Raven building purchased Stampeddler to move inside

By LEE SNIDER
Editor

The venerable church building at Center and Dunlap came perilously close to a date with the wrecking ball, but a Northville couple has granted it an indefinite reprieve.

Northville investors Margene and Bob Buckhave say they've reached a tentative agreement to purchase the structure.

"We anticipate closing on Nov. 25, if everything works out," Margene said.

The building at 145 N. Center has been put to a number of uses over the years. Built around 1885 and used primarily as a church, it has also housed restaurants and, most recently, the Giftiddler music school and Raven folk cafe.

But Margene Buckhave said she plans to bring something new to that end of town.

"We're going to strip it down to the original brick and get rid of that castle look," she said. "We want to make the corner look just gorgeous."

Buckhave, the owner of Stampeddler Plus at 150 Mary Alexander, said the old building will undergo extensive renovation and become home to several service and retail operations. She intends to move her Stampeddler business there and might even set up residence in the historic building along with her family.

A group of former Giftiddler teachers hopes to lease space in the building and resume music instruction there (see related story).

According to Buckhave, several developers had their eye on the old church, and because the structure lacks the protection of official historic status, demolition was a distinct possibility.

Giftiddler owner Tom Rice, who moved into the place last year, reportedly invested $900,000 in capital improvements. But he

School funding affected by bill

State giveth, taketh away

By WENSLEY WHITE
Staff Writer

The Northville Public School District could have hundreds of thousands of extra dollars to work with this year under a bill expected to be passed by the state Legislature.

But the surplus will likely be offset by a countervailing state action.

The bill will reduce the amount of money the district will have to pay out in retirement funds starting in January. But those savings will be offset by a freeze in the amount of per-pupil funding the district will receive from the state.

A provision of the state school aid bill will reduce the district's retirement funding requirement by 3.44 percent. That will result in a savings to the district of $305,000 for the rest of this year, and $740,000 during the 1998-99 school year.

The state is able to authorize the reduction because retirement fund investments are thriving due to the recent stock market boom.

However, the savings must come at a cost.

Tied to the same bill is a provision that would freeze per-pupil funding at its current level through the year 2000. The state now pays Northville a $7,012 per-student foundation grant, which is based on a formula and has increased in recent years by 2.9 percent, the current rate of inflation.

For the next two years, though, the foundation grant will remain constant even though inflation is expected to continue.

"For this year and next year we remain frozen at the current foundation level for each student," Rezmierski said. "We never recapture that."

Rezmierski said the savings in the retirement fund would have been realized anyway, and he doesn't believe the surplus should be tied to the foundation grant.

Graffiti slur sprayed on high school wall

By WENSLEY WHITE
Staff Writer

Northville High School was stained by intolerance last weekend when a vandal scrawled a racial slur across the brick building.

The graffiti phrase, proclaiming that a prominent Northville High student "hates niggas," was spray painted on the school's southern wall sometime overnight Nov. 8-9, according to police.

Northville High Principal Tom Johnson said officials have already painted over the four foot tall lettering.

Though efforts to remove the graffiti weren't completely successful on Sunday, the last vestiges were covered early Monday morning and the majority of students never noticed it, Johnson said.

"We came up Sunday to get it off before the kids would see it," Johnson said. "I think it victimizes the school and it's too bad."

Johnson said the student named on the wall is popular and often eats lunch with one of the few black students attending Northville High.

"He was so upset," Johnson said.

Johnson said school officials are investigating the incident but so far have no leads. Police called to the scene found no discarded spray paint cans in the area. However, they did find additional graffiti

Parade, Walk to bring spirit of season into town

Northville's small-town atmosphere is the perfect setting to enjoy an old-fashioned Christmas, and the Northville Central Business Association is planning some major events to help set the tone for the city.

The CBA's "Miracle on Main Street" parade and the Northville Chamber of Commerce Christmas Walk will feature bands, carolers, floats and animal groups. The parade will continue the elaborate tradition the CBA established last year.

Detroit radio personality Tom Ryan will serve as parade grand marshal. Ryan, a familiar name to metro-area listeners, has worked at several radio stations on both the AM and FM dial. His partnership with radio host Dick Purtan lasted for several years, but since 1981 Ryan has been on his own. He currently enjoys high ratings with the afternoon drive time show on WOMC-FM.

The CBA has formally requested permission to have the streets of the central city closed beginning at 6:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 21. That time is tentative, however, and the city might decide to move the parade start-up time to 6 p.m., the same as last year, according to City Manager Gary Word.

The parade route forms a loop, beginning and ending at the Community Center, 303 W. Main.

Last year's parade was far more extensive than the city had

Northville grad's feature film to premiere

By LEE SNIDER
Editor

She was the valedictorian of her class at Northville High School back in 1980, but today she hopes to become a star in quite a different sphere.

Nancy Joslin, formerly of Northville, has worked hard since the days when she walked the halls of the school on the hill. With the premiere of her first movie, Plan B, she's earned the right to be considered a bona fide Hollywood producer.

wood producer.

"Getting a theatrical release is like the Holy Grail," she said in an interview from her home in the Los Angeles area. "I'm so proud of this project."

Plan B, which features established actor Jon Cryer in the lead role, opens at the United Artists' cinema house at Oakland Mall tomorrow, Nov. 14. It's a story about the importance of having a fall-back plan, just in case your original dream goes belly up.

In a way, the storyline reflects the main thread of Joslin's own life.

"I started out working as a department manager for the May Co. of St. Louis," she said. "Coming from the Midwest, I took the conservative approach. But I always wanted to pursue film and TV."

Joslin earned her business degree from U-M in 1984, but, after realizing her true calling, headed back to Ann Arbor to enroll in a gradu-

Amerman students rendezvous at space 'mission'

By WENSLEY WHITE
Staff Writer

Amerman Elementary students launched Gov. John Engler out of this world in a spacecraft simulation at the National Governor's Conference on Quality in Education at the Dearborn Hyatt Regency Nov. 9 and 10.

During "Mission ABC" students decked out in space suits made a mock journey into space. The astronauts planted a flag in the Hyatt gardens and explored the flora and fauna of the area as if it were on a distant planet. Through video cameras, microphones and monitors their journey was guided by their classmates from the hotel lobby's mock mission control.

The students were trained for the voyage by their science and math teachers at Amerman, and by Northville resident Tandi Baglan. Baglan is an ex-NASA trainer who's married to a retired astronaut.

The Mission ABC project was originally performed in the internal courtyard at Amerman last year when 54 fourth and fifth graders worked in shifts to execute a simulated 40 hour space flight.

Astronaut Courtney Bzymek, now a sixth grader, was part of the original project and was called back to perform at the governor's

Series to discuss American artists

The Northville Arts Commission has announced the dates of its 1998 Michael Farrell Art Lecture Series.

The lectures are to be held on Jan. 21, Feb. 11, and March 11. Entitled "Three Masters of American Painting," the discussions will focus on the works of Winslow Homer, Albert Bierstadt and Georgia O'Keefe.

The first lecture on Jan. 21 features Winslow Homer, who emerged from the horrors of the Civil War working as an illustrator for Harper's to become what some historians have called "the most American painter of the 19th century." His pictures often depict scenes of everyday life and New England landscapes.

Albert Bierstadt will be presented on Feb. 11. Though European born and trained, Bierstadt discovered the grandeur of the American West and for the first time exhibited for European and eastern American audiences landscapes as magnificent as the Alps.

The final lecture on March 11 will feature Georgia O'Keefe. At a time when women found it difficult to be accepted as serious artists, O'Keefe emerged as a singular, if not controversial, painter who combined modernism with the landscape of the Southwest to create a uniquely American vision.

Michael Farrell is an associate professor of art history at the University of Windsor, adjunct curator at the Detroit Institute of Arts and an instructor at the Art House of Detroit. He is a well-recognized art authority in our area.

All lectures will be held in the Forum at Northville High School at 7:30 p.m. Season tickets are $25 ($9 each at the door).

For further information, call (248) 449-9945.

Police News

Teacher's aide resigns after episode

A teacher's assistant at Amerman Elementary school was found semiconscious inside her vehicle in the driveway of her Northville Township home Oct. 23, according to police reports. The lunchroom aide had been sent home from Amerman after reporting to work visibly intoxicated that day, school officials said.

Police said an Amerman employee later asked them to check on the woman after she failed to answer follow-up phone calls. Police said she had taken a mixture of vodka and sleeping pills and was transported to St. Mary Hospital.

She submitted a letter of resignation from her part-time position at Amerman the next day and is no longer working at the school. School officials said it was an isolated incident.

KNIFE THREATS: Three Northville High School students have a date in juvenile court after they allegedly threatened each other with knives in a classroom. A confrontation in first-hour auto shop Monday, Oct. 29, resulted in two of the youths pulling blades out of their pockets, police said.

According to police reports, the conflict began when one student sat down at a table where he wasn't assigned. Two other students at the table told him to leave, at the same time taking turns handling an open folding knife, witnesses told police.

He refused to leave the table and said he had a bigger knife which he proceeded to show them, witnesses said.

Both of the blades were over 3 inches long, according to police.

Although all three students admitted to handling the knives in class, they denied using them to threaten each other.

Northville High Assistant Principal David Maile said the students have been suspended for an indefinite length of time. According to state and federal laws any punishment will be determined by a district officer in hearings set for this week and the next.

"This is a very, very serious violation of the student code of conduct," Maile said.

CRUISIN' CRIME: A 15-year-old Northville youth was cited for driving without a license Nov. 8, according to police. The Northville High student was stopped by police for turning left on a red light. When the officer asked for his license the teen admitted he didn't yet have one and provided police with his Michigan driver's permit.

Police said he admitted to taking his parent's mini-van without permission after they left him in charge of his 12-year-old brother.

He was arrested and the car was impounded until his parents were reached. He was cited for a juvenile traffic misdemeanor and will appear in court.

HUBCAP GRAB: A diner left Papa Vito's in Northville last week to find the wheel covers stolen from his 1990 Cadillac Fleetwood. Both driver's side hubcaps were gone from the vehicle, police said. No suspects or evidence could be obtained from the scene.

According to police, the stolen property was worth $220.

CELL PHONE SNATCH: An Ameritech cell phone valued at $150 disappeared from a rental car at McDonald Ford in Northville.

A 50-year-old woman who rented the car told police she forgot to remove the phone from the glove box when she returned it to the lot.

When she noticed the phone was missing and went to retrieve it, employees told her they were unable to find it, according to police.

DAMAGE DONE: A Northville couple who reported experiencing almost $3,000 worth of damage to their car last week told police they had a pretty good idea of who may have committed the act of vandalism.

Their Volkswagen Golf was parked in front of their house on Old Bridge Court when all four tires, the right door and the rear bumper and hatch were damaged, police said.

The vehicle's owner said he was outside working on the car the preceding evening when several youths approached and asked if they could help. The boys persisted and after asking for a fourth time an argument started between them, according to police.

The man told police he believed they were interested in some audio equipment in the back of the car, which he then removed and took into the house.

He said he believes one of the youths lives in Swan Harbour.

DRUNK AND WANTED: Two Northville men were arrested for different offenses after driving through Northville Township. While the driver was charged with operating under the influence of liquor, the passenger was picked up on a warrant for expired plates, police said.

The pair was pulled over Oct. 31 after their car was clocked doing 46 mph on residential Silver Springs Drive, police said.

According to police the driver, 29, smelled of alcohol, his words were slurred and his eyes were red and glassy.

Police said after the driver failed a series of sobriety tests he was given a breathalyzer and registered .21.

He was arrested and charged with drunk driving, police said.

The passenger of the car was also booked after police found there was a warrant issued by the Northville Township police for his arrest because he was caught driving with expired plates.

If you have any information on any of these incidents, please call Northville police at 3490-1234 or Northville Township police at 349-9400.

Dog put to sleep following complaints

By WENDY PIERMAN MITZEL
Staff Writer

James Zayti believes he got a bad deal after he brought home four puppies from a friend's farm.

The Novi resident said complaints about wild dogs attacking pigs, ducks and geese in and around his home at Eight Mile and Beck roads led to one of the dogs being unfairly put down and the rest being given away to the Humane Society.

"There's too many people who thought it was all my dogs," Zayti said. "In my heart, I know it wasn't."

Several farm animals, pet pigs and even a deer were recently killed by what were believed to be wild dogs. But with the presence of coyotes in the area, there was speculation that they, instead, were doing the damage.

Zayti said he's never seen a coyote in the vicinity, but knows his dogs weren't the culprits in the attacks.

"The DNR came in and said they killed ducks and geese," Zayti said. "If they did, they did. I don't know if my dogs would do this."

"These dogs weren't violent. They wouldn't touch anybody."

Sandra Gay, an official with Oakland County Animal Control, said there was no major action taken against Zayti in an August incident where a Novi woman's pet pigs were killed.

"We had a lot of accusations, but no proof," she said. "No one saw any dogs kill the pigs."

Zayti was ticketed for having no licenses for the dogs, she said.

Zayti admits he was ticketed, but said his dogs were puppies and not eligible for licenses.

The tickets were not the end of the story for Zayti.

According to Northville Township police, one of the dogs was put down after Zayti was charged and convicted of harboring a vicious animal after a biker reported it chased him down the road.

Zayti said he then gave the three remaining puppies to the Humane Society.

He's not without pets, though. He said his two older dogs will remain with him and will continue to have free reign on his property.

Zayti disagrees with Oakland County rules that prohibit dogs roaming at large.

"I've done it all my life and I'm going to continue to do it," he said.

Northville Township Detective Fred Yankee said there haven't been any more problems with Zayti's dogs, but there are other dogs in the area which could be causing the recent problems.

A spokesperson at Maybury State Park said she witnessed a wild dog attacking a farm animal one day about a month ago.

SADD presentation is no monkey business

By WENDY WHITE
Staff Writer

A capuchin monkey romped through Northville High School's academic forum in a diaper during an after-school Students Against Drunk Driving meeting last month.

Adam the monkey was representing a unique program that trains animals to become helpers for the disabled. He was brought to Northville High by Jerry and Dee Webster, a Redford couple who plan to raise him until he's old enough to begin his training with "Helping Hands."

Through the Helping Hands program, Adam will learn to act as the hands and legs of a quadriplegic, assisting with simple daily tasks. Adam will be trained to pick things up, brush teeth and hair and even retrieve food and drinks from the refrigerator.

Sacha Baker, a Northville High SADD chapter chairperson, arranged Adam's visit to the school. She met Adam when the Websters brought him over to the home of a mutual friend.

"He came to visit us over the summer and I played with him and he sat on my head," Baker said.

Because most people become quadriplegic in their late teens and early 20s, and some experience their injuries in drunk driving accidents, Baker thought the Northville High SADD chapter would be interested in the program.

"I thought it would bring a lot of kids to the meeting. That was our goal, and it worked," she said. "That was the biggest meeting I've ever seen in my life."

Well over 150 students gathered in the Forum to hear Adam's "foster parents" describe what it's like "These monkeys that we help raise will live up to 40 years. That's often as long as the quadriplegic."

-Jerry Webster

to raise a monkey and to witness Adam's non-stop antics.

Weighing in at seven pounds and standing at a height of nine inches, 4 1/2 year old Adam kept the students in stitches as he jumped between every piece of furniture in the room, and made himself comfortable sitting on Dee's head.

He won't be mature enough for training until he's around 7 years old. Until then, he'll remain part of the Websters' family.

"It's not like a pet, it's like a baby," Dee said.

And though the couple has to wash the floors in their home constantly and paint the walls every two weeks to cover up Adam's sticky messes, they insist it's worth it.

"These monkeys that we help raise will live up to 40 years. That's often as long as the quadriplegic," Jerry said.

Helping Hands was started in 1979 by Dr. M.J. Willard, a behavioral psychologist who was assisting a paralyzed individual at the same time she was studying with B.F. Skinner, a pioneer in behavioral science.

"It just occurred to me that an animal with hands could be trained to do these simple things," Willard said in a video shown to the Northville High students.

Thus began Helping Hands, which now places about 10 monkeys a year. Over 130 more monkeys are currently being raised for the program in volunteer homes.

It takes three, 45-minute sessions for mature monkeys to learn a new task. After six months, the monkeys know a battery of everyday skills that include playing video and cassette tapes, answering speaker phones and turning lights on and off. They are directed with an English vocabulary and are rewarded for each successful job with a treat like vegetables or shredded wheat.

Capuchin monkeys, the kind used by organ grinders, are the favored species for the program because they are friendly and quick learners. They are also small, remaining under nine pounds.

According to Helping Hands, the monkeys give quadriplegics companionship and a measure of independence. But the organization estimates that only about 10 percent of the 117,000 quadriplegics in the country are eligible for the program based on their injuries and living situations.

The quadriplegic who receives Adam will have to be a real animal lover with a supportive caretaker.

Dee Webster said it will be hard to give up the mischievous monkey they've had in their home for years.

"I know when they take him back I'm going to cry," she said. "But they promised me they won't take Adam away until they get me another baby."

Their visit to the SADD meeting was a success, according to Baker.

Dee Webster, along with her husband, Jerry, brought their "Helping Hands" monkey, Adam, to an assembly of Students Against Drunk Driving at Northville High School. Adam is shown here perched atop Dee's head as she addresses the SADD gathering.

The Websters came to speak at the high school and at Amerman Elementary free of charge, but the Northville High SADD chapter donated $100 to Helping Hands. That donation will be honored with a brick in their name, placed in the pathway leading to the entrance of the organization's monkey breeding headquarters in Boston. The brick says: "Northville High SADD, Northville, MI 1997."

"Now when anyone goes into the building and walks up the walkway they'll see our brick," Baker said.

Council members take oaths

Northville City Council members were sworn in for fresh terms at a meeting on Monday.

Mayor Chris Johnson was given the oath of office, assuming the mayorship for a sixth consecutive two-year term. New members of council, John Hardin and Kevin Hartshorne, were also sworn in. Council members are elected for four-year terms.

Johnson defeated Chuck Keys in the city election Nov. 4, and Hardin and Hartshorne edged out incumbent Mark Cryderman for two openings on the city's governing body.

Incumbent members of council Carolann Ayers and Tom Swigart were not up for reelection this year.

Following the swearing in, performed by 35th District Court Judge John MacDonald, Ayers was reelected as mayor pro tem.

Republican club to hold meeting

The monthly meeting of the Suburban Republican Women's Club will be held at Bobby's Country House in Livonia at 11 a.m. Thursday, Nov. 20. All are welcome.

The speaker will be Congressman Joe Knollenberg. A holiday demonstration by Elegant Accents will also be featured. A charge of $11 includes lunch. For reservations, call (248) 474-3088 by Monday, Nov. 17.

Knollenberg represents Oakland County Northville in the U.S. House of Representatives.

SHOCK TREATMENT

If all four of a car's shock absorbers have been in service for many miles and one shock goes bad, it is recommended that all four shocks be replaced in the belief that the others are also soon doomed to failure. Original equipment shocks are, of course, suitable replacements, but a switch to heavy-duty replacement shocks will result in a firmer ride and longer life in older automobiles. An upgrade to gas or air shocks will help compensate for a sagging suspension. However, if one corner of the car sags severely, a car owner will likely have to look beyond shocks to spring replacement, along with replacement of the companion spring on the other side. As with shocks, springs should be replaced in pairs. And, those who frequently carry heavy loads in their cars, trucks, or vans may find that self-leveling shocks will work best for heavy loads.

Your vehicle needs routine maintenance in order to run smoothly. Save yourself time, money and aggravation by bringing your vehicle to MARTY FELDMAN CHEVROLET at 42355 Grand River, Novi. HINT: When a load lowers suspension height, self-leveling shocks convert the vehicle's bouncing motion into a lifting force. This type of shock also automatically and independently compensates if one side sags lower than the other.

Northville lawyer appointed to state environmental post

By WENDY WHITE
Staff Writer

An attorney from a Northville law firm will be influencing state policy on environmental issues in his new position as chairperson of the State Bar of Michigan's Natural Resources and Wetlands Committee.

Paul Bohn of the firm Fausone, Taylor & Bohn was appointed to the position last week after serving as a member and co-chair of the committee since 1989.

State Bar of Michigan spokesperson Walter Sorg said the appointment attests to Bohn's commitment.

"It's a recognition by his peers that this is one of the top professionals in the field. Someone seasoned with a lot of experience. It's quite an honor," Sorg said.

Bohn's partner Jim Fausone agreed.

"It certainly puts him in a leadership role in the State Bar of Michigan's environmental law section as it relates to the development of wetlands regulation and interpretation," Fausone commented.

Bohn, 36, will preside over the 40-member committee that meets several times each year to discuss environmental law and present educational programs to other attorneys and real estate developers.

Together the committee members examine environmental policy issues facing the state. They also have the ability to take positions on legislation. The committee can oppose, support or urge amendments, which is something the full state bar cannot do.

Committee members also draft submissions to the Michigan

Environmental Law Journal.

Bohn's most recent submission to the quarterly publication dealt with "Wetlands Banking," one of the latest issues to impact development throughout Michigan.

"When you do impact wetlands, present regulation states that you recreate wetlands on the site," Bohn explained. But under the Wetlands Banking procedure, developers can create wetlands in other places.

That legislation, along with the Land Division Act, helps to concentrate and preserve large wetlands areas.

The Land Division Act was passed in March of 1997 to redraw the way subdivisions are developed on large parcels of land, leaving consolidated "greenspace" intact, according to Bohn.

"There's a strong body of scientific evidence that says large bodies of wetlands can provide more environmental benefits than patchy wetlands," he said, adding that incorporating nature into neighborhoods often increases the value of homes.

"In residential developments, people are realizing that wetlands, ponds and trees have aesthetic as well as economic value."

Many of the committee's environmental discussion topics have local implications, according to Bohn.

"There's a real strong effort to redevelop property in Wayne County," Bohn said. "And Northville has a lot of wetlands issues to deal with."

Bohn said since much of Northville's desirable land has been developed, people are now looking to purchase previously undesirable parcels, often classified as wetlands.

Developers must understand recent changes to the law which determine how wetlands must be handled.

That's where Bohn comes in.

"If they can come to us at the beginning of a project we can work with them to understand their business goals and plan accordingly, instead of trying to fix problems later," Bohn said.

"You try to come up with creative solutions for people dealing with regulated property. You work with them and the environmental agencies to minimize environmental impact but also keep in mind individual property rights, which is something the agencies can forget."

Bohn said half of his firm's cases center on environmental and real estate issues. Although they're a full service practice, the partners all have a core background in environmental law.

Bohn grew up in Ann Arbor and got his undergraduate degree at the University of Michigan's School of Natural Resources.

Police warn of car-deer accidents in wooded areas

By WENDY PIERMAN MITZEL
Staff Writer

Last month, a disoriented deer ran through the Novi Town Center and West Oaks Mall, slamming into glass windows before locating a wooded area nearby and scrambling for cover.

But most of the time, it's on or alongside the road where deer are often spotted. And it's those that cause up to 60 car-deer crashes a year in Novi and approximately 30 in Northville Township.

"Most people don't realize that," said Novi Police Lt. Tim McNamara. "And it's just about time to have them come out."

Because of construction throughout the communities, deer are being displaced and becoming more visible in Novi and Northville. A population increase in deer statewide also contributes to the problem.

McNamara said police officers on midnight patrol can attest to that. Deer are spotted anywhere from Ten Mile and Haggerty roads to the western edge of the city.

In Northville Township, police report the areas of Five Mile and Sheldon, Seven Mile and Haggerty, Seven Mile and Pierson, Seven Mile and Napier, Seven Mile and Beck, Six Mile and Sheldon, Six Mile and Beck and Eight Mile and Beck as the most common locations for 28 car-deer accidents so far this year.

It's nighttime, when the nocturnal animals graze the area, that drivers especially need to be concerned about.

"Oftentimes people will ask me what they can do to avoid a deer-vehicle crash," Novi Police Sgt. Terry Whitfield said. "Stay aware, awake, alert and sober, and wear your seatbelts."

Deer move in herds, so if you see one, there's probably others nearby, McNamara added. If you see one, he explained, slow down and move through the area slowly. And continue to be cautious of traffic around you.

Police estimate 68,000 deer were hit by motorists in Michigan last year, and more than half the state's deer-vehicle crashes occurred in southern Michigan, near cities and on main highways with heavy traffic.

Whitfield advised paying special attention in areas where deer crossing signs are posted.

Because deer are unpredictable when faced with headlights, blowing horns and fast moving vehicles, it is important to heed the speed limits, he said.

The average car-deer crash results in $1,600 worth of damage, most of the time to the entire front end of the car. Deer can weigh 200 to 300 pounds and move at speeds of 40 mph.

According to police, if you do hit a deer, report it immediately to police. Police or the Michigan Department of Natural Resources can issue permits so motorists can keep the deer as compensation.

EXPLORE ANCIENT EGYPTIAN TOMBS WITHOUT ALL THOSE UNPLEASANT CURSES.

Nothing ruins the majesty of an ancient Egyptian tomb faster than an annoying death curse left behind by some vengeful pharaoh. Fortunately, that's about the only bit of ancient Egypt you won't experience firsthand at the Splendors of Ancient Egypt exhibit. As the sole Midwest site for this collection, the Detroit Institute of Arts is the only place you'll be able to discover ancient Egyptian artifacts that span over 4,000 years. Including many wall carvings, mummy cases, jewelry and statues. So don't miss this once in a lifetime exhibit. Otherwise, you'll be the one doing the cursing. The Detroit Institute of Arts is located at 5200 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48202. For ticket information, call the DIA at 313-533-1000. Or Ticketmaster at 214-615-6000. Hours: Wednesdays through Fridays, 11 am to 4 pm; weekends, 11 am to 5 pm. The museum is closed Mondays and Tuesdays.

Hazardous waste transport bill splits parties in state Legislature

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Michigan will be safer during the transporting of hazardous wastes, according to Republican Sen. Loren Bennett.

There will be "fewer inspections of trucks hauling hazardous waste," replies Democrat Ken DeBeaussiaert.

Senate Republicans needed nearly a party line vote Oct. 29 as they passed four bills to "align Michigan with a federal uniform hazardous waste transporters licensing system," said Bennett, R-Canton, chairs of the Natural Resources Committee that produced the bills.

"The benefits of a uniform system are numerous: consistent state-to-state policy for inspections, audits and licensing fees on vehicles transporting hazardous wastes," he said.

Without the state bills, he said, Michigan would forfeit $13 million in regulatory fees to the federal government.

Countered DeBeaussiaert, of Macomb County: "We now inspect only one out of every five vehicles. It's simply not safe to reduce inspections any further."

Permit fees will be reduced from $250 to $50 for hauling hazardous waste and lead to a $4 million funding shortfall in the state's hazardous waste management program, he said.

The bills passed on 22-14 votes. Favoring them were all 21 Republicans and Democrat Chris Dingell of Trenton. Voting no were 14 Democrats, with one Democrat absent.

Sen. Gary Peters, D-Bloomfield Township, said the bills "undermine very good environmental protection."

This package of bills continues the slippery slope that we've gone on of dismantling environmental protection in the state."

Citing data from the University of Michigan Transportation Research Institute, Peters said accidents involving trucks spilling hazardous materials numbered 98 in 1986, 116 in 1994 and 90 in 1995.

"We need more enforcement, not less," Peters said.

Sen. Alma Wheeler Smith, D-Salem, said, "We are creating a $4 million hole in the operation of this program."

The tie-barred bills, all sponsored by Bennett, are:

- SB 554 creating the Hazardous Materials Transportation Act - provides for registration of motor carriers of hazardous waste or liquid industrial waste. Enforcement is by the Michigan State Police and state Department of Environmental Quality and Natural Resources.

- SB 729 amending the Hazardous Waste Management Act to deal with motor carriers. It will reduce state revenue by $1.5 million.

- SB 730 amending the liquid industrial waste section of the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Act, reducing state revenue by $75,000.

- SB 731 amending the Revised Judicature Act to allow seizure and forfeiture of property involved in hazardous wastes.

"Michigan has demonstrated the ability to run more efficient and effective regulatory programs than the federal government," DEQ director Russ Harding said.

The bills go to the House.

Refer to the bills by number when writing to your state representative, State Capitol, Lansing 48909.

Trademark conflict forces owners to change name of restaurant

What's in a name?

Romeo's last name might not have meant squat to Juliet, but when it comes to trademarks a moniker signifies more than just sound and fury.

At least that's what the owners of the Stir Crazy restaurant found out soon after opening in September.

The eatery, located at 144 Mary Alexander in Northville, had to change its name recently after receiving a lawsuit threat from a Chicago-based business of the same name.

The Northville restaurant is now known as Sizzling Sticks.

check on the "Stir Crazy" name before officially approving its use, but the search couldn't cover everything. Then, shortly after incorporating, the owners were notified of the trademark infringement.

"They said they were going to open a restaurant in this area,"

Beale said of the other Stir Crazy. "They gave us 30 days. We'll have to spend over $12,000 on new signs."

Beale said the name change is already in effect, but the main sign at the restaurant won't get installed until about mid-December.

In the meantime, Beale hopes to spread the word that it's business as usual at his place.

"Nothing's changed - we've got the same owners and the same menu."

Sizzling Sticks features create-your-own Mongolian-style stir fry.

School District Briefs

ONE STEP CLOSER:

The contract for Northville's new high school was approved at the Northville Board of Education's Nov. 10 meeting. The architectural firm of Fanning/Howey and Associates will break ground on the project next spring. Under the contract, the 350,000 square foot building will cost around $49 million dollars. It's set to be open for classes in the fall of the year 2000.

BUT NO BALCONY:

Plans for the new high school originally called for a 1,200 seat theater with a balcony but after careful review the High School Design Team recommended the balcony be scratched.

Although that means a loss of 200 seats, it also means a savings of almost $1 million.

The team came to the decision under the recommendation of Mike Rumbell, instrumental music director at Northville High, and vocal music director Mary Kay Pryce. The two toured a theater at another high school designed by Fanning and Howey and reported that they had no reservations about recommending a similar 1,000 seat theater to the Design Team.

The board of education approved the recommendation Nov. 10.

SUIT SERVED:

Northville school officials confirmed they've been served with a lawsuit filed on behalf of local parents Robin and Carl Zaas. The $8.8 million suit charges the district with 11 counts. Among them are allegations that Amerman Principal Stephen Anderson and other administrators allowed Stephanie Zaas, 8, to be physically abused by her classmates without intervention.

Zaas attorney Pam Beeghly said she has no comment on the case and said she hasn't heard from attorneys representing the district yet. She has requested a jury trial for her clients.

YOUTH ASSISTANTS:

Seventeen volunteers completed Northville Youth Assistance training last week, according to NYA director Mary Ellen King.

NYA is a peer mentoring program that trains volunteers to become role models, providing support and a listening ear to local teenagers in need.

All of the volunteers were very appreciative to have had the opportunity to participate in the training and they are anxious to be matched with kids.

GIFT OF GAS:

Refuel at the Mobil station at Eight Mile and Taft on Tuesdays and 1 percent of what you spend on gas will go to Amerman Elementary school.

CABLECAST:

The Nov. 10 meeting of the Northville Board of Education will be broadcast on MediaOne Cable channel 18 from 6 to 9 p.m. Nov. 14 and 21.

The first meeting of every month is taped by Advocates for Quality Education and aired the following two consecutive Friday evenings.

NEW RECRUITS:

Two new teachers have been hired by the district.

Erin O'Leary will teach social studies at Northville High. She received her bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan in 1996 and completed her student teaching at Garden City High School.

Jennifer Beagan will teach at Amerman Elementary School. She received her bachelor's degree from Adrian College in 1990 and has since served as the assistant principal at St. Paul's Lutheran School in Northville.

conference. "We showed (Engler) how to work everything," Courtney said. "He asked us what we remembered most about the mission and I said the rain."

But Bzymek said last year's rain actually had some advantages.

"It made us more eager to finish the experiments, so we worked together faster and cooperated more," she said.

Cooperation is a key element of the project and while the three astronauts explored outside the hotel, students inside were busy taking wind and temperature readings, making cell cultures of the native fauna and charting all the data for the teachers and state school board officials attending the conference.

Information Specialist Kyle Van Hemert analyzed plant specimens under a microscope. The view from inside the lens was projected onto a video monitor allowing the fifth grader to eagerly demonstrate his findings.

"The first time I did this I had no one here listening except my mom and that doesn't count," Kyle said. "But since then I've had five people in the last 15 minutes."

I don't know if I'd like to go way out in space but I think it would be fun to be without gravity."

-H.B. Zeff
Mission controller

Meanwhile, fellow mission controller H.B. Zeff surfed the Internet finding facts on the density, atmosphere and distance of objects in space.

"I'm finding out about planets," H.B. said. But, when asked if he would consider being an astronaut, he hesitated.

"I'd have to think about it. I don't know if I'd like to go way out in space but I think it would be fun to be without gravity," he said.

The students were engaged in the fun of combining technology, science and role playing.

"It's a much more exciting way to teach, and more effective," Kathleen Straus of the State Board of Education said about the project. "The kids are having a ball, which is the best way for them to learn."

"Information specialist" and Amerman Elementary School student Kyle Van Hemert tells a visitor to the school's Planet ABC launch site what he's finding out about various plant species, found by the mission's astronauts (seen on monitor).

ing the technology involved in Mission ABC, teachers Janice Henderson and Wendy LaValle were awarded a $5,000 grant from Ameritech.

LaValle said that money will most likely be invested in science probes, which are hand held computers that test Ph, temperature and motion, among other things.

The probes will be used as Mission ABC moves into the 20th century.

"That will give them more quantifiable data. That's a real goal," LaValle said.

Post offers student grants

Northville American Legion Post 147 is currently accepting scholarship applications from sons and daughters of veterans who will be attending college next year.

Recipient selection will be based on the student's academic standing, financial need, proof of parent's military service, and student goals and intentions.

There are two different scholarships that can be applied for, each offering awards of $500.

Applications for scholarships are available from local high school counselors, or an application package can be obtained at Post 147, 100 W. Dunlap in Northville.

All completed applications, along with supporting documents, must be returned to American Legion Post 147 no later than Feb. 1, 1998, to be considered.

Further information regarding the scholarships can be obtained by calling the Post 147 adjutant at (248) 349-1060 or (313) 455-5541.

Measure to impact revenue picture

"I'm not forecasting that we're in economic trouble this year or next year but I'm concerned about the years beyond that when we're not sure what our finances will be."

Rezmierski said it's hard to focus very far into the future when administrators aren't even sure about this year's budget.

Because the state's fiscal year starts Oct. 1, the amount of revenue the state will contribute to each school district isn't known until well into the academic year. But school officials must approve their budget by June 30 in order to meet their July 1 fiscal year start-up date.

"There hasn't been one year that we've had our budget locked down then," Rezmierski said. "I daresay I doubt major businesses would be run this way."

Helping to minimize the impact of the per-pupil freeze will be a windfall of revenue the district has waited 17 years to collect.

Payment in the so-called Durant case is expected to be finalized this Friday, Nov. 14, and the state of Michigan is expected to pay the $3.8 million it owes Northville in one lump sum on April 15, 1998, Rezmierski said.

According to a state mandate, the district must decide within 90 days after receiving the payment how the money will be spent.

In the Durant case, 84 school districts sued the state to reclaim money for special education, bilingual education and driver training programs which the state mandated but failed to fund.

"What's pending is the final signature by the governor," Rezmierski said.

"There are no plans yet as to what the money will fund, but we can anticipate discussing it at a board meeting in May."

Jealousy cited as being behind school incident

Slur painted on outside wall

fit, including profanity in more than one space in the parking lot. Johnson said the vandals also sprayed a student's car that was parked there at the time.

Police have turned the investigation over to the school, according to Chief Rod Cannon. Cannon said if the vandals are caught they may face misdemeanor charges for malicious destruction of property. Racial intimidation charges would probably not apply because no one was threatened, police said.

The leader of a local group that aims to promote diversity in Northville said the graffiti should not be considered racial in nature. "We feel that it's not racially motivated in any way. It's some type of foolish prank, though it's not very funny," said Al Qualman, chairman of A Community Organization Recognizing Diversity (ACORD).

Qualman said that the 70-member community group sometimes holds special meetings in reaction to incidents, but there are no immediate plans to discuss the graffiti. He said the group wants to avoid stirring up controversy over something that was probably done out of jealousy of a student and his "associations."

But ACORD member Wendy Washington expressed dismay over the offensive use of the "n-word."

"Some people don't understand just how hurtful that word is," Washington said. "It saddens me that this can happen in this day and age and that there's so much apathy for these incidents."

District lacks real diversity

By WENDSY WHITE
Staff Writer

The Northville Public School District is not exactly a study in diversity, according to statistics published recently by the superintendent's office.

Of the 4,745 students counted in Northville's eight standard education buildings during this year's Oct. 27 head count, 93 percent are white.

The largest minority group in the school system is "Asian or Pacific Islanders." Numbering 250 students, they make up some 5 percent of Northville's student body.

The 45 Hispanics enrolled in the district account for approximately 1 percent of the student population.

African Americans (classified as blacks not of Hispanic origin) make up almost 0.9 percent of students, and number just 37.

"By most standards we're a very homogeneous district," Assistant Superintendent Bob Sornson said. "Compared to most communities we don't have a large population of any ethnic group."

However, Sornson said the minority population is growing incrementally, as evidenced by enrollment in the school district's English as a second language programs.

Twenty-three students are currently taking the ESL class offered at the high school, and administrators say they are planning to start a second ESL class this year to better accommodate those students.

Former Gitfiddler crew will still teach

By LEE SNIDER
Editor

The now-defunct Gitfiddler provided lessons for several generations of local music-makers and a group of teachers wants it to stay that way.

Laurie Jarski and other instructors who used to teach at the Gitfiddler are determined to continue the tradition established by the music store, which folded in September after 24 years of operation.

Jarski said she and the others couldn't bear to lose the clientele they worked so hard, so long to cultivate.

"I took the initiative to get things going, but it's going to be more of a cooperative between the teachers," Jarski said of the reconstituted faculty.

"The teachers will help build the program. They are vested in what we've been doing."

Jarski is the niece of former Gitfiddler owner Tom Rice and the daughter of the late Donna Jarski. Donna's death of Huntington's disease prompted Rice to start the Northville Folk & Bluegrass Festival, an annual outdoor concert that raised funds for Huntington's disease research.

The festival ran for 20 years. The last one took place in July of this year.

Jarski said the teachers' group currently gives lessons out of space they're leasing from a church in Livonia and goes under the name the "Northville Center for Music and Art."

If everything goes according to plan, the Center will be back in Northville before the end of the month, operating out of the former Gitfiddler building at 145 N. Center. Investors Margene and Bob Buckhave announced plans to buy the property and lease the space to commercial retailers and services.

Jarski said the Northville Center for Music and Art will continue offering a full range of music instruction, teaching strings, percussion, brass and voice in all styles.

Jarski, who holds a masters degree from Western Michigan University and has worked extensively with the Battle Creek Symphony, promises the Northville Center will meet the community's need for fine arts instruction.

"People can expect the same kind of service (as the Gitfiddler), if not better," she insists.

The Gitfiddler's music school was the most successful aspect of its operation, boasting over 800 students at its peak.

Jarski foresees the Northville Center offering courses in art and helping to organize youth ensembles at some point in the future.

admitted most of that money was used just to bring the building up to code.

"It needs a lot more work," Buckhave added.

Margene and Bob Buckhave raised eyebrows recently with their proposal to construct a multi-level structure on Hutton near Ford Field. Retail shops, condo-style homes and underground parking were among the plan's features.

But with this new project on the horizon, the Hutton Street proposal has been mothballed, at least for the time being.

"It's scrapped for now. It's on the back burner," Margene said.

Though now into real estate investing, Margene's main business is Stampeddlr Plus, which makes rubber stamps, specialty paper, photo albums and stickers. The shop recently began its 16th year of operation and offers classes to its customers.

Student enrollment at Stampeddlr has grown over the years and the Mary Alexander address is no longer sufficient to meet the increased need. Classrooms above Morrison's Antiques, 105 E. Main, are now being used.

Margene anticipates using the entire first-floor of the former church for Stampeddlr-related activities.

"This is an immediate solution for me to get new space," she said.

The Center Street building measures approximately 12,000 square feet inside. It has three floors, the lower two situated at slightly different elevations.

September 1997. He was purchasing the property from deed-holder Irwin Tonch under land contract. When the Gitfiddler folded earlier this year, the title reverted to Tonch, who owns other commercial property in Northville.

Margene declined to disclose a purchase price for the former church.

Prior to the Gitfiddler/Raven, the building on Center was home to Open Door Christian Church. In recent years, the Captain's Table and Drawbridge restaurants also operated there.

Village will sparkle for Christmas event

By CAROL DIPPLE
Feature Editor

The holidays are coming to Mill Race Historical Village. And what better place to take in the atmosphere of Christmases past?

The Village will be open for its Annual Christmas Walk on Sunday, Nov. 23, from noon until 4 p.m.

For the first time, the choir from the First Presbyterian Church of Northville will perform Christmas carols. The choir will sing in the Village church from 1 until 2 p.m.

The church was the first sanctuary for the Presbyterian congregation, according to Northville Historical Society member Melody Arndt.

"It kind of has a tie to their congregation," Arndt said.

"The public is invited to enjoy the music."

This will be the third year that the Northville Life Members Mothers' Club has decorated the Mill Race buildings for the Annual Christmas Walk, since moving the group's December open house from individual homes to the Village.

The Life Members have chosen all new themes for each of the buildings this year.

Cady Inn is being decorated with an angel theme by Linda Clarke and Kathi Jerome.

The Yerkes House and New School are being decorated by Roxanne Casterline.

"It sounds really creative," said Life Member president Joan Sellen of the pierced tin ornaments Casterline has chosen this year. "Every year she has a different theme."

First-time decorating participant Pat Wright has chosen to deck out Hunter House.

"All of them are using their own collections of Christmas decorations," Sellen said. "They do keep in mind the house they are dealing with and try to make it as authentic as possible."

Working in shifts, docents will be in costume to highlight the historical information pertinent to each building in the Village, located on Griswold off Main Street in Northville.

Charlene Berry, who is also a docent, will be returning again this year to provide hammered dulcimer music.

"It's nice because she knows about the buildings and she entertains with her music too," Mill Race Village Office Manager Diann Dupuis said.

Local craft guilds, including basket weavers, rug hookers and fabric weavers, will be demonstrating their crafts.

Northville Girl Scouts will be selling poinsettias. The Village Store will also be open for holiday gift shopping.

Holiday crafts available for children to make will be theirs to take home as a keepsake of the Christmas Walk.

Refreshments will be served. For more information, call Mill Race Village at (248) 348-1845.

known in previous years, and the CBA is planning to match that achievement this year.

The Chamber of Commerce Christmas Walk is scheduled for noon to 5 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 23. Carriage rides with Santa, entertainment acts at the downtown bandshell, special discounts at retail stores and children's games are all part of the fun.

Local organizations will sell holiday items, including Christmas wreaths, evergreen roping and fresh holly. The Music Boosters will offer pumpkin bread, popcorn and cider.

According to David McKnight, Chairperson of Northville's Holiday Events, there won't be any businesses open downtown on Thanksgiving, Nov. 27, but "Miracle Merchants Christmas Hours" begin the day after.

Beginning Friday, Nov. 28, participating shops will be open 10 a.m.-8 p.m. Monday-Friday, noon-6 p.m. Saturday and noon-4 p.m. on Sunday.

"That's the commitment we're looking for from all the merchants," McKnight said.

Northville native turns Hollywood film producer

'Plan B' movie opens tomorrow

ate program in telecommunications.

During an internship with NBC in 1990, she worked on the set of the sitcom "The Fresh Prince of Bel Air," helping actors with their lines and acting as a sort of all-purpose gofer.

"They'd pull me into the dressing room to run lines with them," she said. "I'd do things like make sure the actors got the new scripts after rewrites."

"You check your ego at the door and go Xerox something - anything - just so you can learn."

Joslin also got her feet wet working as a producer's assistant on a Ray Charles TV special and by performing various tasks during the network taping of Danielle Steele's "Fine Things."

She also produced a 16 mm movie, "Date," which won an award at an Ann Arbor film festival.

By the time she graduated from U-M in 1991, she had made enough contacts to head out for Tinseltown on her own.

"I knew a lot of people, so it wasn't as if I was going out there blind," she said of her decision to brave the elements in the place sometimes called Shark City.

Always with her eyes on the prize, Joslin kept plugging away, taking free-lance publicity jobs with Columbia Pictures and other studios.

One day, the turning point came when she and two of her friends attended a screening of the independent film "Clerks."

"When we walked out of the theater one of them turned to me and said, 'Why don't we make a movie?' We said 'sure.'"

From that time on, producing "Plan B" became the dominant theme of her life, though she was practical enough to get everything done in her spare time.

"We all had other jobs," she said. "We did everything on the weekends and at night."

Teamed with independents Gary Leva and his wife, Lulu Baskins-Leva, Joslin dove into working on the script. She and her partners took the better part of a year writing and rewriting, polishing and refining.

The threesome also did all the casting themselves, holding auditions out of Joslin's apartment. Their fledgling effort got a big boost when veteran movie actor Jon Cryer reviewed the screenplay and agreed to join the cast.

"We all kind of saw Jon in the lead, but we never thought we had a chance to get him," Joslin remarked. "It was kind of kismet that we did."

According to Joslin, Baskins-Leva pitched the script to Cryer during a chance meeting. Cryer, who has appeared in such major pictures as "Pretty in Pink," "Superman IV" and "Hot Shots!," read the screenplay during an airplane flight and accepted the part of aspiring novelist Stuart Winer.

The actor's interest provided the momentum the producers needed to go the distance with their project.

"Once we had Jon in it, others wanted to get involved," Joslin said.

Shot in and around Los Angeles, "Plan B" opens with five friends gathered at a Halloween costume party and culminates on the following New Year's Eve.

Love, sex, parenthood and career success all enter into the story, which press releases describe as "hilarious and moving."

"It took about two and a half years, start to finish," Joslin

remarked. "Once you get going on it, it just completely takes over your life."

Joslin puts the budget for the film at roughly $300,000, but she insists it has the appearance of a professionally-produced work.

"We took a great deal of care to make it look like a Hollywood film," she said. "Our cinematographer is a consummate professional. It looks like a $3-5 million film."

Joslin said a lot of people dipped into their pockets to help make the dream a reality. Her parents, Burr and Elizabeth Joslin, who now live in western Michigan, helped bankroll the movie and are listed as executive producers.

Some of the expenses were even "put on a credit card," Joslin conceded.

"Plan B" should run at least a week at the UA theater in the Oakland Mall, Joslin said. The mall is located at 14 Mile near the I-75 exit in Troy. General admission seats are $7.

New phone service provider coming

Northville is among many cities to receive basic local telephone service provided by Easton Telecom Services.

The Michigan Public Service Commission has approved Easton's application for a license to provide the service.

Easton filed its application for a license on June 24 of this year.

Easton will begin providing basic local telephone service after it has finalized interconnection arrangements with the other local telephone service providers and filed approved tariffs.

Interconnection arrangements will allow Easton customers to make local telephone calls to, and receive calls from, customers of other local telephone service providers.

CHANGES ARE MADE IN DETERMINATIONS OF THE CITY OF NORTHVILLE, WAYNE AND OAKLAND COUNTIES, MICHIGAN, BASE (1% ANNUAL CHANGE) FLOOD ELEVATIONS UNDER THE NATIONAL FLOOD INSURANCE PROGRAM.

On September 16, 1981, the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) identified Special Flood Hazard Areas in the City of Northville, Michigan, through issuance of a flood insurance Rate Map.

The Associate Director for Mitigation, has determined that modification of the elevations of the flood having a one-percent chance of occurrence in any given year (base flood) for certain locations in the City of Northville, is appropriate. The modified base flood elevations amend the FEMA Flood Insurance Rate Map for the community.

This modification to the effective Flood Insurance Rate Map reflects more up-to-date hydrologic and hydraulic analyses, the construction of culvert crossings, at McDonald Drive and Coldspring Drive, the elimination of Randolph Drain Diversion, and more detailed topographic information than that used to prepare the September 16, 1981, Flood Insurance Rate Map for the City of Northville. The subject area is located in the vicinity of Lexington condominiums. Pheasant Hills subdivision, Abbey Knoll estates, and Northville estates. As a result of the modifications, there are increases and decreases in the base flood elevations, and narrowing and widening of the 1% (100-year) and 0.2% (500-year) annual chance floodplains and floodway. The revised base flood elevations for Randolph Drain are as follows:

Location	Base Flood Elevations (NGVD)*
Just downstream of Lexington Boulevard Approximately 1000 feet upstream of the farthest upstream City of Northville cooperative limits	Effective *884 *922
	Revised *885 *919

* Elevation in feet National Geodetic Vertical Datum
The changes are made pursuant to Section 206 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (P.L. 93-234), and are in accordance with the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, as amended. (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, P.L. 90-448) 42 U.S.C. 4001-4128, and 44 CFR Part 65.

Under the above-mentioned Acts of 1968 and 1973, the Associate Director for Mitigation, must develop criteria for floodplain management. In order for the community to participate in the National Flood Insurance Program, the community will be using the new base flood elevations to administer the floodplain management measures of the National Flood Insurance Program. These modified base flood elevations will also be used to calculate the appropriate flood insurance premium rates for new buildings and their contents.

Upon the second publication of notice of these changes in this paper, any person has 90-days in which he can request through the Chief Executive Officer of the community that the Associate Director of Mitigation reconsider the determination. Any request for reconsideration must be based on knowledge of changed conditions or new scientific or technical data. All interested parties are on notice that until the 90-day period elapses, the Associate Director's determination to modify the base flood elevations may itself be changed.

Any person having knowledge or wishing to comment on these changes should immediately notify:

Gift store open for business

Edith Dunbar

A tiny store inhabited by big colorful piggy banks and cuddly animal puppets and lovable sand creatures (lizards, snakes, crabs) is catching the attention of all who enter the Northville District Library. Recently opened by the Friends of the Library, it's near the library's entrance.

Somehow Janine Bauchat, who manages the little shop, has arranged the wares (as varied as magnets, writing journals, plastic globes and flamingo book marks) in such an attractive way that simply being in the store is fun.

Especially popular with children are pocket watches in the shape of animals. The cats are winning favor over the teddy bears and frogs.

On the back wall are sweat shirts inscribed with the Friends of the Northville District Library logo, while lining a shelf are Michigan travel and history books. Not far away are city maps of Washington, D.C., Chicago and Toronto.

Displayed here and there are the works of Michigan artists: Sue Spillane's photographs (she's from Northville); Diana Gammernan's water color post cards; Danielle Galbraith's T-shirts; and Susan Burrow's jewelry.

The store also sells Gwen Frostic stationery and stocks Northville poet Kathleen Ripley Leo's books as well as the Northville Township Centennial Foundation's recipe books. The library's new quilt wall hanging is pictured on note cards.

In the middle of the room is a book cart of used books for sale. "They're popular with our customers," Bauchat said. "People seem happy that there is a used book sale most every day."

Bauchat has a team of 22 volunteers taking turns behind the counter. Amy Storm is the controller.

"Most of the volunteers have never worked in a store before and have never run a cash register, but they're doing well and liking the work," Bauchat noted.

"With gift buying for Christmas already here, we need more volunteers. We plan to expand our open hours. On order are special holiday articles like tree ornaments and calendars."

Anyone interested in volunteering should call Bauchat at (248) 348-6972.

Currently the library store hours are 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday; 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Thursday; and 6 to 8 p.m. on Monday.

The store is closed on Friday.

Store profits will be used by the Friends for the purchase of library equipment and to support library activities.

Library Lines

OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK:

The Northville District Library is open Monday-Thursday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and Sundays, 1 to 5 p.m. For information on programs or services, call 349-3020.

LIBRARY BOARD MEETING:

The next meeting of the Northville District Library Board of Trustees is set for Thursday, Nov. 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the meeting room. All are welcome.

BOOK DISCUSSION GROUP:

Pope Joan by Donna Woolfolk Cross will be the topic of discussion on Monday, Dec. 8, at 7 p.m. Anyone is welcome to attend the monthly book discussions, which are held on the second Monday of each month.

LIBRARY CLOSING:

The Northville District Library will be closed Monday, Dec. 22, through Sunday, Jan. 4, to install new carpeting on the entire upper level. The original installation has not performed to specifications during this first year of operation, and the manufacturer has agreed to replace it at no charge to the library. Since this is a product we expected would give us many years of good service, the library accepted the offer.

The project will take approximately 60 hours to complete. As it involves moving book stacks and furniture and applying new adhesive to the floor, the library cannot safely be open to the public while the reinstallation is under way.

After much consideration, we decided that the 10 days that the library experienced the least amount of use was during late December and around the New Year's holiday, since school is out and many people are on vacation.

We will alert neighboring libraries to this situation and we can count on their cooperation in serving you. Northville District Library cards entitle cardholders to service at Novi, Plymouth, Farmington, and most other libraries within the Library Network.

BASIC INTERNET SEARCHING CLASSES:

For anyone wishing to learn how to get started searching the Internet, the library offers free introductory classes. These very popular two-hour classes are designed for the novice who has little experience with the Internet.

The class combines a lecture format, explaining basic concepts and terms, with a one-hour hands-on session using the library's computers to search the World Wide Web.

Preregistration is required. For more information, call the library at 349-3020.

SPECIAL GUEST STORYTELLER:

Children of all ages and families are invited to enjoy "Family Fun with Folktales," featuring storyteller Corinne Stavish. This special National Children's Book Week program takes place Monday, Nov. 17, from 7 to 7:45 p.m. There is no charge and no registration is required.

HOW CONDOMINIUM BOARDS WORK
When you buy a condominium, you are buying your unit, plus a share of the "common space" of the project—the grounds, garage, hallways, and recreational facilities, the owners elect a Board to whom they delegate the responsibility of running the condominium project. Since the actions of this board have an impact on the owners of the individual units, it is a good idea to keep informed.

The Board sets the annual budget and fees, makes and enforces the rules and regulations, and provides maintenance and landscaping. In doing so, they must balance the owners' desire for minimal fees with the need to provide for necessary repairs and improvements. If the Board does its job well and has the support of the owners, the area's reputation for being well-run will be a definite "plus" in maintaining the value of a unit.

Our Opinion

Long time coming, but PUD is big step forward

Cooperation is a truly wondrous thing. Combine the resources of any two people or organizations, and what seemed impossible before suddenly becomes easily attainable.

The total is always greater than the sum of the parts.

Northville Township and Wayne County officials have demonstrated just how far cooperation can go in turning a long-standing problem into a decided asset.

A ceremonial ground-breaking for the planned unit development in the Five Mile and Beck Road vicinity took place Oct. 28, serving to underscore the development's importance for Northville Township's future.

Planned for the 896-acre parcel now owned by the county are 650 single family homes, senior citizen housing, research and development complexes and plenty of open space.

The PUD, the result of a series of long, difficult negotiations between representatives of the township and the county, is important both for what it will contain and for what it replaces.

The project will add immeasurably to the township's tax base, while at the same time providing the type of regulated growth that could never have occurred if the parcel had been carved up and sold in individual portions. That's the unique advantage of a PUD, which is a zoning mechanism that amounts to a sort of mini-master plan for the area within its boundaries.

But in addition to a sparkling new development for roughly 10 percent of the township's total land area, the PUD is welcome for another, equally important, reason.

Government

For years, several buildings once used for the former Wayne County Child Development Center had presented both an eyesore problem and a public nuisance for people living in the area. The old complex was a favorite stomping grounds for vandals and drug dealers, with Satanic slogans and graffiti messages scrawled on the walls of the gutted buildings.

No one knows for sure to what extent the grounds were used as an exchange point for illicit activities, but reportedly the place was well known to dope dealers armed with high-powered weapons.

All that will shortly be a distant memory, and soon the contemporary architecture of the new homes and buildings will bear no hint of the once-blighted compound.

For most township residents, a clean-up of the decrepit site was too long in coming. We, too, feel that if governmental officials had moved with a greater sense of urgency, the situation could have been corrected many years ago.

But the important thing now is to look ahead, and the future appears bright, indeed, for a community that deserves the kind of sparkling development the PUD represents.

School funds now a great unknown

You just can't win with some people. With some governments, too, it seems.

Michigan state officials did the right thing in reducing the teacher pension contributions required of public school districts. The state rightly noted that pension investments, like just about everything else, have enjoyed substantial growth during the present Wall Street bull market. As a result, less additional principle is needed to meet the fund's investment goals.

But before anybody goes counting their gains, understand that the state plans to cut future per-pupil allowances to offset any surplus from the lower pension contributions.

It's kind of like robbing Peter to pay ... Peter.

This type of maneuvering on the state's part is entirely predictable. We saw it before when state began withholding race track revenue from the city of Northville.

Never mind that what the state was doing represented a direct violation of one of its own statutes. It didn't matter because if the city forced Lansing to pay up, the state would have responded by cutting the city's revenue sharing grant by a comparable amount.

Unfortunately, the change in the school funding method brought about by Proposal A of 1994 has made the Northville school district, for the first time, subject to the same kind of hostage-taking episodes Michigan cities have had to deal with for many years. When your funds get siphoned through the hands of state officials, there's no telling how much will ultimately trickle through.

Whatever else can be said of Proposal A, with its much-ballyhooed property tax cut, this aspect of the new system is a decided setback for Northville and other previously out-of-formula districts.

Parkland valued more than ever

Commerce Township in the 1830s was a small place. How small was it? Well, according to a popular story,

Barbara Louie

Commerce Village's first postmaster, Richard Burt, carried all the residents' mail in his pocket. Walled Lake, on the other hand, vaunted its grander size by the method of its mail delivery. Walled Lake's postmaster, Deacon Tenney, had to use his hat to contain all the mail.

Commerce Township, which borders Novi to the north, once encompassed the towns of Walled Lake, Wixom, Commerce Village and Wolverine Lake. In the 1950s, Walled Lake, Wixom and Wolverine Lake formed their own governments to pull away from the township. Commerce Village was platted in 1836. It is currently incorporated with Union Lake.

Like Novi, Commerce Township was first settled in 1825. Abram Walrod was the first white settler, followed a month later by Walter Hewitt who made his home on the north shore of Walled Lake.

The 1830s saw the area grow, with businesses and industries starting to sprout. After politically detaching itself from Novi Township in 1834, the community was given the name Commerce-on-the-Hudson. Hopes of a successful commercial center spurred the name.

Located along the banks of the Huron River, it was an ideal site for a mill, which helped build up the area. The water power produced from the river ran the grist mill, a major 19th century industry.

The township's first post office opened in Walled Lake in 1832; the village of Commerce established one shortly thereafter. Six years later, the township boasted a tavern, inn, grist mill and a school.

Churches, too, started to flourish, with the Walled Lake Baptist Church organized in 1834, a congregational organization in Commerce Village in 1836, and the Commerce Methodist Society two years later.

Before the churches were built, church services were held in a variety of locations, from private homes and barns to area schools. Circuit riders - preachers who made their livings travelling to area communities - were relied on to bring religion to those more remote areas. Commerce Township was part of the Farmington circuit which also included Novi.

The stagecoach came to Commerce Township in 1851, running between Pontiac and Milford via Walled Lake.

The first schoolhouse was made of logs in 1833. It was replaced in 1845 by the two-room Commerce School. By 1912, when only nine students attended the school, it had reverted back to a one-room school.

Though early settlers had high hopes of a major business district in Commerce Township, today's residents live there for just the opposite reason. Seeking the tranquility of its many lakes and recreational areas, today's area residents cherish the nearly one-fifth of Commerce Township that is devoted to state and metropolitan parkland.

Learn from, don't emulate, Japanese

You may have caught some of the information about the Third International Mathematics and Science Study (TIMSS) when it was released a year ago. It was billed "the most thorough international study of math and science education ever conducted."

Named "Pursuing Excellence," the study gathered data on half a million fourth and eighth-grade students from 41 countries, providing a comparative picture of education in the United States and the world.

You may recall the results: in comparison to other countries, the U.S. is better than average in science, but in the middle overall. Not great, but not as bad as many may have feared.

Japan is one of the top scoring nations. Japanese teachers follow a prescribed, national curriculum, with little variation and no review of material, which results in a wide gap between the low and top performing students. In the language of the report, "teachers throughout the country meet similar standards for presentation of content, while allowing almost unlimited variation in the standards of performance attained by students."

Students are expected to keep up no matter what their ability. Those who don't may get help from their teachers, parents, or from a private school called JUKU, but many get no help, which results in classes with variations in high and low achieving students.

Japanese students get promoted through eighth grade whether they understand the work or not. They then take a "gateway" test to determine which level of high school they will attend. Japanese teachers spend far fewer school hours teaching and more hours planning with colleagues and working with students.

This obviously isn't the whole picture. Compensation, social attitudes, and conditions of teacher work life are barely considered, for example, and Japan is only one country out of 41. The study does, however, raise some interesting questions.

Should the United States have national standards and/or a national curriculum? Should we promote all students, whether they achieve or not, and have a gateway exam at some point? Should parents and students largely be responsible for keeping up, and not the school? Should our teachers spend less time teaching in the classroom and more official time in quality staff development, planning, working with colleagues and students as the Japanese do?

We don't need to follow the Japanese model totally to achieve high scores. We're not likely to reverse our teachers as the Japanese do. Most of us are not likely to spend hours with our sons or daughters each night helping them with school work. Our schools won't let students sink or swim on their own to the extent the Japanese do.

We do need to end our befuddlement about what we want of our schools. We need to end the isolation most teachers feel in their classrooms every day. We need to shorten the teaching day, and lengthen the time for enlightened staff development programs that involve and stimulate the faculty. Teachers need the support of the community and they welcome constructive criticism. Most of all, we need to understand the world our children are entering to realize the urgency of quality education.

Line-item haunts to haunt GOP

To the editor:
When the Republican-controlled Congress passed - and Clinton signed - the line-item veto just before the last presidential election, it never could bring itself to believe that Clinton would be reelected president. God forbid. Their folly is coming home to roost in a most elaborate and politically predictable way.

Clinton, being the astute and sagacious politician he has proven himself to be, did not, according to Robert Reno, writing in Newsday, veto senate majority leader Trent Lott's $720 million for a ship to be built in his state, and $503 for a bunch of unwanted transport planes to be built in Newt Gingrich's district.

Poor Jerry Lewis, R-California. Lewis is just one of 435 representatives in the House, so he lacks Lott's or Gingrich's clout. Lewis squealed like a stuck porker when Clinton line-item vetoed his modest $4 million item to pay for some research program at a private hospital in his district.

What about the line-item veto, is it good or bad for our country? Is it possible that it will be ill-used?

Republicans beware: Canny Clinton continually connives to covet conservatives causes.

Rigors of public life discourage service

The newspaper was brief: "The Senate confirmed University of Michigan Economics Professor Edward Gramlich to the Federal Reserve Board. President Clinton's other nominee, Roger Ferguson Jr., a New York banking consultant was also confirmed. The nominations had been held up when a group of senators unhappy with the Fed insisted on using the nominations as a forum to criticize and debate the central bank's policies."

Phil Power

This is the story of how my friend Ned Gramlich finally was confirmed as a Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, one of the most influential economics positions in this country. It is a cautionary tale that explains much of why the government of our nation is in such disarray.

Gramlich has had a truly distinguished career in academic and public service. He rose through the ranks of the economics department at U-M, eventually becoming chair and, later, dean of the newly formed School of Public Policy. He did research on monetary policy at the Fed in the late '60s and later, in 1986-87. He was deputy director and then acting director of the Congressional Budget Office.

In 1994, he was appointed chair of the national Advisory Commission on Social Security. For two years he applied all of his diligence and patience to trying to secure agreement from his often fractious colleagues on how to reform the Social Security system. It was this work, I assume, that led the White House to sound him out this past February about his interest in an appointment to the Federal Reserve Board.

He was interested. A trial balloon article in the Wall Street Journal emerged in April. Nearly three months later he was formally nominated by President Clinton.

The process of clearance for any nominee to high government office is enough to deter even the most thick-skinned.

Gramlich had to reveal all his financial assets and all outside sources of income since he was 21. (How many of us keep our tax returns for more than 10 years?)

He had to prove that he and his wife, Ruth, had paid Social Security tax on their cleaning lady's wages. He had to detail all of his trips abroad since he was 21. He was finger printed. When the FBI came to interview the neighbors, they spent a full hour talking to a woman who hardly knew the Gramlich family.

But Gramlich survived, and in September, six months after his name first surfaced publicly, it was forwarded to the Senate Banking Committee. The committee held confirmation hearings and reported the nomination to the full Senate on Oct. 7.

At that point, in accordance with an arcane senatorial custom authorized nowhere in the Constitution nor the law, Gramlich's nomination was put on hold by one senator, Tom Harkin of Iowa, who disagreed with the way the Federal Reserve manages monetary policy.

Senator Harkin had no personal, political or policy dispute with Prof. Gramlich. But he didn't like the way the Fed manages the money supply and interest rates, and so he used the custom of "senatorial courtesy" to hold Gramlich's nomination hostage.

Sen. Harkin was not unique. While Gramlich's nomination was languishing this fall in the Senate, some 45 other nominations to senior positions in our government - ambassadors, assistant secretaries, the Deputy Attorney General for Civil Rights - were also put on hold by individual senators. Most were so gutless as to remain anonymous while toying with the lives of distinguished Americans willing to serve their country.

Gramlich was concerned. The Senate wanted to finish its business and adjourn, which might have put the whole process back until after the New Year and required an entire new nomination process.

But Harkin's price was modest. Senate Majority Leader Trent Lott gave him 90 minutes in front of the C-SPAN cameras to discourse about interest rates and the money supply. Gramlich was confirmed as a Governor of the Federal Reserve on Oct. 31. The process had consumed nine months since the first approach by the White House.

During those nine months, Ned Gramlich and his family lived in limbo.

Until he was definitely confirmed, the Gramlich family could not sell their house in Ann Arbor and buy an apartment in Washington, so they had to negotiate two interlocking contingent real estate deals until the Senate voted. They couldn't make definite arrangements for packing and moving their household goods. Ruth Gramlich, who had a senior management job at Ford, couldn't talk concretely with her boss about her future.

No sane company would put prospective senior managers through what Ned Gramlich and his family had to go through in order to get confirmed. That's why, increasingly, able people are rejecting out of hand spending part of their lives serving their country.

Surely, there has to be a better way.

September jobless rate up in most markets

Unemployment rates edged up nine of Michigan's 10 major labor market areas in September, according to seasonally unadjusted estimates compiled by the Michigan Employment Security Agency (MESA).

"Seasonal influences caused minor fluctuations in all of the state's major labor markets," Doug Stites, acting MESA director, reported.

But the overall employment picture was fairly stable between August and September with only small jobless rate changes, averaging less than half a percentage point.

The Upper Peninsula was the only area where unemployment fell in September, but the drop was modest as the region's jobless rate dipped by one-tenth of a point to 4.8 percent.

The largest month-to-month change occurred in the Jackson area where the rate climbed by half a point to 4.3 percent. Rate increases in the remaining eight areas ranged from one-tenth to three-tenths of a point.

"Among the major markets, the Flint area had the highest September unemployment rate at 4.9 percent, while the Ann Arbor area had the lowest rate at 2.2 percent," Stites said.

Work force and employment levels slipped in most areas last month. Lansing and Ann Arbor were the exceptions, however, as the start of the fall term at state universities in both areas helped boost local employment and work force totals.

"The only significant industrial sectors reporting job gains in September were government and transportation/communications/utilities," Stites noted.

"Government expanded in every local market as classes resumed at state and local schools, and transportation rose in many areas as a national package delivery strike ended."

Job totals dropped in several industries, however. Construction had modest declines, while finance/insurance/real estate and services had scattered losses.

Unemployment levels were down significantly from their September 1996 rates in all 10 major markets, Stites pointed out. Rate declines over the year ranged from half a point in the Ann Arbor area to nearly two points in the Benton Harbor area.

"Stable manufacturing employment and job gains in most other sectors caused unemployment rates to drop from last year's levels," Stites said.

Among Michigan's 83 counties, jobless rates remained low in September. Luce County in the Upper Peninsula had the highest rate last month at 10 percent. It was also the only county with double-digit unemployment. Washtenaw County in southeast Michigan had the lowest September rate at 1.9 percent.

Casino controversy continues in Lansing

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Getting up to date on the gambling issues in Lansing:

NON-CASINO GAMING

No action yet on bills by Rep. Beverly Hammerstrom to allow video lotteries in licensed bars (HB 4409-10) and at horse race tracks (4411).

Northville Downs and Ladbroke DRC in Livonia sought HB 4411, which is locked up in the House Oversight and Ethics Committee. As things are, there is no commitment movement.

KELLEY'S RULING

So much confusion resulted from Attorney General Frank Kelley's Oct. 21 opinion on Indian tribal gambling that he issued a clarification the next day.

It's not true that the status of 14 tribal casinos is in limbo.

All existing casinos are safe.

Four proposed casinos require a different sort of state action. Here's Kelley's ruling, which has the force of law until overturned by a court:

"Your (two legislators') inquiry was prompted by a series of proposed Indian gaming compacts recently negotiated by the governor with several Indian tribes."

Each compact depends on "endorsement by the governor and concurrence by resolution of the Michigan Legislature." The lawmakers asked whether a resolution was sufficiently binding.

Kelley noted that in a federal case in California called Pueblo of Santa Ana v. Kelly (no relation), the court concluded:

"State law must determine whether a state has validly bound itself to a compact." Higher courts declined to take the case.

Courts in Kansas, New Mexico and Rhode Island cases ruled the same way. Kelley summed it up: "(T)he approval by a state of a tribal-state gaming compact under the IGRA (the federal Indian Gaming Regulatory Act) is legislative in character, thereby requiring the exercise by the state legislature of its formal law-making power."

The compacts, he went on, cover management, operations, types of gaming equipment, arbitration of disputes, liquor licensing, and tribal semi-annual payments to the state and local units -- "clearly legislative in character."

A mere legislative resolution is insufficient, he said.

Rep. Kirk Profit, D-Ypsilanti, who requested the opinion along with Senate minority leader John Cherry, D-Chi, praised the ruling. "I am especially pleased that we can now stop the excessive proliferation of these casino gaming opportunities."

Sen. Bill Schuette, R-Midland, also praised the ruling. He has been opposing Senate Resolution 71 to authorize four more compacts. SR 71 would require a simple majority of senators, while a law would require majorities in both the House and Senate, and the bill would have to be in identical form.

Schuette called the previous procedure "informal and haphazard." He said a federal case in Florida involving Seminole Indians was won by Florida and "removed the (U.S.) Department of Interior's ability to site new casinos."

PRIZES CLARIFIED

Big winners in the Michigan State Lottery will be able to collect their prizes in a lump sum through a third party under a bill unanimously passed by the Senate.

SB 596, sponsored by Sen. Bob Geake, R-Northville, now goes to the House.

Currently, major lottery prizes are paid in 20 annual installments. Winners can get a lump sum from a bank or other lender if they sell their rights, but to do so they need a judicial order.

"The courts have been inconsistent in granting such orders," Geake said.

"This has caused problems for people such as the elderly or those needing to pay off large debts who would benefit from having their prizes paid all at once. If a person doesn't want to wait 20 years to collect a prize, and a third party is willing to pay them up front, why make them wait?"

The bill allows the Lottery commissioner to charge a processing fee to cover the state's costs.

'NO FISH, CHIPS'

The Kelley ruling prompted state Rep. Dave Jaye, R-Macomb County, to renew his "no fish, no chips" campaign.

The gadfly Jaye's proposal: The state wouldn't approve new Indian gambling casinos unless tribal fishermen agree to stop using gill nets.

Indian tribes, with their sovereign nation status, have treaty rights which allow them to use gill nets. Many anglers say gill nets are ruining the Great Lakes salmon fishery.

Jaye's bill also would require Indians to purchase hunting and fishing licenses, adhere to fishing seasons, and pay taxes on their property, income and businesses. He cited the same New Mexico case Kelley cited in arguing that the Legislature has power to "rework the compacts."

Workshop to focus on disorders

In recent years professionals working with children and adolescents have become more aware and concerned about the problems of eating disorders.

The incidence of anorexia nervosa, bulimia and binge eating is on the rise. Within the population segment where the disorder commonly occurs (white, middle class females), 50 percent report being engaging in disordered eating behavior. Out of those another 50 percent actually develop a diagnosable eating disorder.

Forty-three percent of the victims report onset between ages of 16 to 20. Only 50 percent of those report ever being cured. The rest continue to suffer or die.

A two hour workshop on this subject will be offered Nov. 20 at 12:30 p.m. in the forum at Northville High School, led by Dr. Mary Clark.

Dr. Clark is a former secondary school and college counselor who specializes in the clinical treatment of eating disorders.

Adults working with children or teenagers are invited to attend. Teachers, coaches, counselors, social workers, psychologists, youth workers and parents are welcome.

Call the high school counseling office, 344-8422, if you plan to attend.

State lawmakers act to settle Durant lawsuit

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

It's called a "compromise," but the Legislature's deal to settle the Durant lawsuit of 84 school districts is closer to what Democrats have advocated.

The state Senate voted 34-0 Nov. 5 to approve two bills embodying terms that settle the 17-year-old lawsuit against the state.

"The House will not adopt these," predicted Senate majority floor leader Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron. "We'll have a conference committee (three senators, three representatives) to iron out differences between the chambers' two versions."

"We'll have them (the conference reports) before us next week," DeGrow predicted.

The Michigan Supreme Court at mid-year ruled the state under three governors had shorted 84 mostly suburban school districts on aid for special education and other items. Price tag: $211 million.

In addition, state officials calculate that other districts which weren't plaintiffs could put in claims that will run about $768

"(Lawmakers are) finally stepping up to the plate to settle the issue."

Sen. Dianne Byrum

million.

The compromise—a tribute to DeGrow, Rep. Bob Emerson, D-Flint, and the Engler administration's budget director Mark Murray—calls for:

- Lump sum payment next April 1 of $211 million to the 84 plaintiff districts. Engler had proposed paying them across three years from interest on the "rainy day" fund. Instead, the Legislature will dip into the $1.2 billion fund's principal.

- A $350 million bond issue for 472 non-plaintiff school districts that would provide about half of what they are due. They would be paid the balance over 10 years. Engler had proposed a $780 million bond issue whose proceeds would be earmarked for capital improvement, not salaries.

- $250 million in "at-risk" funds for schools this year and $260 million next year. Engler had vetoed the money pending a solution of how to pay off the Durant plaintiffs.

Lawmakers will drop Engler's proposal to recalculate how school personnel pensions would be calculated. Engler proposed a "defined contribution" plan rather than a "defined benefit" plan.

In public hearings conducted by

Rep. Eileen DeHart, D-Westland, retired teachers blistered Engler's proposal to raise the assumed rate of earnings from 8 to 8.3 percent and to recalculate the value of pension fund investments as of Sept. 30, 1997, the height of the bull market in stocks.

During Senate debate, Democrats tried to raise the ante for at-risk districts by $10 million, but their amendments were rejected on party-line votes.

Two bills implementing the deal were sent to the House. One is HB 5083, an amendment to the management and budget act tapping the budget stabilization ("rainy day") fund. The other is Senate Bill 178, covering the school aid amendments.

The Senate's work was practically devoid of debate. An agreeable Sen. Dianne Byrum, D-Onondaga, praised lawmakers for "finally stepping up to the plate to settle the issue."

Durant case winners include the school districts of Birmingham, West Bloomfield, Farmington, Novi, Walled Lake, South Lyon, Huron Valley and Troy in Oakland County; Livonia, South Redford, Northville and Plymouth-Canton in Wayne County; and Waverly in Eaton and Ingham counties.

State senate debates rules over waste transportation

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Michigan will be safer during transporting of hazardous wastes, says Republican Sen. Loren Bennett.

There will be "fewer inspections of trucks hauling hazardous waste," replies Democrat Ken DeBeaussiaert.

Senate Republicans needed nearly a party line vote Oct. 29 as they passed four bills to "align Michigan with a federal uniform hazardous waste transporters licensing system," said Bennett, R-Canton. He chairs the Natural Resources Committee that produced the bills.

"The benefits of a uniform system are numerous: consistent state-to-state policy for inspections, audits and licensing fees on vehicles transporting hazardous wastes," he said.

Without the state bills, he said, Michigan would forfeit $13 million in regulatory fees to the federal government.

Countered DeBeaussiaert, of Macomb County: "We now inspect only one out of every five vehicles. It's simply not safe to reduce inspections any further."

Permit fees will be reduced from $250 to $50 for hauling hazardous waste and lead to a $4 million funding shortfall in the state's hazardous waste management program, he said.

All area senators voted with their parties.

The bills passed on 22-14 votes. Favoring them were all 21 Republicans and Democrat Chris Dingell of Trenton. Voting no were 14 Democrats, with one Democrat absent.

Sen. Gary Peters, D-Bloomfield Township, said the bills "undermine very good environmental protection. This package of bills continues the slippery slope that we've gone on of dismantling environmental protection in the state."

Citing data from the University of Michigan Transportation Research Institute, Peters said accidents involving trucks spilling hazardous materials numbered 98 in 1986, 116 in 1994 and 90 in 1995.

"We need more enforcement, not less," Peters said. "By reducing the fees that hazardous transporters pay from $1.5 million to $200,000, it's going to make it next to impossible to have sort of level of inspection."

Sen. Alma Wheeler Smith, D-Salem, said, "We are creating a $4 million hole in the operation of this program."

The tie-barred bills, all sponsored by Bennett, are:

- SB 554 creating the Hazardous Materials Transportation Act—provides for registration of motor carriers of hazardous waste or liquid industrial waste. Enforcement is by the Michigan State Police and state Department of Environmental Quality and Natural Resources.

- SB 729 amending the Hazardous Waste Management Act to deal with motor carriers. It will reduce state revenue by $1.5 million.

- SB 730 amending the liquid industrial waste section of the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Act, reducing state revenue by $75,000.

- SB 731 amending the Revised Judicature Act to allow seizure and forfeiture of property involved in hazardous wastes.

"Michigan has demonstrated the ability to run more efficient and effective regulatory programs than the federal government," F said DEQ director Russ Harding.

The bills go to the House. Refer to the bills by number when writing to your state representative, State Capitol, Lansing 48909.

Seniors got free health tips at event

Local senior citizens received life-saving health screenings at the Livonia-Plymouth-Northville Senior Celebration Day in Livonia at Burton Manor last month.

State Reps. Gerald Law and Lyn Bankes, the event co-sponsors, said breast cancer screenings were offered by the Karmanos Cancer Institute's mobile unit in Burton Manor's parking lot.

"Prevention is so key nowadays for successful treatment, especially when you consider the improved success rates for winning the fight against cancer," said Bankes, R-Livonia.

Karmanos accepts most insurances. There is a sliding fee scale for the uninsured.

Women over 50 should receive annual clinical breast exams and screening mammograms every year, according to the institute.

Free diabetes screenings also were offered by Lifescan, a Johnson & Johnson company.

Cromwell Family Chiropractic gave free checkups for spinal problems.

"Although today's seniors are much more active and healthier, regular screenings are still essential for long-term good health," said Law, R-Plymouth. "The screenings gave seniors a convenient way to get checkups at one general location."

The event featured consumer and health fairs, entertainment, and raffles geared toward senior citizens. It also included food, gifts and informal discussion with several local officials.

Seeing to the future

Religious attitudes about donation

Most major religions support donation, and it is generally held that donation for the benefit of others is a demonstration of faith and love for one's fellow man. Any one with questions about their faith's position on donation should consult with their clergy or spiritual adviser.

Amish - The Amish consent to donation if they know it is for the health and welfare of the transplant recipient. They may be reluctant to consent if the transplant outcome is known to be questionable.

Buddhism - Buddhists believe that organ donation is a matter that should be left to an individual's conscience. There is no written resolution on the issue.

Catholicism - Roman Catholics view donation as an act of charity, fraternal love and self sacrifice. Transplants are ethically and morally acceptable to the Vatican.

The Church of Christ Scientists - Christian Scientists do not take a specific position on transplants or donation. Christian Scientists normally rely on spiritual rather than medical means of healing. The question of donation is left to the individual church member.

Greek Orthodox - The Greek Orthodox Church of North and South America are not opposed to organ donation provided the organs in question are used for the purpose intended and not for research or experimentation.

Gypsies - Gypsies are, on the whole, against donation. Although they have no formal resolution, their opposition is associated with their beliefs about the after-life. Gypsies believe that for one year after a person dies, the soul retraces its steps. All of the body parts must be intact because the soul maintains a physical shape.

Hinduism - Hindus are not prohibited by religious law from donating, according to the Hindu Temple Society of North America. The act is an individual decision.

Islam - Moslems must consent in writing to organ donation before their death. The organs of Moslem donors must be transplanted immediately and not stored in organ banks.

Jehovah's Witnesses - According to the Watch Tower Society, the legal corporation for the religion, Jehovah's Witnesses do not encourage organ donation but believe it is a matter best left to an individual's conscience. All organs and tissues, however, must be completely drained of blood before transplantation.

Judaism - Judaism teaches that saving a life takes precedence over maintaining the sanctity of the human body. A direct transplant is preferred. All segments of the Jewish religion including Orthodox Jews support donation, although there may be some reluctance among Hasidic Jews.

Mormons - In a policy statement dated 1974, the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints stated that the question of whether one should make an organ donation "must come from deep within the conscience of the individual involved."

Protestantism - Protestants generally encourage and endorse organ donation. The Protestant faith respects an individual's conscience and a person's right to make decisions regarding his or her own body.

One Northville mother wouldn't have shared the last several birthdays with her daughter, Stefanie, now 13, had it not been for a donor's family.

Donna Wolfe knows firsthand about the importance of educating the public on the need for organ donations.

By the time she checked into the University of Michigan Hospital three and a half years ago, she was the 99th person on the waiting list for a liver transplant.

"I had a young daughter and wanted to be around for her," she said.

Wolfe had severe colitis at age 19 and continued to suffer with the disorder until she was 28. Her colon was removed at that time. By then, her liver had already started to degenerate.

National Donor Sabbath Weekend

National Donor Sabbath Weekend was established last year by transplantation agencies, including the Midwest Eye-Banks and Transplantation Center, and the Transplantation Society of Michigan, as a second means of educating the community about organ and tissue donation.

On Nov. 14 through 16 participating religious leaders in the area will offer guidance and information on the need for organ and tissue donors. The agencies have had a week set aside in April as National Donor Awareness Week for the last seven or eight years.

Originally, when The Michigan Eye Bank was organized in the 1950s, some Lions Clubs acted as substations and were actively involved in transporting cornea tissue, according to Bill

it's the gift of a cornea, kidney
or liver,

donation
can improve, and maybe even save,
a life

"My liver was slowly deteriorating over a 10 year time," she said. "Nobody was able to pinpoint what was going on."

Sclerosing colingitis was finally diagnosed when she was in her late 30s.

"By the time I was 39, I was in pretty dire straits," Wolfe said. "I became severely jaundiced and was in kidney failure."

Once admitted to U-M Hospital, finding a liver for Wolfe became a top priority. In seven days she was wheeled into surgery.

"It happened to be that the match was there," said Wolfe, who took a year and a half off from her job as a physical therapist with the Wayne-Westland Community Schools to recuperate.

"This past three and a half years I have been healthier than I have been in 20 years," she said. "I feel like I have no health problem. I feel totally normal. It is miraculous."

Due to confidentiality rules, Wolfe was told only that the donor was a 26 year old man.

"I would love to have the opportunity to personally thank them," Wolfe said of her donor family. "What they did for me was an incredible act of generosity."

It was hard for Wolfe, as it is for many transplant recipients, to work through the knowledge that she is alive because of someone else's death.

"What a sacrifice of thinking beyond the immediate loss and considering being a donor," she said.

Today, Wolfe takes one pill in the morning and another in the evening, visits the doctor once a year and has her blood drawn every three months.

"There is nothing that reminds me on a daily basis that I had a transplant," she said.

Waiting on a friend

Current waiting list in Michigan for a transplant, as of 11/1/97:

Kidney	1,591
Heart	70
Heart/Lung	1
Lung	119
Liver	255
Pancreas	94
Cornea	260

Patients who have received an organ transplant year-to-date - 358

Patients who have died waiting for a transplant year-to-date - 125

Statistics supplied from the Transplantation Society of Michigan 1-800-482-4881.

Steps in the organ harvesting process:

- Patient is admitted to the hospital and all attempts are made to treat severe head injuries.

- Patient pronounced brain dead after evaluation, testing and documentation by a physician.

- Referral is made to the organ recovery agency to evaluate the suitability of patient for donation. The family is offered the option of organ and tissue donation.

- Written consent is obtained from the donor's family.

- To proceed, all donations must first be cleared with the medical examiner or coroner.

- Donor is maintained on ventilator and stabilized with fluid and drugs. Many tests are completed to determine if each organ is healthy and suitable for transplant.

- Recipients are identified for placement of the organs according to the established protocol of the United Network for Organ Sharing (UNOS).

- Surgical teams are mobilized and coordinated to arrive at the donor hospital for the organ recovery surgery.

- Donor is brought to the operating room on the ventilator after the surgical teams have arrived.

- Organ recovery surgery is performed. Organs are cooled and preserved with special solutions. Teams immediately return to their transplant centers to perform the transplant surgery.

- Tissue donation takes place after the organ donation is complete.

- Autopsy is performed, if requested, after the donation process is completed.

- Donor is released to the funeral home.

- Transplantation Society of Michigan (TSM) provides the donor family with information about the recipients of their gift. Confidentiality is maintained.

Tissue donation harvesting process:

Including corneas, bone, skin, heart valves and saphenous veins.

- Age: Newborn to 75 years of age (older donors may be suitable)

- Death has occurred
- Ventilator support is not required

- Consent of legal next-of-kin is obtained

- The hospital calls TSM with donor information.

- Upon completion of the screening, the tissue recovery arrangements are made.

Former teacher to address Woman's Club at meeting

The Northville Woman's Club will present "What a Pain! Managing Arthritis" at its next meeting on Friday, Nov. 21, at 1:30 at the First Presbyterian Church of Northville, 200 East Main Street. The speakers will be

Carol Dipple

Nancy Brown and Carol Sassaman.

After 25 years teaching school, Brown, a former English teacher and department chairperson at Northville High School and recipient of Michigan's Creative Writing Teacher of the Year, went on medical retirement and went back to school to study anatomy and become an Arthritis-Patient Educator (APE).

Brown and other members of her family have battled rheumatoid arthritis for 20 years, is one of only 16 people in Michigan who teach third and four-year medical students how to examine patients and understand the impact of the disease on the quality of life.

A Northville resident, Brown also volunteers for the Michigan Arthritis Foundation's information and referral lines, Education and Community Service Committee speakers' bureau, and regional health fairs. She is also participating in University of Michigan studies on the impact of changing health care on the lives of people with chronic illnesses.

Chairperson of the day is Karen Poulos. Members may bring guests.

Students get special guest speaker

Northville High School will have a special speaker during the open block time on Friday, Nov. 14, from 9:15 until 10:28 a.m.

Dr. David Connell, the therapist mentioned in "A Success Story" in the Oct. 30 issue of the Northville Record/Novi News, with discuss "Drugs, Alcohol, Relationships and Other Challenges of Teenage Years."

Presentations scheduled during the open time are usually by in-house presenters.

Dr. Connell, a Northville resident for 18 years, has geared the presentation to any students who want more information on these topics.

"I think they would really enjoy it," said Dr. Connell, who has 30 years of experience working with young people in juvenile court systems and drug treatment programs, is a therapist at Psychotherapy and Counseling Services (PCS) and Inner Wisdom Counseling, both in Northville.

The presentation will be interactive rather than in a lecture format to give the students an opportunity to ask questions.

"The reason I said yes was that I have a knack for establishing repertoire," Dr. Connell said of his decision to accept student assistance coordinator Charlie Stille's invitation to speak to the high school students.

"Kids tend to react very favorably to me," he said. "If a counselor comes on at all like lecturing, (kids) fire them."

For more information, Dr. Connell can be reached at 348-1270 or 348-1100.

Grief conference scheduled at Schoolcraft

Arbor Hospice, the Arbor Center of Northville, and the Women's Resource Center at Schoolcraft College, will co-sponsor the fourth annual one-day Grief Conference at Schoolcraft, Saturday, Nov. 15, beginning at 9 a.m. The keynote speaker will be Dr. Bill Ritter, minister of the First United Methodist Church of Birmingham.

Dr. Ritter experienced profound grief first-hand after the death of his son and is a frequent speaker on the topic of the death of a child.

The conference is designed for people who have experienced the death of a loved one and those who wish to support them in their grief. The program includes workshops dealing with grief after suicide, grief after the death of a child, legal and practical issues, widow's and widower's issues, and helping children deal with the death of a loved one. Several other workshops are also being offered.

The cost of the all-day conference, which includes lunch, is $35. Various area funeral homes have provided additional financial support for the conference, including the Northrop-Sassaman Funeral Home and Casterline Funeral Home, both in Northville.

For more information or to register, call the Women's Resource Center at (313) 462-4443.

Students benefit from group's fundraisers

Northville Life Members Mothers' Club members learned at their last meeting from president Joan Sellin that $3,000 has been awarded to students of the Northville community from last season's fundraisers.

Life Members, an adjunct group whose members carry on after 10 continuous years in the Northville Mothers' Club, are the sponsors of the annual December Holiday Open House, which is the major benefit for the group's scholarship awards. This year's open house is scheduled for Dec. 6.

The sale of the 1998 Entertainment Coupon Book, which encompasses the entire metro area, is the Life Members' other fund-raiser. The book is $40 and can be purchased by calling Life Member Phyllis Kennedy at (248) 349-1140.

New members of the group include Susan Couzens and Helen McKee.

YWCA honors area women

YWCA of Western Wayne County announced the names of six recipients of the sixth annual Women of Achievement Award at a luncheon, held Nov. 7 at the Fairlane Club in Dearborn.

Both recipients are Inkster residents.

Jennifer M. Granholm, Wayne County corporation counsel and a Northville resident, nominated the recipient of the award in the Government/Law category, County Commissioner Kay Beard.

Other recipients included Emma Jean Woodyard for Arts/Communication; Barbara Palmer for Business/Industry; and Kelly Pierce in the Young Woman category.

The award recognizes women who have demonstrated qualities of outstanding leadership and excellence in both their professional and personal endeavors for the betterment of Western Wayne County.

Lions to raise money through bingo

The Northville Lions Club presents Turkey Bingo on Sunday, Nov. 16, at VFW Post 4012, 438 S. Main Street in Northville. Doors will open at 11 a.m. and bingo begins at 1 p.m.

Food and beverages will be available.

Prizes includes turkeys, food-stuffs, raffles and door prizes.

All proceeds go to Lions' charities such as Leader Dogs for the Blind, the Penrickton Center for Handicapped Children, the Michigan Eye Bank, Welcome Home for the Blind, and Seedlings (Braille books for children).

The Northville Lions Club has also given time and money to the city's new library, the Senior Center, the Fort Griswold playscape and glasses for youths in the city's school system.

Christmas Workshop still has openings

There are still a few openings for the Northville Historical Society's 18th annual Children's Christmas Workshop, which will be Saturday, Dec. 6, in the New School Church at Mill Race Village.

To enroll, see Carole Jean Stockhausen at 218 W. Dunlap, or call her at (248) 349-2833.

A morning session from 10 a.m. until noon and an afternoon session from 1 until 3 p.m. will enable 150 children in grades one through six to participate.

During the workshop the children will make hand-made Christmas gifts to surprise the special people on their list, so remember - no peeking.

The enrollment fee is $10 per child with a 1 pound, 10 ounce empty coffee can with both ends removed, or $12 per child payable by cash or check made out to the Northville Historical Society.

No waiting list is kept because cancellations often come too late to arrange substitutes. No unregistered child should come to the workshop hoping to get in on a cancellation as people will generally arrange a substitute on their own.

Anyone wishing to donate wide-mouth quart Mason jars, which will be used for one of the hand-made gift items the children will make, should also call Stockhausen.

Student cast in college play

Andrew Huff, Northville resident and a senior at Wayne State University pursuing a bachelor of fine arts degree in theater, has been cast in Look Back In Anger, which has performances scheduled for Nov. 13-16 and 20-23 in the Studio Theatre, downstairs at the Hilberry in Detroit.

Huff is a graduate of Northville High School and Henry Ford Community College and has played Balthazar in The Comedy of Errors, Charles Dickens in A Christmas Carol and Templeton in Charlotte's Web.

Huff will portray Colonel Redfern, Jimmy Porter's father-in-law in Look Back In Anger, which was written by John Osborne.

Performance times are Thursday through Saturday at 8 p.m. and Sunday at 2 p.m.

Ticket prices range from $5 to $7 with discounts available for groups.

For ticket information, call the box office at (313) 577-2972 between 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Do you have a few hours to spare?

If you've been thinking about volunteering a few hours here and there for a worthy cause, consider the Northville Town Hall Lecture Series.

If you're really a take-charge kind of person, there is an immediate opening for a vice chairman and a recording secretary. Next year the chairman and treasurer seats will be vacant.

If you'd rather take things a little slower, there are other volunteer positions with openings.

Town Hall is a lecture and luncheon program presented four times a year at 11 a.m. at the Holiday Inn at Laurel Park in Livonia.

Now in its 37th year, the speaker's roster has included Ann Landers, Vincent Price, Erma Bombeck, Olivia DeHavilland, Marvin Hamlisch, James Lovell, John Stossel, David Eisenhower, Dr. Vladimir Sakharov, Phil Donahue, Nanette Fabray, Bob Taylor and Sharon McPhail.

For more information about volunteer openings with Northville Town Hall, call chairperson Barbara Armada at (248) 349-7255.

Clarification

Wolfe, who has lived in Northville for nine years with her husband, Steven, and her daughter, originally rejected the option of transplantation because she felt her quality of life afterwards would be questionable.

Wolfe recently attended a speaker's seminar training session presented by Gift of Life, a group of transplantation agencies.

"I was close to tears the whole day," she said. "It was so moving to be around people who looked very healthy and normal. Also, families who donated organs were there. It was moving to sit at the table with people who had donated their children's or husbands' organs."

Wolfe is considering accepting speaking engagements with the Gift of Life but "would like to tag along with a few more experienced people first."

"The Gift of Life people are very committed to what they are doing and the U-M liver transplant team. I always felt like I had access to them," she said.

Wolfe had three rejection episodes during the first year and frequently called the transplant nurses at the hospital.

"They never made me feel like my question wasn't important," she said. "They care about your quality of life after the transplantation too."

Heart pumps for Dr. Romanik

By CAROL DIPPLE
Feature Editor

Dr. John Romanik now truly feels comfortable saying he has a heart.

Two years ago that wasn't the case.

"I would say in conversation 'the heart' or I would tell the physicians 'do you want to listen to the heart?' But now it is my heart," said Dr. Romanik, the 62-year-old retired chief of pediatrics of Providence Medical Center in Novi.

Dr. Romanik had one heart attack in 1981 and was on the heart transplant list for five years prior to a donor match being found in October 1995. The last year before the operation he was hooked up to a small external pump which keep the heart going while still enabling him to get around.

"It is like whipping the pony when you're coming into the home stretch," he explained. "It (the pump) was trying to make the heart work harder."

The Northville resident retired as the chief of pediatrics because his profession exposed him to greater risk of infection.

Normally, the name of a donor's family is confidential, by law, unless the family and recipient want to meet.

Dr. Romanik wanted to meet the family who donated the heart of a 37 year old physician who died of a brain aneurysm.

"It was a shaking experience for both," he said of his first meeting with the donor's family in March 1996. "You wonder what you're going to say. I saw a lady with two teenage sons holding (the couple's) 16 month old baby."

"I know the donor family quite well now," he said. "The first time we met it was pretty tough. I have met them since and it has been much better."

Although he can discuss his experience one-on-one, he still gets choked up when it comes to talking in front of a group. Dr. Romanik is hoping that come Donor Awareness Week in April 1998 he will be able to talk to fellow parishioners at Our Lady of Victory Church in Northville.

"The biggest problem is the family not honoring the now-dead person's wishes," Dr. Romanik said of the shortage of donors.

An organ donor sticker which drivers can affix to the back of their licenses is not enough to ensure that the individual's wishes will be carried out by the next-of-kin.

"The individual needs to tell his family he wants his wishes followed," he said. "Usually the first time the family finds out it is at the time of death and they are mortified. This is the first time they've heard about that and they disregard the wishes of the donor. That is rather prevalent nowadays."

The first year after the transplant was the hardest for Dr. Romanik. Biopsies took place weekly, then monthly, when a catheter was inserted in his neck and into the heart to get a piece of the heart, he said.

"It has its dangers," said Dr. Romanik, who became the 175th heart transplant patient at Henry Ford Hospital in 1995. "No matter what you do, organ rejection will proceed. My compatibility was so good that I only had one bout with rejection."

The greatest mortality risk for heart transplant recipients takes place in the first year, according to Dr. Romanik.

"After one year, life expectancy is considered to be normal but there hasn't been enough time to statistically prove that," he said.

Dr. Romanik met heart transplant recipient number 210 at a party recently which was attended by 60 or 70 heart transplant recipients. Henry Ford Hospital has been performing the operation since 1985.

"It is like anything else, it gets so routine," Dr. Romanik said. "My life has gotten so routine I very rarely spend mental time thinking about that I'm a transplant patient. All those (recipients) that I know appear to act the same way."

Although Dr. Romanik says he is still a type-A personality, he now works around the yard. He recently traveled to Indiana for a week to attend a woodworking school where he made a table.

"I sure didn't think I was capable of doing that," he said. "I called it carpenter's kindergarten."

Since the transplant he has also become a grandfather, with three more grandchildren expected by March.

"I found out that grandmas, they go nuts over grand kids," he said. Plans that once included just him and his wife, Carol, now are made around the grandchildren and their birthdays.

"Which is a very pleasant way to look into the future," he said of a time he thought he might never get to experience.

Youngest actors take to stage in fairy tale

The Novi Theatre's "little people players," under the direction of Mary Kay Davis, will present The Arabian Nights by Lowell Swartzell, adapted from The Entertainment of a Thousand and One Nights, this weekend.

The fairy tale revolves around the Sultan of Persia who is so angry that the entire kingdom lives in fear. However, a member of the kingdom, Scheherazade, develops a plan to make the Sultan realize his wretchedness.

Scheherazade weaves a story into the great tapestry hanging in the palace which comes to life. The Sultan, the Royal Court and the audience are entertained with the mysterious story of "The Great Speaking Bird," with an ending that turns hatred into love.

The little people players will present The Arabian Nights on Nov. 14 and 15 at 7:30 p.m. and on Nov. 16 at 3 p.m. at the Novi Civic Center Stage, 45175 West Ten Mile in Novi.

Davis enhances the production by incorporating dance in the Arabian tradition. The sets are designed by Timothy Amrhein of the Hilberry Theatre and the costumes are designed by Shelley Dzwonkowski. Choreography is under the direction of Jill Jenkins and the lighting is designed by the Hilberry's Gina Patterson.

The little people players include children ages seven to 12. Cast members from Northville and Novi

Making the cut

*Five swimmers make state cut;
diver to compete at regional*

By SCOTT DANIEL
Special Writer

If beauty is in the eye of the beholder, success surely is, too. To some, a sixth place finish in last weekend's Western Lakes conference swimming finals might be viewed as a failure. But saying that would be to ignore the vast improvement many Northville High swimmers made at the meet, which was held Thursday through Saturday at Plymouth Salem. Cuts in finish times of two to seven seconds or more were made across the board. For coach Bill Dicks, that was success enough.

"We were going to swim our best times," he said. "We had a lot of kids with big improvements." That's an understatement. The Mustangs had a total of 32 personal best times. Jessica Hrivnak and Stefanie Nurmi dropped three seconds in the butterfly. Heather Rudy cut seven seconds off her best backstroke and Nicole Sprader cut a second from her best breaststroke performance. Getting those big cuts didn't happen by accident. The Mustangs spent months building up yardage in their training sessions. Cutting back gradually on that workload, or "tapering," allowed the girls to swim their fastest times. "That's what you expect to do after taper," Dicks said of the outstanding swims. Despite their excellent effort, the Mustangs finished just sixth in the WLAA. Livonia Stevenson took its

Northville hockey team laces up skates for first time ever

By JASON SCHMITT

Everybody knows Detroit is the original Hockeytown, USA, but now that Northville has a boys high school hockey program, who knows what will happen? After years of talks about adding a hockey program to Northville's winter sports schedule, the action is set to begin next Wednesday night when the Mustangs get set to have their program opener at Livonia Stevenson's Eddie Edgar Ice Rink in Livonia. The puck will be dropped at 6 p.m. Northville athletic director Larry Taylor has chosen Brad O'Neill to lead the team into the future. "We thought it was very important to find someone with experience in high school hockey and we were very fortunate to find someone like Brad," Taylor said. "Having him as a teacher in our district was also a real plus for us." O'Neill is a Milford native who has assisted Redskin coach Gary Johnson for the last eight years. Prior to that, O'Neill had played amateur hockey in Michigan for 13 years. O'Neill still lives in Milford, but teaches at Cooke Middle School in the physical education department. "When I first got here I was approached about a possible coaching position in the future and I said 'yeah,'" O'Neill said. "It's been real exciting seeing that come true. Being able to start from the ground level and start a program is neat." O'Neill's entire coaching staff has a hockey background. Assistant Brian Balcoff played his prep career at Stevenson. Joe Maisano played at South Lyon and Paul Candela is a Northville graduate who played in the Livonia Hockey Association. Somewhat of a surprise to O'Neill is the quality of talent he has to work with in his inaugural season. "We're happy to say that all 20 kids we selected have hockey backgrounds," he said. "We're surprised with the amount of talent we have this year. To the credit of the kids, they've looked really terrific so far." Northville competed in a seven-team scrimmage last weekend in an attempt to get the kids used to high school hockey. "It's funny because a few of the coaches came up to me after the games and were surprised to find out we were just a first-year program," O'Neill said. "Everything we're doing is new to some of these kids. It's a slow process, but they've been good listeners. Winning and losing aside, we want to see improvement from this team each week."

The coaches evaluated the 35 kids who came out for the team and had to cut the team down to about 20 kids. So far the kids have made significant progress and O'Neill is expecting his team to be competitive this season. Northville will join the Suburban League, which will look very similar to the Western Lakes' conference Northville belongs to in several other sports. Joining Northville in the South division are Churchill, Stevenson, Franklin, Walled Lake Western and Central, Redford Union and Dearborn. The North division will consist of Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills Andover and Lahser, Clarkston, Southfield, Troy, Waterford Kettering and Mott. The Mustangs will play a 22-game schedule along with two scrimmages. District action will be similar to basketball with a single-elimination format and will begin Feb. 26. The majority of the home contests will be played at the Plymouth Cultural Center. A pair of games will be played at Dearborn Heights-Canfield and the last will be played at the Ice Cube in Ann Arbor. O'Neill said the excitement over Mustang hockey has already begun, and he has chosen three captains to lead the way. Senior center Tom Nappo, senior forward Kevin Boone and junior defenseman Justin Waneeo have been named the first captains in Northville history. "There's a lot of excitement brewing and the kids want to set a standard for Northville hockey for years to come," O'Neill said. "But none of this would have happened if it weren't for the hockey boosters throughout the community who have given these kids a chance."

Great season lands Arbuckle on all-area team

When it comes to cross country, you'd be hard pressed to find a more talented area than Huron Valley. That's why Lakeland and Milford high schools dominate HomeTown Newspaper's all-area teams. It's tough to compete with the likes of Lakeland.

The Eagles' top four runners made the grade, earning first-team honors after helping Lakeland win its second consecutive Class A State Championship. Lakeland's Nick Gow, Anthony Sager and Scott Kinczkowski earned all-Kensington Valley Conference, all-Oakland County and all-state honors this season.

The other three athletes come from Milford, Novi and Northville. Milford's Tom Greenless put on an amazing show in his sophomore campaign, leading the Redskins to a third place state finish.

Novi's Kevin Avenius was the lone Wildcat representative at the state meet and represents his team again on our All-Area first squad. After winning the regional and taking a fourth place finish at the state meet, Avenius was more than deserving of a spot on our team.

Our final athlete, Kevin Arbuckle, was also the only runner to represent Northville at the final meet of the season. He represented the Mustangs well, finishing 26th out of 280 runners.

Our Central and East offices' all-area first team could run circles around any competitor:

NICK GOW LAKELAND SENIOR

Gow ends a stellar career with the Lakeland cross country team. He was undefeated in four years of dual meets and helped his team to two runner-up state meet decisions and the 1997 championship.

Lakeland was beaten just once this season and it was in that invitational that Gow ran one of his best races. Gow ran to a 15:59 finish in the Eagles' loss to Rockford.

Gow won the regional en route to an eighth place overall finish at the state meet to help Lakeland defeat Rockford in the championship.

"He capped off a great career in cross country," Lakeland Coach Randy Wilkins said.

Gow isn't finished yet, though. He qualified as one of Michigan's top 10 senior runners and represents Michigan Saturday in Ohio at the Midwest Cross Country competition. Gow and the other nine Michigan runners are competing against teams from Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Pennsylvania and Kentucky.

KEVIN ARBUCKLE NORTHVILLE JUNIOR

Not to be lost in the shuffle of great runners in the Huron Valley area, Arbuckle earned the right to join this elite group. In his first trip to the state finals, the junior placed 26th overall as the lone representative. At one point this season, Arbuckle had won seven straight races. He won all-conference Western Lakes' honors this year after earning all-division honors as a sophomore.

Arbuckle was selected by his peers as the captain of the 1998 Mustang team.

"I couldn't ask for a better role model than Kevin. His work ethic is inspirational to the rest of the team," his coach Ed Gabrys said. "It's nice to see someone so enthusiastic about everyday routines."

KEVIN AVENIUS NOVI JUNIOR

Although Milford and Lakeland were the dominant teams in the area, Avenius was the dominant runner. The junior won the prestigious KVC title and topped a talented field at the Ann Arbor Pioneer regional meet with the second-fastest time in all the regionals in the state (15:55).

At the state meet, Avenius led the race with about 200 meters to go, but finished fourth overall. As a sophomore he finished 40th in the state.

Kolarchick, Loeffler land on 2nd team

We'd like to think of Hometown Newspapers' all-area second team not as second-grade talent, but as top-notch talent spilled over. There was simply not enough room for these next seven athletes on the first team, although there was a very thin line between the two teams.

Although it is hard to compare Northville with the rest of the area's best, the Mustangs proved they were a team to be reckoned with. Juniors Kristin Kolarchick and Karen Loeffler were counted on to lead the team through a tough conference schedule which included the likes of Livonia Stevenson.

Novi and Milford were deep enough to collect a few more all-area spots on the second team and South Lyon's Jenny Belsley proved she also belonged with the best.

Here is a closer look at the HomeTown Newspapers' Central and East offices' all-area second team:

CHRISTIN KOLARCHICK NORTHVILLE JUNIOR

A consistent force for the Mustangs, Kolarchick led her team in nearly every race she ran. Unfortunately for Northville, Kolarchick could not run at the regional meet due to prior obligations.

The senior earned all-division honors at the Western Lakes' meet by placing 12th overall. She finished fourth at the Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard meet, helping her team to a runnerup finish in Division II. She won the Redford Union Invitational.

KAREN LOEFFLER NORTHVILLE JUNIOR

Loeffler finished 26th at the league meet and 11th overall at the Gabriel Richard Invitational. Loeffler also finished in the top 10 at the Walled Lake Western Invitational.

JESSICA KERN MILFORD SOPHOMORE

Before Shawn Kemp's return to the Redskins, it was Jessica Kern alongside Karin Wandeler, packing a 1-2 punch for Milford.

"She runs all out from start to finish," Milford Coach Brian Salyers said. "She may be a little ambiguous before, but she has stepped it up to this level. We were really happy to see her have the season she deserved."

Kern finished 14th at the Oakland County meet and earned Second Team Kensington Valley Conference honors with her 13th place finish in the league meet.

DAYNA HERR MILFORD JUNIOR

Herr made great strides this season for the Redskins. Extenuating circumstances kept Herr from the off season training much of her team participated in, so her start was slow this season.

"She realized for our team to succeed we needed her," Salyers said. "She had some good races and some bad races, but every race was a step for her."

Herr was 32nd in the Oakland County Meet and Salyers said that wasn't as eye-popping as some other performances. But she had to pass about 30 runners in the final leg to get there.

Herr also finished 15th at the KVC meet and passed another bundle of runners to boost Milford's state meet finish.

ALAINA CHIPPONERI NOVI JUNIOR

With a team as deep and as even in talent as Novi, Chipponeri could have easily been on the first team. The three-year letter winner made her second straight trip to the state finals, finishing third on the team and 60th overall.

Chipponeri was named to the KVC second-team after placing 12th at the league meet.

"She's an excellent runner who has improved herself all year," coach Norm Norgren said. "She really helped sew up our pack this year."

VAL STEFANSON NOVI SOPHOMORE

A two-year team member, Norgren called her "the most improved runner this year." Her first year on varsity, Stefanson finished 11th at the league meet and 17th at the

The Northville/Novi Colts finished the 1997 season with 35-13 romp Sunday afternoon.

Colts complete impressive season

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

If the success of this year's Northville-Novi Colts team is any indication of the future of Northville and Novi football, gridiron fans will have a lot to cheer about in a few years.

The Colts turned in yet another superb season, finishing 7-1-1 after pounding North Farmington/West Bloomfield 35-13 Sunday afternoon.

Quarterback Nick Mainelle connected with Doug Ray for a touchdown pass and two-point conversion pass, and Chase Chandler, Josh Buck, George Boueri and Kris Provost added touchdown runs in the romp.

"This philosophy has resulted in a team that is fundamentally sound and makes few mistakes," he said.

Ray said the team's motto, "to get better each week," really helped the team this season.

"Every kid has gotten better and that's the greatest satisfaction as a coach," Ray said. "I love to see the kids learn something and then execute it."

This year's squad was led by three-year starters Boueri, Buck, Chandler, Joey Elder, Jeff Harrington, Mainelle, Brian Nitti and Ray.

Other significant contributors this season were David Burke, Steve Cain, Jordan Genso, Andy Mellas, Provost, Billy Rigner, Alex Shelton, Jeff Szaloney, Evan Bavaskas, Brandon Falk, Steve Jabbari, Andrew Kerby, Andrew Kristofik, Dan Massa, Mike Menghini, Ben Szilagyi, Jason Vaughn, James Woods III and Joe Zatkoff.

Coach Ray was assisted by Dave Harrington, Chuck Cislo, Tony Mainella, Adam Lienhardt, Dave Burke and Rick Elder.

Mustangs lose lead, game to N. Farmington in playoffs

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

Northville outscored and outplayed North Farmington for three quarters last Thursday night, but fell apart in the fourth in a 52-49 loss to the Raiders in the first round of the Western Lakes Activities Association tournament.

Northville carried a nine-point lead into the final stanza, and increased that advantage to 41-30 with 7:47 remaining in the contest. But North Farmington chipped away at the lead and pulled to within one at 48-47 with 0:52.9 left.

After Emily Carbott hit one of two free throws to give the Mustangs a two-point lead, the Raiders hit a layup with 0:28 left to tie the game. On the ensuing inbound play, the Raiders stole the ball and got fouled and hit one of two free throws with 0:14 left, giving them a 50-49 lead.

Coach Pete Wright called a time-out with 0:9.2 left to set up one last play. The Mustangs got a good look at the basket, but the final shot rimmed out and North Farmington rebounded the ball.

"We had a lot of good looks at the rim, but it was the free throw situation that hurt us the most," Wright said. "Every trip down they drove to the basket and drew fouls and we put them on the line too many times."

"We got in some foul trouble and our rotations were different in the second half," the coach said.

Northville had built a 24-19 lead at halftime, only to see that margin increase to nine at the end of three.

"With an 11-point lead you think you can stay with what got you there, but that backfired on us," Wright added.

ing 19 points and collecting eight steals and seven rebounds. Janel Hasse added eight points and Meredith Hasse pulled down seven rebounds for Northville (12-6).

Northville went on to play Churchill Tuesday night (after Record deadline), with the winner advancing to play the winner of the Walled Lake Western and Central game.

If the Mustangs won Tuesday night, tonight's game will be played at Northville beginning at 7 p.m.

11th conference title in 15 years with a whopping 653.5 points. Salem was second with 427, North Farmington third at 377, Walled Lake fourth at 265, Farmington Hills Harrison fifth at 258 and Northville sixth with 247 points.

"I thought we'd be about fifth," Dicks said. "Middle of the pack. I thought we might be a place higher, but it didn't happen."

Northville will close the season a week from Saturday at the state finals.

This year's Class A championships will be held at Michigan State University. As usual, Northville will be well represented.

Kristen Warnke has qualified for the 100-yard butterfly. Dicks thinks she has a shot at finishing in the top 12 of the state. He thinks she'll need to better her top time of 1:00 to accomplish that, however

"I wouldn't be surprised to see her break a minute," he commented. "I expect Kristen to do very well at the state meet."

Northville has also qualified for the 200-yard medley relay and the 400 freestyle relay.

Leah Voytal, Alice Callan, Warnke and Stephanie Sabo will swim on the medley relay team. They qualified for the state finals at the conference meet, in which they finished sixth overall (1:56.35).

The team of Sabo, Hrivnac, Voytal and Warnke got the state cut in the 400 freestyle also at the conference meet. They were third overall in 3:49.27, which was a little more than a second better than the state qualifying mark.

In terms of other conference meet results, the Mustangs scored in nearly every event. Points were awarded for finishes in the top 18.

Voytal had Northville's best showing in the 200-yard freestyle. She was 15th overall.

Warnke swam a strong time of 2:21.06 to take fifth in the 200-yard IM. Sabo was eighth in the 50 freestyle with a personal best time of 25.61.

Karen Fischer finished fifth in diving. She scored 377.35 points, which was less than 10 off the school record for 11 dives. Dicks thinks she has a good shot at making the state finals.

In the 100-yard butterfly, Warnke took third and Callan was eighth. Sabo was eighth in the 500-yard freestyle.

Schovers earns Hometown second-team all-area honors

HomeTown Newspapers' Central and East offices' all-area team overflowed with talent into the second team selections.

Milford's Brandon Lawson, Brad Rutkowski and Nate Sienkiewicz earned three spots after a spectacular season. Second place in the Kensington Valley conference and another runner-up decision at the Oakland County meet put the Redskins in position to take third at the state meet with a group of solid runners.

"If we don't have each of those three guys stepping up, we won't finish anywhere near where we did," Milford Coach Brian Salyers said.

The rest of our area team is represented by individuals from each school.

Lakeland's bounty continues with second-team honors going to freshman secret weapon Pat Klein. South Lyon was led all season by Matt Grezlik.

Despite injuries the latter half of the season, Jason Sabol's early-season performance for Novi earned him the right to be up there with the area's best.

Tim Schovers' leadership abilities for Northville helped his team to a respectable fourth-place finish at the Western Lakes' meet. He proved that he, too, was deserving of recognition.

Our second team selections are qualified to take on any opponent, maybe even their first team counterparts. Take a closer look at our picks:

PAT KLEIN LAKELAND FRESHMAN

Klein finished his freshman campaign as the second best freshman in the state. He ran to a 56th place overall finish at the state meet and was the Eagles' secret weapon as a strong fifth runner.

Klein joined the team after the season had begun and made amazing strides as a rookie.

"When he finally came out he said he wanted to help us win the state championship," Wilkins said. And he did. He backed up his promise."

BRANDON LAWSON MILFORD JUNIOR

Lawson was a decent runner last year but really came into his own in his junior effort, running in the second spot for most of the Redskins' season.

"He did an excellent job of stepping up to this level of running," Salyers said. "He really committed himself to being a good runner."

Lawson's efforts landed him 10th place in the KVC, 22nd at the Oakland County race and 65th overall in the state meet.

One of Lawson's better moments this season came in the dual meet against Howell. Lawson finished ahead of Howell's top runner Ricky Bauer. Bauer was 23rd at the state meet.

"Brad proved to himself and he proved to everyone else that he belonged at that level," Salyers said.

BRAD RUTKOWSKI MILFORD JUNIOR

Rutkowski was questionable this season after breaking his ankle over the summer. He was unable to run for nine weeks and missed the early part of the season.

"We knew we could count on his leadership and guidance but it was questionable whether or not he could perform," Salyers said. "We couldn't have asked regional. Her 66th place finish in Brooklyn helped the Wildcats to a ninth place finish at the state meet.

"She dedicated herself all summer long and she's just one of those kids that say, 'I want to be on varsity,'" Norgren said.

JENNY BELSLEY SOUTH LYON JUNIOR

Belsley and teammate Theresa Wolfe spent most of the season competing for the top spot with the Lions. Belsley won out on the dual meet side this season after spending the off-season training.

"She gave 110 percent during the season," South Lyon Coach Ian Kennedy said.

Belsley ran her best time, 20:34, in South Lyon's final dual meet against Milford. Her second best performance (21:18) came against Novi at Cass Benton.

for anything more."

Rutkowski was 18th at the Oakland County meet and was an All-KVC runner. He ran a great race with Lawson and Sienkiewicz to give the Redskins third place as a team at the state meet.

Rutkowski captained the Redskins for the second year in a row. "He knows what the sport is about and he utilizes his knowledge with outstanding desire to lead our team," Salyers said.

NATE SIENKIEWICZ MILFORD SENIOR

Salyers was able to coax Sienkiewicz into running cross country last season. In his first year with the team, Sienkiewicz was Milford's third runner.

This year he continued to improve and was consistently at the top of the Redskins' lineup. Along with Rutkowski and Lawson, Sienkiewicz helped proved the punch Milford needed to excel.

"He knows what needs to be done and he takes care of it," Salyers said. "That has allowed him to excel. He's not flamboyant, but he gets the job done."

Sienkiewicz was eighth at the KVC meet and came in 40th in the team race at the state meet in his senior endeavor.

JASON SABOL NOVI

Selected as captain by his teammates, Sabol led his team not only by his experience off the course, but on it as well. The senior was Novi's top runner with the early-season absence of Kevin Avenius, but a back injury ended his season prematurely.

"It really took away our chances at the state finals," coach Bob Smith said. "He's arguably our number two runner, and with as tough a competition as we had, you can't replace your number two runner and expect to be as good."

Sabol was a four-year letter winner and has the 11th fastest time in Novi school history.

TIM SCHOVERS NORTHVILLE

Not so easy for a senior to do, coach Ed Gabrys was pleased with the steady improvement of his co-captain throughout the 1997 season.

"He's been instrumental for us for four years now," Gabrys said. "He's a quiet, steady kind of person who was the rock of our team this year."

Schovers medaled at the Western Lakes' conference meet this year and medaled at four other invitational meets. In the classroom, Schovers was a four-time academic achievement award winner.

MATT GREZLIK SOUTH LYON SENIOR

Grezlik finished his second and final season with the South Lyon cross country team and definitely left his mark.

"Matt added a great deal to the cross country team in his two years," South Lyon Coach Scott Smith said. "He brought to our squad a sense of maturity and a great work ethic."

Grezlik was the most consistent runner for the Lions, finishing at the 17 minute mark for most of the season. He broke the 17-minute mark against Milford in South Lyon's final dual with a time of 16:59.

state runner-up teams and has been a major force in the two consecutive state championships Lakeland has won.

His top time this season was at the regional where he placed seventh in 16:33. Kinckowski was sixth at the KVC meet and ended his season with a 19th place overall finish at the state meet.

"He had a great state meet race for us," Wilkins said. "At the end of the season, he's going to be there for you."

RICHARD OLTESVIG LAKELAND JUNIOR

Oltesvig returns as one of Lakeland's leading runners next season after an all-state finish this year.

"He gave a solid performance for us," Wilkins said. "We're looking forward to him coming back with Anthony next year. He worked his butt off and got the job done."

Oltesvig was fifth at the KVC meet, fifth at the regional and finished 13th overall at the state meet. He was consistently in the top four in each Lakeland race.

ANTHONY SAGER LAKELAND JUNIOR

In three seasons, Sager has lost just one invitational with the Eagles and he'll be Lakeland's top returner next season, creating a powerful 1-2 punch with Oltesvig.

Sager also ran one of his best times at the Jackson Invite, with a 15:58 finish. He was fourth at the KVC meet and seventh overall in the state meet.

"He was a real key to our success this year," Wilkins said. "He's really matured as a runner in the last year."

TOM GREENLESS MILFORD SOPHOMORE

Greenless was the best sophomore runner Milford has ever seen. He led the Redskins to a great finish after a mediocre season in 1996.

"He really took it as a challenge to be the lead runner on a great team," Milford Coach Brian Salyers said.

Greenless spoke places with a third place KVC finish, a fourth place Oakland County finish and a 15th place state finish.

Interactive bikes keep interest in health

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

Everytime there's a fitness craze in this day and age, some new type of technology comes along and gently tugs at the arms of the so-called newfound fitness gurus.

It happens to everyone. The minute health becomes a top priority, some lethargic means of communication captures our attention and diverts our energy.

This has forced the fitness folks to do a little bit of couch potato thinking themselves. And the result of all this thinking has led to a revolutionary new type of exercise entertainment called "Exertainment."

At the Water Wheel Health Club in downtown Northville, company president Chris Klebba ordered a pair of interactive bicycles to keep up with the changing industry.

"We know the facts about being in good shape, but it isn't nearly enough to get people into the gym," Klebba said. "The bikes get people involved in a different way than by just having them ride a bike."

Users have their choice of three different types of interactive exercises.

They may compete against other bikers on eight different courses, testing their skills on different types of terrain. Another game the bike features is Speed Racer, where the rider competes in a road race which allows the rider to determine how fast the car travels.

If the first two options are too much fun and games for the more serious person, the bike also has the option of allowing the rider to watch his or her favorite television show.

It also has the capability of allowing the user to watch TV and play the game simultaneously.

"We get a lot of people in here who like to come down and watch a particular program at a particular time," Klebba noted. "The machine has the flexibility and it really is for everybody."

dlebars, the bikes are designed to fit just about anybody. Television controls and game controllers are just an arm's-length away.

Klebba said the new type of exercise equipment is starting to change people's ideas of fitness clubs in general.

"A lot of people who just haven't been down here or in a gym in years think of the club as a dark dungeon without any windows.

But fitness is trying to change people's perception of exercise," he said.

Klebba said many of today's health clubs are using interactive equipment so their members don't become bored with the same old routine.

"We don't want people to get bored while exercising. That's why we'll always be adding that type of equipment to our gym," he said.

Health Column

Get better quicker by thinking ahead

For years we believed that when we developed a medical problem we would call a doctor, get the treatment and go on with our lives.

If we needed to spend a few days in the hospital, so be it, as long as we got better, we were happy.

Most patients weren't concerned with the overall costs of medical treatment. However, with the price of health care escalating upward, more patients and most insurance companies recognize that preventive medicine is the best approach to health care and is also the most cost effective.

Many times one office visit can correct a problem in its early stage.

Prevention of foot problems begins at home. Not every person needs to be treated professionally by a foot specialist. Even patients with diabetes, rheumatoid arthritis, scleroderma, Raynaud's disease or another medical condition causing manifestations to the foot do not necessarily need professional foot care all of the time.

Daily inspections of your feet are the cardinal rule. It is during these inspections that you can find problems in their early stages and seek professional treatment before they become more serious.

In 1994, I saw a diabetic patient who said his foot had started to swell. Six weeks prior to that he had received treatment for a painful callus at another facility, but did not go to his follow-up appointment. He did not regularly inspect his feet, and by the time he came to my office, he had a serious infection deep in the bottom of his foot that required hospitalization.

He subsequently underwent four surgeries and was in the hospital twice. His hospital bill was more than $150,000. If he had caught the infected callus earlier, his total bill would have been about $100. All he had to do was inspect his feet.

To start a thorough examination of your feet you must sit in a comfortable position. The first thing we look at is the top of your feet. Make sure they look similar. Check for differences in color, shape and size. Be sure to note if one foot looks more swollen than the other. Look for visual clues of infection such as breaks in the skin, increased redness or drainage of any kind.

Next, gently spread each toe and examine the web space. Check for any discoloration, drainage or breaks in the skin.

The corresponding toes on each foot should be the same color and size. The borders of the toenails should not cut in to the skin. If there are any ingrown toenails, drainage should not be present.

After concluding the visual portion of the examination, the next phase involves touch.

Each foot should be the same temperature. If one foot is warmer than the other it needs to be evaluated.

There should be no numbness to the toes. Using your fingertip, put a little pressure to the end of each toe.

Hold for about three seconds and release. Count the seconds it takes before the color returns to normal. If you counted more than six or seven seconds, your circulation might be diminished.

Lastly, use a mirror and examine the bottom of both feet. Again, note any discoloration, cracks, breaks or drainage. Touch each callus to make sure it is not very painful or not soft and mushy.

Check for any localized swelling. Gently straighten each toe and check under each one for cracks where the toe and feet meet.

If you notice any problems while doing your daily inspections, it could be the beginning of a larger problem. This would be a good time to call a foot specialist for further examination and testing.

GARDENING

Fall's the season for garden mums

By C.Z. Guest
Copley News Service

Garden mum season didn't exactly kick off over the Labor Day weekend, but it did start at about the same time as the football season. Like the football season, mum season is being lengthened with fabulous new varieties available in most garden centers.

People want their garden mums just like they want their football, and the good thing about gardening and garden mums is that you don't have to be a genius to be a green-thumb gardener.

While it may be too much to expect the garden mum season to extend into January, the way football does, garden mums have been blooming longer with new extender varieties.

Before these new varieties were introduced, the garden mum season typically ran from mid-September to early October. Now it stretches from around Labor Day to Halloween in northern states, and in the South, the season can run through November.

As the 1997 fall garden mum season progresses, here are a few great new varieties to look for:

Autumn Kimberly - A fine companion for the growing list of extender varieties. Mauve-red daisy flowers range to 1 1/2 inches in diameter with good lasting color.

Blushing Christine - Gardeners love Christine; they will find this apricot-pink beauty irresistible.

Bold Christine - Another enticing variety of the popular Christine with red-coral decorative flowers.

Felicia - A lavender daisy with the best flower and foliage quality and large flowers ranging to 1 3/4 inches in diameter.

Foxy Valerie - A stunning, vibrant red decorative mum with dark green, glossy leaves.

Gentle Kimberly - A lively orange-bronze daisy that extends the garden mum season into October. Very prolific and long-lasting flowers.

Helen - An early flowering red decorative mum that is rich in color, a No. 1 selling garden mum.

Janice - Golden-yellow decorative flowers with richer flower color and better early flowering. The No. 2 selling yellow garden mum.

Laurie - An outstanding honey-bronze mum with large flowers up to 2 1/4 inches in diameter, extends fall flowering season with elegance and beauty.

Stunning Lynn - A stunning new color combination to expand the look of garden mums, one of the most popular ever introduced. Dusty rose outer ray petals of Stunning Lynn's decorative flowers are highlighted by dark raspberry-red center petals. A beauty!

Yellow Ginger - Adorned with bright yellow flowers, Yellow Ginger's easy-to-grow plants are an ideal companion to the two-toned bronze Ginger.

TILLING TIPS

Shallow tilling in late fall is an easy way to destroy large numbers of grasshopper eggs by exposing them to the elements and predators.

GARDEN STORAGE

If you do not have a root cellar, carrots, Brussels sprouts, parsnips and Jerusalem artichokes can be left in the garden into the winter. Just before the soil freezes hard, cover the plants with an 8-by-10-inch hay mulch. This will keep the soil workable and soft so you can dig out your crop as needed. Sprouts and kale can endure extreme cold. For best taste, cook them before they thaw. Frost will magically transform the flavor of Brussels sprouts.

The best time to harvest horseradish is as the soil cools. Plant each spring to avoid a tangle of roots and save some of the pencil-thin roots for a new crop.

ROSE REPORT

Fall-planted roses make little or no root growth during that season because the plants are becoming dormant. As they are planted, their dormancy deepens.

The advantage of planting roses in the fall (aside from the availability of the gardener's time) is that the soil will settle firmly about the roots throughout the fall, allowing the plants to become more established and ready to start active growth by early spring, usually long before most spring roses are available.

Most gardeners have far more time to properly prepare their rose beds and do a good planting job in the fall than in the hustle and bustle of the spring.

MORE NOTES

If buds fall off your Thanksgiving or Christmas cactus, the room is too hot and dry, and the plant is probably suffering from lack of water.

Plant a cover crop as soon as a main crop finishes, unless vegetables are slated to go in the same spot. You can even sow the succeeding cover crop before the maturing first crop is out of the way.

Luxury is in the details

Northville Township development features richly textured, made-to-order
homes

Natural materials including wood, limestone and granite are used extensively through the Woods of Edenderry 5,100-square-foot Monticello home.

Matt Hatz, sales and marketing manager for Cambridge Homes, stocks the wine cabinet in preparation for the Woods of Edenderry grand opening celebration.

By ANNETTE JAWORSKI
Special Writer

If you could close your eyes and imagine your dream home, it might look a lot like the model at the Woods of Edenderry. The Northville Township development at Six Mile near Sheldon Road is a new concept, with each of the 101 homes to be custom made to the homeowner's specifications.

"We do whatever (the homeowners) want," said Matt Hatz, sales and marketing manager for Cambridge Homes. "We're not a huge builder. We take our time and sit down with the homeowner and try to fit their needs."

Although the model is extravagant, the look is one of lush luxury, not gaudy excess. The four bedroom, 5,100-square-foot Monticello structure looks more like a cherished home than a new subdivision model with the cookie cutter look that often lacks the personal touch.

Hatz credits the designers from Creative Design Consultants, particularly project manager Barbara Quigley and interior designer Jeff Cooley, with putting the finishing touches on the architecture of Walter Meloni.

"They chose us because they liked the look of one of our homes in San Francisco. They wanted a warmer, cozier look. We strived to have a cohesive design throughout," Quigley said. "Dark colors are back in style, including darker wood. It's a new traditional look. It's a classic look."

Rich colors in fabrics and furnishings are also making a roaring comeback, with greens, burgundies and golds.

"We wanted a look that's grand and lush. And our furnishings are elegant, but down to earth and homey. It's a home that invites you in," Hatz said.

It's not hard to imagine your dog curled up in front of one of four fireplaces in the home.

Walk through the grand entryway of slate and limestone and you can see from the expansive foyer through to the family room. There, you can view the outdoors through soaring 19-foot-high windows.

The family room fireplace, which spans two full stories, has a stained walnut mantel.

There are three more fireplaces, including one in the master bedroom and one in the parlor, in addition to the two-way fireplace between the kitchen and the family room.

Other spectacular features can be found in the library. Leaded glass beveled French doors lead into the room which features built-in bookcases, a humidor and a wine cabinet.

A seven-step painting technique called a Brussels' finish has been applied to all the woodwork in the library, as well as to the built-ins in the family room and the crown molding in the entire house, except the master bathroom.

The Brussels' finish, applied by Thorpe Painting of Brighton, adds

Objects marked 'Nippon' were made in Japan from 1891 to 1921

By Anne McCollam
Copley News Service

Q. The jug in this picture was given to my mother around 1925. It is approximately 8 inches high, including the cork-lined stopper. The background is green and it is decorated with raised dots. On the bottom is a leaf and the words "Hand Painted - Nippon."

Anything you can tell me about the jug would be greatly appreciated.

A. Your jug was used to serve dessert wine. The decorative raised dots are called moriage.

Objects marked with the word "Nippon" were made in Japan from 1891 to 1921.

The value of your wine jug would probably be about $600 to $800.

Q. I received a pottery vase as a gift from an elderly friend. It is decorated with orange poppies and green leaves against a cream background. On each side there are scrolled handles. My vase stands 11 inches high, and the fluted top is embellished with gold. I have enclosed a drawing of the mark that is on the bottom of my vase.

I am very curious about the vase's age and value. Also, I would like to know if the manufacturer is still in business.

A. The mark you provided was used by Amphora Pottery Works in Turn-Teplitz, Bohemia. It was founded in 1892 by the firm Riessner & Kessel, which made pottery and porcelain until 1945. Most of their ware was inspired by flowing curvilinear Art Nouveau designs.

Turn-Teplitz was a leading pottery manufacturing center in the late 1800s and early 1900s. Your vase was made around 1900 and would probably be worth about $700 to $900.

Q. Could you give me some information on a pottery jardiniere that I have? It is dark green and decorated with water lilies and vines. The height is approximately 8 inches. On the bottom are the words "Dickensware - Weller - #204."

My wife wants to use it as a planter but, before she does, I would like to know what its value is.

A. Weller Pottery Co., Zanesville, Ohio, introduced the first Dickensware line around 1897. It was designed by Mr. Upjohn. This line is characterized by dark green, brown or blue background with flowers.

Shortly after, a second line was developed, also by Mr. Upjohn. It featured graffiti decoration with scenes inspired by Charles Dickens along with American Indians, monks and scenes from nature.

Around 1910 a third line was created by Frederick Hurten Rhead. This line was decorated with high-gloss finish and Dickens' figures in relief.

Your circa 1900 jardiniere would probably be worth about $375 to $425.

Q. I have a set of 12 ladder-back side chairs with rush seats. All are in excellent condition. These chairs were purchased at auction in Bergen County, N.J., in the late 1800s by my grandfather.

There are cabinetmaker's marks incised on the front posts of each chair. Nine are marked "CAD" and three are marked "AD." We believe these are marks of Cornelius Demarest and Abraham Demarest, who were cabinetmakers in Bergen County during the early to mid-1800s.

I would very much appreciate any additional information about my chairs that you could provide and an estimate of their value.

A. Charles A. Demarest was a turner who worked from 1800 to 1825 in Bergen County. He typically signed his initials on the front posts of chairs.

I have no record of an Abraham Demarest, however there is a carpenter by the name of Roelof Demarest. He worked in Bergen County and New York City in the late 1700s and early 1800s. Examine carefully the "A" on the three chairs. It is probably an "R."

A similar maple ladder-back chair is seen in "American Cabinetmakers: Marked American Furniture, 1640-1940" by William C. Ketchum Jr. of the Museum of American Folk Art.

Chairs of this quality should be personally examined by an expert to authenticate their provenance and value. Each chair would probably be worth at least $600.

Address your questions to Anne McCollam, P.O. Box 490, Notre Dame, IN 46556. For a personal response, include picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $5 per item (one item at a time).

This Nippon jug is probably worth between $600 and $800.

greatly to the timeless appearance of the home, making it look like a grand house that has 100 years of history within its walls.

"A lot of things in this home are unique, compared to other builders in the area," said Hatz, who is anxious to show his model to the public.

A partial list begins with the walnut flooring in the kitchen and library. The boards are a bit wider - 5 7/8 inches. Built-in's are the norm, not the exception.

Above the entryway is an open loft on the second story, which leads to the bedrooms on the second floor. Quigley points out that it's actually an extension of the grand entryway. Rather than a typical hallway, the area is set up as an art gallery. It's completely furnished with art and a seating area.

Upstairs, the children's suites feature Jack and Jill bathrooms with separate entries from either bedroom. The master bedroom has a bay window with a view of the woods, a fireplace, a closet with custom made dressing center, and a spacious master bath.

Natural materials are favored throughout the home with lots of warm woods and masonry, including granite and shale. Maple is used in the kitchen cabinets. The library and kitchen floors are walnut. Oak flooring is used in the nursery located off of the master suite. Flooring in the foyer and master bath are limestone with slate accents.

One favorite granite in dark hunter green with black and gold sparkle is called ubatuba, and is used throughout the powder room and the kitchen. It also creates an elegant fireplace surround in the parlor.

"We like to have subtle finish," Quigley said. "You can see that in the flooring, that it's not shiny. It's a more natural look. We used a satin finish for a more approachable look."

If you hate to cook, this might be the kitchen to change your mind. All stainless steel appliances and a commercial-quality chef's kitchen do everything but cook the food for you. A walk-in pantry, a butler's pantry between the kitchen and the dining room, and a separate vegetable sink in the work island are only a few of the extras.

For the grand tour of this luxury model, visit the Woods of Edenderry on the north side of Six Mile between Beck and Sheldon roads.

Mark and Eric Guidobono, CEO and president of Cambridge Homes, respectively, hosted the grand opening celebration of the Woods of Edenderry in the Monticello model home on Nov. 6. Several hundred invited guests sampled wine and hors d'oeuvres, toured the home, and listened to music provided by a three-piece jazz trio.

Although a price has not been established for the Monticello, Hatz estimates it will sell for around $1 million.

For more information about Cambridge Homes, call (248) 348-3800.

The garden in autumn

When harvesting pumpkins and winter squash, remember to leave 4-5 inches of stem attached for better keeping. Store them in a dark, dry place on boards or wooden shelves, never touching them. Store at 50 to 60 degrees, except acorn squash that stores best at 55.

Root crops - carrots, onions, etc. - need high humidity in storage (so skins won't shrivel with dryness) and temperatures of 32 to 40 degrees. Cut off the green tops to about 1 inch in length.

"Humified" grapes remaining on the vine are usually a sign of black rot. Pick them off immediately, take up fallen leaves and destroy to prevent spreading (of rot) next season.

BE APPROVED QUICKLY!

Home buying is an exciting adventure once your mortgage is approved. By following a few simple steps, you can breeze through loan approval, and be on your way to moving day.

Begin by reviewing your credit record. You can obtain a copy (for a nominal charge) by phoning the local credit bureau. Be certain all items shown are accurate. If errors appear, correct them before loan application. It saves time, and eliminates unnecessary explanations.

If making a downpayment, be sure the funds you will use are reflected on your bank statement. Lenders generally want to know not only how much cash you have, they also want to know where it is right now. The more documentation you take to your application interview, the faster loan approval will be granted.

Let your employer know they will be receiving an employment verification request from the lender. Ask them to respond promptly, if possible. Loan delays can often be traced back to employers who are slow to respond to this request.

Gather information on all income and debts, including statements, account numbers, and creditor addresses. All will be verified by the lender, thus providing a detailed accounting up front will also speed the process.

Mortgage lenders deal with facts and figures, and respond positively to applicants who respect their requests for information. For a fast, successful loan approval, provide all the details.

THE NEW SPIN ON REVERSE MORTGAGES

Until recently, reverse mortgages were offered as solutions to elderly homeowners in need of funds. Now, Fannie Mae is offering a new product for home buyers over the age of 62 which enables them to buy homes with a limited amount of cash and make no monthly payments. Take the case of the 68-year-old woman who wished to purchase a similarly priced house after selling her previous home for $100,000. On the basis of her age and the value of the property, she would qualify for a reverse mortgage of $28,800. Thus, she could put down $71,200 on the new property, retain the remainder of the cash, and never make a mortgage payment. The lender would recoup the mortgage debt when the house is sold, after she died or moved.

I have more than a decade of experience in the real estate field, and I am thoroughly trained to assist home buyers with important matters such as financing. There are a number of creative financing options that are gaining in popularity today, if you have any questions on loans, whether about finding competitive interest rates on traditional mortgages or locating alternative financing, be sure to ask me. Find me at the Coldwell/Banker Schweitzer Real Estate office at 418960 Six Mile Rd., or call me at 347-3050

HINT With the new reverse mortgages, neither the borrower nor the borrower's estate would ever own more than the value of the property - even if the loan balance exceeds that amount Grace Perry was named Classified Advertising Director of the Year by the SNA.

Grace Perry wins top honors among classified managers

By KERRY KLAUS
Staff Writer

When Grace Perry walked into the office of the South Lyon Herald 13 years ago, she had no idea that she would end up as an award-winning classified advertising manager.

She also had no idea that she would one day have to give an acceptance speech in front of hundreds of her colleagues at a national convention.

But that's just what Perry did last week during her tour as the Suburban Newspapers of America Association's Classified Advertising Director of the Year. Perry was selected from a pool of over 400 applicants in her field for the prestigious award.

Perry represented HomeTown Newspapers at the Classified Advertising Managers Conference in Atlanta, where she officially received the award and made it through the imminent speech.

Perry said she was both nervous and excited about the trip and award, which she initially found out about in August.

"I was very surprised," she said. "I can't even begin to tell you how it felt."

Perry said she was especially pleased to hear that Rich Perlberg, vice president and general manager of HomeTown Newspapers, was the person responsible for her award nomination.

"The job is challenging and the corporate office is a big support," she said. "I think you really need that kind of support from upper management."

In addition to Perlberg and advertising sales director Michael Preville, Perry cited her hard-working staff members as contributors to her recent success.

"This award is not just for me," she said. "I've got to pass the credit all up and down the ladder."

She also mentioned her family as a big source of daily support, including her husband, Al, and her children, Ryan, 11, and Elia, 7. As Howell residents, Perry and members of her family have been involved in a number of community organizations over the years, including the Howell Public Schools and the Howell Optimist Club.

"I'm very active," Perry said. "I think it makes a big difference to give back to your community."

Perlberg agreed that Perry's active interest in the community is one of her outstanding qualities.

"The fact is, she just does a great job," he said. "She's been very innovative."

Perlberg said that HomeTown's Green Sheet section has become a dominant force under her direction. She has built a strong staff that has implemented new advertising systems and adapted to many changes, according to Perlberg.

"She's really good at keeping morale up," he said. "There's just no other way to put it. If you wanted to invent a classified advertising director, you'd invent Grace Perry."

If "Hey, dad, can you lend me a $20?" is your teenager's idea of money management, the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants suggests you put together a quick lesson on money management skills. The teenage years are an ideal time to teach your children how to earn, spend, save and invest money.

MONEY RESPONSIBILITIES

Managing an allowance is one of the best ways to learn basic money management skills. For most parents, the big question is not whether to pay an allowance, but how much. To arrive at an appropriate amount, you should first determine what expenses you want your teen's allowance to cover.

Drawing up a budget of typical teen expenses provides your child with a lesson on how a budget works and helps you determine the right amount for your child. Most younger teens will do best with a weekly allowance, but as your teen grows older, you may want to switch to paying allowances biweekly or monthly, so that your child learns to manage money.

TEACH SMART SPENDING

Within reason, you should allow

Teach children to manage money

Money Management

your teenager freedom to decide how to spend his or her allowance. Strict spending controls limit your teen's opportunity to practice making wise spending decisions.

For example, try to resist the urge to give a lecture when your son liquidates his entire allowance at the local music store. Over time, he will learn—particularly if you don't bail him out every time he runs out of money.

ENCOURAGE SAVINGS

Early on, teens should learn the importance of earmarking a portion of their allowance for savings. Remember how satisfying it was to look in your bank book and see how much your savings had grown? While today's teens often have to settle for a monthly or quarterly statement, most of them still derive some sense of accomplishment from seeing their bank balance climb.

For most teens, it works best to divide savings strategy into short-term and long-term goals. Does your daughter have her eyes on inline skates? Does your son want a new mountain bike? These kinds of short-term goals teach your teen the rewards that can come from putting off instant gratification.

Just be sure your teen recognizes that long-term goals—such as college tuition—are equally important. One way to encourage your teen's long-term savings is to agree to match a certain amount, or provide a bonus each time he or she reaches a certain milestone.

TEACH INDEPENDENCE

When you're at the bank, consider having your older teen open a checking account. A checking account provides an additional measure of independence and serves as an important learning tool. No teenager should head off to college without knowing how to write checks, record transactions and reconcile a monthly statement.

TAKE STOCK

Once you're comfortable with your teenager's savings habits, you can introduce them to the world of investing. As minors, teens cannot purchase stocks themselves, but you can set up a custodial account and allow them to manage it.

A classic "hands on" approach to getting your kids interested in investing is to have them buy shares of stock in a company they know. Explain the link between the company's profitability and the value of their stocks and teach them how to follow the stock in the financial pages. Just be sure your teen understands that investing in the stock market works best as a long-term plan.

While teens might find it easier to relate to individual stocks, mutual funds provide another investment avenue. Several fund families now offer special funds that include stocks that appeal to children.

EARN AND LEARN

A summer job can help your teen learn not only how to manage money, but also how to earn it. Consider discussing entrepreneurial opportunities—like providing lawn services, giving music lessons, tutoring or coaching. You can also speak with them about the tax responsibilities that go hand in hand with earning money.

Housing starts drop 8.6 percent

Michigan 1997 housing project starts were down 8.6 percent from 1996 year-to-date totals through the month of September as compared to 9.85 through the month of August. September housing project starts were down 2.9 percent from September.

"September numbers were stronger in 1997 than they were in 1996 or 1995," commented Rick Delamater, president of the Michigan Association of Home Builders. "A lot of the strength can be attributed to multifamily housing with September unit starts up 9.3 percent over August unit starts."

Fixed-rate mortgages remained virtually the same at 7.53 percent compared to 7.54 percent in August, down from the 8.28 percent rate of a year ago. Lumber prices for 1,000 board feet of framing decreased to $398 in September from $417 in August.

The Michigan Association of Home Builders is comprised of more than 11,000 member companies, thus providing service to over 400,000 people in the home building/construction industry. MAHB also represents 36 local home builder associations throughout the state.

Waste panel named by Oakland County commissioners

The Oakland County Board of Commissioners has appointed 14 members to the Solid Waste Planning Committee.

The board unanimously supported the recommendations of the General Government Committee, chaired by Commissioner Kay Schmid, R-Nowi, Northville. The appointments are for two-year terms that extend through Oct. 11, 1999. The committee members will be making recommendations relative to the updating Oakland County's Solid Waste Management Plan which will be released for public comment in mid-1998.

Commissioner Dennis Powers, R-Highland, Milford, was reappointed as the elected county government representative to serve on the committee. Commissioner Powers expressed his appreciation to his fellow commissioners for their unanimous endorsement. Commissioner Eugene Kaczma, D-Madison Heights, Royal Oak, was also reappointed as the alternate elected county government representative.

The 14 members to the Solid Waste Planning Committee were appointed as follows: Solid Waste Management Industry—Robert Leininger, Yale Levin, Thomas Wafien, Mike Csapo; Environmental Interest Groups—Timothy Carpenter and Dawn Furlong; Elected County Government Official—Dennis Powers; Elected City Government Official—Nancy Bates; Elected Township Official—Jill Bastian; SEMCOG Representative Official—Ardath Regan; Industrial Waste Generators—Samuel Seabright; General Public—Pat Kresnak, A. Loyola Koch, Mary Ann Ryan.

It is anticipated that the committee will be meeting monthly, while the Solid Waste Management Plan is under development. After considering all public input on the draft plan, the committee will finalize its recommendations and submit them to the board of commissioners for approval.

The board of commissioners will submit the board's approved plan to each of the county's 61 municipalities for local approval. In accordance with Public Act 451 of 1994, the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Act, when at least 67 percent (or 41) of the municipalities approve the plan, it will then be submitted to the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality for final approval. The new Solid Waste Management Plan is anticipated to have final approval in 1999.

Americans love buying on credit, but if they're not careful some pretty scary things can happen.

The best way to avoid trouble is to stay informed and take action, says Carol Kurth, education coordinator for Credit Counseling Centers Inc., a not-for-profit Consumer Credit Counseling Service agency.

For some background, recently, the American Bankers Association released second quarter figures on the credit card delinquency rate (late payments over 30 days due) showing a jump to 3.69 percent of accounts, despite a booming economy and a low 4.9 percent jobless rate.

This over-extension of credit card debt comes when consumers pay only the minimum payment due month after month; take cash advances to pay daily living expenses; make late payments on important payments such as mortgages and utilities; and borrow from one lender to pay another.

This latter warning sign holds true when consumers consolidate several credit cards into a new one offered at a lower rate for usually a short period of time.

Here are some points to keep in mind when looking over offers so as not to get into trouble.

- Check those candy-coated offers: Some credit cards are offering lower minimum monthly payments but there may be a trick. Remember, the smaller your monthly payment, the longer it takes to pay off the debt and the more interest you pay in the long run. By paying a few dollars less each month and making a lower minimum monthly payment, you can have a tough time paying off your bill. Your best bet is to pay off your credit card debt as soon as you can.

There are other tricks out there, too. Be careful about "skip-a-month" payment offers. Remember, you can still pay interest on your outstanding balance and your total interest costs rise.

While cash advances can look attractive, keep in mind that interest usually accrues from the moment you accept the cash. If you add in transactions fees, annualized interest on cash advances can be more expensive than you think.

- Credit cards have credit limits. Know yours. Going over the limit can be expensive, Kurth advised. Many cards have over-the-limit fees of as much as $20. Don't be fooled by approval to go over your limit when you make a particular purchase. You may be charged a special fee for doing so. It is up to you to be aware of how much available credit you have. Lower your credit line if you do not need a high limit by calling the issuing bank and requesting they lower your limit.

- Beware of fraud. Be on the lookout for credit card fraud, an everyday happening in this day and age. When you use your card, watch the transaction carefully and make sure the clerk returns your card, receipts, and carbons. Be prepared for credit card theft as well. Keep a list of your credit card numbers in a secure place and include the name and phone number of each card issuer. Report lost or stolen cards immediately, especially ATM cards. If you report the loss before a thief uses the card, you cannot be held liable for any purchases made with a credit card. If a thief uses a card before you report it missing, (especially within 48 hours), the most you will owe on each card is $50. Request a copy of your credit history for a small fee from a credit reporting agency to check on negative remarks that are not true. Contact Experian 1-800-682-7654, Equifax 1-800-685-1111 or TransUnion 1-800-916-8800.

- Learn the facts: Learn the answers to basic questions about your credit cards: what is the interest rate and annual fee; does the card have a grace period and if so, how does it work? Be aware of any extra charges or fees for late payments or for going over your credit limit. Kurth suggested that by knowing these facts, you can make wise choices as to the best card for you.

THE HOME OF YOUR DREAMS MAY BE HERE!

Welcome to Dream Homes. Hometown Newspapers is proud to give you a chance to look at some exciting house plans of homes built right here in the area. The floor plans being presented here are submitted thanks to the Home Builders Association of Livingston County. All of these homes were featured homes for the Cavalcade of Homes tours within the past few years. The association reminds our readers to contact the builder about price, location or viewing availability. Since plans are copyrighted material, they may not be

7 Reasons to Choose Advanced:

- 1) Our Iron Clad Money Back Guarantee is our assurance to you. We Are Great Carpet Cleaners!
- 2) 5 & 7 Step Residue Free Methods keep your carpet cleaner longer.
- 3) Powerful Truck Mounted System cleans better and dries faster.
- 4) If spots are not removed by the initial cleaning we will send a Certified Master Cleaner & Spot Dye expert to your home FREE to evaluate stains and remove them if possible.
- 5) Convenient Appointment times. No waiting around , we give you a specific time and if we can't be there within 15 minutes of that time you will be called.
- 6) Ease of payment. We take Visa, MasterCard, Discover, Personal Checks and of course my personal favorite... Cash ( Just Joking, we love all forms of your money!!)
- 7) Friendly, knowledgeable office staff, and expert technicians. Along with personal attention from Owner!!

3M ScotchGard Doesn't Work!!

I have heard this from clients in the past. The number one reason 3M fails to work is errors by the technician. Either improper mixing or using the wrong applicator device. 3M wants to get you back. The product works! Just about everybody would pay extra to have the protection if they could just have some assurance it would work. How about a 1 year guarantee against spots or stains setting in your carpet? If you have us apply ScotchGard and you get a spot or stain 3M pays us to come and remove it. If we can't, they refund the purchase price of the 3M Application. I would call that a pretty strong commitment to the quality of the product. The average cost is about $15 to $25 per room and is well worth the investment.

The other guys are cheaper, why should I spend more with you?

I don't want to mislead you, our prices are higher than many other carpet cleaners. When you use Advanced you pay a little more and get a whole lot more thorough job (Guaranteed!) for the following reasons:

- 1) Pre-spotting carpet eliminates spots coming back up a few days after the carpet is cleaned.
- 2) Our pre-conditioning agents gently but effectively remove oils that hold the particulate soils in your carpet. This step is skipped by nearly every other carpet cleaner because it is expensive and time consuming. Without pre-conditioning you can not effectively clean a carpet. Also by skipping this step most carpet cleaners use an abundance of soap during the rinse phase. This leaves your carpet susceptible to rapid resoiling. ( I know you don't want that!!)
- 3) Thorough residue free rinse of soils and cleaning fluids. We pass over each area of the carpet 4 times to ensure complete and thorough cleaning. Our machinery even kills bacteria built up in the carpet.
- 4) Dry Vacuum pass over each area to speed up dry times. Average dry time is between 4 and 8 hours
- 5) Post cleaning grooming fluffs up carpet nap, and leaves the carpet with showroom new appearance!!
