Bond, millage requests turned down at polls

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

There will be no new high school, and no new technology in the classrooms of Northville schools - at least not for awhile.

The school district's $61.5 million bond and $2 million enhancement millage issues went down in defeat by a relatively narrow margin Monday, and could force district officials to go back to the drawing board to draft a plan the community might accept.

According to the unofficial tally, 2,503 voters (51 percent) cast "no" ballots and 2,130 (46 percent) voted "yes" (16 percent) on the bond question. The enhancement millage results were similar with 2,471 voting no (53 percent) and 2,162 voting yes (47 percent) on that proposal.

Approximately 25 percent of the district's 18,000 registered voters took part in the election.

According to Superintendent Leonard Reznierski, district officials will now have to make some tough decision as to how to tackle the immediate problems of overcrowding.

"The problem is not going to go away, and we are not going to just ignore it," he said. "We just need to take some time and find ways to address those issues."

Northville High School sits at 98 percent capacity and Cooke Middle School is ready to burst at the seams at almost 110 percent of capacity, district officials said. About $48 million of the bond issue would have been used to build a new high school and another

Township election spending lopsided

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

The final spending tallies are in from last month's primary race for the Northville Township Board of Trustees, a contest that featured mostly low spending candidates.

Ten of the 12 people who ran in the Republican primary for the seven board seats spent less than $1,000 apiece. The exceptions were the two candidates for township supervisor, Bob Grant and Karen Woodside.

Woodside beat Grant by 60 votes for the right to run as the Republican nominee for supervisor in this fall's general election. She faces no opposition at the polls.

An examination of the post-election campaign expense reports filed with Wayne County by her and Grant show a big gap both in donations received and money spent.

Woodside accepted about $5,600 in campaign contributions and ended up spending about $6,100. She refused some contributions because of their source, Woodside explained in an interview this week.

"I don't take money from certain groups such as PACs," she said. "It was very nice of some people to offer but I just don't do that."

The candidate ended up covering the $500 overdraft herself.

The amounts Woodside fielded are significantly higher than her opponent's. According to the records, Grant ended up taking in about $2,350 in donations and spending about $1,660 on his campaign.

The candidate donated the money left over from his campaign to the Northville District Library once the primary contest was concluded.

Grant was unavailable for comment. Woodside described her campaign as "rather conservative" in terms of spending.

"We had a message to get out to the voters. Whatever it takes to get that message out, we did it," she explained.

Election laws require candidates to file expense reports when they spend $1,000 or more on their campaigns.

Noting the narrowness of his loss in the primary, Grant had considered mounting a write-in candidacy against Woodside during the general election. He later dropped the idea, however.

The other Republican primary winners on Aug. 6 included Dick Henningsen for treasurer and Sue Hillebrand for clerk.

Like Woodside, they face no opposition on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Republican nominees Mark Abbo, Russ Fogg, Marv Gans and Bill Selinsky will face off with Democrat Shirley Klokenga for the four open trustee seats.

Northville Township elected officials serve four-year terms and, by state law, candidates for all seats must run for office during the same election year.

Activist tries to stop city hall renovation

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

Northville city officials are moving diligently ahead with their plans to renovate city hall, but a local resident is just as diligent in his efforts to block that renovation.

The Northville City Council approved a contract agreement with Allen Architects Inc. last week to handle the construction management of the project, according to city officials.

Meanwhile, Northville resident Kevin Hartshorne, who served as a member of the citizens committee that studied the proposed renovations, has been busy gathering signatures for a petition that will force the city to seek voter approval for the project.

Hartshorne spent about 12 hours gathering signatures in front of city hall Monday while voters were deciding the outcome of the Northville Public School District's $61.5 million bond issue. His goal is to collect more than 500 signatures within 21 days.

"I am going to fight the proposed renovations because I believe that it's an issue that should be brought before the voters," he said.

I believe that it's an issue that should be brought before the voters."

Hartshorne and Sue Hooper were the only two members of the 10 member committee that voted against the renovation recommendation. Both maintain the plan is a bit too extravagant and costly to taxpayers.

The city council approved the renovation project Sept. 3 despite vocal opposition by local residents. City councilman Chuck Keys cast the lone vote against the project.

Last week the council approved two agreements with Allen Architects - one for architectural services and another for construction management services. Robert Allen has spent the last three years working with city officials on the conceptual plans for the project.

According to City Manager Gary Word, Allen will receive approximately $36,000 as a fixed fee for Robbery suspects bound over for trial

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

The two men accused of holding up a Northville Township gas station at gunpoint earlier this month will stand trial for the offense.

Ali Kassem Hourani, 17, and Mohamad Samir Bazzi, 22, could spend the rest of their lives in prison if they're convicted of stealing $716 and a VCR from the Sunoco service station at Five Mile and Haggerty roads on Sept. 10.

Two other men are suspected of being involved in the robbery, which included the presence of at least one handgun. One was arrested at the scene, the other remains at large.

Hourani and Bazzi faced a preliminary exam in 35th District Court on Friday (Sept. 20).

A preliminary exam is one of the first steps in criminal proceedings against anyone suspected of committing an offense. During an exam the prosecution must prove that probable cause exists to believe a crime has been committed and that enough evidence exists against the person charged to merit a trial.

Judge John MacDonald concluded that both conditions were met concerning Hourani, of Dearborn, and Bazzi, a Detroit resident. He bound both over for trial to Wayne County Circuit Court and left bond for them at $100,000 cash apiece.

To date neither man has posted that amount and so Hourani and Bazzi remain in the Wayne County Jail awaiting arraignment in circuit court on Sept. 27.

THIRD ANNUAL SAFETY EXPO DAY

Who says safety instruction can't be fun? Each September the Northville Township Public Safety Department proves that learning can be both beneficial and enjoyable, as the department pulls out all the stops and holds a huge safety exposition in the parking lot of township hall. There are fire trucks and police squad cars on display, as well as the mobile fire safety house and emergency first aid equipment. McGruff the Crime Dog and Larry the crash dummy circulate among the crowd, while a U.S. Coast Guard helicopter makes a perfect vertical landing in Henningsen Park. Above, 3-year-old Alec Wagner of Northville takes a turn at spraying down a model house that uses simulated fire flames. Firefighter Brent Newsom helps Alec handle the heavy hose. Left, Sergeant John Sherman knows which end is up as he conducts a rappelling demonstration down a cable suspended from a fire engine ladder. Sunday's event marked the third annual Safety Expo Day, held as a way of informing the public about safety concerns.

Brainstorming sessions with consultant to start

The future of downtown Northville will be the topic of discussion at a series of upcoming planning sessions.

The Northville Downtown Development Authority (DDA) is getting ready to bring in professional consultant Bob Gibbs of the Gibbs Planning Group (GPG) to meet with downtown merchants and talk about the city's central business district.

Gibbs has been hired to take input and develop an action plan to help preserve the business district's competitive position in the face of possible inroads by the city of Plymouth and the Novi Main Street concept.

The meeting schedule is as follows:

SEPT. 30

• 8-10 a.m., Genetti's Theater
Opening presentation by GPG team.

Will discuss new trends in retailing, town planning, demographics, visual merchandising, store planning, signage, and commercial mixes.

• 11 a.m.-12:30 p.m.
Downtown walk with DDA.

• 7-9 p.m., City Hall Council Chambers.

Issues and goals discussion with DDA.

GPG team will meet with DDA and discuss DDA's issues and concerns to be addressed by study. Meeting will also discuss goals for study.

OCT. 3

• 8 a.m.-5 p.m., City Hall Council Chambers.

Meetings with city staff. GPG team will meet with city staff and departments including building, assessment, DPW, police and fire to learn of issues regarding downtown.

• 7-8 p.m., City Hall Council Chambers.

Master Plan and Zoning.

Young Danny Klarr, 6, has no hang ups about horsing around on the playground equipment at Northville's Fish Hatchery Park. Danny found time to use the park after school last Monday. He spent time with his brother, Tommy, and his grandma.

Corrections

From the Sept. 19 Northville Record.

Last week's edition included an item in Township Briefs concerning increases in Northville Township water and sewer fees that contained incorrect information.

It was stated that basic water service will soon cost $2.18 per 1,000 gallons. The new rate will actually be $2.20 per 1,000 gallons

It was stated that sewer rates will cost $2.01 per 1,000 gallons. The new rate will actually be $2.03.

It was stated that flat-rate sewer customers will soon be $50.25 every other month. The actual rate will be $50.75 bimonthly.

The new costs to connect a home to municipal water and sewer service lines were listed as $1,800 and $4,000 respectively. The new rates will actually be $2,000 and $5,000 per living unit.

The connection fees take effect on Oct. 28, the new monthly use rates on Nov. 25.

A caption under a photograph of the woman who won the most outrageous hat contest during the judging at Mill Race Village Sept. 14 identified the winner as Debbie Eason. The winner of the contest, in fact, was Jean Dedes.

The Northville Record regrets these errors.

Showy fund-raiser auction to raise money for preschool

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

A piece of your hometown is going Hollywood come November to help out a good cause. You can come along for the ride and all you have to do is eat, drink and bid.

Bid? Yes, bid, as in an auction, the Northville Co-op Preschool's auction, to be precise. You can pick up all kinds of treasures - everything from jewelry to hot air balloon rides - and have the satisfaction of knowing that your money will benefit a children's program.

The Co-op Preschool, run out of First Presbyterian Church at the corner of Main and Hutton streets, has been in operation for nearly 50 years. This year 117 kids and their parents are participating.

The Co-op is part of a national organization and our approach is that kids can learn through play. It's kind of education through the back door," Co-op spokesperson Shelley Wine explained. "Children develop both academically and physically."

All of that takes money, of course, and to solicit some the Co-op Preschool has come up with an interesting event - a special auction to be held on Saturday, Nov. 2, at the Summit on the Parkway facility in Canton. The theme of the evening will be "Co-op goes Hollywood."

"This is our big fund-raiser and we're putting it on to keep tuition low and provide the best equipment possible for our kids," Wine said. "Last year we raised about $9,500 and this year we're shooting for $18,000. It's going to be a great time for everyone."

It doesn't cost anything to attend but you must make reservations beforehand with Wine at 348-4363, or with Julie Buch at 380-9112. Food will be served and there will be a cash bar.

The main attraction, of course, will come with the auction, which features a slew of unusual items. Just a few examples include a necklace courtesy of Northville Diamond Jewelers, tickets to auto racing and the Comedy Castle and a genuine balloon ride.

If you run a local business and are interested in getting involved you should know that the Co-op is looking for corporate sponsors as well.

Contact Wine or Buch for more information.

You can give them a call as well if you want to know more about the Co-op Preschool itself. Classes run Monday through Friday and are open to kids between two and five years of age.

"The neat part is that members run the program," Wine explained. "Parents elect the board of directors and are involved in things like hiring teachers and conducting their performance reviews. It's very hands-on."

Nominations sought for Citizen of Year

Know someone who gives more than he or she takes? Someone whose greatest sense of satisfaction comes from helping others? Someone whose community pride just won't be denied?

The Northville Chamber of Commerce is certain there are a lot of hard-working, conscientious people out there who deserve recognition as Citizen of the Year.

But the Chamber needs your help to identify them.

If you know of someone you think would qualify as Northville Citizen of the Year, put your printer where your mouth is and write an essay nominating him or her for the honor. Just jot down a few words explaining why you think your friend is an invaluable contributor to the betterment of the community and send them off to the Chamber. You can mail your explanation to the Chamber office, 195 S. Main, Northville 48167, or fax it to 349-8730.

Entries must be submitted by Oct. 11. The essays will be judged by past presidents of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce. The honoree will be announced at the Chamber's annual meeting Tuesday, Oct. 15.

Last year's recipients of the Citizen of the Year award were Bill and Carol Jean Stockhausen.

Other recipients were: Mitch Deeb (1994), Paul Folino (1993), Marlene Kunz and Greg Presley (1992), Jean Hansen (1991), John and Toni Genitti (1990), Bruce Turnbull (1989), Laura Hicks (1988), Paul Vernon (1987), Fran Gazlay (1986), Russell Amerman (1985), Norma Vernon (1984), Dewey Gardner (1983), William Sliger (1982), Jack Hoffman (1981) and Philip Ogilvie (1980).

Assault suspect sought by police

Someone broke into a Northville Township couple's home and assaulted the woman living there one week ago. If you know anything about it, township police want to hear from you.

The incident took place at about 1 a.m. on Thursday, Sept. 19, at a house on Parklane road. The woman involved told police that she woke up after hearing noise from another part of the home.

She got up to check it out and was soon confronted by a man dressed completely in black, including a ski mask. He grabbed her by the throat and shoved her into the bedroom and down onto her bed, the woman said, then ran out of the home. Along the way he stole $6 in cash. Detective Fred Yankee said.

The man then drove off in a dark colored pickup truck, according to the woman. Police are investigating a possible suspect but Yankee asks anyone with information about this incident to call him at 349-9400.

DRINKING AND DRIVING CRACKUP: A Canton woman who was arrested for drunk driving caused an accident on Seven Mile road last week, according to township police.

The woman, 31, allegedly rear-ended another vehicle with her 1995 Mercury Cougar near the intersection of Seven Mile and Gerald Avenue shortly before 9 p.m. on Sept. 18. She claimed to have only consumed three beers that evening but testing later at police headquarters showed her to have a blood alcohol level of .24 percent, nearly two and a half times the legal limit.

She was held in jail until she sobered up, then released on bond and faced a court hearing yesterday (Sept. 25).

STOLEN CARD #1: This week saw a slew of credit card fraud cases brought to the attention of police. The biggest involved a card belonging to a Fenton man which, according to township investigators, a Farmington Hills man used to try to buy $629 worth of merchandise at Meijer.

Store employees told police that the Farmington Hills man, 21, came into Meijer shortly after 4 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 17, and picked out a selection of video games and control pads.

Store detectives said they recognized the man from several previous attempts to fraudulently return goods to Meijer without a sales slip and so they began watching him.

The man became irate when the cashier refused to ring the games and pads up without identification, witnesses said, and he soon left the store. He allegedly quickly returned, however, bringing in a driver's license that clearly did not belong to him. Both it and the credit card he used were confiscated.

The man then became "irate," according to witnesses, and ran up and down the aisles of the store before leaving again.

The card was stolen from the Fenton man when he was at the Vic Tanny in Novi.

STOLEN CARD #2: The next afternoon (Sept. 18) township police arrested an Oak Park woman for receiving and concealing stolen merchandise: seven purloined credit cards.

Meijer employees called police after the woman allegedly used one of them to try to buy $141 worth of goods. A computer check of the card showed it to be stolen and the woman, 27, allegedly told police she got it and the six others from a friend of a friend in Detroit.

According to her the friend, a man, instructed her to buy the goods and give them to him. Afterwards he would pay her, she added.

The woman will face a court hearing on Oct. 9.

FORGOTTEN CARD: An unscrupulous person took advantage of a Walled Lake's woman's mistake at an ATM last week.

The woman, 27, told police that she used the ATM at the Comerica bank near Eight Mile and Haggerty on the afternoon of Sept. 17 but accidentally forgot to take her bank card or close out her transaction. By the time she realized it and called her credit union, someone had made a $300 withdrawal from her account.

A hold was immediately placed on the card.

LAPTOP LIFTED: Someone stole a laptop computer worth $350 from a Village Run Drive home on Sept. 18. Police believe the thief or thieves gained entry through a window. The theft took place sometime between 6 a.m. and 5 p.m.

If you have any information about these or any other illegal incidents you can call Northville City police at 349-1234 or Northville Township police at 349-9400.

Alleged gas station robbers bound over to court for trial

According to township police, store security videotape shows Hourani, Bazzi and a third man entering the station shortly after 3 a.m. on the day in question. Together the three tied up the station's attendant and stole money from him, the cash register and the safe.

Bazzi and a 22-year-old Detroit man behind the wheel of the car the four allegedly drove up in were arrested at the scene. Hourani and a 19-year-old relative, according to police, slipped out the back door and fled. Hourani was arrested in Dearborn that night.

Bazzi, who lives in Detroit, and Hourani each face two counts of armed robbery, one for the station and one for the attendant. Each charge carries a maximum penalty of life in prison. Hourani faces an additional charge, using a firearm in the commission of a felony, which would tack an additional two years onto any sentence he may receive.

Troopers to cruise for cause

Troopers from the Northville State Police Post will ride bicycles and run through downtown Northville on Friday, Sept. 27, to raise money for the Michigan Special Olympics.

This event will be one of a number that will take place across the state during law enforcement torch run week Sept. 21-28. A torch run takes place each day of the week in communities throughout the state, spanning over 3,000 miles.

Trooper Thalia Snell, the team captain and organizer of the local event, explained that each participant is required to collect donations for the Michigan Special Olympics.

Aside from raising funds, the run is intended to create public awareness for the Michigan Special Olympics and allows police officers to become involved in the community. The Special Olympics accommodates all people with mental or developmental disabilities, regardless of ability level.

Eligibility for competition is open to people 8-years-old or older. Children ages 6 and 7 may participate in training.

The competitions are based on age, gender and ability. Summer sports include aquatics, basketball, golf, powerlifting, softball and 10 other sports. Winter sports include alpine skiing, figure skating and poly hockey.

Donations for the Michigan Special Olympics can be made during normal business hours at the Northville State Police Post till Oct. 15, or sent to Michigan Special Olympics, Central Michigan University, Mount Pleasant, MI 48859.

The post is located off Seven Mile in Northville Township.

Psychiatric clinic will offer free screening

Mental health professionals from Psychotherapy & Counseling Services in Northville will offer local residents the opportunity to learn about the signs and symptoms of depression and to participate in a free screening as part of National Depression Screening Day, Thursday, Oct. 10, at 6 p.m.

Phone-in reservations are requested in order to assure ample space. The office is located at 670 Griswold, Suite 4.

Further information about the Screening Day Program is available by calling the clinic at (810) 348-1100. This is the third consecutive year that Psychotherapy & Counseling Services has been invited to participate in this national event.

Participants at Screening Day will hear a brief talk and view a video on the causes and symptoms of depression, and will learn about the latest available treatments. Individuals will complete an anonymous self-inventory of depression symptoms and have the opportunity to discuss the results with a mental health professional experienced in the treatment of depression.

Depression strikes about 15 million Americans each year, according to figures from the National Institute of Mental Health. Only one in four individuals with depression, however, actually seeks treatment, even though treatment can help over 80 percent of those affected.

"We hope that this nationwide effort to provide mental health screening for depression will educate the public about the signs and symptoms of depression and encourage those who may be vulnerable to seek evaluation and treatment," said Psychotherapy & Counseling Services Screening Day coordinator Stephen Paul Stocker.

National Depression Screening Day is sponsored by the American Psychiatric Association, National Institute of Mental Health, Harvard Medical School, National Mental Health Association, and the National Depressive and Manic-Depressive Association.

Local districts react to tougher driver's ed guidelines

By WENDY PIERMAN MITZEL
Staff Writer

The State of Michigan is changing gears in the way it approaches the education of young drivers, making it more difficult to obtain a license and adding restrictions to drive-time privileges.

According to Dr. Emmett Lippe, superintendent for Novi Schools, some of the changes are for the better.

"This is heavy traffic area. We think it's a pretty good idea. If you have a little more practice time, it can't be all that bad," Lippe explained.

Novi Police Chief Douglas Shaefer agrees that the changes can help young drivers better prepare for the road. As a general rule, young drivers are involved in a lot of traffic accidents, he said.

"As they gain time behind the wheel they learn to handle a car better and understand traffic flow," he explained.

"It's a big responsibility," said Lippe. "It's different than way out-state where the roads may not be that busy," he added.

Northville Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski said the legislation is sensible, but he expressed misgivings about some aspects of the new law.

"We're all for more time behind the wheel for our teens, and that's something the entire board (of education) would support. At the same time we do have some concern that this could be a back-door attempt to introduce student vouchers into the public school system."

Rezmierski questioned the motivation behind the changes, adding that the legislation could be costly to families.

"Is this really being fair to families when they have to get the service privately but end up paying more for a service we can provide for less money?" he asked.

—Leonard Rezmierski
Northville School Superintendent

The state plans to offer new vouchers to students whose school districts don't offer driver's education. However, according to Jim Koster, assistant superintendent for business in the Novi School District, most out-state districts don't have private programs. The voucher, worth about $80, would pay for about half of a private driver's education program.

For that reason, out-state districts might be more severely affected than metro-area school systems, Koster believes.

The changes go into effect April 1, 1997, which means 16-year-old drivers who already have their licenses will probably be held to some restrictions, including the rule of no driving between midnight and 5 a.m.

Beginning in April of 1998, school districts can start charging the difference between the actual per-pupil cost of the class and the amount the state and the school district pay. Districts pay a matching amount of what the district kicks in.

The state Senate passed the bill 20-17, a bare majority. Twenty Republicans voted yes, 15 Democrats and two out-state Republicans voted no. One Detroit Democrat was absent.

Insurers ignored the ideological battle and praised the bill's effect on public safety.

"There's no question that youthful drivers are considered high-risk drivers because they are in disproportionately more accidents than any other age group," said

Gary Mitchell, spokesman for the Michigan Association of Insurance Agents. "This legislation will hopefully reduce the number of inexperienced drivers that are on the road."

MAIA said 15 percent of the 989,000 licensed drivers ages 16-24 are involved in accidents each year while only 5 percent of the 65-75 group have accidents.

"We must act to protect our kids," said the bill's sponsor, Rep. Dan Gustafson, R-Williamston. Both chambers passed different versions last spring, but it took months in a conference to produce a compromise.

Even though the public school mandate is dropped in April of 1998, Gustafson doubted that local schools would discontinue such a popular program.

"Smaller schools can design consortiums with other districts. Each community's needs, not state law, will dictate the setup of its program."

The state will continue to use $4 from every license for driver's ed. Schools offering driver's ed will be required to match state funds. Local schools may charge tuition only when spending for enhanced programs exceeds state and local funding.

Opponent Greg Pitonlak, D-Taylor, called that a "back-door tax increase."

The new law will take effect in April of 1997 and sets these graduated requirements:

• Level 1 - Participants must be at least 14 years, 9 months of age and have parental approval. They must have completed successfully the first segment of driver's ed and passed vision and knowledge tests.

The license would be valid any time a parent or legal guardian accompanies the driver. Teens must log 50 hours of driving, including 10 hours at night.

They also must complete a second phase of driver's education and be free of crashes and violations for 90 days before applying for a Level 2 license.

• Level 2 - At age 16, they can obtain a provisional license after meeting first-level requirements. They must have passed a driver performance road test. They may drive only from 5 a.m. to midnight unless accompanied by a parent or traveling for work.

• Level 3 - At age 17, drivers become eligible for the final tier if they have been crash-free and violation-free for six months at Level 2.

All previous restrictions are removed.

Northville lawmakers voting yes on the proposal included Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, Willis Bullard, R-Milford, and Robert Geake, R-Northville.

—Reporter Tim Richard contributed to this article.

Teens unimpressed with new standards

By WENDY PIERMAN MITZEL
Staff Writer

Teens feel unfairly targeted now that new rules for the road have been approved by state legislators.

The new requirements to obtain a driver's license include 50 hours of practice drive-time with a parent and successfully passing a road test. Teens are also restricted from driving between the hours of midnight and 5 a.m. without a parent.

The rules have teens wondering about their freedom to drive.

"I think it sucks," said Crystal Hubel, a 14-year-old Novi High School freshman. She is afraid the restrictions will prohibit her from getting her license on time.

Her sister, Jessica, already a licensed driver at 17, also disagrees with the changes.

"I think it's dumb. People drive without licenses right now," she claimed.

Jessica did admit the added practice time might be a good idea.

"It's actually good because I'm a pretty bad driver," she said.

Teens need to have the freedom of an unrestricted license to get where they need to go, they say.

"I haven't even taken (driver's ed) yet. I'm a junior and I still don't know how to drive," said Tara Wisniewski, a 15-year-old at Novi High.

"I don't like all these new rules," she said and questioned why nobody asked her for her opinion when drafting the bill.

"I don't see a need. It's just going to make a few youngins pretty angry," Wisniewski said. Seventeen-year-old Tonya Cobb doesn't agree with changing the rules.

"What difference is it going to make? We're not going to drive any better," she said.

However, she did admit it's a different ride when she drives with her mom than with her friends.

"My mom critiques me on everything ... She holds onto the door when I turn corners," she laughed.

Jason List, a 17-year-old senior at Novi High, said he took driver's ed through the school district and found it to be more than enough preparation. He doesn't feel the 50 hours of drive time are necessary.

"I felt fine the first time I ever drove," he said.

Bloodmobile plans stop

The American Red Cross Bloodmobile will be on the Schoolcraft College campus Tuesday, Oct. 29, from 7:30 a.m. until 7:30 p.m. in the Waterman Campus Center. The Red Cross needs approximately 1,200 pints of blood per day to meet the needs of area hospitals.

To schedule an appointment, call (313) 462-4400, ext. 5050.

Walk-in donors also are welcome.

Township Briefs

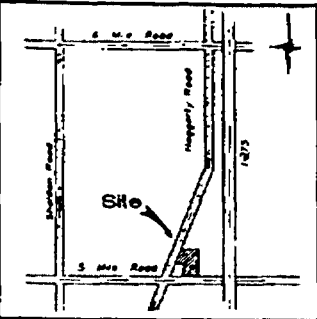

News from the Sept. 24 meeting of the Northville Township Planning Commission:

SEARS STORE PLAN: Will a 50,000 square foot retail center come to the corner of Five Mile and Haggerty roads? It will if Sears has its way.

The commission got its first look at a plan proposed by the commercial giant for a 49,600 square foot shopping center that will sit at the northeast corner of Five Mile and Haggerty. That's within the Northville Township border, as the dividing line between it and Livonia runs along disused old Haggerty road to the east of the Oasis Family Fun Center.

The 4.74 acres surrounds the Sunoco service station at the corner of Five and Haggerty and is zoned B-3 for general business use. Sears wants to build a 21,500 square foot hardware store there, including an additional 3,000 feet of space for outdoor retail sales.

Next door to that store would be two others, one measuring 9,500 total square feet, the other 15,600 square feet. A 210-space parking lot would also be constructed. Entrances to the shopping center, two off Haggerty and two off Five Mile, are planned along with green space and landscaping buffering.

Township consultants said they needed a lot more information about the plan before they could make any recommendations to the commission or the township board about it.

They did voice some problems with the plan, such as too few parking spaces, and a representative of the firm Sears has hired to handle the project said many changes would be made to the plan.

In the end the commission sent Sears back to the drawing board to submit more information about the idea.

ROCKY'S ADDITION ON THE WAY: Rocky's restaurant is seeking to replace its existing canvas-covered terrace with a permanent building addition. The change will increase Rocky's interior dining space by at least 10 percent.

Township officials gave a green light to the idea to replace the terrace, which sits on the southern end of the building facing out toward Seven Mile subject to consideration of issues such as dumpster improvements and sidewalks and landscaping installation.

In the works as well is a proposal to replace Rocky's 15-foot-high pylon sign with a six-foot-high ground one.

The restaurant hopes to have the additional space ready for use by the holiday season.

Development would replace Brooklane course

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Perhaps the third time really will be a charm.

The Northville Township Planning Commission took a look at a subdivision plan Tuesday night, the third one in as many years proposed for what is now Brooklane golf course, and ended up asking for more information before rendering a verdict.

The same developer, Farmington Hills-based Grand/Sakwa Properties, has been behind all three plans. In 1994, it offered a subdivision plan which straddled the northeast and southeast corners of Six Mile and Sheldon and included an offer of a public golf course and pool.

After the township board turned that down 1995 saw the company return with a smaller, more conventional plan which covered only the Brooklane course, a favorite of local links players for decades. That plan relied mainly on the site's existing R-2 residential zoning, calling for 130 home lots of about 20,000 square feet apiece.

This week Grand/Sakwa returned to the bargaining table with yet another proposal: developing the parcel using the township's ordinances concerning open space and home lot density bonus.

Both are strictly options: the township board doesn't have to approve it and if it does not Grand/Sakwa can then seek development approval for a conventional zoning subdivision.

The idea of the open space and density bonus ordinances is a tradeoff - a developer gets to put more houses into a subdivision than normal zoning allows in return for preserving key natural features of the site and/or setting aside a good chunk of the parcel for recreational or open space use by the sub's future residents.

The plan for the "Brooklane" subdivision, as it's tentatively named, preserves more than 34 percent of the 99 acre site. In return Grand/Sakwa is asking for nine more home lots than the 130 allowed by conventional zoning in its previous plan. Much of the open space is concentrated in the southwest section of the parcel, near land owned by Wayne County that is also slated for development.

The nine extra lots represent about a 7 percent increase in home density on the Brooklane parcel and will reduce average lot size throughout the subdivision to 14,350 square feet. The design calls for two accessways into the subdivision, one from Six Mile and one from Sheldon. Greenspace and landscaping buffers would insulate it from nearby roads and homes.

The plan drew questions from township planning consultants, who were not certain all of the lots in either the conventional or open space plans could be built because of steep slopes and wetlands.

In the end the commission called for Grand/Sakwa to submit a variety of information to the consultants to prove that their open space concept is workable. That information will be reviewed at a future meeting. Commissioners will also hold a public hearing on the plan to learn what township residents think. That hearing is set for the group's next regular meeting, Tuesday, Oct. 29, and will begin at 7 p.m.

Eventually the commission will issue a recommendation of approval or denial to the board of trustees, which has the final say.

School district officials ponder the alternatives

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

The school district may have to resort to portable classrooms or split scheduling as short-term measures to deal with the increasing student population at Cooke Middle School and Northville High School.

District officials aren't yet considering either option as possible solutions but they maintain the district is going to have to do something about overcrowding at the two schools.

With the failure of the district's $61.5 bond issue Monday, school officials must now look to the immediate future and develop a strategy that addresses overcrowding at the middle and high school levels.

Jerry Rupley, who chaired the citizens committee pushing for approval of the bond request and enhancement millage, does not want to see Northville go through the difficulties experienced by the Walled Lake School District the past three years.

"I would hate to see us holding classes in hallways or bus children two miles to a leased annex," he said. "Those are not solutions that most people in Northville would find acceptable. I certainly hope we don't have to get to the point where we see that type of overcrowding before we find it necessary to build new facilities."

The Walled Lake district is trying, for a fourth time, to get voter approval for a $108 million bond issue to build new facilities. That vote is scheduled for Saturday.

District Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski said the district needs to first understand why the plan failed, then ask the community how the district should address the increased student population problem.

"We're going to take a look at the plan to see if we can find areas that might have caused concern for voters, and at the same time we want information from the community - either by survey or open discussion - to better understand what we need to do, and how we need to do it," he said.

Rupley said he'd like to see more information gathered to learn the specific community concerns regarding the plan.

"I'm convinced that the plan was the most appropriate one to present to the voters, but obviously in light of the results of the election that package is going to have to be reviewed," he explained. "I personally don't see what can be eliminated from the plan that won't adversely effect the delivery of quality education to our children."

"I'd like to see more information gathered. We need to find out the specific concerns of the people who didn't vote and why they didn't vote," Rupley added. "I remain confident that we can put together a package that will meet the future needs of our children."

Rezmierski said that although he was disappointed in the outcome of the election, he and other district officials would be focusing on the plan and on short-term strategies.

"We have to revisit and rethink the impact of these citizen decisions on the future of the district," he said.

"With calm reflection we will present a recommendation to the board on our next steps."

with multi-media capabilities.

Robin Polletta, who served as a member of a citizens committee pushing for approval of the bond, said she was disappointed by the outcome and that the issue of overcrowding in district schools still needs the full attention of the community.

"I believe the (bond and enhancement) plan was a good one and despite the defeat we need to continue to address the issue of growth and an increasing student population," she said. "This problem is not going to go away, and eventually this community is going to have to do something about it."

Even if the bond issue had been approved by voters, the high school and Cooke Middle School would have experienced continued overcrowding problems until a new facility could be built.

"Now with the defeat of the bond we'll have to come up with some short-term remedies to alleviate the problem of a growing student population," she said.

Rezmierski said district administrators and school board members will attempt to find solutions to the overcrowding issue, but added no plan has been discussed.

"We felt the bond and enhancement proposals represented a logical solution to the growth problems, but we'll look at other options," he explained. "We'll just have to do the best we can with what we have."

Realtors warn of values plunge

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

It may take a year or two, but the results of the defeated school district bond election might have some negative effects on community property values.

That's the assessment from local realtors this week in the wake of the failed school district bond and enhancement proposals Monday. Both issues were defeated by a narrow margin and could force district officials to consider using portable classrooms or split scheduling to accommodate the increase in students at the middle and high school levels.

Those options could cause property values to tumble, according to Bernadette Steiner of Remerica Realty in Northville, who said area homeowners enjoy high property values. In part, because of the excellent school system.

"Without a doubt Northville schools are a big draw to this community for prospective homebuyers," Steiner said. "If the defeated bond election begins to have a negative effect on the quality of education provided, then you'll see less people buying in the community and, consequently, you'll see property values begin to drop."

"The bottom line is that if the community's educational system begins to suffer, most people won't be as interested in purchasing a home there."

Steiner said that about 75 percent of her customers list education as their first concern when shopping for a home.

"People are not only interested in shopping for a house, they're also shopping for a community, and good schools are found in good communities," she added.

Barb Williamson of Real Estate One in Northville agreed.

"Schools and education are extremely important to homebuyers," she said. "Homebuyers are always asking me for the district's test results, the drop-out rate, school locations and other related information. That tells me they're also shopping for quality schools."

Williamson, a former Northville resident and district school teacher, said that if the district began using portables at some schools, homeowners near those sites could have a difficult time selling their homes.

"Most people would not be interested in living near a school with trailers," she said. "Failing to pass a bond election does not mean the community is going to immediately experience a drop in property values. It is important to recognize, however, that if the failed bond begins adversely affecting the educational system, that's going to negatively impact property values."

CITY OF NORTHVILLE LEGAL NOTICE

RE: 620 Horton, Northville, MI 48167

Designation Of Dwelling Unit For Human Habitation - Order To Repair or Demolish

The City of Northville and its Health Officer have determined that the residence located at 620 Horton, Northville, Michigan, Oakland County, is unfit for human habitation, as defined in Section 6-515(a) of the City of Northville Ordinance, and if the repairs and/or demolition required below are not made by October 19, 1996, the Health Officer will post a placard on the residence containing the following words, "Condemned As Unfit For Human Habitation."

The legal owner of record, Donald J. Norton, is required to make repairs and/or demolish the structure, which was altered without a building permit, in violation of the City of Northville Ordinance Section 24.04(d), and which is creating an unsanitary and unsafe condition, thereby creating a health hazard to neighbors and the residential community, and maintain the grounds in accordance with the City Ordinance.

All required repairs and/or demolition is to be completed by October 19, 1996. Failure to take the required actions will result in the City of Northville issuing an Order To Demolish the structure under the authority of Section 6-515(g) of the Northville Ordinance. Refusal to repair or demolish the structure by March 19, 1997, will result in the City of Northville taking steps to demolish the structure and place a lien upon the property in an amount equal to the cost of demolishing the structure and any administrative and legal cost incurred as a result of demolishing the structure.

The owner(s) of record, or any other affected persons, have the right to appeal this decision, or any other decisions of the Health Officer, to the Housing Board of Appeals within 14 days of the date of the decision, by filing a written appeal with the City of Northville, Health Officer, 215 W. Main Street, Northville, MI 48167. The written request for appeal shall contain a description of the property, a description of the decision being appealed, and the grounds on which the decision is being appealed. The request for appeal shall contain a fee of $10.00 to cover the cost of handling the appeal. The Housing Board of Appeals may refund or retain the fee at its discretion. The Housing Board of Appeals shall fix a reasonable time for the hearing of the appeal and shall provide written notice to interested parties. The decision of the Housing Board of Appeals shall be final.

If a structure is condemned by the Health Officer and a placard indicating such is placed on the structure, no person shall deface or remove the placard until the Health Officer has determined that the unfit conditions have been corrected. Any person defacing or removing a placard in violation of the Ordinance shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than $25.00 or more than $100.00 and costs of prosecution, or by imprisonment for a period not exceeding 90 days, or both fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the Court.

A placard containing the words "Condemned As Unfit For Human Habitation" will be placed on the structure if the indicated repairs and/or alterations are not completed by October 19, 1996.

CITY OF NORTHVILLE 215 W. MAIN STREET NORTHVILLE, MICHIGAN 48167 (810)349-1300 NOTICE OF ENACTMENT REFRIGERATION SYSTEMS ORDINANCE AMENDMENT

Title 6, Chapter 13, Section 6-1306

In addition to the BOCA Basic National Mechanical Code of 1993, the City Ordinance requires air conditioner condensers to be located in the rear yard, unless prior approval is granted by the Building Department. In order to obtain Building Department approval for a side yard location the condenser must be: 1) screened on sides visible to the street, rear, and side yard, and 2) the screening is to be at least 12" higher than the top of the unit. The side yard placement of a condenser unit shall not encroach into the side yard setback requirements. Placement of condenser units in existing non-conforming side yards shall be prohibited. The side yard location shall continue to be subject to the provisions of City of Northville Zoning Ordinance, Article 18, General Provisions, Section 18.13, "Performance Standards".

A genuine hardship must be present to allow front yard location of condensers. A final decision of the Building Department may be appealed to the Zoning Board of Appeals pursuant to Article 25 of the Zoning Ordinance.

Sawmill to exhibit at Novi show

Northville's own The Sawmill is a featured exhibitor at the fourth annual Fall Remodeling Show that takes place Sept. 26 through Sept. 29 at the Novi Expo Center.

"Each year we have been fortunate enough to attract many of the area's finest companies to our show," said Gilbert "Buzz" Silverman, president of Building Industry Association of Southeastern Michigan (BIA) and president and chief executive officer of The Silverman Companies in Farmington Hills. "It's a win-win situation because showgoers see a wide array of top quality products and services for the home and garden all in one place." The non-profit BIA is the event sponsor.

The Sawmill, located at 316 N. Center, will exhibit its finished and unfinished furniture and wood finishing products.

As a special highlight of the show, columnists and authors Katie and Gene Hamilton, creators of Housenot on America Online and on the World Wide Web, will help homeowners decide whether to tackle home improvement projects themselves. The pair has been seen on NBC's "Today Show" and Lifetime Channel's "Our Home."

Other highlights include members of the American Society of Interior Designers conducting designer consultations and clinics and the Home Office Show, a show within the Fall Remodeling Show, featuring products, services and support for home offices.

Additional show features include

BIA's Remodelers Council Home Remodelers Clinic offering seminars on moving to a new home or remodeling an existing home; the second annual Showcase of Distinctive Homes sponsored by BIA, which will kick off at the show, displaying detailed home illustrations; demonstrations on decorating, home repair and remodeling and a treasure chest contest with daily prizes.

Over 200 exhibitors will show their most interesting and up-to-date products and services for kitchens, baths, home offices, doors, windows, yard/gardens, remodeling, interior design, furniture, arts and crafts, decorative accessories, pet accessories, electronics, heating and appliances.

BIA also sponsors the International Builders Home, Flower and Furniture Show at Cobo Conference-Exhibition Center and the Spring Home and Garden Show at Novi Expo Center.

Novi Expo Center is located at I-96 and Novi Road. Show hours are from 2-10 p.m. Thursday and Friday; 10 a.m.-10 p.m. Saturday; and 10 a.m.-7 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $6 for adults; $4 for seniors; $3 for children 6-12. Children under 6 are admitted free.

Family tickets for two adults and accompanying children are available at Farmer Jack for $9. Free admission coupons for Thursday, Sept. 26, are available at all Frank's stores. Ample parking is available at the Novi Expo Center for a fee. For more information, call (810) 737-4478.

Education Notes

The application deadline for winter scholarships to Schoolcraft College is Tuesday, Oct. 15. There are a number of general scholarships available in addition to specific funds for accounting, art and engineering students.

Applications are available at the Financial Aid Office in the McDowell Center. For information, call (313) 462-4417.

• More than 70 colleges and universities will be at Schoolcraft College Wednesday, Oct. 2, for the annual College Night program. Participating schools include Michigan State University, George Washington University, Eastern Michigan University, Ohio State University, Adrian College, Notre Dame University, the University of Michigan, Amherst College, Schoolcraft College and Purdue University.

School representatives will be on hand to answer questions and disseminate information and materials about admission requirements, costs and programs.

All area high school students, their families and the community are invited to attend. The program begins at 6:45 p.m. and continues until 8:50 p.m. It is advisable to arrive by 6:30 p.m. to park and be on time for the first session.

A "College Fair" will be set up in the Physical Education Building and some schools will offer individual presentations in other classrooms on campus.

Individual sessions will be repeated three times - at 6:45, 7:30 and 8:15 p.m.

For more information, call the Schoolcraft Office of Admissions at (313) 462-4426.

• If you're finally preparing to take that European holiday or you've always had a secret desire to learn Chinese, sign up for one of Schoolcraft College's language classes. Native speakers teach various levels of Polish, Italian and Russian. Other skilled instructors present classes in Spanish, German, French, Mandarin Chinese and Japanese. There also are classes in American Sign Language.

For information on these or other classes or to register, call (313) 462-4448. To fax registrations, dial (313) 462-4572.

• The world of computers need not remain a mystery with more than 20 classes offered at Schoolcraft College to guide you from the basics through sophisticated programs.

Microsoft's popular Windows 95 will be easy to use after taking Introduction to Windows 95, which is offered four times this fall. Five separate classes make up a Microsoft office package. They include Intermediate Spreadsheets using Microsoft Excel; Microsoft Works for Windows - Wordprocessing; Microsoft Works for Windows - Spreadsheets; Microsoft Works for Windows - Database; and Introduction to Lotus for Windows.

You can enhance your professional presentations after taking Effective Communication Using Powerpoint or learn to perform multiple tasks by taking Introduction to UNIX. Finally, learn to surf the Internet, work the World Wide Web and employ e-mail in Internet - The Great Beyond.

For information on these or other classes or to register, call (313) 462-4448. To fax registrations, dial (313) 462-4572.

Investment seminar offers free pointers

A seminar on investments and estate planning has been scheduled by the Farmington Hills office of the investment securities firm of Roney & Co.

The seminar, "Strategies for Investing Your Money and Planning Your Estate," will take place at the Meadowbrook Country Club in Northville, on Eight Mile Road, one-half mile west of I-275. Those interested in attending the seminar can select from three times: 2 to 4 p.m. Oct. 3; 6 to 8 p.m. Oct. 3; or 9 to 11 a.m. Oct. 5.

The first hour of the seminar, "Professional Money Management in the '90s: The Case for a Balanced Portfolio," will be presented by Douglas Reigeluth, director of Estabrook Capital Management Inc., a New York City-based value-oriented money manager.

The second hour of the seminar, "Wills, Estate Planning, Living Trusts, Irrevocable Trusts, Family Limited Partnerships and Charitable Remainder Trusts," will be presented by Alan Ferrara, an attorney at the Farmington Hills-based law firm of Finkel, Whitefield, Selik, Raymond, Ferrara & Feldman, P.C.

The seminar is free and is being hosted by Douglas Bingham and Brad LeBlanc, financial consultants in Roney & Co.'s Farmington Hills office. Refreshments will be served at each seminar. For reservations or more information, call (810) 932-5450 or 1-800-548-8008.

Local store sells Lottery winner

By JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writer

You can get more than Slurpees at the 7-Eleven store at Ten Mile and Meadowbrook roads in Novi.

Lots more, as one extraordinarily lucky mystery shopper found out last week. The store sold the winning $9.2 million Michigan Lotto ticket, drawn on Sept. 18.

7-Eleven owner Rick Canzano said he was notified by the Michigan Lottery Commission. The $1 ticket entitles the winner to 20 annual payments of $463,300 before taxes.

"We were fortunate, the odds were not that great," Canzano said.

"We never buy tickets. Now all my employees will spend all their paychecks on tickets."

To be precise, the odds were one to 13.9 million of purchasing the right combination of numbers.

said lottery spokesperson Lisa Grayson. In this case, that was 14, 24, 27, 40, 43, 44.

But who that person is, is not being released. The nouveau millionaire has joined the ranks of the discretely rich by requesting that absolutely no information be given out by the state.

"They won't even allow us to say where they're from or what their occupation is. Most winners allow us to say where they're from," Grayson explained.

Canzano said the ticket was an Easy Pick, with the numbers selected by the computer.

"We have a lot of repeat customers. I think it's someone in the area," he added.

"It's great for the store. They've joined the list of lucky stores for the lottery," Grayson said. "People will be really excited to buy their tickets there."

Library Lines

LIBRARY CLOSING: The Northville District Library will be closed until Sunday, Oct. 6, to prepare for the grand opening of the new library building. While we are closed, library patrons may borrow from any of the libraries in the Library Network with a current Northville Library card.

Here is a brief list of some of the surrounding libraries that may be used: Canton Public Library (313) 397-0999, Farmington Branch (810) 474-7770, Farmington Hills (810) 553-3228, Livonia Civic Center (313) 421-7238, Livonia Noble (313) 421-4235, Livonia Sandburg (810) 476-0700, Novi Public Library (810) 349-0720, Plymouth District Library (313) 453-0750.

The Northville District Library wishes to thank the above libraries for their cooperation and assistance during this period of time.

BOOK DROPS: Books may be returned at the drop boxes in the old building, or at any of the libraries associated with the Library Network.

ESSAY CONTEST: A big thank you and compliments to all participants who submitted essays for our contest.

LIBRARY UPDATES: The Northville District Library staff has been busy since we have been closed. Here is a progress report of our activities:

The first phase of materials transferred to the new library has been completed. Automation wiring is in its final stages. Newly acquired books, videos, Books-on-Tape, and CDs are being processed and interfiled into the collection.

LIBRARY BOARD MEETING: The next meeting of the Northville District Library Board is scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the City Council chambers. All are welcome to attend.

GRAND OPENING: Be sure to come to the grand opening of our brand 35cal selections of the Schoolcraft College Community Wind Ensemble begins at 1:30 p.m. followed by a dedication ceremony and an open house.

OCTOBER PROGRAMS: To help celebrate the brand new library, there will be an extensive range of programming on-going during the month of October, geared for the whole family. The current list of programs is listed on the Northville District Library's cable channel.

FROM THE FRIENDS: Amy Storm has stepped forward to fill the post of treasurer for the Friends' of the Northville District Library's new gift store. She is a former controller. The store will be in operation on the library's opening day Sunday, Oct. 6, beginning at 2 p.m. Look for it near the entrance doorway.

Vice president Karla Scoble reports a profit of $1,033 from the Friends' cakewalk at the Northville Victorian Festival. In spite of the rain, the "musical chairs" game delighted children and adults.

Rezoning for grocery store rejected in neighboring city

Shoppers won't be "Krogering" anytime soon at a proposed site at Nine Mile and Haggerty in Farmington Hills.

The Farmington Hills City Council voted not to consider a rezoning request that would have allowed the Midland Group to build a retail center with a Kroger store, drug store and other retail outlets on property sandwiched between the I-275 freeway and Novi.

After hearing representatives from Kroger, the property owner and residents, both for and against the proposal, for three hours, the council voted against rezoning the property from office use to commercial.

The proposed center would have allowed developers to build a 125,000-square-foot shopping center and with it, road improvements including widening Nine Mile and Haggerty to four lanes from two.

But the Farmington Hills city council, and many residents from both Novi and Farmington Hills were concerned about the added traffic, noise and the impact on property values.

"We chose to live here so we didn't have an intersection," said one Farmington Hills resident. "There hasn't been a hue and cry for a place to get groceries and film. There has been one to prevent the loss of trees."

Dan Bellinger, president of the Meadowbrook Homeowners Association, said his board voted against the proposal.

"This would be the law of unintended consequences," he said. "Every time a road is improved, there's more traffic. I've never had a problem shopping."

Attorney Norman Hyman, representing the developer, said that the center combined with improvements to the roadways would actually improve traffic.

"Every member of this neighborhood has to eat," he said, adding that there was no supermarket in the southwest quadrant of the city. "People are already on the road to the market. This would just make it more convenient for them, not add traffic."

Hyman said the center would not be like the "Meijer's monster" on Eight Mile and Haggerty in Novi, but would be for local residents.

"It's mind boggling to think that such a project would not add to the traffic," said Farmington Hills Mayor Aldo Vagnozzi.

Claude Coates, the Farmington Hills planning consultant, outlined the advantages and disadvantages of the proposal that had gotten a mixed review (4-4 vote) from that city's planning commission.

A shopping center would provide convenient shopping, additional tax base (of from $55,000-$60,000 to the city), would provide a use for land that has been unused for a long time, and would improve the adjacent roads.

He said the project would be used as justification for other commercial projects in the area and have an impact on Novi's residential areas, would add more traffic, would add to traffic burdens on Haggerty, could add to an oversupply of commercial buildings and force Novi to change its land use.

Vagnozzi said he was disappointed with the change in the master plan that would allow rezoning, especially after the Farmington Hills council had met with residents and its planning commission before the change.

"The idea was to get input from the residents," he said. "I'm very unhappy it was done after we met with residents."

Residents from both cities supported the proposal, just as some residents opposed it.

Many apartment dwellers and others living nearby saw the proposed center as a convenience.

Albert Ludwig, who lives near the Kroger center at Eleven Mile and Halsted, said he had reservations about that center when it was built.

"If anything, I wish it were closer," Ludwig said. "It's a convenience. It was a chance for us to go away from traffic on Orchard Lake."

Farmington Hills council member Nancy Bates said office use was the appropriate use for the land.

After the 7-0 denial, Hyman said he was not sure what the next move would be.

"We'll take a good hard look at it," he said.

First lengths

It's never too early to sample the water and develop your sea legs. Two-year-old Jason Lerner of Northville recently took part in the Recreation Department's Water Tots class, held at Northville High School. The young swimmer (left) gets a helping hand from father, Laran, as he learns how to tread water. To find out more about the department's programs, stop by the Community Center, 303 W. Main St., or call 349-0203.

Young Republican writes volume about love affair with GOP

Brian Downs is a "rock solid Republican."

He tells you so right from the beginning of a 205-page book he has written.

"I am a Ronald Reagan Republican. President Reagan was my childhood hero," he states in the first two sentences of the first paragraph of the first chapter, entitled "Bitten by the Elephant."

At the age of 8, Downs - a Northville resident who is now all of 19 and a sophomore at St. Mary's College at Orchard Lake - was waving a Reagan-Bush sign at the polls on Election Day 1984.

"Combined with my roots and upbringing, this event shaped me into the 'Rock Solid Republican' I am today."

Teenage Journey into Politics (Tiffin Publishing, Plymouth, Mich.: $12) details Downs' passion for politics, which he remembers had its start when he was 3 years old and saw Reagan on television.

"I fell in love with him," Downs says unabashedly.

The book - dedicated to "Mom, Dad and Ronald Reagan" - which he wrote earlier this year after campaigning for Bob Dole in the New Hampshire primary, is scheduled for release in October. He will be holding a press conference at 10 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 26, at BD's Mongolian Bar-B-Q in Royal Oak, a restaurant owned and operated by his brother Bill.

Downs aims his memoirs primarily at a youthful audience, but anyone of any age and of any political persuasion would have to acknowledge that his political journey is an incredible one for someone so young.

In Chapter 15, "Bluepoint for Involvement," Downs reduces his formula for political success to three basic steps:

First, become politically aware. "It is important to know how you stand on the great issues of the day," he says. "Look at the issues from all perspectives." Downs recommends a list of books on politics, history and government, and encourages paying attention to the media, newspapers, radio and TV.

Second, networking. "People are the key to every route a human being can take."

Downs' book is replete with example after example of his networking skills. From his high school student government campaigns at Redford Catholic Central, from where he graduated in 1995, to becoming chairman of the Michigan Teenage Republicans (TARS) and national TARS spokesman, to gaining the highly competitive job as page to Congressman Joe Knollenberg in the summer of 1993 - for which position Downs used his political savvy to get letters of recommendation from three ex-presidents: Gerald Ford, George Bush and Reagan.

After high school, Downs attended Oxford as an exchange student, served as a page for the Conservative Party in the British Parliament and did an internship at the U.S. Embassy in Dublin.

Third, "become active and never stop."

Volunteer to put up signs, make phone calls, help with voter registration. Watch debates, attend rallies and parades. And, of course, don't forget to vote.

The youngest of six children of William and Cheryl Downs, Brian says he learned the virtues of loyalty, tenacity, hard work and patriotism from his parents.

His father, a helicopter pilot in the Vietnam War who received a Bronze Star for bravery on a rescue mission during the Tet offensive, runs his own computer software business.

Brian introduced his mother, a housewife and "a very religious woman who never lets you forget Judgment Day," to Rush Limbaugh's radio talk shows. "We're both 'Dittoheads,'" he quips.

Downs has campaigned for, shaken the hands of and been photographed with notable political leaders on both sides of the Atlantic. But no moment in his life can top the half-hour one-on-one visit he had with Ronald Reagan in California in April 1993.

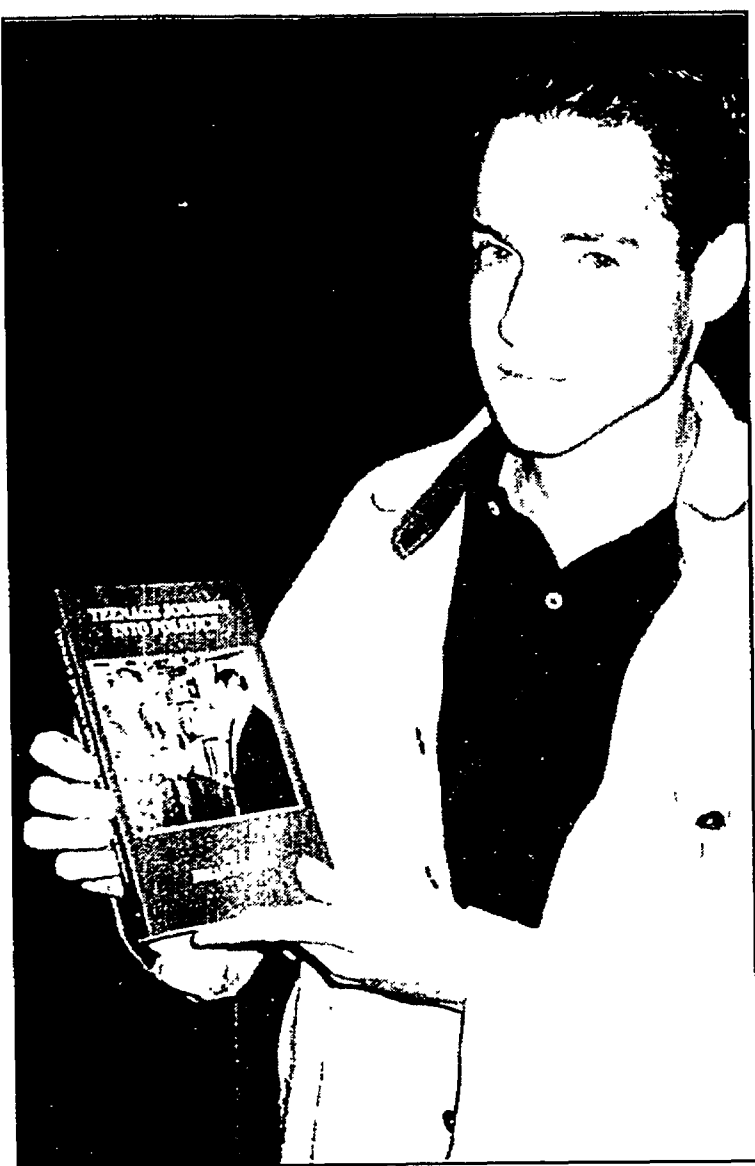

"Alone with the 'Great Communicator,'" Downs writes in Chapter 5, "was a moment I never wanted to end."

The former president showed Downs around his office, inquiring about Downs' political involvement and answering questions in turn about his own life. A photo of Reagan and Downs graces the cover of the book.

The experience "was a defining moment in my life," writes Downs.

Downs is not discouraged about the chances of Dole defeating President Clinton. In spite of the polls,

"I will be campaigning non-stop from now until Nov. 5," he vows.

Mill Race Matters

Tivoli Fair opens Friday, Sept. 27, at 10 a.m. and remains open until 8 p.m. The 27th annual juried arts and crafts show will once again this year be located at Northville Downs.

Due to changes in the operation of the race track, fair-goers will enter through the parking lot door farthest east. Off-line bettors will be using the door previously used as an entrance. Participants should follow signage and parking instructions.

Tivoli Fair has become the major fund-raising arm of the Northville Historical Society. Profits generated from this two-day sale are used to cover maintenance and upkeep for the entire year's operation of Mill Race Village.

Over 115 crafters exhibit their handmade works for sale. Admission to the Friday-Saturday event is $3. Carriages and/or strollers for babies or small children are not permitted.

Food will be available for sale during the entire two-day event. As in previous year's Historical Society members will have a variety of baked goods for sale at their bake sale this year, relocated to the refreshment area in the building's western wing. Members who provide homemade baked goods will be admitted at 9 a.m.

In order to allow added space for exhibitors the Historical Society has decided to reduce the amount of organizational items it plans to sell. Publications relating to the history of the region will be available at the organization's information table next to the main entrance/exit.

Historical Society publications provide opportunity to learn more about the community of Northville. Those remaining for sale include: "Revelations of the Rouge," an overview of the various residents who have populated the Northville area surrounding the Rouge throughout time; "Early Northville," a collection of historic pictures from the community; "Step By Step Through Northville," four walking tours of the downtown area; and "Northville, The Ideal Suburban Village," a reprint of the community promotion done during the 1890s.

Also available for sale will be a collection of Civil War letters from area soldiers compiled by Julie Fountain, a history of the League of Women Voters of Michigan written by Diane Rockall of the Oakland Area League, and a Civil War memoir collection. Most of these publications are available through the Bookstall on the Main, 101 N. Center, as well as the Northville Historical Society.

Mill Race Village activities continue throughout October with the village buildings open every Sunday for visits from 1 until 4 p.m. for the remainder of the month. Third grade classes from the region will also continue to visit during October and November.

Nov. 23 and 24 provide this year's last opportunity to visit the building interiors as the Historical Society participates in its annual Christmas Walk. Additional details will be provided in this column as the date approaches.

Once again the Stockhausen family will be conducting the Children's Christmas Workshop at Mill Race Village. This year's workshop is planned for Dec. 7. Registration details will appear in The Northville Record as the date approaches. Be sure to look for the information as the workshop usually sells out immediately.

To complete the Historical Society year the organization's annual meeting and pot luck are scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 16, 1997. Members will get the opportunity to hear what's been happening with the organization and meet newly elected officers.

-Diane Rockall

Feeding time

Parmenter's Cider Mill, a favorite local spot for decades, isn't your ordinary consumer market. The business, established back in 1873, features a spacious nature area with a stream where duck feeding is allowed. Young Bolton Brown recently visited the mill and tossed a few morsels into the stream. Parmenter's is preparing for their busy season.

Recycling agency hopes to deal with Novi

By JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writer

The Resource Recovery Recycling Authority of Southwest Oakland County is hoping to make Novi an offer it can't refuse.

When setting the budget last spring, Novi City Council members exhibited restiveness over the $30,000 annual membership fee the city pays to the authority.

Now, RRRASOC is proposing to run Novi's Recycling Center at the Department of Public Works site on Delwall Drive and make it available to residents in neighboring member communities, such as Walled Lake and Wixom.

One of the reasons the authority wants to do this is to make membership for Novi in RRRASOC more attractive, explained RRRASOC general manager Mike Csapo.

Unlike many of the other RRRASOC communities, the City of Novi doesn't provide garbage collection and recycling. Residents here contract privately with waste haulers. That means Novi reaps fewer benefits from the association, council members contend.

"I have informed the other RRRASOC communities that Novi would need to realize some more direct benefit from this association if we are to continue to fund our membership," City Manager Ed Kriewall noted in a memo.

The Novi city council this month agreed to send out its lawyers to draft a possible agreement with the authority.

This year, it is anticipated it will cost the city $36,000 to run the Delwall Drive recycling center, $20,000 of that for labor.

As a host community, RRRASOC would pay Novi $21,000. The city would continue to staff and manage the operation. RRRASOC would contract with the haulers, most likely at a lower rate than Novi and rent the needed equipment, such as storage bins.

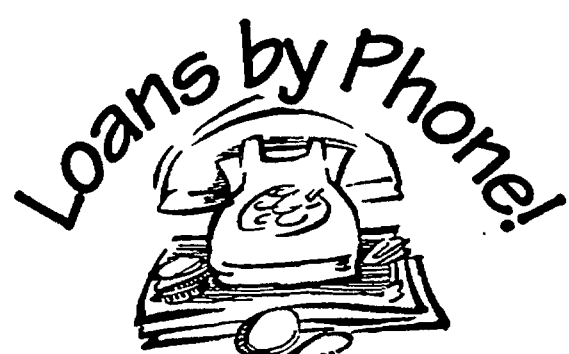

The service would only be open to RRRASOC community residents, not to commercial operations and professional haulers, Csapo explained.

RRRASOC's own Material Recoveries Facility and drop-off center is in Southfield, not convenient for residents in some of the eight member communities.

The authority would collect any profits on the sale of the recyclables.

If RRRASOC takes over Novi center, with the city's approval, it would add magazines, cardboard, paperboard and household batteries to the list of materials currently collected there.

Puppy smarts

Whoever put the "kid" in kindergarten probably never envisioned kindergarten puppy class, but it's now a reality at the Northville Recreation Center. Class member Becky Mehill struggles to hold on to an energetic 13-week-old yellow lab named Casey, owned by the Taylor family of Northville. As part of the class, owners sit in a circle and play "pass the puppy," an exercise designed to teach socialization skills.

Prank at game could backfire on high schoolers

By WENDY PIERMAN MITZEL
Staff Writer

Ten Novi High School students are facing social probation this fall after attempting to pull a "good natured" prank at the Sept. 20 home football game against Hartland High School.

During halftime, a group of teens ran out of the woods near the football fields, some wearing camouflage and hockey masks, and attempted to throw green and white water balloons at the Hartland fans, according to witnesses.

Green and white are Novi's school colors.

However, having been alerted of rumors of the prank earlier that day, Principal Arthur Miller said parents and staff spotted the group right away and yelled, sending the students back into the woods before any Hartland fans were hit with the balloons.

Police had also been alerted of the impending prank and spotted the teens a short time later on Nine Mile and Novi Road. Officers stopped them for questioning, confiscated their possessions, including the hockey masks, and sent their names onto Miller for disciplinary action.

One 15-year-old boy from South Lyon was taken to the station and cited for possession of marijuana and carrying a marijuana pipe, police said.

Miller said the administration finished an investigation and told the boys of their punishment.

He said the students "are very upset" because they didn't think they would get in trouble for the prank which was not intended to be malicious.

"I told them that what's good-natured to one person is not necessarily good-natured to the next," Miller said.

The students are not suspended from school but are not allowed to attend any football games the rest of the year and will face restrictions from social activities.

Our Opinion

Credibility an issue in rejection of issues

The voters of the Northville School District have spoken. But what exactly did they say and will their message be heeded?

By narrow margins, community voters Monday rejected two separate funding requests for new buildings, renovations and technology improvements. As far as we can tell, there can be only two main reasons for the negative verdict: people either don't want to pay more taxes or voters simply weren't convinced that the situation was as serious as advertised.

The first view is short-sighted, in addition to selfish. Any community that fails to provide basic accommodations for its school-age children is bound to suffer image problems, which in turn can result in a decline in property values. As Realtors quoted in an article in today's edition indicate, the reputation of a community's school district is a paramount concern to many, perhaps most, homebuyers. The law of supply and demand will inevitably catch up to any district where the schools are overcrowded or languishing in a state of disrepair. The desire to pay less in taxes is understandable but misguided when under taxation compromises the quality of life experienced by residents. (And for those now wearing incredulous expressions, yes, there is such a thing as under taxation.)

The second reason people might have voted no is a lot more complex than the first. Many people who indicated they would be turning thumbs down on the two proposals on Monday's ballot expressed misgivings about the soundness of the proponents' assertions. They didn't believe, for instance, that the district's student population is growing as fast as claimed, or they questioned the need to build a new high school. Myriad alternatives were plucked out of the air, including expanding Northville High School, enlarging Cooke Middle School, and converting an elementary into a middle school and constructing a less-costly elementary building.

One observer advocated doing nothing for the present and waiting until the student population picture became clearer.

We listened to their suggestions but didn't hear any well-reasoned argument that challenged the conclusions of the bond, technology and enhancement committees. It appeared to us that the assumptions committee members used were reasonable and valid, and that all feasible combinations of solutions had been taken into account.

Then there were those who voted no out of a mistrust for the school district administration. Many people we spoke with were angry over what they considered the extravagant salaries of the top tier of administrators. They were also suspicious of the school district "clique" of insiders.

It's not hard to sympathize with these sentiments, but we believed they represented side issues that didn't belong in the discussion concerning accommodations. The committee members who designed the proposals were independent-minded, in our estimation, and were not trying to court favor with their cronies on the district payroll. Some critics simply would not be convinced on this point.

In our view it's evident that the district administration suffers from a credibility problem of sorts, and that this was one factor in the defeat of the proposals last Monday. In a close election such as this, moreover, the problem might have proven decisive.

As district officials mull their next move, we believe thought should be given to addressing this credibility gap. One suggestion: no more 5 percent salary increases for district directors when everyone else in the country is getting by with 3 percent or less. It might also help if some of the top administrators would agree to forego a salary increase or two in the coming months or years.

These actions might be purely symbolic, but no one who has to deal with a skeptical electorate will ever deny the value of good-faith symbolism.

Opinion Response / Officer Bill Edgar

Police watch is conscientious

Lee Snider reported in his column, dated Sept. 12 that there is a lack of emphasis on residential police patrols not only in the City of Northville, but also in many of our suburban neighboring cities. This is true, in a sense, but not so true in another.

The lack of emphasis that the residential homeowner might perceive does not equate to a lack of interest by the police department. The City of Northville Police Department takes great pride in our timely responses to our community's needs. This couldn't have been more evident than in the extraordinary response shown by the citizens of Northville when faced with the issue of joint services with the neighboring communities.

Addressing the concerns of the citizenry is what policing in our neighborhoods is all about. Speeding vehicles in residential areas is what policing in our neighborhoods is all about.

Speeding vehicles in residential areas is commonplace. The city takes these matters to heart and when the police department responds to these complaints, whomever is apprehended in these residential areas is taken to task with a ticket, which includes not only a substantial fine but also points on the violator's driving record.

When a complaint or series of complaints come to the police department, all receive equal attention. However, complaints need to be prioritized by some means. "In progress" or life threatening situations will take priority over most traffic complaints. Criminal complaints will often take priority over traffic complaints.

I have personally handled several of the traffic complaints originating from the Lexington, Potomac, and Rogers Street areas. I have issued well over 100 violations in those areas within the last two years.

Fortunately, as Mr. Snider also reflects, there have been no serious accidents in those areas. As of this date, there have been no bicycle or pedestrian accidents in those areas. While the noise created by moving vehicles exudes a sensation of great speed, my personal observations and use of a certified radar unit detect less speed per vehicle than the complaints have generalized.

Of course, I have "clocked" motorists in the plus-40 mph range on Rogers Street. I have also taken the appropriate enforcement action against those violations.

Most officers in this department, at one time or another, spent time working radar on Rogers Street. While this is done periodically, it is not a panacea to solve what I consider fair complaints by the residents.

I hope I don't come off as "preaching," but the truth is too many drivers have lost respect for others. Our driving has become as rushed as the rest of our hectic lives.

Increasing our respect for others might translate into less aggressive behavior with our vehicles, but this is only a suggestion, not a solution. As always, the Northville City Police Department is receptive to all our citizens' concerns.

Bill Edgar is a Northville police officer.

Don't trash my community

Can someone please tell me why it's necessary to litter all over the city?

hood of my car while I'm driving to provide extra warmth?

I've seen all sorts of things come flying out of car windows lately. It usually happens when the weather is nice.

Maybe people think tossing out an apple core or banana peel will help feed fuzzy little animals. I'm not sure the critters would enjoy the leftovers.

I've just got to say I've had enough of fast food bags tossed out the window landing in front of my car just in time for me to squish over a half-eaten burger with my front tire.

And what is the idea behind throwing a finished cigarette butt out the window? Do smokers really detest the smell of their own smoke so much that they can't extinguish a cigarette in their own ashtray? Or do they think I really want a smoldering cigarette to land on the Maybe people think the gum wrapper will decompose better in the sunshine than in a landfill. Nice try, but I don't think so.

Maybe people think a flavorless piece of chewed gum splattered on the pavement is new wave art. I'd rather view a Renoir.

Even at a recent Novi Planning Commission meeting, where developers waiting to present their project to the city guzzled down cans of pop, men in suits with tidy briefcases left their empty cans lying tipped over on the council chamber floor after the meeting.

All I'm saying is put trash where it belongs. In a trash can.

If that means people have to leave the leftover French fries in the car for another four miles until they get home, then so be it.

It's all about respect, you see. For yourself, for the environment, for your neighbors. In a society where all you hear is complaints about a lack of respect, I should think this would be an easy problem to rectify.

If it's your mess, clean it up! Or do we have to call your mothers to clean up after you?

SADD has crucial role in fight

assistance program coordinator at Northville High School has been my association with the hundreds of students who have been involved with SADD. At a time when nicotine use, alcohol and illegal drug use are at a level approaching the drug-crazed years of the '60s and '70s, it's wonderful to know that a real positive alternative support system exists in Students Against Driving Drunk (SADD). Counselor Jack Wickens, art teacher Judy Cavanaugh (formerly Patton), and myself struggle at times to help the students identify what SADD stands for. I feel it is important for our community to know what a positive, proactive prevention program SADD is and has been for several years. Let's take a look at what SADD is.

SADD is a student leadership program, which got its start in 1981 as the response of a high school in Massachusetts to the alcohol-related deaths of two of its athletes. From that small beginning, it has grown into a national movement involving over 6,000 high schools and four million students. In Michigan, there is some level of SADD activity in about half of the schools.

SADD's mission is to reduce the number of alcohol-related fatalities and injuries by enhancing communication between parents and teens and by mobilizing the constructive use of peer pressure.

SADD has the secondary objective of facilitating alcohol and drug education and fostering the learning of pressure resistance skills.

The Northville SADD program is opposed to the illegal consumption of alcohol and illegal drugs by the underage population, and has as its primary target group those at-risk students, estimated by various sources in excess of two-thirds of the high school student population, who are somewhat regular users of alcohol and/or illegal drugs.

At Northville High School, SADD is presently one of our largest student organizations. We have over 200 students who have attended meetings and who have signed a Member Purpose and Belief Statement. Thanks to the generosity of Pizza Cutter, the members raised several hundred dollars during the Victorian Festival to be used for training in leadership as well as Northville High School schoolwide assemblies and speakers.

The members participated in the Fourth of July parade and homecoming and at least 70 members were involved in positive activities through the Northville Recreation Department's Maybury Madness Haunted Forest Walk.

Our meetings are held the first Wednesday of each month. If you or your student is interested, please contact me.

Each SADD member is expected to sign and live the SADD Member Purpose and Belief Statement.

Northville High School Students Against Driving Drunk welcomes you to share our mission. We realize in Northville that two-thirds of the student population uses alcohol and/or illegal drugs.

We believe that has the potential to change and we will not exclude students from membership who choose to drink as long as they accept these promises:

- I will not drive under the influence of alcohol or illegal drugs.

- I will not get into a car with a driver who is under the influence of alcohol or illegal drugs.

- I will encourage my friends to do the same.

It is important for the members of SADD, as well as community members, to realize that the key to this program is membership and spreading the word.

The Northville community, along with every community across the nation, has a serious problem with the use and abuse of alcohol and illegal drugs not only by our youth but also by adults.

For you who read this article, be assured that we in the field of chemical dependency fight daily to educate families to support programs that work such as SADD.

The Northville community and schools should feel good about these programs and their positive effect on our youth.

Issues are debated with the Northville High School SADD officers, committee chairs, and members. The community needs to know that our officers and chairpersons are mandated to stay alcohol and illegal drug free while they are in office.

Accordingly, Dennis Calligan, assistant principal, has stated that Northville High School is in the process of phasing this program in for all student leaders.

If you have thoughts, concerns or questions please call Charlie Stillec at 344-8420.

Charlie Stillec is the student assistance program coordinator at Northville High School and a prevention specialist with the Hegira Program, an agency funded, in part, by Southeast Michigan Substance Abuse Services.

Writers give community events rave reviews

During the 31 years I have lived in this wonderful community, I have witnessed many changes. One nice addition was the creation of the Victorian Festival. It is a weekend for our town residents, children, historians and visitors. The three days are a way for all of us to celebrate and enjoy our good fortune of Northville's small town charm.

With much gratitude and appreciation I thank Laurie Marrs of the Northville Chamber of Commerce for making all of us feel so welcome and special.

Thank you for selecting me to be Queen Victoria. This honor will truly be a treasured memory.

Club is terrific addition to city

To the Editor:
I always knew Northville was a special place to live but tonight I was even more blessed to be a resident of this town.

Thanks to Tom and Rita Rice for pursuing their dream and creating The Raven. Along with our good friends, the Foleys, my husband and I attended both the Ramblin' Jack Elliot performance last month and the Grand Opening tonight featuring Ron Coden, Josh White Jr., and a wealth of other entertainers who had the entire audience singing and participating in the evening's spirit of music and fun.

We left there feeling like we had just seen a great movie, but it was much better than that because we were a part of it. It was in our own hometown, the choice of music performed filled a niche that is hard to find anywhere else, and the buffet dinner was a great accompaniment too.

We sure are fortunate to have such a place in Northville. We wish Tom and Rita the success they deserve, and look forward to more enjoyable evenings at The Raven

Town's generosity shown at auction

To the Editor:
What a big-hearted town we live in.

Once again, Northville generously supported the Council of PTA's Victorian Festival Box Lunch Auction by creating some of the most intricate, elegant, and "just-plain-fun" lunches we have ever received.

Our sincere thanks to all of the businesses and the community and school groups that donated the items auctioned Sept. 15. Your baskets were works of art. Your support allows PTA Council to continue its presentation of parent education workshops this year.

Special thanks must be given too to those individuals who were indispensable in staging the auction: to John Genitti who held ready his Little Theater in case of rain; to Dr. Dolly McMaster who saw that all the needed equipment was in place (and who comes, bids, and buys every year); to Dr. Rudy, our auctioneer, who made sure every minute was filled with fun (the true "King" of the Festival); to Laurie Marrs, for pulling the entire weekend together so splendidly; to Judy Prain, Jan Naigus, Linda Jo Hare, Tiffany Hare, Barb Ellis, and Mary Mattis for their much needed help; and to the Box Lunch Auction Committee members - Beth Troost, Carol Bernardo, Karen Poulos, Susan Boll, Marcia Cromas, Linda Maxfield, Debbie Renton, Margaret Netti, Cathy Ponder, and Gina Elker - who went above and beyond whatever was asked of them. You are the best.

And, of course, thank you to everyone who attended the auction and purchased a box/basket lunch - we appreciate your patronage and hope to see you again next year.

Thanks for help with home tour

To the Editor:
The Northville-Novl branch American Association of University Women would like to thank the community for its encouragement and support concerning the Northville Historical Home Tour Saturday, Sept. 14.

Community support for the home tour was first-rate. Dinser's Flowers & Greenhouse, Sparr's Flowers & Greenhouse, Flowers & More, and Bea's Flowers & Gifts were florists from Northville/Novl providing fresh flower arrangements for the tour homes. Kelly & Kelly, attorneys on Main Street, paid for printing our tickets. Todd Knickerbocker from E.G. Edwards sponsored our advertising flyer. Book Stall on the Main, gardenviews, Morrison's and Art Source graciously assisted us with ticket sales. Northville Welcome Wagon and Hiller's Shopping Center Market offered plastic bags for our guests' shoes. The Northville Chamber of Commerce fielded questions in regard to the tour. Carol Workens from The Northville Record provided excellent coverage in our local newspaper and our community responded by purchasing tickets. When additional hostesses were needed for the homes, community volunteers offered their time.

Most important of all, five generous couples opened their homes so we could provide scholarships for women, locally and nationally, and better fund our successful girls' science/math camp.

Our gratitude goes to Phillip and Tara Brackel, Per and Eva Trydestam, Stephen and Beth Ott, Carmine Bosslo, and David and Sarah Marino. By opening their homes they provided a real treat for our guests as well as funds for the many recipients of the fund-raising event.

Praise for center a bit premature

To the Editor:
In his letter to the editor, "Positive changes at nursing center," Aug. 29, Mr. Galli took the liberty to speak of "us" who have loved ones at Whitehall Convalescent Center.

I too have a loved one at Whitehall Health Center of Novi but I do not share Mr. Galli's opinion. His praise is too premature for me.

Welcare International was the new owner as of Jan. 1. Mrs. Dutzy, the current administrator and the third one in nine months' time, has only been appointed since July 1.

I like to know people a bit better and have them prove themselves before I can give my honest opinion.

Two months ago at an August meeting with the new administration, myself and other family members voiced a great concern that exists.

One of the concerns is that a year ago there were many well respected and long-time employed nurses and aides taking care of our loved ones.

Of those many lately have left the facility. Now, more and more unfamiliar faces, "there one day, gone the next," take care of our loved ones.

Anytime there is that much turnover in caregivers, it has to be very disturbing to the patients, our older, frail or demented loved ones.

The new administrator and the director of nursing promised the patients are their first concern.

I hope and pray I am one of the volunteers who leads the weekly nursing home prayer group) that the new administration and the new director of nursing are knowledgeable, caring people and also that they are wise and fair in performing their job and duties.

"Time will tell."

Monika Jackson-Stroh

Fire department is conscientious

To the Editor:
Thank you to the Northville Township Police Department.

They provide a free "House Check" for residents while they are away on vacation. They get out of the car and rattle doors and windows, front and back, and look over any outside vehicles. They don't go inside, walk the dog or pick your ripe tomatoes, but they get the neighbors excited and give some added peace of mind. It's a dandy, easy-to-use service and very much appreciated.

Thank you again.

GOP in pocket of big interests

To the Editor:
Over the past several years, the Republican party has changed a great deal. Today it is seen by me and many others as the party of the tobacco companies, the National Rifle Association, environmental trashing and the party of the religious right with their extremely repressive agenda.

The Republican leadership advocates privatizing our public schools, our great national parks and turning over our magnificent original growth trees in our national parks to the lumber industry.

There is no doubt in my mind that if the Republican party gains control of the legislative and executive branches of government they will move to privatize our schools and our magnificent national parks. Also, they will repeal the Brady Law and the assault weapons ban.

These laws have had limited success but they are of immense importance as symbolic steps toward bringing sanity to our streets. Some Republican legislators are now promoting legislation that would allow all of our citizens to carry concealed weapons.

Tobacco is the greatest and costliest health concern facing our country and yet the Republican congressional leadership continues to accept millions of dollars from the tobacco companies and gives them protection and support they should not have.

The Republican candidate for president continues to spout insinuations in his support for the tobacco advertising and merchandising practices and continues to question if, indeed, cigarettes are really addictive.

Since 3,000 of our young children start smoking everyday, it is sheer hypocrisy for our Republican leaders to stand with the tobacco companies against the public interest.

The Democratic and Republican parties are a contest between different philosophies and how our country's future should be shaped.

I certainly do not believe that the Democrats have all the answers to our problems, but when I see what the Republicans would impose on us, I shudder with horror.

John Bennett

To the Editor:
Thank God for C-Span. Does this look like a conspiracy to you? On C-Span Sept. 12 I saw the Federal Election Committee set up a closed door meeting between the Republican and Democratic parties. The Reform Party was not informed of the new meeting place and when Russ Verney, representative of the Reform Party, showed up, the meeting was immediately adjourned.

If Mr. Clinton and Mr. Dole are not afraid of competition from the Reform Party why wouldn't they include them? Could it be they don't want the Reform Party's Ross Perot to be heard? Why didn't we see this on the network news?

Are the people who are making the decision whether or not to include Ross Perot in the presidential debates truly non-partisan?

Americans deserve to hear from all eligible candidates. How else can we cast an informed vote? Do they think what we don't know won't hurt them?

Neither party would have much constructive to say if they hadn't stolen Mr. Perot's ideas from 1992.

Read my lips.

Can you trust them to keep their promises?

Age-based driving restrictions make sense

Because my son, Nathan, is 14, I read with more than passing interest news stories about the new, three-tiered licensing standards for teenage drivers that the Michigan Legislature passed last week.

Phil Power

Effective next April, the law will allow would-be drivers to get a learner's permit at age 14 years, nine months. This will allow teens like Nathan to drive with a supervising adult for 50 hours, including 10 at night. It also will require them to take driver's training and be free of tickets and accidents for six months.

At that point, teens will qualify for level-two licenses, which would allow them to drive free of adult supervision from 5 a.m. to midnight. Teens can obtain an unrestricted license six months later if they are free of accidents or tickets.

This new system is much tougher than the old one, which allowed a learner's permit at 15 and an unrestricted license at 16, after passage of a driver's training course. Teens who concentrate on safe and responsible driving, however, will be able to obtain an unrestricted license under the new system in about the same time as the old one.

Plainly, the new system will save lives.

Automobile accidents are the third leading cause of death for Michigan youngsters aged 16-19, and although drivers 17 and under accounted for 2.9 percent of all licenses in Michigan, they made up 8.6 percent of drivers involved in car accidents and 6.5 percent of all fatalities.

Moreover, the new system will encourage teenagers not just to drive but to learn to drive well and safely. If you're anything like Kathy and me, among your greatest worries about your child will come the moment he takes off alone in the car and is late getting back home.

Maybe the 50 hours of supervised driving will do something to relieve a bit of the anxiety.

Now that the Legislature has addressed teen driver safety, I'd like to put in a plea for our lawmakers to take a look at elderly drivers.

One of the hardest things I have had to do in my entire life was convince my proud and stubborn father, who at age 80 was suffering from Parkinson's disease and the aftereffects of a series of little strokes, that he really ought to quit driving. Literally every time he took the wheel, he had an accident, and I finally had to argue that he would be better off not to drive than to have a judge take that decision from him.

There are 953,777 drivers in Michigan who are 65 or older, according to the Secretary of State's office.

Unlike teenagers who are convinced they are immortal and take commensurate risks, older people are, by and large, careful and safe drivers. Statewide, drivers 65 and older accounted for nearly 12 percent of all drivers, but they were involved in only 7 percent of total automobile accidents, according to 1994 statistics.

However, according to Patricia Waller, director of the University of Michigan Transportation Research Institute, "If you look at the number of crashes per mile of drivers in their 80s when they're out there, they're worse than teenagers."

Elderly drivers are more likely than younger ones to get tickets for failing to yield, turning improperly and running stop signs and red lights, according to the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety.

Moreover, the number of motor vehicle deaths per 100,000 people is higher for the elderly than for all other age groups except those under 30.

Although plainly the issue here is a person's driving record, not his or her age, anybody who has ever tried to weigh safety against self-esteem for an elderly relative feels pretty lonely in today's regulatory climate.

A family member, doctor or police officer can ask to have an elderly driver retested, but in the eyes of many older people, such a step is close to betrayal.

Would a statewide requirement that all drivers over age 70, say, be tested regularly be a better solution?

Will employers heed state proficiency results?

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

The jury will be out — maybe five years — on the question of whether employers and colleges pay attention to new, state-endorsed high school diplomas.

"It'll be at least five years before there will be any impact," predicted Art Ellis, state superintendent of public instruction, when the State Board of Education met Sept. 18.

One purpose of the Michigan High School Proficiency Tests was to give grads who got "proficient" results a special stamp on the diploma or transcript. It is supposed to tell corporate personnel departments and college admissions officers that the bearer had passed state tests.

So far, many high school principals and K-12 superintendents say no one is paying attention.

Ellis said it's too early to tell.

And a business group applauded the Michigan Department of Education for establishing "a rigorous test with a reasonable standard of expectation."

That group is the Michigan Business Leaders for Educational Excellence (MBLEE). Its members include the Big Three automakers, Dow Chemical, K mart, Mead Paper, Pharmacia & Upjohn, Comerica Bank, Whirlpool, the Michigan Chamber of Commerce and the University of Michigan. They employ 500,000 of the state's 4.4 million workers.

"For years we assumed that any child completing 13 years of schooling would be equipped with these skills (math, science, reading and writing)," said Jim Sandy, MBLEE executive director. "Unfortunately, we were wrong, but these tests and the endorsed diploma will send the message that these skills are necessary and important."

Statewide test results were released Sept. 13 in Lansing. Ellis said he encouraged local school districts to call local news conferences to release their results.

I wonder if we're giving students the tools, or we're dooming them to perpetual failure."

—Dorothy Beardmore
State Board of Education

State Board members had their complaints: Students and parents weren't being told their test scores, and so they were unable to decide how to brush up for "makeup" tests in October.

"The individual student doesn't know how he or she did. Can we correct that?" asked board member Dorothy Beardmore, R-Rochester.

"My daughter took the tests," said board member Sharon Wise, R-Owosso, "and hasn't had the results. She doesn't know what to study for a re-take. I wonder if we're giving students the tools, or we're dooming them to perpetual failure."

"It surprised me. The schools have them," replied Anne Hansen, a member of Ellis' staff.

Two members said the public — such as MBLEE — put too much emphasis on how many students achieved proficiency on the new tests, administered last March.

"I'm concerned about the perception of failure. It's not a pass-fail system," said Louis Legg, R-Battle Creek, newly appointed board member.

Gary Wolfram, R-Hillsdale, agreed. "On the SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test for college admission), no one comes in and says, 'my kid flunked.' It's a continuum."

Wolfram said it's possible that only one point or two on the exam made the difference in deciding whether huge numbers of students were "proficient" or not.

Kathleen Tabor, a Bath School District parent, warned against pessimism in interpreting test results.

"A very small percentage did not do well," she said. "The onus is on business and higher education to ask for it (endorsed diplomas)."

Two board members fretted at the low scores in inner city schools.

"Districts still blame low minority students' scores on low socioeconomic status. We need to look at financing," said Barbara Roberts Mason, D-Lansing.

"The feeling builds up," said board vice president Marilyn Lundy, R-Detroit, "that it's not 'cool' to learn, it's not 'cool' to be smart. I think you'll see a big difference next year."

Tests are administered in the fifth, eighth and 11th grades to public school students.

Non-public schools may request the materials at state expense. Test results were reported by school district, by race and by gender but not by public versus nonpublic schools.

Special ed programs affected by change

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Special education teachers in Wayne County face 50 percent larger class sizes and student loads after state officials granted a request from budget-pinched local officials.

Angry teachers, like school psychologist Shawn Wieleaert of Belleville, said, "These are cost-saving measures that may not benefit children. There was no parent or teacher input at the local level."

"My district runs on a shoestring," South Redford special education director Dorcas Smith told the State Board of Education Sept. 12. She said her work couldn't be measured in class sizes because she does much consulting and preventive work.

But Superintendent of Public Instruction Art Ellis and a 6-2 Republican majority on the State Board of Education heeded the plea of Wayne-Westland officials like Gary Quitkoff and granted three-year waivers.

Special education costs are soaring so high, Quitkoff said, that Wayne-Westland has had to cut general education and transportation. "There was a backlash among general education parents. They pounded on the (special education) bus and wanted to know why transportation for their kids was cut."

Patricia Brand, assistant superintendent at Wayne-Westland, said, "We were hit with a $3 million deficit. We were forced to cut general education and transportation. We closed four schools."

The average per-pupil cost of special education is $18,400. The average for general education is $4,800. The foundation allowance (state aid) is not sufficient to cover special education."

Brand said special education rose from 12.3 percent of the 1993-4 budget to 15.2 percent. At the same time, insurance rose 10 percent and utilities 3-5 percent.

Teachers and officials agreed that more kids — 3 percent countywide — are being given special education for learning, physical and mental handicaps at increased costs.

"We bring some to school in ambulances," said Kathryn Mathey, director of special education for the Wayne County Regional Educational Service Agency (RESA).

Supporters of special education told stories of kids, once thought hopeless, who turned into job-holding, taxpaying, promotable workers.

The pupil-teacher rules were made under the new state School Code that took effect last July 1. School districts may ask the superintendent of public instruction and State Board for waivers.

Ellis said 34 Wayne County districts and RESA made a consolidated request for 18 waivers. He denied six and recommended the board approve six.

The board's two Democrats, Barbara Roberts Mason of Lansing and Kathleen Straus of Detroit, voted no on many while others went through on 8-0 votes.

"Several other large counties have their packets (of waiver requests) on the way," said Ellis, citing Oakland and Macomb. "They assured me they spent an elaborate amount of time (getting parent and teacher input)."

Mason, an official of the Michigan Education Association, was adamant about increasing class sizes, particularly at the high school level, because "Some of these (students) are very large young men. You might be putting

"We bring some to school in ambulances."

—Kathryn Mathey
Wayne County RESA

a teacher in a dangerous situation."

Among the changes:

- Allowing a caseload of 18 different students and a maximum of 15 in a classroom at a time versus the original rule of a caseload of 15 and 10 in a room.

- Eliminating a requirement for an assessment by a school psychologist as a member of a multidisciplinary team to establish the eligibility of students with mental impairments and multiple handicaps.

- Eliminating the requirement that a secondary level resource room teacher have two years of experience, including one in special education.

- Allowing teacher consultants to carry an active caseload of 30 special ed students instead of 25.

Wayne RESA officials were blistered for failing to inform parents and teachers of the rules changes in advance. Jan Cheney, a member of a State Parents Advisory Committee, said, "At the Wayne PAC, they were called into a meeting and read the waivers," and given no time to think about them. Just seven of the 30 members attended.

Elizabeth Bauer, of the Michigan Protection and Advocacy Service based in Lansing, Livonia and Marquette, called the waiver requests "overbroad and general, and made without adequate community involvement."

'Character education' compromise eyed

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

State Board of Education members may have found a way out of their ideological deadlock over "character education" policies.

Dorothy Beardmore, R-Rochester, proposed that the board "empower and encourage public schools to provide character education" based on "separation of church and state."

Beardmore, a moderate Republican often at odds with hard-right board president Clark Durant, eliminated Durant's proposal that school districts organize committees of "parents, educators, business, religious and other community representatives" to draw up lists of "common values." Critics saw Durant's committee plan as allowing religious groups to pack the committees.

She unveiled her draft near the end of a day-long board meeting Sept. 12.

The board asked Superintendent of Public Instruction Art Ellis and his staff to work over her draft, incorporate members' comments and bring it back Oct.

10. Durant, R-Grosse Pointe, who is fond of injecting biblical references into public education discussions, seemed pleased.

"What's important is that we have more than a 5-3 vote," he said.

The board has six Republicans and two Democrats, with Beardmore sometimes voting against the majority.

"We'd like to build it along the lines of Dorothy's memo," Durant told Ellis. "We'd like to find out what's being done already (in local districts) and applaud what they're doing."

"Clark and I had breakfast a week ago Monday," Beardmore said. "I was frustrated with the (Durant) one-on-one approach (of talking to board members). It's time we had a discussion."

Board member Kathleen Straus, D-Detroit, also objected to Durant's "one-on-one" talks with board members. "People feel there's an underlying agenda," she said.

Board vice president Marilyn Lundy, R-Detroit, disliked Beardmore's use of the phrase "separation of church and state," pointing out that the U.S. Constitution only forbids Congress from designating an established church.

Otherwise, there were few sparks.

Beardmore proposed a values list that included "respect, responsibility, caring, trustworthiness, justice and fairness and civic virtue and citizenship." That list came originally from Ellis, who said they are "frequently mentioned in the literature" on character education.

The newest board member, Louis Legg, R-Battle Creek, said the state should discourage "incivility" but otherwise he preferred to make any resolution "as innocuous as possible."

Tim Kelly, Gov. John Engler's representative on the State Board of Education, then made his only comment of the day: "We've spent an inordinate amount of time on this."

CRANIOSACRAL THERAPY

The hands-on approach to healing known as craniosacral therapy involves the gentle, noninvasive application of pressure to balance the craniosacral system. This form of manual therapy is used to alleviate pain and stress and is especially effective in treating problems related to the head, such as chronic and migraine headaches, temporomandibular dysfunction, sinus problems, dizziness, tinnitus, and Bell's palsy. It has also proven itself effective in treating problems related to brain and spinal cord injury. Its focus is to ease restrictions in the bones and soft tissue forming the skull, mouth, face (cranium), the vertebral column, and the bones at the base of the spine (sacrum). By balancing the rhythmic flow of the cerebrospinal fluid that flows through the craniosacral system, craniosacral therapy aims to restore balance to the central nervous system and the entire body for which it is the master control.

At Northville Physical Therapy & Rehabilitation Inc., we know nothing is more frustrating than losing mobility and full range of motion. Using physical therapy techniques, we work closely with patients to assure a quick recovery and to inform them of how to prevent future injuries. To schedule a consultation, call us at 349-3816. We are located at 332 E. Main Street, Suite A. Our staff now has three physical therapists including an athletic trainer and an exercise physiologist. Telephone fraud protection bill gets 100-0 approval

Staff Writer

Capitol capsules:

HOUSE OKS

The state House of Representatives approved, 100-0, a bill by Rep. James Ryan, R-Redford, to protect customers from telephone fraud.

House Bill 5983 amends the Consumer Protection Act to outlaw the use of pay-for-call telephone numbers for claiming a prize. It also prohibits the use of electronic fund transfers to those offering a prize. The bill goes to the Senate.

One-third of the victims of this type of fraud are senior citizens, said Ryan, adding, "If something sounds too good to be true, it usually is."

SENATE PASSES

The state Senate has approved a bill by Sen. Loren Bennett, R-Canton, to protect public officials and law enforcement officers who have been the target of false property liens.

His Senate Bill 828 is aimed at anti-government groups who file liens against officials' homes to intimidate or harass them. The dissidents currently are able to file a lien without providing "a full and fair accounting of the facts" and "proof of service," then use the lien property as collateral to write bad checks.

The Senate also has passed SB 443, sponsored by Mike Bouchard, R-Birmingham, to make emergency medical personnel immune from civil liability in certain circumstances.

Bouchard said it would protect volunteer emergency medical personnel in response to such groups as the Michigan Special Olympics. The bill extends the Good Samaritan Act, which already grants civil immunity to doctors and nurses who provide emergency medical care.

Both bills go the House.

COMMITTEE ACTION

Police will be able to retain DNA (genetic) profiles of violent criminals permanently under a six-bill package, sponsored in part by Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth. The House Judiciary Committee reported out the package Sept. 18.

The lead measure, House Bill 5912, lengthens the list of crimes in which DNA records of convicted offenders must be retained to first- and second-degree murder, attempted murder, kidnapping and attempted kidnapping.

HB 5913 would require the state Corrections Department to collect blood and saliva samples from convicts in such cases. Convicts couldn't be paroled or discharged without giving the samples.

HB 5783 orders juvenile offenders to provide the state police with DNA samples.

Rep. Lyn Banks, R-Redford, was the sponsor of an Appliance Repair Act, House Bill 5833, that cleared the House Committee on Regulatory Affairs Sept. 18.

It requires that the consumer approve in writing all estimates of needed work after an explanation, impose a 30-day minimum warranty on labor on an appliance, and require appliance service dealers to provide warranties on parts consistent with the manufacturer's warranty. Used parts installed during a repair will have to be shown to the consumer and documented in writing.

Penalties: Violators may have to pay attorney fees and up to double the amount of damages.

Rep. John Jamian, R-Bloomfield Township, chaired the House Health Policy Committee which reported out a bill aimed at the "date rape" drug flunitrazepam. The drug would become a Schedule I controlled substance. Marketed as Rohypnol, the tranquilizer is seven to 20 times stronger than Valium.

"This has become the weapon of choice for rapists," said Rep. Eric Bush, R-Battle Creek, sponsor of House Bill 6067. Perpetrators knock out their unsuspecting victims by dropping an odorless, tasteless and colorless tablet into a drink. The drug causes short-term memory loss, so the victim may have no recollection of the attack.

Simple possession carries a maximum five-year prison sentence and $4,000 fine. Manufacturing can result in a 15-year sentence and $20,000 fine.

All the bills are on this week's House calendar, though with no guarantee any will be passed.

INTRODUCED

Sen. Willis Bullard Jr., R-Milford, is the sponsor of a bill to reduce the state personal income tax by 0.1 percent a year for five years - from the current 4.4 to 3.9 percent.

Bullard said the proposal may include tying the income tax reduction rate to the fuel tax issue.

"If a gas tax increase becomes instituted, as we've heard much talk about, I believe the least we can do is return a little bit of that in the form of an income tax cut," said the freshman senator, who won a vacant seat at

A.G. BASHES

Attorney General Frank Kelley wants the Michigan Public Service Commission to order Ameritech to provide information supporting the telephone company's proposed 12 percent rate increase.

"It is ludicrous that a regulated telephone company refuses to provide my office the materials supporting its requested rate increase."

"The public deserves the right to know what the reasons are for this rate increase," said Kelley.

Under its Aug. 9 request, Ameritech Michigan proposed to increase all rates between 15 cents and $1.25 a month except in Detroit, Royal Oak and Southfield.

Kelley said Ameritech may be trying to position itself in anticipation of an expansion of its competition in the future.

Most of the licenses issued to provide basic local exchange service in competition with Ameritech have been in the metro Detroit service area.

It's time again for Taste of Novi

In the mood to sample stuffed tenderloin enroute with twice baked red skins and a glass of Chardonnay? Then circle Tuesday, Oct. 1, on your calendar.

The 11th annual Taste of Novi will begin at 5 p.m. and for three-and-a-half hours residents can sample the best the participating restaurants have to offer at the Novi Hilton Hotel, 21111 Haggerty Road in Novi.

Doors open this year at 4 p.m. for the new mini business expo which will highlight 19 area businesses including Diamond Castle Jewelers, Jonathan Brateman Properties, Novi Chamber, LDS Federal Credit Union, Kelly Services, Arbonne International, Botsford General Hospital, Family Care Chiropractic, The Wren's Nest, Cellnet Cellular/Communications, MSU-Southeast/Tollgate, The Reliance Group, Online Marketing Co., Spencer Personnel, Inc., Ameritech Cellular, Brookwood Farms Town and Country Eye-care, the Novi Police Department and NBD Bank.

While residents view the offerings of area businesses, restaurant chefs and staff will be setting up their booths for the Taste of Novi in the other half of the ballroom.

"People requested a little more time and because of the business showcase, we thought we needed a little bit more time," said Connie Mallett, executive director of the Novi

Chamber of Commerce.

Newcomers to Taste of Novi, TGI Friday and Cattail Golf Club Join Brady's Food and Spirits, Michigan Star Clipper, Mr. B's Farm, Orphan Annie, Vic's Market Cafe, Grady's American Grill, and Great Harvest Bread Company of Northville. Guests can stop at each table or booth and sample the offerings of various local restaurants in an all-you-can-taste format. A few restaurants are still unconfirmed, but Mallett puts the cap at 16 or 17 participants.

"We have found by keeping the numbers down a little bit everybody can experience and explore them all," Mallett said.

Many restaurants are not participating because they are hurting for staff, according to Mallett.

"They like to send their best, but can't spring loose the experienced ones because they need them at the restaurant helping the new ones."

To make it easier for restaurants to manage their own businesses and participate in the Taste of Novi, the event has been moved from Thursday to Tuesday, according to Mallett.

"One of the reasons we pick October is primarily because it is the window to the holiday season," Mallett said. "That's when more people are looking to not only eat out but begin to look around for facilities for Christmas parties, banquets, and wedding receptions."

"This is another opportunity not just for the diner but for someone who will be booking those types of events and functions," said Mallett. "They can taste the food and talk to the people directly about the service."

Merlot, Brut, Cabernet and Chardonnay will be among the wine samples from General Wine and Liquor Company.

"It's just to familiarize people with those brands so that when they dine out they will recognize them," Mallett said.

Participation in Taste of Novi is restricted to restaurants that are members of the Novi Chamber of Commerce.

"The wine distributor is not a chamber member but is included as more of a service," Mallett said. "They don't sell to the public so they don't belong to the chamber but sell to hotels."

Attendance last year was 375, but there is room for 400.

Jerry McKenzie and Sound Crew will provide the live entertainment.

Tickets are $15 per person, $13 for senior citizens over 60 years of age and $7.50 for children under 12. Tickets are available at the Novi Chamber of Commerce office located inside the Novi Expo Center or by mail to 43700 Expo Center Drive, Novi, MI 48375.

For more information, call (810) 349-3743.

From Brady's Kitchen:

Using a little imagination and drawing from his experience, Russ Zampich, the chef at Brady's, "has thrown different things together" to create the following banquet dishes which will be served at the Taste of Novi on Oct. 1. "Hopefully everybody enjoys them," he said. "We will have recipes to hand out at the function."

Pumpkin Bisque

serves 10

1 whole pumpkin (6 to 7 lbs.)
2 quarts water
4 medium sized potatoes
1/2 c. cream
1 c. sour cream
salt and pepper to taste

Cut out a lid from the top of pumpkin and discard. Scoop out seeds and fibers with a spoon. Cut pumpkin shell into quarters, place onto heavy cooking tray. Season with salt and pepper. Cook at 300 degrees Fahrenheit till tender. While pumpkin is cooking bring water to boil with diced potatoes cooking till done. Combine pumpkins, potatoes and water together and whip till smooth. Add cream and season to taste. Place sour cream into medium sized bowl. Take hot pumpkin mixture, add 1/4 c. at a time to sour cream while stirring briskly till smooth. After 1 c. of pumpkin mixture is into sour cream add back to soup. Serve hot. Garnish with green onion or toasted pumpkin seeds.

Smoked Peppercorn Pork Loin

serves 10

1/4 c. olive oil clean, trimmed pork loin (7 lbs.)
1 c. of mixed peppercorns
1 10 lb. bag of favorite smoking chips
Smoker

Take olive oil and rub into porkloin. Coat tenderloin with peppercorns. Refrigerate 1 hour. Soak wood chips in water for 1 hour. Fire up smoker to get charcoal hot. Drain wood chips and place over hot coals. Place porkloin on preheated pan and adjust smoker to release a small steady stream of smoke when closed. Smoke for 1 hour, checking every 15 minutes to see if more smoking chips are needed. If porkloin is not 160 degrees after 1 hour, remove from smoker and finish cooking in conventional oven until 160 degrees at 325 degrees.

Polenta with Apples and Cranberries

serves 10

3 T. oil
2 sm. onion diced fine
1/4 t. pepper
1/8 t. oregano
2 cloves garlic minced
4 c. water
1 1/2 c. corn meal
1/4 c. Parmesan cheese
1/2 c. diced apples coated with lemon
1/2 c. cranberries

Heat oil in skillet. Stir in onion and garlic and add seasonings (pepper and oregano). Stir in apples and cranberries. Add water and bring to boil. Add cornmeal and stir till thick. Reduce heat immediately. Cook for 20 minutes stirring frequently. When done take off heat. Press mixture into a greased 10 inch cake pan with rubber spatula. Sprinkle with cheese. Let stand for 10 minutes, cut and serve.

Kudyba's place not always in the saddle

By CAROL WORKENS
Staff Writer

Carmella Kudyba has found combining her work with special needs children and her love of horses as a volunteer with the Horseback Riding for Handicappers when they competed at the Oakland County 4-H Fair held in Davisburg, Mich. in August very rewarding.

Carmella, who began riding lessons when she was about 10 years old, is a member of the University of Michigan equestrian team and competes in hunter jumper events where she takes the horse through a series of fence jumps.

"The object is to make the horse go over in a good style," Carmella said.

During the one-day 4-H program, Carmella helped throughout the day getting the horses ready for the children and leading the horses and riders through the program.

"One girl I worked with was really afraid," she said. "After just walking around and talking with her she was enjoying herself."

Horses have to be really good and understanding and they can sense when something is different about the child, according to Carmella.

As a walker, Carmella stays next to the horse so that both she and the child are in control. Sometimes it is necessary to have two walkers, one for the child and one for the horse.

The children competed in various classes including riding technique and a games category where the child walks the horse from the start to the finish line.

"The kids that are riding are really great kids and most have some experience," Carmella said.

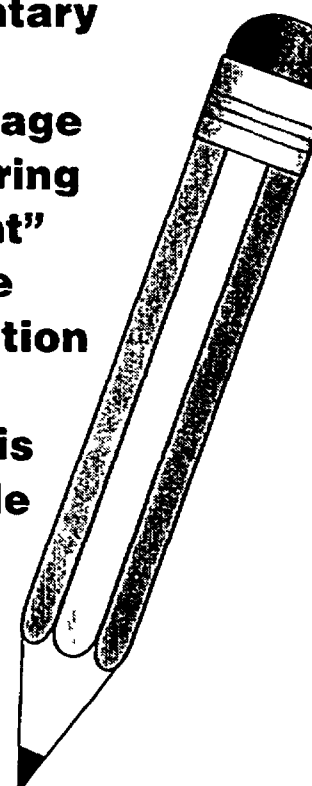

"I kind of admire them because it is something that a lot of people would say 'I can't do that,'" she said. "It takes them a lot of courage to get on the horse. I give them a lot of credit for getting over their fears."

Luncheon scheduled

The Northville Woman's Club opening luncheon will take place

Carol Workens

Friday, Oct. 4, at the Meadow Brook Country Club.

The luncheon meeting, which is open to guests, will feature "A Parade of Costumes" from Meadow Brook Theatre. Also at the opening meeting, past presidents, honorary members and new life members will be recognized.

The chairperson of the day is Rigmor Cuolahan.

Cocktails begin at 11 a.m. followed by lunch at noon.

The presentation will include about 50 costumes, from Renaissance velvets to century-old silks and colonial calicos modeled by members of the Meadow Brook Theatre Guild. A theater staff member shares the secrets of professional costumers, how garments were made and anecdotes about the actors and actresses who wore them. Costumes were designed by the theater's artistic director and created by the costumer.

On this year's program committee, chaired by Betty Griffin, is Rigmor Cuolahan, Maureen D'Avanzo, Evelyn Harper, Jennifer Paciocco and Karen Poulos.

"One of the nice things is that there is a significant age range on the program committee which brought into play topics older women might not have thought of," Griffin said.

Of the 12 meetings this year, all but three are open to guests. Upcoming meetings include "Madame Cadillac: Detroit's First Lady," with Harriet Berg on Oct. 18; a field trip to the Matthaei Gardens on Nov. 1; "The Classic Automobile - A Dream Restored," with Jeff Geraci on Nov. 15; "Beauty Through the Camera Lens," with Kathleen Thompson on Dec. 6; a holiday music program on Dec. 20; "How to Spot the Real Thing" with antiques restorer Ray Rozell on Jan. 3, 1997; "Live, Love and Laugh - Keys to Lifelong Wholeness," with Sandy Baumann on Jan. 17; "The Art of Fragrance," with Sandina Polgar on Feb. 7; "Bridging the Languages of Japan and America," with Izumi Suzuki on Feb. 21; "Greeting Spring Through Flower Arranging," on March 7, and the annual meeting on March 21.

"If everyone comes up with two ideas that are good, we are in business," Griffin said.

Halloween and spooky tales go hand in hand

Halloween is not too far away, so the call goes out to residents who have tales of unexplained phenomena they would like to share with readers.

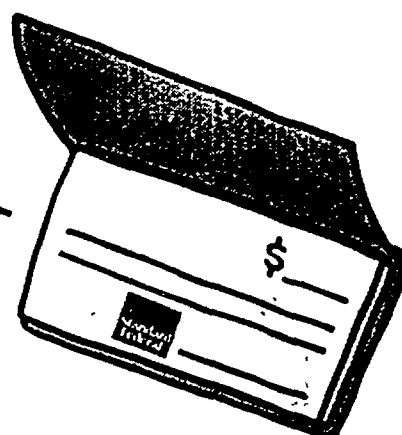

We'll call them the "N Files," for nobody really knows for sure whether they're tall tales or actual events. We'll leave it up to our readers to decide which are far fetched and which are factual.

If you have information for the In Our Town column, call Carol Workens at 349-1700.

Church Notes

"Parish in the Park" is this Sunday's setting for NEW LIFE LUTHERAN CHURCH, a forming congregation of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America.

The mission will worship outside Sept. 29, weather permitting, at Kellogg Park in downtown Plymouth at 10 a.m. A contemporary music ensemble and vocalist Don Austin, in addition to Holy Communion, are scheduled as part of this Chicago Folk Service.

A supervised activities area for young children and infant care will be available during the service.

A free continental breakfast sponsored by the congregation will be held in the Masonic Temple across from the park at 730 Penniman at 11 a.m. for worshipers. The Masonic Temple is the back-up worship site. Allow a little extra time for parking since Plymouth culminates its ARTrageous celebration that day. For more information, call Pastor-Developer Ken Roberts at (313) 459-8181 or (313) 451-2965.

NORTHVILLE CHRISTIAN ASSEMBLY, 41355 Six Mile Road in Northville, is presenting a seminar designed to equip separated or divorced individuals to grow through this painful experience. Child care services are provided. The cost is $15 payable at the door and the public is invited.

For more information or to register, call (810) 348-9030.

HOPE LUTHERAN CHURCH, 39200 West Twelve Mile Road in Farmington Hills, is offering T.G.I. Wednesdays throughout the school year. Hope has coordinated a one-hour adult bible study with Junior High Catechism and children's choir at 6:30 p.m. followed by an evening worship service from 7:30 until 8 p.m.

The program is open to the community.

For more information, call (810) 553-7170.

The Ladies Bible Study group at DETROIT FIRST CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE, 21260 Haggerty Road in Northville, reconvenes with both morning and evening times available.

The Tuesday morning Women of the Word (WOW) will meet from 9:30 until 11:15 a.m. each week in the lower level. The first semester registration fee of $11 covers necessary materials. The group will be using the Joy of Living Interdenominational series with lessons on the book of Luke.

The Wednesday evening Bible Study meets from 7 until 8:15 p.m. The group will study and discuss practical applications of a selected Psalm each week.

Child care is available for both groups. The studies are open to all women in the community.

For more information, call (810) 348-7600

Anointing of the Sick will be on Saturday, Sept. 28, at OUR LADY OF VICTORY CHURCH, 770 Thayer Boulevard in Northville.

Confessions will be at 10 a.m., followed by Mass at 11 a.m. There is a noon luncheon and fellowship after the Mass.

All baptized Catholics are invited to this celebration of the Sacrament of the Healing of the Sick

The Northville Historical Home Tour had a steady stream of visitors throughout the day.

AAUW completes second successful tour in Northville

By JAN JEFFRES
& CAROL WORKENS
Staff Writers

There was not one ticket to be had when the doors opened to the five homes included in the Northville Historical Home Tour at 10 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 14.

Although the tally counters in each of the homes reported different figures, estimates are that about 900 of the 1,000 ticket holders did not let a little rain stop them from viewing this year's selection of homes.

"The weather certainly wasn't very nice but it didn't seem to alter the way we went through the houses," said tour chairperson Nanci Olgren. "We had people who respected the houses going through."

Visitors all removed their shoes and provisions had been made for the soggy umbrellas.

"They were very happy that their homes didn't show any evidence of 800 people going through," Olgren said. "They were in good condition."

Lines were minimal throughout the day as visitors toured the homes in a steady stream from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Selected for this year's tour were a Victorian home decorated for contemporary living with a Victorian flavor; a new, 3,400 square-foot log home with 19th century Germanic styling; an interior decorator's home with a New Orleans flair that looks like it walked off the pages of Architectural Digest; a Folk Victorian style home that kept its historic beauty while adding European sophistication; and a Queen Anne home that featured a breathtaking view of woods and stream.

"That was the strength of this year's tour - we had five houses that were completely different," Olgren said.

Details in the various homes which lent uniqueness to the homeowner's heritage and personality included antique furnishings made by relatives, collectibles, salvage finds, heirlooms, gifts, and the use of color and fabric.

"The major thing that people like about this home tour is that the homes are all close together," Olgren said. "That is turning out to be one of the major criteria for finding homes."

Already three homeowners have notified Olgren that they would like to have their homes considered for next year's tour.

"We are very happy with the home tour," Olgren said. "It has turned out to be a wonderful experience."

Residents contact Olgren to be considered for a variety of reasons. One homeowner on this year's tour was an AAUW scholarship recipient a few years ago.

"She was so receptive because she was familiar with AAUW and the scholarship work we do," said Olgren.

The Northville Historical Home Tour was sponsored by The Northville-Novl branch of the American Association of University Women Northville.

Basic Pesto

Saute of Shrimp with a Turmeric Cream Sauce

Serves 10

5 lbs. favorite raw shrimp, cleaned and deveined
1 qt. heavy cream
1 t. turmeric
salt and pepper
4 lbs. cooked angel hair pasta
1/2 c. white Zinfandel
1/2 c. olive oil
1/4 c. fresh garlic minced

Heat large skillet with oil. Oil should smoke. Add shrimp and cook till three quarters of the way done. Add garlic. Add wine and reduce by half. Add cream, turmeric and salt and pepper to taste.

Reduce for 3 minutes. Add angel hair pasta and toss pasta in cream sauce till medium thickness. Serve immediately.

2 c. fresh basil leaves
4 medium-size cloves garlic, chopped
1 c. walnut meats
1 c. olive oil
1 c. freshly grated imported Parmesan cheese
1/4 c. freshly grated imported Romano cheese
Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

Process the basil, garlic, and walnuts in a food processor fitted with a steel blade - or in two batches in a blender - until finely chopped.

With the machine running, pour in the oil in a thin, steady stream. Add the cheeses, as well as a big pinch of salt and a liberal grinding of pepper. Process briefly to combine.

Remove to a bowl and cover until ready to use. Pour over sliced tomatoes.

Wedding

Shannon and Sean Manning

Shannon Diane Loper and Sean Peter Manning were married in the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth on June 15, 1996. Officiating at the double ring ceremony was Rev. Dr. James Skimins. The bride was given in marriage by her father, James Loper. A reception for 210 guests followed at The Dearborn Inn.

The bride is the daughter of James and Janie Loper of Northville. She is a 1989 graduate of Northville High. She received a bachelor of science degree from the University of Michigan, and is currently working for the U-M in molecular epidemiology. She will start the master's program in this field at the University of Michigan in September of this year.

Attending the bride was maid of honor Lori Green of Ann Arbor. Bridesmaids were Crissy Rice and Karl Andrews of Ann Arbor. Heather Marshall of Troy, all friends of the bride, and Kerry Joseph of Washington, D.C., and Kathleen Riley of Grand Rapids, sisters of the bridegroom.

The custom-made bridal gown was of matte taffeta and Venise rose patterned lace. The fitted dropped waist bodice had short off-the-shoulder sleeves with seed pearl trim at the neck, waist and sleeve edge. The full skirt with cathedral length train was trimmed at the hemline with rose patterned lace.

The bridal headpiece was a demi cap trimmed in lace and seed pearls with a fingertip length illusion veil edged with satin ribbon.

The bridal bouquet consisted of English ivy with greens, white lilies, and white roses accentuated with Queen Anne's lace.

The bridegroom is the son of Peter and Victoria Manning of East Lansing, Mich. He received his bachelor of arts degree from Michigan State University and his juris doctor law degree from the University of Michigan. He is currently employed by the state attorney general's office in Lansing, practicing environmental law.

Attending the bridegroom was best man and friend, Peter Crawley of Mt. Vernon, Iowa. Groomsmen were friends of the groom: Doug Landefeld of Farmington, Jeff Sierra of Novi, Greg Ballein of East Lansing, Tom Doherty of Aurora, Ohio, and brother of the bride, Jason Loper of Northville.

The couple traveled to Aruba for their honeymoon. They now live in Brighton, Mich.

Engagement

Christopher Kissick/Sylvia Caroselli

Carola Caroselli of Northville announces the engagement of her daughter, Sylvia Frances, to Christopher Joseph Kissick, the son of Winifred Kissick of Clawson, Mich., and the late John W. Kissick.

The bride-elect, the daughter of Carola Caroselli and the late Richard J. Caroselli, graduated from Northville High School in 1985.

Caroselli received her bachelor's degree in business administration from Central Michigan University in 1989, and is currently employed at EDS as a recruiter.

The bridegroom-elect graduated from Clawson High School in 1983. He attended Ferris State University, and is currently pursuing a bachelor's degree in education at Oakland Community College. He is presently employed at Local No. 1076, Laborer's International Union.

A wedding in December is being planned.

Singles

SINGLE PLACE, an adult ministry for single people, meets at the First Presbyterian Church of Northville Sunday at 9:45 a.m. for a Sunday morning gathering, followed by a worship service at 11 a.m. and brunch at Northville Crossing at 12:30 p.m. The topic is "Prayer."

The group will meet at Sundowner Restaurant at 6 p.m. for dinner followed by a First Wednesday of the Month Worship at 7 p.m. At 7:30 p.m. "How to Break Up" will be the topic with speaker David Blake or "What You Can Do with Rubber Stamps" with Margene Buckhave.

Sports activities coming up include indoor volleyball on Friday, Oct. 4 and 18, from 9 until 10:30 p.m. at the Northville Recreation Center, 303 W. Main Street in Northville. The cost is $4.

On Friday, Sept. 27, the group will meet for bowling at 8:30 p.m. at Novi Bowl, 21700 Novi Road in Novi. The cost is $6 plus shoe rental.

A new divorce recovery workshop will begin on Oct. 3 at 7:30 p.m. and run for seven Thursday evenings until Nov. 21 in the Library/Lounge of the church. To register, call the church office. The cost is $30.

A growth workshop entitled "Looking at Healthy Relationships," with speaker LuAnn Thomas, is meeting on Thursday evenings Oct. 10, 17 and 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the Youth Room of the church. The cost is $24 per person in advance or $28 at the door.

A Swing Dance Class begins on Oct. 17 and continues on six Thursday evenings through Dec. 5 from 7:30 until 9 p.m. in the Williams Room of the church. The class is led by Linda Laney and Alan Goldsby. The cost is $24 preregistration, and $28 at the door.

For further information about any of the Single Place programs or to register, call 349-0911.

HOLY FAMILY SINGLES is a group for separated, divorced, widowed or never-been-married persons.

For more information, call the Church of the Holy Family at 349-8847.

SINGLE POINT MINISTRIES offers a unique opportunity to join more than 500 persons of varied backgrounds in a class about Jesus Christ.

The group meets at 10:45 a.m. each Sunday in Knox Hall of Ward Presbyterian Church, 17000 Farmington Road, on the corner of Six Mile in Livonia. The Reverend Paul Clough will lead with Scripture messages relevant to single living.

"Talk it Over" is held on the second and fourth Fridays of each month in Knox Hall.

Those interested in subbing for a bowling league at Fiesta Lanes in Westland on Ford Road east of I-275 can call (810) 669-2259.

For further information about Single Point Ministries call (313) 422-1854.

The final meeting of EXPRESSIONS, an adult discussion group, will be held Friday, Sept. 27, at First Unitarian Universalist Church, 1917 Washtenaw in Ann Arbor. The program is not church-affiliated. The group is open to those ages 21 and older.

For more information, call (313) 930-6361. Admission is $5.25 and includes refreshments.

On Campus

Northville residents TIMOTHY P. BURCH and NEETA S. SARAN have been named to the Honor's List for the summer semester at Michigan State University.

To receive recognition, a student must maintain a 3.5 or better grade point average.

Burch, a senior, is majoring in electrical engineering.

Saran is a junior majoring in political science-prelaw.

Walkers needed for horses

Horseback riding is considered therapeutic for kids who can't use their legs, according to Carmella. The motion of the horse causes the riders to move their muscles in ways they have difficulty doing, or can't, on their own.

"When I worked at Tollgate I saw kids in wheelchairs that after a couple of months in the riding program they were in walkers," said Carmella of her work with the equestrian special needs program at the former Tollgate Center.

Other children, like those with Downs syndrome, the children learn how to get along with animals, people and how to listen to riding instructions.

"When you are on a horse you have certain responsibilities," she said. "You can't be screaming, kicking. It helps to give them a responsibility."

Planning on a career as a pediatrician, Carmella is the daughter of Esther and Victor Kudyba of Northville and is a sophomore at the University of Michigan.

The Horseback Riding for Handicapped program needs two-side walkers and a leader for each of the eight students enrolled in the three, eight-week sessions which are held in the spring, summer and fall at the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club at Long Lake Road and Kensington in Bloomfield Hills.

For more information about Horseback Riding for Handicapped, or to volunteer, call Judy Bolis at (810) 634-6090.

The Klompen Dancers make their own authentic costumes and wooden shoes.

Troupe brings some Dutch to Novi

If you can't get to Holland, Holland will come to you.

On Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 28 and 29, Klompen Dancers in authentic costumes, a master gardener, a bulb expert, a garden writer, and a restored 1920 Wilhelm Bruder Sons European show band organ will come to Brickscape Gardens in Novi.

The Klompen Dancers will perform on Saturday and Sunday at 1 and 3 p.m. Ranging from petticoats to aprons and caps, each of the 10 women's costumes used by the dancers has up to 14 parts. Men's costumes have eight parts.

Costumes represent some of the geographical regions in The Netherlands and also carry elements that indicate the wearer's social and marital status, religion, etc. The costumes cost about $100 each and are handmade by the wearers, their mothers or seamstresses.

The waterproof wooden shoes, or Klompen, are a Dutch custom.

Throughout the weekend, Dutchman Terry Haughwout of Ohio will pump out Dutch, German and American tunes on the restored Wilhelm Bruder Sons Model 79 band organ. The European fairgrounds organ was built in the Black Forest town of Waldkirch, Germany, in the 1920s and has 205 pipes, a snare drum, a bass drum and a cymbal.

Gardening experts will be on hand to answer questions, provide bulb-planting tips and give impromptu demonstrations.

Peter Van Eeden, Holland bulb expert from Hillegom, Holland, will discuss the fascinating story of how bulbs are grown and new varieties on both Saturday and Sunday from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Nancy Szerlag, master gardener and garden columnist for the Detroit News and WDIV Channel 4, will be on hand Sept. 28 from noon until 3 p.m.

Marty Figley, garden writer for the Observer and Eccentric Newspapers will be available on Sept. 29 from noon until 3 p.m.

There will also be free pony rides, contests, cider and donuts and each child will receive a tulip bulb in a peat pot to take home.

For more information, call Brickscape, which is located on Old Novi Road just north of Eight Mile Road and just east of Novi Road in Novi, at (810) 348-2500.

Lisa St. Ann

Singer to perform songs from new CD at Borders

New York singer/songwriter Lisa St. Ann brings Conversations from the Sidewalk to Borders Books and Music from 1 until 3 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 29.

Conversations from the Sidewalk is St. Ann's first CD with intelligent folksy lyrics such as "Be," a song of loving words between a parent and child; or "Two Friends," which tells of two friends sitting at a bar wondering how life had taken them so far.

St. Ann has been compared to Carole King and Joni Mitchell as well as Billy Joel and Jackson Browne and is said to balance the tenderness of a feminine caress with the power of a more masculine manipulation.

In Conversations from the Sidewalk, St. Ann and producer/songwriter/musician Andrew Karkos have written songs about experiences and memories, discoveries and decisions.

Classically trained in piano and flute, St. Ann wrote her first song at age nine and has been performing since she was 12. She hit the road early and toured with Kid Gloves and Amazing Grace before going to Nashville for a year and a half to polish her songwriting skills.

Gritty drama 'Sleepers' features all-star cast

Barry Levinson writes, produces and directs "Sleepers," a gritty drama with a stellar ensemble cast of renowned actors including Kevin Bacon, Robert De Niro, Dustin Hoffman, Jason Patric, Brad Pitt, Brad Renfro, Minnie Driver, Billy Crudup, Ron Eldard and Vittorio Gassman. Levinson brings to life a taut, suspenseful drama of loyalty, betrayal and revenge based on events recounted by Lorenzo Carcaterra in his best-selling book of the same name.

Lorenzo and Michael were once the closest of friends. As kids growing up in New York's notorious Hell's Kitchen during the 1960s, the two boys and their pals, Tommy and John, were like brothers, sticking up for each other, laughing at each other's jokes, and keeping each other's secrets.

Then one year their childhoods came to an abrupt end. A street prank of theirs went awry and nearly killed a man; in a community of stern consequences, the four boys were sentenced to a year in a juvenile reformatory. But not even the law of the streets prepared the quartet for the brutal abuse they suffered at the hands of the reformatory's guards. And the secret they were forced to keep nearly destroyed all of them.

Decades later, the four have taken divergent paths in life — paths which, for Lorenzo and Michael, rarely cross. But they suddenly find themselves reunited when they are given a chance to even the score of the terrible hand that Fate had dealt them years before. In their shocking scheme, they are daringly aided by a neighborhood priest, played convincingly by Robert De Niro, who has known them since their childhoods.

Brady sequel offers original script and lots of laughs

A VERY BRADY SEQUEL
BY HEATHER WADOWSKI
NORTHVILLE

The Brady Bunch is back...and more troubled than ever. Cindy's doll is missing, Jan's created an imaginary boyfriend just to get some attention, and Greg and Marcia are falling in love...with each other.

Oh yeah! Did I mention that Carol Brady's first husband, Roy, isn't dead and wants his half of the Brady Bunch back?

Sounds hectic? It is...But all these problems keep "A Very Brady Sequel" full of laughs.

And while many sequels go back to the original for jokes and story lines, "A Very Brady Sequel" stands on its own two feet and is totally original.

"A Very Brady Sequel" is actually better than the original "Brady

READER MOVIE REVIEWS

Movie. It has a better plot, better jokes and Jan's annoying "inner voices" don't appear once throughout the whole film.

That's why I'm giving "A Very Brady Sequel" five stars out of five, with five stars being "totally groovy."

If you're a Brady fan, (and who isn't?), "A Very Brady Sequel" is a must see!

Hometown Newspapers Brings you:

Dear Christian Singles Network,
 Hi! Just a few lines to let you know, Gary and I were married November 11, 1995. We just celebrated our 10th month anniversary. We are very much in love, and enjoying every bit of what the Lord has blessed us with.
 We thank God everyday for helping you put Christian Singles Network together so we could finally meet, and spend the rest of our loving lives together until the Lord Jesus Christ calls us home.

We again, thank Christian Singles Network for helping both of us find our soul mates.
 God Bless Christian Singles Network and all the men and women out there searching for their soul mate. Just keep the faith!
 God Bless

Cagers defeat Rocks 42-39 in last seconds

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Dr. Naissmith would've been proud of the Mustang basketball team Thursday night.

Northville High used rock-solid defense, excellent team passing and a good measure of poise to defeat the state's No. 2 team, Salem, 42-39 at home.

Lyndsay Huot drove to the basket and hit an off-balance shot with 2:40 remaining in the game to give the Mustangs a two-point lead. Northville never trailed again.

"To make that basket when we were tied was excellent," coach Pete Wright said of Huot's shot.

Ahead 38-36, Lauren Metaj sank four straight free throws during the final 27 seconds to seal the victory.

Salem had a chance to tie the game in the final seconds. But the Rocks' Amanda Abraham failed to get a shot off after collecting a rebound off a missed free throw by the Mustangs.

Wright said it was a great victory for his team. But the season is a long way from over.

"It's a good step toward competing for the league," he said. "It's a big win, but we've to move on and prepare for the next game."

The Mustangs improved to 2-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. Northville was 5-2 heading into action this week.

Thursday's game was touted as one of the young season's best early matchups. It lived up to the billing and then some.

Led by Laurel Weinman and Amanda Pruett, the Rocks took a 23-22 lead at halftime. The duo each scored six points in staking the visitors to their own half.

Metaj helped keep Northville close with nine points in the half, including six in the second quarter. After halftime, the two squads duked it out.

Pruett scored inside at the 6:34 mark to put Salem up 25-22. A pair of free throws and a fast break basket by Gina Chlason gave Northville a 26-25 advantage about a minute later.

The teams traded the lead until the end of the quarter. In a fore-shadowing of what was to come, Metaj sank two free throws with four seconds left to put the Mustangs up 30-28 at the horn.

Northville held that slim margin much of the fourth quarter.

Salem's Angela Sillman tied the game at 3:15 with a long three-pointer. Huot hit her clutch shot seconds later and Northville went on to win.

"We played really well," said Wright. "We rebounded the ball well. We were also very patient on offense and didn't take a lot of bad shots."

Northville's defense was key in the victory. The Mustangs played a tight zone around the basket. Salem was forced to shoot outside and didn't get many offensive rebounds.

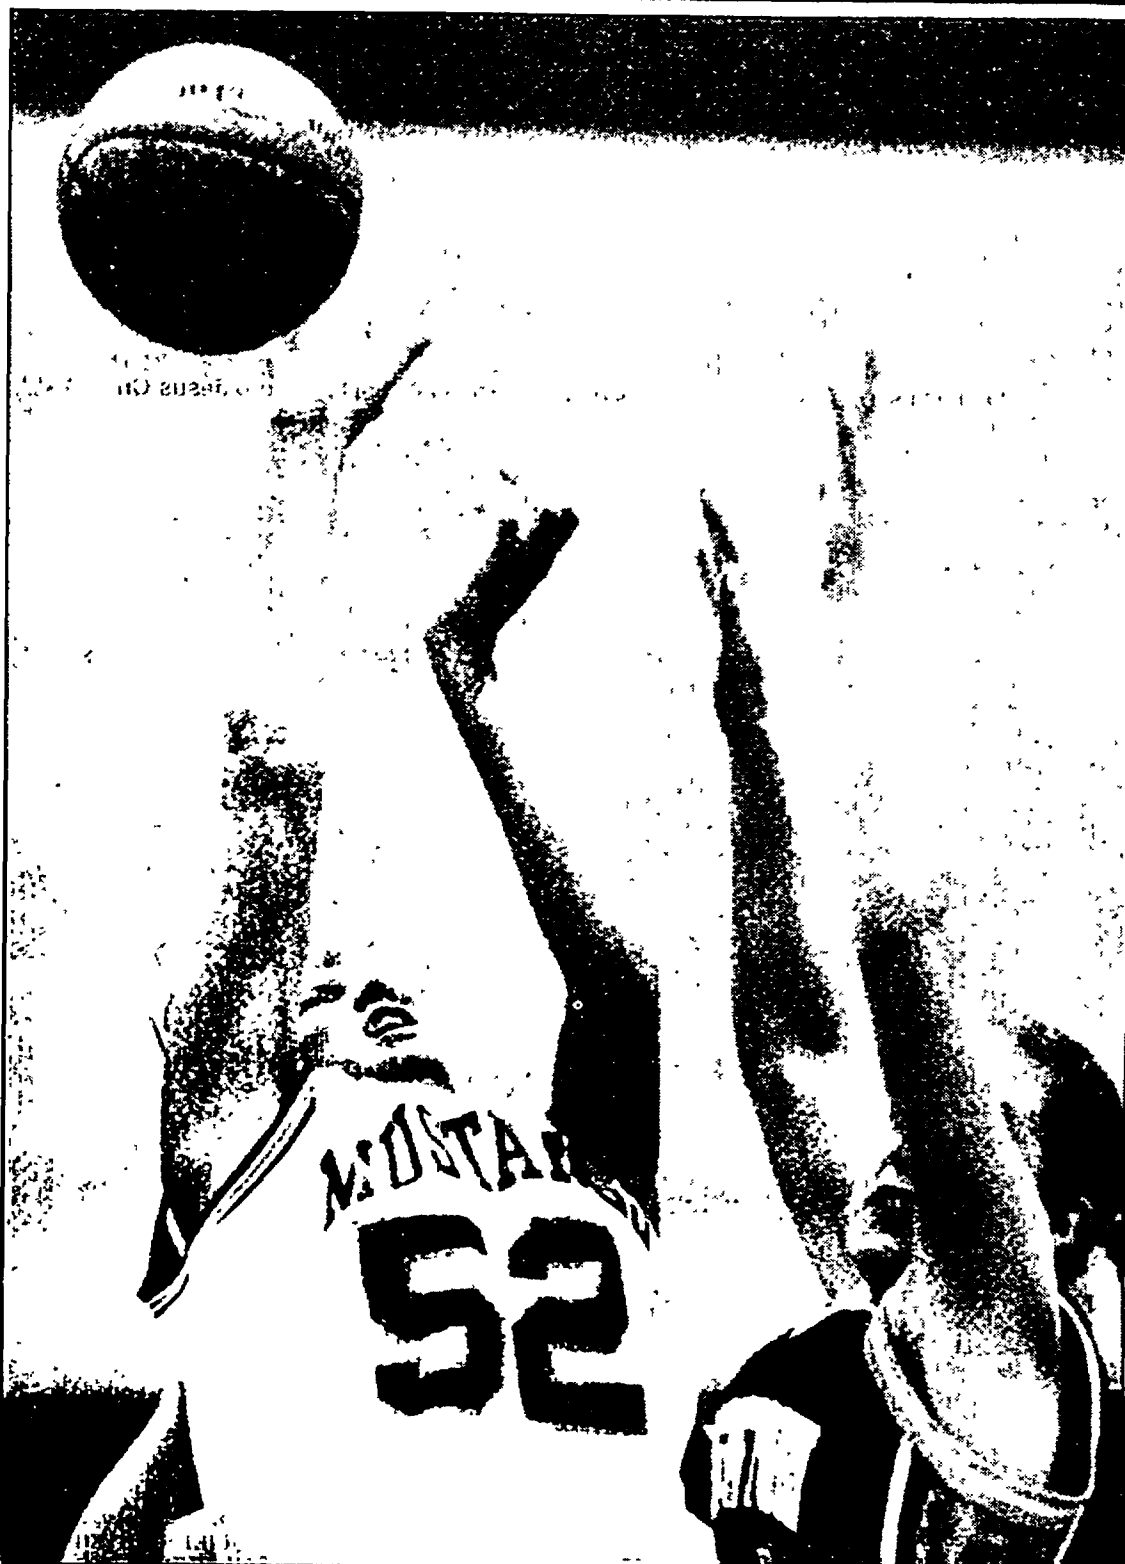

Northville also shutdown Rocks' star Abraham. Rated as one of the state's better players, she was held to four points in the game, zero in the second half.

"She's the key to their team," Wright said. "We did a nice job on her."

Metaj led Northville with 17 points and Chlason added 10. Sillman scored 10 for Salem.

Runners charge to victory at invite

If you're looking for a team on the rise at Northville High look no further than the girls cross country team.

The Mustangs won the freshman-sophomore portion of the Walled Lake Western Invitational Saturday. Northville scored 62 points to beat host Western by 11.

"We probably had our biggest day in a long time," coach Chris Cronin said. "We had a lot of solid overall races. I thought we did a great job of keeping our focus."

Kristin Kolarchick was Northville's top runner in the race. She placed fourth overall (22:29).

Karen Loeffler overcame sickness to take eighth place (23:07).

"Karen's effort was really spectacular," Cronin said. "She hadn't felt well since Thursday, but she really wanted this."

Katie Spillane finished 14th for Northville (23:27). Adrienne Manarina was 17th (23:55) and Kristin VanTuyt 19th (24:03).

"Our top five all finished in the top 19," said Cronin. "That's what sealed it for us. We had a lot of people step up."

Stephanie Flood finished 26th overall (24:44) and Emily Howard placed 29th (25:02).

NORTHVILLE 23, FRANKLIN 37

The Mustangs traveled to Livonia and Nankin Mills Thursday for a meeting with the Patriots. Northville pushed its conference record to 2-0 with the win.

Kolarchick won the race (21:23). Murphy was fourth (22:25). Flood fifth (22:28). Loeffler sixth (23:04). Manarina seventh (23:31). VanTuyt eighth (23:40) and Kristina Derro was ninth (23:59).

Northville hosts Canton at Cass Benton Park today at 4 p.m.

Tim Burke is Northville's leading pass catcher this season.

Harriers edge Livonia 24-34 behind Arbuckle

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

If Hollywood ever decides to remake "The Natural," Kevin Arbuckle could be a candidate for the leading role.

Only the movie would be about a cross country runner instead of a baseball player. A newcomer to the sport, the sophomore has quickly established himself as Northville High's top runner.

He proved that point by winning the race in the Mustangs' matchup with Livonia Franklin Thursday at Nankin Mills. Northville won the dual meet 24-34.

Arbuckle ran a blistering time of 17:16 to take the race. Not bad for a guy who's known mostly as a wrestler.

"He's a legitimate runner," coach Ed Gabrys said. "He'll contend at least for all-division honors."

The win moved Northville to 1-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. The Mustangs run at Cass Benton today at 4 p.m. against Canton.

The Chiefs are one of the top teams in the area, according to Gabrys.

"They are the defending division champs," he added. "I think they will repeat."

As well as Arbuckle ran, it takes more than a first-place finisher to win a dual meet.

Tim Schovers supported his teammate by taking third overall against the Patriots in 17:36. Josh Smith was fifth in 18:03. John Julow seventh in 18:51 and Jim Morrison rounded out the scoring

Canton crushes Northville 41-14 behind passing, running of Johnson

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Big-time players have had a way of stepping up and taking big-time bites out of Northville High in recent years.

Back in the early '90s it was Walled Lake Western's Arnie Gillert in the playoffs. Last season it was Farmington Hills Harrison's Jason Granger running for 280 yards and five touchdowns.

Friday night, Canton's Rob Johnson had his turn. The senior quarterback ran for three TDs and passed for two more in the Chiefs' 41-14 thrashing of Northville.

"He's a Division I player," Mustang coach Darrel Schumacher said.

Northville simply didn't have an answer to Johnson's speed and strength. He dominated the game played at Canton High by rushing for 94 yards and passing for 133 more.

"He played an excellent game," Schumacher said.

Now 0-3, the Mustangs face a vastly improved Livonia Franklin club Friday on the road.

"It keeps getting tougher each week," said Schumacher. "But we're not giving up. We'll be there ready to play."

Friday's contest started off the right way for Northville.

Canton started the game with the ball. On the second play from scrimmage, the Mustangs' Gino Peters intercepted a Johnson pass at the 35-yard line and returned it all the way to the five.

Two plays later, Chris Whittington scored for Northville from three yards out to make it a 7-0 ballgame at 10:51 of the first quarter.

That lead didn't last long.

Canton began its next possession on its own 26-yard line. On second down, Johnson sprinted to the left side of the line on an option play.

He froze the Mustang defense momentarily then sprinted 73 yards for the score. The Chiefs tied the game at 9:50.

Canton went on to score the next four times it touched the ball.

Johnson threw touchdown strikes of five and eight yards. He also ran for two more scores, three and 14 yards, respectively.

Canton led Northville 34-7 at halftime.

Offensively, the Mustangs were slowed up after the initial scoring drive. Schumacher said Canton was able to force his team into things it didn't want to do.

"We're a finesse offense," he added. "Other teams have to play the defense we want or we're in trouble."

Neither team scored again until the fourth quarter.

Northville put together a 19-play drive starting at the end of the third quarter. Whittington finished it off with a three-yard touchdown run at 7:47 of the fourth quarter.

Canton got its final score late in the game. Johnson, thankfully, wasn't involved.

Statistics bear out Canton's domination.

The Chiefs gained 365 total yards to Northville's 223. The Chiefs out rushed Northville 232 to 173.

Whittington led Northville offensively. To go with his two TDs, the junior rushed for 107 yards on 32 carries.

FRANKLIN PREVIEW

Friday's road game will be a challenge for Northville.

Franklin (2-1) pounded city rival Churchill 45-6 last week. According to Schumacher, the Patriots have a solid offense.

Besides a big line, Livonia has an excellent throwing quarterback in 6-foot-3 Brian Facione.

His main target is tightend Paul Terek, a 6-2, 181-pounder. The Patriots also feature a solid runner in Tony Grech.

"They present some problems," Schumacher said.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. at 31000 Joy Road just east of Merriman Road.

Kickers beat Farmington 3-0

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

If revenge is sweet, the Mustang soccer team grabbed a little nectar on Sept. 18.

Playing at home, Northville High shutout Farmington 3-0. Nick Bitell and Dan Basse combined for the shutout in the nets.

"We lost to them last year," coach Henry Klimes said. "It was nice to avenge that."

The win pushed Northville back to the .500 mark at 4-4. The Mustangs played Walled Lake Western last night.

As for the Farmington contest, the two teams battled to a draw in the first half with neither being able to score. Farmington had the best opportunity.

Late in the half, it appeared as if the Falcons would score. Farmington found an empty Northville net and took a shot from about 18 yards out.

Fullback Josh Brugeman saved the day for the Mustangs, however, and headed the shot away from the net. Klimes said it would've gone in.

"It really got us going," he commented.

Northville came out storming in the second half.

The Mustangs finally broke the ice seven minutes into the half. Andy Weyer scored after a quick crossing pass from Adam Tibble.

Klimes said his team had worked on getting the ball from one side of the field to the other quickly in practice.

"It was good to see it work in a game," he said.

Tibble found the net himself about 20 minutes later. J.R. Graff assisted on his goal.

"That took the wind out of them completely," said Klimes. "You could see them drop back a lot."

Tom Andary got the final goal late in the contest. It was similar to Weyer's tally.

Klimes said his defense, Brugeman, Sam Vida and Eric Arnold, among others, played extremely well. He also gave credit to forwards such as Weyer.

MUSTANGS 4, JOHN GLENN 0

The Mustangs had a somewhat easier time with the Rockets on Sept. 16.

Northville led 1-0 at halftime and added three insurance goals in the final 40 minutes. Basse and Bitell, again, split the shutout.

Klimes said his team wasn't particularly sharp.

"It wasn't a very good game for us," he said.

Mike Malle got the first half goal with Tibble assisting. Tibble, Brugeman and Matt Carroll all scored in the second half.

MUSTANGS OF THE WEEK

KEVIN ARBUCKLE — Cross Country

Arbuckle has emerged as a top runner for the Mustangs this fall. In a dual meet with Livonia Franklin, he ran a 17:16 to take first in the race. Arbuckle was the Mustangs' top overall finisher at the Walled Lake Western Invitational Saturday. He placed second in the freshman-sophomore race in 17:40.

LYNDSAY HUOT — Basketball

Huot played a big role in Northville's win over highly rated Salem last week. With the game tied, she drove to the basket and hit an off-balance shot with 2:40 remaining to give the Mustangs a two-point lead. Northville never trailed again.

North Farmington dunks swimmers

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

It's hard to make up for experience in any sport, but that may be truer of swimming than anything else.

Without having spent hour after grueling hour in the pool, it's tough to be successful. So it should come as no surprise that the young Northville High squad fell short against North Farmington Thursday, 112 1/2-73 1/2.

Despite winning almost half of the events, Northville simply didn't have the depth to keep up with the Raiders. Coach Bill Dicks said it's going to take time for his team to improve.

"You can't rush experience," he added. "The kids have to be allowed to make their mistakes and learn."

About a third of the Mustangs' squad is made up of freshmen. Dicks said they need time in the pool to work on strokes and gain that experience.

"(Experience) is the one thing I can't give them," he commented.

The Mustangs started the meet by taking second in the 200-yard medley relay. The team of Leah Voytal, Alice Callan, Kristin Warnke and Stephanie Sabo swam in that race.

Voytal came back to take second in the 200-yard freestyle. Warnke won the 200-yard IM and teammate Jackie Sallotte was fifth.

In the 50-yard freestyle, Sabo placed second and Beth Handley fourth. Karen Fischer won the diving competition with 195.9 points. Sarah Wright was second at 149.15.

Warnke was the winner of the 100-yard butterfly and Callan took third. Sabo grabbed first in the 100-yard freestyle and Kara Lyczak was fourth.

In the 200-yard freestyle relay, Northville was second with the team of Callan, Handley, Brian Jones and Lyczak. Voytal was Northville's highest finisher in the 100-yard backstroke as she took third place.

Callan was fourth in the 100 breaststroke and Jones finished fifth.

Northville closed the meet on a positive note as Lyczak, Sabo, Warnke and Voytal won the 400-yard freestyle relay.

Northville swam on the road Sept. 17 at Livonia Stevenson and fell 138-48. The defending league champs won every event.

"They come in and stomp you when they can," Dicks said.

by taking eighth in 18:57.

Todd Emaus finished in ninth place overall with a time of 19:02. Nick Schomer placed 14th in 19:53.

The Mustangs traveled to Walled Lake Saturday for the Western Invitational.

A pair of races were held, one for freshmen and sophomores the other for juniors and seniors.

Northville placed third in the freshmen-sophomore race and seventh in the junior-senior.

Arbuckle was the Mustangs' top overall finisher. He placed second in the freshman-sophomore race in 17:40.

Schovers was 20th in the junior-senior at 18:32. Josh Smith was 12th in the freshman-sophomore

RETRACTION

An article in last week's Northville Record referred to the Westland John Glenn tennis team as the "dregs of the tennis world." We apologize for any embarrassment to the Rocket program or its players and coaches.

NORTHVILLE COLTS

Colts football celebrated another successful homecoming recently. Many thanks go out to the people and companies that contributed to the parade and football activities.

Some of the individuals and organizations that deserve mention include: Chief Allen and the Northville Fire Department; Chief Cannon and the Northville Police Department; the Novi Police Department; Jim Gallogly, Northville Public Works Director; Delphine Gutowski, Northville City Clerk; the Northville City Council; Northville Downs; Salutations; Donna and Larry's Flowers; and the parents who volunteered the use of their cars and trucks for the parade procession.

The parade route took players, family, and friends through Northville and Novi to the home of Colts football behind Novi Meadows School.

This year's foe, the Dearborn Redskins, proved formidable. The Redskins freshman and varsity squads were winners but the Colts junior varsity team scored a 25-6 victory.

The next Colts opponents will be the Farmington Rockets. The Sept. 22 games will be at Farmington with game times at noon for freshmen, 1:30 p.m. for junior varsity, and 3 p.m. for varsity.

Everyone is welcome to all Colts football games - come support our teams.

MICHIGAN HAWKS

The Michigan Hawks U-13 girls team, part of the Livonia Y Premier Soccer League, successfully defended their championship in the Troy Soccer City Classic XI tournament held over Labor Day. They had a defensive shutout in the five games they played while scoring 22 goals.

The team is coached by Deepak Shrivaman, who is also the varsity soccer coach at Farmington Hills Mercy. The assistant coach is Margaret Martin, who played at Michigan State.

The players are Lauren Burke, Bloomfield Village; Meghan Callahan, Farmington Hills; Loni Ealba, Grosse Pointe Farms; Kendall Enmark, Sterling Heights; Julie Goettlicher, Farmington Hills; Maureen Griffith, Canton; Erin Konheim, West Bloomfield; Katie Kramer, Highland; Manda Otterman, Northville; Jenny Peters, Trenton; Sarah Phillips, Livonia; Trisha Roberts, Trenton; Tara Schreiber, Brighton; Stefani Szezechowski, Plymouth; Robyn Vince, Holt; and Lisa Witt, Trenton.

The Michigan Hawks Soccer Club, composed of three teams in the Under 12 Division, took first, second and third place in the Warren Kick About Soccerfest 1996, 4-v-4 on Aug. 24 and 25. All three teams were coached by John Buchanan.

Team members included Nicole Cauzillo, Jill Kehler, Jamie Poole, Marissa Sarkesian, Jennifer Soymanski, Nikki Hermann, Maureen Pawlak, Erin Doan, Whitney Guenther, Katie Henrickson, Erin Closser, Jenny Murray, Sophia Naum and Laine Williams.

THUNDER

The Northville Thunder U-12 boys soccer team won the first-place trophy at the 15th annual Romeo Soccer Tournament over the Labor Day weekend. Starting the event against the Bloomfield Flame 55, Thunder posted a first round victory with a 3-0 shutout. Thunder next battled the Novi Jaguars, coming from behind to finish the game in a 3-3 tie. With a spot in the championship game on the line, Thunder defeated the St. Clair Shores Strikers 2-1 to earn the right to advance.

The final was played against the crosstown rival Novi Jaguars on Sunday. In a hotly contested match, Northville Thunder clinched the title with a 4-2 victory.

Thunder is coached by Joe Jowkar and Keith Jones, assisted by Vince Hagedorn. Team players are: Rob Czarniecki, John Davidson, Jay Ferriman, Joe Gallagher, Mike Hagedorn, Greg Johnson, Lyle Jones, Spencer Jowkar, Mickey Mason, Clark Paciorek, John Quincey, Nick Schoendorf, Chris Stevens, Eric Troost, Adam Van Valkenburgh and Zack Wollack.

SHOOTER

Northville resident Frank Galonis recently won the 1996 Junior Singles Trapshooting Champion for Michigan. The 15-year-old ninth grade student at Northville High School won the honor of shooting in the Champion of Champions event at the Grand American World Trapshooting Competition in Vandalia, Ohio. He has also won several other trapshooting events.

TRAVEL SOFTBALL TRYOUTS

The Computware Girls Fastpitch Softball Club will be holding tryouts for the 1997 summer season. The club has several teams based on age groupings and we encourage players ages 8 to 18 from all areas to attend our tryout Oct. 6 at Shell Park in Waterford, Mich., on Dixie Highway between Williams Lake Road and Hatchery Road.

Age Group/Team: Under 11, 12 and 16 - 9 a.m.-noon.

Netters whip Walled Lake

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

The Mustang tennis team capped a perfect week Friday by whipping Walled Lake Western at home 8-0.

Northville High improved to 6-0 overall and 5-0 in the Western Lakes conference with the win. Despite the lopsided score, coach Uta Filkin said it was actually a competitive contest.

"We had a good match with them," she said. "They played us a lot tougher."

The Warriors have traditionally been near the bottom of the WLAA standings. Filkin said Walled Lake may be on the rise, however.

Kristin Smith still managed an easy win at first singles. She defeated Ericka Combs 6-2, 6-1.

Federica Rogora also won in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2 over Allison Botke. At No. 3 singles, Jenny Androne defeated Melissa Botke 6-0, 6-3.

Sarah Arndt closed singles play by grabbing her first varsity victory. She beat Walled Lake's Tanya Lamsie 6-2, 6-3.

Filkin switched her doubles lineup around for the match.

Angela Trapnell and Kara Anderson moved up to top doubles. The duo defeated Dana Holman and Megan Warrow 6-1, 6-1.

Sarah Johnson and Amanda Nelson took a three-set victory at second doubles. Shelley Morgan and Christina Chase were straight-set victors over Julia Brinkman and Jenny Janks 6-3, 6-4.

Northville completed the sweep by taking a straight-set victory at fourth doubles. Angela Bardon and Jessica Mills defeated Jenny Williams and Sarah Manning 6-1, 6-1.

The Mustangs entered the toughest week of conference play Monday. Northville was to play Livonia Stevenson Monday followed by matches with North Farmington yesterday and Farmington Hills Harrison tomorrow on the road at 4 p.m.

NORTHVILLE 7, CHURCHILL 1

The Mustangs traveled to Livonia on Sept. 18 for yet another easy victory.

About the only down note was an accident to Mary McDonald. The senior cut her knee after a fall before the match.

To her credit, McDonald played and helped Northville win at first doubles.

In singles action, Smith, Julie Glock and Androne all won in straight sets. Arndt fell at fourth singles to Rosie Sennett 6-4, 3-6, 3-6.

Northville swept through doubles.

Johnson and McDonald teamed at No. 1 for a two-set triumph. Anderson and Trapnell, Morgan and Chase, Bardon and Jessica Mills also won in straight sets.

NORTHVILLE 8, FARMINGTON 0

The Sept. 16 home match was a bit of a surprise.

"We've never beaten Farmington 8-0," said Filkin.

Smith won in straight sets while Glock needed three to defeat Carrie May. At third singles, Rogora played a fine match to beat Fawn O'Leary 6-3, 7-6.

Androne didn't lose a game in winning at fourth singles.

Doubles squads also had an easy go of it. Johnson and McDonald, Anderson and Trapnell, Morgan and Chase and Bardon and Mills all won in straight sets.

Mammography can detect most cases of breast cancer

As many people know, breast cancer strikes one in every eight or nine women at some time during their lives. This high rate has driven the development of various imaging modalities to diagnose breast disease.

As a diagnostic radiologist, I would like to share this information with you.

Physical examination is an essential method by which breast cancer is first discovered. As a matter of fact, it is the woman herself who most frequently discovers the lump. This underscores the importance of breast self-examination. This is done most effectively on a monthly basis, after the menstrual cycle, when the breasts are least tender and lumpy. If the examination is done in the shower, lumps are more easily felt.

Mammography has experienced great developments over the last several years. Through mammography about 90 percent of breast cancers can be detected.

Though not perfect, mammography stands as our most effective modality for the early detection of breast cancer. It can frequently detect cancers two or more years before they can be felt. It is not uncommon for us to discover a tumor measuring only one-fourth of an inch, which can easily be removed before it spreads.

If a woman would go for routine mammograms she could save her life. She should have a mammogram between the ages of 35 and 40; then every one-two years between the ages of 40 and 50; then every year thereafter. And, a woman can make an appointment for a mammogram without a doctor's prescription.

Ultrasound has also become an important tool in the diagnosis of breast disease. If something is felt or something new is discovered on the mammogram, ultrasound is used for further evaluation.

Ultrasound can determine if the new area represents a benign cyst, thereby avoiding unnecessary surgery. If the area is not a cyst but is tissue, ultrasound can sometimes help in suggesting that it is benign as well, providing the option to avoid biopsy and observe with a follow-up examination.

Conventionally, when something suspicious for cancer has been discovered in the breast by any method described above, an open surgical biopsy of the breast has been performed.

There are now alternatives. A needle biopsy of the breast can be performed. The needle can be directed into the suspicious area in a precise way using either ultrasound or stereotactic guidance methods, depending on the way in which it was best seen. For stereotactic breast biopsy, the woman lies on a comfortable table. The breast is suspended through an opening in the table and mammographic images are obtained digitally and held in the computer. The radiologist identifies the area, numbs the skin and guides a needle with millimeter precision to the correct spot.

Compared with open surgical biopsy, this method is just as accurate, less costly, faster, has a shorter recuperation time and results in no scarring.

If you have any questions or want further information, call (810) 380-4207. Remember: October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

James E. Selts, M.D., is section chief, breast imaging, at Providence Hospital and Medical Centers. This article is coordinated by the Marketing and Communications Department at Providence Hospital and Medical Centers.

A clinic will be held in South Lyon Thursday, Oct. 3, from 9-11 a.m., at the First United Presbyterian Church, 205 East Lake (Ten Mile) and Wells Street.

Immunizations will be given at the same time and location on the first Thursday of every month. The next scheduled immunization clinic will be on Nov. 7. For further information, call 424-7046.

A clinic will be held in Farmington Wednesday, Oct. 9, from 9 a.m.-noon at the Clarenceville United Methodist Church, 20300 Middlebelt Road (South of Eight Mile Road), Livonia.

Immunizations will be given at the same time and location on the second Wednesday of every month. The next scheduled immunization clinic will be held Nov. 13.

Immunizations for measles, German measles, mumps, polio, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and Haemophilus influenzae Type B (hib) will be available.

A parent or legal guardian must accompany a child under 18 years of age. Bring any previous records of immunizations, including notices which might have been sent home from the child's school pertaining to immunizations.

NEW HEALTH OFFICE

Last June, the Oakland County Health Division opened a new office in Walled Lake at 1010 E. West Maple Road one block east of Pontiac Trail. For information on services, call (810) 926-3300.

EXPECTANT PARENT CLASS

The Oakland County Health Division will offer a series of six expectant parent classes beginning on Thursday, Oct. 16, at Oakland County Health Division, 27725 Greenfield Road, Southfield.

Classes will be held in the evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. and will be taught by public health nurses. There is a $25 charge for attending the series of classes, and those who wish to participate are asked to preregister as enrollment is limited.

Topics will include maternal physical changes, good nutrition, growth and development of the fetus and the baby, labor and delivery, infant care and parenting.

Enroll as early in your pregnancy as possible. To register by Oct. 4, call 424-7042.

DEPRESSION SCREENING

Oakland Community College's Highland Lakes campus will provide free depression screening as part of National Depression Screening Day, Thursday, Oct. 10, from 2 to 6 p.m. Mental health professionals from ock will conduct the screenings in Room 224 of the Student Center.

Depression is an illness, not a weakness, and effective treatments can help people of all ages.

The Highland Lakes campus is located on Cooley Lake Road in Waterford. For more information, call (810) 360-3186.

BOTSFORD HOSPITAL

Botsford Hospital is offering the following programs:

• Caregiving

At some point in their lives, most people will find themselves in the role of caregiver. But where can individuals find the spiritual, emotional and physical strength to face the challenges of caring for another without neglecting their own needs?

This fall Botsford General Hospital, in conjunction with the Greater Detroit Interfaith Round Table, is offering an excellent program specifically designed for caregivers. "Adventures in Caregiving," an eight-week training series, focuses on a mind/body/spirit model, and presents practical skills and valuable resources about a variety of issues. Some of the topics include empathy training, grief, substance abuse, domestic violence and human suffering.

The sessions are offered on consecutive Thursdays beginning Oct. 3 through Nov. 21 from 7-9 p.m. at Botsford General Hospital's East A Conference Room, 28050 Grand River Ave., Farmington Hills. The fee for the entire series is $35, or $5 per session. Because of limited space, early registration is encouraged. Continuing education credits in nursing are available. To register, or for more information, call (810) 471-8850.

A member of the Botsford Health Care Continuum, Botsford General Hospital is an osteopathic teaching hospital located in Farmington Hills. Botsford is affiliated with Michigan State College of Osteopathic Medicine. The Botsford site on the Internet is at <http://www.botsfordsystem.org>. The Botsford e-mail address is info@botsfordsystem.org.

• Breast feeding Basics

This workshop covers the "how to's" of breast feeding - how to start and maintain successful breast feeding - and answers the questions and concerns of women who are already breast feeding.

Classes are held at the Health Development Network at Botsford in Novi. For more information and to register, call (810) 477-6100.

• Cholesterol and Vision Screenings

Total cholesterol screening is conducted by the fingerstick method from 1-4 p.m. on the third Monday of each month at the Botsford Center for Health Improvement-Health Development Network, 39750 Grand River Ave., Novi. There is a $5 fee.

For more information, call (810) 477-6100.

ST. MARY HOSPITAL

The following classes are coming up at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia.

• AIDS Class for Premarrieds

St. Mary Hospital will offer a premarital aids class on Thursday, Oct. 10, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. The class will meet in the Marian Pavilion Conference Room B near the Levan Road entrance.

Persons who wish to be married in Michigan are required to receive information about sexually transmitted diseases and hiv/aids before applying for a marriage license. Upon completion of the class, you will receive the necessary certificate to obtain a marriage license. Certificates are valid for 60 days. Registration is required.

The cost is $15 per person or $25 per couple. To register, call (313) 655-3314 or toll free at 1-800-494-1615.

• Breastfeeding class

A breastfeeding class is scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 26, from 7 to 9 p.m. in Pavilion Conference Room A in the Marian Pavilion next to the hospital.

This class is designed for expectant mothers between the seventh and eighth months of pregnancy. The class will focus on the benefits of breastfeeding for infant, mother and family.

Instructors will demonstrate the many techniques of breastfeeding. Topics will include breastfeeding and the working mother, questions and concerns about breastfeeding, and a review of breastfeeding pumps, helpful books and supplies.

The cost of the class is $15. Preregistration is requested, but mothers can register at the class. For more information or to register, call the Marian Women's Center at (313) 655-2882 or toll free at 1-800-494-1617.

The White House price tag: $63,893,550

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

A decade ago, I was working as director of corporate communications for Previews Inc., an international real estate marketing organization specializing in upper-end properties such as castles, private islands, corporate retreats, huge ranches and super-expensive mansions.

About the only upper-upper-end property we didn't try to market was the White House, or so we smugly claimed.

Recently, Coldwell Banker Residential Affiliates (a national broker franchise group) took a cold look at this property, viewing it as any other upper-end real estate. They considered all key factors that affect a property's value and came up with a realistic value in today's market.

They asked their broker members throughout the country to express their opinion of its market value and also asked all interested parties to submit their opinion of the White House's current value via the Coldwell Banker web site on the Internet.

"The 42,840-square-foot White House, or President's Mansion as it was formerly called, is perched on 18 acres of prime downtown land and is an irreplaceable national icon," said a Coldwell Banker representative. "It's probably the best-built house in the country, if not the world." You might compare the White House with your own home.

But it's probably a bit larger, with 32 bathrooms and 132 rooms

The Rapids maximizes the use of living space

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

In a modest 1,070 square feet, the floor plan of The Rapids delivers more for your money than many larger homes.

This design makes maximum use of the available living space without sacrificing the ease of movement throughout the house. The Rapids, with an equally attractive exterior, is a good first buy for a young family, or smaller quarters for those wishing to downsize their living environment.

A covered walk leads you through the entry and into the right wing of this admirable home. A coat closet is nearby for the convenience of your guests. The large, vaulted living room offers you plenty of space for family gatherings and entertaining friends.

Along with all the built-in appliances, the functional walk-in kitchen features a handy pantry and is adjacent to the dining room. This arrangement permits the cook to prepare and serve meals with a minimum of bother. When the weather allows, a sliding glass door takes you out to the back patio.

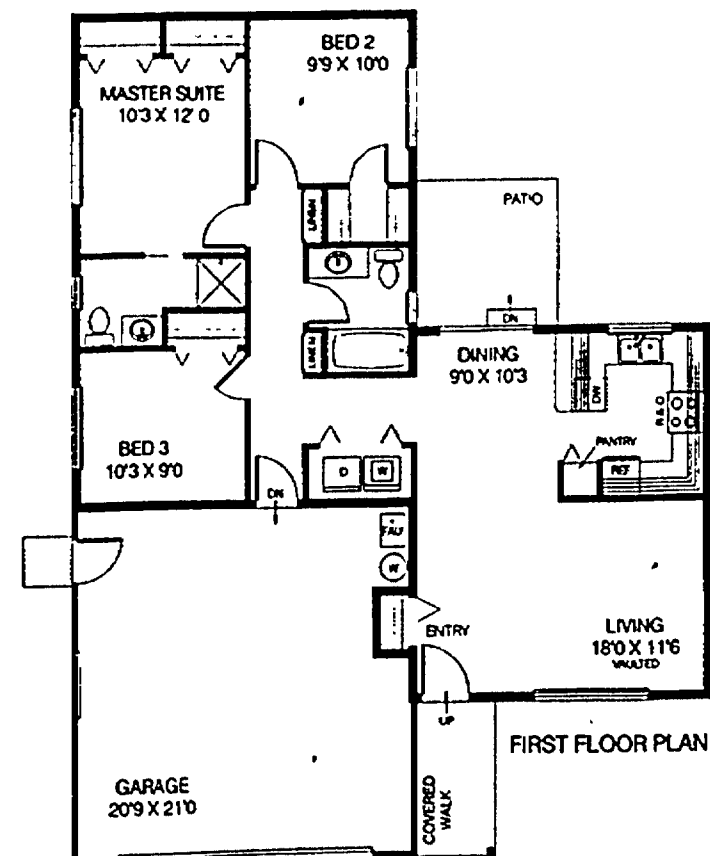

where a leisurely lunch in the sunshine will surely brighten your day.

A good-size master suite occupies the rear left corner of the floor plan. Amenities here include twin closets and a private bathroom. A second bedroom adjoins the master suite on the right side. This proximity is advantageous for those with young children needing close supervision. For empty nesters, this room could easily be converted to a home office, sewing room or gym.

Farther down the hallway, bedroom No. 3 is perfect for an older child or guest accommodations. A full bathroom and linen storage are located off the hall.

The placement of the utility room near the garage makes it possible to discard soiled clothing and muddy shoes before entering the main house.

For a study plan of the Rapids (404-39), send $10 to Landmark Designs, c/o HomeTown Newspapers, 323 E. Grand River, Howell, MI 48843. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.) For more information, call (800) 562-1151.

Party Tea

Local resident Mary French has created her own business which brings tea party charm to special occasions

By Annette Jaworski

Like many young girls, Mary French has always loved a tea party.

"I've always collected teapots as a little girl and enjoyed antiques. I've always loved the dishes and china. I had a grandma that lives in Hillsdale that had dishes and dishes."

Her own collection of dishes grew over the years and eventually led to her own business. After adding few tablecloths and linens she created "Miss Mary's Memories & Tea" last November. With it, French brings all the elegance and charm of tea to a special occasion, private party, garden party, high tea or children's birthday party.

The hostess can sit back and relax when French is in charge.

"What's nice about my service is that I bring everything. I provide the beverage, crystal, china, tea settings and some kind of favor."

With boxes and boxes of tea sets, spoon, urns and linens at her disposal, she can create an atmosphere for any occasion. The cups come in every shape and size from bone china to a Sesame Street tea

Tea Facts

■ Tea is grown mainly in India and China, and harvested from leaves about the size of a tobacco leaf. The three main varieties — described below — all stem from the same shrub, thea sinensis.

■ Once harvested, the leaves are dried and fermented for three to five days, which will determine the tea's pungency. The processing of the leaves determines which of the three types it becomes. The tea is then blended to make thousands of different variations that fit into one of three categories:

Green tea — One of the most popular, imported from Ceylon, with a mellow flavor.

Black tea — Grown in India and China, with a more robust strong flavor.

Oolong tea — Rare and expensive, mellow in flavor. Not used in tea bags, whole leaf oolong tea is rarely available in the United States.

Compost piles need to be turned regularly

By C.Z. Guest
Copley News Service

GARDENING

Q. Usually I turn my compost pile every week. Lately I've been a little tardy and now I have two 5-foot-diameter bins loaded with a mix of fresh grass clippings and matted, smelly, moldy older clippings. What do you suggest?

A. I think the easiest way to deal with your problem would be to make a new pile from the fresh grass clippings and incorporate the older, matted clippings directly into the garden. The matted clippings are no doubt too heavy to easily mix into a new pile, so I suggest putting them in the garden as is and till them into the soil. Left on the soil surface, they'll dry out and form a crust that water simply can't penetrate.

Use the fresh clippings to start a new pile. If you can't turn the pile regularly, mix in materials high in carbon, such as hay and dried leaves (oak is best) to create a better balance of nitrogen and carbon. To prevent rotting and matting, cover the pile — you won't want the same problem to happen again.

Q. This year I planted some perennial chamomile in my herb garden but the plants all seemed to just burn up. What culture do they need to grow best?

A. Perennial chamomile prefers full sun but will tolerate a little shade. Chamomile likes a well-aerated, rich but gritty and slightly acid soil.

It's hard for me to say why your plants died since this plant is quite hardy and tolerant of most garden conditions. Nevertheless, chamomile can fail to thrive when subjected to extremes of dryness or moisture. If your soil is very heavy clay, which neither holds water well nor drains quickly when overwatered, your plants may have suffered from both.

Herbs usually die if waterlogged in winter. Maybe you overfertilized or accidentally sprayed them with a herbicide. If so, chuck out all herbicides and use an insecticide soap spray for insect control.

Q. I have four 8-year-old Monterey pine trees whose

Make a compost pile

Everything that grows yields materials that can be composted and used to supply the garden with organic matter. Manure and soil are helpful additions; meat, dairy products and diseased plants are not.

The steps

To make a small, clean-smelling compost pile from kitchen and yard waste, cut the bottom out of a trash can (or use a wire enclosure) and set on the ground.

■ Pile a day's kitchen waste on the bottom. Shred or break up large pieces; avoid large amounts of any single material.

■ Cover with a layer of dry leaves, grass clippings and soil. Keep pile loosely packed and exposed to air.

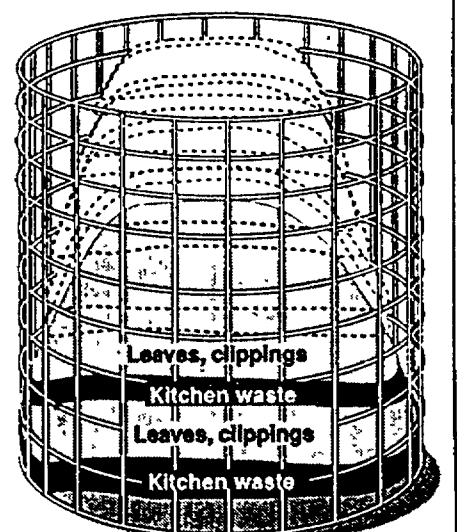

■ Repeat layering daily. Keep pile damp.

■ An offensive odor means the pile is packed too tightly or the wrong materials have been used. Earthworms or other small organisms are beneficial.

■ Materials take six to eight weeks to break down.

Don't use:

Pet feces, large amounts of grease or fat, charcoal, synthetics, floor sweepings, diseased plants, bulky materials, large amounts of meat, cheese or milk products.

Louis XV Revival style dates from mid-1900s

This Louis XV breakfront was made in the mid-1900s and inspired by 18th century designs. It is worth $1,500 to $2,000.

By Anne McCollam
Copley News Service

Q. My husband and I received the breakfront shown in this photo. It belonged to his grandmother, who owned it for at least 30 years.

What style is it, how old is it and how much is it worth?

A. The style of your breakfront is French Provincial Louis XV Revival. It was made in the mid-1900s. The value would probably be about $1,500 to $2,000.

Q. I have a reproduction of an Early American desk made by Berkey and Gay. It is maple and the front is decorated with a carved eagle.

I know they are no longer in business, but would like to find out where they were located. Hope you can help me.

A. Berkey and Gay was one of the major furniture manufacturers in Grand Rapids, Mich. They made library, dining-room, living-room and colonial-revival furniture. Your desk was made in the early 1900s and would probably be worth about $450 to $550.

Q. I inherited a Wedgwood jasperware teapot. A friend told me that the color is known as primrose and the teapot was really old. It is in perfect condition and marked "Wedgwood - Made in England."

What can you tell me about my teapot?

A. If your friend defines "really old" as around 20 years, she is right on both counts. Wedgwood introduced primrose jasperware in 1976. Its value would probably be about $150 to $175.

Q. I have a Bozo the Clown doll that is approximately 30 years old. He is dressed in a blue with white polka-dot outfit and was made by Mattel. When a string in his back is pulled, he talks.

How much is my doll worth?

A. Bozo the Clown dolls. In excellent to mint condition, have been recently fetching $70 to $80 in antiques shops. Your doll has a crossover value. It would appeal to collectors of clowns, dolls or TV characters.

Q. I have a Royal Doulton plate with a scene of a man working on a chair while a woman and little girl watch. Next to them is an English cottage with a thatched roof.

Thank you for any information you can give me on this plate.

A. Your plate is an example of Royal Doulton's rustic series that featured homes and country scenes. Your plate was made sometime between 1949 to 1960. Its value would probably be about $65 to $85.

Address your questions to Anne McCollam, P.O. Box 490, Notre Dame, IN 46556. For a personal response, include picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped self-addressed envelope and $5 per item (one item at a time).

The bark beetle means imminent death for pine trees needles are turning brown, and I notice many small round holes in the bark. How can I solve this problem? I live in Walnut Creek, Calif.

A. The California five-spined bark beetle (Ips paucispinus) is the culprit. The area you live in is outside the native coastal range of Monterey pines and the hot summers and cold winters there stress the trees. Once a bark beetle finds a stressed Monterey pine, forget it - the tree is usually dead within a year.

Bark beetles are active year-round in California. The adult males drill very small holes in pine tree trunks and emit a pheromone that attracts female beetles which, in turn, lay eggs under the bark of the tree.

Both adults and larvae are thought to carry a fungus that clogs the tree's conductive tissue, causing the tree to die.

Once your tree is home to the bark beetles there is absolutely nothing you can do to stop the infestation.

If your pine needles are red, lime green or yellow and you notice the holes, you might just as well cut the tree down because death is imminent.

I suggest growing similar pines that are better adapted to the heat and cold of Walnut Creek and not so susceptible to bark beetle infestation. Good choices for planting are Aleppo pine, Canary Island pine and Italian stone pine. If you have Monterey pines that are not yet infested, keep the trees well watered and only prune between November and February when beetles are less active. For some reason, tree pruning attracts the beetles.

Tradition of the afternoon tea party makes a comeback set for her grandson, Cole French. French favors white linens, pointing out that they can be formal or informal.

"I work with a lot of Battenburg lace. I pick up a lot of my linens at flea markets and antique shops."

At her parties, French gives a 20-minute presentation on the history of tea.

"In my presentation, I start with the Chinese, where it all began; go all the way through Europe and back again to present times," French said.

Many of her parties are an elegant affair, such as the tea she served on her brother's 86-foot cruiser in the Bahamas, but French finds her tea parties are popular with with younger crowd as well.

"I bring the hats and gloves for the little girls. You can choose from themes like Alice in Wonderland, Beauty and the Beast and Beatrix Potter."

Alice in Wonderland is a favorite of hers because of all the wonderful characters.

"I like to read the story about Alice in Wonderland and explain the difference between Lewis Carroll's story and the Disney version, which is quite different."

For children's parties, she may select an apple cinnamon tea, decaffeinated, of course. "They enjoy the sugar lumps, sometimes three or four at a time," she says with a laugh.

French began her catering business last November after her children Brandon, Ryan and Melanie were grown. She still likes to pamper them by serving tea.

"I get tea served to me about once a week," says Melanie French, Mary French's daughter. "I really enjoy it, especially the pampering part and the leftovers."

Another special touch she adds are her desserts and breads, which are entirely homemade.

"Usually I bake scones of biscotti, which is an Italian biscuit," she said.

The younger crowd gets something a little different.

"Kids don't usually care for zucchini bread, so for them I might make a heart-shaped tea cake."

Desserts, however, are not the main focus of the affair. The tea is.

"The accent should be on the teas, not dessert. I want them to experience the tasting of the tea."

Her favorite to serve to adults is probably a breakfast blend or an Earl Grey. Black (tea) is usually too strong for people, she said.

Tea in a bag will do in a pinch, but French prefers to use loose teas.

"Anything in a bag gets dusting, and it dilutes the quality of the tea. It's not as pungent or high quality as loose leaf. I still use a bag sometimes. I'm as busy as anyone else."

What's the proper way to take tea? According to French, there's no wrong way, except to drink it the way you like it. In fact, that's the biggest misconception that she encounters.

"People think that tea has to be formal; it doesn't have to be. I can sit here and have a cup of tea and grab a cookie and relax."

The biggest difference that you will find in a more formal tea is what's being served, according to French.

"What we call a high tea is really not a formal tea. They call it afternoon tea (in England), and generally they have fancier desserts or they might serve champagne."

The other misconception she encounters is that men think tea is for ladies only. In most other countries of the world, it's the most consumed beverage, with water coming in at second place.

Some of French's regular customers include historical societies and libraries. She also does grand-ma and grandchild teas three times a year through Huron Valley Schools.

It seems that the popularity of tea is on the upswing. French dons her tea apron for one or two parties a week and frequently one during the weekend.

"To tell you the truth, I could keep it a lot busier, if it weren't for my full-time job," said French, who works in the clerk's office at White Lake Township hall.

Those interested in hosting their own tea party can schedule Miss Mary's Memories and Tea at (810) 698-2766, on 9391 Highland Road in White Lake.

overall, including such specialized rooms as a dentist office and movie theater. It has five floors, three elevators and 29 fireplaces.

During the late 1940s, the White House was in such disrepair an engineer surveying the then 150-year-old house said, "The only reason this house is standing is out of habit." A $6 million renovation project during the Truman administration corrected the problems.

After all the survey respondents submitted their opinion of the White House's current value, the average figure came in at $63.8 million.

More than 100 entries (value guesses) were received. The closest was $62,775,000. "Guesstimates" ranged from $5 million to more than $1 billion.

One entrant said, "I really think it would be impossible to put a real value on the White House. It's America. It's what the United States is." But he did guess a figure—$49 million.

George Pelton, a Coldwell Banker executive, said, "The White House is an international icon and is symbolic of everything America stands for. You can put a price tag on the White House, but it should never be sold."

The Homestead

Nestled in the rolling countryside of the Brighton area is a community where the discriminating home buyer can find suburban life in a quiet country scene.

Offering ranch homes from 1800 sq. ft. and other styles from 2000 sq. ft., these homes are set on sites with quiet meadows, rolling hills and woods. Each home comes completely landscaped and all share in 22 acres of park and nature corridors along with a community walkway.

All this and you can still enjoy the luxury and security of seeing your children to elementary school from your own private entry to the school yard.

So break away from the maddening pace and journey home to the Homestead on Hilton.

Eye doc Haag owns his own office building

By RICK BYRNE
Staff Writer

One downtown South Lyon business is doing things a little different from the rest, and the owner is finding it's given him a new road into the market.

Optometrist Dr. Roger Haag gives service much like you'd expect from an optometrist. He fits patients for glasses and contacts, and provides vision exams, and offers some special techniques and services. But Haag says his biggest advantage in gaining patients is the fact that he owns the building he operates from at 107 N. Lafayette St.

Office ownership is rare in the optometry business these days, he says, where the competitors are national chains who set up shop in malls and strip shopping centers. Haag contends, though, that those leased, high-visibility stores require a lot of overhead to run - a cost that gets passed on to the customer.

"Patients pay less for all services because they don't have to be charged extra to cover rent costs," Haag says. "This is why my office is downtown, discount every day. If people will compare our fees to the strip mall costs, they will save."

He points out that, unlike the chain operations which make customers scrounge for coupons and watch for sales, he's had the same price sign posted on his building for years. He offers single-vision glasses complete for $59, and bifocals for $79. He says these same glasses elsewhere could run as much as $100 to $200. Check our frame styles and quality before paying more for less elsewhere.

"People come back to our office from as far away as Jackson, Monroe and Fowlerville because of discount prices every day and the professional atmosphere," Haag says.

Dr. Haag says he likes to provide an unrushed exam, in which he uses what he calls his "show and tell" methods so the patient can see the difference between his or her old and new prescription before deciding to purchase new glasses or contacts. He's assisted by technician Susan Dunlap.

Dr. Haag's practice was established in 1981. Two years ago, he expanded the frame boutique area to offer a larger range of frames. He now claims to offer the largest frame selection in South Lyon, along with disposable and daily wear contacts. He offers frames for all budgets, and claims to provide higher quality and more current style than the chains can provide for the same - or higher - price.

"Soon after I put out my '$59 glasses complete' sign, a lady stopped in to see if the frame quality was as good as her Livonia optical location's 'discount frames,'" he says. "She has been driving there for years to save money. She was overjoyed at the stylish frames we can offer for $59. She has since referred her senior citizen friends to our office."

He adds that while there are some downsides to being a downtown office, he can usually win his customers over on price.

"A few people have mentioned parking would be easier if they could drive right up to my office if I were in the mall," he says. "When I explained to one gentleman that I owned my office building, which saves him money by not having to pay the high mall rent, he said, 'I'll walk half a block to your office any day to save over $100.'"

"People are so excited to discover us that sometimes I think we're the best-kept secret in South Lyon."

Dr. Haag warns that his hours are subject to change, so patients should call ahead for an appointment. He adds that the practice can be booked as much as a month ahead, but he can work people in that have an urgent need for help.

Hours are Mondays 9 a.m. to noon, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Thursdays 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. He also schedules Saturday patients from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Call 810-437-2002 for an appointment.

NOVENA to St. Jude. May the sacred heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved, and preserved throughout the world now and forever. Sacred Heart of Jesus, pray for us. St. Jude, worker of miracles, pray for us. St. Jude, helper of the hopeless, pray for us.

SAY this prayer 9 times a day; by the 9th day, your prayer will be answered. Publication must be promised. M.B.

MAXINE C. PARKER's family wishes to express their appreciation to all of you who have taken the time and made the effort to lend us their love and support.

The outpouring of your tender and loving expressions are a source of strength for us when we needed it the most.

Gratefully, Robert W. Parker and Family

Like Father, like Son

Together, young and old alike, are building better places to live.

And United Way is there too, supporting programs that help individual communities care for the elderly and educate the young, train local leaders and assist neighbors in need. We're enriching the lives of every generation—even those still to come.

It's more than a tradition. It's our future. Please support the United Way.

HOW TO WRITE AN OBITUARY FOR YOUR TEENAGER.

YOU sit and watch your child sleep. The hospital intercom serves as a constant reminder of where you are. You tuck in the blanket around his feet. He hasn't moved since you last tucked it in, but it gives you something to do. It's been two days since your child's friends carried him into the emergency room. The doctor says it's a losing battle. You're not ready for that.

✱ LISTING THE cause of death in the obituary is at the family's discretion.

When the hospital called, you thought it was a minor cut, another broken collarbone. The hospital nurse mentioned inhalants. That was a mistake, you thought. But you soon learned "sniffing" — inhaling household products to get high — was not a mistake. It was a habit. A habit that could've started with over 100 ordinary, everyday products like markers, correction fluid and spray paint. A habit that makes paraphernalia out of socks, soda cans, lunch bags. A habit that can damage the brain, heart, kidneys, liver. A habit that can even kill the very first time. You stare at your child, and wonder if maybe that wouldn't have been better.

✱ IT IS APPROPRIATE to include the child's nickname if well-known.

It's been 16 hours since your child was pronounced dead. The relatives you phoned didn't know about inhalants. It seems no one did. You haven't slept in two days but somehow, you keep going. Because you have a funeral to arrange. And people to console. And someone from the obituary section is on the phone. They need to know about the child you just lost.

✱ FAMILIES WILL often prefer to have the funeral home handle the obituary.

Could this be your child? We hope not. But inhalant abuse is on the rise. For more information about sniffing, please call 1-800-729-6686. There are signs to look for. You just need to know what they are. ☘

Certified Sales Consultants
All Champion sales consultants undergo an intensive training program to deal with customer's needs successfully, always keeping budget concerns in mind.

Easy On-Site Financing
Champion provides easy on-site financing with 13 accredited lending institutions to choose from and terms and payment tailored to fit your needs.

Warranty On All Vehicles
All vehicles under 100,000 miles and less than ten years old are covered by an extensive warranty. See dealer for details.

52-Point Mechanical Inspection
All vehicles undergo a rigorous 52-point inspection by factory trained, state certified, authorized technicians before going on sale.

Low Down Payments & Monthly Payments
Champion certified sales consultants work with you to arrange affordable down payments and monthly payments.

Poor Credit History?
Champion says "Yes" when others say "No". Credit specialists provide fresh-start financing despite divorce, lay-off or other past problems.

Welcome to Pumpkinfest '96

Welcome to Pumpkinfest, and meet our staff. Above is a picture of the hardest workers we have. These are the people who spend months working, so that you can have another great time at the festival. Just look for our orange, black and white jackets, and you will know you can get your problem taken care of. We may not have all the answers, but we are great at trying to get to the bottom of things, and helping everyone we can. That's our job. We love it!

This is the Pumpkinfest's 12th year, and we are still growing. You see a lot of new faces above, as we add to our staff every year. We also continually try to add to our events and entertainment. We welcome anyone and everyone to join us, and be a part of our organization. It's open to the public, and we look forward to new faces all the time. The more people who work together, the greater the ideas. Of course, that only makes for a greater festival, and we all want that.

One of the greatest things about Pumpkinfest is that it has something for everyone. All ages are included in some event or form of entertainment. We strive to keep this a family affair, and try hard to include everyone from tots to grandparents. We believe that the family atmosphere is what has kept Pumpkinfest thriving for all of these years. We offer activities for everyone, a carnival, contests, crafts, and any cotton - pumpkin - picken' little thing we can find for families to do. Please join us, and have a great time. We hope that this booklet will help you to schedule your events for the weekend, so you won't miss a thing.

Local farmers have plenty of our festival's namesake on hand this weekend. Visit the nearby farm for the freshest fruit.

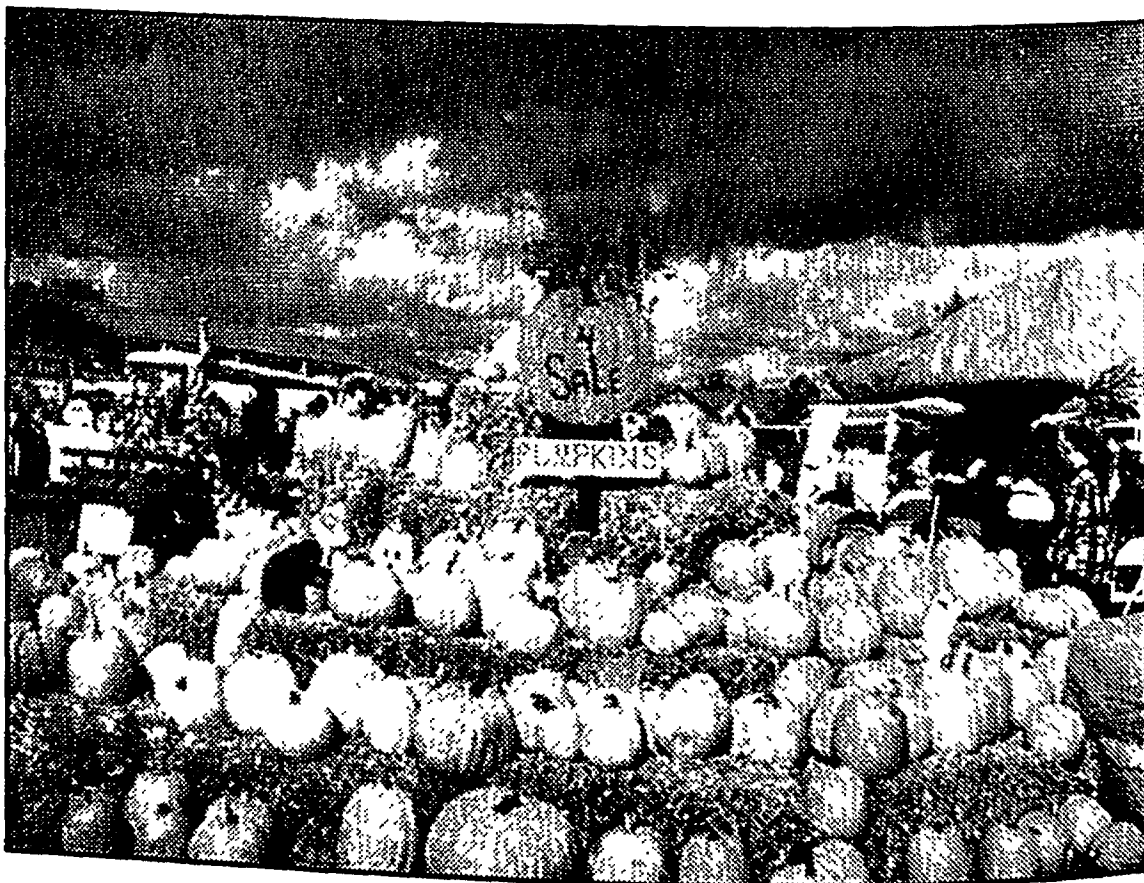

Farms load up with pumpkins-a-plenty

For the last seven years, when you come to the Pumpkin-fest, you see mounds and mounds of pumpkins. They get stacked on straw, placed between yard ornaments, painted and carved. Where do they come from?

Pumpkins

Well, thanks to the Driver's Berry Farm, located at 11805 Doane Road in South Lyon, we can see orange for miles. They not only have these orange marvels for you to buy and take home, but through their generosity, we have them donated to us for several of our events.

They have pumpkins and gourds of every size and shape you could imagine, and to help you to get your choice to your car, they will have a golf cart to deliver your pumpkin to whatever corner of the property you have parked on. That way you don't have to settle for the smaller one because it's easier to carry. They go the extra mile to make sure that your yard or porch has the size pumpkin you want!

Driver's Berry Farm has been in the South Lyon Business area for over thirty years, and this is only their eighth year with the pumpkin patch addition. However, it's to our advantage that they added that splash of orange in the red fields, as it has added plenty of personality to our festival.

Pumpkinfest contests open to all entrants

The South Lyon Area Pumpkinfest is proud to announce the addition of more family oriented activities.

This years Pumpkinfest will be Oct. 5-6, 1996. Pumpkinfest organizers are looking for families and children to participate in these activities.

■ A scarecrow contest for families will be held on Saturday Oct. 5. All scarecrows must be brought to the South Lyon Middle School sixth grade cafeteria between the hours of 8-9 p.m. Friday Oct. 4. The entire display must be confined to a 3' x 3' platform and be freestanding with no external props.

Organizers encourage you to be very creative as the only theme is Pumpkinfest. No candles will be permitted. All lights and motorized action must be battery operated. Judging will occur on Saturday.

■ Children get your Legos ready for the Lego Building Contest. This contest is open to children in preschool to sixth grade. The categories are: Preschool; K-1st; 2nd-3rd; and 4th-6th. There is no limit to the size or number of Legos that can be used. All Legos must be on a sturdy platform.

The completed work of art should be brought to the sixth grade cafeteria at Friday, Oct. 4 between the hours of 8-9 p.m. Any motorized or lighting action should be battery operated. The Lego sculptures will be judged on Saturday. They will be judged on originality, use of space and Legos, color and architectural design.

■ Children and adults may also participate in an Art Contest. This is open to every one. The categories are: Preschool; K-1st; 2nd-3rd; 4th-5th; 6th-8th; 9th-

Games & Contests

12th and adult. The work of art must be able to hang on a wall and all media are accepted.

The art work will be judged on Saturday based on originality, composition, colors, and creativity. The completed artwork should be brought to the Sixth Grade Cafeteria at the middle school Friday, Oct. 4 between the hours of 8-9 p.m. Art will be judged on Saturday.

■ Pumpkinfest also welcomes and encourages adults and children to participate in a Preserves and Canning Contest, Dried Flower Arrangement Contest and Baking Contest.

The preserves and canning contest will be judged on Saturday based on appearance, color, presentation, uniformity, and clarity.

The baking contest will be judged Saturday based on use of pumpkin in baked goods, color, texture, and taste. Please bring entries to the sixth grade Cafeteria at the middle school Friday, Oct. 4 between the hours of 8-9 p.m.

The Dried Flower Arrangement Entries must be made of all natural materials. These materials may be home grown or processed. You may include dried fruits and vegetables and minimal silk. Arrangements can be no larger than 2' x 2'.

Entries will be judged on Saturday based on presentation, color, form, creativity, originality, line and height. The completed arrangements should be brought to the sixth grade cafeteria at the Friday, Oct. 4 between the hours of 8-9 p.m.

■ The Drivers Berry Farm will be sponsoring this year's Pumpkin Judging Contest. All pumpkins should be brought to the information tent on Saturday, Oct. 5 between the hours of 9-10 a.m. Pumpkins will be judged on Saturday for the largest, longest, best decorated-painted and best decorated-carved.

■ There will also be a Pie Eating Contest for those who are very hungry.

NEW THIS YEAR

New this year is the Super Server of South Lyon Race (which will replace the waitress race).

Anyone can try their skill of balancing glasses on a tray while racing around an obstacle course. Another new race will be the tricycle race for toddlers—5 years of age. Must bring own tricycle and must wear a helmet.

There will also be a tricycle race for adults. Must bring your own tricycle either store made or home made. You must also wear a helmet in order to participate.

On all entries to all contests held in the sixth grade cafeteria, please attach a 3" x 5" card with the name of the entrant, age, grade, city, name of sculpture or artwork (if applicable), and ingredients (if applicable).

At the information tent there will also be a free pumpkin carving. Carve your pumpkin and take it home for Halloween. For crawling babies we have the Diaper Derby.

Please pick up all contest projects by Sunday, Oct. 6 AT 3:30 p.m.

Carnival & Crafts

There's something for everyone. Ride the rides, check out the crafts. You can be totally exhilarated on the ferris wheel, or get your Christmas shopping done. Either way, Pumpkinfest is the place to be.

Feeling lucky? Try the Lions' Vegas Night

Come to "Las Vegas Night" sponsored this year by the Lyon Area Lions Club on Oct. 5, from 6 p.m. till midnight at the South Lyon Hotel. Rules will be posted at each gaming table and you must be 21 years old to participate.

Proceeds from the event will be used primarily for eye care for the South Lyon Area residents, but also includes assistance for needy and worthy groups and individual causes.

So come join us for a spin of the wheel, a roll of the dice, or a hand of blackjack, it's bound to be an entertaining evening. And don't forget to bring that lucky rabbit's foot!

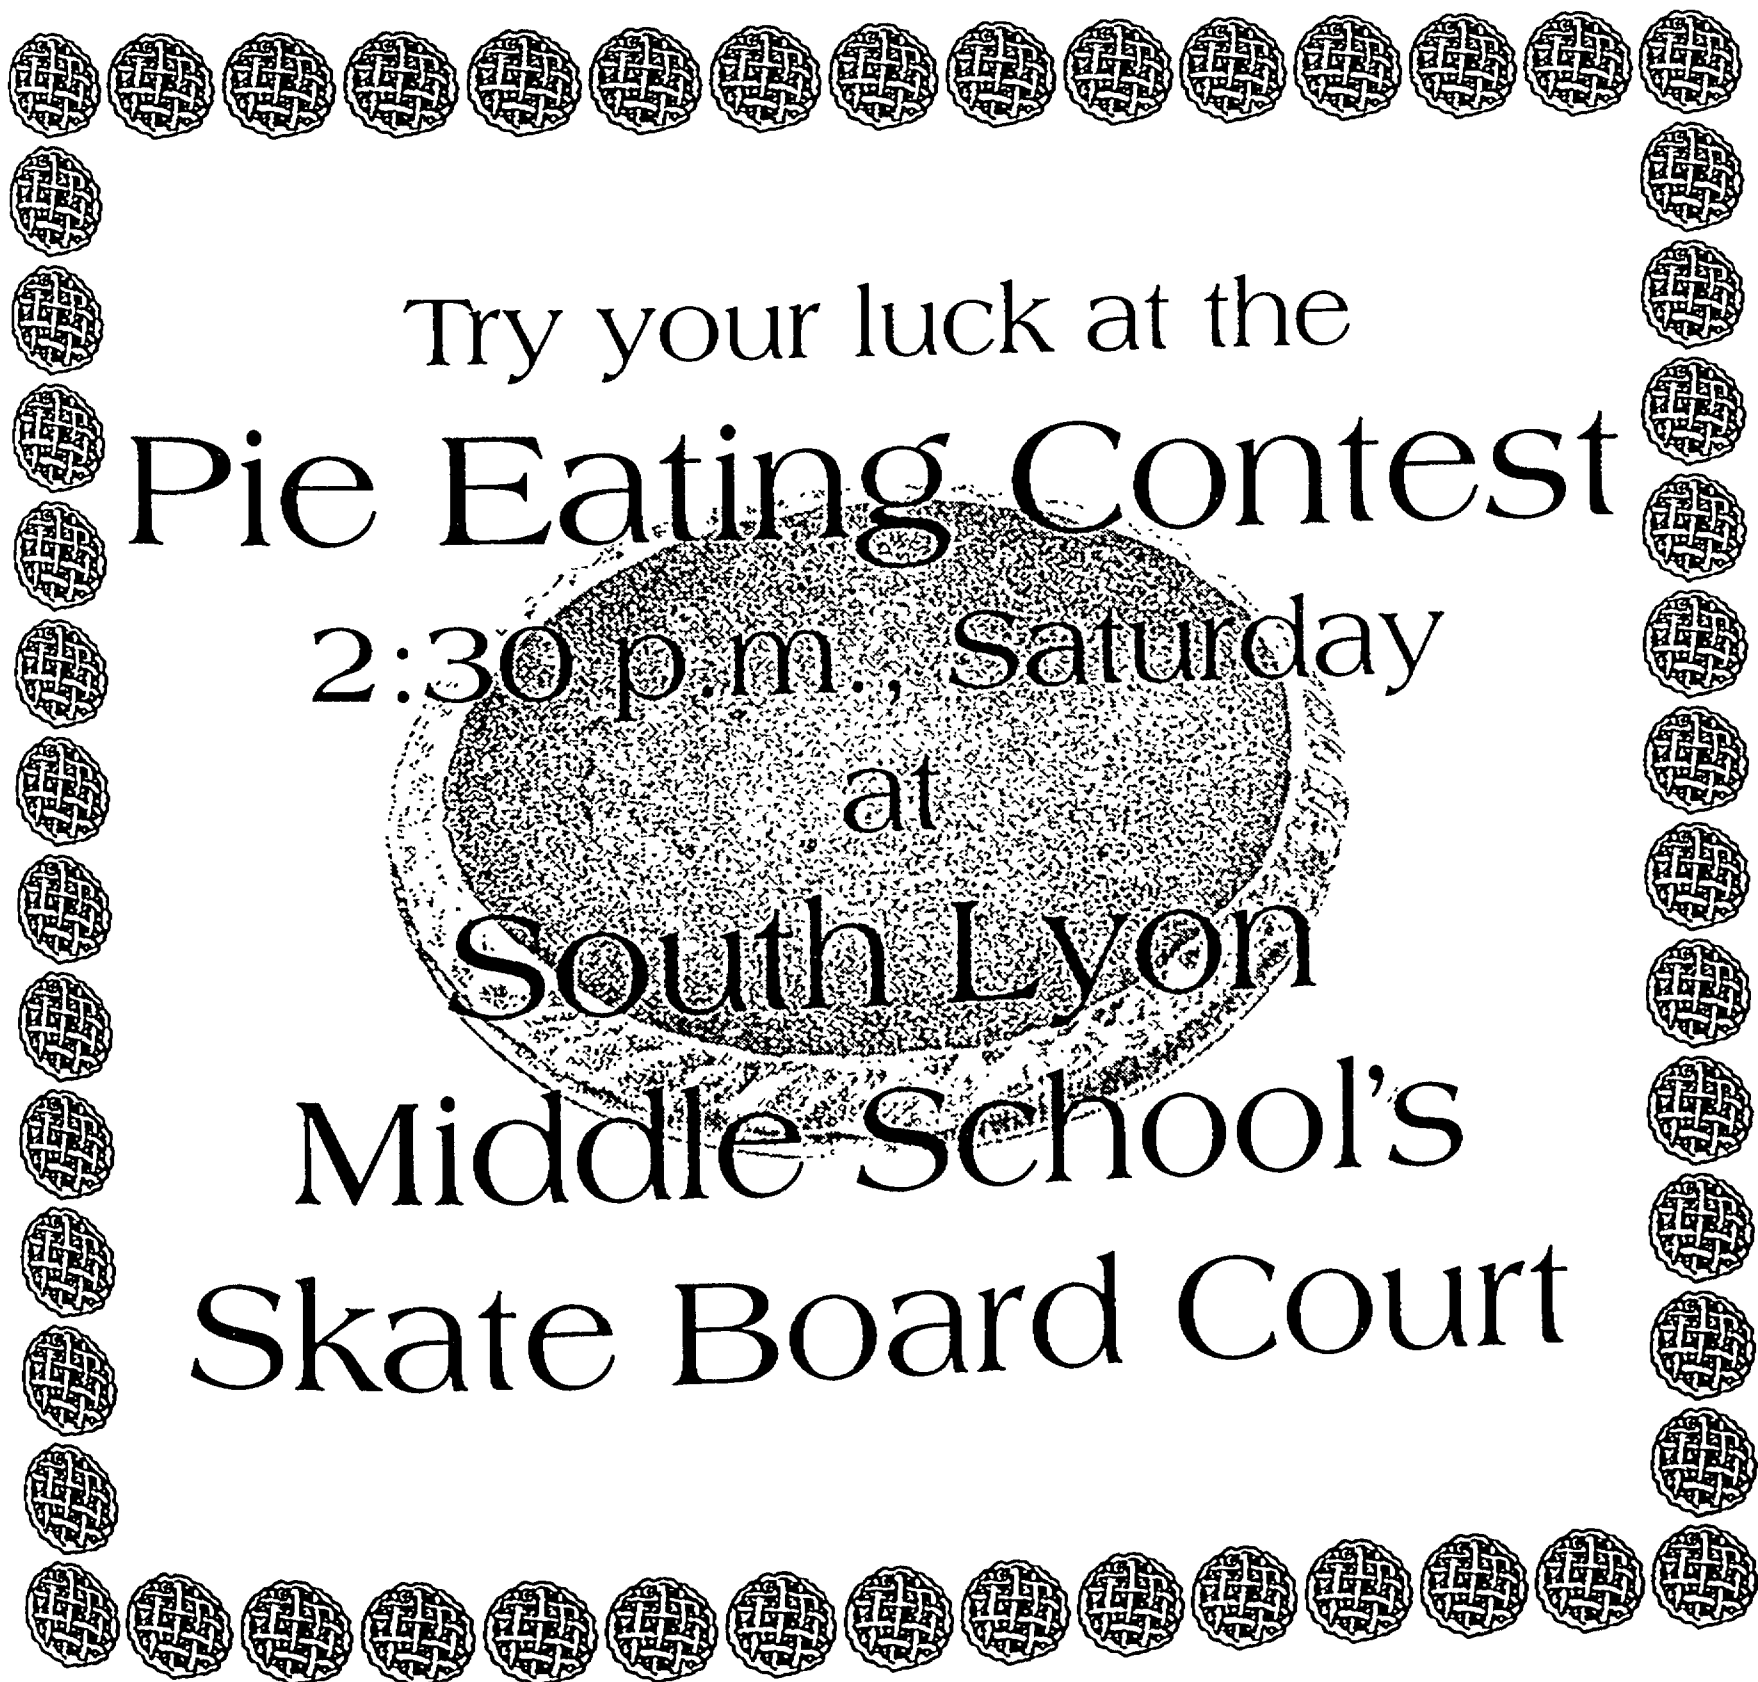

Craft show promises variety

Come and take in the wonderful home made crafts at the South Lyon Middle School. Take your time when browsing through the color and smell of the Pumpkinfest festivities.

The Pumpkinfest began as a craft show with just a few tables, and over the years has blossomed into a huge craft sale.

This year organizers expect over 200 crafters to offer their wares.

Many of the crafters returning this year have been with Pumpkinfest since its beginning 12 years ago.

Try your luck at the

The Pumpkin Police will be patrolling the grounds to serve and protect.

Pumpkin pals will be on patrol to help you

I'm not sure if we want to call these guys our "Pumpkin Police" or call the local guys on them, but to be honest, we can't do without them.

They're on our staff, and we honestly rely on them for all of the "heavy duty" problems and efforts we accomplish here at the festival.

Thanks to the use of the golf carts and gator from Driver's

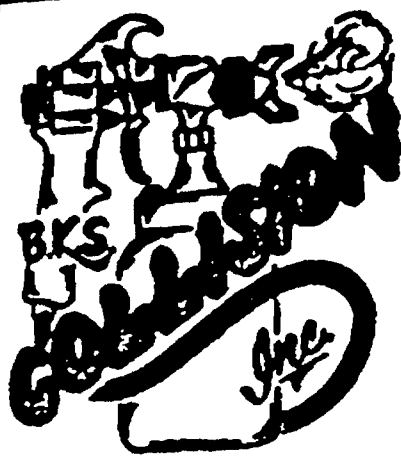

Pumpkinfest Staff

Berry Farm, and the use of a four-wheeler from Phil Lamoreaux, we can get a lot of things taken care of. The guys use these vehicles to haul your pumpkins to your cars, or transport someone who has trouble walking, or is sick or injured. We couldn't do without them. They offer conveniences that we couldn't have without them.

And just like the rest of the staff, they spent all year helping to arrange the festival to be the best ever.

Thanks, guys.

Event founded on family fun

By Taylor Lincoln

Like pumpkins that grow and grow and grow, the Pumpkinfest has grown and grown and grown since the first seeds were planted 11 years ago.

Dayna Johnston, the chairperson's of last year's festival, remembers Pumpkinfest's first year. It consisted of a spaghetti dinner with crafters and pony rides.

Since then, it's grown to include many more crafters, a parade, a carnival, and a plethora of contests.

But the purpose of the event has not wavered. Johnston says that when the late Dean Sparks came up with the idea for Pumpkinfest, he envisioned it as an event to encourage family values.

And that's still the purpose.

"The concept of the Pumpkinfest is that families could come for less than $10 have have a good time," Johnston says.

Inexpensive family entertainment is one of the hallmarks of the event. Only the carnival costs money to enter (and there's a coupon to knock its cost down). Everything else — including a pumpkin ple-eating contest, a scare-crow decorating contest, and a Lego constructing contest (among other contests) — is free.

Crafts have always been the centerpiece of the festival, and many of the crafters have been part of it from its beginnings.

"We've got crafters who've been with us for 11 years," Johnston says.

More than just to give crafters a chance to sell their products, or to give people a chance to adorn their living rooms with creative ornaments and decorations, the craft sales offer local organizations a chance to make money for their needs.

Pumpkinfest is also designed to help raise money for local organizations. Various local groups reap the revenues from handling parking and selling concessions.

"It's to help build their organizations so that they don't have to pull on the businesses in town," Johnston says.

As you take care of your leaves this fall, please remember to take proper care of needless waste.

Puppets and adults played out a skit performed by the Crossroads Community Church at the 1995 Pumpkinfest, and return this year.

Church hosts puppet shows

A unique puppet show will be presented by the Crossroads Community Church on Saturday, Oct. 5, and Sunday Oct. 6, at the South Lyon Middle School.

The shows will go on from 10 a.m. to closing on Saturday and Sunday.

Crossroads Community

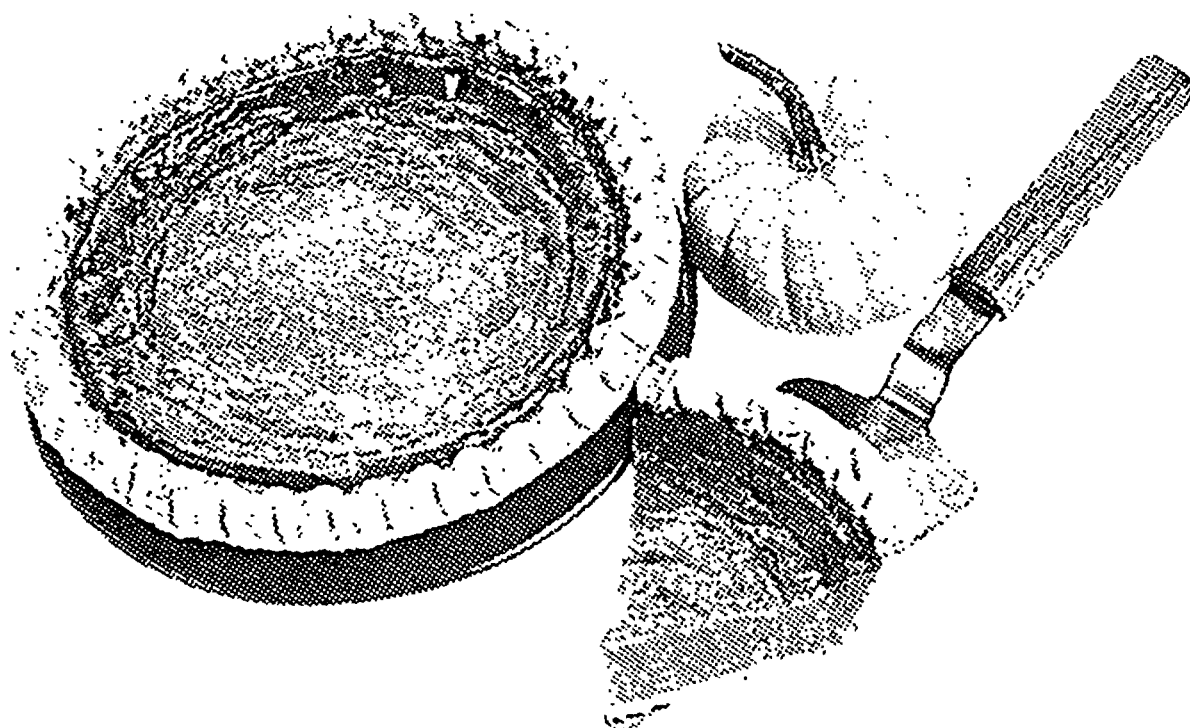

Puppet Shows

Church was established just three years ago. Contemporary music, meaningful dramas and relevant messages are used to address the concerns of everyday life. The truths of the Christian faith are presented in a unique and fresh format.

Nursery is provided every Sunday as well as a special service for children.

Crossroads meets at 10 a.m. Sunday morning at the South Lyon High School.

The Civil Air Patrol got an up-close look at an F-18 on a recent excursion.

SixGate Cadets pitch in Greetings, my name is Patrick Gorman, and I live in the South Lyon area. I'm also a second lieutenant in the United States Civil Air Patrol (CAP). Over the past couple of years many people have asked me "What is the Civil Air Patrol?" With all the publicity of the Michigan Militia, and the military in the Middle East and Bosnia, I find myself telling people what CAP isn't, instead of what it is all about. So, I have asked a couple of cadets from the South Lyon area to help me.

Civil Air Patrol

CIVIL AIR PATROL IS NOT:

- part of the Michigan Militia
- performing active duty within any branch of the U.S. Military
- does not receive pay for services - or time rendered

- we are not "military wanna-be's" plating games
- we have no law enforcement capacity
- we are not part of the boy/girl scouts
- we are not a military academy or school.

CIVIL AIR PATROL IS:

- a place where boys and girls ages 12-21 can learn leadership skills and discipline
- a place to learn about airplanes and how they fly
- a division of the air force, all volunteer
- a place to learn first aid (including CPR) and emergency services, where they can learn how to fly airplanes
- the group that gets called to assist in finding

- the group that gets called to assist in finding aircraft / pilots, lost campers and hunters, assist in natural disasters and community events
- a place where you can learn to advance your education and training for the future.

In reality, Civil Air Patrol is all of these things and more. Here in the South Lyon area we meet every week on Tuesdays. Our group has both boys and girls from the age of 12-21, and senior members are 21 and up.

All of our members spend time learning, and are certified in first aid. We are all volunteers, but not all are pilots. Our senior members are interested in helping our young people learn more and be prepared for life as they grow.

In the past, our group and the other surrounding groups have helped in areas such as looking for the downed helicopter last winter. Over 200 CAP personnel were involved for over a week, and it was a group of cadets and senior members from Pontiac that were first on the scene when the pilot and helicopter were found.

We were there to help when Northwest Airlines flight 255 crashed at Metro Airport.

We have been there to help loading and unloading for crafters of Pumpkinfest for the last several years, as well as traffic control.

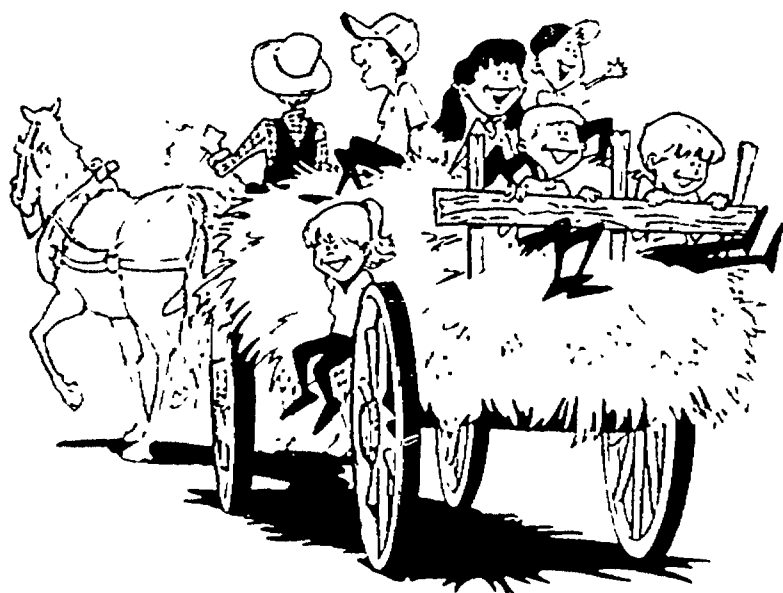

We have helped with the "Walk America" for the March of Dimes organization the past few years in Farmington.

The list goes on, but the most important fact is that we are here to help, and it's the cadets that come to the South Lyon area, Brighton, Farmington, Novi, Redford, Pontiac, Willow Run, and others that make the program such a success.

In the Novi Sixgate squadron, our cadets are building model airplanes that they will fly by radio remote control, flying (with a certified instructor) real airplanes (Cessna 172's) every month, practicing marching skills, learning safety and aerospace. We are currently planning a trip to the Air Force Museum for later this fall. The cadets work hard at it, but they are having a lot of fun, too.

If you are interested in joining the Civil Air Patrol as a cadet or senior member, please stop by our booth at the Pumpkinfest and talk to one of us, or call me at 810-437-6884, and you can start today to have fun and learn more new things for your future.

Chamber adds categories to merchants' window contest

By Jim Totten

South Lyon area businesses stand a better chance to win in the annual Pumpkinfest window decorating contest.

Why?

Because there are now four categories.

In prior years, the the contest only measured the best overall with first, second and third place winners. This year, businesses will be judged for the following:

- painted window
- non-painted window
- team effort
- best overall

Lisa Willard, South Lyon Area Chamber of Commerce executive director, said the best overall winner will display the large traveling trophy in the his or her business until next year's Pumpkinfest. The other winners will receive plaques.

Willard said the contest was changed because some people raised concerns about fairness. In prior years, certain businesses had paid people with artistic skill to paint their windows and won.

With a team-effort category, Willard said a business can be rewarded for a creative idea even if the participants are not top-notch painters.

The contest's goal, however, remains the same.

Willard said the chamber sponsors the event so businesses will "make our town as attractive as possible" for Pumpkinfest, which draws thousands of people into town.

A business can decorate the window or set up an outdoor display.

There is no specific theme to the contest, but Willard suggests staying close to a pumpkin or fall theme and adding a touch of local flavor.

Participants must register by 2 p.m. on Oct. 2.

Register by mailing in the contest flier to South Lyon Area Chamber of Commerce, 214 S. Lafayette. Or call the chamber office at 810-437-3257 or fax it to 810-437-4116.

Judging will take place on Oct. 3 at 8 a.m.

The color guard leads the way for the 1995 Pumpkinfest Parade.

What a better way to start the weekend than with a wonderful parade.

At right is just one of the many vehicles we've had in our parades. Ole Hagen is our parade director, and has been for many, many years. He strives to put on the best of the best, and he usually succeeds.

Our parade has floats, dancers, scouts, servicemen, and much, much more. We encourage every business and organization to be a part of this extravaganza. There's no better way to go than to start off with all of the excitement of the parade. Please join us by watching or participating. We welcome everyone.

Horse owners sought to join in the celebration

The South Lyon Pumpkinfest Parade scheduled for Oct. 5 adds a new prize category for Equine Parade competition.

South Lyon is well-known by members of the horse community (horse enthusiasts) for its large number of horses representing the most popular breeds and horse activities.

There have been many National Champion and Top 10 Horses in South Lyon and surrounding communities representing the major breeds of horses.

Parade organizers would like to see South Lyon showcase different horse breeds and activities of local horses as does the Tournament of Roses Parades in Pasadena, Calif.

Judging of Pumpkinfest parade horses will be at the staging area located at the 700

Parade

Bowl on Pontiac Trail, prior to step-off time at 10 a.m. Equine competitors must receive a position number to be judged and must remain in that position throughout the parade.

Horses will be judged on the basis of grooming, manners, safety and attractive presence. A Trophy will be awarded for both Horse Drawn Vehicles and for Equestrian units.

Horse units who provide their own clean up will be placed throughout the parade, while those without will be positioned toward the end.

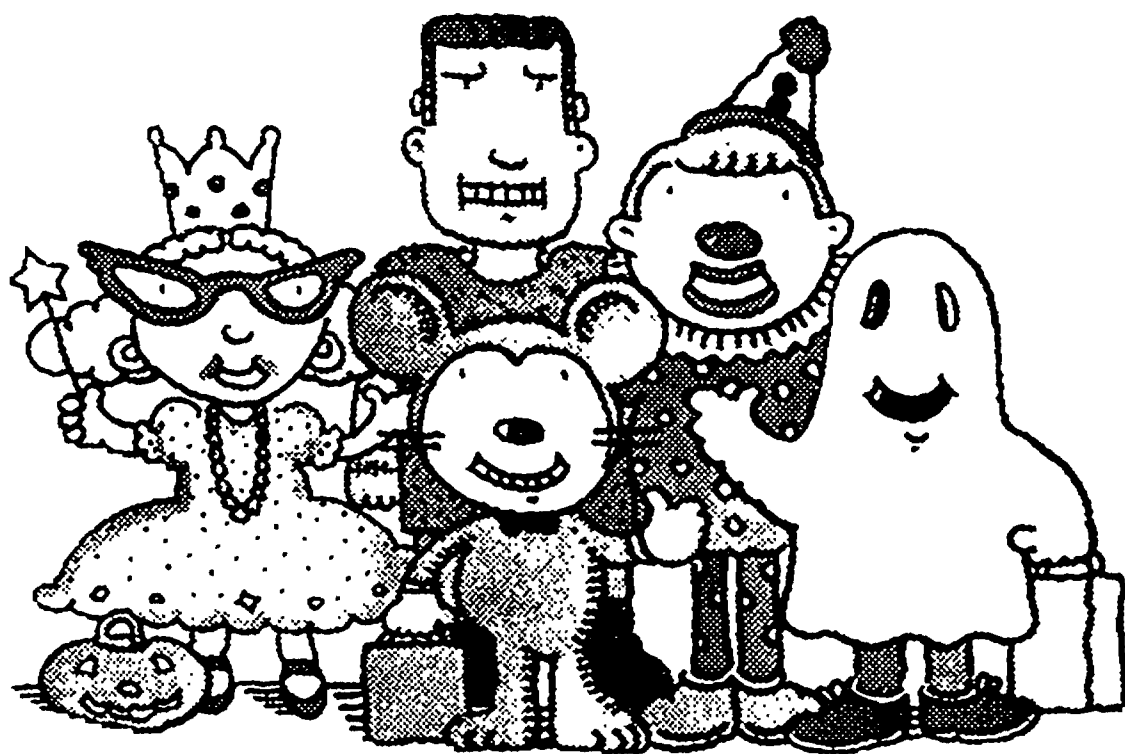

Past participants in Pumpkinfest parades include Harmony Acres Arabians and Hobby Horse Arabians of Salem, Westly Rogalski of Warland Farms in Brighton, Don Read's Draft Horses and Wagon, Bob Pregitzer's Belgian Draft Horses with Wagon, Ken and Tracy Jones's Horse and Buggy, Mike Clan-closi of Happy Trails Draft Horses in Belleville, and others.

Experienced equine paraders consider South Lyon a "horse friendly" parade with crossing the railroad tracks being the main consideration that new paraders may wish to practice beforehand.

Nancy Harm of Harmony Acres Arabians who has participated in over 80 parades, including America's Thanksgiving Day Parade in Detroit, suggests playing tape recordings of band music and other parade sounds such as sirens to inexperienced horses beforehand to habituate the animals to what they may encounter during a parade. She also advises a grounds person or escort accompany equines during parades.

Anyone who has questions regarding preparing their horse for the Pumpkinfest Parade may call Nancy Harm at 810-437-5672. For an application or general parade information call Ole Hagen 810-437-9158.

Pumpkinfest takes a year-round effort

Not only do we keep busy at Pumpkin time, but turn us loose at Christmas and what do you get? You get a terrific gingerbread float to put in the downtown parade.

Our committee really worked hard this year to put together this float, and we had a terrific time doing it. We don't stay in the fruit cellars between festivals!

Though the group plans year-round for its annual fall shindig, the group also performs numerous community services, and is rather shy about taking credit for it.

You may find the Pumpkinfest Board hanging American flags from the downtown lampposts at holiday time. Or running an annual Halloween party at the South Lyon city fire station.

When families get burned out of their homes, Pumpkinfest has gotten them blankets, food, and even clothes. The group has helped the National Honor Society at the high school. When the football team had pay-to-play, it paid for some of the football players to play if they couldn't afford to."

In past years, the Pumpkinfest Board has helped send handicapped children to camp from the community. They've helped put playground equipment in at the schools, and would like to do the same for the city parks.

The group welcomes help and input at any time. Meetings are 7:30 p.m. the third Thursday of every month in the lounge at the 700 Bowl.

Server Race opened to all entrants – even non-servers

As you sit in your favorite South Lyon eatery, have you ever wondered what it would be like to balance a tray full of drinks and dodge various obstacles?

If so then this is the race for you. It will be held on the SLMS roller blade courts on Saturday, October 5th at 3:30 pm. Anyone may participate. There will be participation ribbons for all and special awards for the winners. The overall winner will be dubbed the Super Server of South Lyon.

Super Server Race

You do not need to be a wait-person to participate, the race is open to the public.

Kiwanis to host pancake breakfast

Pancakes will be flipping off the griddle and into hungry mouths on both Saturday and Sunday at the South Lyon Pumpkinfest.

The South Lyon Kiwanis will be putting on a pancake breakfast to benefit charitable organizations in the area.

The all-you-can-eat pancake event will be held 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., at the sixth grade cafeteria of the South Lyon Middle School.

After the breakfast, residents can then stroll around the middle school grounds to check out the Pumpkinfest festivities.

Enjoy all that fall in

File Photo

Do you have a little person in your home that isn't walking yet? Someone who just crawls around and probably quite well.

Well, this is just the race for you. Bring your little super crawling heros over here, and lets see their stuff! This race is for the daring diapered darling who can do 90 on your shiny floors at home. Lets see whaat they can do here at our derby.

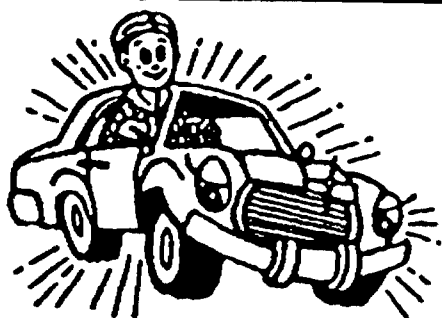

On Sunday at 1 p.m., the Pumpkinfest will host the 12th annual diaper derby, a speed contest for crawling babies only. Parents are invited to bring their creeping kids to Room 130 at South Lyon Middle School 15 minutes before the competition begins

Each baby entered will receive a participation ribbon. A set of prizes will be awarded to the best boy and best girl crawlers.

Sponsor of this event is Country Water.

Potter Park Zoo brings sampling of critters

The Potter Park Zoo and its vast array of animals will be on hand again for the 1996 Pumpkinfest.

Potter Park Zoo

Located in Lansing at 1301 S. Pennsylvania Ave., five miles from downtown Lansing, the Potter Park Zoo is one of that city's premier attractions.

The zoo was a donation from James W. Potter in 1913, although it wasn't dedicated until 1918. The zoo's first residents were a raccoon, an elk, and a deer.

Today the Potter Park Zoo boasts more than 400 animals representing over 100 different species, including many endangered species.

As part of its educational outreach, the zoo will bring a sampling of critters to the Pumpkinfest at South Lyon Middle School in the 6th Grade Hall.

Viewing will be from 10 a.m. to closing on Saturday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday of the festival.

The zoo also offers an adult lecture series and children's day camps that teach children how to care for all kinds of animals. For details, call 517-371-3926.

1996 Pumpkinfest shirts feature one-of-a-kind color

Well, you've bought our shirts in white, you've bought them in forest green, but wait till you see our news ones! They not only have our new design on them, but the color will be one of a kind.

Notice we didn't tell you what the color was? Well, you'll have to come and see them to believe them. Check them out at the information desk.

Children's games offered at the information tent

Are your little ones getting bored?

Bring them by the Pumpkinfest information tent for some fun. There will be a bean bag toss through the pumpkin's face, a floating pumpkin pond and finding a pumpkin in the sawdust pit.

The cost is twenty-five cents per game, and the children will win a prize every time. These games will be available for children 8 and under to play all day on Saturday Oct. 5, and Sunday, Oct. 6.

IONITRIDING® and PRECISION HEAT TREATING

The Largest Commercial Source for Salt Bath Heat Treating and Ionitriding in the U.S.

Ionitriding
What Is It?

A new and highly developed process for surface hardening: engineering components of alloy steel or cast iron can be given greater wear resistance and durability. The hardening takes place in the plasma of a current intensive glow discharge. Nitrogen or other elements with good diffusibility are diffused into the surface of the workplace. There is a great variety of treatments possible.

The Principal Advantage of Ionitriding:

To a large extent, the structure, thickness, hardness, and homogeneity of the compound and diffusion zones can be controlled independently of each other. This allows the optimum properties to be produced to suit the service requirements. Wear of moving parts is greatly reduced and the fatigue strength is significantly increased.

Pumpkinfest welcomes two new fun activities

Kids and grown-ups can try tricycle race

The once-popular tricycle race will be returning to Pumpkinfest this year.

On Saturday, Oct. 5 at 1 p.m. the youngsters will run. Bring your child toddler to age 5 to the roller blade court at SLMS. You must bring their own tricycle/big wheels and a HELMET! Participation ribbons will awarded to all who participate with special ribbons going to the winners of specific age groups.

We will also have an Adult Tricycle Race this year. This race is for adults who feel young at heart. They will race on Sunday at 2:30 pm, the location of this race will be announced, report to the roller blade courts if interested. You must bring your own tricycle, either store bought or homemade, and you MUST wear a HELMET!

No helmet, no participation, whether adult or child!

Petting farm puts kids up close to animals

Have you ever wondered what it would be like to pet and feed a farm animal?

Then the Barnyard Express is for you. Visit the Barnyard Express on Sunday, Oct. 6, located behind the information tent. They will be there from 1-4:30 p.m., during this time there will be three 20-minute shows to explain about the animals, and to answer any questions you or your little ones might have.

The animals will then be available for petting and maybe even feeding, if they are hungry!! So bring your little ones and jump aboard the Barnyard Express.

RECYCLING

Recycling is good for the environment, and helps conserve precious resources. Most of the waste haulers which serve this community offer curbside recycling, but if yours doesn't, there are recycling centers nearby, some of them open 24 hours.

When using a 24-hour facility, recycling companies ask that you adhere strictly to the directions provided there. Failure to do so results in what is called "contamination" of an entire load of recyclables. The entire bin must then be landfilled, which defeats the whole purpose of recycling.

Here are the locations and guidelines for recycling centers in our communities.

Salem Township: Residents can go to BFI's Arbor Hills landfill office, the restored white house on Six Mile Road, west of Napier, to dispose of recyclables. You must show a driver's license to prove residency. Township residents may also dump trash for free there. Recycling center hours are Mondays through Fridays, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and there are 24-hour bins to accept common recyclables like Nos. 1 and 2 plastic, aluminum, glass, cans, and newspapers.

Northfield Township: A 24-hour bin is located at Fire Station No.
2, on North Territorial Road west of Spencer. It accepts common recyclables like Nos. 1 and 2 plastic, aluminum, glass, cans, and newspapers. Instructions are posted there as to what is acceptable and what is not.

South Lyon and Lyon Township:
The city and township share a 24-hour bin, located in the parking lot across the street from the city Fire Station on Whipple Street. It accepts common recyclables like Nos. 1 and 2 plastic, aluminum, glass, cans, and newspapers. Instructions are posted there as to what is acceptable and what is not

For information on more difficult-to-recycle items like batteries, motor oil, Nos. 3 through 7 plastic and magazines, call your local municipal office, or call BFI's Arbor Hills recycling center at 810-349-7230, or Recycle Livingston 517-548-4439.

Flower shop owner uses the golden rule in business

By Rick Byrne

Pat Fielding believes that what goes around comes around, and now the honors have come around to rest on her head.

Fielding's flower shop, Pat's Field of Flowers, was recently named the Business of the Year by the South Lyon Area Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber selects the honored business based on consistent, courteous service and participation in the community. Fielding, who is president of the chamber for 1996, expressed pleasure at the award.

"I'm very honored. I was very surprised," she said. "I like to treat people the way I like to be treated. I do try to go out of my way to make everybody happy and treat everybody the way I like to be treated when I go into a business."

Fielding particularly enjoys her involvement in the chamber, and foresees a year of growth, both in membership and involvement for the group.

"I'd like to see us keep our membership growing," Fielding said. "We want to make as many benefits as possible to our members."

When it comes to plain, old showing up, Fielding leads by example. At every chamber event, civic function and city council meeting, Fielding and her chamber predecessor, Pat Guy, were among the faces in the crowd.

"That's all you hear about is Pat and Pat, all the time," she said of her cohort. "Pat Guy did a great job, and she really laid down some good groundwork for me to step into."

Fielding takes the helm of the board as a five-year veteran among the chamber's leaders. She joined the chamber when she first opened the doors of her business almost seven years ago.

The floral business runs deep in her family. Fielding herself worked in a flower shop before she was married, and her father tended them for pleasure.

When her sons grew up and married, she decided it was a business she wanted to pursue. Her shop is located in the Brookdale Square shopping plaza on Pontiac Trail. In addition to a full line of floral services - weddings, funerals, special occasions - Fielding will come to people's homes and design floral accents for their home decor.

"I enjoy all the facets of it," she said. "I use my creativity, I love being around people, and I love pleasing people."

"It's a very rewarding business. Oh, it has its bad times and sad times, but mostly when people think of flowers, they smile."

Her vision of South Lyon is a cheery one, too. She likes the new projects like the rails-to-trails bike path, and the way the private sector has supported that project with tie-ins to new housing developments.

"In the South Lyon business community, a lot of retailers are realizing the potential of the town," she said. "The city and the schools have come together on their new building, so they have a good thing going."

And with the Downtown Development Authority, if everybody thinks positive, things will go well. I think that will happen because everybody's energies are headed in the right direction."

The South Lyon Area Chamber of Commerce each year honors and recognizes the outstanding contribution to the community provided by a selected organization, business and individual. The chamber's annual Community Appreciation Award winners are featured on this page and the following two.

Christmas in April lends a helping hand

By Kimberlee Charchan

Giving is the best gift of all and a group of volunteers gave their time and equipment to make Christmas In April a great success, but now those volunteers are getting a gift of their own.

Christmas In April is the South Lyon Chamber of Commerce's 1996 Organization Of The Year.

"I was tickled, it's such a nice thing for Christmas In April, it's a very deserving program," Lyon Township Treasurer Pat Carcone, an organizer of the program said.

The program helped Virginia Bell this year. Fifteen volunteers helped remodel her mobile home. They did everything from painting and yard work, to re-siding her home, to repairing her porch.

"People are so generous you would really be surprised," Carcone said. "In our whole area someone gave something. I was so impressed with our whole area."

Christmas In April started in Oakland County three years ago. It started in South Lyon in 1995.

Volunteers numbering 1,300 helped refurbish 23 houses in Oakland County this year. Everything is donated, from labor, to food, to materials.

Organization of the Year

Christmas In April volunteers repair a mobile home in New Hudson someone," said Carcone. "This is something I don't have to give money to. I give myself, my heart and my hands. Those are things I can do all on my own."

Low-income residents who meet the criteria are eligible for the program. Organizers call churches, senior centers and community education authorities to find those who want and need a helping hand.

Carcone said, "You can volunteer in this program and do something without giving money ... people can give of themselves ... and to help somebody in your own community, that's a plus."

A breakfast is held the first Tuesday in April to help fund the program. Any materials not donated are bought with the money raised.

Next year, organizers hope to find a home to refurbish in the area.

If you want information on Christmas In April, call Township Treasurer Pat Carcone at 437-2240.

The South Lyon Chamber of Commerce honored Christmas In April participants May 15, during its 1996 Community Appreciation Awards.

Harris makes Jaycees his springboard to involvement

By Rick Byrne
and Jim Totten

People may wonder when Mike Harris gets a chance to sleep.

As the South Lyon Area Chamber of Commerce's Individual of the Year, Harris has performed a great deal of volunteer service to the community in the last year. As president of the South Lyon Jaycees, Harris has had a hand in practically everything the group does.

He's been involved with the organization ever since it was resurrected in South Lyon five years ago. He took over as president last spring.

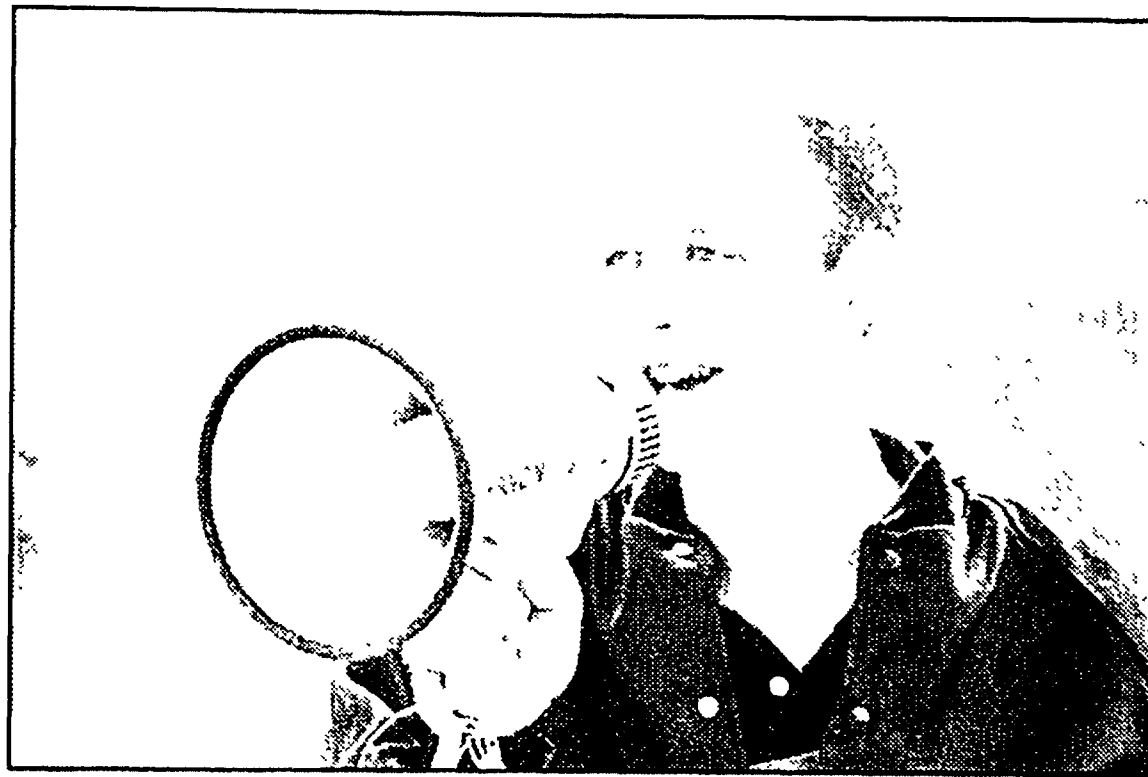

He and wife, Sabrena, like the community involvement they can accomplish through the Jaycees, and the group has also helped them to grow in their personal lives.

As a Jaycee, Mike has helped distribute food with Active Faith to the needy in the area, build and operate a successful haunted house and helped organize an Easter Egg hunt. He has also participated in the community cleanup, Christmas in April, Special Olympics and Concerts in the Park.

He's also not shy about pitching in to help other service organizations in town. He's volunteered for Pumpkinfest and the Lion's Club's Vegas Night. He's even helping the city by going door to door as part of its 1996 Census.

"The reason why I like the Jaycees more than anything else is that you can do anything you want," Harris said.

He said some members like to be involved in all the events while others prefer to help just on certain events.

Mike Harris organizes this year's Easter Egg Hunt.

Individual of the Year

Harris is proud of his involvement with the annual haunted house. He served as chairperson for the first haunted house, which began with a $500 budget.

The group ended up raising $50,000, of which $26,000 was profit. The funds helped the Jaycees put on other events in town, including the Concerts in the Park and the donation of turkeys to the needy at Thanksgiving.

"The Jaycees have given me a ton of experience that my business benefits from," he said. He's general manager of J. Chain Oil in Wixom.

He has applied organizational skills he learned as a Jaycee to his business, which has undergone substantial growth. He has also become much better at dealing with people, he said.

"I enjoy when someone calls to complain about something," Harris said.

The Jaycees also benefit from the connection to Chain Oil. The company has many times provided soft drinks, allowed members to use its phones, or loaned the group a truck to use for an event.

"We'd like to encourage people to be involved in the community, whether through the Jaycees or any other group," Harris said. He's fond of reminding people that it's only an excuse when people say they're too busy.

"It's a decision on how you spend your time."

CUSTOM QUALITY CABINETS WITHOUT THE CUSTOM PRICE

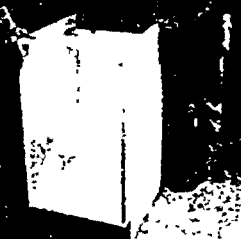

- Lifetime warranty
- Made in America

- A. Cabinets are constructed of 3/4" furniture-grade board. Compare to our competitors' 1/2" thick.
- B. 3/4"-thick adjustable shelves with steel shelf pins.
- C. Drawer box glides silently on nylon rollers.
- D. Cabinet edges are protected from moisture by melamine banding.
- E. Exclusive drawer system features steel sides with baked-on epoxy coating and 1/2" melamine-faced bottom panel.
- F. 6-way, all-metal hinges for perfect alignment and a lifetime of service.
- G. Easy-to-Clean, stain resistant laminated interiors.

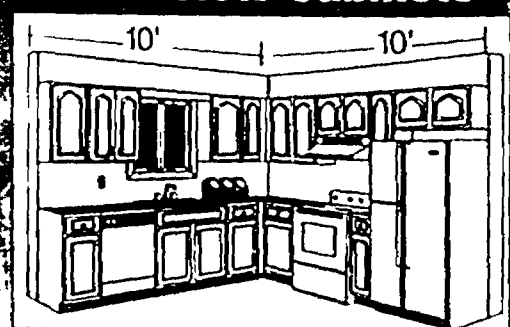

They're unassembled and flat packed for easy hauling and handling. One person can carry an entire kitchen.

They're easy to assemble using just a screwdriver. A cabinet goes together in about 5 minutes.

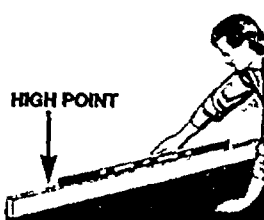

We've Made It Easy to Estimate the Cost of Your New Cabinets

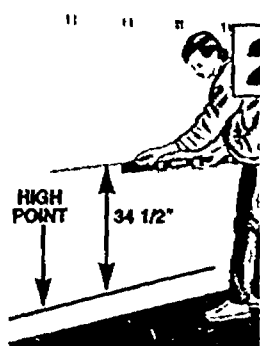

- Using a standard L-shaped 20 linear foot sample kitchen, we've calculated a complete kitchen cabinet price for many of the cabinet styles you'll see in this catalog.
- Your actual cost will vary depending on your actual specifications and the options you choose. Countertop, fixtures and appliances are sold separately.
- This a great tool for comparing the cost of different cabinet styles and brands.

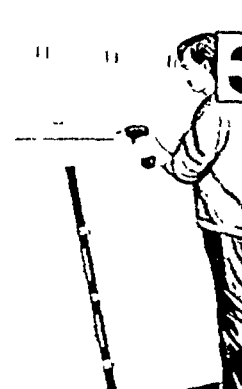

1 Sand rough spots. Locate and mark wall studs. Find the high point along the floor that will be covered by base cabinets. Place a level on a long, straight 2x4, and move it across floor to determine if the floor is uneven. Mark wall at high point of the floor.

2 Measure up 34 1/2" at high point mark. Use a level and mark a base cabinet line. This line must be level. Measure up 19 1/2" from the 34 1/2" base cabinet line and mark a ledger board line. Install 1x3 temporary ledgers with top edge flush against ledger line.

3 Attach ledgers with 2 1/2" wallboard screws driven into every other wall stud. Mark the stud locations on the ledgers. The cabinets will rest temporarily on the ledgers during installation. Cabinets must be hung level and plumb so it's a good idea to double-check measurements.

1 Corner cabinets should always be installed first. Position cabinet on ledger and drill 3/16" pilot holes through the hanging strips in the top and bottom of the cabinet back. Use screws long enough to extend 1" to 1 1/2" into the stud.

2 Position adjoining cabinet on ledger against corner cabinet. Check face frame for plumb, drill 3/16" pilot holes through hanging strips. Attach cabinet to the wall. Use handscrew clamps to clamp corner and adjoining cabinet together.

3 Clamp face frames together and drill counterbored pilot holes through face frame side, join cabinets. Position and attach each additional cabinet. Fill small spaces between appliances, walls and cabinets with a filler strip.

4 Remove temporary ledger. Check the cabinet run for plumb and adjust if necessary. Tighten wall screws completely. Use trim mouldings to cover gaps between cabinets and walls. Stain the mouldings to match cabinets.

BASE
INSTALLATION

1 Position corner cabinet so top is flush with reference line. Insert shims under the cabinet base to get it plumb and level. Top must be level for a level countertop. Attach to wall. If necessary, attach a filler strip to adjoining cabinet. Clamp in place and drill counterbored pilot holes through face frame side.

2 Clamp adjoining cabinet to the corner cabinet. Make sure cabinet is plumb, drill counterbored pilot holes through the corner cabinet face frame into filler strip. Join cabinets. Drill 3/16" pilot holes through hanging strips and attach cabinet loosely to wall.

Use a jigsaw to cut openings for plumbing, wiring or heating ducts. Position and attach additional cabinets, making sure frames are aligned. Clamp cabinets together, drill counterbored pilot holes through face frame side and join cabinets using at least 4 screws.

Make sure all cabinets are level. If necessary, adjust by driving wood shims underneath the cabinets. Place wood shims behind the cabinets on stud locations wherever there is a gap. Tighten the wall screws and cut off the shims with a utility knife.

For a corner void not filled by cabinets, screw 1x3 cleats to wall, flush with reference line. Anchor all cabinets securely through the hanging strips. Use decorative trim moldings to cover gaps between cabinets and wall. Install toe-kick with hardwood strip finished to match.

Most of these How-To tips were taken from The Home Depot Home Improvement 1-2-3 book available at your nearest Home Depot.

INSTALLING COUNTERTOPS

1 Measure base from corner to outside edge. Add 1" overhang for an exposed end. Subtract 1/16" if end butts against an appliance. Mark cutting lines with a framing square on surface bottom of countertop. Cut with a jigsaw using a clamped straightedge as a guide. Smooth with a belt sander.

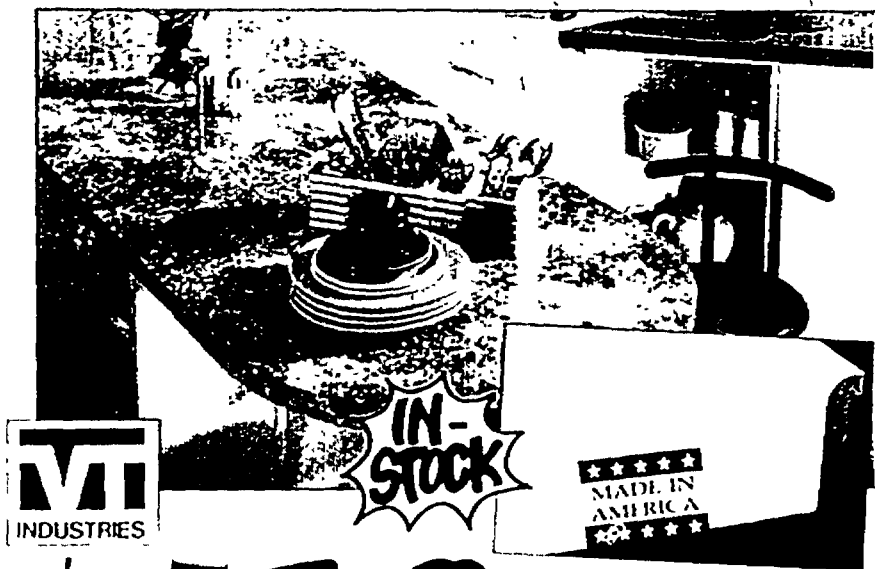

2 With the countertop upside down, mark the sink cutout. For a cooktop, mark the cutout using the manufacturer's recommended cutout shape. With the countertop still upside down, drill a pilot hole just inside the cutting line. Make the cutouts with a jigsaw.

3 Turn countertop over, attach battens. Sand unevenness with a belt sander. Hold endcap laminate against the end, overlapping edges. Press with an iron to activate the adhesive. Cool with a wet cloth. File edges flush by filing toward the countertop.

5

Use a compass to trace wall outline onto backsplash scribing strip. Remove countertop. Use a belt sander to grind the backsplash to scribe line. At each mitered seam edge apply a bead of siliconized latex caulk. Force countertop pieces tightly together.

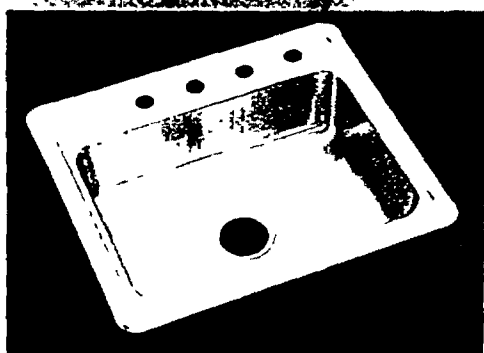

6

INSTALLING A KITCHEN SINK

- 1 First remove the faucet by applying penetrating oil to the nuts. Remove the nuts. A basin wrench has a long handle that's perfect for the tight areas.

- 2 Disconnect plumbing. Slice through caulking between sink rim and countertop using an utility knife. Lift sink off countertop. Have your new sink ready and standing by before tearing out the old one.

- 3 Lay new sink upside down over countertop. Frameless sink: Apply a 1/4" bead of silicone caulk or plumber's putty around sink flange underside.

INSTALLING A TOILET

1

To remove the old toilet: Turn off the water at the supply line and disconnect both ends of the water supply tube running from the shutoff valve to the toilet. Flush the toilet twice to empty tank and bowl. Remove tank and bowl.

2

Turn new bowl upside down, put a new wax ring and sleeve over the drain horn. Make sure flange floor bolts point straight up. Position toilet over flange and fit toilet base holes over floor bolts.

Press down on the toilet bowl to compress the wax ring, making a tight seal. Attach washers and nuts to the floor bolts and tighten with an adjustable wrench. Note: Don't overtighten; you could crack the base! Attach trim caps.

4 Install tank handle, ballcock and flush valve. Turn tank upside down and set spud washer over the flush valve tailpiece. Turn tank rightside up and position on bowl, centering the spud washer over water inlet opening near bowl back.

5 Line up the 2 holes in the tank bottom with the 2 holes on the bowl top. Then put a rubber washer on each tank bolt and set bolts through matching holes. Attach washers and nuts to bolts where they come through and tighten with a ratchet wrench.

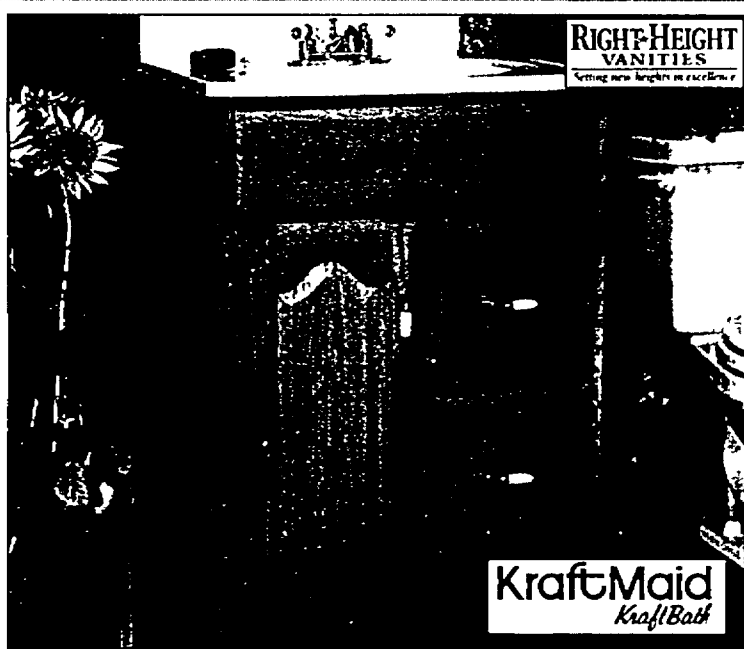

6 Cut a piece of supply tube to fit between shutoff valve and toilet tank. Attach to valve first, then to ballcock tailpiece. Tighten coupling nuts until snug. Hold ballcock while tightening. Turn on valve. Tank should fill. Attach new seat.

TRIP SAVER
Some toilets are not standard, so measure the distance from the floor bolts to the wall (not the baseboard) before you go shopping. That way you can spend more time installing your new toilet not moving drain pipes.

ASSEMBLING MILLSPRIDE VANITY

This is general information on assembling a 2-door vanity. See instructions for specific details on your vanity. Make sure you have all the parts you will need to assemble it.

Gather a few household tools; a screwdriver, a drill and a hammer. Lay end panels flat. Insert cam bolts, connectors and pins into predrilled holes on end panels. Tap into place with a hammer.

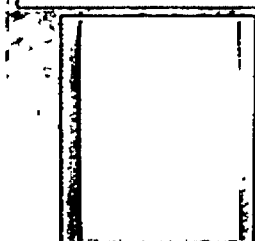

Insert cams and dowels into shelf, base rail and toe kick. Lay one end panel flat. You are ready to attach shelf, base rail and toe kick to end panel, see next box.

MOUNTING A FAUCET

- 1 If your new faucet comes without supply tubes: buy 2 supply tubes. They're available in braided steel, vinyl mesh, PB plastic or chromed copper. The more flexible the tube, the easier it is to install.

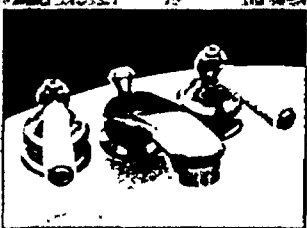

- 2 If your new faucet comes with pre-attached copper supply tubing, make water connections by attaching the supply tubing directly to shutoff valves with compression fittings. Extra tubing may be needed to reach supply lines.

- 3 First remove the old faucet by applying penetrating oil to the nuts. Remove the nuts. A basin wrench has a long handle that's perfect for the tight areas. Clean away old surface putty.

Apply 1/4" bead of plumber's putty (or silicone caulk for cultured marble) around the faucet base. Insert faucet tailpieces into sink openings. Position faucet so that base is parallel to the back of sink. Press the faucet down to make sure the putty forms a good seal.

5

6

Connect the flexible supply tubes to the faucet tailpieces. Tighten coupling nuts with a basin wrench. Attach supply tubes to shutoff valves using compression fittings. Hand tighten nuts. Give them a extra 1/4 turn with an adjustable wrench.

1

Remove sink, turn shutoff valves off. Remove coupling nuts connecting supply tube to tailpieces using a basin wrench. If tubes are soldered, cut above shutoff valves. Remove P-trap by loosening slip nuts at both ends. If necessary, cut with hacksaw.

2

Self-rimming sink: Disconnect the plumbing. Slice through any caulking or sealant between sink rim and countertop with an utility knife. Lift sink off countertop.

Rimless sink: Disconnect plumbing. Support sink with wire and wood scraps, as shown. Twist wire until it's taut, then detach mounting clips. Slice caulking, slowly loosen wire, and remove sink.

4 Use a template 1/2" narrower than sink rim to mark countertop cutout. Drill a 3/8" starter hole, then use a jig-saw to make cutout. (For countertop-mounted faucets, drill faucet tailpiece holes according to manufacturer's directions.)

5 Apply a bead of silicone caulk around sink cutout. Before you set sink in place, attach faucet body to sink or countertop, then attach drainpiece, drain flange and pop-up drain assembly.

6 Set sink into cutout area and gently press sink rim into silicone caulk. Hook up drain and supply fittings. Caulk around sink rim. Use a high-quality sealant to ensure long-term protection.

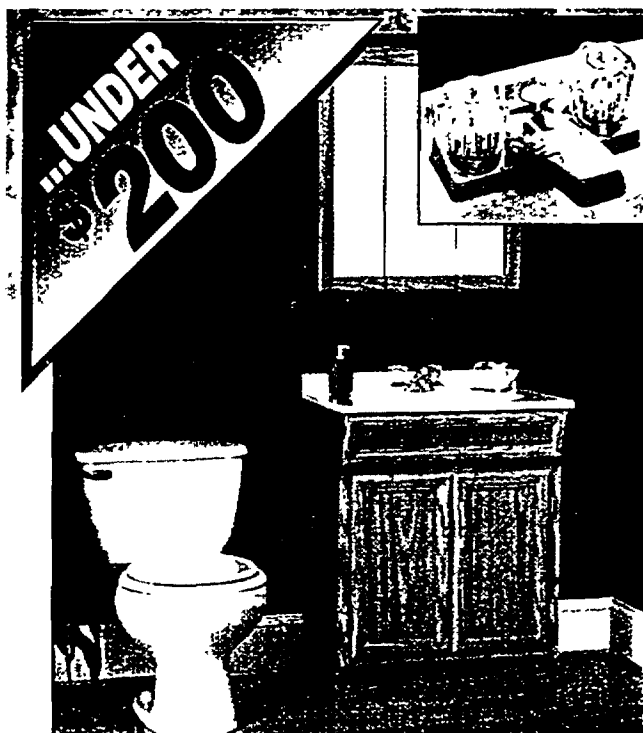

BUYER'S GUIDE

When choosing your drop-in lav, determine the type faucet you want. There is a 4" spread for the faucet and an 8". The drop-in lavs come in 2 sizes to accommodate the faucet. Decide which suits your needs and make sure your sink and faucet match up.

BUILDERS SQUARE INSTALLS CARPETING

Our installers can do the work for you. Installation labor is guaranteed and all installers are licensed and insured.

SHOP & COMPARE

Carpet is a major home improvement. Make sure you get your money's worth by checking:

✓ DURABILITY

The durability rating is determined by walk tests that measure how well a carpet keeps its "new" look. The higher the number, the better the carpet holds up.

✓ FACE WEIGHT

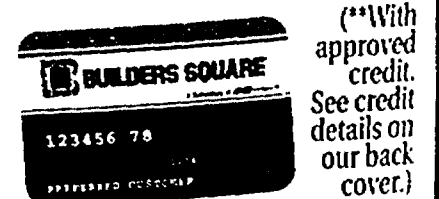

Face weight is a measure of how much fiber is woven into each square yard of carpet. It affects the feel and durability of your new carpet.

✓ APPEARANCE

A carpet with tightly packed, tightly twisted fibers will perform better than a loosely packed and twisted version.

✓ AFFORDABILITY

$1,000 of new carpet is only $25 per month on a Builders Square credit card. Come in and apply for yours today!

(With approved credit. See credit details on our back cover.)

Products shown are representational of selection. Styles, patterns, sizes and/or colors may vary by store, please see your store for selection.

ZODIAC. A Marvel in the Making

When Ariste Calame, scion of a watchmaker-farmer whose family roots go back to 1537, founded his own watch company in Le Locle, Switzerland in 1882, his one driving ambition was to create a precision timepiece like no other. The way to do it, he reasoned, was to control all phases of manufacturing and production — from design of the watch right through the making and perfecting of the tools used to make the watch.

Thus was born the first Zodiac, a timepiece of singular style and character. And the worthy precursor of today's exquisite line of Zodiac watches, including the remarkable Super SeaWolf.

Through the years, other wonders in watch technology have been wrought. The greatest of these have earned the company an international reputation for quality and innovation, while helping to expand the dynasty well beyond the lofty dreams of the founder: the launching of the first Swiss-made automatic sports watch in 1930; the introduction of the first professional sports and diver's watch in 1953; the manufacture of the first Swiss analog quartz watch in 1970; and the invention of a patented new system of shock resistant cases in 1974.

Whether the basic stainless steel model or the top of the line bi-colored chronograph,

Zodiac watches, manufactured in Switzerland out of materials that ensure precision and resistance in any circumstances, exemplify watchmaking artistry and engineering at its best — they're elegant enough for evening wear, rugged enough for use in the harshest underwater environment. (The famed Navy Seals used Zodiacs for years.)

While the inside of a Zodiac is a marvel in the making, the exterior is no less exceptional. The case is carved out of a block of the finest surgical grade stainless steel, and is a model of resistance. So, too, is the stainless steel bracelet, a technological achievement in its own right, featuring, as it does, a solid folding clasp with built in extender and safety device that prevent the clasp from opening unexpectedly or in a crucial situation.

Fortified by over a century long tradition of excellence, today's Zodiacs remain true to Ariste Calame's vision of what Swiss quality watchmaking should be. Such quality is symbolized by the Zodiac point — red, gold, silver or blue, depending on the collection. It guarantees reliability of the highest order. And assures the owner of a timepiece that is, in every respect, the perfect harmony of art and craftsmanship.

INTRODUCING The Marine Life Collection

The next generation of superior sports watches...MARINE LIFE! From Zodiac, of course! Marine Life's stylized sports design is brilliant. Its case and interwoven bracelet are sculpted from the highest grade of surgical stainless steel. Glare and scratch-resistant sapphire crystal; screw-down crown and water-resistant to 660 feet. Available with quartz or automatic movement. Zodiac...seldom equalled, never outperformed.

Model #606.86.81

3-Year Buckle-to-Buckle™ Warranty

Regardless of the adventure, you can breathe easy, because every Zodiac comes with an all-inclusive three-year Buckle-to-Buckle warranty. What this means is that the Company promises the owner to repair or replace, at no charge, any part of a Zodiac if defective in workmanship or material for a period of three full years from the date of purchase. During this period, the Company will service, at no charge, all parts and labor necessary to correct any defects, provided your Zodiac has been used and operated according to the instructions accompanying the watch.

SWISS · 1882

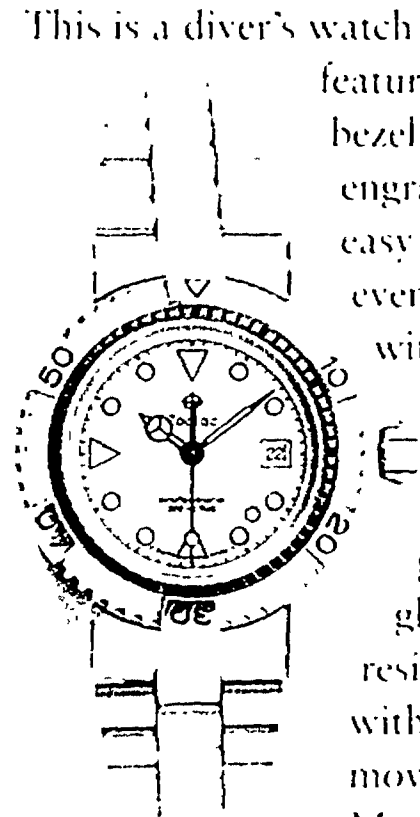

Swiss Formula Collection

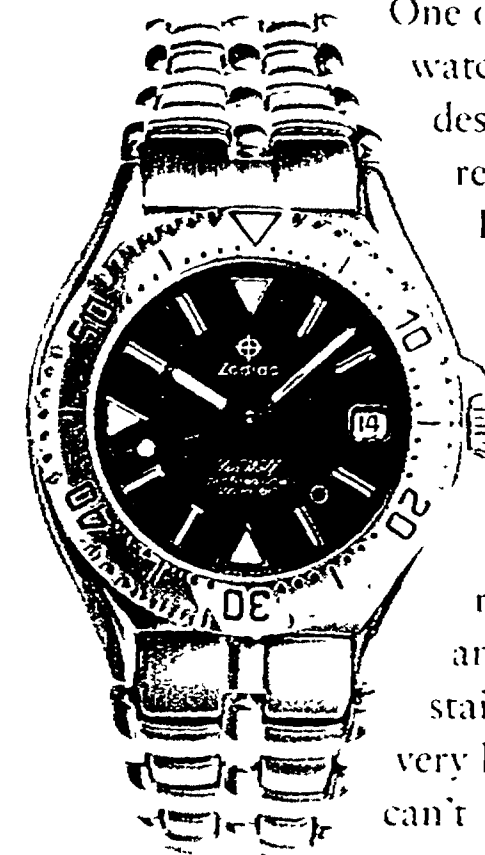

The Swiss Formula Zodiac is water-resistant to 660 feet, has a precision Swiss quartz movement and features a calendar and a sweep second hand. The stainless steel case houses a unidirectional fiber-glass rotating bezel, screw-down crown and a tempered mineral glass crystal. Comes with a stainless steel link bracelet or sharkskin textured strap. Model #713.83.641.

Silver Point Collection

SeaWolf Collection

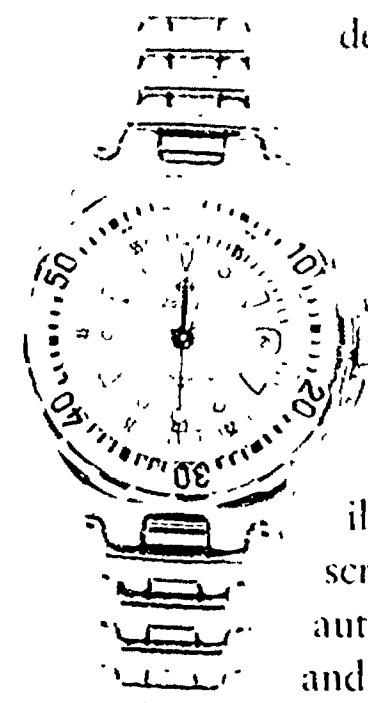

One of the world's first sports watches, the SeaWolf is designed to meet the toughest requirements of sport. Pressure resistant to 300 pounds per square inch; water resistance to 660 feet; luminous hands and markers for maximum nighttime readability; scratch-resistant sapphire crystal; and a shock-resistant stainless steel case. There is very little the Zodiac SeaWolf can't face up to. Available with quartz or automatic movement. Model #506.51.41A

Red Point Collection

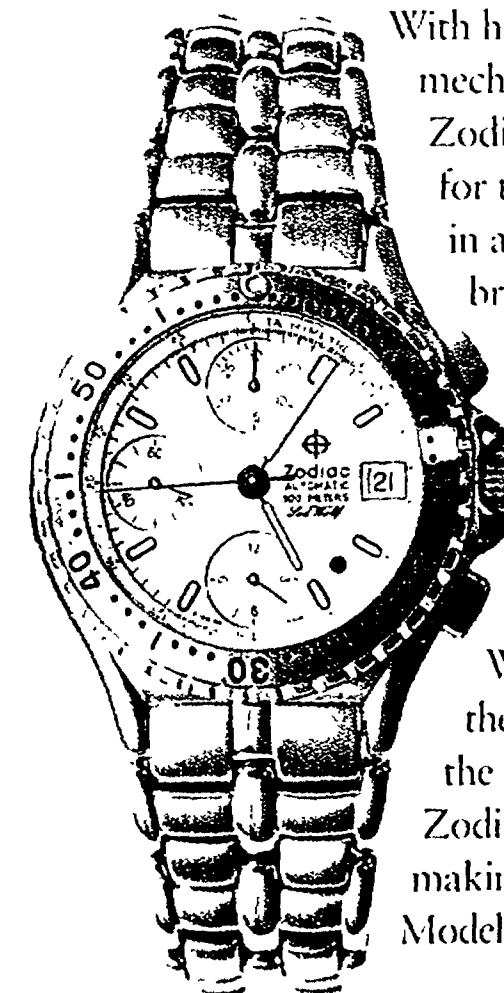

With a stainless steel case and bracelet; 0-60 minutes unidirectional turning bezel; screw-down crown; quartz movement with calendar; and mineral glass crystal — the Red Point defines sporty elegance. A sports model to satisfy every professional while providing absolute security and unequalled performance in even the most extreme conditions. Water-resistant to 660 feet. Model #106.21.07

Gold Point Collection

Fashion or function? This Zodiac delivers both. Designed for the sportsman who appreciates beauty, the Gold Point is finished in 18K gold from the stainless steel case to the links of the steel bracelet. Other features include unidirectional turning bezel with tritium illuminated triangle at 12 o'clock; screw-down crown; quartz or automatic movement; and a scratch and glare-resistant sapphire crystal. Water-resistant to 660 feet. Model #308.30.10A

Chronograph Collection

With hand-finished automatic mechanical movements, the Zodiac Chronograph is for the man of action. It comes in a stainless steel case and bracelet; three-part unidirectional tritium turning bezel with tachymeter ring; seconds, 30-minute and 12-hour counter; screw-down crown; and a domed mineral glass. Water-resistant to 330 feet, the Chronograph reflects the extensive know-how of Zodiac's masterful watch-making techniques. Model #406.47.50A for quality and innovation, while helping to expand the dynasty well beyond the lofty dreams of the founder: the launching of the first Swiss-made automatic sports watch in 1930; the introduction of the first professional sports and diver's watch in 1953; the manufacture of the first Swiss analog quartz watch in 1970; and the invention of a patented new system of shock resistant cases in 1974.

Whether the basic stainless steel model or the top of the line bi-colored chronograph,

Zodiac watches, manufactured in Switzerland out of materials that ensure precision and resistance in any circumstances, exemplify watchmaking artistry and engineering at its best — they're elegant enough for evening wear, rugged enough for use in the harshest underwater environment. (The famed Navy Seals used Zodiacs for years.)

While the inside of a Zodiac is a marvel in the making, the exterior is no less exceptional. The case is carved out of a block of the finest surgical grade stainless steel, and is a

nological achievement in its own right, featuring, as it does, a solid folding clasp with built in extender and safety device that prevent the clasp from opening unexpectedly or in a crucial situation.

Fortified by over a century long tradition of excellence, today's Zodiacs remain true to Ariste Calame's vision of what Swiss quality watchmaking should be. Such quality is symbolized by the Zodiac point — red, gold, silver or blue, depending on the collection. It guarantees reliability of the highest order. And assures the owner of a timepiece that is, in every respect, the perfect harmony of art and craftsmanship.

INTRODUCING The Marine Life Collection

The next generation of superior sports watches...MARINE LIFE! From Zodiac, of course! Marine Life's stylized sports design is brilliant. Its case and interwoven bracelet are sculpted from the highest grade of surgical stainless steel. Glare and scratch-resistant sapphire crystal; screw-down crown and water-resistant to 660 feet. Available with quartz or automatic movement. Zodiac...seldom equalled, never outperformed.

3-Year Buckle-to-Buckle™ Warranty

Regardless of the adventure, you can breathe easy, because every Zodiac comes with an all-inclusive three-year Buckle-to-Buckle warranty. What this means is that the Company promises the owner to repair or replace, at no charge, any part of a Zodiac if defective in workmanship or material for a period of three full years from the date of purchase. During this period, the Company will service, at no charge, all parts and labor necessary to correct any defects, provided your Zodiac has been used and operated according to the instructions accompanying the watch.

Zodiac

SWISS · 1882

Swiss Formula Collection

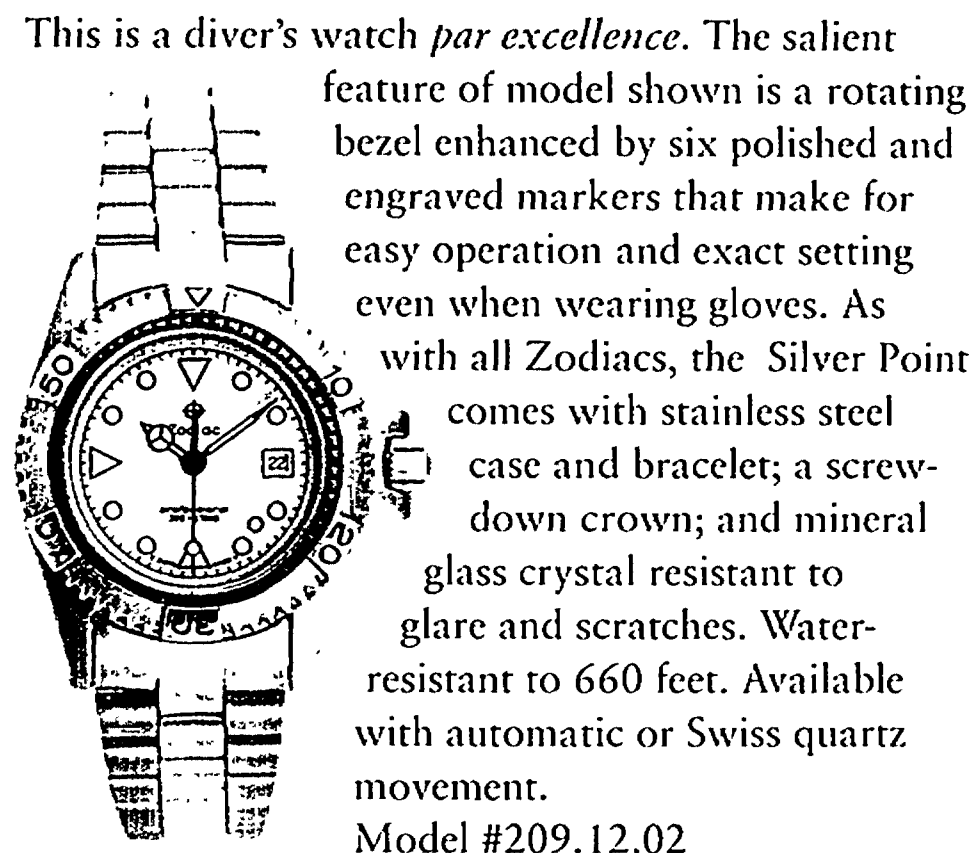

The Swiss Formula Zodiac is water-resistant to 660 feet, has a precision Swiss quartz movement and features a calendar and a sweep second hand. The stainless steel case houses a unidirectional fiber-glass rotating bezel, screw-down crown and a tempered mineral glass crystal.

Comes with a stainless steel link bracelet or sharkskin textured strap.

Silver Point Collection

This is a diver's watch par excellence. The salient feature of model shown is a rotating bezel enhanced by six polished and engraved markers that make for easy operation and exact setting even when wearing gloves. As with all Zodiacs, the Silver Point comes with stainless steel case and bracelet; a screw-down crown; and mineral glass crystal resistant to glare and scratches. Water-resistant to 660 feet. Available with automatic or Swiss quartz movement.

Model #209.12.02

SeaWolf Collection

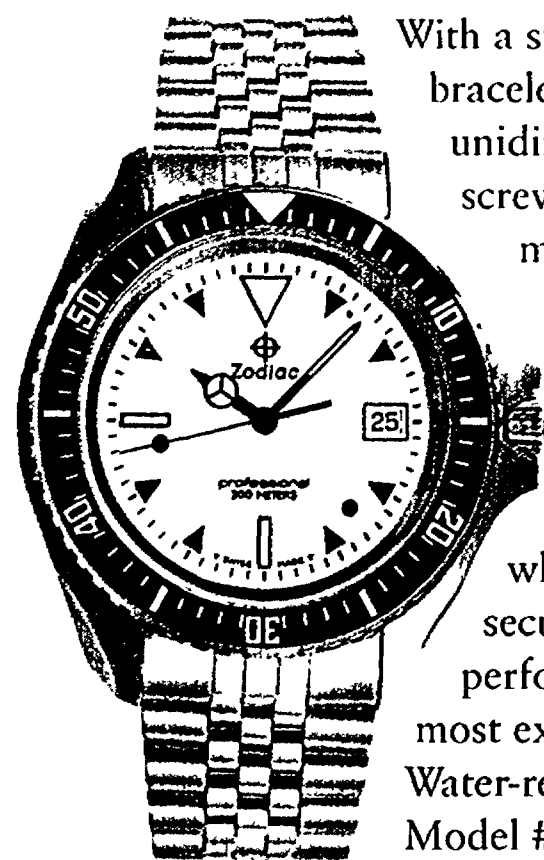

One of the world's first sports watches, the SeaWolf is designed to meet the toughest requirements of sport.

Pressure resistant to 300 pounds per square inch; water resistance to 660 feet; luminous hands and markers for maximum nighttime readability; scratch-resistant sapphire crystal; and a shock-resistant stainless steel case. There is very little the Zodiac SeaWolf can't face up to. Available with quartz or automatic movement.

Model #506.51.41A

Red Point Collection

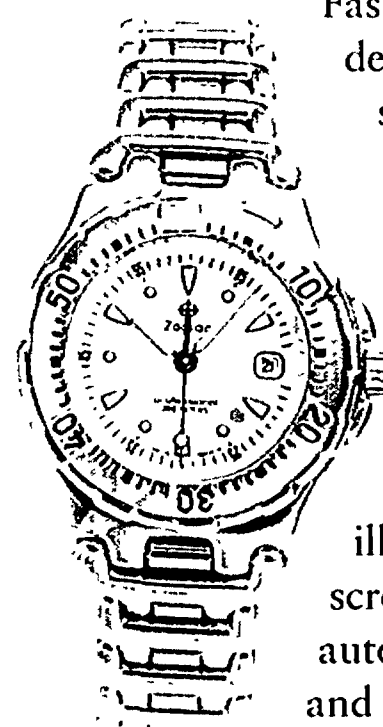

With a stainless steel case and bracelet; 0-60 minutes unidirectional turning bezel; screw-down crown; quartz movement with calendar; and mineral glass crystal — the Red Point defines sporty elegance. A sports model to satisfy every professional while providing absolute security and unequalled performance in even the most extreme conditions.

Water-resistant to 660 feet.

Model #106.21.07

Gold Point Collection

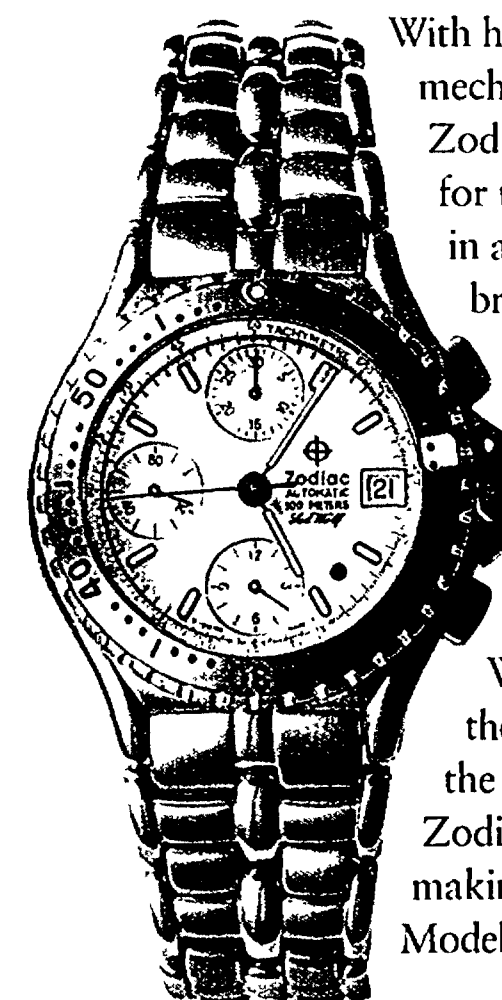

Fashion or function? This Zodiac delivers both. Designed for the sportsman who appreciates beauty, the Gold Point is finished in 18K gold from the stainless steel case to the links of the steel bracelet. Other features include unidirectional turning bezel with tritium illuminated triangle at 12 o'clock; screw-down crown; quartz or automatic movement; and a scratch and glare-resistant sapphire crystal.

Water-resistant to 660 feet.

Chronograph Collection

With hand-finished automatic mechanical movements, the Zodiac Chronograph is for the man of action. It comes in a stainless steel case and bracelet; three-part unidirectional tritium turning bezel with tachymeter ring; seconds, 30-minute and 12-hour counter; screw-down crown; and a domed mineral glass.

Water-resistant to 330 feet, the Chronograph reflects the extensive know-how of Zodiac's masterful watch-making techniques.
