Developers overcome obstacles to create Stonewater subdivision

By CHRIS C. DAVIS Staff Writer

Years of preparations and hours of massive reconstruction were given their due recognition Friday. when Northville Township officials saluted the efforts of developers of Stonewater, a new subdivision along Beck Road.

The ceremony was the culmination of legal footwork begun by Vorthville Township more than a decade ago and extensive physical restoration taken on by the developers. Township board members, as well as other local, county and state officials joined dozens of contractors in dedicating the location.

The land in question had been used for 50 years as a gravel mining operation, which left the land on the west side of Beck between Six and Seven Mile roads scarred for some time. Efforts by previous landowners to resurrect the land proved fruitless, as the site was graded and artificial dikes were constructed without first obtaining

"It really was a mess," said business partner and Clinton Township developer Richard Ives. "We'd been looking at this area for a long time, but most of our work has been up around Rochester Hills."

The first step in the process. pursuant to a court's consent judgment, was to improve the natural topography first, including the restoration of the Johnson Drain, a tributary of the Rouge River

The stream was home to trout many years ago, but dilapidation of the site caused the trout population to diminish. Ives said the lure of bringing trout back to the area was one of the motivations for restoring the site.

Department of Environmental Quality director Russ Harding gave a brief presentation at the ceremony, saying that Stonewater was an example of how enterprise and the environment could be

Morthville, Novi residents want decision on proposed Kroger stripmall development

At their Sept. 14 meeting, the Novi City Council learned that the municipality's handbook mandates that a rezoning request travel straight from the planning commission to the council's next available meeting.

The issue came up because developer Stuart Frankel - after taking home a Sept. 2 negative recommendation from the commissioners - asked for more time to review his rezoning application for 24 acres west of the Eight Mile/Beck Road intersection.

Since then, the council's had two meetings and some Novi and Northville residents of the area are beginning to wonder what "available means.

The sort of delay tactics put forth by Mr. Frankel are not appreciated.

The agenda is "not manipulated by the developer." Mayor Kathleen McLallen said. She, city manager Ed Kriewall and city clerk Tonni Bartholomew prepare the schedule, McLallen explained.

Local artists, entertainers and restaurants will be in the spotlight tonight as AMC's new 20-screen theater on Haggerty Road opens with a black tie "Hollywood Swing" to benefit charity.

Movies, food, and swing lessons will be part of the celebration.

It's a fun night to get dressed up and go out and have some fun," said Terri O'Brien, president of Street Marketing, which is staging the event. "It'll give people a taste of Hollywood, AMC style."

Tickets are $25 and include food and spirits from eleven local restaurants like Aladdin's. On the Border, Chili's and Cooker.

Artists displaying their work include Tyree Guyton, creator of the Heidelberg Project and Northville painters Jeff Von-Buskirk, Matt Gordon and Yueqi

Students from Northville's Center Stage and Piazza dance companies will perform in the lobby. along with an opera singer, actor Paul Henry and the Plymouth Theater Guild.

Arthur Murray Dance Studio instructors will offer swing lessons to the accompaniment of The Starlight Drifters while WXYZ's Mike Holfield acts as Master of Ceremonies.

Of the ticket price, $21 will go to the Rainbow Connection, a Mount Clemens- based charity that grants wishes to children with life threatening illnesses it's time to unpack those cozy sweaters, stockpile firewood and crank up your hot tub.

That is, if you have one.

If you don't, a new Northville business can help. Gold Coast Spas, located at 126 MainCentre, can help you pick out your ideal tub and then install it on your deck, cement patio or inside your walkout base-After that, it's as easy as filling it with the hose and letting the

A test tub and change room soon to be installed at the rear of the store will let customers get a feel for the merchandise before they take the plunge.

The outlet also sells saunas. which range in price from $1,200 to $3,600 depending on their size.

All you need are the measurements, according to Ilitch, to get a cedar sauna assembled in your home, which will allow you to fight off winter chills with a pitcher of water poured over the hot coals.

llitch soon hopes to expand her inventory to include furniture, tableware and torches for outdoor entertaining.

From bar tables with bistro chairs to outdoor fireplaces, she said the merchandise currently on order from abroad will be different from anything else sold in Northville.

"I'm going to try to be a little more courageous than what you see up and down Main Street. I'm not going to be as traditional." llitch said. "It's going to be a very eclectic mix, and I think Northville is ready for a little more trendy product.

In a couple of weeks Ilitch said she plans to have her store full of selections of ornate candles. scented soaps and luxury towels. Originally, from Livonia, Ilitch

Association discusses methods to improve Victorian Festival

By WENSDY WHITE Staff Writer

As Northville's 10th annual Victorian Festival proved that the tradition is continuing to grow, merchants gathered to discuss how the event could better reach its goal of bringing more business to downtown Northville.

About 40 members of the Northville Central Business Association discussed the festival at a meeting September 30 at Genitti's Hole-In-The-Topping the list of suggestions was rearranging the art booths that backed up against the stores along Main Street on Saturday and Sunday.

The merchants would prefer the booths face the shops," said Toni Genitti. "We want (The Northville Arts Commission) to know how much we appreciate this event. If we could get them to follow these guidelines. I know it would be a success well into Merchants complained that the artists' tents blocked the view of their shops from the street and packing materials the vendors stored behind their tents provided unsightly obstructions on the sidewalks.

Fire Chief James Allen suggested that the booths be set up back to back in a row along one curbside. opening up to merchants on both sides and still preserving a fire lane down Main Street.

"I do think there can be some creative placement so we're all happy and I can keep the town safe, Theresa Shierloh of Dancing Eye Gallery at the corner of Main and Center streets said that although the festival offered many rides and games for children, adult entertainment was lacking. The antique show could become so much better.

There was only one vendor there," she said, referring to the Center Street antique tent.

Shierloh also said she was very busy that week-end but many of her out-of-town customers were asking 'Where's the Festival?'

"We need more volunteers, more historical perspective, more costume emphasis. Each year could them," he said.

"Give me one good reason to contribute to the

be more thematic like the Renaissance Festival." she said.

When a man got badly burned outside her shop while lighting a tank of propane. Shierloh also became concerned about public safety.

In the past, a first aid center was staffed by University of Michigan Health Center professionals and Allen said there's no reason that couldn't be arranged again.

"An event that size should have a First Aid Station," he said.

Public safety was also mentioned by another merchant who said she heard complaints that the non-profit vending area on North Center Street became overly crowded, and children playing at the game tables were in danger of getting lost.

That problem has already been solved, said Northville Community Chamber of Commerce director Laurie Marrs. Next year, all the game booths will be moved out of the food vending area closer to Kid's Korner.

However, the criticism was constructive in light of the fact that the festival was Northville's largest ever, with 40,000 people attending.

For non-profit organizations like Northville's Early Bird Kiwanis club, the event marks their major fund-raiser of the year and allows them to set aside money for their Northville High Scholar ship program and to send needy children to sunf-

In addition, Northville Youth Assistance raised $2,071 selling Coca-Cola products. The money will supplement their youth mentoring program.

Overall, the merchants agreed that to improve. the festival needs more participation.

"I do think you're going to see more merchant participation next year," Genitti said. "It takes money to put festivals on, maybe we can even hire people next year to walk around in costume."

Allen said the festivals pose inconveniences but their purpose should not be lost sight of.

These festivals are good for the town. They create problems for all of us but we can live with

Alert neighbor thwarts break-in attempt

An alert neighbor thwarted a break-in attempt on the 900-block of Allen Drive, which occurred around 4:15 p.m. on October 1.

The woman told police she was sitting in her living room looking out her picture window when she saw a man emerge from a neighboring yard and begin to kick and push at the side door of a home across the street.

While she was on the phone with police, the burglar looked over his shoulder, spotted her in the window and fled toward Novi Street.

Police searched but found no trace of the man, described as caucasian, 18 or 19 years old, wearing all black with short black hair and a tall, thin build.

Police determined the suspect didn't get inside the house and the 72-year-old homeowner confirmed that nothing was missing.

HUNTING FOR TROUBLE: A 26-year-old Livonia man who told police he drank three beers after teaching a friend to bow hunt was arrested for drunk driving around 12:45 a.m. October 2.

Police pulled over the driver when he drove through a yellow light at Eight Mile and Taft and then continued through a red light at Eight Mile and Randolph.

After smelling alcohol, police put the driver through a series of sobriety tasks. Although he recited the alphabet, calendar months and numbers flawlessly, he staggered and stumbled and almost fell back into his car.

Tests later revealed his blood alcohol level at .19 and .21 per-

BREAK-IN: A new home which a sales team had hoped to use as a model was reportedly broken into overnight Sept. 30.

Police found pry marks on the door and windows of the Wildflower property, and were told by the property manager that several pieces of display furniture and appliances had been removed from the home.

Among them - a refrigerator. estimated to weigh 550 pounds. The manager said such an item would have required multiple persons to move, as well as a truck to haul away.

No tracks were found on the front lawn of the house, nor any skid marks on the floor of the garage or driveway to indicate the refrigerator was dragged out.

Losses totaled around $7,500. while damages were assessed at BUNS ON THE RUN: A 22-yearold Detroit man was apprehended by Meijer store security at around 7:15 a.m. Oct. 1 after he was spotled attempting to leave the store concealing a $50 headset radio.

The man was also cited with taking a 70 cent cinnamon roll from the store's bakery.

Township's 100-year biography completed

'Beginning' done following months of interviews, collecting photos

Four hundred dollars for road construction in 1998 won't get you but a few square yards of concrete. A century ago, $400 was the entire Northville Township road

That was just one of the curious findings in the new local history book, Northville Township: From the Beginning," which details the township's colorful past and looks ahead to the next 100 years.

Foundation director Shari Peters said she was happy with the end results of the book, which took more than a year to compile through dozens of interviews with long-time residents, many of whom contributed photographs to illustrate the manuscript.

Really, what this is, is the remembrances of a lot of the people who've been here the longest." she said. "They're the ones who remember what life in the township was like and what our community used to look like."

Unlike many history books, "From The Beginning" isn't a chronology from cover to cover. Rather, the book is broken down

'It was a lot of work for everyone involved in this project, but I think we all had fun learning about our history," Peters said.

The book also contains a final chapter written by township supervisor Karen Woodside, which summarizes the township's 100year history and takes a look toward the future.

"I think that's one of the neatest elements of this book - that years down the road we can see how our vision of what the township would look like actually turned out," she

The cover photo of the book depicts a driveway along Six Mile Road as it appeared during the winter months of the 1940s.

It had been hoped the book would be on store shelves by April, but lack of printing money set the project back six months.

The book is one of the many projects the Foundation has taken on in 1998 as part of Northville Township's centennial celebration. The year began with a horsedrawn carriage procession down Six Mile Road.

A benefit golf outing was scheduled for September.

"Northville Township: From The Beginning" sells for $20 and may be purchased at the township Civic Center, township finance building, the "Friends" Northville Library store and Northville City Hall.

Living history farm planned by Foundation

By CHRIS C. DAVIS Staff Writer

With the history of Northville Township now written and ready for sale, Northville Community Foundation director Shari Peters said attention is now being directed to creation of a working farm which would reflect the township's agricultural past.

Peters said the motivation for establishment of the farm was generated while researchers conducted interviews with longtime residents, many of whom expressed an interest in preserving a slice of the township.

And, Peters said, the desire for establishing "Heritage Farms" is strong enough so that it's a matter of when, and not if, the project with surface.

This is something that's going to happen, and I hope that it's something other communities will want to copy." Preliminary plans for Heritage Farms are begun being drawn up. It's hoped that Michigan State University would want to form a partnership with the Foundation to create the farm. Peters said conversations she's had with children in the area lead her to believe the project would have community backing, as well.

Ray Novelly and Lorie Wyant now work together in Northville and live within a mile of each other across the border in Novi.

"I never would have thought I'd be lucky enough to have my sister as a business neighbor," Novelly said. Novelly, a former advertising executive and his wife Lorie, a dental hygienist, quit their careers to pursue their dreams of owning a business.

When they discovered an elite group of bakers launching the Great Harvest franchise and an empty storefront in Northville, they realized they'd found the perfect recipe.

That's when Ray picked up the phone and called his sister, who was then living in Ferndale.

Although Wyant was a successful commercial designer she had dreamed of owning an upscale card and gift store one day.

She took the plunge. According to Wyant and Novelly. the siblings have enjoyed tremendous success since opening day in

The Novelly's also realized another dream with the births of Tommy, 3, and Julie, 2.

We jumped wholeheartedly in the business thinking children weren't an option for us and two years later we were blessed," Novelly said.

Novelly and Wyant are the youngest of eight entrepreneurial siblings but said there has been little competition between them.

It's just the opposite. I'd like to think part of our success is due to the fact that we're here to support each other. That's the way our parents raised us." Wyant said.

Geake to remain busy during last months of term

By CHRIS C. DAVIS Staff Wnter

With little more than two months remaining before his term in Lansing is up, state senator Bob Geake has a number of items he'd like to clear off his "to-do" list.

It's going to be a busy last few weeks for us." said Geake. R-Northville. "I'm hoping we can get as many of these things taken care of as we can."

Geake is seeking

House approval and a gubernatorial signature on several items, including:

• A pair of child support payment bills. "I'm hoping we can get as many The first would see to it that the first-priority recipient of back child support payments is the custodial parent. As it stands, Geake said a parent whose spouse become delinquent in making child support payments often needs to enroll in welfare programs. When the owing parent is located, the first wave of money sent in is designated for the state.

"I'd like to see parents as having first dibs on the money that comes back in." Geake said. "Sometimes there isn't a second slice of the pie, since a deadbeat parent will make one payment and then disappear again."

The second bill would make willful child support non-payment a felony.

· Another welfare reform bill. This one. Geake said, would see to it that a welfare recipient who relocates from another state would be given the same amount of money as the state from where he or she moved from, for the first six months of residency.

Ohio, Illinois and Indiana all pay less than we do." Geake said. They'll still get their money, but not any more than what they had before they came to Michigan."

• Another move to the privatization realm, this time in the corrections front. Geake has introduced legislation to make any future prison construction and operations to be done through private agencies.

*Prisons are very expensive things to build and operate, Geake said. We pay very good wages and have exceptional benefit packages for the people who work on prisons or in prisons."

Many other states have opted to privatize their corrections programs. Geake said, saying it has proven to be a more cost-effective means of housing prisoners.

• An extension of current legislation which allows community mental health boards to retain up to 5 percent of their annual budget for the following fiscal year. Geake said the measure allows for a moderate amount of advance financial planning on the part of the boards, rather than having to return to the state any money which wasn't spent that year.

A WAR in the ring

WWF style wrestling takes off with area teens

By WENSDY WHITE Staff Writer

Wearing a blue and silver sequined mask and playing up the character "Tigerstyle," recent Northville High School graduate Tom Zubor stood on the turnbuckle of the wrestling ring in the South Lyon High School gym.

As the crowd chanted his name, Zubor gyrated his hips and taunted the crowd, fust moments before he was flung over the ropes onto a table that smashed to bits.

The wrestling continued outside the ring as Zubor's opponent chased him and managers and security guards got into the fray.

Back in the ring, he was subjected to a figure four leg lock and an elbow to the face.

Although he fought back with a drop kick to his opponent's stomach, falling sidelong on the mats with an exaggerated crash, Tigerstyle was finally defeated by a suplex pin.

"He got the best of me." Tigerstyle said after the match. "I tried with all my tiger ability."

Zubor. 18, was just one of a host of costumed wrestlers that fought in seven matches at WAR Wrestling's September to Dismember.*

After learning about the independent wrestling federation from a friend, Zubor began training two days a week at Austin's Wrestling School in Flat Rock, Michigan.

Although WAR Wrestling promoters could not be reached for comment, the organization apparently has its roots in backyard wrestling matches. Since then it has grown to include a hot line. a venue at South Lyon High School and guest appearances by professionals like The Boston Brawler, who will wrestle at WAR's "Ouchtoberfest '98."

The matches attract fans of televised professional wrestling, 150 of which turned out to see Bad Moon Rising. Jerome "Do-It" Pruitt and The Scufflin' Hillbillies Sept. 25.

Among them was Zubor's friend Jayse O'Brien, a Northville High sophomore.

I think it's great," O'Brien said. "It's fun being here. I know it's white trash. you could say, but it's fun. I know it's all choreographed. The only thing that actually hurts are the slams." Also in the bleachers was Meads Mill Middle School seventh-grader A. J. Carr, who, as one of the voices on the WAR Hotline, gets behind the scenes.

"It's kind of fun knowing what's going to happen and having more knowledge than everyone else does." Carr said. "Everyone loves it."

Everyone, that is, except Carr's father, George, who picked his son up from Brighton for the event.

"It's a waste of $10 as far as I'm concerned, but he likes it," George Carr said. "For some of them, they get too involved. They blur the line between fantasy and reality, but it's harmless enough for a kid who's got his head on straight.

Among George Carr's criticisms is that WAR is cashing in on WWF's popularity by charging $5 admission and selling merchandise.

He also said it promotes violence and poor sportsmanship.

"As long as there's pent up demand and people are willing to spend money, this ype of thing will proliferate." Carr said.

Catch live WAR Wrestling at "Ouchtoberfest '98" set for 7 p.m., October 16 at South Lyon High School. For more information call (734) 332-9446.

Northville teen and WAR wrestler Tom Zubor, aka "Tigerstyle," takes his lumps in the ring during a recent WAR wrestling match in South Lyon. The newly-formed amateur wrestling association has become a big hit with area teenagers.

HEALTH & LIFESTYLE

New north suburban sports and fitness megacenters offer something for everyone

By Kim Kennedy

Conventional wisdom says you can't be all things to all people, but one Midwest-based company makes it look easy.

Life Time Fitness is one of he fastest growing health and fitness companies in the country and, perhaps, the most forward-thinking company in the industry.

"Our mission," says founder and president Bahram Akradi, "is to provide an educational, entertaining, friendly and inviting, functional and innovative environment of uncompromising quality that meets the health and fitness needs of the entire family."

The company's three new 95,000 sq. ft. centers serve as an example of how diligently they carry out their mission.

Superior amenities and services

The Life Time Fitness approach to health, sports and fitness facilities resembles that of a high-end department store: Everything you could need or want under one roof. A wide array of amenities includes state-of-the-art cardiovascular and resistance training machines, the company's trademarked large-screen entertainment system, swimming pools, waterslides, multiple indoor rock climbing walls, basketball/volleyball courts, racquetball/squash courts, aerobics and cycling studios, extensive free weight center— plus special family locker rooms that provide added privacy and convenience for parents with opposite sex chil-

Very few boundaries are placed on the array of services provided by Life Time Fitness, as well. Members enjoy free childcare services, free educational seminars, free lockers, free towel service and free aerobic instruction. Tanning, therapeutic massage and certified personal trainers are also available.

Furthermore, Life Time Fitness clubs are open 24hours a day, seven days a week to accommodate the busiest schedule. Adding to the superior level of service are a unique health food cafe and a full-service salon that offers a variety of hair, nail and spa services.

There is truly something for everyone with everything under one roof.

Friendly and inviting Life Time Fitness takes every step necessary to ensure that all aspects of every club create an environment that is friendly and inviting.

Each inch of the physical facility receives special consideration and the effect is evident the moment guests enter. Color psychology, multi-level lighting and ergonomic design are all employed to create an environment of uncompromising quality.

The company also believes that for any environment to be truly inviting, it must also be clean. As a result, Life Time Fitness has invested in unique technology that helps maintain immaculate facilities. Customdesigned airflow systems carefully monitor composition and exchange air content up to four times per hour. Automated sanitizing systems release a pressurized spray to keep shower rooms safe and spot-

On a more personal level, every employee is required to complete a comprehensive training program—through the company's Life Time Fitness University—in order to ensure friendly, professional conduct and superior service.

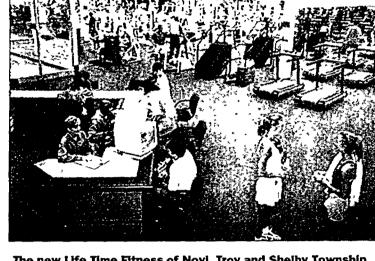

Another example of the company's dedication to creating an inviting environment is their policy of eliminating long-term contracts and allowing members to cancel at any

Fun and entertaining

In their effort to provide fitness that's fun-and something for everyone—the new Life Time Fitness clubs of Novi, Troy and Shelby Township feature two floors and 95,000 sq. ft. of cutting-edge facilities. The first floor's glass atrium lobby is surrounded by a variety of large-scale amenities that include a swimming pool complex with two-story water-slides, interconnected rock climbing walls, basketball and volleybail courts, racquetbail and squash courts, whirlpools, dry saunas and immaculate locker rooms. Each locker room also features its own steam room, tanning room, hair dryers, and a lounge area with large-screen television and courtesy telephone. Every aspect seems dedicated to making each visit as entertaining as possible.

Upstairs, members will find a variety of aerobic, step aero-bic and cycling studios surrounding an extensive selection of free weight systems and more than 400 resistance training and cardiovascular machines-all of which make any workout more enjoyable.

Perhaps most interesting is the company's trademarked Multivision Frequen-Sees entertainment system; an invention that allows members to workout while watching any of twenty 60-inch television screens and listening to the audio portion on the FM band of a personal headset stereo.

"The whole idea is to make the experience more entertaining, less boring, so you get a better workout and better results," says Akradi. "We do whatever we can to provide members with a fun place they really want to go-not just a fitness place they think they ought to go."

Commitment to education

Life Time Fitness places such a high value on education that they now invest more than one-half million dollars each year in special courses for its staff and membership through the company's own Life Time Fitness University (LTU).

"Education is the single most important element in creating a healthier lifestyle and a key element in our commitment to members," adds Michael Brown, Vice President of Training and Development. "If you'll learn more about how your body works, you'll get more results from your workouts and stay a member much longer. That's why we discount our enrollment fee for new members who'll attend one of our free fitness and nutrition seminars. We want to make a meaningful difference in the quality of people's lives."

Deer-car accidents are a local problem

By WENSDY WHITE Staff Writer

With bow hunting and mating season underway, Northville's deer are wandering from the woods. increasing your chance of hitting them on local roads.

Motorists htt 1,553 deer in Oakland County last year, ranking the county fifth in the state for the most deer-car accidents.

The problem is less severe in Wayne County, where 361 deer-car crashes were reported last year.

Still, that's almost one per day in the county according to statistics recently released by the Michigan Deer Crash Coalition.

Coalition chairman Jerry Basch. who also heads AAA Michigan's community safety department. said deer-car crashes are particularly common in October and November.

This is when the deer are moving around. Rutting season and hunters in the woods make them move. They are also naturally foraging about for food because it is getting more scarce," Basch said.

Due to higher numbers of cars on the road and declining woodlands, deer-car crashes are increasing. They account for 15 percent of all accidents on Michigan roads, with the majority occurring between 6 p.m. and midnight on two lane local roads where the speed limit is 55 or more.

The only way to prevent an accident is to be alert while driving and aware that if you see one deer

Being alert is.

Because hunting is prohibited in Maybury State Park, the park's deer population contributes to the likelihood of the problem hitting home.

"I think it's a little on the overcrowded side," park manager Gary Fischer said of the number of deer, adding that deer-car crashes can be "a problem at times."

Deer are able to leap the six-foot chain link fence surrounding the park and roam freely through the surrounding areas.

Most people like to see them but they're upset when they come into their yards and eat their flowers and gardens." Fischer said. At that point, people call the park asking rangers to come and get the deer.

They're not our deer. They're able to come and go quite freely and that's when they get in trouble on the roads," Fischer said. Fischer said park officials have met with Michigan's Department of Natural Resources and United Conservation Clubs to discuss ways to thin the herd, perhaps by offering controlled hunts. Ideas include bow hunting restricted to weekend mornings or youth under age 18.

Fischer cautioned that nothing has been decided yet and no action will be taken until next fall

NATIONAL FLOOD INSURANCE PROGRAM PROPOSED FLOOD ELEVATION DETERMINATIONS FOR THE CITY OF NORTHVILLE, WAYNE AND OAKLAND COUNTIES, MICHIGAN

AGENCY: Federal Emergency Management Agency

ACTION: Proposed rule. SUMMARY

Technical information or comments are solicited on the proposed modified base annual chance) flood elevations shown on your community's preliminary Revised Flood Insurance Rate Map. These base flood elevations are the basis of the floodplain management measures that the community is required to either adopt or show evidence of being already in effect in order to qualify or remain qualified for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) The proposed base flood elevations modify the base flood elevations shown on your community's presently effective Flood Insurance Rate Map

The penod for comment will be ninety (90) days following the second publication of this proposed rule in a newspaper of local circulation in the community.

Preliminary Revised Flood Insurance Rate Maps showing the proposed modified base flood elevations and their delineation are available for review at the

Northville City Hall, 215 West Main Street, Northville, Michigan. Send comments to: The Honorable Christopher J. Johnson

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency gives notice of the proposed rminations of modified base flood elevations, in accordance with Section 110 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (Pub L. 93-234), 87 Stat. 980, which added Section 1363 to the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 (Pub. L. 90-448)), 42 U.S.C. 4001-4128, and 44 CFR 67 4(a)

These elevations, together with the floodplain management measures required by Section 60.3 of the program regulations, are the minimum that are required. They should not be construed to mean the community must change any existing ordinances that are more stringent in their floodplain management requirements. The community may at any time enact stricter requirements on its own, or pursuant to policies established by other Federal, State, or regional entitles. These proposed elevations will also be used to calculate the appropriate flood insurance premium rates for new buildings and their contents.

Pursuant to the provisions of 5 USC 605(b), the Administrator, to whom authority has been delegated by the Director, Federal Emergency Management Agency, hereby certifies that the proposed floor elevation determinations, if promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entitles. A flood elevation determination under Section 1363 forms the basis for new local ordinances, which, if adopted by a local community, will govern future construction within the floodplain area. The elevation determinations, however, impose no restriction unless and until the local community voluntarily adopts floodplain ordinances in accord with these elevations. Even if ordinances are adopted in compliance with Federal standards, the elevations prescribe how high to build in the floodplain and do not prohibit development. Thus, this action only forms the basis for future local actions. It imposes no new requirement; of itself it has no economic impact.

Proposed base flood elevations along flood sources studied in detail are shown on the Preliminary Revised Flood Insurance Rate Map. Lessees and owners of real property in the City of Northville, are encouraged to review these maps and related natenals at the address cited above. The proposed base flood elevations are as fol-

Lawmakers meet with school officials

By WENSDY WHITE Staff Writer

Northville is facing tremendous growth, confusing state funding and construction policies and stringent mandates for dealing with weapons, drugs and arson in the schools.

Those were topics brought up at the breakfast table recently as Lansing legislators met with local school officials over poached eggs, fresh fruit and hot coffee.

Sen. Bob Geake (R-Northville). and State Reps. Gerry Law (R-Plymouth), and Nancy Cassis (R-Novi) made the date to discuss issues that impact public schools.

Sen. Bill Bullard, (R-Milford) was invited but unable to attend.

The meeting came after legislative session ended for the year on Sept. 24.

"We don't do this often enough," said Cassis, a former psychologist for the Novi School District. "I really believe we have a strong legislative team representing Northville. We are all very supportive of each other

First on the breakfast agenda was the School Construction House Bill 5654.

Rezmierski took the opportunity to tell legislators about the problems the district is facing in construction of the new high school on Six Mile Road.

He said that in addition to facing lawsuits, the district has run into innumerable administrative hur-

"Now we're finding if we're not in court we have all these check points thrown at us all along." Rezmierski said. "We have been held hostage in constructing our new high school. At one level there is a sense of harassment."

The topic was not addressed by anyone at the table before the discussion turned to the state weapons, rape and arson law which requires any students in violation to be suspended for 180

Some members of the school board believe local districts should have more discretion to punish students on a case-by-case basis.

Although Northville has applied the law in few instances, school superintendent Dr. Leonard Rezmierski mentioned a 1997 incident when a sophomore brandished a small pocket knife in shop class and subsequently was banished from school for the rest of the year. A state-mandated petitioning process will keep him out of school for most of this semester as well.

Being out 180 days is truly catastrophic in this case." Rezmierski said. "Unless they're well-to-do, what private parochial school will they go to? The option is home schooling unless they move out of state."

School board vice-president Joan Wadsworth added that the district already has a strict code of conduct and said she feels that having options at the local level would prevent students from falling through the cracks. Law responded that the bill was written mainly to help school districts plagued with violence enforce punishment.

The concept is good but the problem, and we admit it, is where do (the students) go? We didn't worry about that at the time." Law

However, he said with 64 new people coming into the legislature next term, he doubts the law will be relaxed any time soon. Once you get these laws on the books, especially when they deal with criminal acts, the legislature is reluctant to make changes in a short period of time because then you're perceived as weak on crime," he said.

Other subjects at the table included:

 Recent legislation that allocated a one-time payment of $51 per student to every district in the state this year, and increased the basic per pupil funding from the state by $190 in the year 1999-

•Northville's partnership with the Novi School District, which involves sharing AP classes, a gymnastic team and community education. Cassis commended the Township trustees study reimbursement ordinance

By CHRIS C. DAVIS Staff Writer

Faced with bills for problems they didn't cause. Northville township trustees are moving toward establishing an ordinance to collect reimbursement from companies which damage utility lines during construction.

Township officials were summoned twice this summer to handle gas line leaks which were later determined to be caused by construction firms.

The first, in July, was hit by a Brighton contractor working on behalf of Detroit Edison. The second was struck by a team laying fiber-optic cable.

The township has been stuck paying the bill for fixing utility accidents, as no mechanism had existed to recover the costs associated with them, short of pursing a court order.

to pay for accidents makes the ordinance necessary.

"Mainly, this is for those unusual situations like the ones we had with the gas leak," Hillebrand said. There are a number of communities around us which have ordinances like these already, so it's not unusual. This will give us some teeth to get our money back.

Totaling up manpower and supplies, the two gas accidents have cost the township in excess of $5,000 to correct. That was too. much, in the opinion of township supervisor Karen Woodside.

These are expensive accidents,* she said. When you have resources like MissDig at your disposal, it seems to us that these sorts of incidents could be easily avoided.

National Merit Scholar program honors eleven students

By WENSDY WHITE Staff Writer

Five Northville High School students are in the upper half of the top 1 percent of students across the nation as recognized by the 1999 National Merit Scholarship Competition.

At an honors breakfast held at Rocky's on Monday, six more were commended in the competition as being in the top 1 percent in the

This is the cream of the cream of the crop in terms of the academic quality of students," said Northville High principal Dr. Tom Johnson. "They rank as the top students at Northville High."

They make up 3.5 percent of Northville's 311 seniors.

The semi-finalists are seniors Martin Lenardon, Adrienne Manarina, Margaret Myers, Precious Shah, and Kristen Van Tuyl.

They will compete with 15,500 other U.S. semi-finalists for 7,600 corporate sponsored scholarships totaling over $28 million.

The students qualified for the program by scoring high in the 1997 Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test as juniors.

To advance to the Finalist level. the students must maintain an outstanding academic record, be endorsed and recommended by Northville High administrators and teachers and submit SAT I scores.

They must also fill out an extensive application with an autobiographical essay detailing their involvement in school and the community.

About 90 percent of the semifinalists will advance to the next level, according to the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Johnson said that nearly every semi-finalist at Northville High School has been named a finalist in recent years and gone on to earn scholarships.

The finalists will be announced in April 1999, joining the list of more than 170,000 other students who have earned the Merit Scholar title since the first awards were offered in 1956.

Commended students will go on to receive recognition at Northville High's Senior Honors Night and will be able to signify on college applications that they were at the top of their class.

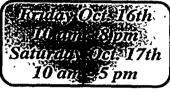

The commended students are Kelly Dunkerley, Ben Finch; Alexander Lucas, Cyndi Mills, Andrew Prain and Amanda Sprad-

The awardees were honored in front of their parents, their princhpal Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski, board of education members and Northville High School staff at a breakfast banquet October 5.

In turn, they spoke about teach-. ers and events that had an impact on their lives and announced their college plans.

"It's a pretty significant honor for students," said Northville High counselor Carolyn Bovair. "I think our students represent Northville

Adult daycare approved for Novi

By JEREMY McBAIN Staff Writer

The Novi City Planning Commission passed a proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance allowing an adult daycare to be built in Novi, but not before addressing concerns on the size and need for the facility.

The zoning amendment that was requested, would amend Section 302, subsection 7 of the zoning ordinance to include requirements of a adult day care center.

According to the amendment, an adult day care center and site would be required to be no less than five acres in size, not operate between 8 p.m. and 6 a.m. and provide supervised activities.

The amendment also states there would be no retail commercial sales permitted on the site and non-incidental medical treatment and acute physical rehabilitation are prohibited.

The amendment received the support of James Wahl, director of Novi Planning and Community

Attorneys review King's Mill flood

By CHRIS C. DAVIS Staff Writer

Counsel for Kings Mill residents will meet up again tomorrow with attorneys for Wayne County, Northville Township and Ravines subdivision developers in an attempt to settle flooding complaints from Kings Mill.

Taylor attorney Randall Pentiuk said he could not elaborate on what agreements had been reached with the parties involved, but did say a compromise was in the works.

The legal minds converged in Wayne County Circuit Court on Sept. 18 and told judge Robert Colombo an out-of-court agreement was being worked on. In a lawsuit filed last month, Kings Mill alleged the detention pond on the Ravines work site was improperly constructed, ultimately leading to the extensive flooding problems experienced in early August.

An estimated 4 inches of rain fell on metro Detroit that day, causing water and mud overflows in several portions of Northville Township. Kings Mill residents turned out in force at the August township board of trustees meeting, expressing their frustration over the situation.

A packed civic center meeting room of residents claimed that 18 months of complaints made to the township had netted few results. Township supervisor Karen Woodside and public services director Don Weaver assured those in attendance that construction compliance was being sought from Fairchild Development, the company responsible for the Ravines.

Two views of a scandal

Knollenberg, Reed hold differing views on Clinton sex scandal

By JEREMY McBAIN Staff Writer

The partisan conflict over the scandal surrounding President Bill Clinton, has reared its head in the race for the 11th Congressional district.

While Republican Congressman Joe Knollenberg currently holds the 11th district seat, he is being challenged this year by Democratic candidate Travis Reeds.

As with many political races throughout the country this year, the candidates views on the Clinton scandal mirror the partisan battle in Congress.

Trent Wisecup, spokesman for Knollenberg, said the Congressman believes that Clinton should be investigated, because he committed perjury when he lied under oath about having an affair with Monica Lewinsky.

There is also evidence he obstructed justice," Wisecup said.

Election

However, Reeds disagrees. *1 don't think (Clinton lying) is what this is all about," he said. "I think this is about creating an issue to run on in November.'

Reeds said the scandal is nothing more than an attempt by the Republicans to get away from debating the real issues, such as health care and education.

But Wisecup insisted the matter is serious. When you are under oath and you swear to tell the truth and you do not do that that's a crime," he said

Wisecup said the reason the matter has been dragged out so long is because President Clinton choose to lie and Kenneth Starr may have evidence on other abuses committed by Clinton.

Reeds responded and said he felt the Lewinsky story was nothing more than part of a Republican agenda to drag the issue past the elections in November.

"I don't think the plan is just to embarrass (the President) but that is just one of their goals." Reeds

Reeds said the Republicans have taken a mistake made by the President and used it as an excuse to bring sex out into the public eye. The GOP is using it as a core issue to attack the president, he said.
That is one of the main reasons this manufactured issue is far beyond the time to put it to rest. We need to talk about issues that effect us, like health care and the budget." Reeds said.

The representatives in Congress should be taking care of the people and solving their problems.

But Wisecup said Knollenberg believes that while the issue may be distasteful to the public, it must be investigated.

"It is an embarrassment, but President Clinton is the one who put the country through this ordeal," Wisecup said.

He added. This is not the only thing Republicans in Congress are thinking about. Clearly each day Congress shows up to do work. The legislative process has moved forward." However, at the time this piece was written. Congress was facing a possible shutdown because their legislative work may not be completed by this Friday's deadline. Wisecup said he did not believe there would be a shutdown, but he did admit that Congress is behind on its work.

"I think the Clinton stuff is a part of it," he said of an unrelated issue. Both Novi and Northville home owners in the area have been staunchly opposed to a request to switch the J.J. Zayti Trucking Company property from the one acre lot residential category to community business Plans call for a 141,000 square foot shopping center anchored by a grocery store, as well as two restaurants.

The site is across from Maybury State Park. People moved to this part of the city because green space is important to them, Novi resident Beth Oppenheim told the council.

"Newer Novi resident invested in their houses believing they would be living in an area without commercial development."

Oppenheim said.
Your duty as elected officials is to work for the good of the many, not the profits of a few." However, not everybody thinks the grocery store concept should be bagged. Nine Mile/Novi Road area homeowners Mr. and Mrs. Orville Ritterling wrote the city council in favor of the idea.

Tor a long time we have been hoping another Kroger store would locate in our end of Novi. as the only nearby grocery shopping is either Meijer's in Wixom or Northville. Farmer Jack's (too small and crowded) or Hiller's in Northville (prices are higher)." they noted in their letter.

"We cannot under stand why we have a drug store on practically every corner in our area of Novi. but grocery stores are kept out."

Music provides students with valuable lifeline

logical health by increasing their respiratory status and allowing them to breathe easier

"Music hits those centers of the brain that other things don't," Heebner said. "It's really a documented fact. It's kind of a magical thing, music is."

Children feel the magic each week as Schwartz tailors half hour lessons to the students' abilities. For those that are blind or severely multiply impaired, she visits their classrooms.

Higher functioning students gather in a more open setting, clapping along to upbeat songs and singing encouraging lyrics.

In addition, Schwartz has stepped up the spring musical, teaching students to stage simplified versions of Broadway musicals each spring for their parents.

Some of the more advanced students also perform hit songs in sign language as part of a special group called the "Signsations."

"A lot of students have conditions that defy description," said Bryant social worker Bruce Tabashneck. "They're not dangerous and not violent but they can't control their emotions. Music class gives them an opportunity to be at peace and be happy."

According to Tabashneck, social interaction is sometimes difficult or frightening to the students, many of whom spent years in institutions.

At a recent music lesson, Ralph, for example, insisted on sitting outside the classroom and listening from a distance.

Cross legged and wearing earphones, the music occasionally inspired Ralph to burst into song.

"Ralph's parents said he wouldn't be coming back to school because they couldn't get him to go. The music program is something that draws him here," Tabashneck said.

Other students, like Jason, a lanky 25-year-old set to graduate this year, are very social at school. But it wasn't always that way.

According to his classfoom teacher Don Matheson, Jason was withdrawn, had poor self-esteem and threatened violence when he first arrived at the school.

Now he works part time in a video store, acts in school plays and performs with the Signsations every chance he gets.

"I pay attention," Jason said. "We look forward to music class."

Although the music program is credited as being only a component of the many teaching techniques used at the Center to prepare students for the adult world, it does play an undeniable role as a therapy, Matheson said.

"Jason's just well adjusted and happy within himself and his skills and he's ready to go out and do work within his limitations, as we all do." Matheson said. "We're going to miss him."

Thomas, who once broke a window in the classroom in a fit of self-destructive behavior, has also benefited from the classes, Matheson said.

"He needed help. The music is a small part of helping him. It spoke a language he could understand, Matheson said.

After singing in music last week, Thomas went straight to the gym where his teacher helped him into some roller skates.

"Sounds like a lot of fun," Thomas said of music class as he skated away.

Thanks to the money from Target, music classes should continue to be fun all year.

Northville's director of special education Bob Sornson applied for the money, which will fund 40 weeks of music instruction and two Signsations concerts.

"Our goal at Target is to give back to the community," said the Northville store's team leader Herb Vanderploeg. "This is exactly what Bob's program is doing. It's a great fit."

safely merged.

lves said an estimated 1 million cubic yards of earth needed to be moved to establish the proper slope and pathway of Stonewater's trout stream.

lves said homes are slated to begin being built closest to the development's entrances sometime in December or January. The estimated buildout time is between five and seven years, with homes running from $400,000 to $1 million.

"I'm rather elated," Ives said.
"When you stop and think that a lot of people had considered this area an eyesore and then we were able to turn it into something beautiful, it really makes you sat-

Auburn Hills developer Dominic Moceri said reconstruction of the trout stream was an elaborate undertaking.

"It probably took twice the amount of money we originally thought it would to have that taken care of," Moceri said. "It was difficult because you had to have just the right slope. If you have too little, the water won't flow quickly enough, and if you have too much, the fish won't be able to swim upstream."

It also required the trucking-in of clay, which was needed to prevent the water from dissipating into the surrounding ground.

At present, freshly-planted trees and flowers grace the banks of the brook. While the neighborhood will remain manicured, Moceri said that after a year's time, the brook will take on a more natural look.

"It won't be as formal-looking next year," Moceri said. The creek itself will ease into a very natural appearance."

A culvert will also be constructed in the near future to allow fish safe passage to an upstream pond where the trout can spawn. Moceri said that without it, the fish could be scared away from swimming upstream while cars and pedestrian traffic was nearby.

While his firm hadn't tackled a gravel pit restoration project in the past, Moceri said he was used to working through projects the size of Stonewater. From the beginning, Moceri said the partners' vision was to create a special kind of housing development. The group was drawn to Northville Township for several reasons, including its schools and proximity to the city of Northville.

We made it very clear that this was a resort and that it should be treated as such, but it would be the kind of resort where people would live year-round." Moceri said. "There's some real charm in the Northville community. If I was to live anywhere east of Telegraph Road. Northville is where I'd choose to live."

Approximately 50 acres of private parkland will also be developed in Stonewater. Moceri said some thought has been made of creating a public park near Stonewater, but said such ideas were "very preliminary at this point."

Open Meetings Act: do officials understand it?

Beware when a public usually lose the public's trust not take a vote. when they go into hiding to discuss public business.

A minor penalty is that public bodies violating the Open Meetings Act can be fined $1,000 per head. The more serious harm is the loss of public trust.

Do your city council, school board and township board know the legal procedures? Here's a simple quiz. Answer right or wrong to the question: Is this permissible under the Open Meetings Act?

1. We didn't have a quorum. We met in two sub-quorum groups with the person. We didn't have to follow

Northville should be proud of City Hall renovations

the community thought it folly to go ahead with renovations to Northville City Hall that carried a price tag one-fourth that of the entire city budget. When you factor in that the city was just beginning to claw its way out of a deficit, the project sounded iffy. But through careful financial planning, sound architecture and engineering and strong attention to detail, we couldn't help but be impressed at the end result. Northville now has a city hall that values both form and function.

And best of all, it's a project that was done within budget.

We feel the city had a right to be proud Monday evening, when dozens ighteen months ago, many in of community leaders from Northville and Northville Township turned out to see the results of the $1.7 million renovation and expansion project.

We overheard comments praising the new look and feel of Northville City Hall, which hadn't seen a major overhaul in nearly 30 years.

It's a credit to city manager Gary Word, finance director Nickie Bateson and other staff members in city hall to see the renovations through to the end.

We encourage residents who weren't able to stop in Monday evening to take a few minutes and look around at what their tax dollars have paid for.

We don't think you'll be disap-

Let's be up front about the real costs

Let's say for a moment that you have taken the family car to a local mechanic.

The car hasn't been running right lately - a little bit sluggish - and is using up more than its normal allotment of gas. You bring it to the garage and tell the problem to the mechanic. After looking at the car he explains that he knows exactly what's wrong with your automobile. All it needs a tune-up he says, and it will be running better than before.

He goes on to tell you that your gas mileage will improve and the life of the engine will be enhanced. Finally, he tells you how much the tune-up will cost, and you agree to the terms, leave your keys and head for home - secure in the knowledge that you'll be back on the road in no time.

Then comes the bad news.

You get a phone call from the mechanic. He tells you that in tuning the engine he discovered that your fuel pump was not functioning properly. It's not a problem now, he explains, but your going to have to replace it soon.

You figure that heck, the car's already there, the mechanic might as well replace the fuel pump. In doing so, however, the cost of fixing the car has increased.

You get a second phone call. The new fuel pump is working fine but the fuel injection system seems to be clogged. If you want your car to run smoothly the problem will have to be addressed.

A third call brings you the news that the car has a faulty computer chip that needs to be replaced.

Pretty soon you're steamed. Why didn't the mechanic tell you there would be all of these additional costs up front?

The problem is you're not a mechanic. You don't understand the intricacles of an automobile, so consequently you have to have faith in the people who work on your car. Part of that trust comes from knowing the mechanic will be up-front about cost.

That's exactly the way taxpayers in Northville Township should be viewing this upcoming millage election. Township trustees have put two questions on the ballot that request voters to approve a tax hike for shared services and park land acquisition. Those trustees believe that the money is necessary to improve the quality of services to its residents.

And although the two proposals are sound requests, I'm not entirely convinced that voters are being told the whole story when it comes to the cost they could be paying for the services rendered.

Because what taxpayers need to understand is that along with the 1.33 mills the township is asking voters to approve, there's an additional 1 mill looming in the background. That mill doesn't require voter approval trustees can choose to levy it if and when they please.

That's something they're not really willing to talk about. Instead, the talk about this millage election has centered around too few soccer fields, the importance of shared services, and the need to fund these programs and services for the betterment of the community.

Hey, I'm on board with the request. I believe we need additional park land. I believe shared services like Northville Youth Assistance, Senior programs, and Parks and Recreation are extremely important. There's no question.

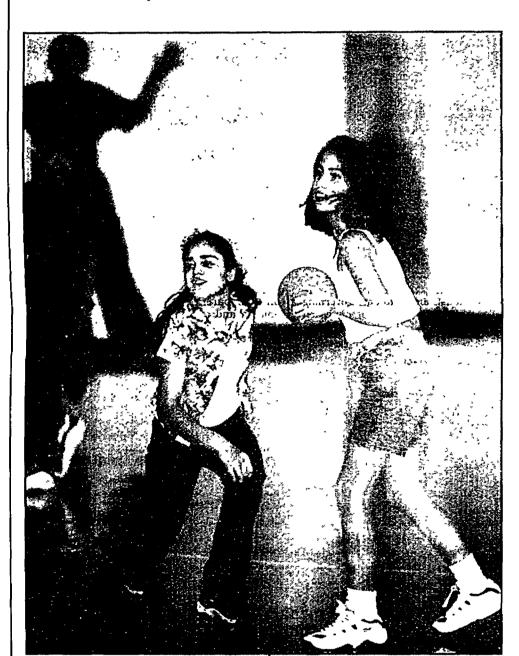

But I also believe that if you're going to ask people to increase their taxes then you should tell them the entire story. Lay the facts out for them, so they can make informed decisions.

And that means publicly telling residents of Northville Township whether you're going to levy an additional mill regardless of how this elections shakes

Anything less than that is as irresponsible and underhanded as the mechanic fleecing a customer.

Frederick the Great, while playing with toy soldiers on his bed (can you picture the bearded Great One doing that?), was the first to think up the rigid organizational structure needed by the military to send young men to their deaths. It makes sense to the military even today.

Management systems didn't always make sense. Throughout history variations of "the floggings will continue until morale improves" school of management thought prevailed, as Dilbert might attest.

Frederick Winslow Taylor introduced the time-study, top-down management system in the early 1900s, which is still widely used. It made sense back then because the boss generally had more information than the workers.

This was the educational management system in effect for the next 70 years. Top-down management. Teachers' views were rarely sought in any systematic way. In practice, teacherprincipal relations were laissez faire. with occasional directives on what to teach or how to teach, with accompanying "in-service" education. "in-service" usually meant hiring a consultant who showed teachers the error of their ways and then directing them to the way of educational salvation. (See where the fads come from?) In fairness, democratically-elected school boards set policy and administrators had "advisory" committees of teachers to aid in decision-making. Rarely was a tyrant directly imposing his (there rarely was a "her") views. However, good teachers who worked hard on committees saw their best efforts shelved time and time again. Few bothered to volunteer after that treatment. The ultimate authority came from above, no matter what the pretense, just as Taylor envisioned it. Next came W. Edwards Deming with new management ideas, just in time for a new age. He believed that quality control came from workers on the line who take pride in work well done. Deming turned Taylor's ideas upside down. The boss no longer was assumed to know everything. In today's information age, workers know more about their jobs than a boss and should be encouraged to use that knowledge. Each worker is expected to stop the line when defective work is spotted. Each worker is expected to report ideas that will insure quality. Workers are listened to and given roles in decision-making. The Japanese heard Deming's ideas first, and Japanese cars set quality standards that American car makers are just now catching up to.

Education? Well, it's embarrassing that an institution designed to help people learn and grow is late in using Deming's ideas. But it is happening as international and national competition for high test scores intensifies. Teachers are starting to work together to solve their quality problems. More and more educators believe and are proving that, with few exceptions, all students can learn at high academic levels. More and more teacher teams are designing their own professional development programs to achieve quality results.

In today's high tech world, there are good jobs waiting for those who are prepared, and almost nothing for those who aren't. Teachers are beginning to insist that even the most reluctant students from the most dysfunctional families from the poorest homes achieve at high levels. And just as important, they are beginning to challenge the most enthusiastic students from the most advantaged homes to achievement levels beyond what is now acceptable. There are still some floggings, and still some "tallest male" leadership. and still a lot of Taylor's top-down only management, but educators have begun. Deming's ideas of treating people with respect and expecting them to take pride in their work make sense today in education as they do in auto manufacturing.

State universities are untapped resource

A couple of weeks ago. Gov. John Engler kicked off the first Governor's Innovation Forum by announcing the results of a survey showing that Michigan's businesses and universities need to find better ways to work together to create high-tech jobs in the state.

By working together to shape our future. we are guaranteeing the creation of hightech jobs and increasing the competitiveness of Michigan business," said the governor's prepared remarks. "We have to focus on the importance of technology, and the role our universities and industries play in preparing Michigan for the knowledge-based economy of the 21st century."

A troubling finding from the survey: 64 percent of business and 42 percent of university respondents said non-Michigan universities provide the best research for industry. The University of Michigan is the No. 1 research university in the country, said Jobs Commission spokeswoman Susan Schafer. 'Unfortunately, business and academic leaders in Michigan don't tap that resource enough.

I agree. Ever since I've been on the Board of Regents at the University of Michigan, I've been bothered by the disconnect between the U-M's high standing in sponsored research (currently $495 million, tops among U.S. public universities) and the relatively meager number of spin-offs in southeastern Michigan. The contrast between Michigan and Route 128 around Boston's MIT or California's Silicon Valley around Stanford couldn't (Alert readers may remember that I'm a candidate for re-election to the Board of Regents. So, in addition to being alert for any olas that might slip into this column. readers should realize that I am writing from direct personal experience.)

between the business and university communities is to create an institutional structure that regularly brings together top leadership from both. Many other states, for example, have some version of a businessuniversity roundtable. Attendance is confined to CEOs or presidents, people who can commit their institutions. The agenda is flexible, although usually organized around the theme of business-university collabora-

There were some hesitant steps toward starting a higher education-business roundtable taken while Jim Duderstadt was president of the U-M, but the effort never really got off the ground. Maybe the time has come for another try.

Another more concrete approach is to look hard at the barriers to technology transfer from university labs into the private sector. Many universities, for example, have an academic culture that discourages professors from becoming entrepreneurs. Others have conflict of interest rules that hobble researchers from getting into business.

got interested in this part of the problem back in 1996. U-M interim President Homer Neal (a world-class high-energy physicist) drew my attention to the fact that the U-M bylaw on technology transfer failed to state that moving discoveries out of the lab to the private sector was a proper objective for the university. Moreover, the rules were unclear about whether professors could properly receive royalties from their inventions while still serving as members of the faculty.

So there were few incentives at the U-M, whether financial or cultural, to encourage professors to behave like their counterparts at Stanford or MIT and commercialize their

I had a hand in rewriting that bylaw.

Transferring discoveries from the lab to the private sector was set out as an appropriate mission for the U-M, while the disincentives in the policy governing researchers and royalties were reduced. The Board of Regents adopted the new version unanimously.

It seems to have worked. In 1998, revenues related to U-M technology jumped to $6.8 million, compared to less than $2 million in previous years. The university granted 43 licenses for companies to use U-M technology discoveries, up from 27 in 1994.

Start-up companies using U-M technology are now a gossip staple in Ann Arbor bars, while the University of Michigan has made it clear that venture capitalists and entrepreneurs are an important and welcome partners.

It likely will take a while, but it's vital to Michigan's economic future to encourage our universities to play their role as an enormous asset in driving the knowledge-based conomy of the next century.

District should learn from past mistakes

We want to thank you for your Oct. 1 editorial concerning the reassignment of teachers in midsemester. Your recognition that it is a mistake to pull a teacher from a classroom at the beginning of the school year is evident to all but the school district administration. Letters from Superintendent Dr. Leonard Rezmierski and the assistant superintendent, Dr. Linda Pitcher, suggest that their only concern (and ours as well) should be to find a suitable replacement teacher. The disruption of our children's education and the poor management implicit in reassigning a teacher in September are apparently not issues. This may explain how the school district could commit the same mistake two years in a row, subjecting the same group of students (our son included) to a change of teachers at the beginning of the school year. What should be especially disturbing to all parents is that this failure to recognize the problem raises the appalling specter of the same thing happening repeatedly. in failing to recognize a mistake, the school district administration has failed to learn from it. The Northville community and its schools have grown together. A history of fine schools has attracted affluent and well educated families, and these families in turn have supported the schools. This heritage is at the heart of our community, and the decision makers to whom it is entrusted must be able to recognize and learn from their mistakes. David and Deborah Njus

Governing board is necessary

To the editor:

Much media attention has been placed on the bond issue to acquire additional parkland for more soccer fields. Northville is many years behind neighboring communities in this regard. The recreation center is hosting instructional meetings for children and parents to better understand the game.

An area that is also lacking in Northville, which many communities have instituted, is a person called the director of coaches. Northville has a three-person Soccer Association Board. They select or approve the coaches for the Little Caesar's Premiere program. This program is very important because these players are considered the "feeder" players for the high school programs. One would assume there is some guideline this board has ion determining who may coach, other than having a coaching license.

I was a sideline observer of one Northville Sting coach this past weekend (Sept. 19 and 20) at the Oakland tournament in Rochester. He is the girls U-14 coach and supposedly a role model for impressionable youth. Any person viewing his lewd display of behavfor at the conclusion of his game would, and should, be embarrassed to be associated with Northville soccer.

Sportsmanship is the most Important aspect of the game. We parents preach to our children fair play and handshakes after the game. This coach's display of a victory dance" at center field followed by graphic body gestures and extremely inappropriate language directed to the opposing team and their parents was a sad representation of Northville soccer and the soccer community at large.

This is a huge step backwards for a community that is trying hard to compete with our neigh-bors to field good teams, good soccer programs, and attain good recreational fields.

What we need as much as acquiring additional land is to establish an up-to-date governing board who won't let just any coach with a license be your son or daughter's role model. More importantly, we need coaches with morals, scruples and character.

Kristine Wilson (Soccer Mom)

Vote yes for park land acquisition

To the editor:

Northville residents need a wake-up call to get out and vote "yes" in November for the millage proposal which will provide for acquisition of land for parks and recreation, support our Youth Assistance program, and adequately fund our senior citizen services. All three components are vital to this community.

As the school social worker at Amerman Elementary School, I know what a vital resource our recreation programs are to our children and families. Parks and recreation space provide healthy activities and keep us in tune with the natural world around us. What we have now will not be enough for the many families moving to Northville. Northville Township needs lovely places to gather together, not just separate homes to keep us apart.

The Northville Youth Assistance program is a lifesaver for many Northville children and families. I have referred a number of children to the program, and have seen the joy and satisfaction it can bring. The use of adult volunteers to give regular attention to our vulnerable children, under capable professional direction, is a true blessing for this community. The children love it, and in return have a better chance of becoming responsible. caring and compassionate adults.

Our senior population is growing. and needs our increased support as well, the small cost per household to support these much needed programs will protect our investment financial and personal - in this community. Think of our children's future, and vote "yes."

Carolyn Pryor

Youth assistance needs yes vote

Teenages have valid opinions

To the editor: Do teenagers have rights? This has been the question on my mind for quite some time.

Teenagers have little voice in modern society. We cannot get many adults to pay attention to what we think and what we care about. A lot of teenagers depend on their parents to voice their opinion and on many subjects, that does not happen.

Contrary to popular belief, a number of teenagers have valid opinions about the election of candidates. We are not able to voice our opinion regarding who we want for government positions until we reach the age of 18. Many times, teenagers will favor the candidate that has the same stand on issues such as schooling, sports or recreational activities as they do, but unless they volunteer on that particular candidate's campaign, teenagers are not permitted to participate in the political process. There have_been_times, when we become frustrated and discuss organizing a protest, but many are fearful of the consequences that they could face.

This reader feels that we teens are getting the short end of the stick when it comes to getting our political concerns addressed. Katherine L. Andary Children, adolescents, and we as adults, are more likely to stay out of trouble. lead productive lives and give back when we have positive role models, constructive activities and a sense of purpose. Mentors help in each of these areas.

In the four years that I have been involved with this program. I have met with many volunteers who shared stories about the relationships they have had with their youth. Both have grown in the process.

In a recent training, there was a single mother whose son had had a NYA mentor. She is now volunteering to be a friend and companion for another young person. Like other natural resources, the mentoring system has gone full cycle. In my mind, it is much wiser to spend time and money on prevention than correction.

There are other commendable mentoring programs in neighboring communities. I urge you to appreciate and continue your own program. It has been designed by Mary Ellen King to meet the needs of your children and your community. Please don't let it become

Benefit was a huge success

To the editor:

Thanks primarily to the generosity of downtown Northville merchants 3-year-old Donovan Magryta will soon have a totally non-allergic bedstead, mattress, pillows and bedclothes, to accommodate his disability, Cyclic Vomiting Syndrome.

The Help Donovan Benefit Auction" was staged Saturday evening during the Victorian Festival.

The three-hour benefit for Donovan could not have occurred without the donations of merchandise from the following merchants: Your Michigan Connection; Kacee's Hallmark; Sawmill Unfinished Furniture; Bon Loot's; Chocolates by Renee: the Christian Book Store: Motor City Bagels; Pamplemousse; Sparr's Florists; Water Wheel Health Club; MacKinnon's Restaurant; Goldsmith Galleries; Urban Optics: Center Stage Dance Co.; the Coffee Bean Co.: Sweet Dreams; Poole's Noble Bookstore: The Hopeless Romantic: Traditions Limited: The Plymouth Whalers: Chef Jason Peltier & Uptown Cafe; "Diamond Lil"; Millennium Marketing; The Gypsy's Light; Michael Monroe, artist; Healthy Solutions, Genitti's Restaurant; Northville Public Library Youth Department: Copy-Boy Printers; Tiffany Art Class; Lit-tle Italy Restaurant; Orin Jewelers; Salutations; Kitchen Witch; Dancing Eye Gallery; and Joe Anstette Sports Prints. Many gave multiple items for the auction. A number of items were donated anonymously by Northville area residents.

Well deserved thanks go to the Northville Central Business Association for sponsoring the benefit and to Andrew Genitti for serving as the events (very) entertaining MC. Lisa Shapiro from Center Stage helped significantly by providing the sound system and bringing assistants and students to provide pre-auction and "halftime" entertainment.Area resident Donna Berkopec-Kosmowski ook many hours away from her own job and family to collect merchandise for Donovan's auction, as did Bunny Peyton. Diamond Lil collected funds for Donovan. Nineyear-old twins Bridget and Chelsea Bodnar gave up their festival time to serve as item presenters for the auction (and convinced me with imploring looks from the stage to overbid on a princess wand and a basket of Boyd's bears). Donna's son, Matt and Mark Menghini helped.

I would like to also thank The Northville Record and reporter Wensdy White for the very helpful pre-auction coverage they provided and a special thanks to Northville Area Chamber of Commerce Director Laurie Marrs for use of the gazebo and allowing us to stage this event during the festival.

And, of course, it goes without need of saying that the success of the auction is equally attributable to the generosity of the audience bidders I'll add just one more word for all who contributed to the success of the Help Donovan Benesit Auction (including anyone I may have inadvertently overlooked) - thanks.

Communication styles can be easy to understand

By CAROL DIPPLE Feature Editor

Men and women who are serious about getting involved in a quality relationship should be at the First Presbyterian Church of Northville on Saturday, Oct. 24.

Even dating couples, will find that an understanding of how the sexes communicate can enhance their relationship.

The Single Place Ministries at First Presbyterian Church of Northville, which is offering this unique workshop, will be presented by The Singles Coach Amy M.

Owens will show videotaped segments of "Mars and Venus on a Date - A Guide for Navigating the Five Stages of Dating to Create a Loving and Lasting Relationship" by author Dr. John Gray; mini-lectures; small group discussions; as well as structured one-on-one conversations during the all-day work-

Owens is a licensed Mars/Venus Counselor, a marriage and family counselor for 20 years who has been specializing in single adults for the past three years in private practice in Indianapolis. She also developed and teaches a how-to course 'Advanced Relationship Strategies" for singles who are looking for life partners.

The workshop is informationpacked, it is lively, there is a lot of chance to interact with people." Owens said.

In all her education, said Owens. and in the two decades in marriage and family counseling, there was virtually no attention paid to gender disserences. After becoming a Mars/Venus facilitator, she said she now looks back on relationships that didn't work and can identify the problem as gender differences. "Women typically beat around the bush," Owens said. "Men put it right out there."

She developed a study course based on "Men are from Mars/Women are from Venus." With a male co-teacher they found how some people in the course were like the stereotype. while others were not.

People seem to have certain traits that are more feminine and some that are masculine," she said. "We are a mix of both, it's a matter of degree."

Although some people pick up on the gender differences on their own, the course "Mars and Venus on a Date" helps explain those differences in an easy-to-understand language.

"It's one of those things, you recognize it when you see it and hear it," she said. "It comes out loud and clear. It was fuzzy before and is now in focus."

With this knowledge, Owens said, people can adjust their communication and behavior accordingly by honoring gender differences rather than trying to change

There are two things that will sink a marriage or relationship." she said. "One is to marry too soon or get into a relationship too soon and the other is to marry with the idea of changing the other person.

Both are recipes for a disaster." The seminar is presented in an honoring, light way so that no one is painted as the bad guy or the culprit or the problem, according to Owens.

"Right in the session we find ourselves laughing," she said. When you know you aren't going to be criticized, judged or punished for your behavior it is easy to admit to it."

The "Mars and Venus" video clips by Gray are very well prepared, according to Owens, and are arranged by topic with accompanying handouts.

"You're getting it from the horse's mouth so to speak," she said. "You have the benefit of his wonderful wit and engaging presentation style.

In the mini-lecture, Owens discusses the book which is about the five stages of a dating relationship and what the goals and challenges are for each stage for the three involved in the relationship - the couple, for him and for her. The five stages of a relationship are attraction, uncertainty, exclusivity, intimacy and engagement.

There is also a segment on the *Concept of Soul Mate."

During the one-on-one conversations, attendees will have a chance to practice with prepared scripts and see first-hand the reactions to various types of dialogues.

"I came to this 'Mars and Venus on a Date' with a lot of information," said Owens, who was married for 24 years and has been single for the past 10. I have to say with as much as I know about single people. I was blown away by the information. John really understands the stages."

Owens said she presents a malefriendly workshop.

"Men need this information as much as women do." Owens said. After all, they are 50 percent of any male/female relationship."

But another reason for men to attend the workshop, according to Owens, is that women who are serious about learning how to have a quality relationship will be there.

"Some couples have met at my seminars and say they are in the best relationships they've ever had," said Owens.

The "Mars and Venus on a Date" workshop is appropriate for singles and dating couples.

A year's worth of planning will Hacker have planned the convenculminate with 1998 Michigan Questers Fall State Convention on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 16 and 17. in Novi. This is the first time the state convention has met in the Oakland County/northern Wayne County region in about two decades and approximately 400 Questers are expected to attend.

Members of six Questers chapters in Northville, one chapter each in Farmington and Plymouth, have contributed to this convention in a variety of ways such as making centerpleces, serving on the hospitality committee and making

Comedian headlines Howell show

By CHRISTOPHER NAGY Staff Writer

If laughter is the best medicine. then "Comedy at the Pointe" headliner and Northville resident Bill Thomas and his co-comedians Jill Washburn and Ronnie Cee will cure what alls you.

The three national acts will appear on Wednesday, Oct. 14, as the "Comedy at the Pointe" series continues at Genoa Township's Lake Pointe Manor, 5768 E. Grand River Ave. in Howell.

Washburn and Cee will warm up the crowd with comedy and magic prior to Thomas taking the stage.

Thomas, a New York native, has been the host of his own radio talk show at several markets throughout the state. He has been doing stand-up comedy for 15 years.

"I started off at Hootenanny night in Detroit," Thomas said. "It was all folk singers and me. I was the only one there without a gui-

The same can be said for the sets of co-comedians Washburn and Cee, he added. The three have worked together in the past at several corporate engagements.

Cee brings a uniqueness to the stage with a combination of comedy and magic that requires some

"He's also a pick-pocket."
Thomas said. "But he gives everything back as opposed to the kind of pick-pocket you might find on the street."

Washburn can be seen every morning on WDIV Channel 4 as the traffic reporter and substitute anchor. She has appeared with some comedic heavyweights including Tim Allen and Judy

"We're looking forward to working in the Howell area." Thomas said. "I was out there the other day and I think it's a great venue."

The Oct. 14 show will be the second "Comedy at the Pointe" night. The comedy series opened last month at Lake Pointe Manor to University hosts depression screening

Local residents will have the opportunity to learn about the signs and symptoms of depression and to participate in a free screening at Madonna University in Livonia on Thursday, Oct. 8. The university will be a screening site for National Depression Screening Day from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. in Kresge Hall.

Madonna University is just one of the sites that will be offering the confidential screenings nationwide. Participants will hear a brief talk of the causes, symptoms, and treatments of depression followed by a short video. Individuals will complete an anonymous written screening test for depression and have the opportunity to discuss the results with a psychologist.

Depression strikes more than 17 million Americans each year. according to figures from the National Institute of Mental Health. Common symptoms include feelings of hopelessness, worthlessness, restlessness and irritability, changes in sleep and appetite, loss of energy and thoughts of death or suicide.

For more information on the Depression Screening at Madonna University, call (313) 432-5427.

Haunted forest walk returns to delight Halloween visitors at Maybury Park

Greg. Lauren, Randy, and their friends, and some neighbors. Called the Schmidtzz Group, they are like-minded people who enjoy entertaining folks using a little humor in the horror genre.

"Our group's motive is to always do a twist on something." Schmidt said. "Some people don't like to get the ball rolling, but everybody loves to jump in and improve (the ideal.

Schmidt's sets usually incorporate music and choreography. Another Schmidtzz Group set had as its theme, dead rock musicians, and included Elvis and Jimmy Hendrix. After moving to Northville in 1986, Schmidt used to set up in a strip of woods behind his Northville home.

"We'd make it a party and people would stop by," he said. "Some of reputations pretty solid during the rest of the year let it down at Halloween.

When Northville Parks and Recreation hooked up with Maybury and began the haunted forest, he switched.

My wife suggested that I do it as a public service, Schmidt said.

"What's fun is the stuff you build like an old pine coffin can be recycled so the basement gets full of homemade and procured props," Schmidt said.

Scott Baker, like Schmidt, has had a fascination with Halloween since childhood.

Baker brought props for the Dr. Frankenstein's Castle set used in Maybury in 1996 from those he used in the elaborate displays he built at his Dearborn home in previous years. Baker's Halloween exhibit of eight rooms in two buildings began drawing too much neighbors.

"I won't be doing it this year." Baker said. I am channeling that energy to Northville." Baker began working on this year's set during the summer, although exactly what he has in store for Maybury visitors this year is a closely held secret. About a dozen neighbors. friends, family, and coworkers from the Plymouth Municipal Services will be in Baker's group.

"It's funny, when you get them into it their own personalities come out," Baker said.

New movie proves folktales can be fatal

Everybody's heard them...yet they have no traceable source. There's no proof they really happened...yet they can't necessarily be proven false. They're urban legends, contemporary tall tales and bits of macabre mythology that emerge from the underground and take on colorful lives of their

Like a virus they spread quickly. develop a stubborn staying power as they are passed by whisper from person to person, then come to rest firmly wedged in our collective consciousness.

They range from the silly to the sickening-now, in Tri-Star Pictures' "Urban Legend," a group of students are about to find out that urban legends can be fatal.

Behind the gothic stone facade and pretentious air of his-tory and tradition at New England's Pendleton College—just named the safest university in the country-classic urban legends are being realized with fatal results. But who is doing it? And why? As Pendleton's American Folklore instructor. Professor Wexler ("Nightmare on Elm Street's" Robert Englund), cautions, urban legends by definition are said to contain hidden moral admonitions for their victims. Unfortunately, some of us have to learn our lessons the hard way.

Even as increasing numbers of the college community lay dead around them. Natalie's friends are too preoccupied with other things to consider the deaths might be more than coincidence.

The horror thriller "Urban Legend' stars Alicia Witt ('Cybill'), Rebecca Gayheart ("Earth 2"). Jared Leto ("How to Make an American Quilt"), Michael Rosenbaum ("Midnight in the Garden of Good and Evil'), Joshua Jackson ("Dawson's Creek") and Tara Reid ("The Big Lebowski"). Girls' team clinches at least a share of Western Division title

By JASON SCHMITT Sports Editor

Assuring itself of at least a share of the Western Division title, the Northville girls' cross country team topped Plymouth Canton 21-35 at Cass Benton last Thursday.

The Mustangs took four of the top five spots, and sophomore Alyson Flohr won the race in 20:21. Canton's Sarah Rucinski was second at 20:28, but Christin Kolarchick wasn't far behind (20:31) in third. Amanda Sprader (21:11) and Karen Loeffler (21:15) were fourth and 24:15).

fifth and Hillary McCrumb (21:35) rounded out the scoring for Northville with an eighthplace finish.

Laura Delano (21:44) was 10th and Katie Spillane (21:54) was 13th overall to complete the top seven for the 'Stangs.

"We won all the races within the races today," coach Chris Cronin said. "Looking down the list of times you see a Northville girls one or two seconds in front of a Canton runner.'

Seven Mustangs finished ahead of Canton runners by three seconds or less.

If Northville tops either Harrison or Churchill Oct. 15. the team will assure itself of its first Western Division title ever.

Other runners for Northville were Julie Bozyk (15th in 22:16). Lorianne Blair (18th in 22:29). Anna Schovers (19th in 22:33), Stephanie Flood (21st in 22:38), Allison Loeffler (22nd in 22:48), Colleen Thompson (26th in 24:00), Lyndsay Wheeler (29th in 24:14) and Becky Hilger (30th in

The Northville swim team fell to Plymouth Canton last Thursday 102-84 in a Western Lakes divisional matchup.

The Chiefs won eight of 12 events and had superior depth in the win. For Northville, Deirdre Schwiring and Stephanie Sabo did everything in their power to guide the Mustangs. Sabo won two individual events and Schwiring one while the later helped the 200 medley relay team to victory.

Sabo won the 200 freestyle while teammate Monica Black finished third in the event. She also came away with a victory in the 100 freestyle. Schwiring took top honors in the 100 breaststroke and Nicole Sprader was fourth. She also teamed up with Jackie Salliote, Jessica Hrivnak and Kathy Ohlgren to win the medley relay. Heather Rudy, Erica Mohacsi, Lara Lea Roney and Ohlgren, Hrivnak and Greenlee were second, third and fourth in the 50 freestyle and Hrivnak was runnerup in the 100 butterfly.

The 400 freestyle relay team of Sabo. Ohlgren, Leah Voytal and Nurmi rounded out the day for Northville with a secondplace finish.

"It was a tough loss," coach Bill Dicks said. "We swam fairly well. Some of the girls could've swam better, but overall we swam well.

Northville started strong, but Canton's depth caught the Mustangs in the second half of the meet. We were close enough where we'll be better at the league meet and we may have a chance to beat them," the coach said. But they were faster than us down The team faces Franklin tonight before king the week off to prepare for the lone home meet of the year against Walled Lake

Chiefs strike early, take out Mustangs

By JASON SCHMITT Sports Editor

Having waited their turn for a week of homecoming festivities and charged up emotions, Plymouth Canton struck early and often in a 27-7 romp over Northville last Friday night on the gridiron.

Coming off a 21-0 win over Churchill on its, own homecoming day a week earlier, the Mustangs surrendered three touchdowns on the Chiefs first three possessions.

We just played like our feet were stuck in mud, coach Darrel Schumacher said. "We were tentative and they ran the ball down our throats. Their philosophy was a wing-T and they trapped and smacked and were only going to throw when they had to.

There was no excuse but that I didn't prepare the kids well enough for this game.

Northville was only able to stop Canton on one drive in the first half. and only had the ball three times itself. The defense surrendered 296 rushing yards in the game.

Canton added a score on its first drive of the second half to take a 27-0 lead. The score came off of a Mustang fumble on its initial pos-

We just didn't get the breaks we needed," the coach said. "I think what really hurt us is that fumble on the first possession."

After the Canton touchdown. Northville's Eric Cooley, quarterbacking the team in place of the injured Rob Reel, led the team down the field for its first and only score of the night.

Dan Scappaticci capped off the drive with a two-yard touchdown run to bring the 'Stangs to within three touchdowns. Cooley hit Marshall Knapp for a 20-yard gain to help set up the touchdown run.

"I was pleased with Eric's performance," said the coach. "The offensive line did a nice job, but when we needed to get a break, we didn't. We played a little tentative and didn't play our normal, aggressive ball."

Scappaticei had a productive night, gaining 106 yards on 20 carries. Cooley completed 6 of 12 passes for 66 yards, including three to Brandon Jones.

Defensively. Jonah Sabin had eight first hits and nine assisted tackles for 17 points. Colin MacFarlane had six first hits and seven assists with his aggressive play in the secondary. *Colin was around the ball all night. I was really pleased with his effort," the coach Lineman Ryan Giles had seven first hits and five assists and Ryan McCracken had six first hits and four assists. Bryan Shields had an interception for Northville.

The loss leaves Northville 1-2 in the division and 2-3 overall. This week the Mustangs travel to Franklin for its homecoming game.

By JASON SCHMITT Sports Editor

To say the Northville soccer team has had trouble replacing more than two handfuls of graduated seniors can not be argued. But to say it's having a disappointing season is far from the truth.

It's 5-7-1 record may be deceiving, especially if you take into account Northville has played four of the top six ranked teams in Division I so far this season.

But coach Henry Klimes' young team keeps chugging along, taking up the challenges these top teams have had to offer.

This past Saturday it was second-ranked Novi that came calling. and the Wildcats lived up to its Novi topped Northville 3-0, a year after the two teams tied 0.0 in their lone matchup. The Wildcats proved to be too much for Northville to handle, scoring three second-half goals to run away with

"I thought we played well in the first half," Klimes said. "But they took it to us in the second half. That has seemed to be the pattern of the season for us. The other teams have been capitalizing on their chances when they get them."

Klimes said he was especially pleased with the play of senior Luke Leftwich and sophomore Dustin Kubas.

By JASON SCHMITT Sports Editor

The Northville boys' cross country team is starting to find its stride, just in time for a tough October schedule staring them in the

The team finished fourth out of six teams in the Redford Union Invitational Saturday and picked up a win in a big divisional matchup with Canton last week.

Senior Kevin Arbuckle broke the 17-minute barner for the first time this year, finishing 16 minutes, 56 seconds in the win over the Chiefs. He won the race and teammate Brian Bilyk was second in a personal-best time of 17:56. The time shave :30 off of his previous best.

Sophomore Ben Flood was fifth in 18:27 and freshman Phil Santer was seventh overall in 18:44. Matt Glogowski rounded out the scoring with an eighth-place finish in 18:47.

Jim Morrison took ninth (18:53) and Eric Nadeau grabbed 10th (18:54) to bump off Canton's fourth and fifth runners.

Traditionally there's a drop in time at the mid-season mark," coach Ed Gabrys said. "The temperature drop was nice and there's definitely no doubt about it, this was our best times of the season.

The win moves Northville to 2-1 in the Western Division and gives the team a chance at a share of the division title. If the Stangs can come up with a win over Harrison and Churchill Oct. 15 in a tri meet, the team will finish 4-1 and in a three-way tie for the division

"We ran well, but we have to move our pack up by 30 seconds," Gabrys said. "Then we'll be in position to go after the Churchill kids."

The freshmen and sophomores competed at a meet Tuesday (after The Northville Records' deadline) and the rest of the team is off until a dual meet against South Lyon Tuesday.

Golfers win one, drop a pair

By JASON SCHMITT Sports Editor

Wrapping up a winning 1998 regular season, the Northville golf team topped North Farmington 197-216 at Tanglewood's North course last Friday.

Sophomore Dean Conway led all golfers with a 37, two ahead of teammates Tom Borda and Brett Johnson. Kris Betker fired a 40 and Justin Temple a 42 to round out the top five Mustangs. Conway's score was his best in match play this season.

We finally put it all together on the same day," coach Brad Stedry said. "This was our best outing of the year teamwise."

STEVENSON 186, N'VILLE 204

Northville was able to piece together a decent round of golf, but Stevenson had a breakout day full of individual and school records.

The Spartans' score of 186 was a school record and the team's sixthbest score, which was thrown out. was a 40. Their medalist shot a 34 and every other team member Borda led the Mustangs with a 37 and Conway came away with a 39. Marc Olin had a 40 and Greg Rankin and Brian Arndt shot 44s to complete the scoring.

For the most part we played okay, but we just ran into a hot team that day, "Stedry said.

WESTERN 206, N'VILLE 216

The Mustangs had an unusual round of golf at Tanglewood's north course. No one broke 40.

Conway shot a team-best 40 and Borda followed closely with a 41. Rankin had a 44 and Mike Heyer (45) and Temple (46) completed the scoring for the team.

"I don't know what went wrong," the coach said. This was very uncharacteristic of the guys. It was just a frustrating day for the

After a slow start left the Northville basketball team 1-3, an early run in the Western Lakes has rejuvenated the team and left it with a four-game winning

The latest win came against Livonia Franklin 76-32. Northville led by 14 at the half, but came out with a vengeance in the third quarter to pull away.

The Mustangs outscored the Patriots 32-9 in the third, led by Janel Hasse and Emily Carbott's nine points each. Mary Tanski added six in the stanza. 'We weren't really happy in the first half with our intensity," coach Pete Wright said. The girls talked about it and came out fired up in the third. Hasse led the way with 24 points and 15 rebounds. "She's really been playing well on both ends of the court. She's really stepped it up a notch lately," Wright said.

There is hope for cancer patients

As many as one million people in the United States are diagnosed with cancer each year. More than ever before, there is hope for individuals with this diagnosis. Thanks to major advances in managing cancer symptoms and complications, people with cancer are living longer and, if the cancer is caught early and hasn't spread. there's an excellent chance of a full recovery. But a cancer diagnosis continues to signal a time of personal crisis as disease symptoms and side effects related to treatment are frequently coupled with feelings of anxiety, depression or Health care professionals are beginning to turn to a familiar wellness tool as a means of managing many of the physical and psychological side effects of cancer diagnosis and treatment. At Botsford General Hospital's Total Rehabilitation and Athletic ing an exercise program for cancer patients called Cancer Wellness We have learned that a balanced. supervised exercise program can improve the physical symptoms of fatigue, nausea, decreased muscle strength and flexibility, and weight change (gain or loss) experienced by cancer patients. Equally important, exercise can positively impact quality of life, reduce stress and help improve a patient's self esteem. A therapeutic exercise program may be started for those undergoing active treatment chemotherapy - or who have completed treatment. In either case it can be expected to improve fatigue, depression, and diminished functioning.

A typical cancer exercise program might include a five minute warm-up, 10 to 45 minutes of aerobic exercise followed by strength exercises and finally, a five to 10

REAL ESTATE CREATIVE LIVING

HOW TO

A good architect helps you see past the blueprints

By Gene Gary Copley News Service

Q.Perhaps you can offer some advice to help us make important decisions concern-ing a major remodeling project.

We inherited a family home in a presti-gious neighborhood. The house is too small and outdated, so we are planning to expand living quarters, as well as completely redo the kitchen and bathrooms. This will involve a sizable financial investment, but we feel it will be worth it as this will become our permanent residence for a long

My husband would like to save on expenses by deciding on a remodeling plan between the two of us and subcontracting with construction people to do the work on a pay-as-we-go basis. I have tried to review numerous magazines for ideas and basic floor plans, but this has only resulted in a great deal of confusion. Do you have any guidelines for proceeding with a major remodeling effort in order to gain the most for the money we spend?

A. Hire a professional! Starting such a project with a good, workable plan is essential. I suggest that you hire a local architect who can assist you in preparing a set of drawings that converts your thoughts and ideas into construction plans.

A good architect also can suggest design options and materials that are ideal for your purposes, but that you might otherwise never consider. An architect also can assist you in making bailpark costs estimates as you put the plan together, as well as formulate a plan that you can construct in stages as you are financially able to pay for improvements.

The selection of a suitable architect is an important first step. Interview several architects and inspect some of their work to see if their ideas and design concepts coincide with yours. Get a list of recent clients and talk with them concerning satisfaction with services provided. Discuss the total fee up front. Some architects will base their fee on the cost of construction, while others may quote an hourly rate and give you some idea as to how many hours will be required to prepare detailed construction plans. Keep in mind that a qualified architect, with a thorough understanding of local zoning and construction ordinances, as well as required construction permits, can help avoid major project pitfalls. Once you have a plan, you can obtain competitive bids from several contractors. I suggest that you go with a general contractor, rather than subcontracting the work yourself with various trades. A general contractor oversees all facets of the project, including construction licenses and building code inspections, and can be held responsible for the finished product.

he contractor should provide : price in a written proposal that you can review with your architect to ensure the bid coincides with the specifications on your plan. In addition, ask each contractor to provide you with a list of recent customers. Check the contractor's work and talk with his clients regarding satisfaction with the completed work. Consider performance as well as costs in your final selection.

Some people opt to work directly with the contractor's design staff rather than hire an architect. If you choose to investigate this route for drafting your overall plan, interview the designer and review previous work of the design staff, just as you would in the selection of an independent architect.

Whatever you do, do not rush the planning stages of your project. Be sure that exact materials are specified and that you fully understand and visualize the details of your remodeling plan. Changes made during construction are expensive and can alter any binding financial arrangements or construction deadlines that you have made with your contractor.

I rearranged furniture in my living room to make room for a new table. Deep "dents" now appear in the carpeting where the furniture was previously placed. Is there anyway to refluff carpeting to get rid of these "dents"?

A. Steaming usually helps. Put a clean damp cloth over the area and hold your iron a few inches above it. If you have a steam iron, hold the base three to four inches above the dent. then press the steam button. A note of caution in either case: don't put any weight on the iron. The moisture will help the carpet fibers regain their shape.

Rake the spot with a fork or coin to help loosen the pile and fluff it up. It may take several attempts, but eventually the carpet pile should recover.

Other suggestions received from our readers recommended filing the carpet indentations with a small amount of cold water, better yet an ice cube, and leave overnight. By the next morning the water will be absorbed into the carpet and the nap can be fluffed up with a your fingers or a fork. To prevent indentations in the future, fit the legs of your furniture with broadbased furniture glides, not the button or dome types. This will reduce the crushing action, and make it easier to rearrange your furniture.

By Sara L. Bill's STAFF WRITER

As a wave of new residents has made the Brighton area their home in recent vears, the number of available apartments in this thriving community has steadily dwindled.

With only a half-dozen apartment complexes located in Brighton and just under 30 listed across Livingston County, the selection process has become increasingly difficult for the prospective renter.

Many area apartment complexes are booked solid for the next several months, leaving many prospective renters out in the cold. Additionally, few apartment complexes forsee any change in this trend.

"Recently, we've had very few vacancies, and we've seen much more interest from potential renters than space is available to accommodate them," said Vivianne Kanitz, rental manager of Brighton Cove Apartments. "We're pretty heavily booked up and we are renting out the apartments that do become available as soon as they become vacant ... we've had many more inquiries as to new apartments compared to the number of available units for rent recently."

This shortage in available apartments in the area has become an epidemic, according to Kanitz.

The apartment shortage is apparent everywhere within the community, as Millpond Manor Apartments currently has no available units for rent.

Kanitz expects to have only two units ready to be rented within the coming month, while Lexington Manor has only about five available apartments at this time, though applications have been filed for all but two.

One of the major causes of the shortage can be attributed to the Brighton area's central location to much larger metropolitan cities, such as Ann Arbor, Flint and Detroit, where a considerable number of local residents work, according to Kanitz.

We have a lot of commuters that reside here," said Kanitz. "A lot of them are traveling to and from work and a lot them are couples or families with one person working in Detroit and the other works in Flint, and they need to reside somewhere in between to make the commute shorter for both people, so they wind up moving to Brighton. which is experiencing explosive

This trend is common throughout the area, which is typically considered a "commuter community." wherein a large percentage of working professionals reside in Brighton, although this group often holds jobs in neighboring cities, which are often easily traveled within 30 minutes.

As a result of this trend, many residential commuters are in the process of building or buying a home of their own. increasing the demand for short-term apartment leases, often a scarcity in the local rental market.

"I get a lot of people requesting shortterm leases, but we don't offer them and there aren't many places around here that do offer such a luxury, though I realize that a lot of people require an apartment for only a couple of months until their own home is ready for occupancy," said Kanitz.

This trend has become prevalent throughout the local rental community, where demand for short-term leases has risen sharply within the

"I get a lot of people who want a short-term lease, sometimes for only about a month or two at a time, while they're trying to build a new home." said Wanda Brandenburg, rental manager of Lexington Manor.

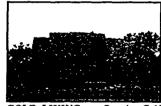

"It's far too expensive for us to go in and remodel an apartment every time a tenant leaves and it's virtually impossible to do it with a short-term lease. though they are very desirable among people who move about a lot, are building a home, or are in the process of buying a new house."

As the Brighton area continues to experience an explosion in growth. combined with a surge in population, the shortage of apartments in the community is expected to continue. The market isn't scaled to establishing more rental complexes," said Bill Spain, a realtor with Heritage Real Estate/Better Homes and Gardens. "I don't really expect it to change because it's much easier to have a plot of land zoned as single-family dwelling over multiple-family dwellings ... a lot of the apartment complexes are being turned into condominiums to increase the return investment on the part of the owners.

As the area has become saturated, there simply isn't the demand to increase the number of new apartment complexes with condominiums and investments in individually owned homes emerging as lucrative alternatives.

People are simply more apt to build or buy a home than rent in the community, said Spain. The market isn't established for rentals, which are more costly with a lower return rate, in terms of investing in real estate."

New college elective is to buy own housing

By James M. Woodard Copley News Service

An increasing number of college and university students are purchasing their own off-campus residence, as opposed to the conventional route of renting a housing

With mortgage interest rates remaining low (under 7 percent for a fixed-rate 30-year loan) and many financing plans offering exceptionally favorable terms for first-time buyers, students are finding it's more feasible to buy than rent. Parents often help the students acquire a residence and share in its investment advantages. It's becoming a significant trend in the current real estate market.

"More students, particularly at the graduate level, are seeking homeownership as the best means of satisfying their housing needs," said James Menditto, office manager for a Coldwell Banker real estate brokerage firm. "Condominiums and townhomes are especially popular with these young buyers."

He sited an example: If interest rates are roughly 6.5 percent, an $80,000 two-bedroom condo or townhouse unit, with taxes and fees, will cost the student about $790 per month. A two-bedroom apartment will rent for anywhere between $800 to $1,000 each month. And that doesn't include the tax advantages of owning vs. renting, he noted. Many parents with discretionary income can purchase off-campus housing as both a financial investment and as an investment in their child's future, Menditto said, Also, it gives the student an opportunity to build a positive credit record and builds the student's sense of responsibility through a vested interest in real property.

It also gives the student control over his housing, and provides valuable education while personally experiencing the home-buying process. In some cases, the student offsets a portion of his ownership costs by renting space to other students, thus enhancing the investment and providing even more experience as a landlord.

Yet another advantage is freedom from lease restriction, and the threat of a lease not being renewed. And students don't have to vacate their housing during the summer or at the end of the school term.

When the student no longer needs the housing unit, he can sell it - probably at a profit. Or he can hold it as a continuing investment, renting it to students.

The downside is the required down payment, the uncertainty of a fluctuating real estate market and possible problems and frustrations from attempting to be a landlord. But putting all pro and con factors on the scale, it tips toward the buying decision in many cases. And that's reflected in current market activity.

Q. How many people actually use the Internet to help them find and purchase a new home?

A. A substantial and growing number. A recent study by the National Association of Realtors reveals that 18 percent of all purchasers are relying on the Internet for home buying information. That's more than builders, home sellers or television. The survey also indicated that 51 percent of the buyers say they would use the Internet again as an information source, while 42 percent are not certain, and 7 percent said they would not use it again.

What these numbers demonstrate is that as Internet activity increases, more and more people are using the Web to find realty information and listings." said Peter Miller, a noted author of real estate books. "That's been apparent from anecdotal stories for some time, but now there is hard data to back-up the general sense that on-line real estate marketing is a reality."

Miller also noted that thousands of brokers have gone on-line in the past couple of years, meaning the volume of information and data has increased greatly. "The result is a kind of circular marketplace. As more brokers provide services on-line, it becomes easier for consumers to find property information. Thus, consumers are encouraging more buyers and sellers to checkout the Internet for real estate listings and information. "In turn, as more consumers use the Web. more brokers go on-line to win their business. And then the cycle is repeated."

Knockoffs cast doubt on cast-iron doorstop value

By Anne McCollam Copley News Service

Q. This is a photo of a castiron sailing ship doorstop that was given to me by my mother. It was given to her around 1955 when she was helping her friend clean her attic. When my mother found it among all the clutter, her friend told she could have it. How old is it and does it have any value? A. Cast-iron doorstops were popular from the late 1800s to around 1940. Most three-dimensional figural doorstops were made from 1900 to the 1920s. Those with flat backs usually date after 1920.

A word of caution to collectors, manufacturers are producing reproductions that are enough like the originals to deceive some of the most knowledgeable collectors. They are often painted the same colors as the originals.

Your early 1900s doorstop would probably be worth about $175 to $200.

Q. I have enclosed the mark that is on the bottom of a pastel-blue juice pitcher that was my mother's. I remember her using it when I was a child in the 1940s. It is in perfect condition, no chips or cracks.

What can you tell me about the maker and its value?

ANTIQUES

A. Taylor, Smith & Taylor, located in Chester, W. Va., made your pitcher. They were in business from 1901 to 1981.

Lu-Ray was one of their most successful lines. Complete place settings of dinnerware were available in soft pastel colors that included Windsor blue, Persian cream. Chatham gray, surf green and Sharon pink. Chatham gray dishes are not easy to find and collectors are elated when a piece surfaces. The value of your juice pitcher would probably be about $175 to $225.

Q. Fifteen years ago I bought a set of four Carnival glass water gobiets at a church rummage sale. I didn't know anything about antiques and bought them just because they were pretty. Since then, I've learned a little about Carnival glass.

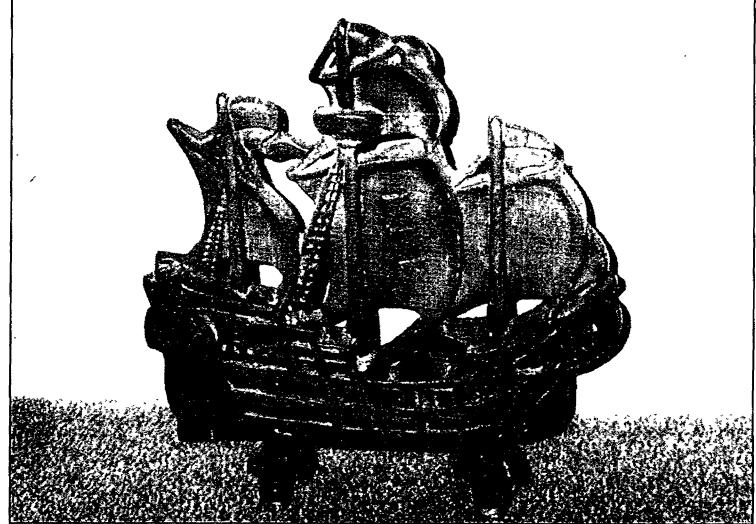

Now I know the pattern is Orange Tree, and the set could be worth quite a lot more than the $5 that I paid. The goblets are Marigold yellow and in perfect condition.

What can you tell me about my set?

A. Fenton Art Glass Co., in Martins Ferry, Ohio, first made Orange Tree around 1911. It became one of Fenton's most well known and desirable patterns. Orange Tree was made in large quantities in a variety of Each goblet would probably be worth about $60 to $80. Your $5 purchase is a bargain that most people find only in their dreams!

Q. I have a puzzle that was made by McLoughlin Bros. that has been in our family for many years. The words "Dissected Map of the United States" are on the box. Although the puzzle has all the pieces and is in good shape, there is a tear on the corner of the box.

Could you give me an estimate of its value?

A. McLoughlin Bros. was a popular manufacturer of games from 1828 until they sold to Milton Bradley in 1920. Your late 1800s puzzle with All I know about the set is that it the original box would probably be worth about $75 to $150.

THE IRON HORSE OF ALS

When Lou Gehrig's widow chose an organization to lead the fight against amyotrophic lateral sclerosis — the muscle-wasting disease that killed her husband — she selected the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Since the time she served as MDA national campaign chairman, the Association has consistently led the battle against ALS. MDA maintains the world's largest nongovernmental ALS research and patient services program.

Join our rally for a cure. Together, we can enrich the lives of Americans fighting the ravages of ALS today, and save countless lives tomorrow.

Merle Norman returns to Novi

By JASON SCHMITT Staff Writer

To let everyone in on a little secret; Merle Norman Cosmetic

Studio is back. It's back in Novi, where for over 15 years clients and customers could rely on its knowledgeable staff and count on its full line of quality cosmetic and skin care products.

New owner Naomi Casement opened the new location in the West Oaks II Plaza back in May. and recently celebrated a Grand Re-opening last month.

People would tell us 'we were looking for you in the Town Center and you were gone," Casement said. "They were a little upset. People will call us up when they find out we're back in Novi and ask us where we are located. Slowly but surely people are finding their way back.

The former owner of Merle Norman closed up shop in March of 1997. At that point, Casement became interested in reopening the store near its former location. She already owned a Merle Norman Studio in Fenton.

When this opportunity came along we were ecstatic," she said. The time was right, it was per-

Casement said she gets people from Howell, Milford and Brighton coming to both of her locations

Former local clientele are making their way back to Casement's store, in just its fifth month in

"A lot of people tell us that they were in the Town Center, and we weren't there. So they are still immediately associating the store with the Town Center. We're trying to help them realize that we're still here. We're still in Novi, but we're just down the street."

The Studio still offers an exclusive line of quality cosmetics, skin care and bath and body products. Merle Norman also offers spa and pamper packages for those looking to experience a luxurious get away close to home.

Merle Norman also offers a unique, "try before you buy." policy which allows women to sample cutting edge products that are extensively researched and developed by Merle Norman's home

"That's been a Merle Norman policy since 1929," Casement said. Merle Norman herself initiated the policy. She wanted to make sure customers loved the product before they bought it."

With the growth the store has experienced since opening. Casement is currently looking for licensed help. Casement and studio manager Caprice Castano currently run the studio. The store is open Monday through Friday 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and from 10 to 6 on Saturdays. Merle Norman is closed on Sundays, at least temporarily.

"We will be open (on Sundays) down the road. The staff is an issue right now," she said. "We will be open on Sundays during the month of December. That's a

Erwin's Country store continues to delight

Pleasant aromas, unique gifts and fresh produce combined with friendly service make Erwin's Country Store in South Lyon a special place to visit.

Located at 61019 Silver Lake Road, Erwin's Country Store has much to offer in its newly-expanded spacious facility and will now be open year-round.

Upon entering Erwin's, customers will be delighted with the ample space to browse through many different areas of the store. For example, Erwin's features an enlarged bakery area, a new gift area, a produce section, an extended checkout area and even an ice cream

Erwin's has a fine line of country gifts and goods including Yankee candles Camile Beckman lotions, Beanie Babies, Boyds bears and other collectibles. New items are always being introduced.

"We're constantly changing our gift line," said co-owner Adra Erwin.

The store also features an expanded candy section which includes a line of old-fashioned quality chocolates, rock candy, giant jaw breakers and even Warheads for the younger customers.

Customers can't help but notice the tantalizing aromas drifting from the expanded bakery. Erwin's carries its specialty, apple spice doughnuts, in addition to its fresh baked bread, pies and cinnamon rolls.

In addition to quality baked goods. Erwin's carries a bounty of fresh in-season produce. However, fruits and vegetables are always available throughout the year. The store purchases a large portion of its produce from local farmers as well as the Eastern Market. Produce quality at Erwin's is assured.

"We keep it as fresh as possible," said

For customers with a sweet tooth, Erwin's has just the solution. The store stocks 16 flavors of Guernsey ice cream, one of which is now sugar free.

Owners Tom and Adra Erwin have decided to keep the store open yearround due to customer demand.

We feel we have a lot to offer throughout the year," explained Adra.

To keep the store running smoothly. approximately 30 employees are on staff during the busy season.

'We have good employees," said Adra. They're loyal, and some have been here over 10 years.

Adra attributes the store's success to a cheerful attitude and a desire to serve customers well.

We like what we do," she said. "We really enjoy it, and people like to come

Although Erwin's Country Store has recently put on a new addition, the store is not finished growing yet. Adra said most of the gift section will be moved upstairs in the future to allow more room for more fruits and vegeta-

Tom and Adra Erwin and son Zachary offer fresh-baked bread at Erwin's.

Plans are also being made to add a deli, complete with homemade soups

Erwin's Country Store offers a friendly, clean atmosphere where people are glad to come in, said Adra. She added that customers are allowed to sample different food items. "We like to have customers sample things so they're happy with what they're choosing," she explained.

Customers are invited to stop in and visit Erwin's Country Store to experience personal attention, browse through the creative gifts and keepsakes, or discover what's baking in the oven.

Store hours vary during each season and are now 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and 10 a.m. to 7

Lisa Bertini Vanderhoof and husband Spencer are committed to the clients they serves at Allstate in the South Lyon area.

In good hands...

Allstate builds solid relationships with customers and community members

A bit of good luck brought Lisa Bertini Vanderhoof into the hands of Allstate Insurance.

"I had just graduated from college with a degree in business and applied for a job at Sears. Someone gave my application to an Allstate manager and that was the beginning of my 20-year career with the company," Lisa said.

Proud of her association with one of the nation's leading insurers. Lisa believes in bringing Allstate's commitment to the communities it serves to the city of South Lyon where her office has been located for five and a half years.

"I believe in building relationships with my customers and the community. It's important to spend time with people and develop together the plans to meet their insurance needs," she explained.

Lisa is proud to add that her office has a good customer retention ratio, which relates to the high level of customer service practiced in her agency.

Customer service is what I have to offer; we do the absolute best we can for you, Usa said.

Allstate offers a variety of personal insurance lines including home, motorcycle, boat, auto and life. A recent addition to its homeowners product line includes a new home discount that can reach as much as 25 percent. Coupled with a multi-policy discount, (home and auto), homeowner discounts can reach as high as 42 percent of most major coverages.

"This is a great homeowners product. Hand-in-hand with new homeowners is consideration of life insurance. This new debt situation creates a greater need for life insurance," Usa said.

Committed to her community, Lisa is president of the South Lyon Area Chamber of Commerce and co-chair of the Women's Forum, a group of professional women networking to promote each other in business.

"Community involvement is an extension of Alistate's commitment. An example of that commitment was Alistate's sponsoring of a bike drawing held in August. Grant money allowed the South Lyon police to equip children in the area with bike helmets. Every child who was fitted for a helmet put their name into the drawing for two new bikes which were donated by Alistate," she explained.

Focus this year was on children and safety and, according to Lisa, this is part of Alistate's hands-on involvement in the communities it serves.

"It's about education. And we like to think we continue the educational process when customers call with a question. Yes, you need to call us when you add to your home, make a large purchase, are thinking about building a pole barn or buying a new car. A work in progress

New framing gallery follows an old tradition of quality

If you can name it, Marcy Miller and Mark Hawley can frame it.

Hawley, owner of American Gallery at 22454 Pontiac Trail in South Lyon, has spent years perfecting the art of framing. Miller, gallery manager, says that experience adds up to the best customer service possible.

"Archival framing is our specialty. We use museum standards when framing and that means 100 percent cotton rag mount boards and matting. Japanese rice paper hinges with wheat paste. ultraviolet filtering glass and state-of-the-art equipment is used for precision cutting," Hawley said.

It's not just posters and pictures any

It's not just posters and pictures any more. Any piece of memorabilia — medals, guns, swords, sports jerseys, pennants, decorative art — can be framed American Gallery offers thousands of frame and matting styles from which to choose. Art catalogs are available for customer to select from as well.

Miller says, "We encourage customers to be creative. We are very proud of the selection we offer to our customers.

Our prices are reasonable and we have set the highest standard of quality. We want our customers to know that what is important to them is equally important to us."

Headquartered in Redford Township, the Gallery has been open in South Lyon since June. The Redford location is the second oldest picture frame shop in the Detroit area.

They have done work for the Detroit Institute of Arts, the Whitney Museum, the Museum at Cranbrook, Henry Ford Hospital and other corporate collections.

But don't worry if it's just a poster or baby shoes you want framed, Miller and Hawley both agree they love doing it all. "We bought the gallery from previous

We bought the gallery from previous owner Gene Haley, who was a mainstay in the South Lyon community. And we are proud to say that we are a family business — my brother, sister and momare involved.

We are also lucky to have two great employees working with us, Kathleen and Kevin," Hawley said.

Stop in and visit the American Gallery or call 248-486-0610 for information.

Marcy Miller, manager, says that American Gallery can frame almost anything.

Chevy dealer scores high in customer satisfaction

For almost six years, there has been a "Champion of Customer Service" at 5000 E. Grand River Ave. in Howell. Champion Chevrolet, that is. Owner Len Nadolski makes certain that customers are treated with "down to earth, family-like respect."

Champion Chevrolet is rated in the top five percent in customer satisfaction.

"Our management staff is very active and we train our people to be customer friendly," Nadolski said. "Our customers have my guarantee that they will be treated with respect by my staff."

From the latest in new car technology to a reliable first car for the high school student, Champion has what you need.

Over 400 new and used cars, trucks and vans are available at Champion's three locations for immediate delivery. In addition to the main new and used vehicle lot at the intersection of Grand River Avenue and I-96 in Howell, Champion has a used car location at 331 W. Grand River Ave. in Brighton.

Champion's sales people are trained to find the right vehicle for you, within your budget. Once you find your vehicle, Champion has easy, on-site financing that can be approved in 20 minutes or less.

"Even if you have a poor credit history, we can create a plan for you." said Nadolski.

All used cars pass a 100-plus point inspection and have limited warranties. Champion also offers a short-term, low payment lease program for new or used cars. It's particularly appealing to most buyers because "you can drive twice the car for half the price by leasing instead of buying it," Nadolski said.

At Champion Chevrolet, Nadolski assures that customers will never feel pressured into buying a vehicle. Knowing that any vehicle purchase is a big decision, the salespeople treat customers with respect and consideration and will never encourage someone to make a hasty decision. Need a vehicle for business? Champion is also an official Chevrolet Business Connection Dealer.

Through the Business Connection, Champion can offer a business owner added savings, service and selection on commercial and specialized vehicles.

Whether you use many or just a few business vehicles, the Business Connection offers a one-step, one-source process to simplify acquiring commercial vehicles. Champion's service department recently completed the training needed to match the prestigious Chevrolet Service Training Standards for 1996-1997. Less than 10 percent of all dealerships in America have earned this high service level of achievement.

The service technicians at Champion

spent over two years and 1,000 hours training in areas like engine performance, body repair, and heating and air conditioning.

Our service customers can feel comfortable that when they bring their vehicle into the dealership for service, it will be fixed right the first time, Nadolski declared.

When visiting the service department, customers can wait in comfort. A television, VCR, magazines and children's play area help pass the time for customers. Saturday service department hours have also been extended for the convenience of the customer.

*By extending our Saturday hours, we've tried to make it easier for customers to bring in their vehicles for a quick oil change or any other service department needs," Nadolski said.

Champion's state-of-the-art body shop is certified by most insurance companies for direct representation. When a vehicle is in a collision, Champion works directly with the insurance company while the car is being restored.

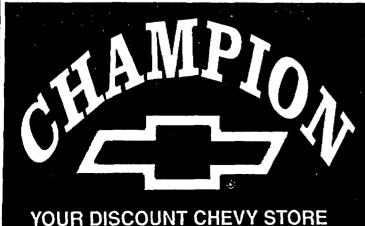

The sales department is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday and Thursday; from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday; and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday. The service department is open from 7 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Monday; 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday through Friday; and from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

For your convenience, Champion also offers a free shuttle service.

Computer trouble?

■ Computer Network Solutions is the anwer to your businesses' technical concerns

Computers got you frazzled? Are you missing those important business calls because your voice mail couldn't find

Well, relax and call Mark Newton at Computer and Network Solutions, Inc. in Brighton.

The company specializes in providing small- to medium-size businesses with Windows-based office productivity solutions including office network and Internet integration systems, point-ofsale systems designed for retail and restaurant use, and various accounting sales that will help your business stay

I spent a number of years managing computer network systems for a large company and thought it was time to provide a similar service to smaller companies that couldn't afford to hire fulltime support systems personnel. Newton said.

His company showcases AltiGen Communication's Inc., a provider of computer telephone integration solutions. With the AltiServ software system, Newton is able to assist small companies with the extensive voice and e-mail communication benefits usually reserved for larger corporations.

This system combines software to provide advanced computer telephone integration technology cost effectively to smaller businesses. It provides traditional phone system functioning along with automated voice attendant, voice messaging, call distribution, Internet services and electronic mail, all on one personal computer," Newton explained.

In addition to the mixed-media messaging and Internet features, AltiGen's software allows voice mail users listening to a message — to have the system automatically call the person who left the message. Once the outside call is complete, the system automatically pops the user back into voice mail to access the next message.

One-number access allows important callers to find someone at up to four predetermined numbers based on passwords. Call management allows users to configure and administer their telephone features via a personal Web page that can be accessed from their LAN or via the Internet.

'AltiServ was awarded Computer Telephone Magazine's 'Product of the Year, and is a great system, he added.

Newton, who has always lived in the Brighton area, has a unique degree from Eastern Michigan University, combining accounting with computer information.

'It's important to me to have my business here; we are a part of the community," he said. "The computers we sell are manufactured and distributed in Brighton - we want to keep the business here in Brighton."

Computer and Network Solutions owner Mark Newton assists Carol Tallman of Executive Financial Planning with a computer concern.

With the year 2,000 question on everyone's minds, Newton encourages business owners to call him.

"I can run a check on your computer system to see if the hardware will support the year 2,000," Newton said. For information call (810) 227-1611. Computer & Network Solutions, Inc., is located at 135 W. North Street. Brighton, Ste. 4.

Brighton Ford-Mercury ranks among the best

Local dealership increases sales, ranks 243 out of nation's top 500 in dealership in sales volume

If you're in the market for a new or used car, plan on spending some time at Brighton Ford-Mercury, Inc.

Brighton Ford-Mercury has recently added Michigan Auto Group, a third used car lot that will expand the selection of quality used cars to choose from.

The new lot, located at 990 E. Highland Road in Hartland is a significant addition to the existing Brighton Ford-Mercury lots located at 9797 E. Grand River Ave., and 8240 W. Grand River Ave., just north of the I-96 interchange.

"At Michigan Auto Group we offer 'select choice' vehicles — in other words — late model and low mileage vehicles. The demand has increased, and we are here to meet that demand. Right now we have an inventory of 350-400 used vehicles. We have something for everyone," said Mike DeLong, general sales manager.

Brighton Ford-Mercury assures you the best auto available — new or used. A 52-point vehicle inspection is performed on any used vehicle before it goes on the lot, and as far as new cars are concerned, you can't beat the selection at Brighton Ford-Mercury.

"We're very excited about the new 1999 Ford-Mercury products at our main lot, including the 4-door, supercab Ranger and 4-door Windstar miniwan and the new Cougar with it's new 'edge' design. It has a European flair to it — really exciting," DeLong said.

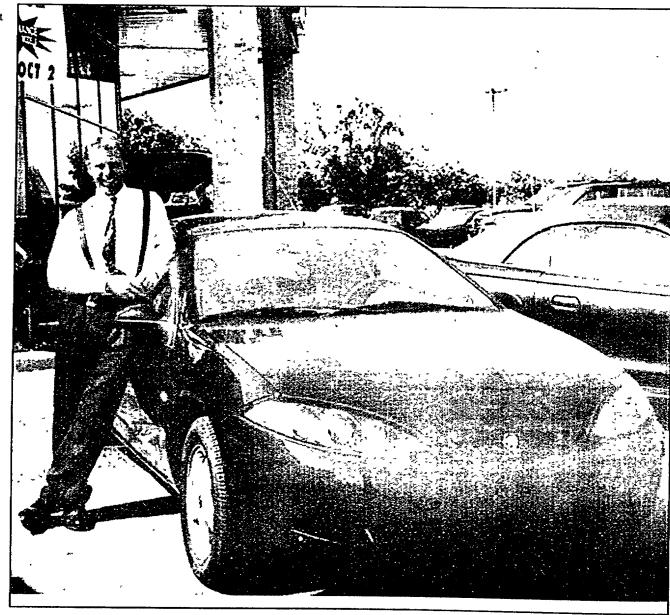

Continuing in popularity this year are sport-utility vehicles. According to DeLong, sales are so popular that they have surpassed those of standard automobiles.

"It's amazing, and at least half of the sport-utility vehicles are being sold to women. The appeal is still there and growing," DeLong said.

Brighton Ford-Mercury is proud of the fact that it was recently ranked 243 out of the nation's top 500 dealerships in sales volume

Our business has increased by at least 15 percent over last year, our staff has grown. We do the absolute best we can for all our customers. DeLong added.

Continuing its commitment to customers. Brighton Ford-Mercury's body

Rehabilitation center meets therapy needs of community

Healthstyles Physical Rehabilitation opened for business in 1992, and coowners Barb Herzog and Sandra Jenkins, both licensed therapists, are happy they selected South Lyon for their facility.

Healthstyles is an independent provider of physical, occupational and speech therapy. It is affiliated with the Physical Therapy Provider Network (PTPN), a national network of rehabilitation providers.

Herzog and Jenkins completed a demographic study of the area and determined a need for a therapy clinic. They chose the Lafayette address for its convenient location, and believe patients prefer the center's hometown atmosphere to that of a more traditional institutional setting.

Healthstyles is staffed with licensed physical, occupational and speech therapists who serve patients having a variety of needs. They are currently serving 20 to 30 patients a day.

"Our patient caseload varies from children with physical impairments to sports- and work-related injuries to neurological conditions, arthritis and joint replacement," said Herzog. "Our patient caseload varies from children with physical impairments to sports- and work-related injuries to neurological conditions, arthritis and joint replacement,"

 -Barb Herzog, co-owner

A team approach is utilized at Healthstyles. The physical and occupational therapists works as a cohesive unit. They also engage in close communication with their patients' physicians to ensure the highe st quality care is provided for each patient.

All of the therapists at Healthstyles are state licensed, and every patient sees a therapist each and every visit. If a patient is unable to leave home, Healthstyles will also provide home therapy.

Before Healthstyles can work with a patient, it requires a physician referral for therapy. Once that occurs, the therapists work together to develop an individual program designed to improve the patient's well-being.

Healthstyles' primary goal is meeting each patient's personal goals. These goals include self-care and independence, overcoming back pain, learning to walk after surgery, or safely regaining prior functional status.

The therapists at Healthstyles are committed to providing the highest quality care to be offered within the growing managed care environment.

We are most proud of setting up an independent office and watching it grow in a changing medical environment." said Herzog.

Healthstyles has added three additional programs this past year —
Aquatic Therapy, Fitness Enhancement for Golf Excellence, and Lymphedema Clinic for the Breast Cancer Patient.

Healthstyles is a certified rehab agency which allows it to serve patients with Medicare, Blue Cross Blue Shield, and several other commercial insurance companies. Further insurance questions can be addressed by Vicky Albers, office manager.

Healthstyles is located at 301 S. Lafayette. Questions are welcome.

Heirloom Oriental Rugs mixes quality, comfort and impeccable style

It's the years of experience that Mondy Miller, owner of Heirloom Oriental Rugs in Brighton, brings to her business. And that experience translates into trust.

"I grew up with rugs, we lived with them on an everyday basis. I only carry quality rugs and my customers know that I stand behind every rug I sell. That makes the difference," Miller said. Established in 1993, Heirloom Established in 1993, Heirloom Oriental Rugs continues to offer personalized service and only high quality rugs at affordable prices.

Because of the renewed interest in onental rugs today, and the negative publicity surrounding some oriental rug businesses. Miller cautions customers to deal with someone they can trust. For that reason she makes a point of educating customers.

"I like to spend a lot of time with my customers, talking with them and finding out exactly what they want," she said

When working with a customer. Miller explains how the rug is made, the technique used in creating the rug and what the differences are in the variety of rug types. She spends time teaching how to judge value before purchasing a rug. She wants her customer to appreciate the talent and patience of the weavers ... to see these rugs as the works of art they are. However, the fact that the rugs are so beautiful should not detract from their main function. Rugs are to be used.

You should not be afraid to walk on them, sit on them, or anything else you would do on regular carpet. With proper care you should be able to enjoy not only the art and the craftsmanship, but the comfort of an oriental rug for generations — another sign of quality.

Although Heirloom Oriental Rugs carries a fabulous assortment of one-of-a-kind rugs, special orders are also available to suit your personal and decorative needs. Using swatches of wallpaper or paint or fabric samples, Miller can help you find the rug you're looking for. She wants your oriental rug to be an investment that will not only enhance the beauty and comfort of your home, but your children's and grandchildren's homes as well.

Heirloom Oriental Rugs, located at 307 W. Main St. in Brighton, is open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday; from 10 a.m. to 5 p m. Saturday. Additional times are available by appointment.

Family exceeds expectations at Jewelry Depot

If you're looking for exquisite jewelry or need your favorite piece repaired, the Jewelry Depot in Brighton provides the right services that will keep your jewelry looking great for generations to come.

Located at 9912 E. Grand River Ave. in the Charrington Square Plaza, the Jewelry Depot prides itself on being family oriented and providing top quality service to customers. In addition, the Jewelry Depot has extensive experience and knowledge regarding custom designing diamonds, jewelry repair, silver and costume jewelry and colored gemstones.

Owners Dan and Rochelle Dolby agree. "We appreciate customers allowing us to work on their jewelry which has tremendous meaning to them."

Jewelry Depot has been serving customers in the Brighton area for over three years and specializes in custom designing pieces of jewelry. Dan explained that when he constructs a piece of jewelry, customers will always have the opportunity to oversee the piece in production.

"We involve the customer in all parts of the process so they have the enjoyment and satisfaction of creating their own piece," explained Dan, adding that all work is done on the premises.

With 19 years combined experience Dan and Rochelle are well informed in every aspect of the jewelry industry and are very willing to share their knowledge with clients. "We like to educate the people on their purchase," said Dan.

And Jewelry Depot is learning more about the trade every day. For example, Rochelle is currently taking courses about diamonds through the Gemological Institute of America. After the course is completed, Rochelle will be certified in dealing with diamonds and able to provide customers with helpful, thorough information.

"We're confident about the pieces we sell and offer accurate information," Dan emphasized.

Establishing a successful jewelry store had always been a goal for Dan and Rochelle.

Now their dream has become a reality. "It was something we always wanted to do," they explained. "We're doing very well. We've grown tremendously and we've exceeded our own expectations."

The couple takes pride in serving the community by providing exceptional service and value and by having a genuine interest in helping to satisfy customers.

When it comes to custom designing and repairing jewelry. Rochelle said the piece will be designed and repaired until the customer is completely satisfied. "It's something we want them to have forever," she said.

While browsing through the store, customers will find many lines of jewelry including the new and exciting Wish Rings, Colibri merchandise, accessories for men and handsome class rings by Art Carved.

Jewelry Depot customers appreciate the level of personal attention they receive. "We know many people by their first names," said Rochelle, "and we've

Four-year-old Cassidy Dolby, daughter of Dan and Rochelle, also enjoys greeting customers especially younger generations.

Dan and Rochelle both feel dedicated to serving the needs of Brighton and playing a role within the community. "We want to be be able to grow inside the community because we want to be able to take care of our customers who helped us succeed," said Dan. The Jewelry Depot also gives back to the community by donating to the Big Brothers Big Sisters organization and supporting a local bowling team.

The Jewelry Depot is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Tuesday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday.

It might be because Gene Granowicz is the father of two young daughters.

Or it could be because he has used day care services and observed them carefully that Gene wanted to include the little extras into his day care. The Kiddie Academy in Novi.

Gene said they may seem like little things but he has put a lot of thought into making his day care fun, safe and educationally stimulating for the little people who call it home a few hours out of the day

For example, he's the only day care in the area with a "towne centre" area with a post office and supermarket inside. It's 600 square feet of open area where kids can use large motor skills on cold or rainy days. Translated — they can burn off a little steam indoors. Gene makes sure there are large windows for parents to observe the activities in each of the rooms. Windows to look outside are set lower so that children can also look outdoors or wave good-bye to their parents. The blinds are set inside the window casing to prevent children from getting caught in the cords.

Toilets and sinks are set lower so that children can reach them. A separate toilet area is located between the two's and three's rooms to facilitate potty training.

Outdoors, toddlers and older children have separate play areas. Gene said that each set of playground equipment has been chosen to be age appropriate and sized properly for the child's age group.

A full institutional size kitchen serves lunch and two snacks a day. Only real fruit juices are used here. Gene said it costs a bit more and it sometimes limits choices, but he believes it's the right way to do things.

At Kiddie Academy, children are exposed to sign language. Spanish is taught to children three years and older. "At that age, we're obviously not teaching them conversational Spanish, but we're teaching them that another language exists. They're learning things like their numbers and colors," said Gene.

Providing a learning environment is fulfilling one of the child's needs, he said, 'We believe in stimulating kids of all ages and providing them with learning environments that are fun. "Kids learn through play." he said. "We try to look at all of the child's needs, not just their educational needs. We look at the whole child. They need love, education, comfort, security and hands-on experiences. We try to provide that kind of environment."

Many factors determined Gene's Novi location, such as economics and marketing. "There seemed to be a need for this type of facility, and it's a lot of fun, he said. "Novi is definitely a growing area. Here we have easy access to Ten Mile, Grand River and the expressway."

Kiddie Academy provides child care and educational experiences for all ages, newborn to 12 years old. The center currently has 99 children enrolled and has a capacity for 116 full-time students

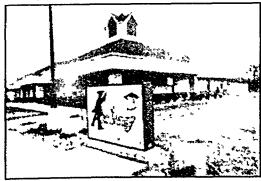

Gene said tuition is priced competitively and, in many cases, lower than other centers.

Kiddie Academy employs 20 full time and part time workers, although Gene is continually looking to add a dependable, caring and nurturing staff. It also employs cooks and janitorial staff.

The center's director is Tiffany Wright. Kiddle Academy is located on 24300 Karim Drive off Grand River in Novi. directly behind the Pheasant Run Plaza.

A new way to learn

■ LDA experiences results by shedding new light onto the learning experience

Livingston Developmental Academy, a Public School Academy in Hartland, Michigan began their third year in operation on August 14, 1998.

LDA's mission is to be a school for all children and a place where children can excel and achieve to their highest potential. The high teacher to student ratio, highly trained staff and educational practices ensures the success of each child.

The school was opened in 1996 and has grown rapidly in the first two years. The founders, Chuck Stockwell and Dr. Steve Ingersoll were driven to open the academy by their passion to create change in education.

The school is managed by Smart Schools, Inc., a company founded to support educational reform.

The school is based on educational practices that are leading us to Quality School Certification," says Lead Manager/Principle Diane Vance. LDA anticipates achieving a Quality School designation defined by Dr. William Glasser, M.D. by the end of the 1998-1999 school year. The three most important elements in a Quality School are a warm, loving environment, useful learning and self-evaluation. The administration, teachers and students are all working toward integrating these three elements into LDA. LDA also incorporates team teaching in multi-age classrooms, authentic assessment, mastery learning and continuous progress throughout the school.

The success of the LDA students can be seen in the last years MEAP scores.

"We are very proud of the scores from our students and hope that our commumity will recognize our improvement," says co-founder Chuck Stockwell.

The school offers strong remedial and academic enrichment programs. There is a Vision Learning Center on-site where students can receive Integrated Visual Learning instruction on an individual basis. All students are evaluated regularly to identify area in need of strengthening and are instructed accordingly.

Livingston Developmental Academy attributes its success to their hardworking teachers and staff and their dedicated parent volunteers.

If you have any questions about the Livingston Developmental Academy please call the school office at (810) 632-2200. The school is currently enrolling for Kindergarten students to start school at the beginning of the third term in January. Students who turn five years old by March 1, 1999 are eligible to enroll.

Please call soon to register your child or to schedule a tour of the school.

Homeopathy may be the answer to what ails you

Are you sick and tired of being sick and tired and can't seem to figure out why?

Maybe you should seek the expertise of Medica Health Care Center, located at 7269 W. Grand River Ave., Brighton. Owned and operated by Margaret Paris, R.N., F.N.P. For seven years, she has helped many with their health problems through homeopathy.

Homeopathy is a postgraduate holistic medical specialty, a scientific practice which treats people rather than diseases. It utilizes natural medicines to stimulate people to heal themselves. Homeopathic remedies are not herbs, but are made from natural sources by licensed and regulated pharmacies.

Our bodies display symptoms when we are ill. It is the symptoms expressed by the body, mind and spirit that homeopathic practioners use to select a remedy especially for you.

Some of these symptoms are common to that particular sickness and some are unique to the person. The homeopathic practitioner matches the symptom picture of the homeopathic remedy to the symptom picture of the person, paying close attention to those which are unique to that individual.

The Homeopathic Practitioner receives his or her professional degree in a medical field and the study of Homeopathy then follows as a post graduate medical specialty. The word "homeopathy" is a Greek word. The prefix "homeo" means "like," and the suffix "pathy" means "suffering." The concept that likes should cure likes dates back to Margaret Paris, R.N., F.N.P., has been helping people through homeopathy for seven years.

Hippocrates, the Father of Medicine. Dr. Samuel Hahnemann, formalized this concept which remains today.

Homeopathy is "complimentary medicine," said Margaret Paris. "It is legally described in the United States as a practice of medicine. You have to be a licensed health care provider to be able to practice. Nurse practitioners in the state of Michigan, have to be associated with a responsible physician. So I have what's called delegated prescriptive authority, which allows me to write prescriptions."

Margaret became interested in homeopathic medicine when her son was very ill. She heard about Dr. Marion Bell Rood, M.D. from Lapeer, who was a well known homeopath and practiced from her home.

When recalling her first visit, Margaret explained, "It was quite an experience, like going back in time. She was very Victorian, proper and quite elderly when I met her. There was no phone so you had to drive up there and wait, sometimes for five hours, just to see if she was going to open. She cured everything from cancer, to you name it. I would take professionals up to meet her and she was better read than they were in their own field."

During the five years that Margaret knew her, many different types of cases came in and if Dr. Rood couldn't cure someone, she could make them comfortable."

Dr. Rood helped Margaret's son on the first visit. And that's when Margaret Paris realized she had to learn to do this.

She began going visiting Dr. Rood each week, interviewing her patients, and reading every book she could find on the subject on Homeopathy.
"We want people to know that it is

"We want people to know that it is available and not to be viewed as alternative medicine, because that means you have to make a choice and there is no reason for that. Complimentary medicine is a better description," said Margaret.

Homeopathic medicine doesn't interfere with standard drugs. You can try different remedies and remain on your present medication.

There are many people in the world today claiming to be homeopaths. As a result, there are many people unsatisfied with their experience.

"If a person has had bad experiences and is discouraged, it doesn't necessarily mean they've seen a homeopath," Margaret said.

On your first visit to Medica Health Care Center, Margaret will spend an hour or more in discussion, reviewing your history, symptoms, and gathering information.

She then enters that information into the computer and rather than spend several hours reading, is able to find answers much faster. Your visits after that would generally take 20 minutes.

Office employees. Dana Dryer and Katle Chimdouras are contributors to the success of Medica.

"You can't live without a front desk," said Margaret.

She also feels that it's the quality of people they meet that makes her business interesting and unique.

People have the opportunity to try one more time when they are at their rope's end. When someone gets better, it gives you gas for another week, and we have a pretty good success rate."

The words, "Thank you, I'm better," and "I've never felt this good," are the greatest compliments for Margaret Paris. She is committed to helping people and will do everything she possibly can to do Business hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday; 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Tuesday and Wednesday; 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday. The office is closed Thursday and Friday.

No place like home

■ Silverman Homes can help you make the home of your dreams a reality

Home is a place where the past and the future meet, a place for both memories and dreams.

Perhaps this is why Silverman Homes, Inc., one of Michigan's premier home builders, preserves past traditions while building homes with the most updated features.

Each Silverman development offers a variety of home designs set along winding streets and natural surroundings. These neighborhoods preserve a quality of community and family life while offering the most modern designs.

The Silverman Company, like its designs, boasts an impressive heritage and a promising future. Started in 1919, this company is a third generation residential development firm. Gilbert "Buzz" Silverman, the current CEO and grandson of the founder, has guided his company to a place of leadership among developers in Michigan.

In 1997, Silverman Homes was the largest residential builder in southeastern Michigan.

Silverman Companies are bringing the Oakland and Livingston county areas the widest selection of new homes in styles and floor plans in a wide variety of price ranges.

Currently, the company is developing four communities in the area — Trotter's Point Village in South Lyon, Birkdale Point in Commerce Township, The Links of Milford in the Village of Milford, and Timber Ridge in Highland.

plans works with the home buyer. For example, Trotter's Point Village in South Lyon was created as a result of extensive focus group studies and national tours of developments. Trotter's Point features updated versions of American design and time-honored traditions.

Six individual home designs offer the buyer options starting in the low $200,000s. Features of these homes include grand entrance ways, high ceilings, formal dining rooms, natural wood-burning fireplaces, attached two-car garages and many other options.

While each design has its own distinct style, unmatched quality is the one element found in all the homes at Trotter's Point Village. Many years of careful research have created the perfect balance of timeless architecture with stateof-the-art systems and features.

Silverman Homes believes that the best homes of today are the ones designed for tomorrow. The company is deeply committed to the natural environment and reserves a large amount of open space within each development, up to 50 percent of each property for parks, walkways and play fields. In addition, each home is designed with a five-point energy plan to reduce the amount of energy needed so precious resources are preserved.

Silverman Homes is now headquartered in Farmington Hills and has constructed more than 25,000 single-family and multiple-family residences.

In 1995 and 1996, Silverman ranked as the second largest home builder in the state, based on a survey of new housing starts and sales volume.

Trotter's Point Village is located on Eleven Mile near Pontiac Trail in South Lyon. Call (248) 486-4979 for information.

Birkdale Point of Commerce Township is located on Commerce Road between Bogle Lake and Milford Village.

The Links of Milford is located on the north side of Commerce Road.

Timber Ridge of Highland is located off M-59.

Model homes at each development are open daily from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

"Every community we develop is built on Silverman Homes reputation for solid performance," Mr Silverman said, "We realize that future generations will know us best through the standards of excellence we establish today."

Homes like the Devon, Preserve and the Stratford Grand, constructed by Silverman Homes, Inc., one of Michigan's premier home builders, preserve past traditions in design while offering home buyers the most updated features. Six individual home designs offer the buyer options starting in the low $200,000.

Putting customers first

For over 35 years, Plymouth Wayne, Inc. has been serving southeast and central Michigan with both specialty and industrial gas distribution and high quality welding

With a new headquarters currently under construction in Wixom along with the branch location here in Howell, it is evident that the commitment Plymouth Wayne, Inc. has made to the Livingston County area runs deep.

*Our big selling point is customer service, said Howell Branch Manager Rob Holton.
Our customer is first on our list.

The Howell branch of Plymouth Wayne, Inc. was just one attempt for the company, whose headquarters currently are located in Garden City, to stretch its wings further west into Livingston County.

Now local hospitals, companies and area residents have access to the services Plymouth Wayne, Inc. offers. Services include the full distribution of specialty gasses, medical gasses and industrial gasses, such as the gasses used in various welding applications. Plymouth Wayne, Inc. is also fully stocked with a complete supply of welding machines and supplies. Holton explains that just about everyone can benefit in some way from the services and supplies offered by Plymouth Wayne. Inc., from local florist shops to gas stations to manufacturing com-

The response to the Howell branch has been more than pleasing for Holton since it's opening two years ago at 1315 Parkway Drive. One of the reasons we chose this location was because Livingston County is one of the fastest growing counties in the state. The response has been fantastic." Holton commented.

The Howell location is staffed by two fulltime drivers, one outside salesperson, three in-house sales representatives and Holton. who adds that all of his staffers are highly trained and most are area residents. Holton himself has 25 years of experience in the welding industry.

As a way to stay involved in the community. Plymouth Wayne, Inc. of Howell regularly donates helium to the Drug Awareness Resistance Education (DARE) program for children.

Another exciting way that Plymouth Wayne Inc. makes its presence known in Livingston County is the building of the new headquarters in Wixom.

This event is second in importance only to when Art Tatro opened Plymouth Wayne 37 years ago," said company CEO Tim Ervin at recent ground breaking ceremonies. The project is expected to be completed in

The new headquarters will consolidate several departments of the company under one roof, enabling Plymouth Wayne, Inc. to serve its 3,000 customers from a central hub and accommodate recent growth.

The new building will also house headquarters for Advanced Robotic Concepts, and integrator of ARC welding systems. ARC is wholly owned by Plymouth Wayne.

Plymouth Wayne Inc. continues to be one of Michigan's largest independently-owned distributors of industrial and specialty gasses and welding supplies with additional locations in Warren and Ann Arbor.

As employees of Plymouth Wayne, Inc., John White (left) , Brian Brzuchowski, Bill Sober, and Jon Risinger work hard to make Plymouth Wayne, Inc. a company that places the customer first.

Visual Learning a break through in education

Smart Schools, Inc., an educational management and consulting firm based in Howell, was founded in June 1997 by Chuck Stockwell, who has over 25 years of experience in School Administration and Dr. Steven Ingersoll, a Developmental Optometrist, founder and developer of Integrated Visual Learning (IVL).

Together the two have had tremendous success in working with children and adults of all learning levels to increase academic skill by combining a developmental approach to learning

Smart Schools, Inc. has recently attracted the attention of state government with their development of an effective non-drug treatment for children with Attention Deficit Disorder and other hyperactive disorders. It is the combination of their individual ideas. backgrounds and their drive to improve education that has made Smart Schools such a success.

The mission of Smart Schools, Inc. is to affect change in education by creating schools, community-based private education centers, and instructional methods and techniques that will improve on those that currently exist.

One of the divisions of Smart Schools, inc. is school management. The company currently manages the Livingston Developmental Academy, a public school academy located in Hartland. The local charter school's developmental approach is having great success with children of all academic levels to increase their learning ability and success in school.

Test scores have increased steadily over two years at the academy and the number of children who are medicated for behavior, attention and learning problems have been dramatically

There are also plans to start a second public school academy in another location. It is anticipated that this new school will open within two years and will build on what is currently being created at LDA.

There are also plans to open a small private school designed to provide support to parents who are home-schooling their children and to provide direct services to students with learning prob-

Director of Construction, Joe Schulz; Chairman, Don Schulz; and President Andy Klein of Rand Construction in Brighton help growing businesses meet their expansion needs by offering construction expertise.

Built to last...

Construction company grows with community

For almost 20 years, Rand Construction Engineering, Inc. has grown with the community it serves

As a local design and build firm. Rand has helped businesses meet their expansion needs by offering construction expertise combined with an unwavering commitment to customer satisfaction

"We have the ability to design and build just about any type of commercial or industrial building. Our staff consists of highly capable, creative and profes sional people who will guide you through all phases of your construction project," explained Andrew Klein President

As a single source of responsibility. Rand Construction handles every phase of a project from preliminary drawings to final landscaping. They also manage site selection, site plan approval, soil testing, environmental analysis, tax abatements and even obtain the required approvals and permits.

This single source process assures the owner the best of all benefits. Klein said. Rand's local client list is impressive and includes, among others. Thermofil. Chem-Trend, Precision Stamping and Champion Chevrolet.

Rand began its company in Livingston County, and have now expanded to a six-county area.

"Our projects have grown over the years in size and complexity and we have grown with our clients." said Klein. "It's something we are very proud of."

Another thing the company is proud of is that many of its subcontractors are local companies that have grown and prospered along with Rand.

Recently completed local projects include a new 28,000 square-foot facility for Bradhart Products, Inc. in Brighton, a 20,000 square-foot manufacturing addition for VCF Films in Howell, and 30,000 square feet of office and manufacturing space for Fonson Construction in Brighton

Two of their current projects include an 81,000 square-foot office and manufacturing facility for Petro-Lube in Saline and a 75,000 square-foot warehouse addition for Baron Drawn Steel in Canton.

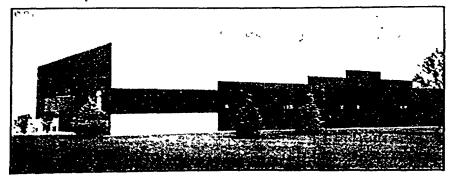

"What we offer our customers is hard work, trust, honesty and customer satisfaction," said Klein. "Our repeat business is a reflection of this commitment to our customers.

The company's scope of work is virtually unlimited. Industrial facilities, distribution facilities, office and research labs, manufacturing and warehouse space, high-tech office and research facilities — are all possible.

Rand is also a Butler builder.
Butler is the world's leading manufacturer of pre-engineered metal buildings and our clients appreciate the quality and value associated with the Butler products, said Klein.

Still a family-owned business. Don Schulz is Chairman of the company while his son Joe is Director of construction.

Rascal's lounge has 'sports of all sorts'

Rascal's of South Lyon is quickly becoming the place where winners and friends gather for sports of all sorts.

After two years in the hands of new owners Myron Pannette and Kevin Reinsmith, Rascals has a renovated building, a new attitude, and a new focus.

"South Lyon needs a good restaurant," said Myron. "We are working hard to become family friendly and gain the support of the community."

Located in a prime spot at 26800 Pontiac Trail, Rascal's is developing into a social gathering place, a welcoming atmosphere where patrons can get together to enjoy the latest sports event or dine on first-rate food.

Since Myron and Kevin took over, the eatery has received a new dance floor, new interior decor, a new bar and several structural repairs. The owners have done most of the work themselves.

ally undergoing improvements.

The menu currently includes quality entrees from the grill, appetizers and cold sandwiches. A full menu renovation is in the plans, as more upscale items are added.

"We used to be a beer and burger place," said Myron. "Now, we are becoming more family-welcome."

Welcoming is one way to describe the new Rascal's. The sports theme of the establishment shows all over, in the flashy NASCAR decor, two large-screen televisions, several small-screen televisions and an authentic race car on the dance floor.

"Sports of all sorts is our theme," said Myron, who admitted that his personal favorite is NASCAR racing. Fans come to Rascal's to take in Sunday afternoon races on the big screen.

Monday night is another busy time at Rascal's, while wrestling is showing on the big screen. Sports of all kinds play from the many screens and everyone is welcome Pro Pizza of South Lyon adds to the festivities with deals on pizza.

Rascal's offers entertainment each evening including disc jockey Meka with Platinum Kat Productions or Karaoke beginning at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday. The band Ghetto Billies is one of the bands featured for live entertainment. Tuesday is men's night offering $1 drink specials along with free pool playing.

Future plans include expansion of the building, an outdoor patio and sand volleyball courts.

All this renovation is challenging for the owners, but they say it's worth it. "This is very tiring, but satisfying," said Myron. Customers appreciate the changes, and new customers are always coming in and becoming regulars.

With a philosophy of slow, steady, hard work, Myron and Kevin plan to transform Rascal's into a community gathering place where the food is good, the sports are exciting and the friends keep coming in.

The sports-theme restaurant is open Monday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. and Sunday from noon to 2

Dr. Brateman and Dr. Rupp care for your whole family with TLC

Relationships are essential to individual development, and few relationships are as important as the relationship between doctor and patient.

Doctors Robert K. Brateman and Mary Elizabeth Rupp are family specialists who know the value of this relationship. "Because we are self-employed, our first obligation is to the patient," explained Dr. Brateman. "We're motivated to give that kind of personal and special caring service."

Motivation is the driving force behind the family practice of Dr. Brateman and Dr. Rupp. Both have a genuine concern for patients that extends into their philosophy of care — prompt, courteous and personalized service which treats patients and their families.

"We get to know our patients very well because we are not a large practice. I think that makes a difference in their care." said Dr. Rupp.

Dr. Brateman and Dr. Rupp separate treatment into three areas: acute health care for general acute illnesses such as a cold and chest or abdominal pain; chronic health care for illnesses that require monitored treatment over long periods of time, such as hypertension or diabetes; and routine health maintenance, which involves cancer screening, cardiovascular risk assessment, routine laboratory and x-ray screening, as well as medication evaluation.

Education is part of this health maintenance concept, encouraging the patient to participate in his/her own care to maintain a healthy, active lifestyle.

Dr. Brateman and Dr. Rupp also perform school physicals, helping children prepare for their academic and athletic experiences.

"We see a wide variety of medical conditions and age groups each day." Dr. Brateman explained. This gives them both a good feeling for a wide range of conditions that they are apt to encounter on a daily basis.

Dr. Rupp and Dr. Brateman are medical doctors who specialize in family medicine, which is the treatment of the entire family for general health maintenance and medical problems. Both doctors are board-certified by the American Board of Family Practice.

Dr. Brateman graduated from Indiana University School of Medicine in 1979 and then completed a residency in family practice at Providence Hospital in 1982. After completing his residency, he served in the Providence Family Practice Residency Program as a faculty physician for six years. He has been on staff at Providence since 1982.

Dr. Rupp graduated from Wayne State University School of Medicine in 1994 and then completed a residency in family practice at Providence Hospital in 1997. She is currently on staff at Providence Hospital.

Dr. Brateman and Dr. Rupp refer all in-patients to Providence Hospital and work closely with Providence Park Medical Center in Novi. "This way, patients are cared for conveniently near their homes," said Dr. Brateman.

As a courtesy, their office makes every effort to see patients within 24 hours of their call. Patients are seen on an appointment basis, and appropriate referrals are made as necessary.

Patients wishing to establish themselves with either Dr. Brateman or Dr. Rupp may schedule an introductory consultation or a physical examination.

The office of Dr. Brateman and Dr. Rupp is located at 24230 Karim Boulevard in the Brookside Office Park, Suite 125 in Novi.

Both doctors are currently accepting new patients. For an appointment call (248) 473-8580.

Santino's Pasta serves up delicious, zesty Italian dishes that are certain to make the mouth water

If you're looking for appetizing, zesty Italian cuisine, look no further. Santino's Place for Pasta has the dishes, the quality and the service that guarantee a satisfying dining experience.

Located at 22200 Novi Road, Santino's Place is brimming with tantalizing aromas from a variety of homecooked, affordable Italian dishes.

Santino's prepares its pastas with only the finest of ingredients and is dedicated to providing customers with prompt and courteous service.

Customers can enjoy the finest pastas of Italy in their very own homes. The restaurant specializes in tasty, low-fat, nutritious meals in addition to providing superior packaging, said owner Scott Longas. As a result of their skilled packaging procedures, customers don't have to worry about their carry-out orders spilling in the car or getting cold.

In addition, with the convenience, ease and accuracy of Santino's carryout, families are able to enjoy more time together over a deliciously prepared meal.

Customers will be delighted with the array of specialty Italian dishes available at Santino's Place.

I wanted to make each dish flavorful. low-fat and loaded with carbohydrates and protein," said Scott.

For example, Santino's Place offers a

zesty meat lasagna, beef ravioli, eggplant Parmesan and tortellini in all different sizes of fresh pasta noodles. Be sure to try Santino's signature item-the Santino's Explosion. It consists of seasoned angel hair noodles topped with grilled chicken breast and is a top-seller among Santino's patrons. The restaurant also prepares its own sauces and lasagna from scratch.

Santino's Place has been proudly serving the community and area residents for five years. A few celebrities drop in from time to time, and even the Stanley Cup has been brought to this hot spot in Novi.

The family-owned restaurant is dedicated to serving top-quality meals.

The bottom line is if customers are not happy, we're not happy," explained Serving customers efficiently and accurately is a top company priority. "We go for zero mistakes," he said. That's our goal."

Inside Santino's Place, customers will find an immaculate facility, dedicated to providing only the best ingredients and service for patrons.

To illustrate the restaurant's policy for using quality products, Scott explained that he purchases supplies through wholesalers instead of distributors. Chickens come fresh from the Eastern

Market. Serving customers well, and with quality ingredients, is guaranteed at Santino's Place.

You really have to care," added Scott. Santino's Place features a number of additional healthy choice cuisine selections including its pasta delight, veggie subs and egg white pitas. These dishes as well as many others are low in fat, but high in protein, said Scott.

same goal of serving patrons well.

Twe been in the food business since 1974 and this is the best crew I have ever had," said Scott.

For large parties or special occasions, Santino's offers a catering service. Catered items include baked Italian chicken, fresh Italian sausage, steaks,

Santino's Place plays a very active role within the community. For example, once a year Santino's sponsors a fund raiser for the Make-A-Wish Foundation and contributes to the Angela Hospice as well as churches and schools.

"We give back whatever we can," said Scott.

Santino's Place offers the finest in Italian cuisine complemented by quality carry-out capabilities which allow customers to have time to sit and enjoy a good meal with their family, said Scott.

Santino's Place for Pasta is open from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Santino's Pasta serves up delicious, zesty Italian dishes that are certain to make the mouth water

If you're looking for appetizing, zesty Italian cuisine, look no further. Santino's Place for Pasta has the dishes. the quality and the service that guarantee a satisfying dining experience.

Located at 22200 Novi Road, Santino's Place is brimming with tantalizing aromas from a variety of homecooked, affordable Italian dishes.

Santino's prepares its pastas with only the finest of ingredients and is dedicated to providing customers with prompt and courteous service.

Customers can enjoy the finest pastas of Italy in their very own homes. The restaurant specializes in tasty, low-fat, nutritious meals in addition to providing superior packaging, said owner Scott Longas. As a result of their skilled packaging procedures, customers don't have to worry about their carry-out orders spilling in the car or getting cold.

In addition, with the convenience, ease and accuracy of Santino's carryout, families are able to enjoy more time together over a deliciously prepared meal.

Customers will be delighted with the array of specialty Italian dishes available at Santino's Place.

'I wanted to make each dish flavorful. low-fat and loaded with carbohydrates and protein," said Scott.

For example, Santino's Place offers a

zesty meat lasagna, beef ravioli, eggplant Parmesan and tortellini in all different sizes of fresh pasta noodles. Be sure to try Santino's signature item-the Santino's Explosion. It consists of seasoned angel hair noodles topped with grilled chicken breast and is a top-seller among Santino's patrons. The restaurant also prepares its own sauces and lasagna from scratch.

Santino's Place has been proudly serving the community and area residents for five years. A few celebrities drop in from time to time, and even the Stanley Cup has been brought to this hot spot in Novi.

The family-owned restaurant is dedicated to serving top-quality meals.

The bottom line is if customers are not happy, we're not happy," explained Scott.

Serving customers efficiently and accurately is a top company priority. We go for zero mistakes, he said. That's our goal."

Inside Santino's Place, customers will find an immaculate facility, dedicated to providing only the best ingredients and service for patrons.

To illustrate the restaurant's policy for using quality products, Scott explained that he purchases supplies through wholesalers instead of distributors. Chickens come fresh from the Eastern

Market. Serving customers well, and with quality ingredients, is guaranteed at Santino's Place.

You really have to care," added Scott. Santino's Place features a number of additional healthy choice cuisine selections including its pasta delight, veggie subs and egg white pitas. These dishes as well as many others are low in fat. but high in protein, said Scott.

The 12 employees on staff at Santino's Place all work toward the same goal of serving patrons well.

I've been in the food business since 1974 and this is the best crew I have ever had," said Scott.

For large parties or special occasions. Santino's offers a catering service. Catered items include baked Italian chicken, fresh Italian sausage, steaks pasta, Italian potato salad, dessert and fruit/vegetable trays. Santino's can accommodate up to 800 people with seven days notice.

Santino's Place plays a very active role within the community. For example, once a year Santino's sponsors a fund raiser for the Make-A-Wish Foundation and contributes to the Angela Hospice as well as churches and schools.

"We give back whatever we can," said Scott.

Santino's Place offers the finest in Italian cuisine complemented by quality carry-out capabilities which allow customers to have time to sit and enjoy a good meal with their family, said Scott.

Santino's Place for Pasta is open from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Gentle care and comfort offered to ill

■ McPherson Home Services include Home Care, hospice and extended care

McPherson Home Services, which includes McPherson Home Care, Livingston Comiunity Hospice and McPherson Extended Services, has been delivering care, comfort and compassion since 1962.

McPherson Home Care nurses; home health aides; social workers; and physical, speech and occupational therapists work together to return individuals to an independent and active lifestyle as soon as possible.

As one of Michigan's oldest home care agencies, we've been providing caring, compassionate disease management and educational services to Livingston County and the surrounding area for more than 25 years.

Livingston Community Hospice specializes in caring for the terminally ill when pursuing a cure is no longer desired.

symptom management to the patient. Our social workers access community resources and work to resolve end-of-life issues with the patient and family.

Bereavement following grief and loss community support groups are alsoavailable.

McPherson Extended Services is a private-duty service that provides trained care givers for respite, personal care, home management, and housekeeping.

Because we receive United Way Funding, services are offered on a sliding scale fee for those who qualify.

"We are fortunate to remain closely connected to the Livingston County community," says Aggie Buback, R.N.

director of McPherson Home Services. *Our dedicated staff is available 24 hours a day, and more than 95 percent of them live right here in Livingston County.

That strong link, combined with the secure foundation of Saint Joseph Mercy Health System, enables us to provide compassionate, high quality care for residents close to home."

Publisher Jim Mason has established the Insider Business Journal as the area's "business authority," and the newly-formed IBJ Economic Network of Livingston County will further enhance the well-deserved reputation of the Journal, a division of HomeTown Communications Network in Livonia.

In the highly-competitive world of business, Insider readers consider themselves armed and dangerous

In just over three years, the Insider Business Journal has firmly established itself as the business authority of an exploding area that includes Livingston and western Oakland counties, plus Fenton, Linden and Whitmore Lake.

The publication, a division of BomeTown Communications Network in Livonia, is guided by publisher Jim Mason and is located at 9947 E. Grand Pover, Brighton.

"Livingston is the fastest growing county in the state, and one of the fastest in the country." said Mason. The business climate is a reflection of faat as well. With that in mind, the hasider decided to create an Economic Metwork. Several times a year we'll put together a dynamite program, and business leaders will definitely walk away with something that will impact their lives guaranteed."

Commitment like that has brought the IBJ steady growth since its debut issue in June 1995. After picking up a

'most improved publication' award from the Association of Area Business Publications in 1996, the boundaries have appeared limitless to Mason and staff.

"This year we've really put together some fine special sections to compliment our monthly Insider," said Mason. "We secured the Brighton Area Chamber of Commerce's annual membership directory, which turned out fantastic. That had been printed out of county last year, so it was really great to bring that back."

The Insider also teamed up with the Home Builders Association of Livingston County to put together a fine tab for that group's popular event - Cavalcade of Homes - complete with house sketches, descriptions, maps and a variety of informative articles.

The Forecasting issue once again tapped a wide variety of experts and presented their predictions in an informative and easy-to-read 32-page format

By June, it was time to present the exhaustive compilation known as Book of Lists. Forty-eight pages worth of hard facts – everything from Top Compensated CEOs to Leading Private Companies. And for the 1998-99 edition, new listings were researched for engineering services, industrial parks, insurance companies, patents, architectural services and HMOs.

"Count on even more new listings next year," said Mason. "We're always looking for ways to provide business people with tools to succeed, and our Book of Lists has proven to be a pretty valuable one."

The special sections, though, are really just icing on the cake. Month after month, the Insider Business Journal is packed with informative reading material.

A wide variety of articles hit all the info@insiderbiz.com.

major areas: construction and real estate, manufacturing, retail, service, non-profit, business organizations and government.

Regular features include In the Spotlight, Personality Profile, Regional Business Chronicle, Community at a Glance, Opinions, Date Book, Names in the News, Governmental Minutes, Interest Rates, Stock Activity and Economic Indicators.

Top it all off with an extensive Journal of Record and the reader is truly ready for the highly-competitive business world.

Want more? How about monthly focuses that explore topics like health care, technology, staff training, planning, etc.

Salon provides escape from hectic lifestyles

With today's hectic lifestyle, wouldn't it be nice to go to a place where everything is focused on your comfort and well-being? A place to relax and enjoy services that pamper your body from head to toe? Such an oasis does exist. Visions Salon provides the services and the level of attention you deserve.

For Anne Marie Bond, it was the desire to provide a complete health and beauty service that led her and husband Greg to establish Visions Salon nine years ago. A skilled hairstylist with 19 years of experience, she recognized the demand for service that focused on the individual. Visions offers the latest treatments and outstanding personal attention.

Visions offers a range of services that lets you pamper your whole body. From the latest hairstyles to make-up application and lessons, body waxing and electrolysis to eyelash or eyebrow tinting, you'll find 32 specialists ready to serve you at Visions.

Aromatherapy, massages, manicures and pedicures are also available. A full range of facial treatments lets you cleanse, tone and beautify your skin.

"We strive to be a one-stop source," said Anne Marie. "We offer everything a person needs to look and feel their best."

Visions also offers special services that are designed specifically for men. Apart from hairstyling, facials and manicures are available. Massages are a very popular choice, whether taken alone or as part of a package.

choice, whether taken alone or as part of a package. By city ordinance, massage therapists and the salon in which they operate must be certified and licensed Visions is the only salon in Novi licensed for and employing certified massage therapists. Anne Marie urges people to check other salons' credentials when it comes to massage. They simply aren't licensed and certified, and that's not only bad business, it's against the law, she said.

Whether you are in for a hairstyle or a full day package, your comfort is the most important thing. Hot and cold refreshments, snacks and chocolate mints are comfort and enjoyment while you are in their hands.

"We believe you deserve the full attention of the specialist working on you." says Anne Marie. "Our goal is to give the customer an experience they will not get anywhere else. Everybody is very close here and we all have the same philosophy when it comes to service."

Visions' packages give you a chance to experience a full day of attention focused on you. You have the option of choosing one of the specially designed packages, or creating your own personal combinations. Full and half-day packages are available. A "Cinderella" package is available for girls under age 14. A catered lunch from a local restaurant is part of your full-day package.

Visions' pedicure chair, unique in the area, adds a new dimension to the service available. This state-of-the-art chair gives you a whirlpool foot bath as part of your pedicure. Soothing vibrations gently relax your body and melt away tension. This is one experience you do not want to miss.

Visions Salon is the first business in Novi to hold a massage license. "We use only staff certified myomassologists to offer a variety of different massages for your individual needs," said Anne Marie.

■ Dr. Kathy Duncan eliminates pain through 'soft touch' chiropractic care

"I thought it would go away." This sort of statement is the most commonly heard phrase by Dr. Kathy Duncan at Soft Touch Chiropractic. Soft Touch Chiropractic was started eight years ago by Dr. Duncan, a registered nurse and Doctor of Chiropractic.

In 1983, Dr. Duncan decided to enroll in Atlanta's Life Chiropractic College after learning the benefits of chiropractic first hand. She was successfully treated for migraine headaches by a chiropractor after all other forms of treatment had failed. Dr. Duncan graduated in 1986 and was president of her class.

Duncan's Soft Touch Chiropractic specializes in gentle, non-invasive pressure point treatment to solve a variety of health problems caused by tight muscles surrounding the spine. As Dr. Duncan explained, the spine is the focal point for the body's nervous system. Any pressure in this location can effect many other areas, including the back, legs, neck and head. Tight spinal muscles that results from stress, tension or trauma need to be relaxed allowing the spine to realign naturally.

At Soft Touch, Dr. Duncan wants patients to relax and enjoy themselves in her office's family-style atmosphere.
"I try to care for each patient as if they were a member of my family."

First-time Soft Touch patients sit down with Dr. Duncan to discuss the symptoms of their health problems. Next, patients receive an exam involving muscular and chiropractic tests and xrays are taken if necessary. A plan of care is then developed based on exam findings

Dr. Duncan said more people are looking toward alternative health treatments in an effort to prevent serious health complications in the future.

Outside her office, Dr. Duncan is the woman of the year of the Novi Oaks chapter of the American Business Women's Association and sings in the Livonia Community Chorus.

Soft Touch is located at Suite 400 on 23895 Novi Road. Office hours are 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Friday. Wednesday hours are from 12:30-6:30 p.m. The office can be reached at (248) 348-2000.

Dr. Kathy Duncan is a registered nurse and chiropractor. She opened up her practice in Novi nine years ago. She administers a gentle pressure point treatment to her patients.

Their experts design the kitchen of your dreams

It's the room where families gather, where meals are served, where the house has its center. The kitchen is the heart of a home, and designing one is an important step in any building or renovating project.

After 20 years in the business, Joe Luzynski, owner and president of Creative Designs Plus, recognizes a recent trend in kitchen design. Home owners want their kitchens to be an expression of the entire home.

"It's really incredible how exacting the customer can be when building their homes," said Joe, who is a licensed builder.

Every kitchen he and his associates, Scott Bowyer and Connie Owen, design is a unique statement of the family that uses it. Once, Joe explained, building a kitchen involved a few basic decisions, like the color of cabinet doors and the placement of major appliances.

Now, however, homeowners design their kitchens around how the room will be used. Some want expanded cooking areas. Others want multiple sinks or desk space. Many have specific ideas about decorating themes.

"Kitchens are one area of the home where you can really make a statement," said Joe. The options are endless and every kitchen is unique.

That's where Joe, Scott and Connie come in.
These experienced designers sit down with each customer and plan. point by point, the design for the kitchen, getting to know the customers in the process.

They use computers and the latest programs to lay out floor plans, rearrange fixtures and visualize designs. Customers choose layout plans, cabinets and flooring, often planning around a theme, like Southwestern or country.

Besides kitchens. Creative Designs creates bathroom designs.
Creative Designs carries reliable lines of cabinets, counter tops and flooring, like

Proneer cabinets. "These cabinets offer a lot of variety," said Joe. "We are able to really customize while remaining in a certain price range." He pointed out that Creative Designs chooses brands for quality, value, style and price. Chelsea hardwood floors are another quality line available at Creative Designs.

Customers pay less because Creative Designs runs a specialized business and buys direct from the manufacturer. In this way, the company has found a niche in the Brighton area, designing kitchens and bathrooms for new, upscale homes, but within a rescentable price range.

Joe, Scott and Connie know where to find the best materials for their customers from years of best materials for their customers from years of experience in the business and a willingness to give full service and attention to each customer. "We've got the expertise to help the customer," Joe pointed out. "It's more than a cabinet sale to us. We give advice."

From the initial design to the planning and layout to the installation, Creative Designs Plus will do as much or as little as the customer wants.

Connie, Joe and Scott, who is a Certified Kitchen Designer, work well together, sharing idea and helping each other with problems. "We all draw off each other," said Joe. Working together and working for the customer, he added, makes their business rewarding.

In the business of visualizing, designing and installing personalized kitchens and bathrooms, the experts at Creative Designs Plus truly live up to their name. Like Joe said, "we don't make cookie cutter kitchens."

The Creative Designs Plus office, located at 321 W. Main St. in Brighton, is open Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., on Thursday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Appointments are available after hours. Call (810)220-0020.
