Parade set for Monday

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

The Northville Memorial Day parade scheduled for Monday, May 27, promises to be bigger and better than ever, and is expected to line the streets with city residents and guests.

Organizer Rebecca Yarbrough says approximately 25 units will participate in the parade, including color guards, marchers and veterans groups.

VFW Post 4012 is sponsoring the event this year. The parade is set for 10 a.m. and will last 30-45 minutes. This year's Grand Marshall is an empty carriage honoring all of the MIAs from all the wars dating back from WWI through present day, Yarbrough said.

"We're the first parade to ever honor the MIAs this way," she said. "The carriage will be empty and the POW/MIA logo will be on the sides of the carriage."

The guest speaker for the ceremony will be Sue Scott, who is the past chairperson of the board for the National League of Families, and is a sister of a serviceman missing in action. Rev. Dr. Douglas Vernon of First United Methodist Church of Northville will be giving the invocation

Also being honored during the parade and ceremony is Cabbie Myers, who will be marching in his 51st consecutive Northville Memorial Day parade. He will be calling cadence for VFW Post 4012.

Other ceremony participants are: VFW District 4 Commander Michael Patrick and color guard; VFW District 4 Ladies Auxiliary President Pat Corpe; VFW 4012 and Ladies Auxiliary; American Legion post 147 and Auxiliary; Dennis Hubert VFW Post 345; Northville High School Band, Northville City and Township Police; Michigan State Police; 35th District Court Judge John MacDonald; Northville Mayor Chris Johnson; Daisy Troop 923; Brownie Troop 975; Junior Girl Scout Troop 331; Betty Flanders; and J.R. Yarbrough

The parade will stop at the bridge at Rural Hill for a ceremony during which a memorial wreath will be tossed into the creek below.

Yarbrough wants to put the word out that people following the parade should avoid disrupting the ceremony at the bridge.

Bond request: $61 million

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

After two long years, several committees, and plenty of study, the Northville Public School District will finally let the voters decide whether to approve a $61 million bond issue and $1.9 million in enhancement millage.

The board unanimously approved the bond push Monday. District Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski explained that after two years of painstaking research by various citizens committees it is time for the district to "move ahead" for the future of Northville's children.

"We've studied this issue all that we can, and now we need to act, we need to set the direction for the future of the high school and the district," he said. "At this juncture we need the school board to formally support the recommendations and ask for voter approval."

According to Rezmierski, no date has been officially set for the election. If everything falls into place, he explained, the issues should go before voters sometime this fall.

In order for the district to take advantage of the last year of allowable enhancement millage, they must get voter approval before October. The enhancement millage is a one-time-only levy allowable under Proposal A.

Schools make grade in state ratings test

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

Even though five of the eight Northville public schools have been given great marks by the State Board of Education, Northville school officials aren't entirely satisfied with the results.

Amerman, Moraine and Silver Springs elementary schools and Cooke and Meads Mill middle schools were five of 151 schools in the state that received summary accreditation status last week. That means the schools met or exceeded the state's standards in core curriculum, Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) test scores and school improvement goals.

While many school districts would sell their souls to have one school receive the top accreditation status, Northville district officials aren't overly impressed with the rating because they are tied to MEAP results.

According to Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski, accreditation is not an in-depth or a credible way to properly rate the quality of education at a given school.

"It is important that teachers and parents assess what we are doing," Rezmierski said. "The litmus test should be more than that one year snapshot in time. We should be following how we are doing in educating kids throughout the process.

> "I'm happy with the results but I don't want to put all of my eggs in one basket."
> –Leonard Rezmierski
> Northville school superintendent

"I'm happy with the results but I don't want to put all of my eggs in one basket," he added. "I want to ensure that our schools are conducive to good learning. Our first job is everyday for every kid."

Winchester elementary school and Northville High School received "interim" status, which means the schools met some but not all of the standards put forth by the state. Thornton Creek Elementary School received a "no status" rating because it has only been open for two school years and does not have three years of MEAP scores

Unaccredited schools could lose about 5 percent of their state

Baja says she's hopeful enough to run again

Township Supervisor Karen Baja will run for trustee.

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

November 1992 was a time of hope for Karen Baja.

The public had just vaulted Northville Township's new supervisor into her job with 78 percent of the vote. Accompanied by six new faces on the board of trustees, optimism about the next four years was in the air.

The rosy glow faded within a couple of months, however, as a pattern took hold that remains to this day: a divided board that has fallen in on itself where rancorous emotion sometimes takes over the governmental decision-making process

The presence of that unpleasant picture is why Baja won't be back as supervisor this time around. Ironically, it's the hoped-for absence of it in the future that she says makes her want to be back as a trustee come November

"This had become a cancer within the township," Baja said this week "There was no known cure and it needed to be surgically removed. That's what I hope will happen in this election "

Northville Township's supervisor surprised many last week when she announced her plans for this summer's race for the seven open seats on the township board of trustees. In an unusual move, Baja will not seek reelection as supervisor but instead is now one of five Republican candidates on the Aug 6 primary ballot who are competing for the board's four trustee seats.

The choice was a tough one, Baja said this week, but was based on her best estimate of what Northville Township needs over the next four years and her desire to continue to contribute to her community.

Mega theater complex draws protests at meeting

Residents go to Livonia to voice objections

Developers May 14 gave Livonia residents a preview of a proposed 20-screen cinema complex.

But for the tough audience at the public hearings on the Paragon Centre Entertainment Campus, the project wasn't a smash hit.

With concerns that included increased traffic congestion, the fear of added crime, the multiplex's effect on other cinemas and the long-term viability of the theaters, residents of Livonia and neighboring Northville Township expressed skepticism about the Paragon Centre.

Livonia Planning Commission members voiced similar reservations. The commission was expected to take up the project, which requires a zoning waiver, at its study session May 21.

The main attraction of the $25 million Paragon Centre would be a 20-theater, 4,056-seat AMC Theatres movie complex. There would also be two full-service restaurants, with space set aside for a third restaurant and 43,000 square feet of retail space. The project is planned for just over 35 acres of land on the east side of Haggerty Road, north of Seven Mile.

"We feel this is not compatible with existing land uses in that area," said Karen Woodside, chair of the Northville Township Planning Commission.

Residents in the nearby WindRidge subdivision, Woodside said, are worried about added traffic and feel the project's proposed buffer from their neighborhood isn't adequate.

"We are concerned about another big-box building."

"Something is going to go in there," said Gail Kreichelt, a WindRidge resident. "I just don't think it should be a movie theater."

"Who else are you going to drive out of business in this town?" asked Livonia resident Ray Tent, a former planning commissioner. Tent is concerned the movie-theater market is saturated and a new multiplex would hurt other theaters.

Developer Gary Jonna of The Jonna Companies characterized the Paragon Centre as an easy-access, pedestrian-friendly complex that would offer state-of-the-art dining and movie-viewing and plenty of green space.

The developer, Pentagon Properties Limited Partnership, has agreed to pay for road improvements, Jonna said. These include a new right-turn lane on westbound Seven Mile, right-turn areas next to the theater on Haggerty, and an extension of a center left-turn lane on Haggerty, he said.

Commissioner James McCann said development of the site is inevitable and "it's just a question of what kind."

In response, John Garabelli, another WindRidge resident, said he'd rather see an office complex there.

The area in question is zoned for commercial use. Restaurants and movie theaters require a waiver in such a district.

Fourth committee firms up plans

Celebrate Northville is the not-for-profit organization responsible for coordinating the festivities for Independence Day.

The Northville Fourth of July parade tradition is more than 125 years old, and will begin at 10 a m on July 4. More than 10,000 peo ple attended last year's parade.

Following the parade, traditional activities will take place at Mill Race Historical Village where there will be exciting events for people of all ages celebrating the history of Northville.

Simultaneously, across the street, Celebrate Northville will also hold its second annual car show featuring classic cars at the R&D Enterprises building (formerly the old Ford Plant). This is historically notable this year as the theme is the 100th anniversary of the automobile.

A second annual pre-fireworks concert is planned at the Beck Road park featuring patriotic music.

The day will end with the Northville fireworks show at dusk, again displayed by the Zambelli Fireworks Co. (the company that does the J.L. Hudson fireworks display in Detroit), on the grounds of the BFI resource management center, Six Mile and Napier roads. Last year more than 40,000 people enjoyed the return of the fireworks show.

New city budget carries lower millage

0By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

The Northville City Council formally adopted its budget for fiscal year 1996/97 this week, and at the same time lowered the city's millage rate.

Officials have budgeted $4.7 million in revenues and expenditures for the year, and despite a slight decrease in revenues, city officials managed to reduce projected expenditures by more than 4 percent over last year's budget.

At the same time officials were also able to drop the city's millage rate to 12.89 mills, meaning taxpayers should see a slight decrease in their property taxes over the next year.

Here's a quick look at how the city's general fund budget shaped up:

On the revenue side, property tax represents the primary source of general fund revenue – this year about 69.3 percent – and is based on millage. The maximum millage rate for Northville in fiscal year 1996/97 was 15.41 mills – that's the highest it could be set this year by law.

The 12.89 millage rate represents $209.013 per mill, so the amount of money the city will take into its general fund from property taxes is the product of $209.013 times 12.89 mills, or $2.7 million. An additional 2.84 mills will be assessed property owners for the city's street repair debt, and 0.36 mill for the Randolph Drain debt. Both of those debts were approved by voters.

On the expenditure side, city officials were able to pare down costs but did not sacrifice city services in the process. Here's how the major departments plan to spend revenue.

• City Administration – This portion of the budget includes the city council, city manager, elections, city attorney, city clerk, finance and computer, and taxation department. Of those departments, only the city council and elections budgets showed an increase over the current budget year at 3.9 percent and 9.8 percent, respectively. The proposed expenditures budgeted for city administration are $838,020, a 3.9 percent decrease.

•Buildings and Grounds – This department's budget is responsible for the operations and maintenance of the Rural Hill and Oakwood cemeteries, along with the maintenance and utilities for city hall, Mill Race Village, and a number of city-owned buildings and properties. The proposed budget is $315,562, a 0.7 percent increase from the current year budget.

• Police Department – The budget for the police department is the largest of all city departments and includes salaries, police patrol, investigations, court appearances, training, civic events, dispatch and record keeping, patrol car maintenance, administration, contracted services, emergency preparedness, and the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) program. The projected budget for the department is $1,562,560, a 9.8 percent increase over the current budget.

• Fire Department – The focus of the proposed Fire Department budget, according to Fire Chief Jim Allen, is to anticipate the expansion of the fire inspection program, improve training, add equipment and manpower, and improve the overall quality of fire and emergency medical service to the community. The projected budget is $188,124, an increase of 5.4 percent from the current amount.

• Department of Public Works – The DPW budget will remain at about the same level of the current budget, only increasing some 2.8 percent to $409,000. DPW funds will pay for engineering services, parking system maintenance, equipment maintenance and rental, service for civic events, and city electrical costs.

• Debt Service – This budget reflects the payment of principal and interest for bonds and notes issued by the city over several years, according to Word. The proposed budget shows a decrease of 2.7 percent at $583,825.

In all, city officials managed to reduce total expenditures by 2.5 percent, to $4.7 million and, with the fund balance calculated into the equation, the total budget dropped by 4.3 percent.

To make additional room in the budget, city officials removed the Mill Race Village parking lot paving project from the public improvements and building and grounds budgets. Northville must comply with a court order to complete the parking lot paving by October, 1997, and officials stated that the project will be included in the next budget year.

Cooke sixth graders pitching in to help city

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

Sixth grade students at Cooke Middle School are lending a helping hand to the City of Northville and at the same time taking away a valuable educational experience.

The students selected the city's Oakwood Cemetery, located on Cady Street, as their service learning project. Service Learning Coordinator Jan Purtell and Cooke teachers have created and designed curriculum components that will apply skills learned in the classroom toward the beautification of the cemetery.

Purtell and Cooke teacher Pat Stebbins pitched the project to the Northville City Council this week, seeking permission to move forward with their planned improvements for the cemetery.

According to Purtell the project will unite students, parents, teachers, local business members and service organizations in one community effort.

"The students are doing this project as a service to the community and as a practical way to apply what they learn in the classroom," Purtell explained.

That typifies the service learning process, she continued. The students will utilize math skills in finding area, perimeter and other measurements of the cemetery. Science skills will help students understand different soil types and learn about the environment of the cemetery, and the data found on gravestones will help students investigate Northville history for social studies class.

"Teachers expect this to be an ongoing project that begins this spring and will be carried on for several years," Purtell said. The first phase of the project will include painting the fence and flagpole, and students will be planting trees, shrubs and flowers.

Plenty of help will come from the community as well, Purtell added. Initial information was provided by Dave and Sandy Stamm of First Impressions Landscaping, and the project has received donations from the City of Northville, Northville Mothers' Club, the Northville branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association, the Department of Natural Resources, Northville Farmers' Market, and Brookside Hardware.

Additional support is being provided by the Learn and Serve Michigan grant awarded to the Northville Public School District.

According to City Manager Gary Word, Fire Chief Jim Allen and Public Works Director Jim Gallogly have met with teachers and students.

"Components of this proposed project which involve actual labor in the cemetery have been designed to improve the appearance and condition of the cemetery without creating future maintenance demands for the city," Word said.

The students began their work on the project Wednesday and hope to have most of the necessary work completed by Memorial Day weekend. The second and third phases of the project will be completed in the next two years.

New city budget carries lower millage

0By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

The Northville City Council formally adopted its budget for fiscal year 1996/97 this week, and at the same time lowered the city's millage rate.

Officials have budgeted $4.7 million in revenues and expenditures for the year, and despite a slight decrease in revenues, city officials managed to reduce projected expenditures by more than 4 percent over last year's budget.

At the same time officials were also able to drop the city's millage rate to 12.89 mills, meaning taxpayers should see a slight decrease in their property taxes over the next year.

Here's a quick look at how the city's general fund budget shaped up:

On the revenue side, property tax represents the primary source of general fund revenue – this year about 69.3 percent – and is based on millage. The maximum millage rate for Northville in fiscal year 1996/97 was 15.41 mills – that's the highest it could be set this year by law.

The 12.89 millage rate represents $209.013 per mill, so the amount of money the city will take into its general fund from property taxes is the product of $209.013 times 12.89 mills, or $2.7 million. An additional 2.84 mills will be assessed property owners for the city's street repair debt, and 0.36 mill for the Randolph Drain debt. Both of those debts were approved by voters.

On the expenditure side, city officials were able to pare down costs but did not sacrifice city services in the process. Here's how the major departments plan to spend revenue.

• City Administration – This portion of the budget includes the city council, city manager, elections, city attorney, city clerk, finance and computer, and taxation department. Of those departments, only the city council and elections budgets showed an increase over the current budget year at 3.9 percent and 9.8 percent, respectively. The proposed expenditures budgeted for city administration are $838,020, a 3.9 percent decrease.

•Buildings and Grounds – This department's budget is responsible for the operations and maintenance of the Rural Hill and Oakwood cemeteries, along with the maintenance and utilities for city hall, Mill Race Village, and a number of city-owned buildings and properties. The proposed budget is $315,562, a 0.7 percent increase from the current year budget.

• Police Department – The budget for the police department is the largest of all city departments and includes salaries, police patrol, investigations, court appearances, training, civic events, dispatch and record keeping, patrol car maintenance, administration, contracted services, emergency preparedness, and the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) program. The projected budget for the department is $1,562,560, a 9.8 percent increase over the current budget.

• Fire Department – The focus of the proposed Fire Department budget, according to Fire Chief Jim Allen, is to anticipate the expansion of the fire inspection program, improve training, add equipment and manpower, and improve the overall quality of fire and emergency medical service to the community. The projected budget is $188,124, an increase of 5.4 percent from the current amount.

• Department of Public Works – The DPW budget will remain at about the same level of the current budget, only increasing some 2.8 percent to $409,000. DPW funds will pay for engineering services, parking system maintenance, equipment maintenance and rental, service for civic events, and city electrical costs.

• Debt Service – This budget reflects the payment of principal and interest for bonds and notes issued by the city over several years, according to Word. The proposed budget shows a decrease of 2.7 percent at $583,825.

In all, city officials managed to reduce total expenditures by 2.5 percent, to $4.7 million and, with the fund balance calculated into the equation, the total budget dropped by 4.3 percent.

To make additional room in the budget, city officials removed the Mill Race Village parking lot paving project from the public improvements and building and grounds budgets. Northville must comply with a court order to complete the parking lot paving by October, 1997, and officials stated that the project will be included in the next budget year.

Police News

Teen popped for alleged pot possession in township

A West Bloomfield teenager was arrested for possession of marijuana in Northville Township early Monday morning.

The reporting officer in the case said he saw a 1995 Honda Accord with only one working headlight heading east on Eight Mile near Meadowbrook Road at about 1:30 a.m. on May 20. Inside were a 21-year-old Novi woman and two teenage boys from West Bloomfield, one age 16 and the driver, age 17.

The driver could not produce a license, police said, saying that he had lost it. He was arrested for not having it while driving and the Accord was searched, during which the officer alleged that he found a small plastic baggie of marijuana inside the armrest console. The boy admitted it was his, the officer said.

He was taken to police headquarters and booked, then released on bond. The boy faces a June 10 court hearing.

TOOLS AND POOL: A Redford man accused a township teen of stealing some of his tools last week.

The man, 28, was installing telephone wires at the Highland Lakes clubhouse on May 14. He told police he left his open tool box in the billiard room for about 45 minutes and when he returned, a test kit worth $250 was missing.

A 17-year-old youth and another person had signed up to use the room to play pool during the time the items were taken, according to police, but when contacted the teen denied any involvement in the theft.

DRUNK DRIVING: A Farmington Hills man on May 14 was one of six people arrested in the last 10 days in Northville Township for drunk driving.

The reporting officer in the case said he saw a car straddling traffic lines while driving east on Seven Mile at about 2:15 a.m. that morning. When stopped, the driver, 24, displayed signs of intoxication but admitted to having only "a couple" of drinks that evening.

The man failed field sobriety tests and was taken into custody. Breath testing later allegedly showed him to have a blood alcohol level of .18 percent, nearly twice the legal limit of .10 percent. The man was held until he sobered up, then released on bond with a court hearing date.

JIMMY SCRATCHED: A Weatherfield Drive man told police that someone vandalized his 1991 GMC Jimmy at about 3 a.m. Friday morning.

The man, 43, said he was awakened by noise outside at that hour and found scratches on the left side of the GMC and tire marks on his lawn. Damage is estimated at $200.

VANDALS ON THE EDGE: Scofflaws smashed windows at two homes on Edgewater Street during the night of May 17-18.

In one case, a homeowner told police that a window in his house had been broken and a pipe was lying in front of the window outside. Damage is estimated at $500.

A second man told police that unknown persons broke a window in his family room with a small rock, causing $200 in damage.

CELL PHONE SWIPED: A Ravina Lane homeowner said that someone took her cellular telephone sometime between May 3-17. The phone was taken out of the woman's 1996 Cadillac El Dorado but she isn't sure where or when.

SUSPECT FLEES: Township police arrested a fleeing man from Meijer one week ago, charging him with shoplifting.

Store detectives said they saw the man, 35, take a personal organizer worth $40 and try to leave Meijer without paying for it. He left in a hurry, in fact, allegedly sprinting across the store's parking lot and across Haggerty Road into a vacant field just north of Target.

The man obeyed police instructions to submit to arrest when they arrived, but claimed under questioning that he hadn't stolen anything. When asked why he was running, the Detroit resident claimed that two other men were chasing him.The reporting officer in the case said he checked the field and found the organizer sticking out from under a rock. The man was taken to police headquarters, booked and then released on bond. He faces a court hearing on June 6.

COMPUTERS STOLEN: Someone stole $2,700 worth of computer equipment from a Northville Township business earlier this month.

A supervisor at the Six Mile and Northville business said that items were taken sometime during May 10-13. Police said they found no signs of forced entry.

MALICIOUS MISCHIEF: The Northville Police Department are investigating several malicious destruction of property cases.

On May 7 a 61-year-old Northville woman reported her car damaged by vandals in the parking lot of Shopping Center Market, 425 N. Center Street.

According to police, the woman went into the store and when she returned, she noticed scratches on the trunk and quarter panel of her 1996 Buick Century. No suspects have been identified and the estimated damage is $500.

On May 8 a 73-year-old Northville man reported that vandals had damaged his home on Allen Drive.

Police report that the man discovered his aluminum siding had been stained with an unknown substance, and that the damage may have been done by neighborhood kids. The estimated damage is $100.

On May 9, a 44-year-old Novi woman discovered her car had been vandalized in the Northville High School parking lot.

The woman told police she had parked her 1996 Chevy Blazer in the staff lot and when she returned she found several scratches along the driver-side door.

Police are still investigating. The estimated damage is $200.

On May 10 a 48-year-old Amerman Elementary School teacher reported her car had been the victim of vandals.

The woman said she parked her 1995 Ford Windstar in the parking lot and discovered several scratches along the driver-side door.

The damage has been estimated at $100.

STEALING HOME: A 16-year-old Northville High School student reported the theft of baseball equipment, May 7.

Police stated that the boy had left an equipment bag full of baseball gear in the school gym after baseball practice.

When he returned the next day he said the equipment was missing.

No suspects have been identified and the cost of the equipment is estimated at $780.

If you have any information about these or any other illegal incidents please contact Northville City police at 349-1234 or Northville Township police at 349-9400.

Gitfiddler opens in new location

By LEE SNIDER
Editor

Pedestrians out in the vicinity of Center and Dunlap are liable to hear the wandering strains of an orchestra tuning up before a performance.

The Gitfiddler music store is now open for business in its new location in the 1885 stone building that most recently housed the Open Door Christian Church.

The store is home to a variety of operations, including 15 freshly renovated lesson studios.

"The studios are bigger and have sound proofing and air conditioning," Gitfiddler owner Tom Rice said. "I'd like to publicly thank all the people through the years who put up with us at our old location (302 E. Main). Thank you for your patronage."

Rice purchased the venerable church building in March of this year and has moved both his retail business and his large music teaching school there. He also plans to offer art lessons out of the building, now known as the Northville Academy of Music and Art.

A restaurant and music club, The Raven, is slated to open in June or July.

Rice picked up 1,000 additional square feet of space for his retail operation by moving to the Center Street facility.

He is permitting the Open Door congregation to continue holding Sunday services in the sanctuary but that will end soon.

Work continues on renovations to the kitchen that the The Raven restaurant will use. The building has a large kitchen left over from when The Drawbridge restaurant did business there.

Rice said he set himself a budget of $100,000 for renovations, but that amount turned out to be a serious underestimate.

"Because of all the code violations, we'll be well over twice that," he said.

To help raise funds to pay for the overage, Rice plans to hold a series of special concerts in June. Performers and dates have not been set.

The sanctuary will be used as the concert hall, but the stunning stained glass windows and wood vaulted ceiling will not be removed.

The restaurant will hold extended hours, offering food and drinks even when no performance is taking place.

Plans for a wine tasting room did not materialize, but beer, wine and liquor will all be available.

> "We're going to give something to the community that will be very rich."
> –Tom Rice
> Gitfiddler music store owner

Rice said he plans to introduce a patron's program by which people making donations can get discounts for concert admissions.

"We're going to give something to the community that will be very rich," Rice said. "We're counting on the community for support."

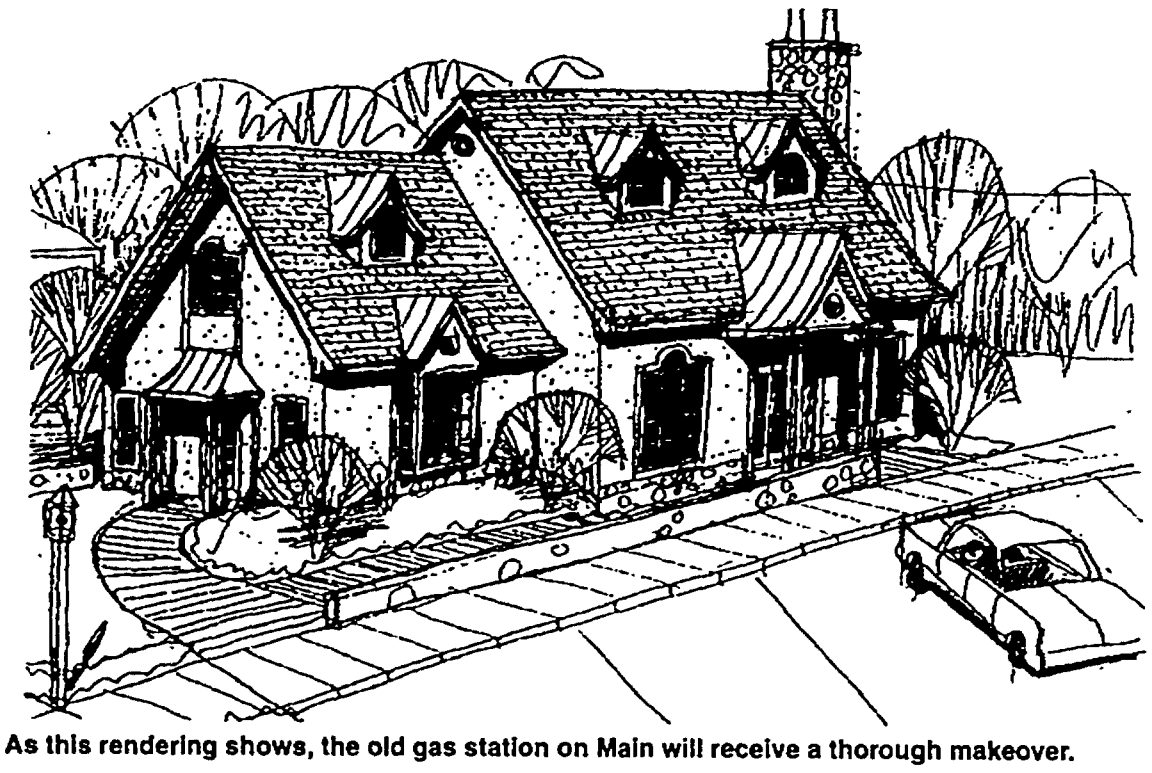
Housing boom continues on year

Michigan 1996 housing project starts were up 9.4 percent from 1995 year-to-date totals through the month of March, and March housing project starts were up 30.6 percent from February.

"The first quarter of 1996 was a healthy quarter," commented Jerel Konwinski, president of the Michigan Association of Home Builders. "We remain optimistic about the second quarter. There will be many pressures on that quarter due in part to lumber prices, but demand for housing is high and continues to increase." Fixed-rate mortgages continued to climb slightly to 7.62 percent in March from 7.32 percent in February, which is still well below the rates of a year ago. Lumber prices for 1,000 board feet of framing lumber inched up to $352 in March from $350 in February.

The Michigan Association of Home Builders is composed of more than 10,500 member companies, thus providing service to over 400,000 people in the home building/construction industry.

MAHB also represents 36 local home builder associations throughout the state.



As this rendering shows, the old gas station on Main will receive a thorough makeover.

Fresh look promised for old building

The obvious service-station shape of the old Gitfiddler music store in downtown Northville is about to change. The new owners of the building have big plans for the structure and say you won't even recognize the place when they're through with it.

"We're going to do something really nice," co-owner George Constantine said. "We're going to tear off the existing roof and give it an English or French Tudor cottage look."

Constantine, an attorney with an office right next door to the old Gitfiddler on E. Main, recently purchased the building along with Dennis Enger, the owner of Northville Physical Therapy and Rehabilitation. Enger's office is at 332 E. Main, right next to Constantine's.

Constantine, who transformed his own office building into a restoration showplace, has hired Charlotte architect H. Jack Begrow to redesign the old Gitfiddler.

He says the building will get a peaked roof and stone exterior, with hardwood or tile floors.

"It'll be more in line with the Victorian look of the city," he added.

Constantine said he looks to have "upscale retail" tenants once the renovations are complete.

One withdraws, one makes decision in race

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

The final slate of candidates for this summer's race for the Northville Township Board of Trustees is set and no one's going to get a free ride.

Resident Chris Schultz's decision last week to challenge incumbent Clerk Sue Hillebrand for her job ensured that voters will have a choice on the Aug. 6 primary ballot for all seven open board seats. No candidate will be running unopposed.

Friday, May 17, was the final day for potential board candidates to drop out of the race and have their names taken off the August ballot. It was the day that saw Schultz, who initially put his name in the hat for both clerk and trustee, formally pull out of the race for one of the four open trustee seats.

That, combined with trustee candidate Bill James' decision to withdraw as well, thins the field of Republican primary contenders to just five: Mark Abbo, Karen Baja, Russ Fogg, Marv Gans and Bill Selinsky.

The top four vote-getters among them on Aug. 6 will go on to face Democratic trustee candidate Shirley Klokkenga in the Nov. 5 general election. Klokkenga is running unopposed as a Democrat.

James, a township resident who owns his own heating and cooling business in Madison Heights, also works for the township as a building inspector.

He said Tuesday that while he wants to serve, "this just isn't the right time."

"I feel it's a job I'd like to do and it's a job that I'd be good at doing but not this time around," James said.

What propelled him into the fray, Schultz said Tuesday, is a desire to give the public options at the ballot box as well as to help the next group of trustees change the way some things are done now.

Schultz last week characterized his decision to join the clerk's race as an "afterthought," saying he'd initially planned to run only for trustee.

This week, he chalked up the number of candidates for the four board seats and the fact that Hillebrand was unopposed as factors that led to his decision to stay in the clerk's contest.

He decided to run for trustee because he wanted to get involved, Schultz said, both to give the public a choice of candidates and to voice his opinions on issues facing the next board.

"It turned out that there were enough good candidates in the race for trustee and no opposition in the clerk's race," he said, "so I decided to run in that one. The motives I had in running for trustee are still the same here."

While shying away from any strong criticism of the current clerk or board of trustees, Schultz did say that he wants to see the next board avoid some of the problems that have affected the current crop of elected officials.

"I think some new blood all around can help the next board refocus," Schultz said.

Facing off for supervisor will be Bob Grant and Karen Woodside. In the race for treasurer, Trustee Gini Britton will take on former treasurer Dick Henningsen.

Beginning in November, the supervisor's position will pay $17,000 a year, the clerk will earn $15,000 annually, while the treasurer will receive $12,000. Trustees will be paid $4,000 each.

Baja says still work to be done in township

According to Baja, a complex set of factors have combined since 1992 to fashion a bad – and false – impression of her in the minds of some. The anti-incumbent, "throw the bums out" mood of the public is one, the "bad chemistry" found among members of the board another. Mixed in has been The Northville Record's often-critical coverage of her tenure.

"I've made my mistakes like anyone else and there are things I could have done differently but I really believe that anyone who took the job in that environment would have had to deal with a lot of what I've had to deal with," Baja said.

At the root of the "cancer" at township hall, in Baja's opinion, is the breakdown in communication and trust among members of the board. She takes a share of the blame for it but dishes some out as well.

"I admit I have a quick temper and I can be blunt and I've never learned to dance around people's egos very well. I guess I still don't," Baja said. "However, I think that an untrue and less than total picture has been painted of what I brought to the job and what I did in it.

"They've been saying that it was my way or the highway and even that I was untrustworthy and power hungry and vindictive," basing all of their decisions on that perception, the supervisor continued. "That's not true and I hope by running for trustee that I can show it and show that I really care about the community."

Her campaign is more than just personal vindication, however, Baja emphasized.

"I feel I have a lot to offer and there's a lot that we're going to be facing that I'd like to have a say in," she said.

Some of those issues are ones that Baja and the board have locked horns over in the past, such as stripping the supervisor's position of many of its duties.

"They've taken away everything they could from it, all because they don't like the person in the job right now," Baja said. "I don't think that's right. If you don't like the person in the job, that's what elections are for."

The supervisor is also highly critical of last year's "reorganization" plan.

"That was a crock. It was done to get at people perceived to be Karen Baja's friends. I think that any proposal should be studied carefully and decided on its merits, not on emotion or personalities."

Another key issue is credibility, something that she says the township lacks in business and political circles thanks to what's gone on.

"Does Northville Township stand by its word? I think we should. It shouldn't be one way one week and then the next week it's different after people get together over someone's kitchen table," was how Baja put it.

"Vital, strong, credible communications" will be crucial as the township works with private industry and the local, county and state governments that control huge tracts of land in the township.

Baja is candid about the fact that she plans to actively campaign for the non-incumbents in the race who are looking to defeat some of her current colleagues. She's equally frank about what she thinks of the fact that November could see her serving with some of the same people that she is now.

"Can I work with them? Yes. Do I want to? No."

Stage set for Law/Vorva rematch

By LEE SNIDER
Editor

In 1994 it was incumbent Vorva versus challenger Law. This election year the names are the same but the roles are reversed.

Former state representative Jerry Vorva is back in the hunt for his old state House seat. He lost the Republican primary for the same office to Gerry Law two years ago.

Law has filed petitions to run for reelection in the 20th District, setting up a rematch of the two political foes. The district includes Northville Township and Wayne County Northville.

"I would have liked for someone else to run and take on this guy and the special interests that power him," Vorva said of the race. "But no one stepped forward. I'm running to make government smaller and less attractive for characters like Law."

Vorva held the 20th District House seat from 1993-95 before losing his seat to Law. Since then, he has worked as a Realtor and pursued legal studies at the University of Detroit/Mercy.

As he did in the last election, Vorva characterized Law as a career-minded politician who seeks office for his own benefit rather than to perform a public service for his constituents.

Gerry Law

"I've fought against this unholy oligarchy that Law is a part of," he insisted. "I'm a real, true conservative. I don't go into this to enhance myself."

Vorva holds a criminal justice degree and worked as a police officer in Plymouth for 10 years.

Law, a Plymouth Township resident, served in the state Legislature from 1983-91, but abruptly resigned to accept appointment as Plymouth Township supervisor. After working for the Michigan Lottery Commission, Law ran for the House again in 1994 and won.

He said he wants to steer clear of negative campaigning and concentrate on his record of achievement in the Legislature.

"One of the major issues is going to be Vorva's last term in office compared to my last term," Law said. "He introduced six or seven bills and passed only one – one of the lowest outputs. I have introduced 60 and passed 12. That takes a lot of work."

Law disputes Vorva's claim as a true conservative, and asserts his own credentials as a conservative policy maker.

"I was rated the seventh most conservative legislator by Inside Politics, and the 12th most conservative by the Michigan Conservative Union," he said. "I'm conservative socially as well as fiscally."

Law said he plans to spend about $25,000 on his primary campaign this year. He admits to accepting money from political action committees, but says he only takes contributions from organizations that support his views.

Vorva has made campaign finance an issue of integrity, and has expressed a preference for individual contributions.

"I'm trying to fight politics as usual," Vorva said. "People who want to help me ... for God's sake send me five bucks."

Vorva is asking for donations to be sent to: Vorva For State Representative, 1349 Elmdale, Plymouth, MI 48170.

Jerry Vorva

Vorva added that he used a lot of his own money to finance his last campaign.

His campaign committee owes him $20,000 from the 1994 election, he said.

Law points out that Vorva accepted some PAC money in 1994.

The winner of the Aug. 6 Republican primary will face in November the winner of the Democratic primary election, either Deborah Hoadley or Patrick O'Neil.

School district scores high on state accreditation ratings

funding if they go for more than a year without reaching at least interim status.

Even though Northville High School received an interim status rating by the state, the school has been accredited by the North Central Association, according to Principal Tom Johnson.

The high school's accreditation was extended through the 1995-96 school year at the NCA's annual meeting in Chicago March 27.

The association is the largest of the country's regional accrediting agencies, Johnson explained. It is a voluntary coalition of more than 7,000 schools and more than 1,000 colleges and universities in a 19 state region of the country.

The association works with schools to improve the quality of education through a continuous process of accreditation and evaluation, and currently accredits about 950 Michigan schools.

Johnson said the process is lengthy and intensive. Along with hosting periodic on-site evaluations by a visiting team of educators, Johnson said, each NCA school is accredited on the basis of an annual report on conditions in the school, and on supplementary information provided to the NCA.

The continued accreditation means that the conditions for effective education exist at Northville High School.

Even the district's Early Childhood Center preschool program is gearing up its effort toward national accreditation.

According to Director Pat MacIsaac, the center recently began the accreditation process with two separate observations, by teachers, of the 16 preschool classes within the program.

MacIsaac explained that the results of the classroom observations were compiled and studied by parents and teachers, and were used in developing an action plan for the program. It was sent to the National Academy of Early Childhood Accreditation Agency, which will review the plan and perform onsite inspections of the program

The accreditation results could be available in June.

Committee issues recommendations concerning programming, facilities

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

Asking the Northville Public School District to hold a bond and enhancement millage election wasn't the only recommendation from the district's High School Futures Committee Monday.

The committee provided other suggestions to district officials. Those recommendations stemmed from more than nine months of meetings, including three community dialogs, and research.

The recommendations included:

• The school board should continue to support a Ninth Grade Team Pilot program and Senior Seminar Pilot program.

According to committee members the Ninth Grade pilot is designed as an interdisciplinary approach to help students make the transition from middle school to high school.

Four teachers plan and administer the program to a select group of students. Block scheduling, flexible groupings, and team teaching are listed as important factors in the success of this program.

The Senior Seminar is geared toward a project-based, teacher facilitated, interdisciplinary approach for about 100 high school seniors. The seminar provides a transition from high school to the next academic or professional experience.

• The school board should begin developing a schematic design for the new high school and the conversion of the current high school to a middle school.

The committee designed an educational specification document that provides program requirements for a new high school. The committee recommended that the school board engage in schematic designs and other pre-bond activities for the new high school.

• The school board should continue to involve the community in the ongoing implementation of these recommendations and the progress being made.

The committee recommended the district continue to engage in communication with the community through newsletters, additional community dialogs, and "whatever methods that might be developed" to continue to seek input on the district's educational and facility needs.

• The school board should convene meetings with city and township officials to discuss the use of available space at the retrofitted high school.

District officials are currently entering into discussions with city and township officials to identify possible space uses.

The Futures Committee also recommended the formation of the Coalition for Student Success, which the school board endorsed two weeks ago.

Bond issue on way to voters

which altered school funding in 1994. There is only one year left on enhancement millage availability.

If the separate requests are approved, the district will utilize the funds for the construction of a new high school, along with the conversion of the current high school facility into a middle school. Improvement projects for the other schools in the district have also been identified.

According to a district proposed bond cost summary, $48 million will be spent on the construction of the new high school facility. The conversion of the current high school and other school upgrades have been estimated at $11 million, with an additional $5.2 million in technology upgrade costs. The total package will cost taxpayers $61 million, an estimated millage increase of 2.35 mills.

The enhancement millage will increase the millage rate by 1.95 mills and will bring $1.9 million to the district. Rezmierski said that the funds will be used to support personnel costs that will aid in the implementation of district technology over a five year period. After one year, the 1.95 mills will be removed from the tax roles.

The life of the bond will last somewhere between 20 and 30 years, depending on market conditions, Rezmierski added. "We're hoping to keep it at the 20-year range, but it will be dependent on what the market bears," he said.

Board President Richard Brown said that the decision for the bond push and the events that led up to it, represented an important chapter in the history of the school district.

"(The past two years) have been an amazing undertaking for the district and this community," he said. "We've got a long way to go but this represents the future of our children and our schools."

Brown, along with board member Robert McMahon, said that administrators and board officials have spent countless hours studying the proposals.

"We have spent plenty of time on this issue, especially within the past month," McMahon said.

The school district began exploring the bond question more than two years ago when they formed the Bond, Technology, and Enhancement committees, which studied the district's current and future needs. The three committees presented their findings to the board last year, recommending the district call for a bond election last fall.

"The board rightfully declined to seek bond and enhancement millage approval last year," Rezmierski said. "They felt that all of the questions had not been answered."

That set the stage for the formation of the High School Future's Committee and the hiring of consultant Dr. William DeJong. Several community dialogs were scheduled in an effort to build a community consensus for the future of Northville High School and the district. Although many district patrons maintain the Future's objectives were not met, district officials argue that "DeJong process" provided a good foundation for change.

"There were some great things that came out of the Future's process," said Assistant Superintendent Dave Bolitho. "There is better communication between the community, teachers, and administrators, and I think that is an important addition to the process."

Millage rate to drop

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

The Northville Public School District's chief financial officer provided district officials and patrons with some good news this week.

District Director of Business and Finance John Street said the district's debt millage rate will be reduced from 4.3 mills to 3.84 mills next year, and could possibly be reduced even further depending on when the new state equalized valuation figures become available.

Street said the debt millage projection comes in wake of the sale of a portion of district owned land on Six Mile Road to Cambridge Homes. This year the district received about $380,000 in principal and another $60,000 in interest from the sale. That $440,000 represents about 0.46 mill and leaves a principal balance of more than $880,000 – or 0.93 mill worth of revenue – Street explained.

"As the remaining principal and interest is received, the millage rate will be reduced accordingly," he said.

The final debt millage amount will be established by the school board at a regular meeting scheduled for June 10.

SCHOOL DISTRICT BOND AND MILLAGE HISTORY

October 1989
Voters approve Northville $16 million bond request 2-1. Sixty-eight percent of those voting said yes to the funds, which went toward the construction of Thornton Creek Elementary School, various infrastructure repairs and installation of a fiber-optic network.

September 1990
Northville receives a 64 percent approval rate from voters for a 1.28 mill increase for one year. The increase brought $885,000 in to the district. Had voters rejected the proposal, school officials said programs would have been cut and teachers laid off.

April 1992
Citizens for a Better Northville, the community's former local watchdog group, launch a campaign opposing a school district millage increase request. A deluge of letters supporting and opposing the proposal appear in the Northville Record. Voters give a resounding "no" to the district, defeating the request for 2.78 mills by a margin of 3 to 1. A second request for a 22.6 millage renewal was approved. The increase would have brought approximately $995,000 in to the district. As a result of the rejection, several cuts were made, including the busing system, and pay-to-play sports were implemented.

June 1993
Voters approve a renewal request for 22.3 mills in operating millage.

August 1994
The board decides against bringing an enhancement millage election to voters during the 1994-95 school year. A citizens committee that recommended against holding the election said they believed voters would most likely oppose the request.

Summer 1995
The district has two more years to pass enhancement millage that would go directly to Northville. After that, all millage increases will go to a county-wide vote and any funds approved will be distributed among all Wayne County districts. Board members mull over the decision of whether to bring a $53.9 million bond issue and an enhancement millage election to voters, and decide to postpone election to further study the issue. The board also approves the formation of the High School Futures Committee, and hires district consultant Dr. William DeJong to build a community consensus on the district's future.

May 1996
School board approves calling for a $61 million bond and $1.9 million enhancement millage election to be held sometime in early fall.

"There's often a lot of commotion with people walking and kids riding their bikes over the bridge while we're trying to hold the ceremony," she said. "Everybody's welcome to attend the services at the cemetery but we want to avoid the disruption that often occurs.

"There's no need to hurry into the cemetery. Nothing will start until everybody has arrived," she added. "We'll wait for everyone to get there."

Yarbrough said, in addition to the benediction and wreath lying at the bridge, there will be a gun salute and the playing of the National Anthem and Taps at the veterans plot inside the cemetery.

Businesses cited after selling to police decoy

By WENDY PIERMAN MITZEL
Staff Writer

Fifteen different times the night of May 3 an 18-year-old female walked into a bar or a store and attempted to purchase beer.

Only four times was she successful.

The teen was part of a decoy program set up by Novi Police to test local businesses which sell alcohol to see if they would let the minor buy. The legal drinking age is 21.

Chili's restaurant on Eight Mile Road, Arbor Drug Store on Pontiac Trail, Grady's American Grill restaurant in the Novi Town Center and the Library Pub on Grand River were all issued citations by police that night for selling to the decoy.

During the incidents the decoy entered the establishment with plainclothes officers in tow and attempted to purchase beer from the clerk or from a bartender or waitress. On those four occasions, the decoy was not asked for identification and was served.

At that point the officers, watching from a short distance, identified themselves to the establishment and issued citations.

"The bartender that did that was terminated and we are adhering to all alcohol related laws," explained Keevan Coles, assistant manager at Grady's. "We're shocked that it happened to begin with because we're pretty tight here about that."

Coles said management requires staff to request identification for guests appearing under the age of 30. Programs like the decoy program help the restaurant determine if staff is following all the rules.

"We agree with the theory," Coles said. "That's one way to find out if it's happening, then we can focus on it."

Alan Barnett, general manager of the Library Pub and Grill, said his establishment usually isn't frequented by a younger crowd but it tries to ensure compliance with the law by having a doorman and stamping the hands of younger customers.

"It's a very embarrassing situation here," Barnett explained. "We do our best to keep them out and 99 percent of the time we do."

The main office of Chili's could not be reached for comment.

Arbor Drugs spokesman Fred Marx said the company has procedures in place to avoid those situations but, unfortunately, this time they didn't work.

"It is unfortunate that this transaction took place," explained Marx. "We'll intensify our training."

Other targets that passed the test were: Rite Aid in the Farmer Jack Plaza, the Willowbrook Market, Golden Oaks Party Store, Vintage Wine, Novi Party Store, Jonna's Fine Wine, Depot VI, Lakeview Market, Ruby Tuesday, Max and Erma's and the Castle Wine Shop.

The Liquor Control Commission was notified of all four violations and the cases are open pending court proceedings.

HEALTH NOTE

by Dennis E. Engerer, P.T.

SHOLDERING RESPONSIBILITY

A person does not have to be a baseball pitcher to experience a rotator cuff injury. Small tears in the ligaments that surround the shoulder joint may be endured by anyone who overuses his or her shoulder. While the competitive athlete may well turn to surgery in order to regain full use of the injured shoulder quickly, the average person with overuse syndromes and small rotator-cuff tears should turn to more conservative treatment. Such nonsurgical treatment consists of rest, ice, physical therapy, and medication (if needed, for inflammation). As symptoms decrease, stretching and strengthening exercises should help the shoulder heal.

Shoulder injuries can be quite debilitating, so if you have pain in the shoulder region, you may want to consider physical therapy to return you to your normal full range of motion and flexibility. For more information, or to schedule a consultation, call Northville Physical Therapy & Rehabilitation Inc. at 349-3816, or see us at 332 E. Main Street, Suite A. Our clinic now treats open wound patients. These include burn patients, post surgical wounds, lacerations, and stasis ulcers. We use a Pulsavac machine to help debride wounds and promote healing.

P.S. If severe chronic pain and limited motion from a shoulder injury persist, patients may want to explore the surgical option.

One drops out of state race

By JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writer

Saying that "life is too short to give up a sure thing," Wixom Mayor Michael McDonald has withdrawn from the Republican primary for state representative from the 38th District – leaving this a Novi/Northville race.

This narrows the GOP field to three candidates with local ties – Novi City Council Member Nancy Cassis, Novi resident Craig DeRoche and Northville resident Chris Bachelder. They seek the job now held by Willis Bullard, R-Milford, who is hoping to be promoted by voters to state senator in a June 4 special election.

The 38th District includes Oakland County Northville.

McDonald explained May 16 that he reached the decision "after much soul searching and conversations with my wife and son, along with advice from my many friends in and around Wixom."

"Wixom is where my heart is. Over the past 24 years I have grown into the fabric of the best place for me to live and I am less than thrilled to move on right now," McDonald said.

"I am committed to making Wixom the finest community not only in Michigan but in the world ... I would like to assure everyone that I did not file on a lark but when I had to make the decision to move on and start the job of campaigning, the tasks in Wixom seemed more worthy."

Democrat Gary Johnson of Milford will face the Aug. 6 primary with no competition from within his party.

Bachelder, a senior manager at the accounting firm Deloitte & Touche with an MBA from Harvard, is running on the platform of supporting the "Engler Revolution."

He could not be reached for comment in time for a May 16 story on the race in The Northville Record, which included interviews with other candidates.

But on May 17, Bachelder said if elected he would push for eliminating the single business tax and "sweeping reforms" in the welfare system to remove "incentives that promote dependency and illegitimacy."

"Michigan has become a national leader in proving reforms the people are demanding, largely because of the leadership of Gov. John Engler," Bachelder said.

"As state representative, I want to keep the Engler revolution alive by being a voice for lower taxes, a smaller government, more jobs and opportunity, a return to basics in education and getting tough on criminals."

He is a Republican Party precinct delegate.

Cassis, a psychologist with the Novi school district, has been a Novi city council member for nine years and is also a GOP precinct delegate.

DeRoche is a self-employed insurance agent and director of the Walled Lake chapter of the Oakland County Republican Party.

The 38th District also includes South Lyon and portions of other Oakland County communities.

WHAT'S ON THE AUG. 6 PRIMARY BALLOT?

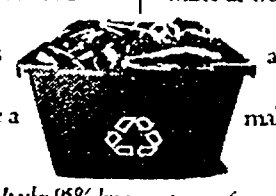
The office has always been a place to get ahead. Unfortunately, it's also a place where a lot of natural resources start to fall behind. Take a look around the next time you're at work. See how many lights are left on when people leave. See how much paper is being wasted. How much electricity is being used to run computers that are left on. Look at how much water is being wasted in the restrooms. And how much solid waste is being thrown out in the trash cans. We bet it's a lot.



It takes 95% less energy to manufacture products from recycled materials

Now, here are some simple ways you can produce less waste at work. When you're at the copier, only make the copies you need. Use both sides of the paper when writing a memo. Turn off your light when you leave. Use a lower watt bulb in your lamps. Drink your coffee or tea out of mugs instead of throwaway cups. Set up a recycling bin for aluminum cans and one for bottles. And when you're in the bathroom brushing your teeth or washing your face, don't let the faucet run. Remember, if we use fewer resources today, we'll save more for tomorrow.

Drink out of mugs instead of throwaway cups.

Which would truly be a job well done.

Volunteer crews clear logs and other debris from several locations along the Rouge River.

River cleanup effort shows signs of progress

It's everywhere you turn.

Drive, bike or walk through north and west greater-Detroit, and if you look for it, it's there.

It's that creek running through the park down the street, that drainage ditch behind the grocery, that lake you drive past on the way to work.

It's home to a surprising amount of wildlife, and a growing number of recreational possibilities.

It's historically the most polluted watercourse in the state of Michigan. But the Rouge River is also the focus of a massive, multi-faceted push to bring it back — an effort unmatched anywhere in the nation. And although it has a ways to go, that effort has shown considerable results.

A river runs through us

"This has been the largest watershed project in the entire country dealing with urban problems," said Jim Murray, a key figure in Rouge efforts. "We've really become the nation's laboratory."

Contributing to the uniqueness is the large amount of park land along the river, he added: "It's one of the most accessible urban rivers in the country."

Reversing decades of abuse and neglect is a tall order, but officials believe in the river coming back.

"The Rouge is never going to be the way it was back in the 1700s," said Cathy Bean, state coordinator of the Rouge Remedial Action Plan. However, "The river is worth saving."

The river needs saving in the first place because of years of pollution — industrial discharges, overflows of raw sewage, and all kinds of assorted junk tossed in by those mistaking the river for a landfill. The tide started to turn in the early 1970s with the dawning environmental movement.

"People said, 'We've had enough,'" Bean said. Eventually, Rouge Rescue sprouted and grew, with thousands of volunteers turning out each spring to do a lot of the heavy physical work.

"There was a fundamental change in the way this country regulated pollution in 1972," said Murray, director of Wayne County's Department of the Environment. Congress passed the Clean Water Act, and one goal was to see the Rouge River completely clean in four years.

"Here we are 25 years later and we haven't quite achieved that goal," Murray said.

> "This has been the largest watershed project in the entire country dealing with urban problems."
> –Jim Murray, Wayne County

The federal Environmental Protection Agency sued the Detroit waste water treatment plant in 1977 for polluting Lake Erie, and federal Judge John Feikens — in a relationship with Rouge concerns which continues today — ordered the EPA and state Department of Natural Resources to address point-source pollution — that which, unlike storm water, can be traced to identifiable sources.

State officials started working on a Rouge cleanup strategy. Meanwhile, the U.S.-Canadian International Joint Commission identified 43 "areas of concern" for Great Lakes pollution, including 14 in Michigan, one of which was the Rouge watershed. The resulting Great Lakes Water Quality Agreement required each area of concern to develop a remedial action plan, or RAP, to address its own situation.

Bean explained that the Rouge cleanup strategy already under way got transformed into a formal RAP. It called for control of combined sewer overflow points, limits on "nonpoint source" pollution, and analysis of sediments. The nine-volume RAP won adoption in 1989, with a major update in 1994.

As plans moved further ahead, cost estimates mounted. In 1991 the U.S. Congress, led by Reps. John Dingell and Bill Ford, identified the Rouge River as a national demonstration project, a situation so unique it deserved federal attention — and money. It would restore the river and, in the process, provide an example of how to address similar situations elsewhere. Murray said the funding came in part because Congress was impressed by the breadth and dedication of the volunteer efforts to clean up the river.

"This is the first comprehensive watershed project in the country that's in an urban area. All the others ... have been agricultural," Murray said.

The federal government has dedicated $288 million so far, paying 95 percent of engineering costs and 55 percent of construction costs for sewer projects, Murray said. Other units of government pay their share as well.

The federal side of the restoration is officially called the Rouge River National Wet Weather Demonstration Project, since river pollution is largely a rainy-weather concern. Murray does double duty as Rouge Project director. Phase I, nearing completion in many areas, will see the elimination of about a third of the combined sewer overflows, mostly in the river's upper reaches. Phase II, to be done by 2005 in the downstream areas, is designed to finish the CSO part of the job.

"Our goal is by the year 2005 to have the public health risks removed completely," Murray said.

Now, the EPA and the Rouge effort are both turning their attention to the issue of storm water runoff.

"We need to have better soil erosion control," Bean said. "Soil is a pollutant. It's not just mud."

The Rouge resource

Other problems are being addressed, too; Murray mentioned ongoing efforts to identify illicit connections, and the discovery of certain areas in Oakland County with 50- to 70-percent failure rate of septic tanks.

"Where we do find problems with the septic tanks, there are local ordinances and state laws," he said. "There's lots of problems, but lots of opportunities to get this right."

Northville site included in Rouge 'rescue' program

Northville Parks and Recreation is sponsoring the annual Rouge River rescue program on Saturday, June 1, from 8-11 a.m. The site selected for cleanup is the Northville recreation area along Edward Hines Drive.

Volunteers should wear long sleeved shirts, long pants, work boots, and gloves. Equipment needed includes rakes, saws, trimmers.

Those interested in participating are asked to contact Northville Parks and Recreation at 349-0203.

In all, there are nearly 30 Rouge Rescue '96 work sites this year.

In addition to the Northville site, Rotary Park on Nile Mile west of Novi. Call 349-0585. In Plymouth, crews will be at a site to be determined. Call 453-1234. The Farmington Hills site is also still to be determined. Call (810) 473-9520.

Local police join patrol program aimed at promoting freeway safety

"Safe and Sober" is the phrase being used to describe the combined effort of area police agencies to reduce accidents on I-75 in southeast and central Michigan.

From 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Thursday, May 23, police agencies from the Ohio state line to the Roscommon County line will patrol I-75, seeking out speeders, lane use violators, and drivers operating vehicles under the influence of liquor.

Violators who are stopped and not wearing safety belts will be cited.

Agencies in southeast Michigan that are participating include: Northville, Detroit, Wayne County, Woodhaven, Taylor, Madison Heights, Auburn Hills, Brownstown Township, Lincoln Park, Hazel Park, Troy and the state police posts in Monroe, Flat Rock, Detroit and Pontiac.

Police hope the coordinated effort will increase motorists' awareness of traffic laws and reduce accidents through visible proactive patrols.

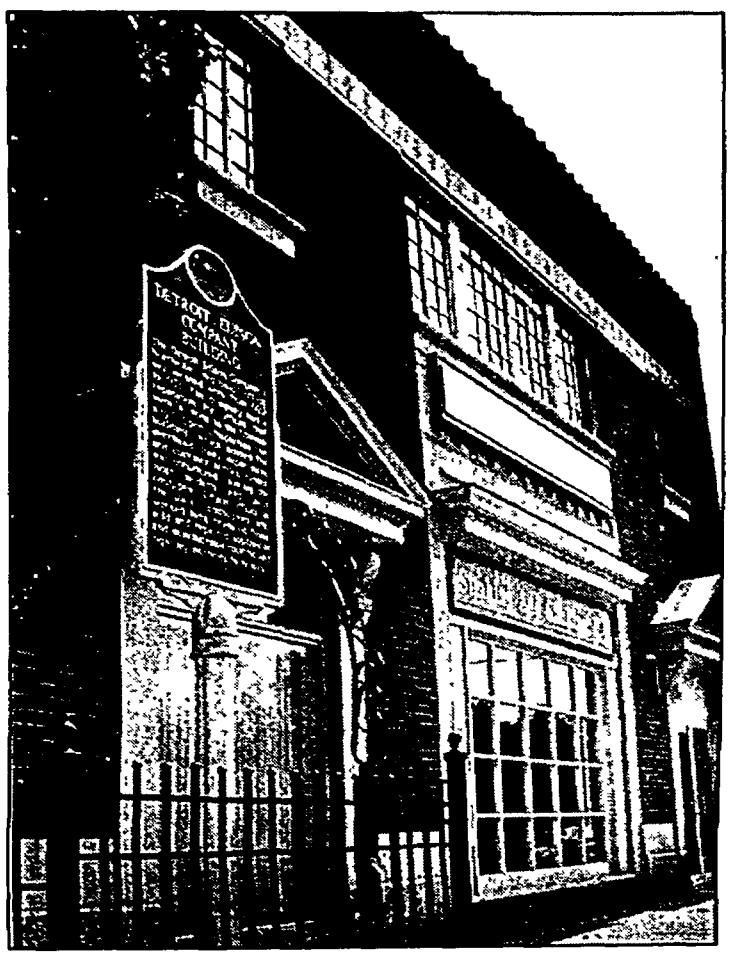
Historic structure put on sales block



The Northville Executive Center is for sale.

A piece of Northville history is up for sale.

The Northville Executive Center, which received historic designation last year, is now on the market, says owner Lee Holland.

According to Holland, the first floor of the building at 200 N. Center will become available for lease this summer when the law firm of Simkins and Simkins moves to the R&D Enterprises plant at Main and Griswold.

"My first preference would be to find a tenant, but I'm also looking for a potential buyer," Holland said.

Holland, who recently relocated his CPA business from the Executive Center to a building two doors down at 115 E. Dunlap, said he's looking for a professional tenant to occupy the 3,000 square feet Simkins will vacate, but there's a possibility a retail operation, or even a restaurant, could move in.

The building contains 6,000 square feet of office space and another 2,500 square feet of basement area. Holland says he'll let the whole package go for a cool $700,000. Direct inquiries to 349-5400.

Last August a historic plaque was dedicated outside the building commemorating the fact that the facility served as the regional office of Detroit Edison Co. from 1929-71. Holland has owned the building for 20 years.

As for Holland himself, he says don't let news that he's purchased a home in Florida mislead you into thinking that he's retiring or moving. He plans to continue running his successful business in Northville.

Gloria Sciberras of Heritage Resale and Antiques has opened a new business in her building at 142 N. Center.

Called Downtown Baskets, the store specializes in theme baskets that are built around a keepsake gift.

Decorative baskets with antiques, coffee mugs, chimes, bone China and even teapots are available.

Sciberras said brides, firefighters and police officers have ordered her custom-made baskets, and the concept seems to be catching on.

"I've thought about doing this for some time, and I figured why not? When you're done using it, you've got more than just an empty basket."

Sciberras' partners in the endeavor are her son Mark Seacord and his wife, Beth. Her daughter, Kathie Seacord, also helps out.

Individual gifts are available at Downtown Baskets and the store delivers.

Sciberras says customers enter Heritage Resale through the front door and Downtown Baskets through the back but, once inside, patrons can access both stores.

Call 380-9292 to get more details.

gardenviews (which, like e.e. cummings, spells its name sans upper case) is celebrating its one-year anniversary with several special events.

The business at 202 W. Main is planning a live butterfly release at 6:30 p.m. Friday, May 24. Fifty of the fluttering marvels will be sent skyward at that time.

The next day, from noon-5 p.m., a petting zoo will come to the store, offering people a chance to make friends of several barnyard animals.

On Sunday, from noon-5 p.m., the Chainsaw Man of Michigan (a.k.a. Kenneth Boshell) will perform live tree sculpture demonstrations.

Customers will also have a chance to register to win $1,000 in gift certificates.

Fire camp to provide fun, key tips for kids

The Northville Township fire department will soon offer Camp 9-1-1 for kids who want to know more about how to prevent and treat injuries of all kinds.

Fire Station No. 2 will be the site of the free two-day day camp, scheduled for Aug. 1 and 2. Kids will learn how to prevent traffic and home injuries and how to perform essential lifesaving skills in case of emergency, such as opening breathing airways, rescue breathing techniques and how to control serious bleeding.

Information on careers in the emergency medical service (EMS) field can also be obtained and Camp 9-1-1 concludes with an obstacle course and presentation of special certifications and bystander care kits to all campers.

Seventeen other EMS providers are sponsoring sessions of Camp 9-1-1 this summer.

In Northville, the fire department's camp co-sponsors include SWM Systems, the Lower Peninsula's regional EMS coordination agency.

Training and materials for the camp are funded through the Office of Highway Traffic Safety and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. It's all free but limited to the first 25 kids who sign up.

For more information and to register, call Sergeant Guy Balok at Station No. 2 at 348-5807.

NOTICE TO THE RESIDENTS OF THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE

There will be an informational meeting regarding the proposed Edenderry water special assessment district on Thursday, June 6th, 1996 at 7:30 p.m. at Township Civic Center, 41600 West Six Mile Road, Northville.

To Retirees Who Want To Protect Their Money, Income, And Assets From Being Wiped Out!

Retirees who have not set up proper strategies can have all of their net worth wiped out when someone in the family goes into a nursing home. The government can literally take your CD's, house, Social Security, pension checks, investments, IRA's...you name it!

One of the biggest myths around is that Medicare will pay for nursing home expenses. This is completely WRONG! In fact, Medicare usually pays NOTHING towards the costs of staying in a long term facility! YOU are responsible for every dime of long term care expenses! Many people think that Medicaid will pick up the costs of being in a nursing home. That's true. But, they will only pay after you've lost everything you own! You have to be broke before they kick in a dime!

They can FORCE you to sell your house. They can take your Social Security and pension checks, and have them direct deposited to THEM! They can attach your IRA's, CD's...anything! Don't let this happen to you. You need the information that'll teach you how to avoid being a victim of our government's awful secret.

You can learn what you need to know by getting a FREE new report called, "How To Protect Your Life's Savings From Being Taken By Medicaid!" You can get your copy by calling 1-800-495-3606, 24 hours, for a FREE recorded message. Call NOW, before it's too late!

Mill Race Matters

Congratulations and thank you to Jessica Black who will receive her Girl Scout Gold Award on June 4. Jessica's project involved the creation of a Native American dwelling for display at Mill Race Village. Her work will be on display Sunday, May 26, when the village opens for its summer season.

Buildings will be open for viewing from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. On opening day visitors will have the opportunity to meet with local authors and historical societies to see the latest in historic publications from the region. Joining the Northville Historical Society in the sale will be the Historical Societies of Salem, Canton, and Novi as well as individual authors and organizations from Novi, Northville, and Plymouth. The Northville District Library will provide information about its Northville Record indexing project and its already completed printed volumes.

School tours continue on most week days through mid June. During the month of June, Mill Race Village buildings will be open each Sunday from 1 until 4 for public viewing. Docents are always needed to help with this endeavor. Call 348-1845 if you would like to help out.

Plans are under way for celebration of the village's traditional old fashioned Fourth of July on Thursday, July 4. The village opens immediately after the completion of the parade and remains open until 4 p.m. In addition to the buildings, entertainment will be provided throughout the afternoon including children's games and reenactors.

Other organizations in the area have some activities of interest to local residents coming up in the month ahead. The Canton Historical Society will host a DuMouchelle antique appraisal clinic on Saturday, June 1, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Verbal appraisals run $7 and written are $10. Each individual is limited to three items. Books and jewelry will not be appraised.

The Milford Historical Museum provides professional appraisal on Saturday, June 8, from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. with verbal appraisal for $3 and written for $5. Large items will be appraised by photograph. DuMouchelle Art Galleries will conduct this program as well.

The Plymouth Historical Museum will hold a yard sale on June 1 from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. They also plan a tour to historic Gettysburg, Sept. 30 through Oct. 3 for $399. There will be an information night at the museum on June 13 at 7:30 p.m.

The Plymouth Museum continues to collect pledges to support their upcoming Weldon Petz Lincoln acquisition. For more information on this contact (313) 455-8940.

The American Institute for Conservation provides brochures on a variety of archival topics as well as its Conservation Services Referral System free of charge. The brochures include "Matting and Framing Works of Art on Paper," "Caring for Your Treasurers," "Caring for Special Objects," and "Guidelines for Selecting a Conservator." Copies of all can be borrowed from the Northville Historical Society Archives. Contact 349-9005 if you're interested.

In-line skating isn't just for streets and parking lots any more, at least in Highland Lakes. Skaters who used to use Highland Lakes' tennis courts and parking areas for their hobby now have a new alternative, thanks to a recent vote of the local condo association's residents. Concern for safety led Highland Lakes to convert one of its tennis courts into an "all-purpose recreation area." To commemorate the event Highland Lakes held its first in-line hockey tournament. Some 33 skaters, ranging in age from six to 23, took part in the event, fielding teams in five age divisions. Trophies were awarded to the winners. Organizing the tournament was the local parents association, which includes Sue Misiulis, Louise Benstein and Alia Prain.

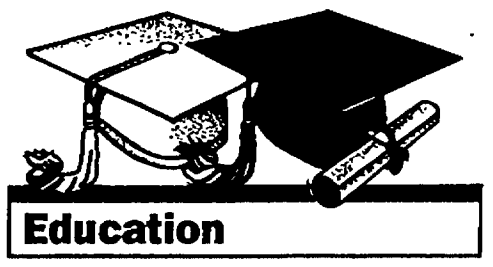
District earns stripes in state accreditation



Education

The state Department of Education issued its accreditation report for all Michigan public schools last week and the results, statewide at least, were disheartening.

Throughout Michigan less than 10 percent of public school buildings received summary accreditation, the highest rating issued by state officials.

Locally, the news was considerably better. Fully five of the seven eligible schools in the Northville district were given accreditation status, an impressive 71.4 of the total. The eighth school, Thornton Creek Elementary, was not rated because the school is new and doesn't have three years of Michigan Education Assessment Program test scores, which is one criterion on which accreditation rankings are based.

The two schools that didn't receive summary accreditation, Winchester Elementary and Northville High School, were given "interim" status, meaning they met some, but not all, of the standards established by the state.

The school district has every reason to be proud of the way it rated on the accreditation report. The results are far above average and further evidence that Northville is one of the truly outstanding districts in Michigan.

But Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski hit the nail on the head when he said the report should be taken with a grain of salt. Without false modesty, Rezmierski rightly pointed out that no single assessment, whatever the outcome, is enough to hang your hat on.

The state accreditation process is somewhat contrived and can only serve as a tentative measure of a school district's longterm performance. More important than one year's results is the consistency of a district's product.

The bottom line, nevertheless, is that Northville continues to demonstrate exceedingly high levels of achievement. Rezmierski and the demanding parents of school district children are right not to settle for anything less than the best but, on a comparative basis at least, the best is definitely within reach.

A great observance for a great people

Next Thursday is a great holiday in our land, Memorial Day, a time to honor the many thousands of men and women who made the ultimate sacrifice while serving their country in time of conflict. Monday, of course, is the official observance day for the occasion.

While Memorial Day is often viewed as a time of leisure for Americans, with barbecues and picnics the order of the day, most people pause to consider the true meaning of the holiday.

According to an historical account provided by the American Legion Auxiliary, Memorial Day actually began in the nineteenth century in the South when groups of women would set time aside to decorate the graves of soldiers with flowers. Most of the battles of the Civil War took place on southern turf, and the women, in a gesture of reconciliation and healing, would tend to the graves of Union, as well as Confederate, servicemen.

Except for a period in the late 1960s and early '70s, when the day was used to express anti-Vietnam War sentiments, Memorial Day has always been an observance of fallen heroes.

In Northville, VFW Post 4012 is sponsoring a downtown parade to commemorate the day. The parade starts at 10 a.m. on Monday and will feature a colorful procession of bands and marchers.

More than mere entertainment, though, the event will include a tribute at the bridge at Rural Hill, where a ceremonial wreath will be tossed into the creek below. Later, there will be other tributes at the historic cemetery.

Memorial Day ceremonies give us a chance to acknowledge the great sacrifices people have made in defense of freedom. They also cause us to recount our blessings and reflect on the many good fortunes we enjoy living in the world's oldest democracy.

We're hoping for a good turnout for Monday's parade, both as a show of appreciation for the veterans groups that organized the event and a means of following the maxim "lest we forget."

Bond vote one year late

Robert Jackson

Finally all of the cards are on the table!

When the Northville Board of Education voted to approve putting a $61 million bond issue before the voters Monday, the meeting room was virtually empty, save for a small group of teachers and some administrators.

The scene was ironically similar to the meeting held about nine months ago when the same board voted to delay asking this very important question until some sort of community consensus had been achieved.

So instead of asking the hard question, we shuffled in a high priced consultant – Dr. William DeJong – to help the community grapple with its educational future. The district wanted to whip up support before it popped the bond question, and the DeJong process was supposed to result in all of us coming together behind a common cause.

We now know that never happened. The DeJong process, for all it was touted to be, crashed and burned before it really ever took off. Now, instead of a rallying cry of support to push ahead with plans to construct a new high school and realize true educational change, there are currently only weak whimperings of endorsement by the community.

All one has to do is take a look at the Futures Committee recommendations to realize that the committee didn't live up to its charges. Four of the seven recommendations submitted to the board dealt solely with bond and new facility related items. The only positive recommendation that really addresses the high school's educational future was the formation of the Coalition for Student Success.

By failing to deliver on the simple promise of an open community dialog in probably the single most important issue facing the district, school officials might have slightly tainted this election before a single vote has been cast. Some patrons who were skeptical of district motivations before this public relations nightmare took center stage are now downright wary.

There is, however, a silver lining to the cloud that has hovered over the district for the past nine months – at least all of the factions that have been at war with each other are now sitting at the table and actually communicating.

As tenuous as the situation might be, there is at least something to build on, and if we are to finally move forward with some aggressive changes, open and honest communication from all parties is a must.

Open and honest communication with the community will also go a long way in garnering support for the $61 million bond issue. Without it the bonds, a new high school, building improvements, and new technology will all go down in a flaming, hurtling mess.

That open and honest communication now represents a glimmer of opportunity resting in the laps of school district officials. How they take advantage of that opportunity will ultimately decide the future of every student in this district.

So it's finally time to lay the Futures Committee to rest, take what we have learned and move on. The issues are many, and they represent much more than the bricks and mortar that hold our schools together.

Drug abuse can tear families apart

Charlie Stilec

I came into possession of this letter recently, when it was given to me by a very courageous mother. I think the sentiments are very telling, and I wanted to share this message with all of you.

Spring brings a sense of uneasiness and trepidation. This is a bad time of year for my son. His impulses are frequent and strong. With his desire comes the potential for disruption of our family equilibrium and engagement in detrimental patterns of the past. You see, my son is a 16-year-old drug addict.

The changes were slow and insidious. He was a model student, a talented musician and a loving son and brother. Shy and independent, he was a true leader, his teachers said.

The changes started in middle school. He was belligerent at school and rebellious at home, becoming increasingly more withdrawn from our family. He was labeled "oppositional defiant" by counselors and social workers. An unhealthy relationship with a girl escalated the downward spiral during eighth grade, ending with his expulsion from school in the spring for fighting.

Our home life had become unbearable: fighting, yelling, pleading, begging, playing one parent against the other had become almost a nightly ritual. We started weekly out-patient therapy sessions.

In the spring of '95, he was given another expulsion from school for fighting. The year brought anger, rage, and a disinterest in everything but his friends. In an attempt to find the truth, I contacted his friends' parents. Denial was the norm. I felt isolated, ashamed, angry, and frightened.

After finding his "stash" the ultimatum was given: shape up or get out. He got out. He was found 36 hours later and returned to us by the police – only to runaway 30 minutes later. This time he was gone for five days. When he was found we refused to take him home. We had to find a way to keep him safe while we figured out what to do. He was taken to Oakland County's youth detention facility – Children's Village.

It was during a visitation with him at Children's Village that we learned the extent of his drug and alcohol abuse problem. He had used alcohol, marijuana, inhalants, and hallucinogenics on a frequent basis starting at age 12. He was now 15. We were shocked. My husband and I were no strangers to drugs – we grew up during that era and had seen the ravages of drug abuse, including death. This became, literally, a fight for his life.

He will be celebrating his 1-year "clean" anniversary this June. It has not been an easy road for all of us. Adolescent drug addiction is a family disease and takes commitment from all involved for recovery, including siblings.

We have learned that 10 percent of recovery is about not using drugs, 90 percent of recovery is unlearning negative behavior patterns. As parents, we have made the commitment to his recovery, the fight for his life.

It has taken courage and stamina to fight this painful battle, make choices and accept consequences. We take one day at a time. We have not fought the battle alone, though. We have involved the school, Charlie Stilec, Oakland County Juvenile Court, Growth Works, and our families. Our family will never be the same, and that is good.

–Jill Fellwock

I think we can all benefit from stories involving that kind of struggle and determination. And if we're alert and caring, we can prevent situations like this from ever occurring.

Column was unfair to good trustee

After reading your editorial in this week's issue of Northville Record (dated May 16), I would like to know who appointed you to be the eyes and ears of the voting public in Northville. I for one did not appoint you or anyone else.

You have every right to voice your opinion, but how could you admire someone so much and then discredit him publicly – someone who does nothing but good for this community? On the one hand, you say he is such a congenial man, with loads of energy and integrity, and then you openly proceed to discredit him. Are you confused, Mr. Coble?

Russ Fogg is a very competent trustee whose main objective is to improve the quality of life in this community. How can you "like and respect someone" and set out to crucify him publicly in your paper?

You state that The Record is going to make Russ Fogg a "campaign issue." I want to know if the managing editor supports your decision to do so? Also, since you mention Mr. Fogg's name with no reservations, could you please mention the names of those who are "in the loop." I for one would like to know who they are – if they even exist.

Mainly because of your unpleasant editorial, I can no longer subscribe to The Record knowing that there are reporters like you writing editorials about innocent people whose efforts are unappreciated.

Director's ousting doesn't sit right

To the Editor:

Is there something rotten in Denmark?

The recent seemingly secretive handling of the termination of services of director Pat Orr by the Northville District Library Board of Trustees, after all she has done towards acquiring district status and launching nearly-completed exciting new facility, certainly bodes this question.

As most of your readers, I am an interested outsider and only hope that when this matter is settled "fairness" will be the key word remembered by all rather than another example of a local power struggle whose solution leaves nobody satisfied.

Thanks for help on fund-raiser

To the Editor:

An open letter to the Northville community from the friends of Northville Parks and Recreation:

We wish to take this opportunity to thank everyone who took part in supporting our 4th annual "A Taste of Northville Dinner/Auction," which was held on Saturday, April 27.

Because of your generosity, we were able to net $30,000. This is earmarked for improving our total community's park and recreation facilities thereby also improving programs and services to the citizens of both the city and the township.

This event was successful because of the many dedicated people who worked hard behind the scenes to organize the many details necessary for this event. Sincere thanks to: those who solicited donations; those who generously donated items for the dinner and/or auction; the Northville High School Honor Society for waiting on tables and helping wherever needed; the excellent volunteer professional auctioneer; and all the other volunteers who helped make this a quality fun event.

Thanks also to all of you who attended the event itself. In fact, it appeared that the more money you spent, the more you seemed to enjoy yourselves. It was truly wonderful and our best event ever!

We plan on using $10,000 of these funds for the playscape project, and then assist with possible matching funds for other grants for park site development, and/or combine with baseball and soccer to improve facilities at the Beck Road Community Park.

Dole's age a factor in election

To the Editor:

Republican candidate for the presidency, Robert J. Dole, formerly Senate majority leader, has served his country with distinction and honor as a Senator, and as a soldier surviving a brush with death on an Italian hillside in World War II while serving his country in times of monumental danger to its way of life.

Our historical record discloses that in the 220 years of our republic's existence, Sen. Dole will be the oldest citizen to run for the presidency. Meaning no disrespect, it seems to this writer – having gone past the age of 72 – that what our country most definitely needs in this juncture of our existence as a democracy is the alertness of mind and the vigor and stamina of a person, man or woman, who can withstand the hard work and the challenges that confront our country the world over.

Much as I admire Sen. Dole for his contribution to our democracy I will, no doubt, vote for the incumbent, William J. Clinton.

Engler adult ed proposals make sense

Phil Power

For years and years, Michigan has been spending big bucks – $185 million last year – on adult education, programs that help high school dropouts go back to the classroom.

Everybody admits the results are meager. Of the 185,000 students enrolled in adult ed, only 14,000 graduate, more than one-third drop out, and fewer than one in 10 find jobs or improve their earnings.

Worse, for years adult ed has been, in practice, the slush fund that lots of school districts used to balance their budgets.

Salaries for adult ed teachers have been traditionally less than for the regular K-12 classroom teachers, so districts have been taking the "profit" from the per-capita state grant for adult ed and using it to bolster their books. Newspapers used to be filled with advertisements touting adult ed class openings just after the autumn fourth Friday head count determined state funding levels for school districts.

Gov. John Engler wants to change all this. Predictably, he's getting a lot of flak for it. But in this instance, I think he's right on target.

First, he wants to put $50 million into community and workplace literacy grants to meet the reading, math and work-readiness of adults. These grants will be awarded to Michigan's 27 local workplace development boards, which will seek competitive proposals from school districts, charter schools, community colleges, nonprofit organizations and other institutions that provide training.

Wonderful! One fundamental reason government works so badly is its habit of designating monopoly – "presumptive provider" is the bureaucratic language – agencies to carry out certain tasks. Engler wants to bust up the monopoly on adult ed that K-12 school districts have had for so many years and use links between job training providers and employers to introduce competitive incentives into the system.

Engler argues that costs in the present system are high (up to $15,000 per participant) and results low. He compares this with Michigan's Economic Development Job Training program, which "prepared" (whatever that means) 70,000 workers for jobs at an average cost of $800.

Equally important, Engler argues, "Adult education is now a one-size-fits-all program: the wrong students are locked in, the right students are locked out, and virtually no one gets ahead."

This is so. Kids who finish school and get a job threatened by changing technology can't get help from the current adult ed system because they already have high school diplomas. On the other hand, high school dropouts over 20 are unlikely to be interested in high school classes; they want job training to get a better job, not 10th grade civics. School districts are good at basic education; expecting them to be good at job training is asking too much.

The part of the Engler program that is drawing the most criticism is the proposal to provide a free public education to any Michigan resident only through age 20. After 20, though, only adults who are recommended by their employer would be eligible for tax-paid tuition. School districts could offer adult ed to anyone over 20, but students would have to pay tuition.

Educators and others are screaming this is unfair. They cite statistics showing that 40 percent of beginning adult ed students have skills below eighth grade level. Of that group, 70 percent have less skills than fourth grades. With low skills, they have low wages; with low wages, they're unlikely to see much point in paying to improve their skills.

They may have a point. I suspect issues of tuition will be debated hard when the reform legislation starts working through the Legislature.

But the main points of Engler's proposals are sound: Distinguishing between K-12 basic education and job training, and making providers compete for state funding are both worth objectives. The Legislature should adopt them.

Do casinos contribute to state economy?

Getting up to date on the Indian casino gambling issue.

Tim Richard

Q. What was the state Senate voting on last week and this?

A. Gov. John Engler has negotiated pacts with three federally-recognized Indian tribes. They are:

• The Pokagon band of the Potawatomi tribe, with a site in New Buffalo Township on I-94 in the southwest corner of the state.

• The Little River band of the Ottawa tribe, with a site in Manistee on the Lake Michigan shoreline.

• The Little Traverse Bay bands of Odawa tribe, with a site on Mackinaw City.

Q. If senators dislike gambling casinos, can't they just vote "no"?

A. Many don't think they dare. Sen. Harry Gast, R-St. Joseph, one of the craftiest legislators and a non-gambler, calls a casino in his bailiwick "a foregone conclusion. This leaves us in the position of trying to get the best deal we can for the state and community."

Supporters say that if the state won't deal with them, the tribes will run to Washington for permits, and the state will lose all chance to regulate them. That's how it works under the 1988 federal Indian Gaming Regulatory Act (IGRA). Currently 24 sates have compacts with tribes for gaming.

Q. What kind of state regulation are we talking about?

A. The compacts call for 10 percent of Class III gaming net winnings to go to our governments – 8 percent to the Michigan Strategic Fund, 2 percent to local units.

Q. What's that worth?

A. Seven tribes operate 13 casinos. In 1995-96, they are estimated to take in a net of $384 million, pay the state $34 million and local units $8.5 million, up 58 percent from the prior year. That's from the state racing commissioner.

The big casino is the Chippewas' in Mt. Pleasant. It takes in almost as much as the other 12 combined.

Q. What do you mean by Class III gaming?

A. Class I is social games for prizes of minor value. Class II is bingo and other non-banking games.

Class III includes slot machines, blackjack, parimutuel racing, jai alai and video poker. Patrons play against the "bank" rather than each other.

Q. The figures make it sound like a growth industry.

A. My old economics professors would flunk a student for calling gambling an "industry."

No car is produced. No jar of baby food or pair of shoes is produced. No bad tooth is pulled. Money flows from one pocket to another without producing anything of economic value.

Q. Don't the tribes have a better way to make a living?

A. Apparently not. According to the pro-gaming propaganda, the Hydaburg tribe of Alaska has no gambling and a 50-55 percent unemployment rate. Nationally 32 percent of Indians live in poverty.

That's strange because in Michigan, people with only a fraction of Indian "blood" are entitled to tuition-free college, but barely 3 percent of Indians take advantage of it.

By the way, Engler wants to stop that – just give scholarships to the needy, regardless of their "blood." This time he's right.

Rather than see the state collect $34 million in gaming taxes, I'd rather spend $68 million on job training and teaching accounting.

Q. What else is the Senate voting on?

A. There's a resolution asking the federal government to let the states and locals have more regulatory control – zoning, building codes, liquor law enforcement, liability insurance requirements, and the like.

Q. Are the feds likely to give in?

A. Hard to say. It depends on whether the state-local controls are used to regulate or just to block.

Q. Lots of folks see casinos as Mafia-controlled dens of iniquity and prostitution. You too?

A. Maybe. I'm more concerned that Americans increasingly think they can strike it rich at gambling. My econ profs said you should work, budget, save part of what you earn, and invest it in productive enterprise.

Their way took years, but you produced something of value to other humans, and you relied on yourself, not luck.

In the last two centuries, white traders degraded Indians by selling them booze. Maybe gambling is the Indians' way of getting even.

Angler protection bill approved

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Michigan to PETA: Don't harass anglers.

The state Senate has given unanimous approval to four bills sponsored by Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, making it a misdemeanor to interfere with the fishing of two million resident license holders and a third of a million out-of-state tourists.

Target: PETA, People for Ethical Treatment of Animals.

"The individuals against legal fishing in Michigan purposely harass anglers by speeding by in boats, throwing rocks in the water near fishing lines, scaring away the fish and ruining the legitimate enjoyment of a great American pastime," said Geake as the bills went to the House.

No one spoke against the bills May 1 as they passed on 36-0 votes. Co-sponsors included Sens. Loren Bennett, R-Canton, and Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion.

Geake and Art Dittmar, the Farmington Hills resident who is president of Michigan United Conservation Clubs, hope for action by summer.

"PETA has shown their true colors and exposed the core of their agenda – to stop all consumptive use of animals, period," said Richard L. Jameson, new executive director of the 120,000-member MUCC.

"For many years, anglers have subsidized the management of our state's aquatic resources through the purchase of fishing licenses," Jameson said. "Fishing is as American as apple pie ... tailor-made for kids and families."

Licenses, likely to go up 20 percent in price next year, cover the entire $18 million fisheries budget of the state Department of Natural Resources, Geake said. With it, DNR releases 47 million fish of 25 species into state waters.

Geake called the measure "preemptive" since PETA has announced but not begun a campaign to bother anglers.

Here is how the bills, if enacted, would work:

- Senate Bill 963 protects recreational fishermen in a manner similar to the "hunter harassment law" of 1992. Reptiles are added to the definition of "aquatic species."
- SB 964 says a first offense of harassment is punishable by up to 93 days in jail and a fine of at least $500 and up to $1,000. A second offense is punishable by up to a year in jail, a fine of at least $1,000 and up to $2,500.
- SB 965 strengthens the "hunter harassment" law by providing for similar penalties as SB 964.
- SB 966 gives protection to commercial fishermen. The maximum penalty for a first offense would be $5,000; minimum, $500. A second offense would be a year in jail, a minimum fine of $1,000 and a maximum of $10,000.

Refer to the bills by number when writing to your state representative, State Capitol, Lansing 48909.

Co-op instructor honored by MCCN

Joan Sellen, a Northville resident and teacher at the Novi Cooperative Nursery school, recently received the Outstanding Teacher Award for 1996 from the Michigan Council of Cooperative Nurseries (MCCN). The award was presented at an MCCN conference held in Lansing on April 26-27.

Sellen has been a moderator for Teacher Rap Session Workshops for both Teachers' Association Workshops and the MCCN Conference. Her experience in the classroom and understanding of parents and children is combined with an ability as a skilled listener. She exemplifies the philosophy of co-ops and has helped many schools and teachers be their best for children.

Sellen has served the Teachers' Association in a variety of ways. Over the years she has been in charge of membership and in-service. In-service required her to find innovative and inspiring speakers for three conferences. As president, she co-authored Let's Talk, a guide for parents, teachers and board members. Let's Talk outlined board and teacher responsibilities and lines of communication. All co-ops in the Greater Detroit area received this valuable guide.

During Sellen's presidency teachers and co-ops expressed a need for the professional evaluation of teachers. With her committee, Sellen pioneered the teacher-to-teacher evaluation program and now several experienced co-op teachers serve as evaluators using an instrument that examines all areas of curriculum and the special concerns of co-op nurseries. Sellen continues to oversee the program.

For the last three years Sellen has served as a teacher consultant. In this role, she works with teachers and boards to clarify and understand problems, which aids in resolution.

Sellen has attended many board meetings of schools. She understands that the success of co-op programming depends on the teacher's relationship with the co-op board. Her calm, nonjudgmental attitude has been a comfort to those who have worked with her.

State jobless rate falls in March

Unemployment rates fell in all but two of Michigan's major labor market areas in March, according to seasonally unadjusted work force estimates compiled by the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC).

"Lansing and Flint were the only major areas where unemployment rose in March," MESC director F. Robert Edwards noted.

"Unemployment rates increased in both areas as the labor dispute between General Motors and the UAW in Ohio forced some local GM plants to shut down operations and layoff their workers."

The Lansing area had the largest increase, climbing to 5.9 percent from 3.7 percent in February.

Unemployment in the Flint area grew by seven-tenths of a point to 7.1 percent.

Among the other eight labor markets, unemployment rates dropped in March, and in seven of the areas, the drop was significant, averaging more than half a percentage point.

Benton Harbor and the Upper Peninsula (U.P.) had the largest rate declines at 1.2 percentage points.

The Ann Arbor area had the lowest March rate at 2.9 percent, while the 15-county Upper Peninsula had the highest rate at 8.8 percent.

A combination of work force declines and employment gains led to the lower March jobless rates, Edwards said.

"Most areas reported job gains in retail trade, services and construction last month," Edwards explained.

"On the other hand, manufacturing employment declined in most areas and declined sharply in the Detroit, Flint and Lansing areas because of the GM-UAW strike."

Over the year, unemployment rates were down from their March 1995 levels in all areas but Flint and Lansing.

The declines ranged from three-tenths of a point in the Grand Rapids-Muskegon-Holland area to three percentage points in the U.P.

Among the state's 83 counties, northern Michigan counties generally had the highest rates and were led by Mackinac at 21.7 percent.

The lowest rate occurred in Washtenaw County at 2.1 percent.

Northville grad gets badge during special ceremony

Northville resident Dan Pilarz was presented with an Eagle Scout badge in a special ceremony May 5.

Pilarz joined the Cub Scouts in September 1985. His Scout leader John Beemer, also his pack leader, has seen Pilarz grow and has watched him progress through the different ranks of Scouting. This has taken 11 years of hard work.

Pilarz is a member of Troop No. 903 in Northville. He has earned two Boy Scout religious awards, and has served in several positions, including den chief, assistant patrol leader, patrol leader, librarian, assistant senior patrol leader, senior patrol leader, and junior assistant scout master.

Pilarz has visited West Point Academy in New York, and served as a patrol leader there in 1992. He attended the National Jamboree in Virginia in 1993 and while there served as an assistant patrol leader.

Dan Pilarz

His Eagle project consisted of designing and constructing a hexagon table and detached benches for Bartlett Elementary School in South Lyon. He also did some landscape enhancement and constructed a rock garden which the students will be able to plant in the spring.

Pilarz received his Eagle rank Nov. 15, 1995. Troop 903 presented Pilarz with a special Court of Honor on May 5 which is when he actually received the presentation of the Eagle badge. The event took place at Mill Race Historical Village.

Pilarz attended Northville High School K-12. He graduated in 1995. While a student he:

- Was a member of symphonic and marching bands for four years, playing percussion.
- Was a member of Northville High School play and musical and technical crew during his senior year.
- Earned an outstanding achievement MEAP reading award.
- Received a Lawrence Technological University scholarship.

Pilarz is currently attending L.T.U. and is pursuing a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering.

Strong to the finish

Novi runner Maureen Sarnacki was an early finisher at the Maybury State Park Earth Day 10-K run. She wasn't alone in the field, however, as 111 runners participated in the race. Northville Parks and Recreation provided helpers for the event, and Running Fit gave gift certificates to the front runners and volunteers.

Patterson addresses issues

Staff Writer

Look for the Legislature to pump 7 or 8 cents more of fuel tax into Michigan roads, an effort to revamp the Oakland Community College board, a tough reelection battle for Prosecutor Richard Thompson and strong efforts by Oakland County to gain clout in the State Capitol.

County Executive L. Brooks Patterson touched on a wide range of topics in an interview broadcast May 11 on Channel 7's Spotlight on News program. Patterson, a Republican seeking a second four-year term, had no announced opposition at the time. He stopped short of announcing a 1998 bid for governor. Excerpts:

Q. What can you do for the economy in a second term?

A. We have the Oakland County Business Roundtable with 137 suggestions: just keep pluggin' away implementing the suggestions made by the private sector.

Q. Attorney Richard Krandle of Farmington Hills is a victim of Oakland's prosperity because he has to drive on potholed, narrow streets, and he wonders why Oakland continues to recruit new industry, commerce, offices and housing when the roads can't handle it.

A. That's not occurring just in Oakland County. It's occurring across the state. The Legislature will have to come to grips – I assume they will – with a gas tax hike. We're operating on the level of taxation that existed in 1984 (15 cents a gallon). I think it's coming.

You'll recall the governor (John Engler) and I had a mild tug-of-war over some (federal) road money from ISTEA (Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act) ... The funds got snared in Lansing. Your friend is right. If we want to choke off economic growth in this county, leave the roads the way they are.

I'm guessing seven or eights cents (per gallon increase). A penny for debt service, a penny for bridges, the rest for roads. Everybody wants to run and hide on the tax question before an election, but after an election they've got two years, and the public will accept it.

Q. We heard stories in SEMCOG (Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, regional road planning agency) that you, Detroit Mayor Archer and Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara were threatened by the governor (for resisting Engler's effort to keep 84 percent of road funds at the state level). Anything to that?

A. I don't know that I could call it "threatened." It was the process of tough negotiation. You make it clear that if you maintain a tough position, this is likely to occur. It's not a threat; it's tough bargaining. The governor's a tough bargainer, but so are we.

Q. Oakland County has been Michigan's cash cow, sending $1.9 billion to the state. You said you wanted to get more back for Oakland, via the Legislature. What have you done?

A. You're right, we are the biggest provider. We're 79th out of 83 counties in (per capita) receipts. We have formed a coalition with schools, higher learning, chambers of commerce, road commission, drain commission, the courts. We ask why, why, why?

This task force has identified where the money goes. A patient in Grand Rapids gets $3-and-something; we get $1.98.

In a couple years, term limits will clear out 84 senators and representatives. That will change the power structure. Now, 10 out of 11 chairs of committees are from the west side of the state.

Q. My boss, John Reddy, raises a question about growth in northern Oakland County, where we've got three new newspapers. What does that do to the county budget in terms of services? What is your thinking about urban sprawl?

A. The word "sprawl" is pejorative. One man's sprawl is another man's growth. Our growth is quality growth. The Somerset Collection in Troy, when it opens in August, will create 3,900 new jobs that didn't exist. A tremendous magnet for all over the country.

I think the growth is controlled, and it's quality. It's not a strain on the county as such. It's the communities that will have to deal with the day-to-day problems.

Q. Prosecutor Dick Thompson, who was your lieutenant for 16 years (when Patterson was prosecutor), has staked his career on convicting Jack Kevorkian (in assisting suicides). If you were still prosecutor, would you spend the amount of money that has been spent on this?

A. No. After the last trial, I said I would dismiss every pending case, including the one that's in trial right now, go to the Legislature and say, "By God, give me a law I can enforce."

If you know Dick, you know his rainbow has two colors – black and white. No shades, it's either murder or it's not.

Dick and I are having our problems. I would give Dick passing grades. I would do it differently, and I did do it differently. I would have taken a run at (the Kevorkian case) on a manslaughter level (rather than murder).

County well represented on ticket

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Oakland County is fielding its share of Supreme Court candidates – and more – for the Democratic State Convention.

Judge Marilyn Kelly of the Court of Appeals and Circuit Judge Jessica Cooper campaigned at the 11th Congressional District convention, where the chief order of business was picking national convention delegates.

Two seats are open. Chief Justice James H. Brickley, a Republican appointee and nominee, is seeking reelection. Justice Charles Levin, an independent of strong liberal bent, must retire because he is past age 70.

Kelly, of Bloomfield Hills, has been on the state's second highest court since 1988 and earlier in her career spent 12 years on the State Board of Education. She is making her second bid for the Supreme Court.

This year's nominations will be made at a Sept. 7 convention.

Cooper, a 10-year veteran of the circuit bench and former Southfield district judge, gained public attention when she was repeatedly attacked by Prosecutor Richard Thompson in one of the assisted suicide trials of Dr. Jack Kevorkian.

Important Questions and Answers About Our Recall.

T. J. Wagner
Vice President
Customer Communication
& Satisfaction

Ford Motor Company
Dearborn, MI 48121

To Our Ford, Lincoln and Mercury Owners:

As a responsible company we feel an obligation to our customers to address their concerns, which is why Ford Motor Company recently announced a program to voluntarily recall 8.7 million vehicles to replace ignition switches. While the actual number of complaints was less than two hundredths of one percent of that total, it is important to us that these concerns be properly addressed.

Q: What happened?
A: Following an intensive investigation in cooperation with the U.S. National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and Transport Canada, we determined that the ignition switch in a very small percentage of certain models could develop a short circuit—creating the potential for overheating, smoke, and possibly fire in the steering column of the vehicle. The factors that contribute to this are a manufacturing process change to the ignition switch in combination with the electrical load through the switch.

Q: What vehicles are affected by this voluntary recall?
A: The following model year vehicles are affected:

- 1988 Ford EXP.
- 1988-1990 Ford Escort.
- 1988-1992 Ford Mustang, Thunderbird, Tempo, and Mercury Cougar and Topaz.
- 1993 Ford Mustang, Thunderbird, Tempo, and Mercury Cougar and Topaz models built prior to October 1992.
- 1988-1989 Ford Crown Victoria, Mercury Grand Marquis and Lincoln Town Car.
- 1988-1991 Ford Aerostar, Ford Bronco full-size sport utility and Ford F-Series light truck.

Q: What should I do?
A: If you own one of these vehicles, you will receive a letter from us instructing you to take your vehicle to the Ford or Lincoln/Mercury dealer of your choice and have the switch replaced free of charge. However, you do not have to wait for our letter. You may contact your dealer and arrange to have the switch replaced immediately if you choose, free of charge.

Q: How long will it take?
A: The repair procedure should take a little less than an hour. But please contact your dealer in advance to schedule a time that is convenient for you; they are making appointments daily. We have already completed about 300,000 appointments.

Q: What if I need additional help?
A: You may contact your dealer anytime, or call our Ford Ignition Switch Recall Customer Information Line at:

1-800-323-8400

With nearly 5 million ignition switch repair parts already available, we are ready to address your concerns immediately. We'll take a major step like this to make sure that people who buy a Ford, Lincoln, or Mercury vehicle know that they bought more than a vehicle, they bought a company and a dealer organization that stands behind the cars and trucks they build and sell. That is our Quality is Job 1 promise to you. Thank you for your patience and support.

Coupon clippers see big savings

By Noreen Jo Thomas

Is coupon clipping and saving for you? How much can you save?

A typical coupon shopper can expect a savings of about 25 percent in the Midwest. But a die-hard coupon hunter can save more – much more – about 50 percent. One store, in Fargo, N.D., reserves a cash register for a woman who actually calls in when she is ready to come in and shop, the reason being that she has so many coupons that it ties up a cash register for a long time.

Another grocer reported one coupon shopper had a bill that retailed for $220, but with some organized coupon clipping the patron paid only $70. The store-owner double checked everything and she had all the right coupons.

Other coupon clippers say they can, with a little planning, have a $70 grocery bill reduced to only $20, saving $50 on the food bill. These savings can add up to quite a chunk of the family budget. For a family of four, one coupon clipper spends $3,000 a year on groceries. This is far below the normal $4,000 to $5,000 spend per year by the average family of four.

Tips to help you get the most from your coupon collecting:

1. Be organized; clip, and file the coupons in order.

2. Make a list and stick to it.

3. Use a store coupon with a manufacturer's coupon for the same product. By combining these two, the result can be free a item, or discounted to just pennies for the item.

4. Another tip is to plan to make the menu from the food items on sale. For instance, when spaghetti sauce goes on sale, plan to make lasagna, spaghetti, calzones. Make several batches. Eat one this week and freeze the rest for later use.

5. Stock up on staples when they are on sale. (Such as sugar, flour, frozen vegetables and margarine.) This will usually carry you till the next sale.

6. Use a food dehydrator to dehydrate produce in season for use later. Apples from your tree or grapes on sale in summer can be preserved with a dehydrator for later use. That way you are locking in the price and can enjoy the flavor all winter when prices are higher. You can save 50 to 95 percent of the off-season cost.

Other food recycle tips:

1. Use the juice from the pickle jar to flavor dressings, salad, and coleslaw. Combine equal amounts of oil or salad dressing with pickle juice for coleslaw.

2. Have some leftover cooked vegetables? Use these to make sauces richer and thicker. Dice the vegetables into medium sized pieces, stir them in and heat.

3. Simmer citrus rinds or apple rinds in a small kettle with water. Refreshes the air with clean scent.

Special Olympics games come to CMU

Some 3,400 athletes will take dreams, along with their hard work and training to the 1996 Michigan Special Olympics State Summer Games on the campus of Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant, May 30-June 1. The theme for the 1996 Games is "Dreams of Gold."

The Games will officially begin with opening ceremonies at Kelly Shorts Stadium on Thursday evening at 6:30, May 30. Returning for his second year is actor Chris Burke, who delighted athletes and everyone else at last year's Summer Games.

Burke is best known for his role of Corky, a teenager with Down syndrome, on the television series, Life Goes On which aired from 1989-93. He will lead the Parade of Athletes into the stadium. Spectators at the Opening Ceremonies will also be treated to a concert by the Grass Roots. The three-day sporting event is open to the public at no cost.

Competition will take place throughout the day on Friday, May 31, and Saturday, June 1, and conclude with Closing Ceremonies on Saturday evening at 7 p.m. Michigan Special Olympics athletes will be pursuing their "Dreams of Gold" in aquatics (swimming), gymnastics, horseshoes, bocce, bowling, weightlifting, powerlifting, volleyball, tennis, team handball and athletics (track and field).

There will also be participation in developmental athletics and the Motor Activities Training Program for individuals with severe and multiple impairments.

Spartan Stores Inc. is the exclusive sponsor of the Summer Games for the 12th consecutive year. In addition to the financial support, Spartan Stores employees and retailers provide countless volunteer hours to make the Michigan Summer Games one of the biggest and best Special Olympics events in the nation.

Numerous special events are scheduled throughout the games. Events include a carnival on Friday and the Victory Dance on Sunday night. There will be a Unified softball game on Friday night. Unified sports include athletes with and without mental retardation on the same team. Hall of Fame sports broadcaster, Ernie Harwell, will be on hand at the game with some introductory comments. Other celebrities will also be on hand to encourage the athletes, award medals to winners, and enjoy the competition.

Michigan Special Olympics is a year-round program of sports training and competition for children and adults with mental retardation or closely related developmental disabilities. For more information, contact the state office of Michigan Special Olympics at Central Michigan University at Mount Pleasant; 1-800-644-6404.

Guv announces summer teen employment push

Gov. John Engler has asked the Michigan Jobs Commission and the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) to work together in helping employers, facing labor shortages, to recruit young workers for summer jobs.

"Our unemployment rate is at an all-time low, and we expect employers will have a high need for summer workers this year, especially in light of labor shortages some areas are already facing," the Governor said. "I have, therefore, asked the Jobs Commission and MESC to pool their resources and to recruit Michigan youth for summer jobs."

On Wednesday, May 15, a letter began going out to about 100,000 Michigan employers, asking them to notify their local MESC office of any summer openings they expect to have this year. MESC offices will become central points for summer job listings.

The Jobs Commission will be working with the newly formed local Workforce Development Boards to send information to schools, government agencies and the community at large, letting potential job seekers know that MESC offices have summer job openings available.

"We're calling this effort 'Cold Cash for a Cool Summer,'" Gov. Engler said. "The program will benefit both employers and young people by linking summer jobs with the people who typically fill them."

MESC will be key with its statewide network of employment service offices. In their communities, the MESC office will become the one-stop focus point for listing summer jobs from area employers that are suitable for youth.

Young people will be able to examine the listings on a central board in the MESC office and then, on their own, select the jobs that interest them and contact the employers directly for interviews.

Employers will be able to fax information about their job openings directly to MESC offices. They can also dial the agency's Employer Customer Relations Hotline toll free at 1-800-638-3994 for assistance.

Tempering work place

The office can also be a site of anger and violence

By CAROL WORKENS
Staff Writer

What do unwarranted anger, externalization of blame, substance abuse and fascination with weaponry have in common?

They are among the many warning signs which could trigger concern as to whether a person is experiencing problems; problems which may or may not put a person over the edge and lead to work place violence.

"There is a degree of responsibility for employers to create a healthy, safe work environment, sometimes it happens naturally and sometimes it takes real effort to make that occur," Novi Police Chief Doug Shaeffer said.

A publication which can assist employers in preventing and minimizing problems is "Combating Workplace Violence, Guidelines for Employers and Law Enforcement," and is available at the Novi Police Department.

"It is very detailed, self explanatory, easy to read, and easy for a company to utilize to help focus their thinking about some of these kinds of issues," Shaeffer said.

Workplace violence can be minimized when pre-incident preparation is put in place.

One of the basic things an employer can do is spend a lot of time at the front of the hiring practice to help prevent employing people who are predisposed to violence and especially those who have a history of violence in the workplace.

This can be accomplished by thoroughly checking the employment history of the applicant, making inquires and talking to previous supervisors and coworkers. An employer can also check court records, which are open to the public, though there may be a nominal fee.

"The police department and many other employers I know spend an awful lot of time making sure they hire the highest quality people they can in the front of the process so that they can minimize the problems they might have during the span of time in which a person is employed with them," Shaeffer said.

Novi has its share of workplace violence, from robberies to confrontations with customers, union activity, molestations and rapes, and even domestic disputes, which are all potential violence in the workplace type events.

"We know we spend an awful lot of time in the commercial environment, industrial, retail, commercial sector carrying out police business," Shaeffer said, though numbers of incidents are not kept in statistical format.

"Certainly numbers of crimes in Novi are growing," Shaeffer said. "Here in Novi, of course, we realize a lot of that is a function of growth, so it's hard for us to pull out of that violence-in-the-work-place-only type events."

The resources of the police department can be utilized in the pre- and post-event environment..

"We recommend that companies understand our resources and utilize them," Shaeffer said. "I think most people understand the resources of police departments and certainly ours are anything from basic advice and counseling to advanced crime protection and crime prevention, physical security reviews, helping them change their physical environment, change some of their employment practices so that they minimize the risk without interfering with their actual work processes."

After an incident the police can perform an investigation of a violent event and run a criminal history on the person involved. Not only will the police make contact with the person making the threat but will also render some advice, training and education such as how to obtain a personal protection order.

"We can serve as the central point of contact for employers and employees after an event has taken place for everybody to be able to call for information and give information, seek advice and counsel and that type of thing," he said.

Employers should inform employees of how and where to report violent acts or threats of violence without fear of reprisal or criticism.

"We encourage employers to work with their employees who feel threatened, which is conducive to team work efforts, quality circles or any contemporary management styles that we hear about today," he said.

Employees can also call the police, who can serve in an advisory capacity before an event happens.

On occasion the police will receive calls from people when the employer didn't want them to call but they felt like they had to anyway.

"If someone is a victim of a crime, regardless of whether the employer wants them contacting the police or not, the criminal event still happened to them personally," Shaeffer said.

Policies and procedures on workplace violence cannot be effectively implemented unless managers have been trained in the appropriate ways to handle terminations, layoffs and discipline through sensitivity and aggression management training. Employees should be given information about the early warning signs of a troubled or potentially violent person and how to response to the individual and report the incident.

The City of Northville ran an Employee Assistance Program for all city employees, including the police department, to help them deal with people either over the phone or in person who are upset.

"A lot of things we learned are also useful on the job," said Sergeant Jim Petres, who answers an occasional call to go to a store and help resolve a dispute between a customer and a store employee.

"Combating Work Place Violence" includes a model policy for workplace threats and violent acts that employers can give to their employees. Included in the policy is a explanation of behavior that is forbidden and the disciplinary action which will result, expectations for reporting to management any threats they have witnessed or received either personally or have been told about by another employee.

"Of course the police department resources are also active in terms of 'need a cop, call a cop – 911 works,'" said Shaeffer. "We'll be there very rapidly after an event has occurred or during the commission of an event."

Pre-incident violence prevention and preparation

There are a number of steps employers can take to minimize the impact of workplace violence and threats:

- Pre-employment screening should include checking references and inquiring about prior incidents of violence
- Take advantage of community resources such as law enforcement and security experts
- Prevention programs to assist troubled employees
- Institute and review security procedures which allow former employees and visitors access to the building, provide safe lighting and escorts, if necessary, to parking lots, and review physical security measures such as alarms and metal detectors, etc.
- Improve internal/external communications to alert others to a dangerous situation by providing emergency information in a number of locations in the building
- Companies should have a threat management plan in place
- Establish ground rules for behavior that include policies concerning drug abuse, possession of weapons, and threats or actual violence in the workplace
- Reporting procedures so employees know how and where to report violent acts
- Employee and manager training which includes how to handle terminations, layoffs and discipline

Mark Sturing saw a need for senior housing in Novi.

Sturing looking at housing for seniors

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

Senior citizens housing in Novi is closer to being a reality than it was a year ago says Mark Sturing, a real estate attorney.

He was appointed by the city council in 1995 to serve as one of five men on the Senior Housing Building Authority.

Property which will be obtained for senior citizens housing will be financed by issuing tax exempt bonds.

"I can't speak on behalf of the committee," Sturing said, "but I can say that we have looked at sites we think would be good."

The committee meets every six weeks or so. No regularly scheduled meetings are held but when new information is presented, members meet to discuss it.

"I have ridden by sites or looked at them on a map," said Sturing.

The Senior Citizens Housing Needs Study Committee studied the situation in 1988 and 1989 and presented its findings to the city council. Members studied both high-rise complexes and cluster-type housing. They decided that cluster housing would suit Novi seniors best.

In 1995, the Senior Housing Building Authority was appointed by the city council as the second step in making Novi senor citizen housing a reality.

It is now 1996. To the inexperienced person, a year seems like a long time said Mark Sturing, but "in my opinion development has made a lot of progress."

Why he got himself involved in this volunteering is the story of seeing a need and offering to fill it.

Having spent seven years in Michigan State Housing Development and as an attorney, Mark Sturing said, "I knew there was a need for" senior citizen housing in Novi, "and I thought I had talents in moving it" into becoming a reality.

"I applied for it and was appointed by the city council."

If you are interested in helping motivate progress, talk to the city clerk about being a part of it.

It's A Fact

Still time to request money

There are only eight days remaining for charitable organizations to submit written requests to The Northville Town Hall Series Board of Awards for money.

Charitable organizations should send a written request including a statement on how the money will be spent and a brief summary of the purpose of the organization by May 31 to the attention of Board of Awards Chairman, Northville Town Hall Series, P.O. Box 93, Northville, MI 48167.

Visit with family memorable for couple

Dr. and Mrs. James S. Tsoucaris of Northville recently returned from a four-week vacation in Greece. They traveled to the Greek islands of Chios, Crete, Santorini, Paros and Andiparos.

On the island of Chios, where all four of their parents were born, they visited with three generations of relatives. On the night before they were to depart for home, the parents gave a farewell dinner which was attended by 67 relatives. The couple previously visited the island in 1965 and 1984.

Looking for a few good dads

With Mother's Day behind us, now it's dad's turn. On June 16, father's will have their day.

On June 13 the Northville Record/Novi News will honor Northville and Novi fathers.

Call Carol Workens at 349-1700 and tell her about what makes your dad special.

We will try to include as many dads as possible in our story.

Youth Volunteer of the Week

Dostal drawn to grammar school

By CAROL WORKENS
Staff Writer

Jon (J.P.) Dostal has done a lot more than readin', writin' and 'rithmetic at Orchard Hills Elementary School in Novi.

While a student in Ann Prine's first grade class, he gave a magic show featuring hand tricks and illusions, which he continues to do every year.

Dostal also has helped with the school circus, which kept him in touch with Prine, who retires this year after 32 years with the Novi school district.

So when Prine discovered Dostal's experience on the computer four years ago, she asked him to help her first grade students after school. Two hours a day, Dostal helps with math or reading.

"I started playing with my dad's computer at home when I was five or six," he said. "A lot of them (students), if they have computers at home, it really helps them, but the others pick it up pretty quickly. It doesn't take them long to get it."

Dostal enjoys the magic show because the students are very surprised to find out the magician is their volunteer computer teacher.

Dostal is planning something big for the magic show next year. All new props are being made for the show which will be an all-school presentation, according to Dostal.

With Prine retiring, Dostal will be moving up to the third grade.

"I decided to be an elementary school teacher in sixth grade," he said. "I like working with the elementary school students the best."

Next year he will be doing work training at the elementary school for full credit, almost like a student teacher, according to Prine.

Dostal also works with the assistant editor of the school's newspaper and has cataloged 500 books for the school.

The son of Jon and Judy Dostal of Novi, he also enjoys track at Novi High School, where he is a sophomore.

If you know of a youth who is active in volunteer work in the community, call Carol Workens at 349-1700.

'The Pallbearer' struggles to make sense of life's little uncertainties

For anybody who's ever struggled to make sense of life's uncertainties — friendship, love, careers and growing up — Miramax Films presents "The Pallbearer," a new dark comedy from first-time director Matt Reeves.

Just out of college, Tom Thompson (David Schwimmer) can't find a job, a girlfriend or a way out of his mother's (Carol Kane) house in Brooklyn.

Still surrounded by loyal friends (Michael Rapaport, Toni Collette, Michael Vartan, Bitty Schram) from his youth, Tom's heart reels when he is reunited with his high school crush Julie DeMarco (Gwyneth Paltrow).

Just when his luck seems to be changing, Tom receives a mysterious phone call from a woman (Barbara Hershey) asking him to be a pallbearer at the funeral of an old classmate.

Struck with a sense of duty, Tom agrees despite one dilemma: he can't remember who the classmate is.

For Tom, it's just the beginning of a series of errors and mistaken identities that will send his friendships, love, life and outlook on the world spinning back into uncertainty.

Even though Tom Thompson encounters many emotional obstacles in "The Pallbearer," Schwimmer said he felt an instant connection to the part.

Schwimmer committed to "The Pallbearer," an independent film by a first time director with a distinct voice, primarily because of the freshness of the screenplay and the strength of the lead character.

"I read the script and I thought, 'I have to play this part,' Schwimmer said. "Reading something that isn't a question happens very rarely. I thought, 'I would do anything to be in this movie and to play this part.'

"Tom Thompson is a very rich character. He finds himself at that awkward time in life when every move he makes seems to steal his fate forever.

"Tom is sort of trapped. And when he receives the phone call from the Barbara Hershey character, he has to deal with it. Through that experience, Tom gains confidence and is finally able to move on with his life."

Vartan, who portrays Tom Thompson's best friend Scott Edelman, notes that Schwimmer supplied a significant amount of humor.

"It was really hard working with Schwimmer sometimes. With just a look, he would turn to me and I had to bite my lip until it bled so I didn't laugh ... He's a great physical comedian."

Paltrow seemed ideal for the part of Julie DeMarco, Tom Thompson's unrequited love.

"Julie is probably the nicest girl I've ever played. And like every other character (in the movie), she's attempting to discover herself," Paltrow said.

Like Schwimmer, Paltrow was drawn to the emotional complexity of the screenplay.

"When comedy and tragedy are right next to each other, it makes for the most wonderful pieces of work. If you read or go see Chekhov or even Shakespeare, tragedy is always laced with comedy and vice versa. That combination establishes extremes of emotions and allows you to laugh or cry even harder."

Again, the depth of both the character and the script attracted Hershey.

"Ruth is a lower middle class woman who has always defined herself with men. Her husband has just died and her son has just committed suicide and she's desperately afraid of being alone.

"She's the saddest character I've ever played, but there's a lot of fun and darkness and humor in her. As I read the script with Ruth in mind, I was constantly surprised at the turns the whole movie took. It dealt an awful lot with death and sex — things like that are really interesting to me."

'The Truth About Cats & Dogs' is year's best romantic comedy

READER MOVIE REVIEWS

"The Truth about Cats and Dogs" is this year's best romantic-comedy so far, and reminds me a lot of the blockbuster hit "While You Were Sleeping."

Uma Thurman, Janeane Garofalo, Ben Chaplin and Harry the Dog star in "The Truth about Cats and Dogs," and all of them will keep you laughing and smiling throughout the movie.

Janeane Garofalo ("Bye, Bye Love," "Now and Then," "Reality Bites") plays Abbey, a vet with her own radio talk show, "The Truth About Cats and Dogs." One day, she gets a call from a photographer who has a problem; the dog he's supposed to be taking pictures of somehow put a pair of roller skates on and won't let anyone take them off.

Of course, Abbey helps him out of the jam. And naturally, he wants to thank her in person. But instead of telling him who she really is, she describes herself as her neighbor, Noelle.

Now, Noelle's pretending to be Abbey without falling for the guy herself. But soon, Noelle and Abbey are in love with the same guy...and he's in love with Noelle's looks and Abbey's personality.

"The Truth About Cats and Dogs" receives five stars out five. It's charming, funny, and a definite must see!

Mustangs drop district opener

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Kirsty Greer scored with 2:21 remaining in sudden-death overtime Monday to give Novi High a 2-1 victory over Northville in the opening round of the state tournament.

Teammate Jamie Vandermass sent a crossing pass from the right wing into Greer near the middle of the Mustang net. A pair of Mustangs attempted to clear the ball but missed. The Novi forward then collected the ball and kicked it high into the left corner of Northville's net for the game-winner.

It was the second time in a month Greer, a former Northville High student, beat the Mustangs. It was also the second time in as many years that Novi has ousted Northville in the district opener.

"I thought we had some chances to win," Mustang coach Doug Lyon said. "But Novi hung in there and did a good job of keeping us from scoring."

The Wildcats advanced to Wednesday's district semi-final against Livonia Stevenson. Northville finished its year at 9-6-2.

If you had to categorize Monday's game, weird might be the best way to describe it. Both teams scored in the first four minutes.

That was it, as far as offense goes, until Greer's goal. In between, the two border rivals duked it out for 100 minutes without doing damage to either.

Kristin Baja gave Northville the lead at 37:53 of the first half on a penalty kick. The Mustangs' Brigid Bowdell moved in on Novi goalkeeper Stephanie Manza on a breakaway and was pulled down from behind in the penalty area.

Baja made no mistake with her kick. She placed it just beyond Manza's reach in the right side of the net to make it 1-0.

Just more than a minute later, Novi went on the attack. The Wildcats forced a corner kick from the right side of the field.

Forward Erin Spindler then launched a hooking kick in the corner that curved in past Northville's Meghan Cauzillo to tie it a 1-1 at 36:20.

Despite the goal, the Mustangs continued to dominate. Lyndsay Huot sent a shot off the crossbar at 34:20. Midfielders Amanda DeKoker and Sue McQuaid helped keep the pressure on Novi with excellent ballhandling and persistence.

The Wildcats finally began to even out play about 15 minutes into the game. But neither team managed a good scoring chance the rest of the half.

Both teams played very aggressively on defense and really limited offenses to kick and run. Lyon said his team didn't take advantage of the few opportunities it had.

"We didn't shoot as much as I wanted," he added.

The second half was more of the same. Bowdell missed a chance to score late in the half.

With just under six minutes remaining, the freshman got a breakaway up the leftwing. Manza came out to challenge and Bowdell leftfooted one just wide of the net.

Regulation ended tied 1-1.

Two 10 minute overtimes yielded little offense. Finally, in the first sudden death period, Greer scored to end the marathon in Novi's favor.

Netters make state finals; win WLAA

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

For the second year in a row, Northville High will send its tennis team to the state final.

The Mustangs advanced from Friday's regional by taking second place with 19 points. No. 1 ranked Ann Arbor Huron won the tournament with 28 points.

Coach Dick Norton was happy to earn a ticket to next week's finals in Midland. But he thought his team could've earned a few more points.

"I thought there were a few flights we should've beat Huron," he added.

Northville made it to the final round in five of seven flights in the regional, which it hosted.

Dave Anderson made it to the semi-final at No. 1 singles. He took wins over Novi's Rich Vandermass and Canton's Ryan Kerr before falling to eventual champ Mike Kosta in straight sets.

"He's one of the top players in the state," Norton said of Kosta.

Ravi Mujumdar also made it to the semi-finals before falling. He took two straight victories before falling to tournament champion John Long 6-0, 6-1.

Mike Bush and Arjun Srinivasan both made it to the finals.

Bush, playing at No. 3 singles, defeated Howell's Eric Reickay in round two then beat Rich Kowalczyk of Novi 7-5, 6-2. Bush played well in the final but lost to Huron's Andy Uher in straight sets.

"He's a competitor," Norton said of Bush. "He comes to play."

Srinivasan won his first two matches easily. Ann Arbor's Own Fileti then beat him 6-3, 6-0.

Northville advanced to the finals of all three doubles matches. But each time fell to Huron.

Ganesh Nayakwadi and Nick Sriraman lost to Mike Weber and Jesco Kutschera at top doubles in three sets. Rohit Jha and Ryan Steinhauer lost to Eric Fileti and Jim Sayed at No. 2. Matt Thompson and Yusuke Ishigami lost in straight sets to Mike Kelleher and Tom McHugh.

CONFERENCE MEET

Dynasty.

That's the only way to describe the Mustangs in terms of league play. Northville captured its fifth straight Western Lakes title May 15 by narrowly edging North Farmington.

It all came down to a match between Srinivasan and Nomit Shah of North Farmington. The two schools were tied at 24 points after the first day of competition on May 14.

Srinivasan needed to beat Shah for the Mustangs to repeat. He did just that and won in straight sets, 7-5, 7-5.

"I feel especially good about this year," Norton said. "Going in I knew North Farmington would be a good team. I knew it would be a struggle, but the guys came through."

As for six straight WLAA titles?

"It'll be the same next year," said Norton. "North Farmington and Salem are both going to be tough."

Baseball squad whips Franklin

The way Tom Willerer is pitching these days he's liable to end up throwing at the corner of Michigan and Trumbull soon.

For now, the right hander continues to work for Northville High. He led the Mustangs to an easy 11-1 home win over Livonia Franklin Friday.

Willerer tossed a two-hitter and struck out 11. The game lasted only six innings because of the state mercy rule.

"He's throwing darts right now," said coach Mickey Newman.

That's the truth, too. Willerer was timed at 88 miles per hour on the radar gun last week.

"He was overpowering against Franklin," Newman added.

He was scheduled to get the call yesterday in the Western Lakes Activities Association championship game. Northville was to face off against Westland John Glenn (after Record deadline).

Northville got all the runs it needed in the first inning.

The Mustangs scored three times in the first, which included a two run single from Phil Kozdron. Six more runs in the second made it 9-0 after two innings.

Willerer helped his own cause by belting a two-run homer. Other offensive standouts were Kyle Hitchcock with two hits and Marc Sander who smacked a two-run triple.

Northville is currently 13-6 overall and finished 8-2 in the Western Division.

NORTHVILLE 8, STEVENSON 7

The May 15 home game was the ultimate comeback for Northville.

Down 7-5 in the bottom of the seventh with two outs, Chris Shiftar singled. Nate Forney followed with another single to put two runners aboard.

Up stepped Willerer. The senior had been hitting the ball hard all spring, but had yet to hit a home run.

He proceeded to launch a 400-foot rocket over the fence for a three-run homer to win the game.

It was, actually, Willerer's first career home run.

"That was huge," said Newman.

K. Yoshida picked up the victory in relief of starter Tim Smojver.

CHURCHILL DOUBLEHEADER

Northville took both ends of a makeup doubleheader on May 14.

Shifter's three-run homer led the way to a 9-6 victory in the opener. Forney and Hitchcock added solo home runs. Sander had three hits as well.

The right hander struck out 13 batters.

"He's got a real good forkball," said Newman. "It was falling off the table."

The coach gave some credit to catcher Jamie Belanger for his pitching staff's success.

NORTHVILLE 10, CANTON 0

Willerer limited the Chiefs to one hit on May 13.

"He came real close to a no-no," said Newman.

Hitchcock, who went 11 of 14 for the week, had four hits in the game to go with four stolen bases. Forney had three RBI and Sander added two hits and four stolen bases.

Dalziel, Poole head to finals

Success.

That's the one word that best describes the Mustang girls' track team day at regional competition Friday. Northville High qualified for state finals in three events at the Milford meet.

"It's definitely the highlight of the year," coach Chris Cronin said and added that his team peaked for the race. "We hadn't run well enough to qualify anybody (before Friday)."

Pinckney won the regional while Brighton was second and Pontiac Central third. Northville took eighth place.

"I was really thrilled," Cronin said. "I didn't think we could ask for more."

Carrie Dalziel was the first to earn a ticket to Grand Rapids. She qualified in the 100-meter dash by taking second place in 12.9 seconds.

"She set the tone for the entire day early on," said Cronin. "Carrie Dalziel is a real competitor."

Northville posted its best time of the year in the 400-meter relay to take second place and earn a finals bid. The team of Dalziel, Nicole Weyer, Christina Chase and Katie Rompel finished in 51.5 seconds.

Cronin said handoffs were nearly flawless during the relay.

"Our first two runners set it up for our seniors to bring it home," he added.

In the long jump, Melissa Poole qualified. She won the regional competition despite not feeling 100 percent. Poole jumped a career best 16-feet 5 3/4-inches.

"She got everything out of her jumps," said Cronin.

Northville earned points in several other events Friday.

Emily Howland took fourth in the 200-meter dash with a time of 27.8 seconds.

Chase and Erica Winn didn't place in the 300-meter hurdles but did run well. Chase was the first Northville athlete to get under 50 seconds in five years (49.5) while Winn also ran strong at (52.6).

Amity Heckemeyer set a personal record in the 800-meter. She slashed five seconds off her previous best with a time of 2:34.

NORTHVILLE 71, CHURCHILL 57

The Mustangs got their lone dual meet victory of the year by beating Livonia at home May 15. It wasn't easy, though.

"We exchanged leads throughout the meet," said Cronin. "They had some really good athletes, some better than ours."

Depth helped Northville capture the meet.

Moretti leads Northville to victory

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

A tough week for the Mustang softball team got a little easier to take Friday.

Northville used a strong pitching performance from Andrea Moretti to beat Livonia Franklin 5-1 on the road. Coach Karen Baird said it was a much needed shot in the arm.

"She pitched an excellent game," the coach added.

Moretti allowed just three Patriot hits, walked none and struck out six. The right hander dominated until the seventh inning, anyway.

Livonia put its first two batters of the inning on base with a single and a Northville error. But Moretti settled down to retire the next three.

Northville improved to 8-11 overall with the win and 6-9 in the WLAA. The game closed division play for the Mustangs, who wound

Fowler lone trackster to make final

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

A second is sometimes all that separates winning and losing.

For Northville High's boys' track squad, a fraction of a second kept a pair of relay teams from qualifying for next week's state meet in Grand Rapids.

The 400-meter relay team missed by two-tenths of a second and the 800 squad missed by three-tenths. It's hard to accept, coach Dennis Faletti said.

"I'm a little disappointed for the seniors," he said. "But we ran as well as we could. There was nothing held back."

As it turned out, Ty Fowler was the lone Mustang to survive Friday's state regional at Milford. He qualified in the pole vault by clearing 12-feet 8-inches.

"I think he's got a shot at 13," said Faletti. "If you get over 13 you've got a good shot at placing."

Pinckney wound up regional champs with 74 points while Pontiac Northern was second at 72 and Brighton third with 71 points.

Northville earned 26 points and placed in just four other events besides pole vault.

Eric Moore took fifth in long jump with a leap of 20-5 1/2. The 800-meter relay team of Tony and Jim Clemens, Pat Gordon and Moore were fourth in 1:31.5.

Individuals and teams had to finish in the top two of an event or post a qualifying standard to make the state final. Northville was shooting for the qualifying standard in both the 400 and 800-meter relays.

> "I'm a little disappointed for the seniors. But we ran as well as we could."
> DENNIS FALETTI
> Northville track coach

Jim and Tony Clemens, Moore and Aneil Kersey took third in the 400-meter in 44.5 seconds. Gordon was fourth in the open 400-meter with a time of 50.7 seconds.

Faletti said Gordon's time was also two-tenths off the state cut.

"He was legitimately sick," the coach added.

NORTHVILLE 81.5, CHURCHILL 55.5

The Mustangs closed their dual meet season May 15 with a win over Livonia.

Northville finished 3-2 in the Western Division of the WLAA and 5-2 overall. The Mustangs final conference standing was to be determined Tuesday (after Record deadline).

Faletti said Salem, Westland John Glenn and Farmington Hills Harrison all had a shot at winning the conference title. Northville, he added, would likely finish in the top six.

As for last week's dual meet, the Mustangs pretty much dominated.

Luis Guajardo, Rob Abbott, Dwight VanTuyl and Jon Woodsum combined for first in the 3,200-meter relay.

Moore jumped 19-6 for first in the long jump competition. Matt Minard was third at 17-9.

In the shot put, Ross Baker snagged second at 41-8 and Bryce Edmunds was third at 38-4. Edmunds also took third in the discus at 118-9.

Fowler won the pole vault at 12-0 and Brian Clowers was second at 9-6. Matt Minard finished third in the 110-meter high hurdles in 18.7 seconds.

A time of 12 seconds was good enough for first in the 100 meter for Moore. Jim and Tony Clemens, Gordon and Moore teamed for first in the 800-meter relay in 1:35.5.

VanTuyl won the 1,600-meter in 4:50.2 and Steve Weicksel was second in 5:08.7. Northville won the 400 meter relay in 47.3 seconds.

Gordon placed first in the 400-meter dash in 52.8 seconds and John MacInnis was third in 55.7. Wes Morland was second in the 300-meter hurdles in 43.1.

Woodsum was second in the 800-meter race in 2:05.10 and VanTuyl was third in 2:13.3.

Jim Clemens won the 200-meter sprint in 23.6 seconds. Tim Schovers won the two-mile race in 11:06.5.

Northville closed the meet by winning the mile relay in 3:43.2 with MacInnis, Guajardo, Gordon and Morland.

Netters win WLAA for fifth straight time their league dominance, they also kept the streak alive. Northville is undefeated in its past 65 regular season dual meets.

At any rate, Northville took four flight championships at the conference meet.

Anderson was eliminated in the second round at top singles by the No. 2 seed. Mujumdar lost in the semi-final to Salem's Gabe Bernstein.

Bush got his second straight conference title by beating North Farmington's Steve Kreiger 6-3, 7-5. Srinivasan, of course, won the title at fourth singles.

Nayakwadi and Sriraman lost in the finals at top doubles as did Jha and Steinhauer. North Farmington won both of those matches in three sets.

Thompson and Ishigami beat a Walled Lake Western duo for the No. 3 title. Jared Cromas and Adam Williams were straight set victors over North Farmington in the finals of fourth doubles.

Mustangs qualify for finals in three events

In the high jump, for example, the Mustangs took second and third places. Missy MacRae was second at 4-6 and Lauren Metal third at 4-4.

Ashley Ossola finished second in the long jump at 15-2 and Poole was third at 14-9. Jackie Black won the shot put with a toss of 27-2 and Laura Gugala was third at 23-6.

Northville took third in the 110-meter high hurdles with a time of 18.3 seconds.

In the 100-meter sprint, Chase was second in 14.0. The team of Emily Howland, Rompel, Dalziel and Poole was first in the 800-meter relay in 1:57.30.

Northville also grabbed first in the 400-meter relay. Chase, Rompel, Dalziel and Weyer posted a time of 53.4.

Laurie Delano finished second in the 400-meter dash with a time of 1:12. Winn was third in the 300-meter hurdles in 55.8.

In the open 800-meter race, Kajal Parikh took second in 2:45. Howland was second in the 200-meter in 29.1.

up third in the Western Division.

As for Friday's game, Northville led all the way. The Mustangs got two runs in the first two innings.

That lead stretched to 4-0 in the fourth.

Jenny Frisbie led off with a triple to left center and later scored on a wild pitch. Mandy Sabo, or "Mabo" as her teammates call her, walked and eventually came around on a single by Erin Tovey.

Franklin got its lone run in the bottom of the inning. A triple and sacrifice fly accounted for the run.

Northville added an insurance run in the seventh on an RBI single by Frisbie.

STEVENSON 8, NORTHVILLE 7

Livonia scored all eight runs in the first three innings of the May 15 game and held the Mustangs off late.

Moretti came out of the bullpen to shut the door on the Spartans over the final three innings. But come the big deficit.

"It was a disappointment for the team," Baird said. "We felt we were a better team."

Moretti had a two-run double to lead the offense.

The Mustangs played a makeup doubleheader with Livonia on May 14 and lost twice, 7-1 and 13-2.

"They're strong up the middle and have a good pitcher," Baird said.

About the only bright side to the May 13 loss was Jenny Sheehan.

The senior catcher had all three Northville runs batted in. She smacked a home run and triple to Mind-body connection vital for health

By STEPHEN I. GOLDMAN
Special Writer

The mind-body connection has received a lot of attention lately. Many seem to have discovered a new type of medical care, as if the mind-body connection is a new, miraculous discovery of modern medicine.

The very concept of the mind-body connection, though, can be traced back thousands of years. Two competing schools of medicine emerged: one insisted that all of mankind's ills came from sources outside the body, the other stated that all illness resulted from imbalances within the body. The former school eventually became our concept of Western medicine and led to the development of the medical miracles of this century: vaccines, antibiotics, and waste and sewage control.

Yet some diseases still plague mankind, and we do not yet understand their cause. Many of those who suffer from these get better, defying the doctors who could not offer a cure. A new focus is emerging, as Western medicine turns inward to look at health prevention by seeking out how these people recover, and how to prevent illness from developing.

The answer seems to lie within ourselves, within our minds, within our nature. Somewhere, deep within us, lies the essence of the healing process. This is one of the precepts of Osteopathic medicine: a "whole person" approach to medicine where instead of just treating specific symptoms, osteopathic physicians concentrate on treating you as a whole person.

Many in the medical community have rediscovered that patients who integrate some form of spirituality into their lives seem to take this mind-body approach a step further by harnessing their own healing proprieties to get better. Prayer, positive imagery and meditation all appear to be vitally important tools to restoring and maintaining health.

For instance, many medical studies have shown that using these techniques help prolong the life of cancer patients, even those who are terminally ill. Patients who suffer from long-term, chronic pain also report that they have much better control of their pain with fewer medications when using techniques such as positive imagery.

Why does this seem to work? Why does the mind seem to provide such great influence over our physical illnesses? Medical science believes that there is a direct connection between the brain and the immune system. Essentially, the mind-body connection appears to involve production of chemicals by the brain (neurotransmitters) that cause the body to boost the immune system to help fight off disease. Mind-body techniques also seem to cause the production of other chemicals that improve our moods.

Individuals who better utilize the mind-body connection recognize the basic concept that health is directly related to a sense of balance in our lives. Illness apparently results when we become out of balance by overtaxing our body's capacity to maintain physical and mental health. Becoming ill is the body's attempt to slow us down, providing us with the opportunity to look within and see where we are out of balance.

In this light, disease forces us to look at ourselves and our environment to find our excesses and deficiencies, achieving the balance we need to heal ourselves. For instance, do we need to change our diet, stop smoking or drinking or reduce our stress level in order to achieve balance and health?

Thus, the mind-body connection of health requires us to become partners in our own healing, not to totally rely on others to find our answers. It forces us to examine how we are out of balance, and to look at how we can improve our own existence.

The mind-body connection does not imply that we bring all diseases on ourselves. It does not place blame. The mind-body connection only encourages us to take an active, as opposed to a passive, role in our own lives and in our own healing.

Doctors who recognize the body's capacity to heal, though, may need to alter the way they practice medicine by assuming the role of partner in their patients' health. Likewise, patients, as good partners, must assume responsibility for taking care of themselves.

Even more so, as patients choose this "new" approach, doctors must be willing to help patients, especially those who are very ill, to look within themselves to harness their own healing properties. This can take the form of organized religion or counseling groups and other spiritual avenues to help achieve the inner sense of peace that is necessary to help them improve their lives.

This approach also allows those individuals who cannot be physically cured to achieve an inner knowing, an inner peace that eases their transition from this world and often helps to heal others around them.

And so, as we become more aware of the capacity of the mind to heal the body, we will achieve new synthesis in health care. Modern miracles of medicine will combine with the ancient miracles of health prevention and inner healing. Working together, a new partnership can emerge to maintain and restore health, focusing as much on healing as on curing.

A member of the Botsford General Hospital professional staff, Stephen I. Goldman, D.O., specializes in sports medicine and osteopathic manipulation. In addition to his Novi-based practice, he is an assistant clinical professor at Michigan State University's College of Osteopathic Medicine.

Millions of children put into day care

Janet Gilsdorf

If mom and dad are at work, the chances are good that their young children are being cared for outside the home. Today, nearly 12 million children under the age of six spend part or all of their parents' work day in day care.

As day care centers have proliferated, so has the risk and rate of infections among the children to whom they provide services. Parents have long observed that their children were never sick until they started day care and have not been well since. And the research backs them up.

Many studies show that children in day care have significantly more ear infections, as well as upper and lower respiratory illnesses, than do children who are cared for at home. In addition, epidemics of diarrhea, chickenpox, and hepatitis A have been associated with day care. And though they may not show symptoms or feel ill, many children in day care will experience a cytomegalovirus infection.

There are many reasons why children in day care have more trouble with infections. Compared to children cared for at home, children in day care are in very close contact with each other, which increases the spread of disease-causing germs. In addition, young children have not yet developed good hygiene skills, and that further increases the spread of respiratory and gastrointestinal germs.

Preschool children are also "immunologically naive:" they have not yet experienced a large number of infections, so have not developed immunity. The good news is that by the time children have finished day care and entered elementary school, they have experienced many of these infections and do not become ill as often.

There are some measures parents can take to help reduce the risk of infection if their children go to day care. They should, first, evaluate each day-care provider by inquiring about staff hygiene practices associated with hand washing, food serving, diaper changing and toilet training. They should also inquire about the staff turnover rate and find out whether a center offers continuing education programs on health-related matters to both new and veteran employees. And parents should ask to see each center's written policies on how they deal with and care for sick children.

Finally, on a reassuring note, children in day care actually experience health benefits, too – in spite of the fact that they are exposed to infectious diseases more often than children cared for at home.

Excellent day-care programs teach children good health practices such as dental hygiene, hand washing, good nutrition and sanitary potty etiquette. In addition, the law requires that licensed day-care centers may enroll only those children whose immunizations are up-to-date. That means that children in day care are better immunized than children cared for at home.

So, while mom and dad are at work, the children in day care are sharing toys, fun, ideas and germs – and the resulting infections. They are also, hopefully, learning good health practices as well.

Janet Gilsdorf, M.D., is a professor and director of pediatrics and communicable diseases with the University of Michigan Health System.

Real estate market shows signs of recovery

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

The real estate market has shown healthy signs of recovery during the past year. And the prognosis is continued health — a steadily strengthening market.

That's good news for the many families who plan to sell or buy a house during the next year. Favorable factors are falling into place that will help them sell a home and buy another without big problems produced by a sluggish market.

The real estate recovery that began in most regions of the country last year will last for at least another 12 months, extending to two consecutive years a gradual ascension from the tremendous slump that has plagued the industry since the overbuilding of the late 1980s, according to a study by the Urban Land Institute (ULI).

In what is being billed as the most thorough and complete 12-month prognostication ever completed about the nation's real estate industry, the ULI found vacancies easing, rents rising, construction and land costs increasing, and capital flowing, albeit at a slower pace than the moderate improvement experienced in 1995.

"This report is bullish in that the gradual recovery we have identified appears sustainable given the dearth of new construction in most sectors," said Joe Canizaro, ULI president.

"With absorption being the prime driver of these trends, overbuilding remains a concern. But assuming the industry can resist the temptation to add too much new product too soon, the

OPEN SEASON

Teresa Kaminsky uses her mannequin dressed in bridal attire to get bargain-hunters' attention.

There's nothing like the thrill of the hunt. And May is opening season for garage sale enthusiasts — that army of bargain hunters who prowl the roads from Thursday through Saturday looking for gems in unlikely places.

"I think the hunt's the fun of it, no matter what you get," says Milford's Judy Huguelet, a 10-year veteran of the garage sale circuit.

"Today's treasure will be tomorrow's forgotten memory."

The onslaught of spring garage sales is well underway, says Grace Perry, manager of Hometown Newspapers' Green Sheet section. The crush begins in early spring, peaks around June or July and runs through October, she said.

"As long as it's not below zero, people are out there," says Perry.

And competition has never been more fierce.

Contemporary Vay has innovative floor plan

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

The contemporary style Vay has 2,001 square feet of living space arranged in an innovative floor plan that centers around family life. With the sleeping quarters on opposite sides of the home and family gathering places located in the middle, privacy can be had by all while still maintaining an atmosphere of togetherness.

The recessed entry of the Vay takes you directly into the vaulted family room. Here friends can gather in the warmth of a huge fireplace and enjoy one anothers company, or let the built-in entertainment center provide the fun.

Two identical vaulted rooms are on either side of the entry. One is a dining room with direct access to the kitchen. Here, on more formal occasions, dinner may be served.

The other is a small living room, ideal for spending time with a good book. Both have large windows, with half-rounds above, providing plenty of sunlight and an excellent view.

The right side of the floor plan has three bedrooms that share a long hallway. Two of them are separated from the third by a full bathroom. One of them could easily be converted for use as a home office or a sewing/music room. Extra storage space is available in the hallway.

An exceptionally large patio divides this three-bedroom wing from the isolated master suite. This patio is big enough to invite the whole clan over for a barbecue.

The roomy master suite is sure to please. The amenities here include a private bathroom, twin vanities, walk-in closet and a sliding glass door to the patio.

The location of the kitchen will be a delight for the cook in the household. Groceries can be brought in directly from the garage. No need to worry about the weather. Features include an eating bar, pantry, skylight, microwave oven and built-in desk. Informal meals can be served in the adjacent nook, which has a built-in hutch.

A small utility room adjoins the kitchen.

For a study plan of the Vay (403-17), send $9 to Landmark Designs c/o HomeTown Newspapers, 323 E. Grand River Ave., Howell, MI, 48843 (Please be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

GARDENING

Hands-on learning helps children grow

By C.Z. Guest
Copley News Service

The future greening of America depends a great deal on our children learning how to garden and appreciate the wonderful benefits nature offers. Second grade teachers throughout the country say it's amazing how much children can learn from growing flowers. Young students take great pride in doing something others can see and enjoy.

For example, I had no idea how teaching children some basics about gardening could be so much fun and how it could lead to learning about so many other subjects. In the United States, 27,000 youths are learning first hand about growing Dutch flower bulbs. The generous support of three international gardening organizations has enabled teachers throughout the United States to take learning beyond the classroom.

Each grant recipient received 252 assorted Dutch bulbs this past fall direct from Holland. Complete instructions and tips for classroom activities involving the study of bulbs were also sent. The selection of flower bulbs, chosen by Dutch bulb experts, included tulips, crocuses, hyacinths, muscari blues, paper whites and amaryllis.

This hands-on program has made learning fun for the children. And their enthusiasm for learning seems to grow right along with the flowers and vegetables they planted. Students are learning how flowers grow and how to plant vegetables, but that's just the beginning. The gardening grant has opened the door to future lessons in art design, history, math and even geography.

The program has great potential for introducing the fun and healthy benefits of gardening to all school-age youths.

I believe providing flower bulbs is a good start for making gardening in the classroom a yearlong activity.

Planting and caring for bulbs and watching them grow and develop into colorful blooms can bring joy to children as well as adults. I believe school-age children

Table worth hundreds

By Anne McCollam

ANTIQUES

Q. This is a picture of a 1950s drop-leaf dining table that I rescued from my neighbor's garage. It is marked "Heywood-Wakefield Est. — 1826" and is in excellent condition.

Does it have any value?

A. Modern furniture made by Heywood-Wakefield has been piquing the interest of collectors. Your table was made sometime between 1947 and 1955.

It is currently listed in "Heywood-Wakefield Modern Furniture" by Steve Rouland and Roger Rouland at $250 to $500.

Q. My wife and I received a small porcelain figurine of a puffin (bird) for a wedding gift 20 years ago. It is marked "B.&G. — Denmark — 2266."

We would like to know who made our puffin and its value.

A. Your puffin was made by Bing & Grondahl, Copenhagen, Denmark. Frederick Grondahl and J.H. and M.H. Bing established their firm in 1853.

Your puffin would probably be worth $155.

Q. I hope you can provide me with information on my porcelain figurine of the Infant of Prague. He stands 5 inches tall and is in perfect condition. The mark on the bottom is "Lefton China — Hand Painted." He is wearing a gold crown and is holding a globe in his left hand.

This piece is very special to me and I am eager to learn more about it.

A. The George Zoltan Lefton Co. in Chicago has imported and distributed china from 1940 to the present. The figurine represents Jesus as a child and the image originated in Prague.

Yours would probably be worth $65 to $75.

Q. I just started collecting children's ABC plates. My most recent addition is a dish with a scene of a little boy in short pants looking at a dog sitting on a multicolored ball while another dog watches.

The rim is decorated with the alphabet. Next to each letter is the name of an animal that begins with the corresponding letter. "Germany" is marked on the back.

Any information you can provide about these plates will be appreciated.

A. ABC plates were widely made in England and Germany in the 1800s. By the turn of the century they were produced in the United States. They were available in pottery, porcelain, tin and glass.

The alphabet, generally on the rim, was either transfer printed or embossed. Sizes ranged from around 4 to 9 inches.

The opportunity to learn while eating appealed to the industrious Victorians.

Seizing a golden opportunity to also teach morality, biblical passages and other maxims were often included on these plates. Braille plates were made and are considered a "rare find."

Your plate was made circa 1900 and would probably be worth $125.

REAL ESTATE FACTS

Be The Best!

Place your home on today's market, and you'll face stiff competition. You may think your home is the best one available, however in the mind of the buying public, it's just one of many choices.

Who is your competition? Every other home currently for sale is competing for the same buyers you would like to attract. Furthermore, each of those homes is competing with yours on at least five different levels: 1) price, 2) terms, 3) condition, 4) availability, and 5) visibility.

Your price must equal the value offered by your home. Price it higher and buyers will notice since they compare homes before buying. Price it fairly from the beginning and the result could be an early full-price offer.

Terms are vital too. Are you offering to pay closing costs and discount points? What about competing homes? Are other homes available with no-hassle seller financing? At what interest rates?

How does the condition of your home stack up against competitors? Will buyers get excited once inside your home? If not, have you allowed for deficiencies with a lower asking price?

Is your home readily available to buyers? Can it be seen on short notice? Can possession be given promptly at closing? Does your agent have a marketing plan to expose your home to great numbers of buyers? Is it highly visible to buyers?

Let your agent know you want to stand out from the competition. Then, listen to the agent's advice. Home buyers will recognize and reward your home as their top choice!

Garage sales are big business for area residents

"It's a huge business throughout Livingston County and in Oakland County," she says.

Every Wednesday, Green Sheet customers show up bright and early to get the classified section before the paper comes out.

"We see them sitting in the parking lot looking for ads," Perry says. "Some people actually plan their day by mapping out garage sales."

Huguelet is one who does.

"I buy a map for the area and physically map out the route I'm going to take for the day," she says. "My favorite time to go is on Saturday because my husband is home and it's the day I can go without my children."

At 3, Huguelet's youngest child doesn't care much for garage sales. But when her older children were preschoolers, they were eager companions on the circuit — as were the youngsters she babysat.

"I would get them all a purse and gave them each a dollar, and they could buy whatever they wanted," she recalls. "The garbage they came home with was horrible. Each one had a lunch box with a snack in it. If they'd been good, we'd stop at a park afterward."

For most seekers, a trip to the park isn't the coveted reward: Finding a bargain is. Economics is the main reason people start shopping at garage sales. But they stay with it for the thrill of spotting treasures where others see trash.

"When I got started, we were just starting to raise our own family, and had bought a house," says Huguelet. "We were looking at cutting expenses."

That was 10 years ago. Huguelet is no longer hunting for furniture and well-preserved baby things. Now she's filling out a collection of vintage toys and antique dolls, including collectible Barbies.

And she's not alone. In addition to casual browsers, there are hordes of serious collectors, antique dealers, resale shop owners and garage sale resellers all vying for the best prices on the same merchandise.

Huguelet and Becky Pastorek of Highland both say they spot the regulars as they make the rounds each week. In fact, they might know each other, but not by name.

"There's a lot of people I know from garage sales that I don't see anywhere else," says Pastorek. "I don't know their names, we just recognize each other when we see each other."

For Pastorek, cruising the sales has become a business. She looks for sales everywhere — the newspaper, road signs and even Cable Marketplace.

She allocates Thursday and Friday mornings for them, and turns the deals she finds into money by reselling items at her own garage sales. Over the course of the summer, she can make $400-500 at each of her eight sales, a summer job that provides up to $4,000.

But being successful requires a lot of knowledge and elbow grease.

Pastorek specializes in buying children's toys, looking for parts that complete sets. She combines them with other sets so they are worth more. She cleans and repairs most of what she buys, too.

"I know what toys go with what toys," she explains. "You see them and think, 'What is this?', but it can be a very important part of the toy."

It doesn't bother her to make money from something someone else was willing to sell for less. She thinks it's common sense.

"That's how I get the money to buy my kids the things they want," she comments. "It used to be they wanted the things I found at garage sales. Now the things they want are getting more expensive."

Huguelet also throws her own sales every few years "to clean out the house." It's fun to be on the other side of the table, she says.

"I'm a people person so I really enjoy talking to people. We have always used it not as a money maker, but as an excuse for a party. We get together and have pizza and enjoy ourselves."

Prognosis is good for steadily strengthening real estate market improvement is broad-based, pronounced and probably a portent of even better things to come."

The constraints on new construction and speculative development have been so severe in recent years that the momentum achieved in 1995 and 1996 will likely carry the real estate industry through 1997 without a downturn in performance measures, even if the economy begins to slow during the next 20 months, according to the ULI.

RESIDENTIAL LOT PRICES

Another recent study and report for the ULI found that residential land-price increases throughout the country have exceeded the inflation rate in two-thirds of areas surveyed.

From 1990-95, the average annual compounded rate of increase for a standard 10,000-square-foot lot was 6 percent, about twice the rate of inflation over the same period, according to ULI.In California and the Northeast, however, last year's prices were lower than 1990 levels. A lot in San Diego, for example, could be purchased last year for an average price of $95,000 — down $55,000 from 1990. In Boston, lot prices were off $5,000, to $85,000.

The price changes of the past five years have narrowed the gap between the lowest-priced and highest-priced areas — but not by much. Last year, standard single-family residential lots in Kansas City, Mo., were the lowest priced at $18,750, while in San Jose, Calif., they were $200,000. San Jose is still the highest-priced area despite a price drop of 13 percent over the past five years.

The ULI survey suggests that residential land prices reflect a combined interaction of supply-and-demand factors. High-priced areas tend to combine a fairly strong demand, driven by substantial above-average wage jobs, with significant supply restrictions resulting from natural features or public policies.

High-priced cities all score fairly high in factors restricting growth, the ULI reported noted.

Q: What is a "short sale" of a home?

A: This is a situation where the home is sold for less than the current balance of its mortgage. Sometimes home owners can negotiate with lenders and have them split the difference between the sale price and loan amount, which still must be paid.

"A short sale may be complicated if the loan has been sold into the secondary market, because then the lender will have to get permission from Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac to negotiate a short sale," according to the Internet home page Web site of Coldwell Banker Corp.

Fannie Mae representative Bonnie O'Dell says the secondary market giant has a policy of looking at each loan individually. If the loan was a low-down-payment mortgage with private mortgage insurance, then the lender also must involve the mortgage insurance company that insured the loan. The Coldwell Banker Web site address is http://www.coldwellbanker.com.

Children in the garden

become better people through their positive experiences with gardening.

Gardening helps youths gain a better understanding of the cycles of nature and, perhaps even more importantly, it helps them learn about discipline, working as a team, patience and taking part in neighborhood beautification.

SPROUT ACTIVITIES FOR TINY GREEN THUMBS

Set up a windowsill herbal barbershop. Plant thyme, chives, basil, parsley or other fragrant herb seeds in tiny pots with drainage holes. Let your child make funny paper faces to tape on the pots. When the herbs start growing, your child will love giving them haircuts. Use the clippings to season your cooking.

WHY ORGANIC GARDENING ISN'T JUST A BUNCH OF MANURE.

Organic gardening is a lot more than natural fertilizer. And organic gardens do a lot more than make your yard look pretty. They help make the environment healthier. So let's dig in and see how you can help.

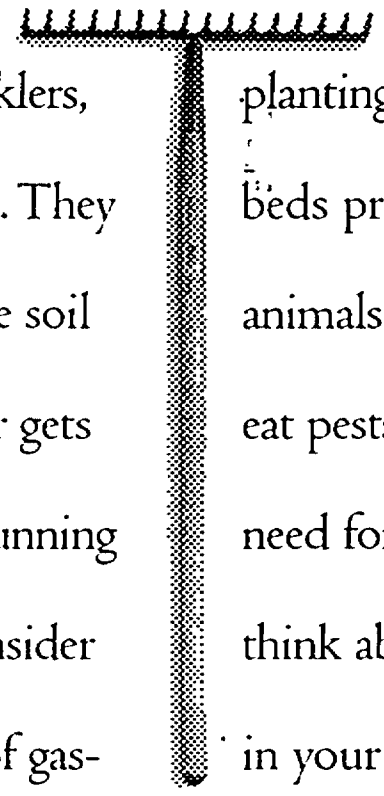
The first step to creating an environmentally friendly garden is to compost. Composting not only helps produce the bacteria, nutrients and mulch plants need, it also reduces the amount of solid waste your home creates.

Another easy way to help the environment in your garden is to change the tools you use. For instance, instead of using sprinklers, try using soaker hoses. They leak moisture into the soil at slow rates, so water gets absorbed instead of running off. You may also consider using a rake, instead of gas-powered blowers.



Use a rake instead of gas-powered blowers.

Rakes use no fuel and give you some exercise. Next, think about the types of plants you plant. Consider planting perennials. Perennial beds provide refuge for animals and insects that will eat pests and reduce your need for chemicals. Finally, think about planting a tree in your backyard. Trees keep harmful carbon dioxide from entering the atmosphere and create lots of energy-saving shade.

So you see, when we say organic gardens are a good idea, it's no bull.

Over 15% of solid waste could be reduced if everyone who gardens composted.

Sherwood Party Store remodels, expands to add specialty foods

By ANNE SEEBALDT GOGOLIN
Special Writer

Like the wines its owner Tony Sinawi sells, Sherwood Party Store has grown better with time.

Sinawi is nearly finished with a thorough remodeling and expansion of his family business. The remodeling included a brand new facade, new glass panes for the front, a new ceiling, a complete new lighting system, light blue ceramic tiling on the walls, and all new floor tiles.

He is ably assisted in the running of the store by his high-school-age sons Anthony and Brandon. His college-age daughter, Jamie, helps in the summer. His wife, Ruth, and 11-year-old Heather and 10-year-old Michael help the family business whenever they can. Robert Viti also plays an important role in Sinawi's business.

"He's been with me since I started the remodeling," Sinawi said. "He does most of the cooking in the back and added a lot of Italian ideas to our food."

Viti explained that he really enjoys working at Sherwood Party Store.

"A lot of nice people come in," he said. "I have the gratification of making good food and having people appreciate it."

The expansion process began in July 1995 and continued through November. A few finishing touches, such as painting the building's exterior and repaving the parking lot, will be completed this summer.

"I had a small store when I came in," he said. "I did a minor remodeling in 1985 (when he opened for business)."

Prior to opening the party store in Milford, Sinawi owned a party store in Detroit for 28 years.

"I built up a large clientele (here) and the store was too small to accommodate their needs," Sinawi said. "When Pizza Works left (the site next door), that was my opportunity to make the store bigger."

He also expanded the wine and beer area.

Putting kids on road to success

Money Management

Hiring your children to work in your business can put them on the road to financial independence and offer your family some significant tax advantages. The Michigan Association of CPAs explains that when you pay your children for services performed for your business, you are, in effect, shifting income from your higher tax bracket to your child's lower one. What's more, your child's wages, like all employee wages, are a deductible business expense.

EARNED INCOME ESCAPES "KIDDIE TAX"

For children under age 14, the "kiddie tax," as it is popularly called, taxes unearned income – or investment income – in excess of $1,300 at the parents' top marginal rate. This contrasts with the treatment of a child's earned income. If you claim your child as a dependent on your tax return, your child's standard deduction on his or her tax return is limited to the greater of $650 or the child's earned income up to $3,900. This means your children could each earn up to $3,900 from your business tax-free. Earned income above that amount is taxed at your child's rate regardless of age.

There is another tax benefit to hiring your children. If you are a sole proprietor, the wages you pay to your children under age 18 are exempt from Social Security taxes. This makes the effective cost of employing your child less than that of a non-family member.

NO 10-YEAR-OLD CPAS

Bear in mind that the work your children do must be bona-fide – that is, real work that you would pay another person to do if you were not hiring your child. Depending on your child's age, performing clerical tasks, answering phones, and making deliveries may qualify as appropriate tasks. Just don't expect the IRS to believe that your 10-year-old prepares your company's invoices.

Additionally, the wages you pay your children must be reasonable for the work they are doing. The IRS requires that the amount you pay your children not exceed the going rate for unrelated employees who perform comparable tasks. To comply with IRS guidelines, be sure to keep careful records showing hours worked and wages earned.

MORE TAX-FREE INCOME

Because your child is earning income, he or she may be eligible to start a tax-deductible Individual Retirement Account (IRA) and shelter some or all of the income (provided the child is not covered by a retirement plan elsewhere). Under current rules, your child may deposit the lesser of $2,000 or 100 percent of earnings into an IRA and deduct the full amount. When you combine the $2,000 IRA contribution with the $3,900 standard deduction, it's actually possible for your child to earn up to $5,900 in 1995 without paying federal income tax. Keep in mind, however, that an IRA is a long-term investment and that you child will face stiff penalties should funds be withdrawn prior to age 59 1/2.

BANKING ON DEPENDENTS

Just because our child works for you and files an income tax return doesn't mean you lose the right to claim your child as a dependent. As long as your child is under age 19 or a full-time student under age 24, and you provide more than half of his or her total support, you may claim the child as a dependent. In fact, tax law requires that, if you are entitled to claim your child as a dependent, you must do so. Your child does not have the option of claiming himself or herself.

THE ROAD TO INDEPENDENCE

If your children are old enough to work for you, they are old enough to understand the important of building their savings. Encourage your children to participate with you in savirg for specific goals. And don't be afraid to talk taxes with them. The more they understand the impact of taxes on their income, and yours, the more they may appreciate the opportunity of working for you.

Sherwood store in Milford remodels

"We have a nice wine selection as well as an eclectic microbrew selection," he said.

Sinawi also is proud of the menu his party store offers. After increasing the size of the store, he added pizza, ribs, chicken and a host of other foods to the existing cold sandwich and salad menu. Other specialties made on site include pepperoni and cheese sticks.

"That's the hottest items we have," he said. "People just grab them all day long."

He sells cookies, baklava, cinnamon almonds and Ben and Jerry's Ice Cream to finish off the meals.

"We do cater a lot of graduation and wedding parties," he said. "Service and quality are our first priority."

Other services include lottery, liquor, beer and wine packages as well as holiday gift baskets.

Customer Barbara Conklin said that Sinawi is "a great person and gives great service.

"That's what keeps us coming back – he knows how to take care of us."

Randy Kibiloski agreed with Conklin. "Tony makes the best pizza in town," Kibiloski added. "You have to try the ribs too."

Sherwood Party Store is located at 1330 E. Commerce Road in Milford, almost directly across the road from Breen's IGA.

Regular hours are from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from noon to 8 p.m. on Sunday.

For more information, contact Sinawi at (810) 685-3680.

"So easy to do business with, I bought two."

Valerie Quinlan, Administrative Assistant, Saturn Owner

It's not like we have a nine-items-or-less line. But sometimes we get folks in here who like the way we do business so much, they buy two Saturns. Maybe it's the no-hassle pricing. Or the lack of pressure from our sales consultants. Then again, maybe they just can't decide between medium red and purple. Stop by and see for yourself. (No purchase limit per customer). Hope to see you soon.

A Summer of Fun: Camping at the YMCA

The YMCA is the largest provider of child care in the United States. Why? Because the YMCA provides top-quality care by trained and certified counselors and offers a positive social experience for campers in an atmosphere that emphasizes family values. Here are a few facts about day camp and resident camp here in the Detroit Metropolitan YMCA:

- An average of 3,000 campers are registered in Detroit area YMCA day camp programs each summer.
- Camp Ohiyesa, a summer resident camp operated by the YMCA in northwest Oakland County, boasts nearly 300 acres and offers programs for children aged 6 and over.
- Summer camp opportunities available to children through the YMCA include music, horseback riding, sports, video production, dance and journalism.
- Not for kids only! The YMCA offers three- and six-day camps for parents or grandparents and children.

A closing thought: A recent national study revealed that the top-ranked family activity in the United States is "television watching." Don't watch this summer pass you and your children by; get active at the Y!

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR
LANSING

JOHN ENGLER
GOVERNOR

Dear Friends:

As Governor of the State of Michigan, it gives me great pleasure to welcome you to the Great Lakes State Games.

From the moment the torch is lit to the last exciting event, the Great Lakes State Games will give all Michiganians the chance to come together in the spirit of sportsmanship, competition, and family fun. Spectators can find excitement and thrills in every event.

On behalf of the people of Michigan, I salute the participants for realizing the pride and satisfaction gained from hard work, perseverance, and the pursuit of excellence. Best of luck to each of you!

I would also like to take this opportunity to commend the numerous volunteers who give of their time and talents to make these Games a reality. Without the efforts of these generous people the Great Lakes State Games would not be possible.

Once again, welcome. I hope that everyone involved with the 1996 Great Lakes State Games has a memorable and rewarding experience. There will be no losers in these Games, because by participating volunteers, athletes, sponsors, and spectators are all a part of a new winning tradition for the State of Michigan. Let the Games begin!

WELCOME TO THE GREAT LAKES STATE GAMES INAUGURAL YEAR

REACHING FOR THE PRIZE

Ever thought you could compete in the Olympics?

The eyes of the world will be on athletes striving for excellence in Atlanta this summer.

But that opportunity is also available for amateur athletes throughout Michigan.

And it's closer than you might think.

Thanks to the corporate support of MC SPORTS and the initiative of the Michigan Fitness Foundation in cooperation with the Governor's Council on Physical Fitness, Health and Sports, the Great Lakes State Games - a multisport amateur sports festival for athletes of all ages and abilities - is taking place June 21-30 throughout the greater Lansing area.

It joins competitions in 43 other states in providing an Olympic style sporting and participant experience for those willing to take the challenge of training and competition in 23 sports.

WHAT'S GOING ON?

There are sports that people are familiar with from watching Olympic Games - track and field, gymnastics, basketball, swimming, weightlifting and wrestling.

There are sports people take part in at their local parks, in their communities or backyards - archery, baseball, bowling, golf, horseshoes, road running, shooting, tennis and walking.

And there are sports that are vaulting to popularity in modern culture - in-line skating and hockey, judo, rugby, soccer, Tae Kwon Do and sand volleyball.

The aim of the Games is to provide a multisport competitive experience for Michigan citizens of all ages and abilities. Through support from government, business and educational organizations, the 1996 Great Lakes State Games aim to establish the foundation of an annual sporting tradition in Michigan.

Venues for the Games cover 31 locations around the Lansing area, with sites at Michigan State University, local high schools and community parks and private facilities.

YOU CAN HELP, TOO

It takes a lot of work to stage a venture like the Great Lakes State Games. Hundreds of volunteers are needed to meet a wide range of program needs. There are opportunities to help with the GLSG in the areas of athlete check-in, headquarters assistance, sports support, the Flame Lighting Ceremony, media relations, and many more. If you have an interest in participating in the Great Lakes State Games as a volunteer (you get a great T-shirt and an invitation to the volunteer appreciation party), contact the Games office at (517) 339-6982 or FAX (517) 339-5229.
So what are you waiting for?

FACTS ON THE GREAT LAKES STATE GAMES

- Michigan is the 44th state in the U.S. to sponsor a state games competition. New York was the first in 1977, with the Empire State Games.

- The theme of the Games is "Follow the Flame to Fitness," with "Flame" a representation of a Michigan bald eagle as the Games mascot.

- The Torch Relay for the Great Lakes State Games will involve runners, wheelchair athletes, walkers, cyclists, horseback riders and canoeists traveling from 18 departure communities. They'll arrive at the State Capitol Friday, June 28 for a 6 PM ceremony then bring the flame to Oldsmobile Park for the 8 PM Flame Lighting Ceremony.

- The state of Michigan has been represented throughout the history of the modern Olympic Games. Some athletes with Michigan backgrounds in the Olympics include Ray Ewry (track and field, 1904), Chuck Davey (boxing, 1948) Sheila Young (speed skating, 1968-76), Ken Morrow (hockey, 1980) Judy Brown (track and field, 1984), Jim Abbott (baseball, 1988), Kevin Jackson (wrestling 1992) & Mike Barrowman (swimming 1992).

- Registration booklets are available at MC Sports Stores throughout Michigan, as well as at community and adult education offices, high schools, and local parks and recreation offices.

Tools for Tomorrow

SERVISTAR and Coast to Coast salute the millions of high school students from across the country who are 1996 graduates of vocational education programs. More than six out of ten of these students will continue their education. Half of them will go to four-year colleges and universities. According to a Cornell University study, high school graduates who have taken at least four vocational courses are 23 percent more likely to gain employment than their non-vocational peers.

SERVISTAR and Coast to Coast are proud to continue supporting vocational education through the Tools For Tomorrow program. For more information, call 412-284-6400.
