

Student count up 5%

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

There's no doubt about it. The Northville Public School District is experiencing growth.

District officials presented the school board with the preliminary student membership figures Monday, and although the increase in student population will bring the district more state funding, too much growth too quickly could result in overcrowded schools - especially at the high school level.

The figures reflect a districtwide increase in students by about 5 percent. The elementary schools experienced 7 percent growth, while the middle schools grew by more than 4 percent over last year.

The high school experienced the least amount of growth, increasing its student population by a little more than 2 percent. The average class size K-12 for the district is 24.7 students.

Over the past 10 years the school district's student population has grown by more than 29 percent.

According to John Street, the district's director of business and

Advocate: City unfair to track

Counsel says others treated differently

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

The general counsel for the Michigan Racing Association claims that Northville Downs and the Jackson Trotting Association are being treated differently than other city taxpayers, and that the city's policy regarding police services may be unfair.

Joseph Garcia, who represents the seven Michigan racing associations, submitted a letter of understanding on behalf of the Trotting Association to city officials last week. That letter ensures the city will continue to provide police services at the race track but questions the city's policy of billing the association for police services.

"While the policy and practice of the City of Northville differs considerably from every other race track municipality and location in Michigan, we will participate with you in implementing the same policy as last year," Garcia said.

"We are concerned about disparate treatment distinguishing us from other city taxpayers, and we believe that the failure of the state to honor its commitment to the City of Northville is being shifted to us unfairly."

Northville threatened to pull its police services from Northville Downs if it didn't receive a letter of understanding from the Jackson Trotting Association by Friday. That decision was made by the city council last week.

According to City Manager Gary Word both the Downs and the Trotting Association have provided letters of understanding for the past four years regarding the payment of police services during racing events. Garcia's comments

Voter turnout pleases officials

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

Northville's newest city councilman was officially sworn in during a special meeting of the Northville City Council Monday.

Tom Swigart took his place at the council table after being issued the oath of office by 35th District Court Judge John E. MacDonald, who also administered the oath to incumbent councilwoman Carolann Ayers and incumbent mayor Chris Johnson.

The three were the top vote-getters in last week's city election. City Clerk Delphine Gutowski officially filed the voting results into the council record. Johnson gathered 1,037 votes to former city councilman Paul Folino's 579. Ayers got 110 votes, and Swigart received 921 votes to claim the two council seats.

Third place finisher Roxanne Castorino garnered 858 votes. The term for mayor is two years. Councilmembers serve four-year terms.

Voter participation was extremely high at 33.5 percent. It is the second single largest election from a voter participation standpoint in the last 10 years, according to city records.

The highest voter turnout occurred in the 1989 Northville city election when 45 percent of the registered voters cast ballots.

Second cable service gets OK in township

By RANDY COBLE

A new choice for cable television services is on the way to Northville township.

The board of trustees one week ago approved a franchise agreement for Ameritech New Media Services, permitting the phone company subsidiary to compete with Plymouth-based Omnivision/Continental for township cable customers' business.

The 4-2 vote (Supervisor Karen Baja was absent) makes Northville Township one of the first communities in America to have more than one franchise. It will mean

Ameritech will soon spend an estimated $2.5 million in the township to construct its cable system, expected to begin in about 1996, and to be fully complete by 1997.

At least 30 residents who live in Northville can begin receiving cable service sometime in late 1996.

Up to 50 channels will be offered when the system launches, with more channels expected over the next few years. No converter boxes will be needed for the basic 40-60 channel package. Ameritech officials said.

A range of interactive services will eventually be offered as well. Ameritech plans the day will come when you can shop, bank

HEADED TO THE POLLS

Last week's city election saw 33.5 percent of Northville's registered voters cast ballots. That figure represents the second highest voter turnout in the past 10 years. Here are the number of voters and percentages for the last six city council elections:

Date of election	Votes	% Participation
Nov. 1995	1,607	33.5
Nov. 1993	772	15.7
Nov. 1991	627	14

Car gatherings gain approval, but only for 2-month trial basis

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Woolly Bully's will continue to hold its weekly gatherings of classic cars next spring but from now on they'll go on under the watchful eyes of Northville Township police officers.

The township Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) last week granted a temporary permit for the events, which have held every Wednesday from April to the end of October for the last two years at the Seven Mile eatery. The move came despite the protests of Director of Public Safety Chip Snider but was cause for applause among classic car enthusiasts who support the gatherings.

This wasn't the final word, however. The ZBA's permit is only good for two months, April and May of 1996. After that the panel will decide whether Woolly Bully's gets the permit on a more permanent basis. Township officers will be on hand to monitor each of the weekly events before the ZBA meets in June, Snider said.

"There will be police down there next year. No doubt about it," he said. Whether that's a necessary move in response to ongoing problems or overkill that stems from anti-Woolly Bully sentiment and press sensationalism depends on whom you talk to.

The first point of view is Snider's, who alleges that the car events have caused a spate of noise, reckless driving and other problems since they began in 1994.

It's "becoming a drain on public safety resources," he said.

County cooperation promised in land deal

By RANDY COBLE

If everything works out as hoped, Wayne County and Northville Township will be one big, happy family when it comes to developing the huge chunk of land the county owns in the township's borders.

"We hope to develop a partnership with the township to get this property moving on track," county official Jennifer Granholm told members of the township board of trustees at their Nov. 9 meeting.

A ribbon cutting for a road? Why not, when it's an important one. Dick Henningsen, Don Weaver, Maureen Oisecki and Karen Baja presided over the opening of Gerald Ave. Monday.

Gerald Ave. opens for business

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

There's a small stretch of road in Northville Township that many pass by every day with wary a blink. For most of the folks who work on it though, Gerald Avenue has been nothing a pain and a drain for more than a decade—until now.

1995 will go into the books as the year Gerald Avenue got paved after more than a dozen years of trying.

Avenue business owners and township officials who backed the effort stood together Friday on Gerald's smooth concrete to mark the culmination of their crusade.

"We thought that this was never going to come," Jim Long, of Long Mechanical Co., said. "It's a real red letter day."

Running in a north-south direction between Seven Mile and Doheny Drive, Gerald Avenue has been the target of criticism by many who own property on it.

The road's poor surface makes the going rough for truck traffic trying to reach their facilities, many owners said, and making it hard to do business, much less think about expanding operations.

"Some of these places have a national identity," Township Trustee Russ Fogg said. "They're known all over the country but they couldn't do anything about it because of the road."

After 12 years of failed attempts to establish a Special Assessment District (SAD) to pay to have the road paved, a group of business owners on Gerald, working with township officials, this year successfully jumped through all the necessary legal hoops.

The board of trustees approved the SAD for the $1.3 million project in May.

A state grant will pick up $500,000 of the tab. The rest comes from the 30 property owners in the SAD, several of whom agreed to pay their entire shares up front. Instead of over the allowed 15 years.

In addition, Northville Township agreed to front about $165,000 for the project, the money to be collected later from those in the SAD.

That all came about due to legal challenges filed against the SAD by one Gerald property owner, who argued that the plan had a number of flaws including an unfair cost-allocation formula.

"What we're seeing today is a unique effort that very few communities could have," Ron Sinelli, of Frank Sinelli Cement Co., added. "People in this town stick together and get things done."

"It's been a real team effort," Township Supervisor Karen Baja said. "Everyone's given a lot to make this happen."

Several people deserve mention for special effort, those connected with the project said, including:

- Business owners and interested citizens such as Jack Doheny, Long, the Belanger family, Dave Berkaw and Ray Thompson.
- Current and former township officials like Dick Henningsen, Maureen Oisecki, Baja and Eunice Switzler.

News Briefs

CORRECTIONS: The name of Edward Kricitz was erroneously included on the public payroll page that appeared in last week's edition. Kricitz no longer works for the Northville School District and should not have been included in the table.

An article concerning hunting laws in Northville and Novi which appeared in last week's Issue stated that bow season was over for the year. In reality bow hunters can hunt during firearms season if they purchase a gun hunting license.

Bow hunting in Michigan runs from Oct. 1 to Nov. 14 and from Dec. 1 to Jan. 1 each year.

CHRISTMAS CRAFTS: Handcrafters will be sponsoring its 14th annual Christmas arts and crafts show on Dec. 8, 9 and 10 at the Northville Recreation Center, 303 W. Main Street. Over 70 juried artisans will display their talents with such works as florals, stained glass, wood items, clothing and holiday items.

Show hours Friday, Dec. 8, are 9 a.m.-9 p.m.; Saturday, Dec. 9, 9 a.m.-5 p.m.; and Sunday, Dec. 10, 11 a.m.-5 p.m. No baby strollers please. Lunch will be available. Admission is $2.

Local artists include Roberta Baraszu, cross-stitched ornaments; Judy Moore, calligraphy; Mary Tobe, children's clothing; Susan Halthcock, seasonal wood items, angels; Judy Berlinski, personalized figurines; and Lori Markiewicz, baskets.

For more information, call (313) 459-0050.

WHAT A SHOW: The spectacular Wayne County LightFest is in full swing for another season.

New, breath-taking displays and more lights are featured in the event, which runs now through Jan. 1, every night except Dec. 25 from 7-10 p.m.

Bring the whole family for a donation of $5 per car. See giant waving Santas, snowmen, candy canes, and more.

Enter at Hines Drive off Merriman in Westland, 2 1/2 miles south of I-96. For more information, call Wayne County Parks at (313) 261-1990.

Workshop offers chance for kids to make gifts

Northville-area children are again invited to do something really special for their parents, friends and relatives this holiday season.

Grade school kids can take part in the Northville Historical Society's 17th annual Children's Christmas Workshop on Saturday, Dec. 2.

Held in the New School Church at Mill Race Village, it gives children the chance to create gifts they make themselves for the lucky individuals on their lists.

"As special as the gifts are the best part is seeing their little faces," organizer Carol Jean Stockhausen said. "You can't ask for a better gift."

Children in grades 1-6 are eligible to participate.

The workshop will accommodate up to 150 kids, split between a morning session from 10 a.m. to noon and an afternoon session from 1-3 p.m.

Parents, remember not to peek at your child's work.

You can enroll your child in the program at the home of Carol Jean and Bill Stockhausen, 218 W. Dunlap.

It's first come, first served and you have to be present to register, although the children themselves don't.

Call ahead at 349-2833 to arrange a registration time.

The workshops are about half full to date.

Here's what you'll need to enroll each child: $10 and a 1 pound, 10 ounce empty coffee can with both ends removed or $12.

You can pay with cash or check, made out to the Northville Historical Society.

There's no waiting list and cancellations without a substitute being named are rare, so you're encouraged to sign up quickly.

If you want to join the Historical Society call 348-1845 or stop by Mill Race Village on Griswold Avenue between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. daily.

Crash ends police chase

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Whether he was humming Bruce Springsteen's Born to Run at the time is undetermined but Northville Township police suspect a Novi man of leading them on a high-speed chase in the early morning hours of Nov. 10.

A township officer was on routine patrol at about 1:30 a.m. on Friday, driving west on Seven Mile Road near Haggerty. He said he saw a 1993 Eagle Talon heading east on Seven Mile doing 65 miles an hour. As he turned around to pull it over, the officer said, the car began to speed up.

The Talon turned onto southbound Haggerty, the officer continued, and ran red lights at Six and Five Mile roads before being forced to stop by a train at the railroad tracks south of Schoolcraft Road. It didn't sit still for long, however, as the car then turned right and began driving next to the tracks.

It soon crashed into a pile of railroad ties, he explained, and the Talon's driver bailed out of the car and ran into the nearby woods. Police from four other agencies were soon on the scene but were unable to track him down.

Inside the car, however, they found a passenger "who appeared to be sleeping," the officer said. The man, a 21-year-old West Bloomfield resident, was described as "very intoxicated" and said he was "not sure" who was driving the Talon, which is registered to his father.

The man was also a passenger in the car on Sept. 17 when a Novi resident was arrested for driving drunk. A bookbag with the Novi man's name on it was found in the car during the Nov. 10 incident, officers said.

Additionally, a bouncer at Woolly Bully's on Seven Mile also reportedly told police he saw the two men get into the Talon after leaving the bar that night, and that the Novi man, 22, got in on the driver's side.

Police hope to question the man in connection with the incident.

Retail fraud suspect gets mean

A shoplifting suspect just wasn't in the mood to play nice Saturday night, Northville Township police say.

Township officers arrested two Detroit women at Meijer on Nov. 11. One is a 25-year-old cashier at the store and police allege she failed to ring up a number of items brought to her lane by the second woman, 43.

While the two were being booked in the store's loss prevention office, the older woman lit a cigarette. An officer told her Meijer is a non-smoking facility and then took the cigarette away. The woman, he alleged, then began yelling profanities at him and wouldn't let up.

He said the woman stuffed her pack of cigarettes down the front of her shirt when he tried to take them and resisted his efforts to handcuff her after placing her under arrest for obstructing a police officer. She continued to curse him all the way out the door to the squad car and in police headquarters as well, the officer said, claiming at one point that he'd beaten her.

She was released on bond and faces a Dec. 1 court hearing.

MARIJUANA BUST: Township police arrested a Westland man for drunk driving and possession of marijuana on Nov. 6. The reporting officer said he stopped the man for speeding on Sheldon Road near Five Mile and found beer cans and a marijuana cigarette in his vehicle's ashtray.

Three days later, on E. Main Street, police arrested a 29-year-old Northville man for the same thing. The reporting officer alleged that he saw the man's car speeding on Northville Road and found several beer bottles and a half-smoked joint in a cigarette pack in it after stopping the vehicle.

Both face court hearings soon.

BURGLARY ATTEMPT: Someone tried and failed to pry open a side door of a storage building of a Seven Mile business sometime between the afternoon of Nov. 4 and the morning of Nov. 6. Damage to the door is estimated at $75.

DRUNK DRIVERS: Township police also arrested two more people for drunk driving recently. Both face court hearings soon.

A 40-year-old Dearborn Heights man had a blood alcohol level of .12 percent — .10 percent is considered legally drunk — when stopped on Seven Mile in the early hours of Nov. 5, police said. An officer stopped the man's Isuzu Rodeo after allegedly seeing it cross the center line of the road and drive for a quarter mile with its blinker on.

On Nov. 6 near the same spot police arrested a 29-year-old Detroit man. They say they saw his 1991 Ford Tempo cross the center line three times. His blood alcohol level allegedly measured .16 percent when tested.

SICK BUT NOT TOO SICK: A Detroit teenager was arrested for shoplifting at Meijer early Sunday morning. Store detectives say they saw him conceal packages of cough drops, cough medicine and condoms on his person and then leave Meijer without trying to pay for them.

The items are valued at $40. The man, 18, faces a court hearing on Dec. 1.

DRUNK DRIVER PART II: A 33-year-old Canton woman was arrested for OUIL Nov. 11.

According to Northville Police the woman was driving north on Center Street at what appeared to be a high rate of speed. When the woman passed the officer, he was able to capture her speed on radar at 41 mph. The officer immediately pursued the woman and managed to stop her near Baseline.

The woman appeared to be intoxicated, and was asked to perform a field sobriety test. Police then gave her a preliminary breath test, which registered .15 percent.

She was arrested and transported to the Northville Police Station, where a second breath test registered .16 percent.

The woman was held on $100 bond.

UNAUTHORIZED CIGARETTE: A 17-year-old Northville youth was cited for prohibited smoking Nov. 6.

The teen was the passenger in a car that had been pulled over for an illegal lane change when the arresting officer noticed the youngster smoking a cigarette.

The youth was issued a citation.

DOMESTIC DISPUTE: Northville Police responded to a report of a domestic dispute at a home on Carpenter Street Nov. 11.

According to police a 31-year-old woman and her 41-year-old husband had a quarrel that escalated when the woman slapped her husband 15 to 20 times in the face. The man responded with one slap to his wife's face before police arrived.

Neither person was injured in the altercation. No charges have been filed.

Citizens with information about any of the above incidents are asked to call township police at 349-9400 or city police at 349-1234.

City criticized over mailing

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

Sometimes the best of intentions end up causing problems.

In an effort to form a strong relationship with the newly formed Northville Central Business Association, the city agreed to foot the bill for a recent mailing announcing the organization's next meeting.

Unfortunately, in doing so the city spent taxpayer dollars, and that has a few people upset.

"It was decided that we would help the CBA with the mailing because we want to develop a strong working relationship with the organization," said City Manager Gary Word.

"I felt that it was OK to do that because it was a one time situation."

The city mailed out about 350 notices using city envelopes and postage, according to CBA President Toni Genitti. In all it cost Northville city taxpayers about $150.

The city's involvement must have touched a nerve among some of the downtown merchants. Genitti received an anonymous letter complaining about the mailing. Ironically, a couple of downtown business members tipped off The Northville Record about the city's involvement.

Word said the mailing was not illegal.

"The city did not do anything illegal in mailing the notices," he said. "I do realize, however, that doing this may be an unpopular decision."

According to Genitti, the city's involvement is exactly what downtown Northville needs.

"Their offer to help us is a positive sign that all of us can work together in keeping the downtown viable," she said. "I don't think they did anything wrong by helping. I think that we're taking positive steps."

"I believe that with the city and downtown merchants working together, we will be extremely successful," she added.

"I think (Word) was extremely responsive to our needs, and I think that is a positive sign that we are moving forward."

More than 40 businesses were represented at the association's inaugural meeting two weeks ago. According to Genitti, membership is not limited to downtown merchants.

All businesses in the downtown development authority district are encouraged to join and contribute to the organization.

The CBA will plan activities for the downtown and act as a lobbying group to promote business interests, Genitti said.

The association's second meeting was held Wednesday morning at Genitti's.

Family Tradition.

Every family has its traditions. Gathering for Sunday dinner. Marking anniversaries and celebrating birthdays. Unfortunately, some families share more than happy times ... they also share the risk of certain illnesses.

Breast cancer—which now strikes one in nine American women—is among them. If your mother, grandmother, aunt or sister has been diagnosed with this disease, your doctor probably has explained the added risk you face. But unlike women in past generations, you can put time and technology on your side.

We at the Marian Women's Center, St. Mary Hospital, encourage you to see your doctor regularly whatever your age and, once you reach 40, to see us for a mammogram. Our mammography services are designed to give you peace of mind by bringing together certified radiologists and staff, personalized education and high-tech imaging equipment approved by the American College of Radiologists.

Signs of Satan worship at a shelter in Northville?
Yes, said Northville Township police last month

"Yeah, right" is more like it, said a woman this week who told The Northville Record she helped build the shelter, which was located about 300 yards east of the Moose Lodge building on Northville Road between Six and Seven Mile.

"It was all harmless and innocent. It was really nothing at all," Southfield resident Jamie Ball said Tuesday of police reports about the edifice and an ensuing Oct. 26 Northville Record article based on them.

That story described township officers' discovery on Oct. 18 of a well-built and carefully camouflaged shelter in a densely wooded area near the Rouge River.

Triangular in shape, the shelter stood about five feet off the ground and measured 15 feet long by seven feet high.

It was painted green, insulated and weather-proofed and draped with camouflage netting.

Electric power had been provided by a gasoline generator, kept quiet by a system of car mufflers. Furniture and a large supply of canned food were found inside the shelter, police said, as well as more provocative items.

Satanic signs 'harmless'

Also found were a shrine apparently devoted to devil worship, Satanic writings, fake human and goat skulls and illegal drug paraphernalia, Sergeant Michael Panagiotides said in his report.

The phrase "Fortress of Evil - Be aware" was written on both the outside and inside walls, he added, and the real bones and skeletons of wild animals were woven into the camo netting.

"When I read the story I just lost it. I was laughing so hard," Ball, who said she grew up in Northville, claimed this week.

She said that she and her boyfriend, among others, put the shelter up in April and used it strictly for recreation.

"It was just a place to go on the weekends and think, maybe play Nintendo on a TV we had there. That's all," Ball said.

When asked about the strange items police found there, she maintained it was all just in good fun.

"Everyone in Northville knew about this fort. We were just messing around," Ball said. "I'm a loan officer. I'm not a Satanist, although some people may think so, depending on how many points I charge."

As for possible drug use, Ball said she and her boyfriend do not use drugs but added that "I can't say about anyone else who was there."

Panagiotides' report noted that the materials used in constructing the site could have been stolen from area construction sites, Ball indicated that everything had been bought or otherwise legally obtained.

While she admitted that those involved were trespassing (the land is owned by the state of Michigan) Ball asserted that "we were very careful back there. We kept it very clean."

"Nothing was harmed back there."

However, she did say that one individual illegally poached deer there and the bones which police found were from his kills.

"I couldn't help that. We couldn't control what he did," she said.

Police say a makeshift hangout in a wooded area looked like the work of occultists.

No one should lose sleep wondering if Satan worshippers are setting up shop in their backyard, Ball concluded.

"Northville's a small town and it's just not like this," she said.

Township police say no charges will be filed in connection with the incident and that people can judge the facts surrounding it as they like.

"The officers were noting in their report what they observed at that location," Lieutenant Gary Batloff said.

"I wrote down what I saw and from what I saw it seemed to me that someone there at least wanted to give the impression of being interested in the occult," Panagiotides said.

"From a police standpoint it's over and done with," he added.

Firefighters tore the structure down shortly after discovery.

West-end residents told to boil water

A water main break has affected water pressure in the west end of Northville Township.

According to Township Clerk Sue Hillebrand, a break occurred in the water system early Tuesday night, resulting in low water pressure for residents living west of Northville Road.

Those residents are advised to boil their water until at least 6 p.m. this evening, Thursday, Nov.

16. No special precautions are required for water used for purposes other than drinking.

Hillebrand says the break is forcing the system to draw water from lower levels, meaning some sediment could get mixed with tap water, hence the need for boiling.

Repairs were expected to be completed by about 6 p.m. tonight. The break was included as a news item on Tuesday night television broadcasts, and township hall has been busy fielding telephone calls from residents.

Those seeking more information can call the township at 348-5800, or the water and sewer department at 348-5820.

To get up to date on the situation, look for announcements on cable channel 10, Hillebrand said.

City workers offered new insurance option

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

City of Northville employees will be offered a new Preferred Provider Organization (PPO) program option under the city's current medical benefit plan.

According to Assistant City Manager Nickie Bateson, administrators have instructed the city's third-party health administrator - Hertz Claim Management (HCM) - to enter into a one-year trial agreement with SelectCare.

Bateson said in a report to the city council that the plan will help control the costs of medical benefits. Northville experienced a significant increase in its medical benefit costs during the past fiscal year - $102,310 or 23 percent.

She explained that the city's current medical plan, adopted by the council in 1982, does not call for the city to pay monthly premiums for medical insurance.

This means that the city pays for all medical bills for an eligible individual unless that individual's claims exceed $50,000 per specific illness or after the individual reaches a lifetime limit of $1 million, Bateson said.

"Based upon the plan design and other considerations, HCM suggested that a PPO option be

"The city would recognize greater savings under the SelectCare plan based upon the greater difference between the fixed monthly cost and the increased discount on provider fees."

added to the current benefit." Three of the four bargaining units, representing city employees, support the SelectCare option, according to Bateson, and the city has received letters of understanding from the four units agreeing to the one-year trial period. Bateson said that SelectCare is a "high quality" program that is professionally managed, and will provide a way to control expenses for both the city and its employees. "Once the PPO is in place, it is anticipated that the usage of PPO providers will increase," she added. "The city would then recognize greater savings under the SelectCare plan based upon the greater difference between the fixed monthly cost and the increased discount on provider fees."

There is at least one city council member who does not approve of the new plan. Chuck Keys said that SelectCare is poorly run and has a bad track record.

"I think we're making a mistake by using SelectCare," Keys said. "I, professionally, have heard nothing but bad reports about the organization."

One of Keys' fears is that Select-

Care will be purchased by Blue Cross Blue Shield, and that the organization's coverage and policies will change.

"If that happens where will that leave someone who has a preexisting condition?" Keys asked. "Would that person's coverage still be honored?"

Bateson said that the PPO is just an option in the city's overall medical benefit plan, and that employees choosing SelectCare are still covered by the city's existing policy.

Keys and then councilman Paul Folino cast dissenting votes on the proposal when the council voted to approve the measure last week.

Christmas Walk lends Northville air of tradition

Downtown merchants are inviting you to wrap yourself in the warmth of Northville at the annual Christmas Walk, Sunday, Nov. 19, from noon to 5 p.m.

According to Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Laurie Marrs, the event is rich with tradition, and one that keeps Northville unique.

"People who want to begin their holiday shopping will enjoy a unique difference from the traditional mall atmosphere," Marrs said. "It's an opportunity for people to enjoy the beauty of our community."

Shoppers are encouraged to visit the unique downtown shops and restaurants decorated in the Victorian tradition.

At 1 p.m. the Northville High School Band and Christmas elves will escort Santa into town in a horse drawn sleigh. For the next three hours, children and their parents can enjoy free horse and carriage rides with Santa while telling him about their Christmas wish list. The carriage rides are being sponsored this year by the Community Federal Credit Union.

"It truly is a wonderful experience for kids," Marrs said. "Not only do they get to visit with Santa, they get to do it in a much nicer atmosphere than a crowded shopping mall."

Santa Claus is sponsoring a chocolate chip cookie contest this year, according to Marrs. Children are invited to bring two cookies, labeled with their name and address, for Santa to taste. The winner will enjoy a lunch with Santa, a horse and carriage ride, a photo in The Northville Record and valuable coupons from area merchants.

Merchants welcome visitors with free holiday treats, Christmas cards, and special activities in their stores. Local organizations will sell holiday items including Christmas wreaths, evergreen roping, fresh holly, the Music Boosters famous pumpkin bread, and popcorn and cider.

The event will also feature entertainment. From noon to 1 p.m., the Center Stage Dance Company will perform at the bandshell. From 1:30 to 2:30 p.m., the performing group WISH will present a variety of musical numbers for all to enjoy. Rounding out the entertainment is the Meads Mill Middle School Band, which performs from 3 to 4 p.m.

The hundreds of downtown decorations are funded by downtown businesses, Marrs said.

Shopping, browsing and seasonal entertainment make the annual Christmas Walk one of the most popular city functions. The event is set for noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

SECOND WIND: Could a much-rumored second plant be in the offing for Optical Imaging Systems (OIS)?

The company, which researches and manufactures cutting edge "flat panel" computer screens at its facility at Five Mile and Beck, has long been considering building a second complex next door to make screens for the consumer electronics market.

Wayne County official Dewey Henry told members of the Northville Township Board of Trustees last week that the county and OIS are engaged in "serious discussions" on that possible project.

"Nothing's signed yet but we think it's probably coming, hopefully sooner than later," he said.

RAISES APPROVED: The seven people elected to the board next year will enjoy considerably higher pay following the board's Nov. 9 vote in favor of a series of raises for township elected officials.

The pay hikes, which take effect in November 1996, include boosting the salaries of the four trustees from $900 a year to $4,000, that of the clerk from $7,500 to $15,000 and lowering the supervisor's compensation from $25,000 to $17,000 a year.

The board also voted 6-0 (Supervisor Karen Baja was absent) to raise the treasurer's salary from $5,500 to $9,000 annually. That ran contrary to the $12,000 figure the group generally agreed to during a Nov. 2 study session, current Treasurer Rick Engelland said.

"I know that some members have been talking with each other," Engelland said, "but I think we should decide things as a board in public in front of everyone."

TWO OUT OF THREE AIN'T BAD: The trustees on Nov. 9 voted 6-0 in favor of two appointees to the planning commission and zoning board of appeals but split on Supervisor Karen Baja's third offering.

Reappointed to the planning commission is Chair Dick Allen, whose term will run through Dec. 10, 1998. Given the nod for reappointment to the ZBA is member Karen Woodside, who will serve until the same date.

The board then voted 3-3 on reappointing Commissioner Chris Schultz, whose term expires next month. He was appointed last month to fill a seat left vacant for months following the resignation of commission Secretary Don Mueller. The tie means that the appointment is denied, at least for now.

HOLIDAY MEALS: Volunteers from Northville's Senior Alliance will be delivering Thanksgiving meals to homebound elderly residents next week. Trustee Russ Fogg reported to the board.

Anyone who's interested in giving time to help out or to place someone on the list to receive a dinner can contact Senior Alliance at 349-4140.

'Anne Frank' coming to stage at high school

In March 1945, a little Jewish girl of 15 died in the Nazi concentration camp at Bergen, Berlin. Fifty years later her story lives on because of her diary.

As a play, The Diary of Anne Frank took all honors upon its opening in 1956: the Tony Award for best play, the Critic's Circle Award, and the Pulitzer Prize. Now the dramatization is recreated on the Northville High School stage, opening Thursday evening, Nov. 16, at 7:30 p.m. Other performances will take place at 7:30 p.m. on Nov. 17 and 18 and at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 19.

The play, written by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett, conveys vividly "the plight of the Franks and their guests." It is a "lovely tender drama," treated with admiration and respect. Some lines are quoted from the diary but the play is an independent work. The diary is subjective but the play takes an objective point of view toward a group of people of whom Anne is only one.

In the Northville High School production the role of Anne is played by Kristina Juntunen. Anne leads us on the strange adventure, some of it distressing, some of it humorous, but all of it warm, simple and affecting.

Mr. Frank, Anne's father, is the decisive character who manages and organizes the household. He is played here by Travis Gilshire. His wife, Edith, sensitive and caring but fiercely protective of the children, is played by Beth Patterson. Anne's sister, Margot, quiet, courteous, and respectful, is played by Mary Rivard.

Their guests, the VanDaans, are played by Kara Lloyd and Andy Weiss with Nick Barnes as their son Peter. Matt Gillis is Jan Dussel, the dentist who seeks a hiding place when the Gestapo gets too close.

Helping these people in hiding are Miep and Mr. Kraler, played by Sarah Wood and Rick Galan, respectively.

The assistant director is Ben Adis, with lighting headed by Matt Ferrara and construction by Matt Woody. The sound is by Jeremy Abbey and Keith DePoortes. Special thanks go to Mike O'Brian for his construction assistance.

Tickets for The Diary of Anne Frank are $6, $5 for seniors and students. Tickets are available at the high school box office, daily from 2:05-3 p.m., or at the door on performance nights.

The play is being directed by Gary E. Sturm.

Tina Juntunen and Nick Barnes rehearse a scene from "The Diary of Anne Frank." The plays opens tonight, with other performances this weekend. Tickets are $6 for general admission and $5 for students and senior citizens.

Local Salvation Army wants you; asks for volunteers to ring bells

Snow flurries, steamy breath, carols in stores and colored lights all for the Christmas season. Soon, Salvation Army red kettles will appear all around town reminding us it is in a blessed time to give than receive. The bell ringers also remind us that many less fortunate neighbors depend on the Salvation Army Corps to provide Christmas. More than money is needed. Consider a gift of time.

Without a bellringer beside it, the red kettle goes unnoticed and unfilled. Many organizations in the community ring the bells year after year. So do some families. One clan - mom and dad, grown kids, their spouses and the grandchildren - share the task and man a kettle for a whole weekend. A smaller group might volunteer for a day.

How about a neighborhood? What could be more rewarding than cooperating with friends and neighbors to help the Salvation Army fulfill their mission? No one without a Christmas. The real spirit of Christmas is giving of oneself. To volunteer call Martha Schultz, (810) 543-5464. The Salvation Army office in Plymouth serves the Northville community.

Plan to streamline courts floated in Michigan Senate

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Michigan trial courts would be streamlined into a two-tier system under a plan put forth by state Sen. William VanRegenmorter, chair of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Gone would be the probate courts, Detroit Recorder's Court, the Court of Claims and a few remaining municipal courts.

Essentially there would be: 1. Circuit courts, which would continue to be countywide or multi-county. It would absorb the functions of probate courts in handling estates and juvenile matters. A circuit would have three divisions - family court, criminal and civil.

Circuit court's jurisdiction in civil suits would be lifted to $25,000 from the current $10,000.

The chief judge, appointed by the state Supreme Court, would have authority to shift trial judges between divisions, because the strict lines between circuit and probate courts would be abolished.

2. District courts, which would continue to be local but have expanded powers. District courts would take over juvenile cases in misdemeanor offenses.

VanRegenmorter's memo notes that many court reform plans have called for a single "trial court," erasing all distinctions between the current three types of courts. But he is opting for a two-level system because:

"First, a two-level system would be able to make better use of existing court facilities. District courts, for minor civil cases and misdemeanors, could be housed in existing district court facilities..."

Second, circuit courts could provide appellate review of district court decisions more promptly than if they had to go to the overloaded Court of Appeals.

Third, a two-level system "would make the courts more accessible - closer to home for most citizens - for minor civil and criminal matters. This would be beneficial for litigants, witnesses, crime victims and law enforcement officers," his memo said.

Four courts would be abolished under VanRegenmorter's plan: Recorder's Court of Detroit - which currently handles major criminal matters in Wayne County. It would become part of the criminal division of Wayne County Circuit Court. The change will be controversial because Detroit, with nearly one million residents, wants its own judges handling criminal cases.

Van Regenmorter's plan is similar to one by Rep. Deborah Whyman, R-Canton, to abolish Recorder's Court and give its judges circuit judge status.

The change would, however, make all courts in the state uniform in organization - not one system for Detroit and Wayne County and another for the other 82 counties.

• Probate courts - which currently handle estates and juvenile matters. Abolishing these courts would require a constitutional amendment approved by voters, perhaps as early as 1996. Side effect: Some Upper Peninsula probate judges are part-timers who also practice law; under the reform plan, all judges would be full timers.

• Court of Claims - which actually is Ingham Circuit Court and hears claims and suits against the state. Its judges are among the politically most liberal. Both Gov. John Engler and Sen. David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, have marked it for extinction. If it's abolished, suits against the state would be handled the same as any other suit.

• Municipal courts - the only ones left are in Eastpointe and the Grosse Pointe area. They would become district courts.

Judges would be elected without specifying in which division they will serve. The chief judge will assign them.

The family court division will combine work of the current circuit court (divorces, child custody) with probate court (wills, estates, guardianships, mental health proceedings).

The criminal division will continue to handle felony cases, hear appeals from district court cases, and perform citizens' grand jury and one-man grand jury work.

Gone would be the probate courts, Detroit Recorder's Court, the Court of Claims and the few remaining municipal courts.

The civil division will handle suits where the amount in dispute is $25,000 or more. Currently the floor is $10,000.

These local courts would have expanded powers in these areas:

- More criminal cases because the threshold in property cases would be raised from $500 to $1,000.

- Greater civil jurisdiction - in cases up to $24,999.

- They would handle juvenile offenders in misdemeanor cases.

All judges would have authority to issue arrest and search warrants and perform marriage ceremonies.

Already the state Supreme Court has ordered that it will appoint chief judges in each circuit.

The chief judge will have authority to reassign cases within the circuit's trial court system, shifting judges between divisions and courts.

The Supreme Court would continue to have authority to reassign judges temporarily in other circuits. The goal is to balance the workload.

Several House committees this week were scheduled to hear testimony on the question of merging Detroit Recorder's Court into the Wayne County Circuit Court.

Chief Justice James Brickley opposes the change.

more and more people are getting the message... Oil the beautiful fuel of choice™

Whether you're now heating with oil and considering another fuel, or choosing the heating system for a new home, you owe it to yourself to take a close look at today's highly efficient, safe and clean oil fired systems.

Oil is ideal for both hot water heating systems or forced air with air conditioning and options such as set-back thermostats, zoned heating, humidification and electronic air cleaning. Plus it offers you competitive fuel pricing.

As for efficiency, U.S. Department of Energy figures have proven that oil heating is 16% more efficient than gas. This comes from a flame temperature that's 400° hotter than gas. So air or water get hotter faster, saving fuel and dollars. And today's oil furnaces and boilers typically have efficiency ratings in the high 80's, which is higher than the typical gas furnace or boiler.

The D.O.E. also states that fuel costs drop from 15% to 20% in existing homes when a high efficiency, flame-retention head burner is installed. A new oil-fired furnace or boiler will often reduce annual fuel costs as much as 40%. Savings this great not only pay for the new equipment, but keep heating oil bills low for years to come.

Let us give you an estimate for a modern oil fired system for your home or commercial building. We think you'll be surprised at the economies of today's OIL...the beautiful fuel of choice.

Opposition forming over welfare proposals

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Suburban lawmakers are cheering, but welfare organizations are wary, as Gov. John Engler's reform plan starts a speedy journey through the Michigan Legislature.

"Now that the federal government has stopped micro-managing our welfare program, we'll be better able to help recipients grow and develop into self-sufficiency," said Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville.

calls for suspending the driver's licenses of parents who fail to pay court-ordered child support.

"My legislation holds irresponsible parents accountable," said Willard. "That's what welfare reform should be about."

Engler's reform plan would change 40 years of practices in Michigan, and yet it's on a fast track that is likely to see it become law by the end of the year.

Reason: If the governor can sign it by Dec. 31, it can take effect next April 1 without a two-thirds vote of both chambers of the Legislature. And some Democratic opposition is predictable.

If passed in 1996 without a two-thirds vote for immediate effect, the package wouldn't take effect until April of 1997.

Michigan would be a follower, not a leader, in a presidential election year.

Sister Monica Kostelny, president of the Michigan Catholic Conference, urged caution.

"The needs of poor people must be placed before an artificial deadline set by the governor and legislative leadership," said Sister Monica, head of the public policy voice of the Catholic Church in Michigan.

Ann Marston, president of the Michigan League for Human Services, urged an "open and thoughtful process" rather than a rush.

But Engler's outline says his reforms "will promote employment, further reducing caseloads and payment levels."

Handling the package in the House is the Human Services Committee, headed by Rep. Jack Horton, R-Belmont.

Four of its seven members are women, making it one of the few female-dominated panels in the House.

State changes in welfare are coming in the wake of federal block grants to replace detailed federal programs.

Engler wants to rename the Department of Social Services the "Family Independence Agency."

"The new program emphasizes work by making participation in Work First mandatory and puts in place tough standards to encourage steady progress toward self-sufficiency," Engler said at a news conference.

Mill Race Matters

Mill Race Village holds its annual Christmas Walk this weekend Saturday, Nov. 18, and Sunday, Nov. 19, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Admission to this special event is $1 payable at the gate.

All buildings will be open with docents on hand to discuss their histories while blacksmith Owen Createau, members of the Mill Race Weavers' Guild, and the Mill Race Basket Guild will be on hand to demonstrate crafts from the Victorian era.

In addition, area groups will be selling homemade cookies and poinsettias and the Village Country Store will be open for business.

In addition to its many other offerings the store provides several publications created by and for the Northville Historical Society relating to community history. Additions this year include Revelations of the Rouge by Julie Fountain and two collections of journal material edited by Julie Fountain. Also available are Step by Step Through Northville, a book of city walking tours; "Early Northville" a collection of early pictures from this community; "An Ideal Suburban Village" a reprint of an 1890s promotional piece on the Village, and a few copies of Jack Hoffman's Northville - The First 100 Years. All make excellent gifts for newcomers and old timers alike.

This year the Village buildings have been decorated by the Mill Race Questers, Changing Seasons, Gardenviews, Preferences, and Historical Society members. The addition of new decorations promises to add an interesting new dimension to this traditional event thanks to the assistance of the Northville Mother's Club Alumni which coordinated the effort with Historical Society chairs Cheryl Gazlay and Jo Ann Harris.

Historical Society members will have time to enjoy the decorations during their Dec. 15 holiday celebration. Members should expect cards in the mail with additional information.

Mother's Club Alumni will have a chance to enjoy their decorative accomplishments at their annual celebration this year, scheduled for Dec. 2 in four of the Mill Race Village buildings.

Numerous other community groups plan holiday meetings at the village and will have the opportunity to enjoy the special decorations provided by these local merchants and friends. Special thanks to all who have contributed time and effort to this truly joint community endeavor.

With the arrival of the holiday season, community activity at Mill Race Village declines but activity itself never ceases. Members of the Stone Gang plan to spend the winter making new and different birdhouses after the successful sale of this season's collection.

The archives committee plans to begin work on the Historical Society's own records creating a usable archival collection on the organization and its 30 year history in this community.

Committees are at work to plan major events for 1996. One upcoming event will be a return to the Historical Society program. The board of directors plans to hold an antique auction this year at New School Church, under the direction of Fran Gazlay and Art Rockall.

Those who attended last year's benefit at Genitti's will remember the fine performances by these two local comedians. Look for this activity in late February or early March.

Three local businesses join annual Toys for Tots campaign

Three local merchants have joined forces with the United States Marine Corps Reserves to help with this year's "Toys for Tots" campaign.

The "Toys for Tots" program collects new, unwrapped toys and distributes them during the holiday season to children from economically challenged homes. Toys will be collected at the Mailboxes, Etc. store at 118 Main-Centre, downtown Northville, and the Town and Country Eye Care, 2212 Novi Road, Novi, in the Oak Pointe Plaza.

As an additional incentive to this program, any toys purchased at the Ultimate Toys and Gifts store at 107 N. Center, downtown Northville, for donation to this program will receive a 10 percent discount.

For further information on this program, call Mailboxes, Etc. at (810) 344-1980.

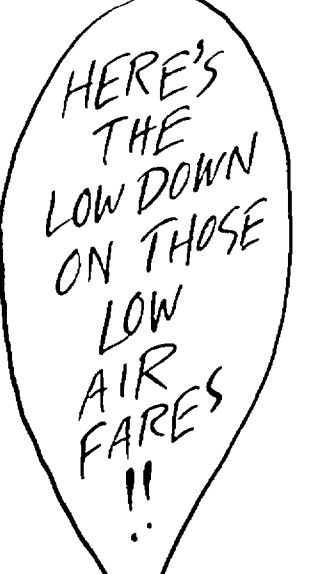

If You Want A Low Airfare In Detroit, You'll Have To Fly To Atlanta.

The Good, The Bad, And The Ugly News About Northwest's Airfares In Detroit.

Why are airfares to Atlanta so much lower than they are to other cities? Because ValuJet Airlines flies there. In fact, since ValuJet began serving Detroit, Northwest Airline's average fare to Atlanta has fallen from $195 to $102* That's the good news.

The bad news is that fares to cities to which ValuJet doesn't fly are as high as ever. To see what we mean, take a glance at the chart below. (It isn't a pretty sight.)

DESTINATION	AIR MILES FROM DETROIT	NORTHWEST'S LOWEST HIGHEST FARES	VALUJET'S LOWEST HIGHEST FARES
ATLANTA	594 MILES	$69 - $366	$69 - $119
BOSTON	632 MILES	$182 - $430	NO SERVICE
MINNEAPOLIS	528 MILES	$198 - $470	NO SERVICE
NEW YORK	501 MILES	$148 - $371	NO SERVICE
RALPHIGH-DURHAM	501 MILES	$193 - $351	$99 - $159*

ValuJet Makes The Difference In Airfares.

If air miles aren't the difference in airfares, what is? Obviously it's ValuJet. And we're working to bring Detroit more low-airfare choices soon. In the meantime, you can connect through Atlanta on ValuJet to 14 cities - including seven in Florida. And you'll always get "Low Fares Everyday Everywhere We Fly" because that's the ValuJet promise.

The halls of Northville High School are a little more crowded this year, as student population increased in all grade levels.

Student count shows district population up

finance, more students equates to more revenue under the state funding formula brought about by the passage of Proposition A.

The formula takes the October student Full Time Equivalent (FTE) count and averages that number with an FTE student count taken in February.

That average is then multiplied by the state per-pupil rate, and that figure represents the amount of state funding received by the district.

For example, if the district's October 1995 FTE count is 4,499 you would average that figure by the February 1995 count of 4,331, giving you an FTE average of 4,415 students.

You would then multiply that number by the per-pupil ratio of $6,693, and the amount of state funding received by the school district would be $29.5 million.

That might seem like a lot of money, but Street explained that the more students you have, the more teachers need to be hired, and consequently more classrooms need to be provided.

"When you get more students you get more revenue, and up to a point that is beneficial," Street said.

"But with that growth you have to look at more teachers, new

"With growth you have to look at more teachers, new buildings, and other things that go with educating kids."

buildings, and other things that go with educating kids.

"Each student enrolled brings in more revenue than expense, up to a point," he added. "With more students entering the district, that ratio decreases."

Street said Proposition A changed the way districts deal with student growth.

If a community's growth was faster than the school district's increase in enrollment, funding local education was simple because the district was considered "out of formula," and received no state aid.

With the change, he explained, most of the district's funding comes directly from the state.

"Now if that growth hits, the district doesn't have the ability to go back to the voters for additional funding," he said.

Meals program seeks help from driver volunteers

Meals on Wheels is in need of new and substitute drivers. Community members are being asked to please volunteer in four or two once a week to take meals from Allen Terrace to homebound persons in the Northville area.

This takes about an hour. Kitchen helpers are also needed and they usually arrive at about 10:30 a.m. and work until about 12:30 p.m.

Meals are usually ready to be picked up from Allen Terrace about 11:15 a.m. and then delivered to the homebound.

Those who feel they can give an hour or two of their time, please call Allen Terrace at 349-9661 Monday-Friday, 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. or Judy at 348-1761.

Our Opinion

Trial run for 'cruises' is fair test to conduct

"Trust but verify."
President Ronald Reagan's paraphrase of a Russian proverb during nuclear arms negotiations with the Soviet Union in the 1980s is some advice Northville Township and Woolly Bully's could use as well.

The township zoning board of appeals (ZBA) last week granted a permit for the Seven Mile eatery's weekly gatherings of classic cars, done Wednesday evenings from April through October. The permit is good for only the first two months of the car "cruises," as they're called, April and May of 1996.

After that, however, the restaurant must come back the ZBA for further review. The reason for the test flight is to see if the plans which both township officials and Woolly Bully's agreed to at the Nov. 6 meeting will prevent any real or perceived problems the gatherings are causing.

Whether any or all of those difficulties really exist or warrant this strong of a response is a question best left to readers to decide. The important point is that both sides have made concessions and are willing to give a little to get a little. That's the essence of a good neighbor relationship.

The compromise includes a number of provisions. Woolly Bully's, for one, will more closely monitor the events to cut down on the chances that noise, traffic or safety problems might develop. The township police department will do the same, according to Director of Public Safety Chip Snider. In addition, many classic car enthusiasts who attend the weekly events volunteered to spread the word among attendees that snags could shut the cruises down.

A third piece of the puzzle is that the ZBA permit hinges on the fact that restaurant owner Mark Roman and Highland Lakes Shopping Center proprietor Bill Autry maintain their verbal agreement over Woolly Bully's leasing of mall parking spaces. If that relationship - one which Snider described as "tenuous" - were ever to fall through, the restaurant would find itself with a parking dilemma.

Taken together the solution's a good mix. It's a balanced approach that gives even consideration to the interests of Woolly Bully's and its patrons and Northville Township and its citizens. If all concerned end up satisfied that the steps taken will ease real or potential noise and traffic problems, and if the parking situation stays status quo, give Woolly's a new permit. If not, it's back to the drawing board.

Let's see if it flies, trusting but verifying.

City and business district must develop closer ties

Something exciting is happening in downtown Northville.

A new organization, the Northville Central Business Association, is in the early stages of formation and has gotten off to a fast start.

Representatives of over 40 businesses attended the group's initial meeting, discussing bylaws and generating ideas for joint promotions. A second meeting was held this week.

We're hoping the association will coalesce and create the kind of energy and motivation the downtown needs in order to hold continuous high-quality special events. We wish them every success.

The CBA is designed to fill a need not currently met by the Chamber of Commerce. Though the Chamber does a lot in staging the major activities we enjoy each year, its responsibilities encompass a larger area than just the immediate downtown.

Promotions, sales and other activities must come from a different source, and that's where the CBA comes in.

But there is dissent within the business community, which became apparent this week when certain merchants objected to the city's decision to do something on the CBA's behalf.

The favor took place when City Manager Gary Word agreed to have the city pick up the tab to mail out 350 notices about the upcoming CBA meeting. The mailing costs amounted to approximately $150.

Word evidently anticipated a reaction to the mailing, but stood his ground. When a Northville Record reporter approached him about it he responded by saying that this was a proper expense, and one that was done to bring the city closer together with the downtown.

We agree that the mailing was legitimate. In fact, we'd like to see more cases of city involvement with the downtown.

Most city governments help pay expenses associated with business-related events, figuring that when one business conducts a promotion it's just a sale, but when a large segment of the district comes together around a common theme it's a genuine community occasion.

Everyone benefits from a healthy central business district and a robust local economy. Any effort to forge closer ties between the city and the business community is bound to pay dividends.

Insurance option is sound cost containment move

City of Northville employees are being offered a new Preferred Provider Organization (PPO) program option under the city's current medical benefit plan.

The option is important not just for city residents, but for taxpayers as well.

The city has chosen SelectCare to offer PPO services and the new plan will help control the costs of medical benefits, according to Assistant City Manager Nokie Bateson. Bateson said the city will realize greater savings due to a substantial difference between the fixed monthly cost of the plan and the increased discount on provider fees.

The decision not only keeps down medical costs for employees, it saves the taxpayers a bit of money in the process. This type of proactive decision making is what we expect from city officials. They have identified the problem - Northville experienced a significant increase in its medical benefit costs during the past fiscal year, $102,310 or 23 percent - and have come up with a plan to remedy the situation.

The city's medical plan has not been updated in some time. Adopted by the council in 1982, the plan does not call for the city to pay monthly premiums for medical insurance.

This means that the city pays for all medical bills for an eligible individual unless individual claims exceed $50,000 per specific illness or after the individual reaches a lifetime limit of $1 million, according to Bateson.

And city employees need not worry about SelectCare selling out to a larger health care provider. If that were to happen and the change affected PPO policies, city employees still have coverage, as the PPO is just an option in the city's overall medical benefit plan and employees choosing SelectCare are still covered by the city's existing policy.

We commend city officials for taking positive action for both city employees and taxpayers. Containment of medical expenses is a key element of cost effectiveness.

Hypocrisy on the front page?

I took a telephone complaint last week from a reader who was a bit upset about the photo that ran on the front page of last week's Record. The picture showed Northville Mayor Chris Johnson shaking hands with a well wisher after learning he had won the Nov. 7 city election.

Lee Snider

Johnson was seen in an open jacket and a Tiger cap and sporting a broad, ear-to-ear grin. In his left hand down by his side was an open bottle of champagne.

The reader said her teenage son saw the photo and abruptly exclaimed "hypocrisy." The youth, it seems, thinks that the mayor's act of popping a cork over his reelection doesn't square with the Zero Tolerance push now under way in the community at large.

I admit the picture didn't depict the mayor of our fair city in the best possible light. Rather than looking like the professional person and elected official we all know him as, Johnson could have been an auto mechanic downing a cold one after taking home a bowling trophy.

But what appeared to the youth as a case of leadership saying one thing while doing another was actually a harmless event and no example of hypocrisy at all.

Drinking a champagne toast on an occasion of genuine celebration is a universal custom. People often raise a glass of the bubbly at weddings, graduations, christenings, championship victories and other milestone occurrences.

The Zero Tolerance campaign, for those who don't know, is a comprehensive effort to get the word out to young people about the hazards of substance abuse. It makes use of churches, the schools, the media and the business community to educate youths about the potential dangers of alcohol and other drugs. Surveys of students at Northville High School indicate that teen drug abuse here exceeds national averages.

In addition to providing information about the problems associated with drugs, the campaign also hopes to establish a climate where violations by underage people aren't passively overlooked, hence the name "Zero Tolerance."

While the program is directed at youths, the young people of the community have a right to expect consistency from their adult role models. Adult drug abuse is not the issue, but grown ups who preach abstinence while abusing drugs themselves are going to face credibility problems and send out conflicting messages.

I remember when I was younger how I used to look for instances of adults going back on their word. To this day, I'm not sure if I was searching for truth or just looking for an excuse to disobey my elders.

I would like to tell the young man who objected to last week's front page photo that if he wants an example of true hypocrisy he need look no further than yours truly, the editor of the local newspaper.

I have at times used the editorial page of The Northville Record to issue warnings about drug temptations but, as most readers know, earlier this year I was arrested for drunk driving. Now that's a clear-cut case of one's words not matching his actions, and I'm sorry for that.

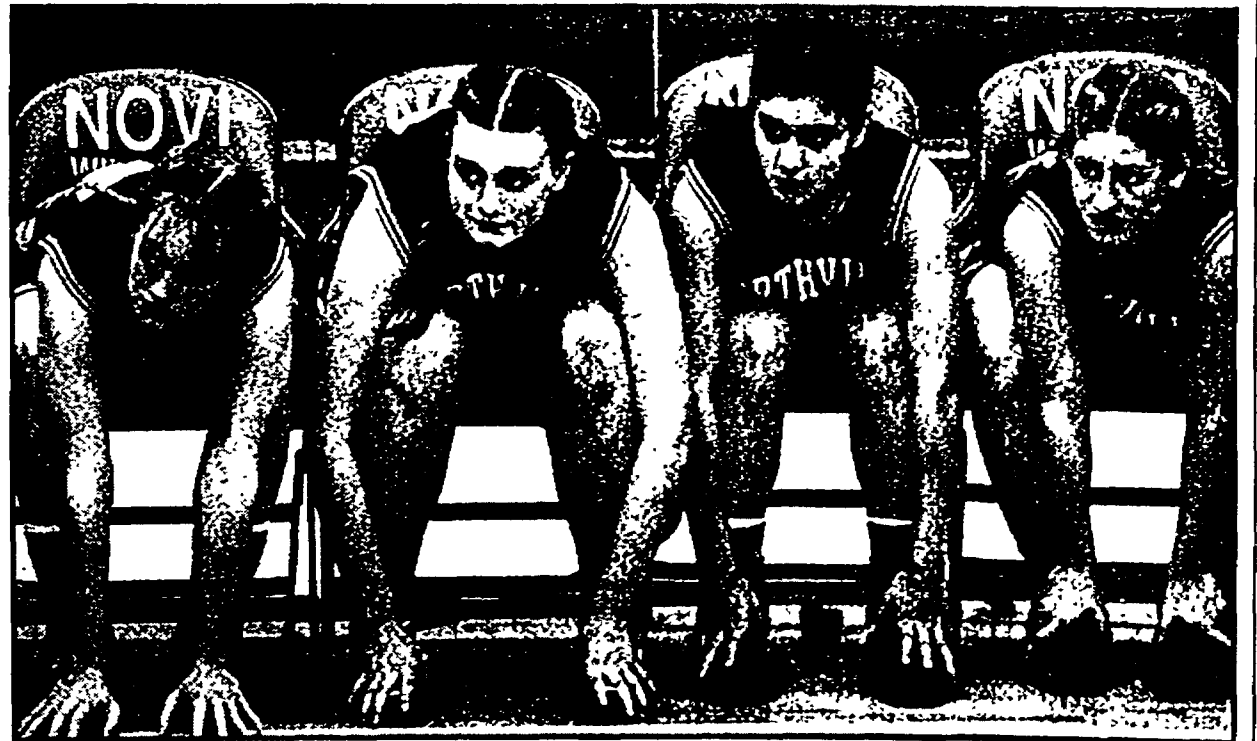

But it would be a serious mistake to discount a solid message just because one of the messengers hasn't completely conquered his impulses. The Zero Tolerance campaign is on the right track, and everyone would do well to heed its cautions.

The mayor of the city is a responsible man who has every right to carry the anti-abuse banner in the war on drugs. As for that editor guy ... well, he's promised to keep working on it.

Lee Snider is the (guilty as charged) editor of The Northville Record.

Candidates are great, win or lose

Last week, voters made their choices and four people in Novi, their families and supporters are walking on air these days, while eight others are disappointed, glum and reaching for an extra chocolate bar or running up their credit cards at Hudson's or whatever it is they do to console themselves.

Jan Jeffres

I think they're all heroes. What guts it takes to put yourself up for public inspection on the auction block of democracy. How risky it is to broadcast your name on signs all over town and present yourself at public debates and distribute flyers imprinted with a close-up shot of your mug. And take that chance, both of money and self-esteem, that your hopes will come crashing down at the polls.

Not just the candidates are in for the gamble. Their families are, too. On election night, as votes were coming in, Andrew Mutch, son of newly-elected City Council Member Kathy Mutch, was letting his nerves show. "Look how calm you are," he said to me, "It's not your mother. Our name is on all those signs."

The Mutch clan could party hardy that night. But most of the candidates probably had to struggle to put a brave face on it.

Losing has to hurt like hell. But if you consider the big picture, each candidate is a winner. Everyone who ran for office in 1995 honestly cares about the City of Novi. They're good people. They want what they feel would be best for their community. Each was willing to spend hours of their time and a good chunk of change for the chance to serve their neighbors.

Council Member Rob Mitzel recently figured he donated 379 hours from 1993 to the present in regular and special city council meetings. The pay is $15 per meeting, not per hour. Would you sign on for that? I wouldn't.

All 12 who ran this time around have a strong sense of civic responsibility, far stronger than some of their critics, the 80 percent of Novi voters who didn't make it to the polls last week.

Twenty percent rule the 80 percent. A sobering thought, not at all the way we were told it was supposed to be in our high school American Government classes.

Better, however, than in the City of Farmington, where the voter turnout was 8.8 percent. We call this democracy?

So next time you slam your local representatives - and who doesn't want to occasionally - consider that they're citizen-volunteers. And that most of you don't care enough to volunteer the 20 minutes or so it takes to vote.

Jan Jeffres is a staff writer for The Novi News and The Northville Record.

On the way to Northville, we made some pretty exciting discoveries.

Deep inside the Venezuelan jungle, a genetic disease has plagued the inhabitants of a small village for generations. Moved by their plight, we went there to better understand the disease. Not only did we accomplish our mission, but our research led to the discovery of the gene that causes Huntington's disease.

Driven by a passion for improving health care, we've traveled to the far corners of the Earth. To places like the countryside of Japan and a small shipping town in Costa Rica. Even to outer space to conduct research.

Everything we've learned we've brought back to you, through the physicians and medical staff of the University of Michigan Medical Center.

Now we are pleased to announce that our next destination is a little closer to home. In fact, it's right in your neighborhood. Because now the U-M Medical Center has physicians and health care centers near you. So you'll not only have access to the U-M Medical Center and its world-renowned facilities and programs like C.S. Mott Children's Hospital and the Comprehensive Cancer Center, you'll also have a conveniently located primary care physician for your routine care.

There's no better time to take advantage of these benefits than during the fall open enrollment period where you work. So make sure your health care plan gives you access to the University of Michigan Medical Center.

MASS System now online

Diane K. Braunstein, director of the Michigan Office of Services to the Aging, says the Michigan Aging Services System (MASS) — now fully operational and ready for business — is the most comprehensive information system of its kind in the nation.

The MASS system, sponsored by the Office of Services to the Aging in cooperation with Wayne State University's Institute of Gerontology and the state's Office of Information Technology — is designed to provide information about services to Michigan's ever increasing elderly population.

According to Braunstein, working with focus groups from Michigan's aging network, the Wayne State team has helped to design a system which is "very easy to use." Using the Internet, and with just a point and a click on the computer, MASS users can access a wide range of aging information including: phone numbers for local senior centers, councils and commissions on aging; Alzheimer's Association Chapters; and information about statewide programs such as the Medicare/Medicaid Assistance Programs and the Retired Senior Volunteer Program; Social Security program information and a toll-free national Elder-care Locator number.

The system also provides daily congressional updates and Federal Register announcements, and access to local and national census information, demographic information on the growth of Michigan's aging population and access to a wealth of health information from the National Institutes of Health.

Designed to serve as a state-of-the-art planning tool for those engaged in delivering services to seniors, the MASS system is available to anyone with an Internet connection.

The system can be accessed on the World Wide Web using the Netscape Web browser at <http://mass.log.wayne.edu>. For further information call the Office of Services to the Aging at (517) 373-8230 or send comments via e-mail to Wayne.State.University@webmaster.mass.log.wayne.edu.

Edison to improve Novi service

Nearly 200 Detroit Edison line clearance crews have scheduled work in 42 communities in southeastern Michigan, including Novi, during the rest of the year to improve service reliability and safety for customers.

Detroit Edison maintains a 10-foot clearance between tree branches and power lines to reduce power outages.

The vast majority of outages are caused by trees coming into contact with electrical lines.

"The winter storm season is approaching and our year-round line clearance efforts will continue to help us prevent tree-related outages," said Robert J. Buckler, senior vice president, Energy Marketing and Distribution.

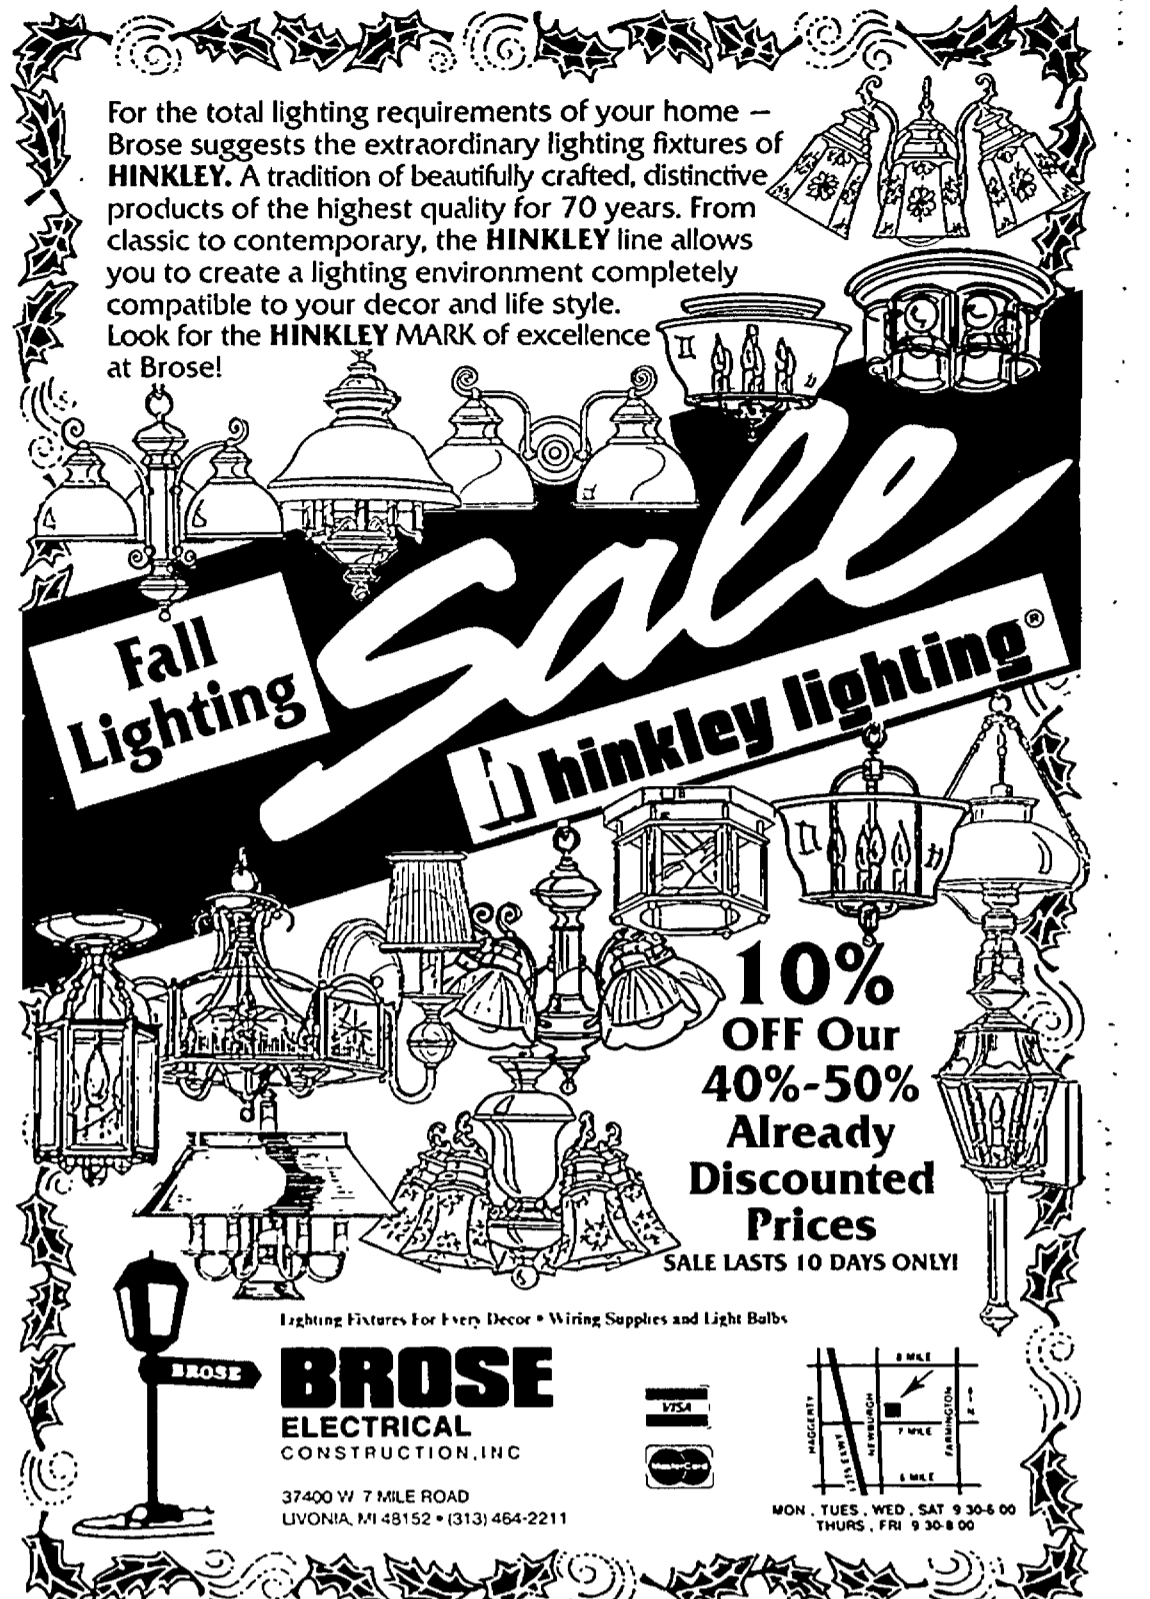

"Ice, like wind and lightning, can bring branches into contact with our lines, and we are committed to eliminating outages that could be prevented by line clearance efforts," he added.

Downed power lines also pose safety hazards. Adults should remind young children that fallen power lines should be avoided because they are dangerous and potentially life threatening.

In addition, trees in contact with power lines during normal weather may result in low voltage or outages to customers.

The utility's tree-trimming crews follow National Arborist Association pruning standards, which are designed to maintain the health of the tree.

THERE ARE NO EXCUSES... FOR NOT WEARING YOUR SAFETY BELT!

Remember to change detector batteries

Here's the cheapest life insurance you'll ever buy.
 It's just the cost of a few batteries.
 The state fire marshal is reminding everyone to change the batteries in their household smoke detectors this fall as part of the "Change Your Clock, Change Your Battery" campaign.

"Fire is the No. 2 cause of accidental deaths among children under age five, placing them at double the risk of dying in a home fire," said Captain Wade Schaefer, Michigan State Fire Marshal.

"A working smoke detector cuts the risk of dying in a home fire by half and provides the critical extra seconds that are needed to escape."

Autumn brings about the annual reminder to move our clocks back one hour from daylight savings time. It can also remind everyone that it is time to change the batteries in their smoke detectors.

Although smoke detectors are in 92 percent of American homes, non-working smoke detectors are so common that they are robbing residents of the protective benefits these critical home fire safety devices provide. Nearly one-third of the smoke detectors in our country don't work because of worn or missing batteries.

Nationally, inoperable smoke detectors contribute to many of the estimated 3,800 deaths and 50,000 to 100,000 injuries caused each year by home fires.

"Change Your Clock, Change Your Battery" is a national campaign sponsored by the International Association of Fire Chiefs and Energizer brand Batteries. This annual campaign is in its eighth year, with this year's focal point being children.

On Oct. 29 when it's time to turn back the clocks, remember to take an extra minute to install fresh batteries in the smoke detectors throughout the house. A smoke detector is a family's best defense against fire.

For more information about the campaign, contact your local fire department or write to "Change Your Clock, Change Your Battery," c/o Energizer Batteries, 717 Faxon Road, Young America, Minnesota 55397.

Unemployment fund to reach $2 billion

The Michigan Employment Security Commission is forecasting record cash reserves for the state's unemployment insurance trust fund by the year 2000.

"Our research staff is predicting that cash reserves in Michigan's unemployment trust fund should reach nearly $2 billion by 2000, and average $1.6 billion annually over the next five years," according to F. Robert Edwards, director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Trust fund monies are used to pay state jobless benefits to unemployed workers, while employer taxes feed into the fund.

In the MES's trust fund forecast, Edwards said that total employer tax payments should average about $1.237 billion over the next five years, peaking at $1.311 billion in 2000. Benefit payments are expected to average $1.259 billion, with a high of $1.653 billion in 1997.

In its trust fund forecast, the MES is anticipating a moderate downturn in 1997 which may boost the state jobless rate, but a strong recovery will begin in 1998 and continue through 2000.

"Michigan's trust fund should easily weather the downturn, while maintaining a healthy cash reserve," Edwards said. "In fact, unlike other downturns where we have had to borrow funds from the federal government to continue unemployment benefit payments, it is unlikely in the foreseeable future that we will need any loans for the trust fund." The MES projects that job growth will average 1.0 percent for the forecast period and that wages will grow at a 3.0 percent rate.

Our heart-to-heart talk with the University of Michigan Medical Center resulted in a unique program for managing heart disease.

Botsford General Hospital has joined the University of Michigan Medical Center to provide complete care for patients with heart disease.

Botsford is one of the first community hospitals the University of Michigan Medical Center (UMMC) Heart Care Program has partnered with as a Satellite Heart Transplant Clinic.

Patients who are candidates for heart transplant can be clinically evaluated at Botsford and then referred to the University of Michigan Medical Center for surgery. Following heart transplant, the patient returns to Botsford's Satellite Transplant Clinic for ongoing, individualized care from cardiologists who are on staff at both hospitals.

Our shared mission with the University of Michigan Medical Center is to reduce hospital re-admissions and improve the quality of life for patients with chronic heart disease. For more information, please call (810) 471-8870.

STOPPING THE HABIT

Within 20 minutes of smoking that last cigarette, the body begins a series of changes that continues for years.

It's never too late, or too soon, to quit smoking. Nicotine addiction is one of the hardest addictions to break.

"Just scream no" is what middle and junior high school students are being asked to do today at 2 p.m.

During the first ever national Great American SmokeOut, students will put their lungs to good use when they scream for seven seconds as a way to "just scream no" to smoking.

Today is the official 1995 Great American SmokeOut day.

The American Cancer Society expects 10 million smokers and millions more supporters to participate in the 19th annual Great American SmokeOut through various programs in the community, at work and at school.

It is a day when smokers and nonsmokers alike commit to keeping the community and its children smoke free.

For the second year, Donna Roemer, former health teacher and now a counselor at Novi High School, set up a display in the Link - a gathering area near the high school cafeteria - to make information about smoking available to students.

Students in the health classes of instructors John Osborne, Carol Baakt and Bob Smith have produced a new "infomercial" that covers various aspects of cigarette smoking such as the physical effects, long term damage to the user, smoking and pregnancy and its effect on fetal development, second hand smoke, and tips on quitting. The infomercial which will be shown at the display during the day. The first infomercial was made by Roemer's health students last year.

The display will also include a lot of freebies such as buttons, pamphlets, inserts for car cigarette lighters and posters.

"There were an awful lot of kids that picked up posters that wanted to take them home to show to parents or put in their rooms," Roemer said of the response from last year's display.

"Many of the kids wore lots and lots of buttons promoting stopping smoking," she said. "There seemed to be a lot of support for a smoke free environment."

Students have also made posters which will be on display in the hallway.

"Adopt a Smoker" contracts will be available for any friend of a smoker to fill out with the smoker. The contract states that the friend will help the smoker stay tobacco free.

Many students showed an interest in last year's Adopt a Smoker contract, according to Roemer.

"The large number of kids that smoke have the behavior reinforced by the kids they hang around with," Roemer said.

"It's hard for those students to quit."

At Northville High School, it'll be business as usual, according to Charlie Stilec, student assistant program coordinator, except for additional posters on the dangers of smoking.

"If I can target kids with smoking I can get a handle on anything else they're using that might be illegal," he said. "I'm real hot on this smoking issue."

The high school has an on-going smoking class called the Fresh Start Program. The program is an alternative to suspension for students caught smoking for the first time. It consists of a four-week class on smoking which includes a test to determine if the addiction is physical, psychological or emotional.

"It (smoking) is usually stress related," he said.

Speakers from Providence Hospital and Karmanos Cancer Institute also visit with the classes.

"When I talk to these kids there is usually one or two people at home that are smoking," he said. "It's very difficult for them to quit smoking." In the classes, Stilec talks to the students about why they smoke, how much, what is the greatest hurdle if they quit.

"The sad part is that it's so easy for them to get cigarettes. That's the crux of the problem, they are so readily available," he said.

How can you say that?

"If the kids were given an option they wish they had never started," Stilec said, who has a chemical dependency therapist background. "They smoke on the average half to one pack a day in my groups."

"By the time they get done with their first pack, they're pretty well into it," he said. "Psychologically they get hooked a lot quicker."

It takes two weeks to get it out of their system, but smokers need a reason to quit, according to Stilec. For some, dating a non smoker is incentive. Young smokers need to be caught early and given other things to do with their hands before it becomes an addiction.

"Smoking is really down from other years," Stilec said. "We've seen a decrease in the number of kids getting caught smoking."

For students caught smoking a second time, an automatic call is made to the police with a mandatory court appearance.

SMOKING — FROM A CHILD'S POINT OF VIEW

Sixth grade students at Novi Meadows Middle School have learned a lot about living healthy during the past month. The Michigan Opera Theatre visited the school in October as part of Novi's Focus Health Week to present "The Night Harry Stopped Smoking."

During science class, the students wrote essays about how smoking doesn't fit in with a healthy lifestyle.

Three essays are reprinted here but all the essay writers were winners as they enjoyed a nature walk with a healthy snack, which was provided by Botsford Hospital, of a big juicy apple.

If Your Breath is Smoky, You Must be Dopey!
by Erin Holmes

Many people smoke. Actually 419,000 Americans die of cigarette smoke. Cigarettes are the cause of diseases, such as: emphysema, lung cancer, heart disease and strokes. Cigarettes are dangerous and should not be taken lightly.

Cigarettes are highly addictive because of the amount of nicotine. Nicotine is a highly addictive ingredient in cigarettes. Nicotine can be addictive both physically and mentally.

Many teenagers and young adults smoke because they think it's cool or they're pressured into smoking by their friends or a group of schoolmates. Many young adults think smoking makes them look more sophisticated or more like they're adults, but smoking makes you look stupid and can severely hurt you and the people around you.

Another smoking hazard is second-hand smoke. Second-hand smoke is so deadly because just like smoking when you inhale the smoke all the harmful chemicals can get into your body, and you probably didn't even pick up the cigarette!

Many people may pressure you into smoking, but there are ways to say no. A few ways to say no are: be friendly by saying, "No thank you," make a joke, walk away, and keep repeating, "NO."

Even if you already smoke now, you can still quit. A few ways are: try nicotine patches, try chewing sugarless gum, just quit cold turkey and try counseling or call the American Lung Association. QUIT TODAY!

How to Live a Healthy Lifestyle by Not Smoking
by Kate Rose

Smoking doesn't have any good points. People who smoke aren't the least bit cool. Smoking can cause gum disease, and lung, mouth, throat and bladder cancer. Smoking also costs, a lot. You could spend the money on something that will make you feel much, much better.

Besides, you have better things to do than smoke. Sports are a great way to relieve stress. Even television is a way to relax. Exercise if something is getting you down. Chewing gum is another alternative. Computers can keep your hands busy. Spend time with your friends doing things other than smoking. Draw, paint, write. Things won't always turn out to be perfect all the time, so do recreational things. There are many things that you can do to lead a healthy life.

Staying Healthy
by Scott Kortlandt

I want to live a healthy life and to do that I have to do two things. The first thing is to eat right and exercise. I'm doing that by playing sports and not eating too much junk food. I play soccer, basketball, and baseball and have been for five years. Even though my favorite sport is soccer I still keep up with the others. I also eat right by putting a fruit in my lunch everyday and not too many cookies and things like that.

The second thing is to not smoke. I keep away from smoking by remembering what my dad said once. He said that when he was young he had saved up enough money to buy his first pack of cigarettes. It was very tempting but he couldn't do it. Instead he went out and bought a bow and arrow set.

Another thing that helps me are statistics. Did you know that 419,000 people die from smoking each year?

I don't want to be one of them.

Steinman teaches McDonalds 101

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

If you think all McDonalds restaurants are the same, you haven't met Joe Steinman, general manager of the McDonalds on Haggerty Road near Eight Mile.

He said his McDonalds is in Partnerships for Education with Silver Springs Elementary school, working with the children, kindergarten through fifth grade, one day a week, teaching marketing skills, the importance of giving something to others and ways to protect themselves in day-to-day living.

Steinman and the other employees do this volunteering mostly on days off and vacation days.

One day a week during lunch hour and recess at the school, he said, "we give an education" in operating a store. Every week a different group is named store manager and cashiers. The faculty selects the students.

The merchandise isn't food, however, but pencils, erasers and sweatshirts.

"They keep an inventory of what's on hand, and the proceeds they donate to Ronald McDonald houses," hospitality houses throughout the country for parents who have children in the hospital.

Store managers and cashiers, he said, are apt to be in the fifth grade level because "they can handle it," he said.

"There are 280 students in the school," Steinman said. "Our goal is to have all students participating in some form."

In March, which is national book reading month, McDonald employees take turns in reading to small groups of students - one class at a time - from books they have donated to the school library. They are resource material books on health safety and awareness.

"I've been in Partnerships for Education here for four years," Joe Steinman said. "I enjoy having a chance to work in the community - giving something back to it."

"Health Matters" debuts next week with a focus on health and fitness. Botsford Hospital, which runs the TRACC rehabilitation center pictured here, will be a regular contributor along with the University of Michigan and Providence.

'Health Matters' debuts next week

From time to time, newspapers feel compelled to give you, the reader, something new. I'm sure you've all heard the ads before. "Be sure to pick up a copy of tomorrow's Gazette for the premier of our Homestyle section. Read how to get the most out of your leisure time, find the right computer... blah, blah, blah." The reasons for these new sections are pretty easy to figure out. Namely, the paper is hoping to "hook" you into becoming a regular reader.

But reaching into your wallet isn't the only reason for change. Sometimes it's necessary to improve the quality of the newspaper and, frankly, get rid of something that isn't working. That's where we stand at The Novi News. You'll no longer see the "Recreation" page in the paper after this week. In its place, "Health Matters" will appear. The recreation page, usually the third page in the Novi's sports section, began about two years ago. Our goal was to feature what was happening recreationally in the community and provide an outlet for announcements of rec programs in the city. Unfortunately, our hopes didn't quite measure up with reality most of the time. Feature articles weren't always localized and recreation announcements did always get in. The third major element of the page, a column produced by the University of Michigan really had little to do with recreation. Honestly, the page had become a hodgepodge. You, the reader, deserve better and The Novi News can do better. Now, if you'll pardon the self-plug, here's what you'll find in "Health Matters" from week to week. The page will not change much in appearance. But instead of a sometimes useful recreation article, you'll find an always helpful feature on health and/or fitness. Topics will range from women's health issues to sports medicine and proper nutrition. We've lined up some heavy-hitters to produce the features. The University of Michigan, which has a Health Center in Northville, will expand its role. In addition to the health column it now contributes weekly, U of M will produce a feature article once a month. Providence, which has a strong presence in Novi, will take a monthly turn as will Botsford Hospital. Each article will look to inform about important health and fitness related issues. As mentioned, the health column from U of M will continue. We believe it has served you well and will continue to do so in the future. The final element will be "Health Notes." This column will list local health happenings, from instructional programs to where you can go for a blood pressure test. The new page will have everything to do with health and fitness. You won't find anything that should be there, in other words. We're also open to your ideas. If there's a particular health related topic you'd like to learn about, or if you'd like to submit and item for health notes, give us a call at (810) 349-1700 or fax at (810) 349-1050.

Depression hits 10 percent of population

Depression is a common condition that is frequently under-diagnosed. It is responsible for substantial suffering, which in most instances can be alleviated with treatment. Depression strikes as many as 10 percent of all people at one time or another. It can be an inherited condition or can arise out of environmental influences. The exact cause is unknown. Current theory holds that depression is a biological illness caused by an imbalance among the brain chemicals known as neurotransmitters. The imbalance then translates itself into depression. Major depressive disorder is more than just feeling blue. A variety of symptoms in addition to feeling sad are required to make the diagnosis. Sleep and appetite disturbances are common. Fatigue, decreased initiative and decreased concentration may also occur. Low self-esteem and feelings of worthlessness may be present.

On the other hand, not all people with depression necessarily feel depressed. The other symptoms are sometimes all that appear. Some people with depression will develop physical symptoms as a result - chest pains, abdominal pains, shortness of breath, headaches and so forth. The symptoms are very real, but their cause is depression. A person who has previously suffered depression is more likely to suffer a subsequent episode. Other people at risk are those with serious underlying medical conditions (heart trouble, stroke, diabetes, arthritis, migraines) or with serious non-medical conditions (social isolation, recent loss, job or financial stress, substance abuse, coexisting psychiatric conditions). Depression exists along a spectrum of severity. If depression becomes severe enough, a person may start to think about harming himself or herself. If a person tells you that they are thinking about hurting themselves, take them seriously! They need to talk with their doctor right away, or go to an emergency room. Left alone, most people with depression will eventually improve. The problem is that this can take several months or more, during which time the person continues to feel miserable. Treatment for depression is very effective, improving both the sense of well-being and one's level of function. The exact details of treatment are beyond the scope of this article. In general, treatment consists of medication and/or counseling. Sometimes a specialist will be required to direct treatment, particularly when the depression is severe or coexists with other psychiatric conditions. There are a wide variety of medications available to treat depression, with new ones being added all the time. Choice of a particular medication depends on a person's symptoms and how they react to the drug. With most medications, symptom improvement begins only after several weeks of treatment. This period appears necessary to restore the balance of the brain neurotransmitters. Once on the medication, a person will generally need to take it for several months to a couple of years. Depression is a very common, often overlooked condition responsible for substantial suffering. It responds well to treatment, making it an important condition to know about. Breton Weintraub, M.D., is an internal medicine physician at the Northville Health Center. This column is coordinated by staff representing the U-M Health Center in Northville.

REAL ESTATE

High-tech is changing the world of real estate

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

An explosion is occurring in the real estate industry — a high-tech communications explosion. It's been brewing for years, but recently has become big time and is changing the way real estate professionals work.

Major new computerized systems are being launched, with the biggest probably the Realtors Information Network (RIN).

RIN is a bold, state-of-the-art concept being used to modernize the real estate marketing industry. It's structured and operated by a private corporation owned by the National Association of Realtors and is divided into two networks, blue and green.

The blue network is available only to real estate professionals, providing a national vehicle for listing properties. Other vendors (lenders, appraisers, etc.) also can offer their services.

Realtors will be able to shop for the best mortgage loan and process loan applications through RIN. They can line up and communicate with appraisers. Many procedures in the property buying process, formerly handled by mountains of paperwork, will be achievable on-line.

The green network is available to the general public. A variety of on-line services will be offered, such as pertinent information on individual communities — maps, crime statistics, school information, census data — data that are important to people considering a home purchase in that community.

Limited information on available homes and brief profiles of real estate professionals in specified areas also will be accessible on the green network.

More than 500,000 real estate agents have signed up for the RIN service, according to Iverson Moore, RIN executive. About

HOME DESIGNS

The Van Devender has room and still fits on standard lot

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

From the outside, the Van Devender does not appear large. The 1,958-square-foot, three-bedroom house is only 58 feet wide and fits easily on a standard lot.

But when you step inside, the sense of spaciousness is surprising. The vaulted foyer is richly illuminated and presents three choices of direction. A door on the left opens into the luxurious master suite, and a hallway is to the right. What catches the eye though is the vaulted great room, directly ahead — a large living area that brings together the functions of kitchen, dining room, living room and family room.

A bank of windows, running almost the entire length of the back wall, shower the room with light. A fireplace, tucked into the corner farthest from the windows, provides a colorful focal point when the sky outside turns gray.

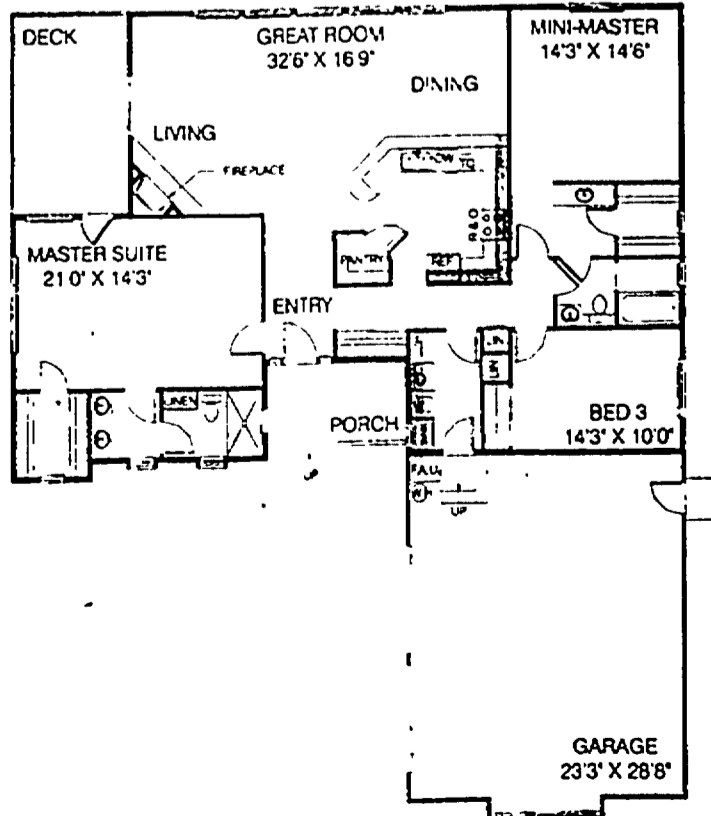

The kitchen also is much larger than one expects to find in a home this size. A dogleg shaped eating bar adds to the work area and provides separation between the great room and the kitchen. The location of the sink means the cleanup crew won't be left out of the activities. A central pantry allows handy access to canned goods and other supplies.

Utilities are close at hand, tucked into a pass-through to the garage, and also convenient to the bedrooms. This small room has a counter for folding clothes, a sink, linen storage and direct entry into the garage. Groceries can be brought in and put away with little trouble.

Features in the master suite include a roomy walk-in closet, access to the back deck and a private bathroom. The toilet and shower are separated from the twin basins and mirror. This arrangement allows privacy where it is most desired and keeps the mirror free from steam.

For a study plan of the (Van Devender 402-65), send $9 to Landmark Designs c/o HomeTown Newspapers, 323 E. Grand River Ave., Howell, MI 48843 (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

If dandelions grew only in meadows and alongside roads, people would probably consider them wildflowers and take steps to protect and preserve them.

They grow in lawns, however, and that makes them weeds.

If your lawn was a carpet of yellow blossoms in May, fall is the time to do something about it to prevent a replay next year.

"The seeds from the spring crop of dandelions germinate in the lawn in the fall," explained Paul Rieke, extension turf grass specialist at Michigan State University. "Herbicides are very effective against these actively growing young plants."

Fall weather usually provides optimal growing conditions for lawn grasses, he adds, so grass will quickly fill in spaces left by removing dandelions. In the spring, annual weeds such as crabgrass may fill in bare areas.

Using herbicides to control dandelions is less likely to injure landscape ornamentals in the fall, he notes. Landscape plants are growing less vigorously in the fall and are less sensitive to herbicides than they are in the spring.

The preferred herbicide for dandelion control is the amine formulation of 2,4-D, Rieke said. (The more volatile ester formulation poses a greater hazard to nearby landscape plants.) Follow label directions for applying the product to the foliage of actively growing weeds. Spray when dry weather is expected to continue for at least 12 hours.

Applied at the proper rate, the herbicide will move through the whole plant and kill it, roots as well as shoots. Applied at too high a rate, it will just burn the tops off and the plants will regenerate from the roots.

If you would prefer not to use herbicides for dandelion control, hold off digging the weeds until spring. Then the plants will have used up most of the food reserves stored in the roots and may be unable to resprout.

"For digging to be effective, you need to cut as deeply as possible — at least 4 to 5 inches," Rieke advised. "Shallow cutting may actually increase the dandelion problem by promoting the development of numerous new shoots from each root. Where you had one plant you'll then have several."

Once dandelions and other weeds are under control, maintaining a thick, well fertilized and managed lawn is your best defense against a weed comeback.

Shrubs have more than one use

GARDENING

Often taken for granted, shrubs are frequently thought of only as foundation plants, hedges, borders, fences or lawn specimens, while their drama and beauty are overlooked. The fact is, ornamental shrubs have many unique features and should be chosen with great care so their highlights catch the eye.

Consider some of these factors when adding or replacing shrubs this fall.

Although most of the popular shrubs — spirea, forsythia and azalea — bloom in spring, there's a large selection that brings flowers to the garden. These include rose of sharon, hydrangea, obelia, and summer sweet. Scratchy thorns of barberry, roses or quince are effective barriers or protective hedges.

The best time to add any shrubs to the garden is in the fall, when the warm soil and cool air temperatures promote root growth and result in healthier shrubs next spring.

Of course, the best source of shrubs this fall is the mail-order catalog, where freshly dug plants (available in the widest possible assortment) are just waiting to hear from you. To help you choose and locate shrubs this fall, the Mailorder Association of

Nurseries will send you a free guide if you send them a self-addressed, business size envelope with 40 cents postage. Write to Shrubs by Mail, 210 Cartwright Blvd., Massapequa Park, NY 11762. Or you can call (516) 541-6902.

If your favorite reading chair rests near a window, plant a shrub with fragrant flowers right underneath and enjoy the aroma of mock orange, viburnum or lilac. If you're a bird lover, bayberry, honeysuckle or chokeberry will attract feathered friends to the garden. For garden versatility in limited spaces, try daphne or crepe myrtles, heath or heather.

"Squat pans" of midwinter flowering bulbs should be "potted up" now without delay. There are many varieties to choose from, such as little crocuses and early irises, which are so easily grown indoors and so delightful to watch during the dark days of winter. Seeing these little exquisite treasures in full flower tricks us into believing the cold dreary months are behind us.

Don't make the mistake I made last year of putting in Plant shrubs now!

The cool temperatures and warm soil of fall make conditions right for shrub planting. For the healthiest spring shrubs, plant them now.

■ Shrubs that bloom in spring include spirea, forsythia and azalea.
■ Summer-blooming shrubs include rose of sharon, hydrangea, abelia and summer sweet.

■ Thorny shrubs such as barberry, rose or quince are effective barriers for privacy or protection.

■ Birds will love bayberry, honeysuckle or chokeberry. In tight spots use daphne, crepe myrtles, heath or heather.

■ Fragrant shrubs include mock orange, viburnum or lilac. If possible, plant these near windows you can open.

U.S. Savings Bonds will help them do one thing with their retirement: Enjoy it.

U.S. Savings Bonds are helping millions of Americans save for their retirement — easily and safely.

When you buy U.S. Savings Bonds, you'll know your money will be there when you retire. Your investment is backed by the full faith and credit of the United States.

U.S. Savings Bonds are an easy, affordable way to save. Buy them for just a few dollars each payday through your employer's U.S. Savings Bonds Payroll Savings Plan or for as little as $25 each at your bank. What could be easier?

There are other advantages, too. The interest earned is exempt from state and local income taxes, and it can be federally tax-deferred. Bonds earn a guaranteed return, and they're eligible to earn competitive, market-based interest, compounded semiannually, when held five years or more. And you can redeem them anytime after six months from the issue date.

Whatever your plans for retirement, U.S. Savings Bonds can help you enjoy them. For more information, ask your employer or bank, or write: U.S. Savings Bonds Division, Department of the Treasury, Box 933 N, Washington, DC 20226.

If you find a lower price in any current toy ad... just show us the ad and we'll match it. GUARANTEED!

Competitor must have advertised item in stock and ad must show specific item and price. Prices are matched after Toys'R'Us coupon savings have been deducted from original price. Does not apply to percent-off sales. Because of high customer demand, it may become necessary to limit purchases on certain items.

ALL-CLAD STAINLESS Cookware's three-ply construction combines an outer layer of magnetic stainless steel and an inner stainless steel cooking surface with a core of aluminum. This design helps food cook more evenly by distributing heat up the sidewalls of the utensil. Food does not react with its permanent stainless steel cooking surface, making it easier to maintain. Sparkling stainless steel lids complement the design. And stay-cool, stainless steel handles provide excellent stability and control. Designed for use with conventional gas and electric ranges as well as induction cooktops.

Family, Friends and Festive Meals

Do-it-yourself tips to make holidays as pleasant for you as it is for your special guests

The holidays mean special times, special people, and very special get-togethers for everyone. These become the cherished holiday memories we carry throughout our lives. There are precious few occasions as heart-warming as a home full of people who are close to us, enjoying the foods we are fortunate enough to be able to put before them. But, like anything done well, a successful holiday meal requires thoughtful planning.

Planning, Preparation, Performance

British writer Jane Grigson once cautioned the holiday cook, "Don't try to be original. In my experience, clever food is not appreciated at Christmas. It makes the little ones cry and the old ones nervous." The same philosophy can apply to all holiday meals: Keep it simple, keep it easy, and keep it (reasonably) familiar.

Thanksgiving marks the beginning of the winter holidays and it's the perfect celebration to prepare the best of the late-fall foods. Our Victorian predecessors to these shores, the English colonists, brought their Harvest Home Festival to the New World. This feast traditionally followed the harvest of the last grain. That first Thanksgiving there was no grain and, hence, no pies. But there was the last, sweet abundance of fall—corn, succotash, field greens, leeks, berries and plums. Together, they graced a table laden with oysters, venison, and game birds.

Two years later cranberries and pumpkin pie—as well as turkey—were added to the menu, leaving a bountiful legacy for the American table. Centuries later the menu for a traditional Thanksgiving dinner varies little from that of the original.

Other holiday dinners and feasts may offer more opportunity for creative culinary expression, but they too are steeped in the history and tradition that you'll want to use as your guide in menu planning.

Planning Ahead is the Key

Organization is the key for a successful holiday dinner. Start by making a list and giving yourself plenty of time. When selecting foods, shop early and buy everything you need. You'll eliminate a great deal of stress if you can avoid last-minute dashes to the store. During the week leading up to your dinner, make any relishes, chutneys, or preserves you're planning to serve. You can also make the stuffing, bake the yams, and line the pie plate with dough the day before. Soup can also be prepared two days ahead, covered and refrigerated, or one month ahead and frozen. Simply reheat and garnish just before serving.

Work Smart, Not Hard

Bright and early on the big day, fill the pie shell and begin baking while you prepare your meat dish for cooking. When the pie is done, immediately raise the oven temperature and cook the meat. Many other items on your menu might also be cooked ahead of time, then easily reheated for 10 minutes in a moderate oven before serving.

During the meal, make certain to spend more time at the table than you do in the kitchen. Remember, your guests have come to spend the holiday with you.

Finally, relax and smile. Nothing negates a proper, festive mood faster than a nervous and harried host or hostess. Now is the time to enjoy the company of your guests. If little things go wrong, laugh them off and your guests will, too. We hope all your holiday dinners are filled with the enchantment and joy of this very special season.

Table Talk

If you're planning a sit-down dinner, you can add a unique touch to your table with individualized place cards. One simple place card is a sugar cookies "iced" with your guest's name. Kids love to help with this and it's a good way to keep them busy, too. A more elegant method is to inscribe a guest's name on a gold-painted oak leaf, then attach it with gold wire to a ripe pear. Feel free to be creative in choosing a special place card that your guests will be sure to remember and talk about long after the meal has ended.

ENTRÉE

10 STEPS TO A PICTURE-PERFECT TURKEY

1 If turkey is frozen, thaw in the refrigerator or cold water. When ready to cook, remove the wrapper. Preheat the oven to 325°F.

2 Remove the neck from the body cavity and the giblets from the neck cavity. Drain the juices and blot the cavities with paper towels.

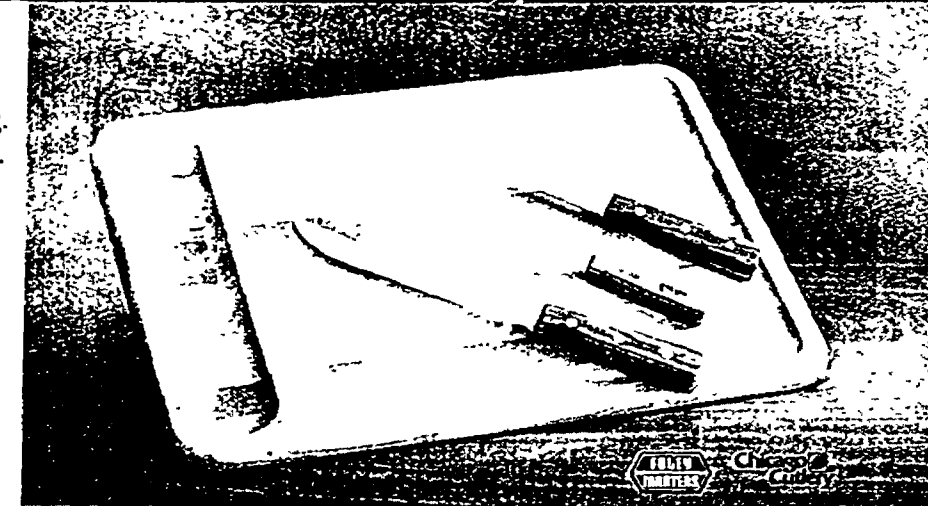

3 Just before roasting, stuff the neck and body cavities lightly, if desired. Turn the wings back to hold the neck skin in place. Return legs to tucked position, if untucked. No trussing is necessary.

BUTTERBALL OPEN PAN ROASTING TIME SCHEDULES
Following are newly revised cooking times for turkey roasted at 325°F on a flat rack in a shallow open pan, about 2 inches. An extensive Butterball study has revealed that today's turkeys are cooking quicker, making them more convenient for consumers.
NET WEIGHT UNSTUFFED	UNSTUFFED	STUFFED
10 to 18 lbs.	3 to 3½ hrs.	3¾ to 4¼ hrs.
18 to 22 lbs.	3½ to 4 hrs.	4½ to 5 hrs.
22 to 24 lbs.	4 to 4½ hrs.	5 to 5½ hrs.
24 to 29 lbs.	4½ to 5 hrs.	5½ to 6¼ hrs.

4 Place the turkey, breast side up, on a flat rack in an open roasting pan about 2 inches deep. A handy "Turkey Lifter" comes with each Butterball Turkey. Place this special string cradle on a rack, then place the turkey on top and bring the loops up around the turkey. Do this before putting the turkey in the oven and when lifting the cooked turkey from the pan, use the loops as handles.

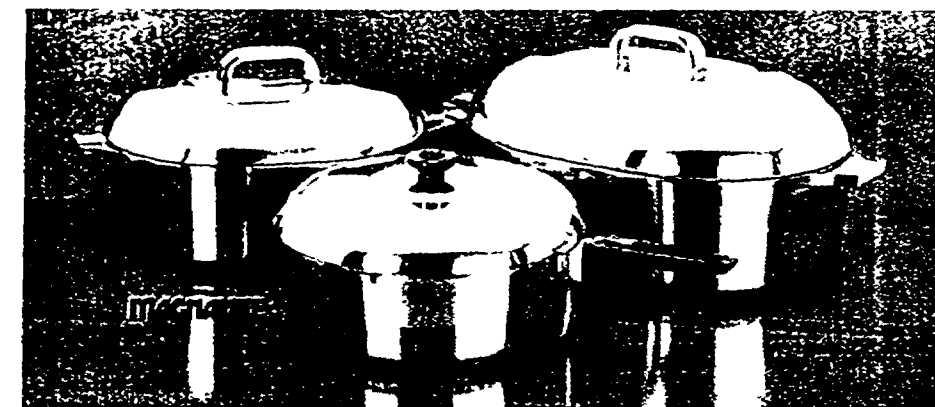

5 Insert meat thermometer deep into the thickest part of the thigh next to the bone, not touching the bone.

- Brush the skin with vegetable oil to prevent skin from drying. Further basting is unnecessary.
- Wash preparation utensils, work surfaces and hands in hot, soapy water following contact with uncooked turkey and juices.
- Roast at 325°F. For approximate cooking times, see chart below. When the skin is light golden brown, about ¾ done, shield the breast loosely with lightweight foil to prevent overbrowning.
- Check for doneness ¼ hour before turkey is expected to be done. Turkey is fully cooked when the thigh's internal temperature is 180°F. The thickest part of the breast should read 170°F and the center of the stuffing should be 160°F.
- When done, let the turkey stand for 15 to 20 minutes before carving.

SIDES

Squash Rings Veronique

2 medium-size acorn squash
 2 tablespoons margarine
 3/4 cup orange juice
 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 1/4 cup Mrs. Butterworth's Syrup, regular or lite
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1/2 cup halved, seeded red grapes
 Cut squash into 3/4-inch rings. Remove seeds and stringy portions. In large skillet melt margarine; stir in orange and lemon juice. Add squash; cover, simmer 10 to 12 minutes until squash is almost tender. add Mrs. Butterworth's Syrup, salt and pepper; simmer, uncovered, 2 minutes or until rings are glazed. Add grapes; heat through.
 Yield: 4 servings.

Apple-Raisin Bran Muffins

1 1/2 cups wheat bran cereal, shredded
 1 cup skim milk
 1/4 cup Promise' Spread, melted
 1/2 cup honey
 1 large cooking apple, peeled, cored, grated (about 1 1/2 cups)
 1/4 cup raisins
 2 egg whites, well-beaten (or 1 egg)
 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 1 1/4 cups all purpose flour
 2 teaspoons baking powder
 1/2 teaspoon baking soda

Heat oven to 400 F. Lightly grease 12 muffin cups. In a large bowl, soak cereal in milk for 5 minutes. Stir in Promise, honey, apples, raisins, egg whites and cinnamon. In another bowl, combine remaining ingredients. With a rubber spatula, fold flour into apple bran mixture, just enough to moisten. Do not over mix. Evenly distribute among muffin cups. Bake 20 minutes or until done.

Yield: 12 muffins

Sherbet Punch

- 16 cups 7 UP, chilled
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup unsweetened grapefruit juice, chilled
- 4 cups lemon sherbet or sorbet
- 4 cups lime sherbet

Combine 7 UP and grapefruit juice in a large punch bowl. Spoon sherbets into bowl. Let stand about 15 minutes. Stir gently before serving.

Yield: About 45 (1/2-cup) servings

Chocolate-Almond Layered Cheesecake

Crust

- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup almonds, finely chopped
- 1- $\frac{1}{2}$ cups finely crushed vanilla wafers
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup butter, melted

Filling

- 8 oz. (2 baking bars) Ghirardelli Bittersweet Chocolate, broken into 1-inch pieces
- 8 oz. cream cheese, softened
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup sour cream
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup almond-flavored liqueur
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt (optional)

Preheat the oven to 350°F. Grease a 9-inch springform pan.

Place the almonds on a baking sheet and toast in the preheated oven for 3 to 4 minutes. Allow almonds to cool. Place the toasted almonds in a food processor, and process until finely ground. Combine the wafer crumbs, ground almonds, and butter; mix well. Press the mixture onto the bottom of the springform pan and 1-1/2 inches up the sides. Bake 8 minutes. Place on a wire rack and let cool completely.

To prepare the filling, melt the chocolate in a double boiler over hot, but not boiling water. Stir occasionally until the chocolate is smooth. Set aside.

In a medium-sized mixing bowl, beat the cream cheese on low just until smooth. Gradually add the sugar and continue beating until smooth. Scrape down the sides of the bowl and beaters with a rubber spatula. Add the eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition and scraping down the bowl as needed. With the mixer on low, gradually add the sour cream, almond liqueur, and salt, beating just until smooth.

Divide the batter in half. Add the melted chocolate to one half of the batter, stirring until smooth. Pour the chocolate batter into the crust, spread to create one even layer. Carefully spoon the plain batter on top of the chocolate batter. Place the pan in the oven and immediately reduce the temperature to 325°F. Bake 50 to 60 minutes, or until the center is just set. Turn off the oven and leave the cake inside for 30 minutes with the oven door closed. Transfer the cheesecake to a wire rack. Loosen it from the sides of the pan with a metal spatula. Let the cheesecake cool completely, then chill it at least 8 hours or overnight. Store covered in the refrigerator.

Spirits to Make Spirits Bright.

Raise your glasses in celebration of the holidays. Special gift sets from Meijer are an excellent choice to help family, friends and associates toast the holidays in grand style. Whether for gifts or holiday entertaining, we've got a selection that would make old St. Nick himself envious.

Wine connoisseurs can choose from several imported and domestic labels in stock. For beer and spirit fanciers, there's a wide array of special holiday gift sets. Whatever pleasure your spirit prefers, you'll find it at Meijer.

Enjoy in moderation.

MEIJER

HAT'S ENTERTAINMENT

Now, you can make your festive holiday get-togethers easier than ever with prepared foods from Meijer.

Dawn breaks gently on a quiet snowy morning. Apple-cheeked children scurry as music of the season drifts from shops, homes and offices. Miniature, glimmering lights dot the homes where closets begin to fill with secret packages and brightly colored papers and bows. This is the season when warm cups of rich chocolate and full mugs of spicy cider invite us indoors for memorable parties and celebrations.

Plan First, Enjoy Later

Nothing enlivens the holiday season more than family and friends celebrating in our own home. Remember, though, that whether your party is for two or 200, planning ahead will make it easier on everyone. Start by determining exactly how many guests there will be. Whether you're planning to serve Cheese and Meat Trays, Seafood, or Fruit Salads, an accurate count of guests makes planning much easier. This also takes the guesswork out of purchasing prepared foods from Meijer such as those available in our Deli:

- | | |
|-------------------------|-----------------|
| Italian Roast Beef | Smoked Turkey |
| Honey Ham | Novara Salami |
| Fresh Fruit Platters | Gourmet Chicken |
| Sandwich Spreads & Dips | |
| Liver Pate | |
| Chocolate Mousse | |
| Apple Dumplings | |
| Baked Apples | |
| Meatballs | |
| Parfaits | |
| Potato Salad | |

Traffic Flow

Traffic patterns are important, too. For a buffet, push the table against the wall so the room will accommodate a moving line more comfortably. If you plan to have a beverage bar, put it in a room separate from the food to avoid crashes at your most popular locations.

How Much for How Many?

A dilemma that besets every party planner is, "How much food will I need without having too much?" To determine this, you'll need to take into account a couple of important factors:

1. Time of day (people tend to eat more in the evening)
2. Degree of appetite (is yours a "hungry" crowd?)

Meijer can help here, too. Determining average quantities of food you'll need for your event is easy using this handy guide:

FOOD	AMOUNT PER SERVING
• Cold cuts	3 oz.
• Cheeses	1 1/2 oz.
• Salads	2/3 cup
• Breads	3 slices
• Beverages	6 oz.
• Coffee	2 cups
• Chips	1 oz.
• Cookies	2

The American Club is a AAA Five Diamond resort hotel, located in Kohler, Wisconsin. This historic hotel offers elegant yet comfortable rooms and gracious service in a setting of natural beauty and serenity. Nine different restaurants are available to resort guests, and specialty cheeses are featured on each restaurant's menu.

Tempt your family and friends with the great taste of Wisconsin cheese, with the recipes below.

SAVORY WISCONSIN BRIE ENCROUTE

- 1/2 cup chopped walnuts, toasted
- 2 teaspoons melted butter
- 1/2 teaspoon dried rosemary, crushed
- Dash of cayenne (optional)
- 1 sheet refrigerated pie crust pastry
- 1 whole 5-inch round Wisconsin Brie cheese (approx. 12 ozs.)
- Melted butter

In a bowl, mix together walnuts, butter, rosemary and cayenne. Unfold pastry dough on baking sheet; spoon walnut mixture in center of crust in a 5-inch circle. Place Brie in center of pastry on top of walnut mixture. Fold dough over Brie to center and pinch to seal. Invert Brie on baking sheet and brush top with melted butter. Heat oven to 350°F, bake Brie for 15 to 20 minutes or until pastry is browned. Cool to room temperature before serving. Makes 8 to 10 servings.*

 Recipe can be prepared to this point and refrigerated up to 2 days until ready to bake.*

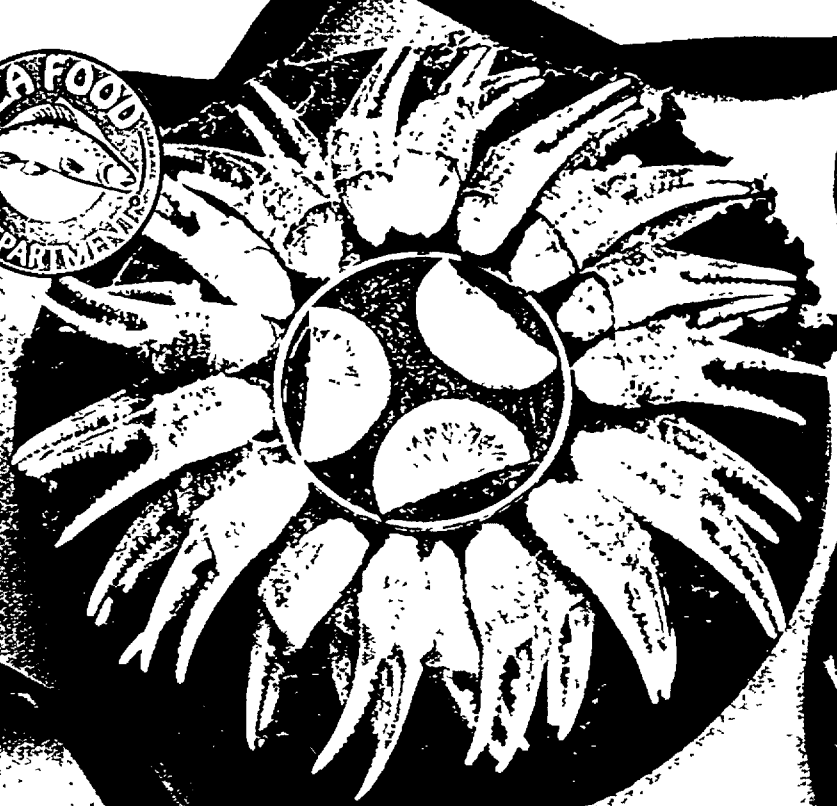

WHITE CHRISTMAS PIZZA

- 1 12-inch frozen, pre-baked pizza crust, thawed
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1-1/2 cups Wisconsin Ricotta cheese
- 1/4 cup (1-oz.) crumbled Wisconsin Gorgonzola cheese
- 2 tablespoons grated Wisconsin Romano cheese
- 2 tablespoons dried basil leaves, crushed
- 1/4 teaspoon dried oregano leaves, crushed
- 1 cup (4-ozs.) shredded Wisconsin Mozzarella
- 1/2 cup (2-ozs.) shredded Wisconsin Asiago cheese
- 1/2 cup diced tomato
- 2 thin slices ham, diced

Spread crust with butter; toast under broiler. Set aside. Combine Ricotta, Gorgonzola, Romano cheese, basil and oregano; mix well. Spread over crust; top with remaining cheese. Bake at 450°F for 5 to 8 minutes or until cheese is melted. Top with remaining ingredients. Makes 12 servings.

That's Entertainment

Details, Details

A memorable party combines people and food in an atmosphere rich with personal touches of the host or hostess. Be creative in your decorating. Use seasonal plants, pine cones, even vegetables, to help capture a merry air. Your special whimsical touches will be appreciated by young and old alike.

Plan your color scheme around your dishes, table linens, and seasonal flowers. If you're using paper products but cannot find the oak brown or apple red you envisioned, be flexible enough to make an on-the-spot decision to go with another color. If you're expecting a large number of people, you might want to consider additional table settings from among the fine selection of holiday glasses, china, and linens at Meijer.

Create a Festive Atmosphere

The mood you set for your holiday get-together is very important. Guests appreciate a warm, relaxing mood in which to visit with one another, far from their daily cares. A warming fire can help cultivate this mood. Building and maintaining a cozy fire needn't be the chore it once was. Thanks to ready-to-use fireplace logs, you can start your fireplace fire in seconds, then return your attention to your guests.

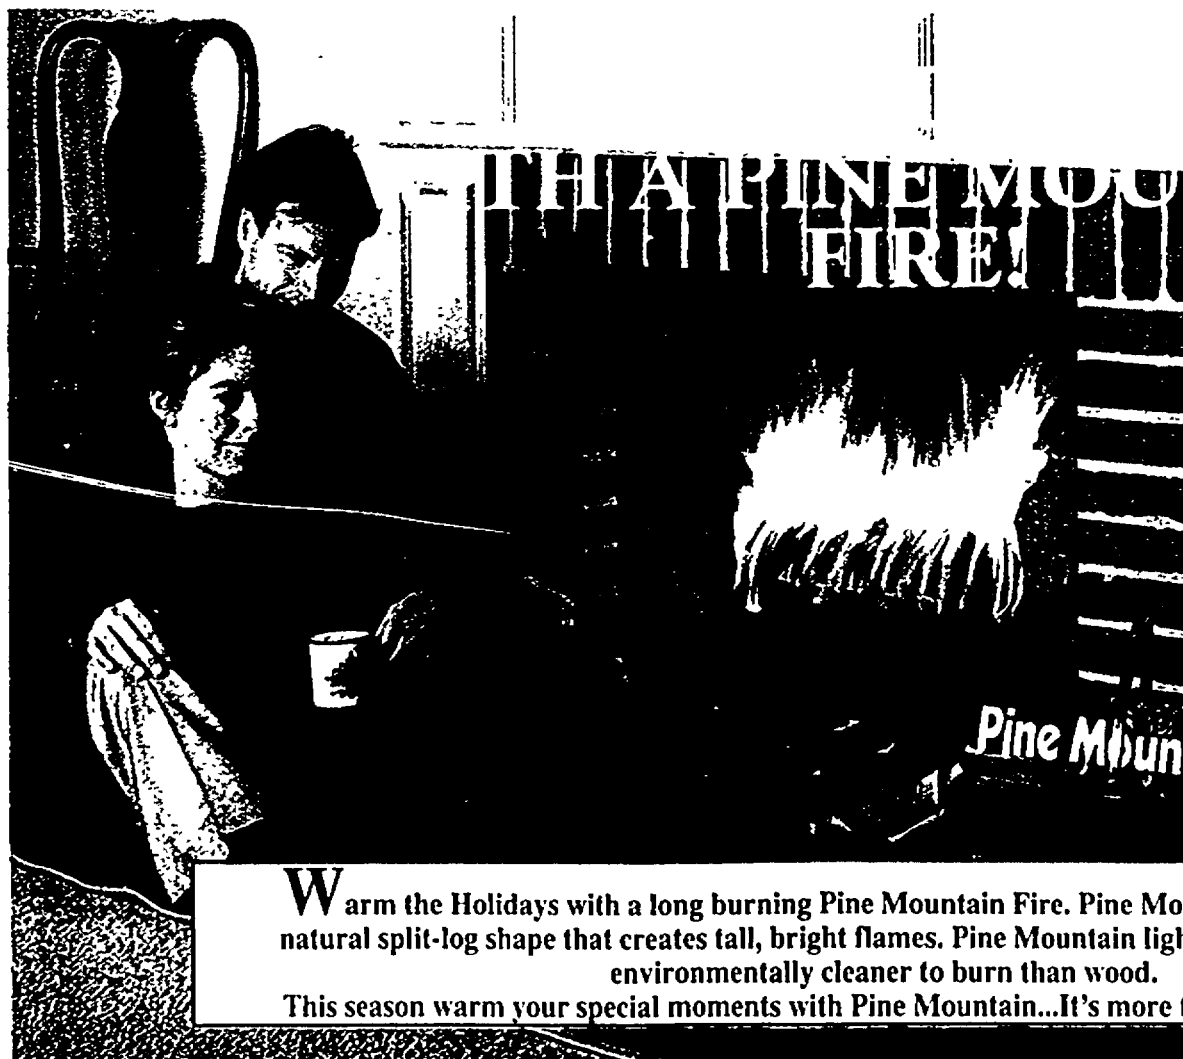

The warm yellow/orange glow welcomes people into your home. And, because fireplace fires naturally draw people toward them, they may also help alleviate the inevitable "bunching" that occurs in kitchens and dining rooms. Best of all fireplace clean-up is much less of a mess than with natural wood fires.

Music can also be a big help in creating the perfect mood. Try playing disks and tapes with songs of the season in the background.

Relax, It's Easy

With the help of Meijer to take the food preparation worries out of your holiday entertaining plans, you're free to concentrate on being a party planner par excellence. That way, your guests will remember the enchanting mood and good company as much as they do the delicious food.

Warm the Holidays with a long burning Pine Mountain Fire. Pine Mountain Firelogs feature a natural split-log shape that creates tall, bright flames. Pine Mountain lights with one match and is environmentally cleaner to burn than wood.

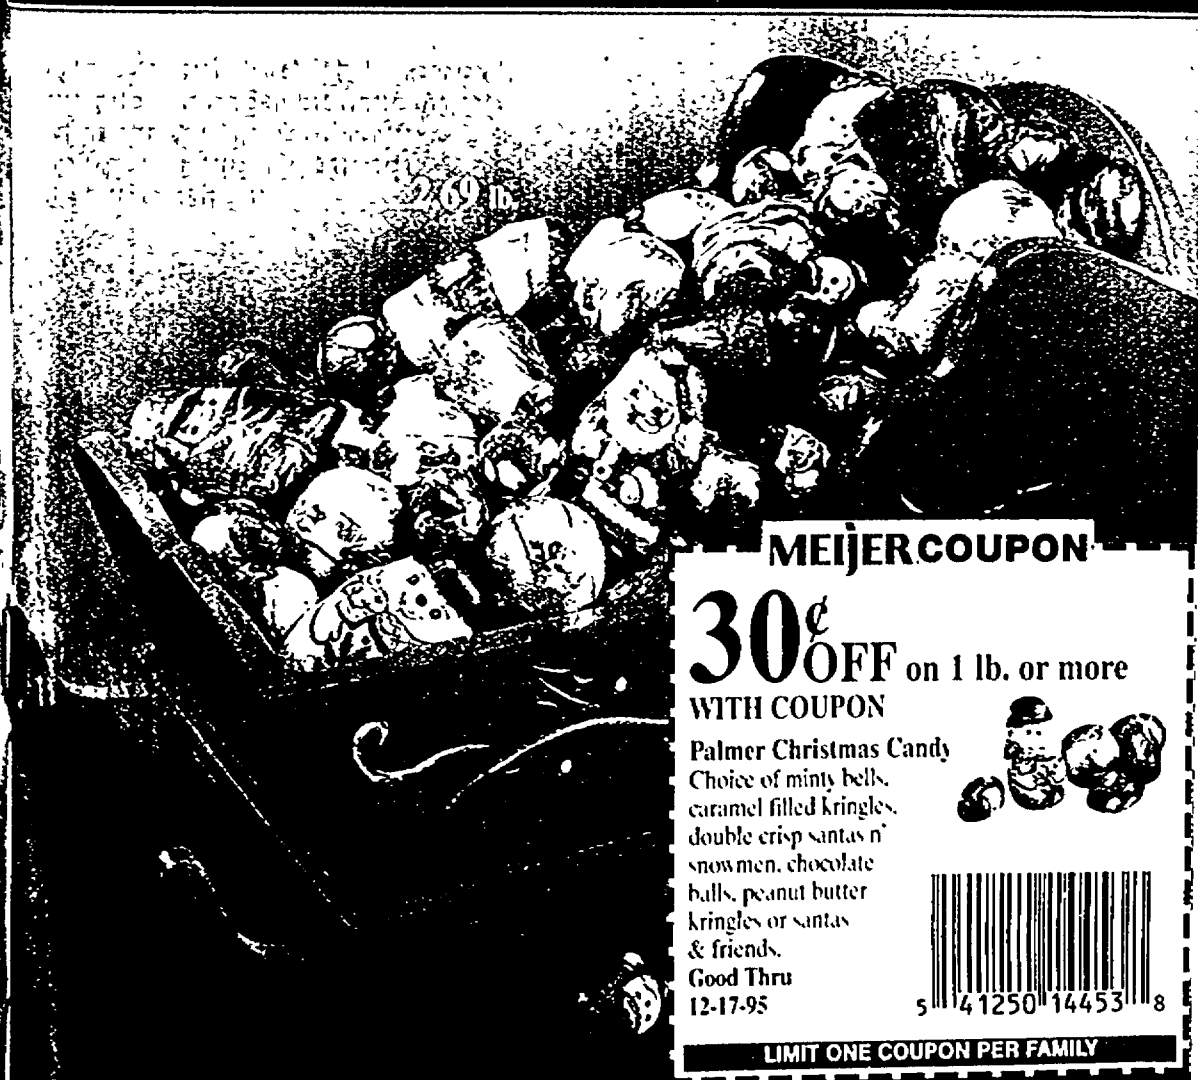

This season warm your special moments with Pine Mountain...It's more than an ordinary firelog!

BAKING SEASONS BRIGHT

Holiday Baking is Easier Than Ever Before

The holidays are the time of year when we retrieve Grandma's white linen tablecloth, from the trunk in the attic, and decorate our homes with special symbols of the season. Many people also spend long hours in their kitchens baking holiday treats so that the welcoming, enticing smells of cinnamon, nutmeg, and chocolate greet family and guests as they return from the cold outdoors. These wonderful aromas make baking one of the simplest ways we have to fill our homes with the unforgettable ambience of the holidays.

Bake to Suit Your Style

Baking technology has evolved significantly over the past 100 years. At the turn of the century, the ovens in American kitchens were little more than iron chambers over a raging wood fire. Today's modern cooking applicances allow the amateur baker to mix ingredients precisely in food processing equipment, select an exact cooking temperature, then time baking accurately for near-perfect results every time. You can also use one of the popular automatic bread makers to prepare distinctive nutbreads and fruitbreads for virtually every holiday meal.

No-Fuss Baking

Holiday treats from the oven can be simple or complicated, depending on your needs. From rich shortbreads and elegant cakes, to fruit pies and plain sugar cookies, baking is a long holiday tradition that pre-dates recorded history. Baked items are also a practical, easy way to add zest to your holiday table.

Baked with Love

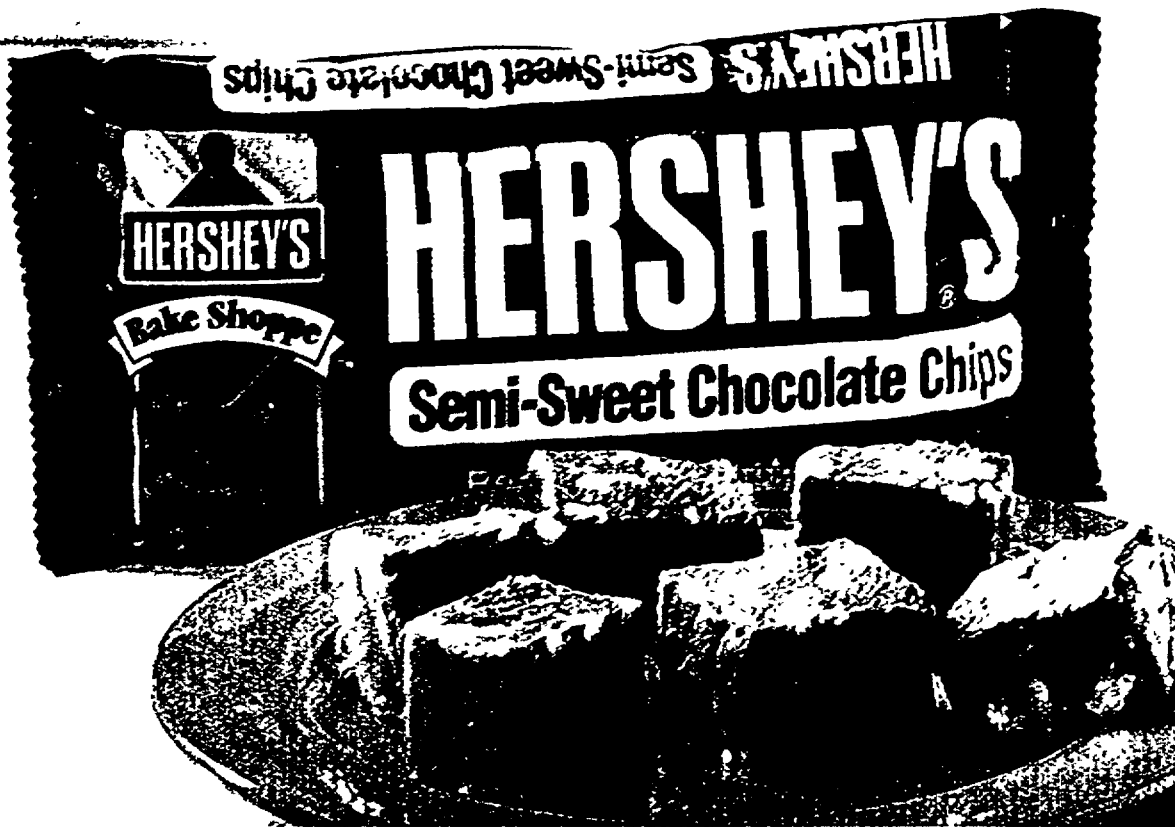

The availability of high-quality mixes helps lessen your time spent near a hot oven and makes baked goods a first choice for many holiday cooks. And, as anyone who has ever received one will tell you, baked items are also a unique and welcome gift idea. Nothing warms the holiday heart faster than a basket of mini-cobblers or a tray of melt-in-your-mouth shortbread.

When you're planning this year's holiday menus, include several easy-to-prepare baked items. You'll like their convenience and your family and guests will appreciate your "fresh from the oven" thoughtful-

Six Secrets to Picture Perfect Pie Crust

1. Use good, unbleached all-purpose flour and fresh, unsalted butter.
2. Keep all pastry ingredients cold.
3. Chill the dough before rolling and roll on a cold surface.
4. Use ripe, unblemished fruit.
5. ALWAYS pre-heat the oven.
6. For a crisp bottom crust, use an old-fashioned metal pie tin and bake in the lower third of the oven.

Sweet surprises come from the kitchen...

Milliondollar Fudge

- 2 cups (12-ounce package) HERSHEY'S Real Chocolate Semi-Sweet Chips or Mini Chips
- 1 giant (7-ounce) HERSHEY'S Milk Chocolate Bar broken into pieces
- 1 1/3 cups (13-ounce can) evaporated milk
- 1 1/3 cups (7-ounce jar) marshmallow creme
- 4 cups granulated sugar
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 1/3 cups chopped pecans or walnuts

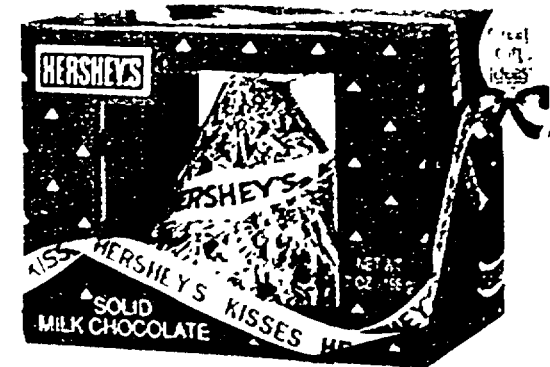

Combine HERSHEY'S Real Chocolate Semi-Sweet Chips or Mini Chips and Hershey's Bar in a large mixing bowl. Set aside.

Combine evaporated milk, marshmallow creme, sugar and butter or margarine in a HEAVY 4-QUART SAUCEPAN. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a full rolling boil: boil and stir 8 minutes. Remove from heat, immediately add to chocolate in mixing bowl, heating until completely melted. Blend in vanilla and pecans or walnuts. Pour mixture into a buttered 9-inch square or 13"x9"x2" oblong pan; cool.

Recipe makes 4 1/2 pounds of the best fudge ever.

Orange Scones

Crumb Topping

- 2 tablespoons Carnation Coffee-mate powdered non-dairy creamer, your favorite flavor
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 tablespoon cold butter, cut in pieces

Mix dry ingredients in a small bowl. Cut in butter with a fork or pastry blender until small crumbs form; set aside.

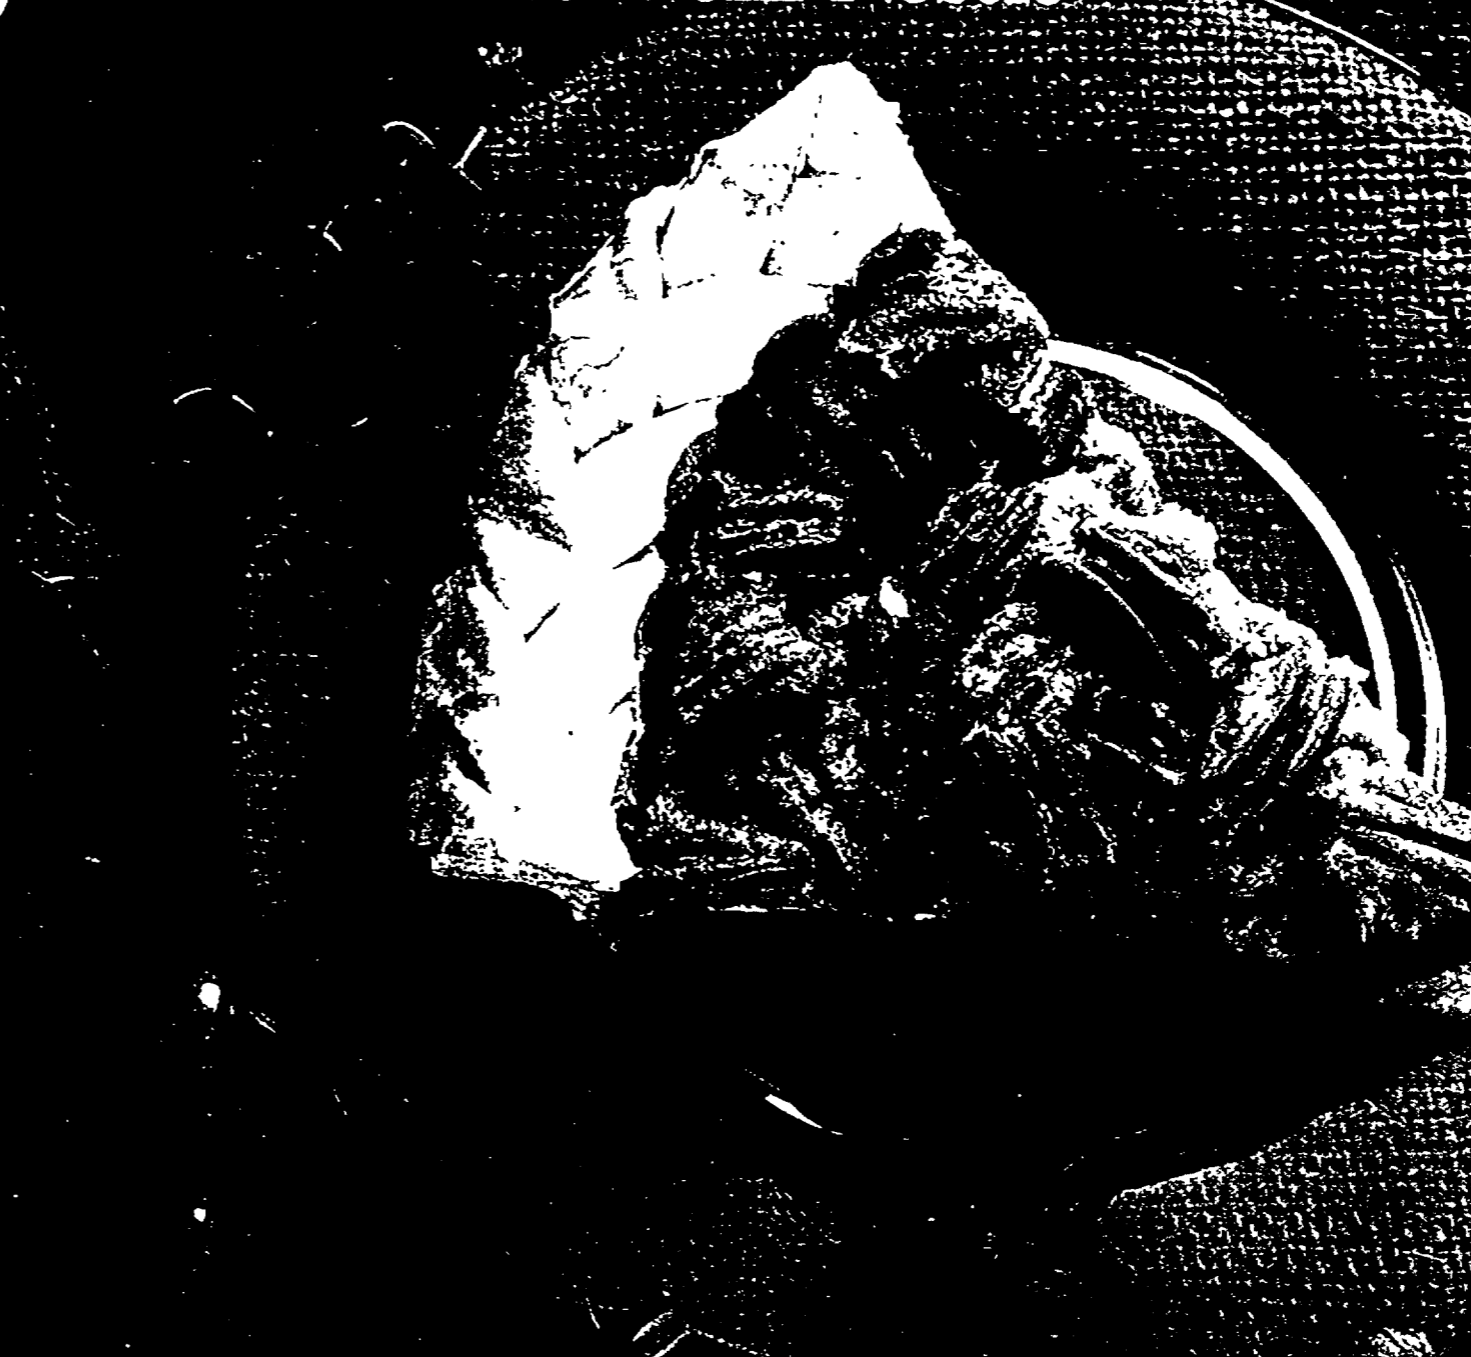

Scones

- 2 1/2 cups flour
- 1/3 cup Carnation Coffee-mate powdered non-dairy creamer, your favorite flavor
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1 tablespoon grated orange peel
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons cold butter, cut in pieces
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 eggs
- crumb topping

Preheat oven to 425° F. In a large bowl, combine flour, Carnation Coffee-mate, baking powder, orange peel and salt; mix well. Cut in butter with a fork or pastry blender until evenly distributed. Beat together water and eggs. Add to flour mixture; stir until just moistened. On a floured surface, lightly knead dough for 30 seconds; do not over-knead. Roll or press dough with fingers until dough is 1/2-inch thick. Use 2-inch round or decorative cookie cutters to cut dough. Place 1-inch apart on ungreased baking sheet. Sprinkle with crumb topping. Bake on middle rack for 12 minutes or until golden. Makes about 15 scones.

Quality Baking Starts with Quality Ingredients

Fleischmann's Bakes it Best

Lollipop Cookies

- 1 cup (2 sticks) Fleischmann's Margarine
- 1 1/2 cups firmly packed brown sugar
- 2 eggs
- 2 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon EACH: Cinnamon, nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 cup milk
- 2 1/2 cups quick cooking oats (not instant), uncooked

Wooden sticks Cookie decorations

Cream Fleischmann's Margarine and sugar in large mixing bowl until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs. Combine flour, baking powder, spices, salt and baking soda. Add to Fleischmann's Margarine mixture alternately with milk; mix well. Stir in oats. Cover and refrigerate 1 to 2 hours or until firm for ease in handling. Preheat oven to 375°F. Shape dough into 1 1/2" balls. Place about 3 inches apart on unbuttered cookie sheets. Insert wooden stick halfway into each ball of dough. Flatten using a flat bottom glass dipped in granulated sugar. Bake 13 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool on cookie sheets 2 to 3 minutes. Transfer cookies to wire racks; cool completely. Decorate as desired. Store at room temperature in airtight metal containers up to 2 weeks. Yield: 2 dozen cookies

Mrs. Richardson's Makes the Holidays Delicious.

Double Decadent Fudge Brownie

- 3/4 Cup MRS. RICHARDSON'S Hot Fudge Topping
- 3/4 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1 egg
- 1 cup QUAKER Oats (quick or old fashioned), uncooked
- 3/4 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/4 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/8 teaspoon salt (optional)
- 1 cup semi-sweet chocolate chips, melted*
- 2/3 cup (1 stick and 3 tablespoons) margarine or butter, melted
- 1/3 cup chopped pecans (optional)

Heat oven to 350°F. Lightly grease 9-inch square baking pan. In large bowl, beat topping, sugar and egg until smooth. Add combined oats, flour, baking soda and salt; mix well. Stir in melted chocolate chips and margarine; fold in pecans. Pour batter into prepared pan spreading batter to edges. Bake 40 to 45 minutes or until brownies pull away from sides of pan. Cool completely. Drizzle with additional warm MRS. RICHARDSON'S Hot Fudge Topping, if desired. Cut into 2x3-inch bars.

12 BARS

*To melt chocolate: Place in microwaveable bowl. Microwave at HIGH 1 to 2 minutes, stirring every 30 seconds until smooth. Or, heat in heavy saucepan over low heat, stirring until smooth.

Gingerbread Cookies

- 1 cup packed brown sugar
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 1/2 cups dark molasses
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 7 cups Gold Medal® all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 2 teaspoons ground ginger
- 1 teaspoon salt

- 1 teaspoon ground allspice
- 1 teaspoon ground cloves
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- Easy Creamy Frosting
- Betty Crocker® Decorator Icing
- Betty Crocker® Decors

Mix brown sugar, shortening, molasses and water in large bowl. Stir in flour, baking soda, ginger, salt, allspice, cloves and cinnamon. Cover and refrigerate about 2 hours or until firm. Heat oven to 350°F. Lightly grease cookie sheet. Roll one-fourth of dough at a time 1/4 inch thick on floured surface. Cut with floured gingerbread cookie cutter or other favorite shaped cutter. Place about 2 inches apart on cookie sheet. Bake 10 to 12 minutes or until almost no indentation remains when touched in center. Immediately remove from cookie sheet. Cool completely on wire rack. Decorate cookies with Decorator Icing and Decors. Makes about 2 1/2 dozen 5-inch cookies or about 5 dozen 2 1/2 inch cookies. To personalize these cookies, add cookie dough hair and raisin or chocolate chip eyes and buttons before baking. A garlic press or potato ricer works great for making dough into "hair". You can also bend the arms and legs before baking to make dancing gingerbread people.

Pfeffernüsse

German Christmas cookie meaning Peppernuts

- 2 eggs
- 1 cup brown sugar, packed
- 2 tsp. Lemon Peel
- 1/2 cup finely chopped citron
- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. Cinnamon

- 1/4 tsp. Nutmeg
- 1/4 tsp. Cloves
- 1/4 tsp. Mace
- 1/4 tsp. Black Pepper
- 1/4 tsp. ground Cardamom
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts
- Brandy Extract or Rum Extract

Beat eggs until thick; add brown sugar and lemon peel. Continue beating until well blended. Stir in citron. Sift flour with baking powder, salt and spices and add to egg mixture. Stir in nuts. Shape into roll 1 inch in diameter. Chill. Cut into 1/2-inch slices and place on baking sheet; allow to dry overnight. Turn cookies over and put 1 to 2 drops extract in center of each cookie. Bake in 375°F. oven 12 to 15 minutes. Store in tightly covered container several days to mellow.

Spiced Almond Cake

- 1 box (18.25 oz.) yellow cake mix
- 1/2 tsp. ground Nutmeg
- 1/2 cup vegetable oil
- 2 tsp. ground Cinnamon
- 2 tsp. pure Almond Extract

- 3 eggs
- 1 tsp. ground Allspice
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 1/2 cup slivered almonds, chopped

Preheat oven to 350°F. Grease and flour 12-cup Bundt pan. Blend cake mix, spices, Almond Extract, water, oil and eggs in large bowl at low speed until ingredients are moistened. Beat at medium speed for 2 minutes. Fold in chopped almonds. Pour batter into prepared pan. Bake 38-43 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan on rack 20 minutes. Remove from pan and cool completely before topping with glaze.

Almond Glaze

- 2 tbsp. butter or margarine
- 2 tbsp. brown sugar
- 1/2 tsp. pure Almond Extract

Chocolate Chip Cookies

Made with "M&M's"™ Milk Chocolate Baking Bits

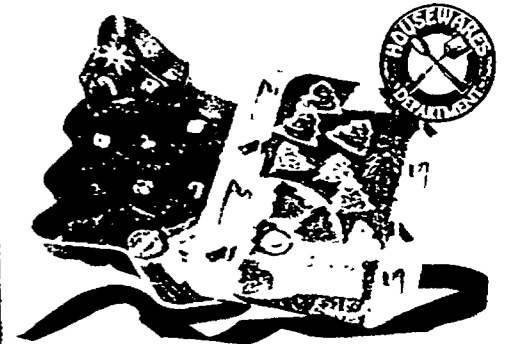

- 1 cup (2 sticks) margarine or butter
- 1/2 cup firmly packed C&H brown sugar
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1-12 ounce package (1-3/4 cups) "M&M's"™ Milk Chocolate Baking Bits

Preheat oven to 350°F. In a large mixing bowl, cream together margarine and sugar until light and fluffy; beat in egg and vanilla. Gradually blend in combined flour, baking soda and salt. Stir in "M&M's"™ Milk Chocolate Baking Bits. Drop by rounded measuring tablespoonfuls about 2 inches apart onto ungreased cookie sheet. Bake 10-13 minutes, until edges are lightly browned and centers are still soft. Cool 1 minute on cookie sheet; remove to wire cooling rack until completely cooled. Store in tightly-covered container.

Why wait?

Save $42 on the Installation of a Second Line!

Now you can get an Ameritech Second Line for less than you think. You'll save $42 on the regular installation price. It's your phone line to use when you want, how you want.

Think of it, you won't have to take messages for your kids. You can dedicate your Ameritech Second Line to your home computer, so you can stay on line without tying up the phone. Or, if you bring work home, you can designate your second line for professional calls and be confident they will always be answered appropriately. It's also great for sending and receiving faxes. Whatever your needs, with a second line, you'll never have to stand in line waiting to use the phone.
