Condemned house to remain standing

Agreement permits home to be sold

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

Northville city officials and the property owners of the house at 901 Carrington have reached an agreement that will keep the house from being demolished Aug. 8. Westland attorney Paul Asker, who represents property owners Steven Myers and Walter Collins, met with city officials Monday in an effort to reach an agreement before the scheduled appeal hearing by the Northville Housing Board of Appeals. The housing board was to decide the fate of the home at its meeting tonight. That meeting has been canceled, according to city clerk Delphine Gutowski.

The home was condemned last fall after resident Sandra Myers died from a carbon monoxide leak from a defective water heater. Animal feces and carcasses were discovered inside the house at the time authorities entered.

Asker had filed an appeal challenging the city's attempt to destroy the home.

Tennis anyone?

Northville looked a little like Forest Lawn last weekend as the first ever Northville Summer Tennis Open took place. The Parks and Recreation department and several sponsors hosted more than 100 players from the Metropolitan area. The event was sanctioned by the U.S. Tennis Association. The results are in today's sports.

Tank could present costly cleanup bill

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Northville Township residents could eventually pay up to $500,000 for getting rid of a municipal underground fuel storage tank and cleaning up a possible gasoline leak from it.

The tank, located behind Township Hall on Six Mile, contains fuel used by the township's Department of Public Safety. The tank is decades old and township officials say it will have to be removed at some point in the future.

"This is a problem common to anyone or any community that's ever owned an underground storage tank," Manager Tamara Hanlin said. "We know that it will eventually have to be taken out and we've been looking at what to do about the problem."

The issue of the tank and what to do with it first came up about a year ago, township officials say, but they're still not sure if any fuel has actually leaked from it because detailed testing for surrounding soil contamination hasn't yet been done.

The $500,000 removal/cleanup figure "is a worst case scenario number," Hanlin said. It's an estimate courtesy of Plante & Moran, the township's contracted auditing firm, which based the calculation on what other governments have paid on similar problems.

When the cleanup will take place, how much it's going to cost and how the township will pay for it are issues that can't be tackled without further study, Hanlin said

Crucial vote on Ward plan possible tonight

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

The Northville Township Board of Trustees will take a watershed vote on Ward Church tonight, July 27.

The Livonia church, now located at Six Mile and Farmington roads, has seen 11 years and two previous development plans for the 140 acres it owns at the northwest corner of Six Mile and Haggerty Roads go by.

Its current proposal, the result of nearly a year and a half of debate, comes to a turning point this evening as the board will debate whether to approve it in concept.

Ward wants to build a new and bigger church on its parcel, sharing space with a 280,000 square foot shopping center and 4,000 parking spaces.

Some 84 acres of the site, 60 percent of the total, are proposed to be open space and include tracts of preserved land, ball fields and tennis courts. The church has agreed in concept to let Northville

If the trustees approve the Ward concept plan the matter heads back to the planning commission for specific site plan review.

Residents use the fields on a regular basis for 10 years and to build and then give the courts to the township.

A parallel development plan calls for the church to share the parcel with a subdivision, four office buildings that total 1.2 million square feet and thousands of parking spaces.

Last month members of the planning commission voted unanimously to recommend that the board approve the Ward/shopping center plan subject to seven conditions. The most important of them requires the board to make up its

Supervisor to get peek at minutes of meeting

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

After six weeks of waiting, Northville Township Supervisor Karen Baja may finally get to see the records of a June 15 closed door meeting of the board of trustees she's voiced public concerns about.

Township Manager Tamara Hanlin at that meeting asked the trustees to discuss her proposal for the "reorganization" of township government as part of the board's review of her first six months on the job. She and other members of the board say the trustees decided not to discuss the plan at the meeting.

Baja last month, however, said she had "concerns for both the township's and my own (legal) protection" as a result of what took place at the meeting. She has refused to elaborate but has said she sought a legal opinion from a private lawyer and requested "guidance" from township attorney Jim Tamm.

The supervisor this week said that Tamm agreed that she has the right to review the written minutes of the June 15 meeting, something Baja's been trying to do since the week of the meeting. Clerk Sue Hillebrand initially denied her request to listen to the audio tape of the meeting, which isn't available to the public.

"The township attorney said I have the right to see the records of the meeting. Once I do that I'll be able to see if my concerns have been satisfied," Baja said Monday.

Hanlin says reorganization will save taxpayer dollars and clarify the township's chain of command.

Baja, however, claims the plan is actually the idea of other members of the board, whom she won't name, to punish ex-Director of Planning Carol Maise and Chief Building Official Mick Kruszewski for being closely involved with her.

Mining operation under review in township

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Northville Township officials are reviewing plans for a mining and asphalt production operation on the old Holloway property at the intersection of Six Mile and Ridge

Roads

Meanwhile, Holloway's old lawsuit against the township to permit such development, a suit that has been taken up by the Angelo lafrate Co., is still alive and kicking thanks to a ruling by the Michigan Supreme Court earlier this month.

A Warren-headquartered construction and development firm, lafrate last year bought the 175 acres that the Holloway Sand & Gravel Co. owned at the southwest corner of Six and Ridge. That parcel was the subject of a 1991 lawsuit Holloway filed against the township after township officials rejected the company's plans to

HomeTown executive charged with offense

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

Phil Jerome, the Executive Editor of HomeTown Newspapers, was arrested July 20 for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol, according to the Northville Police Department.

Jerome, 51, a Northville resident, was to be arraigned today in 35th District Court in Plymouth on one count of operating under the influence of liquor (OUIL) and unlawful blood alcohol level (UBAL).

According to a report filed by Northville Police Officer Bill Edgar, Jerome was headed home at about 12:30 a.m. last Thursday when he was spotted driving 52 mph in a 40 mph zone on W. Eight Mile Road.

The officer also alleged that Jerome's vehicle was "drifting" in its lane.

He stopped Jerome on Eight Mile just west of Center Street. The officer reported detecting an odor of intoxicants, and Jerome agreed to submit to various field sobriety tests. He also submitted to breath tests in which his blood alcohol percentage registered at 0.12 percent. The legal intoxication threshold is 0.10.

Jerome was arrested and taken to the Northville police station. Jerome was cooperative throughout the incident, according to police, and was released approximately five hours later, after posting $100 bond.

Jerome pled innocent to the charge at an arraignment July 25. A pretrial hearing has been set for Aug. 9 before 35th District Court Judge Ron Lowe.

Should Jerome be convicted, he could face fines of as much as $500 plus court costs, up to 90 days in jail, community service, drivers license suspension or restriction, and probation. He could also receive four to six points on his driving record.

HomeTown Newspapers owns and operates six newspapers in southeast Michigan, including The Novi News and The Northville Record.

The incident marks the second time in three months a HomeTown editor has been arrested for UBAL.

Freewheeling roadrunners

For the third straight year, Northville was the site of the Redford Roadrunner Classic, an 8-K race that was run on Saturday. Some 1,600 people participated in the event. Redford Roadrunners' spokesperson Yvette Michaels said the classic enjoyed good weather and good support. Other races included the Wheeler Classic, Classic Junior and the Fun One walk/run. See today's Northville Record sports section for a breakdown of all the results.

Bunches of books available at sale to benefit library

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Question: What can be taken anywhere, tell you anything, fits in your hands and can be had on the cheap at this weekend's Northville sidewalk sale?

Answer: A book, specifically one from the Friends of Northville District Library's used book sale.

The library booster organization will hold its annual classic at the bandshell downtown from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday. Hundreds of hardcovers, plenty of paperbacks and a corral full of children's books will be offered rock-bottom dirt-cheap, worlds of knowledge, adventure and excitement for just pennies.

"They're priced to move," joked Friends President Janine Bauchat.

"Thanks to the generosity of our donors we really have a huge selection."

The massive inventory will cost $1 per adult hardcover and 50 cents for adult paperbacks and all kid's books.

Members of the Friends have been collecting used books for resale regularly since the group's founding in 1969. This year they've been conducting bookdrop collections for the past three Saturdays and are ready to unload their treasure trove.

All monies collected will go toward gift or program expenses for the new district library building now under construction on Cady Street near Northville City Hall, Bauchat said.

Police called to scene when man allegedly throws table at boy

Northville Township police advised a Novi man to put his temper on gentle cycle after he allegedly threw a table at a five-year-old boy in the Highland Lakes laundromat the morning of July 19.

A police officer was dispatched to the Seven Mile Road business after the boy's mother, a 30-year-old township resident, called 911. She claimed that the man, 40, threw a small plastic table at her son because her child's running around the laundromat was bothering him.

"They shouldn't be running and I don't have to put up with it," the woman quotes him as saying, adding that he said nothing about the children's behavior before the alleged incident.

When she protested his action, the woman continued, the man threatened to get mace from his car and use it on her.

He was uncooperative with the officer, according to police reports, but once he agreed to talk he denied throwing the table. He moved the table in front of him, the man said, and the boy accidentally ran into it. He was going to get his mace, he added, "to protect himself."

The woman told police she wants the man prosecuted for assault and battery. The Wayne County Prosecutor's Office is now reviewing the incident.

NOBODY MAKES HOME OWNERSHIP EASIER.

At Standard Federal, getting the lowest mortgage rate is a lock.

No matter what mortgage rates do next, you can get the lowest Standard Federal interest rate possible with our unique Rate Lock or Lower feature.

If you're thinking about buying a home, or refinancing your current mortgage, you've probably been keeping an eye on the recent drop in mortgage interest rates.

You can make interest rate changes work to your advantage with Rate Lock or Lower at Standard Federal. When you apply for a mortgage or for refinancing, Rate Lock or Lower not only locks in your interest rate at the time of application to protect your rates from going up - it also guarantees you that if our interest rates have gone down by the time you close, you get the lower rate while your Lock or Lower commitment is in effect. (Rate Lock or Lower not available on certain No-Point/No-Fee Mortgages.)

That's right - you get the rate at the time of application or at the time of closing - whichever is lower.

By getting the lowest rate possible, you could save cash every month over the course of your mortgage. That's why now is the time to talk to Standard Federal about our unique Rate Lock or Lower opportunity. ## Police News

40-year-old junker confiscated for unsafeness

A 33-year-old Plymouth man lost his 1955 Scout to the Northville Police Department July 19, after an officer determined the vehicle was unsafe to drive.

The man was initially stopped by police for having a taillight out. Upon further investigation the officer found a host of discrepancies that included: bald tires, doors held on by wire and rope, no parking brake, body rusted and falling apart, no gear shift lever, and possible frame damage.

The vehicle was impounded by Northville police.

TRAMPOLINE TORCHED Someone set fire to a Dundalk Lane homeowner's trampoline at about 1 a.m. Saturday, causing $600 in damages.

PLEASE DON'T THIEVE THE DAISIES: A resident on Cady Street reported the theft of an 18-inch flower pot on July 21. According to Northville police, the flower pot was stolen from the resident's front porch around 4 p.m.

No suspects or witnesses have been identified.

DARN BARN THIEVES: Township police are investigating the recent theft of a chain saw and tool box full of tools from a Ridge Road residence.

The home's owner said the items, which were stolen out of his barn, might have been taken by the employees of a Livonia tree service company who removed two trees from his property on July 13 and 19. The saw and tool box are valued at $602.

FOOT STOMPING MISCHIEF: Northville police responded to a report of malicious destruction of property at the Wagon Wheel Lounge, 212 S. Main Street, on July 22.

According to police, the owner of a 1994 Mazda MX-6 found that the left rear quarter panel of the vehicle had been damaged. Police believe the damage may have been caused by someone kicking the side of the vehicle.

No suspects have been identified.

Suspect in roadside accident faces trial

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

A man accused of severely injuring a pedestrian during a car accident last month in Northville Township will stand trial on charges of felonious driving.

Township police say Modesto Cisneros' van struck Sharon Perkins as she was putting gas into her empty car on the shoulder of westbound Six Mile Road six weeks ago.

Both are Northville residents. Perkins suffered a skull fracture and hearing loss as a result of the accident but is now recuperating at home, Officer Matt Mayes said this week.

Cisneros was trying to merge into traffic at the point where Six Mile narrows from four lanes to two just west of Haggerty Road at 5:36 p.m. on June 14, Mayes said. Another Northville man, James Bommarito, was driving a Nissan Pathfinder in the merge lane and refused to let Cisneros' van in, Mayes continued.

"He sideswiped the Pathfinder and then continued down the shoulder of the road for 180 feet after bouncing off of the vehicle," Mayes said.

In his path was Perkins, 27, who was filling up the empty tank of her Geo Storm, police said. The van clipped the left rear corner of the Storm, then struck Perkins, Mayes explained. She was transported to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia and remained in critical condition for days.

"He said he was watching the vehicle next to him and not paying attention. He said he just didn't see her," Mayes quotes Cisneros as saying shortly after the accident.

Cisneros was arraigned June 30 before 35th District Court Judge John MacDonald, who entered a not guilty plea on his behalf. He waived his preliminary hearing on July 7 before Judge Ron Lowe, who then bound Cisneros over for trial in the Wayne County Circuit Court.

Judge William Cahalan last week set Sept. 15 as the date for Cisneros' pretrial examination. If convicted of felonious driving he could face up to a $1,000 fine and/or two years in prison.

Police issued a civil infraction ticket for careless driving to Bommarito.

"We feel he was a contributing factor to the accident," Mayes said.

fied. Estimated damage to the vehicle is $600.

JEANS SWITCHED: Township police arrested a self-confessed drug addict for shoplifting a pair of blue jeans at Meijer last Monday evening.

Store detectives said the man, 32, took a pair of blue jeans into a dressing room, put them on and put the price tags from the jeans onto the pair he wore into the room. He then put the old pair back on the shelf and left the store, the detectives said.

Police made the man, a Westland resident, give back the jeans after finding a crack cocaine pipe in one pocket. The reporting officer noted a series of scars on the man's legs, "some of which were oozing," he said.

The man admitted injecting himself with heroin and to being on parole for larceny. He faces a hearing in two weeks in 35th District Court.

OPEN INTOXICANTS FOUND: A 24-year-old Wayne man was arrested for drunk driving and possession of a dangerous weapon last Sunday morning by township police.

The reporting officer pulled the man's 1964 Oldsmobile over after it failed to dim its bright lights as it passed his patrol car. The officer said he saw three empty beer cans stuffed between the vehicle's front seats, a partially full one between the man's legs and an almost empty one between his feet.

The suspect admitted to consuming alcohol that evening and to having a six-inch knife in a cooler in the back of the Oldsmobile. Breathalyzer testing at police headquarters later showed him to have a blood alcohol level of 0.14 percent, above the legal limit.

He was held until he sobered up and then released on bond. The man faces a hearing next week in 35th District Court.

SUSPECTED ILLICIT SUBSTANCE: A 39-year-old Trenton woman found more trouble than she bargained for when she drove through Northville with expired license plates.

An alert Northville police officer noticed the plates and pulled the woman over, and then found she was also driving with a suspended drivers license.

Then came the real problem. When the officer handcuffed the suspect and began searching her he found a plastic sandwich bag containing "a green leafy substance" believed to be marijuana.

The suspect was transferred to the Northville Police Department where she was processed and then released on $100 bond for the suspended license charge. The officer then informed her that he would be seeking a warrant for the possession of marijuana if results from the Michigan State Police crime lab turned up positive.

DISCOVERED: Township police arrested a 19-year-old Northville man for larceny from a motor vehicle in the early morning hours of last Tuesday.

A Dunrovin Road homeowner phoned police at about 3:50 a.m., saying that someone was breaking into his car. The man gave a description of the perpetrator, one which matched that of the teen, whom the reporting officer found several houses away a few minutes later.

The teen allegedly admitted to breaking into several cars in the area that night, and a Discover credit card belonging to the homeowner was allegedly found in his wallet. The teen faces a hearing next month in 35th District Court.

HIGH BLOOD ALCOHOL LEVEL: A 26-year-old Phoenix, Ariz., man was arrested July 19 for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

A Northville police officer observed the suspect driving on Main Street approaching Seven Mile when he allegedly drove through the flashing red traffic signal.

The vehicle was stopped on Northville Road and the officer reported he could smell the odor of intoxicants and asked the suspect if he had been drinking.

The suspect admitted to drinking six beers but told the officer he was fine to drive.

The suspect was asked to perform a field sobriety test as well as a preliminary breath test. The results of the breath test registered at 0.17 blood alcohol level (BAL).

The suspect was arrested and transported to the Northville Police Department where the second breath test registered 0.19 percent.

He will be arraigned on July 26 at the 35th District Court in Plymouth.

DRIVER ADMITS TO DRINKING: A 30-year-old Plymouth man was arrested July 23 for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

The suspect was observed driving 44 mph in a 25 mph zone by a Northville police officer, who pulled the suspect over on Hutton Street.

According to the police report, the officer could smell intoxicants and noticed the driver's eyes were glassy and bloodshot. When asked if he had been drinking the suspect said he had "drank a lot." The officer then asked the suspect to perform a field sobriety test and suspect then refused to allow the officer to perform a preliminary breath test.

The suspect was arrested and transported to the Northville Police Department, where he finally agreed to a breath analysis. The test recorded the suspect's blood alcohol content at 0.20 percent.

His bond was set at $100, and his arraignment will be July 31 at the 35th District Court.

If you have any information about any of these incidents please call Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township Police at 349-9400.

Township News Briefs

HPUD ON THE WAY OUT? Could Northville Township's controversial Haggerty Planned Unit Development (HPUD) ordinance option be headed for the trash basket?

Enacted by the members of the current board of trustees shortly after they took office in November 1992, the HPUD is a tradeoff of sorts. Under it township officials can allow Haggerty parcels to be developed in ways normal township zoning doesn't permit in return for a "recognizable and substantial benefit" to the township.

Three members of the board of trustees said this month, however, that they'd like to see the HPUD repealed. Trustees Gini Britton and Barbara O'Brien, as well as Clerk Sue Hillebrand, say the benefit clause is too subjective and that the HPUD development plans presented haven't been consistent with the spirit of the ordinance.

JUDGE BILL PRESENTED: Members of the Michigan House of Representatives are now considering a bill introduced by Rep. Gerry Law, R-Plymouth, that would allow all Wayne County voters to elect judges for Detroit Recorder's Court.

Recorders Court Jurists are currently elected only by voters in the City of Detroit but they handle cases from all over the county, including Northville. Suburban law enforcement officials have voiced concerns in recent months that the judges give short shrift to their cases, leading to the bill's introduction in the House.

MASTER PLAN UPDATE: The township board of trustees earlier this month voted to pay McKenna Associates, the community's contracted planning firm, a total of $38,140 to comprehensively revise and update the township's master plan for land use.

The master plan is the blueprint for township development, identifying how officials feel each section of the community should be developed.

POLICY MANUAL UPDATE: The board also agreed with Manager Tamara Hanlin's request to have the township attorneys revise the township's policies and procedures manual for a cost of up to $1,500.

The manual governs activities for non-union personnel and hasn't been updated since 1987.

Township threat maker gets one year probation

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

The Detroit teenager who made death threats in Northville Township Hall three months ago was sentenced to probation last week.

DeAndre Siebert, 17, threatened to shoot several people, some of them township employees, at Township Hall on April 27.

Siebert denied making the threats but admitted making angry comments after his mother, arrested the day before for shoplifting, told him township police had mistreated her. Township police arrested Siebert minutes after the alleged threats were made.

They did not find a gun on him or in the vehicle in which he was riding. Siebert was convicted of misdemeanor assault, to which he had pled not guilty, on June 23.

On July 20, 35th District Court Judge Ron Lowe sentenced the teen to a year's probation and court costs totaling $500.

Where were you for the 'giant leap'?

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Quick, what were you doing when the first human being set foot on the moon?

Neil Armstrong's stroll on the lunar surface, taken 26 years ago last week, is one of those moments that every American old enough to remember it can recall in vivid detail.

The technology of radio and television, fantasies just a dozen decades ago, have given us a shared national consciousness. Those who were there can still remember what it was like the moment they heard the news: open-mouthed amazement at the heights to which we'd soared.

"It's something that just seared into your mind when you saw it," said Northville City Mayor Chris Johnson of the one small step for man. "I'll never forget that night."

Johnson was 15 years old then, enjoying the summer off between eighth and ninth grade.

"It seemed like it was very early in the morning when he actually set foot on the moon," Johnson said. "My folks decided it was important enough to keep all five of us kids up to see. I can still remember sitting in living room watching that."

The moon landing was something Northville Township Supervisor Karen Baja, who was also 15 at the time, had to catch only on the radio. The Eagle's landing found Baja in Acapulco, on an extended trip with a friend's family.

"Mexican TV was pretty bad back then," she recalled, "so we listened to it on the radio, just sitting and listening very intently. When Armstrong actually did it I felt very proud to be an American."

It was about pride and we all stood a little straighter that day. Why? Record publisher Bill Sliger perhaps put it best, writing in the paper's editorial that week.

"In our democracy everything we undertake is a grass roots effort," Sliger wrote. "The failures and the successes. The world will know of our effort - success or failure. This is the American way. Our tradition of freedom of information makes us unique."

"We embarrass ourselves by publicizing our riots, our sit-ins, our lock-outs, our wars, our draft card burning, our prejudices. But neither are we reluctant to publicize our successes. They become more meaningful when mixed with failures, when accomplished against odds."

Mall bomb prank results in jail terms

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

A jail sentence is a high price to pay for being a prankster. But it's a price two out of three teens will pay for planting a bomb in the men's bathroom at Twelve Oaks mall on July 18.

Eighteen year olds Geoffrey Stoll and Robert Silvi, both of New Hudson, were arraigned on separate felony charges in 52-1 District Court the day after the bombing. Stoll was charged with placing an explosive with damaging results. Silvi was charged with a single count of aiding and abetting with an explosive with intent to destroy property. If convicted, Stoll faces 25 years in prison, Silvi, 15.

The pair will be back in court Aug. 2 for a preliminary exam.

The bomb, a homemade pipe type, exploded in a toilet in the bathroom after the pair flushed it down the toilet around 8:30 p.m. No one was injured in the incident, but the toilet was destroyed. Novi Police reported.

A third suspect, 16, was taken to Children's Village and charged with placing an explosive with damaging results. He'll be charged as a juvenile.

The three suspects were stopped outside of the mall by a security officer who heard the explosion and followed the trio out of the bathroom and into the parking lot. The three were taken into custody by mall security guards and then turned over to Novi Police.

Six more explosives were confiscated from one of the youth's 1986 Ford Tempo and detonated by the Michigan State Police Bomb Squad and the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

Township trustees apply ethics policy to vendors

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Businesses doing business with Northville Township will be required to play by the rules of the township ethics policy from now on.

Members of the Township Board of Trustees voted in favor of that principle at their July 13 meeting.

The board decided 5-0 (Supervisor Karen Baja and Treasurer Rick Engelland were absent) to mail a letter explaining the policy to all vendors and contractors doing work with the township.

Passed soon after the board took office two and a half years ago, the ethics policy is the first of its kind for the township. It defines a variety of actions as unethical and imposes restrictions on township officials and employees, such as a ban on accepting gifts of more than $25.

How the policy's rules should apply to businesses that deal with the township has been a source of controversy on the board, however. The trustees have crossed swords over everything from accepting a company's gifts of fruit baskets at Christmas to officials and employees attending business-sponsored parties.

To resolve the issue a majority of the board some months ago agreed in concept to the vendor/contractor letter.

They gave approval to the letter's specific wording and its mailing last week.

The letter bans businesses involved with the township from a variety of activities, including:

- Representing to anyone that their personal opinion is that of the township.

- Making confidential information public before being authorized or using it to make business deals.

- Using their position or township resources for personal gain or benefit.

- Giving or receiving gifts from township officials or employees that aren't allowed under the ethics policy.

Acceptable gifts, the letter notes, are ones "of nominal value given during normal sales promotion, advertising or publicity." Freebies such as lunches, flowers or candy are also OK as are "freely offered gifts" under $25 "provided there is no compromise of sound business principles in the relationship," the letter adds.

Also allowed is admission costing more than $25 to vendor/contractor parties and other events, provided the township representative involved declares the gift publicly and is invited "in an official, representative capacity for the township."

The letter also requires any business with more than one percent financial interest in any other firm involved with the township to disclose that fact.

Seniors to see Mud Hens play

The Northville Senior Citizen Center will provide transportation to Toledo, Ohio, to watch the Toledo Mud Hens (the Detroit Tigers Farm Team) play baseball.

The trip date is Aug. 2. Departure time will be 4 p.m., from the corner of Wing Street and Main Street (kitty corner from City Hall).

The cost per person is $18.50 and includes round trip transportation, box seats along third base, dinner buffet of hot dogs, hamburgers, chips, pop and baked beans, etc.

Sign up early because space is limited.

Volunteers needed to serve on boards

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

The heart of democracy, it is said, is the participation of citizens in their government.

You don't have to have a Ph.D. or a burning desire to be the next Abe Lincoln or Susan Anthony. If you're a Northville Township resident all you need is a willingness to commit some of your time and effort to help make your community a better place.

The township's on the lookout for volunteers to serve on a variety of boards and commissions. You have to be a resident, a registered voter and all paid up on your taxes and utility fees.

If you're interested in being considered, you can stop by Township Hall, located off Six Mile Road between Winchester and Haggerty, and fill out a short application. It asks what body you're interested in serving on and why.

A brief summary of your educational and employment backgrounds, as well as your past and current civic activities, is also requested. If you have special expertise or skills to offer, such as professional, scientific or legal training, be sure to say so.

Take note, however, the township prohibits certain relatives of members of the board of trustees and their spouses, or those of the manager or her spouse, to serve on any boards or commissions. These include children, grandchildren, parents, grandparents, brothers, sisters, half-brothers, half-sisters or any of their spouses.

For more information, call the township supervisor's office at 348-5800.

Get a piano for a song at school sale

In the market for a piano? Madonna University is the place to be Sunday, Aug. 13, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Madonna will be the site of "The Liquidation of the Baldwin Pianos," a sale, hosted by Evola Music, where savings usually reserved for schools and universities are passed on to the public. The pianos will be available to preview on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 10-12.

All grand, vertical and digital pianos, used during the 1994-95 academic year by Madonna students and faculty, have been leased by Evola Music, professionally maintained and carry a full factory warranty.

For information or an appointment, call 1-800-894-5484.

Other pianos such as Kawai, Schimmel, Young Chang and Yamaha digital pianos will be available to enhance the selection.

Madonna University is located at I-96 and Levan Road in Livonia.

FOLK &amp; BLUEGRASS FESTIVAL

SPECIAL SECTION

SUNDAY, JULY 30, 1995 NOON - 8 P.M.

SPECIAL SECTION

It's sittin' pickin' &amp; a-grinin' time again

By LEE SNIDER
Editor

For many people this time of year means late summer vacations and the first preparations for school, but for the Northville community the last weekend in July always means the annual Folk & Bluegrass Festival.

The festival, now in its 19th year, is a treasured summertime tradition and an important way to raise funds for Huntington's disease research.

"I don't think this thing will ever get routine, there's always something new to discover and enjoy," said festival organizer and Giftfiddler Music Store owner Tom Rice.

Rice first organized his fund-raiser back in 1977 as a tribute to folk legend Woody Guthrie and Rice's late half-sister, Donna Jarski. Both died of Huntington's disease, a degenerative brain disorder for which no known cure exists.

Each summer, Rice lines up outstanding national and local folk and bluegrass talent to perform at his bash, held in Northville at Ford Field.

Many performers agree to appear at reduced fees to help keep overhead for the occasion low.

"This year we've got some performers who are highly acclaimed in folk and bluegrass circles," Rice said. "Claudia Schmidt's stock is on a rapid rise, Josh White is beloved by everyone who ever hears him and Peter Berryman is non-stop fun. It's going to be a great day."

Rice called Schmidt, White and Berryman his three main attractions but the line up features heavyweights from top to bottom.

Pat Donohue is a highly talented instrumentalist and bluesman. Fred's Not Irish performs great Irish and Scottish, traditional music and The Immigrants play high-kicking Russian and gypsy-style tunes.

The Dennis Cyporyn Band is often categorized as "newgrass progressive," while Nell Woodward's finger-pickin' wizardry has reached dizzying proportions.

WDET-FM personality Matt Watroba will serve as emcee and join in the music making.

Marc Thomas and his puppet Max the Moose will head up the children's stage schedule. Other performers include Maureen Shiffman and Coco, and the Hooked on Country Dancers.

Folk great Josh White Jr. will also do a children's set.

"I'm expecting plenty of magic," Rice said. A special note of importance will be introduced into the event by the appearance of Dr. Francis Collins, one of the medical scientists responsible for isolating the Huntington's gene in 1993. Collins will address the crowd and even plunk out a few tunes on his guitar and banjo.

Collins is involved in the Human Genome Project, a massive government-financed program seeking to identify all human genes. The isolation of the Huntington's disease was a breakthrough development and could eventually lead to a treatment for the illness.

In the meantime, crucial research dollars continue to be needed.

New this year will be a moonwalk ride for the children and breakfast served by Heavenly Bakery of Northville Township.

Bakery owner Rich Willer says he plans to offer pancakes, turkey patty sausage, fresh fruit and mineral water and sodas.

Later, Willer's concession will sell Spanish soup, cold salads, sandwiches, juices and gourmet sodas.

Breakfast gets under way at 10:30 a.m., and Marc Thomas will perform an adult set during the meal.

The first main stage act will start at noon.

Tickets for the day-long event are $10 in advance for adults, $12 at the gate. Seniors and children under 12 pay $6. Infants are admitted free.

Tickets are available through Ticketmaster (810-645-6666) or at the Giftfiddler (349-9420).

A $1,600 Taylor guitar and a $400 Washburn will be raffled off at this year's event.

Organizing the festival has been a labor of love for Rice and something he does to fulfill a promise to his late sister.

"It's very rewarding to join the fight against this terrible disease," he says.

For several years, until her death in 1984, Woody Guthrie's widow, Marjorie, attended the festival and spoke to the crowd.

The grand finale of the festival consists of a stage appearance by all performers and a sing-along rendition of Woody Guthrie's "This Land is Your Land."

Rice said he expects to spend $13,000 on the festival this year. He hopes to take in $25,000 during the event and cut a $12,000 check to the Huntington's Disease Society of America, Southeast Michigan Chapter.

White, Berrymans, Schmidt headline event

Josh White Jr.

A hearty dose of spiritual uplift is what you can expect when Folk and Bluegrass veteran Josh White Jr. takes center stage.

The singer/guitarist, who last appeared in Northville at the 16th annual festival in 1992, isn't much interested in the heavy, angst-ridden music that's popular among many members of today's younger set.

He'd rather concentrate on sending positive messages, current trends notwithstanding.

"Sometimes the songs I do are not as commercial as they could be," White says. "(But) I'd like people to feel better about themselves. That is a wonderful reward."

White's audiences enjoy rewards of their own whenever the entertainer - well known to Metro area concertgoers - performs.

"Josh's music is very reaffirming," said festival organizer Tom Rice. "It's accessible and upbeat. You can't help but to love what Josh does on stage."

White's music is deeply rooted in the folk tradition, and he says he's pleased about the renewed popularity of the genre.

"It is the music of the people, and when there is unrest in the country or the world we are the voices of that - the voices of the people."

During his 43 years of performing, White has carved out an impressive career. He has recorded 15 albums, written a film score, starred in five Broadway shows and guest starred in over 50 television dramas.

But mostly he has sung in a hypnotic baritone voice and accompanied himself on guitar.

White, who makes his home in the Detroit area, began singing at the age of four when he went on stage with his father. At 11 he was given a guitar and learned to play as well as sing. He went out on his own 10 years later.

White has appeared on concert stages on four continents and at major clubs across the country and has performed over 2,000 college concerts.

His repertoire includes not only the songs of his father, but the songs of other writers and several he has written himself.

"I am not known as much as a writer as an interpreter," White said. "We should enjoy our differences, our different cultures, the different colors."

"I always tell people on stage, 'You know if something happens in your life, before you get tense, go and be alone. Be aware of the strength that is in you, and then align yourself with the love and strength of a friendship. If you combine those two, you will overcome everything.'"

White performed at the first Northville Folk and Bluegrass Festival in 1977, headlining the event. This year, he'll be on both the main and children's stages.

"He's always a crowd pleaser," Rice added. "I'm glad he's back again this year."

Lou and Peter Berryman

You might say Lou and Peter Berryman are the exception that proves the rule.

Everybody knows that the family that plays together stays together, but Lou and Peter have kept their act going even though they are no longer marriage partners.

Lou and Peter have been friends since 1963 when they met in art class and then began their musical partnership in the first of a long series of musical groups. They played lots of different kinds of music - folk, jug band and old-time music, with occasional forays into blues and even rock 'n' roll.

Their friendship survived a brief marriage, and the musical duo as it exists today was formed in about 1975. Since then they have performed in big and little venues across the continent, performing only their original songs. The music reflects the wide variety of interests and experiences of these two, as seen through the softening lens of humor.

Their 10th and latest recording, "Double Yodel," was released in the spring of 1995. They are in the process of creating their third song book.

Lou composes and arranges music, sings and plays piano accordion and button accordion full-time throughout the year with Peter. She does half the driving and fills the tank.

Peter writes lyrics and music, sings and plays the 12-string guitar. He does half the driving and checks the oil. He also does most of the art, graphics, dark-room work, schlepping, carpentry, rationalization and heavy lifting for their conglomerate.

Lou's and Peter's sophisticated and wickedly funny original songwriting blends the best melodic and lyric aspects of musical comedy, cabaret, and folk music into a unique style that has delighted nationwide audiences for nearly 20 years.

Their whimsical and wonderfully accessible performances leave audiences with cheeks aching from smiling and with a fresh perspective on the human condition.

With influences as diverse as Gilbert and Sullivan and Edith Piaf, but always with a twist of their own, Lou and Peter Berryman bring an inventive and intelligent humor to the rich melodic legacy of theatrical music.

ABOUT THIS SECTION

This guide to the 19th Annual Northville Folk & Bluegrass Festival was produced by The Northville Record. Businesses appearing in the section have been given advertising space in exchange for donations to support the event's cause, the fight against Huntington's disease.

All proceeds from advertising in this guide will help underwrite the festival costs. All after-expense money generated by the festival goes to the Huntington's Disease Foundation.

Claudia Schmidt

Michiganian Claudia Schmidt doesn't just perform - she creates in concert.

The multi-talented instrumentalist/vocalist genuinely enjoys herself on stage, interjecting stories, wisecracks, and bits of poetry in between her striking songs.

The whole effect is curiously seamless, bringing home the realization that song and the spoken word, seriousness and humor, folksiness and sophistication are really just individual parts of one big picture.

"Claudia runs the gamut on stage," festival organizer Tom Rice said. "She can command an audience with her voice, her 12-string or her anecdotes. She's a natural."

Schmidt's imaginative sets consist of original and traditional songs, with folk and jazz elements interspersed. In addition to 12-string guitar, she plays mountain dulcimer and deluxe pianolin, a box-like instrument whose 52 strings are plucked, struck or bowed.

The pianolin was invented in Michigan in the 1940s.

"She might be the biggest single 'name' performer I've got this year," Rice said. "She's really made a reputation in a lot of circles. They love her out East."

Though she has her lighter moments, Schmidt sings of weightier subjects, like the power of love, on many of her recordings. Her usual instrumental repertoire and occasional wordless vocals can create a dark-hued, otherworldly sound that is both strange and beautiful.

Mix in strands of original poetry and verses by D.H. Lawrence and Wallace Stevens and you've got an act that's both gratifying and unforgettable.

Ethnics, homegrown alike on event playbill

Fred's Not Irish

Fred's Not Irish may describe the band member but it doesn't describe the band.

Detroit area resident Fred Klein—who plays accordion, keyboards and sings backup—doesn't understand his passion for Celtic music but knows it's an impulse he can't deny. The band he heads plays traditional Irish and Scottish songs.

Klein and other members of Fred's Not Irish share a love of the real music rather than the faded "green beer" fare too often presented. Thoughtful interpretations of old ballads, newly composed songs and the driving beat of jigs and reels are at the heart of the group's work.

"They really rock—Emerald Isle-style," is the assessment of Folk and Bluegrass organizer Tom Rice. "They sure sound Irish to me."

Joining Klein in the band are spiritual siblings Wallace Hood, Richard McMullen, Marty Somberg, Terence McKinney and Colleen McCarthy.

Hood and McMullen come from Belfast, McKinney hails from Derry and Somberg lives in Ann Arbor. The band's lone lass, McCarthy, has been an Irish step dancer since the age of 5 and competed in the All-World Dance Championship held in Dublin.

Fred's Not Irish performs on a wide variety of traditional instruments, including pipes, accordion, guitar, mandolin, banjo, bouzouki, cittern, whistles and bodhran.

Their richly textured music and vocals bring about a genuine and irresistible sound that delights both traditionalists and contemporary music fans.

The Immigrants

With a Czech bass player, a German-Hungarian banjo/mandolinist, a British violinist and a lead singer and guitarist from Arizona, the Montreal based band, The Immigrants is a good example of cross-cultural folk music at its best.

As well as their original compositions, The Immigrants' repertoire includes a lively blend of Celtic, gypsy, North-African and East-European sounds delivered with great virtuosity and humor.

Accomplished instrumentalists and veteran performers, their eclectic, irreverent and extremely energetic show consistently gets audiences up on their feet.

Gifted owner and Folk and Bluegrass Festival organizer Tom Rice says The Immigrants play a brand of ethnic music that combines upbeat dance rhythms and plaintive, heart-rending expressiveness.

"They make those violins cry," Rice said.

Pat Donohue

Pat Donohue is an acoustic fingerpicking instrumentalist whose approach represents a unique blend of jazz improvisation, vintage blues, folk music and rhythm and blues.

"Pat is a phenomenal guitarist," said Folk and Bluegrass organizer Tom Rice. "He cuts across all musical styles and picks and chooses from whatever idiom suits his fancy. And he knows them all. The result is a highly original and innovative sound."

The St. Paul, Minn., native says he enjoys transcending musical categories in pursuit of his own stylistic signature.

"I've been influenced by Delta blues, ragtime, Dixieland jazz and country picking," he said. "I'm trying to capture the spirit of each and create my own style."

Donohue's critically acclaimed releases include Pat Donohue, Manhattan To Memphis, and Life Stories. They feature transcriptions of jazz and blues standards, as well as sensitive vocal treatments and personal interpretations of folk and R&B songs.

Donohue's later recordings were solo guitar projects showcasing his dexterity on numbers by Charlie Parker, Miles Davis and others.

"I've developed enough harmonic knowledge that I don't worry about the small points anymore," Donohue says. "If I know the melody and the chord progression, I can create my own arrangement."

The Dennis Cyporyn Band

From the opening rifts of their recent release Deja Vu Debut, the music of the Dennis Cyporyn Band is mostly mellow, sometimes ethereal and occasionally gorgeous.

It's also highly tasteful, whether Cyporyn is adding vocal chorus effects, creating Latin-baroque fusions or arranging a three-movement tour de force.

Though progressive approaches to traditional music have spawned a new type of practitioner and given rise to the term "newgrass," banjo-centered acoustic music still has its champions, as the sound of the Dennis Cyporyn Band shows.

The group, launched about four years ago, might not satisfy those who have an appetite for driving tempos or hummable melodic lines, but the results should not be judged by the expectations listeners have of bluegrass, folk music or mainstream jazz.

Banjoist Dennis Cyporyn also composes, and has written The Bluegrass Songbook. He has recorded three CDs on the Krypton label, based in Highland, Mich., and is currently working on a fourth original project.

Marc Thomas

Marc Thomas understands the magic of childhood. His warm, resonant voice and gentle manner of weaving humor and music create a musical celebration delightful for children and parents.

Marc's love of music and children converged when he began writing and performing children's music for his wife Janet's Sunday School classes. Along with music, he entertained the children with his puppet friend, Max The Moose.

In 1991, he formed a record company, "Joyful Heart Music," and produced his first album, Max The Moose. The album is a delightful mix of Marc's original material and traditional favorites.

Marc's second album, Beautiful Moosic, was released in the fall of 1992. This tape introduced more original songs and some creative adaptations of traditional tunes.

In March, 1994, the tape album, Max The Moose Wakes Up Spring, was released.

Since attending the National Self-Esteem Convention in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1989, Marc has been incorporating his interest in child self-esteem in his music.

Marc's concerts for young children always feature songs from his albums.

The children participate through movement and musical activities, while Max The Moose adds his own kind of giddy moose humor.

Marc's performance credits include schools and libraries throughout the Great Lakes region and appearances at numerous festivals. Television appearances include the PBS Channel 56 children's program "Daedal Doors."

Neil Woodward

Neil Woodward is an award-winning multi-instrumentalist, singer, songwriter, and folk historian. His study of American music began as a youngster, teaching himself to play songs of his parents and grandparents.

Today Neil walks the time-honored path of the troubadour whose work is a commentary on our life and times, yet stands as a tribute to those who have gone before. His tunes and tales form a compelling testimony of our human heritage.

With his appearance at this year's festival, Neil will keep intact his unbroken streak of having performed at all 19 Northville Folk and Bluegrass festivals.

Featuring the sounds of virtually every traditional North American folk instrument, Neil Woodward's performances reflect America's living history. From centuries-old ballads, dance music and 1800s lumber-jack verses, to blues, train songs and original compositions, Neil's concerts and workshops have entertained and enlightened preschoolers, senior citizens and everyone in between.

He is a fluent performer on 6-string and steel guitars, fiddle, mandolin, dulcimer, penny-whistle, ukulele and other string instruments.

Through his varied performance experiences Neil is at home on a street corner, in a classroom, at a barn dance, in church, on television, radio and recording studios.

His release, Crossroads Serenade, is a collection of traditional North American music which has been cataloged by the Archive of Folk Culture, Library of Congress, Washington, D.C.

What is Huntington's

An illness of both mind and body, Huntington's is an inherited, degenerative brain disorder. Symptoms generally appear between the ages of 30 and 50, but have appeared in patients as young as 2 and as old as 70.

Children of HD-affected parents have a 50 percent chance of inheriting the disease. Progression usually lasts 10 to 25 years.

Personality changes include depression, euphoria and mood swings. Other symptoms are slurred speech, unsteady gait, involuntary, dance-like movements, impaired judgment, difficulty swallowing, and an intoxicated appearance.

Huntington's is a neurological disorder that disables and ultimately kills its victims. Though there is no cure for the affliction, medical science has made important advances and there is cause for hope.

The Huntington's chromosome was first identified in 1983, then in 1993, researchers scored a major victory in finding the defective gene that underlies the disease. This breakthrough was made by the Human Genome Project, an ambitious undertaking whose aim is to identify all human genes. One of the principal researchers in the project, Dr. Francis Collins, will appear at this year's festival and even plunk out a few tunes on the banjo and guitar.

The discovery of the Huntington's gene capped a difficult, 10-year hunt. The find does not necessarily mean a cure will follow, but it could ultimately give physicians the ability to prevent the gene's fatal effects.

University of Michigan researchers, including Dr. Collins, participated in discovering the gene that causes Huntington's disease. ## A message from Tom

It never ceases to amaze me how far we've come from that first festival in 1977 when we set up a stage off the back porch of our old store and spent a long, cold afternoon listening to folk and bluegrass music.

That's how it all began with our first annual festival to benefit Huntington's disease research almost two decades ago.

I lost my half sister, Donna Jarski, to Huntington's in 1974. Just before her passing she asked me to do anything I could for her three children - Lori, Dean, and Sean - "who are at risk of contracting this hereditary disease."

I took that promise to heart, and my wife, Rita, and I came up with the idea of holding a benefit to raise funds for Huntington's research.

Marjorie Guthrie, the wife of folk legend Woody Guthrie, spent over 10 years watching her husband deteriorate in mental institutions, suffering with HD. She fulfilled a promise to him that she would educate legislators in Congress to appropriate funds for HD research. In 1984 Marjorie, who every year addressed our festival audiences, passed away, knowing we were headed in the right direction.

There has been progress in the research of genetic, neurological diseases, and there is more hope than ever as medical science, in 1993, isolated and identified the gene that causes HD. This year I'm pleased and honored that one of the major contributors to that breakthrough research, Dr. Francis Collins, has agreed to attend the festival and even participate in music making with us on stage.

There has been a growing public awareness of Huntington's disease, and it's a real comfort to the families afflicted or at risk to know that we support them. Despite the advances, though, a lot more needs to be done.

So now, on behalf of my family and my late sister, I personally invite you to join us at Ford Field July 30 in a great day of music and fun to further fight this devastating illness and celebrate the timeless spirit of Woody Guthrie and Donna Jarski to whom the festival is dedicated.

—Tom and Rita Rice and family

Genitti's to stage preview dinner

Folk fans who would rather listen to the festival performers in a comfortable, intimate atmosphere will have the chance to do just that at Genitti's Hole-in-The-Wall restaurant Saturday, July 29.

Genitti's, one of the sponsors of the 19th Annual Northville Folk and Bluegrass Festival, is bringing in headliners Claudia Schmidt and Josh White Jr. for an evening dinner/concert. Guests will enjoy Genitti's famous seven-course meal and relax to the folk and humor songs of outstanding entertainers.

Proceeds will benefit the Hunt-ington's Disease Society of America, Southeast Michigan Chapter. Genitti's is located at 108 Main. Call 349-0522 for reservations.

"It'll be just like the old Raven coffee house atmosphere," festival organizer Tom Rice said. "This is a great way to listen to mellow, acoustic music. It'll be a throw back to another time."

Tickets are $35. Dinner begins at 6 p.m. and the concert is expected to start at around 7:30.

The performers will charm the audience and have them in the palm of their hands. Guaranteed," Rice said.

Couple request lot split

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Members of the Northville Township Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) wrestled with difficult questions at their meeting last Monday night as they considered an area developer's controversial request for a variance.

Where do the rights of a property owner end and those of his neighbor begin? How flexible does the law need to be in order to be fair? Can it bend so much so often that it eventually becomes meaningless?

At issue is a plan by developers Ed and Barbara Funke for land they own in the Northville Hills subdivision off Main Street just east of Beck Road. Current township ordinance allows the couple to divide the land into two home lots but the Funkes want to split their property into three lots with a median size of 1.1 acres.

To do that, they will need the ZBA to approve a variance from a recently-enacted ordinance which requires them to make their lots at least as big as the median lot size of all properties for 500 feet around. That surrounding lot median size is at least 1.2 acres, putting the Funkes' lots at least one-tenth of an acre short.

The exact surrounding median size is in dispute, however. The Funkes say it's 1.2 acres. Residents who live near the property claim it's higher and the calculations from the township's planning consultants are unclear, all of which led members of the ZBA to table the variance request at their July 17 meeting.

The ZBA will take up the matter again when the consultants have reviewed the numbers, likely within the next six weeks.

Attorney Norman Hyman, the Funkes' representative, urged the board to approve the variance no matter what the exact size difference between their lots and those in the area turned out to be. Flexibility and fairness is what the ordinance is all about, he argued.

"Whatever the median is, the difference is not enough to warrant imposing this hardship on the Funkes," Hyman said. "There's a real strong element of unfairness here if the ordinance is invoked. I know what the ordinance says. I also know what the ordinance intends, which is to create harmony among lots in the area," Hyman said.

The small difference in size between the Funke lots and those in the area will be in keeping with that spirit, the attorney claimed. In fact, Hyman claimed that their lots would be equal to or larger than more than half of the homes within the 500-foot circle.

He added that the Funkes plan to build their own home on one of the lots.

"We are not simply dealing with a speculator here who will walk away from the situation," Hyman said. "It's in their interest to have a high-quality development."

That opinion wasn't one shared by others at the meeting who live near the Funke property. They urged the board to reject the variance, arguing that granting it would be an infringement on their rights because the smaller lots would alter the qualities of their whole area.

"It really is definitely going to affect the character of the neighborhood," resident Tom Griebel said.

"It is a direct violation of the pattern of the neighborhood," resident Mary Peskey said. "Our hardships should be considered. We've invested a lot of money in our homes and properties."

Resident Karen Watkins cautioned the board against taking the first step down a slippery slope.

"There was a reason this ordinance was passed," she said. "If you start chipping away at it now, even if it's just a fraction of an acre, what's next?"

The ZBA will also decide if the shape of the Funke lots meet the definition of a rectangle, as township ordinance requires. Once their decisions on that issue and the variance have been made the matter returns to the commission for final approval or rejection.

The Northville Record

Mill Race Matters

This week the Northville Historical Society wishes to thank Jane Hammond Leford for her donation to the Northville Community Archives. The donation includes Northville High School Palladiums for 1955-56 as well as high school diplomas dated 1923 and 1926.

The two Leford Palladiums helped to complete a full set for the Historical Society. Attempts to locate Palladiums from 1926, 1934, 1935, 1937, 1939, 1941 through 1954, 1959, 1961, 1965 through 67, 1972, 1979, and since 1983 continue. Please contact 348-1845 if you would like to donate any of these volumes.

Another thank you goes to the Country Garden Club of Northville for their financial contribution to aid in the care and maintenance of Mill Race Village. Since early in the village's history this group has cared for one of the gardens in the village. They recently sponsored their second annual community garden walk using Mill Race as a location to provide refreshment. The walk drew a large crowd of garden enthusiasts.

Visitors are welcome in the village from sun-up to sundown daily. Although buildings are closed the signage gives brief histories of each and the gardens and grounds are easily visible.

Volunteer docents keep the buildings open each Sunday afternoon from 1 until 4 p.m. Additional volunteers are always needed. If you'd like to help show off our community contact 348-1845.

Prior to the arrival of New Yorkers of Anglo Saxon ancestry during the 1820s, the Northville region was visited by groups of wandering Native Americans. No record of any permanent settlement in this community has been located, but a number of interesting artifacts and stories have come to light. In her recent publication Revelations of the Rouge River, Julie Fountain discusses a few of these.

In 1993, the Torriglia family found a stone point while excavating to improve an existent basement. James Payne, assistant graduate student for the University of Michigan Archeology Clinic, concluded that the point is a small prehistoric spear point similar to others made three to four thousand years ago.

The point's smoothness indicates it spent some time underwater. The early people probably used it for spear fishing in the waters on the edge of the receding glaciers.

In the recent past, up until the 1830s, the Native American group which populated this region was the Pottowatomie. Early settlers in this region Abraham Markham, Silas Sly and others told of contact with these people. Plymouth historian Helen Gilbert, also discusses events surrounding these early peoples in her two Tonquish Tales publications.

Both books are available through the Northville Historical Society. They can be obtained at the Village's Country Store. The cost of both publications is $6.

Also available are a few remaining copies of Jack Hoffman's Northville: The First One Hundred Years for $15, Step By Step Through Northville by Diane Rockall and Barbara Louie for $6, Early Northville by Laura Smyth Hixson for $5, and Northville, The Ideal Suburban Community for $2.50.

Most of these books can also be obtained from the Bookstall on Main with proceeds going to the Historical Society.

Residents object to theme park

By JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writer

A proposal to bring a Family Aquatic Center to Novi made quite a splash among the residents of nearby subdivisions, who think the idea is all wet.

About 130 people from Addington Park, Dunbarton Pines, Royal Crown Estates, Yorkshire subdivisions turned out to tell the council that they're in favor of an old-fashioned swimming pool but think the $3.5 million concept - which calls for two pools, water slides, a lazy river and a wave pool - is not too cool at the originally proposed Taft Road location.

"Have you considered the noise that such a thing produces? ... When people swim and play in a water facility, they don't talk, they squeal and scream and shout. Is it fair to subject the homeowners in the area to that kind of racket all day, all summer?" Dunbarton Pines resident Irene Fleming asked.

While the city council was asked to approve a resolution to seek bids from architectural firms interested in drafting the design of the water park, instead they decided to send the proposal back to the citizens committee, with the recommendation that they heed the residents' comments. Three members of subdivisions near Taft Road are to be added to the aquatic center committee.

Monday saw the largest public protest the city has experienced since a design to place nature trails throughout subdivisions was dumped by the council.

In fact, Mayor Kathleen McLallen said the issue generated the most calls and comments she's had since she took over the helm as mayor in November 1993.

"This was just the first thought out of the box and boy did we get your attention," she said.

"We've been reminded we need to let you know sooner, more often and more frequently when things are perking along."

The aquatic center had been brought forward as a possible ballot question for November.

Monday's crowd was concerned about the proposed location on city land along Taft Road, south of Novi High School, due to increased traffic. They suggested that they didn't find the view of tall water slides especially slightly. While many of them said they feared their property values could also slide, others said they were concerned about the long-term financing of a proposal several termed "grandiose."

The protest united long-term Novi residents and newcomers.

Marion Holt, who's lived in Addington Park for 13 months, handed over a petition signed by the sub's residents, who are against the water park. Holt said the homeowners were disturbed because they had not been notified about the plans by the city.

"This thing is nuts. It should have been shut down and not even brought to the judge. The people in Novi here do not want to be considered a new Mecca Southfield," Dunbarton Pines resident Terry Ozog said.

Many residents were all for a scaled-down swimming pool, noting that they'd been sitting for years on waiting lists for pool clubs in communities such as Northville and Livonia.

But even Elaine Yocum, the president of the Spartan Aquatic Club said the group will not the Family Aquatic Center. The club, which draws half its membership from Novi, sponsors competitive swim meets for youngsters from age 6 through the college years.

"The proposed facility would not meet the need of teams," Yocum said.

Aquatic facility committee member Donna Bavarskas suggested that perhaps the residents didn't fully understand the scope of the project, which would be designed for Novi residents only. The Taft Road location is not set in stone, she said, urging citizens to provide their input to the committee, which was set up about two years ago after a number of local people rallied for a municipal pool.

"The competitive swim club has always wanted a facility geared towards a finite number of people. We feel a leisurely facility would be more acceptable to the majority of people," Bavarskas explained.

As proposed, the owner of a $150,000 would be assessed a millage of about $21 per year to pay for building the pool park. Residents would then be charged an estimated $4 daily fee with a $7 daily fee for non-residents. Or residents would have the option of purchasing a summer season pass for $100 for one person, $50 for the next immediate family member and $25 for each immediate family member after that, or $200 for a family of four.

plus 764 more Mission Health arrivals in June

Why do so many babies get their start in life at a Mission Health birthing facility? Maybe it's that Mission Health offers families more options in birthing facilities than any other area hospital network. Like LDR and LDRP rooms. Short-stay options. And high- and low-risk settings to match your particular needs. Maybe it's the availability of doctors throughout Washtenaw, Livingston, western Wayne and Oakland counties. Or nurse midwives available through Providence. Maybe it's the classes to help even first-time parents feel like experts. Or the options for pain relief, including labor epidurals, Jacuzzi tubs and other forms of water therapy. Maybe it's the commitment to quality care, where delivering healthy babies to healthy moms is one of our most important goals.

If you're considering a new addition, come see for yourself what Mission Health has to offer. Call to receive an information packet, to find out more about a tour or for a referral to a doctor near you.

Obituaries

LEO MIRUZZI

Leo Miruzzi, formerly of Livonia, died in Arizona on June 30, 1995, at the age of 72. He was born Nov. 27, 1922, in Malta to Paul and Maria Stella Miruzzi. Mr. Miruzzi lived most of his life in Livonia and was a member of the Livonia Amateur Radio Club before moving to Arizona. Surviving are his daughter, Patricia Svatora of Alto, Mich.; sons, Leo and Paul, both of Mesa, Ariz., and Mike of Thornton, Colo.; sister, Hilda Fammit; brothers, Roy, Art and John Miruzzi; and two grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his wife, Elsie, on Sept. 6, 1986. A service was held on Saturday, July 8, at Casterline Funeral home in Northville with Father Ernest Porcari, Our Lady of Victory Church, officiating. Interment took place at Rural Hill Cemetery, Northville.

MARY A. BREWER

Mary Ann Brewer, age 67, died July 20, 1995. She was a long-time employee of Manufacturer's Bank of Northville. Mrs. Brewer was the beloved wife of Samuel. She will be missed by her children, Dan (Judy), Lynda (Rick), Debbie (Tom), and Sandy (Don); and by her grandchildren, Brent, Ryan, Lauren, Kyle, Eric, Julie, Kevin, and Michael. At the request of the family, memorials may be directed to the Genesee Hospice, 100 S. Dort Highway, Flint, MI 48503.

MAY H. TYE

May H. Tye of Kalamazoo died July 18, 1995. Tye was born on Nov. 20, 1915, in Harlan, Ky., to George and Anne (Smith) Howard. She was a nursing supervisor in Northville, Mich. Surviving are a son, William R. of Kalamazoo; four grandchildren; four great-grandchildren; several nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by her husband, James William, and a son, George. Services were held July 20 at Redmond Funeral Home in Kalamazoo, with Pastor Tim Bero of the Community Orthodox Presbyterian Church, officiating. Interment was at Rust Haven Cemetery in Harlan, Ky.

Summer sun can harm infants

Babies have special summer needs and new parents should take precautions to protect their young ones from the sun.

Although you need to safeguard your baby's sensitive skin, sunscreen should not be applied to children under six months of age unless it is paba-free. If you're planning to take your infant outside, limit the exposure time to under a half-hour.

For protection, dress your baby in a lightweight, long-sleeved shirt and long pants.

A wide-brimmed, tie-on sun hat with protective neck flaps also serves as an effective cover up.

You can minimize direct exposure by remaining in the shade, but beware of rays reflected off water and sand.

And remember - even on cloudy days, 70 percent of harmful rays still penetrate the atmosphere.

As for older babies, a paba-free sunscreen may be applied.

$20,000 REWARD

For information leading to the arrest of two (2) men responsible for the theft of eleven (11) Rothschild's Orthopedics Light-Pro artificial limbs. The limbs were taken from the Perimeter Dunwoody Holiday Inn located at 4386 Chamblee Dunwoody Drive, Atlanta, Georgia. The theft occurred immediately after the completion of the March 1993 Regional Meeting of the Georgia Society of Orthotists and Prosthetists.

Mentors, companions needed

Northville Youth Assistance, the organization that matches adult volunteers with youths who need adult mentoring and companionship, begins a volunteer training program Sept. 14. Volunteers must complete a 5-week training session consisting of one, 3-hour session per week. NYA Director Mary Ellen King says NYA has a waiting list for boys who are in need of male friendship and role models. Particularly needy is a 5-year-old boy who experiences little contact with his natural father. Volunteers are asked to spend at least two hours a week with the youth with whom they've been paired. Call NYA at 344-1618 for volunteer information.

Party store gets 30-day extension to complete code work on building

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

Despite protests by residents, concerns expressed by city officials and a stern warning issued a month ago, the Northville Planning Commission granted the owner of Good Time Party Store another 30-day extension to bring his property into compliance with city building codes.

The commission's decision now gives store owner Jim Roth until the beginning of August to submit the necessary site plan documents and other related information so commission members can make a decision by their Aug. 15 meeting.

The decision angered property owners, who live behind the party store on Gardner Street and have been trying to get Roth to comply with the terms of a site plan that was filed nine years ago and is still not approved by the commission.

At issue, the property owners claim, is the need for a barrier separating the homes from the party store and realistic answers addressing soil erosion and drainage problems.

"They said at the last meeting that (Roth) would have until this meeting to correct the problem," said Gardner Street resident Lorie Boshoven. "He didn't do that, and now the commission is giving him more time."

Roth was before the commission attempting to receive approval for a change of building use to his site plan.

The commission threatened to recommend removal of Roth's temporary certificate of occupancy at a meeting June 20 if he didn't comply with the terms of the 1986 site plan by the July 18 meeting.

That decision prompted city manager Gary Word to admit that the city may have allowed the compliance issue to go on too long.

The commission may have acted too hastily, however, in issuing a 30-day ultimatum to Roth at the June 22 meeting, according to city planning consultant Don Wortman.

"Maybe we didn't provide (Roth) with enough time to correct the problems," he said.

"Mr. Roth and his architect seem to be on the right track," Wortman said. "I think we're all interested in getting this problem resolved."

Roth's architect, Dan DiComo, said his first priority is to bring the party store into compliance with the original 1986 site plan.

"I'm trying to narrow down the old deficiencies and correct them, and then begin addressing the additional issues that have been raised," DiComo said.

The non-compliance issue is not the only problem facing the party store.

Roth also has yet to complete paving that the city currently has bonded for, and the final certificate of approval has not been issued for the Hungry Howie Pizza store, located on Roth's property next to the party store.

Gardner Street resident Jeff Snyder said he was "disappointed" that the commission didn't stick to its word.

"I attended the last meeting and I could have sworn that the commission said that they would take care of this problem," he said.

Commission members agreed that if Roth has done nothing to move towards compliance by the Aug. 15 meeting they will strongly recommend withdrawal of the store's temporary certificate of occupancy.

The commission also strongly urged Roth and DiComo to continue meeting with Gardner Street residents to diffuse the controversy, which has caused tension between the two sides for some time.

"I think you are going to see more delays," Snyder said. "Most people don't take nine years to comply with their own site plan. If he would just comply with the code we'd be happy."

Last call for poets wishing to enter contest

Sparrowgrass Poetry Forum Inc. is offering a grand prize of $500 in the "Awards of Poetic Excellence" poetry contest. Other cash awards are also being offered. The contest is free to enter.

Poets may enter one poem only,

20 lines or less, on any subject, in any style. The contest closes July 31. Poets are encouraged to submit their work as soon as possible.

Poems entered in the contest also will be considered for publication in the Spring 1996 edition of Poetic Voices of America, a hard-cover anthology to be published in February, 1996. Anthology purchase may be required to ensure publication, but is not required to enter or win the contest. Prize winners will be notified by Sept. 30.

Poems should be sent to Sparrowgrass Poetry Forum Inc., 203 Diamond Street, Sistersville, WV 26175, Attn: Dept. EM for the Distinguished Poets Awards and Dept. G for the Awards of Poetic Excellence.

Lorenzo named to chair; Taub keeps his planning post

By SHARON CRODRON
Staff Writer

She was vice chair of the Novi Planning Commission, but next year Laura Lorenzo will be stepping into the big chair.

Lorenzo was elected to the one-year term as chair on July 19. Commissioner Glen Bonaventura will serve as her understudy as vice chair, while Commissioner Robert Taub retains his office as secretary, even though his commission seat may be in jeopardy.

Mayor Kathy McLallen didn't recommend Taub for a second term on the planning panel when she appointed new commissioner, Arthur Vettrus to a three year term, and reappointed Pete Hoadley two weeks ago. City council has yet to name his replacement.

Vettrus took his seat at the commission table the same day commissioners made their nominations for commission offices.

Lorenzo was appointed to the commission in 1992 to fill an expired term. Last year, she was reappointed to a full three year term. Her tenure expires in 1997.

Her biggest goal for the coming year will be to keep commissioners on track and in order.

"I'm going to try to keep the debate focused on the issues," she said. "I want to try to stay away from personality issues and see us maintain a tone of respect and cooperation."

Commissioners have butted heads several times in the past year, Lorenzo said, especially when it came time to vote on controversial issues. Often times the discussion veered from the issue at hand and focused instead on differences of opinion which led to some name calling and pitted commissioners against each other.

"Commissioners may stray from time to time on the issues and we've had personality conflicts. It's hard to keep control but it can be done."

Lorenzo was the sole nominee for the chair. To prep for the position she has been brushing up on Roberts Rules of Order, the guide the commission uses to conduct business and define commissioner's roles and behavior.

"I've been trying to bone up on those," she said because she'll need them as the leader of the group. "I'm on cordial and friendly terms with all of my peers on the commission, but when you're in a leadership role you have to take the lead. It can be done and it can be done politely."

Fund-raiser held for crime victim

Al's Copper Mug, 1704 W. Maple, Walled Lake, and T&D Productions will host a Texas style blues bash and fund raiser Aug. 6 from 1-9 p.m. to benefit Wally Stahl who was run over by a car whose driver had been stealing his amplifier and speakers.

Because of his actions in trying to stop the thief, he ended up in the hospital with a broken arm and leg. In two places, and having to have surgery on his ankle. He still needs knee surgery because of shattered bone chips. He has no health insurance.

The bash will be held under the big tent with music (five bands), beer, hot dogs, Italian sausage and hamburgers. The bands that will be headlining the show will be Blue Suit Blues Band, Sunset Blues Band, City Limits, Val Vetro Group, Enny Baron and The Blues A Holics.

There will also be a lady Texas contest for the most authentic Texan attire. There will be a 50/50 raffle (drawing around 8 p.m.). Tickets are available in advance. The proceeds of the event will go to aid Stahl.

Northville sidewalk sales

Some of the best shopping deals of the year will be made on the sidewalks of Northville this Saturday. The annual Sidewalk Sale, sponsored by the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, takes place July 29, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and will feature many merchants in the historic downtown area. The popular event is geared towards bringing people downtown, and provides for some great buys with merchants discounting all sorts of items. Past sales have drawn many people into the downtown and, according to Carolyn Brown of the Chamber, the sidewalk sale provides a different shopping experience from that of the large shopping malls in the metro Detroit area. "The sale gives people a chance to enjoy shopping again," Brown said. "They can enjoy the cool breezes, the music, and the sights and sounds of people having fun shopping in an outdoor downtown atmosphere."

Also included in this year's event will be a book sale, sponsored by the Friends of the Northville Public Library. The sale will take place at the gazebo. Entertainment will be provided by the Joe Vitale Band, which will perform from noon to 3 p.m. at the bandshell. Merchants wanting to take part in the sale need to register with the Chamber of Commerce at 349-7640.

Main Street, Novi

Contracts signed to make project reality

By JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writer

Main Street, Novi may soon be a place on the map.

The Novi City Council, not so long ago threatened with a possible recall over the issue, Monday signed off on their end of a series of contracts needed to make the $50 million project at Grand River Avenue and Novi Road a reality. Construction on the street itself is expected to begin some time this year.

The majority of five, with Council Member Carol Mason in dissent, agreed to:

- Swap 3,350 acres of city land valued at $490,000 for 2,718 acres of road right-of-way, owned by developers Evergreen III and valued by an appraiser at $600,000.

- Set up a $1.9 million contract special assessment district (SAD) for the ring road which will be Main Street and a $1.82 million special assessment district for the streetscape, i.e., the landscaping and other decorative niceties such as a tower.

- Authorize the sale by the city of $3 million in transportation bonds, some of which will be used for an earlier voter-approved road bond project and the rest for the $1.9 million ring road. Also OK'd the sale of $1.7 million in SAD bonds for the streetscape.

The city will use the bond money up front to build the project, while future property holders along Main Street will be required to pay back the initial sum plus interest through the SAD.

- Lease to Evergreen III for 20 years 2,718 acres of city land next to Fire Station One for a public parking lot. The rent is $1 a year and Evergreen III is expected to build the lot.

- Vacate the right-of-way to Blue Ox Drive, an estimated $155,000 in value. This was done after a public hearing before some 130 residents, none of whom wished to speak to the issue.

Blue Ox Drive is to the east of Novi Road and connects Coach-and-Four and Paul Bunyan drives. Main Street will run across it.

As part of the terms of the contract, the city advised Evergreen III that some of the land it is trading is polluted and that the city expects to undertake the removal of contaminated soils. The City of Novi has also agreed that the cost of any cleanup of contaminated ground water at the publicly-owned land, which city officials allege comes from off-site, will not be included in the construction costs of Main Street or be charged to members of the SAD. City land in question includes the Aladdin Building, the former fire hall along Novi Road and the old township hall next to it.

"After months of discussion on the project, consensus was reached by the majority on the resolutions with limited discussion.

"We're not making a good deal. We're giving $1 million worth of property to the developer and we get to maintain Main Street," Mason said.

The council also agreed to rebid the streetscape project after planners were dismayed on July 12 to find that the lowest bid, $1.53 million, was $266,000 than the estimated prepared by designer John Beckett of Beckett-Raeder Associates.

"The estimates were prepared with the best knowledge we have at this time. Why did it come in so high? I don't know. I think there's a general consensus that contractors are busy at this time of year, their workloads are full. These estimates are not guesstimates," Beckett told the council.

OCC puts new money into budget

By TIM RICHARD
Special Writer

Trustees decided to put more of Oakland Community College's new tax money into maintenance and capital equipment, cutting new instructional programs.

"There are holes in the carpets. People are tripping over cords," said trustee Carol Crew of Waterford.

"Our buildings are in bad shape," agreed Judith Wiser of West Bloomfield, pointing to the Orchard Ridge Campus' pool (shut down), auditorium and lack of air conditioning.

The board approved 6-1 trustee Douglas Wakefield's amendment to the administration budget for 1995-96 that will:

- Raise deferred maintenance projects to $15.5 million from the proposed $11.5 million.

- Raise capital equipment purchases to $6 million from $5 million.

- Take the necessary $5 million from new and expanded academic programs, cutting that item to $1.5 million.

Otherwise, the board agreed with Chancellor Patsy Calkins' proposed $98 million general fund budget, enriched $27 million this year by voter approval in June of a 0.8 mill increase in the property tax. State aid is up 2.46 percent, less than the rate of inflation.

Student tuition is unchanged — $46 per credit hour for Oakland residents. Tuition revenue is expected to drop one percent to $25.5 million because of an expected credit-hour drop. Student headcount for all semesters is expected to be nearly 78,000, up 3.9 percent.

OCC played cautiously by allotting $2 million for pre-funding health benefits for retirees. An April state Supreme Court decision, under appeal by Gov. John Engler's administration, said those benefits must be funded, insurance-style, at the time of retirement, not paid out of future years' budgets.

Trustee Anne Scott of Royal Oak dissented on the decision to hike maintenance and capital at the expense of academic programs. From the audience, Chuck Neumann, faculty union spokesman, agreed with Scott. "It's easy to see buildings, but the curriculum is in disrepair," said Neumann, a math instructor.

Chancellor Calkins also cautioned the board that it may be difficult to spend the entire maintenance budget in one year. "I agree we need to get as much going on maintenance as we possibly can. We will come back to you with priorities and establish a list — by the October board meeting," she said.

But the maintenance work may be slowed, she said, by bad weather and the need to minimize disruption of classes.

The voter-approved property tax hike can be collected for seven years. In the campaign, college leaders said maintenance and capital would be top priorities the first two years, with more going into new instructional programs in the latter years.

In related business, the board:

- Held up for a month awarding a contract to renovate the Orchard Ridge Campus pool, which was closed and drained in spring because of a leaking liner.

Helen Kieba-Tolkendorf, chief financial officer, asked the delay because she was dissatisfied with lack of lighting in the pool's deep end. The board had been ready to award a $98,000 contract to Chester Pool Systems of Sellersburg, Ind., the only firm to bid on all four phases of the project.

- Awarded a contract for new signs for the Auburn Hills and Southfield campuses to Earl Daup Signs of Flint whose $88,000 bid was $25,000 lower than two competitors.

- Help up for a month a faculty union proposal to name H Building, the Orchard Ridge Campus gym, for Thomas McPhillips, a physics professor who died March 18 at the age of 56. The OCC Faculty Association resolution called him "a significant contributor to the physical education and sports program" for 26 years.

But board chair Janice Simmons of Pontiac had the proposal turned over to an administration-employees' committee to work out a policy for honoring deceased staffers. "There's not enough buildings to name after everyone who does an outstanding job for OCC," said Simmons. (The college has set up a scholarship fund in McPhillips' name.)

- Turned a deaf ear to trustee Sandra Ritter's continued attack on OCC's continued membership in the Michigan Community College Association. Ritter said MCCA has failed to lobby successfully for more state aid for OCC.

Replied Scott: "Our voice is louder if we're part of a group. Idea-wise, we're far ahead by working with them."

Added Wakefield: "It shouldn't be us against them (28 other community colleges). A house divided against itself cannot stand."

OCC administrators, faculty and board members are conducting a two-day special meeting Wednesday and Thursday, July 26-27, in J-306 of the Orchard Ridge Campus, 1-696 at Orchard Lake Road, Farmington Hills. Purposes are to develop a mission statement and strategic directions for 1996-98.

Health Notes

Immunization clinic

The Oakland County Health Division will be offering an immunization clinic for Walled Lake and surrounding areas at the Walled Lake United Methodist Church, 313 Northport, Walled Lake, on Tuesday, Aug. 1, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Immunizations for measles, German measles, mumps, polio, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and Haemophilus influenzae Type B (HIB) will be available.

A parent or legal guardian must accompany a child under 18 years of age. Please bring any previous records of immunizations, including notices which might have been sent home from the child's school pertaining to immunizations.

Immunizations will be given at the same time and location on the first Tuesday of every month. The next scheduled immunization clinic will be on Sept. 5.

For further information, call 858-1305.

Health conferences

Oakland County Health Division's Child Health Conferences provide free ongoing well care for children from birth to school entry. Families who do not have an HMO or Medicaid may be eligible. Clinics are held at 14 locations throughout Oakland County.

Services include: Heights and weights, head to toe physical examination, immunizations, vision, hearing and lab testing, growth and developmental screening, counseling with referrals to physicians and area resources as needed.

Appointment is required. For more information, call: North Oakland, 858-1311 or 858-4001, or South Oakland, 424-7066 or 424-7067.

Parents' class

Since parenthood is a new adventure to many, Providence Hospital and Medical Centers is pleased to present a class designed for prospective parents and the parents of infants.

A registered dietitian on staff at Providence Hospital will answer questions about infant nutrition, including breast and bottle feeding. The class will also address changes in the dietary needs of infants from birth to one year of age.

The class is scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 10, from 7-9 p.m., in Conference Room A of Providence Medical Center-Providence Park in Novi (47601 Grand River Avenue at Beck Road). There is a $10 fee to attend and advanced registration is required. To register or to obtain additional information, call 1-800-968-5595.

Orientation Class

Providence Medical Center-Providence Park in Novi is offering prospective parents an orientation class for the New Life Center, a first-of-its-kind obstetrical unit. The presentation will include information necessary to be a participant of this exciting alternative to traditional hospital birth.

The Center offers a new and innovative labor-delivery-recovery-postpartum (LDRP) program for low-risk mothers. Care is provided in private, home-like rooms. Mother and baby then return home within 24 hours after birth.

The orientation session is being offered from 7:45 to 9:15 p.m., on Friday, July 28. A second date, Friday, Aug. 4, is for those who choose to deliver at the New Life Center at Providence Park. There is no charge for this class, but space is limited. To register, call 1-800-806-BABY.

Sally the Surgery Star

If your child is scheduled for surgery, it can be a very frightening experience for them. Providence Hospital and Medical Centers continues its "Sally the Surgery Star" program to help little ones deal with a hospital stay.

The child is taken on a tour and is familiarized with the surgical experience. A variety of educational materials and supportive teaching tools are used to help the child deal positively with the idea of a hospital stay. At the end of the tour, the child is honored as a "Surgery Star."

Tours are offered at both Providence Hospital in Southfield and Providence Medical Center-Providence Park in Novi. Call (810) 424-3978 to arrange a tour at Providence Hospital and (810) 380-4170 to arrange a tour at Providence Park.

Salem homeowners irked by trucks headed to landfill

By Taylor Lincoln
Staff Writer

Some Salem Township residents are complaining about renegade trucks that are travelling off their standard haul route, sometimes well above the speed limit. Most of the trucks are presumed to be on their way to or from the Arbor Hills Landfill.

In at least one case, a truck struck a car as its driver was turning into her driveway on Napier Road. The truck driver was ruled at fault, but the owner of the car may have to bear more than $600 of the expenses to repair her car.

Residents near the Arbor Hills landfill aired their complaints about the trucks during last week's public hearing on a proposed recycling center on the north side of Six Mile Road. Browning-Ferris Industries, the owner of the landfill, is proposing the recycling center.

During the public hearing, the residents complained about current truck traffic while lamenting the prospect of more.

"Those trucks do 65 miles-per-hour on that road. They shake the house. Windows move when that happens," said Dena Courtney who lives north of Six Mile on Napier Road. "It's gotten to the point where you just grab your dogs and your kids and get them off the street."

The landfill-host agreement between BFI and Salem Township calls for trucks to follow a set haul route to and from the landfill. They are supposed to take M-14 to Beck Road, Beck to Five Mile Road, and Five Mile to Napier. But Courtney and others who live on Napier north of Six Mile Road, complained that the trucks are traveling off course.

John Myers, who manages the Arbor Hills landfill, encouraged residents to call Arbor Hills to report any trucks that are off course or going too fast. "We need to know those things so we can clamp down on those customers. Call the landfill office, get the truck number," he said.

Myers said that the trucks should have a three-digit number on their sides. If residents are unable to get the truck number, they should try to get the license plate number or the name of the carrier. Once they get the number they should call Arbor Hills and tell the company the time of the incident. Myers can be reached at 810-349-7230.

During the meeting, one resident reported that her car had been hit by a garbage truck which was headed away from the landfill. Sandra Ingalls, who lives north of Six Mile on Napier Road, was struck from behind by a City Environmental Services truck as she was turning into her driveway on May 22. Ingalls was uninjured, except for some general soreness, but her 1985 Ford Mustang received damage to its left-rear fender area. The truck left a 32-yard skid mark before hitting Ingalls.

The driver of the truck, James Andrew Stevens, was ticketed in the accident by Northville Township police. Prior to the incident, Stevens had accumulated 11 tickets over the past 10 years. He has six points on his record, which are for tickets incurred in the past two years. He is contesting the current ticket.

With six points, Stevens should have received correspondence from the Michigan Secretary of State informing him of his total. The current ticket would give Stevens at least eight points, garnering him an official "warning" from the Secretary of State. A Michigan driver loses his license after accumulating 12 points.

Brian Rossignol, an operations manager for City Environmental Services, went out to the accident scene to take pictures of the damage. According to Ingalls, Rossignol asked her to get "a few estimates" and said that City Environmental Services would pay for the damage.

Ingalls obtained three estimates, ranging from $1,016-$1,365 for the damage.

But Ingalls later received a letter from the company's insurance division saying that City Environmental Services would only pay the $400 it is liable for under Michigan's no-fault insurance law. Rossignol, contacted by The Herald, denies that he told Ingalls that his company would pay.

Ingalls says that she believes City Environmental Services has an ethical, if not legal, responsibility to pay for the damage.

"I am willing to go with the cheap estimate. I just want the extra $600," she said. "I feel that this is very wrong that they treat people this way."

Myers said that BFI is looking into the incident, but said he had yet to receive an answer as to whether the truck had a right to go off the standard haul route.

Only trucks which have local pick-ups are permitted to deviate from the haul route. Myers said that he has yet to receive an answer from City Environmental Services as to whether the truck's next stop was at a local venue.

Educator goes to bat for retention of code

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Keep a strong state School Code, teacher Michael Horner told the Michigan Senate Education Committee recently, because the "free market" can't do the job.

The North Farmington High math teacher ripped former General Motors President Lloyd Reuss' published remarks on the market system's ability to provide good schools.

"Cars today deliver only one percent of the pollution they did 20 years ago. We have seat belts for safety. We have CAFE (fuel economy) standards set by the government," Horner said, although automakers had to be brought "kicking and screaming" to meet standards only government can set.

"If circumstances forced me to move, I'd like to know there are common standards statewide for teacher certification, curriculum and assessment," Horner said to the delight of 100 people who packed the Senate panel's hearing in Farmington.

All but one or two in the audience felt the same way. It led Republican Sens. Leon Stille of Spring Lake and Doug Carl of Mount Clemens to put much space between themselves and Gov. John Engler, who called for repeal of the School Code in his State of the State message last winter.

In fact, Stille, the chair, and Carl, the vice-chair, even distanced themselves from Senate majority leader Dick Posthumus, who in February issued a news release prematurely announcing, "Senate Republicans repeal School Code."

"From my viewpoint, the gears have changed. We're headed toward revision rather than change," said Stille, a freshman senator and former IBM marketing manager.

"The notion of repealing the School Code did not come from the Senate," added Carl, the Legislature's best known conservative fundamentalist.

The dissenting voice was Patricia Alspack, a Farmington parent who blamed "village idiots" for state school standards. The seventh-grade state MEAP test contains a story written at the fourth-grade level, she said, calling for Michigan's use of national standards. Alspack blistered the adulation of "diversity" in public schools because "United we stand; divided we fall." She debunked "multi-culturalism" because "whites are lumped into one group" — whether they're English, Scotch, German or New Yorkers.

"I'm fighting (low school standards) while other parents pull their kids out of public schools," she said — to the applause of one person.

Michigan's frequently-amended, 1,800-section School Code provides for the organization, governance, teacher certification, school accreditation, and academic requirements for the 560-plus K-12 public school districts. There's wide agreement it's too detailed and cumbersome, requiring too much paperwork. Beyond that, political interest groups are all over the map.

Debra Lang, a Bloomfield Hills administrator speaking for Oakland curriculum directors, accused the Legislature of "creating a hostile environment for public education." Private schools

"If circumstances forced me to move, I'd like to know there are common standards statewide for teacher certification, curriculum and assessment,"

—Michael Horner
North Farmington High teacher depend on public schools for special education, consultants, psychologists, drug education and pupil transportation but then boast they're better.

Lang cited an unnamed private school charging $11,400 per-pupil tuition that "couldn't afford" to teach a handicapped youngster. She added, "His MEAP test scores will be lumped in with ours."

Darlene Janulis, Rochester school board member, was one of many voices asking retention of teacher certification standards — another of Gov. Engler's targets. "Teaching is a gift. To presume, because you have a forte for math, that you can teach it — no," said Janulis.

four." He added, "Economic illiteracy is a luxury we can no longer afford."

Karen Miller, Southfield school board member, was one of several urging the continued ban on "parochial" — proposed state aid to private and church-related schools. That line was often applauded. Sen. Carl, the sponsor of an amendment to lift the parochial ban, didn't comment.

Mark Katz, Berkeley school board member, had a technical idea that could save school districts money: Allow schools to establish "lines of credit" at their banks, so they would pay interest only on what they borrow rather than have to borrow a fixed sum, whether they need the total or not.

Several, including Rochester's Janulis, called for striking out the requirement of bilingual schooling — teaching a Spanish-speaking student in his own language. Questioned on this point by Sen. Gary Peters, R-Bloomfield Township, Janulis said, "24 countries are represented in Rochester English as a second language has more relevance."

State high court upholds conviction

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

The Michigan Supreme Court has upheld the involuntary manslaughter conviction of Roger D. Knipe, the first of two drivers to hit pedestrian Steven Barnes in a fatal Canton Township accident.

The high court decided 4-3 that Knipe could be convicted for being "a" cause in a criminal prosecution. The dissenters said the prosecutor should prove a more direct causal connection.

Knipe was drunk at 1:50 a.m. Aug. 25, 1990, while driving south on Haggerty Road in a dark area near Cherry Hill Road. Barnes, wearing shorts and was barefoot as he slowly crossed Haggerty and was struck in the left-turn lane.

"As a result of the impact, he (Barnes) was thrown from the left-turn lane into the middle of the northbound lane of Haggerty Road. As the witness knelt over Barnes, a second car approached. The witness tried to flag the car down, but it drove over Barnes, causing severe internal injuries and narrowly avoiding contact with the witness," said the court's summary.

"Expert testimony indicated that both sets of injuries were severe and independently could have resulted in Barnes' death," said the majority opinion. The second driver was unidentified.

In a bench trial, Detroit Recorder's Judge Michael F. Sapala convicted Knipe and placed him on five years probation, with the first year to be spent on a tether. The tether was later removed.

Sapala ruled it was sufficient to prove Knipe was "a" proximate cause of the death, despite (1) Barnes' contributory negligence of walking in the left-turn lane of a dark road and (2) the second driver's negligence.

A Court of Appeals panel reversed the conviction, but Prosecutor John O'Hair appealed and won. Voting to uphold the conviction were Justices Conrad Mallett Jr., Patricia Boyle, Dorothy Comstock Riley and Elizabeth Weaver. Mallett and Boyle were elected as Democrats, Riley and Weaver as Republicans.

Dissenting were Chief Justice James Brickley (Republican) and Justices Michael Cavanagh (Democrat) and Charles Levin (Independent liberal).

Mallett wrote that the defense's suggestion that "an additional 'cause' of death could be a complete defense to negligent homicide" was "inconsistent with accepted notions of responsibility."

Sinai Hospital gets OK in Novi

By JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writer

Providence Hospital may have been the first major health care chain to get its foot in the door in Novi, but Sinai Hospital is close on its heels.

The Detroit-based hospital recently won the rezoning it needed from the Novi City Council for a vacant 40 acres on the southeast corner of Twelve Mile Road and Meadowbrook roads.

Plans call for a "campus," like environment which would include an urgent care center, a women's health center, a diagnostic and treatment center, as well as general and special patient care offices. All this may be built in spring 1996.

The land, currently zoned R-A residential-agricultural, was switched to office service district OS-1, which permits hospitals, medical offices, laboratories and clinics.

"It's highly compatible. It's long been my hope that this land wouldn't be chopped up into one-acre office sites but have a campus setting," Novi's planning consultant Brandon Rogers said.

Unlike Providence, Sinai does not intend to build a full-service hospital in Novi, according to President and Chief Executive Officer Phillip Schaengold.

Sinai Vice President Richard Moed told the planning commission in June that what they were hoping to build "right now" was an outpatient facility rather than a hospital and that Sinai has not applied for a Certificate of Need from the Michigan Department of Public Health. The certificate is required by the state for medical facilities which permit overnight stays. Providence has long sought its own Certificate of Need for the Grand River Avenue/Beck road medical center.

Moed said Sinai in Novi would offer prenatal and mammography in its women's clinic but had not yet worked out any details for a child birthing center.

Charity swim

Eight-year-old Chad DeMattia goes through the paces at the 24-hour charity swim at Meadowbrook Country Club July 15. Chad was among 200 swimmers taking part in the marathon to raise funds for the Southfield-based Spaulding for Children charity. The marathon required a group of swimmers to be in the pool at all times. Spaulding helps place children into permanent homes.

Home to be spared under agreement

The appeal charged that the city's notices to the property owners were deficient because they lacked the specifics of repairs to the property, and the time limit set for making the repairs was not "reasonable."

That appeal led city attorney Richard Connors to draft a response outlining all of the city's actions in regard to the property, as well as documentation showing that city officials tried, on several occasions, to work with the owners to get the property cleaned up and back to code.

The key to the latest agreement is prospective property owner Peter Halick, who has agreed to the conditions that were sent to Asker in a July 12 letter by city attorney Richard Connors.

Connors said the city is willing to postpone its planned demolition of the structure under the following conditions:

- All trash, refuse, animal feces, and other unsanitary materials must be removed from inside and outside of the house, and all surfaces that have come in contact with those materials must be cleaned or removed prior to Aug. 8.

- All gutters and downspouts must be repaired so they function as intended. Halick must reattach any loose exterior trim and siding, replace any broken window panes, and repair or replace any exterior doors to secure against any unauthorized entry.

- Halick must agree to cut the grass, clean the sidewalks, maintain the exterior of the structure, and pay the property taxes, while work is being completed on the structure.

Halick has agreed to the conditions and, according to Connors, began work to remove the unsanitary conditions this past weekend.

"(Halick) indicated to us that he will have the property ready for a health inspection by Aug. 7," Connors said. "At that time he will be given the go-ahead to continue to bring the structure up to the city's building code."

Halick should officially own the property within the next month or so, according to Connors.

Connors said he is pleased that the problem is being remedied, and stated that the city didn't want to have to carry out the demolition process.

"The city's overall intent was to have the mess cleaned up, to protect the health and wellbeing of the community," Connors said. "The city was not necessarily looking forward to have to demolish the structure."

"Sometimes you have to use the power of the city's ordinances to get things moving towards a positive conclusion. That's exactly what we did in this instance," he added.

The city will not issue a Certificate of Occupancy until the building department inspects the structure and ensures that it meets all of the codes, according to Connors.

Ward plan on agenda of tonight's meeting

mind tonight.

The church and shopping center developer Gary Sakwa have offered to pay the township's $150,000 share of a $750,000 project to widen Six Mile for 2,000 feet west of Haggerty if the trustees approve their plan. The rest of the project funds would come from a federal grant obtained by Wayne County.

County officials say they need an answer on whether the township wants to proceed by Aug. 11, however. If the answer's no, it's unlikely that any Six Mile widening would take place for several years.

If the trustees approve the Ward concept plan then the matter heads back to the planning commission to begin specific site plan review, a process that includes a public hearing.

The board's meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. and will be held in Township Hall, located off of Six Mile between Winchester and Haggerty.

NATURE HIKE: A general nature hike will be offered on Saturday, July 29, at 11 a.m.

Meet at the Concession Building in the main parking lot on Eight Mile Road for a guided walk through the woods of Maybury.

TAKE A FRIEND FISHING: Weekly fishing clinics are held at the Maybury Fishing Pond each Monday this summer. An employee of the Fisheries Division of the Michigan DNR will be on hand to provide basic instruction in fishing, and answer any questions you may have. The clinic begins promptly at 6:30 p.m. with plenty of time to fish afterwards. Bring your own equipment, if available.

The Maybury Fishing Pond is located near the Riding Stable parking area off Beck Road.

For a complete list of rules and requirements, call or stop by the park office. Deadline for all entries is Oct. 1.

Novi historic church to be moved from site

By SHARON CONDRON Staff Writer

Site plans for Novi Grand, a planned commercial center, have been approved, moving up the date historians will need to meet to move a historic church off the Grand River Avenue site in time to save it.

The 24,400-square-foot, two-story center was approved by the Novi Planning Commission on July 19, 7-1. City planners aren't saying which business owners will occupy the center.

But they did say the developer intends to execute his plan as soon as possible making it important for Preservation Novi to get down to the task of moving the Novi Methodist Church from its current location at Grand River and Novi Road to its new home at Novi Road and Thirteen Mile.

James Antosiak, president of Preservation Novi, said the group has the funds in hand and is ready to move the church.

"We are ready. And it's been a long time coming," he said.

The group will be figuring out last minute details and contacting Detroit Edison, Metro vision, and Ameritech to help pave Novi Road for the move. Power, telephone and cable wires will have to be lowered to accommodate the church when it's moved down Novi Road.

Hughlan Development Corporation will be taking on the old church and restoring it to incorporate it in their The Vistas of Novi development, a neotraditional community under way for 300 acres on the north end of town. Once it's moved the church will become a focal point in the new development, which lies between Novi and Meadowbrook Roads. The project features its own downtown area, nine parks, and more than 1,100 single family homes.

"The steeple will be placed in a pinnacle point in the (Vistas) plan so it will be visible to everyone," Capote said.

City of Novi Staff Planner Greg Capote is coordinating the move, which is expected to cost between $25,000 and $45,000.

Iafrate lawsuit still unresolved

mine gravel and sand and operate an asphalt-making plant there.

Iafrate inherited the suit when it purchased the property. A Wayne County Circuit Court judge last summer dismissed the suit but the Michigan Court of Appeals reversed that decision in November after the company appealed it.

Two weeks ago the state Supreme Court denied the challenge to that decision that the township's lawyers had filed, sending the suit back to circuit court for adjudication. Talks between the township and Iafrate have been held to end the suit but to date haven't bore fruit.

Meanwhile, Iafrate earlier this month submitted a detailed development plan for the site to the township, one that calls for mining and the asphalt production plant. Township Manager Tamara Harlin this week said that planners at McKenna Associates, the township's contracted planning firm, are still reviewing the proposal.

The Holloway plan was the target of criticism from some township residents at the time. They cited concerns about allowing the operation, including its visibility from nearby roads and homes, possible odor problems from the asphalt and the noise, traffic and dust that additional truck traffic to the site would kick up.

The biggest objection by far, however, was that the mining operation would eventually dig below the area's water table.

While the Iafrate plan calls for the same kind of activities, Green said, "we have a different sort of operation in mind in terms of the intensity of use. The volume of activity is going to be a lot less than what was proposed before."

Traffic to the Iafrate site, for example, would be only 25 percent of what was foreseen in the Holloway plan, Greene said. A big reason for that, he continued, is that the company wants to mine the site only for its own operations, not to sell sand and gravel to other firms.

"We're also looking at measures in the design of the site to alleviate any potential concerns," Greene said. "We're willing to spend a lot of money in landscaping and so forth, meaning probably no one would ever see it."

Once the area is mined out, which could take up to 10 years, Iafrate will leave the site in a condition suitable for residential development, Greene said.

"It's a valuable piece of property. It will probably be more valuable once we're done."

He expects some township residents will protest the plan, Greene continued, but added that he hopes that everyone can be reasonable.

"We understand that communities are resistant to proposals like this but they're a fact of life," he said. "We're trying to be good citizens and develop this property in a good manner."

Relive the '50s during festival

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

America had two faces during the 1950s. Stability and change existed side by side, as did peace and war, hope and fear.

The community will be taking a stroll down nostalgia lane in search of the fabled decade of the 1950s during Novi's annual '50s Festival, which begins today and runs through Sunday.

Many look on the century's middle decade as one of its happiest. After two decades of deprivation and struggle the United States finally enjoyed relative peace and unparalleled prosperity.

The previous 20 years had been rough on Americans. We had pinch our pennies during the Great Depression. And we sent our sons — and sometimes daughters — into that hell called World War II.

The war's end changed all that. The U.S.A. was something to behold in the late '40s. It was riding high, enjoying an economic sonic boom and a worldwide presence unrivaled in its history.

We were the biggest kid on anybody's block. We were the only ones who didn't have to rebuild from the ruins of war. We had a monopoly on the bomb. Our industries, made lean and mean from years of turning out combat supplies, turned to peacetime production with a vengeance.

The standard of living rose steadily. The variety of products and services available to most Americans skyrocketed, a trend that continued through and had a profound influence on the 1950s. The two most notable were the automobile and the television set.

GIs were getting good educations and good jobs, starting families and looking for their piece of the American dream. A big part of it was owning cars that got bigger, faster and shinier every year. The car became a sign that you were part of the prosperity the country was enjoying.

Television opened up the world, creating "the global village." It was the basis of a new, more intense feeling of shared experience in our country.

Through it all, our nation changed. More cars led to more roads and highways, which in turn created the suburb and began to spell the doom of many cities.

The effect of television wouldn't truly be felt until after the 1950s but its infant impact on America was still something to behold. The box opened up the world, creating "the global village." It was the basis of a new, more intense feeling of shared experience in our country. We were all seeing and hearing the same shows, the same news, the same ideas like never before.

What we saw both inside America and out somewhat blemished the rosy picture, however. On the foreign front the United States was embroiled in a "cold war."

The U.S. began to radically expand its role in world affairs, joining a series of military alliances and establishing hundreds of air and sea bases all around the globe.

Moreover, the arms race was on in earnest but the nature of combat changed as the '50s dawned. The Soviet Union now had the bomb. Other nations were soon to get it.

War no longer meant victory or defeat on the battlefield — now it could mean Armageddon. Bomb shelters became a fashionable addition to any home.

China and Cuba went communist. Stalin died but Khrushchev, while a kinder, gentler Marxist, made us almost as wary. The Russians crushed uprisings in Hungary, Poland and East Berlin.

They shocked us all when they put Sputnik in space. Everywhere the red hordes seemed ready to charge, even as the United States, the main participant of a United Nations military force, took a stand in Korea.

For the first time, however, there wasn't really a victory or a defeat, just a long bloody conflict that ended with everyone back where they started. That is, except for those who lost their lives, including 33,000 Americans. It was the kind of conflict that Americans would become all too familiar with in the future.

General Douglas MacArthur, meanwhile, had lost his job after crossing Truman once too often. He returned home to a hero's welcome and the president, already suffering from a series of scandals in his administration, packed his bags and made way for Ike and Nixon.

They took office while the domestic side of the Cold War led by Sen. Joe McCarthy was still being waged.

The hunt was on in America for communist spies and sympathizers, real or imagined.

Anti-Marxist fervor was at its zenith: the Cincinnati Reds changed their name and everyone began taking loyalty oaths.

Nixon exposed Alger Hiss. Ethel and Julius Rosenberg were executed as communist spies despite their protests to the end. Robert Oppenheimer, the father of the American atomic weapons program, was denounced and disgraced.

The end of another disgrace began during the '50s. Black Americans began to fight openly for the civil rights they'd been denied so long.

Brown vs. the Topeka, Kansas, Board of Education said that segregation of students in public schools was illegal, a decision that Eisenhower had to back up with regular Army troops in Little Rock. Rosa Parks wouldn't give up her seat in Montgomery.

The seeds of discontent that were planted wouldn't fully blossom until later but they weren't the only ones that came out of the '50s.

In many ways it was a quiet decade, with less unity than those that came before but also less divisiveness and cynicism than those that would follow.

True, the college campuses didn't see protests: they saw panty raids and phone booth stuffing. Still, the "Beat" generation, led by figures like Jack Kerouac, were making some waves.

Music, movies and literature were doing the same thing, expanding into uncharted territory but treading cautiously as they went.

Rock 'n' roll replaced the big band and the crooner. Movies became blockbuster big.

Writers pushed the performance envelope and sometimes the standards of the day.

Still, what happened then was mild compared to what followed.

Maybe that's why we remember the '50s as being so nice: perhaps they were, compared to what came next.

Newspaper executive faces drunk driving rap

Northville Record Editor Lee Snider was arrested in April while driving under the influence of alcohol in Canton Township. He later pled guilty to the lesser charge of operating a motor vehicle while impaired.

According to HomeTown Newspapers General Manager Richard Perleberg, the two incidents should not damage the publications' credibility. Perleberg said the newspaper company is just as critical of its own employees as it is of the public it writes about.

"I think our credibility will be protected by the fact that we are running this story on the front page," he said.

Jerome was the editor of The Novi News for many years.

Trip takes students on far-flung experience

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

As I stood gazing at our group in the airport I noticed that there were very few people with whom I was well enough acquainted to even know their names. In time, of course, this did all change. This transition is what I remember most about Africa. We began like a song that begins with a single note and ends as a harmony. The friends made on this trip will always be remembered.

—Scott Galea

The plains of Kenya are a long way from the quaint streets of Northville, but for 13 students from Northville High School the distance can easily be measured by memories.

The students, along with NHS teachers Barb Leboeuf, Gail McDonald, and Stephen Romba, just recently returned from a 10-day expedition to one of the most beautiful countries on the African continent. It was a trip, according to Leboeuf, that none of them will ever forget.

"There wasn't one person who didn't come away from this trip with something positive, something that will stick in their mind for quite some time," said Leboeuf, who teaches government and global studies at Northville High School.

Students taking part in the trip were Angela Baca, Kara Cundari, Adam Galea, Scott Galea, Katy Gudritz, Alyssa Macfarlane, Nicholas McCreedy, Jessica Meridith, Jessica Scheidt, Abbie Sherman, Jaime Vannier, Stephanie Wargo and Ryan Winn. Lynn Galea and Leboeuf's husband, Alan Thom, also accompanied the group.

The trip ran from June 25 from July 7.

The journey took the group to the Samburu Game Reserve, on a trek along the Mutara River, through the Rift Valley, and into the Masai Mara Reserve. For Stephanie Wargo, the countryside was wonderful.

"I loved the scenery. In Samburu (the terrain) was dry and flat, and in Lake Nakuru the landscape was more mountainous," she said. "There was a beautiful lake with thousands of flamingos."

"Kenya is a country with many extraordinary qualities," added Katy Gudritz. "One of Kenya's best qualities is how all of its nature has remained basically untouched."

According to Leboeuf, students spent a good portion of the trip watching the animals.

"Africa was the best trip I have ever taken. There are so many memories it's hard to pick just one."

—Abbie Sherman
NHS student

"They ended up learning quite a bit about the animals and their environment," she said.

Abbie Sherman loved the camels.

"The camel expedition seems to provide many memories for me," she said. "I never knew how big a camel actually was."

"Africa was the best trip I have ever taken. There are so many memories it's hard to pick just one," she added.

According to Leboeuf, the students were also profoundly impacted by the people of Kenya, who live a slower-paced life.

"The people of Kenya are so content with their lifestyle and their surroundings," she added. "There is not that rush to get somewhere. They are happy doing things in their own time."

Jaime Vannier agreed.

"Going on the trip to Kenya was the best thing I have ever done. Many special memories were made on this trip," she said.

"The friendliness of the people made it feel like we belonged there."

The children would line the roads and wave to the group as they would drive by, Leboeuf recalled. The students, she said, couldn't believe how friendly the people were.

Angela Baca noted that the Kenyans remain content with their lives, regardless of social status and material possessions.

"They value hard work and their family," she said.

"I like the way life moves so slowly in Kenya and the fact that the people take time to enjoy it — instead of hurrying up to wait in line like we do in the states," said Ryan Winn.

The trip was also a honeymoon for Leboeuf and her new husband, Alan Thom. This was the third trip she has made to Africa, and she's planning another for the summer of 1997.

"Having the kids with you makes it more exciting," she said. "You see everything through their eyes, and their enthusiasm makes it that much more exciting for you."

Former school district homes get unexpected tax cut

By TAYLOR LINCOLN
Staff Writer

Salem Township is well known for its lack of township taxes, but a group of township residents have apparently gotten a 20-year break on their school taxes as well.

In 1974, a school district boundary change shifted a stretch of property on Napier Road from the Northville school district to the Plymouth school district. The area, which is located just north of North Territorial Road, is called the Plymouth-Northville transfer district.

In the time since the shift, property owners in the transfer district have been taxed by the Plymouth-Canton schools for operating expenses and by the Northville schools for debt retirement.

But the property owners in the transfer district have only been billed for debt that was incurred before the boundary transfer. They have not been taxed for any debt incurred by either Northville or Plymouth-Canton schools since 1974.

Consequently, owners of property in the district are only paying 1.04 mills annually for debt retirement. Meanwhile, residents of the Northville district are billed at 4.3 mills and "full fledged" residents of the Plymouth-Canton district are billed at 2.08 mills.

The transfer district's 1.04 mills levy is paying off debt incurred from three Northville bond issues from 1970-73. The 1970 and 1972 bond issues paid for equipment, additions and renovations to buildings. The 1973 bond issue paid to build Meads Mill Middle School, to construct an athletic field and to purchase property.

All of the Northville bonds purchased before 1974 will expire by 2002, according to John Street, who is director of business and finance for the Northville schools.

The transfer district includes nine land parcels. Detroit Edison and the Multi Cablevision Co. are also billed for personnel property they own in the area.

The cumulative SEV in the district is $330,000, according to Diane Barnes, director of finance in Plymouth-Canton. Barnes said that the total annual levy for the area, at Plymouth-Canton's 2.08 mills, would be $669.

It is not clear how much of the 2.08 mills is the result of debt that has been incurred since the 1974 transfer, however, Barnes said.

According to documents provided by the Michigan Department of Education, the transfer was approved by the Wayne County Intermediate School District (now called the Regional Education Service Agency, or RESA) in June 1974. But the state Board of Education was not notified of the switch until February 1976.

Officials from RESA could not be reached to provide background on why the boundary shift occurred or what tax agreement the districts reached.

Ex-Soviet Bloc opens to students

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

For years life behind the Iron Curtain remained a mystery. Communism and the cold war made it difficult for Americans to understand what life was like in Russia and Eastern Europe.

Today access to these countries is not only open, but encouraged, and for 11 Northville High School students experiencing life in Russia and other former Soviet Bloc countries was the chance of a lifetime.

The students, along with Northville High School social science teachers Chris Ford and George Aune, recently returned from a trip that included stops in St. Petersburg, Moscow, Warsaw, Krakow, Budapest, and Vienna.

The trip ran from June 28 to July 12.

The students taking the trip were sophomores Sacha Baker and Chris Farah; juniors Chris Bond, Keith DePorter, Tina Juntunen, Tara McClure, and Brian Wagner; and seniors, Tim Howie, Tom Howie, Karen Juntunen, and Rob Krueger.

Also on the trip was 1995 Novi High School graduate Ann Draper.

"I really enjoyed seeing the cultural differences in the countries we visited," said Sacha Baker. "The architecture was amazing. It is hard to believe that such beautiful buildings could have been built without modern technology."

Ford and Aune have each made several visits to Russia and Eastern European countries, and believe that the students learned quite a bit. In designing the trip, Ford and Aune based their choice of countries on historical, economic and safety factors.

"(Russia) had to make a rapid transformation to the democratic process," Ford said. "It was interesting to point out the changes to the kids."

"I found it interesting to note the absence of Lenin statues or anything that had to do with communism," Aune added.

For Chris Bond, the people and countries of Eastern Europe don't fit neatly into Western stereotypes.

"True, the individual doesn't have as much as we do (in the United States), but the people have a richer history," he said. "The inhabitants of cities are proud to know the city's history and share it with others."

The most moving portion of the trip, according to Ford and Aune, was visiting the death camps in "Poland is absolutely the most beautiful country I have ever seen. I'd definitely go back again."

-Anne Draper
NHS student

Krchow and Auschwitz. In Krchow the students were able to see firsthand what many in the U.S. saw depicted in the movie Schindler's List.

Before visiting the camps, the students talked with Bernard Offen, a survivor of the Auschwitz and Berkineu camps.

"You talk about what happened at Auschwitz in class, but you can't really tell the impact it makes," Ford said.

"In this case the students actually heard and saw what happened and they were very quiet that whole day."

The students also toured old Warsaw, which had been totally destroyed by Nazi Germany during the war, but has since been rebuilt.

"It's amazing to think of the national pride of these people," Bond said. "After complete Nazi destruction of their cities during the war, they triumphed over the impossible to turn piles of rubble into structures that have stood for centuries."

For Anne Draper, Poland was one of the best stops on the tour.

"Poland is absolutely the most beautiful country I have ever seen," she said. "I'd definitely go back again."

Aune also said that the trip into Poland was interesting.

"The train tracks into Poland are of a different grade than any other countries, so when we got to the border station they had to lift each individual train car and put on new wheels, which would allow the train to run on the different tracks," he explained.

While in Krchow the students also visited the cathedral that was once home to Pope John Paul II.

After Poland, the tour took the students to Budapest, Hungary, and then to Vienna, Austria.

"The people were very interesting and we saw a lot of American influences in the way they live," Baker said. "This trip was a great experience."

"It was exhilarating to see so many different cultures and be able to see them without worry," added Rob Krueger. "How can you (relate) something you can only experience firsthand."

For Brian Wagner the trip offered the opportunity to experience something new.

"This trip opened my eyes as to what life is like outside of my own community," he said.

Ford and Aune are already planning another trip for the summer of 1997.

Experts warn against shaking infants

Every year, thousands of babies are injured and some die from being shaken. Shaking a baby, even one time, can delay normal development, result in brain damage, spinal injury, retardation or even death.

"In moments of frustration, parents may forget how fragile their children are," said David Kurtz, Ph.D., director of the Childhelp IOF Foresters Hotline. "The stretching motion that comes from a child's head snapping back and forth can rupture the bridging veins of the brain and result in lifelong injuries in a matter of seconds," Kurtz explained.

The Childhelp IOF Foresters Hotline (1-800-4-A-CHILD), the nation's largest child abuse hotline, provides 24-hour crisis counseling to parents, children and adult survivors of abuse.

Parents may not realize the strength at which they handle their children when angry. Research shows that the danger of shaking your child is always present, but is most prevalent between birth and six years of age. Babies and infants are extremely at risk.

Even well-meaning parents can harm their child. While most parents enjoy the giggling and laughter as they toss their child up in the air, they need to be aware that the neck is small children and infants is very weak. The head, by contrast, is very heavy.

Here are some helpful hints to help you avoid injuring your child:

- Always support the neck of infants, babies and small children.
- If you are upset, calm down before dealing with your child.
- When playing with your child, never throw or toss the child.
- Screen all baby-sitters carefully, know if they are upset.

The Childhelp IOF Foresters Hotline is the only North American, toll-free line which offers 24 hour access, to counseling, professionals, referral and reporting services. Hotline counselors have a minimum of a master's in psychology or a related field. Each receives specialized hotline training.

Man ready to plea to bigamy charge

By Jennifer Placinto
Staff Writer

A New Hudson man, accused of being married to two women at once, is expected to plead guilty to the charge of polygamy in Livingston County Circuit Court.

Robert Miller Spencer waived his right to preliminary examination on charges before Brighton District Court Judge A. John Pikkarainen based on a plea agreement in which Spencer is expected to plead guilty to the felony charge, which carries a maximum sentence of four years in prison and/or a $2,000 fine. In exchange for the plea, prosecutors will recommend no jail time and a maximum of two years probation.

Spencer, 33, was released on a $5,000 personal bond pending his next court appearance, which has yet to be scheduled.

Ironically, the unemployed defendant was arraigned in the same courtroom where he married his second wife, Teresa Ann Pozanski, 41, according to Livingston County Prosecutor David Morse.

Spencer is charged with marrying while remaining married to Stacie Lynn Spencer, 35, of North Carolina. Robert Spencer and Pozanski currently reside together in New Hudson.

According to court records,

Spencer married his first wife in Colquitt County, Ga., in 1982. They had a child together and moved to North Carolina, Morse said.

In 1990, Spencer left his wife for Pozanski and moved to Michigan, having two children with her, Morse said. He then married Pozanski at the Brighton court in February while still legally married to his first wife.

Members of the Pozanski family disputed some of the charges. According to family members, Pozanski's two children are not Spencer's children and Spencer did not leave his first wife for Pozanski, but rather for another woman with whom he came to Michigan.

According to Morse, Spencer lied on his second marriage license, claiming he had never been married before.

"He got married without the benefit of divorce," Morse said earlier.

According to Morse, Spencer's first wife found out her husband had remarried and checked to see if he had divorced her without her knowledge. When she found out he hadn't, she notified authorities of the situation.

Bigamist marriages are void under Michigan state statute

Madonna registration under way for fall

Madonna University's fall-term on-campus registration for new and returning students will run through Friday, Sept. 1, with daily (Monday-Friday) office hours from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. After Aug. 18, the office will be open until 7 p.m., on Mondays and Thursdays. Classes begin the week of Sept. 5.

Students may enroll in day, evening and weekend classes, and non-admitted students must obtain a permit-to-register from the Admissions Office.

Transfer students are welcome. Madonna is located on Levan Road near I-96 in Livonia. Call (313) 591-5000 for information.

RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING MICHIGAN TRANSPORTATION FUND BONDS CITY OF NOVI COUNTY OF OAKLAND, STATE OF MICHIGAN

Minutes of a regular meeting of the City Council of the City of Novi, County of Oakland, State of Michigan (the "City") held on the 24th day of July, 1995, at 8:00 o'clock p.m., Eastern Daylight Time.

PRESENT: Members Crawford, Mason, Mitzel, Schmid, Toth and Mayor McLallen.

ABSENT: Members Pope

The following preamble and resolution were offered by Member Toth and supported by Member Schmid:

WHEREAS, this City Council does hereby determine that it is necessary to acquire and construct street improvements (the "Improvements") in the City as described in Exhibit A, attached hereto and made a part hereof; and

WHEREAS, the cost of the Improvements is estimated to be Three Million Dollars ($3,000,000); and

WHEREAS, to finance the cost of the Improvements the City Council deems it necessary to borrow the sum of Three Million Dollars ($3,000,000) and issue bonds (the "Bonds") therefor as authorized by the provisions of Act 175, Public Acts of Michigan, 1952, as amended ("Act 175"); and

WHEREAS, the Improvements are in accordance with the purposes enumerated in Act 51, Public Acts of Michigan, 1951, as amended ("Act 51"); and

WHEREAS, the revenues received by the City from the Michigan Transportation Fund pursuant to Act 51 in the year preceding this contemplated borrowing are more than sufficient to comply with all the requirements specified in Section 4 of Act 175;

WHEREAS, on May 12, 1995 the Michigan Department of Treasury issued its Order Providing Exception for the issuance of the Bonds;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT:

1. The plans and estimates of cost of the Improvements are hereby approved and adopted.

2. The period of usefulness of the Improvements is estimated to be not less than fifteen (15) years.

3. The City Council hereby determines to borrow the sum of Three Million Dollars ($3,000,000) and issue bonds of the City therefor pursuant to the provisions of Act 175 (the "Bonds"), for the purpose of providing funds to pay the cost of the Improvements.

4. The Bonds shall be designated 1995 MICHIGAN TRANSPORTATION FUND BONDS and shall consist of bonds registered as to principal and interest of the denominations of any multiple of $5,000 not exceeding for each maturity the maximum principal amount of the Bonds of that maturity and numbered consecutively in order of registration of transfer. The Bonds will be dated as of September 1, 1995 and be payable on August 1st of each year as follows:

Amount	Years
$ 50,000	1996 and 1997;
75,000	1998;
100,000	1999;
150,000	2000 and 2001;
200,000	2002;
250,000	2003 to 2006, inclusive;
300,000	2007, 2008 and 2009;
325,000	2010.

The Bonds shall bear interest at a rate or rates to be determined on sale, which rate or rates however shall not exceed eight percent (8%) per annum. The Bonds will be subject to redemption and be payable in the manner set forth in paragraph 9 hereof. Interest in the amount of $57,000 will be capitalized and paid from the proceeds of the Bonds.

5. The Bonds shall be executed in the name of the City with facsimile signatures of this Mayor and the City Clerk and shall bear a facsimile of the City seal. No Bond of this series shall be valid until authenticated by an authorized signature of the transfer agent designated in the notice of sale of the Bonds. The Bonds shall be delivered to Manufacturers National Bank, Detroit, Michigan which is hereby selected as the transfer agent for this issue, for authentication and delivery by the transfer agent to the purchaser in accordance with instructions from the Finance Director of the City upon payment of the purchase price for the Bonds in accordance with the bid therefor when accepted. Executed blank bonds for registration and issuance to transferees shall simultaneously, and from time to time thereafter as necessary, be delivered to the transfer agent for safekeeping.

6. Any Bond may be transferred upon the books required to be kept pursuant to this section by the person in whose name it is registered, in person or by the registered owner's duly authorized attorney, upon surrender of the Bond for cancellation, accompanied by delivery of a duly executed written instrument of transfer in a form approved by the transfer agent. Whenever any Bond or Bonds shall be surrendered for transfer, the City shall execute and the transfer agent shall authenticate and deliver a new Bond or Bonds, in like aggregate principal amount. The transfer agent shall require the payment by the bondholder requesting the transfer of any tax or other governmental charge required to be paid with respect to the transfer. The date of determination of the registered owner for purposes of payment of interest as provided in this resolution may be changed by the City to conform to market practice in the future. The principal of the Bonds shall be payable at the office of the transfer agent.

Except as otherwise provided in the Bond form and unless waived by any registered owner of Bonds to be redeemed, official notice of redemption shall be given by the transfer agent on behalf of the City. Such notice shall be dated and shall contain at a minimum the following information: original issue date, maturity dates; interest rates; CUSIP numbers, if any; certificate numbers (and in the case of partial redemption) the called amounts of each certificate; the place where Bonds called for redemption are to be surrendered for payment; and that interest on Bonds or portions thereof called for redemption shall cease to accrue from and after the redemption date.

In addition, further notice shall be given by the transfer agent in such manner as may be required or suggested by regulations or market practice at the applicable time, but no defect in such further notice nor any failure to give all or any portion of such further notice shall in any manner defeat the effectiveness of a call for redemption if notice thereof is given as prescribed herein.

7. To provide moneys to pay the principal of and interest on the Bonds and in accordance with the provisions of Act 175, there is hereby made an irrevocable appropriation of the amount necessary to pay the principal of and interest on the Bonds from the moneys to be derived from State-collected taxes returned to the City for highway purposes, pursuant to law. The Bonds are of equal standing with other bonds issued by the City payable from said State-collected taxes, and the City may issue additional bonds payable from said State-collected taxes within the limitations prescribed by law.

The Finance Director is directed, each year that any of the principal of and interest on the Bonds remains unpaid, to set aside in a separate depository account, to be designated 1995 MICHIGAN TRANSPORTATION FUND BONDS DEBT RETIREMENT FUND, sufficient moneys from revenues received during such year from the Michigan Transportation Fund pursuant to law to pay the principal of and interest on the Bonds next maturing. Accrued interest, if any, and premium, if any, received on the initial sale of the Bonds shall be deposited into the 1995 Michigan Transportation Fund Bonds Debt Retirement Fund. In addition, a sum, when taken together with said accrued interest and premium, equals the amount of $57,000 shall be deposited in the Debt Retirement Fund and used to pay a portion of the interest due February 1, 1996. The Finance Director is further directed to open a separate depository account, to be designated 1995 MICHIGAN TRANSPORTATION FUND BONDS CONSTRUCTION FUND into which the proceeds of the Bonds, less accrued interest and premium, if any, and capitalized interest shall be deposited, which account shall be used to pay the costs of constructing the Improvements. Proceeds remaining after completion of the Improvements shall be applied as permitted by law.

8. Pursuant to Act 175, and as additional security for the prompt payment of the principal of and interest on the Bonds, there is hereby irrevocably pledged the limited tax full faith and credit of the City, and in the event of insufficiency of funds primarily pledged to the payment thereof, the City covenants and agrees to provide for such insufficiency from such resources as are lawfully available to it, including the levying of taxes, subject to applicable constitutional, charter and statutory limitations.

9. The Bonds shall be in substantially the following form subject to such changes as to ministerial form as may be reasonably requested by the transfer agent:

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA STATE OF MICHIGAN COUNTY OF OAKLAND CITY OF NOVI

1995 MICHIGAN TRANSPORTATION FUND BOND

Interest Rate	Maturity Date	Date of Original Issue
	August 1,	September 1,

Registered Owner:

Principal Amount:

The City of Novi, County of Oakland, State of Michigan (the "City"), for value received, hereby promises to pay to the Registered Owner specified above, or registered assigns, the Principal Amount specified above, in lawful money of the United States of America, on the Maturity Date specified above, unless prepaid prior thereto as hereinafter provided, with interest thereon from the Date of Original Issue specified above, or such later date to which interest has been paid, until paid, at the Interest Rate per annum specified above, first payable on August 1, 1995 and semiannually thereafter. Principal of this bond is payable at the principal corporate trust office of Michigan National Bank, located in Detroit, Michigan, or such other transfer agent as the City may hereafter designate by notice mailed to the registered owner hereof not less than sixty (60) days prior to any interest payment date (the "Transfer Agent"). Interest on this bond is payable to the registered owner of record as of the fifteenth (15th) day of the month preceding the payment date as shown on the registration books of the City maintained by the Transfer Agent, by check or draft mailed to the registered owner at the registered address.

This bond is one of a series of bonds of even Date of Original Issue aggregating the principal sum of $3,000,000, issued for the purpose of defraying the cost of major street improvements in the City in accordance with a resolution duly and regularly adopted by the City Council of the City pursuant to the provisions of Act 175, Public Acts of Michigan, 1952, as amended.

Bonds of this issue maturing in the years 1996 to 2000, inclusive, shall not be subject to redemption prior to maturity.

Bonds of this issue maturing in the years 2001 to 2010, inclusive, are subject to optional redemption in whole or in part in such order as the City shall determine, in integral multiples of $5,000 on any interest payment date on or after August 1, 2000 at par and accrued interest to the redemption date plus a premium as follows:

1/2% of the principal amount of each bond or portion thereof called for redemption on or after August 1, 2000, but prior to August 1, 2005;

No premium shall be paid on bonds or portions of bonds called for redemption on or after August 1, 2005.

Notice of redemption shall be given to the registered owners of bonds or portions thereof called for redemption by mailing of such notice not less than thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption to the registered addresses of the registered owners of record. Bonds shall be called for redemption in multiples of $5,000 and bonds of denominations of more than $5,000 shall be treated as representing the number of bonds obtained by dividing the denomination of the bond by $5,000, and such bonds may be redeemed in part. Bonds or portions thereof so called for redemption shall not bear interest after the date fixed for redemption provided the City has money available for redemption.

In case less than the full amount of an outstanding bond is called for redemption, the transfer agent described in the above described resolution, upon presentation to it of the bond called for redemption, shall register, authenticate and deliver to the registered owner of record a new bond in the principal amount of the portion of the original bond not called for redemption.

This bond and the interest thereon are payable from the proceeds of State-collected taxes returned to the City for highway purposes pursuant to law, or in case of insufficiency of said funds, out of the general funds of the City, including collections of ad valorem taxes on all taxable property in the City which the City may be authorized to levy, subject to applicable constitutional, statutory and charter tax rate limitations, and the resolution authorizing the bonds contains an irrevocable appropriation of the amount necessary to pay the principal of and interest on the bonds of this issue from moneys derived from such State-collected taxes so returned to the City for highway purposes which have not been theretofore specifically allocated and pledged for the payment of indebtedness. This bond is of equal standing with other bonds issued by the City payable from said State-collected taxes, and the City reserves the right to issue additional bonds payable from said State-collected taxes within the limitations prescribed by law.

This bond is not a general obligation of the State of Michigan.

This bond is transferable only upon the books of the City kept for that purpose at the office of the transfer agent by the registered owner hereof in person, or by the registered owner's attorney duly authorized in writing, upon the surrender of this bond together with a written instrument of transfer satisfactory to the transfer agent duly executed by the registered owner or the registered owner's attorney duly authorized in writing, and thereupon a new registered bond or bonds in the same aggregate principal amount and of the same maturity shall be issued to the transferee in exchange therefor as provided in the resolution authorizing the bonds of this issue, and upon the payment of the charges, if any, therein prescribed.

It is hereby certified and recited that all acts, conditions and things required to be done, exist and happen, precedent to and in the issuance of said series of bonds of which this is one, in order to make them valid and binding obligations of the City, have been done, exist and have happened in regular and due form and time as required by law, and that the total indebtedness of the City, including the series of bonds of which this is one, does not exceed any constitutional or statutory limitation.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the City of Novi, County of Oakland, State of Michigan, by its City Council, has caused this bond to be signed in the name of the City with the facsimile signatures of its Mayor and its City Clerk and a facsimile of the City seal to be printed hereon, all as of the Date of Original Issue.

11. The City Clerk shall cause a complete copy of this resolution to be published in the Novi News, Novi, Michigan, or other local newspaper, once before this resolution becomes effective.

12. The City hereby covenants that, to the extent permitted by law, it shall take all actions within its control necessary to maintain the exclusion of the interest on the Bonds from adjusted gross income for general federal income tax purposes under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"), including specifically all actions and abstentions from actions as required by the Non-Arbitrage and Tax Compliance Certificate and related documents furnished in connection with the Bonds and designates the Bonds as "Qualified Tax Exempt Obligations" for purposes of deduction of interest expense by financial institutions.

13: (a) The City hereby agrees, in accordance with the provisions of Rule 15c2-12 (the "Rule") promulgated by the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") pursuant to the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, for so long as the Rule shall be in effect, to provide or cause to be provided to each nationally recognized municipal securities information repository ("NRSIR") and to the appropriate state information depository, if any, for the State of Michigan ("SID"), in each case as designated by the SEC in accordance with the Rule, the following annual financial information and operating data commencing with the fiscal year ended June 30, 1996:

(1) Updates of the tables of financial information and operating data included in the official statement of the City relating to the Bonds (the "Official Statement") under the headings as specified as covered by this undertaking in the Official Statement.

(2) Audited financial statements pertaining to the City prepared by an individual or firm of independent certified public accountants ("Audited Financial Statements") prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles; provided, however, that the City reserves the right to modify from time to time the accounting principles utilized in the Audited Financial Statements and any such modification, together with a description or explanation of the impact thereof, shall be specifically noted in the information supplied pursuant to this subsection.)

Such annual financial information and operating data described above are expected to be provided directly by the City.

(b) Such annual financial information and operating data described in (a)(1) above will be available on or before the 180th day after the end of the fiscal year of the City.

(c) The Audited Financial Statements described in (a)(2) above will be available on or before the 180th day after the end of the fiscal year of the City.

(d) The City agrees to provide or cause to be provided in a timely manner to (i) each NRSIR or to the Municipal Securities Rulemaking Board ("MSRB") and (ii) the SID, if any, notice of the occurrence of any of the following events listed in (b)(5)(i)(C) of the Rule with respect to the Bonds, if applicable, if such event is deemed by the City to be material under the federal securities laws:

- (1) principal and interest payment delinquencies;
- (2) non-payment related defaults;
- (3) unscheduled draws on debt service reserves reflecting financial difficulties;
- (4) unscheduled draws on credit enhancements reflecting financial difficulties;
- (5) substitution of credit or liquidity providers, or their failure to perform;
- (6) adverse tax opinions or events affecting the tax-exempt status of the Bonds;
- (7) modifications to rights of holders of the Bonds;
- (8) bond calls;
- (9) defeasances;
- (10) release, substitution, or sale of property securing repayment of the Bonds;

and

(11) rating changes;

(e) The City agrees to provide or cause to be provided, in a timely manner, to (i) each NRSIR or to the MSRB and (ii) the SID, notice of a failure by the City to provide the annual financial information with respect to the City described in subsection (a) above on or prior to the dates set forth in subsection (b) or subsection (c), as the case may be, above.

(f) The City reserves the right to modify from time to time the specific types of information provided or the format of the presentation of such information to the extent necessary or appropriate in the judgment of the City; provided that the City agrees that any such modification will be done in a manner consistent with the Rule. The City reserves the right to terminate its obligation to provide annual financial information and notices of material events, as set forth above, if and when the City no longer remains an obligated person with respect to the Bonds within the meaning of the Rule or in the event that the Rule shall be repealed, rescinded or invalidated.

(g) The City agrees that its undertaking pursuant to the Rule set forth in this Section is intended to be for the benefit of the holders of the Bonds and shall be enforceable by the holders of the Bonds; provided that, the right to enforce the provisions of this undertaking shall be limited to a right to obtain specific enforcement of the City's obligations hereunder and any failure by the City to comply with the provisions of this undertaking shall not constitute a default or an event of default with respect to the Bonds or under this Resolution.

14. All resolutions and parts of resolutions insofar as they conflict with the provisions of this resolution be and the same hereby are rescinded.

Our Opinion

Bullard has obligation to reside in the district

"Won't you come home Bill Bullard, won't you come home ..."

You may not think much of residency requirements — frankly, we're against them here — but it is disturbing to learn that it appears state representative Bill Bullard has not been living in the district despite a constitutional requirement that he do so.

Bullard represents the Oakland County portion of Northville in the state House.

"Any citizen who's had enough independence of thought to disagree with a law, has probably heard the line, perhaps from a judge or police officer, that 'you can't pick and choose which laws you're going to follow and which you are not.' So we see red when someone whose job is to write those laws appears to be doing just that.

Michigan voters, after all, approved their current constitution with the residency requirement in it, and we can only conclude that's what voters want.

Mind you, Bullard says he does live in the district. From November 1992 to May 1995, he listed his residence as an apartment above an insurance agency on Summit Street in Milford Village, part of the 38th District.

But that would actually be a violation of a local zoning law. While that isn't Bullard's problem but the landlord's, a Milford Village Councilman, who owns a nearby tavern, said he has "never" seen Bullard enter or leave the building, "never" seen a car in the parking lot there at night and "never" seen any lights on there.

Now Bullard claims to live at the home of his father-in-law on Wixom Trail in Milford Township, also within the district. In the meantime, Bullard's wife — they married in August 1994 — continues to live in the house he has owned for eight years on Lower Pettibone Lake in Highland Township, just outside the district boundary.

Directly asked if he expected voters to believe he was living apart from his wife, he said this: "My wife and I are not legally required to live in the same residence. I have not given any thought to residing any place except Milford ... Politics is an unusual business. I guess some people don't understand politics."

Better than you think, Bill. People understand politics just well enough not to buy that line.

Of course, there is one solution — Bullard could move and put to rest all possibility that he might be living outside the district. The constitutional residency requirement might not be the best thing that ever happened to state government, but it's the law.

Constituents have a right to expect their lawmakers to be law abiding.

Ethics policy is aptly applied to contractors

Vendors under contract with Northville Township will be required to abide by the township's strict ethics policy as a result of action taken July 13.

By a unanimous vote, the board of trustees decided to send letters to contractors notifying them of conditions to which they must agree as part of their contractual obligations to the township.

The stipulations prevent vendors from speaking on behalf of the township, using confidential information in unrelated business transactions, using township resources for personal gain, and giving or receiving gifts not allowed under the policy.

We think this is a sound practice and should help provide reassurances that the oft-abused contractor/client relationship is above board at all times.

The township ethics policy, adopted shortly after current board members took office, is highly restrictive, requiring elected officials and employees to limit themselves to accepting gifts with a value of $25 or less. The policy defines acceptable gifts as those of "nominal value given during normal sales promotions, advertising or publicity."

At a time when suspicion of government has reached near runaway proportions, a policy of this type can send a signal that officials are serious about upholding the integrity of their institution. We think both the policy and its application to vendors are good moves.

Of course, any policy is only as good as the reporting and enforcement mechanisms written into it. In this case, the policy basically follows an honors system, requiring officials and employees to make log entries when necessary. Potential violations and inconsistencies can then be forwarded to an ethics committee for review and analysis.

Despite its self-policing nature, the system seems to work. A potential indiscretion by Supervisor Karen Baja came to light from a log entry she made, and a possible violation by former Manager Bill Richards was made into an issue by a monitoring trustee.

We've heard criticism to the effect that the policy is unrealistically restrictive, but it's better to err on the side of caution. We strongly endorse the township's ethics policy and hope and trust it will be enforced vigorously by officials.

Is there no place for humor?

I don't do the mita culpa thing very well so I'll just come out and say it: I'm sorry for last week's police news item that described a domestic violence case in facetious terms.

Lee Snider

We received a number of telephone calls pointing out the inappropriateness of that three-inch blurb, and I can't argue the point. The callers were right. Domestic violence is not a minor issue and we were wrong to make light of it.

I won't bother repeating the descriptions that were used in the story or go into who wrote it — the police news carries no byline and, besides, as the chief cook and bottle washer I'm the one who's ultimately responsible for the content of this newspaper.

And I blew it. I should have edited out the flip verbiage. Again, I'm sorry.

But, chest pounding aside, I think this is a good time for me to make a case for allowing ourselves a little creative license in presenting the local crime blotter.

People occasionally call us to criticize the way we interject humor into our police reporting and I've always defended our approach. And, with the exception of last week's assault incident, I still defend it. A lot of the minor offenses we get off the spindle are genuine oddities that beg for tongue-in-cheek treatment.

I think our readers can forgive us an occasional lapse into levity, and I suspect many of them do. One thing I've learned in working with the public is that people will complain before they'll compliment. Those who enjoy the humor in our police news might make up the majority even though they don't bother to call and tell us to keep it up. It's hard to know.

At any rate, is it so awful that we sometimes use a lighthearted phrase when writing about pilfered flower pots? Or a ripped off cow-figure mailbox? Or when we describe a 1955 klunker held together by baling wire that police impounded because it was unsafe?

Sure, when they're your flower pots or mailbox you're none too happy about it, and traffic safety is no laughing matter. But such incidents aren't exactly on a par with the Bosnian crisis. Must we take political correctness to an extreme?

One of the funniest police reports I ever came across involved a man who tried to get a hair cut from a female stylist. The poor customer settled into the barber's chair and starting using the cover sheet to clean his glasses when the stylist inexplicably bonked him on the head with a hair dryer.

After coming to, he told police all he did was pinch the sheet around a lens and use it to rub off a smear. It seems that, because he performed this operation in his lap area and made a rapid up-and-down motion with his hand, the stylist thought he was doing something disgusting under the covers.

I'm sure the pounding the guy took didn't exactly feel like a feather tickle but who can resist chuckling at such a story? The guy himself probably laughs about it now, that is if he can remember it.

We're constantly striving to find the right balance between writing creatively and giving due respect to the subject matter. On the whole, I'd say we cross the line but rarely.

Last week was one of those times.

The latest pog slammer contains an opinion on the most publicized criminal case of all time.

They never cease to confuse

I just can't do it.

No matter how hard I try, I just can't manage to reorganize my thoughts to match the brain wave patterns of the wanna-be spin doctors in Northville Township who defend the way they've handled a recent "reorganization" of township government.

They're so convinced they're in the right, in fact, that they've even complained about how bad this newspaper's treated them on this one. I see: they load the gun, they hand us the gun, they press the muzzle to their foreheads and clamp down on our trigger fingers but it's my and editor Lee Snider's fault for making them look bad.

Sorry, but no. The way a majority of this board of trustees and Manager Tamara Hanlin have failed to be forthcoming about reorganization is the problem.

Astronomers have inferred the existence of black holes by observing that something is radically affecting an area of space, even though they can't see what it is. The same principle applies here. It's obvious to even the most casual observer of the Twilight Zone, that is Township Hall, that something went on behind the scenes here that no one's willing to fess up to.

Need proof? Let me count the ways.

The manager tried to have the board discuss this plan during a closed session. The supervisor has publicly labeled it dirty politics. Electeds Mark Abbo, Gini Britton, Sue Hillebrand and Russ Fogg approved reorganization without a word of public discussion about it, the vote coming one day after they received a memo on it from Hanlin.

Hanlin refused to release or publicly discuss said memo before the board vote. In the memo she says she wouldn't do so if the board didn't adopt the proposal because it would be "destructive to the organization and the people involved."

Once that vote was taken, however, the memo — stamped confidential in big red letters — was suddenly not so "destructive" and open to public examination.

And why is this memo so "destructive"? It is a, shall we say, carefully worded document. To be honest, it reads less like a frank, private airing of an opinion and more like a safe, sanitized version of events that won't get the township in hot water should the press — or some attorney filing a lawsuit — get ahold of it.

Oooh, there's that nasty word. It's spoken a lot by township officials these days, as in "We're afraid that ex-Planning and Zoning Director Carol Malse, ousted as part of this plan, will file one against the township," as if the unprecedented number racked up during this board's tenure shouldn't concern them enough.

Does that raise everyone's red flag or is it just me? Why are they worried? What case could anyone hope to make against this harmless proposal? Or is there something else there that hasn't made the papers?

There is. The black hole is there, but to tell you the truth, I don't exactly know what it is. I'm not alone, though, because neither do you, the public, know why the officials you elected are reorganizing the government you pay for.

Flag flap has writer burning up

Neyer have I had an urge to burn the American flag and doubt that I ever will ... unless a 27th amendment is passed.

Even if desecration of an inanimate symbol were as repugnant to me as it appears to be to some, the obvious problems in defining and clarifying such an amendment would force me to acknowledge its futility.

What if I (I'm half tempted) designed and manufactured a "burnable flag" for the purpose of marketing it to those who might be so inclined? These flags might have the red and white stripes reversed so that it is no longer the official American flag.

If not permissible for desecration, perhaps I'd replace the stars with asterisks or polka dots. If still not acceptable, I might then change the field of blue to turquoise or black, etc., etc., etc. Of course each of these prototypes might lie up already-wanting court time.

At some point, through incremental alterations, my "burnable flag" will deviate just enough to be considered legally passable for desecration and by that very fact, will be viewed as a symbol of the American flag and thus will remain a symbol of our country.

What about private desecration by an organization or individual? Are we prepared to burden our already-absorbed law enforcement personnel with search warrants for the purpose of preventing such acts?

What about when "Joe Maladroit," a parade participant, trips and drops his flag in the mud and steps on it? How will the courts determine whether he did so intentionally?

I can envision his ex-high school football coach being called upon to appear for the defense as a character witness and recalling that "Joe did, indeed, commit 11 fumbles during his senior year," thereby verifying, to the jury, poor Joe's propensity toward clumsiness.

Pretty silly scenarios, I might agree, but no more so than wasting legislative time and expense on this politically-motivated issue in the midst of so many others of more pressing importance.

If flag-burning is really a problem (which I question), it will only be increased by a constitutional amendment.

Cemetery drive is truly a shame

To the Editor:
The letter by Catherine T. Sell as in last week's Record regarding the entrance to Rural Hill Cemetery entrance was absolutely on target.

The city and township should be ashamed of the cemetery entrance.

At the time of a funeral when human emotions are at rock bottom low, the depressing entrance with an undefined road and deep ruts adds to the remorse.

Could not some of the time, energy, and money spent on other areas be allocated to rectifying the depressing eyesore at the entrance?

We owe those who go before us a more fitting farewell.

Woman's work is never done

To the Editor:
I didn't know how varied and difficult a woman's household role was until my wife, an 81-year-old former registered nurse, became an invalid.

I've had to learn how to shop; plan and cook all meals; use the microwave; load and unload the washing and dryer machines; stack, run, and then put away the contents of a dishwasher; vacuum the rugs and scrub some floors.

W-H-E-W!
I can only imagine the amount of work a young mother doing all of the above and caring for children, and possibly having to add to the family income by working five days a week at an outside job.

Important also is her role as a loving wife who also caters to the biological needs of an affectionate husband.

How do they do it?

Juries can be trusted up to a point

To begin with, there was nothing sacred about the jury - certainly nothing as sacred as Democrats and Republicans in the Michigan Legislature make it appear.

Tim Richard

Justice O.W. Holmes Jr., in his classic The Common Law, traces the jury's origins to 12th century England, the time of King Henry II and Robin Hood.

A trial by jury was a new form of trial: "It was at first an inquest of the neighbors most likely to know about a disputed matter of fact. They spoke from their own knowledge, but they were selected by an officer of the court instead of by the interested party, and were intended to be impartial," Professor Holmes wrote.

That's pretty practical, not what you hear in the partisan chambers of the State Capitol these days.

"Let the jury decide," say Democrats, supported by the Michigan Trial Lawyers Association. In tort cases, they want juries to set the limits on how much one may recover from a doctor, corporation or government - preferably a sky-high limit.

"Gotta contain costs," reply the Republicans. They like the figure $250,000 for non-economic damages, also known as "pain and suffering," as an upper limit for juries to bump against. Republicans abhor the way oily-tongued plaintiffs' lawyers twist and manipulate the emotions of jurors in order to get multi-million dollar verdicts, with one-third going to the plaintiff's counsel, of course.

It's quite another thing, however, when the subject turns to capital punishment. Here, as we saw in the House Judiciary Committee in mid-July, Republicans are willing to place the life of an accused in the hands of 12 persons whom they wouldn't trust to spend $250,000 of Citizens Mutual's reserves.

It is amazing that a party which professes to oppose big government would give the biggest power of all, the power to snuff out human life, to an inept agency of government.

Democrats, in contrast, voted against bringing a capital punishment resolution to the House floor. This time it was Democrats who didn't trust juries. Chief reason seems to be that juries sock it to black males much harder than to white males, in proportion to their numbers, in the three dozen or more states that have legalized the death penalty.

A jury is an arm of government. Jefferson was fond of saying government should be "chained by the Constitution."

Republicans are right when they argue that juries need to be limited on the emotional, subjective question of assessing "pain and suffering" damages.

Democrats are right when they argue that juries ought not be allowed to condemn someone to death, even if their argument is tinged with anti-white bias.

I was impressed with the testimony of Eugene G. Wanger, a Republican from Lansing who served in the 1961-62 Constitutional Convention. That was just after the era of Eisenhower and just during the rise of Romney, when the Grand Old Party made considerably more sense than it does today.

Wanger said society's greater duty is "to protect the innocent." He goes on: "For capital punishment has and will continue to occasionally execute the innocent, for reasons which no procedural or appellate safeguards can prevent.

Mounting evidence shows this risk is substantial. An examination of over 350 cases of mistaken conviction for capital crimes (collected by Professors Bedau and Radelet) shows why.

"The most common cause is perjured testimony, often supplied by jail prisoners in exchange for lenience in their own cases. Sometimes there was a deliberate frame-up. In a few cases, the murder victims even turned up alive; and in many others, there was honestly mistaken eyewitness identification.

"Hardly a month goes by without a new case being discovered. More often the error is brought to light outside the formal criminal justice process - by pure good luck."

Every time the death penalty is brought up, it's aimed at the crime of the moment. In the late 1960s, it was to be aimed at rioters who killed cops and firemen.

Next it was targeted to assailants of the elderly.

The current proposal is aimed at terrorists - those who kill multiple times or attempt to influence government action by killing. Wanger deplored it:

"House Joint Resolution N only makes this risk of error worse because the sensational trials are where the risk of error is greatest."

Holmes in 1881 had it right: A jury is a useful tool, but it can't be trusted too far, any more than one should trust a Democrat or Republican too far.

Tim Richard reports on the local implications of state and regional events. His Touch-Tone voice mail number is (313) 953-2047 ext. 1881.

It's not easy finding a decade to love

Eight years we've been doing this '50s Festival nostalgia thing, and you know, the decade of the 1950s themselves only lasted 10 years. Maybe it's time to look for a new decade to reminisce about.

Mike Malott

How 'bout a '60s Festival. Just move on in the natural progression of things. Instead of the Grand River Cruise, we could have an anti-war protest. Instead of revving their engines to the delight of the crowd, participants would have to get the audience going by coming up with chants - "one, two, three, four, what are we marching for?" (Kind of makes your adrenaline rush, doesn't it.)

The beer tent ... excuse me, entertainment tent ... would have been replaced with a hash bash (although I suppose that would no longer be considered socially acceptable, would it?) And the car show could be replaced with a love-in, with the awards to be presented for ... well, I'll leave that to your imagination.

The music of course would all be psychedelic - Jimi Hendrix, Jefferson Airplane. (Groovy.)

And we could put away those poodles skirts, hair grease and leather jackets once and for all, and break out our bell-bottom hip huggers, peace symbols and tie-dyed T-shirts. (I was afraid I would find a fly in the ointment somewhere with this idea.)

OK, how about a '70s Festival? Hot tubs and the Mc Generation. We could revive the music of the time ... disco, The Bee Gees and the Average White Band. (I'm losing interest already.)

Instead of concerts in the entertainment tent, we could just have big group therapy sessions. (Make that lost interest.) And we could dress up in our old polyester prints and leisure suits ... (Geez, this event becoming a downright fire hazard.)

Let's try an '80s Festival. We could all dress up in our three-piece suits like conspicuously consuming yuppies and do a power lunch in the entertainment tent. (That's out. Sounds too much like work.)

How 'bout we go back in time to find a new decade to remember - the '40s maybe. We could go up to Lakeshore Park and storm the beach there. That was very in thing to do back in the '40s. And perhaps we could talk the Rubbercrackers, the new model airplane club that just joined the festival this year, to run 'round-the-clock strategic air raids on the festival site. (Hey, this could work. Of course, it might be difficult to come up with enough tanks and jeeps to put on a good car show, but the cruise could be interesting.)

Maybe the '30s. We could turn the festival site into a dust bowl, pack all our belongings into a pick up and move to a bread line. (Even better.)

The '20s? Flappers, Blind Pigs, choppers, gang wars. And you thought the drive-by shooting was a recent development. (Sorry, I'm not drinking gin out of anybody's bathtub.)

One more time - the 'teens. Dig a bunch of trenches, fill 'em with muddy water and large rodents and live in 'em for a week. (Sounds like a thrill, but I'm not wearing one of those silly, rimmed helmets or leg wraps for anything. Guess that's out too.)

Like it or not, I think we are going to have to stick with the '50s Festival for a while. The decade may have had its flaws, but relatively speaking, it appears it was the most enjoyable of the century.

Have fun. The '50s Festival of course is running now through Sunday at the Novi Expo Center. Hope to see you there.

Gone but not forgotten.

That phrase aptly describes Andy Smojver, a Northville teenager taken from his friends and family in a fatal car accident 10 weeks ago. They're spearheading an effort to give Northville something to remember him by: a tree and plaque to be planted at the baseball field near Northville High School, where the 19-year-old and his brothers spent many an afternoon pitching for the Mustangs.

"He was the nicest kid," Janet Collins, the mother of one of Smojver's closest friends, said this week. "It was like losing my own son."

Smojver was killed May 20 near the intersection of U.S. 23 and I-94 west of Ann Arbor. A 1993 Northville High School graduate, he worked at Northville Downs and was attending Schoolcraft College. The tree and plaque are a way to preserve his memory, Collins said.

"Andy touched many of us in many different ways," she said.

Collins says she and friends of Andy involved in the project hope to raise $400. They're asking for those who knew him to help out with donations. Make your check payable to J. Collins and send it to 42524 Lake Success Drive, Northville, 48167.

If Northville Public School officials agree the tree and plaque will be in place near the baseball field bleachers by the fall, Collins said.

For 11 Hours Only, Newton Will Sizzle With The Best Furniture Savings Of The Summer.

OUR EMPLOYEE TAKE-OVER SALE LETS YOU
SAVE 25-62% ON EVERYTHING IN STOCK.

Saturday, July 29 10-9 p.m.

A slight overstock in inventory has led to a complete overreaction on the part of our Employees. Armed with special tags that say SALE in big letters, they've declared their own brand of mutiny at Newton Furniture.

In fact, this is nothing less than the heated frenzy of massacring prices on the best in name brands. Like 40% off...50% off, and even more on specially selected furniture. Which makes Newton Furniture the hottest place to be this Saturday.

Think I'm kidding? Craig Madvin was red-faced when two numbers got switched on a multiply order of Sleep-Sofas. Big Deal, it happens. But it means a Big Deal for you. Because now, these superb sofa-beds (which were $799 are only $499. At $300 off, we're talking quite a savings...and the quality is outstanding. Get in early for these specials.

Craig's logic was at that much off that the sofas will sell quickly. Don Paul went one better, and the two set up a gentleman's bet. Don then discounted a superb contemporary sofa, a centerpiece in long lasting weave from $1,008 to only $456. More than half off. It'll be interesting to see which sells first.

Julia Pierce thinks Prince Charles, of all people, is hot. Yet you should see her take a swipe at royalty. Specifically, Julia slashed the price of a new Queen Anne Wing Chair, one of our classiest pieces. Was $591, now only $276. Bargains like these are what our employees are trying to convey. So convey yourself in here on Saturday.

The take-over continued. "Let's get hot" became the word of the day. It was interesting how Richard Yanity cut a dashing figure--namely, by dashing the figures on all bedroom sets to the very depth of savings. For example, we figured that one of our best Bedroom Sets--in oak, including a bed, dresser, mirror and chest was worth $2,295. He cut it to only $988.

Then, swashbuckler Bob Corbett (I'm not kidding: Bob really does buckle his swashes!!) took a traditional sofa that was $1,078 down to $439, a savings of $639. (Talk about hot savings! Boss Newton is gonna buckle when he sees these discounts!)

Carolyn Hardacre, noted a simple 7 piece Dinette Set. Or better said, she denoted it...from $984 to only $575. Note too, that you'll save the $409 on Saturday only.

In the spirit of the moment, Tammy Davy spirited away a gallery full of premium ceramic, and brass lamps...marking them down to start at only $49. Spirits were high...which means lamps are really at a high discount.

Over the portside, Sherry Robinson espied a lovely Dining Set, complete with table, china cabinet and 4 chairs. Was $3,255. Saturday only, it'll be almost half off: $1,687. ("Perfect for lots of company", said Sherry. At $1,568, it's perfect for anything.) Susan Kolb proved in her own way that the pen is much mightier than the sword: Her pen slashed prices on select entertainment, TV and Stereo Centers, wall units, and curio cabinets by straightforward 50% off. Mighty big savings. And Sharon decided to table the issue: Rather than postpone savings on select end tables, coffee tables and sofa tables, she slashed prices 40-50% off.

Don't you postpone getting in here to save on these. They start at $129.

It was a pleasure to hear pacifist Jackie say that she was heading for the country. Then our hearts dropped, as Jackie headed for our country-style sofas...discounting an especially attractive sofa by $429!! Was $1,078, Saturday only. $649. (On that note, you'll find lots of sofas at great savings this Saturday.) And Nancy took her self-proclaimed "transitional 50's phase" to extremes...and discounted a superb transitional sofa from $1,078 to only $499. "It's a piece you'd see in the 50's," she said, though the sofa, of course, is totally new. Anne set her sizzlin' theory of savings to music. Singing "Heat Wave" she gave some hot discounts to a contemporary sofa that was $1,148...now $484...$706 off. A very hot single...the song that is. We've got lots of sofas at great values.

Slowly, the picture emerged. (Phyllis helped by slashing prices on select pictures and other sundry accessories by 40-50% off.) Then Bobbie figured out a way to offer compound savings, by pricing one of the finest sectionals from a reasonable $2,685 to a phenomenal $1,474: again, $1,211 off. While that admittedly represents an extraordinarily hot bargain, you'll find multiple settings--sectionals, modulars, sofas, loveseats, and sofa/chair pairs at great savings.

And that's only the beginning. Time and space and mutinous looks prevent us from further discourse on the hundreds upon hundreds of sizzling Summer Furniture Bargains. Think the weather is hot? Wrong. Think Madonna is hot? Nope. The hottest thing this Summer is Saturday at Newton's Sizzlin' Summer Sale. Incredible furniture, at incredibly good bargains. Don't miss it.

Realtor says Novi's not high-tech friendly

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

High tech firms are typically less intensive and offer higher paying jobs than other types of businesses. They generate higher tax revenues and are typically neighbor-friendly.

But they aren't coming to Novi. Bill Bowman, president of Thompson-Brown Realtors said companies with plans to bring high tech developments here are by-passing the city because Novi's rezoning and site plan review processes are too restrictive and too demanding under the OS-2/PD-4 option, which accommodates these types of users.

The ordinance amendment added to the zoning ordinance in 1990 has strict requirements that requires applicants to provide detailed site plans and disclose themselves as soon as they apply.

"These people have to put up a lot of expense and exposure before they know whether or not the city will look favorably on them," Bowman said. "It's a devastating thing."

The result is that high tech users are by-passing the city and settling to the east and west of Novi, therefore boosting the tax bases in Wixom and Farmington Hills and making Novi look more like a bedroom community.

Bowman is working with the city to draft a new ordinance to create a new office district just for these kind of users. The draft has been improved by the Implementation Committee and is expected to be considered by the Novi Planning Commission later this month.

Bowman said he first noticed that the city was being pipped when he took an informal survey of the number of projects pending in Novi and compared it with those in adjacent communities specifically Farmington Hills and Wixom.

While Novi had two potential high tech users petitioning for approval, Wixom had 28 projects pending.

Farmington Hills has been very successful in recent years in attracting high tech business because their they have reasonable ordinances but strict performance standards, Bowman said.

Bowman, said he is spearheading the campaign to get the new OS-3 district created, provided it represents the kind of development and controls city officials want. He has worked with planners in Farmington Hills and chaired an industrial development committee there to help spur industrial development.

Industrial development in Farmington Hills has picked up since a new high tech ordinance took effect there as a result of the committee's work.

But Bowman said Novi could reap the same benefits its neighbors have if the new district is in place because the city offers the same kind of amenities.

The industrial broker has been a team player on the Implementation Committee.

He's attended several meetings is working to amend the ordinance to trigger new development.

"The PD-4 ordinance comes awfully close to be a reasonable ordinance except for a couple of items," Bowman.

Novi needs to maintain the confidentiality of the applicants and do away with the public hearing and the need to have applications screened by the Novi Planning Commission and City Council, Bowman said to attract these kind of users.

A draft of the OS-3 ordinance has been approved by a subcommittee of the Novi Planning Commission and should be reviewed by the commission later this month.

If adopted it would rescind and replace the PD-4 option.

HEALTH NOTE
by Dennis E. Engerer, P.T.
ANKLE SPRAINS AND TIGHT CALF MUSCLES
There is good reason for the ankle to be one of the most off-injured joints in the body. Virtually the entire weight of the body is supported by a single anklebone, the talus, along with small ligaments and long tendons. Running or jumping cause impact forces equal to more than three times the body's weight to be transmitted through the ankle, from the foot to the leg. Most injuries occur when the foot inverts (rolls to the side) to cause a sprain on the outside of the ankle. Many sprains are not due to "weak ankles," but to overly tight calf muscles. To prevent sprains, it helps to perform calf stretches. Stand two feet from a wall, place your hands against it, and extend a leg behind you with the knee straight and the other heel planted on the floor. Hold for 30 seconds and repeat three times.
At Northville Physical Therapy & Rehabilitation Inc., we focus on returning patients to their highest level of function. Patients are instructed in adaptive methods and home exercises that focus on improving muscle strength, function, and coordination. We specialize in stroke and closed head injury rehabilitation, sports injuries, chronic pain management, back and neck problems, and general physical rehabilitation. To schedule an appointment, call us today at 349-3816. We are located at 332 E. Main Street, Suite A.
P.S. tight calf muscles can also cause Achilles tendinitis, a common problem among runners.

Keep your cool in summer heat with these hints

With the dog days of summer upon us, Detroit Edison is offering some suggestions on how to keep cool safely and efficiently around the house or apartment.

"Most people think about insulating their homes to keep warm during the winter months, but insulation also helps keep cold air in and hot air out," said Jared Goetz of Detroit Edison's Residential Marketing Department. "This will help your air conditioner work more efficiently and be cheaper to operate."

Weatherstripping and caulking around the house also help to increase cooling and heating efficiency, Goetz said.

But what can you do right now to make the heat a bit less taxing?

Minimize the use of appliances that generate heat such as stoves and clothes dryers.

In addition, Goetz said when using a window air conditioner, close doors leading to uncooled parts of the home to place less strain on the units and for better cooling.

In homes with central air conditioning, people may want to consider shutting doors and registers to unused rooms. In both cases, storm windows should be closed to keep hot air out and cold air in.

For people cooling with air conditioners and fans, draperies should be closed when the sun shines directly into windows.

Window fan-users also should make sure draperies are secured for better circulation and safety, Goetz said.

Fan-users also should keep fans out of reach of young children and check cords on portable fans for broken or cracked wire insulation.

Regular maintenance will help your air conditioner last longer and work better, Goetz noted. "But before starting such work, make sure the electrical power is disconnected."

The outside portion of air conditioners should be cleaned of dust and other debris, the fan blades should be cleaned annually, and air filters should be cleaned or changed every 90 days during the cooling season, Goetz added.

If you're fed up with the heat and humidity and ready to take the plunge into air conditioning or have an older, less efficient cooling unit, Goetz has some ready advice.

"Technology has led to remarkable improvements in efficiency compared with older cooling units," he said.

"If you're considering repairs, you might want to think about replacing older units with more energy-efficient models," he suggested.

Window air conditioners should have a Seasonal Energy Efficiency Ratio (SEER) of 9 or 9.5, while central air conditioning systems should have a minimum rating of 10.

All manufacturers provide SEER ratings, which can be found on the yellow "energy labels" posted on major appliances. The higher the SEER, the greater the appliance's efficiency.

Goetz also noted that the more efficient a unit, the greater the energy savings. "For every SEER number you go up, you'll save 7 to 10 percent in operating costs."

Red Cross offers storm safety tips

Already this year, storms have brought tornadoes and flooding to some 20 states.

The American Red Cross wants you to be prepared in the event of a storm and especially the lightning which often accompanies it.

Here are some important lightning and safety tips to consider:

• Keep an eye on the sky.

• Look for darkening skies, flashes of light or increasing wind.

• Listen for the sound of thunder. If you can hear thunder, you are close enough to the storm to be struck by lightning.

• Get to safe shelter immediately.

• Listen to weather radio or television for the latest weather forecast.

When a storm approaches:

• Find shelter in a sturdy building. If a building is not nearby, a hardtop car is suitable. Keep car windows closed and avoid convertibles.

• Telephone lines and metal pipes can conduct electricity.

• Avoid using the telephone or any electrical appliances and unplug all large appliances. Avoid taking a bath or shower, or running water for any other purpose.

• Turn off the air conditioner; power surges from lightning can overload the compressor, resulting in a costly repair job.

• If you are in the woods, take shelter under the shorter trees.

• If you are boating or swimming, get to land and find shelter immediately.

• If possible, go to a low-lying, open space away from trees, poles or metal objects, not a place that could fill with flood water.

• If someone is struck by lightning:

• People struck by lightning carry no electrical charge and can be handled safely.

• Get someone to dial 911 or your local emergency services number. The injured person has received an electrical shock and may be burned. If breathing has stopped, begin rescue breathing. If the heart has stopped beating, a trained person should give cardiopulmonary resuscitation.

Take a Red Cross CPR course.

Call (810) 967-0976 for class schedules.

The American Red Cross has courses available in CPR and other health and safety courses, in addition to classes and brochures on disaster preparedness.

To find out more, call (810) 967-0976.

Area legislators plan senior celebration day

The concerns of area senior citizens will be addressed at a special event sponsored by four local legislators this fall.

State Reps. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth; Lyn Banks, R-Redford; Jim Ryan, R-Redford; and Deborah Whyman, R-Canton Township, are sponsoring the first Western Wayne County Senior Celebration Day. It will be Saturday, Sept. 16, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., at Burton Manor in Livonia, 27777 Schoolcraft Road. The program includes noted speakers, issues workshops, entertainment, and a consumer and health fair.

Secretary of State Candice Miller, and Esther Shapiro, director of Detroit's Consumer Affairs Department, are the honored guests. They will answer questions and talk one-on-one with residents.

"We are fortunate to have Candice and Esther," Banks said. "They understand the problems seniors face every day, and will offer insight on how to deal with those struggles. Candice is making real progress in improving customer service, and Esther has more than a decade of experience working with people to stem the incidence of consumer fraud, and improving the quality of services and products we buy.

"This conference is shaping up to be an informative, worthwhile event that offers something for everyone. Those who participate will come away knowing they have the ability to make positive change in their lives."

Law said every senior community has similar needs, and that combining forces makes it easier to resolve the most challenging issues facing today's older adults.

"Seniors in western Wayne County are extremely active, volunteering countless hours and always looking for ways to improve our communities," Law said. "This conference gives us the ability to pool our resources and come up with solutions that work for all of us. It will be a collaborative effort, and I look forward to a successful and productive day."

Ryan added that several health geriatric medicine experts will talk about many changes in health care services. Other professionals from the legal, financial and housing communities also will answer questions.

For more information on the conference, or how to secure a booth for the consumer or health fair, contact Sallie Nyhan at (517) 373-1863.

Opening public records

Republicans foil attempts to broaden public access laws

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Public access to public records became a partisan issue as House Republicans beat down three Democratic efforts to broaden the Freedom of Information Act.

"It will have a detrimental effect on companies doing business in the state," objected Rep. Frank Fitzgerald, R-Grand Ledge, as the House Judiciary Committee voted no on party lines. "It would have a chilling effect."

Rep. Laura Baird, D-Okemos, saw all three of her efforts go down in Republican flames. They would have:

- Listed in the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) 20 other laws with 186 sections that close down public records. Among them are the Sex Offenders Registration Act, the Fire Prevention Code, the State Research Fund, the Workers Compensation Act, the Lottery Act (winners) and the Crime Victims Act.

Baird's amendment wouldn't have changed the exemptions — just required that they be listed in FOIA.

- Required that functions which are "privatized" (performed by private contractors) continue to be subject to FOIA requests. Detroit News investigations during Mayor Coleman Young's administration showed that Detroit contracted with environmental firms, allowed them to control all records, and forbade the firms from talking with news media — effectively closing down public records.

Rep. Karen Willard, D-Fair Haven, said the Engler administration had let Strategic Fund contracts without open bidding to out-of-state firms which kept their records secret.

Fitzgerald argued that opening the previously public records would allow competitors to learn the contractor's organizational and financial secrets.

- Limited shifting of records to the governor's office, which isn't subject to FOIA, records of the value of such entities as the Accident Fund, which the state ultimately sold.

Said Fitzgerald: "Had we made public those records, we would have advertised to the entire world their value. It would have undercut the ability of the state to get (high) bids."

Baird attempted to tack her amendments onto a relatively non-controversial bill by Rep. Greg Kaza, R-Rochester Hills, to set up an appeals procedure when governmental agencies deny FOIA requests for public records. "It gives citizens another tool," Kaza said.

His House Bill 4849 would allow a person whose FOIA request was denied to appeal higher up in the administrative chain, a process not formally available.

"If they are denied, citizens could still go to circuit court," said Kaza. He went on to note that the administrative procedure was patterned after the federal FOIA law.

The panel reported out (sent to the House floor) Kaza's bill on a unanimous vote. Absent were Reps. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, and James Ryan, R-Redford.

But Rep. Roland Jersevic, R-Saginaw, said clarification is needed to assure that an appeal doesn't go to the same person who denied the request in the first place.

Under FOIA, all public records are theoretically accessible, but Sec. 13 allows public bodies to exempt some records or portions for specific reasons.

The public body must give a reason, in writing, for denying the record.

The denial must be specific and not merely repeat the statute.

Kaza's bill would require the head of the public body to respond to a written appeal in 10 days, either reversing the denial, sending notice to the requester that the denial is upheld or reversing in part.

SEMCOG reviews road funding plans

Local elected officials will consider approval of a program that provides $2.1 billion in federal, state and local funding for more than 600 road and transit projects in Southeast Michigan.

The item is on the executive committee agenda of SEMCOG, the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, for this Friday, July 28, at 12:20 p.m.

The offices are located in SEMCOG offices at 660 Plaza Drive in Detroit.

The Regional Transportation Improvement Program (TIP) for 1996-98 lists projects scheduled to receive funding through the Surface Transportation Program for both the urban and rural areas of the region.

This prioritized list is developed based on recommendations from county and city Federal Aid Committees, transit agencies and the Michigan Department of Transportation. The federal Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act of 1991 mandates the use of the TIP to determine how regional transportation dollars will be spent. All projects must comply with Clean Air Act regulations.

Other agenda items include:

- Review and comment on the Suburban Mobility Authority for Regional Transportation Fiscal Year 1996 operating and capital budgets.

- Consideration of a process to update and revise the Regional Transportation Plan.

- Consideration of a resolution calling for the State of Michigan to end the Auto Exhaust Testing Program in Southeast Michigan.

SEMCOG is a voluntary association of counties, cities, villages, townships, intermediate school districts and community colleges in the seven-county Southeast Michigan region.

DREAMS

really do

COME TRUE

Noel Korowin, right, has a chance to visit with his mom, Diann, left, who is holding his niece, Sarah Nedham, his sister, Khris Nedham and friends Cathy Mineau and her son Michael after a recent Detroit Neon game at the Palace.

By CAROL WORKENS
Staff Writer

When Noel Korowin was 7-years-old, he strapped on a pair of shin guards and like many other children his age, stepped onto a soccer field for the first time.

But unlike many of his earliest teammates in the Northville Recreation youth soccer program, he continues to play the international game of football he loves, in front of thousands of spectators.

Korowin has made it to the pros - The Detroit Neon. The professional indoor soccer team, the 14th team of the Continental Indoor Soccer League, is in the middle of its second season.

"During preseason I was on cloud nine for a while," Korowin said. "To play with them and be on the same field and such, is incredible."

Korowin remained in the Northville Recreation soccer program only two years before being recruited for a traveling soccer team, the Bardar III.

The Bardar III team out of Livonia traveled all over the United States and won a national indoor championship when Korowin was in 9th or 10th grade, according to his mother, Diann Korowin.

Korowin played on the Bardar team from the time he was nine years old until he went to college.

The 1990 graduate of Northville High School played three years of football and also played basketball and track during high school.

"I wanted to try everything," Korowin said. "Luckily high school let me do that."

"I think playing all those different sports helped me be an all-around athlete."

At Butler University in Indianapolis Korowin focused on soccer for which he had received a scholarship.

During his sophomore year at Butler, Korowin knew he wanted to play professionally and had a "heart-to-heart talk" with his coach about where he was headed in soccer. His coach told him if he improved on certain aspects of his game he had a good chance at playing at the pro level.

Korowin played soccer at Butler for four years and received a degree in secondary education this past May.

It was his college coach who told him to tryout for the Detroit Neon.

"It was a goal for him and we were all thrilled when he made the team," said Diann. "It makes it pretty special to do it in the hometown you grew up in."

The Korowins are a soccer family. Noel, the youngest of three would watch his two older sisters play and even kicked around the ball in the back yard with them on more than one occasion. Khris played soccer at the University of Michigan and Kathy played while at Purdue University.

"I signed on as a defender and have been playing some forward lately," Korowin said.

"I didn't know quite what to expect when I came in. The competition is that much better," Korowin said. "At this level everyone is really good."

"The ball rarely goes out of play," Korowin said in comparing indoor with outdoor soccer. "It is very fast, high scoring and you have to be very quick. 'It's great for staying in good physical shape and for gross motor skills,' he said.

"The thing I love about it the most is that it's fun. I'm making good money for something I love to do. I don't consider it a job, because I'm playing soccer."

The regular indoor soccer season runs from June through Oct. 1 before the playoffs begin.

The remaining home games for the Detroit Neon are at the Palace of Auburn Hills on Aug. 10, 12, 18; Sept. 2, 3, 9, 14 and Oct. 1. The game on Aug. 10 will be broadcast on WJBK-TV2. The games on Sept. 3, 9, 14 and Oct. 1 will be broadcast on PASS.

McClory reviews direction of agency

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

"To provide programs to keep kids challenged and to keep our seniors young" is the reason Jon H. McClory says he is serving on the commission - representing the township - for Northville Parks and Recreation. At least that's why he was asked to be a member.

He's had practical experience in his church in dealing with a basketball program - fourth, fifth, and sixth grades.

And in his business - Franklin Consulting and Training - he has an interest in seeing that all levels of society are involved. "Providing customer focused solutions" is on his business card. So he was a natural for the job, helping to formulate directions.

Once a month, he said, the Commission has reviews. They look at the financial direction of the agency.

"A small portion comes from the taxpayers," he said. A big money maker is the dinner proceeds from the Friends of the Parks and Recreation and also from block grants.

And they look at old business: for example, fish hatchery, tennis courts program and review the operation of the community building usage.

They review the relations with basketball, soccer, the seniors programs.

They review the recommendations from the engineering staff - the plans that are being developed and figure what they can use with the revenues on hand.

It's a challenging job, one that can run away with a member who wants to give the moon but can afford only earthly distances.

If you want to sit in on a Parks and Recreation Commission meeting, the meetings are held on the second Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., alternately, between city and township hall.

Town Hall Series announces yearly charitable awards

The Northville Town Hall Lecture Series has announced the recipients of its 1994-95 awards for charitable organizations.

This year 13 charitable organizations turned in written requests which included a statement on how the money was to be spent and a brief summary of the purpose of the organization, down from 21 requests received the previous year.

Receiving awards were:

The Northville Historical Society for a composite project; the Livonia Family Y for the 1995 Invest in Youth Project; the Northville Beautification Commission for township beautification and flower planting in the community; Paws with a Cause to help sponsor a hearing and service dog; Marlan, Oakland-West to purchase an umbrella for the picnic table Town Hall donated the previous year; The Longacre House to help purchase art materials for their junior arts program; YWCA Western Wayne County to help with the printing of new brochures for the Encore Plus Program; Plymouth Historical Museum to purchase mylar used in storing and exhibiting old photographs; First Step to help cover costs in seeking housing and medications; Friends of the Novi Library to purchase a reference book; Novi Youth Assistance for helping needy children unable to attend summer activities; Schoolcraft College to purchase updated materials for the nursing department; and Friends of Northville District Library to purchase a projection screen for children's reading room.

"Most of these organizations are not subsidized by anyone," Northville Town Hall Lecture Series Novi Representative Sue Korte said.

Grad will be featured at poetry festival

Former Northville resident and 1972 Northville High School graduate, Rishikavi Raghudas, formerly known as Robbie Clarke, will be a featured speaker at the first annual Michigan Mystical Poetry Festival which will be held Sunday, July 30, from 4 to 9 p.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church in Plymouth.

The festival, organized by Plymouth's poet-in-residence and featured reader, Rev. Rod Reinhart, will be a celebration of poetry and spirituality. St. John's is located at 574 South Sheldon Road, just south of Ann Arbor Trail.

Other readers are: Sarah Addae, Ron Allen, Douglas Gabriel, M. L. Liebler, Robert Thibodeau, Kim Webb and Howard Weingarden.

Raghudas, whose spiritual title of Rishikavi means "Seer-Poet" in Sanskrit, is the recipient of official commendations and has been called "Michigan's unofficial Poet Laureate." He recently read in San Francisco as part of the United Nations 50th anniversary celebration. He uses his poetry to promote peace and spiritual love.

Raghudas attended St. John's as a child and sees the Mystical Poetry Festival as a homecoming.

"It's quite appropriate. Truth is one, after all, and now I feel I have something to share that is universal in substance. Poetry can help us express our deepest self, and having an open heart is what spirituality is all about," he said.

Raghudas will read from his newly-published book, The Lotus and the Dawn: A Pilgrimage into the Light. Advance copies of the book plus videos of the theatrical production will be available at the festival.

A five to seven minute open mike segment will be available for those who wish to share their spiritual poetry with others before and after each of the featured readers.

For more information, call (313) 459-7319. A free-will donation will be accepted.

Student cast in summer camp finale

Ernest Nolan will star this August in the Interlochen Arts Camp production of Gilbert and Sullivan's Gondoliers.

The Gondoliers follows the heroine Casilda, who attempts to find the husband to whom she was betrothed as an infant. Soon after the wedding, her husband, the heir to the throne of Barataria, is abducted. But years later, when Nolan's character, Giuseppe, and fellow gondolier Marco learn one of them is heir to the throne and Casilda's husband - confusion begins, especially for their new wives.

The play will commemorate the 50th anniversary of Interlochen opera. It has been directed for 43 years by Clarence Stephenson, professor emeritus from the Department of Drama and Musical Theatre at San Diego State University.

Nolan, 18, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Nolan of Northville.

Weekend youth activities conclude

The last installment of youth activities put on by the Northville Action Council includes Movies under the Stars, which concludes Friday with Back to the Future.

The film will be shown on the back of the Northville Public Schools Administration Building, 501 W. Main, beginning as soon as it is dark (between 9-9:30 p.m.). The movie is sponsored by the Northville Chamber of Commerce.

Bring lawn chairs, carpet squares or blankets and mosquito repellent. Food concessions will be open. Please leave food and drink at home. In case of rain, the movie will be shown inside the Recreation Center beginning at 9 p.m. Admission is free.

Performing at the Northville Recreation Center on Saturday, July 29, will be Baked Potato. Admission is $2 at the door. During Baked Potato's breaks, three bands will be performing. Performing during one of the breaks is Slave One, which plays SKA or reggae music. Band member Kevin Carter, a Northville resident, plays trombone.

Openings for two other bands are still available. If your band would like to perform, call 349-7199 to reserve a break.

Also on Saturday, the Student Art and Flea Market will be open from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the downtown Northville gazebo offering teens an opportunity to sell crafts, and sell or trade sports cards, pogs, music tapes and discs, and services such as babysitting and lawn care.

To register for the art market, call Back Door Beads at 380-8215 by the previous Thursday to reserve a table. There is no cost.

In Our Town is written by Carol Workens. If you have story ideas, accomplishments, awards, trips, etc. you would like to share with your neighbors and friends in Northville, call her at 349-1700 or write The Northville Record, 104 W. Main Street, Northville, MI 48167.

Tammy Geake and Granted, a 10-year-old Arabian stallion, won three championships at the Michigan State Fairgrounds in Detroit last week.

Rider and stallion go the distance at local horse show

Tammy Geake, 23, of Northville, won an open championship and two regional championships at the Michigan All-Arabian and Region XIII Championship Horse Show held July 19-23 at the Michigan State Fairgrounds in Detroit.

She rode Granted, her 10-year-old chestnut Arabian stallion, to the wins which included country English pleasure, Arabian show hack, and mounted native costume categories.

All of these classes require a horse with beautiful motion and athletic ability, but most of all a quiet and obedient disposition.

Michigan has the second largest Arabian Horse Association in the United States, and Region XIII, which includes Michigan and Indiana, is one of the most competitive regions.

To qualify for a regional show, a horse must have received a first or second placing in a qualifying class at a Class A show within that region. Exhibitors often travel great distances to qualify their horses in other regions that are less competitive, because any top five regional win is an automatic qualification for the National Show. Shows are held in Louisville, Kent, or Albuquerque, N.M., on alternate years. Winners also qualify for the Canadian National Arabian Horse Show, held yearly in Regina, Saskatchewan.

For each of her regional wins, Tammy won three ribbons, a Region XIII championship cooler (horse blanket), a trophy, and $1,500 in International Arabian Horse Association Sweepstakes money.

"My costume win was especially satisfying," Tammy noted, "because Granted and I were Reserve Champion last year. It was nice to be the bride instead of the bride's maid."

Tammy trains and shows Arabian and half-Arabian horses at Hilden Spring Arabians on Eight Mile Road. She has been working with Granted for almost two years. She also operates a day camp for children ages 7-14 who are interested in learning about horses.

Students and professionals work side by side in show

Two Novi High School students who won't be seen on stage during performances of Jesus Christ Superstar, now playing at the Clarenceville Louis E. Schmidt Auditorium in Livonia are Chris Gavin and Jennifer Gates. Still, the applause and cheers during the standing ovation at the close of the play are not only for the actors but for Gavin and Gates and the many other students and professionals working behind the scenes to make the show a success.

Gavin and Gates, both juniors, are part of a crew of students interested in theater and professionals working onstage and backstage during performances.

Gavin, one of six assistant directors, handles many minor and a few major problems which crop up during a performance.

During opening night, the microphones were not working and this past Sunday, a platform on the stage collapsed. Gavin and others tried to hold the platform up in place until all actors could be rerouted. All this was accomplished without the audience ever being aware that anything had gone wrong.

"I feel more comfortable being on headset and backstage," said

Gavin, who had been cast as a soldier but was unable to do both due to the demands of being an assistant director.

"I've learned a lot more about theatre and how to major in theater by being in this show," Gavin said. "This has been spectacular."

Gates, a props master, makes sure that all the actors have their props and that the props are accounted for after each performance.

"There is a set place for everything," Gates said. "I don't feel comfortable going home without everything in place. I learned a lot of new ideas that will probably help in doing future productions in high school like short cuts and budgeting."

In the spotlight is Amy Frankel, a senior at Northville High School. Frankel is a Simon soloist, the Lead Tormentor and the Dance Captain.

The show, spearheaded by Jumpstart the Arts, is part of an outreach program created and designed to bring young local professionals, Broadway performers and others in the performing arts industry together. Its mission is to create a supportive and educational environment for students and professionals to express themselves creatively.

Jumpstart the Arts was designed by Garden City native Michael J. Sawaya, who is producing the show; Westland native Daniel C. Cooney, who is playing Judas; Plymouth native Kent Dallen, who is directing the musical and playing Calaphas; Broadway star Kirk Mouser, who is playing Jesus; and Jim Bonney, workshop instructor.

Cooney has performed off-broadway and in national tours. Dallen has performed in various national tours.

"The people are absolutely wonderful," said Gavin. "I was expecting prima donnas, but the Broadway actors have been wonderful."

"I am really excited to be working with these people," said Gates. "You're standing there and you realize that these people have been on Broadway and such, and here they are standing in a high school auditorium."

The curtain rises for Jesus Christ Superstar at the Clarenceville Louis E. Schmidt Auditorium, 20155 Middlebelt Road in Livonia for one more week-end on July 27, 28 and 29 at 8 p.m. and July 30 at 3 p.m.

Tickets are available through Ticket Master. For more information, call (313) 425-5782.

OLV student joins workforce in veterans' summer program

Northville resident Loren Tirone, a student at Our Lady of Victory School, is among the 12 teenagers getting a taste of being in the workforce through the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) Medical Center's Summer Youth Volunteer Program.

The eight-week program helps students develop employability skills and work ethics while building self-esteem.

Before being selected for the program, each teenager had to fill out an application, be recommended by a school counselor or administrator and then be interviewed by the program committee. Once accepted, the students were paired up with mentors from the medical center's staff.

The students volunteer three mornings each week in a field of their own interest, including such areas as nursing, finance, research, occupational therapy, radiology, and human resources.

The program is based on Michigan Education Association (MEA) guidelines describing skills desired most by employers. The mentors, using the same type of program portfolios used in Michigan schools, evaluate the students on teamwork and personal management. Students in the program fulfill community credit as recommended for graduation by the MEA.

The students, who range in ages from 13 to 18, attend schools at nine different institutions in three counties.

The Northville Action Council has booked a group of Northville High School alumni to play at the Northville Recreation Center on Saturday, July 29, from 8:30 to 11 p.m.

Representing every class from 1992-95, "Baked Potato" members, are Bill McClintock, class of '94, Lee Hyland, '92, Ryan Hyland, '93, Tom Sheppard, '95 and Rob Nelson, '94.

Baked Potato plays jazzy funk rock music and original songs but do play a few covers, according to McClintock.

On average, Baked Potato performs once or twice a week and can be seen frequently at the Blind Pig in Ann Arbor, Cross Street Station in Ypsilanti and Small Planet in East Lansing.

The group played together for the first time during the 1991-92 school year. McClintock is on bass, Lee Hyland vocals, Nelson and Ryan Hyland play guitar and Sheppard is on drums.

Baked Potato is hoping for a future. "We just need that one big break and we're going," said McClintock.

"We've had offers to play on college stations, but we need a tape," McClintock said. In response to requests by college radio stations, the group is starting a home-style tape to give to the stations to get some air time.

The name of the group carries no hidden meaning, according to McClintock, but just sounded good when one of the members tossed it on the floor for consideration.

Baked Potato is a definite step above garage bands, according to McClintock.

"They are just starting out and haven't learned the ropes yet or how to put on a very good show," he said.

Admission to Saturday's show is $2 at the door. Refreshments will be available.

Bruce Turnbull was born in the upper right hand bedroom of this building. C. B. Turnbull's Northville Electric Shop was located downstairs.

Turnbull has a handful of memories from the '20's

A new addition to the Our Town section of the Northville Record will be occasional features on life growing up in Northville. It may be a memorable occasion, an everyday experience, or a family tradition that captures what life was like in another era. Add to that a picture, and our readers will take a trip back in time and imagine the days that were.

The best part is that you don't have to write the story yourself, if you don't want to.

Call Carol Workens at 349-1700 if you have a story to tell from 20, 30, 40 or more years ago.

C. B. Turnbull's Northville Electric Shop opened for business in 1918. Like most business owners of the day, the Turnbulls lived in an apartment above the shop.

Bruce Turnbull was born in the apartment on Oct. 7, 1919, just five days after the picture which is used in Northville ... The First Hundred Years by Jack W. Hoffman was taken of Main Street.

The attending physician was Dr. Dan Henry. By the time Bruce was 10 or 12 years old, he was working in the family business.

"I'd say, 'Dad, how about a quarter,' and he'd say, 'Come to the store and sweep the floor and I'll give you a quarter," Turnbull said.

Bruce attended the grade school which was at the corner of Cady Street and West. It later burned in 1936.

"Girls and boys who had holes in their shoes and didn't have enough money to have them patched, they would go down and get a penny postcard - because a penny postcard was the best type of cardboard there was - and they'd cut that and put that in the bottom of their shoe to go to school. That seemed to work the best.

"A thin piece of cardboard, a lot of kids did that. They'd put a piece of cardboard in their shoe and go to school because they couldn't patch them," Turnbull said.

In 1929, when Bruce was 10 years old, a week's worth of groceries cost $5. Haircuts were 50 cents. A movie for children was 10 cents and for adults it was 35 cents.

Mrs. Ivy Cooke was Turnbull's seventh and eighth grade teacher and Mr. Amerman was the superintendent of schools. If those names sound familiar, they should. Amerman Elementary School and Cooke Middle School are named after them.

This year's festival hopes to draw 2,000 people and raise up to $20,000 for the Huntington's Disease Society of America.

Folk fest expected to be best ever

The 19th annual Northville Folk and Bluegrass Festival, which begins at noon on Sunday, July 30 and ends at 8 p.m., will be longer and offer more entertainment than in previous years.

Those entertainers who landed a spot in this year's program are Claudia Schmitt, Josh White Jr., Peter and Lou Berryman, the Immigrants, Neil Woodward, Dennis Cyporyn, Fred's Not Irish, Pat Donahue and the Hooked on Country Dancers.

A pancake breakfast hosted by Heavenly Bakery begins at 10:30 a.m. The gates at Ford Field will open at 10 a.m.

Advance tickets for the festival are $10 and are available at the Giftfiddler or by calling Ticketmaster at (810) 645-6666.

Tickets can also be purchased the day of the event for $12 at the gate.

The festival is jointly sponsored by the University of Michigan Health Center, The Giftfiddler, Genitti's, Northville Collision, the Northville Rotary Club, WDET, Heavenly Bakery, Community Federal Credit Union and Guernsey Farms Dairy.

On Saturday, July 29, Genitti's Restaurant will host a music show and seven-course dinner featuring Schmitt and White at Genitti's Little Theater, located at 108 E. Main.

Tickets are $35 per person. Call 349-349-0522 for reservations.

Proceeds from both events will benefit the Huntington's Disease Society of America, which provides support and services to patients with the illness.

Boy and whale reunited in 'Free Willy' sequel

In 1993, moviegoers were charmed by the unexpected and magical relationship between a 12-year-old boy named Jesse and a majestic whale in "Free Willy."

Jesse and Willy, both angry and alone, found a friendship with each other that was unconditional as it was unlikely. Even though one was a 7,000 pound orca and the other a 95-pound kid, they connected, found a way to communicate and built a mutual trust that led them out of their individual loneliness and isolation.

As Willy leapt over Jesse and on to freedom at the end of "Free Willy," the two friends thought that they'd probably never see each other again.

But some friendships overcome all the distance, time and circumstances that try to separate them. Now, two years after they said goodbye, Jesse and Willy find each other — as unexpectedly as before — and the limits of their friendship are tested again in a life-or-death situation that puts both of them at risk.

Only by trusting each other can they find their way out of the danger.

In the two years since their last meeting, both Jesse (Jason James Richter) and Willy have become parts of families and are each struggling with growing up. Despite their obvious differences, they are faced with some similar pressures: Willy has to oversee an unruly sister and brother as part of his orca "pod," and Jesse has to contend with his own handful of a half-brother named Elvis (Francis Capra).

When Jesse's foster parents, Glen and Annie Greenwood, take the brothers on a camping trip, Jesse finds his old friend Willy in the waters off the Pacific Northwest. There, Jesse and Willy rediscover all the magical understanding, joyful playfulness and us-against-the-world camaraderie that they shared before.

But their happy reunion is cut short when an offshore oil spill threatens to trap Willy, his sister and his brother away from their mother and family of whales forever. Jesse and his friends, Randolph and Nadine, must help Willy's sister, who is coated in oil.

And all the while, Willy, protective and angry, circles ominously around her, threatening anyone who approaches. As the danger moves closer, Jesse must call upon all the trust, loyalty and faith Willy has in him to return Willy — along with his brother and sister — back to their mother in the open seas.

To rescue Willy, Jesse must endanger himself ... and hope Willy will be there to rescue him right back.

The success of 1993's "Free Willy" movie surpassed expectations. Although the filmmakers were proud of their effort, no one could have predicted the public response. The simple story about a boy's unlikely friendship with a killer whale touched the hearts of millions and became one of the year's top grossing films, earning a worldwide total of more than $153 million. Its subsequent worldwide release on home video has resulted to date in sales of more than 11 million copies, making it the second most successful title in the history of Warner Home Video.

Faced with such overwhelming response, producers Lauren Shuler-Donner and Jennie Lew Tugend were not surprised when they were approached about a sequel, although they were a bit apprehensive. "The first film was a unique experience to all of us," said Tugend. "We were able not only to entertain kids and their parents, but to educate them as well. We decided that if we were going to make another picture, it would have to live up to those same standards."

Added Shuler-Donner: "Since Willy was free at the end of the first movie, and Jesse had his new family, it was a challenge to find a place to begin a new story. We weren't interested in doing a sequel until we could make it credible to audiences that Jesse and Willy could meet again, and that the situations that place them in jeopardy were realistic."

Ultimately, it was Shuler-Donner who thought of a solution that could reunite Jesse and Willy and give the story the dramatic conflict it needed. "My husband and I own a home in the Pacific Northwest," she said. "Very often, there are tankers going back and forth through the straits. I think the greatest fear of everyone who lives in the area is that one of those tankers will spill, contaminating the waters and endangering all marine life. Since several pods of whales also make those waters their home, it was a natural progression to place Willy and his family in this scenario."

"We did a lot of research," Tugend continued. "A tanker can have an oil spill at any time. In the recent past, Washington has enacted new rules that help diminish that possibility. As of 1990, oil companies were mandated to double-line the hulls of any new tanker being built, so there has been some progress."

"Unfortunately, however, oil companies are not restricted from using any of their old single-lined vessels, and although they are requested to use tug escorts in certain areas which are considered by the Coast Guard to be dangerous, many do not. So, the problem and the threat still exist."

Saline resident Kerry Barnett (No. 785) was the overall winner in Saturday's Roadrunner Classic in Northville.

Park wins second straight Classic

Kerry Barnett and Laurel Park were crowned King and Queen of the Roadrunner Classic Saturday in Northville.

Barnett, of Saline, was the overall winner among men with a time of 24:20. Park won her second straight Classic and posted the best ladies time of 27:38.

It was Northville's third time hosting the event.

According to Redford Roadrunners' spokesperson Yvette Michaels, the Classic was a success - again.

"It went super," she said. "We had good weather, lots of people and good support."

Saturday's main event was an 8-kilometer run. Other races included the Wheeler Classic, Classic Junior and the Fun One walk/run.

Michaels said about 1,600 people in all competed. Many more thousands lined the streets of Northville.

Michaels said all of the races came off without a hitch.

"It went very smoothly," she said. "There were no major glitches."

Here's a rundown of Northville and Novi runners for each race:

Niners take split in pair with Canton

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Just call her Miss Clutch.

Sara Roth singled home Jenny Sheehan in the bottom of the sixth inning July 18 to give the Northville Niners a 5-4 win over Canton.

"This was the best she's hit," coach Frank Friemund said. "She hit a couple of line drives up the middle."

It was an important win for Northville. It improved the Niners' record to 8-4 and kept the locals near the top of the Incredible Stain Remover Fast Pitch softball league standings.

The win over Canton was hardly an easy one.

Northville fell behind 2-0 in the first inning and had to rally to tie it. The Niners fell behind again, 3-2, but rallied with a pair of runs in the fourth to take the lead.

Canton tied the game in the fourth and it stayed that way until Roth's single in the sixth.

The infielder was one of Northville's main offensive weapons in the game. She had a pair of hits and two runs batted in.

Jenny Sheehan was solid, too. She had three hits, including a double and triple, to go with her two runs batted in.

"She's developed terrific power," Friemund said of his catcher.

Sarah Johnson pitched for Northville. She gave up all four Canton runs in five innings of work, struck out five and walked five.

Andrea Moretti closed the game. She didn't allow a hit in her stint.

Canton gained revenge in the nightcap with a 9-7 win.

Northville stayed close through the third inning and trailed Canton 5-4. But the game slipped away in the fourth as the home team scored four runs.

The Niners rallied for three runs in the fifth, but couldn't come back all the way. Johnson and Sheehan walked and Roth doubled both home. She scored on a single from Michelle Menghini.

Moretti pitched. She allowed four hits, four walks and struck out four.

Poor defense didn't help her. Northville made six errors in the game.

The Niners' season ends next week.

NEON

Northville's younger squad met with success - twice against Livonia.

The Neon won a slugger's duel in the opener 19-18. Northville trailed by six runs at one point, but tied the game at 12-12 to force an extra inning.

Livonia scored six runs in their half of the frame to go up 18-12. But Northville came back with seven to win the game.

Ashley Chandler hit the big hit with a grand slam home run to win it for the Neon.

If you that was a lot offense, listen to this. Northville took the nightcap 20-0.

The game lasted all of one inning. The Neon batted around three times in scoring all 20 runs in the first inning.

Chandler and Kelly Deleonardis both had a pair of doubles in the inning.

Livonia failed to score in its half of the first inning and the game was called.

Broncos finish regular season

All good things must come to an end.

Such was the case for the Northville Broncos July 19. The Sandy Koufax club closed its regular season by dropping an 8-1 decision to Birmingham.

Playing at home at Fish Hatchery Park, fielding errors and a lack of hitting cost the Broncos dearly. Northville managed just four hits in the game.

Northville's lone run came in the second inning. Jason Santieu single to left field brought home Andy Borda from third base. Birmingham scored four earned runs off starter Doug Konst, who took the loss.

DEARBORN DOUBLEHEADER

The Broncos played a pair of games with two different Dearborn teams July 18 and lost both.

In game one, the good guys fell 11-8. Stranded baserunners made the difference in the game.

Northville left nine runners on base, including three in the sixth inning. The Broncos did manage to start the first inning off right by scoring one run.

Dearborn, which was made up of 14-year-old players, scored a pair in their half of the first and led 2-1.

Northville trailed 5-1 by the fourth inning.

Marc Olin started a three-run rally in that inning with a long double to center field. Doren followed with a single while Brandon Davis and Kevin Justusson added singles to score two runs. Davis scored on a wild pitch for the Broncos third run of the inning.

Dearborn scored four runs of its own in the fourth to push its lead back out to 9-4. A pair of runs in the sixth made it 11-5.

Northville, again, fought back.

A four-run seventh inning rally was led by Matt Zumstein's two-run double. Matt Hare and Kip Szostek added RBI singles.

In the nightcap, Northville lost a pitcher's duel with a second Dearborn squad, 4-2.

Northville resident takes karate title

By GRETA C. PICKLESIMER
Special Writer

When Stephen Wegener was four he wanted to take taekwon do.

He did. Now he's the National Champion among 11- and 12-year-olds.

When Stephen, a Northville Township resident, was four he went to visit his cousin Scott Whiting. Scott was a blackbelt in taekwon do and had a lot of equipment.

"He fell in love with it," said Stephen's mother, Suzanne Wegener.

He would ask to see his gear, she added.

"He taught me how to break my first board," said Stephen.

When he turned six he was allowed to sign up for taekwon do.

"I had to beg my dad just to get me into it," he said.

He and a friend signed up for a class. His friend later dropped out. "Out of the original class of 52 people, I'm the only one still doing it," said Stephen, now 12.

Persistence certainly paid off in Stephen's case.

In early July he and his instructor, Douglas Bourgeois, from the Renaissance Karate Club in Waterford, Mich., flew to Houston, Texas, to compete in the National Tae Kwon Do Tournament. Also traveling with them were two qualifying classmates.

Stephen competed in three areas: forms, sparring and international sparring. He placed first in forms and international sparring in the 11- and 12-year-olds advanced class.

Stephen's parents are quite happy with his win.

"We knew he had a chance," Suzanne said. "Whether he came back the champion or not was not important. We wanted him to have the experience. We told him to go do the best you can."

Stephen never doubted that he would win.

"I practiced and practiced, I was prepared and that's it," he said.

Stephen qualified for the nationals by placing in the top eight in his age range during the state tournament held in May of this year.

After the tournament he went to karate camp where training intensified. Stephen trained 20- hours a week, including teaching at the club and working out at home.

Now with the national championship under his belt, he has other plans.

He is eligible to compete in the Junior Olympics in Iowa in August. In September, he will be testing for his Junior blackbelt.

Once he turns 16 he can test for his certified blackbelt.

Stephen's dreams for the future?

"I'm going to college with (karate)," he said. "I want to go to Harvard. I don't think Harvard has taekwon do."

"I'm going to keep it just in case something happens. It's good to know it just in case something happens."

Huron Hills is aptly named

By MERRILL CAIN
Sports Writer

Usually you can't take a name of a golf course at face value.

Courses with names like Rolling Meadows or Whispering Pines tend to paint a pretty picture but they often disappoint when you see the actual course.

But when it comes to the 18-hole Huron Hills Golf Course in Ann Arbor the links are definitely aptly named — at least on the thrilling back nine.

Huron Hills is one of the oldest courses in the Ann Arbor area having been originally constructed in 1935. The city of Ann Arbor purchased the course in 1953 and redesigned the back nine. The course is currently operated by the Ann Arbor Parks and Recreation Department.

One of the most interesting aspects of the course located on Huron River Drive in Ann Arbor are the contrasting styles between the front and back nine holes. The front nine is a longer, more open course that actually allows big hitters to exercise their skill. The course is relatively flat but it does present some interesting challenges.

The back nine, on the other hand, is a roller coaster ride. With long rolling hills and shorter holes, accuracy and the ability to play balls off angles are required skills.

"There's definitely a premium on accuracy on the back nine," said Ben Barton of Ann Arbor, a frequent golfer at Huron Hills.

The front and the back nine holes are separated by Huron River Drive and golfers must cross the road in order to get from one course to the next. Recreation facility supervisor at Huron Hills

Jane Miller said the crossing had caused some safety concerns but those were eased after a traffic light was installed at the crossing a month ago.

One of the other big attractions at Huron Hills is the fact that it's a course golfers can walk without too much strain even though some of the hills on the back nine are a challenge.

"Collectively I think people like playing Huron Hills because it has no carts," Miller said. "It's a course that you can walk and the average golfer isn't going to find that at most 18-hole courses."

On the front nine golfers will face the toughest challenges on the later holes at Huron Hills. The first two holes play 400 yards from the back tees and No. 3 is a short par 3.

The sixth hole is the probably the most challenging on the front nine. The par-3, 172-yard hole has wetlands in front of the tee and sand traps to the right.

No. 7 also presents some interesting options. The 485-yard, par 5 runs right next to the road and a creek at the midway point on the hole makes golfers choose between hitting a long ball over the water or playing their tee shot short for a strong approach.

After tackling the first nine holes at Huron Hills, linkers know they've entered a different domain from the very moment they cross the road to play the back nine.

The 10th hole features big hills on either side with the pin out of sight from the tee.

No. 11 is a scenic par 3 that was redesigned last year. The hole was shortened to 210 yards and greenskeeper Rick Robertson, a 29-year veteran of Ann Arbor courses, added a pair of sand traps, one to the front and left of the hole and one to the back and right.

Robertson said the trap to right of the hole is his "gift to the golfers" because it keeps long approach shots from rolling down a huge hill on the right side.

On the 288-yard, par 4 12th hole, golfers hit off a platform tee that drops off so quick that if the ball had ears it would be popping all the way down to the fairway.

The par 3 14th hole is the shortest of the back nine playing at 157 yards but sand traps surrounding the hole and a wide, fast green prevent par from being a gimme.

Tight fairways and a dense wood to the left of the tee make the par 3, 200-yard 16th hole an adventure, but the course definitely saves the best for last.

The 18th hole is a long par 4 at 387 yards that also plays from a platform tee. A straight-on tee shot offers the best approach with a myriad of hills to the right side of the fairway. Caution is the operative word on second shots at the hole because a long hit will wind up sailing right over the green and into the road.

All-in-all, with challenging holes, reasonable rates and a relaxed atmosphere Huron Hills is a place to have a "hill" of a time for area golfers.

N'ville hosts tennis tournament

Four Northville youths won their respective age brackets in the first ever Northville Summer Tennis Open July 22-23.

The tournament, sponsored by Meijers, Genetti's, Orin Jewelers, the Prudential Real Estate Affiliates, and Northville Parks and Recreation, hosted more than 100 kids from the Detroit Metropolitan area, according to Recreation Supervisor Nickie Ross.

The two day event was sanctioned by the United States Tennis Association.

Ross said that event officials were surprised at the turnout.

"It was amazing to have that many people participate in the first year of the tournament," she said.

Northville Parks and Recreation will host the tournament next summer, Ross said.

The final results are as follows:
Boys 12-year-old bracket - top seed Dean Conway, Northville, defeated Ypsilanti's Ian Javier-Opalla, 6-3, 6-0.

Girls 12-year-old bracket - Bethany Nestor, Farmington Hills, defeated Katie Hawkins, Ann Arbor, 6-1, 6-2.

Boys 14-year-old bracket - number two seed J.D. Shade, Detroit, defeated James Dragescu, Dearborn Heights, 6-0, 6-1.

Boys 16-year-old bracket - top seed Mike Adanti, Woodhaven, defeated number two seed, Graham Meriwether, Ann Arbor, 6-0, 6-2.

Girls 16-year-old bracket - number two seed Maggie McCafferty, Farmington Hills, won by default over top seed Alexandra Shade, Detroit.

Boys 18-year-old bracket - Ravi Mujumdar, Northville, defeated Jared Cromas, Northville, 6-3, 6-0.

Girls 18-year-old bracket - Danielle Shepard, Northville, defeated Jennifer Barnes, Plymouth, 6-3, 5-7, 6-1.

Param Kochar

One out of seven children suffer head injuries in a bicycle-related accident. Helmets, however, reduce that risk by 85 percent.

Children are more prone to bicycle accidents because their peripheral vision is only two-thirds that of adults, they are easily distracted, they lack a sense of danger and they have difficulty judging the speed and distance of other vehicles.

The mainstay of safe bicycling is the helmet. The helmet should meet the safety standards of the American National Safety Institute, also known as ANSI, or the Snell Foundation.

Children's first helmets should be bought with their first bicycle, even though they are going to ride on the sidewalk. Developing good safety habits is easier than changing bad ones.

"No helmet, no bike," should be the rule in every home.

• The bike should fit your child's current size. When your child straddles the bike, both feet should be firmly planted on the ground. Never buy a bike that your child can "grow into."

• Don't push your child to ride a two-wheeled bike until he or she is ready, usually by age 5 or 6.

• Make sure your child knows how to get on and off the bike, can ride in a straight line and can use the hand or foot brakes properly.

• Specify the areas in which your child can ride. Children under 7 should ride with adult supervision on the sidewalk. The decision to allow older children to ride in the street should depend on individual maturity and adequate knowledge and ability to follow traffic rules.

• Most serious injuries occur when a bicyclist is hit by a motor vehicle.

• Only cross the street at designated intersections and never cross between parked cars.

• Children should not ride their bikes at dusk or in the dark.

• Make sure your child knows the following rules of the road:

1) Stop and look both ways before entering the street.

2) Stop at all intersections, marked or unmarked.

3) Ride in the same direction as the traffic.

4) Before turning use hand signals and look in all directions.

Teach children to keep their bikes in good repair by helping them check tires, brakes, seat and handle bar heights at the beginning of each summer. Children riding as passengers should also wear helmets.

It is advisable not to carry a baby in a back pack or front pack. Babies between 6 and 12 months should ride in a carrier attached to the bike, and older children should sit in a securely mounted seat with guards to keep their hands and feet away from the spokes.

Children should also be strapped in with a sturdy shoulder and lap belt which can hold them even if they fall asleep. Use extra prudence in deciding where to ride with a child in a carrier since it makes the bike unstable.

When buying a helmet, make sure it meets the safety standards of ANSI or Snell. Look for a sticker saying "Snell approved" or "meets ANSI Z90.4 standards" on the inside of the helmet.

Every helmet contains a dense inner lining made of polystyrene. In most helmets the polystyrene is covered by a thin, hard shell; in others the liner itself is hardened on the outside. The straps and buckles keep the helmet from flying off during a crash.

Helmets come in sizes from small to extra large. The helmet should fit snugly, cover the upper part of the forehead and not be wobbly.

Most helmets come with foam pads that can be used on the inside to ensure a snug fit. Thicker foam pads may be replaced by thinner ones as your child grows. Most children can use the same helmet for two to three years. Remember, children learn by example, so wear a helmet yourself!

50's Festival features softball tournament

It's time for the fabulous '50s Festival and along with great rock 'n' roll we have super sports in store for you!

Be sure and come out to Power Park behind the Novi Civic Center on Saturday and Sunday, July 29 and 30, for the Fourth Annual Michigan '50s Festival Men's Softball Tournament. Nineteen teams from the Metro Detroit area as well as Grand Rapids and Chicago, ASA Class C and below, will be participating.

The games begin Saturday at 9 a.m. and are free for spectators.

This tournament is co-sponsored by Novi Parks and Recreation and McNish's Sporting Goods. There will also be a Home-Run Derby at 1 p.m. on Saturday with the proceeds benefiting the Novi Friendship Club (a club sponsored by Novi Parks and Recreation for mildly to moderately handicapped youths ages 18 and older with monthly activities).

The Michigan '50s Festival Tournament is a qualifier and the first place winner will receive a paid berth to the Big Midwest playoffs during Labor Day weekend in Independence Township. The tournament will also be awarding first, second and third place trophies to the sponsors, as well as first, second and third place individual awards and Offensive and Defensive MVP awards.

Be sure and come out to Power Park for some great softball action this Saturday and Sunday. Speaking of great softball action, I hope everyone caught last weekend's ASA Great Lakes Regional Junior Olympic Girls Fast-Pitch Tournament. Everyone involved agreed that it was a "first class tournament" and Novi Parks and Recreation staff, umpires and volunteers deserve to be commended on a great job ... well done!

Mother nature also cooperated and blessed the tournament with great weather. Over 500 spectators turned out for some great fast pitch softball.

The tournament featured 24 teams (15 players on each team), 12 teams in the Under 18 Division and 12 teams in the Under 16 Division from Michigan and Wisconsin. They played eight games on Friday, 22 games on Saturday and seven games on Sunday.

Michigan prevailed and won all but second place in one division. Winners in the Under 18 Division were: First Place - Mount Pleasant Drillers; Second Place - Activewear Hitters (Warren, Mich.); and Third Place - CompuWear (Metro Detroit area).

An interesting note: Dolly Tesselne, assistant coach for the Mt. Pleasant Drillers, was one of the original players in the Women's Professional Baseball League (remember the movie A League of Their Own) for the Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo teams.

Her team's win last weekend qualifies them for a berth at the ASA Nationals in Rockford, Ill., where Dolly used to play. Dolly and the Mt. Pleasant Drillers "are going home."

Winners in the Under 16 Division were: First Place - Michigan Outlaws; Second Place - Athlete's Foot (Wisconsin); and Third Place - Grand Rapids Blaze.

Novi had one player in the tournament and she is on the Michigan Outlaws. This is the first year Melissa Strikulis, of Novi, has played for the Michigan Outlaws. She will be a senior at Novi High School in the fall and plays infield for the girl's softball team.

During the tournament, Melissa played right field and batted 5 for 14 (1 double, 4 singles) and had 3 RBI. Melissa said the Outlaws were in a tough bracket and played hard to win their first place spot.

Speaking of winners ... Novi has a lot. Two Novi girls placed last week at the Hershey Track and Field State Finals. This was no easy feat considering they did it in 100 degree heat.

Michelle Rzepka came in third place in the 100 Meter Dash with a time of 13.240 and fifth place in the 200 Meter Dash with a time of 30.466. Meghan Garrity placed third in the softball throw with a distance of 84 feet, 11 inches.

They both placed first in their events June 16 in Novi at the Hershey Track and Field Qualifier. Congratulations Michelle and Meghan as well as all of the other participants.

Don't forget that next Thursday, Aug. 3, the Sounds of Summer Concert series continues with the award-winning duo B&R/Borkowski and Acoustic Rock playing a creative mix of folk and acoustic rock from the '60s and '70s.

REAL ESTATE

Big brokerage firms expanding business

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

Big real estate brokerage firms throughout the country growing, and capturing an increasing share of home-sales business.

The top 250 firms in the nation handled 17 percent of all new and resale residential transactions during the past year, according to a survey conducted by Real Trends real estate newsletter. That's about 1.4 million sales out of an estimated total of 8.2 million transactions.

While many small brokerage firms are still thriving in their local markets, the large firms tend to utilize more sophisticated high-tech systems in serving their property buying and selling clients. This not only appeals to clients, but also to prospective sales associates who want to affiliate themselves with a well-equipped organization.

As firms add more associates, they also add offices and expand their marketing area. They more actively reach out for more relocation business. And they add specialized services, such as arranging for mortgage loans or establishing a property management and rental department.

As more people and services are added, the firm grows and expands. That's the free enterprise system working at its best — a matter of supply and demand.

While the top brokerage firms are getting bigger, they still only represent about one-quarter of 1 percent of the 91,500 firms in the United States. A lot of mom and pop neighborhood firms remain and many are doing very well. Their owners have no desire to grow into a mega-broker operation.

"Residential real estate sales controlled by brokers is up by about 3.7 percent compared to the previous year," said Laurie Moore, Real Trends editor. "Yet the average growth of the top 250 firms is 6.8 percent. The larger firms are outperforming others in the market."

The median number of offices operated by the top 250 firms is seven, and the median number of sales representatives is 250, Moore noted. "The firms at the very top of the list have a median number of 14 offices and 491 salespeople."

The largest single firm (not franchise groups) is Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage, headquarter-

A little moderation goes a long way in Revena

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

The Revena shows what a little modesty can do. This 1,600-square-foot home offers three large bedrooms, two and a half baths, a living room with a wood stove, a dining room, eating bar and a spacious country kitchen.

How does it all fit? Moderation in all things. The master suite in the Revena has its own bath, vanity and walk-in closet, but no raised spa or private study.

The kitchen's eating bar faces the dining room, and a desk for keeping bills in one place is snugly set between them. The utilities share a hall with a half-bath by the kitchen.

A pocket door separates the two, and an extra deep utility sink is conveniently close.

The room arrangement is uncomplicated, with the entrance at the middle of the single main hall. Bedrooms are to the left, living areas to the right. This arrangement affords minimal noise for the light sleepers, yet still offers room for the children to play.

The garage forms an "L" with the main house, with the main roof pitched slightly higher. This allows extra clearance for roof extensions over the covered entry and the bedroom bay windows.

By not giving any part of the house unnecessary luxuries, the Revena provides a home that is comfortable throughout, despite its modest size. Brick work along the outside, bottom edge of this house adds a pleasant touch, enhancing the exterior.

The garage easily accommodates two cars, with space for yard equipment. A handy workbench is within easy reach for those with hobbies or the back yard mechanic. Any allied clothing heads for the washer just inside in the utility room, where the deep utility sink takes care of personal cleanup.

For a study plan of the Revena (401-23), send $9 to Landmark Designs, c/o HomeTown Newspapers, 323 E. Grand River, Howell, MI 48843. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

TROMPE L'OEIL CARD

By CAROL WORKENS
Staff Writer

Jim and Dawn Hunt were ready for a change when it came time to redecorate the circular foyer of their 1968 two-story home.

The same old predictable wallpaper choices were not going to make it this time.

Dawn had not thought about going with a trompe l'oeil effect initially but after seeing Northville artist Julie Giordano's work and talking with her, the project developed and began to flow together.

The painting techniques used in trompe l'oeil, the fool-the-eye painting technique, can visually push out the walls and make a small space seem open and airy.

The Hunts moved into their Fermaugh Road home in Northville in February 1994.

The circular foyer was put on the top of the to-do list because it connects to so much of the rest of the house — the living room, dining room, kitchen and to the upstairs bedrooms.

In searching for ideas for the mural, the Hunts' four children each had their own ideas.

"My son wanted to have everything from Michelangelo to Adam and God touching fingers," Dawn said.

"My husband's big fear was that after it was all done he'd hate it and get out the roller," Dawn said.

"No, no," Dawn told her husband, "what we do is, as it progresses, if you have any ideas about what we like and don't like then you address them so that doesn't happen."

Going with something that evolves is hard for some people to picture.

"That's the trouble with painting

Healthy pruning requires a well-defined objective

By C.Z. Guest
Copley News Service

GARDENING

TREE PRUNING

Pruning is the most frequently performed tree service, and one that evokes quite a bit of misunderstanding. Pruning is defined as the removal of tree parts, therefore, one must always keep in mind that a valid reason to prune is essential. Some reasons are for tree health, safety, size, shape, electric line clearance, repair of storm or other damage, selective pruning to clear land or open vistas and enhancement of flower, nut or fruit production.

Before any cuts are made, the objective should be well defined so the work can be properly planned. For the well-being of the tree, as well as the safety of the operator, the proper tools have to be on hand, and they must be sharp and in good operating condition. It's always a mistake to "make do" with what's on hand.

The list of operator safety rules is almost endless; that's why I rarely suggest that a homeowner or nonprofessional prune trees on a do-it-yourself basis. Tree pruning is one procedure that is best left to professionals for safety reasons alone.

In cutting all but the smallest twigs, the correct procedure calls for three cuts. The first is an undercut, the purpose of which is to prevent the bark from ripping down the stem as the branch falls.

The second cut is made above the undercut, a couple of inches farther out.

The third cut is most important. It's made to remove the stub which, if left, could become an opening into the tree for disease and decay problems. The final cut must be made as close to the branch bark ridge (or branch collar) as possible without damaging the live tissue of the ridge (or collar), which contains essential chemical barrier zones to fend off decay.

Most tree owners are often amazed at the amount of dead wood and brush that can come out of a properly pruned tree. Most trees can't survive removal of more than about one-third of their canopy at a time because pruning of live tissue also removes a lot of foliage that is

Pruning deciduous trees

Pruning is not stressful if done correctly. Most deciduous trees (those that lose leaves in winter) may be pruned at any season, though late winter is best. Structural strength and enhanced beauty are benefits of pruning.

Smaller limbs

Cut just beyond a lateral bud or small branch and at a slight angle.

Always make clean cuts.

Correct cut

Too close to bud

Too long

Too slanted

■ If very large or high limbs are involved, consult with a professional arborist for the tree's safety and yours.
■ Avoid the high-limb saw shown at right. If you cannot reach up to make an undercut, the tree will be damaged — and the cut limb may fall on you.

Urban Optiks

New shop adds fashion to eyewear

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Writer

If you're looking for more than just function from your eyeglasses, Urban Optiks is the place to visit.

Northville's newest shop offers the finest in fashion for your eyes - from Cartier to Bada and Matsuda. According to co-owner Gary Reggish, quality and style is Urban Optiks' goal.

"We deal only with the best," he commented, "and charge a very fair price. We aren't here to gouge the people of Northville."

Located at 105 MainCentre, the shop opened in late June. Reggish and partner, Dr. William Koppin, put a lot of thought into where to locate the optical boutique before settling on Northville.

Royal Oak and Birmingham were two communities the pair looked at, with a keen eye. But Northville offered a certain ambience and small-town charm the other areas didn't, said Reggish.

"It was very appealing to us," he added.

Market research also helped with the decision. Without making a trip down I-696, Reggish said, it's hard to find an upscale optical boutique.

"There's a demand for this," he said.

That demand comes from patrons who aren't satisfied with just dressing well. They want their accessories - watches, jewelry and, yes, eyeglasses - to make a statement.

That's where Urban Optiks comes in. Start with Cartier. Frames come in 23-karat gold and feature a timeless style, Reggish said.

Next comes Héro. The lightweight, streamlined frames are made unique by their asymmetrical shape.

The handmade Beausoleil line is another fine make carried by Urban. You'll also find Lunor, Bada and Matsuda.

"We want people to come enjoy a spacious atmosphere," said Reggish, "and to treat shopping for lenses like they're shopping for clothes."

Koppin and Reggish have gone to great lengths to make their MainCentre shop reminiscent of an art gallery.

The store was designed by Victor Saroki of Birmingham. It features 19th century hutches, tasteful decoration and a custom-made mural.

In short, it isn't DOC.

"We've had a great response from the community so far," Reggish said. "They say it's like a breath of fresh air."

But just when you think Urban Optiks is all glitz, an emphasis on quality eyecare enters the picture.

Koppin is a doctor of optometry. He handles all eye exams for the shop while Reggish, an optician, can make any lens. Disposable contacts are also available.

Urban Optiks does all of its work on site, too. Reggish said his shop has the latest, state-of-the-art optical technological equipment.

But, again, the focus is on style. Eyewear should say something about the person, Reggish said.

"It's a means of personal expression," he added.

Of course, that expression comes at a price.

Cartier is the most expensive line carried by Urban Optiks, starting at $425 and going up to around $1,400. Other frames range from about $300 and up.

For store hours or more information on the shop, call 347-9058.

Breaking up can be hard to do

Breaking up a marriage can be taxing — both emotionally and financially. Adding to a couple's burden are complex tax laws each party must carefully consider if the couple is to reach an equitable settlement. The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants offers the following overview of important tax considerations.

FILING STATUS

Your marital status on Dec. 31 determines your filing status for federal income tax purposes. If your divorce is final before the end of the year, the IRS considers you single for the entire year. That means you can't file a joint return with your ex-spouse even if you were married for the first 364 days of the year.

YOURS, MINE OR OURS

Rules about the division of property vary, depending on whether you reside in a community property state or an equitable property state. In most cases, property transferred as part of a divorce settlement is not treated as a taxable sale. Different rules apply when appreciated property — such as a residence, portfolio of investments, or other assets — changes hands as a result of a divorce. In these instances, the tax basis — generally, the original cost of the property, plus some adjustments — is transferred to the new owner of the property. This means the individual who received the property, as part of the divorce settlement must use the property's original value, not the value of the property at the time of the transfer, in determining liability for capital gains tax when the property is eventually sold. If you may be receiving appreciated property as part of a divorce settlement, be sure to consider the tax impact of selling that property before you agree to take possession of it.

In the case of a residence, the seller can defer capital gains taxes by buying a house of equal or greater value within two years before or two years after the sale date of his or her former residence. If over age 55, the seller may qualify for the once-in-a-lifetime exclusion of up to $125,000 in capital gains.

SUPPORT OR SETTLEMENT?

Payments that qualify as alimony are deductible by the payer, regardless of whether he or she itemizes. The recipient must report the payments as income. Child support, however, is neither deductible nor taxed.

To qualify for the deduction, alimony must be paid to or on behalf of a former spouse in cash, by check or by money order and must be required by a written divorce decree or separation agreement. Also, the payer must be the one obligated to make the payments. Only the amount stipulated in the agreement is deductible or taxable. Amounts paid in excess of the agreement will be deemed non-deductible gifts.

Other rules also apply, so check with a tax adviser to be sure you can claim a deduction.

To make certain child support payments don't slip through under the guise of alimony, the IRS holds that if any payment, regardless of how it may be classified in the divorce decree, is reduced based on a contingency relating to a child, that reduction is treated as child support from the onset and is not deductible.

If you're planning to deduct alimony on your 1994 tax return, you must include your ex-spouse's name and Social Security number on your tax return. This requirement is designed to ensure that if you're claiming a deduction, your ex-spouse is reporting the same amount of income.

WHO GETS THE EXEMPTION?

While both parents may contribute to the support of a child, only one can claim the dependency exemption for the child. The law generally gives the exemption to the custodial parent, named in the divorce decree. If neither parent is named, the IRS considers the custodial parent to be the one who provided a home for the child for the greater part of the year. However, it's possible for the non-custodial parent to claim to the exemption if the custodial parent relinquishes his or her claim to the exemption by signing IRS Form 8332. In this case, the noncustodial parent attaches this form to his or her tax return.

SEEK PROFESSIONAL ADVICE

The tax laws covering divorce can be complex and may often require the advice of a professional tax adviser. Keep in mind that the fees you pay to a CPA for advice when negotiating an equitable divorce settlement may be tax-deductible.

This column was prepared by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

Perennials, Woodland Wildflowers, Rare Alpines, Dwarf Conifers, and unusual flowering shrubs

It's worth the drive to take advantage of our large plants and direct from the grower prices. Don't forget our woodland wildflowers and huge selection of rock plants and alpines. In addition to our huge variety of rare rock plants, we have an unbelievable selection of large perennials both in pots and from the field. Garden needs a little extra color? Come out and see why we have become a Mecca for plant lovers from around the world. Don't take our word for it - check out the great reviews we got in the New Yorker. From Denver Botanical Gardens to Wayside, those who knew shop at Arrowhead. Take I-96 to the Fowlerville exit, go south 1/8 mi to Van Buren Rd, then west on Van Buren 1 mi to Gregory Rd and go south 1/2 mi to #1310 (long driveway). We are open Wed., Thurs., Fri., Sat. & Sun. 11am-7pm. Closed Mon. & Tues. #811 223-3384 and remember to bring back your old pots - we recycle.

New bills on dogs, missing heirs

A summary of noteworthy legislation in state government:

Rep. Penny Crissman won Gov. John Engler's signature on her bill to allow guide and service dogs to enter both private and public buildings during their training.

"Introducing guide and service dogs to a variety of situations during their training is crucial to proper socialization," said Crissman, R-Rochester. "A dog that flinches at traffic or crowds cannot fulfill its role."

Her bill, HB 4052, will take effect Jan. 1.

"Its passage gives us legitimate reason backed by lawful support to bring these animals into public facilities during their training," said Bill Hansen, president of Rochester Leader Dogs for the Blind. The bill was also supported by Paws with a Cause, the Michigan Humane Society and the Michigan Association of Doctors of Veterinary Medicine.

The new law will require that training dogs must be at least a year old and wear a harness with blaze orange leash and collar, along with a hearing-ear cape or backpack. Instructors must carry picture identification.

Persons refusing to admit dogs and trainers may be charged with a misdemeanor costing $100 and 90 days in jail.

MISSING HEIRS

An Oakland County missing heir problem will be taken up by the state House of Representatives when it returns to Lansing in September.

The House Judiciary Committee on July 13 unanimously approved a bill by Sen. Mat Dunaskiss to shorten from 10 years to five the waiting time for distributing an estate where one heir is a "disappeared person."

Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, won Senate passage on behalf of Laura Walker, an Independence Township homemaker and mother of four. Her father died in 1982, leaving an estate to her and two brothers, but one brother dropped out of sight in 1988.

Walker said the family suspects Clifford was involved in drugs or importing illegal aliens. Meanwhile, attorneys' fees have mounted, she said.

Rep. Karen Willard, D-Fair Haven, called it "dangerous to pass a bill for one person" but voted yes anyway.

1995 CONCOURS D'ELEGANCE AT MEADOW BROOK HALL

Automobile Legends of Europe and America Will Grace the Meadow Brook Concours on August 6

Great automobile legends of Europe and America will fill the hills of the 17th annual Concours d'Elegance at Meadow Brook Hall when it opens to the public on Sunday, August 6 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the grounds of Oakland University in Rochester, Michigan, showing more than 250 classic autos.

With the great German classics named as the honored marque, two of the most famous Mercedes Benz autos will bask in the spotlight. They are Ralph Lauren's 1930 Mercedes-Benz "Count Trossi" SSK and the 1937 Mercedes-Benz 540 Special Roadster. The quintessentially British Morgan race car will be represented by the appearance of Morgan Company owner Charles Morgan, grandson of its founder, H.F.S. Morgan. The last car in the world still built by hand, the Morgan will be lavishly represented with over 20 three and four-wheeled Morgans comprising the largest field of "flexible flyers" ever seen in a Concours event.

Add to these honored marques, the appearance of the most famous old race car in America, the 1906 Locomobile "Old 16", and Clark Gable's often photographed 1936 Duesenberg SSJ Bobtailed Speedster, and visitors to this year's Meadow Brook Concours will need to take a deep breath when they get their first sight of lush rolling hills bejeweled with the world's grandest automobile classics.

Robert Eaton, Chairman of the Board and CEO of Chrysler Corporation, is 1996 Honorary Chairman. Michael Sheridan, Vice-President of Toundas Motor Sports Group, Inc. is Chairman.

The Meadow Brook Concours was named "America's Premier Concours d'Elegance" in Car Collector Magazine last year. It is traditionally ranked with the Concours at Bagatelle in Paris, France and Pebble Beach in California as the most prestigious events of their kind.

The Concours is located on the magnificent 1,400 acre grounds of Meadow Brook Hall, the mansion of the late Matilda Dodge Wilson, the widow of John Dodge. It is one of the finest examples of Tudor style architecture in America. All proceeds of the Concours go to the preservation of Meadow Brook Hall which is open to the public.

Highlights of the 1995 Concours d'Elegance at Meadow Brook Hall:

- The 1930 Mercedes-Benz "Count Trossi" SSK, owned by Ralph Lauren and restored by Paul

Russel Company of Essex, Massachusetts, will be among the headline cars at Meadow Brook. Featured in the official 1995 poster, this has been called the most beautiful car in the world. Its name is forever linked with the great Italian racing driver Count Felice Trossi who originally owned it and raced it in famous European meets.

- The 1937 Mercedes Benz 540 Special Roadster, among the most valuable and certainly most flamboyant of the pre-war Mercedes-Benz autos, will be at Meadow Brook. The silver metallic masterpiece, owned by Jerome Sauls of Warrington, Pennsylvania was introduced at the 1936 Berlin Auto Show and was touted as the fastest production automobile in the world.

- The 1906 Locomobile, known as "Old 16", the most famous old racing car in existence and the car that was portrayed in the paintings of Peter Helck, will travel to the manicured lawns of Meadow Brook. It is owned by Jerry Helck of New Jersey, Peter Helck's son. The work of Helck serves as documentation of legendary American auto races when the manufacture of the automobile was in its infancy and road races were dirt flying, exciting affairs that were designed to publicize the power of the automobile to the masses. Today the car is in original condition and still runs.

- Clark Gable's rakish red and silver 1936 Duesenberg SSJ

Bobtailed Speedster, often pictured with the great movie idol, will also grace the Meadow Brook Concours. Legends abound regarding how Gable got the car. Some say Carole Lombard gave it to him. Others say he bought it in a competition with Gary Cooper.

- A 1938 Adler Lemans Speedster, a futuristic aerodynamic masterpiece, is a car that will stop Meadow Brook Visitors in their tracks. Adler is now a long forgotten marque but back in the late 1930s these German Eagles (Adler is the German word for eagle) set the trends for advance engineering with all independent suspension and front wheel drive, but above all, aerodynamics.

ADMISSION AND INFORMATION

Admission to the Sunday Concours is $15 for adults (including a souvenir program) $5 for children 5 to 12 (no program), free for children 4 and under (no program). Individual programs will also be on sale at the event. Ample parking with shuttle buses is provided at no charge as well as handicapped parking. For information about the Concours d'Elegance and any of its associated events call Meadow Brook Hall at 810-370-3140.

Special Section Credits:

This special section appears Thursday, July 27, 1995 in the Eccentric Newspapers, a division of Suburban Communications Corp., Livonia. # THE GREAT "COUNT TROSSI" MERCEDES-BENZ

Classic German Automobiles: Mechanical Masterpieces

138 Adler
Lemans Speedster

1937 Mercedes-Benz 540 Special Roadster

It was an exciting time for the automobile industry during the classic era in Germany. The introduction of the Horch V-12 in 1931 led to a styling renaissance for German car design. In the racing world, the Auto Union and Mercedes-Benz seemingly only raced each other. And in the world of sports car rallies, races and hill climbs, the BMW became the dominant car. Finally, the construction of a network of autobahn super highways influenced engine design as well as aerodynamics. The people behind this German renaissance have become names forever linked with the never equaled mechanical supremacy of German cars. They were Gottlieb Daimler, Carl Benz and Dr. Ferdinand Porsche. As the oldest automobile manufacturer with the Mercedes-Benz cars, the union of Daimler and Benz was the starting point for the entire automotive world and not just the German automotive industry.

German Classic Highlights at Concours:

- The Mercedes-Benz which is among the most valuable and certainly most flamboyant is the 1937 Mercedes-Benz 540 Special Roadster, which will be at Meadow Brook. This silver metallic masterpiece, owned by Jerome Sauls of Warrington, Pennsylvania, was introduced at the 1936 Berlin Auto Show and was the most expensive Mercedes Benz model offered that year. At 28,000 Reichmarks, more than $12,000, it cost nearly twice the price of a V-16 Cadillac. It was touted as the fastest production automobile in the world. Dennis Adler wrote in Star Magazine, "Cars of the 1930s really made a statement about their owners, and if you wanted to be recognized as a person who placed matters of style and quality above all else, your car was the flamboyant 540 K Special Roadster."

- The 1938 Adler Lemans Speedster, a futuristic aerodynamic masterpiece, is a car that will stop Meadow Brook visitors in their tracks. Adler is now a long-forgotten marque, but back in the late 1930s these German Eagles (Adler is the German word for eagle) set the trends for advance engineering with all independent suspension and front wheel drive but, above all, aerodynamics.

1930 Mercedes-Benz
"Count Trossi" SSK

Restored by Paul Russell Company of Essex, Massachusetts

It is not difficult to understand why this 1930 Mercedes-Benz SSK and Count Carlo Felice Trossi are sometimes inseparable, as in "Count Trossi's Mercedes SSK." The car itself is simply one of the most intriguing, awesome, and comely automobiles ever produced. Originally conceived by Dr. Ferdinand Porsche, then of Daimler-Benz AG, the 38/250 will long be regarded as one of the finest pre-war examples of German technological leadership and commitment to quality in the design and manufacture of automobiles.

The Count was born into an old Italian banking family. A skilled racing driver, his memory is indelible in the very spirit of the car. The car's remarkable physical presence is the result of his own romantic vision. Cloaked in black, it's elegance is endowed with a sort of irreverence. The automobile was created as nearly perfect as the world of 1930 had ever seen, and yet it's owner sent it immediately upon delivery to an unknown British coach builder so that he might further temper what was already a definitive statement of individuality, power and elan. The car's striking visual lines and superb visual balance are the result.

Perhaps the attempt to perfect such an extraordinary car was to be expected of such an extraordinary individual.

Alfred and Matilda Wilson founded Oakland University and left their entire estate for that purpose. Listed on both the Michigan and National Registry of Historic Places, Matilda's breathtaking home and grounds are open year round for tours and special events. You will never forget your visit to this beautiful site.

Oakland University represents the educational heart of the state's fastest-growing county. Beginning with its charter class in 1963, Oakland has graduated more than 45,000 well-educated men and women, more than 85 percent of whom continue to live and work in Michigan. Oakland further advances regional development through innovations in research and public service from an outstanding faculty.

Success in a world of rapidly changing technology requires a workforce that keeps pace. Oakland University understands the pressures and demands on business to train and educate employees economically and efficiently while still producing goods and services. Oakland University faculty and staff excel in designing and implementing innovative, convenient training and education programs, both at company locations and on campus.

A special feature of the 1995 Meadow Brook Hall Concours d'Elegance will be the display of automobile badges from around the world from the personal collection of Dr. Arthur H. Schultz of Bloomfield Hills.

An avid automobile enthusiast, Dr. Schultz has been building his collection of distinctive automobile badges and other automobilia since the early 1970s. The Concours is privileged and grateful to be able to show a selection of hundreds of these artistic collectible badges to Concours visitors, chosen from Dr. Schultz's much larger collection. Make no mistake, each badge displays such workmanship and distinctive imagination as to be considered a work of art in and of itself - not to mention a piece of automotive history.

Motor Club Badges first appeared in the late 1800s as a symbol of automobile manufacturer's desire to have their products recognizable and easily identified by the public. "Single-marque" motor car badges can be considered the beginning of motor badges. Design of the badges was obviously fertile field for the auto manufacturer/designer.

The stories of creative sources for motor badges are legion, some wrapped in mystery. The idea for badges was probably influenced by the stories of feudal heraldry (real or bogus) when knights bore proudly their distinctive identification.

When the automobile became more commonplace, motor clubs became popular and promoted themselves through distinctive badges. Soon other related organizations and associations got on the band wagon.

In more recent times, fashion and commemorative events have attracted the introduction of "specialty" motor badges. Badges are now exhibited with zodiac signs, personal monograms and representation of cities, countries and national crests.

Dr. Schultz's fascination with the automobile and collecting began in his college days. He is a member of numerous auto clubs including Rolls Royce, Maserati, Ferrari, Alfa Romeo, Lamborghini, Porsche, Citroen and Classic Car Clubs. The thrill of collecting is still strong for him and includes automobilia of all types with an eye for the unusual and beautiful.

The Schultz Collection shows examples of artistic workmanship from around the world. Each badge stands out like a jewel. The badges represent a small but wonderful segment of accessories to the ubiquitous motor car.

1995 CONCOURS d'ELEGANCE

The Concours d'Elegance at Meadow Brook Hall

Sunday, August 6, 1995

8 a.m. to 4 p.m. - awards presented from 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Meadow Brook Hall in Rochester Hills, Michigan is on the campus of Oakland University - just off the University Exit of I-75. Follow signs to the entrance near Adams Road & Walton Boulevard.

The 17th Annual Concours d'Elegance at Oakland University's Meadow Brook Hall features a field of more than 250 of the most fabulous classic automobiles in the world judged for their beauty and elegance. The Meadow Brook Concours is now ranked as one of the top three classic car shows in the world, along with the concours held annually at Pebble Beach, California, and Bagatelle, Paris, France. Last year it was named the "Premier Concours d'Elegance in America" by Car Collector Magazine.

Parking: Ample FREE parking is available on the Meadow Brook grounds with FREE shuttle bus service to the event site thanks to Roush Industries. Handicap parking is available. See map for directions to Meadow Brook Hall and location of parking lots.

show all in one. Automotive history rolls by as the Concours host, Ed Lucas, interviews each auto owner and the award sponsor makes the trophy presentation.

During the day, three fifteen minute fashion shows will take place - called the "Mode du Concours" after the original French Concours tradition of the 1920s. High fashion models will emerge from specially selected autos to show off ensembles perfectly matched to the colorful classics. The fashion segments will take place at 11:20 with contemporary sportswear matched to classics, at 1:00 with fashions matched to futuristic Chrysler concept cars (including the Atlantic) as well as classic Chrysler autos and the featured "Count Trossi" Mercedes-Benz owned by Ralph Lauren. At 2:30 p.m. elegant evening wear will be modeled with elegantly classic cars.

Don't miss the 14th annual Meadow Brook Concours d'Elegance Art Show, bringing the finest automotive artists in the world by invitation to the show. Most works are for sale. # TDM MEADOW BROOK HISTORIC RACES X

By Mike Sheridan

Begun in 1985 as a supporting event to Detroit's premier vintage festival, the Meadow Brook Concours d'Elegance, the Annual TDM World Conversions, Inc. Meadow Brook Historic Races has gained national prominence on the vintage racing calendar in North America. What is vintage racing?

Historic or vintage racing came to public attention with Steve Earle's Monterey Historic Automobile Races produced at the Laguna Seca Raceway in 1978. Vintage racing is history in action, with today's drivers experiencing sensations from past eras, while spectators enjoy sounds, sights and smells (caster oil) long removed from today's racing venues. Marques like Ferrari, Cobra, Jaguar, Lotus, Corvette, Aston Martin, Alfa Romeo, European V-12's engines against mighty American V8's, some vehicles that today would reach several million dollars at auction still used in their intended purpose for all to enjoy again.

Today over 90 vintage racing events produced by 49 vintage clubs and organizations again visit historic racing sites with names like Watkins Glenn, Mid-Ohio, Elkhart Lake, Lime Rock, Road Atlanta, Bridgehampton, Palm Springs, Laguna Seca and here, in Michigan, Waterford Hills.

Waterford Hills Raceway is a demanding 1.5 mile road course that has long been hailed as a driver's course with special care taken in its design to allow spectators to view racing all the way around the site from several vantage points. Founded in 1958 as part of the vast 900 acre Oakland County Sportsman's Club (OCSC) in Independence Township, the activities are managed by the all volunteer Waterford Hills Road Racing, Inc. (WHRII), which annually hosts a number of race dates, drivers' schools and OEM Corporate Test Sessions.

The Meadow Brook events, the midwest's biggest vintage automotive festival, begins with a free Spectator Day, Friday, August 4th, at Waterford Hills raceway as drivers practice for qualifying sessions. When the track closes at 6:00 p.m. the action moves to the "SCAMP Concours in the Park" sponsored by TDM, Pontiac Tri-County Dealers Association and Chrysler Corporation in Depot Park-Clarkston, Michigan. Located in Independence Township, Clarkston provides a wonderful vintage setting, with its victorian homes, tree-lined avenues, and quaint Depot Park. "SCAMP" is an acronym for summer camp which provides services for emotionally and physically disadvantaged children in Oakland County. The Concours in the Park is an old fashioned ice cream social complete with a band, featuring 100 exciting sports cars and vintage racing cars judged by a staff of automotive authorities from the United States and Canada.

The featured marque for 1995 at the TDM Meadow Brook Historic Race is Morgan, a great English marque represented here today by private entries in competition that range from 1934 through 1969. The Morgan Motor Car Company located in Malvern Link England was established in 1909 and is the world's oldest and only privately held coach built car manufacturer. Charles Morgan, grandson of company founded H.F.S. Morgan, Managing Director today is the Grand Marshal for this years event. Mr. Morgan a vintage racer in Europe will compete in Saturday's races and Judge at Concours on Sunday at Meadow Brook Hall.

Several Morgan feature races are set for both Saturday and Sunday with a special Morgan three wheel race on Saturday with great examples of the trikes including Orleans, Massachusetts resident Chris Towner in his 1938 F type Morgan.

Sunday afternoon Victory Lane magazine in association with Fogarty Winery, Hoosier Tire, Pace American Trailer, Red Line Oil and Tilton Engineering will present their historic Trans-Am reunion for the first time at Waterford Hills. Victory Lane's Austin Miller advised their special event will provide race fans, "American Pony Cars against those foreign interlopers from across the seas on a real equalizer of a track right there in the home of the big three."

Group 6/Trans-Am racers have long been one of the most exciting races at the Meadow Brook Historic due to the efforts of race committee member Mike Sedlak of Brighton, Michigan, who vintage races his 1970 Boss 302 T/A Mustang at vintage events all across North America. Mr. Sedlak has completed a listing of the known original Group 6/TA race cars and promotes the Waterford Hills races at venues all year long. In addition to Victory Lanes series race, the Meadow Brook Historic Races regularly features two races one Saturday and one Sunday for the Mustang, Camaros, Barracudas, Cougars, Firebirds, Javelins and challenges against Alfa Romeo, BMW, Lotus, Volvo, Porsche and Mini Cooper sponsored by the Tri-County Pontiac Dealers.

Peter Toundas, President and CEO of Toundas Motorsports Group, Inc., co-producer of the Meadow Brook Historic Races with Waterford Hills Road Racing Inc., explains the race schedule, "competitors practice and qualify Saturday morning to establish grid positions for the start of each of the six races. The racers finishing position on Saturday's races becomes their starting position for Sunday races." Both racers and fans enjoy the program with two complete sets of races to enjoy.

In addition to the featured sports car Morgan, the Meadow Brook Concours d'Elegance also provides a competition for vintage racing cars for the Peter Helck trophy. Each year the TDM Meadow Brook Historic Race committee selects twelve meaningful historic racing vehicles to be invited to compete for the most prestigious Concours award for vintage race cars.

Peter Helck, a founding member of the Automotive Fine Arts Society, has long been recognized as the father of automotive fine art in this country. Helck saw first hand, some of the great races in history, and recorded them for the world to enjoy on his canvases.

The Meadow Brook Race committee is extremely pleased to have Peter's son Jerry Helck here to present the award in 1995. Jerry Helck will also exhibit the 1906 Locomobile, winner of the 1908 Vanderbilt Cup which was the first American racer to win a Grand Prix.

Dr. Ed Berre Jr. of Cincinnati, OH competes in a 1962 Morgan +4 in class 3A. Mr. Clemens Jim George is close to overtaking the Morgan with his Ford GT-40 during practice.

Chris Towner of Orleans, MA in his Morgan 1938 F Type Trike will compete in the three wheeled feature race at Waterford Hills Raceway.

The TDM Meadow Brook Historic Races offers two complete race schedules on Saturday and Sunday, giving spectators a choice of which day to attend without missing any of the action. Time trials begin each day at 10:00 a.m. with racing beginning at 1:00 p.m. Additionally, a manufacturer's midway area offers the latest in automotive parts and accessories, art galleries, special interest automobiles, car club corrals, and an outstanding automotive fine art show featuring twelve internationally recognized artists.

The Meadow Brook Concours d'Elegance and TDM Meadow Brook Historic Races are designed to provide the automotive enthusiast with a complete vintage weekend showcasing the most outstanding automotive vehicles ever to grace the highway or race track. We can only hope our goals have brought you enjoyment!

VINTAGE MORGANS

The Morgan Motor Company Ltd., of Malvern Link, England, is the oldest privately owned manufacturer of automobiles in the world. Its founder, H.F.S. Morgan, started his career as a draughtsman with the Great Western Railway and made contributions to steam engine history. Around 1906, in true tinker's fashion, he set out to build a three-wheeled motorcar based on the first one he had purchased, a 2-cylinder, 8 h.p. DeDion powered "Eagle Tandem".

He started with a 7 h.p. twin cylinder Peugeot engine and mounted in on a three wheeled tubular chassis. The car was lightweight, yet rigid, and used independent suspension. It also boasted an unusually efficient power-to-weight ratio of 90 brake horsepower per ton, which allowed the little car to accelerate as fast as any car on the road.

Although there were never plans to actually sell the car, its successful design and impressive performance earned him a patent in 1910, and when production began that same year, the Morgan Motorcar Company was born.

After World War I, the company opened a new factory on Pickersleigh Road in Malvern Link.

Since 1922, all of the Morgans have been built by hand at this factory, known as the "works".

In 1936, Morgan introduced its first four-wheeled car, the "Four/Four", as in four cylinders, four wheels. After the Second World War, when steel was at a premium, Morgan began building its bodies out of aluminum. As a post-war recovery measure, Britain decided that it would import more of its product to other markets. The Four/Four was distributed in the U.S.A., Canada, South America and Australia. The three-wheeler did not enjoy the same popularity, however, and in 1946 the last 2-cylindered cars were shipped to Australia, and production of all three-wheelers ceased in the early fifties.

Morgan continued to succeed in racing when in 1962, a specially prepared "Plus Four" called a "Super Sports" driven by Lawrence and Richard Sheppard-Baron won in the two-liter class at the 24 hour LeMans race. They averaged 94.2 m.p.h. and covered a total distance of 2,261 miles.

Today all Morgans are still handmade to individual order. About two cars can be produced in a day. While most people purchase them as sports cars, their real strength is on the race track.

This year Meadow Brook Concours is pleased to present over 20 vintage Morgans, the largest gathering of Morgans ever at a Concours.

The 1906 Locomobile, known as "Old 16", the most famous old racing car in existence and the car that was the centerpiece of paintings of the most well known auto races, will travel from New Jersey to the manicured lawns of Meadow Brook to be seen "in person" by visitors. It is owned by Jerry Helck, son of famous automotive artist Peter Helck, who died recently at over 90 years of age. The work of Peter Helck - the father of automotive art - serves as documentation of legendary American auto races. This was when the manufacture of the automobile was in its infancy and road races were dirt flying, exciting affairs that were designed to publicize the power of the automobile to the masses. The image of the 1906 Locomobile literally leaving the other autos in its dust - driven by a goggled, aviator capped racer with his scarf flying in the wind—is etched in the collective consciousness of America. This is because Helck's paintings were used by early auto companies as advertisements for the strange noisy new inventions. Winner of the 1908 Vanderbilt Cup, the Locomobile was the first American automobile to successfully challenge the road racing supremacy of great cars of Europe.

"OLD 16" CAPTURES THE IMAGINATION

Those Magnificent Men

Road racing in its formative years was a sport occupied by fearless, some might say crazy, and daring individuals. American drivers were already gaining notoriety for making up for their lack of experience with hair-raising displays of courage. Their skills at coaxing enormous machines moving at high velocities thrilled the crowds. Locomobile Company driver Joe Tracy drove one of the new Locomobiles, entered at No. 9, to a record lap of 67.6 mph in the 1906 Vanderbilt. But tire failure was its undoing, and while the Loco was the fastest car in the race, it was not the immediate success the Americans had hoped for. Victory would not come until 1908, when daredevil George Robertson piloted No. 16 to win the Vanderbilt, besting entries from Mercedes, Renault, Chadwick, Thomas and Isotta.

But the significance of the 1906 event had not escaped imagination of a 16-year old Peter Helck, who attended the race. He would later capture the event in his thrilling painting, "Tracy's Record Lap". The Locomobile was also the subject of his "Setting a Furious Pace".

No. 16 never raced again after the 1908 Vanderbilt. It spent many years on the road at auto shows and company showrooms. It was not until 1941 that the champion was reunited with one of the men responsible for its endearing memory when it was purchased by none other than Peter Helck himself. Today No. 16 is in perfect running condition, and in accordance with Helck's promise to both Tracy and Robertson, the car has not been restored.

AUTOMOTIVE FINE ART

CONCOURS EXHIBITION - SUMMER EDUCATION

One look at Tom Hale's official Meadow Brook Concours d'Elegance poster (on our cover) shows even the newcomer to automotive fine art that this year's Concours is dedicated to breaking new ground.

Hale's evocative poster depicts Ralph Lauren's 1930 "Count Trossi" Mercedes-Benz SSK, set before a surrealist Meadow Brook Hall. Here the artist has abandoned the more realistic formal elements of previous Concours poster art in favor of his deeply sensual, fluid style. The images induce the kind of total immersion of senses that the enthusiast feels upon entering Concourse.

The 14th Annual Meadow Brook Concours International Invitational Art Exhibition is proud to feature 14 of the world's most diverse and accomplished artists whose interpretations of the automotive epic range from cubism to Edwardian expressionism. The art show is held on the grounds of the Concours itself at Meadow Brook Hall on August 6 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m..

The 1995 Concours d'Elegance Invitational Art Exhibition will be previewed from July 28 through August 4 at the new Chrysler Technology Center in Auburn Hills, Michigan and the official Opening Reception will take place there Friday, August 4. All of the artists will be in attendance and awards will be announced. The Invitational Art Auction of the artists' works will take place on Saturday, August 5, immediately preceding the annual Black Tie Concours d'Elegance Banquet at Meadow Brook Hall. All of the artists will be in attendance at the Art Exhibition, which will be open to the public to view and make purchases at Concours d'Elegance, Sunday, August 6, at Meadow Brook Hall in Rochester.

CONCOURS FEATURES BROAD PERSPECTIVES ON AUTOMOTIVE ART

From Buenos Aires, Argentina, Jorge M. Garcia will bring his work to Meadow Brook Concours for the first time. Like the great Peter Helck, Garcia brings a gritty passion to historic road racing scenes. A recent painting recreates the drama of a fleeting moment at the 1936 Gran Premio International, as Raul Riganti's Hudson Terraplane four-wheel drifts its way around a treacherous mountain pass and on to victory. In Garcia's thrilling vision, the scale of the little auto against the enormity of the barren mountainside conveys a solitary sense of place, where the landscape alone conspires to beat every rally driver.

Alain Levesque is another new face attending this year's Invitational. His European Axis inspired futurist renderings are popular in the Montréal, Canada, art scene. His automobiles seem to sprint past the canvas laden with modernistic bits of mechanica or outlined in an orderly chaos of colorful shapes, clouds and steel. Levesque's daring cubist style compliments the fresh new look of the 1995 Art Show.

For many years, Dexter Brown of the United Kingdom has established a stellar reputation creating images for Ferrari and Porsche ads, and by accepting only commissions which meet his standard of personal involvement and satisfaction. But Brown often wondered how such influential artists as Monet and Renoir might have interpreted motoring life and whether he could successfully juxtapose the passion and tension of the 1908 French Grand Prix with the tranquillity and serenity of Edwardian expressionism. Brown created a series of 25 paintings under a self inspiring pseudonym de Bruyne. Gossip about de Bruyne in the art world ranged from wild speculation to titillation. One rumor proclaimed "the last great work of a dying Dutch painter". Another had a well known artist changing his name to protect any financial proceeds from divorce lawyers. But Brown's deeply personal experiment to successfully communicate the subtleties of the period transcends idle talk of who created the work or when it was created. The real de Bruyne, or Dexter Brown, makes his first appearance at the Meadow Brook Concours d'Elegance 1995.

Sculptor Larry Braun of San Francisco has been commissioned by the Meadow Brook Historic Races to create the featured painting and sculpture as a signature for this year's race.

Fashion Focus on All-American Classics

Following a tradition of haute couture from the original Paris Concours d'Elegance in 1922, the Meadow Brook Concours d'Elegance is the only Concours in the world to present high fashion alongside of classic automobiles. This year, however, trends in fashion originate closer to home as Cadillac, Somerset Collection and Saks Fifth Avenue present an exclusive showing of a designer taking the New York fashion scene by storm with his updated Fifties classics - James Purcell. Purcell's elegant creations set the standard for the current rush to recreate the glamour decades of the 50s and 60s. Meadow Brook is privileged to present a runway fashion show of his Fall collection on the grounds of the Meadow Brook Hall on Friday, August 4. Lunch will be served. Mrs. John Engler, wife of the Governor of Michigan, and Mrs. Robert Eaton are co-chairwomen of the event. Tickets are available by calling Meadow Brook Hall at 810-370-3140.

On Sunday, August 6, at the Meadow Brook Concours d'Elegance, Somerset Collection will present its enormously popular Mode du Concours, pairing the latest fashions with selected classic automobiles. Three fashion shows are presented throughout the day.

Each show features five selected autos matched with ensembles shown off by high fashion models who emerge from cars as they arrive at the reviewing stand. The overall effect is a crowd-pleasing profusion of grand color and style.

HONORARY CHAIRMAN ROBERT J. EATON

Robert J. Eaton, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Chrysler Corporation, serves as Honorary Chairman of the 1995 Meadow Brook Hall Concours d'Elegance. Under his leadership Chrysler Corporation has been a dedicated supporter of this year's event, hosting the preview of the Meadow Brook Concours Art Show at the Chrysler Technology Center and providing spectacular Chrysler concept vehicles to view at the Concours.

Eaton joined Chrysler on March 16, 1992, as Vice Chairman and Chief Operating Officer and a member of the company's Board of Directors. He was elected Chairman and Chief Executive Officer on January 1, 1993.

Eaton had been President of General Motors Europe since June 1988. He joined General Motors in 1963 as a college graduate-in-training with Chevrolet Motor Division's Engineering Center in Warren, Mich.

Eaton worked in top engineering management assignments at GM. A clearly committed "Car Guy," he recently raced in the Dodge Neon Challenge at the 1995 Detroit Grand Prix.

He is a fellow of both the Society of Automotive Engineers and the Engineering Society of Detroit. He is a member of the National Academy of Engineering.

Born in Buena Vista, Colorado, on February 13, 1940, Eaton received his Bachelor of Science in Mechanical Engineering from the University of Kansas in 1963. He attended the Executive Program at Dartmouth College in 1981.

CHAIRMAN MICHAEL SHERIDAN

Chairman Michael Sheridan has made a diverse career of his life-long fascination with the automobile. Vice-President of the Toundas Motorsport Group, Sheridan has written about, photographed and built cars. He worked as a team McLaren mechanic for Can Am driver Charles Hayes. Not all of Sheridan's endeavors require getting his hands dirty. He promotes auto events and helped organize the first TDM Meadow Brook Historic Races. He was a founding publisher of the AFAS Quarterly and is a judge for the Ferrari Club of America and the International Showcar Association. Of course he can always be found working on a car in his spare time!

Concours takes on Continental tone

Rochester, Michigan—

The 17th annual Concours d'Elegance at Meadow Brook Hall is scheduled for Sunday, Aug. 6, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the grounds of Oakland University in Rochester Hills, Michigan.

It will take on a decidedly Continental tone this year. The legendary German classics have been chosen as the featured marque and the great English marque, Morgan, will be the featured sports car for 1995. Some of the most elegant and romantic cars in automotive history are among these marques.

These revered classics along with 250 additional automobiles representing all makes, eras and from all over the world will grace the lush grounds of the historic auto baron mansion, Meadow Brook Hall. The lavish 1,400 acre estate, one of the finest examples of Tudor architecture in America, was the former home of Matilda Dodge Wilson.

Robert Eaton, chairman of the board and CEO of Chrysler Corporation has been named 1995 honorary chairman. Michael Sheridan, vice-president of Toundas Motor Sports Group, Inc. is chairman.

The Meadow Brook Concours

ranks among the three most prestigious Concours events in the world. The other two are the Concours at Bagatelle in Paris, France and at Pebble Beach in California. All proceeds go to the preservation of Meadow Brook Hall.

Highlights of the 1995 Concours d'Elegance at Meadow Brook Hall:

—The 1930 Mercedes-Benz "Count Trossi" SSK, owned by Ralph Lauren and restored by the Paul Russell Company of Essex, Massachusetts, will be among the headline cars at Meadow Brook.

Featured in the official 1995 poster, this has been called the most beautiful car in the world. It is acknowledged, by one and all, as the most spectacular example of Germany's finest sports car of the late 1920's. Its name is forever linked with the great Italian racing driver Count Felice Trossi who originally owned it and raced it in famous European meets. This incredibly glamorous SSK is fitted with flowing wings and tail, and has the aggressively raked lines of a Touring or Zagato. The shape reduces the car's massive size and gives it a compelling beauty.

—The 1938 Adler Lemans Speedster, a futuristic aerodynamic masterpiece, is a car that will stop Meadow Brook visitors in their tracks. Adler is now a long-forgotten marque, but back in the late 1930s these German Eagles (Adler is the German word for eagle) set the trends for advance engineering with all independent suspension and front wheel drive, but above all aerodynamics.

—The legendary Morgan has never before been selected as a marque for any Concours event. In honor of the occasion, Charles Morgan, great grandson of H.F.S. Morgan—founder of the Morgan Car Company in England - is coming to the Meadow Brook Concours and will also serve as Grand Marshall of the TDM Meadow Brook Historic Races. He will race his own car in a field of classic Morgans. The Meadow Brook Concours will feature the largest

Herbs enjoy old thyme popularity

Dorothy Webster

Late summer brings Michigan herb gardens to lush fullness - a time for gathering, drying and freezing herbs for culinary, fragrance or medicinal purposes.

Herb growing is enjoying a resurgence of sorts. For some, it's always been an enjoyable pastime, but with more gardeners devoting larger and larger spots to plants that enjoy several uses, herb gardening is becoming more and more important.

Parsley, basil, sage and thyme have long been grown near kitchen doors - convenient for the cook to snip a few sprigs for dinner. But these days, many growers are adding pennyroyal (to repel fleas), oregano (for salads), lovage (to add a piquant flavor to soups, stews and gravies), lavender (for fragrance), and wormwood (to keep deer from nibbling).

Herb grower Marilyn Thom, who along with her husband Marvin, operates Huron Bay Farm west of Harrisville, says that basil plants are her number one seller.

"They're annual plants, and serious cooks need to renew their patch every year". Being a natural taste companion for tomatoes, basil outsells everything else at the herb farm, with sage and lavender not far behind.

"A big surprise this year was the demand for pennyroyal plants. Pet owners prefer using natural flea repellents to chemical ones on their animals," she noted.

The Thoms, who previously raised sheep and angora goats, came to herb farming almost naturally. First, it was a few lavender plants in their personal garden. Then, their daughter, who worked at a plant nursery, convinced them to add one herb after another, and now the couple, who are of retirement age, are happily plowing, hoeing and weeding a large collection of full-grown herbs as well as starting dozens of flats in their greenhouse each spring season.

"We're closed from Christmas until March," chuckles Marilyn, "but anxious gardeners begin calling us and stopping by, to see what we've started for spring planting. I guess that living here in Northeast Michigan, you feel a need for growing plants by late winter."

Although she's a Master Gardener, having completed a study course sponsored by Michigan State University's Cooperative Extension Service, Marilyn says she is continually learning more - from her customers.

"Many are very knowledgeable about uses for herbs, especially medicinal uses," she comments. "I learn from them and we share ideas about growing, preserving and using them. It's fascinating!"

Huron Bay Farm also features wool products, sheepskins, dried flowers, wreaths and dried flower arrangements. The shed next to the greenhouse is filled with festoons of drying plants hung head-down from the rafters.

For more information, telephone 517-724-5626 or write Huron Bay Farm, 605 N. Poor Farm Road, Harrisville, MI 48740.

Nearby, Covey Hill Herbs was carved from deep woods by Sandy and Ray Covey, who started their business after Wurtsmith Air Force Base closed three years ago.

Today, the pair raise 130 different herbs. "And there's a long list of others I intend to try," laughs Sandy.

Besides Ray's help with the heavy work (pulling stumps, hauling mulch, building a solar greenhouse and fences) Sandy has the invaluable aid of B.K., the cat, who keeps destructive chipmunks and squirrels at bay. He greets each customer, insistent on being noticed and praised for his important role, and escorts them among the rows of borage, artemisia, fleabane and sage.

Recycling everything she can, Sandy gives customers plastic flats and trays others have returned to her, and the Coveys collect rainwater in a 500 gallon tank to water the plants. Their greenhouse, 20 feet by 20 feet, is solar heated and filled with flats of plants each spring. Customers can stroll the paths to see what mature plants will look like and learn their properties from Sandy, who says she's still learning, too.

"With herbs and plants, I think you keep learning more all your life," she muses.

A member of the Iosco County Historical Museum's Herb Study Group, she meets with other interested herb growers to share ideas and information once a month. The group hopes to establish a herb garden at Hale's Log Cabin to complement the building and reflect kitchen herbs used by the area's early settlers.

Last year's Labor Day open house at Covey Hill Herbs was surprisingly successful, Sandy says, even though they are off the main highway a bit.

Both Sandy Covey and Marilyn Thom will demonstrate their skills at Harvest Days, held at the Jesse Besser Museum in Alpena on the first Saturday in October. Sandy will show viewers how to weave intricate wheat designs, while Marilyn will work with dried natural materials.

Far across the state, in Benton Harbor, The Herb Barn plans a busy summer. A Garlic Celebration on the first Saturday in August, the Fall Herb Harvest on the first Saturday in October, and a Holiday Open House the first Saturday in December will attract customers.

Owner Nancy Johns says in her attractive brochure, "Herbs can be medicines, tonics, nutrients, oils, essences, salves, amulets, love potions, charms, bouquets, sachets, incenses, soaps, shampoos, bath oils, seasonings, vinegars, salts, butters, wines or teas. Our frugal ancestors valued herbs for their aromatic qualities as much as for their flavor".

Telephone The Herb Barn at 616-927-2044 or write 1955 Greenley Avenue, Benton Harbor MI 49022 for more information.

For a listing of its members, you can write the Michigan Herb Business Association, 4465 Swaffer, Vassar, MI 48768. Many herb growers are members, but others are not. For local growers, perhaps your Cooperative Extension Service can help you.

A few other herb farms in the state include Creekside Herbs, Cedarville, MI (call 906-484-2415); Circle Herb Farm, East Jordan, MI (call 616-536-2729); Frawley's Fine Herbary, Midland, MI (call 517-631-1982); Everlasting Blooms, Grand Rapids, MI, (call 616-285-9096); Heavenly Scent Herb Farm, Fenton, MI, (call 810-629-9208); The Shaker Messenger, Holland, MI, (call 616-396-4588); Illusions in Thyme, Williamston, MI (call 517-655-1350); Natural Setting, Beverly Hills, MI (call 810-540-8763) and Foxfire Farm, Algonac, MI (call 810-794-5678).

If your experience with herbs has been limited to perhaps, parsley and chives, experiment by growing oregano and basil. Both are wonderful chopped in salads, and basil will complement freshly sliced tomatoes in a way you haven't yet appreciated.

Lovage, formerly used extensively, isn't as well known today, but it's an underappreciated herb. In the right situation, mine grow 8-foot tall, flower in early July and produce seed that's easily saved for next year's planting. It tastes like a strong celery-parsley combination, has hollow stems that make it delightful used as a straw for Bloody Marys, and also repels insects. Just bruise a stem with a few leaves and rub in around your neck and ears. You can tuck the stem into your hatband and enjoy bug-free activities.

In addition, lovage is grand as a flavoring in any soup, stew or gravy, as well as combination meat dishes such as meatloaf or meatballs. It deserves to be in every serious herb garden.

Sandy Covey gives her customers a recipe for chive vinegar that makes a fine addition to your own kitchen and a nice hostess gift:

Chive Blossom Vinegar - Wash 1 cup of fresh chive blossoms, removing any damaged parts and air dry. Pack into a sterilized jar and cover with 3-1/2 cups of 5-percent vinegar. Cover with plastic wrap if you're using a metal lid and store in a cool, dark place for 4-6 weeks, shaking the mixture every few days. Strain through a coffee filter or cheesecloth and rebottle.

Here's a Shaker recipe you might like to try:

Cold Rhubarb Tea - Simmer 4 cups of rhubarb in 4 cups of water until very tender, about 20-25 minutes. Strain. Add juice and grated rind of either 1 lemon or 1 orange and 3/4 cup of sugar. Stir until sugar dissolves and cool well. Serve over ice in tall, clear glasses.

And my own grandchildren ask for these Herbed Egg Salad Sandwiches - Dice 6 hardcooked eggs and mix gently with 1 Tblsp. finely chopped chives, 1 Tblsp. finely chopped parsley, and 1 tsp. very finely chopped lovage. Add mayonnaise to bind, add sea salt and coarsely ground black pepper to taste. Spread on toasted whole-grain bread, adding leaf lettuce if you like it. It's also good with a young spinach leaf.

Try visiting a herb garden near you this summer. Talk with the grower and be prepared to expand your world.

Learning about herbs is much like the plants themselves, interesting, undemanding, with added benefits gleaned from sharing with friends.

Tiny resort town has big art

Onekama, Michigan—

The population of this northwest Michigan community just tops 500, but it's a two-lake town with fishing and boating. From May to September the summer people populate cottages and the historic inn on Portage Point, and the snowbirds return to their houses in town.

When you approach Onekama from the south, the first thing you see on the corner of M-22 and 8 Mile Road is The Old Farm Store, a former feed store that's been turned into a unique art center. The Old Farm Store draws people from all over the U.S. to its classes and shows.

Antiques are also sold there because "people expect to see them in a building like this, and that's what generates the money to renovate the building," said Ann Smith, the owner.

"We need a stronger economy here, but no one wants the area to change, so the best thing to do is what we do best — fishing and boating — and then enhance it with art, education and antiques."

While cultural considerations rank high on Ann's list of priorities, she's quick to point out that The Old Farm Store isn't a non-profit organization.

"It's just me running things here. If I decided to go for non-profit status I'd be using all my time on paperwork and administration. There'd be no time for family and my other work."

That other work includes being a free lance writer, dancer and artist.

"From May to November we live in the Washington, D.C. area where I teach the dancer's stretch exercise for the Alexandria (Virginia) Ballet and model for the artists at The Torpedo Factor Art Center. In Michigan, from May to November, I organize the art classes here, curate the art shows and vacation with my family. Squeezed in to various time slots in both places, I do guest teaching, writing, play the stock market, and so on," Ann said.

She said she wrote the first book on stretch exercise in 1969 and since then has had four more exercise books published, along with many newspaper articles.

Ann finds the responsibilities of an artist and a business women to be a natural mix.

"Because of my life in dance and movement, I'm fascinated with the structure and use of the human body and how personalities are manifested in body presentation and usage. I do mixed media sculpture of people — mostly famous and mostly politicians because their body presentation is so obvious. I had a big show in Washington last year and showed my work here a few years ago. The business woman part comes with entrepreneurial ways to make it all work."

Ann takes particular pleasure from exposing northern Michigan artists to eastern galleries.

"When you find an obscure man in Manistee, Michigan making magnificent icons and you know that American folk art is hot, you want to connect the artist with the right market. I did this with Robert Dobel and The Tartt Gallery in Washington. And our famous 'Fishing Show' has traveled to The Clare Spittler Gallery in Ann Arbor and a gallery in Alexandria, Virginia. It will go to New York this summer, and I hope it will be accepted at The Gibbes Art Museum in Charleston, South Carolina in 1997 when they open their aquarium."

The Old Farm Store is rapidly gaining a solid reputation for its high-quality art classes.

"We start in June and run classes 'til Labor Day — sculpture, drawing, water color, printmaking, silk screen. The teachers are all working artists, many come in with the summer community. The sculpture class has spawned so many good, serious sculptors that we have a very interesting movement taking hold here, and I'll be scheduling a show for next summer called 'The Wood Sculptors of Onekama.'"

This year's show schedule includes: "Jamey Barnard and Other Area Artists" through Aug. 6; "Faces and Personalities" Aug. 8-Sept. 6; and "Apples in Art" Sept. 19 through the color change.

The Old Farm Store features two galleries so shows can overlap. Call 616-889-3733 for more information.

Onekama is located about 50 miles west of Cadillac and is accessible via M-55 west to US-31 north to M-22.

Hawaii Et cetera Cook Energy Information Center Bridgman

One of the most popular exhibitors at Cook Center, Charlotte Bass "paints" colorful images through her three-dimensional, quilted fabric designs. Many of her quilts depict significant events in history.

Bass uses a unique quick-quilting technique that she will demonstrate at seminars held in conjunction with the exhibition, which is set for Aug. 8-20. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Sunday.

The Cook Energy Information Center is located in Bridgman, 3 1/2 miles north on Red Arrow Highway (take Interstate 94, Exit 16).

Admission is free. Call 1-800-548-2555 for more information.

Intimate Nature: Ansel Adams and the Close View Dennos Museum Center Traverse City

Ansel Adams is one of the century's acknowledged virtuoso photographic artists, best recognized for his images of grand, expansive views of the spectacular in nature. Intimate Nature explores a little known, parallel body of work that offers another aspect of Adams' approach to nature: the close-up view.

In this almost microscopic approach, the form and surface of the natural world's particulars — the anatomy of leaves, the delicacy of a blossom — captivated Adams and inspired works of strength and power equal to his celebrated long views.

Intimate Nature continues through Sept. 3. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $2 for adults; $1 for children.

The Dennos Museum Center, 1701 E. Front St., is located on the campus of Northwestern Michigan

Traveling the River of Souls Pine Tree Gallery Ironwood Traveling the River of Souls...New Interpretations Honoring the Ancient Art of the Woodlands opens Aug. 26 and includes 50 works by artists from throughout the Great Lakes region.

Images in this mixed-media exhibit will range from paintings to fiber arts, from ceramics to sculpture, and from designs in glass and jewelry to musical instruments.

Traveling the River of Souls is meant to broaden the public awareness of early Native American art and culture through the efforts of contemporary artists inspired by the art of the ancients. Work presented in the exhibition will honor the craftsmanship and creative spirit of these early artists. The exhibition closes Sept. 24.

Pine Tree Gallery is located at 324 East US-2, Ironwood. The Gallery is open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. Call 906-932-5120 for more information.

University of Michigan Museum of Art Ann Arbor

gathers works by contemporary artist Edda Renouf from the 1970s to the present, including the museum's recently acquired suite of seven prints, "Letters to Earth."

Renouf's harmonious and serene art has fascinating affinities to music and geometry. The artist explores linear rhythms in chalk drawings, mixed intaglio prints, and acrylic paintings.

The exhibition opens Aug. 19 and continues through Oct. 15. Hours

Exhibit a 'who's who' of design

Day

The new Van Andel Museum Center of the Public Museum of Grand Rapids has only been open since November of last year, but it already is hosting a major decorative exhibition of more than 100 Arts and Crafts treasures.

American Arts & Crafts: Virtue in Design, organized by the Los Angeles County Museum of Art, began at the Terra Museum of American Art in Chicago last year and is concluding a national tour in the museum center's Lacks Changing Exhibition Gallery on the top floor.

The exhibit boasting masterpieces by Frank Lloyd Wright, Louis Tiffany and Gustav Stickley opened in Grand Rapids June 24 and is continuing through Aug. 19.

It includes furniture, ceramics, silver, copper and glass examples of the Arts and Crafts movement, illustrating the doctrine of functional design, natural materials and hand-crafted construction.

"This show is loaded with some of the most beautiful decorative objects and furnishings from the entire Arts and Crafts Movement," says Christian G. Carron, curator of history for the Public Museum of Grand Rapids. "The list of designers and craftspeople represented in the exhibit reads like a who's who of early 20th century design."

It is a breathtaking display with nearly 50 ceramic pieces illustrating the work of more than 30 shops and artists, including Rookwood Pottery and pieces by George Ohr, the "mad potter of Biloxi." About 20 works in silver and copper include Louis Comfort Tiffany designs. All this and furniture, too.

It's most appropriate that this major exhibit is concluding in Michigan's "Furniture City" as Grand Rapids was a key center in Arts and Crafts furniture production, notes Barbara Kravitz, assistant public relations officer for the museum.

In addition to displaying the traveling exhibit, the museum is staging a companion exhibition, Grand Rapids Arts & Crafts Furniture, concurrently in the second floor Bradford Gallery. On display are Grand Rapids-made Arts and Crafts furniture from the museum's permanent collection.

"Local factories such as Phoenix, Michigan Chair, Luce, Grand Rapids Desk and Stickley Brothers and Limbert all created Arts and Crafts furniture for the middle-class market," Kravitz explains.

She adds that the two exhibits complement the museum's permanent exhibition, The Furniture City, which explores the rise of Grand Rapids' furniture industry.

To further understanding of the Arts and Crafts Movement, the museum's Curiosity Shop is carrying exhibit catalogs and a wide range of merchandise unique to the Arts and Crafts Movement. At the beginning of the exhibit a series of Thursday night lectures was presented by experts.

Don Marek, a 20-year collector and dealer in Arts and Crafts furniture and accessories, showed slides and offered tips on collecting. He has operated his shop, Heartwood Antiques, at 956 Cherry in Grand Rapids for 18 years and is well known to dealers and collectors, especially in the Chicago area, Kravitz mentions.

A visit to Marek's shop also offers encouraging news: fine Arts and Crafts pieces still are available for the growing market of collectors although Marek says this is a "double-edged

What should the Arts and Crafts collector look for? Marek notes that carving was used sparingly and was integral to the piece, not added on. He illustrated this by pointing out a dining room set in which the carving was part of a solid panel of wood.

"Look for fine dovetailing," he continued, pointing out work on a drawer and saying he won't buy pieces with nail construction. He also advised against buying furniture with veneer tops.

As we admired a chandelier with four chains holding the glass shade, Marek observed that "there is some range of quality in glass" and said it is important to look for "fire" in glass pieces.

A standout in his shop when we visited was a Luce Furniture Company mahogany bedroom suite featuring an inlay design in pewter brass, ebony and boxwood. Marek mentioned that a museum has been interested in purchasing the chair and long mirror as examples of the Arts and Crafts design, but he is hoping to keep the set together. It seemed a real buy at $1,500.

Marek recalled that he began attending auctions while a grad school student at Indiana University. He continued doing so when he moved back to Grand Rapids and it evolved Marek explains that he branches out from pure Arts and Crafts period pieces, including complementary work. He points out, for example, a pink Westinghouse stove from 1950 with controls at the back. "I think they have quite a dashboard look," he says, noting that the stove is in working condition.

Early Pewabic tiles, a Rittenhouse table and chairs ("not quite Arts and Crafts but fitting in with rustic work"), a very Arts and Crafts Rookwood piece featuring a moth design, an umbrella stand and waste basket of stick design held in place by rivets made by Oakcraft factory in Portland, Michigan, a streamline glider in black and red from the 1930s — all were part of a unique inventory Marek was most willing to share his knowledge about when we visited.

As is explained in the museum exhibit, "the Arts and Crafts movement began in 19th century England as an artistic and social protest against the replacement of handcraft by mechanized production. It took the once decorative art of handcraft and elevated it to the same status as fine art.

"Although the movement spread through Europe, it was not affordable to the masses. In America the style became available to the middle-class because it adapted to industrial methods of production and Grand Rapids was a key center in Arts and Crafts furniture production."

The exhibit is free with museum admission of $5 for adults, $4 for seniors and $2.50 for children 3-17. Thirty minute docent-led gallery walks are offered Wednesday through Sunday at 12:30 p.m. Call 616-456-3974 for information on discounts for pre-scheduled groups.

The museum is open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. It is located on the

Native Americans tell their story

Grand Rapids, Michigan—

A stirring new permanent exhibition Anishinabek: The People of this Place, has opened to the public at Van Andel Museum Center of the Public Museum of Grand Rapids. The exhibition recounts the struggles and successes of Native Americans in West Michigan told in their own voices.

The Ottawa (Odawa), Potawatomi, and Chippewa (Ojibway) Indians of West Michigan call themselves Anishinabek, meaning the "First People." In telling their story through photographs, objects and traditional stories, their Anishinabe history is honored, but it is through interactive computers and video stations that this exhibition is able to focus on the Anishinabe people of today.

This exhibition is a result of a highly rewarding four year collaboration between the Anishinabe community and the Public Museum of Grand Rapids, in order to develop an exhibit that reflects Anishinabe perspectives and world views. "This project has been an extraordinary journey for the Museum's staff," says Bryan Kwapil, Museum Curator of Collections and coordinator for a staff team of educators, curators, and

Hessel, Michigan—

The Les Cheneaux Islands Antique Wooden Boat Show, set for Saturday, Aug. 12, has gained a national reputation for excellence since its inception in 1976.

The show, in the eastern Upper Peninsula, boasts close to 200 entries each year, and is easily the largest show featuring antique and classic wood boats.

Some of the country's finest boats call the Les Cheneaux Islands home. Most of these boats are used daily during the summer as a primary mode of transportation to and from the luxurious cottages dotting the area's sheltered islands.

Show entries arrive from as far away as California and Florida, and include dinghies, row boats, canoes, large cruisers, steam and gas powered launches, sailboats of all sizes, utilities and runabouts.

Sponsored by the Les Cheneaux Historical Association, the show's proceeds maintain and enhance the Historical Museum and Maritime Museum, which are located in nearby Cedarville.

The 36 Les Cheneaux Islands are surrounded by crystal clear Lake Huron and are located just 35 miles north and east of the Straits of Mackinac.

The mainland community of Cedarville offers shopping and accommodations, while Hessel, where the show is held, has other accommodations.

Hessel is accessible via Interstate 75 to M-134. Call 906-484-2821 for more information.

—A 1932 Lancia Pilarnbda two door dual cowl phaeton owned by collector, Noel Thompson of New Vernon, New Jersey, will be among the European classics at the Concours.

Acclaimed artist, Tom Hale of Northville, Michigan, created the painting for the 1995 official Meadow Brook Concours poster. A departure from the traditional Meadow Brook featured art, Hale's interpretation of the Trossi Mercedes-Benz with Meadow Brook Hall in the background is modernistic, dream like and ablaze in color.

Hale heads a roster of 14 artists from around the world who will show their work at the Meadow Brook Invitational Art Show. This year, the Art Show Reception will take place Friday, Aug. 4 at the new Chrysler Tech Center in Auburn Hills. All of the artists will be in attendance and awards will be announced. The Invitational Art Auction of the artists' works will take place on Saturday, Aug. 5 immediately preceding the annual Black Tie Concours d'Elegance Banquet at Meadow Brook Hall. The Art Show will be open to the public to view and make purchases throughout Concours day on Aug. 6.

The 1995 Concours d'Elegance will continue to expand its highly successful fashion element—introduced in 1992. Entitled Mode du Concours, the prestigious Somerset Collection of Troy will present three separate fashion shows of the latest designer ensembles matched with award winning classic autos. This will take place throughout the day of Aug. 6 as the autos pass the reviewing stand. The only Concours to incorporate haute couture into the day's activities, Meadow Brook actually recreates the original French Concours of the 1920s by doing so.

Admission to the Sunday, Concours is $15 for adults (including a souvenir program) $5 for children 5 to 12 (no program), free for children 4 and under (no program). Individual programs will also be on sale at the event.

Advance discount rates are available including a special rates program for car clubs.

If you were driving across the Mackinac Bridge in early July, you might have seen the Saginaw Voyageurs paddling through the Straits on their way to Colonial Michilimackinac in Mackinac City.

They were reenacting the working life of French voyageurs, who carried furs down the Great Lakes and rivers from this trading post to Montreal in the 18th century.

If you visit Mill Creek State Historic Park in Mackinac City anytime this summer, you will see how the sawmills created the lumber used to build Fort Mackinac after the British defeated the French and moved the post to Mackinac Island.

And if you ride the ferry to Mackinac Island, what Native Americans called the Great Turtle, you can follow the British and American infantrymen, muskets in hand, as they protect the straits from one another. The Redcoats knew that those darn Americans were trying to grab their empire, and the Americans knew those darn Brits were planning to come back.

They didn't come back, so the U.S. Congress created the nation's second national park here in 1875. It was second only to Yellowstone and 20 years later became the first state park in Michigan. We celebrate the 100th birthday of the park in 1995.

Mackinac State Historic Parks now includes all of those historic treasures built around the Straits of Mackinac: Colonial Michilimackinac,

Mill Creek State Historic Park, Fort Mackinac and Mackinac Island State Park.

To really get into this 100th birthday celebration, picture this: a typical highway of the 18th century was a waterway that was open only in summer and was definitely designed for getting there in a hurry. It was always wet and it never closed for repair, although travelers occasionally carried their vehicles around the rapids or between the lakes.

Don't imagine that it was a slow road. Those 36-foot-long Great Lakes canoes carried 10 men and several tons of fur, but they only allowed 25 days worth of food for a 2000 mile journey through the wilderness. No roadside cafes. If they ran out of food they ate their candles and their moccasins.

What would those fur traders think if they rode the ferry across the Straits of Mackinac on a lazy blue-sky summer day in 1995, and watched Mackinac Island rise slowly out of a low mist? In the center of the island, dominating the shoreline in all its splendor, they would see the Grand Hotel, its white pillars getting clearer as the ferry approaches the harbor.

The first meeting of the Mackinac Island State Park Commission was held at the Grand on July 11, 1895.

It doesn't look much different than it did when the lake steamers brought passengers from Chicago and Detroit 100 years ago: the town spread along the harbor shore, Fort Mackinac looming above the town in one direction and the Grand Hotel looming in the other direction.

Mackinac state parks celebrate centennial

As you sail around the lighthouse into the harbor, the town spreads out in a skyline of turrets and cupolas along the shoreline and up the hill. Ferries clutter the harbor docks. Huge racks of rental bikes gleam in the sun.

There are no cars but a traffic jam of tourists and bicycles follows you off the dock into the village street, with its shops and horse-drawn taxis.

You will love the fudge shops of course, but this summer you should walk around the exhibits in the Visitor's Center, climb the hill for a half-day of living history at the fort and follow some of the nature trails out of British Landing Nature Center.

Special events this centennial summer include the Aug. 3 evening Centennial Celebration and Military Parade at Fort Mackinac, honoring the transfer of the Fort and the national park to the State of Michigan in 1895. Lots of pageantry, parades and reenactments.

There will be concerts Aug. 4, a grand event at the Grand Hotel Aug. 4, A Centennial Evening tour Aug. 19 and a Centennial Reunion and Community Picnic celebrating the 1895 departure of the military Sept. 16.

Meanwhile, back at Colonial Michilimackinac they'll be doing something they haven't done before: Colonial Evenings Thursday and Fridays through Aug. 18, so that you can meet the villagers, watch reenactments and enjoy lantern-lit programs after 7:30 p.m.

For more information, contact Mackinac Island State Parks at 906-847-3328 or telephone Travel Michigan toll-free at 800-562-7134.

Manistee plans high (tea) old time

Manistee, Michigan—

Victorian opulence never went out of style in Manistee, where trolleys, top hats and turrets are still much in evidence.

This northwest Michigan community celebrates its heritage Sept. 9-10 with its Victorian Port City Festival. The town's lumber baron founders would be proud.

Manistee residents in Victorian-era costumes will promenade the historic business district as part of the festivities. Hourly trolley tours, with period-costumed conductors, give visitors a glimpse of the town's historic buildings, which include the Ramsdell Theatre and several other buildings on state and national historic registers.

Elegant 19th century homes of many different architectural styles grace Manistee's residential areas, the legacy of lumber men who vied to construct the most expansive houses.

Other festival activities include an antique car show, arts and crafts fair, Victorian high tea and tour of historic homes, old time baseball game and performances by Native American dancers and drummers.

Manistee is located on the shore of Lake Michigan, about 50 miles west of Cadillac. Manistee is easily accessible via US-31 or M-55.

For more information, call 616-723-2575.

Boogie to all the beats at music fest

Frankenmuth, Michigan—

The Summer Music Fest, held in Heritage Park, Frankenmuth, Michigan, every August for 10 days, has become more than just another festival. It's the "Party of the Year!!"

Only at the Summer Music Fest are so many of the nation's finest bands featured for so many days, organizers' say. The dates for festival are Aug. 11-20.

Festival promoters Marv and Teresa Herzog and Mark Janson say the ethnic polka bands performing for the Summer Music Fest in Frankenmuth will be: Eddie Blazonczyk, Dick Pillar, Polka Family, Marv Herzog, Mark Janson, Walt Grollier, Verne and Steve Meisner, Joe Fedorchak, Bob Turcola, Frank Stanger, Don Cialkoszewski, The Polka Nuts Dulcimer Band, the country western swing sound of Dave Dighton and The Frankentrost Oktoberfest Band.

In addition to polka music, from Wednesday through Saturday, Aug. 16-19, the Summer Music Fest offers rock 'n roll music from the '50s and '60s, when The Fabulous Hubcaps roll into town. The band takes a trip down memory lane as they visually, vocally, and musically imitate the early stars of rock 'n roll, performing in a different show each night, followed by dancing.

The big bands starring at the 1995 Summer Music Fest are the Russ Morgan Orchestra with Jack Morgan conducting, alternating with the Saginaw Bay-Brass Orchestra on Thursday evening, Aug. 17.

The Tatry Dancers Polish ensemble perform Sunday afternoon, Aug. 20, accompanied by Marv Herzog and Mark Janson and the bands.

There is convenient parking adjacent to the park, 80,000 square feet of tented area and almost 10,000 square feet of wooden dance floors, surrounded by hundreds of tables and chairs. A full menu will be offered daily, along with sandwiches and snacks. Beverages include beer, wine, wine coolers and soft drinks.

For more information, call 517-652-FEST or write: Summer Music-Fest, 5736 Maple Rd., Frankenmuth, MI 48734.

A patch of Olde England grows in Oakland County

Lake Orion, Michigan—

If you're looking for an unusual place to enjoy a day with the family, Olde World Canterbury Village is just the spot you're looking for.

Nestled among the picturesque lakes and woods of scenic Lake Orion in northern Oakland County, the unique olde English atmosphere of the village attracts tourists from all over the country. Brick sidewalks lined with carefully landscaped gardens and accented by old English lamp posts always make a visit to the village a memorable one.

Stan Aldridge, creator of Olde World Canterbury Village, has transformed approximately 21 acres into a year-round tourist attraction.

Utilizing a core of historical buildings from the original Haddrill Farm of 1870 and William E. Scripps farm of 1917, the village consists of more than a dozen buildings completely restored to their original splendor and are a cherished part of Lake Orion history.

Today the village boasts of an atmosphere of its own - American heritage with a Dicken's-style flair. With 15 specialty shops and boutiques visitors are consistently offered a delightful array of shopping choices:

Always Christmas, the original cattle barn of the Scripps estate, with its large beams and stained-glass windows is adorned with thousands of Christmas lights, ornaments and wreaths from all over the world. The Collectibles Gallery showcases a complete selection of figurines from Lilliput Lane, Hummel, Dept. 56, Precious Moments, Disney and more.

The Canterbury Store has hundreds of gift ideas including Lladro collectibles, mouth-blown glassware, candles, dinnerware, table accents, cards and gift wrap. A new addition to the Canterbury Collection is Toys For Big Boys where you can choose from an unusual assortment of theme gifts for men from coats of armor to golf stationary - the selection is unbelievable.

The Fudge Shop is a favorite of most visitors. Originally the old fire house, this shop offers some of the best ways to put out the heat this summer with 24 varieties of the best fudge in Michigan. 25 flavors of hand-dipped ice cream, frozen yogurt and a variety of refreshments complete the selection.

Stangallini's and The Tea Room are quaint deli-style restaurants with a menu ranging from pizza, burgers and fries to a fresh fruit salad and home-made breads. Joining the team this fall is King's Castle, a spectacular 1,400-seat capacity full-service restaurant.

Canterbury Toy World with its extensive collection of books, science sets, nature and educational toys isn't the usual toy store. Located upstairs in the old hay barn, collectors of pogs, stamps and plush animals will find a selection comparable to none

There is always something in bloom at Flowers, Pots & Baskets, 2 floors filled with silk flowers, garden accessories, baskets, pots and an exciting variety of Christmas floral provide a great selection all at unbelievably low prices.

Keep your calendars open August 18, 19 & 20. One of the newest, and most prestigious juried fine art fairs in the state is here. Art in the Park, sponsored by Olde World Canterbury Village and Orion Art Center, has been promoted as a first-class event. Art lovers will enjoy viewing original creative works in pottery, fiber art, sculpture, jewelry, watercolor and more.

All displayed on the beautifully landscaped grounds of the village, exhibitors from as far away as California, New York and Florida are featured transforming this premier event into a world-class art fair. Art Fair Hours: Friday, Aug. 18 and Saturday, Aug. 19, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday, Aug. 20, 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Olde World Canterbury Village is located three miles north of I-75 at 2369 Joslyn Court, Lake Orion, MI 48361. Call (810) 391-5700 for more information.

LET'S DO LAUNCH—Jim and Shirley LaPradd, from Gerundegut Bay on Cass Lake, often come by pontoon boat to eat at the Wayward Restaurant and Lounge.

Public, lakefront owners reach peaceable balance

Julie Candler

Allan Hayes

Cass Lake is the largest in Oakland County—about three and a half miles long and a mile and a half wide. On a summer holiday or weekend, it attracts hundreds of swimmers and boaters to its beaches and its waters.

One of the most active groups of Lightning sailboat competitors in the entire U.S. makes its home here. The lake even has a yacht club—the Pontiac Yacht Club, a rarity for an inland lake.

The public can and does use this lake, despite the many beautiful waterfront homes and the apartment and condo buildings that line its shores. A fairly peaceable balance as to the use of the lake seems to have developed between waterfront owners and the general public.

Four communities surround Cass Lake—Waterford to the north, Keego Harbor to the east, Orchard Lake to the south and Bloomfield Township to the west. If the glaciers had dug a little deeper, a dozen or so millenia ago, Cass and some of the other nearby lakes would now be one huge body of water. Narrow strips of land separate Cass from Sylvan and Orchard lakes, and Orchard Lake from Pine Lake—causeways just wide enough in many places for a two-lane country road. The communities surrounding these watery gems have had to fit into the jig-saw puzzle as best they could.

Cass and Sylvan Lakes are part of the Clinton River system, which has its source near Davisburg to the north. It meanders south and then east from there through an increasingly urbanized countryside.

Gaining volume from spring-fed lakes and tributary streams as it goes, it passes through, and at times under, cities and highways. It becomes a respectable-looking river at Mt. Clemens before it empties into Lake St. Clair, thereby feeding the Great Lakes. Much of the Clinton River system falls within what is locally called "Greater Detroit", an old but growing commercial-industrial area where rivers, once the only highways in the state, tend to get lost.

Hank and Esther Callahan, an adventurous couple from Waterford, once took a canoe from the Clinton River's source in Springfield Township all the way to Cass Lake. "There was only one portage," Esther tells us. "It was a great trip."

John Carlin, an attorney from the City of Orchard Lake, has lived on Cass Lake with his family for 21 years. He has five children, with the oldest two now living elsewhere. "Except they come home weekends," he says. "And I've got three sons still living here."

As a home-owner on the lake, Carlin has a commendably generous attitude about public access, and the really heavy crowds that the lake usually draws on weekends and holidays.

"This lake's a public asset, we know that," he says. "So the public's got a right to use it. We just learn to adapt. We use the lake mornings, and sometimes we take the pontoon boat out in the evening, when it's cool. And we can use the lake during the week. Weekends is when it gets crowded, and we can always do something else."

Public, lakefront owners reach accord

Carlin is a member of SOLA (Save Our Lakes Association) which concerns itself with public access. "Mostly we worry about water safety," he says. "Particularly jet-skis, so many people are using them now that have no idea of safety rules. They can be a serious menace."

Carlin keeps three boats at his place, including a jet-ski. "My boys use it," he says, "but they know the safety rules."

Ted Wade is another Cass Lake old-timer with a tolerant attitude about public access. His family started coming here in the 40s, when he was a child. "Cass Lake," he says, "has the ability to give great satisfaction to our generation, and the next. It's an all-sports lake that everybody can enjoy."

"At the end of World War II, when we started to come out here summers, there was a big spurt of development going on," he continues. "Before then it was pretty much farmland, with a few summer cottages. But with the plants going full tilt in Pontiac, the proximity to these lakes started the building boom that's still going on. There was even a bus line from here to Pontiac."

Wade owns Bloomfield Beach and Boat Company, which is now a busy water-sports equipment store on Orchard Lake Road, the main drag of Keego Harbor. At one time B B and B was located on the shore of Elizabeth Lake (the first lake to the north of Cass) where he rented and sold boats, and supplied a beach from which people could swim and sail. That property is now a waterfront subdivision ("The developers won that one," says Wade.)

"But Cass is still a lake that the public and the homeowners can both enjoy. There's a good boat-launching facility at Dodge Park Number 4 on the north side of the Lake. That land was given to the State of Michigan for a park by the Dodge brothers back in the 20s, I think."

The Michigan DNR's Boat Launching Directory lists the Dodge Bros. Park No. 4 as having a code 1 ramp, meaning it is hard-surfaced, with enough water depth for most trailerable boats. Current rates to enter the park are $20 for the season, $4 for the day, and for seniors over 65, $5 for the season. It is a spacious park with many trees, and offers fine swimming and picnic areas but no over-night facilities.

While there are numerous private launch-ramps, the only other public ramp we were able to find was at the popular Wayward Restaurant and Lounge on Cass Lake Road. It is the only restaurant on Cass Lake with dock spaces available so it can be visited by boat. "To use the ramp," says Bob Jones, its owner, "I charge $135 for the season, and $25 for a couple of days or a weekend." Jones has owned the place for 32 years.

There are no boat liveryes on Cass Lake, and there seems to be little talk about fishing. "Many people fish here," says Jones, "but they usually come out early in the morning. I don't think there's as much fishing during the day as there used to be. Too much traffic."

Sailing is also an actively-practiced sport on Cass Lake. Our adventurous friends the Callahans are members of the Pontiac Yacht Club, a club strictly for sailors located on the south side of the lake, near Ward's Point. The club recently celebrated its

LIGHTNING SKIPPERS— Hank and Esther Callahan, Pontiac Yacht Club members, have passed on the Lightning racing tradition to their children.

60th birthday.

"It was founded in the '30s by a group of Snipe sailors who liked to race against each other," Hank Callahan tells us. (The Snipe was a small but heavy racing dinghy, very popular in the early years of this century and now rarely seen; Michigan's Thompson Boat Company was one of its builders.)

"Owen Stephens came out with the Lightning in the 30s," Callahan goes on. "It's a bigger boat, 19 feet overall, so the club decided to adopt it and we've been racing them here every since."

The Lightning is regularly raced with a three-person crew. Although it is still being raced in competitions all over the globe, the Pontiac Yacht Club has the world's largest inland Lightning fleet.

Says John Carlin, "During the Lightning races the club usually places one of its turning markers out in front of our house. Watching the racers fight their way around the turn is a lot of fun. Beautiful, too, especially if there are spinnakers involved."

"The Gaylord Golf Experience You Can't Stop Talking About"

The Natural Golf Course will bring out the best in your game, whether a seasoned golfer or an enthusiastic novice.

Designed by renowned golf course architect Jerry Matthews, this 18 hole course offers a golfing experience you'll soon not forget.

The uncontrived style of this magnificent golf course, coupled with the beauty of the unspoiled wetlands, gentle undulations of the lush greens, fairways and strategically placed bunkers creates a setting that even non-golfing guests will enjoy.

So whether it's your regular weekend foursome or a large corporate outing, you'll want the golf experience you just can't stop talking about...

...The Natural at Beaver Creek Resort.
Located on West Otsego Lake Drive just two miles south of Gaylord, The Natural is convenient for residents and visitors alike.

Encore Custom Homes

by Craig Farrand

Call it coming full circle; call it going home; call it fulfilling a dream.

No matter how you label it, Dennis Glick has not only returned to his roots, but has also returned to his first love: Building custom homes for the most discriminating consumer.

As president of Encore Custom Homes, Ltd., Glick - along with his partner, Mike Zeid - is once again on the cutting edge of building homes traditionally considered at the top end of the price range.

And he's enjoying every minute of it.

"I've always liked working in the upper end of the price range," he said. "I've always felt that I could do my best work and offer the consumer the best quality and value when I was working with (these kinds of homes).

Builder of The Month

"These homes give me the freedom to put the kind of features into them that I've always wanted to see."

Glick's interest in home building goes back to his earliest college days.

"I always thought I wanted to be an architect," he said, "but my first summer in college I got a job as an assistant to a builder.

"And everything changed.

"It was then that I found out that I really liked seeing a project through to the end," he said, "rather than just designing it and then handing it off to someone else."

That interest got Glick started in 1974 with his own home construction company.

"When the housing market slowed down in the early '80s, I had to shift gears and leave home building altogether and concentrate on remodeling projects in the commercial sector," he said.

Until that time, Glick had been able to concentrate exclusively on single family homes in what was then the high end, $300,000 price range.

But that all changed when the home building market collapsed in a heap of high interest rates.

"From 1982 to 1984-85, I was doing almost exclusively commercial work," Glick said. "There was just nothing moving in the home market at all."

Ironically, though, Glick's new calling also set the stage for his eventual return to his first love, home building: It was during one commercial remodeling project that he met his partner-to-be - during the remodeling of Zeid's own building.

"We then formed Encore in October 1987," Glick said, adding that it was a combination of the skills of the two men - Glick as a design and building expert; Zeid as a sales and market expert - that set the stage for his return to the home building industry.

In fact, before the year was out, the pair would embark on their first collaborative effort: the Franklin Ravines project in Bloomfield.

"These were the kind of high-end custom homes I'd always wanted to build," Glick said. "And they were custom from the ground up."

How custom?

The last of the 11 homes constructed in Franklin Ravines was in the $1 million price range.

And the duo hasn't stopped since.

"After Franklin Ravines, we built in Carillon Hills in Bloomfield Township," Glick said, describing a modest seven-unit project he started in 1990 that is filled with nothing but custom homes in the $1 million-plus price range.

"We've consistently concentrated on the top end of the market," he said, referring to the development, "and I've always tried to make each home a one-of-a-kind experience."

In actuality, Glick admits that he likes pushing the envelope when it comes to the design of his homes - each design comes from his own head and off his own drawing board - but also acknowledges the differing tastes in style from region to region.

"There's definitely a difference in preferences from one community to another, and I think we have a real good handle on that.

"Of course, tastes also differ from individual to individual," he said.

"For example, in the $1.6 million spec home I built in Bloomfield Township, I installed real cherry wood kitchen cabinets - and while some thought it was beautiful, others thought it made the kitchen too dark."

But the proof is in the pudding: The house sold.

Which is true for all of Encore's projects: In Somerset North, the final home was in the process of being sold in early June; in Carillon Hills, there his customers.

"I'm not dealing with first time buyers," he said. "And with these homes I'm working with people who want all of the features of a great home, but they don't need the floor-space."

"Their children are gone, so a home with 10,000 square feet - like that $1.6 million spec home I built - is just too big."

With that kind of market in mind, then, Glick said his goal with his latest developments is to build homes that would have all the features of a any fine home - walk-in closets, fireplaces, great kitchens and two or three bedrooms - but with upscale quality.

"We're definitely appealing to a certain segment of the market," he said. "And so we're offering that market something that's a step above everything else."

That strategy is also the cornerstone of Encore's latest project, a two-phase development in Plymouth called Rolling Oaks, a 75-unit site with homes which runs in the $279,000-to-$339,000 base price range.

And, again, the Encore magic seemed to be at work: Even though Encore only opened the first of the year, and the model wasn't even open until the first week of June, Glick already had nine sales.

How?

"People have come to recognize our work and like what we've done in Troy, Farmington Hills, and Bloomfield Township" Glick said.

"We've always felt that we offer people a lot more choices and opportunities - and I guess this proves it."

It also proves that for people like Dennis Glick, you can go home again.

Built by Dennis Glick, Mike Zeid

were only two lots left by that same time.

•In Oxford Estates, Glick said that only a couple of the 23 original lots still remain.

•In Somerset North, all 36 units had been sold out - with the last home sold the first week of June.

In both developments, customers were faced with similar homes - even though no two were alike: All were in the 3,000 to 3,500 square foot range, with base prices starting at from $350,000 to $475,000 - prices, Glick said, that are seldom the issue with

Hammock Dunes: The Ultimate Oceanside Retreat

Thinking of retiring or simply purchasing a second home - look no farther than Hammock Dunes in Florida. Hammock Dunes has more than five miles of golden sands and hammock topped dunes so magnificent they gave their name to this place. Bounded on one side by the vast blue expanse of the Atlantic Ocean, on the other by palm-lined shores of the Intracoastal Waterway, it is a landscape of singular beauty, sculpted by wind and sea.

On more than two thousand acres hugging the coastline of Florida just south of St. Augustine you can live in the shade of ancient oaks and rustling palms, alongside placid lagoons and canals, overlooking vistas of marsh and sea, and beside fairways that trace an emerald ribbon through pristine maritime forests. You can live as life was intended to be lived in harmony with nature and the strikingly beautiful environment.

At Hammock Dunes our views on the game of golf include sweeping panoramas and dazzling ocean vistas. That's because at Hammock Dunes the spectacular Tom Fazio designed links - part of our private equity golf club - overlooks miles of windswept dunes and sparkling blue seas, earning it recognition as "America's best private seaside design".

And since the only thing more rewarding than playing our course may be living beside it, Hammock Dunes offers a wide choice of elegant Mediterranean-inspired residences from custom and patio homes to golf villas, ocean-front condominiums and waterway estates. All secluded behind 24 hour privacy gates.

For The Best New Health Water call Bramwell Environmental

An Alternative Method of Water Treatment and Purification

It's August, the hottest part of the year in Michigan - and as sunbathers gather rays during their weekend get-aways, thoughts often turn to the ozone layer.

Ozone, that slice of life-protecting atmosphere that screens much of the harmful ultra-violet radiation from our Sun before it has a chance to wreak havoc on Earth's biosphere.

Ozone, that slice of life-protecting atmosphere that is now threatened by man's 20th century use of chlorofluorocarbons.

But in many parts of the United States ozone is being manufactured every day - not in an attempt to replenish the atmospheric depletion of the ozone layer, but to help cleanse the immediate air and water around us.

And in this part of southeastern Michigan the man behind much of that manufacturing is Matthew Wood, president and founder Bramwell Environmental, Inc.

In fact, Bramwell has been on the cutting edge of developing the "ozonization" process - a method of treatment and purification - for industrial and residential applications. And since forming his company, he has installed dozens of systems to clean water drawn from local sources.

Building on experience as a team member in Upjohn Chemical's research and development labs, Bramwell locked on the idea that using salt treatments to purify well and other water for drinking was simply replacing one set of chemicals with another.

The solution, he concluded, was to extract the chemicals to begin with - and that meant using the natural molecular reactions caused by ozone to scrub the water clean.

The idea of "ozonization" is not new; ozone itself was discovered in 1839, and the process followed within 60 years.

Ozone - for those familiar with the word, but unfamiliar with its definition - is a three-atom oxygen molecule (symbol:  $O^3$ ), whereas normal free oxygen found in the atmosphere has only two atoms (symbol:  $O^2$ ).

Ozone is formed when an electrical charge splits some oxygen molecules and leaves single atoms (ions) running loose. These loose atoms then link up with regular oxygen molecules to create the new molecule.

It is that third atom of oxygen that makes the difference - for it has a tendency to be attracted to the electrical charge of other chemicals and then break away on its own.

The result: The original  $O^3$  reverts to  $O^2$  - becoming simple air - and the single atom mingles with the other chemical, oxidizing it and making it easy to extract from the solution.

For Wood, the process involves his use of modest ozone generators in homes that might otherwise employ salt-based soft-water and chlorination systems.

These generators, Wood said, are a mere 8 inches square, yet they possess the power to meet all the water needs of an average home.

"The amount of ozone produced by the generator is really quite small," Wood said, "but it doesn't take much to emulate Mother Nature.

"In fact, we can cleanse 10,000 gallons of water an hour with a single gram of ozone - but you couldn't even pump that much through a house."

And the energy needed to produce the ozone?

"It takes less energy than a 60-watt light bulb."

But the efficiency of the system can also be measured by its performance compared to traditional water softener and purifier systems, Wood said.

"Ozone is over 3,000 times more effective than chlorine (in destroying bacteria)," he said. "Which is one of the reasons that there are now over 1,400 communities using ozone to (cleanse) their drinking water."

According to Wood, the world's largest ozone generator used for water treatment was just finished in Dallas - and a similar system in Los Angeles not only performs up to that state's treatment standards, but it also meets expected state regulations that will eventually outlaw salt-based systems.

In Michigan, Wood said, the Bay City-Midland area recently completed its own system and Ann Arbor's is under construction.

And for homeowners, Wood's company is prepared to install the same technology in new or existing structures - something he's been doing for the past two years. (For the four years before that, Bramwell concentrated on industrial applications.)

"We need to examine the elimination of chemicals, salts and polluting carcinogens like chlorine from our drinking water," Wood said, "instead of generating different kinds of chemicals and salts like potassium chlo-ride."

Wood's "Ozonetics Nature Systems" process - actually a line of different sized generators designed for various sized homes - works by directing the home's water supply through the generator before it's dispensed at the faucet.

During the ozonization process, the ozone not only kills bacteria, but also alters the impact of other chemicals and oxidizes any heavy metals, such as iron.

The result is that the water comes out clean and more oxygenated than ever before.

At the same time, calcium deposits within the home's plumbing system are eliminated - and, Wood said, even reversed - and heavy metals are trapped in a special activated charcoal chamber where it is then flushed into the sewer system.

Of course, Wood's generator is more expensive than a typical salt-based treatment method - $2,000 to $3,000 (depending on home size) vs. $600 or so for a water softener and purifier. But Wood said a homeowner has to consider the long-term value:

"With salt systems, you're not only taking out much of what you do want in your water, but you're adding things you don't - and then you have to constantly replenish the salt supply.

"In our system, you take out only what you don't want, get the best water possible - just like Mother Nature intended - and you never have to replace a thing."

In addition to its use as a drinking water treatment process, Wood said his system also is becoming popular as an alternative to chlorine treatments in swimming pools.

Which brings the most ironic twist to the story of ozone:

Swimming pools treated with chlorine have become one of the largest threats to the ozone layer as the chlorine evaporates and rises in the atmosphere. There, the chlorine attracts the odd oxygen molecule and breaks down the ozone layer into simple oxygen - an ineffective barrier to ultraviolet radiation.

Yet Matthew Wood and his ozone generator turns the tables - eliminating the need for chlorine and preserving its own status as a life-saving blanket around Planet Earth.

Color Conspiracy

You are building a house. You have dreamed about your new home for years and have worked hard for the money to build it. You have dragged your family through model after model, until you finally found the right architect, the right builder, and the perfect community. The walls are now going up rapidly, the landscaping is underway, the general contractor has given you samples for the halls, the kitchen, the bathrooms, the plastic laminates, the wood finishes for the kitchen cabinets—you even have to decide which door knobs to use.

Decisions, decisions, and all must be made immediately. In desperation, you asked your builder for advice. He shows you this year's most popular colors. However, you are buying a house that you will live in for many years to come. Next year there will be new "hot colors". Do you want to spend thousands of dollars just to be stuck with last year's trendy colors?

You have put your finger on the Big Color Conspiracy of the Interior Design Industry. The fashion industry develops the colors. The Clothing Fashion Conspiracy is a year or two ahead of the Home Fashion Conspiracy. You can easily afford to buy a trendy blouse, but how about that exclusive, beautiful sofa you have seen in the showroom? Will that expensive furniture be obsolete next year?

Yes, choosing a color scheme can be an overwhelming decision. Just like the presence of certain people can make you feel good, so can the presence of certain colors.

but will he/she come home with you to get a feel for your new, or your old, home? It's time to hire an Interior Designer. Tell the designer that you want timeless interiors. You may not want to use the sterile white walls, because a tint of peach or a touch of greige (beige and grey) is flattering.

Now that you are getting serious about your wall colors, let's investigate paint finishes. Your contractor will be duly impressed that you know that eggshell is a finish—not a color. It is a quality of paint that cleans like a semi-gloss but does not look glossy.

As a rule of thumb, flat is great for ceiling—wall too—unless you wish to wipe off your walls easily. Eggshell finish is better for that purpose.

You may find yourself holding up the builder with all the decisions you have to make. A furniture showroom may offer the services of an interior designer in the store, Eggshell, rather than semi-gloss, is great in bathrooms, kitchens or baby's room. Woodwork—doors, windows, door frames and cabinets are serviceable, neat and clean in semi-gloss. If you are adventurous, you may explore the creating of textured looking walls: spraying, brushing, and faux marbleizing can be truly dramatic.

Yes, choosing a color scheme can be an overwhelming decision. Just like the presence of certain people can make you feel good, so can the presence of certain colors.

Go look at model homes, for ideas. Ask your designer to take you to the Michigan Design Center (a small exclusive version of the Chicago Merchandise Mart). Find out what you do not like first. Make a scrapbook of pleasant interiors. After all of this — make sure it is suited to your lifestyle because that's what makes a house a home.

Flushed With Savings

(NAPS)—You don't really need five gallons of water to dispose of the bug that you've scooped up and thrown into the toilet, or to flush away a couple of used facial tissues.

That's what you're doing, however, every time you use an old, water-guzzling toilet to dispose of bugs, liquids and other so-called "light" waste, according to John Brown, product specialist at plumbingware giant Kohler Co.. It's estimated seven out of ten flushes are for liquid or "light" waste. But, until now, there's been no way to match the amount of water used to the amount needed for an effective flush.

Kohler recently introduced the Eco Lite, toilet, which has been engineered with a simple, affordably-priced dual flush mechanism that ensures that each flush uses no more water than necessary. A dual flush toilet has two trip levers, allowing the user to select either a 1.1 gallon flush for efficient removal of liquid or light waste, or a full 1.6-gallon flush as needed.

Brown estimates that installing a dual flush toilet, rather than the new, standard 1.6-gallon model, can save 2,000 gallons of water per year for a family of four. If they make the switch to a dual flush toilet from one of the old five-gallon models, the savings can be as high as 21,000 gallons per year. That's enough water to fill a backyard swimming pool or to take more than 800 ten-minute showers.

This Month's Master Planned Community Offered By: Norton Creek

S.R. JACOBSON
DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION

Norton Creek is situated on Wixom Road, three miles north of I-96 in the city of Wixom, which is located in Oakland County's "lake country".

Wixom is a place of growth, planning and preservation: proud of its heritage and building its future. A majority of the surrounding land in Wixom are lakes, rivers and wetlands.

At Norton Creek subdivision, 24 of the 46 acres are a protected nature preserve. This preserve borders the Wixom Habitat, which is over 300 acres of natural wetlands located in the city's northwest quadrant, (bordering Wixom Road, Charmi Road, Child's Lake Road and Maple Road). The Gallagher Lake area of the habitat is the natural sedimentation basin for Norton Creek, Kent Lake and the Huron Valley Watershed. This means the basin filters and cleans the water before it arrives at the host stream. This is a natural cleaning process of storm water.

Living at Norton Creek is within minutes of Proud Lake Recreation area, Kensington Metropark, Oakland County parks, as well as Wixom Parks.

As a leader in the new home market, S. R. Jacobson can offer new ideas and fresh concepts with each and every floor plan. In Norton Creek you will find choices of Classic New England style homes ranging from 1300 to 2100 square feet. Colonials, cape cods and ranches are equally as abundant throughout the subdivision. The homes contain features found in many much higher priced homes. Most are complete and ready for occupancy. They include all of the floor covering, light fixtures, fireplaces and most appliances. Prices at Norton Creek range from $148,000 to $175,000.

Norton Creek is proud to boast about its Walled Lake Schools that are all within in a two mile radius of the development. Several excellent private and parochial schools are also situated close by.

School Match, a service that uses a computerized system to evaluate school districts for relocating families, identifies Walled Lake as a suburb where property values have yet to catch up to the real value of the local schools. The schools in these communities are actually better than most home-seekers believe them to be.

S.R. Jacobson has created a complete Homeowner's Manual that walks the customer through the buying process from the start through the warranty. Jacobson states, "No matter what the price of the home, we make sure that the quality is the same."

The 3 model homes at Norton Creek are open 7 days a week from 12:00 noon till 6:00.

Today's Carpeting

You've just moved into that new home and as you take your first walk-through you begin to visualize just how each piece of furniture, each wall hanging and every precious figurine will be arranged for the right effect.

And then you look at the floors.

The entranceway has beautiful wood parquet, the great room has a large expanse of exquisite floor boards, the den...

Everywhere you turn, the floors are asking for the same attention you've paid to the rest of the house: decorate me.

For nearly every homeowner, the options involved in dealing with floors are essentially four: leave bare, carpet wall-to-wall, cover it partially with an area rug or use both carpeting and a rug to create yet another affect.

Such are the options explored daily by Michael Kramer and Suzanne Hagopian, experts in the two fields of carpeting and rugs.

Kramer and his brother, Art, are the present operators of A.R. Kramer Flooring in Livonia, a carpet company founded by his grandfather - the original A.R. Kramer - in 1925.

Likewise, Hagopian is a third-generation member of Hagopian World of Rugs, founded by her grandfather, Haroutun, in 1939.

In both cases, family traditions have included close relationships with its customers - in most cases helping homeowners deal with those questions of options.

And fortunately for homeowners today, they have a range of selections within those options that weren't available when their grandparents visited the two companies.

Technology, competition and quality control have changed the landscape of floor covering - and, surprisingly, the price structure.

"Quite frankly, the cost of carpeting has stayed pretty much the same over the last 15 to 20 years," Kramer said. "And it's mostly because of the improved technology involved in production."

Among the greatest changes in that technology was the move to stain-resistant nylon.

"Today, besides the appearance, people are looking for carpeting that will stand up to everyday use," he said. "And nylon and the superior stain treatments of today fit the bill."

Equally as surprising is the fact that Oriental-style area rugs also have maintained their pricing - and, in fact, have dropped ever so slightly over the years. But for different reasons.

"The quality is actually superior than it was in the past," said Hagopian, who serves as executive vice president and buyer for the company. "But what really made the difference was when Iran was no longer the sole dominating source of fine rugs."

According to Hagopian, when the biggest change in the world industry came when the Shah was overthrown.

"Iran was the only country in the world during the 20th Century focusing on making Oriental rugs," Hagopian said. "But when the Shah fell other countries started entering the market, competition improved quality and the price."

Whether a homeowner is looking for wall-to-wall covering or an accent rug placed strategically within a room, both Kramer and Hagopian said the decisions involved are the same.

"The base price of any carpet is based on the amount of yarn," Kramer said. "But then a customer can look for a better stain treatment - one like DuPont certified - in which the company offers its own warranty.

"Or they can get a super high twist carpet and then one that is part of an expensive color line."

The bottom line, Kramer said, is that the level of carpeting quality is for the customer to choose - but the choice must be an educated one.

And the same holds true for rugs, Hagopian said: "You can certainly buy different grades of fine rugs, but people need to be careful that they're getting what they're paying for."

For example, Hagopian points to the wide range of wool used in the majority of fine rugs.

"The quality among wool varies tremendously," she said. "Some countries use domestic wool, while others use imported wool - and others mix the two."

And no two wools are alike.

"In Nepal, where they have cold climate sheep, the wool is excellent quality, with a high lanolin count.

room is going to be used, what kind of lighting will be involved, what kind of color schemes will be at work.

"And then we ask how much money - a ballpark figure - they plan to invest," she said. "Because it is an investment.

"Many people have preconceived notions about rugs, but we try to have them spend at least an hour and be-customers to take a look at it, live with it for a day or so, in its natural setting."

Not surprisingly, styles and textures of both carpeting and area rugs change with the times.

For carpeting, Kramer said, the familiar sculptured look of the '60s is passé, yet shags - California-style shags, that is - are making a comeback.

In addition, the printed patterns of the '20s and '30s have made a return with a vengeance - "especially in family and dining rooms," he said.

Yet what has dominated the market in recent years has been the textured pile, a look that uses variations in yarn height to help hide footprints and traffic lines.

"People today are looking for hardwearing, low-maintenance carpeting that doesn't need constant attention," Kramer said.

So, Kramer said, they're looking for stain-resistant textured nylon, but in new - as well as oddly familiar - colors.

"Believe it or not, golds and avocados are making a comeback," he said, "and so is green and burgundy."

What has been lost in the shuffle, though, is gray.

"You can't find it anywhere anymore."

"Today, besides appearance, people are looking for carpeting that will stand up to everyday use," he said. "And nylon and the superior stain treatments of today fit the bill."

---

"But there are other countries that make rugs with poor quality wool," she said. "So the first thing a homeowner has to do is become knowledgeable."

Which is where Hagopian comes in.

"The first thing we do when a customer enters our store is go through what we call a 'qualifying process.'"

"We ask questions like how the come educated; we want to open people's minds to the world of rugs."

In all, the process of rug buying appears more like a home decorating session than a cash-and-carry transaction - which is exactly how Hagopian likes it.

"Even after we ask all these questions, the final issue is whether the person likes it - and that often means we send the rug home with qualified

Don't Let Interest Rates Keep You From Buying Your Dream Home

By William T. Hamway, President of the Home Builders Association of Livingston County

Don't let rising mortgage interest rates keep you out of the market if you're thinking of buying a new home.

Even though rates have increased steadily since early 1994 in response to the Federal Reserve Board's efforts to curb inflation, they are still in the single digits and are expected by economists at the National Association of Home Builders to remain below 10 percent throughout 1995.

To most consumers, rates in the 9 to 10 percent range may seem high compared to 1993 when the average rate for 30-year fixed-rate loans was 7.3 percent. Nevertheless, today's rates are still low by historic standards. From 1979 through 1990, average annual rates never dropped below 10 percent. And in 1981 and 1982 the average annual rate topped 16 percent.

Furthermore, adjustable rate mortgages (ARMs) are available with first-year rates that are about 2 percent lower than fixed-rate mortgages and a growing number of buyers are choosing this option. At the beginning of 1994, about 25 percent of all new mortgages had adjustable rates. By the end of the year, about 60 percent of new loans had adjustable rates.

You may also find that builders in your area have arranged special below-market-rate financing through a specific lender. Sometimes builders "buy down" interest rates for two or three years or for the term of the mortgage to help their buyers qualify for mortgages.

If your heart is set on a new home, but you still think you just can't afford the house of your dreams, you might also want to consider cutting back on the upgrades and luxury options in your new home. Scaling back slightly to standard appliances, carpeting and fixtures can trim thousands of dollars off the cost of the home and lower your mortgage payments in the bargain. Later, when you are comfortable in your home – and your household income has increased – you might want to upgrade or add certain items. Or, if interest rates drop, you can refinance and use the money that you save each month to add or upgrade appliances, carpeting and other features.

In short, it's a great time to buy a new home. Mortgage rates are still reasonable – and affordable – for most prospective buyers. Builders have enough inventory to ensure that buyers have a wide range of choices. And there are a number of things that you can do, such as using an adjustable rate mortgage, to keep costs in check.

Chelsea Park

Once a merely dream of beautiful homes surrounded by a natural setting, Chelsea Park is now a reality.

And a special open house has been set for late August for prospective homeowners to get an up-close-and-personal look at what the project is all about.

The 333-acre site, located on Halstead between Maple Road and 14 Mile Road, is the brainchild of Steven Perlman and Gary Shapiro, the minds behind Ivanhoe-Huntley Homes.

But what makes the project particularly unique is that the two men went to great lengths to preserve the setting: Nearly 100 acres of the site has been set aside as a natural habitat area for indigenous wildlife, and an adjacent portion of Halstead Road has been proclaimed a Natural Beauty Road by the state.

"We're always looking for that special blend of homes and the surrounding environment," said Perlman, president of Huntley Homes. "Something that brings out the best of both worlds."

And Chelsea Park - with 318 units spread across the remaining 233 acres - fits that requirement to a T.

In fact, it was Shapiro, president of the Ivanhoe Cos., who worked with top experts in the field of design - and even with DNR officials - to come up with the right mix for the site.

Within the project, there are two separate developments under way: "The Glens of Chelsea Park," offering homes from 2,700 to 3,250 square feet in the $270,000 range; and "The Hills of Chelsea Park," with homes from 3,300 to 4,150 square feet and in the $340,000 range.

And pre-construction sales, according to the partners have been "unprecedented" - even before the formal open house scheduled next month.

But the partner's efforts haven't been limited to home sales: Last fall the site won the Community of the Year award from the Michigan Society of Planning Officials.

In addition, during the site's groundbreaking last fall, Michigan Gov. John Engler himself was on hand for the ceremonies, calling the project "a perfect example of a 'win-win' strategy."

"Families with beautiful homes will co-exist with Mother Nature," the governor said. "I look forward to returning to enjoy the outcome when Chelsea Park is complete."
