Teacher pulls rabbit out of hat in making science fun By ROBERT JACKSON Staff Writer

If you're not careful you could run into Dominie the rabbit when you enter the classroom of Cooke Middle School science teacher Ann Marie Sadler

That's because Dominic, and other assorted animals and plants, are part of Sadler's hands-on approach to science

The kids just love the animals and I think providing them with items they can see and touch makes learning science a lot of fun," she said.

It must be working Sadler's students not only look forward to science class, they enjoy the learning atmosphere Sadler provides. The end result is simple, she said students become more excited to

Sadler's approach is not only a hit with the students but with her colleagues as well, and Sadler finds herself one of three finalists for the Michigan Science Teachers

Event is taste tempting way to get to know Northville

Expo not just for networking anymore

It's not often that you can get the flavor - literally - of an entire community in just one evening.

But that's exactly what the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce is offering with its "Taste of Northville Business Showcase," set for 5-8 p.m. Tuesday, March 12, at the Community Center, Thirteen of the top restaurants in the community are going to be there." Chamber Executive Director Laurie Marrs sald. "Numerous businesses and non-profit organizations - over 40 - will have booths.

The showcase started out as a business exposition, but over the years evolved into a night of fun with food buffets, free raffles and an abundance of friendly faces.

This year, the annual event will feature a carnival theme with games, demonstrations and more giveaways than ever.

*Dr. Rudy will be there to sign autographs, and the Mercyaires from Mercy High School will entertain with carnival songs." Marrs added. "This won't be any boring business expo.

Admission to the event is $5 for adults. $4 for seniors and $3 for children under

Patrons will have a chance to feast on restaurant specialty foods, view business services and products and visit with local celebrities Dr. Rudy, a Victorian Festival favorite, and 1995 Victorian Queen Cynthia Paterson.

Children's games will include ring toss. guess the weight and hammer slam.

Non-profit organizations will staff booths and distribute literature in an effort to better introduce themselves to the community.

Restaurant operators plan to spread the table with some of their most famous and unique dishes.

This is a great one-stop way for people to find out all about our community. Marrs continued. "But it's not just informative - it'll be exciting and fun as well."

The showcase is usually held in the cafeteria of Northville High School but was moved to the community center this year to provide easier access for booth

It's a shorter distance from the parking lot to the building this way." Marrs said. People carrying a lot of equipment will find it more comfortable.

Suspect sought in major theft of Northville Township residence

Township police are investigating the theft of $11,500 worth of jewelry from a local woman's home that happened while she was out of town last week.

The woman, 41, said her daughter, 18, had nine people over one day while she was gone, five of whom the teen did not know personally. When the woman returned, she found the lock on the jewelry drawer in her bedroom had been forced open and several baubles taken.

RUDE WELCOME: Someone knocked over a new township business over the weekend, stealing thousands of dollars.

The burglars' target was Baby's Room, located on Seven Mile in the Northville Plaza shopping complex. Police say the theft occurred during the night of Feb. 24-25.

A total of $4,843 in cash and checks was taken.

DRIVE-BY PURSE SNATCHING: A township woman doing some Saturday shopping at Meijer was the victim of an unusual crime, police say.

The woman, 45, said she was unloading her groceries from a shopping cart into her car trunk in the store's parking lot when a Cadillac drove past her. The driver leaned out, grabbed her purse out of the cart and then sped away.

In the purse, valued at $100, were credit cards, personal effects and a cellular telephone worth DRUNK DRIVER: Township police arrested a Northville resident for driving while intoxicated in the early morning hours of Feb.

The reporting officer in the case said he clocked the man's 1991 Eagle Talon doing 55 mph on 45mile-per-hour Seven Mile Road at about 1:30 a.m. on Friday. The car was also weaving across traffic lanes, he said, and the man displayed signs of intoxication after being stopped and questioned.

Breath testing later at police headquarters showed him to have a blood alcohol level of at least .15 percent, one and a half times the legal limit of .10 percent. The man, 33, was held until he sobered up and then released on bond and

NOTHING UP MY SLEEVE: A 30-year-old Novi man pleaded economic hardship to township police last week when he was arrested for shoplifting at Meijer.

Store detectives said they saw is the man, 30, stuff nine packs of cigarettes, a package of antacid medicine and two frozen burritos up the sleeves of his jacket. He then tried to leave the store without paying for them, the detectives continued.

When asked why he took the items, the man allegedly told police that "times are hard and money is short.

He was booked and released on bond. The man faces a March 14 court hearing.

DRUNK AND DISAGREEABLE: A man was arrested for drunk driving in Northville Township last week and he wasn't happy about

The reporting officer in the case said he saw the man's 1981 Mercury speeding and weaving on Seven Mile at about 2:30 a.m. on Feb. 19. The driver, a 29-year-old Livonia resident, showed signs of intoxication, he added.

After being taken into custody, the officer continued, the man became increasingly hostile and "verbally abused" police. Later. during breath testing procedures. he said that he was just kidding. then soon began to curse again, alternating that with praying and crying, police said.

Testing showed the man to have a blood alcohol level of .12 percent, above the legal limit. He was held until he sobered up then released on bond. He will face a court hearing soon.

DRAG RACE DRUNK: A 28year-old Northville man wasn't really using his head when he decided to squeal his tires and race out of the parking lot of the Wagon Wheel Bar Feb. 20.

A Northville Police Officer happened to witness the ill-advised act and pursued the man as he made the turn from Main Street and Griswold. The officer stopped the man moments later.

When the officer approached the vehicle he immediately smelled alcohol, according to the police report. He asked the man to perform a series of field sobriety tests. then performed a Preliminary Breath Test which registered .17 percent blood alcohol content. The man was arrested for OUIL and transported to the Northville Police Station where a second breath test also registered .17 percent. The man was held on $100

FORCED BLOOD TEST: A 40year-old Northville man was arrested for OUIL Feb. 23.

According to police, the man was spotted driving east on Eight Mile Road near Novi Road traveling at a high rate of speed.

When the police officer activated his emergency lights the man began driving erratically, swerving in and out of his lane, and began speeding away from the pursuing officer.

The man was finally stopped at the Woodland Glen Apartments, and when he was a questioned by police he told the officer he had only a couple of drinks.

Police requested the man perform several field sobriety tests. and when he refused to take a preliminary breath test the man was arrested and transported to the Northville Police Department.

Officers then had a blood search warrant signed by 52nd District Court Judge Brian McKenzie, and the man was transported to Providence Medical Center, in Novi where his blood was drawn. The samples were then transported to the State Police laboratory for eval-

Police handle outbreak of domestic violence cases

By RANDY COBLE

Business boomed for Northville Township police last week. Unfortunately, domestic violence was the reason.

Township officers have made no less than four arrests for assault involving family members or people living together in the past six days. Three of them allegedly are drug-related. The cluster of incidents is unusual, Sergeant John Werth said.

"It's definitely a high number for such a short period of time.

The four individuals arrested, all township residents. arraigned over the weekend. Three of them will face pretrial proceedings in 35th District Court on March 8. Each faces a misdemeanor charge punishable by up to 93 days in jail and a $500 fine

The fourth person, a 16 year old boy who also faces drug charges. will be dealt with separately.

Here's what happened, according to police reports:

On Friday afternoon a township woman was taken into custody after allegedly punching her ex-husband. The two are living together, police said, and the fight started after an argument erupted over the woman's leaving. • The same day, another woman told police that her live-in boyfriend attacked her after she refused to give him money for drugs. The man punched her in the eye after she declined to take $200 out of an ATM so he could purchase crack cocaine, she

• Saturday evening saw a 17year-old boy arrested for allegedly getting physical with his own mother during an argument over his use of narcotics. The teen pushed the woman around and otherwise abused her, Werth said

• The most serious incident took place on Sunday, when the 16year-old was arrested for domestic assault and possession of marijuana with intent to sell.

The boy's parents told police they'd found a coffee can containing baggies of marijuana in their home. Werth said, and asked for an officer to come and speak to him. As the parents and the officer entered the home. Werth continued, the boy, unaware that the police were there, asked the couple. "Where's my coffee can?"

Upon seeing the officer, he said, the boy became agitated and struck his dad. He was booked and is being held in a Wayne County youth home pending a hearing scheduled for this week.

As the boy is not legally an adult, he will be dealt with through the juvenile court system. There are no mandatory sentencing guidelines that he will face if

Educators warn of state aid cuts

By ROBERT JACKSON Staff Writer

For the Northville Public School District, and every school district statewide, February has been an up and down month as far as financing is concerned.

School administrators received some bad news last week when they learned that state school aid had been cut $9.90 per pupil with a possible $17 per student reduction next year - in checks that went out to school districts, because close to 8.000 more students showed up for classes than was anticipated. Consequently the state aid fund of nearly $11 billion is being spread over a wider batch of pupils.

What that means on a state level is that the total school revenue loss is estimated at $15.3 million Closer to home. Northville schools will take an estimated $76,500 loss in revenue, based on student enrollment numbers.

While that amount may not seem like much. Northville School Superintendent Leonard Rezimerski wonders whether the situation will get worse.

If this is what happens when times are good economically, then I'd hate to see what would be in store for us when times aren't so good." Rezmierski said., "What I try to remind people is that we have entered uncertain times, and I don't see anyone out there willing to bail out education, so we need to grab what we have and hold on

There is a silver lining in all of this, according to a key state Democratic legislator, who said there's more than enough money in the state budget to restore the

Rep. James Agee, D-Muskegon. a former Muskegon school superintendent, said the state had allocated about $140 million for retirees' health benefits in the event it lost its Supreme Court case in Musselman vs. Engler.

Since the state won. Agee said, those funds will be free to use on education spending."

But while the money is in the state budget, the problem is getting to it, and Rezmierski said he's not willing to put all the district's eggs in one basket.

"At this point in time there are no guarantees that we will get the June payment from the state, and there is no way I'm going to tell the community that everything is fine when I can't be certain the money will be there.

Earlier this month the state

"If this is what happens when times are good economically, then I'd hate to see what would be in store for us when times aren't so good."

-Leonard Rezmierski Northville school superintendent

Supreme Court reversed its earlier ruling in the Musselman health care benefits case, and ruled that it could not compel the state to prefund the health care portion of retirement benefits of the Michigan Public School Employees Retirement System. For people not familiar with the lengthy trail of litigation, the Musselman case is the short title for the suit by Ann Musselman and seven school retirees against Gov. John Engler, Treasurer Douglas Roberts and the state Legislature.

Musselman asked the court to mandate that the state actuarially prepay their health benefits at the time of retirement, as it had done prior to 1991. Engler, facing a budget deficit in his first year as governor, made the decision to and benefits annually.

In its earlier decision the court said the state's failure to prefund retirees' benefits violated the state constitution, which makes such benefits a contractual obligation which shall not be diminished or impaired.

The court's decision in the original hearing would have cost the state $418 million - 5 percent of the current general fund budget.

It would have cost school districts as well. When the court handed down its original ruling it required the state to put $140 million into escrow to prepay benefits. Lawmakers took the money out of the June 1996 school and pay Rezmierski added that there are so many factors still in play that school districts across the state can't afford wishful thinking.

There are districts in this state right now that are flirting with deficit problems," he said. Those districts are going to have to make cuts in programs, personnel, and other expenses. That's something we don't want to sacrifice because that affects the educational goals that we have set for our students."

Staff Writer Tim Richards con tributed to this report.

To many it's a blot on an otherwise picture-perfect scene, a wild growth in a garden of colorful blooms. But to those who live there the Inn on Main isn't just a place to sleep, it's a sanctuary from the harsh, impersonal world

*Everybody needs time in life to sort things out," tenant Eric Gar-lend said. "This is kind of our time for doing that."

For years the apartment house at 111 W. Main has been the target of criticism from Northvillians who take pride in their newly renovated downtown. The building's reputation as a magnet for lowmcome people with criminal histories and drop-out lifestyles stands in sharp contrast to the ornate facades and elegant shops of the rest of the central city.

But owner Dick Kurkoff, who bought the property in 1994, insists he's trying to raise the caliber of the clientele and run a respectable, profit-making opera-

*Everybody works in there, they have to work. But if they lose their job you can't just kick them out," he said. "According to the constitution, you can't violate people's civil rights."

"bad element" at the apartment house are long standing, renewed, concern was raised when a resident sent a letter to Northville City Hall claiming that illegal activities routinely take place at the Inn.

The allegations prompted City Manager Gary Word to ask Police Chief Rodney Cannon to gather data on the number of police runs to the Main Street address during 1994 and 1995.

Cannon reported that there were 69 incidents at the Inn last year, less than 1 percent of the citywide total. Many of the runs were for minor offenses such as loudness and disorderly conduct, and most calls resulted in neither arrests nor prosecutions.

There was one fatal drug over-dose, one natural death and several assaults. One tenant received court-ordered commitment for mental problems twice.

There were 77 similar incidents

The owners of this building have been cooperative with the police department and are eager to maintain order." Chief Cannon wrote. Basically, the Inn on Main is operating under the law and I don't see it going away."

Another tenant, 17-year-old Amanda Borg, was declared an emancipated minor by the courts and is allowed to live apart from her parents. She, too, feels a special closeness to the others.

"There's about 11 of us who hang together. They're nice people to live with. We've got a great landlord. He'll work with you. We want things that are other than money."

Kurkoff said, contrary to what many might think, not all his tenants are perennial drifters. Some are young people who come from prominent local families.

We've raised a whole generation of princes and princesses who refuse to work. You'd be amazed at the people of vast substance whose children live there.

Paslawski, who said he regularly attends church services and reads avidly about religion, quoted the Gospel of Mark in pointing out the hypocrisy of those who look down on people who must struggle to eke out a living.

"First take the log out of your own eye before you take the speck out of others." he trumpeted "We're trying to crase our past and clean up our future."

The tenants also complained of occasional police harassment, but officers say many local crimes are traceable to the residents of the Inn and their friends.

The residents may not be fine examples of what a citizen should be." Chief Cannon concluded. However, they have a right to privacy and the police department must abide by the rules of evidence and the constitutional rights

County plans involve demolition of eyesores

By RANDY COBLE Staff Writer

It's a special day, and not just because it's the extra one we get from leap year.

Tonight (Feb. 29) marks a big step in a process which many in the know are labeling as the best shot in decades for some of Northville's most dilapidated land to be transformed from an eyesore into a showpiece. The township board of trustees will get its first public gander at Wayne County's development plans for the 900 odd acres it owns in Northville Township.

The land - which sits between Five and Six Mile and Beck Road and Edward Hines Drive - is the largest single-owner parcel in Wayne County and constitutes almost 10 percent of the township's total land area.

What to do with it is a question that both the county and the township have wrestled with for many a year.

Past development proposals have fallen through as the land has sat vacant, some of it for more than 20 years, its buildings decaying and blighting the landscape

In 1995 county officials decided on a new strategy, one backed by a cadre of powerful local private developers and business interests who are lending their time and talents to the

A key aspect of the entire process will be negotiating with Northville Township over what will and won't be allowed to be built there.

That's necessary because the township controls both the zoning on the site and must ultimately approve any development plan for it. After months of work, county officials last month presented township administrators with their vision for the site. It's that plan that the board will dissect this week.

In general, county officials say they intend to pursue three objectives more or less simultaneously:

• First, the county will try to gain township approval for a single planned unit development (PUD) agreement that will encompass the entire site. The PUD deal is a written contract which will specify the zoning and thus the permitted uses for all 863 acres.

The plan scheduled to be presented to the board this week is expected to include some residential areas, including senior housing, industrial park areas and a golf course.

Second is marketing the land to the area's development community. The size of individual parcels will vary from as little as 30 to as much as 200 acres.

 Demolishing the abandoned buildings on the site and removing sources of environmental contamination such as leaking underground storage tanks. The county will also try to clean up the land to state standards, a process expected to cost in the millions, using money garnered from parcel sales.

Already the destruction of the structures on the property is moving forward rapidly. Crews with bulldozers are razing the property on the west side of Sheldon Road now

A key question that remains outstanding is whether the state of Michigan will agree to include its 14 acres at the corner of Five Mile and Sheldon in any PUD agreement and development plan

The land is now the site of an abandoned building within the state in helping communities breathe new life into downtown areas.

This doesn't mean that downtown Northville is in bad shape. I think the opposite is true," Word said. "This effort would build upon the success we already have, and would make the downtown area even stronger.

The DDA's proposal calls for the economic summit to take place in early April. Community leaders. merchants, businesses, and city officials will take part in the three to four hour program.

The cost of the summit would be approximately $2,500, according to Word. That figure doesn't include travel and lodging costs. but Northville could take advantage of splitting a portion of the cost with several area communities which are planning economic summits of their own.

The summit, according to Johnson will serve to generate more enthusiasm and involvement from downtown *stakeholders.

"It's imperative to bring all of the stakeholders in our downtown into the process right from the beginning," Johnson said. "We need their ideas so that we can set goals that are attainable."

Chamber of Commerce Director Laurie Marrs, a member of the DDA, said that the economic summit would benefit downtown and its merchants.

"We all have different ideas as to what should happen downtown, and I think it's important to have experts like HyettPalma come into our community and provide us with options," Marrs said.

Word said the firm is quite familiar with Northville, and studied the community extensively when they were contracted by Plymouth to help them develop an economic plan.

They are quite knowledgeable about our downtown area, and we will provide them with plenty of information so that they will be able to provide us with viable options," he said.

Representatives from the consulting firm will be making visits to Northville to meet with city officials before the economic summit, Word added.

City councilmembers met with DDA officials at a study session Monday to discuss the proposal Word said that although the council couldn't officially act on the proposal, there were plenty of

Johnson meanwhile was telling Bias that he was lost and looking for the 1-275 freeway. That didn't square with Officer Jim Fisher however who reported seeing the Cadillac in the area over an hour before. Fisher did not pull the carover himself at that time because he was sent by radio dispatch to respond to another incident

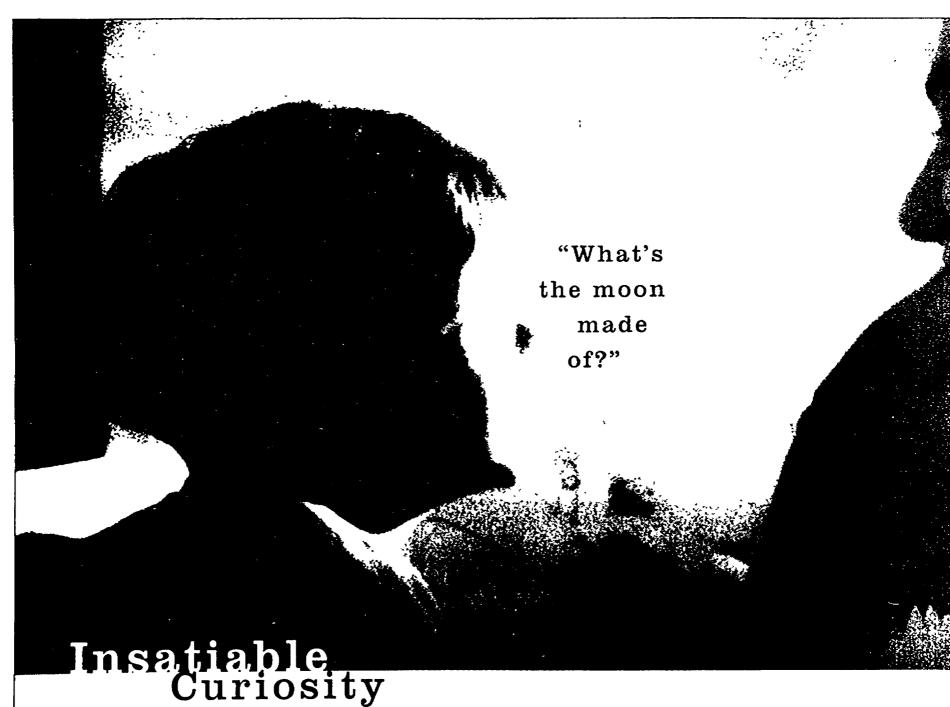

After arresting him for not having a license. Bias searched the Cadillac He found tools on the front passenger seat which police suspect were used to break open Six & Park's front door A check of the trunk, however, sealed things when $1,360 worth of cigarettes identified as belonging to the party store was found. Despite being offered a plea bargain. Johnson continually pled not guilty to the breaking and entering charge, Werth said, even through his two day trial last week. That, combined with his status as a habitual offender and a criminal history that includes convictions on theft, drug and hemiciderelated charges, means that "the ball's really in the judge's court here." Werth said. "There are no sentencing guidelines she has to follow. It's up to the judge."

Medicare Alternative From HAP Brings New Comprehensive Coverage Options and Savings to Southeast Michigan!

HAP Senior Plus provides more coverage than Medicare and a supplement plan combined.

MICHIGAN — Medicare beneficiaries in Wayne, Macomb, and Oakland counties have an eye-opening new choice when it comes to their health coverage. Health Alliance Plan (HAP) is introducing an alternative to traditional Medicare. It's called HAP Senior Plus, and it provides comprehensive coverage through a Zero-Premium Option or a low-cost Rx Option.

Until now, the only way to get more coverage than Medicare was to buy a supplement plan. The problem is, a Medicare supplement can easily cost up to $1,000 a year and still leave a person with medical bills. HAP Senior Plus was created as the solution to this dilemma.

HAP Senior Plus is a complete health care plan that provides more coverage than comprehensive coverage through a Zero-Premium Option or low cost Rx Option.

With HAP
Senior Plus,
Medicare beneficiaries

receive some of the best coverage available for a wide range of health care services including:

- 100% hospital coverage (unlimited number of days)
- 100% coverage for inpatient physician and surgical services, lab tests, X-rays, and more
- 100% coverage for outpatient surgical services
- 100% coverage for home health care (unlimited part-time visits)
- Physician/specialist office visit coverage
- Worldwide emergency care coverage
- Preventive care coverage including physical exams, vision and hearing exams.

Even with just this brief list of benefits, one can clearly see that HAP Senior Plus is a total health care plan that requires no supplement coverage. The most amazing feature of the plan, however, is the monthly premium: if you choose the HAP Senior Plus Zero-Premium Option, you'll pay nothing. Since you must

HAP Senior Plus is made possible by a special partnership between HAP and the agency that controls Medicare be enrolled in Medicare Part B to be eligible for HAP Senior Plus, you continue to pay your Medicare Part B premium — but that's all. You pay no additional premium.

How can HAP afford to offer so much coverage without a premium? It involves a special partnership between HAP and the agency that controls Medicare. Through this partnership, Medicare funds HAP to provide for all of your care through a network of doctors and hospitals.

According to Steven H. Nelson, Vice President of Senior Programs at HAP, "Although this concept is new to Michigan, it's part of a national movement. People in other areas of the country have been switching to Medicare HMO plans by the thousands. They can't afford not to. It's simply the least expensive way for Medicare beneficiaries to get comprehensive health benefits."

Mr. Nelson also points out that, in terms of quality care, HAP has earned the highest possible rating from independent experts. "We are among the 10% of HMOs nationwide who have earned full accreditation from the National Committee for Quality Assurance, a non-profit agency that evaluates HMOs. This means HAP continually improves the quality of care and focuses on prevention," he said.

HAP's accreditation also means that they carefully investigate and monitor the doctors in their network. This should give members of HAP Senior Plus more confidence in the care they receive from the HAP Senior Plus network. This expanding network includes some of the most well-known doctors and hospitals in the area.

and Oakland counties, you may request a free information package by contacting HAP Senior Plus at 1-800-468-1204 ext. 102.

The Medicare alternative that gives you more to smile about!

Wouldn't life be easier if Medicare provided for all your health care needs? Wouldn't you like to forget about ever-increasing Medicare supplement premiums? If so, HAP Senior Plus is the plan you've been waiting for — it's Medicare without a care.

More benefits plus Zero-Premium and Rx Options.

HAP Senior Plus gives you more coverage than Medicare and a Medicare supplement plan combined. In fact, many health care costs are paid in full. There's 100% coverage for hospitalization, inpatient physician's services, home health care, and more. HAP Senior Plus even includes preventive care benefits to keep you healthy.

If you're worried about high premiums, relax. You can choose the HAP Senior Plus Zero-Premium Option and pay no health plan premiums." Or, for a lower rate than you're probably paying for Medicare supplement coverage, you can choose our Rx Option which includes prescription drug benefits.

More confidence in your health care.

With HAP Senior Plus, your care is provided by our network of top-notch doctors, hospitals and specialists. We carefully monitor the doctors in this network so you can have an extra measure of confidence in the care you receive. In fact, you'll be glad to know that HAP has been recognized by the nation's leading HMO experts for consistently improving the quality of care.

High school braces for proficiency test week

Next week Northville High School will take a crack at trying to schedule some semblance of a regular school day, and at the same time accommodate the more than 300 juniors who will be taking the five day High School Proficiency Test.

The test is scheduled to take place at NHS March 4-8, from 7:30 to 10 a.m.

According to NHS Principal Tom Johnson, the teachers, staff, and school schedule are in place and ready for the week.

The focus has been creating an atmosphere that will enhance the success of all juniors writing this exam," Johnson said. Conversely, we're just as concerned with the remaining students and the educational program

The exam will take approximately 15 hours to administer, according to Johnson. That includes the distribution, direction and identifying information, and writing the exam.

All of the exams are untimed except the writing test," Johnson said. "Consequently, it is conceivable that more than 15 hours of time will be required."

The testing schedule calls for all juniors to begin school at the regularly scheduled time of 7:30 a.m. on Monday, March 4, through Friday, March 8. The students will write their exams each day until approximately 10 a.m. Following completion of that day's exam, juntors would break for lunch, and then begin their regular classes.

While all that is happening, the schedule for freshman, sophomores, and seniors will be drastically altered. Those students will begin first period classes at 10:35 a.m. and will be dismissed at 2.05 p.m. Each class period will last 30 min-

Johnson said that freshmen, sophomores and seniors will have access to the high school facilities beginning at 7:30 a.m., should they choose to utilize them. Those facilities include the library/media center, computer labs, physical education facilities, and cafeteria, each of which will be monitored by members of the teaching staff, he said.

Academic tutorials will also be available to students not taking the proficiency test. Johnson explained. Those programs will be offered on a voluntary basis and students taking part in the activities will be required to be in a designated area to minimize disruption while the test is being

School officials have also scheduled speakers Tuesday through Friday from 9 to 10 a.m. Catherine Riggs, director of the Women's Center at Eastern Michigan University, will discuss 'Dating, Drinking. and Drugs - What's the Connection," on Tuesday: the NHS Student Council will discuss cultural diversity on Wednesday: Students Against Drunk Driving will conduct a forum on Thursday; and Gary Cass, from the Michigan Department of Education, will discuss what it takes to Become a Winner" on Friday. The sessions are open to freshmen, sophomores,

Buses will provide transportation for students arriving at 7:30 and 10:30 a.m., and the cafeteria will be open at 7 a.m. with breakfast snacks and light lunches being served for the juniors taking the test, as well as other students, Johnson

Even with the 15 hour deduction from the school schedule, students will still receive more than the state mandated 990 hours of instruction. Johnson concluded.

State law requires students to attend a minimum of 180 school days per year and receive 990 hours of instruction. Currently NHS schedules for 182 days resulting in 1,048 hours of instruction.

I don't know about the rest of y'all, but this reporter can't wait for spring to come. I want sunshine, I want warm temperatures and I want to put away my winter

Please, no one out there call and try to sell me that malarkey about how nice winter can be and how pretty the snow looks on Christmas morning and the fun of sledding and chestnuts roasting on the open fire and all that. I come from the gulf coast of Texas. where they attend Christmas morning services on the beach at sunrise in shorts and flip-flops, and it's infinitely preferable to the slush-covered seasons we have up here.

Now that your friendly neighborhood reporter has had his venting for the week, let's turn to the name game in this week's ABG. I thought it would be fun to take a look at people from Northville's past with monikers made famous by other people.

For example, we all know who moon astronaut Neil Armstrong was, right? But did you know about John Armstrong, harness shop owner in town in the 1860s?

Get it? Good, 'cause here we go: Oh, before I forget, it's important to mention that all of the following facts come to us courtesy of Northville ... The First Hundred Years by Jack Hoffman.

 Forget Humphrey Bogart. Let's talk about Northville pioneer Marvin Bogart, who lived to the ripe old age of 98. He had some interesting adventures in his time in this town, including his friendship with Henry Ford, who after great effort finally convinced Marvin to invest in his fledgling "horseless carriage" company. helping Ford Motor Co. to get off the ground.

• Speaking of Henry Ford, let's not forget our own James Ford, who was involved in vehicles in his own way. James was one of the first members of the Northville Fire Department, formed in 1890.

• American explorers Lewis and Clark may have seen more of the world than most people but I'll bet they didn't have the lungs of Northville settler Lewis Clark. He was, according to neighbors, "a very zealous Methodist* who lived in a log house on Cady Street, "a very loud praying man (who) could be heard all over the neighborhood.

•• If you needed a spot of advice about your swing, U.S. Constitution signer John Hancock or movie star Donald Sutherland wouldn't be the guys to go to. Who would? Well, how about Don Sutherland or Stan Hancock, two of Meadowbrooks first golf

 Maybe after your trek around the greens you'll feel like bellying up to the bar for a bracer, a slug of Jack Daniels, perhaps. H.E.C. Daniels, chair of the local Republican party caucus at the turn of the century, must have been pretty smooth himself to get where he Woody Guthrie could sing but it's a safe bet he didn't have a relation, Ben Parmenter, who left Northville to fight in the U.S. Navy during the Civil War like wife Annah Guthrie did.

· He probably didn't make as much money as billionaire Howard Hughes did, but then again Seth Hughes probably wasn't a germ-fearing recluse either.

Seth and another man built an iron and steel foundry here in the 1830s, one that became one of the foremost makes of farm tool implements in Michigan in its

 Speaking of movie stars, one of the greatest of all time is, of course, Elizabeth Taylor. She's been married more times than John Taylor had shots of whiskey in his life. John, a Northville resident, had a reputation for frequently having, as the Irish so delightfully put it, "drink taken."

It was on one of these merry evenings in 1889 that John met his end. It seems that he and a friend had gotten plowed at "Roaches," which The Northville Record described as "a disreputable place."

After leaving and trying to buy more whiskey at a couple of drug stores, the two came back to Barney Roaches' place, where he was shot and killed by Barney's wife during an altercation.

RECORD OPINION

Our Opinion

No-contact policy can prevent injustice

It was one year ago this month that the community read the horrifying details of the sexual torture of a Northville Township woman, the "girl friend of the suspect in the case - one year ago, and the offender, Keenan Wells, remains at large with a warrant out for his arrest.

This newspaper was severely criticized for describing in painful detail the 9-hour ordeal to which Wells had subjected his victim. We thought it would be instructive to drive home the point that no community is insulated from the nightmare of domestic abuse. Whether we went overboard toward that end is something for subscribers and regular readers of The Northville Record to decide.

But we think everyone can share our disappointment and frustration at the events that have transpired since the incident last winter. Here's what hap-

Wells was arrested for allegedly handcuffing his girl friend to a bed and subjecting her to despicable acts of cruelty and violence. He was originally charged with four counts of criminal sexual misconduct, three of which carried potential life terms.

While awaiting trial. Wells reportedly made contact with the victim and convinced her not to testify against him in court. Without the active participation of their one and only witness (and with evidence about the questionable character of the victim in the hands of the defense), prosecutors felt they had no chance for a conviction on the major offense charges.

A plea bargain arrangement was worked out whereby Wells would plead guilty to a lesser offense and receive five years probation with counseling.

But evidently any sentence at all even one that didn't include prison time - was more than the confident Wells felt he deserved. Come time to face the music in court, he was a no show and remains on the run months after his hearing date.

What happened? How could a potential sentence of multiple life terms get reduced to mere probation with counseling?

In a disturbingly commonplace turn of events, the main piece of evidence in the case was lost when the suspect went back to his victim and talked her out of testifying. It happens all too often in incidents of domestic abuse. The offender, an arrogant, manipulative and intimidating man, returns to the woman and uses a combination of promises, threats and apologies in convincing her to change her mind about cooperating with the prosecution.

It's a maddening scenario for law enforcement and a terrible setback for efforts to combat a tyranny that imposes a regimen of fear on the lives of many women.

What can be done to turn things around?

As with all problems of this magnitude, there are no panaceas. But an experimental program in place in District Court 52-1 in Novi is making impressive head way.

Under the no-contact policy instituted by Judge Brian McKenzie in 1993. suspect and victim in domestic abuse cases are separated and prevented from interacting pending the outcome of the trial. This eliminates the opportunity for the suspect to turn his powers of persuasion on the alleged victim.

According to McKenzie. in 1995, the first full year the program was in place. misdemeanor incidents of domestic assault in the 52-1 jurisdiction declined by 57 percent.

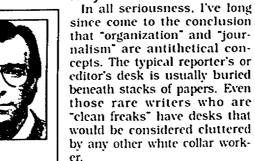

McKenzie says the program starts from the premise that a crime has been committed and that safeguards are needed.

"You wouldn't let a bank robber continue to bank at the bank he robbed," the judge said.

We'think McKenzie's no-contact policy shows promise as a means of reversing a devastating trend in our communities. The problem of abuse is deeply embedded in the traditions of paternalistic culture and will admit to no simple solution. But at a time when heightened public education seems only to hold down the rate of increase of domestic violence, any light at the end of the tunnel, however, faint, is a welcome sight.

Labels tell all on photographs

If newspaper people were organized, they probably wouldn't be newspaper people. They'd go out and get real jobs.

We are not unusual in that Malott respect here at The Northville

Record. The filing system used here might be described in a single word - stacks. The office decor might be described in another single word - piles. But then I have never seen a neat newsroom. Just rent a copy of All the President's Men or The Paper and you'll begin to get an idea of what I mean. And those newsrooms were spiffed up for the movie.

There are reasons for it. Besides the paperwork we generate ourselves, reporters and editors need to keep a good deal of material, both books and files, around for immediate reference.

Then there's the mail. It comes in here in torrents. It is not unusual for a foot-deep stack of mail to land on an editor's desk on any given day, containing a couple hundred press releases. Not that I'm complaining. because that helps us tremendously in getting the newspaper out the door each week.

But, as you can imagine, it is sometimes difficult to sort through that much mail in an organized fashion. Pieces sometimes get separated from their envelopes or, from the other sheets of the release. Some sheets occasionally get caught in the paperclips on other releases. God forbid a stack of releases should fall over, which can happen rather easily.

That's usually not a problem with releases. Publicrelations people and publicity chairpersons are prettygood about getting their names and contact phone numbers on every page of a release. And if it's not complete, we can have them resend, or call and ask them to fax another copy over.

But it can be a death knell for photographs. And for some reason, people who submit photos are very reluctant to label the back of their pictures. I'd venture to guess fewer than half of the pictures we get have labels on the back. And we get a lot - everything from wedding, engagement and birth announcement pics to sports team photos to business promotion announce;

When a photo gets separated from a press release, if it isn't labeled, there is no way to get the two back together again.

I suspect the lack of labels is due to concerns that the use of a ballpoint pen on the back will dent the picture. Here's two suggestions.

Use a felt-tipped pen. They're softer and don't leave dents. Or grab a mailing label and write to your heart's content before sticking it to the back of the picture Even in the worst case scenario, a sticky note or a sheet of scrap paper taped to the picture is better than leaving the back of a photo blank. It will help us to help you get your information into the newspaper

DDA finally shows signs of life

Northville's Downtown Development Authority has chants and businesses would have the opportunity to come out of hibernation, and has initiated the first steps toward rejuvenating the city's downtown area.

and exciting than it is today. The DDA is recommending Northville enlist the services of the Virginia-based consulting firm HyettPalma - for approximately $2.500 - to conduct an economic summit focusing on Northville's downtown. The firm specializes in community economic enhancement, according to City Manager Gary Word, and has worked extensively within the state helping communities breathe new life into downtown areas.

The city council got it's first look at the proposal this week during a study session, and although a majority of the council seems to support the idea of hosting an economic summit, a couple of members of the city's governing body are a bit skeptical about the whole idea.

For the life of me, I can't figure out why.

An economic summit would bring all of the "stakeholders* to the table. Downtown merchants have repeatedly complained that city officials never listen to their input, and by providing this type of forum mershare their vision of what our downtown should be.

Nothing wrong with that. As a matter of fact, that type of activity would go a long way toward rebuilding: a relationship that has eroded over the past decade

Some people claim that government shouldn't be involved in this type of activity. I say that's a bunch of hot air, local government has just as much at stake as the merchants and businesses have. The success or failure of a city is tied directly to the success or failure of its downtown. A poor downtown translates to no business, which translates to no tax revenue, which translates to lousy streets, sidewalks, water and sewer systems, which translate to lower property values, and

Now, I'm not saying that our downtown is hurting. As a matter of fact, I always get a chuckle when I drive through Plymouth or Novi - both communities are attempting to construct downtown marketplaces that model our very own downtown area.

No, we're not hurting, but there's always room from improvement, and I maintain that an economic summit is just the ticket to get all of the possible ideas and goals right out there on the table for everyone to see: After all, this only represents the first step in developing some type of plan that will carry downtown Northville into the future.

One step, that's all. No hidden agendas, no fear of government intrusion, no scheme to sneak anything through. The idea is a rather simple one - get the com munity together to decide its future - I believe it is a grand idea, and one every member of the city council should support.

Paper 'trashes' people, programs

I am writing this letter to vent ambassadors to the community, accurate, well researched articles my frustration with your publication of an article written by Carol Workens on Feb. 15. Not only is this article extremely offensive in nature, it also clearly illustrates the paper's inability to follow through with what it set out to do (censor a photo).

The Northville Record is a "small town" community newspaper with the ability to help or hinder a program, group and/or event. In my opinion, you have not met your charge as a true community publication, Many activities and events occur without your prior knowledge, leaving a void where positive information could be disseminated rather than negativism and less than accurate information

Your staff should make amends to the many people it has wronged and to the many programs it has "trashed" without proper investigation or substantiated facts

I have been an active member of the community for almost 13 years. I have presided over many PTA meetings and coordinating council meetings. I have been an active member of Kiwanis Early Birds, Mothers' Club and numerous volunteer and community service committees. Therefore, I feel my argument should be considered as more than just an emotional retort from a wronged cheerleading coach in defense of

I was extremely appalled to read your reasons for not printing a stationary photo of a cheer leader in flight of a toe-touch jump Obviously, the photowould have been offensive to print if, in fact, it was a cheerleader. Lappreciate your sensitivity to the appropriateness of the shot, however, I criticize you for verbalizing your justification for not printing the photo.

In an attempt to secure women's rights Carol has, in fact, slandered women by her narrow minded view of cheer leading. negating recent advancement these athletes have made in this new sport.

For the narrow minded and those who believe these athletes haven't changed since the '50s, you don't need to waste your time and read any further. How ever, on behalf of the athletes, parents, siblings and coaches of this sport throughout the state, I teel compelled to educate you on several issues

· The Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA) has endorsed cheerleading in the state of Michigan as a sport since January 1993

 The MHSAA requires cheer. coaches to become salety certifled in competitive cheer because of the inherent dangers associated with the sport (tumbling stunting, weight training plyometrics, etc.)

• Cheerleaders at Northville High School have an Athletic Code of Conduct they must adhere to, maintaining above a 2.0 grade point average, good standing in classroom citizen ship, as do all athletes under the MHSAA umbrella

· Competitive cheer teams are limited to 4-8 local competitions per year, the WLAA league competition and MHSAA and/or MCCA regional qualifiers to state · Competitive cheer teams participate in weight-training to enable stunting (lifting and supporting the weight of another cheerleader) and plyometrics to enable explosive muscle reflex.

 Competitive cheer teams are coached, not sponsored.

· Cheer teams should not be confused with the Pom Pon squads specializing in dance and choreography, nor should they be confused with drill teams specializing in marching.

The Northville Record has found it unnecessary to publish the many positive things these cheerleaders have accomplished.

They have been league champions for six of the last nine years. (Probably the team with the most wins in the history of NHS.) They have performed community service for the Partnerships in Education program, "Read 21 Books" for first graders in Northville They support the athletes in the seasons for which they cheer. They participate in the competitions held for charitable organizations every December (Holidays Cheers for Charity) They are constantly listed as members of the National Honor Society: many cheerleaders have been appointed as scholar athlete candidates and for valedictorian and Salutatorian status

Over the past nine years I have coached, three former cheerleaders have gone on to become lawyers, another is attending the MSU School of Medicine, three more are pursuing a career in medicine, one in veterinary medicine, five have gone on to cheer at the college level, and several more are leading very successful lives as caring, contributing leaders in their fields.

These athletes maintain guidelines for pre-season conditioning maintain regular practice sessions six hours per week, participating in weekly games during football season, blweekly games during basketball season, and perform spirit functions, while continuing to maintain very high academic standings and community service in my opinion. The Northville Record owes this reputable group an apology for stereotyping them as anything less than athletes, paralleling them to the sex and violence occurring on TV and in the movies.

Furthermore, Lassure you that the standard of the NHS cheer team is among the highest you will find in high school athletics today. I take great pride in coaching these young ladies. I feel they go on to make major contributions in society as lead ers and as time managers.

Please be clear on my feelings I am not angry with The Northeille Record, only terribly disappointed and ashamed of the continual lack of professionalism • Cheerleaders are the support in our local publication. You owe group for athletes at NHS and it to our community to provide of good journalistic quality.

Column offends NHS cheerleader

To the Editor:

I was very upset by an article written in the Feb. 15 edition of The Northville Record. This article was concerning what the high school cheerleaders wear.

I am a varsity cheerleader and I was appalled by this article. It mentioned that cheerleaders should be concerned about what our uniform reveals. The writer of this article was under the impression that our crowd sees more of us than they should be seeing. Cheerleading is a sport and we do have specific uni-

The article stated. "Why don't the girls wear tights? Ballerinas wear tights." Cheerleading uniforms are designed for the sport involved. Our uniform does not consist of tights, because tights would be unsafe for stunting and could cause serious injuries.

Another reference was made to our short socks. We do wear athletic socks. Athletic socks are made for athletes, which we are! Each sport has uniforms that enable them to perform to their fullest ability.

Swimmers wear bathing suits. It would be quite impractical for swimmers to wear long pants and sweaters. In the same way, it would be impractical for us to wear tights and knee highs. Our uniform enables us to perform to our greatest ability. We are required to put up very difficult stunts that cannot be accomplished wearing uniforms that restrict our movement.

The writer obviously did not research what she wrote about. After talking to the paper, we realized that she was not aware that there was a difference between cheerleading and pom pon. The cheerleader that she wrote about might have been a pom pon girl.

The writer did not consider the fact that we need to wear what we wear in able to perform in our sport. She insinuated that cheerleaders are immodest and vain. This article was degrading to the Northville High School cheerleaders and should have never been

$AAUW\ program$ is discriminatory

To the editor:

The Novi News/Northville Record recently featured a story on AAUW's biography program Your article states Now Northville and Novi's children have a better chance to learn about that rich heritage because of the ongoing efforts of the local chapter of American Association of University Women (AAUW)." This is not a true statement; in fact, it is deliberately misleading.

AAUW has chosen to discriminate against all students - girls and boys (even though their main interest is equity for women and girls) - in Novi's and Northville's non-public schools. This doesn't surprise me, however, because the same discriminatory practice happened with the science and math workshop for girls. At least they are consistent in that regard.

After reading Feb. 15's article entitled "AAUW hosts 'Remember Ladies." I'd like to ask. again. that AAUW "Remember Girls" ... all girls ... even those girls whose parents have chosen the private or parochial sector for their edu-

AAUW claims in its mission statement to promote "equity for all women and girls, lifelong education, and positive societal change." There are five private schools in Novi and Northville (Northville Christian, Novi Christian, Our Lady of Victory, St. Paul's Lutheran, and William Allen Academy). If this local branch were genuine and truly concerned with the goals of their mission statement would they not at least inquire as to whether the five private schools would be interested in being included in the "Remember the Ladies" pro-

All schools in Novi and Northville can benefit by having donors contribute biographies of famous and influential women. All students in Novi and Northville's K-8 could use the biographies "to gain a better understanding of the many mountains women have conquered" ... not just public school students. As it stands, five schools are missing from the list AAUW offers to its donors.

I hope your readers. Novi and Northville residents, and AAUW members will insist on inclusion of the four private/parochial schools in Northville and one private/parochial school in Novi as well as continue to support the biography program in the "six K-8 schools in Northville and seven in Novi." Then all students will really have an opportunity to benefit from this biography pro-

Interestingly enough. I am a member of AAUW. I voiced my concern about the October '95 science camp program not including information to private school girls, and got a big run around on that. (I was told they could read about it in the newspaper, while public school girls could bring the information home in their backpack).

I also inquired as to the "Remember the Ladies" program including all K-8 schools in Novi and Northville.

These two incidents smack of hypocrisy and discrimination. As such, I will not be renewing my membership. I joined because I believed in the mission state-

I suggest that THE AAUW read  $\frac{1}{4}$  and review their own mission  $\frac{1}{4}$ statement.

AAUW, if you really believe in positive societal change, why don't you reach out, remove barriers, and include the other five elementary schools in Novi and Northville in your biography pro-

Grace Pollock was never really into crafts until she retired. But she's always been into teaching.

Pollock moved to Northville in September 1943 and was an elementary school teacher in the Northville School District for 33 years until her retirement in 1976.

Pollock retired from the school district but not from teaching. She combined her experience as a teacher and her occasional pastime of crafting into a volunteer job at Charter House of Novi.

"I have been out there so long they have become real friends and part of my life," she said of her 20 years at the nursing convalescent

The results are in. Voted best chef in The Northville Record and Novi News Restaurant Poll for 1996 is Mary Brady of Diamond Jim Brady's. Stacy Cave, also with Diamond Jim Brady's, was voted best waitperson.

Diamond Jim Brady's moved to Novi four years ago from Detroit, where it was founded by Mary's father-in-law in

The restaurant was named after Diamond Jim, a very successful railroad executive who was famous in the 1920s and 30s. Diamond Jim, as his name implies, had an exceptional jewel collection and an extraordinary appetite.

Brady refers to herself as the "chief cook and bottle washer." Brady is self taught and is a certified executive chef by the American Culinary Federation. She has a degree from Michigan State University in hotel and restau-

The suos chefs are responsible for a lot of the day-to-day operations," said Brady, who selects about 99 percent of the menu items.

We try to cook healthy," Brady said. "We have a scratch kitchen Ninety-nine percent of items that come in the back door are fresh.

*Everything we make we try before it ever gets to the customer." Brady said. "Our goal is to have things seasoned properly so people don't use salt and pepper at the table and that it is fresh." Brady grew up in Northville and graduated from Farmington High School.

Tom and Mary lived in Northville for 10 years before "the call of the wild came to us in a dream one night" and they moved to seven acres in Milford.

'It is awesome for the waitress and waiters to have that honor," Brady said of the new category for best waitperson which was added to the restaurant poll this year. A good waitperson is being attentive, having a smile on your face, enjoying what you do, making sure the people you are waiting on have whatever they need, and being able to have the gift of gab, according to Brady. The winner in the Best Waitperson category, Stacy Cave, grew up in Northville and graduated from Northville High School in 1982. "She is a wonderful waitress and is very good with the customers," Brady said. "She is well respected with the people she works with." Cave has been with Diamond Jim Brady's since it opened in Novi four years ago. She has a bachelor of science degree in psychology and plans to go back to school in the fall for a master's degree.

"It's good money. It's great if you're going to school in the daytime." said Cave who works evenings six days a week. When Cave eats out, which is often, she looks at those who wait on her with an insider's knowledge of what makes or breaks her dining experience. "I try to make as pleasant an experience as possible for the people," she said. "If you have a bad server your whole

Red Ribbon week marks an anniversary for John Folcy.

Foley got his start in public speaking at Northville High School five years ago when he addressed a Students Against Driving Drunk (SADD) meeting.

"He has gone on to do some great things," said Charlie Stilec, the high school's student assisstance coordinator

Foley has been asked to return every year since.

"They always remember him " Stilec said "We packed the place the last time he came

Foley also receives return engagement requests from other groups that have heard his firstshand encounter with drunk driv-

"He's a good man," Stilen said I'm glad he is doing OK

He was an athlete and he is a real portrait of what can happen *

In 1986 Foley was driving home after a party when he was involved un a near fatal crash

Foley was not expected to live If he did doctor's said he would be a vegetable, not be able to talk read, write or drive again.

The 1982 Northville High School graduate was in a coma for six weeks following the accident spent eight months in St. Joseph Hospi tal's traumatic brain injury unit before spending a year as an outpatient at the aphasia clinic at the University of Michigan.

Now living at home with his parents. Colleen and Jack Foley in Northville, Foley is tutored by Sherri Duff four days a week. The traumatic brain injury he suffered left him with expressive aphasia. and the daily tutoring is necessary to reinforce what he has learned.

Duff is helping him regain as much language ability in speaking and writing as possible.

"If he doesn't use it, he looses it," said Duff. *With expressive aphasta, he knows what he wants to say but can't get it out

Duff had only been working with Foley for six months when he saw a newspaper article about SADD at the high school and said he wanted to get involved

Foley he said he went from being a typical teenager to a "zero" But he receives high marks from people who have listened to his presenta-

Foley, 31, was the only speaker asked to return to Mothers Against Drunk Driving's (MADD) Team-Spirit Week before the conference opened TeamSpirit, which is held on various college campuses in Michigan during the summer, is an alcohol awareness and leadership training conference for 9th through 12th grade students

Through questionnaires participants complete. Foley was voted as one of the best speakers available.

He does not speak in a preachy sort of way, but from first-hand experience, tailoring his discussion to the group.

"This is the risk you can take and that is what he tells them." Stilec said. "They can listen to their peers. He pleads with them to please look at this stuff."

"I thought it wouldn't happen to me, but it did," Foley said.

Before the accident, Foley was athletic, playing varsity basketball in high school. "Everything is gone." Foley said

When Foley talks about his former athletic days on the varsity basketball team at Northville High School, it makes an impact on the athletes in the audience.

"It is not me anymore," he said. Foley will be talking to Meads Mill Middle School on March 4 and to Cooke Middle School on March 8. Foley also is scheduled to speak at Novi High School on April 4. Besides speaking in his home town. Foley has also spoken at Wayne Westland John Glenn High School for two years and at Gibraltar Town Hall He also addressed the Northville Woman's Club on living with a head injury.

Foley, who wasn't wearing a seat belt in 1986, now buckles up every day. With the help of a special driving instructor, Foley qualified for a driver's license in 1989. His recovery is ongoing

Foley has note cards with each of his speeches written out. Although he has read them frequently, he still needs to update the information and practice them before each engagement

I want more to be affected by the speeches." Foley said

Norman cast in lead role

"What am I going to do about Golde?

So ring the trepidations of Tevye the dairyman, played by Northylle native John Michael Norman, in Oakland University's Department of Music. Theatre and Dance production of Fiddler on the Roof.

The musical opens on Friday. March 8, and runs for three weekends at Varner Studio Theater on the university's campus in Rochester.

As the proud father of five daughters. Tevye is challenged to find suitable husbands for all. So begins his comical journey into the challenging land of love and expectation. Sholem Aleichem's whimsical Yiddish storyteller comes to life in Bock and Harnick's music and lyrics in this Broadway musical.

Fiddler on the Roof contains such memorable songs as If I Were a Rich Man," "Sunrise, Sunset," and "Tradition."

The papas, mamas, sons and daughters of Fiddler on the Roof learn daily the importance of family and community when surrounded by prejudice and oppression. The charming village of Anatevka unfolds with all its color, comedy and charm in the intimate 150seat theater.

Fiddler on the Roof presents the work of over 50 Oakland University students, performing arts majors as well as students from other curricula. 1995 Novi High School graduate and a freshman at Oakland. Karey L Hart, is playing the role of Granma Tzeitel. The musical also combines the talents of many faculty members.

Norman is a junior at Oakland working towards a bachelor of arts degree in performing arts with a specialization in musical theater.

The cast of Oakland University's production of Fiddler on the Roof, which includes Northville native John Michael Norman (right) as the irrepressible Tevye and Caitlin Burke as Golde, runs March 8 through 24 at Varner Studio Theatre in Rochester.

graduate was "very heavily involved" in theater while in high school, starting out in the technical crew during his freshman year. After being encouraged to audition for an upcoming play. Norman went on to portray Tony in West Side Story. Billy Bigelow in Carousel. Sheridan Whiteside in The Man Who Came to Dinner and Boris Kolenkov in You Can't Take it With You.

That planted the seed in my head, said Norman, who had originally set his sights on a degree in engineering.

After graduation, Norman spent a year at Schoolcrast College while he contemplated his future. After playing Elgallo in the Fantasticks and the Marquis de Sade in Marat/Sade he made the decision to switch to a fine arts major.

Tevya is Norman's third role at Oakland since he transferred to the university in the fall of 1995. He played Malvolio in Twelfth Arabian-Timi (Meadow Brook Night and the prison warden in Getting Out Last Year.

It is a very ensemble production." he said of the 30 cast members. We all have very important parts to play. Tevya is on stage a lot and has a lot of storytelling to

The audience is really going to feel like they have a connection with these characters," Norman Norman, the son of John and Brenda Norman of Northville, also teaches voice at Northville High School.

Fiddler on the Roof is directed by Karen Sheridan (A Little Night Music), scenery and clothing are designed by Carol Stavish (Camp ing with Henry and Tom at Meadow Brook Theatre), and lights are designed by Scott Little (Twelfth Night, Getting Out). Musical direction and conducting are by April Estate) and L.H. Brown (director of choirs) respectively

'Beautiful Girls'explores relationships, adulthood

a character-driven comedy/drama about male camaraderie, adult hood and relations between the Set in the small fictional town of Knight's Ridge, Massachusetts during a snowy winter, *Beautiful Girls depicts a group of lifelong buddles who hang out, drink and struggle to connect with women who affect their decisions, dreams and desires. Weaving in and out of their everyday lives, *Beautiful Girls" explores the manners in which men perceive and wrestle with their feelings about women

At Stanley 'Stinky' Womack's (Pruitt Taylor Vince) bar and Gina Barrisano's (Rosie O'Donnell) beauty salon, the men and women of Knight's Ridge grapple with the joy and frustration of turning thir

(Matt Dillon) and Key (Max Perlich), his sidekick, plow snow for a living. A former campus stud

Ted Demme's 'Beautiful Girls' is Tommy peaked in high school. As an adult, he continues to harbor feelings for his ex girlfriend Darian Smalls (Lauren Holly), who married well and returns to town with her yuppie husband and young daughter Tommy's attraction to Darian complicates his relation ship with current lover Sharon Cassidy (Mira Sorvino)

Paul Kirkwood (Michael Rapaport) lives with Birdman and alsoplows snow Inexorably drawn to supermodels and the "ideal" woman, he refuses to commit to Jan (Martha Plimpton), his girl friend of seven years. Consequent. ly, Jan begins dating a 40 year old butcher, which serves only to feed Paul's overwhelming bravado

Michael 'Mo' Morris (Noah Emmerich), the lone married man of the group, enjoys a normal family life with his high school sweet Tommy "Birdman" Rowland heart and two kids He looks for ward to the arrival of Willie Conway (Timothy Hutton) who returns to town for a high school Traveling from New York where he works the piano bar circuit, Willie is at a crossroads in his life. Although he lives with sharp attornev Tracy Stover (Annabeth Gish). Willie cannot commit to the relationship And the self-imposed pressure to accept a sales job and ettle down motivates him to come home In Knight's Ridge, he meets Marty (Natalie Portman), a 13year old "heartbreaker in training" and Andera (Uma Thurman), Stinky's cousin from Chicago. Both of these smart, funny and genuine women compel Willie to reassess the value of his life and relationship with Tracy.

A Miramax Films release, *Beautiful Girls" stars Matt Dillon, Noah Emmerich, Annabeth Gish, Lauren Holly, Timothy Hutton, Rosie O Donnell Max Perlich, Martha Plimpton, Natalie Portman, Michael Rapaport, Mira Sorvino, Uma Thurman and Pruitt Taylor Vince Ted Demme directs the film

from an original screenplay by Scott Rosenberg. Also featured in the ensemble are David Arquette. Anne Bobby, Richard Bright and Sam Robards.

The ensemble cast features 13 principals. I think the beauty of the script is the poetry that (screenwriter/associate producer) Scott Rosenberg brings to these characters," producer Cary Woods Rosenberg treats the guys very lovingly, even though he calls them a bunch of knuckle heads. The women are warm and they're able to give their love to these guys who are, in many instances, undeserving of it. These guys are not smart enough to understand that they should be grabbing at these great women. Instead, they frighten the guys off. But the women are sort of the bedrock of the community. They kind of sit around just waiting for these guys to wake up. And sometimes they do and sometimes they don't."

'The Juror' is worth seeing at the dollar show

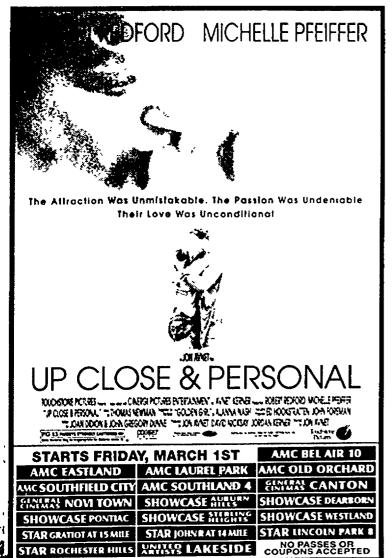

THE JUROR DR GAIL WAJCHER NORTHVILLE

A well-known mob figure goes to trial for a double murder with the cards stacked against him. To ensure his acquittal, his powerful underling, played by Alec Baldwin, puts pressure on two jurors to vote not guilty unless they want their loved ones to the The focus of the movie is on bright in one area? Demi's role had potential Baldwin's infatuation and psychological torture of Demi Moore

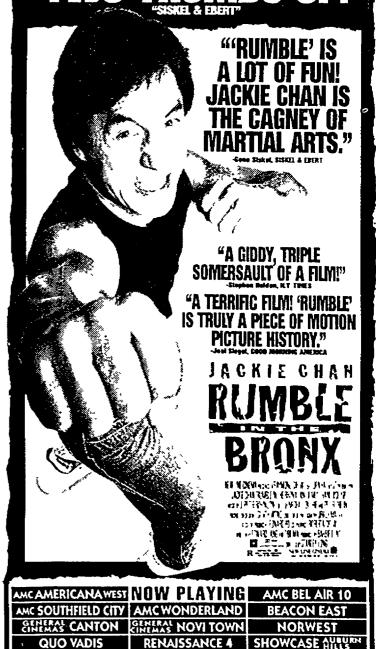

Unfortunately Demi's acting abilities have not matured beyond her earlier movies. Her relationship with her beloved son appears forced and childlike. As does her relationship with her best friend who happens to be a medical doctor airhead. Why do educated women continue to be portrayed in movies as intellectually lacking in relationships, can they only be but her shallow acting is a factor in the downfall of the film. Alec Baldwin, with his intense blue eyes and charisma, does well with his limited script as the alluring bad guy. But his behavior becomes predictable and unsatisfying as the movie develops. The screenplay needed a rewrite with more intensity and the film needed an actress with more depth. But in spite of all of this, "The Juror" is worth seeing at the dollar show because of Alec and Demi.

Sieving breaks two swim records

By SCOTT DANIEL Sports Editor

Sometimes you just have to say to heck with the bottom line and look at other achievements

No, the Mustang swimming team didn't win a WLAA title Saturday Northville High finished fifth, in fact, well behind champion Plymouth Salem

But by every measure, the squadperformed to the very limit of its ability. Who could ask for more? Not coach Mark Heiden. He was thrilled at his team's showing "We swam exceptionally well," he said. It did go better than I thought it would in some areas. My only regret is that a few really Canton won the battle Thursday. but the Northville/Novi gymnastics team may just win the war.

Lead by Katey Gilles, the Chiefs captured the WLAA title by narrowly edging the combined team 142.35-140.3. Hartland finished third at 137.5.

We didn't have a stellar day, but that's OK," coach Barb Winn said. *Conference isn't our main goal. The regional is.

The Mustangs, which are ranked No. 3 in Class A. will vie for one of three state finals berths Saturday at the state regional. Canton, ironically, hosts the event starting at 10

I think even if we mess up we'll be safe to make it out as a team."

The top six gymnasts in each event at the regional will also move on to the individual state final. Finals are set for Troy High School on March 8 (individual) and 9 (team).

One of the reasons why Northville/Novi didn't score a bit better at the conference final relates to state competition. Winn said her gymnasts were trying the regional and state final

"We had a few falls," she added. Our stronger kids were trying to do harder things."

Gymnastics events are scored similarly to diving at a swim meet. Athletes trying more difficult maneuvers can score higher.

So a gymnast who does a perfect routine but doesn't include harder "tricks" may only score a 9.2. for example. A second gynmast per-forming equally as well with harder tricks may score a 9.7. Winn said she's debating whether or not to play it safe at the regional with fewer difficult tricks. "We can't afford to fall," she added. At any rate, the combined team still had many fine performances Thursday despite those few mis-send two wrestlers to the state final.

Nick Suraman and James Kyle earned a ticket to the big dance Saturday at the regional in South Lyon. Both placed in the top four of their weight divisions for the right to advance to the final Sam Saran and Nick Bowersox made it a year ago. Coach Garnett Potter was proud of both his wrestlers. Making the finals is a reward for a season of hard work, he said.

"I was really excited for (Sriraman)," Potter commented. He works his butt off. It's nice to see a kid that works hard make it out."

The state will hold the team final this weekend. Individuals take their turn in Battle Creek March 8-9. Suraman will get the first chance to make his mark.

He faced Lincoln Park's Dave Mider in the opening round of the regional and won 9-3. Sriraman then suffered his first setback of the tournament with a 10-2 loss to John Woolf of Walled Lake Western.

The junior bounced back to beat Pedro Pena with a pin at 1:40. Shraman lost by a decision in the battle for third place

Potter said he thinks Sriraman will do well next

Running a marathon takes preparation, dedication and a heck of a lot of determination.

But that's the challenge Catherine Donkers and David Ingmire have accepted. While making it through the 26.2-mile race might be difficult for both, it will be for a good cause.

The duo, both with local ties, are running for the Leukemia Society of America in hopes of helping wipe out a disease that kills thousands of children each year.

"It's a life goal of mine," said Ingmire, a former Novi resident who now lives in Atlanta. Running a marathon would be a great achievement.

The bachelor added that he wanted to do something valuable with his time.

"I wanted to get involved," Ingmire said. This jumped out to me as a great opportunity. Donkers, a Northville resident,

Donkers first got involved with the Leukemia Society of America in January. While the disease hasn't touched her hie directly, she wants to "help find the cure." An engineering major at the University of Michigan, she wants to do that by using her considerable athletic abilities. Donkers earned a soccer scholarship to Detroit Country Day High School. She played goalkeeper for the Yellowjackets up until her graduation in 1991. She continued to play sports in college on an intermural basis at the Naval Academy then at U of M to which she transferred in 1993. Donkers ran her first and only marathon to date during her years at the academy.

Still with the competitive spirit. she said she's ready for the challenge of another marathon.

Donkers began training lightly a few months ago and will continue to step up the pace as the race draws near. She has no illusions of running a record time in June.

I took up running when I got to Georgia," he said, noting that he no longer had time to get to the gym but could squeeze in a half hour to jog. I was working 12-13 hour days. I didn't have time for anything else."

That quickly turned into running 5 and 10 kilometer races to "just stay in shape." Last October, Ingmire did a mini triathlon where he swam, biked and ran for more than 13 miles. "I had a great time doing it." he

Shortly after that, Ingmire got involved with the Leukemia Society of America. A friend at work was already with the group and encouraged him to join.

Spikers seventh at WLAA tourney

By SCOTT DANIEL Sports Editor

A slow start came back to haunt the Mustang volleyball team Saturday.

Playing in the Western Lakes Activities Association tournament at Walled Lake Central, Northville lost its opening game to Farmington Hills Harrison.

The two teams ended up tied at the end of pool play. Harrison came back to beat the Mustangs 15-10 in a one-game playoft and advance to the quarterfinals.

"The girls were so tentative." coach Laura Murray said. That's why we lost.

The game was played under 'rally" format. That means points are scored on every play, whereas in normal action only the team with the serve can score.

Murray said her players were afraid to make a mistake.

Rally score can be kind of a fluke," she added.

It was particularly frustrating because Harrison went on to play Livonia Stevenson in the quarterfinals - a team Northville beat easily during the dual meet season.

At any rate, the Mustangs wound up seventh in the tournament. Northville went 6-5 in WLAA matches for sixth place. The Mustangs improved on a 4-7 record of a year ago.

The 12-school conference was divided up into three pools of four for the tournament. Northville drew Salem. Harrison and Walled Lake Western in its pool.

The Hawks provided Northville's first challenge. Game one turned out to be a heartbreaker.

Trailing 14-8, the Mustangs put on a heck of a comeback. Ashley Ossola served for six straight points to tie the game.

The two teams then battled through nine rotations before Farmington Hills pulled it out, 20-18. Tami Taylor played superbly with 10 assists, Lauren Poole had four kills and an ace.

Northville bounced right back for a 15-8 win in game two. The Mustangs played great defense in the game with 20 digs. Simply put, nothing hit the floor.

"We wore them down more than anything," said Murray.

Top seed Salem was next on the agenda. The Rocks made short work of Northville by winning both games, 15.2, 15-1.

Murray said her team was too passive. "I don't care if we lose," she added, "But I'd rather lose aggres-

The Mustangs closed pool play by whipping Western twice, 15-2.

Michelle Menghini was the star. She served for 11 points in game one and four aces in game two. That ended pool play.

In many tournaments, ties are first settled by points scored. Going by that standard, a playoff game wouldn't have been needed Northville out-pointed Harrison 33-28 in the two pool games. But the WLAA decided a few years ago not to let teams be eliminated on points - thus the playoff. The two teams battled back and forth early. Harrison held a 7-6 advantage then took off to win 15-

HEALTH MATTERS

February 29, 1996

ledicines abound for colds

A disease that afflicts most Americans at one time or another; typically characterized by running nose, nasal congestion, dry or sore throat, and cough. Colds are usually self-limiting and run their course in five to seven days.

Unfortunately, there is no cure, but medications are available to minimize the symptoms associated with them. When faced with the selection of medicine many people find themselves at their local pharmacy overwhelmed with the number of products stuffed on the shelves. This often leads to the question of how one knows which products to select.

First and foremost, you should pick a product that treats only the symptoms you are expe-

Nasal Congestion and Runny Nose

These symptoms are very common with excessive nose blowing and sore nostrils. Decongestants in the form of sprays, drops, or pills are useful for congestion and runny nose.

Topical sprays and drops (such as Afrin) work quickly to relieve stuffiness by shrinking swollen nasal passages. However, they can only be used for three or four days because prolonged use can cause rebound congestion. This congestion can be worse than before using the Organ decongestants (such as pseudophedrine) provide longer duration of effectiveness but take longer to work. Individuals with higher blood pressure, thyroid conditions, diabetes mellitus, or heart conditions should only use the products at the advice of their physi-

One common side effect is excitation. Therefore, if decongestants are taken too closely to bedtime they can lead to problems sleeping.

Other products that may be helpful in the treatment of running nose and stuffiness are antihistamines. Antihistamines (such as diphenhydramine and chlorpheniramine) may help with a runny nose and congestion due to their drying effects. Patients with glaucoma should only take antihistamines under the instructions of their physicians.

The most bothersome side effect of over the counter antihistamines is drowsiness. This can be minimized by choosing products with chlorpheniramine which is the least sedating.

Coughs

There are two types of coughs associated with a cold: dry tickling cough and productive cough. The first is best treated with increasing fluid intake, humidifying the air, and hard candy or cough drops. If the cough persists cough suppressants (such as dextromethorphan) help decrease coughing and allow for a

Conversely, a productive cough is associated with chest congestion and expectoration of phlegm. This is best treated with expectorants (such as guaifenesin). Expectorants help with secretions and allow for clearing of phlegm. Side effects with these drugs are mild and infre-

When selecting products be sure to carefully read labels for hidden sugar and alcohol. This is especially important for diabetic patients. Avoid products that contain acetaminophen, ibuprofen and aspirin that, if taken regularly, could mask a fever that may indicate a bacterial infection.

Also, be sure to consult a physician or pharmacist if you have any chronic conditions before selecting a product.

Currently there is no cure for the common cold, yet there are numerous medications to minimize the symptoms. The medicine, in addition to diet, plenty of fluids (six 8-ounce glasses of water), humidifying of room air, and adequate rest will make a cold more tolerable.

If the symptoms do not improve after seven days see your physician. Remember to carefully read all the label for ingredients and precautions. If you are unsure if a product is right for you, ask your pharmacist!

Don't wait: call your gynecologist today

I hate going to my gynecologist.

Don't get me wrong. She's a great doctor and a wonderful person. I just dread taking time out of a busy schedule so that I can go sit in a waiting room and then have an uncomfortable exam. But each year I take a deep breath, call up the office and make appointment. Here's why.

More and more, we have come to appreciate the good sense of preventive medicine.

and gynecology is no exception. The earlier we can detect and treat illness, the better chance we have for a cure or at least a minimization of Better still is when we can prevent a disease from occurring at all. This requires a committed partnership between you and your physician in which both take an active role.

One of the most important parts of the gynecologic annual exam is cancer screening. The pap smear looks at cells from the cervix and can detect abnormalities even before they become cancerous. Regular breast exams, in conjunction with mammography, can pick up breast cancer in its earliest stages. Ovarian tumors can be felt during the pelvic exam and vulvar cancers detected by inspecting the geni-

It can be frightening to think about the possibility of a cancer diagnosis, but not knowing about it doesn't make it any less real and can make it more devastating.

The annual exam is also the time to discuss family-planning issues. Birth control needs often change over a woman's lifetime - what worked well in your teens and 20s may not be ideal later in life.

Contraception, however, is not the only issue. By optimizing your health before you get pregnant, you can decrease risks to you and your baby. Improving your diet (including vitamin supplements), ensuring immunity against rubella (German measles) and varicella (chicken pox), controlling your weight, getting chronic medical problems under control and eliminating potentially dangerous medications and other substances (including nicotine and alcohol) prior to pregnancy all can have a significant positive impact.

Your gynecologist also can be a source of information for some sensitive subjects.

Sex and sexuality, protection from sexually transmitted diseases, mental well-being and safety concerns - from seat belt use to domestic violence - all are critical to your overall health We may not know all the answers, but we can help find the resources you need

Finally, since many women don't see any other doctor annually, a general health review is in order. Blood pressure, cholesterol and colon cancer screening as well as immunization updates should be done. This is also a great time to renew those resolutions to improve your diet, do more exercise and quit smoking.

The yearly exam is more than just a neces sary evil you have to endure before you can refill a prescription for birth control pills or hor mone replacement therapy. Given the alternatives of advanced cancer, unplanned pregnancy, clogged arteries and even more visits to the doc tor, having that annual exam doesn't seem so bad after all, does it?

An ounce of prevention really is worth a pound of cure.

Real estate firms and organizations are continuing to merge and acquire other companies, expanding their marketing power and geographic area. It's a trend that is surfacing in many industries

Recently, Hospitality Franchise Systems Inc., a New Jersey based hotel franchiser, agreed to buy Electronic Realty Associates, a real estate broker franchise group based in Kansas. "We'd love to buy more real estate franchises." Stephen Holmes, HFS chief financial officer told Today's Realtor HFS doesn't have a specific market share goal in mind, but its philosophy is 'bigger is better," he said

A key reason for the "bigger is better" business planning mode is the potential money it can save when negotiating with vendors. It gives the firm more muscle power when twisting the arm of vendors such as phone and travel companies for special discounts

Q: Our family room is quite large, about 20 by 30 feet. which gives me room for two seating areas. In one, I've put two love seats at right angles to the fireplace. Then back by the kitchen, there is a sofa and two club chairs with a coffee table in the middle.

My question is about fabrics. I've found a flower print fabric I like for slipcovers/upholstery, but I'm afraid it will be too busy if I put it everywhere.

A Then mix it with one or two other compatible patterns and provide plenty of plain solid color areas to tone down the "busyness"

The picture should be worth the proverbial thousand words it would take to describe such a mix. In this large tarmhouse sitting room, designer Penny A. Christie of Meadow bank Designs has skillfully worked a blend of several differ ent patterns and colors their personal pocketbooks. but let's look at this from the consumer's viewpoint." he said.

The small individual brokers provide the personalized service many customers cherish. The old saying, 'People don't care how much you know until they know how much you care is very true. That caring approach can only be achieved through oneon-one listening to the needs of the customer.

*The need for individual caring is not met if one has to talk to a multitude of assistants and rarely to the principal handling the transaction. Also, the more people in the act, the more chance of miscommunication, oversight and incompetency.

On the other hand. Realtor P. Wesley Foster, Jr., owner of a large 122-office firm based in Fairfax. Va., believes in the bigness concept.

More and more, owners of midsize companies are finding that joining forces with larger competitors affords them an opportunity to gain muchneeded exposure, enhance profitability and provide the kind of support services that only a large company can provide." Foster said.

Consolidation benefits other players, including the purchasing company that can increase its market penetration, the salespeople who can

'In the end, I believe consolidation will result in a more professional sales force and a stronger, more competitive real estate industry.

On another bigger vs smaller" front, an increasing number of families are choosing new homes in small communities - not the metro areas that were most popular a decade ago.

Small towns throughout the country are growing three times faster in the 1990s than they did in the '80s, according to the U.S. Census Bureau. Apparently, more people value small-town life these days.

The key reasons for the revived interest in small towns are the desire for a home community with low crime, light traffic, high-quality schools and churches. friendly neighbors, and low housing costs, according to a report from Runzheimer International, a relocation and management consulting firm.

Bargain spots abound, even in expensive California, a Runzheimer report stated. For example. Barstow, Calif., northeast of Los Angeles, with a population of under 20,000. offers housing at below the national median cost. A family of four earning and spending $60,000 a year in the average U.S. city or town would require only $57.560 in Barstow to maintain a similar lifestyle. In Los Angeles, that lifestyle would cost more than

Many other small towns are considerably less in cost than in Barstow.

Another reason for the increasing popularity of small towns was pointed out by Dennis Taylor with Run-zheimer. The problem of access to the workplace is becoming less and less a factor, he said.

Home offices are common and many of us can live and work virtually anywhere. although many of us have certain criteria. For example, where we live must be within driving distance of a commercial airport, or we must be able to easily drive to a larger city for cultural and recreational activities.

Some folks want to be near skiing or boating areas. And the list goes on. But the fact remains, small towns with their lower living costs can often satisfy even the most stringent requirements, especially if the daily commute to an office is not a factor '

This piece of purple carnival glass is a water bottle that was made in the early 1900s and could be worth up to $175 in good condition.

Bottle holds its water

By Anne McCollam Copley News Service

Q. Enclosed is a picture of a piece of purple carnival glass. It is 9 inches tall and is decorated with grapes and leaves. Could you tell me if it is a water bottle or a vase and what it is worth?

A. It is a water bottle. The pattern is "Imperial Grape." Imperial Glass Co. of Bellaire, Ohio, manufactured this pattern. The firm was established in 1901, but didn't make carnival glass until almost five years later.

Your water bottle was made in the early 1900s. It would probably be worth $150 to $175.

9. I recently purchased a pedestal cake plate with this mark on the bottom. The plate is decorated with a brown design against a white background. It stands about 4 inches high and is in perfect condition.

When was it made and what do you think its value is?

A. Your cake plate was made by Dunn. Bennett & Co. Ltd., Staffordshire, England. They were in business from 1875 to 1964. The number is a British Registry showing this pattern. Imperial. was registered in 1886.

The value of your cake plate would probably be . $95 to $125

9: How do garden experts decide on their recommendations for spacing plants? In my beds and borders. I place my to catch any falling seeds during closely together than magazines and books suggest. Is this OK or will I be in trouble four or five years from now?

A With your close planting you are likely to have overcrowding problems in the beds and borders within several years. Recommended spacing is based on a plant's form and expected size at maturitv. Plants should not have to compete with other plants to achieve their maximum potential in production and proper growth

When plants are placed too closely together, the stronger of the two tends to overwhelm the weaker plant, which can die or become deformed, squeezing its growth into what soil and air space is available. So, eventually you will need to remove the plant or do some severe pruning. And the really bad news is that in the end you may have to completely redo your beds, spacing the plantings correctly to allow for future growth. Consider spacing the plants properly now and temporarily filling the empty spaces with spring bulbs and later in the season with flowering annuals or dahlias

Q: How can I properly drain a garden that stays wet too long?

A Very wet soil is improved by laving tiles to increase drainage a very simple operation. If the situation cannot be corrected by cultivating 3 to 4 inches of cinders or sand into the soil, install a 3- or 4-inch agricultural drain tile. Set the tile or tiles 15 to 18 inches deep with the lines 15 to 18 feet apart. Carry the lines to a storm sewer or open ditch

Homes That Fit Families' Lifestyles Are The Latest Trend

By Richard Mularoni, President Home Builders Assoc. of Livingston County

Cookie-cutter homes that families must cram into are a thing of the past. Today's homes offer a variety of amenities and conveniences so that they fit families'

One of the most important features of homes today is their size. The median size of new homes has increased from about 1,450 square feet in the late 1960s and early 1970s to about 2,100 square feet today. It will continue to increase until it reaches 2,200 to 6,300 square

Much of that increased space is devoted to family living area — particularly the kitchen/family room combination, one of the most prevalent trends in both new and remodeled homes. The popularity of the kitchen has surged over the last few decades as it has moved from a room that was used almost solely for cooking to one that is enjoyed for cooking, eating, gathering and socializing. As homes have increased in size, the size of kitchens has grown proportionally.

The most popular kitchens today are open to the dining area and seating area. "Light and airy" is the general theme of modern kitchens and it is achieved with French doors, skylights and lots of windows that let in the sun and a view of the

Besides larger living areas, the extra space in homes is being used for storage and flexible, multi-purpose areas. A room over the garage that becomes a bedroom for an aging parent or returning child, a dining room with built-in bookshelves that doubles as a study or office - these are flexible uses of space that buyers are

One of the latest flex-space ideas in new homes is an all-season room in the basement with light shafts from the ground level to allow for natural lighting. floors designed to cushion an exerciser's feet and specialized storage for tools and hobby supplies.

Where basements are not common, flex-space rooms may be devoted to exercise equipment or to storage. A *down and dirty room for hobbies is another idea gaining popularity.

Home Builders Association Hosts Free Home Buyers Seminar

The Home Builders Association of Livingston County is hosting a free Home Buyers Seminar the weekend of the Ultimate Open House - March 2, 1996, from 9:30-11:00 a.m. at Metropolitan Title Company, 622 E. Grand River, Howell (just east of downtown Howell).

A panel of HBA members will discuss the different aspects of purchasing a new or pre-owned home. Panel participants are John Smith-Metropolitan Title, Victor Lisabeth-Lisabeth Builders, Diane Miller-First National Bank in Howell and Susan Wright of Real Estate One.

The panel members will walk you through the home buying and building - process. The real estate transaction, financing options, closing and title work will be discussed as well as the relationship between the builder and the buyer.

After the seminar, attendees are encouraged to visit all the homes which will be open for the Ultimate Open House — the entire weekend of March 2nd and 3rd.

For more information about the Ultimate Open House weekend and to reserve your space at the Home Buyers Seminar, contact the HBA of Livingston County -810/227-6210.

What It Takes To Build A

By Richard Mularoni, President Home Builders Assoc. of Livingston County

New Home

Many people who consider themselves handy with tools think that building their own houses would be a cool thing. It is. Just ask the members of the 185,000-member National Association of Home Builders. But is it something the average person wants to do?

Not including all the preparatory work of acquiring land, putting in sewer and water hook-ups and pouring a foundation, on average, you will need the following supplies to build a 2,085-square-foot home:
• 13,127 board-feet of lumber

- 6.212 square feet of sheathing
- 13.97 tons of concrete
- 2.325 square feet of exterior siding material
- 2.427 square feet of roofing material
- 3,061 square feet of insulation
  6,144 square feet of interior wall materi-
- 120 linear feet of ducting • 15 windows
- 13 kitchen cabinets; 2 other cabinets • I kitchen sink
- 12 interior doors 5 closet doors
- 5 exterior doors (4 hinged, 1 sliding) 2 garage doors
- 1 fireplace 3 toilets; 2 bathtubs; 1 shower stall
- 3 bathroom sinks • 2,085 square feet of flooring material
- such as carpeting, resilient sheet, resilient
- tile, ceramic tile or wood plank
   1 range; 1 refrigerator; 1 dishwasher; 1 garbage disposal; I range hood
- 1 washer; 1 dryer

Love of horses leads to tack shop

By GRETA C. PICKLESIMER Staff Writer

In an area filled with horse enthusiasts, a new tack shop has opened in South Lyon to serve their needs.

Carla Lange, owner of the newly opened Great Lakes Saddlery, is fulfilling a dream.

"I've always wanted to have a tack store since high school," she

Even though she dreamed of having a tack store, it took years of careful planning to get the store

Lange decided to open a shop in South Lyon after market research showed this was one of the promised lands for horse owners in Michigan.

"It (South Lyon) had a high horse population," she said.
"Someone told me there's more horses in the State of Michigan, per capita, than there is in the State of Kentucky.* she said.

Lange's teen years were spent in Australia. There she fostered her love for horses. "I've always had a love of horses, since I was a teenager in Australia," she said. She learned to ride, and was also exposed to a variety of different riding styles. Lange even went on a cattle drive.

"I've had a lot of really good

Carnival Cuts makes haircuts fun for kids

Carnival Cuts is an innovative. one-of-a-kind salon designed with happy children in mind. Instead of barber chairs, young customers can climb upon carousel horses for their hair cuts. The horses are stationed throughout the salon, which looks like a carousel with curved walls painted in bright hues of red, yellow and blue.

For shear delight, kids can bring along their favorite video to watch during the mane event. Televisions are positioned at each hair cutting station and in the waiting area in the front of the salon. For walk-in customers, the salon keeps its own carde of videos, like Cinderella. Barney and Winnie the Pooh.

Owner Dina Dagher of Dearborn says, "My daughter had a phobla about getting her hair cut when she was younger. My husband and I sat down and really thought about how to make hair cuts fun. That's how we came up with Carnival Cuts. Our store turns a sometimes traumatic chore into an entertaining experience."

Regular prices will be $11.95 for children's haircuts, but Tuesday and Wednesday prices will always be lower, only $9.95. Family price

Carnival Cuts is a full service! salon that also offers adult hair services like perms and beard? trims, as well as manicures, pedicures and natl art. "Our stylists are trained in all the latest cuts for adults as well as children," says Dagher's husband and business partner, Andrew Dagher.

He adds that adults can sit in regular chairs, rather than on horses for their haircuts.

Customers so far praise the salon's kid-friendly approach. "I got my hair cut there, and so did my 2-year-old son," says Walled Lake homemaker Jan Dagenais, 28. "It was my son's first hair cut, and the stylist was very gentle with him. He sat there on the horse and watched Disney movies, so It kept his mind off what was going on. I was very happy with both his haircut and mine. Carnival Cuts is located on the upper level of Twelve Oaks, near Sears. It is open during mall hours. For salon prices and appointments, call (810) 380-3030.

Shopping hours are 10 a m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday. 11 a.m to 6 p.m. on Sunday.

The only thing as pleasant ás buying a Saturn is leasing one hope you've heard how unstressful we try to make it for you when you visit a Saturn showroom. (Because who needs more stress.

right?) Anyway, we take the same approach to leasing as we do to everything else. So if leasing a Saturn is better for you than buying one (And we can help you figure that out), then great. The only important thing is to find out how pleasant driving a Saturn can be. SATURN of ANN ARBOR

Reality is expensive.

Prepare yourself for college with U.S. Savings Bonds. Remember all those college costs when you were a student? Sure, tuition was expensive. But the bill for room and board was often higher than tuition. Plus there were books, a bike, typewriter...all those things college students needed to survive on campus.

Now, a mere fifteen years later, parents shell out over twice what it was in the early 80s. Those $300 typewriters have been replaced by $1,900 computers. So what's it going to cost when your children are ready? And what will replace the computer - a virtual reality college simulator? How much will that be?

Start saving now for those future college costs with U.S. Savings Bonds. They're guaranteed safe, and earn Treasury-based rates. You can get them through most banks or through employers offering the Payroll Savings Plan. Plus families and individuals who use Savings Bonds for college tuition may qualify for a special tax exclusion.*

Class of '10 projected cost: about $60,000

For your copy of the Savings Bond Investor Information pamphlet, write U.S. Savings Bonds, Washington, DC 20226.

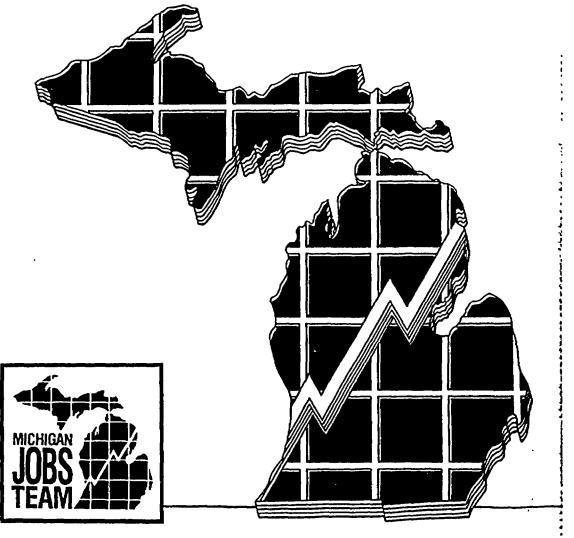

Maximum income and other limitations apply; read IRS Publication 550 and Form 8815 for details.

Northwoods golf developers go fore it!

The explosive growth of firstclass golf in Northern Michigan continues without pause this summer with the opening of the first nine holes at Bay Harbor Golf Club, the Midwest's most spectacular golf property.

Already referred to as the Pebble Beach of the Midwest, Bay Harbor's 27 holes flow gracefully across a bluff, 150-feet above the blue water of the Little Traverse Bay, west of Petoskey.

Nationally recognized architect, Arthur Hills, with input from Boyne USA's Stephen Kircher, used 500 of the 1,100-acre site to design seven holes along the water's edge; five around a quarry that once was part of the cement factory that was on the site; and three holes that play through native sand dunes.

"You would have to go 2,000 miles to the west coast to have this diversity in elements," Kircher said. "The 150-foot drops, the endless horizon, the waves crashing in, the sand dunes, the elevations and the mesmerising appeal of the water."

The golf club, which eventually will be private, is part of a lakeside residential and resort hotel development where waterfront property sells for up to $1 million per lot

Across US-31 is the Crooked Tree Golf Club and residential development which overlooks Bay Harbor and shares the same views of the bay.

Crooked Tree is a very playable traditional course with wide fairways overlooking the bay.

Somewhat overshadowed by the excitement of Bay Harbor is another new Arthur Hills course across the bay at Boyne Highlands, where nine holes opened last fall.

The new nine is massive in proportions covering nearly twice the land used for the Donald Ross Memorial Course. The second nine will be finished after Bay Harbor is completed, Kircher said.

The Hills nine has been combined with the Moor Course, joining the classic Heather and the Ross layouts in the line-up at the Highlands.

The Donald Ross Memorial has been praised nationally for its unique concept - 17 holes reproduced from Donald Ross courses around the country, and one from Ross' boyhood, Royal Dornach in Scotland.

Thirty-three miles south in Boyne Falls, the twin Boyne property, the Mountain, offers two more popular courses, the Alpine and the Monument.

Both are built on large, grand scales with the first tees set way up on the backside of a ski mountain. The holes play down the mountain sweeping towards the golf complex perched on the shore of Deer Lake.

Nearby Shanty Creek-Schuss Mountain resort is celebrating the 10th anniversary of the opening of Arnold Palmer's Legend course. The Legend boasts two of the state's prettiest holes, the Par 4, 433-yard 3rd hole and the 4th, a 181-yard Par 3 which along a ridge high above the azure Lake Bellaire down below.

"The Legend put us in the golf business on a national level," said Shanty Creek-Schuss Mountain CEO Terry Sheiber.

Palmer's second effort in Northern Michigan is underway at the Sugar Loaf Resort on the Leelanau Peninsula. This course will have views of Lake Michigan's Good Harbor Bay, Lime Lake, Little Traverse Bay, the Manitou Islands, and Pyramid Point in the Sleeping Bear Dunes.

New courses are also planned for Grand Traverse Resort near Traverse City, CEO Mark Mitchell said courses designed by Gary Player and Lee Trevino and a central clubhouse will be built at the resort.

Work on the first by Gary Player could begin as early as this spring, Mitchell said. The Trevino course will come on line sometime after the Player one is done, he said.

A much tamer Bear is still the motor that drives Grand Traverse. The course has been softened as the ball-grabbing rough has been cut back.

A new nine is also ready to come off the drawing boards at Crystal Mountain Resort, in Thompsonville, just south of Traverse City.

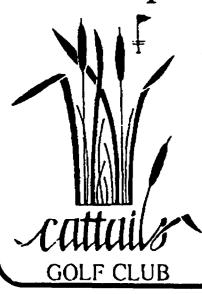

This nine will complement the nine Mountain Ridge holes, designed by Bill Newcomb, and opened three years ago.

Also going into its third season is the Mistwood golf Club at Lake Ann. This is a Jerry Matthews design that is proving very popular with vacationers in the Traverse City Area.

At Treetops Sylvan Resort in Gaylord, golf dynamo Rick Smith is putting the finishing touches on The Caddies will allow golfers to play the game the way it was intended, on foot. The Waling Course will give Treetops a powerful package with the Tom Fazio, Premier; the Robert Trent Jones Sr. Masterpiece; and Smith's Signature layout that opened two seasons ago.

Smith also built the very creative hillside-and-ravine 9-hole Par 3 Treetops course.

Smith has put Treetops and Gaylord in the spotlight as his reputation as one of golf' foremost teachers has grown nationally.

His molding of past U.S. Open Champion Lee Janzen and his work with Jack Nicklaus has made him a cover boy for national golf publications.

At Gaylord's Hidden Valley Resort, owner Keith Gornick made the biggest splash in Northern Michigan golf last year as he tripled his resort's courses when he bought the nearby 2year old Loon golf club, and Michawye's Lakes course and renamed it the Lake Golf Club.

A second course at Hidden Valley designed by former television analyst and sometime Senior Tour player, Gary Koch, is under construction and will open next year.

Complementing the resort golf in the Gaylord area are notable daily fee course, including Black Forest at the Wilderness Valley Golf Club, and the Quest Golf Club at Houghton Lake.

Black Forest, the second Northern Michigan Course designed and built by Tom Doak, is one of the most striking and challenging 18 holes in the north country.

Doak also designed the widely acclaimed High Pointe Golf Club outside Traverse City.

Black Forest continues that award-winning style with huge undulated fast greens, shaggy British bunkers and traditional golf features built wherever they fit naturally into the 400-acre landscape.

The Quest, now in its 3rd season, was designed by John Sanford Jr. with help from PGA tour player Ken Green. Like High Pointe the front and back nines are completely different from each other.

The front side of the Quest flows over the low-profile open land with views of Houghton Lake. The back is cut through heavily treed, hilly terrain.

Just east of Gaylord in Atlanta, Jerry Matthews, Michigan's busiest architect, turned great stands of red and white pines, and acres of wetlands and duck marshes into the Elk Ridge Golf Club, a 7,000-yard layout that was runner-up for Golf Digest Magazine's best new public course rating when it opened in 1991.

Further east in Oscoda, the Gailes at Lakewood Shores Resort has fulfilled the promise it showed when it was named Best New Resort Course in America in 1993 by Golf Magazine.

This Scottish links design, a first time effort by Kevin Aldrige, son of Indianwood Golf and Country Club owner Stan Alridge, is simply one of the most spectacular golf courses

For those who want island golf, the courses on Mackinac and Drummond Islands are great retreats. A second nine for the Grand Hotel, designed by Jerry Matthews who seems to be everywhere, serves up spectacular sunsets with the Straits of Mackinac and the Mackinac Bridge as a backdrop to the first green.

The Rock at Woodmoore on Drummond Island gives golfers a chance to savor the former Domino's Pizza retreat, where owner Tom Monaghan poured in more than $30 million before bailing out.

This is wonderful golf in the wild, with nature's best providing company on the fairways.

Jump-start season at Novi golf show

Novi, Michigan-

March 8-10 is the golfer's dream weekend to get ready for the upcoming golf season.

The fourth annual Michigan Golf Show will be held at the Novi Expo Center in Novi, Michigan. This event has become the third largest golf show and exhibition in the nation, occupying over 140,000 square feet and featuring over 200 exhibitors from across the nation.

This event has expanded over 30 percent from last year's record setting event and this year will feature a manufacturers demonstration and tryout range offering the opportunity to try all the latest introductions of golf clubs for 1996.

Usually this time of year we bring out the clubs, knock the dust off our putters and begin to imagine those warm summer months. Even if the snow may fly for another month, there is no better way to get tuned up for this coming season.

The Michigan Golf Show is a must event if you're a scratch golfer or a weekend duffer. Where else can you see and buy the latest golf equipment and clothing, plan your golf outings and vacations with the areas top resorts, and receive free pro instruction?

More than 20 major golf retailers will be exhibiting with once-a-year show discount pricing on golf clubs and accessories, including balls, shoes, clothing, gloves and product introductions. If you're considering any purchase this year, now is your chance to see all that is available under one roof for less than the cost of a large bucket of balls at the local range.

The Michigan golf show offers much more than the opportunity to buy at discount prices. local instructors and pros are awaiting you in the hitting nets to give you free golf tips and lessons. Find out what tips will shave strokes off your game and how to become more consistent in your swing.

Maybe your bunker game needs some work. Make your way over to the sand trap area and practice your sand shot and perhaps win some fabulous prizes at the same time.

Does your putting game need work, or does your family want to get out and play a round of putting golf? One of the centerpieces of the show is the 9-hole putting course, featuring the latest putting surface technology and fully landscaped to remind you that spring and summer are really just around the corner. This is sure to be an exciting treat for the entire family with so many things to do and see.

If you haven't had the opportunity to play or visit some of the finest local and outstate golf courses and resorts, you will want to save time to visit over 70 exhibitors offering information and reduced pricing packages for this coming season. Each major Michigan golfing market will be represented, as well as local courses such as links of Novi, Rattle Run and Tanglewood along with northern area resorts such as Gaylord Mecca, Traverse City and Michigan's East Sunrise Side.

The Novi Expo Center is conveniently located at I-96 and Novi Road, adjacent to the Twelve Oaks shopping mall. The hours of the show are Friday 4 p.m. to 9 p.m.; Saturday 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.; and Sunday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is $6 for adults, children under 12 are free and full weekend passes will be available.

West Michigan course has British accent

It sounds like something out of Scotland, but the new St. Ives Golf Club in Mecosta, 30 miles west of Mt. Pleasant, is strictly northern Michigan and more.

This is truly fabulous terrain with features that only glaciers could carve into such special landscape for natural golf holes.

Sinkholes, which folks in this part of the state refer to as "pot and kettle country," dot rolling land that has elevation changes of as much as 120 feet between every tee and green.

"This is the most severe terrain we have ever had to work with," said architect Jerry Matthew's who, with Laurie Harmon of his firm, Matthews and Associates, designed the course.

"There are other course we've done, like Elk Ridge, that has severe elevation changes on some holes, but no on every hole like this one," Matthews said.

"This land is just about as gorgeous as you can imagine," Harmon raved.

Lake with a small island wildlife refuge in the middle of it that is home to loons and beaver.

There are acres of hauntingly pretty blueberry and cranberry bogs and wetland that come into play on some holes. The land is also covered with stands of oak, cedar, maple, and beech trees.

Natural tee and green sites were easy to find on the high ground, Harmon said. The challenge in design was finding enough flat landing areas in the fairways. Most of the earth moved on the site was to flatten out landing areas rather than build mounding or elevation that wasn't there naturally.

The golf club is located on the north east corner of the private Canadian Lakes resort and residential development. Owners Norman Browning and Bob Doerr are also partners in Canadian Lakes.

Browning's wife, Judy, brought the British accent to the course when she picked the name St. Ives out of a travel magazine that featured a French settlement of the same name in Cornwall, England.

"I didn't want any of the usual golf course names that started with 'The'. I wanted something pretty that would stand out," she said.

Judy Browning is also responsible for The St. Ives Manor, the elegant country French clubhouse that houses the pro shop, a grill, banquet rooms, and the Founders Room for members.

St. Ives is not overly long at 6,700 yard from the championship tees, but it packs a bite. It's slope rating of 141, puts it in the same neighborhood of difficulty as The Bear at Grand Traverse Resort in Traverse City, or the old course at Indianwood Golf and Country Club in Lake Orion.

The second hole, a 176-yard Par 3 with 100 yards of carry off the tee over a bog, shows the kind of challenge Matthews and Harmon faced in designing the course around the terrain.

To reduce the distance across the bog, they built a 60-foot by 60-foot elevated tee above the muck and connected it to the green with a boardwalk that runs off to the left of the tee.

The middle pylon holding up the boardwalk was sunk 70 feet before it hit solid ground, Harmon said.

Matthews described the 13th through 17th as the "finest stretch of natural holes," they have designed.

From the championship tees, the 13th is a 234-yard, all carry one-approach shot Par 3. There is no bailout area as sink hole with water guards the front of the elevated green. Fly the ball over the green and it falls down to another sink hole in the back.

The tee shot on the 429-yard 14th is a slight dog-leg left, with the tee shot carrying between two ridges. The second shot must carry over more wetlands to the green.

The 15th plays left, 369 yards around more wetland from an elevated tee to an elevated green. Bold players can cut the yardage by biting off as much of the wetland as they dare and go directly at the green.

The 16th doesn't give you much time to catch your breath, or calm the nerves, as this one is a 175-yard Par 3 to a peninsula green that has water on three sides.

On this one there is a natural landing area to the left for shorter hitters.

The 17th, a 560-yard Par 5, is one of the more gently, links-like holes,

CARVED FROM GLACIAL TERRAIN— St. Ives Golf Club features elevation changes of up to 120 feet from tee to green. (Dave Richards-Golf Marketing Services photo.)

The 18th calls for a straight and accurate tee shot to the landing area, as this 448-yard Par 4 has sink holes to the right and sinks to the left.

With five sets of tees, there are plenty of choices for distance depending on a player's ability and handicap.

For Matthew's who began designing and building golf courses more than 30 years ago with his father, Bruce, St. Ives is another superb credit in a string of courses he has created in Michigan in the last three years.

He and his associate, Ray Hearn, have done some impressive work, including the Majestic at Lake Walden in Hartland; the Woodlands in Van Buren Township; Old Channel Trail on Lake Michigan near Muskegon; Mistwood at Lake Ann; the Heritage

Glen at Paw Paw, the 9-hole addition to the Grand Hotel's Woods course, and of course, Elk Ridge in Atlanta, east of Gaylord.

This summer they will unveil Hearns' massive and grand scale design at the Twin Lakes Golf Club in Oakland Township that will rank with the state's best courses.

"I prefer to concentrate on the quality of the courses rather than the number of them," Matthews said, deflecting a question about how many courses he has created in Michigan.

He did allow however that someone used a map of Michigan to chart out the Matthews courses and concluded that you could not drive an hour in any direction in the Lower Peninsula without finding a Matthews golf course.

"St. Ives is a stunner," Matthews said. "It will make quite a statement in that part of the state.

Golf retailer scores ace

Pontiac, Michigan-

The Great Michigan Golf Show, which was held at the Pontiac Silverdome in February was a huge success, according to its sponsors, Bavarian Village Ski and Golf.

The venue's massive facilities allowed for more than 200 exhibits by manufacturers, including Nicklaus, Taylor Made, Callaway, King Cobra, Pin and Footjoy, as well as skills competitions. Final gate count for the Golf Show was 31,500 about 6,000 more than the projected goal, an indicator that 1996 should be a big season in golf retail.

"To put it in golf terms, the show was a hole-in-one. Despite below-zero winter weather, area golfers showed us how serious they were about the game and how much they missed it by coming out to see what we had for them," said Richard Held, Bavarian Village's vice president of marketing. "It was the most ambitious trade-style golf show of its kind ever held in Michigan, and we knew that there would be a good response. Still, even we were very impressed by the tremendous turnout."

"Whatever golfers were looking for, we had it for them-every major manufacturer was there unveiling their 1996 lines," said James Held, vice president of the golf division. "They got to see the new titanium clubs they've been hearing about. And Bavarian Village will have all the equipment and clothes they saw in time for the start of the season."

Detroit Lions quarterback Scott Mitchell was a special guest Feb. 3, signing autographs and displaying his skills, including hitting a 296-yard drive in the long drive competition. Bavarian Village put on eight fashion shows throughout the weekend, and patrons were also treated to several performances by renowned trick shot artist, Paul Hahn Jr.

Bavarian Village Ski and Golf is Michigan's largest ski and golf specialty chain, with 12 stores throughout the state.

Garland: Home of birdies, eagles, turkeys too

For the first time in years, Garland Resort owner Ron Otto may find time to work on his golf game.

The 1996 season will mark the first extended period of time in years that Otto will not be working on a new golf course at the resort in Lewiston.

This season his latest design Fountains, opens for regular season play after a limited debut last fall.

The fifth and final course at Garland, Sanctuary, has already been routed and the land has been cleared.

"We won't go any further until we know we can get 20,000 rounds played on it," Ottos said. With that many rounds on the other four course, Garland is the leading golf center of the north.

Although there won't be any work on a new course this year, there is still a lot of activity at Garland.

The newest of the golf cottages are completed, bringing to 60 the number of these two bedroom-two bath units that are ideal for a foursome.

Work continues on the luxurious French country villas being built on the Fountains course.

These $300,000 marble and tile villas are a Garland innovation for corporate business, Otto explained.

Each building has three units that can be leased by companies for three months each year with full golf privileges for four persons.

"Our research shows that people who have their own place up here may not use it more than 10 times a year," Otto said.

"The beauty of these quarter-year leases is there is no capital outlay for a company and they can send clients to play golf or hold meetings or outings here," he said.

The resort's 5,000 foot airstrip is an asset that also gives Garland corporate appeal.

Another booming Garland concern is the Montana company that makes logs like the ones used on the lodge and the cabins in the woods.

Otto said the company just recently built and shipped a golf clubhouse to a course in Turkey.

Two years ago they did a similar 55,000-square-foot clubhouse for a Japanese club where memberships started at $500,000 per year, Otto said.

Although Garland is the state's largest golf center with 72 holes playing out of one clubhouse, the resort is a lot more than all the golf you can play.

First, it is a truly romantic postcard come to life.

You know this is a special place

as you pass under the huge covered log bridge spanning the highway in front of the resort, connecting it to the Fountains golf course across the land.

The vision of romance comes into focus as you swing through the big black metal gates and catch sight of the huge honey-colored log lodge, looming large above perfectly manicured lawns, gardens, and flower beds.

The largest log structure east of the Mississippi is pure luxury done in stained glass, marble, and cut stone.

Accommodations range from very nice standard rooms trimmed in oak to luxurious duplex two bedroom or single log cabins in the woods, elegantly furnished with king-size beds, and fireplaces.

Some suites in the lodge just ooze romance.

They have massive beams overhead, king-size four poster beds with mirrored canopies, fireplaces, and balconies. The white marble bathrooms floor-to-ceiling all-glass showers have multiple water jets that fire out at various levels from the walls.

Garland has 117 rooms, five meeting rooms, and an executive boardroom.

The resort offers one-day golf and meeting jet getaways where travel time from the Pontiac airport is 29 minutes.

For those who won't golf, dining at the resort's restaurant, Herman's, is an attraction of its own. Despite its rustic setting Herman's is big-city all the way.

The continental gourmet menu leans heavily on Northern Michigan dishes and extensive wine list with the best of California and French offerings will match the best restaurants in Detroit or Chicago.

Garland golf has its own unmistakable character as the courses are set in more than 3,500 acres of forests, lakes, and streams. There is water everywhere.

The combination of water and woods produces an abundance of wildlife, including eagles, that feast on the variety of fish stocked in the rivers and ponds.

Black bears, wild turkeys, hawks, and otters call Garland home.

Otto is an inn keeper who also excels as an environmental steward who caters equally to the whims of his guests and the habits of the wildlife than inhabit the property.

According to some critics, Fountains, is the best golf course design.

Unlike the other three courses, Monarch, Swampfire and Reflections which are pretty flat, Fountains is laid out on land that has as much as 90 feet of elevation changes.

"This is elevated hardwoods with a lot of roll to it," Otto said. "The greens turned out really super as well."

The course also reflect's Otto philosophy of rewarding good shot making.

"I don't believe in beating the average buy to death," he said. "I prefer to reward the good shot that winds up in the middle of the fairway."

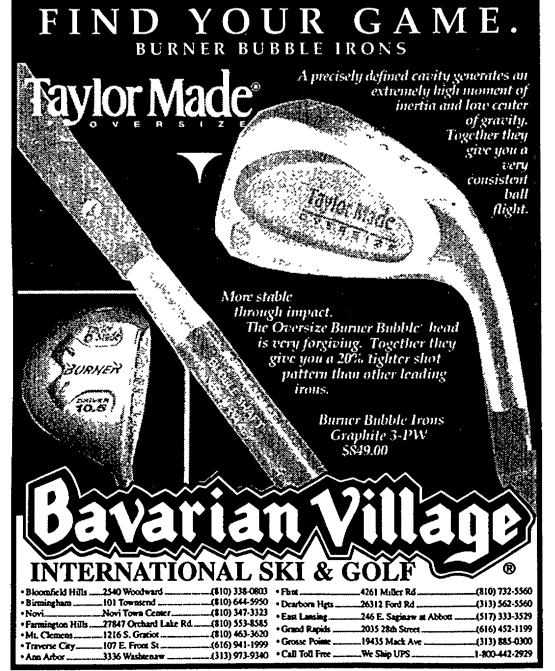

"If you hit the middle of the fairway you should be able to see the pin for your next shot. The further you stray from the middle the tougher the second shot should be," he said.

Otto also believes a golf course should be gimmick free.

"When you stand on the tee you should be able to see all the trouble you can get into," he said.

Although different in character than the other courses, you can be assured Fountains will be like the others in grooming and conditioning - Garland perfect.

Women no longer seated at back of boat

Iulie Candler

Allan Hayes

Men at the Detroit Boat Show in February were talking about women, but not for the usual reasons.

They were talking about the changes in boat design resulting from the feminine influence. Boat manufacturers have discovered that women play an increasing role in buying decisions. They know that boating now is recreation for the entire family, not just for Dad and his pals.

The marketing wizards at major boat-builders have also noticed that a woman is often the skipper, for the irrefutable reason that she owns the Mike Burke, marketing manager of Sea Ray Boats, Inc., proudly notes that the first issue of a new magazine called Boating for Women ($2.50 U.S.) features a Sea Ray on it's cover. Burke credits women for the suggestion of a flip-up bolster cushion that can be used in three positions on some Sea Ray bow-rider models.

Women want more move-around and seating space in motorboat cockpits, and are getting it. Many of the newer boats are beamier, over eight feet wide in some case. The new 23-foot Cobalt 232 has an 8-foot 6-inch beam, the maximum now permissible for a trailable boat. The handsome vessel, decked out in cream and tan upholstery, seats six people in its cockpit and two more in the bow. The new 28-foot Sea Ray 280, retail $68,892) at the Detroit Boat Show spreads out to a beam of 9-foot 6-inches.

Says Paul Knox, a salesman for Jefferson Beach Yacht Sales, "It's because women wanted it that way in the galley Cruiser, Inc's. Aft-Cabin 3650 isn't located down in the hold, but up on the level of the salon, where it's airy and the view is decent."

Four Winns, of Cadillac, Michigan, the largest boat seller in the state, is going to 8-foot ox wider beams to create roomier interiors.
They have moved the helms forward for a more open and spacious cockpit.
This trend is evident in the new-for-96
Horizon RX (Boat Show price: $16,000). Four Winns claims the open-bow speedster furnishes 20 feet of space in an 18-foot hull. Their Candia FS, a handsome new deckboat (Boat Show price $27,000) offers the equivalent of 24 feet of space in a 20foot 11-inch boat. Styling on both of these boats is more curved and shapely, echoing automotive styling trends.

Four Winns has worked out a way to adapt its hulls either to IO (inboard-outboard) or to outboard engines. There is little difference in cost between inboard and outboard rigs, and the boats are about the same length whichever type of engine is used.

The customer can have the same hull and interior configuration no matter which type of engine he/she may choose, Four Winns can, at point of manufacture, affix one transom or the other to the boat desired.

Lund Boats, a major manufacturer of aluminum fishing boats, offers two new boats for 1996. Says Lanny Orvalla, of Lund Boats, "Aluminum boats seem to be the first to feel a recession, but we're also the first to bounce back. I think it's because fishermen have this overwhelming need to go fishing no matter what."

Lund's new 1890 Pro-V L.E. features a helm station with windshield at the starboard stern for the skipper, an adjoining station with windshield to port for a passenger, and an open area forward for other fisher-persons. The boat can handle a 190-horse outboard. Another feature is dual On Deck bait stations located forward and aft within easy reach. At just under 19 feet with a 92 inch beam, this boat looks fast, comfortable and sturdy (suggested retail without engine: $12,130).

Another Lund boat featured for 1996 is the 2150 Baron Magnum Gran Sport. At 21 feet 5 inches with an 8-foot beam, the boat is designed to be powered either by a 225 HP outboard motor or a 5.7-liter IO (inboard-outboard). The helm station is forward and the boat can handle a large crew. Padded bow bolsters, radius deck styling and padded vinyl interior are new features. With an 80-gallon fuel tank, the boat should be able to run all weekend, (suggested retail without engine; $15,787)

New sailboats have not been heavily represented at boat shows in recent years. According to the Michigan Boating Industry Association, which stages the annual Detroit Boat Show, sailing represents about 5 percent of the total number of boats registered in Michigan. Some experts seem to think that the falling demand has reached a plateau.

Prominent at this year's Detroit Show was a 37-foot 6-inch sloop (Hunter 376) that demonstrates the reversal of a long-lasting trend we've been seeing in larger boats. For years we've watched the masts on these boats move farther and farther aft (to the rear), resulting in smaller mainsails and foresails so gigantic that it takes an especially athletic ape to handle them.

The Hunter 376 has moved the mast substantially forward and omitted the backstay altogether, The result should be easier sail-handling and more comfortable cabins, which tended to be more cluttered with the aft-mast arrangement. We found the Hunter 376 to be a lovely boat, well laid out and with especially handsome wood joinery below decks. (Boat Show price: $123,400)

Another vessel worth noting at this year's show is the Liberator (designed by Harris) and the Freedom (designed by Kayot), two almostidentical pontoon boats adapted by Harris-Kayot, Inc., for the use of physically handicapped persons in wheel chairs.

Says Peter M. Gillon, the company's Vice President, "We conferred with a group of handicappers and got their in-put for the development of this boat. We found that they aren't at all afraid to go out on the water, but they do have a fear of getting from shore to boat and back again. Also they all want to fish. We frankly couldn't see a big market here, but it did seem like something worth doing."

The company holds a patent on a special gangway that folds down from the boat. It secures to a dock so that wheelchairs can be rolled aboard. The furniture on the boat is designed to be moved, so that wheel-chairs can be rolled to any position on the boat, including the helm.

Outfitted for handicappers, the boat costs about $200 extra. (Boat Show price, including power: $10,895)

The giant motor-yachts that few can afford but many can look at, at least at boat shows, were well represented.

Carver Boat Corporation displayed its huge (50-foot) 500 Cockpit Motor Yacht. The Carver people referred to it as a floating condo. Roomy and luxurious, it is well designed for ultra-comfortable living. If a person just used it for parties at the dock he might not even need an engine. (Boat Show price: $470,000)

Bayliner's beautiful new 3587 Aft Cabin Motor Yacht was also on display. (Boat Show price: $157,000)

Greg Krueger, of Jefferson Beach Yacht Sales, tells us that his brokerage has recently taken on a new line of British motor yachts named Sunseeker. These boats are touted as having European instead of U. S. construction standards and amount to what he calls the Sea Ray of Europe, known both for speed and sturdiness of construction. He showed us the handsome big 48-foot Sunseeker which has a suggested retail of $665,000.

"The show's been great," says Mike Kamaloski of Four Winns. "We sense a lot of interest and a good mix of customers. A lot of them came to buy. I think it's because winter started so early this year. People are anxious to get it over and are already planning for spring."

State architecture showcased

Jean Day

What do you think of as Michigan architecture — log cabins in the Upper Peninsula or along the AuSable, a Gothic revival "wedding cake" house on Grosse Ile, Hancock's red sandstone city hall, Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island, Detroit's skyline viewed from Windsor?

All of the above, and much more, are included in a comprehensive new architectural guide of our state, Buildings of Michigan, by Kathryn Bishop Eckert, Michigan State Historic Preservation Officer at the Bureau of Michigan History, Michigan Department of State.

The 603-page volume with more than 400 photographs, drawings and maps, as well as an excellent index, may be a bit large to stuff in a car's glove compartment, but it certainly is going along with me as I travel around Michigan.

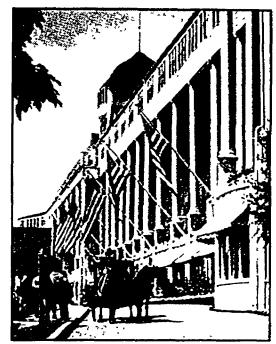

Whether your interest in Michigan architecture leans toward unusual octagon or round barns, the dozen or so buildings designed by Frank Lloyd Wright, the magnificent homes of lumber barons like Muskegon's Charles H. Hackley, the beautiful Greek Revival homes in Marshall or the resort cottages of the Traverse Bay region you'll find descriptive references and specific locations.

Michigan is in the forefront in presenting its volume as part of a monumental series. Buildings of the United States, being undertaken by the Society of Architectural Historians, who point out that the United States was the only major country of the Western World that did not have a publication series dealing with its architectural heritage on a national scale.

Eckert recalls that when the opportunity to develop the Michigan guidebook was presented during the sesquicentennial celebration of Michigan's statehood in 1987-89, there were few books on the subject, and none for the mainland Upper Peninsula.

Financial support for the book came from the Yes 150! Foundation of the Michigan Sesquicentennial Commission and from private foundations and corporations, including the Steelcase Foundation.

ALWAYS IN FOCUS— The venerable Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island has been called "Michigan's most photographed building."

Dow Chemical Company, the Pew Charitable Trusts and others. The project also was funded in part by a grant through the National Park Service.

Published by the Oxford University Press, the guidebook joined others in the series from Iowa, Alaska and Washington, D.C. Rhode Island is about to publish, Eckert adds.

Eckert, who has been overseeing the Historical Preservation Section of the Bureau of History since 1976, became the editor of the publication. She received her BA degree from Mt. Holyoke College, a masters degree in Art History and a PhD. in American Studies from Michigan State University.

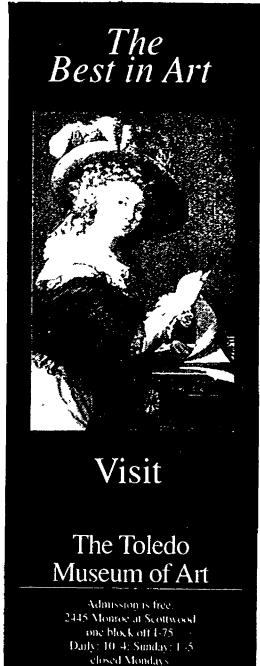

She points out that a project of the guidebook's magnitude is possible only with the collaboration of many scholars and specialists throughout the state. Her office had collected much information on buildings and builders in all parts of the state.

"We approached the project by asking 'What is unique about Michigan? We looked at the land and water," she relates, noting that conditions that shaped the state, its early lumbering and mining, were studied.

Because of its lakes and shipping, Michigan had more lighthouses than any other state to mark dangerous points, Eckert illustrates, noting that when automation made them unnecessary, ownership was transferred to municipalities or private owners.

The comprehensive analysis includes factories such as the Willow Run Bomber Plant designed by Albert Kahn Associates in the 1941 war effort; housing such as the 1,000home Civic Park project of General Motors in Flint to house its workers that was constructed in nine months in 7419) 255-8000

House in Dearborn and the Fisher and General Motors buildings in the Detroit New Center area.

When Eckert speaks to groups around the state on preservation and the Buildings of Michigan she combines her talk with a slide presentation.

One view that always draws appreciative murmurs of recognition (as it did when she spoke recently to the Northville Woman's Club) is that of the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island. She says the magnificent white hotel sitting on the West Bluff of the island is "Michigan's most photographed building."

It is cited in the guidebook as "probably Michigan's major architectural attraction."

She also mentions the Mackinac Straits Bridge, the longest suspension bridge in the world, built in 1954-57, to link the two peninsulas of our state.

Other great buildings are noted as well. Eckert calls Meadow Brook Hall, the Alfred G. and Mathilda Dodge Wilson Estate in the Rochester area, "one of the best of the great 20th century mansions in the country." Also mentioned in this category are the George Booth House (Cranbrook House), the Edsel and Eleanor Ford House and Fairlane, the Henry and Clara Ford House.

Eckert points out that each region of the state had its influences —the lumber barons whose fortunes came from timber built unsurpassed mansions, such as the Hackley-Hume houses in Muskegon; the copper and iron deposits of the Upper Peninsula resulted in solid buildings of local red sandstone such as the Finnish Suomi

College building in Hancock.

The Upper Peninsula also is the site of Granot Loma on Lake Superior in Marquette. Eckert mentions it as "Michigan's most splendid summer wilderness estate." Built by Louis G. Kaufman, a Marquette banker, the huge log lodge cost $2 million to build in 1919-23.

The Quincy Mining Company buildings and mine shafts, located northeast of Hancock, and the Calumet and Hecla mine buildings in Calumet are both National Historic Landmarks, Eckert mentions, saying both communities are "trying to promote heritage tourism" in the Upper Peninsula.

Cottages, as well as mansions, have listings in the guidebook. Eckert includes the almost-500 beautifully maintained Victorian cottages built in the 1870s and 1880s in Bay View near Petoskey as well as the Queen Anne style cottages on Mackinac Island and the Otsego ski resort with "pseudo-Bavarian theme." The entire community of Gaylord has adopted the Bavarian look, she adds.

She cites Holland as another community which has successfully used an old-world theme, noting that the Dutch influence is seen in Hope College buildings as well as in local churches and commercial buildings.

"Fun structures" outside Holland are silos that are part of the Herman Miller Design Yard arranged with other buildings to resemble a farm.

Charlevoix, Eckert continues, boasts playful houses, known as "dwarf," "mushroom" or "Hansel and Gretel" houses built by a self trained local man, Earl A. Young, of local limestone, field stones and shipwrecked lumber. He also built the GREAT LAKES GETAWAY landmark Weathervane Inn, long a restaurant at the bridge in downtown Charlevoix.

In the thumb area, Eckert says, "transplants from Western Ontario have left their mark."

Contents are divided geographically within the Lower and Upper peninsulas, beginning with Detroit and Wayne County and continuing through suburban counties of Monroe, Washtenaw, Livingston, Oakland and Macomb. The guideline explains that entries usually are arranged by county within a region. I found the index particularly helpful to located a specific place or building.

Buildings of Michigan surveys Michigan architecture from 1780 to the present. Available in both hard cover ($45) and paperback ($18.95). the paperback cover is a dramatic view of the downtown Detroit skyline photographed by Balthazar Korab (who was responsible for most of the guide's photographs) showing the Guardian Building, Renaissance Center and the Comerica Tower.

Kathryn Bishop Eckert may be contacted at her office in Lansing regarding preservation and talks on the guide at 517-373-0511. Talk proceeds go to state preservation work.

Art show is wildest affair of year

Southfield, Michigan-

The 13th anniversary of the Michigan Wildlife Art Festival will be observed March 22-24 at the Southfield Pavilion. The annual benefit for wildlife restoration is designed to raise public consciousness about the needs of wildlife by exhibiting the best wildlife and environmental art from around North America. The Festival is widely regarded as the largest in the Midwest.

The Southfield Pavilion will hold 58 premier artists exhibiting hundreds of paintings, prints, carvings, etchings, bronzes, photography and scratchboard. All artwork at the Festival will be for sale, with a portion of the proceeds earmarked for wildlife restoration in Michigan. Since 1984, the Michigan Wildlife Art Festivals have raised more than $700,000 for wildlife from admissions and sales.

Featured at the '96 Festival will be Catherine McClung of Whitmore Lake. Her painting, "Meadowland Blues" depicts a male bluebird with prairie wildflowers. The painting has been reproduced as the 1996 Habitat Sponsor print, and funds raised will be used for wildlife habitat restoration in Michigan.

Exhibiting in Michigan for the first time will be Special Guest Artist - Lee Kromschroeder, of Escondido, CA. Kromschroeder is one of the country's leading painters of marine and terrestrial mammals.

Returning to Michigan is the Spotlight Artist, Ken Zylla of Plymouth, MN. Zylla's art takes one back to the simpler times in rural and "small town America."

Also returning to the Festival is Michigan artist Heiner Hertling, of West Bloomfield. While long recognized as one of the America's finest wildlife artists, Hertling now turns his attention exclusively to capturing the American landscape on

A series of free wildlife seminars will be provided for the public on March 23 and 24. Also at the Festival will be the Outdoor Writers Association of America Photo contest winners, and exhibits by Michigan's leading conservation groups.

The Festival is produced by the Foundation in cooperation with the City of Southfield. For more information about becoming a sponsor or to receive a schedule of events, please contact: Michigan Wildlife Habitat Foundation, 6425 S. Pennsylvania, Suite 9, Lansing, MI 48911-5975, phone 517-882-3630.

It's March — So where's spring?

Dorothy Webster

Here in the north, winter settled in early, rudely shoving aside late autumn with knee-deep snow in mid-November, then hunkered down to bone-chilling cold once it got its second wind during a brief January

By then, Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, had recorded a whopping 61.4 inches of snow during a single weekend, and on Groundhog Day, Feb. 2, temperatures plummeted to 60 degrees below zero at Tower, Minnesota.

That was the coldest temperature ever recorded in the entire state since weather records had been kept. In Montana, CNN reported, it was so cold that tips of calves ears were freezing and breaking off. Helena, Montana, recorded a minus 42 degrees that day.

And all the icelocked states groaned collectively when, in Gobbler's Knob, Pennsylvania, tophatted officials held aloft "Phil" the groundhog, after he saw his shadow assuring six more weeks of winter, according to local beliefs.

Just how reliable are those assumptions? Not very, say the weather experts, but weather lore is deeply ingrained, especially to those who live in cold climates. The most accurate predictions are made by observant folks who have lived in one place for a long period of time - and they're becoming rare in these days of transient society.

Every locale has its own distinct weather patterns, often influenced by the location of nearby natural features, such as lakes, mountains, rivers, or by manmade features, such as large cities which also influence patterns.

In our not so distant past, farmers needed desperately to know the length and severity of the winter, because it clearly indicated which crops would do best the following summer and how bountiful those crops would be.

What he prayed for was a long, constant winter with blanketing snow that didn't end too early with cropkilling frosts.

February has been regarded as a "weather breeder", a period of change that sets future weather patterns for the next season. Farmers believe a cold February is vital for a good crop, so Feb. 2, originally called Candlemas Day, was watched in great anticipation.

"If Candlemas Day be fine and clear, we shall winter for half the year," was probably a forerunner of today's Groundhog Day tradition. While it's great February fun, there's really no scientific basis for it.

The groundhog, or woodchuck, was a folklore figure of the Germanic Protestants who settled Pennsylvania. France had its own lore: If a bear left its den, saw the sun, turned around three times and went back into its den, there would be six more weeks of winter.

Practical farmers summed up the date more succinctly: "On Candlemas > Day, have half your wood and half your hay, and you'll come safely through to May."

And another version noted, "If Candlemas Day be mild and gay, go saddle your horse and buy him hay; If Candlemas Day be stormy and black, it carries winter away on its back."

What farmers call a "hard winter" is a cold winter, and even today, those who live in northern climates try to outdo folks from other regions on just how bitter cold it got in those parts.

Tower, Minnesota, up in the Iron Range, probably took bragging rights for the early February cold wave this year, with 59 below zero degrees Feb. 1, then 60 below zero readings Candlemas Day, Feb. 2. Since it was also Groundhog Day, residents of Tower probably pulled their parkas closer and headed indoors if local groundhogs stuck their noses out of their dens.

Will we have an early spring this March?

Here are some weather rhymes that may help you make your own determinations. First, remember that in the Great Lakes area, prevailing

"So many mists in March, so many frosts in May," notes one bit of doggerel, and "March damp and warm, does farmer much harm," refers to an early thaw that will probably be followed by a killing frost.

"Cold is the night when stars shine bright," and "When snow falls dry it means to lie; but flakes light and soft bring rain oft," may indicate tomorrow's weather, but observing animals also helps.

"An old cat frisking about like a kitten foretells a storm," and expect rain when cats wash behind their ears, when dogs' tails straighten, and when spiders abandon their webs.

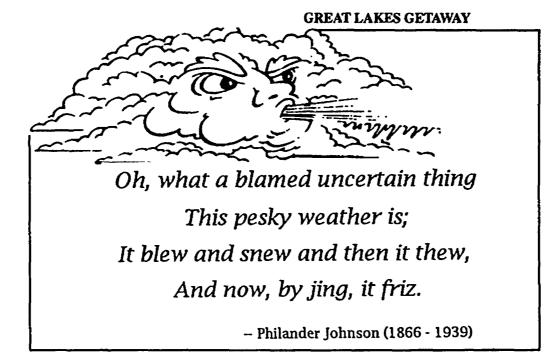

American Indians believed "When the night has a fever it cries in the morning," so watch for a rise in temperatures between 9 p.m. and midnight to indicate rain the following morning.

Fishermen heed Izaak Walton's, "Fish bite the least, with wind in the east," and his conclusion, "But when the wind is in the west, there it is the very best."

Country dwellers, who observe the changing seasons and draw their own conclusions as what tomorrow's weather will be, sometimes note, "Mackerel clouds in sky, expect more wet than dry, and "If the sky beyond the clouds is blue, be glad, there's a picnic due for you."

Seafarers, long priding themselves on their ability to foretell the weather by the appearance of the sky, changes of wind direction, cloud formations, and variations of atmospheric pressure, often observed, "If wind is northeast three days without rain, eight days will go by before south again," and "The farther the sight, the closer the rain."

Seagulls were indicators, too.
"Seagull, seagull, sit on the sand; It's never good weather when you're on land" warned them of conditions to come on the seas, and they always remembered, "Sky red in the morning, is a sailor's warning; Sky red at night is the sailor's delight."

Rainbows had their watchers, too. "Rainbow in morning, sailors take warning; Rainbow at noon, rain will come soon."

Weather watchers on land and sea observed, "The higher the cloud, the finer the weather," and "The sharper the blast, the sooner it's past."

Observing the weather and foretelling its progress goes back a long way. There are several mentions in the Bible; Aratus, a Greek in the Fourth Century B.C., noted his predictions; Shakespeare recorded his thoughts in his plays; and Aristotle wrote, "Tis well to sail when the south winds begin to blow."

Religious holidays come in for their share of predictions, too. In March, be sure to note the 19th, St. Joseph's Day, because if it's clear, so follows a fertile year; the 21st, St. Benoit's Day can spell disaster, for if it rains, more rain will follow for 40 days; and on Lady Day, March 25, St. Mary's Day, if it's clear, you can be assured of a fruitful year.

All those long-ranging forecasts are doubtful, but there are a few generalizations you can depend upon. My favorite, especially true here in Michigan is, "The frost is out of the ground when you hear the first frogs in spring."

And remember Ben Franklin, yes, he of Almanac fame, who noted that "Some are weatherwise, some are otherwise."

British schoolchildren chanted this rhyme for centuries, and it's still true today:

> "Whether the weather be fine, Whether the weather be not; Whether the weather, Whatever the weather, Whether we like it or not,"

(Dorothy Webster, former newspaper and magazine publisher, lives in northeast Michigan with her two cats that are alternately a joy and a trial-depending on their mood. As an artist and photographer, she seeks unusual landscapes and interesting back roads to record.)

Bloomfield Hills, Michigan-

The Orion String Quartet will be the guests for the American Artists Series concert at 3 p.m. Sunday, March 17 at Kingswood Auditorium, Cranbrook, 1221 N. Woodward, Bloomfield Hills. Tickets are $16; students half price. For information, call 810-851-5044.

The Orion, considered by music critics both here and in Europe to be a cluster of bright, rising musical stars, was named Ouartet-in-Residence at the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center in 1994-95. After hearing the Orion perform, Isaac Stern proclaimed them representative of the next generation of excellence in chamber music.

For their program on Sunday, March 17, they will play three string quartets - Quartet in D major, opus 18, #3 by Beethoven; String Quartet #2, opus 17 by Bartok; and String Quartet in G major, opus 106 by Dvorak. • Cosmetics

Searching for sun and fun at spring break

Iris Sanderson Jones

"WHAT DO WE WANT? Sun and fun!"

"WHERE DO WE GO? Mexico, Walt Disney World, the Caribbean!"

Those are the sentiments being expressed this time of year by college students and families planning to travel during spring break. Parents are especially interested in the two questions that naturally follow: what will their offspring do and what will it cost?!

"There isn't a mom or dad alive who doesn't worry about where their kids go for spring break and what they'll do when they get there."

That's Rick Sylvain, popular former travel editor of the Detroit Free Press, now manager of print publicity for Walt Disney World. Rick is finding it a 'huge adjustment' in both lifestyle and job style to go from a news department where he was a staff of one to a corporation where he runs a whole department.

"I miss my family and friends, I miss the Detroit Red Wings but I don't miss winter," he said. "What I really miss is the sense of neighborhood and community I had in Michigan. So much of Orlando turns on make-believe."

Rick talked about how spring breakers and families can enjoy the make-believe."

Disney World is positioned so kids can have smart fun, clean fun. Spring break time, which runs through March and April, is a busy time for us, because both families and college students come for fun and sun."

What's the best way for either group to see the World?

"One park at a time," Sylvain says. "Figure out when the parades are on. There'll be long lines there, but the rest of the parks will be empty.

"Tower of Terror at MGM-Studios is just made for teens, it's on the edge! They love Space Mountain and splashing around the water parks. I see a lot of 20-somethings at Pleasure Island. Sometimes I feel like Methuselah over there but they have attractions for all ages. There is a jazz place across the street from a high tech music club with a rotating floor."

Disney Break '96 offers special student discounts to Pleasure Island, an entertainment theme park in the World Through April 16, students can spend all day at one Disney theme park for $26, which is $11 off regular admission, then play all night free at Pleasure Island, where the admission is usually $27. Take a valid college ID card with you.

Student thrills also include ExtraTERRORestrial Encounter, a sensory thriller from Disney and filmmaker George Lucas, at the Magic Kingdom; Summit Plummet, the world's tallest and fastest free-fall speed slide, which drops at 55 miles per hour in Blizzard Beach, a water park themed to a Northern ski resort; the free-fall speed slide, which drops at 55 miles per hour in Blizzard Beach, a water park themed to a Northern ski resort; the Twilight Zone Tower of Terror, where you enter another dimension before falling down an elevator shaft from the 13th floor at Disney-MCM Studios; and Honey, I Shrunk the Audience, a three-dimensional misadventure at Epcot.

Kate Rosevear, the owner of Carlson Wagonlit Travel in Plymouth, Michigan, agrees that Disney World is very popular with families. "A family of four can spend a week that includes a few days on a cruise ship and a few days at Disney for $4000 to $4500, including all air, hotels, ships and admissions "

"The big destination for students now is Cancun, Mexico. That started a couple of years ago. The price is right, the weather is good, they have great beaches and that's where their friends are going," she said. "I think it might become another Daytona Beach.

"Students can buy round trip air, transfers and budget hotels for $530 to $580. The cost of living is moderate. They stay in one or two-star tourist hotels and walk to the entertainment in the high-priced hotels along the beach. High end college students might stay in slightly better hotels."

Are there limitations on who can go and where they can start?

"Cancun doesn't put much limitation on students. They're used to natural disasters!" Kate said.

STUDENT HANG-OUT— Cancun, Mexico, with its great beach and moderate cost of living, is gaining popularity as a spring break destination.

SMART FUN— With greetings like this, is it any wonder that Disney World remains a family favorite at spring break?

Where else are travelers going to find fun and sun during the break or during the break in the high school schedule?

"We're not doing much in Florida the last few years. We book a few spring breakers to Daytona Beach, Fort Meyers and the Panhandle. We also book on occasional charter to Padre Island, Texas.

"A few families go to Las Vegas, where they stay at the Excalibur, Treasure Island Resort or Circus Circus hotel. That costs about $400 per person for three or four days, including air fare.

"WHAT DO WE WANT? Sun and fun!"

"WHERE WILL WE GO? Anyplace where we can get it!"

(Writer Iris Sanderson Jones and her photographer-husband Micky Jones were born and raised in Canada, lived and work in the U.S. and publish their work on both sides of the border).

Stand up to the challenge!

Sandusky, Ohio-

Cedar Point has renamed its world-record-breaking stand-up roller coaster "Mantis," after the imposing creature known as the most voracious predator of the insect world. The new coaster will open in 1996 at the Sandusky, Ohio, amusement park/resort.

Mantis will be the tallest, fastest and steepest stand-up roller coaster in the world and will be Cedar Point's 12th roller coaster, more than anywhere else on earth. At $12 million, the new scream machine will also be the most expensive single ride investment in the history of the park. Originally, Cedar Point announced its new coaster's name as Banshee, after the untamed ghostly entity of Irish folklore.

"After unveiling the massive project in September, we had concerns that some of our guests may have found the doom and misfortune connotations associated with the coaster's original name inappropriate," said Don Miears, executive vice president and general manager of Cedar Point. "We felt sensitive about this and pledged to Cedar Point's fans that we would develop a fitting name for this spectacular thrill ride. We're confident that the name Mantis fits the bill."

Mantis' structure will coil over and through 4 acres of land and lagoon near the center of the park and will awe guests with its world-recordbreaking dimensions. Towering 145 feet in height with a 137-foot drop angled at 40 degrees, riders will come within feet of the water's surface before challenging Mantis' swooping elements at 60 mph — all while standing up. More than 20 percent of the ride's structure will be built over the water, including its loading station and two of Mantis' looping elements.

Mantis' six ride elements will feature four upside-down inversions and two "firsts" for a stand-up roller coaster. The dizzying elements will include a 119-foot tall vertical loop, the tallest on any stand-up coaster;

> a 103-foot-tall dive loop, which riders will enter upside down and exit right side up and will be the first of its kind on a stand-up coaster; a heavily banked 360degree turn; an 83-foottall inclined loop angled at 45 degrees, another new inversion for a standup coaster; a 360degree flat spin; and a figure-eight finale. To complement Mantis' environmental setting, the ride's three-tone structure will mix a two-color track of vibrant yellow and red with an electric blue framework. Mantis' three sleek prototype trains will give approximately 1,800 rides an hour. Its 2-minute, 40-second adventure will cover more than 3,900 feet of steel rails. Mantis riders must be at least 54 inches tall.

Designed by the critically acclaimed roller coaster engineering firm Bolliger & Mabillard (B & M) of Monthey, Switzerland, Mantis will be the fifth world-record-breaking ride Cedar Point has introduced in the last eight years.

Construction of Mantis is now underway. Cedar Point's Opening Day will be on Saturday, May 11.

Gardeners will dig this work of art

Ann Arbor, Michigan-

"Gardening is the art that uses flowers and plants as the paint and the soil and sky as the canvas." -Claude Monet

The 1996 Ann Arbor Flower and Garden Show, sponsored by the University of Michigan Matthaei Botanical Gardens, will celebrate its seventh show with the theme, Art In Bloom. This year's show, March 28-31 at the Washtenaw Farm Council Grounds, will highlight gardening as an art form and explore the ways in which gardeners and artists inspire one another.

The show's 2400-square-foot feature garden, Monet 's Passion, will be a blaze of climbing roses, iris, delphinium, poppies, and spring bulbs—a brilliant vista of color inspired by Claude Monet's garden in Giverny, France. The garden will be built around the dominant axis of the Grand Allee tunnel, the most recognized feature of Monet's garden.

The exhibit will include a series of arches with climbing roses, the famous walkway of nasturtiums, the facade of Monet's "Pink House," a pond with a section of the elegant Japanese bridge and a 60-foot mural, painted in the style of Monet, depicting the Seine river and the landscaping surrounding Giverny.

In a series of "paint-box" flower beds, the feature garden will apply Monet's color theory to plants with hundreds of annuals and perennials for spring and summer. Flowering crab apple and cherry trees will gracefully line the walkways. Weeping willows will cascade over the reflective pond.

Visitors will be inspired by several other show gardens utilizing a successful blend of texture, scent and design, which will create a living studio of color and fragrance. Look for gardens created by talented landscape designers utilizing sculpture in the garden, floral arrangements interpreting great works of art, horticultural creations depicting artists studios, and much more.

Garden and design experts will be available throughout the show to offer tips and ideas for the do-it-yourselfers or the master gardeners. The show features over 500 displays and exhibits including landscape garden displays, floral creations, a Master Gardener booth for all of your plant questions, a Marketplace with over 45 commercial booths, educational and plant society exhibits; live music each evening in the Friends of Matthaei Botanical Gardens gazebo, and an Antique Garden area featuring distinctive ornaments, accessories, furniture, and more. Attendance is expected to exceed 30,000 over four days.

Advance tickets may be purchased until March 27 at all Michigan Kroger stores and the U-M Matthaei Botanical Gardens. Advance ticket prices for adults are $8. Senior Citizens will receive a $1 discount off of tickets purchased at the door both Thursday, March 28 and Friday, March 29. Tickets sold at the show will be $9 adults, $3 children 4-12 years, and free to children three and under.

The show will be held at the Washtenaw Farm Council Grounds, 5055 Ann Arbor-Saline Road, Ann Arbor, Michigan. Show hours are 9 a.m. 9 p.m., March 28 - 30, and 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., March 31. Show gates will close one hour prior to closing each day of the show. Complimentary shuttle busses will pick up and drop off throughout the show-, and parking at the show is free. For shuttle locations and show information call the Flower Show office at 313-998-7002.

Honorary chairs for the Ann Arbor Flower and Garden Show are Senator and Mrs. Carl Levin, Senator and Mrs. Spencer Abraham and Mr. and Mrs. Alan Schwartz.

The Ann Arbor Flower and Garden Show's Art In Bloom is produced by the University of Michigan Matthaei Botanical Gardens and includes a Standard Flower Show presented in cooperation with the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan,

Good vibrations: Exhibit explores science of music

Bloomfield Hills, Michigan-

How does a simple series of sounds become recognizable as music? Where does sound come from? How do musicians produce harmony and melody?

What Makes Music?, a new exhibit at Cranbrook Institute of Science, answers its own question with an exciting, in-depth look and listen at the science behind sound and the ever-evolving technology of music making.

Focusing on the growing popularity and accessibility of electronics in music, What Makes Music? gives visitors the chance to sample a wide range of keyboards, synthesizers and computer programs. In the "Jamming Room", museumgoers can experiment with melody, harmony and rhythm through prerecorded programs or variations of their own creations on an Ensoniq synthesizer and electronic drum kit.

People who have never picked up an instrument can find musical fulfillment in the Music Mouse display. This computer program helps composers of all ages write their own electronic symphony, using nothing more than a mouse and a synthesizer. One of the most popular features of the exhibit is the giant 15-foot long "Walk-On Piano". Visitors can take a stroll across the keys and tap out their favorite tunes, just like Tom Hanks in the movie "Big."

What Makes Music? also explores the basics of music, starting with the sound wave. Created by vibrations, sound waves are actually pressure waves that radiate outward from moving objects, are detected by the ear and processed as a distinctive sound by the brain. An eight-foot Slinky illustrates this principle, showing what happens when pressure increases or decreases.

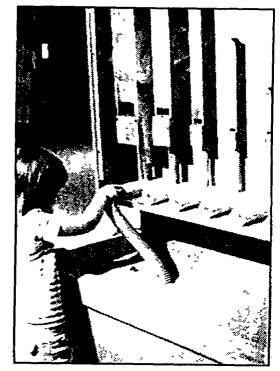

In "Catch A Wave", visitors can use a strobe light to "freeze" the vibration of a piano string, and see a phenomenon normally invisible to the human eye. The components of the human voice are revealed on a giant laser oscilloscope, which creates an electronic graph of the changes in air pressure when a person speaks. At the "See Your Voice" display, people can compare their vocal waveshapes to those of a flute, clarinet or saxophone.

Not only can visitors see what their voices look like, but with the help of modern music technology, they can change them as well. In "Transpose Your Voice", singers or non-singers can warble their favorite tune and have the harmonic content of their voices transformed into that of the evil Darth Vader, an ever cheerful Chipmunk, or a Munchkin from the "Wizard of Oz."

Even with all of this technology, What Makes Music?' does not leave the "unplugged sounds unexplored. Ever wondered what went on underneath the lid of a piano? In Grand Piano Action, visitors can press a piano key and see how energy is transferred from their finger to the hammer that strikes the string, creating vibration and music. By pressing the string of a violin, budding musicians can discover how changing the length of a string alters its frequencies.

What Makes Music?, conceived and designed by the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia for the Science Museum Exhibit Collaborative with funding from the National Science Foundation, will continue at Cranbrook Institute of Science through May 12. This exhibit is sponsored at Cranbrook by Kroger and Bose Corporation.

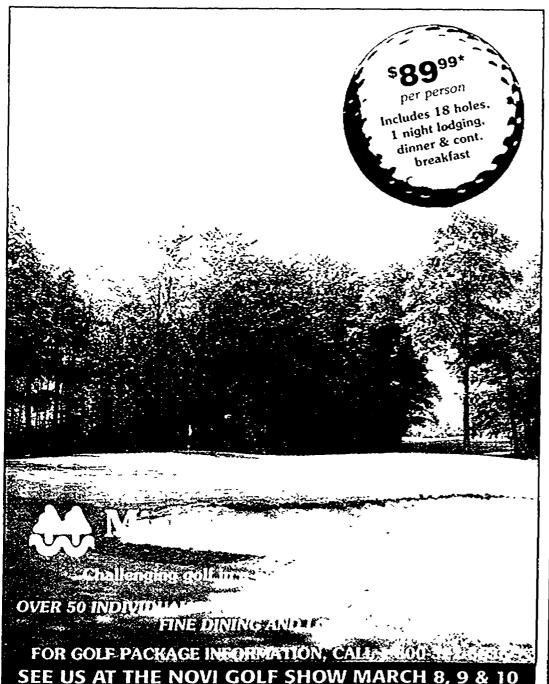

The Institute is located at 1221 N. Woodward Ave., Bloomfield Hills, Michigan. Museum admission is $5 for adults and $4 for children 3-17 and senior citizens 65 and older. Children under 3 are admitted free.

RIGHT IN TUNE— The science and technology of music and sound is presented with musical pipes, drums and other hands-on activities in "What Makes Music?"

Planetarium shows are an additional $1 and Lasera shows an additional $2.

Cranbrook Institute of Science is open Monday through Thursday from 10 a.m. 5 p.m., Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. - 10 p.m., and Sunday from 1 - 5 p.m. Call 810-645-3200 for more information.

OUR TOWN - NORTHVILLE

The famed Northville Downs offers live, fast-paced harness racing action from October-March.

About this book

Our Town, published by The Northville Record, provides a guide to the many attractions and events in the Northville community throughout the year. We hope it proves a useful planning tool for residents and visitors who want to spend time in our town.

Our Town includes a rundown of community points of interest; information on the major events that will take place in 1996; lists of local governmental officials; a directory of public school offices and buildings; commonly used phone numbers and addresses; maps showing voting precincts for school and general elections; addresses of churches non-public schools; and a lot of informative advertising from local retailers and businesses.

Additional copies of Our Town are available from the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, 195 S. Main, from downtown merchants and at the office of The Northville Record, 104 W. Main.

For more information about the directory or The Northville Record, call 349-1700 or stop by our office during regular business hours. Visitor or resident, we hope you enjoy the natural beauty and historic charm of Northville and Northville Township.

Stop by for a free hot fresh slice anytime! And don't forget our muffins, cookies, gift baskets and gift certificates! The Northville community is a very special place, full of historic sites, modern services and unique features. On behalf of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, I'd like to extend a warm welcome and invite you to explore all the fascination and fun our city and our township have to offer.

The Chamber is a communitywide organization of business owners and operators who are committed to making the area a better place to visit, live and work.

The Chamber provides several programs for the business community and sponsors informative activities designed to benefit professionals, small business owners and managers. Chamber-organized events help members with networking, understanding legislative issues, advertising, recycling, goal setting, effective business communication and other professional areas of interest.

Special breakfast and evening activities are also offered to provide members with a wide range of opportunities to learn, socialize, and interactive with other merchants.

The Chamber initiates a number of useful information gathering projects, such as local demographic studies and listings of clubs, organizations, apartments, Realtors, doctors, dentists, schools and restaurants.

The Chamber also offers sponsorship of several significant community events, including:

- Taste of Northville Business Showcase: An opportunity for businesses, restaurants and non-profit groups to showcase their products and services. This year, the Expo will take place March 12 at Northville Community Center, 303 W. Main.
- Farmer's Market: Area families set up outdoor booths and sell fresh produce, plants, baked items and poultry every Thursday from May through October.
- Art in the Sun: A fine arts/crafts event. This year, Art in the Sun takes place June 22-23 throughout the downtown area.
- Golf Outing: The Chamber invites the community to participate in a day of golf and camaraderie on June 27
- Victorian Festival: One of the most popular and comprehensive of the Chamber's activities, this grand event is a celebration of Northville's past. The whole community comes together during the three-day festival to commemorate its unique heritage. This year, the Victorian Festival will take place Sept. 13-15.

Colorful attire and turn-of-the-century games and entertainment will send Downtown Northville back in time and provide a weekend of old-fashioned family fun.

The events get under way on Friday, Sept. 13, with a Victorian parade through the city's historic district. The Victorian homes and tree-lined streets of the community are the perfect setting for a return to the romantic era of yesteryear.

On Saturday, children's activities, 19th century medicine shows, a Victorian melodrama, street entertainment, food booths and a romantic candlelight Victorian ball are part of the festivities.

Sunday activities include a special family picnic at historic Mill Race Village.

All three days of the Festival feature a spectacular art show and sale, sponsored by the Northville Arts Commission.

One of the special aspects of the Northville Victorian Festival is its communitywide involvement. Non-profit groups from nearly every organization, representatives of Northville schools, merchants who dress in period costume and a veritable army of volunteers participate in making the event a successful, entertaining and informative celebration of a bygone time.

• Christmas Walk: The Chamber sponsors this popular activity the Sunday before Thanksgiving, which this year is Nov. 24. Northville comes alive with lights, decorated windows and special shopping hours during this very special event.

The Northville Community Chamber of Commerce is proud to sponsor the activities and workshops that help make our community a such a great place to live and work.

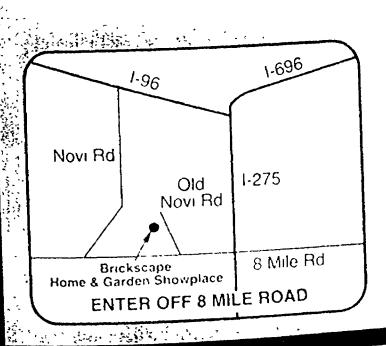

For more information on the Chamber or community events, please call 349-7640.

THINGS TO DO

The Northville community may be small but our town offers plenty of sites to see and things to do.

Throughout this book you'll find descriptions of some of the annual events that attract local residents and out-of-town visitors. Here's a rundown of a few of our most popular ongoing attractions.

DOWNTOWN

The central business district serves as the heart of the Northville community. Main Street, Center Street and the surrounding area are home to many unique retail and specialty stores: clothing, antiques, arts and crafts, gourmet food shops, cappuccino cafes and fine restaurants.

MainCentre, a retail and apartment development on the southwest corner of Main and Center streets, houses a variety of shops and eateries.

Shopping, browsing or just spending time in downtown Northville provides a fresh, relaxed alternative to the crowded malls. The stores and restaurants help the community carve out its own special niche, drawing regular visitors from around Michigan, Ohio and Ontario.

In addition to its business establishments, downtown Northville also serves as the location for many community events throughout the year. Its scenic features and abundance of benches make it a perfect place for a casual stroll at any time. Explore it for yourself.

MILL RACE VILLAGE

If you walk east of the Main Street business district and turn north onto Griswold you'll find yourself at Mill Race Historical Village, a favorite attraction of our town.

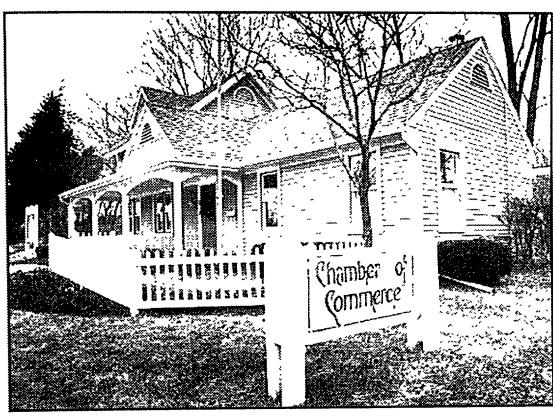

The village is a gathering place for historic buildings from the area, relocated and restored into a living museum. Most buildings are authentic and were uprooted from their foundations and moved to the village compound.

This ongoing project is the major undertaking of the Northville Historical Society, which sponsors guided tours on Sunday afternoons during the spring, summer and fall. Be sure to see the Cady Inn restoration and the interurban station.

The society opens the village for many commu-

THINGS TO DO

Continued from 10 nity functions and rents it to private parties as well. For information on the Village or the society, call 348-1845.

THE FORMER FORD PLANT

At the east end of Main Street the road bends to the south before becoming Northville Road. Just before the bend is a building which used to be the Northville Ford Valve Plant — a structure which holds a special place in Northville history.

The former "village industry" plant, built by Henry Ford, was recently purchased by the industrial firm of R&D Enterprises.

R&D now occupies the building and uses it as a site for the manufacture of heat exchangers for the marine industry. Other business also operate out of the facility.

The site also provides a scenic community focal point that includes a water wheel which once provided some of the plant's power.

Another attraction is the waterfowl – countless ducks and geese that have become a symbol of the city.

The building also has architectural significance as one of the creations of Louis Kahn, the late Estonian-born American architect.

THE WELL

Just east of the plant on South Main you'll find the famous Northville Well. Once upon a time, the well was spring-fed and its silver spring water gained fame for its restorative properties.

The spring dried up long ago, but the well still delivers fresh, delicious water – and long-timers say it tastes as good as ever. (Don't let anyone tell you the well is hooked up to the city water system. That was true for a few brief periods when the well had to be re-drilled, but not now.)

TOWN SQUARE PARK

This little urban park sits off the south side of Main Street east of Center. Its dominant feature is a bandshell which was a major community project a few years past.

Now the park hosts a variety of events, but it's most famous for free Friday evening music concerts held throughout the summer.

LIVE THEATER

You won't find many communities this size that boast a functioning live theater, but Northville has the Marquis.

On Main Street in the heart of downtown, this restored former movie house now offers plays and musicals throughout the year, geared to both adults and children. For more information, call 349-8110.

The Marquis is only the start of Northville's stage offerings, however. The Northville Players stage productions in winter and at the Victorian Festival in late summer (453-0891); Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall presents regular murder mystery dinners at its 108 E. Main Street restaurant and full theatrical productions at its Samuel H. Little Theater next door (349-0522).

Even the Plymouth Theatre Guild (349-7110) makes its home here, in the Water Tower Theater on the campus of Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital.

NORTHVILLE DOWNS

Professional harness racing comes to Northville for six months of the year at Northville Downs, on the northeast corner of Center Street (Sheldon Road) and Seven Mile.

The usual schedule of racing is October through March, and now year-round simulcast dates bring the action from other tracks to the Downs. The track runs both evening and matinee programs. Call 349-1000 for more information.

HINES PARK

The Edward Hines Park system runs throughout much of Wayne County but it starts (or ends) in Northville. Running along scenic Hines Drive, the park offers favorite spots for kite-flying, Frisbee-throwing, bike-riding, ball-playing, picnicking or just relaxing during most of the year. When the snow flies, you'll see plenty of sledders and crosscountry skiers.

CIDER MILLS

Come fall, Northville goes cidering with two local mills producing their own fresh, fruity beverages. Parmenter's, on Baseline east of Center, and Foreman's, on Seven Mile west of Beck, each have their following.

Doughnuts and other apple goodies are also available, of course, and Parmenter's even offers its own wine. For more information, call Foreman's at 349-1256 or Parmenter's at 349-3181.

MAYBURY STATE PARK

Some visitors seem surprised that Northville Township houses a state park. Once a sanatorium for tuberculosis patients, Maybury now serves as a wonderful community resource.

Horseback riding, trails for biking and crosscountry skiing, picnic areas and the popular children's petting farm lead the list of attractions. But it's best to explore the many features of the park for yourself.

Enter off Eight Mile west of Beck or Beck south of Eight Mile.

For information, call 347-1088.

CREAM CHEESE DOESN'T MAKE IT A BAGEL.

At Chesapeake Bagel Bakery, we know the only way to make a real bagel is to make it fresh from scratch at each location every day.

Then authentically kettle-boil and oven-bake it to perfection. It's a shame more so-called bagel places don't know that.

BANDSHELL CONCERTS

Visitors to downtown Northville can enjoy free musical concerts every Friday evening at 7:30 throughout the summer, as the Northville Arts Commission presents live outdoor events at the bandshell in Town Square Park, just off the south side of Main Street between Center and Church streets. The music is quality entertainment provided by top-notch local bands and ensembles. Patrons can just sit and relax or, if the spirit moves them, get up and take a turn or two around the area in front of the pavilion. For a schedule or other information, call 349-6104.

PARKS, DISTRICT COURT

COMMUNITY PARKS

The Northville Parks and Recreation Department offers a variety of programs and services. It is jointly funded by the City and Township of Northville and the Parks & Recreation Commission governs its activities.

Traci Johnson Sincock is the director of the Parks & Recreation Department. The department's main office is located in the Community Center building at 303 W. Main St., 349-0203. Regular business hours are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Thirteen public parks of varying sizes and available activities are located in the Northville community. The two biggest are:

- Fish Hatchery Park, located on Seven Mile between Rodgers and Clement Roads.
- Northville Community Park, located on Beck between Five and Six Mile Roads.

DISTRICT COURT

The jurisdiction of Michigan's 35th District Court includes the cities and township of Northville and Plymouth and the Township of Canton. Two judges preside at the court, which is located at 660 Plymouth Road in Plymouth Township, (313) 459-4740.

The current judges are:

- Hon. John E. MacDonald, term ends Dec. 31, 1996.
- Hon. Ronald W. Lowe, term ends Dec. 31, 2000.

The court administrator is Marion Belding.

FOLK & BLUEGRASS FESTIVAL

The Northville Folk and Bluegrass Festival, an important local happening for two decades, will feature the same tried-and-true elements that have made the event such a huge successover the years: great music, fellowship, refreshments, and, above all, a good cause. The Gitfiddler music store organizes this daylong celebration to raise funds for Huntington's disease research. The event features a wide variety of acoustic music, including folk bluegrass and children's performances. Music lovers come to information call Tom at 349-9420.

Ford Field on Hutton at Dunlap to hear the sounds, enjoy the atmosphere and help fight Huntington's. All proceeds go to battle the devastating illness, which killed folk music great Woody Guthrie and organizer Tom Rice's sister Donna Jarski, to whom the festival is dedicated. Count on an emotional and stirring climax when the performers gather for Guthrie's "This Land is Your Land." Be sure to bring your blanket, your cooler and your friends. For more

VICTORIAN FESTIVAL & ART MARKET

Northville's Victorian Festival has evolved into the community's largest single event and one of the most eagerly-awaited activities in the Metro area. The Northville Community Chamber of Commerce sponsors the Festival, but everybody gets into the act. Residents, school representatives and students, local governmental leaders, the Northville Historical Society, and everybody else who enjoys dressing up, eating great food and being entertained. For three days, Northville returns to the era which gave our town its start – an era still evident in the charming downtown shops and beautifully renovated homes. Among the major events are a Friday evening parade, a Saturday night costume ball and a Sunday afternoon picnic. Throw in novelty acts, strolling musicians and character actors and a great time's guaranteed for all. In conjunction with the festival is the Northville Arts Commission Art Market, a juried fine art street show. This is the ultimate "don't miss" event of the year. For information, call the Chamber of Commerce, 349-7640, or the Arts Commission, 349-6104.

First Baptist Church

Randolph Street between N. Wing & High Streets (810) 348-1020

Where everybody is somebody, and Jesus is Lord!

Where everybody is a somebody...

We believe that God deeply values all of us, whether you're married, single or divorced. You truly matter to us, because you matter to God. We don't just want to be a cold, unfriendly church that doesn't care about you, or just wants your money. We want to care about you, we want to know your name... and it is our heartfelt desire that you join us, as we seek to know and to serve Jesus Christ!

And Jesus is Lord...

We believe that we live in a world that is "crying for answers," and we believe that the only answer is Jesus Christ! Our programs, our Pastor's messages, our Bible studies and our small care groups will constantly reflect this theme. Join us as we follow Jesus Christ on this adventure we call life!!

An Open Letter...

From: Casterline Funeral Home, Inc.

To: The Families We Serve

There is a major change going on within our industry today as more and more emphasis is being placed on funeral planning ahead of time instead of waiting until the time of passing to make arrangements. Although this concept is currently being embraced by hundreds of thousands of people nationwide, we have been made increasingly aware of your desire to examine such information without being exposed to telephone solicitors salesmen knocking on your door unannounced.

We respect your privacy. We do, however, feel it is very important for all our community members to be aware of the benefits that funeral planning can give you and your loved ones.

We are not going to call you. We are not going to come knocking on your door. We will, however, be happy to share with you the advantages and costs of funeral planning. We hope to hear from you soon.

Sincerely,

Ray J. Casterline Casterline Funeral Home, Inc.
