'Landmark vote' passes

Board president says bond approval spells bright future for schools

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

The big smiles in the board room said it all. There will soon be a new Northville High School, six new classrooms at Silver Springs Elementary, and loads of new technology in the classrooms of all Northville schools thanks to voter approval of a $61.5 million bond initiative.

In a complete reversal from last September's failed bond drive, 3,907 voters said yes (55 percent) to the spending plan and 3,201 opposed the measure (45 percent).

According to district officials 803 absentee ballots were cast - 295 for and 508 against.

Of the 25,863 registered voters in the district 7,102 cast ballots in the election, placing the voter turnout at close to 29 percent, according to district figures. A little less than 20 percent took part in the failed bond attempt in September.

"This is a landmark vote from the community for the community," Board of Education President Martha Nield said. "The future of our schools, and more importantly our kids, looks bright."

Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski, the weight of the world seemingly lifted from his shoulders, was exuberant after the votes were tallied.

"What a tremendous feeling. I'm extremely proud of our efforts to get the information to voters, and I'm satisfied that residents had the opportunity to question the proposal," he said. "I am equally thankful to Jerry Rupley and CENC-2000 for their hard work and exhaustive efforts to get the word out to voters."

"We are now positioned on the right road to take Northville schools many successful years

We're outta here

Class of '97 bids farewell

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

It was almost a perfect end to the school year Friday when 318 Northville High School seniors received their high school diplomas during a commencement ceremony held at the high school football stadium.

More than 1,100 family members and friends attended the ceremony, which was blessed with excellent weather. High School Principal Tom Johnson said the commencement and all night senior party were successful.

"The weather was beautiful and we were able to graduate 318 seniors without a hitch," he said. "The students were excited, the families were excited, and everything worked out very well."

Senior class President Matt Zielinsky delivered a short address for the class of 1997 and senior class Vice President Mike McBride presented a few brief remarks.

School Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski delivered the keynote address, during which he talked to graduates about "voices and choices."

"You are in the middle of the wondrous experience of finding your own voices. In school, and undoubtedly at home too, we adults have worked hard to draw you into the song of learning, to give you opportunities to try out your voice," he said. "Over the years we've tapered off the telling, given you choices, and expected you to use your voice."

Once his speech was finished Rezmierski presented a special award to graduating senior Keith Morency, who posted a perfect attendance record for his entire 13-years of attending Northville schools. In accepting the award the graduate thanked his family and friends for supporting his attendance goal. "Most of all," the senior stated nervously, "I'd like to thank my brother."

After the ceremony students stayed to enjoy the Senior All-Night Party, which was organized

Local watering holes fill up with Red Wings faithful

If you were to look up the definition of a sports fan in the dictionary chances are you'd see Jason Clark's picture beside it.

Football, baseball, basketball - he loves it all. So it's no surprise that Clark and buddy Chris Bates were glued to the television Saturday night.

Along with a full house at the Starting Gate pub in downtown Northville, the duo watched the Detroit Red Wings win their first Stanley Cup Championship since 1955.

"That's what they play for," said Clark, a Farmington resident. "That one minute of victory."

The Starting Gate wasn't the only area drinking establishment packed with Red Wings' supporters Saturday.

No parking spaces could be found at the Library Sports Pub & Grill in Novi a half hour before game time. Patrons lined up outside the door for a chance to get in to see their team.

"I watch every game," Brighton resident Nancy Enright said. "I even stayed up for triple overtime one night."

That kind of dedication is typical of Red Wings' fans. Farmington resident Keith Grat-tan watched the final game, a 2-1 victory for the Detroiters, at the

Meyer named Meads principal

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

Meads Mill Middle School's next principal has a familiar face.

Sue Meyer, who since 1990 has been Dave Longridge's assistant, will take the reins from her former boss when Longridge retires June 30.

The Northville Board of Education unanimously approved Meyer's selection Monday. She will officially begin her new duties July 1.

"I can enthusiastically recommend Meyer's nomination as the new Meads Mill principal," said Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski. "She has demonstrated over the past several years her competence and dedication to the district, beginning as a classroom teacher through her current role as assistant superintendent."

Meyer began her career in the Ypsilanti Public School District in 1972 as a special education teacher. She was hired in Northville in 1978 as a teacher consultant and resource teacher for Silver Springs Elementary School.

Since that time she has served as a teacher at Meads Mill Junior High School and Northville High School, and as an assistant principal at both Cooke Middle School and Meads Mill.

She received her bachelor of science degree from Wayne State University in 1972, and earned her masters of education from that same university in 1980. She is currently working on her doctoral degree at Wayne State.

Rezmierski said that Meyer has provided effective leadership at Meads Mill.

"Sue has refined her leadership, human relations and curriculum skills," he said.

The terms of her contract are still under negotiation, according to school officials.

BFI considers contract for Canadian sewage

Shipments could begin as early as July

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

More Canadian waste could be on its way to the landfill next to Northville Township by midsummer.

Plans are in the works for a Canadian firm to haul treated municipal sewage from the city of Windsor to the Arbor Hills landfill in Salem Township on Napier Road, which forms the western border of Northville Township. If the deal comes off, shipments will begin in July and could last up to 15 months.

Nothing is set in stone yet, however, and it's possible that the waste will never come to Arbor Hills at all.

That depends on two things.

The first is whether Prism-Berlie, the Ontario-based firm Windsor has hired to haul the waste, can conclude a formal agreement with Browning-Ferris Industries (BFI) to dispose of it at Arbor Hills. BFI owns and operates the landfill.

Second, Windsor city officials say they plan to try to win approval from Ontario provincial officials to have Prism-Berlie ship the sewage to a landfill in Windsor's Essex County. Provincial law prohibits the disposal of Windsor sewage in Ontario landfills, Woods said.

Getting an answer on that issue take months, however, if a green light can be secured at all.

The treated sewage includes human waste and waste from industrial sources. The treatment process leaves the waste in a semi-solid, toothpaste-like consistency

New administrator chosen for district

Dr. Linda Farr selected from 48 applicants

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

Right on schedule, the Northville School District named its new assistant superintendent for instruction this week.

The school board unanimously approved hiring Dr. Linda Farr for the position at its regular meeting Monday. She will officially begin her duties July 1.

According to Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski, Farr brings plenty of experience to the job, vacated by Dolly McMaster in January.

"Her background has provided the necessary experiences to ably handle the curriculum instruction responsibilities for Northville Public Schools," he said.

Farr's background includes seven years with the Haslett Public School District as a high school teacher, and 19 years with the Centerline Public Schools, where she served as assistant high school principal, director of curriculum instruction, and her most recent position as assistant superintendent for curriculum and instruction.

Farr earned a bachelor of science degree from Central Michigan University, a masters degree in management from Michigan State University, and a doctorate of education from Wayne State University.

She was one of 48 applicants for the position, according to Rezmierski. An 11 member interview committee, including three teachers, three community members, and three administrators, took part in the hiring process, which began in earnest in February.

Farr's background includes seven years with the Haslett Public School District as a high school teacher, and 19 years with the Centerline Public Schools.

"I am very pleased that the district's hiring procedure was followed to the letter," he said.

Rezmierski also explained that Farr's selection is a good match for the district because the educator has plenty of curriculum experience.

"She has demonstrated the capability to resolve complex curriculum and instruction issues through the use of creative ideas and solutions," the superintendent remarked.

"Dr. Farr is highly regarded for developing positive relationships with students, staff, and community as well as enhancing opportunities for student learning and staff development."

Farr's contract is set for two years. She will receive $97,010 per year for the duration of her contract.

Thieves make off with bikes, car

Three Northville Township residents living on the same street lost their vehicles to auto thieves during the night of June 3-4.

Two motorcycles and a Ford Mustang were taken from the Northville Place Drive apartments sometime that evening or early morning, according to police. The Mustang was recovered less than 48 hours later in Detroit. The bike remains missing.

The first was a 1996 Honda model valued at $7,800, the second a 1995 Honda worth $7,300. Both were equipped with locks and in one case, a police officer reported finding drag marks in the asphalt, apparently from the bike's kickstand.

The Mustang, a 1995 GT model, had a stereo, golf clubs and other items taken from its interior. Those items are valued at $2,720. The car was valued at $22,000.

Detroit police officers found the Mustang in their city with damage to its ignition, dashboard, tires, wheels and airbags.

LAPTOP TAKEN: A Northville resident's laptop computer was stolen from the McDonald's restaurant on Six Mile on the afternoon of June 4.

Township police say the man,

51, said he accidentally left the machine and some other peripheral items on a table then left McDonald's. When he returned for them, the man continued, it was all gone.

The laptop is valued at $7,000, the peripheral gear $1,300. Checks worth $1,800 were also taken.

FOILED CELL THEFT: A Novi man foiled an attempted phone theft at Meijer on Friday morning.

The man, 34, told township police he was in line at the check-out stand shortly before 10 a.m. When he glanced outside, the man continued, he saw an individual standing by the driver's side door of his 1993 Ford Thunderbird, looking inside the car.

The man left Meijer and as he did he saw the male come out of his unlocked T-bird holding the man's cellular phone. The man yelled at the male to drop it, which he did. The male then got into a 1986 Ford Mustang parked next to the Thunderbird and the vehicle left the area, the man said.

The phone was recovered and police issued a "be on the lookout" advisory call to all area police departments. The man got the plate number of the Mustang, which is registered to an 18-year-old Detroit resident.

Police are investigating the case further.

POOR CHOICE: An 18-year-old Northville student, days away from graduation, was unable to attend commencement activities because he was cited for underage consumption of alcohol on June 5.

According to police high school officials suspected the teen had been drinking before coming to school and administered a saliva test that registered positive for alcohol. Northville Police were summoned to the school and an officer administered a preliminary breath test to the student. The test registered .047 blood alcohol content, well above the .020 limit for people under 21.

The boy was transported to the Northville Police Station, where a second breath test registered .036 BAC. The boy was then released into the custody of his parents, who posted the $100 bond.

If you have any information about these or any other illegal incidents you can call Northville City police at 349-1234 or Northville Township police at 349-9400.

Sidewalk cafe returns to Genitti's

Once again this year, John and Toni Genitti are turning the city's central business district into Rue de Main with their sidewalk restaurant service.

For the second straight year, patrons of Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall can do a little Euro-dining at lunch time.

The Genittis have set up 12 tables on the sidewalk in front of the restaurant at 108 E. Main.

The tables seat two customers each, and restaurant service is available for lunch outdoors from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

In addition, patrons will be able to get drinks at the tables Friday and Saturday nights.

"We're going to do something a little different and kick them inside if they don't pay their bills," John quipped.

Toni Genitti said her restaurant's sidewalk service was a big hit with the customers last year.

If it goes over just as well again this year, the sidewalk menu might be expanded by the restaurant owners.

"We might start serving dinner

Handley a shoo-in as new school trustee

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

School board hopeful Judy Handley might have had an opponent in Monday's school board election, but that certainly didn't affect the outcome.

Handley won easily over write-in challenger Don McCulloch for the single board seat vacated by retiring board member Jean Hansen. The final totals showed Handley capturing 4,179 votes (96 percent) to McCulloch's 150 (3.4 percent).

"I'm happy to be joining the board at such an exciting time," Handley said Monday. "I look forward to working with administration and the community to keep our schools moving forward."

According to Board of Education President Martha Nield, Handley is a welcome addition to the board table.

"Judy will be an asset to our district and we welcome her expertise as a teacher and her understanding of the educational system," Nield said. "She was so involved with the bond issue she knows the facility issues inside and out."

"I'm extremely pleased with her willingness to serve the community,"

Handley, 47, has been actively involved in the school district over the past decade. She first served on the Strategic Planning Committee in 1989 and most recently was a member of the Citizens Bond Committee.

She has been an elementary school teacher for the past 26 years and is currently an elementary school learning consultant for the Wayne-Westland Public School District.

McCulloch waited until last week to announce his write-in candidacy and said he decided to run because he believes there are many district residents whose view points are not adequately represented by current school board members.

Hansen, who is stepping down after serving five terms as a school board trustee, was first elected to the school board in 1981. She said she decided to leave the board after 16 years of service because her job has become more time consuming and she has other interests she wants to pursue.

The school board will hold its annual organizational meeting in early July. Officers will be elected at that time. Martha Nield currently serves as board president.

Positions on the Northville Board of Education run for four years. Board members serve without compensation.

SCC incumbents reelected

There was little suspense in the Schoolcraft Community College Board of Trustees election which took place Monday.

Two incumbents ran unopposed in the election and won new, six-year terms on the board.

Board Secretary Carol Strom received 9,542 votes in the election, while Treasurer Richard DeVries got 8,633 votes.

Both Strom and DeVries are from Livonia.

The seven-member SCC Board of Trustees will hold its annual organizational meeting July 7.

Currently, Patricia Watson of Northville serves as president of the board. Schoolcraft trustees are not compensated for their service.

Both Northville and Northville Township are included in the Schoolcraft district. The school districts of Livonia, Garden City, Clarenceville and Plymouth-Canton are also included, as is a small portion of Novi.

A tax of approximately 1.88 mills is levied on residents within the district.

into the future."

Continuing Excellence for Northville Children (CENC), has been on an information blitz of the community for the past eight weeks, sending out letters, hosting coffees, and even producing a 13-minute video to gain support for the bond effort.

"There are a lot of people to thank," Rupley said. "This was a total team effort and couldn't have been accomplished without the efforts of many."

The district also launched an aggressive letter campaign of its own to get information pertinent to the proposal into the hands of the voting public.

With approval of the measure the district will now begin planning the construction of a new high school, which will be built on district-owned land at Six Mile and Sheldon Road, along with the conversion of the current high school into a middle school.

Also included in the bond package is the addition of six classrooms to Silver Springs Elementary, renovation and repairs to existing district facilities, and $5.2 million in new technology purchases.

If construction work begins immediately, a new high school could be finished by the 1999-2000 school year.

This year's theme was "Games People Play," and provided graduating students with a night of fun with dancing, food, games, a casino, golf and entertainment.

The all-night affair, which traditionally ends at around 4 a.m., keeps students safe and out of trouble, according to school officials.

Call goes out to artists wanting to display

The Northville Arts Commission is looking for qualified artists to display their work at the Northville Art Market, set for Saturday, Sept. 13, and Sunday, Sept. 14.

The Art Market will be held in conjunction with the Victorian Festival, which takes place in downtown Northville every year during the second weekend in September.

The Market, a juried outdoor art fair which features fine and folk art, attracts 75-100 artists from the entire Midwest region.

Artists interested in displaying their work may obtain an application by calling (248) 349-6104.

Longridge ends distinguished career

Meads principal worked 37 years in local district

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

Dave Longridge only planned on staying in Northville for one year.

Used to life in the city Longridge and his wife Marge didn't think they'd ever get used to Northville's small town flavor.

"We both agreed that we'd give it a year and move on somewhere else," he said. "We really never considered we'd stay longer than that."

Today, 37 years after he agreed to take a teaching position at Northville Junior High School, Longridge is preparing to close the book on a long and distinguished career in Northville schools.

He is retiring as the principal of Meads Mill Middle School June 30. But he does so with mixed emotions.

"I'm ready to move on and enjoy retirement," he said. "But I'm going to miss all of this — the interaction with the kids, all of the teachers, and the community — and it will create a void in my life."

"That's why I got into this business in the first place."

Longridge, who also turns 64 in June, began his career in the Northville district in 1960 when he was a teacher at Northville Junior High School. One year later he began teaching at the high school and was the Mustang basketball coach.

He was named high school assistant principal in 1968 and became the principal at Cooke Middle School in 1974.

Longridge has been the principal at Meads Mill since 1985.

"It's been a great ride for me. I've enjoyed plenty of triumphs and successes and have worked through some of the more trying times as well," he explained.

"It's been quite a learning experience for me, and one thing this 37 years has taught me is that it takes more than one person to make the educational system work."

"We've been lucky to have great teachers in this district, teachers who always put the kids first," he added. "That's one of the reasons this school district is so successful."

He said that the kids have taught him some of life's most important lessons, and that students today have a tougher road to travel.

"I've always looked at it from the standpoint that I may be getting one year older, but the kids stay the same age, and it's important to be able to adapt and adjust to that," he explained.

"People who say that school is easier today couldn't be further from the truth. School is not easier. What kids are expected to do today and what they will be expected to do in the future is more difficult than what the students in the 1960s and '70s had to face."

"These kids work hard and are more involved in a variety of activities," he added.

"And they realize that everybody gets a shot at a good education and if they don't take advantage of it they have nobody to blame but themselves."

Besides the increased academic pressures, kids today also face the pressure of societal problems like drug and alcohol abuse, according to Longridge.

"That's one problem I'd really like to change, and it's disheartening that we as a society have not solved the drug problem," he said. "I don't know if we'll be able to solve it within my lifetime."

"I'm ready to move on and enjoy retirement. But I'm going to miss all of this — the interaction with the kids, all of the teachers, and the community — and it will create a void in my life. That's why I got into this business in the first place."

As the days wind down toward retirement Longridge plans to enjoy the time with students and colleagues.

"I really have enjoyed my time here," he concluded. "Northville has always been a good place to raise your kids. The schools here are good and remain a positive reflection on the community."

"I'm just happy to have played a part in it all."

PAIN IN THE BUTTOCKS

Piriformis syndrome is named after the muscle that is part of the abductor complex on the inside of the thighs. The sciatic nerve exits the pelvis just below the piriformis muscle with very little clearance. When the piriformis muscle becomes injured or inflamed, the sciatic nerve is often subject to compression and irritation, resulting in pain in the buttocks. One good way physical therapists have to test for piriformis syndrome is to have a patient lie on his or her side, with the painful side up and the upper leg slightly bent. The patient is asked to lift the top leg up about 8 to 10 inches and hold that position. If there is pain in the buttocks at the end of this time, the patient likely has piriformis syndrome.

At Northville Physical Therapy & Rehabilitation Inc., our staff of well educated, experienced and highly motivated professionals specialize in all phases of rehabilitation care. We specialize in back and neck rehabilitation, pain management, and orthopedic and sports-related injuries. To schedule a consultation of physical therapy, call us at 349-3816, or see us at 215 E. Main St. Suite B.

P.S. Treatments of piriformis syndrome include gentle stretching of the hamstrings and hip abductors, ultrasound, and anti-inflammatory drugs.

Starting Gate. He thought the Wings would beat Philadelphia, but not quite so easily.

"I thought it would go six games," he said. "Philadelphia played well tonight, but it was a little too late."

Clark also thought the Flyers would put up a better fight.

"I picked the Flyers to win the Stanley Cup," he admitted, "because of the muscle and size they've got."

Wings' netminder Mike Vernon was the difference in the series, Clark said. "I didn't take the goal-tending into account," he said.

After years and years of frustration, Clark said it was hard to pick the Red Wings.

"I dreaded the playoffs," he said. "You always felt like they'd let you down. But they're your team. You've got to stick with them."

While Clark is a die-hard for sure, Grattan said the Wings picked up a lot of bandwagon supporters in the past few weeks.

"I think they have a lot of fans they didn't have a month ago," he added, "But that's human nature."

Clark wanted Detroit to win the Cup for captain Steve Yzerman.

"He's one of the most dedicated players I've seen," he said. "He never bad-mouths anybody. He's a blue-collar worker. He belongs in Detroit."

Hockey success is boon to business

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

According to local business owners, the Detroit Red Wings' playoff championship run was a shot in the financial arm.

"We're up 25 to 30 percent over last year when they weren't playing (for the Stanley Cup)," said Robert Barnett, manager of the Library Sports Pub & Grill in Novi. "The Red Wings are doing their share to bring some business in."

Gail Bortz, a waitress at the Starting Gate in Northville, agreed.

"It has increased business a lot," she said. "We've had a nice crowd for every game."

Patrons were lined up outside the door at the Library Saturday night. Barnett said the pub's casual and friendly environment makes it the place to hang out for sporting events.

"We had a big year in football," he added. "We developed a good Sunday afternoon crowd."

Despite the large crowds, Barnett said there were few problems with folks getting too rowdy.

"People are coming in relaxed," the manager said. "They wanted to watch the game and cheer for the Wings."

But it did get loud at times, especially when Detroit scored.

"You feel like you're at the game," said Barnett.

The sports pub has also been popular with Red Wings' players. Barnett said Darren McCarty, Kirk Maltby and Martin LaPointe have all hung out at the Library recently.

At the Starting Gate Saturday, the crowd was a little less boisterous than at the sports pub. Bortz said crowds were well behaved on game nights.

"We get a wide range of people," she added. "We get a lot of young families."

Celebrate Northville gears up for Fourth

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Believe it or not, the best party of the summer - the Fourth of July - is just three weeks away.

Plans for the day long series of activities and events celebrating Independence Day are going full steam ahead but there's a lot of work left to be done. Celebrate Northville, the nonprofit volunteer group which organizes the festivities every year, needs your help.

Time and money are two things Celebrate Northville still needs to make this year's Fourth the best ever, organization co-chair Rob David said.

"We still need volunteers to work the (morning) parade," David commented, "and we're always in need of funds to assure that we're able to provide all of the events that are expected."

You don't have to be a Ph.D. to help out at the parade. All Celebrate Northville needs are pairs of hands willing to give a little time.

"No skills required except a comfortable pair of shoes," David said with a laugh.

When it comes to money, did you know that it takes more than $20,000 to put on all of the events on Independence Day in the Northville community each year? Both Northville City and Northville Township have donated money to the cause and several businesses in the area have helped out. But there's still a need for more funds.

If you're interested in becoming a volunteer or would like to donate money to Celebrate Northville, contact co-chair Ken Woodside at 347-1919 or Rob David at 305-5995.

"An event of this magnitude is only possible with the help of community volunteers," David said.

Here's a rundown of the day's events:

- Parade: Kicking things off will be the downtown parade at 10 a.m.

Many of the usual favorites will be taking part. If you or your group would like to get in on the action, call Woodside for an application or pick one up at the Northville Chamber of Commerce office on S. Main Street next to the water well.

One of the highlights of the morning is the pet parade, supervised again this year by Northville Township Trustee Russ Fogg. If you're interested in taking part get the details from Fogg at 349-6656.

Activities this year will include a morning parade, a classic auto show, reenactments at Mill Race Village, a concert of patriotic music and a fireworks display.

- Auto Show: Another returning favorite, a classic car auto show will follow the parade, starting at 11 a.m. Cars in show-grade condition which are 25 years or older can participate.

The event is sponsored by Woolly Bully's restaurant.

Call owner Mark Roman for an application at 286-6501 if you'd like to show off your ride or pick up an application at the restaurant.

The auto show will be held on the yard of the R&D Enterprises building located at the corner of Griswold and Main.

- Mill Race: Once you've given the autos a look-see, mosey on over to Mill Race Historical Village, located just up Griswold from R&D Enterprises. A lot of family fun awaits.

Soak up the history as you examine the beautifully preserved and restored buildings that make up Mill Race.

Enjoy the historical reenactors or take a docent tour.

All kinds of other interesting action will be going on, from rug hookers to weavers to an auction.

Just for the kids will be a magician, clown troupe and special children's games.

- Concert: The afternoon will feature a concert of patriotic music performed by the Schoolcraft College wind ensemble.

Sponsoring both the parade and the concert is the Americast Cable company.

The concert will take place at the Northville Community Park on Beck Road between Five and Six Mile a short time before the day's crowning event, the nighttime fireworks show.

- Fireworks: Like last year, the show will be held after dusk on the grounds of the BFI facility near Six Mile and Napier roads.

Loads will buy Windsor time to develop longterm solution

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Why is Windsor's waste possibly headed to the Arbor Hills landfill?

City officials there say it's their best short-term answer to a problem that's cropped up with the treated municipal sewage. They add that the move will buy them time to implement a more permanent disposal solution.

Kit Woods is the city of Windsor's assistant director of pollution control. City officials are working now on a plan to build a plant in or near Windsor which would turn treated sewage into solid organic fertilizer pellets. The pellets would then be sold for agricultural use.

That plan could take more than a year to happen, however. In the meantime, Windsor officials have been disposing of the waste via a process called "lime stabilization."

The problem, Woods explained, is that the lime reacts with the sewage to produce ammonia gas. The odor is disturbing people who live near the disposal site.

"Nearby residents have complained about it," he said.

To eliminate that problem, city officials recommended that the waste be shipped to a landfill instead. According to Woods, the treated municipal sludge is far less odorous when it's not treated with the lime.

That's also the opinion of John Myers, who works at BFI's Arbor Hills facility. He said that the landfill has taken municipal sewage from communities such as Ann Arbor and Warren in the past and that "odor is not a problem."

The sludge is "immediately buried" to eliminate any potential odor, Myers explained.

The Arbor Hills Resource Recovery Center is poised to accept shipments of treated waste from the city of Windsor. The facility is located on the Salem/Northville Township border.

Liberal laws see trash as commerce issue

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Canadian waste coming to the Arbor Hills landfill is just one piece of a much larger puzzle.

Environmental groups, citizen activists, the waste industry and government officials in several states and the U.S. Congress are engaged in an ongoing debate over interstate and international trash trafficking.

Michigan, say those critical of the practice, is one of several states that has become a "dumping ground" for waste from other states and Canadian areas. Their argument is that our state for two decades or more has worked hard to make sure we will have enough space in our landfills to meet future disposal needs.

Through measures like aggressive recycling programs and a ban on dumping compost and yard waste, critics say, we've reduced the total amount of in-state trash being landfilled here.

Instead of saving the space, critics continue, waste disposal firms are instead filling it up with trash from out-of-state sources. Among their big customers are states with little excess landfill capacity which now have equally little incentive to develop disposal and recycling options within their own borders.

In Michigan, some legislators who take this view are trying to change the law at the state and federal levels in order to more tightly regulate landfill space.

Thrown into the mix, however, is a log jam over regulating interstate and international waste at the federal level. The U.S. Supreme Court in 1991 decided that such activity can only be regulated by Congress, thus invalidating many state laws.

Critics charge that the waste industry and trash-exporting states have worked hard to keep things as they are now, blocking any attempted Congressional reforms. Meanwhile, according to one environmental lobby, in one 12-month period during 1995-96 about 14.3 percent of all trash dumped in Michigan's landfills came from out of state.

"Michigan is making it easier and easier for communities far away to ship their stuff here," Mike Garfield of the Ann Arbor based environmental group The Ecology Center, said. "This has got to stop."

Referring specifically to the proposed deal for Windsor to ship municipal waste to Arbor Hills, Garfield said he is "not so much concerned that they're landfilling it. I'd just like it landfilled in Canada. People should be dealing with garbage close to the source."

John Myers, who works for BFI at Arbor Hills, said his company is a responsible, law-abiding firm that's providing a needed service.

"Michigan has a very strong and very responsible solid waste industry and we can offer responsible solid waste disposal beyond our borders," Myers said.

BFI is fully licensed, he noted, and works hard to stay in strict compliance with laws regarding waste disposal. The company also gives back to the community: BFI, for example, recently donated thousands of dollars worth of mulch to Fort Griswold, Northville's new playscape, and every year hosts Fourth of July fireworks displays.

BFI is one of the world's largest waste hauling companies and does business everywhere from North America to New Zealand. With that kind of size and scope, Myers said, restricting facilities to only local needs can't always happen.

"We're an international company," he said. "We do business all over. We have to provide these services and if the disposal aspect of that is in southeastern Michigan, that fits into the equation."

His company has agreed, however, to restrictions on out-of-state waste at Arbor Hills, Myers pointed out. In a contract with Washtenaw BFI has adopted a priority system for trash which puts out of state waste at the bottom of the totem pole and trash from our area at the top.

The waste industry is trying to get its point of view heard in the ongoing debate over possible reform in both Lansing and Washington.

"We're watching it very closely," was how Myers put it.

WHERE DOES IT COME FROM?

Here's a breakdown of where refuse that goes through the gates of the Arbor Hills landfill comes from. The figures represent the last reported quarter, July-September 1996.

SOURCE	AMOUNT (PERCENT OF TOTAL)
Wayne County	31%
Out of State	23%
Washtenaw County	15%
Macomb County	14%
Oakland County	10%
Elsewhere in Michigan	7%

Arbor Hills received just over 800,000 cubic yards of waste during the three month period. About 86 percent of it came from commercial sources, the remaining 14 percent from residential sources.

Complaints concerning compost odors increase

By AMY GIBBONS
Staff Writer

Despite Browning-Ferris Industries' attempts at improving communications with Salem Township residents in finding out what's causing the odor problems from its composting facility, the township board announced plans May 27 to ask its lawyer what kind of recourse they have.

Salem Supervisor Michael Penn said he has been inundated with complaints about the odor since the board last discussed the problem May 13.

Township resident Al Thomas is getting frustrated with the problem.

Because the odor tends to come and go, BFI needs to be contacted right away to target the cause of the problem. Thomas' wife, Peggy, said sometimes the odor lasts 10 minutes and then goes away.

"It makes you feel like the little boy who cried wolf," Al Thomas said.

Penn said his frustration is also building. He said he has tried to contact BFI immediately when a complaint is phoned in, but ends up playing phone tag with BFI district vice president John Myers.

One of the complaints residents had about BFI at the May 13 board meeting was its inaccessibility. Whenever residents called to complain about odor problems, they would get an automated voice mail message and were concerned that their complaints were not being heard.

Myers said the company has hired a receptionist to direct calls. He said part of the problem is that BFI has not heard as many complaints as the township.

Township resident Linda Hamilton said the township should be notified first. Residents can call BFI after they contact the township or Penn can relay the complaints to BFI.

"It's the township's place to enforce compliance," she said.

Penn agreed.

"The public perception is that the township will protect the people," he said.

Myers said the compost needs to be turned and aerated continually to help eliminate odor problems. He said BFI is planning on purchasing a weather station so they know which way the wind is blowing on a particular day.

"We will learn more about our operation with some wind direction," Myers said

Agreement would result in local sewage disposal

Prism-Berlie is expected to haul as much as 33,000 U.S. tons of it for Windsor during the life of the contract, a deal worth more than $830,000 (Canadian) to the firm. The waste will mean three to four truckloads a day for three to four days a week for the life of the deal.

Windsor officials say the agreement will buy them time to develop a better disposal method for the sewage.

BFI took flak from some quarters early this year when the company agreed to a deal that will bring trash from Toronto to Arbor Hills next year. Beginning in January 1998 BFI will receive 25 percent of Toronto's household waste. The shipments will continue for three to five years.

The Windsor deal calls for all of the city's treated municipal sewage to be shipped to Arbor Hills beginning next month. If nothing else changed they would continue through at least July 1998.

Windsor's contract with Prism-Berlie includes an option which would allow the city to extend the deal for up to three more months beyond that.

As of this week Prism-Berlie does not have a formal agreement with BFI for Arbor Hills to receive the waste, according to BFI's John Myers. He confirmed that the two companies had discussed prices but declined to discuss figures.

Neither the Toronto contract nor the Windsor sludge will increase the total amount of trash which can ultimately be deposited at Arbor Hills. That is set in the landfill's operating permit and BFI officials expect Arbor Hills to be full by around the year 2015.

"There's not more of it, it's just coming from a different source," explained Myers.

A lot of people in Michigan oppose the idea of out-of-state waste being deposited in landfills here and are trying to change state and federal law to stop it.

Library Lines

LIBRARY HOURS:

The Northville District Library is open Monday-Thursday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and closed Sundays through Labor Day. For more information, call the library at (248) 349-3020.

SUMMER READING CLUB:

Be Eager About Reading and sign up for the library's Summer Reading Club beginning Friday, June 13, in the Youth Activities Room of the Northville District Library.

Follow our B.E.A.R. trail to cool programs that feature live woodland animals, incredible illusions and a forest of furry puppet friends. A detailed list of programs and activities is available when you sign up, and registration continues through June 30.

PRESCHOOL STORYTIMES:

Three preschool storytimes will be offered in June and July as part of the Read-to-Me summer reading program. Children ages four and five who are not yet in kindergarten may listen to stories at either 11 a.m. or 2 p.m. on three Wednesdays: June 25, July 9, and July 23.

Parents or caregivers can begin registering children for the storytimes in person only starting at 10 a.m. Friday, June 13. Enrollment is limited.

LIBRARY BOARD MEETING:

The next meeting of the Northville District Library Board of trustees will be on Thursday, June 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the library meeting room. The public is welcome to attend.

BOOK DISCUSSION GROUP:

At the next scheduled book discussion on Monday, July 14, the group will be discussing a novel by Jane Hamilton, The Book of Ruth. All are welcome to attend this program, which begins at 7 p.m. in the library's meeting room.

FANTASY BASEBALL:

Division leaders in Northville District Library's Fantasy Baseball program for the week of June 4, are: H.B. Zeff, Andy Doren, "John McGraw," Tom Miltzer, J.F. Richards, P. Yasenchak, Emily Doren, Brett Asher, Brent Habitz, Todd Sander, H. Bakerfinch, G. Sander, "Mighty Toads," Richard Zeff, Alice Polumbo, K. Blanche, C.A. Richards, and A. Bryndza. The top salary-capped team is owned by P. Yasenchak and the top unlimited salary team is Richard Zeff's.

Maybury State Park

PARK HOURS:

Maybury State Park is open daily from 8 a.m. until 10 p.m. Farm hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. A state park motor vehicle permit is required for entry to the park. Additional information about programs or facilities may be obtained by calling the park office at (248) 349-8390.

JUNE BIRD HIKE:

Join the park interpreter for the monthly bird identification hike on Saturday, June 14, beginning at 8 a.m. Meet at the riding stable parking area for a walk around the pond and surrounding woods. Many birds are nesting now, so this may be a good opportunity to spot some of our summer residents. No previous experience is necessary.

DAIRY DAY:

As part of National Dairy Month, Maybury Farm will host a Dairy Day and demonstration on Saturday, June 14, from 2 to 4 p.m. Join us in the farm demonstration building for a short presentation on milk and dairy products, followed by a chance to make some of our favorite dairy foods.

NIGHT HIKE:

Join us on Saturday, June 14, beginning at 8 p.m. as we present guest speaker Jennifer Jaworski from the University of Michigan's Exhibit Museum of Natural History. Jennifer will give a presentation on Greek and Native American Indian star constellations. Weather permitting, we will also hold a night hike to look for some of these celestial wonders.

Meet at the concession building in the main parking lot on Eight Mile Road.

THURSDAY EVENING SERIES:

Our summer Thursday Evening Series is back each week beginning June 19. Join a park interpreter on Thursdays at 7 p.m. as we explore the natural wonders of Maybury State Park.

Thursday, June 19 - "Summer Birds." Meet at 7 p.m. at the farm demonstration building for a short talk about nesting summer birds, followed by a hike to look for some of our feathered residents.

Thursday, June 26 - "Wetlands." Meet at 7 p.m. at the riding stable parking area on Beck Road. We will explore the unique habitat of wetlands around the fishing pond area at Maybury.

CHILDREN'S PROGRAMS:

Our popular summer children's programs begin the week of June 23. You may register now for these weekly programs. For a copy of our program brochure, stop by or call the park office at (248) 349-8390.

OCC grads extol virtues of school

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Ask Mariesa Matera if Oakland Community College isn't a great "second chance" school.

Matera, 26, told OCC's 31st graduating class that when she graduated from high school in 1988, "I remember only being interested in what time the football game started."

Meanwhile, she went to work for the Farmington Hills law firm of Feiler, Joelson, Lakind & Rosenberg.

On Friday she received an associate's degree in legal assistance, summa cum laude, and has a $4,000 scholarship to Oakland University to study business. After that, law school?

"We received an excellent education," she told 2,000 graduates and several thousand friends in The Palace of Auburn Hills.

"We learned how to be strong leaders by leading a campaign for OCC's millage increase, organizing the voter registration drive on our campus (Orchard Ridge) and by hosting the region's leadership conference," said Matera, a member of Phi Theta Kappa, the international community college honors society.

Said Judith Wiser, OCC board chair and a former student and instructor:

"Lansing realizes that community colleges are on the cutting edge of job-related education. OCC simply provided the environment and tools so you could achieve your goals."

Board Vice Chair Janice Simmons cited three students for whom OCC had made a difference, including one who spent time in prison.

About half the class earned two-year associate degrees in general studies and will go on to universities.

The other half received two-year applied science degrees or one-year certificates in 90 different career programs.

OCC graduates from Northville included:

Rivers hosts vets meeting

Congresswoman Lynn N. Rivers, D-Ann Arbor, will be holding a Veterans Task Force meeting on Monday, June 16, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at VFW Post No. 3323 in Westland, 1055 S. Wayne Road.

The topic of the meeting will be the new funding mechanisms for Veterans Administration Medical Centers. Hugh Deery, the Chief Financial Officer of the Veterans Integrated Service Network, Tom Paunovich, Chief of Resources for the Detroit VA Hospital, and others will join the meeting.

Rivers represents Northville Township and Wayne County Northville in Washington.

FOURTH OF JULY AUCTION:

We are planning an old fashioned, outdoor auction following the parade. We have quite a few interesting and unique items. If you have any small items to donate, please call the office at 348-1845. We need your help.

We will have a full kitchen this year, including hot dogs, sandwiches, sloppy joes, kids meals, pop, ice cream and a bake sale. So come and make a day of it - enjoy the parade then come to Mill Race. The buildings will be open and we will have Civil War reenactments, basket weavers, fiber weavers, and rug hookers. Also this year we are having a magic show and a retired Beanie Baby raffle.

Our dedicated group of volunteers is working hard to offer something for everyone. Please make Mill Race Village part of your holiday celebration this year.

Ever wanted to take the kids to an island and leave them?

OK. You don't have to answer that question.

We just want to let you know that you can, at Mackinac Island's Mission Point Resort.

In fact, that's why we developed our exclusive children's Discovery Club. So our guests with children can get away for a while and do things parents like to do. Be it a hike, a round of golf, a shopping excursion, historical tour or even (Yuck!) business meetings.

The Discovery Club is a safe, secure, fun and educational place, staffed with trained professionals day and evening alike. We even make pagers available to parents, for that extra margin of comfort.

So come to Mackinac Island, and leave the kids for some good, healthy fun at our Discovery Club. Then, when you're ready, pick them up and enjoy some real family fun as well!

After all, parents need play time, too. And sometimes they just play better by themselves.

For family fun, Mission Point offers: Activity center with health club, in-line skate and mountain bike rentals, heated pool and more • 3 restaurants with outdoor dining and live entertainment • Over 100 miles of wooded nature trails • Historic sites that have made Mackinac Island famous

And remember: Children 12 and under eat free at Mission Point Resort!

Our Opinion

Plan to accept sludge doesn't smell quite right

There's an old expression about people who have an inflated opinion of themselves. Paraphrased, it runs, "they think their stuff doesn't stink."

Well, Windsor city officials know their stuff does stink and that's why they don't want it. It would also violate Ontario provincial laws for them to landfill it there, and they don't want to go back on their own statutes.

In a nutshell, the byproduct of Windsor's sewage treatment plants, treated sewage with human waste and waste from industrial sources, appears likely to be landfilled at BFI's Arbor Hills facility in Salem Township near the border with Northville Township.

The proposed contract to receive the sewage will last up to 15 months, during which time Windsor will build a plant to turn the sewage into pellets that farmers can use on their fields.

Treated municipal sewage is nothing new at Arbor Hills, company representatives tell us. Warren and Ann Arbor already deposit such byproducts there, and BFI officials say "odor is not a problem."

We wouldn't flinch over this issue if we didn't already have our doubts about BFI's ability to keep smells down at Arbor Hills. Those doubts have been spawned by the ongoing problem of odors at the Arbor Hills composting site.

When BFI officials proposed expanding the composting facility at Arbor Hills to its current 24 acres, we were inclined to cut them some slack. They claimed they had a state-of-the-art process that would keep it from smelling.

And when they cut a deal with metro Toronto to import Canadian trash, we gave BFI a pass because the agreement fit the terms of an accord that was already in place.

But now that the composting site has become a persistent odor problem and there's a possibility of bringing in Canadian trash that includes human waste, our faith in BFI has run short. If they say what they're hauling in from Windsor won't smell, we find it hard to believe them.

Actually, the blame for this problem doesn't lie entirely with BFI. The company is doing what it is allowed to do by law, and is in pursuit of a market that our free economy created.

Frankly, the Canadians must think we Americans look awfully dumb. They don't want to annoy their citizens with the smell of human waste and don't want to violate their own laws which were written with the intent of sparing the land on which their people live.

But here in America, in the pursuit of profits, we're willing to accept all manner of waste, and unwilling to write laws containing prohibitions.

That has to end. The line must be drawn here. If the Canadians are smart enough to adopt laws that don't allow them to landfill sanitary sewer sludge, we should too. If their land is good enough to save, so is ours.

If that government will require its communities to build plants to process sludge into something inoffensive to the environment and to people's noses, then we should do the same. Surely if building and operating such plants is a profitable enterprise, BFI might want to have one.

Only after we've mustered the will to write such laws, preserve our environment and encourage innovative ventures will we be able to look around and think that maybe our stuff doesn't stink either.

A prognosticator I'll never be Maybe it was the euphoria of the playscape. Or the Red Wings Stanley Cup win.

Lee Snider

Or maybe a majority of the voters just began to believe, as we did, that Northville's position as one of the best school districts in the state faced a serious threat.

Whatever the reason, supporters of the school district's $61.5 million bond proposal pulled off what I think can only be described as an upset win at the polls on Monday.

Why an upset?

No one I talked to - not even backers of the plan - gave the proposal much of a chance. I myself thought it would lose, and by a wider margin than the 54-46 percent defeat last September.

Oh, ye of little faith.

I remember talking to Continuing Excellence for Northville Children (CENC) representative Jerry Rupley about the bond proposal's prospects earlier this year. Why did he think it might pass this time when it didn't pass before? I wondered. What's changed from only last September?

Rupley told me that he and the other bond proponents intended to do better. They didn't do enough to get the word out the first time, he said. If they worked harder during this campaign, more supporters might get out and vote.

I thought Rupley was deluding himself but I didn't have the heart to tell him so. Now I'm glad I kept my trap shut.

We'll probably never know if it was the organization's stepped up efforts that turned the tide. But try harder they certainly did, with more coffee get-togethers, school tours, lawn signs, letters and newspaper ads - a lot of newspaper ads.

We might not have heard the last of it, though, as Bob Bernard's challenge of the district's use of public resources to disseminate information about the proposal still awaits a ruling from the state.

In spite of the more aggressive campaign style, I was convinced of the proposal's impending defeat. So convinced, in fact, that I had an editorial subject ready at hand for when it flopped. I was going to suggest that school officials separate the major components of the plan before going back to the voters a third time.

And there would have been a third time. And a fourth and a fifth, if necessary, because the growth the community is experiencing has to be accommodated.

Anyway, that isn't needed now, and I can begin to busy myself with some other opinion topic. But, if it's all the same to you, I think I'll stay away from predictions.

Gimme a high-eight

Northville youngster and Red Wings fan Scott McNish constructed this octopus mascot and put it on the second floor roof of his home. Scott later altered the sign to acknowledge the Wings' big win.

Pride was everywhere in playscape project

What a great accomplishment. What a terrific community effort. What a fantastic new play area.

By our count, approximately 900 people pounded, hauled, cut, lifted and sanded their way through a five-day buildout period in constructing Fort Griswold, Northville's magnificent new playscape. Because many people played more than one shift, there were about 1,245 spaces filled on the volunteer sign-up sheets.

But that number barely even scratches the surface of the colossal communitywide project. Countless other individuals, companies, restaurants and clubs contributed cash, materials and moral support, in addition to an impressive quantity of blood, sweat and tears.

A hardy congratulations and a heaping barrowful of gratitude go to Tanya Bartello and Kevin Hartshorne, two of the key players in the huge endeavor. But everyone who gave money, labor, in-kind contributions and time is owed the community's appreciation on a great job, very well done.

What community living is all about

I suppose every one of us at one time or another gets to thinking that doing things for somebody else just ain't worth doing.

Randy Coble

"I'm the only cause I'm interested in," was how Humphrey Bogart put it in Casablanca.

That's why it's great we live in a town like Northville, where causes worth our time, money and sweat are all around. Take the playscape this week and the Fourth of July next month:

FORT GRISWOLD

It was truly a pleasure and a privilege to be part of the construction of Northville's newest showpiece. The playscape is wonderful in and of itself but the best part is that everyone who helped out got to be part of a memory in the making that's going to last for a generation.

I watched strangers begin the work, I saw neighbors finish it. The smiles and talk traded over hammers and saws will soon be repeated at Shopping Center Market or the Clark gas station or when two families bring their kids to play at Fort Griswold.

That's what the word "community" is all about. It's not about my house being next to yours, it's about our homes being connected with one another as neighbors and (if we're lucky) as good friends.

Way to go, Northville: you batted a home run right out of the park this week.

SUPPORT THE FOURTH

... and you can do it again in just three weeks. Believe it or not, the Fourth of July is just 22 days away, friends and neighbors. As usual there's a whole slew of great events planned for our town to celebrate Independence Day right.

However, they will not happen without the support of the community. Celebrate Northville, the organization putting the Fourth event together, needs you to offer your time and money to this worthy project.

Volunteers are needed for the Fourth, especially to help work on the parade that morning. In addition, the help of financial sponsors is also critical. Whether you can give a little or a lot, Celebrate Northville wants to hear from you.

Call co-chairs Ken Woodside at 347-1919 or Rob David at 305-5995 to help or to get more information.

On tap are Fourth favorites like the fun at Mill Race, a concert, the morning parade, a classic auto show and, of course, the nighttime fireworks display.

You or your group can join the parade procession, which begins at 10 a.m. Call Woodside for an application or pick one up at the Chamber of Commerce office on S. Main by the water well.

One of the absolute greatest moments of the morning is the pet parade. If you want your pet in on the action call Russ Fogg at 349-6656.

Heads up, you car lovers: the classic auto show will return to the front yard of R&D Enterprises on July Fourth. If you want to enter your show-grade car, 25 years old or older, call Mark Roman at Woolly Bully's at 286-6501 or pick up an application there.

The theme of this year's Fourth is "Saluting America's Best."

Let's all do our part to make this Independence Day Northville's best ever.

Construction was a proud moment

I am very proud to have been involved in the "playscape build" adventure this past week. As one of the job captains, I want to thank volunteers at both ends of the spectrum and let your readers know about some very special people.

The volunteer work force was wonderful. Everyone arrived with a great "let's do it" attitude. Many of the women in particular, had never used a power tool before in their life. They left with enough confidence and experience using electric drills, screw guns, belt sanders, and routers that many will now go home and attempt some home repair or renovation.

Thanks to the Detroit Edison crews who set the poles for the entire structure. Thanks to the bobcat operators who made material movement - particularly, gravel, sand and mulch - more manageable. Thank you to the high school kids who came out and moved lumber - they were invaluable.

The younger kids who set nails and screws and picked up scraps and generally made themselves useful also get a huge thank you from me. I hope the structure has a special meaning to them as they're still young enough to play on something they helped to build. Even the kids being watched in day care participated by assembling water bottles and creating the most beautiful and longest paper chain decorations I have ever seen.

Some of the committee chairpersons and job captains run together in my mind, and unfortunately, I did not get a lot of last names or get to meet them all.

Some very special people deserve a special thank you from me. To Deb Reisman and Maril who coordinated material movement to keep workers supplied and led the least desirable tasks of sanding and sealing every inch of rail and pilasters. The incredible efforts to splinter proof the entire structure will save countless future users much pain.

A special thank you to Steve and Don in the tool trailer who continually supplied me with drills, screw guns, and more power cords for another "drill team." Thank you to the "other" Steve who kept us supplied with materials. Thanks to Steve D'Anna who helped with tool set up, offered advice when needed, and general moral support.

Thanks to Liz Burns and her food committee members who kept us well fed and supplied the water wagons just as we needed them daily.

Thanks to Cathy Shapero and her day care volunteers who watched our kids while we worked. Without them, many of us never would have been able to help out.

Thanks to Sue Egan who supplied me with all the volunteers and didn't laugh too much at my requests for volunteers who had specific qualifications such as muscles for moving materials, intelligence for accurate measuring, or "willing to learn" to use some power tools.

Thanks to the two Marks and Rick and their teams for framing the entire structure and loaning my "semi-skilled" drill teams a more skilled "saw person" whenever we needed them.

A special thank you to Katherine Mach who ran the saw tent and helped me with prefab. With her wit, wisdom and patience, I feel I have made a friend for life.

Thanks to Doug and Dave from Leathers. They had some of the best people managing skills I have ever run across. Dave and Doug seemed to instinctively size up an individual's capabilities and assigned them a task to complement their skills. They also broke down each task into separate, manageable components so that nothing seemed formidable. Just look at the final results.

Thank you to Mike Haggerty for managing finances and helping out so much on site. Thank you to the fund-raising committees who were able to coordinate such an extensive effort.

A special thank you to Tanya Bartello and Kevin Hartshorne for coordinating the entire event and bringing a dream to life. I spent six days on the project; they spent the better part of a year. It was well run, well supplied and will be a treasure for area residents for years to come.

Thank you to the many other volunteers with whom I had no direct contact and/or those whose names I have forgotten but not their faces or contributions. I was very proud to be a part of this project.

And lastly, a special thank you to my family. My husband Walt, who ran the house and my business while I was otherwise occupied. My sons, Michael and Joey, who were active on site.

Thanks to Julie and Mathew for keeping the house in one piece. And thanks to my friends, Diane, Patti, Christine and Bill, who made sure my kids got to school, soccer, baseball and birthday parties while I "had fun" at the new playground.

Civilized societies don't execute

To the editor:

On June 2, Tim McVeigh was found guilty on all 11 counts for having bombed a federal building in Oklahoma. Should he face execution for causing the death of the 168 human beings who died in the explosion?

It would seem to me that our society can expect a person to do evil deeds, such as occurred in Oklahoma City, but is it proper for a civilized and so-called Christian society to vengefully imitate the evil deed?

Is an eye for an eye still our sense of justice?

I was touched by a man interviewed by a reporter after the verdict was read who, having lost a daughter in the explosion, said he was against the death penalty since it would only try to deal with an evil deed by performing a similarly evil deed.

Why is it that the U.S. is one of the very few industrialized nations of the world that executes its citizens?

Test is good, but adjustment is needed

Results from the second Michigan High School Proficiency Test (HSPT) were released last week. Overall, this year's juniors scored slightly higher than last year's in reading, science and mathematics, but with a slight decline in writing performance.

In math, 52.9 percent of students taking the test achieved proficient scores, a 10.9 percent gain over last year.

In science, 38.5 percent of students were ranked proficient, a whopping 20.3 percent gain over last year.

In reading, 41.1 percent of students earned proficient scores, a slight increase of 2.2 percent compared to last year.

Writing scores declined, with 30.4 percent of students obtaining proficient ratings, compared with 34.4 percent of students last year, a drop of 4.1 percentage points.

Most educators were pleased with the HSPT results. "We're delighted to see improvements in math, reading and science scores," said Kathleen Straus, president of the State Board of Education, "but we're very concerned with the decline in writing."

Originally proposed as a better instrument for assessing what students actually learn than the old Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP), the test's grading nomenclature - "proficient," "novice" and "not yet novice" - drew a lot of flak. How, parents wondered, can a child who is getting good grades and high marks on college entry examinations be stigmatized with a "novice" rating on a new test?

Such concerns led some parents in Birmingham, Troy and other upper income school districts to hold their children out of taking the test earlier this year. State lawmakers jumped into the dispute, introducing bills to delete the offending words from test results and holding hearings around the state.

Politics aside, there are some intrinsic difficulties in developing an entirely new test for all of Michigan's junior high school students, especially in something like writing, which is notoriously subjective to evaluate. The essay in this year's HSPT was graded by graduate students in North Carolina. Moreover, it appears there were at least two versions of the writing test, which may account for variations in results between them.

"It doesn't make sense to me that you can have a student who excels in the classroom, posts great ACT and SAT scores, has a high GPA, and is already accepted to a major university, and at the same time scores extremely low on the reading and writing portions of the (HSPT) test," Northville School Superintendent Leonard Reznierski said.

To make matters worse, school officials this year do not have access to the actual work sheets students turned in, so they cannot show where things went wrong. The state is contracting for an interactive computer program to help show teachers what is expected in the test by including corrected essays used to train test graders.

My reaction to all this: Things are going exactly as they should. Of course there will be complaints and criticisms. That's how things improve, little by little and year by year (assuming, of course, that the Legislature restrains its often overpowering impulse to interfere).

The whole point here is to provide an objective device to measure what kids in school actually learn, year by year. An independent benchmark allows teachers to improve their teaching methods, school officials to get better textbooks and parents to evaluate how the schools do their job.

Possibly the best perspective was offered by Kay Cornell, assistant superintendent for instruction in Royal Oak: "It's a very good test. It's a test we want all of our kids to be able to pass. But it's such a shift in the way we've been doing things for 100 years. Unlike the auto companies, we don't have time to stop and retool. We're being compared, assessed and beat up politically while we're trying to retool."

'Durant' decision goes to local districts

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

At least 84 mostly suburban school districts are entitled to recover money in the so-called "Durant" case. Many others weren't part of the suit but have filed claims. Total estimates range from $500 million to $3.5 billion.

The Supreme Court issued a two-page order late Tuesday, saying the state owes money to the school districts for failure to pay the state's share of special education and special ed transportation, as required by the 1978 Headlee amendment to the Michigan Constitution. The state also must pay the districts' attorneys' costs.

Related costs to the Northville Public School District are about $5 million. School officials, however, aren't sure how much of that money they'll ever see.

Northville was one of the school districts joining the lawsuit against the state.

In 1980 Donald Durant of the Warren Fitzgerald School District filed the suit, argued by Birmingham attorney Dennis Pollard, saying the state shorted them, particularly on special education. The suit became known as "the Durant case."

The Supreme Court gave the parties 21 days to file briefs on these questions:

• "If a remedy should include monetary relief."

• "What would be a reasonable schedule of payments?" - implying it could be scheduled over several years.

• "Should any monetary remedy include interest?"

• "Should the state be given credit for federal funding received by the local units?"

• How far back in time should the payments go?

The high court said it would issue its opinion after the supplemental briefs have been filed.

Richard Headlee, after whom the operative state amendment is named, was pleased at the news of the decision.

"I encouraged Engler to settle this one," said Headlee, the 1982 Republican gubernatorial nominee against Democrat Blanchard. Headlee, now living in retirement in Utah, said he believed the money should be refunded to taxpayers, not the school districts.

Whether the state can come to terms with Pollard and the school districts remains to be seen.

The effect of the high court order was to uphold the Court of Appeals, which in turn upheld the findings of a "special master," Wayne Circuit Judge James Mies, now of Plymouth Township. Mies was handed the case after the first special master, Macomb Circuit Judge George Deneweth, died several years ago.

The school districts' big win is certain to result in a legislative debate over how to pay off the claims.

The lowest estimate, $500 million, is about 6 percent of one year's general fund budget. The highest, $3.5 billion, is about 40 percent of a year's GF budget.

Summer already under way at Northville Library

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Ah, summer, it's almost here, friends and neighbors.

Sun's out, thermometer's on the rise, shorts showing up everywhere and it's time for the library's summer reading program.

Believe it or not it's time again for one of the Northville District Library's favorite programs to take center stage. If you're looking for a way to keep your child reading during the long break from school or want to get the habit planted early in the little ones, consider signing them all up.

Registration for the summer reading program begins tomorrow, June 13. You can pick up a registration form at the library.

Besides the weekly reading goals that form the core of the program, there's a full slate of fun and exciting extra activities on tap through Aug. 1. Some of the events have attendee limits, so library representatives suggest that if something strikes your fancy be sure to sign up now so you're not left out in the cold.

Call the library at 349-3020 if you have any questions or want more information.

Older kids can join the readers' program, while younger children get to become part of the "read-to-me" group. Here's how it all works:

• Using a special calendar, your young reader tracks the time he or she spends each day reading, including books, magazines and newspapers. You'll check in your totals at the library each week and if your boy or girl has reached the one hour minimum a special prize awaits.

• It's the same principle for the read-to-me kids. Parents will keep track of the books they read to their children or the audio books the kids listen to. Get through five a week and you'll get a prize.

But that's not all. There's a ton of special events planned for the summer reading program. Full details are available on registration forms. Here's a rundown:

• Weekly prize drawings: Any kid can enter to win fun small prizes each Monday. Each week you can pick up an puzzle or words search entry form for that week's drawing at the library's information desk.

• Science Alive!: This is always a favorite with the kids. They get to meet and learn more about live woodland animals.

• Kids, Take Note!: It's fun, light-hearted sing-along musical entertainment.

• Preschool Story Time: A favorite of the read-to-me crowd.

• Beary Fun Crafts I and II: Two different craft classes for two different age levels.

• Dazzling Magic: Brought to us by Chris Linn, it's an afternoon of magic and illusions.

• Discover Honeybees!: Bees and beekeeping, courtesy of Maybury State Park interpreter Karen Gourlay.

• Critter Capers: A puppet show that's chock full of furry forest friends.

• Teddy Bear Picnic: The kids bring their favorite teddy bears for an afternoon of stories, games and treats in the park.

• Wrap-up: A pair of parties will wrap up the program. The read-to-me kids will have fun with Wanda the fairy god mother and readers attend a very special Chautauqua Express.

Train tracks pose risks to youngsters

The end of the school year has most children are thinking of summer fun and family vacations. For some children, summer fun includes playing on railroad tracks, or swimming or fishing from railroad bridge trestles. This activity can quickly turn summer fun into summer tragedy. Sadly, deaths and injuries due to this type of activity are on the rise.

In 1995, six people were killed and six were injured while trespassing on railroad property. Preliminary 1996 statistics for Michigan show 10 deaths and seven injuries. In the past four years, 32 people have died and 33 have been injured trespassing on railroad property.

These injuries and deaths are not the result of rail-grade crossing accidents. They are the result of people walking down railroad tracks, fishing or swimming from railroad bridges and playing on railroad property.

During the month of May, the Michigan Railroads Association is undertaking a public education campaign to inform the public of the dangers and our message: "Know the Facts, Avoid the Tracks."

Walking along railroad tracks is dangerous and illegal. Many individuals, particularly children, do not understand the danger associated with activity on the tracks. Trains cannot stop quickly. Sometimes individuals do not hear the train or cannot get off the tracks. In addition, railroad tracks and trestles are private property. Trespassers can face jail for up to 30 days and/or fines up to $100.

As the school year draws to a close, the Michigan Railroads Association, in cooperation with the Michigan Department of Transportation and Michigan Operation Lifesaver, encourage parents and educators to remind children to avoid the tracks and rail yards. For more information or would like to arrange for a presenter from Michigan Operation Lifesaver to speak for your group or association, contact Michigan Operation Lifesaver at (517) 373-3980 or the Michigan Railroads Association at (517) 482-9413.

Children most at risk in home fires

house fire. Ninety percent of fire deaths involving children occur in homes without working smoke detectors.

• Seniors - Adults over age 75 are three times more likely to die in home fires than the rest of the population. Many seniors are unable to escape quickly.

• Each year more than 2.5 million people experience burn injuries. About 100,000 of these injuries require hospitalization, almost half of them in specialized burn centers.

• More than 35 percent of all fire and burn injuries and deaths occur among children. Fires and burns are the second leading cause of accidental death for children ages 1 to 4 and the third leading cause of death for all those under age 19.

• Seventy-five percent to 80 percent of burn injuries occur in and around the home.

How to prevent burns in the home:

• Buy and install smoke detectors outside of all sleeping areas and on every level of your home. Test them monthly.

• Store all flammable liquids such as gasoline outside of the home.

• Plan and practice two escape routes out of every room in the house. Designate an outside meeting place.

• For your kids' sake, if not your own, never smoke in bed or when drowsy.

• In the kitchen, keep appliance cords away from the edge of counters. Dangling cords are dangerous because a child can pull them, spilling the appliance's contents or the appliance itself.

• Keep pot handles turned in so children cannot reach them.

• Make the area directly in front of the stove a "No Zone."

• In the bathroom, always test the water temperature before putting a child in the tub.

• Never leave a child alone in the bathroom.

• Turn your hot water heater down to 120 degrees Fahrenheit.

Arsons on the decline, but effort remains to further reduce incidents

Efforts to combat arson in Michigan were successful last year. Arson and suspicious blazes decreased 4.8 percent in 1996, compared to the previous year's figures, according to officials from a statewide anti-arson group.

In 1996, there were 4,121 incendiary and another 8,545 suspicious fires reported in this state. That compares to 4,273 arson fires and 9,037 suspicious reported in 1995.

Arson and suspicious fires are still very costly, however. Intentionally-set and suspicious blazes resulted in the loss of property and contents of over $122.6 million in 1996. Direct arson losses last year totaled $21.3 million. Suspicious blazes cost another $101.3 million. These loss figures do not include indirect costs such as medical care, funeral expenses, temporary shelter, business interruption, demolition, fire investigation, prosecution, court proceedings, incarceration and increased insurance premiums.

Representatives from the Michigan Arson Prevention Committee (MAPC), the state's task force against arson, indicate that efforts to increase awareness about the devastation and destruction caused by arson, as well as offering a tip-reward program that puts arsonists behind bars, does have a positive impact on the arson problem here.

"There is still work to be done," state Fire Marshal and mapc President Wade Schaefer said. "We need to continue those successful programs which educate fire investigators, reward persons who report arson and inform the public about the high price we all pay for arson."

Although not all arson fires can be prevented, there are some precautions property owners can take to deter fire setters, mapc officials suggest:

- Always keep entry doors and garages locked.
- Keep yards well-lighted.
- Make sure property is free of trash and debris.

• Report all suspicious activity to local law enforcement officials.

In Oakland County during 1995, there were 1,037 arson and suspicious fires reported to the state Fire Marshal Division. In 1996, there were 737 reported.

Also, anyone who has information about an arson or suspicious fire can call Arson Control at 1-800-44-arson. The program rewards up to $5,000 for information which leads to the arrest and conviction of arsonists.

State offers fax-on-demand form service

Michigan residents get forms and information from the Secretary of State's office through the department's Fax-on-Demand service.

Fax-on-Demand, allows customers to obtain forms and information from the department by fax, 24 hours-a-day, seven days a week. All the customer needs is a Touch-Tone telephone and access to a fax machine.

"We are offering our customers convenient access to information without having to visit a branch office," Secretary of State Candice S. Miller said. "We also want to make information available when people need it and, often times, that is when the branch offices are closed."

"We have received a positive response from the users of Fax-on-Demand and are hoping more customers will choose to obtain forms and information through this convenient service," Secretary Miller added.

Each form provided by Fax-on-Demand has its own document number to make ordering easy. A listing of available forms can be obtained by telephoning Fax-on-Demand at (517) 335-4FAX. The list will be faxed immediately to the fax machine designated.

By following these basic instructions a customer can request information or an inventory list from Fax-on-Demand:

- From a Touch-Tone telephone, call (517) 335-4FAX.
- Listen to the recorded message.
- Enter the appropriate document number(s), or request an inventory list of documents available by Fax-on-Demand.

• Enter the receiving fax machine's telephone number, with area code if needed.

The forms and information will be faxed immediately anywhere in the U.S.

All Fax-on-Demand information, along with other Department of State services and publications, can be found on the department's web site at: www.sos.state.mi.us.

Shaking baby, even once, can cause brain damage

Shaking a baby, even one time, can delay normal development, result in brain damage, spinal injury, retardation, or even death. Shaken Baby Syndrome is a medical term used to describe the shaking and resultant injuries sustained when infants are violently shaken.

Every year thousand of babies are injured and some die from being shaken as part of a pattern of abuse or simply because an adult has momentarily succumbed to the frustration of responding to a crying baby.

The IOF Foresters, a fraternal benefit society that offers family benefits and supports child abuse prevention and better parenting causes, suggest the following tips if your baby cries a lot:

- Feed the baby slowly; burp the baby often.
- Offer the baby a pacifier.
- Hold the baby against your chest and walk or rock him or her.
- Take the baby for a ride in a stroller or car or put him or her in a baby swing.

• Take a break. Have someone else take care of the baby for a while if possible.

For more information, call (801) 399-8430.

Child abuse is the number one killer of children under the age of 4, with estimates of 2,000 to 5,000 deaths per year and more than 140,000 serious injuries.

Look-alikes reveal more similarities than just physical appearance

By CAROL WORKENS
Staff Writer

Two out of three of the finalists for the Father/Son Look Alike story were not aware that their pictures had been sent in to The Northville Record and the Novi News for consideration. All were equally surprised, though, when they received the call that they had been selected as the winners and would receive as their gift an 8-by-10 black and white keepsake photograph.

Dave and Jacob Ray, Hunt and Thomas Riegel, and John J. and John P. O'Brien all see their similarities more as mannerisms and interests than physical resemblance.

Dave and Jacob Ray
It wasn't their idea.

"I was surprised," Dave Ray said when his wife Barbara told him he and his son had been named the winners of the Father/Son Look Alike story. "I had no clue she did that."

"I think when we look back, this will be something we'll remember for posterity," Dave said of the story.

Although not as tall as his dad yet, 13-year-old Jacob shares his father's interest in baseball, basketball and football.

Jacob is on the 13-and-under travel baseball team the Novi Heat. He's also on his school's seventh grade basketball team and played football for the Colts. His dad, meanwhile, enjoys coaching the Novi Heat and has been the head coach of the Northville Novi Colts JV squad for four years.

"A lot of people have commented that we look the spitting image of each other," Dave said. "Of course, I don't see it."

"A lot of the mannerisms are the same," added Dave, an FBI agent who works out of the Detroit office. "I hope he's proud of it. I hope he just picks up the good traits. A common trait is our intensity. I know he is a perfectionist. I'm the same way."

For instance, if Dave is dissatisfied with a wallpapering job he completed, he'll take it down and do it all over again.

"The down side is learning when to say when," David said of striving for perfection. "(Jacob) also works very hard. He'll stay up until 11:30 to get (homework) done. He pushes himself to be the best he can be."

Jacob is faithful about doing his homework every night. Since he advanced to middle school, he's received all A's.

A seventh grader, Jacob is currently on the honor roll at Novi Middle School.

"He's been blessed by the Lord," Dave said. "He does very well academically and athletically."

Like his father, Jacob doesn't really see much similarity between his looks and his dad's.

"I don't think about it much," Jacob said. "People say we look alike. I don't see it too much."

Dave and his wife Barbara also have an 11-year-old son, Douglas.

Father and son look-alikes John J. O'Brien right, and John P. O'Brien also have similar interests in golf and bicycling.

Hunt and Thomas Riegel

Shortly after Novi residents Hunt Riegel's and Barbara Thomas's son Thomas was born, the comments started.

Guidobono reaches out to businesses

By CAROL WORKENS
Staff Writer

Elizabeth Guidobono of Northville became involved with the silent auction and raffle when it was added to the Jazz Under the Stars benefit for the St. Vincent and Sarah Fisher Center six years ago.

Last year's auction brought in $3,500. This year Guidobono and two committee members have set a goal of a 33 percent net increase over last year. So far, donations are fabulous, according to Guidobono.

"It amazes me just how generous and compassionate companies are," Guidobono said. "Over 90 percent are very willing to give."

Guidobono's sister-in-law, Renee Guidobono of Bloomfield Hills, first decided to help the children of the St. Vincent and Sarah Fisher Center in 1990. When her family and friends got together to share ideas they came up with the summer outdoor adult celebration, which they named Jazz Under the Stars.

The Seventh Annual Jazz Under the Stars event to benefit the St. Vincent and Sarah Fisher Center for children will take place Saturday, June 21, at 6:30 p.m. at the Piemontese Social Club in Farmington Hills.

Featuring the music of jazz musicians David Myles and the Mylestones Band, the evening includes an elaborate picnic dinner with a silent auction.

Local contributions to Jazz Under the Stars include monetary donations by Cambridge Homes and Advanced Technology Consultants, a dinner/theater package from Genitti's Hole-In-The-Wall, a figurine from gardenviews, gold jewelry from Goldsmith Galleries, a rare bottle of wine from Good Time Party Store, a gift certificate from Edward Caterers, two cameras from Northville Camera Shop, lunch for two from MacKinnon's Restaurant and an art glass piece from Tiffany Art Glass.

"I am very fortunate to work on such an important event," said Guidobono, who has lived in Northville for seven years with her

M.O.M.S. plan summer events

The M.O.M.S. Summer Play Group at First United Methodist Church of Northville will meet on Monday from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m. at various locations throughout the summer.

Carol Workens

Children of all ages are welcome. A member of M.O.M.S. (Mothers Offering Mothers Support) will be responsible for the Summer Play Group, based on the month. They are: in June, Julie Clary (248) 349-7656, July, Christine Swartz (248) 347-9613; and August, Liz Burns (248) 349-3354.

Reservations are required and should be made to the member responsible for the month on the Saturday before the Monday you plan on attending. Bring a picnic lunch for you and your children.

The summer schedule is:
• June 16 - The new playscape Fort Griswold, located on the west side of Griswold Road between Eight Mile and Main Street in Northville.

• June 23 - The playground in the woods at Maybury State Park located south of Eight Mile and west of Beck in Northville Township.

• June 30 - Swimming at the Spring Fed Pond at Island Lake State Park in Brighton, which can be reached by going west on I-96, exiting at Kensington Road, and following the signs to the Island Lake Recreation area. The park has concessions and rest rooms. Bring a blanket, sand and water toys. Floats are allowed.

• July 7 - Plymouth Township Community Park, located on the north side of Ann Arbor Trail east of Beck Road in Plymouth. Playscape, shelters and restrooms are available.

• July 14 - Spirit '76 Park located at Taft and Eleven Mile roads in Novi. Swings, slides, picnic tables, shade and grassy area are featured.

• July 21 - Rolling Hills Water Park located in the Ann Arbor area and can be reached by taking M-14 west to U.S. 23 south and exiting on Willis Avenue. After exiting, turn left and at the second four-way stop turn left again. The park will be on the left. Requires day or annual park pass and small fee per person for admittance. There is a concession stand and rest rooms. The group will meet inside the water park on the grass.

• July 28 - Kensington Metro Park in Milford. The group will meet at the animal farm before driving to a picnic area with playground equipment.

• Aug. 11 - Fort Griswold in Northville. See directions above.

• Aug. 18 - The new Novi playscape located on the north side of Eight Mile Road east of Napier.

A yearly Michigan State Park pass or a day pass is required for entrance into Maybury State Park and Island State Park. Kensington Metro Park requires a yearly Metro Park pass or a day pass.

Founder's Day dance

There are many changes to the 45th annual Founder's Day benefit for the Orchard Lake Schools. Among them is "A Salute to Sunset," a preview party which will be held on June 17. Tony and Cathy Koterba of Northville are among the members of the committee headed up by Gerald Gorcyca of Bingham Farms.

Another first is that this year's benefit is open to women. For 44 years, the benefit's slogan was "the greatest men's party on earth." On June 18, women will be attending the day-long festivities right alongside their male counterparts.

Although golf outing benefits are commonplace today, when Founder's Day began in 1953 it was a risky fund-raising idea. Ticket sales were limited to 250 men for the first two years. This year's ticket goal is 2,250 men and women.

Priest-alumni of SS. Cyril and Methodius Seminary, one of the beneficiaries of the benefit along with St. Mary's College and St. Mary's Preparatory comprising the Orchard Lake Schools campus, dominated the ticket sales force for many years.

The days activities include plentiful food, refreshments, golf at a dozen area courses, campus tours, boat rides on Orchard Lake, Vegas Room, raffles and entertainment with polka bands and concerts by classical pianist Leszek Bartkiewicz and tenor David Troiano.

bingo, tennis and nature trail walks have been added to the list of activities.

Huge tents will be set up on the 120-acre campus located at 3535 Indian Trail Road in Orchard Lake for the Founder's Day activities.

Tickets for the Founder's Day benefit are $200 for non-golfers, $225 for golfers. Tickets entitle purchasers to buy up to two tickets at $100 each for the preview party, "A Salute to Sunset," which will feature dining and dancing to the Johnny Trudell Orchestra.

Dads find that similarities go beyond looks

Of course, Hunt said the first remarks he heard were, "gee he doesn't have any hair either."

Their family dentist calls the 10-year-old "Hunt 2" because Thomas and his dad have the same gap between their front teeth.

"As a younger child he looks a lot like pictures of me at the same age," Hunt said.

Introductions are seldom necessary when Thomas is with his family meeting people for the first time.

"You must be Hunt's son," most say when they see them together, according to Barbara. Or, "you must be Thomas's father," Hunt added.

The Village Oaks Elementary School fourth grade student and his dad enjoy golf, stamp collecting and woodworking.

They recently built a Pinewood Derby car for a Cub Scout event and an Iroquois long house for a school project. It's made of wood, dowels and paper that looks like bark. They tied it all together with artificial cat gut.

"They worked well on that together," Barbara said.

Thomas began taking violin lessons at the Northville Academy of Art and Music about a year ago. Hunt had taken lessons when he was a child but picked up the instrument again when Thomas decided to give it a try. Now they practice together.

"We have similar senses of humor," Hunt said, "and we both tend to be a bit modest."

They also enjoy camping and have been to Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, and to campgrounds in Michigan.

"They both catch onto information quickly and have good minds for details," Barbara said.

Hunt, a private education consultant who oversees the program that monitors special education students in the state and trains teachers on how to mainstream special needs students, has written several books on cooperative consultation. He also directs the Michigan Assisted Technology Clearing House, an information clearing house and electronic communication system for getting information about technology that can help people with disabilities.

Residents of Novi for 13 years, the Riegels also have a first grade son, J.R., who attends Village Oaks Elementary.

JOHN J. AND JOHN P. O'BRIEN

He's looking more like his father everyday, at least that's what family and co-workers think.

Nancy Somervell was snapping pictures around the O'Brien Sullivan Funeral Home in Novi to submit to the newspaper for the Father/Son Look Alike story, unbeknownst to John P. and his father, John J. O'Brien, also known as senior and junior.

When John Jr. returned to work after a few days off, Somervell told him she had sent the pictures in.

"People on the phone usually can't tell who's who," John Jr. said.

"I personally don't see any of (the similarities)," John Jr. said. "I don't think I sound like him."

When John Jr. became employed full-time as a funeral director about 10 years ago the similarities began cropping up.

"When John grew up, the long hair was in and I didn't have that," John Sr. said.

According to John's sister Bridget, father and son have some of the same facial expressions and similarities in speech patterns, as well as the same sense of humor.

"My sister just shakes her head and says, 'like father like son,'" John Jr. said.

When each of the five children was old enough to work at the family business they had jobs as "Ladies of the Lawnmower" or in "Visual Arts," euphemisms for cutting the grass and washing the windows.

"We gave them all titles. No money though," John Sr. said.

John and his son golf together as often as they can and are on the same league. They also like to go on day bike trips of about 30 miles, the most recent being the Blue Water Ramble in St. Clair, which included two of John Sr.'s 12 grandchildren.

John and his wife Joanne have three other children, Mark, Colleen, and Maryanne.

"At one time, one was in pre-med and one was in pre-dead," John Sr. said when Mark was in medical school.

"We are a strong family, which is neat," John Sr. added.

John Jr. is very active in Novi Youth Assistance. Among the many community organizations John Sr. is involved in are the Grand River Corridor, Lions, and Holy Family Church.

Actor started at Marquis

By CAROL WORKENS
Staff Writer

It was a sad night when the curtain came down for the last time. But Sarah Wiercioch has memories to last a lifetime.

The eight-year-old recently concluded a nine-week engagement as young Kim in a Broadway touring production of Show Boat at the Masonic Temple in Detroit.

Mementos included a vintage coin necklace her stage father Gaylord Ravenal, played by John Ruess, gave her; and the Show Boat varsity jacket which was only available for actors to purchase.

Sarah's character was the daughter of Ravenal and the granddaughter of Capt. Andy, played by Tom Bosley. She had the only speaking role among the children and was the only child to take a separate bow.

Sarah has some Northville connections. Her great-grandmother, Lucille Fairfield, still lives here. Her grandfather, Peter Fairfield, who attended Northville High School and her grandmother, Joan Selman Fairfield, also a former Northville resident, flew in from Santa Barbara, Calif., opening night.

Fifteen out of 18 teachers at Our Lady of Good Counsel, where Sarah is finishing up her third grade year, met at the Masonic one evening for a performance of Show Boat. Sarah's mother, Susan, was able to attend seven out of 88 shows.

Sarah has now signed with two talent agencies and will continue voice and dance lessons. She will also resume her studies in tap, jazz and ballet.

"She was so very sad when it ended," Wiercioch said. "Everybody down there, from the directors to the stage managers, continually complimented us on her stage presence and the way she behaved on stage."

The actors exchanged phone numbers and addresses with each other before the touring company moved on to Boston for the next engagement.

Sarah spent 10 hours a day, six days a week for nine weeks rehearsing and performing for Show Boat.

"We learned a lot about the theater," Wiercioch said. "Her studies at the Marquis really paid off."

After performances, children waited outside the stage door for autographs. Even while eating at area restaurants Sarah has been asked to sign autographs on nap-

The talented young thespian Sarah Wiercioch, who just finished a nine-week engagement of Showboat where she appeared in 88 shows performing six days a week for "college money," plans to return to Northville's Marquis Theatre.

kins

Sarah had an understudy who only had to perform once, because Sarah was home sick.

Sarah, a resident of Plymouth, got her break acting at the Marquis Theatre.

She plans on returning to the Marquis, where she attended their day camps in both acting and voice, and has performed in seven or eight plays.

Among the roles Sarah played while at the Marquis were Winnie-the-Pooh as an elf and a clown, and as a mouse in Red Riding Hood.

The Show Boat production, which ended its run May 24, called for a company of 90 actors and musicians and 60 people backstage, which made it the largest musical theater production to tour in recent history.

The production included 500 costumes; the 48-foot-long, 25-foot-tall "Cotton Blossom" Floating Theatre; 500 props; four turn-of-the-century wagons and carriages, including a 1902 DeWit Motor Car and a 1927 custom roadster which began traveling from city to city in 22, 52 foot semi-tractor trailers after its premier in New York in 1994.

Sarah also has an 11-year-old brother, Troy, and lives with her mom and dad, Brian, in Plymouth.

When not performing, Sarah enjoys Girl Scouts and plans to be a cheerleader for Plymouth's youth football team the Plymouth-Canton Steelers in the fall.

School News

Amerman Elementary

The June meeting of the Amerman PTA was called to order at 9:35 a.m. by President Nancy Riegner.

Treasurer Lisa Engles submitted a report showing a beginning balance of $20,969. Income was reported at $10,866, expenses at $10,232, and an ending balance of $21,603.

Secretary Patsy Johnson reported various correspondence that had been received.

Vice President Vicki Searly reported that anyone not continuing as a chair of any committee was to turn in his or her folder by the end of the year. The picnic tables have been delivered to the playground and are in use.

• Disbursements: Bar Slubowski reported that the fifth grade had requested $255 for the purchase of trees and mulch to be planted by the fifth grade. The trees were part of the Russell landscaping plan. A motion was made, seconded and passed that $255 be disbursed to the fifth grade.

• Committee Reports, Teach Appreciation: Lynn Bial had a cookbook of recipes from the Teacher Appreciation Luncheon available. Teachers can sign up for copies.

• Roller Skating: Nancy Manley submitted a written report that the parties had been well attended, with the exception of election night. Next year, the parties will alternate Monday and Tuesday nights. The cost of both skating and rental will increase 25 cents.

• Market Day: The June sales are the biggest this year. The next sale will be in September.

• Ice Cream Social: The ice cream social was a big success. The cotton candy, a new item, was a big hit.

• Art Appreciation: Gail Andersen and Cindy Anthony have agreed to chair this committee.

• Grounds: The beds have been weeded. If anyone can spare the time to continue the weeding over the summer, this would be much appreciated. There will be hoses left on the side of the school for the kindergarten and fifth grade gardens. The new trees are going in soon. They are looking for ways to water the new trees.

• Principal's Report: Dr. Anderson reported that the ice cream social was a big success. A report was made concerning student self esteem. Self esteem is up over last year.

Dr. Anderson is bike riding in the MS 150 with Dave Bolitho. They are accepting pledges.

Amerman teachers have had an in-service session on peer mediation. Amerman is thinking of adopting peer mediation.

Dr. Anderson has ordered display cases to be displayed in the library and travel to the classroom. The display cases will contain such items as seeds, shells, butterflies, leaves and fossils. Field Day was June 9 for grades three through five.

The last day of school is a half day. Classes will be dismissed at noon. An Honors assembly for grades three through five took place June 11 at 9:30 a.m. Teachers are receiving materials from the math committee on the new standards. Foreign language will be a 45-minute special next year.

• Presentation of Gavel: The president's gavel was passed from Nancy Riegner to Sue Egan. Gifts were presented to Nancy Riegner and Vicki Searly for the great work that have done for the PTA over the years.

• Special Thanks: A special thank you was given to the fifth grade parents who have done so much at Amerman over the years.

Births

Abby Whitwam

Mary (Artley) and Mark Whitwam of St. Joseph, Mich., announce the birth of their daughter, Abby Brynn, on Oct. 20, 1996. She was born in Berrian Springs, Mich., and weighed 7 pounds, 3 ounces. Also awaiting her arrival was her brother, Tyler, 2 1/2 years old.

Grandparents are Lone Artley of Northville and Barbara and David Whitwam of St. Joseph, Mich.

MacKenzie Broderick

Dave and Ellen Deneau/Broderick of Windsor, Canada, announce the birth of their daughter, MacKenzie Nicole, on Feb. 22, 1997. She was born in Grace Hospital in Windsor, and weighed 7 pounds, 11 1/2 ounces. She was 20 1/2 inches in length.

Also awaiting her arrival was brother, Mitchell, 1 1/2 years old.

Her grandparents are Thomas and Betty Broderick of Northville and Carl and Mary Deneau of Amherstburg, Ontario, Canada.

In Service

Marine Capt. James A. Hessen has departed on a six-month deployment to the Mediterranean Sea with the 22nd Marine Expeditionary Unit (MEU), embarked aboard the ships of the USS Kearsarge Amphibious Ready Group.

Among other duties, the 22nd MEU can evacuate civilians, rescue downed pilots, conduct reconnaissance and serve as an initial landing force ashore.

Hessen joined the Marine Corps in February 1991. His wife, Susan, is the daughter of Sheldon and Marion Davis of Northville.

Church Notes

Vacation Bible School at FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF NORTHVILLE, 217 North Wing, is being held on June 23 through 27 from 9 a.m. until noon. The theme this year is "Promise Builders for Jesus."

The week's activities will include crafts, games, Bible stories, songs, and skits. There will also be a "store" where children can cash in tokens they have earned throughout the week for bringing in their Bibles and learning versus. Vacation Bible School is open to children in the community ages four through those just completing fifth grade.

To register call the church at 348-1020.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH, 201 Elm Street in Northville, one block west of Center Street behind the Shopping Center Market, is offering a new evening Vacation Bible School (VBS) program which will run every other Tuesday between June 24 and ending Aug. 18 from 6:30 until 8 p.m. The evening VBS is a family oriented program for ages three through sixth grade. Parents are encouraged to attend along with their children. For more information, call the church at (248) 349-3140.

For the third year, the popular Summer Organ Series will be presented on Sunday evenings from 7 until 8 p.m. at the FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF NORTHVILLE, 200 East Main.

Beginning the series, which includes former directors/organists of the church, is the present music director, Dr. Darlene Kuperus, on Sunday, June 15. She will be joined by flutist Holly Clemans, a member of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra and a flute instructor at William Tyndale College.

Organists scheduled for the rest of the series include former directors David Heinzman on June 29; Scott Van Ornum on July 13; Jeffrey Fowler on July 27 and Joanne Vollandorf on Aug. 10.

A free-will offering will be accepted and child care will be available at each program for $2 per child.

For more information, call the church at (248) 349-0911.

OAK POINTE CHURCH, a new, contemporary, non-denominational church, meets for a one-hour service at 10 a.m. in the Northville High School Auditorium at 775 N. Center.

Weekly themes in June include "It's Eleven O'clock Do You Know Where Your Father Is?" on June 15, Father's Day.

There will be a live band, coffee and baked goods, as well as children's programs for ages newborn through 11.

For more information, call Bob Shirock at (248) 626-0372.

Orthelia Barnes will perform at CHURCH OF TODAY, WEST, which meets at Village Oaks Elementary School, 23333 Willowbrook in Novi, on Sunday, June 15, at the 9 and 11 a.m. services.

Church of Today, West also offers Sunday services and youth education at both services. For details, call the church at (248) 449-8900.

Engagements

Julie Zwiesler/Michael Vollick

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Zwiesler of Northville announce the engagement of their daughter, Julie Lynn, to Michael Dale Vollick, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Vollick, also of Northville.

The bride-elect, a 1993 graduate of Northville High School, recently received her bachelor of science degree in biology and chemistry from Hope College. She is currently enrolled in graduate school at Michigan State University where she is studying plant genetics.

The bridegroom-elect graduated from Northville High School in 1992. He is currently attending Michigan State University and majoring in geology.

A June 28 wedding is planned.

Jeffrey Mitchell/Jodi Wesley

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Wesley of Northville are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter, Jodi Michelle, to Jeffrey David Mitchell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mitchell of Wayne, Mich.

The bride-elect is a 1993 graduate of Northville High School. She graduated from Eastern Michigan University this year, where she majoring in elementary education and captained the women's swimming team.

The bridegroom-elect graduated in 1993 from Huron Valley Lutheran High School in Westland. He is pursuing a professional hockey career with the Dallas Stars NHL organization.

A summer wedding is planned.

Heather and Jeffrey Kuzma

Gary and Barbara Sixt and Richard and Nancy Kuzma, both Northville families, announce the recent marriage of their children, Heather Elizabeth and Jeffrey Michael Kuzma. The wedding celebration took place on Feb. 8, 1997, in Ward Presbyterian Church in Livonia where the bride and groom are members.

The bride wore an ivory satin gown with a pearl and sequined bodice, sleeves, and chapel train.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Holly Brown; attending as maid of honor was Rebecca DeWitt, a college roommate of the bride. Bridesmaids were Ann Sixt, sister-in-law of the bride; Jennifer Lannon, sister of the groom; friend of the bride, Ruth McConnell of Kilkeel, Ireland; and Shannon Jackson and Kara Kordt, childhood friends of the bride.

Melanie Roganavik of London, England, was special attendant to the bride. Paige Brown, niece of the bride and groom, was the flower girl.

Attending the groom as best man was John Oblazney, friend of the groom. Groomsman were James Mesterharm, a college friend of the groom; Kevin Wright, friend of the groom; and brothers-in-law of the groom, Kevin Lannon, Christopher Sixt, Cameron Sixt, and Charles Brown. Ryan Brown, nephew of the bride and groom, served as ring bearer and presenter of the rings during the ceremony. Pastor James Killgore officiated.

Mrs. Gary Najarian, special friend of the bride and groom, served as reader during the ceremony. Diane Dudus, godmother of the groom, also served as reader. Of special importance to the bride and groom were the children who attended the wedding from her fifth grade class at Thornton Creek Elementary in Northville.

Following the wedding, a dinner-dance reception was held at the Italian American Club for 260 guests. Guests came from Florida, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Tennessee, Texas, England, and Ireland, to be a part of the celebration.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Maui, Hawaii, and are now living in Novi.

Heather is a fifth grade teacher at Thornton Creek Elementary in Northville and Jeffrey is associated with the IBM Corp.

On Campus

MICHAEL PATRICK McCORMICK of Northville graduated from Indiana University Bloomington on May 10.

McCormick received a bachelor of science degree in business.

BRADLEY JAMES PIZIALI, a senior at Eastern Michigan University, was one of three authors who presented their project, "Gold Equipment Industry Analysis," at Eastern's Undergraduate Symposium held in April.

The final results of students' creative and research endeavors were featured during the morning session of the symposium. Piziali and his two co-authors joined their faculty adviser, Deborah R. Ettington of the department of management, at a luncheon following the morning ceremonies.

Due to superior academic performance, these part-time Madonna University students from Northville were named to the Academic Achievement List during the past term: KATHLEEN A. CEANE, junior, business administration; DEBORAH L. ERSKINE, sophomore, English; MARY C. FAIRCHILD, post degree, accounting; SUSAN A. FARMER, freshman, nursing; DEBRA A. FOLTZ, freshman, music; MELISSA M. HULEMAN, freshman, nursing; JEANNIE V. HOOT, freshman, nursing; WALTER J. JACHIMOWICZ, post degree, undeclared; AVEDIS MAGAR, senior, undeclared; LINDA J. MIERZEJEWSKI, post degree, legal assistant; JEAN L. O'LEARY, junior, undeclared; NICHOLE M. RUTKOWSKI, post degree, sec. provisional program; KAREN L. SCHWARTZ, freshman, child development; CYNTHIA M. VAN SICKLE, freshman, English-journalism; and MARGARET M. WISNIEWSKI, freshman, hospice education.

KATHLEEN COLE of Northville has been named to the Dean's List at Alma College for her outstanding academic performance during the winter term. Students who achieve a 3.5 or better grade point average during a term are named to the Dean's list.

St. Vincent and Sarah Fisher Center has residential treatment, special needs foster care, adoption and post-adoption support services programs for abused/neglected children and families in crisis. It also offers Marillac Outreach Services and Transitions Programs for high risk young mothers, fathers and their infants.

Founded by the Daughters of Charity in 1844 to serve the poor, the present facility opened in 1929 with a gift from the Charles and Sarah Fisher family.

It serves over 240 orphans and provides annual services to over 900 infants, youth and families in crisis.

"I can't think of a better event to work for," Guidobono said. "It is our future."

In 1996, the Center began a $4 million capital campaign for renovations to the facility.

A little bit of Pairee in Novi

Frank and Kelly Nachtman will present "Photography of France" from June 16 through July 14 at the Gate VI Gallery located in the Novi Civic Center, 45175 West Ten Mile Road in Novi. Viewing of the exhibit is possible during the hours the Civic Center is open. The series of photographs is a reflection of the couple's shared love for the art and architecture of France and the City of Lights. Their travels included journeys to the homes, studios, and sights that have been made famous in the works of some of the greatest artists of the 19th and 20th centuries, such as Monet, VanGogh, Rodin, Picasso, and Matisse. Ten percent of all sales will be donated to the Karmanos Cancer Institute. Local artists interested in exhibiting at the Civic Center should call (248) 347-0400.

Don't judge a movie by its trailer

'Trial & Error' is a pleasant surprise

By Amanda Cuda
SPECIAL WRITER

The problem with movie trailers is that they often give viewers a poor idea of what to expect. Take "Trial and Error," for example. When I first saw the trailer, I assumed this would be another lame attempt at screwball comedy.

My expectations were lowered still when I discovered this movie was directed by Jonathan Lynn, who did "My Cousin Vinny." Because the two movies had similar plots (city boy with little legal experience finds himself in court in a small town), I figured "Trial and Error" would just be a rip-off of the other movie.

But I was wrong. "Trial and Error" is a sweet, funny film that succeeds on its own terms.

The movie centers around a city lawyer named Charlie (Jeff Daniels) who, days before his wedding to the boss's spoiled daughter, is asked to travel to a small town in Nevada to get a continuance in a mail fraud case.

The plot thickens when Charlie's friend Ricky (Michael Richards of TV's "Seinfeld") follows him to Nevada and insists on giving Charlie a bachelor party. At the party, Charlie ends up in a bar fight and as a result, is in no shape to appear in court.

Ricky, an actor whose legal experience is limited to a performance in the play "Inherit the Wind," decides to pose as Charlie for the day and get the continuance so they can go home. But of course, things don't go as planned.

I realize the above description doesn't indicate how subtle and charming this movie is. But "Trial and Error's" appeal lies not in its plot, but in how Lynn and the actors make these characters both believable and likable.

I particularly liked Charlize Theron as the waitress Charlie falls in love with while in Nevada. She has a bouncy energy here that her performance as the icy temptress in last year's "Two Days in the Valley" didn't prepare me for at all. Richards also surprised me with his sincere performance as Ricky. There's a little of his trademark pratfalls and exaggerated line delivery here, but most of the time Richards allows the comedy to come from the character, not slapstick bumbling.

So, yes, my initial impression of this movie was incorrect. But in a time when predictable movies are the norm, it's nice to be surprised.

Glover, Pesci reunited in a light-hearted adventure comedy

By Amanda Cuda
SPECIAL WRITER

There are some people who just love to fish — the kind of men who get up at ridiculous hours to venture down to the local pond in hopes of finally nabbing "the Big One."

Gus and Joe, the heroes of the Hollywood Pictures/Caravan Pictures release "Gone Fishin,'" are men like that — boyhood friends who have spent most of their lives down at the docks, hoping for the catch of their lives. So far, they haven't had any luck. But hope springs eternal, especially after the duo wins the grand prize in a "Bait & Tackle" essay contest. The prize? A fishing vacation in the Florida Everglades.

As the two embark on their dream vacation, they encounter trouble in the form of a con man named Dekker Massey. Unlike Gus and Joe, Massey isn't out to catch fish — he's on his way to dig up $2.5 million in stashed cash and jewels stolen from his ex-wives. The sinister Massey steals Gus and Joe's '68 Plymouth Barracuda, leaving the duo stranded with their fishing boat and trailer.

Gus (Danny Glover, top) and Joe's (Joe Pesci) much-anticipated fishing retreat turns into a comic run for their lives. Buena Vista Pictures distributes.

Chaos ensues as Gus and Joe try to get back their car, uncover the stolen goods before Massey does — and maybe catch some fish along the way.

Danny Glover and Joe Pesci, two of the stars of the smash hit "Lethal Weapon" movies are reunited in this lighthearted adventure/comedy as lifelong friends Gus and Joe, respectively.

Their on-screen friendship isn't just acting, said Glover, who said that he and Pesci have a unique relationship in real life, built on mutual respect for the other man's talent.

"And together we give ourselves to the story completely," Glover said. "We understand each other. It's never about me, or about him, it's always, how do we make this the best it can possibly be? And we've had a great time working together again."

The film's director, Christopher Cain, said one of the highlights of the movie was getting to work with two such accomplished comedic actors.

"I took on this film because of the people — Danny and Joe, specifically. Their comedy presence and incredible acting ability alone is enough for anyone to want to get involved in a movie in which they are participating," he said.

THE PEOPLE VS. LARRY FLYNT

BY CARLA IRVIN
MILFORD

This biographical tale of pornographic entrepreneur Larry Flynt starts him out as a low class strip club owner. A legend in his own mind with the ladies, he finally meets his match with a new stripper, Althea Leasure.

Finding out that they enjoy the same extracurricular activities, love blooms and atypical matrimony begins.

Wanting to be rich like any red-blooded American, Larry decides to take female flesh peddling to its next level. Armed with the 1st Amendment as his shield, and with his wife by his side, Larry has to take on the Courts to prove that the freedom of speech also applies to him.

phy that the world has ever known. I'm starting to not like him anymore.

Courtney Love, currently on hiatus as "queen of grunge" widow, shows that the part of Althea was not as far of a stretch for her as her current role of Hollywood ingenue.

The only bright spot in this movie is Ed Norton, as Larry's lawyer. There is something about this guy; some kind of charisma that comes through to the screen.

I really don't understand why so many critics and the general public liked this movie. I found the court scenes too long, and the energetic defense of hard porn was as disgusting as Larry Flynt himself. The ending was very unsatisfying as there was no closure. Surprisingly, even my husband didn't like this one. Don't rent this at your video store; it is a waste of your money.

sins bullet, Larry never stops fighting for his rights. Even with the untimely death of his beloved Althea, who had become lost in her own drugged existence, Larry remains strong and defiant.

No longer fresh faced, cute and cuddly Woody from "Cheers," Woody Harrelson has managed to transform himself into one of the raunchiest parlayes of pornogra-

Mustangs place four on top All-Area soccer squad in '97

Awesome. In a word, that's the best way to describe HomeTown Newspapers' East All-Area Soccer First Team for 1997. This squad is loaded with talent from top to bottom and may very well be our finest ever.

Let's start with the goaltenders. While one spot is usually reserved on our first team, Northville's Meghan Cauzillo and Milford's Beth Guiney are both deserving. The duo recorded nearly two dozen shutouts between them and posted goals against averages of less than one.

It takes a strong defense, of course, to help keep the ball out of the net. Our first team has it with Kristin Baja of Northville.

Offensively, this team is without peer. Novi's Lydia Raburn netted nearly 30 goals in her junior campaign while Northville's Brigid Bowdell is one of the top forwards in the state.

Let's take a closer look at HomeTown Newspapers' East All-Area Soccer First Team:

BETH GUINEY Milford, jr. goalie

Excellent, soft hands and quick reflexes enabled Guiney to rack up 230 saves this season. She let in just 21 goals-against and had a save percentage of .910.

She also has a great ability to adjust quickly to the pace of the game.

"She's a real leader as far as the defense goes," Sauer said. "She has been known to be a spark on the team. She can play the forward position and often we put her up there to get them going again. She really does inspire them."

Guiney posted 11 shutouts in her junior campaign and was named to the All-KVC team.

MEGHAN CAUZILLO Northville, sr. goalie

Cauzillo was one of the top goalies in the state's toughest soccer league.

While the Mustangs were just a few games over .500, the senior did more than her share to help her team's fortunes. She allowed just 14 goals in 19 games for an average well below 1.0.

Cauzillo also notched 11 shutouts. An All-Western Division selection in the Western Lakes conference, she was tough to beat, Northville coach Doug Lyon said.

"She can pretty much stop anything," he said. "Her focus during the game is excellent."

Cauzillo played four years of varsity soccer for Northville. She'll continue her career at Cornell University.

"She will likely start for them," said Lyon.

KRISTIN BAJA Northville, sr. defender

Another four-year starter for Northville, Baja was solid as a rock at fullback.

As the Mustangs' sweeper, it was Baja's job to be the last line of defense. Lyon said she made Cauzillo's job a lot easier in the nets.

"She kept a lot of shots away from Cauzillo," he said.

Baja used her speed and smarts to do so. Lyon said the senior didn't mind mixing it up on the field either.

"She's a very physical player," he added.

It wasn't easy to rattle the All-Western Division player.

"She was always very calm back there, always in control," Lyon said.

TRACY MOORE Milford, jr. midfielder

A third-year varsity player, Moore is an excellent all-around field player. Moore was the top sweeper for the Redskin club.

"She has a lot of speed and patience and control," Sauer said. "She reads the play well and is excellent at chipping the ball which makes her valuable at the midfield position."

Moore took a lot of shots on goal and put the ball in the net four times. She had two assists this season. She was also a member of the All-KVC team.

LYNDSAY HUOT Northville, sr. midfielder

Huot had her best season for Northville this spring. The Mustangs changed their style of play at the start of the season. The move benefited Huot, who moved from a defensive to offensive role.

She responded with excellent production at center halfback. Huot had nearly a dozen goals and as many assists.

"She's a good distributor (of the ball)," Lyon said, "but has a good shot."

Huot made All-Western Division status. A four-year player for the Mustangs, she was the team's captain.

Rompel, DeKoker named to All-Area second unit

As always, HomeTown Newspapers' 1997 East All-Area Soccer Second Team is well deserving of its honors.

South Lyon's keeper Wendy Jacobs, who let in just 15 goals on 294 shots, is the foundation of the second team's defense and is fronted by the talents of Lakeland's Edria Cecchitti, Milford's Meg Gorsline and Novi's Meghan Mutch.

Northville's Amanda DeKoker brings the scoring to the team and, along with the rest, could have easily been named on the first team list.

Engaged in competition, our second team might just give the first a run for its money.

Here's a closer look at HomeTown Newspapers East All-Area Soccer Second Team:

WENDY JACOBS South Lyon, jr. goalie

Jacobs faced 294 shots on goal this season and let in just 15 providing the backbone of the South Lyon defense.

"Wendy was the key of our defense," coach Bill Stevanovic said. "She saved so many shots it's unbelievable."

A disciplined and dependable keeper for the Lions, Jacobs is also good in the field. "She has a very great personality," Stevanovic said. "She's a very coachable player. Like Melissa (Lawson), she's a superb player."

A junior, Jacobs ended her second season with the varsity squad. She shared the starting duties in goal last season and earned the position outright this year.

EDRIA CECCHITTI Lakeland, sr. defender

Cecchitti was the most consistent player on the field for Lakeland coach Robert Mazur.

Even though the team had a troubled season, the Eagles found excellent play from Cecchitti on defense and at the sweeper position.

"She could play with the best teams," Mazur said. "She's a very good defender."

MEG GORSLINE Milford, jr. defender

This solid, hard-working defender rarely gives the opposition room to move.

"She pushed ahead to begin the offensive drive," coach Mallia Sauer said. "Her confidence increased this year and she just blossomed in that area."

Gorsline is also good at getting in the right position.

"She often finds unique situations where she can get the ball upfield," Sauer said. "She will have enough sense to look up and find an open player."

Gorsline received a KVC honorable mention.

MEGHAN MUTCH Novi, sr. defender

In hockey, you'll often hear the announcers talk about offensive-defensemen and defensive-defensemen.

Mutch definitely falls in the latter category. She played left fullback for the Wildcats and covered her side of the field like a blanket.

A three-year starter for Novi, Mutch didn't bowl opponents over with her talent. But she always, always played hard.

"She's a tremendous hustler," coach Larry Christoff said.

Mutch, who had a goal and three assists, was named to the All-Kensington Valley Conference squad.

JACKIE ROMPEL Northville, jr. midfielder

Rompel was, perhaps, the most underrated player on Northville's roster this season.

An outside halfback, Rompel showed excellent skills in handling and passing the ball. Coach Doug Lyon said he relied on the junior to take care of business at midfield.

"She's one of the best ball-control people we have," he added.

An Olympic Development player, Rompel will be counted on to take more of an offensive role with the team next year.

"I need to get her more in the game," said Lyon. "We can't have a player of that caliber not in the game (offensively)."

Rompel earned honorable mention from the Western Lakes Conference.

AMANDA DEKOKER Northville, sr. forward

On a team loaded with talent, DeKoker was voted Northville's most valuable player. She led the Mustangs in scoring. Lyon said DeKoker played with great desire.

"She really stepped forward this year," he added, "and played strong, physical soccer. She always went strong to the net."

A four-year varsity player, DeKoker was named to the Western Lake Conference's honorable mention list.

Hinshon shines at senior Olympics

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Nancy Hinshon is living proof that you're never too old to compete and stay in shape.

The Northville Township resident recently won track and field silver and bronze medals in the National Senior Olympics.

"This was my first nationals," Hinshon said. "The competition is very tough."

The 57-year-old qualified for the nationals, which were held on the campus of Arizona State University in Tucson May 21-27, last summer at the Michigan Senior Olympic games.

Hinshon made the grade in the high and long jumps, the 100-meter and 200-meter races. A former teacher in the Livonia school district, she met with great success at the nationwide competition.

In the long jump, Hinshon just missed a national record for her age group. She leapt just over 12 feet to take second place.

"I was thrilled to earn the silver medal," Hinshon said.

She also did well on the track. Hinshon finished third for a bronze in the 200-meter dash with a time of 33.79 seconds.

In the 100-meter, she finished seventh with a time of 16.29 seconds. Hinshon also competed in the high jump, but failed to get over the opening height of 3-feet 4-inches.

"I couldn't get my fannie over it," she said.

Hinshon did, however, improve all her performances from her Michigan Senior Olympic qualifying marks. She dropped more than a second from her 100-meter time and almost five from her 200-meter time.

Hard training paved the way for her improvements.

Kurtis sets sights on ultra marathon

By SCOTT DANIEL

For years, Doug Kurtis has been one of the world's best marathon runners.

The Northville resident owns numerous records in the sport and has won more than his fair share of races. But it turns out running 26 miles better than most people on the planet isn't enough.

Now Kurtis is set to run in Monday's Comrades Marathon in South Africa - a race that covers some 55 miles. It will be his first "ultra marathon."

"It's a fabulous event," said Kurtis, who is retiring from competitive running at the end of the year. "This one is considered the best in the world."

More than 14,000 runners from around the world are expected to run in the Comrades Marathon, which began in the 1920s. It is

Baja, Huot, Bowdell, Cauzillo on top area team

Just a sophomore, Lawson led the South Lyon soccer team in scoring for the second year in a row.

Lawson scored eight goals and had four assists on her way to All-KVC honors.

Coach Bill Stevanovic called Lawson a universal player. "She's evenly good at the midfield, forward and sweeper positions," he said. "She's very gifted, with a great knowledge of the game."

Lawson is also a 4.0 student and a member of the KVC All-Academic team.

JESSICA KENNY

Novi, jr. midfielder

Only injuries kept the junior from having a dominant year.

Kenny was off to a lightning start before being hurt at about midseason. She still wound up with six goals and seven assists.

"She came back (from the injury)," coach Larry Christoff said, "and played very strong."

Kenny's primary job was to get the ball up to Novi's powerhouse front line. She did just that helping two teammates to score better than 20 goals.

Kenny was an All-Kensington Valley Conference selection.

BRIGID BOWDELL

Northville, soph. forward

A likely all-state selection. Bowdell is one of the top high school players in Michigan.

She uses a combination of speed and size to destroy opponents. Bowdell finished second in scoring on Northville and had a particularly strong playoff showing with five goals in three games.

"She came through big for us," said Lyon.

The Ford Motor Co. engineer left for South Africa about a week in advance of the race. He said he would be in Capetown for four days then take a flight to the race site.

"It's going to be a great challenge," Kurtis said. "I'm really looking forward to it."

The Northville resident said it was his first trip to South Africa. Kurtis said when it's over he will have raced on every continent except for Antarctica.

months went by, the workouts intensified.

Hinshon, in fact, began training with the Livonia Churchill track team in March.

"I worked out with them two days a week," Nancy said. "It was very grueling."

Hinshon ran 100-, 200-, 300- and 400-meter sprints with the high school girls. She also practiced her long jump and would often stay after practice to work on her high jump.

She said the teenagers were very helpful in preparing her for competition.

"They were little sweethearts," she added.

All that hard work paid off in Arizona.

Her conditioning allowed her to excel even with temperatures in triple digits. Hinshon said the heat would've been more of a factor if she had been running longer races.

"When you run short distances," she commented, "you don't feel it."

The Northville Township resident has never had a desire to compete in the mile or two mile races.

"I'm a sprinter," Hinshon said.

The next National Senior Olympics comes up in 1999 in Orlando. Hinshon is already planning on being there.

"I'll be at the top of my age group," she said.

Until then, she plans on competing in the Michigan games and continuing her training.

Bowdell is part of Michigan's Olympic Development Program. She'll be playing at the highest level with the program's regional team.

"She has phenomenal skills," Lyon said.

Bowdell was picked All-WLAA for the second straight year.

LYDIA RABURN

Novi, jr. forward

An All-KVC selection, Raburn was terrific all year for the Wildcats.

She scored 28 goals for Novi, but also added 21 assists. Christoff said her assist total shows that she isn't consumed by her own statistics.

"(Brigid Bowdell) has phenomenal skills."

DOUG LYON

Northville High soccer coach

"She could've scored more goals," he said. "But she's very unselfish."

Nobody gives more on the field than Raburn, he added.

"She's one of the hardest working players I've had," Christoff said. "She's non-stop."

While Raburn isn't the biggest of players, the coach said she's tough.

"She can get aggressive," Christoff commented.

LEAH GARN

Milford, sr. forward

Garn led the Redskins with 14 goals and five assists, capping a four-year varsity career with more than 60 goals.

A team co-captain this season, Garn was a forward who also played the sweeper position strongly. She can play anywhere on the field.

"She was often referred to as a dangerous forward by the other teams," coach Malia Sauer said. "She reads the game so well and capitalizes on any mistakes that the defense makes on the other team."

Garn was named to the All-Kensington Valley Conference team.

KIRSTY GREER

Novi, sr. forward

While the senior didn't tally as many goals as her linemates, she always seemed to get the important goals.

Christoff said Greer saved her best games for the really tough competition.

"She played better against the top teams," he said.

Greer, an All-KVC selection, notched 15 goals and 10 assists. Christoff said one of her biggest assets was her ability to work with teammates.

New technology helps fight cancer

This year, approximately 38,300 people in the United States will be diagnosed with malignant melanoma, a potentially deadly form of skin cancer. Although surgery is the most effective treatment for existing melanoma, the extent of the surgery depends upon the spread of the disease to the lymphatic system. Lymph node mapping with the Neoprobe 1000 is a new technique which allows physicians to evaluate potential tumor drainage and malignancy prior to surgery, allowing for less radical and more effective surgical treatment.

The Neoprobe 1000 is a small, hand-held radiation detector the surgeon can use to trace the path of a radioactive agent injected at the site of the cancer. The radioactive agent follows the lymphatic flow of the body from the tumor site, allowing the physician to locate the first lymph node where the cancer would spread. In a minimally invasive surgery, the surgeon can use the Neoprobe device to find that first lymph node so it can be removed and tested for cancer. Locating and evaluating the first lymph node gives a good indication of the disease status of the rest of the lymph nodes with minimal surgery.

Previously, the surgeon would have to remove all the lymph nodes to evaluate the lymph system. If the node proves negative for cancer, as it does in approximately 80 percent of melanoma cases, the patient is spared further surgery. At the same time, a positive finding helps identify the approximately 15 percent of patients who would benefit from removal of all the lymph nodes in the affected nodal area.

In conjunction with this procedure, patients with cancer-positive lymph nodes would receive chemotherapy with alpha-interferon, which could significantly increase their long-term survival.

The previous technique, regional lymphadenectomy, is costly and is associated with a great deal of pain and potential disfigurement for the patient. Identifying patients whose cancer has not spread with the Neoprobe saves those patients the expense and discomfort of unnecessary surgery.

Cancer is the No. 2 killer in the U.S., and malignant melanoma is the fastest growing type of cancer. It is most common in middle aged and elderly people with fair skin and a history of extensive or damaging sun exposure. The growth usually develops on exposed areas of skin, but many occur anywhere on the body, including under the nails and in the eye.

Melanoma usually grows from an existing mole, which may enlarge, become lumpy, bleed, change color, develop a spreading black edge, turn into a scab or begin to itch. Occasionally a tumor may develop on normal skin. The belief that lesions have to be black or blue to be suspect for malignant melanoma is a misconception, they may also be reddish in color.

Regularly look at your body. If you notice lesions of concern, see your doctor, get a biopsy and get a second opinion if necessary. Take control of your health care and follow-up on tests and referrals until both you and your doctor are satisfied. And finally, the best prevention bears repeating - stay out of the sun and tanning booths.

GARDENING

Easy-to-care-for succulents

By C.Z. Guest
Copley News Service

Succulents are among the world's most fascinating and evolved plants, adapting, over thousands of years, to mostly dry, hostile conditions.

During the process, they have developed amazing growing habits. Some thrive high on barren mountain slopes, in dry conditions, and in tropical jungles, where most plants wouldn't have a prayer of surviving.

In order to survive long periods of drought, succulents store water in their roots, stems or leaves, or in some combination of the three.

The succulent plants that I suggest below are perfect for a well-lighted spot indoors or out in USDA zones 9 and 10.

Sansevierias are among the most dependable of houseplants, surviving under poor light conditions, as well as dryness.

The pony palm is prized for its swollen, corky trunk and long, slender leaves. Although it can grow outdoors to 30 feet, it makes a dandy slow-growing houseplant as well.

Echeveria is one of the best succulents for creating a bold effect. It forms large, cabbage-like rosettes in shades of blue and pink, and bears elegant pink flowers with yellow centers. If the plant's stems become too leggy, simply cut them off and reroot the heads!

Lithops resemble the pebbles that they live among in their South African environment. Grow them in a brightly lighted spot, watering only from spring through summer. In winter, the new growth draws moisture from the old, causing the old leaves to wither.

All the above varieties include many various types, so inquire at your garden center for the best plants suited for your area

Q. Can you tell me why my African violets die in the center and the outside leaves keep growing? I have had wonderful luck with more than 50 different kinds and colors, but suddenly this summer, every one is affected, and I am about to throw them out.

I have several new leaves rooted from these plants. Will they be affected, too?

A Check your plants and see if you have mites or mealybugs. If so, spray with Safer's Insecticidal Soap, reading the label carefully. Failure to bloom may be caused by several factors: lack of humidity, lack of light, stale air, hot or cold drafts or overwatering or underwatering. Baby plants (called suckers) that form at the base of old leaves are best removed immediately, as soon as you're sure they aren't flower buds, otherwise, you'll have few flowers on your plants.

When moved, African violets may "sulk." Relax, they'll recover! For best results, place your plants in a pot or tray on moist stones.

Q. Can you tell me what the best soil is for houseplants?

A Here is a good potting mixture that I use: one part good potting soil, one part vermiculite or perlite, one-half part coarse builder's sand and a little cow or sheep manure. Mix and add the following for each 6-inch pot you use: 1 tablespoon dolomite lime, 1 tablespoon osmo-cote fertilizer and 1 tablespoon bone meal.

Another good choice is a ready-to-go sterile pro-mix potting soil available at nurseries and garden centers. Everything you'll ever need for plants is in this mixture, so all you have to do is pot-up your tiny treasures.

Q. Last season, after a wet spring, my crown-imperial bulbs were late in coming up. And when the plants finally reached about 14 inches, they turned yellow and fell over. Unfortunately, no flowers developed. What happened?

A I think you may have a drainage problem, so perhaps a soil test is in order. Before planting crown-imperial bulbs, turn the soil over to about 2 feet, work in coarse builder's sand, to ensure good drainage, and enrich the soil with compost. Then plant your bulbs 4 to 6 inches deep, as measured from the bulb top, and 10 inches apart in partially shaded, slightly acid soil (pH 6.4). No fertilizing is necessary at planting time.

Simply water the bulbs well after planting and if autumn rains fail to fall, soak the bed deeply to keep it moist. Keep in mind that seed setting robs the bulb of food, so remove fading flowers. Although the dying stems and leaves are unsightly, never cut them down before all of the green is gone.

Like all bulbs, they need to store all the leaf-manufactured food they can get for proper growth and flowering the next year. Weak growth and yellowing of these temperamental plants may have been due to an unfavorable pH.

Artist Michael Chakan straightens up his painting of Detroit Tigers' Travis Fryman. The artwork, along with other athletes is currently featured at a model home in South Lyon's Hidden Creek development.

A sporting good idea

Waterford artist makes wall hangings crystalize for new home models

There's a new set of trading cards that is sure to become a collector's item.

They depict Michael Jordan going for the dunk with the notorious tongue hanging out of his mouth, Detroit Tiger third baseman Travis Fryman making a catch, and Julius Irving accepting a trophy at an All-Stars game.

You won't find these cards with a stick of bubble gum, however, and they won't fit in your back pocket. They're nearly life-size wall hangings painted by Waterford artist Michael Chakan.

The trading cards are designed to be eye catchers in a new Pulte model home at Hidden Creek subdivision, at Nine Mile and Dixboro Road in South Lyon.

For the models, Chakan enjoys making his subjects larger than life for an effect that packs a powerful punch, an impact.

"I've always felt that big sells," he explained. "The whole idea is for people to remember what they've seen, that they've seen it in a Pulte home, and that I did it."

In the same model home that features his sports art, playful dogs and cats, reminiscent of the recent movie "101 Dalmatians" grace the room across the hall. And just like spring weather, this bedroom is raining cats and dogs.

The rooms are just two of 35-plus theme bedrooms Chakan completed for Pulte subdivisions throughout Oakland County. Interior designer for Pulte homes Deen Hyde met Chakan and viewed his work at a gallery in the Summit Mall about a year ago. She liked what she saw.

The two have since formed a mutually creative relationship. She chooses the accessories, he produces the art.

Sports continues to be a popular theme. He's also

Strong sales activity pushing up home prices

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

I'm writing this column while visiting my hometown of Des Moines, Iowa, for a few days. What a contrast I'm seeing between this real estate market and that of my current home in Ventura, Calif. - a coastal community an hour's drive north of Los Angeles.

It's the kind of dramatic contrast many people see as they travel from point to point throughout the country, particularly if they're selling one home and buying another. Home designs and preferences are different from region to region. Prices vary widely, often producing "sticker shock" for relocating families.

Here in Des Moines, the median price of previously owned single-family homes is now up to $93,600 - up from $81,700 in 1994.

prices are over $200,000. Most show an increase of about 5 percent over the past year. In Ventura County you can now find a nice but not spectacular house for about $250,000 to $300,000.

That price range would buy a truly spectacular home in Des Moines - a luxury home by any measurement.

Midwest homes tend to be larger and more family-oriented in design than those in West Coast markets. They're more apt to have special-use areas, such as recreation and hobby rooms. And they have large front yards, not tiny yards planned by developers who want to squeeze as many units as possible into an available land parcel. And there are few privacy fences between neighboring homes.

Many Midwest homes, even those that are newly constructed, still have front porches - a popular gathering place for family members (weather permitting).

Home prices generally are on an upward curve again in all regions, after several years in a downward direction or fluctuating up and down. Strong sales activity is pushing up prices - a natural "supply and demand" reaction to the market.

"We are continuing to see strong sales, particularly in the first-time buyer and trade-up housing market," said Russell Booth, president of the National Association of Realtors. "Consumers are very confident about the economy and are taking advantage of today's buying opportunities."

The latest NAR report of median prices shows a wide variety, from $58,700 in Ocala, Fla., to $313,800 in Honolulu, Hawaii. Nationally, the median price of existing single-family homes is $119,400. That reflects a 4 percent increase from a year ago.

Regionally, the biggest increase in median home prices during the first quarter of this year was in the Midwest.

In the West, the biggest increase in home prices during the past year was in Colorado Springs, Colo. - the median home price rose 9.4 percent during the past year, to $128,500.

I observed another interesting trend that is changing Midwest real estate markets significantly. The downtown area of Des Moines, like other mid-American cities, is getting a real face lift.

It's changing the appearance and image of downtown districts, making them more appealing to businesses and consumers. It's even making the purchase of condos and town houses more popular in downtown areas.

In downtown Des Moines, handsome new buildings are replacing old structures at a rapid pace. And modern skywalks link the buildings together. It has little resemblance to the city I remember as a youngster. It's a big improvement.

Q. Is high-tech training techniques, like specialized computer or software programs, taking over as the "education method of choice" for real estate brokers and agents?

A. That seems to be the case, to a large extent. Many large brokerage firms and franchise organizations see this as a timely opportunity to cut back on costs in providing continued education for their members or agents. It's a lot cheaper to buy a software package or videos than to bring in a team of live trainers.

In effect, it's a way to downsize without giving the appearance of downsizing.

However, a few progressive groups are taking another approach for their training programs. While others are relying more and more on those computer programs and videos, these groups are stepping up their live, in-person training sessions - by far the most effective form of training in today's increasingly complex real estate market.

For example, Better Homes and Gardens Real Estate Service, an international broker franchise network, recently launched a training program for its member firms that will bring a team of trainers directly into the firm's offices, according to Ray Sculfort, senior vice president.

Over the next six months, 300 training sessions are planned. And in 50 locations, regional "master classes" are planned, offering specialized training sessions for seasoned brokers and agents.

"We feel this is the time to add strength to our training programs, not cut back," Sculfort said. "The increasing complexity of real estate transactions in today's market calls for more intensive education for brokers and agents, if they are to perform competently for their consumer clients."

Ugly and troublesome concrete stains can be defeated with chemistry

By Gene Gary
Copley News Service

Q. The home we purchased has ugly stains on the concrete drive which appear to be rust stains. I have tried washing these brown/orange streaks with regular detergents and a commercial driveway cleaner without success. Do you have any suggestions for removal of these stains?

A. Mild rust stains can usually be removed by mopping with a solution containing 1 pound of oxalic acid powder per gallon of water. Let the solution stand two to three hours then rinse with clear water, scrubbing at the same time with a stiff brush or broom. An ammonified solution of thioglycolic acid can be used in place of the oxalic acid solution. Bad spots may require a second treatment.

For deeper stains, the Portland Cement Association recommends the following: Dissolve one part sodium citrate in six parts lukewarm water and mix thoroughly with seven parts of lime-free glycerol (glycerine). Make a stiff poultice with calcium carbonate or kieselguhr (diatomaceous earth used for polishing). Apply a thick layer on the stain with a trowel and leave for two or three days.

Scrape or brush off when dry. Rinse thoroughly with clear water. If staining persists, the treatment should be repeated. This treatment may be too slow to be practical with severe stains. Ammonium citrate can be used in place of sodium citrate for more rapid stain removal, although this solution may slightly etch the surface.

For deep and intense iron stains, use a solution of one part ammonium citrate or sodium citrate in six parts of lukewarm water saturated in a bandage that is then applied over the stain for 30 minutes. This solution can also be brushed on the stain at five- to 10-minute intervals.

Following this treatment, if the stain is on a horizontal surface, sprinkle it with a thin layer of sodium hydrosulfite crystals, moisten with a few drops of water and cover with a poultice made of powdered inert material and water.

On a vertical surface, place the poultice on a trowel, sprinkle three hydrosulfite crystals on a layer of sodium, moisten lightly and apply to the stain so that the crystals are in direct contact with the stained surface. Remove the poultice after one hour.

If the staining has not completely disappeared, repeat the operation with fresh materials.

When the stain disappears, scrub the surface thoroughly with water and make another application of sodium citrate solution as in the preliminary operation. The purpose of this last step is to prevent reappearance of the stain.

Occasionally, brown iron stains may change to black when treated with sodium hydrosulfite. This may also happen if the poultice is left on for longer than one hour. Should the stain become black, treat it with hydrogen peroxide until it is oxidized back to the brown color. The sodium hydrosulfite treatment should then be resumed proceeding as above.

Unless adequate ventilation is provided, this method should not be used indoors, because a considerable amount of toxic sulfur dioxide gas will be emitted when the sodium hydrosulfite comes in contact with moisture.

The materials specified here may be hard to come by, as stringent environmental rulings make them harder to obtain in certain areas. Check chemical supply outlets and janitorial supply houses.

Another option would be to use one of the commercially available rust stain removers. StandOff Rust Stain Remover marketed by ProSoCo, Inc. (P.O. Box 171677, Kansas City, KS 66117) is a poultice that removes deep-seated rust and other troublesome metallic stains from concrete, brick, tile and most natural stone. A word of caution: If you do decide to use some of the stronger chemicals and acids, take great care when working with these materials. Use proper respiratory safety equipment. Wear old clothing, eye goggles, face mask and rubber gloves. When mixing acid solutions be sure and pour acid into water, never the reverse.

Q. While washing my sliding glass doors, I made quite a few scratches in them. Could you inform me of any method which might remove the scratches from the glass?

A. Unfortunately, once a scratch is etched into the surface of the glass it is there permanently. It cannot be removed.

Let's Go Shopping!

When buying a home, wouldn't it be nice to go to a housing superstore, pick out the perfect home, pay for it on the spot, and move in the next day? Well - pinch yourself and stop dreaming.

As you can imagine, no two homes are alike, making it literally impossible to organize them into a mega-showroom display. They're not portable either, which means you have to visit them at their own unique location.

They don't sit side-by-side on a showroom floor, so comparing them isn't such an easy task. You may spend days or even weeks touring specific homes, then reinspect them several more times before reaching decision.

Very few homebuyers pay cash, and few credit cards offer limits high enough to just say "Charge it!" Obviously, then, a more complex loan process is involved.

This requires a loan application, a comprehensive credit check, an appraisal, and employment verification.

There are legal considerations too. Be certain you are receiving fee simple title to your new home. An attorney's advice, title search, and title insurance are invaluable here.

Home buying today is a complex process which can be simplified by utilizing the services of a real estate agent. Most agents represent sellers, while some represent buyers, yet all may be considered helpful in the buying process. They are a rich source of accurate, current information. The Gato del Sol offers unique but practical floor design

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

Handsome stone veneer trim highlights the tremendous curb appeal of the exquisite Gato del Sol. With the garage extended toward the front, a long walkway leads to the recessed entry. Here, a wraparound porch frames a large bay window.

Whether you are sitting in the vaulted living room or on a porch swing, the surrounding view is yours to enjoy.

Once inside this beautiful 2,221-square-foot home, the practicality of the unique floor design is evident. Isolated directly behind the living room, the master suite offers complete privacy, along with such amenities as a generous walk-in closet and private bathroom with twin basins.

The central section of the plan features a spacious family room heated by a gas fireplace. Any gatherings may be held in complete comfort. A side door allows access to an expansive covered deck.

Facing the family room is the formal dining area. This arrangement lends an openness to the entire home that is sure to be appreciated. A U-shape kitchen has been placed between the dining room and the breakfast nook, permitting the cook in the household to serve both formal and informal meals with ease.

Two good-size bedrooms share a full bathroom, and each contains a water basin along with liberal closet space. If desired, one of the rooms may be converted for use as a home office, den, music room or library.

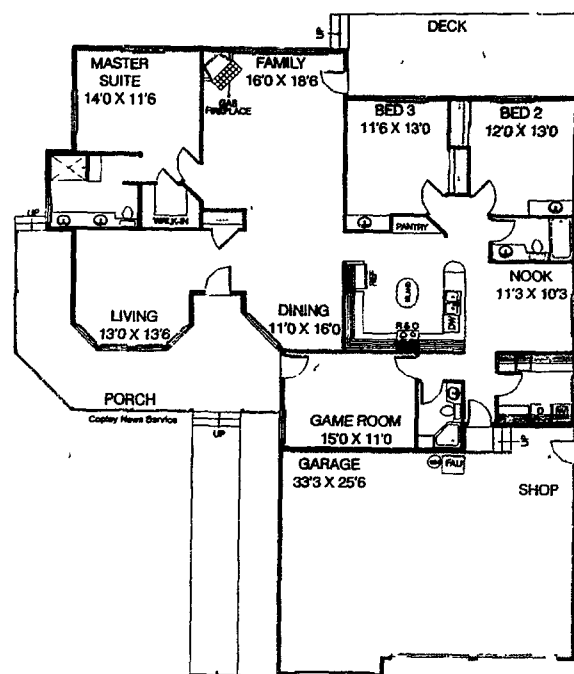

A game room, secluded to muffle the sound, has room for a billiard table, pingpong table or air hockey. For those wanting to keep fit, this is an ideal place to set up your exercise equipment. A convenient bathroom abuts the game room.

A serviceable utility room, located by the inside entrance to the garage, is a good location for discarding soiled clothing before entering the house. The substantial three-car garage allows you to unload groceries immediately into the living area.

This provides added safety, and yields protection from the weather. There is a large shop space for the hobbyist or do-it-yourself enthusiast.

done a cityscape featuring Superman flying through the air. Other favorites include tropical or equestrian themes. The tropical designs are a personal favorite inspired by a recent cruise Chakan took with his wife.

Drawing on his carpentry background, the artist begins creating the figures by cutting the shape from medium density overlay plywood. He paints directly onto the special paper surface.

"I like using different mediums. I use whatever it takes to get the look I want. I may start with paint, then airbrush, or I might use magic markers or pen and ink. I'll even use my fingers to get the effect I want."

Chakan can't remember a time in his life in when he wasn't a committed art lover. Not interested in the typical high school curriculum, art classes filled his schedule. He went on to work at traditional jobs, but a serious accident made him reevaluate his life.

"I was in a bad car accident, and I caught a glimpse of reality. I decided life is too short, have fun. I work in between having fun."

And to Chakan, art is too much fun to consider work. He works hard and plays hard. But whatever he's doing, his art is never far from his mind.

"It's always on my mind. It's one of those things that I fall asleep thinking about the next day's work," he said.

By day, Chakan actually works as a carpenter for Birmingham builders, Thomas Sebold and Associates. He fills his nights and weekends by painting. He puts in about 70 hours between the two careers.

"I'm striving to make it (art) a living. If I could do it full-time by the time I'm 40, I'd consider myself retired," he said.

The best part of his work situation is the flexibility of working out of his home. The bonus of this arrangement is that it affords him not only a view of the lake, but a way to spend time with his wife, Sue, and their two daughters, Christina and Erika.

Chakan has been in sufficient demand to require an assistant, Bruce Thomas to help with backgrounds.

"I consider it the ultimate in life, if you can find what is hard work and enjoy it," he said.

Although his busy schedule doesn't allow him to work out of a gallery any longer, he is hoping to become associated with the Michigan Design Center in Troy, which would provide him a permanent display area.

Chakan's other artwork includes intricate copper and burl creations. Burl is a knot in wood, which he polishes and carves into different shapes. A gallery in Hawaii has recently contacted him concerning some of the ships he's created out of burl.

Well Beings.

Your baby is beautiful. And may be the picture of health. But there's also a one in four chance he or she isn't up-to-date with immunizations. One in four.

Your child needs more than 12 shots over the course of five visits, before the age of two.

So never assume your baby is on schedule. Ask your doctor at every visit.

That way, you'll be certain you're giving your child a fair shot. And that's the most beautiful thing of all.

For more information, please call the National Immunization Information Hotline at 1-800-232-2522.

LET'S TALK Real Estate with Aletta Holmes

PUBLIC AIRING OF LAUNDRY
One of the most popular new trends in single-family residences involves the laundry room. This utilitarian space has moved upstairs from the basement to a location adjacent to the kitchen. Its function has been further enhanced by designating it as a mud room, where children enter the house and wipe their feet before proceeding on. It also helps that children, including the adult types, can strip off their dirty clothing and place it directly in the washing machine. In recognition that some clothes need to drip dry, the latest feature in laundry rooms is the drying cabinet. It resembles a small shower stall with a drain on the floor and hooks at various heights on the wall upon which wet clothes can be hung to dry.
Some people prefer the basement laundry, while others choose to place a washer and dryer on the bedroom level where they undress and the wash is put away. Whatever your preference, make a list of the amenities you want in your new home; then decide which you can't live without and on which you'll consider compromising. After you've defined your dream home, call Holmes for homes at 347-3050. I'm an Associate Broker with the Coldwell Banker/Schwitzer Real Estate office at 41860 W. Six Mile Road.
HINT The trend is for laundry rooms to assume many of the functions that the classic butler's pantry used to perform in older luxury homes

NOVI - 13 Mile & H

Novi welcomes new China Cafe

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Writer

Almost every restaurant cuts corners in making some of its dishes or appetizers.

Chinese restaurants are no different. How many times have you had an egg roll that came out of a freezer or soup that wasn't exactly made that day?

Not at China Cafe. The new Novi establishment goes to great lengths to make sure its items are fresh and not prepackaged.

Take, for example, noodles. China Cafe makes its own with a machine specially ordered from the west coast. Owner Kelly Chang said doing it by hand makes for higher quality.

"The texture isn't soft or mushy," he said of the noodles. "If it's soggy, we've made it wrong."

China Cafe opened in mid-April in the Pine Ridge shopping center at Ten Mile and Novi roads.

"So far," said Susana Chang, co-owner of the restaurant, "the city of Novi has been very receptive. We've been getting a lot of repeat business."

The husband-wife duo purchased the restaurant, which was formerly Cicero's, an Italian eatery, late last year. Susana said it was a relatively easy transition to the style of restaurant they wanted.

"We really didn't have to change much," she said. "It converted nicely to a Chinese restaurant."

Kelly Chang said he had been looking for the ideal site for his restaurant for a couple of years. That search included several states, but nothing really excited him until he saw the Novi location.

"When I found this location there was no hesitation," he commented. "It's a beautiful, growing area. I wanted to be a part of it."

Both Kelly and Susana grew up in the restaurant business.

She said it helped tremendously in setting up China Cafe the right way. Susana they also knew what to expect in terms of getting the business off the ground.

"You have to have the endurance and patience," she said. "If we break even (the first year), I'll be very happy."

"We think of the long term instead of short term."

Considering the quality of cooking, China Cafe is a good bet to make it to that long term. Szechuan, Hunan and Mandarin styles of Chinese cuisine are emphasized at the restaurant.

"The food is totally different than most Chinese restaurants," said Susana.

Kelly and Susana Chang, owners of the new China Cafe in the Pine Ridge shopping center, don't cut corners when it comes to their cooking. Kelly Chang said he has been looking for the location for his restaurant for several years, but had no doubts when he finally came across the Novi site.

Kelly, who is a master chef, said the way he uses garlic makes many of his dishes unique. He added that some of his creations are a little more spicy than others around town.

"I make my own hot sauce," he said. "Everything here is made from scratch."

Ready or not, here come those tuition bills. In the next few months, millions of parents of college-bound students will be making the inevitable switch from saving for college to paying for college. If your child didn't qualify for need-based financial aid, or if what he or she received wasn't enough, the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants suggests you consider the following last-minute strategies for paying college bills.

GO FOR FREE FIRST

If you haven't already done so, now is the time to review all possible sources of grants and scholarships. By now, most of the athletic and academic scholarships have been spoken for, so you'll need to be more creative. Check with your employer. Many companies have scholarship programs open to children of their employees. There are also many private scholarships available that are not based on need but, rather, on personal, occupational and education background, as well as organizational affiliation, talent, ethnic origin and other factors. You can find a number of catalogs and directories that provide comprehensive lists of potential grant and scholarship sources. Or, you can do your search electronically by checking out the enormous amount of scholarship information available on the Internet. However, if you still find yourself coming up short, borrowing may be your only option.

TURN TO THE FEDS

The government offers several non-need-based loan programs at rates that are generally lower than you would get elsewhere. The government lends to students under the Stafford Loan program, and parents can borrow through the Parent Loans for Undergraduate Students (PLUS) program. Any student who is enrolled in an eligible program of study at least half-time qualifies for an unsubsidized Stafford Loan. Freshman students can borrow up to $2,625, sophomores can get up to $3,500 and $5,500 is available for each of the two remaining undergraduate years. The Stafford Loan's variable rate, adjusted each year on July 1, is capped at 8.25 percent. However, the student must pay an origination fee of 4 percent of the amount borrowed, which is deducted from the loan amount.

Interest on unsubsidized Stafford Loans begins to accrue following the first disbursement. Students pay the interest while they are in school or can choose to defer interest payments until six months after graduation, at which time the accrued interest due is added to the loan balance. Students have up to 10 years to repay Stafford Loans. Depending on the college, the student may arrange for a Stafford Loan either through a bank or through the college's financial aid office.

LOOK CLOSE TO HOME

Some families may not realize that they have resources of their own from which they can borrow. For example, by applying for a home equity loan or line of credit, you may be able to use the equity you have built up in your home to pay for tuition. In most cases, interest on up to $100,000 of a home equity loan is fully deductible.

Community pulls together to provide playscape for kids

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

It was indeed a community effort. More than 900 volunteers signed up for 1,245 separate shifts, hammering, sawing and sweating for five days last week. When they were finished a one acre parking lot was transformed into a magical Victorian playground that will provide fun and excitement for children for years to come.

About one year after its conception, Northville's playscape, "Fort Griswold," is no longer a sketch on a page but a definite reality after hundreds of residents volunteered their time to construct the playground June 4-8.

"It sort of reminds you of an old fashioned barn raising," said Sue Egan, who served as the Playscape Committee's volunteer coordinator. "Everyone was just so enthusiastic, so helpful. It was wonderful to see all of the people show up."

The volunteers came in a small trickle at first, according to Egan, but as the week progressed people arrived in cascading waves ready to work.

"The numbers were a little short Wednesday through Friday but we managed quite well," she said. "We had a lot to compete with this week - The Red Wings in the Stanley Cup Finals, graduation, the Detroit Grand Prix - but we still managed to get enough volunteers to keep us on schedule."

The work was completed by 7 p.m. Sunday, just in time for the opening ceremony.

"We've been going at it non-stop, and everyone has been working extremely hard to finish," said Kevin Hartshorne, playscape co-chairman. "Going back to my job on Monday will seem like a vacation compared to the past five days."

Fortunately, the weather didn't dampen things for the volunteer construction crews. After about a week of nothing but rain, the sun came out just in time for Wednesday's construction kick-off. Sunshine and 70 degree temperatures were the norm for the entire week.

"Mother nature couldn't have timed this any better," Hartshorne said. "Things would have gotten messy if it had rained."

For playscape co-chairman Tanya Bartello, Sunday's opening was the culmination of a year's worth of hard work by volunteers.

"I can remember meeting with committee members one year ago, and we weren't sure we were going to be able to pull this off," she said Sunday. "We didn't know if we were going to be able to raise enough money, and then we didn't know if we were going to have enough volunteers from the community to actually build it."

"Seeing all of the people working together - working towards a common goal - was tremendous."

Long road to completion paid big dividends

Construction captain Katherine Mach and Playscape Committee Co-chair Kevin Hartshorne survey the progress of playscape assembly on Saturday.

Kevin Hartshorne took a break Sunday afternoon to admire the scene before him.

"Isn't this a great sight?" he said, motioning toward the 100 or so volunteers putting the finishing touches on Northville's playscape, Fort Griswold. "There were times when we weren't sure we were going to be able to pull this off, but it all came together."

Hartshorne, along with Tanya Bartello, co-chaired the community playscape effort. Despite the successful conclusion of the year-long effort, the road there was pretty bumpy at times, Bartello explained.

"At first we didn't think we'd be able to raise enough money and that was a major concern for us," she said. "Then we had to worry about whether we'd get enough people to volunteer to build it."

Hartshorne recalled that he didn't want to participate in the effort at first. "I remember reading in the newspaper that volunteers were needed to serve on the committee and I said to myself, 'uh-uh I'm not going to get involved,'" he said. "Then I found out where the playscape was going to be located, and I knew I had no choice but to get involved."

The playscape's location on Griswold Street is right across from Hartshorne's home. So Hartshorne agreed to co-chair the committee and found himself standing in the rain during the Victorian Festival trying to sell pickets to raise funds for the project.

"I wondered then whether we were going to be able to raise the money," he said.

"Looking back, the fund-raising was probably the easiest part."

The committee brought a circus to town, sold pickets, ran bowl-a-thons, sponsored pancake breakfasts, and doggedly sought corporate and business support. Bartello recalled that the circus almost turned into a disaster.

"There were charges that the circus had a history of abusing animals, and the city almost canceled the circus a couple weeks before it was supposed to come to Northville," she said.

"I had to do so much research and make so many phone calls to prove that the circus was legitimate and didn't abuse their animals."

After clearing that hurdle and several others, the committee had a few difficult moments with the Northville Planning Commission in March.

"They didn't approve it initially, but after we made some changes the commission gave us the OK to proceed," Hartshorne said.

The committee cleared its final hurdle two weeks ago, when they agreed to a space compromise with the city and McDonald Ford, which leases a portion of nearby city property to house its new car fleet.

"We agreed to make the playscape a little smaller in order to accommodate their space needs," Hartshorne explained.

With the new playground complete and ready for use Hartshorne said he's ready to resume his normal everyday activities.

"I'd like to be able to see my kitchen table," he said laughing. "Since this thing started I haven't had the chance to just sit at my kitchen table."

Castle-like structure is multi-faceted shrine to child's play

By RANDY COBLE

If you can't tell from the pictures, Northville's new playscape is not just some set of swings and a teeter-totter.

It is, in fact, a gigantic shrine to the fun of play and the possibilities of the imagination. Fort Griswold is unique and contains all kinds of special features not to be found at any other playground in the area.

Here's a rundown of the key features of the playscape:

- Victorian Street You'll notice this beautifully decorated and painted area of Fort Griswold as soon as you arrive, done in a style designed to reflect the town's Victorian motif. Be sure to check out the detail work when you walk by.
- Ground Surface A foot of special soft mulch is in place to cushion little feet.
- Tot Lot It's a special area in the playscape reserved just for the little folks and contains fun stuff that's just their size such as sandboxes, slides and even a "covered wagon" perfect for pretend hiding and riding.
- Benches There are more than a dozen of them for adults and kids alike to take a breather on, some located outside the playscape structure and others built right in at different points inside Fort Griswold.

• Sandboxes Some are big, some are small and they're scattered all around, including some that are set aside for the youngest children.

• Slides Take your pick from five different slides which vary in height and slope. Some even have a twist or two! To be found at Fort Griswold are the Black Hole Tunnel Slide, the Twirly Slide, the Dinosaur Slide, the Tunnel Slide and the Turtle Slide.

• Wheelchair Access Ramp Located at the southeast end of the playscape, it ensures that everyone can take part in the fun.

• Tic-tac-toe Take a good look at this unique feature. It's a version of the old classic that uses blocks set on vertical metal pins. Just spin the blocks to put up your X or O.

• Chimes Touch this vertical xylophone and you'll fill the playscape with pleasant tones. It's kid-sized, of course!

• Picnic Table After a session of running, jumping, digging, climbing and sliding it's good to have a place where you can cool off. Plan on belying up to this one for an old-fashioned family picnic.

• Spy Towers Topped with colorful turrets, these occupy the highest spots on Fort Griswold. They're a great place to "stand guard," spot mom or just see it all.

• Fun Mirror You'll have to look hard to find this one. It's hidden in a secret spot in the playscape. Find it and you'll see yourself like you could in a crazy circus mirror.

• Bike Rack Who needs a car? Saddle up, ride the Schwinn down to the playscape, then park and lock it up before heading to an afternoon of frolicking.

• Playhouse It's the place for kids to go to take a break or for some sit-down fun.

The next few items are part of the playscape's "obstacle course" for kids who like to take on a challenge. There are two sets of some of these obstacles, one for the bigger kids and one for smaller folk.

• Rubber Bridge See if you can keep on your feet while crossing this one, which is constructed with a giant sheet of thick, flexible rubber that jiggles with every step.

• Rope Walk One of the toughest spots in all of Fort Griswold, you'll try to make it from platform to another by walking along a single length of rubber-covered chain. You can use a second length of chain, positioned at waist height, as a handhold if you want but advanced trekkers should plan on trying to go solo.

• Rings A line of overhead rings is the next challenge. See if you can make it across them without your feet touching the ground by swinging from one to another.

• Ladders It's horizontal to the ground, not vertical, so plan to use your hands, not your feet, to get across this one. Just pull yourself along one rung at a time.

• Chin-up Pipe Get ready to grunt! See how many times you can pull yourself up to the bar using nothing but brute strength.

Is there a climber in your family? If so, send him or her to Fort Griswold where there's more ups and downs than in an elevator factory. Here are the highlights.

• Stairs and Levels In and around the playscape are a multitude of stairs, platforms and "secret" levels that kids will have a ball discovering and exploring.

• Tunnels and Catwalks Adding to the fun are the many passageways that lead from one side of Fort Griswold to another, including going under and over.

• Fire Pole We all loved to slide down this one as a kid, pretending we were firefighters or Batman. It's back and covered in a protective, nonslip red-colored coating.

• Shaky Bridge As you cross this second-story wooden footbridge, you'll have visions of Indiana Jones.

• Cargo Net & Spider Web See if you can climb up and down these rubber-covered chain climbing walls that connect playscape platforms. Real experts can do it with no hands!

• Fort/Vertical Tire Tunnel It's a sneaky way to escape pursuit during a heated game of tag. Lower yourself through the tire tunnel opening on the second story, drop through the "tunnel" and all of sudden you're on the ground and ready to roll.

Dedication was pay-off for the hundreds who labored

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

It seemed sometimes like this moment would never come. It did, though. On Sunday evening, at long last, Northville's new playscape welcomed the community whose members had brought it to life.

The whine of the saws faded away. The pounding of the rails, nails and spikes ceased. Tools and loose lumber were cleared away, leaving only the sun and wind and the wafting smell of cedar mulch to greet visitors.

And there were certainly a lot of them, queuing up for more than an hour to beat feet into Fort Griswold. After spending a week laboring side by side, the folks who came as strangers now stood together as neighbors, admiring their handiwork.

And what a sprawling paradise of play it is. A land of catwalks and cupolas, sandboxes and slides, bridges and turrets, all decorated for the moment of dedication with paper chains made by the kids who stood ready to be turned loose upon it.

They held balloons in their hands as they waited, ready to tie them onto some special place they found in Fort Griswold. Within minutes the playscape was bedecked with dozens of them.

"Are you ready to play out there?" was all co-coordinator Kevin Hartshorne needed to ask.

The roar of response was all that needed, speaking volumes about the sweetness of the moment of success. It was punctuated only by rounds of applause and the snapping of cameras.

Then they came, young and old and everyone in between, taking a stroll through the new community showpiece.

"This is the deck that daddy and I built," one woman told her son as they walked hand in hand.

As kids clambered over stairs, down tunnels, across rings and under platforms, one little girl plunked out Mary Had a Little Lamb on the set of chimes built into Fort Griswold. They explored every nook and cranny, traveling from one end to another with their feet never touching the ground.

After a while, parents and volunteers sat back to soak in the scene they had visualized in their minds for more than year, watching kids enjoying the fruits of a labor of love.

"We built this," was how one young volunteer put it. "I built this. That's a great feeling."

"Half the fun was making it," said a mom as she followed her son with a camcorder.

"I'm still sore!" joked a man sitting nearby.

That was a common sentiment among those who helped out on Fort Griswold.

So was this one: "I can't wait to go back to work so I can relax!"

A completed Fort Griswold is bedecked with colorful balloons during its first moments of operation.

Pizza, pasta and porta-johns sustained legions of volunteers

By ROBERT JACKSON

Just how do you feed and care for a construction crew numbering more than 900 people?

That's the imposing task put before the Northville Playscape Committee during the construction of the playground June 4-8.

"Our volunteers did a wonderful job making sure there was enough food, soda, and water for everyone," said Tanya Bartello, playscape co-chairman.

According to Liz Burns, who chaired the Playscape Food Committee, there was plenty to eat and drink for everyone.

"We received a lot of help from local businesses and restaurants as far as food donations, and by the time the playscape was finished we fed a lot of people," Burns explained. "Our volunteers, especially Sally Rigo, Dawn Pankopf, and Joan Hersey did a tremendous job throughout the week."

According to Burns volunteers consumed more than 75 cases of Coke beverages, 120 pizzas, 500 hot dogs, 40 pounds of pasta, 50 pounds of baked beans, 50 pounds of coleslaw, 20 loaves of bread, 40 pounds of lunch meat, 40 pounds of cold pasta salad, and 50 pounds of potato salad.

"Volunteers also consumed more than six, six-foot long submarine sandwiches," Burns said with a chuckle.

"And that's not counting all of the food that was donated by individuals."

"I think it's important to thank all of the businesses that contributed to this effort," Burns added. "This project gave me a true sense of the community and how we all managed to pull together to get this playscape completed."

Aside from the food there were other accommodations for the long list of volunteers, according to Bartello.

The First Presbyterian Church provided day care services throughout the five-day buildout. Huron Valley Emergency Services provided an ambulance on site throughout construction, and four medical technicians volunteered their time as well.

"We were able to get help from everyone, and that made the project that much more successful," Bartello said.

"It was an enjoyable experience that many members of the community will remember for a long time."

Donations big and small provided resources to finish project

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

They came, they saw, they built.

A lot of folks lent a hand to take Fort Griswold, Northville's new playscape, off the drawing board and into our town. They served the cause in several different ways.

Some were the dedicated core of volunteers who made up the coordinating committee that's worked for more than a year on the project. Others were businesses and community groups that donated cash and goods.

Finally there was the vast army of those who gave their time and energy to raise the playscape from the dust.

"Everyone helped out where they could," said playscape general co-coordinator Tanya Bartello. "This was about bringing the people of Northville together and they really met the challenge."

It's been a long and hard year of work to gather the money and materials for Fort Griswold: in excess of $90,000. Like the journey of a thousand miles, the playscapers reached their goal one step at a time.

"Little by little, it really added up," was how Bartello put it.

"People have been really generous," Bartello said with a smile. "It's amazing and it's great."

The biggest fund-raiser was picket-selling. Lining the outer rim of Fort Griswold is a fence built with pickets. Each picket bears the name of a donor who contributed $50 or more to the effort.

More than 400 have been sold so far, for a total of $20,000 raised, Bartello said. Pickets are still available, by the way, and if you're interested call Debbie Reisman at 349-2469.

Another hot item was the "selling" of pieces of playscape equipment to willing sponsors. If you're interested in becoming a sponsor, call Bartello at (313) 420-3047.

Then there's the thousands of dollars donated from the Friends of Northville Parks & Recreation.

The Friends received help from the playscape committee with its annual fund-raising dinner/auction this year and are assisting Fort Griswold by earmarking 25 percent of the auction proceeds for that project.

Also high on the list of donors is Browning Ferris Industries (BFI), which supplied the foot-deep supply of soft mulch which lines the entire playscape area.

Many other businesses and community groups made donations of their own, from funds to construction materials to food and drink for the laborers during construction week.

For example, a crane operator brought his machine in on Sunday morning to install the turrets atop Fort Griswold. The Awesome Bounce Company brought in a moonwalk for the kids, while First Presbyterian Church of Northville hosted child care services.

Incredibly, Bartello noted, those are just a few of the people, businesses and groups who helped out, especially during construction week. There were countless others whose efforts were indispensable to the project.

Several crew captains led the way, showing up every morning at 8 a.m. to lead the brigades, putting in 16-hour days to make sure it all got done right. More than 1,200 people signed up to work construction shifts, helping to reduce costs immeasurably and make a difficult job possible.

Everyone got into the act. Even kids as young as 2-years old helped by dipping thousands of screws into a wax sealer.

"One person could have never done this," Bartello said. "It's great to see."

Playscape Committee Treasurer Mike Haggerty said professional services cost the committee around $27,000. Most of that went to the architectural designers, Leathers & Associates.

Wood might have been the largest single expense, costing around $30,000, according to Haggerty. Various other materials required another $11,000 in expenditures.

"I'm still waiting for some of the bills to come in," Haggerty remarked.

Fund-raising was months in making

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

A year of hard work generated the funds which helped build Fort Griswold. A series of events, put together with the cooperation of a huge coalition, brought it all about.

Here's a list of the fund-raisers held for Northville's new playscape:

- A circus held on the grounds of Northville Downs.
- A special dinner at MacKinnon's.
- An auction sponsored by the Northville Central Business Association.
- A Christmas gift wrapping drive held at Twelve Oaks Mall.
- Fund-raising at the Victorian Festival.
- Flower sales at Sam's Club.
- Coin drop boxes, made from Guernsey's milk containers, scattered all over town.
- Rounds of bowling at Novi Bowl.
- A raffle through Baby, Baby with prizes of face painting, Beanie Babies and your picture with Honey Bear.
- A raffle for a bicycle through Town & Country Eyecare's Dr. Tim Kirk.

• A special playscape raffle including a grand prize of an Al Kaline rookie baseball card and second and third prizes of dinner for two at MacKinnon's and Rocky's.

• A Tiger baseball game outing.

Topping the list was the money coming from the Friends of Northville Parks and Recreation. The Playscape Committee assisted the Friends in putting on its annual April fund-raising dinner/auction.

The Friends organization has pledged a donation of 25 percent of the proceeds of that event to the playscape.

• For the auction former American Elementary Principal William Kraft donated a baseball signed by some of the game's legends.

• Water bottles and T-shirts.

• Solicited donations from local businesses and individuals for money and construction materials.

This significantly reduced their costs. Sale of individual pieces of play equipment which make up the playscape.

Playset made magical appearance

How'd we do it?

Same as always. Somehow it was chaotic, messy, loud, dirty, discombobulated, frenzied, energetic and improbable. But in the end it was better than good, it was finished.

I have to admit, standing at the playscape site late Sunday afternoon and looking over the scene, I didn't see how it could all come together in time for the 6 p.m. dedication.

Power cords slithered across the floor of the playground, saw horses supported half-cut planks, piles of wood shavings stood unattended.

We're not even close to being done, I thought to myself, and I've got a photographer coming in a few hours to get a lead picture for our special section.

Organizer Kevin Hartshorne was reassuring, saying the structure would be completed on time.

We didn't quite make it, but it was close. Amazingly so. The dedication took place around 7.

If you were among the hundreds of volunteers who helped build Fort Griswold Wednesday through Sunday, you understand my disbelief. Playscape constructions are enormous projects and everybody who works on them is a volunteer.

It seems like an impossible feat. Men, women and children, skilled and unskilled laborers, fork-lift operators and nail pounders, Sanders, rakers and routers - none of them paid - converge on a huge plot of land for an old-fashioned barn-raising.

And just when you think the whole idea sounds like something dreamed up by the Heavenly Gate, it starts to take shape.

Such was the case last Sunday on Griswold near Ford Field.

To say it went uniformly smooth would be not be true. Turnout on some days was light and a few early shifts were scrapped due to lack of participation.

But when it came right down to it, there was enough elbow grease to get the job done on time - give or take an hour or so. Three cheers for us.

According to the people at the Robert Leathers firm, the company that designed the structure, Michigan communities usually possess the expertise to build playscapes. Everyone in rust belt cities seems capable of putting things together and operating power tools, one Leathers associate said.

Maybe so, but I prefer to think that it was sheer determination and hard work that accomplished the task, with more than a few helpings of tender loving care thrown in for good measure.

Considering the magnitude of the project and the number of people who found a place for themselves on the construction site, the playscape buildout was nothing short of miraculous.

So I guess if anyone ever wants to know how Fort Griswold was really built just answer them with one word: magic.

“I'm very moved. I think it is just incredible, the work that went into it ... It's amazing. I'm really pleased ... The two fellows from Leathers said that to watch this happen, with the little kids (playing on it) is worth anything they go through during the build. Isn't that nice. They were both here before I got here at 7 every morning and I stayed a little later than they did, but I did the clean up. I left about 10:30 every night, and my feet are very sore.”

“Like there's all these places to play tag and stuff. And there's little sandboxes everywhere, and if you are playing hide-and-go-seek it's good because there's these little places. And I think it's good because a lot of people worked together to help make it.”

“Really incredible, to go from starting this whole program and seeing it come to life. And the key is to see the kids and how they are enjoying it right now. It had a few of the committee members a little teary-eyed, everybody was just so happy to see this come together. It's a tremendous amount of work and a tremendous amount of effort from the volunteers.”

— Mike Haggerty

“I think it is wonderful. The kids are going to have so much fun. And my husband worked on it for Friday, Saturday and Sunday. And now he is showing me all of the work that he did. I think it's great. I think everybody is going to love it.”

“I think it sounds really nice to hear all of the kids' voices instead of all the saws. It really sounds like the kids are having a good time, and that's why we made it. There were a lot of people who worked over in the child care center where I was on Saturday. We took care of all the kids for all the workers who were over here. Those were the unsung people. We had over two dozen kids on the afternoon shift, while their moms and dads were over here working on this.”

Northville

“I think it's a great thing. What do you think? Have you tried everything yet? Even the talking boxes? Find any mistakes? We didn't make any. The thing that amazed me was all the power lines that were running around all over the place. Then people would all of the sudden say, ‘I have no power.’ Then you'd start tracing it back.”

Huge effort culminates in dream play area

The volunteer list, with close to 1,250 names, told the real story, according to Egan.

“We had public officials cutting boards and pounding nails,” she said. “There were doctors, and lawyers, business owners and everyday moms and dads. Some were skilled, some weren't, but it didn't matter. Everyone took part in building this playground.”

There were volunteers like Mark Cryderman, a Northville City Councilman, who took a week off to serve as a playscape construction captain.

“I figured what the heck, I'll work the entire week,” he said. “It's great to be part of a community effort like this.”

There were also volunteers like Northville postal worker Trish Kero, who initially signed up to work one four hour shift on Wednesday and ended up working each day of the buildout.

“Initially, I told them I'd only give them four hours,” she said. “But it was such a great experience I had to keep coming back.”

Kero lives in Westland and her Northville experience prompted her to volunteer to work on Westland's playscape next September.

“The spirit of everyone pitching in is so infectious,” Kero said. “I just found myself coming back everyday. I couldn't stay away.”

“We couldn't keep her away,” Egan said, chuckling. “She even showed up with her postal uniform on and helped us on her lunch hour.”

Northville residents Frank and Ann Dolsen, both in their 70s, had nothing better to do on a warm Sunday afternoon, so they got in the car and ended up at the playscape site.

“We just wanted to lend a hand,” the couple said as they began cutting two-by-fours on a table saw. “We wanted to do our part.”

Even high school students wanted to share in the load. Jeremy and Joshua Smith, along with friend Mark Barringer spent a few hours on Friday wood staining dozens of pre-cut planks.

“I wish we could spend more time helping out. We've really had a great time,” Jeremy Smith said. “We might be able to come back sometime during the weekend.”

“It's a nice day to be working outdoors,” Barringer added. “Much better than being inside school all day.”

Northville School Superintendent Leonard Reznierski joined the effort Saturday and said that involving kids in the construction process had plenty of constructive results.

“You have hundreds of adults working together, helping each other out. That's a great model for kids, and it reinforces the importance of working as a team,” he said. “This is a tremendous community effort, and the people who gave of their time and energy to build this will never forget the experience for the rest of their lives.”

Hartshorne said the overall community effort was fantastic.

“You can't leave here without feeling positive about what's been done this week,” he concluded.

“Look around you. All of these people have donated their time and energy to build something for the kids of our community.”

What a Weekend!

It's a weekend not to be missed! Over 100,000 visitors will marvel at stunt kites and skydivers, be charmed by medieval knights and ladies, enjoy antique cars and arts and crafts, race radio-controlled cars, ride carnival thrill rides, discover a great downtown and enjoy all kinds of entertainment. And that's just during the day.

Early morning and early evening belongs to the stars and centerpiece of this big weekend: the over 50 beautiful hot-air balloons competing for the official Michigan Championship of Hot-air Ballooning. It's the Michigan Challenge XIII Balloonfest, June 20, 21 and 22 at the Howell High School complex and in downtown Howell.

Organizers expect that another record crowd from throughout the state and the Midwest will fill Howell for a weekend of high-flying fun and excitement. Fifty-two pilots will compete for the Michigan Challenge trophy.

The Michigan Challenge is hosted by the Howell Area Chamber of Commerce. Major Sponsor is First of America Bank. Supporting Sponsors are Citizens Insurance Company, Pepsi, Mister Rubbish and Kensington Valley Factory Shops.

Mass balloon launches will take place, weather permitting, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings. Early birds can arrive just after dawn on Saturday and Sunday to enjoy watching the pilots compete as they fly in to the site after launching their craft from locations in the countryside.

Spectators will see wonderful special shaped balloons, such as Garfield the Cat, Mr. Biddle, the Famous Footwear Big Foot tennis shoe and Pepe, the world's only flying penguin.

SATURDAY NIGHT BALLOON GLOW AND SUPERNOVA NIGHT SHOW

It's the high point of a spectacular weekend: the Balloon Glow and Supernova Night Show. The color and spectacle make this a not-to-be-missed event.

As darkness falls, more than 30 pilots will return from their competitive flights to inflate their balloons on the launch field. It will be a never-to-be-forgotten sight as the many colors of the balloons are illuminated against the night sky. Then, from about a mile above the ground the Supernova Night Show will begin.

The Aerial Allstars Skydiving Team will perform a fantastic night jump, complete with pyrotechnics.

SPEND THE DAY

Visitors are encouraged to spend the day at the Michigan Challenge. It's a festival jam-packed with activities for the entire family. At the balloonfest site, visitors will be thrilled by five day-time performances by the Aerial Allstars Skydiving Team, sponsored by MediaOne.

First of America, major sponsor, leads the way at one of last year's balloon launches.

The Windjammers Stunt Kite Team will put on shows Saturday and Sunday afternoon. The Windjammers are sponsored by Blue Cross/Blue Shield of MI and Blue Care Network.

Serena's Song, the world's only handicapped-accessible balloon will return to the balloonfest to give free tethered balloon rides to children and adults in wheelchairs during launch times Friday, Saturday and Sunday evening and Saturday and Sunday morning, weather permitting. Serena's visit is sponsored by Wal-Mart and Innovations Home Care.

Radio-controlled car buffs can compete in fun races during the Rider's R.C. Open on Saturday and Sunday afternoon.

Other attractions at the Michigan Challenge Balloonfest site include a medieval village, a huge arts and crafts show, an antique and custom car show, frisbee shows, the Huron-Clinton Metropark Mobile Learning Center and an expanded carnival with a 100 foot Giant Wheel.

DOWNTOWN HOWELL

Visitors to downtown Howell will enjoy a great assortment of entertainment and activities than ever before, centered around the historic Livingston County Courthouse.

Music and entertainment at the courthouse amphitheater in the center of historic downtown Howell will take place Friday evening, Saturday and Sunday of balloonfest weekend.

Concerts by the Old Dogs, the L.C. Brass and Not Afraid are just some of the musical treats awaiting visitors downtown. There will be horse-drawn carriage rides through the streets of Howell, leaving from the courthouse.

Other downtown entertainment will include an antique auction, kiddie parade, dog show, yo-yo and magic shows, an Amazing Maze and Balloon Typhoon.

The downtown events are located approximately one mile east of the balloonfest launch site, on Grand River Avenue. So, come early and stay late all three days and enjoy everything the Michigan Challenge has to offer!

Michigan Challenge XIII

Downtown bustling with events

They say all dogs go to heaven. This one's getting a head start at the annual dog show, one of the most popular downtown events of the Balloonfest.

You haven't seen all of the Michigan Challenge Balloonfest if you haven't visited Historic Downtown Howell. Right in the heart of downtown at the Livingston County Courthouse is a festival of music, comedy, and entertainment all weekend long.

The Old Dogs, Not Afraid and the L.C. Brass will be the featured musical groups downtown at the Courthouse Amphitheater. Balloonfest favorites, Zeemo the Magnificent, yo-yo and unicyclist extraordinaire and magician Buddy Moorehouse will return. There will be an antique auction, kiddie parade, dogs shows, coney eating contests and more all weekend long.

Kids can explore the Amazing Maze and play in the Balloon Typhoon. The Howell Farmers' Market will be open Saturday and Sunday on State Street and horse-drawn Victorian carriages will take visitors on a slow and easy trip through the streets of the city. Here's the schedule for downtown activities:

FRIDAY

Concert on the Lawn 6 p.m. The musical group "Not Afraid" will entertain at the courthouse amphitheater from 6 to 10 p.m. An area favorite, the band plays popular music that appeals to all ages.

SATURDAY

An antique auction, kiddie parade, dog show and Zeemo the Magnificent will highlight Saturday, culminating in the Old Dogs concert at 5 p.m. The Howell Farmers' Market will be open on State Street offering the freshest and best from the farm. There will be Victorian horse-drawn carriage rides, appearances by Petals the Clown, an Amazing Maze and Balloon Typhoon for the kids. Here's the schedule:

Farmers' Market 9 a.m.-5 p.m. The Howell Farmers' Market will be open on State Street, featuring home grown, home baked and home made goodies. Some of the Howell area's finest growers will have their produce for sale. The market is adjacent to all the courthouse activities.

Antique Auction 10 a.m. Egnash Auction Gallery of Howell will conduct their sixth annual balloonfest auction of antiques, collectibles, furniture and more on the courthouse lawn at 10 a.m. You may preview the auction beginning at 9 a.m.

Kiddie Parade 10 a.m. This year's theme of the Kiddie Parade is "Prehistoric Parade." Children and parents can show off their creativity beginning at 10 a.m. in the amphitheater. No pre-registration is necessary. The parade will travel west along the sidewalk to Michigan Avenue and return to the amphitheater. Celebrity judges will give awards for the Best Use of Theme, Most Unique and the Honors Award.

Flying Aces Pro Frisbee Team 11 a.m. You've never seen frisbees thrown like this! Catch the Flying Aces Pro Frisbee Team as they perform dazzling tricks with their flying disks at 11. Learn a few tricks yourself to impress your friends!

Downtown offers many diversions from balloons

Dog Show Noon One of the most popular downtown events, this is the eighth annual balloonfest dog show. The show is sponsored by Pet Provisions and Iams Dog Food. Prizes will be awarded for the "best costume," "owner-pet look alike," "ugliest mutt," and "best trick." The winner in each category will get a trophy and a year's supply of dog food. There will be prizes for second and third places as well. And each participant will receive a "doggie goodie bag." Show up with your pooch for pre-registration, beginning at 11 a.m.

Karate Demonstration 1 p.m.

At 1 p.m. it's the always-popular karate demonstration by Kils Korean Karate school. Students and experts will demonstrate Tae Kwon Do techniques designed to teach mastery over mind and body. At the amphitheater.

Coney Eating Contest 2 p.m.

Hungry? At 2 p.m. it's time for the annual Fat Dale's Coney Eating Contest. Coney aficionados will try to beat the record. Come to the amphitheater and bring a big appetite.

Zeemo the Magnificent 3 p.m.

Yo-yo master, magician, unicyclist and entertainer extraordinaire Zeemo will delight young and old with his yo-yo tricks, juggling and antics at 3 p.m. at the amphitheater.

K-9 Klick Canine Team 4 p.m.

The K-9 Klick Canine Team, made up of dogs and owners, will perform tricks and routines at the amphitheater at 4 p.m. There will be plenty of time for questions and a chance to pet the beautiful dogs.

Concert on the Lawn 5 to 8 p.m.

The "Old Dogs" is a five-piece rock band featuring classic rock with three and four part harmonies. This will be their second appearance at the downtown venue.

SUNDAY

Concerts by the South American group Ingapirca, the L.C. Brass quintet and a magic show by Buddy Moorehouse are a few of the attraction on Sunday. Visit the Howell Farmers' market on State Street, adjacent to the courthouse. Take a horse-drawn carriage ride. Let the kids crawl through the Amazing Maze. Here's a schedule of Sunday's activities.

Farmers' Market 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Howell's Sunday Farmers' Market will be open downtown on State Street, adjacent to all the courthouse amphitheater. Stop by to purchase home grown, home baked and home made goodies. Many of the area's finest farmers and growers will have their produce for sale.

Cloggers 11 a.m. "The Double Takes," Howell's own clogging group, will entertain with their quick-stepping dance routines at 11 a.m. at the amphitheater. Always a crowd pleaser.

Ingapirca Noon Ingapirca is a

South American musical group from Ecuador. Their style of music is non-traditional but rather contemporary. The instruments to create their unique sound are hand-made pan flutes, guitar, bass guitar, charango, congos and bongos. Noon at the amphitheater.

Magician Buddy Moorehouse 1

p.m. Sleight of hand, disappearing acts, and other amazing feats of magic are just part of Buddy Moorehouse's delightful repertoire of magic. At 1 p.m. in the amphitheater.

Zeemo The Magnificent will dazzle the crowd with his antics Saturday.

L.C. Brass 2 p.m. Show tunes, jazz, movie themes, pop favorites—even some rock—is all part of the L.C. Brass' versatile repertoire. Enjoy this 2 p.m. concert at the amphitheater.

Flying Aces Pro Frisbee Team 3

p.m. They're back for a second performance downtown at 3 p.m. You won't believe your eyes when you see some of the frisbee tricks they'll perform. Learn a few tricks yourself to amaze your friends.

There's plenty of fun for kids at Balloonfest

What's a kid to do? At the Michigan Challenge Balloonfest — PLENTY!

Radio-controlled car racing Rider's Hobby Shop will host free R.C. car racing on the tennis courts behind the commercial food court on Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. Bring your own car to compete, or just have fun with one of theirs.

Carnival thrill rides Take a spin on the Giant Wheel. Thrill to the Alpine Bobs. Test your driving skills on the bumper cars. Littler children can enjoy Up, Up and Away, a hot-air balloon ride. All these rides and 18 more can be found at the Wade Show Carnival.

Stunt kites Kids can learn to fly one of those thrilling stunt kites when the Windjammers Stunt Kite team and other experienced kites take to the launch field from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. for open stunt kiting on Saturday and Sunday. Just walk up to a team member and ask! They love to share their sport.

Downtown It's festival time in downtown Howell during balloonfest. Kids will love the Amazing Maze and the Balloon Typhoon. There is continuous entertainment, including karate shows, dog shows, magicians, yo-yo experts and more. All downtown entertainment is centered around the historic Livingston County Courthouse.

Frisbee Shows The Flying Aces Pro Frisbee Team will put on shows at 1 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday on the launch field and at 11 a.m. Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday downtown. Some kids will be selected to compete for prizes!

Dog Shows Got a dog? Bring him to the downtown Dog Show at noon on Saturday by the courthouse. Prizes will be awarded for the best trick, owner-pet look-alike, ugliest mutt and more. Win a year's supply of dog food for your pooch!

Kiddie Parade The downtown Kiddie Parade at noon on Saturday is a real show-stopper. This year's theme is "Prehistoric Parade." Kids can show off their creativity with costumes relating to the theme. Celebrity judges will present trophies and prizes. Entrants should meet at the courthouse amphitheater just before noon. No pre-registration is necessary.

Pony Rides Ride 'em cowboy at the pony rides just north of the launch field. A ride is just $2.

Sky Diving Well, no, kids can't actually skydive at the Michigan Challenge Balloonfest. But the Aerial Allstars Skydiving Team loves to talk with kids, show off their equipment and give out free balloons. Shows at 5 p.m. Friday, 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Saturday and noon and 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Great Food From cotton candy to hot dogs, pizza and popcorn, the balloonfest has lots of great food for the most discriminating kid palate. Wash it down with plenty of Pepsi!

Balloons, Balloons, Balloons It is the balloonfest after all. Kids will love Mr. Biddle, Garfield the Cat, Pepe the Penguin and all the other gorgeous balloons. Help count down to the incredible Balloon Glow on Saturday night and watch the Aerial Allstars do their spectacular Supernova Night Show.

Dressed as mermaid and starfish, Katie Markovich, 9, and brother Cory, 2, enjoy being in last year's Kiddie Parade.

What's new?

Balloonfest welcomes new airborne stars

There will be new airborne stars at this year's Michigan Challenge Balloonfest: doves.

Beautiful white doves will take to the air during opening ceremonies each day of the Michigan Challenge Balloonfest.

As the skydivers land with the American flag during their 5 p.m. scheduled jump, more than 25 doves will be released from their cage on the launch field. The beautiful flock will soar to the skies and make their way back to their home on Argentine Road in Howell.

The dove release is engineered by Chris Metzloff of Doves In Flight. Metzloff provides dove releases for many special events all year long.

The doves are white rock doves, specially bred and trained to return to their home in Howell. These birds enjoy flying and are given exercise and special training each day.

Since their safety is Metzloff's primary concern, the release may be delayed or canceled in the event of rain or very high winds.

Doves have long been a symbol of peace and love. Doves In Flight provides white dove releases for weddings, grand openings, graduation and retirement parties, funerals or any other religious or special event.

Metzloff's doves have "starred" in many events within 50 miles of their home in Howell. For more information, call (517) 552-DOVE.

Radio-controlled car racing new to balloonfest this year

Take the corners on two wheels, zip down the straightaways, jockey for position and take the checkered flag.

Are we talking Grand Prix? Nope — it's radio controlled car racing at this year's Michigan Challenge Balloonfest. Rider's Hobby Shop of Lansing is hosting Rider's R.C. Open from noon to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday afternoon of balloonfest weekend.

The experts at Rider's are setting up road courses on the tennis courts just north of the commercial food court. There, novices and experts alike will be able to put their cars through their paces and pit themselves against each other in fun races for prizes and trophies.

This is strictly a "run what you bring" race series, with cars and drivers of all ages, ability and horsepower. Only battery-powered cars will be run on the course. Power will be available for recharging.

Visitors are encouraged to bring their R.C. cars and trucks to the balloonfest for some good-natured competition and fun.

There is no pre-registration needed and no cost to participate.

Don't have a vehicle of your own? Rider's will have some cars on hand so newcomers can try out this exciting hobby. See you at the finish line!

BALLOONFEST BRIEFS

MOBILE LEARNING CENTER JAMPACKED WITH HANDS-ON ACTIVITIES

While you're at balloonfest, be sure to stop in at the Huron-Clinton Metroparks Mobile Learning Center.

It's jam-packed with hands-on activities, displays, videos and fun activities for adults and children. A special Kids Corner will be set up especially for the younger set. There will be live animals to touch and learn about and park personnel will be on hand to answer questions. Brochures, maps and hand-outs about Metroparks will be available.

The Mobile Learning Center is located northeast of the launch field on the service drive, by the Arts & Crafts Show and will be open throughout balloonfest weekend.

MISTER RUBBISH TWIRLERS RETURN FOR ENCORE PERFORMANCE

They charmed the crowd at last year's Michigan Challenge Balloonfest and they're back for an encore performance this year. The Mister Rubbish Twirlers will be center stage on the launch field Friday evening to put on a show of twirling, dancing and musical talent.

The group of young ladies and one young gentleman perform and compete at area special events throughout the year as ambassadors for Mister Rubbish.

RARE BREED DOG SHOW DISPLAYED IN FOWLerville DURING WEEKEND

While you're visiting Livingston County and the Michigan Challenge Balloonfest, you have a unique opportunity to see some unusual canines.

The Federation of Rare Breeds will present a Rare Breed Show on Saturday and Sunday of balloonfest weekend at the Fowlerville Fairgrounds. There will be two shows held each day at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. Organizers promise that many breeds will be on display that most people have never seen before. There is no admission charge and a $4 parking fee.

The Fowlerville Fairgrounds is located on Grand River Avenue in Fowlerville, about eight miles west of the balloonfest grounds.

WAL-MART OFFERS WIDE RANGE OF 'MUST HAVE' PRODUCTS

Forget something? Run out of film?

You can pick up balloonfest essentials at the Wal-Mart booth at the Michigan Challenge Balloonfest.

Wal-Mart has a range of "must have" products for visitors, including film, disposable cameras, sunscreen, sunblock, batteries, binoculars, flashlights—even disposable diapers.

The Wal-Mart booth is located in the vendor area, right by the First of America cold-air balloon.

Special shaped balloons are true crowd pleasers

"Special" doesn't begin to describe the fantastic special-shape balloons that will be thrilling the crowds at this year's Michigan Challenge Balloonfest.

An enormous cartoon star, a well-dressed teddy bear, the world's only flying penguin, a big pink kitty cat, and the world's largest running shoe will make spectators take a second look...and a third... when they inflate on the launch field and take flight over Livingston County.

Here's the rundown:

Garfield, that irrepressible orange feline, will amaze children and adults alike as he becomes airborne. Garfield is 92 feet tall to the tops of his ears, with a 58 foot diameter at his pink nose. Always in need of a little diet, Garfield weighs in at a staggering 568 lbs. before breakfast. His favorite fuel? Lasagna, of course. Art for the Garfield balloon was done by cartoonist Jim Davis. This is the first visit to the balloonfest by both Garfield and his pilot Neil Anderson of Park Ridge, Illinois. Garfield is sponsored by Citizens Insurance Company.

Mr. Biddle, a very properly dressed and handsome bear, will also make his first appearance at the Michigan Challenge Balloonfest this year. Mr. Biddle stands 105 feet tall from his feet to his ears. He is dressed in a handsome red vest—complete with pocket watch and buttons. Eyeglasses give him a very intelligent look. Mr. Biddle weighs in at 520 lbs. and his belt size is a portly 1,980 inches. Mr. Biddle is piloted by Donna Fox of East Leroy.

Spectators will welcome back an old friend, Pepe the Penguin, returning for his eighth visit to the Challenge, sponsored by Pepsi. Pepe is the world's only flying penguin and the world's largest one, as well. Measuring a towering 120 feet tall and sporting a jaunty red scarf, Pepe makes friends with children and adults alike. His favorite fuel is, of course, mackerel and he just loves the happy smiles and waves of the crowd. Pepe is piloted by Jim Birk of Defiance, Ohio.

Famous Footwear's Big Foot, the world's largest athletic shoe, will step into Howell for its fifth visit to the balloonfest. Complete with brightly colored shoelaces, Big Foot has a footprint approximately the same as three singles tennis courts. This shoe is taller than a 10-story building and weighs 617 pounds. Fully inflated, Big Foot is just 41 feet shorter than the Statue of Liberty and is two-thirds as long as the Goodyear Blimp. Yet, surprisingly enough, the giant shoe packs away in a four-and-a-half foot carrying bag. Big Foot is piloted by Jim Schiller from Madison, Wisconsin.

Kitty Schwartz of Plano, Texas will return to the Challenge with Kat II, a bright pink cat that is sure to delight the cat lovers and balloon lovers in the area. Kitty has many relatives and friends in the Howell area and her balloon is a real crowd pleaser.

Mr. Biddle, a very properly dressed and handsome bear, will make his first appearance at the Michigan Challenge Balloonfest this year.

Juried craft show brings high quality items

Over 200 artists and crafts people from 13 states will be showing and selling their works at this year's Michigan Challenge Arts & Crafts Show.

The show will open at 4 p.m. on Friday, June

20. On Saturday the show will open at 9 a.m. and on Sunday at 10 a.m. Crafters will remain open until after the evening balloon launch. The show will take place outside, adjacent to Howell High School within view of the launch site.

First of America makes commitment to community

Community banking is the underlying philosophy that supports First of America's stability, growth and profitability. First of America employees take active roles in their community and contribute substantial resources to all of the areas they serve.

First of America Bank is committed to the development of the communities it serves. The bank provides the loans businesses need to grow and succeed, the mortgages residents need to finance their homes and personal loans for autos, boats, education and other consumer needs.

The commitment to the community is apparent by First of America's involvement. For instance, the bank provides assistance in several programs which help improve educational opportunities in the public schools. Employees also volunteer their time to various local programs and the bank sponsors numerous community events.

One of the major community events sponsored by the bank is the Michigan Challenge Balloonfest in Howell. First of America has been the Major Sponsor of this event for seven years. The bank continued to demonstrate its dedication to the balloonfest when last year it made the commitment to continue to be the Major Sponsor for an additional three years.

"We're very pleased with First of America's support of the balloonfest. When local businesses participate in events such as this one, it shows they are truly committed to the community," said

First of America's hot-air balloon, captained by Ron Centers, will grace the sky at balloonfest. In this photo, Centers performs a "splash and dash" on a local lake.

Lee Reeves, president Howell Area Chamber of Commerce.

The First of America hot-air balloon, captained by Ron Centers, will be gracing the sky during this weekend event along with more than 50 other hot-air balloons. In addition, the First of America CASH Cruiser will be back. The CASH Cruiser is a custom-made van equipped with two ATMs to dispense cash through MagicLine, Cirrus and other networks. The cash cruiser allows visitors access to their funds during the entire weekend to buy that special something they found at the arts and craft show or carnival booths. First of America will further show their support for the event by having a tent where event-goers can stop by and enter a drawing to win a great prize. While in the First of America tent, be sure to pick up a couple of balloons for the children.

There are more than 40 First of America offices located throughout Livingston, Washtenaw, Oakland and western Wayne counties. Locally, First of America serves Livingston County with two offices in Howell, two in Brighton, one in Hartland and Pinckney. All six offices provide 24-hour ATM service.

First of America Bank Corporation, headquartered in Kalamazoo, Michigan, is a $21 billion bank holding company with $15 billion in loans and $17 billion in deposits in Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Florida. The company engages in commercial and retail banking as well as mortgage origination services. The corporation also provides trust, insurance and other financial services, through its Trust and Financial Services Division. Based on total assets, First of America is ranked 32nd among banking companies in the United States.

Balloonfest visitors will get a close look at the inflation process.

Chamber greets guests

Welcome to this year's Michigan Challenge Balloonfest.

And congratulations to the Michigan Challenge committee, chaired by Bill Bettis, for all the work that went into making this year's event a spectacular and enjoyable weekend for our many thousands of guests.

An event of this size would never be possible without our sponsors. Our thanks go to our Michigan Challenge Major Sponsor, First of America Bank; to our Supporting Sponsors, Citizens Insurance Company of America, Pepsi, Mister Rubbish and Kensington Valley Factory Shops; to Blue Cross/Blue Shield of MI and Blue Care Network for their sponsorship of the Windjammers Stunt Kite Team; to MediaOne for its sponsorship of the Aerial Allstars and to Innovations Home Care and Wal-Mart for their sponsorship of Serena's Song. Many thanks to the dozens of other area companies that have contributed in countless ways, such as sponsoring individual balloons, advertising in this publication, providing product, allowing employees time off to volunteer or helping promote the weekend. The City of Howell and Howell Public Schools are important partners in the Michigan Challenge and in many of the things we do at the chamber. Their help is invaluable and much appreciated.

The mission of the Howell Area Chamber of Commerce is to "foster and support a strong and diverse business base through programs that promote a vital business environment, a high quality of life and an outstanding community." We feel the Michigan Challenge Balloonfest accomplishes just that, in addition to providing great family entertainment and a weekend of memories.

Sincerely,

Mark LaRue, Chairman
Lee Reeves, President
Howell Area Chamber of Commerce

Mayor welcomes visitors

Welcome to the 13th annual Michigan Challenge! We are proud to be the host community for the official Michigan State Championship of Hot-air Ballooning. This event is one of several family-oriented festivals that the Howell Area Chamber of Commerce sponsors each year. Please take some time and enjoy our community, visit our Historic Downtown, drive through some of our neighborhoods and I think you will see why we are so proud of Howell.

This truly is a community-wide event. It takes hundreds of community members, each volunteering his or her time to make an event like this successful. That community spirit is what has made this event, in my opinion, the number one ballooning event in the state. If they gave Emmys for "Best Chamber of Commerce Supporting a Community" I am sure that the Howell Area Chamber of Commerce would walk away with the honors. They are a leadership organization, community asset and ultra-high energy community advocate all wrapped up in one.

Enjoy your stay, visit often and remember to mark your calendar for the Howell Melon Festival, August 22, 23 and 24 and November 28 for the spectacular Fantasy of Lights nighttime parade. We are pleased to have you visit and hope to see you again soon.

Paul B. Streng,
Mayor, City of Howell

Glow is high point of Challenge weekend

Saturday night's Balloon Glow is one of the premier events of Balloonfest.

Prepare for one of the most thrilling sights in ballooning on Saturday night of balloonfest weekend. That's when the Michigan Challenge Balloon Glow and Supernova Night Show will light up the sky and the launch field with color and spectacle.

As darkness falls, over 30 balloons will inflate on the launch field, their colors glowing against the night sky. And then, from nearly one mile above the earth, the Aerial Allstars Skydiving Team, sponsored by MediaOne, will perform their Supernova Night Show, a spectacular night time jump, complete with pyrotechnics.

The Supernova Night Show opens with the skydivers' blazing comet trails in freefall at 120 miles per hour. The pyrotechnic display continues after the canopies are open. The performers will fire special effects pyro which send shooting stars and bombs bursting in the air across the sky.

The Michigan Challenge Balloon Glow has become one of the most popular events of the balloonfest weekend. Many thousands of spectators have been dazzled by the glow at the balloonfest and many thousands more have seen it featured on TV news programs.

The Michigan Challenge Balloon Glow is a not-to-be-missed event. The balloons will be illuminated from within, by their propane burners, creating a glowing panorama of color, shape and spectacle. No balloons will launch at the glow, all will remain on the ground, allowing plenty of time for spectators to "ooh" and "aaah" and take plenty of photographs.

The glow will be coordinated by Clarkston pilot Howard Steele.

Between Saturday evening's launch and the balloon glow, Michigan Challenge visitors will be entertained by the L. C. Brass, a top-rate professional brass ensemble.

In addition to the L.C. Brass concert there will be plenty to do while waiting for the glow, scheduled for approximately 9:30, weather permitting. Many of the crafters in the Arts & Crafts Show will remain open late, the carnival will be in full swing (and tilt and spin) and food vendors in both the Arts & Crafts area and at the west end of the launch field will be serving up plenty of goodies.

Michigan Challenge XIII

Medieval Village filled with drama and pageantry

Since Michigan Challenge VII in 1991, the Society for Creative Anachronism (SCA) has been recreating the Middle Ages for thousands of balloonfest visitors at the Medieval Village.

This year they'll be back for the seventh consecutive year to entertain guests as they travel back in time. The Society recreates the Middle Ages "as they should have been."

They make a few concessions to the modern day with sanitary food supplies and an occasional pair of eyeglasses. But other than that, stepping into the Michigan Challenge Medieval Village will be like going back 1,000 years in time.

The village is located at the east side of the launch field, in a picturesque grove of trees and will be open all day Saturday and Sunday of balloonfest weekend from 9 a.m. until the evening launch.

This year, visitors will see lots of combat in the fighting arena, fabulous medieval crafts and armor making. Swashbuckling squires will test their fencing skills against one another. There will be some full-blown battles between teams of knights.

Meals for the Medieval Village inhabitants will be simmering in the big iron cauldron over an open fire. There will be music and dance as well as drama and pageantry.

What makes members of the SCA, who have regular jobs during the week, spend their weekends fighting in heavy armor or practicing intricate crafts with ancient tools? For some, it is a form of escape from the routine of modern life. For others, it is a chance to put historical research into action; while for still others it's just a great group of friends. The group has a significant national and even international membership.

An anachronism is a thing out of its place in time. Certainly, anybody coming upon one of the SCA's events, such as the Medieval Village at the Michigan Challenge, would think they had walked into a time warp. Armored sword fighters clash and bash at one another. Beautifully-garbed ladies and lords perform intricate medieval dances to the strains of live recorder, crumhorn, shawn, viol and lute music. Kings and queens hold court. Heralds read forth pronouncements. Honor, courtly love, fealty and chivalry become once again the highest values of society.

More than 15,000 people in North America have made such medieval living history their hobby in the SCA.

Interested in joining? Stop by the Medieval Village for more information.

Windjammers thrill with stunt-kite antics

There will be more than balloons flying in the sky at this year's Michigan Challenge Balloonfest. In addition to 50-plus gorgeous hot-air balloons, the Windjammers Stunt Kite team will return to thrill the Michigan Challenge crowd with its dazzling stunt kites.

At 3 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday the Windjammers will perform a choreographed stunt kite routine to a full range of music from children's favorites to progressive and show tunes.

The Windjammers are sponsored by Blue Cross/Blue Shield of MI and Blue Care Network.

The Windjammers are Michael Carlisle, Aaron Harris, James Kinsey, Gary Maynard and Nate Williams, all of Detroit. They've been flying stunt kites together for years. Team members can often be seen on Detroit's Belle Isle, where their unscheduled stunt kite performances can bring traffic to a dead stop.

The team loves to teach beginners the secrets of stunt kite flying. So at the Michigan Challenge, spectators don't have to just watch, they can get their hands on a stunt kite from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday and learn how to perform some of the basic maneuvers themselves.

If visitors have their own stunt kites, they're encouraged to bring them along to get some tips from the experts. Ray Hanchett of Rider's Hobby Shop in Lansing, along with the Windjammers and other experienced flyers, will coordinate the open stunt kiting and hands-on lessons.

The Windjammers' kites are controlled with two lines, allowing them to be steered and "choreographed." Visitors will see up to five kites drawing perfect squares in the sky...strafing the ground after breathtaking controlled power dives...and performing a ballet to music.

In heavier wind conditions the Windjammers fly their spectacular kite "trains." Each train is a stack of 13 kites.

With all five team members flying, there are 65 kites aloft at once. It's an incredible sight to see.

You can keep in touch with the team all year long through Gary Maynard's Windjammers web site: http://ourworld.compuserve.com/homepages/the_kite_guy/

The Windjammer Stunt Kite team practices their 'choreography.'

Citizens' support continues to fly high at balloonfest

Citizens Insurance has long been an active corporate citizen of Livingston County, and after more than 80 years continues to show its generous support for community events.

As a continuing sponsor of Michigan Challenge XIII, Citizens is supporting an event that provides an entire weekend of fun for families and attracts visitors from all over to the Howell area.

To celebrate the June 20-22 balloonfest, Citizens is sponsoring the spectacular "Garfield the Cat" balloon. As in years past, Citizens employees will also be on site throughout the event, handing out free souvenirs.

As one of the largest employers in Livingston County, many Citizens employees live in and around the home office community. The company provides support to local organizations, school programs and events like the balloonfest in an effort to sustain and promote the quality of the community.

Based in Howell since its inception in 1915, Citizens was the first automobile insurer in Michigan. It has since become the largest writer of property-casualty insurance in the state through independent agents.

The company provides automobile, home, boat and business insurance in Michigan, Indiana and Ohio.

Car show is 'must see' attraction

Just wait until you see the array of gleaming, glossy and glitzy vehicles at the Michigan Challenge Antique and Custom Car Show. It has become a very popular "must see" attraction for balloonfest visitors.

Coordinated by the Livingston A's Region of the Model A Restorers Club, the show will present rows of beautiful automotive specimens, from the early days of the automobile all the way up to street rods and custom trucks.

The cars will be on display on Saturday and Sunday of balloonfest, beginning at 11 a.m. Visitors for the show are asked to vote for their favorite. The winning car each day will receive the People's Choice Award prior to the evening balloon launch.

Anyone is welcome to display an antique or custom vehicle at the show. Participants are asked to arrive at the West Grand River gate of the balloonfest prior to 2 p.m. on Saturday or Sunday.

If the vehicle qualifies for the show, the driver will receive free entry and be directed to the show display area.

Michigan Challenge roster of pilots

1. Bruce Bussey, who is flying last year's champion "GMC" balloon is sponsored by La Fontaine GMC. Bruce and his wife Lori who reside in Longworth TX, have been at the Challenge numerous times flying other balloons. As last year's champion balloon, you will find his balloon's likeness on this year's Challenge pin, and Bruce will undoubtedly like to see it on next year's as well.

3. First of America, our Major Sponsor, sends us Ron Centers of Kalamazoo to try for the eighth time to take home the trophy. When Ron is not flying, he might be found putting up the First of America cold-air inflatable balloon or giving interviews for FOA. His wife Nancy also helps him with his business of balloon instruction out on the western part of Michigan.

2. Mark Frazer of Middletown Ohio will be back for his third try at the Michigan Challenge championship and flies "Release." Last year he placed second in the competition and so his balloon is also featured on this year's collector pin. He is sponsored by Allstar Alarm. The balloon is yellow with star step colors of purple, pink and blue green.

4. "Mister Rubbish," the bright yellow balloon of our Supporting Sponsor, is piloted by Ed Dotson of Ann Arbor. This is the only competition that the Mister Rubbish balloon appears in. Ed is very active in the ballooning community, operating his own repair station for many balloons in the Great Lakes area as well as flying commercial rides.

5. This is a fish alert! "Pepe," the world's only flying penguin, has been seen diving into local pools and ponds to retrieve his daily needs. Balloonmeister Jim Birk is Pepe's pilot and comes to us from Defiance Ohio. This is Jim's sixth appearance at the balloonfest and won the championship in 1992. Pepe proudly flies the basket banner of Pepsi, our Supporting Sponsor.

6. Dick Rudlaff, our Competition Director, will fly "Freebie," a brilliant yellow balloon with split gores of primary colors. Dick hails from Waterford where he and his wife Jan spend half of their time, the other half in Florida. Being a great competitor, Dick would like nothing more than to have a second Michigan Challenge trophy to add to his collection, since he won the very first Challenge and has won many other competitions as well. First Impression Printing & Graphics is his sponsor again this year.

7. Wayne Warren of Waterford has flown in every event and is the balloonfest Safety Officer. Wayne is sponsored by Ameritech. His balloon, "Karma Chameleon," is true to its name and changes colors depending on the direction you look at it, from dark maroon to vertical stripes of red, orange, yellow and white.

8. Park Inn is sponsoring a second-time pilot to the Challenge, Ken Cramer from Coshocton Ohio. Ken will fly a new balloon to the event, "Free For All," a yellow, orange, red, maroon and white Cameron. Ken's wife Patty is Scoring Officer for the Challenge.

9. Alan Zimkus is at the Challenge for the first time with his entry called "Sweet Dreams." He was set to fly here last year but a nasty fall stopped that. He and his wife Deb are from Rochester. His balloon has multiple colors in a step-up pattern divided by black gores. He is sponsored by Knights Inn.

10. Reuland Electric is sponsoring Allen Yost and his entry "Spectrum." The balloon is colored yellow with red, blue and green zig zags. Allen comes to us from Midlothian IL and can always be counted on to be right in the thick of the competition.

11. Mark Yonker of South Lyon is flying one of this year's automotive corporate balloons "Goodwrench." The balloon is blue and black with accents of red and silver. Mark is one of the very capable pilots who fly for Renaissance balloons.

12. First National Bank sponsors their friend Kitty Schwartz of Plano, Texas flying "Miss Kitty." This is her eighth attempt at the Michigan Challenge. Her balloon is one of the special shapes that the crowd loves so much. Kitty and her team travel with a can-debra that has become her trademark.

13. One of our couple pilot teams is Scott and Cynthia Wooge who are taking on their first appearance at the Challenge. They fly at home in the St. Louis, Missouri area. Their balloon is called "Bug a Boo" — a cause of needless fear. It has a yellow center with vertical staggered gores of multi colors. Their sponsor is Auto One.

14. Micro Works Computing is sponsoring the third appearance of Cheryl Heselshwerdt from Grass Lake, piloting "Jesus Loves You!" The bright blue balloon shows a large white dove, carrying the olive branch of peace and the name of the balloon on the other side. Cheryl is very popular with the crowds as she is always willing to answer questions for those who are unfamiliar with the sport.

15. Jon Thompson of Brighton is now considered a regular with the Challenge. He now exclusively flies the corporate sponsored AC-Delco balloon and is a real competitor. His wife Sandy helps him with the crewing.

Michigan Challenge XIII

16. Portage sends us Larry Sweerin piloting "Second Child," a pretty balloon of navy blue with teal and fuschia teardrops flowing outward. This is his third try for the Michigan Challenge championship. Spartan Tire is sponsoring Larry this year.

17. Dale Duthie of Canton is bringing a brand new balloon that has not been named yet to this year's event. Dale has flown at the Challenge many times with his wife Pat. Dale is sponsored by Doctor Dong-Soo Kim of U of M Health Centers. The official description of the balloon is a multi colored zig zag with modified spirals.

18. This will be the seventh year for Bill Sterner of Pontiac to fly here. Fidelity Communications is sponsoring Bill and his balloon "Rejoice II," a brightly-colored balloon with splashes of vertical color surrounding gores of white.

19. Jerry and Daria Stephan, who live right here in Howell, are sponsored by MacDonald's Funeral Home. Jerry is a real competitor in the world of ballooning and his balloon "Jedami" is a familiar sight in the skies of Livingston County. The balloon is named for the three members of his family, Jerry, Daria and Michael.

20. Another new pilot to the Challenge is Ron Thompson of Canton who has been a regular at this event crewing for Kitty Schwartz and now has a balloon of his own. Ron flies "Black Diamond," a balloon with a black background with beautiful bright-colored inserts. Ron is sponsored by Mugg & Bopps.

21. Krug-Hilltop Ford is sponsoring Dwight Sinila and "Purple Passion," a balloon with lots of colors that remind one of a rainbow. Dwight and his wife Gwen are from Okemos and have made many appearances here at the Challenge.

22. Jackson sends us Vaughn "Butch" Sherwood who will be back for his seventh try here in Howell. Vaughn, with his balloon "Northern Lights," is sponsored by Livingston Internet Services. The balloon has red and yellow vertical stripes with a blue top.

23. Oceola Township returns again this year sponsoring Dave Sgriccia flying "Oceola Lola," aptly named after the township he and his wife Nina have made their residence. David is also one of the ballooning instructors here in the county.

24. Hoffman Estates Illinois sends us another new pilot to the Challenge. Bennet Schwontkowski's large apple balloon is sure to be a crowd pleaser and helps promote the Lake County, Illinois apple growers. Wonder if giant bears or penguins like to eat apples? He is sponsored by American Imaging.

25. Famous Footwear's "Big Foot," piloted by Jim Schiller of Madison, Wisconsin will again be thrilling the crowds with this larger-than-life tennis shoe. The county could have a whole new lake if the footprint from this balloon ever filled up with water.

26. Andy Baird from Whitmore Lake is flying "Little Sporty" and is sponsored by Metropolitan Title. Andy has flown in the Challenge several times with both commercial and private entries.

27. Shaun Raya, whose family is a mainstay here at the Challenge, will pilot the ever-popular Father & Son balloon. This huge balloon depicts the corporate logo and many of the things the company builds. Shaun or his father John have flown in all of the past Challenges and the company was the original sponsor of the event. Shaun and his wife Suzy can be seen flying all over the southeastern Michigan area and even on TV.

28. Elkhart Indiana sends us Paul Guandee for his fifth visit to the Challenge. He will fly "Sunrise," a bright orange and yellow balloon that definitely gets noticed, especially at the glow! He is sponsored by Chem Trend.

29. A new entry to the Challenge and no doubt one that will bring lots and lots of cheers is "Garfield," flown by Neil Anderson out of Park Ridge Illinois. He and his wife Oksana are welcomed to their first try here and we hope it is the start to many more trips to Howell. He is sponsored by our supporting sponsor Citizens Insurance.

30. Our local radio station "WHMI- 93.5" will send a new pilot, Paul Petrehn, to captain its entry in the Challenge. The bright checkerboard of color can often be seen flying through the skies of Livingston County. This is Paul's first visit to the Challenge.

31. Stephen Peck from Battle Creek is sponsored by Woodshire Place and flying "Skybird." Stephen has been flying since 1990 and has visited the Challenge with his wife Sandy several times.

32. Back again for his 11th attempt to take home the trophy is Chuck Owens of Dowling flying "Gizmo." The balloon is colored in shades of browns and yellows and is sponsored by Care Choices HMO.

33. White Lake brings us Dan O'Brien flying "Windstar," the patchwork of color that reminds one of a warm and comfy covering. Dan is sponsored by A & L Parts.

34. HomeTown Newspapers is again sponsoring pilot Dennis Nunn of Fowlerville. Dennis and his balloon "Midnight Rainbow" are here for the third time. The balloon has a dark background with the upper portion of the balloon a splash of bright colors.

Michigan Challenge XIII

35. Another of our two-pilot families, Larry and Sandy Novotny, are again visiting us. This year they are sponsored by Ann Arbor Architects Collaborative. This is their 12th appearance at the Challenge. The Novotnys, from Allen Park, fly "Ditto." Look for the light blue balloon with rainbow colors around the equator.

36. Rob Mihaly of Lakewood Ohio will be here for his ninth attempt at the prize. He now flies "Boojum," a black balloon with horizontal stripes of yellow, red, blue, green and pink and is sponsored by Diamond Dot Market. His wife Marty is always a welcome addition to the fun here in Howell.

37. Tim and Melissa Midura, one of several husband and wife ballooning teams, comes to Howell from Barberton Ohio. They've flown "Kismet" for the past few years and have flown in all but one of the Challenges. The balloon has a yellow top with various-colored gores of different heights and is sponsored by G-Graphics.

38. The balloon depicting a colorful silhouette of Jim Lykins' "Kids at Play" is always popular at the Challenge. This is his 12th appearance and his children have grown up quite a bit since the balloon was designed. Jim is sponsored by Attorney James Barley.

39. Scott Lorenz of Plymouth brings a stunning new balloon "Sun Pirate" to this year's event. The balloon features a bright sun setting on the horizon of the sea. Scott is sponsored by Adecco.

40. This is the third time Steve Lichtenstein of Louisville Kentucky has come to this event, flying the "Aerial Allstars" balloon. Steve, as well as the skydiving team, is sponsored by MediaOne.

42. Back for his second try in Howell is Robert Hofbauer from Montpelier Ohio. He comes to the event with his wife Pat. Robert flies "Monet," a yellow, blue and plum balloon with green banana panels. He is sponsored by May & Scofield.

43. Phil Glebe of Brighton has won just about every award out there in ballooning including the Challenge in 1988. Phil flies the "Pontiac Excitement" balloon sponsored by Waldecker Pontiac. Although he lives locally, he can be seen on TV at many sporting events flying commercial balloons over the crowds.

44. Marty Gauthier comes to us from Pontiac. He will be making his second attempt to win here at the Challenge flying "Fulfillment," a balloon with all sorts of sizes and shapes of primary colors. He is sponsored by Village & Country Water Treatment.

45. Another Gauthier is Ted from Pontiac, flying the Anderson's Sea Doo balloon. The balloon is bright pink and green and features a caricature of the pilot of a Sea Doo on the side. He is also the Weather Officer.

46. "Mr. Biddle," a brand-new special shape balloon for our event, is sure to thrill the crowds this year. The giant teddy bear is piloted by Donna Fox of East LeRoy one of our regulars here at the Michigan Challenge, who usually flies commercial or special shape entries.

47. Another exciting balloon always a hit here at the Challenge is "Kalamazoo" flown by Dr. John Dircks. The envelope was hand silk screened and depicts various African animal scenes that are just beautiful. John and his wife Judy are sponsored by Dr. Ismael Yanga in their 11th try here Howell.

48. A good friend to the Challenge, John Derado of Saline, is returning to the Challenge this year flying "Summer Dream." John is sponsored by Livingston Home Planners. His wife Tommie is Crew Chief.

49. Detroit Edison is sponsoring John Carter from Laingsburg flying "Wild Thang." The beautiful dark green color with accents of bright colors around the horizontal stripes really make this balloon stand out in the blue sky. John has flown in all of the events.

50. The brightly colored Re-Max balloon is piloted by its corporate pilot Tom Bergeon of Mason. If you ever see the Re-Max commercial on television, look for Tom.

51. Dennis Belger from Richmond is sponsored by Best Western of Howell. Dennis and his wife Shirley come to the Challenge as often as they can. Dennis flies "Betsy," a patriotic entry of red, white and blue patchwork.

52. Ceresco sends us another regular to the Challenge: Roger Beebe, flying "Skittles." The balloon has a red top and bottom with blue, green, yellow and orange horizontal stripes at the equator. Roger is sponsored by CarTronics.

Balloonists test their skills during Challenge

How does the Michigan Challenge competition work? Is it a race? Although popularly called "races," competitions such as the Challenge have nothing to do with how fast or how far a balloon travels.

Competitive ballooning rates pilots on how well they can use wind currents and altitude to steer their balloons to a specific target.

As regulars to the Michigan Challenge know, weather conditions determine if the balloons will fly at all. High or gusty winds are the enemy of balloon flights. Balloons fly in the early evening and just after dawn because that is when the winds are the most calm. Winds over 12 mph, rain or lightning will keep the balloons grounded.

If the weather is favorable, after the launch the pilots will try to find the right wind currents to take them close to the target. Each pilot will toss a numbered "baggie" onto the target, usually a large "X" shape spread in a field or at an intersection, aiming to be as close to the center as possible.

During morning flights at the Michigan Challenge, the "X" is located right at the launch field and the pilots take off from various spots out in the countryside.

Baggies are made of rip-stop nylon, weighted at one end, with a long nylon tail that streams behind it as it descends. If during the competition you see a baggie on the ground or if one lands near you, please don't touch it. The scoring officials will need to accurately measure its distance from the target.

Balloonists will compete in various events such as Judge Declared Goal, Hare and Hound, Watership Down and CNT (controlled navigational trajectory). Each event will have at least one target (or task), sometimes two or three.

The type of competition will depend on the weather conditions and will be determined by Balloonmeister Jim Birk and be announced at the pilot briefing prior to each launch.

Spectators should listen for competition announcer Tom Maynard who will supply the details of each flight.

This year, balloon pilots will compete for the beautiful Michigan

Challenge trophy, cash and prizes and bragging rights as the official Michigan Champion of hot-air ballooning. In addition, the Balloon Federation of America will award successful competitors points that are used towards national ranking and the opportunity to compete at the national ballooning championship.

First-rate crew of officials oversees the competition

A first-rate crew of officials will be controlling the Michigan Challenge competition from the ground.

Jim Birk of Defiance Ohio will serve as the Michigan Challenge Balloonmeister for the seventh consecutive year.

As the chief official for the championship, the Balloonmeister runs the competitive events, making important decisions on whether the balloonists will fly, depending on the latest weather reports from the Weather Officer.

Ted Gauthier of Pontiac is the event's Weather Officer. He will keep a close eye on the weather, using the latest instrumentation and information from the National Weather Service.

Wayne Warren of Pontiac is the Safety Officer. He is charged with safety on the field and will help the launch directors assure a safe lift-off for each event.

Patty Cramer of Coshocton, Ohio is the Scoring Officer. She will accurately measure "where the baggies fall."

Tom Maynard of Pontiac has been the Michigan Challenge Announcer since the first balloonfest in 1985. His popular commentary and knowledge of ballooning will keep the crowd at Michigan Challenge XIII informed on all aspects of the competition, plus provide background on the pilots and ballooning.

Getting to Balloonfest is easy and it's definitely worth the trip

The Michigan Challenge Balloonfest is the place to be on the weekend of June 20, 21 and 22 and it's easy to find.

Here's how to get there: The City of Howell is located midway between Lansing and Detroit on I-96 and at the western end of M-59. The balloonfest takes place at the Howell High School complex, with entrances on West Grand River Avenue, M-59 and Highlander Way.

For the most convenient access, travellers westbound on I-96 should take exit 141, 137 or 133. Follow the balloonfest signs.

Travellers eastbound on I-96 should take exit 133 or 137.

M-59 travellers have it easy. Just take the highway into Howell. There is a convenient entrance right on M-59.

Coming from the north? Take I-75 to U.S. 23 south to M-59. Follow M-59 west 11 miles to the balloonfest entrance.

Don't miss concerts, special events, great shopping and restaurants in Howell on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

of the balloonfest grounds on Grand River Avenue. It's a pleasant walk from the balloonfest grounds past gracious Victorian homes.

Taking your car downtown? Parking passes allow you to re-enter the grounds as often as you wish on the day indicated on the pass.

A full day of family fun for just $8 per carload

Where can you take the entire family for a full day of thrills, fun and entertainment for only $8?

It's at Michigan Challenge XIII, the state hot-air ballooning championship and festival where $8 parks your car and provides admission for all your passengers.

And with a little pre-planning, only $2 more buys you a weekend pass good for vehicle and passenger entry all three days.

Just stop in at any First of America Bank office in Livingston County before June 18 to purchase a regular $12 weekend pass for only $10.

With your paid parking you have a chance to win two tickets on American Airlines. Just remove the American Airlines portion of your parking pass and bring it to any of the conveniently located information booths at the festival site or at the downtown entertainment site at the courthouse. When you trade it in, you'll receive three raffle tickets.

The drawing will be conducted at the launch site at 8 p.m. on Sunday, June 22. You need not be present to win.

Michigan Challenge parking can be accessed from West Grand River Avenue, M-59 or Highlander Way. Handicapped parking is available at all entrances of the Michigan Challenge Balloonfest.

Guests in vehicles with a handicapped license plate or sticker should bring it to the attention of the parking attendant and will be shown to a special parking area where access to the launch site and festival grounds is completely paved.

Parking is extensive and convenient at the Michigan Challenge Balloonfest. Hundreds of parking volunteers from area community groups will assist visitors to park their cars safely and conveniently.

Last year, the Howell Area Chamber of Commerce donated over $6,000 to non-profit agencies whose members served as parking volunteers. It's one of the many ways the balloonfest benefits the community.

For the comfort and safety of both our guests and our animal friends, the Michigan Challenge committee requests that spectators leave their pets at home.

Pepsi excited about seventh year as supporting sponsor

We are excited to be a Supporting Sponsor for this year's balloonfest. This marks Pepsi-Cola's seventh year as a sponsor of this outstanding community event.

Pepsi-Cola is a division of Pepsi-Co. Pepsi-Cola has transferred from a carbonated soft drink company to a total beverage company. We now sell and distribute Lipton Ice Tea, Ocean Spray Juices, Lemonades and All Sport (Isotonic). Please feel free to try any and all of the "alternative beverages" as they are being sold throughout this three-day Michigan Challenge.

Pepsi-Cola has been a part of the Howell community since 1969. The facility was strictly a bottling plant until 1990 when we added a sales warehouse and began distributing products as well. Some facts you may find interesting about the Howell facility are

- * In 1997, the Howell bottling facility will product over 29 million cases and fill over 600 million units of Pepsi-Cola products.

- * A typical Pepsi-Cola over-the-road/transport tractor will be driven in excess of 150,000 miles in one year.

- * We use over 600,000 gallons of fuel a year to operate our transport and fleet sales.

- * Our fleet repair team changes over 800 tires and performs 1,300 preventive maintenance checks a year.

- * Our sales warehouse loading team loads over 118,000 pallets of products or 301,875,000 pounds of product a year.

- * Our Howell bottling facility operates seven lines and produces over 125 different items.

- * Our laboratory team uses in excess of 100 million gallons of water to product Pepsi-Cola products.

- * The Howell facility is one of two producing facilities for the entire lower peninsula of Michigan.

This year you will be able to collect points and "Get Stuff," by purchasing Pepsi and Mountain Dew products. Catalogs are available at participating retailers.

Enjoy this year's Michigan Challenge. Be sure to try our "Alternative Beverages" or an ice-cold Pepsi as you enjoy the 1997 balloonfest.

Kensington Valley Factory Shops enjoys community lift of balloonfest

The ownership, Fru-Con Development and Howard & Rice and the tenants of Kensington Valley Factory Shops are proud to be a sponsor of the Michigan Challenge Balloonfest.

This is our third year as a sponsor of this fantastic community event. Since opening in November 1996, Kensington Valley has grown from 46 to 60 shops. These shops, owned and operated by nationally-recognized manufacturers offer customers deep discounts of between 25 and 75 percent off retail prices.

Come out and save on fashions, footwear, toys, books, sportswear, electronics, china handbags, luggage, lingerie and so much more! For your shopping convenience, the factory shops accept major credit cards and personal checks are welcome with the proper identification.

Kensington Valley Factory Shops is conveniently located in Livingston County at I-96 and M-59, just 30 minutes from the northwest suburbs of Detroit, Ann Arbor and Lansing. The country Victorian architectural design of the center is in keeping with the rural spirit of Howell Township. Attractive covered walkways shield shoppers from inclement weather and link the shops.

Shopping hours are Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sundays from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Bus tours and group tours are welcome. For assistance in planning your group tour, call our management office at (888)545-0565.

In July, don't miss Summer Sidewalk Sales, July 25-27. This event is held in conjunction with downtown Howell's Summer Sidewalk Sales. What a great weekend to shop Howell.

When shopping for that hard-to-buy-for friend or business associate purchase a Kensington Valley Factory Shops Gift Certificate. Gift certificates can be purchased at the management office Monday through Friday 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon. Gift certificates may be purchased with cash or a corporate check only.

A child and her grandmother excitedly look skyward during the kick-off of Saturday evening's events.

The second phase of Kensington Valley's development will add additional store space and 599 more parking places. Fru-Con Development and Howard & Rice are in the process of leasing space for Phase II and ground breaking will be announced in the fall.

Kensington Valley Factory Shops employ as many as 450 at peak selling seasons. Our employees are a part of the community. Many of them are raising their families in Livingston County.

Ownership, management and our employees feel very strongly on the benefits that community events, such as the Michigan Challenge Balloonfest, can have on all the nonprofit and area businesses. We hope you enjoy this year's event.

Chances are there's a full-service Michigan National branch office and a Michigan Money™ automatic teller machine near where you live, where you work, and even where you're traveling around the state. Which means your money's always accessible, any time, anywhere.

Interesting facts provide insight into ballooning

■ Balloon baskets are made of wicker, not just to be picturesque, but because wicker is light in weight, strong, and is a good shock absorber in the event of a rocky landing.

■ The average standard-shaped balloon costs somewhere in the area of $15 to $30 thousand brand new. Special shape balloons can cost over $100 thousand.

■ Balloons are registered aircraft. Pilots must be licensed by the Federal Aviation Administration, very much like airplane pilots. You must be 16 years old to be a pilot.

■ Why do pilots traditionally toast with champagne at a flight's end? When the first balloon took flight in France in the late 18th century, it terrified the country folk, who thought the strange craft was some kind of monster. After the first few unhappy incidents with landowners, the pilot began carrying champagne as a sign of friendship and appeasement for the farmers.

■ The multi-colored balloon part of a hot-air balloon is technically called the envelope and is made of rip-stop nylon.

■ Balloons hold between 30,000 and 800,000 cubic feet of air, depending on the size. Most hold about 70,000 cubic feet.

■ Who's got the right of way—airplanes or hot-air balloons? With both craft converging on the same area, the balloon has the right of way, similar to power boats that give the right of way to sail boats.

■ Propane is used to fuel the burners that provide lift for the balloons. Most balloons carry four 10-gallon propane cylinders.

■ Balloon burners generate about 10 million BTUs.

■ With 40 gallons of propane on board, balloons can fly for about two hours. Most flights, however, last about 1 1/2 hours.

■ You can't "steer" a balloon. But pilots make directional changes by going to different altitudes where the wind may be shifting to the direction they need to reach the target.

■ Balloons often fly over water. Sometimes, a pilot will do what's called a "splash and dash" when the balloon descends to touch down in the water and then take off again.

■ What's that rope hanging from the top of the balloon? It's used to hold the balloon down during inflation. Sometimes the ground crew uses it to stabilize the balloon during landings.

■ Each pilot has several gauges on board. There is an altimeter to register how high the balloon is and a variometer to indicate whether the craft is going up or down. He has a temperature gauge to tell how hot the air is at the top of the balloon. Of course, the propane tanks have fuel gauges.

■ For safety reasons, balloons typically fly in winds no more than 12 mph.

That's why you'll see balloons flying only in the early morning just after dawn and about two hours before sunset in the evening. And that's why, even though it might be a beautiful evening without a cloud in the sky, the flight may be cancelled because the wind is too strong.

Aerial Allstars perform amazing stunts

The Aerial Allstars Skydiving Team returns to this year's Michigan Challenge Balloonfest, bringing two new members and an even more spectacular Supernova Night Show.

Newcomers to the team's performance at balloonfest, Rick and Vicki Jarvis, will join Dale and Jamey Gumm to perform daytime jumps all three days of the balloonfest, plus the Night Show.

The Aerial Allstars Skydiving Team is sponsored by MediaOne.

The Aerial Allstars' Supernova Night Show has quickly gained national recognition as one of the premier night acts in the country.

Three skydivers will exit the aircraft a mile above the earth with custom-designed special effects pyrotechnics.

After the canopies open and the ignition systems are armed, the fireworks display begins.

Multiple system control modules electronically launch rockets, blazing comets and shooting stars across the night sky.

The team has added some new pyro to their arsenal for 1997 that literally "screams" through the atmosphere.

The performers actually fire about 120 shots of multi-colored pyrotechnics while descending to the target below.

Brilliant strobes illuminate the canopies as the jumpers execute their final approach for landing.

In their day shows, the team will perform several thrilling aerial maneuvers in freefalls and under canopy, using a huge American flag, canopy stacking, freefall formations and other unique acts.

The American flag jump will be part of the opening ceremonies each day of the balloonfest at 5 p.m. The gigantic flag is escorted by two jumpers patriotically displaying red and blue pyrotechnic smoke. The smoke is electronically fired and actually changes color during flight.

The flag jump is accompanied by Sharon Barlow of Howell singing the National Anthem.

Jack Hardy of Howell will be the pilot for the team's jump aircraft. He has piloted the plane for each of the three years the team has performed at the Michigan Challenge.

The Aerial Allstars have performed

The Aerial Allstars team perform several thrilling aerial maneuvers in freefalls and under canopy.

throughout the United States, including Thunder Over Louisville in Louisville, KY and the Albuquerque International Balloon Fiesta.

The Aerial Allstars will perform all three days of the Michigan Challenge Balloonfest: Friday at 5 p.m., Saturday at 9 a.m., 5 p.m. and at the Supernova Night Show during the Balloon Glow, and Sunday at noon and 5 p.m.

The team will man a skydiving display all weekend to demonstrate parachute equipment, answer spectators' questions and sign autographs. They will distribute team stickers and helium balloons to all children.

Special souvenirs available at several locations

Bring home a memento of your visit to the Michigan Challenge Balloonfest.

This year's cloisonne enamel souvenir pin commemorates the first and second-place balloons at last year's competition: the GMC balloon piloted by Bruce Bussey and "Release" piloted by Mark Frazer.

The limited-edition pins are available for $5 apiece at the information booths at the balloonfest site and in downtown Howell or at the Howell Area Chamber of Commerce.

You can have the striking artwork on the cover of this publication on your very own Michigan Challenge official souvenir T-shirt or sweatshirt.

Alpha One of Howell will be selling these brilliantly-colored, 100% cotton T-shirts as well as designer shirts, sweats and activewear at several locations at the balloonfest.

Michigan Challenge XIII

Balloonfest is a year-round effort

It would be hard to find a harder working group of volunteers than the men and women on the Michigan Challenge Balloonfest committee.

"What a 'can-do' group of people," said Pat Convery, the Michigan Challenge manager for the Howell Area Chamber of Commerce. "They work year-round on this event, and then work nearly round the clock during the big weekend to make it a reality. Plus they have fun doing it!"

Without the help of this core group of committee people and hundreds of dedicated volunteers, the Michigan Challenge Balloonfest could never "get off the ground."

The Michigan Challenge committee is chaired by Bill Bettis, owner of Bettis Insurance. This is Bill's first year as chairperson. He has worked on the committee since the first year of the event in 1985 and is himself a balloon pilot.

Steve Barlow, superintendent of buildings and grounds for Howell Public Schools and Don Cortez, owner of First Impression Printing are co-chairs of the parking committee. They are responsible for the enormous job of directing parking for the thousands of cars that visit the Challenge.

Cathy Blight chairs the Arts & Crafts Show. Cathy owns Creative House, a graphics design firm in Howell. She is assisted by Karen Murdock and Gail Down. The show is one of the largest attractions at the Michigan Challenge.

Sandie Cortez, who owns First Impression Printing with her husband Don, is in charge of all signage for the event. She also serves as a parking gate captain.

Dianne Hardy is Livingston County Treasurer. She serves as hospital-ity chairperson for the Michigan Challenge. She is assisted by Sue Ingratta of Ingratta & Son Construction.

Doug Hawes of WYM Consulting Services is vendor chairperson. He coordinates both food and non-food concessionaires on the balloonfest grounds. Doug is assisted by Gary Sumeracki of P&J Investigations and Reed Kittredge of WHMI.

Victor Lopez, owner of Active Bookkeeping Service, keeps the books for the balloonfest, as head of the finance committee.

Martha McKenzie of the Howell

Carnegie District Library coordinates site activities, souvenirs and the information booths at the Michigan Challenge.

Jerry McKenzie, Martha's husband and a long-time volunteer at Balloonfest, supervises sanitation and clean-up of the site before, during and after the big balloonfest weekend.

Mike and Mary Nadeau of Howell are in charge of the sound systems at both the balloonfest site and at the amphitheater in downtown Howell.

Tim Holliday, owner of Pet Provisions in Howell and Brighton, chairs the downtown committee, coordinating all the special events in Historic Downtown Howell. He is being assisted this year by his wife Janet Holliday, John Mullaney of Total Office Products, Grace Perry of HomeTown Newspapers, City Council member Geri Moen, Michelle Tokan, Sue Delatto of Alpha Computer, Charlene Sinelli of Howell Travel and Dianne Trevino, director of Howell's Downtown Development Authority.

Pam Rietsch, the area's Welcome Wagon representative, serves as liaison for the over 50 pilots and their crew members. Pam has worked on the committee since its first year. She is assisted by Sharon Stachowski.

Dick Rudlaff of Pontiac is the event's competition director and first had the idea of holding the state championship of hot-air ballooning in Howell. A nationally-known pilot, he will also compete in the Challenge.

Barry L. Rutter is a lieutenant with the City of Howell Police Department. He acts as liaison between the city and the chamber, coordinates safety and security at the balloonfest site and is in charge of carnival activities. He is assisted by Sergeant Becky Harwood.

Jerry Smith chairs the Antique and Custom Car Show. Jerry is a project engineer for May & Scofield and is very active in the Livingston A's Region Model A Restorer's Club.

Don Watson, assistant principal at McPherson Middle school, is in charge of the balloonfest site. He makes sure everything is in place for the big weekend. Don is assisted by Paul Rogers of Telecom Management Services.

Citizens again proudly sponsors the 1997
Balloonfest in Howell, Michigan.

Our "ground crew" will be there with fun giveaways for the children.

We hope to see you there!

Here's an ad that even our competitors will applaud.

No one will argue that supporting local events is important to any community. And, for the bank that really makes an extra effort, it's a way of life. A promise you'll see and feel every time you deal with us.

That's why First of America Bank is proud to be a major sponsor of the 1997 Michigan Challenge Balloonfest. It's our way of giving a little lift to those who've helped us climb to the top.

So, visit our Cash Cruiser or stop by our tent and enter our special sweepstakes. And put us to the test. Because if you thought all banks were the same, we've got over 12,000 people waiting to change your mind.

A bank that really cares about the community? That's a first.

Fine jewelry sale prices effective thru Saturday June 14, 1997, unless otherwise noted. *Excludes Super Buys. All items subject to prior sale. If an item is temporarily out of stock, we will order it at the advertised price. Enlarged to show detail. We reserve the right to make corrections for omissions or typographical errors. Diamonds and gemstones in stores with a Diamond Department. Gold in stores with a Fine Jewelry Department. All fine jewelry is 10K gold or set in 10K, unless otherwise stated. Regular prices are offering prices only. Sales may or may not have been made at regular prices. Super Buy items are at their lowest prices every day and are not reduced. Items designated "Lowest Prices" are at or below our lowest prices of the year, season or ever. However, special incentive offers such as early birds, coupons, clearance, etc., may have resulted in temporarily lower prices. Selections may vary by location. Regular prices and percentages off vary by geographic region. See pages 6-7 for extended terms, credit details.

We think a quality living environment is something that ought to be protected.

For more than five decades, Robertson Brothers has been recognized as Southeastern Michigan's premier builder. And while we're proud of that, we're just as proud of the fact that every one of our homes is on a foundation of concern for the environment. We don't intrude upon nature. We accommodate it. Our developments protect the existing landscapes, assuring that they're alive with trees and parks, and get more than the serene beauty of gentle marshlands. So with Robertson Brothers, you get more than just a quality home. You get a life, and a lifestyle, that's worth preserving. For more information on how you can enjoy the benefits of a quality living environment, call 810-644-3460.

Builder Of The Month

By SUSAN GRAHAM

Kaftan Enterprises

With low pricing and standard conveniences such as maintenance-free landscaping and lawn care, Saratoga Farms is just perfect for empty nesters and busy first home buyers alike.

The family owned and operated, Kaftan Enterprises began with father Mel Kaftan over thirty years ago in 1965. Mel started the company with a mere $5,000 loan and a passion for building. Today Kaftan Enterprises is an experienced, multi-faceted company, dealing in numerous areas of real estate from apartments to luxury single family homes. The company has built and now manages over twenty apartment communities in the metropolitan area. In addition, Kaftan develops and builds over 40 homes per year.

Nowadays, you'll find Mel being assisted both in the office and in the field by his son and daughter. Lori Kaftan Barron is vice-president of property management and Jeffrey Kaftan is vice-president of new construction.

"We enjoy designing attractive, interesting communities. We want to be proud of what we deliver, and we stand by our product and reputation," says Mel.

Kaftan should be proud of his standing in the community. He is currently a board member of the National Association of Homebuilders as well as the president of the Apartment Association of Southeastern Michigan. Furthermore, each year since 1986, when the city of Farmington Hills first began issuing beautification awards, Kaftan Enterprises has received multiple awards along with annual beautification awards from other municipalities.

How did they gain such high regard? "By being honest and fair," explains Mel. "We maintain an excellent relationship with the city, customers, contractors and suppliers. If you're honest and fair, you'll always be able to produce a good product."

The Kaftans feel their reputation is also conveyed by their architect, Alex Bogaerts and Associates, who has worked with the family for many years. "Bogaerts' designs are fabulous," says Mel.

"I want to create town houses and ranches with curb appeal that people can afford. Alex always comes through."

Their following is so strong in Farmington Hills, they have already sold out the first phase of their current development, Saratoga Farms, even before the first shovel hit the ground. The modest Mel Kaftan attributes this success to the community's affordable pricing. "We've developed numerous communities in the city, but no other developer has considered offering great homes in the $130,000 to $150,000 range," says Mel.

"The prices of homes today are escalating to levels out of reach for many would-be home buyers," adds Jeffrey Kaftan. "Home buyers are paying $150,000 for bungalows in older communities. We felt there was a need for affordable housing in upscale, newer communities."

Saratoga Farms is located in Farmington Hills on 11 Mile Road, west of Halstead. "We extended 11 Mile Road west 2,000 feet to access the site," explains Mel. These affordable attached condominiums are available in elegant two and three-bedrooms with two and a half baths, a two car attached garage and full basement with prices starting as low as $130's to $150's. "It's exciting building in communities as desirable as

"It's a pleasure being able to drive through a community we've built with the confidence that we've delivered a quality product and given our homebuyers the service they expect."

Farmington Hills, with their top schools and services, say Jeffrey. "It's hard to find new construction in the area in this price range."

With low pricing and standard conveniences such as maintenance-free landscaping and lawn care, Saratoga Farms is just perfect for empty nesters and busy first home buyers alike. "Customers come first," says Jeffrey. "My father has instilled into the entire company the importance of good service. We go the extra step to take care of the home buyer; to leave them feeling satisfied with their home."

Mel agrees, "If you have a problem, we'll be there for you. We take care of our obligations."

It has obviously worked well to place affordable homes in convenient, prosperous locations. "We really enjoy being able to confidently tell potential home buyers to speak with cities and townships we've built in. We encourage them to ask about our company's standing," says Jeffrey. "Kaftan Enterprises has a great reputation. I'd like to further that. It's a pleasure being able to drive through a community we've built with the confidence that we've delivered a quality product and given our homebuyers the service they expect. I've heard all too often of the builder who ducks out of the scene the day the house closes."

Mel adds, "As our reputation has proven, we're in for the long haul."

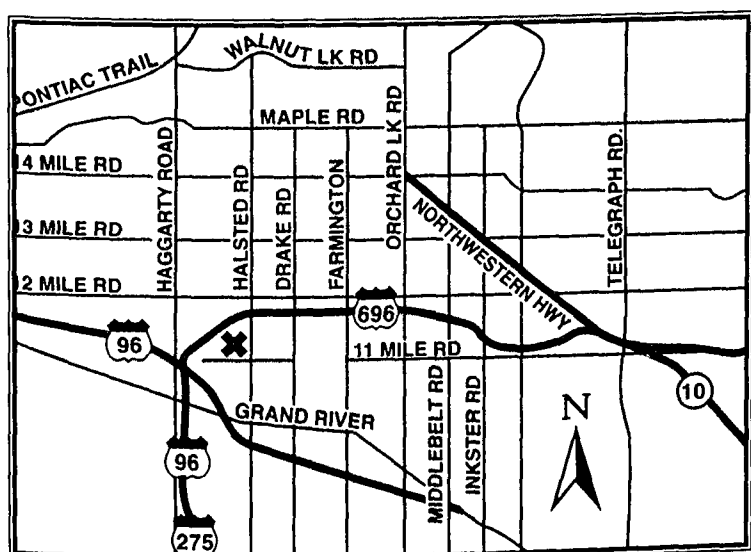

Perhaps Jeffrey has summed up the feelings derived from his affiliation with such a proud company. "Working with this family is about as good as it can be." ■

Just the Right Touch Furniture and Arts

By Susan Graham

Selecting furniture for our homes is a very personal decision. It must not only match our decor, it must match our personality. It must be comfortable and able to withstand our lifestyle. With all of the options available to us, nowadays, it's hard to know just where to begin.

Mark Morganroth, president of Sherwood Studios in West Bloomfield prefers decorating homes with a neutral background often in white, off-white or taupe. "A light background color is easy for anyone to enjoy," says Morganroth. "And it's easy to change in the future without expensive costs of major pieces."

Homeowners can simply bring out color by adding their choice of furniture, pictures and art. Morganroth finds gem tones such as turquoise, purple and raspberry great for accenting. Earth tones are also popular choices mainly found nowadays in beiges, tans and soft wood tones. "We're leaning back to colors popular fifteen years ago, but replacing the browns for lighter, softer colors like taupes."

Along the same lines, you'll likely find a lot of furniture pieces in the lighter woods such as natural cherry, natural oak or pickled oak. But if you still prefer a darker, deeper tone, flame mahogany is a rich option and is accented wonderfully by black.

Contemporary art in vibrant colors is great for accenting. Sculptures, whether bold or monotone, geometrical or streamlines also add depth and feeling to any room.

"You'll find one extreme or the other," says Morganroth. "Both are very attractive and very fun to work with."

Nothing adds elegance to a room like leather furniture. And now that the manufacturers have found a better way to process leather, it is much more affordable than ever before. Furthermore, thanks to a procedure that allows dye to penetrate through the material, it is also softer, more comfortable and more durable. In fact, leather will typically last longer than fabric and is easier to clean and maintain. "Leather is often a better value in the long run," says Morganroth.

Ultrasuede is another possibility and is a great alternative for those that don't like leather. Ultrasuede is a synthetic material that wears as well as leather but has a soft, warm feel similar to velvet. Like leather, it is also easy to clean. Simply wipe with a Woolite and water mixture.

If you're looking for furniture that is both fun and unique to your home and color scheme, hand-painted furniture may be the answer. At Three Oaks Furniture in Farmington Hills, their on-staff artists will hand paint tables, chairs, armoires, almost any piece of furniture with details from your room. Painting over a generally solid light paint or stain, Three Oaks can match the designs from an existing wallpaper border, rug, or couch. Bold designs or pastel scenes can add a spirited touch to the room. "It's like a light bulb goes off in our customer's head when they hear of the possibilities," says Marion Tobkin.

Three Oaks Furniture also showcases a luxurious and popular hand-carved furniture collection with many of the pieces resembling elaborate antiques. These selections are available in any color and come in ornate and shaker styles. Furniture made of a combination of materials, such as metal, wood and glass are great choices. One example may be a variety of coffee tables with wrought iron legs, wood trim and a glass table top.

Bill Roth of The Yankee Carpenter located in Bloomfield Hills, Sterling Heights, Brighton and Lapeer has noticed the biggest trend for new furniture is in the home office. "More and more people are working out of their homes. They're looking for ways to blend their office into their home."

Computer armoires and rolltop desks are beautiful options that allow home workers to cover up their papers and files when the office has "closed." Not only does this help them keep their living space from appearing cluttered, it also helps protect important documents. Regardless of what type of furniture fits your home lifestyle, Roth suggests it also fits your office and equipment. "Make sure your desk can handle your computer," says Roth. "It doesn't make a lot of sense to put a $2,500 computer on a $200 particle board desk."

This is also the case with entertainment centers, another large part of Roth's business at The Yankee Carpenter. While electronics such as televisions and stereos are becoming both bigger and more affordable, homeowners need larger, more custom centers to contain them.

According to Roth, oak is still the most popular choice of wood but pine is once again making a comeback. Lighter colors are also much more wanted now than the foreboding darker tones of past years. The Yankee Carpenter offers a variety of unfinished and finished furniture in several types of wood. Custom finishing is available or you can finish yourself.

Contemporary art in vibrant colors is great for accenting. Sculptures, whether bold or monotone, geometrical or streamlines also add depth and feeling to any room. Monolithic pedestals add a romantic flavor and are great for displaying additional artworks. Something as simple as a glass bowl or decorative vase will enhance a wide range of decors from traditional to contemporary to country.

While personal preference plays the largest role in the selection of art and sculptures, often carefully framed reproductions of fine art pieces are just perfect for accenting any room. Most of this art is just as grand and decorative as their original

Why Custom Cabinets ?

In this mass-produced world, isn't it nice to know you can still have some things built to your exact specifications? Benchmark Cabinetworks is a full service furniture and cabinetry manufacturer committed to meeting your individual needs with the highest level of quality and craftsmanship.

From exact onsite measurements and your requirements, computer generated drawings are presented for your review and approval. The choice of woods, stains, laminates and hardware is limited only by your imagination. The quality process begins as each piece of material is cut to exact dimensions and hand-crafted into your personal cabinetry.

Benchmark completes the quality process by including delivery and installation of your new cabinets. Your satisfaction is as important to us as the beauty of your home is to you.

Entry Doors and Foyers "Saying Welcome"

By Susan Graham

Your front door says a lot about your home. "People are replacing their doors for aesthetic reasons," says Henry Tarnow of Tarnow Doors in Farmington Hills, "They want a grand entrance to their 'castle'."

The look and style of your front door can have a definite effect on the overall scale and balance of your house. It provides, after all, the very first interaction visitors have. With the right door, the first impression can be a lasting and dramatic one.

Doors can now be found in a variety of materials from the stronger, more durable and maintenance-free fiberglass door to the less expensive steel door as well as the high maintenance, yet luxurious, traditional wooden doors. As for designs, there is an almost unlimited number of choices. Here are some things you'll want to take into consideration when selecting the proper door:

The size, style and color of your home. While some mixing and matching helps break up monotony with contrast, your door should provide a noticeable but never overwhelming effect. Doors can be enhanced by matching sidelites (vertical panels to the side(s) of the door) and transoms (horizontal panels above the door) with curves or shapes that compliment the architecture of your home.

Size of your entryway. Perhaps you have always wanted a two-story foyer with a double door and sidelites, but if you live in a small ranch you will have to select something more reasonable. There are enough styles to add elegance to any size home without paying for extensive remodeling.

Privacy and protection. While the hardware of most doors is now made with stronger, reinforced components, some elaborately decorated doors can reduce both protection and privacy. For increased protection most people are turning to heavier deadbolts with handbolts. These work well for both single and double doors.

"They are making so many designs to meet everyone's different tastes," says George Nadeau of Smede Son Steel and Supply on Inkster in Detroit. It used to be that many handle finishes would quickly deteriorate in bad weather. Nowadays, most exterior lock manufacturers are offering stronger products with ten year or lifetime finish guarantees.

Nadeau recommends manufacturer Quickset's Titan Series which offers an all solid construction in a long handle form with a thumb latch and a deadbolt. "About seventy percent of builders are using this on a new home because of the security it offers."

Another stylish option is the keyed level entry set which uses a decorative lever rather than the traditional knob.

Regardless of the style of hardware you select for your door, shiny brass is still the most common color. Second and third choices include antique brass or dull chrome tones.

Personal Preference. Entryway doors can be found in an unlimited number of styles from solid materials to a combination of raised panels, glass designs and metals. Glass adds an instant and unmatched elegance to the exterior of your home. It also helps open and brighten the interior. Solid doors may offer the most privacy and protection. Panels offer additional visual enhancements.

Budgets. When you really get down to it, your budget will be the biggest determinate in the door you choose. Entryway counterparts. Another fun and affordable way to accent your room is to decorate with sharp art from unknown artists. Many of these fine pieces are found at moderate prices. If you are more particular, gallery art and one-of-a-kinds by famous artists might hold the real appeal. While this can be the expensive way to go, they provide for excellent conversation.

For the most practical result, Morganroth suggests compromising. If you have always wanted an original piece from your favorite artist and can afford to splurge, display your selection in a room that receives the most attention. Then balance it off with less expensive, complimentary choices from new artists.

The many styles of Wicker Furniture

Have you always wanted a sun room full of cheerful wicker? Now may be a great time to start looking for that perfect set.

Manufacturers have now found a way to make wicker much more sturdy, more durable and longer lasting than ever before. The size, shapes and styles to select from has also grown. Today wicker is much more stylish, "with more options and colors in the frames, wickers and fabrics," says

Kay Brown of Sun Valley Casual Furniture in Clarkston. "People are surprised by how many choices they have."

You can find wicker in everything from extra large chairs with ottomans to tables, television and night stands, even entertainment centers and beds. "You can do your whole room in wicker," says Brown.

With its light and airy feel, wicker is a great choice for a glassed-in Florida room. But don't fret if you have only a screened-in porch or would like to add wicker to an exposed deck. This furniture is now being manufactured to withstand even Michigan's tough conditions.

Lloyd/Flanders has created a line of all weather wicker by manufacturing their products of a more durable and weather resistant material. In the Lane/Venture Weber Weathercraft and Weathermaster series, their fabric cushions have built in mesh drains to remove excess water and moisture.

Whether they're made for inside or outside, almost all wicker furniture is now built to last longer. Perhaps that's why you may be seeing it in more living rooms and bedrooms. Because there are so many options, wicker fits anywhere and can be matched with any decor from contemporary to Victorian.

Green wicker has always been a favorite and still is, but the new tones are switching from the dark forest green to sage and lighter greens. "There is also a big interest in taupe and earth tones," says Brown.

Homeowners can easily blend wicker with existing pieces. Wrought iron and wicker offers a wonderful combination. "Like wicker, wrought iron is great for glass or screened-in porches," says Brown.

At Sun Valley, many of their wrought iron pieces are available in eight to ten different colors, including more textured and antique finishes. "They're made to look softer than ever before," says Brown. Sage green wrought iron is also in, and especially popular is the verde (teal) green.

Sun Valley Casual Furniture in Clarkston has a 10,000 square foot showroom displaying a great selection of all types of patio and casual furniture. ■ doors can vary across the board in price depending on quality, style and size.

On the high end of the scale is the Therma Tru Classic-Craft door. With all the touches you might find in a prelum wood door: grains, detailed panels, and brass hinges, these doors provide an additional level of performance not available in wood. Designed with a durable, compression molded composite surface, it is resistant to dents, cracks, splits, splinter, shrinking, swelling and warping. Plus with a solid, polyurethane door it offers five times the insulating value as wood.

These doors can be stained in natural oak, cherry, walnut, light oak and antique white. They can also be painted with a high quality exterior grade house paint and primer.

Tarnow Doors also sells the Therma Tru Fiber-Classic Series offering the warm, rich look of wood without the drawbacks. The Fiber-Classic door resists damage, insulates five times better than wood and can be stained to look just like it.

Although steel doors aren't as durable as their fiberglass counterparts they are less expensive and come in just as many styles. Many steel doors are now manufactured to be more energy-efficient and resistant to warping, cracking and rotting. Unlike the fiberglass options, they must also be painted rather than stained.

Glass not only enhances any doorway, it will also lighten the interior of your home and the combinations are almost unlimited. The glass can be clear, beveled, glue chipped, tinted, etched and frosted as examples. In addition, it can be lined by brass copper, zinc, lead or less expensive carving. Since glass will match any decor, your choice will be greatly effected by personal preference but mainly budget. "The more brass in a piece of glass, the more expensive it will be."

While your front door should say "welcome" to guests, your foyer should be just as inviting. The biggest trend in foyer tiling seen by Dave Slough sales manager of the Tile Shop in Farmington, is distressed ceramic tile. With a rough, variegated surface, it offers an elegant antique appearance. "It comes in any color you can imagine, but the neutral tones are the most common," says Slough.

Another wonderful designed option that will enhance any foyer are inserts. At The Tile Shop, they can add medallion inserts such as a 3 or 6-foot sundial. They can also create smaller pieces to match current designs from rugs or drapes and insert them into various sections of the foyer.

Mixing medias always adds a fun touch. Granite or marble can accentuate ceramic tile or you can simply mix complementary colors or patterns from one medium.

If you've been looking for something for outdoors, The Tile Shop now sells a frost-proof tile. These tiles will not absorb moisture and therefore, won't crack outdoors.

With just the right touches inside and out, your home can be welcoming to all. ■ fans are available in the popular stainless steel, white, black as well as polished brass or copper.

Hood fans are manufactured in either the traditional updraft hood or the downdraft style. The updraft hood almost always provides the best ventilation since steam naturally rises in an updraft motion.

However, downdrafts can be just as conducive for an island range. Downdrafts work well because they can be hidden much easier. There are two basic types of downdrafts including the telescoping unit that pops up behind the range. You will want to pay attention to how well this type of system is able to vent the front burners, which may not receive the full power of this system.

There is also a more traditional type of downdraft system which is located flush with the cooktop. By basic design, this downdraft is traditionally much lower than the pots and pans used on the stove, and may require more power to pull steam over the pan rim first before it is able to pull it down and out.

Many manufacturers have worked hard to combat some of these concerns. Nowadays, there are plenty of hoods to choose from whether you need a filter-less interior-powered hood, a quiet exterior unit or a downdraft system.

Also available at Trevarrow, Inc. is the Viking CentriVent filterless air removal system which uses centrifugal force to remove both grease and heat from dangerously hot vapors. This action liquefies the grease and then stores it safely beyond a fireproof pressure barrier.

Viking also offers a remote-mount exterior powered ventilator that eliminates motor operating sounds and reduces airflow noise.

The Viking Versa Vent Rear Downdrafts are great options for island systems and can be raised or lowered at the touch of a button. The downdraft movement can be stopped at varying heights to aid in ventilation over different sized pots and pans. It even comes with a delay/off feature that will operate for ten minutes before automatically shutting down and returning to its fully retracted position flush with the countertop.

Viking also offers such accessories as a wall and island hood duct cover, wall hood warming shelf panels, wall hood back splashes, heat lamps and lights.

When considering a range hood you may want to select one that has easily accessible, dishwasher-safe filters.

A wide range of factors will effect the price of range hoods, including the size and materials, the ventilator and whether or not the blower is external or internal. For the best results in selecting a hood that fits your lifestyle, take into consideration the type and quantity of cooking that you do because that will effect the size of the blower needed. Also consider where your blower will be in relation to the outside of the house. "If your blower is right under the deck, you may not want to use an external blower, but an external blower might work well on the roof," says Goss.

Finally, your duct work will directly impact how your hood must be set up. Some manufacturers offer a range hood that works with charcoal recirculating filters for a duct-free operation. ■

Let There Be Light:

Windows Work Wonders When Homeowners Want To 'Lighten Up!'

President, Robert R. Jones Associates

Robert R. Jones

The homebuilding process is made up of a myriad of decisions and a maze of details. Individuals want their new home to reflect their personal tastes and accommodate their family's particular lifestyles.

While there are certain trends in home design that change with the times, there is one specific request that has remained a priority among new homeowners for the more than 25 years that I have been building homes. Very early on during design discussions, clients inevitably express their strong desire to "let the sunshine in" to their new home.

There is no doubt about it—the warm rays of the sun streaming through windows adds a feeling of warmth to any home. Bringing in the beauty of the blue sky outside adds a touch of beauty to the decor on the inside. Looking out on a bright, brilliant summer day brightens up everything in a room. Since we are in the middle of this beautiful Michigan season, I thought it was an ideal time to shine our Home Spotlight on the ways that windows work wonders inside our homes.

Rooms with a View

The next time you walk into a home that is filled with light, take a careful look at how the windows contribute to creating the overall ambiance in each room. There may be numerous windows along several walls acting as superb light sources. Perhaps, in addition to the windows, the room has a glass doorwall or French doors which also allows an abundance of light inside. A cozy bay window with a bench lets you sit while soaking up the sun. Skylights provide a unique "window to the world," inviting in both the sunlight and the moonlight from overhead.

Homes that have volume, or cathedral ceilings offer homeowners unique opportunities to "showcase the sun" and achieve spectacular results. The dramatic impact of a great room that has an 18-foot ceiling with windows soaring from the baseboards to the ceiling is undeniable. And when beautiful window treatments are added, the results in the room are even more breathtaking.

Light...and Heat...Sources

At the same time you are enjoying the summer sun streaming through your windows, you may also have to counteract excessive heat gain, especially in rooms that face west or south. You can utilize both interior as well as exterior approaches to accomplish this which will temporarily block out the light when necessary.

Some suggestions include:

Solar Screens - These screens shade windows and are used indoors as well as outdoors. Opaque or semi-sheer screens used on the inside are more practical because they can be raised and lowered from inside your home (i.e. pleated shades and draperies). They are less effective than those used on the exterior of your home, such as louvered aluminum shade screens, vinyl-coated polyester fabric screens and lighterweight screens made of woven fiberglass mesh.

Blinds - Vertical and horizontal blinds that have white or reflective backings will literally 'bounce' the heat coming inside back out your window. Light-colored wood blinds also work well.

Louvered Shutters - Because they block the sun while at the same time allowing ventilation, shutters work well to reduce heat gain. Most homeowners prefer interior shutters because the louvers can be tilted easily. While exterior shutters block out the light before it ever hits the window, adjusting them from the outside can be a hassle.

In addition, landscaping is one of the best methods of reducing heat gain inside your home. Appropriately placed trees will shade your windows and cool the air by releasing moisture.

Window Shopping

If you are in the market for new windows, here is a brief summary of the various types:

Double-Hung Windows - Two sashes ride up and down inside the framework and there are many types available, including wood, vinyl-clad wood, solid vinyl, aluminum and aluminum-clad wood, and they each have specific advantages and disadvantages depending on your particular home design.

Casement Windows - These have one panel that swings out off the jamb by turning a crank handle. They are also available in several different sizes and materials.

Fixed Windows - These windows have no operating parts and come in beautiful designs, including trapezoid, half circle, circular, triangular and other unique shapes. These types of windows increase natural light inside your home as well as provide design interest. When they are combined with other operable windows, the designs are quite stunning. These types of windows are frequently used in homes with volume ceilings.

The Knorrwood Model in Oakland Farms. A stunning atmosphere is created by the unique use of windows in several shapes.

Sliding Windows - One or both window panels slide horizontally in the frame.

Bay or Bow Windows - Bay windows have one straight and two angled sides. Bow windows are curved. Both types add an artistic effect to a room and increase floor space.

I hope that I have been able to 'shed some light' on beautifying—and brightening—your home.

Making The Most Of Your Home Improvement Dollar

(NAPS)-The home improvement industry is booming throughout the nation. In fact, by the year 1999, consumer remodeling will skyrocket to $112.3 billion annually, according to the Home Improvement Research Institute.

If you're planning on giving your home a "facelift" this year, consider the following tips, brought to you by the "out-door building experts" who produce Kodiak® preserved wood, an innovative new outdoor building product:

- Determine how long you plan on living in your home. Unless you plan on staying there for years, try to make improvements that not only add comfort and convenience for you now, but also increase your home's future resale value. For instance, a deck typically recoups 71 percent of its original construction cost.
- Consider how the addition will hold up over the long term. Choose quality building products that will look good years from now. This is especially important when choosing outdoor building products.
- Study your local real estate market to be sure you're making improvements that homebuyers want and will pay for. In a recent survey by the National Association of Home Builders, 83 percent of potential new home buyers surveyed said they would like their new home to have a deck off the back of the house, including 29 percent who said a deck was "essential". Other renovations rated high for their return on investment include bathroom and kitchen renovations, as well as interior remodeling.
- Understand that while you may think certain additions are an asset to your home, others may not. Examples include swimming pools, hot tubs and sliding glass doors. Potential buyers may not see past the maintenance work required with pools and spas; and sliding glass doors may be perceived as a risk where security is a concern.
- Be informed and know what you want before getting started. Talk with friends who have recently completed similar projects, or consult remodeling publications. Create a photograph file of styles of kitchens, decks, and bathrooms that you like.
- Manage your money and develop a working budget. During a remodeling project, most homeowners will add items as the project develops. A reserve equal to 10 to 20 percent of what you expect to spend should cover these changes.
- If hiring a professional, interview several builders, landscape and building architects and interior designers. Look at their portfolios and talk with friends and colleagues for referrals. Also keep in mind that many lumber yards offer expert design assistance and pre-cut lumber packages for decks. ■

Q. Where can we see Bathroom and Kitchen sinks which are of good quality? Also, the new law of water allowance for toilets is somewhat confusing. Where can we see how all of these work?

A. My advice is to go where the professional builders, designers, and architects go: Advanced Plumbing & Heating Supply Co. on West Maple Rd. in Walled Lake. This third generation family owned company features a 3,000 sq. ft. showroom with a second location in Detroit.

Recently I spoke with Jeff Moss, who with his father Ron, just returned from the Chicago Kitchen & Bath Show. Jeff is very excited about the new products and is anxious to display them. Now, to answer your questions in detail: Advance Plumbing allows you the opportunity to see many of the fixtures at work. As a designer, I have especially appreciated thermostatic valves with temperature control and attractive handles for showers.

Kitchen sinks are deeper than they once were and are made in every conceivable configuration. Bathroom sinks are also available in a variety of styles, from an oversized bowl for a master bath, to various works of art for a "Drop-Dead" powder room. Advance Plumbing offers basic to up-scale merchandise from American made Delta, Kohler, and Kallista to the European models of Duravit, Grohe and Porcher.

All toilets use only 1.6 gallons of water per flush these days, but many manufacturers have found ways to make them work despite the low water usage. Still confused? Because Advance Plumbing's owners and operators, Jeff and Ron Moss have maintained a working philosophy that the customers problems are our problems, they have a licensed and knowledgeable plumber on staff for technical assistance and trouble shooting.

I encourage you to visit the Walled Lake showroom. Walk-in customers are always welcome. If you're building a home or undertaking a major remodeling project, you may want to make an appointment to visit the showroom with your builder or designer. Advance Plumbing caters to top home developers. My thoughts are that I prefer to go to the same specialist that my doctor seeks for medical attention, so why not go straight to the preferred resource of plumbers and builders everywhere?

BUILDERS SQUARE

SQUARE REWARDS TERMS & CONDITIONS

1. Enroll in Square Rewards simply by filling out the enclosed enrollment form and returning it to the Customer Service Desk at your local Builders Square. You may request a second card with the same account number for a member of your household on the application. You'll be issued a Square Rewards Card that you can use to start earning Square Rewards Vouchers immediately.
2. Present your card before making your purchase and your purchases will be registered on your Square Rewards account. You must present your Square Rewards Card to receive purchase credit. Purchases may only be made by person(s) to whom the Square Rewards Card(s) have been issued. Additionally, Square Rewards cannot be used in conjunction with the Seniors Discount Card or Commercial Credit Card.
3. Spend at least $100 in one quarter and you will earn Square Rewards Vouchers worth up to 5% of your current spending total. Specifically:

• Spend	$100-199:	Earn	$5.00	Voucher
• Spend	$200-499:	Earn	$10.00	Voucher
• Spend	$500-999:	Earn	$25.00	Voucher
• Spend	$1,000-2,499:	Earn	$50.00	Voucher
• Spend	$2,500-4,999:	Earn	$125.00	Voucher
• Spend	$5,000+:	Earn	$250.00	Voucher

You can earn up to $250 in Square Rewards Vouchers each quarter. Square Rewards are earned only on cash, credit card and check purchases. Square Rewards are not earned on that portion of purchases made with Square Rewards Vouchers.
4. The 1997 quarter end dates are as follows:
February 28, 1997
May 31, 1997
August 31, 1997
November 30, 1997

Depending on your enrollment date, as of that quarter end date (listed above) and quarterly thereafter, any Square Rewards Vouchers earned will be mailed to you. If more than one cardholder on the account, Voucher(s) will be issued to the primary cardholder. These must be redeemed within 90 days of the voucher issue date. Purchase credits earned during one quarter cannot be carried over to another quarter. (Square Rewards cannot be accumulated beyond the quarter period.)
5. Square Rewards Vouchers can be used toward the purchase of any merchandise at any participating Builders Square store location. Square Rewards Vouchers may not be redeemed for cash or as payments for Builders Square Gift Certificates, any Builders Square Credit Card, Commercial Credit Card or Charge Account.
6. Return merchandise is not eligible for Square Rewards purchase credits. Your account will be debited on the date the merchandise was returned.
7. Square Rewards accounts or purchases on them are not transferable. Square Rewards purchase credits may not be combined with other accounts. Square Rewards Vouchers are not replaceable if lost, stolen or destroyed. For account balance information, change of address, replacement of a lost card or questions regarding the Square Rewards Program, call 1-800-944-5336.
8. Builders Square reserves the right to cancel the Program at the end of any given quarter. If canceled, you will receive Square Rewards Vouchers earned for any purchases registered in that period.
9. Any fraudulent act or statement by holder in conjunction with the Square Rewards Program (including, but not limited to, fraudulent use of the card) will result in revocation of the card and permanent exclusion from the Square Rewards Program. Builders Square may prosecute fraudulent conduct to the fullest extent allowable under civil and criminal law.
10. Proper identification is required at time of application.

As featured in the Novi News
Doinidis graduated from Oakland University in 1973 with a math degree and graduated from Life Chiropractic College in Georgia in 1978. At Doinidis Chiropractic Center patients don't wait for hours to receive help. Appointments are also short, between 10 and 20 minutes after the first visit. "I accommodate people with hectic schedules," said Doinidis..... That first session takes about an hour. He recently moved his 17-year old practice from Ten Mile to the Peachtree Center on Meadowbrook. Making people feel better is his job, said Doinidis.
