk for hunger

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Like to walk? Why not take a stroll to stop hunger?

Local community help organizations are looking for Northville/Novi residents to become CROP walkers.

CROP, which stands for Church Rural Overseas Program, began in 1969. Today, volunteers from all over the world once a year walk up to 10 kilometers (6.2 miles) to raise money to feed the hungry.

As a walker you find sponsors who will pledge money for you to walk. The next area CROP Walk is scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 1, beginning at 1:30 p.m. at Novi Meadows Middle School. An ice cream social will follow.

Circle Tuesday, Aug. 29, on your calendar if you're interested in participating in the Oct. 1 walk, however. That's the day that a recruiting rally will be held at the Novi Methodist Church, 41671 W. Ten Mile Road. The rally begins at 7:30 p.m. For more information call 349-2652.

Local CROP Walk organizers are hoping to enlist 375 walkers and raise a total of $22,000. Last year CROP took in just over $19,000 in Northville/Novi.

Indiana-based Church World Service supervises CROP Walk funds distribution and distributes 25 percent of the money raised in a community's CROP Walk within that community. Metro area organizations which will receive a percentage of the Oct. 1 walk's revenues include Northville Civic Concern (6 percent). The organization offers food assistance and other services to low income community residents, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on the second and fourth Fridays of the month. For more information call 344-1033

Other charities include the Novi emergency food program.

Surcharge money due soon

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Northville's been waiting more than a half a year for its share of a 911 telephone surcharge but the end may finally be in sight.

The state Legislature last year approved a law allowing individual Michigan counties to charge each telephone user in their jurisdictions an additional 48 cents a month, the money dedicated for improving local communities' 911 and related emergency communication systems.

Ameritech has been collecting the surcharge in Wayne County, including Northville Township and the southern portion of Northville City, since November 1994 City Police Chief Rod Cannon and Township Director of Public Safety Chip Snider have been waiting for the first of their monthly checks ever since.

The most recent estimates of the yearly take from the surcharge for each community are about $50,000 for the township and about $13,000 a year for the city. The first of the monthly checks will include all revenues collected since November

The money hasn't begun rolling in yet, though, because of problems in counting the number of phone lines in each Wayne County community. Local municipal officials, Ameritech and the Conference of Western Wayne (CCW) have spent months trying to agree on the number of phone lines each community will be credit with.

The more lines, the more 911 money

CCW is a consortium of Western Wayne County communities and is responsible for collecting the 911 funds from Ameritech and then distributing them to individual member communities.

Dan Gilmartin, the organization's executive director, said this week that a final version of the latest 911 line count is awaiting approval by the Wayne County Commission.

"We're just waiting for final clearance of our plan," Gilmartin said this week. "We expect it to all happen soon, maybe as soon as the end of this week."

Until that green light is given, however, CCW is continuing to hold onto the $279,000 in 911 money Ameritech has collected so far.

That, Snider said last week, has led the Dearborn police chief to threaten to initiate legal action against the consortium in order to force the release of the funds

> "We're just waiting for final clearance of our plan. We expect it to all happen soon, maybe as soon as the end of this week."
>
> –Dan Gilmartin
> Conference of Western Wayne

Another complication for Northville City in obtaining 911 funds is that most of its phone lines run through Oakland County

The Oakland County commission hasn't yet agreed to allow the 911 surcharge to be levied

Missing heir case on tap in state House

An Oakland County missing heir problem will be taken up by the state House of Representatives when it returns to Lansing in September.

The House Judiciary Committee on July 13 unanimously approved a bill by Sen. Mat Dunaskiss to shorten from 10 years to five the waiting time for distributing an estate where one heir is a "disappeared person."

Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, won Senate passage on behalf of Laura Walker, an Independence Township homemaker and mother of four Her father died in 1982, leaving an estate to her and two brothers, but one brother dropped out of sight in 1988.

"My parents gave up on him. We have not seen Clifford since 1981," Walker told the House panel. The family learned he had spent six months in jail for being AWOL from the military. The Social Security Administration has no record of him since 1988, the same year he got a Texas driver's license."

Walker said the family suspects Clifford was involved in drugs or importing illegal aliens. Meanwhile, attorneys' fees have mounted, she said. "If we continue at the same rate, a major portion of the estate will be depleted," she said.

Rep. Karen Willard, D-Fair Haven, called it 'dangerous to pass a bill for one person" but voted yes anyway.

Appointee is booster of public recreation

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Antony to the Roman crowd:
"He hath left you all his walks,
His private arbors and new-planted orchards
On this side Tiber; he hath left them you
And to your heirs for ever; common pleasures,
To walk abroad and recreate yourselves.
Here was a Caesar!"
Shakespeare, Julius Caesar,

Ancient Rome and renaissance England better understood the need for urban recreation than modern Michigan, say Joey Spano and her friends.

"One of our highest environmental risks has turned out to be the degradation of our urban environment – lack of open space, diminishing recreational opportunities, decaying parks and community centers," said Spano, a member of the state Natural Resources Commission and chair of the urban recreation task force.

"It's been a battle. People tend to vote on parks and recreation money last, but recreation programs are the first to go (in a budget crunch). I'm talking about kids in suburbia as well as Detroit. We've got kids here drinking in third grade."

Appointed by Gov. John Engler in 1991, Spano is the first parks and rec professional ever to serve on the Natural Resources Commission, a body generally populated by old-time hunters and anglers and a few environmentalists.

Since 1982 Spano has directed the West Bloomfield Township parks and recreation program and soon will shift jobs to work in community education for her local school district. That will give her a chance to practice what her task force preached: cooperation between general government, school districts and the state in providing urban recreation.

Key tools: taking inventories of what's available, making joint use of facilities and promoting their use.

Many natural resources fans knock Engler for his Caesar-like emphasis on business growth. Not Joey Spano, though she's apolitical. "Obviously, there's an interest in the governor's office," she said.

She recalled the aggressive way Engler interviewed her for the NRC post four years ago. "He asked me tough questions. He was right in my face." She counts him a fan of revitalized urban recreation.

Her task force had support from Eric Reickel, former county parks chief in Oakland and Wayne, now in Lansing, as well as mayors and city managers in Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids and many professionals.

"I want to get (DNR) staff and resources assigned (to urban recreation)," Spano said, noting the DNR already has appointed longtime employee Ron Spitler as urban fisheries biologist. And there is renewed talk of connecting existing open space on the Detroit River front in a single, long path.

Spano praised Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer and his parks director, Ernest Burkeen, for reopening recreation centers, particularly in the Seven Mile-Dequindre area of northeast Detroit, where she grew up and learned sports.

She has her own accomplishments.

"When I came here in 1982, we had 57 acres of parks. Today, we have more than 400 acres, with a millage, state and federal grants," she said. "But it's been a battle."

Spano's urban task force isn't looking for vast sums of new money or land. "We're not trying to reinvent the wheel and acquire great acreages. We have to make the best use of very limited dollars. We (the state) own two-thirds of the Upper Peninsula now. How much more land do we need?"

After 18 months of work and public hearings, her task force on June 19 recommended:

- A state DNR inventory of park facilities and needs in urban areas, with an eye out for "regional" parks that serve multiple communities.
- DNR cooperation with urban governments, police and parks professionals to assure safety in parks.
- Environmental programs for urban and suburban kids. "We need to teach youth respect for natural resources – give them positive experiences in camping, fishing, walking through a woods. Our natural resources are second to none in the world. Can they (kids) experience it instead of seeing it on video?"
- State help to cities, townships and schools in recycling tax-reverted land, abandoned sites, empty school buildings and other surplus properties for parks and recreation.
- Aggressive promotion of the benefits of parks and recreation. "That sounds self-serving," she said, "but if we don't get out and beat the drums, nobody's going to do it for us. We need quality recreation for families."

She paused.

"If I could do anything in my four years (on NRC), it would be this and the Rails-to-Trails plan. I've been then most vocal proponent of Rails-to-Trails. But we now have a group called TART – Taxpayers Against Rails-to-Trails. Their attitude seems 'NIMBY: not in my back yard. I don't want to see people.'

"We feel we have to justify the importance of parks and recreation in our society. Many times public officials forget that parks enhance the quality of life and relieve social programs."

INTRODUCING
The New Life Center at Providence Park
Where families are born...close to home

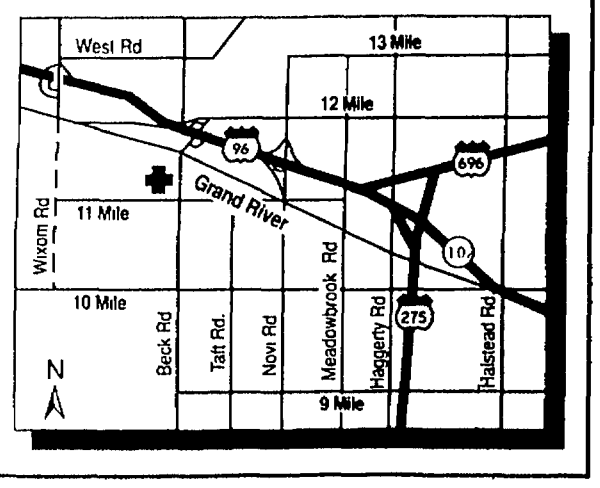

A Comfortable Atmosphere
Imagine giving birth in a comfortable, home-like atmosphere where you make many of the decisions about your birth experience. And then, think about being able to go home within 24 hours after your baby is born. Well, the New Life Center at Providence Park in Novi offers all that, and it's just minutes from home.

A Unique Approach
It's a new beginning. A new way of thinking. And an alternative to traditional hospital births*. The New Life Center at Providence Park was born from the success of the New Life Center at Providence Hospital, where for generations, thousands of women have had wonderful, nurturing, family-centered birth experiences.

The Choices are Many
From the moment you choose to have your baby with us, many decisions are yours. You may choose to go natural or to have an epidural. You may also prefer to share the event with your loved ones. But the best part is giving birth in a relaxed, home-like atmosphere and having your baby by your side. What's more, a nurse will come to your home for private, follow-up visits. Because that's the kind of extra care, attention and education people expect from Providence.

Come See for Yourself. But don't take our word for it. Call 1-800-806-BABY for an appointment to see what the New Life Center at Providence Park has to offer expectant families.

*Only pregnant women who have been pre screened and assessed as low risk by a Providence physician are eligible to deliver at the Providence Park New Life Center

Engler vetoes court aid measure

Gov John Engler heated up the debate over trial court reorganization by vetoing $25 million in aid to outstate courts, disappointing western Michigan politicos

The governor's veto is unfortunate . . We want immediate action on restructuring," said Tim McGuire, executive director of the Michigan Association of Counties MAC has a suit before the state Supreme Court that would force the state to pay core costs of trial courts in the 82 outstate counties.

Engler vetoed the aid, saying he wants "major near-term decisions" on trial court reorganization as well as on 'the appropriate number, location and jurisdiction of trial judges Until these decisions are made, I cannot support additional funds for local courts "

While Engler has yet to be specific on what kind of court reorganization he favors, leaders of the State Bar are proposing a single "trial court" to replace circuit, Detroit recorder's, probate and district courts A joint legislative committee is studying the issue.

Program puts out call for adult youth mentors

Northville Youth Assistance, the organization that matches adult volunteers with youths who need adult mentoring and companionship, begins a volunteer training program Sept. 14.

Volunteers must complete a 5-week training session consisting of one, 3-hour session per week.

NYA Director Mary Ellen King says NYA has a waiting list for boys who are in need of male friendship and role models. Particularly needy is a 5-year-old boy who experiences little contact with his natural father.

Volunteers are asked to spend at least two hours a week with the youth with whom they've been paired.

Owners fight city demolition attempt

and the city health officer declared the residence unfit for human habitation.

According to city attorney Richard Connors the city sent a written notice in February to the owners of record – Myers' son Steven, and stepson Walter Collins – requiring them to make "repairs and/or alterations" to remove the animal feces and substantial rubbish creating a health hazard to neighbors.

The notice required actions to be taken within 30 days, according to Connors.

"None of the required actions were taken within the 30 day period," Connors said. "Because no representative of the owners contacted the city in response, a second notice was sent March 8."

It wasn't until late April that the city received a letter from Westland attorney Paul Asker stating he was representing Sandra Myers' estate Asker said that he would be working to resolve the problems, but two weeks later he wrote the city, notifying officials that a "prospective purchaser" was requesting more specific instructions regarding the clean-up and repairs to the property.

According to records obtained from the city clerk's office by The Northville Record, city officials attempted to work with Asker and the property owners to rectify the situation

After receiving Asker's letter for more specific instructions, Connors replied with a letter on June 27, outlining the conditions under which the city would consider an extension to the Aug. 6 demolition date

Records indicate that on July 12, a second letter from Connors was sent removing two of the conditions cited in the previous letter.

But after six months, nothing has been done and, according to Connors, allegations that the city failed to comply with the requirements of its ordinance are false.

"If the (owners) had simply removed the significant accumulation of animal feces and rubbish from the property and sanitized the structure within the last six months, this appeal would not be necessary " Connors said

Connors also cited that Northville has spent a significant amount of money to address the health and safety issues – including $2,400 to install temporary boarding on the home to prevent access into the structure – and should not be prevented from using its authority to remove a dangerous structure.

"Without this authority, the city could be faced with unfit buildings in its jurisdiction remaining for extended periods of time, significantly impacting the value of other homes in the area," he said.

"The (owners) have not removed the serious sanitary violations which exist, simply because they will not spend the money it will take to correct the problem," Connors said. " .. (They) choose to hide behind a baseless charge that the unreasonable requirements of the city are preventing them from finding a suitable purchaser."

Asker's appeal alleges that the time limit imposed by the city is unreasonable, claiming that the situation has required "extensive analysis" and legal work. Asker also stated in the appeal that time constraints imposed by the city have made it difficult for his client to market his property.

Grant to help pay for city park land

the park, Johnson explained.

The grant application was filed in April 1994 with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. The $150,000 will cover three-quarters of the $200,000 needed to purchase the property, according to Johnson.

"We applied for this grant knowing that it was a very competitive process," Johnson said. "By receiving the grant, we are saving the taxpayers money, because we only have to match that amount with $50,000."

The Parks and Recreation service is operated jointly by Northville Township and city.

Johnson said the DNR will send the department official notice of the grant receipt, along with a contract that must be formally approved. That could happen within the next few months, she said.

The Michigan Natural Resources Trust fund is administered by a board of trustees appointed by the governor. Money is awarded annually to the DNR and local governments for land acquisition and recreational development projects.

Northville's was one of the three top projects awarded funding in Wayne County.

Road projects completed

Wayne County officials report that two local road resurfacing projects have been completed ahead of schedule

A two-mile stretch of Hines Drive at Six Mile, scheduled for completion on Aug. 31, is now done, and a 0.75 mile portion of Northville Road parallel to Hines Drive, slated for completion Oct. 15, has been finished.

Both projects started in May.

Northville Talk of the Week / by ROBERT JACKSON

NORTHVILLE TALK OF THE WEEK
By Robert Jackson

Besides the weather and the Detroit News/Free Press strike, I couldn't think of anything to write about this week – that is, until I talked with Tom Rice.

Tom, as many of you know, is the owner and operator of Gitfiddler Music in downtown Northville. He is also a proud combatant against Huntington's Disease – a disease that claimed the life of his sister almost two decades ago.

Every year for the past 19 Tom brings in some of the most talented folk and bluegrass artists from across the country to perform at a day-long festival in downtown Northville.

Music for a cure, so to speak.

It is a labor he accepts with relish. The net result has been thousands of dollars going towards research to rid the world of this crippling and lethal disease, all coming from festival proceeds

"Planning this year's festival has been a lot of work," he said 'But when the festival begins and all the people show up and the dollars are going in the right direction, it's worth it "

This year he's shooting to raise $15,000 to $20,000. That would require about 2,500 people to attend this year's festival. Even if you don't like folk or bluegrass music – believe me the artists lined up for this year are sure to get your feet tapping – it's a great opportunity to kick back on some lawn chairs, or spread a blanket on the grass of Ford Field, and relax on a sunny Sunday afternoon

And it's all for a good cause.

'When my sister passed away, I didn't know the first thing about Huntington's Disease or what I could do to help find a cure " Rice said "This festival is the one way I can take part in getting rid of this disease.'

Music for a cure – I can't think of a better way to get involved.

So, I'm going to buy my $10 ticket and on July 30 I'm going to do may part to help Tom fulfill his dream.

I hope you'll join me, because if enough of us listen to the music now, perhaps a cure won't be that far off!

WHILE YOU WERE AWAY on vacation I had the darndest time finding interesting little tidbits for Talk of the Week. To read this week's humble offering you won't be required to enter into labor negotiations, nor will you hear the words "heat wave, air conditioning, or water rationing." And as much as we'd like to try, we won't ask you to fry an egg on the sidewalk

In this installment, however, we are desperately seeking "Betty," we look for some able bodied volunteers and we take a walk down Main Street.

So put on those walking shoes, make sure the canteen's full of water, and dab on some sun screen. A torrid Talk of the Week is comin' right at ya!

SEARCHING FOR BETTY SHAW: A former Northville resident is looking for a long lost relative who may still be residing in our fair city. Although she didn't want us to make a big deal about the search, Philomena W. (she asked that we not print her last name) requested we print the following notice in Talk of the Week:

To Betty Shaw – if you're still out there – please contact Philomena at (810) 752-4819.

Who knows. Perhaps if these two are reunited, we can feature them in an upcoming edition.

STRIKE UP THE BAND: For those of you with no Friday evening plans, the Northville Arts Commission sponsors band concerts every Friday evening beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Tomorrow evening the Detroit Brass Band will perform at the bandshell on Main Street in downtown Northville.

The concert series runs through August and includes the following performances. July 28, the Novi Concert Band; Aug. 4, Ick & Erk; Aug. 11, the Schoolcraft Wind Ensemble; Aug. 18, Rosco the Clown and The Boys; Aug. 25, Gitfiddler Music.

SOMEONE STOLE MY RESTAURANT! Boy was I hot when I found out that my favorite restaurant, The Akropolis Cafe, was closed and was not going to reopen for two weeks.

After a bit of nosing around, I found the restaurant has new owners who say the restaurant will reopen with a "sportsy" theme, and is going to cater to a younger crowd. Even more important, however, is that they will continue to offer my favorite – Caesar salad.

AND WHILE WE'RE AT IT: It looks like Bueter's Outdoor's will be opening its doors soon. The new sportsman's spot is located on Main Street and will offer items pertaining to my favorite pastime – fishing. Also of note, the Tuscan Cafe looks like it, too, will be opening its doors this weekend, providing Northville with yet another spot to enjoy a cup of coffee. We'll keep you posted on both establishments.

JUST A REMINDER: The Chamber of Commerce reminded us that the "Sidewalk Sale" is scheduled for Saturday, July 29, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Included this year will be a book sale at the downtown gazebo by the Northville Public Library.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED: Laurie Marrs reports that the Chamber of Commerce is gearing up for the Victorian Festival to be held in September Marrs said volunteers are needed for setting up non-profit booths, helping with entertainment, and a host of odd jobs

If you're interested in volunteering contact the Chamber office at 349 7640.

DETROIT NEWSPAPERS

The Detroit News

Detroit Free Press

An open letter to our community

By now, you've surely been exposed to a wide variety of news and opinion on why Detroit is having its first newspaper strike in 15 years. It may be tempting to view this as just another walkout caused by "greed" -- the company's or the unions', depending upon your point of view. But this is a very different labor dispute and we feel it is vital for you to understand the very deep and fundamental difference of opinion that has caused this unfortunate strike.

If these negotiations were simply about money, there would be no strike. Our wage offer, totaling 10.3 percent over three years, is far more lucrative than the average U.S. wage settlement this year. Moreover, we have offered to pay the full costs of medical, surgical, dental, optical and prescription drug benefits for all our employees who choose from several health maintenance organizations. We have also offered a variety of enhanced commission and incentive programs, and we have offered to share with the unions the savings we realize by converting to more efficient operating processes.

At the time the unions went on strike, we were far apart on economic issues with some of the unions. But if money were the primary issue, we would have had a settlement long ago. That's not what is driving this dispute

The central issue is this: "Who runs Detroit's newspapers?" For years, the unions have dictated many of the practices in our workplace that are traditionally the responsibility of management, often requiring us to operate in extraordinarily wasteful, unproductive ways. For example:

♦ Our union contracts dictate how many people we must use to perform many jobs -- even when those staffing requirements exceed common sense and standard practices in our industry. In some production areas, the work pace is so leisurely that some workers actually find time to sleep on the job -- or to leave the premises during their shift.

♦ Sometimes when we have job openings, our contracts allow the unions to do the actual hiring. Those jobs get filled with the friends, neighbors and relatives of union leaders, regardless of whether they are suited for the job. And we can assure you these kinds of practices do not help develop a diversified workforce.

♦ The contracts give them a variety of ways to collect overtime pay for working their normal shifts, or to go home hours before the end of their shift and still get a full day's pay.

♦ Some employees can use their seniority to shift from job-to-job, disrupting operations and claiming jobs for which they may be totally unsuited.

♦ In the newsrooms, the union's long-standing insistence upon paying the same wage increase to each of its members -- regardless of whether that person is a clerk or a highly skilled journalist; a top performer or a laggard -- has rewarded mediocrity and cheated the best and the brightest among us. We have proposed a merit pay system, with raises based upon performance.

We have been determined in these negotiations to make reasonable progress toward re-gaining the right to manage our own operations, and to finally get a full day's work for the premium wages we pay. In doing so; we would be reducing staffing in some areas. But, at great expense, we proposed that there would be no layoffs of regular, full-time union personnel. All staff reductions would be accomplished through voluntary buyouts, retirements, attrition and transfers within the company. The unions have a problem with this that has nothing to do with their members: Fewer Teamsters means lower dues collections. "We're running a business, too," one Teamster official told us.

When we got down to the final hours before the July 13 strike deadline set by the unions, both sides met with Mayor Archer to try to find a solution. We indicated our willingness to bargain around the clock. But the unions said they would only extend their deadline if we were willing to reinstate their old, expired contracts -- which would have validated all of the wasteful practices of the old contracts.

We share your interest in solving this walkout quickly. Yet we are fully appreciative of the role our newspapers play in the political, social, economic and personal lives of so many people in our state. That is why we have continued to publish, in spite of the unions' taunts and violence.

We live in an increasingly competitive world, one that is unforgiving of a company that cannot keep its costs reasonable. Giving in to the temptation to accept the unions' wasteful demands would seriously compromise the future of two newspapers that have had only two profitable years in the past decade-and-a-half. We surely owe more to our employees, our advertisers and our readers.

The unions' walkout has been costly to us -- and could become more so. To the extent the unions succeed in their efforts to discourage readers and advertisers, we will lose revenue. And even after a strike, some of those customers might be slow to return. Because of that, as this strike continues, it will become increasingly difficult for us to justify the generous economic offer we have made.

We are willing to get back to the bargaining table. But we must be focused firmly on the future, and we are determined to exercise our right to manage this company, rather than allowing our unions to do so.

Procedure trashed in township move

Government

Events this week in Northville Township had an unpleasant yet all too familiar ring to them. Once again those in power chose to conduct the public's business in private, making decisions about government and tax dollars behind a veil of secrecy.

At issue is township Manager Tamara Hanlin's proposal for a "reorganization" of township government. At their July 13 meeting four members of the board of trustees – Mark Abbo, Gini Britton, Russ Fogg and Sue Hillebrand – voted to authorize Hanlin to proceed with the plan.

The move capped a month's worth of disturbingly secretive activity that serves to illustrate how and why this board, and now, unfortunately, Hanlin as well, draws criticism for being less than open, honest and above-board.

For a start, Hanlin tried to first discuss the proposal during a June 15 closed session of the board as part of the trustees' six-month evaluation of her job performance. That was not the appropriate or legal venue for such a discussion. Reorganization will make significant changes in the structure and cost of township government. That means it's the public's business and should have been dealt with in public.

Second, questions have arisen about what the goal of the reorganization proposal. While she claims it is about saving taxpayer dollars and instituting a unified chain of command in township government, Hanlin herself has admitted that part of the plan's aim is to "depoliticize" Township Hall. She won't elaborate on that and neither will Abbo, Britton, Fogg or Hillebrand.

One board member who will, however, is Supervisor Karen Baja, which brings us to our third point. Baja has insisted that reorganization isn't really about Hanlin's idea at all. Instead, Baja maintains, the plan is a political attack on her by other members of the board who also want to punish two township employees seen as being "too close" to her.

Baja is playing coy, however, refusing to name names and making veiled but unspecified hints about potentially illegal goings-on with regard to reorganization at the June 15 board meeting.

Fourth, things didn't improve when reorganization finally did come before the board. This major plan that's been the source of controversy for weeks provoked exactly zero discussion among Hanlin and the trustees last week. The public was denied the opportunity to hear why their elected representatives and taxpayer-paid manager think this plan is worthy of support.

Hanlin did explain her plan in detail to a Record reporter the day after the meeting but it only serves to prove our fifth point. Hanlin and the trustees had a responsibility to discuss such a major move before a vote was taken, not after.

Sixth, as part of her explanation Hanlin provided The Record with a copy of a confidential memo she'd sent to the board the day before the meeting. That the board could vote on this plan after reading one memo and holding no public discussion is bad enough; that the memo is deemed confidential before a vote is taken and suddenly is public domain after the desired result has been achieved is even worse.

Whether reorganization is a beneficial move or not, one thing is clear. The manner in which this board and this manager has dealt with this issue is just plain wrong.

The public's right to know does not end because those entrusted with carrying out its business don't feel like justifying their actions.

Millage suggestions need careful study

Education

Three volunteer committees have conducted extensive studies of long-term school district needs and issued their eagerly awaited recommendations.

The committees say the district requires an influx of some $56.7 million for new building accommodations and additional technology resources for the area's growing student population.

The money would be raised by bond and millage proposals that would add 4-4.5 mills on to residents' tax bills for the next five years A millage increase of that magnitude could raise the taxes of a homeowner with a $200,000 taxable value house by $400-$450 a year.

School board members looked at the last committee recommendation in June, but felt they needed more time to study the plans. Instead of voting to place the millage requests before voters in September, as some expected, the board delayed making a decision. Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski is eying December as a possible special election date.

We think school trustees acted wisely in deciding to hold off on approving ballot language for the time being. The volunteer committees put in a lot of time analyzing what the district will need to complete its mission in the coming decades, but what they didn't factor in – and what school officials now need to carefully consider – is what is likely to fly with the voters.

Northville School District property owners now pay a reasonable 10 3 mills to support their public schools, as a result of the huge tax cut brought about by passage of Proposal A. The school tax rate was roughly 23 mills prior to finance reform.

The Proposal A tax reduction is barely one year old, however, and educators who think now is the time to pile on new millage could be in for a surprise. For evidence that taxes are still at the saturation point, you don't have to look far: the Novi and Walled Lake districts have failed to pass bond requests in the Proposal A era.

We aren't prepared at this time to pass judgment on whether everything the committees are seeking is, in fact, needed. We'll wait until we see what the school board places on the ballot before deciding that.

But we know that, with only 30 percent of the families in the district having school-age children, school officials will have a tough sell in asking for money to build a new high school ($42.4 million), make extensive renovations to existing buildings and infrastructure ($9.3 million) and upgrade technology features ($5 million).

The observation that September was too early to make a convincing case to the voters was probably dead-to-rights accurate.

Now that the committee work is done, school officials need to pour over the data to determine the trustworthiness of the recommendations.

Asking for more millage than the voters are willing to support risks not only rejection at the polls but credibility for future elections.

Robert Jackson

"Hello. Thank you for calling Omnicom Cable. If you are calling from a touch-tone phone please press one now."

The recorded voice on the other end of the phone line was pleasant and professional when I called Omnicom last week. I was calling because we had just run a page one news story about Ameritech New Media being granted a cable franchise license in the city of Northville, and I wanted to get some comments for a follow-up I was planning for our next newspaper.

You see, I think it's important to allow Omnicom, the city's current cable provider, to have a chance to comment on the new competitive playing field it now shares with Ameritech. Would there be any changes? Lower cable rates? Better customer service? I planned on asking these questions and more of the Omnicom management team.

Unfortunately, I haven't had a chance to ask anything, because nobody at Omnicom has bothered to return any of the calls I've placed to them.

"If you have questions regarding your cable service, please press two."

Now I work in a profession that identifies people as the number one customer. I may be in the newspaper business, and my job may require me to report events that take place in Northville, but my first and foremost concern is you, the reader.

I put Omnicom in that same category. It may be a business that provides cable television, but its product is geared towards you, the television viewer. With this in mind, I continued my attempt to talk with anyone who could tell me how they were going to improve their service to you, the customer.

"If you are having problems with your cable service, please press four."

So I kept calling, and calling, and calling, and when I was finally able to talk with a "live" voice, I was told that the manager was out, or in a management meeting, or on another line, etc., etc., etc.

After awhile I started to get irritated.

I wasn't only upset that I was getting the runaround from these folks. No. I was upset because I realized that this is how I would be treated if I were a customer – paying $25 to $30 per month for the privilege of having a cable box on top of my television set.

It's no small wonder that people have been expressing their excitement at having Ameritech provide cable service. It won't be a big surprise to me if Omnicom customers jump ship once Ameritech is up and running.

"If you want general office information, please press five."

Obviously, Omnicom is only hurting itself. It doesn't take the wisdom of a beachball to figure out that each phone call they ignore, each service call they blow off, each question they refuse to answer, means one more customer joining the ranks of the disenchanted.

About the only complimentary thing I can point out regarding Omnicom has to do with that charming voice I've heard each time I've called.

"At any time during this call, press eight to speak to a customer service representative."

No thanks. The only button I'm pressing is the disconnect. Have a pleasant day. Click!

Anti-acceptance gets tough

Charlie Stilec

According to a note under the financial headlines section of the Free Press dated Thursday, July 12, 1995, "Parents will be able to secretly test their children for illicit drugs by snipping a lock of their hair and sending it to a testing company."

For $75 Psychemedics Corp. will check for traces of marijuana, cocaine, PCP or other illegal drugs and return the results within two weeks. Interesting concept!

A couple of weeks ago I received information about a company that will send parents a kit equipped with everything they need to get traces of possible drugs off steering wheels, money, dressers and envelopes to send these swabs into the company to be tested for illegal drugs. Interesting concept!

From my standpoint the only way we are going to really stay ahead of the drug game is by being smarter, craftier, more organized, less nice, less enabling, more demanding, more suspicious and generally willing to go to any lengths to produce the change we desire in an zero-tolerance community.

Zero-tolerance for Youth Substance Abuse is about dealing with the real issues with real means. No more playing cat and mouse games and "catch me if you can." Kids need to know that if they decide to use illegal substances they will, or at least will most likely, be caught by adults, or police, or parents, or school officials, teachers, etc.

In my opinion we are finally on the right path, more organized, more committed to a concept that is anti-acceptance of the use of illegal drugs among youths.

According to an article in the New York Times Magazine dated Feb. 19, 1995, "Marijuana in the '90s," "fewer than 20 years ago, virtually all the marijuana consumed in America was imported."

Today due to the federal war on drugs and high-tech growing, American marijuana cultivation has developed to the point where the potency, quality, and consistency of the domestic product are considered as good as, if not better than, any in the world.

In Oklahoma, cultivating any amount of marijuana can result in a life sentence. The courts would also seize my house and land and use the proceeds to buy better equipment.

This is America at the time of a drug war.

According to a new pamphlet produced by the Northville Youth Forum entitled "Zero Tolerance," "the levels of drug use and abuse by the young people of our community are dangerously high."

Learn the facts about your community, what is being done and what you can do. For more information on receiving this pamphlet call Detective John Werth, Northville Township Police, 349-9400, or Bob Sorenson, 344-8443, co-chairs Northville Youth Forum.

For all the kids and families out there where drug use and abuse do not seem to be an issue, please look again, talk to your son or daughter. We adults and zero tolerance invested students need to work together with all our community resources to stop illegal drugs from taking us all down.

Finally can you imagine a world where companies profit from parents cutting a piece of hair while their children sleep, taking dustings for drugs from kids' rooms. Well, these companies exist and mean business.

Let's work together before "Big Brother" takes over our lives. Let's get our drug free community back!

Courts calling shots in township

There is a disturbing recent trend in Northville Township to do planning by court approved consent judgment rather than by sound planning commission principles.

Strong political opposition defeated the Home Quarters proposal on Haggerty Road. The township was sued and lost. The approved legal consent order permits virtually the same intensity development, with the additional bonus that the restaurant is now a chicken place with drive-thru service instead of a moderately priced sit-down restaurant.

Internal township reviews scuttled the proposed Waterford Pond Development due to the perceived safety hazard of a potential train derailment blocking the main access road.

In reality a train derailing at a specific location has the likelihood of happening less than someone being injured by a fall in their bathtub. (Maybe Northville Township should outlaw bathtubs.)

The attorneys from both sides have decreed that this perceived safety hazard is overblown and have dictated that development should proceed without benefit of Planning Commission review.

Woods of Edenderry was also pushed to the brink, again by an internal township memo that decreed the lack of connecting roads to Six Mile to be unsafe. Interestingly, this condition has existed for over 30 years with no problem.

Anyone has the right to develop their property as long as it meets the laws of the community. Political opposition and memos written without regard to realistic risk assessment have resulted in the legal community determining site plans. This effectively removes the planning process from local community input and control.

It is time for all those involved in the review process to evaluate the proposal against the ordinances and do realistic risk assessment so that planning may once again be under the control of Northville Township, not the legal community.

Richard E. Allen
Planning Commission Chairman

Insurance costs headed sky high

To the Editor:

The supervisor's complaining that the Board of Trustees is picking on her again – whatever?

Political rhetoric/blarney aside, our township's insurance premiums have increased a staggering $100,000 a year (actually it's "only" $97,661) largely caused by litigation over zoning and land use issues.

Insurance premiums are an objective, factual evaluation based on past performance, and since this administration started to paddle the boat, rates have shot up 171.6 percent.

"Business as usual" means we will soon be forced to become self-insured. Some corrective steps have already been taken, and maybe a lot of things have to be done differently because smoke and finger pointing won't make this go away.

Coaches make it all possible

To the Editor:

My children have been involved in Northville Recreation baseball and softball for many years. The opportunity for my children to grow in their physical capabilities and meet a wider circle of friends than just their schoolmates has been a valuable experience for them.

Many a summer evening I've spent watching a baseball or softball game and thought that there must be dozens of games going on all over Northville. Out of curiosity, I checked with the Northville Recreation Center who gave me the information that there are 84 Northville rec teams this spring/summer – 66 junior baseball teams and 18 softball teams.

Over 1,400 kids participate on these teams.

The coaches for all the teams are volunteers and many of the teams have two coaches. It has been my observation that it is not only the commitment of the mom or dad "coach," but of their family as well.

I think this represents a substantial volunteer effort in our community that should be recognized.

If coaches did not volunteer, baseball and softball wouldn't happen. (Neither would recreation basketball or soccer.) So make sure that you thank the people you know who volunteer their time to help make recreation opportunities available for the youth of our community.

Thanks to all of this year's baseball and softball coaches!

Browning-Ferris was terrific host

To the Editor:

Hats off to BFI Arbor Hills Landfill for hosting two great events: The Northville fireworks display on July 4 and the Kite Show on July 9.

My family and I attended both events and were quite impressed by BFI's preparation of the landfill site for visitors.

Our preconceptions of garbage heaps and obnoxious odors were quickly modified by the fresh air, crisp landscaping and acres of freshly mowed grass.

The fireworks display in the recessed area across from the landfill was spectacular!

All the years of fireworks at the high school couldn't match the effect of shells exploding and illuminating the entire valley accompanied by echoes heard across the open countryside.

Likewise, the kite show on Sunday was equally impressive. We enjoyed a chartered bus ride to the top of the "mountain," free kites for kids, kite demonstrations by Plymouth's Sky Burners and the incredible view from the highest point in town.

I'm sure the thousands who attended the fireworks display and hundreds that flew kites on Sunday would agree that BFI is "not your average landfill."

Committee did a great job

To the Editor:

The greater Northville community owes a huge debt of gratitude to Karen Woodside and the "Celebrate Northville" committee for its successful efforts in bringing an excellent Fourth of July celebration to us.

Many thanks to all the volunteers, participants and sponsors for a most enjoyable day.

More accolades for 4th committee

To the Editor:

We would like to thank Karen Woodside and the "Celebrate Northville" Committee. The Fourth of July parade was a tribute to their efforts.

The clowns, the floats, the bands and the excitement of all the parade participants made the parade a very special event. Because the parade was so enthusiastically received by all who watched, those behind the scenes deserve a very special thank you.

Garden Walk again successful

To the Editor:

The Country Garden Club of Northville held its Second Annual Garden Walk this past week which was wildly successful with over 600 people visiting the gardens.

The club's profits are returned to the community in the form of high school scholarships, maintenance of the gardens at Allen Terrace and Mill Race Village, and support of township and city beautification projects

We would like to publicly thank the six homeowners who graciously shared their gardens and answered a myriad of questions posed to them by curious visitors: Mike and Martha Conrad, Dave and Mimi Kibbey, Jay and Katherine Novak, George and Pat Stoops, Bob and Shirley Thom, and Bruce and Rita Turnbull (and also all of their neighbors who patiently put up with parking congestion).

A big thank you goes out to Lou Mascolo, president of Gardenviews, the new gardening hot spot on Main Street, who generously donated a unique sun dial made from recycled bullet casings for our raffle.

The Bookstall on the Main and the Chamber of Commerce deserve a ton of gratitude for handling ticket sales.

Thanks to the Northville Historical Society for opening Mill Race Village for the day, for the docents who gave guided tours of the homes and for allowing us to showcase all the beautiful gardens on the grounds.

The Northville Record gets our thanks for their coverage and photo in the newspaper.

And lastly, the Garden Walk would not have been so successful without the support of everyone in the community who came out and enjoyed the day with us.

Thank you all.

Patricia Allen, President
Country Garden Club of Northville

Restore entrance to Rural Hill

To the Editor:

Whatever happened to the entrance to the Rural Hill Cemetery off Seven Mile Road at Rogers?

The city and township are joint owners and at one time the entrance had a rural road look. Now it looks like a truck parking lot. The road was widened and then never finished. It is an eyesore as weeds are growing abundantly and the small sign is unattended and in the middle of the road.

Whatever happened? Who is in charge? What are the immediate plans for this eyesore?

I realize that other matters are more pressing for money, but at least pull the weeds and plant some flowers at the entrance off Seven Mile Road. Presently it is neither appropriate nor fitting, but rather a community embarrassment.

Keep church and state separate

To the Editor:

The U.S. Supreme Court, on June 29, opened the door for greater government financial support for religious organizations. The foot in the door? The camel's nose under the tent wall?

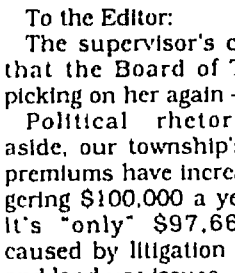

Must we now renege our unique separation of church and state arrangement that has made it possible, so far, for us to maintain peace among the dozens of religions/sects that find the freedom to exercise their faith in our unique society?

History should inform us that religion, down through the ages to the present (Bosnia, Northern Ireland, Sudan, Turkey, etc.), can be the catalyst for murderous contention among opposing believers.

For 219 years, Article I of the Bill of Rights has kept us essentially free from religious conflict. Why change now?

Vietnam diplomacy evokes memories

Phil Power

President Clinton's decision last week to grant diplomatic recognition to Vietnam provoked a lot of memories around this newspaper.

Some of our staffers fought bravely in that war so long ago, while others protested in the streets and in their hearts. An editor served as a member of a private contact group, making several visits to Vietnam over the years, providing a channel for humanitarian aid.

Like most people who came to political consciousness in the 1960s, I have many ambivalent memories of that conflict. I did not serve in Vietnam. I thought the war was the wrong war, fought in the wrong place and for the wrong reasons. But I would have gone to fight had I been drafted because, well, because that's how I was brought up and that's what you do.

The war was really heating up when I came back to the United States in 1964, having been a Marshall Scholar at Oxford's University College, the same place where Bill Clinton, a few years later, neither inhaled marijuana nor sat for his final degree examinations.

I was lucky enough to get a job as an administrative assistant for a U.S. Congressman, which is perhaps how I would up at Camp David one warm June afternoon in 1966. I was sitting on one side of President Johnson and Bob McNamara, then the secretary of defense, and an old family friend was on the other.

We started discussing – debating? – the war, with the president listening, his huge head with enormous purple prescription sunglasses swinging back and forth as he gazed intently at us in turn.

We flew back to Washington that night in the helicopter, landing in blazing white lamps on the south lawn of the White House. I remember thinking about the power and might of the system that could pick up a president and transport him from his mountain resort to his office in just a few minutes, without for even one second losing telecommunications touch with a great Army sweating and grunting in the forests of a far-off land.

The call to come down to see the president came a couple of weeks later. I would up spending an entire day with him in the White House, sitting on the perimeter of the Cabinet Room while meetings went on and then being asked to come into the Oval Office for a quieter visit.

The president showed me a position paper on the war – evidently the latest one after a series of rejections – from the State Department. He asked me what I thought of it. I tried to summon up something crisp and logical, but in the middle of it I blurted out:

"What this paper misses – what the entire war misses – is this: Just what drives those little men in black pajamas to keep on coming? Through bombs, through napalm, through firepower ... they just keep on coming!"

I will never forget that look as the president leaned back in the chair, his face lined and his forehead receding. He took off his glasses and laid them on the desk. He rubbed his eyes. For a long, long time.

"I don't know, either. And until we understand that, we'll never win this war."

Looking back at those days, 30 years later, I'd have to say we never did understand. And, never understanding, we lost the war.

I'm sorry we lost, because I'm an American and I don't like to see our side lose.

But I'm glad we are normalizing relations with our old enemy, also because I'm an American.

(For the record, later that afternoon the president – or rather Bill Moyers, then the press secretary – asked me to come on board as a special assistant. I replied that he could have me if he wanted me after I had finished the Congressmen's campaign for re-election, but that I couldn't just dump the man I had pledged to serve. I never heard anything after that.)

Amy Thelen chose a Gold Award Project that was in keeping with her ecological interests.

By CAROL WORKENS
Staff Writer

Four girls recently achieved the highest award in the Girl Scout program

Only nine girls in the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, which serves Northville, as well as Washtenaw, Monroe, Oakland, Livingston and south western Wayne counties received the Gold Award. One third of those girls live in Northville.

Erin Vandeveer is only the second girl from Novi to receive the Gold Award and is one of 20 girls who belong to the Michigan Metro Girl Scout Council, which serves Novi and part of Oakland and all of Wayne County, to receive the award.

To be eligible for the Gold Award, a girl must be a Senior Girl Scout and in high school

To earn the Gold Award, a girl must fulfill five requirements earn four Interest Patches a Career Exploration Pin and a Senior Girl Scout Leadership Award, and complete a Senior Girl Scout Challenge and Gold Award Project

The requirements, and the Gold Award project, could take up to two years to complete

The requirements for the Gold Award help the scout develop skills, practice leadership, explore career possibilities and discover more about herself.

The Gold Award project, which should influence not only the Scout's life but her community as well, must be designed and implemented by the Girl Scout herself.

The four Girl Scouts, Rachel Stockhausen, Amy Thelen, Amanda Hallberg and Erin Vandeveer, spent at least four months planning and completing their projects using the skills and knowledge obtained through the completion of the other four Gold Award requirements

Rachel Stockhausen chose to transcribe oral histories for her Gold Award Project.

RACHEL STOCKHAUSEN

When Rachel Stockhausen began to contemplate a community project for her Gold Award, she didn't have to look very far.

Her parents, William and Carole Jean Stockhausen of Northville, are members of the Northville Historical Society and suggested a project at the society.

The ongoing effort was in need of people to transcribe residents' oral histories which had been recorded on audio tape.

"Each transcription takes six hours or so, Rachel explained. 'longer if you don't know how to type."

'It is easier for people to do research about the community and their own residences possibly if they (the interviews) are transcribed," Rachel said.

Besides transcribing one interview herself, which took 20 hours, Rachel coordinated the work of nine other transcribers. She edited, corrected errors and indexed by key item names and places for cross referencing.

Work on the project started in November 1994 and finished in March of this year.

'I learned a lot about the history of Northville and about the old buildings," she said.

The Gold Award was the last project for Rachel so she decided to work independently as an Ami Girl Scout this past year and was not in a traditional troop.

'I used to be a very active Girl Scout and Explorer, but didn't have time this past year to go to troop meetings," she said.

As an Ami Girl Scout, she is a registered Scout but works independently and so did not have other girls in a troop from whom to draw for help on her service project.

"Most of them (transcribers) were adults, one was a friend from school, and some were medical transcriptions," she said.

Rachel, who joined the Girl Scouts 12 years ago, has gained independence and outdoor survival skills through her Girl Scout experience

"I went to Europe for a summer and felt so much more independent," she said. "A lot of good friendships (came) out of it."

Rachel plans to attend Indiana University in the fall to prepare for a career in dentistry.

AMY THELEN

Amy Thelen was a senior at Northville High School last year when she began a Styrofoam recycling program in the school's cafeteria as her Gold Award community project.

Northville High School uses only Styrofoam plates, bowls and trays in its lunch program.

"I knew I wanted to do something environmental or with kids," she said.

The most painstaking part of the project was the first two months she spent researching Styrofoam and recycling, according to Amy.

"Most people think it takes 500 years for Styrofoam to disintegrate but it never does," she said. "It stays around forever."

To get people interested in the project, Amy made posters which she hung up around the high school

SUE CAMPBELL

Campbell offers support to mothers

By DOROTHY NASH
Staff Writer

"They want so much to be good parents," but they have no one to turn to for advice, constructive suggestions and moral support, said Sue Campbell who volunteers one-on-one in the Young Mothers Assistance Program, which is sponsored by the Community Commission on Drug Abuse.

The girl may not necessarily be an addict but her boyfriend may have used drugs. Or her family may have used drugs and not known when to say no to her. Or they weren't there all the time. Or they love her and want to help but just don't know how.

So the program is a support group to fill in the gaps for a teenager who "needs someone who cares for her – a motherly figure." Or someone who will call and ask, "How are you getting along?"

"We don't have the answers," said Campbell, but "we help them make it their own way."

A volunteer makes a 15-month commitment. She takes a training course of six classes once a week, listening to teens come in and talk about teen relations.

Then after you have been assigned a girl, you pick her up at her house approximately once a week and go to the mall or McDonald's or, according to Campbell, 'You can accomplish a lot by phone contact "

Maybe the girl has problems. She needs money. Tell her what's available. She has her education to finish and she needs help in child rearing.

"Help her understand," Campbell said, "what destructive patterns she may be experiencing. And help her come up with her own solutions. They want to be good parents – and they're smart enough to know they need help."

Where do the girls hear about the programs? At school.

Book Worms

The summer reading programs at the local libraries are in full swing. Participating at the Northville Library are 190 readers and 90 younger children who are being read to by parents. The Novi Library has 1,034 children in grades up to fifth and 192 students in grades 5 and up.

In Our Town

Garden Walk draws record crowd from metro area

Over 600 visitors walked on millions of blades of grass during the second annual Northville Garden Walk, sponsored by the Country Garden Club of Northville, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association.

The walk, which was held on July 12 from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m., included a tour of Mill Race and homebaked cookies, lemonade, coffee and tea. Vendors from the farmers market in town sold perennials and garden supplies.

Four tour buses brought many visitors from north, south, east and west sides of the metro Detroit area.

"It was a tremendous success," Pat Zielke, club member, said.

"The comments from visitors were very favorable and they made inquiries as to whether it would be repeated next year."

Gardens included in this year's tour were the Novaks' acre on Beck Road, the Conrads' garden on Fairbrook Road, The Turnbulls' 3/4 acre garden on Eaton, The Kibbeys' two and a half acre estate on Thornapple, the Stoops' Williamsburg-style garden on Winchester and the Thoms' English garden on Appleby Lane.

Residents' homes will be seen in commercial

David Field's bathroom was the scene for a new F&M Distributors commercial which began its run yesterday on local television stations. Another scene was shot at Donna Pallas's home in the front yard.

Field's neighbor, Marianne Barry, showed Kim Thrasher of August Productions her bathroom but it was not what Thrasher had in mind for the commercial. Barry then suggested Field's house and having a key was able to take Thrasher right over to see it.

"It is an older home with character that lends itself better to the humor of the commercial," Thrasher said.

"It was a done deal before Field ever got home," said Barry who left notes in Field's house telling him what she'd done.

Field figured they'd be using the remodeled upstairs bathroom but instead, the only bath in the home which had not yet been remodeled is the one that was chosen

"It was traditional, with character, and big enough to shoot in," Thrasher said of the small bathroom which still has a radiator, wall sink and ceramic tile on the floor and walls.

"I'm flexible," Field said, when he found out about the shoot.

F&M Distributors has just completed remodeling it's stores and will air the commercial as a kick off campaign to let customers know of their new look.

In the commercial Dale Ward, President and CEO of F&M Distributors, tells his customers he'll do anything to keep his customers happy.

Actors who play the roles of the customers challenge Ward to clean a bathroom, shot at Field's home, and to take a mom out on a date, shot at the Pallas's home. There are also two shots in Novi, one in front of the F&M store in Town Center and another shot in the Expo Center parking lot.

F&M has over 100 stores in states which include Illinois, Washington, Maryland, besides Michigan. The commercial will air first in this state.

Student chooses to study ecology during summer program

Adrienne Dunkerley, daughter of Joseph and Joyce Dunkerley of Northville, was among more than 100 talented high school students at Adrian College from July 9 through 22 during the Michigan State Board of Education Summer Institute for the Arts, Sciences and Technology.

At Adrian the program is called SEEKS—Sustaining the Environment through Education, Knowledge and Skills. High school juniors and seniors participated in intensive programming in "The Interrelationship of Humanity to the Environment." During SEEKS, Dunkerley is studying freshwater ecology. Other study areas include improvisational theatre, creative writing, dance, archeology, video production, sculpture, landscape architecture, biochemistry of plants and bacteria, biological chemistry and cultural perspectives.

Adrian faculty and visiting experts used non-traditional methods to encourage intellectual freedom and interdisciplinary thinking. Activities range from discussions to lab and field experiences to art performances.

Dunkerley is a student at Northville High School where she is active in the yearbook, band, orchestra, theatre and German

Movies Under the Stars sponsored by church

This week's installment of youth activities put on by the Northville Action Council includes Movies Under the Stars, with the featured movie Angels in the Outfield on Friday.

The film will be shown on the back of the Northville Public Schools Administration Building, 501 W. Main, beginning as soon as it is dark (between 9-9:30 p.m.). The movie is sponsored by the Northville Chamber of Commerce.

Bring lawn chairs, carpet squares or blankets and mosquito repellent. Food concessions will be open. Please leave food and drink at home. In case of rain, the movie will be shown inside the Recreation Center beginning at 9 p.m. Admission is free.

There will not be a Saturday event this week.

The Student Art and Flea Market will be open from 11 a.m.-2 p.m. at the downtown Northville gazebo offering teens an opportunity to sell crafts, sell or trade sports cards, pogs, music tapes and discs, and services such as babysitting and lawn care.

To register for the art market, call Back Door Beads at 380-8215 by the previous Thursday to reserve a table. There is no cost.

Erin Vandeveer noticed there were girls in Novi interested in Girl Scouting type activities, so she started PAJAMAS.

"I wanted to increase other people's awareness," she said. "Styrofoam can be made into other kinds of plastics."

The daughter of Nancy and Ken Thelen of Northville, Amy, a Girl Scout for 11 years, will attend Western University in the fall to study hydrogeology.

"My primary concern is with water."

AMANDA HALLBERG

Amanda Hallberg spent her 1993-94 school year in Warsaw, Poland, where her stepfather had been transferred with Ford Motor Co.

"I wanted to get involved in Girls Scouts somehow so I talked to a Brownie leader there," Amanda said. There was a group of Brownies who wanted to move up, but they did not have a leader.

With Amanda as their leader, they earned six badges which resulted in them receiving the Sign of the Rainbow Award.

To accomplish the Sign of the Rainbow, the troop went on two camping trips, earned a first aid badge, and earned badges for studying Girl Scouts in the United States and Girl Scouts around the world.

"It was very difficult for me to keep contact with the Gold Award Committee because of the mail," she said. "We used a lot of resources in the Warsaw area such as nurses and they had a decent library there."

Luckily for Amanda, all the fourth grade girls spoke English The girls – three of whom were American, one French, three British and one Polish – attended an American school in Warsaw.

"I learned patience on top of everything," Amanda said. "I learned how to deal with people in general, not just kids "

Amanda Hallberg didn't let a year in Poland stop her from completing the requirements for Girl Scout's top honors, the Gold Award.

Amanda's troop met every Friday. She is finding it difficult to stay in touch with the girls because their parents frequent job transfers keep them on the move

ERIN VANDEVEER

Erin Vandeveer is the second Girl Scout from Novi to obtain the Girl Scout's highest achievement, the Gold Award, according to her troop leader and mother, Mary Vandeveer

Erin has been an active member of Girl Scout Troop 1027 in Novi for 11 years

For her Gold Award project, Erin started a girls' activities committee called PAJAMAS (People At Joint Activities Might Act Silly) for girls 12 through 17 years of age in the city of Novi.

Vandeveer designed PAJAMAS so that the group will help the community with planned service projects A recent Easter skit project was written and performed by the activities committee for the Children's Art Preschool in Novi.

PAJAMAS provides opportunities for the girls to get together on occasions such as supervised outings, activities and camping adventures

Members of PAJAMAS are independent of the Girl Scouts but participate in the same type of activities as the Scouts

Erin attends Novi High School where she maintains a 4.0 grade point average, participates in choral groups, color guard, soccer, many campus clubs, including National Honor Society, and serves as president of Genesis, a church youth group, assisting in its junior church program

The daughter of Mary and Thomas Vandeveer will try to remain active in PAJAMAS for another year and hopes it will continue to an ongoing activity for girls in the community

Vietnamese children find a new family

By CAROL WORKENS
Staff Writer

The swing creaked as Debi Lopez swung back and forth while Christian lay exhausted on her lap in the screened back porch of the home.

Sapped of strength after a 20-hour airplane ride from Vietnam, Tori sat at the table as the overhead fan tried to stir up a breeze in the 93 degree afternoon.

As Christian and Tori spent the first full day on Saturday with their new parents, Bob and Debi Lopez of Northville, it was not the temperature that affected them unlike the rest of their new family but jet lag and homesickness

The Lopez family recently completed the adoption of 2-year-old Christian and 7-year old Tori

Bob and Debi always knew they would have a big family. So, two years ago, with the completion of their biological family of four - T.C., who is now 14, Tina, who is 12, Nick, 8, and Alex, 5 - the topic of adopting children came up again

The Lopezes heard through a friend, who was a field representative for International Family Services and who recently adopted a child from Russia, that a Vietnamese adoption program had opened up in August of 1994

Everything was all set for the adoption of a 3-year-old Vietnamese girl when the grandfather decided to keep his granddaughter

With time running out on their home study, they decided to adopt two other children, Christian and Tori, who had been at the same orphanage in Thai Binh, a $20 000, two story building built by International Family Services, since August

The youngest and and oldest in a family of four children, their mother tried to keep the family together after the death of her husband when she was expecting Tori, but could no longer manage and had to make the tough decision of whom to put up for adoption.

"We think she gave up the eldest and youngest first of all because she would protect him," Bob said "She is very protective. In the orphanage she carried him everywhere."

"In the beginning he never smiled or talked," Bob said "He turned into a regular 2-year-old. He'd get into everything I'd say, 'no,' and he'd ignore me."

Tori took two days before speaking her first words

"I was worried about it and one of the other people said to her, 'This is your new father When he speaks to you, you show him respect'

"To show her respect, she folded her arms across her chest and said 'Bo,' and bowed to me That was the first word she spoke to me."

Bob spent two weeks in Vietnam doing all the paperwork.

There was a giving and taking ceremony, the signing of the papers and the speeches by all the Vietnamese," Bob said.

"We happened to be there for the first Fourth of July party at the American compound in 40 years because of the normalization of relations that are starting There was a big celebration about that."

The Lopezes had been prepared to expect children who were undernourished. But the shiny black hair and healthy physiques of Christian and Tori put aside any fears the couple may have had

"They are very bright children" Bob said "She can read and write Vietnamese. There was probably a caretaker for every four or five kids. They were held all the time

"Everything is very different for them. In Hanoi, people don't live in their houses, they are out on the streets all the time. It's so hot, they go in the house when they go to sleep. They have no lawns, just rice patties.

"Their eyes were popping pretty good when they got to Hanoi," Bob said.

Their lives will never be the same again. Tori will remember life in Vietnam Bob took videos and a volume of photographs which the children can look at any time.

The Vietnamese mother told her children when she gave them up for adoption that she couldn't support the family the way it was and because she loved them she wanted them to have an opportunity to be adopted by an American family where they could grow, get an education and live better

"It's very odd to have a child that age and not be able to communicate," Debi said of Tori

In the back yard, Christian wanted to be picked up and Bob told him no and to go play. Christian said something to Bob in Vietnamese in an angry way and Tori started laughing

"It must have been pretty bad," Bob said "All we know is that Bo (which means dad in Vietnamese) was part of it."

"That might become their private language," Debi said.

Accepting an American diet will be another adjustment

"They don't like our food at all," Bob said "We tried that in Thailand They like soup with shrimp and noodles for breakfast"

So the Lopezes played it safe for the first breakfast. They cooked scrambled eggs, which were a big hit.

Christian is expected to adapt very quickly. It will take Tori about three or four months to be able to handle herself

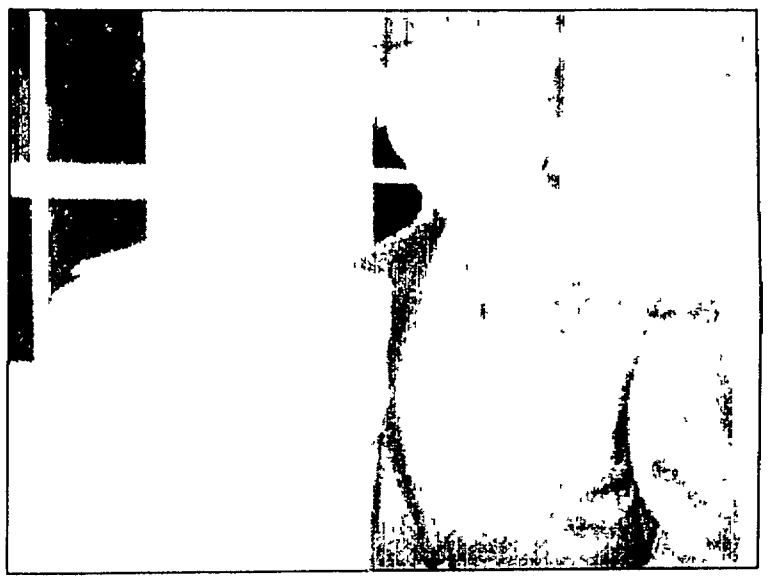

The Lopezes must send a letter and photograph once a year to the orphanage, which will pass it on to the Vietnamese mother of the children.

Anniversary

Jean and Robert Walls

Mr and Mrs Robert Walls will celebrate their 61st wedding anniversary on Friday, July 21, 1995, by dining at MacKinnon's.

Both Robert and Jean Walls were born in Edinburgh, Scotland. On July 21, 1934 the two were married in Edinburgh

The family moved to Detroit in 1918

Before retirement, Mr Walls was employed at Chrysler Corp. Having lived on Heyden Street in Detroit for many years the Walls moved to Highland Lakes on Lake Success in Northville

Not only did they enjoy their community and condo, but the pool with their grandchildren Heather and Laura

After 18 years in Highland Lakes, they and their son Gordon and his family moved together to Country Club Village in Northville.

Bob and Jean still look forward to Wednesday visits to Perry's, lunch at a restaurant on Seven Mile or Main Street, and health check-ups with Dr. Vincenti.

They are also affiliated with St James Presbyterian Church in Redford. Jean enjoys antiques.

Bob and Jean both enjoy celebrating special events at MacKinnon's Restaurant

From Porsches to a 'family car'

Bachelor has trouble adjusting to family life in 'Nine Months'

Samuel and Rebecca have it all. During their near-perfect, five-year relationship, they've seen their careers thrive; experienced countless nights of passion in their wonderful San Francisco home and had the freedom to take off on romantic weekends at whim.

And then one day they receive a little surprise that will catapult their perfect order into utter chaos — Rebecca is pregnant, and Samuel's life will never be the same.

Hugh Grant and Julianne Moore star in "Nine Months," a new comedy from Chris Columbus, who previously directed "Home Alone," "Home Alone 2" and "Mrs. Doubtfire."

Samuel's frenetic new existence begins with an unlikely friendship with a couple of well-meaning, but over-bearing, parents — Marty (Tom Arnold) and Gail (Joan Cusack). Then there's Rebecca's first appointment with a friendly but somewhat nervous Russian physician (Robin Williams), whose only previous obstetrical experience has been with four-legged creatures.

When Rebecca suggests that Samuel's beloved, gleaming red Porsche has to be traded in for a "family" car, Samuel realizes his life may be falling apart at the seams. "What are we supposed to do," asks Rebecca, "tie the baby to the hood?"

"Nine Months" was written, produced and directed by Chris Columbus. His skills at weaving comedy and emotion throughout his movies has entertained audiences around the world, yielding spectacular box office numbers. This combination of humor and emotion has been a trademark of many Columbus films — including "Home Alone," "Home Alone 2: Lost in New York" and "Mrs. Doubtfire" — and it obviously works for audiences: Chris Columbus is the fifth most successful motion picture director of all time.

Within the comedy framework of Columbus' films, however, lies a theme very close to the director's heart. "All my films have to do with the family," he said. "In 'Home Alone,' the story is about someone who is separated from his family and has to search for it. In 'Mrs. Doubtfire,' the hero is cut off from the family unit by divorce and will do anything to get back in — even dress up like a woman and become a nanny.

"In 'Nine Months,' Columbus continued, "we have a man who's given a family but can't initially deal with it. He likes his life the way it is and wants everything to stay the same."

A committed family man, Columbus and his wife Monica are the parents of three young children. The oldest is five and the youngest is just over a year old. So it's easy to understand why the material appealed to the director. "I see 'Nine Months' as a film that shows the joy of having children and of experiencing family life," said Columbus.

"But basically all those elements serve as background, the foundation for romantic comedy. 'Nine Months' is really Samuel and Rebecca's love story."

Columbus hand-picked "Four Weddings and a Funeral" star Hugh Grant to portray Samuel Faulkner.

"I felt his dramatic instincts and comedic abilities would make Samuel's struggles seem understandable and sympathetic."

Grant was intrigued and amused by Samuel's rather strong reactions to the changes in his life. "Samuel is introduced as someone who's very pleased with himself and his orderly life," said Grant. "He and his wonderful girl friend have been together five years, and everything is terrific. Then into this perfect world charges the all-powerful force of impending parenthood."

Samuel's pregnant girlfriend, Rebecca, is played by Julianne Moore. Her performances in such varied films as "The Fugitive," Robert Altman's "Short Cuts," and Louis Malle's "Vanya on 42nd Street" have won critical acclaims. Moore's roles in these acclaimed dramas were a key factor in the decision to cast her in the comedy. "I wanted a dramatic actress to play Rebecca," said Columbus, "because the character is grounded and secure in the face of all the change and confusion going on around her. Julianne gives Rebecca real dimension, and a lot of heart and soul."

The film also stars Robin Williams, who appears as Rebecca's substitute obstetrician, Dr. Kosevich, an insecure and confused emigre physician from Russia. "Nine Months" reunites Williams and Columbus for the first time since "Mrs. Doubtfire."

Hugh Grant is Samuel and Julianne Moore is Rebecca in 'Nine Months.'

SAY ANYTHING
By Helaine Binstock
Novi

I never heard of "Say Anything" until Siskel and Ebert recommended it. I, a mature adult, found it pleasant, and your teens are bound to enjoy it even more. Actually, it's nice for everyone.

A brainy, high-achieving girl (Ione Skye) is pursued by a non-conforming boy (John Cusack) who has no goals in sight. Yet, this unlikely match seems to be a stabilizing influence in both of their lives.

The attentive young girl's relationship with her father (John Mahoney of Frazier) is enviable, one of sharing and honesty. She's remained with him, following her parents' divorce, because of their unique alliance.

She lovingly and respectfully watches her father run his nursing home, assisting his patrons with genuine concern. But, to her amazement, IRA reveals he's also bilking them, demonstrating he hasn't been totally candid after all.

Having always disclosed everything to him — all thoughts, feelings and deficiencies, she's grief stricken. And she's lonely as he serves jail time for his crime. Voila, Cusack helps her through her turmoil, discovering his own capabilities and potential along the way.

Mahoney, Cusack and Skye's performances are well worth seeing!

'Hot Ticket' ready to sail in annual Port Huron race

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Bob Kirkman is going to be doing some bonding with his sons this weekend.

Aboard "Hot Ticket," the Northville family will compete in its 14th straight Port Huron-to-Mackinac Sailboat Race. According to Kirkman, it's a chance to spend time with his sons and have fun.

"It's a father and son thing," he said. "It's like golf for a lot of people. This is our sport. We enjoy it."

This weekend will mark the 71st running of the Port Huron-to-Mackinac race.

The jaunt covers some 259 nautical miles or about 350 miles. A nautical mile equals about a mile and two-tenths.

Boats will head out Saturday from Port Huron and head northeast to Cove Island near Georgian Bay. From there it's west to Mackinac Island and the finish line at Mission Point.

"We should get in Monday," Kirkman said, "in the late afternoon."

Nearly 300 boats are scheduled to compete in two different race categories. The 35-foot Hot Ticket will compete in the larger of the two divisions.

Under Kirkman, who captains the 12-sail vessel, Hot Ticket has had several top finishes in the race.

In 1989, for example, Hot Ticket was third overall in its division. The year before, Kirkman and crew were fifth

"We're hoping to win this year," said Kirkman. "The boat is in good shape."

Over the years there's also been adversity on the waters.

Low winds dragged the race on one year. In 1985, Hot Ticket had its mast snapped in a bad storm off Cove Island.

Whatever the conditions this weekend, Kirkman and crew will be ready.

Sons Bob, 26, and Mike, 21, head up the crew. Five other locals round out Hot Ticket's crew.

They'll work in three-hour shifts throughout the three-day race. Teams will be made up of three people.

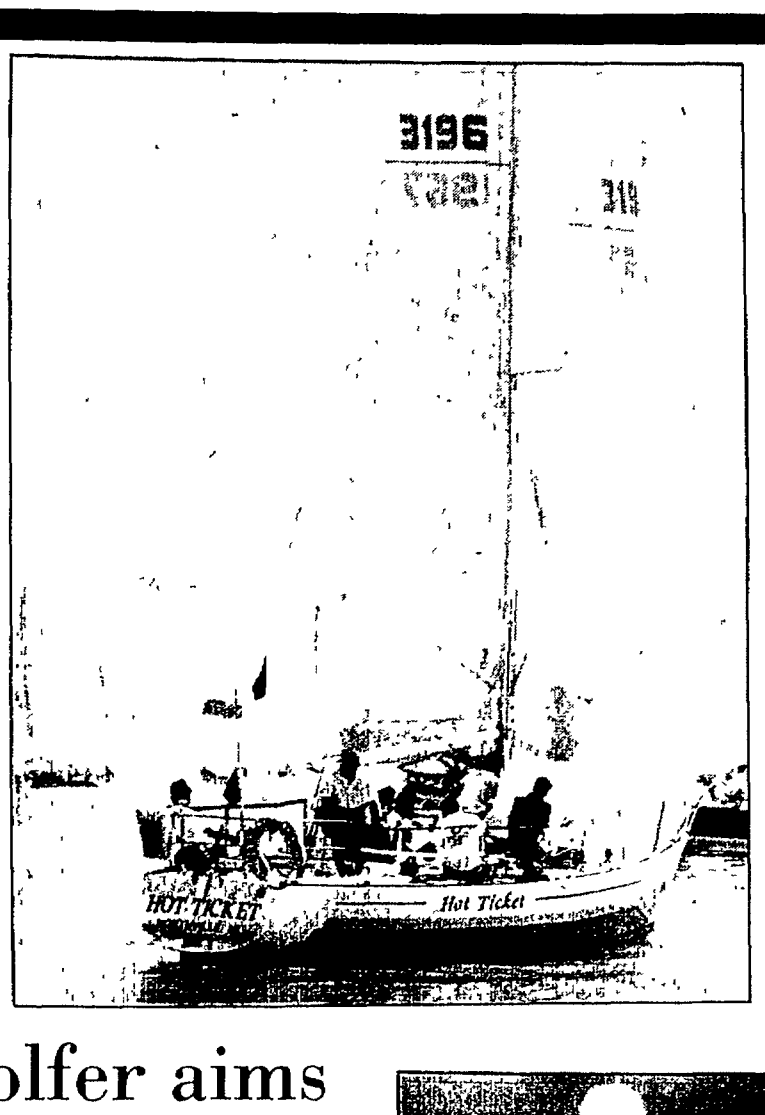

Practice for the race began in early spring.

Based at the Detroit Yacht Club, Hot Ticke' has been racing up to three times a week since April. Kirkman said he and his crew take part in a short race at Lake St. Clair.

"They're usually seven miles," he commented, "and take about and hour and a half."

Up to 200 boats compete in the Saturday races. While it may seem like a grueling schedule, Kirkman said it's nothing but fun.

"I just got into it," he said of his longtime involvement with sailing. "It's enjoyable."

'Hot Ticket' will represent Northville in the upcoming Port Huron-to-Macinac race. The 35-foot boat is captained by city resident Bob Kirkman. Based at the Detroit Yacht Club, 'Hot Ticket' should arive at the finish line sometime Monday.

Mustang golfer aims for trip to state final

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

When the Northville High golf team takes to the links this fall it will have a strong leader.

Brian Glock has emerged as the Mustangs top player this summer with a lot of hard work and practice. While he may or may not get the title of captain, make no mistake, he'll be the one counted on to shoot low scores.

"He's always on his game," coach Trish Murray said. "That's the type of player he is. He's very consistent and always plays within himself."

Glock is hoping to take that consistency a long way. He's hoping for a trip to East Lansing in October.

"I want to try to go to the state final," he said. "That's my major goal. I'd also like for the team to go."

And he's ready to lead the way.

"I want to stay the No. 1 or 2 man on the team," Glock commented. "I want to play my best this year."

The senior has been playing enough golf the past few months to be razor sharp when school resumes next month.

As a member of Meadowbrook Country Club, Glock has been on the course three to four days a week. He's been competing with the Meadowbrook team against other country clubs.

Tournaments are held every Friday. Thus far, Glock has finished near the top of every 18-hole "inner club" outing.

Courses and competitors have both been more difficult than at high school matches. Glock has consistently shot in the high 70s and low 80s.

"This summer I've improved my game," he said. "I was shooting in the mid 80s last summer. Now if I don't shoot in the 70s I'm disappointed."

Work on putting and chipping has helped to drop his score. Glock said he's learned over the years that the short game is paramount to good golf.

"I've been spending a lot of time on it," he added.

> "(Glock) drives the ball well. He's a long-ball hitter."
>
> TRISH MURRAY
> Northville golf coach

"He drives the ball well," said Murray. "He's a long-ball hitter."

He's been working on his driver, too.

"I hit the ball far," Glock said, "but I lose control of it sometimes."

Besides the club "tour," he's taken his improved game to other tournaments.

Earlier this month, Glock participated in a 36-hole tournament at Michigan State University. He finished in the top 40 of a field of about 200

Some of the state's best high school golfers were on hand for the event.

"I wasn't really nervous about it," Glock said. "I was looking forward to playing against guys better than me."

Murray said her player tends to have an even temperament.

"He's not real emotional on the golf course," she added.

Unlike many headstrong teenagers, Murray said Glock is easy to work with.

"He's a very coachable young man," she commented. "Brian is just a super young man."

For his part, Glock is looking forward to his senior year at the high school. But he's already looking toward the future.

He'll likely study pre-med at either Hillsdale College or MSU. Glock said he isn't sure if competitive golf will continue to be in the picture.

"I want it to be," he added.

A lot of it will depend on his studies and if it continues to be fun.

"I try to have fun with it," Glock said. "I always have to have fun or I wouldn't do it."

Broncos let one slip away

Try as they might, the Broncos couldn't fend off a Berkley rally Saturday and fell 7-6. Ahead 6-3 in the sixth inning, Northville surrendered three runs due, in part, to shaky defense.

Berkley then capped the comeback with a single run in the seventh for the win. The Broncos had staged a rally of their own earlier to take the lead.

Down 3-1 in the third inning, Northville put together a walk, sacrifice bunt and a pair of singles. The Broncos took a 4-3 lead on a double steal by Andy Borda and Matt Hare.

Borda, who started on the mound and was roughed up early, held Berkley in check without a hit in the third, fourth and fifth innings. Shortstop Kip Szostek helped with good defense.

Northville added two runs in the fifth. Marc Olin had a two-run single, but it wasn't enough to hold Berkley off.

SOUTHGATE 4, NORTHVILLE 0

Southgate pitchers held the Broncos to just four hits on July 11.

Northville's best chance to score came in the first inning. The Broncos loaded the bases, but were unable to push a run across.

Doug Konst played well in defeat. The left fielder ran down a long fly ball in the fourth inning to stop a Southgate rally.

NORTHVILLE 5, CANTON 4

On July 8, Northville scored three runs in the sixth inning to garner a victory.

Tim Edick, Eric Cooley and Andy Doren had RBI singles in the rally. Northville scored two runs in the second inning on a hit by Jason Santieu.

Szostek got the win on the mound.

Roadrunner classic is Saturday

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Traffic is going to be heavy in downtown Northville Saturday evening.

But not with automobiles. More than 1,000 people are expected to run in this year's 12th Annual Roadrunner Classic starting at 7 p.m.

"It's a great race," Redford Roadrunner spokesperson Yvette Michaels said, "and a lot of fun."

It'll be the Classic's third straight year in Northville. The race moved to downtown in 1993 after nine years in Livonia.

"We wanted a prettier course," said Michaels, "and we've got a lot of members in Northville."

More than a 1,000 runners competed last summer. That number could go up or down depending on the weather.

"We're expecting about the same number," said Michaels.

The 8-kilometer (5-mile) course travels through the streets of downtown.

Starting on Cady Street, the course heads east to Griswold. After a short loop, runners will get back on Griswold and go up to Baseline Road.

From Baseline it's on to to Grace Street and then back through town. The course jaunts down Main Street and then through several subdivisions before returning to Cady for the finish.

"We'll have four water stands along the course," said Michaels.

Runners may register up until race time. Fees go to covering the cost of the race.

Michaels said any additional funds raised will go into a scholarship for a Northville High School runner.

While the 8K run will be featured, several other events will be held Saturday as well.

Wheelers will get a chance to test the same 8K course as runners. They'll head out a few minutes before runners.

A 5K Classic racewalk will be held. Michaels said it's a sport on the rise.

A "Fun One" one mile walk/run starts at 6:30 p.m. The Classic Junior, for kids 12-years-old and under, starts at 6:15 and is a mile long.

Awards will be handed out for each event.

For the 8K race the overall and top three finishers will be honored. The top finishers in the wheeler race will receive awards while all finishers of the Fun One and Classic Junior will get ribbons or medals.

A party at the Northville Recreation Center center will follow all the activities. It'll go until 11:30 p.m. and feature, food and drink as well as dancing.

Niners sweep pair with pitching, bats

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Michelle Menghini was a long way from prefect July 12.

She walked 11 batters, for heaven's sake. But the Northville Niner pitcher was good when she had to be good and her team won the opener of a doubleheader 5-2 over North Farmington.

"It was timely pitching," coach Frank Friemund said.

While the right hander allowed a lot of base runners she was able to get out of jams via the strikeout. Menghini whiffed eight North Farmington hitters.

Only nine enemy batters made contact off of her. Which was good, because Northville didn't exactly have an offensive explosion.

In the first inning, Northville scored a pair of runs. Jenny Sheehan and Marcie Magnusson scored after singling. A North Farmington error helped the rally.

Northville got three more runs in the third. A pair of walks, an error, and a ground ball accounted for the runs.

The Niners won an 8-7 ball game in the nightcap.

Down 4-3 in the third, Northville scored three times. A two-run single by Sarah Roth was the big hit of the inning.

Westbrooke improves with time, hard work

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

They say time has a way of healing all wounds.

While that statement is generally true for most people it also holds true for golf courses in some cases. Take Westbrooke Golf Club, for example.

Just a few short years ago the Beck Road course was in less than ideal condition. Construction of the Providence Medical Center left it reconfigured and a bit ragged.

A lot of hard work since then, however, has brought the 18-hole set of links back up to snuff.

According to Westbrooke golf professional Todd Gehart, the course superintendent deserves a lot of credit for that rebound.

"He has a real feel for the land," he said.

Especially on the greens.

"Our greens are traditionally fast," Gehart said. "Dino does an excellent job on them."

The course has a long history in Novi.

Located at the corner of Grand River and Beck Road, it opened as Bob-O-Links, a 27-hole facility. Providence came in in 1990 and developed its medical center at that time.

Nine holes north of Grand River were eliminated and some of the remaining 18 were reconfigured to accommodate Providence (now Mission Health). Gehart said the course never completely closed during construction, but not "much golf" was played for about a year.

Players have been returning to Westbrooke since the early 1990s. League participation is up considerably this season.

"We had about 700 league players last year," Gehart said. "We've got about 1,300 this year."

Bob Radtke is one of them. A member of the Monday Novi Parks and Recreation league, he says Westbrooke has improved over the last few years.

"The greens are a lot better now," he commented. "They've done a lot of work on the fairways, too.

"It's coming along better than when they started."

Radtke said the 5,800-yard course is ideal for his senior league.

"It lends itself to senior play and quicker play," he added.

One of the best things about Westbrooke, Gehart said, is that it doesn't pretend to be something it isn't. He said it's a solid, medium-sized course that can provide a challenge for most golfers.

"There's some easy holes and good golf holes," Gehart said. "But you don't shoot 65 everyday at Westbrooke."

Unless you're Fred Couples, of course. But for the mortal golfer, Westbrooke can provide a test.

Several holes on the back nine provide illustration.

No. 10 is a short 275-yard par 4 from the back tees. It places a definite premium on accuracy.

The dogleg right features Willow trees and a pond to the right. The pond is visible from the tee, but what the golfer can't see is that it jaunts back towards and in front of the green.

So if you're going to use a wood, be it a driver or a 5-wood, keep it on the left side of the fairway. Using a 5-iron off the tee wouldn't be a bad idea, in fact.

"It's a course you can score on," said Radtke. "But you have to hit some placement shots."

Holes No. 16 and 18 are similar to the 10th, but longer.

A 550-yard par 5, No. 16 is rated the second toughest at Westbrooke. A long, straight drive off the tee is required to put yourself in position for the second shot.

A weak drive or one off to the right puts golfers behind a large stand of trees and leaves little or no second shot. Once around the dogleg it's a straight shot into the green, which is guarded by a pond to the left.

The 18th is the most severe dogleg on the course. At 320-yards from the back tees, it's not too long.

But golfers are shooting to a small landing area in the fairway. Hit long and you're on the ninth green. Hit it short and you're in the water.

Speaking of water, perhaps the most enjoyable hole at Westbrooke is the 115-yard par 3 17th. It's tantalizingly short.

The summer concert series in Novi continues with Benny and the Jets.

Tonight is another great "Sounds of Summer" concert and we're sure you're going to love it. Hopefully, we'll have sunny skies, unlike last week's thunderstorms. Since the Michigan '50s Festival is less than a week away, we're going to get everyone in the mood for some classic oldies! For your listening pleasure tonight we present Benny and the Jets, one of Detroit's most famous and nationally known oldies band, at 7 p.m., on the north lawn of the Civic Center.

Benny and the Jets have appeared in large and small towns from coast to coast in the U.S. and Canada. Their stops have included the Las Vegas Convention Center, Las Vegas Hilton, Flamingo and the Landmark Riviera. The group has been written up in major newspapers in New York, Miami, Chicago, Los Angeles, Toronto and Montreal. The band has also appeared in popular Rock 'n' Roll magazines like Rolling Stone, Creem and Billboard.

Benny and the Jets have toured with the Coasters, the Drifters, the Platters, Freddy "Boom Boom" cannon, Bo Diddley and Chubby Checker. Most recently the group hit the concert trail with Paul Revere and the Raiders (with stops in Seattle, Hollywood, Los Angeles and Las Vegas).

The Detroit-based trio has been together almost 10 years. Louis Speer (on guitar), Ken Duffey (on drums) and Chris LaBeau (on bass) all love Chuck Berry music with a Bo Diddley beat! Benny and the Jets have two albums, recorded on Butterscotch Records. One is a studio LP and the other was recorded in front of a live audience at the Toledo Sports Arena.

Benny and the Jets will surely entertain you with all the great, classic oldies! The 1995 Sounds of Summer Concert Series is presented by Novi Parks and Recreation, Providence Medical Center-Novi, Ford Motor Company Foundation, and Charter House of Novi. When you come out and enjoy the concerts, you are also eligible to win lunch for two from either Border Cantina, Olive Garden Italian Restaurant, TGI Friday's, Red Robin and Shields. There is also free lemonade, munchies and novelties for the kids.

Why not make every Thursday evening a special night for you and your family? Bring lawn chairs or blankets and even a picnic supper. Concerts are held inside the Civic Center in case of rain. See you at 7!

There is no concert next week due to the 8th annual Michigan '50s Festival. Be sure and join us, July 26-30, for great live music (Johnny Tillotson, the Shirelles, the Diamonds, Rocky and the Rollers, the Fantastics, Teen Angels and Danny Vann).

The next Sounds of Summer Concert is Aug. 3 with the award winning duo B&R/Borkowski & Rosochacki, a creative mix of folk and acoustic-rock of the '60s and '70s. See you there!

Don't forget! July 20, 21 and 22, at Novi's Power Park is the ASA Great Lakes Regional Junior Olympic Girls Fast Pitch Tournament. This tournament is open to everyone (minimal charge) and will feature local girls as well as players from Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, and Wisconsin. Call Novi Parks and Recreation for

Eye care has improved with use of lasers

Tim Kirk

When it comes to high-tech health care, nothing sparks more interest than the use of lasers. Eye care has benefited tremendously from the precision and diversity of modern lasers.

One of the common myths about lasers concerns their use in initial cataract surgery. Current techniques still involve some form of traditional incisional surgery and manually removing the clouded lens from behind the iris – the colored part of the eye.

Lasers play a major role, however, in clearing up vision after the initial procedure. This occurs when a thin membrane clouds over the eye and a laser is used in a quick office procedure to make an opening in the membrane to improve vision.

Retinal disease can also frequently be treated with different types of lasers. The most common and rewarding use involves diabetic retinopathy, where small leaking vessels can be sealed off or where peripheral areas of the retina – a film-like nerve tissue that lines the inside of the eye – can be treated in an effort to preserve healthy central vision.

Certain forms of age-related macular (retinal) degeneration can be stabilized by similar intervention. Retinal tears and early detachments also benefit from the non invasive nature of laser therapy.

Another growing area of laser use is in the treatment of glaucoma – a typically chronic disease involving increased fluid pressure within the eye. Lasers, like medical therapy, are used to stabilize or slow progression of this disease. Argon laser trabeculoplasty (ALT) is a procedure that improves the outflow of fluid from the eye, which lowers pressure. Laser peripheral iridotomy (PI) creates a new channel for fluid so pressure doesn't build up behind the iris. Newer techniques involve placing a laser probe inside the eye, much like arthroscopic knee surgery.

The excimer laser can be used to remove visually damaging scars from the cornea – a clear dome in front of the iris. The excimer laser also can be used to correct myopia – nearsightedness – and astigmatism to varying degrees. This is accomplished by using laser sculpting to change the focus of the eye by reshaping the cornea. This procedure fits under the category of refractive surgery, which involved correcting vision by changing the focus of light. RK (radial keratotomy), a traditional cutting surgery, is the most common type of refractive surgery.

The excimer laser is very precise, removing 0.25 microns (one millionth of a meter) of tissue in 12 billionths of a second with virtually no heat or damage to surrounding tissue. The excimer is so precise, it is even used by the computer industry to etch microchips.

I recently visited one of the largest excimer facilities in Canada and will highlight more of the cutting-edge techniques, such as the laser-assisted intrastromal keratomileusis (LASIK) procedure, in future articles. The excimer is still awaiting final approval from the Food and Drug Administration in the United States.

Another laser, the holmium beam, is used in refractive surgery in Canada to correct farsightedness and possibly to correct the need for bifocals. This is the newest procedure and will benefit from the test of time.

Clearly, lasers have applications in many areas of eye care. The technology is just at the tip of the iceberg and is changing nearly on a monthly basis. It seems almost anything is possible in the future.

Save for retirement with U.S. Savings Bonds.
They'll mature before you do.

Why you call it "bringing out those natural highlights," not "hiding the gray."

And why you still haven't started to save for retirement.

Exactly what are you waiting for? The very day you retire and find yourself with no more job and no more paychecks?

Give your retirement savings program a solid foundation by investing in U.S. Savings Bonds. They're backed by the full faith and credit of the United States and guaranteed to earn interest.* And they're easy to buy for just a few dollars each payday through your employer's U.S. Savings Bonds Payroll Savings Plan. Or buy them at your bank.

Plus, the interest earned on U.S. Savings Bonds is exempt from state and local income taxes and can be deferred for federal income tax purposes for up to 30 years.

Ask your banker or your employer about including U.S. Savings Bonds in your retirement savings program. Even if you call it "saving for a rainy day."

Novi Garden Club

Welcome to a new season, new officers and a new beginning. The Novi Garden Club, a branch of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, meets every third Tuesday of the month at 1 p.m. at the Novi Civic Center. Meeting topics include gardening tips, guest speakers, workshops and "hands-on" creativity with herbs, wreaths, plants and flowers. The club is open to all ages, male and female.

Anyone interested in gardening, good conversation and fun, can call Club President, Elinor Holland, at (810) 477-7913.

Novi Camera Club

The club meets the second and fourth Tuesday of each month, at 7:30 p.m., at the Novi Civic Center. Anyone interested in joining or who has questions should call Hugh Crawford at (810) 349-5079.

Novi Trackers Running Club

The Novi Trackers is a running club whose members range from the casual jogger to the serious competitor. The Trackers meet twice weekly and all runners are invited to join any of the club runs.

Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. – Novi High School
Saturdays at 8 a.m. – Sundowner Restaurant (parking lot across the street from the Northville Post Office).

Soccer

Larry Christoff, current Head Soccer Coach of Novi High School (boys and girls), 1994 MHSAA Regional Coach of the Year, former soccer pro, former Head Coat at Schoolcraft College and six time winner of the NJCAA "Coach of the Year" Award will direct Novi's annual Soccer Camp. In addition, experienced college and high school players will assist Coach Christoff. Basic fundamentals in dribbling, kicking, heading, goalkeeping and passing will be taught, along with daily scrimmages, specialized goalkeeping and team tactics. Small groups are formed based on skill level and age. This is a great way to get ready for summer and fall leagues.

Saturday's session will include a demonstration for parents and scrimmages between students and parents (for those who dare.).

Session I: July 24-29
Session II: July 31-Aug. 5
Session III: Aug. 7-12

SWIM CLUB

The Clarenceville Swim Club participated in a long course team meet in Findlay, Ohio, recently.

Sheila Taormina, 26, placed first and set new meet records in seven of the open events. Taormina's sweep began on Friday with the 1500 freestyle (17:27.96) and continued throughout the weekend. She also participated in the 200 butterfly (2:23.5), 400 freestyle (4:23.42), 100 butterfly (1.05.23), 100 freestyle (59.55), 50 freestyle (28.0) and the 200 freestyle (2:04.53).

As well as setting all new records, Taormina took home the women's open first place high point award.

Other Clarenceville finishers: 8-year-old Kathryn Kusuplos, fourth 200 free, 100 free and fifth in the 50 freestyle; 9-10-year-olds Stephanie Cummings, second in the 50 backstroke, 100 back, third in the 50 breaststroke and fourth in the 200 IM; 11-12-year-olds Lindsay Dolin, fifth in the 50 and 100 backstroke.

In the 13-14-year-old division, Keith Falk was first in the 100, second in the 200-yard freestyle and third in the 100 free. Kelly Carlisle, 16, was second in the 200 IM in the women's open division while Rebecca Noechel, 15, was second in the 100 butterfly. In the men's open division, Ted Burmeister, 17, was fifth in the 100-yard breaststroke and Eric Seidelman, 17, was second in the 100 freestyle.

SOCCER

A group of Northville soccer players helped the Michigan Hawks finish first in the state. The team went on to represent the U.S. Youth Soccer state of Michigan under 13 age group at regional championships in Minnesota and finished second.

Team members included: Emily Carbott, Carrie Kluska, Missy Winn, Jessica Zwiesler and Angela Maile, all of Northville; Katie Beaudoin, Cheryl Fox, Lindsay Gusick, Leslie Knapp, Christina Lewis, Stephanie Stachura and Carly Wadsworth of Livonia; Lorianne Dedomenico of Farmington Hills; Natalie Shaheen of Birmingham; Suzanne Morrison of Bloomfield Township and Abbey Shepherd of Milford.

Niners win pair

Northville got two runs in the fourth to win it. Mandy Sabo had an RBI single and later scored the winner on a passed ball.

LIVONIA DOUBLEHEADER

The Chargers took game one 7-1. Livonia scored four runs in the fourth to blow the game open.

"Menghini got off to a great start," said Friemund. "The first three innings they didn't have a base runner."

But when she started to get the ball up, Livonia capitalized. A pair of walks and a triple pushed the rally along.

Northville's lone run came in the fourth. Jenny Sheehan scored Sarah Johnson with a ground ball.

Game two, thankfully, was a different story.

Johnson took the mound and dominated. She struck out 12 Livonia batters and tossed a two-hitter.

"Her control was excellent," Friemund said. "She hit all the spots."

Livonia actually led the game 1-0 after three innings. But Northville got single runs in the fourth and seventh innings to pull it out.

Sheehan had an RBI double in the fourth and Menghini scored in the seventh on a ground ball.

"It was a very well-played game by both teams," said Friemund.

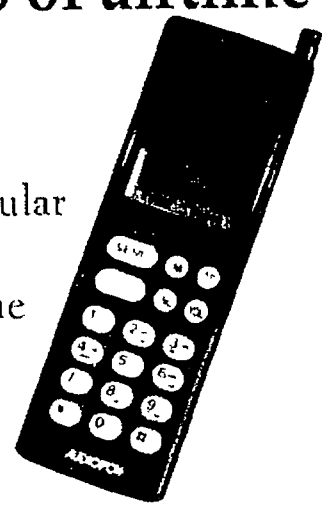

Northville's other fast pitch summer team, the Neon, didn't fare quite as well. The Neon split four games.

Realtors fight insurance legislation

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

Homes are generally more affordable for families than they were just a year ago But storm clouds are on the horizon, according to Mary Hall, president of a regional Association of Realtors.

On the positive side, mortgage interest rates are down to nearly the record-low level of a couple of years ago. This has made it possible for more families to qualify for a home loan

"Our mortgage interest rate for a 30-year, fixed-rate loan is now under 8 percent," said Joe Kreutz, owner of golden Oaks Financial Corp "The number of people refinancing their homes has nearly doubled in the past month."

This is only the second time in the past decade that rates on new 30-year fixed-rate mortgages are lower than what many folks currently are paying on their adjustable-rate mortgages, Kreutz said.

There also are new mortgage plans available that are designed to help low- and moderate-income families afford and qualify for a home financing loan, Hall said.

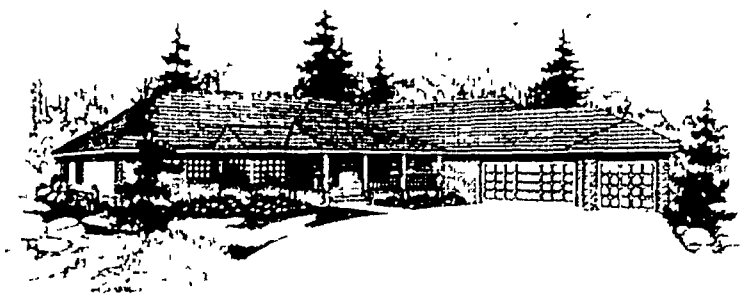

"Some of these plans require no closing costs. Others require as little as 2 percent cash down payment from the buyer."

Still another factor is the lowering of property values in many areas.

The most threatening factor in California, especially for low-income and minority families, is a new earthquake insurance requirement planned by the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp. (Freddie Mac), a major buyer of existing home loans. If implemented, this plan could establish a dangerous precedent of discriminatory practices across the coun-

Paloverde features a bright, vaulted great room

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

The Paloverde's vaulted great room exudes such an open, welcome feeling that it's sure to be the most popular area in this contemporary brick home

The room is exceptionally bright even in winter The rear wall rises to a gablelike peak, filled with a wealth of window glass And four skylights bathe the space in natural light

Sun-loving plants and small trees in pots flourish in the rich light Glass doors on either side of the room open onto small decks The deck on the left also is accessible from the master suite and comes outfitted with an octagonal hot tub

The great room's lofty ceiling and open floor plan make the space seem even larger than it actually is A long eating bar provides partial separation between the family living area and the kitchen. Built-in bookshelves nestle into a rectangular alcove next to the tile-hearthed fireplace

Amenities in the wide, galley-style kitchen include a work island with vegetable sink, a walk-in pantry and built-in appliances Cupboard and counter space are more than ample,

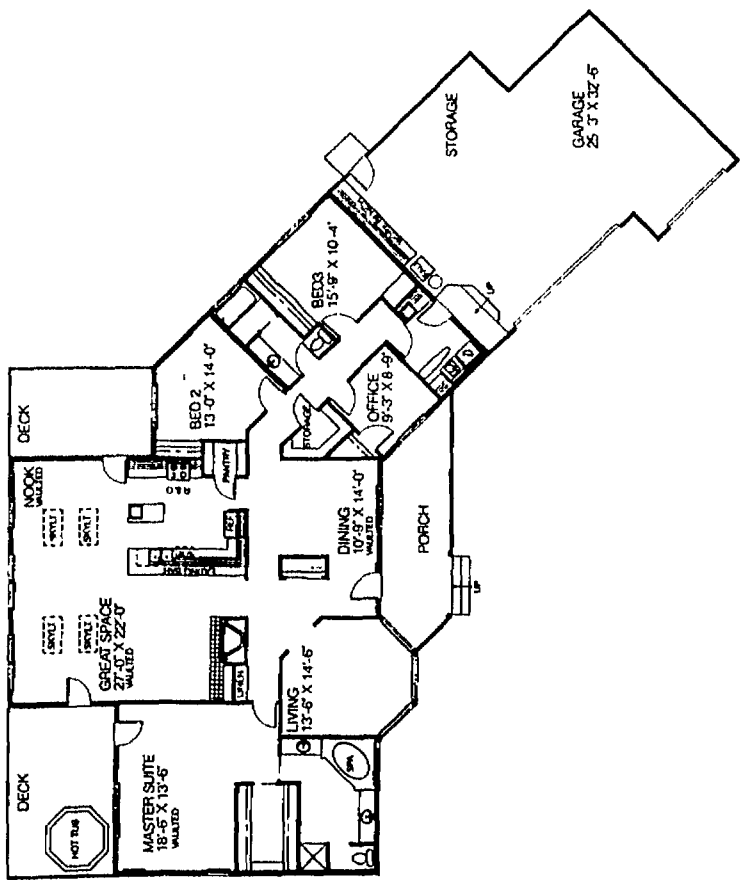

Multipaned windows add illumination and charm to the formal living spaces In the vaulted dining room, a wide window overlooks the front porch

Sleeping quarters are located on either side of the great room, with the master suite on the left and secondary bedrooms on the right The master suite has a walk-in closet and a large private bathroom with his-and hers basins, a shower and a spa

Secondary bedrooms, linen storage, utilities and an office are located in a wing that angles off to the right from the family living area. The office could serve as an additional bedroom, if needed Utilities, including a pull-down ironing board and a sanitary tub, are accessible from both the house and the three-car garage.

Features in the garage include storage space and a long workbench

STAFF WRITER

While attending a one-room school house east of Howell, Eugene Pasinski used to gather with eight classmates around a wood burner to keep warm.

On really cold days, the Earl School's outdoor water pump would freeze and Pasinski would be selected to make the half-mile trek to fetch water from another pump and then tug it back to the school house on a sled.

Today, the former Earl School building is the home of Diana Murdock. The structure, with a year-old coat of brown paint, is in better shape than ever having all the "modern" conveniences Pasinski wasn't privy to, like running water, gas heat, air conditioning and an indoor restroom.

Pasinski, a 71-year-old World War II veteran, still lives in the same home he did when he went to the one-room wooden school house between 1929 and 1932 for the third through sixth grades.

The school at 4480 Golf Club Road is just a half mile from Pasinski's home and he drives by it nearly every day.

Last year, Pasinski and classmate John O'Connor went back to their old stomping grounds and visited Murdock to see how the building and surrounding property changed since their grade-school days. Murdock occasionally talks with Pasinski about the school.

The fond memories Pasinski has about the school is one of the things Murdock likes the most about her home.

"It means a lot to know went on here," Murdock said. "Gene (Pasinski) gives the house a voice. I wish it could talk sometimes. That would be fun."

One of her favorite stories told by Pasinski involves a prank that his class played on their teacher.

"His teacher had one of the first cars around and they put skunk weed on the engine. When the car heated up it smelled to high heavens, and ha, ha," she said.

Murdock lives in the house with her daughter, Laine, 20, and spends a lot of her time in

An introduction to drip irrigation

GARDENING

By C.Z. Guest
Copley News Service

As gardeners across the country join the effort to conserve our most precious resource — water — they are discovering the many benefits of drip irrigation.

So, what exactly is drip irrigation?

Drip is the deliberate and exact amount of water to specific plantings. Using flexible plastic tubing and drippers (emitters), drip irrigation enables water to be delivered very slowly, efficiently and directly to the roots of a plant.

That means the moisture isn't evaporated by the sun or blown away by the wind, nor is any wasted on nongrowing areas, such as patios, walkways and rock gardens, where water is neither wanted nor needed.

The slow application of water, over extended periods of time, helps develop deeper, stronger roots and, ultimately, more abundant foliage and better fruits and vegetables. A simple starter system, such as a drip watering kit features all the tubing, drippers and other accessories needed to cover 200 feet.

After a gardener understands the basics, other accessories, including extra tubing and emitters, fittings, fertilizer applicators and battery-operated timers are available that will permit the expansion of an existing drip system to cover up to 5,000 square feet.

BENEFITS OF DRIP

Drip irrigation offers many benefits over traditional sprinklers. As already noted, water delivered by a drip irrigation system goes directly to where it is needed and with no waste or evaporation.

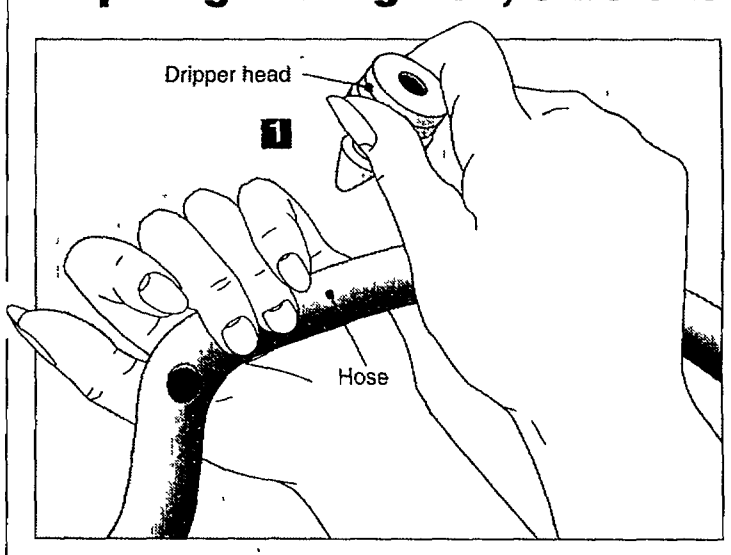

Drip irrigation, as a result, is far more cost effective than sprinklers because a drip system will dispense about a gallon of water per hour, while sprinklers distribute gallons of water per minute. That's a major difference that will be felt every time a water bill arrives over the course of a long, hot summer.

For those gardeners who are still most comfortable with sprinklers, the technology of drip irrigation offers an ideal compromise. There also are microsprinkler kits available that operate on the same principle as drip, but rely on microsprinkler "heads" rather than emitters to disperse water.

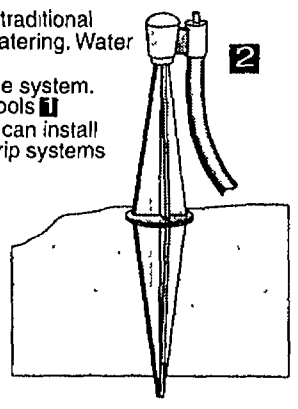

Drip irrigation equipment,

Drip irrigation: green, efficient

■ Drip irrigation wastes less water than traditional sprinkling, so it is ideal for high-volume watering. Water is delivered exactly to the point desired.
■ You can start out small and add to the system. The parts snap together without glue or tools 1.
■ If you like the effect of sprinkling, you can install minisprinklers on most drip systems 2. Drip systems also have misters.
■ Usually the drip irrigation hose runs between the rows in gardens to encourage root growth. If your water source is a pond, use a filter to prevent hose clogging. Use an anti-siphon preventer if what you are watering is higher than the water source.
■ Drip irrigation systems are available in garden centers.

Use oil soap to clean, restore wood paneling

By Gene Gary
Copley News Service

HERE'S HOW

Q. We are attempting to restore a poorly maintained home that was owned by an elderly couple who stashed junk in every corner and never cleaned a thing. We have torn out old carpeting and padding, scrubbed and painted walls and woodwork, etc.

One room is paneled in a fairly decent wood paneling. Unfortunately, this paneling is dull and grimy with embedded dirt. Could you recommend a cleaning process that might restore the paneling to satisfactory condition?

A. Try Murphy's Oil Soap, an excellent wood cleaner found in most home centers, hardware stores and some supermarkets. Another good product is Weiman Panel Bright, developed to remove dirt, grime and built-up smoke from paneling and other wood products. It also moisturizes and works to bring out the natural patina of the wood.

Once clean, maintain the paneling with lemon oil. Weiman markets a lemon oil with a sunscreen that gives additional protection. Look for these products at home centers.

Q. We have marble flooring in our kitchen and hallway. My son spilled lemonade on the kitchen floor, which caused etching on the marble. My husband hired a professional to "hone" the entire floor. Honing caused the shine to come off and I would like to know what process is necessary to bring the shine back.

A. I am not exactly sure what you mean by "honing." Many professional cleaners of marble grind it down, but they also repolish the surface. However, if the marble is in good condition, try Liquid Marble Polish (manufactured by ProSoCo Inc., P.O. Box 171677, Kansas City, KS 66117)

This polish is recommended for restoring luster to marble. It also preserves and helps protect marble and stone from staining.

Q. I have cream-colored ceramic tile in the bathroom that is cracking in many places. I would like to install another tile on top of the old. Is it possible to do this, and would it be durable? Would I use regular tile adhesive?

A. The only time it is feasible to install new tile over old is when the existing tile is in good shape with no cracking or crumbling of either the tile or the mortar.

In your situation all of the old tile should be removed. This is a messy but not difficult task

Another concern is the condition of the existing tile. There is a reason it is cracking and deteriorating. Water seepage is often the culprit in such a situation. In bathrooms and other places where water might be a problem, conventional gypsum board is not the best choice as a backing for tile installation.

In these situations, use a special water-resistant backer board or underlayment such as US Gypsum's Durock. Durock Interior Cement Board, which has a core of Portland cement and aggregate instead of gypsum, makes a durable backing for ceramic tiles in bathtub surroundings and shower stalls.

The panels come in 3-foot widths, -inch thick, and lengths of 4 feet and 6 feet. It is installed much like ordinary wallboard. Joints are sealed with self-adhesive, fiberglass mesh tape and a layer of tile-setting mortar or adhesive.

US Gypsum offers a brochure, How to Install Ceramic Tile With Durock Interior Cement Board. To obtain the brochure, or for more information, call (800) 874-4968.

One of our readers writes:

Regarding the information in your column on controlling moles in the garden, we had trouble with them in several places we have lived. I found the simplest way to get rid of them is to grow one or two castor bean plants in the garden or yard. The moles will not stay where they are grown. This is effective for quite a large area.

Note: The castor bean plant provides lovely foliage, but be aware that its beanlike seeds are poisonous. Caution should be exercised with children who might find them attractive to play with, string as beads, etc.

Animals usually have a sense about such things, but they could be dangerous to a puppy that tends to chew everything.

Realtors fight insurance legislation; Rising homeownership

try, Realtor leaders say.

Freddie Mac, a Virginia-based company, plans to require all California condo and town home complexes located in what they consider to be "high or moderate risk" earthquake areas to be covered with earthquake insurance. If the condo complex is not covered, Freddie Mac will not buy those mortgages from a primary lender. That, in effect, will prevent most lenders from making the loan in the first place

"This is a very unfair and discriminatory requirement," Hall said "It will prevent a lot of people from buying their first home, which is often a condo or town home."

Freddie Mac has divided California's zip code areas into three classifications — high, moderate and low risk. Many of the state's residents and 700,000-plus condominiums are located in high- and moderate-risk areas affected by the proposed new procedures.

The state's families in these areas, and minority populations generally, will be disproportionately affected by the new condominium earthquake insurance requirement a special report from the California Association of Realtors noted.

Nearly one-third of the state's minority families live in zip codes designated as high-risk by Freddie Mac. That's more than three times the number of minorities who live in low-risk zip code areas.

Overall, nearly 28 million Californians — 88 percent of the state's population — live in the more than 1,200 populated zip codes that Freddie Mac has flagged as high- or moderate-earthquake risk zones, according to the C.A.R. Research Division.

"California's low-income and minority condo owners and buyers are particularly vulnerable to harm from this ill-conceived Freddie Mac policy," said Ed Albers, president of C.A R. "This form of geographic redlining will most certainly block many Californians from ever achieving their dream of owning a home."

The new regulations are scheduled to go into effect this summer. The C.A.R. is leading a fight to have the plan rescinded.

"If permanently implemented, it will unfairly single out California in this discriminatory policy. We're working with all affected parties to find a better solution," Albers said.

The Realtor association has sponsored four urgency bills and a joint legislative resolution in the California state Legislature aimed at reversing the Freddie Mac policy. Those bills are now working their way through the legislative process.

On the national level, a Natural Disaster Protection Partnership Act has been introduced in Congress. The legislation's intent is to solve problems facing homeowners in disaster-prone areas such as California, Florida and the Carolinas, and to solve them in a way that will be fair and equitable to homeowners and prospective homeowners.

Q. Is homeownership currently on the rise?

A. The homeownership curve again is on the upswing. Despite the obvious benefits of owning a home, an increasing number of Americans have slipped out of reach of the cherished goal of homeownership. From 1940 to 1980, homeownership rates rose steadily, from 43 percent of all households to 65 percent.

Since 1980, the overall ownership rate declined to about 64 percent While the rate began rising again in 1993, the current homeownership rate is still well below its historic peak, according to a report from United Homeowners Association.

To make homeownership a reality for more families and achieve an all-time high homeownership rate by the end of the century, the Clinton administration is working with more than 50 key public and private sector organizations to form a National Homeownership Strategy

"The key to this new initiative is the establishment of an unprecedented partnership among these organizations " the UHA report stated "By developing an ambitious strategy and by effectively coordinating the resources and commitments of these national organizations, the partnership will increase home-buying opportunities for all families, including those who now consider homeownership unattainable "

Questions may be used in future columns; personal responses should not be expected. Send inquiries to James M Woodard, Copley News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, CA 92112-0190.

An introduction to drip irrigation; digging out clematis

from kits to accessories, is readily available at most major garden centers, retailers and chain stores, and the systems are easy to install because no glue or tools are needed. The various tubes, drippers and fittings can all be connected by simply "squashing" them together like you would the tubing for a fish tank filter to an air pump.

To ensure that you get the most out of your drip system, be sure to carefully read and follow the instructions that come with whatever drip irrigation equipment you decide to buy.

These days, with water resources at an all-time low, and water bills at an all time high, it's time to look for smart, cost-effective watering practices With all of its benefits, it's easy to see why drip irrigation is becoming more and more popular with home gardeners

Q. I am considering digging out my 6-year-old sweet autumn clematis (c. maximowiciziana: c. paniculata) because it has never bloomed, and I'm getting somewhat discouraged.

I thought I had planted it in a perfect spot. The roots are shaded (as they should be) by two rose bushes and the top receives late-morning and afternoon sun. But the plant only produces 8- to 10-foot runners with dark-green leaves.

What can I do to make it bloom? When should it be pruned?

A Let me help you get your clematis blooming. Please don't dig it up! According to your description of the leaves, your plant appears to be thriving. I suspect you have been overfertilizing it, and that's why you have such fabulous vegetative growth (foliage) at the expense of reproductive growth (no flowers).

So stop right now, no more fertilizing. Simply mulch the plant and keep the soil moist throughout the growing season. If that doesn't work, test the pH of the soil and fertility level at your local cooperative extension service and follow their advice.

If you wish to prune this variety of clematis, it should be done in early spring before growth begins. Sweet autumn clematis blooms in late summer or early fall on the current season's growth By the way, this plant is one of my favorites.

This phonograph/lamp from the early 1900s would probably be worth about $2,000.

By Anne McCollam
Copley News Service

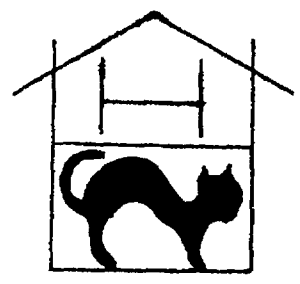

ANTIQUES

Q. This photo is of an electric phonograph that also doubles as a table lamp. The top of the lampshade lifts up to reveal a phonograph. There are two light bulbs below the turntable. A speaker is housed in the metal base of the lamp.

The words "Burns — Pollack Elec. Mfg. Co. — Indiana Harbor, Ind.," are on the base. Could you please provide any information on my phonograph/lamp?

A. Electric lighting and phonographs were just two of the innovations of the early 1900s. American ingenuity being what it is, manufacturing a combination lamp and phonograph probably seemed like a good idea at the time.

Your phonograph/lamp would probably be worth about $2,000 in good condition.

Q. Thirty years ago, I purchased several porcelain figurines at an estate sale. I have been unsuccessful in tracing their origin. The previous owner thought they were from Germany. This mark is on the bottom of each piece.

Each figurine is a female playing a sport, such as tennis or golf. They stand approximately 10 inches high. Can you tell me when they were made and what they are worth?

A. Your sports figurines were made by Hertwig & Co., located in Katzhutte, Thuringia, Germany. The firm operated from 1864 to 1945. This mark was used from 1932 to 1945

Each figurine would probably be worth about $175 to $200 in good condition.

Q. We have an old brass bed that is in excellent condition. It has removable and interchangeable brass casters. The foot of the bed is marked "Rome Bed — Bakelite Lacquer."

What can you tell me about our bed?

A. Brass beds became fashionable in the late 1800s. Montgomery Ward featured 50 models in 1897.

If a bed is marked "Bakelite" it was made in the 20th century. American chemist Leo H. Baekeland invented the synthetic resin in 1909. The finish saved on arduous polishing and protected the metal.

Brass beds similar to yours generally are in the $1,200 to $1,500 range.

Q. I have a pair of plaster of Paris figurines. They are bowlers and stand 11 inches high. The fellow I purchased them from said they were in his family for over 100 years.

Anything you can tell me about my figurines will be appreciated.

A. You have a pair of chalkware figurines. European potters made chalkware copies of the higher-priced English Staffordshire figurines of the 19th century. They were usually made of plaster of Paris and then painted with watercolors or oil. Many were sold door to door by peddlers.

Your figurines were made in the mid- to late-1800s. Each would probably be worth about $200 to $225 in good condition.

Q. My mother, who is 77, gave me a child's set of Blue Willow dishes. She said they belonged to her mother. They are marked "Made in Japan," and are in perfect condition.

The set consists of four each cups, saucers, plates; and a teapot, cream pitcher, sugar bowl, a platter and gravy boat. Any information you can provide will be appreciated.

A. Willow ware was first made in England in the 1700s. This pattern has been widely produced by potters in Germany, Japan and America. It is still being produced today. Porcelain marked "Made in Japan" was made after 1921.

Children's porcelain dishes are highly collectible. It is not uncommon for the prices of children's dishes to be comparable to the prices of adult dishes. Your set of Blue Willow dishes would probably be valued about $235 to$300.

BOOK REVIEW

The outstanding format seen in "The New Book of Buddy 'L' Toys, Volume I" by Albert W. McCollough continues in "Volume II." This book covers categories from "Games and Novelties" to "Wrecking Trucks."

Complete details of each toy not only simplify identification, but enable collectors to know if a toy is intact.

Readers will learn how Buddy "L" toys survived World War II, how many toys were made over 50 years and discover how to tell when a specific toy was made.

"The New Book of Buddy 'L' Toys, Volume II" can be ordered from Kalmbach Publishing Co., 21027 Crossroads Circle, P.O. Box 1612, Waukesha, WI 53187. The price is $49.95 for each volume. It is also available in antique shops and bookstores.

Address your questions to Anne McCollam, P.O. Box 490, Notre Dame, IN 46556. For a personal response, include picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $5 per item (one item at a time).

The old Earl School has history and is a unique home

the main room where classes were taught.

"It's fun to sit there and think about what it was like back then," she said. "Gene's stories kind of trigger my imagination."

Not much history about the school is known except that it burned to the ground as a victim of arson in the mid-1920s and was rebuilt shortly after. Murdock believes the school closed in 1938.

Luther Spaulding, 85, was the brother of the late Jesse Spaulding who owned the school house for 40 years after it was no longer a school. Luther, of Howell, remembers when the first school was burned by a teenager who lived on a nearby farm. The arsonist was caught and "sent away," Spaulding said.

"His mind was off center somewhere. He wasn't quite right," Spaulding said. "He got an excitement to see things on fire."

Murdock believes her home is on the same foundation of the school house that burned.

Murdock went to a large school in Redford, but thinks it would have been neat to attend a one-room school like Pasinski and others did.

"It would've been fun," she said "The one-on-one contact with a teacher must have been great. I bet they learned more. They were individuals then rather than the student in the second seat in the third row."

Murdock's family purchased 20-acres containing the school house in 1968 from Jesse Spaulding. The Murdocks' intended to move from their Latson Road home to the school house, which they planned to renovate.

But with four children and one more to come, they decided any changes to the school house to accommodate the large family would change the school too much. Instead, they built a home on the property behind the school.

In 1972, Murdock's father, Roger Lee, purchased the school from his daughter's family and renovated it significantly to make it his home. Lee removed a dropped ceiling inside the building to reveal the high peak roof of the school and installed a loft for his sleeping area.

When her father died, Murdock got the school house back and her family — now smaller — moved into the school house in 1986 after placing some additions onto the back of the building.

Despite the renovations and additions, the main characteristics, like original windows and the bell tower at the building's peak, still remain, keeping a school-feel to the structure.

When it was a school, some students, including Howell resident Evelyn Fogle, would place potatoes on a shelf in the coal and wood burning furnace in the morning. By lunchtime, the potatoes were baked and ready for eating, Fogle said.

Today, Murdock boils potatoes and conjures up other meals over a gas stove sitting in the spot where the teacher's desk used to be.

Anyone wanting to see the Earl School can do so first-hand as it is part of the 30th Annual Great American Homes Home Tour sponsored by the Livingston County Republican Women. The tour is 1-5 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 9. For tickets or more information, call 546-3505 or 546-9301.

Can't find an old school house? Build One

By Matthew Bach
STAFF WRITER

There are probably a dozen or more one-room school houses still standing in Livingston County and a few are permanent homes to families.

But there's not one school house/home like the one at 1116 GallowaySt. in Howell.

This school house was built by Karen and Roger Eichen just 18 months and was never the site of any classroom activities.

The Eichens moved into the house on Dec. 10, 1993, after living in a two-and-half-story Victorian home on Wetmore Street for over 22 years.

Karen, a financial assistant for Howell Public Schools, said she loved her old Victorian home, but it became just too big after their children had moved out.

In looking for a new home she had two criteria — to still live in the city and have a Victorian or unusual style house. After discussing ideas with a builder, the result was a two-story, three bedroom school house.

The home was built to resemble an old one-room school house in every possible way, including a working bell at the building's peak, arched windows and a flag pole.

On the inside, Karen has spent countless hours decorating each room with the school-related motif, including a red apple-shaped wicker basket, apple wall paper trim and a chalk board by the telephone charging "5 cents" per call.

Karen said having a school house for her home was not a long-time dream, but is something she and her husband love. Since it was built, about 40 to 50 people have stopped by to inquire about the unusual building. Her husband has been an employee for Detroit Edison Co. for over 30 years.

"We've always liked unusual things," she said. "The school house was just something different or unusual and we saw the possibilities for doing some unusual things with it."

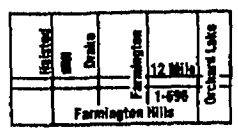

Passerbys can look for a water pump with a tin cup in the front yard in the near future.

"I'm looking," Karen said.

Making people feel good is Linda's calling

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Writer

There are few things in this life that feel better than a pedicure.

At least that's the opinion of one Novi resident. According to Linda DeHore, your soles can have a divine impact on your soul.

"Having your feet done," she said, "is a real luxury."

She ought to know. DeHore, owner of Linda's Hair and More at 43535 Grand River in Novi, has been making folks feel good for nearly three decades.

And herself, too.

"I love being with people," the hair stylist said. "I love the creative end and the education end of it. There's always something new."

Working with hair has been a life-long calling for DeHore. Growing up in a large family, she had a chance to fix her sisters' hair.

"I always fooled with hair as a kid," she said.

A native of the Detroit metropolitan area, she got more serious about learning the trade. DeHore studied hair care at the State College of Beauty in the late 1960s.

Since then, she's been working with clients and having fun at her job.

"I've been a working hairdresser for 27 years," DeHore commented.

Much has changed in the business over the years.

"Products are so much better now," she said, "because you don't have to ruin hair with chemicals."

Coloring and other treatments had ill affects on hair when she first started styling.

"You don't want to strip the hair of all the needed ingredients," said DeHore.

Unlike some other shops, she said she'll never push products on clients.

"I'm more into seeing healthy hair and nails," said DeHore, "than into making money.

"My clients trusts me."

The Novi shop, which is just west of Novi Road under the pink awning, opened about a year ago. DeHore bought the business, which was previously known as Classic Hair Concept.

With a lot of marketing and advertising, Hair and More has done better than its predecessor.

"I think I'm getting a better response," DeHore said, "because of the awning."

Remodeling has helped as well. Much of the interior, including walls and the floor, has been redone in the last 10 months.

"Basically I changed the whole inside," DeHore said. "It was pretty drab and old fashioned."

Linda's has strong male clientele

Hair and More employs five people. DeHore said all are very experienced in styling, hair care and other services.

Cutting, of course, is the businesses main staple. A basic cut is $15 for women and $12 for men.

DeHore said about 40 percent of her customers are male.

"I do everybody," the 17-year Novi resident said, "from young kids to older and everyone in between."

Hair styles are done for $12 and $20 for a "special occasion," DeHore said. Perms start at $40 while a tint goes for $20 and highlights for $40.

And let's not forget the pedicure. For $40 your feet get the full treatment of massage, nail trimming and polishing.

"It's worth every penny," DeHore said.

Nail manicures are $12 while makeup application and waxing are also done.

Linda's Hair and More is open Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m., Friday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Linda DeHore, owner of Linda's Hair and More.

Business Briefs

JAMES BAKER, PAMELA BURKE, JEANNE FREUND, BEVERLY GILBERT and MARK ROLFES were recently certified by the Real Estate Training Institute of Charlotte, North Carolina, as certified buyer representatives. These successful candidates are realtors with ERA RYMAL SYMES of Novi.

TAVERN ON THE GREEN RESTAURANT recently opened in Northville. Featuring French Bistro dining, the tavern is adjacent to Northville Greens Golf Course on Haggerty Road between Five and Six Mile roads.

Dollars and Sense

Dear J.R.

We are a 40-year-old married couple. Our home in the Novi/Northville area is now paid for and valued at approximately $200,000. We recently inherited $650,000 after taxes. We would like to retire in about eight years. Until then we would like to invest some of the money wisely, but are confused on which investments would be best for us.

It is also difficult to find someone trustworthy for advice. What would you do if the money belonged to you?

Thanks for your help.

P.S. We are not risk takers and would like to live comfortably, however, leave plenty of money for our grandchildren and children. Would you recommend a living trust?

Great question, I will have to answer this as if a client were asking these questions. Unlike yourselves, I do take a high level of risk in a good portion of my investments, and it has paid off.

It sounds like the two of you are not experienced investors, so consider using managed programs as much as possible, such as, Variable Annuities, Mutual Funds or a hired money manager.

In the case of bonds, you may want to purchase individual government securities, however, with 2.5- or five-year maturities for now. The chart below can help you decide what areas to invest and what percentage of your money to put in each area.

There are many funds and manager to choose from. For a list, call 1-800-832-8053 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. I will answer the Living Trust part of the question at a later date.

Dear J.R.

I am contemplating the purchase of a new home. In the process of searching for a mortgage and the costs associated with obtaining a loan, I have encountered some terms I'm not familiar with. Some lenders have quoted me "origination fee," "discount points," and "points." What are they speaking of?

Pointless

Dear Pointless:

I'll let Jim Staschke, a Senior Mortgage Consultant with First Financial Mortgage Corporation of Northville, answer your question. Staschke has been a mortgage consultant in the Novi-Northville area for the past 13 years.

An origination fee covers the lender's administrative costs in processing the loan. It is often expressed as a percentage of the loan, generally one percent. Loan discount points or points are a one-time charge used to adjust the interest rate on the loan to what market conditions allow. Each "point" is equal to one percent of the mortgage amount. For example, if a lender charges two points on a $75,000 loan, this amounts to a charge of $1,500.

Each point that you pay up front, will reduce the interest rate of your loan. A loan with no points will have a higher interest rate than one with a point or two. Try to consider points as being a way to control your cash flow after your purchase. In some cases, the amount of the loan may be increased to pay the points, usually just on a refinance of an existing mortgage.

J.R. Atiyeh is a Certified Financial Planner in the Novi-Northville area. He is president of Financial Planning & Investments Inc. Please send all questions to J.R. Atiyeh, CFP, P.O. Box 1011, Novi, Mich. 48376 or phone 1-800-832-8053. This column is brought to you by the Novi Chamber of Commerce Financial Roundtable.

Easing the tax bite of a home sale

Money Management

The challenge of selling your home may be nothing compared to the challenge of paying the taxes incurred if you sell your home at a profit. Luckily, there are ways of easing the tax bite. According to the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants, the trick is understanding how the gains from the sale of your home are treated.

DEFERRAL STRATEGY

If you purchase or construct and live in a new principal residence within two years before or two years after the date you complete the sale of your old one, and the new principal residence costs at least as much as the adjusted sale price of your old home, you can defer the entire gain. This deferral tactic applies only to the sale of your principal residence. A vacation or second home does not qualify for the postponement.

You must defer payment of the tax no matter how many times you buy and sell as long as each transaction meets the deferral qualification. Unless a move is job-related, you are limited to one deferral in a two-year period. It also is important to understand that the tax you owe on your profit is merely deferred, not forgiven. You still owe the full amount. However, as long as you continue to own your home and meet the deferral requirements, you do not have to pay the tax.

The deferral rule may lead you to wonder whether you can defer taxes forever. The answer is "maybe." If you were to die before paying taxes on your deferred gains, the house would become part of your estate. In that case, any state or federal estate taxes would depend on the overall value of all your assets. The fair market value placed on the residence becomes the new basis of the residence to your beneficiaries. However, your estate would likely avoid all income taxes if the residence is sold promptly.

But what happens if, in the future, you decide to either replace your old home with a less expensive one or become a renter? According to the tax law, you still may be able to avoid paying taxes by using a once-in-a-lifetime exclusion that's available to older taxpayers.

THE $125,000 EXCLUSION

If either you or your spouse is age 55 or older when you sell a principal residence, you can exclude up to $125,000 of profit as long as neither of you has exercised this option in the past. (If you're married filing separately, the amount you may exclude is $62,500.) To qualify for the exclusion, you must have owned and lived in the house as your principal residence for at least three of the five years preceding the date of the sale.

You can take the $125,000 exclusion only once in a lifetime, so it's important to use it wisely. For instance, if you have a small gain from a sale that doesn't qualify for tax deferral and you anticipate additional real estate transactions in the future, you may be better off paying the tax now and saving the exclusion for use at another time. If you're over age 55 and plan to marry someone who's already used the exclusion, consider selling your house and taking the tax exclusion before you marry. Otherwise, you'll lose it forever.

MORE TAX-SAVING STRATEGIES

Another way to reduce the tax bite is to be sure you haven't overlooked any qualified home improvement expenses that could reduce the sale price of your home. In calculating your home's adjusted basis, be sure to add to the original purchase price the cost of all permanent home improvements, such as replacing the roof, installing hardwood floors and landscaping your yard. You can also include certain closing costs along with other expenses you paid in connection with buying your house.

Another way to lower any taxes you might otherwise owe is to time the sale of your home to coincide with a year in which your income will be less and your tax rate lower.

FINALIZING THE PAPERWORK

As you might expect, all home sales require some IRS paperwork. Whether you owe, defer or exclude the taxes due on the sale of the home, you'll have to file Form 2119, Sale of your Home, to report the sale.

For more detailed information relating to the tax aspects of selling your home, consult a CPA.

How much house can you afford to buy

Knowing how much house you can afford to buy is one of the most important questions to answer before you start your house search; it's also one that you are very likely to answer incorrectly.

"In today's interest rate market, a rule of thumb is that you can qualify for a mortgage that is about three times your annual gross salary," explained Janet L. Compo, president of the Building Industry Association of Southeastern Michigan and chief executive officer of James D. Compo Inc. of Farmington Hills. "But that doesn't take into account down payment and debt issues."

More specifically, you should spend no more than 28 percent of your monthly gross income on mortgage payments (which includes taxes and insurance premiums) plus utilities. So, if your annual gross income is $40,000, you can spend up to $933 on housing each month.

The other rule of thumb is that your housing payment, plus your other monthly debts – like car payments and credit card payments – should not total more than 36 percent of your monthly gross income.

Continuing the example, that means you can spend $1,199 on housing plus installment debt. So, if your house payment, plus utilities, comes to $933, that means your other monthly debt cannot total more than $266 if you want to qualify for a mortgage.

"The best way to find out if you qualify for a loan is to visit with a lender or real estate agent and have them 'prequalify' you," Compo said. "This will give you a good idea of whether you can qualify for a mortgage and for how much."

With mortgages guaranteed by the Veterans Administration or the Federal Housing Administration these percentages, or ratios as they're known in the mortgage business, will be higher, giving you more breathing room when trying to qualify.

Now that you know how much of a house payment you can qualify for, the next factor of the equation is what price range you should be looking in. For this, you'll need the help of your lender, real estate agent, or an amortization chart or book, which you can find at bookstores.

In the example, to meet the 28 percent housing payment guideline, you will need to stay in the $85,000 to $105,000 price range, assuming a 30-year mortgage at 9 percent interest.

Even if you meet the qualifying ratios and can find a home in that price range, you may not have enough savings for the down payment on the home. Down payments range from zero for a loan backed by the VA to a little less than 5 percent for an FHA-backed loan. Down payment requirements on conventional loans range from 5 percent for people with squeaky-clean credit histories to 10 to 25 percent.

A 5 percent down payment on a $100,000 house is $5,000. In addition to a down payment, you'll also need enough cash for closing costs, which typically range from 3 to 5 percent of the loan, or in this case, $3,000 to $5,000.

Once you know the size of the house payment and price range of the home, you can begin house hunting with knowledge and confidence.

Americans are upbeat about their incomes

"Americans are optimistic about their own family fortunes for the coming year, but they're less upbeat about the national economy, according to a nationwide survey conducted for Lutheran Brotherhood.

More than half (53 percent) of the 1,000 heads of household interviewed expect their families will be better off in 1995 than in 1994, balancing their income, savings and investments against their financial obligations.

Forty-four percent expect to be no better off, or about the same. Asked how they expect their total family income before taxes will fare in the near year, 45 percent expect an increase, 44 percent expect no change, and just 10 percent expect a decrease.

Although Americans generally appear optimistic about their own short-term financial future, they're less confident in the national economy. Only 29 percent think the U.S. economy will become better in 1995 compared to 1994, versus 26 percent who think it will become worse.

More than four in 10 (43 percent) think the nation's economy will stay the same.

Many Americans also see difficult financial times ahead for children. Asked about babies born in 1995, 38 percent said the newest generation will be worse off than the respondents when they reach the same age. Only 31 percent said those born in 1995 will be better off, and 24 percent expect the newborns to experience about the same financial position when they grow up.

"Ironically, Americans are confident that they'll improve their own financial lot in 1995, but that optimism doesn't translate beyond their own homes," says Rolf Bjelland, executive vice president and chief investment officer of Lutheran Brotherhood.

"Despite their own success, Americans harbor an undercurrent of economic uneasiness about the country and the future."

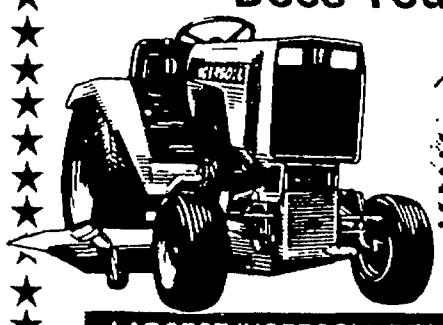

The sense of optimism about family income and overall family finances for 1995 is slightly higher among men than women, parents than non-parents, and urban versus rural residents

"LADIES CHOICE"

Dear reader:

Welcome to the Eighth Annual Michigan '50s Festival, and to The Novi News' special '50s Festival supplement, which serves as the official guide for the activities.

If you are not familiar with Novi or the festival, you should know that over the years, the festival has come to be the central event in the city's annual calendar. It provides the focal point for year ... that one event for which everybody who is anybody in town turns out.

It is comparable to the founder's day festivals so many other towns have. Since Novi's growth as a community really began in the 1950s, it is an appropriate theme.

It's just that our founders day festival is so much more fun because it celebrates rock 'n' roll and hot rods, and because the main activity of many Novi residents over the five days of the event are socializing in the beer tent and dancing late into the night.

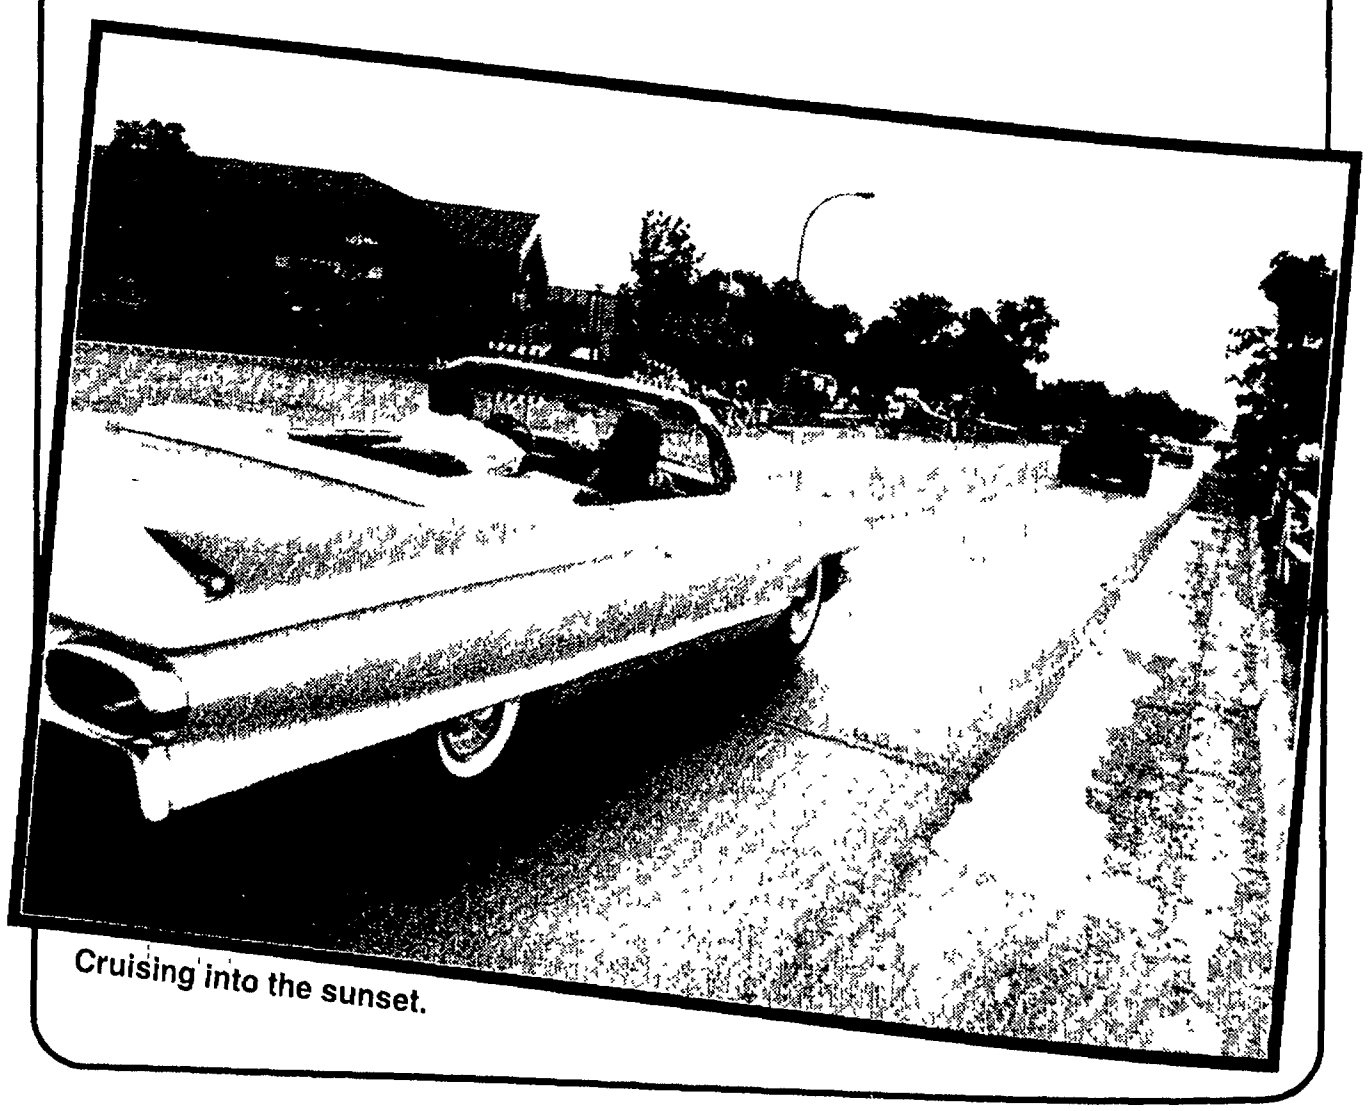

I don't want you to think we are too wild. The family tent provides an excellent place for parents to go with their children and hear the kinds of music they both like to listen to.

We always enjoy the festival. As a result, we have good time putting together this tab too. We hope you enjoy reading it half as much as we did writing it.

'50s Fest just keeps getting bigger

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

Shine up those saddle shoes and poof out that poodle skirt – the 8th annual Michigan '50s Festival is back in town featuring five full days of the coolest entertainment in town.

The five day fun-filled event will be in town to rock around the clock July 26-30 and be centered at the Novi Expo Center located at I-96 and Novi Road.

Three headliner acts will replace last year's lead entertainer, so says Cindy Stewart, president of the '50s Festival board of directors, and each act is expected to be a big draw.

The Shirelles, Johnny Tillotson and The Diamonds will share center stage inside the Entertainment Tent this year. The tent, the biggest draw to the annual fest, opens Wednesday night at 7 p.m., free of charge, and will continue rocking until the festival closes Sunday at midnight. There'll be a cover charge Thursday, Friday, and Saturday and admission is limited to festival goers 21 years and older.

"We thought it would be a bigger draw," Stewart said about boosting the headliner from one to three acts this year.

The Shirelles, The Diamonds and Johnny Tillotson will be the headliners in the Entertainment Tent. But there rock and roll doesn't stop there. Rocky & the Rollers, Tracey Lynne, The Fantastics and the Teen Angels are all lined up as warmup performers

As if festival organizers have to worry about attendance at the annual fest, which has grown in popularity since it started in 1988.

Last year's attendance was estimated between 100,000 and 150,000 people, but organizers are anticipating an even bigger crowd this year.

"Every year the festival keeps growing and growing," Stewart said. "More and more people keep finding out about it and there's more free family entertainment than ever."

Organizers have a tendency to gauge attendance at the festival based on the number of entries each year brings. This year organizers are expecting more than 20 food booths, more than 100 crafters from 40 Michigan cities and across the country.

Crafters will start showing their wares on Friday from noon till 9 p.m. inside the Expo Center. Craft booths will be open Saturday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The vintage car show and ever popular Grand River Cruise is expected to hit an all time high this year with more than 1,200 participants. Both events take place Sunday, July 20.

The car show, with more than 24 class car categories, takes place in the Town Center Office Building lot on Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The Cruise takes off down Grand River Avenue from 6 to 9 p.m.

The Novi Rotary will be raffling off a 1995 Pontiac Firebird and a 300 horse power, 350 cubic inch special performance engine. Tickets for both drawings will be available at all festival events. The drawing will be held Sunday evening at 9 p.m.

There's a whole new lineup to this year's festival, so says Stewart. Among the new attractions are three additional nights of casino gambling in the Las Vegas Tent, featuring roulette, blackjack and craps. Stamp collector's will love this one. The Novi Post Office will be on hand Saturday all day to "cancel" Elvis Presley and Marilyn Monroe stamps.

And new this year, even better than David Letterman's stupid pet tricks is the Prestige Rock-n-Roll K-9's who will perform tricks to tunes of the '50s. As part of the dog gone act, the canines will race to the music from the '50's and jump over pink Cadillacs.

But wait, there's more. Lots more. And something for every member of the family. The Muscular Dystrophy Association will be hosting a fundraiser and 50-50 raffle, while offering one of 100 activities for kids. Other ideas for the kids includes putt-putt golf, or a stop at Rick's Theater to catch a show and visit with his ventriloquist, or say a quick hello to Rosco the Clown. There will also be kiddie crafts, animal shows and a petting farm.

Friday through Sunday local dance schools will be performing throughout the festival or stop by and catch Danny Vann, an Elvis impersonator, at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, July 29 and again on Saturday, July 30.

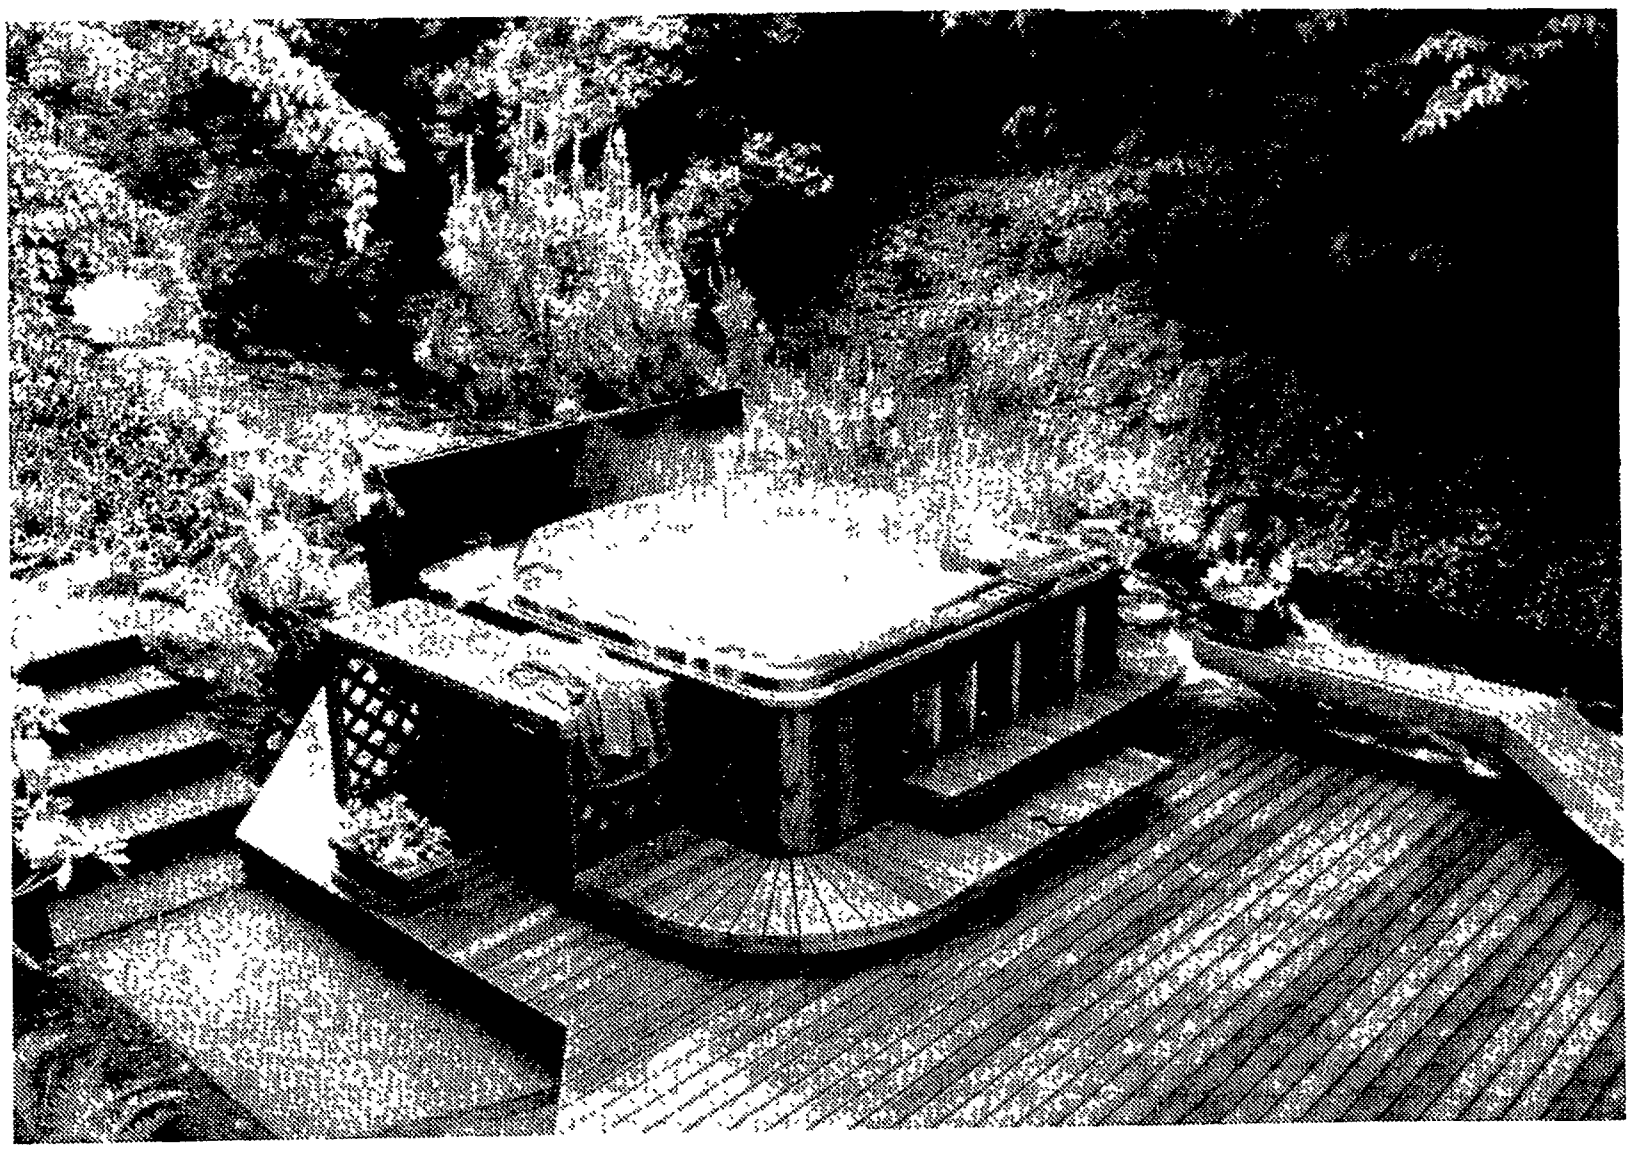

For fitness minded festival goers, Time Warner Cable is hosting a 5K run/walk on Thursday and Novi Parks and Recreation is hosting a softball tourney Friday through Sunday at Power Park behind the Novi Civic Center on Ten Mile Road.

"It's bigger and better than ever," said City Manager Ed Kriewall about this year's Michigan '50s Festival.

The music of the '50s revived for festival

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

When you stop and think about the '50s plenty of images flash into mind. The birth of the television, suburbs, poodle skirts, drive-ins, Korea, sock hops, DA's, and cars with fins.

However the most enduring quality of the decade, the needle that wove the fabric of society, was music.

From Chubby Checker to Elvis, Jackie Wilson whipping the fans at Boston's Back Bay Theater into a frenzy, or Sam Cooke soulfully crooning "You Send Me," the '50s provided a new foundation for all the music that we listened to in the decades that followed.

So popular is the music from that era, we still celebrate it decades later. Today, people of all ages still love to tap their feet to the music that made the jukebox famous. If your a fan of the music of the 50s then the Michigan '50s Festival is your place to be.

On tap this year are headline acts that are sure to pack the entertainment tent.

DIAMONDS ARE FOREVER

One of the more successful group of artists to come out of the '50s, The Diamonds, sees the durable music of the '50s as a lesson as much about the future as it is about the past.

Johnny Tillotson

It's been about 30 years since the quartet released their first hit entitled "Little Darlin'," but the group has been pleased to find a growing audience still today.

In 1987 they released a new album entitled Diamonds are Forever, which showcases the diverse musical backgrounds of Bob Duncan, Gary Cech, Jerry Siggins and Gary Owens. The first two singles released from the album, "Just a Little Bit" and "Two Kinds of a Woman" both made the Billboard Hot Country Singles Top 100 chart.

With the ground work established by the acceptance of the new album, The Diamonds are looking towards new creative projects for the future. The group believes the challenge is to record new songs that have the style and sound of today, while staying true to The Diamonds original sound.

The Diamonds are the feature performance in the Entertainment Tent Saturday, July 29, beginning at 8 p.m.

ERA Rymal Symes for "Jerry's Kids"

VISIT A MYSTICAL CASTLE!

Imagine your child exploring a mystical castle with 140 feet of tunnels or whirlwind of flying balloons. Those are just a couple of activities that ERA Rymal Symes will be hosting during the Novi 50's Festival in Novi. Young & old are invited to partake. A $1 donation per event will support the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA). ERA is the sole corporate sponsor of MDA in the real estate industry and to date has raised nearly $20 million of aide in the fight against 40 neuromuscular diseases. Our success depends on your participation -- see you there!

Brett Marquardt, Michigan Representative for Muscular Dystrophy Association, gives ERA Rymal Symes of Novi a "pep talk" about their coming 50's Festival fund-raising effort.
Brett will be a special guest at the festival Mayor's Reception on Wednesday, July 26.

SOLDIER BOY

The Shirelles sang their way into America's band halls, soda parlors and high school gymnasiums with such memorable hits as "Tonight's the Night," "This is Dedicated to the One I Love," and of course the groups biggest single "Soldier Boy."

The group began singing together while still attending high school in Passaic, New Jersey, and originally signed with Tiara Records – which later became the legendary Scepter Records.

They have performed at night clubs and major concert sites all over the world, including the Palladium in London, the Olympia, in Paris, and Radio City Music Hall, in New York City.

They were regulars on American Bandstand, and have been interviewed on numerous talk shows.

You can catch The Shirelles as the feature performance in the Entertainment Tent Friday, July 28, beginning at 8 p.m.

KEEP ON ROLLING

The four-member band – Dave Parker, Greg Cellini, Corby Anderson and Gerry Seader – is an experienced touring act that has wowed audiences for about 15 years. Covering a wide range of music, the group has played concert halls and clubs across the country.

Their extensive world-wide touring experience has found them supporting artists such as Chuck Berry, Fabian, Peter Noone, Bo Diddley, The Shirelles and Little Anthony. The group, which some music critics have considered the "best in the business," have also performed many shows with Wolfman Jack and various other radio and television personalities.

So whether you like dancing or just listening to "good old Rock and Roll," Rocky and the Rollers is a group you shouldn't miss at this year's 50s Festival.

You can dance to the music of Rocky and the Rollers in the Entertainment Tent Thursday, July 27, from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m.; Friday, July 28, from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m.; and Saturday, July 29, from 8 p.m. 1 a.m.

JOHNNY ON THE SPOT

Johnny Tillotson comes to Novi to perform at the '50s Festival with a long list of top 40 hits under his belt. The songwriter-performer will kick off the musical portion of the festival.

Beginning with his hit "Poetry in Motion," Tillotson has recorded numerous hits including, "Without You," "Dreamy Eyes," "Send Me the Pillow You Dream On," "Out of My Mind," "She Understands Me" and "Heartaches by

Kids still say darndest things

> "I like to listen to (Elvis) when I listen to the oldies in my mom's car . He's awesome. Why do you think he's still alive?"
>
> — Tony Brodeur, 10

Art Linkletter showed America on House Party that "kids say the darndest things." Well, kids are still saying them, but now they are saying the darndest things about the '50s.

The Novi News went to the city's Camp Lakeshore program and queried youngster about what they know about that famous decade.

Do you know who Elvis is?

"He was a singer. He was the King of Rock."

"My mom kind of likes him. We listen to him when we go to my Grandma's."

What do you know about life in the 1950s.

"Things were cheaper. Life was harder and they had milkmen back then."

"Back then boys never wanted to be nurses and girls never wanted to be doctors. Today, my Dad's a nurse."

"Kids back then had less to worry about. They didn't have to worry about computers, pollution and ozone layer holes. Back then they didn't have to worry about that."

> "School's were uphill both ways, My Mom and Dad told me. That's why parents had to walk so much."
>
> — Jason Bates, 9

What would you like about living in the 1950s? What were the kids like back then?

"I would have met Elvis."

"Kids back then dressed funny. Instead of wearing clothes like ours, they wore tuxedos."

"I'm not even sure if they even wore words on their shirts."

"They thought they were normal, but to us those kids seem goofy."

"ALL the boys wore ties, all the time."

What do you think kids in the 1950s did to entertain themselves? What kind of toys did they have?

"I don't think they even played tag then."

"They played more with other kids because they didn't have Nintendo or Sega to keep them busy in the house."

"We play more outside than they did. Because we have street hockey and rollerblades. We watch a lot more TV and awesome Red Wings games."

"Kids were boring back then. They only played boring games like marbles."

"We don't daydream unless we're in school."

> — Justin Gavin, 11

What were the cars like in the 1950s?

"Back then cars cost a couple hundreds. Now they are a couple thousands."

Annual Cruise Grand River set for Sunday

By CAROL WORKENS
Staff Writer

The Grand River Cruise is set to begin at 6 p.m. on Sunday, July 30, and is open to anyone with a car built in 1974 or earlier. Some 1,200 cars took part in the cruise last year.

The three-hour closed loop Cruise will start and finish from the staging area on Eleven Mile Road. The loop will be between Twelve Mile Road and Ten Mile Road on Meadowbrook and on Grand River between Novi Road and Haggerty.

The eighth annual show is expected to draw cars from Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Canada.

Preregistration for the Classic Car Show is $12. At the door, the fee will be $15. Those choosing only to cruise Grand River only are charged $5.

The Novi Rotary Club drawing for the 1995 Firebird Formula with a 300 HP 350 cubic inch special performance engine, will be held between 9 and 10 p.m. at the festival Entertainment Tent. The engine has been donated by Keford Collision and Don Massey Cadillac.

Raffle tickets are available at all '50s Festival events.

"All applicable traffic laws apply during the Grand River Cruise and will be enforced," commented Lt. Gerald Burnham of the Novi Police Department. "The cruise is not an invitation to speed or squeal tires."

The Novi Rotary will give away this 1995 Firebird.

Festival adds to pot of local charities

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Writer

Is there anyone who hasn't dreamed of owning their own brand new shinny red sports car?

For one lucky Michigan 50's Festival goer this year, that dream will become a reality. The Novi Rotary club will help close this year's festival with a bang by raffling off a 1995 Firebird Formula.

"It's a loaded car," said Rotarian Keith Wilson, "and it's bright red."

The sleek set of wheels comes with a 350 cubic inch Corvette engine. It's also equipped with one other handy item.

"A full warranty," said Wilson.

In years past, the Rotary has raffled off and older car that tied in with the festival's theme. It was time for a change this summer, however.

"We had a hard time finding something nice," said Wilson, who headed the Rotary's committee in locating the vehicle, "so we elected to go with something different. It's the first time we've used a new car."

The Rotary purchased the vehicle last winter at cost from Bob Sellers Pontiac and GMC Truck where Wilson is general manager.

Since then raffle tickets have been sold in anticipation of giving the vehicle away this Sunday.

If all goes well, $40,000-$50,000 will be raised for Rotary charities. Monies will go to Rotary Park, DARE, special olympics, Novi seniors Christmas Luncheon, global relief and student scholarships.

"We're hoping to make a lot of money," said Wilson. "The more the merrier."

The Firebird will be raffled off between 9 and 10 p.m. Sunday.

The Rotarians, of course, won't be the only ones raising money for charity.

ERA Rymal Symes of Novi is sponsoring a fund raiser for the Muscular Dystrophy Association at the 50's Festival. A host of activities and giveaways will, hopefully, raise a lot of money for Jerry's Kids.

"It's our way of giving back to the community," said Rymal Symes' Nancy Goley, who co-chaired the company's MDA committee.

Rymal Symes has raised money for the association before. But this will be the first year its worked in conjunction with the Michigan 50's Festival.

"We hope to make it an annual event," Goley said.

Since funds are being raised for kids, activities will be geared towards kids.

An interactive castle maze will be set up as well as the "balloon typhoon." Free-throw shooting and a bean bag target toss are among other activities.

For the parents, a 50-50 raffle will be held. Goley said she's hoping for at least $3,000.

"But we want to raise much more than that," she commented.

Overall, Goley said Rymal Symes would like to raise about $20,000.

"It should be fun for everyone," she added.

Many other groups will benefit from fund raising at the festival. Here's a list: the Novi Lioness Club, Sixth Gate Cloggers, Novi Chamber of Commerce, Novi Lions Club, Novi Newcomers and Neighbors, the Motor Sports Hall of Fame, St. James Catholic Church, Novi High School Band Boosters, Boy Scout Troops 407 and 54, the Children's Miracle Network, Poverty and Social Reform Institute and the Farmington Area YMCA.

Ribcrackers join festival with air show

New this year to the Michigan '50s Festival will be the Ribcrackers Radio Control Club, which will hold its annual air show on July 29 and 30 in conjunction with the festival. The club will also officially open its new Novi airfield.

Model airplane flyers from all over Michigan, Ohio and Canada are expected to swoop down for the activities, which will feature the flights of small and giant scale model aircraft, including the club's own 140-inch DC-3.

"I've been interested in it for quite some time. When I was a kid I was building my own free-flying models, then seven or eight years ago. I got back into it, that's true for most of the men," Herrington said.

The new airfield is at the Lang Aerodome, 50200 Ten Mile Road, between Wixom and Napier roads.

Featured will be events such pylon racing, a balloon bust, a limbo contest and air combat. Spectators will be invited to fly an aircraft on a buddy box, which is a radio attached to a radio operated by an expert.

Hours for the air show are July 29, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and July 30, noon to 4 p.m. Admission is $1 for adults. Children under 14 free. In addition, parking is $1. Bring picnic lunches and lawn chairs.

... And even more festivities off-site

Events are scheduled around town to go with fest

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Writer

Cecil Fielder and Kirk Gibson won't be there. But softballs will be flying deep at the Michigan '50s Festival tournament this weekend nonetheless, just one of many off-site activities held in conjunction with the festival.

Nearly two dozen Class C teams are expected to vie for the first place trophy at Power Park.

"We've had a good following in the past," Novi Softball Supervisor Scott Mercer said. "It's a good attraction for the family."

Last year, 21 squads competed for the crown.

"We're hoping for that and more this year," said Mercer.

The tournament, which will be a double-elimination format, went over two days last summer. Mercer said it will likely be Friday and Saturday this time around unless many more squads than last year sign up.

The supervisor expects the tournament field to be made up mostly of Novi squads. But teams have come from as far away as Grand Rapids in past years.

Besides the tournament, a home run derby will be held.

For $3 tournament players will see how may long balls they can hit. Monies raised from the derby will go to charity.

Games will start at Power Park about 9 a.m. Admission to the public is free.

The 6th Annual Mid-Summer's Night five kilometer run will be held Thursday (July 27) at 6:30 p.m. For $10 runners of all ages can compete in the fun race/walk.

The course starts at the Running Fit store in the Novi Town Center. The 3.1 mile race then winds through city streets on a flat, fast accurate course.

Awards will be given to the top three finishers overall in the men's and women's division. A random drawing from three pairs of Nike Air shoes will be held for walkers in the event.

Runners and walkers can register today between 4 and 6 p.m. at Running Fit. The entry fee will benefit the '50s Festival and the Farmington Area YMCA.

The Downtown Merchants Association's annual Ice Cream Social, to be held at the Novi Civic Center from noon to 3 p.m. on Friday, July 28, will be bigger and better than ever this year.

Tom Marcus, who coordinates the event, said the Ice Cream Social will have more rides, including a ferris wheel and a merry-go-round. The event will feature food and refreshments, and souvenirs, all supplied by some 200 area merchants.

Marcus said the event harks back to Novi's Gala Days celebrations, which were the town's annual festivities before the '50s Festival was launched.

The Ice Cream Social has grown during the time the '50s Fest has been in operation. This year about 100 volunteers will be involved in serving up the goodies.

Cruisers make it all happen

By CAROL WORKENS
Staff Writer

The Cruisers were so named because they "cruise" the '50s Festival and help out wherever needed, according to Cruiser coordinator Cindy Kopczynski.

"Every year something usually happens and we're the ones called on to handle it," she said.

Fifty volunteers dressed in their red T-shirts with "Cruisers" on the back and white shorts will be on hand throughout the five-day Festival doing everything from folding T-shirts to selling tickets to answering the phones and plenty of questions at the information booth.

"We do it all before the festival, during the festival and after the festival," Kopczynski said.

"We answer phones, stuff envelopes and fold T-shirts before the festival. We have been known to set up tables and chairs. A couple weeks before the festival the phones really pick up," Kopczynski said of the people calling for information.

Kopczynski, who began as a Cruiser in 1988 along her husband, Tom, as well as Skip and Don Tuck, Marilyn Amberger and Judy Garvey are among the original crew who have found the yearly event to be more of a reunion with old friends than a tour of duty.

"It's kind of like a yearly reunion I can look forward to in July to see all the people that have been coming back year after year," Kopczynski said.

"Most of us don't see each other for the whole year until festival time," Amberger said. "We pick up where we left off."

"We spend a lot of time together during the five days of the event," Amberger said. "It's work, but for the most part it's fun too."

Cruisers are encouraged to get in eight hours over the course of the festival either all at once or in shifts. Shift lengths are up to the individual.

"The average Cruiser probably puts in 18 hours," Kopczynski said. "Some are there 40 or 50 hours while others may only be able to put in 6."

"If there's anybody that equals the amount of time other than Cindy, it's Judy Garvey," said Amberger. "She is very dedicated, and she's the one who recruited me.Cruisers pay a one time $10 charge to cover the cost of the T-shirt and name badge, but they also get a perks, such as a few admission tickets.

So, if you have any questions, look for a Cruiser. If you're interested in being a Cruiser next year, contact the '50s Festival office at 349-1950 or stop by an information booth and give them your name and phone number.

A concise history of the Fifties decade

By RANDY COBLE

Staff Writer

America had two faces during the 1950s. Stability and change existed side by side, as did peace and war, hope and fear.

Many look on the century's middle decade as one of its happiest. After two decades of deprivation and struggle the United States finally enjoyed relative peace and unparalleled prosperity.

The previous 20 years had been rough on Americans. We had pinch our pennies during the Great Depression. And we sent our sons – and sometimes daughters – into that hell called World War II.

The U.S.A. was something to behold in the late '40s. It was riding high, enjoying an economic sonic boom and a worldwide presence unrivaled in its history.

We were the biggest kid on anybody's block. We were the only ones who didn't have to rebuild from the ruins of war. We had a monopoly on the bomb. Our industries, made lean and mean from years of turning out combat supplies, turned to peacetime production with a vengeance.

The standard of living rose steadily. The variety of products and services available to most Americans skyrocketed, a trend that continued through and had a profound influence on the 1950s. The two most notable were the automobile and the television set.

GIs were getting good educations and good jobs, starting families and looking for their piece of the American dream. A big part of it was owning cars that got bigger, faster and shinier every year. The car became a sign that you were part of the prosperity the country was enjoying.

Through it all, our nation changed. More cars led to more roads and highways, which in turn created the suburb and began to spell the doom of many cities.

The effect of television wouldn't truly be felt until after the 1950s but its infant impact on America was still something to behold. The box opened up the world, creating "the global village." It was the basis of a new, more intense sense of shared experience in our country. We were all seeing and hearing the same shows, the same news, the same ideas like never before.

What we saw both inside America and out somewhat blemished the rosy picture, however. On the foreign front the United States was embroiled in a "cold war." The U.S. began to radically expand its role in world affairs, joining a series of military alliances and establishing hundreds of air and sea bases all around the globe

Moreover, the arms race was on in earnest but the nature of combat changed as the '50s dawned. The Soviet Union now had the bomb. Other nations were soon to get it. War no longer meant victory or defeat on the battlefield – now it could mean

China and Cuba went communist. Stalin died but Kruschev, while a kinder, gentler Marxist, made us almost as wary. The Russians crushed uprisings in Hungary, Poland and East Berlin.

They shocked us all when they put Sputnik in space. Everywhere the red hordes seemed ready to charge, even as the United States, the main participant of a United Nations military force, took a stand in Korea.

For the first time, however, there wasn't really a victory or a defeat, just a long bloody conflict that ended with everyone back where they started. That is, except for those who lost their lives, including 33,000 Americans. It was the kind of conflict that Americans would become all too familiar with in the future.

General Douglas MacArthur, meanwhile, had lost his job after crossing Truman once too often. He returned home to a hero's welcome and the president, already suffering from a series of scandals in his administration, packed his bags and made way for Ike and Nixon.

They took office while the domestic side of the Cold War led by Sen. Joe McCarthy was still being waged. The hunt was on in America for communist spies and sympathizers, real or imagined.

Nixon exposed Alger Hiss., Ethel and Julius Rosenberg were executed as communist spies despite their protests to the end. Robert Oppenheimer, the father of the American atomic weapons program, was denounced and disgraced.

The end of another disgrace began during the '50s. Black Americans began to fight openly for the civil rights they'd been denied so long. Brown vs. the Topeka, Kansas, Board of Education said that segregation of students in public schools was illegal, a decision that Eisenhower had to back up with regular Army troops in Little Rock. Rosa Parks wouldn't give up her seat in Montgomery.

The seeds of discontent that were planted wouldn't fully blossom until later but they weren't the only ones that came out of the '50s.

In many ways it was a quiet decade, with less unity than those that came before but also less divisiveness and cynicism than those that would follow.

True, the college campuses didn't see protests: they saw panty raids and phone booth stuffing. Still, the "Beat" generation, led by figures like Jack Kerouac, were making some waves.

Music, movies and literature were doing the same thing, expanding into uncharted territory but treading cautiously as they went.

Rock 'n' roll replaced the big band and the crooner. Movies became blockbuster big. Writers pushed the performance envelope and sometimes the standards of the day.

Still, what happened then was mild compared to what followed.

Maybe that's why we remember the '50s as being so nice: perhaps they were, compared to what came next.

Fifties marked the growth of the suburb

By ROBERT JACKSON

Staff Writer

Novi is unlike most of the long-established urban sprawl communities of the metropolitan Detroit area – its growth as a community is relatively recent.

It wasn't really a part of the 1950s post-war community building boom we commonly call "the suburbs."

The birth of "the 'burbs," actually transpired before America entered World War II. But it was definitely the 1950s when millions of people across the country started looking for places to live that were actually out of the traditional urban areas.

The 1950's expansion out of the city centers actually took place in a potato field in Nassau County, Long Island. The developer's name was William Levitt, and his 1,500 acre dream community was appropriately named Levittown. Thousands of people, parents to the "baby boom" era, scrambled for their chance to purchase a basic four-bedroom home for $6,990 – $10,000 with landscaping and kitchen appliances included.

That first "planned" community, 17,500 homes strong, became the model from which similar communities would be constructed. All of Levitt's homes were the same – they were built like cars on an assembly-line and erected with relative ease. The color schemes were all alike and the community sprang to life in military like uniformity. Trees were placed every 28 feet, and picket fences were not allowed.

SEND IN THE ROAD CREWS

With "Levitt-like" suburban communities sprouting up all over the country, President Dwight D. Eisenhower made traveling to and from the suburbs much easier. In 1956 the president ordered construction to begin on the nation's highway system – which when concluded would span 41,000 miles across, through and around across the country – connecting landlocked urban areas, and their surrounding suburbs, to one another. It would be the country's largest public works project – initial cost estimates ran from $33 to $41 billion, and the actual cost decades later was $76 billion.

The new roads not only provided metro Detroit area residents with high speed, non-stop travel arteries, but allowed more opportunities for communities to spring up along the highway's path.

LIVING THE GOOD LIFE

Soon living in the suburbs was called living "the good life." People began spending their disposable income – which had risen by 21 percent. The practice of "debt consolidation," and "revolving credit plans," was given birth. Spending became not only more fun, but more sensible to this new boomer generation.

Life on the installment plan began having an effect on the economy as well. Suburbanites increased the nation's consumer debt from $27.4 billion in 1952, to $42.5 billion in 1956.

LIFESTYLE CHANGES

Although the suburbs in the 1950's were hardly representative of mainstream America, it was what America would become in the decades that followed. The gluttony that was the suburban lifestyle of the 1950s would raise social issues that caused revolt in the 1960s and '70s, and apathy in the 1980s.

Who would have thought that prefabricated homes in a potato field could have caused such a tremendous shift of our society.

Novi's casino was a hot spot back then

By JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writer

Moonlight and star dust shimmering across the black velvet lake. Glamorous ladies drifting by in clouds of bouffant and Chanel No. 5. Lots of brass in America's finest Big Bands and plenty of class.

That's how the 1950s began at Novi's Walled Lake Casino. By decade's end it was rocking and rolling, rowdy as all get out and a police contingent patrolled each dance.

Back in 1952, retiring Novi City Clerk Gerry Stipp was just a girl of 16, popping popcorn at the concessions stand at the Walled Lake Amusement Park, which always stayed open until the Casino closed.

"The people from the Casino would come over and walk through the park in their fancy dresses. It was lovely, like a ballroom," Stipp said.

When the bands took their break, the summer crowd of dancers would take a breather, strolling along the lake, watching the roller coaster and sipping a soft drink. Or retiring to their cars for a sip of something stronger from their own private stash.

With so many of the male dance partners in uniform, World War II led to sluggish nights at the Casino, longtime Novi resident Laree Bell said.

"We were really war-minded, very patriotic-minded then," she said.

"The Casino slowed down during the war with gas-rationing."

"We had the blackouts, the rationing the works," chipped in her husband, Duane Bell.

By war's end, things began to really pick up the beat again.

"It was swing and sway with Sammy Kaye, it was the jitterbug there. The AMVETs had their beauty contests," Laree Bell recalls.

Everybody who was anything in popular music seemed to show up sometime at the nationally-known Walled Lake ballroom. Some of Lawrence Welk's first radio broadcasts were from here. Louis Armstrong was a regular.

In the earlier 1950s, old timer Northville Judge Ed Yerkes and his wife always had the same table, down front, when the king of a-one and a-two was in town to play his Champagne Music.

The Casino's dance floor of polished maple seemed to float, habitues used to say. A large ball of cut mirrors slowly revolved above the dancers, creating a hail of tiny dots of colored light. The 120-foot by 140-foot building had a wooden awning which let the cool night air in on the spinning dancers.

Six nights a week in the summer, this was the place to be. Most of the patrons were Detroiters; many local people, like the Bells and Stipp, say they rarely or never attended the dances.

In the mid-1950s, the record was set for the dance crowd; 4,004 turned out to enjoy the music of Ralph Flanagan. In 1959, the last Big Band summer brought in headliner acts such as Guy Lombardo, Buddy Morrow, the Jimmy Dorsey and Glenn Miller bands, Red Nichols and His Pennies, the Dukes of Dixieland and Les Brown.

Lee BeGole would agree with that. The retired Novi Police Chief spent a good deal of his early career trying to handle the Casino crowd. As rock and roll was here to stay, off-duty Novi cops were hired to control the rollicking teens.

By 1956, a different generation demanded more contemporary fare at the Casino. Acts included the Four Lads, the Four Freshmen and the Kingston Trio, although these weren't especially rabble-rousing.

"Before, they were all ladies and gentlemen, they wore suits. It was a damn nice place to go dancing. We didn't have any calls to the Casino, none," the former police chief says.

"In the late 1950s, the Casino started to decline and a guy named Red Kraemer and his wife took over and introduced teenage dancing. It was an immediate success. They had all the well-known stars," BeGole said.

Teen idol Fabian and BeGole have this in common. They once shared the same stage. Fabian's arrival at the Walled Lake Casino caused a mini-riot. As many as 5,000 showed up to see the singer who had cut the 1959 hit album "Fabulous Fabian;" hundreds were turned away. Twelve police officers were there for crowd control.

Fabian, whose big hit was "Turn Me Loose," was billed as the "Tiger," but parents preferred him as a more toned-down version of Elvis.

"They brushed the police aside. We got Fabian in at the back door and from the backstage, his manager said 'Welcome, Fabian, and if you give him enough applause, he might do a number," BeGole said.

Another reason off-duty police were at the Casino in force was because that under-aged swingers used to smuggle in cigarettes and orange-flavored vodka. A female officer was on hand to frisk the girls and check their purses.

By that time, Stipp was working at the Novi Township Hall on Novi Road. The township offices were right below the district courtroom.

"On Thursdays, that place was jumping. There'd be people up before the judge who'd gotten caught that weekend at the Casino, kids with alcohol," she recalls.

How 'bout a taste of Fifties life

By JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writer

The minute you mention food of the 1950s, everybody thinks of stuff like Twinkies, Chef Boy-Ar-Dee Spaghetti in a can, Ding-Dongs, Jiffy Pop pop-corn.

The tendency is to visualize the era as a time when folks were clogging their insides with Cheez-Whiz, when the youth and not-so-young of America were wallowing in Velveeta and biting into stuff so full of additives, preservatives and artificial sweeteners it was like swallowing a chemistry set. The '50s are seen as a decade in which the four food groups were considered to be Coca-Cola, potato chips, hot dogs and milk shakes.

As always, the stereotypes of the 1950s veer somewhat from what appears to be historical reality.

It was indeed a time when easy-to-prepare convenience foods, fast food restaurants and frozen foods consolidated the impression they'd already begun to make on Americans in the 1930s and 1940s.

However, consumption of vegetables was up. So-called "fancy foods," like espresso, vichysoisse, lobster bisque, coq au vin, artichokes, souffles and assorted canapes were trendy with middle-class diners eager to become "sophisticated."

By 1959, Americans were eating less starch and more fresh produce than they did in 1945. But one ominous development was the scientific tinkering with veggies and fruits to make them look good, ultimately leading to today's lovely red but flavorless tomato.

One 1950s study found that the favorite American meal began with a fruit cup, worked its way through vegetable soup, steak and potatoes, peas, rolls and butter, to be followed by pie ala mode. (And perhaps capped off with Alka Seltzer?)

The most popular ethnic food was French, although Americans were beginning to get a taste for Mexican, German, Chinese, Jewish and Italian food.

Pizza was still a little exotic but already well-loved. Dan and Frank Carney would open the first Pizza Hut in 1958 in Wichita, Kansas, choosing the name because a nine-letter sign was cheap.

Freezers were less expensive and finding a place in most American homes. Between 1947 and 1953, the production of frozen food quadrupled. Frozen orange juice, including Minute Maid, was the most popular item; consumers swilled 562,000 gallons of the stuff in 1947 and an amazing 70 million gallons in 1953.

In 1954, Swanson introduced the first frozen TV dinners, a smash hit with those unwilling to leave Walter Cronkite and I Love Lucy and go to the dining room for supper.

A frozen cream cheesecake named after his daughter, Sara Lee, was what started Charles Lubin's food empire. In 1951, he opened the Kitchen of Sara Lee and added other products, also inventing in the early 1950s aluminum foil pans.

For residents of those thousands of new suburbs, home barbecues became a weekend ritual. Hot dog production grew from 750 million in 1950 to 1,050 million in 1960, while the amount of potato chips manufactured went from 320 million pounds to 532 million pounds.

Jean Bell had left the Marines and was looking for something to do in 1947, so he bought a hot dog stand in San Bernardino. In 1952, with hamburger diners more popular than ever, the got the idea of offering Mexican food as an alternative, hence Taco Bell.

One of the very first hamburger chains started as a drive-through restaurant opened in 1948 by brothers Dick and Mac McDonald in San Bernardino. Ray Kroc bought the franchise rights in 1954 and in 1955 the first golden arches went up in Des Plaines, Illinois.

To avoid creating teenage hangouts, Kroc banned jukeboxes, pinball machines and telephones at his new eateries. Initially, teenage female employees were also not hired, with the rationale that if they were, teenaged boys would congregate at the new McDonald's restaurants.

1950 – New foods were Sugar Pops, Minute Rice and concentrated milk.

1952 – Kellogg's brings out Sugar Smacks and Sugar Frosted Flakes, but Tony the Tiger won't accompany the flakes until 1955. Also new is Kirsch Beverage's No Cal Ginger Ale, the first artificially-sweetened soft drink.

1953 – First instant ice tea poured, White Rose by Redi-Tea.

1959 – The Coca Cola Company markets Fanta and General Mills introduces Frosty Os.

People were worried about the aesthetic impact of all that eating. In 1952, there was a craze for chlorophyll as a breath sweetener in products such as Beech-Nut gum. Then, a prestigious medical journal pointed out that goats ate chlorophyll all the time when they grazed grass and weren't universally considered kissably fresh.

The Michigan rock 'n' roll set

State has provided its own legacy to rock music

Sure, everyone knows Madonna grew up in Bay City and graduated from Rochester High School. She offended many by calling her hometown a "smelly" one.

It's also no secret that Bob Seger hails from Michigan and his "Like A Rock" hit is synonymous with Chevy truck commercials.

And we all know Ted Nugent's loincloth helped him to get his "Motor City Madman" dubbing.

Then there's the famous Motown era, which put Detroit on the map by turning out such hometown stars as Stevie Wonder, Aretha Franklin and Diana Ross.

But what about the lesser known musicians that call Michigan their home? Some have been labeled one hit wonders while others have disappeared quietly after enjoying their success.

A little research turned up the following Michiganian rockers and crooners:

• Iggy and the Stooges, a heavy metal band hailing from the Detroit area in the 1970s. They never achieved the success of such similar groups as KISS and Alice Cooper, but did have one hit titled "I Wanna Be Your Dog."

• MC5, dubbed a "revolutionary band" in the same heavy metal era as Iggy and the Stooges. According to Lester Bangs, who authored an article in Jim Miller's The Rolling Stone Illustrated History of Rock & Roll, MC5 was one of the best bands in the country but toned down just enough to allow Grand Funk Railroad, another Michigan born band, to take over in its place.

Popular hits of the MC5 included "Kick Out The Jams" in 1969, and "Back In The USA" in 1970, and "High School."

• ? and the Mysterians. Question Mark, a.k.a. Rudy Martinez, now reportedly lives north of Flint and south of his native Saginaw. The lead singer's sunglasses – and how he never took them off – were his trademark.

Hits of the group in 1966 included "96 Tears" and "I Need Somebody," and in 1967, "Can't Get Enough of You, Baby" and "Girl (You Captivate Me)."

• Amboy Dukes, another Michigan bred group, was dubbed as a heavy metal garage band of the late 1960s. Probably the group's only hit was "Journey to the Center of Your Mind." But the group did produce one other major contribution to rock and roll – Ted Nugent.

• Aretha Franklin's most popular tunes include "Respect," "A Natural Woman" and "Ain't Nothing Like the Real Thing."

another important part of Michigan's historic musical background is that of Motown. It all began in Detroit in the 1950s under the direction of Berry Gordy, whose jazz record store had gone bankrupt. He decided to write songs and record amateur singing groups, calling his company Motown Records, short for Motor Town.

It was there that the Supremes, three high school girls who had won first prize in a singing contest, and Stevie Wonder, a 13-year-old blind singer and harmonica player, were discovered. Motown has also recorded Michael Jackson and the Jackson Five.

Most of Motown's talent were Detroit acts, discovered at local talent shows. Some familiar ones: Smokey Robinson's the Miracles, Four Tops, Temptations and Martha and the Vandellas.

Clean-cut styles marked fashion in the 50s

The Fabulous '50s!

The era was not just pegged jeans and poodle skirts, wide-striped button-down shirts and shirtwaist dresses. The fifties was a decade of tremendous variety in fashion design.

Bubble skirts and cartwheel hats, Trapeze dresses, bell suits, sackbacks and capri pants. A-line skirts, pencil-thin sheaths and blousey chemises. Opera coats and toreador jackets.

When wartime restrictions on fabrics and sewing materials were lifted, European couturiers turned the world of fashion design upside down. Out went the practical and durable, in came the frivolous and fun!

Dior had launched his "New Look" and Americans still looked to Paris for direction, but the growing influence of movies and television was being felt in the marketplace. Dior began the practice of announcing a new "line" every season and discovered the profitability of hemlines that rose and fell with each announcement. Only Chanel offered stability in a decade that swung wildly from the very long and slim to the short and bouffant.

The Parisian designers who previously sold their designs to others to manufacture and sell, began to produce directly for the mass market. American women no longer had to go to New York or Paris to buy the latest fashions. Local department stores had their own designer "salons." By mid-decade, led by English designers, small outlets – boutiques – could be found in major American cities. With mass communication, consumers could stay at home in small town America and be influenced by the latest styles worn by the stars of movies and television.

The English "Teddy Boy" look of the '50s would not arrive until the British musical invasion of the '60s, but the fashion influence of rock 'n roll, like the music, was already here to stay. The rebel look of the '50s may have been set by James Dean and Marlon Brando in films, but bands were still wearing suits and ties until the '60s. The look that dominated the fashion of the '50s generation was "cleancut," not rebellious at all.

It would take the rebellion of the next generation to bring the rebel look of the '50s to the fashion forefront.

Conservative era was a great time for fads

The '50s was a conservative time, therefore the perfect time for the silliness that produces fads.

In the '90s we have the promise of virtual reality, the awesome sensations of I-Max, film projected from multiple sources on a six-story screen, and convenience of handheld televisions.

In the '50s, a more simple time, viewers were shocked by the power of 3-D images produced by wearing special glasses. At movie theaters moviegoers received cardboard eyeglasses that made monsters leap off the screen and box office profits soar.

But the fad was short-lived. No movie could be plotted that could transcend the silliness of the glasses.

One '50s fad that has made a comeback is the Hula-Hoop. A plastic hoop that the wearer spins around his waist by swaying his hips, originally sold for $1.98. Within six months after it was introduced, over $60 million had been paid to Wham-O, the originator of the Hula-Hoop. Today's version sells for around $6.

While Wham-O had yet to let fly the first Frisbee, flying objects were seen in the skies over all the United States. Perhaps it was the launch of the first space satellites or maybe the numerous science fiction shows on television, but Americans were seeing little green men and silver, saucer-shaped disks at an alarming rate. Over 600 sitings were reported, on average, per year throughout the decade.

Fashion fads included poodle hairstyles for women which featured a uniform mass of short curls. Men had the extreme options of the crew cut, a shaved look, or the swooped back ducktail haircut. Sideburns were still kept high for a conservative look.

Marketing experts, a new professional class, were beginning to see an emerging market – children.

One of the first television spin-off products was the coonskin cap worn by Davey Crockett of television fame. TV fads didn't always last as long as the shows did. But, the Disney people, for example, were soon on the road that led to Mouse earns and T-shirts and millions of dollars in profits.

The '50s were a decade that was made for the Guiness Book of World Records. Young people, on college campuses in particular, were setting records regularly for the most bizarre and pointless activities. How many people can fit into a telephone booth? It would be hard to do today with the changes in public telephone facilities. How many guys can be stuffed into a Volkswagen Beetle? "Bugs" have all but been exterminated.

A more serious concern led to the fad of fallout shelters for the home. During the build-up of nuclear weapons and the Cold War, families began to stockpile canned goods and first aid supplies in "bombproof" shelters preparing for an anticipated nuclear war. The cinder block structures still can be found in the backyards or basements of '50s era homes.

A decade later, survivalists made similar efforts in a retreat from the perceived threats of urban life.

"SOFT TOUCH" CHIROPRACTIC

Kathy Duncan had a satisfying full time career as a registered nurse in critical care when she decided to pursue a degree as a Doctor of Chiropractic. The career move came when Dr. Duncan found relief from her migraine headaches after being treated by a Doctor of Chiropractic. In chiropractic treatment, Dr. Duncan found her problem resolved when other methods of treatment failed.

When Dr. Duncan decided to open her business in 1990 she chose a name that also signifies the type of chiropractic care her patients receive. Soft Touch Chiropractic is so named because the chiropractic care given uses a painless technique which is different than the traditional chiropractic care of spinal adjustment.

With the spine as a focal point, the spine is "relaxed" by using pressure on points along the muscles in conjunction with the spine. "Pressure point is light and gentle," Dr. Duncan said. "With the muscles relaxed, the spine readjusts itself naturally." Pressure point is used extensively in the Southwest United States and the results, in many cases, are substantial, alleviating numerous problems such as pinched nerves, sinus drainage, headaches, back pain, slipped discs, stomach discomfort and nausea.

Dr. Kathy Duncan received her Doctor of Chiropractic degree from Life College in Marietta, Georgia in 1986 and has been in private practice since that time. She has been featured on channels 2, 4 and 7. Dr. Duncan is also active in the local community, soon to take over as the newly elected President of the American Business Women's Association, Novi Oaks Chapter.

Dr. Kathy Duncan

Appointments are being accepted with Dr. Duncan at Soft Touch Chiropractic by calling (810) 348-2000. 23895 Novi Rd., Novi, Mi.

Distance Learning

Give Yourself Some Credit . . . From a Distance

If you're a mature person who is a self starter and enjoys working independently, Schoolcraft College Distance Learning may provide the opportunity you need to earn your college degree. View the video lessons or listen to the audio programs in the comfort of your home. Students in these classes generally come to campus for only four review sessions with a faculty member and for testing.

Telecourses: These fully credited classes are broadcast on television or available through video checkout. Each telecourse is accompanied by a required textbook and a study guide.

Audio Courses: These classes are offered on audiotapes. The audiotapes and coordinating study materials are available in the College bookstore.

Courses are available in many subject areas, including:

Anthropology
Business
Child Care
Computers
Economics
English
Ethics
History
Humanities
Political Science Psychology
Sociology

Open House

You're invited to learn more about Schoolcraft College's educational options. An Open House for students interested in Schoolcraft College Weekends and Distance Learning will be held on Wednesday, July 26, 1995 at 7:00 pm. Join us in McDowell Center Room 200 at Schoolcraft College's Livonia Campus, 18600 Haggerty Road. We're located just west of I-275 between Six and Seven Mile Roads.

For more information about Schoolcraft College Weekends, call 313/462-4770. For more Distance Learning information, call 313/462-4532.

OUR STUDENTS SAY . . .

"Schoolcraft College Weekends is an excellent way to accomplish career goals. Adults who work full time in the business world, maintain a household, and raise a family need more scheduling options like these."

— Rob, parent of two, working full time

"Because I'm a mother and working part time, the Saturday classes are fabulous. I don't have to worry about squeezing my classes into my busy weekday schedule and can really concentrate on the coursework. The instructors are most helpful in making certain the material is fully covered."

— Judy, working part time during the week

"As a working mother of young children, distance learning classes helped me get a start on working toward my college degree from my own home. I only needed babysitters for the review sessions and testing periods. And I was able to schedule my study times around my children."

— Sharon, single parent of three, working part time

"Distance Learning courses helped me attend college and work toward my degree, even though my work schedule fluctuates and makes it impossible for me to enroll in regularly scheduled college classes. Once I complete my degree, I'll be in line for a promotion.

— John, employed full time on a swing shift
