City cemetery repairs on hold

Plan to clean up grounds must be completed first

By CAROL WORKENS
Staff Writer

Permanent improvements to the entrance at Rural Hill Cemetery at Seven Mile Road and Fairbrook won't take place this year, city officials say.

Ground contaminants have been found that are above allowable limits set by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, delaying any repair work.

"It is oil in nature, but we don't know how much is down there or where it's coming from," Northville DPW Director Jim Gallogly said. "We have done some water main relocation and the ground has a terrible odor of oil contamination.

"Before we improve what's above ground, we have to improve what's below ground," Gallogly said.

The Northville City Council at a September meeting approved a resolution to award a contract to Soils and Materials Engineer Inc for a soil and ground water investigative work plan. Funds to initiate the work plan, which was not to exceed $18,315, were to come from unallocated revenue in the general fund contingency.

But in a meeting between Gallogly, city attorney Richard D Connors, Soils and Materials Engineer Inc. and planning consultants McNealy and Lincoln on Sept. 29, a decision was made to explore the possibility of putting in two observations wells before proceeding with the investigative work plan.

The observation wells will determine whether something is coming onto the site or is being created on-site and leaving via the ground water.

Two observation wells will go on the Seven Mile Road side of the parcel, the north side of the site, probably somewhere in the public right-of-way (the main east-west road) which appears to be the dirtier portion of the site, according to Gallogly

If no contaminants are found, that means the contaminants are on-site

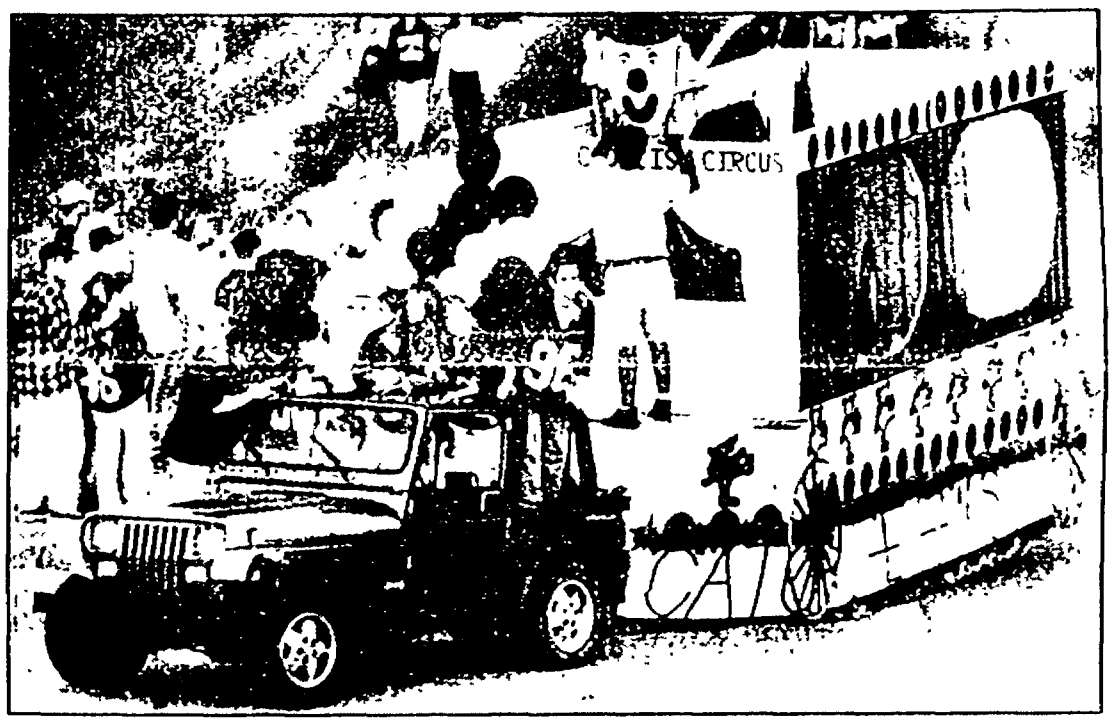

If contaminants are found, they are coming from off-site and a third well will be drilled to determine ground water flow

"If it is coming from someplace else, we will find that responsible person and make him do that work," said Gallogly

Although SME was told to put a rush on submitting the quote for

High School Homecoming

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

> "True, we're not out of the woods, but everything is going in a positive direction."
> -Michael Swartz
> Plante & Moran

The financial health of the City of Northville has improved, but the city council and city administrators need to develop a long term plan to ensure the recovery continues.

That diagnosis was presented to the Northville City Council Monday by accounting consultants responsible for performing the audit for the fiscal year that ended June 30, 1995.

According to Michael Swartz of the accounting firm of Plante & Moran, Northville has successfully navigated out of its deficit situation, but in order to remain "financially healthy" some long-range planning needs to take place. "We felt it was an extremely successful audit," Swartz told council members. "City administration did an outstanding job, and we are very pleased with the way things worked out.

"True, we're not out of the woods, but everything is going in a positive direction," he added "There are some planning steps that need to be taken to ensure that the direction remains positive."

Swartz said the general fund balance has increased by $73,000, which represents a 4-percent increase, and the long term debt was decreased by more than $1 million. Swartz also noted that property taxes made up 71 percent of the city's revenue, and there was an increase of about 10 percent in expenditures. The general fund picture looks like this

- General fund revenue - $3 12 million in property taxes; $624,000 in state shared revenue and grants; $136,000 in racetrack revenue; $192,000 in charges for services, $170,000 in contributions and other funds; and $180,000 in other fund sources
- General fund expenditures - $1 5 million for Public Safety, $421,000 for public works; $675,000 for administration; $607,000 for building and grounds; $607,000 for debt retirement; $174,000 for recreation and cultural; $146,000 for planning, zoning, and inspection; and $534,000 for other expenditures.

Although the numbers reflect that Northville is in good shape financially, Swartz said legislation calling for a change in the fiscal year of all local governments in Michigan to Oct. 1-Sept. 30 could have a negative impact on cities

Foot fondler suspect charged with offense

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

A citizen's quick thinking led to the arrest last week of an alleged repeat foot fondler in Northville Township

Jonathan Gordon Dull, 24, is accused of misdemeanor assault and battery arising from an Aug. 3 incident at the Harbour Springs Apartments on Seven Mile Road A leasing agent at the complex called township police at about 1 20 p m that day, upset about a well-dressed man who'd come to ask about renting an apartment.

The woman, 37, said that everything was fine as the man asked several questions about a potential lease But then the man knelt down and began to rub and tickle her foot, she said He left in a hurry after she shook him off and ordered the man to leave, the woman continued

She was unable to get the license plate of the man's 1992 gray Oldsmobile as it sped away, leaving police with little chance of apprehending him. On Aug 15, however, the same man allegedly returned to Harbour Springs and was spotted by the woman before getting out of his

Old vacant county buildings might come down

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

To borrow a phrase from Winston Churchill, Wayne County's moves this week concerning its land in Northville Township aren't the end of a decade-long effort to get the parcel cleaned up and sold off.

They may, however, represent the end of the beginning

The Wayne County Commission is scheduled to vote today (Oct. 5) on approving money to tear down the buildings on the abandoned 856-acre parcel located between Five Mile, Six Mile, Beck and Sheldon Roads

Meanwhile, County Executive Ed McNamara on Friday proposed the formation of a special public/private group to market the land once it's ready to be sold to the private sector. The so-called "dream team," as McNamara calls it, includes major area developers.

The county has been trying to swing a sale or development deal of the parcel since 1984. A series of failed attempts led county officials this year to decide to split the land up into smaller parcels for sale, a move expected to improve the chances for the total acreage's development.

Before that can begin, however, Wayne County has to clean up the property, including 18 underground fuel storage tanks at a cost

Council, mayoral races take shape month before vote

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

For the first time in almost a decade, the City of Northville will have a serious mayoral race. The last time that happened was eight years ago when Chris Johnson won his first term as mayor by defeating candidate G. Dewey Gardner in 1987.

Now Johnson, the four-term incumbent, will be challenged by long-time councilman Paul Folino for the council top spot. At the same time, incumbent Mayor pro-tem Carolann Ayers will vie for one of two council seats with newcomers Tom Swigart and Roxanne Casterline.

The petition pulled by former Mayor Mike Allen was not completed and turned in, according to City Clerk Delphine Gutowski.

The hopefuls have until 5 p.m. today to withdraw their petitions if they change their minds about running.

All five candidates have at least one thing in common, as they begin campaigning for the Nov. 7 election - they believe there are challenges ahead for Northville.

"I think we need to realize that we cannot, at this point in time, rest on our laurels," Johnson said. "There are plenty of challenges facing this community, and while we've come this far, there is still plenty for us to do."

One of Northville's biggest challenges, according to Johnson, rests with the future of Northville Downs. Faced with declining attendance, the horse racing industry may get a financial shot in the arm from the state Legislature, which is considering eliminating the city's portion of funding from parimutuel betting.

Councilman Paul Folino

Mayor Chris Johnson

Although the city doesn't budget those funds, losing them would have an effect.

"We have some unique challenges - Northville Downs is one of those that we must address,"

Suspect resists arrest, faces second charge

A Detroit man accused of stealing electronics goods from Meijer on Saturday faces an additional charge of obstructing a police officer in the performance of his duty.

Store detectives said the man, 32, put a $90 CD player and a walkman personal stereo worth $50 in a bag then left the store without paying for them. He allegedly resisted their attempts to detain him for township police and, after a struggle, was handcuffed.

The reporting officer said the man initially gave him a fake name, one that showed no record of existence upon computer check. The man then allegedly admitted to the alias and gave his real name, the officer said. He will face a court hearing on both charges on Oct. 20.

STOLEN CAR: A Home Depot employee's car was stolen out of the store's parking lot on Saturday night.

The employee, a 22-year-old Detroit man, said he parked the 1984 Cutlass Supreme at about 9 p.m. and noticed it missing at about 11:20 p.m.

Township police listed the Cutlass as stolen in the metro area law enforcement computer network. It is valued at $3,000.

DELI BANDIT: A Redford woman who allegedly tried to swipe $54 worth of meat and cheese from Meijer's deli on Sunday afternoon was arrested for shoplifting by township police.

Store detectives say they saw the woman, 42, put the food into her purse, then try to leave the store without paying for it. She faces a hearing in 35th District Court on Oct. 20.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE: Township police prevented a potential suicide in the parking lot of Meijer on the afternoon of Sept. 24.

An officer on patrol in the lot found a man lying in the front seat of his 1979 Ford pickup with his feet out the open driver's door. It took several attempts to rouse the 34-year-old Pickney resident, who then admitted he had taken a large number of pills "because he wanted to die," the officer said.

A stickum note found in the cab of the pickup bore a single sentence: "I am sorry to everybody."

The man was taken by ambulance to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia where he was scheduled to undergo psychological evaluation. A relative told police the man is a recovering crack cocaine addict.

OPEN INTOXICANTS: A Novi woman who allegedly hit a Brighton man's car near Meijer on the afternoon of Sept. 25 faces a charge of possessing open intoxicants in a motor vehicle.

Township police say the woman, 40, ran a red light in her 1995 Mercury and hit the 1992 Toyota belonging to the Brighton man, who is 53-years-old. The accident occurred at the intersection of Eight Mile and Orchard Hill Drive. The reporting officer said he found a open pint bottle of liquor in the woman's car but that she was not legally drunk.

DRIVER ARRESTED: A Northville man learned the hard way on Sept. 26 not to drive when he's not supposed to.

A township police officer pulled the man's 1985 Ford pickup over on Haggerty Road near Seven Mile that evening after noticing it had no working brake lights. A computer check of the driver, 20, revealed two warrants for his arrest and the fact that his driver's license was suspended.

The warrants were both for operating a motorcycle without a proper license, stemming from Dearborn Heights and the Wayne County Sheriff's Office cases. The man was taken into custody, booked and then released on bond. He faces a hearing on Oct. 17 in 35th District Court.

TOOLS TAKEN: A Livonia man doing construction work at Rocky's restaurant on Seven Mile on Sept. 27 had his property stolen while he was on a coffee break.

The man told township police he went inside for coffee at about 8 a.m. When he returned to the job site a half hour later $650 worth of tools were missing.

NECKLACE NABBED: A Northville Trails homeowner's necklace was stolen in August but the case will apparently go unsolved.

The homeowner called township police on Sept. 27 to report the theft, which she said apparently took place during a party she gave on Aug. 6. She thought she'd misplaced the necklace up until now, the woman said, and so did not report it.

She was unwilling to give police the names of those who attended the party and so the matter was dropped.

DEER KILLED: A township officer was forced to kill a deer suffering from two broken legs on Sept. 29.

A township resident called police, saying the animal was on her patio. The responding officer tried to approach the deer, which then began to run away, "tripping over its broke legs," he said.

The officer fired three rounds, killing the animal. The deer was left with the homeowner, who asked to bury it because she'd been feeding it for two years.

SWEATSUIT SWINDLER: Yet another incident brought township police to Meijer on Sept. 27, where they arrested a man for shoplifting and an outstanding warrant.

Store detectives said they saw the man, a 41-year-old Garden City resident, take pop bottles and cans from a rear storage area then run them back through return machines to gain $4.90 in refund slips. When they stopped him the detectives then found an unpaid-for Meijer sweatsuit wrapped around the man's legs inside his pants.

A computer check also revealed a warrant for the man's arrest on charges of larceny stemming from a Dearborn Heights case. He was booked, then released on bond and faces a hearing in 35th District Court on Oct. 18.

The sweatsuit is valued at $80.

If you have any information about these or any other incidents, please contact Northville City Police at 349-1234 or Northville Township police at 349-9400.

Township looks for funds to pay for new bike path

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Will a bike path be built along Six Mile Road? The question's still an open one as Northville Township officials search for the money to make it happen.

Last year township officials applied for and received a $391,000 federal grant to use for an asphalt path along the north side of Six Mile in the public right of way from Haggerty to Northville Roads. The grant requires the township to come up with $157,000 in local matching cash before the project can proceed, however, and that's been the monkey wrench in the works so far.

To date members of the township board of trustees has not approved any funding formula. They and Manager Tamara Hanlin at their last meeting on Sept. 14, however, agreed to continue to explore some different options.

One, suggested by Treasurer Rick Engelland, involves exploring splitting the local cost with property owners or subdivision associations along Six Mile. Another, proposed by Trustee Mark Abbo, calls for the township to see if those developing the Ward Church parcel at Six and Haggerty would be interested in some sort of deal.

It may be possible, Abbo suggested, for the township – using the grant – to install the path along Six Mile that's part of the Ward plan for less money than church and shopping center officials would spend to do it themselves. They would then kick in part of the local match money and everyone wins, the thinking goes.

A third option involves several thousand dollars set aside years ago for sidewalk development in the Parkstone and Northville Trails subdivisions. The township may be able to use the money, put in escrow by the subs' developers, for the path grant match but nothing is certain yet, Hanlin said. She added that she's checking further into that question.

Affecting any decision is a potentially tight timeline. While the rules of the grant technically give the township several years to use the federal money before losing it, she's been advised "that we should use it as quickly as possible or it may be gone," Hanlin said.

Zhmendak rubs elbows with elite of profession

Township department receives major award

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

No one can doubt that Northville Township Fire Chief Bill Zhmendak's sure likes his job.

Last month gave him one more reason to do so, as Northville Township was among just 34 communities in the United States to receive a special life saving achievement award from the International Association of Fire Chiefs.

Zhmendak, who accepted the award on behalf of the township fire department during an international conference of fire chiefs held Sept. 9-13 in Kentucky, called it "a real honor.

"You don't do your job for recognition but it always makes you feel good to get some. It makes you feel like you've accomplished something," he said.

The IAFC hands out the life saving recognitions each year to community fire departments who combine no loss of life due to a blaze with aggressive fire inspection, prevention and safety education efforts. The six other Michigan departments which were singled out for 1995 include those from Farmington Hills, Redford, Ann Arbor, Eastpointe, Grand Rapids and Saginaw.

"This is exciting for us and really reflects our efforts here to provide the public with quality services. I'm real proud of everyone in this department," Zhmendak said.

Another recent award from Ann Arbor's trauma center puts the department in the running for first place statewide in fire prevention and education efforts, he added.

Besides the award the conference yielded Zhmendak the chance to garner a harvest of useful information about the evolving science of firefighting.

"I've been in this since 1978 and we've just kept seeing a host of new technologies," he said.

For example, one such innovation that will likely come to Northville Township within the next two years is the switch from water to foam in fighting fires. Its main advantage is in lowering a fire's temperature more rapidly than water, allowing firefighters to get closer to the blaze sooner.

"Water's cheaper but foam's really more beneficial," Zhmendak said. "The average fire is about 1,800 degrees and that's enough to melt the (firefighter's) facepiece. Hit it with foam and it'll drop the fire temperature in a room to 600 degrees almost instantly."

"There's always a better way to do something," he continued. "If you think you know it all you're doomed to fail."

He gathered five bags worth of information during the conference on everything from new equipment on the market to new firefighting techniques. In addition Zhmendak had the chance to talk shop with fire chiefs from all over America and the world, from Hong Kong to Oklahoma City, the site of April's tragic bomb blast.

"This was like having all of your heroes in the same room. When would I ever get to meet them or interact with them? That's the real purpose of the conference," Zhmendak said. "It lets us talk about what we do in a non-disaster or non-emergency situation."

Northville Township Fire Chief Bill Zhmendak met nationally-recognized fire officials and brought home a prestigious honor for his department at a recent conference held in Kentucky. The award was given to only seven departments in Michigan and to only 34 departments across the country.

Anti-Defamation representative to address meeting

A Community Organization Recognizing Diversity (ACORD) will host a free lecture by a representative of the Anti-Defamation League (ADL).

A speaker from the oldest human relations agency in the United States will be in Northville to address the community. Gene Farber, a member of the executive committee of the Michigan region of the ADL, will present a brief lecture his organization, its purpose and agenda. The informational lecture is free and the public is invited to attend.

The presentation will be hosted by ACORD during its regularly-scheduled meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 10, at 7 p.m. The location is a meeting room at the First United Methodist Church, 777 West Eight Mile Road in Northville. Refreshments will be served.

"We look forward to hearing Mr. Farber," said Wendy Washington, a member of ACORD's Planning Committee. "It's important for us as a community to reach out in support of endeavors toward positive human relations at all levels."

The ADL, nationally recognized in its efforts of prejudice reduction and fact finding, is known worldwide for its work concerning terrorism and extremist activity.

The Michigan region of ADL is based in Southfield. ADL offices are located in each of the 50 states and throughout the world.

The public is welcome at the meeting.

Keys protests inspection contract

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

Northville City Councilman Chuck Keys still believes the city should provide its own inspection services on major construction projects.

Keys voiced his objections to paying $250 per day inspection fees to McNeely & Lincoln before the city council awarded a $213,000 road improvement project contract to Flat Rock Contractors Inc. The project is for road improvements on Sherrie Lane and Jeffery Drive.

The council also added another $14,000 for sidewalk replacement on Sherrie Lane and Jeffery Drive. That sidewalk area was to be replaced by JDS Trucking, but city officials and JDS officials agreed to the change to ease construction coordination and minimize time delays, according to Department of Public Works Director Jim Gallogly.

"This is recommended because sidewalk replacement costs proposed by Flat Rock are less than those of JDS Trucking," Gallogly said in his report to the council.

It was early problems in the Sidewalk Replacement Project that prompted Keys to launch an investigation into the work done by JDS and the inspection process provided by McNeely & Lincoln.

During council discussions on the road repair project Monday, Keys again voiced his displeasure at paying what he believes are steep inspection fees. He argued that Gallogly should be doing the inspection work, and maintains the change would save taxpayer money.

"I guess I just don't understand why we are paying $250 per day when we have a person on staff that can provide the inspection services," Keys said. "I don't understand the priorities."

That prompted City Manager Gary Word to state that despite Gallogly's engineering experience, he wasn't hired to perform inspections.

"I don't think it's fair to (Gallogly) to change the direction of his focus at this time," Word said. "I want to give him a chance to get to know his department and the city."

Mayor pro-tem Carolann Ayers agreed.

"I am reluctant to have our DPW director become the city engineer," Ayers said.

"I think we need to look at the job description and what we hired him to do."

Keys argued that not utilizing Gallogly's engineering experience would be a waste of taxpayer money.

"I think the time is here. He can save the taxpayers money," he said.

According to the bid tabulation provided by McNeely & Lincoln, 70 hours of inspection services will be provided – 40 hours at $250 per day and 30 hours overtime at $38 per hour – and will cost about $11,000 (about one-half percent of the total cost).

The fee, according Gallogly, is built into the bid package. He explained that McNeely & Lincoln provides the inspection services and bills the contractor.

The contractor, in turn, bills the city for the inspections, so long as they accomplish the work in the time specified by the contract.

Record history, make money at indexing position at library

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

If you or someone you know could use some extra cash and has a hankering for helping to perpetuate a community legacy, get to a phone and call the Northville District Library.

At stake is the future of an under-construction index of the 126 years of The Northville Record.

Library supporters in 1983 began a massive project: preserving on microfilm the pages of The Record since its inception in 1869. Their effort is up to date, with a century and a quarter of news on film and a plan to continue with current issues indefinitely.

A companion endeavor – creating bound index volumes for all those issues over all those years – is going slow, however. Not for lack of trying: the volunteers who give their time to pore over Record issues have spent thousands of hours taking notes by hand, then entering the data on computer discs.

"The Northville Record is the longest continually published newspaper in the state," index volunteer Dolores Prom said. "It has a lot of historical information that's of interest not only to Northville people but also to people in surrounding communities."

The volunteers have 73 years of issues left to go through and the computer entries are eight years behind that. The pace is discouraging, Prom said, causing talk of dropping the project to surface.

"None of us are going to live long enough to see this done at the rate it's going," she said.

Hope springs eternal, however, this time in the form a $1,800 donation from the Friends of the Library. The library booster group's money will hire a typist to input handwritten index information into the computer. Prom said that the plan is to pay someone $6 an hour for as long as the money lasts. At three hours per week, the cash would last for 20 weeks.

The problem, though, is that so far there have been no takers, despite recruiting efforts at Northville High School. The volunteers are are looking for anyone who's interested.

"This is a community involvement project for the whole community," Prom said. "There are all kinds of applications for the index. Elementary school classes now include Northville's history, for example. Besides that, what if you want to know who Dunlap or Ely Street are named after? This is a way for people to learn about Northville's past."

If you think you may want the job, ask yourself if you fit the characteristics the volunteers are looking for:

- A good comfort level with computers.
- Keyboard accuracy and speed.
- The ability to be consistent in following the data entry format.
- The ability to analyze article topics and assign them into one or several subject headings.
- Tenacity and persistence.

Think you've got what it takes? Then call the library at 349-3020 and leave your name, telephone number and a time to call.

And remember – "We're always looking for more volunteers," Prom said.

Anyone who wants to donate money or time to the index project is always welcome, she continued, and should call the library for more information.

Harvest Festival on park's fall agenda

The 5th Annual Harvest Festival will be held on Sunday, Oct. 8, from noon-4 p.m. at Maybury State Park.

Harvest activities will include blacksmithing, wool spinning and weaving, rope making, basket weaving, corn harvesting and horsedrawn hayrides.

There will also be butter churning, cider pressing, corn shelling, hay maze and games area, and other traditional activities for the kids.

Farm related items such as pumpkins, corn stalks, apple cider and honey will be offered for sale, in addition to novelties, books, and shirts, at the Maybury gift store.

A $4 daily permit per vehicle is required for entry into the park. For more information call the park office at (810) 349-8390.

Art Market winners announced

Kristin K. Cooper, a Northville photographer, took one of the three cash prizes for her work in Art Market '95, which was held during the Victorian Festival Sept. 16 and 17.

Many of Cooper's photographs were shot on locations in the Northville area and offered an unusual view of familiar structures. Her work was selected on the basis of composition, interesting lighting and unusual subject matter.

Potter Carolyn Joseph of Eagleview Pottery Studio in West Bloomfield also won a cash prize. Her works displayed sophisticated colors and unique style with an absence of gimmicks. The juror, Christopher Milikian, considered her clay pieces works of art and not simply decorations. Cooper and Joseph each won $250 prizes.

The Arts Commission Art Market was successful again this year. Above, Commission member Marie Barr sells posters at one of the booths during the Victorian Festival.

The Michael Key Memorial Award, the best of show prize for $500, was awarded to Barbara Ragalyi of Milford for her serigraphs.

She was selected for the best overall imagery, presentation and choice of colors.

The juror for this year's best of show awards, Christopher Milikian, BFA, MFA, is an artist who teaches in Dearborn and has a studio in Melvindale. His works are in major collections including those of William Clay Ford and Ameritech.

Senate postpones vote on seniors' crime bill

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

The Michigan Senate Judiciary Committee delayed a final vote for two weeks on the "Rosa Parks Senior Citizen Violent Crime Prevention Act," a bill sponsored by Sen. Henry Stallings II.

Chair William Van Regenmorter, R-Jenison, said the bill needed some clarifying amendments but reported no major disagreements.

Named for the civil rights activist who was attacked in her Detroit home, the bill would provide stiffer penalties for defendants who commit felonies against senior citizens, defined as 60 or older.

For a felony committed outside the victim's home, the defendant would serve three years before serving the sentence for the "underlying" felony, such as robbery or assault. If the felony occurred in the victim's home, the bill calls for a five-year sentence.

"Senior citizens are one of the most susceptible groups to experience crime," Stallings said. "They are also increasing in their percentage of the U.S. population."

And that was the rub: How many inmates will be added to Michigan's 40,000-person prison system if the bills become law? Many lawmakers are resisting bills that will expand the Corrections Department budget.

A Senate Fiscal Agency analysis guessed the cost might be $3.8 million because 2.1 percent (86) of prison admissions in 1994 were for crimes against senior citizens. But that appeared to be a guess because the population brackets for crime victims were broken down at "65 and over" and "50-64," not at age 60 as in Stallings' bill.

Tougher laws sought against arsonists who set blazes that claim firefighters

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

An arsonist who kills a firefighter deserves more than five years in prison, says Karen Woodside, an assistant Wayne County prosecutor from Northville Township.

"Firefighters feel their lives are not valued as much as other folks," added Robert Shieko, another assistant Wayne County prosecutor from Oxford.

They led the parade in persuading the Senate Judiciary Committee to advance two bills tightening the state's criminal code, allowing arsonists to be charged with felony murder for burning non-dwelling buildings if someone is killed.

"It's about time," added Howell assistant fire chief Les Rodwell as the Senate committee on Sept. 26 gave both bills 7-0 bipartisan approval and sent them to the full Senate.

The bills are sponsored by Sens. Mike Rogers, R-Howell, and Joe Young Jr., D-Detroit. Area senators voting yes included Robert Geake, R-Northville, and Gary Peters, D-Bloomfield Township.

"They will restore the law to what we thought it was before 1993," said Woodside, who lost a case in the Michigan Supreme Court.

The high court said "arson" in the felony murder statute covers only dwellings. Woodside said it should be expanded to cover any building – abandoned houses, convention halls, theaters, public buildings, even campers and boats.

Rogers expects only "a few" cases each year, but the bills will tell public servants they are appreciated.

"It protects firefighters," said Rogers, citing the Reeves case that Woodside argued.

Last Jan. 31, the Supreme Court ruled 6-0 that Juma Reeves, Auneray Barber and Ronald Williams couldn't be charged with felony murder for deliberately torching an abandoned house in Detroit. Under common law, a building had to be a "dwelling" before arson could be charged.

The building, at 8340 Kenney, had been stripped of its foundation bricks – though not by the arsonists – and collapsed on a firefighter trainee, killing him.

When the prosecutor charged the three defendants with felony murder, Detroit Recorder's Judge Daphne Means Curtis reduced the charge to involuntary manslaughter.

Finally, Woodside said, Reeves pleaded guilty last week to second-degree murder after he was told he'd get a five-year sentence. The other two were released without bond for further proceedings.

"The death of a firefighter was worth only five years – minus good time," Woodside concluded.

She said the Rogers-Young bills allow prosecutors some discretion. For example, they wouldn't be applied to a man who used a blowtorch to thaw frozen water pipes and started a fatal blaze.

Fall is time to take flu prevention measures

By TAYLOR LINCOLN
Staff Writer

Are you elderly?
Do you have a heart condition?
Or a liver condition? Or asthma?

If you do, now is the time to launch a pre-emptive strike against the flu.

Or, more accurately, it's time to submit to a pre-emptive shot — a flu shot.

Flu shots are vaccines that protect people from contracting viruses that cause influenza, often known as "the flu."

The flu, which spreads quickly from one person to another, causes weakness, coughs, headaches, chills, and fevers in its victims. It is a mild disease for most people, but can be life-threatening for elderly people and those with chronic illnesses, according to literature provided by the Oakland County Health Division.

Flu is caused by constantly changing viruses. Health experts evaluate flu viruses every year to determine which ones to protect against.

Flu shots contain small amounts of "killed" viruses of strains that are expected to be prevalent in the upcoming year. The flu shots build up the body's resistance to the various strain viruses without causing the illness.

"It's not live virus. You might get symptoms...but you can't get flu from the shot," said Dr. Carolyn Bird, Chief of Health Services for Oakland County. "Some people might have a few effects (from the flu shots), but they're usually short-lived."

Flu shots are inexpensive, involving a shot into the muscle of the upper arm. This year's flu shots will protect against three strains of the flu, which are expected to be the predominant flu viruses this year.

"As far as you can tell there's not going to be any major change," Bird said.

The so-called flu season runs roughly from December through March. Flu shots should be administered about a month before the beginning of the flu season, Bird said

The Oakland County Health Division is offering flu shots for $3 Monday-Friday. The nearest clinic to South Lyon is located at 27725 Greenfield in Southfield. Call 810-424-7090 for hours of operation and directions.

HEALTH NOTE

by Dennis E. Engerer, P.T.
IT'S NEVER TOO LATE
Although weightlifting is generally associated with young, toned bodies, this form of exercise is not reserved solely for the young. Proof of this comes from a study recently published in the New England Journal of Medicine in which a group of 100 elderly men and women (average age 87) more than doubled their lower body muscle strength after partaking of a ten-week program of intensive weight-lifting. As a result of having done various leg lifts, the study's participants could walk faster, climb stairs more easily, and engage more frequently in spontaneous activity than nonparticipants. This shows that those who are willing to work at physical exercise can effect a healthier aging process for themselves.
The time to start exercising and weight training is now. No matter your age or your previous activity level, you can become physically fit. Weight training is important because strong muscles help support the joints, allowing you to bend and move more freely when engaging in aerobic activities like walking, running, swimming, and bicycling. For more information about starting a weight training program, call Northville Physical Therapy & Rehabilitation Inc. at 349-3816, or see us at 332 E. Main Street, Suite A.
P.S. Strong muscles adjacent to joints reduce strain on the joints, leading to decreased pain and inflammation due to arthritis.

Mill Race Matters

Another Tivoli Fair has past. Special thanks to the many members and friends who donated time and energy to make this year's 26th annual Fair a success. Thanks also to Northville Downs and its staff for continuing to provide the Fair with such an accommodating facility.

Mill Race Village remains open each Sunday from 1 until 4 p.m. through the end of October. Docents are still needed to work some Sundays. Contact 348-1845 to volunteer.

The Village will also be open Saturday, Nov. 18, and Sunday, Nov. 19, from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. for its Christmas Walk. This year buildings will be decorated by some local florists and decorators providing a new look for these historic buildings. Thanks go to the Mother's Club Alumni for coordinating this decorating effort.

In previous columns, maps of this community have been highlighted. The earliest map of the Village was the plat created by Daniel Cady and William Dunlap in 1840.

The earliest map of the region was drawn by surveyor Bela Hubbard probably when the section was divided in 1818. Unfortunately Hubbard didn't date his map, the copy of which exists today with later edited features probably added in about 1850.

The penciled in additions show Northville as a village of about 28 buildings which include two mills. Waterford, later called Mead's Mill, is shown with seven structures, one of which is a mill.

Hubbard's depiction identifies timbered areas and the type of tree present. Trees present then were oak, maple, Lynn, elm, beech. Gravelly elevated ridges appear throughout the region. The later additions also identify early land owners such as Joseph Yerkes, William Yerkes, Pitt Taft, Caleb Harrington, Roscranz Holmes, and David Gregory.

A copy of the map has been reprinted on the front cover of Jack Hoffman's Northville ... The First One Hundred Years which can be borrowed from the Northville Public Library.

Northville U-M Club plans full year of events

Anyone in the area who has an affinity for the University of Michigan and is interested in sports, cultural events, scholarships, or is just interested in making new friends will be happy to know that the U of M Club of Northville is planning an event-packed year.

The first sport event planned is the U of M/Minnesota Homecoming game on Oct. 28. Tickets are available through the club and parties are planned. A limited supply of tickets for U of M/Minnesota game are still available. The cost is $25. Call Rich Potchynuk, day: (313) 451-4760, or evening: (810) 348-7693.

The 3rd Annual U of M/MSU Pre-Game Bash will be Friday, Nov. 3, at the American Legion Hall in Northville. Anyone (including MSU fans) who would like to help with the party can call Kevin O'Connell, day: (810) 380-3978, or evening: (810) 348-1840. Mark your calendar and reserve your place.

Those of a more cultural bent will not be forgotten in October either. The Club is offering tickets to Withering Heights, at the Power Center in Ann Arbor on Oct. 22. Tickets for this performance are available from Ed Rennell, day: (810) 471-5838, or evening: (810) 478-1866. Other cultural events are:

Nov. 19 – A Midsummer Night's Dream, Power Center, Ann Arbor.

April 21 – Grand Hotel, Power Center, Ann Arbor.

The Scholarship Committee will meet for an orientation Jan. 30, 1996. Those interested in interviewing local high school students for U of M Club scholarships or for the Regents' Scholarship should call Martha Nield, (810) 349-1079.

Membership in the club is open to U of M alumni and friends from Northville and local communities. Memberships for 1995-96 will be accepted but are going fast. Call Lou LaChance day: (810) 305-9908, or evening: (810) 348-9077.

NORTHVILLE TALK OF THE WEEK

By Robert Jackson

I wonder a lot.

Every day I grab a cup of coffee from Caffe Bravo and stand along the railing at the MainCentre and watch Northville pass me by. I do my best thinking on this corner, and have come up with quite a few story ideas.

This habit has also resulted in a simple question asked by the many people I talk to on the street.

"Bob. What are you thinking about?" they ask.

Actually I ponder a lot of things during these coffee breaks. For instance, I would like to know why three of the four sides at the intersection of Main and Center have brick crosswalks. What about the fourth side? Did we run out of bricks?

And why do people say we have a major parking problem in Northville when the brand new parking decks are always devoid of autos? Don't get me wrong, it's a great place for kids to skateboard, which is exactly what many of our youths use the vacant lot for.

Speaking of youths. Wouldn't it be nice to have a teen center for the kids? I think we should all get together and figure out how we can make that a reality.

I ponder the ramifications of major national news events as well. Are Johnnie Cochran's socks as weird as his ties? Are sequestered jurors allowed to have pizza delivered? Are there people out there who still believe that the moon landings were a hoax?

I also spend time ruminating about personal things. Why are people always trying to fix me up with one of their female friends? I think I can probably get a date on my own, but heck, even my grandfather has been trying to set me up with a woman who lives in Mississippi. I'm beginning to wonder whether they are all feeling sorry for me, like I was some sort of poster child for an unlucky singles club.

Other things have me entranced as well:

I wish Northville City Manager Gary Word would let me do a feature story about him – he's done some great work for this city, and I believe it should not go unnoticed. Then I'd be able to pen this great headline for the story: "Gary's the Word in Northville."

I'd love to do a point-counterpoint column with Chuck Keys. I think we could have a great time with that.

I wish everyone was more like Marlene Kunz. It doesn't matter what your current station in life is, she'd be there to help if you needed it.

The list is endless, and changes with every cup of coffee.

So I guess if you really want to know what's on my mind, all you have to do is ask.

SILENCE IS A DEAFENING SOUND! Don't ask me to explain that, I just threw it out there for you to think about. Anyway, it's that time again. Time for the joyous, sometimes witty, sometimes not, almost always friendly, and occasionally bordering on the absurd, weekly fare we humanely call Talk of the Week.

Our travels this week take us far away from the courtroom in Los Angeles, where you will not hear the names Johnnie, Artie, and Marsha. We won't mention elections, candidates, or that most dreaded term, campaign promise.

We will give you one last glimpse of the fun and frolic of Homecoming, take you out for that last round of golf, and fix you up with some real good tailgate food – compliments of my buddy, Lou.

So, faithful readers, I once again provide you with this most humble offering.

Enjoy!

HOMECOMING CHALLENGE: Despite the Mustang's Homecoming defeat Friday night, the Students Against Drunk Driving will be receiving a pretty nifty donation on behalf of the football team.

Nine people took up the challenge I issued last week, and will be joining me in donating money to the program. Bob and Charlene Frellick; Harry Joboulian; R.J. Casterline; Ruth Atchison; Charlie Stilec; Michael and Andrew Baldwin (the two brothers are donating money from their piggy banks); and Stan Szostek all took part in the challenge.

We were able to raise about $150 for SADD, and the donation will take place sometime next week.

Thanks go to the entire Mustang football team for its effort on the field, and to the above mentioned contributors for the efforts off the field!

SPEAKING OF HOMECOMING: Talk about school spirit. I had the privilege of attending the Homecoming pep rally Friday afternoon, and I enjoyed watching the festivities – I had forgotten how loud kids can be, and by the time the pep rally was over my ears were ringing!

Plenty of students were recognized for scholastic and athletic achievement, and of course no Homecoming pep rally would be complete without the selection of the King and Queen.

NHS Senior Amy Kohl was chosen Homecoming Queen (Amy's mom Judy Kohl almost jumped through the roof), and for the first time in the school's history, there was a tie in the selection of the King – Seniors Jeff Nield and Dwayne Nawrocki shared that honor.

We need to mention the rest of the court as well:

Freshmen – J. Albert De Los Santos and Christina Chase, Josh Fellwock and Kelly DeLeonardis, and Kevin Wood and Kristin Gaitley.

Sophomores – Andy Davis and Corinne Atty, Matt Gillis and Suzanne George, and Adam Tibble and Liz Sant.

Juniors – Ross Baker and Alyssa DeMattos, Andy Fee and Jenny McMullen, and Mike McBride and Erin Tovey.

Seniors – Justin Lee and Becky Engle, Eric Moore and Laura Genitti, King Dwayne Nawrocki and Katie Johnson, King Jeff Nield and Chrissy Kapusky, Tom Willerer and Queen Amy Kohl, and Kaoru Yoshida and Sharon Murphy.

YEP, WERE STILL TALKING HOMECOMING: You can't talk Homecoming without mentioning the parade. About 400 to 500 people lined the streets of Northville Friday evening to catch a peek at the NHS Band, class floats, and Homecoming court.

Even with the various construction projects taking place – library construction and road work – the parade encountered no problems on its way to the football field. Northville police were able to keep traffic flowing smoothly, and reported no problems.

The Senior Class won the float competition with their "circus under the big top" approach – they even had a working canon. But my favorite was the Junior Class elephant that had a movable trunk. All the classes did a great job in decorating their floats!

FORE! Northville resident and business owner Ed Jamieson finds his way back in our column this week. Ed recently took part in the annual Detroit Red Wing Golf Tournament and his team finished second.

The big news, however, is that Ed nearly scored a hole-in-one – his shot landed four inches from the cup – which would have made him the proud owner of a $45,000 Mercedes Benz. Talk about close!

TAILGATE TALES: Received an interesting suggestion from HomeTown Newspapers Executive Editor Phil Jerome last week.

Phil must have liked my column a few weeks back in which I admitted leaving the University of Michigan football game early. He suggested that I find out how many of you maize and blue fans tailgate before and after the Wolverine home games.

At the time I thought it might be kind of interesting, but after this past weekend – during my travel to Ann Arbor to watch U-M beat Miami of Ohio – I found there are plenty of Northville residents who host tailgate parties.

Last week Bryan Mitchell, his wife Alice, and I hung out with Northville businessman Lou LaChance, who has been a Michigan tailgate veteran for more than 20 years. We had a great time, and Lou was a most gracious and energetic host.

I'd like to find out how many Northville residents take part in the tailgate tradition. Give me a call at 349-1700, or drop me a note. I'll mention you in an upcoming column.

Rivers to sponsor conference for senior citizens

U.S. Rep. Rivers is co-hosting a conference for seniors along with other elected officials.

The conference, A Time for Seniors, will held Saturday, Oct. 28, from 8:30 a.m.-noon at the Maplewood Community Center, 31735 Maplewood in garden City. The event is free and the public is invited to attend.

The half-day conference promises to be useful, enlightening and enjoyable. It will cover such topics as wills, long term care, Social Security, and personal safety.

As part of the program, Congresswoman Rivers will discuss pending federal legislation – such as Medicare and Medicaid cuts – which will affect seniors. A community resource fair is planned. To round out the day, seniors will have a number of workshops.

Congresswoman Rivers said, "At A Time for Seniors, the public will be able to learn from experts about seniors' legal rights. I believe it is our responsibility as legislators to not only make the laws, but to keep citizens abreast of them."

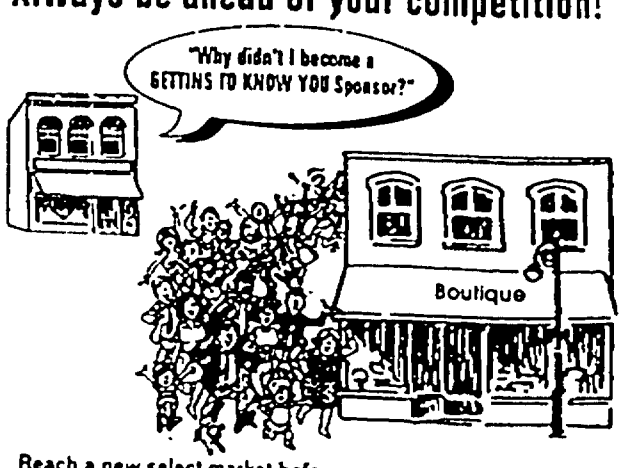

Rivers represents Northville Township and the Wayne County portion of Northville city in the House of Representatives.

A Time for Seniors is modeled after the Aging Toward the Future conference.

Law's bill would prohibit charging for autographs

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Baseball fans aren't the only ones ticked off at the Major Leagues these days.

State Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, has introduced a bill in the Michigan House that would make it a crime for active professional athletes to charge for their autographs.

The measure came in response to the state's commitment in helping the Detroit Tigers build a new downtown stadium. Law said he's also been irked at players for years.

"It's unconscionable to charge kids for your autograph," he commented. "This is my own little protest."

The measure, which has been referred to committee, would make getting paid for your John Hancock a misdemeanor. The measure wouldn't affect retired ballplayers.

The Tigers, City of Detroit and the state recently agreed to collaborate on a new home for the American League club. If all goes as planned, the stadium will be located in team owner Mike Ilitch's Fox Town district near Woodward.

The park would cost in excess of $225 million, most of which would come out of Ilitch's own pocket. The City of Detroit and the state both agreed, however, to make contributions.

The state's share is reported to be $55 million. By using the state Strategic Fund, which draws proceeds from Indian-run gambling casinos, the money does not have to be approved by the Michigan Legislature.

"This is my protest against public financing of a stadium," Law said.

Law, who represents Northville Township and the Wayne County portion of Northville city in the House, introduced a similar bill five years ago but it died in committee. Chances are this new measure will meet the same fate.

"We've got a lot more important issues to debate," Law admitted. "But we could look at it next year if there's time."

If by some twist the bill ends up as law, it likely wouldn't affect local businesses – namely the baseball card industry.

Jeff Patterson, manager of Northville Township's Comic Archives, gave his endorsement to the bill.

"The players make millions," he said. "I think it's a good idea."

State Rep. Gerry Law

Most small dealers like Comic Archives don't sell much in the way of autographed materials. Patterson said they are very difficult to authenticate.

"It wouldn't affect us at all," Patterson said of the bill.

Geake names aide to administrative post

The 9th Michigan Senate District gains a highly experienced administrative assistant with the recent promotion of Bill Kordenbrock, Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, announced.

Kordenbrock, who has been a legislative specialist for Geake for more than five years, will now take on the additional duties of administrative assistant to the senator.

"I am very pleased to have Bill as my right-hand man," Geake stated. "He has worked hard for me and for the people of my district for many years now. He has certainly earned this promotion and I know my constituents will be even better served by this change."

Kordenbrock received his juris doctor from Cooley Law School this May, graduating ninth in his class. He carries the distinction of winning several American Jurisprudence awards in the pursuit of his law degree, while simultaneously serving in Geake's office.

"Bill is a real go-getter and I'm lucky to have him," said Geake. "Bill was invaluable to me during the creation of Michigan's anti-stalking legislation, and now we're working on revamping the Friend of the Court system."

Kordenbrock has been working in governmental affairs since a summer internship program in Washington, D.C., in 1984.

Obituaries

WILLIAM C. HUTCHISON

William Charles Hutchison, age 83 of Northville, went home to be with his Heavenly Father on Sept. 27, 1995. He was born in Burlingame, Kan., on Nov. 15, 1911, to Peter and Elizabeth (Harper) Kozlouski.

Mr. Hutchison was a resident of Northville since 1984. Prior to that, he lived in Lake City, Mich.

He retired from Ford Motor Co. vehicle resident engineering activity in 1968. While at Ford he was the inventor of the bubble gauge which was used to set vehicle suspension alignment.

He is survived by his wife of 61 years, Juanita D. (Beattie); daughters, Patricia S. (Richard) Allen of Northville and Judith L. (John) Walker of Lancaster, Ohio; sisters, Jean Mack of Livonia and Marian Zieba of Durand; brother, Peter Kozlouski of Fruitland Park, Fla.; four grandchildren, James, John, Steven and William; and two great-grandchildren, Adam and Korina.

A service was held Sept. 30 at the First Baptist Church of Northville with Rev. Stephen Sparks, Rev. Raymond Bayne of Hastings, and Rev. William Vanden Bosch of Grand Rapids officiating. Interment was at White Chapel Cemetery in Troy.

Arrangements were made by Northrop-Sassaman Funeral home, Northville.

At the request of the family, memorial tributes may be given to Arbor Hospice, 3810 Packard, Ann Arbor, MI 48108.

DIANNE M. NYSTROM

Dianne M. (DeSmit) Nystrom was born in Detroit on Nov. 24, 1950, to Edward J. and Anne M. (Manley) DeSmit. She died at her home in Northville Sept. 26, 1995.

Mrs. Nystrom worked as a credit analyst in the automobile supply field.

She is survived by her husband, Carl; two children, Conway and Brianne McJenkin; sisters, Mary Ann, Margie and Marilynne; and brother, John.

Services were held on Thursday, Sept. 28, at Northrop-Sassaman Funeral Home with the Rev. Dr. Gary Johnson and the Rev. Peggy Rose from Antioch Lutheran Church of Farmington Hills officiating.

FRANCIS A. KORTE

Francis A. Korte of Novi died at home on Sept. 27, 1995. He was born in Dearborn on Aug. 14, 1929, to Aloysius and Clara (Kramer) Korte. He was 66.

Mr. Korte lived in the area most of his life. He was self-employed and a 40-year member of Our Lady of Victory Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mary Sue (Curnutte); daughters, Karen Marie May of Lewiston and Debra Ann Brewer of Novi; sons, Thomas Steven of Fowlerville and Philip William of Novi; sisters, Marion Stein of Gregory and Dorothy Wojciechowski of Cedar, Mich.; brothers, Aloysius of Presque Isle and Charles of Whitmore Lake; and six grandchildren.

A service was held Oct. 2 at Our Lady of Victory Church with Father Alberto Bondy officiating. Interment was at Rural Hill Cemetery in Northville.

LLOYD A. MORGAN

Lloyd A. Morgan of Farmington died Sept. 30, 1995, at Botsford General Hospital, Farmington Hills. He was 78. Mr. Morgan was born in Minneapolis, Minn., on Sept. 12, 1917, to Myron Madison and Helen (Demski) Morgan.

He moved to the Farmington area in 1949 and was a retired printer. His memberships included V.F.W. Post No. 4012 and American Legion Post No. 14, both of Northville.

His survivors include his wife, Betty (Bigelow); daughters, Pamela Dietz of Redford, Patti Douglas of Plymouth, and Penny Eaves of South Lyon; three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

A service was held on Tuesday, Oct. 3, at Casterline Funeral home Inc. in Northville. Officiating at the service was the Chaplain from V.F.W. Post No. 4012.

Interment was at Rural Hill Cemetery, Northville.

CATHERINE E. CUNNINGHAM

Catherine E. (Mullen) Cunningham, age 69 of the Northville area, died Sept. 26, 1995, at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. She was born in Washington, Ind., on July 16, 1926, to William and Bridget (Madden) Mullen.

Mrs. Cunningham was a resident of the area for 30 years and was retired from Michigan Bell. She was a member of the Disabled American Veterans and the American Legion.

Her survivors include her husband, Buford; daughter, Kimberly of Northville; sisters, Ann James of Indiana, Jean Malone of Florida, and Betty, Fran, and Margie Mullen of Indiana; and three grandchildren.

Services were held on Saturday, Sept. 30, at Casterline Funeral Home Inc. in Northville, with Fr. Todd Lajtness of Our Lady of Victory Church officiating. Interment was at United Memorial Gardens, Salem Township.

ROBERT G. MYERS

Robert Glenn Myers, former resident of Northville, died Oct. 2, 1995, at Presbyterian Village East of New Baltimore. Mr. Myers, 79, was born on Jan. 28, 1916, in Iron Mountain to Glenn H. and Minna (Baab) Myers.

Before retirement, he was a chemical engineer with the Kerr Machinery Co. He was a graduate of Michigan State University and a member of Alpha Chi Sigma.

Surviving Mr. Myers are his wife, June; son, Lawrence R.; daughter, Linda J.; grandchildren, Debra Waite, Steven Myers, Jenny Lessard, Amy, Andy, and Jeff Sirpilla; four great-grandchildren, Emily, Ryan and Julia Waite and Nadine Lessard.

A memorial service will be held at the First Presbyterian Church of Northville, 200 E. Main Street on Friday, Oct. 6, at 1 p.m., with the Rev. James Russell officiating.

Interment will be at Grand Lawn Cemetery in Detroit.

Arrangements were made by the Northrop-Sassaman Funeral Home of Northville.

Recreation youth program wins grant

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

The Northville Gets Michigan Youth Moving program will get a helping hand from the Northville Parks and Recreation Commission, and is one step closer to becoming a reality.

According to Parks and Recreation Director Traci Johnson, the program will receive a $5,000 grant from the Michigan Recreation and Park Association (MRPA). The association notified Johnson that the grant was approved Sept. 28.

The grant money will be used for the recreation portion of the innovative after-school program that targets middle school at-risk youths not currently involved in organized activities within existing recreational programs, according to Johnson.

The program recently received a thumbs up from the Northville City Council. The council voted to approve a $500 contribution to the program that will take place one day per week at the Recreation Center. The funding is contingent upon submission of a complete program outline to the city.

> "We are pleased to have the opportunity to take part in a program that is a collaborative effort with the city of Northville, the Community Commission On Drug Abuse, and various youth agencies within the community."
> –Traci Johnson
> Parks and Recreation Director

"We are pleased to have the opportunity to take part in a program that is a collaborative effort with the city of Northville, the Community Commission On Drug Abuse (CCODA), and various youth agencies within the community," Johnson said.

The program is being sponsored by the Northville Youth Forum, with cooperation from CCODA, Northville Parks and Recreation and the Northville Action Council.

Johnson said the recreation portion of the program will consist of instruction in volleyball, basketball, in-line roller hockey, and floor hockey.

The other facets of the program include homework tutoring, peer counseling, conflict resolution methods, substance abuse counseling, health instruction, CPR classes, and instruction in muscle strengthening. The program will be scheduled from January through May of next year.

According to CCODA administrator Jacque Martin-Downs, the program will teach young people about healthy choices.

"(The program) cannot rely on drug education and exercise alone," she said. "This program will provide life-skills training, character education, adventure challenges and introduce middle schoolers to drug-free alternatives and interests.

"When these elements are in place, more young people will feel safe to examine the fundamentals of drug education without feeling as though the framework of their opinions is being pulled out from under them," Downs added.

About 125 to 150 youths are expected to be enrolled in the program.

Forest fills with 'madness' later this month

Ghouls and goblins don't normally lurk in the forests of Maybury State Park but all that will change Oct. 27 and 28.

The sixth annual Haunted Forest walk, known as "Maybury Madness," will consist of a guided tour along a path where participants will experience scary Halloween encounters. The event will provide a unique, fun activity for the youths of Northville. The Haunted Forest is sponsored by the Northville Parks and Recreation Department.

Advance ticket sales went on sale Monday. Space is limited. Tickets are $7 and include admission to the park. All profits will be donated to Northville Parks and Recreation projects.

Only those with tickets will be admitted. Any remaining tickets will be available at the gate the night of the event.

Tickets will be on sale at Northville Parks and Recreation, 303 W. Main Street, during normal business hours.

Groups interested in participating in the Haunted Forest may do so in a variety of ways:

- Create and operate a Haunted Forest "scene." A reimbursement of up to $50 for supplies is available.
- Volunteer at the event. Security, guides, ticket takers and refreshment servers are needed.
- Financial contribution. Used to purchase masks, makeup, costumes, equipment, printing costs.

Call the rec department at 349-0203 for information.

Sex offender jailed for 45 more days

By SHARON CONDRON
Staff Writer

Darrin Redden, the twice convicted sex offender who approached a 12-year-old girl in Novi two weeks ago, will serve 45 more days in Western Wayne Correctional Facility for violating the terms of his parole.

Redden, was picked up in Novi on Sept. 15 after he reportedly approached the girl en route to Northville's Cooke Middle School and asked her if "she wanted to make some money."

The girl rejected and reported Redden's advances to school administrators who relayed the information to police.

Redden was picked up 24 hours later by Novi Police Officer Scott Tewes when the suspect was spotted in the same car and in the same location. Police impounded his blue Ford Escort, in which police found pornographic materials, teddy bears, dolls, and child sized sun glasses.

The 28 year-old Commerce Township resident was taken into custody for a technical violation of the terms of his parole. He was paroled in August

Lt. David Butler said Redden appeared before an Oakland County Parole board on Sept. 21 on the violation.

His parole officer, Ken Jones, testified that one of the terms of the suspect's parole was that he was to avoid contact with juveniles, the lieutenant said. It wasn't a term written into the parole agreement, Butler said, but was a verbal condition of his being set free. Whether it's enough evidence to return Redden to jail on a third conviction remains to be seen, Butler said.

A second hearing is scheduled for later this month to determine just that.

According to the Michigan Department of Corrections, Redden, a 160-pound, 5-foot-11 inches, white male, was convicted of indecent exposure in January and September of 1993.

Both incidences occurred in Oakland County in 1992. He was sentenced to serve one to 20 years for each count, but served only two years on both charges.

Police are urging parents to be cautious, but mindful that the suspect is in custody.

A benefit for women's, children's and infants' health

Family Tradition.

Every family has its traditions. Gathering for Sunday dinner. Marking anniversaries and celebrating birthdays. Unfortunately, some families share more than happy times ... they also share the risk of certain illnesses.

Breast cancer—which now strikes one in nine American women—is among them. If your mother, grandmother, aunt or sister has been diagnosed with this disease, your doctor probably has explained the added risk you face. But unlike women in past generations, you can put time and technology on your side.

We at the Marian Women's Center, St. Mary Hospital, encourage you to see your doctor regularly whatever your age and, once you reach 40, to see us for a mammogram. Our mammography services are designed to give you peace of mind by bringing together certified radiologists and staff, personalized education and high-tech imaging equipment approved by the American College of Radiologists.

Make mammography and regular breast exams a new family tradition. For more facts on mammography services and other programs at the Marian Women's Center just call us at (313) 591-3314.

BACKWARD GLANCE

. . . at Northville's past
by Randy Coble

What was news in Northville in decades past, as recorded in the pages of 126 years of The Northville Record?

125 YEARS AGO: The then Wayne County Record was published bi-weekly in 1870. "Our aim is the people's welfare," Editor and Publisher Samuel H. Little proclaimed on the paper's masthead.

Topping page one of the Oct. 1 issue was a report from the British War Department about a new no-rail train. A possible precursor of the modern tank, it traveled via steam "on Indian-rubber tires wrapped around the wheels" and could go on any road. Of more local import was the merger of the Jackson and Horton Drug Stores in Northville into one firm of the same name.

Then there was the light-hearted story of an elderly Massachusetts couple playing tit-for-tat. The man, to get back at his wife for years of nagging, sold her antique gold watch in Boston for revenge. She in turn stole his false teeth that night as he slept.

The ads that week included pitches for "lung balsalm" as a cough cure and Job Moses' Female pills, guaranteed to handle "all of those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject."

If that didn't work, though, a Dr. Kennedy assured readers his solution "developed from a common pasture weed" cured everything from pimples to "biles" to "kidney degeneration."

75 YEARS AGO: The front page of the Oct. 8, 1920, now Northville Record featured an ad from the Northville Drug Store on E. Main for "complexion helps that really help."

How times change. The creams and lotions at the store would be sure "to keep the complexion clear and white," doing away with any unwanted tan.

And how the times don't change. An article warned consumers to be wary when purchasing one of those new-fangled horseless carriages "because the age of used cars is often confused."

In more serious news, the paper proclaimed that the recently-concluded annual "Northville Wayne County Fair" had been a rousing success. Some of the reasons why included a first-rate cattle and swine exhibit by Chasien Farms and "a very creditable" display of farm implements by H.J. Fisher of Plymouth.

Huff Hardware hawked the "motorized high-speed washer" which was sure to grant women "freedom from hours of slop and steam." That would give them more time to shop for dresses, bloomers and "nemo corsets" at Ponsford's department store.

The weekly "poultry page" offered tips to keep chicks healthy and happy. An editorial urged America and Europe, then embroiled in World War I, to work together to ensure that peace would come to the world and remain for years to come.

Writer Anatole France penned a piece whose title current-day Republican Presidential candidate Bob Dole would like – "Constant assault of immigrants on the English language in America."

"Americans are an expressive people," France decided, "so far from allowing such a splendid medium of expression as the English language to deteriorate they are enriching it with their own raciness."

35 YEARS AGO: Dole might also take exception to a point of view about English expressed by representatives of the National Education Association in the Oct. 6, 1960, issue of the The Northville Record.

"Learning to spell English is hard," the organization opined. "Johnny would have a much easier time of it with Spanish or Finnish, which are much more constant in their rules."

Readers no doubt turned to The Record's lead story that week, however, as one sure to take their breath away. Northville Public Schools' new adult education program "to date has 42 definite applicants."

Novi Road was in the process of being paved. The City Council approved the installation of sewers and curbs on Orchard, High, Walnut, East and Elm Streets. "The still-fermenting Cuba crisis" was the subject of the Northville Women's Club lunch that month.

An ad for the new 1961 Oldsmobile pitched its "skyrocket engine" and "all-new hydra-matic with accel-a-rotor action." Next to it was offered the newest modern convenience – the gas range.

The Penn Theater in Plymouth was showing Paul Newman's From the Terrace and Northville's P &A Theater featured The Time Machine.

One in eight American women will develop breast cancer...
If it's found early, about 90% of them will survive

The key to beating breast cancer is finding it before it spreads. While it's still 90% curable. With the best chance of saving the breast.

At Providence, we're committed to providing a quality program to screen for breast cancer and teach women about breast examinations using:

- low-dose radiation
- fully accredited mammography equipment
- specially trained radiologists and technologists
- four locations with convenient hours
- acceptance of most insurance plans

Providence provides all the care you need if the diagnosis is breast cancer, from surgery, radiation and chemotherapy to reconstructive surgery. A multidisciplinary working group of physicians and other health care professionals assists patients in deciding which treatment is best for them, then streamlines that treatment so care can begin in a matter of days rather than weeks.

Providence oncologists have access to the latest cancer-fighting drugs and treatment protocols through membership in several national research organizations. The Hospital's radiation oncology program is affiliated with University of Michigan, bringing state-of-the-art care right here for Providence patients.

And we offer something more: The support, care and compassion cancer patients and their families need at a time that challenges body, mind and spirit.

Please call one of our four locations to begin your breast care program today. And practice it for life.

Suspect charged in foot fondler case

car. He then took off again but not before another woman managed to note his license plate number.

That plate number belongs to Dull, said Detective Fred Yankee, who praised the woman's efforts.

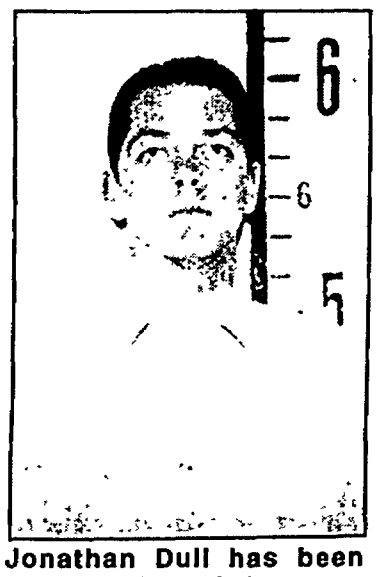

"That's all it took, someone getting a plate and calling us. That's what allowed us to get onto him. It was a tremendous investigative lead," Yankee said.

Anyone who sees or suspects suspicious activities of any kind should always call township police at 349-9400 or 911 to report it, Yankee said.

"That's what we're here for. If it turns out to be nothing, no problem," he said.

Police then tracked down the Ferndale resident, who surrendered voluntarily to Yankee at police headquarters on Sept. 27. He was arraigned later that day in 35th District Court. Judge John MacDonald entered a plea of not guilty on his behalf, set bond at $100 and ordered him to have no contact with the leasing agent.

Dull faces a pre-trial hearing in McDonald's courtroom on Oct. 20. If convicted of the charge he could be forced to pay a fine of $500 and serve 90 days in jail.

Jonathan Dull has been charged with misdemeanor assault and battery.

Five candidates file in city races

Johnson said. "There are changes that are going to take place in the horse racing industry that will effect the Downs, and subsequently effect us as well."

Mayoral candidate Paul Folino agrees that there are challenges to be met. As a councilman for more than 20 years, Folino would like to continue to take an active part in the growth of Northville.

"I would like to lead Northville into the next century in a proactive way – not reactive," Folino said. "I love Northville and I enjoy working with the people of this community.

"By running for mayor I can continue to take part in the positive changes we've seen lately in Northville," he added.

The council race introduces a couple of newcomers to Northville politics. Tom Swigart, who is currently a member of the city planning commission, said he would bring some alternative thinking to the council if elected.

"There are so many things going on and there needs to be some alternative ideas brought into the public forum," he said.

"The community needs to become more involved in the process. I am impressed with the amount of energy of the people that are doing things for this community," Swigart added. "Unfortunately these people represent small factions, and I think we need to work on bringing these groups together and using that energy to affect positive change."

Incumbent Ayers believes the city needs to continue to move forward in a controlled fashion.

"We need to keep the downtown viable and we need to continue our efforts in keeping the infrastructure sound," she said.

She also agreed that the city needs to continue its financial planning efforts to keep Northville out of deficit situations.

"After this (latest) financial audit I think it's obvious we have to look at our financial situation," she said. "There needs to be long range planning to keep ahead of the changing situation."

"We've got challenges ahead, and I'm looking forward to working with the council and city administration to meet those challenges," Ayers added.

Roxanne Casterline has spent her entire life in Northville and said that deciding to run for city council was an extension of her involvement in the community.

"I've always been involved. I've lived here all of my life and benefited from the good things this community has to offer," she said. "My candidacy represents a new level of involvement, and is a new challenge for me to accept.

"Because of all the good things Northville gave me when I was growing up, I believe it's time for me to increase my involvement and give back to the community," Casterline said.

For Johnson running for his fifth term was an easy decision to make.

"I really enjoy everything that I do in this community," he said "I enjoy getting involved, and the people make it fun to be the mayor.

"It can be hard work at times but when you have a community that is so involved it's enjoyable," he said.

Music Boosters plan pop can drive

The Northville High School Music Boosters Club is sponsoring a pop can drive on Saturday, Oct. 7.

Students will be collecting door to door in the neighborhood.

Additional donations are appreciated and can be dropped off at the A&P on Seven mile Road. Revenue from this drive goes to support the various music programs at Northville High School.

Rural Hill work to wait on cleanup of contaminants the wells, no timeframe was given, according to Gallogly. Work on the wells could begin right away if the contract is approved.

SME had submitted a contract to conduct hydrogeological investigative work which includes drilling of soil borings, testing the ground water for contaminants and determining the direction of the underground water flow.

The entrance is graded once a month, but poor drainage is causing the damage, according to Gallogly.

When Northville Laboratories Inc., which owns the parcel to the west of the cemetery, and the City of Northville began to pursue a property switch, Northville Laboratories commissioned a survey to learn if the property was a possible problem site from the contamination.

"It was very common and a prudent thing for them to do," said Gallogly.

Northville Laboratories has plans to put in a parking lot on property owned by the city, while the city wants to put in a street to the cemetery on property Northville Laboratories owns.

"Our plans are to put a nice paved road into the cemetery when the contamination is cleaned up," said Gallogly.

No work on the roads inside the cemetery has been approved by the city council.

"I would support fixing the roads inside the cemetery," Gallogly said, "but it would happen incrementally. It could minimize future maintenance and there would be a cost advantage to sealing it up."

> "Our plans are to put a nice paved road into the cemetery when the contamination is cleaned up."
> – Jim Gallogly, DPW director

The cost or extent of the clean up of the contamination will not be known until SME completes its report.

The DNR has changed its requirements to include sealing the top of the contaminated property with concrete to prevent water from spreading the contaminants, according to Gallogly, which in this case may be an alternative to completely removing all the contaminants.

Northville Laboratories owns two plants, one in Northville and the other in Detroit. Its Northville location, which staffs 12 employees, houses the headquarters and the manufacturing and bulk packaging of flavors for the food industry.

Several letters to the editor in The Northville Record made city officials aware of the state of disrepair of the gravel entrance to the cemetery.

Repairs to the entrance of Rural Hill cemetery won't take place until the site's cleaned up.

Venerable cemetery has long history

The Rural Hill Cemetery Association started Rural Hill Cemetery on Dec. 17, 1885. On May 28, 1948, the association sold the cemetery to the Village of Northville.

Portions of the cemetery are in the township on property owned by the city. The township does not fund or maintain the cemetery.

Jim Allen, Northville Fire Chief and cemetery sexton, handles all the sales, record keeping and layout for the facility.

Allen estimated that about 3,500 to 4,000 people are buried in Rural Hill. There are four to five acres that have yet to be developed.

Carolyn Nester, who was raised in Northville and attended Northville schools, visits the cemetery about once a month, except in the winter.

"My dad was always so responsible for putting things on the gravesites for his family and I wanted to continue in the tradition," she said.

"The last couple of years it has been getting worse," Nester said. "You have to stay in the one lane, basically."

Audit shows positive outlook like Northville.

"The change would result in many communities going into a deficit and experiencing significant cash flow problems," Swartz said. "In effect, there would be a permanent negative impact on fund balance.

The latest proposed bill establishes Aug. 15 as the single levy date, which will still present cash flow difficulties for governments that currently have a July 1 tax levy date, Swartz said.

"We say that this city had a very good year, and then we tell you that there are clouds on the horizon," Swartz said. "That is why we are recommending this council and administration begin to focus on long range planning.

"As you review your funding sources in light of the current events, we recommend that you also project city operations beyond the current and next budget year," he added.

Council member Chuck Keys said that while he's happy with the city's positive financial status, the uncertainty of the future concerns him.

"We need to realize that we stand to lose the revenue that we currently receive from the race track," he said. "I realize that the money isn't budgeted, but we do spend it, and the fact that we may lose that funding source really scares me."

Mayor Chris Johnson said he was proud of city administration and the efforts to bring the city out of its deficit situation.

"We moved from a position of being $1.2 million in the hole, to having a positive fund balance," Johnson said. "I want staff to know how much the council appreciates the work that has been done to get us to this point."

County could vote to approve demolition dollars for buildings of several million dollars. The first step is the demolition of the 17 vacant buildings and other structures on the land, abandoned since the Plymouth State Training School and the Wayne County Child Development Center closed down some 15 years ago.

County Commissioner Thad McCotter, R-Livonia, who represents Northville Township and Wayne County Northville, earlier this summer proposed using $200,000 in federal grant funds to tear the buildings down. County administration officials agreed to the request on Sept. 22 and McCotter's Jobs and Economic Development committee gave it the green light on Friday.

If the commission approves the expenditure in today's vote the demolition will begin in a few weeks, McCotter said Friday.

The commission will also eventually be called upon to say yea or nay to McNamara's new plan. He said he envisions a development which includes a golf course, homes and condominiums as well as a "modest" commercial and research and development area.

Whether that vision becomes reality, however, will depend on Northville Township, which has the power to zone the land and approve any and all development proposals. McNamara's proposed group will aim at getting township officials to cooperate with the county on whatever plan is eventually devised.

Mustang energy

The Northville High School varsity football team ran up against a buzz saw in Farmington Harrison Friday, dropping its Homecoming game to the perennial powerhouse squad. School spirit was much in evidence just the same, as Mustang fever gripped the crowd. Above, Pom-Pon team member Jenny Cooley puts her all into a routine at the school pep rally, while sophomore Eric Bronson, right, perform with the band during half-time. For all the game results, see Sports, page 13-B.

NHS grad challenges Albion minority plan

By LEE SNIDER
Editor

Albion College junior Jeff Schroder knows he's up against some powerful forces but insists he's doing the right thing.

Schroder, a 1993 Northville High School graduate, is on a mission to convince the Albion administration to discontinue an incentive program that provides tuition assistance for blacks.

The program, called the Diversity Award for African Americans, has been in place since 1991 and offers tuition credits of $4,000 a year for qualifying applicants.

Schroder claims there are no academic- or merit-based criteria for the awards – you just have to belong to the right race.

"It's a $16,000 racial bounty," he said.

The pre-law student's highly visible efforts ran into a roadblock when a resolution expressing disapproval of the program was unanimously defeated in the school's Student Senate Sept. 18.

"Student government is inconsequential and not representative of the majority of students," he said in obvious frustration.

"They're completely leashed by the politically-correct thought police. They have professors and administrators looking over their shoulder."

Schroder, a member of the 24-person Student Senate, says his outspoken opposition to the program is being met with resistance and even threats. The Senate used a "parliamentary trick" to force him to abstain from voting on his own resolution, he said, and a written threat against him has appeared on the Internet.

The message used "racial slurs" to describe him, Schroder said, and prompted the Calhoun County prosecutor's office to begin an investigation under ethnic intimidation laws.

Despite the setbacks he's faced, Schroder's not giving up. He has enlisted the help of state Rep. David Jaye, R-Washington Township, and plans to mount a campaign to force a schoolwide referendum on the issue.

Albion Director of Communications Sarah Briggs said the Diversity Award program is entirely in keeping with what other colleges offer and is permitted under administrative laws established by the U.S. Department of Education.

"This grew out of a desire to increase the number of African American students on campus. Many institutions of higher education award some sort of race-based award."

According to Briggs, Albion's African American enrollment has gone from roughly 40 to 65 since the program's inception in 1991. Blacks now make up about 4 percent of the school's student body of 1,600.

Schroder says the minority program is wrong because it's subsided from the school's general budget and drives up tuition for other students.

Schroder adds that, though Albion is a private college, the school receives public money in the form of grants and loans. He hopes Jaye, a vociferous critic of affirmative action, can pressure the school into dropping the program by getting lawmakers to attach conditions to the funds Lansing provides.

Schroder, who describes himself as a "Libertarian, leaning Republican," says he believes the school administration has a misguided view of diversity.

"They think diversity is skin color only. I think diversity is about ideas."

Genealogical Society offers program, classes

The Northville Genealogical Society will meet on Thursday, Oct. 12, at 7:30 p.m. at Mill Race Historical Village located on Griswold Avenue north of Main Street, Northville.

Carolyn Griffin will be speaking on tracing your female family lines. Come and bring a friend.

Elementary schools provide parent ed workshops

Northville's Winchester and Silver Springs Elementary schools are offering two parent education programs especially oriented for parents of elementary age children.

Helping Children be Successful Learners will be held at Winchester Elementary School on Tuesday, Oct. 10, from 7-8:30 p.m. It will address how parents can identify their children's best learning style as well as possible barriers to learning that their child may be experiencing.

Reducing Family Stress: Raising Respectful and Responsible Children will be held at Silver Springs Elementary on Monday, Nov. 13, from 7-8:30 p.m. Topics to be discussed include dealing with sibling rivalry and how parents can encourage their child to show consideration for others.

Both programs are free. For more information, call Winchester at (810) 344-8415.

The Northville Record

Our Opinion

Find other way to deal with high inspection fees

Government

There seems to be a difference of opinion among Northville city officials and a city councilman about how Department of Public Works Director Jim Gallogly should be spending his time.

Upset with paying city consultants McNeely & Lincoln $250 per day in inspection fees for major construction projects, Councilman Chuck Keys has an idea he maintains will save taxpayers money.

Have Jim Gallogly perform the inspection services himself.

Keys voiced that opinion Monday as the city council awarded a $213,000 contract for road repairs along Sherrie Lane and Jeffery Drive.

"I guess I just don't understand why we are paying $250 per day when we have a person on staff that can provide the inspection services," Keys said. "I don't understand the priorities."

While Keys may have a point about the fees, we don't share his opinion that Gallogly should be out performing inspections on construction work throughout the city.

Gallogly, an integral member of the city administration, wasn't hired to perform those services. All you have to do is look at his job description to figure out that the man already has his plate full.

Here are just a few of his job duties and responsibilities:

- Direct the city's engineering program.
- Take responsibility for planning, organizing, inspecting, and reviewing the work of subordinates.
- Direct the operations of the Department of Public Works.
- Write specifications and contracts.
- Supervise the design of public service and public utilities projects.
- Take responsibility for the preparation of the annual public service operating and capital budget.
- Make cost and material estimates and supervise the maintenance of such records and the preparation of accompanying reports.

The list goes on and on and nowhere does it state that Gallogly shall perform inspection work on construction projects.

So, although Keys may be correct in questioning the high $250 per-day fees, having Gallogly take over those duties would, in the long run, be just as costly to the taxpayers of the community.

By piling on additional responsibilities Gallogly would be forced to pay less attention to other aspects of his job. That could lead to complications down the road.

Perhaps city officials and council members should explore other ways to attack the problem, because using the DPW director is not the answer.

NHS grad has right idea

We have to use a little ink from the barrel to commend the efforts of Northville High School alumnus Jeff Schroder, now a junior at Albion College.

Schroder, a pre-law student, has taken it on himself to try to convince the Albion administration to abandon a race-based scholarship, neatly termed a "diversity award."

According to Schroder, there are no merit or academic requirements for the award, it's given out to African Americans solely by virtue of their race.

Schroder contends that not only is the $4,000-a-year gift unfair on principle, it also drives up tuition for the rest of the student body. The award fund is subsidized by students who make full payment for their classes.

Schroder's agitation is proving unpopular with the powers that be at Albion. The college's Student Senate, towing the official line, voted unanimously against a resolution urging abandonment of the award program. Schroder also says he has been made the subject of racial slurs as a result of his initiative.

A representative of the school rightly points out that the Albion program is not unlike many others in place at institutions of higher learning all across the country. That may be true, but that doesn't make it right.

We think Albion and other colleges would do well to take a cue from the state of California, which recently discontinued an affirmative action practice in its university system. African Americans in the Golden State no longer are awarded points on admission tests strictly because of what they are. At the same time, the state continues its outreach recruitment program, actively inserting itself into the minority community in search of new students.

Schroder likes to quote a Greek philosophical maxim to make his point: "The only way to sustain a community is with a uniform standard of justice."

A market for the minors

Ernie Harwell had a little joke when he narrated Detroit Tigers' games.

"That pop foul was caught by a fan from Allen Park ... That home run was nabbed by a fan from Kalamazoo ... That slice into the right field stands was picked up by a fan from Okemos."

Of course, Harwell had no way of knowing where the fans came from, but it was the Tigers' way of acknowledging that people from over two-thirds of Michigan came to games.

Joke time may be over. A new competitor – minor league baseball – is vying for baseball fans' attention. Entrepreneurs are eying the metro Detroit suburbs.

Already the Lake Michigan Whitecaps are attracting folks to their new ballpark in Grand Rapids. Lansing is putting up a stadium for a team, the Lugnuts. Battle Creek may be next on the horizon. And in one of the 1980s Major League Baseball strikes, suburban fans found the Toledo Mudhens were only an hour or so away in a straight shot down I-75.

Earlier in 1995, a group of outstate investors approached the city of Novi with an idea for a minor league stadium. Novi was a bit stunned and still hasn't given a definite response.

And a couple of weeks ago, The Palace approached Oakland Community College with an unwritten proposal for a minor league stadium on 20 acres of OCC property on the Auburn Hills campus.

Anyone can see the point. The notion of a minor league baseball team and stadium near I-75, I-96, I-696 or even I-94 is far from crazy.

Tiger crowds used to push the two million mark in a season. Lately they've been lucky to exceed one million. One player strike too many in 1994 cost loyal fans a World Series, an act bordering on flag desecration.

During Tom Monoghan's push for a new stadium, it became clear that most suburbs wanted no part of hosting one, with 50,000 seats and a parking need for thousands of cars and buses.

But a minor league team? That may be food for thought. Minor league stadiums are built for 10,000 fans or less. A dozen metropolitan Detroit suburbs are large enough in population to qualify as a home for a new minor league club. Think about it. Baseball in a small-city setting in the suburbs, the way it used to be played.

A lot of investors are thinking about it. A lot of fans are ready for it. Suburban governments should think about it, too.

Where's the bias in print?

Lee Snider

Supporters of the Christian Coalition have sent dozens of postcards to our office urging positive press coverage of Christian organizations.

The cards were of the form variety, with a pre-printed text that requires only the signature of the Coalition member.

Normally, we don't pay much attention to postcard campaigns, figuring that if people can muster only enough motivation to sign a piece of paper they can't be too serious about the issue.

But the number of cards came in a little heavier than usual this time, causing us to think twice about dismissing them.

The message, too, is one that generates instant interest among journalists.

"I want you to know that I am very concerned about the relentless anti-Christian bias of the news media," the statement begins.

"CBS news anchorman Bob Shieffer made this outrageous comment: 'We've all noticed that there is a link between crime and religion.'"

The cards went on to describe other supposed anti-Christian remarks by Dan Rather and The Washington Post.

I called a few of the card senders to learn more about their feelings. Many of them made claims we've heard before: most people in the media are atheists; journalists like to report on the acts of evil doers, ignoring the good works of the God-fearing majority; the press is a "liberal" institution and slants its stories.

As a local newspaper that regularly includes announcements from area churches, we were exempt from criticism from those I spoke to. It was the national media they had a problem with.

I've given a lot of thought to this complaint of Christian activists and I have to say I think it's largely misguided. What journalists really like is a good story – they're much less partial to political or religious ideas.

Case in point.

When I worked in Grand Rapids I saw an example of media sympathy in a controversy involving Sabbath Day observance. It happened when the large oil companies tried to force gas stations owners in the Dutch Reformed community to remain open on Sunday. Many refused.

The corporations threatened to strip owners of their franchises if they didn't agree to keep Sunday hours, but many of them stood their ground and suffered the consequences.

Their decision not to yield on a matter of principle cost them their livelihood.

The print and electronic media, including CNN, seized on the story, portraying the station owners as devout religious adherents who got trampled by impersonal, profit-driven corporations.

The favoritism went to the small business operators.

This example, as much as any, demonstrates the real bias of the news media, which tends to fancy itself a champion of the underdog.

The most valid criticism of the media I ever heard came from a commentator who said reporters like to practice compensatory journalism, adopting a point of view that seeks to compensate for the deficits of the powerless.

I think that if there is a media bias against the Christian Coalition or any other religious-based organization, it's aimed at the hardline leadership, not the practitioners of a sincerely-felt faith.

Northville the way it used to be

Randy Coble

The times how they do a'change.

I've just started a new feature in The Northville Record, something called "A Backward Glance." It's an attempt to serve up a weekly slice of Northville's past as gleaned from rifling through the pages of 126 years of this newspaper.

It's an experience that's nothing short of fascinating at times and it's gotten me thinking about how much I personally have seen Northville change in the 15 years I've lived here.

My decade and a half is small potatoes compared to many, of course, but whether you've been in Northville for five years or 50 I've got a proposition for you.

Call me at 349-1700 and share your stories of how you've seen this town change. I'll print everyone's answers in a special edition of A Backward Glance. To jump start those memories, here's a few of mine:

- Remember when the Marquis Theater showed movies? I can still clearly recall seeing Raiders of the Lost Ark there.
- How about the five and dime store that was next door, where the Great Harvest Bread Company is now? They sold bulk candy. I used to pick up chocolate-covered peanuts before the show.
- Can anyone forget those fountain shakes to be had right across the street when Northville Drugs was still open?
- Quick, what used to be where The Wooden Roast restaurant is now? Answer: Juan Carlo's, which served the best Mexican food and pizza around. I should know. I made enough of it while working there in high school.
- Anybody recall the bowling alley that used to be where the MainCentre building is now?
- How about the Winner's Circle bar and apartments, which used to be where the Inn on Main Street and Joseph's Coney Island are now?
- Then there's the Sundowner Restaurant. Anyone eat there when it was a Big Boy many years ago?
- The water tower is getting a facelift but can you remember when it wasn't painted at all? Only the Mustang logo added any color to the shiny aluminum.
- Let's not forget Northville High School. Remember how it used to look, inside and out, before its renovation in 1986, especially the view from up the hill at the corner of Eight Mile and Center?
- Northville's newest parking lot used to be a Hardee's but who recollects when it was a Burger Chef? How 'bout when the Shopping Center Market next door was a Chatham's?
- This is one for the younger members of the crowd: the Electric Light Room. Remember? It was an arcade that was in that building on the lot across from McDonald Ford, where cars are now stored.
- It's a safe bet that at least half a dozen diner-type restaurants opened and closed over the years in the building off Novi Road where the Border Cantina now thrives.
- Remember when Nine Mile west of Taft was a dirt road and you couldn't see 10 feet off of it because of all the trees?

Well, that's the idea. Now put on those thinking caps and pick up the phone and help make the past part of our present.

OLV must be forthcoming about plans

Our Lady of Victory Church in Northville has recently announced plans for a significant expansion.

The current church and grade school is located between W. Main Street and Thayer Boulevard, east of Orchard Drive.

The church has acquired several properties on the west side of Orchard and is on the verge of officially filing plans for a "Life Center."

Local neighborhood residents and many parishioners were not aware of the church's intentions until the announcement.

Although preliminary architectural drawings are apparently not yet available, the building described by church officials is almost 40,000 square feet in size and will dominate the existing quiet residential neighborhood. The usage for this Life Center is also currently vague, although additional classrooms, a gymnasium, and meeting rooms have been described.

As a homeowner in the neighborhood, I have serious concerns about this new building. First is the significant increase in automobile and bus traffic that will surely occur.

There are times when traffic to and from the existing facility is significant, and many of those who are late seem to have little concern for the children in the neighborhood.

Second, despite the enormous size of the building, it appears to have little provision for additional parking, with as few as 32 new parking spaces.

Parking for the current building is wholly inadequate, with parishioners filling the streets for blocks around on Sundays.

The new building certainly cannot make this situation better.

Finally, there appears to be a lack of commitment by the church on how the building might be changed or used in the future.

All of these concerns sum up to apprehension that the facility will cause undesirable changes in the neighborhood and potentially decrease property values.

My concerns are sharpened by an apparent lack of openness by the church regarding its plans.

The church certainly has every legal right to purchase the properties it has acquired.

That they were acquired over a period of time suggests that there has been a long-term vision that has only recently been shared.

The current outcry from neighborhood residents might suggest one reason for discreet progress by the church.

I call upon officials from Our Lady of Victory to meet with their parishioners and their neighbors to completely disclose their plans.

This must include not only the immediate plans, but any vision that includes future expansion or changes to new or existing facilities.

Informed discussion can only take place when a complete and formal proposal has been laid upon the table.

Art Market got good support

To the Editor:

The Northville Arts Commission would like to thank the community for its support of the 9th annual Art Market. This juried fine art fair continues to grow in size and stature each year and that would not be possible if it weren't for the many volunteers who help make it a success.

Special thanks to Barbara Davies of Art Source who donated the matting and framing of our first annual Art Market poster. Proceeds from the poster sale will benefit art in public places in Northville. Thanks also to Carmine Bossio Interiors for the lavish table decoration at our booth.

The volunteers who worked our booth deserve special acknowledgment. They are: Susan Hayes, Sandy Misukanis, Carmine Bossio, Art and Diane Rockall, Raymond and Lauri Rodriguez, Pat Dorrian-Sandbothe, Katherine Peltier, Jackie and Raymond Bysmek, Erin and Courtney Bzymek, Alice Davidson, Norm and Thelma Kubitsky, Sharon and Bill Rossow, Jennifer and Elizabeth Rossow, Joseph Brodzik, Linda and Doug Wesley, Gail McPhee, Barbara Llewellyn, Jo and Garl Sipple, Joann Dayton, Hazel Coon, Shirley Hanamey and Marie Barr.

Our Art Market '95 Committee also deserves acknowledgment from the community. It is because of the hundreds of hours they spend in planning that artists and visitors look forward to attending the Art Market each year. They are: Marie Barr, Carmine Bossio, Jackie Bzymek, Kathryn Peltier, Arthur Rockall, Lauri Rodriguez and Patricia Dorrian-Sandbothe.

Car wash got good response

To the Editor:

The members of the Northville High School Concert Choir wish to thank the community of Northville for their support of our car wash at Amerman School on Saturday, Sept. 9.

Some people were generous enough to stop and donate without accepting a car wash in return. We raised over $800 which will be equally divided among the kids who worked and applied to our trip to Boston in the spring.

Thank you for your continuing support of our music program.

Cooperation spelled success

To the Editor:

The success of the 1995 Second Annual Public Safety Expo was driven by the theme of cooperation = success. Without the cooperation of elected officials, business, industry, and community residents, this event would not have been possible.

The selfless devotion of all members of the police and fire department along with their families was in the highest traditions of the Public Safety Department.

The Public Safety Department will be challenged to continue the provisions of quality service in upcoming years. Your contributions have made our past success possible and our vision to carry on bright.

Benefit helped local charity

To the Editor:

The Northville Eagles No. 2504 had its 3rd annual charity spaghetti dinner on Saturday, Sept. 16, with proceeds going to Civic Concern. We would like to thank everyone involved in this dinner for making it so successful.

We would especially like to thank the following businesses that so generously donated goods for this worthwhile cause.

Genitti's for donating the Italian sausage; Shopping Center Market for the Parmesan cheese; Bob's of Canton for the ground round; Great Harvest Bread Company for the delicious bread; and Gordon's Food Service for the salad.

Due to these generous donations, we had our most profitable dinner to date.

We are also thanking Sue Padovich and Nancy Wilber who sponsor this event each year for Civic Concern. Helping them this year were E.L. Durham Jr., Baber, Koreen Kahshan and Kenny Zeuner.

We are all grateful for everyone's support in making this such a success. We wish to thank all the people who came in for this dinner and we hope everyone enjoyed it and will return next year for our 4th annual spaghetti dinner.

Golf outing was (mostly) good

To the Editor:

The 16th annual Northville Alumni golf outing is just completed and I return here red-faced (only partially sun related) to report some good news, some bad news and some way bad news. The great weather began the ...

Good News – as 68 alumni golfers waited patiently for the frost to leave the course so we could commence play. This was the biggest outing yet and was made the best as organizers Tom Bingham and Howie Ambinder were able to solicit many prizes from our local merchants.

Thanks goes to the Art Source, Gardenviews, Genitti's Hole in the Wall, Good Time Party Store, Joe's Sport Shop, Little Italy, MacKinnon's, Orin Jewelers, Rocky's, Starting Gate Saloon, The Kitchen Witch, The Great Harvest Bread Company, The Wooden Roast, The Stitching Post and Woolly Bully's, all of which graciously donated gifts.

Because of these gifts essentially all ($1,200) of the fees have been forwarded to the Richard Lewis Memorial Foundation which awards a college scholarship each year to a graduating senior.

All 68 players, their families and readers of this column lease note the names above and show your support by choosing these businesses to patronize.

Upon completion of play we all gathered in the banquet room to share a couple of ginger ales and retell old war stories from our school days.

At dinner, we were able to offer our congratulations to Coach Longridge being named one of the best principals in the country.

His 36 years of service to the school kids of Northville began as a football and basketball coach.

Over the years as he changed roles to teacher then principal, he has remained a coach, only from the corner office he doesn't have to deal with sweaty athletes.

Everyone in the banquet room has benefited from his efforts and those of us with children in the school system still do. Keep it up, Coach.

After dinner, Howie presented the awards for long drive (P. Talbot) and closest to the holes (J. Menyhart, B. Thompson, G. MacDermaid, D. Bongiovanni) and then, for those of you with a little gray in your hair came the ...

Bad News – as some young Turks (Thompson, Thompson, Pohlod, Tassis) in their initial appearance won the scoring title putting an end to a budding dynasty from the great class of 1964.

It was a fitting omen during the second day of the Ryder Cup to have my favorite team lose.

Unfortunately, losing to a team of newcomers was not the worst thing to happen.

We have lost before so while it was bad news it wasn't ...

Way Bad News – Over the years of playing in the event teams rekindle old friendships, often enhanced by gentle criticism of opponents' lineage and gender identification as well as small wagers on the team vs. team score.

And so it must be reported here that the Dream Tam of '64 was thoroughly beaten by the highly skilled, talented, powerful, resourceful, and really cute team from the class of '67 consisting of Jim Long, Daly Hill, Ed Kritch and Doug Dingwall. Bless you boys.

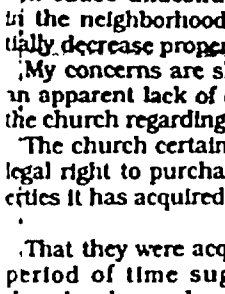

Each year this outing gets bigger and better and there is room for you. If you are a graduate of Northville High and you want to play next year (currently scheduled for Sept. 21), please call Tom Bingham (810) 624-1531. He will put you on the mailing list for next year's announcement.

You will enjoy yourself and help the Scholarship Fund at the same time.

Maybe those cute boys from '67 will have a picture taken with your foursome.

Phil Power

I was a big baseball fan when I was a kid. I lived and died with what happened to the Tigers. I knew all the standings, memorized all the statistics and thought that Johnny Groth, a journeyman Tiger outfielder in the '50s, was the most perfect being ever put on this earth.

But now, like most folks I know, every year I get grumpier and grumpier at what's happening in professional sports.

The players' collective greed and arrogance is matched only by that of the owners, who suffer the additional delusion that owning a professional team entitles them to demand and receive public money for new sports stadiums erected primarily to enrich themselves.

Moreover, matters of professional sport appear to attract politicians in a way as profound and as pointless as a light attracting a moth.

In the weird world of professional sport, nothing ever seems to add up.

The recent news that Gov. John Engler and Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer have cut the deal to kick in $90 million in public funds to build a new baseball stadium for the Tigers is a perfect case in point. Some Q and A will show how.

Is a new stadium really needed?

Probably not. The old Tiger Stadium could almost certainly be renovated at far less cost than the current estimate of $250 million or so for building a new stadium.

So why build a new stadium?

Good question. There seem to be three reasons.

The unstated reason is simple profit. Tiger owner Mike Ilitch will make lots more money with a new stadium than with the old, not to mention the enormous gain in value for his Fox Theatre, Second City comedy club and two restaurants. He isn't going to put $140 million of his own money into the deal just to be public spirited.

The stated reason from the politicians is economic development. A new stadium, it is asserted, is a great way to bring more folks to downtown Detroit and, hence, will provide lots of new jobs and contribute to the renaissance of the city.

The real reason is that building a new ballpark is the price to be paid to keep Ilitch from moving the Tigers out of the city. It isn't full-blown blackmail, but it's close.

Does the economic development argument make any sense?

Not much. After construction is over, a new stadium itself won't generate many more jobs than the old one. Some argue that the new stadiums in Baltimore and Cleveland stimulated the rebirth now going on there. It seems far more like that the rebirth was going on well before any new stadium was built.

The state's ante in this deal is $55 million from the Strategic Fund. Is gutting the fund in the interest of all the people of Michigan?

No. Started during the Blanchard Administration, the Michigan Strategic Fund was supposed to put long-term investment money into stimulating research, technology transfer and entrepreneurial business startups around Michigan's universities. While the results have been disappointing, it's very difficult to argue that a new stadium for the Tigers is going to build a more solid economic base than investing in high-tech business ventures.

Engler's a smart politician. What's he getting out of this?

It doesn't add up.

Certainly it's not good public policy. The governor first killed the Greektown Indian gambling casino, arguing, "There are no shortcuts no magic." Most economists think neither a new stadium nor legalized gambling are magic routes to prosperity, but there is no doubt that of the two, gambling offers far more jobs.

Votes? Engler's western Michigan base cannot be happy, while solidly Democratic Detroit is not likely to turn around solely on the basis of building a new stadium. The suburbanites I talk to mostly don't care.

After all, it's only our tax dollars, hard at work.

Genitti's Hole- in- the-Wall

For many years Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall in downtown Northville has been serving their famous seven-course meal. The meal includes soup, bread, pasta, anti-pasta salad, 3 meats, vegetables and dessert. Along with the seven-course meal, Genitti's offers an Interactive Comedy show which runs every weekend and special days during the week. You might ask yourself, "What is interactive comedy?" At Genitti's Little Theatre on Main St. the shows are full of fun and surprises. Characters are milling around the Theatre as you walk in, and throughout the production, a few lucky members of the audience are chosen to be a part of the show. You may have lines, you may have to sing or dance, but if you are picked, you can guarantee you will be in the spotlight. Along with interactive dinner theatre offered in the evening, Genitti's is now offering a Children's Show every Saturday and special dates. The children are escorted into the restaurant where they will indulge in a mini-meal consisting of pasta, soup, bread, chicken and dessert. Along with the meal, they will be entertained by the cast of Genitti's in an interactive children's show, possibly starring, who else ... the children. The cast involves the children throughout the show and sometimes prizes are awarded for certain performances. Through October, the children's show is "HAUNTED AS HALLOWEEN." A funny musical-story telling show that is suitable for all ages. In November, "THE GIRL WHO HATED MUSIC" will be performed and in December, "LUNCH WITH SANTA." After the children enjoy their meal, they will finally meet good ole St. Nick. For more information on the children's shows of Dinner Theatre performances, call (810) 349-0522.

Bill would divert money to roads

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Road people have little interest in a state legislator's proposal to divert state income taxes toward road improvements.

"My proposal does not raise taxes in any way, shape or form," said Sen. Mike Rogers, R-Howell. "My goal is to capture growth revenues in fiscal 1996-97."

He's the author of a bill to divert 5.2 percent of gross income taxes from the general fund to the transportation fund, which for decades has been fed by fuel taxes, registration fees and other "user fees." Rogers said his bill, due for a hearing before the Senate Finance Committee later this month, will bring roads $350 million – equivalent to hiking fuel taxes seven cents a gallon.

"It's a one-year solution, and we need a long-term solution," objected Brent O. Bair, managing director of the Road Commission for Oakland County and vice-president of CRAM (County Road Association of Michigan).

"We've gone 12 years without a (state) increase in the gas tax, and we've gone beyond a 7-cents solution. Our preference is to stick with a user fee. How much you use the road system, that's how much you pay.

"Other sources aren't protected by the constitution like the gas tax," said Bair, referring to Art. IX Sec. 8 which says fuel taxes must "be used exclusively for transportation purposes ...

"The income tax (revenue) has to go through the appropriations process. Keeping those funds (in roads) is real questionable by the time you make it through a couple of committees or more."

Bair noted Rogers' plan would guarantee $350 million for roads for only one year. Thereafter, Rogers' bill calls for a line item in the budget that could be stripped out by lawmakers or even a gubernatorial veto.

They debated road funding Oct. 1 on Spotlight on News, Channel 7's public affairs program.

CRAM began this fall's debate by asking for a 12-cent-a-gallon increase plus an adjustment in the distribution formula to aid 17 urban counties. That has been whittled down to a 9.5-cents "compromise" program. Gov. John Engler proposed a 7-cent increase with the entire hike going to the state.

"We've identified needs far in excess of a 12-cent increase," said Bair, adding it would cover "just the worst" roads and bridges. "We don't ever have a problem of having too much money when it comes to roads."

Chuckled Rogers: "I've never heard a department yet that could not use extra money."

Rogers' own plan faces serious hurdles. It would take 4.4 percent of the current $8 billion general fund budget, leaving little (1 percent by his estimation) or no new money for other uses.

This year's budget gave universities 3 percent, Oakland Community College barely 1 percent, and Schoolcraft College 2.5 percent. Prisons, whose inmate totals are creeping past the 40,000 mark as lawmakers demand stiffer punishments for more crimes, have now passed universities in the budget.

They disagreed on the question of whether Michigan, which has the highest truck weight limits in the nation, should charge trucks more.

Bair said CRAM wants to raise the diesel fuel tax 20 cents and truck registration fees 50 percent. "We're not going after them; we're saying they ought to pay their fair share," Bair said.

Rogers pictured truckers as "family" people and others seeking general fund money as "special interests." The senator said a 7-cent fuel tax hike would cost Spartan Stores $1 million. "You're going to pay more for bread and milk," he added.

Neither liked the proposal of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce and the Mackinac Center to cut the single business tax in exchange for a fuel tax increase.

"If you cut anything," said Bair, "cut the fuel tax, like we did with Proposal A (cutting school property taxes in return for a 2-cent hike in the sales tax)."

"Seems crazy to me," agreed Rogers. "My proposal would do it with the revenues we have."

Health Notes

Physician referral service

Are you new in the community? The Physician Referral Service of Providence Hospital and Medical Centers is available to assist individuals in finding a physician who can meet specific needs or criteria of the individual. The service is free-of-charge and can be reached by calling 1-800-968-5595. The staff in Physician Referral Services can help locate physicians by specialty or by location, finding an office close to your home or work. They can even match individuals with physicians who participate in particular insurance plans. Callers can also receive information on support groups and health education classes and lectures. Call 1-800-968-5595.

Diabetes outpatient care

Providence Hospital and Medical Centers is offering a program for all non-pregnant adults with diabetes. The program is designed to help the patient control blood sugar and to become a more active member in treatment. Classes are offered in Novi, Southfield and Livonia. A physician referral and advanced registration is required. Call (810) 424-3903 for further information, including fee structure.

Health education library

Providence Hospital and Medical Centers is now making its health education library open to the public. The library has books, video tapes, computer databases, pamphlets and anatomical models available to the public which can be used to learn about illnesses, medications, parenting skills or other health issues. The library is located at Providence Medical Center-Providence Park, 47601 Grand River, and is open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Call (810) 380-4110 for more information.

Campers can now reserve '96 sites

Campers planning a 1996 vacation can begin making state park reservations.

The toll-free number is 1-800-5432-YES. But be patient the first few days because you may get busy signals or be put on "hold" due to the heavy demand. State parks began taking reservations Oct. 1.

"We are continuing our efforts to make planning a camping trip to a state park as convenient and simple as possible," said O.J. Scherschlight, the Department of Natural Resources chief of parks and recreation.

Labor Day campers this year ran into "full" signs at most of the popular state parks unless they had a reservation. This year DNR inaugurated the 800 toll free number for reservations and had enormous success.

When you call, be ready with this information: name, address, camping equipment type (tent or vehicle) and size, Visa or Mastercard number, and telephone number of a contact person.

For a mail-in reservation form, call the same number.

The toll-free number is staffed from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. weekdays and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekends.

There is a small charge for making a reservation and a minimum stay of three nights required.

The system is used for the state parks, which generally have nicer facilities, including electric power and hot showers. It is not used for state forest campgrounds.

Michigan also has campgrounds in the Huron, Manistee, Hiawatha and Ottawa national forests, run by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. So far they have not instituted reservation systems.

PTA holds leadership conference locally

The Michigan PTA will host a fall leadership workshop on Saturday, Oct. 7, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Walled Lake Middle School.

This workshop is for parents, teachers, students and school administrators. It will provide them with background information to help them work as a team and use the tools and resources available to make the job easier, as well as encourage positive attitudes that lead to success.

Topics include: Advocacy – Making a Difference in the Lives of Children and Youth; Student Involvement in the PTA; PTA & School Administration Working Together; Public Speaking for Students; Understanding your Board of Education; Legislative Update on Issues that affect Children's Education, Health, Safety and Welfare; "What Every PTA Treasurer Should Know," and more.

Pre-registration is $7.50 ($10 at the door), $5 additional for lunch. This workshop is open to all. For more information, call Pattie Bayless at (810) 987-6114 or Sue Bellows at (313) 421-8807.

Dear Mr. Governor:

We're taking aim against childhood diseases.

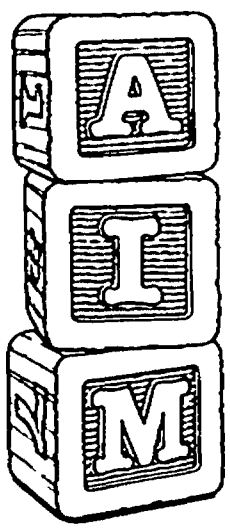

Current estimates suggest that only one third of Michigan's two year olds are adequately immunized.

In response to this growing concern, Botsford General Hospital has joined with several other health care organizations including the Michigan Department of Public Health to create AIM, the Alliance for Immunization in Michigan.

AIM supports the national goal of adequate immunization of 90 percent of all children by age two. Its mission is to educate, motivate and promote the achievement of this goal. AIM also supports the state-wide immunization registry for all children that is currently being planned.

The Alliance has developed a Starter Kit for health care professionals and hospitals in our state. The kit contains the most current information, resources and promotional materials needed to assist in offering immunizations.

We'd like to thank everyone who has joined together with us to take aim against childhood diseases. At Botsford, we believe that making a difference in Michigan starts in our community.

House of horrors needs volunteers

Have you always wished you'd get hired as a set designer for the latest sequel of Friday The 13th?

Well, work out that frustrated horror artist in you by helping the Novi Jaycees create a Haunted House at the old Novi Fire Station.

Construction times are each Tuesday and Thursday at 7 p.m. and each Saturday and Sunday at noon. That is until the scariest little spookhouse in Novi is up and running Oct. 13 through Oct. 31.

Free food and beverages will be on tap for hungry volunteers.

The Jaycees are also seeking sponsors to help out, as well as volunteers to assist with the show when it's up and running. The Haunted House is one of the community service group's major fund raisers.

Interested? To work, simply show up during the designated hours at the old fire station, it's just south of Grand River Avenue.

For more information, call Michael Murphy at 348-2191.

Brickscape hosts local tulip fest

A giant European fairgrounds organ will crank up Dutch and German tunes at 10 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 7, to open a two-day Holland Bulb Festival at Brickscape Gardens in Northville.

Talks and demonstrations on the origin, selection and planting of tulips and other bulbs are scheduled during the festival, which runs 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Oct. 7 and Sunday, Oct. 8.

Dutch wooden shoe dancers from the Holland Michigan Tulip Festival will punctuate the program on Saturday at 1 and 2:30 p.m., with their colorful Dutch costumes and "Clompen" dancing to traditional Dutch music.

Brickscape will also kick off a contest that day to honor the gardener who does the best and most creative bulb planting, with judging to be held next May.

All of the activities are designed to celebrate bulb planting time, October, according to Joe and Diane DiRado of Northville, who own Brickscape Gardens.

Most of Brickscape's 150 varieties of tulips, daffodils, hyacinths, crocus and Dutch iris bulbs will be on display at Brickscape, located on Old Novi Road just north of Eight Mile Road and just east of Novi Road.

"Bulbs are a perfect way for anyone to get into gardening. They're almost fool-proof and the beautiful blooms are so personally rewarding," said Joe DiRado.

In October, as soon as the ground temperature goes down to 60 degrees, is the ideal time to plant bulbs, according to Barbara Reichard, a professional gardener at Brickscape.

Reichard, of Northville, will demonstrate regular and "layered" planting of bulbs, color and garden design, container planting and "forcing" of blooms.

Holland bulb expert Peter Van Eeden of K. Van Bourgondien & Sons, Hillegom, Holland, will tell how bulbs are grown and new varieties created there in the world's bulb epicenter.

An ornate European fairgrounds organ, familiar to many Holland Michigan Tulip Festival goers, is being brought to town by another Dutchman, Terry Haughawout of Bloomdale, Ohio.

Further information on the festival or on Holland bulbs is available by phoning Brickscape Gardens at (810) 348-2500.

MARVAC show coming to Novi Expo Center

The Novi Expo Center becomes home to the Detroit Camper and RV Show for the seventh time, Oct. 11-15. An area tradition for nearly 30 years, the show's move to Novi has brought rapid growth.

"The show's easy access and the fact that we are located in one of metro Detroit's major growth areas makes this an ideal location," said Bill Sheffer, show director. Show sponsor is the Michigan Association of Recreational Vehicles and Campgrounds (MARVAC). Nearly 30 Southeast Michigan RV dealers will be ready to deal during the five-day show. Industry-related booth exhibitors will feature RV and camping accessories, products and information.

MARVAC is a full-service, nonprofit trade association representing member dealers, campgrounds, manufacturers, suppliers and service companies throughout Michigan. For more information, call MARVAC at (517) 349-8881.

CIDER TIME

Area cider mills get ready for their peak season

By Jeff Nies and Annette Jaworski

Autumn

It's a transitional time. It's the hint of winter and reminder of summer, with the landscape vividly arrayed in color and days marked by crisp mornings and warm afternoons

It's the pleasant, anticipated return of cyclical routines: opening of school, football season and harvest time

For many it's the best time of year.

And nothing celebrates it more than such seasonal treats as fresh apple cider and doughnuts. There's only one place to truly appreciate them — an old-fashioned cider mill.

In fact, it isn't really fall in Michigan, according to Sally Diehl, until you've visited a cider mill.

"It's just tradition You go swimming in the summer no matter what. You go to the cider mill in the fall no matter what," she said

And Diehl should know

Her family has been making and selling cider and doughnuts at their orchard market near Holly, just off Milford Road, for the past 38 years.

The family business was launched by her husband Jack's parents, Paul and Belle Diehl, in 1918.

Six years later, Jack and his brother, Ed, and his wife, Doris, purchased the apple orchard at the current location

"They came to help a brother who owned an orchard north of town. They liked it enough so they bought their own. Then in 1957, Jack and I were married."

Today, the business remains a family venture with fourth generation members helping out. "We have two grandchildren who are working part time," she said

The market is part of a farm operation that includes 95 acres, 65 of which are devoted to growing apples and plums

The Diehls used to raise peaches and pears, but climatic changes have forced them to drop them from the orchard

They grow a variety of apples, including McIntosh, Red and Golden Delicious, Winesap and Northern Spies.

While fruit-growing is a year-round operation, harvest time is their busiest period. As the days grow shorter, market hours grow longer, especially on weekends.

These days, it's not enough to produce good cider and doughnuts. A farm market must also entertain.

At Spicers, the apples, cider and doughnuts are the main attraction, but the customers definitely enjoy the variety of entertainment.

"We don't have a draw for the entertainment per se. We see it as a fringe benefit to our customers," Diehl said.

On weekends they feature a variety of bands, including county and western, bluegrass and dulcimer.

Bring your dancing shoes on weekends, they teach country line dancing or square dancing.

Sheehy tells women to get on with lives

By DOROTHY NASH
Staff Writer

"The American Cancer Society is up in arms about it," said Geraldine Sheehy, because "insurance companies say a mastectomy is an overnight, in-and- out thing."

It isn't. It disrupts a woman's life, puts it on hold until she can, if ever, get it back to where it was.

And that's where Sheehy, a volunteer in the Reach to Recovery program, steps in.

When the American Cancer Society office in Dearborn calls Sheehy, she knows she has been matched in age and type of surgery to a woman who has requested help.

"I am here to talk to you," she will say to the woman. "I won't give advice. I consider it an interruption in life, but now it's time to move on."

Sheehy will give her a packet of information which includes exercises, a shopping guide of stores in her area, support groups, 'I Can Cope' with a schedule of meetings, 'Just Between Us,' which meets once a month with speakers on dietitian and an oncologist.

"I had no idea they had anything like this to help a person through the period," is a common remark.

Sheehy doesn't do follow-ups. "My name and address are on the packet. If they need me, they can call me or call the American Cancer Society.

"Nothing has really changed," she said. "You stress the importance of feeling good and looking good."

As to whether she does this often, she said, "I've visited 30 to 35 women since 1993.

"I don't like to do it because you relive your own each time, and I do limit myself to Novi, Northville and Livonia."

In 1969, Reach to Recover became a program of the American Cancer Society.

It's A Fact

It's in the mail

In 1827 the first U.S. Post Office was established in Novi, which was still known as West Farmington. Northville's post office followed four years later, in 1831. Michigan was not admitted to the union as a state until 1837.

Annual juried art exhibition includes local artists

Carol Workens

"Sharing the Gift Within" is the theme for 3rd Annual Juried Fine Arts Exhibition presented by The First Presbyterian Church Oct. 7 through 13.

Two hundred and fifty artists submitted work which was judged on Monday, Oct. 2. One hundred and forty artists were juried in, including eight Northville artists and two or three Novi artists. A private artist's reception will be held on Friday, Oct. 6.

The multi-media show spotlights regional artists' painting, drawing, collage, sculpture, graphics, photography, clay, fiber and jewelry. Last year's exhibition drew 250 entries with 100 being juried in.

Lynn Avadenka of Huntington Woods will be the featured juror. Avadenka is internationally known and specializes in the art of making books. The revival of this unique art form produces one-of-a-kind and limited edition books for individual collectors, libraries and museums. Samples of her book art will be on display in Boll Hall as part of the exhibit.

At the gallery talk on Oct. 12 at 1 p.m. Avadenka will present "The Art of Making Books."

Hours for the 3rd Annual Juried Fine Art Exhibition, a non-profit community/regional event, are Oct. 7 through 13, Saturday and Sunday noon to 4 p.m., Monday through Thursday, 11 a.m. until 4 p.m. and Friday 11 a.m. until 8 p.m. Luncheon is served on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 11:30 to 2:30 p.m.

Daily admission is free. All money raised will go to the music program at the church.

The First Presbyterian Church of Northville is located at 200 East Main Street in downtown Northville.

Grad elected to serve on Christian committee

elected to the executive committee of the Southern Baptist Convention, a Christian denomination composed of some 16 million members and 40,000 churches worldwide.

Representing Southern Baptists in Pennsylvania and Southern New Jersey, he was elected to serve by a vote of the 20,654 delegates at the 150th annual Southern Baptist Convention held in June in Atlanta.

Guido attended an orientation in August for new committee members conducted at the convention offices in Nashville, Tenn.

Guido, 37, is a 1975 graduate of Northville High School and worked as a college intern reporter for the Northville Record in 1988. He received his bachelor of science degree from Central Michigan University in 1980, completing a dual major in journalism and political science.

He is presently a business writer for the Sunday News of Lancaster, Penn., where he lives with his 9-year-old daughter.

In October, Guido begins studies for a seminary degree in Christian journalism at Southern Seminary 's extension site in Harrisburg, Penn.

Students hear from longtime resident

Students at William Allen Academy had a special treat on Monday when city councilman Paul Folino visited their school. Folino talked with the youngsters about growing up in Northville and things he liked to do as a kid, how city government worked and the role of a councilman.

"We're getting a big charge out of the whole thing," said Folino's wife, Mamie, "and he likes being around children since we have no grandchildren of our own."

Folino gave a similar talk to fourth grade students at Amerman Elementary School in the spring.

Resident chosen to attend honors science program

This summer Northville High School student Andrew Song was one of 28 juniors and seniors who were selected from approximately 200 applicants across the United States and its territories to participate in the 37th Annual Michigan State University/National Science Foundation High School Honors Science Program.

The seven-week residential research program is the oldest continuously running program in the United States. Song was matched on the basis of his expressed interest in a particular research project with a faculty member who supervised his work during his stay on campus, as were the other students.

Song also engaged in weekly discussion sessions about a variety of issues, including scientific responsibility and ethics, career planning, industrial vs. academic research, and public perceptions of science. He also reported on his research progress, and went on science-related field trips.

Song and the other participants wrote a scientific paper based on their work, presented the results of their study in a public forum during the last week of the program, and will give another presentation at their high school in the coming year.

The title of Andrew's research project was "Induced Systemic Acquired Disease Resistance in Cucumber (Cucumis sativux L) Through Seed Treatment."

Andrew is the son of Ching and Jenny Song of Novi.

Northville Town Hall opens for 35th year

The Northville Town Hall Series opens with Hope Mihalap on Oct. 9 at 11 a.m. at the Holiday Inn West, 17123 N. Laurel Park Dr. in Livonia. Tickets are still available for the lecture and luncheon.

Mihalap, a descendent of the first Greek family to settle in Virginia, has been compared to Lily Tomlin with her true-to-life impressions that come directly from first-hand experience. She has her own Greek and Southern heritage to draw on, but she also spent a considerable amount of time taking in the accents and mannerisms of the North.

Mihalap graduated with honors from Vassar College where she was elected president of the student body, and spent four years as private secretary to Sir Rudolf Bing, general manager of the New York Metropolitan Opera. She married a Russian language professor, and raised three children and a dog.

Mihalap has been a newspaper columnist, an arts commentator on public radio and the voice behind many radio commercials. She speaks French and Italian, and sings in Greek for her church choir.

Throughout a long, award-winning speaking career, Mihalap has been funny without causing offense.

"I figure," said Mihalap, "the only person it's safe to make fun of is yourself. If I decide to sue myself for libel, I'm sure there are enough lawyers out there chomping at the bit."

An individual luncheon ticket is $15.

To make a reservation for Oct. 9 or for more information regarding the Northville Town Hall Series for 1995-96, call the ticket chairperson, Barbara Armada, at (810) 349-7255.

Symphony commemorates half a century with music

Plymouth community groups will help the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra celebrate its 50th season at its opening concert on Sunday, Oct. 15 at 3 p.m. in the Plymouth Salem High School auditorium. The concert entitled, "Come Home to Plymouth" will be a replay of the very first performance given by the symphony in 1946.

Alumni of the orchestra have been invited to perform with the orchestra for this occasion.

"It is the longest continuing community symphony orchestra, and one of the oldest in Michigan," said Alan Stuart, Plymouth Symphony board member.

Scott Yoo, New York violinist will be featured on Mendelssohn's Violin Concerto in E Minor. Yoo began his musical studies with the violin at age 3 and gave his first public performance when he was 5. He performed with the Boston Symphony Orchestra at the age of 12. He is the recipient of the 1994 Avery Fisher Career Grant.

Recently, Yoo co-founded the Metamorphosen Chamber Ensemble in Boston. For the 1995-96 season, he has commissioned five new works, and leads Metamorphosen in their New York debut in March 1996. His recent appearances include engagements with the New York Chamber Symphony, the Ensemble of Tokyo, and the Russian National Orchestra. Yoo graduated with honors and a bachelor of arts in physics from Harvard, in 1993.

There will be number of events commemorating the 50th anniversary of the symphony by focusing on the 1940s era. The Plymouth Historical Museum will display memorabilia with period cars featured at the museum and at the concert. The Plymouth Community Arts Council will exhibit war-era posters at the Mayflower Hotel in downtown Plymouth and local businesses will have similar window treatments.

In addition, The American Association of University Women will provide a self-guided walking tour of 1940s homes in the Plymouth area. Participants can conclude the tour by visiting the Soda Jerk, an old fashioned ice cream parlor on the corner of Ann Arbor Road and Sheldon. Information and a brochure will be available at the concert and at the Museum.

In keeping with the spirit of the 1940s, the Plymouth Coffee Beanery will host Julie Fountain, a local folk singer, who will share history and music of the era on the evening of Oct. 14 at 8 p.m.

After the concert on the 15th, an afterglow will be held at John Cleveland's Water Club Grill at 39500 E. Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth at 3 p.m.

Sensor's Inc. is sponsoring the concert. Tickets are $12 for adults, $10 for seniors and $6 for children. Afterglow tickets are $5. For more information or tickets, call the Plymouth Symphony Office at (313) 451-2112.

Area orchards offer more than just cider and doughnuts

Families can enjoy the fall scenery with pony rides, hay rides and face painting on weekends. As the flyer says, bring a lawn chair and enjoy the day.

An orchard isn't complete without a hayride. A fun new twist they've added was inspired by a romantic customer who wanted a hayride with his sweetheart. Diehl was happy to comply.

"We figured you can rent a cottage and so on for the weekend, why not a hayride?" Diehl said.

It was such a hit they decided to make private hayrides available at an hourly rate. They've even considered making gourmet food baskets available to customers as well.

Mother Nature has been shining this season on the orchards.

"We've probably finished our best weekend ever with the beautiful weather the past weekends. It's been perfect cider mill weather," she said.

If you're looking for apples, Macintosh are in season as well as Johnathon and Delicious by the first weekend in October. U-pick apples aren't available, but customers may package their own at the mill.

Six years ago, Diane Jones and Cheryl Nelson purchased Parmenter's cider mill in Northville and made it into an extended family business. The sisters and their husbands have formed a partnership, but other members get in on the act.

"Sister K.C. and Jeff Kidder make fudge for the fudge hut on weekends," Jones said.

The nut mill is run by niece Lisa and her husband, John Tenbush. The hut is open weekends and features roasted nuts such as cinnamon almond.

The mill has a long history in the community. Built in 1873, it's been in continuous operation until this day.

Nelson said it's the second oldest business in the Northville and a member of the historical business of Michigan. It's a six-acre haven located near downtown Northville.

Nelson agreed that Mother Nature has been kind to the orchards and mills.

"This past weekend we've had people come out in unprecedented numbers," Nelson said.

Three-year-old Hannah Daily likes the playground and doughnuts best.

Her mom, Karen, makes the trip once or twice a year from Livonia, usually with a friend.

"It's something fun to do during the week when it's not so busy," Daily said.

Don't miss the trickling brook in the back of the mill. A small wooden bridge that crosses the stream is populated by flocks of eager ducks.

Jones said youngsters frequently request "duck doughnuts" to feed the hungry fowl when they're available. The ducks know cider season means good eating.

Nelson said: "They come back every fall when they smell the fryers cooking."

Tom and Sue Wright from Farmington took advantage of the tranquil stream on a weekday afternoon and fed the ducks.

"We've come here many times over the years," Sue said. "We're just taking a ride before lunch today."

Jones thinks the success of the business is due to the great cider and doughnuts they feature. Apparently Gov. John Engler agrees.

A thank you note from the governor after a recent visit suggested the cider and doughnuts should be one of the four main food groups.

The ducks and visitors would agree.

Author takes a breather after writing first novel

By CAROL WORKENS
Staff Writer

Arthur Vicini is reading The Survivors, again. But with a new vision.

"I'm reading it now with an eye to how my friends are reading it," Vicini said, "and I'm seeing it from a different perspective."

Five years of work went into The Survivors, Vicini's first published novel. Like clockwork, Vicini would retreat to the study, which he had set up for himself in the basement of his Northville Township home after the last of his seven children had moved out of the house, from 9 a.m. until noon, five days a week.

"Once you sit down you can really get moving, and when you get up, you shut it down and walk away," he said. "When you come back the next morning it's amazing how your mind clicks."

The Survivors is about two generations of young people coming of age during the '30s and the '60s.

Beginning with life in a coal town in Pennsylvania, the setting of Vicini's early years, the reader follows a group of young people in the '30s at the end of the depression, World War II, during the '50s, the Eisenhower and Kennedy years to the '60s campus. This first group of characters fade away as the new generation comes of age and deals with civil rights, drugs, sexual revolt, and racism.

"The feedback that I'm getting is that anybody, young or old, men or women, can identify with the characters," Vicini said.

Vicini will call his uncles and ask them where they are in the book. He will pick up his copy and read along, him in his house, them in theirs.

And they are giving him feedback. They think they recognize this relative or that.

Vicini began to think he was the only one who liked his writing when three earlier novels he had written were repeatedly rejected from publishing companies.

"You don't know (if it's any good) until somebody buys it," Vicini said. "Your friends can't tell you."

Vicini found the focus for The Survivors while inputting the three unpublished novels he had hammered out on a typewriter into the new computer he bought five years ago. Some of the same characters and background information survived but a new central narrative was written.

"It was a great exercise for me," he said. "I would see a lot of weaknesses and I edited and reedited over a period of several years."

Final details on a book signing date are still in the works with Bookstall on the Main in Northville but the event is expected to take place in the new future.

Vicini said no more novels. But he is contemplating digging out the novellas and his 30 unpublished short stories and giving them a second look now that he is a published author.

Vicini graduated from Washington and Jefferson College in Pennsylvania and retired from the automobile leasing business as a vice president after 35 years. He has 15 grandchildren. When Vicini married Lois nine years ago, they moved to Highland Lakes in Northville Township.

School News

WILLIAM ALLAN ACADEMY

After a long hot summer, the school bell rang for kindergarten through fifth grade students at William Allan Academy on Sept. 5. Preschool students started the following week.

The 1995-96 school year officially kicked off with the school's annual open house for parents on Sept. 13. Moms and dads got a chance to meet their children's teachers, school staff, other parents, and familiarize themselves with school operations. They also got to preview the updated curriculums and check out the brand new Macintosh computers purchased over the summer.

During the Victorian Festival students went back in time to learn what it was like to attend school at the turn of the century. Students dressed in period costumes and brought their lunches in baskets or wrapped in brown paper with twine.

Drinks were gulped out of mason jars. Students used McGuffy Readers and wrote on slates with chalk. They were also treated to horse and buggy rides around Northville courtesy of Elizabeth Kratt and had a delightful tour of Mill Race Village by docent Bruce Turnbull, who told tales of old Northville. Mr. Turnbull also donated a book entitled Northville ... The first 100 Years to the William Allan Academy Library.

Fourth and fifth grade students visited the state Capitol on Sept. 28 to learn about the inner workings of state government. Also on that day, Marcia Hermann gave a presentation on sign language to the first grade.

California Achievement Tests for grades first through fifth will be given on Oct. 10 and 11. Also during October Paul Seleno will be talking about historic Northville, and Carl Cushner from the Michigan Humane Society will be visiting the school with some furry friends to talk about animal care.

The Monday-Wednesday-Friday preschool class launched the Halloween festivities Oct. 2 when they visited Erwin Orchards to pick apples and pumpkins.

Parents and students are also invited to participate in a Halloween maze on Oct. 14 at Plymouth Orchards. And to finish up the Halloween festivities, William Allan Academy dads are planning a Halloween haunted house party for William Allan students on Oct. 28. With dads doing all the organizing, it's sure to be a scarrrrry event.

AMERMAN ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Amerman had a great beginning to the school year and welcomed about 516 students back from summer vacation. We are also pleased to welcome three new teachers this year. Mrs. Colter is teaching second grade, Mrs. Kowalkowski is teaching third grade, and Mrs. LaValle teaches fourth/fifth grade ALPS. Best of luck this year to all three of you!

Amerman is proud to be one of only 145 schools in Michigan to have been accredited by the State Board of Education and has received a framed certificate which is hanging in the front lobby.

PTA calendars are offered for sale at a cost of $4 and are available from PTA vice-president Vicki Snearly. We also need chairpeople for the Health and Safety Committee, Library Assistance, Red Ribbon and Campbell's Labels. Contact Vicki if you are able to help on any of these committees.

Our fall fund-raiser arranged by Lenore Monticello, Debi Lopez and Sue Anker is beginning, and we will again be selling Gold C Coupon Books and Sally Foster gift wrap. The primary goals for our funds this year are the Junior Enrichment Series, teacher stipends and indoor/outdoor recess improvements.

Our first Junior Enrichment Series program was Friday, Sept. 8, when O.J. Anderson presented a motivational assembly called "I'm Wonderful." The students thoroughly enjoyed his antics and message.

The Community Federal Credit Union will again be running a student credit union at Amerman for students in grades 3-5. Parental help is needed every other Thursday from 9-11:30 a.m. to help the students run the credit union. Contact Beth Troost if you would like to assist with this fun project.

The Grounds Committee headed by Janine Bauchat and Melissa Hannah will focus on three goals this year: the courtyard, the kindergarten gardens and flowers in front of the school. On Saturday, Sept. 23, at 10 a.m. families were invited to join with teachers to weed the kindergarten garden and plant myrtle along the Eight Mile fence. Later this year, work will be done to correct the drainage problem in the courtyard and then changes can begin there.

Lynne Byal is working to get the 150 books and tapes in the parent library, located in the front lobby, catalogued and in order and ready for parents to check out. Copies of the school improvement plan are available here as well as a lot of other very useful information. Take time to "check it out" next time you're in school.

Amerman Open Houses were held Sept. 19 at 7 p.m. for grades K-2, and Sept. 20 at 7 p.m. for grades 3-5. It was a great time to visit your child's classroom, meet teachers and become familiar with the school.

The first Roller Skating Party, which was arranged by Carol Bernardo, was held Oct. 2 at the Skating Station in Canton.

The "Be True To Your School" program is now operating at Twelve Oaks, Fairlane and Lakeside Malls. Remember to take your shopping receipts to the schoolhouse booth and have them stamped for Amerman school.

For every $200 spent, Amerman receives $1 toward school supplies. This program is in effect until March 1996.

Wedding

Kimberly and James Clarke

Kimberly Annette Small and James Bradley Clarke were married May 27, 1995, at Lovett Hall in Greenfield Village, Dearborn. The bride entered and was escorted by the groom at the double-ring ceremony performed by Judge John MacDonald of Northville. A reception followed at Lovett Hall for the 100 guests in attendance.

The bride is the daughter of Brenda Cherry of Magnolia, Texas, and Gordon Small of Gilcrest, Texas. She is employed at Market Share Inc. in Troy as a graphic artist, and is currently involved in the clay modeling program at the Center for Creative Studies.

Attending the bride was maid of honor, Tracey Small of Houston, Texas, and bridesmaid, Laura Clarke of Plymouth.

The bride wore a 1960 vintage gown of Ecru satin, trimmed with lace and seed pearls, long sleeves, and a train. Fresh white orchids placed in the bride's hair served as the bridal veil. She carried an arm bouquet (garden style) of white orchids, iris, stargazer lily, statice and ivy.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ryland Clarke of Northville. He received his bachelor of arts degree from Hiram College and a master's degree in American history from the University of Houston. He is employed at Phoenix Group, Farmington Hills, and is currently enrolled at the University of Michigan School of Library Science.

Stephen Van Voorhis of Upper Arlington, Ohio, served as best man. Groomsman was Steven Sellas of Northville with David McConville of Plymouth, and Gordon Small of Houston, Texas, serving as ushers.

The couple stayed at the Bay View Inn in Bay View, Mich., during their honeymoon. They now reside in Northville.

Engagement

Nancy Doyle/Jeffrey Hart

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Doyle of Northville announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Patrice, to Jeffrey Charles Hart, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry L. Hart of Canton.

The bride-elect graduated from Ladywood High School in 1989. She received her bachelor of science degree in apparel design from Michigan State University in 1993, where she was affiliated with the Gamma Phi Beta sorority. She is currently manager with the Ann Taylor stores in Chicago, Ill.

The groom-elect is a 1987 graduate of Plymouth-Canton High School. He graduated from Michigan State University in 1992 with a bachelor of arts degree in humanities – pre-law. While at MSU he was affiliated with Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. Hart recently graduated with a juris doctor degree from the Loyola University, Chicago, School of Law. He is an attorney with the law firm of Pinto, Burnes & Libman in Chicago.

A December wedding is being planned.

Music ministry returns to perform at church

The Celebrant Singers and Orchestra return to St. James Catholic Church Saturday, Oct. 28, at 7:30 p.m.

Last year's performance, which was deemed very successful, was before an almost full house at the church, located at 46325 Ten Mile Road in Novi.

The ecumenical music ministry of 10 singers, along with the 12-piece orchestra, lighting and sound technicians, are chosen from hundreds of international auditions.

The young adults are dedicated to sharing the Gospel of Jesus Christ around the world through music, testimony, prayer and the ministry of God's word.

Celebrant Singers is the first full-time Christian singing group to have a widespread Roman Catholic ministry. Over half of its 1994 services were in Catholic churches throughout the United States and Canada.

While in Rome, the Celebrant Singers ministered in St. Peter's square before an Easter-week crowd of over 120,000 people.

Founder and director, Jon Stemkoski, and the Celebrants have been honored by several private audiences with Pope John Paul II.

There is no cost for the performance but a free will offering will be accepted. Babysitting will be available.

For information, call 347-7778.

Evangelistic team set to perform at Baptist church

Members of Jews for Jesus's The Liberated Wailing Wall are bringing their Hebraic music, ethnic costuming, instrumentation and zeal to sing and tell their story to First Baptist Church on Oct. 15 at the 8:30 and 11 a.m. services.

Jews for Jesus developed Jewish gospel style music over two decades ago. They wanted music with a harmony and rhythm that could blend their Jewishness with a message proclaiming Jesus as Messiah. Their sound is different from the melodies of the church and their lyrics are unlike the liturgy of the synagogue, yet their music will dispel any scoffers to their claim of dual allegiance to both the church and the Jewish community.

Most of the song lyrics are taken directly from the Bible: the Hebrew Scriptures as well as the New Testament portion. A variety of instruments, some more traditional than others, achieve The Liberated Wailing Wall's unique sound. Piano, guitar, clarinet and dunbek (a Middle Eastern drum) are among the instruments used by the group.

The team's philosophy is "Whether you're Jewish or Gentile, we hope that our music is going to help you understand. If you're Jewish, it'll give you insight into Christian thinking, and if you're not, you'll learn about the Jewish roots of faith in Jesus. We want people to understand how Jewishness and the gospel fit together."

The is no charge but a free will offering will be received for those who wish to contribute to the ministry of Jews for Jesus.

The program is open to the public.

The First Baptist Church is located at 217 North Wing Street. For more information, call 348-1020.

America's Drug Problem Is Not As Big As You Think.

It can start as a dare. Or youthful curiosity. Or it may be a way to escape problems at home. Whatever the reasons, studies show that an alarming number of young children are trying drugs. Unfortunately, too many parents still do not believe that their kids are at risk.

The truth is, it's never too early to start teaching your kids about the dangers of drugs. If you're not sure how to talk to them, call 1-800-624-0100 and ask for a free booklet called Growing Up Drug-Free – A Parent's Guide To Prevention. Call today, because if you don't take care of little problems, they can easily grow into big ones.

Greta Scacchi and Sam Neill pursue a mutual attraction in Michael Blakemore's 'Country Life.'

'Country Life' offers glimpse of romance in the outback

A breath of fresh air. A simpler pace. A lovely respite from worry and cares. Isn't this what life in the country is all about?

Au contraire. In "Country Life," Michael Blakemore's comedy of romantic manners, a city dweller's visit to the outback with his beguilingly beautiful wife leads instead to hand-wringing, hanky panky and a heart-quickening dose of illicit romance as the country air brings the most rustic impulses to the fore.

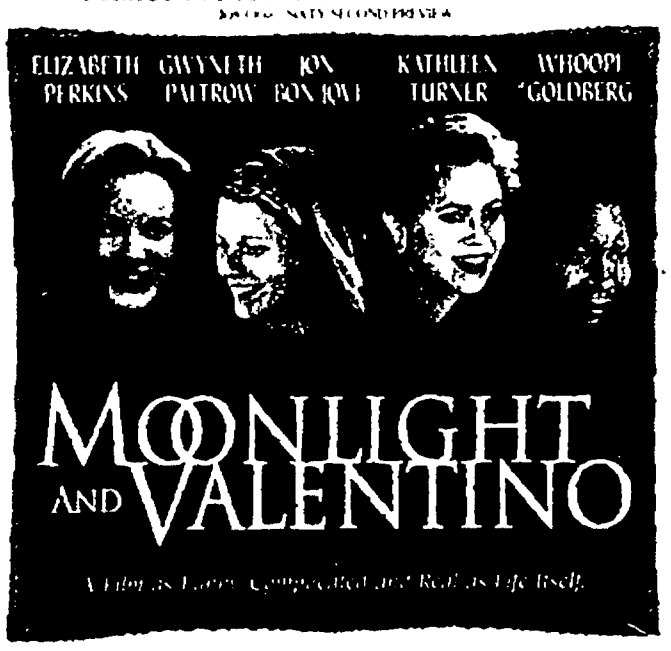

For 22 years, the Dickens' Australian sheep farm has been run by hard-working, hard-drinking Uncle Jack (John Hargreaves) and his strong and independent-minded niece Sally (Kerry Fox). Set on the New South Wales frontier, it's a tract of land that has barely been won back from the surrounding wilds.

Meanwhile, Sally's father, the mysterious Alexander (Michael Blakemore) has been whiling away the time in civilized London, reputedly making his reputation as a top theater critic and socialite.

Now, in the wake of World War I, Alexander has returned to Australia for a holiday in the sun and he's brought with him a lovely if somewhat unsuitable surprise ... his brand new wife — the ravishing, cosmopolitan Deborah (Greta

Murder among the Amish

'Witness' contrasts peaceful Amish lifestyle with crime in the big city

READER MOVIE REVIEWS

WITNESS
By Helaine Binstock
Novi

Nature is at its best in this Pennsylvania Amish settlement. To its citizens, the land, weather and beauty of earth are sufficient. Gratitude for life is ever present. These people need no amenities to enhance existence.

Beautiful Rachel (Kelly McGillis) is widowed and, as always, the entire community gets involved. The neighbors regularly build homes together, assist with chores and rigidly adhere to religious beliefs, helping each other whenever needed.

Following her husband's funeral, Rachel and her young son, Samuel, board a train to visit her sister. While changing trains in Philadelphia, Samuel, hidden behind a lavatory door, witnesses a murder but cleverly eludes the killer.

Detective John Book (Harrison Ford), assigned to the case, works with Samuel to identify the killer. When Samuel points out someone in the police department, John rushes to get the family safely home, and gets seriously wounded.

Rachel nurses John back to health and hides him in her home. This tough big-city investigator's attraction to the sheltered woman makes for an interesting love story.

Especially fine acting by Alexander Godunov as Daniel, a man who's loved Rachel all along. He hopes to replace her deceased husband but still remains gentlemanly to the "hardened" detective who's captured Rachel's heart.

TO WONG FOO, THANKS FOR EVERYTHING, JULIE NEWMAR
By Heather Wadowski
Northville

Patrick Swayze, Wesley Snipes and John Leguisamo star as two award-winning drag queens and a "little Latino boy dressed in drag" in "To Wong Foo, Thanks for Everything, Julie Newmar."

As Vada, Noxima and Chi Chi set off for Hollywood to enter the annual "Best Drag Queen of the Year" contest, Vada gets harassed by a cop and knocks him out. Convinced he's dead, the three drag queens make a run for it.

Unfortunately, their car breaks down 20 miles away from the site of the crime.

Now, Vada, Noxima and Chi Chi are stuck in the middle of nowhere. The nearest town has less than 20 people in it and probably doesn't even know what a television is.

But that's all about to change.

Noxima quickly gives the town a makeover, Chi Chi teaches the people how to love (unfortunately someone ends up falling for Chi Chi) and Vada gets a glimpse of a local family's way of living ... and it's more than she'd ever want to know.

"To Wong Fun, Thanks for Everything, Julie Newmar" seems like just another dumb comedy. But it's not. This movie is filled with real issues: being thrown out of your home with nowhere to go, abusive relationships and the meaning of true friendship, to name a few. Sure, the movie's funny, but it's filled with more heart than humor.

"To Wong Foo, Thanks for Everything, Julie Newmar" receives four and one-half stars out of five, with five being the highest. Patrick Swayze, Wesley Snipes and John Leguisamo play their parts perfectly and not only bring life to the town, but the movie as well.

'Country Life' updates Chekhov's 'Uncle Vanya' Scacchi). The polished pair hardly seems cut out for the rural way of life. Alexander turns out to be little more than a deflated, gouty nuisance as he reorders the household routine to his satisfaction; and the fragile Deborah complains of boredom.

But Deborah's ennui soon gives way to emotional explosions as her charms ignite jealousy among the household's women and dangerous romance and rivalry among the men. Even an outsider, the handsome, idealistic Dr. Max (Sam Neill) — who has long been the secret object of Sally's unrequited affections — is drawn into the fracas, when he is besotted by this worldly beauty. Uncle Jack too falls agonizingly in love, as Sally and the women of the house look on with equal amounts of scorn and envy.

With no one quite owning up to how they feel, secrets are exchanged and desires revealed behind closed barn doors and in the hush of open spaces. And in the midst of this pastoral setting, a wild tangle of passions grows comically, heartbreakingly out of control.

What really goes on behind the placid facades of those pretty country houses? That question has fueled many an imagination since humans first divided life between country and city. Among the first to seek an answer was the great Russian playwright Anton Chekhov, who peered inside a private country manor in "Uncle Vanya" and revealed a highly charged atmosphere of emotion, yearning and humorous miscommunication.

In the enchanting romantic comedy "Country Life," acclaimed theater director Michael Blakemore transports Chekhov's classic tale to the wide open wilderness of the turn-of-the-century Australian frontier — where the robust humor and rowdy local behavior give it an exhilarating new spin.

Blakemore's down-under country setting is more wild than genteel, more New World than Old World, more dangerous than sedate. Into this captivating environment he unleashes a tangle of newly modern men and women whose struggles to fulfill their desires and fantasies are both moving and enchantingly funny by turn.

In describing "Country Life," Blakemore said he used the outline of Chekhov's "Uncle Vanya" and reconsidered it in terms of the Australian experience. He decided to use the play as a jumping off point to tell a playful and poignant story about romance and modern sensibilities trying to take root in an ancient and untamed landscape.

Chekhov could not have imagined his elegiac characters in such a wild pioneer setting, but that's exactly what intrigued Blakemore — to create a sort of Chekhovian sequel with more contemporary humor.

"The comedy has a skepticism and robustness with which Chekhov would have been uneasy but that, for good or ill, are inescapably part of our modern world," said Blakemore. "My film is intended to tell a funnier and probably coarser story than its inspiration."

When we say we screen our doctors, it's not a slogan and it's not just some routine examination, either. This is a procedure we take very seriously. After all, your health is at stake here. So, before any doctors become Blue Care Network doctors, before they ever examine one single patient, they must first survive a very detailed examination themselves.

Here's what it takes. First, all doctors (personal care physicians and specialists) are reviewed against very specific written criteria. (Quality of care is what we're measuring here.) In addition, an on-site inspection is conducted by specially trained staff and results are reviewed by Blue Care Network doctors in the area.

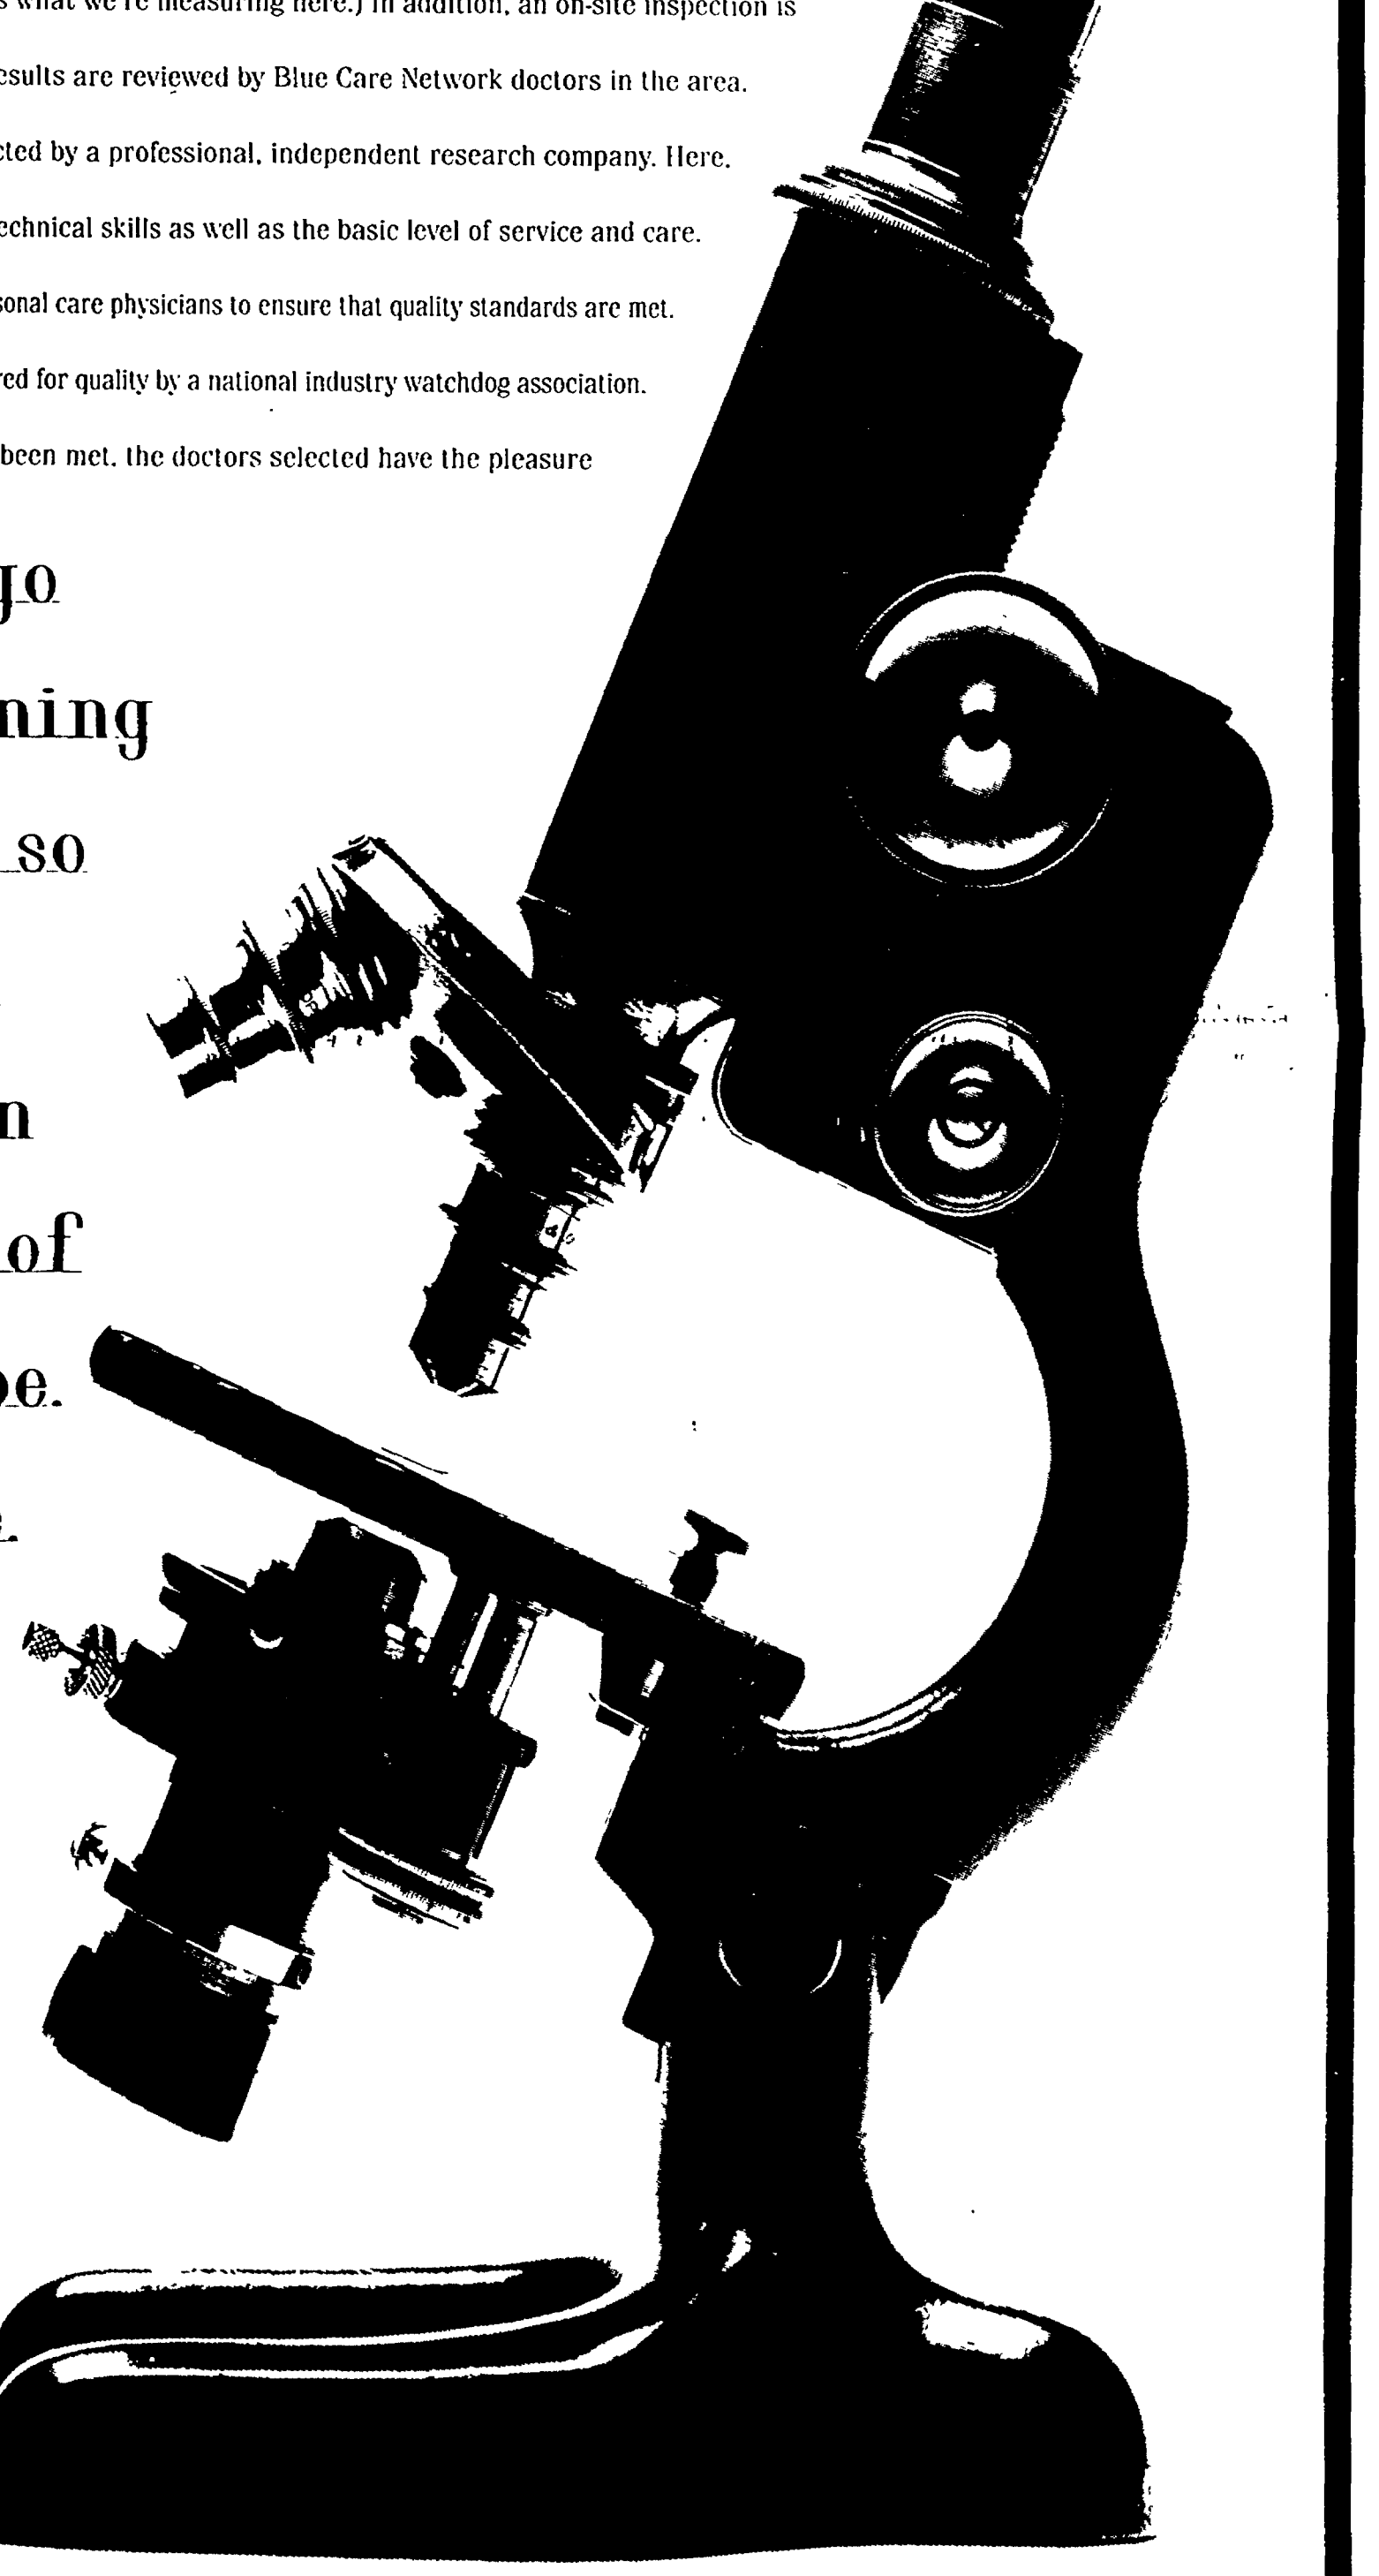

Patient satisfaction surveys are conducted by a professional, independent research company. Here, we ask patients to evaluate their doctor's technical skills as well as the basic level of service and care.

And, Blue Care Network works with its personal care physicians to ensure that quality standards are met.

Finally, Blue Care Network itself is reviewed for quality by a national industry watchdog association.

Mustangs suffer 48-7 thrashing from Harrison

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

There are only two words you need to know about Friday night's homecoming game:

Jason Granger.

The senior tailback burned Northville for 282 yards and five touchdowns as Farmington Hills Harrison crushed the Mustangs 48-7.

Granger ran around, past and through Northville defenders in the lopsided contest.

"He was definitely on," coach Darrel Schumacher said. "I didn't think he would get loose that much. I thought we'd do a better job of containing him."

The Mustangs swarmed to Granger and the ball. But the diminutive back was simply too fast and too elusive as he cut back against the grain time and time again for big gains.

Schumacher said he doesn't need much space to get free.

"He gets a step and he's gone," he added. "Nobody could catch him."

It was a devastating loss. Northville, now 3-2, had to beat Harrison for any chance at Western Lakes title or state playoff berth.

Schumacher said the Mustangs must regroup to salvage the season.

"I'm very concerned," he added. "All the things we wanted were shattered in one night.

"We'll measure the character of this club and find out if we can bounce back."

Northville plays at Livonia Churchill tomorrow at 7 p.m.

Granger didn't waste any time sticking it to the Mustangs Friday.

On Harrison's first possession, the 5-foot-8, 150-pounder broke off a 39-yard run. Moments later he ran nine yards for the touchdown.

Northville did nothing on its first drive and was forced to punt. Granger then got TD No. 2 on a 55-yard jaunt.

While he was superlative on offense, Schumacher said you have to give Harrison's defense credit as well. The Hawks shut down Anell Kersey much of the way and forced Northville to throw.

"They took us out of any kind of offense," said Schumacher. "We threw way more than we would've liked to in a Harrison game."

Northville managed a first down on its next possession. But that was it and the Mustangs punted back to Farmington Hills.

You-know-who busted a 55-yard run on the first play from scrimmage as the first quarter came to an end. Granger then scored on a 10 yarder to make it 21-0.

Farmington Hills Harrison's Jason Granger ran for nearly 300 yards against Northville Friday night. He scored five TDs.

The Mustangs finally got it together before the half closed. Northville took the ball on its own 15 later in the second quarter.

Kersey found room to run and quarterback Scott Vigh hit enough passes to move his team down to the 31-yard line. Kersey then got his biggest run of the night and scored to make it 21-7 at the half.

Schumacher thought the tide might be turning a bit and Northville could get back into it in the third quarter. No dice.

Harrison got the ball to start the half and put together an eight-play drive to make it 28-7. Granger scored on a two-yard run to cap the drive.

"You get him on one down and the next down he murders you," Schumacher said.

Northville moved into Harrison territory after getting the ball. But the drive stalled and the Mustangs turned it over on downs at the 46-yard line.

The Hawks scored again to make it a rout. Granger, who else, dashed 49 yards for this one.

"The game was basically over after that," Schumacher said.

Both teams substituted liberally for the remainder of the game.

"That night they were by far the better team," said Schumacher. "We got our pants whipped."

Harrison finished with 398 rushing yards. Northville had 106 on the ground, 65 by Kersey.

Vigh played well and completed 11 of 18 passes for 127 yards. The coach said his performance may have been the only bright spot.

"I feel good about his performance," Schumacher said.

Kickers down North Farmington 3-1

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

"It's nice to be over the .500 mark. We're getting back to being a composed team."

HENRY KLIMES
Northville soccer coach

Don't look now but the Mustang soccer team is on a roll.

Northville High has shed its slow start and appears to be coming on strong. A 3-1 road victory over North Farmington Monday night gave the Mustangs their third win in four games.

"They play a high tempo, high pressure game," coach Henry Klimes said of the Raiders. "But overall we're a much better team."

Northville moved over .500 at 6-5-3 with the win.

"It's nice to be over the .500 mark," Klimes said. "We're getting back to being a composed team."

That description fits Monday night's game.

Northville controlled play throughout the first half. It wasn't until midway through the half that the Mustangs were able to get on the scoreboard, however.

Dave Terakedis got his second goal of the season and Mike Basse drew the assist.

"I knew it was just a matter of time before we'd score," Klimes said.

The half ended 1-0. Klimes said North Farmington was able to keep the game close by taking advantage of its small field.

At any rate, Rory "Big Dog" Dunnabeck gave his team some breathing room 10 minutes into the second half. The senior got his first career goal.

"He was pretty excited about it," Klimes said.

Ryan Winn got an insurance goal at the 20-minute mark. The goal came on a penalty shot after teammate Sam Vida had been pulled down in the penalty area.

North Farmington ruined Nick Bitell's shutout bid with about seven minutes remaining. Bitell had been brought from junior varsity for the game.

"We might need an extra goalie at playoff time," said Klimes. "He played well."

Speaking of playing well, Northville did just that Friday by whipping Westland John Glenn on the road, 8-1.

Tom Andary and J.R. Graff each scored a pair of goals while Bill Rundell, Vida and Chad Gilchrist added tallies. The Mustangs led 6-0 at halftime.

"It's always fun to win and move the all around," Klimes said.

Westland is in its first varsity season of soccer.

Northville met a slightly tougher opponent Sept. 27 at home in Livonia Stevenson, the state's No. 1 rated Class A team.

The Spartans defeated Northville 3-0.

"They dominated us," said Klimes. "My kids were in awe of them."

The coach said Stevenson used its size and experience to control the game. Klimes said his team never gave up, though.

"We hung in there at times," he added.

A 4-2 road win over Walled Lake Western on Sept. 25 started the week. Tied at two late in the game, Jimmy Fermanis got the game-winner and Rundell added another to boost Northville to the victory.

The Mustangs will try to continue their winning ways tomorrow at home against Farmington Hills Harrison at 7 p.m.

Netters drop 5-3 match to Raiders

If you thought trash talking was limited only to the basketball court and football field, think again.

Northville High found out it can happen on the tennis court, too. The Mustangs fell 5-3 to a foul-mouthed North Farmington club Thursday on the road.

"That was probably the worst duel match I've had in all my coaching years," coach Uta Filkin said. "It was not pretty."

Play on the court was less than ideal from the Mustangs.

"I didn't think we played as well as we could have," Filkin said.

Mary McDonald was one Mustang who didn't have an off day. While she lost 6-1, 6-3 to Lauren Jones, Filkin said she played well.

"Lauren Jones is very tough," she added.

Kristin Smith got Northville's lone singles victory. She stopped Amy Marks 6-1, 6-1.

At No. 3 singles, Julie Glock dropped a 6-0, 6-2 decision to Sarah Hand. Chrissy Kapusky was beaten by Rachel Wool 6-1, 6-3.

The Mustangs took victories in the first two doubles matches.

Lisa Cousineau and Meghan Connery won in two sets. Amanda Nelson and Sarah Johnson were also two-set winners, beating Heather Cornwall and Renee Ouelette 6-2, 6-4.

Jenny Moak and Kara Anderson lost a tough three set match to Jen Wen and Danielle Weisman, 6-7 (5-7), 6-4, 4-6. Angela Bardoni and Shelley Morgan fell in two sets at fourth doubles.

NORTHVILLE 4, HARRISON 4

The Mustangs clinched at least a tie for the division title Sept. 27 at home.

All in all, last week was a tough one for the Mustangs.

"It was a rough week," Filkin said.

Cagers steal Churchill blind in 43-point victory

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Some teams don't get 27 steals in three basketball games let alone one.

But Northville High did Thursday and crushed Livonia Churchill 71-28 at home. The Mustangs used quick hands and choking pressure to throttle Churchill.

"We wanted to get out in front and get everyone a chance to play," coach Pete Wright said. "We worked hard at the defensive end. We had a goal of holding them under 30 points, which we did."

Northville improved to 5-1 on the season. The Mustangs play at Plymouth Canton tonight at 7 p.m.

As for the Churchill game, Wright knew the Chargers wouldn't be a severe test for the team. But he said the game was useful in terms of working on man-to-man defense.

"That's the positive out of it," Wright commented, "because we had been giving up some points."

Northville had been playing a zone defense at the start of the season. When Wright took over after the third game, he changed it to mostly a man-to-man system.

The Mustang defense is still a long way from perfect, but the team is making strides, Wright said.

"We're getting closer," he added. "We definitely have the quickness to play (man-to-man)."

That was apparent Thursday.

Northville didn't get too many chances to show off that new defense. The Mustangs' press didn't allow it.

"We pressured them full court," Wright said. "We had a bunch of easy scores."

Northville took a commanding 18-5 lead after one period. Gina Chiasson, who returned to the lineup after suffering back problems, scored six in the quarter as did Lauren Metaj.

The rout was on by halftime as Northville led 33-9. Metaj led the Mustangs with 11 points at the half.

Wright got everyone into the game in the second half.

"We mixed it up," he said. "Everybody got to play and 11 out of 13 kids scored."

Metaj finished with 19 points and a remarkable nine steals. She also led the team with five rebounds.

Chiasson had 16 points and Samantha Leger added 10 to go with seven steals. Karla Kalso had 10 points as well.

Tonight's game will provide a much larger test. Canton is ranked No. 8 in Class A.

STING

The Northville Sting '85 squad completed a successful preseason tournament tour with two more second place finishes, one at the sixth annual Dearborn Invitational on Aug. 27, and the other at the 15th annual Palatine Celtic Invitational, just outside of Chicago on Sept. 3.

At the Dearborn tournament, the Sting tied the Livonia Meteors, 0-0, in the opening game before defeating the Dearborn Raiders, 4-0, and a Canadian team from Sault Ste. Marie, the Husquarna Civics, 4-0, to win their division.

The sting prevailed in the semi-final match against the Farmington Bandits, 1-0. The championship game against league rival Canton Vipers concluded with a 2-1 loss despite the Sting leading for most of the game.

The following week, during the Labor Day weekend, the Sting journeyed to Palatine, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, to compete in the Premier Division of the 15th annual Palatine Celtic Invitational.

Facing some of their toughest competition ever, the Sting won their division by tying the '85 Sporting FC, 0-0, defeating the Sockers FC, 2-0, and finally tying the Crystal Lake Clash, 1-1.

The championship game against the Quad City Strikers from Iowa proved to be memorable. Tied 0-0 after regulation, and too dark to play two 5-minute overtimes, the match went to penalty kick shoot-out where the Strikers prevailed, 3-2. The Northville Sting players received second place trophies at the awards ceremony.

OLYMPIAN

Former gymnastics Olympian Kelly Garrison will appear at the All Star Gymnastics in Northville on Saturday, Oct. 21, at 2 p.m. She will talk about her experiences and put on a balance beam demonstration with several of the moves that were named after her. Admission is free.

with a 7-5, 6-4 win over Brittany Maxey.

"We knew they had four very tough singles players," said Filkin.

Kapusky closed singles matches by falling in straight sets to Lyndsay Frank.

Cousineau and Connery met a similar fate at top doubles. Andrea Platt and Sheryl Wolff defeated the duo 7-5, 6-4.

Nelson and Johnson were 6-2, 6-1 winners over Jenie Hickox and Megan Wild. Moak and Anderson won all but one game in sweeping Andrea Berman and Michelle Ruffini.

Morgan and Bardoni won in two sets as well.

Northville had two other events last week.

The Mustangs defeated Livonia Franklin 7-1 Friday. Northville also played in the Holly Invitational Saturday, but didn't fare well, Filkin said.

Novi dumps Milford as Witherspoon stars

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

The small town of Milford experienced an abnormal number of nightmares Friday night.

A green flash was reportedly a common element in the disturbances that involved members of the city's high school football squad. Many of the teens were heard mumbling in their sleep.

"Stop Witherspoon, stop Witherspoon," was the phrase repeated over and over, reports stated ...

The above account is fictional, of course, but the Redskins couldn't stop Novi High running back Jason Witherspoon on the field or in their dreams Friday.

The junior led Novi to a 27-12 home win by rushing for 285 yards and four touchdowns. "Spoon" scored on runs of 21, 28, 72 and 59 yards in the Wildcats second win of the season.

"Those four big plays were the difference," coach John Osborne said. "It was a struggle more than I thought it would be."

As the old saying goes, it was closer than the score indicated.

Novi held a slim 13-6 lead at halftime. It stayed that way until the fourth quarter when Witherspoon busted his 72 and 59 yard touchdown runs.

Milford's offense kept the game close until then.

Even though the Redskins weren't putting points on the scoreboard, they were controlling the ball. Milford ran nearly twice as many plays in the game as Novi did.

"They were executing and doing a nice job," Osborne said. "I was concerned. You don't get continuity on offense or get confidence going."

But Novi was able to make enough big plays, on both sides of the ball, to hold Milford at bay.

A case in point came in the second quarter: Down 7-0, Milford got good field position on the Wildcat 45-yard line. After moving down to the 33, the Wildcats backed Milford up.

Defensive back Chad Dicken dropped running back Chris Warner for a 5-yard loss. Bill Antuna then busted up a fourth down pass attempt.

The Wildcats followed with their second touchdown. Witherspoon broke a 30-yard run to get into Milford territory. He then scored on a 28-yard run.

Novi had success with simple dive plays. Designed for short yardage, Witherspoon cut back against an over pursuing Milford defense and then broke into the clear for an easy score.

"We had some success with that play," Osborne said. "We had executed well in practice."

Novi led 13-0 after Witherspoon's second TD. The Redskins scored on their next possession.

An 83-yard drive ate up more than seven minutes of the second quarter clock. It took 13 plays and a fourth down conversion before QB Brent Tabor hit Mike Sadler with a 19-yard pass to make it 13-6.

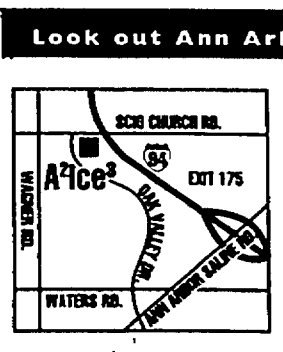

Milford appeared ready to tie the game on the opening drive of the second half.

After starting at their own 30-yard line, the Redskins drove methodically down the field. Solid running by Eric Roy, Warner and Chris Mazzaarls took the ball down to Novi's 14.

A fumbled pitch on second down brought up a third an 16 at the 20-yard line. Tabor then missed on a pass and fourth down loomed.

Clubs offer fun, variety

By CINDY STEWART
Special Writer

The third annual "Novi Focus Health" Week was another huge success. It's a great opportunity to learn all about good health, nutrition and exercise.

Don't forget the "Healthy People Contest." People are targeting the four weeks between Sept. 18 through Oct. 20 as a time in which to focus on what they can personally do to lead to healthier lifestyles. You don't have to join anything. Just do any of a variety of health activities on your own time, record them on the form (available at the Chamber of Commerce, Civic Center and Library) and send them to the Novi Chamber of Commerce, 43700 Expo Center Drive, Novi, MI 48375.

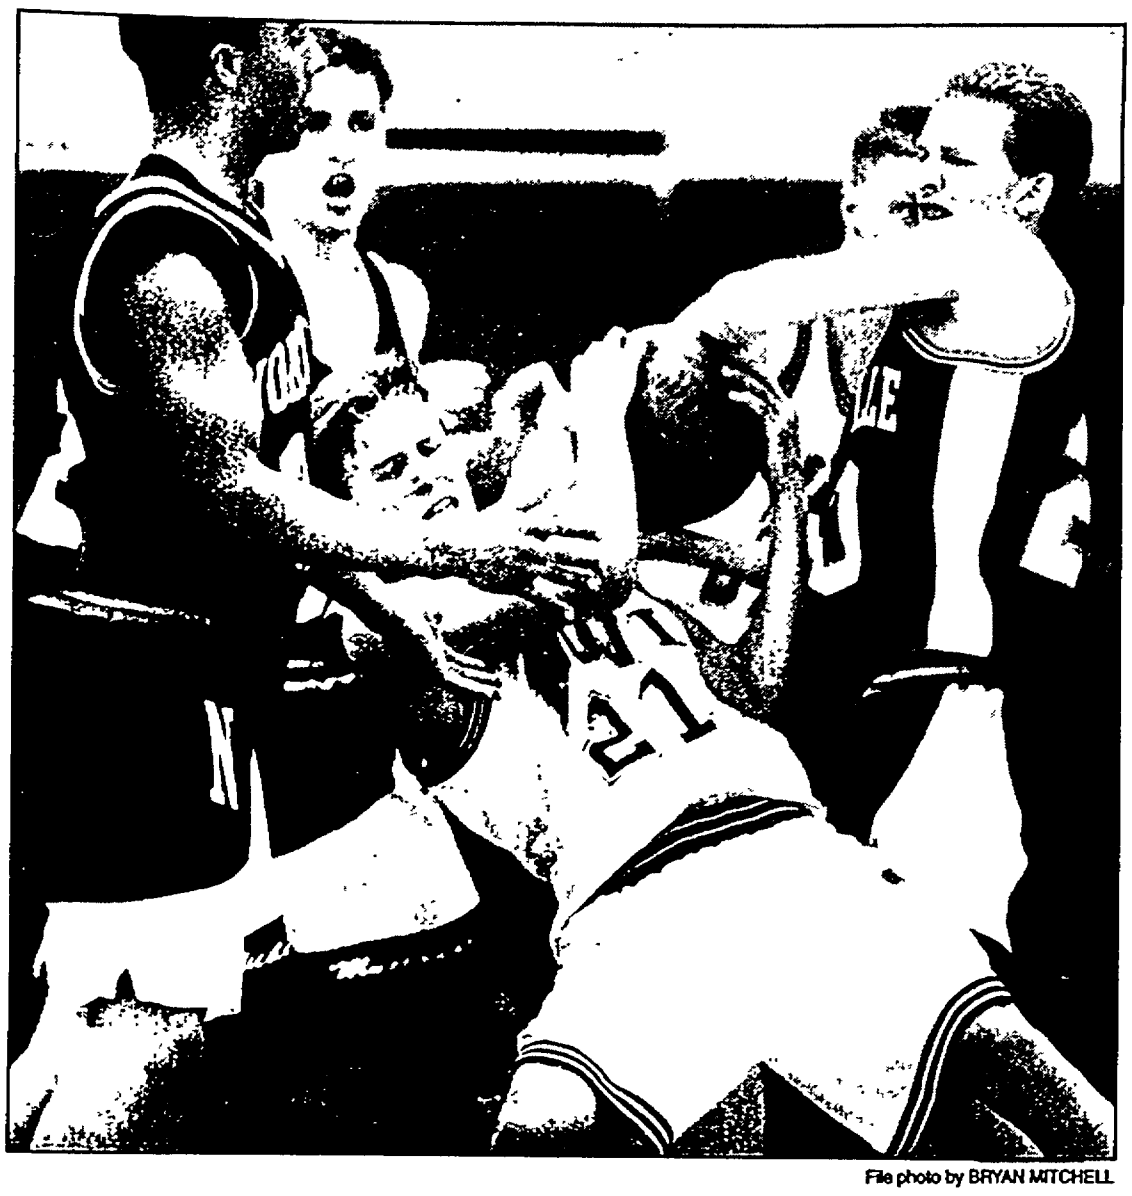

While you're learning all about healthy lifestyles, why not start working on your mental and emotional well-being. With today's busy schedules, people are finding less time for fun and relaxation. Stop. Take time now and find something fun, just for you. Novi Parks and Recreation has activities for kids of all ages. Sign up now for one of the many clubs Novi Parks and Recreation offers.

Interested in gardens and flowers? The Novi Garden Club, a branch of the Michigan Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, meets every third Tuesday of the month at 1 p.m., at the Novi Civic Center. President Elinor Holland invites everyone interested in gardening, good conversation and fun to stop in on one of the club's meetings.

Prior meeting topics have included Ikebana-Japanese Gardening, dried flowers and herb wreaths, making Thanksgiving arrangements with pumpkins, and composting. Its members are always looking for speakers to address the group as well as for hands-on gardening experiences.

The Garden Club is not just for people who have large gardens. Members also learn how and what to grow in small spaces, such as on patios, balconies and in large containers. The Novi Garden Club also works on projects to beautify the city.

For more information on the Novi Garden Club, you can call Elinor at 477-7913.

Novi News photographer Bryan Mitchell is noted for his sports action shots, such as this one of Novi High hoop player Jason Fannon last winter. He recently gave a talk to the Novi Camera Club.

Are you a "shutter-bug?" Is photography your special hobby? If so, Novi Parks and Recreation sponsors the Novi Camera Club. It meets at the Novi Civic Center on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m.

Meetings consist of either an assignment, sharing and critiquing of photos, guest speakers or talks about tips on technique and equipment, as well as other topics of interest to the group.

Award winning photographer Monte Nagler brought in photographs from his collection and talked to the club last year, as well as Novi News photographer Bryan Mitchell, who gave a talk on photojournalism and exhibited his photos.

The Novi Camera Club has approximately 35 members, ranging from beginners to amateurs to accomplished photographers. Members have fun sharing their expertise and learning from one another.

The camera club also takes field trips to such places as Windsor, the Detroit Zoo, Kensington Metro Park, downtown Detroit, Mill Race Historical Village and the Howell Nature Center.

For more information, call Hugh Crawford at 349-5079.

Are you into exercise and running? If so, the Novi Trackers Running Club is just what you need.

The Trackers meet twice a week, on Wednesdays at 6:15 p.m. at Northville Running Fit and on Saturdays at 8 a.m. at the Sundowner Restaurant across from the Northville Post Office. Members range from the casual jogger to the serious competitor. All runners are also invited to join any of the club runs. For information, runners can call club president Lisa Antolec at 347-3125.

Novi also offers the Novi Senior Social Club, which meets twice a month at the Civic Center. The second Wednesday of every month includes a potluck at noon, and the fourth Wednesday of the month is the group's business meeting at 1 p.m. The club plays cards and bingo after the potluck and business meeting. For more information, call Helen Weiss at 478-9306.

If you are new to Novi, or are a resident looking to enlarge your social and civic activities, the Novi Newcomers and Neighbors extends a "welcome to all." The club offers a wide variety of interests for everyone, from social gatherings, activities for children and family events. Be sure and sign up now.

For info, call Deby Morris at 669-6846 or Pat McKenna at 344-2766.

Kathryn Hoppe

Periodontal (gum) disease is the major cause of tooth loss in adults. Since three out of four people over the age of 35 have some form of this disease, it is likely that you will have it at some point in your life.

Although it's referred to as a single disease, there are actually several types of periodontal disease. All are caused by a bacterial infection which begins as an inflammation of the gum and, when left untreated, can destroy the gums, bone and ligaments supporting the teeth.

One of the reasons periodontal disease has been able to attack three-quarters of American adults is that it is usually a painless infection until it reaches advanced stages.

In its earliest form, gum disease is referred to as gingivitis. Often the first sign of gingivitis is bleeding gums. Contrary to what some people believe, it is not normal for the gums to bleed when brushing or flossing. Other signs of gingivitis include red, swollen or tender gums. While gingivitis usually is reversible, a dental visit should be scheduled as soon as possible.

Professional cleaning, combined with good oral hygiene and diet, are often enough to restore oral health.

As gum disease progresses, the signs become more noticeable. Any of the following signs will necessitate an immediate visit to a dentist:

- Pus under the gum line.
- Teeth that are loose or separating.
- A change in bite or change in the fit of partial dentures.
- Chronic bad breath or bad taste.

If early gum disease is allowed to progress, the bone which anchors the teeth eventually will be destroyed. Teeth may loosen and drift, and extraction may be required.

Dentists use an instrument called a periodontal probe to determine if there is any breakdown in gum tissue or development of pockets between the teeth and gums. The depth of the pockets can be measured with this device. X-rays also may be taken to determine if any bone has been destroyed. If periodontal disease is diagnosed, you may be treated by a dentist or you may need to see a periodontist (gum specialist).

In the more advanced stages of gum disease (called perodontitis) a variety of treatment techniques may be necessary depending on individual needs, including root planing, gum surgery, bit adjustment, bridgework, dental implants and orthodontics.

Remember, you may not be aware that you have gum disease because it often causes no pain. The best prevention is through daily removal of plaque – the bacteria constantly forming on teeth – by brushing and flossing, eating a balanced diet, and regular visits to a dentist for a professional cleaning and evaluation.

Kathryn Hoppe, D.D.S., has a dental practice in the Novi Professional Village, 23985 Novi Road, Suite B103. This column is coordinated by Peg Campbell on staff at the U-M Health Centers.

Runners win easy at WLW

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

If Northville High has a surprise team this fall, it's the girls' cross country squad.

The Mustangs were supposed to be rebuilding. Instead, Northville has been demolishing duel meet opponents.

Take Thursday's 20-40 thumping of Walled Lake Western. Running at always tough Willis Park, the Mustangs took four of the five top spots to win the race.

It was a good performance, for sure. But coach Chris Cronin said his team got a break, too.

"We caught them running on that course for third time in eight days," he said. "There girls were really beat up."

Willis Park features one large, steep hill and several smaller ones. Runners have to make three trips up and down the hill to complete the race.

"I'd hate for it to be our home course," Cronin said.

Now 2-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association, Northville is on a roll.

"I'd like to finish undefeated in our (remaining) duels," said Cronin. "I don't see that being a problem."

Northville's last big test comes today at home against Farmington Hills Harrison. Race time is 4 p.m.

As for last week's meet, Allison Murphy was the overall winner. The sophomore first-year runner won with a time of 22:09.

Cronin said she's establishing herself as one of the area's premier runners.

"She now knows what it takes to run out front," he said, "and win a race. She's solidifying herself as our No. 1 runner."

Karen Loeffler cut 30 seconds off of her Walled Lake Western Invitational time from two weeks ago and ran a 23:11 for third place. Erin Tovey was fourth in 23:17 and Kajal Parikh took fifth in 23:53.

"We had a strong pack there," said Cronin.

Jenny Dowdell finished in 24:19, Katie Spillane 24:21 and Amanda Sprader in 25:10.

"Amanda is really coming on strong," Cronin said.

BOYS CROSS COUNTRY

The guys ran well, too, but came up on the short end of 23-32 score to Western.

Coach Ed Gabrys said his team felt the effects of running at Willis Park for the second time in less than a week.

"Comparing times," he said, "we were slower (than two weeks ago) down the line."

Tim Schovers and Ravi Mujumdar have established themselves as two of Northville's top runners this fall.

"I guess that would account for it," Gabrys said.

Dwight VanTuyl made a strong bid for first place. He nearly caught the Warrior's top runner, but came in second by five seconds at 17:55.

Gabrys said he knew beating Western was a tall order. But he told the Mustangs to go for it if they had the chance.

"The whole idea was if the opportunity presents itself, take advantage," he added. "That's what happened to Dwight."

Tim Schovers was Northville's next finisher. He took fifth in 19:03. Ravi Mujumdar was sixth in 19:05 and Jeremy C. Smith ninth in 19:53.

Kevin Morrow ran a 20:02 and Adam White a 20:09 as Northville's sixth and seventh runners.

Gabrys said today's meet with Harrison is winable.

"We're dead even with them," he said.

Golfers fall to Novi 165-168

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Trish Murray doesn't get mad too often.

But she let her Mustang golf team know she was less than pleased after losing to Novi on Sept. 25.

"We made some mental errors," Murray said of the 165-168 loss. "We had a bad hole here, a bad hole there."

Physical errors are one thing, but mental mistakes on the course are harder to forgive.

Murray said her team simply didn't play smart, hitting drivers when an iron off the tee would've worked.

"It gets back to course management," she added. "When you have a loss like this, it's mental errors."

Jeremy Sova was the one Mustang who avoided those mistakes. He shot a 38.

"He's playing very consistent," said Murray.

James Damico finished with a 42. Brian Glock and Jamie Belanger each shot 44.

Four scores were counted instead of the usual five for Mustang matches. Novi plays in the Kensington Valley Conference, which only counts four scores. Since the match was played at Novi's home course, the teams played under KVC rules.

At any rate, Northville's other match last week went a little better. The Mustangs rebounded on Sept. 26 to beat Livonia Stevenson, 204-221.

The Mustangs played at their home course of Tanglewood.

Sova again led the team with a 36. Eric Swietlik stepped into the varsity lineup and shot a 40. Damico scored a 41, Belanger a 43 and Glock a 44.

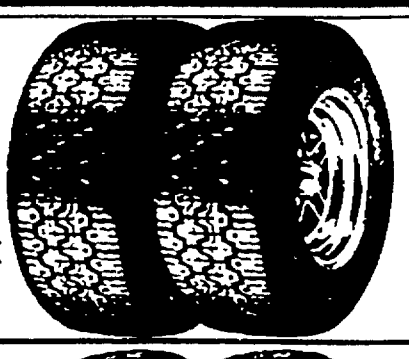

It was the first time Northville had played on Tanglewood's newest nine holes. Murray said it's tougher than the old back nine.

Northville concludes its duel meet season tomorrow at home against Salem (3 p m.)

Homes of future may be built with steel, straw

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

Your next new home may be made of straw ... or steel.

While flying to Seattle recently, I noticed an ad in the flight magazine: "Build your next home on the strength of steel. Discover why informed home buyers and builders are switching to steel."

Steel is indeed becoming a more acceptable material in the construction of new homes, along with other alternative building materials in the wake of rising costs of lumber. Straw, discarded tires and cans — many unlikely materials are surfacing as innovative and creative home building materials.

Steel is typically used in the framing of new homes. It's usually light gauge, galvanized steel formed into C-shape components. The general appearance of the frame, when completed, is similar to that of a wood-frame building.

Advocates claim steel is much stronger than wood. It provides more protection against fire, wind and earthquakes. And termites hate steel frames.

"Steel is a very practical and cost-effective material to use in residential construction," said Jerry Hughes, owner of Anaco Building Systems.

"Many builders are reluctant to switch from wood to steel because they just don't understand its benefits and the special techniques needed to install steel components But it's quite simple. And only minimal extra construction equipment is needed "

While steel in residential construction has increased in popularity for several years, a significant transition to steel framing will be a slow process, according to a report from Criterium Engineers.

"The technique involved is quite different than systems used in wood framing. Also, tools and training that move away from traditional methods are required," according to the report.

Houses built with straw possess some advantages. They cannot be easily blown down (as in the classic story), and are typically built with straw bales covered with a layer of plaster.

Straw bales are oversize bricks of straw bound by a mechanical baler with wire. Most of the bales weigh about 50 pounds and are quite strong.

To conform with building codes, most of today's straw bale houses have a structural support system of wood, metal, concrete blocks or cement, according to the report from Criterium Engineers. The floors, roof, electricity and plumbing are the same as in houses constructed with other materials.

There are about 150 straw-built new homes in the United States, mostly in the Southwest. But an increasing number are on drawing boards throughout the country.

On the negative side, moisture can be a problem. If water is allowed to penetrate the interior of the straw bales, they will rot from the inside out. So it's essential to protect them from direct contact with water, particularly from water

Vaulted ceilings enhance the look of the downsized Suzanne

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

For a recently retired couple seeking to downsize to a home that requires less maintenance, or empty nesters that have children and friends for overnight visits, the 1,503-square-foot Suzanne is a home that will definitely fit your needs.

Enter into this impressive home, where vaulted ceilings enhance almost the entire front section. To the left of the entry, the living room has been designed as a spot to relax with family and friends for good conversation or perhaps a board game. Maybe you would rather just sit with a good book in front of the fireplace, with angled windows on either side providing available sunlight. There is access to a deck along the side of the house.

Here sunny days merit a nice barbecue or a lazy nap in the lounge chair.

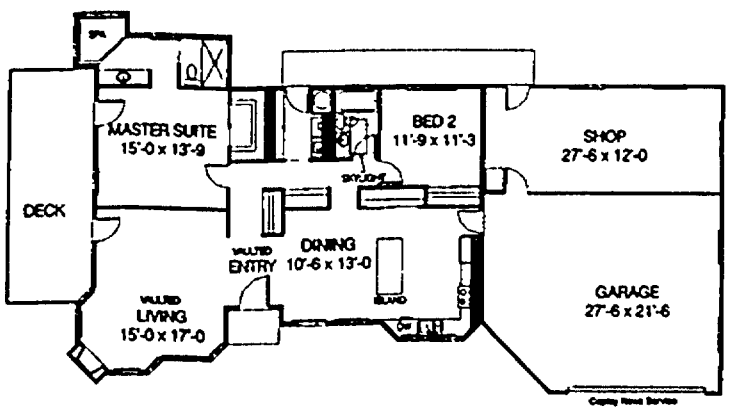

The bountiful master suite is sure to please. Features in this unique room include a huge walk-in closet, shower, separate vanity, door to the deck and private spa. Extra closets are conveniently located in the hallway.

The second bedroom, with generous closet space, is separated from the master suite by a full, skylighted bathroom and a handy utility room with door to the back yard.

A spacious kitchen, with a large garden window, central work station and built-in appliances, is sure to gratify the cook in the house. Meals are easily served in the adjoining dining room. Two large front windows provide a pleasing view, while permitting sunlight to grace the table.

A door from the kitchen to the garage lets you carry in groceries without concern for the weather. At the rear of the garage is a separate workshop that grants the do-it-yourself enthusiast in the family plenty of room for working on any number of projects.

The Marinos had to get approval from the Northville city building department before construction on Randolph street .

A NEW OLD HOME

Building a log home in the historic district of Northville does not mean you need to use petrified wood

By CAROL WORKENS
Staff Writer

A log home, a stream and a large variety of trees that soon will burst into a magnificent display of color sounds like an idyllic setting for an autumn vacation up north.

But, in fact, it is happening right in Northville.

David and Sarah Marino are building a split log cedar and cobblestone home with a cedar shake roof on Randolph nestled among the trees in the historic section of Northville.

After gaining approval from the city building department, the Marinos' plans were forwarded to the Historic District Commission. Any kind of remodeling or building in this section of town must be approved by commissioners, who will ensure that the exterior of the home is consistent with the other historical homes in the area.

Looking out one of the small windows in the home belies its proximity to downtown Northville, just blocks away. Eastern hemlocks, Douglas firs, black walnuts, maples, butternuts, yellow poplars and red pines were planted extensively on the property 40 to 50 years ago and create a seclusion not commonly found in a downtown setting.

The house is being built to imitate the style of a small home with two wings representing later additions, according to David.

The interior of the home will be a combination of exposed beams, logs and drywall, along with a stone wall for the waterfall in the foyer.

The Marinos always knew they would build just such a house and have been collecting rustic furniture for over four years.

"All the windows are small," Sarah said. "We could've had more light in here with skylights and bigger windows across the front but they wouldn't have that look of an old home."

The Marinos chose the all-wood flooring which will include oak, hickory and maple for variety. But, in fact, it would not have been uncommon for homes of that era to use a variety of different woods as part of additions.

Stones from Petoskey and Saugatuck are great vacation finds that will be used in the fireplace in the great room.

The kitchen will have shaker design cabinets with a soap stone-type sink.

"The back splash will be handmade tiles, with Pewabic pottery tiles we have been collecting over the years," Sarah said.

The rough-in work began in May and was completed by members of the Babcock family who came down from Wolverine, Mich., for a week or two at a stretch.

Town and Country Cedar Homes in Petoskey provided the engineering, design and structural materials, including the 32 foot long cedar logs from Beaver Island for the Marinos. Doug Boor, former Northville resident and the design manager at Town and Country Cedar Homes worked with the Marinos on the materials specifications and cost engineering.

"A log home brings you back to nature," he said.

The Marinos jokingly refer to the grayish green exterior color of their home as Marino blend, a mixture of pewter and cape cod gray.

3By C.Z. Guest
Copley News Service

GARDENING

Q: What is compost?
A: Compost is the term apllied to organic matter such as grass clippings, leaves, weeds and the like which have been sufficiently decayed to a light, crumbly mold.In making compost, manure and soil are often mixed with the vegetable matter.

Q: What materials are used in making a compost pile?
A: Plant refuse such as discarded vegetables, cabbage stems, cornstalks, garbage (no meats or fats) or any vegetable matter that will decay can be used. The compost heap should be turned inside out every three months so that every part of the heap is completely decomposed before use.

Q: Does it do any harm to put moldy fruit, vegetables or mildewed shrubs and leaves into compost?
A: Any vegetable matter which is not infected with disease or infested with insects may be used safely for composting. Molds resulting from decay do no harm. Do not use diseased vines, tops or fruits for composting.

Q: Should the leaves for compost be rotted?
A: It's best to have them at least partly rotted before placing them in a compost heap.If not, it is likely to take at least a year for them to decompose, unless peat moss or manure are also used in the compost pile.

Q: In mulching plants, do you wait until the ground is frozen?
A: As a rule, it's best to wait until the ground has frozen before putting on a protective mulch.

Q: Will this fall's leaves be fertilizer by next spring?Can I do anything to hurry the process?
A: This fall's leaves will not be ready that soon, it will take about a year.Leaves saved from fall and composted in the spring may make good leafmold by fall.

Q: When leaves are spaded in during the fall, should lime be used in the spring?
A: Most leaves do not produce an acid reaction, so that liming is not necessary unless your soil is naturally acidic.

A question I hear all the time: If you put diseased plants in a compost pile, will the heat kill the diseases or will those diseases survive and infect my plants when I put that compost in the garden next spring?

Scientists that have studied that very question found that many pathogens, the microorganisms that cause disease, are killed when the compost pile hits 130 degrees Fahrenheit. But how do you get your compost pile to 130 F when winter is breathing down your neck? Do what I do — just wait until hot-composting time , which will occur naturally in the spring, before you use that batch of compost.

Simply pile all your leaves and dead plants together with some manure and soil and just let it sit until spring.Keep in mind, however, that some pathogens can thrive in cool compost heaps (even release spores), so your first spring priority should be heating up that cold compost pile.

Start the process with the season's first grass clippings or any other fresh green material, a bunch of shellfish shells and some nice, rotted, hot manure. Just be sure to turn the pile every few days, moving the cooler material on the outside to the hot center so that it all cooks properly and evenly.

By the way, if you are a vegetable and fruit gardener, you can achieve an even higher level of disease prevention by double-barrel composting. Make two piles, one combining vegetable waste whose finished compost will feed your fruits and the other fruit refuse, whose compost will go onto your vegetable garden beds.

Very, very few diseases are capable of crossing over from fruits to vegetables or vice versa. This is, of course, for next season's use.

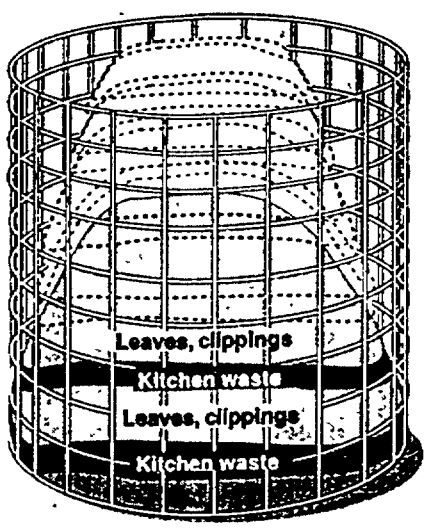

Make a compost pile

Everything that grows yields materials that can be composted and used to supply the garden with organic matter. Manure and soil are helpful additions; meat, dairy products and diseased plants are not.

The steps

To make a small, clean-smelling compost pile from kitchen and yard waste, cut the bottom out of a trash can (or use a wire enclosure) and set on the ground.

- Pile a day's kitchen waste on the bottom. Shred or break up large pieces; avoid large amounts of any single material.
- Cover with a layer of dry leaves, grass clippings and soil. Keep pile loosely packed and exposed to air.
- Repeat layering daily. Keep pile damp.
- An offensive odor means the pile is packed too tightly or the wrong materials have been used. Earthworms or other small organisms are beneficial.
- Materials take six to eight weeks to break down.

Don't use:
Pet feces, large amounts of grease or fat, charcoal, synthetics, floor sweepings, diseased plants, large, bulky materials, large amounts of meat, cheese or milk products.

Removing paint from masonry is a difficult task

By Gene Gary

HERE'S HOW

Q. My son spilled black ink or black shoe polish on the hardwood floor in his bedroom. How can I lighten this area?
A. Spot treatment of stained hardwood flooring is tricky, particularly when the staining has gone through the surface finish and penetrated into the wood. If a major area of the floor is affected, your best bet may be the refinishing of the entire floor by a professional. However, if you want to try spot treatment, use the following steps:

Clean the dark spots and surrounding area with No. 00 steel wool and a good floor cleaner or mineral spirits. Then wash the spotted area with household white vinegar. Allow it to remain three or four minutes. If the spot remains, sand with fine sandpaper, feathering out 3 to 4 inches into the surrounding area. If staining still remains, apply an oxalic acid solution (1 ounce oxalic acid to 1 quart of water).

Use great care when working with acids. Wear rubber gloves, old clothes and eye protection. Prevent any splashing and pour the acid into the water, not water into acid. Let the acid solution stand one hour on stained areas, then rinse with clear water. Wipe dry immediately.

A second treatment may be helpful if the spot refuses to yield. If a second application of oxalic acid fails, sand the area with No. 00 sandpaper and apply a matching finish, feathering out into the surrounding floor area. Let dry. Buff lightly with No. 00 steel wool. Apply a second coat of finish, let dry and wax.

If staining is still visible, the only remaining remedy is to replace the affected flooring. Note: Oxalic acid is a bleaching agent. Whenever it is used, the treated entering at ground level, the report said.

Other concerns relate to fire potential, insects and allergies.

However, some straw-built homes have surprising lasting power. Some of these homes built during the 19th and early 20th century still stand today. In those days, this building technique was quite common, particularly on the prairies of the Great Plains. One structure built in Huntsville, Ala., in the 1930s is still in excellent condition.

Q. What's the best way to handle the situation when a mortgage balance is greater than the market value of the property?

A. First, let's discuss what not to do. This situation has attracted many scam artists throughout the country. Their favorite targets are homeowners who have become "upside-down" in their equity — those who have a mortgage balance that exceeds their home's current market value.

In these cases, the scam artist will usually claim they can eliminate the homeowner's obligation by agreeing to accept responsibility for the mortgage. For what seems like a reasonable fee (less than what the owner would lose if the home was sold), the company would assume the liability.

The company will claim they will negotiate a reduced settlement with the mortgage company or sell the home themselves to make up any difference.

Problem: It's the mortgage lender's decision as to whether they will let anyone assume your mortgage. And agreements you make without their approval aren't binding on them. They can come after you for any shortfall, according to a report from the American Homeowners Foundation.

Also, most mortgage lenders are well aware of these schemes and will not have anything to do with these third-party companies. But by the time the owner discovers this, the scam artist is long gone with his fee.

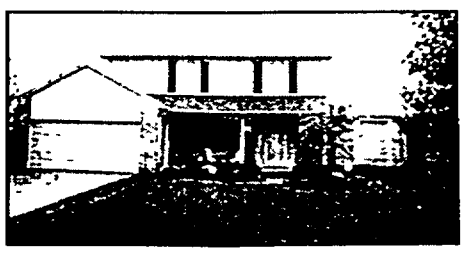

A better solution is for the owner to openly discuss the situation directly with the lender. A workable payment method can probably be arranged.

Teakwood tables as popular as ever

By Anne McCollam
Copley News Service

ANTIQUES

Q. We bought this hand-carved teakwood table about 40 years ago. It cost $75 at a used furniture store. The table stands 23 inches high. We have always wondered about the vintage and value of our table.

A. These ornately carved stands and tables were made in the Orient specifically for export to the United States and Europe. They are as popular today as they were at the turn of the century.

Your stand is circa 1900. The value would probably be $350 to $385.

Q. My girlfriend has a ceramic candleholder that is shaped like a pansy with layered petals. The flowers are white and violet. On the bottom are the words "Carlsbad — Made in Austria." When was it made and does it have any value?

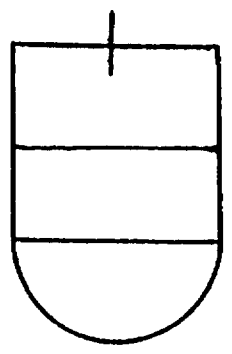

A Carlsbad was in the area of the thriving porcelain center of Bohemia, Austria. Numerous factories marked their ware "Carlsbad." Household, giftware and decorative porcelain have been made in Carlsbad from 1848 to the present.

Your candleholder was made in the early 1900s. It would probably be worth $35 to $45.

Q. The attached mark is on the bottom of a small oval dish that I have. It is decorated with vignettes of people dressed in 18th century clothes. What is my dish worth?

A This mark was used by Arnart Imports, New York. Arnart has been importing porcelain from 1957 to the present. The numbers are manufacturing numbers.

Q. I have a pair of amphora-shape vases that are 17 inches high. Each is decorated with scenes of women and children against a dark-red background and lots of gold trim. Someone told me that my vases are "Old Paris."

What can you tell me about Old Paris and the value of my vases?

A. Old Paris or "Vieux Paris" is a type of porcelain made by a variety of independent and minor potteries in the 18th and 19th centuries in France. It can be characterized by the elegant classical designs, gilding and apparent Sevres influence.

Old Paris can also be recognized by the whiteness of the porcelain and the high quality of workmanship. Your pair of vases would probably be worth $800 to $900 in good condition.

Q. I inherited a complete set of Franciscan dinnerware. The pattern is "Desert Rose." It belonged to my aunt and she bought it in the 1940s. I have no intention of selling my Franciscan ware but I would like to know if it is collectible.

A. Early Franciscan ware is collectible and is seen in antique shops. It was originally made by Gladding, McBean Co., Los Angeles and Glendale, Calif.

The pattern, Desert Rose, embossed with hand-tinted designs, was introduced in 1942. It became their most popular underglaze dinnerware pattern.

Josiah Wedgwood and Sons Ltd., England, bought the firm in 1979. It has been made in Staffordshire, England, since 1984.

The quality and craftsmanship of the early ware is superior to what is being made today. The value of a dinner plate would probably be $18 to $22, a cup and saucer $22 to $25 and a gravy boat $35 to $45 in good condition.

BOOK REVIEW

"Harry Northwood: The Early Years 1881-1900" by William Heacock, James Measell and Berry Wiggins (Antique Publications) contains a wealth of information. It details Northwood's glassmaking career from his arrival in America to his return to England in the late 1880s. Readers will learn what patterns are more collectible, and the importance of color and condition.

There are more than 400 color photos, extensive information on patterns and unique color creations in this well-researched book.

A current price guide is included. The book is available at antique shops and bookstores.

Address your questions to Anne McCollam, P.O. Box 490, Notre Dame, IN 46556. For a personal response, include picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped, self addressed envelope and $5 per item (one item at a time)

New old home

"It is a nice color for the stone, it blends real well," she said.

Seventy tons of cobblestone will be mortared onto 2,000 square feet of the home. Novi stone mason Richard Matley brought the full stones to the site in his pickup truck daily. The stones are kept in place with wires and wedges until the mortar dries. Then the wires are snipped at the joint.

Scheduled for completion at the end of October, the home has over 3,600 square feet on the first floor with a walk out basement and includes four beds, three full baths, two half-baths, living room and dining room, kitchen, a game room, exercise room, office area and a '50s style diner.

The Marinos hired Frank Kocian as the excavator and got much more than they bargained for.

"He's a legend in Northville," David said. "Anybody who has worked on this house he has helped out."

Attention was paid to the chinking on the home to make it as authentic as possible, according to Brian Hale who applied the latex mortar.

The Marinos wrote to Log Home Living magazine about the possibility of featuring their home in a future issue and were given the thumbs up. While some manufacturers found the possibility of a magazine article which would mention their products enticing enough to offer significant discounts, others did not. The Marinos knew what they wanted, discount or not.

floor area will probably have to be re-stained and refinished to match the surrounding area.

Q. How do I remove oil-based paint from concrete paving stone? My Wagner power spray painter is out of control. I painted not only my new wood fence, but the surrounding area, which includes my new brick patio.

A. Removal of paint spills or overspray from porous masonry surfaces is difficult. ProSoCo, Inc. manufactures Sure Klean Heavy Duty Paint Stripper, which can be effective in these situations. One application can dissolve heavy accumulation of paint, restoring masonry to its original appearance. However, the product should be pretested in each situation to assure that it is suitable for your type of surface and paint coating removal.

Although the product contains no methanol, methylene chloride, or chlorinated solvents, and is water rinseable and nonflammable, great care must be taken to avoid harm to building occupants, pedestrians, nearby property and nonmasonry surfaces that may come into contact with the remover, remover residue or fumes.

It for exterior use only, where adequate ventilation is assured. The fumes can be harmful. During use, avoid wind drift and protect all surrounding painted surfaces, nonmasonry materials, wood, metal and foliage from contact with the gel stripper, residue or the rinse water.

The stripper comes in a gel consistency that adheres to vertical surfaces, reducing spillage. It can be applied by brush, roller or conventional airless spray equipment. It is important to follow the manufacturers directions. Technical personnel are available for assistance. For assistance and a copy of a fact sheet on the Heavy Duty Paint Stripper, call ProSoCo (913) 281-2700 and ask for customer service.

Q. I read your column that recommended a formula for removing penetrated stains of oil and rust from concrete. The formula called for sodium citrate, commercial glycerine and whiting powder to make a thick paste.

I cannot find anyone in our area who knows anything about these ingredients, let alone where they can be purchased. Please tell me where I can find these products.

A. After receiving a couple of inquiries similar to yours, I began an investigation as to the availability of these items. Until recently, they were available through janitorial supply houses, which also carry cleaning chemicals. Although availability will vary from area to area, depending on local regulations restricting certain chemicals due to environmental concerns, as a general rule these items are disappearing from the shelf (as far as availability to the public).

Consumers will have to rely on commercially prepared products. Most janitorial supply houses that I talked with market general concrete cleaners as well as more potent formulas such as caustic concrete cleaner for use on heavy-duty stains. Most of these are in a powder form that is mixed with water and brushed into the concrete to remove staining.

Automobile supply houses and home centers also carry concrete cleaners.

A break for renters-We have rental homeowners insurance starting at $28 for six months and it has $10,000 of coverage

We have an insurance company with good low rates for auto insurance and--if you buy renters insurance you get 10% off on that policy and 10% off your auto policy too.

Come in, bring your auto policy and see one of our staff. Maybe you will end up with a no cost renters policy and some money back as well. Akin-Akin Insurance, E. Grand River at Chilson Rd. in Howell. (800)424-2546 or (517)546-4810

Novi Drug expands to help customers

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Writer

George McCollum was in his glory on a recent Thursday morning.

One of the registered pharmacist's longtime customers was having problems with an eye. McCollum pushed the swinging door and walked out from behind the counter at Novi Drug to take a peek at the elderly man's condition.

"The eye still bothering you," he asked the man and then said, "When are you going to get rid of that?"

It took just a few seconds for the longtime Novi resident to assess his customer's dilemma and recommend the correct medication. A small incident, yes, but exactly the difference between Novi Drug and a chain store.

According to McCollum, working with customers makes running his business worthwhile.

"That's the most fun," he said. "You get to help them out and keep them from doing things they shouldn't do."

McCollum has been helping Novi folks since 1958. That was the year he opened Novi Drug on Grand River near Novi Road.

The "Family Pharmacy" stayed at that location until the late '70s. McCollum went back to Wayne State to update his education and then hired on as a pharmacist for one of the chain stores in the mid-1980s.

He stayed there until 1989 when he reopened Novi Drug at Meadowbrook and Ten Mile roads.

Not being able to interact with customers was a main reason for going back to being his own boss, he said.

"We just got fed up," McCollum said of himself and his staff, which includes his two daughters.

Novi Drug recently moved across the street on Meadowbrook. Housed in a brand new 6,000-square-foot building, there's more room for the pharmacy and home medical supplies.

"We've got more display area," McCollum said. "That was the main thing we needed.

"It's smaller than a chain store. But bigger isn't always better."

Instead of pushing make up, groceries and toys like the big guys do, Novi Drug concentrates on medicine and medical supplies.

The shop, which is located at 24100 Meadowbrook Road, can fill prescriptions from A to Z, usually a little cheaper than the competition, McCollum said.

You won't have to walk a mile to get to the prescription counter, either. You'll find it easy to access from near the front door.

"We're the only store with a drive up window," McCollum added.

So if it's more easier to stay in the car to drop of a prescription order, you can do it at Novi Drug.

Besides pharmaceuticals, every kind of bandage, ointment and over-the-counter medication is available, too.

The store also can handle bigger needs, from crutches and wheelchairs to braces and shoulder harnesses.

Novi Drug is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday and 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Sunday. Call 478-3000 for more information.

Novi Drug owner George McCollum said he most enjoys the special attention he can pay to his customers.

Education Notes

College Night

Oakland Community College's Highland Lakes Campus will host its annual College Night on Wednesday, Oct. 18, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., in the campus' physical activities building. College Night enables high school juniors and seniors and their parents to speak with representatives from over 70 colleges and universities.

Many of Michigan's four-year schools – the University of Michigan, Michigan State, Eastern, Central, Western, and Northern Michigan University – as well as out-of-state colleges and universities will be represented. Financial aid workshops will also be offered.

Further information is available from the counseling offices at the high schools, or from the Highland Lakes Admissions Office, (810) 360-3040.

The Highland Lakes Campus is located at 7350 Cooley Lake Road in Waterford.

OCC Culinary Arts Students

the Michigan Chefs de Cuisine Junior Hot Foods Team, coached by Oakland Community College faculty member Chief Dan Rowlson, and Chef David Iselli (an OCC graduate), captured a first-place gold medal at the 1995 National Convention of the American Culinary Federation in New York on July 19. The team consisted of OCC culinary students Donna Pylar, Utica; Maurice Hodson, Farmington Hills; Sean O'Rourke, Warren, the team captain; and Karen Williams, a student at Schoolcraft Community College.

The third annual cook-off competition, sponsored by R.L. Schreiber Inc., brought together the four regional conference winning teams. In addition to the Michigan team – representing the Central Division – New Hampshire-Balsams Resort's team (Northeast) placed second; Puerto Rico (Southeast) was third; and Orange County (West) was fourth.

Teams were given identical mystery baskets of food and 30 minutes to plan a menu for a four-course meal to serve 10 people. They then had four hours to prepare the meal and 20 minutes to serve all four courses. Meals were evaluated on creativity, culinary skills, sanitation, team work and final product appeal. The seven-member judging team was headed by Chef Roland Shaffer, U.S.A. Culinary Olympic Apprentice Team coach.

Each of the four team members was responsible for one course of the meal: Donna Pylar prepared Summer Garden Vegetable Soup with Onion Custard and Tomato Focaccia; Maurice Hodson created Shrimp, Artichoke and Scallop Basil Salad with fresh Dijon Pasta; Sean O'Rourke was responsible for Herb-Crusted Pork Loin, Shitake Mushroom Ragout, Orange-Apple Chutney, Potato-Leek Puree, Sauteed Savoy Cabbage with red onions, Haricot Vert and Carrot ribbon with shallot butter; and Karen Williams prepared Raspberry Buckle with Cinnamon Praline Ice Cream.

The OCC Culinary Arts Program is based at the Orchard Ridge Campus, 27055 Orchard Lake Road, just south of I-696 in Farmington Hills.

For further information, call Chef Dan Rowlson at (810) 471-6405.

Getting cash you need for business

Money Management

Operating a successful business often requires periodic infusions of capital. To help business owners find the right financing, the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants offers the following advice.

SOURCES CLOSE TO HOME

The most logical source of financing may be your own assets. Depending on how much you need, you may be able to borrow against your life insurance policies, home equity, retirement plans, bank certificates of deposit, and stocks and bonds to meet your company's cash requirements.

Many businesses have survived thanks to the confidence and generosity of relatives and friends. Unfortunately, some of these relationships have suffered as a result of a family loan gone sour. While the lure of low interest rates, more flexible terms, and less paperwork can be enticing, it's important to keep transactions with family and friends on a business level. It's best to avoid no-interest loans, loans without a due date, and vaguely defined equity arrangements by preparing a written agreement that documents the loan's conditions.

DEALING WITH A BANKER

Banks generate income by lending money to companies and individuals who repay it with interest. Remember, a bank's primary concern is that you are able to repay the loan. To make that determination, many lenders use the "Five C's of Commercial Credit":

- Character. Are you an honest and trustworthy individual?
- Capability to manage the business. Extensive business and managerial experience indicate that you are capable of repaying a loan.
- Capacity to repay the loan. Lenders want to know where you will obtain the money needed to repay them.
- Collateral. Collateral, such as business equipment, protects the bank's interest in the event you default on the loan.
- Conditions of the loan. The amount of the loan, how it will be used, and repayment terms all affect a lender's assessment of your creditworthiness.

Before agreeing to give you a loan, a potential lender will want to see a well-structured business plan. Your plan should include a description of your business and an overview of the company's past performance and/or future goals. It also should highlight the owner's and manager's business experience and financial profile. A market description, cash-flow analysis, financial statements, and a listing of available collateral are other important components of the business plan. In addition, be sure to include the amount and purpose of the loan, and how you plan to pay it back.

ASK UNCLE SAM FOR HELP

If the bank turns down you loan request, find out if it will grant the loan with a guarantee from the Small Business Administration (SBA). To obtain such a guarantee, you'll need to get SBA forms from your bank. The bank then submits the completed forms to the SBA. Generally within two weeks you'll receive notification of the SBA's decision.

If approved, the loan is made through the bank with the SBA backing up to 90 percent of the loan. Currently, the SBA guarantees loans of up to $500,000 and makes some exceptions for higher amounts.

For more information, call your district SBA office, or 1-800-827-5722.

The SBA also licenses privately owned, for-profit Small Business Investment Companies (SBIC) to supply equity capital to companies unable to raise funds from other sources. SBICs usually focus on specific industries.

Many state and local governments also offer loan programs. The Michigan Department of Economic Development can direct you to those in your area.

DON'T GIVE UP

CPAs say creativity, flexibility and persistence are the keys to raising capital for your business.

To learn more about business loans, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants at P.O. Box 9054, Farmington Hills, MI 48333-9054 and request a copy of the brochure, Securing a Loan for Your Company.

All loans are not created equal

All loans are not created equal. Some sources of credit cost considerably less than others. According to the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants, borrowing against your own resources is usually the most economical and convenient way to obtain funds.

HOME EQUITY LOANS

For many homeowners, the easiest and most cost-effective way to borrow money is by tapping into the equity in their home. They can do so through a home equity loan, which is similar to a second mortgage, or through a home equity line of credit.

The primary difference is that lines of credit are open-ended. Essentially, you can use as much or as little of the line of credit as you want and pay interest only on the amount you receive.

Lower borrowing rates, and interest that generally is tax-deductible, make these loans particularly attractive. Nonetheless, it's important to shop around for the best deal by comparing application charges, fees and closing costs, as well as interest rates. Always keep in mind that failure to repay the loan may mean losing your home.

LIFE INSURANCE

If you've built up cash value in a whole life, universal life, or variable life insurance policy, you can borrow up to 95 percent of the policy's cash value. Interest rates vary, but they generally are lower than prevailing market rates.

You repay the loan at your own pace • or not at all. However, at your death, the policy's death benefit is reduced by the amount of your outstanding loan.

QUALIFIED RETIREMENT PLANS

If you're a participant in a qualified retirement plan, such as a 401(k), you may be able to take out a loan against the plan.

Generally, you can borrow up to 50 percent of the assets in your fund, up to the federal limit of $50,000. Usually, rates are a point or two above prime, and the interest you pay is credited to your own account.

Federal law requires you to repay the loan in full within five years (loans used to buy a primary residence have a longer repayment period).

Failure to pay off your loan within this period makes it a taxable distribution in the eyes of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). As a result, you'll be required to pay income taxes on the outstanding loan balance, plus a 10 percent early distribution penalty if you're under age 59-and-a-half.

MARGIN ACCOUNT

If you have stocks, bonds, mutual funds and/or other securities, you may be able to obtain a margin loan. These are loans made by your brokerage firm (or a bank) that are collateralized by the securities in your account.

Interest rates usually are lower than credit cards and some home equity loans. Generally, the more you borrow, or the bigger your account, the lower the interest rate. However, if the value of your securities drops considerably, be prepared to receive a "margin call" asking you to deposit more money in your account.

OUTSIDE SOURCES

If you don't own resources to borrow against, look to outside sources. For example, banks offer secured loans, which are backed by collateral (such as a car), and unsecured loans, which are granted based on your earnings capacity, net worth, and ability to repay.

Interest rates on these loans tend to be high; so check with several lenders to find the best rates.

Oakland opens center to help companies export

Suppose you're a small or medium sized company in Oakland County that wants to hawk its wares on the international market?

What do you do? Where do you start?

The Export Assistance Center (EAC) in Pontiac is a good starting point. The EAC is an office complex, located at 250 Elizabeth Lake Road, featuring representatives from the U.S. Department of Commerce, the U.S. Small Business Administration and the Michigan International Trade Authority.

According to local officials like Oakland County Executive L. Brooks Patterson, the center is a place where companies can get any information they need about international markets.

It's a one-stop, shopping center for companies that want to go global, Patterson said.

According to federal officials, the EAC and others like it around the country are the centerpiece of President Bill Clinton's National Export Strategy, aimed at enhancing the competitiveness of U.S. businesses in new and emerging markets around the world.

"This is where companies will come for help," said Laurie Fitz-Pegado, spokeswoman for the U.S. Commerce Department.

Oakland was selected as the site of the EAC, Fitz-Pegado said, because its businesses have already demonstrated a willingness and ability to compete on the international market. As a matter of fact, she quipped, "Oakland is the only county in the U.S. with a foreign policy."

M.P. Palnitkard, an engineering consultant with an office in Southfield, said the center will enable companies to make contact with customers and vice versa. Among other things, "the center will offer a database of information on the international market," he said.

"If I'm a paint manufacturer," Palnitkard said, the center will have information on companies needing paint products.

"We will provide translation services" among other professional needs, said W.H. Ihlenburg, an engineering consultant from Rochester Hills. "We can also provide cultural information that will keep somebody from putting their foot in their mouth ... so to speak."

He was referring to cultural mores that, unless understood and observed, an put a traveler at an immediate disadvantage.

Ihlenburg cited Germany, his home country, as an example. There, protocol demands a visitor address a prospective client formally, with appropriate title and last name, he said.

"In this country, doing that marks you as unfriendly. In Germany, it's essential," Ihlenburg said. "Not doing it will put you at a disadvantage."

Takeshi Kagami, the consulate-general of Japan with offices in Detroit, said he expects the center to improve an already good trading partnership between Michigan and his country. Contrary to general belief, he said, Japan does indeed want to open its markets to foreign companies, including those in Michigan.

"This trade center can help," he said.

Patterson said the EAC is a natural for Oakland County. The county is home to more than 2,600 manufacturers including 660 that export goods and services around the world, he said.

Oakland accounts for nearly 40 percent of Michigan's export business, Patterson explained, something that helps explain how in 1994 the state became the third leading exporter state in the country, up from fifth.

County commissioner Fran Amos, a Republican whose district includes part of West Bloomfield, said the center will help companies avoid pitfalls. There's an enormous amount of information companies need about things like patents, trade laws, financing. She said, "This is the place to look for information."

NOVENA to St. Jude. May the sacred heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved, and preserved throughout the world now and forever. Sacred Heart of Jesus, pray for us. St. Jude, worker of miracles, pray for us. St. Jude, helper of the hopeless pray for us

Say this prayer 9 times a day; by the 9th day, your prayer will be answered. Publication must be promised. CWR

PRAYER of Supplication to the Holy Spirit. Holy Spirit, you who solve all problems, who light all roads so I can obtain my goals, who gives me the divine gift to forgive & forget all evils against me & in all instances of my life, you are with me I want, in this short prayer, to thank you for all things & to confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you &, even in spite of all material illusions I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy toward me & mine. Say for 3 consecutive days. After 3 days the favor you requested will be granted even if it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published immediately after a favor is granted without mentioning the favor. Thank you Holy Spirit. L.P.

632 In Memoriam

Ken was my friend
Every day I think about him
Never did I think he'd leave so soon
Now all I have are memories
Energetic hardworking basketball lover
Tall, generous, a true joker
How I'd love to hear him laugh again

My friend is in Gods loving care

He is loved and missed by all
As a son, a brother, a friend, a lover, yes
Every day I think about him
Ken was my friend

AUCTION
Absolute Sale (on most items)
TO BE HELD AT: MICHIGAN HORSE AUCTION
73555 Old US 23 (along US 23) Fenton, MI (810) 750-9971
SUNDAY, OCT. 8 - 10:30 A.M.
PLEASE READ
Auctioneer's Note: One again we have put together a good line of equipment from dealers and individuals to sell at auction. As in the past the bulk of the items that have been consigned are to be sold absolute. We hope to have a vast assortment of equipment, although equipment is something hard to find. The list on the sale bill is tentative and will change due to daily business and the dealers will include some late arriving trade-ins. We will accept consignments until 3:00 p.m. on Saturday, October 7, 1995.
IMPORTANT!!!
Sale order: Sale will start at 10:30 a.m. Dealer closeout items will be sold until gone (approx. 1 hr.). New and specialty items, Sears and Craftsman out of box items, hand tools and any other misc. will be sold til 12 noon. At 12 noon we will sell all wheeled goods, industrial equipment and related items until all are sold. Any small misc. will be offered between large items if time allows or any remaining misc. will be sold at end of sale. As in the past, we do plan on selling fast and hope to be done as early as 2:30 p.m. Due to the difficulty in acquiring large quantities, this will possibly be the last sale at the Michigan Horse Auction in 1995. If you have something to sell, consign it as early as possible so we can promote it.
DEALER CLOSEOUT
We have acquired the last inventory of a closed Machinery Dealer. Mostly leftover parts for tractors, mowers and misc. machines. NO RESERVES, everything sold as is!! Even if new in box. NO WARRANTIES either expressed or implied.
SURPLUS ITEMS - CLOSEOUTS

"YOUR FREE CATALOG KNOCKED MY SOCKS OFF"

We get that sort of comment all the time. People are impressed that our free Consumer Information Catalog lists so many free and low-cost government booklets. There are more than 200 in all, containing a wealth of valuable information.

They tell you how to make money, how to save money and how to invest it wisely. They tell you about federal benefits, housing and educating your children. They fill you in on nutrition, jobs, health, cars, travel, and much more.

Our free Catalog will very likely impress you, too. But first you have to get it. Just send your name and address to:

ECLIPSE CONVERSIONS
"Our business philosophy is very simple. To provide our customer the very best product available and roughly in partnership and quality, minimal in craftsmanship to product choice. Our commitment to product excellence is only overshadowed by our total dedication to customer satisfaction and paramount business ethics."

2 IN-HOME MEASURING SERVICES

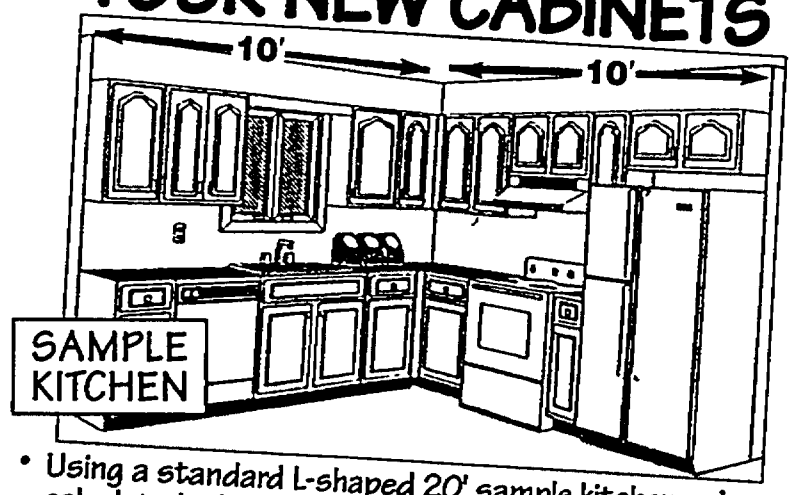

For a nominal fee, our experts will come to your home and verify all of your critical dimensions and check job conditions to insure a perfect fit for your cabinets

4 WE'LL SHOW YOU HOW TO DO-IT-YOURSELF

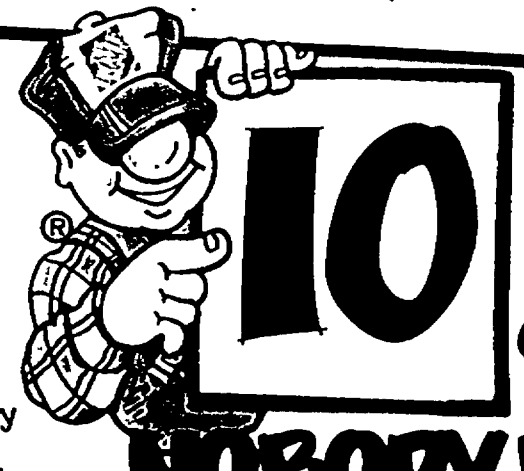

We guarantee you can do it! That's because we take the mystery out of remodeling. Our staff has the experience to guide you through the entire planning and installation procedures of your kitchen and bath project. Our commitment to you isn't complete until your project is!

WE'VE MADE IT EASY TO ESTIMATE THE COST OF YOUR NEW CABINETS

- Using a standard L-shaped 20' sample kitchen we've calculated a 'linear foot price' for many of the cabinet styles you'll see in this catalog.
- Simply multiply how many feet of cabinets you're planning in your new kitchen by the linear foot price after the cabinet style you like. This gives you a ballpark estimate of your cabinet cost.
- Your actual cost will vary depending on your actual specifications and options you choose. Countertop, fixtures and appliances sold separately.
- A complete list of materials used in our sample kitchen are available at your Home Depot!

10 OUR PRICE GUARANTEE MEANS NOBODY BEATS DEPOT PRICES

If you should ever find a lower price on an item we stock, even if it's an "advertised special", we'll not only meet that price, we'll beat it by 10% for bringing it to our attention.

8 WE'RE YOUR SOURCE for BUILT-IN APPLIANCES

9 WE DELIVER

We make every effort to get your materials delivered to your home when you want them at a time that's convenient for you.
