School budget set at $34.7M

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

The Northville Public School District's budget for the year is set but it's not set in stone.

With the mandatory July 1 deadline for adoption looming, the Northville Board of Education unanimously approved a record budget for fiscal year 1997-98 on Monday night, June 23. It's going to undergo some tweaking, however, before the school doors open in late August.

Three things remain to be resolved between now and the beginning of the next school year: the State of Michigan's budget, student enrollment, and new hires in the district.

Still, the changes made to the $34.7 million general fund budget aren't expected to be earth-shattering, according to John Street, the district's director of business and finance.

"There's always some adjustments to be made but I'm fairly pleased with where we stand now," he said.

The money the district spends is divided among seven categories, the general fund being the largest. Other expense categories include: debt, food service, athletics, early childhood programs and special education services.

A building and site fund is the newest category. In it are revenues spent for work associated with the bond issue that passed June 9. According to Street, about $7.5 million will be spent this fiscal year on bond-related expenses.

Most of the general fund (about $29 million) is spent on employee salaries and benefits. The rest is divided among a number of costs.

It's important to note that bond expenses are separate from the district's general fund. Most of the general fund (about $29 million) is spent on employee salaries and benefits. The rest is divided among a number of costs - everything from utility bills to insurance premiums.

Most of the revenue in the general fund, about $33.5 million by current best-guess estimates, will come from the state-administered school operating property tax. Since lawmakers in Lansing haven't finalized the State of Michigan's governmental budget

Summer tax bills headed out soon

Payments due in early September

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Quick quiz: what summer tradition arrives next week?

No, not the Fourth of July, we're talking property tax bills and they're scheduled to soon arrive at a mailbox near you.

1997 summer property tax bills for Northville City property owners were set to be mailed yesterday (June 25). Don't feel left out, those of you in the township, yours are going out around July 1.

City property owners will have until Sept. 2 to pay their bills without penalty. Township owners have until Sept. 15. Wait until after that, however, and it's a whole new ball game.

A 2 percent penalty will be tacked on to unpaid overdue city bills come Sept. 3. A half-percent interest penalty will be added every month thereafter. In Northville Township the rate is 1 percent per month beginning Sept. 16.

Both the city and township will turn over their unpaid tax bills to Wayne and Oakland counties in March of 1998 and their rates are even higher. County collectors will tack a 4 percent penalty/1 percent interest fee for every month payments are late.

Northville City's tax office will send out almost 2,900 tax bills this week to collect from a community with a total taxable value of about $228 million. Of that amount, $122 million lies in Oakland County and $106 million in Wayne.

More than 6,400 tax bills will fly out the doors of Northville Town-

Art in the sun

Shoppers, browsers and people watchers couldn't have asked for better weather for last week-end's Art in the Sun event. Portions of Main and Center streets were closed off Saturday and Sunday as artists and craftsmakers displayed their creations during the two-day activity. Kiwanis Club members Jim Andrikides (middle distance) and Mike Andrews (right) spiced things up by selling Italian sausage sandwiches

Township planners recommend approval of mining operation

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

It's taken a year of hard negotiations but a final answer on the plan to mine sand and gravel near Six Mile and Ridge roads is drawing closer.

The Iafate Construction Co.'s request took a big step forward on Tuesday night, June 24. Helped in no small part because plans for an asphalt processing plant at the site have been dropped, the proposed mine site won a unanimous green light from the Northville Township Planning Commission.

Commission members voted 6-0 to recommend that the board of trustees, the body which will have the final say on the proposal, grant a special land use permit and mining license to Iafate. The commission put a formal site plan for the 176-acre site on ice pending more information.

However, as chair Dick Allen told Iafate representatives, "two out of three ain't bad."

Since a mine is such an unusual land use the Iafate proposal has to jump through more legal hoops than the average development plan.

The planning commission first decides if the proposal meets the technical requirements of township ordinances. The board of trustees then gives its approval or denial to the special land use permit, mining license and a specific site plan.

The trustees will likely take up the permit and license issues in

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

The trip from triumph to tragedy can be terribly, terrifyingly short.

Case in point: that limousine crash 13 days ago which has left two members of The Detroit Red Wings battling for their lives less than a week after winning The Stanley Cup.

If you're like most people, you've been following the progress of Wings defenseman Vladimir Konstantinov and team masseur Sergei Mnatsakanov since that Friday the 13th accident. You may have even said a prayer or sent a card to the comatose men, searching for a way to pass along hopes of a quick recovery.

Three guys in Northville have found their way. Now they're inviting you to use it, too.

Brothers Zarry, Neil and Jude Mansilla are the owners and operators of a worldwide Internet computer service based here in Northville. Called Almighty Online, it offers What U Seek, a high-powered web "search engine."

Since the Sunday after the accident, What U Seek's home page has played host to something very special: a Red Wings get well card that everyone's welcome to "sign."

So far more than 5,000 people from all over the world have left e-mail messages of encouragement for Konstantinov and Mnatsakanov at the card site. The Wings will receive all of them when the card's delivered.

"It was an emotional thing. We felt sorrow for them and we wanted to show our support," Zarry explained.

Watching news reports of the worsening situation on the Saturday night after the crash was

Three Cooke students honored by AAA

Cooke Middle School students Martha Wasek, Amy Rauner and Michael Ryan are in the winner's circle. They recently earned honors in the 20th annual AAA Michigan School Traffic Safety Poster Contest.

As a second place winner, Martha won a $125 U.S. Savings Bond for her poster illustrating the traffic safety slogan "Develop the Safety Belt Habit." Martha competed in the junior division for students in grades seven through nine.

Amy earned third place honors and a $75 U.S. Savings Bond for her poster depicting the theme "Cooperate with Your Safety Patrol." Her poster also won the third place recognition and a $75 U.S. Savings Bond in the national poster contest. Amy competed in the elementary division for grades four through six in the state and national contests.

Michael's poster portraying the slogan "Walk Facing Traffic" earned an honorable mention in the state and national contests. He competed in the elementary division.

Posters selected for final judging in the state contest were reviewed by a panel of prominent individuals in the fields of education, art and traffic safety. Criteria for the selection of award-winning posters included:

- Relationship of the poster design to traffic safety practices.
- Originality.
- Artwork and execution.
- Visual impact.

Traffic crashes are the leading cause of death for children between one and 14 years of age. Through art education, the AAA Michigan School Traffic Safety Poster Contest endeavors to encourage students to think about traffic safety and to learn by doing.

Doin' the shoulder slither

Terri Neill of Michigan's Science Alive foundation brought many interesting animals to the Northville District Library last week, among them a 12-foot Burmese python. Youngsters Chase Edward, Jimmy Wallace, Alek Sturton, Christopher Kowalski and Luke Rizik got the honor of having the 50-pound snake draped across their shoulders.

Township officials eye vacant building

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Northville Township officials are making a play for more space for government operations.

Elbow room has been hard to come by at the township's municipal offices in recent years. More people, records and equipment than ever before now share quarters inside Township Hall on Six Mile and the headquarters of the Department of Public Services on Beck Road.

"We are out of space," was how township Clerk Sue Hillebrand put it.

On Monday, June 23, the township board of trustees decided to try to do something about the shortage. On a 5-2 vote the board formally approved a proposal to purchase the now-closed Comerica bank building located next door to Township Hall.

The bank closed last week but the ATM machine that's still there remains functional. It will continue to stay open if and when the township buys the bank building, Hillebrand said.

Standing in the way is a difference over price. The building owner has asked for $595,000 - the township is ready to pay $425,000. Also under discussion are conditions attached to the sale such as how long before the building could one day be used again as a bank, if ever.

Township officials are asking for an answer to their bid offer by noon on Tuesday, July 1.

If a deal is concluded the township will find a use for the space, either for personnel or storage.

Beautification judging planned for next month

Heads up, Northville Township business operators.

Members of the Northville Township Beautification Commission will begin the judging for the annual beautification awards in mid July.

Judges will spend the better part of a week making the rounds and rating businesses on the basis of landscaping, cleanliness and overall appearance.

Businesses earning the most total points from the judges will be declared the winners of the 1997 township beautification awards. Awards will be presented in October at an awards luncheon.

Businesses will be judged with the type of business in mind.

Volunteers still needed for Fourth of July events

Get in on the Fourth of July fun by getting involved.

Celebrate Northville, the non-profit organization which puts together the community's slate of Independence Day activities each year, needs volunteers to help out with the morning parade.

Hundreds of pairs of hands are needed to organize the parade and keep everything on track.

All you need is a good pair of shoes and three to four hours to spare on the morning of Friday, July 4.

All of you who are already signed up to be parade volunteers, take note: a special meeting will be held this Tuesday, July 1. Everyone who wants to be a volunteer is also welcome to attend.

The meeting will take less than an hour and will be held at Northville Diamond Jewelers, 201

E. Main St. in downtown Northville.

Duties, assignments and special Fourth of July T-shirts will be distributed.

The meeting will start at 7:30

Call Debbie MacDonald at Northville Diamond Jewelers at 348-6418, Rob David at 305-5996 or Ken Woodside at 347-1919 for more information.

Correction

A recent story in The Northville Record included a reference to the new high school being ready to open in time for the 1999-2000 school year.

In fact, the new school, which will be built with money approved in the June 9 election, is expected to open for the 2000-2001 year.

The Record regrets the error.

Coldwell Banker's #1 Agent In The State of Michigan

I MAY NOT SELL YOUR HOUSE!

Only approximately 2% of all listings nationwide are sold by the listing agent. When you list your house with me, I will try my best to sell it myself, but more importantly, I will just get it sold.

Colleagues in my firm or realtors who are affiliated with a cooperating broker may sell my listings. This is why I work hard to maintain a reputation for being very professional and easy to work with. I make the homes I list as easy as possible for other realtors to preview or show to buyers. When you select a realtor to market your property, you are hiring them not only for their list of prospective buyers, but for their ability to tap the lists of other people in the business. I constantly lobby my competition, asking if they have seen my listings, getting feedback and urging them to add my listings to the short lists that they show when they have a prospective buyer.

Authorities suspect arson in car fire

Fire gutted a car on Ridge Road early Sunday morning and police say they suspect it's arson.

A passerby called police at about 12:45 a.m. on June 22, saying that a 1986 Cadillac DeVille was on fire off Ridge between Five and Six Mile roads.

An officer found it ablaze with flames over 10 feet high.

Northville Township firefighters put out the fire. No one was in the car. It was impounded and photographed. The owner was notified by telephone and police are investigating.

CAR SWIPED: Someone stole a Chevrolet Blazer belonging to a Canton woman working at Home Depot on Friday.

The Blazer, valued at $28,000, was parked in the store's lot. The woman said it was taken sometime between 9:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. on June 20. Also stolen were $600 worth of compact discs.

The vehicle was listed as stolen in the law enforcement computer network.

RING TAKEN: A Howell woman

lost her wedding ring at Papa Vito's restaurant in Northville on the night of June 12.

The woman told police she took the ring off in the bathroom to wash her hands, laying it on the sink. She then turned away to dry her hands and when she turned back the ring was gone. It is valued at $3,000.

BIKES FILCHED: A pair of expensive mountain bikes which were minus their front tires were stolen from a car carrier on E. Harbour Village Drive on June 16.

The owner told police the two bikes were locked together into the carrier with their front wheels taken off. She returned to her home that day to discover the bikes gone. The Montana model bike and Diamond Back are valued at $800 and $600, respectively.

CARTS MARRIED: Vandals did a number on five golf carts at Bushwood golf course off Haggerty Road during the night of June 17-18.

Police think someone jumped a fence, surrounded the carts and damaged their bodies, tore the seats and tipped four of the five over. Damage is put at $1,000.

TRAILER TAKEN: Thieves made off with a Novi man's trailer which was parked near the new Wendy's restaurant at Six Mile and Haggerty roads last week.

The ripoff took place during the night of June 16-17. The man told police that it is valued at $2,500.

DRUNK DRIVER: Police arrested a Milford man for drunk driving in the wee hours of June 19.

A township officer traveling west on Seven Mile near Silver Springs Drive said he saw the man's Ford Ranger speeding and swerving. When stopped and questioned, the 24-year-old driver allegedly showed signs of intoxication.

The man, who said he'd had two or three beers that night, failed field sobriety tests and was taken to police headquarters. Breath testing there showed him to have a blood alcohol level of .11 percent, above the legal limit of .10 percent.

A computer check revealed an outstanding warrant for the man's arrest on a contempt of court charge stemming from an Ann Arbor assault case. He was held for Ann Arbor police.

CAR LARCENY: A local teen's car was broken into during the night of June 15-16.

The Dearborn Place resident's car is a 1994 Ford Probe. Thieves, probably by reaching through a partially open window, got into the locked Probe and stole a cellular phone, speakers and a credit card.

The phone and speakers are valued at $300.

If you have any information about these or any other illegal incidents call Northville Township police at 349-9400.

Planners recommend gravel and sand mine

coming weeks following Tuesday night's commission yes vote. The approval capped 12 months of arduous talks between township planners and lafrate representatives over many aspects of the plan, township officials hoping to minimize its impact on the community.

The biggest change in the plan came recently when lafrate dropped a proposal for an asphalt processing plant, something which many local residents and township planners voiced strong objections to for health and environmental reasons.

Concerns over the proposed mine have included everything from dust and noise to environmental contamination and area water table levels.

To address those, the commission tacked on a long list of conditions to its recommendation of approval.

They include changes and additions to the mine plan intended to reduce its impact on the community, all of which will be monitored by township officials. lafrate must implement them in order to win a final green light.

A key subject of debate is how lafrate would leave the land once its 10-year mining operation is finished.

Should the land be reclaimed for residential or industrial development or should that decision be made down the road?

"We'll see how the community develops and figure out what's best," said lafrate lawyer Allen Greene, expressing the company's desire to wait some time before submitting a specific proposal for consideration.

State fireworks laws among strictest

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

The Fourth of July is just around the corner and for many that means it's time to set off a firework or two.

If people aren't careful, though, they might end up on the wrong side of the law. Worse yet, they could be in for a trip to the hospital or even the morgue.

Fireworks are best left to the pyrotechnic professionals, say local, state and federal law enforcement officials. Shooting off some on your own can break the law and could get you hurt or killed.

Michigan is one of the 10 most restrictive states in the nation when it comes to fireworks. Except for a few basic varieties of fireworks it's illegal to sell, possess or transport them without a special state permit. That even includes stuff bought in other states.

Both Northville city and Northville Township have fireworks ordinances on the books. "The rule of thumb is that if they move, fly or explode, it's illegal," Northville Township Director of Public Safety Chip Snider said.

That pretty much rules out most fireworks, according to the Michigan State police, even commonly used items such as firecrackers, bottle rockets and Roman candles.

Legal Michigan fireworks include: flat paper caps; trick noisemakers like finger-held "fun snaps"; sparklers; cone-shaped "fountains" which emit a shower of sparks; toy "snakes" and smoke devices; and regulation signal flares. Use anything else and you could get up to 90 days in jail and/or a $100 fine.

That's not the biggest danger, however. Fireworks, both legal and illegal, can maim and kill.

According to figures compiled by fire departments across America, fireworks caused 12 deaths, 11,000 injuries, 38,000 fires and $22 million in damages in 1994 alone. Kids ages five to 14 are the age group most frequently hurt. Doing much of the damage are illegally-manufactured fireworks. Actually, that's the wrong name to use, according to the federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (BATF).

Manufactured in clandestine labs with little to no quality control to ensure safety, illegal fireworks are actually explosive devices which can be unstable and incredibly powerful.

Illegal fireworks can come in all shapes, sizes and colors. Some of the most common ones to steer clear of are cherry bombs, torches, M-80s, M-100s (also called "silver salutes"), M-250s and the M-1000.

Make it a safe holiday by taking precautions

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

When it comes to fireworks, law enforcement officials say the safest bet is sitting back and letting the pyrotechnic professionals entertain you on Independence Day.

Northville's July Fourth fireworks show will take place on the grounds of the BFI resource recovery facility near Six Mile and Napier shortly after dusk.

If you just have to shoot some off on your own, though, here are some tips to stay safe from the folks at Michigan State Police and the federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms:

KEEP IT LEGAL

- Make sure to use only legally approved fireworks. Illegal fireworks are highly dangerous.

Legal fireworks bear information labels mandated by the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission. The label includes the name of the item, its manufacturer or distributor, and warnings and instructions. It should include one of the following phrases: consumer fireworks; Class C Common fireworks or Fireworks 1.4G.

Look for the label. If it's not there, chances are you're looking at an illegal firework.

Michigan is one of 10 states which ban the sale, possession and transport of all but a few types of fireworks without a permit. The rule of thumb is that if it flies or explodes it's illegal. If you have any questions about your fireworks contact Northville police at 349-1234 or Northville Township police at 349-9400.

CHECK THEM OUT

- Store fireworks in a cool, dry place.
- Read and follow all warning and instruction labels.
- Don't try to alter any firework device or use it in any way not intended.
- Never carry fireworks in your pockets.
- Never try to make modifications by cutting fireworks open or adding ingredients to them.
- Make sure the firework is sturdy, with a secure base (if it has one) and a securely attached fuse.

• Don't use a firework which appears to be old, leaking or shows other warning signs.

• Avoid fireworks that appear to have been wet and then dried off.

PROPER USE

- Do not allow young children to handle fireworks, including sparklers.
- Light only one device at a time.
- Light fireworks only outdoors and away from buildings and combustible materials.
- Never shoot fireworks into or out of metal or glass containers.
- Have water handy to put out any fires. Use water to put out fireworks that "fizzle."
- Never try to relight malfunctioning fireworks.

Plans under way to expand popular pet parade

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

One of the highlights of Northville's Fourth of July celebration each year is the "parade with a parade."

The pet parade is an annual classic which takes place as part of the morning parade through downtown Northville. There are no prizes or awards, just the chance for kids and adults to have fun with their furry friends.

If you'd like to participate, bring your pet to the east gate of Northville Downs' parking lot off Center Street that morning. The parade starts at 10 a.m. but pet parade organizer Russ Fogg hopes to start the animals off early in order to avoid the heat of the day.

Be sure to bring a container of water and the equipment to clean up any accidents. Something to provide your pet with a bit of shade is also a good idea.

Several special groups are taking part in the pet parade this year. The Michigan Anti-Cruelty Society is one, a Detroit police K-9 dog unit is another, and a K-9 unit from the Western Wayne County SWAT team is yet a third.

A special in-line dance group will bring its dogs, and a dog rescue group, an adoption group and a drill team from the Huron Valley

Humane Society will participate.

If you need any further information give Fogg a call at 349-6656.

Full day of activities in store

sen, the 70-piece orchestra will perform patriotic pieces such as the music of John Philip Sousa and "The 1812 Overture."

Independence Day's crowning jewel will be the fireworks show. It will start around dusk at the Browning-Ferris Industries (BFI) facility near Six Mile and Napier roads.

You can help out the Fourth of July celebration with monetary support.

If you, your business or your community group can lend a hand, give David (305-5995) or Woodside (347-1919) a call.

TO GIVE YOU EVEN GREATER ACCESS TO THE AREA'S LARGEST HEALTH CARE SYSTEM, WE CHANGED A FEW THINGS.

STARTING WITH OUR NAME.

HURON VALLEY HOSPITAL ANNOUNCES THE ADDITION OF SINAI HOSPITAL

What's in a name? Well, when it comes to choosing the right hospital... everything. And when that name happens to be the DMC's Huron Valley-Sinai Hospital, you're assured of excellent health care. With Sinai joining The Detroit Medical Center, patients not only benefit from more than 3,000 highly regarded physicians, but the services of 8 hospitals and numerous outpatient centers throughout southeastern Michigan as well. So we're sure to have whatever you need, wherever you need it.

Equally impressive is the fact that DMC Huron Valley-Sinai Hospital provides one of the most extensive primary care networks in the area—which translates into more choices for you. Not to mention that our partnership with Wayne State University School of Medicine allows us to put some of the most advanced research into practice. Together, all of these add up to one thing: DMC's Huron Valley-Sinai, the hospital that brings the region's premier academic health care system closer to home.

Also, the addition of Sinai Hospital enables us to better serve all members of our community, for instance, offering special services for Jewish patients. In short, you'll find that with over 100 outpatient centers and 8 hospitals you're always close to one of the best names in health care—which is something that will never change.

Many Northville residents assisted in counting and classifying fish from the lake after they were removed due to suspected PCB contamination. After the lake is drained and cleaned, it will be refilled with water and fish.

Madonna registration under way for fall term

Madonna University's fall term on-campus registration for all students is under way now and continues through Thursday, July 31. Office hours will be held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The office will be closed on Friday, July 4.

For the first time, faxed registration for all students will be available.

Fax registration will be accepted until 10 business days prior to the start of classes.

Classes begin the week of Sept. 2.

Late registration will be held from Friday, Aug. 1, through Friday, Aug. 29, with daily office hours from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Hours will be extended to 7 p.m. on Monday, Aug. 18; Thursday, Aug. 21; Monday, Aug. 25; and Thursday, Aug. 28.

Payment of a registration fee will no longer be required at the time of registration.

The $50 registration and technology fee will be billed along with tuition.

Students may enroll in day, evening and weekend classes, and non-admitted students must obtain a permit-to-register from the admissions office.

Transfer students are welcome and there is no application fee, which was waived by the Madonna University administration.

For more information on registration at the school, call the Madonna University admissions office at (313) 432-5339.

Restaurateur seeks homeland roots

Novi resident Billy Downs, president and owner of BD's Mongolian Barbeque, is heading for the homeland of his company's cuisine for a two-week vacation.

He and his partner, Matthew Kirby, will leave for Ulan Bator on July 4. From there, the trip will include a camel ride in the Gobi Desert and a cozy night in a yurt, a portable felt dwelling favored by Central Asian nomadic-types.

Downs grew up in Northville and owns five Mongolian-type restaurants in Michigan and Illinois, including the one in Royal Oak. Seven more are planned for the future.

Levies put city bills higher than township's

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

City property owners will see more on their tax bills than people in Northville Township this time around.

That's because city bills will include millages for items like local government operating expenses, street repair and improvement and the downtown development authority (DDA). Both city and township taxpayers, however, will pay for state, local and community college millages.

The mills needed to start paying off the school district's $61.5 million bond issue will be included in the summer tax bills. The Northville Board of Education earlier this month decided to assess district property owners 1.25 mills now and another 1.25 mills on this winter's tax bill. The bond issue was approved by voters June 9.

The 1.25 mill figure is included in the overall 3-mill school debt millage taxpayers will see listed on

NORTHVILLE CITY

Properties are divided into three types: homestead (primary residence), non-homestead (business property or a secondary residence) and non-homestead parcels within the boundaries of the city's DDA district.

Everybody will pay these millages:

- City operating: 12.99 mills.
- Street repair: 0.77 mill.
- Street improvement: 1.92 mills.
- State education tax: 3 mills.
- School debt: 3 mills.
- Community college: 1.8521 mills.

• Intermediate school district (operating funds): 0.0984 mill.

• Intermediate school district (special education): 1.8987 mill.

The buck stops there for homestead property owners (total: 25.5292 mills).

Non-homestead property owners pay an additional 9 mills in state school operating taxes (total: 34.5292 mills). DDA parcels pay 2 mills on top of that (total: 36.5292 mills).

NORTHVILLE TOWNSHIP

Properties are taxed according to homestead/non-homestead status and by school district (Northville or Plymouth-Canton). Everyone pays the 3 mill state education tax and the 1.86 mill community college tax.

In addition to that Northville district homestead property owners pay 3 mills for school debt (total: 7.86 mills).

Non-homestead Northville district property owners pay the 9 mill school operating tax as well (total: 16.86 mills).

Plymouth-Canton homesteaders pay a school debt millage of 1.09 mills (total: 5.95 mills).

Non-homestead parcels pay the 9 mill school operating tax (total: 14.95 mills).

Tax notices soon on the way

ship Hall next week to a community with a total taxable value in excess of $677 million.

What your tax bill will include depends on where your property is located, and if you're claiming it as your primary residence under the state's homestead tax exemption law

Tax rates vary depending on which county (Oakland or Wayne) and school district (Northville or Plymouth-Canton) your property is located in. If you're claiming it as a homestead, your property is exempt from the 9-mill school operating tax.

Mail your tax bill in or return it in person at Northville City Hall or Township Hall. City taxpayers can also pay their bills at the Northville branch of Comerica bank on Main Street and at all branches of Community Federal Credit Union.

If you have any questions about your bill, call the assessing offices of Northville City (349-1300) or Northville Township (348-5800).

School board adopts new budget

for the coming fiscal year, the exact amount of per-pupil funding due Northville is uncertain at this time.

That should be completed in a couple of months, as will the district's formal enrollment figures once school starts. The total student population is expected to increase over last year's high of 4,673.

The Michigan Senate has tentatively set Northville's per-pupil allocation at $7,012, up $154 per student over 1996-97.

The third and final piece of the puzzle is how many new district employees will be on board to greet the new school year. Up to 20 people could be hired, according to Street, but some will replace personnel who retired this past year. The district employs about 650 people now.

Here's a quick breakdown of the other categories and expenses for fiscal year 1997-98:

• Debt funds: $6.6 million, up from $3.9 million the year before. The extra money will go to pay interest and principal for the recently-approved district bond issue.

• Food service: Final numbers for this year are still under review, Street said. Last year the district spent about $960,000 in this category.

• Athletics: $402,000 is budgeted, up from $391,000 last year.

• Early childhood: $1.2 million, up from $1.08 million last year.

• Special education: $8.04 million, up from $8.02 last year.

Tougher penalties for fleeing have local police chiefs buzzing

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Almost nobody tries to run from the law around here, Northville's police chiefs say. Despite that they continue to hope for the best and prepare for the worst.

The debate over "hot pursuits" is going on all over America. High-speed chases of those who try to flee and elude police have resulted in cops, criminal suspects and even innocent bystanders getting hurt and killed.

Figuring out what to do about it isn't easy.

"There's just no black and white answer to this," Northville Police Chief Rod Cannon said.

Where do you draw the line? Do you never follow the bad guy, hoping to prevent a dangerous high-speed chase through the streets? Or do you go to the opposite end of the spectrum, bringing a potentially dangerous suspect in even if it means hitting speeds of up to 100 miles an hour or more?

"You just can't cover every scenario in a written policy. The proper response depends upon the conditions involved," Northville Township Public Safety Director Chip Snider said.

Instead of a hard and fast rule, police policies call on officers to decide each case individually based on a number of factors. Chief among them is whether someone's life may be at stake or whether the person doing the fleeing is suspected of a very serious crime.

"If there's life endangerment or a severe felony, we'll definitely pursue it," Cannon said.

Also taken into account are variables like the time of day or night, weather and road conditions, where the incident is taking place and the level of driving skill of the officer involved.

"Clearly there are risks involved in any pursuit but we also need to consider the alternative," Snider said, saying that a blanket no-pursuit policy would be an "open door" for criminals.

Between them Cannon and Snider have more than a half-century of law enforcement experience.

They've seen the debate over "hot pursuit" change over the years, accompanied by new methods and new devices that try to reduce the chances of tragedy.

For example, a newer device on the police market is a chain of special spikes which can be strung across the road in front of a car trying to elude police. They're designed to blow out all four tires at once, destroying the vehicle's

New law makes eluding a felony now in Michigan

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Running from the police has just gotten a whole lot more illegal.

One of the most dangerous situations in police work is the high-speed car chase. Hoping that a clamp down on those who try to outrun an officer will make people think twice about trying it, state lawmakers recently passed legislation that makes fleeing and eluding a police officer a felony.

It's always been a crime but up until now a driver who intentionally refused to stop his or her vehicle on command of a police officer faced only a misdemeanor charge. The maximum penalty: 90 days in jail and/or a $500 fine.

That all changed this month. Now fleeing and eluding police is a felony offense which can net an offender at least two years in jail, a $500 fine and a suspended driver's license. Offenders who cause an accident or an injury while trying to avoid police could lose their license, pay a $10,000 fine or even spend up to 15 years behind bars.

Here's a breakdown of Public Act 587, the new state law that took effect June 1.

• Fourth degree fleeing and eluding is the least serious category. It's defined as failing to stop a vehicle upon the lawful command of a police officer. The penalty upon conviction is two years in jail, a $500 fine and one-year suspension of a driver's license.

• A third degree charge can result when a light causes an accident or takes place in an area where the speed limit is 35 mph or less or if the suspect has been convicted of fourth degree fleeing and eluding before.

Any of those conditions can net offenders up to five years in jail, a $1,000 fine and a one-year license suspension.

• If the flight results in serious injury to someone or if the suspect has been convicted of fleeing and eluding before, the offender could face a second or first degree charge. Either one can result in revocation of license, a $10,000 fine and up to 15 years behind bars.

mobility but not sending it out of control.

Fortunately, it's not likely to be needed in Northville. According to Cannon, city police have had to deal with only "a couple of minor cases" in the last year.

According to Snider, township police have seen two non-serious attempts to elude police so far this year.

A serious chase ended in Northville about eight weeks ago but didn't involve officers from either the city or township. A drunk driver in Westland tried to elude police there, fleeing into Plymouth Township, where he rammed two patrol cars.

The chase ended on South Main Street near Northville's well when the man rolled his car, taking out a city fire hydrant.

Novi prepares to sing blues at fest

By JAN JEFFRES
 Staff Writer

Dress will be formal for the opening night at the Bluesfest International at the Novi Expo Center.

But don't get your white tie and tails out of storage. The first 1,000 people to show up for the Friday night, July 18, concert will get free, genuine, designer-label tuxedo jackets with the Bluesfest logo printed on the back. The donor, President Tuxedo, is doing some closet-cleaning, explained festival promoter Craig Bender.

"We're driving our printers crazy with it," he said.

From July 18 to July 20, Novi will be the place in the local music scene, featuring acts like Buckwheat Zydeco, Father Guido Sarducci, Jay Gells and Magic Dick and Roomful of Blues.

Roomful of Blues will perform on the festival's first night.

"Roomful of Blues is acclaimed to be the best blues band in the world," by everyone from Count Basie to the New York Times. The best swing blues. They've got great horns," Bender said.

Here's the schedule:

• July 18 - Doors open 4 p.m. $8 admission until 7 p.m., $15 after. Lineup includes Savoy Brown and Kim Simmons, Jay Gells and Magic Dick and Roomful of Blues.

• July 19 - 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. "Kidfest for Scouts." Admission $5 for family of four or free family passes available at Kroger with Pepsi purchase.

Performers are Marcus from YTV's Treehouse; Beebo; The Jumping Jacks World Champion Precision Skipping Team (jumping rope); Lorenzo "Spoons" Brown, an everything but drums percussionist who has performed with Diana Ross & The Supremes; and Dominic D'Arcy, the Singing Policeman from the Ottawa PD. Also, Redwing Darren McCarty.

2 p.m. to 6 p.m. $5 admission for the Motor Cities Blues Awards, emceed by Father Guido Sarducci. Vote for: best recording, best band, people's choice, media award and lifetime achievement award for USA and Canada.

Everyone who votes in advance at Harmony House for their favorite acts will get two free tickets.

Both locally-known and nationally-known bands will play.

7 p.m. to 1 a.m., $15 admission for John Sinclair and The Blues Scholars (yes, he's that guy from Ann Arbor); Robert Bradley's Black Water Surprise; Junior Wells; and Buckwheat Zydeco.

• July 20 - Doors open at noon, $8 admission. Sonic Blues, Twisted Tarantulas, City Limits, Harper, Mud Puppy, Johnnie Bassett, Alberta Adams.

At 9 p.m., Monster Mike Welch and Shirley King, B.B. King's daughter.

Anti-ad measure tripped up

By TIM RICHARD
 Staff Writer

The state Senate put a lump of coal in Loren Bennett's gift stocking when it passed his bill to ban tobacco ads on billboards along Michigan roads.

The lump was an amendment that also would ban "sexually explicit" materials from billboards, too. Some lawmakers called it a "killer" amendment - so unconstitutional that it will drag down the anti-tobacco portion of the bill, too.

"This amendment weighs down the bill and muddies the debate," said Bennett, R-Canton, after the vote. He said the sexually explicit materials ban, tossed in by Sen. Henry Stallings, D-Detroit, "should be taken up as a separate issue."

Eleven other Republican senators agreed, issuing a statement saying the Stallings amendment "was poorly worded" and lacked a definition of "sexually explicit."

Signing the statement were Sens. Bill Bullard Jr., R-Millford, and Robert Geake, R-Northville.

Stallings didn't define "sexually explicit" in floor debate but cited condom ads on Detroit billboards.

Senate Bill 341, banning both tobacco and "sexually explicit" billboards, is on its way to the House of Representatives on a 31-6 Senate vote.

Parenting show gets date on cable

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

If the mountain won't come to Mohammed, the saying goes, then Mohammed will come to the mountain.

The same principle is behind a new local cable show called One Kid at a Time. Parents, if you'd like to check out some tips on how to deal with the trial and tribulations of raising adolescents, tune in to Channel 11 at 7 p.m. tomorrow night, June 27.

One Kid is a joint effort of Northville Youth Assistance, the Media One cable company and Hegira Prevention Services, a state-funded metro-area program which aims at everything from deterring substance abuse to promoting parenting skills for young moms.

"Parents weren't coming to us so we decided to go to them," was how Northville Youth Assistance Director Mary Ellen King explained the motivation behind the eight-part One Kid series.

Northville Youth Assistance trains community volunteers who are then matched with youth in town who could benefit from interaction with a positive role model

Many are labeled "at-risk" but some are not.

The organization has a long-term strategic goal of reaching out to the parents of adolescents with help and support. One Kid is one way to achieve that objective, giving people the chance to learn parenting skills from a professional in the privacy of their own home.

That professional is Northville resident Jacque Martin-Downs, prevention coordinator for the Livonia-based Hegira. She's a contributing columnist to The Northville Record and she's already taped five episodes of One Kid.

"Any kid is potentially able to go down the wrong road," she said. "This show is for everyone."

One-hour segments of the series will air every Friday night at 7 p.m. for the rest of the summer and at several alternate times each week as well. Check Channel 11 for airings of One Kid.

When you watch it you'll find all kinds of useful advice, whether your child is at-risk or is just going through the normal pangs of the teenage years.

"We can all pick up a few things," King said. "If we can help one parent learn one new thing it's worth it."

"Any kid is potentially able to go down the wrong road. This show is for everyone."

-Jacque Martin-Downs

Through everything from panel discussions to skits, the issues involved in the tricky process of raising teenagers are explored. That includes everything from setting curfews and how to handle talking back to what to do if your child develops a substance abuse problem.

You'll even hear from parents who've been there in the trenches, dealing with the same issues parents may face with their sons or daughters.

"It lets you know you're not the only one," Martin-Downs said.

"We're trying to do as much as we can to keep kids ultimately from getting into trouble," she added.

If you're interested in becoming a volunteer for Northville Youth Assistance or in learning about how you can receive a helping hand give King a call at 344-1618. For information about Hegira's programs call Martin-Downs at (313) 513-7598.

Both organizations are always looking for community groups or businesses wanting to help out a good cause.

Haggerty Road Target store offers large donation to NYA

By RANDY COBLE
Staff Writer

Northville Youth Assistance is used to getting a helping hand from Target. But the size of the Haggerty Road store's help this year left Mary Ellen King pleasantly astonished last week.

"It was a wonderful surprise," said the NYA director.

Target has donated $1,500 to Northville Youth Assistance each year for the last three. This year, though, the store upped the ante to $2,500.

The money will help pay the costs of training and support sessions for Northville Youth Assistance volunteers who spend time with kids in the community.

"We're very excited and very grateful," King said, adding that NYA was scheduled this week to receive $250 from the new Farmer Jack store opening at Six Mile and Haggerty roads.

Herb Vanderploeg is the Target store's team leader. He said that even though they're technically across the border in Livonia representatives of Target feel that their store "is part of the Northville community."

Sitting next to the Eight Mile/Haggerty corner gives Target the chance to get involved in local activities in Northville, Livonia, Novi and Farmington Hills, according to Vanderploeg. Target, which operates 751 stores across the country, sets aside 5 percent of its pretax dollars each year to go to good causes, he said.

"It's a great program and we're glad to support it," he said.

Lawmakers debate casino regulations

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Michigan House leaders ran smack into the state Constitution as they failed to toughen up the voter-approved law to regulate Detroit casino gambling.

Criminal penalties in the bills are "10 times tougher than Nevada's," said House Speaker Curtis Hertel, D-Detroit, defending the House bills.

"We need extremely tough penalties to guarantee the public is protected from casino owners who might otherwise try to rip off players by rigging the games," said Republican Rep. Frank Fitzgerald of Grand Ledge. The GOP said the regulations weren't tough enough.

The problem is that Article I (elections) of the constitution requires a 75 percent yes vote in the Legislature to amend any law approved by voters. Last November voters approved Proposal E, written by casino interests, that provides minimal regulation and even names two of the three companies that are to receive casino licenses.

Democrats held 57-52 control of the House on June 1 when the bills were debated. Democrats routinely voted down Republican substitute bills on party lines. But with 82 votes needed to amend the gambling law, the House could muster 62 at best. The stalemate sent leaders scurrying to work out more acceptable versions that will attract Republican votes before the Legislature adjourns July 3.

Meanwhile Sen. Michael Bouchard, R-Birmingham, introduced the lead bill on a GOP package to set licensing and taxation standards, define requirements for the Michigan Gaming Control Board, and prevent casino operators from buying political influence. It also adds money to the Domestic Abuse Council to deal with gambling addicts.

The Greektown Casino LLC and Atwater Casino Group denounced the Bouchard bills, saying "it would make it virtually impossible for anyone to get a casino license." Spokesman Roger Martin said the bill "transfers from Detroit to the state the power to choose who will operate Detroit's three casinos and imposes one of the highest gaming taxes in North America."

Nelson Westrin, a Grand Ledge lawyer who is interim top staffer for the Gaming Control Board, said the House Democratic proposal would cost the state $21.9 million in revenue.

We went looking for a mortgage and found a way to save $55,000.

Introducing the Tailored Home Loan™ Only from Michigan National.

You've always thought of a mortgage as a way to borrow. Well, start thinking of it as a way to save.

Our unique new Tailored Home Loan offers you affordable, flexible payment options that can save you thousands of dollars in interest — up to $55,000,* for example, over a typical 30-year home loan. You can also cut more than ten years off your mortgage. It's easier than you think, and we'll show you how.

The fact is, you can literally design your mortgage to fit your needs — then change it as your life changes. You can:

- Choose your own payment due date
- Switch between adjustable and fixed rates of interest
- Use the extra principal you pay without refinancing

Call us today for an appointment and we'll show you how many home loan options you really have. From the home of creative mortgage choices: Michigan National. Solid Thinking. Smart Ideas.

This example is for illustrative purposes only. It assumes a $125,000 home, 20% down payment and a $100,000 mortgage with a 6.75% interest rate and a fully indexed rate of 8.0% during the remaining term. There are 235 payments ranging from $656.93 to $1,066.74 with a final payment of $1,066.74. The total amount paid is $251,547.85. The total amount saved is $55,000.00. The Annual Percentage Rate is 8.0597%. This loan contains a variable rate feature and therefore may not be subject to the same restrictions as a fixed rate mortgage. *Based on a 30-year fixed rate mortgage with a 6.75% interest rate. All payments are made on the due date.

Ross preps for gubernatorial bid

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

With $500,000 raised and 2,400 supporters signed on, gubernatorial hopeful Doug Ross pronounced his drive "the biggest grassroots campaign in Michigan in the past half-century."

He told 800 cheering supporters in Burton Manor in Livonia that "we are sending a signal to the old-style politicians who take their cues from the special interests - Step aside."

"The cynics tell us there is no such thing as a grassroots campaign today. They say campaigns are about special interest money and back-room deals and negative TV ads. They say there's no place for real people or real ideas in campaigns any more. Do you believe that?"

To shouts of "no," Ross said, "I didn't think so."

Ross, 54, now a West Bloomfield resident and University of Michigan academic, was the director of the Michigan Citizens Lobby and Common Cause in the 1970s, a state senator from 1979-82, Commerce Department director for the Gov. Blanchard administration until 1990 and assistant Secretary of Labor during President Clinton's first term.

He said he will run a citizens-and-ideas campaign in the Democratic Party, where organized labor has picked all the major nominees for 49 years.

Ross' goal is to "make Michigan one of the great centers of skill and technology in the global economy."

His methods: "The best public education system in the world, a renewed spirit of entrepreneurship, strong families, safe neighborhoods, and a commitment to preserving our environment."

The next election for governor in Michigan will take place in 1998.

BOOK DISCUSSION GROUP:

The Book of Ruth by Jane Hamilton will be the topic of the book discussion on Monday, July 14, at 7 p.m. All are welcome to attend.

WEB SITES OF THE WEEK:

The Internet has many useful sites that provide information about a wide variety of topics. However, finding all these sites is often a difficult task. This week, we will highlight two sites that have gathered the resources of a number of sites into one location, allowing you to search the Internet more efficiently.

The first comprehensive search site is called Law Research. Law Research has gathered together a number of different legal resources into one location with a number of quick searching options. From this site, you can search for cases from the U.S. Supreme Court and the federal circuit courts. You can also search for federal legislation, regulations, and resources such as law review articles and legal directories. Law Research is at: www.lawresearch.com/v2/ceform1.htm

The second comprehensive site is dedicated to providing access to the federal government. This site, called FedStats, has gathered together links to over 70 U.S. government agencies. These provide access to a wealth of information and statistics on everything from unemployment and immigration to a history of U.S. land holdings and fishery production. FedStats can be found at: www.fedstats.gov

FRIENDS OF THE LIBRARY:

The Friends will hold their summer used book sale on Saturday, July 26, on the library plaza. Donations will be collected at the delivery door, off the police station parking lot off Wing Street south of Main.

Commission recommends limiting voting dates

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

No more special millage elections.

Michigan voters would go to the polls no more often than four times a year under a reform plan proposed by Secretary of State Candice Miller's special panel. Schools would be encouraged to hold elections in November of odd-numbered years.

In time, elections could be conducted by mail, though Miller is cool toward going whole-hog until a state master computer list is operational in 1998.

Applauding the plan was Sen. Alma Wheeler Smith, D-Salem, who has gone nowhere with her bill to allow voting by mail immediately. Many Republicans and some Democrats say the state isn't ready for full-scale mail elections because 20-30 percent of all registrations consist of people who have died or moved.

The 10-member panel included Kathy Dornan, Farmington Hills city clerk; Joan McCotter, Livonia city clerk; Bernard Apol, retired state elections director; and other county, city and township clerks.

Jungle warfare

You won't find too many primitive types in the backyards of Northville neighborhoods but you don't want to completely drop your guard either. Adam Bentley, 5, and his brother Evan, 6 (left and center, respectively), look like they can take care of themselves, while cousin, Jack, 5, strikes an equally menacing pose.

Patterson says Engler's road plan really DOT's

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

L. Brooks Patterson isn't warring with fellow Republican John Engler over roads.

The Oakland County executive says the governor's roads program was put together in a rush, and is a power grab by the Michigan Department of Transportation.

"This is MDOT's program," Patterson said of the Engler's so-called "Build Michigan II" program to pump $570 million into state, county and local roads. "They crunched the numbers over a weekend. John (Engler) went to school Tuesday and Wednesday and announced it on a Thursday."

Patterson is offering his own "reasoned response" with two alternatives - "constructive criticism in a sincere effort to advance the debate."

It is a new tune for Patterson, who in the past has engaged in bitter squabbles with state GOP leaders in his own quest for gubernatorial and U.S. Senate nominations. Recently, Patterson posed for a photo standing in a deep hole in a road that was supposed to represent a pothole. However, he described it as a gag shot. The county executive, a former 16-year prosecutor, has said he isn't interested in running for governor in 1998.

SENATORS OPPOSED

The Oakland leader said the governor's road plan was supported by only four of the state Senate's 22 Republican members last week.

Engler's plan has three elements:

- $570 million more revenue. This breaks down into a 4-cent per gallon hike in the fuel tax, higher weight taxes for trucks, and $200 million more federal aid.

- Shifting control of 23,000 miles of county and municipal roads to the state, more than tripling the Department of Transportation's jurisdiction to 33,000 miles. In Oakland, it would mean taking control of 770 miles of county roads, other miles of city-village roads, and all the federal aid that goes with them.

- Auto insurance - requiring drivers to buy less, if they wish, in order to pay for higher fuel taxes.

The chief problem is MDOT's desire to expand its jurisdiction from 9,600 miles of roads to nearly 33,000. Setting aside the money problems, Patterson criticizes the idea because it would also mean MDOT would have to deal with thousands of permits for curb cuts, traffic signals, street signs, sewer digs and so on.

"This, indeed, would be a challenge," said Patterson, in a rare understatement. Actually he thinks it would be impossible for MDOT in Lansing to handle all the requests and complaints with no more staff and no intimate knowledge of local gripes. He said MDOT is playing the "promise 'em anything" game.

In the same way that Engler says Michigan isn't getting its fair share of federal road funds, Patterson argues that Oakland County is being short-changed even more seriously by the state - a 48-cent return of state funds eligible to be spent in Oakland County for every $1 of taxes sent to Lansing.

"That's why we insist on an equitable funding formula, in advance, before we buy into the Build Michigan II proposal," Patterson said.

PLAN A

Patterson's first counter-proposal is to say, go ahead and take control of 23,000 miles of roads - but with three conditions:

- The state would guarantee Oakland would get 90 percent, instead of 48 percent, of the money it sends to Lansing.

- Local officials would prioritize the projects because they "are more aware of and closer to the problem."

- Engler should abandon his plan to give all the "growth" taxes, such as registration fees (up 7 percent a year) and the diesel fuel tax (up 6 percent a year) and throw up the crumb of the gasoline tax (up just 2 percent a year). He asks equitable treatment in setting up road funds - "fair play, fair play, fair play."

PLAN B

His second counter-proposal keeps county and municipal roads under local control but rewrites the PA 51 of 1951 road funding formula. The new formula would be based on lane mileage (rather than linear mileage of the roads) and VMT (for vehicle miles traveled).

"Do you know we have roads that carry 40,000 to 70,000 vehicles a day compared to 10,000 in northern Michigan?" Patterson asked.

"We would suggest that MDOT take control of all interstates and freeways, which the public assumes they have anyway, and leave to the locals the balance of surface roads," he said.

Brent Bair, managing director of the Oakland County Road Commission, did much of the research for Patterson's plan. Bair said such a formula would shift a lot of northern money into Oakland County.

To prevent a political squabble of "winners versus losers," Bair said the state could agree to "hold harmless" the northern counties while shifting new money southward.

REVENUE PLANS

Patterson and Bair offer two other money-raising plans as alternatives to Engler's call for a 4-cent hike in fuel taxes:

In the same way that Engler says Michigan isn't getting its fair share of federal road funds, Patterson argues that Oakland County is being short-changed even more seriously by the state.

- A 5-cent fuel tax increase. They say Engler's assumption that he can squeeze another $200 million out of Washington is politically unrealistic, and that little more than $50 million will be forthcoming.

- Shifting 1 percent per year of the sales tax on gasoline out of the general fund and into roads. Gasoline buyers pay the 6 percent sales tax but that revenue doesn't go to roads, as most drivers assume. The Oakland plan wouldn't shift the sales tax all at once but at 1 percent, or $57 million, a year.

"Gas taxes should be for roads, not for other governmental purposes," Patterson said. "So over four years, $228 million of sales tax receipts would be redirected from the general fund to the Michigan Transportation Fund where it belongs."

"The total in new revenues, after four years, would be $595 million, slightly more than the governor's proposed $570 million contained in Build Michigan II."

The diverted sales tax would cost public schools money. But Patterson notes that three new Detroit gambling casinos would kick $65 million a year into the school fund, more than making up the $57 million loss from the sales tax on fuel.

Patterson clearly prefers Plan B because it would allow more local control. Currently, the Oakland County Road Commission has the only staff members in the state capable of researching alternatives to, and the impact of, MDOT's plan. Wreck the county road commission, he said, and you leave MDOT with a monopoly of planning power.

Our Opinion

Commission did well in scaling back mine

Just in case anybody has in mind organizing a witch hunt against members of the Northville Township Planning Commission, keep in mind one simple fact: you can't deny people the right to their land just because you don't want them as your neighbor.

The planning commission Tuesday night recommended approval of a sand and gravel mining permit for the Iafate Co. The company hopes to establish its facility on the 176-acre parcel it owns in the Six Mile/Ridge Road area. If constructed, the operation will continue for 10 years and will result in the extrication of materials the company will use in its construction business.

Of course, the issue isn't settled, as the Northville Township Board of Trustees will have the final say on official approval or denial.

But, if trustees act on the unanimous recommendation of the planning commission, Iafate will have clear sailing to proceed with its plans to dig in that vicinity.

A previous public hearing on this issue showed just how unpopular the proposal is among township residents. Back in May, property owners packed a planning commission meeting, and residents took turns expressing concerns about noise, dust, odors, increased traffic and potential environmental problems.

Their misgivings are certainly understandable, especially given the fact that Iafate intends to stay in the area only as long as its natural resources hold out.

But detractors should be pleased that the planning commission managed to pull a major concession out of Iafate. The company dropped its plans for an asphalt processing plant at that location, which was the one facet of the proposal that was the most disturbing to many residents fearing the possibility of noise, odors and carcinogen release.

Given their druthers, no one would pick a mining operation as their next door neighbor. But by arriving at a compromise with Iafate, the planning commission just might have avoided involving the township in a lawsuit it stood little chance of winning.

In a no-win situation, you cut your losses and count your blessings. To us, it appears commissioners have done just that.

Three (more) cheers for project

We'd like to encourage yet another round of applause, cheers and whistles for the roughly 900 people who built a fortress June 4-8 and a legacy forever.

Northville's Fort Griswold will serve as a reminder for years to come of the hard work, sweat and dedication of the volunteers who pulled together for their children and their children's children.

But what some people may not fully realize is that the playscape project marked something of a turning point for the community and its residents.

Suburban life sometimes gets a bad rap. Residents buying big houses on tiny lots but never leaving their yards is the stereotypical view of bedroom communities. Northville proved that's just not the case here.

While many of the volunteers were regulars, people we see all over town everyday on this or that committee, there were many new faces sawing wood, staining posts, serving food or shoveling dirt.

People talked, sweated and talked some more. Friends were made and children from across the community played together for the first time.

Residents learned they could work 16 hours a day in the sun and remain standing. Others learned they could operate a power tool, pound a nail or stain a bench.

Only a little more than a year ago, the playscape organizing committee began planning the barn-raising event, which involved fund-raising, volunteer gathering, designing and organizing. Not an easy task, especially when you consider that most of those people had jobs and families at home.

The cooperation of all the volunteers, young and old, is testimony to the idea that you can get by with a little help from your friends. We also believe it shows this community could accomplish quite a lot if it applied that same skill and determination to other projects.

We praise all the "friends" involved in the construction of Fort Griswold and hope the Northville community learned a lesson from the experience.

It doesn't always take take money and contractors to get the job done. It just takes good old-fashioned cooperation and more than a little elbow grease.

Time to staff from scratch

This community is finally rid of one of those pesky, hang-around types, someone who always seemed to show his face at every event large or small.

Lee Snider

People who frequent Northville's central business district bumped into him often. He ate at Joseph's Coney Island a lot and liked to talk to passersby as he kicked back on the wooden benches along Main and Center streets.

He wasn't content simply to work in the city, he always had to come into town on the weekends too, even when nothing special was going on.

He eagerly sought out all comers, whether they wanted to sound off about issues of importance or just gripe about the lousy weather.

But now he's gone and it's definitely our loss. By this time most everyone knows that Bob Jackson, our school district and city reporter, beat a fast retreat out of the city last week. Bob was tapped for an opening within our company and is now doing duty as the editor of The Milford Times, another publication in the HomeTown Newspaper chain.

Bob was an editor's dream, working long hours to try to cover all the bases. His dedication spoiled readers of The Northville Record, and instead of receiving gratitude for covering more than one meeting in the same night, he'd catch heck from the people who'd see him get up in the middle of one event only to rush off to another.

Trouble is, Bob learned of his promotion only last Monday, and by the time Wednesday rolled around he was already serving in his new capacity. He hardly had time to dash off a farewell column before high-tailing it out of the office.

I've heard from a number of people who expressed regret over Bob's leaving, and though he was often rough on some of those same people in his columns, I think the sentiments were sincere. Bob was rare in his ability to challenge without offending. I often wish I possessed that characteristic. It's especially handy in cases where diplomacy is called for.

Oh, well, nothing lasts forever. Though I tend to feel like I had the rug pulled out from under me in losing my prize reporter on such short notice, it could have been worse. At least it happened during the summer when school was out of session, and at least he's staying in the company and not going very far.

Now it's time for me to dust off the resume pile and go to work on finding a new staffer.

In the meantime, the newspaper's going to look a little thinner than usual, short one reporter as we are. And the town will look a little barer, minus one ever-present busy body.

Lee Snider is the editor of The Northville Record.

There was plenty of entertainment during the Art in the Sun show last weekend in Northville.

'Hemingway' hits the highway

My friend Tim is gone. He hit the road in his Ford Festiva loaded with a backpack, tent, sleeping bag, small stove, some freeze-dried food, a pair of waders, my beloved flyrod and a lot of chutzpah.

I don't know exactly where the road will take him, somewhere out west to Montana or Alaska, I guess, but I'll miss him nonetheless.

I first met Tim four years ago when we worked many hard hours at the Ypsilanti Press. He's a journalist, I'm a photo-journalist. We got to know each other over the ensuing years, sharing the successes and agonies of jobs and personal relationships, fishing Michigan's rivers, camping, bar hopping around Ann Arbor, and nearly getting our behinds kicked in the city after I made an unintelligent move.

What has always amazed me about Tim is that he comes to me for input and advice on what he should and shouldn't do. This never fails to amuse me because at the tender age of 32 I don't see myself as the world's wisest or most experienced person. Then again, I'm flattered that he comes to me with his questions.

It's odd, too, because Tim embodies action in contrast to my contemplative, worrying Hamlet. I refer to him as "Hemingway" to my friends as he shares the writer's love of the outdoors, fishing, hunting and, until he got his bell rung once, the sport of boxing. Tim seems to go out and grasp life, take a close look at its underbelly, while I merely study it from a distance.

I work in, and am comfortable in, the world of the known: Photojournalist works hard for his paper and community, enjoys his job and reaps personal and financial gains and keeps roof over his head and a few newspaper clips to be proud of. I guess you could bet your next paycheck that I don't like surprises.

Tim, on the other hand, relishes experience and unplanned adventure - things that don't always draw a steady income - and believes that true writers and journalists aren't worth their weight in ink until they've bled a little, gone a bit hungry and, perhaps, a bit nuts.

I'm glad, in a way, that he took my advice this past spring to go out on his trek, because perhaps someday I'll be brave enough to take my own advice and follow my passions as he has.

"I wanted movement and not a calm course of existence. I wanted excitement and danger and the chance to sacrifice myself for my love. I felt in myself a superabundance of energy which found no outlet in our quiet life." -Leo Tolstoy, Family Happiness.

Two years ago in June, Tim and I traveled on a boat in the mildly storm-tossed waters of Lake Michigan on our way to go camping on South Manitou Island. I was, terrified. Tim, of course, was elated. At one point he, approached me as I neared the paranoid pinnacle of my sea-sickness with the fear that at any moment the ferry was going to capsiz.

"This is pretty neat, huh?" he asked. "Tim," I croaked, "I'm sick and totally terrified that we're all gonna drown." He paused, thought for a moment as another large wave approached the boat, and added: "Yeah, but you've never felt more alive, right?"

All-nighter was major success story

The all-night party for the Northville High School graduates brought to a close a series of very successful events for the class of 1997.

Representing nearly a year's worth of work, the party transformed Northville High School into a night of Games People Play. Over 90 percent of the class attended, and from all accounts had a wonderful time.

In fact, nearly all the partygoers could still be found checking their admission tickets against winning raffle numbers and carting away the best decorations a little after 4 a.m., as the party concluded.

An event of this magnitude would not have been possible without the involvement of countless parents, school officials, merchants and other members of the community.

To the parents who worked tirelessly through the winter creating the theme sets, soliciting donations, coordinating the refreshments, tracking the ticket sales and arranging the entertainment, your efforts were rewarded by the many smiles and comments of "awesome" among the viewing public and especially the graduate partygoers.

To the school officials without whom this party would not be possible. It is truly a statement on the partnership between the school and the community that we can offer our children a safe graduation night option to celebrate the completion of a four-year journey together.

To the many merchants who donated money or merchandise, your generosity made it possible to offer this evening at an affordable price to Northville High's graduates. The many gifts, prizes and food helped to make the evening a special and memorable occasion. As you have many times before, you have strongly shown your support for the community and its youth.

Finally, to the members of the community who stand behind the school and its students, you have much to be proud of with this graduating class and the way they celebrated their graduation from Northville public schools. This class is prepared to go forward and demonstrate the best virtues of our fine community.

An event such as the senior all-night party is a celebration of another class's graduation, but it is more than that.

It is a chance to build friendships, to grow closer, to work to build something special. To all who had a part in creating something very meaningful, thank you and may the memories of all the preparation bring a frequent smile to your face.

Volunteers did fine job on party

To the editor:
On the evening of June 6, following the Northville High School commencement ceremony, volunteering parents of the senior class hosted the 31st annual "All Night Senior Party."

This meaningful event, which keeps the graduates from celebrating individually, was made possible by diligent workers, consisting of volunteered senior parents, and the generosity of local merchants.

However, a special thank you should be given to the following people on the Decorations Committee who gave so many hours of their time and artistic ability in turning a fantasy on paper into a reality for one night just for the members of the grading class of 1997:

Volunteers: Judi Amatangelo, Ron and Carol Beter, Bob and Becky Orlovski, Ed and Anita Spain, Joe and Patti Tomasak, Tom Derro, Janice Cook, Bob and Kathy Gulewicz, Turner Osbourne, Nancy and Steve Smith, Edna Williams, Karen Bryant, Rick and Joan Kulp, Rick and MaryLou Nejman, Bonnie and Dave Pilarz, Dennis and Betty Smith, Katina and Vic Sultana, Sharon Damico, Peggy Fee, Debra Jett, Cathy Mandas, Mary Pariseau, Mary Poole, Patti Pope, Agatha Vlissides, Karen and Fred Vock, Carol Bottrell, Dennis and Jeanette Brant, Joyce and Don Fulknor, Paulette Hanson, Cecilia and Harold Gittins, Annette Olbrandt, Mark and Marie Thomas, Denny and Ro Varley, Dennis and Becky Weiss, Ken and Linda Barnes, Nick and Linda Doinidis, Dave and Katie Gian, Kay Gugala, Sue Mellor, Ken and Diana Leftwich, Bill and Gail McLaughlin, Rick and Pat Melvin, Bob and Kay Rankin, Barb and Jim Weicer, Peter and Mary Albertson, Kirk and Sherry Anderson, Rebecca Armstrong, Duke and JoDel Essary, Greg and Meg Lyczak, Pam Pinkerton, Barb Anderson, Keith and Linda Anolick, Mike and Peggy Bozyk, Yvonne DeMattos, Al and Pat Haxton, Tom and Kathy Hesse, Bryan and Karen Jinnett, Gail Morgan, Paula Tomovski, James and Christine Abbey, Glenn and Karen Baja, Gordon and Carol Bowdell, Linda Cauzillo, Dan and Sue DeKoker, Bob and Paula Huot, Julie Mazzola, Dennis and Marsha Novara, Doug and Linda Porter, Bill and Byrtle Tolstedt, Keith and Kathy Arenz, Rich and Loni Bond, Kevin and Linda Clark, Rick and Bonnie DeSiro, Arlene Kurzawa, Gordon and Charlotte Milnes, Bob and Sue Smith, Gary and Pat Vartanian, Paul and Martha White, Pam Burke, Cathy Casinelli, James and Joan Cotton, Marcia Cromas, Dave and Connie Jaskot, and Sue Swidlik.

Thanks to caring local business

To the editor:
Our sincere thanks to Judy Moore, proprietor of the hair salon called "Hair We Are," who recently held a raffle to attend a Tiger baseball game.

Our children had never attended a Tiger baseball game and we hadn't been to one in years. Our family had a wonderful time as the seats were near the first baseline and the Tiger's won.

Thank you, Judy, we appreciate the winning tickets and the wonderful service you perform for our family's hair styling needs. We are fortunate to have you with your thriving business in downtown Northville.

The Timco Family

Why stop at two achievements?

To the editor:
The residents of Northville should be patting themselves on the back for two major accomplishments within the past month. First, they guaranteed that our young people will have a new high school and additions and renovations to other schools because of the ever-increasing student population.

Secondly, they completed Fort Griswold on schedule with the help of hundreds of volunteers and donors of equipment, tools, etc. On a recent morning there were at least 50 youngsters there, from nursing infants to school children from the early grades.

They were all having a wonderful time.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if the community could rally around the next major community asset - the completion of our beautiful new library with the planned piece of art in the clerestory.

The internationally-known fiber artist, Gerhard Knode, from Cranbrook has been commissioned to do the work that will undoubtedly attract visitors from all over the country. A concerted effort on the part of the community such as we have seen in the past few months would make this possible.

Information about the drive to bring this work to completion is available in the library. Hanging in the entry way to the library is a thermometer showing that a bit over $15,000 toward the goal of $30,000 has been raised. We can do it. The library is incomplete without the jewel in its crown.

Sponsors made trip much safer

To the editor:
The "Earth Shuttle" participants from Cooke Middle School wish to thank the owners of Northville's Great Harvest Bread Co., Ray and Lorie Novelly, for their generous donations.

In order to experience some hands-on science activities a group of students and chaperones, 78 total, went to Orlando, Fla.

To keep better track of our group, it was suggested that we all wear the same T-shirts for the trip.

Thus, students designed a creative logo, with our unique state outline, for the front of our T-shirts, letting everyone know that we are Michigianians. Ray and Lorie Novelly graciously provided us with these T-shirts.

Thanks to these bright red T-shirts, it was easy to spot our group members.

In addition, we wish to thank them for sending along their delicious cookies.

They certainly satisfied the hunger of many of us who didn't have time for breakfast since we had to be at the airport at 5:30 a.m. for our 6:30 a.m. flight.

We are proud to have you as an active member of our community and thank you very much for your continued support.

School promise is a phony one

To the editor:
When the Northville Public Schools (NPS) came to the voters last September with their $61.5 million bond proposal, they knew exactly how much they needed because they knew exactly what they were building.

When the question was presented again this month, the NPS knew exactly what cuts needed to be made to the overall plan in order to keep the bond request at $61.5 million.

Now the NPS is saying that their "plan calls for citizens, school district staff and students to be involved in the construction, remodeling and design of district facilities funded by the bond issue."

To let qualified citizens, school district staff and students have this kind of input would be another example of NPS's fiscal irresponsibility. But don't worry, The NPS knows exactly what they are going to build.

The only "involvement" on the part of the citizens might be in choosing the color of the paint and carpeting. Please NPS, stop patronizing us.

Don't neglect those in need

To the editor:
Apropos the article in The Northville Record from June 19 regarding the contemplated closure of additional mental health facilities in the state, a trend that has been going on for more than 30 years:

The closure of the Lafayette Clinic in Detroit, Michigan's only mental health research facility, reflects, unfortunately, the decline of interest in matters affecting the mental health of members of our society.

As each mental health facility closed its doors, residents were transferred to foster care homes, second-rate hotels, or released to live with family members who had once despaired over the disturbed behavior of the afflicted member, and were reluctant to revisit a situation that disrupted the peace and tranquility of the rest of the family.

One need not wonder why there has been an increase in the number of homeless street people in our cities.

Many, because of lack of supervision, have neglected to abide by a doctor's medication regimen, and have returned to behaving in a way that led them to be hospitalized in the first place.

There are some individuals who, in my opinion, lack the many and necessary strengths to compete in the high-powered, do-or-die competitive society that we live in today.

They become the flotsam and jetsam that settles into a category of individuals that a concerned and humane society must deal with appropriately.

I have worked with the mentally ill, both in Pennsylvania and here in Michigan, intermittently, for over 20 years, latterly as director of Nursing Services and Education at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital.

I have come to believe that, though there are many people who can be released from such facilities and treated in a different environment, and every means should be tried to achieve that goal, we must also recognize that there are some who will require a caring, well-supervised and structured way of life for an indeterminate length of time.

Commission has good plan for elections

Normally, I'm not a fan of special advisory commissions, blue-ribbon or not.

Too often, such commissions are announced with great fanfare, saddled with inadequate and/or incompetent staff, dominated by the status quo views of big interest groups and left to languish as soon as the politician who created the groups loses interest in them.

So it was with some amazement and more delight that I read through the report "Recommendations for Improving the Efficiency and Effectiveness of Michigan's Elections System," issued last week by a commission convened by Michigan Secretary of State Candice Miller.

Although the report makes six major recommendations - including easing restrictions on voting by absentee ballot, simplifying the petition process for candidates and experimenting with a mail-in voting procedure - the most far-reaching was to propose consolidating elections into four fixed dates each year, each on the Tuesday following the first Monday of the month.

These are when the elections would take place:

- A winter election to be held in February;
- A spring election to be held in May;
- A primary election to be held in August;

Changes could erase low-turnout polling

• A general election to be held in November. One of the unusual things about the commission is that it included some people who actually know what they're talking about, including Kathy Dornan, Farmington Hills city clerk, Joan McCotter, Livonia city clerk, and Bernie Apol, the retired (and revered) state elections director.

Also serving on the commission was Rep. Bob Brackenridge, R-St. Joseph, a former Berrien County clerk, who pushed similar ideas last year when he headed the House Local Government Committee. One community in his district held nine elections in a single year!

To take effect, the package needs to be adopted by the Legislature, which is no sure thing, what with roads, taxes and casinos all on the agenda, not to mention all the old chestnuts about "local control."

If enacted into law, though, there would be lots of good consequences.

No more special millage elections, votes held at odd-ball times, usually pushed through by an alliance between local school officials and teachers' unions to get millages and bond issues passed by a low turnout of "school people."

We've all heard of such elections with 3, 4, 5 percent turnouts. They're unrepresentative, and they're expensive.

Former Ingham County clerk, Rep. Lingg Brewer, D-Holt, complains, "I've seen school people as cynical as Chicago ward-healers. They say, 'We've got a multi-million dollar project. Let's sneak this through with Monday elections.'"

In Livonia, for example, holding the 1996 June school election cost $32,000; with 4,120 people voting in the election, the cost was $7.77 per vote.

Another important recommendation is to create centralized registered voter lists (called a Qualified Voter File) on a big computer. Although most Republicans and many Democrats favor local control over voter lists,

Miller's panel disagreed with that suggestion, however, arguing that "Michigan is the largest state, both in terms of its population and its geographical size to (maintain local voter files)."

"Involving 273 city clerks, 1,242 township clerks and 261 village clerks, Michigan's voter registration system comprises 1,776 separate registration jurisdictions, making it the most decentralized - and hence the most complex - voter registration system in the country," the panel said.

"In effect, Michigan maintains 25 percent of the nation's registration jurisdictions to serve less than 4 percent of the nation's population."

Right on, Commission!

I'd urge conscientious voters reading this column to contact their local legislator, urging prompt and favorable consideration of the Miller commission's report.

Experts caution against shaking babies and infants

Shaking a baby, even one time, can delay normal development, result in brain damage, spinal injury, retardation, or even death. Shaken Baby Syndrome is a medical term used to describe the shaking and resultant injuries sustained when infants are violently shaken.

Every year thousands of babies are injured and some die from being shaken as part of a pattern of abuse or simply because an adult has momentarily succumbed to the frustration of responding to a crying baby.

The IOF Foresters, a fraternal benefit society that offers family benefits and supports child abuse prevention and better parenting causes, suggest the following tips if your baby cries a lot:

- Feed the baby slowly; burp the baby often.
- Offer the baby a pacifier.
- Hold the baby against your chest and walk or rock him or her.
- Take the baby for a ride in a stroller or car or put him or her in a baby swing.
- Take a break. Have someone else take care of the baby for a while if possible.
- Never shake your baby.

For more information, call (801) 393-3366.

Child abuse is the number one killer of children under the age of four in America, with estimates of 2,000 to 5,000 deaths per year and more than 140,000 serious injuries. Head trauma, including suspected Shaken Baby Syndrome, is the leading cause.

Victorian inspiration

Ann Arbor resident 15-year-old Martha Luitji modeled a Victorian day dress during Northville's Annual Trunk Show and Sale which was held in May.

Joyce Woll (left) and Bonnie Joyce, owners of Northville's Sweet Dreams gift shop, show that they, too, can dress "Victorian," complete with parasol and lace-fringed dresses.

Chemise (1850s) - An inexpensive undergarment which reached just below the knees and had a drawstring neckline and half-length drawers with a button closure.

Corset (1840s) - Back lacing with a thin front closure of wood, whalebone or metal.

Under Petticoat - Depending on the season as many as six of this plain undergarment was worn at a time.

Hoop Petticoat - Replaces need for multiple layers of under petticoats, only a single petticoat was worn.

We're not exactly under the gun yet, but with just under three months before Northville takes a step back in time for the annual Victorian Festival Sept. 13 through 15, it's not too soon to begin putting together an authentic outfit or designing a reproduction.

"It just gets everyone in the spirit, wearing the costumes," said Joyce Woll, who, along with daughter Bonnie Joyce, owns Sweet Dreams in Northville.

If it sounds too complicated to dress Victorian, it needn't.

For inspiration on Victorian attire and accessories and historical information, check out the Internet, Victorian magazines and books.

"A lot of people we saw last year had just moved into town and had no idea when the Victorian period was or what to wear," said Woll, who opened Sweet Dreams on July 25, 1996.

Pam Yockey from Canton brought a wedding gown circa 1870 to Northville's annual Victorian Trunk Show and Sale.

"We try to pick out Victorian-style clothing even in our new clothing lines so that we can adapt that for the Victorian Festival or the ball," Woll said.

Custom orders can take at least a month, according to Woll. Ordering a little girl's dress from a catalog could run in the $75 range. An adult dress might run about $150.

Catalogs are also a good source for men's shirts, vests, hats and suspenders. With the exception of nickers, boys attire is a smaller version of dad's duds.

"There's different things you can do to adapt the clothes you already have," Woll said.

Using your imagination to imitate the Victorian style can be as simple as making an apron for a long dress for a little girl, or tucking regular pants into argyle socks for a young boy.

Adorn a straw hat with ribbons and flowers. Lots of lace, ruffles, ribbons and bead work were common during the Victorian period.

"They don't have to go out and spent a lot of money, they can put things together, borrow things from family and friends," Woll said.

Purchase a pair of Victorian blouse and pair it with a long skirt you may already own or can make.

All types of fabrics and designs were worn during the Victorian era, even a denim-like material called chambray. There were solids, prints, florals, stripes, checks and paisleys.

"Back in the Victorian days a lot of their clothes were dark," Joyce said. Since skirts trailed on the floor, dark colors were popular because they didn't show the dirt as much as lighter colored fabrics would.

Enhance a choker or shawl with a lace pocket or blouse. Adding Victorian style jewelry such as a necklace or pin can make an outfit look more authentic.

If you're good with a needle and thread, try making a long or short cape.

Last year Woll wore an emerald, short velvet cape with an emerald satin lining to go with a 1920 style outfit. Since no Victorian lady's outfit was complete unless she wore a hat and gloves, Woll chose a riding type derby hat with netting, flowers and lace.

"The styles vary just like the skirts," Woll said. "A lot of people don't realize there's a lot of different options they can put together. And things they might already have in their closet or a family member might already have they can adapt."

Styles of skirts ranged anywhere from A-line walking skirts to a full bustle to a hoop for evening wear.

Even an empire style dress with a high waist line and straight skirt was common during that period.

To recreate the look of a bustle using a two layered skirt, pull up and secure the top layer at intervals to create tucks for a bustle look at the back and sides.

"There's a lot that makes up the Victorian clothing line," Woll said.

Women wore high button boots, but the lace-up style boot which can be found in department stores and shoe shops would be an acceptable alternative, according to Woll.

Ready-made hats can be adorned with lace, netting and feathers. Ornate hats went with ornate skirts.

"There's a lot of different options," Woll said.

Mary von Glahn will serve as a director of the Zonta Club.

Von Glahn focuses on helping others

The Zonta Club of the Farmington/Novi Area presented a check for $30,000 to First Step, a domestic violence shelter in Wayne County, on Tuesday.

Attending the evening's presentation were Novi resident Mary von Glahn and Northville resident Judy Lombardo, who have been elected to positions with Zonta for the coming year.

Lombardo, a manager of labor relations administration with Ryder Automotive Operations Inc. in Troy, will serve as the group's vice president for the coming year. Von Glahn, an administrative coordinator with Johnson Controls Inc. in Plymouth, will be one of three on the board of directors for 1997-98.

The money donated to First Step was raised this year through Zonta's special project, Stepping Out in Style, the third annual fashion show hosted by the Parisian store at Laurel Park.

Proceeds from the fashion show, which was held in April, will help support and enhance the services and programs offered by First Step.

Highlights of the evening included after hours shopping at Parisian, a spring fashion show, informal modeling through Parisian, special demonstrations, and gourmet food from Great Harvest Bread Company, the Michigan Star Clipper Dinner Train, Rigato's V.P. Villa de Roma, Country Epicure and Carlson Catering. Silver Sounds D.J. provided the entertainment.

The First Step/Western Wayne County Project on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault is the only agency offering crisis intervention and assistance to victims of domestic violence and sexual assaults in the 35 communities in western and downriver Wayne County.

The newly chartered Zonta Club of the Farmington/Novi Area is a

Student golfer earns medal

Shawn Koch was a medalist at the 86th Michigan Amateur Championships held June 17 through 21 at the University of Michigan Golf Course in Ann Arbor.

Carol Workens

Shawn shot a 67 and a 70 for the lowest score in the competition out of a field of 156 golfers.

Shawn, 20, is the son of John Koch of Northville, a teaching pro at the Links of Novi, and Linda Koch of Howell.

He is also the grandson of Marge and Doug Bolton of Northville.

When Shawn graduated from Howell High School he was Mr. Golf for the State of Michigan, an honor that is given to the outstanding golfer for that year in the state.

Shawn is currently a junior at East Tennessee University in Jackson City, Tenn., on a golf scholarship and is a member of the golf team there.

Youngster going to state beauty pageant

Kelly Wells, the daughter of Doug and Lora Wells of Northville, has been accepted as a state finalist for the 14th annual Miss Michigan American Pageant, which will be held at the Holiday Inn South Convention Center in Lansing.

The winners in Kelly's category, Miss Michigan American Sweetheart for girls ages seven to nine, as well as the winners in the categories for girls ages 13 to 17 and 10 to 12, receive a $500 cash award and up to $300 in travel expenses to attend and compete in the Miss American Co-ed Pageant in November 1997 at Walt Disney World Resort Village in Florida.

They will also receive a trip for two to Disneyworld, a modeling scholarship from John Robert Powers Modeling and Career School, an official crown, a banner, trophy, flowers and the opportunity to represent Michigan during the year of their reign. The winner from each category will also receive a year's scholarship at Ms. Mel-

ANGELA ABBOTT of Northville was among the Western Michigan University students honored for achievement this spring by the department of foreign languages and literatures.

Abbott received the Prix de l'Alliance Francaise award which recognizes student involvement in French activities.

JOSEPH H. LANG recently graduated from the University of Dayton with a bachelor's degree in environmental engineering technology.

Lang is the son of Joseph H. Lang of Northville.

JULIE ROMINE, a student at Denison University, has been inducted into Denison's chapter of Mortar Board and Alpha Kappa Delta, the international sociology honor society.

Romine, a 1994 graduate of Northville High School, is the daughter of Ken and Sharon Romine of Northville. She is a member of the Honors Program, a Dean's List student, a Sociology/Anthropology Department Fellow and a Heritage Scholar.

Among her academic affiliations is her membership in Kappa Delta Pi, the national education honorary; and Phi Society, an academic honorary recognizing excellence during the freshman year.

Romine works as a hostess and tour guide for the admissions office and at the student union information desk.

MARY K. RIVARD of Northville was named to the Dean's List for the winter semester at Grand Valley State University.

To achieve recognition, a student must maintain a 3.5 grade point average while carrying a minimum of 12 credits.

HEATHER TINGUELY of Northville was elected a member of the Mortar Board at Carleton College. An announcement was made at the annual Honors Day Convocation held in May.

Mortar Board, a national honor society, recognizes students who have combined distinguished scholarship, leadership, and service to their colleagues and the college community.

Tinguely, a junior political science major, is the daughter of Diane and Joe Helbert of Northville and Roberto Ortiz. She is a 1994 graduate of Garland High School in Garland.

JAHM M. TURCHAN, a junior at Kimball Union, is on the Honor Roll for the fourth quarter.

Turchan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Turchan of Northville.

Kimball Union Academy is a boarding and day school for grades nine through 12 located in Meriden, N.H., just south of Dartmouth College.

TIMOTHY MCGLINCHY, the son of Patrick and Patricia McGlinchey of Northville, graduated recently from Ohio Northern University's Pettit College of Law. He received the degree of juris doctor.

On campus, McGlinchey was named student American Bar Association representative of the year for the 6th circuit and has also been active in the Icelandic Legal Exchange Program, the Student Senate, the Irish-American Legal Society and Phi Alpha Delta law fraternity.

McGlinchey received his undergraduate degree from Grand Valley State University and is a graduate of Northville High School.

Cooke Middle School

The final PTSA meeting of the 1996-97 school year was called to order on June 5 by President Dale Otterman. Dale was pleased to report that again this year that Cooke had 100 percent family participation. With everyone's busy schedule, this is an outstanding accomplishment. Cooke can be very proud of continuing this tradition. Service awards were presented to several deserving teachers. PTSA had 100 percent enrollment of teachers. We thank them for their continuing support.

The Cooke Middle School celebration was held Thursday, June 5. Over 99 percent of our students were recognized with awards. The Joe Bell Leadership Award was given to Scott Weicksel and Lauren Karol. Congratulations to all of our students on their many achievements.

As the school year drew to a close, May and June proved to be very busy. The first sixth and seventh grade Invention Convention was held on May 15. Top ideas in each category were awarded prizes and/or ribbons. All participants were acknowledged at the awards celebration.

Over $1,000 was raised for the American Heart Association during the three-on-three basketball competition that was held as a joint project with Meads Mill.

The eighth grade picnic was extremely successful. The tug of war competition was the highlight of the day for the Cooke girls.

The following students were "Caught Being Good" for the month of May: Jamie Liska, John Campbell, Dan Arnold, Kyle Mueller, Billy Adkins, and James Martin.

Citizens of the Month were: Sixth grade - Clark Paciorek, Charlie Snearly, Michelle Mavian, David Carroll, Janet Olach, Jenny Carr, Stephanie Patterson, and Darren Poltorak. Seventh grade - Rachel Policelli, Marjorie Devereux, Meghan Clark, Megan Foley, and Audrey Lin. Eighth grade - Dustin Kubas, Jon McClory, Jillian Frosz, Alyssa Tomasiak, Jim Maceroni, and Leah Jerome. Rick Abbot, head night custodian, was chosen as the Colleague of the Month. Congratulations to all.

A special thanks to this year's PTSA officers and team leaders. Your hard work and dedication are very much appreciated.

Northville schools is losing a very special advocate. PTSA President Dale Otterman and her family moved to the Chicago area this month. We wish Dale, John, Andy, and Manda much success and happiness. They will be missed.

Reports cards were mailed on June 20.
Have a safe summer. Enjoy this time with family and friends.

Church Notes

SPIRIT OF CHRIST LUTHERAN CHURCH. 40700 Ten Mile Road in Novi, will celebrate the 25th anniversary of the ordination of Pastor Thomas A. Scherger with a reception following the 10 a.m. worship service on Sunday, June 29.

Pastor Scherger was ordained on Sunday, June 4, 1972, at the Chapel of the Redeemer Lutheran in Flushing, New York.

The community is invited to attend.

For more information, call the church at (248) 477-6296.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH. 201 Elm Street in Northville one block west of Center Street behind the Shopping Center Market, offers a new evening Vacation Bible School (VBS) program which will run every other Tuesday between June 24 and ending Aug. 18 from 6:30 until 8 p.m. The evening VBS is a family oriented program for ages three through sixth grade. Parents are encouraged to attend along with their children. For more information, call the church at 349-3140.

For the third year, the popular Summer Organ Series will be presented on Sunday evenings from 7 until 8 p.m. at the FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF NORTHVILLE, 200 East Main.

The series includes former directors/organists of the church including David Heinzman on June 29; Scott Van Ornum on July 13; Jeffrey Fowler on July 27; and Joanne Vollendorf on Aug. 10.

Each performer will discuss the pieces in his or her program in detail.

The organ console will be placed in the center of the chancel with the keyboard facing the audience so listeners will be able to see the program.

A reception in Boll Fellowship Hall where guests may greet each performer will follow each performance.

A free-will offering will be accepted and child care will be available at each program for $2 per child.

The concerts are part of a year-long Fine Arts Series sponsored by the church.

For more information, call the church at 349-0911.

The informational interest gatherings for the NEW LIFE LUTHERAN CHURCH, which worships temporarily in the former Plymouth Wesleyan Church at 42290 Five Mile Road at Bradner on Sunday morning from 10 until 11 a.m., will continue on Sunday, June 29, from 7 until 8 p.m. over dessert.

The gathering offers a chance to meet others interested in this growing and newest congregation of the Southeast Michigan Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America. The mission organized April 27 this year with 96 charter members. The service area for New Life Church is centered at M-14 and Gotfredson Road, the area where the congregation is now looking for land on which to build.

The interest gathering will be held in the new parsonage of New Life Church, 13220 Andover Drive in Plymouth Township.

For more information or to reserve a spot at the dessert, contact New Life Lutheran Church Pastor Ken Roberts or his wife, Marilyn, at (313) 459-8181 or (313) 207-5223 on or before Saturday, June 28.

OAK POINTE CHURCH, a new, contemporary, non-denominational church, meets for a one-hour service at 10 a.m. in the Northville High School Auditorium, 775 N. Center.

There will be a live band, coffee and baked goods, as well as children's programs for ages newborn through 11.

For more information, call Bob Shirock at (248) 626-0372.

CHURCH OF TODAY, WEST, which meets at Village Oaks Elementary School, 23333 Willowbrook in Novi, has services at 9 and 11 a.m.

Church of Today, West also offers Sunday services and youth education at both services.

For details, call (248) 449-8900.

Ever wanted to take the kids to an island and leave them?

OK. You don't have to answer that question.

We just want to let you know that you can, at Mackinac Island's Mission Point Resort.

In fact, that's why we developed our exclusive children's Discovery Club. So our guests with children can get away for a while and do things parents like to do. Be it a hike, a round of golf, a shopping excursion, historical tour or even (Yuck!) business meetings.

The Discovery Club is a safe, secure, fun and educational place, staffed with trained professionals day and evening alike. We even make pagers available to parents, for that extra margin of comfort.

So come to Mackinac Island, and leave the kids for some good, healthy fun at our Discovery Club. Then, when you're ready, pick them up and enjoy some real family fun as well!

After all, parents need play time, too. And sometimes they just play better by themselves.

For family fun, Mission Point offers: Activity center with health club, in-line skate and mountain bike rentals, heated pool and more • 3 restaurants with outdoor dining and live entertainment • Over 100 miles of wooded nature trails • Historic sites that have made Mackinac Island famous local chapter of Zonta International, a worldwide service organization of female executives in business and the professions working together to improve the status of women.

The local Farmington/Novi Area Zonta Club, which was chartered June 1994, has 28 members of which Northville residents Beverlee McAllister, Pati Heath, and Isolde Erickson, and Novi residents Elaine Neale and Sharon DeWitt are members.

Zonta formed an association with First Step to make a difference in the homes, schools and workplaces of local communities.

For more information about the Zonta Club of the Farmington/Novi Area, call president Donna Johnson at (248) 477-7538.

Victorian clothes can be designed using today's fabrics

Woll estimates that half the attendees of the Victorian ball wear casual attire, while the other half dress in elaborate ball gowns. Until last year when it was replaced by a country dance, the Victorian ball was a mainstay of each Victorian Festival.

"It doesn't have to be a ball gown," said Woll, who wears a long cotton skirt with lace, a Victorian style blouse and a big hat with a feather. Gentlemen wear either rented tuxedos or business suits with Victorian shirts and ties.

As with other special occasion clothing, rather than buy a new outfit every year, slight modifications can give last year's outfit a new look.

"You can update last year's outfit by changing the hat and jewelry," Woll said. "Sometimes it just takes wearing the appropriate jewelry."

Victorian style clothes and hoops can be rented from costume shops or bridal salons.

Regardless of whether you're renting or buying, allow enough time. "We are already selling outfits for the ball," Woll said.

"All of the merchants in town, if they want to be in the parade which is on Friday night, have to be in Victorian costume or any of their family members who want to be in the parade have to be dressed appropriately," Woll said. "A lot of people from out of the area even get the Victorian costume if they're friends or family of people living in Northville or just residents of Northville and in the parade."

Sweet Dreams has catalogs in the store customers can look over which show styles from the 1840s to 1919. Accessories such lace gloves, jewelry, vintage and new hats, shoes and parasols are also included.

"We've been telling people from all over, from all different states, to come if they are going to be in (town) that time of year," Woll remarked.

Sweet Dreams is located at 124 E. Main Street in Northville.

Engagements

Angela Pertile/Andrew Stevers

Concert to feature pop-rock

Bobby Lewis and the Crackerjack Band is up next at Novi's 1997 Sounds of Summer concert series at 7 p.m. on June 26. Their unique classic pop-rock format ranges from jazz to bluegrass with everything else in between.

Lewis, born in Trenton, N.J., settled in Michigan in 1970 and formed the band Sticks and Stones which played at Your Mustache in Dearborn for 13 consecutive years. During that time, Lewis gained recognition with the hit song Rouge Plant Blues, a factory lament about the Ford Rouge Plant which was released on Capitol Records.

Six years later, Lewis formed a group which today is known as the Crackerjack Band. They were the subject of a half-hour television special on Channel 56 called Focal Point and were also featured on Bill Moyer's Journal.

Lewis is also an award-winning producer, contributing to such recognizable tunes as "Father & Son Construction Co." and "Thumbs Up America."

He has recorded with major artists including David Ruffin and The Commodores, and he was featured on the Parliament-Funkadelic's platinum hit One Nation Under a Groove.

The Crackerjack Band has expanded its profile in the last few years by playing at the Dearborn Homecoming Summerfest, the New Center Area Concert Series and the Bud Light Riversight and Sound in Mt. Clemens.

A self-taught musician, Lewis won the annual Bluegrass Banjo Picking Contest when he was only 16. In 1960, he joined The Tornados, best known for their hit recording Philadelphia U.S.A.

Lewis then toured with The Headliners, a nationally-acclaimed show band that played Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas and the Princess Hotel in Bermuda and the Bahamas.

While playing in Detroit in 1964, the band was signed by Berry Gordy to a Motown recording contract and two releases, Tonight's the Night and We Call it Fun, were moderate successes across the country.

The concert will be held on the north lawn of the Novi Civic Center, 45175 West Ten Mile Road in Novi.

'Jurassic' sequel is completely 'Lost'

By Arianna Layton
SPECIAL WRITER

The long-awaited and much talked about sequel to "Jurassic Park" finally found its way to theaters through a jungle of merchandising and promotion, but it lost the depth and creativity of its predecessor along the way.

"The Lost World" is lacking in so many areas. The plot is very thin. Basically, it consists of a lot of running, screaming and killing. The question of ethics that raged in the first movie is relegated to a weak undercurrent in this one, superseded by a desire for semi-thrilling show.

There is a minor conflict between the small group sent to study and photograph the dinosaurs in their natural habitat and the militia of human predators sent to capture some of the dinosaurs to ship them to a Jurassic circus in San Diego.

That conflict, however, is overshadowed by the basic theme of just trying to get off the island alive and then of trying to get the Tyrannosaurus back to the island to keep the people on the mainland alive.

The movie also suffers from character development deficiency. Granted, most of the characters are killed off too soon after being introduced to allow any insights into their personalities. The only characters with any depth are Malcom (Jeff Goldblum), who continues the biting sarcasm and realism of Jurassic Park, his semi-neglected, precocious daughter and his adventurous girlfriend (Julianne Moore).

The lack of character depth makes it even harder to care when another human becomes a T-rex dinner

Sometimes a good big-dinosaur-eating-lots-of-stupid-little-humans movie might be exciting in a mind-numbing way, but this version is just a little too cheesy.

It is so cheesy, in fact, that in the middle of one of the most suspenseful scenes in the whole movie, Malcom, dangling over the side of a cliff and facing imminent death, decides to ask for a cheeseburger along with a rope. And his girlfriend, hanging beside him, requests a pie to go with that.

Mind you, this is one of the more promising scenes in the film as one character actually endears himself to the viewers by sacrificing his life for an actual purpose.

Certainly, no complaints can be made about the amazing effects that went into resurrecting the dinosaurs on the big screen. However, the effects that went into killing the humans off are a bit less fantastic. Steven Spielberg decided to keep the gruesomeness down to a dull roar by not actually showing most of the feedings.

Rather, we just see the initial lunges of the dinosaurs, hear the screams, and see the strawberry Kool-Aid flow into the river or down the waterfall when the dinosaurs succeed in their attacks, followed by an uncomfortable quiet.

Then the movie loses its 90's thriller feel and regresses to the quality of an 80's remake of Godzilla. The parallel is uncanny as Japanese executives get close-ups while running from the giant lizard let loose on suburbia and metropolises.

The quality and freshness usually found in a creation of Steven Spielberg or Michael Crichton has been sold out in this sequel in exchange for some quick thrills and flashy fanfare.

Dynamic duo soars once more

The Bat is back! "Batman and Robin," the fourth installment in the amazingly successful "Batman" saga, continues the crime fighting exploits of Batman and Robin on the filth-ridden streets of Gotham City.

The movie features a remarkable cast that includes Arnold Schwarzenegger, Chris O'Donnell, Uma Thurman, Alicia Silverstone and George Clooney as Batman.

As film begins, Gotham City is facing a bone chilling threat, in the form of the cold-blooded villain Mr. Freeze (Schwarzenegger). Fighting with Freeze for the control of the city is the beautiful but evil Poison Ivy (Thurman), for whom the phrase "kiss of death" is not just a figure of speech.

The future looks grim for the citizens of Gotham. But never fear — the Bat is near! With the help of his courageous sidekick Robin (O'Donnell, Batman will surely risk everything to make the streets of Gotham City safe again. But this chapter of the Batman story provides the dynamic duo with a new ally in their battle against crime — the bold, fearless Batgirl (Silverstone).

Can the trio protect the city from its most deadly threat yet?

"Batman and Robin" marks director Joel Schumacher's second Batman outing after he took over the series from director Tim Burton with 1995's "Batman Forever." The new film also reunites Schumacher with producer Peter Macgregor-Scott, who served in the same capacity for "Batman Forever," and screenwriter Akiva Goldsman, the co-scripter of "Batman Forever."

This film marks several new additions to the Batman series, but none more anticipated than the presence of television actor George Clooney as the Dark Knight.

Clooney is the third actor to don the Batsuit, after Michael Keaton and Val Kilmer, and is best known for his work as pediatrician Douglas Ross on the popular television drama ER, which has earned him several Emmy and Golden Globe nominations.

His wit and on-screen charisma have brought Clooney recent success as a movie star, in such films as "From Dusk Till Dawn" and "One Fine Day."

Another addition to the series is Alicia Silverstone's spunky Batgirl. The role follows the actress' performance as a plucky teenaged fashion victim in Amy Heckerling's "Clueless."

Viewers should also keep their eyes open for a newly remodeled Batcave and Batmobile, as well as Robin's new turbo-charged motorcycle, the Redbird.

Rounding out the cast are the Oscar-nominated Uma Thurman, Golden Globe-nominee Chris O'Donnell, and enormously popular Arnold Schwarzenegger, playing his first villain since the sleeper hit "The Terminator."

Of the five leading actors, only O'Donnell has appeared in the series before, repeating the role he originated in "Batman Forever."

Batman (George Clooney) and Robin (Chris O'Donnell) in Warner Bros. "Batman & Robin," also starring Arnold Schwarzenegger, Uma Thurman and Alicia Silverstone.

In Gotham City, evil always lurks nearby, providing a constant threat to its citizens. But as long as Batman and his young partners continue to fight to protect the city's streets, there is always the hope that the forces of good will at last triumph.

Golf tourney to benefit Our Lady of Providence

By JULIE KEMPAINEN
Sports Writer

A group of up-and-comers is headed to South Lyon this weekend.

The Women's Futures Professional Golf Tour and MedHealth Wellness Centers are bringing 120 national women golfers to South Lyon's Cattail's Golf Club.

Golfers played in a tournament qualifier on Tuesday and are hosting a Pro-Am event for the public today, prior to the three-day tournament.

The tournament begins Friday. A weekend general admission pass can be purchased for $10. One day admission passes can be purchased for $5, but are only usable once. The tournament begins at 8 a.m. Friday and Saturday and 8:30 a.m. Sunday.

The Futures Professional Golf Tour is the major developmental tour for women's golf and many of the members of the tour go on to play with the LPGA.

The MedHealth Wellness Centers Futures Golf Classic features golfers from the U.S. and 30 foreign countries. Proceeds from the tournament will benefit Our Lady of Providence Center in Northville Township.

MedHealth has been working with OLPC for many years and Jack Moores, president and CEO of MedHealth, wanted to take the organization to the next level in fund-raising.

"We were looking for an avenue to raise big money for them," Moores said.

MedHealth is the sponsor of Shelly Sanders. From Florida, Sanders is the second all-time money winner on the tour and is hoping to qualify for the LPGA in 1998.

It was through Sanders and MedHealth that the Futures Tour was brought to South Lyon. Moores wanted to hold a Pro-Am tournament at Cattails to raise money for the charity, and through the tournament came to know the president of the Futures Tour. Moores decided he wanted to bring the tour to Michigan in 1998.

"About three-and-a-half months ago I got this frantic call," Moores said. "One of the sponsors pulled out. If you can do it the last weekend in June, you can have the last weekend in June forever," she said."

Although Moores didn't think it was possible, in just under four months, MedHealth, in conjunction with Don Massey Cadillac, put together a tournament at Cattails. But he didn't do it alone.

"The people that have come out of the woodwork have been phenomenal," Moores said.

Don Massey is an affiliate sponsor. Other significant sponsors include Mercy Health Systems, National Bank of Detroit, Blue Cross and Blue Shield, ASK Health Care Systems and Pete Green of John E. Green and Co.

"In just three-and-a-half months we were able to get all of these sponsors to come to the table," Moores said.

Moores chose Cattails after playing in a few fundraisers at the course.

"I just fell in love with the golf course," he said. "I brought in a few people to look at the course. It's the level of an LPGA course. They've done a magnificent job of putting together a nice course."

Moores said, barring any complications, MedHealth was committed to bringing the Futures Tour in to southeastern Michigan every year.

Mustangs place two on top area team

Fearsome.

The 1997 HomeTown Newspapers' East All-Area First Softball Team is definitely a team to be feared.

The team features three all-state players and an honorable mention, and that's just the Lakeland players.

On the mound, Mindy Dwyer pitched 12 shutouts and struck out 280 batters. Backing her up is another threat, Megan Wedell, who reared 250 batters.

Underclassmen are also making their presence known in the Kensington Valley Conference. From Novi, our all-area team gets two great young players in Joelle Frantz and Katie Cameron. Both batted over .400 and pitched well in the state's toughest softball league. Sophomore Brienne Wheeler, from Lakeland, hit well over .400 and has a strong arm at third. Solid pitching, good hitting and stellar defense make a great team and these girls have all of those talents.

Taking a closer look at our all-area team:

well her first season but really turned it on this year.

The most consistent hitter on the team this year, Wheeler hit .436. Her average put her, at ninth on the all-time list at Lakeland.

"When we got to the quarterfinals this year they walked her," Griffiths said. "They were afraid of her hitting."

Wheeler also hit 46 singles this season, good for second place on the all-time list for singles in a season. "That's a great place to be for a sophomore," Griffiths said.

Not only does Wheeler, who was given an all-state honorable mention, have a strong bat, she has a strong arm.

"She's got a real strong arm," Griffiths said. "She can play a little deeper than most third basemen. Even if you hit a slow grounder, she'll still gun you down. She has such a solid arm."

Wheeler won two of three games she pitched, including a shutout. In 23 innings, Wheeler struck out 10 batters.

KATIE CAMERON
Novi, fresh. infielder

Along with Joelle Frantz, Cameron gives Novi a freshman dynamic duo.

A left handed batter, she led Novi in most offensive categories. Cameron hit .464 and posted an on-base average of .486. She was

Rice, Caverly earn second team honors

In most other areas in Michigan, HomeTown Newspapers' East All-Area Second Softball Team members would win top honors.

But with some of the best talent anywhere, a lot of great ball players had to be penciled in on the second unit.

Take Northville's Amanda Rice. The sophomore catcher had an all-star caliber year by batting well over .400 and leading her team in runs batted in.

Lakeland's Linda Salczynski broke the Eagles' all time at-bat record this season and Megan Melcher made a great utility player for Lakeland.

Defensively, South Lyon's AJ Walker was superb, making just two errors all season.

This year's second squad is, no doubt, one of the best we've ever picked. So let's take a closer look at just who made all-area in 1997:

AMANDA RICE
Northville, soph. catcher

This will be the last time you'll see Rice on the second team of anything.

The sophomore made believers out of softball observers, impressing many as one of the best all-around players. Rice was outstanding both behind the plate and at bat.

She led Northville in hitting with a .421 average and also had the most runs batted in with 28. According to coach Karen Baird, the sky's the limit for Rice.

"You talk about a kid with a great work ethic," she said. "Amanda is a great role model for younger players to follow."

Rice played most of her freshman season in right field, Baird said she had no problem making the transition to catcher this year.

"It's her position," she added. "She has a great arm."

LINDA SALCZYNSKI
Lakeland, ex. infielder

Linda Salczynski made history this season.

She became the first batter in Lakeland history to bat 136 times. This switch hitter ended the season batting .316 and was usually first or second in the batting order, but more importantly she did a great job at second for the Eagles.

"Linda has the best range of any second baseman I've seen this year, as far as getting the ball hit between first and second base," Griffiths said. "Her range is her greatest asset as a second baseman. She is going to really be missed. You just don't replace people of that caliber that easily."

Nancy Schuler was the most consistent part of an inconsistent Milford team.

Schuler hit .410 to lead the team this season and also hit team highs with 14 RBIs and eight doubles.

Another interesting note, Schuler struck out just one time all season.

"We have such a tough league," coach Julie Seets said. "She only struck out one time all year, which is amazing. She is so consistent

Broncos go 1-3 at Indiana tourney

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

For those of you who are old enough to remember taking cod liver oil and hearing your mother say how good it was for you, the Bronco baseball team can relate.

Not that the Northville squad is passing the stuff around the dugout. But the Broncos are playing a lot of teams that are leaving sour tastes in their mouths.

Coach Stan Szostek believes it will help his team later this summer.

"We are getting better," he said. "I think we're ready to turn the corner."

The Broncos took another dose of bad medicine over the weekend by winning only one of four games at the Hoosier Classic in Fort Wayne.

The 10-team tournament was divided into groups of five. The top two teams from each group advanced.

Northville opened the tournament with an 11-8 loss to Cincinnati. Five errors cost the Broncos in the defeat.

Andy Riebling pitched and did a respectable job. Offensively, Kip Szostek and Justin Waino each had two hits.

Northville's lone win came with a 10-4 thumping of St. Louis. Andy Doren led the offense with four hits.

Tom Habitz went the distance on the mound. He allowed seven hits and struck out four.

"He was throwing strikes and did a great job," coach Szostek said.

Northville fell in game three to Bradley, Ill., 20-6. The Abbotte Braves, a team from Indiana, beat the Broncos 16-10 in game four.

"We ran out of (pitching) arms," Szostek said.

Northville fell to 4-11 overall.

Waino was the story of Thursday's home game.

The righthanded pitcher went the distance and allowed just four hits. He struck out eight Birmingham batters in the process.

"Everyone played well," Szostek said of the win.

Northville broke the game open with four runs in the second inning. Ben Keetle and Matt Hare each had two-run singles in the inning.

Tim Edick added a two-run homer in the fifth inning.

The Broncos improved to 2-6 in the Mickey Mantle Open Division. Szostek said his lineup will be bolstered by the return of shortstop Evan Edwards.

Edwards had missed the first few weeks of the season with a hip injury. Szostek said having him in the lineup will solidify the infield defense.

Koufax squad beats Garden City by four

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

Northville's Koufax Division baseball team got back on the winning track Thursday with a 9-5 victory over Garden City.

The Broncos rallied from a 5-2 deficit in the bottom of the fifth with four runs to take the lead. Tom Hughes smacked a three-run homer to lead the rally. Northville never trailed again.

The victory revived the possibility of Northville making the playoffs. The Broncos are currently 3-5 in Little Caesar's Koufax baseball.

Coach Dean Frelick said his club has a long road to win the division and make the playoffs.

"We need to start winning some games," he said.

Northville plays Detroit Baseball on the road today at 6:30 p.m.

As for the Garden City game, pitcher Brent Habitz did an outstanding job. He held Garden City to just two runs over the first four innings.

The visitors broke through for three runs in the fifth. Habitz' teammates made him a winner with their dramatic rally in the bottom of the frame.

Northville added three runs in the sixth inning as Dave Tovey crushed a three run homer. He also pitched the final two innings to get the save.

The Broncos had 10 hits in the game. Adam Malmin had three hits, including a triple.

WINDSOR 3 NORTHVILLE 2

The Broncos fell in extra innings at Windsor on June 18. Frelick said his team just isn't hitting well now.

"Our bats have cooled off just a bit," he said.

Northville battled from behind to tie the game twice.

Windsor scored a run in the bottom of the first to take the lead. Northville tied it in the second as Ryan Yost collected an RBI-single.

Windsor got the run back in the third, but Northville tied it again in the fifth on a Brian Ashby single.

Jason Rohraff pitched the first seven innings for the Broncos. Mike Wadowski gave up the winning run in the ninth.

Windsor started the inning with a triple. But Wadowski got the next two batters out. He then threw a wild pitch that allowed the run to score.

Frelick was proud of both of his pitchers, though.

"They both did a great job," he said. "It was a great ball game."

FENTON 2 NORTHVILLE 1

Quiet bats again hurt the Broncos. Northville managed just five hits in the June 16 home game.

A good pitching performance by Hughes was wasted. He pitched a complete game and allowed only three Fenton hits.

Yost had Northville's lone RBI with a seventh inning single.

League Line

BOYS UNDER 9

The Northville Storm U9 boys soccer team won the Western Suburban Soccer League Division II championship with a record of 7-1. Team members included Robert Bloom, Eric Buscarino, Mitchell Gayner, Ryan League, David LeBeau, Matt Long, Chris Lorente, Michael Lysaght, Clay Paciorek, Joey Polidori, Brian Walsh and Matt Wollack. The team was coached by Ed League and Michael Paciorek.

GIRLS UNDER 9

Northville Arsenal tied Northville United 1-1. Kristin Stanley scored for the Arsenal while Kari O Shanski and Megan Beger were MVPs. Katy Ehler scored for United while Anna Step was the defensive MVP.

Northville Cosmos beat Novi 5-0. Megan Bostwick scored twice. Katie Trentacosta, Katie Weicksel and Allison Grant added goals. Lindsay Williams was the MVP.

Northville Cosmos beat Novi 2-1. Christina Black and Allison Grant scored for Northville. Virginia Caulkin and Lindsay Williams were MVPs.

Northville Arsenal beat Novi 2-1. Anna Davis had both goals for the Arsenal. Elizabeth Dodd and Samantha Laskey were MVPs.

Plymouth beat Northville United 3-1. Lindsey Blair scored for United. Bryn Smetan was the defensive MVP for Northville.

Northville Express tied Novi 2-2. Elizabeth Hrivnak and Bethany Flayer were the goal scorers for Northville.

Northville Cosmos tied Livonia 3-3. Allison Grant scored twice and Katie Trentacosta added a goal. Lindsay Williams and Kathy Reaum were MVPs.

Northville Express beat Livonia 3-1. Cheri Buijk scored all three goals for the Express.

GIRLS UNDER 14

Plymouth defeated Northville United 7-0 on June 14. Nicole Krause and Marta Walasek were MVPs.

Northville Express beat Northville Stars 1-0 on June 14. Chelsea Cloud, Katie Jones and Monica Catanach were MVPs for the Stars. Jennifer Hudolin scored the game's lone goal while Angela Quick and Jenny Houslander were MVPs for the Express.

Northville Arsenal and Plymouth tied 2-2 on June 14. Keely McCourt scored twice. Kimmy Walsh and Gretchan Word were the MVPs.

Mantle squad plays well in defeat

By SCOTT DANIEL
Sports Editor

It's not often that a team can feel good about a loss.

But Northville's Mickey Mantle "B" squad felt OK about its 2-0 loss to Livonia June 17. The Broncos played nearly error free baseball in falling to Livonia's top squad.

Bill Jenney said his team's solid play had a lot to do with a positive attitude. He said they're taking the summer season more seriously now.

"They've decided that winning is more fun than losing," Jenney added. "They've got to want to give maximum effort. It's not enough to just show up and play."

Northville was limited to two hits in the road game.

"But we had six other balls that were line drives or deep drives to the outfield," Jenney said.

Andy Riebling pitched a tremendous ballgame for Northville. He allowed just three hits while striking out four.

"He has a good fastball that moves," said Jenney, "and three different curveballs."

Defensively, Northville was led by catcher Eric Cooley. He threw out two would-be Livonia base stealers. First baseman Kyle Jenney and shortstop Adam Webb also played solid games.

"If we continue to play defensively and offensively the way we did that day, we'll win some games," Jenney remarked.

LIVONIA 8 NORTHVILLE 1

The Broncos played Livonia's other squad June 16 and had a rough go of it. Northville committed five errors in the game.

"Defense continues to be our nemesis," Jenney said.

Livonia also hit starting pitcher Jim Morrison hard.

"He was getting the ball up," Jenney said. Northville had four hits. The Broncos lone run came in the third inning as Matt Zumstein and Andy Doren had back-to-back doubles.

Menghini, Tovey on top all-area team murder on opponents, in other words.

"She's definitely a positive factor in our future," coach Carol Diglio said.

Cameron knocked in 17 runs while stealing 13 bases.

"She's very fast," Diglio said. "She turns a lot of singles into doubles."

Cameron, who was named to the Kensington Valley Conference's second team, played second base and did a fair amount of pitching.

Diglio said she will pitch more in the years to come.

MICHELLE MENGHINI

Northville, sr. infielder

If you were looking to build a prototype for a hitter, Menghini wouldn't make a bad model.

The Mustang shortstop showed her sweet stroke by batting .404 this season. She also led Northville in extra base hits with nine doubles and four triples. Menghini, who also pitched for the Mustangs, knocked in 17 runs.

"Her strength is definitely her offensive power," Baird said.

An All-Western Division player in the Western Lakes Activities Association, Menghini batted clean-up for Northville.

"You could always count on her to get the runner in," Baird said.

The senior held her own defensively. Baird said its tough switching from shortstop to pitcher.

"I think she really enjoyed playing shortstop more," the coach said.

ERIN TOVEY

Northville, sr. outfielder

Perhaps one of the area's most underrated players was Northville's senior centerfielder.

Tovey, who was named All-Western Division in the WLAA, combined solid hitting and spectacular defense to provide an anchor for the Mustangs. Baird said her offense had always been there, but Tovey became a more complete player this season.

"She improved a tremendous amount on defense," the coach commented. "She covered a lot of ground in centerfield."

At the plate, Tovey hit .398 and was second in runs batted in for Northville.

"You could always count on her to be on base," Baird said.

HOLE IN ONE

West Bloomfield resident Bob Doll fired a hole-in-one at Brooklane Golf Club in Northville on June 18. He used a 5-iron to score the ace on the 175-yard par 3 third hole.

GOALIE WANTED

A soccer goalie is needed for a very talented girls Little Caesars premiere soccer league team. The team has top level players and will be trained by a professional trainer/player from England. Goalies with birthdates from 8/1/1978 to 7/31/1982 can call (313)464-9114 for more information.

U12 STING COMPLETE 10-2 PREMIER SEASON

The under-12 Sting '85 recently completed its second session in the Michigan State Youth Soccer Association's Little Caesars Premier Soccer League with a record of 10 wins and two losses. With Sting's 10-2 spring record, coupled with the fall record of 7-3-1, Sting '85 ensured a Little Caesars First Division placement for the 1997 fall season that begins in September.

with hitting. You can always count on her to hit the ball."

This was the third year behind the plate for Schuler, who was also a co-captain.

"Everybody is just very comfortable with her behind the plate," Seets said. "She calls the game very well. The pitchers trust her. Whatever she calls they throw because she is such a heads-up player. She is someone all the girls can look up to."

AJ WALKER

South Lyon, jr. infielder

Along with the consistent pitching of Megan Wedell, the Lions could also count on the hitting and defensive skills of first baseman AJ Walker.

Walker was South Lyon's most productive hitter, batting .383. Also a team leader in RBIs, Walker drove in 27 runs and hit three doubles, triples and home runs.

"Her upside is that she could be the most feared hitter in the area," Mayernik said. "Without question she was our most productive hitter."

JENNY CAVERLY

Northville, fresh. outfielder

It took all of about a week for Northville coach Karen Baird to see that Caverly was ready to move up from junior varsity.

The freshman showed she belonged at varsity by hitting .356. She managed to knock in 16 runs while smacking a pair of doubles and a triple.

"I was really surprised by her hitting," Baird admitted. "We ended up batting her fifth or sixth most of the year."

Caverly, who also played a little shortstop besides the outfield, possess a great throwing arm, Baird said. Along with Rice, the freshman should be a cornerstone for Northville for several years.

ANIA GWOZDZ

South Lyon, jr. outfielder

Ania Gwozdz earned The Ann Arbor News' Top Performer of the Day award three times this season.

That's quite an honor in an area of such tough softball competition.

Gwozdz started out at third base, but as the team struggled to complete its roster and find proper places for everyone, coach John Mayernik found she fit better in the outfield.

Gwozdz hit .320 in her first year with the varsity squad.

Kidney stones a common problem

Kidney stones are a common problem. Their severity can range from being a minor, once-in-a-lifetime discomfort to being an extraordinarily severe and recurrent source of pain. They may cause serious kidney damage and infection. Fortunately, treatment for kidney stones is excellent.

Raymond Hobbs

Kidney stones do, in fact, appear to be small stones. They can be sand or gravel-like or much larger. They can be irregular, with sharp edges and rock hard. Seventy-five percent of the stones are made of calcium with the next most common being composed of uric acid, oxalate, cystine and struvite.

As the stones develop in the kidney and pass down the ureters (the connection between the kidneys and the bladder), they can cause blockage or tearing and bleeding. This results in pain and blood in the urine.

Since the size of the stones determines how much trouble a patient will have in passing one, it is easy to understand why a small stone may cause little discomfort and a large one severe pain.

The causes of kidney stones are many and varied. For instance, some people produce them because they excrete too much calcium in their urine. This may be a problem they were born with. Some people develop them in association with certain on-going urinary tract infections. Gout may lead to uric acid stones.

Operations and diseases which affect the small intestine may affect oxalate absorption and lead to oxalate stones.

Drugs, such as triamterene, may act as a small focus around which stones develop. Still other people get stones for reasons that are not well understood.

The therapy for stones depends on the number, size and frequency with which they occur. A small stone may pass with little difficulty and discomfort. A large stone may require surgery for removal. If the stones are few and occur rarely, physicians will simply watch the patient and provide treatment when necessary. If the stones tend to reoccur frequently, drug therapy to decrease their formation may be useful.

During an attack, a physician will usually give pain medication and intravenous fluids to encourage frequent urination and passage of the stone.

Although many blood, urine and X-ray tests are available. To help diagnose kidney stones, one of the best methods is to analyze the stones directly. This helps determine the drugs or therapy to be used for prevention. But, it is necessary to have the stone to do this. Anyone passing a stone should save it and take it to the doctor. Frequently, physicians recommend straining the urine through a small strainer or cheese cloth so that the stone is not lost.

The last 10 years have seen the development of better surgical techniques for those with severe stone disease. Shock-wave lithotripsy can literally pulverize large stones into smaller bits of sand or gravel and allow easier passage without invasive surgery. Although it is not available at all hospitals, it is frequently available at the larger institutions like the University of Michigan Medical Center in Ann Arbor. Patients can be referred to those institutions by their physicians.

GARDENING

Phlox gives much, requires little

By C.Z. Guest
Copley News Service

Phlox, an easy to grow, native plant, has been cultivated for centuries.

Gardeners often call the phlox the best of all perennials. The phlox family includes some of the most widely grown garden favorites; among them the creeping phlox or modern phlox.

Wonderfully fragrant and long blooming, these beauties come in a medley of colors, ranging from palest pink to ruby red.

Set out new plants in either fall or late spring and they will self-sow in late summer, if seed pods are allowed to ripen on the stalks.

Sow fresh seeds 1/4 inch into the soil in full sun, as soon as trees leaf out.

Powdery mildew often afflicts phlox, so keep your plants a few feet apart and take out about a third of the total stalks to allow good air circulation and to strengthen the flowers. Cut down the stalks in fall so mildew-resistant varieties "David" (white), "Eva Cullum" (pink with red eye) and "Franz Serber" have their best growth.

SECRETS TO SUCCESS

Divide clumps of perennial and phlox every three years to keep them vigorous. Cut back the plants a third after they flower and then dig it up and divide.

Many phlox self-sow and then turn magenta color. To prevent this, deadhead often. This will encourage more flowers and branching. Always pinch back the weaker stems to prolong flowering. Cut phlox make fabulous bouquets - they last long and are very fragrant.

The name phlox comes from the Greek word meaning "flame." Phlox paniculata is commonly known as fall phlox or garden phlox. The low-growing variety phlox divanicata is called "Sweet William."

For successful growth, the soil should be moist, but well-drained. It should be deeply cultivated and enriched with organic plant food, as phlox are heavy feeders. Set plants 18 inches apart in sun or light shade. Deadheading faded blooms will encourage a new crop of flowers later in the season. Few plants demand so little attention.

Q. For someone who is interested in acquiring and growing irises, would you recommend joining the American Iris Society? Its address is P.O. Box 1003, 717 Pratt Ave., NE, Huntsville, AL 35801.

A. Certainly! The more knowledge you acquire, the better you'll be at your craft. Plant some irises this spring - the Dutch iris, which will bloom toward the end of the tulip season, and the reticulata group are among the earliest blooming of all the spring bulbs.

Dutch iris can also be forced in the fall by planting in pots, cooling at about 48 degrees for six weeks, then growing indoors at 50 to 55 degrees.

Q. My son is looking for something to plant that will grow quite tall and quickly afford privacy in his shady yard. It gets very little sun in that spot. Can you suggest something for him?

A. Aquilegia, campanula, decentra, digitalis, ferns, hosta, lily of the valley, trillium and viola are the principal shade flowers. There are many varieties.

For taller plants, you have a wide choice from such things as holly, mountain laurel, azalea, blueberries and rhododendron. The combination of these plants should make an attractive planting.

Q. I have a small "offset" of a silver vase bromeliad (aechmea fasciata) that has been growing on its own for several years. How can I get it to flower?

A. The key to flowering is to sever the offset when it has at least five well-developed leaves. Aechmea should bloom within several years. The plant should receive bright indirect sunlight at room temperature. Keep the cup, formed by the leaf bases, filled with water and add a houseplant fertilizer once a month. Add the fertilizer to the cup, too.

Another way reluctant bloomers can be triggered into flowering is by enclosing the plant in a clear plastic bag with several ripe apples. Tie the bag shut and leave the plant inside for a week to 10 days. Ripe apples release ethylenegas, which promotes flowering. One or two months after treatment a bud should appear.

Q. Last year a friend gave me a bird of paradise (strelitzia reginae) in a container, but it never bloomed. I keep it in a solarium. What's my problem?

A. You may have a young plant. A bird of paradise must be at least 5 years old and root-bound before it will bloom. When your plant reaches 1 to 2 feet tall, the roots will crowd the pot and "pups" (offshoots) begin to form on the main crown, that's when the "bird" is close to blooming.

This is a great plant because it's so easy to grow. Place it in a pot in full sun and feed with a 10-10-10 fertilizer once a month from spring to fall - but no feeding in winter!

VICTORIAN LANDSCAPING
Brighton couple seeks special look for old farmhouse

By Annette Jaworski

Ron and Toni Clark realized that after 18 years in their Brighton Township home, the landscaping needed a little sprucing up. The couple just wasn't sure how to go about it, until they met White Lake landscaper, Dave Clixby at the Nov Home show.

Together they worked to turn the couples' vision into reality. The three agreed that they didn't want the one-of-a-kind Victorian farm home to look like an 1860's home with 1990's landscape.

"What I tried to do here was use old fashioned bushes and plants, not Bloomfield Hills contemporary," Clixby explained.

To do this, the landscaper integrated the old with the new in his plants. A dwarf lilac bush, flowering quince, and barberry. There's a special place for the hibiscus from Ron Clark's great grandmother in Ohio. An herb garden with basil, yarrow and fennel also borders the west side of the house.

A year after the transformation, the three-and-a-half acre property is truly a retreat for the Clarks. The result is a tranquil and genteel acreage, reminiscent of antebellum times. The sounds of their backyard waterfall gently wash out any sounds of traffic that travels nearby.

The brick paver terrace with its white patio set is where the couple occasionally enjoy dinner. Nearby is the focal point of the back yard - a pond that Ron built by hand six years ago. After Ron designed the

Open House: 'Buyer's brokers' becoming more popular

By James M. Woodard

REAL ESTATE

The concept of a "buyer's broker" is taking firm hold in the real estate marketplace. Its growth in recent years seems to establish it as a permanent fixture as a professional niche.

The idea is to provide brokerage service and representation specifically for property buyers, not sellers. For many years, it was customary for home seekers to simply call the broker who advertised a home for sale. That broker would show the property to the prospective buyer and hopefully prepare and execute a purchase contract.

But that broker, in most cases, was the listing agent for the home seller. By contractual commitment, he or she represented the interests of the seller, not the buyer.

In many cases, this arrangement works fine for both buyer and seller. But generally, there is an increasing need for brokers who contractually represent the interests of the home buyer. Thus, the current trend for brokers and agents to specialize in buyer representation is growing.

A key factor pushing the trend is the current availability of cyberspace resources for home-seeking consumers. In past years, brokers would work through their regional multiple listing service to find a desired type of house for a client, then work through the listing broker to arrange a showing and purchase.

In such cases, both brokers legally represent the home seller - the listing broker and the inquiring broker who works as a sub-agent for the listing broker.

Today, consumers can access information on available homes in a specified area directly via a computer on-line service or the Internet. After making preliminary decisions, the buyer needs a professional who can represent his interests in continuing the home search and closing a transaction.

Another key factor is the increasing number of legislative changes in a growing number of states. New laws and regulations are being passed that require brokers to identify in writing whom they legally represent in real estate transactions, which this makes consumers more aware of the representation issue.

A study recently conducted by the Real Estate Educators Association revealed that about 42 percent of today's home buyers are aware of agency representation options. The real estate educators project that proportion will nearly double within the next decade.

An indication of the trend is seen in the dramatically growing national council set up for this specialized niche. The Real Estate

Buyer's Agency Council had about 7,500 active members last November when it was acquired by the National Association of Realtors from the North American Consulting Group. It now has more than 10,000 members throughout the United States and Canada.

About 1,000 new students sign up every month for educational courses that lead to membership in REBAC and receiving the groups professional designation, ABR (Accredited Buyer Representative), according to David Martin, REBAC chief operating officer. In addition to the successful completion of an intensive four-module course, applicants for the ABR designation must have closed at least five real estate transactions as a buyer's representative.

Seasoned real estate training organizations in regions throughout the country have been licensed to offer the course leading to the REBAC designation. For example, in California the Effective Buyer Representation course is offered by Anthony Schools, the state's largest private real estate school system.

In November, a new course and designation will be offered by REBAC - Accredited Buyer's Representative Manager (ABRM). "Our council is now the fastest growing of all councils within the National Association of Realtors, and it will soon be the largest," Martin said. "As the public becomes more aware of the importance of agency representation, this special brokerage industry niche will continue to grow."

g. How much does it normally cost these days for a company to ship furniture and household goods of a transferred

employee to another city?

A. On average, it costs about $6,500 per employee to transport the employee's home furnishings and other household goods to a new location, according to a survey recently conducted by the (beginital) Runzheimer Reports on Relocation Newsletter (ENDITAL) - a publication of Runzheimer International, a management consulting firm.

"Household goods shipments can be one of the most traumatic parts of a move for transferees and their family," said Lori Hurst, editor of the newsletter. "The reality of moving often hits home as keepsakes, heirlooms, and lives are boxed up and carted off in trucks."

rock formation, a waterfall was built by a group called Grass Roots in Ann Arbor. He stocked the pond with Japanese koi or Japanese goldfish, which are now full grown. He added plants, including cattails and Michigan Iris.

Together the fish and plants make the pond a complete habitat.

Ron explained that the pond doesn't require a lot of attention. During the summer, he cleans out the pond filter as needed. The fish remain there all winter. The Clark's heat the water enough to leave an opening for the oxygen to get through to the water.

Toni says it takes a while, but by the end of the summer, Ron has the golden fish eating out of his hands. The fish flourish so well in their habitat, that each year they have to weed out the new arrivals.

In addition to the Japanese koi, frogs chime along to the sound of the bubbling pond.

"We get as much fun out of the frogs as we do the fish. Especially this time of year, come sundown they raise a ruckus," Ron said.

The couple appreciates the wildlife they share their property with.

"The deer come into the backyard about 50 feet from the house. They love our pear tree. It's not uncommon to see four or five at a time," Toni said.

The pond is so enticing, even stray herons from Kensington are attracted to it.

Another focal point to the grounds is the side entrance to the home. With the impressive front porch on their Victorian home, they wanted the main entry on the east side of the house to make more of a statement.

"We want to open this area up and invite people to say, Hello, come in," Dave explained.

A large mountain ash was removed which opened the side of the house near the side entrance. The brick pavers were extended outward in a more prominent circular pattern. Large potted geraniums, purple ajuga, red and white begonias, and several varieties of hostas were added.

Ron has researched the history on their Victorian home. Records say it was built by Minister Foote from South Lyon. "We know that it was here in the 1860's, but before that it's speculation," Ron said.

Along with the fish and fowl, the Clark's share their home with two sons, Brian, 15, and Patrick, 12, and Gilda, a Golden Labrador.

Sevres tankard made in Ohio

By Anne McCollam
Copley News Service

Q. The pitcher in this photo is 14 inches high and is in excellent condition. My grandfather called it his "cocoa mug." On the bottom of the pitcher is a fleur-de-lis and the word "Sevres."

I would appreciate any information on its origin and value.

A. Your grandfather must have really liked cocoa! Your tankard would hold a lot more than a cup or two. The mark you provided was used by Sevres China Co., East Liverpool, Ohio. They were in business from 1900 to 1908.

Your tankard is circa 1900. Tankards like it are seen in antique shops in the $125 to $175 range.

Q. I have a service-for-eight set of dishes that was sent to my parents in the early 1950s from Bavaria, Germany. This mark is on each dish and the pattern is Queen Anne's Lace.

What can you tell me about the manufacturer and the value of my dishes?

A. Your dishes were made by Oscar Schaller & Co., Windischeschenbach, Bavaria, Germany, which has made porcelain since 1918. This mark was used around 1945.

Your service-for-eight set would probably

This tankard, made by Sevres China Co. at the turn of the century, is probably worth between $125 and $175.

ANTIQUES

be worth about $400 to $500.

Q. I have a Howdy Doody ventriloquist dummy that was given to my dad in the 1950s. He is wearing a red-and-white gingham shirt, blue pants and a red belt. His blue scarf and red-and-white shoes have his name on them. The head is made of hard rubber and he is in mint condition.

Does he have any value?

A. Your Howdy Doody is listed in "Shroeder's Collectible Toys, Antique to Modern Price Guide" at $650. Not bad for a dummy!

Q. I have a tray with the words "Drink Coca-Cola across the top and bottom. It measures approximately 10 by 13 inches. The words "Trademark Registered" are in the tall of the "C." The young woman holding a bottle of Coke is the Paramount starlet, Frances Dee.

At the bottom of the tray are the words "Coca-Cola Co. 1932 - American Art Works Coshocton - O - Made in USA."

I would like to know what it is worth.

A. Your tray was in circulation in 1933. The copyright date was for the artwork. Usually trays were released the following year.

"Pertretti's Coca-Cola Collectibles Price Guide" shows the 1933 tray in excellent condition at $500.

BOOK REVIEW

Valuable information is offered in "The Collector's Guide to Made in Japan Ceramics" by Carole Bess White (Collector Books). What exactly is "Made in Japan"? Is it all collectible? Were the Japanese innovators or imitators? These are just some of the questions answered.

More than 600 color photos, a section on marks, a value guide and an explanation of the many styles and glazes are aids in identifying and pricing. Collectors will find this book chock-full of information and tips, and a delight to read.

LET'S TALK Real Estate

WORKING FOR THE BUYER

The typical real estate transaction involves two real estate agents: The listing agent (with whom the seller lists the property) and the showing agent (who shows the property to prospective buyers). Buyers should note that both the listing agent and the showing agent work for the seller. Thus, neither of them is permitted to disclose to a buyer confidential information supplied by the seller that is adverse to the seller's interest in selling the property. Buyers who wish to bridge this information gap may do so by hiring a buyer's agent. This individual represents the buyer and will be required to disclose all relevant information about the property being considered, as well as negotiate the best possible purchase terms for the buyer.

There is an exception to the confidentiality rule. If the listing or showing Realtor knows of serious structural problems, damage to the home, or dangers in the home (such as lead paint or radon gas), he or she has an obligation to inform a potential buyer. A Realtor will not, however, share information with you like the minimum the seller will accept for the house. First find a reputable Realtor, then discuss the advantages of Sellers' Agency, Buyers' Agency, or Dual-Disclosed Agency. Call me at the Coldwell Banker/Schwitzer Real Estate office at 347-3050. I'm conveniently located at 41860 W Six Mile Road.

Aletta Holmes

HINT: A buyer's agent can be compensated from the total commission generated by a sale.

Jamey Kramer's REAL ESTATE FACTS

...The "Original" Real Estate Column

Energize Your Home!

It has been said that homebuyers make their decision - based entirely on emotion - during the first five minutes in a home. They spend the rest of the time trying to justify their decision based on facts and figures.

There's a simple, yet compelling, message in that short statement. When selling, offer your home in nothing less than "model home" condition to excite buyers to the point of action. Second, help them justify their buying decision by preparing loads of factual data as proof they've made the right decision.

Ask your agent for a "walk-through" of your home - a dress rehearsal for a buyer showing. Make a list of all suggestions for repairs and improvements. Complete all items on the list before putting your home on the market. Who can get excited about worn carpeting or broken window panes? When buyers see the castle of their dream's they get excited.

You'll need plenty of facts and figures too. Prepare a complete history of other home sales in your area, then price your home accordingly. Prepare a written comparison which proves your home is priced fairly. List your utility costs month-by-month for the past three years. Have a set of floor plans offered for inspection.

In other words, make it inevitable that prospects will fall in love with your home. When backed up with printed details, you may enjoy a full price offer in a very short sale time.

Golfer's Choice provides fairway-like range

ANNETTE JAWORSKI
Special Writer

There's yet another good reason for golfers to bring their clubs to South Lyon. Golfer's Choice and Academy of Golf on Milford Road is geared to those who want more from a driving range.

"We're trying to offer a better product, and the prices are competitive, maybe even lower, co-owner Rob Sachs said.

Sachs and his partner, Paul Elkow, aim to offer more of a challenge at their Golfer's Choice, with features that you might find in a golf course. At a typical driving range, golfers typically smash a ball as far as they can into an open field. We all agree that courses aren't made like open fields, there are a lot of obstacles out there.

"If you're going to practice, practice what you're going to be playing," Sachs said.

To begin with, their driving range will have target greens. Greens made out of AstroTurf, will provide a target. Two shorter greens have been installed, with a distance of 50 and 75 yards to practice the short game, and two greens at 100 and 150 yards out.

To practice getting out of those sand traps, the range also features a practice bunker. Another way they plan to distinguish themselves is with quality grass areas, of fairway quality.

Although they anticipate some pregame business, Sachs is hoping to attract people who are serious about improving their skills.

"We're looking to make this somewhere for people can come and really work on their game," Sachs said.

Speaking of improving their game, there's one more important feature at Golfer's Choice. And that's golf pro Brent Veenstra, who will be available for private or group lessons by appointment. Video lessons are also available; as Veenstra says, a picture is worth a thousand words.

The pro said he is excited to be a part of the endeavor, and hopes his association with the driving range will enable him to introduce the game to a wide variety of people.

"With Tiger Mania out there, there's a lot of interest in the sport right now," he said.

Simonson named as deputy super at Oakland Schools

Rick Simonson has been named deputy superintendent at Oakland Schools, the intermediate school district serving Oakland County. Simonson assumes the new post July 1, following nine years as assistant superintendent for Legislative Affairs.

Before joining Oakland Schools in 1988, Simonson spent nearly 20 years as chief of staff for two state senators. A graduate and former board member of Albion College, Simonson has been an aggressive advocate for suburban schools. His role in crafting new school funding law and a new school code earned him a top 10 rating in effective advocacy in a recent poll of Lansing insiders.

To fill the legislative affairs gap left by Simonson's promotion, Oakland Schools has named Brian Whiston, a Waterford parent and school board member. Whiston is a former state senate staffer who currently handles legislative issues at the federal level for the Oakland County Road Commission. Whiston, who also holds a teaching degree, has been a political consultant, playing a pivotal role in the recent election of Oakland County Prosecutor David Gomyca. Whiston's varied background in government, politics, business, and education will be a great asset to Oakland Schools and the 28 local districts it serves.

In fact, Whiston had been considering a run for the state House, representing the Waterford/White Lake area, but has decided to forego that effort to accept this new position at Oakland schools.

"We are pleased to announce these major changes in our ongoing effort to make Oakland Schools the best educational service agency in the country," said Superintendent Dr. James Redmond.

Veenstra's credentials include a diploma from Ferris State Professional Golf Management in 1984, where he began teaching golf since 1979.

His most coveted trophy is on display at the range. A course record, which still stands, was set on July 3, 1991, shot at The Bear; a low round of 62, ten under par.

One of his current promotions include a spring tune up, which includes a 30-minute lesson with the loft and lie of your irons professionally analyzed and adjusted for $60.

Promotions for junior's and women's lessons will be running through May. Club repair and re-gripping are services they will also provide.

The two partners, Elkow and Sachs have been long time hockey buddies.

Paul Elkow wears many hats; in addition to owning the driving range, he's a farmer, developer and commodities broker at Smith Barney. The South Lyon native was the original land owner of the driving range and surrounding acreage. Sach is a self-professed golf fanatic with a dental practice in Dearborn.

Their support staff is completed by Jeff Johnson, Gary Smith, Robin Sharrard, Jeff Abramowicz and their wives, Lori Sachs and Laura Elkow.

A grand opening will be scheduled during the month of May. Look for other promotions such as family nights, and coupons to be sent through Val-Pak in Milford, New Hudson, South Lyon and the western part of Novi. Discounts for seniors are available on lessons and buckets.

Prices for a bucket of balls are as follows; jumbo, $11; large, $6; small, $4; and mini or warm up baskets, $3; and yearly memberships are $275. Thirty five stalls and 6,000 new balls are now ready for use.

Golfer's Choice and Academy of Golf, currently open from 10 a.m. until dark weekdays, and 8 a.m.

until dark on weekends, is located near ten golf courses at 28151 Milford Road, one mile south of New Hudson. Call 1-810-486-GOLF for more information.

There's still only one Culligan.®

Recently, the previous owner of the Culligan franchise in Livingston County gave notice of termination of its Culligan franchise and sold out to a company from California.

They're telling folks that Culligan changed its name and joined forces with them. This is simply not true.

Culligan is as committed to Livingston County as we have been committed to quality water treatment for over 60 years. We are dedicated to serving the water needs for our community in an economical fashion.

We would not let the people of Livingston County down, so we have opened a new dealership with experienced Culligan people.

Please understand there is only one franchised Culligan dealer in town.

If you want factory-authorized Culligan products, genuine Culligan parts, and honest, dependable Culligan service, there is still only one name to call.

Business Briefs

Northville resident Joan Wilson, RN, BSN, MPH, recently joined Brighton-based Innovations Home Care, which provides on-going education to the patient care team to help them develop their roles and improve patient care delivery. In her career, Wilson has held positions at U-M Medical Center, Renaissance Health Care and most recently Caremed of Chicago.

Rashmi Luthra, assistant professor communications at the University of Michigan-Dearborn, was promoted to associate professor of communications with tenure in the college of Arts, Sciences, and Letters. The U-M Regents approved the promotion at their May meeting.

Luthra is a resident of Northville.

The board of directors of Old Kent Financial Corp. has appointed Kenneth S. Hendrian to the position of Salary Administration Office and Manager.

Hendrian joined Old Kent from Ford Motor Co. in Dearborn where he served as a Human Resource Intern, Labor Relations Representative, and Organization and Personnel Planner. Prior to serving at Ford Motor Co., he served in human resources at the Pepsi-Cola Co. in San Diego, Calif. In his new position at Old Kent, Hendrian will be responsible for salary administration and job evaluation.

Hendrian received his bachelor of science degree in psychology in May 1993, and his master of labor relations and human resources in December 1995, from Michigan State University.

Vacation home provides tax breaks

Owning a vacation home offers some unique tax advantages. Understanding the tax implications of your purchase before you finalize it will help to ensure that your second home meets your personal and financial needs.

The extent to which you or family members use your vacation home determines whether tax law will treat your home as a personal vacation home, rental property or some combination of the two, explains the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants. The tax treatment of property used for both personal and rental use depends on how many days you use the property as a personal vacation retreat and how many days you rent it out.

PERSONAL RESIDENCE

For tax purposes, your second home is treated as a personal vacation home if the property is rented for less than 15 days during the year. A vacation home you use primarily for your personal enjoyment receives basically the same treatment as your primary residence.

You may deduct mortgage interest and property taxes as itemized deductions, but you may not

Money Management

deduct other expenses such as utilities and repairs. In fact, if you rent your home for less than 15 days, the rental income you collect is tax-free. Once your rental days exceed 14, you must report the rental income you collect and keep track of the days you spend at your vacation home so you can allocate your expenses between rental use and personal use.

For example, if your home is rented 30 percent of the time, 30 percent of your rental expenses are deductible. Rental expenses include advertising, insurance, repairs, utilities and other operating expenses, in addition to mortgage interest and property taxes. When your home is treated as a personal residence, rental expenses are deductible only to the extent of rental income. You cannot use your rental expenses to produce a tax loss to shelter other income.

RENTAL PROPERTY

Rental properties receive more favorable tax treatment. For your vacation home to qualify as rental property, your personal use must not exceed the longer of 14 days or 10 percent of the total number of days your vacation home is rented. You still allocate your expenses between business and personal use, just as you would if the home qualified as a residence. But, in this case, if your rental property shows a loss, and your adjusted gross income is less than $100,000, you may be able to deduct up to $25,000 of rental losses a year against regular earnings such as salary. (If your income exceeds $100,000, the $25,000 deduction for business losses starts to phase out and disappears entirely when your income tops $150,000). To qualify for this deduction, you must actively manage the property. You're considered an active manager if you make management decisions like approving new tenants or authorizing repairs.

THE FINANCIAL IMPACT

Rental income can help you afford the vacation home you've always wanted, but, in most cases, you shouldn't count on rental revenue to carry the full cost of owning a vacation home. Before you decide to buy, you should make a realistic assessment of the revenue you can expect to get from renting your home. Don't take the broker's or seller's word for it, do your own homework. Keep in mind that, in most areas, the prime rental period is limited to only a few months and, during those months, you'll have plenty of competition.

If you're buying your vacation home primarily as an investment, you'll want to be sure your purchase makes good financial sense. If you determine that the income from your rental property won't be enough to cover your carrying costs, you'll need to decide if the anticipated growth in your property's value will offset your losses, or else, whether you might do better investing your money elsewhere. Keep in mind that another investment may not provide you with the enjoyment you can derive from a vacation home. Some taxpayers find that the rent they collect, when added to their personal enjoyment, makes the investment worthwhile, if not profitable.

6,000 credit institutions deluge American consumers

Nowadays, credit is a way of life, even though we have had a form of "credit" for hundreds of years before we came so dependent on pieces of plastic. They bring us things we want, items we need; they help us make reservations for transportation and hotel space; they let us order merchandise over the phone or Internet. They let us buy now and pay later.

But most families with incomes from $10,000 to $100,000 or more a year are deluged with letters and actual cards for approval every day from the over 6,000 credit granting institutions in the country. Carol Kurth, education coordinator for Credit Counseling Centers Inc. (CCC), points out that there are proper ways to dispose of these mostly unwanted marketing ploys.

Federal law, through the Truth in Lending Act, prohibits the sending of unrequested credit cards by card issuers. You may say, "But I get them all the time." What you are really getting is a request to activate a new account by filling out an application form that came with the card or by calling an "800" type number to indicate interest or approval.

Non-requested, "pre-approved" credit card applications flood the market and consumers, especially college students, working women, and other young customers, are the recipients. A "pre-approved" application, according to the Federal Trade Commission who oversees consumer protection laws, means you only have to sign an "OK" to receive the offered credit. No other information is required.

Keep in mind that if the application requests income or other information on the form, it is not a "pre-approved" credit card application and it is illegal to claim it as such.

You should always return unwanted credit or charge cards you receive after cutting them up - don't just throw them away. Why? If you don't return them, the issuer won't know you don't want the credit card account opened and it will probably become one more item added to your credit history file.

This may cost you badly needed credit or an increase in present credit limits in the future. If you are seeking to increase your present credit limits, you may be denied as too much credit is available to you in your circumstances and this may not be desirable to lenders. Keep this in mind - if you add up all of your credit limits or credit lines on the various open-account credit cards, a great deal of money is available to you which may curtail your ability to pay back the lending institution loan. A prospective lender, looking at the files, may decide that you have existing loan repayments and too much possible available credit to be a good risk.

Because of the proliferation of fraud schemes and invasions of privacy - with more to come - Leslie Byrne, the new director of the U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs, has placed these two issues at the top of her list. Privacy has become a hot issue because of computer technology and it affects your credit as well as personal information. Byrne stated at recent SOCAP meeting in Detroit that she believes privacy crime is syndicated; it's not just individuals stealing private information. This includes your credit information.

As a wise consumer and user of credit, you need to do everything in your power to protect the credit you do want to have or use and do away with unwanted credit. The first way to do this is to cut up unwanted credit cards and return them to the issuer along with a note to close that account. This is the same procedure you should use if you are closing an account you already have.

Kurth notes that with this basic information in mind, you should be able to avoid unscrupulous and illegal scams and protect your credit and privacy. If you need to report any information about a questionable credit card offer, you can call the State Attorney General's Office, your local Consumer Affairs office, and the U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs or the Federal Trade Commission in Washington, D.C.

If you would like more information on choosing or using credit wisely, contact the Education Department of Credit Counseling Centers and request the free brochures, "Choices" and "Decisions." Write to 38505 Country Club Drive, Suite 210, Farmington Hills, MI 48331. For more information about CCC, call 1-800-547-5005.

City marks 47th

It's time to go on a Spree – Spree 47 that is. The Livonia Anniversary Committee Inc. is again presenting Spree in celebration of Livonia's birthday as a city. This year the city marks 47 years. Spree 47 will be held Tuesday, June 24, through Sunday, June 29, at Ford Field, at Farmington Road and Lyndon in Livonia.

Planning for each Spree festival begins as soon as Spree ends, making it a year-round venture, Bill Fried, president of the Livonia Anniversary Committee, said.

"We make sure we don't make the same mistakes again," he said. "We get ideas of things we would like to change."

Fried has seen Spree grow over the years since his involvement began somewhere around Spree 26 or 27 or 28.

Spree draws about 250,000 people, including about 100,000 for the Sunday night fireworks.

This year Spree is featuring about $35,000 worth of fireworks, Fried said.

A $200,000 operation, Spree turns back money to the city and community for projects and purchases.

Not only are many events at Spree free, such as this year's lumberjack shows and the puppet theater, but Spree also funds scholarships and purchases such as picnic tables for city parks. Spree has also paid for a stage for Eddie Edgar Arena, Fried said.

"I'll bet half the picnic tables in Livonia parks are from Spree," Fried said.

This year's festival will offer many of the things that make it popular year after year, including rides, food, games, music and fireworks as well as some new events this year including the lumberjack shows and the return of Bavarian Fest.

The Lions Club used to sponsor a Bavarian Fest years ago, Fried said, but this year it is being sponsored in part by Spree.

The sausage, bratwurst and hot dogs are being donated by Dearborn Sausage, the bread by Laurel Manor bakery, the sauerkraut by Foodland and the entertainment of Marv Herzog by the Livonia Community Credit Union, Fried said.

Spree draws people from Livonia and surrounding cities. "We've tried to keep it a city-type operation," Fried said.

Livonia students are also offered the chance to buy discount bracelets in advance for enjoying rides during many days of Spree. Sales of the bracelets benefit school PTAs, Fried said. "It's been real well-received," he said.

Greetings from the mayor

Mayor Jack Kirksey

Welcome to Spree 47, the city of Livonia's 47th birthday celebration.

Our history actually goes back much farther than 47 years, back to a time when Livonia was a farming community. In fact, Livonia Township was created way back in 1835. In the years since then, things certainly have changed. Fortunately, along the way, we had the good judgment and foresight to protect and preserve a part of our history at Greenmead Historical Village. Greenmead is our community treasure.

A new chapter to Livonia's history began with our incorporation as a city in 1950. In the years since then we have seen unprecedented industrial and residential growth. Yet, even as we approach the year 2000 (our 50th birthday) we still maintain a friendly, hometown atmosphere. Spree is our time to celebrate.

As Livonia has grown, so has Spree. In the '50s and '60s, Livonia was full of large tracts of vacant land. An annual show at the DRC race-track, with a carnival and fireworks, gave local builders the opportunity to showcase their product. In the mid '70s, the idea of an annual festival to celebrate the birthday of the city was adopted by the community at large. Spree was moved to Ford Field at Farmington and Lyndon. Now, every year, we celebrate Livonia's birthday with a carnival, fireworks, good food and a growing list of special attractions for the whole family.

No matter what kind of entertainment you are looking for, you can find it at Spree. There

ARE YOU AT RISK FOR OSTEOPOROSIS?

As many as 40% of 50-year-old women will suffer a bone fracture due to osteoporosis at sometime during their remaining lifetime. Are you at risk?

Osteoporosis and associated fractures can rob you of your mobility and your independence. Osteoporosis is a debilitating disease that can lead to pain, height loss, spine and hip fractures, and a deformed spine. Unfortunately, many women with osteoporosis have no symptoms until a fracture occurs. Early diagnosis of this disease is essential and new treatment options are now available.

Dr. Melody M. MacMartin, Medical Director of the Osteoporosis Detection Center-Livonia Medical has a special interest in the detection and treatment of osteoporosis using a DXA Bone Densitometer. A bone density test is safe, fast, noninvasive, and painless-and it will provide essential information to help your doctor assess the health of your bones.

Dr. MacMartin is board certified in Family Practice and a graduate of Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine. She practices with Dr. Nancy J. Rancour who is also a board certified family practitioner and a graduate of Michigan State University College of Osteopathic Medicine.

Both doctors are committed to the prevention, detection and treatment of osteoporosis. This test is recognized by most major insurance carriers as a covered benefit. There is no need for a physician referral and a copy of the test results will be sent to the physician of your choice. Call (313) 427-3500 for your appointment. Dr. MacMartin and her staff can help you maintain your independence with an evaluation for osteoporosis.

Archie's

FAMILY DINING

Being Remodeled!

Archie's has been owned and operated since 1981 by the Palushaj family, including seven Palushaj brothers. With this kind of family involvement, it is no surprise that Archie's is the most popular and best run restaurant in Livonia! Featuring American, Greek and Italian foods, Archie's has also recently added a class "C" liquor license to its menu of services. We are open 7 days a week, even during our remodeling, with daily lunch and dinner specials. Come and dine in the beautiful ambiance of our lovely atrium and you'll see how we are striving to reach our goal of being Livonia's best restaurant...a restaurant that people love to come back to!

JOE'S PRODUCE: AN IMPORTANT PART OF LIVONIA FOR 50 YEARS

Joe's Produce has been a family run business for three generations. Fifty years ago, Gaspare Maiorana bought a 30-acre parcel of land at Shadyside and 7 Mile roads. The land included an apple orchard, a home for the Maiorana family and a small roadside stand.

Customers at the roadside stand bought apples, as well as other locally-grown products: potatoes, onions and carrots, peaches and pears. Everything was sold by the bushel. Remember, those were the days of root cellars and home canning.

As Gaspare Maiorana grew older, he decided to sell his orchard to developers, but his son Joe, Sr. loved the stand, especially providing friends and neighbors with the best produce available. So, he bought the property on the corner and built a 6,400 square foot store. Proudly, he named it Joe's Produce. Today, after two additions, the store has reached 20,000 square feet.

The original store had roll-up doors, making it possible to open the interior to the outdoors when the weather was favorable. It was a pleasant environment for customers, but the heat and moisture of Michigan summers was not the best environment for the fresh fruits and vegetables, which tended to grow soft very quickly. So, "only the best for our customers," Joe, Sr. closed the sides of the store and installed air conditioning.

The third generation of Maioranas, Joe, Jr. is carrying on the tradition. He also gets up early and goes down to the Eastern Market and Detroit Produce Terminal to personally pick out the freshest and best quality fruits and vegetables available. He has also expanded the selection by providing more of a variety of produce for the store. Joe's Produce has always prided itself on bringing the best quality produce for a reasonable price to our customers.

Joe's Produce is involved in the community both through employment opportunities and charitable ventures. We are able to supply jobs to youth of Livonia, which provides them an outlet for constructive after school activities. We support many of the schools, civic and charitable organizations with various donations throughout the year.

We feel that by contributing to Livonia in its endeavors to assist and improve the community, that we are improving the community as well. A few of the events with which we have been active participants are, Livonia Heart Fund, Livonia Chamber of Commerce Expo, Angela Hospice Fashion Show, and the Madonna University Auction.

We try to encourage our employees to be productive citizens within the community and to patronize local business which will help make our local economy strong.

We feel that by giving back to the community we are thanking them for their many years of support to Joe's Produce, because without them we would not have been able to continue to operate successfully for three generations.

It is our belief that when we give something back to the community, our customers recognize us as partners in their lives and let others know the important role we play in the area-both in business and civic contributions.

Pig race goes to the hogs

Robinson's Racing Pigs are back by popular demand at this year's Spree.

Shows are scheduled daily at Spree: 5 p.m., 5:30 p.m., 9 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Tuesday, 3 p.m., 3:30 p.m., 5 p.m., 5:30 p.m., 9 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday.

The pigs teach themselves to race at their home in Picnic, Fla., southeast of Tampa. They will be competing on a 150-foot oval track for an Oreo cookie. The audience gets involved in each race, with cheerleaders selected to root the participants on to victory. In the Victory Lane the winner gets the whole cookie and the losers get the crumbs.

Newsweek and National Geographic.

Robert and Fred Scheer, founders and performers in Scheer's Lumberjack Show of Champions, have been in the lumberjack entertainment business for more than 15 years.

Their home base is Hayward, Wis., where they host the Lumberjack World Championships every July. This event has been aired in recent years on ESPN and the Nashville Network. The brothers excel in log rolling and speed climbing and hold four world championship titles each.

Both men, and the lumberjacks in their crew, compete actively in lumberjack sports worldwide.

In the mid-1800s, the logging industry was in full swing and the forests of the nation were teaming with hard-working lumberjacks. After a long winter of work, when the spring log drive was finished, hundreds of lumberjacks would gather for competition in chopping, sawing, log rolling, axe throwing and tree climbing.

Puppet theater tells tales

The Royal American Folklore/International Puppetry Touring Theatre will perform each day at Spree.

Legends, folk tales and story theater performed by actors and puppeteers will be at 5:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and 2:30 p.m., 3:30 p.m., 4:30 p.m., 5:30 p.m., 6:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday.

The Royal American Folkart Theatre is home of Professor Ed U. Gator and the Humorous Humanities Touring Theatre. The theater group has performed in schools, libraries, museums, cultural centers and hospitals. The group has performed in the White House, JFK Center, Chicago and Indianapolis Children's Museum, Chicago, Detroit, New Orleans and other schools and libraries.

The Royal American Folkart Theatre is a member of Puppeteers of America and the UNIMA.

The group uses the European style of storytelling and puppetry using techniques that encourage children's participation and imagination.

The culturally diverse stories feature historical folk tales "told with a modern twist to keep the attention and curiosity of today's active children," according to the theater's literature.

Professor and puppet: Professor Ed U. Gator and his puppet perform with the Royal American Folkart Theatre and International Puppet Place Tuesday through Sunday at Spree.

Rides fun for kids, adults

Pugh Shows will provide the midway for the 1997 Livonia Spree.

Some of the adult rides featured are:

- Musik Express, imported from Germany, simulates an out-of-control sleigh ride through the mountains. Thousands of lights flash as a disc jockey plays the current top 40.
- Screamer, an Italian import, which gives an upside-down ride;
- Giant Gondola Wheel, a 100-foot high family ride. Each gondola holds up to eight people allowing the whole family to ride together. It features 6,000 computer controlled lights.
- Bumper cars, crashing and smashing fun;
- Tilt-a-Whirl, the well-loved family favorite;
- Typhoon, made in England, a fast portable ride;
- Starship 2000, a wild ride in a flying saucer;
- Sky wheel, a double ferris wheel;
- Video fun house, rock inside a moving room while watching and listening to music videos;
- Zipper, up, down and all around;
- Hurricane, you've never been "flipped" like this before;

Spin city: Pugh Shows offers a variety of rides and games for kids and adults at Spree.

Keeping history alive: Greenmead helps keep history alive in Livonia. Above is Shaw House built in 1843.

Livonia has long history

The Livonia area was part of the Northwest Territory, which was established under the famous ordinance of 1787.

It was a heavily forested wilderness, and many westward-moving families passed through from the original 13 colonies. First came the adventurers, then missionaries and trappers; finally, the pioneer families who cleared land, built cabins and set about establishing farming communities.

Settlers also began migrating from Detroit — a two-day trip on a horse. Historical accounts indicate that what would eventually become Livonia was sparsely populated by 1800.

There were enough settlers in Livonia in 1827 to establish a township. It was called Bucklin Township, after Justice of the Peace William Bucklin. Two years later, the area was divided into Nankin and Pekin townships.

In 1834, the people north of what is now Joy Road demanded a government of their own, according to Footpaths to Freeways The Story of Livonia by Dominic P. Paris.

As family groups banded together, they created small neighborhood settlements. The earliest recorded include: Newburgh, at Newburgh and Ann Arbor Trail; Elm, at Middlebelt and what is now the railroad; Livonia Center, at Five Mile and Farmington; and Livonia Station at Stark Road between Plymouth and Schoolcraft.

Livonia Township came into existence in 1835. The original Livonia was once a powerful and prosperous nation in Eastern Europe. Later it was conquered and divided between Latvia and Estonia. There is evidence that Livonia, N.Y., was named after the one in Europe, according to Footpaths to Freeways.

When Michigan became a state in 1837, Livonia was an orderly little community. Each village area had its school, post office, church, blacksmith shop and general store.

Private developers attempted to speed up traffic to and from Detroit by building a plank road along the route which is now known as Plymouth Road. This was in 1838. They charged one cent per mile for a horse and rider; one cent per mile for 20 cattle; and one-half cent per mile for 20 sheep.

The toll road did not catch on and as a result most of Livonia's roads remained dirt trails throughout the century.

Livonia flourished as a farming community and took on some unique characteristics of its own.

Cider mills flourished and so did cheese factories.

Livonia during the 1870s boasted the largest apple orchard in Michigan. It was at Seven Mile Road and Haggerty and was owned by John Welsh.

The township's five cheese factories were: in the Elm district; at the Power farm at Newburgh and Eight Mile; the Pierson farm at Seven Mile and Farmington; the Kator farm at Seven Mile east of Levan and at the southbound Smith farm on Six Mile east of Merriman.

Livonia Township's first residential subdivision, Rosedale Gardens, was established in 1925.

Gradually neighborhood communities began to emerge to join Rosedale Gardens. Among those early clusters were Clarenceville, New Detroit, Coventry Gardens, Alden Village and West Point Park.

When the state legislature ruled in 1948 that horse races could no longer be run on state property – and they were then running at the Michigan State Fair Grounds in Detroit – the Detroit Racing Association was formed, and its built its one-mile track in Livonia.

As a city, Livonia would be entitled to a share of parimutuel betting, up to $500,000 annually.

A township, with limited services, would no longer suffice.

In the summer of 1949, a strong movement to incorporate as a home rule city was started. Many people, and groups, had diverse ideas on how to accomplish the transition. Finally, the logical method seemed to be to incorporate the entire 36 square miles.

On Feb. 6, 1950, the residents of the township voted to incorporate the new city of Livonia. The voters also elected a nine-person charter commission to draft a proposed charter.

Spree has roots in builders show

The history of the Livonia Spree is directly linked with the history of the city of Livonia.

Spree has its roots in a builders show that was held each spring at the DRC at Middlebelt and Schoolcraft. Livonia had undergone a major residential building boom during its first 25 years and the builders show with carnival rides and fireworks had become a popular event.

In the early days of the city, most of the city's growth was south of Five Mile and Schoolcraft and Plymouth roads were major thoroughfares of community life.

Livonia incorporated into a city in 1950 and was ready to celebrate its Silver Anniversary as a city in 1975 when the festival at DRC was converted into a communitywide celebration.

By 1975 the builders show at DRC had fallen on hard times because the explosion of new subdivisions by now had slowed considerably. The builders show would have passed on had it not been for the anniversary celebration.

Anniversary planners wanted a community-wide gathering to celebrate the 25th birthday and the festival seemed a perfect vehicle.

The first official city birthday celebration festival became "Spree 25" to mark the city's 25th year. Spree in 1997 is Spree 47 as it has been 22 years since that anniversary festival celebration was held.

In 1975, Spree was moved to Ford Field and staged from June 25-29. City and school officials squared off in a softball contest with opposing pitchers being Mayor Ed McNamara and Superintendent George Garver.

There were 18 rides then, a Bavarian Fest, two bands, helicopter rides, a skydiving exhibition and fireworks.

1 officer, 1 truck started city's police department

By Lt. JOSEPH C. DERSCHA
POLICE COMMUNITY SERVICE BUREAU

In May 1950, the Livonia Police Department's personnel and equipment totaled one patrolman and one pickup truck, both carryovers from township days.

In July 1950, George Harmon, a 27-year veteran with the Detroit Police, was sworn in as Livonia's first police chief.

By the end of 1950, the department expanded to five patrolmen and two radio-equipped police cars. The police department was housed in the old City Hall until June 1951 when it moved to 33145 Five Mile just east of Farmington Road.

By January 1954, the department had expanded to 23 police officers and 10 radio-equipped police cars. In 1962, a new 12,000-square-foot police station was completed at its present site at a cost of $512,254.32. The department staff had expanded to a total of 60 which included 40 police officers.

On Dec. 8, 1987, the city of Livonia held a dedication ceremony on the new 25,000-square-foot addition attached to the existing police station. The cost for the new addition was about $4,200,000. Future plans include a complete renovation of the original police building which was not updated at the time the new addition was built.

In January 1997, the department completed installation on a new communications systems, that included a new dispatch center at an approximate cost of $2 million. The new communications system is a 800 megahertz 5-channel trunk line radio system that services the fire, police and public service departments. In the event of emergencies, all departments can talk to each other on a common channel which was not possible with the old system. The new system has a range about 10 miles beyond the city limits and the ability to penetrate building interiors, which oftentimes could not be done under the old system.

At present, the manpower of the police department includes 163 sworn officers, 25 civilian employees and 70 police reserve officers. The department maintains 34 marked police units with additional specialized vehicles and unmarked police units.

The department Youth Bureau personnel conduct tours of the new building for Scout troops, and other youth groups upon request. In addition to the tours, the department conducts an "Open House" night each year during November.

During the open house night, members of each division of the department are present to display their equipment, vehicles and explain their particular police duties. The open house tour gives the general public the opportunity to meet officers face to face and gain a better understanding of what their police duties entail.

are, of course, our regular family favorites – 46 amusement rides, a classic car show, picnics, concerts and a sand volleyball tournament. The racing pigs are back this year. New attractions include Scheer's Lumberjack Show (with chopping, sawing, log rolling) and performances by the Royal American Folk Art Theater and International Puppet Place.

Of course, we always end Spree with a bang – a spectacular fireworks display. For the first time ever, this year we also will have a daytime fireworks display on Saturday evening with confetti, parachutes and lots of surprises.

Under the leadership of Chairman William C. Fried, the Spree Committee has spent the past year planning the best Spree ever. They certainly deserve our special thanks. Their hard work – and the tremendous efforts of many citizen volunteers – make Spree one of the finest festivals in the state.

Spree is more than just a good time. Since 1979, Spree has helped raise funds for many nonprofit organizations in the community, contributing more than $410,000 for numerous projects and programs – including the annual Spree scholarships. In addition, Spree has provided the opportunity for participating civic organizations to raise thousands of dollars for their respective groups.

To find out more about Spree – or to find out how you can get involved – please call the 24-hour hot line number, (313) 427-8190. Visit our website at www.micon.com.

MONTGOMERY WARD GUARANTEED PRICE PROTECTION
We'll match any store's current advertised price at time of your Montgomery Ward merchandise purchase! If you find a lower advertised price at any other store, within 30 days after purchase, we'll cheerfully refund the difference. Simply bring in the ad and your Montgomery Ward receipt. In Electric Avenue, Auto Express and for other specific items identified in our advertising and/or in our stores, we'll beat our competitor's price by crediting or refunding 110% of the difference—and during special events, for specified items, even greater amounts, up to 150%!
Details: Guarantee of 110% or more refers to our price as compared with a competitor's price, not compared with our own price at a later date. In the Electronics department, the competitor's product must have the same manufacturer's model number as our product. In other areas we will match the price on the same name brand item even if model numbers are different. In the Appliance department, Auto Express, Rooms & More and our Seasonal Shops have comparable model charts of matchable items. Our sales associates in the Appliance department, Auto Express, Rooms & More and our Seasonal Shops have comparable model charts of matchable items. Price matching policy does not apply when an additional Bonus/Free Item is part of our purchase price, to items with special financing programs or to sales of floor samples, one-of-a-kind, damaged or clearance goods, closeouts, limited quantities, special order tires, manufacturer's rebates, services, sales by other than local stocking retailers or merchandise sold in mail order catalogs.

NO PAYMENT 'TIL DECEMBER 1997
FINANCE CHARGES APPLY DURING THE DEFERRED PERIOD.
Offer good through June 28, 1997 on Montgomery Ward retail credit card purchases of $150 or more on all fine jewelry and made-to-measure window fashions. See APR credit details at left.
