Community plans for holiday parade

Sacrifice is meaningless without remembrance.

That's why communities across America, including Northville, will take time out on Monday to observe Memorial Day, remembering those who've given their lives in the nation's wars.

Local veterans' groups will lead Northville's Memorial Day parade on May 26 and participate in special commemoration ceremonies at local cemeteries. American Legion Post 147, located at the corner of Center and Dunlap streets, is sponsoring this year's events.

School proposal debate centers around class size

By ROBERT JACKSON taff Writer

Class size versus available space.

That's the crux of an argument between those supporting the Northville School District's upcoming $61.5 million bond proposal and a vocal opposition that believes taxpayers shouldn't be footing the bill for a new high school when such a facility isn't needed.

Voters will decide at the polls June 9 whether to approve the multi-faceted proposal.

The issue involves the construction of a new high school, the conversion of the existing high school into a middle school, the addition of six classrooms onto Silver Springs Elementary, new technology purchases, and the renovation, remodeling and repair of existing school facilities.

The Floringlie School District expects student enrolment to ceed capacity at the elementary, middle school and high school as within the next few years. The following are district student union projections through the 2000-01 school year. 1996-97 1998-99 Capacity 2000-01 1.975 51.944 1,161 1,274 1,372 ° 1.100 School 1819 1438 1,619. 1,350 et the high side of and middle schools was figured on an aver and of the side of the side and side of the solid cade of y was fig-

If approved, the bonds will increase the district millage rate by an average of 2.5 mills a year and cost the average homeowner with a home with a market value of $200,000 an additional $250 annually.

The construction of a new high school carries the biggest price tag, with a projected cost of $48.7 million, and would be built to initially house 1,800 students.

District officials claim a larger facility is needed to combat the overcrowding at the current high school building. According to high school student enrollment projections the school's capacity of 1,350 will be exceeded during the 1998-99 school year.

This year's student population at Northville High School is 1,319, the district reported.

The district's formula for capacity is based on an average class size of 26 students per teacher. According to resident Leland Haines, however, school officials need to increase class size at the high school first before asking taxpayers to finance a new school.

Water, sewer rate hike approved by city council

By ROBERT JACKSON

An aging water and sewer system and rate increases passed on from Detroit and Wayne County are responsible for a hike in Northville's water and sewer rates. Monday the Northville City Council approved increasing city water rates by 7 percent, from \$1.96 to \$2.10 per unit, and sewer rates by 3 percent, from \$4.61 to \$4.75 per unit. The bimonthly service charge will also be increased by about $\overline{4}$ percent to \$4.78.

The rate hike comes as Detroit prepares to raise the rate on the water it supplies to Northville by 4.15 percent. A 1.8 percent sewage disposal increase is also due from Wayne County

It is the condition of Northville's water and sewer system, however, that worries city officials. According to Assistant City Manager Nickie Bateson, major work needs to be done to shore up a "leaky" infrastructure.

"We can't just keep spending money fixing water main breaks, we need to look at strengthening the entire system," she said. "That's where the funds need to be spent.'

Playscape gets down to brass tacks

By ROBERT JACKSON Staff Writer

With the construction date for Northville's playscape, "Fort Griswold," less than two weeks away, playscape coordinators are now focusing their efforts on acquiring the necessary tools to assemble the structure.

Steve Smith, who is coordinatacquired about 70 percent of the 101 tools needed. "We're coming down to the last few weeks and a lot of tools are still needed," Smith explained. "We have had a good response from local contractor's and businesses as far as loaning the heavy equipment. What we need now are individuals to step forward with their smaller, more typical tools like drills, saws, and shovels.

"We also need a Bobcat and an equipment operator to run some of the equipment that has been donated.

State police post loses road patrol

Function transferred to Royal Oak

By RANDY COBLE Staff Writer

If you live, work or drive on Seven Mile Road, ask yourself this question: does something seem differently lately?

It should and here's a hint why the absence of all those blue cruis-ers with red lights on top.

For decades Northville Township has played host to a Michigan State Police Post. That all ended a couple of weeks ago when the post was closed and its personnel transferred elsewhere.

That doesn't mean that the building on Seven Mile is empty, however. State police "posts" include only the road patrol troopers who handle day-to-day law enforcement activities on the highways.

While those officers once stationed at Northville Township are now at the new Metro North post in Royal Oak, a variety of state police personnel are still working in the Seven Mile facility. In fact, Northville will soon be host to one of only two state police DNA labs in all of Michigan.

Some 47 post troopers left Northville Township for Royal oak earlier this month, explained Metro North Post Commander Lt. Steve Krafft. It's part of a wideranging and ongoing effort to completely reorganize the state police post system in Michigan.

"We decided several years ago to shift things around in order to better serve the public and cut down on response time," Krafft said.

The changes included, for example, closing posts in Northville Township and Pontiac and transferring their troopers to Metro North. The area of Metro North's jurisdiction is much wider than those of the other two posts.

The Northville community isn't part of that coverage area, however. According to Krafft, greater Northville will be covered by the state police's Metro South post. located in Taylor.

faulter in Nethville Teynshin was once home to four other state police functions. Still located there are the headquarter offices for the state police's second district and those of the state fire marshal for this area, as well as the state police crime laboratory.

The lab, which offers scientific assistance to both local law enforcement and the state police, will soon be expanded, according to Director Jim Hauncher.

Currently the Michigan State police has only one laboratory to analyze deoxyribonucleic acid, better known as DNA. That lab is located in Lansing, but the Northville Township post will soon have a DNA analysis capacity too.

"The post's leaving freed up space here," Hauncher explained, adding that if all goes as planned the new lab will open sometime this fall.

The headquarters for all state police radio dispatch operations also used to be located in Northville Township. Its personnel were transferred to a Detroit post in April, according to Krafft.

Marijuana arrests occur during searches

Northville Township police of a Romulus resident. The arrested a Farmington Hills man woman, 39, allegedly stole $114 in last week for possession of marijuana. A township officer stopped the man's 1994 Dodge Caravan at about 3:15 a.m. on May 13 because it had only one working headlight.

The officer said that when he stepped up to the driver's side window to speak with the man he saw a plastic bag containing a green leafy substance in plain view between the man's legs.

When asked if it was marijuana, the man allegedly replied "Uh ... yeah, it's just a little dope."

He was arrested and booked at police headquarters. A search of his car allegedly turned up a marijuana pipe, hemostats and rolling papers. The man will face a court hearing soon.

MORE POT: Another marijuanarelated arrested was made at about 5 p.m. on May 13 near Lake Success Drive in Northville Township.

Township officers checking out a 911 call said they came across a 1997 Ford Taurus with two people inside. A search of the vehicle allegedly turned up a baggie of marijuana and a pipe. The man, 32, and the woman, 30, who were arrested are Detroit residents.

The two were released after booking.

COMPUTER THEFT: Northville police are still investigating the theft of a color computer monitor and two pentium computer processors from Northville High School.

According to police the thefts occurred on two separate occasions, May 9 and May 13, and the equipment was stolen from the same computer room.

Police list the stolen equipment as one Acerview color monitor, valued at approximately $350, and two Acer computer processors, valued at approximately $2,000. Police have no suspects.

LARCENIES: Two women were arrested for shoplifting at Meijer last week.

On May 13 a 39-year-old Ferndale woman was taken into custody after store detectives allegedly saw her try to steal three Disney videos worth $58. The woman, they said, put the videos into her purse and inside her waistband.

The next evening saw the arrest liquor and $44 in clothes by shoving it all into a bag she was carrying. Both were booked and released at the scene.

CELL PHONES STOLEN: Northville police are investigating three separate incidents involving the theft of a cellular phone.

on May 19, a Rochester Hills man reported his cell phone had been stolen from his 1985 Lincoln Towne Car as it was parked in front of his place of business at 1053 Novi Road.

Police have no suspects and the estimated cost of the phone is $200.

Later that same day police responded to a call from a 60year-old Northville woman who reported her cell phone stolen.

Police said the woman had parked her car on Main and when she returned to her vehicle she discovered the cell phone missing. The estimated cost of the phone ıs $100. On May 11 a Northville woman reported her cell phone stolen. According to police the woman's daughter had used the phone the previous day and when the woman went to her car, she discovered the phone missing.

Police have no suspects. The cost of the phone was set at $120.

ALCOHOL STING PART III: Northville police cited a third city business for selling alcohol to minors.

According to police a 28-yearold bartender for the Fraternal Order of Eagles, located on Main Street, sold alcohol to a police "decoy" May 9.

Police sent the decoy into the club, which is usually open to members only, and the decoy purchased a can of beer. Police entered the club minutes later, confiscated the beer, and cited the bartender.

It was the third successful sting operation performed by local officers, who are attempting to crack down on the sale of alcohol to minors.

If you have any information about these of any other illegal incidents you can call Northville City police at 349-1234 or Northville Township police at 349-9400.

Learn safety pointers at camp

By RANDY COBLE Staff Writer

How can you help someone with a deep cut? What do you do during a house fire? When should you dial 9-1-1?

Questions like these leave a lot of us uncertain, grownups and children alike. The kids don't have to stay in the dark, however, thanks to a special summer program from the Northville Township Fire Department.

Parents, if you're looking for a fun way to teach your kids the ABCs of safety, consider enrolling them in Camp 9-1-1. It's a free, twoday course open to boys and girls ages 10-13.

Camp 9-1-1 will be held twice: on July 24-25 and on August 25-26. You don't have to be a township resident or even a Northville resident to participate.

You must register your child, however, by calling the fire department at 348-5807. Space is limited to 24 campers per session, so call now if you're interested.

Be sure to pack a lunch each day for your boy or girl. The kids will need it: Camp 9-1-1 is going to be chock full of fun and educational activities, according to the Sgt. Guy Balok of the fire department.

"The kids learn things that can help them in an emergency. It's a really far-reaching and community-impacting thing," Balok said. Camp activities will include many different lessons such as:

· Basic first aid, including how to assist those who are choking or bleeding.

• CPR training, a Camp 9-1-1 first. What information you'll need to have ready when you call 9-1-1 during an emergency. · How kids can be safe as pedestrians and when riding their bicycles. Helmet safety during biking is a key topic.

• What to do during a house fire, including a trip through the Fire Safety House, a mock "home" which can simulate the smoke and confusion of the real thing.

· How to identify and eliminate home safety hazards such as bunk beds with no bars or cords that can be tripped over.

• The kids will get to hear about career opportunities in the firefighting/emergency medical services field and ask questions of the folks who do it every day.

• Camp 9-1-1 wraps up with a special "obstacle course" designed to test the skills the kids have picked up.

Participants will stop at a number of stations and perform safety activities. A kids might properly fasten a car belt at one station, for example, then move on to identify a tripping hazard in a home situation at another.

At another, he or she might administer first aid to a person with a simulated cut. Everyone who completes the course gets a first aid kit to take home.

The fire department is looking for corporate sponsors who are willing to donate prizes to campers such as food coupons or safety gear like smoke detectors and bike helmets. If you'd like to help call Balok at 348-5807.

Camp 9-1-1 got under way as a pilot program in 1996.

Northville Township was one of only 22 Lower Peninsula communities to receive funding for it.

Like last year, the fire department's co-sponsor for Camp 9-1-1 is SWM Systems, the Lower Peninsula's regional emergency medical services coordination agency.

Providing funds for staff training and materials are the Michigan Office of Highway Traffic Safety and the federal National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

Police look into rash of car break-ins

Volunteers continue to play a major role in the Rouge River's comeback story. That will be evident on Saturday. June 7, when more than 2,500 people are expected to converge on the river for Rouge Rescue '97.

Without the volunteers who will participate in the 12th annual Friends of the Rouge river clean-up, the Rouge would be clogged with fallen trees and litter that could choke the life out of the river.

The clean-up is a chance for people to see first-hand the river's problems and its potential for being a valuable recreation and economic resource for the metropolitan Detroit area.

Working to clean up the Rouge helps to instill in volunteers a sense of stewardship for the river and the environment. It is also an opportunity for parents to demonstrate to their families Farmer Jack, local bottlers of

Is your garage or basement chock full of stuff that you'd like to get rid of but you can't because it's hazardous?

You know, things like old car batteries and used motor oil and those cans of turpentine and insecticide that were there when you moved in? Can't put it in the trash, can't drop it off for recycling with bottles and cans. So what do you do?

Bring it all to Northville's firstever household hazardous waste disposal day, that's what. It's easy and free and by helping to take care of dangerous waste properly, you'll also help to raise money for tree plantings in community parks

Northville City and Northville Township are joining forces for the household hazardous waste day. It won't cost you a dime and will be held on Saturday, May 31, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the city's Department of Public Works (DPW) facility located on Doheny Drive north of Seven Mile between Northville Road and Gerald Avenue. The DPW can be reached via either street.

Northville Township Director of Public Services Bill Anderson said workers will be on hand to speed things along. "Chemists and hazardous waste handlers will be on board," he said. "They'll just pop open the trunk and unload everything. They won't be much of a wait.'

What can you bring to the household hazardous waste day? Everything that can be harmful to the environment if not disposed of properly. That includes items such · Latex paint, dyes, floor wax, floor care products, furniture polish, medicine, stain remover, bathroom and carpet cleaners, fertilizers, antifreeze, motor oil and gasoline.

• Chlorine bleach, chlorine, stump remover, oxygen pellets and heavy metal compounds.

· Oil-based paints, alcohols, creosote, glue, mineral spirits, paint brush cleaners and turpentine.

• Herbicides, weed killers, ant and roach killers, garden dust, fungicides, insecticides, and poisons for bugs, rats and rodents.

• Automobile batteries and smoke detectors.

Some wastes will not be accepted, including explosives and ammunition, asbestos and medical and industrial waste.

Participating in household hazardous waste day will benefit the community. Painter & Ruthenberg, the disposal firm which will handle the deposited waste, has announced plans to donate $2 for every car that comes through the gates on May 31.

The money will go toward the purchase of trees for Northville's public parks.

Residents coming through the DPW yard will be asked if they live in the township or the city.

If you have any questions about what you can bring to household hazardous waste day on May 31, call:

• Northville City Department of Public Services, 349-1300.

• Northville Township Department of Public Services, 348-5820.

Raven owner puts out call for investor/partner

By LEE SNIDER Editor

Wanted: Serious investor interested in saving a community landmark and continuing a rich tradition of creative arts instruction in Northville.

Tom Rice hasn't resorted to using a classified ad to find a partner for his Gitfiddler music business, but he's doing his best to promote word of mouth.

Rice realized a long-lived dream last year when he purchased the venerable building on Dunlap and Center Street and moved his famillar Gitfiddler store there. In addition to the thriving music lesson business and retail operation from his former location, he also had plans for a performing cafe, a fullservice restaurant and a dance academy.

The dream is in trouble, however. Though the performing house has developed a good following, the restaurant portion of the business closed following a split between Rice and his former partner and the retail operation folded earlier this year.

Rice has also had a hard time obtaining a liquor license from the state of Michigan, limiting turnout at his acoustic cafe. But there's reason for hope, according to Rice.

"What I need is someone to come in here and open a sevenday-a-week restaurant," he said. "We've got the potential for a million-dollar-a-year business."

Rice said he has been approved for a resort license from the state, but must meet the stipulation of investing $1 million in his business before the license can be granted. A liquor license would come with the resort designation.

We've got the potential for a million-dollar-a-year business."

To date, Rice has sunk almost $900,000 into the Northville

Academy of Art and Music but he's just about at the end of his financial rope. What he needs, he says, is a reliable partner who is willing to get the restaurant up and run-all ready to go," he remarked. "A partner with some experience and with liquor service would enable him to complete his plans, Rice maintains. A game room, a banquet hall and an outdoor dining patio could all become a reality.

A fully operational restaurant initiative is all we need."

"We've got a brand new kitchen ning again.

-Gitfiddler and Raven Gallery owner Tom Rice

"I can't make it on weekend concerts alone," he conceded. "But with a restaurant and liquor license, I could turn this business into a great place to listen to music and enjoy a really rare atmosphere.'

Rice's music lesson business continues to do well and there's no shortage of students. The concerts of acoustic folk, blues, jazz and bluegrass performers also have acquired a respectable following.

But people like to be able to eat and drink when they relax, Rice notes, and without a resort license his business doesn't stand much chance of surviving.

"If I have to I'll call it a day, but I'm a very spiritual guy and I made a prayerful decision to go public with my search for a partner," he said. "This is it, I have no options left."

Rice and his Gitfiddler store have been community fixtures for over two decades. Originally starting out in a converted house on N. Center in 1973, the Gıtfiddler has provided a musical education for hundreds of local young people. Rice also conceived and founded what has become one of the metroarea's more enduring musical traditions, the Northville Folk & Bluegrass Festival, held the last Sunday in July of each year.

A fund-raiser for Huntington's disease research, the festival brings in national talent from the folk music world and provides a great exposure opportunity for local performers. The 1997 Festival will be the 21st for the event.

A need to expand led Rice to eventually move his business into a former gas station on Main near Griswold. Last year, he purchased what was then Open Door Church and began a renovation project that, to date, has come in three times over budget.

"Until I got started with it, I had no idea everything that needed to be done to bring the place up to code," he remarked. "By the time we met all the ADA (Americans with Disabilities) and OSHA (Occupational Safety and Health Administration) standards, we were way in over projections.*

Rice said he's willing to discuss any type of partnership arrangement with potential investors. Anyone who might be interested can call him at (248) 349-9420.

Memorial Day is meant to honor those who, in the words of Abraham Lincoln, "gave the last full measure of devotion" by sacrificing their lives during America's armed conflicts.

The holiday began in 1866 when residents of Waterloo, N.Y., set aside May 5 to honor Union soldiers killed in the Civil War. The Grand Army of the Republic, an organization of Union veterans, in 1868 began to organize yearly commemoration ceremonies all over the Northern states every May 30.

The American Legion took over and in that job after World War I. Since ginia.

then artificial poppy flowers have been sold every Memorial Day to help raise money to assist disabled veterans.

Several Southern states still have legal holidays to remember the dead from their side of the Civil War.

The last Monday in April is Confederate Memorial Day in Mississippi, for example, and Texas sets aside Jan. 19 as Confederate Heroes Day.

Congress made Memorial Day, the last Monday in May, a federal holiday in 1971. Special ceremonies to mark the event are held at the Gettysburg battlefield site and in Arlington ceremony in Virginia.

He suffered grievous injuries but saved the lives of several of his friends. Zimanek's medal and uniform are now on display at Michigan's Military and Space Museum. Other parade participants include Northville VFW Post 4012 and its Ladies Auxiliary on S. Main as well as the commander and president of VFW District Four. Local elected officials such as Sen. Bob Geake, R-Northville, Northville City Mayor Chris Johnson and Northville Township Supervisor Karen Woodside will take part. Service to be held at MIA/POW site Northville isn't the only place that's celebrating Memorial Day. Novi will also get in on the action and will show its colors with a 2.5 mile parade and related ceremonies.

Memorial Day was begun as a time to decorate the graves of Northern soldiers and sailors. In its first years, the event was run by the Grand Old Army of the Republic, a Northern veterans group, until the day became a national holiday. While the G.A.R. won't be there

While the G.A.R. won't be there - the Novi chapter's now long defunct - almost everybody else will be. Expected are the Novi High School and Novi Middle School I marching bands, the Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts, the Blue Star

Mothers and, the real representatives of the day, the veterans groups including the American Legion, the AMVETS and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

While this year's activities will include parade floats and representatives of local groups such as the Tim Pope Playstructure Committee and the Michigan '50s Festival, Novi Public Relations Director Lou Martin said the city is urging residents to remember the solemn reason for the day.

The morning will begin with a 10 a.m. service at the Vietnam MIA/POW Memorial in Oakland Hills Memorial Garden on Twelve Mile Road, Novi Parks and Recreation Director Dan Davis said.

But the staging area for the parade is at the Novi Town Center office building, across Town Center Drive from the shopping center's cinema.

Marchers will then head down Town Center Drive, cross Grand River Avenue, swing past Vic's World Class Market and then strut through Main Street.

They'll turn south onto Novi Road and file into the historic Novi Cemetery.

There, they'll probably be following the footsteps of the G.A.R., as several Civil War veterans are buried in the cemetery. A wreath will be placed at the flag pole. The parade will take Novi Road

The parade will take Novi Road to Ten Mile and west on Ten Mile to the Novi Civic Center for a final ceremony. That should last about 20 minutes, Davis said, and will include the presentation of a third wreath at city hall and a gunsalute.

Two viewing areas have been designated. The first is on the north side of Main Street. The second is along Novi Road, just south of Gen-Mar Drive.

Centennial committee needs recipes for cookbook

A cookbook is in the planning stages as part of the upcoming Northville Township Centennial celebration.

The township turns 100 next year, and a cookbook will be published and sold to help fund a whole series of special activities planned for 1998.

"The Centennial Cookbook" is in need of everyone's "very special, secret ingredient" recipe. All types of recipes are needed, including how-to's on appetizers, beverages, soups, salads, main dishes, casseroles, meat, poultry, seafood, bread, rolls, pies pastry desserts cakes, cookles and candy.

Gourmets may submit more than one recipe and they don't have to be township residents to participate.

The Centennial Committee is looking forward to reviewing everyone's favorite creation.

Recipe forms for the Cookbook can be picked up at the township offices at 41600 Six Mile or at 16225 Beck Road. Those interested can call (248) 348-5820 and request a form be sent to them in the mail.

Committee members would like to have all the recipes collected by June 9. Look for the Centennial Cookbook to be available in late 1997.

Anyone interested in sitting on the Cookbook Committee can call Shari Peters at (248) 348-5820. The group meets once a month for one hour.

Interest in the historical aspects of Northville Township has been spurred by the Northville Township Centennial.

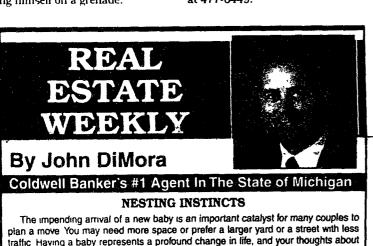

The Centennial Committee is also planning on publishing a book of Historical Happenings to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the community. Needed are early township photos dating from 1897 to the present.

Anyone with newspaper articles, books, memorabilia, school or church news bulletins or information documents they'd like to see included the retrospective should send materials to: History Book, 41600 Six Mile, Northville, MI 48167, or call (248) 348-5820 and ask for Shari Peters.

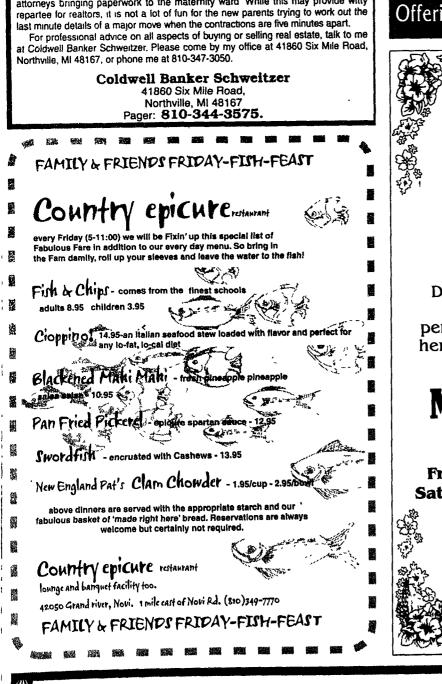

Those interested in being committee members for the book, should contact Peters at (248) 348-5820.

SPECIAL MEMORIAL DAY REPORT: THE VIETNAM CONFLICT

Casualties of War Memorial Wall Website. 1965 Richard Cronk, Marines,

In Michigan, more than 2000 men and women perished in Vietnam or are officially regarded as missing. Nine men from Novi and Northville ended their young lives in the conflict from 1965 to 1971, and many others returned bearing lifelong scars from their experiences. For two young Novi servicemen and a Northville woman whose son took to the skies over southeast Asia. Vietnam changed their lives forever. Here are their stories.

Lualdi became war casualty

By JAN JEFFRES Staff Writer

This year, as in past years, the Memorial Day celebrations in Novi will begin with a service at the Vietnam War MIA/POW Memorial in Oakland Hills cemetery on Twelve Mile Road.

Only one name from the Novi and Northville communities is on the memorial, that of Lt. Gerald Allan Holman, a 27-year-old Navy pilot whose plane crashed into the sea off the shores of North Vietnam. For 31 years, he has been classified as missing in action.

Nine men from Novi and Northville, including both hometown residents and spouses of local women, ended their young lives in Vietnam from 1965 to 1971.

Twenty-five years ago, the United States began to pull its combat troops out of South Vietnam. The Paris Peace Pact was signed a year later, halting U.S. military involvement in the conflict. Nationally, more than 58,000 Americans were killed or remain missing. In Michigan, 2,649 individuals perished in Vietnam or are officially regarded as missing. One of them was a woman, a nurse.

"We paid a very high price in Vietnam. We were one of the top four or five states as far as the number of people who served," said Marty Eddy of the Prisoner of War Committee of Michigan.

Think about all the lives that were directly or indirectly affected by the loss of this person or that person. There's such a ripple effect. What would these people have become?

On Sept. 23, 1985, Oakland Hills Memorial 'Gardens dedicated one of the first memorials in the United States to the war's MIA/POWs.

"I believed many of us had gotten on with our lives and forgotten about them. I felt there had to be something we could do to support these families," said Oakland Hills sales manager Jon Tobias, who designed the monument.

The Vietnam War was hidden and tucked away by the government."

Eighty-four individuals from Michigan are on the Novi monument. Each name originally had a blank space for the date the missing or imprisoned serviceman returned home. As the bodies of soldiers from the conflict have been returned by the Vietnamese government and the remains have been identified, 67 of those blanks have been filled in.

This September, the final dates will be engraved for James Carter of Clarkston, Robert Barton of Benton Harbor, Jlynn Ross of Detroit and James Huard of Dearborn.

The monument "means a tremendous amount" to the families of these lost men, Eddy said, adding that the unfilled name plates remain "a Local servicemen killed in Vietnam. Information comes from 1960s and 1970s editions of The Novi News and The Northville Record and the Viet Nam Veterans hope, that there is still hope, no matter what."

A conversation with a former Vietnam POW inspired Tobias to build the memorial. He designed the monument in 1983 and it was dedicated on Sept. 23, 1985, National MIA/POW Day. Since then, cemeteries in Illinois, Nevada, Louisiana and Wisconsin have built monuments patterned after the one in Novi Currently, plans are under way for a state Vietnam memorial in Lansing.

"Seventeen years after the war is when the mourning began. It wasn't until the early 1980s and mid-1980s - 15 missing years when the Vietnam war was not openly discussed." Toblas said.

One of the groups most active with the Novi memorial is the Mt. Clemens Chapter 154 of the Vietnam Veterans of America, which holds a 24hour vigil at the Novi site each September In past years, the chapter, then inder the leadership of -Bob-Deckers, was active in placing an eternal flame and flags at the memorial.

St. Clair Shores resident Mike Nash, the chairman of the National POW-MIA Committee for Vietnam Veterans of America, serves as master of ceremonies for the September vigil. Nash was in Vietnam from September 1969 to October 1971 as an Army Intelligence acting sergeant.

Last year, Nash and other national VVA leaders went back to Vietnam and established "a good rapport" with North Vietnamese veterans. Part of the mission was to exchange information about the missing on both sides years after leaving Vietnam

By JAN JEFFRES Staff Writer

At first it looked like Green Beret Special Forces Airborne Sgt. Carl Anthony Lualdi made it through his two years in Vietnam unscathed.

Then, in 1981, he was diagnosed with muscular sclerosis. For 12 vears, the man who used to run six miles a day and train horses has been virtually bedridden.

"More than likely, it's due to Agent Orange. We would use the Agent Orange to defoliate and a lot of the food was grown in that," Lualdi, a Novi resident, said.

Before his illness, Lualdi was the kind of guy his mother said "could fall in s--- and come up smelling like a rose." Where other draftees ended up in the jungle, he spent his time working for the top brass.

Called up in 1970, Lualdi, then 22. was offered the chance to attend West Point but turned it down because he already had a college degree and didn't want a military career. Lualdi is fluent in French and also had strong typing and shorthand skills. He appeared to be headed for NATO headquarters in Brussels.

Then, orders came for Vietnam where he served from January 1971 to June 1972.

"I thought for sure I was going to get killed stepping off the plane." Lualdi said.

Instead, he had an experience that left him "shaking in his boots." Jet lagged and his baggage lost, he was whisked over Chu Lai Division Headquarters to be interviewed by the imposing commanding Gen. General James L. Baldwin. Baldwin needed an assistant and Lualdi got the job.

The next year, with one month left in his tour of duty, Lualdi was strongly urged by Baldwin's replacement, Gen. Frederick Kroesen, to stay on in Vietnam for another year. Kroesen promoted him from specialist to sergeant and made Lualdi his aide de camp, a job traditionally held by a West Point graduate captain or lieutenant. For an enlisted man, the assignment was almost unprecedented in Army his-

He was also the — Carl Lualdi only enlisted man to dine in the commanding general's mess hall. Much of his time in Vietnam was spent viewing the war from a helicopter at the side of a general.

"I ended up flying eight hours a day. We were shot out of the air three times, but if you have a good pilot, which we did, a helicopter can land on auto rotary. It's a straight drop," he said.

"I never shot a gun or anything, but I called in a lot of air strikes."

connection between his MS and his contact with the chemical. In Vietnam, he could type 120 words a minute. Today, he pecks at the keyboard with one finger.

Today, the Veterans Administration lists 11 diseases presumed to be linked to Agent Orange exposure, including respiratory cancers, Hodgkin's Disease and non-Hodgkin's lymphoma. While MS is not among them, the list continues to grow. Current research is also focusing on spinal bifada in children of Vietnam veterans.

Regardless of any link with Agent Orange, the Veterans' Administration considers MS to be a service-related disability, if the individual is diagnosed within seven years of discharge, according to Henry Verner, the service officer in charge of the Detroit chapter of the Paralyzed Veterans of American. "I was one year too late," Lualdi said. Lualdi's plans to earn a doctorate in humanities were derailed due to health conditions. He is unmarried and lives with an adopted son.

Last month, the Oakland County Christmas In April program built a wheelchair ramp at Lualdi's residence, making it easier for the veteran to leave his home.

During the war, Lualdi was awarded one of the highest South Vietnamese honors.

The Chu Lai Division Headquar-Lualdi said he believes there is a ters of the 82nd Airborne was north of Danang in Hue, the former capitol of the emperors of Vietnam and a city rich in ancient Vietnamese culture. The division's region included the Demilitarized Zone. Hue was also the headquarters of the South Vietnamese Army Lualdi was assigned to work with South Vietnamese Lt. Gen. Nguyen Lam Trong for several days. But there wasn't enough to keep him busy and he hid out in the bathroom to read a book and smoke a cigarette. While there, he overheard several South Vietnamese generals hatching a plot against Gen. Nguyen. North of Hue, mobs of refugees were fleeing the Communists and Viet Cong were hiding among them. The idea was to have the general order gun ships to fly over and kill everyone, taking out both civilians and the

"They would have the general issue the order so he would look bad," Lualdi explained.

He told Nguyen about the plan and a few days later, he was in the helicopter with the general when a call with the orders came in over the radio. Lualdi listened in and turned down the volume on the radio.

"He didn't order the gun ships because he didn't hear what they had to say. So he didn't disobey any order. If he'd done it, he would have probably been shot and it would have looked bad for the president of Vietnam," Lualdi said.

The grateful South Vietnamese general awarded Lualdi the Vietnam Distinguished Medal of Honor

At command headquarters, Lualdi said they knew the U.S. troops were going to be pulled out.

But the South Vietnamese Army was ill-prepared to take over the war, Lualdi said: "One day my boss had to go over and wake up the Vietnamese three star generals and 'say wake up, your airspace's been invaded."

The war, Lualdi said, was "unwinnable."

"The Americans were afraid of the Chinese and they were also afraid of the Russians. There was no damn way we could have won but we didn't know that at the time," he said.

SPECIAL MEMORIAL DAY REPORT: THE VIETNAM CONFLICT

Navy flyer's untimely death still haunts Northville woman

By ROBERT JACKSON Staff Writer

A few tattered boxes and a couple of photo albums are all that Dorothy Holman has to remember her son, Jerry. Holman, a longtime Northville resident, likes to bring out the boxes from time to time and carefully sort through their contents. Each item brings back a flood of memories - a photograph of the proud mother pinning on her son's naval aviator wings, a variety of ribbons and medals awarded to the young pilot during his naval career, and dozens of letters, chronicling Jerry's travels around the world.

Then there is the Western Union telegram. Yellowed with age, the telegram's words still manage to leave a lump in Dorothy's throat despite the fact that it was delivered more than 31 years ago by a naval officer, whose knock on the door Dec. 14, 1966 changed Dorothy's life forever.

We regret to inform you ...," Dorothy repeated in a wavering voice, her eyes not focused on the telegram but on an image going back three decades. "...That your son Gerald has been killed in action."

Her voice stopped as the memory took hold.

"Even after 30 years I can't go through Jerry's things without getting emotional," she went on, almost apologetically. "The memories of him don't fade over the years. nor does the grief I feel having lost my son."

Her youngest son, Steve, sitting across the living room, looked at his mother and shook his head slowly.

'What they say is true," he said. "A parent should never outlive their child."

FUN LOVING AND ADVENTUROUS

Even before Gerald Holman enlisted as a naval aviator he was known to be fun-loving and adventurous. Dorothy remembered.

"He was always doing something, going somewhere," she said. "He was extremely outgoing, well liked, and made friends easily.

"Jerry always had a positive attitude about everything he did."

After graduating from Livonia's Bentley High School. Holman took a summer-long hitchhiking trip through France. Along the way he met up with famous film director Joshua Logan, and ended up working on the set of the movie Fanny, starring Leslie Caron and Charles Boyer.

"He was hitchhiking and Joshua Logan happened to pick him up," Dorothy explained. "They struck up a conversation and Logan took an instant liking to him.

When he dropped Jerry of at a youth hostel he told him he would be back the next day," she added. "Jerry had misunderstood him, he thought the man worked for a moving company. Before he knew it, Jerry was working on the set.'

Holman returned to the states at the end of the summer and started his college career at Eastern Michigan University in the fall.

By 1962, the country had stepped up its involvement in the Southeast Asian country of Vietnam. Dorothy said that Jerry enlisted because he knew he would eventually be drafted.

"He knew he'd have to serve and he wanted to decide what branch of the service he "Jerry would be in," she explained. We were all a bit surprised always had when he chose to be a naval aviator, because he had never a positive expressed the desire to fly attitude before.'

So Holman enlisted and was sent to flight school at about Pensacola, Fla. Several months later he had earned everything his gold aviator's wings and was detached to Navy squadron VAW-12 - Carrier Airborne Early Warning Squadron - and the aircraft carrier USS Roosevelt CVA-

He had completed one deployment to the Gulf of Tonkin, off the coast of Vietnam, and was a month away from returning stateside from his second deployment when Holman, then a Lieutenant junior grade, left the carrier deck in a propeller driven E1-B "Willy Fudd" early warning aircraft the morning of Dec. 14, 1966.

It was just a routine mission, Dorothy Holman was later told, but the events that transpired that day. half-a-world away from the Holman's Northville home, ended in a way that was anything but routine.

'DIED TRYING TO SAVE HIS CREW

The E1-B "Willy Fudd" served as the carrier battle group's eyes and ears in the sky. The first plane to take to the air during flight operations the aircraft, with its crew of eight, kept the carrier battle group apprised of all ship and aircraft movements.

According to Navy accounts, Holman was piloting an E1-B that day and at sometime during the operation the aircraft experienced engine difficulty. "They told us that one of the engines

wouldn't feather properly and that Jerry was flying the plane back to attempt a landing on the aircraft carrier," Steve Holman explained. "Because of the engine problem Jerry couldn't bring the nose up enough to allow the tailhook to grab one of the carrier's four arresting wires, so he couldn't land on the carrier."

With no way to safely land the crippled aircraft aboard the Roosevelt, Jerry decided to attempt a controlled crash landing, or "ditch," in the ocean. When he attempted the maneuver, according to the Navy report, the aircraft broke in two pieces and quickly sank beneath the - Dorothy Holman surface.

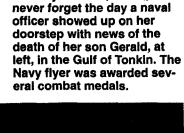

Holman, along with his copilot and one other crewmember, were killed in the crash.

They explained to us that the plane just broke up and because of the weight of all of the electronic gear, it sank before any of the rescue helicopters or ships could get to it." Steve Holman said. "According to the letter we received from Jerry's commanding officer, Jerry's actions were heroic, that he died trying to save his crew.

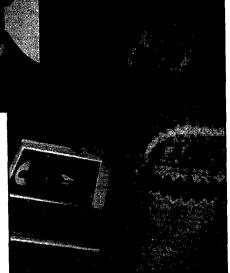

"As a pilot Jerry was one of the most competent and thorough plane comman-ders I have ever known," wrote Squadron Commander Lt. Cmdr. Stuart Reynolds. On his last flight, the manner in which he handled a highly difficult emergency situation was proficient in the extreme."

He was awarded his second Navy Combat Medal posthumously, and also received two Vietnam Campaign Medals and two National Defense Medals during his five years of military service.

Although he is officially listed as Missing in Action by the military. Holman's name appears on the wall of the Vietnam Memorial in Washington, D.C., as well as the Vietnam Veteran's POW/MIA Memorial in Novi

Dorothy Holman, below, will

Gerald Holman was 27 when the crash occurred, just three days before younger brother Steve's 13th birthday.

"I have a lot of images of my brother," Steve said solemnly. "He wasn't in my life very long, but knowing that I have a brother that I'll never be able to see again is hard."

Dorothy Holman remembers getting the news of Gerald's death as if it had just happened.

"It was in the evening and we were watching television," she recalled, her eyes again fixed on the memory. "There was a knock at the door and a naval officer wearing his dress blue uniform was standing outside. When I saw him I knew instantly that Jerry had been killed, and I remember feeling sorry for this officer for having to break the bad news."

For Dorothy Holman three decades have not erased the powerful feelings of loss. . "You would think after 30 years that it would get easier talking about it," Dorothy said. "But everyday I am aware of the loss of not having him around, knowing that he will never come back home again.

"All that we have left are the photos and letters to remind us of what he meant to all of us.

A prisoner of war for five long days, '' Mallia kept ordeal secret for 14 years

By JAN JEFFRES Staff Writer

For over a decade, Tony Mallia couldn't tell anyone about his experiences in Vietnam.

Even his family and friends didn't know he spent five days as a prisoner of war, huddled in a water-filled cage when he wasn't being interrogated and tortured hustled into the back of a truck. The two Americans were taken to a makeshift P.O.W. camp in a remote area where about 100 prisoners included Americans, Canadians, Australians, South Vietnamese and Koreans. The others appeared to have been in captivity longer, but the two newcomers were not allowed to speak to them.

"I kept it in me for 14 years. I was really holding it in for a long time. It took a lot out of me. I felt guilty because I was captured, he said.

Now a resident of Stonehenge condominiums in Novi. Mallia served from 1971 through 1972. He enlisted in the Army so he could choose his speciality, rather than be drafted and end up as a "grunt." His first assignment was to Germany, but he was rerouted to Vietnam.

Sent to the U.S. "They were air base at Cam Ranh Bay, he was a putting Specialist 4, working with the com- bamboo puters that kept track of the base's shoots up our warehouse of hell-copters and Cobra fingernails... The base was there was lot gun ships.

under fire nightly from enemy mortars. On Mallia's that gets too first night, when he was "we behind the gory to tell." ears," his roommate yanked him out of bed and into a bunker. Minutes later, their quarters were destroyed.

With his computer skills, Mallia was flown all over Vietnam at a moment's notice. His helicopter was shot down four times, but the fifth time was the last.

In early 1972, the gun ship Mallia was traveling in was caught in a fire fight. After they crashed, he was unconscious. When he regained his senses, he was surrounded by Viet Cong. Of the five-member crew, only Mallia and the warrant officer, a Texan, were alive.

"I don't know what happened to the others, whether they were killed in the crash or they shot them," Mallia said.

He was tied up, blindfolded and

They took us to a base. We didn't know where it was. I thought that was it, we're never going to see home," he said.

During the five-day ordeal. Mallia and the warrant officer were crammed into what he called "a dog kennel cage," a small underground pit covered by poisoned hamboo stakes. They were rarely allowed to sleep. It was the monsoon season and the hole was full of water.

The two Americans were questioned by the Communists every two to three hours. There was a lot of interrogating. They were putting bamboo shoots up our fingernails. They put a wet cowhide band on my head and set me in the sun. It shrinks and puts pressure on your head. There was lot of other stuff that gets too — Tony Mallia gory to tell," he said.

"Some don't survive. It depends on who they kept alive, who they didn't."

Mallia was beaten with rubber hoses and burned with cigarettes. He was 22 at the time.

"I thought about how we were going to survive or if I was ever going to see my family again, if I was going to see my mother and father and my brother," Mallia said.

"Hour by hour they kept asking us how many troops were with us, where we were going and why, how many gun ships we had. They'd say, 'if you don't tell us, we're going to shoot this person.'

"We just kept saying 'I don't know' and hoped they'd believe us.

Tony Mallia spent five days in a prisoner of war camp before successfully escaping. The Novi man still has nightmares about the torture he received from his North Vietnamese captors.

He said the guards executed by a mine-field or not. several prisoners before them in an attempt to provoke them to talk, but the nationality of the victims was unclear.

Both Mallia and the warrant officer had some combat training, but with their on-base jobs they weren't accustomed to hardship.

After overhearing the guards say they were going to send the two Americans to Hanoi "where they could to a better job of getting us to talk," Mallia and his companion made up their minds to escape.

"If it was time to get killed, we would. If not, we would survive. We'd let the Lord handle that," Mallia said.

"We believe if we went to Hanoi, we'd never come back."

Mallia said the Viet Cong guards "partied" every night and got rip-roaring drunk. One evening when their guard was passed out, the prisoners pushed out of their pit, "ran like heck," and belly-crawled under the camp's barbed wire. They didn't know if the camp was surrounded

For several days (Mallia isn't sure how long) they moved through the isolated area somewhere near the Demilitarized Zone, traveling by day and night on no food, no sleep and in a battered condition from their ordeal. Finally, they came to a remote U.S. firebase. They were far from home free.

We almost got shot by our own troops. We told them we had our dog tags in our boots. They had taken our other I.D. It took 24 hours before they were convinced we were Americans," Mallia said.

"We showed them our bruises and our finger nails."

Mallia and the Texan were kept in confinement until their story checked out. The problem was, their gun ship had been sent out without paperwork and they weren't listed as officially missing. Once their identification had been established, Mallia was sent to a hospital in Saigon, then shipped back to the U.S.

Coming home was disillusioning.

You come back to the States and everybody just treats you like who cares," he said.

The government just forgets about us. Because we lost, everyone's blaming us for being there." Back with his family in Lincoln Park, Mallia couldn't speak about what happened but he was plagued with nightmares. If he heard a jet plane boom by, he'd jump under a table.

Today, he's married and the father of a 12-year-old son. He's an assistant supervisor at Daikin Clutch USA in Belleville.

After Vietnam, Mallia applied to the Veterans Administration for assistance for post-war trauma but was turned down. Then, he began to talk about his five days as a prisoner with his wife and friends at the Lakes Baptist Church in Walled Lake.

Finally letting it all out was a relief, he said. Even so, the aftereffects linger.

"If somebody comes up behind me, it scares me," he said. "I can hardly stand being closed in a room because of being a P.O.W."

School bond proposal goes to issue of class size

The longtime Northville resident insists increasing the school's class size to a ratio of more than 30 to 1, in his estimation, would lay the overcrowding issue to rest and wouldn't adversely affect the delivery of education.

Haines has conveyed the message publicly over the past six months.

There are studies that claim that classroom size up to 35 students (per teacher) doesn't have much of an effect (on education)," Haines said recently. "Increasing the classroom size a bit won't hurt learning.

Assistant Superintendent for Operations Dave Bolitho disagrees.

"What's interesting and ironic about class size is that currently the average high school capacity is based on a 26 to 1 (student-toteacher) ratio, and when you look back to class size in the 1970s the class size was basically the same," Bolitho said. "At that time, before the expansion of the high school. classes were being taught in hallways.'

According to district enrollment figures the average class size at the high school in 1974-75 was 26.7 students, and by the end of the decade it stood at 28.

Bolitho added that despite the low numbers, some teachers run classes with more than 30 students.

"Just because the average is 26 to 1 doesn't mean that every class has only 26 students," he explained. "There are teachers in the high school that teach classes with 35 students or more."

The district maintains its student population at all three levels high school - is either at capacity or over capacity at various schools. Hardest hit by the growing number of students appear to be Cooke Middle School, Northville High School and Silver Springs Elementary, according to district population figures.

The bottom line, according to Jerry Rupley, who heads Continuing Excellence for Northville Children pro-bond organization, is that increasing class size averages won't solve the overcrowding problem but will only make it worse.

"There's only so much space and you can only fit in so many kids in a classroom," Rupley said. "After awhile you then have to look at using portable classrooms and that brings up a whole different set of problems."

Portables represent only a "quick fix" solution to the problem, according to school officials, and to use them as a longterm solution would be costly to taxpayers and adversely impact education.

"Portables over the short term make sense, but for the longterm they will be more costly to maintain and will have a long lasting effect on program delivery to students," Rupley said.

The district will be placing portable classrooms at Cooke and Meads Mill middle schools next year to keep up with the increase in student population.

Rupley also explained that a - elementary, middle school and recent district survey showed that a majority of parents with school aged children want class sizes to remain low.

"People realize that lower class size is tied to the level of quality in the delivery of education," he said. "The survey shows that parents want to keep class sizes at the current level or even lower, and the district is working toward that end.'

Haines believes school officials need to take a "realistic" look at the high school and develop alternatives for combating the growing number of students. He suggested the district return to the junior high school concept (grades 7-9) to reduce the number of students at the high school.

The concept, he admitted, would require the construction of a new elementary facility and junior high school. The two new schools would cost less than the current high school proposal, he claimed.

According to Rupley, realigning the grade levels would negatively impact the district's middle school program, which has been used as a model for school districts across the country. Haines' proposal is similar to one made earlier this year by resident Don McCulloch, who believes a new middle school should be built.

The entire bond package totals a little more than $66 million, but with approximately $4.6 million in interest income subtracted, the bond funding will total $61.5 million.

Another Cooke Middle School student is being honored for winning a national writing award.

Eighth-grader Carrie Hosman was named the winner of the 1997 Promising Young Writer Award. The contest is sponsored by the National Council of Teachers of English.

SUE A. HILLEBRAND, CLERK CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE

Election Q & As continue in May

Voters will have several opportunities to get answers to their questions about the Northville Public Schools bond election scheduled for Monday, June 9.

Superintendent Dr. Leonard R. Rezmierski has scheduled districtwide opportunities for voters to gather facts. Town meetings, cofees, and tours of Northville High School are scheduled throughout May during daytime and evening hours.

Northville Board of Education members will meet with interested citizens at a meeting on Tuesday, May 27.

The meeting begins at 7 p.m. and will include a brief explanation of the reasons elected officials scheduled the election. The meeting will be open for questions from voters

On May 20, buses will depart from the parking lot behind the board of education offices for tours of Northville High School.

Participants will board the buses at 11 a.m. and return by approximately 1 p.m.

Building and district administrators will guide citizens through the high school, providing opportunities for them to examine the building and ask questions about the June 9 ballot issue.

Those who would like to be included in one of the tours should call the office of Administrative Services at 344-8441.

Two local cafes will be the gathering places for informal questionand-answer sessions with Dr. Rezmierski, a board of education member and a building administrator.

Another coffee klatch is scheduled to take place at Tuscan Cafe on Thursday, May 22, from 9 to 10:30 a.m.

Even voters who can't find time to come to a meeting can have their bond election questions answered.

All they have to do is call the newly established Northville public school hotline. Callers who record a question on the hotline will be contacted within 24 hours.

The number is 349-3400. This service will be continued after the June 9 bond election.

New Morning School, a pre K-8 parent cooperative, celebrated its groundbreaking ceremony Monday, May 19, at the school, located at 14501 Haggerty Road just north of Schoolcraft in Plymouth Township.

The event marked the beginning of construction for phase I of the building expansion project.

When the expansion is completed in the fall of 1997. New Morning School's multi-purpose room will provide needed space for science, music and Spanish instruction. The 1.320 square foot addition is being constructed with brick veneer to match the existing building's exterior.

Seven windows will provide outside views and two entrances will be added.

These beginnings represent many months of fund-raising and planning on the part of parents. staff., and friends of New Morning School," explains Elaine Yagiela, the school's executive director. "Upon completion, the building project will give permanence to the school, both in construction and the ability to enroll additional students."

A science lab with a tile floor will occupy nearly one-third of the space.

The remaining two-thirds will be carpeted and used for music and Spanish instruction, general meetings with co-op families and other activities. Two projection screens and a display board will be con-

Focus shifts to getting help for construction

By ROBERT JACKSON Staff Writer

With the fund-raising all but completed and less than two weeks to go until buildout, Northville's playscape committee is looking to recruiting the hundreds of volunteers needed to construct "Fort Griswold."

The playscape construction will take place June 4-8, and according to volunteer coordinator Sue Egan hundreds of people are needed to help with the assembly. Volunteers are also needed to provide child care services, distribute tools and provide food for the community effort.

Playscape public relations coordinator Karren Yurgalite said more than 1,500 volunteers are being sought.

"In five days the site will go from nothing to a fabulous new wooden playground," Yurgalite said. "It promises to be one of the biggest community events of the year."

A wide variety of tasks will be offered. Enlisting volunteers for skilled and unskilled construction work is the group's main concern, according to Egan, but non-construction jobs like childcare, food service, runners, tool personnel, and first aid are needed as well.

"There is no problem that cannot be solved with more people," she said.

"Davison, Mich., which constructed their playscape this past weekend, had more than 1,800 volunteers.

The five day work schedule shapes up like this:

• June 4 - First shift 8 a.m. to noon; second shift, 12:30 to 5 p.m.; third shift, 5:30 p.m. to dusk. Major work will be pole setting and requires 125 strong people per shift.

• June 5/6 - First shift 8 a.m. to noon; second shift, 12:30 to 5 p.m.; third shift, 5:30 p.m. to dusk. Major work will be framing the structure and requires 150 people per shift.

• June 7/8 - First shift, 8 a.m. to noon; second shift 12:30 to 5 p.m.; third shift, 5:30 p.m. to dusk. Major work will be finishing "In five days the site will go from nothing to a fabulous new wooden playground."

the structure and requires 200 people per shift.

Yurgalite said no one under 10 will be allowed on the work site. Children ages 10-13 may work alongside a parent.

Teens 14-17 may work independently on a crew but cannot use power tools.

Childcare services will be available and provided by First Presby-terian Church of Northville. Arrangements must be made ahead of time. Children may stay a maximum of four hours per day, and parents need to pack a lunch, breakfast, or sack dinner for their children, depending on the time of day

For childcare arrangements or information call Egan at 349-4579.

Yurgalite also explained that anyone wishing to help with food service and preparation or provide cookies, cupcakes, covered dishes or paper products can contact Liz Burns at 349-3354.

Yurgalite explained that the same person dropping off a child must also pick the child up at the end of the time period.

anteed to be returned in as-good or better condition than when loaned. If a tool breaks during construction, it will be repaired or replaced, he said.

The tool drop-off days are scheduled for May 31, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; June 1, from noon to 5 p.m.; and June 2 from 5 to 8 p.m. All tools should be dropped off at the playscape site on Griswold Street. across from the Water Wheel Health Club.

"During the tool check in, the tools will be labeled with an engraver or marker using a number system," Smith explained. Each donor will be assigned a number and all of their tools will be labeled with that number."

Smith is also seeking volunteers to work the tool trailer during buildout days.

They will hand out tools to workers, repair tools, and change saw blades and drill bits," he said. "Retired people with tool experience, who may not be able to do some of the heavier construction work, are perfect candidates for these positions."

Local contractors and businesses that have already donated tools and equipment include Marsh Power Tools, Long Plumbing, Michigan CAT, Brickscape, Conley Crane, DANNA Construction. Ameritech, Metro Transport, Northville Lumber, Zayti Trucking, Detroit Edison, BFI, Black's Hardware, and Kocian Construction.

For more information regarding tool donations contact Smith at 344-7169.

Wednesday night, volunteer Tom Cook began tearing up the asphalt floor of the parking lot on Griswold where the playscape will be built. Using a large tractor he owns himself, Cook was expected to work yesterday, today and tomorrow to complete the work.

On Saturday, Frank Kocian of Kocian Excavating was planning to load the asphalt pieces onto a truck owned by Jim Zayti. Zaytı then will transport the asphalt chunks to Copeland Paving in Novi for dumping.

The former parking lot, owned by the city, will be used as the site of the playscape. McDonald Ford had been leasing the lot and using it as a storage area for its cars.

City OKs budget for new fiscal year

Overall expenditures to dip roughly 5%

By ROBERT JACKSON Staff Writer

With little fanfare and virtually no public comment the Northville City Council approved its fiscal year 1997-98 budget this week.

The council conducted a public hearing on the budget Monday. but received no comment on the fiscal plan, according to City Manager Gary Word.

It was a quiet hearing and I think that anyone who had comments regarding the budget asked their questions during previous budget meetings," he said.

The city also set its operating millage rate to 12.99 mills, an increase of 0.1 mill over the current 12.89 rate.

The city's overall millage rate, which includes operations, debt, and improvements, was set at 16.03 mills, a decrease of 0.06 mills from the current rate.

One mill generates approximately $218,000 in revenue for the city treasury

Word explained that preparation for the new budget has been guided by the constraints of emerging from a deficit position in prior years.

"While the deficit has been eliminated (we) are aware of the expenditure and service cuts and unpopular tax increases that were imposed to balance the budget and build financial stability," he remarked.

"Fortunately, the city was able to increase the fund balance to the highest level in city history, yet it is significantly short of the goal of achieving an on-going fund bal-ance of at least 20 to 25 percent of the city's budget."

The city's revenue and spending plan is pretty straightforward and represents a continuation of previous levels of service in all departments, according to Word.

On the revenue side, the city expects to receive $4.5 million during the next fiscal year. That's a 5 percent decrease over the $4.7 million the city collected this year. Word said that 1994's Proposal A has had a major impact on rev-

"While property values continue to escalate, the increases in tax-able value for the next fiscal year are limited to 2.8 percent under Proposal A," he said.

"Further, the city's single largest source of revenue, property tax, decreased 9 percent from last year.

The budget calls for a similar 5 percent decrease in expenditures. For fiscal year 1997-98 the city expects to spend a little less than $4.5 million, $200,000 less than city officials spent this current fiscal year.

While expenditures are up in most departmental categories, they are offset by a huge debt service decrease brought about by the retirement of bond debt, Word explained.

Here's how the city's major departments plan to spend their tax dollars during fiscal year 1997-98:

City Manager's office $147,320, a 5.7 percent increase from the current budget. • City Attorney's office $116,850, a 6 percent decrease from the current budget.

• City Clerk's office - $164.240. a 3 percent increase from the cur-rent budget.

· Finance and Computer operations – $189,445, a 10 percent increase from current levels.

• Building and Grounds -$371,260, a 17 percent increase from the current budget.

 Police Department – $1.7 million, an 8 percent increase from current levels.

• Fire Department - $190,906, a 6 percent increase from the current budget.

• Public Works - $418,005, a 2.9 percent increase from current lev-

• Debt service - $167,625, a 71 percent decrease from the current budget.

Word said that the financial planning document will keep the city on track regarding its current goals and expectations. "In presenting this budget every effort has been made to reflect the stated policies, goals, and objectives of the city council within the financial means available," he said

State Capitol capsules.

State legislators drop 3,000 bills into the hopper in a twoyear session of the Michigan Legislature, but few have received the fanfare given to Rep. Gerald Law's three-bill package to ban private owner-ship of wolf-dogs and other exotic pets.

Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, Michigan Humane Society chief Gary Tiscornia, Beth (the Wolf Lady) Duman, actress Tippi Hedren, the mother of a 5-year-old who was killed in 1989 by a hybrid-wolf and others crowded a Capitol conference room to launch the bills sponsored by Law, R-Plymouth.

Hybrid wolf-dogs are more dangerous than wolves because they are more unpredictable and have less fear of humans, according to the Michigan and American Veterinary Medical associations.

"Eleven children have already been killed nationally by wolftype 'pets,'" said Duman, a Howell resident. In the 1970s she toured many schools with her timber wolf, Nahanni. She now is the regional coordinator for the North American Wildlife Park Foundation of Battle Ground, Ind.

Law said his bills would allow persons who already own an exotic animal to keep them, providing minimum standards of care and housing are met and licenses paid for.

The bills also will apply to exotic and native wild cats, bears and primates.

NO TO CIGARETTES

Both chambers of the Legislature are considering bills restricting cigarettes:

• Senate Bills 341, 445-455 and 461 would ban billboard advertising for cigarettes. SB 341 is sponsored by Loren Bennett, R-Canton. It's part of a package aimed at removing billboards from certain routes.

• Rep. Frank Fitzgerald, R-Grand Ledge, has sponsored a bill to require cigarette manufacturers to disclose their ingredients.

undersized water main along Baseline Road between Center Street and Novi Street to improve water flows to the city's northeast side.

· Caldwell Road - It is proposed that an existing three inch water line be replaced with a new eight inch water main on Caldwell Road between Main Street and Bloomcrest.

• Allen Drive - Another area that has a long history of water main breaks, this small and defective water main will be entirely replaced.

• Novi Street - In order to improve fire protection flows to the city's northeast side, the existing undersized water main will be replaced.

 South Rogers Street - This project calls for the replacement of the existing water main along South Rogers Street between Main and Seven Mile Road to improve water flow to the city's southwest

All projects are scheduled to be completed by 2002, according to city officials.

City officials are also concerned by an increase in the water loss ratio from 13 percent (from June 1995) to 22 percent (in December 1996). A 10 percent (in December 1996). A 10 percent fluctuation in water loss equates to about $170,000, according to City Man-ager Gary Word.

Word added that Northville should strive to maintain a mini-mum of $500,000 in working capital in the water and sewer fund for emergencies, according to a recent recommendation from city auditors Plante & Moran.

"This is important based on the age of the water and sewer system and related likelihood of significant, unforeseen repairs," Word said.

This will be the second straight year the city has increased water and sewer rates. The city council set new rates in January of last year.

According to Word, the council reviews the rates each year to make sure the water and sewer fund remains stable.

Reps quarrel over tests

By TIM RICHARD Staff Writer

The Michigan Senate and House are in a tangle over whether High School Proficiency Test marks should be noted on a graduate's records

Parents and students have objected to the cryptic proficient, novice, and not yet novice notations that are based on 11th grade test scores. Legislators are trying to change it.

Trouble is, the Senate has amended the supplemental school bill one way, while the House has amended the main 1998 K-12 aid bill another way.

In the Senate, Democratic floor leader Virgil Smith of Detroit Republican Mike accused Bouchard of Birmingham of "plagiarizing" and "stealing" a Democratic amendment. Democrats Gary Peters of Bloomfield Township and Ken DeBeaussaert of Macomb County threw in a tangle of amendments before the air was cleared.

in the end, senators agreed: • There would be a one-year moratorium on printing all proficiency marks on diplomas.

• A graduate of age 18 or one parent could request the notation of a state-endorsed diploma and notations of "proficient" on the graduate's transcript. That bill was passed 36-0 with two members absent - John Cher-ry, D-Clio, and George Z. Hart, D-Dearborn - and sent to the House.

A week earlier, the House amended the school aid bill to pro-vide students' transcripts will include their state proficiency test scores. That bill is scheduled for Senate committee action May 20. Both sides of the Senate aisle took credit for the amendment. Bouchard's news release gave him credit for sponsoring the amendment placing a one-year moratorium on reporting test results on diplomas and transcripts.

We have honor students in my district who have failed the test, yet are attending excellent coleges," Bouchard said. "This raises some serious questions about the High School Proficiency Test and whether it accurately tests a student's aptitude.'

Peters and DeBeaussaert produced their own news release saying they were "glad to see the Republicans follow (our) lead on changes to the state's controversial High School Proficiency Tests."

Peters added that his amendment to the Bouchard amendment allowed students who did well to ave their good performances recorded. "This is a tough test. and a student who does well should be allowed to have it noted. However ... we should hold harmless those students who do not do as well." he said. The test attracted much attention when hundreds of high school students skipped them last year. But top officials in the Department of Education insist the high school proficiency tests are here to stay. "Tell them to take the test," said State Board of Education member Clark Durant, R-Grosse Pointe. summing up board opinion.

There shouldn't be waivers at all." added state board member Sharon Wise, R-Owosso.

Top administrators are firm that the tests shouldn't be changed though they could be better managed.

"Changes in the test are not recommended at this time," said Art Ellis, superintendent of public instruction. "I have not had one comment from a superintendent to change the test. They say, 'We need this. Tough it out.'

Anne Hansen, a deputy state superintendent, quoted school administrators from southeastern Michigan as saying, "We believe in this test" and a superintendent in western Michigan as saying, "We cannot afford to lose this test. It's the most important single item in educational instruction reform."

To add to the confusion, both chambers are scheduling hearings around the state to get public comments on the proficiency tests.

The House Education Committee's hearings are scheduled for:

• Dearborn Heights - Friday, June 6, from 1-4 p.m. Annapolis High, 20629 Annapolis.

Senate Education Committee chair Joanne Emmons, R-Big Rapids, said she, too, will schedule hearings around the state. "We need to fix the test in some fashion, but, by golly, a long as I'm chairman, we're going to learn to listen to the teachers first."

If you've got a pet you've got to e PetsMart.

Northville Township's newest ousiness, located in the Northville Centre shopping plaza at Six Mile nd Haggerty, is a one-stop shop or just about everything your furry, feathered or scaly friend could ever need, according to store irrector Steve Thompson.

Opening this Tuesday, May 27, PetsMart is part of a national hain. The Northville Township store vill be its 362nd outlet. It offers 25,000 square feet of everything rom food to dog obedience classes o a full-service grooming salon and even veterinarian offices. We try to put all the products and services you'd want under one roof," Thompson explained.

Supplies for all kinds of small animals can be found there - from dogs and cats to fish and ferrets.

The store aims at providing the widest selection for the best prices everything, on Thompson remarked.

The aisles are filled with collars. leashes, bowis, crates and toys, along with even harder to find items like dog houses and horse feed.

"When you're looking for something this is the place to come," Thompson said.

We're not talking just equipment or food, either. If you're in the market to buy a fish or live bird, PetsMart has hundreds to choose from.

The store also features a "luv a pet" adoption center. PetsMart shops nationwide provide special pet housing areas on the premises for use by local animal rescue groups and humane societies.

Those organizations supervise the care of the animals, Thompson explained, "and they try to find them good homes."

The lives of more than 150,000 animals housed at PetsMart shops were saved last year, according to Thompson.

Bullard to propose tax reform measure

Sen. Bill Bullard Jr., R-Milford, said he will introduce a bill to exempt more businesses from the single business tax (SBT).

Current law exempts businesses with gross receipts of $250,000 or less and applies to about 40,000 businesses. Bullard, who chairs the Senate Taxation Committee, would raise that limit to $500,000. There was no estimate of how many more businesses would be exempted or the expected reduction to the state treasury.

Bullard represents Oakland County Northville in the Michigan Senate.

U-M claims undergrad education

By TIM RICHARD Staff Writer

Despite its world-class professional schools, the University of Michigan is still devoted to using faculty rather than graduate assistants in undergraduate education, President Lee Bollinger says.

is priority

"I myself will teach a class in freedom of the press to 75 to 100 students. It will symbolize the commitment of the institution," said Bollinger, in his first semester as president of the costliest of the state's 15 public universities.

The number of professors who teach at least one undergraduate course is very, very high - 90 percent. It's a misconception that full professors don't teach undergraduates

"I've spent my whole life teaching." said Bollinger, 50, a former U-M law school dean who was hired as president after two years as a provost on the east coast.

The contact with students outside the classroom is also an area where we need to put more effort." he said. Bollinger said he is still formulating a plan to increase contact with big faculty names and students.

Besides his own teaching and receptions at the president's house, he cited more academic counseling ("here we do not have the resources to help students early on"). research opportunities for undergraduates, and "some kind of course in intellectual histo-- how countries turn from authoritarianism to democracy. how countries go to free markets.

Bollinger was quizzed May 9 in Detroit by members of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee on er education.

"ALL TOGETHER NOW"...

The Botsford Health Care Continuum Works together in concert to bring you compassionate, comprehensive care...

Care that involves keeping you well,

Bollinger hesitated to commit the U-M to holding a tuition increase to the rate of consumer price inflation, a little under 3 percent.

"Our ability to give the public what it wants will be tempered" by holding the line. The price of holding down tuition would be fewer students engaged in research and larger class sizes, he said.

INDEPENDENTS HELPED

Although the state doesn't give general aid to private colleges, it does aid some of their students.

The Association of Independent Colleges and Universities of Michigan put in a plug for $67 million worth of line items in the higher education budget bill.

"Our percentage of minority students went from 18.76 last year to 19.51 this year," Marygrove College President John E. Shay Jr. said. "We save the taxpayers $250 million per year."

"Michigan tuition grants and other assistance programs are essential to serving our students," Cleary College President Thomas Sullivan added. Sullivan said Cleary hosts the Livingston Charer Technical Academy, a statesupported school that uses Cleary's library and other facilities. State grants are "absolutely essential" to dental students, said Bruce Graham, the dean of the dental college at University of Detroit Mercy, which ranks with U-M as the only dental schools in the state.

Here are the programs that aid tudents attending private coleges:

• Tuition grants - $57.6 million ecommended by the governor; 59 million voted by the House.

 Dental degree – $4.5 million ecommended; $4.6 million voted y House.

• General degree - $5.1 recomnended; $5.26 voted by House.

Novi home tightens security following walkaway incident

By JAN JEFFRES & WENDY PIERMAN MITZEL

Whitehall Healthcare Center is working to increase its security measures after an 88-year-old Alzheimer's patient escaped for over three hours on May 3 and was discovered by police in a private school along Novi Road.

It was the second time in five days that Arthur Frome, a retired roofer, roamed away from the Ten Mile Road facility. He was wearing a Wanderguard bracelet that triggers a sensor alarm system on the nursing home's doors when a patient attempts to leave.

Rebecca Dutzy, the administrator of the facility and a registered, said the alarm may have been shut off at the time, Frome, a new patient, exited.

"Every door in the building has an alarm system on it. The lobby even has a lot of alarms in it, so visitors and family, when they are exiting with the patient, they actually have to turn the alarm off," Dutzy said.

"If somebody's up there, they can slip out."

In the past, the nursing home gave family members the code to deactivate the alarm when they wanted to take their Alzheimer patient out. Now, the facility will only allow staff members to have the code, Dutzy said.

But two family members of Whitehall patients say a state law must be changed to increase the ratio of certified nursing aides (CNAs) to patients. In February, family members of Whitehall residents formed their own organization, in part in response to staffing concerns, said Rose Laskowski, acting president of the group. "It could have been anyone's mother or father who walked out of the home. It's not the first time. It's started our concern that there isn't enough staffers,"Laskowski, a Novi resident, said. "I don't think the minimum requirement is enough. If it was, we wouldn't have walk-aways.' Dutzy speculates that Frome may have left while a rush of Mother's Day visitors departed. His absence was noticed at about 5:30 p.m. by a nurse who distributes medicine to patients. When Frome didn't show up, the nurse checked his room and found he was gone. "Near the beginning of the disease, they do become very active. Some think they're going home or they're going to work," Dutzy said. "He always wanted to go to work." The first time he left Whitehall, Frome was actually recovered before he was reported missing, Novi Police Officer Diane MacGregor said. That was on May 7, when Frome strayed from the building and two people at the nearby Michigan National Bank noticed him, shoeless and looking confused, at an ATM machine. They contacted the police. MacGregor responded and returned him to Whitehall. On Sunday, nearly a dozen officers trudged through the swamps and fields near the center searching for the elderly man, but he had taken refuge in the unlocked Novi/Northville Montessori School a few buildings down on Novi Road. Novi police called in a U.S. Coast Guard helicopter to assist, as well as the Wolverine Canine Units. Officer Paul Leslie located Frome at 8:20 p.m., just as the additional help arrived. Frome's family has an unlisted number and could not be reached for comment. Dutzy said she is working with them to transfer him to another facility with a locked section for Alzheimer's patients.

Laskowski said the families in her organization are concerned about a change in ownership at Whitehall several months ago.

Her 81-year-old mother, who has lived at Whitehall for three years, is an Alzheimer's patient who stays in a wheelchair.

"My mother fell off the toilet and got a black eye. If a CNA or nurse had been with her and not just sat her on the toilet and left her, that wouldn't have happened, Laskowski said.

State regulations call for one employee per every eight patients in the daytime shift. For the evening shift, the ratio is one to 12 and is increased to one to 15 during the midnight shift.

Dutzy said Whitehall meets and even exceeds the state's requirements for staffing at nursing homes

That's not enough, said Monika Jackson-Stroh, who works as a volunteer patients' advocate and has festified on the-issue before the state house.

"It's easy to get out. I myself have four times seen people get out," Jackson-Stroh said.

EMU unveils plans for textile school

By TIM RICHARD Staff Writer

Eastern Michigan University, for almost 150 years a producer of teachers and school administrators, is adding a textiles institute.

"Michigan is the largest producer of automotive interiors in the nation and the second largest producer of furniture in the nation," EMU President William E. Shelton told a Senate panel on higher education appropriations. "The EMU Textiles Institute will provide a training center for industry employees and students and specialize in two- and three-dimensional computer-aided design."

"It will collaborate with Grand Rapids Community College to serve manufacturers in western Michigan," added Shelton, citing such industrial firms as La-Z-Boy, Johnson Controls, Lear Corp. and Computer Design Inc.

Only four other states have textiles institutes - North and South Carolina, Georgia and Mississippi. Michigan is the only northern state with one.

"I like the idea of a Textiles Institute," said Sen. John J.H. Schwarz, R-Battle Creek, chair of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee on state aid to 15 public universities.

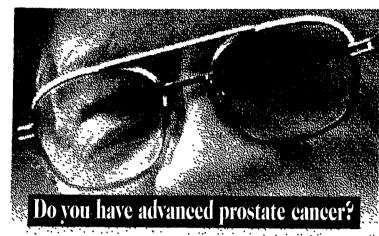

The institute was one of Shelton's big pieces of evidence to show EMU, based in Ypsilanti, is providing community service as well as people prepared to teach and run schools. It was founded in 1849 as a "normal" school for teacher preparation.

"We provide more educational personnel than anyone in America," said Shelton. "We held the tuition increase under 3 percent," Shelton went on. "Our Board of Regents is meeting in June to set the rate for next year. We are committed to being under 3 percent. We ask your support to hold tuition to reasonable levels.'

Gov. John Engler has recommended $75 million for EMU, up 2.5 percent over the current year. The House of Representatives voted $76.7 million, up 4.8 percent.

"Not without trouble," said Shelton, "but yes, we can make it. There will be no student fee increase.'

In January, EMU hiked its general fee from $13.33 per credit hour to $14 and to $15 for the fall of 1997, partly in support of a new Convocation Center scheduled for completion in 1998.

Shelton said EMU in the current year ranks eighth - in the middle of 15 state universities - in tuition at $3.534.

Others in the region are: University of Michigan - Ann Arbor, $6,074; UM-Dearborn, $4,006; Oakland University, $3.761; and Why all the fuss over roads?

By TIM RICHARD Staff Writer

Wondering why something so apparently simple as fixing roads is proving so difficult? Here are answers to some of the most frequently asked questions on the subject.

9. Can you - or anybody explain simply why the debate over fixing roads has become so complicated?

A. We'll try. There are three elements:

• More money. This breaks down into: a) higher fuel and weight taxes, b) other savings from the budget, and c) more federal aid.

• Shifting control of 23,000 miles of county and municipal roads to the state, more than tripling the Department of Transportation's jurisdiction to 33,000 miles.

• Auto insurance – allowing drivers to buy less, if they wish, in order to pay for higher fuel taxes.

9. Any predictions on the tax question?

A. Yes. Up. Details depend on what deal is struck between the governor, the Senate and the House; between Democrats and Republicans. It's a money question, and money always can be compromised.

In the House, look for most of the 70 representatives who can't run in 1998 because of term limits to provide the bulk of the yes votes, leaving the first- and second-termers to vote no.

G. Gov. John Engler campaigns on "promises made, promises kept." Did he ever promise to take over 23,000 miles of local roads?

A. No, neither did any legislator. In fact, shifting control of local roads to the state never has been an issue in any circle.

Actually, legislative pressure has been in the other direction – returning county roads and county money to townships, as proposed by Sen. Loren Bennett, R-Canton, to the consternation of the Wayne County administration.

Amy Tan's novel The Hundred Secret Senses will be the topic of discussion on Monday, June 9, at the library's monthly book discussion group starting at 7 p.m.

Tan's novel focuses on two sisters, Kwan and Olivia, who are struggling to understand each other. Kwan believes in the spirit world and communicates with ghosts using her "yin" eyes. Olivia prefers to rule her life with logic and American traditions.

Time to retool city's utility funding plan they proposed a change in way road repairs in Northville are financed. It was such a good idea, in fact, we think they should consider applying it to the city's water and sewer program.

Already higher than many other metro-area communities, the city's water and sewer rates are poised to go up again, this time by 7 percent for water and 3 percent for sewer. The Northville City Council approved the increases at a meeting on Monday.

It's the second consecutive year water and sewer customers will see higher bills from the city.

Unfortunately, there's little that anyone can do about the higher fee schedule, which is particularly hurtful to seniors and people living on fixed incomes. The fact is that Detroit and Wayne County, which run the metropolitan-area's utility system, are increasing their rates and the city has little choice but to pass the new fees on to local customers.

In addition to bearing the brunt of the higher charges for the operation of the system, city residents also face the prospect of having to pay out large sums of tax dollars for costly repairs to City officials had a good idea when the city's aging utility lines. According to Wade-Trim Associates, who serve as consultants for the city, major repair projects will soon be needed at several juncture points in the city's network of underground hook-ups.

Earlier this year, city officials asked voters to approve a shift in the way road maintenance is financed. Instead of using periodic bond issues to pay for needed repairs, why not switch to a dedicated millage which could be levied in perpetuity and provide a steady stream of capital for improvements?

We thought it was a good idea and apparently the voters did, too. The request passed by a 3-1 margin.

Millage financing is preferable to bonded indebtedness for two reasons: first, it promotes longterm, proactive planning by avoiding the piecemeal approach of taking your chances at the polls every five or 10 years; and secondly, it eliminates the payment of interest required in the retiring of bonds and so is more cost effective.

Rates are destined to go up no matter which funding method is used, but millage financing can help spare property owners at least some of the burden of steep yearly increases.

Meet the office chow-down team:

News is no picnic.

It's also not a two-hour, threemartini lunch with secret sources who wish to be heard but always ask that their comments be kept "off the record."

Lunch hour at the office keeps our microwave humming from 11 a.m. until sometimes 2 p.m. as the nuking of the frozen food, leftovers and canned food is under way.

There are times when we've thought of installing one of those little take-a-number machines in our little 4-by-9-foot kitchen.

Somehow each reporter knows which frozen food entree in the "ice box" is theirs, even though the selection on some days rivals that offered in a grocery store.

Occasionally a confused, half-starved reporter will ask, "Did I bring the lasagna today or did someone else?'

The hungriest reporter usually starts the chain of events, to the dismay of others who were hoping to keep their stomachs at bay just a tad bit longer.

A typical lunch hour begins with a warning.

"Sorry guys, but I gotta eat," Wendy might say

"Don't cook that Wendy, (louder) WENDY, (still louder) WENDY," Bob might shout out. "Now you've gone and done it. I wasn't thinking about eating for another hour.'

The blend of aromas from macaroni and cheese, chicken noodle soup and lemon chicken even brings the receptionists up from the first floor occasionally.

It's like the domino affect. The first one gets all the others going. "How come yours always smell better than mine," or

"Ohhh, what smells so good," Jan might ask.

This past Monday, Bob started the lunch hour by zapping his frozen macaroni and cheese at 11:30 a.m.

John Heider / In Focus

Lunch for reporters at the Northville Record and Novi followed by Wendy warming up the chicken and rotini soup.

I, though, brought leftover chicken Parmesan, mashed potatoes and peas which needed reheating. Karen from advertising came down from the third floor at 1 p.m. to cook her dietetic frozen lasagna. Jan concluded the feasting by reheating leftover pizza at 1:15. p.m.

Reporters nibble so much that we asked our Snack Shack source to increase the number of boxes she brings to the office. We can now choose from three boxes of cookies, chips, candy and pretzels.

We do keep nutrition in mind when eating. Scott, the most health conscious of the bunch, often has low-fat lunches and snacks. We also compare the nutritional content of the frozen food while it is cooking. Being able to read those ingredients is another thing.

Reporters also have their own stash in their desks, popcorn and pretzels being the most common.

The big popcorn cookers are Wendy and myself. We try to hold off till after lunch, giving our stomachs at least half an hour to digest our lunches.

"Don't cook that popcorn," Bob warns as one of us begins to rustle the plastic wrapper.

"Help yourself," is the usual reply. "Popcorn's good for you.'

Lee bounds in and out of the newsroom all day presumably to keep his reporters informed of breaking news, but we all know he is checking out the snack availability. But we can always count on Lee to offer us the pastries and hand-made candies he pops out to buy during the day.

Staff meetings on Thursdays seem incomplete without donuts or muffins.

Maybe you've smelled the aroma wafting from the windows of our second floor editorial room in the summer and wondered where the new restaurant is. Because there's at least one thing reporters love to do more than go to meetings, and that's eat.

Memorial Day: A great nation's great tradition

All people need an opportunity to protesters, Memorial Day has always there's no better time for that than Memorial Day, a day set aside to honor the thousands of men and women who made the ultimate sacrifice while serving in their nation's conflicts.

Memorial Day is usually viewed as a day of leisure by Americans, with barbecues and picnics the order of the day. But most people also take time to pause and consider the true meaning of the holiday.

Accounts of the origins of Memorial express their gratitude and we believe been a time to honor our country's fall: en heroes. Local residents will have a chance to kill two birds with one stone this Monday, using Northville's Memorial Day parade both as a time to remember the incalculable sacrifices of Americans and as an occasion to have some good oldfashioned red, white and blue fun. The parade starts at 10 a.m. on Main Street and will feature a colorful procession of bands and marchers.

More than mere entertainment, though, the event will include a tribute at the bridge at Rural Hill Cemetery, where a wreath will be tossed into the creek below, and spoken tributes at historic settings inside the Rural Hill compound. We're hoping for a good turnout for the ceremonies scheduled for Monday, both as a way of showing appreciation toward the many veterans groups that organized the event and as a way of participating in one of the great traditions of a great country.

Day differ, but evidently the observance began just after the Civil War when people designated a special day to decorate gravesites and remember their war dead. Gradually the ceremony grew more formalized and became associated each year with the last Monday in May.

Except for a period during the late 1960s and early '70s, when military commitments were viewed as opportunistic actions by Vietnam War

Sheldon couldn't have foreseen this

Sheldon Road, known as Center Street when it runs through Northville, was named for Timothy Sheldon, an early pioneer of the area. Traveling west out of Detroit, Timothy and his wife Rachel settled in Canton Township in June of 1825.

The year 1825 was significant in the development of Michigan. In the spring of that year, the widely anticipated Erie Canal was opened, providing a more direct route from New York to Lake Erie and across to Detroit.

Many easterners came to Michigan via that route, and a number continued even further west. One such destination was Fort Dearborn, which became the city of Chicago.

Enough early travelers passed along the rugged Indian trail in 1825 to warrant the establishment of a Detroit-to-Chicago road. First called the Sauk Trail, the road was known for many years as simply the Chicago Road. It is what we know today as Michigan Avenue.

The creation of the road also led to the settlement of many communities en route, and Timothy and Rachel Sheldon were among those who found their Michigan home as a result of traveling this pathway.

Like the well known innkeeper Conrad "Coon" Ten-Eyck years before them, who opened an inn along the same road just outside Detroit in Dearborn, the Sheldons decided to do the same. They built a roomy inn along the side of the Chicago Road which served many a traveler well during the settlement of Michigan in the 1820s and '30s.

The Sheldons probably couldn't have picked a more ideal spot for their inn. As if serving as a convenient resting place for weary travels passing by wasn't enough, approval came for the establishment of a territorial road in 1831.

The report of March 3, 1831, described the route of the Territorial Road, "...commencing at or near the inn of Timothy S. Sheldon, on the Chicago Road, in the township of Plymouth, and running thence through the village of Ann Arbor west to the mouth of St. Joseph's river" all the way to the shores of Lake Michigan.

The Sheldons remained on their farm, running their inn at the crossroads of Chicago, Territorial (now Geddes) and North (later to be called Sheldon) roads.

According to Canton historian Diane Wilson, by 1835 the area became known as Sheldon's Corners. It soon evolved into a small town, including "a one-room school, two churches, blacksmith shops, a cobbler shop, two general stores, a creamery, and several wellordered homes.

Timothy Sheldon served his namesake community well, as the first postmaster of the village and a trustee of the Methodist church.

When a railroad line was opened in 1837, Sheldon Village was on the route to and from Detroit and Ypsilanti.

The intersection of Sheldon, Geddes and Michigan roads, once known as Sheldon's Corners, is today a busy one, more so than Timothy Sheldon ever could have imagined. Writing to his cousin John Pitts Sheldon in 1833, Timothy stated, "the rage for emigration has increased beyond calculation."

Seniors can't 🖉 afford increase

To the editor:

The supporters of a new high school make it sound so easy and painless "only just a few dollars each week."

The real story is, each year property taxes, water and sewage rates, service rates, municipal services, food and commodity prices increase. This real economic situation is tough on retirees and seniors trying to sustain a quality of life based on fixed incomes.

If supporters of a new high school are so dedicated, let them exempt retirees and seniors from any financial involvement.

What is not so commonly known is that Northville spends the least per pupil of the eight southeast Michigan school districts scoring highest on the Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) tests.

Specifically, according to the Michigan Department of Education's report cited in the Jan. 16 issue of The Northville Record. Northville ranked No. 2 on overall MEAP scores in 1996, and spent $6,702 per pupil. Birmingham schools, which ranked No. 1, spent $9,705 per pupil.

Other measures demonstrate the active and successful pursuit of cost effectiveness by school district managers. On the advice of its auditors. "If the vote had succeeded, I suppose we'd have had to call out the army. There's no way we're going to break up our country."

Here in Michigan, just over the border from Canada, it's a little unsettling to hear otherwise calm and reasonable people speak casually about calling out the army. But it's a perfect example of how incendiary ethnic and language politics can become, even in a country as superficially phlegmatic in character and mostly homogeneous in race as Canada.

Now think about how explosive such politics can be in a country as heterogeneous as our

Quite a mix.

It's not surprising to see notices in Japanese

Some advocates argue passionately that teaching kids who speak little English in their native language preserves the integrity of their cultures and gives them a needed lift toward fluency in English. Some years ago, this line of thought went so far in Ann Arbor (where else?) that some black parents sued the school district to require "Black English" ("Ebonics," in recent terms) be taught to black kids.

I can't agree. Sure, we ought to give kids who can't speak English a helping hand while they're learning.

But to do anything more is just going to hurt them. At the end of the day, they'll have to learn English in order to participate fully in the society to which they (or their parents) wanted willingly to come.

The one thing that unites this country that is more heterogeneous than any other in history is the English language.

Doing anything to reduce this common bond is to play with fire.

No easy answers to classroom discipline

What are some typical student problems teachers face? What might a teacher do to help?

Here are two specific cases teachers have dealt with, problems that any teacher will recognize.

The first involves a girl who had a poor grade until this semester, but who is now doing well in every subject but one. "You're in danger of failing history," the teacher told her.

"What seems to be the trouble?"

'I just can't do it," she replies. "What do you mean? Do you do your homework? Do you study for ...

"I said I just can't do it," she whines.

"There must be a reason. You're bright enough. Do you ...

"I said I can't do it. That's the reason," she

As Henry Ford is reported to have said, "If you think you can or you think you can't, you're probably right.

Ultimately, she failed history. However, her report card is looking better than previous cards despite the history marks. So, while the teacher couldn't convince her to work on history, her other grades gave her the confidence to pass it the next time. That, and her increasing maturity should carry her to greater success in each subsequent semester.

Why didn't the teacher "make" her do her history? The teacher could have pulled out all the stops, called her mother in, nagged the girl and threatened her with detention.

This may have worked, but at a cost. She was getting satisfaction out of doing well in her other classes. She was learning to be selfdirected. If the school had come down on her for doing poorly in history, she might have seen that her efforts were really not her own and that she was working only to keep the teachers off her back.

says, her voice rising, mouth contorted. "I just her own. By failing, she learned a valuable les-can't do it." son: that it was her decision to fail. She knew from her other classes that she was capable. Now she was applying that lesson to all her classes, including history.

The second case involves the stunted esteem of an intelligent, painfully shy, 17-year-old young man.

"I never talk in class. I don't know why. I'll have an idea and someone else will say it. I always want to say something, but something keeps me from saying it.'

This is a much more basic problem than the first. The teacher simply made a point of asking him for his opinions in class. As he gained confidence, he volunteered his thoughts more often. Now he can't be shut up, the teacher is proud to say.

It's the day-to day-decisions that teachers make in the small things that make school good or bad. Good teachers, like good parents, do their part, a decision at a time, day after day, to help students mature.

Detroit Edison plans to build new power substation in Novi

By WENDY PIERMAN MITZEL Staff Writer

Novi needs more power. So says Detroit Edison. A population increase in western Novi means the electric company must build another power substation within the city limits.

"As your city grows, so must our service with it," said Mick Blunden of Detroit Edison.

The company received approval from the Novi Planning Commission last week to build the two transformers and switchgear building on 13 acres west of Echo Valley subdivision, south of Ten Mile Road and west of Beck Road.

The site and switchgear building that will house the electrical controls will be screened from the homeowners by landscaping and berming. A fence will surround the site for protection. Blunden said Detroit Edison will abide by the city's new noise ordinance.

Along with the installation of the substation, Detroit Edison has agreed to construct an eight-footwide asphalt bike path along a portion of Ten Mile Road.

The two substations in Novi are already at 130 percent capacity, according to Detroit Edison representatives. The additional station and a soon to be proposed fourth substastion at the M-5, Haggerty I-96 intersection will provide more reliable power during storms.

Blunden said Edison representatives met with homeowners and accommodated their wishes.

bers who question the spirit of your decision.

you ask us to continue to teach a curriculum that we know is not~ the best we can offer students? And how, in good conscience, can you stand behind a decision that dictates that we must do just that? As two of your members reiterated. it is the responsibility of the board to support the professionals. It is also the responsibility of the board to support a proposal that followed the very process you created.

We urge you to reconsider your decision, keeping in mind the enormous impact it has on the intricate web of our educational Committee, made up of staff representing all levels and parents.

If trustees had philosophical differences these should have been made known to the study committee. Instead, for two and a half months, there was no communication with the study committee until just before the study session which coincided with student course registration for 1997-98.

Dr. Rezmierski received a 3.5 out of 5 rating by meetings at Cooke and Northville High School and through numerous conversations with parents how beneficial these have been. It has set a positive tone-for their transition and they are looking forward to the new school year.

The guidance department needs to step back and take a moment to congratulate themselves. They have made a positive impact for these students of the Northville public schools. Thanks for your dedication.

"I must first say that I am appalled by the things that have resulted from the actions of my father and others in that cult. I am deeply hurt by the knowledge that people have now lost their lives in connection with my father. My sympathy and prayers go out to all those who are suffering the loss of loved ones.

"I would however like everyone to know that this strange bent that my father went off on has not been passed on to his family. By the grace of God Almighty, the creator of the heavens and the earth and author of the Bible, there is hope. By that same grace, my family and I are born-again Christians with a real ticket to heaven, that being faith in Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord. "When I was five my father left our family. He set up circum+ stances that could have become just another broken home that perpetuates itself to the next generation. But God, the One True God, intervened in our family. I have not heard or seen anything from my father in over 25 years and I know nothing about the cult that he was leading. In those years came to know a new Father, the Father in heaven. My Father in heaven, the God Almighty, has now taken what could have been a disaster of a family and turned it into a family with a 20-year marriage and two children who all love and serve Jesus. "I say all of this to bring glory to God, for what He's done and who He is, and also to give hope to all people who might hear this. God has a way of taking things that are terrible and turning them into good. At this Easter season, I am reminded of the fact that God took a terrible death of His Son Jesus on the cross and turned it into salvation for anyone who would believe. In the same way, I pray that God will take this terrible news of a mass suicide and turn it into a message of hope, the hope found only in the Bible, for all to hear. "If there is a lesson to be learned here it is to find the Truth in the Bible and teach it to your family so that they cannot be swayed by false teaching. "I hope and pray that those touched by this tragedy in San Diego would find comfort n the God of the Bible and come to know true life after death as a gift from God by faith in Jesus Christ. I also pray that those who are still searching for answers, as the members of this cult were, would find that Jesus is the answer.

Lay blame where blame is due

To the editor:

Uncharacteristically, at the April 28 meeting, the board of education did not unanimously approve a motion before them. Unfortunately, the motion was to revise the ninth grade English curriculum.

Board members claimed the reason for the defeat was the issue of not having included an honors class. I see the reason as poor organization, communication and leadership from the administration for failing to apprise the board of the proposal in a complete and timely manner, and the blame should be placed on the superintendent, Dr. Rezmierski.

According to Mrs. Wadsworth, the proposal did not meet the "spirit of the intent" only the "letter of the intent" of the district's Language Arts Committee. Other board trustees noted "philosophical differences" with the proposal. Trustees cited receiving incomplete reports, and they did not appear to understand the rationale used by the study committee for the proposal.

An informed and appropriate decision could not be made because of these factors. I question, why weren't these issues specifically raised and discussed earlier? Why was this proposal even before the board if it was philosophically wrong?

Through questioning, I was able to determine the study committee, made up of staff, the Northville High School principal and parents (including members of the district's Language Arts Committee) had followed the process for curriculum revision as they knew it. They developed the proposal after studying the issue for more than a year. It then received the endorsement of the entire Northville High School English Department, all high school department chairpersons, and the K-12 Curriculum

"Performance as Chief Executive of the Board," stating he keeps the board "well informed about the district and provides pertinent research" and at "study sessions ... provides access to much information." After attending meetings and having questions answered. I believe this rating should have been much lower.

This sad situation should never have occurred. The board's degrading comments, actions and disappointments should have been directed at the superintendent, not the study committee. This was an issue poorly handled by the administration, and now who will bear the consequences?

I know the incoming ninth grade students, including my son, will not receive the benefits of a newly revised English curriculum next year. The staff will probably be reluctant to spend countless hours studying an issue only to be told that their work did not meet noncommunicated expectations. Maybe, finally and justifiably, the board will direct the blame where it is due, at the superintendent, who is supposed to be fully responsible for the proper operation of the school district.

Guidance Dept. did great job

To the editor:

Oftentimes we immediately jump to write a letter when a wrong has been done but forget to write one and express our thanks for a job well done.

I have the pleasure of writing to thank the guidance department at Northville High School for going above and beyond the call of duty for the incoming ninth grade class. This year they met with each incoming ninth grader and their parent to schedule them for their classes at Northville High School. This is a very time consuming task but one which is so instrumental in establishing a good relationship with that new student and family.

I have heard through two PTA

It was a pleasure to attend the ceremony of initiation and recognition for 16 Northville High School students being inducted into Delta Epsilon Phi, the National German Honorary Society. The criterion is a 3.8 grade point average after two years of German, a 3.0 overall grade point average, and excellent itizenship.

The Northville High School chapter of 27 juniors and seniors welcomed sophomores Nicole Allen, Sara Gerlica, Lisa Slepetski, Martin Lenardon, Silvia Chang, Shannon Karol, Jill Boginski, Anthony Marra, Audrey Johnson, Sara Matusz, Kristen van Tuyl, Rachel Wernholm, Adrienne Mana-Ryan Lenz, Kristin rina. Potchynok, and Clark Kirkman.

Congratulations to all of the members of Delta Epsilon Phi on your commitment to excellence. and to Frau Judith Kammeraad and Frau Karen Motz on the outstanding job you do each day for our students.

We are very fortunate to have teachers of your quality in Northville.

The staff and students at Old Village School would like to thank all of the community members who have volunteered with our program over the past school year. Your skills have enriched our program and assisted us in providing nany more learning opportunities for our children.

We would also like to thank the local businesses and organizations who have allowed us to use their facilities to teach our students real life skills.

We would especially like to cknowledge the support of Sparr's Flowers & Greenhouse, Northville Senior Citizens Center, Novi Bowl and Recreation Center, Maybury State Park, Northville Parks and Recreation, Meals On Wheels, Northville District Library, Greenhouse and Rick from Rent and Rave (tent rental) also pitched in to make this event a success.

Veteran fund-raisers Laurie Deasy, Ron Nelson, Sherri Patrone, Kevin Hartshorne and Jan Christian helped raise a thousand dollars for the playground project.

The largest sale of the day award goes to Tanya Bartelo who successfully persuaded the staff at Seko Worldwide – Vicki, Ruth, Kyys, Greg, Jimmy, Becky and Liberty - to purchase over a dozen baskets.

Many thanks also to all those who purchased flowers at this event. We look forward to seeing you again June 4 through 8.

Stop whining and do your job

To the editor:

This problem you're having with reader letters seems to have you utterly flummoxed, for reasons which baffle me.

Correct me if I'm wrong, but the verb form of your noun title suggests that the primary task of your job is to edit. Having spent 13 years in newspapers myself, I've been operating on the assumption that among those editing skills is cutting things that are too long, including letters. Or, you make the writer rewrite the letter to fit. Or, you don't run it.

Yes, you risk honking off a reader. But look where you've gotten so far trying to be loved.

Mr. Snider, I've been subscribing to The Northville Record for about two years. I'm quite aware that vour task is inevitably thankless and even more so in an otherwise great little town populated by a few people who fairly convulse when you forget to print nice things about their children. (Note to these people: To paraphrase the advice of my Depression-era parents: Life ain't fair, but doing good is its own reward; the sooner your kids learn this, the sooner they can teach you.)

Whatever path to fitness you choose, don't overdo. Begin slowly and build up endurance gradually.

Your new exercise program will be more healthy, and enjoyable, if you begin with moderation in mind

Just back from a shopping trip to buy a new pair of running shoes?

Itching to try on that new pair of gardening gloves and start weeding and planting? Looking forward to the company picnic and reclaiming that softball trophy?

Exercise, of course, is good, but overdoing it the first few times you go out is bad.

Sore muscles are a problem not only for people who cast aside their couch potato ways and embark on a fitness program for the summer. Even gardeners and householders out for spring cleaning can overwork their muscles

"People have been dormant all winter long and now they forget they have been couch potatoes," Novi's Botsford Center for Health Improvement physical therapist Milt Thackaberry said. "They remember what they could do last fall and try to do that same activity at the same level. They try to do it too soon."

Most avid runners find a way to stay active all winter long in some sort of activity, according to Thackaberry. Others remember when they used to be able to run a seven to eight minute mile in high school and think they can get out and do it again.

"The first thing to do is to talk with your doctor to see if you're cleared to exercise - to make sure there aren't any contra-indications," Thackaberry said. "Start a program and begin it relatively slowly and gradually increase it.

Walk before you run, build up endurance and speed and gradually expand it into a jog.

"Walk for two or three weeks, gradually increasing the distance as well as the rate of walking before getting into a full run," he said.

"It's like anything else: if the machine has not been maintained very well over the winter it will take a little oiling to get it back into shape," he said. "The big thing is that people don't have the patience to get into shape and exercise."

Golfers should go to the driving range before hitting the golf course. Hit a small bucket of balls a few times and then hit a few big buckets of balls.

"A little bit of time spent up front getting into shape and they will enjoy the sport a lot better and be safer with it." he said.

By going to the driving range first, the body gradually gets into shape. It's smart to do trunk rotations while getting in a little practice with your swing to avoid the kind of wrist or elbow injury that can occur from creating a huge divot.

"If they had gone to the driving range they might not have taken that big chunk out of the ground," Thackaberry said.

A variety of injuries come from softball. Players who haven't done much activity during the winter months will get out after just a few practices and play a lot during games and tournaments.

"Break the activity down into some smaller components," he suggested.

The arms and legs need to be in shape for squatting and bending. "Look at what particular positions and movements each activity requires and break that down so you have the flexibility in your legs or back," he said.

People getting involved in sports are not the only ones who have to get in shape. As the weather starts to break people get out to begin gardening and perform spring clean-up tasks.

A common mistake leading to back injuries is not getting help when lifting a heavy object.

"Five seconds saved may cost two months in recovery," he said.

Thackaberry also sees weekend gardeners and people working around the house this time of year who come in with injuries.

When asked what they did to injure themselves, they usually say they weren't doing much, according to Thackaberry. With a little probing, though, he finds out that the typical scenario included mowing the lawn, rototilling the garden, moving three years of peat moss, then bending over to plant tomatoes before putting in a brick patio.

If the work had been spread out over several weekends, the injury might not have happened, according to Thackaberry.

The vast majority of people do nothing over the winter, according to Thackaberry. They stay inside and go to work. Some use the excuse that because they walk all day on the job they are in shape for other types of activities.

"Your body will adapt to any stresses that are put on it if they are put on it on a gradual basis," he said. "Your body generally fails when you put too much on it too soon."

If you're used to walking around a shop all day, your body is still not ready to jog a mile at night.

"It might be just enough to put you over the threshold so that your body fails," he said.

Company picnics and family reunions are other times when people get together for outdoor activities they may not be in shape for.

"They lost sight of who they were on Saturday and Sunday and exerted themselves a little too much," he said. "If not too much damage was done, they will recover in a few days."

Typical sore muscles will go away in a few days. If the pain lasts for a week or more, it's time to see a doctor.

annual pot-luck

Members of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association Northville Branch will hold their annual picnic-potluck on Monday, June 9, at noon. It will be guest day.

The hostess of the day is Karen Ross. The social chair is Kathy Fehlauer with committee members Melody Arndt, Mary Bechtel, June Lafferty and Arline Paredes assisting.

Former resident holds book signing

Former Northville resident Tom Grace will be signing copies of his first book Spyder Web at Bookstall on the Main on Saturday, May 24, from 1:30 until 3 p.m. On Saturday, June 5, at 7 p.m. he'll be at the Barnes and Noble at Six Mile and Haggerty. Spyder Web delves deeply into the world of industrial espionage and a ruthless trio of informationage pirates.

Grace was raised in Livonia and graduated from Catholic Central High School in Redford. He earned a bachelor's degree in 1984 from the University of Michigan and a master's degree in 1986.

While writing Spyder Web, Grace lived on East Street in Northville with his wife Kathleen Hopps and their two daughters Marcia, 6, and Kathleen, 4.

The family recently moved to Dexter where Grace is looking forward to building his own house. His father and step-mother Tom and Pat Grace and his sister Caroline reside in Northville.

Grace's late mother, Marcia, to whom the book is dedicated, got him hooked on reading when he was very young.

"She told me it was better than wasting my time watching television and she was right," he said.

Growing up he read everything he could get his hands on, starting with the Hardy Boys series and Alfred Hitchcock, and moving on to science fiction/fantasy in high school. Currently Grace reads four or five books a month.

Political reporter wraps up Northville Town Hall Series

By CAROL WORKENS Staff Writer

The Northville Town Hall Series wrapped up its 36th season with Hal Bruno as its guest speaker in April.

Bruno, the political director for the ABC TV and radio networks, drew from his 25 years of experience covering politics in Washington to touch on a variety of topics at the closing lecture in this year's series.

Bruno frequently appears on the "air" as the network's political ana-lyst and is the host of "Hal Bruno's Washington," a weekly interview program on ABC radio.

He has covered every presidential election since 1960 and has specialized in national politics since 1971. He was the single moderator of the 1992 vice presidential debate.

ON POLITICIANS

"Most of the people in politics are the most interesting people I've ever known." he said. "They are among the most intelligent, dedicated, hard working, and well-intentioned people and their goal is to make their country, state, city, town a better place to live. They are the most honest people I've known outside of my hometown of Chicago.

Bruno has found that to be true of men and women in both parties. and among both liberals and conservatives. They may differ over methods and issues but their objectives are the same, though they may not always tell the whole truth.

"Most of the time it's because they believed it was the way they were telling me but it just turned out not to be that way. Occasionally, it's so rare that it stands out that somebody will deliberately lie to you.'

Politicians and the media have what is called a working professional relationship in which they talk to each other and tell each other what they really think.

Many times they have to talk to me 'off the record' because that's the only way they can say what they really think," he said. "They've always got to insist publicly that whoever the candidate is, he or she is the greatest thing that's ever come along. The world will not be able to survive unless this person gets elected, that's on the record, Off the record they'll say filan he is a real turkey, he doesn't have a chance in the world, it's going to be a better place if he's not elect-

ON VOTERS

"Most people are somewhere in the middle of the road," Bruno said. "The American people will reject anything that they think is radical or extreme whether it is to the right or to the left. It is very much a middle-of-the-road coun-

We need to have that middle ground consensus in order to have stability and get things done."

"These are the things that people are really concerned about and it overwhelms everything else when the economy is bad," he said. In 1992, voters fired Bush and hired Clinton because the economy was bad, according to Bruno.

The Bush White House refused to acknowledge that the economy was bad," he said. The Bush Administration said they'd address it in the State of Union address, which was to take place months later, but that was not soon enough for voters.

"That's when I got my first clue in September of '91 that George Bush was vulnerable despite having an 80 percent approval rating in the polls as a result of Desert Storm," he said.

"George Bush literally threw the election away because he refused to pay attention to the economy," Bruno said. Bush was advised by those around him that it was all cyclical and that it would take care of itself.

"They probably were right but you can't do that as president," Bruno said. "As a president you've got to be out front leading, you've got to make people feel you care about what's happening to them, that you are going to try to do something to solve the problems they face."

ON CLINTON

"Clinton's reelection was one of the most amazing comebacks we have ever seen in politics," Bruno said. "They (the voters) rehired Clinton because it was a healthy economy.

According to Bruno, since voters couldn't fire Clinton in the 1994 midterm election, they fired his party, to pay the president back for a poor performance during his first two years in office.

"It was a vote of no confidence in Clinton and the Democrats in 1994." he said.

Most significant was Clinton's failure in the health care field, Bruno claimed. They tried to reach too far too fast," he said. "They had been told don't try and do it all at once, do it bit by bit.

The health care reform was so massive that no one could understand and nobody could agree upon it," he said. "It became symbolic of the failures of the Clinton Administration in those first two

The White House itself was kind of like an ivy league filvetille deten- 7 tion camp, he said of the first administration. It was a chock undiscipitor undisciplined, badly managed White House. It was constantly blundering into trouble."

ON CAMPAIGNS

"Bill Clinton is the best campaigner 1 have ever seen, better than Jack Kennedy, who was awful good," Bruno said. "Clinton enjoys campaigning, Kennedy didn't." Clinton loves people, he loves the interaction, that's what makes him such an effective politician." Bob Dole is one of the most inefctive campaigners we've ever vulnerable on - the character

issue, according to Bruno. "Dole could just not handle that," Bruno said. "If he did he had this fear that he would come across mean, acerbic and he had spent 20 years trying to shake that off.

It was inevitable from Labor Day onward what the outcome of the election was going to be.

"One of the hardest things for me in this campaign was trying not to convey this to people," Bruno said. "We don't want to be criticized for declaring the election over and yet every single week when we did our state-by-state studies you could tell."

ON RELIGIONS, POLITICS

"The mixture of religion and politics is as American as apple pie, he said. "It's always been there." Church and state should remain separate, he believes.

The government should not be involved in religious affairs," he said."But in politics, clergy of all faiths have always had an important role to play."

There is no reason politicians shouldn't be sensitive to the clergy's wishes and feelings, according to Brunó.

"The religious right is a force in American politics," Bruno said. "They've done it the right way, the American way, openly and honest-They've probably reached the zenith of their power at this point." he said.

ON SOFT MONEY

The Democratic National Committee, at the direction of the White House, raised money in ways that were either unethical or in outright violation of election laws. Bruno said.

Soft money refers to funds that don't have to be accounted for and the Republicans found those loopholes back in the early 1980s, according to Bruno.

Still, Clinton outdid anything known in the past.

'What we've never seen is anything on this scale before," he said. Where it was really like 'Motel' 1600.'

"It was a constant steady parade and there was a price tag as to whether you got coffee, dinner or an overnight stay."

Bruno, who was with Newsweek in the 1970s and was in charge of part of the magazine's Watergate coverage, said the Democratic National Committee fund-raising scandal is not on a par with Watergate because early on people knew an impeachable offense had been committed.

"At this point I don't see that in this scandal, I see it as embarrassing," he said.

At the very least this thing threatens to cripple the Clinton Administration. It already has caused it damage.'

Watch the Senate hearings, especially during the summer, Bruno advises.

"Before this is over there will be a lot of people in both parties who are, at the very least, going to be pretty embarrassed by what this shows about political fund-raising," he said.

In American politics, according to Bruno, the thing that counts more than anything else is how each individual feels about his or her own pocket book and financial security. Concerns about job security, the ability to make home and car payments and provide an education for their children, and whether they are going to have adequate health care are important issues to voters.

seen, which led to Clinton's reelection, according to Bruno.

Bob Dole is one of the finest people I've ever known in politics," Bruno said. "He is a man who wants to get things done. He has a terrific sense of humor. He is a superb legislative leader.

(But) he campaigns like a man falling out of a tree," Bruno said. "It is awful to watch."

And Dole was unable to exploit the one issue Clinton was really

Tisha Campbell, Joe Torry, Rusty Cundleff and Paula Jal Parker sters in "Sprung."

A film about falling hopelessly in love

These days, it seems every time you walk into a movie theater, some poor, hapless soul on screen is looking for love in all the wrong places. But what such movies don't recognize is that, sometimes, love can blossom exactly when you're not looking for it.

Unexpected romance is the subject of "Sprung," the new comedy from Trimark pictures, directed by Rusty Cundieff, whose past proiects include horror anthology "Tales From the Hood" and the rap mockumentary "Fear of a Black Hat." and the screenplay for the popular comedy "House Party II."

The film centers around four twentysomethings, all with various problems with the opposite sex. Montel (played by Cundieff) wants a loving relationship, but has had trouble finding a woman who wants the same.

His best friend Clyde (Joe Torry) is a "player" - a man who only wants superficial, physical relationships. Adina (Paula Jai Parker) isn't much better, wanting nothing more than to snag a wealthy husband. And her friend Brandy (Tisha Campbell), a law clerk with ambitions of becoming an attorney, has been so wounded by men that she has sworn not to let another "dog" into her life.

The four characters meet at a sorority alumni party, when Clyde draws Adina's attention with a borrowed Porsche and a fake, strategically-placed bank statement. The two take off together, leaving Montel stranded at the party. When Brandy grudgingly gives Montel a lift home, he tries to win her over with his charm and honesty. At first she resists, reluctant to open herself up to heartbreak yet again, but eventually she realizes Montel's affection is genuine and warms up to him. Soon, the two are "sprung," or hopelessly in love.

Meanwhile, Adina becomes furious when she discovers Clyde's ruse and vows brutal (and hilarious) revenge on the manipulative player. The situation is complicated when the two realize that their friends have fallen in love. They then conspire to break the couple up, but find the task harder than they thought. After all, some people are just meant to be together. Throughout the course of the movie, all four characters learn volumes about love, commitment and what it really means to be "sprung" on someone.

The film's subject matter is one familiar to anyone who's ever been in love (and certainly, anyone who's ever been to the movies). But Cundieff, whose past films have become cult favorites because of their offbeat approaches to routine subject matter, is sure to lend his trademark unique viewpoint and razor-sharp wit to "Sprung", which he both directed and co-wrote.

Cundieff is not the only talented person involved with the film. Sprung" reunites the funny, sexy Parker and highly engaging Torry, who were both in Cundieff's "Tales From the Hood." The film also showcases the considerable comedic talents of Campbell, best known for her work as Gina on the sitcom "Martin" and films such as "House Party" and "Little Shop of Horrors.

In addition to the four stars, "Sprung" features cameos from stars such as Clarence Williams

Tisha Campbell stars as Brandy (right) opposite Rusty Cundieff, who portrays Montel in Trimark Pictures' comedy "Sprung."

III, Freda Payne and Sherman Hemsley and Isabel Sanford of "The Jeffersons."

Love can be painful, difficult and miserable, as would-be lovers fall prey to the manipulative maneuvers of people they thought they could trust. But, in "Sprung." Cundieff recognizes that love can also be very funny, especially if those involved don't know how to handle the responsibilities of romance.

Kickers boot Wildcats 3-1 to advance

By SCOTT DANIEL Sports Editor

Brigid Bowdell was on fire Monday night.

The sophomore netted a hat trick to lead Northville to a 3-1 victory over Novi Monday in the opening round of the state playoffs. The Mustangs played Farmington Hills Harrison in the district semi-final last night.

Coach Doug Lyon said it was a good all around effort by his team. He was particularly happy with the defensive work of Kristin Baja, Kerri Wasalaski, Dana Novara and Lisa Tolstedt.

"They played outstanding." Lyon said. "They really shut them down. The Mustangs improved to 11-4-2 with the victory. A win over Harrison last night would put Northville into the district final Saturday against Livonia Stevenson at Ladywood High.

Monday's game was the second between Northville and Novi in less than two weeks. The rematch began much like the first contest.

After a few minutes of even upand-down play. Northville began to take control. The Mustangs' Lyndsay Huot took the game's first shot at the 35:45 mark, but was easily stopped by Novi goaltender Sarah Clark.

Raburn finally broke Northville's pressure with a rush up left wing. The Wildcats came to life afterwards Kristi Arrington recorded a shot on goal from a corner kick at 24:29. Lydia Raburn then had a good chance to score a few minutes later but kicked wide.

Novi kept the heat up. Northville goalie Meghan Cauzillo made a nice sliding save with 18 minutes to go before halftime.

The Mustangs quickly switched from defense to offense after the save. Bowdell got behind Novi's defense and caromed a shot off the top cross bar and behind Clark to make it 1-0 at 17:35.

Northville then dominated the final 15 minutes of the half. Lyon said things turned around for Northville because "we started playing our game" of short passes and movement.

Bowdell made it 2-0 with 2:24 to go before halftime on a very similar play to her first tally.

She streaked down the middle of the field and raced toward a lob pass sent in by her teammates. Clark came out of the net to try to beat her to the ball. But Bowdell tipped it away and then finished it "That was a confidence builder for us," said Lyon. Novi came out flying to start the second half. Novi pressured Northville's net for a solid 10 minutes. Raburn just

star made a nice crossing pass to Jessica Kenny in front of the net. Cauzillo, however, was able to stop the shot. Northville finally got the ball out of its zone. At the 30:28 mark, Bowdell got her hat trick by beating Clark on a shot in front of the Wildcat net.

"Once we got the goal you could see their level of play drop," Lyon said.

She nearly got a fourth goal on two separate occasions over the next 15 minutes of the game. "She had a big game," Lyon said

He ran an 11.2 in the 100-meter final and missed the qualifying mark by a tenth of a second. Jim Clemens was fifth in the event.

In the 200, Tony Clemens ran a 22.9 for third place. That missed the cut by two-tenths of a second. Northville finished fourth in the 400-meter relay. The team of Chris Ceane, Geno Peters, Jim and Tony Clemens posted the Mustangs' best time of the season at 44.5.

Kevin Arbuckle had his best time in the mile. He ran a 10:01.6 for ninth place.

"They'll be the favorites coming back next year," Norton said.

But the day wasn't without its good news.

Srinivasan earned a WLAA title at third singles while Nayakwadi did the same at No. 4. Williams and Ishigami were champs at second doubles as were Thompson and Cromas at third doubles.

Northville did well at almost every flight.

Anderson made it to the semifinal at No. 1 singles. Bush made it to the finals at second singles. falling to Weingarten in straight sets.

Srinivasan owned the competition at third singles. He won all three of his matches in straight sets and never lost more than three games in any set. He won a WLAA title at fourth singles a year ago.

Navakwadi was equally impressive at fourth singles. He won all of his matches in straight sets.

Berg and Sriramin made it to the semi-finals at first doubles. They dropped a two-set match to the top seeds from North Farmington in that match.

Williams and Ishigami breezed to the final then won a decisive third set to take the title over a North Farmington duo.

At third doubles, Thompson and Cromas were never challenged. They beat a North Farmington team for the championship.

Derek Sokloski and Paul Stachura teamed up for Northville at fourth doubles. The top seeds drew a bye in the first round then lost their first match to a team 💈 from Farmington.

Alternative training techniques can can help cut down time from injury

Injuries hurt the athlete in more ways than one. Whether you are a competitive athlete or, like many of us, enjoy staying in shape "just for the health of it," injuries are no fun. Not only is there the physical pain to contend with but also the physical deconditioning (getting out of shape) that takes place in the days, weeks or even months following time off from training.

There are alternative training techniques which can help diminish the down time of an injury by keeping the cardiovascular system conditioned while minimizing stress and strain of the affected body-part injured.

Aerobic exercise can be defined as continuous activity which utilizes oxygen for energy at the cellular level of an exercising muscle. A seasonal hobby for many, examples of aerobic activity include running or biking outdoors when the weather is nice, and in cooler weather either taking it indoors on exercise machines, or switching to other appropriate outdoor activities like cross-country skiing or ice skating.

Sometimes, however, despite taking precautions, the athlete is faced with an injury. Aerobic exercise injuries generally affect the lower extremities including the muscles and joints of the legs and feet. These injuries can range from broken bones to pulled muscles.

Muscle, tendon, and ligament strains (overstretch) and sprains (partial or complete tear) are relatively common types of injuries as well.

Overuse injuries are due to the repetitive nature of aerobic activity and result from chronic microtrauma (small amount of injury) recommended as an alternative to most other which surmount over the course of several days to months. The at-risk athlete is one who attempts to do too much too soon which may result in shin splints, stress fractures, sprains, etc.

Once an injury has occurred it is important to seek proper care from a qualified health care provider. "Depending on the severity of the injury an alternative exercise regimen should be initiated promptly, when appropriate," says Matthew Sciotti M.D., who treats people with athletics-related injuries at the Botsford Athletic Medicine Clinic in Novi.

Early reconditioning (getting the body back in shape) is encouraged in most cases. This is largely due to the fact that our muscles, including the heart muscle, get out of shape at a relatively rapid rate. As the injury is healing, it isn't a bad idea to initiate an alternative exercise program.

Depending on type and severity of injury, consider non-impact, then low-impact, then gradually graduate back to a regular aerobic routine.

Non-impact exercises include biking - preferably stationary - which eliminates the irregular terrain, traffic and bad weather associated with road or off-road biking. Exercise machines such as an Airdyne bike, stair stepper, rowing machine, cross-country skiing simulator, and the upper body (arm) bike can also provide aerobic fitness opportunities. Swimming is highly aerobic activities as it works the major muscle groups of the body aerobically and anaerobically by providing some resistance from the water for the muscles to push against.

Low-impact exercises include running in water, walking (indoor, outdoor or treadmill) and exercise aerobic classes.

A strong consideration should also be made to cross-train with weights. If you are not a regular lifter, weight machines are probably your best choice. This is because the range of motion and ancillary movements are controlled by the machine, leaving the emphasis of stress isolated on the muscle group being worked.

Sometimes injuries occur regardless of the kind of physical shape you are in - even if the appropriate measures are taken in terms of warm-ups and cool-downs, proper form, rest, and a sound nutrition plan. These are the times to utilize medical/rehabilitative resources and perhaps consider some of the alternatives discussed in this article.

Wishing you a healthy day.

New infant immunization guidelines coming

Parents of infants are likely to encounter new recommendations for immunizations this year as they take their babies to their physicians and nurse practitioners for well-child care. The biggest changes affect the vaccines for diphtheria-tetanus-pertussis and polio.

A preparation of the diphtheria-tetanus-pertussis (DTP) vaccine, called acellular pertussis (DTaP) vaccine, has been available for children 15 months or 18 months old for several years. It has recently been approved for use for infants at the 2-, 4-, and 6-month visits for immunizations. The acellular vaccine is prepared from a portion of the bacterial cell wall rather than from the whole cell. It is less likely to cause side effects like fever and leg soreness and swelling. It is as effective or even more effective than the whole cell preparation in protecting against pertussis.

It is recommended that a child complete the series of 2-, 4- and 6-month shots with the same DTP preparation for all three shots. The acellular vaccine has not yet been combined with the hemophilus influenzae (HIB) vaccine, so the two vaccines must now be given as separate shots rather than as the combined -DPT/HIB vaccine called tetramune. (Your preschooler may have received the combined vaccine.) The new preparation eventually will be combined with HIB. Be sure to talk with your physician or nurse practitioner about the preparation that will best meet your child's needs.

Another important discussion for you involves polio vaccine. Two different kinds, one injectable and one oral (taken by mouth), have been available for a long time. The oral preparation has been given to nearly all infants and children. Exceptions have been for those children living or having frequent contact with someone whose immune system is suppressed, either by being on therapy for treatment of cancer or on chronic steroid medications for other conditions.

For these people there is a small risk of contracting polio from virus shed in the stools of infants who were given the live, oral vaccine. There is a small risk for other people as well, even if they were immunized against polio as children.

When the oral polio vaccine was selected for use in the 1960s, the number of cases of paralytic polio was far higher than the number of vaccine-related cases, and the oral vaccine was selected because of its ability to provide more complete immunity to polio viruses.

Now, the number of vaccine-associated paralytic polio cases, about eight each year since 1980, is greater than the number of wild polio virus infections. Many feel that the risks associated with the continued use of oral polio vaccine outweigh the benefits and that there should be a return to the use of the injectable vaccine first introduced in 1955, but improved since then.

A decision has, therefore, been made to offer families three choices for immunizing their infants

• Oral polio vaccine at 2-, 4- and 6-month visits.

• Injectable polio vaccine at 2-, 4- and 6month visits.

· Sequential series with injectable doses of polio vaccine at two and four months and an oral dose at one year and prior to school entry. A child who receives the injectable vaccine for the initial doses is not at risk of vaccine-associated paralytic polio, but will receive the additional immunity that the oral vaccine provides. Still; any child who has contact with an immune-suppressed person must receive the full injectable series of vaccines.

Be sure to read the vaccine information sheets provided by your physician or nurse practitioner and discuss the best choice for your child and family at your visits for wellchild care.

GARDENING Home inspections: improving quality

EAST

By James M. Woodard Copley News Service

It seems every aspect of the real estate business has gone high-tech - including the home inspection business.

Special computer software has been developed to guide the inspector through all systems of the home during the inspection process. The objective is to speed the work flow and enhance its consistent accuracy.

It's probably a good development for the fragmented home inspection industry. So far, many inspectors have been only marginally qualified for their jobs. They're simply "riding the inspection trend" to make extra income.

However, in recent months more emphasis has been placed on professional competence in the home inspection field. Home buyers and sellers are more inclined to check an inspector's qualifications and capability to perform effectively before signing an inspection agreement.

Typically, a home will be inspected as part of a purchase agreement. Or a pre-listing inspection will be ordered to enhance the home's salability. The fee is paid by the home seller, buyer or both.

Fortunately, there are an increasing number of capable, well-trained home inspectors; they are the ones who are most apt to utilize computer systems as a working tool.

One fast-growing inspection firm devel-oped a software package to assist its inspectors. The firm, inspecTech, named its new high-tech program System 2000. It involves the use of a hand-held computer that auto-mates much of the inspection process.

"This is becoming the key to our home inspections," said Sig Anderman, chairman of inspecTech. "Guiding the inspector each step of the way, this state-of-the-art device prompts the inspector with a list of every potential condition in the home - up to 8,000 specific conditions. It even covers such things as a leaky water heater and incorrect spacing of shingles on the roof."

The system increases accuracy and helps ensure consistency among all inspectors. Anderman noted. It also speeds the work flow and allows for quick processing and printing of inspection reports.

"litimately. it's the quality of the home inspection and resulting report that will dictate our level of success in the view of consumers," he said. "Our research team spent three years and over $1 million to create this system."

As the inspection industry continues to grow, the increased competition will demand a high quality of performance - at least for those inspectors who plan to stay in the field for a long time. There will always be less-

However, when it comes to inexpensive wood look-alikes, laminates really steal the floor show. What looks like natural wood planking is really a composite product: a decorative layer of paper and melamine resn bonded to a, durable, word, core, and protected by a super wear-resistant surface layer.

, displaying your roses

By C.Z. Guest Copley News Service

Do you love roses? You are not alone. Americans bought more than 1.2 billion stems of fresh cut roses last year. And a Frecent Gallup survey revealed that more than 19 million American households have rose bushes in their gardens.

While roses are beautiful on the bush, they're even more gorgeous in your home. #Here are some ideas for displaying fresh cut roses

Roses look best in vases that are about half as tall as the flowers For example, an 18-inch rose looks best in a 9-inch vase. Cut your flowers to fit the vase, and always cut Ithem under water.

To give a simple rosebud arrangement a Thinished look, tuck a few small leaves at the rim of the vase and tie a pretty ribbon -around the vase neck.

Try floating just one or two garden roses in a crystal bowl for a gorgeous eye-catching oryst ndisplay.

For a special celebration, create an all-rose bouquet. Combine stems of hybrid tea roses. voluptuous garden roses and the daintier sweetheart or miniature rose. Choose roses of different colors - that is, colors close to each other on the color wheel - peach, yellow and pale pink, or cream, champagne and blush pink. Lavender, deep-rose and hot pink would be another good combination.

If a cut rose wilts prematurely, it usually means the lowest inch of the stem is clogged with bacteria or an air pocket has formed and the flower isn't drinking water. To remedy this, recut the stem under water. Then submerge the whole rose in warm water for about two hours until it revives.

Q. I would appreciate information about propagating roses from cuttings.

A. Rose propagation is a complex subject and really deserves much more space than I can give to your question. Since many desirable hybrid tea roses have unsuitable root systems for many soils, they are budded onto a vigorous root stock. I must warn you this procedure is difficult even for an experienced gardener.

Prevention is key when fighting fleas

By Gene Gary Copley News Service

Q. I have read several of your articles dealing with pest control. I have a problem with flea infestation. Do you have any suggestions on how to get rid of these pests permanently?

A. Prevention is the best method of control.

Pet owners often treat the animal but ignore the environment. The war against fleas must be waged on three fronts: the home, the yard and the pet. Fortunately, there are many nontoxic products available to treat the lawn, carpet and the pet.

A popular nontoxic outdoor treatment employs nematodes, which are a large class of minute soil-dwelling organisms. These living organisms are introduced to the environment through a yard spray that is applied like a pesticide. The living organism seeks flea larvae and cocoons and feeds on them, thus destroying the flea population.

These beneficial nematodes are harmless to humans, pets and plant life. The lawn should be treated with a nematode spray after the fleas have infested the area or when the flea season begins.

The treatment lasts approximately four weeks, after which a repeat application is recommended.

For prevention inside the home, use one of the commercial boron-based powders that contaminate the food supply and environment of flea larvae. This interrupts the life cycle and prevents the development of mature fleas.

The boron powders are dusted into carpets, upholstery, cracks and crevices where flea larvae hide. A thorough application is recommended once a year for maximum control

HOW-TO

There also are effective spray treatments, but they are more toxic than the boronbased powders. One flea-control spray that is easy to use and prevents flea reinfestation for 210 days is Premise Spray, which contains Precor, an "insect growth regulator" that tampers with the bugs' hormones to prevent development of the egg and larvae.

Once you have the environment under control, keeping the area and your pet fleafree will be much easier.

There are a couple of relatively new products that can be used to help keep flea infestation off your pets. An oral pill, Program, is available for both cats and dogs. Administered once a month, Program stops fleas at the source by preventing eggs from surviving. There are no adverse side effects to your pet, as there have been in some previous oral prevention medications.

Advantage, a lotion, kills mature fleas that might be attracted to your pet when exposed to any environment where flea infestation exists. Applied once a month, the lotion works its way throughout the animal's coat, leaving a protective residue on the skin.

Advantage, like Program, does not create any adverse side effects. The one disadvantage is that bathing your pet will wash away the chemical residue, leaving your pet unprotected. Advantage is a relatively expensive product, so making repeat applications more than once a month becomes a major budget consideration. Both Program and Advantage are available by veterinarian prescription only.

There are other pet sprays, flea soaps and flea collar products that, used along with meticulous grooming, can still be effective in dealing with the adult fleas. Consult your veterinarian for recommendations on flea products for use on your specific pet.

A well-supplied pet store will have the other products described here. Nematode sprays also are available at your local nursery.

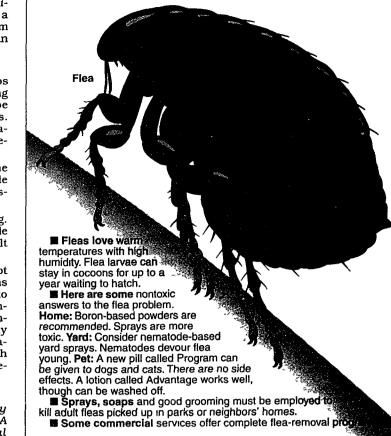

Keep in mind that the battle is ongoing. One female flea can lay 500 eggs, capable of growing rapaciously reproducing adult fleas in as little as 10 days.

The best you can hope for is control, not eradication of these pests. If your home has severe flea infestation, it is often best to begin the battle by consulting a professional pest control service that employs a numher of these methods as well as spray insecticides. Once the area is rid of infestation, keeping the environment flea free with some of these products designed for home-owner use will be an easier task.

Facing off with fleas

Hardy, persistent and nearly universal, fleas can be dealt with successfully without toxins, though the battle must be raged on three fronts: pet, yard and home.

than-qualified people who hang up a "home inspector" shingle. But capable, well-equipped inspectors are out there. And quality-minded consumers are increasingly apt to find them.

The industry will continue to grow dramatically. Last year, about $1 billion in revenues was generated by home inspectors. That figure is expected to grow to nearly $3 billion by 2001.

It can be a lucrative field for competent inspectors. Today, most full-time inspectors are earning from $30,000 to $50,000 per year. And that income will probably increase, particularly for those who have proved their professional capability.

Q. What is "New Urbanism"?

A. This is a residential development concept that is becoming increasingly common throughout the country. Developers and architects are structuring their new community plans to simulate the desirable elements of a small town.

They are attempting to revive the concept of a walkable community, where residents can stop by the grocery store or drop off their children at school without starting up the car, according to a report in the current issue of <beginital> Real Estate Outlook. <endital> a publication of the National Association of Realtors.

Eastlake period bedroom set made in Grand Rapids

By Anne McCollam Copley News Service

Q. This is a picture of a cherry commode that my parents purchased in a secondhand store in 1931. I have the matching bed and dresser. The dresser has an attached mirror with candle brackets on each side. Each piece is in excellent condition and has the original finish.

On the back of the headboard is part of a manufacturing label. The word "Michigan" is all that is left. Could you tell me anything more about my furniture?

A. Your bedroom set is an example of the Victorian Eastlake period. The straight lines, shallow carvings and incised decorations are typical of this style. English architect and designer Charles Locke Eastlake found the earlier Victorian furniture ornate and overdone. He advocated a return to simpler designs and good craftsmanship.

Your circa 1870 set was probably made in Grand Rapids, Mich., one of the leading furniture manufacturing centers in the late 1800s. The value of the three pieces would probably be about $2,400 to $3,700.

Q. This mark is on my porcelain ice cream set. It includes a large platter with handles to serve the ice cream and challow nine bowls. Each piece is decorated with a winter scene and trimmed in gold. Do you have more information on my set?

A. This mark was used by Charles Field Haviland in Limoges, France, in the late 1800s. Charles was the nephew of the original founders of Haviland China Co. He formed his own firm, Charles Field Haviland & Co., in 1870. Your ice cream set would probably be worth about $550 to $575.

Q. My parents bought, 12 mugs made by Royal Doulton just before Edward VIII was to be crowned. Each mug has the image of Edward and the words "Coronation HM King Edward VIII - May 12, 1937." I would like to know the value of these mugs.

A. When Edward VIII abdicated, production of items commemorating his coronation ceased. The market was already flooded with an abundance of memorabilia. As a result, many items are still available today.

Each mug would probably be worth about $35 to $50.

> Q. I have had a pair of porcelain figural salt and pepper shakers since 1925. They represent the RCA Victor dog. Does my set have any value? A. The RCA dog listening to "His Master's Voice" was known as Nipper. Your salt and pepper

crossover value. They are of interest to collectors of salt and pepper shakers and collectors of RCA Victor-related items. The set would probably be worth about $55 to $65.

Q. We have a wooden six-pack Pepsi Cola bottle carrier. The frame is wood with tin along the edges and there is a handle at the top. The divider in the middle has the words "The New Consumer Case." On the outside are the words "Pepsi-Cola" in script. There are two dashes, one on top of the other, between the words "Pepsi" and "Cola."

Could you give us some history, and the carrier's value?

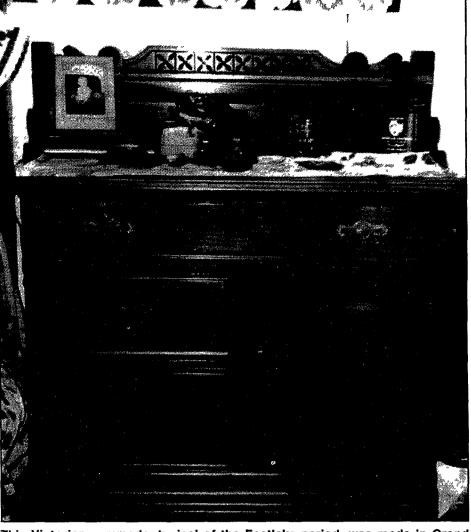

A. Pepsi Cola was invented in 1898. The script logo was used until 1970 and double dashes until 1951. Your carrier was made in the early 1900s and the value would probably be about $85 to $125.

Q: We want a new look in the guest bath of our "new" house, actually a Colonial Revival built in the 1920s. However, we can't rationalize replacing either the tiles or the plumbing fixtures: They were good to begin with and have been well cared for over the years.

A. Lucky you, then, because you have to deal only with what I call the "applied arts," the colors and patterns you can coax from paint, wallpapers, curtains, shower curtains, towels, art and decorative objects.

As this is a guest bath, you probably want to repeat or refer directly to the colors, patterns and materials in the adjoining bedroom(s). But do let the room enjoy a personality of its own.

To perk up an old bath like yours, consider this handful of interesting ideas pocketed while I made the rounds of designer showhouses this season:

- Give an old tub a new outlook with panels of mirror installed dado-high around the walls behind it.

- Dress up an ordinary tub with formal curtains hung on the ceiling and tied back dramatically to each side (of course, you'll hang a sensible plastic curtain underneath if there's a shower involved).

- Set shower rods almost to the ceiling and make the curtains extra long for another dose of drama in the bath.

- Mount shelves or sculpture brackets on the wall by the tub and fill them with objets d'art or trailing plants (they should thrive on the moisture of a bath).

- Forget ordinary medicine chests and antiseptic mirrors: A small antique cupboard and/or vintage mirror will be equally practical and much more fun.

Ready, Set, Show!

You've selected a real estate agent, set your price, sign the listing agreement, and are ready for action. Bring on the buyers!

You may be in for a surprise. By listing your home, you are assured that prospects will be shown through your home in the company of an experienced agent. Appointments will be made in advance, and you assume this will give you time to straighten up before a showing.

Here's the surprise. The very best, most qualified, most motivated buyers often expect to tour homes on short notice. How short? It could be only hours, and sometimes mere minutes.

While this may seem unreasonable to you when selling, think twice before you turn down an unexpected request to show your home on thirty minutes notice. Remember, despite the inconvenience to you, it is highly likely that the prospect making the request is dead serious about buying a home. That home could be yours. The more restrictions you place on the hours of showing, or advance notice request is dead serious about buying a home. That home could be yours.

The more restrictions you place on the hours of showing, or advance notice required, the more you lower the chances of selling your home. Your agent will always attempt to give as much advance notice as possible, yet it is the prospects who ultimately set the schedule.

To capitalize on this unpredictable aspect of home marketing, be flexible and be ready for a showing at any time. Let your agent do the rest.

Helping kids cope with terminal illness

Shira Blum, as Child Life Specialist for Care-ousel, Arbor Hospice's care for kids program, helps children cope with terminal illness or deal with the loss of a family member or classmate.

Blum uses two anatomically correct dolls, "Nina" and "Joe" to help children after surgery through role playing. Play, art, group sessions and counseling also help children and teens cope with their disease and intense emotional reactions.

The dolls, along with Blum and the child, all share in the roles of doctor and patient. Blum uses the doll to explain to the child, step by step, what is happening and why. The doll mirrors the child's own feelings of fear and anxiety.

This is an important reality check to make certain the child is fully understanding," said Blum. Communication becomes more of an issue as children and teens realize they are dying. Many have a need to protect their parents, relatives and close friends, to maintain a form of mutual pretense."

The bond developed with the child through this program extends to parents, siblings and classmates. Before establishing a relationship with the family, Blum meets with them to understand their belief system.

"My goal is to bring the family into the child's circle, allowing for good-byes to be said when the time is right and letting the child know he or she is not alone," said Blum.

Arbor Hospice's Care-ousel care for kids program also employs an art therapist, pediatric social workers and pediatric nurses to help with the process. The group provides many bereavement groups for parents and siblings. "Circle of Love," beginning in May, is a support group for parents who have lost a child. For more information on this or any other group, call Arbor Hospice at (313) 677-0500.

region and the state of Michigan for buyer controlled sales, closed revenue units, gross commission income and listings sold for year end 1996, among Coldwell Banker Residential Affiliates Inc.

He closed in excess of $37 million in residential real estate sales volume and was honored at Coldwell Banker's International Business Conference in Dallas, Texas. The event drew more than 7,000 sales associates from throughout North America.

John DiMora exemplifies the standards of excellence for which Coldwell Banker is known. Top producing sales associates such as John are the backbone of our orga-nization's strength," said Paul Schweitzer, the president of Cold-well Banker Schweitzer Real Estate.

Michigan 1997 housing project starts were down 5.7 percent from 1996 year-to-date totals through the month of March. March housing project starts were up 33 percent from February.

"March housing starts rose over February in their typical cyclical fashion; however, the rise did not keep pace with 1996 figures. Market led interest rates climbed during the month of March in anticipation of the Federal Reserve's late month tightening action," commented Rick Delamater, president of the Michigan Association of Home Builders. "Although interest rates rose a little higher, employment and income growth are also up. This leaves the outlook for housing demand remaining positive."

Fixed-rate mortgages rose slightly to 7.97 percent in March from 7.87 percent in February. Lumber prices for 1,000 board feet of framing lumber declined slightly to $432 in March from $442 in February.

The Michigan Association of Home Builders is comprised of more than 11,000 member companies, thus providing service to over 400,000 people in the home building/construction industry. MAHB also represents 36 local home builder associations throughout the state.

New Residential Construction Report - MAHB - March 1997

Help in dealing with the loss of property from such an unexpected event may be available from what may seem like an unexpected source: Uncle Sam.

The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants explains that if you suffer a loss of property as the result of a "casualty," you may be able to claim an itemized deduction for some of the loss that you sustain.

Of course, itemizing your deductions on Schedule A will generally provide greater tax relief than using the standard deduction.

To qualify for a casualty deduction, the damage, destruction or loss of property must be the result of an identifiable event that is sudden, unexpected or unusual.

Some qualifying events include earthquakes, fires, hurricanes, tornadoes, floods, storms, auto collisions, vandalism and theft.

A loss that occurs over time, say, a period of several years, such as rusting pipes or termite damage, does not qualify as a casualty loss. A theft may qualify if you can prove that the property was unlawfully taken, rather than just lost or misplaced.

Money Management

DETERMINING DEDUCTIONS

There are a number of steps involved in determining the amount of your casualty deduction. The first requires that you calculate: (1) the adjusted basis of the property (generally, your cost plus improvements); and (2) the difference in the property's fair market value before and after the casualty. The lesser of these two figures represents the amount of your loss. In performing the second calculation, don't confuse fair market value with replacement cost. The property's fair market value is the amount a knowledgeable buyer would pay for the property and is often less than what it would cost to replace it. For example, if your television was destroyed as the result of a casualty, the purchase price for a new television is certain to be higher than the fair market value for the used TV you lost.

YOU CAN'T RECOVER TWICE

The next step in determining your deduction is to reduce your loss by the amount of any insurance reimbursements you received or will receive, even in the following losses are deductible only to the extent that they exceed 10 percent of your adjusted gross income (AGI). For example, if your unreimbursed losses total $10,000, your AGI is $60,000, and you itemize your deductions, you may deduct up to $3,900 in casualty losses.

Finally, if the damages were incurred to a home which you use partly for business or rent out or to other business-use property, you may need to follow slightly different procedures, and your loss may be further limited.

WHEN AND HOW TO DEDUCT

A casualty loss generally is deductible in the year it occurs. Because the deduction is for damages, and not expenses, this rule applies even if the property is not repaired or replaced until the following year. You must file a sepa-rate Form 4684, "Casualties and Thefts" for each occurrence if you have suffered more than one casualty.

You're entitled to a special tax break if your loss occurs where a federal disaster area is declared. You have the option of deducting the loss in the year in which the disaster occurred or in the preceding tax year. By amending your past year's tax return, you may be able to obtain funds from Uncle Sam a lot sooner.

Also, be aware that casualty

Career outlooks detailed in MESA's Outlook 2000

Choosing a career is one of life's big decisions. But few of us take the time to really map out our career choice. In fact, according to a national survey, only 41 percent of us actually plan our careers.

"All too often, people make their career choices based on chance or the best available job at the time or on the advice of friends and relatives," Thomas Malek, acting director of the Michigan Employment Security Agency said. "Making a career choice should be a careful and studied process, and to help those making career decisions we have updated and published our new Michigan Career Outlook with occupational information through the year 2005.'

"Although outlook offers a great deal of information about occupations commonly found in Michigan, it also contains details about where people can go for training,' Malek noted.

The publication includes a listing of 540 secondary and post secondary schools such as public and private colleges and universities, community colleges, private vocational schools and secondary technical schools.

"Since most of these schools require tuition, the guide includes information about financial aid and some of the common sources for that aid," Malek added.

There is also information about federal Job Training Partnership Programs, which help prepare young people and unskilled adults for the job market. Michigan's Work First program, which helps public assistance recipients find employment, is also featured. along with the Michigan Works! and School to Work programs.

A supplement to The South Lyon Herald • Milford Times • Novi News • Northville Record

Lynn Bowden, Michelle Davis • Pulte Homes South Lyon (810) 437-7676

Partners Lynn Bowden and Michelle Davis bring a number of years experience to their positions as designated brokers for Pulte Builders.

Their knowledge, coupled with the desirability of the South Lyon area, the quality products they sell and great prices have created a high demand for homes in Pulte's hottest country subdivision Hidden Creek.

"We've had a great deal of success in South Lyon, because this area is on the path of progress, yet it still has a rural feel to it but with all the city conveniences."

The pair has sold 73 homes in Hidden Creek since September. There is one ranch floor plan and four colonials from which to choose. One decorated model is available for viewing seven days a week, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., while additional floor plans can be seen in homes under construction. Prices range from the high $180s to the low $230s.

The subdivision, featuring gently rolling hills and trees, is nestled next to Centennial Elementary and Middle schools. It's within walking distance to town, with a grocery store on the corner, and a new park planned nearby. City water, sewer and street lights also add to the attractiveness of the community.

Pulte is the largest building company in the country, and while they could probably work anywhere, Bowden and Davis say South Lyon has been their favorite market in which to work. "We're pleased to be a part of the South Lyon community. The people are just wonderful. The atmosphere created here in the country brings in a more down to earth clientele. It's a real unstressed environment."

Hidden Creek is located at Nine Mile Road, just west of Pontiac Trail in South Lyon.

Milford (810) 685-0055

If traditional vacations have become too conventional for your travel tastes, it could be time to consider an adventure or ecological based get-away, according to Colleen Tiscornia, owner and operator of Tiscornia Travel in Milford.

Alaska is good first-time nature destination, Tiscornia said, especially if you opt to take a cruise. "A lot (of companies) have a naturalist on board," Tiscornia said. "You'll get incredibly close looks at animals in their natural environment."

Adventure travel is growing in popularity, Tiscornia said, now that travel agents are exploring territories once reserved for others.

Why bother using a travel agent in the first place?

"You can call the airlines yourself," Tiscornia said. "But most people don't have the time, patience or perseverance to say on hold that long.

"With a simple stroke of the keyboard, we can find the lowest fare, or gain access to hotel discounts."

Tiscornia's proud of the fact her company offers friendly, efficient and professional service, and she's proud her company plays an active role in the community.

"I got bit by a good bug," Tiscornia said. "Now, I can't get travel and adventure out of my system."

Maundy Miller • Heirloom Oriental Rugs Brighton (810) 227-4751

Heirloom Oriental Rugs carries a beautiful selection of heirloom quality oriental rugs in all shapes, sizes and fabrics. All hand-made and often with one-of-a-kind designs, the rugs are investments that can be loved, enjoyed and handed down to future generations.

Marion Betts, Susanne Gilbert • Main Street Art Milford (810) 684-1004

Main Street Art is Milford's very own art gallery. Owner Marion Betts has been creating and showcasing local and national artwork in her shop, at 432 N. Main Street, for 15 years. She and manager Susanne Gilbert, who has been with her for 10 of those years, do everything from corporate art to heirloom and memorabilia framing and preservation.

"Marion and I both like to do a lot of design work," Susanne says as she gestures to the work area in the back. It is filled with various works-in-progress.

They incorporate objects like clothing, sports memorabilia and wedding mementos into beautiful antique shadow boxes and colorfully matted frames.

Marion believes part of their continued success is the fact that she stays abreast of new methods to add to their repertoire. Through her travels around the United States and Canada, she keeps up to date on new techniques and ideas. Environment-friendly methods like conservation framing and the use of acid-free materials are just two examples that this forward-thinking shop owner employs.

Marion believes this knowledge benefits her customers by making the work they do for them even more beautiful and longer lasting, as all memories should be.

Over the years the only thing that hasn't changed at Main Street Art is the old-fashioned service. This is a magical place, and each person who walks through the door can feel it.

Owner Maundy Miller hand picks the rugs from all over the world based on the quality and intricacy of weaving, knotting and wool. People across the Midwest visit the shop based on Maundy's reputation for quality, selection and honesty. She helps customers select styles and colors based on wallpaper, paint, fabric samples and visits homes for consultations.

Heirloom also carries hard-to-find Tribal Rugs. Hand-made in Afghanistan by nomadic tribesmen, they are original pieces; no two are alike. They feature geometric patterns in intense colors.

Maundy says her oriental rugs fit today's lifestyles and budgets. She said they age as beautifully as they wear. "There is one (rug) in the store that is 65 years old, and customers don't believe it when they find out. Once you have one and see how well they last, you are hooked." They also don't go out of style. Many of the designs are classic, 200 to 300 years old. Maundy is available for speaking engagements for groups interested in finding out more about the differences between rug making techniques, designs, and how to tell quality rugs.

Heirloom Oriental Rugs is across from the Mill Pond at 217 W. Main Street. Visit the store anytime Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. or Sunday 12 p.m. to 5 p.m. To arrange for an appointment with Maundy, call (810) 227-4751. 2 • Women In The Know-East • May 22, 1997

Michelle Kelly • Kelly & Kelly, P.C.

Northville (810) 348-0496

When attorney Michelle Kelly isn't focusing on family or criminal law at her private practice in Northville, she is focusing on family and helping people.

Kelly has been doing a great deal of public speaking to students and businesses. She has been speaking to students for several years about making choices and taking responsibility and recently began taking time to speak to businesses about sexual harassment.

"I enjoy speaking to teens regarding making good decisions and personal responsibility," Kelly said. "I have recently spoken at several schools and the Oakland County Boot Camp. Decisions that young people are making now are not simply stupid, they can be fatal. And it is very important for businesses and employees to understand their rights and responsibilities regarding sexual harassment."

She speaks at least once a week now and is interested in speaking engagements. "I think it is really important for people to be educated," Kelly said.

Kelly and her husband John are partners in private practice. The two practice different types of law in the same office. Kelly started the practice 10 years ago. John left a large firm in Detroit to join her practice. Kelly also coaches two soccer teams. Kelly and her husband have four children, ages 6, 11, 12 and 13.

Jennifer Hill • Milford Memories

Shame on you, says Jennifer Hill, if you've never experienced the Milford Memories festival held the second weekend in August.

As coordinator of the festival, Hill knows first-hand how much fun can be had at the event, which continues to grow in popularity every year.

It started off six years ago as a festival commemorating Milford's past, Hill said, but has become an event celebrating community spirit and summer events.

Among the highlights of the festival: a Civil War encampment, an art show with over 200 booths, food, live music and dancing.

With a background that includes fund-raising experience for the Muscular Dystrophy Association as well as the Royal Oak based Common Ground, Hill's involvement with the Milford Memories Festival was a natural fit.

She started as a volunteer, Hill said, but is now coordinating marketing, sales and advertising for the festival — just to name a few.

"We work hard all year to please 20,000 participants," Hill said. "It's a difficult job, but when you have a great festival, it carries you through the whole year."

Hill, 35, is also a full-time mom to three children.

"I'm doing dishes and doing deals," she said.

Leslie Prud'homme • Pampered Chef South Lyon (248) 437-2208

"In my previous life, I was a CPA for 11 years. Now I am a stay-at-home mom and successful pusiness owner and I just couldn't be happier," says Leslie Prud'homme.

Marcy May • Our Blessings Consignment & Clothier Milford (810) 684-1594

"Why didn't I come here first?"

That's what many customers say after visiting Our Blessings Consignment and Clothier, says store owner Marcy May.

"People go from store to store in the mall and can't find what they want," May said. "Then they come here and find something right away — we're like a million stores in one."

Our Blessings Consignment features a wide selection of men's, women's and children's clothing and accessories, as well as baby things — toys, furniture and clothes. Name brands such as Liz Claiborne, Chaus, Evan Picone — even Chanel — are not uncommon.

As many as 300 new items arrive daily, and the store maintains a "wish list" that allows May to watch for specially requested items.

Consignments are taken by appointment; all clothing must be laundered or dry cleaned, pressed and on hangers, and no more than two years old.

The 2,000 square-foot store is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Friday, and Thursday from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Why did May name her store "Our Blessings?"

"I hoped it would be a blessing to others who were looking to find really nice things for so much less," May said. "I learned at an early age to shop consignment — it never made sense to spend so much money on clothes."

Having her own Pampered Chef business gives Leslie the freedom to control her work hours and determine her own income. "I have four boys ages eight and under, and, crazy as it sounds, I want to be home with them," she explains. One of the most important decisions when you become an independent salesperson is the company you decide to represent. For Leslie, it was the quality of the products, the history of The Pampered Chef, the dedication of its founder and its mission statement that sold her. "This company really lives its mission statement. They are committed to enhancing and encouraging family meal-time and providing opportunities for individuals to develop their God-given talents and skills to their fullest potential."

The company was founded by Doris Christopher to sell top quality kitchen equipment directly to consumers through home demonstrations. Leslie started as a consultant bringing kitchen shows to area homes and in four short years has become a Senior Director with over 100 consultants in her sales cluster who sold over a half million last year. "Our kitchen shows are aways fun! Recipes are prepared in front of the guests, accompanied by plenty of information and cooking tips." Leslie is proud to be a part of such a worthwhile and dedicated company and invites you to call and find out more about The Pampered Chef products and opportunities at (248) 437-2208. BUSY MOM'S

Lisa Vanderhoof • Allstate Insurance Agency

South Lyon (810) 486-2800

Call Lisa Vanderhoof about insurance, and you will get more than just a price quote. According to Lisa, who manages South Lyon's Allstate Insurance Agency, customers today are just crying for information about what insurance policies are best for them. Yet she said there are many agents who simply do not take the time to explain coverage options.

'What makes us stand out as an agency here is customer service," she said. Lisa's husband, Spencer, also works at the Allstate agency and is a specialist in life insurance.

The Vanderhoofs take the time to thoroughly explain a contract to their customers and make sure they understand the limitations. Lisa said it's important that her customers know and understand their options so they can choose a policy that is right for them.

This attention to people explains why Lisa's agency retains so many of its customers. In fact, her agency retains a larger percentage of customers than most other Allstate agents in Michigan.

The Allstate agency sells life, auto, homeowner, recreational vehicle and commercial insurance. Besides working in South Lyon, Lisa has become involved in the South Lyon community. She is currently serving as vice-president of the South Lyon Area Chamber of Commerce and is co-chair of Women's Forum, an organization designed to help working women network.

LaFontaine Cadillac • Maureen LaFontaine Highland (810) 887-4747

Maureen LaFontaine summarizes the success of her Highland business as "a lot of hard work and a good attitude." As half of the dynamic car couple that run two car dealerships in the metro area, she's no stranger to success or hard work. Husband Mike LaFontaine is President of the LaFontaine Dealer Group, she is Vice President of the dealer group.

They originally branched out to Milford in 1984, eventually moving to the existing location in Highland. That's when she took charge. After selling cars two days a week for six months, she jumped head first as vice-president of the new location.

A good support staff is crucial in the car industry, she says. "Believe me, it's a whole store effort and everybody here works together.'

All four of the LaFontaine's children have followed in their footsteps. Mike Jr. is the general manager at the Dearborn store. Son Ryan sells cars at the dealership in between his studies at Northwood University. The two daughters, Christie and Kelley, work at the Highland store.

Maureen believes that customer service is another vital part of any successful business. "If you want to be successful, first and foremost, you have to take care of your customers," she says. The dealership environment at her store is a bit different than most. LaFontaine has created a comfortable setting, with a family conducive atmosphere. "I have a lot of antiques in here. People like to see that. There's a rocking chair, wooden desks and wallpaper," she said. And don't forget the animal crackers that children and adults enjoy. To check out the full line of Pontiac, Cadillac and GMC trucks along with a full service department and parts department, travel to 2530 E. Highland Road in Highland.

Pat Curry, Miki Burton and Kris Burton • Pet Stop South Lyon (810) 486-5838

Whether it's small animals, birds, or fish – ranging from anoles to zebra finches – owners Miki Burton and Pat Curry have what you want at Pet Stop in South Lyon.

Customers can also find a wide-variety of food and supplies for all their favorite pets. And if it isn't on the shelf, don't worry, because Pet Stop will special order the item at no extra cost.

Owners of the Pet Stop since June 1995, Miki and Pat have enjoyed establishing friendships with the local residents and their pets. Yes, pets are welcome at the Pet Stop. Charlie, the seven-year-old "greeter macaw" enjoys the visitors, and Miki's golden retriever, Boomer, has developed a number of fans and is often found watching over the bulk biscuit aisle.

Miki, Pat and Kris, the store manager, have established a "bonus bag" program for purchases of most premium brand dog and cat foods. After purchasing 12 bags of food or 12 cases of canned food, you earn a free bag or case of the same food. Other benefits offered are senior discounts, Chamber of Commerce member discounts and special offers for new residents.

The owners and employees offer friendly, personal service and invite you to the cleanest pet store you've been in. If you haven't been there, treat yourself - and your pets - to a visit.

Willetta Dean • Tuffy Auto Service Center South Lyon (810) 437-4800

When talk of downsizing began circulating through the computer company she had worked at for 17 years, Willetta Dean knew th/ere would s ome a time when her position would fall to the chopping block.

So she began looking for alternative job opportunities. About a year after that, she was the co-owner of Tuffy Auto Service Center at 22750 Pontiac Trail, South Lyon. "The company I was working for was going through downsizing and they finally got around to me," Dean said. "I said, 'This is crazy.' My older son is an ASE master mechanic, and I was looking for something to do rather than beating the sidewalk looking for a job."

Dean and her family learned that Tuffy Corp. was leasing some vacant land in the South Lyon area and was looking for prospective owners.

Dean had the business background and her son, Mike, had the automotive skills so they decided to combine their abilities and start a business. Also chipping in were Dean's husband, John, who runs the counter, and their other son, Jay. With the family in charge, the business prides itself on customer service and the ability to do almost any job. In fact, it's easier to say what they won't do - some heavy duty engine repair and transmission rebuilds, for instance than it is to say what they do.

"Anything you need done we can handle, usually," she said. And they'll only do work that's necessary.

"What makes us different is the customer service, friendly atmosphere and honesty we provide," she said. "We don't sell anything unless it's necessary. For example, if you come in for a brake check and don't need brakes, I won't sell you brakes.'

Lori Ann Godo • Park Woods

(810) 486-4663

The process of picking out and buying a home can be daunting.

Lori Ann Godo, who lives in Lyon Township and has two children, understands and uses her skills as an experienced real estate agent to put customers at ease.

"Buying a new home can be very exciting and stressful but by coordinating all steps involved, we hope to make the experience as pleasant as possible," she said.

Godo, who has a background in advertising and marketing, obtained her real estate license in 1988 and started working in property management. In 1992, she started actively selling homes.

She continued to learn more about her field by becoming a certified buyer representative in 1995 and recently graduated from the Real Estate Institute with G.R.I. designation.

Godo is excited about the Park Woods country sub being built just north on Eight Mile Road, east of Pontiac Trail, in Lyon Township. Reservations are currently being accepted for the first 32 homes going up, with occupancy to start in late summer and early fall.

Appel Homes is building the 102 homes in Park Woods. The community boasts of natural preserve areas, a babbling brook and ponds which can be enjoyed by the wood chip foot trail through the country sub. The developer has been building in South Lyon since 1990 and is a member of Southwest Builders Association and South Lyon Chamber of Commerce. For an appointment, call Lori at 486-4663.

Brigid Lynch, Mary Lynch Howell, Karen Kramb

Lynch & Sons Funeral Directors Milford (810) 684-6645

In a field that still relies strongly on personal service and accountability, the contributions of these three women are essential.

Brigid Lynch is the director of Pre-Need services for the family firm that was founded by her father and that her brothers now operate in four locations including Milford. She works directly with families who pre-arrange and pre-finance funerals.

Karen Kramb is coordinator of family services and follow-up services working closely with families during visitation, funeral service and often afterwards as she assists with bereavement programming in conjunction with Hospice of Southeastern Michigan and Huron Valley Hospital.

Mary Lynch Howell has been bookkeeper for Lynch & Sons for 25 years. Her experience and professionalism have made her an essential member of the management team. She also serves as Secretary-Treasurer on the board of directors.

As one of the largest family owned and operated funeral firms in the State of Michigan, Lynch & Sons depends on these women to assist in "serving the living by caring for the dead."

Jackie Justin, Laurie York Anderson • Justin York Salon

aurie York Anderson and Jackie Justin believed they would be good at running a hair salon, so when an opportunity arose to purchase one in Northville, they went for it.

Two and a half years later, Justin York is busting at the seams and is ready to expand, either to a larger building or a second location. "We're really proud of what we and our staff have been able to accomplish," Anderson said. "We set goals for ourselves when we started out, never having attempted anything like this, and we accomplished all of our goals in two years."

Such goals for these two single women included plans to remodel the salon and hire an entire staff. The salon, where 13 women now work as a team, was refurbished last year.

Justin York's staff has a wide variety of talents, and owners Justin and Anderson say that education is an important component of their success. "Education is a requirement of our staff. They attend shows all over the country, and we also bring top educators into the salon for seminars so we can stay at the forefront of the industry."

But it's more than education that keeps clients coming back. "We take pride in providing a warm and friendly atmosphere, and I think our clients appreciate that," Justin said. "After spending a little time here, not only do they leave looking great, but they feel better too.'

Anderson and Justin, with more than 35 years of combined experience, have recently joined the Detroit Board, a networking organization for salon owners which provides direction and education on how to run a salon and move it toward the 21st century.

"We want to grow but we're battling with the how and where to go. This location is a dynamite location. Downtown Northville is wonderful. Our biggest thing right now is figuring out how and where to go."

Elaine Aittama, Laura Helwig • Milford Baking Co.

Milford (810) 685-2200

The Milford Baking Co. may be known for its homemade Finnish pasties and elaborately handdecorated cakes, but the women behind the bakery say there's more to the business than top-quality baked goods.

Elaine Aittama and Laura Helwig, co-owners of the Milford Baking Co., met while working together at Sears for 14 years. They eventually decided to start their own business. "That last year we sold televisions together," Aittama said. "That's when we decided we wanted out."

Aittama and Helwig have co-owned the bakery for seven years, and in that time have provided the area with homemade cookies, cakes, bagels, pasties and other treats, all baked fresh on the premises. They now offer custom drawings, from photographs, on cakes — a great idea for such occasions as graduations and showers.

Aittama says the key to being a small business owner is trusting the customers — which she says is not at all difficult, given the quality of their clientele. "So many of our customers have become friends," she said. "People are great."

The two women are in charge of baking the goodies, keeping the books and doing "just about everything," Aittama said. For old-fashioned, delicious baked goods served with a smile, stop by the Milford Baking Co., located at 408 N Main St. in Milford. The shop is open 5 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday

Dr. Kathy Duncan • Duncan Soft Touch Chiropractic (810) 348-2000

Several years back, Kathy Duncan was a registered nurse suffering from migraines. Chiropractic treatments both cured her and inspired her in 1983 to go to Life Chiropractic College in Atlanta, Georgia and earned the designation "Doctor of Chiropractic".

"I practice a soft, gentle, non-invasive pressure point treatment for all types of pain or discomfort in the back, neck, head or legs called Bio-Energetic Synchronization Technique," Dr. Duncan said.

"With the spine as the focal point, muscles are relaxed by using pressure along the spine. With the muscles relaxed, the spine can readjust itself naturally. Tight muscles, caused by stress, tension, strain or trauma, can pull the spine out of alignment and cause pain," she added.

Dr. Duncan opened her first practice, Duncan Soft Touch Chiropractic, in Novi in 1990 because she felt Novi was a very friendly community. Located at 23895 Novi Rd., the office is open Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 2:30 to 6:30 p.m. The office is also open on Saturdays by appointment only.

In the community, Dr. Duncan is active as president of the Novi Oaks Chapter of American Business Women's Association and singles in the Livonia Community Chorus.

Dr. Duncan finds chiropractic a definite switch from nursing, but likes what she does. As she says, "The patients are a real joy."

Julie Wixom • Sunset Sportswear Inc. Green Oak Township (248) 437-7611

Looking to give your company some unique exposure. Well, there's a business in town that can place your company name in front of thousands of people.

Dr. Susan Abed • Abed Orthodontics Hartland (810) 632-5794

Children are rarely late for appointments at Abed Orthodontics at 11479 Highland Road in Hartland. In fact, they look forward to visits with "Dr. Sue," as she is fondly known by her patients. "You'd have to see it to believe it," says Office Manager Mary Levy. "Kids are eager to smile at the orthodontist and enjoy the fun-filled office."

Both parents and staff alike comment on her outstanding personality and chairside manner. Much of her business comes from referrals, because she is so good at easing children's fears. In addition, Dr. Abed has a remarkable list of credentials. She earned her Doctor of Dental Surgery and Masters Degree in Orthodontics from the University of Detroit, where she currently teaches. She has a master's degree in science and has taught six years at the high school and college levels.

Dr. Abed's work has been recognized by the American Association of Orthodontics, The American Academy of Oral Pathology, Proctor and Gamble and Dentistry International. Abed Orthodontics accepts most insurance and trues hard to make financial arrangements to fit the patient's needs. "We all have kids and know what they need. We try to make everyone feel at home with a down-to-earth office atmosphere, and a well done, professional job.

Abed Orthodontics, in the Hartland Professional Center at 11479 Highland Road, Suite B, is open Tuesday 1 to 5 p.m., Wednesday 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturday 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Mona Ruggers • Polished Outlook Milford (810) 685-9898

Although Mona Ruggers named her business "Polished Outlook," it could also be called "Positive Outlook" for its ability to instill an upbeat attitude in its customers. Located in the warm and relaxing environment of a renovated Victorian home. Polished Outlook is a "Spa in the Village," offering a full range of services including hair, nails, skin revitalizing and Swedish massage techniques.

Polished Outlook also features its own brand of skin-care products.

"With the fast paced life-style we lead, we need to look at the body as a whole to find relief from stress," Ruggers said. "This is one-stop beauty."

An added bonus: the spa also features special occasion and everyday gift baskets in its boutique area, with unique items ranging from $1 to hundreds of dollars. In fact, Ruggers said, just about anything you see in the home — from lamps to silk floral arrangements — can be purchased by customers.

Another aspect that adds to the success of the spa: it's really a family affair, as daughter Kelly Beasley takes care of operations and Rugger's husband Vince offers his support.

It's not just women who benefit from spa services, Ruggers said, as more and more men are seeking body treatments, manicures and hair care.

Also, watch for "A Polished Outlook with Mona" on TCI local cable channel 12, a show where Mona features topics of all aspects in a positive healthy attitude. "You have to take time out to relax to be healthy," Ruggers said. "And an increasing number of people are realizing it's important."

Debbie Hughes, Denise Klingbeil • Village Toy Shoppe Milford (810) 684-8697

It's hard to keep up with what kids want. Anyone who's ever been shopping for a birthday or holiday present knows that. Finding a toy that is just right is a challenge.

Debbie Hughes and Denise Klingbeil, owners of the Village Toy Shoppe, at 400 N. Main, in Milford's Village Center Mall, want you to know that they can solve this problem for you. Their selection is incredible, but it's the personalized service that means the difference between a gift that will be hastily tossed aside, to one that will light up a child's eyes.

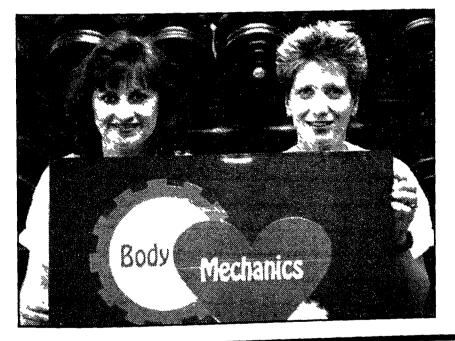

Their staff is well educated about the toys that they sell. Their knowledge of what is popular, ageappropriate and classic, as far as gift giving goes, makes a huge difference between the Village Toy Shoppe and the huge chains. The store is also extremely convenient—who among us hasn't waited until the day of a birthday party to get a gift? The store gift wraps for free as well, eliminating that extra trip, and cost, for paper, bows or tape.

Debbie and Denise go to a toy fair in New York City yearly to stay abreast of trends. The Toy Shoppe has a vast selection of the best in high quality toys like Madame Alexander dolls, Muffy Bears, Brio and Playmobil. They have toys from all over the world and many educational toys.

The store will be celebrating its two year Birthday on May 31 with big party plans for the store. The Village Toy Shoppe is open Mon. through Thurs. from 10 to 6, Fri. 10 to 7 and Saturday from 10 to 5. Call 684-8697. And yes, they are expecting a Beanie Babies shipment soon.

Kathi Butler and Suzanne Heyder • Body Mechanics Inc.

One of the most difficult things about exercising is getting motivated to exercise.

That's where Kathi Butler and Suzanne Heyder of Body Mechanics Inc. in Livonia can help.

"There's a lot of motivation involved," Kathi explained. "If someone is exhausted after work and they don't feel like exercising; after working with us they're going leave feeling better than when they came in."

With nearly 25 years of combined experience in fitness instruction, Kathi and Suzanne teamed up four years ago after recognizing a need for quality personal trainers in the area. They now have a five-member team of trained instructors, all of whom carry a college degree in a physical fitness-related field (or are currently enrolled).

As personal trainers, Body Mechanics sets up health and fitness programs based on an individual's needs. They do verbal assessments, consultations and listen to people to find out what they want to get out of a physical fitness program.

Body Mechanics also will assess clients' percentage of body fat, flexibility, muscle strength, muscle endurance and posture.

Body Mechanics will work with people in their homes, but do most of the training out of Body Rocks Gym in Livonia.

The trained instructors can help people of all ages and fitness levels.

"We teach proper form and proper body mechanics," Kathi said. "You can learn to make the most efficient use of your time. We'll also teach you how to use the equipment properly based on the specific goals you have."

Denise DiCola Sinkovich • Arbonne International

(810) 344-4532

Denise DiCola Sinkovich has been using Arbonne International Swiss Skin Care products for six years. And although Sinkovich has a Masters Degree in Nursing, last November she decided to become an independent consultant for Arbonne International.

She still works as a nurse, but part time. Arbonne, being a home-based business, has given Sinkovich a way to spend time with her two and four-year old children. "It has allowed me to work around my busy schedule and my children's busy schedule. This enables me to raise my own children."

Sinkovich moved to Michigan from Pittsburgh. She didn't know many people and when her babysitter moved, she became an independent consultant. "Arbonne's success plan is one of the most dynamic and generous in the network marketing industry," she said. "The new SuccessPlans help you achieve your goals as quickly as you want. You are in control of your own paycheck."

Sinkovich worked as a nurse for 11 years and now works in a hospital part time. Sinkovich began her Arbonne career in November and has already become a district manager. "I always thought that I could only help people by being a nurse," she said. "I don't know that I'll ever quit nursing, but I'll be more successful at this."

Free skin care classes are available by calling Sinkovich at (810) 344-4532. Classes include PH testing of make-up and hot towel facials. She also teaches clients how to read cosmetic labels and gives demonstrations of Arbonne's all-natural herbal and botanical based skin care products.

Sue Dillon • Graphic Visions Plymouth (313) 420-3508

"Sue, it's your day care on line two," Graphic Visions' office manager announces over the intercom. Working mothers dread this call, knowing they may be pulled away from their job to pick up a sick child. Sue Dillon, owner of Graphic Visions, Inc., a graphic design and sign company located in Plymouth, looks at the stack of jobs on her desk before picking up the phone. Her suspicions are confirmed: her 16-month old son has a fever. But Dillon doesn't panic, she knows she can rely on her competent staff to take over her responsibilities. "I couldn't do it all without my staff to support me," Dillon said.

A strong support staff benefits Dillon by allowing her schedule to be flexible, but she feels that more importantly, her customers benefit. "When I'm not available to take a call, I know that one of my staff members can handle my customers' requests, usually as well as I could," Dillon explained.

Graphic Visions,' Inc.'s recent ad campaign "Image is Everything," has Dillon and her staff bringing success to their clients by helping them present a consistent, professional image, from creating a dynamic logo, to producing an attention-getting brochure, to fabricating a sand-blasted sign, to decaling company vehicles. "This 'one-stop shopping' approach is made possible, in part, because of the various talents and abilities of my staff," Dillon said. "I benefit as a working mother, and I know my customers benefit too."

Beverly Pierson • The Gypsy's Light Northville (810) 449-3336

The Gypsy's Light has only been in its new location for a few weeks and already owner Beverly Pierson loves Northville.

"We love it in Northville," she said. "The people have been so nice."

Pierson was located in Birmingham prior to moving to Northville. Her candle shop didn't get enough walk-by traffic and one day, while visiting in Northville with her daughter, she found her new location. The Gypsy's Light specializes in candles, aromatherapy, incense and oils. "We have everything that makes you feel good," Pierson said. "We want people to feel better about themselves in an inexpensive way."

Pierson worked in interior design for 30 years before going into business for herself. "I wanted to have a business where everybody could come in and buy something and feel good about it. This is my new lease on life."

The Gypsy's Light sells specialty candles and creates wonderful packages and gift sets for whatever the customers' needs may be. Pierson also has parties in the store. Parties of five or more can come in and see the tarot card reader and listen to music.

"It's a wonderful atmosphere," Pierson said. "I was so excited to get back into retail. It's such a pleasure to be able to help people feel good."

Pierson and her daughter Rachel Mandell run the store. Customers may also see their cat Shadow helping out with the window displays.

Carol Stanaway • Great Lakes National Bank Brighton (810) 229-8188

As a residential mortgage loan officer for Great Lakes National Bank in Brighton for 19 years, Carol Stanaway has seen a lot of changes. Not only has she been around for the changes Great Lakes has been through, she has watched this sleepy little town grow up.

"I'm very fortunate to be with a company that has grown with this community. I love the area and the people," she says.

Through repeat business based on customer satisfaction, Carol now has the opportunity to work with second and third generations of borrowers' families. She has established a lot of friendships through her work that she values and loves helping young couples she has seen grow up purchase their first home. "Part of what I do is help people understand financing. It's important that we find the financing that fits their needs."

As an active member on the Women's Council for the Livingston County Board of Realtors, Carol keeps up with the constantly changing world of real estate to better educate her clients and help them keep abreast of financial matters. "One of my favorite areas of mortgage lending is working with builders," Stanaway explains. "I really like where the construction business is heading." She keeps up with new ideas and what's going on with builders through the Home Builders Association of Livingston County. With Carol Stanaway and Great Lakes National Bank working with you, you can do more than dream about owning your own home — you can do it.

Wind River Gallery

Dee Letvin, Susan Malinowski, Margaret Sinelli and Debbie Chase have all been longtime customers of Nancy Smith at Wind River Gallery in Milford. ... These are the Women In the Know.

"I can find everything I need right here," says Dee. "From an exclusive print by a national artist to a cute little knick-knack for a friends birthday."

All four ladies agree that Nancy carries a wide variety of art in all mediums. They also agree that the selection is constantly updated to include the newest artists and works. But what keeps them coming back?

"The first time I went into Wind River Gallery I fell in love with a print that Nancy had," explains Susan. "I hemmed and hawed over whether to purchase it and if I did, how to frame it, how would it look in my home, and millions of other things.

Nancy took care of it. The framing she came up with was perfect; it looked wonderful. "She really cares about customer satisfaction."

Debbie has been working with Nancy on a five-year framing project for her husband's business. "When we first discussed how long this project would take, Nancy sat down and explained how framing styles change. She suggested we order all the frames we would need at the same time to ensure consistency. I thought that was not only insightful, but saved us the headache of having to change all the frames as the project progressed."

Margaret has always had an interest in art and is a collector. "Nancy always lets me know what is going on with my favorite artists. She calls me when they have something new out I may be interested in, or there is a change in the artists personal life that affects their work. She also introduces me to new artists, not only by their work, but interesting little tidbits of information about them. She really cares about art and never makes you feel ignorant if you are unfamiliar with something."

Nancy had one up on Dee when they met while she was shopping for an anniversary gift for her husband. "She never let on that my husband had been in earlier looking for a gift for me. We bought each other different prints by the same artist without knowing it and Nancy manipulated the framing so they complemented each other."

It's quality and personal service that bring these ladies back. "She makes it a point to get to know you and your tastes. And everything is first quality. I have never had to bring anything back because it wasn't right," says Susan.

"Nancy always follows up. She calls to see how you like your new piece. I like that," says Dee.

"I like that I can get national art right here in Milford," says Debbie. "I don't have to travel to find regional pieces. Nancy brings it here."

But Margaret sums it up best: "Wind River Gallery is a big city gallery with small town values and hospitality.'

Barb does her best to make the application process as stress free as possible. The company also works with customers with bruised credit to get them back on track. Home Equity Loans and Debt Consolidation Loans are also available. A mortgage reduction program is also offered which enables a customer to pay off their loan years ahead of time without refinancing.

The staff of North Point Mortgage are all Highland residents and just want people to know that there is a full service broker offering "world class service" right in their back yard.North Pointe Mortgage is at 1085 S. Milford Rd. in Highland. Call 889-1221.

Deborah A. Sopo • Brighton Hospital Brighton (810) 227-1211

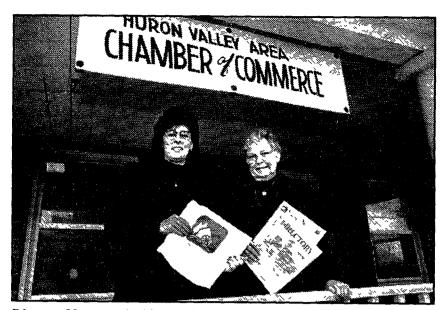

Deborah A. Sopo, R.Ph., MBA, joined the Brighton Hospital team recently as president. She brought with her 20-plus years of health sector administrator experience and a tremendous amount of energy and compassion. Previously, Deborah was President and CEO of Hills and Dales Health Care Corporation and General Hospital located in Cass City, Michigan. She was also the Director of Ambulatory Care at St. Joseph's Health Centre in London, Ontario.

With the help of a very competent group of front line directors and supportive Board of Directors, Deborah plans to develop and implement programs that will be cost effective while still keeping and improving on the degree of quality expected from an organization with Brighton Hospital's stellar reputation. For almost 50 years, Brighton Hospital has been a leader in the treatment, education and prevention of chemical dependence in adults and adolescents. The hospital is continually challenged to meet new insurance needs while still providing the important service needed by clients. Deborah has confronted many of those challenges head-on with her "hit the ground running" style. Deborah is also a seasoned speaker, presenting civic, community and professional presentations on such issues as management skills, health care in the '90's, women's issues, career development and Deborah is new to the area and she and her husband are looking forward to some free time to ambulatory services.

Right in the heart of town, you'll find the Chamber of Commerce, and at the heart of the Chamber, you'll find Executive Secretary Phyllis Motley, and Membership Director Dianna Morgan.

Dianna came on board over two years ago. Before that, Phyllis had managed on her own for 10 years. Recently, she said, there have been a lot of changes. Along with the expansion of the Milford/Highland area, the Chamber's role has grown as well. "When I started, we were open maybe three hours a day," Phyllis laughed. Now, "there just isn't enough time in the day." They're now open Monday through Friday, 9:30 to 3:30.

Chamber membership has increased from about 200 businesses to 340 since the position of Membership Director was born. Together the women help keep businesses in the area active, informed and in touch—with each other, the community, and their customers. They do this through monthly meetings and events like the Business Expo, Milford Memories, the Chamber Golf Outing, as well as an Internet Address (Dianna's doing) and a monthly newsletter, Valley News (Phyllis' doing), just to name a few. The Chamber is an information source for anybody and everybody. Many people would be surprised by the wide range of information this private organization can provide. The Chamber Directory is one such resource, and a plan is currently in the works to provide more information to newcomers to the area.

The combined experience and energy of Phyllis and Dianna makes the Chamber, at 206 E. Liberty St., a welcome, and welcoming, part of our community.

Tonia Hickman • Molly Maid

Northville (810) 305-7070

Molly Maid was founded in 1979 by a registered nurse in Canada who couldn't find qualified help to clean her home. By 1984 Molly Maid entered the United States and currently has over 550 franchises in England, Japan, Canada and the U.S. The company provides Professional Residential cleaning for customers, many of whom do not have the time to clean their home.

Tonia Hickman joined Molly Maid in 1987 as a Home Service Professional cleaning homes. Soon after she became a supervisor and several years later she was offered a position at the Home Office located in Ann Arbor. "Helping new Franchise Owners build their business was exciting," Hickman said. "It didn't take long to realize I could build my own business if I really wanted to. The Novi/Northville location became available and I could not pass it up.'

Hickman and fiance Mike Bennett are co-owners. Currently, Hickman runs the day to day operations with help from Bennett on evenings and weekends. "It is hard work owning and building a business," Hickman said. "But it is nice to be able to work hard for something that is your own."

A positive attitude is something that is very important to Hickman and Bennett and they try to spread that to their employees — and their customers. Molly Maid provides free, in-home estimates and services include cleaning the bathrooms from top to bottom, vacuuming and washing floors, dusting and cleaning the kitchen.

We are more reasonably priced than many people think and having a cleaning service seems to be more and more of a necessity versus a luxury," Hickman said.

Debbie McDonald • Northville Diamond Jewelers Northville (810) 348-6417

There's more to Northville Diamond Jewelers than just dazzling necklaces, sparkling gemstones and terrific special-occasion gifts.

Debbie McDonald and her husband Alan LaVine established the store in 1982 and have entertained the community with their creative marketing strategies ever since.

McDonald, the source of most of the fun, is extremely active in the community, serving on the Northville Fourth of July Committee and acting as Charter President of the Northville Kiwanis-Early Birds. From 1995 to the present, she has acted as President of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce.

One of McDonald's most popular marketing projects is "Let it Snow." If it snows four or more inches from 6 p.m. to midnight on Dec. 31, customers get 100 percent refunds on all purchases made between Dec. 1 and 24.

Northville Diamond Jewelers also holds a Beach Party Sale, complete with a live band and grilled hot dogs, and during the annual Victorian Festival the store gives away a 1-carat diamond. A Valentine's Day wedding vow renewal ceremony and a Champagne Diamond and Hollywood Premiere Evening are other unique attractions of the store.

Also keeping McDonald busy is her son, seven-year-old Colin, a first-grader at Moraine Elementary School. McDonald is a proud soccer mom who admits she'll gladly stand in line for Beanie Babies. In her free time, McDonald loves to garden.

Ann Marie Bond and Karen Cirka • Visions Salon Novi (810) 344-9944

Barb Horrigan-Goins • The Celtic Shamrock Milford (810) 684-5994

Barb Horrigan-Goins and her sister-in-law Doris Ryan own The Celtic Shamrock, at 453 N. Main St., in Milford. But you'll find that it's more than a shop filled with beautiful Irish music, Celtic jewelry and Belleek-Parian China, it's also filled with the love of a culture.

"The biggest thing I'm trying to do is bring Irish culture to people," said Barb. Her pride in her heritage is passionate, and she extends the Irish welcome, "Cead Mile Failte" (100,000 welcomes) to customers who just come in to browse, or in the fine and friendly Irish tradition, to talk.

Barb emphasizes the diversity of the contributions of Ireland-poetry, music, dancing, jewelry, literature, art and china. She travels to Ireland once a year to find new treasures to bring to Milford. She can order just about anything, including Irish foods, which can be very difficult to get. She also carries some Scottish imports.

Barb plans to move to a larger location on Main Street in the near future, where she will have inhouse events, and be able to further expand on the store's new wedding/gift registry, based on the Claddagh Story.'

The Claddagh is the popular Irish ring of betrothal.

The Celtic Shamrock is currently sponsoring Capt. Derek McConnell, who will ride the Irish Horse in the Detroit Equestrian Grand Prix, with proceeds from any winnings going to the Irish Pallottine Fathers Mission.

The store is open 10 to 6 Monday through Friday, and 10 to 5 on Saturday. Call 684-5994.

Mary Mansour • Read It Again Books Novi (810) 474-6066

Mary Mansour is in her second year of catering to those who love the written word. Her bookstore provides a place where book lovers can drop off the old and find something new.

Read It Again Books, located at 39733 Grand River, just west of Haggerty in the Pheasant Run Plaza, offers a wide variety of new and used, fiction and non-fiction books. The store also offers books for rent, frequent reader bonus cards, book related gifts, audio books, and a customer "Want List." Traditions provides a unique blend of items for the home and garden as well as a wonderful array of gifts for the discriminating giver.

'Many customers tell us that Traditions is their favorite store," owner Karen Bartley Slack said. "Our main focus is to provide customers with the accessories they want to complete their decor and to do so in a relaxed, friendly atmosphere," she said.

Merchandise becomes special in the way it is selected and displayed by Karen and her crew. Value is added through the service, attention, and assistance Traditions provides to its customers.

Some time ago Karen thought the merchandise mix could be enhanced with the addition of selected casual women's clothing. She held off acting on the idea until she learned that her friend and fellow Northville business owner, Elizabeth Willerer, was closing her shop, Elizabeth's Uptown Boutique. Now there is a new section of Traditions, managed by Willerer, loaded with unique casual women's clothing.

"It is very rewarding to own a thriving business based on the things you love," Slack said. "Color, design, decorating, and style have always been important to me personally and here I have the opportunity to work with them continually."

Owner Lisa Gruno, who grew up watching her father style hair, says a salon should work for the customer. Gruno opened Artistic Appearance in 1991, to fill a need for a local salon that would provide more advanced services, the latest techniques and technology, while still focusing on customers needs. The design team is always up to date on the newest styles and products, engaging in training seminars and conferences several times a year.

Lisa is proud of the staff she has assembled at her salon. They are unmatched and that means clients are never left in a pinch when it comes to scheduling appointments. "Even though you can always go to your stylist, with everyone's busy lives, sometimes the schedules of the stylist and client can't be matched for a while. We would prefer you try someone else in the salon than go some place else and not be happy. Our customers know they can get the same exact service from someone else in the salon and be pleased with the results. This works for everyone here, customers as well as

O'Brien/Sullivan Funeral Homes Novi (248) 348-1800

Times have progressed from conducting funerals on a handshake to federally regulated computer generated contracts. Along with those changes has been the emergence of women in funeral service. No longer are women delegated to back office roles.

Since 1960, when we hired our first woman, the idea was embraced by all of the families we served. Bridget O'Brien-Watt is responsible for the day to day running of the funeral home. Nancy Somervell coordinates the bereavement support group offered by the O'Brien/Sullivan Funeral Home. Beverly Neal and Marge Tyler are licensed funeral directors. They meet with families, conduct funerals, coordinate with clergy, provide preneed counseling and handle all needs that might arise while dealing with families. Ginny Riley, MaryAnne McDonnell, Sheila Connor, Ronda Kane, Jackie Rivard and Patty Doyle are receptionists. They greet families, answer telephone inquiries and provide a warm greeting to all. The women at the O'Brien/Sullivan Funeral Home are living proof of the adage, "Do you want to speak to the man in charge or the woman that knows what is going on?"

These women allow the O'Brien/Sullivan Funeral Home to provide traditional services, alternative services, cremation services and preneed counseling. A state licensed, board certified funeral director is available 24 hours a day. Their empathic, knowledgeable, sensitive nature are what makes them "women in the know."

It has been over a year since Baby Baby has moved to its new location on Main Street and owner Diane O'Neill has been really pleased with the results. With over 3,700 square feet of space, Baby Baby is brimming with all the latest products at very affordable prices.

Baby Baby carries cribs, coordinated crib bedding sets, changing tables, bassinets, and other items for the nursery. Also in demand are battery-operated swings, infant car seats, playpens and exersaucers. The maternity department has expanded and carries a great selection of career wear bearing the brand names Pea in the Pod, Mimi Maternity and Mother's Work, to name a few. Of course, the fashions are in excellent condition because of the short time period they are worn.

Baby Baby has plenty of the children's great name brands such as GAP, Gymboree, Hartstrings, Oshkosh, Nautica, Polo and much more. Sizes range from newborn to size 14. Diane gets paid the highest compliment when people walk through the front door and say, "I didn't realize this was a consignment shop, your clothes are like brand new!" Baby Baby is always accepting new consignors and no appointment is necessary. Consignors receive 50 % of the selling price and as an extra bonus receive 10 % off all of the purchases. Also, there is a separate children's play area to keep the kids happy while mom shops. Baby Baby is open 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday to Thursday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

On a personal note, Diane and her husband Jim have enjoyed living in Northville for the past 14 years. Their daughter Emma is eight years old and they now have a new baby boy, Griffin. Baby Baby has been in business for over eight years and is looking forward to many more years of continued success

Deby Podczerwinsky • Forget Me Not Inc. South Lyon (810) 437-8865

Deby Podczerwinsky has always had a creative touch.

So one day she decided to market her abilities.

The result is her Forget Me Not Inc. store specializing in cakes for all occassions, including birthdays, weddings, graduations as well as "R-rated cakes."

Opening just 10 months ago, Podczerwinsky already has plans to expand her business to include more wedding-related items, such as balloons, cakes and various wedding accessories. "We're going to be expanding in May," She said. "Do wedding cakes now and next month we'll be adding more wedding flowers, both live flowers and silk."

The business, located near the Country Market in Huntington Square, 582 at Lafayette St., also offers numerous wedding accessories, such as wishing well rentals. In addition, her store has a variety of crafts from local artists. Podczerwinsky began the business in July after working a couple years at a gorcery store making cakes. "I thought there was need for specialty cake shop in town," she explained. "I've always been crafty and used to teach procelian doll classes."

She also uses her creativity and sense of humor in designing adult cakes for bachelor and bachelorette parties and even divorces.

"Our x-rated cakes are a pretty big seller," she said. "People are afraid to ask for it unless they know you do it. We do Bobbit cake: To coin a phrase 'You cut it and leave.' I have a couple women come in and want the cake for divorce parties. They want to cut him up. It's a riot."

Kathy Chobot • Re/Max 100

Novi (810) 348-3000

Kathy Chobot is one-half of "The Dynamic Duo" at Re/Max 100.

The other half of the team is her partner and son Jamie. Together they provide a straightforward, no-games approach to real estate transactions for all of their clients.

A multi-million dollar producer since earning her real estate license in 1979, Kathy is a strong and experienced negotiator with a long sales career. Whether your interests lie in new construction or with an existing peice of property, she is familiar with the housing markets in the Novi, Northville, Canton and Livonia areas.

Kathy's philosphy is simple: "Promises made are promises kept," she says. "I don't just put a sign on a property; I market the property. If I tell you I can sell your home in the least amount of time with the highest possible asking price, I will deliver."

One example of her skill at work was at a home she listed on Meadow Brook Road during the holidays. After just a few weeks on the market, she sold the home for near asking price, during an open house under blizzard conditions — after only four people had toured the home. To this day, she still has Realtors calling to ask her how she did it.

It all boils down to commitment. Kathy uses every means necessary to create awareness about the properties she has listed. "We advertise on TV, use cable as well as the print media for advertising, and have open houses," she said. Being a good listener has also propelled Kathy to success in this business. "The main part is listening to what buyers and sellers want. I also offer a lot of warmth; I care about my clients. It's a lifelong relationship when you work with someone in a real estate transaction," she said.

Just as she is committed to her clients, Kathy is determined to advance her career in real estate. She is currently working toward her broker's license. "I love this business and working with families and making their dreams a reality."

Barbara H. Huckabee, D.D.S. Milford (810) 684-0042

For Dr. Barbara H. Huckabee, being a dentist is an opportunity to specialize in a specific aspect of healthcare. When questioned as to why she became a dentist, Huckabee responds that dentistry allows her to combine a keen interest in the biological sciences with the enjoyment of working with people. "Usually people come in with a specific concern or problem. It is important to deal with the patient as a person, not just the specific tooth or periodontal concern," states Huckabee. The goal of our office is to make people feel comfortable and at ease — so they will ask questions and therefore leave feeling as though their concerns have been addressed.

Dr. Huckabee received her undergraduate degree from Wayne State University in 1974. For seven years she practiced as a physical therapist at a large acute-care hospital. She completed her Masters degree in Human Growth and Development from Wayne State in 1980 and in 1985 graduated from the University of Michigan School of Dentistry.

Guiding her work is Huckabee's personal philosophy of "first things first." That means listening, prioritizing and evaluating problems, states Huckabee. Her Milford office at 402 Union Street offers dental care for the entire family with evening and Saturday appointments available. Call (810) 684-0042.

An example of how D&N involves itself in the community is its pilot banking program launched this year at Centennial Elementary School. D&N employees Mary Lou Lesnau and Taryn Targosz, who oversee the program, go to the school once a week to help the kids work as tellers and personal bankers.

The students take deposits from other students and in the process learn about the banking business and saving money.

"They love it," Lesnau said about the program, which might be expanded to include another school next year. She said over 30 students are involved in the pilot program.

Briggs said her staff is comprised of a good mix of people who work well together.

June Britton, bank receptionist, has lived in South Lyon for 25 years and has worked at D&N since 1994. She enjoys the smiling faces that come into D&N and enjoys meeting new people.

Kathy Hanert, a teller, has worked at the bank seven years and enjoys working with people.

Jacki Holmes, personal banker, has worked in South Lyon for eight years and worked at D&N for 16 years. She enjoys working with people in the community.

Novi has clearly been the perfect market for Salöné Nadwa and Day Spa. In the past two years the growth has been phenomenal — 30 percent and 40 percent each year, respectively. It's all attributed to the hard work and true vision of Nadwa, a woman with tremendous energy energy which is propelling her to success.

Nadwa's desire to continually stay on the cutting edge also keeps her salon and spa at the forefront of the industry. There are plans in the works to expand the business to 8,000 or 10,000 square feet and offer more spa services focusing more on healthy living and dieting. So what keeps this dynamo going? Simple — the clients. And it's her goal to keep them happy. "The energy I have comes from the desire to make people happy," she explained. "I have excitement and energy around me all the time."

Judi Crawford has good news for those who want to work. There are lots of jobs out there, and they don't require a long commute. "People don't have to go into the city, like Troy or Detroit to work. They're great jobs here," says Crawford, who started the employment agency four years ago. "Our motto is 'local for local people."

Some of the services they provide includes help with resumés, interview coaching, temporary, permanent and seasonal job placement for every age in all fields of work. And most importantly, the employers pay the fee. Judi recently expanded her business with Career Center Temps, which offers temporary or temp to permanent positions. "We got into it because there was such a great need for the service...It's a good situation for both the people and the companies. It allows both of them to do a trial period," says Judi, a Highland resident.

Two additional recruiters are available to help, Sandra Edwards from Walled Lake and Nancy Campbell from Milford. Sandra is a recent addition to the center. Campbell is a perfect example of what the company's services can do for a client. She came in to discuss a career change at the Career Center and eventually began working there. Judi encouraged her to go back to school, for a M.S.A. in Human Resource Management from Central Michigan University.

"I really enjoy meeting and talking with our clients. It's very satisfying to help someone to find the right job," said Campbell. Judi is a member of the Highland Business Association, the White Lake Business Association and Michigan Career Developers Association and the U of M Alumni.

This is a true story.

The second se

Gail Majcher was a victim of domestic violence. After being brutally battered for four years she escaped from the marriage with two babies, no education, no money and few people to help her. Yet she is one of the lucky ones who survived with her children and made a success of their lives in spite of the emotional scars. During this difficult experience she kept a journal of her thoughts and feelings. This journal is the heart and soul of the book, A Worthy Woman: My Memoirs as a Survivor of Domestic Violence, while her psychological and spiritual knowledge is the body which encases it.

•Today Dr. Gail Majcher is a clinical psychologist. She has a well-established private practice and is a public speaker focused on communication issues. Yet there is no area as close to her heart as domestic violence. Her goal for writing this personal story is twofold: First, to let her women who are being battered know that they can get out. They may be victims but they are not powerless. Secondly, to help society to understand the dynamics and the pain involved with spousal abuse from a true story. This book addresses the issues of how a woman gets into a violent relationship and why she stays. The book is available at the Bookstall on the Main in Northville and the Little Professor in Brighton. Books can be ordered by sending a check or money order for $11.95 plus $1.50 for postage, to Gail Majcher, Inc., 38705 Seven Mile, Suite 435, Livonia, MI, 48152. Or call (313) 565-6900.

Sue Ann Peterson and the rest of the staff at Huron Valley Schools Credit Union, 145 W. Ruggles St. in Highland, have an unusual way of working together that keeps everyone smiling. It begins with teamwork, and sometimes involves a cactus.

"The cactus is our joke, but it's also a positive form of conflict resolution." said Sue Ann, "If one of us has handled a particularly frustrating problem, they get the cactus." The women depend on each other to provide support and encouragement.

Sue Ann stressed that each member of the staff is an integral part of the whole. Because of this, as well as their commitment to provide excellent customer service, they have staff meetings, or brainstorming sessions, every three weeks. Everyone contributes input to improve customer service.

Such cooperation and commitment shows in the positive comments the team hears from customers.

The staff attends seminars and education sessions in order to have the best possible understanding about the services they provide. Its their way of ensuring their customers' satisfaction.

Most people probably know about the fabulous window displays at Cooper's Jewelry. But store owners Mark and Barb Binkley, of Brighton, say their windows are only the beginning. People dazzled by the window exhibits by designer Carolyn Sanders will be equally dazzled by the merchandise inside Cooper's. "We not only have the very traditional style of fine jewelry, we also have the most current trends in fashion jewelry," Barb Binkley said.

The store offers jewelry from a couple different designers. Some of the selections available include gem stones, diamonds, gold, watches and pearls. Everything in the store is hand picked, Barb explained, adding they inspect every stone and stand behind it. Barb even tries on every pair of earrings they buy to be sure they fit, hang and look great. Mark inspects and grades every diamond. "If it breaks, we'll fix it; if we can't, we'll get you a new one," Barb said. "Customers can rest assured they can buy gifts and if it's not right, bring it back."

The Binkleys are presently preparing for the 50th Anniversary of Cooper's Jewelry, which is in 1999, by getting together plans to remodel the store. "We're going to grow with the community," Mark said.

Store hours are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Monday-Friday; 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday; and noon to 4 p.m. Sunday. Michelle Sadler, Roberta Bearup • The Village Florist Milford (810) 685-9012

For 22 years, the Village Florist at 401 N. Main has been supplying the Milford community with beautiful floral arrangements.

Michelle Sadler, who co-owns the floral shop with her mother Roberta Bearup, says that custom silk arrangements are their specialty. "We have a lot of orders for them. People bring in pictures of their rooms or samples of carpet and we match them to make a beautiful piece to display in their home," says Michelle. The Village Florist also offers pre-made arrangements.

Michelle has always been talented when it comes to using her imagination. Her special ability is apparent in the beautiful arrangements she fashions.

People don't come in just for flowers though. They come in for the expertise and friendship of the Village Florist's dedicated staff-Rose, Kathryn, Lori and Kathryn.

Michelle says that many customers come in and ask for a particular woman, many of whom have been in the community for years.

Village Florist is a full service floral shop providing bouquets and arrangements for all occasions. Another customer service is wedding consultations. "We make appointments with our brides, so we can give them our full attention. Details are important, and we want to make sure we don't miss any," says Michelle. The shop also offers a satisfaction guarantee to its customers. "We try very hard to please our customers 100 percent."

Hours are Monday through Friday 9:30 to 5:30 and Saturday 9:30 to 5.

Milford (810) 685-2034

Dr. Carol Wilkop, wants to keep you smiling beautifully. Currently Dr. Wilkop, the Milford Village Dentist, practices downtown at 342 North Main above Great American Pizza. This location has a great deal of Milford history. It has been a dental office since 1953. For the nine years that Dr. Wilkop has been at this location, she has strived to provide state of the art dentistry in a warm, stress free, and caring environment.

The personal attention and excellent care that Dr. Wilkop provides for her patients and the growth in the Milford area have allowed the practice to outgrow this location. Dr. Wilkop and her staff are delighted that they will soon be moving to a new office. This summer watch for construction to take place on Milford Road across from Abbey Lane, just north of town. This new facility will provide much needed space, but most importantly it will improve handicap access.

When Dr. Wilkop, a licensed pharmacist, was asked why she chose to become a dentist she replied, "...I love dentistry. I enjoy teaching people how to improve their oral health. I have a great deal of patience with children. For the last eight years, she has visited the area's preschools and elementary schools teaching oral health every February for Children's Dental Health month.

If your smile is in need of excellent care please call Dr. Wilkop's office at (810) 685-2034. Office hours are Monday 10 a.m. to 7 p.m., Tuesday 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Wednesday 12 p.m. to 8 p.m., Thursday 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and the first Saturday of the month by appointment.

Adra Erwin • Erwin's Country Store South Lyon (810) 437-4704

Adra Erwin doesn't like to talk about herself.

But ask her about Erwin's Country Store, and she has plenty to say about the store's expansion, upcoming renovation and what she's doing to make it a better place.

The business, owned by Adra and her husband, Tom, began as a bakery 13 years ago and has grown ever since. In addition to fresh-baked good such as muffins and cinnamon rolls, the store provides fresh produce from the Eastern Market, Guernsey ice cream and unique crafts and gifts.

She said the immediate expansion involved only enclosing the porch area to provide more space inside for customers and her eight employees. The larger store was scheduled to open its doors (now electronic) in early May.

Next year, she said they are planning to renovate the upstairs loft and turn it into a gift shop. The store currently sells candles, potpourri, stationary, calendars and more.

In addition, Adra said they want to transform the u-pick barn behind the store into an ice cream and fudge shop. She envisions a place where people can stop by for a sandwich and ice cream, sit outside and enjoy the view.

Those are just the latest plans for the business, but there's bound to be more as Adra gets more ideas on how to improve Erwin's Country Store.

> As a women's health nurse practitioner, Nancy Schroeder is trained to provide health care to women across the life cycle, from puberty through menopause. A nurse practitioner is a registered nurse with a masters degree in nursing. Her interest is in women's health care.

> In addition to the physical exam portion of annual exam screening, a focus of her care is to advocate for education of women regarding their own health and preventing health problems. The education materials and explanations prepared and offered by the nurse practitioner show sensitivity to the patients' needs and help to reduce the mystery which surrounds health care. Nancy feels that time to listen and answer questions is essential for women to make informed choices about her health.

> "I enjoy working with women and with their health concerns and empowering them to take care of their own health needs,"she said.

Nancy works closely with the physicians in Associates in Gynecology and Obstetrics, a member of Integrated Health Associates, to provide high quality health care. The main office is in Ypsilanti with a satellite office in Brighton at 8580 W. Grand River. Nancy sees patients in Brighton on Wednesdays.and Thursdays (810) 227-1145.

Judy Bradley, Judy Gulian • Judys' Decorating Shoppe Northville (810) 348-3520

Judy and Judy have been friends for years with a common interest in decorating and ruffled curtains. They turned their passion for decorating into a successful business and have been together for 15 years. Judy's Decorating is located in downtown Northville.

"We started out as two housewives with no knowledge of business at all," says Judy Bradley. "Look at us now, a full service decorating service."

With over 1500 wallpaper books, with a 30 % discount everyday, Judy and Judy can help you find what you are looking for. They can help you design your complete interior with a swatch of fabric and a personal consultation.

"We carry a full line of Waverly & Schumacher, along with Robert Allen and Sanderson.

Along with all of the Victorian accessories they carry, they are an exclusive carrier of Bunnies By the Bay.

The two Judys opened their business in their basement in the basement of which used to be Green's and have moved to 105 N. Center in Northville. "We love this area. The atmosphere and the people are wonderful."

Although they offer more custom decorating services than they did when they first opened, Judy and Judy have not lost their roots. They still carry a full line of ready made curtains, along with a wide variety of accessories.

Visit Judy's Monday through Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. or call (810) 348-3520.

Kim Rivera • New Moon Visions Milford (810) 684-8570

Kim Rivera of New Moon Visions has established quite an impressive image for herself in Milford. She has designed the logo for many businesses in the area and beyond, including the Playscape and Milford Memories logos. Helping to create positive and successful images for businesses is what New Moon Visions is all about.

"A corporation's public image starts with their corporate identity — through their logo, and all the information they present to the public that goes with it," said Rivera.

New Moon Visions also specializes in brochures, booklets, annual reports, print ads and ad campaigns, print materials such as menus, flyers, newsletters, catalogs, T-shirts, CDs, invitations and signage and display. Rivera has recently begun designing Web pages as well.

Rivera's love for her work, and her creativity, comes out in her designs. "I can't think of anything else I'd rather do," said Rivera. "I always strive for excellence — with a huge corporation or a small business."

Through communication, flexibility and creativity, Rivera achieves her goal of excellence, both in the quality of her work, and the customer's satisfaction with it.

Rivera has been in the graphic design business since 1985, and in business for herself for seven years. She has been at the Milford office, at 342 N. Main St., Suite D, for close to two years. She is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, and can be reached at (810) 684-8668, or by fax at (810) 684-8570.

Liz Douglas, Sherry Howard, Kathy Roop Creative Healing Center Milford (810) 684-8300

Milford Massage has a new name, Creative Healing Center. After being open just shy of one year, business owners Liz Douglas, Sherry Howard and Kathy Roop have seen success in the heart of Milford. They are expanding to meet the need of people seeking natural health care.

Maria Chiodo, M.A., L.L.P • Creative Healing Center Milford (810) 684-8300

Maria Chiodo, M.A., L.L.P, understands that going to a therapist to ask for help in dealing with a problem, is sometimes a difficult thing for people to do.

Maria provides help for those experiencing stress, anxiety, depression, relationship conflicts with spouse or children, phobias, eating disorders, substance abuse or abusive relationships. "Sometimes people just need an opportunity to talk and vent their emotions," said Maria.

Maria is a licensed therapist and a limited licensed psychotherapist with a Bachelor of Science in Psychology. Her Masters of Arts degree is from the University of Detroit Mercy, where she specialized in clinical psychology and human development. Maria receives supervision from a fully licensed psychiatrist, Dr. Herman Daldin. She offers an informal atmosphere at her new office at 435 Hickory Street, part of the Creative Healing Center of Milford. She provides a non-judgemental environment to help people find new skills to handle difficult struggles. Her approach is holistic and integrates mind, spirit and body. She works with other types of healing therapists, helping people to live life more abundantly.

Maria has extensive experience with substance abuse counseling, domestic abuse and sexual, physical and emotional abuse for both adolescents and adults. She often works with the wounded inner child. "I've seen a lot of changes occur. I have a lot of success with that type of therapy," Maria said. Maria Chiodo specializes in family, adolescent and individual therapy. A client or potential client's presence and inquiries are strictly confidential. She offers a free half-hour consultation to help you determine if therapy is for you.

Maria also offers a Women's Support Group providing a comfortable environment where respect and confidentiality are priority. Other groups are available throughout the year.

The business currently specializes in massage (office or house calls are available), energy work, polarity, aromatherapy and magnetic therapy. Business owners are expanding to include other alternatives, such as classes on natural healing, environmentally safe products, mineral wraps and counseling services with psychotherapist Maria Chiodo MA, LLP.

The owners are all trained myomassologists — in fact they met in massage therapy school — and have over 2,500 hours of combined training. They are members of the American Therapeutic Massage Association and International Massage Federation.

The Village of Milford has captured the hearts of all three partners and this is where they see the future for Creative Healing Center. Their plans are to have an entire interdisciplinary team of holistic providers and institute of myomassology. The Creative Healing Center philosophy is "to treat the body, mind and spirit because they all need healing."

Watch them grow on the corner of Hickory and Commerce, at 435 Hickory in Milford. Call for an appointment or a schedule of classes at (810) 684-8300.

Michele Huss • Tucson Computer Sales & Service South Lyon (248) 486-4868 or pager (810) 402-0560

Michele Huss had an extensive background in office and sales work when in 1992, her life took a rather dramatic turn. Widowed at the age of 36, with a 6-year-old son to raise, she went back to Schoolcraft College and received her Associate's Degree in small business administration. Realizing the importance of education, she followed through and graduated last month with her Bachelor's Degree from Cleary College.

Michele has handled the adversity in her life admirably. She is focusing her energy on what is important in her life; her new husband, her son (now 11), and her career. Michele met her husband, Randall, at college where they worked towards their degrees together. With a friend, Jeffrey Borton, the couple decided two and a half years ago to use their combined computer knowledge to star Tucson Computer Sales & Service, Inc. The business encompasses all aspects of the computer business world; from new systems to upgrades, service, networks and training. They work closely with several businesses in the area, but also extensively work with in-home purchases and use of computer systems or upgrades. Their specialty is helping the "novice" computer person in purchasing and operating the system. Michele also does computerized accounting for several companies and is always interested in offering her services in setting up accounting packages for businesses or personal use.

Michele also continues to keep her hand in the real estate industry by working at Coldwell-Banker in South Lyon and handles property management through R & M Services.

"In today's market, a large percentage of new car buyers are women, and many of them prefer to work with a sales woman," Deering continued. "We receive a surprising number of requests from consumers to speak with a woman, and are happy to have this well trained and professional staff to meet those needs." The female members of the Varsity sales unit said the thing they enjoy most about their jobs is working as a team and having such great success at it.

Varsity Lincoln Mercury, located at Grand River and Wixom Road in Novi, opened in July of 1994 and is the first new Lincoln Mercury dealer in 25 years. Already, the company has ranked No. 1 in the country in customer satisfaction and No. 2 in sales. The team is proud of what they have accomplished in three short years and look forward to what is to come. The women team members include Michele Ritter, lease renewal manager; Tricia Werner, lease renewal assistant; Erica Prince, lease renewal; Nicole Williams, lease renewal; Lorie Wood, quality commitment manager; Lisa Miller, sales assistant; Rebecca Deering, sales and leasing consultant; April Stanford, sales and leasing consultant; Denise Harder, sales and leasing consultant; Nikki Noroyan, sales and leasing consultant; and Deborah Adams, assistant sales manager.

Dr. Therese Shortt, D.D.S. South Lyon (810) 437-8189

Dr. Therese Shortt has it all — and it's hard work. Luckily, she enjoys every aspect of her life. At 36, in dental practice with her husband, with three wonderful children and a bunch of terrific hobbies, she is a very busy woman.

A University of Michigan graduate, Dr. Shortt came to Michigan from Boston. Originally, she intended to study medicine, but decided on a dental career because she knew that family was going to be a priority. She didn't feel comfortable with the late night calls that she knew were part of a physician's career.

She hasn't regretted her decision since. Her dental practice keeps her busy three days a week at 22320 Pontiac Trail in South Lyon. Her children, ages 9, 5 and 10 months, keep her busy the rest of the time. Therese still finds time to play the piano and enjoy the arts.

Her husband, William Shortt, D.D.S., divides his time between the office in South Lyon and a second practice in West Branch in Northern Michigan. Bill, also a commercial pilot, flies twice a week to join his father in practice.

Therese says it works out well not being in the same practice at the same time. They avoid a lot of stress from working together that way.

Both dentists are active members of the Michigan Dental Association, American Dental Association and the Academy of General Dentistry.

Helping people buy the home of their dreams is what Carol Stanaway, Kristie Hansen and Jacquie Keefer are all about. As residential mortgage loan officers for Great Lakes National Bank they make up the Livingston County team and work together to help you find financing.

"We work on establishing a relationship that will grow as your family and needs grow," they explain. From educating potential home owners on financing, to cross referrals to other bank services, these ladies will make sure your money is working for you.

The key to their continued success as the "Mortgage Dream Team" is their sense of loyalty. To their customers and to their community. "Livingston County is one of the fastest growing communities in the area and we love being a part of the excitement." They've seen a lot of changes in the area and plan to be around for many more.

The most satisfying part of their jobs is helping people. "It's especially nice when a lot of these folks are your neighbors. What starts out as a business transaction, will usually end up a friendship." And that's because they care about you and your family; what you need and what you want.

Berween Carol and Kristie in Brighton, and Jacquie in Howell, they can help you find a loan that fits your needs and help your dreams become realities. Stop by either branch office or call (810) 229-8188 in Brighton or (517) 545-8162 in Howell.

Kathleen Layson • ERA Rymal Symes South Lyon (810) 437-3800

When you think of a key player in the real estate business, Kathleen Layson's name will undoubted pop up.

Layson has long been a major force in area real estate circles and continues to play a pivotal role in property development and homes sales in the South Lyon area.

She said, "To those who haven't seen me lately, or perhaps thought I retired, stop by and see me in person at 346 N. Lafayette. I'll buy you a cup of coffee. The reports of my departure are just rumors."

Kathleen was recently honored for another record setting sales year at ERA international business conference in Orlando She was recognized for outstanding sales and customer service among the more than 4,000 agents and brokers in attendance from the U.S. and 14 foreign countries where ERA has offices.

She expects 1997 to be an even more productive year.

Kathleen began her real estate sales career more than 20 years ago as an agent with a local office. As her personal business began to take off, it wasn't long until her business had outgrown the limitations of working for another broker, and she knew the only answer would be to open her own firm.

Kathleen nurtured her business and soon captured a leadership position in the horse farm and land development markets.

Pam Burke • ERA Rymal Symes

Novi (810) 349-4550

After spending 22 years working for a Fortune 100 company, Pam Burke decided she had enough of the corporate world where the need to acquire numbers exceeded personal gratification. So she left her job to find something with more person-to-person interaction and something more self gratifying.

For the last five years, Burke has been an associate agent for ERA Rymal Symes in Novi and has found the work to be everything she was looking for and more.

"I absolutely love this," she said. "I love working with people. I love the feeling you get when you help people frame in their minds what they need to accomplish when buying or selling or getting on with their lives. I like the look you see from first-time home buyers when letting them know they can afford the house they wanted. It has been much more personally satisfying than I thought it would be. It's much less a job and much more helping people. "

Burke has recently finished a class to become an accredited buyer representative, which is a designation few real estate agents have. Most agents work for the seller, but this designation allows her to negotiate the best deals for the buyer.

She also has special training in relocating transferees and is almost always taking courses and acquiring information to help her better serve people.

Burke is a long-time Northville resident, an officer of the coordinating council of Northville PTAs and a member of the Northville schools strategic planning committee.

Beverly Gilbert • ERA Rymal-Symes

Novi (810) 349-4550

Right from the outset of her career in real estate, Beverly Gilbert has had a unique philosophy; "I approach real estate from a different point of view - YOURS!"

Judy Doré • ERA Rymal Symes Northville/Novi (810) 349-4550 ext. 216.

A lifelong resident of this area, Judy Doré, a real estate professional with ERA Rymal Symes, began her career in real estate as her children were entering college.

She feels that her attention to detail and her sense of humor have helped her become successful in her chosen field.

Doré has been associated with ERA Rymal Symes since she began her real estate career. She knows that the products ERA offers are the best in the business. She is equally proud of the new facility that Rymal Symes opened in December of 1994.

"This new office is loaded with the very latest in real estate technology, which allows me to do what I do best...sell."

An avid puzzle worker, Doré finds the real estate business very much like working a crossword puzzle. "The end result is to fill in the blanks," she said "with clues from the client and knowledge from 11 years in the business."

Doré has recently attained two Real Estate designations: CBR, a Certified Buyer Representative, and CRS, a nationally recognized symbol of residential sales excellence. Only three percent of all Realtors have earned the right to be called CRS. Doré can be reached at her office at 22034 Novi Rd., just south of Nine Mile or by calling 810-349-4550, ext. 216.

Those who know Beverly know this is much more than just a catchy advertising phrase. "I always try to put myself in my client's shoes," says Beverly. "I always treat them the same way I would want to be treated myself — thoroughly, with patience and understanding."

As an associate agent with ERA Rymal-Symes of Novi, Beverly has found that her philosophy has paid off extremely well. As Beverly says, "A majority of my new business comes from the recommendations of satisfied clients. I can't think of a nicer compliment."

Another important aspect of Beverly's success has been her desire to learn all she can about her chosen field. To accomplish this, she has completed the Graduate Real Estate Institute and just received her certification for Relocation Specialist in both residential and corporate properties.

She currently serves as a member of the Education Committee for the Western Wayne-Oakland County Board of Realtors and is a former Novi Optimist Club vice president. As part of her commitment to her local community, Beverly co-chaired a special fund raiser to help MDA and Jerry's kids at last year's Novi '50s Festival. A multi-million dollar producer, Beverly has recently received awards such as the President's Club, "First in Service" award, the Golden Circle Award, first place National Marketing Award and the Paul Harris Fellow Award from Rotary International. "I love what I do," Beverly says. "My satisfaction comes as much from the gratitude of a happy client as it does from the financial rewards I receive."

Vickie Alan • Quicksilver Printing

South Lyon (810) 486-1777

When Vickie Alan met her husband Tim, he was already running Quicksilver Printing, but it was located on the East side of Detroit. When the couple made the decision to move to South Lyon in 1990, they were happy to find new friends and customers while retaining previous satisfied customers from the former location.

Quicksilver is a full service printing company that does commercial printing, checks, letterheads and any specialty that a customer might request. For Vickie, being in South Lyon again brings her back to her roots. She was born and raised in South Lyon, graduated from South Lyon High School and went on to earn her business degree from Detroit College of Business.

The move in 1990 allowed her to return to friends and family, while keeping the business close. The Alan's now live in Whitmore Lake, and the office is close enough that for the first six months of her life, daughter Rosalee was with mom all day while she was at work.

It was an important step for husband and wife to begin to work together, but as Vickie took a more aggressive interest in Quicksilver Printing, it began to pay off. Vickie does all accounting, customer service, desktop publishing and design. She enjoys doing the large and small things that make Quicksilver Printing customers happy. She and her husband have also purchased an older Victorian home immediately across the road from scenic Whitmore Lake. The home, as well as other hobbies such as scuba diving, golf and learning to play the guitar keep Vickie and Tim Alan very busy.

Dr. Joy Redmond • Dandy Acres Veterinary Clinic

South Lyon (810) 437-1765

Walk into Dandy Acres Veterinary Clinic and you will find cats, dogs, small animals and probably several small children.

"We are very family oriented," said owner Dr. Joy Redmond. She said two of her employees recently had babies and sometimes bring them to work which makes for a friendly atmosphere.

"It's like a big family here," Joy said about her clinic which features state-of-the-art surgical and laboratory equipment. She has owned the clinic for two years and worked under the previous owner three years.

Dr. Redmond said the clinic treats the usual household pets such as dogs, cats, ferrets and other small animals.

She said this is also the busy time of the year as people bring in pets for vaccines and heartworm checks.

Ever since she was a child, Dr. Redmond knew that she wanted to work with animals. She said, "My whole life, I have always been very animal oriented."

At her clinic, she is assisted by Dr. Mary Suchowiecki, two receptionists, two technicians and a practice manager – all of whom strive to give individualized attention.

Dr. Redmond lives in Howell with her husband and two children.

Dandy Acres is located at 56560 Ten Mile Road in Lyon Township and is a separate business from Oakland Equine Center.

Women in Music • Milford Music Milford (810) 685-9200

The Women in the Know at Milford Music are all Women in Music, according to store owner Bonnie Twiss. "I'm very proud that so many women are employed at Milford Music," she said. performing arts are a venue for women to strive for economic, personal and artistic goal 1 10 Making money in the arts is not always easy, she adds. "Many people have pipe dreams of 'making it in music.' My business advice is be practical. Find a service that somehow relates to your talents, sense what the community wants or needs, then set up a clean, cheerful environment to conduct your business in. This community really supports private lesson programs. All our teachers are performers and/or recording artists, but payments from those venues are often irregular. Our music lesson programs allow teachers to pursue personal performing goals with the comfort of a good economic standard." Among her ensemble: Tamara Whiltey is a voice and piano teacher with performance credits ranging from the Michigan Opera Theater to Disney World; Jeanne Lehning specializes in preschool music with the help of puppets Rhoda and Naranja; Lehning also keeps the schedule and accounts of the 460 plus students that pass through the doors of Milford Music weekly; Marianne Murphy is a folk musician, singer and piano teacher who has just returned to the business after a several year hiatus; Jane Williams teaches clarinet, recorder and flute.

Denise Klingbeil, Lori Derrick • The Village Peddler Milford (810) 684-0666

Everyone knows the Village Peddler can be counted on for unique, beautiful gifts and accents for the home, but when it comes to being counted on, there is another area at which this shop excels—stationary.

Owner Denise Klingbeil has experienced a tremendous response from the public to the shop's truly unique variety of party and special occasion invitations and accessories.

"Everything in here is unusual. The shop is not what you would call a typical gift shop," said Denise. The Village Peddler specializes in wedding invitations, anniversaries, graduation, birth announcements and children's stationary, although they can do almost anything. Denise points out the importance of starting children in the habit of writing thank-you's.

It's not only the choices customers have, or the peaceful alcove in the back of the store that makes the choosing so pleasant, it's the unparalleled service.

Invitation etiquette is crucial and many people don't know the proper wording and structure. For every frazzled bride-to-be, for every eager first-time mother, there is Lori Derrick, the "dark haired Martha Stewart of the Village Peddler," as Denise teasingly refers to her.

They also offer personalized Christmas cards. The turnaround time for birth announcements is 7 working days, for all other stationary, it is 7-14 days.

The Village Peddler is at 367 N. Main St. in Milford, and is open Monday through Friday 10 to 6, Saturday 10 to 5:30 and Sunday 11 to 4. The phone number is 684-0666.

Open six days a week, Milford Music presents student and faculty recitals regularly as well as special summer music camp programs.

Lyn Watson • Fordyce Certified Massage, Inc. Northville (248) 347-8830

Lyn Watson will be expanding Fordyce Certified Massage, Inc. in June for the second time since 1994. The new location-in the same building-will have a third massage room, and office hours have already been extended to help handle the overflow of clients.

Lyn was interested in massage and started kneading people when she was seven years old, but it wasn't until 1992 that she was trained at Irene's Myomassology Institute in Southfield. After graduation she worked at a chiropractic office in Southgate and at Madison Community Hospital in the physical therapy unit, where, in both places, she acquired extensive experience with muscular trauma. Last year she completed Aromatherapy training and is currently learning Neuromuscular Therapy with St. John's Institute. Lyn's specialty is with muscular pain associated with neck injuries and sciatic nerve problems, but she also relieves carpal tunnel-type symptoms, reduces pain associated with most arthritic conditions and helps get rid of headaches.

Techniques standardly used at FCMI are basic Swedish massage for relaxation, and specialized deep pressure work called Myofacial Release and Pressure Point Therapy, a blend of Trigger Point Therapy and Acupressure, and also Aromatherapy. All therapists at FCMI are certified Myomassologists. Periodically, FCMI features students, at reduced rates, doing their practicals, required for certification.

Hours are Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., by appointment. Gift certificates and senior discounts are available. Visa and Mastercard are accepted.

Marty Ward • Health Mart

Milford (810) 684-6278

Marty Ward and her competent staff at the Health Mart, 400 N. Main St., in Milford, just might have the cure for what ails you.

Whether you're energy is low or your weight or blood pressure high, the Health Mart has all-natural solutions. "We're here to serve people by providing healthy alternatives to conventional medicine," said Marty.

She owns the store and operates it with her daughter, Becca Ward and Barb Weitlauf and Casey Jones. Her staff is friendly, accessible, and able to advise you and answer questions.

Marty has a background in nutritional therapy and Barb is a clinical hypnotherapist, helping people with weight and stress management and smoking cessation.

The Health Mart is the source for the latest in the natural care of your health. The variety of products is extensive- from hair and skin care, to vitamins, to all natural foods, diet aids, and supplements. New arthritic treatments, as well as treatments for menopause, PMS and insomnia are proving to be very effective.

Marty believes that conventional medicine and natural remedies go hand in hand, but if an illness can be treated naturally first, that's the way to go. Business at the Health Mart is based on a two-fold philosophy, prevention and treatment.

They're open Monday through Thursday, from 9:30 to 6, Friday from 9:30 to 7, and on Saturday from 10 until 5.

Bonnie Edwards • Coldwell Banker

With the myriad of real estate agents flooding your mailbox with literature, how do you go about choosing the one that is right for you? What distinguishes one from the other?

Coldwell Banker real estate agent Bonnie Edwards poses these questions to prospective buyers and sellers about how to choose the right avenue for buying or selling.

"Personal commitment and dedication to my clients are my primary goals," Bonnie said. "I don't look at real estate as only an opportunity to make money, but as an opportunity to make friends. I am committed to the personal satisfaction of my clients and provide them with whatever is necessary in order to find them their dream home."

She has spent her entire life in Michigan, growing up in Redford Township and living in the South Lyon and Milford areas for 25 years. She has always loved real estate because of the number of people she has been able to work with and meet.

Bonnie is continually taking classes to help her stay on the cutting edge of listing and selling real estate in the entire Metro area.

Edwards recently returned to real estate after spending 17 years running a golf course.

Ann Ray • Carol's Upholstery Novi (810) 347-0940

Carol's Upholstery is all about giving customers an alternative to buying new furniture.

Co-owner Ann Ray said older furniture is better quality than what people can purchase now. Customers may spend the same amount to reupholster their old furniture as they would for new, but the old furniture will last much longer, Ray said.

"The materials that go inside the upholstery are of high quality," she said. "Manufacturers are likely to cut corners, but we want the materials to last forever. The materials inside will still be good even after the fabric has worn out."

Carol's has a wide selection of fabric and samples can be taken home. "I can help them with their families needs," Ray said.

Ray and her partner, Carol Morrissey, can help families determine what fabric will be practical depending upon the decor and the use of the piece. Carol's also custom builds furniture according to customer needs and makes slip covers for existing furniture. Ray is a third-generation upholsterer. Both her father and her grandfather worked in the business.

There is 22 years experience behind Carol's Upholstery and the store is woman owned and operated. Ray was trained at her father's business by Bill Algar. Algar, 77-years-old, still helps Ray in her business part-time. Carol's is also a smoke-free environment and has been located in Novi for five years at 44480 Grand River, a half mile west of Novi Road. Please call (810) 347-0940. Visit the shop Monday through Friday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Phyllis Wagner • Phyl's Barber Novi (810) 477-0010

Phyllis Wagner and her ream from Phyl's Barber have been helping people in the Novi area look their best since 1989. Wagner discovered her career fresh out of high school when she attended Detroit Barber College.

She graduated in 1982 and has been cutting hair in the Novi area. Five and a half years later, Wagner opened her own shop on Ten Mile Road. She's happy to belong to an area of growth and opportunity. Although the term barber may seem traditionally male, all of her employees are female. "We're somewhere in between a barber and a salon. We do colors, perms and highlights." Her clientele includes men, women and children.

Visitors to her shop enjoy a relaxed atmosphere and reasonable rates. "Customers come in and feel relaxed, they feel like part of the family," Wagner said. They're also open on Monday, which is unusual for barbers. Phyl's Barbers specializes in customer satisfaction. "Our main specialty is doing the clipper cut, whatever they design in their own mind, we can do," says Phyllis. In recent years, the staff has done a lot of mohawks for the football players and cross country teams going to state, where they have designed the cross country logo on the side.

Although she has a successful business, Wagner finds time to be a mother of two girls, and is an avid softball player. She hopes a recent knee injury won't sideline her this year.

She is currently taking a short breather from community affairs but has been active as a Novi Athletic Booster, in the Optimist's Club and as a coach for little girls' softball. Hoping to broaden her horizons, Wagner is currently attending Oakland Community College. A new goal for her is a potential business or law degree. There are seven barbers waiting to clip your hair at Phyl's Barbers, 41370 Ten Mile Road, Monday through Saturday.

Tricia Calme-Stern • Mike Arce State Farm Insurance Milford (810) 685-3131

Tricia Calme-Stern, Office Manager and Representative and Insurance Agent at Mike Arce State Farm Insurance, 545 N. Main St. in Milford, is a very busy woman.

She is responsible for the daily operations at the office, training new employees and writing, selling and servicing policies. In short, she says, "I do it all."

"It's a lot of fun. It's a joy getting up in the morning to come to work," Tricia said. She shares her boss's love of the community, and enjoys the relationships she's building here.

She helps Mike with the Joel and Jeremy Memorial Fund Golf Outing, which he helps organize annually. As a mother of five children, she's used to crisis. Helping calm someone who has just been in a car accident is one rewarding example. She always lets them know that it's easier to fix a car than to fix a life.

Clearly, her sense of humor makes her hectic life manageable, as well as lifting the spirits of their clients. "People say only your hairdresser knows, well your agent does, too!" Tricia laughs.

She's even more busy since a decline in homeowner's rates has boosted business. She points out that they offer many services that people aren't aware of, such as an auto leasing program beginning in August, health insurance and car financing. In the latter part of July, those who hold both homeowners and auto insurance will receive a multiline discount.

Office hours are Monday through Friday from 9 to 5 and Saturday from 10-12, or call at 685-3131.

Esther DiLorenzo, Pam Capper Adams, Julie Herron AAA Michigan Novi (810) 347-6969

Eight years ago, Esther DiLorenzo, Pam Capper Adams and Julie Herron saw an opportunity to strike out on their own, and they took it. The two agents and manager from AAA joined forces to open their own office in Novi in the Country Epicure Plaza. Although a new venture is always challenging, the ladies knew a good opportunity and managed to build a thriving and successful insurance business, with a nationwide recognition. The three partners believe their company offers the best insurance package. As you might guess, they offer AAA memberships, and automobile, homeowners, boat and motorcycle insurance, as well as umbrella liability policies. AAA also offers 24-hour road and claim service, and discounts for members from various credit unions. Life, disability and travel insurance is also available through Gene Lemberg. The group is thrilled to be part of such a dynamic and exciting city as Novi. The three partners work, live and play in the Novi area. LiLorenzo has 14 years experience as a AAA insurance agent. The former school teacher and her husband, Jim enjoy attending the events and shows at the nearby Expo Center. Her other hobbies include reading, gardening and power shopping, and you may see her at area courses since taking up golf. Another long term employee, Julie Heron has been with AAA for 12 years. She enjoys traveling up north in the summer months with her husband, Ron and two sons, Brad and Brian. The family also stays busy with activities through the Novi Parks and Recreation. Pam Capper Adams has been involved in the insurance field for 20 years as a claims adjuster, manager and agent. A graduate of Eastern Michigan University with a degree in sociology, she has also done graduate work at Central Michigan University. Adams was a charter member of the Novi Optimists Club.

Margene Mieras-Buckhave • Stampeddler Plus, Inc. Northville (248) 348-4446

You can call Margene Mieras-Buckhave "The Stamp Lady" and she probably won't mind. After all, she's surrounded by art stamps in her 2,600 square foot store — 60,000 stamps, papers, stickers, stencils and related paraphernalia. A stamper's paradise? Perhaps. But Margene points out that between running her business and making plans for expansion, she has little time to pursue her own artwork. "The hardest part of running a stamp store is that I don't have time to stamp," she laments.

The easiest part? Watching her business grow beyond all expectations since 1991, when Margene converted her gift shop into a stampers emporium. Margene and some friends opened Peddlers Four, a country gift store offering collectibles and furniture as well as pottery and a few art stamps. Hers was one of several gift shops in the area catering to the thriving tourist trade in Northville.

Her divorce in 1991 forced Margene to get serious about business. She decided to take a chance selling more art stamps after observing their burgeoning popularity with crafters.

"Within two years we had to expand the business," she recalls. "We took over the other side of our building, and within six months that was filled, too. Now we're bursting at the seams again we're one of the biggest stamp stores in Michigan."

Margene says customer service is the key to her success. "Stamps won't sell themselves," she points out. "You have to be a people-person in this business, so my employees are always out on the floor answering questions and helping customers design cards. Pleasant surroundings and a huge selection keep them coming back for more."

Margo's of Northville & Anew Therapeutic Massage

Northville (810) 348-9130 and (810) 449-ANEW

A year after joining forces, Margo's of Northville and Anew Therapeutic Massage have proven that two businesses under one roof can be a winning combination - with the customer being the biggest winner of all. Though each is an independent company, three essential elements philosophically bind the two: pleasant atmosphere, personalized care and professional treatment. All these center around meeting the ever-changing needs of their clients, whose work, play and lifestyles dictate the type of desired services. Whether it's hair, nails or skin care, the newest techniques, trends and products are to be found at Margo's of Northville. For over a decade, innovation and expertise have been paramount here. The latest example --- the introduction of worldrenowned Schwarzkopf permanent creme-hair color, with the lowest ammonia levels, creating the least amount of stress on the hair. What sets Anew Therapeutic Massage apart from other area practices is Rita Wightman's attention to detail and individualized treatment planning, based on the interview aspect of each and every appointment. Massage therapy, Wightman believes, is no longer a service for a select few, but rather a health enhancement opportunity everyone can and should have access to and the benefit of. Finally, the beauty of this business alliance is the resulting customer convenience factor. Where multiple complementary services are desired, clients may actually choose from a single menu, creating their own treatment or pampering packages (some, even including a complimentary, catered snack). Margo's of Northville and Anew Therapeutic Massage are located "one block south of the Clock", in downtown Northville.

Lisa Shapiro, Edna Burg, Jodi Perian Center Stage Dance Co. Northville (810) 380-1666

Rather than involve their dancers in competitions, a widely held practice in most area studios, owners Lisa Shapiro, Edna Burg and Jodi Perian fill the calendar with special events. November and December is the time for their 14 show Christmas Tour to local nursing homes, senior and children's residences and benefits. March sees them return to share some more time with the residents during the Spring Tour. Their in-house ballet company performs a fairy tale ballet each year at the Marquis Theater. June brings the annual recitals, July, dancing in the Northville Fourth of July Parade and in the bandshell during Northville's Bargain Bazaar. The Michigan 50s Festival and their annual Open House offer two more opportunities for the dancers to share their skills with the community.

All events are designed to include all the dancers, regardless of age or skill level. Classes are offered for ages three and up. "Our three to six year old program has had positive growth each year — evidence that we're successfully combining teaching skills with good old-tashioned fun," Shapiro remarked. "Our Apprentice program offers dancers ages 14 and up the chance to learn to teach and enhances the teacher/student ratio in the class-rooms."

Center Stage offers summer classes. Fall classes for 1997-98 will begin Thursday, September 4. 24 • Women In The Know-East • May 22, 1997

Kimberly Yono • Healthy Environments Brighton (810) 225-6095

When Kimberly Yono found herself sensitive to a variety of everyday environments including hotel rooms, schools and even her own home, she decided to do something about it. After realizing she was becoming chemically sensitive by developing symptoms to chemicals through overexposure, she spent 10 years learning about toxic chemicals and health problems.

As a result, she has regained her health and would now like to help others. Kimberly recently opened Livingston County's first non-toxic products store, Healthy Environments, in the Main Street Emporium Building in downtown Brighton. The store, located across from the Mill Pond, will specialize in a complete line of non-toxic products for everything from household cleaning and personal care to pet care and lawn and garden. Kimberly hopes that one day these products will replace the many common household products which contain toxic chemicals.

"There is a connection between toxic chemicals and related health problems such as immune system dysfunction, kidney problems, liver problems, respiratory illnesses and cancer just to name a few," Kimberly, certified nutritional counselor and a longtime Brighton resident, said. "It is important to let others know of the dangers of typical household products and to offer safer alternatives for everyone, those with allergies and chemical sensitivities as well as others who may not develop symptoms until a much later date when it may be too late."

Healthy Environments is one of just a handful of full service non-toxic products stores in the U.S. Mail order services are provided throughout the country and Canada via an 800 number.

Tamara Morris • Pampered Chef (810) 348-3011

Tamara Morris has the best of both worlds. She is an all around mom and business owner. She enjoys the flexibility of making her own hours, while still placing her family first. Sons Jared (8) and Jamison (6) help too by stamping fliers and catalogs. Husband Jeff willingly samples recipes — a real "family business."

Tamara is a successful director with Pampered Chef, a fast growing direct sales company that features quality kitchen tools and fantastic recipes.

She has been enjoying the benefits of the Pampered Chef program for over five years and feels that it has had such a positive impact on her life that she wants to share that enjoyment with anyone who has the same enthusiasm for the kitchen that she has.

Tamara's success can be attributed to a love of people, self motivation, and the products that she is proud to sell. She enjoys teaching her clients to utilize their quality kitchen tools and fun gadgets to make their kitchen chores more efficient. She works at making the demonstrations fun and educational, and in her words you get to "eat and be entertained" in one night. She also has learned to sprinkle the demonstrations with the humor and fun that makes others want to become involved in the same business.

There is a low monetary investment to get involved in the success story that is Pampered Chef, but it has clearly been a worth while venture for Tamara. Achieving high sales within her cluster and national sales contests, she has been sent by the company to Chicago, Hawaii and New Orleans.

For more information regarding hosting a demonstration or the Pampered Chef business opportunity, give Tamara Morris a call at (810) 348-3011.

Barbara Herzog, Sandra Jenkins • Healthstyles Physical Rehabilitation South Lyon (810) 486-1110

Licensed physical therapists Barbara Herzog and Sandra Jenkins saw a need in the South Lyon community for quality, patient centered therapy. Since opening the doors of Healthstyles Physical Rehabilitation at 301 S. Lafayette St., the business has grown and helped a multitude of patients.

The Healthstyles staff of physical therapists treat existing conditions and can provide preventive health care as well. The staff also includes a registered occupational therapist to promote the rehabilitation of patients and to achieve personal independence. A speech pathologist, Linda Transou SLP, CCC is now involved in putting together an interactive summer program for children ages 3 to 17.

The Healthstyles therapists work with the prescribing physician to instruct each patient in an independent home program with an emphasis on continued well being and good health. There is regular communication between the staff and the prescribing physician.

The professional team has vast experience in orthopedics, pain management, neck and back pain, myofascial release, post surgical rehabilitation, neurological conditions, and general and industrial rehabilitation. They also consult and design preventive education for industry and the community.

Healthstyles Physical Rehabilitation continues to stand out in the area as a positive and healthful attribute. The staff can be reached at (810) 486-1110.

shopping a fun experience. The 3,600 sq. ft. shop offers thousands of selections in gently used clothing for women, men and children. In addition, there are also departments for household items, collectibles, wedding and formal wear.

Mary Helen's business is one of the largest retail resale operations in the area and that's no accident. Smith says her philosophy is simple. "My business is my customers, and my employees," she says. "We are only happy if our customers are happy."

Assistant manager Linda Muirhead, Darlene Weber, Sarah Hudson, and daughter-in-law Tia Otman keep the shop running smoothly. Mary Helen's husband, Jerry Smith, also helps out in the shop when he is not working as the area's chief of police.

Mary Helen accepts gently used clothing and household goods on a regular basis. She says with consignment selling, you can realize one half of the purchase price of an item sold through South Lyon Resale — and be a sophisticated recycler.

Having previously owned Annie's Repeat Boutique in Brighton, Mary Helen wishes to also thank all past and current customers at both locations, who have made South Lyon Resale the success it is. Open Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Thursday 10 a.m. to 7 p.m., the store accepts all major credit cards and also has a lay away plan.

Debra Herr-Dempsey • Main Street Wine Shoppe Milford (810) 685-7191

On the eve of its 10th anniversary, the atmosphere of the Main Street Wine Shoppe is being transformed into that of a French countryside. As with everything owner Debra Herr-Dempsey does, the remodeling is not only beautiful, but unobtrusive and more convenient for the customer.

Meeting and anticipating her customers' needs is what has kept Debra at the forefront of such hot products as fine cigars, wines, microbrew beers, gourmet coffees and cappuccinos, custom gift baskets and fine imported foods as well.

The store is Debra's third and largest location and she'll soon be expanding her cigar selection when a larger humidor arrives.

If you enjoy wine, but just aren't sure where to begin, Debra and her staff are very knowledgeable. Their goal is to take the mystery associated with wine out of the equation, and help you choose wine you enjoy and that will compliment your everyday meal or special occasion.

"Ten years ago, people only bought wine for special occasions," Debra points out. "Now, people use wine on a daily basis, and can get good quality wines for under ten dollars."

The selection of wines is also varied, with unexpected countries offering good, inexpensive wines. Debra sells wine by the case, which is 12 bottles. The wines in a case can be mixed and matched, and are discounted aggressively. Debra also has over 200 different microbrews in stock.

For exceptional service, quality and atmosphere, the hours are currently Monday through Saturday, 10 to 8. Call 685-7191.

Marla Feldman • Marty Feldman Chevrolet Novi (810) 348-7000

The women at Marty Feldman Chevrolet in Novi know their stuff.

The staff of experienced saleswomen might even have an edge over men because they know the art of making a "soft sell," according to Marla Feldman.

Marla, general manager of the dealership owned by her father, said there weren't a lot of women on the sales floor when she started helping out at the dealership at age 15. She herself rose through the ranks from sales to her current position where she oversees the entire dealership and its 72 employees.

Marla said saleswomen who have joined the dealership have done well because they are usually patient and detail oriented. Marla said her saleswomen ask customers' questions first to find out their needs prior to showing them various models.

The saleswomen include Amy Knoy, Barb Basinski and Christa White.

Marla said Amy, one of the top salespersons, is their "truck specialist" and "knows about trucks inside and out." Barb, who is a marathon runner, said she never gets tired of the business which is different every day. And Christa said she keeps track of her customers the whole time they own their new vehicle.

"Our biggest concern is customer satisfaction," Marla said. "We do whatever it takes to make the customer happy."

Ginger Barrons • Red Carpet Keim Reliable Novi (810) 476-0540

A while back, Ginger Barrons was doing a lot of moving. In fact, in five years, she moved seven times. During that time, she decided to attend real estate school to help her understand more about the documents.

At the end of her training, she found her calling selling homes, and never returned to her 13-year career as a preschool teacher. Instead, she became the owner of her own Realty Company, Red Carpet Keim Reliable in Novi. This year, the Realtor has two reasons to celebrate; they are proud to be marking their fifth anniversary in business, and have recently become affiliated with Red Carpet Keim. Excellent training, hard work, and her agents are a few of the reasons for the success of her company. Eight agents and three support staff form her dedicated team, and it's still growing.

"We have no high pressure agents, we're a tight family group. We may compete in the marketplace, but not in the office. They have high ethics and high morals and have a strong emphasis on customer service," Barrons said. One of Ginger's goals is to make the customer feel comfortable. It shows in the atmosphere in her office, which is very welcoming, and in her dealings with clients.

She believes in treating every customer, big or small, on equal footing, and it's reflected in her referral rate, which is 90 to 95 percent of her business. Recent honors include being elected to the Western Wayne Oakland County Association of Realtors Board of Directors. Other awards include Presidents Club winner, which recognizes high volume sales and high ethics, an education award, along with the distinction of being a multi-million dollar producer.

Red Carpet Keim Reliable is located in the Pheasant Run Plaza, 39809 Grand River in Novi and can be reached at (810) 476-0540.

Pennie Bowman, Karen O'Leary • J & P Printing

South Lyon (810) 437-5535

Encouraged by their father, John Pourpore and Pennie Bowman started J & P Printing at 23200 Pontiac Trail in South Lyon in 1983. It is a full service commercial printing company, offering all graphic, typesetting and color copying work. They also offer packaging and UPS shipping. The business has continued to grow throughout the years and along the way, and interesting situation has developed at J & P. There are an unusually high number of women employees for a commercial printing company, who are responsible for much of the work that goes out the door.

Pennie, a co-owner, is responsible for accounts payable, payroll and the other financial aspects of the business. She's married and has two daughters. She and her husband live in Clarkston, making for a long commute every day. She and her brother both agree that the location in South Lyon makes the drive worth it. J & P Printing has continued to be very involved in the community.

Karen O'Leary, office coordinator for the company, started working for the company in August of last year, and says the she enjoys her job so much that the commute from Westland doesn't bother her at all. Karen has been in the printing industry for 10 years, and especially enjoys this job for the female companionship. Laurie Bennett, who is the press shop manager, has been with the company for almost four years. Laurie has been in the printing industry for over 12 years and has become a top press operator/manager in a predominately male field. Marge Lenk, graphics manager, has 31 years experience and joined the J & P team in 1991. Amy Lawson joined J & P in June. She is in charge of bindery and all aspects of completing customer jobs.

Northville's Women of Art

Art Source • Barbara Dancing Eye Gallery • Theresa Painter's Place • Caroline

Downtown Northville is emerging as a fine collection of wonderful galleries and art shops. When looked at individually, each has its own niche in the art world; taken together, they provide art lovers with a colorful selection of art and art objects

Art Source, located at 126 MainCentre Building in downtown Northville, is a great place for people to find both affordable art and picture framing specialists

The shop has hundreds of museum reproductions, prints, posters, lithographs, and etchings in stock, as well as literally thousands of matting and framing options. And if that isn't enough, there are several dozen print and framing catalogs on hand.

Barbara has been in the framing and print field for 11 years. Prior to that, she worked in the gallery and museum field for over 12 years. She has degrees in both commercial and fine art. Besides running her shop, she is involved in the Northville Chamber of Commerce. Activities Committee, and she is the secretary of the Northville Central Business Association.

The Dancing Eye Gallery is located at 150 North Center Street, behind the Tuscan Cafe. From floor to ceiling, there are displays of tile, jewelry, and other handmade items. The gallery has been in business for almost two years, and customers come from all over Southeastern Michigan to see its unique offerings

The owner, Theresa Schierloh proclaims that she is the "queen of tile" Her shop features 20 different artists, both local and out-of-state "Tile is an extremely affordable gift item," says Theresa. "The tiles range from $5 to $50 "

Theresa exhibits her love for her newly adopted hometown with her participation in the Chamber of Commerce, the Central Business Association, and the upcoming "Art in the Sun" art fair.

If you're looking for some paintings by a local artist, then stop by Painter's Place, located at 140 N. Center Street.

Caroline Dunphy established the studio/gallery 23 years ago in Northville to display her own original artwork. She creates watercolors of flowers, people and scenes from Northville and from her travels Caroline said she has painted most of her life and has combined painting with her love of gardening and flowers.

"I like to paint realistic subjects in an impressionistic style," she said. Her artwork can be seen in both public and private collections

Caroline also does house portraits in watercolor or pen and ink.

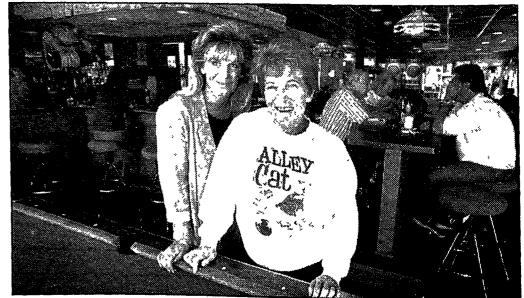

The shop also features black/white and color prints of local scenes.

Painter's Place is open to the public Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons from noon - 4 p.m. or call 248-348-9544 for an appointment.

PennyAnne Edwards • Pebble Creek Golf Club South Lyon (810) 437-5411

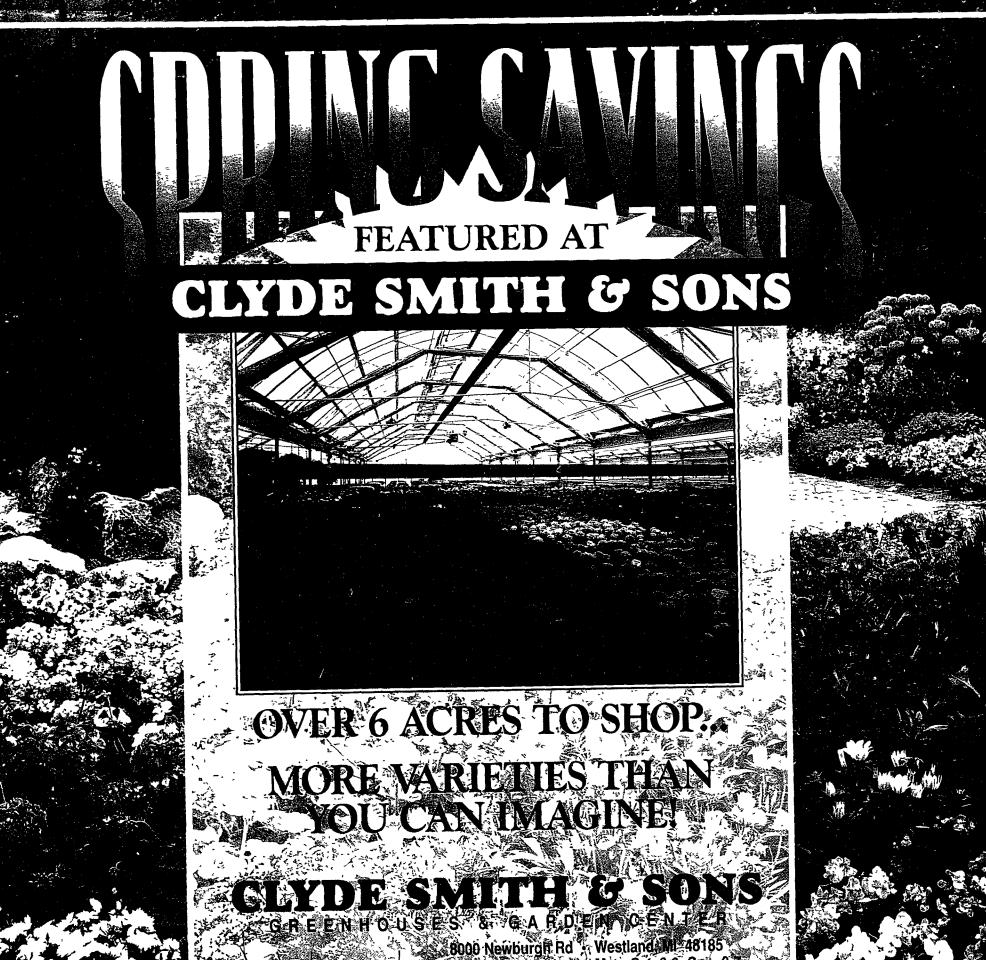

It doesn't take Pennyanne Edwards even a second to answer the question, "What's special about Pebble Creek Golf Club."

"Our customers," she replies without hesitation. "We have a nice variety of people and we pride ourselves the most on the comfortable, friendly atmosphere. It's kind of like a 'Cheers' environment. We really go the distance working for our customers." Pebble Creek is a family-owned business located at 24095 Carrie Road, South Lyon. They've had the business since 1978. As manager, Pennyanne, who once owned her own accounting business, handles the budgeting and oversees customer service. Her brother is the talented landscaper who created the beautifully landscaped 18-hole course and her sister, Catherine Edwards, also helps out in customer service. "All of us work very well together," Pennyanne said.

In addition to having the 18-holes of golf, Pebble Creek also offers leagues and golf outings and a banquet facility that can accommodate up to 160 people. The club has recently been converted into a sports bar. Hours are 6:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. "Or until the customers feel like going home," said Pennyanne, good naturedly. "Frequently that's until 2:30 in the morning." If you like the idea of golfing, dining and relaxing where everybody knows your name, join the family at Pebble Creek.

Greg Thompson's FAR POST SOCCER CAMP

Coach Thompson has been a staff coach and clinician for MSYSA since 1985. In 1994, he authored the skills continuum and lesson plans now being used by Livonia YMCA. In addition to holding a USSF "A" License, he has a Masters degree in physical education and has been an early childhood physical education specialist and soccer coach for 14 years at Detroit Country Day School.

We are offering two camps this year. The first is offered to players currently playing in the Livonia Y's instructional league. This camp will emphasize FUNdamentals. The second camp is offered to travel league players. This advanced camp will cover techniques and tactics designed to make players quick and effective decision makers while under pressure. As in all Far Post camps, shooting games are played regularly to enhance shooting tactics and techniques.

Pee Wee Tennis

MR. PEE WEE TENNIS PROGRAM -Designed to introduce the 4-7 year old to the basics of tennis. Drills and fun games improve a child's balance, muscle control, hand/eye coordination, and their tennis skills. The YMCA will provide racquets for tots who do not have their own.

PEE WEE I - Introduction and concentration on ground strokes, both stationary and moving, with emphasis on proper form. Serves and volleys may also be introduced.

PEE WEE II - Continuation of Pee Wee I skills with more emphasis on serves, volleys and movement.

PEE WEE III – Refinement of all stroke techniques with emphasis starting to shift to rallying skills.

SUPER PEE WEE – Continues refinement of all skills preparing the young player for hour-long classes in the Junior Beginner program.

Ballet, Soccer & Gymnastic Classes

BALLET WITH KATRINA (3-5 Years)

An exciting introduction for your child into the world of ballet. Learning the basic steps and discipline of ballet encourages your child's interest, along with providing fun. Explores creativity through movement.

PRE-SCHOOL GYMNASTICS

We'll work on the mats and beams and other gymnastics apparatus such as the uneven bars and rings. Motor skills and fine tuning of coordination and balance will help your child be more successful in everyday tasks and concentration. Plus they'll have fun!

SOCCER -

Session I runs June 16-July 20

SCHOOL-AGE

Tennis

PRE JUNIOR – Must have completed through Super Pee Wee and/or have PRO'S PERMISSION. Ages 6-7 years.

JUNIOR BEGINNER – The Livonia Family YMCA conducts a series of three class sessions for beginning junior players, ages 8 through 14 years of age who have had little or no tennis experience. We wish to teach the fundamentals in a relaxed, yet challenging atmosphere. At the completion of the series of classes each student will have been taught to:

- Hit a forehand, backhand and serve.
- Understand the court terminology.
- Know how to keep score.
- Handle themselves with proper court etiquette.
- JUNIOR BEGINNER I Beginners who have had no formal lessons should begin at this level. Work on grip, stance and strokes. Complete coverage of rules and scoring.
- JUNIOR BEGINNER II We further develop skills attained in Beginner I. Footwork, consistency and placement of shots will be emphasized.
- JUNIOR BEGINNER III Continued development of forehand, backhand and serve. Introduction to the volley.
- JUNIOR INTERMEDIATE These levels are designed for the child who has completed the Junior Beginner series. This level is a prerequisite to advance to the Junior Excellence program. At the completion of the Junior Intermediate classes, each student will have been taught:
- Good stroke execution with forehand, backhand, serve.
- Ability to place the ball and rally consistently.
- Introduction to the overhead.
- An understanding of singles and double strategy.
- JUNIOR EXCELLENCE PREP Work on control, placement and strategy. Many game situation drills are used. Singles and doubles strategies of the game are emphasized.

Junior Excellence

- INTERMEDIATE JUNIOR EXCELLENCE For students who have completed Junior Intermediate lessons. Players work with others of the same ability, but are encouraged to develop and advance through a no nonsense approach to serious training.
- ADVANCED JUNIOR EXCELLENCE For the player who has completed Junior Excellence I and II.
- SUPER JUNIOR EXCELLENCE For the player who has completed Advanced Excellence.
- INCREDIBLE I JUNIOR EXCELLENCE Pro's permission is required. Tournament and High School players.
- INCREDIBLE II JUNIOR EXCELLENCE Pro's permission is required. High powered workout for the most advanced High School tennis player. This level includes coordinating stroke production consistency with physical and mental conditioning.
- TOP FLIGHT JUNIOR EXCELLENCE Pro's permission is required. High powered workout for the most advanced High School tennis player.

SUMMER CAMPS

Come join us for 5 action packed days of competitive training. We will work on skills, strategy and attitude. This class is geared to the advanced junior player who is willing to work hard on his or her game. The camp will be led by Jack Kingsbury, Head Pro and Bob Miller, Assistant Head Pro. Detailed brochure available in tennis office. Camps run Session II July 21-August 15. See Tennis Schedule for details.

GIRLS HIGH SCHOOL PREP CAMP -

Girls, get ready for your fall high school season with 4 days of competitive training. We will work on control, placement, and strategy in singles and doubles situations. The session will run August 18-21 from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon. Minimum number needed: 8 players. Bob Miller, Assistant Head Pro, and Carl Badynee will head the program.
Cost: $95 member $120 non-member

ADULT FITNESS

ENERGIZE – Increase your energy through a combination of aerobics and resistance training. Bands, weights, rings, and other equipment will be used.

BODY BALLET SCULPT – No previous ballet required. For all fitness levels. We'll combine traditional ballet movements at the barre and on the floor for sculpting the muscles. Emphasis will also be placed on correct postural alignment and technique. This program will strengthen the entire body and promote body awareness. All movements will be easy on the joints and leave you with a general feeling of well being.

TORSODYNAMICS – Resistance training for all major muscle groups. Equipment including weights, bands, and rings will be used. Combine this class with your favorite aerobic workout and see the results!

FAT BURNER – 45 minutes of Cardio/Aerobic Fitness to get your metabolism going! Intermediate level class includes warm-up and cool down.

PARKINSON'S DISEASE EXERCISE PROGRAM – An exercise plan that improves flexibility, endurance, and muscular strength, all of which are compromised in Parkinson's disease. It is based on individual needs and includes stretching, walking, stationary cycling, strengthening and cool down A medical clearance MUST be completed by your doctor and turned in.

BEGINNER STEP – Learn the skill and routines of bench step aerobics. Designed for adults who are new to a bench step class.

STEP IT UP! – This class is for people with some background in step. We will combine the aerobic benefit of step with resistance training.

STEP IT UP "CHALLENGE" – Want something a little more than regular Step It Up? This class incorporates bands and weights.

STEP & SLIDE INTERVAL CLASS – An intermediate class for those ready for a challenge! Alternate doing basic STEP and SLIDE movements with timed intervals of upper body sculpting using weights and bands! This class will meet both your aerobic and your strength training needs.

INTERVAL CONDITIONING – Intermediate to Advanced training with cardiovascular intervaling and resistance training with weights and bands. Come challenge yourself.

WOMEN'S WEIGHT TRAINING WITH MARK – A class to assist the participant in developing proper techniques for lifting both machine and free weights. Assistance in designing a program will be given. An independent study format with participants using Wellness Center at various times.

JOIN THE HEART & SOLE RUNNING CLUB! – We welcome runners of all abilities – from beginners to marathoners. Come see what we're all about! We run on Monday at 6:30 p.m. For more information: Call 261-2161, and leave a message for Gary Plank, Running Club Coordinator.

DAYTIMER WALK/RUN/TONE – This program is for everyone. We welcome new runners, established runners, and those who are interested in learning to run. You will learn the correct running form, how to pace yourself, and other training techniques, while setting and achieving running goals. You can build muscle and cardiovascular endurance in a friendly, supportive atmosphere. Each meeting will close with strength training, abdominal training, and stretching.

SUMMER TENNIS

SUMMER OUTDOOR TENNIS

The outdoor tennis courts may be used on a walk-on basis free of charge in 1-1/2 time slots for Livonia Y Building and Tennis members only depending on availability. Classes, leagues and reserved court time will have preference over walk-on times.

Court Hours:

6:00 a.m.-9:00 p.m. Monday thru Friday 8:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m. Saturday & Sunday

OUTDOOR COURT RESERVATIONS

An outdoor court may be reserved for a minimal charge of $5.00 for 1-1/2 hours and can be reserved up to one week in advance. Courts must be paid for when making a reservation.

TENNIS CANCELLATIONS

Please notify us at least eight hours prior to your reserved court time, or you will be responsible for paying the court fee. If you have reserved an outdoor court and it rains, a credit will be issued to be used for indoor court time (depending on availability), or the credit can be used at a later date.

SUMMER TENNIS MEMBERSHIPS

A summer tennis membership can be purchased for $35.00 and will be available from May 19 through August 23. The membership covers free walk-on court time outdoors, the use of our indoor courts for $8.00/1-1/2 hours, summer leagues participation, and discounts on summer classes.

OUTDOOR PERMANENT COURT TIME RESERVATIONS

Sign up with Barb in the Tennis Office if you would like to reserve outdoor court time for the full 12 weeks of summer. $$5.00/court \times 12 = 70.00 for the summer divided by number of players (4 players = $17.50/summer) INDOOR COURT $8/1.5 hours

Adult Tennis Classes

ADULT BEGINNER – This series of three levels is for the person who is just beginning to play or simply needs a refresher course. Forehand, backhand and serve are the fundamentals that are stressed.

ADULT BEGINNER I – For players new to the game who have had no formal instruction.

ADULT BEGINNER II – This level will further develop skills attained in Beginner I. Emphasis on proper stroke technique, footwork consistency, and ball placement. Introduction to the volley.

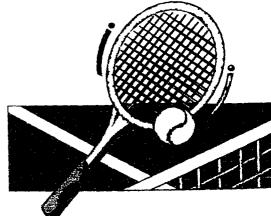

ADULT BEGINNER III – Emphasis on consistency and placement, along with singles and double positioning.

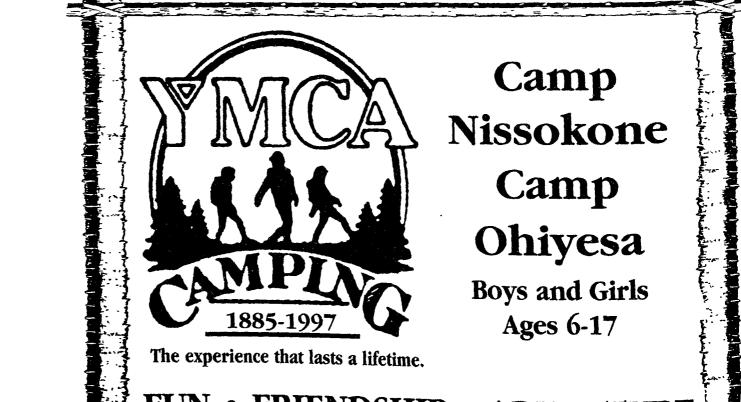

ADULT INTERMEDIATE – Designed for the intermediate or advanced player. A high powered workout that will sharpen your game. Game situation drills and plenty of movement are features of this series of lessons.

INTERMEDIATE FOREHAND, BACK-HAND, SERVE (FBS) – Work on control and placement of shots, plus movement and positioning.

INTERMEDIATE VOLLEY, LOB, OVERHEAD (VLOH) – Emphasis on the net game and development of game strategy.

PRO SPECIAL – Classes arranged according to level. Smaller class size for the serious player. Class is designed to develop the total game. Drill point play situations and a great workout will be emphasized to help you maximize your potential.
